Two Gemini Capsules Rendezvous in Space

CAPE KENNEDY (AP)—The United States took a giant step toward the moon today with the historic rendezvous of manned spaceships Gemini 6 and 7.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr., and Thomas P. Stafford successfully shifted their spacecraft across the sky today and closed in on Gemini 7 in an historic attempt to rendezvous two manned ships high above the earth.

The spine-tingling space chase started with the flawless liftoff of a Titan 2 rocket that thundered away from Cape Kennedy right on schedule at 8:37 a.m. EST and drilled Gemini 6 into an ideal orbit.

The momentous rendezvous was to start at 2:26 p. m. when the Gemini 6 and 7 craft meet nose to nose high above the Mariana Islands in the western Pacific.

Schirra and Stafford, who started out 1,200 miles behind Gemini 7, planned eight jet firing maneuvers to move gradually into the same orbital path as the target.

SPEED INCREASES

Each move slightly increases the speed, which initially was about 17,500 miles an hour.

The first maneuver, at 10:12 a. m. over the Gulf of Mexico, raised the high point of the Gemini 6 orbit to 170 miles.

At 10:55 a.m., over the Indian Ocean, a blast of the small jets elevated the low point to 135 miles.

LOOKS GOOD

"Everything looks good," the flight director, Chris Kraft, told the pilots.

"It was completely nominal (normal)," said Mission Control Center of the second orbital maneuver.

Gemini 6 reported it was able to monitor through Mission Control Center transmissions from Gemini 7 to the ground.

Later, when they have each other in sight, Gemini 6 and 7 will be able to carry on a direct conversation.

CABIN TEMPERATURE

Schirra reported his cabin temperature was slightly higher than expected — about 90 degrees —but it was dropping and was not a problem.

He also reported seeing the star constellation Orion, which Schirra and Stafford selected as part of the symbol for their flight. Orion in mythology was a hunter.

Only a few minutes after the perfect launch, Schirra and Stafford got a go-ahead from confident mission directors on the ground for a fourth-orbit rendezvous.

N. Viet Power Site Hit 1st Time

U.S. Jets Raid Industrial Hub

1 Plane Shot Down; Injured Pilot Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets blasted a major power plant today 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. It was the first American strike in the Communist foe's industrial heartland in the Red River delta.

★ ★ ★

Pilots reported that they had hit the heart of the Uong Bi steam power plant and many secondary explosions followed.

A U.S. spokesman said the raid knocked out the plant, which he said supplies 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power and is the primary power source for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

One plane was shot down but the pilot, Capt. Harry D. De Witt of Moscow, Idaho, was rescued. He suffered a broken leg and facial injuries.

A flight of F105s, usually four to six planes, carried out the attack on the power station near Haiphong despite bad weather and heavy antiaircraft fire, a U.S. spokesman said. The planes, which are capable of twice the speed of sound, unloaded 12 tons bombs shortly before noon.

PILOT BAILED OUT

De Witt's plane was hit by conventional ground fire, rather than by any of the Soviet surface-to-air missiles that are said to ring the Haiphong-Hanoi area. He bailed out over the Gulf of Tonkin and was picked up by a rescue helicopter.

Although the raid was the first announced in the vicinity of Haiphong, a U.S. spokesman noted that North Vietnamese power plants had been hit before.

Since the U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam began last Feb. 7, American planes have avoided strikes against either Hanoi or Haiphong. The spokesman noted that only the power plant was hit and not the industrial center it served. He said the plant had vital military importance since it supplied power at the source of supplies for the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading through Laos to the Viet Cong in the south.

Red Chinese N-Stockpile Blossoming---McNamara

PARIS (AP) —U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today Red China may have a small stockpile of nuclear weapons in two years and hopes to have a ballistic missile to deliver them.

McNamara told ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the European members of the alliance should plan now to meet a Chinese Communist threat to their own security within five years.

He said the Chinese Reds were determined to become a major nuclear power.

By 1975, he predicted, the Chinese Communists probably would not only have developed but also deployed intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Such missiles presumably could reach targets all the way from San Francisco to Berlin and cities in between.

McNamara reported the Chinese Communists have set their sights on building up a major nuclear force within the next two years.

MISSILE WORK

McNamara said Peking is attempting to develop a medium-range ballistic missile which may be ready by 1967.

McNamara spoke on the second day of a NATO ministerial meeting. He spoke behind closed doors. His statements were relayed to newsmen by an American spokesman.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appealed to U.S. Allies yesterday to send doctors and engineers to South Viet Nam but did not ask for troops.

McNamara stressed that grave as was the threat of Red China's growing might, the United States was going to stand firm behind its commitments to defend western Europe from possible Communist aggression.

MAURICE MALLION JR.

'Lost Husband' Led Two Lives

Man Held; 'Unable to Remember 1st Family'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "I'm lost. I don't know what to do," said a 37-year-old truck driver from Ohio who police say deserted his family in Michigan eight years ago.

Robert R. White, a father of three from Mt. Healthy, Ohio, spoke from his jail cell yesterday.

Police said fingerprints showed White was Maurice Mallion Jr., who disappeared from his home in Willis, Mich., eight years ago, leaving his wife and four children.

"They tell me I'm Mallion. It's undoubtedly true. They have my fingerprints. But if it is, I'm in a hell of a mess," White said.

He will meet Mrs. Mallion tomorrow when he appears for a court hearing.

NOTHING TO SAY

"I haven't visited him because there just isn't anything for me to say to him," said Mrs. Mallion at her home outside of Ypsilanti.

"I have nothing but sympathy for his other wife."

Saturday White was arrested in Hamilton County, Ohio, on a

Ford Echoes View for a Profitable '66

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II predicted today U.S. car and truck buyers would buy practically as many vehicles next year as they did in 1965.

Ford, chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co., thus joined General Motors board chairman Frederic G. Donner in estimating that 1966 sales will match this year's volume of about 10.8 million vehicles.

Ford aired his views at his annual yearend news conference in which he said all signs pointed to another good year for the auto business.

"We detect no signs of strain in the automobile market and another good year for the economy should mean another good year for the automobile industry," he told newsmen.

While forecasting that the number of cars and trucks sold would be about the same, Ford added, "We expect that dollar sales will continue to rise faster than unit sales because customers are turning increasingly to top-of-the-line models and are buying more optional equipment."

County Jury Frees Man in Fatal Beating

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury yesterday acquitted an Avon Township man in a fatal beating Oct. 4.

The jury found Herbert Harris, 23, of 3044 Eastwood, innocent of the death of John Arnett.

Arnett, 38, of 3471 Dunning, Avon Township, died about 24 hours after being kicked in the stomach during a fight with Harris.

The verdict was returned 1½ hours after the jury began deliberating on testimony heard during the four-day trial before Judge James S. Thorburn.

★ ★ ★

Harris had been charged with first degree murder, but Thorburn, in giving instructions to the jurors, ruled out first and second degree murder and involuntary manslaughter.

SINGLE CHARGE

All the jury had to decide was if Harris was guilty or innocent of voluntary manslaughter.

An autopsy on Arnett revealed that he died of a ruptured intestine.

The fight was a result of Arnett hitting Harris' mother, whom he had been dating.

Harris' attorney Clarence Smith contended that his client was defending himself because he believed Arnett had a jackknife.

Dead Girl's Mother Asks $500,000

Pontiac Osteopathic Faces Suit

A $500,000 damage suit against Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and four of its staff members was filed yesterday by the mother of one of the three victims who received lethal injections of ether.

Mrs. Oscar Bruneel, 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township, charged the hospital and the four individuals with negligence in the death of her daughter, Kimberly Ann.

The eight-year-old girl and two other patients, William M. Ketchum, 12, of Ferndale, and Mrs. Lurea Covington, 24, of 236 Roland, died Nov. 18 and 19 after surgery at the hospital.

An investigation conducted by the prosecutor's office and Pontiac police revealed that the three had inadvertently been injected with a mixture of two anesthetics: ether and Surital.

Named codefendants in the suit were Dr. Lloyd Goodwin, Dr. Stanley E. Abrams, both anesthesiologists, and registered nurses Joan Booth and Margaret Lauinger.

Dr. Goodwin, chief anesthesiologist, and Dr. Abrams, resigned at the request of the hospital board following the extensive investigation.

KIMBERLY A. BRUNEEL

The suit was assigned to Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn. No date for a hearing was scheduled.

The suit says the family was deprived of Kimberly Ann's companionship, that the youngster underwent suffering immediately prior to her death, and cites funeral expenses and attorney fees.

★ ★ ★

DRAINED ETHER

It said Dr. Abrams drained ether from an operating room machine into a partially used bottle of Surital and then put the bottle back on the shelf.

The bottle of the lethal mixture was then used for injections by Dr. Goodwin and

Wide Selection of Gifts for Boss, Businessman

If you're searching for a suitable gift for your boss or business acquaintance, area stores have a wide selection at hand for this purpose.

One flower shop will create an arrangement of fresh fruit in a colorful Christmas tree or another design and deliver it for a cost of $4.50 to $12.

To keep the boss on his toes, there is a traveling shoe shine kit.

If the boss is a woman, how about an electric foot massager? This will cost about $9 for the single model and around $17 for the double.

PRACTICAL GIFT

A Kennedy paperweight is a practical and attractive gift for any member of the desk set. It costs about $5.

Again, for the gal who drives to work, you might give a blinking warning signal light for emergencies after dark.

It attaches to her car by a rubber suction cup.

Bain polled 1,390 votes to 346 for his only opponent, Paul Jones, as 1,791 local members cast ballots.

John Parris was elected vice president with a 901 vote total. His opponents, Robert Fitzgerald and T. Y. Randolph polled 457 and 324 respectively.

Newly elected secretary-treasurer of the local is Rex Liles who garnered 606 votes. His nearest competitor was Alvey Bush with 362.

OTHER CANDIDATES

Other secretary-treasurer candidates were Pat McGowan, 211; Robert Kibbe, 289; and E. Glenn Harrelson, 229.

Elected recording secretary was John W. Walker with 1,041 votes to 623 for his only opponent, Ellsworth Bain.

Gerald Simmons, Steve Hudock and James Paschal won the three trustee posts on respective vote totals of 1,228, 971 and 772.

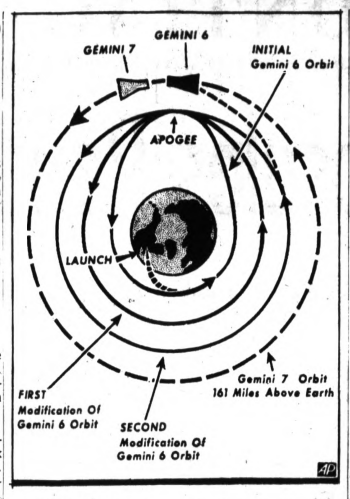
Other candidates and their vote totals were Wilbur Freeman, 439; Ernie Ormsby, 362; John Forster, 368; Floyd J. Dossy, 110; Stan Feldmann, 224; Blaine Jackson, 97; Waldon Swartz, 126 and Tommy Owens, 97.



CHASE IS ON — This artist's conception shows how Gemini 6 and 7 are expected to fly in close formation in one phase of today's rendezvous maneuvers. Other maneuvers will also be tried. The spacecraft are expected to meet during Gemini 6's fourth orbit.

ed: "You've got a big fat go from us!"

Gemini 7 astronauts Borman and Lovell who had been flying in the comfort of their cotton underwear, were instructed to get back into their space suits for the completion of the rendezvous.

Borman and Lovell were about 185 miles high, some 290 miles south of the cape, when the Titan blasted into the skies.

THROUGH CLOUDS

"We didn't get to see the liftoff," Lovell called, "but we saw them coming through the clouds."

Six minutes later, when mission control announced that Gemini 6 had achieved its orbit, Gemini 7 had streaked 1,200 miles ahead and the chase was on—featuring a record cast of four U.S. astronauts.

Borman and Lovell were nearing the end of the 11th of their 14 planned days in space.

The dramatic pursuit was to cover about 105,000 miles during which Schirra and Stafford were to make a series of orbit-shifting maneuvers to gradually close with Gemini 6.

At expected rendezvous time, the two spacecraft should be within 100 feet of each other, zipping along at 17,500 miles an hour 185 miles above the Mariana Islands in the western Pacific.

The Titan, which was frustrated the last second in an attempt to get off the pad last Sunday, performed perfectly today and, as it rose into the sky, flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. told Schirra and Stafford by radio: "You're right down the line, Gemini 6."

Schirra replied, "We are go here, too."

When Gemini 7 was informed that Gemini 6 was on its way for a visit, Borman replied: "Wonderful!"

TARGET CRAFT

At the start of orbit No. 4, about five hours after launching, Gemini 7 is to be 17 miles below and 39 miles slant range behind the target spacecraft.

Gemini 6 then is to fire its jets to begin a terminal phase that is to end 40 to 50 minutes later with the two spacecraft close together.

The two spaceships initially were to meet nose to nose, and then fly in formation perhaps only a few feet apart about six hours. They were to practice numerous maneuvers to determine the best means of conducting space rendezvous.

Success would push the United States past another significant milestone on the road to the moon and give this nation a wide lead in the final rendezvous phase of the man-in-space race.

If everything goes as planned today, Schirra and Stafford will return to earth at 10:06 a.m. Friday. Otherwise, they will stay up a second day.

$2.7-Million Contract Is Awarded for School

BIRMINGHAM — James and Savage Corp. of Detroit last night was awarded a $2.7-million contract for the construction of Covington Junior High School.

The firm submitted a package bid which includes the electrical and mechanical work as well as general construction.

Its $2,748,700 offer was the lowest of six opened by the board of education last night.

Work on the school is to begin as soon as possible on the southwest corner of Quarton and Covington roads.

★ ★ ★

The unit, containing structural innovations which will complement new educational programs, will open in September of 1966.

TOTAL COST

The contract awarded last night took the total cost of the building to $2.9 million, some 16 per cent above that estimated in June of 1964.

Property owners then approved a $5,350,000 building program and additional operating millage, which included a seven-tenths mill levy for the Birmingham Plan for Excellence.

The plan for improving the quality of the school system's program included innovations in curriculum and teaching methods.

★ ★ ★

These will be applied at the new Covington Junior High School, which was designed to facilitate flexible class scheduling and team teaching.

UNIT ARCHITECT

Architect for the unit was Linn Smith Associates Inc. of Birmingham.

The basic plan was developed by Educational Facilities Laboratories under auspices of the Ford Foundation.

It incorporates the ideas a nationwide committee of architects, engineers and school officials formulated to cut building costs and increase flexibility.

★ ★ ★

George Dexter last summer was appointed principal of the new unit. At the Dec. 21 board meeting, he will give a progress report on development of the school's organization and curriculum.

★ ★ ★

With a 1,000-pupil capacity, the school is expected to be full when it opens. It will draw its enrollment from Berkshire Junior High School and ninth grade classes at Wylie E. Groves High School.

Johnson Offers Medical Team, Scientists to Assist Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, winding up talks today with Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan, has offered to send a team of medical teachers and scientists to Pakistan.

Johnson made the offer Tuesday night at a White House dinner honoring Ayub.

The mission of the medical team, Johnson said in offering a toast to the visiting leader, "would be to work with your own medical authorities in instituting a broad improvement in medical training — and in working with your people in improving rural health and public health."

He said the team would be led by Dr. Donald F. Hornig, White House science adviser.

Raising his glass, Johnson proclaimed a need to find peace in the world. He called for efforts to conquer "the curses of poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, the human and physical problems."

Ayub, in his toast to Johnson, thanked him for the offer of the medical mission and acknowledged that "our relations have to a certain extent been sore." He attributed this to "misunderstanding" and said friendship between the United States and Pakistan "can be — must be maintained."

After the dinner, Johnson and Ayub had a 35-minute conference in the family quarters of the White House. They were joined by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Earlier Tuesday, the two presidents had what Ayub described as a very frank but friendly private talk about the Kashmir dispute and Viet Nam.

Ayub, in one of the lightest official schedules on record for a visiting chief of state, scheduled no official meetings until a 5 p.m. conference with Johnson at the White House.

White House aides said both Johnson and Ayub were relaxed and informal in their private talks.

The White House made known that the Ayub-Johnson talks were closely connected with the forthcoming Tashkent meeting between Ayub and India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri on Soviet soil and the Shastri-Johnson meeting to be held here Feb. 1-2.

City Okays Application for Tax Loan

The City Commission last night approved making application to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for authority to borrow $2 million in tax anticipation notes.

Finance Director Marvin M. Alward proposed the borrowing to meet operational costs between Feb. and the July, 1966 tax collections.

He said $2 million was being sought for next year, instead of $1.75 million borrowed for 1965, because of the increased cost of city payrolls.

Each year the city borrows funds to run the city during this period. This is necessary because the fiscal year begins in January, but the first tax receipts are not due until July.

Bids on the sale of tax anticipation notes are to be taken in late January.

TAPERED STREET

East Huron would be tapered to adjust the alignment across the Huron-Mill intersection.

Neipling said this is the extent of the state's initial work on the proposed trunkline there. The total cost would be about $2,300.

Neipling said that no further changes would be made until highway officials felt right-of-way acquisition possibilities were more favorable than now.

The city engineer told The Press that the city had invested some $75,000 for property near the East Huron-Wide Track intersection.

MONEY EXPECTED

Purchased in connection with work on the Clinton River, the city anticipated it would recover some of its $75,000 outlay when the state relocated M59, according to Neipling.

The ultimate treatment for M59 calls for "somewhat limited widening," reported Neipling last night.

The state plan calls for the purchase of 18 feet along the north side of East Huron. Costs for the ultimate treatment are estimated at $29,000, he added.

Neipling cited five factors ignored by the state in its initial plans for this portion (Mill to Wide Track) of M59:

- East Huron in this area is a street of extremely old pavement.
- This section still has commercial activity.
- This existing activity would be adversely affected by through traffic on the extremely limited pavement width.
- Converting this portion of East Huron into a trunkline would guarantee the movement of large commercial vehicles through the area.
- Widening of this section of Huron must take place.

"Coupled with current trends in increased cost of right-of-way acquisition, this does not make it logical to use right-of-way acquisition costs as the sole reason for deferring action," charged Neipling.

Taylor suggested that the state plan be sent back to the highway department for further discussions.

His better than 2 to 1 decision over Democrat Joseph A. Massie Jr. in Tuesday's special election in the Shenandoah Valley 21st District was a prestigious prize in a seat of Democratic party power.

It projected Robinson, 48, an orchardist-businessman, to the forefront of Republican future books for Congress or perhaps candidate for governor four years hence.

Complete unofficial returns from the district's 88 percincts gave Robinson 10,293 votes to 4,949 for Massie.

Congressional Inquiry Opens

Seek to Shed More Light on Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional inquiry opens today to try to shed more light on the Big Blackout.

But the investigation of the cause and effects of the last month's great power failure in the Northeast probably will lead into the high-voltage field of federal regulation of electric power and how far it should go.

This controversy "was coming to a head," said Rep. Walter E. Rogers, D-Tex., chairman of the House Interstate Commerce subcommittee which is making the inquiry. "The blackout brought it to public attention."

Rogers said he hopes that in addition to "nailing down the basic reason" for the massive power failure — and some other relatively minor blackouts — the inquiry will get "to the bedrock" of U.S. power policy.

DECISION NEEDED

"Congress is going to have to decide what the electrical energy policy for the whole country should be," he added.

This would get into the myriad technical, legal and rate-making problems involved in state versus federal regulations and the highly sophisticated interlocking electrical power network.

Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, was scheduled as the first witness.

Shortly before Congress adjourned,, Rogers' subcommittee approved a bill to exempt from the power commission's jurisdiction rural electrification cooperative, municipal, power companies and those electrical firms defined as dealing only in intrastate commerce.

STIFFER RULES

Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., a member of the full committee, said he expected Swidler would seek stiffer regulations as a result of the Nov. 9 failure.

★ ★ ★

Pickle, who represents President Johnson's home district in Texas, said, "The commission feels that if you turn on a switch in New York it would be felt in Florida, to that everybody's in national system.

★ ★ ★

"I take the opposite view, that the blackout proves the need for strong regional grid systems so a blackout in New York won't spread to San Francisco."

An investigation by the FPC has indicated that the Northeast blackout originated in Canada. An overload then fed through the interlocking grid system on the American side of the border, triggering automatic cut-off switches and thus blacking out thousands of square miles, including Boston and New York.

Rogers said he hoped by getting at the causes of the power failure a remedy could be found and "if legislation is needed, it will be offered."

A Blood Bank Deposit Draws High Interest

Women are responsible for so many warm and wonderful things in the world that it is not surprising that our nationwide, lifesaving system of blood banking and transfusion is largely in feminine hands. According to a recent press dispatch, there are five women for every man in blood banking.

They drive bloodmobiles, draw and type blood and in Miami, Fla., 90-year-old SARA EDITH BAKER claims the distinction of being the oldest person in the field.

"Women are important in every phase of blood banking," says Dr. Robert E. Kline of Gainesville, Fla., president of the American Association of Blood Banks. "Their patience, skill and devotion make possible the nationwide voluntary replacement program that saves thousands of lives and millions of dollars."

Several thousand women are literally out for blood — yours if you are between 21 and 60 and in good health. And you may save a life by registering at the nearest blood bank or collection center.

Enforced Retirement Seen Waste of Asset

With early retirement, voluntary or enforced, more and more becoming the order of the day, the following quote counter to the trend from the West Springfield, Mass., Record is both timely and provocative.

"Don't let age be an excuse for not conquering new fields or furthering the old. In these days a great source of manpower is being lost by forcing 'early retirement' on alert, healthy older people in this country . . .

"Think for a moment of what older men in our generation such as HERBERT HOOVER, BERNARD BARUCH, WINSTON CHURCHILL and many others gave to the world long after what industry labels the retirement age. Would not the world have been the loser if these men had been forced into retirement at age 65 or before?"

Just as technological science is engineering longer life and usefulness into a variety of inanimate products, so is medical science prolonging the longevity of mankind and extending the period of active mental power.

Let's not be in such a hurry to scrap our human product. Civilization may some day pay dearly for it.

Philanthropy in U.S. Has Grown With Times

Those of us who willingly contribute to keep viable the multiplicity of social agencies and causes on which the welfare of our bourgeoning population so much depends, probably have given little thought to what a gigantic endeavor "fund raising" has become.

Philanthropy can now be rated as big business, says Prof. SCOTT M. CUTLIP, head of University of Wisconsin's school of journalism.

In pointing out that organized fund-raising in the United States now reaches $10 billion annually, to which corporate business contributes $500 million, Prof. Cutlip traces its origin back to 1829. Then a public-spirited citizen of Philadelphia asked 97 "citizens of first respectability" to join in an appeal entitled "Address to the liberal and humane."

The results, however, of this worthy effort were meager, the net proceeds being but $276.50.

It remained for two ambitious and imaginative YMCA secretaries to introduce the so-called "whirlwind" pattern of today's campaigns. In the decade between 1905 and 1915, the two raised $60 million for the YMCA.

Perhaps one of the most spectacular developments in the charitable field was the initiation of the Birthday Balls for President FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT.

Conceived and organized by the founder of a major public relations firm, he canvassed newspapers throughout the Country for assistance with both organization and publicity.

The executive and his staff arranged 6,000 parties in 3,600 communities in six weeks, and raised more than a million dollars for the treatment of polio victims.

Over the years, the raising and administration of the vast sums for philanthropy, most of which is carried on under private local supervision, has been significantly free of instances of waste or mishandling of the monies under trust.

Writer Captures Our Recent Past

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. had a room at the top, or near it, as special assistant to President John F. Kennedy. Now he has another room at the top, an office on the third floor of an old three-story building here.

MARLOW

There in 14 months, turning out on his working days 2,000 to 4,000 words a day, he wrote his best-selling book — "A Thousand Days" — on the Kennedy Administration. It has been criticized for revealing too much; it has been highly praised.

For years it probably will remain the best book on the Kennedy days. It is not the final word; he didn't pretend it was. It is not totally objective, far from it. It bulges with adoration of Kennedy. But Schlesinger frankly said in his first sentence the book was a personal memoir.

Schlesinger, 48, is one of the most readable historians this country has produced. His books are full of people moving with events or causing them. In 1945 he won the Pulitzer Prize for his "Age of Jackson." In the 1950s he turned out three superb books on the New Deal.

Now he expects to finish that job over the next 8 to 10 years with three or four more books on the New Deal period. They will be full of people, too.

EARLY INTEREST

G. A. Henty's romantic histories for boys began Schlesinger's interest in history. The first big influence was his father, Arthur M. Schlesinger Sr., a distinguished historian who recently died at 77. From his father he got the realization of constant change in history and that it was "something more than past politics."

Schlesinger disagrees with Leo Tolstoi's view which he described as looking upon "people as leaves blown by the winds of history." His own theory is that the "individual has much more of a role than Tolstoi gave him, and he has choices."

Unlike historians writing of the past, with no one of that era left alive to talk to, Schlesinger, writing of recent history, looks for people who took part in it. He talked to about 100 on the New Deal books, about the same number on the Kennedy book.

This was in addition to all the research, which he does himself. He can read a book at the rate of about 125 to 200 pages an hour. But perhaps no other historian alive ever stops for the same kind of refreshment Schlesinger needs. He reads poetry.

David Lawrence Says:

Resentment in South Is Rising

WASHINGTON — Everyone with a sense of fairness deplores the action of a jury which acquits a person who, according to the evidence, is clearly guilty of murder. There have been several cases recently which have aroused national attention.

LAWRENCE

Whether in each instance the defendant was actually guilty of the offense is hard for persons to tell when they themselves have not heard all the evidence. But a wave of suspicion has swept the country, and people generally feel that in certain racial cases murder has gone unpunished.

But until intense thought is given to the effects of another kind of wrong in American life today, the biggest concern of the public will be expressed in the words of an even more tragic headline — namely, "incitement unpunished."

Bitterness in a community does not arise over isolated differences of opinion but over what is generally considered rank injustice.

The antagonisms which have been created since the 1954 decision of the Supreme Court on desegregation of the schools have been steadily increasing.

Now, with the passage of "civil rights" laws by Congress, the resentments in particular regions of the country are running far ahead of the reconciliations.

It takes time to change public opinion in any locality where certain customs have prevailed for nearly two centuries.

★ ★ ★

The concept of fair play for persons of every race is readily accepted in theory by knowledgeable individuals, but it isn't so easy for the less informed and the emotionally inclined to abandon deep-seated prejudices.

Juries are hard to select anyway, and the prosecuting attorney and counsel for the defendant usually strive to pick persons who will be fair.

Jury duty, however, in cases involving racial questions has been made more difficult because of the waves of emotion which have surrounded the issues. This shows no signs of diminution as incitement continues.

Jurors are not readily selected who can forget their own innermost prejudices or who feel they can face their neighbors and fellow townsmen after the trial if they go "against the tide."

★ ★ ★

CLAMP DOWN

Some day, when public opinion in America really clamps down on irresponsible demonstrations and "marches" that have embittered millions of people, there will be a change in the attitude of many persons in the South.

★ ★ ★

The way will then be opened to convince citizens in every section of the country that anyone who commits murder must be punished no matter what may be his or her race or religion or political or social or economic position in the community.

Presidential Landmarks Prove Drawing Cards

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — America is becoming a nation of history buffs, who will stray far from the superhighways to poke around the birthplaces, homes or libraries of American presidents.

Ruth Montgomery

This insatiable curiosity about our past has already drawn over 32,000 tourists off the beaten path to President Johnson's boyhood home, since it opened to the public only last May.

In a land where bulldozers are constantly uprooting old houses to make way for so-called progress, it is surprising how many of our president's homes are still preserved.

Among the better known to tourists are Washington's Mount Vernon, Jefferson's Monticello, Jackson's Heritage at Nashville, and the house in Quincy, Mass., where both John and John Quincy Adams lived.

But there are numerous others which are also open to the public. These include:

William Henry Harrison's old mansion at Vincennes, Ind., and the Indianapolis residence of his presidential grandson, Benjamin Harrison; the abode of Abraham and Mary Todd Lincoln in Springfield, Ill.; James Polk's ancestral home in Columbia, Tenn.; Franklin Pierce's homestead in Hillsborough Lower Village, N. H.; James Buchanan's "Wheatland" estate at Lancaster, Pa.; Andrew Johnson's house and adjoining tailor shop in Greensville, Tenn.; Rutherford B. Hayes' house at Fremont, Ohio; Ulysses S. Grant's birthplace in Point Pleasant, Ohio; Grover Cleveland's birthplace at Caldwell, N. J.; Teddy Roosevelt's birthplace in New York City and his Sagamore Hill estate at Oyster Bay, N. Y.; Woodrow Wilson's Staunton, Va., birthplace and the Washington mansion where he died; and Warren G. Harding's home in Marion, Ohio.

