Agree to Settle NY Dock Strike

Bigger Taxes Due for Corporations in First Year of Cut?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Corporations might find themselves paying more tax instead of less under the first full year of President Kennedy's proposed tax reduction program, it was learned today.

Well-posted sources reported also that Kennedy plans to call for a sharp curtailment of the personal deductions claimed by million of taxpayers for charity, interest, local taxes and casualty losses.

In a 9,000-word special message to Congress Thursday, the President will reveal the details of the proposed three-year tax package which would cut corporate and individual income tax rates by $13.5 billion, but would partly offset these reductions by $3.5 billion of revenue-raising revisions.

The message will urge early tax relief—next July 1—for individuals and small businesses. For corporations generally, it will propose a two-stage reduction starting next Jan. 1 to reduce the corporation rate from 52 to 47 per cent in annual steps.

DELAYED BENEFITS

In the event Congress goes along with the whole Kennedy plan—an unlikely prospect, in the opinion of many members of Congress—the corporations would not receive a full benefit of their $2.5 billion rate reductions until 1969.

The reason is Kennedy's proposal that corporation tax payments, now due six months after the quarter in which the income was earned, be speeded up sufficiently over a period of years to bring the tax collections to a current basis.

This would increase total corporation taxes by $1.5 billion annually in 1964, while the rate reductions were saving about $1.25 billion.

In 1965, when the second step of the corporate tax cut takes effect, the net tax savings would be roughly $1 billion, experts estimate. Not until the fifth year, 1969, would the full relief be felt.

For consumers, the benefits would be quick and substantial, even though the $11 billion cut proposed in individual income taxes would be reduced to about $8 billion because of changes intended to close what the treasury calls tax loopholes.

The reductions for individuals also would come in two steps, but the timing would be different. The first reduction would take effect in mid-1963 and the second in mid-1964. The tax rates, now ranging from 91 to 20 per

Okays Shelving of Mart Dispute

De Gaulle Eases Up Temporarily on British

PARIS (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle agreed today to put the problem of Britain's entry into the European Common Market on ice for the time being.

Reliable sources said de Gaulle at a final half-hour talk with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, agreed to Adenauer's proposal that the executive commission of the European Economic Community make a thorough new study of the problems of British entry and submit its recommendations to the foreign ministers of the six Common Market countries.

There would be no time limit for completion of the study, but it is expected to take some months.

Returning to Bonn, Adenauer said a cooling off period in the dispute over Britain's admission to the Common Market should lead to a solution.

At a news conference, the chancellor praised the treaty for French-West German cooperation in diplomacy, defense, education and culture, designed to bury age-old enmities.

"I am convinced," he said, "that we have done a good and great work for our two countries."

★ ★ ★

De Galle's opposition to British membership in the Common Market posed a major problem in French-West German cooperation even before the treaty was signed. West Germany favors Britain's entry into the economic community.

★ ★ ★

JFK Willing to Take Chance

Risks Wouldn't Halt N-Treaty

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is willing to take some risks in order to get a nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union. U.S. officials now are trying to find out whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev is willing to reduce the risks to what they consider a reasonable level.

The heart of the problem in negotiations now under way here is whether Khrushchev will agree to the kind of foreign inspection on Soviet territory which would give the United States confidence that the Soviet Union would live up to its agreement.

U.S., British and Soviet negotiators, opening a new round of talks on the test ban issue, met at the State Department for almost four hours late Tuesday and reported only that they had agreed to meet again at midafternoon today.

The United States is understood to have asked the Soviet Union a series of questions designed to disclose in detail just what types of test ban safeguards the Soviet government is willing to accept and precisely how they would operate.

Khrushchev has told Kennedy that he is prepared to agree to two or three on-site inspections a year by outside experts. Those would be used to determine whether earth shocks which originated in the Soviet Union were caused by earthquakes or by nuclear explosions underground.

Kennedy has taken the position that eight or 10 such inspections by international scientific teams would be necessary to provide reasonable security for the rest of the world against any sneak Soviet tests.

Condemnation Awards Held Up by Commission

Property owners who were granted awards in the R20 urban renewal condemnation case will have to wait at least one more week before they can collect.

Indicating they wanted a week to study the matter, city commissioners last night voted 4-3 against passage of a resolution to free urban renewal funds for the payment of court awards.

Later, it developed that the action would have been in vain anyway due to an error in the total amount of awards prescribed for payment in the resolution.

The resolution would have ordered $1,030,116.50 in urban renewal funds allocated to the city treasurer for payment of awards. This is $21,500 less than the amount needed.

City administrators explained the figure was caused by an accounting error and should have been $1,051,616.50.

It will be corrected and is expected to be reintroduced at next Tuesday's meeting.

PAID $34,200

The grand total of awards handed down by the circuit court jury was $1,085,816.50. But urban renewal officials had already settled with some property owners and paid $34,200 before the verdict was announced.

Voting against last night's resolution were commissioners

Details Remain Before Idle Ships to Sail

New Orleans Assn. Accepts Plan Offered by Mediation Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Northeast ship owners and longshoremen have agreed to terms to settle the month-long dock strike — but numerous details remain to be worked out before more than 600 idle ships sail again.

Southern and Gulf ship owners and longshore negotiators had still to come to terms.

In Washington, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said the New Orleans Steamship Association has accepted the dock strike settlement plan proposed by his presidentially appointed mediation group.

Morse said the acceptance came in a telegram from R.R. Barkerding, president of the New Orleans Association. The telegram said the association would meet later today to make its official acceptance.

NEED RATIFICATION

And agreements in all areas are subject to ratification by the union rank and file.

The New York Shipping Association agreed yesterday to accept a presidential board's proposal to provide a 37 cents an hour package wage increase over a two-year period.

The AFL-CIO International Longshoremens' Association had agreed to it for the northeast area last Sunday.

Agreements reached here usually — but not necessarily — set the pattern for the remainder of the industry.

Each area bargains separately on the basic formula and local issues.

Federal mediations sessions were scheduled today in Miami, Fla.; Galveston, Tex.; New Orleans, La., and Mobile, Ala.

Other meetings were scheduled in Hampton Roads, Va.; Baltimore, Md.; Philadelphia and Boston.

Pontiac will register a low of 19 below zero tonight, according to the weatherman.

The prediction followed in the wake of a massive cold front that froze Michigan last night.

And things will get worse before they get better.

The short range forecast called for lows tonight from 3 below to 20 below in lower Michigan and 15 to 25 below in the Upper Peninsula.

Heavy snow was forecast for southwestern lower Michigan and for northern portions near Lake Michigan.

About an inch of snow may fall in the local area over the weekend.

Between 1 and 2 inches of new snow fell on the Pontiac area yesterday. New Buffalo bore the brunt of the evening storm with 11 inches reported.

The Michigan State Highway Department said highways throughout the Lower Peninsula were snow-covered and slippery in spots.

Midwest Hit by Record Cold

Onslaught's Heading Toward Southern U. S.

By United Press International

One of the country's worst winter onslaughts numbed the Midwest with record cold and up to a foot of snow today and headed south, leaving death and misery in its wake.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast more of the same for at least five more days.

Nearly 100 deaths were blamed on the series of arctic-like outbursts of cold since the weekend.

Low temperature records toppel in many areas. Chicago had its second coldest day since 1900 when the temperature reached 18 below zero.

Waterford Pupils Face Long Weekend

Students in the Waterford Township school system and at Pontiac's two public high schools will begin a four-day weekend tomorrow.

Today is the final class day of the first term. Regularly scheduled classes will resume Monday, the beginning of the second semester.

Thursday and Friday won't be leisure days for the teachers, however, who will devote the time to working on records.

Youngsters at Our Lady of the Lakes and St. Benedicts' parochial schools, Waterford Township, will be excused from classes Friday. The first term ends tomorrow and the second begins Monday.

Controversy Seemingly Dead Issue

LANSING (AP) — Partisan scuffling over the seating of a new member-elect appeared to be a dead issue today as the House prepared to receive a committee recommendation that he be given the oath of office.

The controversy — which developed when Republicans challenged the fitness of Rep.-elect Leonard Walton, D-Detroit, to serve—was all but settled yesterday when a special house committee agreed tentatively to recommend that he be sworn in.

A formal vote on the matter is expected Thursday, but still unsettled is the question of whether Walton, 37, should be censured for violation of state election laws.

Walton still faces trial next month on charges he broke the law by permitting the word "re-elect" to be used on campaign literature although he never had held office.

TESTIMONY REVIEWED

The committee, composed of three Republicans and two Democrats, decided on its recommendation after a review of testimony from three days of public hearings in Detroit last week.

Rep. Henry Hogan, R-Birmingham, the committee chairman, said that on the basis of evidence Walton possibly deserved a censure but his offenses —high misdemeanors—were not serious enough to merit denying him a seat.

"All his campaign literature apparently was designed to deceive the public," said Hogan. "We feel that his hand should be slapped so future candidates will be more careful."

The committee also took the position, Hogan reported, that the constitutional provision which gives House members sole power to judge qualifications of members does not intend the right to deny a seat by a simple majority vote.

The provision provides only that the chamber can decide, by a two-thirds vote, to unseat a member, committee members said.

The censure was to be reconsidered today after a preliminary vote yesterday went against it. The proposed censure probably would cite five violations of elections laws.

JOINT RESOLUTION

The House today also may receive for consideration a joint resolution already passed in the Senate to set April 26 as a tentative date for adjournment of the regular 1963 session.

The measure passed the Senate on a party-line vote, 21 Republicans and 10 Democrats, two days ago. It has the backing of Gov. George Romney.

Some 23 bills were assigned to committees yesterday in the brief session in the House — among them a $1.25 minimum wage bill (labor committee), appropriation of $300,000 for a governor's mansion (ways and means) and a bill to strengthen rules governing lobbyists (state affairs).

OK $30,000 Purchase of Site for New School

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education last night authorized purchase of a site for a future elementary school and approved plans for a new educational program for gifted students.

The school site is located on North Franklin Road between Franklin and Telegraph roads in Bloomfield Township. Purchase price is $30,000.

Once the purchase is completed, it will mark the final project in a school expansion program financed by a $4,135,000 bond issue approved by school district voters in 1961.

The program for exceptional students, according to Mrs. Kathleen Flint, superintendent of instruction, will begin next September with select pupils from all elementary schools in the district.

Mrs. Flint said the program will start with a small class of ungraded pupils in a classroom equipped with instructional material for all educational levels.

It will be for students with high intelligence quotients or high achievement levels.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS

A Pontiac woman, Mrs. Hazel MacGirr of 23 Boston St., announced her resignation as principal of Vaughan Elementary School.

Mrs. MacGirr, whose resignation will be effective in September, has been with the school district since 1932.

Also, it was announced that six Bloomfield Hills High School students have received recognition for excellence in English and mathematics.

Jason Hall, 1470 Clarendon Road, has been honored by the National Council of Teachers of English. A theme written by the high school senior will be published in "The Clearing House," a national magazine.

Another senior, Tom Hoopengardner, 1414 Lenox St., placed 23rd among the 12,200 students who took part in the Michigan State Mathematics Competition Examination.

Bloomfield Hills students who placed in the top 4 per cent in the state math competition were seniors Fred Fink, 4432 Quarton Road, and Peter Lambeck, 868 Helston Road, and juniors Donald Gillian, 140 E. Hickory Grove Road, and Joseph Plante, 951 Timberlake Road.

Two new courses will be included in the Bloomfield Art Association's educational program which opens next week for the winter term.

Added to the curriculum are drawing and water color and costume jewelry.

Registration is available by contacting the art association at the Birmingham Art Center, 1516 S. Cranbrook Road. Classes are available for beginners and advanced students.

Other classes include sculpture composition, studio art, portrait painting, mixed media, enameling copper and silver, water color painting, oil painting and "Young People's Art Workshop," a six-week series for first and second graders.

But starting next Jan. 1, the proposed tightening-up revisions would take hold. Besides trimming severely the personal deductions, these revisions would bring important changes in the tax treatment of capital gains, stock options, dividend payments, inheritances, and percentage depletion allowances which apply to natural resources.

The basic exemption of $600 each for taxpayers and their dependents would not be cut, informants said, but an over-all limit would be imposed on the total of such deductions as interest payments on bank loans and mortgages, losses from storm or casualty, doctors' and hospital bills, and taxes paid to state and local governments.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer and City Attorney William A. Ewart also urged passage on grounds that further delays would only hold up demolition of remaining structures in the R20 project area.

Bottom said "the final settlements have been held up eight months in court. I don't see where one more week will hurt."

He and Harmon requested a week to study the awards and the resolution.

Milton Cooney, a local attorney representing about 12 property owners, has indicated he will appeal the decision to the State Supreme Court.

Bottom suggested that by waiting a week, "we might have a better idea of just how many appeals we're going to have."

Cooney has until next Wednesday to file an intent to appeal.

Lathrup Village Founder Dies

Mrs. Charles Kelley Service Friday

Mrs. Charles D. (Louise Lathrup) Kelley, founder and developer of Lathrup Village, died yesterday in Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit. She was 69.

Service will be 1 p.m. Friday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Funeral Co., Birmingham, followed by entombment in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Kelley, granddaughter of a pioneer Detroit family, sold her extensive real estate holdings in Detroit more than 40 years ago to acquire 1,000 acres of farmland in what was then Southfield Township.

The Kelleys gave some $4-million worth of water and sewer mains to Lathrup Village after it was incorporated as a city in 1953.

Mrs. Kelley lived with her husband at 27701 Southfield Road, Lathrup Village.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. Carl W. Driscoll of Birmingham; three sisters; two brothers; and six grandchildren.

Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.

A 4-inch snowfall in southern Ohio fanned into 2-foot drifts, creating traffic jams a mile long. The snow pushed into West Virginia late in the morning with the cold close behind.

The temperature dropped 22 degrees in seven hours at Cincinnati, Ohio. It fell 21 degrees in an hour at Jackson, Miss.

Parts of northern Indiana received up to a foot of fresh snow; ice gorges formed in the Mississippi blocking all river traffic; Cleveland, Ohio, put its new emergency snow ordinance into effect for the first time after a fresh layer of five inches fell.

