State Time Change Appears Dead

ACTING CHIEF — Police Chief William K. Hanger, headed for a three-month stay in Washington, D. C., commends Capt. Harry Nye on Nye's selection as acting chief. Hanger will be attending the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy through the first week in June. Nye was appointed to the post by City Manager Joseph A. Warren. (See story, page A-2.)

LANSING (AP) — Michigan apparently will continue on Eastern Standard Time this summer, exempt from a 1966 federal law to set clocks ahead for six months of each year.

The House of Representatives yesterday passed 64-43 and gave immediate effect to the controversial exemption measure.

The Senate has passed the bill and was expected to give it the necessary immediate effect today.

The bill then will go to Gov. Romney for his signature.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, served notice yesterday he would ask today for reconsideration of the vote by which the anti-Daylight Saving Time bill passed. But other House members said there was little chance the result would be overturned.

FEDERAL ACT

If the bill is not given immediate effect and signed by the governor this month, Michigan residents will be required by the federal act to set their clocks ahead one hour each April 30 and back an hour each Oct. 31.

A bill ordinarily does not become law until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns for the year.

The time bill would have been useless without immediate effect, however, because Congress required states which did not want Savings Time to act before April 1.

Only 64 of the 110 House members voted for the bill but 10 opponents bowed to the majority and gave the needed two-thirds majority on a separate vote for immediate effect.

★ ★ ★

'HELP ECONOMY'

Opponents of the measure said going on Daylight Saving Time during the summer would "keep Michigan in time with the Eastern Seaboard" and help the economy by giving businesses which deal with the eastern cities more time each day to do it.

Those favoring it said farmers would have an extra working hour each day—from the time morning moisture dries until quitting time — if the state avoided Daylight Time.

Other opponents of Saving Time noted Michigan, geographically, is in the Central Time Zone, although it keeps Eastern time. Eastern Saving Time, they said would amount to "double-fast time."

PERRY RUSSO

Oswald Linked to Two Others in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Extra security precautions were taken today as Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's preliminary hearings on the Kennedy assassination went into its second day.

Perry Raymond Russo, who testified he heard Lee Harvey Oswald and two others plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, faced cross-examination by defense lawyers.

Police, meanwhile, arrested and booked a man for making threatening telephone calls.

Sheriff Louis Heyd said there were other phone calls to various persons involved in the case and he took extra precautions because of "anticipated trouble."

James R. Liscombe, 30, was arrested and booked on a charge of making threatening telephone calls.

AIMING AT HEADLINES

Police said Liscombe, who listed a French quarter address as his home, telephoned Orleans Parish (county) prison officials and said he "intended to make national headlines in New Orleans."

Liscombe, police said, was seen yesterday in the crowd on the courthouse steps, pushing newsmen around and jostling bystanders.

Counsel for Clay L. Shaw, the wealthy businessman arrested by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison on a charge of conspiring with Oswald and David W. Ferrie to murder Kennedy, put off their questions yesterday until they could study scholastic and business records of Russo.

Before court reopened, mystery surrounding this "confidential informant" thickened.

The riddle:

—Russo, 25, an insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, told the court he was in the apartment of David W. Ferrie here in September 1963 and listened to the three men conspire to kill the president and escape.

★ ★ ★

But two weeks ago, shortly after Ferrie died of what the coroner termed natural causes and Garrison maintained was suicide, Russo told a newsman from New Orleans television station WDSU that Ferrie never mentioned Oswald's name, to him, adding, "I had never heard of Oswald until on television . . . ahh . . . the assassination."

—Russo gave details in court of the meeting in Ferrie's apartment, saying the plot involved sacrificing one man to allow the others to make a getaway, a possible flight to Cuba, diversionary shooting and "triangulation of crossfire."

Yet in an interview earlier with a Baton Rouge television station, Russo explained he never came forth with his information before because "I left it to professionals . . . when they came out with Oswald was the man. Then I forgot it."

GOP Hits Tax on Nonresidents

LANSING (AP) — Senate Republicans agreed yesterday that Michigan cities should be able to levy income taxes but they called for elimination of one-half per cent city taxes on nonresidents.

The action came in the second of a series of Republican caucuses designed to examine fiscal reform in an effort to reach a majority position on Gov. George Romney's proposed income tax.

The caucus move was seen as an attempt to win the income tax vote of Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, a foe of city income taxes on nonresidents.

Kuhn, former Berkley mayor and chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee, a group opposing Detroit's one-half per cent tax on suburban residents who work in Detroit, was visibly pleased as he left the caucus.

"I'm pleased that they're giving favorable consideration to the repeal of the nonresident tax," Kuhn said. "It's the first step."

'MORE PALATABLE'

Asked if he would vote for a state income tax package if taxation of nonresidents by cities was eliminated, Kuhn said:

"It makes the whole program more palatable."

Elimination of the portion of the Uniform City Income Tax Act allowing cities to impose a one-half per cent tax on nonresidents would cost the city of Detroit an estimated $8 million.

However, Republicans said they had urged the Senate Taxation Committee to explore other areas in which Detroit and other cities would be able to make up for lost revenue.

Two N-Scientists Disagree on Danger of Antimissiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear physicist says large-scale use by either the United States or the Soviet Union of antiballistic missile defense systems would threaten survival of all inhabitants of the Northern Hemisphere.

But Dr. E. J. Sternglass' contention that midair explosions of defensive weapons and incoming missiles would result in massive radioactive fallout was disputed today by another nuclear physicist, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp of Washington, D.C.

Lapp said America's ABM system — and presumably the Soviet Union's — essentially would rule out deposit of lethal quantities of fallout on the earth from the explosion of nuclear-tipped ABMs aloft.

Sternglass, past chairman of the Pittsburgh, Pa., chapter of the Federation of American Scientists, declared: "This danger arises from the great increase in the total amount of radioactive materials which would necessarily be released into the atmosphere by the multimegaton ABM missiles required to destroy the incoming warheads."

Lapp, who worked on the wartime A-bomb development but is not now associated with the government's nuclear program, told a reporter he believes Sternglass' view is based on an incorrect interpretation of how radioactive debris — released by an exploding ABM — would be deployed.

NOT LOW BLASTS

He said Sternglass was assuming incorrectly that the defensive explosions all would take place at comparatively low altitudes in the atmosphere — thus depositing relatively large quantities of fallout on the earth, and relatively quickly.

Lapp also indicated he felt Sternglass was applying to high exploding missiles fallout data gleaned from nuclear bursts at comparatively low altitudes.

In contrast, he indicated, the American defensive system is designed to have the explosions occur at altitudes at least 10 miles high.

News at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of President John F. Kennedy was transferred without ceremony last night from the temporary grave it has occupied since his assassination in 1963 to its permanent resting place in a granite memorial a few yards away. The bodies of two children who died before their father, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and a stillborn infant, will lie near the president's body in the memorial.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savor for a moment the figure $1,529,700,000,000. That's trillion, not billion, and the Treasury Department says it represents total outstanding debt — federal, individual, state, local and corporate — as of last Dec. 31. The total increased $99.1 billion in one year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was reported today still planning to return to New York from the Bahamas Sunday despite a court's refusal to consider an appeal from his criminal contempt citation which makes him subject to arrest in the state.

Commission Gets Proposal to Void Taubman Plan

A 10-point proposal calling for voiding of the Taubman Plan and launching of a new downtown redevelopment effort was received without comment last night by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Related Stories, Pages A-2, C-8

The letter declared the CCPPP to be in "full support" of a revamped development plan, advocated use of urban research performed by the University of Detroit, and urged close observance of regulations of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

A previous formal protest filed by the committee branding the Taubman agreement as "illegal" is still in the hands of federal HUD officials in Chicago.

★ ★ ★

HUD's decision on that protest, as well as federal action on a previous order forbidding conveyance of the city's urban renewal lands, is still pending.

City Judge Fines GTW $500

CECIL B. McCALLUM

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum levied $500 in fines against the Grand Trunk Western Railroad yesterday after finding the railroad guilty of five separate crossing violations.

★ ★ ★

The one-day total nearly equals the accumulated assessments ($580) paid by the railroad since 1955, according to traffic court records.

The complaints, four citations by police and one sworn out by a citizen, each alleged that trains had blocked crossings longer than the five minutes permitted by city ordinance 1275.

"Maybe that will wake them up some," declared McCallum, who offered 15-day jail terms as alternatives to the fine in each of the complaints.

"I think they're trying to attain efficiency by putting 100 or more cars behind these engines.

'PUBLIC EXPENSE'

"That's okay — they're a business — but they can't buy efficiency at public expense."

★ ★ ★

McCallum had stated previously that mechanical breakdowns and blocked switches were valid reasons for dismissal of complaints.

★ ★ ★

Following yesterday's hearing, however, he said "many of the breakdowns are apparently being caused by overloading the engines."

Winter's Slowly Losing Its Grip

Winter is gradually losing its grip on the Pontiac area.

Temperatures will fall to 15 to 25 tonight and rise into the 30s tomorrow.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday are expected to be warmer but the first of the week will be colder.

Little precipitation is expected. The forecast calls for one-tenth of an inch or less in rain or snow during the period.

Today's north to northeast winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will become light and variable tonight.

CHILLY

A chilly 30 degrees was the low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading was 32 at 2 p.m.

FBI Says Serious Crime Up During '66

WASHINGTON—Serious crime in the United States increased 11 per cent in 1966 when compared with 1965, according to figures made available today through the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports.

★ ★ ★

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said all Crime Index offenses showed substantial increases in volume.

Crimes of violence were up 11 per cent with a 9 per cent increase in murder, 10 per cent in aggravated assault, 10 per cent in forcible rape and robbery 14 per cent.

The crimes against property also increased 11 per cent as a group. Individually, burglary rose 9 per cent while larceny $50 and over in value and auto theft were each up 12 per cent.

Hoover said crime increases were reported by all city groups, with the sharpest change in volume having been noted in the group of cities with less than 10,000 inhabitants up 14 per cent. Large cities with populations in excess of 100,000 had an average increase of 10 per cent. The rural areas were up 7 per cent and crime in the suburbs rose 13 per cent.

The crime increases, according to Hoover, were consistent throughout all geographic regions. The southern states were up 13 per cent, the north central states 11 per cent, the western states 10 per cent and the northeastern states 9 per cent.

The FBI director, in reiterating the need for adequate firearms legislation, noted that serious assaults where a gun was used had a sharp 23 per cent jump during 1966.

Robberies where a weapon was used rose 12 per cent. Hoover pointed out that 6 of every 10 murders were committed with the use of a firearm. Of these, 71 per cent were handguns, 17 per cent shotguns and 12 per cent rifles or other type firearm.

The figures released by the FBI disclosed that, in 1966, police arrests of adults for all criminal acts excluding traffic offenses dropped 1 per cent. At the same time, however, arrests of persons under 18 years of age increased 9 per cent.

In cities with over 100,000 population, adult arrests were down 3 per cent and juvenile arrests were up 7 per cent. The suburban areas recorded increases in both adult and juvenile arrests of 2 per cent and 11 per cent, respectively.

DECLINE NOTED

Arrests of adults in rural areas declined 3 per cent while juvenile arrests increased 9 per cent.

Nationally, police solutions of the Crime Index offenses averaged 25 per cent. According to data furnished to the FBI by local law enforcement agencies, the police solved 89 per cent of the murder, 72 per cent of the aggravated assault, 65 per cent of the forcible rape, 35 per cent of the robbery and 21 per cent of the property offenses.

'Oregon-Style' Primary Eyed for State

LANSING (UPI) — A Democratic-sponsored bill to set up a presidential primary election in Michigan was met with more than a glimmer of interest yesterday by Republicans, who have a candidate they'd like to run.

Many of them saw it as an ideal way to purge the Michigan party of conservative elements who don't even want to see Gov. Romney running as Michigan's favorite son, let alone as a serious candidate.

But Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, who is the sole sponsor of the bill, said he'd put it in to "give Michigan voters a more direct voice in choosing their presidential candidates."

The plan is an adaptation of the Oregon primary system, in that the secretary of state on February 2 of a presidential year starting in 1968 would declare who he thinks to be candidates in each party and order their names printed on the primary ballot.

A named candidate then could do one of two things before March 15: file an affidavit that he's not a candidate; or file a list of friendly potential delegates to his party's national convention to run for him.

APRIL ELECTION

The election would be held the first Tuesday in April, and the batch of delegates pledged to whichever candidate corners the most votes would be elected and cast all Michigan's delegate votes for him at the convention.

Montgomery's bill also provides for new state conventions to be held to elect national convention delegates in case the winning candidate did not file a list of his preferred representatives.

"This is very exciting," enthused GOP Executive Vice Chairman William McLaughlin about the prospect of a presidential primary.

* * *

"Let's let the people have their say. I'd really like to see it happen."

LESS COMMITMENT

But the closer one got to Michigan's potential candidate, the less commitment there was.

* * *

A spokesman for Romney Associates — the group that's helping the governor decide whether to go for the nomination — said it was "too early to comment" on primary possibilities.

U.S. Alert in 2nd Rocket Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners firing from a maximum range of seven miles unloaded 15 big rockets on the giant U.S. air base at Da Nang today and had to flee under a hail of return fire less than two minutes later.

Stung by a similar rocket attack on the base two and a half weeks ago, the Marines were alert for this one. Radar-directed gunfire was being laid on the Red launching positions within 120 seconds of the first explosion inside the base, U.S. spokesmen reported.

Helicopter gunships pounced on the Red positions. Flare ships unloaded 135 parachute flares. Two of the twin-engine C47s, called "Puff the Magic Dragon" because of their special Gatling guns, sprayed the Red positions with 55,700 rounds of minigun amunition.

The Communists' 140mm Soviet rockets, the biggest in their arsenal, damaged three U.S. planes and injured 16 American soldiers.

NO WOUNDED

A U.S. spokesman announcing the casualties admitted somewhat sheepishly that technically none was wounded.

"There was a sort of mad dash for the bunkers up there," he said. "The casualties were all sprained backs, scraped knees and things like that. That is why we used the word injured."

* * *

The three planes will be repaired, the spokesman said.

In the last rocket attack on Da Nang Feb. 27, the first in which the Communists used the 140mm weapons, the Reds fired 52 rounds into the base and an adjacent civilian village, killed 19 Americans and 32 South Vietnamese and wounded 35 Americans and 70 Vietnamese.

GROUND SWEEP

Other significant items listed in the daily military communique included a ground sweep in the Kontum area by U.S. 4th Infantry Division soldiers in which 17 Americans were killed and 26 were wounded Tuesday, and the salvage of a Communist arms-running trawler that has already disgorged 700 Chinese carbines and a small arsenal of other arms and ammunition.

* * *

U.S. pilots hit North Vietnam with 116 missions Tuesday and four destroyers pounded the North Vietnamese coast. One destroyer was fired upon but silenced the Communist shore battery without damage to itself.

Foes of Consular Treaty Plan New Moves Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty try today to tie the proposed pact to the Vietnam war.

Up for consideration are three reservations, or understandings, that would make implementation of the treaty dependent on withdrawal of Soviet support of the North Vietnamese.

* * *

Backers of the pact, who claim such conditions would destroy chances for Soviet acceptance, defeated 65 to 22 Tuesday another reservation by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

It would have required the Soviets to allow as many American newsmen in the Communist nation as Soviet newsmen are here. It also called for letting U.S. consular officials distribute expressions of U.S. policy in the Soviet press.

5 HOURS OF DEBATE

Another Mundt reservation — this one to require the President to inform Congress that Soviet aid wasn't prolonging the Vietnam war — is ticketed for five hours of debate today.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., has offered another reservation that would postpone the effective date of the pact until the President tells Congress "that the Soviet Union has ceased all military support and assistance of any kind . . . to North Vietnam."

* * *

Still another attempt to qualify acceptance of the treaty is proposed by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. The Maine Republican wants the Senate to express hope no Soviet consulates would be opened in the United States until the Vietnam war comes to "an honorable conclusion.

Amendments can be adopted by majority vote, but to be ratified, the pact must win two-thirds approval.

* * *

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he is hoping to bring the treaty itself to a vote before the weekend.

Finance Group to Meet Again on City Needs

Asked by the City Commission to devise a "short-term solution" to Pontiac's tax needs, the Pontiac Finance Study Committee will reconvene tonight at 7:30 at City Hall.

The committee previously voted 20-2 in favor of a city income tax.

Acting committee chairman Edward E. Barker Jr. met with city commissioners and City Manager Joseph A. Warren behind closed doors last night after the commission meeting.

Oil-Storage Building Lost in Holly Fire

The Mobil Oil warehouse at First and Front in Holly was destroyed by fire last night in a blaze which was battled for two hours.

* * *

The flames lighted the village sky and kept Grand Trunk Western trains from passing, said James Alexander, Holly Township assistant fire chief.

He said the building was used to store bulk and canned oil and gasoline products. Fire from an undetermined cause broke out at 10:55 p.m., and was not under control until after 1 a.m., today, Alexander said.

Along with destruction of the building and its contents, two gasoline tank trucks stored in the building were also destroyed, he said. Losses amounted to $7,500.

Acting Police Chief Named

Pontiac Police Capt. Harry Nye, presently patrol bureau commander, has been appointed acting police chief from March 20 to June 11.

* * *

The vacancy will be created by Police Chief William K. Hanger's attendance at the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy.

The appointment was confirmed to city commissioners at their meeting last night.

Police staff commanders had been informed of the decision last week.

* * *

Nye will assume the post upon Hanger's departure at the end of this week.

SCHEDULED RETURN

Hanger is scheduled to return from the academy June 8.

Nye, 50, joined the department in 1942. He was promoted to sergeant in 1953 and to lieutenant in 1956.

His appointment as captain was made Oct. 31, 1965.

* * *

Nye has received two meritorious citations, one in 1942 and a second in 1948.

Warren said Nye would be paid a salary equivalent to the rate of a starting chief, about $960 a month.

'Phantom Sniper' Is Sane, Say 4 Ionia Psychiatrists

Four staff members of Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane testified yesterday in Ionia Circuit Court that Oakland County's "phantom sniper," Gary Addison Taylor, is now sane.

The hearing, which could result in the release of Taylor, 31, of Royal Oak, was scheduled to resume late this afternoon before Judge Leo Bebeau.

During the 10-hour hearing yesterday two of the four psychiatrists who testified said that if they were in control they would free Taylor.

Taylor was committed last May after being acquitted in Oakland County Circuit Court of attempted murder by reason of insanity.

* * *

The superintendent of Ionia, Dr. A. A. Birzgalis, testified yesterday that he was opposed to freeing Taylor.

SEEKING RELEASE

Seeking the release of Taylor is attorney Rex O'Connor of the Ionia law firm of O'Connor and McNamara, retained by Taylor's parents.

On Feb. 20, Dr. James A. Peal, then assistant director of mental health for the state, testified at a hearing that it was his opinion that Taylor should be released.

Peal was allowed to testify at that time because he had resigned his position and was leaving for a new job in California.

* * *

Taylor has been in and out of mental institutions since 1957 when he was arrested a few hours after wounding a Bloomfield Hills girl with a shot from a 22-caliber rifle.

RELEASED IN 1961

Released in 1961, he was later recommitted after he attacked two Detroit women with a butcher knife.

* * *

During a hearing before Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore last year, Dr. William Gordon, a Detroit psychiatrist, testified that Taylor had "uncontrollable drives" which he had exhibited toward women since he was 14 years old.

Johnson Lauds 'Old Hickory'

200th Birthday of Ex-President Marked

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Johnson, marking the 200th birthday of Andrew Jackson in an area where states rights often has been a political issue, lauded Jackson today for believing "the national government represented the people, not the states."

In an address prepared for delivery at Jackson's home — the Hermitage — Johnson said this belief of the seventh president "triumphed in his time."

* * *

But he said "the torch of union", which Jackson lit sputtered out under later presidents. Otherwise, he said, "we might well have abolded the holocaust of Civil War."

* * *

Johnson, making an early morning flight here from Washington, scheduled three formal speeches in Tennessee — his first outside Washington since his Asian tour last fall.

TRIPS URGED

Some regional leaders of the Democratic party have been urging the chief executive to undertake more speech-making trips around the country.

In Tennessee, the President joined his touring wife to appear at the Hermitage, address a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature on Vietnam and help dedicate a new community college at Columbia, 50 miles from Nashville.

* * *

In his Hermitage text, Johnson said that Jackson "began an era of competitive political activity, based on the ideal of the citizen as a full participant in the life of the community."

This task remains unfinished, he said.

What Lent Means to Me

DR. LOWELL EKLUND

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 30th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

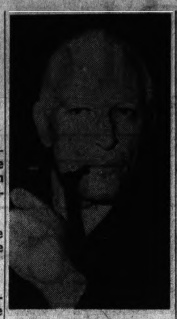

By DR. LOWELL EKLUND
Dean of Continuing Education, Oakland University

The great significance of Lent is the implication for each of us as an annual self-inventory time. To us, as both the products and instruments of a divine plan, the process of periodic self-review is not only a divine blessing but, in consequence, an obligation.

The durability of our national fabric is determined by the moral rebirth and the spiritual renewal of America's individual citizens. Our material strength is infinite and unquestioned. Our real challenge lies in the realm of heart and spiritual purpose, and in the nurturing of high values.

If only to the extent that Lent can serve as a stimulus to self-renewal and improvement, we all should honor and engage it—irrespective of our faith or creed.

It is a truism for both self and nation that when we fail to be better we may cease even to be good.

SEN. DODD

Dodd: No One Took My Offer

Dinner Ticket Buyers Can Obtain Refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says he has had no takers on his offer of cash refunds to persons who may have brought tickets to testimonials for him under the impression the money would be used only for his campaign expenses.

That was the Connecticut Democrat's reply to a reporter's question as the Senate Ethics Committee indicated it is nearing the end of its presentation of evidence in the investigation of Dodd's financial affairs.

* * *

Benjamin R. Fern, the bipartisan committee's chief counsel, said as of now he plans to call only three more witnesses.

Two, Terry Golden and Michael V. O'Hare, are former employes of Dodd. The third, Edward Lockett, was hired to ghostwrite for the senator a book about subversion.

SIX WITNESSES

The committee heard six witnesses Tuesday, including political allies of the senator who testified that funds they helped raise for him at dinners, receptions and other events were for Dodd to use as he saw fit.

They said this was the case despite a resolution and letters linking the fund-raising to political campaign activities.

* * *

The principal speakers at the events staged in Dodd's behalf were President Johnson—then the vice president—and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Dodd told the Senate last week that not a single donor to any of these functions "has ever contended that they thought they were contributing to my campaign" for reelection in 1964.

DOUBLE BILLING?

He offered to return the money of anyone who advised him they felt they had been misled, then said in an interview no one has asked him for a refund.

The calling of O'Hare, Dodd's former office manager, indicated the committee was going to take up allegations that the senator was reimbursed both by the Senate and private organizations for a number of trips.

Dodd has acknowledged seven instances of double billing, but he put the blame on O'Hare, whom he called "probably one of the most inefficient and sloppy bookkeepers who ever lived."

O'Hare, who testified at the committee's hearings last summer on Dodd's relations with public relations man Julius Klein, admitted he took part in removing documents from the senator's office and turning them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

U.S. Aid for Electric Car Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd expressed opposition Tuesday to the government helping rush development of an electric car even though it would help reduce air pollution from exhaust fumes.

At the same time, Boyd said government standards on auto exhaust "are not sufficiently stringent and must be improved."

He told a Senate Commerce subcommittee on pollution that a decision on getting the federal government so firmly involved in financing research for the electric car should wait a study now under way in the Commerce Department.

And Undersecretary of Commerce J. Herbert Hollomon told the subcommittee that direct federal support of electric car research could "dull current private initiative."

GAINING GROUND

Hollomon said industry research in this problem "appears to be gaining momentum."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, chairman of the subcommittee, said he isn't sure the industry is "moving with a sense of urgency" on combatting pollution.

Muskie said the auto industry is not sure it can cut down the amount of hydrocarbon released below the antipollution standards required in California by 1970.

Boyd said he doesn't know yet if that is low enough. New cars in 1968 will be required by federal law to cut down nearly to California's 1970 standards.

800 PARTICLES

Muskie said cars now emit 800 particles of pollutant per million particles of exhaust. In 1968, that will go down to 250. California's 1970 standard is 180.

County Moves to Modernize Airport

Recent developments sound a heartening note for the development of the Pontiac Municipal Airport that Oakland County recently acquired from the City.

At a recent conference with Congressional figures in Washington, assurance was given a local group representing County government and civic interests that the local facility would be given Federal cooperation in upgrading it commensurate with its rating as Michigan's third busiest airport.

Ironically, it is the only one of the State's 12 most active airports without an instrument landing system (ILS). This deficiency is expected to be remedied soon, with the Government installing the system and sharing equally with the County the cost of land acquisition required by it.

Installation of ILS is but the first step projected for the improvement of the airport in the years ahead to be financed by County appropriations and Federal aid.

Air transportation, both public and private, is expanding at a breathtaking rate, and a community that fails to keep abreast by providing an adequate airport is deliberately turning its back on progress.

With our airport under the capable administration of the County government and ample resources for expansion thus assured, there can be no doubt that the community facility will measure up to the requirements of the air age.

Could Happen!

U.S. Foreign Aid Pays Off in South Korea

South Korean Premier Il Kown Chung, who arrived in Washington yesterday for an unofficial visit, comes as the representative of a country no longer in need of handouts.

Nearly 500,000 civilians died in the Korean war and damage to South Korea's economy was estimated at $3 billion. Since 1953, the United States has given Seoul about $4.5 billion in various kinds of assistance. And now South Korea is thriving.

During the first five-year plan, 1962-66, South Korean economic growth averaged almost 8.5 per cent a year, as compared with an average rate of 5.1 per cent for the previous seven-year period. Deputy Premier Chang Key Young believes that the goals of the second five-year plan will be met in three and one-half years.

Such high and sustained growth would be remarkable in any country. It is especially impressive in a land that has little mining, manufacturing or power facilities, and that must devote 30 per cent of its national budget to maintaining a 600,000-man military establishment. One of the goals of the current five-year plan is elimination of South Korea's dependence on American subsidies for the armed forces.

★ ★ ★

South Koreans soon will have two opportunities to express their opinion of their country's progress. A presidential election is expected to take place in late April, the National Assembly elections about a month later. Opponents of President Chung Hee Park have accused him of rigging the election. But rigging hardly seems necessary in prosperous South Korea.

Police Recruitment Fall Gives Lift to Crime

Rookie policemen in Washington, D.C. are paid $6,700 a year. So are rookie firemen. But the Metropolitan Police Department is 300 men below its authorized strength of 3,100, while the Fire Department has more job applications than jobs. When would-be firemen were invited last year to apply for police jobs, none did so.

At a time when more and better policemen are needed, fewer men than ever are interested in law enforcement careers. And many of those who do apply fail to pass entrance examinations. The primary cause of the police manpower shortage, many veteran officers feel, is the lack of respect accorded the man in blue and the restrictions imposed by our high courts that hamstring him in the effective performance of his duty.

Under the circumstances, it is no wonder that the crime rate has been steadily mounting. The F. B. I. appropriately points out that the crime rate is in reality a "victim risk rate," for "It must be kept in mind that crime counts do not represent the number of criminals but, more accurately, the number of victims."

It is hard to see how President Johnson's nationwide war on crime can have any meaningful effect until somehow the image of policemen is restored to its onetime status of public respect and redressed are the eccentricities of the U.S. Supreme Court the effect of which handcuffs the policeman instead of the criminal.

Truman's Critics Outdid LBJ's

By James Marlow
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The changing times have had a quieting effect on Congress. There is still just as much noise from the Capitol. But it's a different kind of noise.

MARLOW

And, just because it is, President Johnson doesn't get the same kind of lashing that was inflicted on President Harry S. Truman. One reason, of course, is that the cast of characters in Congress has changed.

But that's only a minor part of the reason. The attitude in the country is different.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal ended in 1938 with the passage of the minimum wage law. From then on, Roosevelt and the country put all their resources into getting ready for a war and then fighting it.

On Sept. 2, 1945, Japan formally surrendered and, four days later, Truman sent a message to Congress. He had the tremendous task of reconverting the country to peace. He never forgot that day, as he made clear in his memoirs.

★ ★ ★

"It was on that day," he wrote, "and with that message that I first spelled out the details of the program of liberalism and progressivism which was to be the foundation of my administration."

TO CARRY ON

He wanted to carry on with the unfinished New Deal and asked Congress for extension of Social Security, an increase in the minimum wage, national health insurance (now Medicare), continued war against slums, new regional developments like the TVA, a full employment bill, and continuance of wartime economic controls.

But, at that time, Congress in both houses was mostly dominated by a coalition of conservative Republicans, led by Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Southern Democrats.

Taft, more than any one man, was Truman's constant critic. There was such unbroken uproar and opposition to Truman that the Democrats lost control of Congress to the Republicans in 1946.

Bit by bit, Truman got some of his proposals through but Congress took one momentous step. It wouldn't give him a "full employment act" but it gave him an Employment Act in 1946.

In that act, for the first time in American history, Congress said the federal government had a responsibility for the general welfare. All the progressive social legislation which followed in the years since then can be considered a natural consequence of both the nation's needs and the responsibility the government had to assume as a result of that act of 1946.

David Lawrence Says:

Legality of Political Gifts Hazy

WASHINGTON — The whole question of what is unlawful or unethical in the contribution of money to the campaign of a person seeking federal office is not set forth clearly in the laws of the land. Nor are violations of such laws always prosecuted when they should be.

LAWRENCE

There are lots of things wrong with the present system. First of all, the Department of Justice is a political arm of the administration in power, and often in the past has undertaken prosecutions only when public opinion has forced the issue.

The prosecution of federal offenses should be delegated to an agency of government independent of the President or the Cabinet and responsible only to Congress for its reports of action taken, as is the case with the Comptroller General's Office.

The case of Sen. Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, Democrat, appears on its face to be unusual, but it bears a resemblance to many other situations in which elected officials sometimes find themselves.

They pay out their own funds for campaign expenses and later get gifts or contributions which enable them to meet personal expenses that were not paid previously because campaign necessities came first.

Conceding that few, if any, of the donors expected rewards in the form of help in getting an appointment or some other favor, doesn't the present system seem to put the official under obligation?

As for the case of Sen. Dodd, it may be doubted whether he himself deliberately violated any laws.

The question of whether he put himself under obligation to various donors is in the domain of ethics.

The Senate and House have been confronted with this kind of problem before but have never dealt with it satisfactorily. One reason is that campaigns are expensive, and many candidates are at a disadvantage when they happen to be running against millionaires.

One solution suggested is for Congress to appropriate public money for political campaigns, but proposals thus far are by no means comprehensive.

Reforms of this kind seem a long way off, and that's why cases like those of Sen. Dodd will crop up again and again.

Indeed, Congress would find many similar situations if it ventured to examine the private finances of all members when elected.

Men of integrity, however, who have the courage to turn down a campaign contributor with a doubtful motivation may seem to be rare, but there are a good many such persons in public office today. So the outlook is not as grim as it may appear to be.

Bob Considine Says:

Late Inventor Appears to Be Victim of Injustice

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . .

A grave injustice seems to have been done to the good name and high achievement of the late Vincent J. Burnelli. Burnelli, who died in 1964, was encouraged by the Inventions and Contributions Board of the National Space Agency to file an application for an award.

CONSIDINE

This pioneering aeronautical engineer and inventor held patents on the so-called "lifting body" design since 1921. It enables the passenger or cargo section of a plane to assist the wings or fins in keeping it aloft, instead of dragging like an anchor.

NASA and several of its contractors have utilized Burnelli's work without compensation. His widow and children, whom he left in need, have appealed in vain for recognition of his claims.

Their plea is now in Vice President Humphrey's office.

The shades of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and other Yankee greats must have stirred uneasily the other night when NBC-TV videotaped its upcoming two-hour special "Damn Yankees," starring Jim Backus, Phil Silvers, Lee Remick and Ray Middleton.

The original book and musical were a flaming preachment against the invulnerability of the Yanks, their incessant domination of baseball, their endless pennants and World Series triumphs.

The Yankees finished tenth and last in the A.L. last season and have some trepidation about doing much better this coming season.

So, to keep from rewriting the entire script, NBC-TV retained Joe Garagiola to introduce the show with one of those "There once was a legend" speeches.

"It's a period piece," Backus, who plays the choice role of manager of the Senators and sings "You Gotta Have Heart," told us at Shor's place as he instinctively blew the creamy foam off an Irish Coffee.

Saddest thing I've ever heard said about my favorite ball club.

P.S. — The Yankees are owned by CBS, who denies it is looking for a summer replacement for them.

Finest, warmest standing ovation I've ever witnessed in a New York supper club saluted Ray Bolger when he concluded the final gifted step and patter of his recent run at the Waldorf. It went on and on.

Question and Answer

If I were to build a house in Pontiac that would be assessed at $9,800, how much would I have to pay in taxes for city, schools and county at present rates?

INTERESTED IN TAXES

REPLY

This year's rates haven't been established yet, but based on last year's rate of $55.60 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation, city, school, county and Community College taxes on the house you want to build would be $544.88.

Grim Prospect

The Columbus Dispatch

If the Pentagon's dismal projection of 100,000 American deaths in Vietnam in 1967 is borne out there is obviously something wrong about our war there above and beyond our being involved in the first place.

Either we are not bombing enough or bombing is not the way to take the edge off the Communist thrust southward from Hanoi.

★ ★ ★

Beginning with their tremendous marshalling of forces during our foolish suspension of bombing during the Tet observance, the North Vietnamese have been mounting a fresh offensive strength that indicates a greater freedom of movement than our controlled bombing strategy was planned to permit.

★ ★ ★

They are hitting our people with much heavier armament than was available to them south of the demilitarized zone before the Tet lull.

Hanoi's new weaponry includes 140mm rockets built and supplied by Russia. These have been identified in the field after taking a great toll of American and South Vietnamese civilian lives.

There is an impressive number of recoilless rifles of the 57 and 75mm calibre on the identified list and at least one ponderous 85mm antiaircraft gun has appeared south of the DMZ, apparently having been rolled south on its own wheels.

★ ★ ★

If this elevation of the scale of war by Hanoi continues there is nothing but prolonged trouble ahead.