IMPRESSIVE LIBRARIES

Within recent years, libraries containing impressive memorabilia of five U. S. presidents have been opened to the public: Harry S. Truman's at Independence, Mo.; Dwight D. Eisenhower's at Abilene, Kan.; Herbert Hoover's at West Branch, Iowa; F. D. Roosevelt's at Hyde Park, N. Y.; and James Monroe's at Fredericksburg, Va.

In the immediate vicinity of their libraries are Eisenhower's boyhood home, Hoover's birthplace, and Roosevelt's Krum Elbow estate. Truman's birthplace at Lamar, Mo. and Ike's at Denison, Tex., are also open.

Strangely, no Calvin Coolidge residence is available for public inspection, although his father's farmhouse at Plymouth, Vt., where Coolidge swore the presidential oath by kerosene lamp, can be visited.

★ ★ ★

At Fairfield, Vt., a replica of the cabin where Chester A. Arthur was born can be seen, but the original has vanished. Plans are afoot to restore the birthplaces of Taft in Cincinnati, and Fillmore in Auburn, N. Y., but itchy-footed tourists will have to wait a few years for those.

Reader Asks Who'll Pay Cost of Poverty Program

Who is going to pay for Johnson's poverty program if we are all applicants? Or is this his objective for dictatorship? The closing of all these bases is another rug quickly pulled out from under the American people. What did we or our Congress have to say about it? As aroused citizens we should demand the quick resignation of Defense Secretary McNamara. He is selling us out and selling our fighting sons down the river.

While shopping recently we observed untold numbers of shopping carts left in the parking lots. Granted this is a busy time and people are too tired to take a cart quite a distance back to the store. Only a Beginning . . .

The Weekly Labor Forecast & Review

The Lyndon Johnson administration's crackdown on the aluminum industry's one-half cent a pound increase in aluminum prices should surprise no one. It is a part of an over-all pattern of ever-increasing price controls by the federal government over the entire economy.

★ ★ ★

Aluminum and steel being the major metals used in our economy naturally would be the first to feel the heavy hand of federal price controls. The only reason copper, lead, zinc, and tin have not as yet received the attention of federal price regulators is because a good portion of these metals are foreign mined and are outside of federal price controls.

★ ★ ★

If the Lyndon Johnson administration thinks it can let labor unions get anywhere from 3½ to 7 per cent increases in wages and fringes for their members without allowing industry and business some price increases, it is like the ancient king who tried sweeping back the tides of change with a broom.

★ ★ ★

Inflation is with us. It is increasing. The main reason for this increase is the federal government's policy of a deficit budget financing and cheap money.

This idea of trying to shift the blame for this inflationary condition onto some segment of industry might fool the public for awhile but in the long run will react very drastically against these federal price regulators.

Lack of Dignity . . .

The Washington Post

For two and a half years, Congressman Adam Clayton Powell has ducked and dodged and slithered away from the settlement of a defamation judgment against him awarded to a New York woman whom he mistakenly characterized as a "bag woman" or graft collector.

He has been accused of having fraudulently transferred ownership of property to avoid paying the judgment. All in all, the litigation in this case has involved no fewer than eight courts and more than 70 different judges, from the Criminal court in New York City to the Supreme Court of the United States.

★ ★ ★

One New York Supreme court justice called Mr. Powell's conduct "so flagrantly contemptuous of the authority and dignity of this court as to promote a tragic disrespect for the judicial process as a whole." And just a day or two ago another state Supreme court justice said: "To my knowledge, this man has used every trick and device in the book to flout the law and to avoid the orders of the court. He is not to be believed or trusted."

The presence of such a man in the House of Representatives can hardly be said to enhance its prestige.

To Hear 'Outsiders' in Interest Rate Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate-House Economic Committee turns today to outside specialists in its investigation of interest rising actions of the Federal Reserve System — an inquiry which seems to have changed no official minds.

Committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., told Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. Tuesday he hopes enough pressure will be brought on the board to induce it to reverse its decisions clearing the way for higher interest rates on loans and also on time deposits in banks.

* * *

Martin said the board "certainly will watch the effects carefully," but he and even those of his colleagues who voted against the increases have indicated throughout the hearings they see no chance of a change soon.

The committee called as witnesses today J. Kenneth Galbraith, professor of economics at Harvard University, author of "The Affluent Society," and a former official in Democratic administrations, and Henry C. Wallich, professor of economics at Yale University, who served as a member of the Council of Economic Advisers to President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

QUESTIONS RATE

During his questioning of Martin, Patman dwelt at length on the board decision to allow banks to pay as much as 5½ per cent interest on time deposits.

* * *

He said this would siphon funds away from building and loan associations, and he told Martin:

"I don't say you have entered into a conspiracy with the banks but you are doing just what the banks would want you to do — you have made the longest step, a giant step, toward helping the commercial banks ruin savings and loans . . . I would call it almost an un-American order."

* * *

Martin said the interest ceiling on ordinary savings deposits had not been increased purposely to avoid undue competition with savings and loan firms and that he does not think they will be seriously affected.

Fund Plea Issued in Drive to Aid Negro Colleges

Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore today issued a plea for aid to meet the $3,000 goal of the United Negro College Fund drive in the Pontiac area.

* * *

Moore and Mrs. Robert Turpin are cochairmen of the local campaign.

"In spite of the many personal appeals which have gone out, the drive is still $946 short," said Moore.

"Thirty-three negro colleges have had tough sledding," Moore said. "Yet they have produced their weight in gold in America."

* * *

Checks can be sent to the United Negro College Fund, Inc., 312 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Mich., 48226; or in care of Moore at the Oakland County Court House, Pontiac.

Some 86 per cent of those going to Florida will drive.

AFL-CIO Viet Resolution May Stir Opposition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders said today that North Viet Nam is waging war as part of a Communist drive to destroy the United States and dominate the world.

The resolution — expected to stir mild opposition — pledges to support President Johnson on all measures he deems necessary to halt the Communists and win a lasting peace.

The resolution, drawn up in a closed caucus Tuesday, was presented for approval today by the nearly 1,000 delegates at AFL - CIO's 10th anniversary convention.

Backed by AFL-CIO President George Meany, it drew some reservations from United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther — second most powerful man in the 13-million-member federation. Reuther reportedly wanted greater emphasis on efforts toward peace negotiations in Viet Nam.

U.S. EFFORTS

The resolution mentions U.S. efforts to bring about peace negotiations but places far greater emphasis on the Communist threat to world peace.

"This war is not an isolated or local conflict," the proposed resolution says.

It is an integral phase of the Communist drive for dominating the world.

"If Asia and all its hundreds of millions of people were to come under domination, the survival of our own country would be gravely endangered. The Communists are waging a war of conquest, a war for the annexation of South Viet Nam by Ho Chi Minh's regime," the resolution says.

PRIME MOVER

Prime mover in drafting the resolution was Jay Lovestone, the AFL-CIO's international affairs director who was a member of the Communist party until he broke with the late Joseph Stalin in 1928.

★ ★ ★

Lovestone, who had demanded that Stalin give the U.S. Communist party more freedom from Moscow control, has been strongly anti-Communist since.

"The hypocrisy of (Ho Chi Minh's) Communist government's peace propaganda is underlined by its continuous rejection of the many peace overtures made during the last year by the United States, her Western allies, the United Nations and nonaligned countries," says the resolution.

It also says the Communists can never be defeated in Viet Nam by military means alone.

"There must be large-scale programs for improving the conditions of life and labor and for developing democratic institutions," it says.

Cruise Ship Yarmouth Postpones Sailings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sailings of cruise ship Yarmouth, sister ship of the Yarmouth Castle, have been canceled so safety equipment can be double-checked.

The Yarmouth Castle, which sank off the Bahamas Nov. 13 with the loss of 90 lives, carried 377 passengers on the voyage. Yarmouth Cruise Lines said the Yarmouth will resume twice weekly cruises to the Bahamas Dec. 20.

More Special School Facilities Urged for Retarded Youngsters

DETROIT (AP)—About 35 per cent of school-age mentally retarded children in state institutions could be living at home if special education facilities were available, an official said Tuesday.

John Deiter, assistant director of the State Mental Health Department's Planning Division, testified before a Senate subcommittee studying Michigan's special education programs.

These children would be better off in the local community and their care would be less expensive to society, Deiter said.

He estimated that 50 per cent of mentally retarded children eligible for special education are not being served by the program.

10 PCT. SERVED

He also agreed with a Department of Public Instruction statement that special education programs are serving only about 10 per cent of emotionalyl disturbed children who need them.

Hundreds of additional special education teachers are needed, Deiter added, to carry out programs for mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children.

Dr. John Heitema, special education director in Macomb County and one-time state assistant superintendent in charge of special education, said Michigan has lost its leadership in this field.

Other witnesses said lack of adequate consultant staff and failure to fill the position of state special education director for almost one year had contributed to what they called the lack of an imaginative, comprehensive program and real leadership by the state.

City OKs Space Leasing for Community Action Center

A contract with the Oakland County Economic Opportunity Commission was approved last night by the City Commission for leasing of office space for a local Community Action Center.

The city is to lease a portion of the building at Lawrence and Saginaw for the OEO action center, one of two slated for the county.

The six-month lease, still subject to action by the OEO commission, provides for a rental of $4,800, which is to be paid by the city.

The center will be located on the second floor of the building on the southwest corner of Lawrence and Saginaw in downtown Pontiac.

City Affairs

The OEO contract was passed by a 6-1 vote. The lone dissenting vote was cast by Commissioner Robert C. Irwin who contended that questions on the antipoverty program itself still had not been answered.

EARLIER VOTE

Commissioners Leslie H. Hudson and James H. Marshall had joined Irwin in an earlier vote against the lease on the basis that the proposal required further study.

In other business last night, the commission rejected bids for construction of a pedestrian overpass on East Wide Track near Whittemore.

However, in related action, the commission approved the contract with Guardian Engineering Co. for a similar overhead walkway across West Huron at Webster School.

BIDS REJECTED

Bids on the Wide Track overpass were rejected on the recommendation of City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling.

He said the bids contained discrepancies which created a noncompetitive situation. Therefore, he recommended they be rejected and new bids taken.

Also last night, the commission received a report on approval of the city's revised plan for the R20 urban renewal project.

★ ★ ★

Final approval of the new R20 plan was announced last week by Congressman Billie S. Farnum.

GRANT BOOSTED

The project's total federal grant has been increased from $5.8 million to more than $6 million.

In related action, the commission set the borrowing limit for the R44 project at $2,426,624. This was the amount approved in the revised R44 plan recently okayed by federal authorities.

Further urban renewal business last night included a report by City Attorney Philip E. Rowston on settlement of a condemnation suit involving the Cy Owens building on Judson.

★ ★ ★

Rowston reported that the Circuit Court verdict set the building's value at $30,250. Court costs were ordered paid by the city.

The commission directed the costs be paid.

Two gifts were accepted by the commission. One was for $500 from the Northside Kiwanis Club for improvements to the park at Stanley and Emiry, and a second gift of $1,000 was from the Downtown Kiwanis Club for improvement of the park at Going and Whittemore.

In still other action, the commission received deeds to two lots on Montcalm in the Baldwin Dixie Hills Subdivision. The lots are involved in a pending rezoning there for a shopping center.

A request from Robert Angel, 807 Baldwin, to buy two city-owned lots, immediately adjacent to his building, was referred to the city manager.

A petition for rezoning of 54 lots in an area bounded by Walton, Highwood, Leheigh and Jaycee Park was referred to the City Planning Commission.

Policemen Reiterate Plea for Pay Boost, Longevity

Appropriately using a nightstick as a pointer, Pontiac policemen presented their argument for a pay raise to the City Commission last night.

Patrolman Fred A. Stormer, spokesman for the Pontiac Police Officer's Association (PPOA) reiterated policemen's request for an added $49 per year plus longevity pay.

The $49 boost is in addition to the $351 offered in the wage and job reclassification plan already adopted by the commission. The commission did not adopt the longevity pay proposed in the plan.

Stormer said the pay boost for 108 employes in the police department would cost the city about $5,292 per year, while longevity pay would cost about $32,500.

The PPOA aks for a longevity plan based on a graduated scale rising at five-year intervals and beginning at 2½ per cent after five years of service.

CITY MANAGER

City Manager Joseph A. Warren has maintained that the city cannot afford longevity or any more pay for city employes.

He claims the commission had implemented the maximum it could.

An added $49 pay hike for all city employes has been estimated to cost about $37,000, while the costs of longevity have been put at $120,000 per year.

★ ★ ★

Stormer said the PPOA can only represent its members and not other city employes.

AGREE TO MEET

Although he said they had received only negative answers in the past, Stormer agreed to meet again with City Manager Joseph A. Warren.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. suggested that the policemen meet again with Warren in order that the city manager could recommend to the commission.

★ ★ ★

The PPOA last night again picketed City Hall as it had done last week.

Appointed to office were past master Francis M. Mahaffy, chaplain; John Richardson, marshal; and Max Lee, Fred Wilder, Ervin O. Potter and William Lawrence, stewards.

High School Revisited—1

Students More Sophisticated

EDITOR'S NOTE—UPI reporter Myron Feinsilber went back to his home town high school to see what has changed since his graduation in 1952 and what has remained the same. This is the first of three articles on what he found.)

By MYRON FEINSILBER

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI)— When Lillian Stark scolds a student, he stays scolded. Ask anyone in Stroudsburg.

* * *

Thirteen years after Miss Stark scolded me for the last time, back when I was a senior in Stroudsburg High School, I returned to see how things had changed.

If Miss Stark continues to teach a few more years — and no one can imagine that she won't — she will be teaching the grandchildren of her first pupils.

And it will be interesting to see whether she assigns her new pupils the names of their mother's — or of their grandmother's. She admits she confuses the pupils' names with those of their parents.

* * *

She estimates that between 35 and 50 per cent of her students are the offspring of youngsters she once taught. Does she think they're different from their parents?

MORE PASSIVE

"The discipline problems are less," she says. "But these kids are more passive. They've seen everything. They're harder to excite. And they're more sophisticated — a little bit too much so. The junior high kids today know things the senior high kids didn't used to know.

"And they lack a depth of patriotism. They have no respect for the flag, or the Star Spangled Banner, or for religion."

Miss Stark used to teach history and Latin, but gave up Latin a few years ago.

* * *

LESS DRIVE

"They have very little inner drive or curiosity," he says.

"I don't get any arguments about assignments any more. They do it — they accept it. But they don't question anything — and they don't ask questions. I have to drag out of them what they don't understand.

"They have a lack of respect for authority," he thinks. "They're impolite."

* * *

On that point, Miss Stark disagrees. "I have yet to start walking down a hall with an armful of books," she says, "without having a kid stop me and ask, 'May I carry those?' "

MORE MONEY

Principal Alfred Munson, who has been at Stroudsburg High 31 years, tries to explain the new sophistication of students. "They're carrying a lot more money than they ever did. They know a lot more about sex than we did when I was a student here. Dating beings much earlier."

Out of a senior class of 225 last year, six girls had to quit school because they were pregnant. But Munson says this number was not unusually high.

He reports there are only two "pep assemblies" a year now.

* * *

That sort of thing, says Munson, has its cycles. Pep comes in and out of style. It is out now.

HAIR STYLES

Munson finds it amazing — and still shakes his head over it — that boys now tint their hair, usually to make it either red or lighter.

And he reports that between classes long lines of boys form before lavatory mirrors to comb their hair, painstakingly placing every strand exactly right. Boys, he says, are less self-conscious about being conscious of themselves.

Blue jeans, he reports, became too tight and were finally banned altogether. And every St. Patrick's Day he has to send home a girl or two who, carried away by the occasion, has dyed her hair green.

* * *

DEMAND MORE

"The community demands more of the school, things it never demanded before: a hot lunch program — that's new; medical inspections, guidance, a school psychologist.

"Parents expect us to find a college for their children.

"Society looks to the school to implant moral training, and yet the schools haven't yet specifically established how this is to be accomplished.

* * *

"Oh, sure, we read great literature, we encourage self-realization in terms of achievement, in getting things done punctually — but moral principles are by-products of what we offer."

RELIGIOUS ROLE

Religion still plays a role in Stroudsburg High. After the U.S. Supreme Court's school prayer decision, the school dropped Bible reading at the start of each day. Instead, students now stand for a moment of silent meditation.

But there are still carols and religious programs at Christmas, and clergymen, of all the local faiths, are invited to conduct baccalaureate services in the school at graduation time.

* * *

(Tomorrow: College Competition Increases.)

AP Photofax

TWO LEFT FEET — With identical injuries to their left feet, these two 11-year-old boys will be spending Christmas in the hospital. Terry McMahon (in back) and Gary DiGiovanna, both of Kansas City, received crushed bones and lacerations when struck by a rolling log while on a nature hike.

For 'Failure' on Rhodesia

Guinea Severs British Ties

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) — The African nation of Guinea today announced it has severed diplomatic relations with Britain because of the British government's failure to topple the rebellious white government in Rhodesia.

The announcement was made by President Sekou Toure in a midnight broadcast over the Guinea government radio, monitored in Abidjan.

Toure said he took the action because Britain had failed "to put an end to the scandalous situation created in Rhodesia by racist colonizers."

Guinea was acting in accordance with a resolution passed earlier this month by the 36 member nations of the Organization of African Unity (OAU).

The resolution set a Dec. 15 deadline for strong British action to crush the Rhodesian regime of Premier Ian Smith, which unilaterally declared its independence from Britain a month ago.

Ethiopia, the United Arab Republic, Tunisia, Kenya, Zambia and Nigeria indicated they would not cut diplomatic relations with Britain, despite the OAU resolution.

Brazil exports nine-tenths of its manganese output to the United States. It is the fourth largest producer — after the Soviet Union, India and South Africa.

Carelessness Is Rated Major Yule Fire Cause

Carelessness — littered wrapping paper, tree lights left unattended — is the major cause of Christmas fires, according to Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles Metz.

"Most of our Christmas tree fires last year could have been avoided if wrapping from presents hadn't been scattered on the floor," Metz said.

He urged quick disposal of discarded paper as well as extreme care with cigarettes around Christmas trees.

"A lot of these trees were cut at least a month ago," he said, "and by the time they're in the home they're dry and will burn in a hurry."

★ ★ ★

HOT SPOTS

"A short-circuit in the lights can produce hot spots of about 2,000 degrees," he said. "Don't just turn lights off when you go out, unplug them."

★ ★ ★

Metz also advised against the use of electric lights with imitation metal trees.

Short circuiting in such cases can result in severe electrical shock and even electrocution, he said.

Robber Holds Bag With No Bottom

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)— A paper bag was the downfall of a man who tried to rob the Arizona branch bank here. He told Mrs. Florence Forsythe, bank teller, to fill his paper bag with money. She put in some bills and a number of rolled coins.

★ ★ ★

As the bandit backed toward the door, the paper sack burst and the coins were spilled. Flustered, he attempted to make a getaway, but was caught and charged with armed robbery. The "weapon" he brandished was found to be a child's cap pistol.

The pygmies of central Africa are actually dwarfs. Their height varies down to four feet three inches for men and to four feet for women, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Despite Christmas 'Rush'

No Lines at Tiny Post Office

LAKEVILLE — There are no long lines of impatient people trying to mail Christmas packages or buy stamps at the post office here, in spite of the fact that the "Christmas rush" is on.

Instead a friendly, homey atmosphere persists at the tiny post office, which serves about 300 residents.

There is a noticeable increase in the volume of mail, but it is all handled by Postmaster Mrs. Daniel Haddrill and her mother, Mrs. Eber Baza, who helps out during the busy season.

"I really couldn't say how much our work increases at Christmas," she said, "but it is many times over. We are sending packages all over the world."

There are numerous letters to Santa Claus, which must go unanswered. A few years ago, the U.S. Post Office Department provided post cards on which the postmasters had to answer all the letters to Santa.

A REAL CHORE

"Thank goodness that didn't last," said Mrs. Haddrill "because it was really a chore with all the other work we had to do."

Mrs. Haddrill has been the custodian of Lakeville mail for 26 years. She originally accepted the job on a trial basis.

"When the inspector from Detroit asked me to take the job, I said I would try it for a week," she said, "but I never heard from him and I just stayed with it."

She explained that she is called the postmaster because "there is no such thing as a postmistress."

MOVES TO KITCHEN

The original post office was located in a grocery store but Mrs. Haddrill moved it to the kitchen of her home after a year and it remained there for 12 years.

"I didn't like that so well," she said, "because people felt they could come at all hours."

To relieve the situation, her husband and oldest son Robert, built her a 16- by 16-foot building a few feet from the front door of their home.

They were going to build an addition this year but cold weather set in before they were able to start.

EXTRA JOBS

In addition to all her normal duties, Mrs. Haddrill sometimes is called upon to perform extra-curricular jobs.

"Occasionally a mother will come in and ask me to watch her child while she runs to the store," she said.

She has even acted as a missing persons bureau. A neighbor once called to say she had found a little lost boy and could Mrs. Haddrill try to identify him. So she locked up the post office and went to identify the child, who belonged to another neighbor.

"The job takes a lot of my time," said Mrs. Haddrill, "but I enjoy it and I would miss it if I quit.

"You meet some interesting people."

Deal Approved for Parking Lot

Village of Oxford, Bank to Swap Land

OXFORD — A new parking lot will soon be developed in the north end of the central business district as the result of an agreement last night between the Village Council and the Oxford Savings Bank.

The village will swap some property it owns behind the new bank building now under construction for a 100-foot by 325-foot piece of land owned by the bank.

In addition to the land it will exchange, the village will also pay the bank $16,900.

The new municipal lot will be located on the west side of M24 near East Street in the north end of the business district.

★ ★ ★

Village Manager Robert Smalley said the deal has been in negotiation for some time. He said there is a "crying need" for off-street parking in the north end of the district.

★ ★ ★

Fifty parking spaces will be developed immediately with tentative plans to develop the rest as needed.

Orchard Lake College Slates Yule Musicale

ORCHARD LAKE — Students at St. Mary College will present their annual seasonal musicale, "Christmas on the Campus," Sunday.

The program will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the campus auditorium.

Township Will Hear Views on Water Link

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—A public informational meeting will be held tonight on a proposed $2.1-million program to bring Detroit water to the northeast portion of the township.

★ ★ ★

Township officials will attempt to determine public sentiment while disbursing information at the session, scheduled for 8 p.m. at Bond Elementary School, 31500 W. 13 Mile.

The proposed system would service an area of about nine square miles.

It would include all of the property between I-696 and 14 Mile from Inkster Road to about one half mile west of Farmington Road.

★ ★ ★

Also in the area would be most of the property between Orchard Lake and Farmington roads south of I-696 to 11 Mile.

SYSTEM PLANS

Plans for the system call for

AREA NEWS

a transmission line to be constructed along 14 Mile from the pipeline that now is being extended up Inkster Road.

Additional lines then would be extended along the major roads in the area to form a loop system.

The Township Board has proposed financing the program, carrying an estimated $2,135,000 cost, by selling revenue bonds.

★ ★ ★

The capital charge for each connection would be $75. In addition, there would be a $5 charge per quarter until the bonds were liquidated.

AFTER CHARGES

Clerk Floyd A. Cairns noted that homeowners in subdivisions which already have water systems would pay no other charges.

Lateral lines would be extended into subdivisions as special assessment districts were established to cover the cost, he said.

If the program is approved, the Detroit Department of Water Supply has said it was prepared to start work almost immediately.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the Oakland County Department of Public Works are to appear at the hearing tonight to disucss the department's role in the proposed project.

3 in Hospital After Crash

TROY—Three persons are in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac today following a two-car accident last night at Big Beaver and Adams.

★ ★ ★

Listed in fair condition are Frank Noble, 61, of 1027 N. Woodward, Birmingham; Ayleen Wright, 36, 2186 Avondale, Pontiac; and Doris Donaldson, 160 Catalpa, Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Police said the Wright woman made a left-hand turn in front of a car driven by Betty Sue Corrigan of Mount Clemens.

Decoration Contest Entrants Sought

SPRINGFIELD TOWNSHIP—Residents planning to decorate the exterior of their homes for Christmas are advised to let the Davisburg Jaycettes know about it.

The women are planning their second annual Christmas lighting contest, in which the top prize is a $25 saving bond.

Any Springfield Township resident is eligible to join by sending his name and address to Mrs. Elwyn Hillman, Box 104, Davisburg.

New Board Member Named

Holly School Official Quits

HOLLY—Freeman W. Peace, Holly Board of Education treasurer, has resigned from his office.

★ ★ ★

Peace gave as his reason for quitting "a difference in opinion with the administrative council."

The board member recently voiced opposition to maintaining the policy of assigning teachers to lunchtime duty in the school cafeterias.

In a reopening of contract negotiations, teachers had sought duty-free lunch hours.

★ ★ ★

Supt. Russell Haddon had recommended that the change not be made after discussing the matter with other members of the administrative council, which also includes the assistant superintendent and school principals.

TRAIN SOMEONE

In submitting his resignation, Peace commented that his term expires in June and it might be a good idea to give someone who would seek the office a training period.

The board filled the vacancy Monday by appointing Lloyd Good, 6626 Perryville, Springville, Springfield Township.

In the election last June, Good tied with Howard J. Upcraft for a school board seat. The tie was broken, with Upcraft winning the office, when the two men drew straws.

Peace, elected to his current term in 1962, also had served on the board in the early 1950's and was president of the citizens advisory committee to the board before running for office again.

Trustee Resigns From Farmington School Board

FARMINGTON — Mrs. Sylvia F. Schwartz has resigned from the Farmington Board of Education office she has held for six months.

Appointed as trustee to replace her was John M. Washburn III of 21044 Birchwood.

Mrs. Schwartz was elected to a four-year school board post in June.

In submitting her resignation, she said the amount of time involved in board work was "far more extensive" than she had anticipated.

The remaining three years in Mrs. Schwartz' term will be filled by voters in the June 1966 election.

Girl From Walled Lake Will Join Europe Tour

WALLED LAKE—Judy Granlund, daughter of the Runer Granlunds, 162 S. Pontiac Trail, is among area young people who will tour Europe next summer with Musical Youth International.

★ ★ ★

The People-to-People program will take them on a five-week tour of Scotland, England and West Germany.

Contracts Let on 4 Schools

UTICA — Three contracts for construction of four new elementary schools were awarded Monday night by the board of education.

The total of the low bids amounted to $2,952,000, or about $18,000 less than the budgeted amount of $2,970,000.

One contract went to Armstead Construction Co. for $522,990; two contracts went to Reb Construction Co. for $485,000 and $488,000; and the fourth contract was awarded to David Pettibone Construction Co. for $492,950.

In other action the board hired Ned Hubbell & Assoc. of Port Huron to conduct an opinion poll in the school district.

★ ★ ★

The board will pay the public relations firm $1,800 to find out how residents feel about their schools. The findings will be used for future planning.

Grant Sought for Remedial Reading Plan

CLARKSTON — Clarkston school officials have applied for a $41,000 federal grant to finance a proposed remedial reading program for elementary pupils.

The Board of Education endorsed the program at its meeting Monday night. The federal funds are made available through Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The grant amount is based on the number of students in the district aged 5 to 17 in 1960 whose families had an annual income of less than $2,000.

According to figures, there are 176 eligible children, school officials report.

★ ★ ★

In other business, the board reaffirmed its decision to recognize the Clarkston Education Association as the sole bargaining agent for teachers and agreed to accept custodial and secretarial groups in a similar role.

★ ★ ★

The agreements are in compliance with the terms of Michigan's new law regarding collective bargaining for public employes.

Winger will start his duties in February at the beginning of the second semester.

He will handle professional staff recruitment, federal programs and educational research and will assist on development of the district's new high school.

The 30-year-old administrator's salary will be $10,264.

Doggett now is principal of Twin Beach Elementary School. He will continue his duties there this year while preparing for the opening of the Oakley Park school next fall.

He will assist in the selection of staff, drawing of attendance boundaries and purchase of equipment for the 20-room unit.

In other action Monday night, the board culminated four years of negotiations by authorizing a purchase agreement for the First Baptist Church of Wixom, which stands in front of Wixom Elementary School.

The church accepted the board's last offer of $16,500 for the building and property on which it stands.

