Hawks Hail Choice for McNamara Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading congressional hawks have cheered President Johnson's choice of Clark M. Clifford, long-time White House adviser and highpowered Washington lawyer, to become secretary of defense.

Leading doves also were friendly or noncommittal, at least until Clifford's views on prosecuting the Vietnam war come into sharper focus. This may develop at Senate confirmation hearings, expected soon.

Johnson announced yesterday his nomination of the 61-year-old Clifford — "a very wise and prudent counselor to many presidents" — to replace Robert S. McNamara as head of the enormous Defense Department.

Assuming Senate approval, Clifford will take over from McNamara before March 1. Then McNamara, the record holder in time served with seven years as defense chief, will move on to become president of the World Bank — a move announced about two months ago.

Meeting newsmen a few hours after Johnson's action, Clifford refused to place himself on either the hawk or dove side of the Vietnam question.

"I am not conscious of falling under any of those ornithological divisions," said the tall, handsome Clifford to reporters probing for his position.

However, Clifford is regarded in knowledgeable quarters as a hard-liner on the war. Some sources said he has opposed any extended bombing pauses as a means of encouraging the North Vietnamese to talk peace.

His advice to Johnson is believed to have weighed at least as heavily as McNamara's in some of the major decisions of the war, sources said.

The President said Clifford "has been a counselor on most of the important decisions made in the international fields, from defense strength, to weapons, to actions . . ."

Clifford has served Johnson as chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, the Foreign Relations Advisory Board, and on special missions such as a tour of Southeast Asian and Pacific nations last summer to try and drum up more allied troop support for the war. That mission was rated a partial success.

Before Johnson, Clifford served Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy in varying capacities.

Teachers Ratify '68 Wage Pact in Birmingham

Birmingham teachers last night approved a wage contract for the 1967-68 school year by a 5-1 margin.

The ratification by the teachers and the expected ratification by the board of education at a special board meeting Monday night would end a contract dispute which began last March.

Teachers in the school district were ordered back to their schools by court injunction Sept. 18. They have been teaching under that injunction since.

The vote last night was 576 to 110 for approving the contract. Negotiators of the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) and the board of education had reached agreement Tuesday after a 12-hour bargaining session.

According to Walter Piel, administrative assistant to the superintendent, the contract will give teachers an across the board increase of $480 per year.

The salary increases will cost the district about $442,000 with another $58,000 to be spent on additional fringe benefits and supplemental pay, Piel said.

The contract calls for new negotiations on the salary schedule for the 1968-69 school year. Fringes and supplemental pay will not be negotiable for that period, however, Piel said.

A tentative contract had been reached by negotiators in November but teachers turned down that 2-year contract 550-120.

★ ★ ★

It would have made the second year salary contingent on results of a millage election.

PAY SCHEDULE

The schedule calls for a BA minimum of $6,300 and a maximum of $10,375; an MA minimum of $6,800 and a maximum $11,500. A PhD degree calls for $7,600 starting pay and a maximum of $12,550.

★ ★ ★

The contract calls for both bargaining parties to withdraw pending legal and quasi-legal actions, including an unfair labor practice suit by the BEA, the seeking of sanctions by the BEA against the school district and a court action sought by the board against the teachers.

Lawman Killed Chasing Kansas Bank Robbers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A man charged with bank robbery and the murder of a Kansas highway patrolman was under guard in a hospital today while officers pressed a search for a second gunman.

MILLER

Sgt. Eldon Miller, 48, the first Kansas patrolman to die by gunfire, was killed by a carbine bullet that crashed through the windshield of his patrol car and struck him between the eyes yesterday during a gun battle.

Henry Floyd Brown, 38, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was wounded in the 15-minute battle at a two-story apartment building an hour after the Metcalf State Bank in suburban Overland Park was robbed by two men.

Police surrounded the building and fired back from two sides, after taking a woman and her child from an apartment across the hall.

Police recovered $13,100 from Brown's apartment.

PAIR CHARGED

James W. Bouska, Johnson County attorney, filed bank robbery and murder charges against Brown and a man identified as Bud Jackson, 45.

Police said Jackson escaped on foot from the scene of the shooting.

Two robbers, with theatrical make-up on their faces and carrying carbines, entered the bank, walked down a corridor to the drive-in window and forced two men in the cage to hand over the money.

Cooking School Tidbit: Fashion

Four fashion shows by local stores will be given at intermission time during the ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school Jan. 22-25.

Between the cooking demonstrations, the following stores will present the latest styles: R-B Shops, Monday evening; Alvin's at both shows on Tuesday and Bloomfield Fashion Shop Thursday evening. At present, there are no fashion shows Wednesday.

Those who plan to attend are reminded to use the east entrance of Pontiac Central High School. Doors open at 12:30 and 6:30 p.m.

There are no more tickets for any session.

★ ★ ★

Any seats vacant five minutes before the shows begin will be given to those who come without tickets. They will have the same opportunity to win prizes as those with tickets.

No employe of The Pontiac Press or member of an employe's family is eligible to win a prize. Winners must be 18 years of age.

Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson of Consumers Power Company will be presenting the food demonstrations.

Envoy Vies in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Eugene M. Locke, deputy ambassador to South Vietnam, announced today as a Democratic candidate for nomination as Texas Governor. The White House formally announced this morning that Locke had resigned his Vietnam post.

Kuhn to Offer Tax Revision

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, said yesterday he will introduce legislation to boost the city income tax limit by 1 per cent and eliminate such taxes on nonresidents.

★ ★ ★

Kuhn make the comment in a letter to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, who asked the Legislature for additional financial resources for his city.

"Specifically," Kuhn said, "I am proposing that the city income tax limitation be raised from 1 per cent to 2 per cent as a maximum ceiling.

"However, to increase this tax by either ½ or 1 per cent up to the 2 per cent ceiling would require approval by a majority of the voters at any regular or special election," he added.

Kuhn said he intends to "attempt to meet the financial needs of local governments subject to voter approval of any tax increases."

'WOULD RESPOND'

"If the financial need is realistic and sound, I am confident that the citizens of your city or any other city would respond favorably to such requests," he told Cavanagh.

★ ★ ★

The Uniform City Income Tax Act of 1963 presently limits city income taxes to 1 per cent on residents and ½ per cent on nonresidents.

★ ★ ★

Kuhn is a former chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee, a group of suburban Detroit officials opposing Detroit's city income tax.

40,000 to Get Serum in Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Driving rain, hail, snow and spreading diseases kept Sicily in a nightmarish state today as more than 40,000 refugees huddled in soggy tent camps or waited in the hills for rescuers.

An emergency program of antityphoid injections was begun, and other innoculations were stepped up amid outbreaks of scarlet fever, chicken pox, whooping cough, bronchitis, dysentery and pneumonia. Two deaths were reported from exposure.

Trudging through the debris of what was the town of Gibellina, Italian Premier Aldo Moro told hungry, bedraggled refugees: "My poor people, whatever we can do will be done."

Italian newspapers wrote bitter editorials to deplore what they termed the government's chronic inability to manage relief work efficiently. They reported chaotic tieups of relief supplies because of bungling and red tape.

Already dispirited and depressed, the refugees were battered by violent thundershowers driven by strong winds. The rain drenched loaves of bread going to seven giant tent camps. Howling winds turned back helicopters trying to fly in rations, medicine and blood plasma. Flashes of lightning lit the sky, and the sea crashed against jetties and docks with a storm force of seven on a nine-point scale.

15,000 LEAVING

An estimated 15,000 persons streamed out of Sicily to Italy.

While the hunt for survivors was over, the search for the dead went on. The number of bodies so far recovered totalled 190, with only a fraction of the ruins sifted. Officials fear the final death toll will be close to 400.

Weekend Outlook Is Sunny and Mild

Old Man Winter will be on vacation over the weekend, while sunshine and temperatures — just like spring — take over.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports the following day-by-day forecast for the Pontiac-Oakland County area:

TODAY—Sunny and mild. High 40 to 45. Mostly fair and continued rather mild tonight. Low 25 to 30. Southwest to west winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

★ ★ ★

TOMORROW—Mostly fair and continued rather mild.

MONDAY—Continued sunny and mild. Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: near zero today, tonight and tomorrow 10.

A brisk 28 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 42 by 2:00 p.m.

Southwest Jolted by Buried N-Test

HOT CREEK VALLEY, Nev. (AP) — The apparently unexpected force of an underground nuclear test explosion yesterday hit college seismographs 1,700 miles away with the intensity of an earthquake.

The blast registered 6.25 on the Richter scale, or equal to a fairly strong earthquake, on seismographs at Spring Hill College, in Mobile, Ala., 1,700 miles away.

In Eureka, Calif., about 700 miles away, residents reported "a gentle ground roll" was felt. The explosion, unleashing energy equivalent to nearly a million tons of TNT, was touched off 3,200 feet beneath the surface of Hot Creek Valley in central Nevada in an experiment to see if even more powerful tests could be conducted in the area.

An announcement Jan. 8 said "ground motion will probably be felt at least as far as 75 to 100 miles from the detonation."

★ ★ ★

An inspection by helicopter of Moore's Station, 5 miles from ground zero, revealed no visible damage yesterday. But the AEC said it was investigating reports that windows in the Ely High School building 90 miles away were cracked by the tremor, and that plaster in the old Brown Hotel at Eureka, Nev., 70 miles away, had been cracked.

PAVEMENT CRACKS

Minor cracks were found in the pavement on bridges on U.S. 6 within 12 miles of the blast.

The AEC exploded the device, as part of a program to find an area in which to conduct nuclear detonations more powerful than can be conducted on its permanent Nevada test site near Las Vegas.

Seismic and technical data from yesterday's blast will be studied, the AEC said, to see whether the Hot Creek Valley is the area it is looking for.

Heart Transfer Patient 'Grave'

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Mike Kasperak, the heart transplant patient who has undergone a third intestinal operation in less than a week, is in "extremely grave" condition today, doctors say.

Doctors at Stanford University Medical Center expressed concern about the possibility of "infectious influences" attacking the weakened system of the world's fourth human heart transplant patient.

A medical bulletin last night, four hours after the removal of the 54-year-old retired steelworker's spleen, said the heart transplanted Jan. 6 was functioning normally despite the stress of disease and multiple surgery in other areas.

The patient's blood pressure was reported to be stable and doctors said the operation stopped bleeding from an ulcer high in the stomach.

★ ★ ★

In a series of operations stemming from liver disease and internal hemorrhaging, Kasperak's gall bladder was removed last Sunday. On Thursday, a resumption of gastrointestinal bleeding required another operation.

LIVER MALFUNCTION

Interruption of the liver functions occurred again yesterday along with additional heavy loss of blood.

The spleen was removed to head off a decrease in the platelets, a blood clotting factor, and prevent further bleeding.

With each operation, the heart patient received massive blood transfusions, one virtually changing his entire supply in an effort to remove impurities.

★ ★ ★

Job Outlook Favorable in State

LANSING — A forecast of the employment future for Michigan to 1980 has been completed by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

The forecasts cover the 32 major industry classifications and are based on 12 multicounty economic and planning regions in the state.

The over-all employment picture for Michigan through 1980 is favorable although the report does illuminate several problem areas.

Total employment in Michigan is forecast to rise from 2.7 million in 1960 to 3.96 million in 1980, an employment growth of 44 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The report anticipates that the historical trend of faster economic and employment growth in the southern half of Michigan's lower peninsula will continue through 1980. This configuration of growth is expected to continue over the 20 year period 1960 to 1980.

TO EXCEED AVERAGE

The four regions where employment growth is expected to exceed the state average during this period are Region 6 (Lansing metropolitan area) 64 per cent; Region 3 (Kalamazoo area) 56 per cent; Region 2 (Jackson area) 51 per cent; and Region 1 (7-county Detroit metropolitan area) 47 per cent.

According to the study, the emergence of the "human resources era" in Michigan and the nation will have a profound effect on Michigan's future industrial composition.

Professional services, public administration, finance, recreation, trade and business services will be the rapidly growing fields of economic opportunity over the next two decades.

★ ★ ★

The study indicates that despite the expected rapid growth of employment opportunity in the service industries, manufacturing will remain the fundamental base of the economic structure in the state. However, while manufacturing employment is estimated to increase from 1.03 million in 1960 to 1.15 million in 1980, within manufacturing, the motor vehicle industry will remain Michigan's leading industry.

CLIMB PREDICTED

National motor vehicle production is predicted to climb to 14.6 million units in 1980 or 85 per cent above the 7.9 million produced in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's employment in this industry is projected to rise from 377,000 in 1960 to 474,000 in 1980 or 26 per cent.

Big Growth Seen for County

Total employment in Economic Region I (the 7-county Detroit metropolitan area), which includes Oakland County, is expected to increase from 1.48 million in 1960 to 2.17 million in 1980 . . . an employment growth of 689,785 or 47 per cent, slightly faster than state average.

Within this region, the most explosive employment growth is expected to develop in Washtenaw, Macomb, Monroe and Oakland counties.

The employment forecasts for the greater Detroit area clearly illustrate the expected future service orientation of Detroit's employment. The most rapidly expanding industry sector in the Detroit region, according to the study, will be medical and other professional services.

This sector is expected to increase in the Detroit region by 147 per cent between 1960 and 1980 . . . from 177,232 in 1960 to 439,000 in 1980, a gain of 260,000.

Growth in the professional sector of the economy will also present a challenge to our instruments of social change, such as education and other advanced training facilities.

Other industry sectors that can expect above-average employment gains during this period in the Detroit region are: contract construction, 31,000 or 51 per cent; wholesale trade, 26,000 or 57 per cent; other retail trade, 78,000 or 57 per cent; finance, insurance, and real estate, 43,000 or 79 per cent; business and repair services, 21,000 or 55 per cent and public administration, 47,000 or 88 per cent.

Wash-Up Time Issue Threatens GM With a National Shutdown

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union says strikes at three General Motors foundries could lead to a national shutdown of the top U.S. auto maker within a week or 10 days because GM refuses to recognize a union demand for six minutes of wash-up time.

Bogged-down local negotiations have resulted in strikes at a general foundry at Defiance, Ohio, and Chevrolet foundries at Saginaw, Mich., and Tonawanda, N.Y., which have 11,200 workers.

★ ★ ★

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department, said the major drawback in reaching at-the-plant agreements has been the company's refusal to grant a six-minute, prelunch wash-up period at foundries. The local agreements supplement the national contract ratified by GM's 355,000 workers last month.

Workers of other GM foundries at Saginaw, Danville, Ill., and Bedford, Ind., abandoned the wash-up demands and settled.

'PARTS SHORTAGES'

Parts shortages from the Saginaw foundry were blamed by the company for the layoff of 5,800 workers at two Chevrolet engine plants in Flint.

Woodcock told newsmen similar company-paid wash-up periods have been granted at nonfoundry facilities run by GM.

"If this is not resolved," he added, "and these foundries stay struck, the corporation will be essentially paralyzed," with some 300,000 workers on the streets in seven to 10 days.

Blast, Fire Kill 2 at Holland Oil Refinery

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — An explosion set off a fire that spread over 15 acres at the Shell Oil Co. refinery here today, killing two persons and injuring about 60. One other person was reported missing.

The blast at 4:30 a.m. smashed widows in thousands of homes in nearby Hoogvliet, where thousands of refinery workers live, and in Vlaardingen across the Rotterdam waterway. Shipping in the new channel between the North Sea and the Rotterdam area was halted for two hours.

★ ★ ★

About six hours after the explosion firemen had the fire under control and reported there was no danger of its spreading.

Flames shot up 300 feet from 15 oil tanks and a number of small buildings.

A spokesman for Shell said damage would run into many millions of guilders. The U.S. dollar is worth 3.60 guilders.

About 600 men were at work at the refinery when the explosion occurred in one of the processing plants.

Home Looted in Shelby Twp.

Shelby Township police are looking for thieves who broke into a home last night and carted off several thousand dollars worth of furs, diamonds and other goods.

★ ★ ★

Officers believe the home of Alexander Paradzinski of 51028 Baltree was broken into shortly before 8:30 p.m.

The Paradzinskis were out earlier in the evening and arrived home about 8:30 to find the house ransacked.

Officers said the burglars forced open a sliding-glass patio door.

★ ★ ★

Missing are a full-length mink coat, a diamond cross pin and a full diamond lady's wristwatch, plus several smaller diamonds, assorted furs, sweaters, shirts, a camera and bottles of liquor.

Judge Nixes Higher Bond in Kidnaping

Oakland County Prsoecutor S. Jerome Bronson lost his bid yesterday to raise the bond of a Berkley man charged with kidnaping, molesting and assaulting two children a week ago.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts rejected Bronson's petition for a $23,000 increase in the bond set for Byron Lee Hoffmeister by Berkley Municipal Judge Theodore F. Hughes.

Hoffmeister, 20, is free on $2,000 bond pending his preliminary examination Thursday.

The charges stem from the accosting of a 6-year-old Berkley girl and her 8-year-old brother.

★ ★ ★

In testifying at the hearing on Bronson's petition, Hughes said the only purpose of bond is to guarantee that the defendant would appear in court.

Hughes said that $2,000 bond was adequate in Hoffmeister's case and that the $25,000 bond requested by Bronson would have been unreasonable.

Student Dies Saving Friend in School Fire

HORSHAM, England (AP) — An Indian schoolboy died helping a friend to safety today in a fire that ravaged an expensive boarding school in the Sussex countryside.

Police said all but one of 67 boys sleeping in school dormitories were saved. Five firemen were injured fighting the six-hour blaze.

"The heroic Indian boy was helping his friend to escape when suddenly the floor collapsed under him and he disappeared," one fireman said. The young victim's name was withheld while police traced his father, living overseas.

All the other boys got away by fire escapes after the blaze began raging through Newells Preparatory School near this market town. It apparently started in a basement, police said.

Term Is 1 Year in Dixie Slaying

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — An all-white jury has sentenced a 22-year-old Selma white man to 12 months in jail for the killing of a Negro farm worker.

A Circuit Court jury found Bernard Steward, a heavy-equipment operator, guilty Friday of second degree manslaughter in the killing of John Arthur Langdon.

Langdon, died after being shot once with a .22-caliber magnum rifle on a dirt road south of Selma last Nov. 5.

Steward was one of three white men charged with murder in the killing. The jury deliberated for more than 13 hours before convicting him on the lesser charge.

The trials of Donald E. Meeks, 22, and James J. Reeves, 26, were not scheduled for this term of Circuit Court.

Steward testified during the two-day trial that the shooting was accidental. He said Langdon staggered in front of the pick-up truck in which the three were riding, then attempted to force his way into the truck.

Mental Health Setup Loses 2nd Official

Another leading figure in the Oakland County health program has announced his resignation—the second since the year began.

Dr. Donal L. White, assistant psychiatric director, told the Mental Health Services board yesterday he was quitting to take a post in Tuscon, Ariz.

On Jan. 2, Dr. Robert E. Walden, director of county programs, quit after a long controversy. Dr. White and John Madole, administrative board officer, had been coleaders of the program in the absence of a director.

The board announced that a search is being carried on to fill both positions.

★ ★ ★

The board also is lacking a director for the Oakland Training Institute (OTI) in Berkley, once the center of considerable conflict.

TURNED IN RESIGNATIONS

Last December 10 out of 12 of the staff members turned in resignations claiming poor leadership and lack of communications.

They have since been mollified by changes in board policy and participants in yesterday's meeting reported all is going well there.

The board adopted a motion to appoint a program coordinator instead of a new director at OTI.

★ ★ ★

The institute trains some 40 mentally retarded children. In the same building, a mental health program of the Oakland County Schools is in effect, with about 90 pupils attending.

Halt in Bombing Is Urged by 15 Yanks Visiting Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Fifteen prominent Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish religious leaders, here to survey the Vietnam war, today urged President Johnson to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalate the ground war in the South

★ ★ ★

The group also said Americans could not in good conscience "promote justice at home and help to preserve quasi feudalism or the rule and wealth of the few abroad," apparently a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

The lay and clerical leaders are spending four days in South Vietnam as a stop on a world tour following the First Interreligious Symposium on Peace at New Delhi.

Among the signers of the group-statement were former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Pennsylvania, a frequent contender for the Republican presidential nomination; the Rev. Ralph Abernathy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Atlanta, Ga.; Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath of New York, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations; and Bishop John Wesley Lord, Methodist bishop of Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

The 15 said they "respectfully and urgently" asked President Johnson "to reevaluate present U.S. policy; to give serious consideration to an immediate halt, on moral and political if not military grounds, in the bombing of North Vietnam; to de-escalate the level of military action without immediate withdrawal; to be continually open to negotiations, including the use of the secretary-general of the United Nations, and to encourage strongly the non-Communist nationalist elements in South Vietnam seeking social reform and self-determination not in our way but in theirs."

Bomb Halt Line Drawn by Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — "If the Communists want a bombing pause, they must first stop their infiltration and all aggressive actions," President Nguyen Van Thieu was quoted today by the official Vietnam Press.

★ ★ ★

Vietnam Press said Thieu defined aggressive actions as including attacks on military posts and units, assassinations, kidnapings and other terrorist acts. Thieu spoke Friday at a reception at Independence Palace.

★ ★ ★

Thieu was quoted as saying: "There is no difference between the Vietnamese and American peace stands."

★ ★ ★

He added: "President Johnson's stand on a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam in his State of the Union message delivered last Jan. 18 was categorical and clear. President Johnson does not want the Communists to take advantage of the bombing pause to infiltrate weapons and personnel into the South."

News Briefs From Wires

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan regents voted yesterday to let residence halls set their own policies on visits by members of the opposite sex in dormitory rooms. Besides adopting a "hands-off" policy on dormitory visits between opposite sexes, the regents also voted to allow women students living in residence halls to be free of curfew rules if they have written permission from their parents to be out late. The regents made no mention of any method to determine whether students were submitting notes actually signed by their parents.

Senator Suffers Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John A. Pastore, D-R. I., remained in Bethesda Naval Hospital today for treatment of what members of his staff described as a mild heart attack.

Referendum Legality Hit

FLINT (AP) — A civil rights group yesterday challenged the legality of a referendum on an open-housing ordinance in Flint, saying such an election would amount to a vote on whether the city wants discrimination. Officials of the Flint chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People testified at a hearing in Genesee County Circuit Court on their lawsuit to prevent the referendum. Judge Anthony Mansour took the statements under advisement. The NAACP officials said that because discrimination is illegal a vote on whether to allow discrimination would be unconstitutional.

Colonel Is 'Admonished'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army says it has "admonished" a colonel and others involved in a request to lobbyists and wholesalers for free liquor to be used at a charity ball. The request for 372 fifths of liquor violated Army regulations, the service said yesterday. It added the solicition was withdrawn. The Army released a letter written by Col. J. B. Conmy, a battalion commander at nearby Ft. Meyer, Va., which had been sent out to the lobbyists and wholesalers.

Flint Sergeant Honored

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASS, Ill. (AP) — A 20-year-old pararescue specialist who volunteered three times to be lowered into the hostile jungles of Vietnam to search for downed airmen was named the Military Airlift Command's 1967 "Airman of the year" yesterday. Sgt. Duane D. Hackney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon D. Hackney of Flint, Mich., recently returned from Vietnam to receive the Air Force Cross in a ceremony at MAC headquarters at Scott AFB. Hackney was the first Air Force enlisted man awarded the nation's second-highest decoration to live to receive it.

Clams Inundate Beaches

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bulldozers, tractors and trucks worked from sunrise to sunset yesterday to remove millions of dead clams from a 22-mile stretch of southern New Jersey beaches. Strong underwater currents caused by churning northeast seas and high tides uprooted the clams from their beds several miles offshore and washed them ashore earlier this week. In some spots the clams were piled as high as two feet. There are acres of them out there for as far as the eye can see," said one worker.

British Laborites Oust 25

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party today expelled — at least temporarily — 25 members who rebelled by abstaining in a crucial vote of confidence in the House of Commons, qualified sources reported. Even without the rebels, votes, the Laborites easily won the motion Thursday night, approving Wilson's proposals for cuts in social welfare spending. The vote was 304-9 with the opposition Conservatives abstaining en masse. But the explusion underlined Wilson's determination to try to reassert his weakened authority over party followers.

Head of Michigan Week for County Is Appointed

BIRMINGHAM — Robert A. Bogan Jr., executive director of the Community House, 380 S. Bates, has been appointed Oakland County chairman for the 1967 Michigan Week celebration.

Announcement of the appointment was made by state Michigan Week Chairman Win Shieler and Regional Chairman Bruce Tope of Detroit.

Bogan, who chaired Birmingham's program last year, will coordinate activities in the county during the week, slated this year for May 19-25.

'If Romney Quits, Rocky Might Run'

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The brother of Nelson Rockefeller says the New York governor may change his mind and decide to run for the Republican presidential nomination, "if Romney drops out."

The brother, Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, was in Denver for a meeting Friday night of Santa Gertrudis Breeders International, of which he is president.

The Arkansas governor noted that his brother had been supporting the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney, and added:

"But now if Romney drops out, maybe Nelson will change his mind. He'd be in a hell of a shape if he was a politician and didn't change his mind."

When asked how his brother might be influenced to run, Winthrop commented, "Writing letters could be very effective."

Sen. Hill Will Retire – Paper

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Birmingham News reported today in a Washington dispatch that Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., is retiring from the Senate when his current term expires.

Hill's career in Washington has spanned almost 50 years. He has been a senator since 1938 and is chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The 73-year-old senator authored much of the public health legislation that is now law. He perhaps is best known nationally for his work in the health field, particularly as co-author of the Hill-Burton Act which provides funds for construction of hospitals and clinics.

"When my present term expires in January 1969," Hill said, "I will have served in the Senate for 31 years and in the House for 15 years. This makes a total of 46 years. I will be 74 years of age. It is with a deep sense of appreciation to my friends and supporters who have made this long service possible that I beg to say I will not be a candidate for reelection."

Peking Says U.S. Plane Shot Down

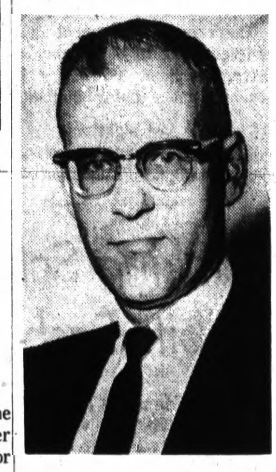

TOKYO (AP) — Radio Peking said Red China's air force shot down a pilotless U.S. reconnaissance plane today over Yunnan Province, which borders North Vietnam.

A Chinese-language broadcast said the downing of the aircraft was "a resolute punishment against the U.S. imperialist act of war provocation and a necessary warning against their plot of expanding the Vietnam war."

In commenting on his appointment, Bogan stated, "I am depending on the cooperation of each of our Oakland County municipalities to make this 15th annual Michigan Week celebration the best ever in Oakland County, and to help accomplish the three basic goals of Michigan Week, namely to give the citizens of Michigan greater knowledge and appreciation of their state; to promote the state's assets and resources for industry, business, education and recreation; and to foster a spirit of fellowship and cooperation among all people and communities in our state."