A Continental Trailways bus en route to New York from Chicago with 14 passengers skidded on a snow-packed road in suburban Cleveland and hit a utility pole. No one was injured.

The storm rode 50-mile an hour winds across the flatlands, whipping snow into drifts and cutting visibility to near zero.

Freezing rain and sleet softened the Southeast for its icy snow punch. Memphis, Tenn., and parts of northern Mississippi and eastern Arkansas reported one inch of snow on the ground early today. The snow closed Memphis schools and brought with it a forecast of temperature as low as five below zero.

City Commissioners Fail to Agree on 1963 Budget

By DICK SAUNDERS

Pontiac's 1963 budget appropriations remained a big question mark today.

Eight weeks of budget study and revision ended in indecision last night as the City Commission failed to agree on budget appropriations for adoption next Tuesday.

Under city charter regulations, the budget must be adopted in the form of an appropriations ordinance before midnight Jan. 31.

Commissioners have only one more regular meeting before the deadline.

Last night they were to have ordered City Atty. William A. Ewart to prepare the budget appropriations for adoption next week.

Instead, an informal meeting was called for 8 p.m. Thursday, at which time a final decision may be made.

At this point, the only thing that appears certain is that the $7,045,435 budget proposed by City Manager Robert A. Stierer last November will be revised considerably.

Stierer's proposed budget is based on the assumption that the city's total assessed valuation will go up nearly $7-million, from $281.2-million in 1962 to $288-million in 1963.

On the assumed $288-million tax base, the proposed budget would require a tax rate of $15.65 per $1,000 of assessed property value — a hike of $1.79 over the current tax rate.

As in the case every year, the tax base won't be known until it is set by the tax board of review in April.

Stierer cut more than $480,000 off original departmental requests before submitting his proposed budget.

Since then, commissioners have unofficially considered further cuts in appropriations for the police, youth assistance, parks and recreation, street lighting, legal and health departments.

Also suggested is a $90,000 cut in capital improvement appropriations.

The decision over where to cut the budget is a secondary one. Commissioners are split over what to do with the money they slash from proposed appropriations.

Some want to put it back into the budget to cut down on the unappropriated surplus, thus affecting no measurable decrease in the tax rate.

Others want to cut the total budget figure, thus decreasing the assumed $15.65 tax rate.

Drop Murder Charge Against Local Man

A second-degree murder charge against a 33-year-old Pontiac man was dismissed by Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum.

The motion to drop the charge against Frank Griffin, 200 Raeburn St., was made by assistant Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry.

Barry requested the dismissal on grounds of insufficient proof after hearing testimony of several witnessess.

Griffin had been accused of fatally stabbing James C. Hunt, 36, of 381 S. Edith St., on the morning of Jan. 13.

Plan to Start Condemning Proceedings

Condemnation proceedings in Pontiac's second urban renewal project (R44) will begin Feb. 15 before Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero.

The petition to initiate condemnation proceedings against property owners in the R44 project was filed in Circuit Court the day after a jury returned a verdict in the first urban renewal project (R 20) condemnations Dec. 19.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer Monday signed an order confirming the R20 verdict after denying a motion by Pontiac attorney Milton Cooney for a new trial.

GOP Will Investigate Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversy over the failure of the 1961 Cuban invasion has flared up again.

★ ★ ★

In Miami, some Cuban exile leaders took issue with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement that the United States never promised air cover for the invasion.

CHARGES BETRAYAL

Dagoberto Darias, head of an invasion veterans organization and a commander of one of the assault transport ships, charged Tuesday that President Kennedy betrayed the Cuban people, even though "his brother is attempting to justify him on the Bay of Pigs fiasco."

He said jets were in the air on invasion day and that he had received a message from "the American flagship directing our operations" advising that air cover would be forthcoming at 2:30 p.m.

"We saw the first two planes pass in the direction of Giron Beach (invasion point)," he said. "A minute later two other jets crossed, but the next minute, the first ones returned, like sea gulls fleeing from a storm."

DIRKSEN ACTS

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he is already gathering information on the crushed invasion and would lay it before the Senate Republican Policy Committee within two weeks.

The committee, he said, gave him clearance to begin the investigation.

Dirksen's aim obviously was to assembly evidence to rebut Atty. Gen. Kennedy's recent review of "mistakes" made in the assault.

Dirksen said only that he was interested in learning if the President's brother "told the entire factual story." But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., contended in the Senate that Kennedy's summary was "a cleanup operation — designed to make the worst mistake of the President's career seem like something entirely different."

"The purpose is to attach a major portion of the blame for the invasion at the feet of the Eisenhower administration," he added.

The White House declined to comment on the investigation. There was no comment from the attorney general.

Dirksen said Republicans agree that the advance work for the invasion was done during the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But he said the carrying out of the operation "is a matter of such importance that it cannot be left in doubt as to facts."

Democras responded that the Republicans were trying to play politics in international matters.

Americans Expected to Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—A planeload of U.S. citizens who want to go home and a boatload of 900 to 1,000 Cubans who want to leave home were expected to embark for the United States today.

Some 205 U.S. citizens who have been living in Cuba are scheduled to be flown out on two planes—one leaving today and the other Friday.

The Cubans, relatives and friends of former invasion prisoners, are expected to leave Havana tonight aboard the ransom ship Shirley Lykes. The Red Cross in Miami said the ship is expected to arrive at Port Everglades, Fla., about 8 a.m. Thursday.

CASTRO AGREES

The Swiss Embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Cuba, announced Monday that the Castro regime had agreed to the departure.

The Shirley Lykes arrived in Havana Friday with baby food and medicines shipped from the United States as part of the ransom for the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners. Unloading of the ship was halted by wind and rain Monday but was resumed Tuesday.

Two high-ranking American Red Cross officials arrived in Havana Tuesday arousing speculation that their mission might have wider implications than delivery of the ransom for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners freed last month.

There was talk that the Red Cross mission might try to intercede for the 17 or more Americans held in Cuban prisons. In Washington a spokesman at Red Cross headquarters said he had no information that the American prisoners would be discussed.

Cold? Mull Over Some Mercurial Monsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—When you are shivering these cold days you might cheer yourself up by thinking of the poor Russians at a Soviet anarctic station called Vostok.

That's the coldest spot in the world. The U.S. Weather Bureau says the thermometer there registered a global record by slumping to 126.9 below zero on Aug. 24, 1960.

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

As for the North American continent, the most frigid weather ever recorded was a mere 81 degrees below zero. That happened Feb. 3, 1947 at a forlorn airport station called Snag in Yukon Territory, Canada.

The record cold for the United States was 76 below at Tanana, Alaska, in January 1886. Of course, Alaska wasn't a state then.

Guess which state has never experienced below-zero weather. Not Florida, as you might expect, but Hawaii. Its record cold was 18 above zero at Haleakala, Feb. 9, 1941.

The mercury dipped to minus 2 degrees at Tallahasse, Fla., Feb. 13, 1899.

California has a lot of clement clime, but it can get mighty chilly up on those hills. Lowest for this state was 45 below Jan. 20, 1937, at Boca.

RECORD LOWS

Colorado, 60, Feb. 1, 1951, Taylor Park.

Idaho, 60, Jan. 18, 1943, Island Park Dam.

Maine, 48, Jan. 19, 1925, Van Buren.

Michigan, 51, Feb. 9, 1934, Vanderbilt.

Minnesota, 59, Feb. 16, 1903, Pokegama Dam.

Montana 70, Jan. 20, 1954, Rogers Pass.

Nevada, 50, Jan. 8, 1937, San Jacinto.

New Hampshire, 46, Jan. 28, 1925, Pittsburg.

New York, 52, Feb. 9, 1934, Stillwater Reservoir.

North Dakota, 60, Feb. 15, 1936 Parshall.

Oregon 54, Feb. 10, 1933, Seneca.

South Dakota, 58, Feb. 17, 1936, McIntosh.

Utah, 50, Jan. 5, 1913, Strawberry Tunnel, east portal.

Vermont, 50, Dec. 30, 1933, Bloomfield.

Wisconsin, 54, Jan. 24, 1922, Danbury.

Wyoming, 63, Feb. 9, 1933, Moran.

A number of these bone-chilling temperatures were recorded by unsung, unpaid volunteers known as "cooperative weather observers." The Weather Bureau has some 14,000 of them.

They are civilians who do the job for the love of it and for the gold lapel pin, with 3-point diamond, which the Weather Bureau awards them after 50 years of service.

NEITHER RAIN NOR . . .

Blizzards, floods or hurricanes cannot prevent them from fighting their way outdoors to read their official thermometer or precipitation gauges. They have been chased by moose and menaced by rattlesnakes.

Observer H. R. Kleinschmidt ran into a bit of trouble at Rogers Pass, Mont., that cold morning of of Jan. 20, 1954. His official thermometer, in its louvered shelter 30 feet from his house, couldn't take it. The liquid in it retreated into the bulb.

But Kleinschmidt had his own personal thermometer, tacked to the north side of his house. The heat from the house warmed it a bit, but it read 68 degrees below zero.

The Weather Bureau had both thermometers shipped to Washington for study. By scientific deduction, it was decided that the official temperature at Rogers Pass at 2 a.m. that day was 70 below zero. That was the lowest official mark ever recorded in the then 48 states.

The Weather Bureau sent Kleinschmidt a new thermometer capable of recording down to 75 degrees below zero.

The highest official temperature ever recorded in the world was 136.4 at Azizia, Libya, North Africa, Sept. 13, 1922.

As for the North American continent, the record is 134 degrees. This was set July 10, 1913 at the Greenland Ranch in Death Valley, California.

QUESTION: What is "dressage" and why is it connected with Lippizan horses?

QUESTION: What is "dressage" and why is it connected with Lippizan horses?

ANSWER: In the mid-16th century, a courier was sent to Spain by Maximillian II to acquire fine horses for the Austrian Emperor's riding stables at Vienna. The idea was to teach horsemanship to knights and nobles.

A group of the famous Castilian combat horses and the expensive Andalusians was brought north, and so the Riding School of Vienna was founded. Later, beautiful Arabian stallions were added, as well as some from Italy and Denmark.

The combination of these horses produced a magnificent special breed, the Lippizaner, named for the town of Equile Lippizano, Yugoslavia, where the stud farms were located.

Although the animals are bred to be white, the darker strains of their ancesters show when the colts are born, since these are always black (A). "Dressage" is the art of displaying the beauty of a fine horse and his various gaits without resorting to special tricks.

In (B), youthful members of the Spanish Riding School, which is still in existence, show the exact way their stallions keep step. The "Courbette" (C) can only be done by the finest horses: they jump without bringing the forelegs down. Almost lost, "dressage" is being revived, here and in Europe.

FOR YOU TO DO: Cut a large potato in half and dry surface. Draw a walking horse with pencil and cut potato flesh away around it. Then cover horse with poster paint or ink and print by pressing down on paper. Repeating the print in a line will give the "dressage" effect.

Romney, Ad Board in Scrap

Political Lines Show at Table

Civil Service, Highway Costs Two of Issues

LANSING (AP) — For all their years of experience in such proceedings, Gov. George Romney and the seven Democratic members of the State Administrative Board are suddenly finding board meetings a novel experience.

The dissimilarity of political views between the Republican governor and the Democrats burbled below the surface in their first formal encounter two weeks ago.

But yesterday, in the second of the twice-monthly ad board meetings, it burst into the open for all to see as Romney and his Democratic associates crossed verbal swords on sensitive issues —civil service, highway costs and the proposed new constitution.

One observer commented that Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski may have become the first person to tell Romney—who spent eight years as president of American Motors Corp.—that he "resented" something Romney said in a board meeting.

For the Democrats, it was a drastic change from the days when they relaxed around the big table while Gov. John Swainson, one of their own, led them swiftly through a routine agenda.

The two-hour meeting finally ended when Auditor General Billie Farnum offered what he termed "a noncontroversial motion—to adjourn."

Prior to this, however, there were three significant actions, all coming after extensive debate and pointing of fingers:

—Romney agreed, on motion of Secretary of State James Hare, to let a soon-to-be-named advisory board of religious and lay leaders examine the "ethics" of the reorganization of the governor's office, in which 12 of 16 civil service clerical employes were told to look for work in other agencies.

— Romney ordered a five-year compilation of so-called "overruns" on highway construction contracts and a list of the contractors to whom they were paid, from Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

—Lesinski proposed a motion, that passed on a voice vote with Romney abstaining, to "encourage news media to discuss both sides" of the proposed new constitution, which Romney supports and the Democrats oppose.

Romney raised his voice and showed apparent signs of impatience when he accused Democrats of "trying to harass us" with the civil service issue raised by Hare, and charged that Democrats weren't cooperating with him.

Lesinski —previously silent — fired back that he resented being included under a "blanket charge" after having said numerous times he would do everything in his power to cooperate with the new GOP administration.

Hospital Group to Select Slate of Officers Tuesday

MILFORD — Officers of the Huron Valley Community Hospital Association will be chosen Tuesday from among the 16 members newly elected to its first permanent board of directors.

The board will elect its officers and appoint standing committees at a 7 p.m. dinner meeting at the Alpine Inn, 6707 E. Highland Road, White Lake Township.

Six new directors were chosen by the vote of 34 members at the hospital association's first annual meeting.

They are Milford Village President Wilbur Johnson, Rev. Clark Mann of the First Baptist Church, Donald Good, 548 Knight Drive; Horace Lodge Jr., 2960 Rose Center Road Highland Township; Charles Daberkoe, 3191 Ridge Road, White Lake Township; and Thomas Collins, 1776 W. Wardlow Road, Highland Township.

Among those returned to the board after serving as temporary directors are Wixom Mayor Wesley E. McAtee, White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz and Novi Police Chief Lee Bee-Gole.

RE-ELECTED

The others re-elected to the board are Rev. Lawrence A. Edwards of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Dr. Norman Krieger, Edward Sharpe, Mrs. Ralph Watkins, Robert Verkler, Florence Harris and Archie Peterson.

Two resolutions also have been approved as additions to the articles of incorporation.

One states that the proposed hospital "shall at all times be open to medical doctors and doctors of osteopathy and such others as are acceptable to the board of directors."

