

Miss Front Page for October

The torments of an ensuing winter will fade away into obscurity when you glance at this pretty lass, Miss Sharon Lee Talbot — Miss Front Page for October.

This charming smile belongs to a 17-year-old girl who was born and has lived in Pontiac her entire 17 years. The St. Frederick's High School senior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Talbot, of 251 S. Marshall St.

Her father is a foreman at General Motors Truck and Coach Division here.

In more than one way, Sharon can give us men something to cheer about. Besides her beauty, Sharon is a cheer leader for St. Fred's. Our October gal is also an accompanist for the school's Choral Sacristan.

She loves to swim (this past summer she earned her Red Cross life saving certificate), water ski and roller skate. Sharon also was a leading counselor for a Catholic Youth Organization girls camp.

After her graduation next June pert Sharon will enroll at a college, not yet determined, to major in psychology.

So here she is in a capsule. Miss Sharon—October Front PAGER. Can you think of a better way to brighten up this fall month?

Paratroops Quit School Area; Ike, Dixie Governors Confer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — Federalized National Guardsmen took over patrol duties outside Little Rock Central High School today as President Eisenhower prepared to meet with four Southern governors on the explosive integration question.

It was the first time that Army troops had been relieved of daylight guard duties during a regular school day.

A military spokesman said the federalized National Guard patrol was "for today" but the development heightened speculation that the shift might be permanent if no major incidents occur.

Troops of the 101st Airborne Division, which had been handling the patrolling during daylight on school days, retired to their bivouac area on the grounds behind the school.

Threat of Bomb Empties School

1,100 at Waterford High Leave Building at 8:30 A.M. Today

Some 1,000 Waterford Township High School pupils and teachers were ordered to evacuate the school this morning due to a bomb scare.

More than 300 other pupils were absent due to a mild flu epidemic which was reported at the school yesterday.

Michigan State Police, the Sheriff's Department and township police combined in a thorough search of the school, at Crescent Lake and Highland roads.

Office secretary Mrs. Olson told police that "a gruff male voice" telephoned at 7 a.m. today, saying:

"Waterford has a bomb."

He then hung up, she said.

By 8:30 a.m. every pupil and teacher had left the main building and adjoining shop classrooms for the day.

Principal James Frye said, "This may or may not be a hoax, but we cannot take the chance with so many pupils involved."

School will resume as usual at 7:40 a.m. tomorrow, he said. A two hour search by police and some school personnel failed to find any bomb.

Asphalt Paving Started on Mackinac Span

ST. IGNACE (AP) — Asphalt surfacing of the Mackinac Bridge's roadway began yesterday, when one of four machines wrapping the giant cables reached the north tower's top.

An inch and a half of asphalt will cover the bridge's roadway, except for the two center lanes of steel grating in the suspension span.

Pouring of concrete in the suspension span's outer lanes is two-thirds completed. Paving of approaches was completed weeks ago.

Wrapping from either side is expected to reach the north tower on both the east and west cables this week, then work will be shifted to the south tower.

The wrapping with heavy wire over a thick coating of red lead is the major construction work left on the 100-million-dollar span.

One minor incident occurred when the nine Negro children appeared for classes this morning. One of the six girls was bumped by a white student and her books were knocked from her hand as she was about to enter the front door.

A squad of National Guardsmen walked up the steps with their rifles at port arms, entered the door but reappeared a few minutes later and returned to their posts.

JEERS GREET NEGROES

A few jeers and catcalls greeted the Negro students and the Guardsmen also were hooted by some white students standing near the front door before the first bell for classes rang.

While the bumping incident occurred, Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, commander of the Arkansas Military District, toured the school area and told newsmen:

"I'm making sure everything is in order."

Asked how he found the situation, Gen. Walker said: "I'm very happy."

As on previous days, the Negro students were brought to the school in a green Army station wagon. National Guardsmen in jeeps preceded and followed the station wagon.

SEEK SOLUTION

In Washington President Eisenhower sits down with a delegation of Southern governors today to try to "talk out" the school integration problem which exploded into the national crisis.

The four state executives held a strategy conference this morning. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Press Offers Reward

A $1,000 reward was posted today by The Pontiac Press for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who perpetrated the bomb scare at Waterford Township High School this morning. Anyone with pertinent information is urged to contact the Waterford Township Police. Decision on the award will be in the hands of James Seeterlin, Waterford Township Clerk.

Warren to Rule on Election

Teamsters Wait Decision

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

MIAMI BEACH — Delegates to this 17th convention of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters still were puzzled today whether their election will go on or not.

Chief Justice Earl Warren was expected at any moment to rule on the question. Attorneys for 13 rank-and-file New York Teamsters asked the Supreme Court Justice yesterday to block the balloting on grounds it is "rigged" to give James R. Hoffa the union presidency.

Meanwhile, Hoffa forces here continued to show their air of optimism that their boss would win the $50,000-a-year job by a landslide.

But another black eye was cast on the already scandal-scattered union when Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, said committee information indicates 50 per cent of convention delegates have been improperly selected.

LIST PONTIAC TEAM
Listed among 11 Michigan delegations falling into this alleged category was the four-man team from Pontiac Local 614. They are

(Beck Story Page 8)

Leann Harreleson, 614 president, Floyd Harmon, Alvy Bush, and Frank Orsini.

The decision whether the election will go ahead rests with Warren on an individual basis, because the nine-member tribunal is in recess.

The New York Teamster members told Warren that a legal barricade against the election is necessary because Hoffa's election would permit "entrenchment of power" by union leaders who have "imposed a dictatorship over the union and its members."

A three-man appeals court ruled Saturday that the election could be held but warned the convention's Credentials Committee to make certain that all delegates are legally seated or the election would be subject to challenge in the courts later.