We appear to be approaching a time when our alternatives will have been reduced to either getting out or going all out with no targets barred.

Trend Is Up

The Daily Oklahoman

From administration health officials comes a melancholy recital of soaring medical costs.

The administration's report to congress says there's "no evidence that Medicare" is a major factor, notwithstanding the sharp upward trend that occurred almost simultaneously with Medicare's advent in mid-1966.

Whatever the bearing of Medicare, the administration hardly can disclaim responsibility for the vastly broadened wage-hour provisions which figure prominently in the continuing upsurge of hospital costs.

The administration notes that the cost of a hospital bed to the patient rose from an average of $14.40 a day in 1950 to more than $45 a day in 1965, with the trend still upward.

★ ★ ★

Labor, of course, is a major ingredient in hospital costs, being responsible to an unusual degree for the charges that must be imposed by hospitals in order to remain solvent.

If the government insists on exerting upward pressures on costs, it shouldn't be suprised by the resulting rise in the prices being charged for everything from hospital services to automobiles.

★ ★ ★

Certainly the present taxes being imposed for the support of Medicare will prove inadequate quickly if medical costs rise in the next 10 years in anything like the degree that they have risen during the last 10 years.

And there isn't any reason to suppose they won't.

'Not Keeping Pace on Car Market Share'

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI)—Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lynn Townsend said yesterday that U. S. and Canadian auto makers are holding a declining share of the world production market.

He said the two nations turned out 11.3 million cars in 1966, a figure that accounted for 46 per cent of the world production.

The figure for 10 years ago, Townsend said, was 63 per cent.

"Our production of motor vehicles here in Canada and in the United States has been growing — but world production has been growing much faster," he said.

* * *

"So the Canadian-U. S. agreement on automotive tariffs was almost inevitable as a necessary step toward keeping our two countries competitive with the growing efficiency of automotive production in Western Europe and other parts of the world," he said.

WITHOUT TARIFFS

The agreement Townsend referred to was a pact which allows the exchange of original equipment parts and cars without tariff charges between the U. S. and Canada.

* * *

Townsend called for a long-term extension of the Automotive Trade Agreement when it comes up for renewal in 1968.

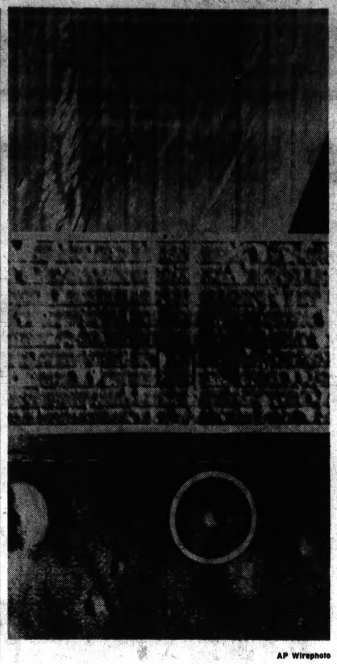

* * *

He said the agreement so far has "led to a healthy expansion of trade between our two countries," and has "stimulated the growth of the Canadian automotive industry."

UAW Skilled Mapping '67 Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Troubled by unrest within their ranks but holding veto power over new contracts, skilled tradesmen of the United Auto Workers union began gathering today to map demands they will make in 1967 bargaining.

More than 1,300 delegates representing 200,000 UAW skilled will begin drafting proposals Thursday which they will submit to the union's prebargaining general convention in Detroit April 20-22 for inclusion in contract goals this year. Meetings end Saturday.

* * *

A 1966 constitutional amendment permits various union segments—white collar, skilled and production — to vote separately on any new contracts. There must be approval by all segments for final ratification.

Skilled trades make up about a fourth of the UAW membership in the automotive industry.

UNREST CONCEDED

Douglas Fraser, a member of the UAW's international executive board and a codirector of its skilled trades department, concedes there is unrest among the tradesmen. UAW President Walter P. Reuther is the other codirector of the department.

* * *

Under pressure from the skilled, the UAW attempted unsuccessfully last year to win reopening of current contracts to gain tradesmen an immediate pay raise of at least 50 cents hourly.

Reuther promised then to work for "a substantial increase" for them in bargaining which opens in early July. Current contracts run out Sept. 5.

A "Dollar An Hour Now Committee" was organized by some dissident Detroit tradesmen when pressure was being applied for reopening, and that figure is likely to be proposed here.

HIGHER WAGES

Skilled men within the auto plants complain about what they say are higher wages paid tradesmen with comparable skills who are brought into the plants by outside contractors.

The skilled also are expected to demand that lines of demarcation be included in any new contracts. These would spell out in each classification just what would be expected of a worker, and prevent use of a tradesman in an area other than his specific one.

Interchange now is possible within the plants. Tradesmen claim the privilege is abused. The companies deny it and strenuously have fought establishment of lines of demarcation in the past.

Tradesmen also are likely to demand an end to the bringing in of outside contractors for such things as maintenance, machinery placement and repairs.

* * *

They insist this is work which should be done by UAW members. The companies insist the plants have neither the manpower nor equipment and have fought successfully to avoid what they term "this straitjacket."

Duluth Rejects City Income Tax

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Voters rejected a proposed city income tax by an overwhelming margin Tuesday, with 20,967 against and 3,716 in favor.

* * *

The proposal would have imposed a tax of one-half of one per cent on individuals' gross income and the same rate on net income of a business or corporation. The city council put it on the ballot as a means of finding $1 million more in critically needed revenue.

Family Therapy Draws Support

Cited as Shortcut to Good Mental Health

By Science Service

NEW YORK — Group psychotherapy is "still in swaddling clothes" and its practitioners have much to learn, delegates to the fifth annual Scientific Conference on Psychoanalysis agreed.

Theme of a day-long group of sessions, sponsored by the Council of Psychoanalytic Psychotherapists, Inc., was "Theory and Treatment of Emotional Disorders in Children."

Panelists and individual paper-readers, most of them practicing psychiatrists, varied in their ideas and modes of treatment.

But most had this consensus:

★ ★ ★

"Successful treatment of emotionally disturbed youngsters must also include investigation and, often, treatment of the entire family. Group psychotherapy can be a shortcut to good mental health."

SCAPEGOAT

Dr. Sanford N. Sherman, associate executive director of the Jewish Family Service, said in a panel discussion that sometimes the most apparently disturbed member of a family "may actually not be the cause of the real trouble; he may be a scapegoat, 'acting out' the feelings of parents or others."

In a panel chaired by Dr. Jacob E. Slutsky of Roslyn Heights, N.Y., a speaker recalled studies which seemed to show that some children with difficulties in learning to read "had mothers who were critical of them, did not like to touch them, and sometimes actively disliked them."

The study noted that one mother admitted finding her underachieving son "hard to like," whereas a tutor brought in in an attempt to teach him to read "found the boy an engaging little chap."

★ ★ ★

"We can't help Johnny learn to read until we help Mother," one said.

★ ★ ★

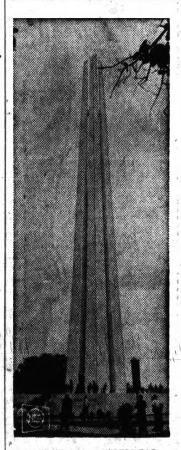

Some believe no child under age 9 can benefit from psychotherapy. But Dr. Tess Forrest, chairman of the Family Study Unit, William Alanson White Psychoanalytic Institute, said she had found youngsters of 4 "gave us valuable tips and even advice as to the root of family problems."

★ ★ ★

At one point in the history of pychoanalysis, teen-agers were regarded as "not suitable for psychotherapy," panelists reminded, "but now most agree they benefit, where such treatment is indicated."

The orchestra will perform in the International Shell during the Michigan rendezvous at the exposition.

Romney Travels Are Defended

LANSING (AP) — Defending Gov. George Romney's out-of-state travels, Senate Republicans charged Tuesday that the cost of such travel has been misrepresented to the taxpayers.

Romney's travel and expense allowance doesn't begin to cover the actual cost of official travel, Republicans said, adding that he has paid his own way for all "nonofficial" and some official travel.

The GOP charges came in the latest round of a continuing battle between Republicans and Democrats that began with Romney's seven-day tour of several western states last month.

The Democrats charge that Romney, considered a top contender for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, is using the travel for campaign purposes and is costing the state extra money in doing so.

HERE AND THERE

"There are some here and elsewhere who will continue to bemoan the governor's travels and even to misrepresent costs to our taxpayers," Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, told the Senate.

"But I for one am darned glad we have the governor we have to lead our state and to represent us wherever he goes," he added.

Vander Laan's statements followed presentation of a memorandum by Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, pointing out that Romney was in Cambridge, Mass., Tuesday.

Brown began issuing daily memos on Romney's whereabouts during the western trip. Republicans at first ignored them, then began to object.

'GIBBERISH'

"The time is long overdue that we dealt in facts instead of political gibberish," Vander Laan said, adding that Romney has spent 75 days away from Michigan, including 19 weekend days and a 15-day vacation, since Jan. 1, 1966.

"Gov. Romney also has spent eight days away for meetings and conferences of the National Governors' Conference, four days on business of the Midwest Governor's Conference and seven days on other official business such as congressional hearings on bills of importance to Michigan," Vander Laan said.

Romney also has responded to some special invitations, such as a college commencement and has participated extensively in the affairs of the Republican party, he added.

"Gov. Romney has never concealed his political responsibilities, nor has he denied the fact he is now exploring the question of whether he should seek our nation's highest elective office," the Grand Rapids senator said.

He also called attention to Lt. Gov. William Milliken's statement Monday that he has not accepted extra pay since last Jan. 1 for serving as acting governor in Romney's absence.

"In fact, this is a good opportunity to call attention to the manner in which our state takes care of its governor financially, wherever he is," Vander Laan said.

He said Romney is paid $40,000 a year and that his out-of-state travel and total expense allowance and that of his entire executive office staff totals $6,100 this year.

A Junior Editors Quiz About FISH PONDS

QUESTION: How do fish get into farm ponds?

ANSWER: Many farmers have found that it is profitable to raise fish in a pond. But to make it worthwhile, the fish life needs to be controlled. It is often more practical to do this in a new pond which has no fish at first.

Then where do the fish come from? Certainly not from the sky, as pictured in our false picture on top; rather from some hatchery which raises tiny fish for this purpose. The fish can be transported by tank and then dumped into the pond (main picture).

Advice for building ponds and how to stock them may be obtained from the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, or a State fish and game department. Fertilizer is generally put into the water, helping microscopic creatures to grow.

★ ★ ★

Small crustaceans feed on this plankton. Little fish called bluegills eat the crustaceans, bass eat the bluegills and the farmer catches the bass. Bass and bluegills are placed in the pond together when very small.

Hare Convalesces After Surgery

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare was discharged Tuesday from Lansing's Edward W. Sparrow Hospital after undergoing surgery for removal of a spinal disc. He is expected to convalesce at home for up to four weeks. Hare said he will handle his duties of office from his home during that time.

Teachers May Stop Work to Back 79

NEW YORK (AP) — A teachers' union has threatened work stoppages in the city's schools in support of 79 teachers who resigned at a Bronx Junior High School to protest attacks by pupils.

Dr. Nathan Brown, executive deputy superintendent of schools, said he would recommend that Dr. Bernard E. Donovan, the superintendent of schools, accept the resignations immediately unless the teachers change their minds and return to work. Donovan was in Albany Tuesday.

The written resignations from more than half the staff of J.H.S. 98 were submitted to the Board of Education Tuesday several hours after the school was forced to close at noon when only 36 teachers reported for classes. Those reporting crossed an orderly picket line set up by the protesting teachers.

About 100 teachers from other Bronx schools voted to resign Friday unless the Board of Education begins a new program to curb disruptive pupils.

Dan Sanders, a spokesman for the United Federation of Teachers, announced that other teachers in schools near J.H.S. 98 would be asked at a mass meeting to resign unless the controversy is resolved by Friday.

Teachers at the school have charged the Board of Education with failing to protect them adequately against physical and verbal abuse. The teachers also are protesting that they are overworked and that the school is overcrowded and in need of repairs.

Town Shakes as Bloomers Make Scene

When Camp Fire Girls began wearing blue serge walking bloomers to their knees in 1910 when the organization was founded, they met a storm of protest from many people who thought them improper.

In that era women were well hidden by floor-dragging, heel-catching hobble skirts and corseted bodices. The mayor of one city objected to girls coming in from a nearby camp and walking down the street in such immodest attire!

However, Luther Halsey Gulick, M.D., founder of Camp Fire Girls, was a pioneer in health education for women, and he fought to free girls from constricting fashions.

Dr. Gulick assured girls in 1912, when Camp Fire was begun in the Pontiac area, "Bloomers are rapidly coming into general use. There is no reason why girls should not wear them when camping, hiking, working at home, and when playing basketball or in other athletics.

"Skirts should be worn when the girl is alone on the street, at school, helping to marshall a crowd, or ushering."

CLOUSE PINNED

The middy blouse worn with the bloomers was pinned very tight on each side below the normal waistline, and black stockings and tennis shoes completed the outfit.

★ ★ ★

One early member of a midwestern city group recalls that Camp Fire Girls staged reviews then which entailed some fancy steps, and that she could not remember a single event "when the elastic in some girl's bloomer didn't give way. The girl would go dancing merrily along with one bloomer leg down to her ankles and the other one staying in its proper place, which, because of its great fullness, pretty well concealed her knee."

The bloomers were made of serge for winter and heavy cotton for summer. They were discarded about 30 years ago for modern shorts.

Go as Guests

Two guests, Mrs. Paul Conover and Mrs. Charles Shiplett, were present at Tuesday's meeting of the Land O' Oak chapter, American Business Women's Association.

The group gathered for dinner in the Waldron Hotel to hear Carl Cronkright talk on "Wigs and Hair Styling."

Eleven-year-old twins, Sharon (left) and Sherri Panchuk of Osage Circle, show off today's and yesterday's uniforms of the Camp Fire Girls. Sherri's dates back to 1912. Both are navy blue and white. This week marks the 57th anniversary of the organization.

Camp Fire Girls Mark 57th Year

Starting today with Founders Day, the Camp Fire Girls of the country are celebrating their 57th birthday. The theme for all Camp Fire activities is "Today's Program for Today's Girl."

★ ★ ★

Local members of the organization have a number of events scheduled for the next seven days.

★ ★ ★

● There are exhibits and displays in many parts of the Pontiac area.

★ ★ ★

● The girls are presenting puppet shows and plays for PTA's and other groups.

● Winter cookouts at Camp Oweki near Clarkston are on the agenda for some groups. On Saturday girls from all over the area will meet there for a gigantic birthday party.

★ ★ ★

Arrangements for the day are under the direction of Mrs. Melvin Norberg, Pontiac and Mrs. Donald Campbell of Rochester.

FAMILY OUTINGS

Camp Fire Girl families in Waterford are having a roller skating party. Lake Orion families chose a pot luck dinner.

★ ★ ★

In addition to attending church services this coming weekend, many groups are taking special trips to places of interest.

All groups are getting ready for the annual candy sale, April 8-22.

★ ★ ★

Over 1200 girls in the Pontiac area are now involved in the four levels of the program from Blue Birds who are second and third graders, up through Horizon Club members in grades nine through 12.

★ ★ ★

The Pontiac Area Council of Camp Fire Girls is a member-agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Tell Her in Kind Way

Groom-to-Be Wants Out

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am in a very awkward and embarrassing situation and need some help in getting out of it gracefully.

ABBY

I am a school teacher who met this very nice young woman who is also a school teacher, and we started going together. In the course of the year we saw each other a great deal, and I went so far as to tell her I "loved" her and wanted to marry her. I even spoke to her parents about it.

My problem is that I really don't feel that I am ready for marriage, but I am in so deep now, I don't know how to get out. How can I tell her and her parents? I promised her a ring soon.

NOT READY

★ ★ ★

DEAR NOT: If you feel that you are not "ready" for marriage — depend upon it, you aren't. Tell the young lady in the kindest way you can. And the sooner — the better.

It will be an unpleasant ordeal at best, but considering the alternative, it's the only solution.

Excessive Casual Spending Can Rob You

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

When I hear a man say "I don't know where the money goes, but we never seem to have a cent," I'm tempted to ask him: "Would you settle for that kind of report from an employee who handled your office funds?"

And when an otherwise smart business-woman tells me "My money just seems to vanish in thin air before the end of the month," I'm curious to know if she'd take that excuse from an employer in place of a paycheck.

MARY FEELEY

* * *

How we kid ourselves! If we don't know where our money goes, it's because we'd rather not look. Simon-pure as we are with other people's money, we still connive, month in and month out, to pick our own pockets.

The trouble with casual pocket-picking is that it often cheats you out of some worthwhile wants you might otherwise be able to afford. I'm talking now about the modest wants from day to day most of us have—not the yachts and chinchillas.

As a down-to-earth example: one woman I know, on a limited income, kept saying how much she needed a lamp for the bedroom and how she just didn't know when she'd ever be able to afford it. It cost $18, and she just didn't have that extra money.

I asked her what small expenditures she'd made in the past month. First she said "none." Then she began to think back. She recalled she'd bought a blouse on sale, just $4.98 — which she hadn't worn.

Then she'd bought a dollar chance on a lottery. And she picked up a $2 curler caddy for her young daughter, which was too bad because the daughter already had one. A set of glasses in the supermarket had looked gay, so she'd gotten six — only $3 — and she figured maybe she'd find use for them.

Her little boy had pleaded for a new feeding dish for his pup — $1.98 — though the old one would have served. And she had ordered a $2.50 hang-around-the-neck magnifying glass she saw pictured in a catalogue because it seemed like a good idea — though she wasn't sure just what she'd use it for.

The only other "miscellaneous" expense she could recall was a subscription to a publication — $3 — which she would never have bought if the young man hadn't rung the doorbell when she was too busy to argue.

* * *

Total casual spending, $18.46. But still no lamp for the bedroom.

This month she's going to try new tactic: every time she's tempted to spend a dollar here or there, she'll ask herself: "Do I want that more than the lamp?" So she'll hold fast to the mental image of that objective and, so help her, come up with $18 at the end of the month!

There's nothing dull about keeping a record — and a brake — on small spending when you are going to be rewarded for your effort. And so often you are. There's one thing for sure: the person who spends every cent of his income for what he needs and wants, after careful planning, never asks: "Where on earth does my money go?"

Polly's Pointers

Color on Calendar

DEAR POLLY — This is a time of year when every member of the family has many activities and dates to remember. There are Scout meetings, piano lessons, baby sitting jobs, P.T.A., dad's lodge night, and so on. I keep a calendar for all the family, and use a different colored marker for each member.

I circle dates for my husband and myself with red, green for my teen-age daughter and blue for our 10-year-old.

They find this very helpful an just glance at the calendar to see if their particular color shows for that day.—Mrs. F.D.

DEAR POLLY — I would appreciate knowing some games and things to make that would keep a 2-year-old and a 5-year-old busy. I have a friend who started a scrapbook of such ideas and it comes in very handy for weekends and school vacations.—DONNA.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is a help for keeping the covers clean on the children's beds. I buy two yards of 36-inch material, fold it lengthwise, sew across each end and then slip this over the top of the quilt or blanket.

Although you put the children to bed clean they seem to have a way of getting the covers dirty. This strip can be laundered as often as you like. MRS. R. H. B.

DEAR GIRLS — Such slips could be made from the good parts of old sheets, too. Would save buying even two yards of new fabric.—POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — A group of us were discussing the beating of only one or two eggs at a time. I mentioned that when beating such a little amount, I place the egg in a cup and use my portable mixer with only one beater inserted and find it work very well. They all immediately said I should send this in to Polly's Pointers. —MRS. C.S.

* * *

DEAR POLLY — Perhaps some of the dieters among your readers would find my simple trick helpful. When I feel that urge to nibble I find that by brushing my teeth instead my intentions are diverted and my mouth feels much too clean and fresh to want to eat anything — MRS. R.S.L.

Deflating for Mothers

It's Bicycle Season Again

By JEAN SAILE

Blame it all on a flabby caveman—the thinker who cut down a tree and used the logs to roll his freshly killed game home.

He put the world on wheels. But more than that he put preadolescents on wheels—and by so doing ruined the first three weeks of spring weather for a good many suburban mothers.

There might be a few families where bicycle repairs needed last fall were taken care of last fall, but open the rest of our garage doors and see what meets the eye.

Bicycles with flat tires, bicycles being revamped with banana seats, bicycles with bent frames and bicycles in need of paint.

A banana seat?

The "in" mother will tell that a banana seat is an elongated seat requiring use of the seat post and two braces—both of which are apt to be screwed on backwards by an inept mechanic.

'WORLD WILL END'

Standing by are at least two youngsters, both wailing, "Everybody else is riding bikes!"

And there is mother—caught in the knowledge that father is at his city job and will not be home till late and the Cub Scout bike hike is only one day away.

"Ah, this one with a slipped chain should be simple to fix," she thinks.

LOOSENS CHAIN

She loosens the thingamabob on the back wheel to loosen the chain enough so it can slip around the sprocket (?) in the center.

By the time she gets the chain unlinked and around the sprocket (?), she's grease to the elbows and smeared of brow, and she's still got to tighten the little thingamabob in back.

★ ★ ★

About that time daughter rides in and reports ladylike that the front fender is making too much noise—it embarrasses her.

ROSY GLOW

Mother, still in the rosy glow of the previous job done, says, "Why, we can fix that!"

Father returns about dusk to find no dinner on the table, a wife with dirty fingernails and HER demons freewheeling on the still-soggy lawn.

The only consolation for both is the thought that in a few years it will probably be sports cars.

Everyone knows bicycles are less complicated than sports cars. Yah, and noticeably less expensive.

CLIFFORD COTTRELL

Village Dissidents Take 'Extreme'

By JANICE KLOUSER

WOLVERINE LAKE — What recourse does the average citizen have when he is dissatisfied with the way his local government is being run?

- He can run for office himself.
- He can seek out someone else who thinks as he does to run for office.
- Or, in the extreme, he can start a movement to secede or detach his area from the governmental unit and join another.

A group of apparently dissatisfied citizens in the southeastern portion of the village is taking the extreme. The residents are seeking to annex about a third of the village to the neighboring city of Walled Lake.

KLOUSER

Petitions to that effect were filed with the Oakland County Board of Supervisors Monday.

The reasoning, according to one of the leaders of the movement, is that Walled Lake can provide a better tax base because of its industry and that it can provide water and sewers for which the village apparently has no plans.

ANOTHER VIEW

Clifford Cottrell, a village spokesman and head of the committee named to counteract the move, sees it another way.

"I understand that a small group of people in Wolverine Lake Heights subdivision on the west side of S. Commerce Road were perturbed with developments in the village," he said.

"They didn't like the lack of progress and the operation of the office, so they got together and tried to find someone to run for the council.

"When they couldn't find anyone, they tried to annex to Walled Lake."

FIRST MOVE

Walled Lake, he said, reportedly turned down annexation of such a small area and said they would pick up the boundaries if annexation were to take place.

"In all fairness to Walled Lake this was initiated by a group of our own people," he said, "but they have promoted this into what they want."

He said the first move for the newly appointed village committee, which consists of Clara Miller, a member of the council, Robert Valko, Gordon Breeding and Rev. Robert Shade, would be to check the petitions.

★ ★ ★

"I have heard that a lot of the signers are not even registered voters," he said. "If a large group of dissident people in the village have never taken the trouble to register and vote, will they be any better citizens of Walled Lake?"

LOWER TAXES?

He contends that Walled Lake officials have told the village residents interested in annexation that Walled Lake taxes would be lower.

"This is not so," he said.

Cottrell and others in the community express concern over what the move would do to the village tax base.

★ ★ ★

"They have picked the cream of the crop as far as the tax structure is concerned," said Cottrell.

"This area includes a water system, three apartment buildings, a professional building and some small commercial enterprises.

"It would place a terrific burden on the rest of the village."

Building Ban Over in Utica

UTICA — Because the city has agreed to join the Detroit sewage system in a Macomb County interceptor project, its 10-month-old building ban has been lifted.

The action by the Michigan Department of Health will allow progress on a contemplated 480-apartment unit in the eastern part of the city known as the Village Square Townhouses.

The ban was also lifted in Sterling Township along with five other Macomb County communities.

It was not lifted in Shelby Township, because of that area's failure to take action in joining the interceptor program.

Shelby Township Board members failed to act on the interceptor plans at a meeting last week, a spokesman saying it would likely be put on an agenda at a later date.

During the two years the interceptor is expected to be under construction, the affected communities will be allowed to use existing facilities, according to the state health department.

AREA NEWS

Walled Lake Denial

'No Prior Knowledge of Annexing Try'

WALLED LAKE—City Manager Royce Downey today denied that city officials had ever seen petitions requesting annexation for a part of Wolverine Lake Village before Monday.

"That was the first we knew anything about it," he said. "Then all we did was accept the petitions which were then sent to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors."

A spokesman for the village said he had heard city officials refused to annex a small portion as originally requested and agreed to the annexation only after the boundaries were enlarged.

"That isn't true," Downey said. "We never questioned whether the area was too large or too small."

★ ★ ★

He also denied telling annexation seekers that Walled Lake's taxes are lower than those in Wolverine Lake.

RATE REDUCTION

"We are reducing our rate from 17.5 mills to 10.5 or 11 this year," he said, "because of the new assessing figures but I don't know if this is lower than Wolverine Lake or not.

"I don't know what Wolverine Lake's taxes are or even how many homes are in that area."

If that portion of the village seeking annexation as well as an area of Commerce Township also proposed for annexation were to become a part of the city, the city would triple in size, from the present three square miles to 10.

Vestry Confirms Attorney's Action in Rectory Sale

ROCHESTER — The St. Philip's Episcopal Church vestry last night confirmed the action of its attorney, Wilson Severance, in disposal of the church rectory at 301 Charles.

★ ★ ★

Some 15 people attended the meeting called to the attention of parishioners by David Hackett, a member of the church and also a member of the Rochester Human Relations Council.

It was his contention that the church had missed an opportunity to be a leader in the field of civil rights by not listing the rectory for "open housing."

★ ★ ★

Severance stated that the buyer of the home had been shown through it before the civil rights issue was introduced.

Rochester OKs Demolition Pact

ROCHESTER — The city council has approved a $4,806.20 bid for the demolition of some 15 homes and outbuildings in the urban renewal area.

The contract was awarded to Southkent Wrecking Co. of Grand Rapids.

Manager William Sinclair pointed out that only about 10 of the houses are now vacant, and that other residents will have to be moved before the job can be completed.

The council discussed the enforcement of an ordinance which requires that people must connect to a sanitary sewer when such facilities are available.

★ ★ ★

At issue is the Avon Hospital Sewer on South Hill, and there are about 12 homes and small businesses in the area which have not yet tied into the facility, according to Sinclair.

TRAFFIC LAWS REVISED

The council amended city traffice ordinances for the purpose of implementing its new Municipal Court. No date on opening the court was set.

Appointments to the City Planning Commission, reactivated from the old village commission, were expected to be made at the next meeting.

W. Bloomfield Report Due on Charges

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The committee investigating recent charges against the township by former Supervisor Duane K. Sanford will make an interim report at tonight's Township Board meeting.

The committee's investigation is still not complete, according to Clerk Doris Leach. When it was organized last month, members were told to make an interim report if it appeared the study would take longer than 30 days.

Sanford charged, when he resigned in January, that department heads were "harassed by various board members" and that there was a lack of authority vested in the supervisor.

The committee is trying to determine if the allegations are justified.

Other business scheduled for tonight's meeting includes a letter from members of the volunteer fire department. Mrs. Leach said the letter will not be made public until tonight.

Action is also scheduled on two rezoning requests.

Diseases of the heart and circulatory system were the greatest single cause of death among Americans in 1965.

Lake Orion Budget, Manager on Agenda

LAKE ORION — Village councilmen will meet again tomorrow night to consider a budget in view of Monday's charter acceptance by voters.

"While the amounts will most likely stay the same, the method of spreading the tax roll will be changed," according to Village President Wallace Crane.

Since state law this year requires that a village assess at the same rate as the township, and since Orion Township is currently bringing its assessments up to 50 per cent of market value, it appears that current village millage levy of 20.5 will be reduced — "maybe as much as by half," according to Crane.

The new charter provides for a 20 mill limitation on taxes.

★ ★ ★

The charter further provides for an interim budget from April 1 to July 1, the latter date having been accepted as the new start of a fiscal year.

BUDGET INCREASE

Preliminary budget meetings this month showed an expected $6,400 increase over last year for a total of $175,400 necessary to run the village during the new fiscal year.

The meeting tomorrow night will confirm the charter vote and is expected to result in the advertisement for "a professional city manager" to take over village affairs, according to Crane.

The charter provides for a manager-type government.

Crane said, "We would expect to pay such a man between $7,000 and $8,000 a year. His salary could easily be made up through the fees now paid out for building inspection and other governmental duties."

PTA to Mull Sex Education

The next two PTA meetings at Avondale's Stone Elementary School will be devoted to an exploration of whether or not sex education should be made a part of the curriculum.

★ ★ ★

A report on what is currently taught plus a film will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday at the school. The second program on April 20 will feature a panel discussion by community leaders, including a pastor, a pediatrician and a juvenile officer.

Fete Planned by Troy Legion

TROY — An open house will be held Sunday afternoon at the Charles Edwards American Legion Post, 1340 W. Maple, to celebrate the 48th anniversary of the unit. World War I veterans will be honored.

★ ★ ★

Saturday evening, the post will hold a St. Patrick's dance.

Woman Severely Burned in Mobile Home Explosion

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — A sudden explosion and subsequent fire severely burned a woman mobile home resident here yesterday.

Mrs. Donald Dresden, 37, of Groveland Trailor Manor, D-13318 Dixie, is in poor condition today in Flint Osteopathic Hospital.

She suffered burns on arms, face and legs in the blaze which leveled the trailer.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said a trailer park official, William Eggert, heard an explosion about 2 p.m. Eggert went to the trailer and saw that the victim had escaped the structure but had been injured.

★ ★ ★

The woman had been taking a bath when the explosion occurred near a gas furnace, Eggert told deputies.

TRAILERS DAMAGED

Trailers on both sides of the Dresden structure were damaged by the blast, with broken windows, holes in walls and heat damage.

The Holly Township Fire Department was summoned. James Alexander, assistant fire chief, said when his unit arrived the building had been torn apart apparently by an explosion. The scattered remains were all in flame.

"Apparently the side blew out and then the roof came straight back down. The woman is fortunate to be alive," he said.

★ ★ ★

"The trailers alongside were badly damaged by the explosion," Alexander noted.

LONE OCCUPANT

No one else was in the trailer at the time.

"About all we could do at that point was try to help salvage some belongings. Some of the things had blown out of the trailer and were lying on the ground," he said.

In Depicting Difficult Novel

'Ulysses' Director Succeeds

By DON BRAUNAGEL

ROCHESTER—Whatever one thinks of "Ulysses" as a film, director-producer Joseph Strick deserves a commendation for courage.

Shown at the Hills Theatre last night as part of a national premiere, the movie opened locally to an audience about two-thirds of capacity.

It is taken from James Joyce's literary masterpiece, which was considered to be in the impossible-to-film category for two main reasons.

First, it was extremely frank for its time (1922), which led to its being banned in English-speaking countries until a 1933 federal court decision legalized its printing in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Secondly, the novel made great use of the stream-of-consciousness, or inner-conversation, method of character development, a technique extremely hard to depict in a movie.

HE SUCCEEDED

Nevertheless, Strick tackled the task, and he has succeeded. By using Federico Fellini's style of showing the characters' fantasies and with liberal use of off-screen narration, including a two-voice conversation, Strick has retained the cerebral qualities of the novel as well as its earthy humor and tragedy.

Related Story, Page G-6

On the surface, "Ulysses" is simply the story of a day in the lives of a handful of middle-class Dubliners. Actually, it is an almost exact parallel of Homer's epic "Odyssey," the story of Ulysses.

For example: Homer tells of Ulysses battling the giant one-eyed Cyclops. In the movie, Leopold Bloom, the film Ulysses, gets into a bar battle with a big man who has a patch over one eye.

★ ★ ★

Bloom wanders through Dublin, running into anti-Semitic prejudice and being tormented by the knowledge that his wife, Molly, is unfaithful to him and that the community is aware of it.

SITTING-IN BAR

In one tragicomic scene, he is sitting in a bar when the cuckoo clock bird pops out and he imagines it says, "Cuckold. Cuckold. Cuckold."

Bloom keeps crossing paths with Stephen Dedalus (whom Joyce patterned after himself), a young writer-teacher who has rejected his Jesuit upbringing so completely that he refused his dying mother's request to pray at her bedside.

In Dedalus, Bloom sees his own son, who died when 11 days old.

★ ★ ★

The two share some adventures and many drinks, and Bloom asks Dedalus to come live in the Bloom home. Dedalus declines and leaves, so Bloom goes to bed.

FAMOUS SOLILOQUY

The film concludes with Molly thinking her famous soliloquy on life and lovers as her husband snores beside her.

The British and Irish cast is unfamiliar to American audiences, but everyone is adequate or better, and Milo O'Shea is outstanding as Bloom.

Barbara Jefford (Molly) does well in her almost-silent on-screen role and her off-screen narration.

★ ★ ★

The sensational aspects of this film are mostly in the dialogue, so anyone planning to see it for steamy scenes will have to appreciate its other qualities or be bored much of the time.

"Ulysses" runs through tomorrow night.

Energy, Composure—These Unite The Worlds Of Substitute Teacher Mrs. Philip Goetzmann

Sub Teacher: Job Demanding

By PAT McCARTY

It takes a lot to be a gap filler — especially if the gap you're filling is in the lives of 30 children.

It helps if you have the constitution of a master sergeant and a pretty face that's prone to smiling.

These two qualities are among the assets Mrs. Philip A. Goetzmann brings to her job as a substitute teacher in the Pontiac school system.

MISS McCARTY

She goes a long way toward dispelling the stereotype of a substitute teacher who is never completely in control of the situation — whose presence signals the start of fun and games in the classroom.

★ ★ ★

Remember all the clever little tricks?

Like two boys answering to the same name.

★ ★ ★

Or swearing that "we haven't studied that yet" or that "teacher said we wouldn't have to give reports today?"