A bloodmobile will be at the Masonic Temple, 357 Woodward, Jan. 30 from 3-9 p.m. The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Center needs 350-400 pints daily for minimum requirements of local hospitals.

Blood may be credited to the account of the donor's choice.

DR. CHARLES R. SEMPERE

City Hospital Names Director

The immediate past chief of staff, Dr. Charles R. Sempere, has been appointed medical director of Pontiac General Hospital.

Salary for the part-time position is $15,000 annually.

Sempere was appointed by the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees. He succeeds the late Dr. Clifford T. Ekelund. The post has been vacant since Dr. Ekelund's death Oct. 22.

An obstetrician with offices at 35 S. Johnson, Sempere is a University of Michigan graduate.

He was chief of staff at Pontiac General during 1967. His residence is 1940 S. Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township.

Lunar Launch Set Monday Despite Snafu

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After some confusion resulting from a failure in a computer power supply, the space agency says it still hopes to launch its first Lunar Module Monday.

The confusion occurred Friday night when power in the ground-based computer failed just 20 minutes before the end of a two-day countdown rehearsal. Officials first said the launching of the Saturn 1 booster rocket would be postponed at least 48 hours, depending on correction of the problem and determination of how much of the practice countdown would have to be repeated.

★ ★ ★

Later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it would eliminate the remainder of the rehearsal and aim to pick up the 28-hour final count sometime Sunday.

The computer involved monitors systems and sends commands to the rocket.

NO REPETITION

The space agency said that no part of the rehearsal needed to be repeated because of confidence gained in launching earlier Saturn 1 rockets, all of them successful.

The Saturn 1 is to drill the Lunar Module into earth orbit. During a planned 6½ hour flight, the two engines of the unmanned craft will be fired to test their ability to land two astronauts on the moon and take them off.

Theater Review

Rights Play at OU Is a Shocker

By DON BRAUNAGEL

The Meadow Brook Theatre troupe plunged into chilling contemporary drama last night, and the audience felt the cold shock.

Previous productions paled as the John Fernald Company etched the vivid drama, "And People All Around," loosely based on the 1964 murders of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

George Sklar's play, produced only once before—in London, is gutsy, especially in its dialogue, and Meadow Brook codirectors John Broome and George Guidall have strengthened it by adding music and a minstrel-type chorus, narrating, interpreting and joining in the action.

These, combined with forceful lighting effects, intensify the message of the play, destined to linger with audiences long after the production's four-week run here.

★ ★ ★

Credit for the music, lyrics and arrangements belongs to Booker T. Bradshaw Jr., in his first appearance this season.

FINE VOICE

Singing in a fine voice and playing with a "knife guitar" technique (using a sharp edge on the neck of the instrument to get a mournful echo), he enhanced the irony of his lyrics, as in the opening number when "Three cheers for the red, white and blue" evolved into "Three cheers for the white."

Also returning to the troupe this season is Josh Bryant, who excellently portrayed the southerner with a conscience.

As a witness to the murders, he is torn by a moral dilemma: Try to forget the whole thing and settle back into a comfortable life or tell what he's seen and aid these "outside troublemakers" against his home town.

★ ★ ★

Codirector Guidall and Victor Holchak, as corrupt law officers, and Curt Dawson, as a sneering red-neck, sometimes seemed to be caricatures of evil, but the knowledge of what really happened in Mississippi in 1964 lends a terrible reality to their roles.

FRIGHTENINGLY REAL

Henry Thomas, in his Meadow Brook debut as head of a Klanlike group, was frighteningly real delivering a diatribe against integration.

Newcomer Pam Guest added beauty to the play, but as the wife of one of the murder victims, she failed to handle a crucial scene in which she is notified of her husband's death.

Patricia Carson, an Oakland University freshman from Pontiac in her first professional role, showed poise as a chorus member.

★ ★ ★

If Sklar's play has a weakness, it is that it is almost dated. The focus of the rights revolution has shifted from the marches of the South to the violence in the North.

But the message is clear for North and South. Josh Bryant represents all men of conscience. Do we ignore the battle for equality, now swirling around us, or do we get involved? The answer is the key to this country's future.

McCarthy Says Negro Is Victim of Colonialism in U.S.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — With scores of Negro open-housing marchers looking on, Sen. Eugene McCarthy has described U.S. Negroes as people caught in a "colonial nation living among us."

Members of the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People listened quietly as the Minnesota Democrat spoke Friday night to an overflow crowd at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

McCarthy's speech climaxed his first full day of formal campaigning for the Wisconsin presidential primary April 2. He is opposing President Johnson's Vietnam policies and has challenged him for the Democratic nomination.

Milwaukee Youth Council members have in the past often chanted Black Power slogans and disrupted meetings when they disagreed with what was being said or going on.

"These are people with us," said McCarthy of the nation's Negro population. "Geographically and naturally, they are part of the United States and we who carry the burden of guilt for our ancestors and have every obligation to respond to the needs and demands of these people.

"If we are to set priorities, and Vietnam is one, then it seems to me there is no question what is the priority at home."

McCarthy said, "The President has said we could wage two was and win them both. The fact is we're not waging two wars; we're waging one and we're not winning any."

The youth council has been demonstrating for 145 consecutive days in demand of an all-inclusive open-housing ordinance for Milwaukee. Tensions raised by the marches have led to sporatic violence.

"A colonial nation is living among us," said McCarthy. He referred to what he called Negro exploitation as evidenced by the traditional occupations that fall to Negroes in the United States. These, he said, were the same as those that fell to natives in colonial lands.

More than 1,000 persons jammed a ballroom for McCarthy's talk in which McCarthy accused the Johnson administration of abandoning traditional Democratic approaches in favor of policies laid down by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, a Republican.

"The dead hand of John Foster Dulles is being moved by a Democratic president," McCarthy said. "This kind of history we should not write."

The Milwaukee demonstrations, which started last summer, have included treks to the city's all-white South Side where demonstrators were greeted by thousands of whites throwing rocks and bottles. Police have used tear gas to break up some crowds.

3,545 AMC Cars Are Bought by GSA

DETROIT (AP)—The General Services Administration has signed a contract to purchase 3,545 cars from American Motors Corp., the company reported Friday.

William V. Luneburg, president of American Motors, said this was the second major government contract in the last nine months. Last May, AMC received a contract for 3,118 sedans for use by the Post Office Department.

Litterbugs Bug Highway Department

Don't let those fleecy white mounds of snow fool you. They're hiding some expensive dirt.

Not too many weeks from now that snow will melt away, unveiling tons of bottles, cans and other forms of litter along our roadsides.

It's a shocking fact, but the Michigan State Highway Commission spends hundreds of thousands of our tax dollars every year just to pick up after the many thoughtless citizens who litter our highways with debris.

How much did the commission spend on this task last year? Nearly $718,000!

That's $1,967 a day to pick up tons of roadside garbage, much of it discarded by litterbugs. According to HENRIK E. STAFSETH, acting state highway director, the cost for 1967 is about three times the amount spent six years ago.

"When we consider the additional cost to local highway departments on county, township and city roads, the total cost of picking up highway debris in Michigan could easily run 10 times the amount we spend," said STAFSETH.

The commission estimates that the cost of collecting six widely scattered bottles and the paper container they came in is three times the value of a full six-pack.

★ ★ ★

Litterbugs are becoming an expensive item for taxpayers. Maybe, along with all the safety items now being required for cars, we ought to require that every auto come complete with litter bag—and that people use them.

Naming Lunar Craters Seen Test of Ingenuity

The moon belongs to everyone. Not only does the song say so, but it's guaranteed by international treaty.

Thus the world shares a common problem—naming the thousands of new craters that have been, and remain to be, discovered on that rocky neighbor. Photographs by Russian and American spacecraft reveal there may be upwards of 100,000 craters on the hidden side of the moon.

In 1967, the Soviets petitioned the International Astronomical Union for approval of names it has given 150 craters. In keeping with modern international agreement, the names were those of deceased (Russian) scientists, dating back to the thermal engineer, P u l z u n o v, who flourished in the 18th century.

That still leaves a lot of craters and other lunar features unnamed, and one astronomer thinks we are going to run out of deceased scientists before we run out of moon.

Dr. I. M. LEVITT, director of the Fels Planetarium of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, recommends that the names of dead astronauts—both American and Russian—be accepted for lunar nomenclature. Later, living astronauts and other men associated with space exploration could be honored, as well as living scientists like SALK and SABIN who have performed outstanding services to mankind.

It sounds like a good idea, something like a celestial Nobel Prize, without the money. Our only suggestion is that just as the Nobel Prize is not limited to scientific achievement, neither should the lunar laurels.

Protesters Eat Dog Food to Beef Up Gripe

There wouldn't seem to be much left to demonstrate against, but 10 young people in Allentown, Pa., came up with something new. They picketed a dog food manufacturing plant to protest the fact that dogs in America are better fed than many people.

According to the report in Rodale's Health Bulletin, the demonstrators ate cans of dog food as they carried signs opposing the use of beef in dog food w h i l e entire nations are starving.

The demonstrators are to be commended for their compassion, which is exceeded only by their naivete.

The most starving nation in the world—India—has hundreds of millions of tons of beef walking around on the hoof that can't be touched because of a religious taboo.

Even assuming that India, or any other food-short nation, would even accept the kind of "beef products" that go into dog food, and ignoring the fact that only American generosity has kept and is keeping millions of people from starvation, the solution is not taking of food from the haves to give to the havenots.

It is to help these nations learn how to feed themselves and to control their runaway populations which, if unchecked, will eventually be able to eat up all the food several Americas could provide.

We don't tell these Allentown demonstrators to "cease and desist." We merely suggest to them that if dogs didn't eat dog-food, nobody else would either.

U.S. Merchant Fleet Is Outdated

By EVERETT M. DIRKSEN

What do we Americans want to do about the sad state of the out-of-date, lagging U n i t e d States merchant marine?

DIRKSEN

Here is a mighty country with p o w e r and richness u nsurpasse d, whose ports ship and receive goods and products to and from everywh e r e on the globe. You would t h i n k, then, that our merchant fleet would also be unsurpassed. Well, it is not.

During World War II it was the largest merchant fleet in the world. Where do you think we rank today in world ship construction?

The Soviet Union, Japan, Germany, G r e a t Britain, France, a m o n g others, are outsailing us and outbuilding us. We rank 14th as builders of ships.

When we were a new nation of 13 states, we were a truly maritime nation. Ocean commerce was brisk and our merchant sailing vessels navigated all of the Seven Seas.

When pirate ships and the ships of other nations harassed or attacked our oceangoing commerce, American fighting ships hunted them down and put an end to it and we were respected. Substantial shipyards developed along the eastern coast and the whole nation was enriched by o u r maritime success.

Now look at us. Although the operations of the various American oil companies in foreign fields are enormous and require a huge fleet of tankers, and although our Navy must be supplied wherever it may be, the American merchant fleet right now averages about 15 years of age per tanker.

It is the oldest tanker fleet in the world.

Of all the petroleum brought to the United States from the foreign oil areas of the world, U. S.-flag tankers carry only three per cent of the total. Our waterborne commerce has increased by 31 per cent or more in the last six years, but our ship capacity has increased by only four and one-half per cent.

There is an everlying reason for those melancholy facts and that is the matter of cost. It has been said that because of low labor costs abroad, three ships can be built in a foreign yard for the price of two in the United States.

The result is that enterprisers here at home can receive a subsidy from the federal government when they build vessels here that have installations of certain defense facilities. But only 13 v e s s e l s will be built in American shipyards this fiscal year. All of them must be subsidized.

There is the problem of the cost of operating American ships. By law our ships must hire a substantial percentage of American seamen.

★ ★ ★

Foreign-flag vessels, by and large, can sign on anybody available in the s e a m e n's market — Filipinos, Chinese, East Indian lascars — at lower wages and with lower living standards aboard ship. Their shipowners, therefore, c a n quote cheaper rates to shippers everywhere.

We must then ask ourselves if, in spite of such conditions of economics, we w a n t to maintain an American merchant marine that comports with the prestige and the commerce of this country.

Do we want to make certain that in time of international difficulty we will have an adequate m e r c h a n t marine? Should we use public funds to subsidize it?

The answer must be, indeed yes.

(The Carl Riblet Jr. Syndicate)

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Franciscan Sister Genevieve lives and works where her forefathers' teepees once stood. A Sioux Indian, she is dedicated to the present and future betterment of the lives of her people.

Born and raised on a reservation, she went to the Red Cloud Indian School, Holy Rosary Mission, at Pine Ridge, S.D. Three years after graduating from high school, she decided to become a nun, but had no money. Father Zimmerman at the Indian school made it possible for her to obtain a $200 scholarship and $500 loan so she could go to Briarcliff College in Sioux City, Iowa. She worked Saturdays at a dime store and cleaned and worked for her board at school, in addition to a summer job.

After two years of college she took a secretarial job to pay back the loan. In 1954, Sister Genevieve took her vows and prepared to teach. Each summer she goes back to college and has received two degrees—one in History and a Masters in Business Education. Sister Genevieve is now a Superior at St. Francis Mission. About teaching her people, she says: "They really need Indian sisters. As an Indian you know the children's background . . . you can feel what they feel. When they are having troubles you can see why."

Confident Living:

Fear Can Be Fought With Faith

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Life sometimes has a way of becoming frightening. It can indeed look pretty fierce. It s h a k e s its spear. It rattles its saber. It blows on you w i t h i c y breath. And you get frightened. S u r e, who doesn't?

DR. PEALE

A m a n requested an interview saying it was very urgent. And he told me, "I've got to admit I'm afraid. You see I have to go to the hospital tomorrow for an operation. They tell me I must have it right away."

★ ★ ★

"And is there really cause for alarm?" I asked.

"I don't k n o w the whole story," he said. "And neither do the doctors until they operate." He said no more. And I let it go at that.

You don't ask a man why he's scared. Not unless you see he wants to tell you more. You just let him know of your support. "Pray for me, will you?" he asked.

★ ★ ★

I felt moved to put my hand on his shoulder and could feel his body tremble. He was so frightened of what might be ahead he was shuddering inside but trying not to show it.

I felt plenty of empathy for the m a n's state of mind. "Look," I said, "do you believe that God is with you?"

"Yes, I guess I do." But he didn't sound at all sure.

"You've got to do more than guess you do," I told him. "The Bible gives us the assurance that God is with us always. The more we put our trust in God the more signs He gives of love and concern for us."

★ ★ ★

Suddenly the man's m i n d seemed strengthened and he said, "I do believe that God is with me — so I will not be afraid. Please continue to pray that I may have what it takes to go through this ordeal and not be afraid, whatever happens."

He had the operation and after a speedy recovery was soon back to work. Later he told me confidently, "I had a healing. I know I did. What I mean is, I was healed of the fear of what might be."

"What time I am afraid, I will trust in Thee" . . . says the 56th Psalm. If you will make that affirmation on your own you will find for a fact that you can overcome fear.

★ ★ ★

You will always have the necessary spiritual resources within you to fight fear. It takes r e a l fortitude a n d strength but you can do it.

There comes to mind a man in whom I sensed a high degree of fearlessness. He was a country workman — a rather short bowlegged fellow possessing great physical strength. When you shook hands with him it was like grasping the branch of some sturdy oak.

He was about as rugged a fellow as you can imagine. One day I asked, "H a r r y, have you ever been afraid of anything at all? You don't look like you'd scare very easily."

"You can't tell from looking at a man what goes on inside," he reminded me. "You bet your life I've been afraid. But I'm not scared of things any more. And the reason is I've got the five G's going for me."

★ ★ ★

"The f i v e G's," I asked, mystified, "what could they be?"

He grinned and replied, "G u i d a n c e, Grace, Guts, Gumption and God."

That is a good strong formula for overcoming fear, the five G's. Guidance: God will guide you in anything if you let Him. Grace: He will give you all the strength you need at all times — helping you when you can't help yourself. Guts: Plain d e t e r m i n e d courage.

★ ★ ★

Gumption: A good old American concept meaning initiative and s h r e w d common sense. And finally: the knowledge that God is with you always and forever. "What time I am afraid, I will trust in Thee."

Those five G's will help you be unafraid in any situation, any time, all the time.

Voice of the People:

Mother Has Problems Helping on 'New Math'

After sitting for two hours one evening and two hours the next morning with my fourth-grade daughter, begging, pleading, screaming, yelling, and a few tears on both our parts, I wonder if something can be done about the "new math." My daughter is a fourth grader and she can't multiply by more than one number and can't subtract if she has to borrow. She learned her math on a numberaid and can't do anything without making a bunch of marks on a piece of paper and counting them off.

I think the old-fashioned school where the teacher has the right to use the discipline that is needed in the classroom gave the children a chance to learn more. If the parents used a lot more discipline on their children at home we wouldn't need counselors to put them back on buses and could give a little more help in the old-fashioned 3 Rs.

'Glad to See Editorial on Gun Legislation'

The recent editorial in The Pontiac Press on firearm laws is the best, most intelligent approach and the most patriotic editorial I have seen in a newspaper. What you say is the truth and I am glad to see it in print where many can read it. Maybe they will start thinking.

When the public and government officials are being bombarded and harassed with clever lies purported to be for a good cause, when the actual intent is to destroy everything decent people have and want, I am glad to see a truthful editorial. Keep it up. Put in more like this one. Any intelligent, thinking person knows that these anti-gun laws are to help criminals and traitors.

How many taxpaying citizens have thought about how some side streets are kept up during the winter months? It is frightening to think this could get worse. I have called the City only to be told the main streets are being done and others will be done as soon as possible. I think all tax forms are sent out from City Hall at the same time regardless of where you live.

It seems I'm paying for services I'm not receiving. We do not get a decrease in our payments because we do not live on the main streets. Whoever makes the decisions on where, when and what streets to scrape should also give the side street taxpaying citizens a break. I may have a big surprise on my next tax bill—maybe a decrease in payment because I don't receive the services I should because I live on Howland between Luther and Fern, an unpaved side street.

MRS. H. L. WOODS

Agrees We Hear Too Much of Kennedy Clan

I agree with the letter signed Bob M. about the Kennedys on TV and radio. Why do we have to hear so much about the Kennedys? It seems there is too much said about the whole family. Who is our President now, Mr. Johnson or the Kennedy Clan? I guess money will do and get everything these days.

G. O. C.

Suggests We March Against Tax Proposals

Being overtaxed already, I believe in all this marching that's going on around us. We should do our part and march on the Capitol in Lansing on these tax proposals and bring a stop to further tax burdens. People of Michigan, let's have your views on this. Many of our tax dollars are not accounted for now.

W. E. HUBBARD
950 MUNGER, HOLLY

Two Letters Suggest Uses for Tax Money

Now we hear the cry about the badly needed schools. What are we who were not born with a silver spoon in our mouths supposed to exist on and keep our homes in repair? Let them take some of the city and state income tax money to build schools and leave out the plush linings. Perhaps laying off a few of the white collars would also help meet expenses.

PONTIAC RESIDENT and TAXPAYER

Since each of us is forced to donate ½ per cent of our wages to the City of Pontiac, please use our share of the revenue collected to finish paving over the river that recently divided in two the parking lot on Wayne and West Lawrence.

'Tax Increases Make Budget Cuts Necessary'

Because of Federal income taxes, Social Security taxes, State taxes, City taxes, property taxes, excise taxes, license fees, etc., we have found it necessary to give up beer, cigarettes, movies, steaks, magazines, entertaining, vacations, occasional dinners out, dry cleaning bills and adequate education for our children. Perhaps if I became a working wife and left the upbringing of my children to my neighbors, the teachers and the juvenile authorities, we would be able to vote for the school millage. But logic tells me this is nothing but a dead end.

L. KELLOGG

'We Must Restore Decency in America'

I believe the Communists are just waiting for our inside wars while we give aid and tolerate their actions year after year. Where do we start to restore some form of decency—a clean sweep in Washington or Lansing? Mr. Citizen will pay more than a paycheck if someone doesn't stop these conditions soon.

Question and Answer

Is it true the Mackinac Bridge is built so a dog traveling across it at a steady gait can throw it out of kilter, and it will come tumbling down like the Walls of Jericho?

MRS. HARVEY HASLOCK
DAVISBURG

REPLY

We thought this question was some sort of joke, but learned it is so common a misconception the Mackinac Bridge Authority has a prepared reply. See page A-12 for their answer.

Army Officer 'Retirement Syndrome' Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Army psychiatrist reports discovery of an emotionally upsetting "retirement syndrome" among commissioned career officers nearing check-out time — with lieutenant colonels the chief sufferers.

Being passed over for promotion for the last time—especially as regards lieutenant colonels failing to make full colonel before retirement—is a chief precipitating cause of the syndrome, said Dr. Barry R. Berkey. Syndrome symptoms include anxiety and depression.

Reporting in a medical journal on a study he made of an undisclosed number of such patients, Berkey said:

★ ★ ★

"Reaching the rank of full colonel or higher is generally accepted as having achieved success in a military career.

★ ★ ★

"Being not as good as the next man; having some inner defect; these were the feelings conveyed by officers who had failed to make higher rank."

Program Slated

The Oakland County Association for Retarded Children meets 8 p.m. Monday at the Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen. A program will be presented by the County Inter-Agency on Mental Retardation.

18 Months for Auto Insurance Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "major study" of automobile insurance called for by President Johnson is his State of the Union address is expected to last 18 months and cost $1.5-$2 million.

The inquiry rated only a few words in the President's message Wednesday night but some of the details have since been sketched in by government sources.

★ ★ ★

An official said Friday the administration feels a close look at the automobile insurance industry is warranted because a preliminary exploratory investigation turned up many abuses.

Among the shortcomings to be examined, he said, are lengthy delays in payment of claims, cancelling of policies without apparent cause or explanation to the policyholder, and questionable rate-setting practices.

Reading Dynamics Classes To Start Here Jan. 29—Average Graduate Reads 4.7 Times Faster Than Before

Institute Director's Editorial

By Frank Kowalik

As director of the Detroit Institute two of the questions I hear most often are: Who are some of the graduates and, what results can I expect?

Kowalik

The Evelyn Wood reading Dynamics course is serving people from all facets of life. Men, women, boys and girls of age 12 to 87 are taking the course. They are administrators, clerks, executives, salesmen, tradesmen, officers, housewives, students, accountants, lawyers, doctors, engineers, and educators—people from many occupations have learned this new reading skill — they now read dynamically.

To relate the results we can refer to the average Reading Dynamics graduate who is an independent reader now reading more than 1500 words per minute with equal or better comprehension. The speed of most untrained readers is between 200 and 400 words per minute.

The Detroit Institute is one of the 67 opened in the United States and we are elated to find that Detroit Metro area people have made our classes successful. When we opened the Detroit Institute we knew the Detroit area people would be interested in personal improvement in the specific direction of reading skills. The success of the classes proved this. In addition, we are pleased with the pre-registration enrollment for the January classes.

As part of Reading Dynamics I can assure you that we will endeavor to earn a proud position in the community and that we are obligated to those who have taken our course and to those who will take it.

Typical Classroom Scene

Dr. Gallup Cites Success

Dr. George Gallup, noted pollster and columnist, has cited not only Evelyn Wood's success in greatly increasing reading speeds, but also the far-reaching effect it can have on the rapidly expanding field of knowledge. "Apart from Mrs. Wood's success in demonstrating that reading speeds can be greatly increased," Dr. Gallup states in his book, "Miracle Ahead" (Harper & Row), "her experience suggests that the brain of man is able to absorb material at a far faster rate than anyone has imagined. Once this truth is accepted, the door will be opened for many experiments. In time, the method developed by Mrs. Wood, or similar ones, will gain acceptance in the schools and become the regular practice of the public. With an increase in reading speed, man has one way to cope with the ever-rising flow of knowledge."

Free Demonstrations Scheduled at Pontiac Mall Sunday, Monday and Tuesday

Residents of Oakland County and nearby areas will be able to find out at first hand beginning tomorrow how they can benefit from the amazing Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics course which teaches people to read three, five—even ten times faster with equal or better comprehention.

Free demonstrations of the course will be held tomorrow, Sunday and Monday at The Pontiac Mall Shopping Center in the Community Room.

These introductions to the Reading Dynamics course precede start of classes which will be offered in Pontiac for the first time.

Pontiac becomes the third city in the Detroit area to offer this remarkable course already completed by more than 1500 Detroiters from all walks of life, including many of the Oakland County residents who have attended Detroit classes.

Achievements of these people will be detailed among information presented at each of the demonstrations.

Those attending will also receive a full explanation of the Reading Dynamics course, highlighted by a feature film and a question-and-answer session.

Graduates of the institute in Detroit have achieved an average of 5.01 times increase in reading rate, considerably above the three times increase guaranteed in writing for all enrollees, and the 4.7 times national average increase.

Reservations are not necessary to attend any of the demonstrations. Each will last approximately one hour, and there is no obligation on the part of those who attend.

Nationally, there are now more than 400,000 Americans who have completed the Reading Dynamics course at 74 institutes since Mrs. Evelyn Wood, a former Utah school teacher, first offered her amazing course to the public.

SENATE LEADERS PRAISE TECHNIQUE

Sen. Proxmire, Wisconsin

"I must say that this is one of the most useful education experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experience I've had at Yale and Harvard."

Sen. Talmadge, Georgia

"It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and many go even higher.

OUR POLICY

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student by AT LEAST THREE TIMES with equal or better comprehension. We will refund the entire tuition of any student who does not triple his reading efficiency as measured by the beginning and subsequent tests, or the student may retake the course free of charge. A refund is conditional upon the student attending all classes or having made up missed sessions with the teacher. The student must also have practiced the required number of hours, following the assignment outlined by the teacher. Any student who must withdraw from the course for any reason may re-enter any subsequent courses at any future time, at no additional cost.

Mrs. Wood's Discovery Helps Many Read Faster

Faster reading and improved comprehension are stressed.

Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics is a discovery, not an invention. People have been reading rapidly for centuries. Samuel Johnson read as fast as he could turn pages, Boswell said. H. L. Mencken could read a 250-page book in an hour.

Mrs. Wood

Evelyn Wood made her discovery in 1945 when she was working on a master's degree at the University of Utah. One of her professors, Dr. C. Lowell Lees, read her 80-page thesis at a speed of 6,000 words per minute, she discovered as she watched him. And he marked the paper without having missed a detail.

Mrs. Wood knew an average college graduate reads between 250 and 350 words per minute. She began to wonder if she could attain a similar speed to her professor's.

In a two-year search for other exceptionally rapid readers, she found 50 people from all walks of life who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute.

Analyzing them, she found they shared these characteristics: 1) They read down a page, not just from left to right: 2) They read groups of words rather than one or two at a time and 3) they rarely reread a word or a paragraph because they did not understand it.