A group of Pontiac Teamsters last month joined forces with the New York opposition group charging '614's delegation had not been voted on by union members as required in the constitution.

An aide of Hoffa's reported to newsmen today that an overwhelming number of union locals in the Philadelphia area now have pledged their votes to the Detroit Teamster boss.

BECK DENIES CHARGES

Hearing about the new charge by the Senate committee, retiring Teamster President Dave Beck retorted by saying it had no "factual data" to back up its claim.

Behind other convention scenes going on in this sun-filled, plush resort town, were reports that a coalition to try and stop the Hoffa steamroller might be in the making.

Two opponents of Hoffa, Teamster Vice-President Thomas L. Hickey of New York, and Thomas J. Haggerty, president of a Chicago Teamster local, planned further talks on joining forces.

William A. Lee, of Chicago, and a third in the running for the presidency, was reported not participating in the coalition talks.

The battle over the presidency is the high point of the convention which opened yesterday in Miami Beach.

The Credentials Committee seemed to overlook the latest McClellan charge as it certified 1,500 of the 1,944 delegates. It said it is still studying the list from 112 other locals.

The battle for the top seat of the 1,400,000-member union was narrowed to four late Monday when (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Plot Manhunt in Grim Tension

Lansing State Police Nerve-Center of Search for Killers

By TOM SHAWVER

EAST LANSING (AP) — Through the long night, the atmosphere in the big, brightly-lighted room was grimly tense.

Blue-shirted State Police officers stared fixedly at the map of Michigan's Lower Peninsula that stretched from floor to ceiling. More than 100 red, green and blue buttons clustered on southern counties told the location of State Police, Sheriff's and local police squad cars assigned to the three-state hunt for two men who had gunned down two state troopers, killing one and critically wounding another.

The scene was State Police Operations in East Lansing, nerve center of the 1,156-man State Police force and "field headquarters" for the biggest manhunt in its 40-year history.

Three radio panels lined in front of the map kept the center in constant communication with all cars. Voices of deputies and state troopers in the Jackson area, where the search was centered, barked constantly from loudspeakers, giving bits of information that might prove valuable.

MANEUVER SQUAD CARS
Consolidating these, officers at East Lansing maneuvered nearly 100 of their squad cars from one intersection to another, trying to hem in the killers before they could get away.

Crouched low in front of the map, puffing nervously on a Cation of the Bay City Post. For hours on end, his eyes followed the course of the hunt. Periodically, he offered advice on placement of squad cars.

As on previous days, the Negro students were brought to the school in a green Army station wagon. National Guardsmen in jeeps preceded and followed the station wagon.

Tonight's Weather to Be Cloudy, Cool

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts cloudy and cool weather for the Pontiac area tonight, with a low near 46.

Fair is the prediction for tomorrow, with little temperature change. The high will be near 72. The outlook for Thursday is partly cloudy and warm.

Today the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted that October will be warmer than usual over the western half of the nation and in the upper Mississippi Valley and western Great Lakes region.

In an extended weather forecast, the Weather Bureau predicts temperatures will average 1 to 3 degrees above normal. The normal high is 68 and the normal low 48.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 49 degrees. At 1 p.m. the mercury rose to 63.

Two Troopers, One Desperado Killed in Battles

3 Injured, 3 Abducted in Wild Chase Across Michigan, Indiana

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

NORTH VERNON, Ind.—

The second of two gunmen who left a trail of blood and terror across Michigan and Indiana was captured today in a heavily wooded area near North Vernon.

During the series of blazing gunfights last night and early today, two state troopers and a desperado were killed, three other officers wounded, and at least three persons abducted.

Captured by a posse of more than 100 officers who moved into the woods as a stubborn morning fog lifted was Victor Wayne Whitley, 26, of Granger, Tex.

Badly wounded, Whitley was alone when captured by Police Lt. Fred Lee, Detective Sgt. William Kirkham and Trooper Robert Gray, all of Indianapolis. This quashed reports that a woman was with the desperado.

Officers said they did not know whether he had been wounded in an exchange of gunfire with the posse or in previous skirmishes with police.

Police said the two gunmen may have been bank robbers. They had flashed a large roll of bills to a Michigan woman who was abducted and their abandoned car contained empty money bags from a bank in Garner, Iowa, and license plates from Missouri, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Virginia and South Carolina.

Fatally wounded in the wild, two-state flight were Michigan State Trooper Dugald A. Pellot, 23, shot to death when he stopped the two men late yesterday near Clinton, Mich.; Indiana State Trooper William Kellaman, 28, and ex-convict Ralph Walker Taylor of Kenova, W. Va.

Kellaman and Taylor were killed early today when a gun battle broke out on U.S. 31 near Scottsboro.

REPORT CLARIFIED

Earlier, State Police had reported a fourth victim who was found lying on a southern Indiana highway. However, the victim later was identified as Taylor and not a motorist who had been abducted.

Just before the officers closed in on the desperado at North Vernon, he freed Jennings County (Ind.) (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1).

Slain Trooper Eighth Killed in Forty Years

EAST LANSING (AP) — Trooper Dugald A. Pellot who was killed yesterday in a highway gun battle was the eighth Michigan state policeman slain in the line of duty in the 40-year history of the organization.

Less than a year ago two other troopers were killed by a crazed gunman who withstood for an hour a police siege of his home near Clio.

Killed Nov. 19, 1956 were troopers George E. Lappi and Bert A. Pozza, both 27, of the Flint post. Their slayer, Harry G. Richards, 63, retired postal worker, later surrendered.

The first state trooper killed was Harold E. Anderson who was shot to death by a run runner March 21, 1921 at Novi. Trooper George Branny was shot to death April 12, 1950.

Trooper Richard Hammond was killed Jan. 20, 1937, near the Ohio line in Monroe County and Trooper John S. Burke, was killed Oct. 13, 1930. Cpl. Samuel Mapes, was shot by a run runner May 1, 1927.

