Governor Speaks

'May Not Need Income Tax'

LANSING (AP)—A statewide income tax will not necessarily be a part of the fiscal reform program offered by Gov. George Romney this fall—but it appears in most of the eight alternative plans now in the hands of Republican legislative leaders.

This was one of the clues provided by the governor yesterday to his own views of fiscal reform, following a five - hour closed session with 10 key Republican legislators.

"It's possible to meet a good proportion of the state's needs without an income tax," Romney told newsmen later.

"It's possible to have tax reform and meet the revenue situation without it — but whether we will undertake fiscal reform without it is still under discussion."

Yesterday's meeting was the first of several Romney will hold with key lawmakers from both parties to plan the fall session, slated to begin Sept. 16 and run for about two months.

NO DECISIONS

The governor described it as a "preliminary, exploratory, orientation meeting" in which no decisions were made and the lawmakers were not asked for their viewpoints on specific aspects of fiscal reform.

Although he refused to be pinned down on the elements of his eight alternative programs, Romney told newsmen the majority include tax reform for local governments, a reduction in the beer tax — a part of last year's $76 million "nuisance tax" package — and repeal of the business activities tax.

He said his message to the special session after Labor Day will make known his views on fiscal reform, but declined to say whether he prefers any of the eight programs now outlined.

"I have found there usually is more than one reasonable way to get things done," said Romney.

"Right now, we are merely trying to be sure that we are all familiar with the basic facts — on the budget side, and the revenue and tax side."

Speaking for the governor in his meeting with lawmakers were L. William Seidman, special financial adviser who will play a strong role in formulation of the Romney program, and State Treasurer Glenn Allen.

Allen's role was to explain the "probable picture of spending" that the state will face in 1964-65 and estimates of revenue based on the current tax structure.

The governor said the substance of this was that if no

To Rule on Transfer of Proceedings to Another County

Today's scheduled trial of two 22-year-old Pontiac men on charges of murdering a Kroger store comanager has been delayed until at least tomorrow morning.

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer is pondering a defense motion that the trial of Adoise White, 79½ Wall, and Charles E. Hodges, 174 Prospect, be held in a county other than Oakland, Wayne or Genesee.

Beer said he would rule on the motion, along with another motion by defense attorney Milton R. Henry of Pontiac, tomorrow morning.

Henry asked that the trial be held in Ingham County on the grounds that notoriety and publicity in the case "have made it impossible to get an impartial jury here."

Henry's other motion asks Beer to rule out of evidence statements by White and Hodges admitting the crime.

Henry contended the statements were obtained through "illegal pressures" applied while the two men were "illegally detained and questioned."

Beer's action in effect granted a one-day postponement of the trial to allow time for a psychiatrist appointed by the court last week to examine the defendants.

Henry also had requested a postponement.

Henry claimed he needed the psychiatrist's report to determine whether he should plead insanity as his clients' defense to the first-degree murder charges brought against them as a result of the March 16 slaying of Robert A. Greene, 22, of 122 Summit.

Greene was killed after he was forced to open a safe containing some $1,500 at the Pontiac Mall Kroger store. Police said he was stabbed 42 times and shot once in the head.

Henry, in support of his claim that an impartial jury was impossible here, charged the "brutality of the alleged crime has been compounded and exaggerated" by newspapers and television.

Named to Head School Study

A 33-year-old Pontiac attorney has been appointed chairman of a new citizens school study committee, it was announced today by William H. Anderson, president of the board of education.

Anderson said James L. Howlett of 104 E. Iroquois, will head a citizens' study and evaluation of Pontiac schools to determine the future needs of the system.

JAMES L. HOWLETT

"This committee will survey and evaluate all phases of the school program during the 1963-64 school year and determine the future needs of the Pontiac system," Anderson explained.

Howlett said his committee, which will be made up of about 20 citizens, will represent a cross-section of the community. He said the citizens group would work closely with the school board.

A 1954 graduate of the University of Michigan, Howlett is currently attorney for Oakland University. Among his civic activities he is president of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, and on the budget steering committee of the United Fund.

Howlett said his committee's work would be divided into two

Pope Weathers Severe Crisis

In Grave Condition Due to Hemorrhaging

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Death brushed close to Pope John XXIII today, but he weathered the crisis.

The Vatican disclosed he is suffering from gastric heteroplasia — a growth in the stomach. This could be a cancer or a tumor, either benign or malignant.

The diagnosis, published by the Romano, was the first specifically defining the illness of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff.

AT BEDSIDE

Through tense hours this morning, three doctors were at the Pope's bedside and worked to stem hemorrhaging, Vatican sources reported.

It was the worst crisis of the illness which felled him briefly last fall and has since recurred intermittently.

Medical personnel rushed in and out of the papal apartment.

Vatican sources said the Pope's mind was clear, but he has been able to take no solid food for several days and he was having increasing difficulty in retaining liquids.

It is possible the doctors have not determined the exact kind of growth involved. In the past, surgery had been considered for exploratory purposes — and been rejected as too dangerous for the pontiff because of his age and condition.

Negroes 'Invited' to Switch Schools

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—A federal judge today refused to order public schools in Birmingham, Ala., integrated but, in effect, invited Negroes to initiate transfer requests to white schools to settle the issue.

Federal District Judge Seybourn Lynne, in announcing he would hold the case under his jurisdiction, said, that Negroes had not applied to enter white schools in this city where massive civil rights demonstrations were held earlier this month.

Lynne said adequate time remained prior to the start of the 1963 school term in September to initiate the transfers and seek relief under Alabama's 1957 pupil placement law.

The law, which gives school boards broad powers in assigning students, was held constitutional on its face by the Supreme Court.

But Lynne warned that if its application was proven discriminatory he would be compelled to order the city to submit a desegregation plan.

He did not rule on the constitutionality of the law.

ATTACK LAW

Negroes have contended the placement law is an instrument to maintain classroom segregation. All of Alabama's public schools are rigidly segregated according to race.

Despite clear evidence of a segregated school system, Lynne said Supt. Theo R. Wright and board members had assured him they stood ready to comply with the law.

"This court will not sanction discrimination by them in the name of the placement law, but it is unwilling to grant injunctive relief until their good faith has been tested," Lynne held.

In his ruling, Lynne noted that the defendants point to the

Jackson, Miss., Racially Tense

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jackson kept an uneasy watch today on a racial situation which some feared might spawn demonstration attempts and possibly violence.

Involved exchanges of statements and one meeting have produced agreement on only one point: that Jackson would be the next Southern city to experience a concerted effort to win racial concessions.

The big question is what the effort will involve and when it will come. The answer could be disclosed tonight at a mass meeting of Negroes.

City officials and 17 Negro leaders who had been invited by Mayor Allen Thompson met Monday to discuss concessions sought by the Negroes.

Dems Pick Swainson to Raise Cash

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Gov. John B. Swainson has been given the job of finding a quick way to raise $100,000 for the debt-ridden Michigan Democratic party.

Swainson, whose unsuccessful campaign for re-election last fall produced much of the $260,000 deficit the party faces, was named chairman of "Project One Hundred" at a meeting of Democratic officials in his office yesterday.

A party spokesman said the Democrats hope "to eliminate the great debt in three or four basic projects. The first is 'Project One Hundred,' which may go after $100,000 or more."

The party, the spokesman said, was still not ready to release the details of the crash project.

"We've worked out a few basic ideas and the full details are to be ironed out in the next couple of days."

Zolton A. Ferency, state Democratic chairman, said the party will operate with a two-part slogan this year — "Debt free in '63 and owe no more by '64."

Some of the debts date back three years but more were incurred during the 1962 general election and 1963 spring election campaigns.

Ferency said yesterday that in addition to the emergency fund committee the party is also looking at "some of the usual fund raisers — dinners honoring certain people; county-by-county fund raisers, either picnics or dinners; and additional emphasis on membership."

Another possibility, but one the state party can't count on with any certainty, is a gala centered around President Kennedy.

Teacher Union Strikes Schools

Classes Shortened in Gary, Ind., Protests

GARY, Ind. (AP)—The 1,200-member Gary teachers union struck the city's 42 public schools today, but the system's 45,000 pupils remained in the classrooms for abbreviated sessions.

Supt. Alden Blankenship said picket lines were at most schools, but about 300 other teachers crossed them to report to their jobs.

The union set the strike after failing to win recognition from the school board as a bargaining agent.

No incidents were reported as the pickets, wearing black and white armbands, marched around the schools.

The union originally had set the strike for Monday but postponed it 24 hours after Mayor John S. Visclosky demanded that the five school board members resign or recognize the union.

The state labor commissioner, Hobart L. Butler, was sent to Gary by Gov. Matthew E. Welsh in an effort to settle the dispute.

The union, Local 4 of the American Federation of Teachers, contended it had been recognized by school boards as bargaining agents for its members for 25 years but said the present board had refused to follow that practice.

Service Cut Warning Hikes Postal Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House committee, responding to warning that mail services might be cut back, agreed today to restore $40 million of the $92 million the House trimmed from the Post Office Department's budget.

Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., who led Senate negotiators, said the extra funds should assure adequate postal service for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Postmaster General J. Edward Day had warned that Saturday mail deliveries might be stopped and that deliveries would be halted to new suburbs and office buildings if the House-approved slash was not restored.

"There should be no impairment of mail service now although this will require the strictest economies," Robertson said.

"There may be some curtailment of mail window service on Saturdays."

The Senate-House committee had the job of compromising differing bills passed by the Senate and House.

The Senate had voted $70 million more for postal operations and $10 million more for new postal equipment than the House had approved.

The Senate additions were halved in the conference at $35 million and $5 million.

The committee wound up with an appropriations bill of about $6 billion for the post office and treasury departments.

Clerks are working out the exact total. Of this amount, about $4.5 billion is for the Post Office Department.

change is made in the current tax structure, and services remain at their current level, Michigan would be in a deficit position by 1964-65.

"How much of a deficit it would be depends on a lot of factors," Romney added.

Predictions have been that Michigan will realize a $40.6 million surplus at the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, but Romney said "it could be that the results will be somewhat more favorable."

It is still too early to know whether the deficit might be cut more in the 1963-64 fiscal year, he said.

He emphasized that the lawmakers attending the conference had expressed no views on any specifics of tax reform, including the explosive income tax proposal that has sparked legislative warfare in recent years.

May Seek Order to Prevent Lake Drain Reclosing

John E. McGrath, attorney for a group of Williams Lake residents, said today he would probably petition Oakland County Circuit Court tomorrow for an injunction restraining anyone from reclosing the drain between Williams and Maceday Lakes.

The contemplated legal action stems from last Friday night's attempt by some 75 Williams Lake residents to open a sealed culvert between the two lakes to raise their lake level.

Armed with shovels and an air hammer, they had dug a 50-foot trench, about 4 feet deep, and had just drilled through a cement plug when a swarm of police cars arrived and the project was halted.

phases. The first phase will be a study and evaluation to determine future needs.

The second phase would be a public information program to advise voters on the millage needs of the school district.

The Pontiac school board is expected to place a millage question on the June, 1964 ballot.

The amount of that millage will be determined by Howlett's citizen committee and the school board.

During Holiday

Police to Step Up Patrols

Oakland County's high accident areas will get maximum patrol coverage by state police and the sheriff's department during the Memorial Day weekend, according to Pontiac Post Commander Sgt. John Amthor and Sheriff Frank Irons.

In addition, the troopers and deputies will be assisted by national guard members for part of the period.

"This is the first warm weather holiday weekend of the season, and a surge in traffic can be expected," Amthor said.

He added he expected tomorrow and Sunday nights to be the worst for traffic congestion.

Water safety is urged by Irons, who said his special lake patrols will be on duty and in force during the long holiday.

In most instances, two sheriff's cars will be assigned to districts where normally there is only one.

Traffic is expected to be the heaviest between 3 and 9 p. m. each day.

All trooper passes for the four-day weekend have been canceled, Amthor said.

He pointed out that the number of fatalities in Oakland County resulting from automobile accidents is up 36 per cent over last year's figures.

JFK Team Hopes to Prod Slow-Moving Britishers

LONDON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration is sending a technical team to Britain next week to try to sell Prime Minister Macmillan's government on the mixed-manned Polaris fleet project, an official statement disclosed today.

The American move came amid signs that the British want to go slowly on this project.

Lord Carrington, first lord of the admiralty, said that at Washington's request a small American naval team led by Adm. Claude V. Ricketts, vice chief of naval operations, will arrive in London June 4.

Speaking in the House of Lords, Carrington added: "These talks in no way commit us to this project."

The mixed-manning concept being pushed by the United States government is designed to give the Atlantic Alliance allies a greater share in nuclear strategy while preventing the spread of national nuclear forces.

The allies would equip a surface fleet armed with Polaris missiles. Individual ships in this fleet would be manned by sailors of more than one nationality.

This mixing would be intended to prevent any one country from withdrawing its contribution in a time of national crisis, since such an action would be physically impossible, or using its power for solely national ends.

SUPPORT VOICED

In recent London talks with Livingston T. Merchant, President Kennedy's special envoy, and in the corridors of the Ottawa NATO meeting last week, the British voiced support for the political concept of a mixed-manned force.

But Macmillan's government always has accompanied this with strong reservations about the practical working of the system.

The British suggest surface ships would be too vulnerable to attack to constitute a reasonable deterrent and that confusion could arise from having sailors of different countries jumbled together.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, former deputy commander of NATO's European army, told the House of Lords the mixed-manned force idea "was utter and complete poppycock." He added:

"How can a ship fight effectively if one-third of the crew is Portuguese, one-third Belgians and say one-third Danish? The thing is just not on.

"You might as well man a ship with a party of politicians."

complaint filed by Negroes and point out the fact that at no time has any Negro child applied for enrollment in or transfer to a white school.

He said of the Negroes: "Their reluctance in taking the initiative in bringing about the integration of the public schools stems from something more than blind adherence to tradition."

Lynne heard two almost identical suits seeking an end to segregation in Birmingham's public schools last year and took the cases under advisement.

Today, he dismissed one of the suits, filed by Agnes Nelson, which would have placed her and her brother, Oswald, and other Negro children in integrated schools.

He said testimony heard last year revealed that the Nelson children had left Birmingham for Detroit several weeks before the suit was filed.

He said they were now attending school in Detroit and for that reason neither Nelson child was injured by segregation in Birmingham.

In the other suit—which attacked the Alabama pupil placement law—Lynne refused to call the law unconstitutional and refused a plea for an injunction against school segregation.

In Montgomery, Gov. George Wallace, dismissing a subpoena served on a "civilly dead" household servant, has given every indication he intends to boycott a federal hearing aimed at preventing his interference in the integration of the University of Alabama.

WON'T APPEAR

A source close to Wallace said the scrappy segregationist would not "under any circumstances" appear at the hearing next Monday in Birmingham.

U.S. marshals yesterday served papers on a Negro maid at the governor's mansion in an effort to assure the governor's court appearance.

City Commission OKs Budget of $1.8 Million

BIRMINGHAM — The city's $1.8-million budget, holding the 18-mill tax levy for the third consecutive year, was approved at last night's public hearing by the City Commission.

Also given the green light were preliminary plans for a nine-hole golf course and recreation area at the northwest corner of 14-Mile Road and South Cranbrook Road.

Commissioners approved an increase in the required number of parking spaces for residential areas.

After hearing from multiple dwelling property owners at the meeting, commissioners relaxed City Planner William Brownfield's recommendation and approved a 1.25 required parking space for two-room units and 1.50 parking space for units above two.

Eliot F. Robinson, president of the Bloomfield Art Association (BAA) which leases a portion of the proposed golf course site, asked commissioners to get together with the BAA and "discuss future plans so there's no encroachment" on the association's growth.

Robinson told commissioners he was not opposed to the golf course but hopes "we can work together and not freeze a vital cultural force in the community" before final plans are drawn up.

He did not go into detailed future plans for the BAA but noted the $40,000 spent in improving the facility, the need for more parking and intended use of outdoor areas for classes.

Gare said the current plans were preliminary and that details still have to be worked out.

Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham moved that all parking on the north side of Maple, from Hunter to Chester, be prohibited from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday because of the "deteriorating factor" of congestion there.

Commissioner David F. Breck seconded his motion, but Mayor William Burgum said he questioned the "impact" and wanted consideration given before such action. Further discussion on the subject is set for the June 10 meeting.

"Responding to the challenge of improving educational opportunity in Birmingham" will be the theme of the board of education's reporting session at 8 tonight.

The public meeting, divided into two parts, will be held in the little theater at Seaholm High School.

Public hearing on the proposed 1963-64 Bloomfield Hills budget was scheduled for 5 p.m. today at the township hall.

The budget would increase city spending from $428,000 to $449,000.

Clerk-Treasurer Robert J. Stadler said the new budget could be based on a tax levy of $26.80 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the current rate.

Stanley L. Case

Service for Stanley L. Case, 86, of 839 Helston, Bloomfield Township, will be 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Franklin Cemetery, Franklin.

Mr. Case died yesterday after a brief illness. He was a retired farmer.

Mrs. Suzanne K. Craig

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Suzanne K. Craig, 78, of 292 Harmon will be 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Holy Name Catholic Church. Burial will follow in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

Mrs. Craig died yesterday after a long illness. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

She was a member of the League of Catholic Women, the Holy Name Altar Society and the MOMS Club of Birmingham.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Grant Wott of Philadelphia, Pa.; four sons, Hillary of Washagami, Canada, George of Birch Run, Raymond of Southfield and Bernard of Birmingham.

Also surviving are two sisters, a brother, 11 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Set to Adopt Tax Resolution

A resolution establishing the necessity to raise the city's tax levy by approximately $235,000 is scheduled for adoption at tonight's City Commission meeting at 8.

The resolution orders city administrators to prepare a revised 1963 budget appropriation ordinance to replace the one adopted last January.

The January ordinance called for some $4,314,240 to be raised from taxes to finance the 1963 city budget. The proposed ordinance would require that some $4.55 million be raised from taxes.

The resolution also orders administrators to figure the 1963 tax rate on an equalized tax base for the first time in Pontiac's history.

Pontiac's tax rate has always been figured on the total valuation as set by the City Board of Tax Review. The total assessed valuation established by the board this year was $308 million.

The state equalized valuation of the city is $342,967,644.

Tonight's resolution lays the groundwork for establishing the 1963 tax rate, which still must be set by the commission before June 30.

In other business, a resolution authorizing the city to borrow money from the police and fire pension funds is also up for approval.

The money will be used to finance construction of a proposed North Side fire station on Walton west of Baldwin. It will be paid back in annual installments from capital improvement funds.

Approval is also slated for a contract for the mobile food and beverage concession at city parks this summer.

The agenda also includes a public necessity resolution and cost estimates for resurfacing 1.72 miles of Orchard Lake Avenue.

Public hearings are scheduled for special assessment rolls covering proposed paving projects on portions of Harvey, Howard, Inglewood, Stanley and Third.

A resolution to delete proposed resurfacing projects on Boston, Dakota and Illinois from the 1963 street improvement program will also be up for action.

Another resolution slated for approval would delete previous proceedings on a similarly proposed project on Waldo and order new estimates prepared to include storm sewer replacement on Waldo.

Commissioners also will get a letter from owners of the Gridiron Bar & Grill, 93 Montcalm, asking for commission approval of their request to upgrade their tavern license to a Class C liquor license.

Clash Seems Likely Over EMU Criticism

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney and the State Board of Education appeared headed today for a direct clash over the board's refusal to turn lose a copy of a "confidential" report criticizing Eastern Michigan University.

The governor confirmed that, in a telephone conversation with Board President Chris Magnuson, his request for the report had been rejected for the second time.

"Magnusson told me I was being 'childish' by asking for the report," said Romeny.

The governor added: "The board's refusal to comply with my request is now more important than the report itself. It involves the question of the governor's authority to ask and receive information from his executive agencies, as provided in the constitution."

In a phone conversation yesterday, Magnusson told Romney the board would be willing to meet with him and let him read the report, but said he could not have a copy to keep.

A Romney aide last week asked for a copy but was turned down by Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board of education.

The four - member board is now composed entirely of Democrats, but Magnusson is slated to retire in a month.

His place will be taken by James O'Neil, a Livonia Republican elected April 1 to fill the vacancy.

Romney said he expected he could get a copy of the report from O'Neil.

"There are four copies of it, and as long as the board supplies me with one, this meets the requirements of the constitution," said the governor.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Coast Guard board of inquiry has ended 37 days of public hearings stymied in its effort to find out how the tanker Marine Sulphur Queen disappeared with 39 crewmen.

The ship, carrying molten sulphur, was last heard from on Feb. 4, off the coast of Florida in rough seas. There was no distress signal.

Rear Adm. James D. Craik, who headed the board of inquiry, said Monday that in the absence of any survivors or conclusive evidence the exact cause for the disappearance could not be ascertained.

He said the only conclusion that could be drawn was that the ship sank in or near the Straits of Florida. Study of evidence and testimony will continue.

The Marine Sulphur Queen sailed Feb. 2 from Beaumont, Tex. bound for Norfolk, Va. She was a converted tanker fitted with special tanks for sulphur, kept molten by steam pipes.

MAIN TESTIMONY

The testimony dwelt mainly on construction details of the ship and analysis of the debris found some time after she disappeared.

Laboratory reports said there was no indication of any fire or explosion. Specialists testified that molten sulphur is not normally considered dangerously explosive.

The testimony also considered whether there was a structural breakdown. The sulphur tanks were attached to the hull with bolts that slid back and forth to allow for expansion and contraction of the tanks as the temperature varied.

Cmdr. Albert S. Frevola, recorder of the inquiry board, noted that another sulphur tanker, not identified, experienced an "explosive-like report" last June 27 and its tanks bulged about 10 inches on each side.

Witnesses testified that the condition of Marine Sulphur Queen life-jackets found later indicated that some of the men may have left the ship alive. The jackets had been used, they said, and some were torn as if a shark had bitten them.

Planning a Picnic?

Area Parks Set for Holiday

Oakland county residents planning picnic or outings during the four-day Memorial Day holiday might well consider a trip to either Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford or Marshbank Metropolitan Park, a small picnic park near Keego Harbor.

Kensington, covering some 4,900 acres is among the best-known and largest recreational units of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five county park agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

It was opened in 1948 when a dam was impounded to create the large 1,200-acre Kent Lake which is surrounded by beautiful rolling countryside, wooded areas and miles of winding roads throughout the park.

Marshbank Park totals only 115 acres but is popular with many Oakland County families where picnicking and playfields provide a wonderful-out-of_doors atmosphere.

David O. Laidlaw, park superintendent, who supervises work at both parks said that crews have been working the past several weeks to get the sites in readiness for the first flow of holiday crowds that usually show up for the Memorial Day weekend.

There are over 12 large picnic sites at Kensington Park, many with shelters and a total of 1,400 picnic tables, hundreds of stoves, plus water and sanitary facilities in many areas.

From season to season the picnic tables and shelters are refinished, some sanded and shelters repaired and painted.

In addition, there are hundreds of signs painted, replaced or added as facilities change and new information needed.

Lodges and group camp sites available for overnight use by hundreds of Oakland County scout units, civic and other groups are also marked.

Although no reservations are taken, groups are assigned certain picnic areas and, if properly registered in advance at the park office or information building, — then others in the same party can quickly find their group.

There are 80 full-time employees at Kensington Metropolitan Park and over 100 seasonal workers hired each spring and summer to help operate the park.

Each year thousands of Oakland county residents take guided nature hikes, hundreds of other persons take self-guided hikes since the natural environment about them is labelled for easy identification and changed from season to season.

Over 152,000 persons have toured around Kent Lake aboard the Island Queen since it became an attraction in 1956.

The 60 passenger sternwheeler is powered by a 27-horsepower diesel marine engine. Trips take about 45 minutes and provide an excellent view of Kent Lake's 22 miles of shoreline.

Both beaches and swimming sites will open for Memorial Day and continue throughout the four-day holiday period, with weekend use available until June 8. Daily use begins at Martindale then and operations are in effect daily at Maple Beach beginning June

Rochester OKs Hospital Help

Manager Will Assist With Sewage Problem

York explained that the hospital had exhausted its field sewage space and said that it "must secure a positive solution" to the problem for health reasons.

He pointed out that two years ago the problem was obvious, and an engineering study showed that some $80,000 would be needed to provide treatment for the sewage from the hospital, the Leader Dog establishment and the Detroit Broach & Machine Co.

The connection would be paid for by special assessment.

York said that when the study was completed the three firms and South Street residents, who could also benefit, rejected the idea.

Also at last night's regular session, the council began discussion of a proposed hike in fire-fighting fees charged Oakland Township by the village.

Further meetings are to be scheduled on revision of the aid agreement.

Precedent Set at Farmington

FARMINGTON — Members of three governing units here set a precedent last night at a joint dinner meeting.

It was the first time the Farmington City Council, Farmington Township Board and Farmington Board of Education had met without an immediate problem facing them.

Initiated by the board of education, the meeting was held at Farmington High School.

Officials discussed the community recreation program, industrial and commercial development of the area and long-range programs for services needed by the three units.

They plan to hold three or four similar meetings every year.

RECONVENED

The school board considered final plans for a $150,000 addition to Eagle Elementary School, 29410 14 Mile Road.

The addition, designed by J. MacDonald Jacob and Associates of Royal Oak, will include five classrooms, a kindergarten room and library.

Vote Recount Remains Same

Incumbent Supervisor Wins in Pontiac Twp.

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The results of a recount of votes cast in the supervisor's race of the April 1 election here show no change in the margin of victory for incumbent Leroy Davis—16 votes.

A recount was carried out as a result of petitions filed by Davis' political opponent, Republican Leonard F. Terry. Davis was the sole Democrat elected, by the slight margin of 892-876.

Although Terry requested a check of the six precincts here shortly after the election, execution of the recount was postponed due to the statewide canvass on results of the new constitution balloting.

Davis' margin of victory is even narrower than the one that carried him into office two years ago, when he had 89 more votes than Terry.

Again this year, Terry received more votes in the primary than Davis did. This will be the supervisor's fourth term in office.

Rochester Studies Downtown Plans

ROCHESTER — Three tentative schemes for the village's central business district — all of which would "make Rochester a drawing center" — were presented at last night's council meeting.

Speaking for planning consultants Villcan - Leman & Associates of Southfield, John J. Prote explained the current phase of the downtown study.