Mrs. Wood began to teach herself these principles. By the time she was able to read several thousand words per minute herself, she discovered she had developed a system for teaching others.

It took another 12 years before the system was fully developed, tested and proved. She opened her first Reading Dynamics Institute in Washington, D.C., in 1959. And in a short eight years, she has opened institutes in 60 more principal cities in the United States and Canada.

"We measure your current reading speed at the first class," she said. "Then we begin working with you. We are often able to double a student's reading speed the very first night. "Hearing the sound of a word as you read is one thing that slows you down. We begin with a technique which directs the words from the eye to the mind, bypassing the ear."

She said reading rates vary as to the nature and complexity of the material being read. The person whose reading skill is only 250 words per minute is likely to be mediocre at retaining anything he reads.

"In the final analysis," she said, "the rapid reader does not become a slave to speed but the slow reader is always a slave to slowness."

Reading Dynamics Hailed by Senators

Senators and congressmen have more to read than most citizens of the United States.

Mail from their constituents alone takes up a good part of their allotted reading time.

Evelyn Wood taught a class of senators and congressmen her Reading Dynamics methods a few years ago and had some fine success stories.

Sen. Proxmire

Sen. Talmadge

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D., Ga.) called his improvement "fantastic." He added that if Reading Dynamics was taught in the public and private schools of the country, "it would be the greatest single step we could take in educational progress."

"I must say that this was one of the most useful educational experiences I have ever had," said Sen. William Proxmire (D., Wis.). Before taking the course, Sen. Proxmire read 450 words per minute. Today he reads 2,500 to 3,500 words per minute.

Also listed among the more than 300,000 graduates of Reading Dynamics are 12 top level members of the White House staff of the late John F. Kennedy. Kennedy, a naturally fast reader with an estimated 1,200 words per minute, requested them to take the course.

Subsequently, his brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy (D., Mass.), and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, successfully completed the course.

Graduates Can Continue Study

All students who are graduated from Reading Dynamics Institute courses receive a "diploma," a handsome plastic embossed card which states that the bearer is "one of the world's fastest readers."

All graduates become lifetime members of Reading Dynamics and may continue to attend post-graduate sessions in Detroit or in any of the other 60 institutes (Milwaukee is the newest) in the world with no additional charge.

While Mrs. Wood has successfully taught children as young as nine to read faster and with equal or more comprehension, the minimum age in Detroit is usually 12.

There is no maximum age. In fact, retired people with more time to read find the sessions stimulating. The Evelyn Wood method has proved so successful that Reading Dynamics Institutes will refund full tuition to any student who does not at least triple his reading speed with equal or better comprehension by the end of the course.

The written refund policy is conditional only upon the student meeting class and study requirements. This policy applies even if the student has already completed another reading improvement course.

Course Praised by Graduates Here

By attending the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute, many Greater Detroiters have increased their reading efficiency at least three times what it was. Here are the comments of some of them:

Richard A. Wise GM Engineer

"I increased my reading efficiency 560% by attending the Institute, going from 526 words per minute to 2,950," said Wise, a specification engineer with the General Motors Corp. "I can now go through the mail, newspapers and other material much more rapidly and have more time for scientific reading."

Emmanuel L. Feinberg Executive

"I increased my reading efficiency 400%," said Feinberg, president of Thermalaire Engineering Co. "Of all the printed material that crosses my desk, only 5 to 10% is worthwhile. Since taking the course I have been able to quickly eliminate the nonusable matter and concentrate my efforts and time on the beneficial material."

Janet and Joyce Kaiser

"We cut down our homework by two hours," said the twins, graduates of East Detroit High School. "After taking the course we had much more time for school and social activities because we did not have to spend as much time on our homework."

Mrs. Sharen Owens Housewife

"Before learning the Institute's method, I read a novel a week, now I am reading five a week. It's wonderful to be able to read more for pleasure's sake and still have more time with my children and for social activities."

Henry J. Maicki

"Reading Dynamics is a 'must' for anyone desiring to acquire any knowledge on any subject," said Maicki, general manager of an electrical contracting company. "The course, taught by an outstanding instructor, completely opened my eyes to a way of getting information quickly."

Robert C. Cox

"It takes me one-third less time to do all my reading since attending the Institute. Before, I didn't have time to read everything I wanted to. To keep up with all the new data and rules and regulations in my field used to be a chore. Now it's a pleasure."

Vincent Gagliardi GM Engineer

"I can read technical data much faster now and remember a lot more than I could before taking the course. I can get through more material that comes across my desk and therefore do not have to take as much home." This gives me more time for pleasure reading, said Gagliardi, senior specifications engineer with the General Motors Corp."

Dr. Robert R. Leichtman of Pontiac

"This is the third rapid reading course I have taken and this is the only one that works. It has enabled me to read several times the volume I used to. Which means I can now read more material unrelated to my profession."

MRS. WILLIAM KREMLICK

Today's Woman

Bottle Collecting Fad Gives Historic View

By JUNE ELERT

Since glass and stoneware began to replace the skin bottle about 2000 years ago, no great change occurred in the bottlemaking craft until recent years. Now the creeping popularity of plastic has begun putting the squeeze on the industry.

★ ★ ★

Bottle collecting has become the "thing" for a great many people who band together in organizations, publish catalogues, forage through abandoned dumps and comb the beaches. They are armed with little except a fondness for the past and a shovel. They say, "There will never be any more like these."

★ ★ ★

Looking over the bottles assembled over some years by Mrs. William Kremlick of Hathon Street, I am inclined to agree.

The passing of an era in the field of medicine is commemorated by an empty container of "Bumstead's Worm Syrup," inscribed with the legend "One bottle has killed 100 worms. Children cry for it. Just try it."

★ ★ ★

Another, decorated with an outline of a human kidney, extols the virtures of "Swamp Root Kidney, Liver and Bladder Cure."

A deep indigo poison container had deep ridges moulded into three of its six sides, identifying it by touch in the dark in the pre-electric era.

SALES PROMOTION

The "free lunch" period of saloon operation is exemplified by a ceramic pretzel, golden on the underside, lightly bowned on top and sprinkled with finely crushed gravel to simulate salt.

It would hold about an ounce of liquor — probably intended to whet the whistle, as these bottles were given away to customers at holiday times.

★ ★ ★

Thomas Marshall, vice president under Woodrow Wilson from 1913 to 1921, was immortalized by the liquor industry, for bottle collectors, anyway. He was the fellow who said, "What this country needs is a good 5c cigar."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kremlick is the possessor of a brown glass cigar-shaped mini-bottle which was the giveaway item in the saloons that year.

Those who cater to the world's thirst have contributed extensively and colorfully to the collection.

★ ★ ★

There are examples of the earliest soda bottles ever made. There is a quart size gin bottle from Amsterdam; half pint beer bottles and champagnes, an interestingly titled "lady's leg" beer — a curvaceous quart of black glass.

For ladies who liked a little nip on the side, there were tricky half-pints in dainty design that resemble perfume containers.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Kremlick has joined his wife on many of these sorties, sometimes spending vacations in the search. An opium bottle was their reward for a foraging trip on the beaches of Key West.

Collectors also buy and trade. A bottle-warmer from the pre-electric era was purchased in Canada.

A flat nursing bottle with curved neck, marked in ounces just like today's, was laid on a wire mesh over the top of an oil lamp to heat.

★ ★ ★

Perfumes and colognes, wines and medicines, inks, Mason jars (circa 1858) violin-shaped and shoo-fly, the value of each lies in its uniqueness. Bubbles, or an inexpertly applied handle (as on a beautiful green glass wine jug) set a piece apart from its contemporaries.

Mr. K's favorite is an old historical flask from somewhere about 1825-1829.

It has a design of a cannon mounted on a two-wheeled carriage, 13 stars above, an olive branch down each side and the word UNION spelled out in bold letters across the top.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kremlick retired from business as a beauty shop operator about five years ago.

She is also interested in decoupage, enjoys antiques, is learning to play the organ and has several other collections started, all of which (not so strangely) involve glass of various kinds.

Finance Director Contemplates Role of Weary Prince

OAK PARK (AP) — City Finance Director Donald Melchert is hoping he will not wind up playing the role of Prince Charming for 1,100 women in the next few weeks.

★ ★ ★

His woes began a few weeks ago when the city confiscated the shoes from a now defunct store which had not paid its taxes.

★ ★ ★

City officials expressed hope that they could find a bulk buyer for the stock valued at between $5,000 and $8,000. If they can not, there will have to be a public auction to individual buyers.

"I don't want to have to fit each buyer with shoes," Melchert said sadly as he recalled the fairy tale about the great number of women that Prince Charming had to fit before he found Cinderella.

Wedding Invitation Excludes Wife; She Pouts and Husband Goes Alone

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has many business associates whom I know casually or not at all. Recently he received a wedding invitation from some business friends. It was addressed to "MR." only.

ABBY

I've met these people, so I know they are aware of my existence. I thought it was in very poor taste to exclude me, but I put it down to ignorance and let it go at that.

When my husband bought an expensive gift and attended the wedding alone I was floored.

What would have been the proper way to handle this? My husband is the "infallible" type, so naturally I didn't offer my judgment in the case.

CIRCUMVENTED

DEAR CIRCUMVENTED: Your husband isn't responsible for the boorishness of his business friend, but he is responsible for his own. If you offered no judgment when your husband went solo to the wedding, don't be surprised if he tries an encore.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I'm too old for love problems, but my problem is very important to me all the same. What ever happened to the machine permanent wave? I used to get a beautiful wave in my hair that really held, but those days are gone.

Now all I can get is a machineless permanent. It doesn't take so long, but what good is it when the wave doesn't hold? I have very straight hair and need a permanent that won't wash out with the first shampoo. Thank you.

PROBLEM HAIR

DEAR PROBLEM: Perhaps there is an old fashioned permanent wave machine gathering dust in the basement of a beauty parlor somewhere, but I haven't noticed one lately. Ask your beauty operator if she knows of one.

And if she does, I hope she knows someone who is old enough to remember how to operate it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who doesn't care what she asks you. She is so tactless, you wouldn't believe it. Yesterday when my sister was visiting here from out of town, this neighbor asked, "If you have been married for six years and don't have any children, whose fault is it, yours or your husband's?"

She is always asking me how much I paid for things, and she's even asked me how much my husband makes, and what my grocery bill runs me a month.

I wrote you a while back and asked you how to answer her when she kept asking me if I thought my 26-year-old son was a virgin or not. You said, "When she asks you a question that is none of her business, say, "WHY DO YOU ASK?"

Well, I tried that, and she says, "Because I want to know." What can I do to stop such personal questions?

NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Haul out the heavy artillery and tell her it's none of her business.

Making Friends Seems to Be Writer's Forte

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Several weeks ago I printed a letter from a young woman who had lived in a new area for several months and had had difficulty in finding friends. She requested that other people in a similar situation get in touch with her through my column, and I am happy to say a number of people responded and their letters were forwarded to her, and I wish to thank each and everyone who wrote.

Mrs. Barnett, of Seaford, N.Y., wrote again to tell me of her happiness and her ideas about furthering friendships and her letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week.

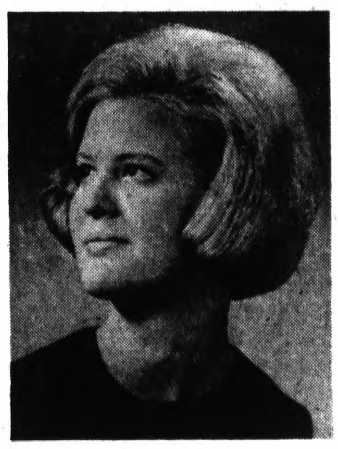

Her idea of getting the young couples who responded together so that they can all meet each other is excellent. And if many more of you readers respond to her second request, Mrs. Barnett will have so many friends she won't know what to do with them!

Dear Mrs. Post: I felt I had to write in to say "thank you" for putting my letter in your column. I would appreciate it if you would mention that my request to meet other couples in this area was answered.

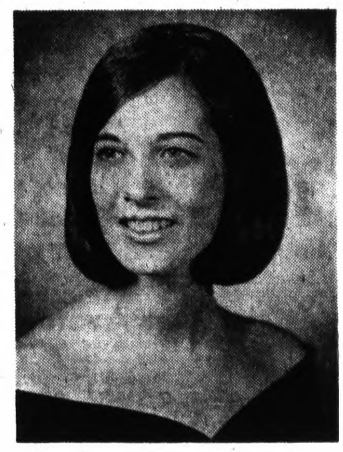

Warm friendships have been made, and I hope will be kept. If there are other couples in this area reading this letter that have had second thoughts about writing to me through you, perhaps they will feel more confident in knowing others have already. We'd love to meet them.

If you receive any more replies to my letter, and forward them to me, I will organize something so all these couples can get together and make friends amongst themselves. There's no other way for them to do this without a head start.

A summer wedding is planned by Judy Elaine Kempe and O/C Lee Durren, USA. Miss Kempe, a graduate of Western Michigan University, is the daughter of the Fred Kempes of Odette Street. Her fiance, also an alumnus of Western Michigan University, is the son of the March Durrens of Benton Harbor.

A late June wedding is planned by Elizabeth Weare Sheppard and Robert Lynn Northrop. Parents of the betrothed couple are Mr. and Mrs. Willard P. Sheppard Jr. of North Reading Road and Mrs. Alec A. Preece of Bethesda, Md., and M. Starr Northrop of Princeton, N.J. Miss Sheppard and her fiance are alumni of the University of Michigan and Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa., respectively.

Plans Announced for Mardi Gras Ball

At a special organizational meeting recently, Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority, discussed plans for the first annual Mardi Gras Ball, proceeds of which will go to a scholarship to Pontiac Business Institute.

Mrs. Albert Anselmi of Deer Run is general chairman. Assisting her will be Mesdames B. T. Tompkins, R. W. Kraud, Richard Falls, Robert Mahneke, Charles Lennon, Anthony Grand and Fred Vollrath.

★ ★ ★

The ball will be Feb. 24 at the Elk's Lodge of Rochester. The Starlighters will provide music for dancing from 9:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Tickets will be available at the door or from any member of the chapter. A midnight buffet is included.

Mrs. Shepard, Hostess

Mrs. Marion Shepard will open her North Cass Lake home for members of the Waterford Child Study Club II who meet Monday at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Darwin Johnson will cohost.

The New 'Pant Look' Makes Appearance in Rome

By LEONORA DODSWORTH
AP Fashion Writer

ROME — Rome fashion house Barocco presented a new view on pants in their spring-summer showing this week.

★ ★ ★

Called "pouf pouf" by designer partners Gilles and Rocco, they took the form of knickerbockers and — with jackets added — were meant to be worn in a city location.

★ ★ ★

The way Barocco made these pants suits, they were elegant enough to be worn on New York's Fifth Avenue but as a design idea they were pretty drastic.

★ ★ ★

In fact, every now and then, even Gilles and Rocco had doubts and modified the puffy pants into short plisse pleated skirts.

★ ★ ★

Pants apart, these outfits consisted of long jackets with deep horseshoe necklines that revealed frosty white shirts that wrapped high round the neck.

Sometimes there was also a vest included.

COATS

Coats were straight-cut with lightly padded shoulders. In silver gray tweeds, they were girdled with a new belt made of linked pearl buttons that looked just like ear studs.

★ ★ ★

The new chalky grays that the Italians are bringing on so fast as the fashionable new "no color," were well represented. They showed up in pin striped crepes washed as pale as a dawn sky.

★ ★ ★

Women who reluctantly put away their pearls while fashion was on its teenage kick will be glad to hear that Barocco brought them back — swags of them, interspersed with silver beads swinging waist-deep, and worn on dark silk dresses or on one of those many beautiful blouses.

★ ★ ★

Swiss laces monopolized Barocco's evening scene. Dresses in transparent organza had lace embroidered over the danger zones.

A long gold lace dress billowed like a peignoir and was fringed like a shawl.

MILLINERY

In shows that have been deluged in wide-brimmed straw hats Barocco had a new shape to show. Like the one the laughing cavalier wore, its brim swept up at one side and pinned with a big white feather.

★ ★ ★

Fabiani's long-time favorite, the tent coat, turned up yet again. Double-breasted, it swung from a tight-fitting choker collar. There was another coat, too. It had a big deep pointed collar, a tiny fitted top and sprang into deep folds from just below the bust.

HANDS

An amusing print — a pair of hands — appeared at pocket level on a group of full-cut wool coats. A large cabuchon emerald suitably placed looked like a ring on one of the fingers.

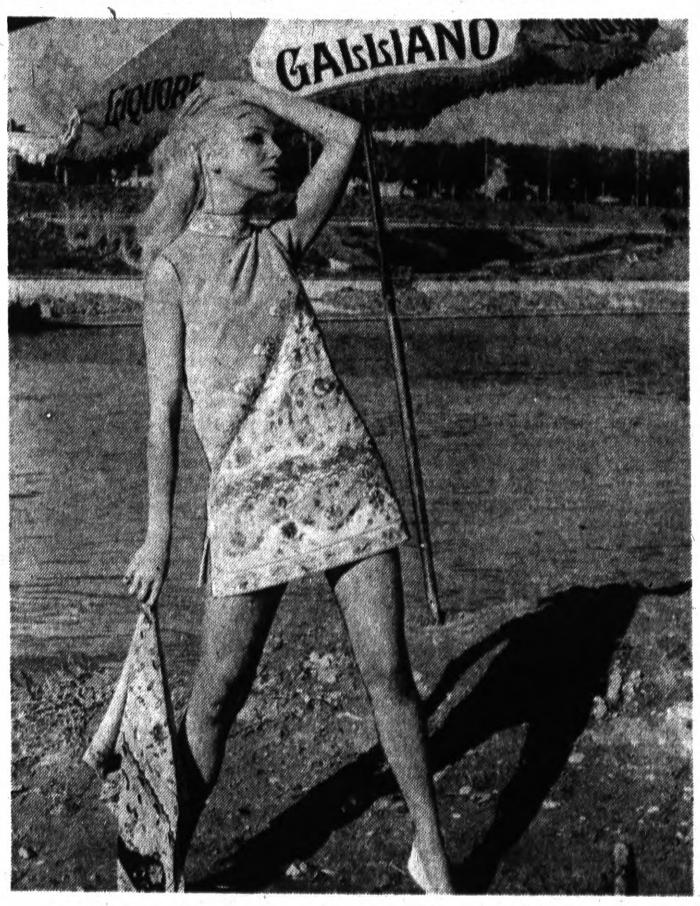

★ ★ ★

Cream silk shantung was used for dresses that were newly bloused into a lowered waist.

Skirts flickered with pleats.

★ ★ ★

Carnival time is coming in Italy and Fabiani was ready for it with hysterical hairdos like wooly mats and ceramic face masks held on sticks from which tiny gold mesh purses dangled.

ROME—Emilio Pucci presents this velour beach shift in summer shades of orange and hot pink with a matching cotton bikini as worn here by former Miss Finland, Virpi Walzal.

ROME—Laura Aponte, Italy's foremost knitwear creator, goes psychedelic! Vibrantly sequined abstracts on sleeves complement this slim black wool knit dress.

Challis Makes a Comeback

Fabrics, like movie stars, can make a comeback after years of anonymity. One fabric on this year's comeback trail is challis, popular at the turn of the century for pajamas and nightgowns.

It's a soft fabric of plain weave in wool, cotton or rayon, either in a solid color or, more often, a small print. Challis is being tranlated into smart, belted shirtwaist dresses for winter.

Decorating, Topic

A program on interior decoration will highlight Monday's meeting of the Pine Lake Estates Women's Club.

The evening meeting, which begins at 8:00, will be held at Pine Lake School.

Guest speaker for the program will be Anne Wilson of the Stewart Glenn Co.

Debts Increase With Pay Raises

NEW YORK (UPI) — Couples who managed well on first salaries have been known to go head over heels into debt at the first raise.

The reasons, according to the Foundation for Commercial Banks — charging too many items; adding to number of dinners out, sessions at the hairdresser, not shopping for credit and paying, as a result, higher than necesary interest rates.

Blind 10 Years, Can See Again

CONCORDIA, Kan. (AP) — It was an unusually merry Christmas for Mrs. Elizabeth DeWitt. She was able to see her three grandchildren after being blind for the past 10 years.

The mother of 10 children, Mrs. DeWitt began going blind 23 years ago and since 1957 could see nothing. She had an eye operation that was a success and was able to see her grandchildren for the first time.

Does He Have The Power To Destroy 'Big Mac'?

Dog-Bridge Theory Hounds the Experts

"A dog trots across Michigan's Mackinac Bridge.

"As he lopes along, his rhythmic stride gets louder and louder. He's setting off harmonic vibrations!

"The weight of his paws is magnified over and over. The bridge shudders and collapses."

This scene is beloved by theorists toying with ideas of harmonics and sonics.

The question — could a dog's feet set up vibrations and destroy the bridge? — is the most frequent one sent to the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

★ ★ ★

It's answer is unequivocally "No." The designers of Big Mac and other modern bridges have taken all these factors into account.

NOT RIGID ENOUGH

The bridge is simply not rigid enough for such factors to have much effect, the authority points out, and if anyone who has crossed it on a windy day can testify that it indeed sways readily.

The question will doubtlessly arise again as it is apparently a favorite one for teachers to tease their students with, the Mackinac bridgemen have discovered.

In today's Pontiac Press on Page A-4, a writer to the Voice of the People column has posed it once again.

★ ★ ★

In olden days, soldiers had to break step when crossing bridges, because the rigid structures were known to give way under the combined weight and rhythmic force of the marching feet.

But those days are gone forever, say the bridgemen. So don't be frightened of a pooch crossing Big Mac. He's only trying to get to the other side, not knock it down.

ARTHUR PAYNE

Teen of Week Plans Future

Pontiac's Teen of the Week, Arthur Payne of Madison Junior High School, has ambitions of getting a doctorate degree at college and becoming a computer worker.

Arthur is active in ninth grade activities, incuding varsity basketball team, teen club and hall guard.

His teachers say he has fine leadership qualitites which earned him the vice presidencies of the student council and his homeroom.

He has a B grade average and has been given the school's silver M. Arthur says he enjoys reading, dancing and sports.

★ ★ ★

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne, 622 Linda Vista.

State Serviceman Is Fatally Shot

GREENBUSH (AP) — Air Force Sgt. John E. Elore, 22, was fatally shot at his home here Thursday, but Sheriff Martin Gehres of Alcona County said today he had not determined whether Elore was shot by someone else.

★ ★ ★

The sheriff's response to questions at nearby Harrisville was that "The case still is under investigation." He said Elore had been taken to a Bay City hospital.

GLENWOOD PLAZA CORNER NORTH PERRY AT GLENWOOD

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When distinguished service medals for loyal sports contribution to the United States are passed out, the name of Avery Brundage should be nowhere on the list.

No one individual has hurt the U.S. Olympic bidding, and especially the eight bids in 32 frustrating years made by Detroit, as Brundage has done.

It's no secret that when Detroit made its strongest and most impressive bid over to get the 1968 Olympics, Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, made a point blank admission he supported an East-West German sponsorship.

The Detroit contingent headed by Fred Mattheai, the true champion of the U.S. Olympic hopes, went to Baden-Baden, Germany in 1964 determined to get the 1968 games with the best presentation and best competitive bid possible.

★ ★ ★

Immediately, Brundage panicked at the thought of American money buying the bid and he publicly issued warnings, obviously directed at the U.S. group, not to get engaged in cut-rate bidding or make payola offers to foreign Olympic representatives.

THE SILVER PAYOLA

The Mexican contingent however, managed to win a lot of votes long before the official balloting by shipping a boat load of silver merchandise to Baden-Baden as a simple gesture of courtesy from the poor country of Mexico.

★ ★ ★

The American presentation was called "magnificent," but "too professional."

The "too professional" tag, that's been the key to Brundage's opposition of American bidding, and he's at it again by sticking his nose into the AAU-NCAA feud, not with any sensible suggestions but with threats.

When our own U.S. Senator, Robert Griffin, called on our government just this week to do something about the feud between the amateur organizations, Brundage immediately voiced, "let the NCAA and AAU work out their own problems and any sort of government regulation could result in disqualification of our teams."

★ ★ ★

We agree that there is no room on any level of government for interference in amateur athletics, but in his "Bill of Rights for Amateur Athletes," Senator Griffin's intent appears to be the protection of amateurism from organized feuding groups and not to dictate amateur classification.

When General MacArthur was named by our government to be the peacemaker between the AAU and NCAA a few years back, Brundage voiced no objections. MacAurthur's attempts failed and all other means have failed to bring the athletic peace.

PRESTIGE IN JEOPARDY

With our Olympic prestige in jeopardy because of the warring factions and the traitorous attempts for a boycott the situation is further clouded by the obvious lack of concern by Brundage, who supposedly is such a strong proponent of amateurism he even objects to college scholarships.

Brundage was elected in 1964 to his fourth four-year term as the head of the International Olympic Committee because the foreign committees realized he would be a loyal watchdog of U.S. "professionalism."

If Brundage showed more concern over the simon-pure "subsidation" of amateur teams, evident in Russia and other European countries, his gavel would probably have long been given to someone else.

★ ★ ★

We wonder what reason Brundage will have for opposing a U.S. bid for the 1976 games, the 200th anniversary of our nation's founding? At the age of 78 it shouldn't be for another term in office.

Brundage reminds us of the basketball official who is so afraid to be called a "homer" he makes it a point to call more fouls against the home team.

Northern, Waterford, Central Register Victories

Kettering's Stall Try Fails to Slow PNH's Offense

By DON VOGEL

Waterford Kettering tried to put Pontiac Northern in a basketball deep freeze last night, but the Captains were short-circuited before the game was four minutes old.

And not because PNH's nickname is the Huskies.

★ ★ ★

Northern warmed up to the occasion in the second quarter and rolled to a 61-38 victory. It was the fifth victory in seven starts for the Huskies.

The loss snapped a five-game Kettering win streak and left the Captains with a 5-2 over-all record.

While PNH was competing in a non-league game, Waterford pulled into a tie with Livonia Stevenson for third place in the Inter-Lakes League by downing the Patriots, 55-52.

The Skippers broke a five-game losing streak as John Spanburg poured in a career high 28 points. Waterford and Stevenson are 1-2 in loop play.

SECOND PLACE

Farmington (3-1) held second and left Walled Lake (0-3) in the cellar, 83-56. PNH leads with a 3-0 mark.

Kettering stalled the ball from the opening tip, trying for layup shots. Northern went into a collapsing defense and let the Captains pass the ball around.

The Captains proved to be their own worst enemy. After stalling for two minutes a shot was forced from the side. Northern rebounded and Bob Traylor was fouled. He converted and PNH led 1-0.

Ninety seconds later Kettering shook Joe O'Connor loose for a jumper and it was 2-1. Craig Deaton connected from the side for PNH and the Huskies were ahead for good, 4-3.