'Opening Day' Hunters' Magic Words

By JACK PATTERSON

"Opening Day." Two magic words that set today, Oct. 1, apart and beyond all the other Tuesdays of the year.

Two words that mean many things to many men in the broad, game-filled reaches of Michigan. For 200,000 of our state's outdoorsmen, these are the things this special Tuesday means:

Tuesday means a thin, cold wind rustling the frosted prairie grasses on the plains of the Upper Peninsula. And suddenly, out of the grasses the rocketing rise of a flock of sharp-tail grouse, breasting the sharp wind and with alternate rapid wing-beats and stiff, soaring glide, quickly becoming tiny specks in the distance.

And maybe, along with them, there will be a scattering of rapidly vanishing prairie chickens, doomed to disappear with the prairies they call home.

Tuesday means slow, quiet progress along the "edges," the breaks between cedar swamp and sapling hardwoods, in the alders and among the jackpines, in the stands of immature popples, in fact everywhere food and cover and maybe water lie together to constitute "range."

Quiet progress that leads to peaceful contemplation until shattered by the thunderous rise of a pair of ruffed-grouse.

Tuesday means rough going in the alder thickets where Canada blue grass grows high and telling. Watch for subsequent stories on Press sports pages.

Capture of Gunman Ends Bloody Chase

Deputy Sheriff Clyde Perkins who had been taken as a hostage during an earlier gun battle.

After the gunman had been trapped, state police set up roadblocks through most of southern Indiana and had two State Police airplanes standing by to aid in the hunt.

The bloody trail of death and terror began with the killing of Trooper Pellet and the wounding of another officer, Douglas A. Vogel, when the officers stopped the gunman's car near Clinton.

Taylor, object of a search for parole violation after serving part of a sentence for rape, and his partner then fled southward.

In Springfield, Mich., they forced a car driven by Harry Crowe, 71, to the curb. They told him:

"We want your car for a getaway."

BOUND AND GAGGED

Crowe was bound with a clothesline and gagged with a towel and left in the desperadoes' sedan.

Their next known appearance was in Jackson, Mich., where they tricked Mrs. Dorothea Le Cronier, 35, into stopping by telling her they were FBI men.

When she stopped, they entered her car and said:

"You're lucky you're a woman. If you were a man, we'd bump you off. We just bumped off a state trooper."

She said she pleaded with one man not to rob her because she had only a dollar. The gunmen took out large roll of bills, gave her $20, then bound her and fled in her car.

In Indiana, the gunmen were first halted near Scottsburg where Kellman and Taylor were fatally wounded.

CAUGHT IN TRAP

The second gunman then was caught in a police trap 20 miles north of North Vernon, Ind., where he dumped the body of his dead companion.

A North Vernon police officer, Lester Kenes, 36, and State Trooper Robert Pond, 28, were wounded in the exchange of gunfire before the gunman headed into the wooded area where he finally was captured.

State Police in Lansing, Mich., gave the following account for the two-state killing spree of the two gunmen:

SEvans Lake, Trooper Douglas Vogel shot at 3 p.m. yesterday.

Gunmen fled east on U.S. 112. Turned south on North Adams road. Spotted by Trooper Dugald Pellet and Sgt. Fred O'Donnell.

Pellet was killed and gunman eluded Sgt. O'Donnell.

Why do most barometers fail to give an accurate reading where they are used?

Barometers must be set for the localities in which they are used. More often than not, barometers are manufactured at some distance from the place of purchase. If they are not set for proper pressure differences, they will always be inaccurate.

A sure way to see that your barometer is accurate is to set it by an official barometer in your immediate locality.

Or, if there is none, you can get the official reading at a certain location, and adjust yours by taking into consideration any difference in altitude which might exist.

Barometers are relative to sea level readings and the greater the distance above sea level, the less the atmospheric pressure. This is the principle of the altimeter used in aircraft.

FIRST REPORTED — Dr. E. F. Denne, 3425 Ellis Road, Clarkston, a Pontiac optometrist, today had his sights right, on a fine 12-pound Canada goose, shot early on the opening day of Michigan's waterfowl and small game hunting season. His fine prize was the first reported to

The Press as thousands of state hunters went into action. The 5-foot wingspread, 3-foot long bird was Dr. Denne's first goose. It was shot from a flock of six at Wahmehag lake near Clarkston.

'I'll Be an Old Man'

Judge Sentences Thorpes to Prison for 7-10 Years

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Floyd and Anne Thorpe began 7-10 year prison sentences today for embezzling state auto license plate fees. The middle-aged couple were sentenced by Circuit Judge James E. Spier here yesterday after pleading guilty to taking some $80,000 from the Secretary of State's branch office in suburban St. Clair Shores. They said they had hoped to finance a life of ease in Mexico with the stolen money.

The two were arrested 15 months after the theft in March 1956, following a police hunt that covered three countries. They were found all but broke in Corpus Christi, Tex., where they had bought a part interest in a bar.

Thorpe's brother-in-law, Richard Radwill, 38, of Cleora, Ill., was sentenced to 3-10 years after pleading guilty to aiding and abetting the embezzlement. Radwill's wife, Josephine, pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiring to embezzle. She will be sentenced Thursday.

Thorpe, 58, winced visibly as Judge Spier pronounced sentence. He said later he thought the sentence "a stiff one."

"I'll be an old man when I come out," he said.

Teamsters Puzzle Over Election Status

California Congressman John F. Shelley (D) withdrew from the race.

In other Monday business, delegates gave a loud and long round of applause when Hoffa marched with Beck into the spacious and modern Miami Beach Auditorium.

Odly enough, the band struck up "When The Saints Go Marching In."

Hoffa's strength was shown Monday when the Central Conference of Teamsters re-elected him as its executive head and unanimously endorsed him for the presidency.