FRUSTRATING

"They want to see how far they can go — this can be very frustrating," Mrs. Goetzmann admits. "It's hard to show friendliness and maintain order.

"If you're too friendly, they walk all over you. If you're stern, they think you're an old bag."

So substitute teachers must be able to lay down the ground rules rapidly and establish rapport early in the day.

★ ★ ★

This is where the above-mentioned assets come into play.

COOPERATION

However, Mrs. Goetzmann gives more credit to the cooperation of the regular classroom teachers and school principals.

Pontiac teachers are very well organized, she commented.

"The lesson plans are nearly always there. This is very important and very commendable," she said.

She noted that the problem of discipline is not so great on the elementary level, where she does her substituting, as in the secondary schools, where classroom pranksters have developed more finesse.

★ ★ ★

The "little ones," she said, are quicker to be friendly.

FORM ATTACHMENTS

One pitfall, of course, in temporary assignments is getting attached to youngsters she will be with for only a few days.

Last year, she had a kindergarten class at Hawthorne for two months.

"I shed a bucket of tears over that class when I left," she said. "I still hear from them occasionally — a card or a phone call. That makes you feel good."

★ ★ ★

These are testaments of the response of youngsters, along with notes which say "I love you" and more subtle acts which prove it.

FILLING GAPS

Mrs. Goetzmann, professional gap filler, began substituting here to fill a gap in her own life.

The Goetzmanns and their two sons moved into their home at 194 N. Berkshire, Bloomfield Township, in August 1965.

Her husband, a major in the Army, left immediately to serve one year on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff in Vietnam.

"About December, the time really began to hang heavy," she recalls.

HOMEMAKER

The Goetzmann home shows the results of her care and her skill with Early American decor. She is especially talented in needlework.

But the settling-in process was followed by days which grew longer and longer.

"I found myself polishing every piece of silver and pewter once a week," she said.

★ ★ ★

The decision to start substitute teaching was a natural one for Mrs. Goetzmann, who had taught briefly in this area before beginning her travels with her husband. She again took up teaching for three years in an Army dependents' school on Okinawa.

TRAINING

A native of Pontiac, she had three years toward a degree from Miami University in Ohio before her marriage in 1955.

"I feel now that getting a degree wouldn't help me with teaching," she said. "I've had so many experiences in the last 12 years that, unless I wanted to work full-time, it wouldn't help me that much."

With a special certificate, Mrs. Goetzmann can teach up to 90 days during an academic year.

★ ★ ★

She now is permanently assigned to Owen Elementary School.

However, until recently she was on call for assignments throughout the district.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

"I guess I've taught in well over half the elementary schools in Pontiac," she said.

When she started, the Pontiac system had no answering service to clear requests for substitutes. Each principal was responsible for getting those he needed.

"In the morning it would be just frantic around home," Mrs. Goetzmann said. "I could get four, five or six calls."

★ ★ ★

"I've had it happen that I've been in the middle of baking a cake and I would get a call because a teacher had taken sick at 10 in the morning. So then I've gotten dressed while the cake finished baking," she said.

PARTICULAR

"This is the only thing that's bothersome, because I like the house to be meticulous," she said.

She's fortunate in having a cooperative family and one whose schedules mesh.

Sons Michael, 11, and Philip Jr., 9, are "really very good," she said, noting that they make their own beds and get themselves off to school.

★ ★ ★

Any mother who can talk her sons into that kind of cooperation has got to have something going for her in the child psychology department.

100 Make Industrial Arts Finals

More than 100 winners and runners-up from regional competition held at Waterford Township's Mason Junior High School last weekend have advanced to the state finals of the 1967 Michigan Industrial Education Exhibit.

The finals will be held April 6, 7 and 8 at Cobo Hall.

★ ★ ★

Region 7 Chairman G. W. Kressbach of Waterford Township High School, said there were 619 entries in last weekend's show.

Oakland County students in seventh through 12th grades enrolled in industrial arts, trade or vocational classes were eligible to compete in the regional contest.

School Bids Considered in Waterford

The Waterford Township Board of Education is slated to award contracts tomorrow night for construction projects at Waterford Village and Stringham elementary schools.

★ ★ ★

Bids were opened at the board's March 2 meeting. The apparent low base proposals for the two projects totaled $540,249.

Both schools are to be provided with gymnasium-multipurpose room complexes, library-instructional materials centers, and several other alterations.

Also to be considered at tomorrow night's 7:30 meeting is a requested $25,174 appropriation for the township recreation department's 1967-68 budget.

★ ★ ★

The Township Board granted and equal amount to the budget at its Monday night meeting.

The remaining $12,815 of the estimated $63,163 budget is expected to be received through fees.

Legislative Crackdown Urged

Driver Study Offered

LANSING (UPI) — A new "get-tough" plan for drinking drivers, high-point drivers and young motorists is in the hands of lawmakers today as a result of a survey involving 435 traffic deaths in Michigan last summer.

The suggestions, proposed by the Automobile Club of Michigan, were presented to the Senate Highway Committee and the House Committees on Public Safety and Roads and Bridges yesterday.

They are intended to cope with the causes of traffic fatalities, said Fred N. Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

The survey found that drinking was involved to some extent in at least 44 per cent of the fatalities and that drivers with high violation point records caused a disproportionately large number of fatal accidents as did the young drivers.

★ ★ ★

The suggestions included the passage of a "Drinking Driver Law" which would require a mandatory chemical breath test for alcohol for any driver charged with operating a car while under the influence of alcohol.

"The test should be a condition for holding a Michigan driver's license," Rehm said. "The motorist should be allowed to refuse such a test, but with his refusal, he should surrender his right to hold the license."

The point system, according to the survey, is not taking the problem driver off the road and is in need of an overhaul.

Drivers who reach the 12-point level account for 2 per cent of the state's drivers but represent 15 per cent of the drivers responsible for fatal accidents.

To curb this problem, the Auto Club suggested the state make it mandatory that any driver who compiles 12 points in a two-year period have his license suspended. Mandatory suspension is not now required.

Also outlined was a plan to get at the driver who manages to keep his point total just below the 12-point mark every two years.

For the young driver, who was much over represented among the drivers at fault in fatal accidents, it was suggested that a parent or guardian be required to accompany the under-18 age driver behind the wheel at all times for the first 90 days after receiving his first license.

Also suggested was the prohibition of persons under 18 from operating motorized cycles after dark.

PIN-WORMS
AND NOT KNOW IT
Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.
To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Bids to Be Solicited on Sewer Equipment Installation at Plant

Installation proposals for improved equipment at the East Boulevard sewage disposal plant are scheduled to be received March 28, following City Commission action last night.

Commissioners resolved to receive bids for installation of some $200,000 in mechanical equipment at the plant.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said monies both for purchase and installation of the equipment would come from sewage service revenues.

Improvements to the plant, Warren said, consist of equipment-housing facilities as well as new disposal equipment.

In a related sewage development, commissioners voted to formally approve a $132,850 contract for construction of the Galloway Creek sanitary sewer pumping station.

BID ACCEPTED

The bid by the Lerner-Linden Co. was accepted by the city Feb. 28 after engineers ruled out an alternative construction proposal offered by another company.

The pumping station is scheduled to be built at the southwest corner of Galloway Lake.

Thirteen easements along Hilldale Drive were also accepted by the commission.

Joseph E. Neipling, director of public works and service, said acquisition of the needed rights-of-way would permit construction of a sanitary sewer on Hilldale between Michigan Avenue and Pike.

Construction of the sewer is tentatively scheduled for May, he said.

Florida Agents Hit Dope Ring

MIAMI (UPI) — Gov. Claude Kirk won the first major battle in his war on crime yesterday when his private police force smashed a $780,000-a-year narcotics ring.

Seven persons, including an 18-year-old girl, were arrested.

"This is just the beginning of a full-scale attack on organized crime in all parts of Florida," said George Wackenhut, head of the private detective agency hired by Kirk to combat crime.

The detectives, working with state narcotics agents and Dade (Miami) County deputies, seized marijuana, cocaine, narcotic pills, seven lewd movies, guns, "jimmies and other burglar tools."

★ ★ ★

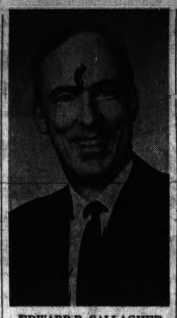

Kirk said the detectives began investigating the ring six weeks ago and worked their way into the group, making "buys" of narcotics for evidence.

ROBBERY LINK

The arrests were made by narcotics agents who said the narcotics ring was "linked with an armed robbery ring in Dade County." Kirk said the arrests were a "major breakthrough in South Florida narcotics business."

★ ★ ★

The governor said the arrests "prove we can do it," and he promised, "there will be more."

EDWARD R. GALLAGHER

Finance Chief Post Is Filled

Veteran in Accounting and Auditing Named

A veteran accountant and auditing supervisor was named by the City Commission last night as Pontiac's new director of finance.

Edward R. Gallagher, 39, is scheduled to assume the post April 3. Starting salary for the job is $13,000 a year.

Gallagher will replace Marvin M. Alward, who last summer notified the commission of his intention to retire.

Alward is expected to remain in a consultant capacity for an undetermined time following Gallagher's assumption of duties.

★ ★ ★

Gallagher, a present resident of Taylor, has been internal auditing supervisor for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for four years.

PRIOR EXPERIENCE

Prior to that he served with the American Natural Gas Service Co. and Arthur Andersen & Co., public accountants.

★ ★ ★

He is an honors graduate of Bradley University.

Network Cutoff on Ads Denied

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, denied Tuesday night that the network had suspended free spot announcements for Radio Free Europe because they did not make it clear that the organization received money from the Central Intelligence Agency.

★ ★ ★

Monday night, a special CBS news television program titled "In the Pay of the CIA: An American Dilemma" had reported that the network had not carried such announcements since Feb. 15 and was restudying its policy on televising the announcements in the future.

Bangor Cityhood

BANGOR (AP) — Bangor voters have approved changing the status of the community to that of a home rule city, 233-125. The Van Busen County community also elected a nine-member charter commission. Bangor was incorporated as a village in 1877.

Library Service to 2 Communities OK'd

The City Commission last night stamped its formal approval on a one-year contract giving city library services to Pontiac Township and Sylvan Lake.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners unanimously supported the proposal, which will charge each municipality two-tenths of a mill of state equalized valuation for use of the Pontiac library.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren suggested the contractual arrangement in a presentation to the commission three weeks ago.

Since that time, Pontiac Township and Sylvan Lake each formally voted to enter into the agreement.

Official action on the part of Keego Harbor, mentioned as a possible third participant in the plan, is still pending.

FIRST READING

Commissioners also held first reading on a proposed ordinance to license private policemen operating within the city.

The proposal, drafted by City Attorney Philip E. Rowston, was first presented to the commission Feb. 28.

Provisions of the proposed ordinance include licensing of all private patrolman, identification requirements for both individuals and automobiles, and fingerprinting and photographing of all private policemen.

★ ★ ★

Principal targets of the suggested statute are taverns and other places of "amusement, recreation or entertainment."

UNDER CONSIDERATION

A proposed amendment to the city's reciprocal heating ordinance was taken under consideration by commissioners.

★ ★ ★

A report prepared by Joseph E. Neipling, city director of public works and services, describes the need for amendment as "quite urgent," noting that Pontiac licenses heating contractors throughout Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Basic effect of the amendment, Neipling said, is clear granting of governing authority to the City Commission and of enforcement powers to the director of public works and service.

Even the Zoo Gets Bugged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A sea lion and a South American caiman are happily thrashing about the San Francisco Zoo unaware they have been bugged.

Dr. Stuart MacKay of Boston University is conducting an experiment he hopes will lead to the elimination of at least some of the boyd-monitoring equipment now carried by U.S. astronauts.

★ ★ ★

He has fed tiny transmitters in food to the sea lion and the caiman—a type of alligator—and listens to their temperature signals 30 feet away on a receiver.

Egg Hunt Slated at Four Parks

Pontiac's annual Easter egg hunt will be held March 25 — "rain, shine (or snow?)" — it was announced today by the Parks and Recreation Department.

Dick Cain, recreation supervisor, said department workers and volunteers would hide eggs at four city parks, with the hunt scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m.

In addition to the eggs, Cain said, some 850 prizes and 3,000 wrapped chocolate eggs would be given to participants.

Cain urged parents bringing children to the hunt locations not to arrive too early, asking that the task of concealing all the eggs be done "with as little interference as possible."

★ ★ ★

Hunt locations and group sponsors:

- Beaudette Park — 761st Tank Battallion and the Allied Veterans Assn., Rollie Jones, chairman.
- Oakland Park — Kiwanis Club of Pontiac North, Harold Palaian, chairman.

Ship Is Filled to Brim With Beer for Vietnam

MANILA (AP) — Once a month, a small ship leaves Manila for South Vietnam, loaded to the gunwales with beer.

The 1,300-ton San Miguel Brewer has landed nearly four million cans of beer in South Vietnam, and dodged bullets to do so.

★ ★ ★

"Last month we were delivering beer to the 9th division at My Tho and the shells were flying overhead," said Lorenzo Calulo, 38, master of the ship.

"The Vietcong were on the other side of the river shooting back.

"THE BEER SHIP"

"But no one shoots at us. They know we are the beer ship.

"The other day we were 20 miles up the Mekong River and some U.S. planes sank a sampan about 50 yards from us.

★ ★ ★

"A U.S. Navy patrol boat picked up about 40 people thought to be Vietcong and then came alongside and asked if we had any beer. Of course we gave him a couple of cases."

San Miguel Brewery, the owners, believed this is the only ship that carries nothing but beer as cargo. Most of it is consigned to post exchanges.

DISCRIMINATION

The general policy of military headquarters in Saigon is to buy American beer. The Philippine Foreign Office protested this decision, saying it discriminated against Filippino bids for a share of American offshore procurement.

★ ★ ★

The ship carries a Thompson submachine gun and a tear gas pistol — but not for use against the Vietcong.

"We keep them to protect us from pirates in Manila Bay," says Calulo. "They are very dangerous here. And they like beer, too."

It is estimated that one of every seven gallons of whisky consumed in the United States, is illegal, untaxed, health-endangering moonshine.

Number Error Delays 1,094 Tax Refunds

Income tax refunds of 1,094 taxpayers in Michigan and four other states in the IRS Central Region are being held up because form 1040 or 1040A sent in does not contain an accurate Social Security Number.

A. M. Stoepler, IRS district director for Michigan, said that in some cases IRS will be able to verify the correct number from Social Security Administration records, but this will cause a delay in processing the refund.

In other cases, refunds will be delayed until the taxpayer has been contacted by IRS and has sent in an accurate Social Security number, he said.

Correct numbers are necessary since this year all individual tax returns filed by Michigan taxpayers are being processed by computers at the IRS Service Center in Cincinnati.

Stoepler said that to date other refunds are being held up because of a variety of other types of errors or failures to comply with the instructions mailed to each taxpayer with his tax forms.

Tax returns filed up to last week included 7,271 without the signatures of husband or wife or both. These will have to be sent back to the taxpayers before refunds can be processed.

Returns with errors in arithmetic which are causing delays in sending refunds so far total 52,600 and returns where taxpayers have used the wrong tax table total 8,740.

Hoffa Attorney's Freedom Bids Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court justices have turned down two more moves by attorneys for imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, who eight days ago began serving an eight-year prison sentence for jury tampering.

★ ★ ★

Chief Justice Earl Warren rejected Tuesday a request that Hoffa be freed on bail while attorneys continue efforts in federal court here to have him freed on a writ of habeas corpus.

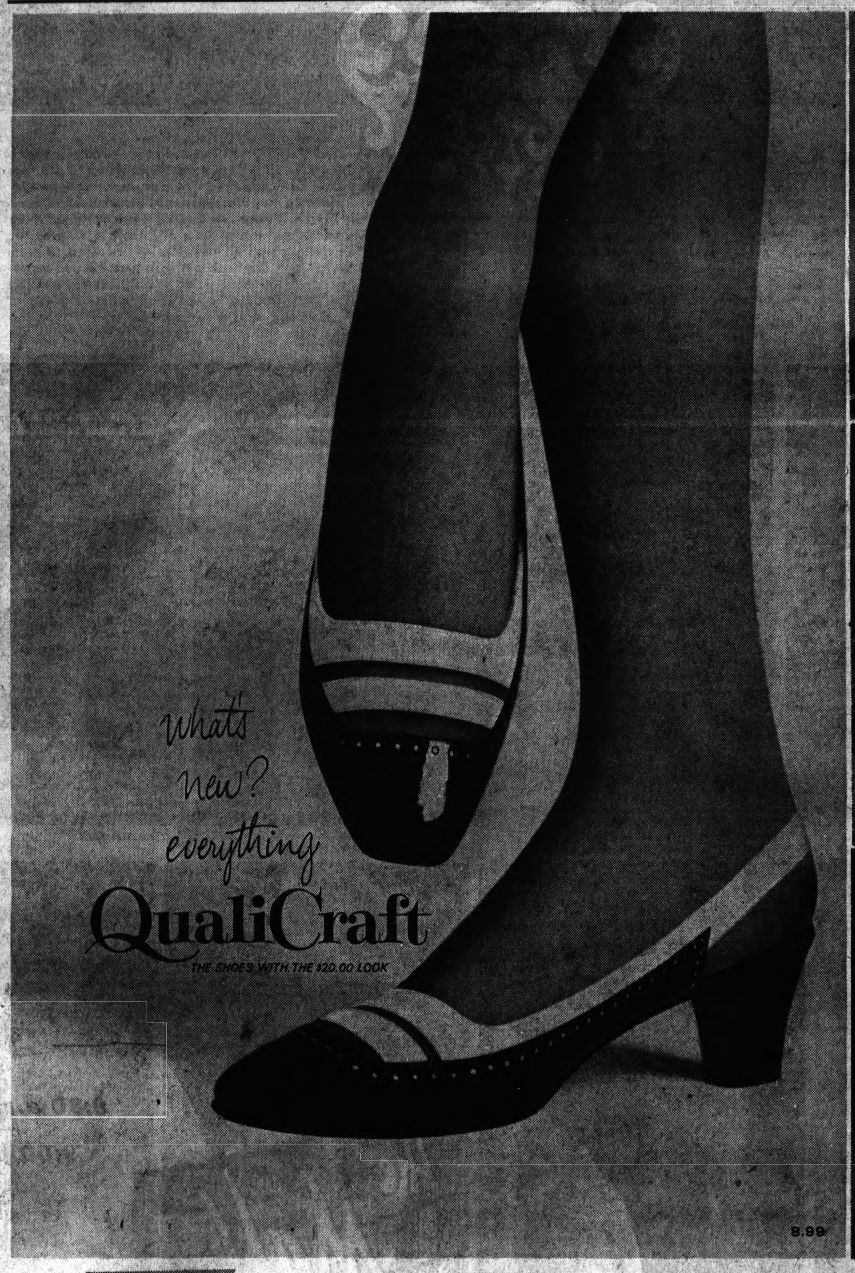

Justice Potter Stewart turned down a move that Hoffa be let out of Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary on bail while the U.S. District Court in Chattanooga, Tenn., considers a motion for a new trial based on a defense claim of government wiretapping during Hoffa's 1964 jury tampering trials.

The Justice Department opposed both motions.

A "SILVER FOX" IN ACTION

Supporting the widespread land war in Viet Nam is a vigorous and unrelenting air assault that is spearheaded by pilots of the U.S. Navy. Deployed on five aircraft carriers off the coast of Viet Nam, 400 Navy aircraft attack the enemy almost daily to seek out and destroy his bases, depots and vehicles.

Called Task Force 77 or the "Attack Carrier Striking Force" of the Seventh Fleet, this armada of 30 ships—including missile-firing cruisers and destroyers—is assigned the difficult task of cutting off war supplies flowing from North Viet Nam to enemy forces in the south.

A key unit in the armada is a bomber squadron best known as the Silver Foxes, and a pilot who has served with distinction in the Silver Foxes is 26-year-old Lieutenant Albert R. Hyde of Constantine, Mich. In 20 months with the squadron Al has made 211 missions and earned 17 Air Medals, three unit commendations and the Viet Nam Service Medal, plus a recommendation for the Distinguished Flying Cross. Though he doesn't read or speak Vietnamese, Al finds his way in North Viet Nam more easily than in California, where he has lived two years. He flies his missions without maps, but knows the country so well he is often able to elude enemy fire.

Al's plane has been hit nine times, but he managed to land his A-4E Skyhawk jet safely aboard each time. He was more scared trying to land a damaged jet on board his carrier, the USS Constellation, one night than he was at being hit.

As for the future, Al is to be reassigned soon: "I hope to go to a test pilot school and continue my career on that line."

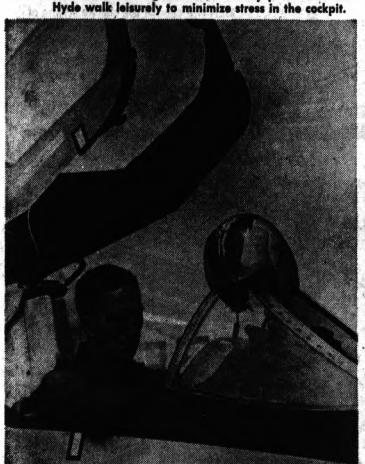

On scheduled flight missions Navy pilots like Lt. Hyde walk leisurely to minimize stress in the cockpit.

Before a launch Lt. Hyde checks his gun pod to be sure that all equipment and weapons are in good working order. The lieutenant, like all Navy combat pilots, wears an ammunition belt and carries survival gear.

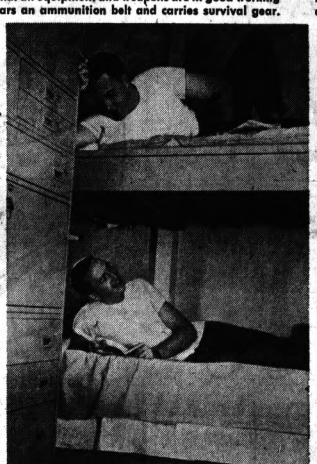

In preparation for a catapult launching, Lt. Hyde's aircraft is pushed into position by his flight deck crew.

Waiting in his cockpit, Lt. Hyde watches his fellow pilots being launched from the flight deck.

A jet plane roars off the deck of the Constellation in the Tonkin Gulf, where the aircraft carrier is on patrol.

Veteran pilot Lt. Hyde (bottom) laughs and tells his roommate he's too busy flying to worry.

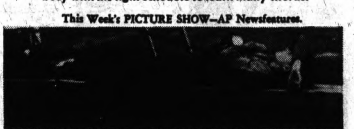

Lt. Hyde doodles with a new guitar. He's been too busy with his tight schedule to learn many chords.

Model Cinderella's Not Mod

LONDON (AP) — The biggest Cinderella story in England is Twiggy, the 17-year-old Cockney model. Her manager and secretaries are turning down "fantastic offers" every day.

Thanks to Prince Philip, Cinderella Twiggy is going to the ball after all. Which is to say that she will fly to New York Monday to launch a million dollars worth of Twiggy dresses in American shops.

★ ★ ★

Her clothes, aimed straight at the teen-age market, are pretty rather than outlandish, well-made, often fully lined, turned out in attractive ice cream colors like vanilla, strawberry and pistachio, and have reasonable price tags — $8.50 to $25.

"I don't like Carnaby Street clothes," says Twiggy. "Swinging, heck; they're not even well-made."

At first the Foreign Office said she couldn't go, but Twiggy sat down and wrote a letter to the queen's husband beginning, "Dear Prince, I need your help."

Philip replied that he was passing her letter on to the chairman of the committee of exports, "who may be able to help." Things worked out.

FLIGHT FRIGHT

She is scared to death of flying, but she confided: "I'm going to see my doctor and get calming tablets or sleeping pills for the flight. I dunno why, I'm scared of planes."

Twiggy says her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Norman Horn-by, are not worried about her trip "because they know Justin always looks after me." Justin is her manager, Justin de Villeneuve.

She doesn't feel exploited, though she admits she works hard, "usually from 10 to 5, five days a week."

Her money "honestly, I dunno how much I've made" — is handled by Twiggy Enterprises, Ltd. Twiggy is a director and her father is managing director.

WEEKLY ALLOWANCE

"Dad gives me 10 pounds ($28) a week spending money, and puts the rest in the bank," she says.

If any aspiring young models want Twiggy's advice, it is: Don't bother with training, it's a waste of money. Twiggy left school at 15 to go under De Villeneuve's wing.

She believes her skyrocket path to success was due to the fact that people were ready for a new look, "plus my ordinary home background. The ordinary teen-agers can associate with me. It might have been them.

"Anyway, I just have to be natural. The pose-y look is out. I don't want to do mannequin show work, or acting, though I've had loads of offers from film companies. I just don't want to."

FORESEES RETIREMENT

From her success at 17, Twiggy looks forward to retiring at 24 or 25. "I'll get married, and I won't go on working. My look will be out by then."

Whether her look is out or not, Twiggy's fortune should be made.

Twiggy's real name is Leslie Hornby, and Justin de Villeneuve's is Nigel Davies. They have their first two weeks in America booked up solid for Twiggy cover pictures.

CINDERELLA FINDS PRINCE — Prince Phillip was Prince Charming for this 17-year-old Cockney model named Twiggy. It was through his intercession that Twiggy, whose real name is Leslie Hornby, will be permitted to go to New York next week. She plans to launch a new look in teen-age fashions.

Aircraft Firms to Work on Noise

WASHINGTON — Three-year studies of noise abatement in jet engine design will be made for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by the Boeing and Douglas aircraft companies.

The main focus of Boeing's $7.5 million contract will be an effort to keep fan and compressor noise from propagating forward, by choking the air flow to the engine inlet.

★ ★ ★

Goal of the program is a noise cut of 15 decibels, equivalent, says NASA, to moving the noise source about five times as far away.

Douglas will spend $3 million in an attempt to reduce fly-over noise level on the ground by 7 to 10 decibels, by acoustic treatment of fan inlet and discharge ducts.

CONNIE'S QUANDARY — Connie Mileski, a ninth grader at St. Philip High School in Battle Creek, was one of several students asked to write a letter to Michigan Sen. Robert Griffin requesting a revision of an act pertaining to education. Her postscript, asking the senator to explain what the letter meant, revealed that, frequently, people who communicate with legislators don't know what they're talking about. Connie didn't but she admitted it, and the senator replied with an explanation of the proposed revision and praise for Connie's candor.

Pretty Coed an Undercover Narcotics Agent

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — A pretty coed who was enrolled as a special student in film art at Fairleigh Dickinson University has been uncovered as an undercover narcotics agent spying on students.

"Well, this blows this caper," moaned detective Paul McKenna of the Morris County prosecutor's office.

"Boy, I'm in the middle of a pickle," cooed the coed, auburn-haired, 20-year-old Linda Hobbie.

"The placement of an undercover agent as a fake student is Orwellian in nature," protested the American Civil Liberties Union of New Jersey.

IGNORED PLEAS

Mrs. Hobbie, now a laboratory technician at Morristown Memorial Hospital, said she had quit despite pleas by McKenna to "spy harder" because "I just couldn't do this, Jackie was too nice."

* * *

The "Jackie" to whom Mrs. Hobbie referred is Jacqueline Diamond, 19, a sophomore and former model who was arrested at her home last Dec. 14. Mrs. Hobbie said she had been enrolled Feb. 1 as a "special student" in film art, biology and oil painting with specific instructions to observe the movements of Miss Diamond.

Hanover police said Miss Diamond and two New York men had been charged with control of narcotic drugs and that they are awaiting grand jury action.

The disclosure that Mrs. Hobbie had been planted as a spy came Tuesday at a stormy faculty meeting.

Dr. Peter Sammartino, university president, issued a strong defense of the action.

Assistant Morris County Prosecutor Robert J. Del Tufo said Mrs. Hobbie had confirmed her undercover role to one of her instructors.

Kin of Missing Barmaid Identify Jewelry on Body

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Jewelry on the body of a woman found with two bullets in her head has been identified as belonging to a River Rouge barmaid missing since Jan. 23.

The jewelry was identified by the missing barmaid's two daughters.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey said Tuesday he believes the body, found near a lake in Dexter Township, is that of Mrs. Kathleen Riddle, 42.

Harvey said however, that identification of the jewelry does not amount to positive identification.

MISSING SEVEN WEEKS

Sheriff's deputies have been searching for Mrs. Riddle's body since she disappeared seven weeks ago from the River Rouge bar where she worked. Heavy snow had hampered their efforts.

The body was discovered Monday by Sheriff's Det. Thomas A. Dorrance when he saw a hand protruding from the muddy, thawing soil on the shore of Pickerel Lake.

Harvey said further investigation is necessary to determine whether the bullets caused the death and whether the body is that of Mrs. Riddle.

River Rouge police are holding two men on charges of kidnaping Mrs. Riddle. The men, Larry Markham, 22, of Ecorse and Ronald Ralston, 20, of Versailles, Ind., are being held in lieu of $100,000 bond.

A total of 4.65 million travelers flew or sailed across the North Atlantic in 1965.

Plan for '68 Landing Is Contrast for Tough GI Unit

By HORST FAAS

WAR ZONE C, Vietnam (AP) — The big bikini bushwhack is more than a year away, but intricate training exercises already are being held.

With hushed voices and occasional ominous chuckles, men of a U.S. paratrooper reconnaissance platoon huddle in the jungles of War Zone C and conjure up the bushwhack-ambush operation.

★ ★ ★

It is set for Daytona Beach, Fla., Easter weekend, 1968.

Some 30 volunteer troopers of Recon Platoon, 2nd Battalion, 503rd Infantry, 173rd Airborne Brigade plan to sneak in at night.

IN DEPLOYMENT

Faces daubed with greasepaint, tattered combat uniforms camouflaged, they will deploy on the sands of Daytona.

They will set up listening outposts, spotters, signal wires, trip flares, and maintain — so they say — the serious dedication to purpose they have shown in ambushing the Vietcong.

"Except," says one master planner, "we'll be looking for bikinis instead of VC.

"I do hope the boys remember to be cautious. They've been in the jungles so long they're liable to get pretty aggressive there on the beach."

RAW, RIGOROUS

All this lighthearted planning for the ambush, part of an elaborate stateside reunion, is in stark contrast to the raw and rigorous life these men lead in Vietnam.

The platoon comes close to fighting guerrillas on guerrilla terms.

★ ★ ★

They always operate deep in enemy territory. They have been in the field all but six weeks of the last 10 months.

They are wildly unconventional, but brilliant and extraordinarily disciplined guerrilla fighters.

ACTIVE DUTY

The platoon sergeant is S. Sgt. Marcus N. Powell of Atlanta, Ga. He was with the 20th Special Forces of the National Guard at Orlando, Fla., and asked for active duty to come to Vietnam.

At 35, Powell is the outfit's granddad.

★ ★ ★

"If you're 23 years old in this bunch," he says," you're an old man."

Most of the members are 18 or 19.

ALL VOLUNTEER

Each man in the 49-man platoon is a volunteer and there is a waiting list to join. It is easier to get out than get in. A trooper tired of the rugged life can simply ask to be let out, and he is. Not many ask.

Missions normally last at least four days.

"From the moment we move out of base camp, we're in enemy territory," Powell said during a mission.

They had applied brown and green greasepaint to all exposed skin, and camouflaged their jungle uniforms to blend into the undergrowth.

None wore conventional steel helmets — they might clank. Each man had fashioned his own headwear: an old Foreign Legion cap, a Vietnamese Buddhist Boy Scout hat, a U.S. Special Forces green beret, a floppy Australian bush hat.

They pushed through the thicket with advance teams of three or four men in front, communication with hand signals.

★ ★ ★

At the slightest sound, every man dropped flat. Only eyes moved as they scanned the trees and brush.

Moving again, the two point units alternated in front positions. One stopped, set up an ambush, then the other pushed past it and set up another ambush.

The ambush, which the platoon calls a bushwhack, is a favorite technique.

Three and four-man ambushes were set out all around the perimeter when the platoon stopped in late afternoon. Only men at the center could smoke or eat.

Conversation was minimal. When the radio was used, men whispered into it with hands cupped over the mouthpiece.

Half the outfit stayed awake at all times. Night security devices were set out. Flares popped into the air and exploded with illumination when a wire was tripped. A web of sensitive wire was strung around the perimeter with the ends connected to several receptacles like a small cigar box. A twitch on the wires set the box humming.

Like the Vietcong, the recon men saturated their area with boobytraps.

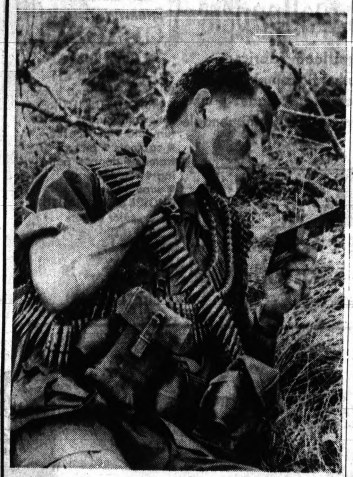

The conventional recon job is to gain intelligence and stay clear of the enemy. The 173rd attacks whenever the men feel they can win. If the opposition is too large, they may harass and confuse the enemy, then pull out and call in artillery and air strikes.

★ ★ ★

In all cases, they immediately leave an area after a fight.

The platoon never has been badly hurt, but nearly every man with the unit has been wounded in fights scattered over months.

The current membership is confident their know-how and skill will see them through Vietnam. They expect a big turnout at Daytona Beach.

Fight Denials Widen LBJ-RFK Rift

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Denials by the White House and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of a cuss-word confrontation on Vietnam between President Johnson and the senator Feb. 6 have heightened their hostility.

Each camp privately was accusing members of the other today of leaking distorted information that made both the President and the New York Democrat look bad.

Some of the President's associates were ready to blame the senator's men for the version of the encounter that Time magazine pieced together.

The senator's associates noted that three of the four persons present at the White House session — after Kennedy returned from a European tour during which there was much talk that he was bringing home a peace feeler — were administration officials.

ACCOUNTS DENIED

The four were the President, Kennedy, Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach — a former Kennedy associate — and presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow.

Rostow and Kennedy denied separately that the tone and the particulars of the meeting depicted by Time were accurate.

★ ★ ★

Time said Johnson castigated Kennedy for his criticism of the President's Vietnam policies. It said Johnson told the senator, "If you keep talking like this, you won't have a political future in this country within six months. In six months, all you doves will be destroyed."