Ehrling and Staples on Kingswood Stage

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Cranbrook Music Guild presented Sixten Ehrling, pianist, and Gordon Staples, violinist, in a concert last evening at the Kingswood Auditorium.

The program included works by Brahms, Debussy and Beethoven and the audience was most appreciative.

Miss Marion Goodale greeted as many friends as she could when they arrived.

Among those present were Mrs. Eliel Saarinen who came with Mrs. Ehrling and Svea Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Booth, Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt, Terry Yamasaki, Mr. and Mrs. E. Steven Bauer, Mr. and Mrs. William Brashear and the Benjamin Brewsters.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Barton, Mrs. Glen Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Whiting Raymond, the LeRoy Dahlbergs and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perron.

Ehrling who arrived early yesterday morning after a month's conducting in Europe had been delayed coming from London due to bad weather.

He missed the 7 a.m. Lucia party Mrs. Ehrling and her daughters had for some of their neighbor friends on Monday.

Some wondered how could it be possible to be ready for such an early coffee event, but all guests came, listening to the Lucia story in Swedish tradition and also took part in joining the Ehrlings' daughters, Elisabeth and Ann-Charlotte in singing "Silent Night."

Mr. and Mrs. Saul Bernat drove from their Birmingham home, arriving at the Ehrlings in Grosse Pointe just before 7

Among others were the Howard Harringtons, manager of Detroit Symphony; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Semple, president of the symphony orchestra.

Tuesday Musicale Hears a Yule Concert

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The sanctuary of Central Methodist Church was the scene of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale's December meeting Tuesday afternoon. Traditionally, this is a choral program given by the Tuesday Musicale Chorus.

Under the direction of Christine Gaensbauer, and accompanied by Helen Schmitz, a large and appreciative audience heard a program of rarely sung Christmas music.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gaensbauer is not only an accomplished musician and conductor, but she also has the unique ability to choose music which is fresh, new and delightful to hear.

MODERN CAROL

The highlight of the program was Benjamin Britten's "A Ceremony of Carols." Written in 1942, the sensitive music, in intricate part harmony uses Fifteenth and Sixteenth Century ingenuous English lyrics to set off its contemporary, almost impressionistic harmonies and melodies.

The result is very touching, spiritual music which the forty-voice chorus sang with exquisite blending and a fine feeling for tempo, color and dynamics.

The artistry, the good diction and phrasing which Mrs. Gaensbauer exacts from her chorus make the group one of the finest female choruses in the state. Mrs. Schmitz played the difficult accompaniments with style, excellent support and good taste.

Soloists were Nancy Puskas, Muriel Mercer and Yvonne Smith, sopranos, and Annabelle Marshbanks and Margaret Warczak, contraltos.

The chorus also sang an amusing and difficult arrangement of "The Twelve Days of Christmas," "Pat-a-pan," "Ring Those Christmas Bells," "Mary Sat at Even," and "Jesus the Christ Is Born."

YOUNG ARTISTS

An additional attraction was the appearance of the two 1965 Dora Dawson Scholarship winners. William Quist, pianist, played Chopin's "Fantasia in C minor, and Karla Holland-Moritz, cellist, played three concert pieces by Couperin.

Both these fine early teen area musicians are also scholarship students at the National Arts Academy at Interlochen.

The audience joined in the singing of "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," the hymn of the month sung by all groups who are members of The National Federation of Music Clubs.

Mrs. H. P. Gulse, program chairman of the day, accompanied at the organ, and also introduced the program. A charming tea followed the program.

Two young scholarship winners appeared at the annual Christmas concert of the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale. With Karla Holland-Moritz, Walled Lake (left) and William Quist, Lakewood Drive, is Mrs. Walter Schmitz, West Kennett Road. She is the accompanist for the Tuesday Musicale chorus which also presented a program Tuesday.

Give Families Yule Carol Music Rolls

Without a doubt, the cheerful sound of music in the home at Christmas time is one of the most enjoyable and important parts of the family's holiday celebration.

As homemakers revive some of the more traditional forms of holiday decor and customs, families will gather this year around their player-pianos to sing-along to favorite Christmas carols on music rolls.

A good many families still have a beloved old player-piano inherited from Grandmother's parlor. Many others will be enjoying modern Pianolas for Christmas. But not all owners are aware of the great variety of Christmas music presently available for player-pianos.

This year there is the greatest selection ever of Christmas music for player-pianos. Among a selection of almost 50 popular Christmas tunes and traditional carols, several rare and beautiful Scottish and Welsh carols have been put out on Aeolian Music Rolls for the first time.

LONG-PLAY ROLL

Aeolian has also introduced a long-playing music roll, with as many as eight carols on a single roll. On almost all piano rolls the words are printed alongside the music, making it easy for the entire family to join in for a Christmas sing-along.

Piano rolls make an ideal and inexpensive present for the player-piano family. A convenient walnut finish music roll storage rack is also available as a slightly more expensive gift. Music rolls are priced at about $1.00 and the roll storage rack at about $10.00.

Both are available from local music stores or from Aeolian Corporation, 33 West 57th Street, New York City.

When Capt. Cook left England in 1768, there was no reliable map of the South Pacific region. By the time he finished recording his explorations, he had made a map that was both well-defined and reliable.

Locks Are No Answer

Teach 'Mine and Thine'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter about the kids who stole goodies from the refrigerator and it reminded me of my own problem. We have ten kids between the ages of two and thirteen and they are always helping themselves to goodies from the freezer, refrigerator and cupboards.

ABBY

No matter where I hide things, they always find them. These kids get plenty of treats. I pop popcorn and make candy every Sunday night and I bake twice a week, but they steal stuff anyway.

They also rummage around in my drawers. I don't even have a pair of matching earrings any more. We solved the food-snitching problem, though. We keep everything locked up in the fruit cellar and I wear the key around my neck.

We can't afford to feed ten kids three good meals a day and let them eat whatever they want all day.

YAKIMA MOM

DEAR MOM: You may save a lot of food by locking it up, but you're overlooking something far more valuable — the character of your children.

They should be taught early that there is a mine and thine, and they must either obey their parents or take the consequences. Children who are not disciplined by their parents will never learn to discipline themselves.

With the privilege of having children goes the responsibility of training them.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that it is not proper for a widow to send Christmas cards or gifts the year of her husband's death. Is this true? What about answering friends from afar who have not heard the sad news and send their Christmas cards addressed

I hate to dampen their Christmas spirit with my unhappy news. Any help you can give me will be deeply appreciated.

RECENTLY WIDOWED

DEAR WIDOWED: Unless the grief is still too fresh for you to attempt to resume normal living, send Christmas greetings as usual. One must go on living.

After the Christmas season has passed, write those friends who obviously were not aware of your husband's death and tell them.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS TO SERVE BUT HANDICAPPED": Your letter reveals a fine mind and a genuine determination to contribute to society. The true guardians of a country are not its soldiers, but its teachers. Consider a career in education.

Troubled? Write to ABBY in care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Over Lost Deferments

State May Set Draft Pattern

DETROIT (AP)—Uncle Sam's military draft boards may get precedent from Michigan in forthcoming rulings over student protests of their 1A reclassifications.

A Detroit draft board has under advisement the appeals of two University of Michigan students who lost their student deferments.

With six other fellow U-M students, the two were reclassified 1A — immediate eligibility for the draft—after their participation in a mass anti-Viet Nam war protest sit-in at Ann Arbor draft board headquarters.

The crux of the appeals issue apparently is the specific authority of the draft board.

PURPOSE CITED

The appealing pair, Patrick Murphy, 19, of Ann Arbor, and David Smokler of Royal Oak, contend their only purpose in the sit-in was to protest America's war involvement.

The American Civil Liberties Union says the draft board had no legal right to reclassify the youths because of the sit-in.

Selective Service law declares that interference with the draft is punishable by fine or imprisonment. Smokler and Murphy say they didn't interfere with the law.

Reaction to the reclassifications has been widespread.

VETERANS SPEAK

The American Veterans Committee protested in Washington Tuesday to national draft director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, declaring the laws provide "adequate procedures" for penalizing transgressors.

"Reclassification," Hershey said in reply, "is quicker at stopping sit-ins than some indictment that takes effect six months later."

University President Harlan Hatcher earlier cautioned that draft boards must be careful not to "punish political dissent."

More than 30 young people, mostly students, were convicted of trespassing in a state court for the sit-in. All were given fines and 10-day jail terms. Most of them have appealed.

BLASTS ACTION

Ernest Mazey, executive secretary of the Michigan Civil Liberties Union, said the draft board action was "arbitrary, unreasonable and unconstitutional."

As Murphy and Smokler await decisions, perhaps in two weeks, the six other reclassified students have indicated they also are to appeal.

The reclassifications followed recommendations from Michigan Selective Service headquarters that the draft boards reconsider the students' status in the light of their sit-in participation.

At least three other reclassified students reachable for comment said they still hold to their anti-Viet Nam war feelings.

SAME VIEWS

"I would do the same thing again (repeat the sit-in)," said Eric Chester, 20. Douglas Trumax, 21, called his position "still very much the same." "I still hold basically the same views," said Ronald Miller, 19.

Members of the Murphy and Smokler families have sided with the youths.

Report on Joblessness in 2 State Counties

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Only 3,000 persons were unemployed last month from the total labor force of 194,000 in Kent and Ottawa counties, Michigan Employment Security Commission figures showed Tuesday. It meant an increase of but three-tenths of one per cent over the October record low of 2,400 jobless from a labor force of 193,400.

Junior Editors Quiz on PREHISTORIC

QUESTION: What were the first animals like?

ANSWER: Scientists can not tell us how life started on earth or what the first creatures were like. The knowledge scientists have of prehistoric animals is based on the imprints such animals made on mud which later turned to rock.

But the very first creatures, according to the scientists, probably had such soft bodies that they would not have left imprints and so are unknown to us.

Some experts speculate that such animals may have looked like the very simple little one-celled creatures called protozoa (upper left) which still exist today.

These are tiny little individual creatures with hardly any shape. Later, it is thought, groups of such creatures came to grow together, resembling the sponges of today, which are composed of many small animals.

Some free swimming forms of these first animals are thought to have acquired a digestive cavity, as if they were all stomach, and other organs may have developed around this.

The picture shows some of the animals whose prints can definitely be seen in the rocks of the Cambrian period.

As you can see, some of these were quite developed, but there were no animals with backbones and no fish.

According to these experts, these first animals we know about were inhabitants of the shallow, warm seas of the Cambrian period, from 500 to 600 million years ago.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: The print in the rock Dick and Joan are looking at was made by trilobite, which was the dominant animal of this ancient Cambrian period. Read more about trilobites in a book on animals or an encyclopedia.

about the only fellows we can think of who wouldn't like a Van Heusen Vanopress shirt for Christmas the very new drip-dry shirts that absolutely never need ironing – because the smoothness, shape and press are baked in permanently – to stay that way however they're washed, however they're dried.

Every inch, every stitch, every seam of this shirt is permanently pressed the day it's made . . . and that's the way it stays for as long as you own it. Wash it and dry it any way you like — it'll come out looking as fresh and smooth as if you'd ironed it. Van Heusen tailors it in a miracle blend of 65% Dacron® polyester and 35% cotton; in two favorite collar styles: regular collar in white, blue, tan or pewter; snap-tab collar in white only; both with convertible cuffs. The price: a modest 6.95. And you'll also find Vanapress in sport shirts: in solid colors at 5.95, madras plaids at 6.95, and in pajamas at 7.95.

Britain's Wilson Off to U.S. With Viet Nam, Rhodesia the Chief Topics on Agenda

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson flies to the United States today to talk with President Johnson and to address the U.N. General Assembly. Viet Nam and Rhodesia are expected to be his chief topics.

* * *

Wilson's aides said he may announce tougher sanctions, including an oil embargo, against Rhodesia's rebel white minority regime when he speaks to the assembly Thursday.

* * *

Such an embargo would need the support of the United States to airlift oil to landlocked Zambia, Rhodesia's black-ruled northern neighbor.

Wilson is expected to discuss the airlift with Johnson in Washington Friday. Talks between U.S., British and Zambian officials have been going on since Rhodesia declared its independence from Britain Nov. 11.

PEACE PROSPECTS

Wilson told Parliament Tuesday night he would discuss prospects for peace in Viet Nam with the American President. He said if North Viet Nam indicates it will come to the conference table if the United States halts its bombings, then Britain would want to pursue the suggestion. He said that Hanoi so far has not indicated it is willing to negotiate.

Wilson said he still favors a simultaneous stop in American bombing of North Viet Nam and in North Vietnamese intervention in South Viet Nam.

* * *

BRITISH VIEWS

"President Johnson should be told that though the British government officially supports the U.S. policy in Viet Nam, you couldn't in fact fill the smallest room in the house with people in Britain who are prepared to go all the way with LBJ on this wretched, sickening issue," said the pro-Labor Daily Mirror.

The prime minister "can hardly fail to tell President Johnson what anxiety even those least tainted with anti-Americanism watch the American warfare in Viet Nam," said the Guardian, which supports the tiny Liberal party.

* * *

The independent Times said "the right circumstances" could still arise for Britain to act as mediator.

In the Rhodesian crisis, the United Nations has already voted for an oil embargo against the rebellious colony, but Britain said it would not apply it unless it could be made effective. Such a move might go a long way toward appeasing African states who are demanding that Britain put dowp the Rhodesian rebellion by armed force.

Second Negro Seated

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Virgil May, 45, a junior high school general science teacher, has become the second Negro to take a seat on the Benton Harbor nine-member city commission. He was appointed to fill a vacancy in a term which expires next April.

Honor U. S. Generals

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea has awarded the Order of Service Merit medals to Maj. Gen. Ferdinand T. Unger, former commander of the U.S. 7th Army in Korea, and Maj. Gen. William P. Yarborough, senior member of the U.N. Military Armistice Commission.

State Curbs on Plastic Novelties Urged

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago office of the U. S. Public Health Service says it has asked five Midwestern sates to keep all plastic novelties which might contain contaminated water off the sales counters.

W. R. McLean, associate program director for milk and food of the Chicago regional office, said he had wired the chief health officers to warn of possible danger in the use of the novelties.

The messages went to Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin, McLean said.

Included in McLean's list were plastic teething rings that contain water, plastic beverage coolers and similar devices.

ORGANISMS HARMFUL

McLean said water containing harmful organisms have been found in the novelties, including those made in Hong Kong, Japan and the United States.

* * *

The Public Health Service said in Washington earlier that it is not aware of any illness which has resulted from use of the water-filled "ice balls" imported from Hong Kong which it said contain potentially harmful bacteria.

The health service said that action toward banning the sale or seeking withdrawal from the market of the plastic novelties used to cool drinks is up to each state or locality.

Robbery Is Auto-mated

TOKYO (UPI) — Police here have advised women to carry their handbags on the side away from the street because of a rash of modern-day thievery —motorized purse-snatching.

Zoo Chimps Bit Playful

NEWCASTLE - ON - TYNE, England (UPI) — Zookeeper Jim Clark was locked in a cage with four chimps yesterday when one of the animals bolted the door after Clark entered to feed them.

Clark said he played with the chimps until other zoo workers freed him.

The crab catch in the United States last year totaled 269 million pounds and was valued at $24 million.

De Gaulle Seeks New Image

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, fighting hard for reelection against the increasing strength of leftist candidate Francois Mitterrand, has begun a hasty effort to revamp his campaign image.

Conscious that his sweeping picture of France's future role in the world may not be reaching the public, the 75-year-old general is attempting to widen the base before next Sunday's election runoff.

De Gaulle, who received 44 per cent of the vote in the Dec. 5 poll compared to Mitterrand's 32 per cent, is adjusting his views to reach the 15 per cent of the nation which backed middle-of-the-road progressive Jean Lecanuet.

The votes are considered likely to swing the election Sunday.

* * *

During the last two days, the general submitted for the first time ever to public, televised interviews.

He answered fairly probing questions from a Gaullist journalist first on home affairs and then last night on foreign policy.

De Gaulle used the interviews to counter charges by Mitterrand and his supporters he was trying to wreck Western unity, the Franco-American relationship, the European Common Market and NATO.

Regarding charges that he was trying to wreck the European Common Market, the general said he was only trying to protect the interests of the French farmer and that France's differences with the European community could be solved as long as no political conditions were attached.

* * *

Mitterrand, who tackled foreign questions Monday, said he also favors some readjustments in NATO but prefers to use friendly talks in Washington.

4-Year Term Asked for State Legislators

The Oakland County Township Supervisors' Association yesterday passed a resolution recommending that state legislators be elected for terms of four years rather than two.

The recommendation will go to the legislative committee of the County Board of Supervisors for its consideration.

Supervisors also reminded the five legislators present at the meeting of a pending bill in Lansing calling for four-year terms for township officials and urged favorable action on it.

This bill must be passed by March if the two-year terms at stake next fall are to be extended.

* * *

In other business, the association recommended that Herman Stephens be named director of the county equalization department at the meeting next Tuesday of the County Board of Supervisors.

Stephens became acting director last month when Edwin C. Sage announced his retirement effective Jan. 1 Sage is on sick leave.

The association elected Seeley Tinsman, Holly Township Supervisor, to a one-year term as chairman of the 24-member organization. He succeeds Edward Cheyz, White Lake Township Supervisor.

* * *

Bloomfield Township Supervisor Homer Case was elected vice chairman and John Lessiter, Orion Township supervisor, was named recording secretary.

Man Hospitalized After 2-Car Crash

Thomas C. Isenberg, 21, of 55 Henderson was hospitalized with head injuries last night after a two-car collision at the intersection of North Cass and Sanderson.

A spokesman at Pontiac General Hospital reported Isenberg's condition as satisfactory.

Pontiac police said Isenberg's car collided with one driven by Paul D, Mahaffey, 19, 2347 Fordham, Keego Harbor.

Exam Adjourned in Fatal Avon Tavern Shooting

Preliminary examination of a 27-year-old man charged with first-degree murder in the fatal shooting of an Avon Township man was continued to Dec. 28 yesterday by Avon Township Justice Luther C. Green.

Jay D. Mead has been held at the Oakland County Jail since his arrest following the gunshot death Oct. 22 of Eugene W. Franzel, 24, during a tavern argument.

One witness testified yesterday that she saw Mead pull a gun from his belt after an exchange of words with Franzel and shoot the victim in the chest.

A second man allegedly shot by Mead in the dispute recovered following surgery.

City Commission Supports County Law Training Plan

The seven-member City Commission last night voted to support a proposal for a countywide law enforcement training program.

* * *

Commissioners endorsed the plan with the idea that they were not committing any actual funds.

Assistant City Manager John F. Reineck outlined the program in a report to the commission.

A special committee created by the County Board of Supervisors proposed the program at a meeting Dec. 1. A survey of interest is being made of local governmental units.

* * *

Reineck said present training facilities in Detroit are unable to cope with all the training requirements demanded by Oakland County.

LACK OF FACILITIES

There is a lack of training facilities in the tricounty area.

Costs of the training program or school would be shared by all governmental units in the county.

* * *

Reineck also reported that Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger supports the proposed training program.

Car Hits Boy in Waterford

A 10-year-old Waterford Township boy, struck by an automobile yesterday morning, was listed in satisfactory condition today in Pontiac General Hospital.

Gary Hockey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Hockey of 6315 Williams Lake, was struck while crossing Airport near the Jameson intersection.

* * *

The driver of the car, Robert G. Baker, 36, of 33 Edgelake, Waterford Township, was not held.

SHE'S A WINNER — Mrs. Theresa Fancy of Somerville, Mass., is a picture of happiness after being notified that a Boston court had dismissed a claim by the Massachusetts Parking Authority. The claim was over $182.50 rent for her car which was abandoned in the Boston Common garage by thieves who had stolen it. The car was discovered in the underground garage 73 days after Mrs. Fancy reported it stolen. By the time of yesterday's hearing, the parking bill had increased to $200. A judge, however, said there was no evidence it was Mrs. Fancy who left the car and tossed out the claim.

'Dear Santa: Here's a List of Things I Don't Want for Christmas'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are a lot of things right about Christmas.

Such as:

BOYLE

The cheerful sounds and bright colors, the fun of decorating the tree and putting the holly wreath on the door, the reunion with loved ones, the holiness of its mystic meaning, the steaming joys of a full table, kissing under the mistletoe, the great expectations about what presents you will get.

Yes, there are many, many things right about Christmas. But there's one thing wrong about it.

That is, getting as presents exactly the things you don't want.

★ ★ ★

There is nothing wrong, how-Claus what we want. It is too much like begging.

There is nothing wrong, however, in writing Santa a letter such as this:

"I don't care what you bring me, just so you don't bring me something that makes me blow my top. Here is a list of things I particularly have no desire for, and if you bring me any of them, I warn you I will put a booby trap in my chimney to blow you up next Christmas Eve."

UNWANTED ITEMS

Any such list of unwanted presents is purely personal, of course. Here is the cranky list of don't you dare bring me things I sent to Santa Claus:

Mufflers with fringes on them. I can always use another muffler or two, even though I have 37. But I can't stand them with fringes.

No bicycles, tricycles, scooters, wagons, hobby horses or doll houses that come unassembled in crates. If Santa Claus can't understand the directions on how to put them together, neither can I.

Wallets covered with mink fur, mink bow ties, a mink hammock.

EXPENSIVE BOOK

A lavishly illustrated expensive volume on foreign art, such as, "Pictorial Treasures of the Moscow Subway," or "Forgotten Masters in American County Courthouses."

Cigarette lighters adorned with glass-encased nude nymphs who shimmy when the flame is lit.

Any fruit cake or country ham, baked in a Brooklyn basement by a defrocked Chinese chef, but mailed from "May Yancey's olde fashioned, hand-tended hickory hearth in Corncob, Tenn."

★ ★ ★

An unctuous greeting card that says, "This season, instead of a present, we are making a gift in your name to a worthy philanthropy — the Society for the Alleviation of Sprue among Indians of the Upper Amazon."

WIDE CATEGORY

Any other gift which, after keeping hidden in a drawer for 12 months, I don't have the courage to rewrap and send to someone else next year.

Remember, to keep Christmas merry you don't have to get exactly what you want. The art lies in avoiding getting exactly what you don't want.

India's cotton mill industry is one of its most important sources of employment, with the more than 900,000 employed in the mills representing 20 per cent of the country's total industrial force.

Harvard Prof: Doctors Too Immature for Plan

By Science Service

PHILADELPHIA —The medical profession is "a bit too immature" to accept cancer centers such as those authorized by President Johnson for study and treatment of the disease, a Harvard professor said here.

* * *

The centers, in which doctors and scientists would work together on the same problems, have created almost as much opposition as Medicare among the medical profession, Dr. Langdon Parsons of Harvard Medical School told a Hahnemann Medical College symposium on tumors in women.

Dr. Parsons pulled no punches about the attitude of the physician who is loathe to admit that one of his cancer patients might have a better chance of recovery if a more highly trained doctor than himself could take over the therapy.

In spite of a lifetime of study and practice in obstetrics and gynecology, in which cancer of the cervix, or neck of the womb, has played an important part, Dr. Parsons said he still does not know the answers to many questions that might well be answered in a cancer center.

* * *

Among these unanswered questions are:

1. Is a cancer patient better treated at first by radiation or surgery?
2. How much disease does a cervical cancer patient have? Currently, a finger is used to estimate the extent of the malignancy.
3. How many patients with "negative" lymph nodes actually had minute foci of tumor in them?
4. Do the nodes have a protective role and are we right or wrong when we remove them?
5. How does the natural resistance of the patient affect the growth pattern of a given tumor?

Ham Loaf Wears Crown of Fresh Apple Slices

Long a balancing partner to ham or pork, fresh apples take on new roles in today's excellent recipes which combine these two favorites in main-dish fashion. Admirably suited to holiday entertaining, buffet parties, or Sunday supper for the family, the Apple Upside-Down Loaf is an oven-baked delight, freeing the hostess from pre-party drudgery.

The Apple-Upside-Down Loaf will serve 10 to 12 nicely, may be made in one large mold, small loaves, or individual molds. Festooned with fresh apple slices and surrounded with cups of poached apples filled with a horseradish sauce this is an impressive and superbly-flavored dish.

* * *

You may vary this recipe by also using a center layer of sliced apples in the meat mixture.

Apple Upside-Down Loaf

1 lb. beef chuck, ground
2 lb. lean ham, ground
1 cup fine bread crumbs
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon mild dry mustard
3 to 4 green onions, chopped (tops included)
½ cup celery, chopped
½ to 1 cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 apples

Put beef and ham through grinder together. Mix in bread crumbs. Slightly beat eggs into milk, add to meat mixture. Add mustard, onions, and celery. Mix very well.

Combine brown sugar and spices, spread on the bottom of a 3-quart mold (or individual molds). Core, but do not peel apples and slice into rings; cut rings in half crosswise and place in bottom of mold. Pack meat mixture firmly into mold (or molds) on top of apples.

Bake at 350 degrees for 1 to 1½ hours for a large mold, 45 minutes for small molds. (There will be some juice, so when done let set for about 5 minutes, then tip mold to pour off excess juices before turning upside-down on serving platter.)

For serving a buffet for a large number, place large ham loaf mold in center of platter, surround with poached apple halves filled with horseradish sauce. Serves 10 to 12.

Poached Apple Cups with Horseradish Sauce

6 apples, unpeeled
3 cups cider
¼ cup prepared horseradish
1 cup cream (whipped or sour cream)
¼ teaspoon salt

Cut apples in half and core. Bring cider to simmering point, slip apples gently into cider and cook just until tender, basting throughout cooking. Remove from cider and let cool. Combine horseradish, whipped cream and salt. Fill chilled apple halves with this mixture.

Clarified Butter Is Best for Greasing

If you like to grease baking pans with butter, clarify the butter and keep it tightly covered in the refrigerator to have on hand for this use.

* * *

Through clarification, you gain a salt-free "oil" that tends to prevent baked products from sticking — and of course the clarified butter gives good flavor to the crusts of cookies, cakes and breads.

APPLE UPSIDE-DOWN LOAF — It's ham loaf in a new form. Bake it in a ring mold with apple slices. Serve with more apples—this time, apple cups filled with horseradish sauce. This is a pretty dish for family or guests.

Chocolate Syrup Part of Pie Filling

Special Chocolate Pie

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup fortified chocolate flavored syrup (from a 1 pound, 6 ounce jar)
2 cups heavy cream
½ teaspoon vanilla
9-inch baked graham cracker shell

Soften gelatin in cold water. In a medium saucepan, heat syrup until it comes to a full boil; remove from heat. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill, stirring a few times, until thick and syrupy.

Beat cream until stiff; fold into slightly thickened gelatin mixture with vanilla. Pile into shell; chill until firm.

Eight to nine egg whites measure one cup.

Chocolate Orange Wedges

There are some confections to make at home that are rarely found in shops. Candied Orange Fingers comes under that classification.

After simmering orange wedges in a sweet wine syrup, you dip them in chocolate.

CHOCOLATE COVERED CANDIED ORANGE FINGERS

6 medium California naval oranges, unpeeled
3 cups sugar
1 cup water
½ cup sherry wine
Dipping Chocolate*

Place oranges in large pan; add water to cover. Bring to a boil and simmer, uncovered, for 30 minutes. Remove from pan and drain.

Cut each orange into 6 wedges. In heavy pan, combine sugar, water and sherry. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add orange wedges and cook until almost all of the syrup is absorbed, about 45 minutes.

Remove orange pieces to wire rack to drain, skin side up; cool thoroughly. With kitchen shears, cut each orange wedge in half, lengthwise.

Dip the strips, one at a time, into prepared chocolate. Place on waxed paper and allow to dry in a cool place. Makes about 72 pieces.

*Dipping Chocolate

1 pound semi-sweet or milk chocolate squares (baking and candy making chocolate with emulsifier added)

Cut chocolate into pieces for easier melting. Place in double boiler over hot water, stirring frequently until melted and smooth. Remove from heat and cool chocolate, stirring frequently, until just warm to the touch (83 degrees).

If chocolate becomes too cool, place over warm water and stir until dipping consistency is reached.

Fruit Dessert

Chilled canned apple slices lightly sugared and mixed with green seedless grapes and candied red cherries. A topping of whipped cream is nice but not really necessary.

Ground Rules Laid for Club

Teen Locale Subject of Waterford Session

The Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) last night endorsed a series of regulations proposed by the police department to govern the township's new teen-age dance hall, Mr. G's House A-Go-Go.

Representatives of the police department, recreation department, teen-age factions, township board, clergymen and owners of the business attended last night's meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

The rules, which could possibly be incorporated in a township ordinance pertaining to teen-age clubs, provide for strict supervision, dress and behavior regulations.