★ ★ ★

The other says that upon dissolution of the nonprofit corporation, all assets shall be transferred to "a nonprofit, tax exempt charitable, religious or scientific organization selected by the board."

Might Amend Zoning Law

Would OK Apartments in Farmington

FARMINGTON — A zoning amendment which would allow construction of "efficiency apartments" in commercial districts here may be adopted by the City Council Feb. 4.

The purpose of the amendment, according to City Manager John Dinam, is to develop strips of vacant land such as those along Grand River Avenue.

Some property on Grand River is zoned for general commercial uses, but it is considered unsuitable for businesses because it is not large enough, Dinan explained.

An efficiency apartment, as defined in the amendment, contains one bedroom, kitchen facilities and minimum floor space of 500 square feet per unit.

Dinan also said he has been authorized by the council to contact the Bel-Aire Subdivision Association concerning a liquor license request by the Bel-Aire Lanes, a bowling alley at 24001 Orchard Lake Road.

Proprietors of the bowling alley had signed an agreement with the association, saying they would not have liquor on the premises for five years.

★ ★ ★

Dinan said the five-year time limit has expired and the owners are seeking a Class C liquor license from the city.

Rules Funds of Cemetery Not Taxable

DETROIT (AP)—A Circuit Court judge ruled yesterday that cemetery perpetual care funds cannot be taxed by the State of Michigan.

The ruling by Circuit Judge John M. Wise grew out of a suit filed by White Chapel Memorial Cemtery in Troy to recover $3,778 in intangible taxes collected in 1960 by the State Revenue Department.

The ruling is expected to be appealed to the State Supreme Court because the suit was initiated as a test case to determine whether the state's intangible tax applies to cemetery perpetual care funds.

Wise ruled the tax cannot be applied to such funds and ordered the state to reimburse the cemetery.

Wise ruled that state law requires cemeteries to establish trust funds to meet the expense of keeping the cemeteries in good condition. He said that in this case the state was trying to tax funds held for charitable purposes, against the state law.

63 Die in State Traffic

EAST LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 63 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisional figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 64.

PHYLLIS R. SANDERS

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sanders, 412 E. Commerce St., Milford, have announced the engagement of their daughter Phyllis Ruth to William C. Robb, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dean Robb of Detroit. No wedding date has been set.

HOLLY JEAN DUGAW

A June wedding is being planned by Holly Jean Dugaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Dugaw of 4272 Middledale St., Walled Lake, and Leo Rader, son of Earl Rader, 10415 M15, Clarkston, and the late Mrs. Rader.

Brinker-Church Vows Repeated in Walled Lake

UNION LAKE—Liesbeth Clara Church became the bride of Edward Albert Brinker recently in a ceremony at St. William's Catholic Church in Walled Lake.

Rev. Raymond E. Jones officiated at the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Church of 1322 Park St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Brinker of 4001 Burnet St., Commerce Township.

For her wedding the bride chose a peau de soie gown with appliques of Alencon lace and seed pearls featuring a chapel train.

Her matching veil of illusion was held by a crown of lace and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white carnations and ivy.

The bridegroom's sister, Susan Brinker, was maid of honor while another of his sisters, Barbara Brinker, served as bridesmaid with Connie Ayala of Union Lake.

James Kollar of Birmingham was best man and Robert Scheib and George Brown, both of Walled Lake, served as ushers.

AREA NEWS

Although Michigan was not a battleground in the Civil War, it was active in the abolitionist movement that led up to the War between the States. Several historical markers identify the route of an underground railraod for fugitive slaves in the mid-1800s.

Guard Takes Over

Missile Switch

The Michigan National Guard will officially take over three Nike Hercules Missile sites, including the one in Utica, from the Army in a ceremony Feb. 8.

★ ★ ★

The event will be staged at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of the 127th TAC Reconnaisance Wing Administration Building on Middle Belt Road.

The other two sites to be manned by the guardsmen are at Newport and Wayne Major Airport.

Personnel from National Guard units have undergone training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., during the past few months and will take over the Hercules sites which are manned by two Army battalions of the 28th Artillery Group (Air Defense).

For the past few years the Michigan National Guard air defense units have been equipped with the Nike-Ajax Missile in Metropolitan Detroit.

Their change to the Hercules marks another step in the increase of National Guard activities within the continental United States, releasing Army personnel for overseas commitments.

Col. Alfred J. Floyd, Commander of the Detroit Army Air Defense will host the ceremony marking the change to which military, industrial and civic leaders have been invited.

A tour of the Wayne Major Nike Hercules site and a reception at the Air National Guard Officer's Club will follow.

37 From County

4-H'ers to Travel East

Thirty-seven Oakland County 4-H club members and adult leaders will travel east next summer to complete an exchange program which started with a visit here by 37 Maine 4-H'ers last year.

The exchange visits with other 4-H clubs from throughout the country started five years ago in Oakland County.

Members who have been chosen to visit Maine next summer were named following interviews with county 4-H leaders.

Adult delegates were selected by a vote of the County 4-H Club Leaders' Association.

At a meeting of local delegates and alternates, John Schafer, adult leader of Royal Oak's Skill and Craft 4-H Club, was chosen chairman of a drive to finance the trip.

OTHER OFFICERS

Other officers include Mrs. Jim Wilson, secretary, and Mrs. John Lessiter, treasurer. Both are leaders of the East Orion 4-H Club.

Four-H members named to complete the executive board are Janet Lessiter, East Orion Club, and Carmen Sue Miller, Seymour Lake Club.

The group will sponsor fund-raising events aimed at raising $3,000 to pay for the trip to Maine.

Besides the fund drive officers, other adult leaders and clubs they represent are Keith Middleton, East Orion; Mrs. Payson Halsey, Flying Fingers; Phyllis Schafer, Flying Fingers; and Mrs. Milton Miller, Seymour Lake.

Alternates are Milton Miller, Seymour Lake; Mrs. Maurice Norland, Bloomfield; Mrs. Osmun Mills, Oak Hill; Mrs. George Trevethan, Avon Explorers; Payson Halsey, Flying Fingers; Mrs. D. S. Wiggins, Weber Woodchucks; Mrs. Henry Bright East Orion; Mrs. Joe Theriot, Oak Hill; and Maurice Milyls, Oak Hill.

Veterinary Medical Group Raps Clinics in Macomb

Action by the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association condemning "fire hall rabies clinics" still being offered in Macomb County, has won full support and endorsement of both the Macomb County Veterinary Medical Association and the Macomb County Humane Society.

Charging the Macomb is the last remaining county in the Southeastern Michigan area still practicing county - sponsored clinics, the association attempted to clarify some misconceptions about them.

The veterinarians said they are united in their claim that the bringing together of large numbers of dogs in poorly equipped medical surroundings is unfair to the animals due to extreme risk of transmission of diseases.

There also is danger of emotional shock to the animal, which can and often does produce serious nervous disorders. Chances for the spread of distemper at such places is very great, they declared.

The veterinarians also charge that the vaccine used in such programs is much less effective than that normally used by veterinarians.

They also feel that the public is led to believe it has to take its dogs to "fire hall clinics" which they say is untrue.

Further, the veterinarians charge, advertisements for these clinics are false. State law passed in 1960 does not require that inoculations be given yearly, but actually recognizes the two-year effectiveness of vaccine used by private veterinarians, but not offered at the clinics.

The county clinic system was originally designed to provide facilities where inadequate veterinary clinics existed, the association contends.

★ ★ ★

But the need for "fire hall clinics" or county garages for rabies vaccinations no longer exists, they concluded.

This Julius Caesar Gets 10-Day Sentence in Jail

DETROIT (AP) —Julius Caesar will spend the next 10 days in jail for stealing a bottle of headache remedy.

Caesar, 62, of Detroit was convicted on a simple larceny charge in the theft from a downtown store.

Honeymoons in Virginia

Pair Repeats Vows

AVON TOWNSHIP—A honeymoon in Virginia followed the recent wedding of Nancy Carol Briscoe and Robert C. Tenniswood, who exchanged vows in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Port Huron.

Rev. Charles F. Robbins of Millersburg, brother-in-law of the bride, and Rev. Philip Germaine, pastor of Westminster Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. Ferris D. Briscoe of Port Huron and the late Mrs. Briscoe. Parents of the bridegroom are the Ralph L. Tenniswoods, 1430 Stockport Road.

A floor-length gown embroidered with rosebuds and styled with a Sabrina neckline and chapel train was chosen by the bride.

A seed pearl cap held her veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and Stephanotis.

Mrs. William D. Fox of Port Huron was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Sherwood Palmateer of Port Huron and Mrs. Richard Tenniswood of Rochester, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Attending as flower girl was Wendy Sue McNaughton of Port Huron and as ring bearer, Timothy Mark Robbins of Millersburg, nephew of the bride.

Richard J. Tenniswood of Avon Township served as best man for his twin brother. The guests were seated by Sherwood Palmateer and Richard L. Wiersma, both of Port Huron, and David P. Briscoe of Port Huron and Ferris A. Briscoe of Birmingham, brothers of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors followed the rites. The newlyweds are living in Rochester.

Doesn't Expect Raise

ORION TOWNSHIP — There's a teacher from here who doesn't expect a raise in pay for the next two years — even though she's earning little more than subsistence wages.

Mary L. Liebaert, 965 Hanford St., was graduated from the University of Michigan last spring. She joined the Peace Corp in November.

For the past two months, the 22-year-old teacher has been training in Hawaii for her stay in a rural village in the Philippine Republic.

She is currently one of 63 volunteers en route to a branch of the University of the Philippines in Los Banos.

Her political science background undoubtedly assisted the young woman in her studies at the University of Hawaii, where she attended classes in communism, world affairs and the history and culture of the Philippines.

The rigorous physical and medical health training she received will probably be equally valuable to her when she arrives at her new Philippine home.

For another month, Miss Liebaert will be living and working with more experienced Peace Corps volunteers while studying at the Philippine University. In addition to further dialect studies, her advanced training will include actual classroom teaching experience.

Then she will be assigned to a rural elementary school post where she will assist Philippine teachers instructing the children in English, as well as science and other courses.

She acquired a knowledge of two of the Philippine dialects, "Cebuano" and "Ilocano," while at the University of Hawaii.

Miss Liebaert, a fair-skinned brunette, will probably take some time adjusting herself to the new way of life.

However, she knows that there are 637 other volunteers in the Philippines who have gone through a similar experience.

This is the ninth contingent of Peace Corp volunteers sent to the Philippines, the first one arriving a year ago.

The group there is over twice the size of any other Peace Corp company in the world.

Miss Liebaert phoned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Liebaert, Sunday, and gave them a progress report.

After hearing Mrs. Liebaert's warnings about watching the food and water in the islands, the volunteer told her mother not to worry, she had received many hours of instruction in food testing and water purification.

West Bloomfield Man Named to College Post

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Angus E. Wallace Jr., 4368 Borland Road, has been appointed field service representative for Wheaton College of Wheaton, Ill.

Wallace, who plans to move to Oregon, will represent the college in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and northern California, according to David L. Roberts, director of public relations and field service.

Sewage Plant at Holly Gets New Operator

HOLLY — A 28-year-old North Muskegon resident, Gary Coombs, has been named operator of Holly's sewage treatment plant, it was announced last night.

Coombs replaces John T. Smith, who resigned in October to take a similar position in Romeo.

Due to the lack of a quorum, no action could be taken by village councilmen last night, according to Deputy Village Clerk Betty Oliver.

She said the regular meeting was postponed until 8 p.m. next Tuesday. Two councilmen were out of town and a third was absent because of illness, she said.

Lutherans to Beam Christianity to Africa, Asia

By WEBB McKINLEY

ADDIS ABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A radio station with power rivaling the Voice of America goes on the air here next month to broadcast Christian programs to Africa and Asia.

The target area of Radio Voice of the Gospel, owned by the Lutheran World Federation, dramatizes vast changes that have come over the work of Christian missionaries.

Less than 100 years ago, Dr. David Livingstone suffered and died in the African bush after a missionary career of unspeakable hardship. His work reached a tiny section of central Africa.

Today, about 50 Protestants and Catholic radio stations help spread the word around the world.

From their comfortable campus on an Ethiopian hill, workers for Voice of the Gospel will beam the faith from the Atlantic coast of Nigeria to the Java Sea, and from the Bosporus to the Cape of Good Hope.

They will broadcast in the Malagasy language to Madagascar, in Amharic to the Ethiopians, in Swahili to Tanganyika, in Arabic to the West Arab areas, in Zulu and Susutu, English and Afrikaans to South Africa.

A nonLutheran missionary in the Arab world has described this as "strategically the most important project ever undertaken by the Protestant Church."

Ethiopia was selected because of its central location and highland climate and the fact that it is an African pocket of Christianity.

Financed by an initial outlay of $1.5 million from American and European Lutherans, the project began taking shape in October 1961. A large studio-administration building and 23 staff houses have gone up on a 40-acre plot just west of Addis Ababa.

Twenty miles away, under the direction of Erich Kraemer of Hicksville, N.Y., a former missile electronics expert, workmen have erected two 100-kilowatt transmitters and an antenna system.

★ ★ ★

Staffing the station are six Norwegians, headed by a director general. Dr. Sigurd Aske, a graduate of Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D.; five Americans; two Swedes, one German and a number of Ethiopians.

The Near East Christian Council, represented here by the Rev. Hal Fisher, an American Presbyterian from near Waterloo, Iowa, will have half the available program time.

The programs will spring from the areas they are beamed to, sometimes from the jungle itself.

"We don't want to use Western sacred or popular music, for example," said program director Ulrich Fick of Stuttgart, Germany.

"Our line is to be as indigenous as possible. Our people in Tanganyika have traveled thousands of miles taping native music."

Taped programs from field studios will be mailed to Addis.

★ ★ ★

About 30 per cent of the programs will be religious. The rest will include cultural, educational and home service programs covering agriculture, hygiene, home economic, entertainment and news.

★ ★ ★

The campus where the staff lives looks at a distance like a pleasant ranch-style development in some rural part of America. Houses are surrounded by the beginnings of lawns and gardens.

The transmitter supervisor, Jack Kear of Pittsburgh, Pa. sends his two children to the Good Shepherd school. Each has a horse.