KENNEDY 'REPLY'

Time said Kennedy replied by calling Johnson an s.o.b., adding, "I don't have to sit here and take that— —."

Kennedy backed up White House Press Secretary George Christian's denial that Johnson told Kennedy he never wanted to see him again.

In an interview Tuesday, Kennedy gave these answers to questions:

Q. Did either you or the President use any swear words?

A. No.

Q. Did he accuse you of upsetting peace negotiations because of reports you were bringing home a peace feeler?

A. No.

★ ★ ★

Q. Did he say he never wanted to talk to you again?

A. No.

Q. Did he say you didn't have a political future because of the stand you have taken?

A. I don't want to talk about that.

Q. Did he say you would have the blood of American boys on your hands if secret peace negotiations were upset?

A. Not in that context, but I don't want to talk about that.

STORMY

There was no attempt by Kennedy to discount the fact that the meeting with Johnson had been stormy. But he said it had not been nearly so explosive as was depicted.

He and Johnson shook hands last week at the swearing in of Ramsey Clark as attorney general.

★ ★ ★

The senator's associates said it was inconceivable that Kennedy would use any gutter word in addressing the President.

"You don't talk to a president in language like that," one said.

In the Kennedy camp, the contention also was that Johnson was talking generally about the future of the "doves" and not specifically of Kennedy, who has said he will support the President's expected bid for a second elective term next year.

★ ★ ★

The "blood on your hands" quotation, reported in other quarters, was shrugged off as applying to anyone who might make it more difficult to get peace talks started rather than being directed specifically to Kennedy.

Saturn 5s to Avoid Bottleneck

Rocket Assembly Change Pays

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The off-the-pad moon rocket assembly technique dreamed up six years ago is starting to pay off.

The first of the Saturn 5 rockets that eventually will send men to the moon is now fully assembled, undergoing painstaking tests leading up to its unmanned launch debut in June or July.

The giant booster for the second arrived at the spaceport Monday.

Ordinarily this would add up to a bottleneck, since, under past procedures, the second rocket could not be mounted on its launcher until the way was cleared by the flight of the first. This would mean further delays in an already tardy program.

* * * *

But things are being done differently for the Saturn 5, thanks to a $1-billion-plus moonport designed to keep the Saturn 5 effort moving.

FAST WORK

Even though the first of the 365-foot moon rockets is still three or four months away from flight, launch chief Rocco A. Petrone said the second will be erected on its firing stand before the end of March.

This can be done because the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) has steered away from the on-the-pad assembly practice used for its smaller boosters.

Instead, the Saturn 5s are mounted on movable launch stands inside a 525-feet high "garage" called the Vehicle Assembly Building (VAB). It is three miles from the launch site.

* * *

NASA now has room and the equipment to work on two fully assembled Saturn 5s at the same time in the VAB and soon will be able to handle a third.

* * *

Each uses a different launcher and each is hooked up electrically to a different "firing room" which serves as the blockhouse of the past.

TO SAIL PACIFIC — Ikuo Kashima, an amateur sailor from Japan, crosses his fingers for luck aboard the Japanese freighter Kamikawa Maru on which he arrived in Los Angeles yesterday with his 5.8-ton yacht, Koraasa. 2 Tranquilizers Target of Ruling

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Miltown and Equanil, two of the most frequently prescribed tranquilizers in the United States, moved a step closer to government control when a federal hearing examiner ruled that they have a potential for abuse.

On the basis of evidence accumulated during a two and a half month public hearing, William E. Brennan concluded that any drug containing meprobamate, used to relieve tension and anxiety, has a potential for abuse because of its depressant effect on the central nervous system.

Brennan sent his recommendation to Food and Drug Commissioner James L. Goddard who will make the final decision as to whether or not meprobamate tranquilizers come under the Drug Abuse Control Amendments of 1965.

The amendments require manufacturers and druggists to keep strict records of the production and sale of drugs and put a six-month time limit on the validity of prescriptions for them.

* * *

If Dr. Goddard goes along with Brennan's ruling, as he is expected to, Wallace Laboratories which holds exclusive rights to manufacture meprobamates in the U.S. plans to take its case to court.

Wallace sells its product under the trade name of Miltown, and licenses other companies, mainly Wyeth Laboratories, which sells Equanil.

TV Host Robert Taylor: It's a Good Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cary Grant, 63, still plays romantic leads. So do Jimmy Stewart and John Wayne, who in May will be 59 and 60, respectively.

So what has become of Robert Taylor, for decades a heart-throb to women fans and still a middle-aged youngster of only 55?

"You can't have too many mediocre pictures and maintain an extremely high status," said Taylor, sitting on the hearth of a massive stone fireplace in his magnificent ranch home.

Mediocre pictures?

SOME POOR PICTURES

"I've had more than my share," he said candidly. "It's nobody's fault but my own. I didn't have to do 'em."

"The Glass Sphinx," filmed in Egypt near the end of 1966, is still unfinished, he said. Will it be seen in this country? "I hope not, although I haven't seen it."

* * *

Earlier pictures he "shouldn't have done" included "The Hangman" and "The Killers of Kilimanjaro."

During a record 26-year MGM contract that ended in 1961, Taylor romanced on the screen such beauties as Garbo, Jean Harlow, Ava Gardner, Liz Taylor, Irene Dunne, Joan Crawford, Greer Garson.

On his living room shelves are leather-bound, pencil-marked scripts from his heyday: "Camille," "Magnificent Obsession," "Quo Vadis," "Ivanhoe" and others including his favorite, "Waterloo Bridge."

"'Quentin Durward' was a bust, and then we started getting into mediocrity," he said.

* * *

Taylor is now host and occasional star of television's "Death Valley Days," seen in its 15th year in 130 U.S. and Canadian cities.

The work is "fun" but totals only 3½ to 4 weeks a year. He replaced Ronald Reagan when his old friend began a successful campaign for California governor.

NO POLITICS

Politics for Taylor? Lord, no! I'd rather go huntin' and fishin'."

He lives the contented life of a city-country gentleman on 113 acres in Mandeville Canyon, a pastoral setting only three miles from busy Sunset Boulevard.

* * *

His wife, German beauty Ursula Thiess, whose last acting was in a few of his "Detectives" television series in 1960-63, does the housework including laundry. Bob helps with the dishes. Their two handsome children are Terry, 11, a boy, and Tessa, 7.

In well-worn jeans and boots Taylor led the way past corrals of quarter horses he raises. His penful of black chickens are called Australorps.

* * *

"Meaty birds, a cross between Australian hens and Orpingtons," he reported. "I have a shoebox full of chicks flown from Iowa every year."

In the surrounding hills, where the Taylors ride, are deer, coyotes, mountain lions and bobcats. From horseback Ursula has killed rattlesnakes with a shot-spraying pistol.

"It's a good life," said Bob. "I plan to keep on doing what I can — when I can find the parts."

Allergies and You—9

Every Home Has Dust

By Allergy Foundation of America
(Distributed by NEA Special Services)

If the doctor tells you that you have a case of "allergic rhinitis," don't faint.

It means inflation of the nasal passages due to allergic causes. In other words, a constant stuffed-up nose.

This is one of the common allergies. House dust is to blame.

It isn't that the wife can't qualify as a good housekeeper. Using the entire arsenal of modern cleaning devices, with all the time in the world, she couldn't rid the house of all its dust.

* * *

It takes a lab's ingenuity to design a dust-free room.

CRAZY MIXTURE

A crazy mixture of who-knows-what goes into dust.

One recipe, if you were making it up, would include:

Carpet fibers, cement crumbs from basement, furniture upholstery particles, tiny molecules of plaster, insulation, paint, wallpaper, cigaret smoke, cooking fumes, fireplace ashes, kitchen spices and cosmetics.

* * *

Add dog or cat dander, lint from blankets, sheets, clothing and toys. Add a pinch of dirt brought in by shoes, some mold and bacteria and you've got it.

SUPPOSEDLY HARMLESS

These are only some of the supposedly harmless things we come into contact with.

The whole potpourri is stirred up and distributed to every corner of the most carefully kept homes by our heating systems, some of which could not have been more efficiently designed to do this job.

Then too, there's a lowering of humidity when the house is closed, itself a prominent name in the allergy detective's suspect book.

Rhinitis is one of the milder reactions to house dust.

FACTOR

Dust can be considered a factor in any respiratory difficulty until ruled out.

In chronic cases of asthma and other more serious forms, the doctor would direct drastic measures to make the home as dust-free as possible, going as far as to encase blankets in allergy-proof covers or stripping the walls of all pictures and other decorations.

There's an easier way to fight back at those things that seem to hate you personally.

* * *

"The best treatment for a patient allergic to sensitizing agents in the home is a medical treatment," says the handbook, "Allergy," just published by the Allergy Foundation of America.

SKIN TESTS

"That means skin tests to find what the agent (allergen) or agents are, then comes desensitization, small doses of the allergen until the body can fight off attacks of the allergen when it encounters it."

* * *

What is described is the basic medical treatment for controlling most allergies and the best hope in outwitting them.

New Models to Be Seen

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

The nation's camera dealers get a look at what's new in the photo industry for American camera fans when the Master Photo Dealers and Finishers Association holds its convention in Chicago from March 12 to 16.

There are not likely to be any revolutionary surprises this year since major innovations of worldwide interest were introduced some months ago at Photokina in Cologne, Germany.

Perhaps one big surprise is the price announced for the new Rolleiflex single lens reflex camera, SL66, to be shown here for the first time. The price tag: $995!

You may recall this camera, unveiled at Photokina, is Rollei's first departure from the long-established twin-lens reflex camera line.

* * *

It has an 80mm f/2.8 Planar lens, a body with bellows extension, a focal plane shutter, a lens board that tilts 8 degrees in two directions to increase focal depth of field.

FIRST U.S. SHOWING

The camera accepts 120 or 220 film and interchangeable lenses, magazine backs, focusing hoods and focusing screens.

The Rollei 35, said to be the world's smallest full-frame 35mm camera, will also make its first U.S. public showing at Chicago. It weighs under 14 ounces.

Kodak's new offerings will include a line of "petite" Instamatic movie and still cameras; a flashcube Retina camera; a new model dual-format movie projector for both super 8 and regular 8mm films; new models of the Carousel slide projector and an accessory stack loader.

More new models of instant-load, 126 cartridge still cameras are coming into this ever-growing market.

SLIMMER MODELS

Starting with the simplest type of "box-like" cameras, more sophisticated features are also becoming available.

The two models in the Kodak Instamatic still camera line become still slimmer through retractable fronts for easier carrying around.

Both models are fixed focus. Model S-10 has an f/9.5 lens, shutter speeds of 1/125 for daylight shooting and 1/40 for flashcube firing.

Model S20 has an f/5.6 lens and adds a CdS electric eye for automatic exposure control for outdoor shooting. Adding a flashcube automatically changes the shutter speed to 1/40th.

CARTRIDGE—LOAD LINE

Bell & Howell has entered the instant cartridge-load line with its Autoload 340 camera.

It has an f/3.5 lens which focuses from 2½ feet to infinity and shutter speeds from 1/30 to 1/250th.

With flashcube in place, the shutter speed changes to 1/30th and the proper lens opening is automatically determined when the camera is zone focused.

* * *

AUTOMATICALLY ACTIVATED

It has an f/2.8 lens, a split-image rangefinder-viewfinder, shutter speeds from 1/30 to 1/500th and "Bulb" and flashcube convenience.

Its CdS electric eye is automatically activated when the film is wound for the next picture.

An exposure indicator needle pops up in the viewfinder and comes to rest on a scale indicating the proper lens opening.

The exposure can be made automatically (set on "Auto") or manually if the photographer wishes to make adjustments for special effects.

AUTOMATICALLY TURNED OFF

When the picture is snapped, the exposure meter is turned off automatically to conserve the mercury battery.

Advancing the film turns it on again. If no more pictures are to be taken for a time, covering the lens or putting the camera in its case is like turning off the mercury battery power, until the lens is uncovered again, or another picture is snapped.

Few Respiratory Problems Foreseen in Space

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Astronauts taking long trips in space should have no new respiratory problems, but further research is essential to confirm this tentative conclusion.

Respiratory troubles could occur from prolonged weightlessness and an artificial-environment, a panel of specialists will report soon to the National Academy of Sciences.

Release of the contents of the report, which will not be available generally for about two months, was triggered by the Jan. 27 tragic loss of the first three-man Apollo crew in a fire during a simulated launch sequence from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Although the panel consisted primarily of physiologists, the scientists looked into the problem of cabin fires because of their relationship to the kind of artificial atmospheres astronauts would be breathing.

* * *

The report was completed before the fatal Cape Kennedy fire and is being used by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in planning for its post-Apollo program.

The only anticipated serious effect of weightlessness on the respiratory system, according to the report, is the increased possibility that astronauts might inhale dust and other solid particles floating in the space cabin.

One research program should therefore be aimed at studying the expected quantity and composition of such particles.

Muskegon Vote

MUSKEGON (AP)—School district voters went to the polls today to vote on an 11 mill proposal that would raise $1.5 million or 25 per cent of the school budget. The levy would replace 5.5 mills scheduled to expire this year. School officials have said defeat of the millage proposal would result in drastic cutbacks in the educational system including half-day sessions and a cut of 100 teachers.

Farmer Jack Customers Praised The Price Revolution!

"BIGGER FOOD SAVIN'S!"

IMPRESSED LOCAL AREA FOOD SHOPPERS HEAPED AN ACCOLADE OF PRAISE ON FARMER JACK — BECAUSE OF HIS DOWN T'EARTH "BUSHEL AN' CASE" PRICES, AND BECAUSE HE KEPT HIS WORD TO "ONCE AN' FOR ALL — PUT AN END TO FOOD PRICES SPIRALIN' OUT OF REACH OF A WORKIN' MAN'S PAY!"

Farmer Jack had his own public opinion poll in his Supermarkets this week! With smiles on their faces — dozens of Food Shoppers stepped forward to praise Farmer Jack!

One of Farmer Jack's 'top hands' walked thru the aisles talking to Food Shoppers as they filled up their carts! His first question was, "Why are you a Farmer Jack Shopper?".

"Because I save $8.00 a week," one lady replied, "every week I do my shopping at Farmer Jack's, and with a family the size of mine — a savings like that is important to me!"

Another said, "my family's so finicky about everything I put on the table, but Farmer Jack sells only the best, and has such a big variety! Since I've been a Farmer Jack Shopper — it has ended the tension at our table that I used to dread."

There were at least a thousand, or more, Food Shoppers in Farmer Jack's! But, we could talk with only 30, or 40 at most, although it seemed like everybody in the store wanted to testify for Farmer Jack's 'bushel price shoppin'!

The fine quality of Farmer Jack's food, was the thing heard most often, as being the reason for Farmer Jack Shopping!

The customers made Farmer Jack's famous 'bushel an' case' prices sound more like a way of life — than a Supermarket pricing policy!

Farmer Jack's 'top hand' concluded his interviews, when a huge, hulking man boomed, "why don't you get with it? There ain't nobody more astute than these Food Shoppers you bin talkin' to! They like good food, an' they like savin' money — that's why they're shoppin' here — an' you ought t'be the first one t'know it!"

Wear the Green, Eat It, Too

Irish Food Is Delicious

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Everybody's name can start with an "O" on Friday, St. Patrick's Day. Why this particular saint's day has become so popular is a mystery, but it does provide an occasion to serve Irish food.

The Irish like hearty food. But some authorities doubt that corned beef is as Irish as we believe. Be that as it may, the following recipe came to us typed in green.

CORNED BEEF SANDWICH SPREAD

3 to 4 pound corned beef for oven roasting
1 cup shredded Muenster cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup finely chopped cashew nuts
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of tabasco
Rye bread

Cook corned beef according to package directions. Blend together remaining ingredients. Serve as a spread over thin slices of corned beef in rye bread sandwiches. Makes 1½ cups spread.

Irish Soda Bread is a familiar quick bread from the Emerald Isle, whereas Barm Brack is a yeast bread. Serve it with tea for a true Irish snack.

BARM BRACK

½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
¾ cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees F.)
3 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs, beaten
4½ cups unsifted flour (about)
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1¼ cups golden seedless raisins
½ cup chopped mixed candied fruits

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Add beaten eggs and 3 cups flour. Beat on medium speed of mixer 2 minutes (or 300 strokes by hand). Stir in lemon peel and enough additional flour to make soft dough.

Turn out on slightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes.

Punch down and turn out on a lightly floured board. Knead in raisins and mixed candied fruits. Divide in half. Shape into loaves.

Place in 2 greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30-35 minutes, or until done. Makes 2 loaves.

Not an Irish dessert, but one that's a delightful green, is this chiffon lime mixture. Garnish it with shamrocks cut from marshmallows.

LIME CHIFFON SQUARES

16 large marshmallows
1 cup evaporated milk
1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
18 graham crackers
Marshmallow shamrocks*

Cut 16 marshmallows into fourths with scissors or sharp knife. Put marshmallows into a bowl with evaporated milk. Let stand in refrigerator 1 hour, stirring now and then.

In another bowl, add boiling water to lime gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, then chill until gelatin just begins to thicken.

Whip chilled marshmallow-evaporated milk mixture with a rotary beater until light and fluffy. Fold in gelatin lightly but thoroughly.

Place 9 graham cracker squares in bottom of a 9-inch square pan. Spoon gelatin mixture carefully over. Smooth top to make even layer, then place 9 graham cracker squares on top.

Chill until firm, about 2 to 3 hours. When ready to serve, place a marshmallow shamrock on each square. Makes 9 servings.

*For each shamrock, cut a large marshmallow in halves crosswise. Cut halves into fourths. Place 3 sections to make leaf. Snip a stem from the remaining piece.

Steamed Lettuce Holds Salmon Cones

When you serve "Salmon and Peas Western," you'll agree wholeheartedly that meatless meals can be thoroughly appetizing and satisfying.

Husky slices of western iceberg lettuce are steamed briefly in a colander for this appealing main dish. Then they are removed to a serving dish and topped with baked breaded salmon croquettes seasoned with sweet pickle relish, onion and savory. Cream peas provide the final tasty fillip.

With hot buttered rice and crisp breadsticks as accompaniments and fruit sherbet and cookies for dessert, the menu will be complete — and completely captivating.

Salmon and Peas Western

1 head western iceberg lettuce
1 can (1 lb.) salmon or 2 cups cooked fresh salmon
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 can (1½ oz.) evaporated milk
1 teaspoon crumbled summer savory
Salt
Salad oil
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
1 cup cooked peas

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag. When ready to make recipe, cut four ¾-inch crosswise slices from head of lettuce. Wrap remainder in disposable plastic bag; store in refrigerator for later use.

Drain salmon; flake with fork. Drain relish. Combine salmon, relish, onion, ¼ cup bread crumbs, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ teaspoon savory and salt to taste. Shape into 4 rounded cones.

Coat each cone with evaporated milk; roll in remaining crumbs. Gently brush cones with oil; bake in 350-degree oven 35 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour. Stir in remaining evaporated milk and savory and the ¾ cup milk. Cook and stir until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Stir in peas; salt to taste.

Place sliced lettuce in colander over boiling water; cover and steam 2 minutes. Transfer lettuce to serving dish; top with salmon cones and creamed peas. Makes 4 servings.

Children Play With Pretzels During Party

How about giving each child at a party a brightly colored cord on which to string pretzels to make a Hawaiian type lei to go around their little necks?

This means, of course, that you must provide a big basket piled high with pretzels in shapes to be strung. The basket should be easy for them to reach.

It's surprising to see the artistic effects these small fingers will create when the kindergarten set is left to itself.

How about playing a game of "Find the Pretzels"? Finders—eaters!

Let the guests on one side hide small bags of pretzels, and the other side hunts and eats 'em. Then turn the routine around and let the finders be the hiders.

Simple as this old game is, it never fails to intrigue little children. With a small amount of direction, this routine turned into such fun at a recent party that mothers found it difficult to separate their young from the fun.

Wheat Cereal Adds Texture to Fruit Topped Crepes

Choice fare for a Sunday brunch in spring can run into money. It won't though, if you select mostly lower-priced ingredients. Preparation and manner of serving can enhance the simplest dishes.

These whole wheat flake crepes rolled around a filling of strawberries, pineapple, and cream cheese are opulently appetizing. Yet nothing extravagant is required. Breakfast cereals are excellent for ingredient use in recipes such as this because they are inexpensive, convenient, add flavor and texture.

Too, nothing says spring quite like strawberries and pineapple, even when you use frozen strawberries and canned pineapple.

As a time-saver, bake the pancakes, roll and fill them the evening before the party. Cover them with saran or waxed paper and refrigerate. They may easily be reheated slowly in the morning.

Whole Wheat Crepes

1 cup prepared pancake mix
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
¼ cup cooled melted shortening
1½ cups whole wheat flakes, crushed to make 1 cup crumbs
1 package (8-ounce) soft cream cheese
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup drained, canned crushed pineapple
2 packages (10-ounce) frozen strawberries, defrosted
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup orange liqueur, optional

Combine pancake mix, milk, eggs, and shortening; beat until free of lumps. Stir in whole wheat flakes. For each crepe, pour ¼ cup batter onto hot griddle; bake until bubbly on top and dry around edges; turn and brown second side. Keep warm.

Mix cream cheese and sugar until smooth; stir in pineapple. Spread under side of cakes lightly with cheese mixture; roll. Keep crepes warm in chafing dish or electric skillet.

Combine strawberries and cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly until clear and slightly thickened. If liqueur is used, stir 2 tablespoons into hot sauce and pour remaining over sauce. Ignite and allow flame to die before serving. Yield: 12 pancakes, 6 servings.

Bake a Butter Cake

Remember the good, rich butter cakes your mother used to bake? They were so moist and tender. Naturally, they took a little more time than our modern "box" cakes, but there was something so special about a cake made "from scratch."

★ ★ ★

If you'd like to show off for your family and prove that you're really as good a cook as "his mother," probably better, then try your hand at this delicious Golden Yellow Cake.

★ ★ ★

A rich, caramel filling graces the high layers and can even substitute as a frosting.

Golden Yellow Cake

½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla
3 cups flour
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla.

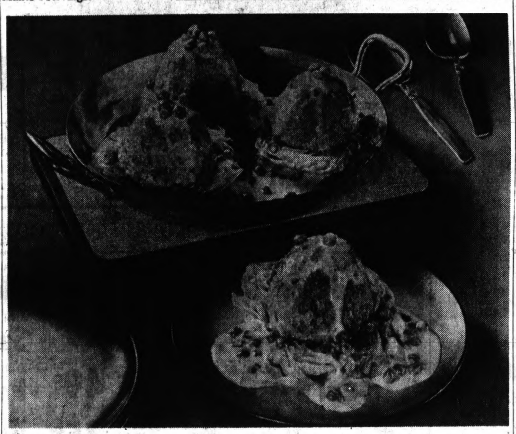

Sift dry ingredients together. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, alternating with milk. Start with flour and end with flour.

Pour into 2 greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30-35 minutes or until done.

Cream Caramel Filling

¼ pound (1 stick) butter
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup whipping cream

In double boiler, melt butter. Mix flour and sugar together and stir into butter. Add cream. Cook over medium heat until thick, stirring often. Cool, and spread between layers of cooled cake.

SALMON AND PEAS WESTERN — Steamed slices of western iceberg lettuce are crested with salmon croquettes and creamed peas for a meatless — and marvelous! — main dish, "Salmon and Peas Western."

Put Wheat Germ in Crumb Crust

To make a wheat germ-vanilla wafer pie crust use 1¼ cups vanilla wafer crumbs, ½ cup wheat germ, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup melted butter. Press on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake 4 to 5 minutes at 325 degrees.

Chill before filling shell. The wheat germ adds its nutty-flavored crunchiness and high nutritional values.

What Size Pan

A sponge cake batter that is usually baked in a 9-inch angel-cake pan may also be baked in three oblong pans, each about 11 by 7 by 2 inches). The oblong sponge cakes will need about half the baking time required for the one large cake.

Winter Cobbler Is Citrus Fruit Variety

Fresh grapefruit has a way of teasing appetites any time of day . . . not only as a breakfast waker-upper. It's a morning and after fruit.

Pink, white or red, the tantalizing taste and perky appearance of grapefruit can lead off a luncheon or dinner . . . brighten a salad . . . "frost" an entree or vegetable dish . . . or make a delightfully different dessert.

Grapefruit-Orange Cobbler

4 cups chilled grapefruit and orange sections
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ to ½ cup milk
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening

Place chilled grapefruit and orange sections with their juices in shallow baking dish approximately 11x7x1½ inches. Combine sugar and 3 tablespoons flour, sprinkle over fruit, dot with butter. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes.

While fruit mixture is heating, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add enough milk to make a soft dough.

Knead on a lightly floured board ½ minute. Roll dough approximately ⅛-inch thick. Cut into desired shapes with 2-inch cookie cutters; arrange over hot fruit mixture.

Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer or until biscuit topping is lightly browned. Serve with hard sauce.

Macaroni, Cheese Blend in Salad

Macaroni cheese buffet salad is a meatless main dish.

Blend ¾ cup each of mayonnaise and wine vinegar with cup of salad oil, 1½ teaspoons each of salt and green onion flakes or chopped chives, ¾ teaspoon of celery seed and a dash of pepper.

Add 6 cups (1½ pounds) of elbow macaroni, cooked as package label directs, then drained, rinsed with cold water and drained again; 1½ pounds of cheddar or edam cheese, diced; 1½ cups of diced apple and 1 cup of sliced sweet gherkins. Toss lightly and chill.

Garnish with apple slices and chicory. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

FROM THE OLD WORLD — Hearty and flavorful is this kraut and potato soup with frankfurters. It's made following an old Bohemian recipe.

Slice Wieners for Kraut Soup

Here is a recipe for a vigorous soup that serves as the main course for dinner or a Sunday night supper. Add fresh rye bread, assorted cheese, a relish plate and some kind of fruit dessert.

Kraut and Potato Soup With Frankfurters

1 No. 2 can sauerkraut
3 medium-sized potatoes, pared and diced
1 cup chopped onions
1 bay leaf
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup light cream
5 cups milk
6 frankfurters, sliced

Cut sauerkraut into short lengths. Combine with potatoes, onions, bay leaf and butter or margarine; cover and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat to serving temperatures.

Makes 2½ quarts.

Meat Servings

A pound of meat that has no bone yields four to five serving, a little bone — three to four servings; a medium amount of bone — two to three servings. Much bone or gristle only yields one or two servings per pound.

Season First Course

When you are serving tomato juice as a first-course cocktail, you may want to add seasonings to the juice. Lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce are good seasonings to choose.

Add Raisins to Fruit Salads

Raisins are delicious in fruit salads, but they can also be used in the tossed vegetable variety. For a real treat, combine shredded crisp salad greens, strips of ham or turkey and cheese and toss with a generous amount of seedles raisins. Serve with a sweet and sour dressing.

Fill Orange Halves

Cut oranges into halves; scoop out pulp and dice. Return to shells and top with marshmallow cream mixed with roasted dieed almonds and chocolate bits.

Dry Them First

Allow macaroons to dry thoroughly before trying to grind them into fine crumbs. The dry macaroons may be ground in a food chopper, an electric blender or with a rolling pin.

WALNUT PYRAMID SALAD—A crisp, refreshing salad is something today's family can enjoy around the calendar thanks to vacuum cooking, speedy transport and the ideal climate in areas of California and Arizona where western iceberg lettuce is grown.

As a harbinger of sunny, summer days and a pick-me-up for jaded winter appetites you'll find a bowl brimful of salad simply can't be topped. The fact that it meets many requirements of a balanced diet is just an added bonus!

Walnuts Crest Chicken Salad

A salad for any season is our Pyramid Salad based on crisp chunks of western iceberg lettuce topped with slices of tender chicken, crisp cucumber and wedges of hard-cooked eggs.

Cresting the pyramid are butter-toasted California walnuts to give the entire dish a note of distinctive difference. Flecks of fresh mint heighten the flavor of the dressing and add an exotic, cooking touch.

* * *

To prepare the lettuce, strip off any leaves that may seem too coarse for salad use. (Save them for soups or vegetable dishes.)

Holding the head core-end directly down, whack it onto the kitchen counter; lift or twist out the core with your fingers. Hold the head cored-end up under cold running water and when rinsed invert to drain thoroughly.

Chill in tightly sealed plastic bag until salad time arrives. Using sharp, stainless steel knife, slice the lettuce crosswise into rafts, then cut each raft into chunks.

Walnut Pyramid Salad

½ cup California walnuts
½ teaspoon butter
¾ teaspoon seasoned salt
1 medium-size head western iceberg lettuce
4 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
4 cooked chicken breasts, boned, skinned and sliced
1 small cucumber, thinly sliced
¾ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon finely chopped fresh mint
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1½ tablespoon lemon juice
Salt and pepper

Toast walnuts in skillet with butter and seasoned salt over low heat, stirring constantly. Cool. Remove core from lettuce. Rinse, drain thoroughly and refrigerate in disposable plastic bag for maximum crispness.

When ready to serve, line serving bowl with outer leaves. Cut remainder of head into bite-size chunks, and place in bowl. Top with eggs, chicken, cucumber and walnuts.

Blend mayonnaise, mint, lemon peel and juice, pour over salad, and toss lightly. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes four to six servings.

Freeze a Supply of Chicken Meat

COLD COMFORT — On a busy day, a supply of chicken breast meat in the freezer guarantees fast delicious meals, the National Broiler Council points out. At your leisure, bone and skin 6 or 8 chicken breasts or purchase them boneless at your market.

* * *

Cut half the quantity into strips for quick-chick dishes, the rest into 1½" nuggets for later frying or oven-frying. Pack the pieces in moisture-vapor-proof wrap, allowing no unnecessary air to get in the packages. Seal well with freezer tape and label and date.

The prepared white meat will be a virtual gold mine for "instant gourmet" dishes.

New Shake Mix Frozen in Cone

All it takes is a couple of shakes of chocolate fudge shake mix with milk — and freezing —to make these cone desserts. Pour the mixture into cones that are set in baby food or olive jars or juice glasses so they'll remain upright in the freezer.

Have some maraschino cherries, nuts, and whipped cream or prepared whipped topping handy when you serve them. Decking the cones soda fountain style will delight your youngsters.

Chocolate Fudge Frozen Cones

½ cup cold milk*
1 pouch chocolate fudge flavor shake mix
2 sugar cones

*Use whole, skim, or reconstituted nonfat dry milk.

Pour milk into shaker or jar with tight-fitting cover. Add contents of pouch. Cover. Shake vigorously for 15 seconds.

Pour into cones; then place cones in small empty glasses or jars to hold them upright. Freeze until firm — 6 hours or overnight.

Garnish with prepared whipped topping, chopped nuts, or maraschino cherries before serving, if desired. Makes 2 servings.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE FROZEN CONES—From chocolate fudge flavor shake mix, you can turn out frozen cones to make a dessert surprise for youngsters.

Antipoverty War Faces Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's appeal for a broadened antipoverty program appears to face a tough, long road in Congress.

The President submitted a special message to legislators Tuesday declaring that "for more than 31 million Americans, poverty is neither remote in time, nor removed in space. It is a cruel and present reality."

Johnson said his 1968 budget carries "$25.6 billion for the programs directly aiding the poor—a $3.6 billion increase over fiscal 1967." This includes programs such as Social Security.

He specifically asked $2.06 billion for the war on poverty programs grouped in the Office of Economic Opportunity, an increase of about $400 million over the amount voted by Congress last year.

LENGTHY PROBE

A Senate Labor subcommittee has just launched a lengthy investigation of OTO's activities—a probe which Democrats feel is essential to answer the many criticisms of the program and which Republicans support as a possible way to document charges they have made against it.

The subcommittee will conduct its second public hearing today with Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit as principal witness. The panel plans later to take testimony at numerous points around the country.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., subcommittee chairman, said he did not think it possible for his group to begin grappling with the President's legislative proposals before June.

The legislation would only authorize the funds for the next year. There likely will be another battle on the appropriations bill carrying the actual cash.

Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen, who led a successful floor fight to cut back poverty funds last year, has said that the strengthened GOP forces will look at the program with an even sharper eye this session.

School Makeup Changes in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — For the first time, a majority of the pupils in New York City's vast school system are Negroes or Puerto Ricans.

Supt. Bernard E. Donovan said a census, made in October, showed 544,227, or 50.2 per cent, of the 1,084,518 pupils were either Negro or Puerto Rican with the remaining 49.8 per cent made up of white, Asians and American Indians.

Geologists estimate the age of the earth at about five billion years.

Ohio U. Strike on Path to Settlement

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — It may be school again next Monday for Ohio University's 15,000 students, given an early spring vacation after a strike by non-academic employes closed the school.

A meeting of university officials, union representatives and Ohio Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe Tuesday night apparently paved the way for settlement of the key issue—payroll deduction of union dues.

* * *

Members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, struck 11 days ago after Ohio University President Vernon Alden refused union demands for payroll dues checkoffs. Alden maintained that under state law the university had no authority to grant the request.

Meeting in Columbus Tuesday night, Saxbe advised Alden, the executive committee of the school's trustees and union leadership that the law does empower the university to deduct union dues.

The executive committee voted 4-0 to call a special board meeting to grant the union's request.

* * *

Several technicalities remained to be cleared up but union representative Edward Dailey said he was "most pleased, most optimistic."

* * *

Dailey indicated the only barrier preventing a return to work March 20 could be removed by university action rescinding letters sent to some 800 employes on strike or observing picket lines.

Holdups, Bulldozers: What Next?

DETROIT (AP) — On Detroit's lower East Side, merchants wait for the bulldozers, many with their hands close to firearms.

"When a stranger comes in I keep my hand in my pocket," said John Berdge, 72, who operates a grocery store. "If I have to, I'll use this."

* * *

He displayed a snub-nosed .38 caliber revolver.

"I have a permit," he said.

The neighborhood, once a friendly residential neighborhood crisscrossed with small businesses and service stations, is marked for urban renewal.

The bulldozer was two doors away from another grocery owned by Peter Tocco Monday when two men and a girl entered and held up Tocco, 73, and his daughter, Grace, 45.