He said that his firm is presently analyzing Rochester's "economic health" and its retail characteristics, traffic and pedestrian flow, and physical design.

"Where's all this money coming from?" was the question posed by Councilmen John O'Donnell, after Prote's presentation.

The planner said that the village and county would probably contribute, but "obviously the greatest share of money will come from the people operating in the downtown area."

He added that soon village merchants and civic groups would be contacted and a final plan for the business district would be submitted to the village "possibly in a half-year or so."

He commented that it was doubtful if the merchants could finance the downtown project since the Chamber of Commerce had trouble "getting enough money to keep together."

The topic of rezoning Walnut for office use was again brought into the discussion, and Prote offered the reasoning behind the planning firm's recommendation.

BUFFER

He said Walnut, as an office area, would act as a buffer area between the central business district and the residential zone.

Prote also said that zoning the street for offices would conform with its existing use.

Ultimately, plans call for Walnut to be part of the central business district, and Prote commented that zoned for offices, the street would be more appealing financially to developers.

In other business last night, the council heard Jack Zahn, head of the Rochester branch of Y.M.C.A., request village consideration on a proposed swimming pool in the area.

Court to Get Water Dispute

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The township board will take into Circuit Court a controversy over 18 water line easements.

The property in question is in the southern portion of the township where easements are needed to bring Detroit water to the area.

Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said the $2.7 million project will not be delayed by the court action, which should not take longer than 90 days.

Suspect Fire in Area House Arson Caused

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Arson is suspected as the cause of a fire which leveled the vacant two-story house at 835 Hummer Lake yesterday.

Alerted by neighbor Mrs. Robert A. Cavanaugh of 940 Hummer Lake, the Oxford Fire Department arrived about 1:30 p.m.

Chief Ellsworth Sage said the second floor was already enveloped in flames at that time.

The combined efforts of Lake Orion, Oxford and Metamora departments brought the blaze under control about 3:30 p.m., but not before the house was completely destroyed.

The building had been vacant for the past few years, and power was shut off, Sage said.

George W. Sissons of 986 Gill is owner of the house. He told police that the building was fully insured.

Troy Initiates Bid to U. S. for City Hall Study Funds

TROY — The City Commission last night took initial action to apply for federal funds which will be used in planning for a proposed $544,000 city hall.

Although a planning firm has not been retained by the city and the exact amount needed for the planning is not determined, the commission resolved to seek federal aid for the study.

The new facility is to be located on the city's civic center site at 16-Mile Road and the Chrysler Expressway.

The application was unanimously endorsed by the four commissioners present last night; Mayor Robert J. Huber, Mayor Pro Tem Vincent J. McAvoy; and commissioners Clifford Sutermeister Jr. and Wallace B. Hudson.

It is expected that construction of the building will be financed through a federal grant and a building authority.

In other business last night, the commission confirmed the paving project for Livernois from 250 feet north of Maple to the southern city limits.

This project is to be financed by $9,240 from the city's general fund road account and $4,290 from the revolving fund on a three - year basis to property owners.

Arraigned in Kidnap of Oxford Lawmen

Frederick F. Hannah, 24, yesterday stood mute at his Oakland County Circuit Court arraignment on charges of kidnaping and armed robbery of two Oxford policemen and a police radio operator.

Hannah, of 20 E. Burdick, Oxford, was returned to Oakland County jail to await trial. He was unable to furnish the $25,000 bond set by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Hannah is accused of kidnaping patrolmen Richard Lamprier, 21, and Wendell Hill, 24, and radio operator Mrs. Leonore Westphal, 46, on the morning of April 6.

The policemen said Hannah pulled a gun in the Oxford police station after they brought him in for reckless driving.

After disarming the two officers, Hannah allegedly forced them into Lamphier's car and took them to Detroit where he later erleased them unharmed in a motel.

Hannah surrendered to police in Oxford on April 26 after eluding capture for three weeks during which he fled to Florida and returned.

He said he was "tired of running and had no place to go."

Hannah had been recently paroled from Jackson Prison where he was serving a term for arson.

JFK Escort for Negroes Is Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal by some Negroes that President Kennedy personally escort two Negro students into the University of Alabama next month has attracted little interest at the White House.

Officially, administration spokesmen declined to say anything today about such suggestions. Sometimes, official silence at the White House cloaks backstage maneuvering. In this case, however, there seems to be no evidence to indicate that the suggestion was receiving serious consideration.

* * *

DEEP CONCERN

The President is known to be deeply concerned about the possibility of an integration crisis in June at the University of Alabama. However, he said at his news conference last Wednesday that he believes questions of this kind should be dealt with through the courts, with state and local officials maintaining law and order.

The President said nothing to indicate he was contemplating personal involvement, beyond what he described as his obligation to enforce federal court orders even when this requires the use of federal troops and marshals.

U.S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms has ordered two Negroes admitted on June 10 to the University of Alabama—one at the main campus at Tuscaloosa and one at the school's Huntsville branch.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, an outspoken segregationist, took the judge's order as the occasion for repeating a pledge personally to bar the Negroes at the doors of the university.

Nixon Lauds Scranton as '64 Possibility

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has "many of the attributes of a good candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

"He's a good strong darkhorse," Nixon said Monday night at an impromptu sidewalk news conference in downtown Pittsburgh.

He said there obviously are four persons who have been mentioned as possible candidates—Scranton, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Nixon declined comment on the recent marriage of Rockefeller and the effect it may have on his political future.

On other matters, Nixon said the Cuban situation could be the decisive factor in the defeat of the Kennedy administration if the picture does not change for the better by next year.

Commenting on the racial difficulties in the South, he said, "We in the North instead of pointing a finger at the South should look to our own problems."

ANSWER: To the ancient peoples from whom our Western civilization developed, the Mediterranean Sea was the center of their world. Such countries as Egypt, Greece and Rome were bathed by its waters.

The word "mediterranean" means "center of the earth" and the Romans liked to refer to this body of water as "Mare Nostrum," or "Our Sea." As our small picture suggests this is a lovely region, bordered by palms and flowers.

The Romans knew there was more salt water outside their world, but they thought of it as an unknown, rough, tempestuous kind of sea which they called "Oceanus," from one of their gods.

So people got to speak of a smaller body of salt water as a "sea" and a larger one as an "ocean," and this is the most correct way to speak of them today and is the answer to your question.

Five huge bodies of water, though connected with each other, are usually spoken of as oceans: the Pacific, the Atlantic, the Indian, the Arctic and the Antarctic Oceans — although the last is often not considered as a separate ocean.

When, instead of thinking of separate oceans as the Atlantic or Pacific, we speak of the ocean, all this outer mass of water is thought of as one. It is also quite correct to speak of this as the sea.

FOR YOU TO DO: In case you're still confused, think of Jerry and Jane in our picture, looking eastward from the coast of Maine. Would you call what they are looking at the Atlantic Sea?

Of course not, nor would you speak of the Mediterranean Ocean. Just remember, the natural way we think of these names is also the correct one.

District of Columbia Has Serious Problem

Alabama gets the national headlines, but the real dirty work is going on in Washington, D.C., as far as the racial problem is concerned.

In all the history of this Nation there has never been such a complete collapse of law and order as we see in Washington. Women, children and men are universally warned not to venture outdoors after dark. They run the risk of gang assault, mugging, robbery, rape, stabbing and any other crimes that flash across the minds of uncontrollable teenagers.

They run absolutely wild.

When one of our editors was there in April, he taxied a few scant miles from the heart of the city to a restaurant that has been well recommended. The Negro taxi driver said if anyone ventures outside after 8:30, it should be in groups. He pointed significantly to the nearby corner where four (4) policemen were on duty in a group. After a brief evaluation, our party of a dozen returned to the heart of the city.

Whites and blacks are assaulted indiscriminately. Washington is currently 54% Negro, and the school attendance is 83% Negro.

Oddly, the District of Columbia isn't run by local citizens but by Congress. Hence the failure to preserve law and order really rests on the shoulders of representatives of the entire Nation. Look magazine paints the picture in all its unbelievable horror.

It can't happen here?

Well, it has.

If the Congress is too terrified to act — and happenings indicate it is — why doesn't it turn the problem over to J. Edgar Hoover? There's the world's greatest law-enforcing leader. They'd have to give him enough men, for Hoover wouldn't attempt to "clean up" if undermanned. In fact, if they were "short" of men, they might do well to hand him the Marines.

That combination would solve everything.

Patriotism Reflected in Display of Flag

Thursday is Memorial Day.

It is a day dedicated to the soldier dead of America.

Traditionally, the display of the colors is the symbol of our reverence for our country's heroes and the spiritual uplift we all experience.

But regrettably, the sight of Old Glory on our ceremonial holidays is becoming conspicuous by its absence.

It might be argued that physical evidence of our inner emotions is unnecessary. That we do not need to "advertise" the depth of our feelings.

But just as the church is the secular beacon for the Christianity in our soul, so is our flag the personification of our patriotism and love of country.

No enlightened civilization could long endure without the spirit and the symbolism of these essential attributes.

Why not, as we salute those who once followed our flag, unfurl another as visible affirmation of our respect and devotion to national ideals?

Seek Motorists' Assist in Conducting Survey

Continuing in his progressive manner to give Michigan motorists the best possible highways, JOHN C. MACKIE, state highway commissioner, has announced plans for a statewide traffic survey this summer.

The study will be conducted by the highway department, with college students doing the interviewing. Harold Cooper, director of the highway department's traffic safety division, points out that the interviews will be conducted at 70 locations throughout the State.

The sites will be manned for periods of 14 to 24 hours and at various points in order to get an overall sampling.

Typical questions will deal with where the trip started, destination and whether it's business or pleasure; where the motorist is from and the number in his party.

The tabulation of this information will be used to update a similar study made in 1960. From this type of survey highway planners and engineers are better able to locate and make plans for future highways.

Results from such a survey can benefit the motoring public. The highway department interviewers need your cooperation.

Dull Year So Far, But Pot May Boil

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)— This limping year, in which Congress has dragged its feet and the big powers look like bears in a slow waltz, may yet be memorable and even tense at home, if not abroad.

MARLOW

Racial barriers, caught between the Supreme Court decisions against state-imposed segregation and Negro demonstrations against segregation in all its forms, are crumbling in the South.

But even by year's end they will still be far from eliminated. Because of white resistance to the crumbling and Negro insistence upon hastening it, racial explosions in the South could turn this into an agonizing year.

And it can't even be guessed what will happen in Alabama if Gov. George C. Wallace insists on defying a federal court order — and President Kennedy uses troops to back it up — to admit Negroes to the University of Alabama.

DULL, SLOW TIME

In Congress this has been a dull, slow time. From the beginning of his term Kennedy has leaned over backward to get along with Southern Democrats, even when they hurled roadblocks at some of his programs, like medical care for the aged.

On other programs they've been of help to him.

But the pleasant relationship may turn sour and the help diminish if he really pushes hard for civil rights measures with teeth at the very time he's hoping Congress will give him the kind of tax cut program he's pleaded for.

Southern opposition to civil rights legislation, with the filibuster and all the dragged-out days and nights that means, could keep Congress in session on into fall.

ANTAGONISM

And if he does push for civil rights bills Kennedy will have to think of what Southern antagonism will mean to Democratic party unity in 1964 and his chance for a second term.

Abroad, this year has been a kind of stumbling time for both the United States and its allies on one side and communism on the other.

Premier Khrushchev has avoided new crises. His time seems to have been taken up with:

1. Recovering from the bang to his prestige — after being forced to pull his missiles out of Cuba last fall — and perhaps pondering some other strategy of tit-for-tat to make the United States back down on something.

2. Trying to avoid a violent break with his Red Chinese critics while trying to rally world Communist opinion to his side before he has a showdown with the Chinese Communists. Some kind of showdown seems certain.

HANDS FULL

Meanwhile Kennedy has had his hands full trying to preserve allied unity — both on trade and defense — after French President de Gaulle cracked it at the seams with his tactics.

So the Kennedy administration has been wrestling with its allies over tariffs while offering plans which sound far bigger than they look, for a NATO nuclear force.

In short, this first half of 1963 has been pretty much a time of preparation for the last half.

Anyway He's More In Than Out!

What Price Lunar Landing Glory?

WASHINGTON — Is it worth while to spend $20 to $40 billion of borrowed money just to get a man to the moon while neglecting necessary projects on earth?

LAWRENCE

This is one of the questions which the American people will be asked to decide in the presidential election in 1964. The Republican party in Congress has drawn up a document arguing the merits of the question.

It says: "The question is not then, whether man will ultimately reach the moon and beyond. The question is rather, how shall it be done, and whether other aspects of human needs should be bypassed or overlooked in the one spasmodic effort to achieve a lunar landing at once.

"Space exploration must and will come. But what priority should be applied to it in the total national effort? The decision of priorities must be made on the basis of over-all benefit to the free world and not on the adolescent desire to beat the Russians in a space race."

In these days when the public-debt limit is being raised to $309 billion and when the treasury deficits are estimated to run about $12 billion a year, there are still many other demands on the pocketbooks of the taxpayers.

These arguments will be pointed out in the coming campaign. The comprehensive memorandum on this subject, prepared by a staff of specialists under the direction of Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, Republican of Iowa, raised such questions as these:

"Is it more important to have a man on the moon than to conquer cancer which will take the lives of 40 million Americans now living?

"Is lunar exploration more important to mankind than freeing ourselves from the tragic chains of mental illness, which now accounts for one of every four American hospital beds?

"Is a fistful of lunar dust meaningful to the 17 million Americans who we are told go to bed hungry each night?

"Is a pathway to the moon more vital than a highway system devoid of the slaughter which now claims 40 thousand lives annually?

"Is seeing the other side of the moon more important than seeing our children free of leukemia?

"Is being there first more important than insuring an adequate water source for our great metropolitan centers?

"Is putting a man on the moon more important than developing techniques for making use of our stored natural resources?

"Is manned lunar flight of more value than bringing order to a world of emerging nations?"

The idea of placing a man on the moon is not opposed, but the question raised is when and how and at what expense. The document further states:

"Summing up, opponents to a $20 billion to $40 billion crash lunar program maintain that the arguments for such a program are either specious or not important.

"They do say that eventually man, if he follows an orderly and logical course, will reach the moon. However, they contend that there is no hurry and that it would be a lot less costly, and far greater values would accrue to mankind, if we take it easy and try to accomplish our ultimate purpose step by step."

There is one important point which will be widely discussed. Supposing the Soviets really try to get to the moon ahead of us? The answer being made to this is that it would cost the Soviet government tremendous sums, and might be the very thing that would break the Communist hold on the Russian people.

For the Soviets are greatly in need of expenditures for public welfare, and, if the Soviet Government diverts huge sums for a race to the moon, this is likely to hasten its downfall.

Bob Considine Says:

Pope John Was Regarded Most Lowly in Beginning

NEW YORK — The illness of Pope John XXIII brings a swarm of memories of Rome at the time of his ascension, and a trip we took to his little home town, Sotto il Monte.

CONSIDINE

Today he finds himself revered, respected and even loved by millions beyond his flock of nearly half a billion Catholics of the world.

But at the beginning of his reign, four and a half years ago, he was regarded most lowly. The Romans, who are a great deal more cynical of the papacy than the rest of the Catholic world, called him a "chair warmer," a compromise selection of excessive age who could be counted upon to keep the Throne of Peter warm until the time came to move a younger and more progressive man into the picture, a man like Archbishop Giovanni Battista Montini of Milan, who was Pius XII's acting secretary of state.

We remember a clammy day in Venice, speaking with a priest who had served under the newly named Pope during his years there as a cardinal.

Like a lot of others, he still found it hard to believe.

"It was such a surprise," he told me in a dim little office of the time-stained palace where Cardinal Roncalli had lived.

"First there were cheers and even tears among us who watched the television. Then in our hearts, there was wonder. Our pastor was a fine and good - hearted man, but he did not have the bella figura that we have come to look for in the Pope."

Eyebrows were lifted by the new Pope's curious choice of the name he would bear. So heavy did the memory of the brilliant Pius XII still lay on the church that it seemed a bit of an affront to his memory not to perpetuate the name and call himself Pius XIII.

Instead, the humble little man who had spent much of his time away from Rome on diplomatic missions, and was better known in Paris than in his spiritual home, chose the name and the very number of a man who had been booted off the throne as an imposter in 1410, and whose name had come down through church history redolent with fraud.

The original John XXIII was not even a priest much less a cardinal. He was a Neapolitan noble named Baldassarre Cossa and was elected not by the Sacred College but by a group of wealthy Italian families.

The good works of the man who picked up the burden of his name will give his shade the first peace it has known for five and a half centuries.

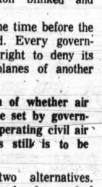
Plane Fares—Up-in-the-Air Issue

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The hassle between the United States and the United Kingdom on transatlantic air fares is the worst mess international civil aviation has been in since World War II.



EDSON

For a time the Americans and British were standing eyeball to eyeball, threatening to deny landing rights to each other's planes. Then Washington blinked and backed up.

It will be some time before the issue is settled. Every government has the right to deny its air space to planes of another country.

The question of whether air fares are to be set by governments or by operating civil air transport lines still is to be resolved.

There are two alternatives. President Kennedy has asked Congress to give the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board the power to fix rates to and from the United States, subject to his approval. Air Transport Assn., which is the American private industry trade organization of civil aviation companies wants the government to have only the power to suspend objectionable rates while negotiations are carried on to adjust them.

Chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash. of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee has introduced bills to carry out both the government and the ATA proposals. When Congress finally decides what powers CAB shall have in this field, it will settle a long-standing controversy.

Existing organizations for establishing international air travel rates were set up at the end of World War II. First the prewar European International Air Transport Assn.—IATA—was revived in 1945 for area rate traffic conferences.

In 1946 the Americans and British met at Bermuda to work out the first international air transport agreement. This was the pattern which later was expanded to take international air carriers of about 25 countries into IATA. It has operated successfully for 18 years and fixes rates by unanimous agreement of airline operators.

The current controversy arose from a new package of rate adjustments negotiated by IATA. Foreign carriers, nearly all of which are government subsidized and operating at a loss, wanted a sharp increase in all fares.

The American carriers wanted to continue existing rates but finally agreed to go along on a deal they considered good.

It knocked $25 off the first luxury transatlantic fare. It continued existing group and economy excursion rates which is where the volume traffic and profits are. It cut the 10 per cent discount on round trip fares to 5 per cent.

The last item amounted to a $27 increase on the transatlantic fare. Foreign carriers insisted on this. American carriers opposed it but gave in.

Here, however, the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board under Chairman Alan S. Boyd entered the picture and disapproved the 5 per cent discount. CAB believes the best way to promote air travel is to push rates downward.

Then the U.S. State Department got into the act in support of CAB through C. Griffith Johnson, assistant secretary of Economic Affairs.

Presumably, though this hasn't been admitted, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Kennedy got involved.

A decision was made to force a shutdown with the British, who were prime backers of the smaller round trip discount.

The British Minister of Transport made a hot speech in Commons and rallied European support to defy the United States. A threat was made to deny British landing rights to American planes if U.S. carriers continued the 10 per cent discount.

The United States could have stuck to its guns and threatened to deny American landing rights to European planes if they sold round trip tickets at the 5 per cent discount, but the administration chickened out.

Voice of the People:

'Have Americans Lost Feeling of Patriotism?'

When I was a boy some 50 years ago, the displaying of the "Stars and Stripes" gave us a special thrill on Decoration Day and the Fourth of July. A few tiny flags stuck in the front lawn; a strip of bunting draped across the railing of the front porch; or a larger flag fluttered in the breeze from an 8-foot pole. The local activities for these wonderful days were something to cause a "lump in the throat."

Today — the displaying of the "Stars and Stripes" by a private home is considered to be ostentatious. Industrial concerns and institutions seem to be the only ones who enjoy this form of patriotism. Must this age of progress cloud our minds so completely?

The Senate has passed a Youth Employment Opportunities Act and the House of Representatives will soon be voting on it.

No other new deal program won more universal praise than did the Civilian Conservation Corps which helped 2.4 million boys.

Today the American people are challenged again. Unemployment among those under 21 stands at 800,000 and is climbing. Meanwhile, there is neglect of our soil, forest and water heritage.

Faces $726,866 Allocation Cut

County May Reduce Services

By DICK HANSON

Oakland County government will be forced to reduce present operations next year by $726,866 if the County Tax Allocation Board doesn't change its mind, board members were told today.

With 15 mills to allocate, the board has set preliminary rates of 5.16 mills for county government, .13 mills for the County School Board, between 8.31 and 9.71 for school districts, and approximately 1.15 mills for townships where applicable.

The rate for county government would be .09 mills less than it was for the current year if the 5.16-mill allocation becomes final.

The allocation board has until next Monday to set the final rates.

In setting the preliminary rates, it decided by a 4-2 majority that county government could sustain the reduction because it no longer is required to finance the County School Board's budget for general education.

The reasoning is false, according to Robert Lilly, secretary of the County Board of Auditors.

He told the allocation board today that public services provided by the county will have to be curtailed next year if the preliminary rate becomes final.

'PRE-1962 LEVEL'

The 5.16 mills would "force the county back to a pre-1962 level," he said, due to rising costs of local government "that are mandatory."

These costs, Lilly said, include $132,870 for service and merit increases for county employes, $30,000 for emergency salaries, $146,150 for two more circuit judges, $331,433 for nondepartmental increases in the budget, and $190,175 for departmental increases.

He said the service and merit increases already were contracted for with county employes and that the $30,000 for emergency salaries was necessary to retain employes in temporary positions that still are needed.

Two new judges in the county were created by state law and the departmental and nondepartmental increases would be needed to maintain the present level of operations, Lilly added.

According to county auditors 5.49 mills is required to maintain present levels of operation in county government next year.

Derived from a $2.2-billion tax base, 5.49 mills would provide the county government with $12,092,413, whereas 5.16 mills would provide $11,365,547.

The County Board of Supervisors had asked the allocation board for 5.94 mills to raise $13,073,498 toward a proposed $17 million budget next year. The rest would come hopefully from receipts.

EXCEED ESTIMATES

In the past, county receipts have exceedd estimates, resulting in county surplus funds at the end of the year. This won't happen this year, said Lilly, because "receipts are running behind estimates."

Cutting the allocation for county government to 5.16 mills would give the county school board .13 mills to finance a $304,754 budget for general education next year.

School Board Director William J. Emerson had asked for .16 mills. County auditors said the general education budget cost .08 mills last year.

Emerson said he had hoped to expand the countywide school program, especially in special reading classes, where needed.

This is the first year the county school board has submitted its own budget to the allocation board. This was done under new state legislation that separates education entirely from county government.

The preliminary rate of .13 mills would also cut the school district's allocations by .04 mills from what they received last year.

A new contract offered by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to cover 15,000 employes in the state was rejected yesterday by negotiators for the Communications Workers of America (CWA), the union said.

International CWA president Joseph A. Beirne, on the scene in Michigan negotiations for the first time since 1949, said the union will continue bargaining in hopes of getting a "pattern-setting" contract covering all its 150,000 members.

However, Beirne said the company's offer was "many dollars apart" from the union demands.

He added that CWA negotiators were not pleased with proposed contract terms covering health insurance, pensions, vacations and life insurance.

The union demands include higher pay, a fully paid hospitalization plan, plus a minimum $125 per month pension.

On the local level, CWA Local 4012 President Robert J. Parker named town reclassification as the primary objective.

Other local demands include a correction in alleged job structure inequities and a revision of the company's attendance control program.

Although there have been protest marches at Michigan Bell sites in Pontiac, Beirne said he doesn't expect the protesting marchers to turn into picketing strikers, when the union contract expires June 11.

However, he added "it's time for a change in the company's attitude at the bargaining table."

OKs Tax Base of $2.2 Billion

County Figure Gets State Confirmation

A $2.2-billion tax base for Oakland County was confirmed today by the State Board of Equalization in Lansing.

The tax base, used to compute county, township and school district taxes each year, is the equalized valuation placed on all personal and real property in the county.

The local figure was included in a statewide equalized property valuation of $25.79 billion accepted by the state board.

The county's tax base had been recommended to the board by both the County Board of Supervisors and the State Tax Commission.

The figure doesn't take into consideration an appeal by General Motors Corp. GM has asked the State Tax Commission for a $32-million reduction in a $128.7-million property assessment in Pontiac.

Nor would any change in GM's assessment affect the local tax base.

Pontiac's share of the county's equalized valuation is $342,967,644, an increase of $4 million over last year.

The county's equalized valuation grew by $90 million as the result of new contruction that raised property values during the past year.

Hawaiian Stamp Breaks Record With Sale Price

NEW YORK (AP)—A two-cent Hawaiian stamp was sold Monday night for $41,000—said to be a record for a single stamp sold at auction.

The stamp, issued in 1851 for use mainly by missionaries, is the only known copy of this particular stamp which had not gone through the mails.

H. R. Hammer, Inc., which sold the stamp, said its price broke a record of almost 40 years. The top previous price, the firm said, was $32,900 for a one-cent 1856 British Guiana stamp.

The Hawaiian stamp was from the collection of the late Maurice Burrus of Lausanne. It was bought by Raymond Weill, a professional philatelist from New Orleans.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has submitted to Congress a reorganization plan to place all responsibility for the Franklin D. Roosevelt library at Hyde Park, N.Y. under the General Services Administration (GSA).

Responsibility for the library is now divided between GSA and the Interior Department. Other presidential libraries are the exclusive responsibility of GSA.

Goldwater Team in State Seeking Leader for Group

Heading the search is W. Tyrone Gillespie, assistant to the president of Dow Chemical Co., reportedly chief Michigan strategist for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

State headquarters will be opened as soon as Goldwater publicly declares he is available for the 1964 presidential nomination, Gillespie said.

And he's already looking for a leader for the organization.

Happy Birthday, Teddy Bear

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The other day a nice kindly press agent came to see me, lifted me up on his knee, patted me on the head and said:

WEST

"If you are a good boy and keep your nose clean, I will tell you a story about the teddy bear's birthday."

Gee willikins, I hardly knew what to say. I mean, it wasn't even bedtime.

But I figure that if people have got me marked down as the teddy bear type there's no use fighting it. Besides that, it was a real peachy story.

Do you know how the teddy bear got its name? I'll give you a hint. It was named for someone in Washington.

Someone high up in the government. Someone whose last name is associated with the White House.

Now everybody who guessed Teddy Kennedy go stand in the corner.