Located at 6959 M59, the dance hall has been faced with problems since its opening last month.

A GWCC spokesman said those present at the meeting concurred that the club was a worthwhile undertaking and felt that it should be given a chance to succeed.

Viet Policy Gets the Endorsement of County Unit

The Veterans Affairs Committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday unanimously endorsed the U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Notification of this action will be given the supervisors legislative committee which will decide whether to prepare a resolution for consideration of the full board of supervisors.

* * *

A position on the Viet Nam policy by Oakland County officials was requested by the veterans affairs committee of Genesee County where the board of supervisors already passed a resolution supporting U.S. policy.

Youth, 19, Arrested on Knifing Charge

A 19-year-old Pontiac youth was arrested at his home early today by State Police troopers and held at the Oakland County Jail for investigation of assault with intent to commit murder.

* * *

Ronnie P. Kester of 89 Oakhill was to be arraigned this morning on the charge, arising from the stabbing of another man in a fight Saturday.

* * *

Police said Kester stabbed Arthur S. Swartz of 67 S. Princeton with a knife during a party-crashing incident at the Italian American Club at 60 N. Tilden.

Jail Sentence for Slaying Brings Appeal

A Waterford Township woman was sentenced yesterday to 1 to 15 years in the Detroit House of Correction for killing her husband last February.

Mrs. Valorie Tyrer, 45, of 6805 Desmond, immediately appealed the conviction and was released on $1,000 bond by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

* * *

Mrs. Tyrer was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury on Nov. 10.

She was convicted of the fatal stabbing of her husband, Norbert, 47, during an argument at their home Feb. 27.

Barry County OK'd for Shelter Project

HASTINGS (AP) —Barry County's designation as the nation's pilot project for a community nuclear-attack shelter plan was approved by the County Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Barry, with a population of about 30,000 and an industrial and agricultural complex, was chosen by U. S. Civil Defense officials as a typical American area.

The program of setting up the county's shelter system and other safeguards is to be completed early next year. The University of Tennessee has a federal contract for developing the program.

House Nobody Wants Leaves Room for Hitting the Ceiling

This is the tale of a house without home.

Or, if a two-family duplex at 9-11 Exchange was human, it would be an orphan.

At least no one wants to adopt the decaying two-story structure.

The case of the orphaned house was uncovered last night at the City Commission meeting by Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

* * *

The mayor inquired as to the future of the dilapidated building, wondering if the city's substandard housing committee had any plans to have it torn down.

ASKS QUESTION

Taylor asked why the condemned building was not boarded up to prevent anyone from getting into it.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren replied that the structure was owned by the nearby All Saints Episcopal Church, 171 W. Pike.

He said the church had owned the building for about a year.

IDEAL WAY

Earlier this week the church hit on an ideal way to dispose of the building — donate it to the city.

The deed was presented to City Attorney Philip E. Rowston.

But city commissioners and administrators aren't sure they want the "gift." The cost of demolition is expected to be high.

The city will study the offer and the commission will make the final decision whether to accept or reject the house at a future meeting.

SAME ACTION

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said the city should take action against a group just as they do with individual.

Taylor added that some decision should be made and the building torn down.

If buildings were only human, this one could feel neglected as well as unwanted.

Ecorse Teachers Vote

Avon Man Struck by Car on Auburn

A 21-year-old Avon Township man struck by a car yesterday is reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Kenneth D. Watkins of 2970 Longview suffered head injuries when hit as he crossed Auburn Road at the intersection of Longview about 10:30 a.m.

Charles W. Pajares, 56, of 3190 Longview, Avon Township, driver of the car, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies Watkins jumped from the curb in front of him.

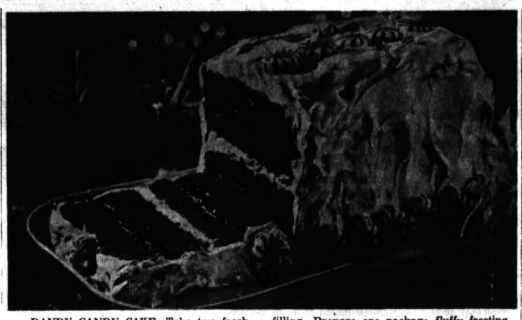
Saute one small chopped onion with one tablespoon minced green pepper in one scant tablespoon corn oil, butter, or margarine, until limp but not brown. Add one very ripe, coarsely chopped large tomato.

Place a block of frozen lima beans, green peas, or string beans on top of tomatoes, sprinkle with one teaspoon of sugar, one half teaspoon of salt and the same of coarse ground black pepper. Cover pan, turn flame very low and cook until vegetables are tender. Stir once or twice after vegetables have begun to thaw.

Time is approximately double that of package instructions. Correct seasoning with salt and sugar. Blend well and serve.



DANDY CANDY CAKE—Take two fresh-frozen all-butter chocolate cakes; remove from pan by cutting corners with knife or scissors and tearing down. Slice each cake lengthwise in two layers while still frozen. Assemble cake layers with frosted tops as filling. Prepare one package fluffy frosting mix according to package directions adding ¼ cup finely crushed peppermint candy last. Spread candy frosting between second and third layers and over all. Decorate with additional candies as shown. Serves 10-12.

Beans and Corn Are Long Time Buddies

It is said that the delicious Yankee dish known as succotash was a favorite of the Indians long before the white man came to our shores. Legend has it that a bird flew into New England carrying a bean in one ear and a grain of corn in the other and so began the custom of planting each in alternate rows and cooking them together.

We came across an interesting recipe written 119 years ago by the elder sister of Harriet Beecher Stowe (author of Uncle Tom's Cabin) and although lima beans are sometimes mated with corn, the original recipe calls for navy beans.

Down East Succatosh

"If you wish to make succatosh, boil the beans for half to three quarters of an hour, in water, a little salt. Meantime cutting off corn and throwing the cobs with the beans. Take care not to cut too close to the cob as it imparts a poor taste. "When the beans have boiled, take out the cobs and add the corn and let the whole boil from 15 to 20 minutes for young corn and longer for older corn. Make the proportions two third corn and one third beans.

"When you have a mess amounting to 2 quarts of corn and 1 quart of beans, take two tablespoons of flour, wet it into a thin paste and stir it into the succatosh and let it boil for five minutes. Then lay some butter in a dish, take it up into it and add more salt if need be." 12 servings.

Another combination so popular below the Mason-Dixon line is Hopping John, sweet tender beans and flaky white rice. This too is purported to be a heritage from the Indians.

Deep South Hopping John

Cook a ham bone, knuckle or salt pork in 2 quarts of water for 2 hours. All 1 cup soaked dry navy beans and cook till almost tender. Remove meat bone and add 1 cup uncooked rice and ½ cup finely chopped onion. Salt and pepper to taste. Boil gently about 20 minutes or till rice is fluffy. 4-5 servings.

Toasted Coconut

To toast coconut, spread thinly in shallow pan. Toast in moderate oven 350 degrees until delicate brown, stirring often, for a festive appearance. or Use untoasted coconut on top of cup cakes and toasted on sides for a festive appearance or sprinkle over chocolate sundaes.

Pink Treat Drink Bubbly and Nice

This pink treat creates a festive bowl for the holiday season. Pour into a punch bowl 3 bottles chilled California Rose wine and 1 six-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate. Stir in 2 quarts raspberry sherbet.

Mix thoroughly and pour in 1 bottle chilled California Pink Champagne or Sparkling Burgundy. Serve immediately. Serves approximately 32.

To Keep Pots and Pans Nice, Follow These Directions

(UPI) — The following use-and-care advice for cooking utensils comes from several sources, including the Stainless Steel Bureau, the Aluminum Association and Wear-Ever Aluminum, Inc.

For stainless steel, presoak utensil with soap or detergent and water to remove tenacious spots. Add baking soda to water or make a paste of ammonia, water and fine scouring powder for stubborn or burned-on spots. Scrub dark areas with stainless steel wool and scouring powder or use a commercial stainless steel cleaner, following the label directions. Cloths, sponges or fiber pads may be used instead of stainless steel pads.

Aluminum utensils without non-stick coatings may be secured if necessary with fine steel wool.

To clean interiors discolored by minerals in food or water, either cook an acid food such as tomatoes, rhubarb, apples or sauerkraut in the pan or use the following method: pour in enough water to cover the discolored area; stir in 2 tablespoons each of vinegar or cream of tartar for each quart of water. Bring to boil and let stand until cold, then scour with steel wool.

Enameled ware may be cleaned with soap or detergent and water either by hand or in a dishwasher. Remove cooked-on food by adding water and boiling until deposits can be freed with a wooden spoon, which won't scratch as would a metal spoon or pad.

Cooked-on grease can be removed from glass and ceramic utensils by soaking them in a mixture of 2 tablespoons of baking soda per quart of water, or using a diluted laundry bleach.

Commercial copper cleaners are best for cleaning copper and copper-clad utensils. Like cookware with non-stick linings, they should not be used at high temperatures.

A Sweet Disposition Plays Very Important Role in This Sour Cream's Character

Today's sour cream is a tribute to dairy technology states the Consumer Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. Scientific processing results in a dependable supply of dairy sour cream which is always uniform in flavor and texture.

Today's cultured sour cream is made from fresh, sweet table cream which has been pasteurized and homogenized. A culture is added to the cream. Then careful timing and controlled temperature develops the characteristic rich, tangy flavor and the smooth, thick texture.

Dairy sour cream opens the door to new adventures in creative cooking and homemakers are using more than ever before. Approximately 170 million pounds were manufactured in 1964 — up 50 million pounds from 1960.

Home care of sour cream is much like that of any other dairy product. Keep it covered and refrigerated at 35 to 40 degrees. Although it may keep for a longer period, try to use it within a week.

Here are suggestions for quick uses of sour cream:

- Top cream of tomato or split pea soup with a dollop of sour cream — sprinkle chives or chopped green onions over top.
- Just before serving green beans, add about one-half cup of sour cream and a sprinkle of dill seed.
- Combine lightly one-half cup sour cream, two tablespoons brown sugar and two cups stemmed seedless grapes. Serve chilled, topped with freshly grated nutmeg. Try the same with strawberries or sliced peaches.
- For a salad dressing, hamburger topping or chip-dip: Combine one cup sour cream, one-half cup crumbled Blue cheese, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon minced onion, dash Worchestershire sauce and one teaspoon lemon juice.

Makes one and one-half cups dressing or dip. Keeps well, covered, in refrigerator.

- For a meat sauce: Saute one-half cup sliced green onions and one cup sliced fresh mushrooms in two tablespoons butter until onions are slightly transparent.

Reduce heat to very low and add one cup sour cream, one tablespoon chopped parsley and salt to taste; stir constantly. Makes about one and one-half cups sauce — four to six servings.

Tourism Topic of CMU Study

Urges More Scientific Approach to Industry

LANSING (AP) —A Central Michigan University study yesterday called for a more scientific approach to the state's $1 billion tourist industry, and a major state department to oversee its development.

The year - long, $78,000 study, conducted by the CMU Department of Economic Expansion, recommended a more effective collection of information.

Pertinent important statistics now usually are gleaned from studies and reports of other state agencies or private organizations, said Dr. Norman Deunk, professor of management at CMU.

Without being uncomplimentary to the present Michigan Tourist Council, the study calls for "getting an organization adequate to do the job" Deunk said.

DECLINES TO COMMENT

Deunk declined to say whether he was recommending a new principal department, adding, "we just want to point out that this is the second largest industry in the state — second only to manufacturing."

The study, financed by a state research grant to the university, "is a basic or primary study; it will lead to further research," the professor said.

* *

"Most studies conducted in the past have been for a single purpose. This is the first across-the-board study. The findings are significant, in a few years we hope to know much more."

The report which will not be issued in its completed form until early next year, was praised by area and state tourist representatives and conservation officials.

REPORT PRAISED

Gov. George Romney praised the report as "a great first step in basic research into an industry which means so much to Michigan, but until now has not been studied in depth."

Romney said he would ask the tourist council and the conservation and economic expansion departments to evaluate the findings "with a view to implementing its recommendations where possible."

* * *

The study, which polled more than 11,000 vacation parties, showed that more than 11.5 million overnight tourists vacationed in Michigan in 1964. Nearly half of the summer vacationers were from out of state— representing most of the states of the Union, although the largest numbers came from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin.

* * *

Summer expenditures ranged from an average of $95 for a tent camping party to an average of $339 for a resort hotel party. The average summer party consisted of 4.4 persons, who spent an average of 11.3 nights in Michigan. Their favorite activities were swimming, sight-seeing, fishing and camping, in that order.

Winter sports are a fast-growing part of the Michigan vacation economy with the average skier spending more than $20 a day, the study showed. The average weekend skiier spent a little more than $41 for 1.9 days.

Spacecraft Is New Tool for Geologists

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The secret sources of water, fuel and minerals in faraway deserted places may be discovered by using a new tool for geologists — an orbiting spacecraft.

Infrared, ultraviolet and visible cameras orbiting at a height of 100 or more miles will be an immense aid to geologists mapping the contours of the world and searching for new sources of oil, water, and other vital resources.

A large step toward realizing this new mapping system has just been completed by an agreement between the U.S. Geological Survey and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Astronauts in orbiting vehicles could man the cameras or automatic instruments could be installed to photograph vast segments of the earth's surface.

These pictures could be relayed electronically to research stations on earth for analysis and interpretation.

Powell Hit With New Libel Award

NEW YORK (AP) — A state Supreme Court justice, accusing Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., of "a monstrous defiance of the law," has imposed a new $575,000 libel judgment on the Harlem congressman.

Justice Maurice Wahl made the new award because he said Powell had dodged payment of a $33,000 judgment awarded Esther James, a Harlem widow, in 1963. In a television interview in 1960, Powell called Mrs. James a "bag woman," or graft collector, for the police department.

* * *

"He's like a mackerel," Wahl said of Powell in making the new award Tuesday after a three-hour hearing. "He shines but he smells to high heaven."

Wahl said Powell had transferred $50,289 worth of property in Puerto Rico to relatives of his wife to avoid payment of the original libel judgment.

ONLY $13,500

Mrs. James' lawyer, Raymond Rubin, told the court Powell had paid only $13,500 of the 1963 judgment.

"It behooves a lawmaker to set an example for others to follow", Wahl said. "I think a sentence in jail would do more good than a fine."

* * *

Powell did not appear in court.

Mrs. James later told newsmen: "I'm very happy the court has put Mr. Powell in his place.

"I think the king is still dead," she said.

* * *

In Washington, Powell's special assistant, C. Summer Stone, said the congressman would appeal the judgment. Powell was at home in Puerto Rico and would not comment.

Two Arraigned in Teen Deaths

Auto Theft Operation Is Believed Involved

FLINT (AP)—Two Flint men were arraigned on fugitive charges Tuesday in connection with the slayings a year ago of two Flint teen-agers whose bodies were found in Gary, Ind.

Operations of an alleged interstate auto theft ring were reportedly involved.

Thomas Pugh, 26, and T. J. Anderson, 34, both Flint factory workers, were arraigned on warrants from Gary before Municipal Judge Donald Freeman. Freeman ordered the two held on $20,000 bonds, pending a hearing Dec. 29 on whether they should be turned over to Gary authorities.

The bodies of Dwight Burke, 16, and Carlos Reeves, 18, were found Nov. 13, 1964, in Gary. Both had been shot in the head and their bodies thrown into the street.

AUTO THEFT RING

Police said they believed the teen-agers, who until Monday had been listed only as missing, were killed to prevent exposure of an auto theft ring operating between New York and Michigan.

* * *

Capt. Robert Corrington and Lt. Francis Folaron said identity of the youths was established after Folaron learned that two Flint members of the alleged auto theft ring were slain near Gary.

* * *

Gary police sent pictures of the two victims. Flint authorities identified the bodies as those of Burke and Reeves.

Folaron theorized the youths were slain because members of the theft ring feared exposure if Burke was brought to court on a charge in connection with the holdup of a gasoline station in Flint a few days before his death.

The detectives also said Burke was "talking too much" around town about the auto theft ring.

Milkman's on Scene to Extinguish Blaze

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Phoenix firemen rushed to the scene of a car fire Tuesday, only to find that a milkman had beaten them to it.

H. B. Young of nearby Mesa, Ariz., told firemen the unidentified milkman had stopped his truck and extinguished the blaze — with five gallons of milk.

Fudge, Butterscotch or Brittle---Recipes for Your Sweet Tooth

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you have a knack for making candy, now is the time to exercise it. A box of homemade candy is a pleasant way to say, "Merry Christmas."

★ ★ ★

The expert candymaker uses a thermometer. When cooking fudge or fondant, she is careful not to stir after the sugar is dissolved.

★ ★ ★

If the day is humid, she cooks the mixture two degrees above what the recipe calls for, because candy syrup may absorb moisture from the air.

★ ★ ★

Easy Peanut Butter Fudge

2½ cups sugar
¾ cup evaporated milk
1¾ cups (about) marshmallow topping
¼ cup butter
¾ teaspoon salt
1 package (11 oz.) peanut butter flavor chips
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, evaporated milk, marshmallow topping, butter, and salt in a saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until blended. Bring to a full boil over medium heat. Then continue to boil over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Add chips and vanilla; stir until chips are melted. Pour into a buttered 9-inch square pan. Cool. Cut into 1-inch squares. Makes about 81 squares.

BUTTERSCOTCH CANDY

2 cups granulated sugar
⅔ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup water
¼ cup light cream
¼ cup butter or margarine

Combine first four ingredients in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, to hard ball stage, 260 degrees on candy thermometer or until a small amount forms a hard ball when tested in very cold water.

Add butter or margarine and continue cooking, stirring constantly, to soft crack stage or 280 degrees.

Pour quickly into buttered eight-inch square pan. When almost cool and set, cut into squares. When cold, break apart. Wrap each square in saran or foil. Yield: about 1¼ pounds.

CHEESE FUDGE

1 cup cocoa
1 pound processed Cheddar cheese
1 pound butter
1 pound dry milk
3 pounds powdered sugar
4 cups chopped pecans
4 teaspoons vanilla

Allow processed cheese to soften to room temperature. Mix all ingredients together with hands. Form into rolls or press into three flat buttered pans, about 13x9x2 inches. Chill, then cut into slices or squares. Keep refrigerated until served. Makes about eight pounds.

FILBERT BRITTLE

1½ pounds granulated sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1½ cups water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1¼ pounds filberts (about 4½ cups)
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine sugar, corn syrup and 1½ cups water in large heavy skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves and mixture boils. Cover and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Uncover and cook to 275 degrees on candy thermometer.

Stir in butter and filberts; continue cooking until mixture is a golden brown and filberts look roasted. Remove from heat; quickly stir in baking soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon water and vanilla. (Mixture will bubble and steam violently.)

Pour into a large shallow buttered pan, spreading mixture to even thickness. Cool thoroughly and break into pieces. Makes 3½ pounds.

GLOSSY ALMOND BUTTERCREAMS

1 cup whipping cream or half-and-half
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup toasted slivered almonds

Combine cream, sugar and butter in heavy saucepan; cook over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Boil gently over medium heat about 20 minutes, stirring frequently, until candy thermometer registers 238 degrees F. or until a few drops of mixture forms medium soft ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla and almonds.

Drop by tablespoonfuls onto cooky sheets. Cool. Store in covered container or plastic bags. Makes about 30 buttercreams.

COCONUT APRICOT CANDY

¾ cup dried apricots
¾ cup coconut
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon orange juice

Wash apricots, cover with boiling water, and let stand 5 minutes; drain. Put apricots and coconut through food chopper. Add orange and lemon rind and orange juice; knead mixture until blended.

If candy is dry, add enough additional orange juice to moisten. If too moist, work in a small amount of confectioners' sugar.

Shape in 1-inch balls. Roll in granulated sugar, additional coconut, or finely chopped nuts.

A little grated parmesan cheese added to other ingredients when making meat balls from ground beef or pork will enhance the flavor.

CANDY MAKING TIME — Fudge is probably the candy most often made for Christmas giving and throughout the year. Wrap pieces in plastic, twisting between each piece, to make a wreath for the tree. Or present your homemade candy in a usable container, tied with a pretty ribbon.

Place Apple, Onion With Pork Chops

Have a six-rib pork roast cut into six shops. Blend one half cup sugar with one teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon pepper, one fourth teaspoon cinnamon and one fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Coat each chop on both sides with this mixture.

Reconstruct the roast fat side up in a long deep loaf pan, inserting half-inch slice of tart, firm, winesap apple, and one half-inch slice of sweet Bermuda or Italian purple onion, between each chop, plus one slice of apple at each end of the pan.

Cover pan with aluminum foil (allowing ample room at the top so foil will not touch chops) seal edge so no steam can escape and bake in a 350 degree oven one and one-half hours. Tearing open foil, last fifteen minutes of baking, to brown.

Toasted Nuts Improve Dip

During the holiday season you never know when friends will drop by so it's a good idea to have quick-fix snack foods available. No doubt, one of your standbys is the classic onion soup mix-sour cream dip. The next time you prepare this popular treat add toasted almonds, curry, and garlic and listen to your guests rave.

They'll also exclaim over the attractive Cheese and Olive Topiary Tree you've made from an empty onion dry soup mix can. To make the tree, cover the can with holiday gift wrap. Fill the can with clay and snap on the plastic lid.

Cut a small "X" in the center of the lid. Insert a short length of dowel through the "X" firmly into the clay. Spear a 3-inch plastic foam ball onto the dowel. Fasten parsley sprigs to the ball with straight pins. Insert toothpicks topped with cheese cubes and olives into the parsley.

Toasted Almond Dip

1 can (1⅜ ounces) onion dry soup mix
1 pint sour cream
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
½ teaspoon curry powder
Generous dash garlic powder

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with chips or crackers. Makes about 2½ cups.

Hard Sauce Given Taste of Molasses

Holiday puddings and pies taste good with molasses walnut hard sauce. Beat together until creamy ¼ pound of softened butter or margarine, 2½ cups of sifted confectioners' sugar, a dash of salt and 2 tablespoons of molasses. Mix in ½ cup of chopped walnuts. Makes about 1⅝ cups.

FESTIVE CLIP-A-RECIPE IDEA

FROM FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST

BEST THING THAT'S HAPPENED TO MINCEMEAT SINCE PIE!

MINCEMEAT CHRISTMAS STARS

1 cup milk 5 cups unsifted flour
¼ cup sugar 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup (2 sticks) Fleischmann's Margarine
½ cup warm water (105°-115° F.)
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 egg
melted Fleischmann's Margarine
1½ cups prepared mincemeat
Candied red and green halved cherries

Scald milk; let cool to lukewarm. In large mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in Fleischmann's Margarine with pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like coarse meal. Measure warm water into small bowl. Sprinkle in Fleischmann's yeast; stir until dissolved. Add dissolved yeast, lukewarm milk and egg to flour mixture. Beat until thoroughly blended. Cover tightly. Refrigerate overnight.

Divide the dough into three equal pieces. On lightly floured board roll one piece out into a 16-inch square; brush lightly with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Cut into sixteen (4-inch) squares. Place on greased baking sheets. Cut each square diagonally from each corner to within ½ to ¾ inch of the center. In each center place a rounded teaspoon of prepared mincemeat.

There are now 2 points to each corner of the square. In rotation, bring the same point of each corner to the center of the square; overlap and seal points at the center. Place half a candied cherry in the center of each star. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Repeat with rest of dough. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 12 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Top with confectioners' sugar frosting. Makes 48 Mincemeat Christmas Stars.

Trust Fleischmann's high rising yeast to lift your baking (and your egot) up, up, UP.

Mack Hill Suffered Injury Sunday

AFL Fullback With Kansas City Dies After Knee Surgery

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Mack Lee Hill, a second year fullback with the Kansas City Chiefs, died following surgery Tuesday in Kansas City's Menorah Medical Center.

A spokesman for the Chiefs said the surgery for the repair of torn knee ligaments ended about 3 p.m. Following surgery, the 25-year-old Hill went into convulsions. His temperature shot up to 105.

He died at 4:35 p.m.

Hill suffered a ruptured ligament in his right knee last Sunday when the Chiefs played at Buffalo in an American Football League game.

He entered the hospital Monday evening.

The cause of death, according to the team's spokesman, was a "sudden and massive embolism (blood clot) after surgery."

Roger Valdiserri, Chiefs' publicity director, said, "The doctors reported that this type of thing is not common, there is no known treatment, it is entirely unpredictable and unpreventable."

Hill was the third professional football player—all in the American League—to die of game injuries in recent years.

In September, 1963, Stone Johnson, a Kansas City rookie and a member of the 1960 Olympic team, died of a broken neck suffered in an exhibition game.

Howard Glenn, a guard for the old New York Titans, died in October, 1960, of a broken neck suffered in a game against Houston.

GETS SCHOLARSHIP

Born in Quincy, Fla., Hill was a halfback on his high school team and received a scholarship to Southern University in Baton Rouge, La.

Hill, known as "Mack the Truck," caught the eyes of pro scouts as a freshman at Southern, where he was a 225-pound halfback. He had a great year as a sophomore, then tapered off, because of injuries, in his final two years.

He came to the Chiefs' preseason training camp as a free agent because Kansas City was the only club that showed any interest at all.

When Mack came to camp, he was having foot trouble. This condition was quickly cured to a large degree when the club's physician prescribed bigger shoes, telling Mack he had been wearing shoes that were too small.

He ran with power, a quickness that belied his 235 pounds spread over a 5-11 frame, and a balance that was the key to his success.

As a rookie, Hill finished with the best average per carry among AFL backs, 5.4 yards. He scored six touchdowns and had one run of 71 yards. He carried the ball 105 times and gained 576 yards.

This season the stocky fullback picked up 673 yards rushing, making him the sixth best runner in the league. His 5.0 average per carry was tops.

Kettering Thrives Against W-O

Captains Hand Clarkston Five 66-63 Setback

Winners Push Record to 3-0; Fife Sparks Losers Attack

By JERE CRAIG

Waterford Kettering's basketball team is a good example of why the Captains' athletic officials are casting covetous glances toward the Wayne-Oakland League.

Kettering, a Tri-County League member, won its eighth straight court verdict from a W-O team last night with a rough 66-63 conquest of Clarkston, and the victory gave the Captains a 3-0 mark for the season.

In four seasons, WKHS is 9-2 in contests with the Wolves, West Bloomfield and Milford—all Wayne-Oakland members.

With Brighton rumored looking for membership in another circuit, the Kettering hopes may not be in vain, although the timetable for such a switch isn't apparent. The Tri-County League will drop to four teams in 1967 when Romeo joins the Oakland A. grouping.

Clarkston — which hasn't beaten the Captains since ending their 16 game winning streak two winters ago — had control of last night's game for three periods, but let it get away.

The Wolves with Dan Fife scoring, rebounding and feeding well, had comfortable margins — though diminishing — after each of the first three quarters.

CHANGE

They led, 39-27 and 41-29 in the third session; but the visitors elected to move Fife from his high post position on offense to the outside and slow their attack.

The result was less offensive rebounding and fewer field goal attempts. Clarkston took 10 less shots and had 14 fewer rebounds in the second half.

Moreover, the host Kettering quintet had two regulars with four personals at halftime, and leading scorer Dick Miceli picked up his fourth as did Joe Raczyinski at key stages of the final half. But they all finished the game while the Wolves lost two regulars.

Fife had 12 retrieves and 25 points in three quarters while attracting many foul shots with his pivot maneuverings. He, in turn, fouled out with 1:43 to play, totaling 15 rebounds and 31 points.

The lead see-sawed in the final few hectic minutes. Pete Evans' two free throws at the 2:15 mark offset Fife's final basket and gave Kettering-the lead for good at 61-60.

Imlay City Gains 4th Cage Triumph, 76-40

Imlay City won its 4th game in five starts by whipping Yale, 76-40 last night with 11 players scoring for the Spartans.

★ ★ ★

Dale Bulke led the winners with 16, followed by Bill Hocksema and Mary Benthem with 11. Imlay led 46-20 at halftime.

SPORTS

Waterford High Downs Lakers

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Waterford's Skippers cracked the win column but Walled Lake's Viking suffered a beating in a pair of nonleague games for the two Inter-Lakes League teams Tuesday night.

Waterford pulled away from West Bloomfield in the final two minutes for a 62-50 victory. Highland Park held the lead most of the way for 64-46 win over Walled Lake.

The I-L teams will not begin league play until next month.

The Vikings are 1-2, matching Waterford's record. The loss was the first for West Bloomfield, which is a co-leader in the Wayne-Oakland League.