LEARN OF PLOT

From Michigan, delegations learned of a plot aimed at Secretary of State James M. Hare, reportedly to trick him out of possession of some political records embarrassing to the union and its would-be national leader Hoffa.

Figuring in the attempt, which was foiled, was a phony agent of the Senate racketeers panel.

Hare revealed that he was approached by a man representing himself as a special investigator for the committee while attending a convention last Thursday in Roanoke, Va.

The records involved were photostats Hare obtained of Democratic district convention delegate petitions bearing forged signatures. They were circulated, Hare said, by organizers for the Teamsters 1950 battle for control of the Democratic party machinery in the Detroit area.

tale patches of white give warning that in a moment there'll be a flurry of wings and a liquid silver whistle and a woodcock will be edging over the alder tops in less time than it takes to say it.

Tuesday means beagles baying hot on the scent of northern cottontails and snowshoes, through the brush and in the gloom of cedars; and up on the ridges, in the high hardwoods big fox squirrels, frisky grays and black squirrels playing hide and seek with eager hunters.

Tuesday means endless crouching in cat-tails and long marsh grasses beside pond and pothole and endless waiting until broken by the whistling wings of mallard, blackduck or pintail, or perhaps the bee-like darting of some lag-gard teal.

And it means sitting offshore on the big waters watching the early redheads etched across the bright sky, vying for air room with the flights of local puddlers.

Tuesday means a cramped, uncomfortable temporary home in a hollowed out corn shock, waiting for the first rusty hinge squawk that means approaching geese—geese that may circle and sail in on long still wings to decoys so carefully rigged in the pre-dawn darkness.

And to many Tuesday means the eschewing of the thunder of gunfire, and painfully silent ghosting through the deer country with bow and arrow at the ready is the only thing that really makes life worth living.

These are the things that set this Tuesday, Oct. 1, apart and beyond all other Tuesdays of the year.

Man Slain as He Beats His Estranged Wife in New Jersey

MOUNT ARLINGTON, N. J. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy shot his brother-in-law to death early today as the man stood over his estranged wife's bed and beat her, police said.

Moss County Prosecutor Frank C. Scerbo said Lester Aiken used a 12-gauge shotgun loaded with birdshot to kill John Sandor, 43, Sandor was legally separated from his wife Madolyn, 32, Lester's step-sister.

Mrs. Sandor and Lester were living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Aiken. The boy is an adopted child.

Scerbo said Sandor, using a borrowed car, drove to the Aiken home after the family had gone to bed. He entered the house through a side door and picked up a butcher knife and potato masher in the kitchen. He then went to Mrs. Sandor's second floor bedroom and started beating her.

In the bedroom with Mrs. Sandor were two sons by a previous marriage, Allen, 12, and Kevin, 9, and the Sandors' daughter, Linda, 3.

National Newspaper Week Opens

Ike Lauds U.S. Journalists

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has paid tribute to American newspapermen for seeking out the truth in an age "when falsehood and pretense can be so widely disseminated."

In a statement marking National Newspaper Week, which starts today, he said:

"During National Newspaper Week, we honor the journalists of our land who daily supply us with many of the facts and opinions which form the basis of our decisions.

"The accuracy, speed and courage of America's free press are unsurpassed, and the tradition of responsible journalism is one of the keystones of our democratic society.

But in this age of mass communication, when falsehood and pretense can be so widely disseminated, it is more important than ever to honor those who seek the truth and make it forcefully known.

"It is a privilege to salute the reporters, the editors and all who serve the national community through the medium of the press.

Dwight D. Eisenhower."

ing at their hotel headquarters in preparation for the 2:30 p.m. meeting with the President.

The President plans to use the meeting to seek peaceful solutions of compliance with the 1954 Supreme Court decision ordering desegregation of public schools.

He is expected to urge an end to the "massive resistance" plan of many southern states to court-order school integration programs.

At this point, the delegation from the southern governors conference consists of Govs. Leroy Collins of Florida, Luther Hodges of North Carolina, Frank Clement of Tennessee, and Theodore McKeldin of Maryland.

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia pulled out of the meeting yesterday because of Eisenhower's failure to agree to take up the issue of troop withdrawal.

The President's position is that he exercised constitutional powers in dispatching the paratroop unit to Little Rock. He does not consider this a proper topic for debate with the southern leaders but will hear out their complaints.

PICKETS IN CAPITAL

While the chief executive is discussing the issues with the state chiefs, segregationist John Kasper is expected to be leading a group of his followers in a picket line before the White House.

Kasper claimed to newsmen last night that the governors "are here to sell out the white people generally and the South in particular."

District of Columbia Police said Kasper had a right to picket the White House as long as he was orderly, did not try to make a speech, and did not incite to riot.

The chief executive ended his 27-day vacation at Newport, R. I., yesterday to meet with the south leaders today.

He described his vacation — much marred by the southern integration crisis — as one of the "finest vacations" he and the first lady had ever enjoyed and expressed hope that they would be able to return again.

Eisenhower was burned to a healthy pink from almost daily rounds of golf and appeared, as his doctors have said, to be in his finest physical trim since he entered the White House.

Clarkston Girl, 6, Struck by Car

According to Oakland County Sheriff's reports, a six-year-old Clarkston girl was injured yesterday, when she ran in front of an oncoming car on M15 near Middle Lake Rd., in Clarkston.

Diane Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wagner, of 6801 Middle Lake Rd., was admitted to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being hit by a car driven by Loretta H. Bailey, 47, of 6470 Ortonville Rd., Clarkston.

The hospital reported her condition as satisfactory today, with cuts and bruises of the back.

Pontiac Barber Marks 50th Year

A Pontiac barber finished his 50th year of haircutting last night, and celebrated the occasion by clipping his most faithful head of hair for approximately the 1251st time.