Teddy Kennedy wasn't even born when the first teddy bear was created. Neither was Jack, or Bobby, or Pat, or Jean, etc.

The teddy bear, as any grandfathers in the audience may recall, was named for Teddy Roosevelt, and this is its 60th birthday.

Just think, in five more years it will be eligible for Social Security.

Michtom got the idea from a newspaper cartoon that depicted President Theodore Roosevelt refusing to shoot a scrawny, frightened bear cub his guides had dragged into his hunting camp.

Don't ask me why that was such a big deal. It would have made a better story if the bear had dragged Roosevelt into camp.

Anyway, Michtom designed a toy bear and put it in the window of his candy store. It was the sensation of the neighborhood.

Pretty soon, toy bears were selling better than jawbreakers.

Thereupon Michtom sent one of them to the President and asked if he could call it the teddy bear. Roosevelt said it was okay with him although he doubted it would help business any.

When you consider that something on the order of 160 million teddy bears have been sold since then, you begin to wonder if T. R. knew what he was talking about.

As far as is known, only one of the 1903 teddy bears is still in existence.

Benjamin F. Michtom, son of the teddy bear's creator, recently presented it to a couple of Teddy Roosevelt's great-grandchildren, Mark, 7, and Anne, 10.

Their father, Kermit Roosevelt, said he planned to offer it to the Smithsonian Institution.

Britain Sets Project to Replace Slums

LONDON (AP)— The government announced today a plan to build 350,000 houses a year. It is designed to clear Britain of most slums within a decade.

The government said home ownership will be made easier for families through the spread of mortgage payments and the setting up of a government-financed housing corporation.

The government statement gave no firm date when the 350,000 houses a year target will be reached, but said it will try for that figure as soon as practicable.

The government estimated there are 600,000 slum dwellings in Britain. 5

Outbreak Fails to Stop Guests

TOKYO (AP)—About 550 guests, mostly Americans, refused to leave the swank Imperial Hotel today despite an outbreak of dysentery among the hotel's employes. The hotel has shut down food, beverage and room services.

A hotel spokesman said the number of dysentery cases had reached 76. There were 33 cases reported Monday among the hotel's 1,730 employes.

Among the guests is President Sukarno of Indonesia. An aide said Sukarno won't leave either.

Poet-President Is Dominican Distress

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Two political volcanoes rumble side by side on this island which Christopher Columbus christened Hispaniola.

The other, in the Dominican Republic, is quieter, but may be potentially more explosive. Both the United States and the Castro Communists have stakes in the future.

What is troubling this tiny nation that only 18 months ago overthrew 31 years of tyranny?

"We're victims of our own romanticism," said a worried businessman. "We called in a poet to do a mechanic's job."

The allusion is to the election of Juan Bosch, an author-professor, to the presidency.

Troubles have been spiraling for silver-haired Bosch since he took office in February. Critics say the president's lack of business experience and his unfamiliarity with the national mood after 25 years' exile bring administrative incapacity and political naivete.

COMMIE INFILTRATION

Prominent Communists and new recruits have returned in force from exile and have infiltrated important sectors, including the government.

A new constitution, termed "dangerously vague and ambiguous" by legal experts, is the latest source of worry, chiefly among property owners.

Mario Read Vittini, a rising young lawyer-politician, says all these factors and the government's failure to define its policy have created a climate of fear and distrust.

As a result, he adds, investment capital has been frightened, job sources are disappearing and unemployment and internal unrest is increasing.

Bosch's defenders say the president merely is trying to push through the "social transformations" called for in the Alliance for Progress.

They say projected reforms and the president's refusal to come out publicly against Communism gave the traditional ruling classes and conservative opposition an excuse to sound alarms about the government's ideological orientation.

NEVER OPEN

Sache Volman, a naturalized American believed to be Bosch's political mentor, said the president would never be anti-Communist openly.

"This is a young, nationalist country," he declared.

A Latin American diplomat felt that Bosch's "main preoccupation is that if he goes violently after the Communists he'll be immediately classified as a Yankee lackey."

Political opponents contend Bosch deliberately magnified the recent Haitian crisis while Congress, dominated by the official revolutionary party, was ratifying the constitution.

Dominicans are particularly alarmed by three articles affecting private ownership. One sets forth the right of expropriation "in the public interest," but does not spell out terms of indemnification.

Another prohibits the small owner from mortgaging or using for other credit a portion of his property.

A former Supreme Court magistrate says one article "in effect gives the government control over all property by gratuitously setting itself up as a guarantor of property and by not specifying to what type of property it alludes."

OTHER APPREHENSION

An earlier source of apprehension was the government's decision to permit the re-entry of all political exiles, including more than a score whom the former ruling State Council barred as Communists.

Foremost among these were Maximo Lopez Molina, president of the Dominican Popular Movement, and Dato Pagan Perdomo, of the Nationalist Revolutionary party.

Pagan has organized an institute of economic and social sciences. The faculty list reads like listing of Caribbean communism.

Lopez Molina, self-styled personal friend of Fidel Castro, and other left-wing extremist firebrands are concentrating propaganda in the North Central Cibao Valley, the most productive and populous area of the country.

There, Havana radio blares louder than Santo Domingo stations.

A steamship company official says incoming shipments of merchandise have decreased from an average 1,000 tons a week to about 250.

"We don't know where this government is headed and we can't afford to take chances," said a clothing shop operator.

There are a few encouraging signs. Bosch smashed a strike by the Communist-dominated Federation of Government Employes.

The largest labor confederation, Conatral, with 300 unions and roughly 100,000 of the nation's 175,000 organized workers, is bossed by leaders oriented toward the West.

"To get a job or to keep one, you have to be a member of the official party. So, you go hungry or work for the Communists. They pay $20 or $30 for burning a car or a house, and less for just rabble-rousing. But you wind up working for a tyranny either way."

Items donated from basements and attics ranged from antiques and picture frames to a lawnmower.

Surprise Package

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Making his morning rounds yesterday, postman Herbert Cosen was bowled over by a quacking in a corner mailbox.

He unlocked the box and pulled out a full-grown white duck, friendly as could be.

"I've found kittens, puppies, dead fish, even pizza pies, in these boxes, but never before a live duck," said Cosen.

Models Start Crisis Over Crew Cut

LONDON (AP) — Male hairdressing models in Britain have gone on strike against the crew cut.

The models range from laborers to lawyers. In their spare time they show off British hairdressers' creations in big competitions. They are given traveling expenses and a few pounds for spending money.

The dispute blew up at Redcar, Yorkshire, last week when 18 of Britain's top hairdressers were due to compete in an elimination heat of a major match.

So many models refused to have crew cuts—one of the compulsory styles in the competition—that the contest had to be canceled.

Taylor Briggs, general secretary of the National Hairdressers' Federation, said: "I warned the federation that this would happen, but they insisted that the crew cut should be one of the compulsory styles."

He said the models' main complaint was that if they had crew cuts it would take a long time for their hair to grow again to the stage where they could have waves and other styles which are more popular.

Briggs said there was nothing effeminate about the models.

"They are mainly sporting, pipe-smoking, manly types—They're natural exhibitionists," he added.

Many Women Fought and Died in Defense of U.S.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Memorial Day, like war, generally concerns men who have died for their country. But women, too, have given the supreme sacrifice.)

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—War, they always used to say, is man's business.

But as far back as the Revolutionary War, when Molly Pitcher in a petticoat, gunner's jacket and battered cocked hat—grabbed a gun, women have been leaving their kitchens to help fight their country's enemies.

American women, too, have given their lives in service to their country.

During World War II, for instance, in 1944 on the beachhead at Anzio, Italy, two Army nurses had just finished giving blood plasma to a soldier when a shell hit. They were killed at the patient's side. In their honor, the Army named a hospital ship after one of them, Lt. Blanche F. Sigman of East Akron, Ohio.

In honor of these and all American women whose lives were sacrificed in war service, a bell tower will be dedicated "in grateful tribute" on May 30, Memorial Day, at Rindge, N.H.

The 65-foot tower will be a part of the Cathedral of the Pines, an outdoor nonsectarian place of worship founded by Douglas Sloane, a retired Rindge businessman.

Statistics at the Department of Defense show that 1,068 women died while in uniformed service to their country during the first and second World Wars and the Korean conflict.

OFFICIALLY ESTABLISHED

Officially, American women did not join their brothers in uniform until 1901, when the Army Nurse Corps was established. The Navy Nurse Corps was authorized in 1908.

Then, during World War II, more women put on the uniform of their country to man the switchboards in North Africa, pound typewriters on Guadalcanal and sail the seas as radio operators.

These were the new Molly Pitchers, the skirted soldiers of the Women's Army Corps, the Waves of the Navy, Spars of the Coast Guard and the women Marines. Later, in 1948, the Women's Air Force was formed.

During the second world war, about 350,000 women saw active military duty, with 65,000 serving overseas. They accounted for about 3 per cent of the 12 million in active service. And 586 women gave their lives to their country.

Of these, 257 were nurses who worked closest to the battle. They waded ashore at Normandy after the troops; they ate horse steaks on Bataan and were bombed for days on end at Corregidor. They crashed with airplanes that were evacuating wounded.

An Army hospital in Chicago was named for Capt. Ruth M. Gardiner of the Army Nurse Corps, who was killed in an Alaskan plane crash in July 1943, on a mission to evacuate patients.

The largest hospital ship afloat was named for Lt. Aleda E. Lutz, Army Nurse Corps, killed while flying the last of more than 150 missions from forward areas.

The Wacs suffered 225 deaths in World War II, 12 of whom died of wounds recorded as battle casualties. There were limitations against their service on the battlefield.

FIRST DECORATION

The first Wac to receive any decoration was Pvt. Margaret H. Maloney of Rochester, N.Y., given the Soldiers Medal for outstanding heroism and self-sacrifice on Sept. 11, 1943, in North Africa. She saw a soldier fall into a flaming pool of gasoline, rushed in, dragged him out and smothered his burning clothing with her body. She received severe burns.

In World War I, 236 Army nurses and 36 Navy nurses died. Many of these were casualties of the 1918 influenza and pneumonia epidemic.

A special plot is set aside in Arlington National Cemetery for Army nurses, who are buried with full military honors. More than 150 lie there, 45 of them from the Spanish-American War.

Nurses served, too, in the Civil War under contract. After the siege of Vicksburg, Miss., the Union navy outfitted a confiscated Confederate steamer, Red Rover, as a floating hospital. Nuns of the nursing sisterhood went aboard to care for the patients.

The Union had its Dr. Mary Walker, a New York surgeon who worked in field hospitals under contract. She wore pants, vest, frock coat and a tall silk hat.

MEDAL OF HONOR

Dr. Walker was given the Medal of Honor for her tireless service. But this was rescinded, along with many others, in the congressional review and re-statement of standards for the medal in 1916.

The Confederacy had its Sally Tompkins, matron of a hospital in Richmond who was given a captain's commission for her services. There also was Lucy Mina Norvell Otey, who founded the Ladies' Relief Hospital in Lynchburg, Va., and also was given a captain's commission.

Many are the stories and the legends about women who dressed as men and went out to fight in the Revolutionary and Civil wars.

Deborah Sampson Grant (or Gannett, one versions says) is supposed to have fought and died in the Revolutionary War. Her husband, it is said, received a widow's pension after her death on the battlefield.

Molly Pitcher, who lived beyond the Revolution, was really Mary Ludwig, who, like many other wives of that day, joined her husband in camp, cooked and washed. She carried pitchers of water to the men on the firing line and thus got her name.

At the battle of Monmouth, in 1778, one version goes, when her husband fell from a heat stroke, she took his place at his gun and "thundered death and defiance at her country's enemies."

Detroit Tech Sues to Halt 'Harassment'

DETROIT (AP)—A hearing was scheduled today in a suit filed yesterday by the Detroit Institute of Technology in an effort to halt "repeated harassment."

The suit was filed after 11 sign-carrying pickets — five teachers and six students—marched in front of the school, protesting the dismissal of six instructors.

The suit named as defendants five teachers who were not rehired by DIT for next year and Local 1428 of the American Federation of Teachers.

Introducing Soft Whiskey.

(The first hard liquor that's not "hard.")

Make no mistake about it, Calvert Extra is as whiskey a whiskey as any whiskey you can buy. It does anything "hard" liquor can do. But does it softer.

It's a pleasure to drink Soft Whiskey straight—there's no heat in it to detract from your enjoyment. Just warmth. The flavor is rich and full—yet it swallows easy. In mixed drinks, it doesn't fight the mixer. It blends smoothly, yet doesn't lose itself. You might call it the ideal whiskey.

Until recently, Soft Whiskey had always been a distiller's pipe dream. Attempts had been made, experimentally. But they never quite worked.

At our distillery, we tried for twelve years to produce a Soft Whiskey. About 22,000 experiments. Only one of them successful. (Anyone who tries to reproduce Soft Whiskey has his work cut out for him.)

To protect all our hard work, there are things about the distilling and blending of Soft Whiskey that we have to keep to ourselves. One thing we can tell you is that in order to eliminate one cause of harshness, we have to do some of our distilling in small batches instead of giant ones. Many of the other things we do have never been done before.

Before you sample Calvert Extra, the Soft Whiskey, there's something you ought to know: you may never touch a drop of "hard" liquor again.

It's good news to know that many of our schools are stepping up their physical education programs.

But the so-called "muscle gap" is still too big. Far too many of our children still aren't getting the daily, vigorous exercise needed to put and keep them in good physical condition.

Gibson Refrigerator Division to Stay in Greenville, Belding

GREENVILLE (AP) — More than 10 months of tension was eased last night as members of UAW Local 137 ratified a labor-management agreement to keep Gibson Refrigerator Division of Hupp Corp. from moving to Mississippi.

The 662-117 vote in favor of ratification will keep the company's plant in Greenville and Belding for at least another 2½ years. It also will freeze wages and fringe benefits at the current level.

The company has been studying possible relocation of its plants, which employ some 1,600 persons in the production of refrigerators, ranges and air conditioners.

The agreement is to extend the present contract for two years from its expiration date of Nov. 2, 1963.

The agreement provides that the company give six months advance notice of any plant movement after termination of the contract. It provides for an increase in severance pay from $30 to $45 per year of service.

The union agreed to combat absenteeism and to support the employer in efforts to improve production.

Kenneth Robinson, a United Auto Workers regional director, said the leader and members of the local "were greatly relieved" at the settlement.

Gov. George Romney, who entered negotiations between the company and the union last week and called for a cooling-off period, sent congratulatory telegrams on the agreement.

Gov. Romney told the company he was "delighted" with its decision to remain in Michigan. He congratulated the union for "reaching agreement which will retain an important industry in Michigan."

The company announced last March 25 that a study made by the Fantus Corp., a national consulting firm, recommended a move to Mississippi by Gibson to cut production costs by $1.7 million per year.

On March 29, Gibson suggested that it could stay if employes took a 47-cent hourly reduction in wages and benefits. The proposal was rejected by the union on April 14.

The firm then suggested a 29-cent hourly cut per employe in exchange for a new five-year contract offering a five-cent hourly wage hike each year plus a no-move guarantee for the contract's life.

This too, was turned down by the union.

The local asserted the company was making good profits and countered with a proposal that its present contract, which expires Oct. 31, be extended until October 1965.

C. J. Gibson Jr., division president, said the agreement was reached Saturday in a bargaining session and received approval by telephone call from the Hupp board of directors.

Amplifier Blamed for Cooper Space Troubles

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Expert scientific detective work has determined that troubles with an electrical amplifier caused the failures which forced astronaut Gordon Cooper to steer his spacecraft manually back to earth.

Moisture, perhaps from Cooper's perspiring, corroded a connection on the small electronic box called an Amp Cal—for amplifier calibration—and wiped out all spacecraft automatic controls down to a certain re-entry point.

An electrical short in an Amp Cal solder connection, probably because of faulty insulation, knocked out the remainder of the automatic re-entry controls and left Cooper on his own with the manual system.

These results of exhaustive tests were reported Monday night by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The Amp Cal is designed to change electrical signals received from various spacecraft sensors, such as gyroscopes and infrared horizon scanners, into firing commands which ignite small jets in the capsule's automatic system.

The streams of hydrogen peroxide gas shooting from the jets maintain the spacecraft's proper position and angle in relation to the earth.

As Cooper whirled on the 19th of his 22 orbits two weeks ago, a green light labeled .05g suddenly flashed on and indicated erroneously that he might be re-entering the atmosphere early. Then two inverters which transform alternating to direct current to support certain automatic functions did not work.

For more than a week, since Cooper's Faith 7 capsule was returned to Cape Canaveral, engineers and technicians subjected all suspected systems to thorough checkouts under simulated flight conditions in an space environment chamber. They questioned Cooper thoroughly about what happened.

The tests showed the two inverters to be in perfect working order. So the finger of guilt pointed to the power supply. Further checks turned up the solder connection short. An official said the short probably occurred when Cooper attempted to activate the inverters by pushing a switch.

The trouble with the .05g light was more difficult to pinpoint. The light's connection with the Amp Cal box was tested over and over. "We found less current resistance in the connection each day," an official reported. He said this indicated a small amount of moisture which gradually was evaporating.

Pens Refrain About Drain

INDIAN ORCHARD, Mass. (UPI)—A housewife in this industrial suburb of Springfield, Mass., has responded to adversity with verse.

Mrs. Rita Guertin, who lives on Water Street, relied on the quatrain in her poltical campaign for a drain.

Here are several excerpts . . . and the Mayor's reply.

And no street is more aptly named,
For, when it's inclement, and skies open up,
The water just lies there, undrained.

It's been there—the street, not the water,
Since the year one and eight fifty-six
It has never been paved—it's chock full of holes
But, it's not this that makes me sick!

It's the drainage—I tell you—the drainage
The water has no place to go,
So it settles right there in a puddle
It just goes when it's dry—very slow!

And, when is it dry in New England?
Why! only some days in the summer.
So, the rest of the time, the water lies there
In the holes, that get greater in number . . .

. . . Well, the problem that haunts and besets me
Is, what can we do with the fluid?
I ask, 'Can a manhole be put in the road?
And, who can be got, who can do it? . . .

With a pipe running under the track
And this would insure proper drainage
The water would go—that's a fact."

"I have notified Wylie C. Hubbard*
Concerning that water mess;
Here's hoping he finds a solution—
To make Water Street waterless.

'Race Violence May Hit North'

State Official Urges Civil Rights Agency

LANSING (AP) — Antisegregation demonstrations, perhaps more violent than recent demonstrations in the South, might be brewing in the North, an official of the State Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) said yesterday.

The official, William Layton, director of education and community services for the FEPC, urged formation of a strong agency under the civil rights provision of the new state constitution.

Layton said the agency should be given jurisdiction over "the most crucial problem — housing," and education, employment and public accommodations.

"Many sociologists believe the demonstrations in the North will be characterized by more violence than we have seen in the South, because of the great social disorganization that is found in the northern urban communities," Layton said in a speech to the Lansing Civitan Club.

He said a recent survey of employment practices in suburban shopping centers showed how the housing problem is related to employment problems for Negroes.

The FEPC survey showed most employers in the shopping centers prohibit persons from obtaining employment if the applicants do not live in suburban communities.

Lion Store Sets Expansion Plan at Miracle Mile

Irving Steinman, president of the Lion Store, Inc., location in the Miracle Mile shopping center, announced today a proposed expansion of store facilities, scheduled to start next month.

The expansion will increase the size of the store from an existing 12,000 square feet to a total of 18,000 square feet with the addition of adjacent facilities formerly occupied by Craig's Gift Shop.

Steinman said that consistent growth of business made the expansion a necessity for the Lion Store.

He said that the space was needed to enlarge departments and give improved service.

JFK Celebrates 46th Birthday Tomorrow in White House

Most members of the Kennedy clan are expected to attend, although it is doubtful the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, will make the trip from his summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass.

DISCRIMINATION: Secretary of State Dean Rusk, usually concerned with international issues, expressed deep concern Monday about a domestic problem.

Speaking before a conference on foreign policy for non-governmental organizations, Rusk said:

"We ought all to recognize that this nation is now confronted with one of the gravest issues that we have had since 1865 and that this issue deeply affects the conduct of our foreign relations.

"I am speaking of affects to the conduct of our foreign relations.

"I am speaking of course of the problems of discrimination."

Because of it, he said, the United States is racing communism "with one of our legs in a cast.

"Our voice is muted, our friends are embarrassed, our enemies are gleeful because we have not really put our hands fully and effectively to this problem at every level of our national life, beginning with the local community," said Rusk.

PROMOTION: For the first time in its 43-year history, the National Guard Bureau will be headed by an Air Force officer.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, 52, a World War II pilot, will be nominated for a four-year term as chief of the bureau starting Aug. 31, the White House disclosed Monday.

The Arkansan, who has been deputy chief for 10 years, will succeed Army Maj. Gen. Donald McGowan of New Jersey who is retiring.

CONTRACTS: Lockheed Aircraft Corp. tops the list of military contractors with more than $1.4 billion worth of defense work awarded this year, the Defense Department has told Congress.

General Dynamics Corp. ranked close behind, and stood No. 1 among 2,042 contractors handling experimental, test and research work for the Pentagon.

The figures were made public today in testimony released by the House Military Appropriations subcommittee.

The Defense Department said Lockheed received 5.6 per cent of the military prime contracts awarded in fiscal 1962.

Other firms receiving more than $1 billion worth of prime contracts: General Dynamics at $1.2 billion, Boeing Co. at $1.1 billion and North American Aviation, Inc. $1 billion.

Wants 'Financial Veto'

Russia Again Tries to Hurt U.N.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Had the United Nations, under the prodding of the United States, not intervened in Korea, it is a reasonable assumption that Korea today would be totally occupied by the Communists.

Similarly, without United Nations action, it also is reasonably certain that today there would be no unified Congo.

And, going back to the earliest days of the world organization, it also is a safe bet that Soviet Russia would be occupying part of northern Iran had not the pressure of world opinion been brought against it through the United Nations.

NEWSOM

Each of these actions represented an extension of U. S. foreign policy and help to explain why, through both Democratic and Republican administrations, the United States has been willing to shoulder more than its share of the financial burden of U. N. undertakings.

Despite persistent efforts to reshape the U. N. to its own advantage, the Soviet Union never yet has won a major victory in U. N. debates.

They were boycotting the U. N. at the time of Korean intervention.

TROIKA

They failed conspicuously in 1960 to impose a three-headed troika system on the secretary general's office which would have torpedoed U. N. action in the Congo.

In 1963 they are attempting to impose a "financial veto."

This means that they have refused to pay the more than $46 million they owe in back installments on U. N. peace-keeping operations in the Congo and Middle East and have announced that henceforth they will pay nothing on any U. N. operation with which they disagree.

Altogether, some 40 U.N. members, including France, Belgium, and Nationalist China, have paid nothing on either or both the Congo and the Middle East operations.

Under U. N. rules, all are subject to losing their vote after falling two years behind in their payments.

Some are hardship cases and may be forgiven on grounds that they are behind due to circumstances beyond their control.

TOO POOR

As a matter of pride, the Soviets scarcely could afford to plead that they are too poor to pay.

France and Belgium, both of which strongly opposed the U. N. Congo action, are expected to find some device by which arrearages can be met without admitting a change of heart.

The main problem is the Soviet Union.

If the Soviets could reduce the U.N. to an impotent debating society simply by withholding funds, there is little doubt that such would be their course.

On the other hand, it is not believed that the Communists are ready yet to abandon their place in the U. N.'s world forum, leading to a conclusion that their present maneuvers are to establish a bargaining position.

But, meanwhile, the U. N. is approximately $130 million in the red.

And the prospects are that, so long as the U. S. considers the United Nations an important arm of foreign policy, it will continue to pay a disproportionate share of the world organization's costs.

Officials Investigate Fire Near Marquette

MARQUETTE (AP) — Authorities today investigated the cause of a fire which swept nearly 50 acres of jackpine timber yesterday and threatened a housing area for personnel at the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base.

Conservation officers said the blaze, some 20 miles south of Marquette, may have been started by an exploding gasoline-operated power saw being used by lumber cutters in the area.

No injuries were reported in the blaze which was battled by conservation department crews from the air force base and from Gwinn.

Sets Thursday Memorial Day

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed Thursday as Memorial Day in Michigan, urging remembrance of the men and women of our armed forces.

"Let us pay tribute to those heroes still among us and give them adequate thanks for the part they played, as members of our armed forces, to preserve liberty," the governor said.

* * *

"Let us join in prayer that those who have gone before now rest peacefully."

All state offices will be closed for Memorial Day.

Space-Minded MD Finds Ground Drab

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — The routine events at Selfridge Air Force Base are enough to keep anyone's feet on the ground, and to a space-minded doctor who flirted with immortality it's pretty drab.

Lt. Col. Charles W. Upp, 39, who was one of three doctors aboard the U.S.S. Kearsarge that greeted astronaut L. Gordon Cooper when he stepped from his space capsule, is confronted with this difficulty.

"I'm having trouble keeping my feet on the ground since the space shot," Upp said. "It was the most exciting experience of my life — outside my wedding day.

"Our government could have a volunteer moon traveler with medical training for its Gemini program, if I thought someone would give me the least encouragement," he said.

Upp said he felt sure his wife Marguerite and their children, Patricia, 7, Michael, 11, and Pamela, 12, would give their approval to a space trip.

"I still think I might make it as flight surgeon on one of the first spacecraft or satellites large enough to need a pill pusher," he said.

Upp spent a total of 48 hours with Cooper during rebriefing sessions after the historic 22-orbit flight. With the group was Army Capt. Richard L. Pollard, Jackson, Mich., who led the medical team for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

His observations of the astronaut at close hand were heartening for any space ambitions Upp might have.

"Some science fiction writers try to scare us with predictions of spacemen turned into automatons by their equipment. But I think the equipment will be simplified to living room comfort.

"I learned that astronauts need not be supermen. They must be very sound physically but that is no more important than the proper knowledge and ability to meet challenges," he said.

'Broadcasters Skirt Free Speech Issues'

NEW YORK (AP)—Chairman Newton N. Minow, who leaves the Federal Communications Commission this Saturday, says most of the broadcasting industry sidesteps the "tough free speech" issues and lets the FCC argue them.

Minow said in a television interview Monday night that this irritates him very often.

With few exceptions, he said, "When you get an incident involving a tough free speech issue, most of the broadcasting industry flies under the rug and leaves us to argue the case rather than coming forth and slugging it out as they should."