One of the few drawbacks is a feeling of isolation. It's a long way from the United States.

"I wish I could see some of the Detroit papers," said Vera Henrich, Detroit, the program director's secretary.

Kear and the assistant transmitter supervisor, Frank Woltemar, Pittsburgh, keep in contact with the world by ham radio. One night in December they contacted an amateur operator in eastern Ohio to whom Kear had sold his radio gear before leaving for Ethiopia.

President De Gaulle—Less Than Cooperative

President CHARLES DE GAULLE of France has really upset the apple cart. His failure to negotiate with the other Western powers is causing an undue amount of anxiety.

The White House is upset, and rightly so, since de Gaulle apparently will not look at things in accordance with our views. A lot of President Kennedy's optimism on world affairs seems headed for the drain.

DE GAULLE

With DE GAULLE pulling the switches, Mr. KENNEDY's Common Market policy is now at loggerheads with his NATO policy. The President of France is obviously an ambitious ally who, it would seem, does not know his own limitations. Many feel that he has gone overboard with his own power and "grandeur."

JFK has been gambling on getting England into the Common Market. With Britain in, and with our new Trade Extension Act, we would be in a position to bargain on tariffs where the U.S. and Market control 80 per cent of the world trade.

If England fails to get in, this large percentage of world trade will shrink some four-fifths. Undersecretary of State GEORGE W. BALL said recently this would be an "unmitigated disaster."

★ ★ ★

DE GAULLE wants his own kind of trade agreement which would exclude England and the United States. He wants his own European market.

The other Market nations in Europe don't know which way to turn, and they are not sure they can trust de Gaulle.

But what he has on his side is the fact that many of the other Market countries are worried about KENNEDY wanting to rebuild NATO into a ground force. They are afraid that without nuclear striking power in NATO it would be an invitation for Russia to march into Europe.

The Nassau Polaris missile deal for NATO was supposed to settle this, but de Gaulle termed it another British-U.S. deal, and said no dice.

It's becoming more and more necessary to work out some plan to soften up DE GAULLE, or at least work out an agreement satisfactory to both of us.

Today, he is the fly in the ointment.

What Has India Gained as Independent Nation?

Saturday marks the 13th anniversary of the Republic of India's severing its colonial ties with Great Britain. The day will be celebrated in India as Indian Republic Day.

The rest of the free world will be appraising just how well India has done at home and in foreign affairs.

Probably the most serious challenge to come India's way is the Communist China invasion. Obviously, it has heightened an already critical domestic situation. Economically and politically, India is on the spot.

The military crisis has hit India just as its internal development program was starting to make progress, and it seems reasonable to expect that the nation's political stability will be affected.

Recent news dispatches indicate that the Red Chinese attack is far more serious than many believe. On the whole, the orderliness of India's progress is now upset.

★ ★ ★

What course she will follow is a question many Indians themselves can't answer. Our reaction has been to back India as a counterpoise to China. Just how much help she really needs has been hard to ascertain.

★ ★ ★

Without help from us, India's political future looks dim. The fact that in the last few years she has been straddling the fence makes other nations reluctant to step in with assistance.

In reviewing India's world position as she is about to enter her 14th year of full sovereignty, we wonder at her own hesitancy to face China with force for recovery of her northern borderlands.

It always seems easier to help someone who helps himself.

Pontiac Miss Scores High in B.P.O. Elks Contest

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Winner at the local level of the 14th Annual National B. P. O. Elks Youth Leadership contest is of 43 Osceola.

Her next hurdle is the state semi-finals to be judged Jan. 31, with the national selection slated for March 15. There, first, second and third bond awards are $1,000, $500 and $300.

The contest takes the form of brochures submitted by the entrants outlining their civic and social consciousness, academic attitude and accomplishments, leadership qualities and character traits.

• • •

Our winner ran up 271 out of a possible 300 points—an achievement of which she may well be proud.

The MAT's congratulations to this fine example of American youth with all best wishes for her progress toward national recognition.

Passing on to a group, the other day, the earth-shaking scientific revelation that the way to prevent one's glasses from steaming-up when going indoors from the frigid outdoors, is to BACK into the warm premises, someone as usual had to introduce a negative note.

David Lawrence Asks:

Will U. N. Liberate Hungary Next?

WASHINGTON — Now that the United Nations has subdued the warring factions in the Congo and exerted its arbitrary power over a supposedly sovereign state, will in its next expedition be sent to liberate Hungary?

★ ★ ★

This question is being asked hereabouts because the United Nations has lately assumed the role of a super-government and deems it to be its mission in the world to bring about—by armed force, if necessary — the settlement of any internal controversy that could conceivably have outside repercussions.

LAWRENCE

One spokesman for the United Nations secretariat sent a letter the other day to various newspapers to answer critics who had complained that the United Nations was "setting a dangerous precedent" by interfering in a civil war—a purely internal matter — in the Congo.

The letter said: "To start with, outside interference, actual and potential, was so heavy that this was hardly a civil war when the United Nations became involved. More fundamentally, however, I think we must consider the consequences of the thermonuclear era in which we live.

Occasionally, order breaks down, chaos occurs, some vacuum is created, inviting outside interference and becoming thus the fuse that could explode our earth. Mankind, therefore, has seen itself obliged to seek some new means of preserving international law and order. We cannot stop seeking or experimenting."

WHAT ABOUT CUBA?

But not so long ago two big powers — the United States and the Soviet Union — stood poised against one another in the Cuban situation.

The United Nations was in session and presumably had the same concern then about a thermonuclear war. But the United Nations didn't even discuss the possible mobilization of an armed force of several member nations to go into Cuba and remove the Soviet missiles or later on to inspect the bases to see if all the nuclear weapons had been withdrawn.

Surely this was not an internal matter at all, but an international affair and clearly a basis for action as provided in the charter of the United Nations.

Logically, the United Nations now has set a precedent in the Congo which could readily be applied to Hungary and the other satellite states.

CAN SKIRT RUSSIA

It will be said that the United Nations cannot act unless the Security Council agrees, as it did in connection with the Congo dispute, and that the Soviets would use their veto in the council to thwart any action.

But the United Nations managed to act in Korea when the Soviets were temporarily absent. Maybe they'll be away again sometime!

The General Assembly, however, isn't subject to any veto and can at any time authorize collective action under Article 51, irrespective of Soviet objections.

President Kennedy, in his formal statement after the surrender of Tshombe's forces in Katanga, said:

"The United States objective in the Congo is neither more nor less than the establishment of conditions under which the Congolese people themselves can peacefully work out their own future.

★ ★ ★

"This was impossible as long as the territorial integrity of the nation was challenged by secessions, with consequent political instability and a standing invitation to intervention by the great powers."

Bob Considine Says:

Former Cuba Ambassador Asks End to Favorite Aid

PALM BEACH, Fla. — Earl E. T. Smith, former U. S. ambassador to Cuba, told us today that he has proposed to President Kennedy that the U. S. withdraw all aid from a favored Cuban political group in this country until the various factions create a 10-man group embodying all factions.

CONSIDINE

"To be blunt about it, we're not working for unity among these people, or moving any closer to a free Cuba, if we financially support only the movement headed by Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, granted that he is a fine man," Smith said.

"We should insist that the major Cuban political groups now in exile come to terms on the kind of Cuba they would like to see in the future, and take into consideration the philosophy and contributions of the dozen or more splinter groups that fan out from the major groups."

Like a lot of other informed men, Smith sees no early downfall of Castro and for the customary reasons: Castro was given enough by the Russians to rule out any hope of an antigovernment revolution from within the country.

He now has what Smith calls one of the few "safe" governments in Latin America. He knows his fellow Communists are in charge, and thus he can concentrate on ways and means of spreading his revolution elsewhere through the hemisphere.

Economic sanctions appear to be the prime answer at the present, Smith believes. Here, too, the U. S. must take the lead.

NONE WILL ACT

"None of the other nations down that way will stick their necks out until we do," he told us with a note of resignation in his voice.

"If we had forced a victory at the Bay of Pigs, all of them would have come in with us, or tried to.

"Now we've got to show them that the best way to bring him down is the slow, economic freeze."

He does not agree with administration critics who have declared that the President has pledged not to invade Cuba under any circumstances.

He declared: "The President pledged not to invade Cuba provided certain conditions were met. They were, chiefly, the removal of the long range missiles and the bombers.

"These have been pulled out, to our satisfaction. But he was equally insistent in demanding on-site inspection, and Khrushchev supported this. It has not been forthcoming. Until it does, we are not pledged not to invade."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Hard Work

The Hillsdale Daily News

The personal stock-taking that accompanies the plunge into a new year might well include the question:

"Is the individual's capacity . . . or willingness . . . to do hard work, even to endure hardship in performance of duty, diminishing in this country?"

Albert Biderman of the Bureau of Social Science Research, Washington, says the evidence indicates the ordinary American has plenty, and that United States prisoners' behavior in the Korean War offers proof.

Despite publicized instances of American captives succumbing to suffering and the pressures of their captors, most United States soldiers, said Biderman, showed a great ability to take it. The wonder may be that so many survived.

Any one of us can find ample evidence, too, that hard work has not gone out of style. Dedicated workers abound in our space and defense efforts, in many less spectacular channels of government, in the professions, like the law and medicine and journalism, in industry, on the farms. The 18-hour day is still a reality in many places.

Yet as scientific progress has steadily freed us from the back breaking physical labor, more of us seem to have seized upon this as a permanent pass through life. Thus some move from the excessive ease granted by parental indulgence to snap courses in school, to soft jobs stressing security but not challenge and responsibility.

Crime has many causes, yet one is the desire of some to gain the fruits of labor without working. With our great material abundance this soft approach appeals to increasing numbers.

What many of the nonworkers seem to want is not only the material benefit but the status that . . . in this country . . . goes with having things.

Francis Keppel, aimed a shaft at such people when a newsman asked whether teachers deserved a higher status. His answer:

"I hold to the old-fashioned view that status should be earned."

★ ★ ★

We Americans no longer need to labor in the salt mines to gain the necessities. But we will be on the downhill road if really large numbers should ever conclude that status need not be earned, that men can live well without goals of achievement which require hard, testing, challenging work.

Orderly Living

The Wall Street Journal

One of the more irritating aspects about living in a trailer is that there's no place to put anything except where it belongs.

Selling America

The Commercial Appeal (Memphis)

Junior poured some cereal into his bowl the other morning, and read the latest offer of premiums on the box. This time there was no box top to send in for a space craft, airplane, bulldozer, or plastic what-you-may-call-it.

He read on. What he saw was a pictorial sketch of the United States. Compared with 1947-49, each farm worker grows 80 per cent more food . . . you work fewer hours to earn a month's supply of food, the box said.

Further, in the United States people spend only 20 per cent of income for food; in Britain 30 per cent and in Russia "50 per cent or more." Junior was impressed. We were impressed because Junior was impressed.

This was a piece on Americanism. And we wondered why other manufacturers don't use the container for selling Americanism to our children. They could dramatize stories about Paul Revere, Gettysburg, the great expeditions West, etc.

The kids who avidly read cereal box panels would get a stirring picture of this great land of ours at a time when it is needed. They could tell the story of how America was built with toil, sweat and tears. It would be more beneficial than premiums.

Sensible?

The Neligh (Neb.) Leader

Nowadays they spend $10,000 for a school bus to pick the kids up at the door so they don't have to walk; then they spend $100,000 for a gymnasium so they can get some exercise.

Washington Slept in Some Pretty Crummy Joints

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Innkeepers who put up signs boasting that "George Washington Slept Here" may be guilty of false advertising.

WEST

Washington may have spent the night there all right, but there's a good possibility that he failed to get any sleep.

If the bedbugs didn't keep him awake, then the chances are that his slumber was disturbed by some other antisomnolent activity, such as his mattress catching on fire.

The mere fact that Washington made an overnight stop at a certain tavern or inn is simply no recommendatioin at all. The truth is that he stopped at some pretty crummy joints.

The problems that the father of our country had in finding a decent place to lay his head are related in Washington's own diaries, some excerpts from which have just been distributed by the National Geographic Society.

Washington was the Duncan Hines of his day. When he traveled, he made notes on the accommodations that he found. Reading them has given me a new appreciation of Conrad Hilton.

★ ★ ★

At one place, Washington wrote, the bed "as they called it" was nothing but a little straw "matted together without sheets or anything else but only one thread bear blanket with double its weight of vermin such as lice, fleas, etc."

★ ★ ★

Anyone who has ever bedded down on a "thread bear" blanket can tell you that it is even more uncomfortable than a polar bear blanket.

SAVED FROM FIRE

During one "blowing and rainy night," Washington reported, "our straw catch'd a fire (while) we were laying upon and was luckily preserv'd by one of our mens awaking."

Old George's syntax was not all that it might be, but I gather from this passage that he barely escaped being incinerated. Could he have been smoking in bed?

At another place the beds consisted of "a little hay straw fodder or bairskin which ever is to be had." He did not indicate, however, whether the bairskin was thread bear.

Everyone stretched out on the floor "like a parcel of dogs or catts," he said, and "happy he that gets the berth nearest the fire."

The diary is replete with references to the lack of sanitation, tidiness and charm in the roadside place where he stayed. He also observed that some of the prices were "extravagantly dear."

Washington may not have been much at spelling, but he sure knew a flea bag or a tourist trap when he saw one.

Michigan Man Among 25 Honored With Hero Award

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —A Cadillac, Mich., man and two companions who rescued a man trapped in an ore mine cave-in in Canada, and a carnival concessionaire burned severely when he tried to save a boy from fiery death were among 25 persons cited yesterday by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Nine of the awards were posthumous. California and Washington led the states in acts of valor with five each.

Two silver medals and 23 bronze medals were granted by the commission, established in 1904 by Andrew Carnegie, Pittsburgh Steel magnate and philanthropist.

Heninrich W. Wenzel, 44, was trapped in a sitting position, his arm pinned by a timber when 2,000 tons of rock fell in an ore mine in Brittania Beach, B.C. on Nov. 1, 1960.

George J. Preissler, 29, Cadillac, Mich., a fellow worker, and John Johnson, 49, Brittania Beach, a mine shift boss, excavated a tunnel under a level to reach Wensel.