This one was free. Harry Dane, of 2665 Sylvan Shores Dr., was visited once again by his steady customer of the last 26 years, Rubin Simon, part owner of Simms Department Store, who lives at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Dane met Simon shortly after coming to Pontiac and Simon has followed him from shop to shop ever since.

TRIMS FAMED HEADS

Although Dane has cut the hair of such men as General Pershing, The Duke of Windsor, Sir Thomas Lipton, Harry Houdini, Prince Axel of Denmark, and professor Neils Bohr, who helped split the atom, he still looks upon Simon as his most faithful customer.

He started his apprenticeship at the age of 14 in Copenhagen, Denmark. The date was Oct. 1, 1907, and haircuts were then the equivalent of about 12 cents, and a shave was about 6 cents.

After four years as an apprentice, Dane set out to further his education by travelling. It was a custom at that time.

He started out for London and after spending a year there, he went on to Hamburg, Berlin, Brussels, The Hague, Amsterdam, Paris, Zurich, and finally took a job as barber on a trans-Atlantic Scandinavian-American Line.

After 10 complete round trips he decided to stay in America. He went to Plainfield, N.J., in March, 1913, and then to Detroit in August the same year.

Commission Again Votes for Maple-Bates Alley

BIRMINGHAM—For the second time, commissioners have voted the necessity of the Maple-Bates Alley.

The first approval was rescinded while city officials conducted a study of the possibility of increasing the special assessment district.

The increase dealt specifically with the S. S. Kresge Store. A company spokesman last night presented a sketch of the building, including its private loading dock. He told the group that while the company had no interest in whether or not the alley was constructed, they definitely did want to be included in the district.

He pointed out that to reconstruct their building, so as to be served by the proposed alley, was financially out of the question.

Wayne Mortimer, owner of part of the property involved in the alley construction, said the alley's creation would quite probably spoil a sale he has for his holdings. The proposed building, Mortimer said, would encompass the land necessary for the Bates street entrance.

Commissioner Carl Ingraham, in presenting the motion for establishing the necessity, emphasized that he had no desire to work a hardship on any one individual. He said, however, that from a standpoint of safety, particularly from the angle of the Fire Department, he feels the alley is necessary.

Commissioners Charles Renfrew and Charles Delbridge voted against the proposed alley.

Dr. W. A. Katcham of the University of Michigan, a member of the International Council for Exceptional Children and the Society for Research and Child Development, will speak at the Derby PTA meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

His subject will be "Nature of the Adolescent and How to Get Through to Him." This is the theme, "Improved Communication in Parent, Teacher and Student Relationships."

Equally prominent speakers are scheduled to develop the theme throughout the PTA year.

Birmingham Chapter 220 OES will hold its annual election of officers at the 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the Masonic Temple.

Birmingham Hammond Organ Society will approve a new constitution and by-laws when they meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Porter tomorrow.

Oscar Flor of Troy, president of the group, will announce plans for the coming year.

Membership is open to any interested persons in the surrounding area, who may contact Mr. Flor for details.

Drops In on Sheriff

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A suspected shoplifter eluded two store clerks in a two block foot race yesterday, but picked the wrong place to take refuge.

The man burst into an office in a downtown building and dropped into a chair, completely out of breath.

He gasped again when he found he had run into the Oklahoma County sheriff's office interrogation room.

Within 10 minutes, the man, identified by Deputy Sheriff Jim Farris as Elmo Dolling Jr., was in jail on a charge of petty larceny.

Chinese Commies to Brain-Wash Students

NEW YORK (INS) — News item: The Chinese Communist government announced today that students at the University of Peiping will be "brain-washed" for eight hours each week to rid them of Western ideas. Now, altogether, and careful with those woodwinds: days

Readin' and writin' and dialectic
Taught to the tune of a dynamite stick.

School days, school days. Dear old brainwashed school Edward Bennett Williams, the crack young lawyer who enabled Jimmy Hoffa to beat that bribery rap a month or two ago, was in Shor's place after the Robinson-Basilio fight.

"What did you think of the verdict?" he asked a boxing writer, who thought that Robinson had won.

"Worst since the Hoffa case," the guy said.

Harry Ashmore, anti-Faibus executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette, was naturally eager to get in touch with Mrs. Ashmore, at home, immediately after the governor assailed both of them on his coast-to-coast TV show.

At last he reached his wife and found her cool, calm and collected, even though Faibus had just told millions the terrible truth about her—that she, the wife of a strong Stevenson supporter and speech-writer, had voted for Eisenhower.

"Can you still get a message through to the governor?" she asked.

"Well, not very well," Harry said, "but I'll try. What is it?"

"Tell him I vote as I please, and frequently vote for different candidates than my husband does. Tell him that the most recent example of this was when I voted against Faibus, and my husband voted for him."

The feeling against the occupation of Little Rock by federal troops may have reached its peak in the breast of a cab-driver there. A reporter flagged him down, jumped into the hack and said, "Take me to the Federal building, please."

"Like heck I will," the cabbie said. "Now git."

Watching Martin Agronsky slug Gen. Batista with tough questions on a live NBC-TV show sent over the horizon from Havana, one wondered if Agronsky himself would come out of the palace alive. Then at the zenith of his probe into Batista's arrests, censorship, violations of the Constitution and dictatorial manner, Martin noted Havana's fine new building program and highway development.

The generalissimo blew a satisfied cloud of cigar smoke at the reporter, leaned back expansively and smiled.
"They just unlocked the palace door," a friend of Agronsky sighed with relief.

Hoffa is so certain the Teamsters will elect him president that he has started naming his cabinet. Last time anything like that happened was when Tom Dewey named, or permitted to be named, the cabinet he would surround himself with when he took over the White House. The contest against H. S. Truman was to be just a minor irritation. Several members of the Dewey staff had entered their children in school in Washington and had staked out homes for purchase or rental.