He referred to a controversial television interview of convicted perjurer Alger Hiss—along with other interviews—last fall on American Broadcasting Co. The FCC defended ABC's right to program as it saw fit.

"Immediately," he said, "the FCC is defending Alger Hiss and we're the censors; we're the ones who are interfering with free expression. Well, this is all twisted up and I suppose it'll always be that way."

He Takes Care of Plant Health

He also does research to find causes and cures of plant diseases.

Man Is Fined in Bomb Scare

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — An Iron Mountain, Mich., man was fined $300 yesterday on a charge of making false bomb statements.

Federal Judge Kenneth P. Grubb levied the fine after Dennis V. Emery pleaded guilty to the charge. He was arrested by FBI agents Jan. 22.

The FBI charged that Emery told a North Central Airlines Field in Green Bay, Wis., that another passenger had a bomb in his bag.

City Shuns Steel Stairs in Backyard

This is the quiet side of main street, bathed in deep shadows of its own making. These are the harsh patterns of escape behind a glittering facade of neon lights and window displays.

Creeping up the unseen side of mortar buildings that face Saginaw, they are only steps away from the bustle of the crowd.

All the fire escapes shown are on buildings that abut the alley east of Saginaw between Huron and Pike streets. The center photo depicts the fire escape on the Pontiac State Bank building. Their patterns stretch upward into the sun of high noon.

These are the stairways of emergency pushed into the background of normal living. They are like a symphony written never to be heard — unless there is a disaster. Then they will swing into action.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS—Whenever animals perform at the Detroit Zoological Park, all the other animals sit up and take notice.

This year's chimpanzee show in the zoo's Holden Amphitheater, entitled "TV Stars of '63," features the "Revelry Hillbillies," the "Grindstones," "Car 44," and other plays on television personalities.

Joey, Gus, Sammy, Chico and Benny are assisted by seven other talented chimpanzee actors, four Shetland ponies and a bucking miniature mule.

In this category are a climbing ladder, a metal giraffe and a space rocket, which have been added to Monkey Island to better display the lively monkeys and to give them more equipment on which they can swing around.

New habitat backgrounds were also added to the Bird House displays.

People have not been neglected either.

Visiting hours at the zoo are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

Memphis Reacts to Bias Ruling

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Reaction to the Supreme Court's decision to knock down a 10-year plan for the desegregating all Memphis public recreational facilities was quick, strong and varied here yesterday.

"I'm going ahead with all plans until I'm told differently," Parks Supt. Hal Lewis said.

The parks, many of which already have been desegregated, are scheduled to open June 13. Attorneys say it could be weeks before the court's mandate yesterday is formally presented to the park commission.

Integrationist leader Jesse Turner promised new kinds of demonstrations if the park commission opens still-segregated parks this summer. He predicted "wade-ins, swim-ins and play-ins."

The Negroes are tired of delaying tactics," Turner said.

"Quite naturally I don't like the situation at all," said Mayor Henry Loeb. City Commissioner John Dwyer said, "If we don't abide the law and Supreme Court decisions, a tyrannical situation would exist."

Another commissioner, James Moore, said " . . . I see nothing to do but follow the action of the court."

Except for some sit-in demonstrations—none recently—desegregation here has been done quietly and through the courts.

Youths Face Exam on Larceny Charge

The pair is charged with entering the Clark Pharmacy, 1546 Union Lake Road, early Sunday morning.

Governor Hopefuls Seek Ballot Spots

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky voters choose their nominees for governor today and decide simultaneously the fate of the political career of A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Edward T. Breathitt Jr., an attorney, was equally sure he would win the Democratic nomination over Chandler, who seeks a third term as governor.

The contest was viewed as a toss-up.

Louie B. Nunn, virtually certain to win the nomination in the Republican primary, hoped a recent Republican upsurge in Kentucky would carry him to victory in November.

The weather forecast was for scattered showers and the waters turnout was expected to be around 525,000. The record, set in the 1959 primary, is 559,700.

No Kentuckian has been elected governor three times. Chandler held the office in 1935-39 and in 1955-59. In between he was a U.S. senator and baseball commissioner.

Under state law, a governor cannot succeed himself.

Breathitt, virtually a political unknown until a year ago although he served three terms in the State Legislature, has the backing of Gov. Bert Combs, a foe of Chandler.

Breathitt, 38, hammered at the contention that it is time to end what he called the political domination of Chandler, 64, and Chandler's chief ally, former governor and U. S. Sen. Earl Clements.

Chandler's big gun was a pledge to take the 3 per cent sales tax off food, clothing and medicine—a promise with strong appeal. The former governor dismissed Breathitt as a stooge of Combs.

Nunn, 38, an attorney, faced token opposition for the Republican nomination from Jesse N. R. Cecil, a loser in 15 races.

Several Killed or Hurt by Indonesian Tremor

Boy, 13, Admits Arson in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who was "mad at his mother" yesterday admitted setting a five-alarm fire that demolished a block-long building Sunday, authorities said.

Arson bureau investigators said the youth was picked up at his home about two blocks from the scene of the blaze which caused damage estimated as high as $1,185,000.

The flames raged out of control for three hours as the fire ate through a 900-foot-long masonry building owned by a paper stock company at 7714 W. Chicago and destroyed the stock of a firm that supplied non-food items to supermarkets.

Capt. Lawrence Amprim and Lt. Marshall Robinson, of the arson section, quoted the boy as saying he touched lighted matches to a scrap of paper in the bed of a truck parked at the Fishman Paper Stock Co.

Officers said the boy, who was turned over to youth bureau officials, had a record of delinquency and had set at least two other fires.

NY Orchestra Eyes State for Summer Home

Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and president of the Interlochen Arts Center, said officials of the Philharmonic Symphony Society have expressed interest in the educational possibilities of holding an annual four-week summer concert here, starting in 1965.

Carlos Moseley, managing director of the famed orchestra, and Society President David M. Keiser paid a recent visit to the academy, which annually sponsors national music competitions.

Maddy said the present auditorium, which sets 4,000, would have to be expanded to lure the philharmonic here. He also said the open-air facility would have to be covered.

New-Con Count Half Completed

LANSING (AP)—The recount of the April 1 vote approving a new state constitution was more than half completed today with little significant change noted.

There were 1,029 precincts counted with a loss of 115 "yes" votes and a gain of 112 "no" votes for a loss of 227 in the original margin of 7,829 favoring the constitution.

This represented a loss of less than .22 per cent of a vote per precinct. There are 1,977 precincts to be recounted.

Stanley Beattie, attorney for those favoring the new constitution, meanwhile asked the Board of State Canvassers to rule that absentee ballots with the corners left on should be counted.

Such ballots are being saved pending a board decision.

The corner of the absentee ballots, which contains a number identifying the voter, is supposed to be torn off by an elections official to maintain the secrecy of the ballot.

Some of the corners of the ballot to be recounted were not torn.

Man Arrested at Favorite Bar After Shoot-Out in Courtroom

But he didn't get to finish his because police had been expecting him.

"He was tough but not very smart," said a detective who helped arrest 6-foot-4 Maxwood Brumley without a fight.

Brumley, 23, was being led from a Fort Lauderdale courtroom yesterday after being sentenced to four years for attempted robbery. Authorities gave these details of what followed:

With a karate punch to the neck, Brumley floored the bailiff, snatched his 32-caliber pistol and fired down the hallway, apparently attempting to clear the way.

CRASHED

He crashed through the courtroom doorway and met the attorney who had been defending him. "Don't bother me, boy . . . I'll kill you," he said. Another attorney bolted out of the courtroom and down the hall. Firing a couple of wild shots at the disappearing figure, Brumley ran the opposite direction — into a dead end.

Deputies moved in, guns ablaze, but failed to drop Brumley. Two bystanders were struck, one in the leg and the other a glancing blow on the head.

Brumley dodged down the hallway and fled out the door with bullets spattering around him. He was struck in the arm and chest but kept going until he got to the parking lot.

"Do as I tell you or you'll be dade," he told a lawyer who had just parked. He seized the car keys and raced away.

He returned to a Miami Beach neighborhood where he had spent the winter, even got a drink at his favorite bar.

"That was his mistake," said a Miami Beach detective.

Police were tipped and they watched the place. Later, when Brumley returned—apparently in good spirits — about a dozen officers were ready.

Guard Dog Losing His Bite

LONDON (AP)—A British dog named Charlie is getting his teeth repaired at the expense of the U.S. Air Force.

"Charlie is a remarkable dog," said a spokesman for the Air Force. "He's a guard dog and the best guard dog at the Alconbury base. This means he's the toughest and the fiercest."

Charlie may be as fierce as ever, but he has taken the bite out of four of his sharpest teeth.

"Most dogs strengthen their teeth on bones," said the spokesman, "but Charlie prefers concrete or steel. We can't have a toothless guard dog so we're having Charlie's capped."

'ON LOAN'

A spokesman at headquarters of the 3rd Air Force explained:

"Guard dogs are on loan from the Royal Air Force, and the U.S. Air Force is obliged to keep the dogs in good health and in good shape.

"The dogs are examined monthly and on Charlie's examination it was decided he'd better have four teeth capped.

"This isn't the first time a dog's teeth have been capped but as far as we can tell this is the first time that four teeth are being capped."

The work is being carried out by Air Force dental technicians.

Paris, Detroit Eye Mutual Problems

DETROIT (AP) — Eight Parisian city officials visited Detroit yesterday to get acquainted and talk over mutual problems of housing for the aged, inner city decay and overcrowding.

"Two months ago, I toured urban renewal districts in Philadelphia, Chicago, New York, Detroit and New Haven," said Michel Piquard, chief of general planning of the district of Paris.

"I brought our officials back to Detroit because this is the most comprehensive plan from every aspect," he added.

The Parisians expected to stay one hour in the office of Charles A. Blessing, director of city planning, but they stayed more than three — asking questions about the financing and planning of Detroit's 1,500-acre urban renewal projects.

In addition, they studied the rebuilding of the city on the low-level basis, park areas, yards, downtown expressways and vast parking facilities.

Dog Should Excuse His Faux Pas

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: We have a large dog who is very frisky. The other day a neighbor stopped in to see me and our dog jumped up on her and ruined her dress with his claws.

Although she took it good-naturedly and said not to worry about it, I feel very badly. What is the proper thing for me to do?

A: Send her a box of candy or a few flowers with an apology, signed with the name of your dog.

Q: My mother and father will soon celebrate their golden wedding anniversary and we, their children, would like to give a large reception for them at a hotel.

The wording of the invitations has us puzzled. We are four children, two are married and two single. Will you please tell us how the invitations can be worded so as to include all of us?

A: The invitations may be worded as follows:

In celebration of the Golden Wedding of
Mr. and Mrs. John Brown their family
request the pleasure of your company
at the Biltmore Hotel on Saturday evening the first of June
at eight o'clock

Q: My wedding invitations were made up and ready to be mailed when my fiance suddenly took sick. The wedding had to be postponed.

We have now set a new wedding date and I would like to know if it would be proper to send out these same invitations and enclose a card stating, "The wedding date has been changed to . . ." or must new invitations be made up?

A: Most properly you should order new invitations, but if this extra expense will impose a hardship on you, it will be permissible to enclose a card with the new wedding date.

The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Formal Wedding Procedure," includes details on the wedding procession, the receiving line and other helpful wedding information.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Retirees Honored at Teacher Affair

Keynote speaker Roger Craig was introduced by toastmaster Charles Cheng. Mr. Craig, who spoke on "Civil Rights and the Teacher," is attorney for the Michigan Federation of Teachers and a member of the board of education for Dearborn.

Mr. Craig stated that teachers have seen great growth in civil rights over the years. He traced the recent changes in those rights and told of the legal assistance recently given to teachers who have had those rights violated.

One of the basic rights is the freedom to teach. Not always does the freedom of speech extend to the classroom.

New frontiers in the labor movement are in the teaching field and teachers must insist on academic freedom, he stated.

UNREST TO UNIONS

Where unrest occurs in the teaching field, Craig added, there are areas of abuse, and there unionism grows. Wages, hours and conditions of employment in the teaching field all have trade union counterparts.

Craig believes that the community must get the idea of the new teacher who will work for a better profession. As in all changes, there will be unpleasant times.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Tempest in a teapot — fortunately that's all most toddler tantrums amount to. Most toddlers have an occasional temper storm because the very business of growing up is bound to bring frustrations. Tantrums may also result if a child is overtired or overstimulated.

To fight anger with anger, hardly ever works. Good ways to calm an overwrought child who's not old enough to reason with:

• Try to distract him tactfully. A quick hug 'n' kiss often smooths away the sore spot.

• If he's failed at something, try to show him the way and be quick to praise new attempts.

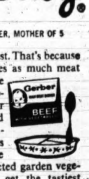
Mealtime tantrums almost never happen when you spark your toddler's menus with something extra-special. Like Gerber Junior High Meat Dinners . . . famous for savory flavor interest. That's because they have 3 times as much meat (and therefore much more protein) as regular vegetable and meat combinations. Add to this extra meat the goodness of selected garden vegetables and you get the tastiest dishes that ever perked up a palate. Strained too, for pre-toddler tykes. 5 varieties.



Nutrition bulletin from Dan Gerber. Every mother knows that excessive cooking reduces the nutritive values of food. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are cooked in just a few seconds to retain the highest degree of natural food values possible. Flash-cooking does a lot for baby's eating pleasure, too, because it helps preserve the true-to-nature colors and flavors so appealing to little ones. The development of modern processing methods is just one of Gerber's many continuing research projects. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

Competition and Costumes

Roller Skating Is Family Project

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darimont first met at a roller skating rink. Little did they realize that their meeting was the beginning of a way of life for their future family.

Making competition costumes and roller skating has become a family project. Father is charged with keeping the sewing machine in working order and son Skip occasionally designs costumes.

Youngest daughter Suzie and daughter Cecelia can now do some of their own sewing.

But the mainstay of the family sewing project is Mrs. Virginia Darimont, who began sewing competition costumes some 14 years ago when Cecelia began her skating career.

Mrs. Darimont has made some 200 competition costumes, aside from her regular sewing. On these costumes she has hand-sewn more than 100,000 sequins and rhinestones.

She spends an average of 30 to 35 hours a week sewing and is currently working on 12 costumes which must be ready for competition in June.

MOST ENJOYABLE

Sewing on the sequins and rhinestones is the part which Mrs. Darimont enjoys the most.

"Sewing is my way of relaxing," she says.

On top of her sewing activities, Mrs. Darimont spends as much as 25 hours a week in the Rolladium when the children are practicing.

Practice has paid off for Cecelia, who is currently studying to be an X-ray technician at Pontiac General Hospital and often begins practicing at 5:30 a.m. before she goes to work.

Not only has she appeared in every one of the Rolladium's "Spinning Wheels" programs, but she has placed in 21 state, 17 regional and nine national meets.

Other members of the family have placed in five meets.

The family recently received a plaque from the Rolladium in appreciation of their participation in every "Spinning Wheels" show and for their work throughout the years.

Both Mrs. Darimont and Cecelia spend much time traveling around the country judging competitions of the Roller Skating Rink Operators of America (RSROA).

Within a few hundred feet of the Rolladium's back entance, the Darimont house is the gathering place for many of the RSROA skaters. The family "lives" roller skating.

The 14th annual "Spinning Wheels" will be held this evening, Wednesday and Thursday at 8. As in the past, the Darimont family will have a big hand in its production.

Pontiac Press Photo

Cecelia Darimont and her mother Mrs. Frank Darimont spend many an afternoon working on competition costumes for roller skating. Cecelia checks over one of the completed costumes while Mrs. Darimont creates patterns for another. Each costume may contain as many as 200 or more hand-sewn sequins or rhinestones and requires many hours to complete.

A Handful for Collector

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was very much amused to note in your column that someone actually collected unusual surnames as a hobby. Here is one that tops them all. "Mrs. By The Way." Yes, that's right. Three separate words. By the Way. She is a friend of ours and lives in Maryland.

JOE CULLINAN

DEAR ABBY: As a postal employe I have run across some unusual names. To mention a few, "Lucy Lacey," "Ethel Bethel," Marinka Pinka" and "Upson Downs." On the same street live a "Charles Dickens" and a "Robert Burns." And how about this for a rare one — "Happy Clapsaddle"?

E.W.V. (Phila.)

DEAR ABBY: The woman who collects unusual surnames should get herself a job in a clearing house. I have picked up such gems as "Caughtrain," "Clinkenbeard," "Proudfit," "B. Broad" and "Ida Aster." Sincerely,

THELMA

DEAR ABBY: I went to school with a girl whose real name was "Pearl Handle." She married a boy whose name was "Jack Knife."

VIRGINIA FROM RENO

DEAR ABBY: Perhaps Surname Collector would like these: "Stonebraker," "Rainwater," "Turnipseed" and "Monkeytrick." These are all authentic surnames which I found in my telephone directory.

"ON THE LEVEL"

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 13-year-old boy. He is extremely sensitive, easily hurt and is frequently moved to tears.

His teacher told me that his greatest handicap is his exceptional good looks. The girls adore him and the boys envy him for that.

His I.Q. approaches the genius level, which also makes him unpopular. The boys at school have roughed him up on several occasions. When I complained to the principal, he told me it was "boy stuff" and my son should learn to defend himself.

I refuse to encourage my son to be a roughneck like the others. I'm a widow and he is my only child. What do you suggest?

ONE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I agree with the principal. Enroll your son in a boxing (or Judo) class at the YMCA or a private gym. He need not be a "roughneck" to learn how to protect himself.

It will do wonders for his self-confidence. And once it becomes known that he is not to be bullied, he may never have to raise his fists again.

Judith Ann Gocha was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Francis Gunyou, Detroit; Lois Clark, Rockford; and the bridegroom's sister Margaret Ann.

Smoke in Backyard Heralds the Season

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — Some observations on the American scene:

The modern smoke signal is a sure sign the backyard barbecue is under way and the amateur chef is burning the steak to a crisp.

This land is populated thoroughly with the organization woman who copes completely with management of household, husband, children, career, the gourmet dinner or the party for 50.

Only thing that throws her is how to manage the maid. Directing a staff of 10 or 20 at the office baffles her not, but the maid bullies her.

She quakes when she knows she must ask the cleaning girl why aren't the silver salt and pepper shakers polished, what about the dust under the piano, and would she please just please iron a blouse?

Closets were meant for collecting and the only way to clean them is to move.

Today, there is an institute, council, association or society for everything. My favorite new addition to all these causes is the one formed to promote the appreciation and propagation of the leek.

Our neighborhood dressmaker confides that this is the season of the year when alterations of last summer's wardrobes get into full swing and the remark she hears every day is, "Well! It fitted LAST year.

"Why," she sighed, as she let out a seam, "aren't women honest enough to admit that it is not the dress that has shrunk. It is the waistline that has grown."

It is the opinion of the man of our house that if hemlines on women's skirts get any shorter, we women all will be wearing kilts. He is not objecting.

One budget expert we know says that the way the homemaker peels potatoes is the true clue to her ability as a household manager.

I'm always delighted as I read an experts' analysis of the risk involved in teen-age marriages to notice in the same newspaper a feature on a couple observing a 60th wedding anniversary.

The two eloped when they were 18.

Polly's Pointers

Put Seeds in Ice Tray

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Don't discard those old ice cube trays. When planting tiny flower and vegetable seeds for early starts, put them in the trays that are filled with dirt.

Put a seed or two in each section and when the plants are big enough to transplant, remove and set out your individual cubes of dirt with the plant undisturbed.—MRS. G. T.

DEAR POLLY — Put a thin strip of adhesive tape inside a thimble that is too loose

When joining seams that are cut on the bias, baste a strip of paper to the underside. Stitch on the sewing machine and then tear the paper away. This prevents the fabric from stretching and provides straighter seams.

DEAR POLLY — Some years ago a teacher told me the following money saver. I keep a small clean box in a convenient place (the kitchen is best for me) and in it I put all the cotton that is removed from the tops of medicine bottles, vitamin pills, etc.

When the box is full, I put the cotton in my manicure supply box and use it for removing nail polish.—MRS. F. D.

DEAR POLLY—When I hem a skirt, I mark a cardboard the desired width I want the hem and then notch the spot with the scissors.

This gives an exact guide as I pin in the hem.

It is quicker and easier than using a ruler as you have to check the numbers each time you move it and the ruler slips easily.

Also place a sofa pillow on your lap as you sew. This brings your work to the correct eye level and prevents back strain. — MRS. E. E. F.

Dedicated Linguists Carry Bible to Hinterlands

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—In three U.S. universities they learn how to put strange, unwritten tribal languages into writing.

In far-off lands they make friends and learn to converse with natives who have no written word.

They transcribe the language into symbols and teach the natives to read them in books — primers, grammers, dictionaries, hygiene and agriculture treatises —and the Bible.

They're emissaries of a quiet, far-flung organization—the Wycliffe Bible Translators, Inc. — which in 29 years has sent forth about 5,000 workers.

None ever met violent death, until last March 4.

That's when two Wycliffe missionaries were shot down by Communist guerrillas, before their wives and children, in the rice paddies of Viet Nam.

"I don't know why they fired," Mrs. Vurnell Jacobsen said afterward.

At a roadblock, the guerrillas killed her husband, Elwood, of Foreston, Minn., and a Filipino, Gaspar Alfonso Makil, each 35.

A south Vietnamese soldier also was killed. A bullet shattered a leg of the Makils' 3-year-old son.

Wycliffe, with headquarters in the Los Angeles suburb of Santa Ana, has more than 1,000 emissaries in 15 countries.

They use 310 languages and work among U.S. Indian tribes and the natives of Mexico, Central and South America, Africa, the Philippines and New Guinea.

OUTPOST OPERATION

The linguist missionaries arrange their own financial backing, usually from some church, and support themselves on an average pay of $150 a month.

Wives and young children go with them. Older children are sent back to the states to attend school.

Jacobsen and Makil were among 44 Wycliffe emissaries in South Viet Nam, operating in 11 tribal languages. They are there by government invitation, as they are in all countries.

The organization is named for John Wycliffe (pronounced wick'-liff), 14th-century English reformer and theologian who began the first English translation of the Bible.

The founder is William Cameron Townsend, a Southern Californian who went to Guatemala as a Bible salesman for the American Bible Society in 1917.

He translated the Bible into Catchiquel, the language of a large Mayan tribe of the same name. Townsend is still active in the organization.

"We work principally through a sister organization called the summer institute of linguistics," said spokesman Dale Keitzman, 38, a former Wycliffe linguist in Peru, Mexico and Brazil.

"It's a series of summer institutes on campuses of the universities of Oklahoma, North Dakota and Washington.

"We provide linguistic training for anyone who wants to do basic linguistic research.

"From students who attend the courses, we draw the members who go into the field."

Candidates are sent to a jungle training camp in Ciapas State, Mexico. For six weeks they hear lectures, go on training hikes and live in mud-walled buildings.

For their second six weeks they hike 15 or 20 miles into the jungle. They build a grass-roofed shelter and try to supplement from the jungle the dole of food they have been given. Staff members and a nurse are with them.

In the field, linguists use an international phonetic alphabet in which a symbol is assigned to every speech sound that can be made.

How do you start communicating with some remote native who has an unknown language?

"By gesture," said Kietzman. "Usually you go up, shake hands, say hello, look as friendly as you can, and smile.

"Usually he'll respond and say something. Then you say that right back. The fact that you have said it arouses his interest.

"Then you go on from there. You try to get across as quickly as possible the idea, 'what do you call this?' then you point at various objects, a rock, say.

"Then you play a game—write the word on a slip of paper and show it to your partner or wife, who pronounces it. The native is startled that we can do this with his language."

The Santa Ana headquarters, in an old church building, has about 30 persons doing secretarial and other work. Through here $2.43 million was channeled in the fiscal year ended last July 1 from churches, principally, to field workers.

The workers contribute 5 per cent of their income to support of the organization.

"Large equipment usually is provided by foundation gifts," Kietzman said.

"Printing and many costs of the field are often borne by the host government. For instance, in Peru we operate a bilingual school system where we are training Indians to be teachers back in their own tribes.

"The Peruvian government brings them in and provides their salary and the textbooks."

"All of our workers are church members," said Kietzman. "There is, of course, a basic religious motivation to our work."

WRITING THE UNWRITTEN — A Wycliffe Bible Translators worker in the Philippines checks her use of language with a native woman, putting the unwritten tribal dialect into written form.

Here's Where It Started for All Chocolate-Lovers

A pocketful of cocoa beans smuggled from the Spanish island in the Gulf of Guinea gave rise to the West African cocoa industry which today produces a third of the world's choclate.

In 1879, Tetteh Quashie, an indentured farmhand on a Fernando Poo plantation, returned home to what is now Ghana with a handful of beans. "He was quipped by his neighbors for the years he wasted cultivating apparently fruitless growth," wrote a contemporary.

But, in 1883, the first golden pods swelled up on Tettah's trees. So began Ghana's cocoa industry —now the world's largest.

The high humidity and rich volcanic soil of Fernando Poo still produce some of the world's finest cocoa. Large Spanish and African plantations specialize in "breakfast food" crops — coffee and bananas, as well as cocoa.

Three-fifths of the island's 61,000 population (8 per cent Spanish, 20 per cent Bubis tribesmen, 72 per cent Nigerian migrant farmhands) live in Santa Isabel, the placid harbor capital. People congregate and occasionally sleep in the narrow streets.

"Nanny Po," as it is known locally, is prospering. It claims that its per capita income of $200 is the second highest in Africa after South Africa.

Santa Isabel has a new luxury hotel, is completing a jet airport and plans to build 2,000 houses as a part of a slum-clearance program.

The largest island in the Gulf of Guinea was discovered in 1471 by Don Fernao da Po, an intrepid navigator sent out by Prince Henry. Fernao named it Formosa (the Beautiful) and sailed away.

Portugal transferred sovereignty to Spain in 1778, but colonization did not begin until early in the 19th century.

Jail-less Town Embarrassed

CANAL FULTON, Ohio — Town officials were in an embarrassing predicament when the defendant in Mayor John B. Cullen's court pleaded guilty to running a red light.

The driver reported he was unemployed, without funds and ready to serve out the fine. But there's no jail here and the village's contract with Stark County for jailing prisoners in misdemeanor cases had lapsed.

The problem was solved by continuing the case long enough for the man to collect his unemployment insurance and pay the fine.