Kettering then turned the ball over to PNH four times without getting a shot and also missed two field goal attempts that were not percentage tries.

PNH couldn't take advantage of the miscues, making three of their own, and had to settle for a 4-2 lead going into the second quarter.

PNH wrecked Kettering's strategy for good early in the second quarter. Deaton and Mike Clancy led a pressing defense that forced the Captains into more mistakes and the Huskies started hitting from the outside.

PULLED AWAY

Deaton led the way with three jumpers and PNH grabbed an 18-10 lead. Kettering played it straight from that point and Northern continued to pull away. The Huskies led at the half, 22-14.

Traylor and Don Hayward dominated the backboards for Northern. Chuck Moncrief played his usually steady game and pumped in 15 points.

Scoring honors went to Deaton who collected 18. He also held Kettering's high scoring Pete Evans to seven and stole the ball four times from the Captains' guard. Penoza was high for Kettering with 10.

After leading 27-25 at the half, Waterford let Stevenson slip into a 41-38 at the end of three quarters.

But the Skippers rallied behind the shooting of Spanburg to pull in front with four minutes to play. They were ahead by four with a minute left.

Spanbury connected on nine of 23 field goal tries and made 10 of 16 free throws.

The Skippers benefited by a pressing Steveson defense that resulted in several fouls being called on the visitors. Waterford won the game at the free throw line.

Stevenson made three more field goals. Stevenson made 21 of 67 tries from the floor while Waterford was connecting on 18 of 52. The Skippers had a 44-28 rebounding edge led by Bruce Carlson, Gary Pullins and Bill Foley.

Walled Lake was guilty of 27 turnovers as Farmington coasted to victory. The Falcons led 45-26 at the half. Mark Lynott topped Farmington with 21 points and Doug Hamilton added 17.

Paul Allen was high for Walled Lake with 18.

SURROUNDED CAPTAIN — Pete Evans of Waterford Kettering fires a jump pass while surrounded by Pontiac Northern's Don Hayward (35), Mike Clancy (5) and Craig Deaton (13) in the first half of last night's contest. Northern had too much fire power for the Captains and rolled to a 61-38 victory.

Chiefs Display Zip, Gun Down Hapless Handy

By JERE CRAIG

Pontiac Central's fired-up basketball forces jumped into a 6-0 lead and left hapless Bay City Handy out of sight by the end of the first quarter Friday night for a 57-31 triumph.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs upped their lead to 20-4 at the end of the period, were in front 30-8 at the intermission and boasted a 43-13 advantage after three sessions.

★ ★ ★

Their biggest cushion was 32 points at 45-13 when they made the initial basket in the fourth period.

Though still lacking a unified offensive effort and floor leadership, the PCH quintet displayed some of its best hustle and defensive teamwork in overwhelming the Wildcats.

Walter Causey popped in three quick buckets and Frank Russell added three as the Cheifs war-danced to a 16-1 edge before Handy could manage a field goal with less than two minutes to go in the opening session.

SCORING

Causey hit nine of his 10 points in that period. Russell capped an 18-point evening with four field goals in the third quarter. They were the only two double-figure shooters on either team.

★ ★ ★

The visitors could only produce two buckets in the entire first half while taking 21 shots. They hit 17 per cent of their shots all night. PCH made 31 per cent but had a 23-9 advantage in buckets.

The winners controlled the backboards with 65 rebounds to 47 for BCH. It was Central's second straight in a 5-4 season.

Flint Central handed Midland its initial loss in the loop, 74-43, but the Chemics remain first at 5-1 while the Indians and Saginaw are 4-1. Saginaw whipped Flint Northwestern, 76-46, in a nonleaguer.

★ ★ ★

Saginaw Arthur Hill downed Bay City Central, 70-57, as Bob Welzein's 21 and Mark Champaign's 18 led the Lumberjacks to their fourth SVC conquest in six decisions.

Lakers Continue Hot Pursuit

West Bloomfield, Northville Fives Pull Away in Wayne-Oakland Chase

West Bloomfield and Northville coasted to Wayne-Oakland League cage conquests Friday night and put some distance between themselves and the other title hopefuls.

Northville's unbeaten league leaders sailed past host Holly, 64-44, thanks to a big night from the field and off the backboards.

West Bloomfield's Lakers remained a game off the pace by pushing back Bloomfield Hills Andover, 48-44, after holding a 48-33 lead with less than two minutes to go.

Clarkston stayed tied with Clarenceville for fourth place by outrunning Brighton, 64-52, while the Trojans held off visiting Milford, 63-60.

At Holly, Randy Pohlman's 20 points and 12 rebounds, plus Jim Peterson's 12 tallies and 11 retrieves led the Mustangs to their seventh straight loop victory. Northville had a 23-12 advantage in rebounding.

A 23-point performance by Steve Westjohn who also helped the Lakers control the backboards sparked West Bloomfield's victory over Andover.

EASY BASKETS

The Lakers (6-1) broke open a close game midway through the final half by slipping through the visitors' pressing defense for some easy baskets.

The winners made more mistakes and had more shots and rebounds. Andover spurted in the closing two minutes to cut its deficit against the West Bloomfield reserves.

There was cold shooting by both teams at Clarkston; however the home squad warmed up sufficiently in the middle periods to amass a comfortable cushion.

After a 2-for-16 opening quarter found the Wolves down, 10-6; they began fast-breaking and outscored Brighton, 38-17 in the next two sessions.

★ ★ ★

Erick Hood's 17 points, 15 by Mark Erickson and 13 for Jerry Ostrom helped the Clarkston attack. Tim Bowditch of the Bulldogs matched Hood for game honors. The Bulldogs hurt themselves by making only 12 of 28 foul shots.

HOT HALF

Kerry Rifkin poured in 18 points and Clarenceville's Trojans produced an 18-9 field goal advantage as they took a 42-26 halftime lead over Milford.

The winners' hot first half was the principle reason they finished with a 64 per cent shooting night. Milford clawed back in the last half and had the lead down to 61-60 with 10 seconds to go.

★ ★ ★

Bryan Kent's two charity tosses iced the decision. Bob Duman's 16 markers helped the Trojans. Mark Giegler notched 23 for the Redskins to maintain barely his county scoring lead.

Cranes Snap Streak

Cranbrook handed Country Day its first regular season loss in two years last night with a second half comebeck to win, 62-55.

★ ★ ★

Country Day had an 8-0 record up to this point and held a 29-25 halftime lead against the Cranes.

★ ★ ★

With Dave Kangas collecting seven key points in the third period and Scott Babcock getting 10 of his 12 points in the final stanza, the Cranes moved ahead midway in the third quarter and held the margin most of the way.

Cranbrook, now 2-4 for the season, had a 46 per cent shooting percentage for the night, led by Curt Mann's 18, Ron Fallon's 14 and the 12 by Babcock.

Jak Zwemer paced Country Day with 14 and Jeff Smather added 14.

Eaglets Near Crown in Northwest League

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Steady play on its own part plus a little outside help have pushed the Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary within a step of the Northwest Parochial League basketball championship.

The Eaglets raised their record to 9-0 — the nine wins coming after a season-opening non-conference setback — last night with a 60-55 victory over improving Pontiac Catholic in a nip-and-tuck contest.

The outside help came from the Lakers of Waterford Our Lady, who avenged an earlier one-point loss to St. Francis de Sales by whipping the second-place club, 66-61.

In the other games, a free throw by Bob Jarzeboski of Detroit St. Rita in the final nine seconds of play spelled defeat for Ferndale St. James, 69-68, while Royal Oak St. Mary rolled past Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, 58-43.

★ ★ ★

Trailing 40-38 after three quarters, OLSM rammed home three quick buckets to open the fourth frame in grabbing a 44-40 lead, and the Eaglets held onto a two-to-seven-point margin the rest of the way.

MOMENTARY REPRIEVE

Behind 54-47 with 1:42 left, Pontiac Catholic gained a moment of hope when Butch Finnigan connected on a long one-hander to make it, 54-49, but OLSM countered on baskets by Tad Cyman and Tom Sudek, the latter coming with 11 seconds to play to clinch it for the Eaglets.

★ ★ ★

The young Eaglets — four juniors are in the starting —lineup were sparked by guard Megge, a 6-1 junior, who matched his season average with 24 points, most of them coming on driving layups.

Junior Ken Ksiazkiewicz (6-5) pumped in 15 points to match his best output of the season, while Cyman picked up seven points and Greg Fior — the only senior starter — added nine.

Cyman hauled down 18 rebounds and Fior 13 to give OLSM a 43-28 advantage in that department.

Sam Brady, Pontiac Catholic's talented sophomore, pitched in 23 points and Finnigan closed with 15.

The tall OLSM quintet forced the Titans (4-5) to do most of their shooting from outside.

SHARP AT LINE

The titans came up with more field goals — 22 to 20 — but OLSM cashed in on 20 of 35 attempts at the free throw line.

★ ★ ★

A last-second shot helped St. Francis de Sales beat Waterford Our Lady in their first meeting of the season, but the Lakers avenged that one with a hot fourth quarter in running their record to 5-4 in league play.

The loss left de Sales with a 7-2 record, two games back of OLSM with only three to play.

OLSM can clinch at least a tie with a win over Royal Oak St. Mary next Friday. After that one, the Eaglets meet de Sales and Waterford Our Lady in the final league outings.

Baskets by Brian Haskins and Dennis McCullough plus a couple of free throws by Pat McColgan erased a 61-60 de Sales lead and put the Lakers in the win column.

The Lakers held a 35-33 lead at intermission, but fell a point off the pace after three periods, 48-47. But the 19-point production in the fourth pulled the team from behind.

McCullough finished with 27 points while Dan Sioma contributed 20. Haskins picked up 12. John Fenbert (22) and Gene LaFave (19) sparked the de-Sales attack.

A 29-point effort by Jim Newton sparked RO (3-6) St. Mary past Farmington Our Lady (4-5).

Lahser Rallies to Top Lathrup

Knights Win, 71-53, With Good Defense

Two new county quintets building toward regular varsity schedules next winter dueled Friday night with Bloomfield Hills Lahser prevailing over Southfield Lathrup, 71-53.

The Lathrup combine's aggressiveness paid off in a 37-28 lead at the halftime, but the Knights limited the losers (6-4) to six field goals in the final half.

Lahser (6-2) got 34 of its final 43 points from Bill West (who finished with 20), Bruce Gangnath (17) and Brian Kovach (13). The Knights had a 31-17 field goal margin in the contest.

John McFaddin's 16 led the Lathrup cause.

Future Hopes for Ortonville

Win or lose, coach Ed Donaldson at Ortonville manages to get everyone into the game. The reason is obvious in that the Black Hawk coach is giving his sophstudded squad an outlook for next season.

Last night, Ortonville took its 7th loss in nine starts by dropping a 74-60 decision to Goodrich.

Red Hot Surge in 2nd Half for Imlay Win

Imlay City overcome a chilly first half with a blistering second half shooting performance last night in downing Millington 73-71.

The Imlay City squal trailed at halftime, 47-27, but poured in 46 points in the second half to pull out the victory.

Jim Simons, a 6-3 senior forward, sparked the Imlay attack with 38 points and 32 rebounds. Terry Schoenberg helped out with 16 markers. Larry Hourtienne tossed in 18 for Millington.

In another Thumb area game, Bruce Tanton scored 22 points and Terry McGregor 19 to pace Deckerville to a 65-48 win over Brown City. Jerry Sauder led Brown City with 27 markers.

Roeper Quint Wilts Late in Contest

Roeper School (2-8) of Bloomfield Hills put up a strong battle for 26 minutes but wilted in the final period and dropped a 73-52 decision at Dearborn Annapolis Friday night.

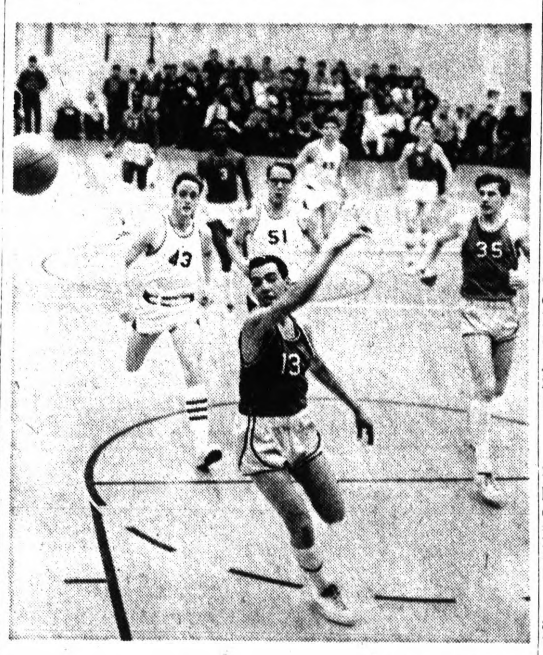

The Rough Riders led by as many as five points in the opening quarter as Curt Blessing tallied 9 of his 12 points. It was 17-16 for Annapolis at the buzzer, and the host unit led, 37-26 at the intermission.

Pistons Rally to Halt Seattle

CINCINNATI (AP)— The Detroit Pistons moved into Cincinnati to take on the Royals tonight in search of their third straight National Basketball Association victory.

The Pistons rallied to outscore the Seattle Supersonics 34-15 in the final 7½ minutes for a 133-119 victory Friday night in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

In other NBA games, the Boston Celtics beat the New York Knicks 120 - 114 and the San Francisco Warriors topped Philadelphia 131-120.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh beat New Orleans 132-126, New Jersey defeated Indiana 122 - 110, Dallas beat Houston 102-92 and Denver whipped Anaheim 117-110.

BECAME ROUT

Seattle, bidding for its third straight victory, held a 104 - 99 lead when the Pistons rallied behind the shooting of John Tresvant, Dave DeBusschere and Dave Bing to turn the game into a rout.

★ ★ ★

Tresvant had 10 points in the stretch drive and DeBusschere and Bing eight each to give Detroit its second straight victory.

Walt Hazzard, who hit 20 of his game high 41 points in the first quarter, sparked Seattle to a 37-32 early lead but Detroit rallied to take a 67-59 advantage at the half.

Seattle's Bob Rule hit seven straight field goals and 18 points in the third quarter to put Seattle out front again before Detroit wrapped up the victory with its late spurt. Bing led Detroit with 36 points.

Sam Jones and Bailey Howell each netted 31 points, most of them in a late rally, as the Celtics upended the Knicks. The victory was Boston's 25th straight on its home court during regular season play. Dick Barnett had 31 points for New York, 18 in the first half.

On the West Coast, the Warriors broke a three-game losing streak as Jim King poured in 25 points. Billy Cunningham topped the 76ers with 25.

STL Leaders Pressed to Win

Dryden Battles Capac Before Losing

The second division teams of the Southern Thumb rose up to make things close, but the top contenders of the league stayed in the race with close verdicts last night.

Dryden, without a win in the league, battled Capac all the way before losing 66-64, while Memphis with only one win this season, was a 49-48 victim to Armada.

League leader Anchor Bay needed an overtime to defeat Richmond, 75-74, even though the losers had only a 1-5 record to show for themselves.

In the other game Almont took third place away from New Haven with a 74-62 triumph. Almont is now 5-2 and New Haven 4-3.

Brad Robinson hit a key bucket with 37 seconds left to lead Capac's rally over underdog Dryden. He finished with 22 points.

Cranes Blank Andover, 2-0

Second period goals by Norm Lerchen and Robert Mosher carried Cranbrook to a 2-0 high school hockey league conquest of Bloomfield Hills Andover Friday afternoon.

The win was the Cranes' sixth in 11 starts. Andover now is 4-3-3 in its first season of league play. Paul Cragin posted the shutout, making 12 saves.

Bulldogs' Bite Worse; Dragons Remain Tied

Romeo coach Larry Randall — who hails from basketball hot bed Indiana — did some growling this week and he put added bite into the Bulldogs.

Not satisfied with the recent efforts of the once-beaten Bulldogs and then stung with the loss of a key defensive player due to an injury, Randall juggled the Romeo lineup and it produced a vital 65-45 win last night over Troy.

★ ★ ★

The defeat dropped the Colts from a three-way tie for first place in the Oakland A League chase. Coupled with Lake Orion's impressive 67-45 win at Madison, Troy is now third behind the Dragons and Romeo.

Rochester climbed within a game of the Colts by downing Utica, 54-42, and Avondale entered the win column by outlasting Clawson, 70-66, in overtime.

Clyde Cushingberry's 16 markers and 15 in the last half by Donnell Craft sparked Romeo as the Bulldogs took control after falling behind, 26-25, at the intermission.

★ ★ ★

Dan Burzynski contributed 12 to the cause and Fred Castle held Lynn Qualmann to 14 for Troy.

Troy missed 15 of 30 charity tosses and was outscored, 25-15, from the field. Romeo is now 8-1 over-all.

DUAL EFFORT

Lake Orion boosted its log to 7-1 (and matched Romeo's 6-1 mark in the circuit) as Gary Mize scored 21 points and gave the Dragons control of the backboards.

Tim Daigle played a good floor game and added 14 points to the offense. Madison never came closer than nine points in the final half.

Rochester's Mike Scally notched 12 of his 16 points in the middle sessions and the Falcons soared to a 51-33 margin in the last period. Donn Somers' 13 in the last half was in vain for Utica. He led the sharpshooting with 19 points.

Rochester hit 10 field goals to only five for Utica's Chieftains in the opening half. The Falcons also had command of the rebounding.

Coach Seeks Win Formula for 'Frisco 11

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers, who have never won a championship in 22 years of try, have a new head coach who says "winning becomes a habit," and he intends to make it a habit for the 49ers.

Dick Nolan, Dallas Cowboys assistant coach and a defensive specialist, has been given a five-year contract and complete authority over players and assistants in the drive to lead the 49ers to the top in the National Football League.

Avondale fought back from a 51-39 deficit with a 24-point fourth period as Bob Burt scored 11 points and Duane McLaughlin nine.

Burt added five points in the overtime, and teammate Larry Davis clinched the Yellow Jackets second victory of the season by sinking two charity tosses with four seconds to play.

Oak Park Wins Fourth

Oak Park and North Farmington stayed in the thick of the Northwest Suburban AA hoop battle last night but skidding Birmingham Groves' chances grew slimmer.

★ ★ ★

Oak Park continues atop the standings with a 4-0 record after disposing of Franklin, 80-56, with three players matching 19-point evenings for the Redskins.

A record 34-point spree by Ron Flutur carried North Farmington past Wayne John Glenn, 93-69; but Detroit Thurston sent defending two-time champ Groves to its third loss in four games, 69-49.

★ ★ ★

Steve Kaplan, Brian Harbin and Lloyd Collins each had 19 at Oak Park. Flutur hit 14 of 26 shots and had 32 of his points by the time the Raiders held a 59-35 lead at the half. Mike McCoy added 21 for North Farmington (3-1 in the loop).

Groves (6-3) was outgunned 29-16 from the floor and trailed, 41-21, by the intermission.

Dave Joyce's 18 tallies led all the scorers. Thurston teammate Dave Day contributed 13. Groves' top marksman again was Jim Cameron with 14 and Mark Shada hit 11.

Oak Park will visit the Eagles' (3-1) den next week.

Kimball Continues Pursuing Leader

Those high-scoring Blue Jays from Southfield got a lift when they needed it Friday night.

The once-beaten Southeastern Michigan cage leaders pulled in front in the third quarter to register a 60-48 triumph over Berkley and maintain a perfect league mark.

Royal Oak Kimball outshot struggling Birmingham Seaholm, 61-48; and Ferndale dissolved its third place tie with slumping Hazel Park, 55-50.

Southfield's Blue Jays had a slow start and trailed visiting Berkley, 23-22, at the half. But Dave Chalmers came off the bench for eight points in the third quarter and the homesters were on their way.

10TH WIN

Dave Kontry's 22 tallies led Southfield to its fifth in a row in the league and 10th in 11 outings over-all. The Blue Jays are the ninth-ranked Class A team in the weekly Associated Press state prep poll.

Kimball's Knights (4-1 in the SEMA) had four players in twin figures to coast past Seaholm. Fred Shellnut hit 17 to take game scoring honors.

The Maples (2-7 over-all) cut their deficit to 34-31 in the third period but Shellnut led a decisive surge for the victors.

★ ★ ★

Ferndale also had four in twin figures with Wayne Clapp pacing the attack against Hazel Park with 15. The Vikings stayed close but could never take the lead. Herb Lukey, a Hazel Park sophomore, led all scorers with 17.

The Vikings (4-5) have lost five of their last six games.

Brother-Sister Skating Act 1st

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron and Cynthia Kauffman won the U.S. National Figure Skating Pairs title for the third consecutive year, but it was obvious they were thinking of another night and another place.

★ ★ ★

After the brother-sister team from Seattle, Wash., became the first to win three straight pairs titles since Karol and Peter Kennedy accomplished the feat in 1950 through 1952, they talked of next month's Winter Olympics in Grenoble, France.

★ ★ ★

They and the second and third place teams in Friday night's pairs competition qualified for Uncle Sam's figure skating team before a record nationals crowd 910,243 at the Spectrum.

★ ★ ★

Sandy Sweitzer of Burbank and Roy Wagelein of Los Angeles, a California duo, were runnerup, and a pair of 16-year-olds, Jo Jo Starbuck and Kenneth Shelley of the Arctic Blades Figure Skating Club, Paramount Calif., was third. The three teams also automatically made the World team for the championships in Switzerland starting Feb. 27.

TOP THREE

The rest of the U.S. Olympic team for the games starting Feb.6 in Grenoble, France, will qualify today with the top three in mens and womens singles gaining positions on the squad.

★ ★ ★

If you are looking for a sure thing, wager the mortgage one of those carrying the stars and stripes to France will be Peggy Fleming. Miss Fleming is almost as certain as death and taxes to win tonight her fifth straight womens singles national championship, a feat bettered only twice and equaled once in the 54-year history of the event.

★ ★ ★

Tenley Albright was the last (1952-1956) to win five in a row.

Also on tap today is the mens singles in which Tim Wood, the slim built pre-law student from Bloomfield Hills, holds a slight advantage over Scott Allen, 17-year-old Harvard University freshman, and defending champion Gary Visconti of the Detroit Skating Club. Wood and Visconti finished second and third Thursday to Wood in the compusory figures. Visconti is seeking to become the first to repeat since 1960.

Pontiac Golfer Wins Opener in Match Play

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Stan Brion of Pontiac eased past a New York pro yesterday in the opening round of the PGA National Golf Club's Match Play Championship.

★ ★ ★

Brion, assistant to Warren Orlick at Tam O'Shanter Country Club in Orchard Lake, made it to the second round by polishing off Ed Kroll of Cooperstown, two up.

Other Michigan pros weren't so fortunate, however.

Among the victims was former Michigan PGA champion John Barnum of Gelmont who dropped a 2 and 1 decision to Don Headings of Long Meadow, Mass.

Falling by the wayside along with Barnum were a couple of Walled Lake pros.

★ ★ ★

George Spencer, head pro at Twin Beach, lost a 5 and 4 verdict to Claude King of Norfolk, Va., and Bill Mattson, head pro at Shenandoah, was ousted by Lou Barbaro of New Jersey.

★ ★ ★

Former Masters titlist Herman Kaiser of Copley, O., downed Charlie Grant of Stuart, Fla., 2 and 1.

Lee Hart Sets Rebound Mark

A record rebounding effort by Lee Hart and balanced scoring paced Birmingham Brother Rice to an 86-59 victory over Detroit Salesian last night.

The 6-6 senior grabbed 24 rebounds and tallied 19 points — 15 in the third quarter — as the Warriors (3-5) compiled their highest point total of the season.

John Maloney led the shotmakers with 11 field goals and 23 markers. Don MacAloon added 18 and Dave Kreuz 10 for the winners. Brother Rice dominated the backboards and had a 36-19 advantage in field goals.

Development of 75 Acres at OU for Athletic Fields

EAST LANSING — A $250,000 project to develop 75 acres of athletic fields at Oakland University was approved here Thursday by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees at its regular monthly meeting.

★ ★ ★

The board approved letting the construction contract to the Sterling Garrett Co. of Walled Lake, whose bid of $183,973 was the lowest of six received on the project.

The work will include installation of large drains needed to keep the low-lying area dry in the spring, grading of playing fields, courts and tracks, construction of one road and elimination of another which now goes from Kresge Library to the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion.

A baseball diamond will be seeded and sodded for immediate use. Other areas, most of which will be put into use later, will include a running track, courts for tennis, handball, basketball, and ice hockey, and fields for football, field hockey, soccer, and softball.

The $250,000 project figure includes $10,000 for professional services, $4,000 for supervision and inspection, $42,000 for future completion of the tennis courts and $10,026 for contingencies.

Mind on Game Puts Dave Marr Ahead of Pack

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Dave Marr says he is trying harder and day dreaming less.

Concentration paid off for the New Yorker, as he took a one-stroke lead into today's third round of the $125,000 Kaiser International Open.

Marr turned in a three-under-par 69 Friday to go with his 68 in the opening round of the first official PGA tournament of the year.

Opening lead—♠ A

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The play at five hearts doubled was short but not sweet. South ruffed the spade lead in dummy and played ace and another high diamond in order to discard a spade.

JACOBY

West ruffed and played a second high spade in order to force dummy again. South cashed dummy's ace of trumps and played the king of clubs.

West won and led a second club which East ruffed. West still had to make his king of trumps, so South was down two.

There was no way to beat five diamonds, and North and South got into a heated argument about the bidding. North said, "I don't need a nursemaid. When I bid five diamonds, I don't need trump support."

South said, "Why did you double with a one suit hand?" Eventually they turned the matter over to us for adjudication.

Before getting into the North-South bidding we want to call attention to East's two spade call. East and West were playing that they showed strength over a takeout double by redoubling.

★ ★ ★

Hence, East's two spade bid showed a weak hand but West could still afford to raise to game. Incidentally, four spades would have made with careful play.

Now for the adjudication. We charge North 80 per cent and South 20 per cent wrong doing. We don't like North's takeout double at all. He couldn't stand spades and he didn't really like hearts.

What he held was a good hand with solid diamonds. He might have merely overcalled with two diamonds or he might have jumped right to five diamonds but he had nothing to gain from his double.

Where does South's 20 per cent come in? If South had thought things over carefully, he would have seen that if North wanted a choice between hearts and diamonds, North would have bid four notrump over four spades instead of the five diamonds he did bid.