* * *

When one of the men threatened her father with a knife, Miss Tocco got a gun and began firing. Helen Davis, 14, a high school student, died of gunshot wounds. Tony Smith, 22, of Detroit was wounded in the throat. He was listed in serious condition at a hospital. The other man fled with $300.

In recent weeks, two holdup men have been killed and two others wounded in holdup attempts of small stores.

FIRST TIME

Miss Tocco said she never had used a revolver before Monday but said she believed small businessmen should arm themselves to try and thwart holdups.

Grocer's Spotlight, a trade publication, has sponsored a weapons school to show grocers how to cope with holdup men. Detroit Police Commissioner Ray Girardin disapproves the idea, but growing fear among inner-city merchants seems to be overriding Girardin.

* * *

"I haven't been held up yet," said Bernard H. Martin, 60, gas station operator. "A man needs protection. If you don't, they're going to take what you have and shoot you anyway. You may as well go down fighting."

Martin said he was waiting for urban renewal to take his property and then he was getting out.

Since glass increase in strength under pressure, experiments are being made with glass spheres for underwater exploration at great depths.

Legislator Sings 'Alphabet Blues'

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — A Maryland legislator, Delegate Eugene J. Zander, told the House of Delegates it should end "the tyranny of the alphabet"—the practice of listing candidates on the ballot in alphabetical order.

Delegate B.O. Aiken said the practice suits him to a T, although it can be a disadvantage to be listed first.

"In the Army," he said, "I got a right many duties because of my last name's place on the detail roster."

UPI Faces Guild Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Wire Service Guild announced yesterday that members had voted authorization for their negotiating committee to call a strike against United Press International.

The Guild's contract with UPI expires at midnight tonight.

A union spokesman said that no major issues, including wages, Guild shop and a shorter workweek, had been agreed upon in negotiations that began Feb. 14.

"The Guild is advising its members not to strike prematurely but to stand by for further word from us," the union spokesman said.

* * *

A UPI spokesman said progress had been made in several areas, that negotiations are continuing and were scheduled to resume at 10 a.m. today.

He said a federal mediator planned to confer today with the company and union negotiators separately.

Some 2,400,000 persons ride the subways on most working days in New York City.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Jim asks, "What do you think is the most common fault of the average bridge player?"

JACOBY

Oswald: "There is no question in my mind. The average bridge player seems to collapse when defending against a high contract. Here is an example from a recent rubber game, in which I sat West."

Jim: "Your partner showed considerable enterprise in the bidding. He would only have been one down at five hearts but his bid worked out even better. He got South to five spades."

Oswald: "I opened the deuce of hearts. East won with the ace and started to think. I was quite happy while he thought. Obviously he held the ace of diamonds and he was trying to decide if he should lead it or underlead it."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "That should not have been much of a problem in rubber bridge. He should underlead it and do it quickly. In duplicate he might not want to risk giving declarer an overtrick but in rubber bridge you try to set the declarer."

Oswald: "Very true. Unfortunately for my hopes East finished his cerebration and produced the deuce of trumps. This ended proceedings for the defense. South ran off the rest of the tricks."

Jim: "What did you say?"

★ ★ ★

Oswald: "When I was your age I probably would have jumped all over him. Thirty years later all I did was to write up the score for the lost rubber and cut for the next one."

The CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥
Pass	3 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold: ♠ J 5 ♥ A K 6 5 ♦ 4 3 2 ♣ A Q 8 2

What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. Your partner has bid spades three times. Jack-small should be adequate support.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two spades your partner rebids two diamonds over your two clubs. What do you do?

GEORGE C. MARSHALL. Ordeal and Hope, 1939-Viking. $8.95.

At last we are beginning to get the story of World War II from Gen. Marshall's side. At least, this is as close to Marshall's side of the epic as we shall ever get.

Marshall refused all offers to market his own memoirs—including one offer of $1 million—but turned his papers over to the George C. Marshall Research Center and consented to interviews with Pogue, the center's director.

This is the second volume of the official biography, taking us from his assumption of duties as Army Chief of Staff in 1939 to the successful American landings in North Africa in November 1942.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Omar Bradley, in his preface to the first volume, apparently hoped to exercise as much controversy as possible from the atmosphere surrounding the biography. Now he faces up to it but wisely cautions the reader against concluding that "controversy rather than agreement marked the progress of World War II."

Russian Revolution—1

Impact of 1917 Events Still Big Mystery

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the first of a three-part series on the Russian Revolution by Newspaper Enterprise Association foreign news analyst Leon Dennen, who was an eyewitness to the upheaval, which began 50 years ago this week.)

By LEON DENNEN
Foreign News Analyst
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Five decades have elapsed since the Russian Revolution overthrew the Romanov dynasty and forced Czar Nicholas II to abdicate his throne. Yet the impact of the drama enacted on March 15, 1917, is still one of great mysteries of our time.

Half a century later the revolution and its consequences continue to dominate our lives.

I was only nine years old when the news reached the city of Rovno, a provincial capital in the Ukraine, that after 300 years of the Romanov reign Russia was at last free.

The event left an indelible mark on my life. No one who has lived through the days of the revolution will ever forget them.

★ ★ ★

After 50 years I can still recapture vividly the memory of wild joy that the czar's abdication brought to the people of the city where my father, a newspaper editor, was a leader of the moderate Socialists.

ENMITY FORGOTTEN

Bearded old Jews and Russian peasants with cropped heads forgot their age-long enmity and danced in the muddy streets together with students, cobblers and soldiers.

Hungry women and children, with furtive eyes and sunken faces, wept for joy.

The peasant women, who were always deeply religious in Russia, saw the revolution as a miracle — the "hand of God."

★ ★ ★

They crossed themselves and embraced strangers in the streets. "Christ is here," they cried. "The truth has dawned in Russia."

IN CLUTCHES OF WIFE

Many peasants believed that the Revolution had actually liberated the czar — the "bearer of the people's truth" — from the clutches of his wife, Alexandra, a former German princess.

They were convinced that Russia's "Little Father" was a prisoner of the "Nemka" (the German woman) and her "lover," the dissolute monk Grigori Rasputin.

Indeed, no one who did not witness the euphoria of March 1917 can know what it was like.

★ ★ ★

In the past, great upheavals in Russia frequently resulted in savage massacres of religious minorities. But the Revolution was sacred. Even criminal elements were too overjoyed to loot or kill.

LIGHT CASUALTIES

In Petrograd, the capital, and throughout Russia the czar's demise was marked by few excesses and only light casualties.

Aside from hunting down the hated police, the Russian people shed little blood in the first days of the revolution.

The overthrow of Nicholas II was largely spontaneous and unexpected, even though it had long been foreseen.

★ ★ ★

Almost without a shot the "Autocrat of all Russia" was gone.

NEW LEADERS

The aristocratic Prince Lvov, long an enemy of the czar, and the moderate socialist, Alexander Kerensky, emerged as the leaders of the provisional government — the only democratic government that ever ruled Russia.

I was too young to know that before long — in eight short months — Russia again would become a wasteland of chaos, terror and tears.

Even my father, who took an active part in the revolution, realized only when it was too late that the aim of Lenin and his Bolsheviks was to destroy Kerensky's fragile democratic regime and replace czarist despotism and autocracy with Communist despotism and dictatorship.

★ ★ ★

Gullible Western historians continue to depict Lenin as the real leader of the Russian Revolution.

RED PROPAGANDA

They have swallowed uncritically all the fictions of Communist propaganda and John Reed's biased account, "Ten Days That Shook the World."

But the historic fact is that the Revolution of March 1917 — that Lenin and his armed minions destroyed eight months later — was actually a popular explosion for which no one political party can claim credit.

It was a spontaneous expression of the wrath of war-weary and starving people brought to despair by Russia's continuous defeats in World War I and by the tragic facre of Rasputin's rule.

Lenin was still in Switzerland when the czar fell.

'SEALED TRAIN'

He came to Russia in the German kaiser's special "sealed train" a month after Nicholas' abdication. He was also lavishly supplied with German money.

The kaiser, of course, hoped that Russia would desert her allies and conclude a separate peace with Germany.

He used the ambitious Lenin as his only-too-willing tool and accomplice.

★ ★ ★

This has now been confirmed byt documents found in the German Foreign Office after Hitler's defeat in 1945.

NO DIRECT PART

Despite volumes of Communist propaganda and Moscow's falsification of history, Lenin had no direct part in the overthrow of the czar.

His name was largely unknown in Russia's provinces.

His "revolution" was directed not against the czar but against the Kerensky government.

A brilliant orator, the moderate Socialist Kerensky, captured the imagination of Russia's oppressed people long before they ever heard Lenin's name.

REAL LEADER

He was the real leader of the Russian Revolution. This is a fact that the world has never fully grasped.

To be sure, Lenin subsequently won and Kerensky became the first victim of the Communist conspiracy.

He was also a victim of the near-sighted Western allies who, while they gave him no help, pressed him to continue the war against Germany.

★ ★

Kerensky, true to Russia's international pledges, urged the people to continue the fight until victory. But Lenin announced that he intended to sign a separate peace with Germany.

For the starving Russians peace had a vastly stronger appeal than victory.

Though Kerensky's tenure of power lasted only eight months, he nevertheless left an indelible mark on world history.

He symbolizes in his person and career the remarkable group of men who refused to compromise their moral ideas.

★ ★ ★

They foresaw the terrible fate of those who sought either power or survival at any price.

NEVER LOST FAITH

Now 86 years old, Kerensky continues the fight for Russia's freedom.

He never lost faith in the ultimate triumph of democracy in his country.

He believes that the humanitarian traditions of Tolstoy, Soloviov and Chekhov are inherent in the Russian spirit.

★ ★ ★

"I do not doubt for a moment that communism will disappear in Russia," Kerensky told me recently in New York. "It is already on the decline."

★ ★ ★

The conflict between Russia and Red China, he said, is the Achilles heel of Leninism and the herald of its doom.

Record Sales of Uranium

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — A record $75 million worth of enriched uranium was shipped from Atomic Energy Commission plants in 1966, evidence of the rapid growth of the atomic power industry both here and abroad.

"Orders for nuclear generating stations placed in 1966 far surpassed expectations," said S. R. Sapirie, manager of the AEC's Oak Ridge Operations. "In 1966 this country's nuclear generating capacity was slightly more than one million kilowatts; by 1980 we believe this capacity will exceed 100 million kilowatts."

CONCRETE BARGE — Glenn Hagen, a part-time inventor, stands aboard his concrete barge in Lake Pontchartrain at New Orleans as his wife steps ashore. Captured air gives the concrete enough buoyancy to float.

Inventor Describes Limitations

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— The thickset man with the gleaming eyes incanted a few strange words, did some odd things with his hands and — behold — concrete floated on air!

With paper and pen he scribbled a cabalistic design, struck a match and showed how to grow a garden in salt water.

The match doesn't have anything to do with the garden; Glenn Hagen used it to light his cigarette.

And Glenn Hagen doesn't have anything to do with magic. The words and designs are rooted in physics.

* * *

Glenn Hagen, age 48, is an inventor.

NEEDS TO CREATE

Perhaps he's a little bit mad, but it is the madness — rather the anger — of a man who needs to create with his hands and is hampered by a lack of money.

He made big money, and lost it, he says, through tinkering.

"The day of the Tom Edison type, independent inventor, is coming to a close," Hagen fumes. The reason?

"The inventor cannot afford to work alone. So he is forced to work for a corporation.

INCENTIVE LACKING

"It is rare that the corporation has any significant incentive offered for the inventor."

Scratching his bushy crewcut with a blunt finger, Hagen explains it is standard practice for corporation contracts to stipulate "one dollar paid in hand and other good and valuable considerations" for each invention offered by an employe.

It is late afternoon on a Friday, time for a second martini.

Hagen moves cautiously through the cramped sitting room of the weathered cabin cruiser on which he lives on Lake Pontchartrain with his pretty wife and his black-and-white tomcat named Charlie.

SOMETHING NEW

"It used to be," he calls from the galley, "that a man could go out in his barn with his hammer and saw and make something new."

Today's technology, he adds, has advanced to the point where there is little a man can make with such crude implements that hasn't been patented. Money is needed for the necessary tools, for the time to develop a sophisticated invention.

But Hagen is inventive.

He used homemade paper cups, giant ones, in developing his floating concrete barges and seaplane docks.

He used roller skates and a bed caster to make the paper cups.

And he made an underwater breathing device with an empty tin can and garden hose.

In simple terms, Hagen uses the principle of captured air to float concrete in water.

The concrete is poured over wooden molds which are knocked apart when the concrete hardens. The air in the pockets formed by the molds gives the concrete enough buoyancy to float.

The paper cups are used to float the deck which holds the molds under the concrete. They are sunk when the concrete is ready to float on its own. Hagen is now dickering for a buyer.

Winter Tourists Chilly Toward Egypt

CAIRO (AP)—For the first time in years, you can easily get a hotel room in Cairo at the height of the winter tourist season.

The reason is a 10 per cent drop in the flow of tourists entering Egypt. The decline has caused active concern among authorities anxious to increase the country's hard currency earnings.

★ ★ ★

Analysts, including airline executives, list four causes of the decline:

1. A slight recession in Europe which apparently has convinced many would-be travelers that it's safer to stay closer to home this year than to invest in a more expensive trip to see Egypt.

2. Unrest in the Middle East.

3. Lack of over-all competent service and maintenance in Egyptian hotels.

4. Lack of hard currency for promotional advertising abroad.

An unparalleled collection of antiquities, its location and a fine winter climate make Egypt a magnet for tourists. There are limitless opportunities for expansion of Egypt's tourist trade, which some experts estimate could bring in as much as $300 million a year.

The new minister of tourism, Amin Shaker, is pressing for improvement of tourist facilities and for the transfer to European countries of funds which can be used to promote Egypt. But in the country's present belt-tightening campaign, tourism takes a low priority, far behind the drive to boost industrial and agricultural production.

Politics Is Boring, Says Rock

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —Scratch the name of Rock Hudson from any list of Hollywood box-office kings who may aspire to enter the political arena.

Although he admits to some government experience — he once was a mail carrier for three months —the 6-foot-4 film star says it left him without any burning desire to become U.S. postmaster general.

"Politics bores me, and so does talking about it," he said, smiling. "I'm not interested in becoming a political candidate at any level.

"After Ronald Reagan was elected governor of California, I did have a dream that I was running for sheriff, but even in the dream I couldn't figure out for the life of me why I wanted to be sheriff. It was a real nightmare."

BIG GOAL

What is Hudson's big goal then, if not public service?

"I want to be a damn good actor," he said, "and I don't think I'm a damn good actor yet."

★ ★ ★

Whatever his ultimate professional ranking may be, as a performer Hudson has been one of the most successful in the history of the film industry.

Since 1948, he has been in 52 pictures, an average of more than 2½ each year. In 1966 he turned out three—"Blindfold," "Seconds" and "Tobruk."

Despite his surprising output, and it includes a number of clinkers as well as box-office smashes, Hudson doesn't think of himself as a particularly hard worker.

As the years go by Hudson is more at ease in the role of film star, a part he found difficult to play at first because of an almost overwhelming feeling of shyness which has bothered him since he was a big awkward kid in his native town, Winnetka, Ill.

What was the great thrill stardom had given him? He hesitated a long moment, then said:

"Well, once I parked my car across the street from a movie showing my first successful comedy film, and sat there alone in the dark and watched the audience come out laughing, arm in arm, and I knew that I'd helped them have a pleasant evening. I felt good about it.

"That probably sounds a little corny —but it's so."

And if it weren't so, Rock Hudson probably wouldn't be the actor that he is, one who says he won't feel satisfied as a performer "until I can play anything well."

Colombia Cracks Down on Guerrillas

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The Colombian government has arrested 15 Communist party leaders and nearly 200 other well-known Communist and leftist agitators following an upsurge in guerrilla activities.

★ ★ ★

The arrests were ordered by the National Security Council after Communist guerrillas blew up a train last week near the oil fields in the Department of Santander 300 miles north of Bogota. Seven policemen and three civilians were killed.

★ ★ ★

Among those arrested were Gilberto Vieira, secretary general of the Communist party, and seven members of the party's Central Committee.

President Carlos Lleras' government also placed the armed forces on a state of alert and canceled all leaves to cope with the threat of more violence by guerrillas.

26 SOLDIERS KILLED

The armed revolutionary forces of Colombia and the Army of National Liberation — the two major Communist guerrilla groups — have stepped up their attacks on army units, killing 26 soldiers and three civilians in the past two weeks.

The Communist party served notice last week that it intends to continue its 6-year-old guerrilla war against the government. The declaration apparently was made to counter reports from government officials of an armistice between the Communists and Lleras.

★ ★ ★

Reports of the armistice had been fueled by the government's policy of rapprochement and trade expansion with the Communist bloc started by Lleras a few months ago.

★ ★ ★

The Communist declaration supported that policy but made fresh attacks on Colombia's internal economic policies, which, it said, "have provoked a sharp increase in the cost of living." The Communists also charged that the peasants "are being persecuted by landowners with the help of the army."

★ ★ ★

One top Communist leader said that, although the guerrilla war will continue, the party will never approve armed terrorism in the cities. He said such terrorism would be a "grave mistake which only will supply propaganda weapons to the government and create public sympathy for it."

Young Italians Leaving Farm

CUNEO, Italy (AP)—Alarmed by the flight from the countryside, members of Parliament are looking for ways to keep young Italians down on the farm.

Farm population has been falling ever since postwar prosperity began speeding Italy's transition from an agrarian to an industrial nation. Agricultural employment has dropped from 8.5 million 15 years ago to less than five million today.

★ ★ ★

From 1951 to 1961, half the rural residents in their early 20s left for the higher pay, easier work and more comfortable and entertaining life offered by cities.

In some sections, the brawn drain has raised the possibility that no one will be left to till the fields.

TWO-THIRDS OVER 50

Choice vineyards and fruit groves abound in Cuneo Province in northwestern Italy but two-thirds of the rural families around Cuneo consist of persons over 50.

At nearby Barolo, famous for fine wine, an old farmer complains that "in a few years, nobody will remain here to cultivate the land."

★ ★ ★

"I am 73 and I have to work the fields myself because my sons have gone," another farmer says.

Some towns lack marriageable women because more girls than boys have departed for the cities.

Two bills have been drafted in Parliament to induce young farmers to stay home.

One would establish a "fidelity prize" protecting sons who remain on the land from property claims by brothers who leave. It would allow the only son remaining on a family farm to acquire 3 per cent of the property each year, starting at the age of 16.

The other bill would encourage old farmers to retire on good pensions. The young would inherit the properties and would be helped to join cooperatives as a means of modernizing farm operations.

Tree Insect Pest Found in Florida

WASHINGTON — The Oriental wood borer, a serious pest in the Far East, has been discovered living in Florida.

Specimens collected in oak and mahogany boards in Fort Lauderdale have proved to be Heterobostrychus aequalis. They have often been intercepted in quarantine in packing boxes from that area, but never before established in this country.

Raves, Crowds Greet 'Ulysses'

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-five years ago U.S. Customs officials seized and burned 500 copies of James Joyce's novel "Ulysses" and for a decade afterwards the "in" thing for American tourists to bring home from Paris was a smuggled copy of the work now regarded as a major modern classic.

Times changed. 1933 a federal judge ruled that "Ulysses" — four-letter words and all — could be legally sold in the United States.

* * *

Times changed still further and Tuesday night the movie version — four-letter words and erotic scenes intact — opened without censorship, without police interference, without public disturbance in 65 theaters across the United States.

The result? Rave reviews from New York critics and smash box-office countrywide.

LAST-MINUTE OKAY

Threatened official action against the picture in Chicago

Related Story, Page C-4

and Maryland failed to develop, although Maryland's Board of Censors — the last such state board in the nation — gave its seal of approval only hours before the film opened in Baltimore.

The U.S. District Court in Chicago enjoined that city's officials March 10 from interfering with the showing of the picture.

British censors were much tougher.

* * *

They granted "Ulysses" a certificate for public showing in London Tuesday but made 25 cuts. Where language was scissored out, the screen shows characters talking but no sound is heard.

At two points the screen goes blank where censors cut out scenes they considered objectionable.

PROGRAM NOTES

The producers said the missing dialogue and the cut scenes will be quoted or described in program notes handed out to audiences.

The Walter Reade organization, U.S. distributors of the picture, said it would take in over $1 million during its first showings, limited to three days. Prices are the highest ever charged for admission to a movie — $5.50 for evening performances and $4 for matinees.

The picture cost less than $1 million to make on location in Dublin. The language did not shock the critics and did not appear to bother audiences.

"The words," wrote Bosley Crowther in the New York Times, "are such as are used by average men and women in their intimacies, and they become, in the voice of Barbara Jefford, who plays Molly, a kind of earthy, desirous poetry."

'FAITHFUL' TRANSLATION

"How much of Joyce's candid language and his descriptions of the erotic fantasies of Bloom; his wife, Molly; and Stephen Dedalus are in the film?" he asked, and replied, "The answer to that is plenty."

"As faithful and fine a screen translation of James Joyce's 'Ulysses' as anyone with taste, imagination and a practical knowledge of this medium could ask has been made by Joseph Strick and Fred Haines," Crowther wrote.

* * *

The New York Daily News gave the picture its highest rating — four stars.

Critic Wanda Hale wrote: "If you go to praise Mr. Strick's masterful presentation of the controversial novel, not to protest the candor of deeds and words, you will find it a rare experience."

* * *

"It's artistic quality," wrote Archer Winsten in the New York Post, "is such that shock soon dissolves in astonishment and admiration. This is no pandering to low tastes, no feast for smut seekers."

* * *

Judith Crist, New York World Journal Tribune movie critic, wrote that "James Joyce's 'Ulysses' comes to the screen not only as a brilliant and absorbing film but also as a superb translation of the classic itself. Like its source, Joseph Strick's film has classic scope, a grandeur and a throbbing humanism, and intense dramatic power and a wild and unrestrained wit, a lyric beauty and a wild, robust humor."

COMPUTER COMPLEX — Two members of the computer staff at Michigan State Police facilities in East Lansing examine the recently installed central computer hookup, the key to a statewide network. The network will directly benefit about 120 law enforcement agencies, including 17 in Oakland County, beginning this year. The police departments will be furnished inquiry devices which will enable them to communicate with the central computer and receive a response in seconds.

Do-It-Yourself Science Is Slated

EAST LANSING (AP) — A number of Lansing-area elementary school pupils will try a new way of learning science next fall, figuring things out scientifically for themselves rather than having the teacher tell them.

The new kindergarten-through-sixth-grade curriculum aims at having the youngster ready to explore a concept such as relativity by third grade and evolution and atomic structure by sixth grade.

"Hopefully, this type of classroom situation will greatly aid the intellectual development of the child, in that he will learn to rely on his own reasoning process rather than try to read your mind in order to give the 'right' answers," says the teachers' manual for the curriculum.

Rather than telling the child what he should know, the teacher is to guide him through a series of carefully planned learning episodes that emphasize contact with the materials of science—metal, wood, rocks, living organisms and plants.

BASIC SKILLS

The idea is to have the child learn the basic scientific skills of observation, classification, formulation of a possible explanation and testing of the explanation.

"You must be willing to let each child draw his own conclusions from an experience," the teachers' manual states.

"You should feel no obligation to summarize the objectives of the lesson or to tie up all loose ends," it adds. "You can stimulate the child's curiosity by reminding him of questions that still remain unanswered."

Slayer Seeks His Release After 47 Years

JACKSON (UPI) — A 65-year-old man, serving a life sentence for poisoning his stepmother when he was 18 by putting arsenic in her sugar bowl, today was to plead for release from Southern Michigan Prison.

The State Parole Board scheduled the public hearing on the commutation of the sentence of John E. Mills who has served 47 years on a first-degree murder conviction.

Mills was sentenced without a trial by the Charlevoix Circuit Court after he pleaded guilty to putting arsenic in the sugar.

His parents' farm was located near Boyne City.

* * *

If the parole board recommends commuting Mills' sentence, the final decision will be left to Gov. George Romney.

Waterford's District Joins School Project

The Waterford Township School District is one of 11 Michigan systems participating in an unusual project which is a major effort to develop procedures whereby they can conduct self-evaluation of their programs in vocational education.

Representing the township district at a meeting yesterday at Michigan State University were Dr. Burton K. Thorn, director of vocational education, and Larry Wagner, an industrial arts instructor at Waterford Kettering High School.

* * *

Part of MSU's research and development program in vocation-technical education, the project is directed by Dr. Harold Byram, professor of secondary education and curriculum.

Other districts represented at the meeting were Alpena, Big Rapids, Corunna, Fremont, Hillsdale, Niles, Sault Ste. Marie, Stephenson, Benton Harbor, and Lansing.

Bus Strike Threat

DETROIT (AP)—Drivers and mechanics of the Lake Shore Coach Lines have voted to go on strike at 3 a.m. Thursday despite a recently negotiated new labor contract. The offer was accepted by Local 1376 of the Amalgamated Transit Union, but was contingent on the company's getting an increase in fares. The proposed fare boost is still pending before the Public Service Commission.

In London's Savoy
Lady Breaches Ban on Breeches

LONDON (AP) — The wife of a titled British racing driver breached the Savoy dining room's ban on women in trousers but the distinguished London hotel says it won't happen again.

The rule breaker was a Swedish-born brunette model, the wife of 29-year-old Sir John Whitmore. London newspapers reported today that she sailed into the dining room and nobody said a word about her trousers.

A spokesman for the hotel suggested that Lady Whitmore's pants were probably cut full and looked like a skirt. He said the rule against trousered ladies in the Savoy's dining room still stands.

Television producer Cathy McGowan reported she phoned the hotel to book a table two days after Lady Whitmore's triumph.

"No trousers, Miss McGowan," she was told.

"I think she got in because she is Lady Whitmore," said the lady's husband, who has driven at Le Mans, in the Monte Carlo rally and was European sedan car champion in 1965. "This is damned old-fashioned, stuck-up and pompous."

This has got to stop," said the conservative Daily Mail in a front-page editorial.

Recalling the long skirts of Christian Dior's "New Look" 20 years ago, it said since then "there has been a steady progress toward the hard, brittle and exposed outlines of today.

"Are women happy with this state of affairs?" the editorial continued. "Are they content with their cropped hair, their thin, pale lips, their black-rimmed, haunted eyes?

"The first woman who dined at the Savoy in trousers should also be the last."

Nader Files Libel Suit on GM Prober

NEW YORK (UPI)—Automotive safety critic Ralph Nader Tuesday filed a federal court $100,000 libel suit against Vincent Gillen, the private detective who investigaged him for General Motors Corp.

A multimillion dollar damage suit against GM and Gillen brought by Nader is pending in New York Supreme Court.

Basis for the federal suit was a "maliciously uttered statement" by Gillen to a reporter of the Detroit Free Press which was published and stated in part that Gillen said "he (Nader) claims he was followed in all those places—Detroit and Philadelphia—I would refer him to a psychiatrist."

The suit alleged that readers of the newspaper would understand that "I would refer him to a psychiatrist" meant that the "plaintiff was insane, of mental incompetence or incapacity, or of emotional instability."

Cancer Post to Bank Exec

A Bloomfield Hills man, George W. Miller, president of the Bank of the Commonwealth, will be the 1967 Crusade chairman for the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

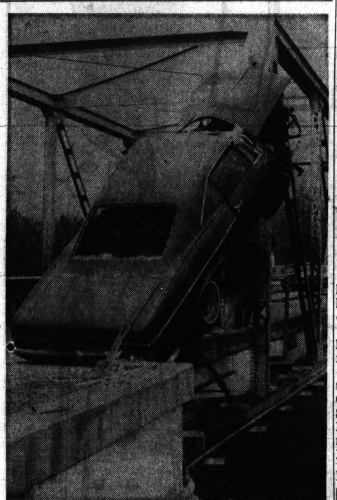

MILLER

As chairman of the foundation's annual educational crusade, Miller will coordinate a task force of 20,000 women to survey 250,000 housewives for interview data helpful to the long-range study on causes of breast cancer.

The crusade will cover Oakland, Macomb, Wayne and Monroe counties.

Miller, of 577 Rudgate, is on the boards of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, Wayne State University Press, United Foundation, Institute for Economic Education and Central Business District Association of Detroit.

Trading Is Active

Mart Mounts Vigorous Gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market mounted a vigorous advance early this afternoon. Trading was active.

The list was irregularly higher at the outset but the trend was uncertain until late morning when Chrysler began to exert strong leadership.

Other blue chips fell in behind Chrysler and the market made its best showing of a week which has been uncertain and cautious following the big rally of early Friday.

Chrysler began to climb yesterday on news that its early March sales were 7 per cent above the like period a year ago even while the over-all auto industry sales were down 25 per cent in the same comparison period.

STANDS OUT

Chrysler stood out as an auto recovery candidate and climbed more than 2 points as it paced the list on volume, showing turnover twice as heavy as low-priced Atlas Corp. which gained another fraction on news that it plans to sell a million pounds of uranium concentrate to General Electric.

Gains of fractions to a point among leading issues spread so that plus signs were about 2-to-1 ahead of minus signs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.4 at 318.7 with industrials up 2.5, rails up .5 and utilities up .4.

★ ★ ★

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Nuclear Corp. of America was active and fractionally higher. Gains of a point or better were made by Syntex, Audio Devices, Saxon Paper and AMK Corp.

Tax Credit Call Sparks Dispute

Economy, Surtax Plan at Issue in House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call for restoration of business tax incentives has ignited a wide-open dispute in the House Ways and Means Committee, with the state of the economy and Johnson's proposed income tax boost at issue.

The committee, trying to prepare the legislation for House passage by week's end, scheduled another working session today.

★ ★ ★

Still unresolved were differing opinions on whether the administration sought the action because it fears a recession and whether enactment of the measure — estimate to slice business taxes some $1.2 billion over a three-year span — would doom the proposed 6 per cent surtax on income tax.

OPEN CLASH

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler clashed sharply Tuesday with some committee members of both parties on these issues.

At one point in the heated hearing he offered to swear on a Bible that the administration was not acting out of fear of recession in seeking restoration of the 7 per cent tax credit for business equipment spending and of speeded depreciation rules.

★ ★ ★

The special circumstances that led late last year to suspension of these incentives, he said, have been corrected.

But Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., told Fowler that "any hope you may have for a general tax increase is now dead." Johnson has proposed a tax surcharge effective July 1.

★ ★ ★

Ullman insisted the administration must be fearing a general slowdown of the economy if it was asking Congress again to "step on the accelerator" and resume a tax credit that produced a substantial boom earlier.

Ullman said he feared interest rates, beginning to curve downward, would shoot up again.

LBJ Request for Latin Aid Termed 'Low'

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for a $1.5-billion boost in U.S. aid for Latin America has kicked up storm clouds at a meeting preparing for the April inter-American summit conference.

Everybody found the figure "ridiculously low," one Latin-American diplomat reported after the delegates to the conference calculated that the increase, to be spread over five years, would amount to only $300 million annually for the southern nations.

After word of the proposal was received here Tuesday, a formal meeting of the representatives of the United States and 17 other hemisphere countries was canceled. Diplomats from seven countries met privately to discuss the message, and none liked it.

★ ★ ★

"Everything is not turning out to be sweetness and light as was originally planned," a Central American representative commented.

'Skeleton' in House Closet: It's a Tombstone

AP Wirephoto

PART OF PLOT? — Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives W. Pat Jennings Jr. (left) and Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., majority whip of the House, examine a tombstone discovered in a utility closet in the Capitol yesterday. The crated tombstone bears the inscription "Stephen C. Deaver, Maryland, Sgt., Coast Artillery, June 20, 1938", and is addressed to "Congress U. S., Washington, D. C." with a shipping tag notation saying, "could not locate anyone who knows about this."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives has found a tombstone in its closet.

The new House clerk, W. Pat Jennings Jr., discovered it while cleaning a utility closet.

The tombstone bears the inscription "Stephen C. Deaver, Maryland, Sgt., Coast Artillery, June 20, 1938."

Veteran House aides say it probably had been in the closet for more than 20 years.

Nobody is quite sure how the 1-foot by 4-foot 240-pound marble slab got there.

★ ★ ★

Nobody is quite sure what to do with it.

ON THE CARPET

The tombstone spent yesterday afternoon on a Persian carpet outside the office of assistant Democratic leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

Jennings said later it will be stored in hopes someone will claim it.

A veteran worker on the clerk's staff said he thought the stone arrived while South Trimble was House clerk, and that Trimble put it in the closet. Trimble's last term as clerk ended in January 1947.

The tombstone's wooden crate bears a label addressed to "Congress (U.S.) Washington, D.C." and marked "Senate-House Souvenir." It came prepaid.

SHIPPING TAG

A shipping tag carries the notation: "Could not locate anyone who knows about this."

The return address on the crate is "Mrs. Deaver, 4427 Dryades St., New Orleans, La." Someone else lives there now.

Stenciled on the side of the crate is the address: Mr. R. Alportish, Sexton, Lafayette Cemetery 2, Washington Ave., Saratoga St. and Loyola Ave., New Orleans, La.

★ ★ ★

Robert H. Alfortish, now sexton at Holy Name of Mary Cemetery in Algiers, La., across the Mississippi from New Orleans, says he left the Lafayette Cemetery in 1949 but does not recall the Deaver tombstone.

IN DISTRICT

Jennings sent it to Boggs because the Lafayette Cemetery is in Boggs' congressional district.

★ ★ ★

Everyone concerned seemed a bit embarrased about the tombstone and eager to get rid of it. It was almost as if someone had found a skeleton in the closet.

Double Jeopardy Clause Viewed in Powell Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal-minded House members said today if Adam Clayton Powell is reelected and the House again moves to exclude him, it might violate the double jeopardy provision of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

★ ★ ★

That provision says no person shall "be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb."

★ ★ ★

It poses one in a mass of legal questions surrounding the Powell case.

Powell has been punished once by being denied the seat he won through election. Would another exclusion vote amount to a second punishment for the New York Democrat's same alleged offenses?

Some congressmen argue that the action excluding Powell was for the two-year life of the 90th Congress, which convened in January. They say another exclusion vote merely would be a reaffirmation of the original action.

But others say the House ban relates only to Powell's election in 1966. To exclude or otherwise punish him if he again is elected, they contend, would amount to a second punishment for the same causes since no new charges have been raised against him.

★ ★ ★

The general feeling today in the House is that Powell will easily win the special election on April 11 to fill the vacancy in the 18th New York District resulting from the House's refusal to seat him.