Then...
There has been some question raised as to how to address Queen Elizabeth II. "Ma'am" is permitted, the protocol division of Maxie's Busy Bee reveals. President Truman called her "Dearie" when Elizabeth was here as princess. She seemed to like it.

The former president was never one to let things over-awe him. He got his feet mixed up in the hem of his gown while walking up to receive an honorary degree and all but fell flat. But he recovered, with the tattle of his mortar board swinging crazily, grinned and said, "Oops, tripped over my skirt."

Bridge Colors Cause Stir

ST. IGNACE (UP) — The Mackinac Bridge superstructure will be green; the towers ivory.

That comes pretty close to being the colors of Democrat Gov. G. Mennen Williams' trademark — Green and white polka-dot bow ties. And they're just as close to the colors of Michigan State University, which are green and white.

When announced, the color scheme brought some Republican muttering and a considerable but unpublicized uproar from the University of Michigan.

Lawrence A. Rubin, executive secretary of the Mackinac Bridge Authority and a University of Michigan alumnus, took the roar out of the uproar from Ann Arbor.

Rubin decided the bridge would have yellow and blue lights (Michigan's colors) "so that half the time anyway it'll have my maize and blue."

Actually, Rubin says, selection of the color scheme by Dr. D. B. Steinman, the bridge's designer, had nothing to do with politics or universities.

Rubin recounts that in the early stages of planning an artist drew a preliminary sketch of the bridge and happened to use green and ivory. The combination above blue water proved pleasing to the designer's eye. The color scheme was approved without awareness it might cause something akin to a backfire in Michigan, says Rubin.

Brakes on Bus Fail, Three Die

School Vehicle Races Downhill, Plunges Into Deep Ravine

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Youngsters from All Saints Catholic School said they weren't frightened yesterday when their school bus started gaining the momentum that spelled death for three of them.

They were homeward bound, in high spirits, and the speedy downhill ride seemed like fun.

An instant later they were screaming in terror as the bus, its brakes apparently gone, spun off into a 35-foot-deep ravine at the foot of a grade on the city's East Side. The big yellow vehicle somersaulted and rolled, landing ultimately on its top in a shallow creek.

Two of the children, Steven Majorca, 8, and John De Santos, 7, were killed outright. A third, Edward Utwelling, 6, died two hours later. And 24 others were injured, some seriously. The bus driver, Meldon Smith, 33, also was hurt.

Police said all they had to go on, pending studies of the impounded bus, was what witnesses told them. The witnesses blamed brake failure. So did one of the young passengers, Lyle Christy, 11.

"I think the brakes kicked out," he said. "I remember grabbing the front of the seat. There was a big crash. That's all I remember."

Mrs. Elsie Steimer saw her 5-year-old son Michael on the bus before the accident.

"When they went by," she sobbed, "I saw him standing up in the bus, waving and shouting as it went by. I thought it was going unusually fast. But I thought Michael was having fun, getting a big kick out of it. And then, three blocks down the hill, . . . Michael was among the seriously injured."

Screams of the youngsters were heard more than a block away.

Rescue workers said the boys and girls—ranging in age from 5 to 12—were jumbled together in a bloody mass in the bus.

A corps of ambulances rushed the injured to three hospitals. After emergency treatment, a few were released and the remainder distributed among half a dozen hospitals.

A Few Tips May Be Helpful

Colorful Views Offered by Mexico to Its Visitors

TEMPE, Ariz. (INS)—Exotic scenery, interesting customs and a colorful culture are within easy traveling distance and a reasonable budget for vacationing Americans.

"Take a trip to Mexico," says Dr. Roy Rice, director of summer sessions at Arizona State College in Tempe which annually conducts a study tour of the Latin American country.

From many years experience with the trip Dr. Rice has several tips to pass along to persons interested in traveling through Mexico for study or pleasure.

No passport is needed. A tourist card is required, however, and it may be obtained for $3 from any Mexican consulate.

There are many restaurants and hotels in Mexico where it is perfectly safe to eat. Certain precautions should be followed, Dr. Rice points out, adding:

"Never drink anything with ice in it except in Mexico City where the ice is made from distilled water. Do not drink milk or eat ice cream except in those areas where the products have been pasteurized. Do not eat raw fruits or vegetables without peeling them. Do not over-eat."

TIPPING SCALE

The scale for tips in common usage in Mexico includes:

One peso per suitcase for hotel porters and bellboys; fifty centavos over the taxi meter fare for cab drivers; fifteen per cent of the bill at a restaurant or nightclub; about two pesos per day, paid at the end of the stay, for hotel chambermaids; twenty per cent of the total bill in barber shops or beauty salons.

A peso tip in Mexico corresponds roughly to a quarter tip in the U. S.

Generally speaking, a U. S. dollar exchanges for about 12 pesos. Exchanges are made in banks and in some hotels and Dr. Rice suggests that tourists obtain travelers' checks in denominations of $10 and $20.

Even in summer, Mexico is cool in the early mornings and evenings except in the coastal plain.

A light coat is desirable for women, a suit coat for men. In Mexico City, semi-formal wear is necessary in the evening. Women in Mexico should never wear slacks or shorts.

A good wardrobe for women would include two or three nylon jersey dresses, one semi-formal evening. Top this off with a suit and you'll have an adequate wardrobe.

For men, wear slacks and a sports coat for daytime and a suit for evenings.

Most places in Mexico are pelted by rain for a few minutes every day and it's a wise move to pack a light, plastic raincoat which can be folded to purse size. Comfortable walking shoes, of course, are a must and don't forget a bathing suit.

Amateur photographers have a field day in Mexico but remember to bring an ample supply of film since prices for camera supplies are 25 to 50 per cent higher south of the border than they are in the U. S.