Heigh Ho! They Come to the Country Fair

ENJOYS HER WORK — Nine-year-old Sally Lovell of Metamora was one of the girls who led ponies around the school grounds. The not-quite-so-sure rider is David Brooks, 3, of Rochester. He got to like it before the ride was over.

PICTURE STORY BY LEE WINBORN OLSON
Area News Editor

The school bell sounded across the countryside, and children of all ages flocked to the fair.

Kingsbury School, an independent institution at Hosner and Oakwood roads in Addison Township, was the setting for the event.

It was a special occasion this year because the remodeled and enlarged country school was also celebrating its 10th anniversary.

All the ingredients of a country fair were present. Bright, sunny skies, cotton candy, a toy-stocked fish pond and gaily decorated booths.

One of the main attractions was a helium-filled-balloon booth. There children could fill out a post-card with their name and address, roll it up and put it in the balloon before it was filled with gas.

UP IN AIR

Then they would release the balloons and watch them soar, to land a long distance away — they hoped.

Pontiac Press Photos

78 Enrolled in School

The white frame school is attended by children in kindergarten through ninth grade from all over the area. There are 78 enrolled there this year.

They come from Rochester, Lake Orion, Oxford, Metamora and Lapeer, as well as Romeo and Washington in Macomb County.

Another feature of this year's fair was an outdoor art exhibit set up by the Village Friends of Art, Clarkston.

For those who wanted to pose for self portraits, Gordon Schulte of White Lake Township had his easel set up to do on-the-spot drawings.

Also on sale were little animals in small wire cages which attracted prospective pet owners until the cages were empty.

The animals included bunnies, kittens and puppies.

Games of all kinds brought would - be sports enthusiasts, and a number walked off with prizes for their skill and dexterity.

Pony rides were offered on the school grounds, as well as rides in a wicker pony cart for the less venturesome youngsters.

Camera fans had a field day, too. They took movies of the children trying to climb up by themselves on the ponies' backs, and still "shots" of the little ones' faces covered with cotton candy and spun sugar.

ANOTHER TREAT

Most of the time Junior and Sister would be sidling up to their parents for "another nickel" or "just one more dime" for that new treat they had just discovered.

★ ★ ★ ★

The five ninth graders at the school were particularly proud of their project — a firewood sale.

NAMED HIM 'BLACKIE' — Chris Acheson, 10, of Oxford bought this coal-black bunny at the fair and promptly dubbed him "Blackie." Chris is a fourth grader at Daniel Axford School, Oxford.

BALLOONS AWAY! — About to set their balloons adrift are Lynn Race, 12, of Pontiac, and Joan Ria Willis of Clarkston, also 12. They put their name and address on a postcard inside each balloon, hoping they will have them mailed back from distant places.

Study Nature on Trail

Their science project this year was to cut a nature trail in the woods south of the school and trees that were cut down were split into logs for sale at the fair.

The nature walks provide children in each grade with the opportunity to study identities of plants, flowers, trees and birds along the trail.

The older pupils select a particular area for more detailed study.

The students' work was on display inside the schoolhouse where movies were shown throughout the afternoon.

One of the most frequented booths was manned by fathers who served up delicious hamburgers, charcoal-broiled hotdogs and soft drinks to the hungry and thirsty fairgoers.

Sometimes it was difficult for the smaller fry to manage their eating — what with a big balloon and a trick cigar in one hand and a hot dog, drink and a piece of homemade taffy in the other.

But mustard - smeared faces and relish - spattered shirts were the order of the day, and nobody seemed to mind.

Biggest money - maker of the fair was the handicrafts bazaar. Mothers spent months making articles to put on sale. It netted $590.

Another was the baked goods booth which took in about $400.

'GREAT SUCCESS'

Headmaster Bruce N. Coulter pronounced the 1963 fair "a great success." He said $1,500 was raised, to be added to the $450 from a country auction the school sponsored in Metamora a week before.

JUST MISSES — Despite her concentration on what she is doing, 6-year-old Hilary Feehan of Metamora, narrowly misses hitting the hole with her well-tossed bean bag.

FAIR SCENE — The grounds of Kingsbury School, northeast of Oxford, are transformed into fairgrounds for the school's big money-raising event of the year. It also marks the independent school's 10th anniversary. A clambake in August will climax the summer project activities.

PROUD PARENTS — Deciding which game to let their daughters try next are Mrs. J. W. Eastman with Sarah, 5, and Wood M. Geist holding Elizabeth, 2, all from Avon Township.

States Righters Quietly Push Constitution Amendments

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Chief Justice Earl Warren has called for national debate on three proposed constitutional amendments that have quietly slipped through 16 state legislatures. One of these amendments would change the way of amending the Constitution. In this second of three articles, Associated Press writer Stanley Meisler analyzes this amendment and looks at all three proposals.)

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — States righters quietly trying to push three new amendments into the U.S. Constitution have a long, rocky, weaving road ahead.

Without fanfare, the legislatures of 16 states have approved resolutions asking Congress to call a national convention to consider these amendments aimed at curtailing the powers of the federal government.

But the states vary in their likes and dislikes, and not all 16 have voted for the same amendments. Only one amendment so far has attracted as many as 12 states. The states righters need at least 34 states to take a long first step on the rough constitutional road.

The road would be eased in the future if one of these amendments does become a part of the Constitution some day. This amendment would change the way of amending the Constitution.

But the supporters of the amendments now have to follow one of the routes outlined in the present Constitution. All these routes are rough, and the states righters have picked the roughest. It is so rough, in fact, that it never has been followed successfully before.

PROPOSED CHANGES

The three proposed amendments would:

1. Make it possible for the states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments completely on their own.

2. Wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in the state legislatures.

3. Make it possible for certain decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court to be overruled by a states controlled "Court of the Union."

Of late, these amendments have provoked a chorus of opposition that includes President Kennedy, Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan and senators from both the Democratic and Republican parties. Chief Justice Earl Warren has called for a great national debate.

But, so far, there has not been a great debate. Most advocates of these amendments have failed to stand up and reply to the critics. Instead, they have continued their quiet drive to push the amendments through the legislatures.

By the route used, states righters first must line up 34 states—two-thirds of the 50—for each of the amendments.

If they succeed, Congress, under the Constitution, would have to call a convention to consider the amendments. Since this never has been done before, legal experts are not sure what power the convention would have. Most likely, it either would approve or reject the amendments. But some experts think it might become a general constitutional convention considering a wide range of alternatives as well as the three proposed amendments.

In any case, under the Constitution, amendments approved by this convention would be submitted to the states for ratification. If 38 state legislatures or state conventions—three-fourths of the 50—ratified the amendments, they would become part of the U.S. Constitution.

The 23 amendments now in the Constitution were approved by a less complicated method: they were proposed by a two-thirds vote in Congress and then ratified by three-fourths of the states.

States righters have not overlooked this more usual, less complicated way. The proposed amendments have been introduced in the House and Senate. But so far they have gotten nowhere, and supporters of the amendments have their hopes pinned on the state legislatures.

Now let us see how much simpler all this would be if the states righters had their way and their first proposed amendment was accepted.

Under it, a constitutional amendment could be approved if proposed by two-thirds of the state legislatures and then ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures. The whole idea of a national convention would be eliminated, though Congress, by a two-thirds vote, still would have the power to propose amendments.

Those who favor this amendment see it simply as an easier way for the states to get their point of view into the U.S. Constitution.

But the opponents disapprove of the amendment because it leaves open the possibility of an amendment becoming part of the U.S. Constitution without any national deliberation—either by Congress by a national convention.

Prof. Charles L. Black Jr. of Yale University's law school says that the amendment also "would make it possible for a proportion of the American people no greater than that which supported (Alfred) Landon in 1936 to impose on the rest of the country any alteration whatever in the Constitution."

In addition, Black figures that under this amendment the Constitution could be changed "if about 15 per cent of the American people were represented by legislators who desired that result."

The professor bases this figure on the fact that the 38 least populated states—enough to propose and ratify—have only 40 per cent of the American population and that, even in these states, the legislatures are weighted in favor of the less populated rural areas.

The board of governors of the American Bar Association has voted its disapproval of this proposed amendment because it believes "that the Congress should not be excluded from the constitutional amending process."

But Brevard Crihfield, executive director of the Council of State Governments, replies that Congress would not be excluded because it still could propose amendments by a two-thirds vote.

This amendment has won the approval so far of 11 states: Arkansas, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming.

South Carolina will make the total 12 as soon as it completes some minor details on the resolution. Nebraska would have made it 13 but Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison vetoed the proposal after the legislature voted for it.

Pravda Slams Red Republic

Hits Funds for Moseues

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda, the Communist party organ has protested that too many mosques are being built with public money in the Asiatic republic of Tadzhikistan. The paper denounced the Commuhist party organization there for failing to break the power of Islam.

A report from the mountainous republic, bordering India and Afghanistan, said more than 100 mosques had been opened there in the past two years, while badly needed repairs to local schools were stalled.

Pravda told a story of a Mohammedan mullah in Tadzhikistan who was called in to heal the ailing wife of a member of the Young Communist League. The mullah spent some time alone with the wife, then told the husband the only solution to her problem was divorce.

After the divorce the mullah married her—as his third wife.

Pravda called the mullah "a swindler and an idler."

The story was written to indicate one of the jobs facing the ideological session June 19 of the party central committee in Moscow.

CAUGHT IN SQUEEZE

It shows that the party is caught in a squeeze. To make friends with Middle East states, the Soviet Union must prove there is free choice of religion. To this end it recently published a report of the joyous journey of a group of Mohammedans to Mecca.

Hotel Contains 50 Nonpaying 'Guests'

NEW YORK (UPI) — There are 50 permanent "guests" at the Edison Hotel who haven't left the hostelry in 20 years and haven't paid a cent of rent.

They are suitcases belonging to out-of-town businessmen who stay at the hotel regularly.

When the men check in, they call for their suitcases, which contain suits, shirts, socks, underwear, shaving equipment and toothbrush. After their stay, they leave instructions to have their laundry done, suits cleaned and pressed and put back in the suitcases, which are stored free of charge.

'Anybody Can Work With Words!'

Ustinov Says Composers More Versatile Than He

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — "They say I am versatile," says Peter Ustinov, a skeptic on the matter. "It's an interesting theory, but is it true?

(The reason they say he is versatile is that Ustinov is a successful playwright, actor, director, novelist, essayist, short story writer, raconteur, producer and cartoonist.)

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

"It seems to me that the truly versatile people are composers. I work with words. They with notes. Anybody can write a letter, therefore anybody can work with words, but you have to study to know how to work with notes.

"I act and direct, sometimes, the things I write. What is so versatile about that? A composer can play several instruments, usually, and conduct his works if he cares to, and no one speaks of his extreme versatility.

"Yet when you do the same things with words, which intrinsically are more available than notes, they say 'how does he manage to do so much?'"

Peter Ustinov hummmmmphs. He has a superb physique and face, rotund and bearded, for deep-seated hummmmmphing.

"I suppose they think you're doing a great deal when you work in several related fields because this is the area of specialization, of each-to-his own-union. I know, because I belong to about 15 unions all over the world.

"I'm constantly on strike somewhere. Without ever hearing about it, thank heaven."

At the moment, though he may be striking for higher salaries with the TV Actors' Guild in France, Ustinov is concerned only with his life in New York where he is directing and starring in his 15th play, "Photo Finish," an award-winning hit.

It is a comedy in which four actors, including he, play a single character at the ages of 20, 40, 60 and 80.

Ustinov, now 42, plays the octogenarian — such a droll, delicious octogenarian that audiences in youth-happy America cannot help being uplifted at beholding age and infirmities made appealing.

Asked his opinion on what are the best, and most difficult, ages a man must go through in his lifetime, he claimed, "I haven't any.

"I only know that the old cliche about your schooldays being the best years of your life is nonsense. School is a good thing to get out of. I was very glad to be 21, at least.

"I know also that life seems to be much longer at the age of 42 than at 22. One is no longer in a hurry.

"Everything has more value. Time, in fact, is very much like the truth. You can stretch it out — and make it more entertaining.

"For instance, I remember when I was in the army. I'd purposely wake myself at 5:45, so I'd have a quarter of an hour before bugle call at six.

"Ah, how I stretched out that time, and savored it, every moment of it. I made it a whole day of pleasure, that 15 minutes, and that way I fortified myself against the boredom to come."

A man over 40, likewise, being in no hurry, can stretch time to its ultimate entertainment value.

Ustinov's idea of stretching time: besides putting in eight "Photo Finish" performances a week, he's finishing his fourth novel and preparing his 16th play for production in England soon.

Of course, work isn't Peter's entire life. He also has a wife and three children and a hobby. Unfortunately, he cannot pursue his hobby in New York.

He can only indulge it when he is living in a house by the sea, because his hobby requires salt water as buoyant as his humor.

For recreation, he explained, "I float."

One of the most prolific authors in the world is Erle Stanley Gardner, American mystery writer. He has been known to dictate 10,000 words daily consistently and work on seven novels at once.

Pain From Migraine Causes Several Ills

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

A New York reader asks whether I know anything about "painless headache," that is, the migraine equivalent in which there is disturbance of perceptions, but no ache or pain.

This is easy. The answer is no.

But the query reminds me that I have been subject to fortification spectrum on the left side of my field of vision, which lasts about 15 minutes, and no other manifestation of migraine.

I have never in my life had a headache. My mother had severe migraine attacks every week or so for many years, when I was a boy. No other trouble of the kind in the family.

The typical migraine attack commonly begins with fortification spectra, followed within 15 or 20 minutes by headache so severe that it brings on nausea and vomiting. Hence the common term, sick headache.

But the headache pain causes the vomiting, not vice versa. If the vomiting is repeated some bile will be seen, provided the liver and bile apparatus are normal.

It is a mistake to call such vomiting a "bilious" attack, for the duodenum, just beyond the stomach, normally contains some bile, and so if vomiting is repeated after the stomach is emptied, some bile will be forced back into the stomach.

So it is wrong to imagine migraine (periodic sick headache) is due either to upset stomach or to "biliousness" or liver trouble. As nearly as we can tell at present, migraine is the sensory equivalent of the motor neurosis (functional nervous disorder without discoverable physical or organic cause) epilepsy.

Thus in certain families one member will have migraine, another epilepsy and perhaps another narcotic addiction (alcohol, barbiturate, tranquilizer, etc.).

CALCIUM HELPS

In Little Lesson 26, "The Calcium Shortage," for which send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I say an adequate daily ration of calcium, of course with enough vitamin D to insure utilization of the calcium, continued faithfully for several months, eventually corrects or cures such painful maladies as migraine and other types of recurring headache, adult tetany (painful nocturnal cramps), chronic rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia or "neuritis" and bursitis.

This may seem absurd to the average doctor, but that's because the average doctor is 30 years behind the newer knowledge of nutrition.

I believe it is because of their ignorance of the physiological functions of calcium that the latter-day specialists and "clinic" racketeers call me "Old Calcium Brady."

We need not enumerate these functions here, but one of the functions deserves emphasis: calcium, in the healthy individual, regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres.

So I'm not just batting the breeze when I say this function of calcium warrants regarding it as a slow or mild analgesic (lessens ache or pain) and a mild sedative or tranquilizer.

Yet we'll probably continue to consume prodigious quantities of aspirin, acetphenetidin (phenacetin), phenylacetamide (acetanilid) and other dangerous drugs that kill ache or pain, because doctors and folks are ignorant of nutrition.

In the past 10 years a small number of doctors and folks have learned that an adequate daily ration of calcium is required to maintain health and functional efficiency, but not all of them have learned that an adequate daily intake of vitamin D is necessary to insure absorption and utilization of the calcium.

And thanks largely to the frequent warnings doctors ignorant of nutrition utter against "too much calcium" (they never tell how much is too much), probably most Americans suffer one or another manifestation of calcium deficiency because they subsist on a low-calcium diet.

Milk is the best food source of calcium. It is fair to say that any many, woman or child who consumes less than a pint of milk (whole milk, skim milk, separator milk, evaporated milk or dried milk equivalent) will probably suffer from one or more manifestations of calcium deficiency.

In "The Calcium Shortage," I mention only a few of the familiar manifestations of calcium deficiency. There are scores of common complaints which are manifestations of calcium deficiency — complaints for which people take all sorts of dope, such as aspirin, phenacetin, acetanilid, barbiturates, tranquilizers and the halfwit's favorite narcotic, alcohol.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Fish-Story Teller Sells Tale to Judge

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Because the judge believed his fish story, Claude N. Thomas was found innocent on a charge of fishing in Carter Lake without a permit.

Fred R. Salak, a conservation officer, said he saw Thomas with a fishing pole in his hand.

The defendant admitted holding the pole but said he was doing so only to help out a young boy whose lines had snagged on a rock.

He had been supervising a group of youths but claimed he had no intention of fishing himself.

Pearson, U.S. Envoy Call Letter Forgery

OTTAWA (AP) — A purported pre-election letter pledging U.S. Ambassador W. Walton Butterworth's support for Lester B. Pearson is a forgery, says the prime minister and the ambassador.

Gordon Churchill, former defense and veterans minister in the Conservative government of John G. Diefenbaker, charged in the House of Commons Monday that Butterworth wrote Pearson prior to last April's election that "You can always count on our support."

Churchill said the ambassador told the Liberal leader it would be "quite evident" to Canadian voters that the Conservative government was "narrow-minded and unfit to govern."

Butterworth issued a statement denying he ever wrote such a letter and, like Pearson, called it a forgery.

Sailors Whiled Away Hours With Their Scrimshaw Art

WASHINGTON — When they weren't catching whales or fighting gales, whaling crews carved scrimshaw.

The seamen whiled away the tedious hours of three years before the mast by engraving whale teeth and turning other bits of ivory into ornate, but useful, gadgets.

The art still has many admirers. President Kennedy received an etched whale's tooth for Christmas 1962.

On some old-time whalers, everyone from captain to cabin boy had-a scrimshaw project under way, the National Geographic Society says.

The log of the brig "By Chance" of Dartmouth, Mass., for May 20, 1826, reads: "All these 24 hours small breezes and thick foggy weather made no sail. So ends this day, all hands employed Scrimshonting."

IGNORED WHALES

At the height of the scrimshaw craze, some lookouts were known to have committed the cardinal sin of sighting but not reporting whales.

A few captains forbade scrimshaw altogether. Others restricted it to the forecastle, confiscating any carvings brought on deck.

But most skippers agreed with William Reynard, master of the "Abigail" of New Bedford, Mass., who wrote in his 1836 logbook: "An idle head is the workshop of the Devil. Employed scrimshon."

Ivory teeth from sperm whales were prime raw material. Sailors polished the surface to a sheen with files, rough sharkskin and pumice.

Using a jackknife or needle, the sailor-artisans scratched painstaking designs on the teeth.

"Some of them," wrote Herman Melville, "have boxes of dentistical implements especially intended for the skrimshandering business."

POPULAR MOTIFS

The whale's tooth that Mrs. Kennedy gave the President bore a patriotic design, too — the Presidential Seal.

Some of the most elaborate pictures were copied or traced from books and magazines. Godey's Lady's Book was a favorite, and many a gnarled harpooner laboriously copied fashion plates.

Scrimshaw artists reserved their most heartfelt efforts for corset stays. Busks made for wives and sweethearts were decorated with hearts, flowers, cupid's arrows, and tender verses.

One whaler etched these sentiments onto whalebone: "In many a gale,—Has been the Whale,— In which this bone did rest.—His time is past,—His bone at last— Must now support thy brest."

Ivory and whalebone were transformed into baskets, bird cages, intricate reels for yarn, cane handles, door knobs, collar buttons, napkin rings, and a miscellany of other things.

The Virgin Islands formerly were known as the Danish West Indies. The United States bought them from Denmark in 1917 for $25 million.

'Photos Offer Best Sub Clue'

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — A naval court of inquiry that has taken 1,600 pages of testimony says new photographs of the ocean floor offer the best clues to the disappearance of the nuclear submarine Thresher.

The photographs and experts' interpretations of them were studied yesterday by the court of inquiry as it prepared to formulate conclusions and recommendations in connection with the sea disaster in which 129 men died.

The pictures were taken last weekend some 220 miles east of Boston and revealed bits of paper, small wires, and metallic objects lying on the bottom of the ocean.

The Navy said the debris could not be verified as wreckage of the Thresher, although it did furnish the best clue to the submarine's disappearance.

The photos were taken from the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution ship, Atlantis II, by cameras lowered to about 15 feet from the ocean floor 8,400 feet below the surface.

The cameras covered an area 200 yards wide and 700 yards long about four miles northwest of where an oil slick was sighted after the sinking.

Andrews is in charge of the search which has been under way since the sinking April 10.

'No Warning on Thresher'

Congress Is Told Navy Sure Craft Was OK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Before the submarine Thresher was lost the Navy "had no indications whatsoever that there was anything at all which indicated less than complete seaworthiness of the ship," Congress has been told.

This language was used by Vice Adm. C. D. Griffin, deputy chief of naval operations, under questioning April 22 by a House Appropriations subcommittee. The transcript was made public today.

The Thresher, with 129 men aboard, disappered in the North Atlantic April 10.

Rear Adm. R. K. James, chief of the bureau of ships, said a published report that the Thresher had failed a diving test had not made clear that the trouble was with an instrument installed for the test, and not with the submarine itself.

He said the craft was taken on test dives after being fitted with special strain gages and recording devices to measure the effects of pressure. During the dive, he said, "We began to note a suspicious performance of the material as recorded by" a new instrument which had been installed for the tests. He said the test was called off and the submarine surfaced, then:

"We took the new instrument ashore and opened it up and found an electrical ground that had grounded out the readings of some 50 of these strain gages . . . we replaced the instrument with a reliable one . . . and had no problems whatsoever with the stress and strain."

Walled Lake Scrambles to Press Prep Golf Title

Vikings Take Second Crown in Four Years

Oak Park, Northville Golfers Gain Honors as Medalists

Pontiac Press Photos

MEDALISTS—Medal honors in the 12th Press Invitational Golf Tournament went to Dave Zielinski of Northville in class B with a 78 and Mark Eason of Oak Park in class A with a 75. Eason had the best nine hole score of the day, a 35 on the front nine.

Walled Lake overcame a 7 stroke deficit to win the 12th annual Pontiac Press Invitational Prep Golf Tournament held yesterday at Pontiac Country Club.

The Vikings, winners of the area class A regionals, almost appeared out of the picture at mid-point of the tournament with Northville leading with 203, four strokes ahead of Rochester and Royal Oak Dondero.

When the final nines were reported, Walled Lake came in with a 407 total but Rochester and Oak Park were still out and with a good chance taking the lead. Northville was pushed out of the picture and the Mustangs finished 5th in the overall field although they received the B-C trophy.

The big surprise of the tournament was Oak Park. The Redskins, winners of only two dual matches this season, provided the excitment with the chance to tie resting on the shoulders of 16-year old Mark Eason.

Easton, who toured the back nine in the morning in 40 strokes, was three under par coming up the 9th fairway. He needed only a par to give Oak Park the tie.

His chip shot went 25 feet past the hole to the top of the green and he three putted to finish with a 35 for the nine and 75 for the round. This made him class A medalist for the tournament.

Rochester made its strongest bid for the title as Dave Bouwens and Tom Mitzelfelt came in with 78's. Chuck Lepley with a 38 on the front nine, took an eight on 14 and added a 43 for an 81 total.

Four of Walled Lake's team toured the back nine in the morning and at mid point the Vikings were at 210, seven strokes behind Northville.

Brian Keen, Veit Pagel and Jerry MacCormick and Tom Green then shifted to the front nine in the afternoon and aided the 3rd hole, the Vikings clinched the title.

In the feature coaches' 9-hole tourney, Bill Willson of Pontiac Northern fired a 36 for low gross honors. For low net, John Coleman of Kettering and Dave Van Avery each had 35 in the handicap event and in a sudden death playoff Van Avery took the honors.

22 State Golfers Make Open Trials

Twenty two Michigan golfers qualified in U.S. Open local trials yesterday at three different sites.

At Detroit's Western Golf Club, 18 qualifiers including five amateurs led by Bud Stevens took the step up the ladder to the Sectional Qualifying which will be held at Detroit Golf Club, June 11th.

At Grand Rapids, John Barnum, 51, pro at Blythfield Country Club, led three qualifiers with a sizzling, 67-68—135 at Kent Country Club. Chuck Matlack shot a 142 and Phil Weichman a 143 to win the other two spots.

Among the qualifiers at South Bend, Indiana, was Bob Evans of Dowagiac, who fired a 77-77—154.

Missing from the list of qualifiers was veteran Horton Smith who decided not to attempt the grind. Also missing was Pontiac's Gene Bone, who will attempt to qualify in a special round with golfers who were competing in the Memphis over the weekend.

The final rounds of the Memphis tournament were held yesterday and prevented Bone from coming to Detroit to qualify.

Stevens, who is the number one golfer listed by the Golf Association of Michigan put together rounds of 76-72—148.

Among the area golfers who made the qualifying list are Jerry Prieskorn of Pine Lake with 76-74—150; Bob Gajda of Forest Lake, 76-74—150; Bob Nodus, Bloomfield Hills, 78-74—152; Paul VanLoozen, Edgewood, 77-76—153; John Chester, Birmingham, 77-77—154 and Tommy Cosmos of Oakland Hills, 78-76—154.

Only one golfer broke par at the Detroit course. Howard Brown of Saginaw did by one stroke in the morning round when he fired a 71. He added a 78 in the afternoon for a 149 total.

Runerup tie with Brown was Rudy Horvath who shot a 77 in the morning and came back with a 72 in the afternoon.

Horvath, 40, has played in seven Opens while Brown, 28, is after his first berth in the USGA classic.

The amateurs along with Stevens were Tom Draper of Birmingham, Tom Grace of Detroit, Tom Pendlebury of Ann Arbor and Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile.

A total of 500 golfers will go into sectional play around the country with an expected 150 moving into the USGA field to be played at The Country Club of Brookline, Mass., June 20-22.

Belated Wedding Present Won by Lema for Bride

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I didn't think I had a chance," said Tony Lema after he won the $50,000 Memphis Open Golf tournament Monday as a belated wedding present for his recent bride.

The lanky San Leandro, Calif., veteran pocketed $9,000 after winning in a sudden death playoff with Tommy Aaron of Gainesville, Ga., who earned $4,600.