For Sunday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Pressure of past promises felt today. Best to let others plan, take initiative. Means be receptive without committing yourself. Older person confides problem. Remember past favors.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): People you are familiar with tend to communicate in unusual manner. Maintain sense of humor. Be versatile, flexible. Suggestion from one close to you proves valid. Act accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your desires may conflict with past promises, responsibilities. Key is to check details. Be true to yourself. If you are calm, deliberate, then success crowns efforts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Changes in connection with domestic and professional duties are in the offing. Day to anchor desires. Means find out what you want—then plan accordingly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Not wise to embark upon journey unless absolutely necessary. Day to sum up. Find out how ideas can be made to work. Speculation should be turned into solid knowledge.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Utilize all available facts when spending, investing. Learn where you stand in financial sense. Leave nothing to chance. Ask questions—obtain answers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Commitment made in recent past comes home to roost. Don't shirk responsibility. Be sensible in dealing with mate, partner. Obtain expert legal opinion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Your poetic instincts come to fore. You are able to interpret symbols, trends and cycles. Your sphere of interest, influence is expanded. Important person confides problem.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You may have to forego some desires. Task you thought completed again demands attention. Key is steady pace. Work with enthusiasm to achieve genuine results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Reflect upon public relations, personal image. Many want to believe, to have faith. But part of this is up to you. Help others to know the truth. Message clear by tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some who are not close to current situation may chide you. Your own sense of fitness is best response. Set example. Permit actions to speak for themselves. Stress maturity.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Don't make mistake of taking advantages for granted. You have been granted certain opportunities. If you permit them to slide away, sorrow results. Word to wise should be sufficient.

★ ★ ★

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY, many consider you eccentric. This is because you don't fit into any set pattern. You are inventive, an explorer, one who wants to find out things through direct contact, experience. New start this year changes your life.

DISCUSS CONTEST—The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of First Congregational Church (left), and Chester Heinsley of 6643 Balmoral, Waterford Township, talk over the Charles Hunt Attendance Contest started Sunday at First Congregational. The contest named in honor of the late Charles Hunt who served as SS superintendent for several years, will continue through Children's Day May 27.

Thousands of Men, Women Teach

Should Boys, Girls Attend SS?

How important are Sunday School and young people's church groups?

In local churches fundamentals of Jesus' teachings on how Christians should act at work, at play, in the home and in all associations with people are discussed.

★ ★ ★

Young people are taught preparatory courses for marriage; tolerance for beliefs of others; forgiveness as they study Bible stories; and subjects discussed that young people ask.

And then there is fun as swimming, skating bowling and parties in the home and church as a group.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL

An attendance contest in the Sunday School started last Sunday in First Congregational Church.

★ ★ ★

Known as the Charles Hunt Contest, attendance records will be noted each week and the standings of each class posted. At the close of the contest a plaque will be given the winning class.

★ ★ ★

The contest will be a yearly affair, Pastor Malcolm K. Burton said.

HILLCREST NAZARENE

Special emphasis is placed on young people through the coming week at Hillcrest Church of the Nazarene, 520 W. Walton.

Beginning Wednesday teenagers and older youth of the church will lead services. Cheryl Shelton will be soloist at the prayer service Wednesday night.

Tobogganing, ice skating and bonfire are planned for 3 p.m. Thursday at Teeple Hill. Meet at the church first and dress warm, Darrell Hawley, president of Nazarene Youth Society, said.

A banquet is set for Friday at Greenfield Restaurant, Birmingham with special entertainment, and the Detroit Pistons basketball game is scheduled Saturday with everyone meeting at the church at 6 p.m.

Teen-agers will be in charge of the Sunday School and worship services at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Jan. 28 with special music by the Teen Choir.

According to Mr. Hawley regular sessions are at 6:15 each Sunday. The group includes young people from the age of 12 through those out of high school and early 20s.

The program consists of skits, debates, talks, discussion, musical programs, youth rallies, visiting other church groups and attending sporting events.

★ ★ ★

He will speak of mission work in South America tomorrow morning. Following the cooperative dinner at 6 p.m., the Rev. Mr. Nevins will show color slides of Alaska where he visited immediately after the earthquake in 1964.

He is a graduate of Albion College and Drew University.

After serving several pastorates, and as superintendent of the Methodist church in the Grand Traverse District, Nevins was appointed to his present position, visiting and encouraging missions throughout the world.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

Stanley Winkelman, president of Winkelman Stores Inc. and a member of the New Detroit Committee, will speak at a Fireside in Temple Beth Jacob, 79 Elizabeth Lake at 8:30 Friday evening.

★ ★ ★

"New Detroit and the Jewish Community" will be the topic of discussion.

Winkelman, a member of the Detroit High School Study Commission, has also served on United Foundation and Detroit Round Table boards.

RETREAT

The annual brotherhood retreat and refresher of Temple Beth Jacob is scheduled for Jan. 27 and 28 at Haven Hill Lodge, Highland with Jacob Meyer, general chairman.

Theme of the retreat is "Judaism's Confrontation With Today's Modern Problems."

★ ★

Thomas A. Horwitz, president of the Temple, will give the opening orientation address.

Speakers include Sherwin M. Birnkrant with the subject, "Riots in the Cities." Dr. Melvin Cherro of Oakland University who will talk on "War in Vietnam" and Dr. Harold L. Bienenfeld who will discuss "The Sexual Revolution."

Cochairmen of discussion and work shop groups are James K. Rosenthal, Dr. M. Kenneth Dickstein and Mr. Horwitz.

Rabbi Philip Berkowitz will discuss Jewish phases of each subject presented.

★ ★ ★

Henry R. Winkelman, president of Temple Brotherhood, and Dr. Bejamin Bisgeier will evaluate the discussion groups. Members of other Temples may attend by calling Temple Beth Jacob or Mr. Meyer for reservations.

Clergymen Admitted Free

Play Is Scheduled Through Feb. 18

Clergymen will be admitted free to performances of the American professional premiere of "And People All Around," provocative new civil rights play by George Sklar which opened last night at the Meadow Brook Theatre, it was announced today.

★ ★ ★

Managing director David Bishop said members of the clergy of all denominations will be given complimentary tickets on a space available basis.

★ ★ ★

"This is a play that explores basic moral questions and presents controversial moral issues in intensely dramatic form," Bishop explained.

"We believe that it is a unique theatrical experience that can be of great value for those who are engaged adily in communicating ideas on the same or similar questions."

Performances are at 8:15 p.m. Wednesdays through Saturdays, at 6:30 p.m. on Sundays, and at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesdays, with school matinees at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

The production runs through February 18.

Bishop said clergymen identifying themselves at the box office will be given seats for any performance providing there are seats still available.

★ ★ ★

Oregon School Survey Shows No Bible Classes

At its recent Assembly in Salem, the Oregon Council of Churches heard a report from a special committee which had made a survey of city schools showing that of the 107 school districts, none offer any courses about religion or biblical history.

★ ★ ★

To the Council's president, Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, the situation is not just local. In his view, he told the delegates, the United States is plagued by millions of "religious illiterates."

Courses about religion should be taught at all levels in public schools, in accordance with the Supreme Court's statement that a person's education is not complete without such knowledge, Dr. Flemming said.

★ ★ ★

Of the public schools surveyed by the Council's committee, 16 reported being involved in shared time programs, while 35 provided for released time religion classes, However, committee chairman, Dr. George B. Martin, remarked that local administrations were "not entirely familiar with the actual operation of these programs."

★ ★ ★

The Assembly elected Dr. Dwight S. Dodson, executive secretary of the American Baptist Convention in Oregon, as the new Council president, succeeding Dr. Flemming, who is also first vice-president of the National Council of Churches and president of the University of Oregon.

In business sessions, delegates voted to petition Governor Mark O. Hatfield to set up a committee to draft a farm labor relations committee which would include representatives of both farm laborers and the growers.

Women Meeting in East Side Church

A series of meetings titled "The Fulfillment of Prophecy" will be held by the Oakland County Ministerial and Missionary Association Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at the East Side Church of God, 343 Irwin.

★ ★ ★

All services are scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Walter A. Richardson, general chairman, announces Mrs. Fannie Potter will be principal speaker, Monday; Mrs. Lucy Whiters, Tuesday; Mrs. Richardson, Thursday; and several women will speak Friday evening.

The meetings are open to the public.

I believe that it is better to tell the truth than a lie. I believe it is better to be free than to be a slave. And I believe it is better to know than to be ignorant. — H. L. Mencken, American philosopher.

Baha'i Community Meets at YWCA

World Religion Day sponsored locally by the Baha'i Community of Pontiac, will observe the day with a public meeting at 5 p.m. tomorrow in the YWCA, 269 W. Huron.

Mrs. David Earl of Ann Arbor will address the gathering on "Many Faiths — One God," theme for the year.

★ ★ ★

The purpose of the observance is to spread the knowledge of the oneness of all revealed religions and to gain recognition of religion as the motivating force for world peace, Mrs. Shirley Baldwin said. She is secretary of the Pontiac Assembly.

Persecution has not crushed the church; power has not beaten it back; time has not abated its forces; and what is most wonderful of all, the abuses of its friends have not shaken its stablility. —Horace Bushnell, American divine.

Ministers' Institute at Troy Assembly

The Annual Ministers' Institute of Michigan District council of Assemblies of God will convene at the Troy Church at 7:30 Monday evening.

★ ★ ★

The Institute will continue through Wednesday with day session scheduled for ministers and their wives. The night sessions are open to the public.

★ ★ ★

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Reuben J. Calrson of Kirkland, Wash., superintendent of the Northwest District.

The Rev. Louis H. Calaway, host pastor, said he expects the Institute will draw some 500 delegates.

Quartet Union at St. James

The Pontiac City Quartet Union is presenting a musical program at the 3 p.m. meeting tomorrow in St. James Missionary Baptist Church.

The Cohen Singers, Bibleway Youth Choir and Mrs. Billie Ballard will offer selections. Out of town singers will be the Joy Harmonizers of Detroit.

At Keatington

North Oakland Church to Build First Unit

Dr. Rollin V. Mosher, architectural consultant for the Disciples of Christ Church from Indianapolis, Ind., presented a master plan for a three-unit church complex to the building and plans committee of North Oakland Christian Church this week.

★ ★ ★

A specialist in new church construction, Dr. Mosher proposed an education-fellowship-worship complex which would later be used as an administration center.

North Oakland members purchased eight acres of land at the corner of Baldwin and Waldon in Orion Township in the development known as Keatington.

The second unit will be the permanent sanctuary with a fellowship hall, and the third unit will be used as an educational building.

North Oakland Church will initiate a new form of experimental worship tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Beginning with the sermon, Pastor Jack H. C. Clark will incorporate the use of visual aids, records, tape recordings and printed matter to augment the sermon.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Members of First Presbyterian Church will get together to receive reports and elect officers of the congregation at the Wednesday evening dinner meeting.

★ ★ ★

Hosts include Judge and Mrs. Clark J. Adams, Dr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Allen, the Emil F. Bruestles, the Royal Clarks, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Galloway. Others are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoenstine, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Lazelle, the Donald O. Newmans, the William T. McNamaras and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wixom.

The dinner is at 6:30 p.m.

"New Foundations for Faith" will be the theme of the Rev. Galen E. Hershey's sermon for both worship hours tomorrow.

FIRST METHODIST

A class meeing and program will follow the 6:30 cooperative supper of the Wesleyan Class of First Methodist Church tonight.

Pastor Clyde Smith will continue his series of sermons on "Help For Difficult Times."

The Booster Class will get together for a cooperative dinner and class session in the church parlor at 6:30 Friday evening.

Busy Shoppers At The Pontiac Mall Take Time Out To Mingle And Admire The 65 Models On Exhibit

FASCINATION—A Ford engine draws the attention of Lynn Bailey of 110 Baldwin, Birmingham. She is an unsuspecting model for this picture, but a professional model the rest of the time.

Variety Is Spice of Life

Everyone seemed to have a favorite yesterday at the annual auto show sponsored by the Pontiac Automotive Trade Association at The Pontiac Mall.

"The Barracuda's my baby," said one pert salesgirl enviously eying a model of that car which seemed redder than red.

The younger set seemed especially fond of the sportier cars on display, especially the Pontiac GTO.

But, salesmen stationed at the exhibit seemed to agree: There's something for everybody, from the strictly economy-minded people pricing the Volkswagen and Buick Opel to the man who wanted to order a new Oldsmobile.

★ ★ ★

The show runs through Jan. 27 and features 65 cars now on the market plus a number of separate displays.

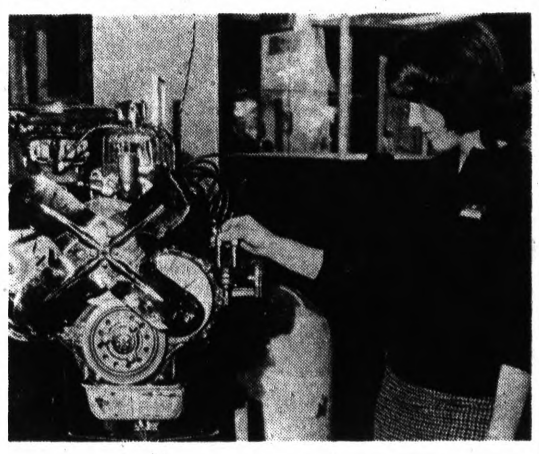

11 LOCAL DEALERS

Eleven local dealers are participating in the show. They are:

Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc., 631 Oakland; Jerome Cadillac Motor Sales, 1980 Wide Track; Pontiac Retail Store, 65 University Drive; Downey Oldsmobile, 550 Oakland; Autobahn Motors, 1765 S. Telegraph; Vandeputte Buick and Opel, Inc., 210 Orchard Lake.

★ ★ ★

Also, Spartan Dodge, 855 Oakland; Hillside Lincoln and Mercury, Inc., 1250 Oakland; Oakland Chrysler-Plmouth, Inc., 724 Oakland; Grimaldi Imported Car Co., 980 Oakland; and John McAuliffe Ford, Inc., 630 Oakland.

GETTING THE FEEL—The Pontiac Firebird is tried out for comfort by a veteran driver, Nicholas Santiwan, the City of Pontiac personnel director.

INSPECTING A CHAMP—The Pontiac GTO, named Car of the Year by Motor Trend Magazine, has special fascination for Audrey Babcock, even though she might be expected to have a different allegiance. She lives at 2781 Oldsmobile, Waterford Township.

Fireplace's Gas-Fired Logs Warm Dark-Stained Pine Country Kitchen

Split-Shake Trimmed Two-Story Of The William Pearces Found In Franklin

'Sea Salt' Season's 2-Story's Interior

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Take a turn-of-the-century home, spice its modernized interior with antiques and sailing memorabilia, and you have a recipe guaranteed to please the most discerning decorators and dedicated mariners.

The William Pearce home in Franklin reveals the family's interest in sailing as soon as you enter the living room.

On the raised hearth stands one of Mr. Pearce's most prized posessions, the first-place handicap class trophy from the Bay View Yacht Club's Mackinaw Race. The Pearces have won the cup three times (1964, 1966 and 1967) in their 32-foot cutter, the Temptress.

Continuing the nautical theme on the authentic barn-board above the fireplace and on the mantel are antique sailing ships, telescopes, a sextant and a ship's clock.

Black leather chairs and ottomans (one set contemporary, the other traditional) are grouped about the round spindled map table.

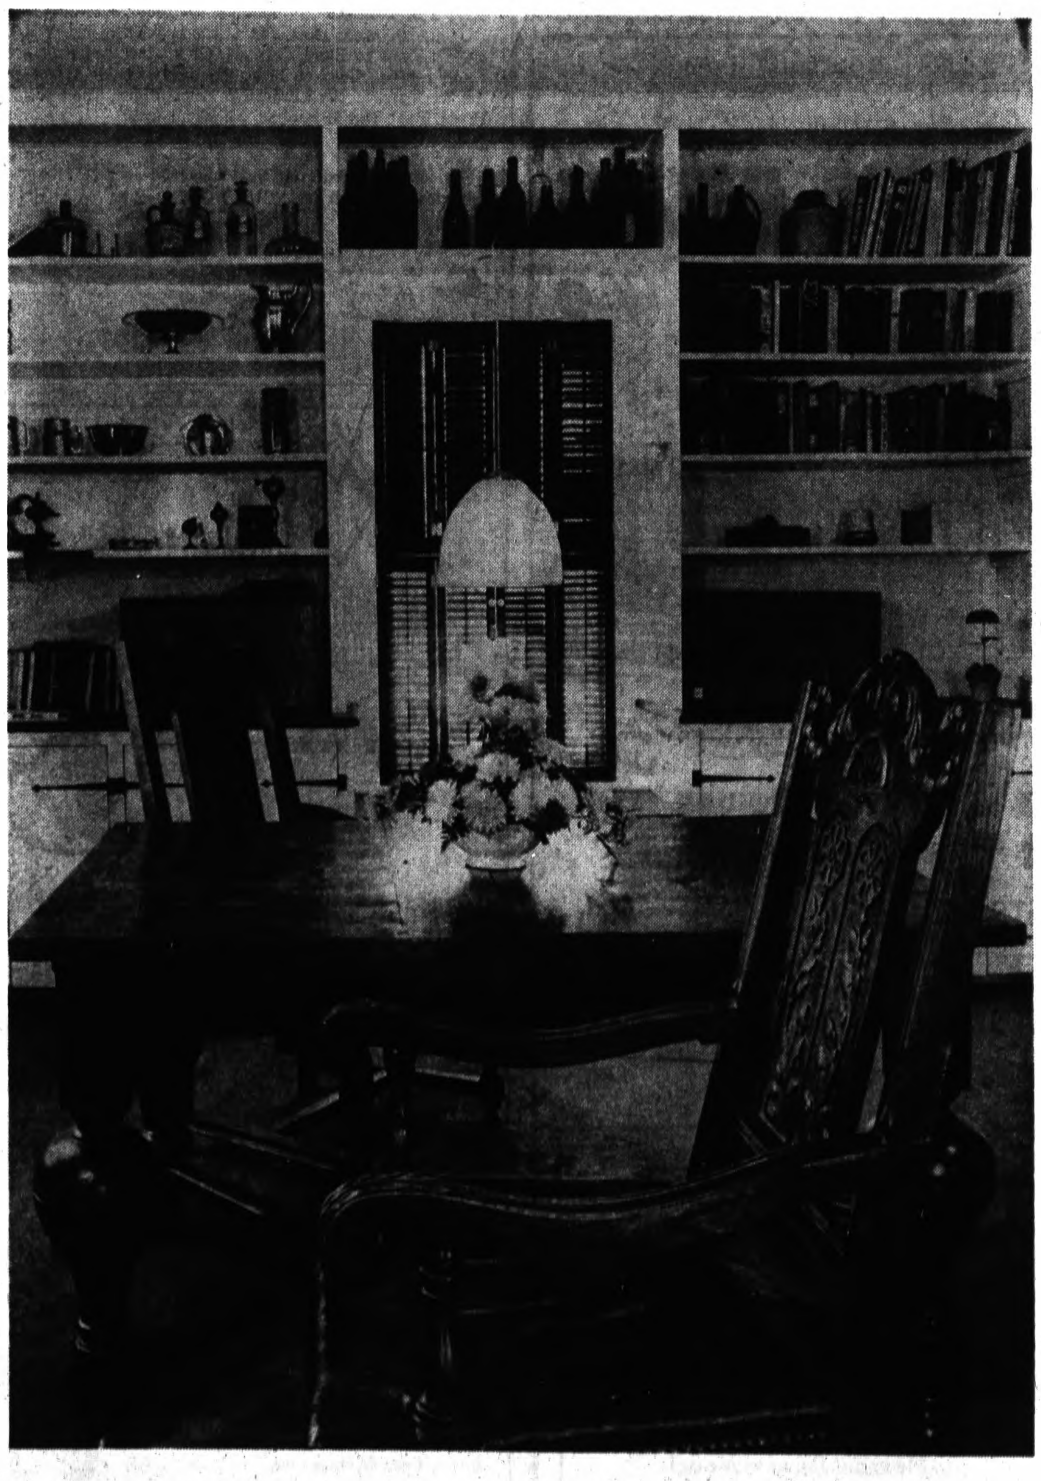

A copper ashtray centers the ancient dovetailed woodbox before the spool settee.

Before the Belgium linen draped window opposite the fireplace is a drop-leaf pine table (dating back to 1800s) topped by a sailing vessel, hand-blown green bottles and an antique net float.

A black leather, late 19th century contour chair and a Tiffany shaded hanging lamp complete the arrangement. Paintings in the setting include "Sunrise on Village" by Thomas Chatfield and a charcoal and pencil original by Bernie Fuchs.

Carved armchairs serve the nearby dining room's massive oak parquet table.

Interior Fashions Spotlight Stripes

Striping walls is fashionable and produces very decorative effects.

First, paint the walls in a chosen background color.

★ ★ ★

After thoroughly drying, securely fasten masking tape to the surface, marking off the areas to be striped in the width you desire. Paint these designated areas in contrasting colors.

★ ★ ★

When they are thoroughly dry, remove the strips of masking tape and the walls become the most exciting feature in the room!

Look to Edges

When applying paint with a roller, first cut in the edges of the wall with a brush or an edging roller. Take extra care not to get paint on the ceiling or adjacent wall.

BALANCED COLONIAL—Everything seems to be exactly in place in this two-story Colonial. Note the identical dormers and the matching front windows. Even the downsweep of the garage roof is in harmonious relationship with the over-all architectural style.

Traditional Details Spice Home Design

Authentic traditional details highlight this thoroughly modern two-story house.

It has the narrow clapboards, corner boards, vertical boards-and-battens and several other early American touches peculiar to this style of architecture.

The dormers have been carefully scaped to hold down the proportion needed to achieve good balance. And the garage, with its swept-down roof, is well designed to provide additional balance between the house and the adjacent wing.

In creating this plan, architect Herman H. York not only found space for five bedrooms, but did so in a house with more glamour than is customary in a traditional residence.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most exciting design element is the two-story entrance foyer with a continuous balcony railing framing the area.

LIVING ROOM

Directly ahead of this dramatic and somewhat opulent feature (foyers seem to be getting more luxurious of late) is the living room, which stretches to the rear of the house. In fact, the living room is one of four principal rooms that face the privacy of the rear, the other three being the dining room, family room and master bedroom.

The terrace can be reached directly from the living room, dining room and family room.

The family room is truly that, being tucked into an area remote from the formal rooms adjacent to the entrance foyer.

★ ★ ★

The fireplace, located in this room, is flanked by two large storage closets for folding chairs, toys and games. Sliding glass doors connect the family room to the terrace.

Near the family room is a service complex — laundry, lavatory and mud closet. In this plan, the laundry equipment is not in a closet, but in a sizable laundry room.

There is space for a laundry tub as well as a washer and dryer, closet, counter for storage and an ironing board. The direct access to the two-car garage from this area means that a wash-up room is available to the home gardener or week-end auto mechanic.

★ ★ ★

A huge storage alcove in the garage can accommodate power equipment, garden supplies, bicycles, etc.

BEDROOMS

The two bedrooms on the first floor are completely separated from the noise of the family room, laundry and kitchen. If bedroom No. 2 is used as a den or setting room for the owner, a complete master suite is made possible.

The split-type bathroom is hidden from veiw of the entrance foyer. There is a bank of closets in the master bedroom. Wall space is excellent for twin beds and several pieces of furniture.

The large kitchen — nearly 21' long — has plenty of space for a full dinette set.

★ ★ ★

Upstairs, there are three good sized bedrooms. Care was taken to obstruct the view directly into these rooms from the foyer below. A split bathroom allows dual use of these facilities.

★ ★ ★

Architect York has designed two garage doors, not only for convenience but to keep the scale of these openings in proper relationship with the rest of the house.

A large single door might draw attention away from the more important elements of the facade. A seemingly minor matter to a layman, this detail is typical of the care that has gone into the creation of this house.

Z-24 STATISTICS

Design Z-24 has a living room, dining room, kitchen, family room, foyer, two bedrooms and a bath on the first floor, with a habitable area of 1658 square feet, not including the service area and the two-car garage. There are three bedrooms and a large split bath on the second floor, adding 773 square feet. Over-all dimensions, which include the garage, are 79' by 34' 8".

Rubber heel marks on vinyl asbestos tile floors are easily removed with floor-mark remover pads now available in supermarkets.

Step-by-Step Process

Plywood Production Is Painstaking

Softwood plywood is unique among building materials.

Let's follow its manufacture step by step. Only selected logs qualify as plywood "peelers," generally cut from the lower, larger portion of the trunk where the wood is mature and strong, with the clearest grain.

It comes down from the woods, goes into the storage pond to be finally cut to lathe size, then moves into the plywood factory and through the debarker. Now it's a peeler "block" — pick of the forest crop — ready to become plywood.

Huge tongs from an overhead crane lift it into the lathe. Metal gripper "chucks" clamp both ends and the block begins to spin, revolving swiftly against a long, keen, razor-sharp blade of steel.

★ ★ ★

The blade bites in. A continuous strip of thin wood is peeled off — unwound from the log like paper from a roll.

VENEER

This is veneer, not plywood. The lathe cuts it to an exact and specified thickness — from 1/10 to 3/16 of an inch — and sends it streaming over conveyors to the clipping machine.

Giant knives, controlled by a skilled operator, cut the veneer to proper width for full utilization. It passes on into long mechanical dryers, where the moisture content of the wood is scientifically reduced to provide for greatest panel stability and best glue bond.

Next comes patching. Wood is never completely perfect, and here the natural defects are cut out, to be replaced with solid wood, expertly glued into place.

Through the glue-spreader, now, go some of the sheets, where large rollers cover both sides with a uniform thickness of adhesive. These glue-covered pieces are stacked, alternately with dry veneers, to make up panels of the desired thickness.

Always there is an odd number of veneers — three, five, seven, sometimes nine.

And always there is a cross-graining of veneers. The grain of each ply is placed at right angles to that of adjacent plys.

★ ★ ★

These two simple factors are the "secret" of plywood's unique properties. A balanced panel of cross-laminated wood veneers is thus created—strong, rigid, split-proof, able to resist great impact.

MORE TO BE DONE

But several important steps remain before this panel is finished and ready for the countless jobs which builders and industrial users have assigned to it.

After lay-up, panels go into presses where the wood and glue are bonded into one panel.

Two important variations are made here. If the panel is to be for permanent outdoor or marine use (this is exterior type plywood), the glue must be completely and absolutely waterproof. And on the press, heat as well as pressure is required. The result is a permanent, indestructible plastic bond.

If the panel is to be interior type plywood — for ordinary indoor and construction use — the adhesives need not be waterproof, and may be cured with or without heat.

Even these glues, however, are highly resistant to moisture. The interior panel can be produced more economically, yet is completely suitable for permanent out-of-the-weather application.

From the press, panels move through machines which trim them to exact, precision-squared sizes, and sand them down to proper thickness. Then comes inspection, the careful repair of any blemishes in the face plys and final grading, together with application of the American Plywood Association DFPA quality grade-trademarks.

★ ★ ★

Now the forest giant has passed from tree to log, from log to veneer, from veneer to plywood.

NEW STATE

In this new form it is tremendously different from ordinary wood. The few natural disadvantages common to wood have been eliminated or successfully minimized. The natural advantages have been enhanced.

Yet — in no sense has it become "reworked" wood. No change has been made in the basic chemical or molecular structure.