NEED SMALLPOX SHOT

All persons entering the U. S. must have had a recent smallpox vaccination and it is well to have that done before beginning your trip to Mexico, making sure you have a doctor's certificate testifying that you got the shot.

Other immunizations such as typhoid and tetanus are not required but may be advisable.

Spy Suspect Sterns, Wife Now in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The Alfred K. Sterns, under federal indictment in the United States for spying, now are in the Soviet Union.

They last were reported in Prague. Travelers said the wealthy American couple registered in the guest book at the Yasnaya Polyana Museum, the former home of novelist Leo Tolstoy, 75 miles south of Moscow.

Sterns is a former investment broker and his wife is the former Martha Dodd, daughter of the late William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany. They fled to Europe from Mexico after ignoring a subpoena to testify before the New York Federal Grand Jury. The Grand Jury indicted them in New York Sept. 9 on a charge of spying for the Russians.

In Proving Retirement Age

Census Records Help Farmers

Of the 4,783,021 farmers counted in the 1954 Census of Agriculture, 779,282 reported they were 65 years old or more and 951,310 were in the 55 to 64 age range. Thousands of these farm operators, as well as other groups of farm workers and household workers, are becoming eligible for benefits under the expanded Social Security Act coverage which went into effect on 1955.

Many of these older persons, born before the registration of births became general practice, are among the estimated 30,000,000 Americans without birth certificates or other official proof of age—a requirement in qualifying for Social Security benefits.

A transcript of a personal census record for use as proof of age may be obtained from the U. S. Bureau of the Census for a fee covering the cost of searching the records. A fee of $3 pays for a routine search, handled in order of receipt, of not more than two censuses of one person. This may take from four to six weeks, depending on the backlog of applications. An expedited search may be obtained for a $4 fee.

Persons in need of their census records can obtain an Age Search Application Form by writing to the U. S. Bureau of the Census, Washington 25, D. C.

Personal information in the U. S. Census records is confidential and is furnished only upon the signed application of the individual to whom it relates.

About 3½ million transcripts of personal census records have been furnished to applicants as proof of age, citizenship or identity in the 22-year period since the Social Security Act was approved.

The Age Search Section of the Bureau of the Census is self-supporting, its expenses being paid by the fees charged for searching the records.

Century-Old Mill Pond Now Under Renovation

By ROSE MCKEE

WASHINGTON (INS) — Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, wife of the retiring defense secretary, is searching for a "horrible question" to live up to her husband's last Pentagon news conference tomorrow.

The headline-making Mrs. Wilson plans to fulfill a long hankering by attending the cabinet member's farewell meeting with the press and posing her own question—subject as yet unidentified.

HARRIETTE A. FOSS

Mrs. and Mrs. Harold R. Foss of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Harriette Alice, to David Winter Boeghold. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Boeghold of Orchard Lake Village. A graduate of the Detroit Conservatory of Music, the bride-elect is continuing work toward her degree at Wayne State University. The prospective bridegroom has returned to his studies at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo. A spring wedding is planned.

Her husband received this news at a private dining table with somewhat less than joy and cheers—not a strange reaction for a man whose impromptu answers have sometimes gotten him into hot water.

When he appeared to squirm somewhat at the prospect of facing his wife at the news conference, Mrs. Wilson warmed to the subject and quipped, "Oh, I think I will ask a real horrible question."

Turning to a reporter who was her guest, she asked merrily, "You'll give me a horrible question to ask, won't you?"

There was enough of an edge of determination in her voice to suggest she just might participate in the questioning. Mrs. Wilson proved earlier this year that she is a woman with an independent mind when she spoke up to this reporter against criticism of her husband by President Eisenhower.

When the president rebuked Wilson for a remark involving the National Guard, the spunky Mrs. Wilson said the President's criticism was "uncalled for" and she was "indignant" about it.

It was the first time anyone ever heard of a cabinet member's wife assailing a president and it made headlines far and wide. Mr. Eisenhower showed he had no hard feelings by giving the Wilsons a lift south in his plane a few days later.

Mrs. Wilson said she has wanted for a long time to slip into one of her husband's news conferences "to see what they are like."

But, she said, "they" didn't seem to want her. The "they," she indicated, boils down to "he."

She was all set to go to one news conference some time ago "when they" changed the time on me—purposely, I think—they knew I had to go off and pour some tea someplace."

Seek Protection of School Children

Citizens Ask Road Safety

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
MILFORD — Residents living on North Milford road along with school, village and township officials, have formed a new organization known as the Milford-Highland Road Safety Improvement Assn.

Long recognized as one of the most treacherous roads in Oakland County, it has no set speed limit posted. Surveys have been made by Michigan State Police but so far no other action has been taken.

The three-mile stretch between Milford and Highland has steep hills and dangerous curves. Several signs have been posted "Slippery When Wet" but residents say that in the summertime it is also "slippery when hot."

Facts and figures prove that more than $10,000 in property damage has occurred during the last year. Motorists involved in accidents have torn up fences, lawns and trees and many people have suffered serious injury as a result.

With the opening of the new Milford High School on North Milford road later this fall, many children will have to walk along the stretch, according to Supt. of Huron Valley Schools Harold Hansen.

Purpose of the newly organized group is to establish a speed limit of not more than 40 miles per hour, except in front of the school, which shall then be 25 miles per hour.

Action will be taken to remove dangerous hilltops and resurface the road, which has had expensive repair work over a period of years.

The group, under the leadership of Harold McCormick, will meet at 8 tomorrow night at Milford High School to draft plans for presentation to the Oakland County Road Commission.

They will also elect officers, formulate bylaws and plan definite action on the road improvement and safety for their children.