Preissler wiggled through an 18-inch hole in the debris to reach Wenzel who was in agonizing pain.

Preissler squirmed back through the debris, reported conditions to other workers and returned to Wenzel with water and a pain killing drug.

But because of his injured arm, Wenzel could not draw up the supplies.

Preissler returned with Dr. Barrie C. Flather, 28, of Surrey, B. C., a physician, who volunteered to give medical aid to Wenzel. Johnson cleared the way for the doctor and at one point nearly became stuck in the passage.

When Flather finally reached Wenzel, the trapped man begged him to amputate his arm. The doctor quickly performed the amputation and reported to others that the stricken man was ready to be led out.

Again, Preissler pushed his way through the debris and with difficulty urged Wenzel to squeeze his way back.

Preissler was awarded a silver medal and $500. Johnson and Flather each received a bronze medal and $500.

Airline Merger Under Attack

Delta Urges CAB to Disapprove Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Delta Air Lines yesterday attacked the proposed merger of American and Eastern Airlines as a giant step toward eventual shrinking of the air industry to "three or four super carriers."

★ ★ ★

Delta urged the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to support CAB examiner Ralph L. Wiser's recommendation that the merger be disapproved.

Delta's brief was one of several expected to be filed by smaller airlines trying to block consolidation of the nation's second and fourth largest carriers.

The Atlanta-based airline warned that limited competitive service by three or four air giants never could adequately serve the public needs.

It charged that merger approval would create new and "destructive" competitive service, noting that both American and Eastern have argued that such competition is a major cause of the airlines' financial troubles.

State Puts Off Guard Switch

LANSING (UPI) — A spokesman for the adjutant general's office said Michigan has not yet accepted the guard reorganization plan.

★ ★ ★

No decision is expected to be made until after a meeting of state adjutant generals in Washington next week and the Michigan decision may be delayed as late as Feb. 10, said Maj. Robert Baird.

The guard reorganization proposal for Michigan would leave the state with a strength of just over 9,000 officers and men, down from the former 10,500 officers and men.

Gov. Romney has said he agrees in principle with the reorganization proposal. Michigan is trying to get more units, however.

The main disagreement is over the proposed elimination of five units of the 219th Transportation Battalion stationed at Bay City, Alpena, Cheboygan, Cadillac and Manistee.

Soothsayer Requests Moscow Magic Confab

ROME (UPI) — Vittorio Scifio, 25, who calls himself a soothsayer and operates under the name "The Wizard of Tobruk," said yesterday he had written Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for permission to hold a convention of 10,000 wizards in Moscow to use their "magic" in the interests of peace.

He said Khrushchev had not replied.

Visits Wounded GIs

SAIGON (UPI) — Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, U.S. Army chief of staff, yesterday visited sick and wounded American solders in the U.S. Army hospital at Nhatrang, 200 miles north of here, victims of what he has called South Viet Nam's "dirty little war" with Communist guerrillas.

Ousted German Minister Assumes Political Post

BONN (UPI) — Ousted Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss today assumed leadership of the Bavarian wing of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Parliamentary party.

He lost his defense job in a government crisis over his role in arresting editors of Der Spiegel news magazine on treason charges.

Storm Cost $250,000

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan State Highway Department spent an estimated $250,000 to keep highways open in southwestern Michigan during a week-long snowstorm that hit the area early in December, the department said yesterday.

President, Top Aides Scan Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy reviewed and restated American global policy yesterday at an extraordinary meeting of members of his administration who are in top policy-making roles.

★ ★ ★

He spoke for about 45 minutes, the White House said, to about 50 government executives gathered in the Cabinet Room at the White House.

The session was a greatly expanded meeting of the National Security Council. Usually a Security Council session draws around 20 persons.

Presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters: "The purpose was to have a start-of-the-year review of the world situation."

He said that Kennedy also touched on the domestic economic situation and the tax program he is urging on Congress.

The President always has linked the health of the American economy to world conditions on grounds that only a prosperous United States can play the role demanded of it in these trying times.

What the meeting amounted to, Salinger said, "was a restatement of American policy for people in policy roles."

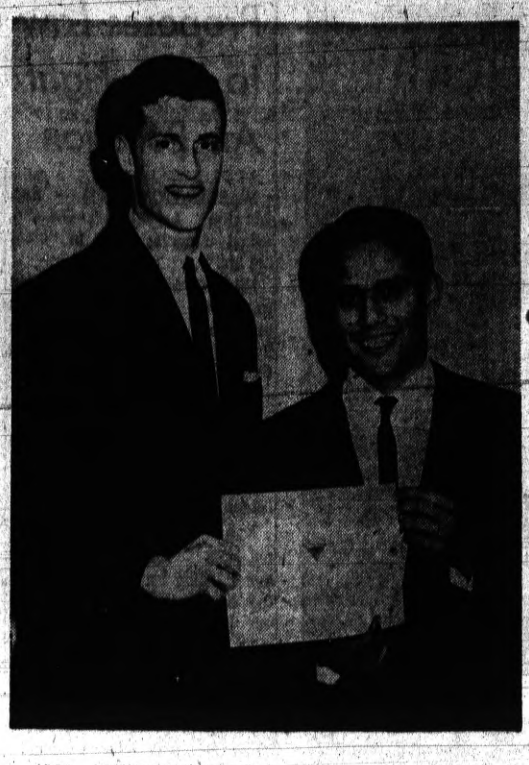
Salinger said the chief executive covered American efforts and responsibilities around the globe, touched on the Cuban situation, U. S. relations with Europe, the foreign-aid program, and disarmament talks.



MR. ACHIEVEMENT — David Moreno, 17, (right), outstanding Junior Achievement businessman in the Pontiac area, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Moreno of 24 Whitfield St. With him is Carl Scott, 20, of Ypsilanti, former president of the National Junior Achievers Conference.

Y'All Come Back Agin, Senatuh

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman from the Deep South, suh, got his weekly repast at the White House yesterday morning and reported with beaming approval: "That breakfast improved the likes of which I never saw!"

Rep. Hale Boggs is a Democrat from New Orleans and the party whip in the House and, as one of the House leaders, breakfasts with President Kennedy every Tuesday morning to review the legislative outlook.

The congressman naturally has a hankering for southern cooking. And last week he complained a bit on a television program that the White House coffee lacks chicory and there is no tabasco sauce to flavor the eggs.

Boggs' words apparently got through to the President, some way.

So today the congressional leaders not only had coffee with chicory and hot sauce for the eggs but also that southern delicacy hominy grits.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Epileptic Should Skip Hazardous Activity

Epilepsy is one of the most misunderstood of diseases. In Biblical times and in some parts of the world today epileptics have been thought to be possessed by evil spirits.

BRANDSTADT

Now that we doctors have taken a closer look we know that epilepsy is not a single disease but that more than a dozen types of seizure have been lumped under this one term.

The mechanism is an abnormal electrical disturbance in the brain but in most cases what causes this is unknown.

Much of the fear associated with epilepsy is due to this very fact — fear of the unknown, especially when it has to do with the brain.

This is aggravated by the fact that the victim often has no way of knowing when he is going to have his next attack.

In a few epileptics there are warning signs that come to be recognized as such and these persons can at least prevent a fall.

How would you feel if you woke up lying on a crowded sidewalk surrounded by gaping strangers and were told that you had cried out, fallen, gone into convulsions, drooled, frothed at the mouth, breathed heavily or snored loudly and rolled your eyes?

NO RECOLLECTION

Since the epileptic has no recollection of any of these things, he is asked to take the word of strangers.

Since he can neither prove or disprove their story he becomes embarrassed and resentful.

If, in addition to this, he finds that he has bitten his tongue and perhaps urinated, his embarrassment is aggravated.

This is a description of the severe or grand mal attack. Many attacks are far less severe and may amount to only a momentary blackout.

Until the electric brain wave recorder was invented a few years ago, the diagnosis was hard to make because the attacks so rarely occurred when a doctor or other trained observer was present.

No matter how suggestive of epilepsy the description of a bystander might be, the doctor who examined the sufferer later could not be sure that the seizures were not hysterical or feigned.

Now by examining the brain waves of an epileptic, even when he is not in an attack, a characteristic pattern can be recognized.

EXPLODES MYTH

It might be well at this point to explode the myth that epileptics either are or will become insane.

A few feeble-minded or insane persons also have epilepsy just as they may also have diabetes or dandruff.

On the other hand many brilliant and talented persons in the past did not let this handicap prevent them from achieving greatness of one sort or another.

Evidence points to the fact that Julius Caesar and Felix Mendelsohn were epileptics.

Because the attacks come suddenly and unexpectedly, the sufferer should not be allowed to swim, ride a bicycle, drive a car, climb a ladder or engage in any other activity that might endanger his life should an attack come.

In general, alcohol should be avoided; plenty of restful sleep should be allowed, and mental and physical exercise (but not such contact sports as football, wrestling, and boxing) should be encouraged. Several drugs have been used with varying degrees of success.

Turns Red in Bath

Smells Good, Burns Bad

EDGEWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. C. C. Estes wanted her husband to be extra presentable at a gathering of her family, so she laced his bath water with what she called "some good smelling stuff."

Estes related that he got in the tub and relaxed only momentarily. "I began to burn and turn red," he said.

The bottle of "sweet smelling stuff" was meat tenderizer.

Medical Offices Announced for Detroit Center

DETROIT (AP)—Plans for construction of a $25-million medical office building complex in Detroit's projected $250-million medical center were announced yesterday.

The complex, consisting of 16 buildings connected by underground concourses, would stand in the heart of the medical center.

Detroit's medical center, one of the largest planned urban renewal projects in the country, is to rise in the neighborhood of Grace and Harper hospitals in a midtown section just east of Woodward Avenue.

A huge and elaborate project, the center is to cover an extensive area of which a large part has long been regarded as in the slum class.

LUNAR VEHICLE — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) released this drawing at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., yesterday as it announced the awarding of a $3,610,632 contract to Bell Aero-Space Corp. for construction of lunar research vehicles. Proposes Law to Help Fight Air Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., asked Congress today to "clear the air."

Ribicoff introduced legislation to set up a 10-year, $74-million program of grants to states, cities and regional agencies to help them rid the air of pollution.

His clean-air bill also would establish a national research and development program and set up federal enforcement measures to keep the air clean.

"The air we breathe is being poisoned," Ribicoff said. "We aren't doing much about it. And the situation is getting worse as our population and productivity increase."

Ribicoff told the Senate in prepared remarks that he expressed concern over the air problem when he was secretary of health, education and welfare.

★ ★ ★

The former cabinet officer said all the facts are in concerning air pollution and "now is the time for action."

He noted that there is an air pollution program now but it is basically a research program.

AMERICA'S JUNIOR MISS

STATE OF MICHIGAN FINAL PAGEANT

Saturday, January 26, 1963 – 7:30 P.M.
Pontiac Northern High School

Sponsored by Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce

America's Junior Miss Pageant is the search for the Nation's ideal high school senior girl. The girl selected from Saturday night's 25 finalists will go on to Mobile, Alabama to compete for college scholarships worth thousands of dollars. The Junior Miss Pageant places emphasis on these important qualities—character, citizenship, leadership, ambition and lady-like poise and demeanor. A bathing suit contest is not part of the pageant but instead the girls compete in evening dress, sports attire and talent appearances. Sponsoring the program nationally are The Coca-Cola Company, with home offices in Atlanta, Georgia; Bobbie Brooks, Inc., with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio; and Eastman Kodak Company of Rochester, New York. Community National Bank is proud to be able to bring you this announcement in the interest and tribute to all young American Women.

Rep. Griffin Blasts Unions on Strikes

MUSKEGON (AP) — Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., blasted what he termed "some arrogant and power-hungry union leaders" last night in calling for stronger legislation regarding strikes.

Addressing the West State Press Club here, Griffin said, "I don't think we can take away the right of unions to strike, but some arrogant and power-hungry union leaders call or prolong strikes when it might not be the wish of the majority of the union membership."

Griffin said he thinks "there should be government-supervised secret strike ballots taken."

Injured Man Succumbs After Car-Train Crash

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Theodore Huntley, 45, of Milan, died in a hospital here yesterday of injuries suffered Monday in a car-train crash near the train depot in Milan.

★ ★ ★

Wife Obeys 'Wish,' Kills 3 Children

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — A husband had a row with his wife in the morning.

He returned home from work and found a note which said: "Your very last words this morning 'I wish we did not have a family'—Now you don't."

★ ★ ★

Their three children had been suffocated in plastic bags. The children were Susan, 4, Michael, 13 months, and Kevin, 6 weeks.

Yesterday, Marie Elizabeth Tucker M'Ginty, 33, the mother, pleaded guilty to killing her children and was sentenced to life in prison.

Fabrics find favor with homemakers who wish to overcome the problem of limited space and awkward angles, particularly when the top floor of an old-fashioned house is to be converted into a one-room apartment. The how-to approach is illustrated in the setting designed by Paul Krauss, AID, who selects a Mondrianic print containing Avisco rayon as focal point in his decorating scheme; the colorful cloth is fastened to window shades concealing shelves for books and household accumulations up high, and stretched over frames hiding hi-fi speakers below. For sleep-sofa and draperies, the same fabric by Cohama is used with an eye to balance and composition. Fiery tangerine, bright yellow and white are the color scheme.

Heads Camp Fire Unit

Eldon Gardner was elected president of the Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls at its annual meeting Tuesday evening in the First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland Building.

★ ★ ★

Assisting him in 1963 will be Hiram Smith, first vice president; Mrs. Monroe Osmun, second vice president; Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, secretary and Richard Benham, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

James Van Leuven, assistant director of children's services of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, was guest speaker.

GIFTS GIVEN

Gifts totaling some $2,000 were presented to Joseph Horton, trustee of the Camp Fire Girls' permanent camp site trust fund. A check for $1,000, proceeds of the Camp Fire Girls 1962 candy sale, was given by Blue Bird Lesley Chancey and Camp Fire Girl Geraldine Hollis.

★ ★ ★

Lloyd Smith presented another $1,000 check to Mr. Horton in behalf of the Civitan Club of Pontiac.

The funds are to be used in the council's continuous program of expansion and improvement at Camp Oweki near Clarkston.