The completed panel of plywood remains real wood. It has real wood's natural warmth and texture. It has real wood's versatility and workability. It has real wood's age-long tradition. All the forest-endowed strength of long-fibred softwood sinew has been retained . . . retained and improved.

★ ★ ★

For it is real wood — engineered to do a better building job for you.

For more information about the properties of plywood and its manufacture write for free copies of Forms 62-210A and 62-190A from the American Plywood Association, 1119 A St., Tacoma, Washington 98401. Offer good in U.S. only.

Handymen Prepare Area

Before you begin painting, prepare the surface by dusting ceilings, walls and woodwork.

For excessively dirty surfaces, wash with a mild synthetic detergent and rinse thoroughly with water.

Make sure the surface is bone dry before painting. Remember to remove loose, flaking or blistering paint with a wire brush and scraper.

Protect Knees

To reduce kneeling time to a minimum, use a roller of the proper width when painting your baseboard. Protect your walls and floors with shirt cardboards or a metal shield available at your local reputable paint dealer.

NAP TIME — The cradle shown is equipped with casters which make it easy to move from one room to another. Any future father, uncle or grandfather can easily make it. To obtain the full size cradle pattern number 300 send $1 (add 25 cents for airmail delivery) by currency, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif., 91409.

Quality Latex Boon to Painters

A quality latex paint is the best thing for the "do-it-yourselfer" when painting ordinary walls and ceilings.

★ ★ ★

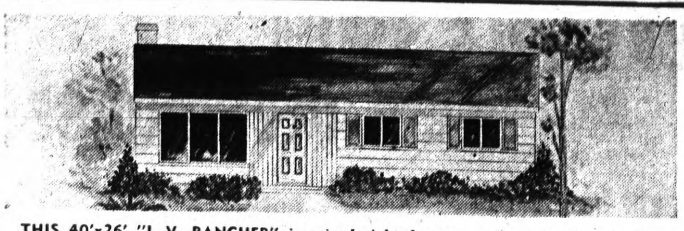

It is easily applied and gives a smoother appearance, leaves no lap marks, and dries quickly!

★ ★ ★

It can be frequently cleaned with a simple soap and water scrubbing.

Many latex paints require an extended curing period before being washed or cleaned so be sure to read the label instructions carefully.

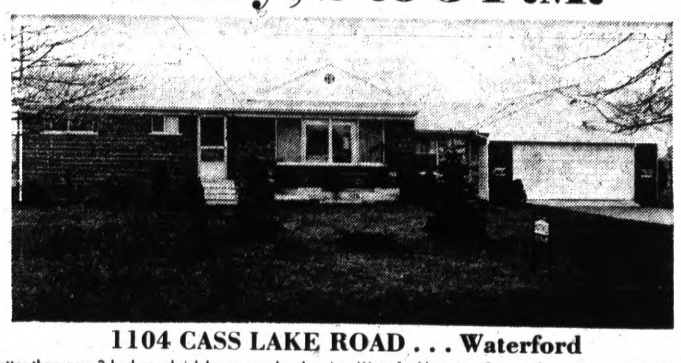

Few shrubs tolerate the toxicity of the soil found in the root zone of the black walnut.

Urban Housing on Agenda

By SAM FOGG
United Press International

Major new housing legislation to help cities solve the problems of the ghettos is expected to move up high on the Congressional priority list next session.

The first year of the 90th Congress produced little action in the housing field. Next year is election year, however, and there will be strong political pressures for action to head off city racial explosions.

Prominent senators in each political parties — Republican Charles Percy of Illinois and Democrat Robert F. Kennedy of New York — are backing bills aimed at enlisting private enterprise to undertake a massive effort to build houses in slum areas. The poor would be encouraged to become home owners.

Administration officials, Negro spokesmen and housing industry representatives agree that home ownership in the ghettos can be a major deterrent against rioting and violence such as eruped in Newark, Detroit and other cities last summer.

Dr. Nathan Wright Jr., a Newark sociologist and author of the book "Black Power Urban Unrest," summarized the situation at a hearing of a Senate banking & currency subcommittee earlier this year:

"In our riots, black people destroy property which is the symbol of their oppression. When white people who control power rehabilitate cities, they give little attention to human life but give massive attention to physical property.

"It is an insult to the people who live there. It inevitably and naturally makes them want to strike out at the symbols . . .

"Fulfillment and recreation can never come through housing efforts which afford people no sense of investment in, nor ownership and control of their immediate environment."

Wright, a militant spokesman for the Negro poor, also castigated existing federal housing programs.

★ ★ ★

"Our past housing efforts have been effectively destructive and debilitating," he asserted.

"Our public housing efforts, however well intentioned, have been and are by and large an effective menace and curse upon our urban life."

Congress largely confined its legislative efforts this year to belated passage of a rat control bill and the appropriation of $40 million to get a model cities program on the drawing board.

But come January when the House and Senate meet for the election-year session, housing measures are going to be topic A and President Johnson is expected to hit hard at the problem in his state of the union message.

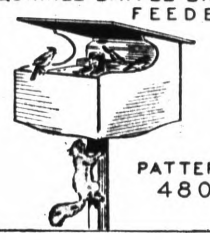

Mulch Mums for Protection

Paul E. Machuga, president of the Detroit Chrysanthemum Society, reminds gardeners that though it's late, it's better to mulch mums now than never.

★ ★ ★

"Remember," said Machuga, "the object is to try to keep the ground frozen and to prevent intermittent freezing and thawing." It is this frost and defrost that damages plant roots and causes their loss.

WHAT IS KLINGELHUT FACE BRICK SIDING?

It is the Multi-Purpose Brick Siding that does so many jobs—BETTER

Klingelhut brick is genuine, individually made, kiln-fired brick of standard dimension except that it is ½ inch thick. It is bonded to ½ inch insulating panels by an exclusive process developed by Klingelhut. This produces an insulating combination equal to 4 inches of blown-in insulation—or 4 feet of solid brick.

• Gives year-round insulation • Reduces fuel costs • Beautifies your home, increases its value • Resists fire—Lowers insurance rates • Ends repair and maintenance bills—no painting • Economical to install . . .

Conserve Heat, Save Fuel

Outdated Drafty House Windows Are Replaced By Low-Cost NU-SASH

Doing something about those old-fashioned, drafty, hard-to-wash house windows that cause high heating bills has been a vexing and costly problem for homeowners who want to modernize. However, a handsome new product now provides an easy, inexpensive solution.

BEFORE:

AFTER:

Old window is unsightly, hard to wash, is difficult to open, and lets in wind and cold.

Nu-Sash replacement window is attractive, seals tightly, lifts out for easy cleaning.

The product — Nu-Sash — is an aluminum unit specifically designed to replace old worn-out house windows. The low cost, including installation, is approximately 40% less than any other methods of renovating old windows.

One Low Price

There is no costly remodeling or construction work when you convert to Nu-Sash. Inside plaster and woodwork is never disturbed. The unique and sturdy installation process is one of the main reasons Nu-Sash are so economical. The average window can be converted in minutes

Savings in heating bills will pay for a Nu-Sash conversion. Although low in cost, Nu-Sash windows are packed with outstanding features unmatched by any other window. These features greatly reduce housework, eliminate maintenance, and add eye-appeal. For example:

Stretching and straining on ladders is completely eliminated since Nu-Sash lift out for easy cleaning.

Painting, puttying, and almost all other maintenance is completely eliminated since Nu-Sash are constructed entirely of aluminum and rigid vinyl.

Nu-Sash Pays For Itself

Nu-Sash are so sturdy that test results show the window superior to standards set by FHA for new home construction requirements.

The window comes in models that replace most all types of windows. Picture windows are available. A heavy duty model is available for schools, factories, apartments, and buildings.

As an important and permanent addition to the home, Nu-Sash qualify for low interest home improvement loans.

The Nu-Sash window has appeared in recent editions of Better Homes and Gardens magazines. The product was awarded the guarantee seal of that publication.

Details and drawings and cost estimates of Nu-Sash are available upon request. For additional free literature about the product, mail the coupon.

When Spring Arrives

Armchair Gardening Simplifies Planting

Now when chill winds of winter are blowing and snow is flying is when most successful vegetable gardens are planned. And, instead of waiting until it's time to plant and then taking his chances on what he can get, the wise gardener calculates what he can use and orders it now.

So, be a wise gardener, too. First, make a list of what you like, then add a few things you have never grown before — or maybe never even ate before.

This is what lends spice to your gardening. Then, based upon past experience, decide how many rows or feet of rows your family can eat. On new crops, of course, you will have to depend upon catalog recommendations for amounts.

However, here are a few suggestions based upon the needs of one particular family of six, including one heavy-eating teen-age son.

All these are based upon single plantings of productive, up-to-date varieties, 20-foot rows, and fairly good soil with no intent to preserve. Bush beans, 3 rows. Carrots, 4 rows. Beets, 4 rows. Non-heading lettuce (more vitamins than heading), 1 row. Cucumbers, 3 hills (band 8 feet wide). Swiss chard, 1 row. Radishes, 1 row. Kohl-rabi, 2 rows. Tomatoes, 15-plants.

CROP ROTATION

Next, see where you can double up by following one crop with another in the same space. For example, after peas are gone plant late beets; after early beans, turnips; and follow onion sets with tomatoes. Celeriac can follow early lettuce and cabbage can go in after radishes or early carrots.

Now for some general pointers. Most people find peas unprofitable, because they plant them too late. Get the seeds in as early as possible to dig.

Mid-March in the latitude of Boston, New York or Chicago is not too early if the soil is not sticky. Parsnip seeds do not store well. Do not bother with old seeds. Plant beans every 3 to 4 weeks until August 1.

★ ★ ★

Lettuce is much tougher than it looks. Try planting earlier. Tomatoes suffer less shock if small but vigorously growing plants are used and tie to stakes for the best fruits. Cucumbers can be trained on a wire fence to save space, if desired. Give plenty of water anyway. Onion sets put out early soon get out of the way. Then start others from seed for a late crop.

Midget corn takes little room and produces surprisingly well for the space used. In any case, plant corn in several short rows to make a block. Stretched-out rows rarely set ears well. Chinese cabbage goes to seed if planted early. Wait until early summer at least. It is more like lettuce than cabbage.

Red radishes go to seed when hot weather comes. Switch to long white ones for later plantings. Peanuts are fun even in the north. When planting remove the shells but not the papery skins inside. Root celery or celeriac is easier to grow and more productive than the regular kind in the home garden.

Of course, common sense dictates that you dig and prepare the soil as early as possible — as soon as the soil is no longer sticky.

★ ★ ★

Put some fertilizer safely below the seeds but plan to side-dress (side-feed) later in shallow-hoed trenches alongside.

Lightning Hits 9,000 Homes

Major lightning losses were suffered by over 9,000 American homeowners in 1967, according to estimates of the Lightning Protection Institute, Chicago, Illinois. The bolts caused over $56 million in dollar losses among houses destroyed or damaged by lightning or resulting fire.

Though not the greatest number of houses hit by lightning in a single year, the 1967 toll was highest ever in dollar losses, the Institute said.

There were 7,730 major damage cases, averaging $2,500, and 1,272 "total losses," averaging $30,000. Figures do not include minor "nuisance" losses, such as damaged light fixtures and appliances.

Lightning is nature's worst destroyer of property — costlier than tornadoes even in a year like 1967, the Lightning Protection Institute pointed out. The toll is mostly needless, because effective protection is available for homes, the Institute advised.

Mum Society Meets Sunday

Controlled Fireplace Comfort

Ever wish for some kind of automatic heat control for your fireplace so you could heat a room with it to a temperature you could depend upon?

That's possible now a Baltimore firm is marketing gas logs which come with a room thermostat that automatically regulates flow of gas to the logs to maintain the selected temperature. They are believed to be among the first gas logs with automatic temperature control.

The gas logs come complete with components for thermostatic control. Installation is so simple that the occasional home handyman can do most of the job with perhaps some help from a plumber to run a small gas line to the logs.

Installation of the thermostatic control involves only mounting the thermostat on a wall and connecting wires from the thermostat to a 24-volt transformer, which plugs into a conventional electrical outlet, and to a gas valve which is concealed from view in the gas logs.

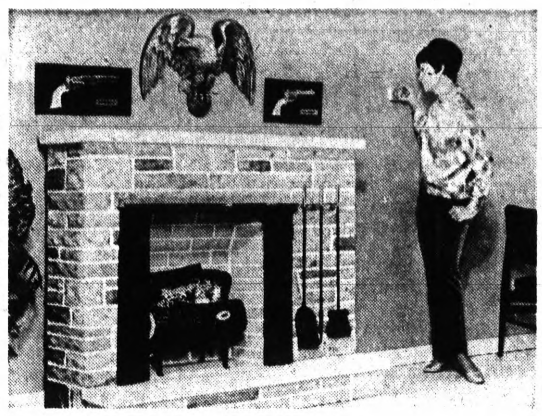

★ ★ ★

The gas logs are certified by the American Gas Association for use in vented incombustible fire-resistant fireplaces or in unvented fireplaces as permitted by local building codes.

The gas logs — complete with refractory clay logs, Robertshaw thermostat and automatic gas valve, transformer, wire and instructions — are available from Readybuilt Products Company, Baltimore, or locally from representatives, names available upon request.

The logs are 20 in. wide, 17½ in. high and 8½ in. deep. Hourly heat output is 22,000 Btu.

Additional information and names of local suppliers are available from Readybuilt Products Company, 1701 McHenry St., Baltimore, Md. 21223.

NOT TOO COLD—Wall thermostat regulates heat output of gas fireplace logs, the first available with automatic temperature control.

Slogan Advanced by Council

The slogan "Don't put all your eggs in one basket" has a new meaning according to the National Better Heating-Cooling Council, the information center for the hydronic (modern hot water) heating industry.

According to the Council, the slogan should now read "Don't put all your heat in one place."

Heating engineers have long advocated that the placement of heat distributors be spaced so that all cold corners will be eliminated.

Too often, in far too many homes, one can alternately shiver and swelter merely by moving about in one room. The problem, says the Council, is that the heat distributors are centrally located.

★ ★ ★

The solution lies in the installation of a modern baseboard hydronic system. In such a system, baseboard distributors are located on the outer perimeter of a home at ankle height.

Since heat rises, a curtain of warmth will be erected on the outside "weather" walls and under the windows. This eliminates all drafts and hot spots and brings even, gentle heat throughout the room.

The biggest advantage of hydronic (hot water) heating is the draft-free, even heat which radiates from wall-hugging baseboard units.

Most Important

Winter Plant Care

When winter really arrives in December, it is time to give more thought to your house plants — not that they need any more care but just some of it is different.

First, remember that there are short-day bloomers (bloom when days are short) like poinsettias and Christmas cactus and long-day bloomers.

The first group are often discouraged from blooming by artificial lights say the horticulturists of the Green Thumb Tool Company of Columbus, Ohio. If this is the case, try putting them into a dark closet from 4 p.m. until 8 a.m. Also, feed them gently but regularly.

The long-day bloomers, the bulk of your plants, generally go into either a partial or complete rest. With these reduce the amount and frequency of watering to prevent rotting and stop feeding until they show signs of wanting to resume growth.

Of course, it is only fair to say there are also some plants that are part way in between. Obviously, their care is in between-feed and water regularly when they want to grow, taper off when they show signs of wanting to rest.

FOR ALL KINDS OF PLANTS

However, in all cases try to keep plants out of cold drafts and sudden change in temperature. These are nearly always harmful, causing dropping of leaves or buds and often stunting the plant.

When watering use tepid water. Turn the plants part way around every week or two. This keeps the plants straight and prevents one-sidedness.

At all times watch out for insects and diseases. The very first sign spray with any good, all-purpose house plant spray, repeating in a week or 10 days to be sure. And, if you should happen to use one in a pressure can, do not hold it less than two feet from the plant.

★ ★ ★

The propellent may be one which can chill the plant severely, if you hold it too close. The greater distance gives better coverage, too. So, follow instructions.

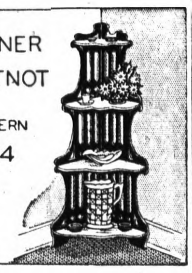

Except for cacti and succulents, try to maintain a higher level of humidity in the air with pans of pebbles and water (not quite touching the pots) under the pots and misting occasionally or operating a humidifier.

Finally, keep large leaves free of dust with a clean moist cloth. Also, stir the surface soil whenever it cakes but don't repot until the plant shows signs of activity again.

Waterford Agenda Light

A light agenda faces Waterford Township Board members at their 7:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

Discussion is scheduled concerning a contract for township employes other than policemen and firemen.

Up for consideration is an appropriation to purchase radio equipment for the Waterford Township Volunteer Fire Fighters Association.

In other business, first notice will be read on a request to transfer a Class A permit from MB and B Recreation, 4825 M59, to Airway Enterprises, Inc.

The permit allows the serving of alcoholic beverages on bowling alley concourses.

Up for acceptance Monday night is a four-year summary (1964-67) of township police department activity.

CHAPTER 10

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Dan Briscoe wanted to escape his reputation as a lawman who had sent a deputy into an ambush.

Advised to go further west, he arrived at a town named Flag. His attention was attracted to an older woman. He found that she, Lavinia Shannon, was in trouble. Briscoe then saw Alex Emmons at the train to meet Kate Royal, and overheard poolroom gossip of antagonism between the two women. Shep Sand, a gunman, sought to provoke Emmons but Kate Royal averted a fight.

Dan Briscoe finally arose from the chair in front of Heather House and strolled down the street, heading for a gambling house named the Big Chance, whose lights were brighter than its competitors.

He had in mind the thought of buying chips in a modest-limit stud poker game in order to while away the evening.

Only the monte table was in operation. The shirt-sleeved house dealer, wearing celluloid eyeshade and black sleeve supporters, was waiting to flip a card to one of the two players.

This man wore a loose dark sack coat and a white linen shirt with a stiff starched collar, adorned with a plaid bow tie.

★ ★ ★

He chewed a toothpick as he studied his two cards. He had a hard, bony face whose structure seemed two sizes small for his wrinkled skin. An old, white scar crossed the wrinkles from cheekbone to the line of the jaw.

TRADEMARKS

Dan had never before set eyes on Gideon Marko, but the toothpick and scar were enough.

These characterists had been described to him and to other law officers by word of mouth and, at times, on lists of wanted men.

The other man at the table was the heavy-shouldered Shep Sand. Dan recalled that the information law officers passed along to each other had mentioned that Gid Marko and Shep Sand usually operated together.

★ ★ ★

The presence of the pair at the monte table apparently had put a damper on business, for no other games were open. The bar was deserted.

WATCHES PAIR

Dan ordered a glass of beer at the bar, and stood there, sipping it. He had been aware of the wayl Shep Sand and Gid Marko reacted when he had entered.

They were sitting so that Sand faced the front door and Marko the only other entrance which was at the side and to the rear. The small windows, set high in the walls, were blanked out by dusty shades.

Both men had shifted ever so slightly when Dan had stepped through the door. The dealer had braced himself so as to be ready to seek safety. Sand and Marko had been expecting someone. Expecting trouble.

★ ★ ★

Dan watched their reflections in the back bar mirror. They had lost interest in him. That satisfied him that Gid Marko, like his companion, did not know that he had been the marshal of wild Yellow Lance.

FINDS ANSWER

Who were they expecting? Dan suddenly had the probable answer. Alex Emmons. Somehow, that jolted him. He finished his beer, tossed a coin on the bar and said, "That'll hold me for a little while."

He walked out of the place. And just in time to see Alex Emmons emerging from Heather House down the street. His ǻunch had been right.

Emmons was armed now. He was carrying a six-shooter in a much-used leather holster. The gun was the commonplace, inexpensive weapon that a rider would carry with him on the range.

★ ★ ★

Evidently Emmons had brought this gun with him in his saddle pouch to fall back on in case of need.

HIDES IN DOORWAY

Dan melted into the shelter of a dark recessed doorway in a store building next to the saloon.

Emmons crossed the street, heading directly for the Big Chance. Striding to his death. Driven by pride. Bent on making up for his humiliation in the presence of Kate Royal.

Emmons was not aware Dan stood in the dark doorway. He had eyes only for the lighted entrance to the Big Chance. In the glow of that light Dan could see the bloodless set of Emmons' face. Alex Emmons knew these might be the last moments of his life.

★ ★ ★

What Dan did then was the last thing in the world he had in mind. Something drove him to intervene in an affair in which he had no stake.

STRIKES EMMONS

He stepped silently from the doorway, a stride back of Alex Emmons and drove his clenched fist to the side of the neck below the ear.

It was a blow that had been taught him by Wyatt Earp, who had won face as a law man in Dodge City and Tombstone. Their paths had happened to cross when Dan had been a young, eager deputy in cheyenne.

"Better to beef 'em than shoot 'em," Wyatt Earp had said. "Right below the ear. It paralyzes nerves and muscles. Aim it just a little toward the spinal cord. But be careful. You can kill a man if you swing too hard."

Alex Emmons staggered blindly. He made a reflex motion toward his six-shooter, which failed. Dan caught him before he went down, and backed into the doorway with his burden sagging in his arms.

SPOTTED BY KATE

He peered out. With one exception, his intereference in Emmons' purpose had escaped notice. A figure loomed at arm's length.

"Don't you dare move!" a feminine voice breathed. "I've got a pistol, and I'll shoot if you try to kill him."

She was Kate Royal. "Don't be a fool!" Dan snorted. "He isn't hurt. He's only knocked out. Get in here off the sidewalk before somebody sees you. Your friend here will be almost as good as new in about 10 minutes."

Kate Royal moved closer peering at Dan's face in the faint light. "Oh!" she murmured. She seemed shocked into silence for a space.

Footsteps were approaching on the sidewalk. She moved into the doorway, pressing against Dan and the stunned burden he held. Two men walked past, smoking, and failed to notice that the door was occupied.

"Why did you hit him?" she asked.

"I wish I knew," Dan snarled.

"He was going into that saloon to start trouble with a gunman," she said. "You knew that didn't you?$$

★ ★ ★

"Lady, do you try to read everybody's mind?"

"But, I don't understand. Why did you—?"

'For pete's sake, Lady, I don't know why I stopped him. Just a busybody, maybe. I ought to know better. But we can't stay here, powwowing. We better get him away from here."

"I've got a carriage handy," she whispered. 'It'll only take a minute or two. Pretend he's drunk and that you're helping him in case somebody sees you. Who are you?"

"Just a cowboy passing through town," Dan said.

"What's your name?"

"Driscoll!" Dan snapped impatiently. "Now, will you please —!"

"i'll hurry! she said, and was gone.

1913 Stamps Found in Statehouse Vault

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Two sheets of 1913 series six-cent stamps have been discovered in a statehouse vault.

Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa said the 200 orange stamps bearing a likeness of George Washington were discovered when a vault used to store corporation records was cleaned out this week.

★ ★ ★

A stamp dealer has advised Cenarrusa the stamps are worth 25 cents each. He said he will check with the State Historical Society and turn the stamps over to that organization if they have any historical value.

Romney Steps Up Pace in Wisconsin Workout

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, grinning and perspiring, was made an honorary member of the YMCA's Run for Your Life Club today after a prebreakfast workout during his presidential campaign travels.

The Republican governor, planning a series of appearances in the Milwaukee area before leaving for Detroit at 4:10 p.m., arrived Friday night shortly after his wife, who similarly had a speaking engagement in suburban Menomonee Falls.

Romney trotted and walked around a YMCA gymnasium in shorts and a T - shirt leading a group of more than 50 men participating in the YMCA's health-improvement, jogging program.

His visit to Wisconsin, whose presidential preference primary is April 2, is a recess from his hard campaigning in the March 12 New Hampshire primary.

Noting the earlier New Hampshire date, Romney remarked: "Wisconsin is No. 2, so I guess here we'll try harder."

Romney, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and possibly New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller are expected to be on the Dairy State's April ballot.

Romney said he is leaving his Wisconsin campaign strategy in the hands of local supporters, and that the outcome of the New Hampshire test would not alter hus Wisconsin plans as currently outlined.

In Washington Friday, Romney said he has started "closing the gap" in his underdog campaign against Nixon for New Hampshire's presidential primary.

"I think we've started things on the upturn there," Romney said. He camt to Washington to tape a television program and confer with his campaign advisers.

"You have to start closing the gap first — but I expect to win," omney told newsmen.

The governor repeated his complaint that the United States has not "worked hard enough for peace" in Vietnam.

"I think we've passed up what appeared to be possible opportunities," he said.

Romney said his peace program for guaranteed neutrality in Vietnam would be explored now. Romney said he is certain President Johnson hah received a report on the proposal and on the reaction of foreign leaders.

Romney said he discussed it with leaders of 12 nations during his world tour, and U.S. diplomatic representatives were present at each conversation.

"I'm sure the President had a report on it," Romne ysaid. He said he would be happ yto report personally to Johnson if the President is interested.

Cause No. 22794

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Charles Michael Peckham, minor.

TO: Elsie Peckham, mother of said minor child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said child comes within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the mother of said child is unknown and said child has violated a law of the State, and that said child should be continued under the jurisdiction of this Court,

In the Name of the People of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 1st day of February, A.D. 1968, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

If being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Norman R. Barnard, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 16th day of January, A.D. 1968.

N. Viet Appears Unwilling to Meet All LBJ Conditions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hanoi appears to have met some — but not all — of President Johnson's conditions for halting the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, in the view of administration officials.

They reported yesterday that there was some evidence that North Vietnam was willing to accept the President's stipulation that peace talks must "take place promptly" if American raids are to stop.

But there was no evidence that Hanoi was yet willing to agree to the President's demand for some reduction in the Communist military effort in return for an end to U.S. bombing, they said.

Administration officials for the first time acknowledged that they have received private information from Hanoi concerning its offer to talk peace if the attacks stop.

★ ★ ★

But they indicated that information through diplomatic channels was about the same as that being broadcast publicly by Hanoi.

'NO RIGHT'

These public statements have said simply the Communists will talk if the bombing stops, but have declared the United States has no right to insist on any specific conditions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meantime, told newsmen yesterday that Johnson, in his State of the Union message, had not changed the "San Antonio formula" for peace talks.

But Rusk declined to say whether the President had stiffened his emphasis on reciprocal military reduction by the Communists.

★ ★ ★

Other officials said it was possible to read it that way.

ASSUMPTION

Johnson said in San Antonio last Sept. 29 that he would "of course assume" that North Vietnam would not take advantage of a U.S. bombing pause.

Wednesday night he said flatly "the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past."

Administration officials said the President purposely refrained from specifying any methods of techniques by which this assurance of Communist "restraint" could be made clear.

★ ★ ★

STILL SUSPICIOUS

By and large, however, the atmosphere here was still one of considerable suspicion concerning Hanoi's motives.