The victory put Lema in second place in total winnings this year behind Jack Nicklaus who won $1,400 in this tournament for 11th place.

Lema won on the first hole of the playoff with a par four to Aaron's bogey. The two had ended the regulation 72 holes deadlocked at 10-under-par 270.

With Aaron leading by two strokes after 16 holes, Lema tied it up with two straight birdies. The first came when a tee shot fell near the pin on the par three 17th. The clincher followed when he reached the green of the 500-yard 18th in two strokes.

Both sprayed their tee shots on the playoff hole. Lema's second shot hit the fringe of the green and he was down in two. Aaron's also hit the fringe but his next one went over the green into a sand trap.

4TH PLAYOFF

The playoff was the fourth in the tournament's six years. Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., won last year in a playoff with South Africa's Gary Player and Gene Littler of Rancho Bernardo, Calif.

It was the first tournament victory for Lema since the Mobile Open last November and the third official win of his five years on the Tour.

"I don't think I've ever won a playoff, anywhere," was Aaron's comment. Lema and Aaron entered the final round deadlocked for second place at 202. They each scored 68's on the last 18 holes. Lema's card was 67-67-68-68. Aaron's was 69-67-66-68.

The double round Monday was forced by heavy rains which cancelled play Saturday and Sunday.

Wills Can't Toe LA Line

By The Associated Press

Maury Wills had a great fall, and all the team's medical men have failed to put Maury together again.

That was the problem plaguing the Los Angeles Dodgers today as they faced the indefinite loss of the base-stealing whiz whose bad toe is beginning to cause the club as much concern as did last year's ailment to Sandy Koufax' finger.

While the Dodgers prepared to renew their race for the National League pennant after Monday's open date for all clubs, Wills was undergoing X-ray treatments at a Los Angeles hospital, and facing possible surgery.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, Dodgers' team physician, said Monday that Wills is suffering from calcification of the joint of the second toe on the left foot. He said if the toe does not respond to treatment Wills might have to undergo an operation that would sideline him for three weeks or more.

EXAM SCHEDULED

"I will examine him Wednesday and should be able to tell by that time just about how long he may be out of the line-up," said Dr. Kerlan.

He had no doubts when he had his great fall on opening day. Sliding into the plate in a game against the Chicago Cubs, he wrenched his ankle. He missed a few games, then came back. Soon after the calcification problem set in, causing darting shafts of pain that inhibited his running.

So far, Wills has missed 13 games. He has hit only .252 and stolen 11 bases. At this stage last year, Wills had stolen 23 bases and was on his way to the Most Valuable Player award.

While the Dodgers were worrying about Wills becoming a Koufax, the Cleveland Indians had their worst fears about catcher Johnny Romano confirmed. Examination showed Romano broke the little finger on his throwing hand in Sunday's doubleheader with Baltimore.

WAY TO VICTORY — Tony Lema, drives from the first tee in a sudden death playoff with Tommy Aaron, to win the $50,000 Memphis Open Golf tournament yesterday. Aaron bogied the hole and Lema took a par to win the playoff and $9,000 first prize. Both golfers finished the 72 holes at 270.

She Skirt(ed) Net Foe With Strategic Attire

The shocked Miss Lee hit her return out and missed the service break.

The blushing Miss Greenwood picked up her skirt, ran to the dressing room, regained her composure and attire, and went on to win 2-6, 7-5, 6-4.

"I wouldn't have won but for that strip tease," she said.

Spencer Edges Lakeland, 9-8

Spencer Floor Covering scored five runs in a wild seventh inning rally last night to defeat Lakeland Pharmacy 9-8 and tie the loser for first place 5-1 in the Waterford Class B softball League.

The second game, in Class C, between Lakeland Pharmacy and A & W was rained out in the second inning with the score 1-1.

Spencer used three hits and three Lakeland errors in the big inning. Ed McNamara's sacrifice fly drove in the tying run and when the throw from the outfield went wild the runner from second headed home.

* * *

Skippers 'Hooked' by Township Foe

BY DON VOGEL

For over an hour and a half yesterday, Kettering's Earl Hook walked the 40 yards between the high jump and pole vault pits almost unnoticed.

But during the last half hour of Kettering's track meet with township rival Waterford at Wisner Field all eyes were on the senior athlete.

He didn't disappoint his teammates or the Kettering fans.

Hook placed second in the high jump to Waterford's Ron Liles and won the pole vault to collect eight points. This was enough to earn Kettering a 58-51 victory over the Skippers. It was Kettering's initial track win over Waterford.

Although Hook, Liles and pole vaulter Mike Alsup of the Skippers held the limelight for 30 minutes after all other events were completed, there were several other heroes for both teams.

George Irwin of Waterford scored 15 of his team's points by winning the shot put and both hurdles. Orville Mullins was a double winner for Kettering, placing first — as expected — in the 100 and 220.

Len McPherson placed a surprisingly strong second to teammate Mark Pankner in the Mile to give the Captains three important points. Kettering's John Popovich led all the way to edge Waterford's Jim Mercer by two strides in the 880.

SKIPPERS AHEAD

The Captains trailed 39-24 midway in the meet but placed 1-2 in the 220 and mile to cut the deficit to 41-40 going into the two relays.

Mel atterson opened a 20-yard lead on the second leg (440) of the mile relay and the Captains coasted home to take a 45-41 advantage.

Chuck and Jim Haviland, running the middle 220s of the 880, pushed Kettering well in front and Mullins finished the triumph. This put Kettering ahead 50-41 with only a pair of seconds by Hook needed to clinch the meet.

Those participants and fans who followed the running score knew the Skippers were done when Hook opposed only one Waterford high jumper and broad jumper. He had clinched at least a second in each event.

The meet, switched from Waterford's track at the last minute, was rather anti-climactic after the outstanding state Class A meet Saturday.

Mullins, who placed third in the 100 Saturday, was never pressed in either of his specialties and sped across the finish line in 10.35 seconds for the century and 23.3 for the 220.

Popovich's duel with Mercer was the best race. The Kettering half-miler stepped out in front at the gun and never relinquished the lead. Mercer never trailed by more than five yards. The winning time was 2:00.3.

Chuck Cole, Waterford's fine hurler, made only a token appearance in the broad jump and later left the field obviously suffering the affects of an illness.

Irwin, a stocky senior who won the shot with a toss of 52 feet, led a Waterford sweep in both hurdles. This 18-0 margin helped stake the Skippers to their early lead.

Pontiac Central Favored in County Track Meet

It will be Pontiac Central against the field Saturday in the fourth annual All Oakland County Track Meet.

The Chiefs are defending champions and will be favored to cop their third county title in four years when the preliminaries and field events get under way at Ferndale High's oval at 4 p.m. The finals will begin at 8 p.m.

Major strategy among the coaches will be to spread the points so that PCH won't have a commanding lead going into the two relay races.

Seaholm will be favored in the mile relay, and Bloomfield Hills in the 880. The Barons finished second to PCH in 1962.

PCH's Charley Humphrey ran 14.5 while placing fourth in the state Class A meet's high hurdles and is favored to win the county in this event. Jesse Hodge should also place for the Chiefs.

Hazel Park's Das Campbell has run the low hurdles in 19.2.

FLEET CAPTAIN

Orville Mullins of Kettering is the favorite in the 100 after being clocked in 9.9 this spring. But the speedy senior will be hard pressed to out-distance PCH's Ted Hindman in the 220.

Dave Kennedy of Seaholm tops the 880 field. He will have stiff competition from Farmington's Dennis Hunt, Bloomfield's Bob Richard's, Kettering's John Popovich, Walled Lake's Pat Godfrey and Waterford's Jim Mercer.

Hunt and Richards may skip this event to seek honors in the mile. Tom Hoopengardner of Hills will go in the event Richards bypasses. Harold Faught of Milford is a good distance runner.

John Stewart of PCH leads an all-star list of pole vaulters. Stewart has cleared 13-6 while Berkley's Bill Barrett, Walled Lake's Steve Pitcher and Vern Hill of Hazel Park have been well over 13 feet.

Paul Seeley of Ferndale and Milford's Dan Mullins have been flirting with 13 and may make it Saturday.

Hazel Park's Curtis Ring leads the broad jumpers. John Harris of Pontiac Northern and PCH's Ernie Pickett will be contenders.

Pontiac Central's Gerald Henry and Ring will vie in the high jump.

Roger Stewart of Bloomfield Hills will be favored in the 440.

Central Posts Second Net Win Over Northern

Pontiac Central completed its two-meet sweep of Pontiac Northern in tennis yesterday with a 4-1 victory.

Dale Andrews and Jerry Bunce, who combined to win the regional doubles crown for PCH, posted singles victories, but did not compete in doubles against PNH.

The Huskies, who surprised by scoring 5½ points in the regional and escaping the cellar, finished their season with a 3-9 dual meet record.

Singles

Andrews (C) def. Barry Buffington 6-0, 6-2; Bunce (C) def. Bill Basinger 7-5, 6-2; Kovach (N) def. Smith 6-3, 6-4.

Doubles

Tom Hunt-Bill Mair (C) def. Dwight Cor-Ray Hinsen 6-4, 7-5; Ralph Koprince-Dick Crawford (C) def. Dayne Thomas-Larry Howard 2-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Central Draws Northville 9 in First Game

Kimball Co-Favorite Along With Mustangs in Pontiac Meet

The power of Royal Oak Kimball against the pitching of Northville appears the outlook for the upper bracket of the highschool invitational baseball tournament beginning Thursday afternoon.

The three-day, Parks and Recreation Department-Pontiac Press affair will pit eight of the better prep nines in the county in an eight-game elimination for the tournament trophy.

The first pitch is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Thursday on the Jaycee No. 2 field between Northville and Pontiac Central. Kimball will tangle with Rochester at 3:30 p.m.

The lower bracket teams will follow Clarkston meeting Kettering at 55:30 p.m. and a 7:30 p.m. arclight contest will match Pontiac Northern against Avondale.

A close look at the upper division teams indicates that unbeaten Kimball and defending champion Northville should move into a semifinal showdown Friday with a minimum of difficulty based on past records.

SIX RETURNEES

The Mustangs have six members of their title team back and have built a 10-4 log this season. Pontiac Central went nine games before win No. 1 came along and since that triumph has dropped three more games.

The Chiefs are led by centerfielder Dick Bushey at the plate but have not demonstrated enough all-around stick work or glove talent to pose a consistent threat. Bob Farms, Chuck Owen and Paul Oliver have all shown promise at times on the mound, only to have no scoring cushion to aid their efforts.

Strong hitting by Jim Duday, Joe Hay and Tom Swiss has aided the Northville cause this season. The top pitching efforts have been contributed by Swiss and Eric Petersn, Jeff Crawford is a returning outfielder who attracted some support for the most valuable player award in last year's tourney.

Kimball has power in Gary Weckerly and Dan Sherban, both with five home runs and high averages. Sherban is a left-handed hitting catcher who has attracted major league scouts' eyes. Weckerly is a right-handed hitting centerfielder with all the tools for college stardom, it is reported.

Steve Wilson, a pitcher-outfielder, and John Pikur, the third baseman, are co-captains and have made important contributions in the Knights' 12-0 record.

Rochester began the season strong and then ran into a slump after a 20-3 beating at Romeo. The Falcons depend heavily on Carl Stefanski and Mike Brannick to produce the hitting punch.

Steve Kendrick and Mike Konley are junior right-handed hurlers who bear the brunt of the pitching. All five Rochester victories (in 11 starts) have come in the Tri-County League.

The semifinal doubleheader is slated to begin at 5:30 p.m. Friday. The third-fourth place consolation game and the championship contest are scheduled for a similar twin bill Saturday.

Local 594 Wins 4-0 on Abel's Pitching

Local 594 rode the strong pitching of Dave Abel to a 4-0 win over the Oxford Merchants last night in the Class A baseball opener for both teams.

Abel whiffed nine Merchants and permitted only three hits to gain the victory, although he had help from Ron Woodhull in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The union team scored the only run it needed on a walk and two-out error in the opening inning. Ray Heaton's triple brought another run in during the fourth frame.

Kim Conroy plated the final two tallies with a fifth-inning single. The winners actually exploded for six more huns in the seventh inning and led 10-0 but the game was halted before the Merchants could come to bat.

Bill Sommerville's triple in the first inning was the only worry for Abel until the sixth when Sommerville again reached third, this time on an error and fielder's choice.

Two more Class A teams are scheduled to open their season tonight at 8 o'clock on the Jaycee No. 2 diamond. GM Collision will be host to Talbott Lumber in the contest.

Bloomfield Hills, Romeo Win Titles

Romeo, Bloomfield Hills and Orchard Lake St. Mary found Monday the nicest day of the baseball season with key wins.

The Bulldogs clinched the Tri-County championship, 6-0, over Rochester; Bloomfield Hills took the Wayne-Oakland championship, 3-0, over Brighton; and OLSM grabbed a share of the Northwest Catholic League crown by defeating Royal Oak St. Mary, 5-3.

Other games saw Cranbrook edge Pontiac Central, 5-3; Royal Oak Kimball remained spotless with an 11-7 verdict over Ferndale; Clawson scored an important 4-3 triumph at Fitzgerald; Berkley topped Farmington, 3-2, in nine innings; and Milford surprised Clarkston, 5-0.

GIFT RUNS

Romeo scored four unearned runs at Rochester and Mark Johnson hurled a four-hit shutout, including 10 strikeouts. Butch Peraino and Keith Simunic both had two runs batted in for the winners.

Trustv. John Augusten hurled his 12th consecutive victory to wrap up the W-O title for Bloomfield Hills. He yielded only a third-inning single to opposing hurler Joe Kearns, and struck-out 13 to boost his average per game well above 10.

Team captain Mike Griffin hit a long home run in the winners' two-run fifth. It was the Barons' first W-O crown in baseball.

Orchard Lake tied RO St. Mary for the Catholic league title and won the right to meet Ann Arbor St. Thomas in the parochial playoffs tomorrow. Frank Rompel provided the pitching and Paul Herman rapped out two doubles and a single.

Herman accounted for the final four runs for the winners. Rompel whiffed seven and allowed four hits to best Don Wells.

Kimball stayed unbeaten by breaking a 7-7 tie with Ferndale with a four-run spurt in the sixth inning. Dan Sherban had a home run in the winning rally and three rbi's in the game.

John Pikur rapped out four hits and had two rbi's. It was the Knights' 12th win.

Clawson took a 4-0 lead at Fitzgerald and then held on for a one-run victory. The Trojans thus tied Avondale atop the Oakland A. standings at 7-3.

JOHN AUGUSTEN

Tom Robson pitched the win and also drove in the winners' first two runs. Clawson was aided by 10 walks, and managed only four hits in the game.

Berkley finished undefeated in the Inter-Lakes League by nipping Farmington on Jerry Miasko's two-run triple in the ninth inning. Dick Kakkuri pushed his mark to 5-0 with four strong innings in relief. Dan McKelvey fanned 11 for the losers.

Duke Peterson stopped Clarkston on five hits as Milford won its 14th game of the season. The Redskins tallied five times in the first inning aided by four Clarkston errors and two-run single by Ed Philip.

Cranbrook tallied four unearned runs at the expense of PCH. Dave Schultz drove in two runs with sacrifice flies for the winners. John Billesdon hurled the victory. Glenn Sutt, Randy Stiles and Dick Bushey all had two hits for Central, which outhit the Cranes, 7-4.

Former Coach Is Dead

SEATTLE (AP) — Robert S. Butler, 62, one-time head crew coach at the U.S. Naval Academy, died of a heart attack here Sunday.

Butler went to Annapolis in 1926 after serving as freshman crew coach at the University of Washington. In 1929 he moved to Yale as an engineering instructor.

Dave Jolly Dead at 38

STATESVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Former major leaguer David Jolly, who was a relief pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves for five years, died at a Veterans Hospital in Durham Monday.

New Tahoe Miss in Design Test on Home Water

STATELINE, Nev. (AP)—William Harrah, northern Nevada gambling casino operator, launched the new Tahoe Miss, the first unlimited hydroplane racing craft built in Nevada, on Lake Tahoe Monday.

Volpi said the craft handled well, particularly in turns.

Ted Jones of Seattle, the designer, said Tahoe Miss has new type devices on which the boat skims when planing at high speeds. They are designed to give the craft better turning capabilities. Jones said he was pleased with the first run.

An estimated 1,000 persons watched the launching and first trial that also marked the retirement of the former Tahoe Miss, winner of the national unlimited hydroplane championship in 1959 under the name Maverick.

'Second Indy' on W. Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Plans to build a $17 million auto racing speedway near Ontario, Calif., patterned after the Indianapolis Speedway, were formulated Monday by a group headed by Sam Hanks, director of racing at Indianapolis.

Hanks said construction is scheduled to start next spring, with the track completed in time for a 500-mile race in the fall of 1965.

The track is to be located on a 731-acre site east of Ontario, north of the San Bernardino Freeway. It is to be known as the California Motor Speedway, will seat 150,000 and have a 2½-mile racing oval.

Those identified with Hanks are Edwin W. Pauley, Raymond T. Smartis, who is president of International Raceways; A. A. Helwig, Ray L. Hommes, Charles W. Brooks, Nathan J. Logan and Lem F. Ward.

Pauley heads the group that operates the Riverside International Raceway. He also owns some of the land on which the Ontario track is to be built.

Ontario is about 30 miles east of Los Angeles.

TAKE A '63 FORD OUT ON THE ROAD!

Front-running Fords have been proving it takes total performance to win in big-league stock-car competition. A grandstand show of speed and acceleration isn't enough. It takes durability, too. Open competition is a speeded-up test of how well each part of a car does its job under all-out conditions. It's a test of how well all the parts work together. Mechanical failure forced some pretty hot performers to quit in the Riverside 500 . . . the Daytona 500 . . . Atlanta 500 . . . and the shorter Bristol 250. The important point is this: the Fords that won at Daytona were built on the same production line as the Fords you can buy today. Total performance is built right in. In competition or in the kind of driving you do every day, Ford delivers. See your Ford Dealer and sample total performance for yourself.

Riverside, Calif. A '63 Super Torque Ford crossed the finish line first in a field of 44 cars. And this 500-mile event is run over a twisting, up-and-down-hill 2.7-mile sports-car track.

Daytona, Fla. In the toughest 500-mile event of the season, Fords came in 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th. More than half the starting cars in a field of 50 never even went the distance.

Atlanta, Ga. Score another big win for Ford in open competition—the Atlanta "500." Every part of a car is tested to the limits of endurance in about 3 hours of all-out driving at Atlanta.

Bristol, Tenn. This 250-mile event on a half-mile track is one long, continuous left turn. Fords finished 1st and 2nd—another dramatic victory for total performance.

Pit Stops Key to 500 Race

Practice by Crews at Track

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Drivers were talking more about pit stops than speed today as the Indianapolis Motor Speedway was opened for a last brief practice session before the 500-mile race Thursday.

The conventional Offenhauser-powered roadsters, winners of the last 12 Memorial Day classics, have been making three or more pit stops in recent races.

Colin Chapman of London, who built the chassis of the two Lotus-Fords in the field, is planning one stop apiece for Grand Prix drivers Jimmy Clark and Dan Gurney.

Mickey Thompson of Long Beach, Calif., with two unusually light Chevrolet-powered cars in the line-up, hopes to hold veteran Duane Carter and rookie Al Miller to two stops apiece.

There is a possibility that Parnelli Jones, the qualification record holder, may try for only two stops, too. His Agajanian special is lighter than most of the other conventional Liffys.

"It all depends on tires," Jones said. "If there is too fast a pace, everybody will have to change their ideas about the number of stops.

Twenty-three of the 33 starters will ride on a new 15-inch tire developed specifically for the Lotus-Fords. Other drivers and car owners liked the wider tread and shifted to the new tires. Carter's car has tiny 12-inch wheels.

The rest of the field will run on the standard speedway tires, 18-inchers in the rear and in 16's front.

If the intricate semi-stock engines of the Lotus - Fords and Thompsons can hold up against the relatively simple Offenhausers, pit stops could be decisive Thursday.

Physical Fitness Validictorian

The Will Rogers Elementary School student is trim enough that he recently came out valedictorian of a 107-member course given by the YMCA in conjunction with the President's physical fitness program.

The six-event course lasted more than eight weeks and when it was completed, Clay earned four blue ribbons in the 11-year-olrs' division. One of these was awarded the top cumulative scorer for all four divisions.

Clay's 487 points out of a possible 600 rank him, according to Ron Rafferty course supervisor, should put him among the top five per cent in the country in his age group.

The events included pull ups, standing broad jump, rope climb, softball accuracy throw, potato race and basketball field goal accuracy. Clay led his division in the pull ups, and two accuracy throwing categories, in addition to total points.

Rick Pearson won the other three 11-year-olds' categories and was runnerup to the leader with 418 points.

DIVISION WINNERS

Other division winners included Tom Shipley, 305 points, for nine-year-olds; Russ Peary, 378 points for 10-year-olds; and Ross Pearson, 387 points for the 12-14-year-olds.

In a companion course of 19 events for girls, Sharon Hurran beat out 50 other girls with 72 points for top honors. Close behind were Karen Ricketts and Karen Cooper with 69 and 68, respectively.

The closest boys' division was the nine-year-olds where Tom Shipley nosed out Jay Hedges for high point honors by two points.

But Clay Taylor was a clear cut winner overall. And, shucks, with the famous namsakes, the Will Rogers' school invironment and President Kennedy pushing physical fitness, a fellow just has to win a few blue ribbons now and then!

9-year-olds: Tom Shipley, 305 total points, 2 first places; Jay Hedges, 303 points, 3 firsts; Pat and Mike Carle, 1 first.

G & M, Local 653 Triumph

City softball league action Monday night saw G&M Construction stop First Church of the Brethren, 4-1, and Local 653 slam Circle Inn, 14-4 .

Two runs in each of the last two innings gave G&M the win. Wildness and errors by the churchmen set up the winning tallies as there were no hits in either rally.

Local 653 scored at least three runs in each of the four innings it played with Circle Bar to coast to victory.

The first four men up hit safely for the winners, including triples by Noble Lee and Joe Wilson, and Cadle Burrell added a three-bagger later in the inning to produce a five-run spurt.

The winners had 14 hits. Bob Frasier fanned five and yielded four hits to gain the win. G&M winning pitcher was Eugene Lund who fanned eight and relinquished only three hits.

Neither game counted in the league standings.

Home Runs Decisive in Church Softball

A grand slam home run by Eugene Harget in the last inning gave First Church of God a 15-14 win over Stone Baptist yesterday in the Avondale Area Church Softball League.

In other games, Social Brethren downed Pontiac RLDS 11-4 as Darrel Duncan tripled for the winners. Cliff Branch hit a two-run homer in the seventh and final inning to give Avondale Baptist a 9-8 win over Memorial Baptist.

'Mixing' Good Time for Baron Thinclads

Bloomfield Hills' track team was all 'mixed up' yesterday but that didn't keep the Barons from posting a 75-34 nonleague victory over Oak Park.

Jack Armstrong switched from the 440 to win the 100 (10.3) and 220. Roger Stewart ran the 880 for the first time this spring and won in 2:05.

Tom Hoopengardner cut his normal distance in half, but still captured the 440 in 51.9. He also won the high jump.

"We stood still on the baton pass in the relays," said coach Don Hoff, "and it wasn't intentional." Oak Park won the mile and 880 relays.

Sadowski Pitching His Way to Majors

By The Associated Press

This may be the year Bob Sadowski proves his potential and breaks out of the International League for a spot on a major league club.

The 6-foot-2, 195-pound right-hander became the winningest pitcher in the AAA loop Monday night as the Atlanta Crackers pounded out a 7-3 victory over Richmond. Although Sadowski had been lifted for a pinch hitter, he was credited with his seventh victory against one loss.

TALK, TALK, TALK — Cassius Clay, talkative heavyweight boxer, had British writers in a dither yesterday with his chatter. Clay, who is in London to fight British champion Henry Cooper, puts up five fingers, indicating he will put Cooper away in that round in their fight, June 18th.

'Cassius the Poet' Hits London Talking

LONDON (AP) — Cassius Marcellus Clay, who needs no introduction, got a word of warning today:

Button your mouth—or a British fighter might do it for you.

The American heavyweight hit town Monday: London, taking it squarely on the chin, reeled. Today the old place was still groggily shaking its head.

He held up an open palm, five fat fingers extended.

British fans got the message.

"I am the boldest and most popular and most prettiest fighter in the world today and naturally I am going to be the champion of the world. . .

"The big fighters see me on the horizon and they tremble. . . I am too quick for Cooper. I think too fast. . . I'll ruin him. It's too bad. You shouldn't have allowed him to get into the ring with me. It'll be his last fight."

Police Chief Golf Celebrant

All the Dodgers with aces over the weekend, stand up and shout!

There are five local golfers who can do some shouting for performing the feat.

At Bald Mountain, Police Chief Joe Koren fired an 80 but on the 13th hole, a 185-yarder, he sunk the shot with a 5-iron for his first ace.

On the 17th hole on the same course, Floyd Allan of Royal Oak, scored a hole in one and finished with a 74.

At Clarkston Golf Club, Sam Klinkhammer of Pontiac, put his 7-iron shot into the cup on the 140 yard 9th hole. It was his first ace and he finished with a 41 for the nine as witnessed by Don Wurm of Lake Orion and Ed Barnes of Oxford.

Beryl Curry, a four year golfer aced the 120 yarder on No. 2 at Bonnie Brook with a 9-iron. He had 81 for the round.

It was Mike Kelly's sixth wedding anniversary and he celebrated with an ace on the 134 yard 13th hole at North Hills with a seven iron. He had 90 for the round.

Young Men Like the Idea

Retirement Loses Appeal for Older Men

By HAL BOYLE

Are you afraid of retirement?

BOYLE

The desirability of life on a pension seems to vary inversely with a man's age.

Many a young man of 22 or 23, a year or so out of college, is sure that retirement is the real boon of existence. Before he has really worked up a sweat — or perhaps found his true rut—he is ready to turn in his white collar, put on a sport shirt, and start taking it easy.

"If I had the money, I'd quit at 25—or 30 at the latest," he says. "I'd find plenty to occupy my mind. I wouldn't be bored."

The thought that bores him is going to work every day for another 40 years. He feels life has turned older men into mere plow horses—and doesn't want that to happen to him.