Following the election, President Richard Jarvis reviewed highlights of 1962, highlighted by an increase in membership. Areas served, districting of leaders' associations, a successful camping season and high quality training for leaders and programs for girls were discussed.

Certificates acknowledging outstanding contributions to the council were presented to the Willis Schnekenburgers, Mrs. George Felice, Mrs. Charles Cupp Jr., Mrs. Bernard Stickney, Lloyd Smith, Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Mrs. Eldon Gardner and Mrs. Vern Rollison.

★ ★ ★

Re-elected to the board of directors were Mr. Gardner, Mrs. Osmun, Mr. Smith, Mr. Benham, Mrs. Leslie Seay, Mrs. Hiram Smith, Mrs. Stickney, William Brace and Mrs. Charles Uligian.

Newly elected board members include John Kamego, Mrs. Neil Crowe, Mrs. Robert Morse and Mrs. Earl Floyd.

OTHERS SERVING

Other board members serving this year will be Mr. Jarvis, Dr. Lynn Allen Jr., Mrs. Raymond Ballard, Mrs. Melvin Boersma, William McLean, Andrew Montgomery, Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson, Maurice Thome, Mrs. David Warrilow, Bernice Watson, Theodore Wiersema and John Wilson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Donald Beck, the council's executive director, arranged the meeting.

The local council is a member-agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund. It provides leisure-time activities for all interested girls 7 to 18 years of age.

Friends Saying Farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Windler

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Windler of Birmingham are being feted with many parties before they leave for their new home in Hinsdale, Ill., Feb. 3.

A large brunch was given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Bannon of Ardmore Road who, together with the Duncan Hamners and Richard Sloans, were hosts.

Recently supper and bridge parties have been given by Mrs. Charles Coffin, Mrs. Lawrence Falvey and Mrs. F. Chalmers Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Ball, Mr. and Mrs. George Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Thom Risk, Mr. and Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Maxine Baumhart also have entertained.

Tuesday night Mrs. A. Dale Kirk honored the Windlers with a dinner party in her home on Colonial Court.

Others who have scheduled lunch and dinner parties are Mrs. James Barnwell, Mrs. Mrs. James Briegel and Mr. David Meeker, Mr. and and Mrs. Frank Linder.

On Saturday evening a joint buffet supper party will be put on by the Windlers' neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Williams on Pine Street.

Mrs. Roy E. Stringer of Bloomfield Hills is visiting Rochester, Minn., to spend a week with her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Fredric Hildebrand and their three sons.

EUROPEAN TRIP

The Bloomfield Art Association members have scheduled a three-weeks European tour. They will leave here April 22. Beginning in Rome, they will travel by bus through parts of Italy, spending a few days in Florence and Venice.

Travel to other places will be by air in order to allow time for visits to Vienna, Paris, Nice and finally, Madrid. The group will leave Madrid and fly directly to the Detroit Metropolitan airport, arriving May 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ahrens, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Stratton Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Averill, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Knowles Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Robinson are among those who will make the trip.

Is It Proper to Exchange Silver Gift?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: For our wedding, my husband's parents gave us our sterling silver flatware. I don't like the pattern at all (it is very ornate) and does not go with our very simple china.

Would it be proper to exchange it for a pattern I do like? If so, do I exchange it without consulting them or should I ask their permission to do so, or should I keep it regardless of my dislike?

A: You should not exchange the silver without their knowledge, and before doing anything, discuss it first with your husband who knows the sensitivity of his parents and whether or not they will be hurt if you asked them to change it for another pattern.

Q: I am going to be married in April and am having trouble with the wording of my wedding invitations. My future in-laws think that their names should appear on the invitations as my mother and father are deceased. I feel that my sister and brother-in-law with whom I have been living for the past five years, should be given the honor. Will you please tell me in whose names the invitations should be sent?

A: The invitations must go out in the names of your sister and brother-in-law and would be completely wrong if sent in the names of your future in-laws.

Q: Recently, one of the executives of the company at which I am employed, and his wife, held open house for the personnel and their husbands and wives.

Two days later a card of thanks from the hostess appeared on the bulletin board thanking the employes for attending her party. Wasn't this a strange thing to do?

A: It was most unusual but certainly not a serious breach of etiquette.

Charity Begins Next Door

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I believe in being a good neighbor, but I think my husband has been overdoing the good neighbor policy.

ABBY

For the past three years our house has been in a state of being "remodeled." We have holes in the floor, unpaneled walls, untiled floors, doorless and drawerless cupboards. Our driveway needs to be paved and our faucets all leak.

Yet my husband finds time to build fences for the neighbors, fix their TV sets, spread concrete and what not.

When he isn't volunteering, they are coming over and getting him. I am proud of my husband because he is a handy man to have around, but he's never around.

MR. FIXIT'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: The only reason a man will knock himself out doing odd jobs for the neighbors when his own fence needs mending is quite simple. He likes the "thanks" they give him.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine passed away some time ago. He weighed around 230 pounds and was about six feet, six inches tall. What I would like to know is, how did they get him into a six-foot casket?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: There are caskets of all sizes and also caskets made to order, so there is no reason to assume that a man six-foot-six was buried in a six-foot casket.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and am considered a reliable baby-sitter. The lady next door has a two-year-old child with whom I have sat many times. I was asked to sit with their baby from 7 in the morning until midnight on Saturday because they intended to go out of town.

I agreed and got up at 6:30 to take the job. At five of 7 she called and said, "We decided not to go so we don't need you. Ha Ha." I turned down a date to our football game and the big dance afterwards for this job because I needed the money.

Other sitters have been canceled out at the last minute, too. How would the lady like it if the sitter called five minutes before she was due to show up and said, "I just got a date and can't come. Ha Ha!" What is your advice?

JUST PLAIN ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: Anyone's plans can change suddenly. However, if signals are switched on you more than once, refuse to sit for the person who stood you up.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FAMILY SECRETARY": To each his own, but I think students should get their own reference books. If I were to ask all my readers (over 40 years of age) whose mothers went to the library to get reference books for their children, I doubt if I would get a dozen letters.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's new booklet, "HOW TO WRITE LETTERS FOR ALL OCCASIONS."

Three Are Honored at Auxiliary Meeting

Members of the Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital met Wednesday afternoon in the Ottawa Drive home of Mrs. Maxwell L. Shadley.

Mr. and Mrs. Don S. Erkfritz, honored guests, were presented with token gifts by the auxiliary in appreciation of the cochairmanship of the 1962 High Fever Follies "Terrific 20s."

Sharing honors at the meeting was Mrs. Roberta Tripp, charter member and former treasurer of the auxiliary. She organized the Play Ladies and the Story Book Ladies in the pediatrics department and has suggested many improvements in hospital buildings.

A poem in tribute to Mrs. Tripp, written by Mrs. Edward Mann and Mrs. Donald A. Barker, Play Ladies of long standing was read.

Mrs. William McClure recalled a few highlights of early Follies productions.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Charles J. Barrett, social chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Arthur C. Young and Mrs. Harold A. Furlong, cochairmen of the day, and Mrs. Mac T. Whitfield, Mrs. James C. Clarke and Mrs. Herman Stenbuck.

★ ★ ★

Serving were Mrs. Harold Euler and Mrs. John J. Marra. Mrs. H. Russel Holland and Mrs. William H. Bedard presided at the tea table.

Fat Bank Book's Best Ulcer Preventative

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband is a free-lance photographer, and our income varies from month to month. This month we had $750, last month, $1,334.

Last year Bill had a serious ulcer operation, and we're still paying some of those expenses — $143 a month. Also, his special diet is costly.

Our rent is $213 a month, but Bill uses part of our home for a studio. His necessary cabs and personal expenses run about $70.

★ ★ ★

We aren't saving a red penny, and this is worrying Bill right into another ulcer. Can you help us get organized?

Mrs. T. M., Chicago

Dear Mrs. M.: Let's assume an average of $1,000 a month, and shoot for that. Your rent, medical bill and Bill's expenses we can't tamper with. Your food bill, with a special diet, probably will hit $170 a month.

Clothing, $100; future medical expenses, $40 a month; insurance at least $30 (I hope.) This adds up to $766. Add another $50 a month for savings.

This leaves you a touch less than $200 for household operating costs, recreation and vacation, and a personal allotment for you. Which doesn't sound exactly like hardship to me.

Most people yearn for variety — and here you have it 12 months a year! No two months alike. Learn to sway with the financial breezes.

There may well be some lean months that will defy any budget you set up. That's when you trim the recreation and vacation allowance, perhaps pare down the food and clothes budget.

But whatever you do, hang onto that regular savings plan. When you pay off that $143 a month medical bill and start feeding some of it into your savings account, aim at $100 a month, at least.

Dear Miss Feeley: My father left my brother and me some property, 12 acres, which once seemed a good investment. However, things have changed, the town is moving in the opposite direction, and now we're just paying taxes on land we can't use and can't sell.

I want to let the property go by default, and put that $120 a year tax money into a savings account. But my brother is being very stubborn about it, says it may be worth something someday.

Don't you think that's pie in the sky?

Bertha D., St. Louis

Dear Bertha: It sure isn't a bird in the hand. If you haven't anything more realistic to go on than brother's wishful thinking, then why don't you just bank your $60-half of the tax money, and let him pay the full amount himself?

Ensemble to Perform at Concert

The Detroit Arts String and Percussion Ensemble, made up of members of the Detroit Sympony Orchestra, will present a concert 8:15 p.m. Jan. 25 at Michigan State University Oakland.

★ ★ ★

The program includes works by Beethoven, Bartok and Colgrass. It is part of the Oakland Community Arts Council Lecture-Concert Series.

★ ★ ★

Admission to the concert, in the Oakland center, is free to MSUO students and to series ticket holders. Tickets for others will be available at the door, according to Dr. Robert Holmes, Oakland coordinator of lecture - concert series.

Women Plan to Send Gifts

Sylvan Shores Women's Club met at the home of Mrs. William Herrmann Monday for work on cancer dressings.

Members decided to send birthday gifts to patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanitorium in March.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"I recently found some material from India which was labeled 'Guaranteed to Bleed.' What in the world does this mean? No one here seems to know." Mrs. M. A. G.

Dear Mrs. M. A. G.:

Indian Madras is an old favorite especially popular for sportswear. This fabric is hand woven in Madras, India, and is usually woven in multi-colored stripes, checks and plaids. The colored dye will run or "bleed" when laundered, giving a muter look to the fabric, which adds beauty as well as authenticity. American-made copies, which adopt the Madras colorings are color-fast.

PEPPY COVER

"When you recover your ironing board, how about using a bright checked denim? Since one length of fabric will make two covers, it is not only economical but brightens ironing days." Mrs. J. B.

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"Could you please tell me how to alter a pattern for a high bustline. I know the darts have to be changed but don't know quite how to go about it." Mrs. K. K.

Dear Mrs. K. K.:

As I have mentioned before, the end of the dart should come approximately ½-inch below the tip of the bust. If you have to raise the underarm dart, it is best not to change the widest part of the dart; simply raise the end marking (which will make the dart have a slight angle). For the dart which begins at the waistline and goes straight up to the bust, you may simply make it slightly longer.

SAVE THE CUFFS

"To ease the fraying of trouser cuffs from heel friction of the shoes, whip a five-inch strip of matching grosgrain ribbon, ¾-inch wide, to the underside of the back part of the cuff."

Mrs. M. O. James, Portland, Ore., is the Tailor Trix pressing board winner of the week with this suggestion.

"Dear Eunice,

"Your sewing tips are an inspiration and, although I think I sew fairly well, there is hardly a week when I don't learn something new. I have a winter coat which buttons up to the neckline and has a Peter Pan collar. The top edge of the coat refuses to lie flat, it just curls back and looks sloppy. Is it correct to use some kind of fastener under the collar?"

Mrs. M. T.

Dear Mrs. M. T.:

Yes, you have the right idea. This can happen on dresses, suits and coats. I would suggest a small, woven loop made to match your garment be applied to the edge of your coat. You may conceal a small button under the collar which will be invisible and yet keep your garment neat looking when buttoned.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Released pleats: This is a small fold which adds ease to your garment (usually the skirt). They are made instead of darts and they are folded at the waistline and unstitched. They give slightly more ease to the skirt than darts.

Now that you are beginning to sew for spring, you must have floods of new questions and sewing tips. Please send them to me so that we may share them with all of our readers. Send your mail to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Momany-Freese Vows Exchanged at Mass

Sandra May Freese exchanged vows with Gary Lee Momany during a nuptial Mass offered by Rev. Charles E. Cushing Saturday noon in St. Michael's Church.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Freese of Scottwood Avenue, the bride appeared in floor-length white Chantilly lace over taffeta, with chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held by a pearl and sequin tiara. She carried a cascade of white carnations, pink rosebuds and Stephanotis.

Wearing cotillion blue were maid of honor, Monica Maddox and bridesmaids Mrs. William Sherrod of Lake Orion and Mrs. David Metternick. Their bouquets were blue-tipped white carnations. Julie Ann Halpin was flower girl.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Basil Momany of Clintonville Road and the late Mr. Momany, had William Junglas for his best man. Rollo Freese, brother of the bride, and David Metternick ushered.

An afternoon reception was held in the AMVETS hall on Oakland Avenue. The newlyweds will live in Pontiac.

Ladder Stays Put

DEAR POLLY — To prevent your stepladder from slipping while doing repair jobs around the house put the ladder's legs in old gym shoes. MRS. C. T.

DEAR POLLY — When you find it is necessary to put two card tables together for extra company, hold the tables together with strong rubber bands on adjoining legs. This eliminates danger of spills because the tables can't slip apart. MRS. J. E. L.

DEAR POLLY — Since many of the sweaters we teenagers wear are made of animal hairs, I experimented while laundering my fur blend sweaters. To the rinse water, I added one bottlecap of creme hair rinse for each sweater and was thrilled with the soft, new looking results. KRIS

DEAR POLLY — I love contour sheets but sheet sorting and bedmaking days were making two nightmare days a week, since the manufacturer's elusive little corner tape had to be folded out. With youth beds, twin beds and a double bed in the house, the problem became horrendous. I had some tubes of textile paint (available at dime stores, ballpoint tubes in all, and fast colors) which I had been using to name-tag personal belongings. I now mark all four sheet corners with neat, one-fourth inch high initials — YB for youth bottom — DT for double top and so on, using a different color for each size.