Waterford fell behind in the first quarter at West Bloomfield as the host Lakers riddled the Skippers' zone defense. But coach Bob Taylor of the Skippers then went to a man-to-man and took control of the game.

SNAPS TIE

Rick Ziem snapped a 15-15 tie with two field goals near the five-minute mark of the second period and the visitors never trailed again. Ziem had seven field goals in the quarter, and finished with 25 in the contest.

Waterford saw its lead cut to one point, 38-37, in the third quarter, and 47-46, in the final session. The margin was only 53-50 with 2:43 to play, but the winners netted the last nine points in the tilt.

Dave Kline, who transferred to WTHS from the Keego Harbor school two years ago, helped Ziem with 10 points. Karl Arrington also added 10 and was the Skippers' top rebounder.

The losing Lakers, however, controlled the backboards by a slim margin. Tim Moller pulled down 15 to lead all participants and teammate Bill Burt had 11 while handicapped by personal fouls.

FOUL SHOTS

A 3-for-15 Walled Lake free throw effort in the first half helped Highland Park gain a 32-21 intermission advantage. The Vikings never moved within six points of their host in the final half.

Hearing Slated in Track Feud

Truce Now Existing Between AAU, NCAA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top officials of amateur sports began today polishing their arguments for a January hearing after spelling out terms of a truce that will continue during arbitration of their feud.

Meanwhile, Theodore Kheel returned to New York, where he currently is trying to head off a transit strike.

Kheel, lawyer and labor mediator who recently worked out a settlement in the New York newspaper strike, was named Tuesday by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to head a five man board directed by the Senate to settle the lingering dispute between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

After a closed meeting with representatives of the AAU, the NCAA, the U.S. Track and Field federation and the American Olympic Committee, Kheel said Tuesday, there was a good chance for an end to the feud that has troubled amateur sports for more than a decade and threatens to wreck the 1968 U.S. Olympic team.

STATEMENTS DUE

He said both sides will submit written statements to the panel by Jan. 7. The board will hold its first formal meeting here Jan. 18. This will be a closed hearing by the board.

Kheel said an agreement was reached to permit wide participation in all athletic meets and tournaments during the arbitration.

Other members of the Kheel committee are:

Archibald Cox, former solicitor general who now is a professor at Harvard Law School.

Gen. David M. Shoup, retired Marine Corps commandant.

Thomas Vail, editor and publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ralph Metcalfe, former Olympic sprinter who now is a Chicago alderman and businessman.

Duke Holds No. 1 Spot in Ratings

By The Associated Press

Duke's Blue Devils soared to the top of the Associated Press' major-college basketball poll today, replacing UCLA, the team they beat twice in two nights last week. The West Coast Bruins fell to eighth place.

★ ★ ★

The Blue Devils, with a 5-1 record including Tuesday night's 102-67 conquest of Furman, advanced from sixth position. They collected 17 first place votes and 357 points in the balloting by a special regional panel of 43 sports writers and sportscasters. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

Duke whipped UCLA, defending national champion, 82-66 Friday and 94-75 Saturday.

St. Joseph's, Pa., moved up one place to second with 14 votes for the top spot and 323 points. The Hawks have a 4-0 record, including last week's victories over Bellarmine and Bowling Green.

U-M THIRD

Michigan is third followed by Kansas, Vanderbilt, Minnesota, Providence, UCLA, Bradley and Wichita. The latter team replaced South Carolina among the first 10.

Michigan dropped one notch to third. The Wolverines beat Ball State and San Francisco and lost to Wichita last week for a season's record of 4-1.

Clay Facing Disorderly Charge

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two policemen stopped a car here to make what was expected to be a routine registration check.

It turned out to be anything but that Tuesday when one of the passengers emerged and advised the officers: "I'm the champ."

He was. And because he "threw his weight around" while being questioned, the patrolmen said, heavyweight champion Cassius Clay was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Patrolman Lawrence Forberg said Clay and three other men were stopped in a car they saw traveling through a "high theft" area without city or state license tags.

Out stepped Clay. According to Forberg, he began yelling: "Don't you know who I am? I'm the champ. I'm Cassius Clay. I'm making $15 million a year, and you're just a policeman."

The officer said Clay told him, "The only reason for stopping us is we're Negroes." Then he allegedly dared the patrolmen: "Go ahead and hit me. I'm going to make a national scene out of this. Hit me so I can sue the government."

Forberg said that, as a matter of routine, the men were asked if they carried weapons.

NOT ARMED

"I'm a Muslim," Clay was said to have replied, referring to the claim of the black supremacy cult that members are forbidden to be armed.

Forberg said Clay was sober, and did not resist arrest. But the patrolman said the boxer refused to be taken to headquarters in a patrol wagon, and rode in the squad car instead.

Clay was booked and released on $25 bond. His court date was set for Jan. 17. John Cage, 47, the driver of the car, was arrested on charges of driving a car without license plates, and driving with a revoked operator's license. No charges were filed against the other men, Omar Bey, one of Clay's trainers, and Carl Davis of Chicago.

Ailing Knee Halts Lions' Gail Cogdill

DETROIT (AP) — An injured knee will keep Detroit Lion end Gail Cogdill out of next Sunday's National Football League game against the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Lions said Tuesday Cogdill, who missed the first four games of the season because of an injured right knee, reinjured the knee in last Sunday's game with Minnesota.

Cogdill will go into a hospital after the Christmas holidays for surgery on the knee, the Lions said.

White Sox Hire 'The Brat' as Manager

CHICAGO (AP)—Eddie Stanky, who earned the nickname of The Brat during his playing days, ended the Chicago White Sox' frantic search for a manager when he signed a three-year contract Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Stanky's last managerial job in the majors was with the St. Louis Cardinals 10 years ago. More by coincidence than design, Stanky becomes the Sox' answer to the Chicago Cubs' recent signing of Lippy Leo Durocher.

★ ★ ★

The Brat is of the same hustling mold as The Lip. Stanky played for Durocher with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the '40s and again for The Lip with the New York Giants in the early '50s.

Both last managed in the majors in1955. Both signed three-year contracts for an estimated $40,000 a year and both were completely surprising choices.

Stanky said Tuesday Durocher was "the best manager I played for" and Durocher, when he made his famous crack "nice guys finish last," used Stanky as an illustration.

However, probably the greatest compliment made about Stanky's playing ability was voiced by the late Branch Rickey when Rickey said "he can't hit, he can't field, he can't run and he can't throw. All he can do is beat you."

Stanky's signing ended a six-week search by the Sox to replace Al Lopez who resigned Nov. 4 and then became a vice president of the Sox.

Others who had been considered for the post were Mayo Smith, New York Yankee scout; George Strickland, a coach with Cleveland, and Grady Hatton, the newly appointed manager of the Houston Astros.

Stanky, who quit a front office job with the New York Mets to take the Sox post, said he had turned down at least four managerial offers since leaving the Cardinals.

Stanky, 48, will retain White Sox coaches Tony Cuccinello, Ray Berres and Don Gutteridge. He will bring in one man to replace Charlie Metro. Metro will remain in the Sox organization.

Stanky broke into the majors in 1943 with the Chicago Cubs. The following season he was traded to the Dodgers and became a key man under Durocher.

Stankey was traded to the Boston Braves in 1948 where he helped them win the pennant that season and then went to the Giants in 1951. He helped the Dodgers win a pennant in 1947 and the Giants in 1951.

Stanky then went to the Cardinals as manager in 1952 until he was replaced by Harry Walker in May 1955. His major league lifetime batting average was .268.

Blue Devils Use Imported Hoopsters

By The Associated Press

Your drawl doesn't have to be perfect for you to play in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Geographical hopscotch, a favorite recruiting tactic for many schools in ACC, paid off in a major upset for Frank McGuire at South Carolina last week and now has Vic Bubas' Duke Blue Devils on top of the collegiate basketball heap.

McGuire's imports beat Bubas' refugees a week ago but Duke has spun off three straight victories since, two against defending national champion UCLA, and is ranked No. 1 in The Associated Press poll today.

Furman was the latest victim of the passport policy Tuesday night, bowing to the Blue Devils 102-67 at Durham, N.C.

Duke's Bob Verga, who comes from Sea Girt, N.J. — 360 miles from Durham — pumped 25 points and Jack Marin, who grew up in Farrell, Pa. — about 350 miles from Durham — had 20.

Two more well-traveled Blue Devils, Steve Vacendak and Mike Lewis, pitched in to help Verga and Marin. Vacendak, who's from Scranton, Pa., had 12 points, and Lewis, a sophomore who is Duke's milage champ — he's from Missoula, Mont., added 11.

50 PER CENT

The Blue Devils hit better than 50 per cent of their shots and broke the game open with 10 straight points inside of 39 seconds early in the first half.

Ninth-ranked Bradley, only other team in the Top Ten to play Tuesday night, nearly blew a 14-point lead but hung on to whip Missouri Valley Conference foe St. Louis 68-63.

The Braves led 43-29 at the half but a 10-minute cold spell that produced just five points cut the lead to two points.

Joe Allen and Eddie Jackson hit a pair of quick baskets that pulled Bradley out. Tom Campbell with 24 and Allen with 19 led the Braves, who won their sixth straight. St. Louis is 4-1.

Bill Backensto scored 31 points as Toledo broke a school record with 47 field goals and ripped Northern Illinois 110-88. The Rockets went 47-for-76 from the floor for a brilliant .594 shooting percentage.

UPSET BY SMU

Southern Methodist scored the upset of the night, knocking off previously unbeaten Oklahoma City 92-81. SMU had won five straight and beaten the Mustangs 97-90 in an earlier meeting. Carroll Hooser led the winners with 23.

Dub Malaise played only 28 minutes but fired 33 points as Texas Tech downed Oklahoma 100-92. The Red Raiders ran up a 61-point first half that tied a school record for one period. Malaise had 13 for 18 from the floor and 7-for-7 from the foul line.

Holy Cross suffered through seven minutes without a point and by the time the Crusaders came out of it, Massachusetts had them beat, 92-74. Holy Cross had cut Massachusetts' lead to three points but the Redmen ran off 19 points during the seven-minute drought, and it was all over.

Clarance Hill led Massachusetts with 35, 24 in the first half.

Pistons' Winning Streak Stopped by Baltimore 5

By The Associated Press

For a while it looked as if the Detroit Pistons would be able to extend their winning streak to four victories Tuesday but Baltimore's sharpshooters ended that hope in the second half, defeating the Pistons 142 - 129 in New York.

The Pistons held the upper hand through most of the first half of the game, the first of a National Basketball Association doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

Leading 73-66 at the halfway point, the Pistons fell in the third quarter, mainly on the shooting of ex-Pistons Don Ohl, Kevin Loughery and Bailey Howell.

In the other game, the New York Knickerbockers edged San Francisco 141-137. Elsewhere in the NBA, Cincinnati ended a three - game skid and nipped Philadelphia 112 - 109 in the only other game scheduled.

The Bullets outshot Detroit 14-3 in the first four minutes of the third quarter to grab the lead, 80-76.

FELL BEHIND

The Pistons came back to charge ahead again 104-100 and later 114-109 in the final stanza before falling behind for good.

★ ★ ★

Loughery was high man of the game with 35 — his career high as a pro — Ohl had 34 and veteran Johnny Kerr dropped in 30.

Player - coach Dave DeBusschere led the Pistons with 31, followed by Ray Scott with 28 and Rod Thorn with 21.

Rams Capture Fifth Decision; Mikemen Fall

OL St. Mary Routs St. Rita Five, 78-49; WOLL Triumphs

St. Frederick gained a big game in the Macomb Catholic League basketball race last night while Orchard Lake St. Mary continued to pursue closely the Northwest Catholic Division leader.

St. Fred trimmed Marine City Holy Cross, 78-59, and picked up a full game on St. Michael which collapsed at Richmond St. Augustine and lost, 58-48.

Waterford Our Lady of Lakes stayed in the Macomb race with a 55-44 decision over New Baltimore St. Mary.

OL St. Mary thumped winless Detroit St. Rita, 78-49, but didn't gain ground on loop-leading Highland Park St. Benedict, a 68-58 winner over Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

Ferndale St. James took St. Francis De Sales in the other Northwest contest, 72-60.

RAMS COAST

St. Frederick, down 18-11 after the first quarter, pushed in 26 points in the second quarter to take a 37-31 lead at intermission, and after matching the losers in the third frame, the Rams turned the game into a rout with 27 markers in the final period.

Tom Wright, son of Rams' coach Gene Wright, paced the attack with 20 points. Tony Bellasario and Mike Novotney added 17 apiece. The victory gave St. Fred a 5-0 mark and first place in the league race.

St. Michael held a 35-17 lead at halftime and appeared certain of its fourth straight when the advantage moved to 44-23 mideway through the third quarter.

Then the roof fell in on coach Jim Niebauer and the Shamrocks. The home-standing Saints tallied 35 points to only four more for the Mikemen, who hit on only two of 30 field goal attempts in the second half.

Don Rewalt hit 18 points for St. Augustine on his 17th birthday and teammate Mike Fix added 18 to pace the scoring. The Saints are now 2-2. Tom Patch tossed in 12 markers for the Mikemen.

TIE FOR 2ND

Waterford OLL led all through the second half after holding a two-point halftime edge. The Lakers tied St. Mike for second place at 3-1 behind the balanced Doug Springer and Carl Matzelle (12 each).

John Stepien broke loose for 31 points — including 14 field goals — as St. Mary pushed its marks to 3-1 in the Northwest loop.

St. Rita led, 14-7, after one quarter; but then the Eaglets exploded for 27 points in the second session and added 26 in the next eight minutes to win going away.

Junior Bowler Hits 720 at North Hill

Rochester High School 11th grader Bob Boice very likely fired the highest sanctioned series and possibly game in the history of local junior bowling last weekend.

The 16-year-old had games of 252-225-243 for a 720 series in the Youth Bowling League at North Hill Lanes.

A member of a bowling family, Boice easily carried the Whuppers team of the senior division league cosponsored by Coca-Cola and the establishment to eight points and a two-point lead in the first-place battle.

BOB BOICE

Both his mother and father, plus two younger brothers, bowl regularly. It is the teenager's fourth year in the league.

He never had a sanctioned 600, and his highest game before Saturday was in the 230s earlier this season. The happy youngster showed his real potential Saturday morning, though.

"I have a job now and have more money. I'm able to bowl more," he noted in explaining his added open bowling practice.

Bob is a 166-average kegler in his one league this year. But he now, also, is a member of the North Hill and Youth Bowling Association's 700 Clubs, and the house 250 Club.

Detroit After '72 Olympics, Says Mayor

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said Tuesday Detroit will be among cities bidding to become the U.S. candidate for the 1972 Olympic Games.

Cavanagh said he would lead a three-man delegation to the meeting of the U.S. Olympic Committee Jan. 15 in Chicago.

"The chances of the Olympic Games coming to the United States are slight, but once Detroit is out of rotation for them, we would have slight chance of ever bringing them here," Cavanagh said.

The 1968 Games will be in Mexico City.

Detroit's invitation to bid for the designation came Nov. 9 in a letter from Asa S. Bushnell, secretary of the U.S. Olympic Committee. The city notified the committee Dec. 3 it would bid on the Summer Games.

Sayers Holds Scoring Edge Over Brown

Point Race Will Go to Final Game; Pass Receiving Close

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League scoring race will go right down to the wire Sunday with Gale Sayers, Chicago's sensational rookie, holding a six-point edge over the unsinkable Jim Brown of Cleveland.

Sayers' six-touchdown splurge Sunday against San Francisco rocketed the former Kansas star into the lead with a record total of 21 touchdowns and 126 points. Brown had tied Lenny Moore's record of 20 TDs a week earlier.

NO THREAT

Although Sayers has moved up to third position to the rushing race, he is no threat to the Cleveland fullback. Jimmy Brown's rushing total of 1,470 yardage assured him of his eighth title in nine years. Tim Brown of Philadelphia is second with 833 yards and Sayers is third at 785.

* * *

Dave Parks of San Francisco leads Philadelphia's Pete Retzlaff by five in the pass reception derby. Parks has caught 71 for 1,195 yards and 11 TDs and Retzlaff 65 for 1,171 yards and 10 scores. Parks will be operating against that rugged Green Bay defense in his finale and Retzlaff will be facing the tough Detroit defense on Retzlaff Day at Philadelphia.

Spencer Is New Pro at Twin Beach

A six-time grandfather is replacing the dean of the Oakland County golf professionals.

George Spencer, 45-year-old Professional Golfers' Association member, has been picked by Walled Lake's Twin Beach Country Club to replace retired C. B. (Brownie) Meyer as the club's pro.

Spencer has been the pro at Rochester Golf Club for five years and active at Detroit-area courses since 1951.

Included in his 14-year professional background are tours at the Chandler Park and Riverbank golf courses, plus six-years' membership in the PGA. However, he spent only one winter on the pro tour.

He and wife Pauline live in Oxford and have four married children. The Spencers will leave for two months in Florida later this month, before he begins his duties at Twin Beach CC.

Myer served as head pro there for 25 years until retiring last month. He had 50 years in golf.

Area Hunters Fill Permits

Takes Large Bull Elk

Unless a larger bull is taken today or tomorrow, Robert Seeney of White Lake Township will be Michigan's 1965 elk hunting champion.

The 69-year-old hunter who lives at 410 Bogie Lake, killed a bull weighing 590 pounds last Thursday. This was the heaviest elk checked in at the Pigeon River research station through last night.

The state's second special season ends tomorrow.

Seeney's bull carried a large set of antlers with 13 points. A 16-pointer is reported to have been taken, but this bull was lighter than the one shot by the Oakland County man.

Another area hunter, George Carpenter, 6458 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, also filled his permit. He downed a 298-pound yearling cow.

The Conservation Department reported 168 elk killed through yesterday. Only a trace of snow existed in the area open to hunting and game experts doubted if the kill would go much higher. Good tracking snow, however, could change the forecast.

Seeney, a veteran deer hunter, and a pair of loggers who guided him, trailed the large bull on foot and by four-wheel drive vehicle for nearly 17 miles.

STARTED TRACKING

"There were three elk together when we picked up the track Thursday, the second day," Seeney related. "John Moran, one of the guides, told me we should come on them in about an hour and a half.

"We were following the tracks when Jim Moran, John's brother, motioned me to join him. He was ahead of me on the trail. He whispered that a big bull was laying down in front of us, but I couldn't see him.

"The bull finally jumped up and disappeared before I could shoot. Then a second bull went out. I didn't get a shot."

The chase started. One of the guides would trail the elk while Seeney and the other Moran would drive down logging trails trying to get ahead of the big animals or cut their tracks.

Seeney occasionally glimpsed the animals and missed seven shots before killing his bull with one shot in the neck at 100 yards. He was using a 300 Savage with open sights and 150-grain bullets.

★ ★ ★

The bull was finally downed in the southwest corner of Area 3 near the Black River Club. Seeney and the guides failed to see elk the first day of the season.

Carpenter, his wife, Henrietta, and guide Don Butcher of Gaylord had to go well back into the woods before spotting a herd of 12 moving through heavy cover.

Carpenter reported seeing one spike bull, but couldn't get a shot at it. The yearling finally moved into an open spot and he dropped it with one shot from a 30-06.

★ ★ ★

The good tracking snow that prevailed the first three days was washed out by a weekend rain.

Special Fish Folders for State Available

Free copies of several special regulations covering winter fishing in Michigan can now be picked up at the Conservation Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its regional or district headquarters.

★ ★ ★

'Other Guy' Gets Blamed for Antlerless Deer Kill

A member of the Conservation Department had this to say about hunting antlerless deer:

"There is no law that says does have to be shot. If hunters don't want antlerless deer taken, then they should quit shooting them."

This seems to be a good solution for disgruntled deer hunters to take under consideration. Over 90 per cent of the 1,200 who attended the antlerless deer hunting hearing at Pontiac Central last Saturday favored an end to shooting does and fawns.

"However," the conservation man continued, "it will always be the 'other guy' who is doing the shooting."

From the comments and statements made during Sen. Carl W. O'Brien's Senate Conservation Committee hearing, most of the hunters agreed with this last remark.

They want something on paper that says, "It is illegal to shoot antlerless deer. Or, "We'll stop, but who is going to stop the other hunters."

Those who testified made it clear that they weren't unhappy because they didn't get a deer last season (a show of hands indicated that less than a dozen were successful). It was the lack of deer seen that made them unhappy.

The Conservation Department was under constant fire from the floor.

Witnesses claim that the department's statistics on the number of deer in Michigan and the number taken each season were wrong.

It was charged that the department administrators were not listening to the field men. Many asked for stiffer penalties against violators — poachers in particular.

The general impression was that those in attendance objected to the weekend openers.

Some witnesses claimed that the Conservation Department established the weekend opening law. This was done by the Legislature over the objection of the department.

The audience also favored a return to the rule that makes it mandatory for every hunter to return a postcard indicating his or her success during the season.

The few who defended antlerless hunting were heckled.

O'Brien plans additional hearings in Wayne County and Grand Rapids.

$36.2 Million Budget Sought

A proposed $36.2 million budget request to underwrite Michigan's conservation program for the 1966-67 fiscal year was endorsed last week by the Conservation Commission.

Of the total amount, $11.5 million is for capital improvements. Approximately $10.4 million of this would go for state park development where the demand for more outdoor facilities is critical.

The department will seek $24.7 million for general operations.

Change in Skeet Rules

Two rules changes in skeet shooting competition were explained during the annual dinner meeting of the Michigan Skeet Association Saturday in Lansing.

★ ★ ★

Howard Confer of Detroit, a director of the national organization, pointed out that all shootoffs will be sudden death and doubles will not be shot at stations No. 1 and No. 7, but at No. 3 and No. 5.

New officers elected were Bob Martin, Elsie, president; Ted Hannaford, Warren, vice president; and Florence Schmidt, Birmingham, secretary-treasurer.

2 Poverty Workers Leave Reservation

BAYFIELD, Wis. (UPI) — Two tearful coeds banished from a poverty project on a Chippewa Indian reservation packed their bags today and vowed they were through being Volunteers In Service To America (VISTA).

The coeds, dark-haired Jill Hunt, 22, and blonde Judy Rothman, 20, have been ordered out of the desolate Red Cliff reservation near this north woods community, where they were the center of the most unique uproar yet to mark the administration's war on poverty.

As more snow filtered through the air early today, the girls were preparing to head south and resume their college careers.

The battle lines were sharply drawn in what one Washington anti-poverty official called a "dispute between old squaws and young bucks with two little white girls caught in the middle."

* * *

Miss Hunt and Miss Rothman were ordered from the reservation yesterday by Alfred Johnson, a VISTA official from Washington who said he feared violence would break out. The Indian tribal council had earlier banished the girls but they refused to leave.

COEDS BACKED

The coeds had been accused by some members of not cooperating with the Indians' own community action program.

* * *

Johnson said VISTA stood solidly behind the coeds, who burst into tears when he told them they were being removed from the reservation.

Mrs. Alex Gokee, a member of the tribe's community action project, said her committee had given the coeds an opportunity to work with them, "but they wanted to do everything on their own.

"We knew what programs we needed here," Mrs. Gokee said. "But they ignored our recommendations and did just exactly what they wanted to do."

Mrs. Gokee said the rift began when the coeds started a day care center program for about a dozen of the reservation's preschool age children.

* * *

"We just got the program started, when the girls objected to it because they said they were being used as baby sitters," she said.

"So they went off and organized a youth club which we didn't want and didn't need. This led to nothing but trouble."

Danes Quit Calling Each Other Honorable

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Denmark's members of Parliament have decided to end the procedure of addressing each other in debate as "honorable."

Henceforth, they can call each other "mister." The vote Tuesday night to abolish the old style form of address was 89 to 62.

Don't Forget Little Things

Child's Success in School Tied to Parental Counsel

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Parents can contribute greatly to their children's success in school. But in the rush of busy days, it is easy to forget the little things that mean so much to children.

DR. NASON

The following are some resolutions that should help you to remember some of these things.

I resolve:

● To have some private conversation with my child each day. I will help him to realize he is important as an individual and that his parents are interested in all of his activities.

● To listen to him carefully and learn his ideas and values. I will be patient in guiding him in the development of his character.

● To help him build a large vocabulary, and I will endeavor to interest him in using the right word to express his precise meaning.

* * *

● To listen to him read or narrate stories, realizing that in school, with its large classes, his opportunity to express himself is limited.

● To see that he has regular medical and dental checkups.

● To make certain that he starts out happily each day with a good breakfast.

● To show an interest in his schoolwork and his progress. I will be casual enough in this regard to avoid undue pressure but, at the same time discover any possible roadblocks in his path of learning.

● To help him find answers to his questions. I will encourage him to use the index in his textbooks and to use the dictionary. Knowing how glad the librarians are to help inquisitive youngsters, I will encourage him to make use of library services.

● To encourage him to take both initiative and responsibility for his own homework. While I will not do his homework for him, I will help him formulate plans as to how and when he is going to do it, knowing that with his mind filled with specific plans he is more apt to proceed on his own.

COMPLIMENT HIM

● To help him learn from his mistakes as well as from his accomplishments. I will resist the temptation to edit his themes and correct his arithmetic papers before they are turned in.

● I will help him learn to stand on his own two feet and find his own mistakes.

● To compliment him on his efforts shown. Without overlooking his shortcomings, I will try to accent the positive.

● To give him frequent reassurances of our love and affection. I will make sure that there is no misunderstanding in this regard due to lack of communications.

● To let him participate in the daily activities of the home, including some of the work.

● To give him the security provided only when father and mother cooperate consistently on discipline.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

Here is another family conversation:

Oswald: "While on the subject of squeezes, I think you ought to tell our readers about the crisscross squeeze that Nate Silverstein of Memphis made to help you win the Masters' Pairs in Montgomery."

JACOBY

Jim: "It was a beautiful play, wasn't it? I sat North and I must say that I didn't know what to bid after West opened the bidding. I finally selected a takeout double, which gave me a further problem after Nate made the proper response of four spades."

Oswald: "Your Blackwood four no-trump was a good solution to the problem of getting control of the bidding. Then when Nate showed an ace, you decided to go to a slam and Nate found himself as declarer at six diamonds with one little diamond in his hand."

Jim: "It was essential that that he be declarer. If I were declarer a club or spade opening lead by East would have beaten me automatically. But West had no satisfactory lead. He finally opened the ace of hearts and continued the suit."

Oswald: "All Nate had to do now was to run off dummy's eight trumps and discard six spades, a heart, and a diamond from his hand. This left West with only three cards. He couldn't guard both kings, could he?"

Jim: "No, he couldn't. Actually he unguarded the club king, hoping that his partner might hold the queen, but the hope was forlorn. Nate led dummy's ace of clubs, crossed back to his hand with his ace of spades, and cashed his queen of clubs for the 12th trick.

What do you do now?

A—Bid four spades. You have lost all interest in a slam but surely want to be in game.

Instead of bidding two spades, your partner jumps to three spades over your two hearts. What do you do now?

U-M Scientists Get Grant to Make Computers Talk

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR (AP) — You don't have to get MAD to talk to a computer, but it helps.

MAD stands for Michigan Algorithm Decoder. It's a language which people who deal with computers use to tell the mechanical brain what to do in solving a problem.

MAD was developed by the University of Michigan's Computing Center. The center describes it as "much broader and more flexible than most computer languages and permits computer users to work on an extremely wide range of problems."

But as good as MAD may be, the government wants an even better computer language developed. The Department of Defense's Advanced Research Projects Agency has awarded the university a $1.3-million contract to develop such a language.

MORE COMPLICATED

Engineering Prof. Frank H. Westervelt, project director, said "the new language will help computer users carry out with relative ease much more complicated operations than they can at present. Such complex and intricate tasks range from the study and description of nerve networks and synthesizing speech to the design of defense systems and automobiles."

Westervelt said the new language, to be based on MAD, would be called COMET — Conversational MAD Extendable for Terminal Devices.

★ ★ ★

He said that during its development efforts would be made to analyze speech and attempt to reproduce speech in the computer for "an ultimate goal of this work is to permit a man to talk vocally with a computer and receive vocal replies from it."

FUTURE USE

Once the language is developed, Westervelt said, users of it will "also be able to draw complex illustrations on television-like display tubes. Not only will the illustration be available, but the physical object represented will be completely described mathematically inside the computer."

He said he did not know when the project would be completed.