Besides McCormick and Hansen, others backing the project are Principal Erwin Johnson, Milford Mayor Mayor Hoad, Milford and Highland Police Chiefs, Joseph Brophy and James Winters respectively and Louis Oldenburg, Highland Township supervisor.

Iowa Sophomore
Leads Big Ten
Scoring Parade

CHICAGO (U)—Geno Sessie, a sophomore halfback for Iowa's defending Big Ten football champions, took an early lead in the conference scoring parade this week.

Sessie scored three touchdowns to grab a three point lead over Blakely, the Minnesota fullback who scored two touchdowns and added three extra points in a 46-7 triumph over Washington.

Sessie's three touchdowns came on the three times he handled the ball in Iowa's 70-14 victory over Utah state.

Sid Williams of Wisconsin was in third place with 13 points. Tied with 12 points each are Blanche Martin of Michigan State and Bill Hoppel of Iowa.

Hurt at Start

PORT HURON (U)—Two Detroit area men were hurt slightly early today in an accident a few hours after the opening of duck hunting season.

John Sheppard, 18, of Detroit, was struck in the left knee and his brother Charles, 26, of suburban Center Line, was hit in the right arm by shotgun pellets reported to have been fired by Clem Botting, 32, of Detroit. The men were hunting on Harsens Island in the middle channel of the St. Clair River.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

In the next few articles, I'll deal specifically with each step in the approach.

The first motion taking place in the approach comes with the pushaway. After you've taken your starting position on the approach and are ready to bowl, the first thing you do is to push the ball directly towards the pins. Gravity then takes charge and the ball falls naturally and easily into the backswing.

In today's illustration, the bowler has pushed the ball out in front of his body, and the ball is ready to drop down and into the backswing. All this has occurred as the first step is taken with the right foot. Note this first step is a short one. That gets the body into motion easily.

The right arm is fully extended, and the body is bent slightly forward from the waist. The left arm swings out to the side and front to help maintain balance.

Remember, push that ball toward the pins—not up or down or to either side. Get it straight out in front of you, and let gravity take over.

Luncheon Saturday at the Elks club and a Scotch golf day, Sunday, at the Clarkson Golf club wound up the season for Clarkson club women's league.

Awards Saturday went to Mrs. Robert Peterson of Pontiac for 1st place, to Mrs. Harry Grow of Romeo for 2nd.

Husbands were guests Sunday and Mrs. I. Stanburg and Lloyd Mehaffey were golf winners with 47. Dinner was served after the tourney, in the clubhouse.

the regular season league champ while Clarkson won the city playoffs Saturday at Oakland Park with nine straight victories against the league's top players.

Lions Report
Record Season
Ticket Sales

DETROIT (U)—The Detroit Lions today announced record National Football League season ticket sales of 39,844 for the 1957-58 season.

Briggs Stadium, where the Lions play their home games, has a capacity of 52,854 of which 7,000 seats are general admission bleacher seats and not sold on a season ticket basis. In addition, some 3,000 standing room tickets are available for home games.

Sale of season tickets ended Saturday noon.

Georgia 11 Shy on Talent

ANN ARBOR (U)—Georgia comes here to play Michigan Saturday rich in southern tradition, but with little in the way of football talent to upset the Wolverines.

The Bulldogs' captain is aptly named. He is Jefferson Davis, namesake of the Confederate president.

Their coach is Wally Butts, a direct descendant of one of Georgia's first settlers, Capt. Samuel Butts. The captain was killed fighting the Indians with the Georgia militia in 1814 and Butts County in Georgia was named in his honor.

But as a football team, Georgia possesses an undistinguished record. It lost both its 1957 starts.

Texas whipped the Bulldogs 26-7 and Vanderbilt beat them 9-6. They haven't posted a winning season in three years.

"This isn't the best football team in the world," said assistant coach Don Dufek, who has been trailing the Bulldogs for two weeks. "But it's not the worst, either."

Scouting reports on Michigan opponents are usually glowing appraisals. Dufek's comment only gave Georgia moderate praise.

The football squad, the fans and even the coaches still are sky-high after the near-flawless performance in the MSU opener—the 54-0 victory over Indiana.

Michigan State plays the University of California at Berkeley Saturday. But many supporters already are seeing through rose-colored glasses to an eventual third Rose Bowl trip.

Oklahoma Rated No. 1;

10th in Voting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Oklahoma never stirred from the practice field last week, but still ruled the roost today as the nation's No. 1 college football team in the second weekly nationwide poll of The Associated Press.

However, Michigan State served notice it will be a strong contender, as the Spartans moved down Indiana in its opener last Saturday 54-0, and moved up from fourth to second place. Oklahoma, idle after walloping Pittsburgh a week earlier, takes on Iowa State Saturday.

With a total of 134 votes from sports writers and sportscasters, Oklahoma got 81 firsts, and 1,223 points based on 30 for first, nine for second, etc. Michigan State received 24 first place ballots and 999 points. The Spartans meet California this week.

Minnesota, a 46-7 winner over the University of Washington, moved up from sixth to third place with 867 points, as the Big Ten and other schools played their opening games. The Duke Blue Devils, who made it two straight by thumping Virginia 40-0, vaulted from seventh to fourth place, and edged out Texas A&M, which dropped from second to fifth, although winning over Texas Tech, 21-0. Duke's eight first place votes helped provide a 629-628 point edge over the Aggies.

The Top Ten teams with points on 16-4-7-4-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with first place votes and win-loss records in parentheses:

1. Oklahoma (81) (1-0)	1,223
2. Michigan State (24) (1-0)	999
3. Minnesota (10) (1-0)	867
4. Duke (8) (2-0)	639
5. Texas A&M (2-0)	629
6. Navy (1) (1-0)	473
7. Auburn (0) (1-0)	400
8. Iowa (3) (1-0)	374
9. Oregon State (2-0)	234
10. Michigan (1-0)	224