I letter paper strips — twin bed, double bed, etc. — and taped these strips to the front of the linen closet shelves. No more chugging to the master bedroom only to discover I have a youth bed bottom sheet and a twin topper. S. K.

DEAR POLLY — To make a party-size relish tray, a good idea is to secure a small bowl with florists' clay in the middle of a large chop dish. Place dip or spread in the bowl and arrange your other appetizers around the edge of the platter. ANN

Share your favorite homemaking ideas . . . send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your ideas in Polly's Pointers.

Wash Cotton

Cotton fabric needs the action of soap or detergent suds to make it look and feel really fresh and clean — and to reveal the color in all its clarity or vividness.

MONA M. RICHIE

May vows are planned by Mona M. Richie, daughter of Mrs. T. D. Richie of Highfield Road and the late Mr. Richie, and Richard C. Bowmaster, son of the Carl Bowmasters of San Diego, Calif. She attended Michigan State University and is presently enrolled at Michigan State University Oakland.

Warm Bath Easy Way

When you work or play very hard during the day, take occasional brief rest periods to keep your body from becoming overfatigued. If possible, lie down. This serves to relax your body, and also helps the circulatory system overcome gravity.

A comfortably warm bath in plenty of soapsuds is also relaxing and soothing after a day which has been fatiguing — either mentally or physically.

Besides cleansing your body, the warm suds aid the muscles to dispose of waste materials produced during heavy activity.

Mothers Do, Too

All Need Pals Same Age

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I have always thought that monkeys are the most fascinating animals to watch. Recently I read some amazing new facts about them.

Harry and Margaret Kuenne Harlow, psychologists at the University of Wisconsin, have found that young monkeys must play with others their own age or they will not develop normally. They do not perform well when they are isolated with their mothers.

The effects of isolation (without social experience with those of the same age) were most damaging during the first two to six months. Six months for a monkey is equivalent to two years for a child.

I must have sensed this, not about monkeys, but about children. My husband was in the oil business for quite a few years and we changed homes frequently. I always looked at a house we might lease first from the viewpoint of the neighborhood and then from the appearance of the house.

I never looked inside the house, however, until I asked the prospective neighbors how many children there were in the neighborhood and what their ages were.

Now I am going to present an idea in which I believe, but which would be difficult to survey. I think EVERYONE needs some companionship with those of the same age. Senior citizens need it. Teen-agers need it. Mothers who are tied to their homes because of young children need it (and often do not get it.)

Along with our contemporaries, my husband and I have always had "special people," especially loved and enjoyed, of all ages. Some are much younger and some are much older. Of course, this is a perfect situation and we have been lucky.

DON'T FEEL GUILTY

But I keep thinking about the woman in the home who spends all or most of her days with her young fry. No matter how much you love them, do not feel guilty if you become bored. After a week of this you have every right to find the thought of a strait-jacket restful.

A young mother needs to get away periodically for a few hours a week, to find herself as an individual. She will profit by it and so will her husband and her children.

Whether it is a relative, a kind neighbor, a baby sitter or the husband who takes over for a few hours, doesn't matter. You should be allowed to "get away from it all" some way.

Have a Mind of Their Own

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Robin King has a theory about inanimate objects. They hate people, says he. As a result, the mean things make people angry.

He has a whole alphabet full of them. Take "B" — for buttons. He says they fall off, roll under tables. Drawers are mean because they wrinkle shirts, they stick, they fall on toes. King's ABC of mean things — "The Angry Book" is for children. He lists "washing" as a mean thing invented by parents.

Orphans Find New Home

BY GEOFFREY HO

HONG KONG (AP) — Like many other refugees from Communist China, Choy Ling came to this British colony penniless, jobless and a total stranger. Still worse, she was blind.

Choy arrived here from the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao a few years ago in the hope of finding a job, but wound up in a doorway along the waterfront singing, knitting and fortune-telling for a living.

When business was good, she could afford to rent a bedspace; but during lean months, she had to sleep on stairs or in doorways.

She lived in hunger, loneliness, uncertainty, fear and helplessness until she was admitted to the hostel for young homeless and handicapped girls.

TAKES CARE OF 32

Founded by Mrs. Renate Hellwig Kerr, a German refugee from Shanghai, and supported by the Church World Service, the hostel at present takes care of 32 young girls who are alone and unable to fend for themselves. Their ages range from 12 to 26.

Seven of the girls are blind, two have lost an arm in accidents and one cannot walk normally because of a short leg.

Some of the girls go to school, others embroider or knit sweaters, gloves and dresses. The girls with only one arm knit almost as rapidly as the others, with one needle tucked in an armpit.

Being under no pressure to produce, each works at her own pace but the fastest earns as much as $35 a month, considerably more than the average income of Hong Kong factory workers.

GIRLS HELP OTHERS

The girls do not have to pay for their living accommodation or the material they use in their work and most of them send money, food and medical supplies to their relatives still in Communist China. Some help their brothers and sisters through school in Hong Kong.

The girls lead a normal social life. They are free to go out in the evenings and on weekends. Boy friends may be invited in on Sundays. Nine girls have married and left since the hostel opened in 1957. They occasionally bring in their children to show them off to their old friends.

Mrs. Kerr came to Hong Kong with her husband and two daughters when the Chinese Communists swept across northeastern China in 1949. She taught English to young Chinese girls. Most of them were refugees from China and they studied English for the purpose of finding employment. In the meantime, they learned to knit in order to earn a few dollars.

FACTORY BACKS OUT

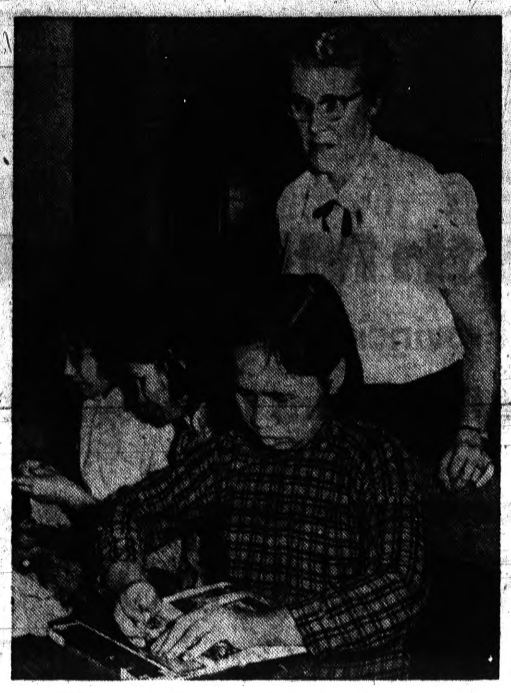
One day, the local agent for a yarn mill in England asked Mrs. Kerr if she would start a small knitting factory unit to produce clothes with the mill's yarn for sale in England. Then and there, Mrs. Kerr saw a way of providing young homeless and handicapped girls with a home and a source of regular income. The hostel was born.

Then the yarn factory lost interest and withdrew support. In 1959 when the hostel ran into financial difficulties, the Church World Service promised to assume responsibility.

U.S. TO RESCUE

The hostel was threatened again recently when the Hong Kong government served notice that the area in which the hostel is located had to be cleared for a resettlement housing project.

The American consulate general in Hong Kong made a grant of $49,000 toward building a new hostel to house not only 32 girls but others on the waiting list. The hostel for Hong Kong's once more forgotten girls was saved



Housemother for the homeless is Mrs. Renate Kerr. Above Mrs. Kerr looks over the work of blind girls living in hostel she founded.

Cream Dry Skin Often

For exceptionally dry skin, try this: spread a film of light oil over your throat and face. Then follow up by applying dense soap lather with circular motions, using lukewarm water. Finish up with a warm rinse.

This Working Mother Defended for Effort

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I am separated from my husband. As he usually forgets to send support money for our 8-year-old boy, I work to make sure that we eat.

Yesterday, when I got home a neighbor telephoned me to say that if I couldn't take better care of him I shouldn't have had him.

She said it was shameful the way he had to hang around her yard with her kids after school because I wasn't home. I can give up our apartment and go home to my parents, if you think it would be a good thing.

ANSWER: Stop trying to qualify yourself for somebody's best-mother-of-the-year award.

You're doing the best you can by your child, so stop belittling your best. It's a good best with me — and I bet it might look like a pretty good best to this critical neighbor if she were told about the kind of care you are giving your boy by working all day to earn him the primitive essentials of food, shelter and winter clothing.

Why don't you tell her about it? And when you've enlightened her, how about offering to pay her for supervising your youngster between the time he gets home from school and the time you get home from work?

She might refuse, of course, just as you might realize that she is not the person with whom you want to leave your son.

I would like to see you consider this critical lady because her criticism of you may derive from genuine concern for your boy. If you straighten her out on this suspicion of your neglect, it is possible that her understanding will reach out to embrace you as well as him. And you will have made yourself a special kind of friend.

The idea of retreating to your parents' home is part of your distrust of the kind of care you are giving your boy. This distruct is the besetting problem of mothers in your situation.

It derives from their insistence on measuring their motherhood against the kind provided by women whose husbands fulfill their fatherhood.

As they don't possess such husbands, they get a false measurement. They are so intent on what they are unable to give their children that they lose all sight of the value of what they are able to give. It isn't fair to anyone.

Work Gloves Stand Wash

New knit-lined work gloves for the housewife protect hands performing watery chores or handling caustic cleansing and polishing agents.

The new gloves are of neoprene, a material resisting abrasion and damage from oils, acids, greases, fertilizers, water, air or sun rot. The gloves can be tossed in the washer any number of times to freshen the linings.

Although the name "centipede" means "having a hundred feet," these small animals which look like caterpillars may have from 15 to 170 pairs of legs.

Sour Cream Topping Covers Cheese Pie

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

It has been interesting to watch the rising interest in cheesecake recipes. We have one for you today that the cook calls a pie, but what's in a name?

Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple works with food all the time in her job, yet manages to retain her interest in it after hours. She says her 12-year-old daughter often makes this Cheese Pie.

CHEESE PIE
By Mrs. Ellen Dalrymple

1¼ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup melted butter

Mix well and press onto bottom and sides of 8-inch pie pan.

1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon vanilla
Dash of salt
2 eggs

Combine cheese, sugar, lemon juice, vanilla and salt. Mix well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Turn into crumb-lined pan.

Bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes. Remove from oven and cool 5 minutes.

1 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Combine and spread over warm pie. Cool, then chill until serving time. May be garnished with strawberries if desired.

Upper Air's Circulation Creating Bitter Winter Weather

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO—Air circulation may not be an ear-perking conversational tidbit, but it's having a jolting impact this winter on millions of residents of the United States, the British Isles and Western Europe.

The circulation of the upper air has determined the targets in a series of global blows struck by a winter which, although only one-third completed, has been the most vicious in years.

A steady procession of cold waves has rolled down into the central United States, spreading freezing weather into the crop growing areas of the deep South and Southern California.

Western Europe and the British Isles have had 33 consecutive days of freezing weather. The severe cold has filled hospitals with stricken patients and produced serious fuel and food shortages in many places.

The story has been different in Alaska. Temperatures in that normal ice-box region have been running well above zero and often above the freezing mark.

Why the topsy-turvey pattern?

Weather forecasters explain that there always is an inexhaustible supply of cold air over the arctic region in the winter. It either stays there or is moved somewhere else by air currents. If it moves away, more builds up rapidly in the region where there is much snow and little or no sunlight.

A ridge of high-pressure air stalled off the West Coast has caused the severe weather affecting most areas of the United States.

Air has circulated from north to south, east of this ridge, spreading polar air across much of the United States and Canada. A south to north air flow, west of the ridge, has been carrying warm air up the Pacific Ocean and into Alaska, displacing the cold air there.

CONTINUED COLD

The West Coast's high pressure ridge shows no sign of moving on and the long range weather forecast through Feb. 15 calls for below normal temperatures in most of the northern two-thirds of the United States.

Nor is there any sign of a letup in the severe cold caused by a north to south air flow over Western Europe.

The speed of air circulation also determines the intensity of the cold. The circulation has been unusually strong over the United States this winter.

Readings near or more than 50 degrees below zero have been recorded in the northern Rockies, northern plains and in Wisconsin. Winnipeg, Man., had a dozen consecutive days of subzero weather.

The strong circulation also has been a factor in carrying freezing weather into the lower Rio Grande Valley and southern California where losses to citrus and tender vegetables have run into the millions of dollars.

New York City and some coastal areas along the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans have escaped much of the severe cold. New York City has had an average temperature of 34.2 degrees the first three weeks of January compared with a normal 33.2 for the month.

Western Europe's winter has been an ugly mixture of snow, ice and cold. It has been blamed for more than 100 deaths. Hundreds of highways in Britain and western Europe have been blocked by snow drifts. Harbors normally open all winter have been frozen over.

Model Menu:

Dish of Peaches and Screams

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a high fashion model gets tired of hearing:

BOYLE

"Why do you girls all have to look like beanpoles?"

"Oh, come on, Gladys, and have a peach melba for dessert. One won't show on you."

"I'm afraid we will have to shoot the pictures all over. You forgot to powder your nose."

"I hear she gets $75 an hour. But she only works about 10 hours a year."

★ ★ ★

"Okay, so you say she's slender—I still say she's skinny. She makes me think of spaghetti."

"Listen, kiddo, did anybody ever tell you that you belong in the movies? I've got a cousin who—."

"The trouble with models is that they put one expression on their face in the morning, and make it last all day."

AND MORE

"Her real ambition is to be an actress, but in her biggest role so far she played a background noise—on radio."

"Gladys Smirk? Gladys Smirk? Somehow, baby, I can't quite see that name in lights. How about changing it to Kim Smirk?"

"We need a fresh-faced college girl type for this one, Gladys. I'm afraid you're a little over the hill for that."

"I don't think she looks sophisticated. I just think she looks starved."

★ ★ ★

"They all start out on the cover of Vogue—and they all wind up in the girdle ads in Good Housekeeping."