★ ★ ★

Officials pointed that it was difficult to dismiss the fact that North Vietnam, in instructions to Vietcong leaders which were subsequently captured by allied forces, assured the rebels in the South that even if talks began the fighting would continue unabated.

Guilty Plea in Drug Case

A 20-year-old Fairfield, Conn., youth, arrested in Bloomfield Township last August after marijuana cigarettes were found in his motel room, pleaded guilty yesterday to possession of hypnotic drugs.

Keith R. Baudis was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $50 court cost by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Baudis was allowed to plead guilty to the misdemeanor though he originally had been charged with possession of narcotics, a felony punishable up to 10 years in the state prison.

An 18-year-old companion was placed on probation for one year after his request to be accepted as a youthful trainee was granted by Beer.

If all conditions of probation are met the teen-ager's record will be cleared under the terms of the youthful trainee act.

Boy Scout Council Reelects President

Eleven men were named as representatives to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and two others were selected as members-at-large of the national council.

Seventy-five men from the Oakland and Macomb county areas in the council were elected to the council executive board.

Another 10 were elected honorary members.

Edward H. LeLand, the council scout executive, noted that the council reached a new membership high in 1967.

★ ★ ★

He expressed pleasure that 429 boys had taken part in long-term camping last year at the council's new Lost Lake Scout Reservation near Clare.

A miniature radio antenna has been designed that will save from 10 to 500 pounds in the weight of aircraft and eliminate roof-top antennas or rabbit ears on home television receivers.

Driver Training Needs Stressed

C. of C. Traffic Safety Panel Hears Expert

The need for more intensive and improved driver education programs in the area was pointed out at yesterday's noon meeting of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Traffic Safety Committee.

Michael LePere, executive vice president of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Foundation of Michigan, showed committee members the slide and lecture presentation the Foundation presents to area civic clubs and other organizations.

The presentation is part of a joint undertaking to develop support and understanding for high school driver education by the foundation and the traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County.

LePere pointed out that Pontiac has an excellent driver education program.

He also explained that a comprehensive study of Oakland County's traffic problems and needs, conducted in 1965 by more than 200 citizens and traffic officials, included several recommendations for improvements in high school driver education in the county.

The major goals of the foundation and the TIA include driver education as a full semester course in order to allow adequate time to present the material; more extensive use of simulators and multiple-car off-street driving ranges.

Waterford Twp. School Chief Points to Record

BY HUDSON WILLSE JR.

In a recent report to the Waterford Township Board of Education, Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe outlined significant achievements made in the school district the past five years.

TATROE

Tatroe emphasized several areas in which improvements have been made since 1963, including staff, facilities, financing, curriculum, the community school program, community relationships and site purchases.

"Once each year," he told board members, "I have reviewed our direction with you to permit you to see clearly our past and to help us all gain perspective for future decisions."

Tatroe said the district's most serious problem is to obtain operating funds during the next several years.

★ ★ ★

"You will be able to manage needs," he said. "You have a fine staff. But increased operating funds are required each year just to keep the present modest school program and to keep a high-quality staff."

'SIGNIFICANT GAINS'

Commenting on staff improvements over the five-year period, Tatroe noted that significant gains have been made quality wise.

"The in-service education opportunities you provide have improved the existing staff," Tatroe told board members.

"Student teaching agreements, improved recruiting and a reasonable local climate have attracted excellent teachers," he said.

★ ★ ★

Tatroe added that a high-quality administrative staff serves the district.

'QUITE GOOD CONDITION'

Commenting on facilities, Tatroe said: "As the board completes its current construction program, it will see the schools in quite good condition."

Reviewing construction projects in the past five years, Tatroe noted that five new buildings have been completed and that all 27 other schools have received additions or have been remodeled.

He said that all elementary schools will have libraries and multipurpose rooms when current construction is completed.

★ ★ ★

Under construction now are two new schools, Crescent Lake Elementary and Waterford Mott High.

On curriculum, Tatroe said that the school program has improved the district's holding power, stating that more than 90 per cent of the ninth graders have stayed in school to become seniors in each of the last three years.

He also mentioned improvements such as data processing, new experimental reading methods, vocational education and other advancements.

On site purchases, Tatroe told the board that 14 school sites were purchased over the five-year period, leaving only three more to complete district needs as defined in the master plan.

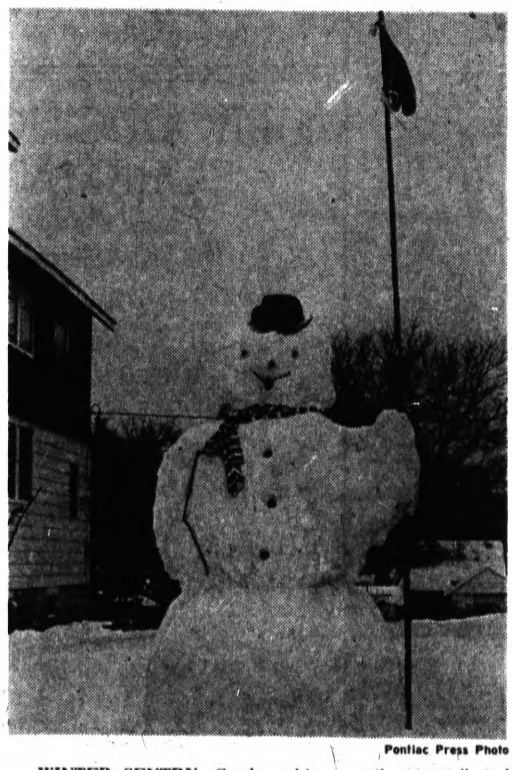

★ ★ ★

Tatroe cited numerous other improvements since 1963.

FRATERNAL AND MILITARY FUNERALS

Often we are confronted by families making final arrangements who are undecided as to which fraternal group to select to take part in the service.

Many times when the deceased has belonged to more than one group, all are excluded for fear of hurt feelings on part of the groups left out.

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

All fraternal groups stand ready to take an active part in the final service of one of their members. Most groups will take charge and conduct the entire service or fulfill their part at the graveside, leaving the main service to the clergyman of the family's choice.

The choice of which group to select should be based upon which one the deceased was most active in during life. When a fraternal group is desired by the family, they should not exclude it for fear of hurt feelings, for all fraternal groups stand ready to take an active part but only when requested by the family.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ANNA Denk, who passed away January 20, 1964.
The depths of sorrow I cannot tell,
Of the loss of one I loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory I shall always keep.
Sadly missed by husband Norman.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF LOUIS Spadafore, who passed away January 21, 1954.
Rest in peace, dear loving father
Fourteen long years have passed away,
You are gone, but still are living
In the hearts of those who stay.

SALESMAN
You are reading this ad for only one of two reasons; you are hunting for a job or you have one, and are looking for a better one. Either way look no longer. My company hires about once every 5 years, we have moved enough men up the ladder, so that we need new salesmen. We are a big company, Dunn and Bradstreet rated.
This is one of the hottest things that ever hit the Detroit area. No credit check, no turn downs, no canvassing. I cannot promise you the moon, because I don't own it, but I can promise you one of the best positions east or west of the Rockies, I have got that. I can also promise you that you can make more money with my company than you have ever made before, no matter what you have been doing, or what you have been selling. I promise you that you will never work as hard as you have worked before.
If you want something for nothing, answer another ad, but if you want a real good position, call me. If you have never sold anything before, that's O.K. I won't have to unlearn you, we can start from scratch, if you are a top notch salesman now, I have a real good position. Now just an ordinary down to earth salesman can make over $14,000 per year, no traveling, no gimmick, no tall tales, no way out yonder promises.

Joey'll Be 'Strangled' on TV to Prove She's an Actress

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Joey Heatherton is now a sedate young lady of 22 who doesn't say anything weird or hippie except "Guhrrroovey" and "Wrap it up and hang it on the wall."

WILSON

"People forget I'm an actress," she says—pouting a little about it—her singing and dancing have been heard and seen by millions and millions. But soon the public will see her getting strangled as the victim of "Lennie" in "Of Mice and Men" on ABC-TV on Jan. 31.

"Lennie is played by Nicole Williamson, an English actor, and he had a lot of fun strangling me during rehearsals," Joey said.

Joey's generation was of course too young to remember all the literary excitement about John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men"—and she told me, "It's a big dramatic thing for me. I play 'The Girl'—the Betty Field role. She's tied down to a wrangler on the ranch.

"And Lennie who likes to pet mice and pups and then strangles them, well, he likes to pet my hair.

"Then he grabs me and kills me like he kills the pup."

Joey's the only girl in "Of Mice and Men" and she hopes her death scene in the hayloft will be memorable. Then she returns to the Dean Martin show, singing a ballad and a couple of songs with Dean, and does a spoof of "She Came a Long Way From St. Louey"—again as the only girl on the show.

A Look at TV

Ellington Concert Hailed

NEW YORK (AP) — Duke Ellington fought brimstone with fire Friday night when he led the world premiere of his exhilarating second concert of religious music. On all counts he won the contest.

★ ★ ★

Nearly 6,000 persons found plenty of excitement in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine (Episcopal) for two hours and a quarter Friday night.

★ ★ ★

The concert was in 17 sections, including everything a fan of good, solid jazz and pop music could want. There were ballads a listener could sing along with, if that had been polite, like "99½ Per Cent Won't Do (a Ticket to Heaven is 100 Per Cent)" and "Don't Get Down on Your Knees to Pray until You Have Forgiven Everyone." Jimmy McPhail sang the former while Tony Watkins sang the latter. The congregation clapped along.

★ ★ ★

There were anthems and gospel songs by two adult choirs and a children's choir; humor in the remarks of Ellington and in a section about creation called "Supreme Being," in which a small boy read, "I was the apple. That little old snake made that pretty lady bite me and things ain't been the same since."

LONGEST SECTION

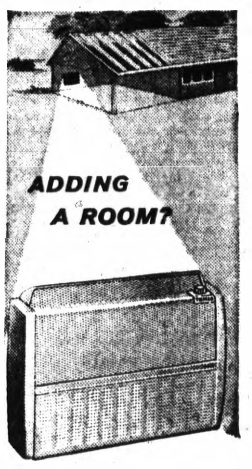

Longest section was "Freedom," which had the many mood changes of one of Ellington's serious jazz tone poems. The final section, "Praise God and Dance," based on the 150th Psalm, had 22 dancers who danced from the bandstand—set up where the altar usually is—down the long center aisle.

Ellington wrote music and words, arranged the music, conducted, played electric organ and piano, made introductions and sometimes led applause.

★ ★ ★

It was his idea to write an entirely new work rather than repeat his "In the Beginning God," which he and his band have done in some 50 churches in the United States and Europe in the last two years.

Hawks Hail Choice for McNamara Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leading congressional hawks have cheered President Johnson's choice of Clark M. Clifford, long-time White House adviser and highpowered Washington lawyer, to become secretary of defense.

Leading doves also were friendly or noncommittal, at least until Clifford's views on prosecuting the Vietnam war come into sharper focus. This may develop at Senate confirmation hearings, expected soon.

Johnson announced yesterday his nomination of the 61-year-old Clifford—"a very wise and prudent counselor to many presidents" — to replace Robert S. McNamara as head of the enormous Defense Department.

★ ★ ★

Assuming Senate approval, Clifford will take over from McNamara before March 1. Then McNamara, the record holder in time served with seven years as defense chief, will move on to become president of the World Bank — a move announced about two months ago.

Meeting newsmen a few hours after Johnson's action, Clifford refused to place himself on either the hawk or dove side of the Vietnam question.

"I am not conscious of falling under any of those ornithological divisions," said the tall, handsome Clifford to reporters probing for his position.

However, Clifford is regarded in knowledgeable quarters as a hard-liner on the war. Some sources said he has opposed any extended bombing pauses as a means of encouraging the North Vietnamese to talk peace.

★ ★ ★

His advice to Johnson is believed to have weighed at least as heavily as McNamara's in some of the major decisions of the war, sources said.

The President said Clifford "has been a counselor on most of the important decisions made in the international fields, from defense strength, to weapons, to actions . . ."

Clifford has served Johnson as chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, the Foreign Relations Advisory Board, and on special missions such as a tour of Southeast Asian and Pacific nations last summer to try and drum up more allied troop support for the war. That mission was rated a partial success.

Before Johnson, Clifford served Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy in varying capacities.

Teachers Ratify '68 Wage Pact in Birmingham

Birmingham teachers last night approved a wage contract for the 1967-68 school year by a 5-1 margin.

The ratification by the teachers and the expected ratification by the board of education at a special board meeting Monday night would end a contract dispute which began last March.

Teachers in the school district were ordered back to their schools by court injunction Sept. 18. They have been teaching under that injunction since.

The vote last night was 576 to 110 for approving the contract. Negotiators of the Birmingham Education Association (BEA) and the board of education had reached agreement Tuesday after a 12-hour bargaining session.

★ ★ ★

According to Walter Piel, administrative assistant to the superintendent, the contract will give teachers an across the board increase of $480 per year.

The salary increases will cost the district about $442,000 with another $58,000 to be spent on additional fringe benefits and supplemental pay, Piel said.

The contract calls for new negotiations on the salary schedule for the 1968-69 school year. Fringes and supplemental pay will not be negotiable for that period, however, Piel said.

A tentative contract had been reached by negotiators in November but teachers turned down that 2-year contract 550-120.

★ ★ ★

It would have made the second year salary contingent on results of a millage election.

PAY SCHEDULE

The schedule calls for a BA minimum of $6,300 and a maximum of $10,375; an MA minimum of $6,800 and a maximum $11,500. A PhD degree calls for $7,600 starting pay and a maximum of $12,550.

★ ★ ★

The contract calls for both bargaining parties to withdraw pending legal and quasi-legal actions, including an unfair labor practice suit by the BEA, the seeking of a sanctions by the BEA against the school district and a court action sought by the board against the teachers.

Lawman Killed Chasing Kansas Bank Robbers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A man charged with bank robbery and the murder of a Kansas highway patrolman was under guard in a hospital today while officers pressed a search for a second gunman.

MILLER

Sgt. Eldon Miller, 48, the first Kansas patrolman to die by gunfire, was killed by a carbine bullet that crashed through the windshield of his patrol car and struck him between the eyes yesterday during a gun battle.

Henry Floyd Brown, 38, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was wounded in the 15-minute battle at a two-story apartment building an hour after the Metcalf State Bank in suburban Overland Park was robbed by two men.

Police surrounded the building and fired back from two sides, after taking a woman and her child from an apartment across the hall.

Police recovered $13,100 from Brown's apartment.

PAIR CHARGED

James W. Bouska, Johnson County attorney, filed bank robbery and murder charges against Brown and a man identified as Bud Jackson, 45.

Police said Jackson escaped on foot from the scene of the shooting.

Two robbers, with theatrical make-up on their faces and carrying carbines, entered the bank, walked down a corridor to the drive-in window and forced two men in the cage to hand over the money.

Cooking School Tidbit: Fashion

Four fashion shows by local stores will be given at intermission time during the ninth annual Pontiac Press cooking school Jan. 22-25.

Between the cooking demonstrations, the following stores will present the latest styles: R-B Shops, Monday evening; Alvin's at both shows on Tuesday and Bloomfield Fashion Shop Thursday evening. At present, there are no fashion shows Wednesday.

Those who plan to attend are reminded to use the east entrance of Pontiac Central High School. Doors open at 12:30 and 6:30 p.m.

There are no more tickets for any session.

★ ★ ★

Any seat vacant five minutes before the shows begin will be given to those who come without tickets. They will have the same opportunity to win prizes as those with tickets.

WINNER MUST BE 18

No employe of The Pontiac Press or member of an employe's family is eligible to win a prize. Winners must be 18 years of age.

Sara Bayard and Harriet Stinson of Consumers Power Company will be presenting the food demonstrations.

Kuhn to Offer Tax Revision

LANSING (AP) — State Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, said yesterday he will introduce legislation to boost the city income tax limit by 1 per cent and eliminate such taxes on nonresidents.

★ ★ ★

Kuhn make the comment in a letter to Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, who asked the Legislature for additional financial resources for his city.

"Specifically," Kuhn said, "I am proposing that the city income tax limitation be raised from 1 per cent to 2 per cent as a maximum ceiling.

"However, to increase this tax by either ½ or 1 per cent up to the 2 per cent ceiling would require approval by a majority of the voters at any regular or special election," he added.

Kuhn said he intends to "attempt to meet the financial needs of local governments subject to voter approval of any tax increases."

'WOULD RESPOND'

"If the financial need is realistic and sound, I am confident that the citizens of your city or any other city would respond favorably to such requests," he told Cavanagh.

★ ★ ★

The Uniform City Income Tax Act of 1963 presently limits city income taxes to 1 per cent on residents and ½ per cent on nonresidents.

Kuhn is a former chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee, a group of suburban Detroit officials opposing Detroit's city income tax.

40,000 to Get Serum in Sicily

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Driving rain, hail, snow and spreading diseases kept Sicily in a nightmarish state toady as more than 40,000 refugees huddled in soggy tent camps or waited in the hills for rescuers.

An emergency program of antityphoid injections was begun, and other innoculations were stepped up amid outbreaks of scarlet fever, chicken pox, whooping cough, bronchitis, dysentary and pneumonia. Two deaths were reported from exposure.

Trudging through the debris of what was the town of Gibellina, Italian Premier Aldo Moro told hungry, bedragged refugees: "My poor people, whatever we can do will be done."

Italian newspapers wrote bitter editorials to deplore what they termed the government's chronic inability to manage relief work efficiently. They reported chaotic tieups of relief supplies because of bungling and red tape.

Already dispirited and depressed, the refugees were battered by violent thundershowers driven by strong winds. The rain drenched loaves of bread going to seven giant tent camps. Howling winds turned back helicopters trying to fly in rations, medicine and blood plasma. Flashes of lightning lit the sky, and the sea crashed against jetties and docks with a storm force of seven on a nine-point scale.

15,000 LEAVING

An estimated 15,000 persons streamed out of Sicily to Italy.

While the hunt for survivors was over, the search for the dead went on. The number of bodies so far recovered totalled 190, with only a fraction of the ruins sifted. Officials fear the final death toll will be close to 400.

Southwest Jolted by Buried N-Test

HOT CREEK VALLEY, Nev. (AP) — The apparently unexpected force of an underground nuclear test explosion yesterday hit college seismographs 1,700 miles away with the intensity of an earthquake.

The blast registered 6.25 on the Richter scale, or equal to a fairly strong earthquake, on seismographs at Spring Hill College, in Mobile, Ala., 1,700 miles away.

In Eureka, Calif., about 700 miles away, residents reported "a gentle ground roll" was felt. The explosion, unleashing energy equivalent to nearly a million tons of TNT, was touched off 3,200 feet beneath the surface of Hot Creek Valley in central Nevada in an experiment to see if even more powerful tests could be conducted in the area.

An announcement Jan. 8 said "ground motion will probably be felt at least as far as 75 to 100 miles from the detonation."

★ ★ ★

An inspection by helicopter of Moore's Station, 5 miles from ground zero, revealed no visible damage yesterday. But the AEC said it was investigating reports that windows in the Ely High School building 90 miles away were cracked by the tremor, and that plaster in the old Brown Hotel at Eureka, Nev., 70 miles away, had been cracked.

PAVEMENT CRACKS

Minor cracks were found in the pavement on bridges on U.S. 6 within 12 miles of the blast.

The AEC exploded the device, as part of a program to find an area in which to conduct nuclear detonations more powerful than can be conducted on its permanent Nevada test site near Las Vegas.

Seismic and technical data from yesterday's blast will be studied, the AEC said, to see whether the Hot Creek Valley is the area it is looking for.

Heart Transfer Patient 'Grave'

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Mike Kasperak, the heart transplant patient who has undergone a third intestinal operation in less than a week, is in "extremely grave" condition today, doctors say.

Doctors at Stanford University Medical Center expressed concern about the possibility of "infectious influences" attacking the weakened system of the world's fourth human heart transplant patient.

A medical bulletin last night, four hours after the removal of the 54-year-old retired steelworker's spleen, said the heart transplanted Jan. 6 was functioning normally despite the stress of disease and multiple surgery in other areas.

The patient's blood pressure was reported to be stable and doctors said the operation stopped bleeding from an ulcer high in the stomach.

★ ★ ★

In a series of operations stemming from liver disease and internal hemorrhageing, Kasperak's gall bladder was removed last Sunday. On Thursday, a resumption of gastrointestinal bleeding required another operation.

LIVER MALFUNCTION

Interruption of the liver functions occurred again yesterday along with additional heavy loss of blood.

The spleen was removed to head off a decrease in the platelets, a blood clotting factor, and prevent further bleeding.

With each operation, the heart patient received massive blood transfusions, one virtually changing his entire supply in an effort to remove impurities.

★ ★ ★

In Pittsburgh, the Western Pennsylvania Heart Association began signing up persons who would be willing to donate their hearts.

Job Outlook Favorable in State

LANSING — A forecast of the employment future for Michigan to 1980 has been completed by the Michigan Department of Commerce.

The forecasts cover the 32 major industry classifications and are based on 12 multicounty economic and planning regions in the state.

The over-all employment picture for Michigan through 1980 is favorable although the report does illuminate several problems areas.

Total employment in Michigan is forecast to rise from 2.7 million in 1960 to 3.96 million in 1980, an employment growth of 44 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The report anticipates that the historical trend of faster economic and employment growth in the southern half of Michigan's lower peninsula will continue through 1980. This configuration of growth is expected to continue over the 20 year period 1960 to 1980.

TO EXCEED AVERAGE

The four regions where employment growth is expected to exceed the state average during this period are Region 6 (Lansing metropolitan area) 64 per cent; Region 3 (Kalamazoo area) 56 per cent; Region 2 (Jackson area) 51 per cent; and Region 1 (7-county Detroit metropolitan area) 47 per cent.

According to the study, the emergence of the "human resources era" in Michigan and the nation will have a profound effect on Michigan's future industrial compsition.

Professional services, public administration, finance, recreation, trade and business services will be the rapidly growing fields of economic opportunity over the next two decades.

★ ★ ★

The study indicates that despite the expected rapid growth of employment opportunity in the service industries, manufacturing will remain the fundamental base of the economic structure in the state. However, while manufacturing employment is estimated to increase from 1.03 million in 1960 to 1.15 million in 1980, within manufacturing, the motor vehicle industry will remain Michigan's leading industry.

CLIMB PREDICTED

National motor vehicle production is predicted to climb to 14.6 million units in 1980 or 85 per cent above the 7.9 million produced in 1960.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's employment in this industry is projected to rise from 377,000 in 1960 to 474,000 in 1980 or 26 per cent.

Big Growth Seen for County

Total employment in Economic Region I (the 7-county Detroit metropolitan area), which includes Oakland County, is expected to increase from 1.48 million in 1960 to 2.17 million in 1980 . . . an employment growth of 689,785 or 47 per cent, slightly faster than state average.

Within this region, the most explosive employment growth is expected to develop in Washtenaw, Macomb, Monroe and Oakland counties.

The employment forecasts for the greater Detroit area clearly illustrate the expected future service orientation of Detroit's employment. The most rapidly expanding industry sector in the Detroit region, according to the study, will be medical and other professional services.

This sector is expected to increase in the Detroit region by 147 per cent between 1960 and 1980 . . . from 177,232 in 1960 to 439,000 in 1980, a gain of 260,000.

Growth in the professional sector of the economy will also present a challenge to our instruments of social change, such as education and other advanced training facilities.

Other industry sectors that can expect above-average employment gains during this period in the Detroit region are: contract construction, 31,000 or 51 per cent; wholesale trade, 26,000 or 57 per cent; other retail trade, 78,000 or 57 per cent; finance, insurance, and real estate, 43,000 or 79 per cent; business and repair services, 21,000 or 55 per cent and public administration, 47,000 or 88 per cent.

Weekend Outlook Is Sunny and Mild

Old Man Winter will be on vacation over the weekend, while sunshine and temperatures — just like spring — take over.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports the following day-by-day forecast for the Pontiac-Oakland County area:

TODAY—Sunny and mild. High 40 to 45. Mostly fair and continued rather mild tonight. Low 25 to 30. Southwest to west winds at 10 to 20 miles per hour.

★ ★ ★

TOMORROW—Mostly fair and continued rather mild.

MONDAY—Continued sunny and mild. Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: near zero today, tonight and tomorrow 10.

A brisk 28 was the low recording in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 39 by 12:30 p.m.

Wash-Up Time Issue Threatens GM With a National Shutdown

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union says strikes at three General Motors foundries could lead to a national shutdown of the top U.S. auto maker within a week or 10 days because GM refuses to recognize a union demand for six minutes of wash-up time.

Bogged-down local negotiations have resulted in strikes at a general foundry at Defiance, Ohio, and Chevrolet foundries at Saginaw, Mich., and Tonawanda, N.Y., which have 11,200 workers.

★ ★ ★

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and director of the union's GM department, said the major drawback in reaching at-the-plant agreements has been the company's refusal to grant a six-minute, prelunch wash-up period at foundries. The local agreements supplement the national contract ratified by GM's 355,000 workers last month.

Workers of other GM foundries at Saginaw, Dansville, Ill., and Beford, Ind., abandoned the wash-up demands and settled.

'PARTS SHORTAGES'

Parts shortages from the Saginaw foundry were blamed by the company for the layoff of 5,800 workers at two Chevrolet engine plants in Flint.

Woodcock told newsmen similar company-paid wash-up periods have been granted at non-foundry facilities run by GM.

★ ★ ★

"If this is not resolved," he added, "and these foundries stay struck, the corporation will be essentially paralyzed," with some 300,000 workers on the streets in seven to 10 days.

Blast, Fire Kill 2 at Holland Oil Refinery

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — An explosion set off a fire that spread over 15 acres at the Shell Oil Co. refinery here today, killing two persons and injuring about 60. One other person was reported missing.

The blast at 4:30 a.m. smashed widows in thousands of homes in nearby Hoogvliet, where thousands of refinery workers live, and in Vlaardingen across the Rotterdam waterway. Shipping in the new channel between the North Sea and the Rotterdam area was halted for two hours.

★ ★ ★

About six hours after the explosion firemen had the fire under control and reported there was no danger of its spreading.

Flames shot up 300 feet from 15 oil tanks and a number of small buildings.

A spokesman for Shell said damage would run into many millions of guilders. The U.S. dollar is worth 3.60 guilders.

About 600 men were at work at the refinery when the explosion occurred in one of the processing plants.

Home Looted in Shelby Twp.

Shelby Township police are looking for thieves who broke into a home last night and carted off several thousand dollars worth of furs, diamonds and other goods.

★ ★ ★

Officers believe the home of Alexander Paradzinski of 51028 Baltree was broken into shortly before 8:30 p.m.

The Paradzinskis were out earlier in the evening and arrived home about 8:30 to find the house ransacked.

Officers said the burglars forced open a sliding-glass patio door.