GUARD DUTY—Amy Lowenstein, 21, a University of Pennsylvania senior, has been "sentenced" by the school's committee on discipline to work five hours a week next term for the University guards she attacked. BIRTHDAY PARTY — Frank Sinatra is flanked by his two daughters, Tina (left), 17, and Nancy, 25, as they arrive at a Beverly Hills, Calif., hotel recently to celebrate the star's 50th birthday. It was a rare public appearance for the three together. He and his first wife, Nancy, were divorced in 1951 after a 12-year marriage.

Grain to India Hits Bottleneck

Overused Ports Face Enormous Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is stepping up its flow of grain to India — but is faced with a major bottleneck in getting it to the famine-stricken nation.

A high government official said today there is no assurance India's clogged ports and overburdened distribution facilities can handle the enormous increase in the U.S. grain shipments.

He said government officials were looking into a number of methods of getting the food grains, chiefly wheat, to India, including the possibility of shipping it to Pakistani ports and moving it from there by train to India.

Any such plan would pose formidable difficulties, however. The two nations, long at daggers' point over the province of Kashmir, staged a shooting war it took the United Nations to stop earlier this year. On the surface, at least, it would appear the plan was doomed even before it could be formally suggested to the two countries.

At present, the United States is shipping wheat to India at the rate of 500,000 tons a month (6 million tons a year.) This appears to be crowding India's distribution facilities and clogging her ports.

Last week President Johnson, confronted with new famine reports, ordered 1.5 million tons of wheat shipped "as soon as possible — in one month."

"Now we will find out how India can handle stepped-up shipments," the official said, adding that this may be a case wherein the United States would seek to use hostile Pakistani ports.

Race for Top Actor Spirited as Oscar Deadline Nears

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — A hot race for top actor, a less spirited one for actress—that's the shape of the race for the 1965 Oscars as contention nears the end.

THOMAS

To qualify for an Academy Award, a film must play in the Los Angeles area for at least a week. Hence the movie companies are jamming the local theaters this week and next. Eyes are bloodshot as critics try to cover the releases.

Since not all of the contenders have been shown yet —"Doctor Zhivago" is still in the cutting rooms — an accurate analysis of the hopefuls cannot be made. But a survey of probables indicates it will be a man's year.

Academy voters may suffer an embarrassment of riches in trying to narrow best-actor nominees to five. At least four stars are being pushed for double performances; Sidney Poitier for "A Patch of Blue" and "The Slender Thread"; James Stewart for "Shenandoah" and "The Flight of the Phoenix"; and Oskar Werner for "Ship of Fools" and "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold"; Lee Marvin for "Ship of Fools" and "Cat Ballou."

As of now, Werner seems to be the front runner for "Ship of Fools."

COMPETITION KEEN

Laurence Olivier's "Othello" will doubtless be a strong contender, as will Omar Sharif's "Doctor Zhivago." Others with chances are Jason Robards, "A Thousand Clowns"; Richard Widmark, "The Bedford Incident"; Jack Lemmon, "The Great Race"'; Terence Stamp, "The Collector"; Max Von Sydow, "The Greatest Story Ever Told"; George Segal, "King Rat"; and Michael Caine, "The Ipcress File."

★ ★ ★

Such past winners as Julie Andrews, "The Sound of Music"; Simone Signoret, "Ship of Fools"; Vivien Leigh, "Ship of Fools"; and Anne Bancroft, "The Slender Thread" are among the most promising.

FAVOR THE NEW

The Academy often favors newcomers. Hence the nod may well be given to Samantha Eggar, "The Collector"; Elizabeth Hartman, "A Patch of Blue"; Patricia Gozzi, "Rapture", or Julie Christie, "Darling".

★ ★ ★

Often a nominee but never a winner, Natalie Wood could make the grade with "Inside Daisy Clover." Rita Tushingham might earn belated recognition for "The Knack."

★ ★ ★

At this reading, the race for best picture shows no overwhelming winner like last year's "My Fair Lady." MGM has high hopes for its costly "Doctor Zhivago." If sheer enjoyment were the yardstick, 20th Century-Fox's "Sound of Music" would triumph. "Ship of Fools," as well acted as any film in years, is another top choice.

Reds to Test Space Landing

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union says it plans to start testing a new landing system for space vehicles Thursday. It warned ships and planes to keep away from an area in the central Pacific Ocean for 5½ months, saying parts of booster rockets may fall there.

★ ★ ★

The official Soviet news agency Tass gave map coordinates for an area about 500 miles south of the Aleutian Islands and 2,000 miles east of Japan. It said the tests would continue until June. 1.

★ ★ ★

Tass gave no further details and no hint of whether the new landing system was designed for eventual landings on the earth, the moon or other planets.

The Law Bites Down

LODI, Italy (UPI) — Police filed charges yesterday against self-styled dentist Roberta Marchio, who they said treated 1,000 patients and pulled 200 teeth in two years before someone discovered he was practicing illegally under an assumed name.

Israel Bans 'Goldfinger'

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—The Film Censorship Board Tuesday banned the James Bond film, "Goldfinger," because the title role is played by a reputed ex-Nazi.

News reports published here recently quoted German actor Gert Frobe as having admitted Nazi party membership during the party's early years.

The Israeli government has ruled that films in which former Nazis take part may not be shown in the country.

The ruling apparently will also affect all of Forbe's films, including his latest, "Is Paris Burning?" He plays Gen. Dietrich von Schlititz, the German commandant of Paris.

"Goldfinger" was having a record run in theaters throughout the country.

Frobe told an interviewer he joined the Nazi party in 1929 when he was 16 because he was attracted to its "social platform." He said he was a "passive member," never even having read Mein Kampf.

Comedienne on Mend From Cancer Surgery

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Comedienne Cass Daley, 47, is recovering from a seven-hour operation for abdominal cancer performed Dec. 6.

She is at St. John's Hospital where, her doctor said, her condition is good.

Twenty-four years ago an American Army officer and a young first lieutenant in the Philippine army fought together at Battan.

When the fortress fell, the American officer joined the Battan death march and spent the rest of World War II in Japanese prison camps. The Philippine officer escaped capture and turned guerrilla.

Col. Ray M. O'Day of Seattle, now retired, and his wife leave Friday for the Philippines to see that former first lieutenant, Ferdinand E. Marcos, inaugurated as president of the Philippines.

Marcos made the invitation when he looked up the O'Days while in Seattle for the World's Fair in 1962.

"He was confident about his election," O'Day said yesterday in Seattle.

Audrey Hepburn Expecting Second Child

Audrey Hepburn was supposed to start a new film in May with Albert Finney, but it has been postponed. Miss Hepburn and her husband, actor-director Mel Ferrer, are expecting their second child, it was announced in Hollywood.

AUDREY HEPBURN

The Academy Award actress and her husband are at their home in Morges, Switzerland. The baby is due July 17. They have a son, Sean, 6.

Trujillo Daughter Arrives in U. S.

Flor de Oro T. Ferreras, daughter of the assassinated Dominican Republic dictator Rafael Trujillo, embraced her eighth husband yesterday after reaching New York "on the wings of love" — with an assist from the luxury liner Rafaello.

Aboard the ship the 49-year-old blonde was met by fashion designer Miguel Ferreras, whom she married last March in Montreal, Canada. "I come to America on the wings of love," she said.

Grand Rapids Acts on Housing Demolition

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A $45,300 housing demolition program financed by the city and federal government was accepted Tuesday by the City Commission Finance Committee. It would speed up razing of condemned houses whose owners are unable to finance repairs or demolition. The city would pay one-third and the federal government two-thirds of the program.

Water is now commonly regarded by food authorities as a nutrient. Most people need from 4 to 8 glasses a day as water or in beverages.

Auto Sales Set 10-Day Record

Ford Is Especially Strong in the Period

DETROIT (AP) — Auto sales in the first 10 days of this month were the biggest Dec. 1-10 in automotive history, according to preliminary figures reported Tuesday by the four major U.S. car makers.

Ford Motor Co. ran especially strong in the 10-day stretch, while General Motors and American Motors fell off their pace in the comparable 10 days last year. Chrysler sales ran about the same.

Industry sales totaled 246,219 cars, breaking the old mark of 238,937 set in Dec. 1-10, 1964.

Unofficial figures showed sales of U. S. built cars in the domestic market totaled 8,273,764 through Dec. 10 of this calendar year.

SALES REPORTS

Including the anticipated sale of an estimated 550,000 imports in the U.S. market for this year, it indicated that the industry was close to its goal of total new car sales of about 9.2 million units in the U. S. market this year.

Ford, Lincoln-Mercury, Cadillac and Chrysler-Plymouth divisions reported their sales in the opening 10 days of this month were the highest of any Dec. 1-10 period. Buick's sales were the best since 1955.

Prof Views Hike in Discount Rate

EAST LANSING (AP) — A visiting professor at Michigan State University says the Federal Reserve Board's raise in the discount rate will have just a moderate effect on interest charges for loan seekers.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Karl Brunner said Tuesday the board's most important influence on the economy will be its policies involving buying and selling government securities.

Purchases of securities puts more money into the nation's monetary system. Sales do the opposite.

Avon Section Loses Power

Some 350 Detroit Edison customers in Avon Township were partially or completely without electricity for about an hour this morning when a power line burned in two on Walton boulevard.

Floyd Sell, assistant sales manager of the Oakland Division, said the failure was reported at 8:54. The power was restored at 9:50, he said.

Laboratory tests will be used to determine why the line failed, Sell reported.

The dimout affected an area generally bounded on the west by Old Perch Road, on the north by Walton, on the east by Livernois and on the south by Gracedale.

Spotlight on Uncertainties

Market Awaits Budget

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK — The stock market, having taken the rise in interest rates in stride, now is concentrating on the next big cliffhanger — the federal budget.

DAWSON

The political battle over the Federal Reserve Board's hiking its interest charges puts the uncertainties veiling the budget even more in the spotlight. How higher interest rates and the new budget will live together is a moot question. The debate will get hotter.

But the biggest current question in the eyes of stock traders is how the budget, when unveiled next month, will divide federal spending between Viet Nam war needs and the many programs to carry on the march toward the "Great Society."

And the stock market would like to know the answers — ahead of time, if possible. The allocation of funds could affect many individual corporations — and the price of their stocks — as well as the trend of the economy in general in a period which many see as touchy and critical.

TO SPEND MORE

That the government will be spending more next year is taken for granted. The tantalizing questions just now are what, if any, civilian programs may be curtailed, or postponed because of the increased costs of the military efforts in Southeast Asia. Just how the larger defense spending will show up in orders for various industries, and individual corporations, will be awaited impatiently in Wall Street.

The stock market seems to have accepted the Federal Reserve Board's contention that increased interest rates won't reverse the upward trend of business and consumer spending, only hold it in moderate limits.

But Wall Street doesn't write off the political effects of the Fed's difference of opinion with the White House over the need for a monetary check rein on the business expansion now.

Nor does it escape notice that the Federal Reserve Board itself was closely split on the decision to raise rates. Minority members are on record as believing that the increase should have awaited more definite word on what shape the federal budget would finally take.

NEW MEMBER

President Johnson can appoint a new member to the board next month. And he could name an easy money man more attuned to the President's own views to succeed a conservative member whose term of office is expiring.

Bankers have been quick to insist that the higher interest rates won't cause many corporations to change their expansion plans, nor many consumers to abandon intentions to buy goods on time. What stock traders want to know is which corporations will lower their sights, and what consumer goods will be affected, if any.

Traders are also curious about both the size of the upcoming budget and the manner in which it will be financed. If government spending rises, will that mean more government securities being offered on the money markets — at the new higher interest rates? Or will it mean holding down the Treasury deficit by raising some taxes — and which ones?

The market has this period of budget uncertainty every December. This time, the questions are bigger and the interest rate hike makes the reactions harder to predict.

Q) "I am 65-years-old and live on my pension and Social Security. I have 400 shares of Mesabi Trust and am anxious to sell this stock. I am completely alone and have $10,000 in savings. My cousins have two marvelous boys in Israel and I would be particularly happy if I could help to put them through college. I would then feel that I had really accomplished something, since these boys are very gifted. What do you advise?" S.R.

A) Mesabi has made no real price progress since it was organized as a trust in 1961, and for your purpose it should be sold. What you require is not income but very powerful growth over the next few years.

I believe you should take $5,000 from savings and add it to the $6,000 proceeds from Mesabi. I would invest $11,000 in equal dollar amounts of Avon Products; American Hospital Supply; Campbell Soup and FMC Corp. These stocks have been showing strong earnings expansion, which should continue and enhance your capital for the very objective you seek.

Q) "My wife and I are both 65. We are considering selling 300 Bethlehem Steel; 200 National Distillers; 200 Continental Airlines; 100 Lorillard; 200 Tekronix; 80 Chrysler — our entire stock holdings. We could buy a joint and survivorship annuity for $25,000 paying $142 a month. What about these stocks if inflation gets worse?" G.H.

A) Most of your stocks seem unlikely to increase in value sufficiently to offer inflation protection. In your position, I would sell all but Tektronix and Continental Airlines. These two, in my opinion, will continue to enhance in earnings and price over the years ahead and afford you protection against inflation. Sale of remaining issues should provide sufficient cash for your annuity.

Highly Mobile NATO Unit Being Suggested by U.S.

PARIS (UPI) — The United States is pushing a plan to create a crack, highly mobile allied force to deal swiftly with "brushfire" emergencies in Europe, U.S. sources said today.

They said Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may introduce the plan at the current Paris meeting of ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Britain is known to support it.

McNamara also was expected to urge the allies to reach early agreement on NATO's military goals for the next five years.

Discussions on the size of the force have been going on for some time, but no agreement has been reached yet.

★ ★ ★

The three-day NATO meeting started yesterday. Defense was scheduled as the main topic today.

MOBILE FORCE

American sources said the McNamara plan would involve a buildup of the existing 3,000-man NATO mobile force created to deal with emergencies on the alliance's northern and southeastern flanks.

They said the McNamara plan calls for a force capable of dealing with "brush fire" situations anywhere in the NATO area.

This would mean the force would have to be entirely self-contained, with its own logistic and air support. Existing mobile units are dependent on national air forces for ferrying troops to northern Norway or Turkey in case of acute emergency.

★ ★ ★

LARGER SHARE

The McNamara proposal was said to be part of an over-all plan to have U.S. allies take over a larger share of western defenses in Europe.

Last night, the council wound up its general review of the state of the NATO alliance.

The review was highlighted by a hard-hitting speech by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said the war the United States is fighting in Viet Nam is as much an allied war as it is an American war.

Rusk said the United States will miss no opportunity to go to the peace table. But he reiterated the United States will not back down either.

American officials said later there was no open debate on Rusk's speech, but that the general tone of comments sounded favorable.

Rattler Bites Fail to Rattle Aged Terrier

OKAHUMPKA, Fla. (AP) —A 13-year-old terrier is still alive although she has been bitten by rattlesnakes six times.

★ ★ ★

From puppyhood, Tippy, the terrier, has seemed to attract poisonous snakes . . . and usually she gets a dose of venom.

Tippy lives with the J. B. Tyre family. But she's the special property of son Glenn, a senior at the University of Georgia.

Tippy has a "snake bark" which the family has come to recognize when she's been bitten. She seems to know what is necessary for her recovery.

★ ★ ★

Even though the dog usually doesn't like to ride in automobiles, she jumps in eagerly after a rattlesnake bite. When the family car arrives at the veterinarian's door, Tippy whines to get in.

Fugitive Finds Freedom Full of Calamities

IONIA (AP)—A series of misadventures capped by a night spent hiding in a police officer's home preceded John Stubblefield's return to the Ionia Reformatory today.

Suffering from frostbitten feet and a broken finger, Stubblefield, 21, of Flint, said he fell into the Grand River Sunday night shortly after his escape. After that, he fell into an Ionia sewage project, he said.

* * *

Stubblefield said he spent a night hiding on the Ionia fairgrounds, one night in the garage of an Ionia family and another night in the basement of Ionia policeman Robert Cusack.

He was taken into custody shortly after dawn today when he was seen walking across the back yard of another local resident.

* * *

Stubblefield is serving 8-20 years for an armed robbery in Genesee County.

Two fellow escapers were apprehended shortly after their escape.

Back Lawyer for Dem Post

The Oakland County Democratic Committee last night endorsed an Oak Park lawyer to fill the position of treasurer for the Democratic Party in Michigan.

The full support of the committee went to Stuart Hertzberg, state finance chairman for the party.

His present job is basically one of raising funds.

The treasurer's position was recently vacated by the resignation of Charles Rosetta.

His replacement is expected to be made by the State Central Committee in Lansing at its meeting Jan. 9.

Doctor Fails to Save Son From Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "We lost the heart beat during the ambulance ride," said a Dallas physician who had opened his son's chest and massaged the youth's heart back to life in a futile medical battle Tuesday.

Louis Smith, 19, a freshman music student at North Texas State University, died at a hospital seven hours after the emergency operation in his home.

* * *

Dr. Louis S. Smith, a pathologist, said a sixth sense caused him to check the condition of his son about 1:30 a.m. The youth had come home from school with a cold and bronchitis.

"I walked into his room, checked his pulse and his heart had stopped beating. I tried to massage it externally, but that did not bring him back.

CUT OUT HEART

"I cut his chest with a razor and took his heart in my hand. I began to massage it," Smith said.

Another son Richard, 17, gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while Mrs. Smith called for an ambulance and firemen.

* * *

The massaging and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation continued during the ride to the hospital, Smith said, but "he got worse during the trip.

"We lost the heart beat during the ambulance ride because we could not keep his air way open."

AT HOSPITAL

Other doctors relieved Smith at the hospital.

"My hand was about dead then — I had been working his heart for about 40 minutes."

The youth died at 8:20 a.m. of a "cardiac standstill."

U-M Contests Hutchinson Act

Asks Bargaining Not Apply to University

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan filed suit in Washtenaw County Circuit Court today asking that the Hutchinson Act — which allows collective bargaining by public employes — be declared unconstitutional as it applies to the university.

* * *

In its suit, the university contended that under the Michigan Constitution general supervision of the university and the control of its funds are vested solely and exclusively in the Board of Regents.

* * *

The university maintained its relationship with its employes, including their wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment, are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the regents and are not the responsibility of the Legislature or any officer or board of the state.

University officials first raised the constitutionality question last August and requested that the State Labor Mediation Board adjourn hearings set for consideration of petitions filed by several labor unions for recognition as bargaining representatives.

OLD PRACTICE

Today' saction, said university administrators, was in keeping with a long-standing practice by the U-M to ask courts to render opinions concerning the application of legislative acts to university operations.

They said that such legal opinions stressing the constitutional duties and responsibilities of the regents have been rendered by the courts for more than 100 years.

* * *

The Hutchinson Act, as amended last June, provides that a union or unions may petition the mediation board for certification as the exclusive representative of an appropriate unit of public employes for purposes of collective bargaining on wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

University administrators said representation procedures for the discussion of any matters of interest to unions have been in operation for several years.

* * *

The university, they said, also has provided a union dues checkoff and has a grievance procedure which gives every employe the right to select a representative—union or otherwise—to assist in the processing of a grievance or to resolve any problems that may arise.

Plane Missing in Colorado

ALAMOSA, Colo. (UPI) — A Flying Tiger superconstellation cargo plane with three persons aboard was overdue on a flight from Los Angeles to Chicago early today and feared down in the snow-whipped Colorado Rockies.

A pilot flying another plane in southern Colorado reported he saw a "bright flash in the sky" 30 miles northeast of Alamosa at 1:35 a.m. (MST).

A Colorado Civil Air Patrol official said ground parties were sent to the scene and an air search began at dawn.

The search was the second under way for a downed plane in Colorado.

* * *

A massive air and ground search was started in northern New Mexico and Colorado for a missing light plane carrying Dr. W. Randolph Loveland II, director of U.S. space medicine.

NONSTOP FLIGHT

The propeller-driven Flying Tiger was on a nonstop flight from Los Angeles to Chicago. It was flying at 13,000 feet.

* * *

The four-engine, silver, blue and red superconstellation was last heard from over Alamosa at 1:24 (MST). The pilot estimated he would be over Lamar, Colo., at 2:04. He never was heard from again.

Pay-TV Due to Begin for British in '66

LONDON (AP) — Britain's first pay-television system will begin operation Jan. 7 showing mainly feature films and sports events such as a prerecorded wrestling program from Chicago.

"An evening with the Royal Ballet," starring Margot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev, also is scheduled.

Pay-television will start initially in the London boroughs of Westminster and Southwark with 2,000 to 3,000 subscribers. By late summer, Pay-TV, Ltd., hopes to have 10,000. Its chairman Lord Brabourne, said there is a sound basis for a pay-television system in Britain since it has the biggest television relay system by wire outside the Soviet Union.

More than 100,000 homes in London are connected to television relay services and wires carrying the programs run near 500,000 homes. In the country as a whole more than a million homes receive television by relay services.

SMALL GRAY BOX

Subscribers will have a small gray box into which they will insert two-shilling coins — 28 cents. A feature film will cost six shillings.

"We will be very happy if the average subscriber spends about $1.40 a week," said Lord Brasbourne. "We shall be putting out 50 hours of programs a week but we expect our subscribers to be selective viewers."

★ ★ ★

Each feature film will be shown at four different times in a two-week period.

Personnel Needed for Coronary Care

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More than 45,000 lives probably could be saved yearly if there were enough well-staffed coronary care units throughout the nation, according to a Los Angeles heart specialist.

Dr. Eliot Corday, president of the American College of Cardiology, made the statement yesterday in reporting on a weekend conference of authorities on heart care at nearby Bethesda, Md.

He said those attending the conference stressed the importance of adequate training for personnel staffing coronary care units.

A federally aided national training program would "save as many lives each year as were lost in the first half of the Korean war," Corday added.

Alexander Hamilton, first U.S. secretary of the treasury, was born in Charles Town, on the island of Nevis in the West Indies.

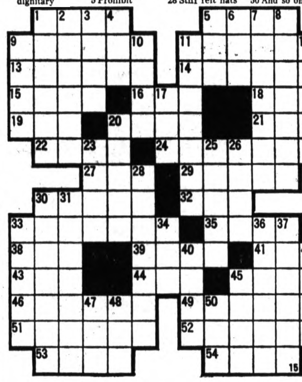
Answer to Previous Puzzle



She's Unamused by Gags With a Sinatra Jr. Slant

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Star actress Maureen O'Sullivan, Mia Farrow's mother was in the Basin St. East Club the other morning . . . applauding . . . and being introduced to . . . young Frank Sinatra Jr. . . . but please don't leap to conclusions about that.

WILSON

The jokes about Frank Jr. and Maureen having a romance are just jokes, of course.

"I don't see the humor of that joke!" Miss O'Sullivan told us rather stiffly. She explained to Frank Jr. that she felt "a little funny" about coming in to see him after that.

"I pay no attention to those things," young Sinatra said.

Maureen who took her friend John Springer the publicist and Alfred De Lynn with her, told Frank Jr. later "I enjoyed it thoroughly and I'm coming back."

"I'm flattered," Frank Jr. said. "I'm tired from working all day on the Sammy Davis movie."

Maureen, star of "The Subject Was Roses," didn't mention Mia, nor did Frank Jr. mention Frank Sr. . . . in fact, Miss O'Sullivan explained how she'd come here.

"It's just that I like to encourage young talent," Maureen said. "I know Frank Jr.'s mother, Nancy, of course, as well as his father, and I'd have come here to see him and hear him even if they weren't his parents.

★ ★ ★

"And I'd be very happy," Maureen added, "if they would come to see my children."

"I undertsand," cracked a sideliner, "that one of Frank Jr.'s parents is already doing that!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Perle Mesta told us at the big WAIF ball at the Waldorf that she and Mrs. Gwen Cafritz, her supposed society hostess rival in Washington, now are not only friends: "We're chummy!" The close friendship developed after Mrs. Cafritz lost her husband . . . Perle was first guest-passenger in Hy (Voisin) Uchitels' new Lincoln Continental '66 with TV, hi-fi, stereo, etc., which Hy claims is fancier than the Rolliest Rolls.

Geraldine Chaplin's roughest expression used here so far is "Tough Cheddar!" She mingles with the socialite Carter Burdens Sr. and Jr. The latter honeymooned at the Chaplins' home in Switzerland . . . Billy Rose, a 3-packs-a-day cigaret smoker, quit entirely a few months ago when he learned he might require surgery . . . Huntington Hartford's wife is spurning the reconciliation pleas of her husband.

Parts of Kansas Are Hit by Cold and Deep Snow

By The Associated Press

Subzero cold drove southward from the northern Rockies today behind a snowstorm which spread a 4-to-10-inch snow band through western and central Kansas.

Another disturbance sifted snow from the northern plains to New England but in generally lighter amounts. A two-inch fall at Hibbing, Minn., thickened snow cover there to 27 inches.

The cold air sweep, which dropped the reading at Butte, Mont., to 16 degrees below zero at 1 a.m., threatened driving hazards — in northern Arizona where a snowfall of six inches was indicated, and in parts of central Illinois and Missouri where freezing precipitation was brought with falling temperatures.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

'A City Bus in Santaland?'

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Mr. D reaches Santa just as he is opening the magic mirror left by the Voodoo man. Santa does not look in the mirror, but the Fabulous Dunklebum does and is turned to stone.

CHAPTER NINE
AP Newsfeatures

Mr. D snatched the mirror from Santa's hands, took it to the fireplace and smashed it into a thousand pieces.

But it was too late to save the Fabulous Dunklebum. The creature's lights had gone out and he had turned to stone.

"What is it?" cried Santa. "What has happened?"

"It was the Voodoo man's mirror," said Mr. D. "He has already cast a spell over the whole of Santaland.

"If you had looked into the mirror you, too, would have turned to stone."

TURNS PALE

"The VOODOO man!" exclaimed Santa, turning pale.

"He's a wicked, wicked man in a long black coat!" blurted out the little boy.

"I know him well. Oh, surely he hasn't been here!"

"Come and see!"

They left the house and Santa ran through all the shops. He saw what they saaid was true. A terrible curse had been laid on Santaland. Every elf and every reindeer had turned to stone.

Santa walked up and down.

He twisted his hands and shook his head. All the good cheer had left his face.

"Why did he do it?" cried the little boy. "Why would anyone want to do such a thing?"

★ ★ ★

"Because he is the Voodoo man. Long ago he swore to destroy Santaland and all the creatures in it.

HATED CHRISTMAS

"He hated Christmas, and all other days when people made merry. He wanted to get rid of all the good spirits in the world, and then he himself would rule the land.

"But I never feared him because he didn't really have much power.

"Moreover a friendly witch told me that the Voodoo man could never get to Santaland unless he came on a city bus driven by a cross-eyed man. That was impossible, of course. How could a city bus get to Santaland?

★ ★ ★

"But the witch was wrong, and the Voodoo man came some other way."

STARED AT HIM

Mr. D's hands flew to his face. The crocodile and the donkey and the little boy stared at him in dismay.

"T-the witch was right," stammered the little boy.

"He came on a city bus," whispered the crocodile.

"With a cross-eyed man," moaned the donkey.

FOR FIRST TIME

Mr. D took his hands down and Santa looked into his eyes and saw for the first time that they were crossed.

"But — the bus? Where is it? Where did you come from? How did you get here?"

Mr. D told him the bus was behind the hill at the end of the road.

Then he told Santa how he had driven the bus up and down Main Street all his life until he couldn't stand it any more.

BEYOND MAIN STREET

He just had to find out what there was in the world beyond Main Street.

So he put a sign saying "ZABBAZARA" on the side of the bus and drove out of town.

He picked up the crocodile and the donkey and the little boy because they were lonely and homeless and wanted to go, too, though they didn't know where Zabbazara was or even if there was such a place.

★ ★ ★

SAD STORY

"It's a sad story," finished Mr. D. "I never should have left Main Street."

But Santa's face had brightened. "Zabbazara," he murmured. "Zabbazara! How did you know about Zabbazara?"

"It — it's just a place I made up."

★ ★ ★

"Those are the best places!" exclaimed Santa. "And Zabbazara is the best place of all. Come — we'll go to Zabbazara. I think it is there we will find the charm to break the spell of the Voodoo man!"

Red Chinese N-Stockpile Blossoming---McNamara

PARIS (AP) —U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said today Red China may have a small stockpile of nuclear weapons in two years and hopes to have a ballistic missile to deliver them.

McNamara told ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization that the European members of the alliance should plan now to meet a Chinese Communist threat to their own security within five years.

He said the Chinese Reds were determined to become a major nuclear power.

By 1975, he predicted, the Chinese Communists probably would not only have developed but also deployed intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Such missiles presumably could reach targets all the way from San Francisco to Berlin and cities in between.