But reelection in itself would not automatically terminate the Harlem Democrat's federal court suit to force the House to seat him, even if the House decided to let him in. There still would be the matter of his legal claim for back pay.

PERSONAL CONDUCT

Powell was refused his seat because of his personal conduct in the handling of public funds and his defiance of a New York court order in a defamation suit which he lost.

★ ★ ★

A special committee headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., held that Powell met the constitutional qualifications of age, citizenship and residency and should be seated but punished.

MSU Players, Lions' Coach Happy With Draft

AP Wirephoto

PRESSURE'S OFF — Michigan State's Charles (Bubba) Smith, a giant in MSU's defensive plans for three years, was a 297-pound bundle of nerves just before the start of the pro draft yesterday, but the big guy relaxed in a hurry after the Baltimore Colts made him their top selection. He was the first player selected in the combined NFL-AFL college player draft.

Bonus Money Still Likely for Spartans

Smith First Choice; Jones, Washington to Remain Together

NEW YORK (AP)—Pro football's big bonus era is over with the merger of the American and National football leagues but Michigan State players may still get a share of the loot.

Four of the first eight picks in Tuesday's pro draft were MSU stars. Bubba Smith, 297-pound defensive end, was No. 1. Halfback Clint Jones was No. 2. Linebacker George Webster was picked fifth and end Gene Washington was the eighth choice.

★ ★ ★

Eight other players with Michigan college backgrounds were grabbed in the first four rounds of the draft. The University of Michigan supplied five of the draft choices, including halfback Jim Detwiler. But Detwiler chosen by Baltimore as the 20th pick in the first round, has said he may forego football for dental school.

"I wish I were in the big bonus era," said Smith, picked first by the Baltimore Colts, "but I'm not, and there's nothing I can do about it.

"Right now I'm more concerned about doing well. I don't want to go to Baltimore and sit on the bench. That would kill me."

TWO HOURS

Jones spent two hours talking contract terms Tuesday with Minnesota Vikings but did not sign.

Jim Finks, Vikings general manager, said a bonus would be involved in signing Jones, who dropped out of school this spring to support his family.

Jones took a job in Lansing with the Office of Economic Opportunity. He is the sole support of his widowed mother and an 8-year-old brother. Jones has a 3A draft deferment because he is the sole supporter of the family.

★ ★ ★

The powerful running back said being able to stay with MSU roommate Washington was a bigger thrill than being selected No. 2 in the draft. Washington also was picked by the Vikings.

"That's about the greatest news I could hope for," said Jones. "I was telling Gene there was a chance we might both go to the Vikings, but he said there was just no way. We've been so close they called us the Bobsey Twins at Michigan State."

Asked if he feels he can make a big splash in the NFL as Gale Sayers did at Chicago two years ago, Jones laughed and said:

"Nobody expects to do what Sayers did his rookie season. I'll be doing all I can to win a job. I know they won't just give me one in this league."

RATES HIGH

Jones apparently rates high in Viking plans because they traded highly-rated halfback Tommy Mason to San Francisco shortly after drafting the MSU back.

Washington, Big Ten hurdles champion, said he planned to compete in track this spring before signing with the Vikings.

Webster, selected by Houston of the AFL, expressed some disappointment.

"I've never expressed any preference," he said, "But I've always wanted to play in the NFL."

Other players with Michigan backgrounds selected were:

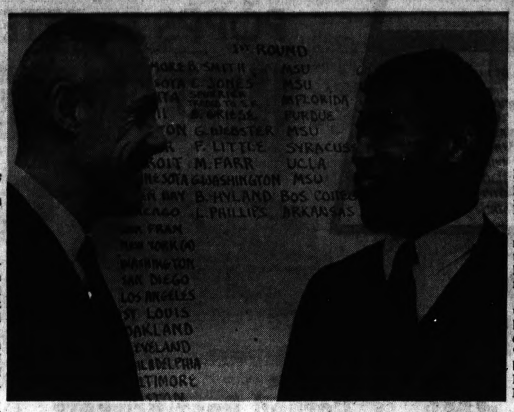

Second Round: Tom Beer, University of Houston end from Detroit and a former University of Detroit player, No. 6 by Denver; Bob Rowe, Western Michigan end, No. 17, by St. Louis; Rick Volk, Michigan defensive back, No. 19, by Baltimore.

Third Round; Frank Nunley, Michigan linebacker, No. 9, by San Francisco; John Rowser, Michigan defensive back, No. 25, by Green Bay.

Fourth Round: Carl Ward, Michigan halfback, No. 3, by Cleveland; Curtis Marker, Northern Michigan guard, No. 23, by Dallas.

Joins Blue Bombers

WINNIPEG (AP) — Joe Zaleski of Kensington, Pa., signed a two - year contract Tuesday night as head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League.

EARLY HUDDLE—Clinton Jones (right), one of the most exciting players ever to perform on the Michigan State University gridiron, wasted little time in getting together with his proposed boss in the pro ranks. Jones is shown here chatting with Minnesota Vikings' coach Bud Grant in St. Paul-Minneapolis shortly after the Vikings made Viking officials brought Jones to the Twin him their No. 1 choice in the player draft. Cities yesterday morning for an early huddle.

Schmidt Likes Halfback Farr

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Detroit Lions Coach Joe Schmidt was pleased as punch with the pro football draft, and he has a one-two punch to prove it.

With Notre Dame's great running back Nick Eddy already in the fold, Schmidt selected UCLA halfback Mel Farr as Detroit's first-round choice Tuesday.

"We're tickled to get Farr who has speed and great hands," said Schmidt, in Philadelphia to make his selections. "Our reports are that Farr is better than Clint Jones, the Michigan State back drafted by Minnesota."

★ ★ ★

The Lions took Eddy in the 1966 draft as a redshirt—a player whose class had been graduated but still had a year of college eligibility. Eddy signed with the Lions this winter.

Schmidt made the Detroit draft choices in the Philadelphia Eagles' offices in conjunction with BLESTO, the scouting agency owned by the Lions and four other National Football League teams.

RUNNING BACK

Farr, a 6-foot-2, 208-pound running back, was an All-America selection last fall. He averaged six yards a carry in his college career, totaling 1,680 yards for the Bruins. He also is regarded as a fine blocker.

In Los Angeles, Farr said he was happy to be picked by Detroit.

"I had talked to the Lions when they were out here playing the Rams," he said. "Then 'Night Train' Lane (Lions scout) spent some time with me when he was here for the East-West game.

★ ★ ★

"The Lions were interested in my draft status and when I told them I was married and had a seven-month-old son — Mel Jr.— they said they were really interested."

Farr said he has watched the Lions play on television several times.

"The Lions are great on defense but they really need some punch to make the team go," he said. "I think Eddy and I can give them the punch next year when we work together."

Detroit's second round choice was little-known Lem Barney, a defensive back from Jackson (Miss.) State. He intercepted 28 passes in the last three years and was the first Southwestern Athletic Conference player to be selected to play in three straight Blue-Grey games.

A dash man on the Jackson State track team, he had been clocked in 9.7 for the 100-yard dash and averaged 41.6 yards per kick as a punter in football.

The Lions picked tackle Paul Naumoff of Tennessee in the third round and defensive end Lew Kamanu of Weber State in the fourth round.

Diamond Fielders Lagging Behind Twirlers, Hitters

By the Associated Press

It's difficult to tell whether the hitters are ahead of the pitchers, or the pitchers are ahead of the hitters at this stage of baseball's spring training session.

Very difficult.

But one thing's certain — both are ahead of the fielders.

★ ★ ★

A total of 30 errors were committed in nine exhibition games Tuesday, with Houston and St. Louis each making six and San Francisco with four.

For the hitters, Tim Cullen of Washington, Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs and Jackie Warner of the California Angels were outstanding. Cullen and Williams each had a grand slam homer while Warner drove in five runs with a homer, double and single.

For the pitchers, Dean Chance, Jim Perry and Jim Grant took the honors, combining for a two-hit shutout of the New York Mets, 1-0, at Orlando, Fla.

OTHER GAMES

In the other Florida games, Cincinnati whipped St. Louis 12-9 at St. Petersburg, the Chicago White Sox nipped Boston 5-4 at Sarasota, Los Angeles bombed Detroit 8-2 at Lakeland, the New York Yankees beat Atlanta 5-0 at West Palm Beach, Washington stopped Kansas City 8-4 at Pompano Beach, and Philadelphia topped Houston 7-4 at Clearwater.

★ ★ ★

In Arizona, the Chicago Cubs got by San Francisco 5-4 at Scottsdale and California took Cleveland 7-2 at Tucson.

★ ★ ★

Williams' grand slam and the four Giant errors, responsible for four unearned Cub runs, were enough to bring Chicago its third straight victory. Jesus Alou homered for the Giants.

Warner's hitting heroics sparked the Angels to their victory over Cleveland. His three-run homer highlighted a four-run first inning. Willie Smith's pinch homer accounted for both Indian runs.

Cullen's grand slam and a solo shot by Ken Harrelson were all the runs the Senators needed to send the Athletics to their fifth straight loss.

INFIELD HIT

Perry struck out five and walked one in three hitless innings for the Twins against the Mets. Perry allowed an infield single and Grant gave up one hit, also in three inning stints.

The Yankees scored four runs on only two hits in the fourth inning and sent Atlanta to its first loss of the season. The runs came on a walk to Mickey Mantle, a hit batsman, a ground out, a wild pitch, a single by Joe Pepitone and a double by Elston Howard.

★ ★ ★

The Phillies capitalized on Houston's six errors and walked off with their first victory of the season. Gary Sutherland drove in three Philadelphia runs, including one in a decisive three-run eighth inning.

Wings Pin Hopes on 'Hum' Lineup

TORONTO (AP)—The slumping Detroit Red Wings, eight points out of the final National Hockey League playoff berth, plan to reunite the Hum Line against the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight.

Manager-Coach Sid Abel said Roger Crozier, benched for several games would return to the nets.

The Hum Line, Paul Henderson, Norm Ullman and Bruce MacGregor, paced the Wings to a 13-5 record during a six-week span in January and February, lifting Detroit to fourth place.

Injuries to Ullman and Henderson broke up the combination and Detroit fell into fifth place.

U. of M. Gridders Start Spring Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan football team begins spring practice indoors today.

Nearly 100 candidates are expected to report to Yost Field house to take part in the drills which will be held four or five days a week until April 15.

Bump Elliott, headed into his ninth year as Wolverines head coach, said he would begin the practice sessions a week earlier than usual because of the University's new tri-mester system.

Graduation exercises preceded by final examinations will be at the end of April and Elliott did not want the drills to interfere with exam studies.

Shaky Hurling Hurts Bengals

Los Angeles Romps to 8-2 Triumph

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Detroit Tigers manager Mayo Smith put three rookie pitchers on the line against a first string Dodgers team Tuesday and the National League champs bombed the Detroiters, 8-2.

Lefthander Jim Rooker bore the brunt of the assault, giving up seven Los Angeles runs in just one official inning for a springtime earned run average of 54.00.

★ ★ ★

"It's unfortunate that the game got away from us," said Smith. "But we're here to find out what these young pitchers can do. And we found out a little bit today."

The Dodgers rebellion came in the fifth inning with the Tigers down, 3-2.

Ron Fairly slammed a long homer over the rightfield fence, scoring Ron Hunt and Willie Davis ahead of him. The Dodgers scored another run in the inning, putting the game out of reach, 7-2.

Denny McLain and Johnny Klippstein combined for five innings of shutout ball.

HITLESS STINT

McLain pitched hitless ball in his three-inning appearance but was bothered by wildness and walked four men.

Rookie pitcher Billy Graham looked unsteady in a brief appearance and John Hiller gave up the final Dodger run in the ninth.

The Tigers scored both runs in the fourth against Joe Moeller when Willie Horton tripled off the rightfield wall after Al Kaline singled for his first hit of the spring. Don Wert followed with a sacrifice fly to score Horton.

Pistons Ready for Showdown With Chicago

Detroit Five Seeking Final Playoff Berth; Hawks, 76ers Win

DETROIT (AP)— The Detroit Pistons playoff hopes may depend on a showdown battle with the Chicago Bulls tonight at Cobo Arena.

The Pistons hold a one-half game edge over the Bulls for the final Western Division playoff berth with three games to play in the National Basketball Association.

★ ★ ★

The Bulls, who dropped a 111-96 decision to St. Louis Tuesday night, have two games to go, including tonight.

If the two teams end up tied, a playoff game will be required to determine which team moves into the playoffs. If the game is necessary, it will be played in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

"This has to be the biggest game we'll play all season," said Pistons' Coach Donnis Butcher. "It's nice to get help from the other clubs, but here's our one final chance to help ourselves against the team we must beat out."

CLINCH SECOND

St. Louis clinched at least a tie for second place in the Western Division and can wrap up the runner-up spot tonight with the help of the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Hawks gained the tie by whipping the Bulls, giving them a 38-41 record with two games to play compared to 35-43 for the third place Los Angeles Lakers, who have three games left.

★ ★ ★

The Lakers play host tonight to Philadelphia, already the Eastern Division champs. A defeat for the Lakers would assure St. Louis of second place behind the San Francisco Warriors, the Western Division champs.

Enroute to Los Angeles, the 76ers stopped in San Francisco and walloped the Warriors 139-110 in the only other NBA game scheduled Tuesday.

LEAD WARRIORS

Hal Greer and Wally Jones combined for 54 points to lead Philadelphia over the Warriors. Greer got 29 and Jones 25. Wilt Chamberlain added 21 points and grabbed 25 rebounds as the 76ers chalked up their 65th victory against the 12 defeats.

★ ★ ★

An 11-point burst in the last quarter when they trailed by two points at 76-74 gave the Hawks their victory over Chicago. Bill Bridges and Lou Hudson combined for 31 points as the Hawks pulled away in the final period. Bridges finished with 30 points and Hudson 22, including seven in a row in the Hawks' burst.

FINGERTIP CONTROL — Both Rutgers' Bob Greacen (25) and New Mexico's Bill Morgan (30) seem to have only fingertip control of the basketball during last night's National Invitational Tournament quarter-final contest at New York's Madison Square Garden. Morgan drew a personal foul on this play while teammate Ben Monroe screens Greacen from the basket.

Providence Ace Bows Out a Loser

NEW YORK (AP) — The ball floated gracefully toward the yawning basket at Madison Square Garden, and an era ended the way it began three years ago — with Jimmy Walker shooting the works.

But Walker's last shot didn't go in, and Providence's superb scorer-playmaker bowed out a loser — while Marquette's Warriors captured another prize in the National Invitation Tournament.

★ ★ ★

Marquette nipped the Friars 81-80 Tuesday night in a wild overtime finish when Walker's desperate 30-footer caromed off the back rim as the clock ran out. The setback ended Providence's bid for a third NIT title and closed out All-America Walker's fabulous college career.

★ ★ ★

The Warriors, however, moved into the semifinals of the 30-year-old classic along with Rutgers' surprising Scarlet Knights, who outscrapped New Mexico 65-60 in the Garden opener. Marquette takes on free-wheeling Marshall, W. Va., and Rutgers meets Southern Illinois' poised Salukis in Thursday night's semis.

HIT AVERAGE

"That shot was my first unsuccessful moment in New York," said Walker, whose 36-point effort against Marquette matched his scoring average in seven previous Garden appearances. Walker has earned the MVP award in two straight Holiday Festival tournaments here and recently was named the outstanding visiting collegian to appear in the Garden during the 1966-67 season.

Walker, who played the last 16 minutes with four fouls, missed the climactic shot after his basket, another by sophomore Skip Hayes and three Marquette errors dissipated the Warriors' lead.

In the opener, Rutgers' Bob Lloyd scored 14 of his game-high 23 points in the second half and the Scarlet Knights, now 21-6, held the taller Lobos to their low score of the season.

Kentucky Wesleyan continues its drive towards a second straight NCAA small college championship tonight. The Panthers meet Cheyney, Pa., State in one of four quarter-final games at Evansville, Ind.

In the other games, Long Island is paired against Winston-Salem State, San Diego State against Illinois State and Southwest Missouri against Valparaiso. The winners meet in the semifinals Thursday night with the championship final Friday night.

Moberly, Mo., opened its drive for a third straight national junior college championship by defeating Broome Tech of Binghamton, N.Y., in the first round of the annual tournament at Hutchinson, Kan.

Central Michigan Has Scare in NAIA Start

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Central Michigan faces Southwestern Louisiana today in the second round of the 30th annual NAIA basketball tournament, thanks to Bill Yearnd.

Yearnd sank a layup with 12 seconds to play in leading the Chippewas to a come-from-behind 71-70 victory Tuesday over Albany State of Georgia in the game and held on until the final 4:06 when Yearnd scored to give CMU a 65-63 lead. The lead see-sawed back and forth until Yearnd's winning tally.

★ ★ ★

A desperation shot by Albany State at the buzzer failed.

John Berends topped the Chips, now 23-2, with 17 points. Willie Iverson added 16 and Yearnd had 15.

Wilber Jones had 24 points for Albany State which ended the season with a 25-6 mark.

SEVEN SECONDS

Another top game was a 94-89 overtime squeaker by Tennessee Wesleyan over Indiana Central. Bobby Ferguson of Wesleyan stole the ball with seven seconds left and Bobby Davis scored to send the game into the extra period on an 81-all tie. The Bulldogs were never behind in the overtime session.

Eastern New Mexico ousted the local crowd faborite, Rockhurst, 64-59.

Although the score doesn't show it, St. Thomas from St. Paul, Minn., had to go all out in the final three minutes for a 72-63 victory over Claremont-Harvey Mudd College of California.

Giants' Sadecki 'Star' in Movies

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Left-hander Ray Sadecki battles to regain winning form this spring with the help of trouble shooter Frank Shellenback and some movies.

The 26-year-old pitcher, who joined San Francisco last May 8 in trade for slugger Orlando Cepeda, won only three games for the Giants, who lost the pennant by 1½ games.

Nobody is more eager than Sadecki to find out why a pitcher who won 20 games for St. Louis in 1964 and two for the Cardinals last April before the trade couldn't find himself in San Francisco.

The 68-year-old Shellenback, officially a scout in the Giants organization, has helped scores of hurlers so this time drew the assignment of working with Sadecki, who figures again in a key role.

"Motion pictures can show him what he's doing wrong and convince him quicker than anything," says Shellenback. "We'll go right back to fundamentals. He was good and he went off of it. This fellow has got to get confidence — confidence in himself and get to know he can put the ball where he wants it."

To Shellenback, control is confidence.

Also, he believes proper balance brings maximum performance, so perhaps there will be some changes in the Sadecki delivery, "so it comes as natural as walking."

Shellenback believes Sadecki has been finishing his delivery with one leg in the air instead of on the ground and is not in balance.

"He is falling toward third base so he doesn't have the control," the veteran coach explains. "Balance is the answer to maximum speed and control, plus the fact you're doing the same thing every time and batters can't guess what pitch you're throwing."

Receptive to the idea of the special coaching, Sadecki can't put his finger on the cause of his 1966 troubles, except he didn't have the control.

Local Baseball Group Schedules Junior Roundup

The annual roundup of Walled Lake school district area boys 7-12 years old desiring to play summer league baseball under the Lakes Athletic Association will be 7-9 p. m. April 6 at the junior high school.

The LAA sponsors three leagues — Pee Wee (7-8), Mustang (9-10 and 11-12) and Pony (13-14)—but will have its roundup of the teen-age boys later.

Previous playing experience isn't required; all boys registering with the association will be put on a team and have a chance to play.

The LAA also is looking for men willing to coach, asssit, act as scorekeepers or team sponsors; and it is requested that they attend the initial roundup, too.

Barn Blaze Kills Thoroughbreds

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — Claiborne Farm Manager William Taylor estimated the value of 18 thoroughbred yearlings which died in a horse barn fire Tuesday night at more than $500,000.

The yearlings included two by Bold Ruler, three by Titan, one by Nashua, two by Double Jay, one by Ridan, one by Baghdad, one by Pego Pego and one by Tudor Gay.

The fire, which reportedly was started by lightning, trapped the horses and quickly leveled the barn which also contained 30 tons of hay and 15 tons of straw.

Strike Averted for Pro Cagers

NBA Playoffs Open Next Week

NEW YORK (AP) — The playoffs for the professional basketball championship will start as scheduled next week. A threatened strike by players in the National Basketball Association was averted Tuesday by an agreement with Walter Kennedy, president of the NBA.

Kennedy and Larry Fleisher, attorney for the players' association, announced they had agreed "in principle" to negotiate a better pension plan which was the main change sought by the players.

The present NBA pension provides for approximately $200 a month for 10-year-players at age 65. The players asked a $600 monthly pension while the NBA owners offered an increase to about $500 a month.

Under the agreement averting the strike, Fleisher said, "Kennedy assured me, on behalf of the Board of Governors in the NBA, that the board is not in disagreement with the players on the principle of their requested pension coverage."

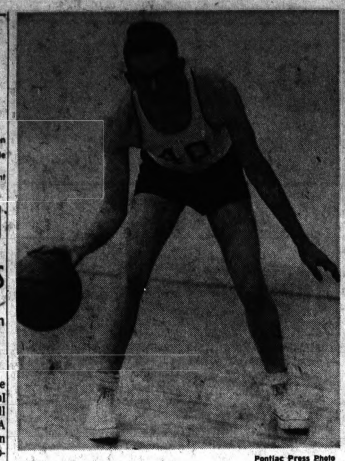

Kennedy further assured him, Fleisher said, "that a plan completely satisfactory to the players will be adopted no later than June 8, 1967. We have scheduled a series of meetings with a committee representing the owners to negotiate the details." The meetings will start Friday.

The NBA Board of Governors also agreed to review the form of the players' contract and to eliminate games immediately before and after the All-Star Game as well as increasing payments to participants in the All-Star Game. On their part the players agreed to an 82-game regular season schedule next year, compared to the current 81.

OUTSIDE THREAT — Guard Tim Baughman of Detroit Country Day is an accurate outside shooter with a sparkling three-year cage record that has earned him consideration for Class C All-State honors. Those aspirations will be in the background tonight, though, as he tries to lead the Birmingham quintet past Detroit All Saints and into the state tournament semifinals Friday night. Tonight's quarter-finals clash is 7:30 at Livonia Franklin High School.

Boxing World Gains First Feminine Touch

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Women have cracked another previously all male job field—and boxing may never be the same.

No, there aren't any women boxers yet. But when it's fight time at the Akron Armory Wednesday night, 22 - year - old Rhonda Kay will be the first one in the ring.

She'll be the ring announcer and hopes it's just the beginning of a long association with the sport.

"When you stop to think about it, there are many things people said at one time or another weren't for women. But now women are there," Miss Kay explained.

"Many women think boxing is brutal," the Grecian - born Miss Kay went on, "and that boxers aren't human. Sure, it's a rough sport but nothing could be further from the truth."

She said she became a boxing fan about a year ago when she started following the career of Akron middleweight Doyle Baird now 10 and 1. He fights the main event Wednesday.

A "teen gossip columnist" for an Akron radio station (WAKR) Miss Kay says the announcing was her own idea—"on the spur of the moment"—when Promoter Don Elbaum brought a boxer to the station for an interview.

"I told Don that if he wanted to get a big crowd at his fights, why not have a woman do the announcing."

"I meant it as a joke," she admits. But Elbaum, who didn't know her, went for the idea, asked if she would be willing to be the first—"and here we are."

They tested her announcing ability at a club show in Zanesville recently.

I was a little frightened at first," she said, "scared to death to tell you the truth. But when I saw the fans were enjoying it, I began to enjoy myself too."

Ronda will be dressed "at the height of fashion." She described her outfit as a multi - colored "full length dress that isn't a dress." It looks like a dress, she explains, and is one piece but really is slacks on the bottom.

Flashy Passer Goes to 49ers

NEW YORK (AP) — It took until the third pick before Florida's flashing quarterback Steve Spurrier was chosen in the first combined draft of the National and American football leagues.

The Heisman Trophy winner was grabbed Tuesday by San Francisco after Michigan State's mammoth defensive end Bubba Smith and speedy All-America halfback Clint Jones were named as the No. 1 and No. 2 picks.

Baltimore got Smith and Minnesota took Jones. Two other Michigan State stars chosen were All-America linebacker George Webster, by Houston, and flanker Gene Washington, by Minnesota.

In all, 133 players were picked in the first five of 17 rounds. The five rounds took 11 hours and 44 minutes to complete. The draft was to continue today.

But the pros weren't so busy going after college talent Tuesday that they didn't have time to make some trades.

★ ★ ★

Five deals were made involving such veterans as backs Bill Triplett, Earl Gros, Tommy Mason, Tom Flores and Daryle Lamonica, ends Art Powell, Marlin McKeever, Hal Bedsole, Glenn Bass and Gary Ballman and flanker Bernie Casey.

Purdue quarterback Bob Griese, halfback Mel Farr of UCLA, defensive end Lloyd Phillips of Arkansas and Notre Dame guard Tom Regner also were picked in the first round.

PICKED FOURTH

Griese was taken fourth by Miami; Phillips, Arkansas's only two-time All America by Chicago, and Regner, also an All-America, by Houston who had obtained Dallas's pick. Houston took Webster as its own choice.

Farr was selected by Detroit.

New Orleans, the newest NFL franchise, was supposed to pick first but traded the choice (Bubba Smith) to the Colts for Gary Cuozzo. The Saints got their first player—halfback Les Kelley of Alabama—on the 26th and last pick of the first round.

World champion Green Bay was the ninth team to select as a result of a trade with Pittsburgh, and the Packers took defensive guard Bob Hyland of Boston College. On their regular turn in the first round, which was 25th, they chose quarterback Don Horn of San Diego State.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota got the most first round picks, three. Besides picking Clint Jones in the second spot, obtained from the New York Giants as part of a trade, and Washington in their assigned eight spot, the Vikings also took defensive end Alan Page of Notre Dame in the 15th spot because of a trade with Los Angeles.

However, Ed Quirk notched 23 for the Packers and had help from Ken Carpenter (19) and Cecil Jones (12).

The Unbeatables eliminated Highland Lakes, 64-51, also using a strong second-half surge. The halftime score was 29-26 for the winners. Seven players had at least five points each for the Unbeatables who were led by Larry Montgomery's 17.

Craig Rogers of Highland Lakes took game laurels with 18. The five semifinal games are slated for tomorrow night.

Parochial Baseball Eyes Speed-Up

DETROIT (AP) — Now it's one, two strikes you're out in this old ball game.

Or, to put it another way, it's three balls and you walk.

The Detroit Catholic High School Baseball League has decided to try the two-strikes-for-a-strikeout and three-balls-for-a-walk system in an effort to speed up the game.

★ ★ ★

Coaches in two of the league's three divisions have voted unanimously to take the experimental step for this year's six-week season. The other division hasn't yet taken a vote.

"If they don't approve, then the league will have two brands of baseball, at least for this spring," said League Director Ralph Owen.

"We believe this is one of the most progressive changes made at the high school baseball level in many years," Owen asserted. "To the best of our knowledge it is the first such experiment in the nation."

Owen believes the experiment will speed up the game by 30 minutes.

ONE LESS

"On the average," he said, "a high school pitcher faces 35 to 40 batters in a seven-inning game. Under the new regulation, if he pitches one less ball to a batter, it means he will throw 35 to 40 less pitches."

★ ★ ★

Owen said the new system should not only speed up the game, but help the pitcher physically, invite more action and less delay, and improve the pitcher's control by not having to waste any pitches.

The new rule will not apply to a bunt situation.

"If the batter fouled off the second strike, he will not be out automatically," Owen explained. "The umpire will follow the old pattern of calling him out on a third strike bunted foul."

Owen believes the regulation will call for more mental discipline by the batter and pitcher.

"It'll put pressure on the batter to swing, and on the pitcher to throw more accurately," he explained.

★ ★ ★

Owen said most high school batters run the count up to three and two with the hope of getting a walk because they are not very good hitters.

"I suspect that old-time experts will rap our new concept of the game," Owen added. "But it is our motive to attempt inducing more parents and fans to attend the games, to build up renewed interest in a spring sport that has been slowly decreasing in attendance."

Ortonville Men in Panama

Top 'Security' for Hunters

Two Ortonville men had reason to feel very secure when they went on a hunting safari in Panama last month.

Six of the 10 guides assigned to the group of 15 Americans were members of the Panamanian secret service. Other outside hunters however, won't get the same high level treatment.

★ ★ ★

In fact, they won't be allowed to hunt.

"While we were hunting," said Jack Hamilton, 495 Mill, "the government was in the process of declaring a three-year moratorium on hunting."

Hamilton and Carl Kennaday, 4010 Oakwood, joined hunters from Arkansas and Tennessee on the five-day excursion along the Bayana River.

The expedition was arranged by the Rev. Lonnie Coffman of Searcy, Ark. He and Hamilton have hunted together over the years.

The Ortonville men are dedicated raccoon and fox hunters and have traveled to several parts of the United States and Ontario to follow the hounds. But this was the first trip south of the border.

★ ★ ★

"The secret service apparently controls the country," said Hamilton. "They transported our group by car, at government cost, 90 miles from International Airport near Panama City to the end of the road.

"Then six went along as guides when we switched to dugouts to hunt 70 miles along the river."

LEAKY BOATS

The mahogany dugouts averaged 30 feet in length and about 32 inches in width. They were powered upstream by outboard motors.

"They leaked like a sieve, too," said Kennaday. "We spent a lot of time bailing. When your sleeping bag started floating, it was time to grab a can."

The hunters took along only bacon and eggs for breakfast. Rice and meat or fowl taken by the hunters were the main provisions.

"We would camp along the river and a lot of hunting was done at night," explained Kennaday. "Until the moratorium went into effect there were no hunting laws in Panama."

★ ★ ★

"You would shoot at a pair of eyes and then go see what you hit," chimed in Hamilton who tried unsuccessfully to bag an alligator by flashlight while hunting from the boat.

The group bagged 14 alligators, several deer about the size of Florida Key deer, wild turkeys that "looked more like peacocks," wild pigs and one ocelot.

TOO WARM

"The temperature was 80-90 every day," reported Kennaday," and anything we shot had to be processed within four or five hours and used. We gave any excess to the natives."

One of the delicacies was ghana lizard. This amphibian grows to five feet and often was shot out of trees. Fish from the river also provided food for the hunters.

"We caught fish that resemble our smallmouth, but weighed five to seven pounds," said Kennaday. A variety of catfish also was taken.

Although rifles were taken, they were used only for target practice or shooting at buzzards. Shotguns loaded with No. 2 magnums were favored.

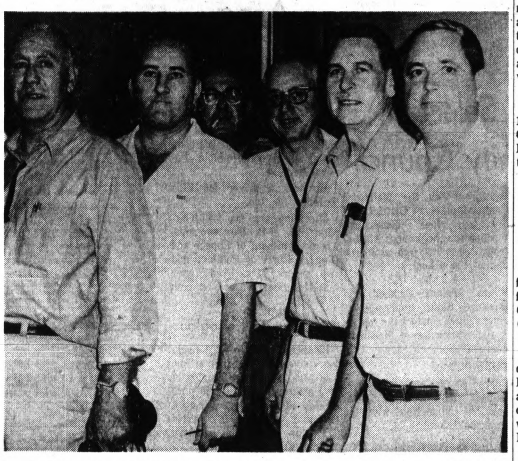

★ ★ ★

"The foliage was very thick and there were too many trees for good rifle shooting," said Hamilton.

The hunters spotted one tapir, an animal that looks a little like an elephant in front and a rhino from behind that weighs up to 700 pounds, but failed to get a shot. Several jaguar tracks were seen, but "we didn't have time to properly bait for one," said Hamilton.

The Panamanian government is embarking on a conservation program, according to Hamilton and the first step is to close hunting. Only city residents and tourists will feel the effects of the ban.

"The natives will continue to live off the land," said Kennaday. "There's no real way they can stop them back in the bush."

Pine Trees Reminders of Meeting

Nine pine seedlings were carried home to Oakland County last weekend as reminders that "back home" action is the key to improved natural beauty and conservation.

★ ★ ★

The seedlings were given to nine area youngsters who were among 400 delegates attending the Michigan Youth Conference on Natural Beauty and Conservation at Michigan State University.

★ ★ ★

Thery were Robert Taylor Jr., 1227 Tull; Chris Ogg, 350 Avery; Gary Hughes, 1082 Airport; and Marilyn Crommett, 3551 Dorothy, all Waterford Township.

Also attending were Jan Waters, 89 Chippewa; Leslie Ann Rock, 3071 York, Auburn Heights; Susan Quick, Holly; and Theresa Freeborn and Karen Erickson of Rochester.

Robert represented the Waterford Boys Club, Chris the Waterford Township High Interact Club and Gary the Waterford Conservation Club.

The grirls are Girl Scouts.

Waldo Gray of Detroit, president of Keep Michigan Beautiful Inc., challenged the delegates to action programs in their home communitites. The seedlings were presented by the Michigan Nurserymen's Association.

★ ★ ★

The nine area young people will meet Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Girl Scout headquarters, 91 S. Telegraph, to plan local action. Other interested youth groups are invited to send representatives.

★ ★ ★

Adults accompanying the local group to MSU were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor and Miss Jennette Gudgel.

Riot Control Classes for Rangers

Conservation officers and park rangers schooled in the handling of rowdies, drunks, vandals and troublemakers will patrol Oakland County recreation areas and state parks this summer.

They will be trained by police riot squad experts.

★ ★ ★

Training sessions will be held for all park personnel in Southern Michigan. Two are scheduled in the Oakland County area.

The first will be March 28 at the Ortonville recreation area and the second March 30 at First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

William E. Laycock, spokesman for the Conservation Department, said the department "is determined to protect our law abiding park visitors with all the department manpower we can muster."

★ ★ ★

He went on to say the Legislature has been asked to appropriate money to provide for mobile riot squads.

During the training sessions, state police will instruct the park rangers and officers in techniques for handling masses of people, violence, assault, liquor problems and general troublemaking.

Outbreaks of violence the past two summers by teen-age toughs and vandals created an outcry by public officials for greater policing of the parks.

Nature Association Meeting Saturday

The annual meeting and 15th anniversary observance of the Eastern Michigan Nature Association will be Saturday in Mt. Clemens.