But to many a man of 63 or 64, the prospect of enforced retirement looms almost as a death penalty. His job that seems such a rut to younger men has become to him his only remaining valley of dream. He dreads the thought of hanging up his lunch box forever.

LONG COCOON

It is hard for him to be told that at 65 he must emerge from his long cocoon of labor and take up the freedom of a butterfly. He has long ago lost the desire to live like a butterfly. His only remaining desire is to stay on the job with his fellows until he dies.

"That's all I want to be free to do," he says. "But they won't let me. They tell me to get interested in a new hobby. What the hell does a man my age want with a new hobby? How do you get interested in something that doesn't interest you?"

Geriatricians are becoming increasingly aware of this problem as society is forcing more and more men to quit at 65. Since they still have a life expectancy of 13 or more years, what can be done to keep those years from becoming lonely, burdensome, and full of self-pity?

One way would be to gradually start lengthening the vacation period, and shortening the work week, in middle age. Then a man would have the free time and energy to acquire the outside interests that could bolster him in his age, and turn him into a cheerful oldster.

ENJOY GOLF

A man can learn to enjoy golf at 40, but try to teach him the game at 65 and he is inclined to think it useless and a waste of time.

Here's the way such a plan might operate:

At 40 you give a man a five-week vacation, at 45 a six-week vacation, at 50 a seven-week vacation, at 55 an eight-week vacation, at 60 a nine-week vacation

At 40 you also put a man on a four-day week, at 50, a three-day week, and at 60 a two-day week. Starting at 63, he'd come into the office only to pick up his paycheck.

At 65, such fellow would no longer be too dependent on his job. He'd have learned to do most of his wife's work around the home, and be full of enthusiasms for a long carefree life on a pension.

WORK HARDER

Since the work of society must be done by someone, however, such a plan would mean young people might have to work harder in their youth. They might have to work six days a week, and take only one or two weeks of vacation a year, until they had reached 40 themselves.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

JACOBY

After South's opening no-trump bid, North might well have tried to find a 4-4 fit in one of the red suits, but North counted 17 points and simply jumped right to six no-trump.

South was not at all happy when he looked at the dummy. He could only count to eleven tricks and the only play for a twelfth would have to be a squeeze.

If you need a squeeze to make twelve tricks the first thing to do is set it up so South let West hold the first spade. He won the second spade and noted that East had to discard. Then he started on his four heart tricks and when East had to discard on the second heart South recognized a sure squeeze situation.

West had started with six spades and four hearts. That left him only three cards in the minor suits and if anyone was going to stop them it had to be East. Furthermore, when the fourth heart was led East would be down to seven cards.

It would be impossible for him to hold stoppers in both minor suits and all South had to do was to watch the fall of the cards and see whether his fourth club or dummy's fourth diamond would be the twelfth trick.

'Black Monday' Anniversary

Motors, Steels Pace Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors, steels, and selected issues paced a moderate stock market rally early this afternoon—the anniversary of the "Black Monday" plunge of 1962. Trading was relatively light.

Gains of fractions to a point or so outnumbered losers by a comfortable margin.

The market moved unevenly at the start, then motors began to move ahead and were followed by steels. Brokers gave no particular reason for the renewal of interest in the motor stocks which earlier this year were pacemakers in a great advance by the over-all market.

Sugars also rebounded from yesterday's losses. Some of the erstwhile "glamour" stocks picked up 2 to 5 points.

Excitement was lacking, however, and there were plenty of dull spots in the list. Airlines were off slightly. Electronics were unchanged to lower. Building materials and aerospace issues were mixed.

MINOR REBOUND

Today's rally was a minor rebound from the past three sessions of mild profit taking. Analysts saw the market as continuing through a phase of "consolidation," possibly leading to a traditional summer rally. Chrysler, up more than a point was the front runner in its group, the others mostly gaining fractions.

U.S. Bond Prices Shade Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Treasury bond prices shaded lower at the start of trading today, continuing an easier trend that set in several days ago.

The corporate market opened mixed. The utility section started off on the plus side, industrials and investment quality issues were a bit lower and railroads about even.

An over the counter dealer in governments quoted intermediate maturities off 1/32 to 2/32 in spots. Long term bonds were firm. Trading was quiet.

Cost of Living Remains High

April Level Matches March Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living remained unchanged during April at its record March level, the Labor Department said today.

The consumer price index remained at 106.2 per cent of the average for 1957-59. This was one per cent above the level of April, 1962.

Ewan Clague, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said that a reduction prices for food and gasoline during April was offset by price increases for housing, used cars, newspapers and clothing.

Prices for meat, poultry and fish dropped 2.4 per cent during April to the lowest level since 1957.

Clague said this was mainly due to a dip in prices for beef and pork. Both went down 3.5 per cent.

So far, Clague said, there has been no major effect on the consumer price index from the soaring price of sugar. He said this price rise probably would have a gradual effect over a period of months.

Grain Futures Show Little Trend Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices showed little trend today in mixed and moderately active early transactions on the board of trade.

Soybeans eased slightly on further liquidation during the first several minutes but steadied somewhat as resting orders to buy came into the pit.

Dealers said the scattered selling appeared to reflect again disappointing demand.

For Waterford Board

Set New Meeting Site

Beginning June 10 the Waterford Township Board will hold its weekly meetings at Waterford Township High School.

The switch from the traditional township hall meeting site was approved by the board last night to allow expansion of the township's building and planning department quarters into the former meeting area.

Room 108 at the high school, a study hall with a capacity for about 100 persons, will be the new meeting site. The school is located just across Crescent Lake Road from the township hall.

A rental fee of $2.50 hourly on meeting nights will be paid for the room. The annual cost to the township for the facility is estimated at under $500.

Justice Court sessions, formerly held in the township hall meeting area on Tuesday and Wednesdays, will probably be moved to the police department squad room.

In other business the board voted to transfer $10,000 from the improvement revolving fund to the matching fund in anticipation of a three-way matching program on the paving of Bender Street.

IMPROVEMENT PROJECT

Under an agreement last year, the township board and school board plan to participate in an improvement project with the county on the road leading into Kettering High School from the south.

The Oakland County Road Commission is presently making a traffic count on the street.

Trustee John Coleman, a teacher at Kettering, opposed the matching program even though he drives over the road daily and has a personal desire to see it repaired.

"I'd rather see the funds spent in other wasy, such as in the area of a municipal library or for increased police and fire protection," he said.

Coleman said his objection was a matter of principle. "I'd like to eliminate all matching programs until we become responsible for roads as incorporated areas are," he said. "The county gets road money but we don't."

The board also confirmed the re-appointment of two planning commission members and the appointment of a new member by Township Supervisor James Seeterlin.

Dr. John Naz and Donald Ringler, whose terms were to expire tomorrow, will serve new three-year terms. Mitchell Sioma, presently on the zoning board, will be a new member on the commission.

Board members also recommended that John Abel be appointed to a new term on the township recreation board. The school board must confirm the appointment.

Three Jackson Escapees Guarded by Extra Police

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Extra police guarded the doors and windows of the Dane County courtroom yesterday as three escapees from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson pleaded innocent to charges of being fugitives.

Elmer Crachy, 35, Richard Mauch, 40, and Robert Gipson, 30, were ordered held in jail under $100,000 cash bail or $200,000 property bond each. A hearing on the escape charges was set for June 25.

Sheriff Vernon (Jack) Leslie ordered "super-maximum" security established to prevent an escape attempt threatened by the men, who said they would fight extradition to Michigan.

Extra guards were posted when three men—one of whom said he was Crachy's brother — entered the courtroom.

Police questioned the trio — none of whom carried identification—but allowed them to remain in the courtroom.

Mauch, who was serving a life sentence for attempted murder and kidnapping, bragged to Leslie that he engineered the escape from Southern Michigan Prison on April 22. He said they would break out of the sixth floor jail here.

Mauch and Crachy were handcuffed at the arraignment. Gipson had his right leg and foot in a cast as a result of a broken ankle suffered when he fought with arresting officers Friday.

BOASTED OF ESCAPE

Police said that prior to the arraignment, Mauch boasted about the escape from prison with a fourth man, James Hall, 40.

Hall was arrested May 7 near Carthage, Mo., and has been returned to prison.

Mauch told officers he stole tools and saws he used in his prison work as a steamfitter and gave them to Crachy, who hid the tools on the ends of strings tied to ventilators and ducts.

State Carpenters Come to Agreement

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A labor dispute which has idled 2,200 carpenters in 14 southwestern Michigan counties since May 1 was settled today, subject to rank and file union ratification.

State labor mediator R. P. Cranson of Coldwater confirmed agreement had been reached, but declined to disclose terms pending votes today and tonight by local unions of carpenters.

A return to work tomorrow is possible, Cranson added.

Business Notes

William Belaney, promotional director for General Motors Truck and Coach Employes Federal Credit Union, will be featured at a credit union executives conference in Los Angeles, June 16-20. He will speak on the subject How to Handle Special Events.

Albert W. Gruner, of 4044 Lanark, Waterford Township, has been appointed brewmaster of the Sebewaing Brewing Co., of Sebewaing, it was announced today.

Prior to his present assignment, Gruner was brewmaster for the E&B Brewing Co., of Detroit, whose operations were closed down after its purchase by the Pfeiffer Brewing Co., also of Detroit.

He had also served as assistant brewmaster at the Goebel Brewing Co., and other Midwestern breweries.

The justice court trial of nine young men charged with entering an Orion Township stable without permission Saturday night is scheduled for June 4.

They were arraigned yesterday on the misdemeanor charge before Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback. They had been held for investigation of breaking and entering the D and B boarding stable, M24 and Waldron, but the lesser charge was brought against them.

Enters Guilty Plea to Station Break-In

John Friend of 3562 Erie Drive, Orchard Lake, yesterday pleaded guilty to burglary of a gas station. He appeared before Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Friend was charged with breaking and entering Harold's Super Service, 2540 Pontiac Lake, Waterford Township, last Oct. 4 and taking tools and other items valued at $685.

Judge Moore set sentencing for June 25.

Lawyers Claim Americans Want Panama in U.S.

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's Bar Association said yesterday that Americans in the Canal Zone plan to campaign for representation in the U.S. Congress.

It asserted that representation would be a prelude to annexation.

Carlos Arosemena, bar association president, expressing his group's fears in a letter to Foreign Minister Galileo Solis, saw a parallel in the projected campaign to those that gained statehood for Hawaii and Alaska and to what he said are similar efforts in Puerto Rico.

Successful Investing

(Q) "We own Hycon, Dashew Business Machine, Cohu Electronics, American Telephone, Corn Products, and General Motors. Should we sell all of these? We have a loss on the first three which is offset by a profit on the latter three." M. K.

(A) Your situation is like a lot of others that I hear about. You have gained on your top quality stocks and lost on your secondaries.

At present, I advise you to make no move at all. Your speculations seem to me to have hit bottom, and I note a better tone in the smaller electronic issues in the past few weeks.

A subsidiary of Hughes Tool has acquired majority control of Dashew, and it is believed that Hughes' money will be made available to the company.

Your last three are good stocks, and I see no advantage in disposing of these in a strong market.

(Q) "I am 47 years old and my doctors tell me I'd better get my house in order. I have grandchildren and I want them to have their inheritance when they will need it most. I own American Agricultural Chemical, American Bakeries, Crucible Steel, Rohr Corp. With these stocks and accumulated dividends, I would like to have each child get a decent share when he is 25. What do you think of these issues?" D. S.

(A) I sincerely hope that your doctor's advice was purely precautionary. If you will allow me, I'm going to be extremely frank with you.

With your objectives, I would want stocks which might reasonably be expected to sell higher on excellent earnings, say ten years from now. On this basis, I would hold only American Agricultural, which Continental Oil plans to take over.

American Bakeries has not been earning its dividend, Crucible is highly cyclical, and Rohr is quite dependent on military procurement. For these three stocks I would substitute American Express, American Electric, and Campbell Soup.

Dem Solon Criticizes Cable Line Revelation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Democratic congressman said in testimony made public today it was "utterly fantastic" that the United States gave Russia maps locating the undersea cables that link Distant Early Warning (DEW) line stations.

The Pentagon replied that it would not do Russia any good to cut the cables before an attack, because radio communications are virtually jam-proof.

The DEW line is a network of radar stations in the Far North which are supposed to sound an early alarm in the event of a bomber attack on Canada and the United States.

The subject came up in House Defense Appropriations subcommittee hearings May 2, when Rep. Daniel J. Flood, D-Pa., and others brought up breaks in the undersea cables.

Brig. Gen. J. F. Raulor Jr., director of command control and communications for the Air Force Office of Programs and Requirements, said he believed breaks caused by Soviet fishing boats were accidentaly.

He said the Americand Telephone and Telegraph Co. had given the Russians maps showing the location of shallow water cables.

Flood said this was "utterly fantastic, ridiculous, and in certain areas it would be criminal." He said maps should be canceled and the lines relaid.

Report Booklets Hitting Nikita, Praising China

LONDON (UPI) — The Evening Standard says that "a mysterious flood of booklets" attacking Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and praising Communist China are being circulated in East London.

The newspaper said the booklets, believed to have been printed in Albania, are "said to be embarrassing the Communist party."

A party spokesman said he had not heard of them, and added "however there is a lot of Chinese material being sold and read in London."

The Evening Standard said the booklets were being distributed from an unknown source and ask British Communists to realize Khrushchev is a "traitor to communism."

Valuation OK'd at $23.8 Billion

LANSING (AP)—The State Board of Equalization yesterday gave final approval to a state equalized property valuation of $23.79 billion — the same figure recommended by the State Tax Commission two weeks ago.

The equalized property valuation serves as a tax base for the levy of all local property taxes — city, county, township and school district.

All except nine of Michigan's 83 counties showed a gain in valuation, with Mackinac County's jump of 30.05 per cent the highest.

Solons Claim Radicals Lose Their Influence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said today the response to his attack on extremist "fright peddlers" reassures him moderates will retain control of the Republican party.

Kuchel, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he has received thousands of letters and hundreds of telegrams supporting his May 2 Senate criticism of the right-wing Birch Society and others.

He had declared in his speech that "fright peddlers" were attempting to scare Americans into believing the Communists are about to take over the country.

"The mail I have received and the editorials that have supported my position reassure me that the vast majority of Americans—and this certainly includes members of the Republican party — are moderates and do not support either right or left extreme," he said.

"These letters, cards and telegrams have come from every section of the country. Only about one-fourth of the messages were critical and many of these were unsigned."

China, Afghanis to Talk

TOKYO (AP)—Foreign Minister Chen Yi of Communist China said Monday night that Afghanistan and Red China will soon hold talks in Kabul aimed at concluding a border treaty, the New China News Agency reported. The two countries have about 20 miles of common border, north of Kashmir.

Cooper Dances at 2 a.m.; Will Hilton Pay the Tab?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Astronaut Gordon Cooper possesses that great dramatic quality of suspense — even when you hear he is going to the Waldorf Empire Room to hear Carol Channing, you wonder, "Is he really going . . . will he be late . . . will he get a check . . . will he have enough cash?"

WILSON

Carol Channing held up the show . . . he was late . . . it turned out Mrs. Cooper had wanted to see Carol, having seen her on TV . . . Carol gave Mrs. Cooper her best "diamonds" and Mrs. Cooper sweetly asked afterward if she shouldn't give the rhinestones back. The Coopers danced, incidentally, at 2 a.m. after a very, very hard day — and people said, "He doesn't look tired."

As for the check, Carol said:

"Dear Gordo and everybody else in the room, I know Conrad Hilton will be so touched, he will want to pick up all your checks . . . so all of you, EVERYBODY, sign Mr. Conrad Hilton's name, won't you — and do let me know what happens!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Rainier waited impatiently for tardy Princess Grace at "How to Succeed" . . . Astronauts yakked at Tony Newley saying, in "Stop the World," that, "If the Government spends another $2 million we could have a white mouse in orbit" . . . Leslie Caron, here to plug "The L-Shaped Room," tells reporters she wears no underwear: "Just Chanel Number 5, which leaves no bulges, and doesn't pinch" . . . Ex-jockey Eddie Arcaro has put on ten lbs. since becoming a business exec. . . . Charlton Heston and David Niven, costars of "55 Days at Peking," will split the premiere chores, Heston in N.Y. and Niven in L.A.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Astronaut Cooper had a bad dream. He was looking through his helmet — and looking back at him — from the inside — was a bumblebee. — That's earl, brother.

'State Can Skip Income Tax'

Governor Sees Fiscal Reform Without Levy

But It Is Included in Most Plans Studied by Key GOP Solons

LANSING (AP) — A statewide income tax will not necessarily be a part of the fiscal reform program offered by Gov. George Romney this fall — but it appears in most of the eight alternative plans now in the hands of Republican legislative leaders.

This was one of the clues provided by the governor yesterday to his own views of fiscal reform, following a five-hour closed session with 10 key Republican legislators.

"It's possible to meet a good proportion of the state's needs without an income tax," Romney told newsmen later.

"It's possible to have tax reform and meet the revenue situation without it — but whether we will undertake fiscal reform without it is still under discussion."

Yesterday's meeting was the first of several Romney will hold with key lawmakers from both parties to plan the fall session, slated to begin Sept. 16 and run for about two months.

NO DECISIONS

The governor described it as a "preliminary, exploratory, orientation meeting" in which no decisions were made and the lawmakers were not asked for their viewpoints on specific aspects of fiscal reform.

Although he refused to be pinned down on the elements of his eight alternative programs, Romney told newsmen the majority include tax reform for local governments, a reduction in the beer tax — a part of last year's $76 million "nuisance tax" package — and repeal of the business activities tax.

He said his message to the special session after Labor Day will make known his views on fiscal reform, but declined to say whether he prefers any of the eight programs now outlined.

"I have found there usually is more than one reasonable way to get things done," said Romney.

"Right now, we are merely trying to be sure that we are all familiar with the basic

To Head School Study

A 33-year-old Pontiac attorney has been appointed chairman of a new citizens school study committee, it was announced today by William H. Anderson, president of the board of education.

Anderson said James L. Howlett, of 104 E. Iroquois, will head a citizens' study and evaluation of Pontiac schools to determine the future needs of the system.

"This committee will survey and evaluate all phases of the school program during the 1963-64 school year and determine the future needs of the Pontiac system," Anderson explained.

Howlett said his committee, which will be made up of about 29 citizens, will represent a cross-section of the community. He said the citizens group would work closely with the school board.

A 1954 graduate of the University of Michigan, Howlett is currently attorney for Oakland University. Among his civic activities he is president of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, and on the budget steering committee of the United Fund.

Howlett said his committee's work would be divided into two phases. The first phase will be a study and evaluation to determine future needs.

The second phase would be a public information program to advise voters on the millage needs of the school district.

The amount of that millage will be determined by Howlett's citizen committee and the school board.

Dems Select Swainson to Raise $100,000

Debt-Ridden Party Goes to Ex-Governor for Fast Answer

DETROIT (UPI) — Former Gov. John B. Swainson has been given the job of finding a quick way to raise $100,000 for the debt-ridden Michigan Democratic party.

Swainson, whose unsuccessful campaign for re-election last fall produced much of the $260,000 deficit the party faces, was named chairman of "Project One Hundred" at a meeting of Democratic officials in his office yesterday.

A party spokesman said the Democrats hope "to eliminate the great debt in three or four basic projects. The first is 'Project One Hundred,' which may go after $100,000 or more."

The party, the spokesman said, was still not ready to release the details of the crash project.

2-PART SLOGAN

Zolton A. Ferency, state Democratic chairman, said the party will operate with a two-part slogan this year — "Debt free '63 and owe no more by '64."

Some of the debts date back three years but more were incurred during the 1962 general election and 1963 spring election campaigns.

Ferency said yesterday that in addition to the emergency fund committee the party is also looking at "some of the usual fund raisers — dinners honoring certain people; county-by-county fund raisers, either picnics or dinners; and additional emphasis on membership."

Pope Weathers Severe Crisis

In Grave Condition Due to Hemorrhaging

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Death brushed close to Pope John XXIII today, but he weathered the crisis.

The Vatican disclosed he is suffering from gastric heteroplasia — a growth in the stomach. This could be a cancer or a tumor, either benign or malignant.

The diagnosis, published by the Romano, was the first specifically defining the illness of the 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff.

The dictionary definition of heteroplasia is formation of abnormal tissue or of normal tissue in an abnormal locality.

AT BEDSIDE

Through tense hours this morning, three doctors were at the Pope's bedside and worked to stem hemorrhaging, Vatican sources reported.

It was the worst crisis of the illness which felled him briefly last fall and has since recurred intermittently.

Medical personnel rushed in and out of the papal apartment.

Vatican sources said the Pope's mind was clear, but he has been able to take no solid food for several days and he was having increasing difficulty in retaining liquids.

It is possible the doctors have not determined the exact kind of growth involved. In the past, surgery had been considered for exploratory purposes — and been rejected as too dangerous for the pontiff because of his age and condition.

Refuses Integration Order for Schools in Birmingham

From Our News Wires

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A federal judge today refused to order Birmingham public schools integrated although it "graphically appears" the city is operating a segregated school system.

He warned that a state pupil placement law must be applied without discrimination.

U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourn H. Lynne denied a requested injunction against school segregation. He ruled that Negro complaints in a 1960 suit had not exhausted remedies afforded by the 1956 statute which gives school boards wide authority in assigning pupils.

Hinging his decision on the law's validity, Lynne said if the statute is unconstitutionally applied, then he would be compelled to order the submission of a desegregation plan.

Despite clear evidence of a segregated school system, Lynne said Supt. Theo R. Wright and board members had assured him they stood ready to comply with the law.

"This court will not sanction discrimination by them in the name of the placement law, but it is unwilling to grant injunctive relief until their good faith has been tested," Lynne held.

TIME REMAINS

Adequate time remains before the fall term for the processing of assignment or transfer applications in behalf of interested individuals, he said.

In his ruling, Lynne noted that the defendants point to the complaint filed by Negroes and point out the fact that at no time has any Negro child applied for enrollment in or transfer to a white school.

He said of the Negroes: "Their reluctance in taking the initiative in bringing about the integration of the public schools stems from something more than blind adherence to tradition."

The judge said there is undisputed evidence there was "very strong opposition" on the part of citizens of all races to the mixing of the different races in the schools.

Lynne heard two almost identical suits seeking an end to segregation in Birmingham's public schools last year and took the cases under advisement.

Today, he dismissed one of the suits, filed by Agnes Nelson, which would have placed her and her brother, Oswald, and other Negro children in integrated schools.

He said testimony heard last

Next Negro Goal

Jackson, Miss., Tense

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Jackson kept an uneasy watch today on a racial situation which some feared might spawn demonstration attempts and possibly violence.

Involved exchanges of statements and one meeting have produced agreement on only one point: that Jackson would be the next Southern city to experience a concerted effort to win racial concessions.

The big question is what the effort will involve and when it will come. The answer could be disclosed tonight at a mass meeting of Negroes.

City officials and 17 Negro leaders who had been invited by Mayor Allen Thompson met Monday to discuss concessions sought by the Negroes.

Observers saw little chance for compromise because the issues involved are so basic they could be resolved only by one side capitulating.

Negro leaders, backed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, called for desegregation in several areas.

The Rev. E. A. Mays, spokesman for the majority of 13, said his group wanted the city to hire Negro policemen, remove segregation signs from public buildings, upgrade salaries of Negro employes, form a biracial committee, and desegregate eating places and public facilities and—eventually—schools on a voluntary basis.

Trial Is Stalled in Mall Slaying

Today's scheduled trial of two 22-year-old Pontiac men on charges of murdering a Kroger store comanager has been delayed until at least tomorrow morning.

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer is pondering a defense motion that the trial of Adoise White, 79½ Wall, and Charles E. Hodges, 174 Prospect, be held in a county other than Oakland, Wayne or Genesee.

Beer said he would rule on the motion, along with another motion by defense attorney Milton R. Henry of Pontiac, tomorrow morning.

Henry asked that the trial be held in Ingham County on the grounds that notoriety and publicity in the case "have made it impossible to get an impartial jury here."

Henry's other motion asks Beer to rule out of evidence statements by White and Hodges admitting the crime.

Henry contended the statements were obtained through "illegal pressures" applied while the two men were "illegally detained and questioned."

Beer's action in effect granted a one-day postponement of the trial to allow time for a psychiatrist appointed by the court last week to examine the defendants.

Henry also had requested a postponement.

Henry claimed he needed the psychiatrist's report to determine whether he should plead insanity as his clients' defense to the first-degree murder charges brought against them as a result of the March 16 slaying

Teacher Union Strikes Schools

Classes Shortened in Gary, Ind., Protests

GARY, Ind. (AP)—The 1,200-member Gary teachers union struck the city's 42 public schools today, but the system's 45,000 pupils remained in the classrooms for abbreviated sessions.

Supt. Alden Blankenship said picket lines were at most schools, but about 300 other teachers crossed them to report to their jobs.

The union set the strike after failing to win recognition from the school board as a bargaining agent.

No incidents were reported as the pickets, wearing black and white armbands, marched around the schools.

The union originally had set the strike for Monday but postponed it 24 hours after Mayor John S. Viselosky demanded that the five school board members resign or recognize the union.

The state labor commissioner, Hobart L. Butler, was sent to Gary by Gov. Matthew E. Welsh in an effort to settle the dispute.

The union, Local 4 of the American Federation of Teachers, contended it had been recognized by school boards as bargaining agents for its members for 25 years but said the present board had refused to follow that practice.

facts — on the budget side, and the revenue and tax side."

Speaking for the governor in his meeting with lawmakers were L. William Seidman, special financial advisor who will play a strong role in formulation of the Romney program, and State Treasurer Glenn Allen.

Allen's role was to explain the "probable picture of spending" that the state will face in 1964-65 and estimates of revenue based on the current tax structure.

The governor said the substance of this was that if no change is made in the current tax structure, and services remain at their current level, Michigan would be in a deficit position by 1964-65.

Predictions have been that Michigan will realize a $40.6 million surplus at the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, but Romney said "it could be that the results will be somewhat more favorable."

It is still too early to know whether the deficit might be cut more in the 1963-64 fiscal year, he said.

He emphasized that the lawmakers attending the conference had expressed no views on any specifics of tax reform, including the explosive income tax proposal that has sparked legislative warfare in recent years.

Republicans repeatedly have beaten off all suggestions that the state set up a corporate and personal income tax, either graduated or flat-rate.