★ ★

McNamara reported the Chinese Communists have set their sights on building up a major nuclear force within the next two years.

MISSILE WORK

McNamara said Peking is attempting to develop a medium-range ballistic missile which may be ready by 1967.

McNamara spoke on the second day of a NATO ministerial meeting. He spoke behind closed doors. His statements were relayed to newsmen by an American spokesman.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk appealed to U.S. Allies yesterday to send doctors and engineers to South Viet Nam but did not ask for troops.

★ ★ ★

McNamara stressed that grave as was the threat of Red China's growing might, the United States was going to stand firm behind its commitments to defend western Europe from possible Communist aggression.

MAURICE MALLION JR.

'Lost Husband' Led Two Lives

Man Held; 'Unable to Remember 1st Family'

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "I'm lost. I don't know what to do," said a 37-year-old truck driver from Ohio who police say deserted his family in Michigan eight years ago.

Robert R. White, a father of three from Mt. Healthy, Ohio, spoke from his jail cell yesterday.

Police said fingerprints showed White was Maurice Mallion Jr., who disappeared from his home in Willis, Mich., eight years ago, leaving his wife and four children.

"They tell me I'm Mallion. It's undoubtedly true. They have my fingerprints. But if it is, I'm in a hell of a mess," White said.

He will meet Mrs. Mallion tomorrow when he appears for a court hearing.

NOTHING TO SAY

"I haven't visited him because there just isn't anything for me to say to him," said Mrs. Mallion at her home outside of Ypsilanti.

1 Plane Shot Down; Injured Pilot Rescued

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets blasted a major power plant today 14 miles northeast of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port. It was the first American strike in the Communist foe's industrial heartland in the Red River delta.

★ ★ ★

Pilots reported that they had hit the heart of the Uong Bi steam power plant and many secondary explosions followed.

A U.S. spokesman said the raid knocked out the plant, which he said supplies 15 per cent of North Viet Nam's electric power and is the primary power source for the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

One plane was shot down but the pilot, Capt. Harry D. De Witt of Moscow, Idaho, was rescued. He suffered a broken leg and facial injuries.

★ ★

A flight of F105s, usually four to six planes, carried out the attack on the power station near Haiphong despite bad weather and heavy antiaircraft fire, a U.S. spokesman said. The planes, which are capable of twice the speed of sound, unloaded 12 tons bombs shortly before noon.

PILOT BAILED OUT

De Witt's plane was hit by conventional ground fire, rather than by any of the Soviet surface-to-air missiles that are said to ring the Haiphong-Hanoi area. He bailed out over the Gulf of Tonkin and was picked up by a rescue helicopter.

Although the raid was the first announced in the vicinity of Haiphong, a U.S. spokesman noted that North Vietnamese power plants had been hit before.

Since the U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam began last Feb. 7, American planes have avoided strikes against either Hanoi or Haiphong. The spokesman noted that only the power plant was hit and not the industrial center it served. He said the plant had vital military importance since it supplied power at the source of supplies for the Ho Chi Minh Trail leading through Laos to the Viet Cong in the south.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford rode the Gemini 6 spacecraft into an ideal orbit today and began maneuvering toward the greatest of all space adventures—a rendezvous with the Gemini 7 space ship high above the earth.

The space chase started with the thundering blast-off of a 90-foot Titan 2 rocket that soared skyward exactly on schedule at 8:37 a.m. EST.

At 10:12 a.m. EST, near the end of the first revolution, Schirra made his first move toward a meeting of the sister ships.

A blast from his jet thrusters adjusted the high point of his orbit and placed him 17 miles below Gemini 7 and 690 miles behind.

Gemini 7 entered its 163rd orbit at 10:12 a.m. EST.

Only a few minutes after the perfect launch, Schirra and Stafford got a go-ahead from confident mission directors on the ground for a fourth-orbit rendezvous.

An elated Schirra responded: "You've got a big fat go from us!"

Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell, Jr. who had been flying in the comfort of their cotton underwear, were instructed to get back into their space suits for the completion of the rendezvous.

★ ★ ★

Borman and Lovell were about 185 miles high, some 290 miles south of the cape, when the Titan blasted into the skies.

THROUGH CLOUDS

"We didn't get to see the lift-off" Lovell called, "But we saw them coming through the clouds."

Six minutes later, when mission control announced that Gemini 7 had achieved its orbit, Gemini 7 had streaked 1,200 miles ahead and the chase was on-featuring a record cast of four U.S. astronauts.

Borman and Lovell were nearing the end of the 11th of their 14 planned days in space.

The dramatic pursuit was to cover about 105,000 miles during which Schirra and Stafford were to make a series of orbit-shifting maneuvers to gradually close with Gemini 6.

RENDEZVOUS TIME

If all goes right, the rendezvous will take place at 2:26 p.m. EST today. At that time, the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Car Sales Set Record for Dec. 1-10 Period

DETROIT (AP) — Auto sales in the first 10 days of this month were the biggest Dec. 1-10 in automotive history, according to preliminary figures reported Tuesday by the four major U.S. car makers.

Ford Motor Co. ran especially strong in the 10-day stretch, while General Motors and American Motors fell off their pace in the comparable 10 days last year. Chrysler sales ran about the same.

Industry sales totaled 246,219 cars, breaking the old mark of 238,937 set in Dec. 1-10, 1964.

Unofficial figures showed sales of U. S. built cars in the domestic market totaled 8,273,764 through December 10 of this calendar year.

SALES REPORTS

Including the anticipated sale of an estimated 550,000 imports in the U. S. market for this year, it indicated that the industry was close to its goal of total new car sales of about 9.2 million units in the U. S. market this year.

County Jury Frees Man in Fatal Beating

An Oakland County Circuit Jury yesterday acquitted an Court jury yesterday acquitted an Avon Township man in a fatal beating Oct. 4.

The jury found Herbert Harris, 23, of 3044 Eastwood, innocent of the death of John Arnett.

Arnett, 38, of 3471 Dunning, Avon Township, died about 24 hours after being kicked in the stomach during a fight with Harris.

The verdict was returned 1½ hours after the jury began deliberating on testimony heard during the four-day trial before Judge James S. Thorburn.

★ ★ ★

Harris had been charged with first degree murder, but Thorburn, in giving instructions to the jurors, ruled out first and second degree murder and involuntary manslaughter.

SINGLE CHARGE

All the jury had to decide was if Harris was guilty or innocent of voluntary manslaughter.

An autopsy on Arnett revealed that he died of a ruptured intestine.

The fight was a result of Arnett hitting Harris' mother, whom he had been dating.

★ ★ ★

Harris' attorney Clarence Smith contended that his client was defending himself because he believed Arnett had a jackknife.

City Officials Rap State Plan for E. Huron

City officials last night hit at a state plan to modify a two-block portion of East Huron in connection with the relocation of M59.

The City Commission did not take action on the plan submitted by the Michigan State Highway Department.

"It will be nothing more than a bottleneck," commented Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. in reference to the state plan.

According to a report by City Engineering Joseph E. Neipling, the state would first take parking off East Huron between Mill and East Wide Track.

★ ★ ★

A separator island would be constructed in the East Huron-Mill intersection to deflect traffic into East Huron, south of Mill.

TAPERED STREET

East Huron would be tapered to adjust the alignment across the Huron-Mill intersection.

Neipling said this is the extent of the state's initial work on the proposed trunkline there. The total cost would be about $2,300.

Neipling said that no further changes would be made until highway officials felt right-of-way acquisition possibilities were more favorable than now.

★ ★ ★

The city engineer told The Press that the city had invested some $75,000 for property near the East Huron-Wide Track intersection.

MONEY EXPECTED

Purchased in connection with work on the Clinton River, the city anticipated it would recover some of its $75,000 outlay when the state relocated M59, according to Neipling.

The ultimate treatment for M59 calls for "somewhat limited widening," reported Neipling last night.

The state plan calls for the purchase of 18 feet along the north side of East Huron. Costs for the ultimate treatment are estimated at $29,000, he added.

★ ★ ★

Neipling cited five factors ignored by the state in its initial plans for this portion (Mill to Wide Track) of M59:

- East Huron in this area is a street of extremely old pavement.
- This section still has commercial activity.
- This existing activity would be adversely affected by through traffic on the extremely limited pavement width.
- Converting this portion of East Huron into a trunkline would guarantee the movement of large commercial vehicles through the area.
- Widening of this section of Huron must take place.

"Coupled with current trends in increased cost of right-of-way acquisition, this does not make it logical to use right-of-way acquisition costs as the sole reason for deferring action," charged Neipling.

Taylor suggested that the state plan be sent back to the highway department for further discussions.

Dead Girl's Mother Asks $500,000

Pontiac Osteopathic Faces Suit

A $500,000 damage suit against Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital and four of its staff members was filed yesterday by the mother of one of the three victims who received lethal injections of ether.

Mrs. Oscar Bruneel, 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township, charged the hospital and the four individuals with negligence in the death of her daughter, Kimberly Ann.

The eight-year-old girl and two other patients, William M. Ketchum, 12, of Ferndale, and Mrs. Lurea Covington, 24, of 236 Roland, died Nov. 18 and 19 after surgery at the hospital.

An investigation conducted by the prosecutor's office and Pontiac police revealed that the three had inadvertently been injected with a mixture of two anesthetics: ether and Surital.

Named codefendants in the suit were Dr. Lloyd Goodwin, Dr. Stanley E. Abrams, both anesthesiologists, and registered nurses Joan Booth and Margaret Lauinger.

Dr. Goodwin, chief anesthesiologist, and Dr. Abrams, resigned at the request of the hospital board following the extensive investigation.

The suit was assigned to Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn. No date for a hearing was scheduled.

The suit says the family was deprived of Kimberly Ann's companionship, that the youngster underwent suffering immediately prior to her death, and cites funeral expenses and attorney fees.

★ ★ ★

The suit charges the hospital "was guilty of willful and wanton negligence in failing to supervise its employes."

DRAINED ETHER

It said Dr. Abrams drained ether from an operating room machine into a partially used bottle of Surital and then put the bottle back on the shelf.

The bottle of the lethal mixture was then used for injections by Dr. Goodwin and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Wide Selection of Gifts for Boss, Businessman

If you're searching for a suitable gift for your boss or business acquaintance, area stores have a wide selection at hand for this purpose.

One flower shop will create an arrangement of fresh fruit in a colorful Christmas tree or another design and deliver it for a cost of $4.50 to $12.

To keep the boss on his toes, there is a traveling shoe shine kit. It comes complete with applicators, brushes, large polishing cloths and cans of brown and black polish.

If the boss is a woman, how about an electric foot massager? This will cost about $9 for the single model and around $17 for the double.

★ ★ ★

For a draftsman or designer, an ideal gift might be an electric eraser. Prices on these are about $16.50.

PRACTICAL GIFT

A Kennedy paperweight is a practical and attractive gift for any member of the desk set. It costs about $5.

A secretary might appreciate a filigree hair spray cover to use on her desk at a cost of about $2.50.

For the do-it-yourselfer type boss, a two-speed sander polisher would be an ideal gift.

It works on metal, wood and plastic surfaces and has an auxiliary handle for right or left handers. Its price is about $35.

Again, for the gal who drives to work, you might give a blinking warning signal light for emergencies after dark.

It attaches to her car by a rubber suction cup.

The price on this is about $1.

SPACE TRAVEL—Gemini 6, launched from Cape Kennedy, Fla., this morning, is expected to overtake the orbiting Gemini 7 spacecraft today. Gemini 6 is figured to succeed in the 105,000-mile chase at 17,500 miles per hour by flying lower and shorter orbits.

Space Rendezvous Near

two spacecraft should be within 100 feet of each other, zipping along at 17,500 miles an hour 185 miles above the Mariana Islands in the western Pacific.

The Titan, which was frustrated the last second in an attempt to get off the pad last Sunday, performed perfectly today and, as it rose into the sky, flight director Christopher C. Kraft Jr. told Schirra and Stafford by radio: "You're right down the line, Gemini 6."

When Gemini 7 was informed that Gemini 6 was on its way for a visit, Borman replied: "Wonderful!"

ORBIT RANGE

Mission control reported Gemini 6 was in an orbit ranging from 101 to 165 miles high, almost precisely what was sought and well within the required limits for the rendezvous.

Gemini 7 at the time of launch was in a new circular orbit ranging from 183 to 188 miles.

In the lower orbit, Schirra and Stafford require less time to circle the globe and thus gradually will gain on Borman and Lovell.

★ ★ ★

If they remained in their initial orbit, Schirra and Stafford would catch up at the rate of about 340 miles an hour. However, they planned two major orbit changes during the second and third revolutions to raise the low point of their course so they will be in a near circular path about 165 miles high.

TARGET CRAFT

At the start of orbit No. 4, about five hours after launching, they are to be 17 miles below and 39 miles slant range behind the target spacecraft.

Gemini 6 then is to fire its jets to begin a terminal phase that is to end 40 to 50 minutes later with the two spacecraft close together.

The two space ships initially were to meet nose to nose, and then fly in formation perhaps only a few feet apart about six hours. They were to practice numerous maneuvers to determine the best means of conducting space rendezvous.

★ ★ ★

Success would push the United States past another significant milestone on the road to the moon and give this nation a wide lead in the final rendezvous phase of the man-in-space race.

PLANNED RETURN

If everything goes as planned today, Schirra and Stafford will return to earth at 10:06 a.m. Friday. Otherwise, they will stay up a second day.

Borman and Lovell are to continue on their record-shattering flight until Saturday, coming back to earth at 9 a.m.

The smooth launching today was a "third time's a charm" event for Schirra and Stafford, who had been frustrated on two earlier attempts.

On Oct. 25, they came within 42 minutes of launching, but the flight was scrubbed when the Agena rocket they were to have hooked up with failed to reach orbit because of an engine explosion.

SET FOR FIRING

Space officials then came up with the idea to rendezvous Gemini 7 and 6 and launch crews were ready for firing in a record eight days after Gemini 7 left the pad.

★ ★ ★

Schirra and Stafford were set to go last Sunday, only to be again denied the chance when trouble developed after the Titan's engines ignited and were shut down by an automatic signal.

$2.7-Million Contract Is Awarded for School

BIRMINGHAM — James and Savage Corp. of Detroit last night was awarded a $2.7-million contract for the construction of Covington Junior High School.

The firm submitted a package bid which includes the electrical and mechanical work as well as general construction.

Its $2,748,700 offer was the lowest of six opened by the board of education last night.

Work on the school is to begin as soon as possible on the southwest corner of Quarton and Covington roads.

The unit, containing structural innovations which will complement new educational programs, will open in September of 1966.

TOTAL COST

The contract awarded last night took the total cost of the building to $2.9 million, some 16 per cent above that estimated in June of 1964.

Property owners then approved a $5,350,000 building program and additional operating millage, which included a seven-tenths mill levy for the Birmingham Plan for Excellence.

The plan for improving the quality of the school system's program included innovations in curriculum and teaching methods.

★ ★ ★

UNIT ARCHITECT

Architect for the unit was Linn Smith Associates Inc. of Birmingham.

The basic plan was developed by Educational Facilities Laboratories under auspices of the Ford Foundation.

★ ★ ★

It incorporates the ideas a nationwide committee of architects, engineers and school officials formulated to cut building costs and increase flexibility.

★ ★ ★

George Dexter last summer was appointed principal of the new unit. At the Dec. 21 board meeting, he will give a progress report on development of the school's organization and curriculum.

★ ★ ★

With a 1,000-pupil capacity, the school is expected to be full when it opens. It will draw its enrollment from Berkshire Junior High School and ninth grade classes at Wylie E. Groves High School.

Johnson Offers Medical Team, Scientists to Assist Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, winding up talks today with Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan, has offered to send a team of medical teachers and scientists to Pakistan.

Johnson made the offer Tuesday night at a White House dinner honoring Ayub.

The mission of the medical team, Johnson said in offering a toast to the visiting leader, "would be to work with your own medical authorities in instituting a broad improvement in medical training — and in working with your people in improving rural health and public health."

He said the team would be led by Dr. Donald F. Hornig, White House science adviser.

Raising his glass, Johnson proclaimed a need to find peace in the world. He called for efforts to conquer "the curses of poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, the human and physical problems."

Ayub, in his toast to Johnson, thanked him for the offer of the medical mission and acknowledged that "our relations have to a certain extent been sore." He attributed this to "misunderstanding" and said friendship between the United States and Pakistan "can be — must be maintained."

After the dinner, Johnson and Ayub had a 35-minute conference in the family quarters of the White House. They were joined by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Earlier Tuesday, the two presidents had what Ayub described as a very frank but friendly private talk about the Kashmir dispute and Viet Nam.

Ayub, in one of the lightest official schedules on record for a visiting chief of state, scheduled no official meetings until a 5 p.m. conference with Johnson at the White House.

White House aides said both Johnson and Ayub were relaxed and informal in their private talks.

The White House made known that the Ayub-Johnson talks were closely connected with the forthcoming Tashkent meeting between Ayub and India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri on Soviet soil and the Shastri-Johnson meeting to be held here Feb. 1-2.

City Okays Application for Tax Loan

The City Commission last night approved making application to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for authority to borrow $2 million in tax anticipation notes.

Finance Director Marvin M. Alward proposed the borrowing to meet operational costs between Feb. and the July, 1966 tax collections.

He said $2 million was being sought for next year, instead of $1.75 million borrowed for 1965, because of the increased cost of city payrolls.

Each year the city borrows funds to run the city during this period. This is necessary because the fiscal year begins in January, but the first tax receipts are not due until July.

Bids on the sale of tax anticipation notes are to be taken in late January.

Byrd Seat Won by Republican

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — J. Kenneth Robinson emerged as a new star in the Virginia Republican firmament today in the wake of his runaway victory over a Democrat for the state Senate seat relinquished by U.S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr.

★ ★ ★

His better than 2 to 1 decision over Democrat Joseph A. Massie Jr. in Tuesday's special election in the Shenandoah Valley 21st District was a prestigious prize in a seat of Democratic party power.

It projected Robinson, 48, an orchardist-businessman, to the forefront of Republican future books for Congress or perhaps candidate for governor four years hence.

Complete unofficial returns from the district's 88 percincts gave Robinson 10,293 votes to 4,949 for Massie.

Seek to Shed More Light on Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional inquiry opens today to try to shed more light on the Big Blackout.

But the investigation of the cause and effects of the last month's great power failure in the Northeast probably will lead into the high-voltage field of federal regulation of electric power and how far it should go.

This controversy "was coming to a head," said Rep. Walter E. Rogers, D-Tex., chairman of the House Interstate Commerce subcommittee which is making the inquiry. "The blackout brought it to public attention."

Rogers said he hopes that in addition to "nailing down the basic reason" for the massive power failure — and some other relatively minor blackouts — the inquiry will get "to the bedrock" of U.S. power policy.

DECISION NEEDED

"Congress is going to have to decide what the electrical energy policy for the whole country should be," he added.

This would get into the myriad technical, legal and rate-making problems involved in state versus federal regulations and the highly sophisticated interlocking electrical power network.

Joseph C. Swidler, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, was scheduled as the first witness.

Shortly before Congress adjourned, Rogers' subcommittee approved a bill to exempt from the power commission's jurisdiction rural electrification cooperative, municipal, power companies and those electrical firms defined as dealing only in intrastate commerce.

STIFFER RULES

Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., a member of the full committee, said he expected Swidler would seek stiffer regulations as a result of the Nov. 9 failure.

★ ★ ★

Pickle, who represents President Johnson's home district in Texas, said, "The commission feels that if you turn on a switch in New York it would be felt in Florida, to that everybody's in national system.

★ ★ ★

"I take the opposite view, that the blackout proves the need for strong regional grid systems so a blackout in New York won't spread to San Francisco."

An investigation by the FPC has indicated that the Northeast blackout originated in Canada. An overload then fed through the interlocking grid system on the American side of the border, triggering automatic cut-off switches and thus blacking out thousands of square miles, including Boston and New York.

Rogers said he hoped by getting at the causes of the power failure a remedy could be found and "if legislation is needed, it will be offered."

ROUTES TO FLORIDA — Michigan motorists who plan to drive to Florida in the next few months have a choice of four major routes, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan. The driving will be easier than ever before because more miles of four-lane freeway have been added, with all routes except one sharing in the increase. Some 86 per cent of those going to Florida will drive.

AFL-CIO Viet Resolution May Stir Opposition

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders said today that North Viet Nam is waging war as part of a Communist drive to destroy the United States and dominate the world.

The resolution — expected to stir mild opposition — pledges to support President Johnson on all measures he deems necessary to halt the Communists and win a lasting peace.

* * *

The resolution, drawn up in a closed caucus Tuesday, was presented for approval today by the nearly 1,000 delegates at AFL - CIO's 10th anniversary convention.

Backed by AFL-CIO President George Meany, it drew some reservations from United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther — second most powerful man in the 13-million-member federation. Reuther reportedly wanted greater emphasis on efforts toward peace negotiations in Viet Nam.

U.S. EFFORTS

The resolution mentions U.S. efforts to bring about peace negotiations but places far greater emphasis on the Communist threat to world peace.

"This war is not an isolated or local conflict," the proposed resolution says.

* * *

It is an integral phase of the Communist drive for dominating the world.

"If Asia and all its hundreds of millions of people were to come under domination, the survival of our own country would be gravely endangered. The Communists are waging a war of conquest, a war for the annexation of South Viet Nam by Ho Chi Minh's regime," the resolution says.

PRIME MOVER

Prime mover in drafting the resolution was Jay Lovestone, the AFL-CIO's international affairs director who was a member of the Communist party until he broke with the late Joseph Stalin in 1928.

* * *

Lovestone, who had demanded that Stalin give the U.S. Communist party more freedom from Moscow control, has been strongly anti-Communist since. "The hypocrisy of (Ho Chi Minh's) Communist government's peace propaganda is underlined by its continuous rejection of the many peace overtures made during the last year by the United States, her Western allies, the United Nations and nonaligned countries," says the resolution.

It also says the Communists can never be defeated in Viet Nam by military means alone.

"There must be large-scale programs for improving the conditions of life and labor and for developing democratic institutions," it says.

Cruise Ship Yarmouth Postpones Sailings

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Sailings of cruise ship Yarmouth, sister ship of the Yarmouth Castle, have been canceled so safety equipment can be double-checked.

The Yarmouth Castle, which sank off the Bahamas Nov. 13 with the loss of 90 lives, carried 377 passengers on the voyage. Yarmouth Cruise Lines said the Yarmouth will resume twice weekly cruises to the Bahamas Dec. 20.

More Special School Facilities Urged for Retarded Youngsters

DETROIT (AP)—About 35 per cent of school-age mentally retarded children in state institutions could be living at home if special education facilities were available, an official said Tuesday.

John Deiter, assistant director of the State Mental Health Department's Planning Division, testified before a Senate subcommittee studying Michigan's special education programs.

These children would be better off in the local community and their care would be less expensive to society, Deiter said.

He estimated that 50 per cent of mentally retarded children eligible for special education are not being served by the program.

10 PCT. SERVED

He also agreed with a Department of Public Instruction statement that special education programs are serving only about 10 per cent of emotionalyl disturbed children who need them.

Hundreds of additional special education teachers are needed, Deiter added, to carry out programs for mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children.

* * *

Dr. John Heitema, special education director in Macomb County and one-time state assistant superintendent in charge of special education, said Michigan has lost its leadership in this field.

Other witnesses said lack of adequate consultant staff and failure to fill the position of state special education director for almost one year had contributed to what they called the lack of an imaginative, comprehensive program and real leadership by the state.

High School Revisited

Students More Sophisticated

EDITOR'S NOTE—UPI reporter Myron Feinsilber went back to his home town high school to see what has changed since his graduation in 1952 and what has remained the same. This is the first of three articles on what he found.)

By MYRON FEINSILBER

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (UPI)— When Lillian Stark scolds a student, he stays scolded. Ask anyone in Stroudsburg.

Thirteen years after Miss Stark scolded me for the last time, back when I was a senior in Stroudsburg High School, I returned to see how things had changed.

If Miss Stark continues to teach a few more years — and no one can imagine that she won't, — she will be teaching the grandchildren of her first pupils.

And it will be interesting to see whether she assigns her new pupils the names of their mother's — or of their grandmother's. She admits she confuses the pupils' names with those of their parents.

She estimates that between 35 and 50 per cent of her students are the offspring of youngsters she once taught. Does she think they're different from their parents?

MORE PASSIVE

"The discipline problems are less," she says. "But these kids are more passive. They've seen everything. They're harder to excite. And they're more sophisticated — a little bit too much so. The junior high kids today know things the senior high kids didn't used to know.

"And they lack a depth of patriotism. They have no respect for the flag, or the Star Spangled Banner, or for religion."

LESS DRIVE

"They have very little inner drive or curiosity," he says.

"I don't get any arguments about assignments any more. They do it — they accept it. But they don't question anything — and they don't ask questions. I have to drag out of them what they don't understand.

On that point, Miss Stark disagrees. "I have yet to start walking down a hall with an armful of books," she says, "without having a kid stop me and ask, 'May I carry those?' "

MORE MONEY

Principal Alfred Munson, who has been at Stroudsburg High 31 years, tries to explain the new sophistication of students. "They're carrying a lot more money than they ever did. They know a lot more about sex than we did when I was a student here. Dating beings much earlier."

Out of a senior class of 225 last year, six girls had to quit school because they were pregnant. But Munson says this number was not unusually high.

That sort of thing, says Munson, has its cycles. Pep comes in and out of style. It is out now.

HAIR STYLES

Munson finds it amazing — and still shakes his head over it — that boys now tint their hair, usually to make it either red or lighter.

And he reports that between classes long lines of boys form before lavatory mirrors to comb their hair, painstakingly placing every strand exactly right. Boys, he says, are less self-conscious about being conscious of themselves.

Blue jeans, he reports, became too tight and were finally banned altogether. And every St. Patrick's Day he has to send home a girl or two who, carried away by the occasion, has dyed her hair green.

DEMAND MORE

"The community demands more of the school, things it never demanded before: a hot lunch program — that's new; medical inspections, guidance, a school psychologist.

"Parents expect us to find a college for their children.

"Society looks to the school to implant moral training, and yet the schools haven't yet specifically established how this is to be accomplished.

★ ★ ★

"Oh, sure, we read great literature, we encourage self-realization in terms of achievement, in getting things done punctually — but moral principles are by-products of what we offer."

RELIGIOUS ROLE

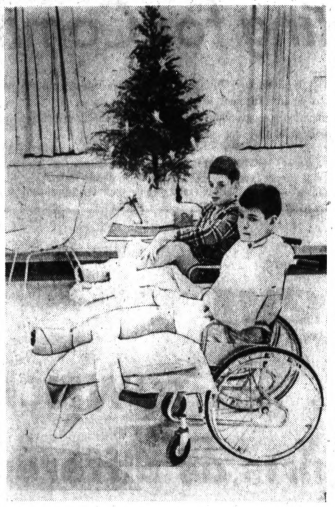
Religion still plays a role in Stroudsburg High. After the U.S. Supreme Court's school prayer decision, the school dropped Bible reading at the start of each day. Instead, students now stand for a moment of silent meditation.

But there are still carols and religious programs at Christmas, and clergymen, of all the local faiths, are invited to conduct baccalaureate services in the school at graduation time.

★ ★ ★

"No one has instructed us to stop," says Munson, "and we won't until we're told to."

(Tomorrow: College Competition Increases.)



AP Photofax

TWO LEFT FEET — With identical injuries to their left feet, these two 11-year-old boys will be spending Christmas in the hospital. Terry McMahon (in back) and Gary DiGiovanna, both of Kansas City, received crushed bones and lacerations when struck by a rolling log while on a nature hike.

For 'Failure' on Rhodesia

Guinea Severs British Ties

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast (UPI) — The African nation of Guinea today announced it has severed diplomatic relations with Britain because of the British government's failure to topple the rebellious white government in Rhodesia.

The announcement was made by President Sekou Toure in a midnight broadcast over the Guinea government radio, monitored in Abidjan.

Toure said he took the action because Britain had failed "to put an end to the scandalous situation created in Rhodesia by racist colonizers."

Guinea was acting in accordance with a resolution passed earlier this month by the 36 member nations of the Organization of African Unity (OAU).

The resolution set a Dec. 15 deadline for strong British action to crush the Rhodesian regime of Premier Ian Smith, which unilaterally declared its independence from Britain a month ago.