First sessions will begin at 9 a.m. at the home of Thelma Sonnenberg, 124 Miller. A field trip to Anchor Bay to whistling swans is scheduled during the morning.

The afternoon program will be at Mrs. A. A. Thompson's home, 35 Miller. Slides of Africa will highlight this session.

Wildlife to Benefit

Slow Runoff Raises Water Levels

LANSING (AP) — Fish and fishermen, ducks and duck hunters and especially lakeside cottage owners should be grateful for the heavy snows that caused so much trouble this winter.

A bonus for this spring and summer already is reported in the water runoff from the snow melt.

The ground water level tables, which have been on the decline in Michigan since 1960, are up slightly.

Unless there is a sustained warm spell causing a fast water runoff, ground water level should continue to improve this spring and summer.

"The shallow water levels show some improvement but it will take quite some time to replenish the supply of deep ground water," said Jack Rulison, water resources geologist for the State Conservation Department.

The ground water supply is vitally important for home and industrial users.

Ducks and other birds suffer when inland marshes and potholes dry up.

A shrinking lake or pond or a dwindling stream result in fewer fish.

Owners of inland lake waterfront property have been particularly concerned.

Many of Michigan's lakes are potholes left by glacier blocks. They are not fed by streams and depend on water runoff for their existence.

A lake that looks lyrically lovely during high water can become literally a stinking mudhole when the water level recedes.

★ ★ ★

When this happens the lake is described as "dying" or "aging."

Southern Michigan, particularly Oakland County, has had aging lakes. Kalamazoo, Kent, Cass, Mecosta and — to some extent — Clare County are among others complaining about lowering levels.

Ducks, Geese Leading Topic

The spring breeding population of ducks and geese will be the main topic of discussion when two waterfowl experts from Mississippi Flyway states gather at Haven Hill Lodge for their annual spring conference.

The meetings will be April 4-6 and laboratory techniques, waterfowl diseases and study reports also are on the agenda. A field trip April 5 will take the experts to Shiawassee Flats and Fish Pointe.

The number of breeding ducks surviving hunting and the winter are an indicator of summer production potential. Breeding ground conditions are another key factor.

The Flyway council will again meet in August to recommend 1967-68 hunting seasons.

Players Called

All members of last year's M. G. Collision Class A city league baseball team or men interested in playing this season are requested to meet with manager Truman Lamphere 4-6 p.m. Sunday at 4700 Ross.

East Germans, Poles in Pact

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland and East Germany signed a 20-year treaty today pledging immediate aid in case of an attack by West Germany or its allies.

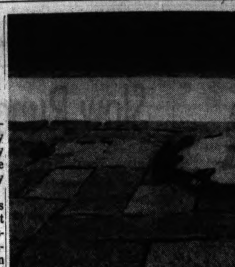

It was the second in a series of pacts the Polish and East German regimes have been fostering in Communist east Europe to counter West German moves for closer relations with Soviet bloc nations. Poland and Czechoslovakia signed a similar treaty March 1.

★ ★ ★

The pact, signed in the Polish hall of ministers, declared that Poland and East Germany regard West Berlin as a separate political unit. Although West Berlin has remained under British, French and American occupation since World War II, for purposes of trade much of the world treats the Communist-surrounded city as part of West Germany.

★ ★ ★

Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, state council President Edward Ochab and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz signed the treaty for Poland. The East German signers were the government chairman and party chief, Walter Ulbricht, and premier Willi Stoph.

KENNEDY BODY MOVED — The body of former President John F. Kennedy was moved to this permanent site in National Cemetery last night. The body was moved from its temporary resting place just beyond the picket fence in the background.

Mental Tests Slated for Boy, 14, in Shooting

A 14-year-old Pontiac boy who shot and killed another teen-ager last month will undergo psychiatric tests before any decision is made in the case.

Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard ordered the examination following a request Friday by the boy's attorney, Herbert Magnusson.

Banard adjourned the juvenile court hearing for David Johnson of 51 Michigan until March 31 when he can review the findings of the psychiatric examination.

Johnson was taken into custody and turned over to juvenile authorities after the fatal shooting of Robert Barker, 14, of 93 N. Shirley, on Feb. 15.

★ ★ ★

Magnusson said he asked for the tests after testimony from a psychologist disclosed that the boy might have a mental disorder.

Johnson can't be tried as an adult because state law does not permit juvenile courts to waive jurisdiction of 14-year-olds.

Loss Set at $3,000 in City Break-In Six business machines valued at more than $3,000 were stolen from the J. A. Fredman, Inc., offices, 735 S. Paddock, Pontiac police were told yesterday.

Included were adding machines and calculators. A seventh machine, valued at $300, was damaged in the break-in and left at the scene.

Investigators said entry was made by breaking a large window in the side of the building.

Dog Does His Bit

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Policeman Harold Norman caught a couple of youths inside a store here during the early hours of the morning. He was accompanied by a police dog that apparently felt it should do its duty too. The canine took out after and caught a pet dog belonging to one of the captured boys.

Wounded Man Is Still Critical

A 47-year-old Pontiac man, shot during a reported argument in his home Monday night, remains in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital after surgery yesterday.

L. C. Green of 447 S. Marshall suffered abdominal wounds when shot at close range with a weapon believed to be a 12-gauge shotgun.

Arrested in connection with the shooting was John D. Hudson, 65, of the same address. He is being held on an attempted murder charge pending preliminary examination, city police said.

Police said Green, Hudson, a woman identified as Green's wife Geraldine, 29, and an unidentified witness were at the scene when they responded to the shooting report.

A 12-gauge, single shot shotgun was impounded by investigators, police said.

Area Man Finds Wife Dead in Car

Mrs. Walter LaPonsey, 35, of 1285 Whittier, Waterford Township, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital this morning.

She was taken to the hospital by ambulance after her husband found her at 6 a.m. in the front seat of the car with the garage door closed, according to Waterford Township police.

JFK Wouldn't Settle for VP in '60---Book

NEW YORK (AP) — A new book to be published Thursday quotes Mrs. John F. Kennedy as supporting her husband's position that he would not take second place to Adlai Stevenson in the 1960 presidential campaign.

"Let Adlai get beaten alone!" the new book quotes Mrs. Kennedy as saying. "If you don't believe Jack, I'll cut my wrists and write an oath in blood that he'll refuse to run with Stevenson."

★ ★ ★

The book, "The Reds and the Blacks," is by William Attwood, editor-in-chief of Cowles Communications and former ambassador to Guinea and Kenya in the Kennedy administration.

Attwood was a speech writer for Stevenson in the 1960 presidential campaign. In the book, he relates a conversation he had with Kennedy on June 14, 1960.

SEWED UP

Attwood's account says that Kennedy told him he had the Democratic nomination "virtually sewed up," a month before the convention in Los Angeles.

Attwood says he suggested that if Stevenson won, the delegates would draft Kennedy as the vice presidential candidate. Kennedy replied he would not take second place.

★ ★ ★

"Not even knowing it would make (vice president) Nixon's election inevitable?" Attwood asked. The author says Mrs. Kennedy then joined the discussion and quotes her as saying:

"Let Adlai get beaten alone! If you don't believe Jack, I'll cut my wrists and write an oath in blood that he'll refuse to run with Stevenson."

When Attwood delivered a memorandum of this conversation to Stevenson, he says Stevenson burst out, "How could I ever go to work for such an arrogant young man?"

Attwood says Kennedy offered Stevenson "any job he wanted" in an effort to obtain his support.

Stevenson campaigned for Kennedy and was appointed ambassador to the United Nations after Kennedy's election.

Officers Are Selected for Community Council

Officers elected at last night's Greater Waterford Community Council meeting were Byron Zink, president; Russell Grinnell, vice president; Martin Downs, treasurer; Mrs. Norman Pankner, secretary; and Mrs. Paul Atkins, corresponding secretary.

Chosen to serve on the council's steering committee were Warren G. Bunce, William J. Dean Jr., Aben Johnson Jr. and Mrs. Earl Lundquist.

Officers will serve one-year terms while steering committee members are elected for two years.

It was announced that the council's landscaping course, co-sponsored with the Waterford Community School District, will be held four consecutive Wednesdays beginning April 5 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Miriam Grinnell and Lawrence Smith, landscape architects, will conduct the course. A registration fee of $4 will be charged.

TURN OUT

Over 80 residents turned out to hear Youth Speaks Program held in conjunction with the council election.

It was moderated by Dr. Kingsley Montgomery, director of Waterford Community School District's student services.

The "Fads and Styles" portion of the program created such a discussion that the second part "Student Attitudes Towards Authority" was postponed.

★ ★ ★

It will be rescheduled as a separate program after Easter.

City Woman's Purse Stolen

A 73-year-old Pontiac woman's purse was snatched by a youth who stopped her to ask for street directions, city police were told yesterday.

Clara Schutt of 96 Oneida told investigators she was walking at the northeast corner of Huron and Wayne when the thief, described as a boy in his late teens, asked to be directed to Perry Street.

★ ★

She said the boy then grabbed her purse, containing $20, and fled east on Huron on foot.

Things Get Rosy for State Entrant

Michigan's Junior Miss, Kathie Fliss, yesterday received 36 roses, a gift from the girls who competed against her in the state pageant. She is currently competing in the national pageant in Mobile, Ala.

Kathie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fliss of 24625 W. 10 Mile Road, Southfield, was crowned Michigan Junior Miss during the state pageant at Pontiac Northern High School last January.

The new national Junior Miss will be crowned Saturday.

Episcopal Theologian Rev. Pike Set for OCC Series

The Episcopal theologian who resigned as bishop of the California Diocese to seek a "more relevant" way of presenting religion to modern man will speak in Oakland County Monday.

The Rev. James A. Pike will appear at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Southfield High School, 10 Mile and Lahser.

Sponsored by Oakland Community College, the program is free.

However, tickets should be obtained in advance by sending stamped, self-addressed envelopes to OCC's community services division, 2480 Opdyke, Bloomfield Hills.

Accused of heresy at least three times, the Rev. Pike has been exonerated before each issue went to the highest Episcopal court.

He has said that the future health of the church depends on rejection of such "meaningless" doctrines as the Trinity, the Virgin Birth and the Divinity of Jesus.

The Rev. Pike now is associated with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions which was founded by the Fund for the Republic in 1959.

Formal Approval City Appointments OK'd

The City Commission last night gave formal approval to a number of appointments to city and county commissions and boards.

The appointments:

'India Refused Miss Stalina'

Nation Couldn't Get Okay From Soviets

NEW DELHI (AP) — An Indian friend of Joseph Stalin's daughter Svetlana said today that Miss Stalina wanted to stay in India but the "spineless" Indian government was not able to get permission for her from the Soviet government.

Ram Manohar Lohia, a leader of the opposition to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's ruling Congress party, said Svetlana, who fled to Europe last week, told him at a wedding in Allahabad that the period of her stay in India was not being extended.

★ ★ ★

"I suggested to her to fight it out — to put up a fight," Lohia said. "But she replied, 'Life is not that simple.'"

He added that her eyes betrayed "unfathomable depths of feeling and misery that she could not stay, even in a country like India which is friendly to the Soviet Union and where she found mental peace."

'HAD TO PAY PENALTY'

But Lohia said she did not give way to tears or bitter expressions. She "seemed to have known all her life she had to pay the penalty for being Stalin's daughter although she had not bargained for it and it was not of her choosing," Lohia said.

★ ★ ★

Describing Svetlana as completely nonpolitical, Lohia asserted that she would have contributed more to strengthening the Indian-Soviet relations than any single individual, and "It's a pity neither government realized it."

Miss Stalina came to New Delhi in January with the ashes of Brijesh Singh, an Indian with whom she had lived in Moscow and who may have been her husband. Lohia, who said he was an old friend of Singh, said she nursed Singh through his long last illness.

★ ★ ★

She went last week to the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi to defect from the Soviet Union. The embassy gave her an escort to Europe and she is now in hiding in Switzerland under the protection of the Swiss government.

REQUESTED U.S. ASYLUM

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said Miss Stalina requested political asylum in the United States and "this request has been neither denied nor granted." The spokesman added her place of future residence presumably "will be decided during her temporary stay in Switzerland, taking into full account her personal wishes in the matter."

★ ★ ★

The U.S. government has been reported reluctant to take any action that would endanger recent improvements in U.S.-Soviet relations and the various negotiations under way between the two governments.

Lohia is a leader of the Samyutka (United) Socialist party in the Indian Parliament. Opposition leaders are planning to raise the question of Miss Stalina when the new Parliament meets Monday.

★ ★ ★

Lohia said he first met Svetlana in Moscow in 1965. He said during a long conversation then she told him Stalin struck her only once during their life together and then immediately apologized.

Lovers Have Jumbo Quarrel

TOKYO (UPI) — A lovers' quarrel caused jumbo trouble at Tokyo's Ueno zoo yesterday. Two elephants had a spat.

Keepers said Indira, 32, apparently grew weary of the mating season nuzzling of Jumbo, 34. She ripped out a section of their compound's fence and lumbered off.

Hundreds of zoo-goers fled. Thirty keepers moved in on Indira, backed up by 45 policemen.

They offered Indira bananas to return to Jumbo. A flick of her trunk ended that.

★ ★ ★

The keepers then attached a chain to one of Indira's legs and tried to pull her back. The 30 keepers couldn't budge the elephant.

FINALLY SOOTHED

Finally they sent for elephant trainer Shogo Ochiai who left his sick bed, patted Indira on her trunk, whispered a few soft words under an elephant ear flap and led her home to Jumbo.

Workmen built a barrier around the compound.

Lindemer to Join Romney Office

STOCKBRIDGE (AP)—Lawrence Lindemer, credited by Gov. George Romney with helping make possible the election of a Republican governor in 1962, plans to join the "Romney for President" office in Washington.

Lindemer was Republican state chairman from 1957 to 1961. In 1962, Romney became Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years and praised the GOP organizational work done by Lindemer.

Nourishment, Intelligence Firmly Linked

By Science Service

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — A group of 20 Capetown, South Africa, children, virtually starved during their first year of life, offers firm evidence that lack of food permanently damages the growing human brain.

★ ★ ★

The children, each of mixed racial background, were the most grossly undernourished that could be found in Capetown 11 years ago, and were thus selected for a study aimed at singling out the effects of nutrition over and above environment as a cause of mental impairment.

Dr. Mavis B. Stoch of the Red Cross Hospital in Capetown presented the work of Dr. Patrick M. Smythe and herself to an international conference on malnutrition, learning and behavior, held at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Matched with the undernourished group as controls throughout the 11 years were 20 children from a similarly poor background but who were not undernourished.

★ ★ ★

The differences in mental capacity and head size between the two groups of children, now in school, were both significant and striking, said Dr. Stoch.

HEADS SMALLER

Head circumference averaged one inch less in the undernourished children that the control group.

The pattern of intellectual deficits is also indicative of brain damage among the undernourished children.

Normally, a poor environment or lack of maternal attention will produce retarded verbal ability in children.

★ ★ ★

In contrast, these children did not so much lack verbal ability as they were deficient in their ability to perceive pattern and in eye-hand coordination ability.

"This could be due to organic brain damage because of failure of brain growth resulting from undernutrition," said Dr. Stoch.

FM of Laser Is Developed

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Frequency modulation of a laser beam, a discovery that could be the key to making laser light a practical method of communication, has been achieved by Dr. William J. Thaler, a physicist at Georgetown University here.

Most of the research aimed at discovering an efficient way to modulate laser beams has centered on finding tehniques for varying the amplitude, or intensity.

This has usually been done by electrooptical devices that change the amplitude of the laser beam in accordance with the signal to be transmitted.

Such devices are both inefficient and suffer from the same problems with respect to background noise as does an AM radio system.

★ ★ ★

The apparatus developed by Dr. Thaler produces frequency modulation of a laser beam while the amplitude remains constant, changing it in such a way that the variation represents the audible sounds.

His device makes use of an interaction between the laser beam and a moving, periodic density disturbance — the bending that results when a ray of light passes from one transparent substance into another.

Such disturbances can be generated by ultrasonic waves in transparent liquids or solids, or by propagating electromagnetic waves in electro-optical crystals.

'Organization Man' One Facet of Study

WASHINGTON — Good "organization men" are more likely to come from the ranks of engineering and business students than from the ranks of liberal arts students, according to a 300-page study from Northwestern University's Technological Institute.

They are also more "security minded" than liberal arts types.

Engineering students are less concerned with status than members of the other two groups.

Gilbert L. Krulee, chairman of the department of industrial engineering and management sciences, arrived at these conclusions after a six-year study of more than 1,100 students.

★ ★ ★

Undergraduates in engineering and liberal arts were found to place a higher value on intellectual competence than business students who expect success to depend more on administrative ability.

Bacteria like forms, at least 3.2 billion years old, have recently been discovered in geological formations in South Africa. These are the oldest forms of life man has discovered.

Stars' Kooky Name Spelling Spells Trouble for Wilson

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—The other night, writing a piece about Mimi Hines and her husband Phil Ford, I referred to him as "Phil Hines"—not once, but twice—and the next night, equally brilliant, I wrote Maureen O'Sullivan and it came out "Maureen O'Hara."

WILSON

I'm suffering from name fag, that's what I am.

How would you like to have to remember that Diahann Carroll spells it that ridiculous way, that it's Bil Baird, that you mustn't confuse Cy Howard, Cy Coleman and Cye Martin with Si Seadler, and that Petula Clark doesn't have an e but P. J. Clarke's does?

★ ★ ★

How can there be such people around lousing up my life as Garson Kanin, Elia Kazan and Alfred Kazin not to mention Lainie Kazan and Norman Krasna? Now remember, it's Jule Styne, the composer-producer, and Jules Stein, the tycoon, and why don't we all get together some night and have a party and invite Wilson and drive him crazy reporting who's there?

Let's see! We'll have Jill Haworth and Rita Hayworth, Yves Montand and Yvette Mimieux, Veronique Vendell, Ina Balin, Karl Malden, Melina Mercouri, Yehudi Menuhin, Cilla Black, Francoise Dorleac, Wolf Mankowitz and Joe Mankiewicz and Mike Frankovitch, Inga Swenson, Inger Stevens, Ingrid Bergman, Ingmar Berman and Ingrid Thulin.

Well, that ought to have our Earl reeling before he's even had a drink! And of course Ingemar Johansson is very Inga, too.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The studios want Frank Sinatra & Mia Farrow to team up as romantic leads in a picture: whatta blockbuster! Could be as big as Liz & Burton . . . Secret Stuff: A world-famous couple split up temporarily because the wife tumbled for a handsome bachelor journalist. They ended the romance and the absentee husband returned.

Michael Caine, unknown in films two years ago, is now one of few male stars who can carry a film (Others include booming Steve McQueen, very Oscarish since "Sand Pebbles" . . . Sharon Tate's film "The Vampire-Killers" had a title change, to: "Your Teeth In My Neck" . . . Lord Snowdon bought somethin' triflin' in Tiffany's (whilst in his ski suit).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Sign at a loan office— "Ask us about our plans for owning your home."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A man's success doesn't usually go to his head," notes Joe Cuba. "Sometimes it goes on his wife's back."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: Out of the mouths of babes come words we shouldn't have said in the first place.

EARL'S PEARLS: Piero's bartender says his wife must be Irish. "Every time I eat her cooking, I turn green."

David Ben-Gurion was addressed by a reporter as "Mr. Prime Minister" and he said, "I'm not any more" . . . "Once a Prime Minister always a Prime Minister," the reported said. "NOT IN ISRAEL!" said Ben-Gurion. That's earl, brother.

Coffee Class? Wait Till Yale Hears of This

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — At Harvard, they teach many things.

The latest subject: how to make a good cup of coffee even better.

Several coffee experts are giving the seminar primarily for employes in the university's numerous dining rooms, though students and faculty members may also attend.

C. Graham Hurlburt, food service director, said Harvard serves about 25,000 cups of coffee every day and "there's always room for improvement."

Flint Power

FLINT (AP) — The city of Flint apparently will have more than half the representation on the Genesee County Board of Supervisors beginning in 1969 as the result of action taken this week by the Genesee County Apportionment Commission. The commission indicated it will use 1960 census figures to map out districts, which would give Flint the balance of power.

State Time Change Appears Dead

ACTING CHIEF — Police Chief William K. Hanger, headed for a three-month stay in Washington, D. C., commends Capt. Harry Nye on Nye's selection as acting chief. Hanger will be attending the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy through the first week in June. Nye was appointed to the post by City Manager Joseph A. Warren. (See story, page A-2.)

LANSING (AP) — Michigan apparently will continue on Eastern Standard Time this summer, exempt from a 1966 federal law to set clocks ahead for six months of each year.

The House of Representatives yesterday passed 64-43 and gave immediate effect to the controversial exemption measure.

The Senate has passed the bill and was expected to give it the necessary immediate effect today.

The bill then will go to Gov. Romney for his signature.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, served notice yesterday he would ask today for reconsideration of the vote by which the anti-Daylight Saving Time bill passed. But other House members said there was little chance the result would be overturned.

FEDERAL ACT

If the bill is not given immediate effect and signed by the governor this month, Michigan residents will be required by the federal act to set their clocks ahead one hour each April 30 and back an hour each Oct. 31.

A bill ordinarily does not become law until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns for the year.

The time bill would have been useless without immediate effect, however, because Congress required states which did not want Savings Time to act before April 1.

Only 64 of the 110 House members voted for the bill but 10 opponents bowed to the majority and gave the needed two-thirds majority on a separate vote for immediate effect.

★ ★ ★

'HELP ECONOMY'

Opponents of the measure said going on Daylight Saving Time during the summer would "keep Michigan in time with the Eastern Seaboard" and help the economy by giving businesses which deal with the eastern cities more time each day to do it.

Those favoring it said farmers would have an extra working hour each day—from the time morning moisture dries until quitting time — if the state avoided Daylight Time.

Other opponents of Saving Time noted Michigan, geographically, is in the Central Time Zone, although it keeps Eastern time. Eastern Saving Time, they said would amount to "double-fast time."

PERRY RUSSO

Oswald Linked to Two Others in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Perry Raymond Russo, who testified he heard Lee Harvey Oswald and two others plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy, faces cross-examination today by defense lawyers.

Counsel for Clay L. Shaw, the wealthy businessman arrested by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison on a charge of conspiring with Oswald and David W. Ferrie to murder Kennedy, put off their questions yesterday until they could study scholastic and business records of Russo.

Before court reopened, mystery surrounding this "confidential informant" thickened.

The riddle:

—Russo, 25, an insurance salesman from Baton Rouge, told the court he was in the apartment of David W. Ferrie here in September 1963 and listened to the three men conspire to kill the president and escape.

★ ★ ★

But two weeks ago, shortly after Ferrie died of what the coroner termed natural causes and Garrison maintained was suicide, Russo told a newsman from New Orleans television station WDSU that Ferrie never mentioned Oswald's name to him, adding, "I had never heard of Oswald until on television . . . ahh . . . the assassination."

GIVE DETAILS

—Russo gave details in court of the meeting in Ferrie's apartment, saying the plot involved sacrificing one man to allow the others to make a getaway, a possible flight to Cuba, diversionary shooting and "triangulation of crossfire."

Yet in an interview earlier with a Baton Rouge television station, Russo explained he never came forth with his information before because "I left it to professionals . . . when they came out with Oswald was the man. Then I forgot it."

—Russo told the court that Ferrie proposed flying the getaway plane into Mexico to refuel for a flight to Cuba. Russo said Shaw interrupted to say that as soon as the shots were fired "the world would know about it," and there would be no way to get the plane out of Mexico. Russo quoted Oswald as telling Shaw to "shut up. Leave him (Ferrie) alone. He knows what he's talking about. He's the pilot."

★ ★ ★

But when Russo was asked by a newsman earlier whether he thought Ferrie might have had anything to do with the assassination, he replied: "Well, that I don't know and it would be just speculation.

"Dave Ferrie had the ability because of a keen mind and ability to drive an airplane. Now whether he would have used that is another thing . . . It's only conjecture."

GOP Hits Tax on Nonresidents

LANSING (AP) — Senate Republicans agreed yesterday that Michigan cities should be able to levy income taxes but they called for elimination of one-half per cent city taxes on nonresidents.

The action came in the second of a series of Republican caucuses designed to examine fiscal reform in an effort to reach a majority position on Gov. George Romney's proposed income tax.

The caucus move was seen as an attempt to win the income tax vote of Sen. George Kuhn, R-Birmingham, a foe of city income taxes on nonresidents.

Kuhn, former Berkley mayor and chairman of the Vigilance Tax Committee, a group opposing Detroit's one-half per cent tax on suburban residents who work in Detroit, was visibly pleased as he left the caucus.

"I'm pleased that they're giving favorable consideration to the repeal of the nonresident tax," Kuhn said. "It's the first step."

'MORE PALATABLE'

Asked if he would vote for a state income tax package if taxation of nonresidents by cities was eliminated, Kuhn said:

"It makes the whole program more palatable."

Elimination of the portion of the Uniform City Income Tax Act allowing cities to impose a one-half per cent tax on nonresidents would cost the city of Detroit an estimated $8 million.

However, Republicans said they had urged the Senate Taxation Committee to explore other areas in which Detroit and other cities would be able to make up for lost revenue.

News at a Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The body of President John F. Kennedy was transferred without ceremony last night from the temporary grave it has occupied since his assassination in 1963 to its permanent resting place in a granite memorial a few yards away. The bodies of two children who died before their father, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and a stillborn infant, will lie near the president's body in the memorial.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savor for a moment the figure $1,529,700,000,000. That's trillion, not billion, and the treasury Department says it represents total outstanding debt — federal, individual, state, local and corporate — as of last Dec. 31. The total increased $99.1 billion in one year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell was reported today still planning to return to New York from the Bahamas Sunday despite a court's refusal to consider an appeal from his criminal contempt citation which makes him subject to arrest in the state.

Downtown Plan to Commission

A 10-point proposal calling for voiding of the Taubman Plan and launching of a new downtown redevelopment effort was received without comment last night by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

Related Stories, Pages A-2, C-8

The letter declared the CCPPP to be in "full support" of a revamped development plan, advocated use of urban research performed by the University of Detroit, and urged close observance of regulations of the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

A previous formal protest filed by the committee branding the Taubman agreement as "illegal" is still in the hands of federal HUD officials in Chicago.

HUD's decision on that protest, as well as federal action on a previous order forbidding conveyance of the city's urban renewal lands, is still pending.

Two N-Scientists Disagree on Danger of Antimissiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear physicist says large-scale use by either the United States or the Soviet Union of antiballistic missile defense systems would threaten survival of all inhabitants of the Northern Hemisphere.

★ ★ ★

But Dr. E. J. Sternglass' contention that midair explosions of defensive weapons and incoming missiles would result in massive radioactive fallout was disputed today by another nuclear physicist, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp of Washington, D.C.

Lapp said America's ABM system — and presumably the Soviet Union's — essentially would rule out deposit of lethal quantities of fallout on the earth from the explosion of nuclear-tipped ABMs aloft.

Sternglass, past chairman of the Pittsburgh, Pa., chapter of the Federation of American Scientists, declared: "This danger arises from the great increase in the total amount of radioactive materials which would necessarily be released into the atmosphere by the multimegaton ABM missiles required to destroy the incoming warheads."

★ ★ ★

Lapp, who worked on the wartime A-bomb development but is not now associated with the government's nuclear program, told a reporter he believes Sternglass' view is based on an incorrect interpretation of how radioactive debris — released by an exploding ABM — would be deployed.

NOT LOW BLASTS

He said Sternglass was assuming incorrectly that the defensive explosions all would take place at comparatively low altitudes in the atmosphere — thus depositing relatively large quantities of fallout on the earth, and relatively quickly.

Lapp also indicated he felt Sternglass was applying to highexploding missiles fallout data gleaned from nuclear bursts at comparatively low altitudes.

In contrast, he indicated, the American defensive system is designed to have the explosions occur at altitudes at least 10 miles high.

City Judge Fines GTW $500

CECIL B. McCALLUM

Minicipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum levied $500 in fines against the Grand Trunk Western Railroad yesterday after finding the railroad guilty of five separate crossing violations.

★ ★ ★

The one-day total nearly equals the accumulated assessments ($580) paid by the railroad since 1955, according to traffic court records.

The complaints, or citations by police and one sworn out by a citizen, each alleged that trains had blocked crossings longer than the five minutes permitted by city ordinance 1275.

"Maybe that will wake them up some," declared McCallum, who offered 15-day jail terms as alternatives to the fine in each of the complaints.

"I think they're trying to attain efficiency by putting 100 or more cars behind these engines.

'PUBLIC EXPENSE'

"That's okay — they're a business — but they can't buy efficiency at public expense."

★ ★ ★

McCallum had stated previously that mechanical breakdowns and blocked switches were valid reasons for dismissal of complaints.

★ ★ ★

Following yesterday's hearing, however, he said "many of the breakdowns are apparently being caused by overloading the engines."

Winter is gradually losing its firm grip on the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts temperatures will average four to six degrees below the normal highs of 39 to 44 and lows of 20 to 28 until Friday and over the weekend when the mercury will rise.

The first of the week will again be cold.

Little precipitation is expected. The forecast calls for one-tenth of an inch or less in rain or snow during the period.

★ ★ ★

Today's north to northeast winds at 10 to 18 miles per hour will become light and variable tonight.

CHILLY

A chilly 30 degrees was the low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reached 40 by 1 p.m.

FBI Says Serious Crime Up During '66

WASHINGTON—Serious crime in the United States increased 11 per cent in 1966 when compared with 1965, according to figures made available today through the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports.

★ ★ ★

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said all Crime Index offenses showed substantial increases in volume.

Crimes of violence were up 11 per cent with a 9 per cent increase in murder, 10 per cent in aggravated assault, 10 per cent in forcible rape and robbery 14 per cent.

The crimes against property also increased 11 per cent as a group. Individually, burglary rose 9 per cent while larceny $50 and over in value and auto theft were each up 12 per cent.

Hoover said crime increases were reported by all city groups, with the sharpest change in volume having been noted in the group of cities with less than 10,000 inhabitants up 14 per cent. Large cities with populations in excess of 100,000 had an average increase of 10 per cent. The rural areas were up 7 per cent and crime in the suburbs rose 13 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The crime increases, according to Hoover, were consistent throughout all geographic regions. The southern states were up 13 per cent, the north central states 11 per cent, the western states 10 per cent and the northeastern states 9 per cent.

The FBI director, in reiterating the need for adequate firearms legislation, noted that serious assaults where a gun was used had a sharp 23 per cent jump during 1966.

Robberies where a weapon was used rose 12 per cent. Hoover pointed out that 6 of every 10 murders were committed with the use of a firearm. Of these, 71 per cent were handguns, 17 per cent shotguns and 12 per cent rifles or other type firearm.

The figures released by the FBI disclosed that, in 1966, police arrests of adults for all criminal acts excluding traffic offenses dropped 1 per cent. At the same time, however, arrests of persons under 18 years of age increased 9 per cent.

In cities with over 100,000 population, adult arrests were down 3 per cent and juvenile arrests were up 7 per cent. The suburban areas recorded increases in both adult and juvenile arrests of 2 per cent and 11 per cent, respectively.

DECLINE NOTED

Arrests of adults in rural areas declined 3 per cent while juvenile arrests increased 9 per cent.

Nationally, police solutions of the Crime Index offenses averaged 25 per cent. According to data furnished to the FBI by local law enforcement agencies, the police solved 89 per cent of the murder, 72 per cent of the aggravated assault, 65 per cent of the forcible rape, 33 per cent of the robbery and 21 per cent of the property offenses.

'Oregon-Style' Primary Eyed for State

LANSING (UPI) — A Democratic-sponsored bill to set up a presidential primary election in Michigan was met with more than a glimmer of interest yesterday by Republicans, who have a candidate they'd like to run.

Many of them saw it as an ideal way to purge the Michigan party of conservative elements who don't even want to see Gov. Romney running as Michigan's favorite son, let alone as a serious candidate.

But Rep. George F. Montgomery, D-Detroit, who is the solo sponsor of the bill, said he'd put it in to "give Michigan voters a more direct voice in choosing their presidential candidates."

The plan is an adaptation of the Oregon primary system, in that the secretary of state on February 2 of a presidential year starting in 1968 would declare who he thinks to be candidates in each party and order their names printed on the primary ballot.

A named candidate then could do one of two things before March 15: file an affidavit that he's not a candidate; or file a list of friendly potential delegates to his party's national convention to run for him.

APRIL ELECTION

The election would be held the first Tuesday in April, and the batch of delegates pledged to whichever candidate corners the most votes would be elected and cast all Michigan's delegate votes for him at the convention.

Montgomery's bill also provides for new state conventions to be held to elect national convention delegates in case the winning candidate did not file a list of his preferred representatives.

"This is very exciting," enthused GOP Executive Vice Chairman William McLaughlin about the prospect of a presidential primary.

* * *

"Let's let the people have their say. I'd really like to see it happen."

LESS COMMITMENT

But the closer one got to Michigan's potential candidate, the less commitment there was.

* * *

A spokesman for Romney Associates — the group that's helping the governor decide whether to go for the nomination — said it was "too early to comment" on primary possibilities.

U.S. Alert in 2nd Rocket Attack

SAIGON (AP) — Communist gunners firing from a maximum range of seven miles unloaded 35 big rockets on the giant U.S. air base at Da Nang today and had to flee under a hail of return fire less than two minutes later.

Stung by a similar rocket attack on the base two and a half weeks ago, the Marines were alert for this one. Radar-directed gunfire was being laid on the Red launching positions within 120 seconds of the first explosion inside the base, U.S. spokesmen reported.

Helicopter gunships pounced on the Red positions. Flare ships unloaded 135 parachute flares. Two of the twin-engine C47s, called "Puff the Magic Dragon" because of their special Gatling guns, sprayed the Red positions with 55,700 rounds of minigun amunition.

The Communists' 140mm Soviet rockets, the biggest in their arsenal, damaged three U.S. planes and injured 16 American soldiers.

NO WOUNDED

A U.S. spokesman announcing the casualties admitted somewhat sheepishly that technically none was wounded.

"There was a sort of mad dash for the bunkers up there," he said. "The casualties were all sprained backs, scraped knees and things like that. That is why we used the word injured."

* * *

The three planes will be repaired, the spokesman said.