May Seek Order to Prevent Lake Drain Reclosing

John E. McGrath, attorney for a group of Williams Lake residents, said today he would probably petition Oakland County Circuit Court tomorrow for an injunction restraining anyone from reclosing the drain between Williams and Maceday Lakes.

The contemplated legal action stems from last Friday night's attempt by some 75 Williams Lake residents to open a sealed culvert between the two lakes to raise their lake level.

Armed with shovels and an air hammer, they had dug a 50-foot trench, about 4 feet deep, and had just drilled through a cement plug when a swarm of police cars arrived and the project was halted.

During Holiday

Police to Step Up Patrols

Oakland County's high accident areas will get maximum patrol coverage by state police and the sheriff's department during the Memorial Day weekend, according to Pontiac Post Commander Sgt. John Amthor and Sheriff Frank Irons.

In addition, the troopers and deputies will be assisted by national guard members for part of the period.

"This is the first warm weather holiday weekend of the season, and a surge in traffic can be expected," Amthor said.

He added he expected tomorrow and Sunday nights to be the worst for traffic congestion.

Water safety is urged by Irons, who said his special lake patrols will be on duty and in force during the long holiday.

In most instances, two sheriff's cars will be assigned to districts where normally there is only one.

Traffic is expected to be the heaviest between 3 and 9 p.m. each day.

All trooper passes for the four-day weekend have been canceled, Amthor said.

He pointed out that the number of fatalities in Oakland County resulting from automobile accidents is up 36 per cent over last year's figures.

JFK Team Hopes to Prod Slow-Moving Britishers

LONDON (AP) — President Kennedy's administration is sending a technical team to Britain next week to try to sell Prime Minister Macmillan's government on the mixed-manned Polaris fleet project, an official statement disclosed today.

The American move came amid signs that the British want to go slowly on this project.

Lord Carrington, first lord of the admiralty, said that at Washington's request a small American naval team led by Adm. Claude V. Ricketts, vice chief of naval operations, will arrive in London June 4.

Speaking in the House of Lords, Carrington added: "These talks in no way commit us to this project."

The mixed-manning concept being pushed by the United States government is designed to give the Atlantic Alliance allies a greater share in nuclear strategy while preventing the spread of national nuclear forces.

The allies would equip a surface fleet armed with Polaris missiles. Individual ships in this fleet would be manned by sailors of more than one nationality.

This mixing would be intended to prevent any one country from withdrawing its contribution in a time of national crisis, since such an action would be physically impossible, or using its power for solely national ends.

SUPPORT VOICED

In recent London talks with Livingston T. Merchant, President Kennedy's special envoy, and in the corridors of the Ottawa NATO meeting last week, the British voiced support for the political concept of a mixed-manned force.

But Macmillan's government always has accompanied this with strong reservations about the practical working of the system.

The British suggest surface ships would be too vulnerable to attack to constitute a reasonable deterrent and that confusion could arise from having sailors of different countries jumbled together.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, former deputy commander of NATO's European army, told the House of Lords the mixed-manned force idea "was utter and complete poppycock." He added:

"How can a ship fight effectively if one-third of the crew is Portuguese, one-third Belgians and say one-third Danish? The thing is just not on.

Montgomery did not speak specifically for Macmillan's government. It was clear, however, that the field marshal reflected a wide segment of British military thinking.

He said they were now attending school in Detroit and for that reason neither Nelson child was injured by segregation in Birmingham.

In the other suit, which attacked the Alabama pupil placement law—Lynne refused to call the law unconstitutional and refused a plea for an injunction against school segregation.

However, the judge retained jurisdiction for filing supplemental complaints against the state law or the school board.

Lynne said on any further complaints filed in the suit preferred hearings will be held on five days notice to the school board.

In Montgomery, Gov. George Wallace, dismissing a subpoena served on a "civilly dead" household servant, has given every indication he intends to boycott a federal hearing aimed at preventing his interference in the integration of the University of Alabama.

WON'T APPEAR

A source close to Wallace said the scrappy segregationist would not "under any circumstances" appear at the hearing next Monday in Birmingham.

U.S. marshals yesterday served papers on a Negro maid at the governor's mansion in an effort to assure the governor's court appearance.

Wallace staunchly disagreed with Justice Department officials in Washington who indicated the serving of the subpoena constituted proper service.

Wallace said the maid is a convict who works at the executive mansion and whose civil rights were removed because of a felony conviction.

"It is ridiculous that they (the marshals) served a Negro maid in my house," Wallace said. "Civilly, she's dead."

City Commission OKs Budget of $1.8 Million

BIRMINGHAM — The city's $1.8-million budget, holding the 18-mill tax levy for the third consecutive year, was approved at last night's public hearing by the City Commission.

Also given the green light were preliminary plans for a nine-hole golf course and recreation area at the northwest corner of 14-Mile Road and South Cranbrook Road.

Commissioners approved an increase in the required number of parking spaces for residential areas.

After hearing from multiple dwelling property owners at the meeting, commissioners relaxed City Planner William Brownfield's recommendation and approved a 1.25 required parking space for two-room units and 1.50 parking space for units above two.

Eliot F. Robinson, president of the Bloomfield Art Association (BAA) which leases a portion of the proposed golf course site, asked commissioners to get together with the BAA and "discuss future plans so there is no encroachment" on the association's growth.

Robinson told commissioners he was not opposed to the golf course but hopes "we can work together and not freeze a vital cultural force in the community" before final plans are drawn up.

He did not go into detailed future plans for the BAA but noted the $40,000 spent in improving the facility, the need for more parking and intended use of outdoor areas for classes.

Gare said the current plans were preliminary and that details still have to be worked out.

Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham moved that all parking on the north side of Maple, from Hunter to Chester, be prohibited from 4 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday because of the "deteriorating factor" of congestion there.

Commissioner David F. Breck seconded his motion, but Mayor William Burgum said he questioned the "impact" and wanted consideration given before such action. Further discussion on the subject is set for the June 10 meeting.

Public hearing on the proposed 1963-64 Bloomfield Hills budget was scheduled for 5 p.m. today at the township hall.

The budget would increase city spending from $426,000 to $449,000.

Clerk-Treasurer Robert J. Stadler said the new budget could be based on a tax levy of $26.80 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the current rate.

"Responding to the challenge of improving educational opportunity in Birmingham" will be the theme of the board of education's reporting session at 8 tonight.

The public meeting, divided into two parts, will be held in the little theater at Seaholm High School.

Mrs. Craig died yesterday after a long illness. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

She was a member of the League of Catholic Women, the Holy Name Altar Society and the MOMS Club of Birmingham.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Grant Wott of Philadelphia, Pa.; four sons, Hillary of Washagami; Canada, George of Birch Run, Raymond of Southfield and Bernard of Birmingham.

State Carpenters Come to Agreement

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A labor dispute which has idled 2,200 carpenters in 14 southwestern Michigan counties since May 1 was settled today, subject to rank and file union ratification.

State labor mediator R. P. Cranson of Coldwater confirmed agreement had been reached, but declined to disclose terms pending votes today and tonight by local unions of carpenters.

"A return to work tomorrow is possible, Cranson added.

Set to Adopt Tax Resolution

A resolution establishing the necessity to raise the city's tax levy by approximately $235,000 is scheduled for adoption at tonight's City Commission meeting at 8.

The resolution orders city administrators to prepare a revised 1963 budget appropriation ordinance to replace the one adopted last January.

The January ordinance called for some $4,314,240 to be raised from taxes to finance the 1963 city budget. The proposed ordinance would require that some $4.55 million be raised from taxes.

The resolution also orders administrators to figure the 1963 tax rate on an equalized tax base for the first time in Pontiac's history.

Pontiac's tax rate has always been figured on the total valuation as set by the City Board of Tax Review. The total assessed valuation established by the board this year was $308 million.

The state equalized valuation of the city is $342,967,644.

Tonight's resolution lays the groundwork for establishing the 1963 tax rate, which still must be set by the commission before June 30.

In other business, a resolution authorizing the city to borrow money from the police and fire pension funds is also up for approval.

The money will be used to finance construction of a proposed North Side fire station on Walton west of Baldwin. It will be paid back in annual installments from capital improvement funds.

Approval is also slated for a contract for the mobile food and beverage concession at city parks this summer.

The agenda also includes a public necessity resolution and cost estimates for resurfacing 1.72 miles of Orchard Lake Avenue.

Public hearings are scheduled for special assessment rolls covering proposed paving projects on portions of Harvey, Howard, Inglewood, Stanley and Third.

A resolution to delete proposed resurfacing projects on Boston, Dakota and Illinois from the 1963 street improvement program will also be up for action.

Another resolution slated for approval would delete previous proceedings on a similarly proposed project on Waldo and order new estimates prepared to include storm sewer replacement on Waldo.

Commissioners also will get a letter from owners of the Gridiron Bar & Grill, 93 Montcalm, asking for commission approval of their request to upgrade their tavern license to a Class C liquor license.

Clash Seems Likely Over EMU Criticism

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney and the State Board of Education appeared headed today for a direct clash over the board's refusal to turn lose a copy of a "confidential" report criticizing Eastern Michigan University.

The governor confirmed that, in a telephone conversation with Board President Chris Magnusson, his request for the report had been rejected for the second time.

"Magnusson told me I was being 'childish' by asking for the report," said Romeny.

The governor added: "The board's refusal to comply with my request is now more important than the report itself. It involves the question of the governor's authority to ask and receive information from his executive agencies, as provided in the constitution."

In a phone conversation yesterday, Magnusson told Romney the board would be willing to meet with him and let him read the report, but said he could not have a copy to keep.

A Romney aide last week asked for a copy but was turned down by Dr. Lynn Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction and secretary of the board of education.

The four - member board is now composed entirely of Democrats, but Magnusson is slated to retire in a month.

His place will be taken by James O'Neil, a Livonia Republican elected April 1 to fill the vacancy.

Romney said he expected he could get a copy of the report from O'Neil.

"There are four copies of it and as long as the board supplies me with one, this meets the requirements of the constitution," said the governor.

Planning a Picnic?

Area Parks Set for Holiday

Oakland county residents planning picnic or outings during the four-day Memorial Day holiday might well consider a trip to either Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford or Marshbank Metropolitan Park, a small picnic park near Keego Harbor.

Kensington, covering some 4,300 acres is among the best-known and largest recreational units of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, a five county park agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

It was opened in 1948 when a dam was impounded to create the large 1,200-acre Kent Lake which is surrounded by beautiful rolling countryside, wooded areas and miles of winding roads throughout the park.

Marshbank Park totals only 115 acres but is popular with many Oakland County families where picnicking and playfields provide a wonderful-out-of doors atmosphere.

A fence protects park users from the lake waters which are dangerously deep for swimming.

David O. Laidlaw, park superintendent, who supervises work at both parks said that crews have been working the past several weeks to get the sites in readiness for the first flow of holiday crowds that usually show up for the Memorial Day weekend.

There are over 12 large picnic sites at Kensington Park, many with shelters and a total of 1,400 picnic tables, hundreds of stoves, plus water and sanitary facilities in many areas.

From season to season the picnic tables and shelters are refinished, some sanded and shelters repaired and painted.

In addition, there are hundreds of signs painted, replaced or added as facilities change and new information needed.

Lodges and group camp sites available for overnight use by hundreds of Oakland County scout units, civic and other groups are also marked.

Although no reservations are taken, groups are assigned certain picnic areas and, if properly registered in advance at the park office or information building, — then others in the same party can quickly find their group.

There are 80 full-time employees at Kensington Metropolitan Park and over 100 seasonal workers hired each spring and summer to help operate the park.

Each year thousands of Oakland county residents take guided nature hikes, hundreds of other persons take self-guided, hikes since the natural environment about them is labelled for easy identification and changed from season to season.

Over 152,000 persons have toured around Kent Lake aboard the Island Queen since it became an attraction in 1956.

The 60 passenger sternwheeler is powered by a 27-horsepower diesel marine engine. Trips take about 45 minutes and provide an excellent view of Kent Lake's 22 miles of shoreline.

Both beaches and swimming sites will open for Memorial Day and continue throughout the four-day holiday period, with weekend use available until June 8. Daily use begins at Martindale then and operations are in effect daily at Maple Beach beginning June

Rochester Studies Downtown Plans

ROCHESTER — Three tentative schemes for the village's central business district — all of which would "make Rochester a drawing center" — were presented at last night's council meet-

Speaking for planning consultants Vilican - Leman & Associates of Southfield, John J. Prote explained the current phase of the downtown study.

He said that his firm is presently analyzing Rochester's "economic health" and its retail characteristics, traffic and pedestrian flow, and physical design.

"Where's all this money coming from?" was the question posed by Councilmen John O'Donnell, after Prote's presentation.

The planner said that the village and county would probably contribute, but "obviously the greatest share of money will come from the people operating in the downtown area."

He added that soon village merchants and civic groups would be contacted and a final plan for the business district would be submitted to the village "possibly in a half-year or so."

He commented that it was doubtful if the merchants could finance the downtown project since the Chamber of Commerce had trouble "getting enough money to keep together."

The topic of rezoning Walnut for office use was again brought into the discussion, and Prote offered the reasoning behind the planning firm's recommendation.

BUFFER

He said Walnut, as an office area, would act as a buffer area between the central business district and the residential zone.

Prote also said that zoning the street for offices would conform with its existing use.

Ultimately, plans call for Walnut to be part of the central business district, and. Prote commented that zoned for offices, the street would be more appealing financially to developers.

In other business last night, the council heard Jack Zahn, head of the Rochester branch of Y.M.C.A. request village consideration on a proposed swimming pool in the area.

Arraigned in Kidnap of Oxford Lawmen

Frederick F. Hannah, 24, yesterday stood mute at his Oakland County Circuit Court arraignment on charges of kidnaping and armed robbery of two Oxford policemen and a police radio operator.

Hannah, of 20 E. Burdick, Oxford, was returned to Oakland County jail to await trial. He was unable to furnish the $25,000 bond set by Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Hannah is accused of kidnaping patrolmen Richard Lamprier, 21, and Wendell Hill, 24, and radio operator Mrs. Leonore Westphal, 46, on the morning of April 6.

The policemen said Hannah pulled a gun in the Oxford police station after they brought him in for reckless driving.

After disarming the two officers, Hannah allegedly forced them into Lamphier's car and took them to Detroit where he later erleased them unharmed in a motel.

* * *

Hannah surrendered to police in Oxford on April 26 after eluding capture for three weeks during which he fled to Florida and returned.

* * *

He said he was "tired of running and had no place to go."

Hannah had been recently paroled from Jackson Prison where he was serving a term for arson.

Rochester OKs Hospital Help

Manager Will Assist With Sewage Problem

York explained that the hospital had exhausted its field sewage space and said that it "must secure a positive solution" to the problem for health reasons.

He pointed out that two years ago the problem was obvious, and an engineering study showed that some $60,000 would be needed to provide treatment for the sewage from the hospital, the Leader Dog establishment and the Detroit Broach & Machine Co.

The connection would be paid for by special assessment.

York said that when the study was completed the three firms and South Street residents, who could also benefit, rejected the idea.

Also at last night's regular session, the council began discussion of a proposed hike in fire-fighting fees charged Oakland Township by the village.

Further meetings are to be scheduled on revision of the aid agreement.

Precedent Set at Farmington

It was the first time the Farmington City Council, Farmington Township Board and Farmington Board of Education had met without an immediate problem facing them.

Initiated by the board of education, the meeting was held at Farmington High School.

Officials discussed the community recreation program, industrial and commercial development of the area and long-range programs for services needed by the three units.

They plan to hold three or four similar meetings every year.

RECONVENED

The school board considered final plans for a $150,000 addition to Eagle Elementary School, 29410 14-Mile Road.

The addition, designed by J. MacDonald Jacob and Associates of Royal Oak, will include five classrooms, a kindergarten room and library.

Court to Get Water Dispute

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The township board will take into Circuit Court a controversy over 18 water line easements.

The property in question is in the southern portion of the township where easements are needed to bring Detroit water to the area.

Supervisor Curtis H. Hall said the $2.7 million project will not be delayed by the court action, which should not take longer than 90 days.

Suspect Fire in Area House Arson Caused

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Arson is suspected as the cause of a fire which leveled the vacant two-story house at 835 Hummer Lake yesterday.

Alerted by neighbor Mrs. Robert A. Cavanaugh of 940 Hummer Lake, the Oxford Fire Department arrived about 1:30 p.m.

Chief Ellsworth Sage said the second floor was already enveloped in flames at that time.

The combined efforts of Lake Orion, Oxford and Metamora departments brought the blaze under control about 3:30 p.m., but not before the house was completely destroyed.

The building had been vacant for the past few years, and power was shut off, Sage said.

George W. Sissons of 986 Gill is owner of the house. He told police that the building was fully insured.

Troy Initiates Bid to U. S. for City Hall Study Funds

TROY — The City Commission last night took initial action to apply for federal funds which will be used in planning for a proposed $544,000 city hall.

* * *

Although a planning firm has not been retained by the city and the exact amount needed for the planning is not determined, the commission resolved to seek federal aid for the study.

The new facility is to be located on the city's civic center site at 16-Mile Road and the Chrysler Expressway.

The application was unanimously endorsed by the four commissioners present last night; Mayor Robert J. Huber, Mayor Pro Tem Vincent J. McAvoy; and commissioners Clifford Sutermeister Jr. and Wallace B. Hudson.

It is expected that construction of the building will be financed through a federal grant and a building authority.

In other business last night, the commission confirmed the paving project for Livernois from 250 feet north of Maple to the southern city limits.

This project is to be financed by $9,240 from the city's general fund road account and $4,290 from the revolving fund on a three - year basis to property owners.

Vote Recount Remains Same

Incumbent Supervisor Wins in Pontiac Twp.

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The results of a recount of votes cast in the supervisor's race of the April 1 election here show no change in the margin of victory for incumbent Leroy Davis—16 votes.

A recount was carried out as a result of petitions filed by Davis' political opponent, Republican Leonard F. Terry. Davis was the sole Democrat elected, by the slight margin of 892-876.

Although Terry requested a check of the six precincts here shortly after the election, execution of the recount was postponed due to the statewide canvass on results of the new constitution balloting.

Davis' margin of victory is even narrower than the one that carried him into office two years ago, when he had 89 more votes than Terry.

Again this year, Terry received more votes in the primary than Davis did. This will be the supervisor's fourth term in office.

Marks 'Black Monday' of '62

Market Is Irregularly Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly higher early today on the anniversary of the "black Monday" crash of 1962. Trading was moderately active.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among key stocks outnumbered losers.

One broker commented that the panic of last May 28 "seems far away and long ago" and that the economy appears now to be possibly on the threshold of a boom.

Among the market wheelhorses, oils, rails, nonferrous metals and motors were generally on the upside, although there were some small losers. The trend was slightly lower among steels airlines and rubbers. Most other major groups were mixed.

SUGAR RECOVERS

Sugars recovered from their sharp dip of yesterday. American Crystal Sugar and Great Western Sugar picked up a couple of points. South Puerto Rico Sugar was up about a point. Others gained fractions.

The feeling in Wall Street was that the market was continuing a consolidation phase following its great advance which began running into profit taking a week or so ago.

U. S. Bond Prices Shade Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Treasury bond prices shaded lower at the start of trading today, continuing an easier trend that set in several days ago.

The corporate market opened mixed. The utility section started off on the plus side, industrials and investment quality issues were a bit lower and railroads about even.

An over the counter dealer in governments quoted intermediate maturities off 1/32 to 2/32 in spots. Long term bonds were firm. Trading was quiet.

Strike Closes Lamp Company

Firm Moved Back to Detroit From South

DETROIT (AP) —The C. M. Hall Lamp Co., which returned to Michigan two years ago after an unsuccessful attempt to cut costs by a move to the South, was closed by a strike today.

When the firm returned to Detroit from Clinton, N. C., in 1961, Chester J. Rzepecki, president of United Auto Workers Local 304, said Hall's employes agreed to take a 50-cent hourly pay cut.

Hirsch said the union is asking a 40-cent hourly increase under a three-year contract which was openable April 1 for wage negotiations. He added there could be no increase and accused employes of not producing as much as "they are easily capable."

VOTE TO STRIKE

Workers voted 403 to 27 to strike two weeks ago, but agreed to work while negotiations were under way. Yesterday, however, they decided to walk out in support of demands.

Hirsch termed the 40-cent demand exhorbitant and said it threatens "to drive the company back out of the city." He said the union had rejected company offers of both profit-sharing and production incentive pay scales.

Hirsch said Hall made a profit of only $2,500 last year on sales of nearly $10 million and that it already had fixed prices in contracts "for all our work for 1964."

To survive, Hirsch added, "the company has to show some improvement this year" and "Unless there is a decided change in attitude, I have no choice but to move at least a substantial part of our production out of Detroit."

Grain Futures Show Little Trend Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices showed little trend today in mixed and moderately active early transactions on the board of trade.

Soybeans eased slightly on further liquidation during the first several minutes but steadied somewhat as resting orders to buy came into the pit.

Dealers said the scattered selling appeared to reflect again disappointing demand.

Still Lacks Confidence

Mart Faces Uncertainty

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—The stock market observed today the first anniversary of its second worst crash of the century with many issues — but far from all—having recovered the ground lost then.

DAWSON

But it faces many uncertainties and there is little sign yet that it has regained the full confidence of the public with a few dollars to invest, or with a few to risk on a last in-and-out try for a quick profit.

Guessing which way the economy—and the market—is heading has changed markedly since that gloomy May 28, 1962. But today's guesses still are far apart.

The Kennedy administration is reported as seeing no chance now of a recession in the foreseeable future. The big market crash had fed such fears last May and June and sparked demands for tax cuts as a preventative.

The real optimists are insisting that the U.S. economy today stands on the brink of a boom.

A SQUEEZE

The cautious souls—especially many stock traders—are still holding that rising operating costs will keep enough of a squeeze on profits to make dividend rises moderate. In turn, this means that at today's high prices for many stocks, their yields will be less than tempting.

And the even more cautious ones are warning that the much touted economic indicators have been wrong before. A year ago they were pointing toward a possible recession. It didn't develop. Now they are pointing toward continued and accelerated growth. Will they be right this time?

Much of today's optimism about the stock market centers on the performance of popular stock averages. These chart the movements of selected stocks held to be indicative of the market as a whole. Most of these popular guides have recovered all of the loss since last May and many are at or near new highs. Most set their previous highs in December 1961 or January 1962. They had been in a long slide before the May crash.

WELL BEFORE

But many of the individual stocks in the popular averages had hit their highs well before December 1961 peak. And some of them are selling below these peaks today.

American Telephone & Telegraph was selling at $136 a share at the end of 1961. By the end of May 1962 it was as low as $98. Today it is in the neighborhood of $123. General Motors sold at $57 at the end of 1961, at $45 late in May 1962 and today at around $70 for a big over-all gain. International Business Machines brought $579 at the end of 1961, dropped to $355 last May and today is around $463.

PUBLIC'S FANCY

These are blue chips. Many of the big performers in the 1961 stock boom were growth stocks, newcomers to the market and to the public's fancy. Some of these took the biggest drops in 1961—some well before the big crash in May. And many are still far below their spectacular highs.

The market averages have staged a general comeback since last May. But many industrial groups have outrun the averages, and some have trailed.

Steels have been recovering in recent weeks but are still 3 per cent lower than they were in the May-June break. Tires and rubber goods still trail by 2 per cent. Department stores are off by 10 per cent, and apparel chains by 2 per cent. Vending issues are down 8 per cent.

Groups that have done better than the market averages include rails, machine tools, sugars, radio-television broadcasters, cigar manufacturers, life insurance, banks.

The over-all recovery since May 1962 has been encouraging. But it isn't as general as many think. Nor is the future a nicely wrapped package of certain prosperity.

Auto Industry Expected to Hit Another Milestone

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—The auto industry, which has broken many production and sales records this year, is expected to reach another milestone this week—the first time in automotive history that sales have exceeded 700,000 each in two consecutive months.

April sales total of 703,751 units marked only the third time the 700,000 plus figure had been reached. The others were April, 1955 and October 1962.

The record for the period is 26,810 set in 1955.

Preliminary reports showed that General Motors dealers got 54.9 per cent of the sales in the May 11-20 period; Ford 24.7 per cent; Chrysler 13.4 per cent; American Motors 6.2; and Studebaker, about 1 per cent.

While sales stayed up as dealers dipped into their inventories, production for the week was down due primarily to effects of a wildcat strike, since settled, at a key Chicago Heights, Ill., stamping plant of Ford.

Ford output for the week was 21,718 vehicles, compared with 36,281 in the previous week. Ford, which lost an estimated 35,000 production units as a result of the strike, announced that it would adjust its work schedules to make up the 35,000 units, and add an additional 54,000 cars and trucks to its 1963 model run to meet customer demand.

Chrysler, American Motors and General Motors output for the week showed a small drop over the preceding week, while Studebaker showed a tiny increase.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "We own Hycon, Dashew Business Machine, Cohu Electronics, American Telephone, Corn Products, and General Motors. Should we sell all of these? We have a loss on the first three which is offset by a profit on the latter three." M. K.

(A) Your situation is like a lot of others that I hear about. You have gained on your top quality stocks and lost on your secondaries.

At present, I advise you to make no move at all. Your speculations seem to me to have hit bottom, and I note a better tone in the smaller electronic issues in the past few weeks.

A subsidiary of Hughes Tool has acquired majority control of Dashew, and it is believed that Hughes' money will be made available to the company.

Your last three are good stocks, and I see no advantage in disposing of these in a strong market.

(Q) "I am 47 years old and my doctors tell me I'd better get my house in order. I have grandchildren and I want them to have their inheritance when they will need it most. I own American Agricultural Chemical, American Bakeries, Crucible Steel, Rohr Corp. With these stocks and accumulated dividends, I would like to have each child get a decent share when he is 25. What do you think of these issues?" D. S.

(A) I sincerely hope that your doctor's advice was purely precautionary. If you will allow me, I'm going to be extremely frank with you.

With your objectives, I would want stocks which might reasonably be expected to sell higher on excellent earnings, say ten years from now. On this basis, I would hold only American Agricultural, which Continental Oil plans to take over.

American Bakeries has not been earning its dividend, Crucible is highly cyclical, and Rohr is quite dependent on military procurement. For these three stocks I would substitute American Express, American Electric, and Campbell Soup.