Ethiopia, the United Arab Republic, Tunisia, Kenya, Zambia and Nigeria indicated they would not cut diplomatic relations with Britain, despite the OAU resolution.

Brazil exports nine-tenths of its manganese output to the United States. It is the fourth largest producer — after the Soviet Union, India and South Africa.

Give Families Yule Carol Music Rolls

Without a doubt, the cheerful sound of music in the home at Christmas time is one of the most enjoyable and important parts of the family's holiday celebration.

As homemakers revive some of the more traditional forms of holiday decor and customs, families will gather this year around their player-pianos to sing-along to favorite Christmas carols on music rolls.

* * *

A good many families still have a beloved old player-piano inherited from Grandmother's parlor. Many others will be enjoying modern Pianolas for Christmas. But not all owners are aware of the great variety of Christmas music presently available for player-pianos.

This year there is the greatest selection ever of Christmas music for player-pianos. Among a selection of almost 50 popular Christmas tunes and traditional carols, several rare and beautiful Scottish and Welsh carols have been put out on Aeolian Music Rolls for the first time.

LONG-PLAY ROLL

Aeolian has also introduced a long-playing music roll, with as many as eight carols on a single roll. On almost all piano rolls the words are printed alongside the music, making it easy for the entire family to join in for a Christmas sing-along.

Piano rolls make an ideal and inexpensive present for the player-piano family. A convenient walnut finish music roll storage rack is also available as a slightly more expensive gift. Music rolls are priced at about $1.00 and the roll storage rack at about $10.00.

* * *

Both are available from local music stores or from Aeolian Corporation, 33 West 57th Street, New York City.

When Capt. Cook left England in 1768, there was no reliable map of the South Pacific region. By the time he finished recording his explorations, he had made a map that was both well-defined and reliable.

Vegetable Medley Top of Stove Dish

Saute one small chopped onion with one tablespoon minced green pepper in one scant tablespoon corn oil, butter, or margarine, until limp but not brown. Add one very ripe, coarsely chopped large tomato.

Place a block of frozen lima beans, green peas, or string beans on top of tomatoes, sprinkle with one teaspoon of sugar, one half teaspoon of salt and the same of coarse ground black pepper. Cover pan, turn flame very low and cook until vegetables are tender. Stir once or twice after vegetables have begun to thaw.

Time is approximately double that of package instructions. Correct seasoning with salt and sugar. Blend well and serve.

DANDY CANDY CAKE—Take two fresh-frozen all-butter chocolate cakes; remove from pan by cutting corners with knife or scissors and tearing down. Slice each cake lengthwise in two layers while still frozen. Assemble cake layers with frosted tops as filling. Prepare one package fluffy frosting mix according to package directions adding ¼ cup finely crushed peppermint candy last. Spread candy frosting between second and third layers and over all. Decorate with additional candies as shown. Serves 10-12.

Beans and Corn Are Long Time Buddies

It is said that the delicious Yankee dish known as succotash was a favorite of the Indians long before the white man came to our shores. Legend has it that a bird flew into New England carrying a bean in one ear and a grain of corn in the other and so began the custom of planting each in alternate rows and cooking them together.

We came across an interesting recipe written 119 years ago by the elder sister of Harriet Beecher Stowe (author of Uncle Tom's Cabin) and although lima beans are sometimes mated with corn, the original recipe calls for navy beans.

Down East Succatosh

"If you wish to make succatosh, boil the beans for half to three quarters of an hour, in water, a little salt. Meantime cutting off corn and throwing the cobs with the beans. Take care not to cut too close to the cob as it imparts a poor taste.

"When the beans have boiled, take out the cobs and add the corn and let the whole boil from 15 to 20 minutes for young corn and longer for older corn. Make the proportions two third corn and one third beans.

"When you have a mess amounting to 2 quarts of corn and 1 quart of beans, take two tablespoons of flour, wet it into a thin paste and stir it into the succatosh and let it boil for five minutes. Then lay some butter in a dish, take it up into it and add more salt if need be." 12 servings.

Another combination so popular below the Mason-Dixon line is Hopping John, sweet tender beans and flaky white rice. This too is purported to be a heritage from the Indians.

Deep South Hopping John

Cook a ham bone, knuckle or salt pork in 2 quarts of water for 2 hours. All 1 cup soaked dry navy beans and cook till almost tender. Remove meat bone and add 1 cup uncooked rice and ½ cup finely chopped onion. Salt and pepper to taste. Boil gently about 20 minutes or till rice is fluffy. 4-5 servings.

Toasted Coconut

To toast coconut, spread thinly in shallow pan. Toast in moderate oven 350 degrees until delicate brown, stirring often, for a festive appearance. or Use untoasted coconut on top of cup cakes and toasted on sides for a festive appearance or sprinkle over chocolate sundaes.

Pink Treat Drink Bubbly and Nice

This pink treat creates a festive bowl for the holiday season. Pour into a punch bowl 3 bottles chilled California Rose wine and 1 six-ounce can frozen lemonade concentrate. Stir in 2 quarts raspberry sherbet.

Mix thoroughly and pour in 1 bottle chilled California Pink Champagne or Sparkling Burgundy. Serve immediately. Serves approximately 32.

Fudge, Butterscotch or Brittle---Recipes for Your Sweet Tooth

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you have a knack for making candy, now is the time to exercise it. A box of homemade candy is a pleasant way to say, "Merry Christmas."

★ ★ ★

The expert candymaker uses a thermometer. When cooking fudge or fondant, she is careful not to stir after the sugar is dissolved.

★ ★ ★

If the day is humid, she cooks the mixture two degrees above what the recipe calls for, because candy syrup may absorb moisture from the air.

★ ★ ★

Easy Peanut Butter Fudge

2½ cups sugar
⅔ cup evaporated milk
1¾ cups (about) marshmallow topping
¼ cup butter
¾ teaspoon salt
1 package (11 oz.) peanut butter flavor chips
¾ teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, evaporated milk, marshmallow topping, butter, and salt in a saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until blended. Bring to a full boil over medium heat. Then continue to boil over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat. Add chips and vanilla; stir until chips are melted. Pour into a buttered 9-inch square pan. Cool. Cut into 1-inch squares. Makes about 81 squares.

BUTTERSCOTCH CANDY

2 cups granulated sugar
⅔ cup dark corn syrup
¼ cup water
¼ cup light cream
¼ cup butter or margarine

Combine first four ingredients in a saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, to hard ball stage, 260 degrees on candy thermometer or until a small amount forms a hard ball when tested in very cold water.

Add butter or margarine and continue cooking, stirring constantly, to soft crack stage or 280 degrees.

Pour quickly into buttered eight-inch square pan. When almost cool and set, cut into squares. When cold, break apart. Wrap each square in saran or foil. Yield: about 1¼ pounds.

CHEESE FUDGE

1 cup cocoa
1 pound processed Cheddar cheese
1 pound butter
1 pound dry milk
3 pounds powdered sugar
4 cups chopped pecans
4 teaspoons vanilla

Allow processed cheese to soften to room temperature. Mix all ingredients together with hands. Form into rolls or press into three flat buttered pans, about 13x9x2 inches. Chill, then cut into slices or squares. Keep refrigerated until served. Makes about eight pounds.

FILBERT BRITTLE

1½ pounds granulated sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1½ cups water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1¼ pounds filberts (about 4½ cups)
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon vanilla

Combine sugar, corn syrup and 1½ cups water in large heavy skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar dissolves and mixture boils. Cover and cook 3 to 4 minutes. Uncover and cook to 275 degrees on candy thermometer.

Stir in butter and filberts; continue cooking until mixture is a golden brown and filberts look roasted. Remove from heat; quickly stir in baking soda dissolved in 1 tablespoon water and vanilla. (Mixture will bubble and steam violently.)

Pour into a large shallow buttered pan, spreading mixture to even thickness. Cool thoroughly and break into pieces. Makes 3½ pounds.

GLOSSY ALMOND BUTTERCREAMS

1 cup whipping cream or half-and-half
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup toasted slivered almonds

Combine cream, sugar and butter in heavy saucepan; cook over low heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved.

Boil gently over medium heat about 20 minutes, stirring frequently, until candy thermometer registers 238 degrees F. or until a few drops of mixture forms medium soft ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla and almonds.

Drop by tablespoonfuls onto cooky sheets. Cool. Store in covered container or plastic bags. Makes about 30 buttercreams.

COCONUT APRICOT CANDY

¾ cup dried apricots
¾ cup coconut
½ teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon orange juice

Wash apricots, cover with boiling water, and let stand 5 minutes; drain. Put apricots and coconut through food chopper. Add orange and lemon rind and orange juice; knead mixture until blended.

If candy is dry, add enough additional orange juice to moisten. If too moist, work in a small amount of confectioners' sugar.

Shape in 1-inch balls. Roll in granulated sugar, additional coconut, or finely chopped nuts.

A little grated parmesan cheese added to other ingredients when making meat balls from ground beef or pork will enhance the flavor.

CANDY MAKING TIME — Fudge is probably the candy most often made for Christmas giving and throughout the year. Wrap pieces in plastic, twisting between each piece, to make a wreath for the tree. Or present your homemade candy in a usable container, tied with a pretty ribbon.

Place Apple, Onion With Pork Chops

Have a six-rib pork roast cut into six shops. Blend one half cup sugar with one teaspoon salt, one half teaspoon pepper, one fourth teaspoon cinnamon and one fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Coat each chop on both sides with this mixture.

Reconstruct the roast fat side up in a long deep loaf pan, inserting half-inch slice of tart, firm, winesap apple, and one half-inch slice of sweet Bermuda or Italian purple onion, between each chop, plus one slice of apple at each end of the pan.

Cover pan with aluminum foil (allowing ample room at the top so foil will not touch chops) seal edge so no steam can escape and bake in a 350 degree oven one and one-half hours. Tearing open foil, last fifteen minutes of baking, to brown.

Toasted Nuts Improve Dip

During the holiday season you never know when friends will drop by so it's a good idea to have quick-fix snack foods available. No doubt, one of your standbys is the classic onion soup mix-sour cream dip. The next time you prepare this popular treat add toasted almonds, curry, and garlic and listen to your guests rave.

They'll also exclaim over the attractive Cheese and Olive Topiary Tree you've made from an empty onion dry soup mix can. To make the tree, cover the can with holiday gift wrap. Fill the can with clay and snap on the plastic lid.

Cut a small "X" in the center of the lid. Insert a short length of dowel through the "X" firmly into the clay. Spear a 3-inch plastic foam ball onto the dowel. Fasten parsley sprigs to the ball with straight pins. Insert toothpicks topped with cheese cubes and olives into the parsley.

Toasted Almond Dip

1 can (1⅜ ounces) onion dry soup mix
1 pint sour cream
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
½ teaspoon curry powder
Generous dash garlic powder

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill. Serve with chips or crackers. Makes about 2½ cups.

Hard Sauce Given Taste of Molasses

Holiday puddings and pies taste good with molasses walnut hard sauce. Beat together until creamy ¼ pound of softened butter or margarine, 2½ cups of sifted confectioners' sugar, a dash of salt and 2 tablespoons of molasses. Mix in ½ cup of chopped walnuts. Makes about 1⅔ cups.

MINCEMEAT CHRISTMAS STARS

1 cup milk 5 cups unsifted flour
¼ cup sugar 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup (2 sticks) Fleischmann's Margarine
½ cup warm water (105°-115° F.)
2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 egg
melted Fleischmann's Margarine
1½ cups prepared mincemeat
Candied red and green halved cherries

Scald milk; let cool to lukewarm. In large mixing bowl, combine flour, sugar and salt. Cut in Fleischmann's Margarine with pastry blender or two knives until mixture looks like coarse meal. Measure warm water into small bowl. Sprinkle in Fleischmann's yeast; stir until dissolved. Add dissolved yeast, lukewarm milk and egg to flour mixture. Beat until thoroughly blended. Cover tightly. Refrigerate overnight.

Divide the dough into three equal pieces. On lightly floured board roll one piece out into a 16-inch square; brush lightly with melted Fleischmann's Margarine. Cut into sixteen (4-inch) squares. Place on greased baking sheets. Cut each square diagonally from each corner to within ½ to ¾ inch of the center. In each center place a rounded teaspoon of prepared mincemeat.

There are now 2 points to each corner of the square. In rotation, bring the same point of each corner to the center of the square; overlap and seal points at the center. Place half a candied cherry in the center of each star. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Repeat with rest of dough. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 12 minutes. Cool on wire rack. Top with confectioners' sugar frosting. Makes 48 Mincemeat Christmas Stars.

Trust Fleischmann's high high rising yeast to lift your baking (and your egg!) up, up, UP.

Area Hunters Fill Permits

Takes Large Bull Elk

Unless a larger bull is taken today or tomorrow, Robert Seeney of White Lake Township will be Michigan's 1965 elk hunting champion.

The 69-year-old hunter who lives at 410 Bogie Lake, killed a bull weighing 590 pounds last Thursday. This was the heaviest elk checked in at the Pigeon River research station through last night.

The state's second special season ends tomorrow.

Seeney's bull carried a large set of antlers with 13 points. A 16-pointer is reported to have been taken, but this bull was lighter than the one shot by the Oakland County man.

Another area hunter, George Carpenter, 6458 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, also filled his permit. He downed a 298-pound yearling cow.

The Conservation Department reported 168 elk killed through yesterday. Only a trace of snow existed in the area open to hunting and game experts doubted if the kill would go much higher. Good tracking snow, however, could change the forecast.

Seeney, a veteran deer hunter, and a pair of loggers who guided him, trailed the large bull on foot and by four-wheel drive vehicle for nearly 17 miles.

STARTED TRACKING

"There were three elk together when we picked up the track Thursday, the second day," Seeney related. "John Moran, one of the guides, told me we should come on them in about an hour and a half.

"We were following the tracks when Jim Moran, John's brother, motioned me to join him. He was ahead of me on the trail. He whispered that a big bull was laying down in front of us, but I couldn't see him.

"The bull finally jumped up, and disappeared before I could shoot. Then a second bull went out. I didn't get a shot."

The chase started. One of the guides would trail the elk while Seeney and the other Moran would drive down logging trails trying to get ahead of the big animals or cut their tracks.

Seeney occasionally glimpsed the animals and missed seven shots before killing his bull with one shot in the neck at 100 yards. He was using a 300 Savage with open sights and 150-grain bullets.

★ ★ ★

The bull was finally downed in the southwest corner of Area 3 near the Black River Club. Seeney and the guides failed to see elk the first day of the season.

Carpenter, his wife, Henrietta, and guide Don Butcher of Gaylord had to go well back into the woods before spotting a herd of 12 moving through heavy cover.

Carpenter reported seeing one spike bull, but couldn't get a shot at it. The yearling finally moved into an open spot and he dropped it with one shot from a 30-06.

★ ★ ★

Special Fish Folders for State Available

Free copies of several special regulations covering winter fishing in Michigan can now be picked up at the Conservation Department's Publications Room in Lansing or any of its regional or district headquarters.

★ ★ ★

'Other Guy' Gets Blamed for Antlerless Deer Kill

A member of the Conservation Department had this to say about hunting anterless deer:

"There is no law that says does have to be shot. If hunters don't want anterless deer taken, then they should quit shooting them."

This seems to be a good solution for disgruntled deer hunters to take under consideration. Over 90 per cent of the 1,200 who attended the anterless deer hunting hearing at Pontiac Central last Saturday favored an end to shooting does and fawns.

"However," the conservation man continued, "it will always be the 'other guy' who is doing the shooting."

From the comments and statements made during Sen. Carl W. O'Brien's Senate Conservation Committee hearing, most of the hunters agreed with this last remark.

They want something on paper that says, "It is illegal to shoot anterless deer. Or, "We'll stop, but who is going to stop the other hunters."

Those who testified made it clear that they weren't unhappy because they didn't get a deer last season (a show of hands indicated that less than a dozen were successful). It was the lack of deer seen that made them unhappy.

The Conservation Department was under constant fire from the floor.

Witnesses claim that the department's statistics on the number of deer in Michigan and the number taken each season were wrong.

It was charged that the department administrators were not listening to the field men. Many asked for stiffer penalties against violators — poachers in particular.

The general impression was that those in attendance objected to the weekend openers.

Some witnesses claimed that the Conservation Department established the weekend opening law. This was done by the Legislature over the objection of the department.

The audience also favored a return to the rule that makes it mandatory for every hunter to return a postcard indicating his or her success during the season.

O'Brien plans additional hearings in Wayne County and Grand Rapids.

$36.2 Million Budget Sought

A proposed $36.2 million budget request to underwrite Michigan's conservation program for the 1966-67 fiscal year was endorsed last week by the Conservation Commission.

Of the total amount, $11.5 million is for capital improvements. Approximately $10.4 million of this would go for state park development where the demand for more outdoor facilities is critical.

The department will seek $24.7 million for general operations.

U-M to Design Celestian Net

Orbiting Antenna to Catch Space Signals

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR—University of Michigan scientists have received a contract to design a celestian butterfly net—a huge orbiting fishnet-like antenna to catch elusive radio signals from deep space.

The $100,000 design contract is from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

* * *

The structure will be carried aloft by a Saturn rocket. After spreading out, it probably will measure six miles across and be shaped like the diamond in playing cards, U-M scientists said.

Precise configurations of the antenna will be determined by the study, they said.

TO BE STABILIZED

The net is expected to be stabilized in orbit by a central satellite and four subsatellites—one at each corner—and will be constructed of nylon filaments the size of fine fishing lines.

The antenna would be used to pick up and relay to earth very low frequency radio signals that emanate from the sun, some stars, galaxies and quasars, the mysterious exploding galaxies.

* * *

Date is expected to be of great value in helping determine fundamental questions of the universe—how and where it originated, how large it is.

The idea for the antenna was conceived by Prof. Fred T. Haddock, director of U-M's Radio Astronomy Observatory, and Wilbur J. Lindsay, the observatory's engineering manager.

BOUNCED BACK

Haddock and Lindsay explaned these low-frequency stellar radio emissions are kept from reaching the earth surface because they are bounced back into space by the electrically charged ionosphere.

The logical solution was to station an antenna outside the ionosphere—in orbit—to catch these signals, they said.

* * *

The large size is necessary for fine focusing, because antenna size is related to frequency, Haddock and Lindsay said.

The central satellite will contain electronic gear for the receiver and for telemetering equipment plus an elaborate control system and an astronomical data processing system Haddock said. All systems will be linked by a computer, he added.

SPIN AROUND

The entire system would spin in its plane around the central satellite once an hour to assist in scanning the sky and to stabilize the entire structure, he added.

Tiny rockets in the subsatellites will spread out the net after launch, and will also help to stabilize the system.

The system would collect data for two or three years, Haddock said.

Spotlight on Uncertainties

Market Awaits Budget

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

DAWSON

NEW YORK — The stock market, having taken the rise in interest rates in stride, now is concentrating on the next big cliffhanger — the federal budget.

The political battle over the Federal Reserve Board's hiking its interest charges puts the uncertainties veiling the budget even more in the spotlight. How higher interest rates and the new budget will live together is a moot question. The debate will get hotter.

* * *

But the biggest current question in the eyes of stock traders is how the budget, when unveiled next month, will divide federal spending between Viet Nam war needs and the many programs to carry on the march toward the "Great Society."

And the stock market would like to know the answers — ahead of time, if possible. The allocation of funds could affect many individual corporations — and the price of their stocks — as well as the trend of the economy in general in a period which many see as touchy and critical.

TO SPEND MORE

That the government will be spending more next year is taken for granted. The tantalizing questions just now are what, if any, civilian programs may be curtailed, or postponed because of the increased costs of the military efforts in Southeast Asia. Just how the larger defense spending will show up in orders for various industries, and individual corporations, will be awaited impatiently in Wall Street.

The stock market seems to have accepted the Federal Reserve Board's contention that increased interest rates won't reverse the upward trend of business and consumer spending, only hold it in moderate limits.

* * *

But Wall Street doesn't write off the political effects of the Fed's difference of opinion with the White House over the need for a monetary check rein on the business expansion now.

Nor does it escape notice that the Federal Reserve Board itself was closely split on the decision to raise rates. Minority members are on record as believing that the increase should have awaited more definite word on what shape the federal budget would finally take.

NEW MEMBER

President Johnson can appoint a new member to the board next month. And he could name an easy money man more attuned to the President's own views to succeed a conservative member whose term of office is expiring.

Bankers have been quick to insist that the higher interest rates won't cause many corporations to change their expansion plans, nor many consumers to abandon intentions to buy goods on time. What stock traders want to know is which corporations will lower their sights, and what consumer goods will be affected, if any.

* * *

Traders are also curious about both the size of the upcoming budget and the manner in which it will be financed. If government spending rises, will that mean more government securities being offered on the money markets — at the new higher interest rates? Or will it mean holding down the Treasury deficit by raising some taxes — and which ones?

The market has this period of budget uncertainty every December. This time, the questions are bigger and the interest rate hike makes the reactions harder to predict.

Q) "I am 65-years-old and live on my pension and Social Security. I have 400 shares of Mesabi Trust and am anxious to sell this stock. I am completely alone and have $10,000 in savings. My cousins have two marvelous boys in Israel and I would be particularly happy if I could help to put them through college. I would then feel that I had really accomplished something, since these boys are very gifted. What do you advise?" S.R.

A) Mesabi has made no real price progress since it was organized as a trust in 1961, and for your purpose it should be sold. What you require is not income but very powerful growth over the next few years.

I believe you should take $5,000 from savings and add it to the $6,000 proceeds from Mesabi. I would invest $11,000 in equal dollar amounts of Avon Products; American Hospital Supply; Campbell Soup and FMC Corp. These stocks have been showing strong earnings expansion, which should continue and enhance your capital for the very objective you seek.

* * *

Q) "My wife and I are both 65. We are considering selling 300 Bethlehem Steel; 200 National Distillers; 200 Continental Airlines; 100 Lorillard; 200 Tekronix; 80 Chrysler — our entire stock holdings. We could buy a joint and survivorship annuity for $25,000 paying $142 a month. What about these stocks if inflation gets worse?" G.H.

A) Most of your stocks seem unlikely to increase in value sufficiently to offer inflation protection. In your position, I would sell all but Tektronix and Continental Airlines. These two, in my opinion, will continue to enhance in earnings and price over the years ahead and afford you protection against inflation. Sale of remaining issues should provide sufficient cash for your annuity.

Highly Mobile NATO Unit Being Suggested by U.S.

PARIS (UPI) — The United States is pushing a plan to create a crack, highly mobile allied force to deal swiftly with "brushfire" emergencies in Europe, U.S. sources said today.

* * *

They said Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara may introduce the plan at the current Paris meeting of ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Britain is known to support it.

McNamara also was expected to urge the allies to reach early agreement on NATO's military goals for the next five years.

Discussions on the size of the force have been going on for some time, but no agreement has been reached yet.

* * *

The three-day NATO meeting started yesterday. Defense was scheduled as the main topic today.

MOBILE FORCE

American sources said the McNamara plan would involve a buildup of the existing 3,000-man NATO mobile force created to deal with emergencies on the alliance's northern and southeastern flanks.

They said the McNamara plan calls for a force capable of dealing with "brush fire" situations anywhere in the NATO area.

This would mean the force would have to be entirely self-contained, with its own logistic and air support. Existing mobile units are dependent on national air forces for ferrying troops to northern Norway or Turkey in case of acute emergency.

* * *

LARGER SHARE

The McNamara proposal was said to be part of an over-all plan to have U.S. allies take over a larger share of western defenses in Europe.

Last night, the council wound up its general review of the state of the NATO alliance.

The review was highlighted by a hard-hitting speech by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who said the war the United States is fighting in Viet Nam is as much an allied war as it is an American war.

* * *

Rusk said the United States will miss no opportunity to go to the peace table. But he reiterated the United States will not back down either.

American officials said later there was no open debate on Rusk's speech, but that the general tone of comments sounded favorable.

Prof Views Hike in Discount Rate

EAST LANSING (AP) — A visiting professor at Michigan State University says the Federal Reserve Board's raise in the discount rate will have just a moderate effect on interest charges for loan seekers.

* * *

Dr. Karl Brunner said Tuesday the board's most important influence on the economy will be its policies involving buying and selling government securities.

* * *

Purchases of securities puts more money into the nation's monetary system. Sales do the opposite.

Rattler Bites Fail to Rattle Aged Terrier

OKAHUMPKA, Fla. (AP) —A 13-year-old terrier is still alive although she has been bitten by rattlesnakes six times.

From puppyhood, Tippy, the terrier, has seemed to attract poisonous snakes . . . and usually she gets a dose of venom.

Tippy lives with the J. B. Tyre family. But she's the special property of son Glenn, a senior at the University of Georgia.

* * *

Tippy has a "snake bark" which the family has come to recognize when she's been bitten. She seems to know what is necessary for her recovery.

Even though the dog usually doesn't like to ride in automobiles, she jumps in eagerly after a rattlesnake bite. When the family car arrives at the veterinarian's door, Tippy whines to get in.

Fugitive Finds Freedom Full of Calamities

IONIA (AP)—A series of misadventures capped by a night spent hiding in a police officer's home preceded John Stubblefield's return to the Ionia Reformatory today.

Suffering from frostbitten feet and a broken finger, Stubblefield, 21, of Flint, said he fell into the Grand River Sunday night shortly after his escape. After that, he fell into an Ionia sewage project, he said.

* * *

Stubblefield said he spent a night hiding on the Ionia fairgrounds, one night in the garage of an Ionia family and another night in the basement of Ionia policeman Robert Cusack.

He was taken into custody shortly after dawn today when he was seen walking across the back yard of another local resident.

* * *

Stubblefield is serving 8-20 years for an armed robbery in Genesee County.

Two fellow escapers were apprehended shortly after their escape.

Back Lawyer for Dem Post

The Oakland County Democratic Committee last night endorsed an Oak Park lawyer to fill the position of treasurer for the Democratic Party in Michigan.

The full support of the committee went to Stuart Hertzberg, state finance chairman for the party.

His present job is basically one of raising funds.

The treasurer's position was recently vacated by the resignation of Charles Rosetta.

His replacement is expected to be made by the State Central Committee in Lansing at its meeting Jan. 9.

Doctor Fails to Save Son From Death

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "We lost the heart beat during the ambulance ride," said a Dallas physician who had opened his son's chest and massaged the youth's heart back to life in a futile medical battle Tuesday.

Louis Smith, 19, a freshman music student at North Texas State University, died at a hospital seven hours after the emergency operation in his home.

* * *

Dr. Louis S. Smith, a pathologist, said a sixth sense caused him to check the condition of his son about 1:30 a.m. The youth had come home from school with a cold and bronchitis.

"I walked into his room, checked his pulse and his heart had stopped beating. I tried to massage it externally, but that did not bring him back.

CUT OUT HEART

"I cut his chest with a razor and took his heart in my hand. I began to massage it," Smith said.

Another son Richard, 17, gave mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while Mrs. Smith called for an ambulance and firemen.

* * *

The massaging and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation continued during the ride to the hospital, Smith said, but "he got worse during the trip.

AT HOSPITAL

Other doctors relieved Smith at the hospital.

"My hand was about dead then — I had been working his heart for about 40 minutes."

U-M Contests Hutchinson Act

Asks Bargaining Not Apply to University

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan filed suit in Washtenaw County Circuit Court today asking that the Hutchinson Act — which allows collective bargaining by public employes — be declared unconstitutional as it applies to the university.

* * *

In its suit, the university contended that under the Michigan Constitution general supervision of the university and the control of its funds are vested solely and exclusively in the Board of Regents.

* * *

The university maintained its relationship with its employes, including their wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment, are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the regents and are not the responsibility of the Legislature or any officer or board of the state.

University officials first raised the constitutionality question last August and requested that the State Labor Mediation Board adjourn hearings set for consideration of petitions filed by several labor unions for recognition as bargaining representatives.

OLD PRACTICE

Today' saction, said university administrators, was in keeping with a long-standing practice by the U-M, to ask courts to render opinions concerning the application of legislative acts to university operations.

They said that such legal opinions stressing the constitutional duties and responsibilities of the regents have been rendered by the courts for more than 100 years.

* * *

The Hutchinson Act, as amended last June, provides that a union or unions may petition the mediation board for certification as the exclusive representative of an appropriate unit of public employes for purposes of collective bargaining on wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

University administrators said representation procedures for the discussion of any matters of interest to unions have been in operation for several years.

* * *

The university, they said, also has provided a union dues checkoff and has a grievance procedure which gives every employe the right to select a representative—union or otherwise—to assist in the processing of a grievance or to resolve any problems that may arise.