In the last rocket attack on Da Nang Feb. 27, the first in which the Communists used the 140mm weapons, the Reds fired 52 rounds into the base and an adjacent civilian village, killed 19 Americans and 32 South Vietnamese and wounded 35 Americans and 70 Vietnamese.

GROUND SWEEP

Other significant items listed in the daily military communique included a ground sweep in the Kontum area by U.S. 4th Infantry Division soldiers in which 17 Americans were killed and 26 were wounded Tuesday, and the salvage of a Communist arms-running trawler that has already disgorged 700 Chinese carbines and a small arsenal of other arms and ammunition.

* * *

U.S. pilots hit North Vietnam with 116 missions Tuesday and four destroyers pounded the North Vietnamese coast. One destroyer was fired upon but silenced the Communist shore battery without damage to itself.

Foes of Consular Treaty Plan New Moves Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate opponents of the U.S.-Soviet consular treaty try today to tie the proposed pact to the Vietnam war.

Up for consideration are three reservations, or understandings, that would make implementation of the treaty dependent on withdrawal of Soviet support of the North Vietnamese.

* * *

Backers of the pact, who claim such conditions would destroy chances for Soviet acceptance, defeated 65 to 22 Tuesday another reservation by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

It would have required the Soviets to allow as many American newsmen in the Communist nation as Soviet newsmen are here. It also called for letting U.S. consular officials distribute expressions of U.S. policy in the Soviet press.

5 HOURS OF DEBATE

Another Mundt reservation — this one to require the President to inform Congress that Soviet aid wasn't prolonging the Vietnam war — is ticketed for five hours of debate today.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., has offered another reservation that would postpone the effective date of the pact until the President tells Congress "that the Soviet Union has ceased all military support and assistance of any kind . . . to North Vietnam."

* * *

Still another attempt to qualify acceptance of the treaty is proposed by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith. The Maine Republican wants the Senate to express hope no Soviet consulates would be opened in the United States until the Vietnam war comes to "an honorable conclusion.

Amendments can be adopted by majority vote, but to be ratified, the pact must win two-thirds approval.

* * *

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says he is hoping to bring the treaty itself to a vote before the weekend.

Finance Group to Meet Again on City Needs

'Phantom Sniper' Is Sane, Say 4 Ionia Psychiatrists

Four staff members of Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane testified yesterday in Ionia Circuit Court that Oakland County's "phantom sniper," Gary Addison Taylor, is now sane.

The hearing, which could result in the release of Taylor, 31, of Royal Oak, was scheduled to resume late this afternoon before Judge Leo Bebeau.

During the 10-hour hearing yesterday two of the four psychiatrists who testified said that if they were in control they would free Taylor.

Taylor was committed last May after being acquitted in Oakland County Circuit Court of attempted murder by reason of insanity.

* * *

The superintendent of Ionia, Dr. A. A. Birzgalis, testified yesterday that he was opposed to freeing Taylor.

SEEKING RELEASE

Seeking the release of Taylor is attorney Rex O'Connor of the Ionia law firm of O'Connor and McNamara, retained by Taylor's parents.

On Feb. 20, Dr. James A. Peal, then assistant director of mental health for the state, testified at a hearing that it was his opinion that Taylor should be released.

Peal was allowed to testify at that time because he had resigned his position and was leaving for a new job in California.

* * *

Taylor has been in and out of mental institutions since 1957 when he was arrested a few hours after wounding a Bloomfield Hills girl with a shot from a 22-caliber rifle.

RELEASED IN 1961

Released in 1961, he was later recommitted after he attacked two Detroit women with a butcher knife.

* * *

During a hearing before Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore last year, Dr. William Gordon, a Detroit psychiatrist, testified that Taylor had "uncontrollable drives" which he had exhibited toward women since he was 14 years old.

Johnson Lauds 'Old Hickory'

200th Birthday of Ex-President Marked

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Johnson, marking the 200th birthday of Andrew Jackson in an area where states rights often has been a political issue, lauded Jackson today for believing "the national government represented the people, not the states."

In an address prepared for delivery at Jackson's home — the Hermitage — Johnson said this belief of the seventh president "triumphed in his time."

* * *

But he said "the torch of union" which Jackson lit sputtered out under later presidents. Otherwise, he said, "we might well have avoided the holocaust of Civil War."

* * *

Johnson, making an early morning flight here from Washington, scheduled three formal speeches in Tennessee — his first outside Washington since his Asian tour last fall.

TRIPS URGED

Some regional leaders of the Democratic party have been urging the chief executive to undertake more speech-making trips around the country.

In Tennessee, the President joined his touring wife to appear at the Hermitage, address a joint session of the Tennessee Legislature on Vietnam and help dedicate a new community college at Columbia, 50 miles from Nashville.

* * *

In his Hermitage text, Johnson said that Jackson "began an era of competitive political activity, based on the ideal of the citizen as a full participant in the life of the community."

This task remains unfinished, he said.

Oil-Storage Building Lost in Holly Fire

The Mobil Oil warehouse at First and Front in Holly was destroyed by fire last night in a blaze which was battled for two hours.

* * *

The flames lighted the village sky and kept Grand Trunk Western trains from passing, said James Alexander, Holly Township assistant fire chief.

He said the building was used to store bulk and canned oil and gasoline products. Fire from an undetermined cause broke out at 10:55 p.m., and was not under control until after 1 a.m., today, Alexander said.

Along with destruction of the building and its contents, two gasoline tank trucks stored in the building were also destroyed, he said. Losses amounted to $7,500.

Acting Police Chief Named

Pontiac Police Capt. Harry Nye, presently patrol bureau commander, has been appointed acting police chief from March 20 to June 11.

* * *

The vacancy will be created by Police Chief William K. Hanger's attendance at the Federal Bureau of Investigation Academy.

The appointment was confirmed to city commissioners at their meeting last night.

Police staff commanders had been informed of the decision last week.

* * *

Nye will assume the post upon Hanger's departure at the end of this week.

SCHEDULED RETURN

Hanger is scheduled to return from the academy June 8.

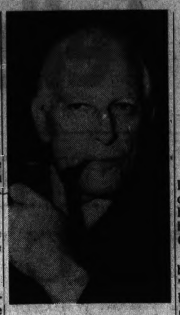

Nye, 50, joined the department in 1942. He was promoted to sergeant in 1953 and to lieutenant in 1956.

His appointment as captain was made Oct. 31, 1965.

* * *

Nye has received two meritorious citations, one in 1942 and a second in 1948.

Warren said Nye would be paid a salary equivalent to the rate of a starting chief, about $960 a month.

SEN. DODD

Dodd: No One Took My Offer

Dinner Ticket Buyers Can Obtain Refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says he has had no takers on his offer of cash refunds to persons who may have brought tickets to testimonials for him under the impression the money would be used only for his campaign expenses.

That was the Connecticut Democrat's reply to a reporter's question as the Senate Ethics Committee indicated it is nearing the end of its presentation of evidence in the investigation of Dodd's financial affairs.

* * *

Benjamin R. Fern, the bipartisan committee's chief counsel, said as of now he plans to call only three more witnesses.

Two, Terry Golden and Michael V. O'Hare, are former employes of Dodd. The third, Edward Lockett, was hired to ghostwrite for the senator a book about subversion.

SIX WITNESSES

The committee heard six witnesses Tuesday, including political allies of the senator who testified that funds they helped raise for him at dinners, receptions and other events were for Dodd to use as he saw fit.

They said this was the case despite a resolution and letters linking the fund-raising to political campaign activities.

* * *

The principal speakers at the events staged in Dodd's behalf were President Johnson—then the vice president—and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Dodd told the Senate last week that not a single donor to any of these functions "has ever contended that they thought they were contributing to my campaign" for reelection in 1964.

DOUBLE BILLING?

He offered to return the money of anyone who advised him they felt they had been misled, then said in an interview no one has asked him for a refund.

The calling of O'Hare, Dodd's former office manager, indicated the committee was going to take up allegations that the senator was reimbursed both by the Senate and private organizations for a number of trips.

Dodd has acknowledged seven instances of double billing, but he put the blame on O'Hare, whom he called "probably one of the most inefficient and sloppy bookkeepers who ever lived."

O'Hare, who testified at the committee's hearings last summer on Dodd's relations with public relations man Julius Klein, admitted he took part in removing documents from the senator's office and turning them over to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

What Lent Means to Me

DR. LOWELL EKLUND

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 30th in a series of articles through Lent written by prominent Pontiac area citizens.)

By DR. LOWELL EKLUND
Dean of Continuing Education, Oakland University

The great significance of Lent is the implication for each of us as an annual self-inventory time. To us, as both the products and instruments of a divine plan, the process of periodic self-review is not only a divine blessing but, in consequence, an obligation.

The durability of our national fabric is determined by the moral rebirth and the spiritual renewal of America's individual citizens. Our material strength is infinite and unquestioned. Our real challenge lies in the realm of heart and spiritual purpose, and in the nurturing of high values.

If only to the extent that Lent can serve as a stimulus to self-renewal and improvement, we all should honor and engage in—irrespective of our faith or creed.

It is a truism for both self and nation that when we fail to be better we may cease even to be good.

Energy, Composure—These Unite The Worlds Of Substitute Teacher Mrs. Philip Goetzmann

Sub Teacher: Job Demanding

By PAT McCARTY

It takes a lot to be a gap filler — especially if the gap you're filling is in the lives of 30 children.

It helps if you have the constitution of a master sergeant and a pretty face that's prone to smiling.

These two qualities are among the assets Mrs. Philip A. Goetzmann brings to her job as a substitute teacher in the Pontiac school system.

MISS McCARTY

She goes a long way toward dispelling the stereotype of a substitute teacher who is never completely in control of the situation — whose presence signals the start of fun and games in the classroom.

★ ★ ★

Remember all the clever little tricks?

Like two boys answering to the same name.

★ ★ ★

Or swearing that "we haven't studied that yet" or that "teacher said we wouldn't have to give reports today?"

FRUSTRATING

"They want to see how far they can go — this can be very frustrating," Mrs. Goetzmann admits. "It's hard to show friendliness and maintain order.

"If you're too friendly, they walk all over you. If you're stern, they think you're an old bag."

So substitute teachers must be able to lay down the ground rules rapidly and establish rapport early in the day.

★ ★ ★

This is where the above-mentioned assets come into play.

COOPERATION

However, Mrs. Goetzmann gives more credit to the cooperation of the regular classroom teachers and school principals.

Pontiac teachers are very well organized, she commented.

"The lesson plans are nearly always there. This is very important and very commendable," she said.

She noted that the problem of discipline is not so great on the elementary level, where she does her substituting, as in the secondary schools, where classroom pranksters have developed more finesse.

★ ★ ★

The "little ones," she said, are quicker to be friendly.

FORM ATTACHMENTS

One pitfall, of course, in temporary assignments is getting attached to youngsters she will be with for only a few days.

Last year, she had a kindergarten class at Hawthorne for two months.

"I shed a bucket of tears over that class when I left," she said. "I still hear from them occasionally — a card or a phone call. That makes you feel good."

★ ★ ★

These are testaments of the response of youngsters, along with notes which say "I love you" and more subtle acts which prove it.

FILLING GAPS

Mrs. Goetzmann, professional gap filler, began substituting here to fill a gap in her own life.

The Goetzmanns and their two sons moved into their home at 194 N. Berkshire, Bloomfield Township, in August 1965.

Her husband, a major in the Army, left immediately to serve one year on Gen. William C. Westmoreland's staff in Vietnam.

"About December, the time really began to hang heavy," she recalls.

HOMEMAKER

The Goetzmann home shows the results of her care and her skill with Early American decor. She is especially talented in needlework.

But the settling-in process was followed by days which grew longer and longer.

"I found myself polishing every piece of silver and pewter once a week," she said.

★ ★ ★

The decision to start substitute teaching was a natural one for Mrs. Goetzmann, who had taught briefly in this area before beginning her travels with her husband. She again took up teaching for three years in an Army dependents' school on Okinawa.

TRAINING

A native of Pontiac, she had three years toward a degree from Miami University in Ohio before her marriage in 1955.

"I feel now that getting a degree wouldn't help me with teaching," she said. "I've had so many experiences in the last 12 years that, unless I wanted to work full-time, it wouldn't help me that much."

With a special certificate, Mrs. Goetzmann can teach up to 90 days during an academic year.

★ ★ ★

She now is permanently assigned to Owen Elementary School.

However, until recently she was on call for assignments throughout the district.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

"I guess I've taught in well over half the elementary schools in Pontiac," she said.

When she started, the Pontiac system had no answering service to clear requests for substitutes. Each principal was responsible for getting those he needed.

"In the morning it would be just frantic around home," Mrs. Goetzmann said. "I could get four, five or six calls."

★ ★ ★

"I've had it happen that I've been in the middle of baking a cake and I would get a call because a teacher had taken sick at 10 in the morning. So then I've gotten dressed while the cake finished baking," she said.

PARTICULAR

"This is the only thing that's bothersome, because I like the house to be meticulous," she said.

She's fortunate in having a cooperative family and one whose schedules mesh.

Sons Michael, 11, and Philip Jr., 9, are "really very good," she said, noting that they make their own beds and get themselves off to school.

★ ★ ★

Any mother who can talk her sons into that kind of cooperation has got to have something going for her in the child psychology department.

School Bids Considered in Waterford

The Waterford Township Board of Education is slated to award contracts tomorrow night for construction projects at Waterford Village and Stringham elementary schools.

★ ★ ★

Bids were opened at the board's March 2 meeting. The apparent low base proposals for the two projects totaled $540,249.

Both schools are to be provided with gymnasium-multipurpose room complexes, library-instructional materials centers, and several other alterations.

Also to be considered at tomorrow night's 7:30 meeting is a requested $25,174 appropriation for the township recreation department's 1967-68 budget.

★ ★ ★

The Township Board granted and equal amount to the budget at its Monday night meeting.

The remaining $12,815 of the estimated $63,163 budget is expected to be received through fees.

Legislative Cr[illegible] Urged

Driver Study Offered

LANSING (UPI) — A new "get-tough" plan for drinking drivers, high-point drivers and young motorists is in the hands of lawmakers today as a result of a survey involving 435 traffic deaths in Michigan last summer.

The suggestions, proposed by the Automobile Club of Michigan, were presented to the Senate Highway Committee and the House Committees on Public Safety and Roads and Bridges yesterday.

They are intended to cope with the causes of traffic fatalities, said Fred N. Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

The survey found that drinking was involved to some extent in at least 44 per cent of the fatalities and that drivers with high violation point records caused a disproportionately large number of fatal accidents as did the young drivers.

★ ★ ★

The suggestions included the passage of a "Drinking Driver Law" which would require a mandatory chemical breath test for alcohol for any driver charged with operating a car while under the influence of alcohol.

"The test should be a condition for holding a Michigan driver's license," Rehm said. "The motorist should be allowed to refuse such a test, but with his refusal, he should surrender his right to hold the license."

The point system, according to the survey, is not taking the problem driver off the road and is in need of an overhaul.

Drivers who reach the 12-point level account for 2 per cent of the state's drivers but represent 15 per cent of the drivers responsible for fatal accidents.

To curb this problem, the Auto Club suggested the state make it mandatory that any driver who compiles 12 points in a two-year period have his license suspended. Mandatory suspension is not now required.

Also outlined was a plan to get at the driver who manages to keep his point total just below the 12-point mark every two years.

For the young driver, who was much over represented among the drivers at fault in fatal accidents, it was suggested that a parent or guardian be required to accompany the under-18 ago driver behind the wheel at all times for the first 90 days after receiving his first license.

Also suggested was the prohibition of persons under 18 from operating motorized cycles after dark.

Model Cinderella's Not Mod

LONDON (AP) — The biggest Cinderella story in England is Twiggy, the 17-year-old Cockney model. Her manager and secretaries are turning down "fantastic offers" every day.

Thanks to Prince Philip, Cinderella Twiggy is going to the ball after all. Which is to say that she will fly to New York Monday to launch a million dollars worth of Twiggy dresses in American shops.

★ ★ ★

Her clothes, aimed straight at the teen-age market, are pretty rather than outlandish, well-made, often fully lined, turned out in attractive ice cream colors like vanilla, strawberry and pistachio, and have reasonable price tags — $8.50 to $25.

"I don't like Carnaby Street clothes," says Twiggy. "Swinging, heck; they're not even well-made."

At first the Foreign Office said she couldn't go, but Twiggy sat down and wrote a letter to the queen's husband beginning, "Dear Prince, I need your help."

Philip replied that he was passing her letter on to the chairman of the committee of exports, "who may be able to help." Things worked out.

FLIGHT FRIGHT

She is scared to death of flying, but she confided: "I'm going to see my doctor and get calming tablets or sleeping pills for the flight. I dunno why, I'm scared of planes."

Twiggy says her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Norman Hornby, are not worried about her trip "because they know Justin always looks after me." Justin is her manager, Justin de Villeneuve.

She doesn't feel exploited, though she admits she works hard, "usually from 10 to 5, five days a week."

Her money "honestly, I dunno how much I've made" — is handled by Twiggy Enterprises, Ltd. Twiggy is a director and her father is managing director.

WEEKLY ALLOWANCE

"Dad gives me 10 pounds ($28) a week spending money, and puts the rest in the bank," she says.

If any aspiring young models want Twiggy's advice, it is: Don't bother with training, it's a waste of money. Twiggy left school at 15 to go under De Villeneuve's wing.

★ ★ ★

She believes her skyrocket path to success was due to the fact that people were ready for a new look, "plus my ordinary home background. The ordinary teen-agers can associate with me. It might have been them.

"Anyway, I just have to be natural. The pose-y look is out. I don't want to do mannequin show work, or acting, though I've had loads of offers from film companies. I just don't want to."

FORESEES RETIREMENT

From her success at 17, Twiggy looks forward to retiring at 24 or 25. "I'll get married, and I won't go on working. My look will be out by then."

Whether her look is out or not, Twiggy's fortune should be made.

★ ★ ★

Twiggy's real name is Leslie Hornby, and Justin de Villeneuve's is Nigel Davies. They have their first two weeks in America booked up solid for Twiggy cover pictures.

'CINDERELLA FINDS PRINCE — Prince Phillip was Prince Charming for this 17-year-old Cockney model named Twiggy. It was through his intercession that Twiggy, whose real name is Leslie Hornby, will be permitted to go to New York next week. She plans to launch a new look in teen-age fashions.

Aircraft Firms to Work on Noise

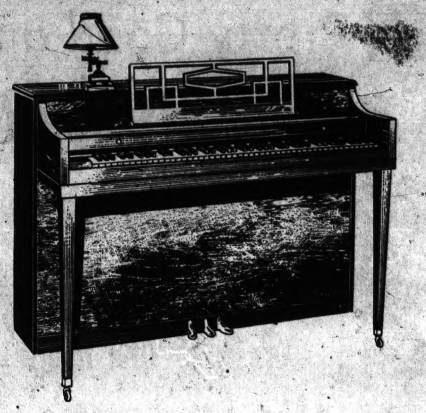

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three-year studies of noise abatement in jet engine design will be made for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration by the Boeing and Douglas aircraft companies.

The main focus of Boeing's $7.5 million contract will be an effort to keep fan and compressor noise from propagating forward, by choking the air flow to the engine inlet.

★ ★ ★

Goal of the program is a noise cut of 15 decibels, equivalent, says NASA, to moving the noise source about five times as far away.

Douglas will spend $3 million in an attempt to reduce fly-over noise level on the ground by 7 to 10 decibels, by acoustic treatment of fan inlet and discharge ducts.

Wear the Green, Eat It, Too

Irish Food Is Delicious

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Everybody's name can start with an "O" on Friday, St. Patrick's Day. Why this particular saint's day has become so popular is a mystery, but it does provide an occasion to serve Irish food.

The Irish like hearty food. But some authorities doubt that corned beef is as Irish as we believe. Be that as it may, the following recipe came to us typed in green.

CORNED BEEF SANDWICH SPREAD

3 to 4 pound corned beef for oven roasting
1 cup shredded Muenster cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup finely chopped cashew nuts
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash of tabasco
Rye bread

Cook corned beef according to package directions. Blend together remaining ingredients. Serve as a spread over thin slices of corned beef in rye bread sandwiches. Makes 1½ cups spread.

Irish Soda Bread is a familiar quick bread from the Emerald Isle, whereas Barm Brack is a yeast bread. Serve it with tea for a true Irish snack.

BARM BRACK

½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¾ cup (½ stick) margarine
¾ cup warm water (105 to 115 degrees F.)
3 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs, beaten
4½ cups unsifted flour (about)
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1¼ cups golden seedless raisins
½ cup chopped mixed candied fruits

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm mixing bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture.

Add beaten eggs and 3 cups flour. Beat on medium speed of mixer 2 minutes (or 300 strokes by hand). Stir in lemon peel and enough additional flour to make soft dough.

Turn out on slightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 40 minutes.

Punch down and turn out on a lightly floured board. Knead in raisins and mixed candied fruits. Divide in half. Shape into loaves.

Place in 2 greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pans. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30-35 minutes, or until done. Makes 2 loaves.

Not an Irish dessert, but one that's a delightful green, is this chiffon lime mixture. Garnish it with shamrocks cut from marshmallows.

LIME SHIFFON SQUARES

16 large marshmallows
1 cup evaporated milk
1 pkg. (3 oz.) lime flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
18 graham crackers
Marshmallow shamrocks*

Cut 16 marshmallows into fourths with scissors or sharp knife. Put marshmallows into a bowl with evaporated milk. Let stand in refrigerator 1 hour, stirring now and then.

In another bowl, add boiling water to lime gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool, then chill until gelatin just begins to thicken.

Whip chilled marshmallow-evaporated milk mixture with a rotary beater until light and fluffy. Fold in gelatin lightly but thoroughly.

Place 9 graham cracker squares in bottom of a 9-inch square pan. Spoon gelatin mixture carefully over. Smooth top to make even layer, then place 9 graham cracker squares on top.

Chill until firm, about 2 to 3 hours. When ready to serve, place a marshmallow shamrock on each square. Makes 9 servings.

*For each shamrock, cut a large marshmallow in halves crosswise. Cut halves into fourths. Place 3 sections to make leaf. Snip a stem from the remaining piece.

Steamed Lettuce Holds Salmon Cones

When you serve "Salmon and Peas Western," you'll agree wholeheartedly that meatless meals can be thoroughly appetizing and satisfying.

★ ★ ★

Husky slices of western iceberg lettuce are steamed briefly in a colander for this appealing main dish. Then they are removed to a serving dish and topped with baked breaded salmon croquettes seasoned with sweet pickle relish, onion and savory. Cream peas provide the final tasty fillip.

★ ★ ★

With hot buttered rice and crisp breadsticks as accompaniments and fruit sherbet and cookies for dessert, the menu will be complete — and completely captivating.

Salmon and Peas Western

1 head western iceberg lettuce
1 can (1 lb.) salmon or 2 cups cooked fresh salmon
¼ cup sweet pickle relish
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 can (14½ oz.) evaporated milk
1 teaspoon crumbled summer savory
Salt
Salad oil
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
¾ cup milk
1 cup cooked peas

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Chill in disposable plastic bag. When ready to make recipe, cut four ¾-inch crosswise slices from head of lettuce. Wrap remainder in disposable plastic bag; store in refrigerator for later use.

Drain salmon; flake with fork. Drain relish. Combine salmon, relish, onion, ¼ cup bread crumbs, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ teaspoon savory and salt to taste. Shape into 4 rounded cones.

Coat each cone with evaporated milk; roll in remaining crumbs. Gently brush cones with oil; bake in 350-degree oven 35 minutes.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan; stir in flour. Stir in remaining evaporated milk and savory and the ¾ cup milk. Cook and stir until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Stir in peas; salt to taste.

Place sliced lettuce in colander over boiling water; cover and steam 2 minutes. Transfer lettuce to serving dish; top with salmon cones and creamed peas. Makes 4 servings.

Show-Offs Will Love to Bake a Cake

Remember the good, rich butter cakes your mother used to bake? They were so moist and tender. Naturally, they took a little more time than our modern "box" cakes, but there was something so special about a cake made "from scratch."

If you'd like to show off for your family and prove that you're really as good a cook as "his mother," probably better, then try your hand at this delicious Golden Yellow Cake.

★ ★ ★

A rich, caramel filling graces the high layers and can even substitute as a frosting.

Naturally, if you'd like to really gild the lily, frost the cake with your favorite chocolate fudge frosting.

Golden Yellow Cake

½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
4 eggs
1 tablespoon vanilla
3 cups flour
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla.

Sift dry ingredients together. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture, alternating with milk. Start with flour and end with flour.

Pour into 2 greased and floured 8-inch cake pans. Bake in 375 degree oven for 30-35 minutes or until done.

Cream Caramel Filling

¼ pound (1 stick) butter
5 tablespoons flour
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1 cup whipping cream

In double boiler, melt butter. Mix flour and sugar together and stir into butter. Add cream. Cook over medium heat until thick, stirring often. Cool, and spread between layers of cooled cake.

Meat Servings

A pound of meat that has no bone yields four to five servings; a little bone — three to four servings; a medium amount of bone — two to three servings. Much bone or gristle only yields one or two servings per pound.

SALMON AND PEAS WESTERN — Steamed slices of western iceberg lettuce are crested with salmon croquettes and creamed peas for a meatless — and marvelous! — main dish, "Salmon and Peas Western."

Slice Wieners for Kraut Soup

Here is a recipe for a vigorous soup that serves as the main course for dinner or a Sunday night supper. Add fresh rye bread, assorted cheese, a relish plate and some kind of fruit dessert.

Kraut and Potato Soup With Frankfurters

1 No. 2 can sauerkraut
3 medium-sized potatoes, pared and diced
1 cup chopped onions
1 bay leaf
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup light cream
5 cups milk
6 frankfurters, sliced

Cut sauerkraut into short lengths. Combine with potatoes, onions, bay leaf and butter or margarine; cover and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender. Add remaining ingredients. Heat to serving temperatures.

Makes 2½ quarts.

FROM THE OLD WORLD — Hearty and flavorful is this kraut and potato soup with frankfurters. It's made following an old Bohemian recipe.

Winter Cobbler Is Citrus Fruit Variety

Fresh grapefruit has a way of teasing appetites any time of day . . . not only as a breakfast waker-upper. It's a morning and after fruit.

Pink, white or red, the tantalizing taste and perky appearance of grapefruit can lead off a luncheon or dinner . . . brighten a salad . . . "frost" an entree or vegetable dish . . . or make a delightfully different dessert.

Grapefruit-Orange Cobbler

4 cups chilled grapefruit and orange sections
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅓ to ½ cup milk
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening

Place chilled grapefruit and orange sections with their juices in shallow baking dish approximately 11x7x1½ inches. Combine sugar and 3 tablespoons flour, sprinkle over fruit, dot with butter. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 minutes.

While fruit mixture is heating, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add enough milk to make a soft dough.

Knead on a lightly floured board ½ minute. Roll dough approximately ½-inch thick. Cut into desired shapes with 2-inch cookie cutters; arrange over hot fruit mixture.

Return to oven and bake 20 minutes longer or until biscuit topping is lightly browned. Serve with hard sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Macaroni, Cheese Blend in Salad

Macaroni cheese buffet salad is a meatless main dish.

Blend ¾ cup each of mayonnaise and wine vinegar with cup of salad oil, 1½ teaspoons each of salt and green onion flakes or chopped chives, ¾ teaspoon of celery seed and a dash of pepper.

Add 6 cups (1½ pounds) of elbow macaroni, cooked as package label directs, then drained, rinsed with cold water and drained again; 1½ pounds of cheddar or edam cheese, diced; 1½ cups of diced apple and 1 cup of sliced sweet gherkins. Toss lightly and chill.

Garnish with apple slices and chicory. Makes 12 to 14 servings.

Children Play With Pretzels During Party

How about giving each child at a party a brightly colored cord on which to string pretzels to make a Hawaiian type lei to go around their little necks?

This means, of course, that you must provide a big basket piled high with pretzels in shapes to be strung. The basket should be easy for them to reach.

It's surprising to see the artistic effects these small fingers will create when the kindergarten set is left to itself.

How about playing a game of "Find the Pretzels"? Finders—eaters!

Let the guests on one side hide small bags of pretzels, and the other side hunts and eats 'em. Then turn the routine around and let the finders be the hiders.

Simple as this old game is, it never fails to intrigue little children. With a small amount of direction, this routine turned into such fun at a recent party that mothers found it difficult to separate their young from the fun.

Put Wheat Germ in Crumb Crust

To make a wheat germ-vanilla wafer pie crust use 1¼ cups vanilla wafer crumbs, ¼ cup wheat germ, 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 cup melted butter. Press on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake 4 to 5 minutes at 325 degrees.

Chill before filling shell. The wheat germ adds its nutty-flavored crunchiness and high nutritional values.

Wheat Cereal Adds Texture to Fruit Topped Crepes

Choice fare for a Sunday brunch in spring can run into money. It won't though, if you select mostly lower-priced ingredients. Preparation and manner of serving can enhance the simplest dishes.

These whole wheat flake crepes rolled around a filling of strawberries, pineapple, and cream cheese are opulently appetizing. Yet nothing extravagant is required. Breakfast cereals are excellent for ingredient use in recipes such as this because they are inexpensive, convenient, add flavor and texture.

Too, nothing says spring quite like strawberries and pineapple, even when you use frozen strawberries and canned pineapple.

As a time-saver, bake the pancakes, roll and fill them the evening before the party. Cover them with saran or waxed paper and refrigerate. They may easily be reheated slowly in the morning.

Whole Wheat Crepes

1 cup prepared pancake mix
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
¼ cup cooled melted shortening
1½ cups whole wheat flakes, crushed to make 1 cup crumbs
1 package (8-ounce) soft cream cheese
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup drained, canned crushed pineapple
2 packages (10-ounce) frozen strawberries, defrosted
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup orange liqueur, optional

Combine pancake mix, milk, eggs, and shortening; beat until free of lumps. Stir in whole wheat flakes. For each crepe, pour ¼ cup batter onto hot griddle, bake until bubbly on top and dry around edges; turn and brown second side. Keep warm.

Mix cream cheese and sugar until smooth; stir in pineapple. Spread under side of cakes lightly with cheese mixture; roll. Keep crepes warm in chafing dish or electric skillet.

Combine strawberries and cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly until clear and slightly thickened. If liqueur is used, stir 2 tablespoons into hot sauce and pour remaining over sauce. Ignite and allow flame to die before serving. Yield: 12 pancakes, 6 servings.

What Size Pan

A sponge cake batter that is usually baked in a 9-inch angel-cake pan may also be baked in three oblong pans, each about 11 by 7 by 2 inches). The oblong sponge cakes will need about half the baking time required for the one large cake.

CONCRETE BARGE — Glenn Hagen, a part-time inventor, stands aboard his concrete barge in Lake Pontchartrain at New Orleans as his wife steps ashore. Captured air gives the concrete enough buoyancy to float.

Inventor Describes Limitations

NEW ORLEANS (AP)— The thickset man with the gleaming eyes incanted a few strange words, did some odd things with his hands and — behold — concrete floated on air!

With paper and pen he scribbled a cabalistic design, struck a match and showed how to grow a garden in salt water.

The match doesn't have anything to do with the garden; Glenn Hagen used it to light his cigarette.

And Glenn Hagen doesn't have anything to do with magic. The words and designs are rooted in physics.

* * *

Glenn Hagen, age 48, is an inventor.

NEEDS TO CREATE

Perhaps he's a little bit mad, but it is the madness — rather the anger — of a man who needs to create with his hands and is hampered by a lack of money.

He made big money, and lost it, he says, through tinkering.

"The day of the Tom Edison type, independent inventor, is coming to a close," Hagen fumes. The reason?

"The inventor cannot afford to work alone. So he is forced to work for a corporation.

INCENTIVE LACKING

"It is rare that the corporation has any significant incentive offered for the inventor."

Scratching his bushy crewcut with a blunt finger, Hagen explains it is standard practice for corporation contracts to stipulate "one dollar paid in hand and other good and valuable considerations" for each invention offered by an employe.

It is late afternoon on a Friday, time for a second martini.

Hagen moves cautiously through the cramped sitting room of the weathered cabin cruiser on which he lives on Lake Pontchartrain with his pretty wife and his black-and-white tomcat named Charlie.

SOMETHING NEW

"It used to be," he calls from the galley, "that a man could go out in his barn with his hammer and saw and make something new."

Today's technology, he adds, has advanced to the point where there is little a man can make with such crude implements that hasn't been patented. Money is needed for the necessary tools, for the time to develop a sophisticated invention.

But Hagen is inventive.

He used homemade paper cups, giant ones, in developing his floating concrete barges and seaplane docks.

He used roller skates and a bed caster to make the paper cups.

And he made an underwater breathing device with an empty tin can and garden hose.

In simple terms, Hagen uses the principle of captured air to float concrete in water.

The concrete is poured over wooden molds which are knocked apart when the concrete hardens. The air in the pockets formed by the molds gives the concrete enough buoyancy to float.

The paper cups are used to float the deck which holds the molds under the concrete. They are sunk when the concrete is ready to float on its own. Hagen is now dickering for a buyer.

Appraised at $4.8 Million

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — For years J. Edwin Fisher lived on a quiet Allentown street, tending his garden and studying the stock market. His wife taught in nearby Bucks County.

Fisher died more than a year ago at 70, and Tuesday it was learned that he left an estate, which for inheritance tax purposes, was appraised at $4,879,187.

Fisher had been a business administration teacher in high schools and private schools in the midwest before moving to Allentown in 1941. For seven years he ran a roofing and siding business here and then gave that up to follow the markets.

NO WILL

Court officials said Tuesday that Fisher died without a will and that his widow, Mrs. Jessie Fisher, is the administratrix. A son, William, lives in Phoenix, Ariz. Of the $4.8 million, about $1.6 million is owed to brokerage houses, according to figures.

Friends said Fisher was "not a plunger" in the stock market and bought and held mostly blue chip issues.

Neighbors said the Fishers lived modestly and they had no idea of Fisher's holdings. His wife commuted weekly to schools in Bucks County.

* * *

When not studying stock tables, they said, he worked in his garden, raising raspberries and asparagus.

* * *

Fisher, who died Dec. 24, 1965 was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, and held a masters degree in business administration from the University of Chicago.