★ ★ ★

Missing are a full-length mink coat, a diamond cross pin and a full diamond lady's wristwatch, plus several smaller diamonds, assorted furs, sweaters, shirts, a camera and bottles of liquor.

Judge Nixes Higher Bond in Kidnaping

Oakland County Prsoecutor S. Jerome Bronson lost his bid yesterday to raise the bond of a Berkley man charged with kidnaping, molesting and assaulting two children a week ago.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Farrell E. Roberts rejected Bronson's petition for a $23,000 increase in the bond set for Byron Lee Hoffmeister by Berkley Municipal Judge Theodore F. Hughes.

Hoffmeister, 20, is free on $2,000 bond pending his preliminary examination Thursday.

The charges stem from the accosting of a 6-year-old Berkley girl and her 8-year-old brother.

★ ★ ★

In testifying at the hearing on Bronson's petition, Hughes said the only purpose of bond is to guarantee that the defendant would appear in court.

Hughes said that $2,000 bond was adequate in Hoffmeister's case and that the $25,000 bond requested by Bronson would have been unreasonable.

Student Dies Saving Friend in School Fire

HORSHAM, England (AP) — An Indian schoolboy died helping a friend to safety today in a fire that ravaged an expensive boarding school in the Sussex countryside.

Police said all but one of 67 boys sleeping in school dormitories were saved. Five firemen were injured fighting the six-hour blaze.

"The heroic Indian boy was helping his friend to escape when suddenly the floor collapsed under him and he disappeared," one fireman said. The young victim's name was withheld while police traced his father, living overseas.

All the other boys got away by fire escapes after the blaze began raging through Newells Preparatory School near this market town. It apparently started in a basement, police said.

Term Is 1 Year in Dixie Slaying

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — An all-white jury has sentenced a 22-year-old Selma white man to 12 months in jail for the killing of a Negro farm worker.

A Circuit Court jury found Bernard Steward, a heavy-equipment operator, guilty Friday of second degree manslaughter in the killing of John Arthur Langdon.

Langdon, died after being shot once with a .22-caliber magnum rifle on a dirt road south of Selma last Nov. 5.

Steward was one of three white men charged with murder in the killing. The jury deliberated for more than 13 hours before convicting him on the lesser charge.

The trials of Donald E. Meeks, 22, and James J. Reeves, 26, were not scheduled for this term of Circuit Court.

Steward testified during the two-day trial that the shooting was accidental. He said Langdon staggered in front of the pick-up truck in which the three were riding, then attempted to force his way into the truck.

Mental Health Setup Loses 2nd Official

Another leading figure in the Oakland County health program has announced his resignation—the second since the year began.

Dr. Donal L. White, assistant psychiatric director, told the Mental Health Services board yesterday he was quitting to take a post in Tuscon, Ariz.

On Jan. 2, Dr. Robert E. Walden, director of county programs, quit after a long controversy. Dr. White and John Madole, administrative board officer, had been coleaders of the program in the absence of a director.

The board announced that a search is being carried on to fill both positions.

★ ★ ★

The board also is lacking a director for the Oakland Training Institute (OTI) in Berkley, once the center of considerable conflict.

TURNED IN RESIGNATIONS

Last December 10 out of 12 of the staff members turned in resignations claiming poor leadership and lack of communications.

They have since been mollified by changes in board policy and participants in yesterday's meeting reported all is going well there.

The board adopted a motion to appoint a program coordinator instead of a new director at OTI.

★ ★ ★

The institute trains some 40 mentally retarded children. In the same building, a mental health program of the Oakland County Schools is in effect, with about 90 pupils attending.

Halt in Bombing Is Urged by 15 Yanks Visiting Viet

SAIGON (AP) — Fifteen prominent Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish religious leaders, here to survey the Vietnam war, today urged President Johnson to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and de-escalate the ground war in the South

★ ★ ★

The group also said Americans could not in good conscience "promote justice at home and help to preserve quas feudalism or the rule and wealth of the few abroad," apparently a reference to the South Vietnamese government.

The lay and clerical leaders are spending four days in South Vietnam as a stop on a world tour following the First Interreligious Symposium on Peace at New Delhi.

Among the signers of the grounp-statement were former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Pennsylvania, a frequent contender for the Republican presidential nomination; the Rev. Ralph Abernathy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Atlanta, Ga.; Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath of New York, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations; and Bishop John Wesley Lord, Methodist bishop of Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

The 15 said they "respectfully and urgently" asked President Johnson "to reevaluate present U.S. policy; to give serious consideration to an immediate halt, on moral and political if not military grounds, in the bombing of North Vietnam; to de-escalate the level of military action without immediate withdrawal; to be continually open to negotiations, including the use of the secretary-general of the United Nations, and to encourage strongly the non-Communist nationalist elements in South Vietnam seeking social reform and self-determination not in our way but in theirs."

Bomb Halt Line Drawn by Thieu

SAIGON (AP) — "If the Communists want a bombing pause, they must first stop their infiltration and all aggressive actions," President Nguyen Van Thieu was quoted today by the official Vietnam Press.

★ ★ ★

Vietnam Press said Thieu defined aggressive actions as including attacks on military posts and units, assassinations, kidnapings and other terrorist acts. Thieu spoke Friday at a reception at Independence Palace.

★ ★ ★

Thieu was quoted as saying: "There is no difference between the Vietnamese and American peace stands."

★ ★ ★

He added: "President Johnson's stand on a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam in his State of the Union message delivered last Jan. 18 was categorical and clear. President Johnson does not want the Communists to take advantage of the bombing pause to infiltrate weapons and personnel into the South."

News Briefs From Wires

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan Regents voted yesterday to let residence halls set their own policies on visits by members of the opposite sex in dormitory rooms. Besides adopting a "handsoff" policy on dormitory visits between opposite sexes, the regents also voted to allow women students living in residence halls to be free of curfew rules if they have written permission from their parents to be out late. The regents made no mention of any method to determine whether students were submitting notes actually signed by their parents.

Referendum Legality Hit

FLINT (AP) — A civil rights group yesterday challenged the legality of a referendum on an open-housing ordinance in Flint, saying such an election would amout to a vote on whether the city wants discrimination. Officials of the Flint chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People testified at a hearing in Genesee County Circuit Court on their lawsuit to prevent the referendum. Judge Anthony Mansour took the statements under advisement. The NAACP officials said that because discrimination is illegal a vote on whether to allow discrimination would be unconstitutional.

Colonel Is 'Admonished'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army says it has "admonished" a colonel and others involved in a request to lobbyists and wholesalers for free liquor to be used at a charity ball. The request for 372 Fifths of liquor violated Army regulations, the service said yesterday. It added the solicition was withdrawn. The Army released a letter written by Col. J. B. Conmy, a battalion commander at nearby Ft. Meyer, Va., which had been sent out to the lobbyists and wholesalers.

Sgt. Duane D. Hackney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glendon D. Hackney of Flint, Mich., recently returned from Vietnam to receive the Air Force Cross in a ceremony at MAC headquarters at Scott AFB Hackney was the first Air Force enlisted man awarded the nation's second-highest decoration to live to receive it.

British Laborites Oust 25

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor party today expelled — at least temporarily — 25 members who rebelled by abstaining in a crucial vote of confidence in the House of Commons, qualified sources reported. Even without the rebels votes, the Laborites easily won the motion Thursday night, approving Wilson's proposals for cuts in social welfare spending. The vote was 304-9 with the opposition Conservatives abstaining en masse. But the explusion underlined Wilson's determination to try to reassert his weakened authority over party followers.

Clams Inundate Beaches

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Bulldozers, tractors and trucks worked from sunrise to sunset yesterday to remove millions of dead clams from a 22-mile stretch of southern New Jersey beachers. Strong underwater currents caused by Churning northeast seas and high tides uprooted the clams from their beds several miles offshore and washed them ashore earlier this week. In some spots the clams were piled as high as two feet. There are acres of them out there for as far as the eye can see," said one worker.

Head of Michigan Week for County Is Appointed

BIRMINGHAM — Robert A. Bogan Jr., executive director of the Community House, 380 S. Bates, has been appointed Oakland County chairman for the 1967 Michigan Week celebration.

Announcement of the appointment was made by state Michigan Week Chairman Win Shieler and Regional Chairman Bruce Tope of Detroit.

coordinate activities in the county during the week, slated this year for May 19-25.

In commenting on his appoint-

ROBERT A. BOGAN JR.

Bogan, who chaired Birmingham's program last year, will ment, Bogan stated, "I am depending on the cooperation of each of our Oakland County municipalities to make this 15th annual Michigan Week celebration the best ever in Oakland County, and to help accomplish the three basic goals of Michigan Week, namely to give the citizens of Michigan greater knowledge and appreciation of their state; to promote the state's assets and resources for industry, business, education and recreation; and to foster a spirit of fellowship and cooperation among all people and communities in our state."

A bloodmobile will be at the Masonic Temple, 357 Woodward, Jan. 30 from 3-9 p.m. The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Center needs 350-400 pints daily for minimum requirements of local hospitals.

Blood may be credited to the account of the donor's choice.

Court Ruling on Jury Data Is Awaited

By JIM LONG

The prosecution of a number of persons indicted by the Thorburn Grand Jury may be hampered if the Michigan Supreme Court upholds the arguments of a Pontiac attorney representing several defendants indicted during the probe.

The decision could also delay pending trials of cases initiated by the earlier Pratt Grand Jury.

The question before the high court stems from requests from the state attorney general's office and the Oakland County prosecutor's office for access to some grand jury records.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has asked the Supreme Court to turn over to his office the records of 15 cases from the inquiry conducted by Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn.

Since Kelley initiated the investigation, it is the responsibility of the state to prosecute the cases that came about from the inquiry which ended last summer.

SEEKING INFORMATION

Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson is seeking information in about a half dozen cases from the grand jury probe of Royal Oak Township which was handled by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt.

Kelley needs the information since a special prosecutor, Jerome K. Barry of Pontiac, was named to head the investigation, and his staff members are unfamiliar with the facts of the cases.

Bronson wants to speed up the court proceedings by allowing other members of his staff to participate in trying the cases. Presently, only Asst. Prosecutor James Roberts is familiar with the Royal Oak Township cases.

★ ★ ★

Objecting to the requests is Carlton Roeser. He already has filed a motion opposing Bronson's motion, and said yesterday that he will challenge the attorney general.

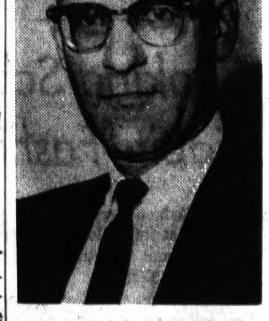

SHOULD APPLY

The secrecy prescribed by the Legislature regarding grand jury proceedings should apply to assistant prosecutors and assistant attorney generals the same as it does to the public, said Roeser.

★ ★ ★

Roeser is the defense attorney for Aubrey Meyerson, a Southfield builder indicted by Judge Pratt on a charge of conspiracy to commit bribery; and three men indicted by Thorburn — State Rep. Bill Huffman, and former Madison Heights Councilmen, Roman Nowicki and Ross Skinner.

Huffman, a former Madison Heights Mayor, was accused of soliciting a bribe, and being employed by persons affected by proposed legislation. Nowicki and Skinner are charged with bribery and conspiracy to accept a bribe.

DR. CHARLES R. SEMPERE

City Hospital Names Director

The immediate past chief of staff, Dr. Charles R. Sempere, has been appointed medical director of Pontiac General Hospital.

Salary for the part-time position is $15,000 annually.

Sempere was appointed by the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees. He succeeds the late Dr. Clifford T. Ekelund. The post has been vacant since Dr. Ekelund's death Oct. 22.

An obstetrician with offices at 35 S. Johnson, Sempere is a University of Michigan graduate.

He was chief of staff at Pontiac General during 1967. His residence is 1940 S. Hammond Lake, Bloomfield Township.

Lunar Launch Set Monday Despite Snafu

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — After some confusion resulting from a failure in a computer power supply, the space agency says it still hopes to launch its first Lunar Module Monday.

The confusion occurred Friday night when power in the ground-based computer failed just 20 minutes before the end of a two-day countdown rehearsal. Officials first said the launching of the Saturn 1 booster rocket would be postponed at least 48 hours, depending on correction of the problem and determination of how much of the practice countdown would have to be repeated.

★ ★ ★

Later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said it would eliminate the remainder of the rehearsal and aim to pick up the 28-hour final count sometime Sunday.

The computer involved monitors systems and sends commands to the rocket.

NO REPETITION

The space agency said that no part of the rehearsal needed to be repeated because of confidence gained in launching earlier Saturn 1 rockets, all of them successful.

The Saturn 1 is to drill the Lunar Module into earth orbit. During a planned 6½ hour flight, the two engines of the unmanned craft will be fired to test their ability to land two astronauts on the moon and take them off.

Theater Review

Rights Play at OU Is a Shocker

By DON BRAUNAGEL

The Meadow Brook Theatre troupe plunged into chilling contemporary drama last night, and the audience felt the cold shock.

Previous productions paled as the John Fernald Company etched the vivid drama, "And People All Around," loosely based on the 1964 murders of three civil rights workers near Philadelphia, Miss.

George Sklar's play, produced only once before—in London, is gutsy, especially in its dialogue, and Meadow Brook codirectors John Broome and George Guidall have strengthened it by adding music and a minstrel-type chorus, narrating, interpreting and joining in the action.

These, combined with forceful lighting effects, intensify the message of the play, destined to linger with audiences long after the production's four-week run here.

★ ★ ★

Credit for the music, lyrics and arrangements belongs to Beeker T. Bradshaw Jr., in his first appearance this season.

FINE VOICE

Singing in a fine voice and playing with a "knife guitar" technique (using a sharp edge on the neck of the instrument to get a mournful echo), he enhanced the irony of his lyrics, as in the opening number when "Three cheers for the red, white and blue" evolved into "Three cheers for the white."

Also returning to the troupe this season is Josh Bryant, who excellently portrayed the southerner with a conscience.

As a witness to the murders, he is torn by a moral dilemma: Try to forget the whole thing and settle back into a comfortable life or tell what he's seen and aid these "outside troublemakers" against his home town.

★ ★ ★

Codirector Guidall and Victor Holchak, as corrupt law officers, and Curt Dawson, as a sneering red-neck, sometimes seemed to be caricatures of evil, but the knowledge of what really happened in Mississippi in 1964 lends a terrible reality to their roles.

FRIGHTENINGLY REAL

Henry Thomas, in his Meadow Brook debut as head of a Klanlike group, was frighteningly real delivering a diatribe against integration.

Newcomer Pam Guest added beauty and talent to the chorus, but as the wife of one of the murder victims, she failed to handle a crucial scene in which she is notified of her husband's death.

Patricia Carson, an Oakland University freshman from Pontiac in her first professional role, showed poise as a chorus member.

★ ★ ★

If Sklar's play has a weakness, it is that it is almost dated. The focus of the rights revolution has shifted from the marches of the South to the violence in the North.

But the message is clear for North and South. Josh Bryant represents all men of conscience. Do we ignore the battle for equality, now swirling around us, or do we get involved? The answer is the key to this country's future.

Army Officer Retirement Syndrome' Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Army psychiatrist reports discovery of an emotionally upsetting "retirement syndrome" among commissioned career officers nearing check-out time — with lieutenant colonels the chief sufferers.

Being passed over for promotion for the last time—especially as regards lieutenant colonels failing to make full colonel before retirement—is a chief precipitating cause of the syndrome, said Dr. Barry R. Berkey. Syndrome symptoms include anxiety and depression.

Reporting in a medical journal on a study he made of an undisclosed number of such patients, Berkey said:

★ ★ ★

"Reaching the rank of full colonel or higher is generally accepted as having achieved success in a military career.

★ ★ ★

"Being not as good as the next man; having some inner defect: these were the feelings conveyed by officers who had failed to make higher rank."

Program Slated

The Oakland County Association for Retarded Children meets 8 p.m. Monday at the Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen. A program will be presented by the County Inter-Agency on Mental Retardation.

There are 277,000 known species of beetles.

18 Months for Auto Insurance Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "major study" of automobile insurance called for by President Johnson is his State of the Union address is expected to last 18 months and cost $1.5-$2 million.

The inquiry rated only a few words in the President's message Wednesday night but some of the details have since been sketched in by government sources.

★ ★ ★

An official said Friday the administration feels a close look at the automobile insurance industry is warranted because a preliminary exploratory investigation turned up many abuses.

Among the shortcomings to be examined, he said, are lengthy delays in payment of claims, cancelling of policies without apparent cause or explanation to the policyholder, and questionable rate-setting practices.

Busy Shoppers At The Pontiac Mall Take Time Out To Mingle And Admire The 65 Models On Exhibit

Variety Is Spice of Life

Everyone seemed to have a favorite yesterday at the annual auto show sponsored by the Pontiac Automotive Trade Association at The Pontiac Mall.

"The Barracuda's my baby," said one pert salesgirl enviously eying a model of that car which seemed redder than red.

The younger set seemed especially fond of the sportier cars on display, especially the Pontiac GTO.

But, salesmen stationed at the exhibit seemed to agree: There's something for everybody, from the strictly economy-minded people pricing the Volkswagen and Builck Opel to the man who wanted to order a new Oldsmobile.

★ ★ ★

The show runs through Jan. 27 and features 65 cars now on the market plus a number of separate displays.

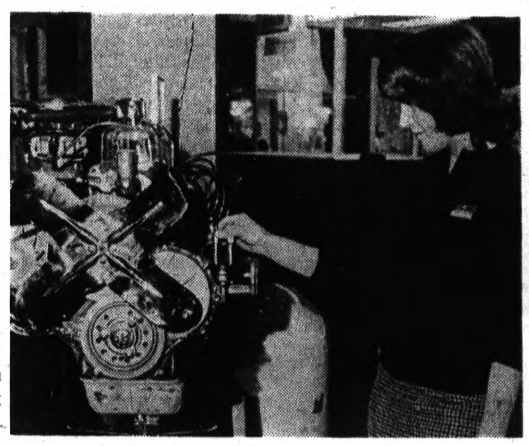

11 LOCAL DEALERS

Eleven local dealers are participating in the show. They are:

Matthews-Hargreaves, Inc., 631 Oakland; Jerome Cadillac Motor Sales, 1980 Wide Track; Pontiac Retail Store, 65 University Drive; Downey Oldsmobile, 550 Oakland; Autobahn Motors, 1765 S. Telegraph; Vandeputte Buick and Opel, Inc., 210 Orchard Lake.

Romney Steps Up Pace in Wisconsin Workout

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, grinning and perspiring, was made an honorary member of the YMCA's Run for Your Life Club today after a prebreakfast workout during his presidential campaign travels.

The Republican governor, planning a series of appearances in the Milwaukee area before leaving for Detroit at 4:10 p.m., arrived Friday night shortly after his wife, who similarly had a speaking engagement in suburban Menomonee Falls.

Romney trotted and walked around a YMCA gymnasium in shorts and a T - shirt leading a group of more than 50 men participating in the YMCA's health-improvement, jogging program.

His visit to Wisconsin, whose presidential preference primary is April 2, is a recess from his hard campaigning in the March 12 New Hampshire primary.

Noting the earlier New Hampshire date, Romney remarked: "Wisconsin is No. 2, so I guess here we'll try harder."

Romney, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, California Gov. Ronald Reagan and possibly New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller are expected to be on the Dairy State's April ballot.

Romney said he is leaving his Wisconsin campaign strategy in the hands of local supporters, and that the outcome of the New Hampshire test would not alter hus Wisconsin plans as currently outlined.

In Washington Friday, Romney said he has started "closing the gap" in his underdog campaign against Nixon for New Hampshire's presidential primary.

"I think we've started things on the upturn there," Romney said. He camt to Washington to tape a television program and confer with his campaign advisers.

"You have to start closing the gap first — but I expect to win," omney told newsmen.

The governor repeated his complaint that the United States has not "worked hard enough for peace" in Vietnam.

"I think we've passed up what appeared to be possible oppo ities," he said.

Romney said his peace program for guaranteed neutrality in Vietnam would be explored now. Romney said he is certain President Johnson hah received a report on the proposal and on the reaction of foreign leaders.

Romney said he discussed it with leaders of 12 nations during his world tour, and U.S. diplomatic representatives were present at each conversation.

"I'm sure the President had a report on it," Romne ysaid. He said he would be happ yto report personally to Johnson if the President is interested.

Cause No. 22794

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland, Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Charles Michael Peckham, minor.

TO: Elsie Peckham, mother of said minor child.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said child comes within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the mother of said child is unknown and said child has violated a law of the State, and that said child should be continued under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the Name of the People of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 1st day of February, A.D. 1968, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing.

It being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Norman R. Barnard, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 16th day of January, A.D. 1968.

N. Viet Appears Unwilling to Meet All LBJ Conditions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hanoi appears to have met some — but not all — of President Johnson's conditions for halting the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, in the view of administration officials.

They reported yesterday that there was some evidence that North Vietnam was willing to accept the President's stipulation that peace talks must "take place promptly" if American raids are to stop.

But there was no evidence that Hanoi was yet willing to agree to the President's demand for some reduction in the Communist military effort in return for an end to U.S. bombing, they said.

Administration officials for the first time acknowledged that they have received private information from Hanoi concerning its offer to talk peace if the attacks stop.

★ ★ ★

But they indicated that information through diplomatic channels was about the same as that being broadcast publicly by Hanoi.

'NO RIGHT'

These public statements have said simply the Communists will talk if the bombing stops, but have declared the United States has no right to insist on any specific conditions.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meantime, told newsmen yesterday that Johnson, in his State of the Union message, had not changed the "San Antonio formula" for peace talks.

But Rusk declined to say whether the President had stiffened his emphasis on reciprocal military reduction by the Communists.

★ ★ ★

Other officials said it was possible to read it that way.

ASSUMPTION

Johnson said in San Antonio last Sept. 29 that he would "of course assume" that North Vietnam would not take advantage of a U.S. bombing pause.

Wednesday night he said flatly "the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past."

Administration officials said the President purposely refrained from specifying any methods of techniques by which this assurance of Communist "restraint" could be made clear.

★ ★ ★

STILL SUSPICIOUS

By and large, however, the atmosphere here was still one of considerable suspicion concerning Hanoi's motives.

★ ★ ★

Officials pointed that it was difficult to dismiss the fact that North Vietnam, in instructions to Vietcong leaders which were subsequently captured by allied forces, assured the rebels in the South that even if talks began the fighting would continue unabated.

Guilty Plea in Drug Case

A 20-year-old Fairfield, Conn., youth, arrested in Bloomfield Township last August after marijuana cigarettes were found in his motel room, pleaded guilty yesterday to possession of hypnotic drugs.

Keith R. Baudis was given a suspended sentence and ordered to pay $50 court cost by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Baudis was allowed to plead guilty to the misdemeanor though he originally had been charged with possession of narcotics, a felony punishable up to 10 years in the state prison.

An 18-year-old companion was placed on probation for one year after his request to be accepted as a youthful trainee was granted by Beer.

If all conditions of probation are met the teen-ager's record will be cleared under the terms of the youthful trainee act.

Boy Scout Council Reelects President

Eleven men were named as representatives to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and two others were selected as members-at-large of the national council.

Seventy-five men from the Oakland and Macomb county areas in the council were elected to the council executive board.

Another 10 were elected honorary members.

Edward H. LeLand, the council scout executive, noted that the council reached a new membership high in 1967.

★ ★ ★

He expressed pleasure that 429 boys had taken part in long-term camping last year at the council's new Lost Lake Scout Reservation near Clare.

A miniature radio antenna has been designed that will save from 10 to 500 pounds in the weight of aircraft and eliminate roof-top antennas or rabbit ears on home television receivers.

Driver Training Needs Stressed

C. of C. Traffic Safety Panel Hears Expert

The need for more intensive and improved driver education programs in the area was pointed out at yesterday's noon meeting of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Traffic Safety Committee.

Michael LePere, executive vice president of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Foundation of Michigan, showed committee members the slide and lecture presentation the Foundation presents to area civic clubs and other organizations.

The presentation is part of a joint undertaking to develop support and understanding for high school driver education by the foundation and the traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County.

LePere pointed out that Pontiac has an excellent driver education program.

He also explained that a comprehensive study of Oakland County's traffic problems and needs, conducted in 1965 by more than 200 citizens and traffic officials, included several recommendations for improvements in high school driver education in the county.

The major goals of the foundation and the TIA include driver education as a full semester course in order to allow adequate time to present the material; more extensive use of simulators and multiple-car off-street driving ranges.

Waterford Twp. School Chief Points to Record

BY HUDSON WILLSE JR.

In a recent report to the Waterford Township Board of Education, Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe outlined significant achievements made in the school district the past five years.

Tatroe emphasized several areas in which improvements have been made since 1963, including staff, facilities, financing, curriculum, the community school program, community relationships and site purchases.

"Once each year," he told board members, "I have reviewed our direction with you to permit you to see clearly our past and to help us all gain perspective for future decisions."

Tatroe said the district's most serious problem is to obtain operating funds during the next several years.

"You will be able to manage needs," he said. "You have a fine staff. But increased operating funds are required each year just to keep the present modest school program and to keep a high-quality staff."

'SIGNIFICANT GAINS'

Commenting on staff improvements over the five-year period, Tatroe noted that significant gains have been made quality wise.

"The in-service education opportunities you provide have improved the existing staff," Tatroe told board members.

"Student teaching agreements, improved recruiting and a reasonable local climate have attracted excellent teachers," he said.

'QUITE GOOD CONDITION'

Commenting on facilities, Tatroe said: "As the board completes its current construction program, it will see the schools in quite good condition."

Reviewing construction projects in the past five years, Tatroe noted that five new buildings have been completed and that all 27 other schools have received additions or have been remodeled.

He said that all elementary schools will have libraries and multipurpose rooms when current construction is completed.

Under construction now are two new schools, Crescent Lake Elementary and Waterford Mott High.

On curriculum, Tatroe said that the school program has improved the district's holding power, stating that more than 90 per cent of the ninth graders have stayed in school to become seniors in each of the last three years.

He also mentioned improvements such as data processing, new experimental reading methods, vocational education and other advancements.

On site purchases, Tatroe told the board that 14 school sites were purchased over the five-year period, leaving only three more to complete district needs as defined in the master plan.

Tatroe cited numerous other improvements since 1963.

FRATERNAL AND MILITARY FUNERALS

Often we are confronted by families making final arrangements who are undecided as to which fraternal group to select to take part in the service.

Many times when the deceased has belonged to more than one group, all are excluded for fear of hurt feelings on part of the groups left out.

All fraternal groups stand ready to take an active part in the final service of one of their members. Most groups will take charge and conduct the entire service or fulfill their part at the graveside, leaving the main service to the clergyman of the family's choice.

The choice of which group to select should be based upon which one the deceased was most active in during life. When a fraternal group is desired by the family, they should not exclude it for fear of hurt feelings, for all fraternal groups stand ready to take an active part but only when requested by the family.