"Honestly, Gladys, I'm sure you will like him. He's a real intellectual—and, besides, he owns a department store."

"What's romantic about a job like that? After all, they're nothing but clothes horses—and they don't even own the clothes."

★ ★ ★

"Yep, you can always tell a fashion model. They all carry a hat bag and got that kinda washed-out look."

"All I did was ask her would she like a piece of chocolate cake—and she fainted."

"Nothing for you today, Gladys. Please don't bother to call us We'll call you."

Alex G. Bell Saves the Day

DETROIT (AP)—Weather like this sends people to the telephone more than ever.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. gave some figures yesterday in evidence.

For the 24-hour period of Monday the calls in the Detroit Exchange area totaled 10,049,199—a record for such a period. The previous record was set last Dec. 31, a bad day, too, with 9,900,000 calls.

Obviously, the weather alone must be responsible, said a Michigan Bell spokesman.

Allow Lentil Soup to Simmer Slowly for Delicious Flavor

There is nothing like a hot, hearty soup to take the chill out of winter days and warm up your family and friends. And when it comes to soups, there is nothing like a homemade brew to test your creative cookery and to treat your guests.

Here is an old-fashioned type of homemade soup that will appeal to the men especially. It's easy to make, yet brimming with a delightful blend of appetizing flavors. You can substitute dried beans for the lentils and chicken stock, turkey stock, ham stock, or a ham bone for the beef stock.

Lentil Soup

1½ cups dried lentils
6 cups cold water
1 cup chopped onions
4 ounces salt pork, cubed
½ garlic clove, chopped
4 cups beef stock
2 cups chopped celery
1 cup diced carrots
2 whole cloves
2 bay leaves
2¼ teaspoons salt
Dash of pepper
3-4 tablespoons vinegar

Pick over lentils. Cover well with water and soak overnight. Pour off and measure water, adding enough to make 6 cups. Add lentils. Saute chopped onions, cubed salt pork, and chopped garlic until onions are transparent. Add to lentils and water, and combine with beef stock, chopped celery, diced carrots, cloves, bay leaves, salt, and pepper in a heavy kettle.

★ ★ ★

Cover and simmer about 4 hours or until lentils are soft. Add vinegar and additional salt and pepper, if desired. Yield: 8 to 12 servings.

Bake Frozen Corn

Frozen corn on the cob becomes a real "roasting ear" when you bake it in the oven. Do not defrost the corn — just spread with softened butter or margarine, sprinkle with salt (and pepper if desired) and wrap each ear in heavy duty aluminum foil or a double thickness of regular foil. Twist ends to seal and place in hot oven (400 degrees F.) to bake an hour. Delicious!

Thick Soup Appeals in Cold Weather

Scandinavian Pea Soup

1 pound (2 cups) quick-cooking yellow split peas
Cold water
Ham bone
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon baking soda (if needed)
Salt and pepper

Soak peas in cold water to cover overnight; soaking shortens cooking time. Drain; add 6 cups cold water, ham bone and ginger. If the water you use is hard, add baking sofa.

Remove ham bone; cut off any meat; dice and return to soup with salt and pepper to taste.

Buttermilk Sherbet for Berry Lovers

Either fresh or frozen strawberries may be used. Wash 1 pint of fresh strawberries, slice into a bowl, sprinkle with sugar, and marinate 1 hour at room temperature. Then crush and drain the berries, reserving the liquid. Or drain a package of frozen strawberries and save the juice. Add water to the juice, if needed, to yield about 1 cup.

Soften 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin in 1-3 cup of the strawberry juice. Dissolve over hot water and pour into 1½ cups buttermilk. Add ½ cup more berry juice, ½ cup sugar and a dash of lemon juice. Pour mixture into a refrigerator tray and freeze until mushy.

Spoon icy mixture into a bowl, beat until smooth, and fold in the crushed strawberries. Return sherbet to the refrigerator tray and freeze until firm. Garnish with whole strawberries.

Extra flavor: add crisp little piece of cooked bacon to a corn bread mixture before baking.

Peanut Stuffed Eggs

Remove yolks of hard cooked eggs; mash yolks, add enough mayonnaise to soften plus a dash of Tabasco and a dash of Worcestershire sauce; add finely chopped peanuts, about ½ cup chopped neanuts to 6 stuffed eggs. Blend well; fill egg white halves; chill and serve as hors d'oeuvres or as a salad.

Ginger Ale Is Fine Addition

Served on beds of crisp watercress, these little emerald salads look like they are nestled in a bed of shamrocks!

Make lime-flavored gelatin using gingerale for the one cup cold liquid, and 1 cup canned fruit cocktail syrup, heated to boiling, for the hot liquid; add one drop mint extract, a little grated lemon rind and 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice. When slightly thickened, fold in drained canned fruit cocktail and chill until firm.

A small jar of mixed fruit peels in the house? Use the peels, along with nutmeat, in a quick bread.

Apricot Nectar Gives Golden Glow to Cake

A quick trick for an unusual cake, golden and glowing. Prepare your favorite yellow cake mix, substituting apricot nectar for liquid. Bake as directed.

When cool, frost and fill with a powdered sugar, butter, apricot nectar frosting. For an extra special touch, garnish with toasted flaked coconut!

Coffee Break Snacks

Try these crisp coffee goodies for a mid-morning snack. Cut unsliced bread into one-inch thick fingers. Spread with a mixture of ¾ cup EACH butter and brown sugar. 1 tablespoon milk and ½ teaspoon instant coffee powder. Roll in finely-chopped almonds and bake on cooky sheet in moderate oven about 15 minutes. Serve warm.

Will Get 3 or 4 More State House Seats

County Voice to Get Louder

By JIM DYGERT

By the time the next general election rolls around in November 1964, Oakland County probably will be electing nine state representatives instead of six.

★ ★ ★

Royal Oak would become a separate legislative district and the county's 3rd and 4th districts would be virtually split in half, according to present expectations in the State House of Representatives.

Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Township, is chairman of the House Apportionment Committee and Rep. Arthur J Law, D-Pontiac, a member of the committee.

Reapportionment of the 110 House seats will be accomplished this year as required by Michigan's present constitution, Hogan, Law and Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, R-Waterford Township, agree.

★ ★ ★

But it probably will be deferred until the legislature's special fall session. The proposed new state constitution, if approved by voters April 1, would change the existing apportionment formula slightly.

SENATE CHANGES

Reapportionment of the 34-member State Senate will not come until the U.S. Supreme Court rules on a Michigan Supreme Court decision holding that the Senate must reapportion under the old constitution.

The new constitution would provide a new formula for Senate districts that would give Oakland County two or three senators instead of one. But even this conceivably could be nullified by the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling on the proper formula.

Oakland County is sure to get three additional House seats, possibly even four, under the 1960 census Hogan and Anderson say. The county's population was 690,603 that year.

The present six districts were based on a 1950 population of 396,001.

Under the constitutional formula of roughly 1 per cent of the state's population for each district, the ideal population figure for a legislative district is about 78,000.

The county's third and fourth districts now are the two largest in the state. The third district has about 131,000 and the fourth about 152,000.

Hogan represents the third and Rep. Raymond L. Baker, R-Berkley, the fourth.

MORE CHANGES

According to current thinking on the main outline for realignment of county districts, one new district would be formed from a large share of the existing third district plus a part of the existing first district (northern half of the county except Pontiac.)

A second new district would be formed from almost half of the existing fourth district plus part of the third district.

The third new district would take its area from the existing fourth, fifth and sixth districts.

Royal Oak, now the largest part of the fifth district, would become the entire district.

Major effects of the changes would be concentrated in the southern two-fifths of the county.

Some variations in this general plan for changing to nine districts may take place before reapportionment is finally approved.

Assignment of four more House seats for a total of ten in the county also would necessitate adjustments.

★ ★ ★

An important voice in the final realignment of county districts will come from the County Board of Supervisors, which will make recommendations to the legislature.

Only district that would not be changed is Law's second district, the City of Pontiac.

Scientists Develop Birth Control Drug

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet women scientists have developed a new birth control pill described by Tass as more effective than any in existence.

The Soviet news agency said the contraceptive chemical, called Luthenurin, has proved effective in 377 out of 390 cases, with no harmful side effects.

The pill was developed by Serafima Vechkanova, a microbiologist, and Tamara Ilyinskaya, a chemist.

LT. DONALD K. KRATT

Sheriff Names New Lieutenant

Oakland County Sheriff Frank W. Irons has announced the promotion of Deputy Sgt. Donald K. Kratt to the rank of lieutenant.

The promotion is effective immediately. Lt. Kratt has been a sergeant for the past three years.

He will continue his duties as director of the department's safety division and water patrol.

Kratt, 32, joined the department in 1954 and was instrumental in developing the water patrol under Irons' leadership.

Since its origin, the sheriff's water safety and enforcement program has gained national recognition.

Kratt was named safety division director in February 1959.

A resident of Waterford Township, Kratt and his wife Barbara live at 3475 Whitfield St. They have two children.

Pontiac City Affairs

To Open Bids on Renewal Loans

City officials will open bids next Tuesday on the first sale of preliminary loan notes to finance operations in Pontiac's second urban renewal project.

A resolution passed last night by the City Commission authorizes City Manager Robert A. Stierer to notify urban renewal officials in Chicago of low bidders for the $1.84 million in loan notes.

Low bids must be approved by the Chicago office before the sale can be awarded by commissioners. The notes mature in six months.

In other business, commissioners approved a recommendation from the planning commission calling for the city to vacate a portion of an alley running west from University Avenue between Walton Boulevard and Lehigh Street.

Commissioners also concurred with a planning commission recommendation to reduce right of way from 20 to 15 feet in an alley on the northwest and southwest sides of lots at the corner of Oakland Avenue and Wisner Street.

Proposals for both items will be prepared for action at a future meeting.

ASK REZONING DENIAL

Also up for approval was a planning commission recommendation to deny rezoning of property from commercial to manufacturing at the southeast corner of South Boulevard and Franklin Road.

The property owner, who attended the meeting, said he wanted the building rezoned so he could lease it to an interested manufacturer. Owners of property nearby opposed rezoning.

Commissioners referred the matter back to the planning commission with a recommendation that it be placed before the zoning board of appeals which could grant a manufacturing use of the property on a nonconforming basis.

No objections were voiced at a public hearing on the proposed vacating of an alley separating lots on the north side of Fisher Street between Bagley Street and the Clinton River.

Last week tentative approval was given an ordinance rezoning the lots for commercial use.

Final approval of the rezoning and vacating will be deferred pending the owner's submitting of definite plans for construction of a roller skating rink on the land.

CONFIRM PAYMENTS

The special assessment roll for a completed water main in a portion of Bay Street was confirmed in three payments.

Another special assessment roll for grading and graveling an extension of Sarasota Avenue was accepted and scheduled for a public hearing Feb. 5.

City Attorney William A. Ewart presented the commission with deeds to portions of several properties the city is purchasing to widen Wrenn Street.

The Circuit Court appointment of Nick Bianco as administrator of a retail beer and wine (SDM) license at 309 Orchard Lake Ave., formerly owned by the late Eftimias Vasiliou, met with commission approval despite strong protest from Commissioner Milton R. Henry.

Vasiliou was slain by bandits in his store last July. The license hasn't been operative since his death, and commission approval is necessary in such cases so the license can be disposed of as a liquid asset in his estate.

Further approval of change in ownership will be required if and when the SDM-licensed establishment is sold.

Last night's approval came by a 6-1 vote. Henry objected on grounds that there were already too many beer and liquor licenses in his district (Dist. 1) where the grocery store is located.

PAY TRIBUTE

Resolutions also were passed last night paying tribute to the late O. L. Beaudette, long-time Pontiac resident and auto industry pioneer; James F. Spence, former Pontiac mayor and more recently a member of the city's tax board of review; and John Huss, of Ann Arbor, director of the Michigan Municipal League.

All three men died recently.

Unable to Save Million Due to Regulations

TORONTO (AP) — The Toronto Transit Commission lost a chance to save $1 million because Leyland Motors of England used a cablegram to submit its bid to furnish 113 new buses.

The commission ruled Tuesday that the bid could not be accepted because it was not sealed. Leyland had offered the buses for $24,008 each. The only other bid was from General Motors, quoting a price of $35,094 per bus.

2 Pontiac People Fined for Illegal Liquor Sale

Mrs. William Walker, 161 Branch St., was fined $25 in Municipal Court yesterday for the illegal sale of liquor at the Green Door Club, 82 Branch St., Dec. 1.

Richard Boykins, 76 Branch St., also was fined $25 for aiding and abetting in the sale.

Seeks Voice at County's GOP Confab

Conservatives who provided the only controversy at the August convention of the Oakland County Republican party will be back again at the Jan. 30 convention.

Larry S. Davidow said he will speak on whatever issues are under discussion "if I'm permitted to speak by the dictatorship." Davidow, an attorney, is a precinct delegate from Huntington Woods.

"I hope enough articulate conservative opinion is expressed to be persuasive," Davidow said.

As leader of a small group at the August Republican County Convention, Davidow had planned to present an alternate platform, but was headed off when a motion to close debate passed by a narrow margin.

Davidow objected strenuously to the move, calling it "unfair, shameful and disgraceful."

A move by Davidow to add himself and four others to the list of nominees for state convention seats also failed.

Davidow indicated he will be particularly concerned about any resolution dealing with a state income tax.

"I'm opposed to a state income tax" he said.

★ ★ ★

Opposition to the income tax was the main difference between his proposed platform and the one adopted by convention delegates last August.

Detroit Psychiatrist Named to State Group

LANSING (AP) — Dr. Alexander Hirschfeld, Detroit psychiatrist, has been named to succeed Dr. Harry Zemmer, deceased, on the State Commission for the Aging.

Dr. Hirschfeld was named by the Michigan Health Council, which appoints one member to the 12-member group.

GM City Employes Get $4 Million in Saving Plan

A total of $4,281,357.75 in General Motors common stock, U.S. Government bonds and cash is being distributed today to 3,461 salaried employes at Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body and GMC Truck and Coach Division plants in Pontiac.

Recipients were those who participated in the 1957 program of the General Motors Savings-Stock Purchase Plan.

This year's distribution represents a return of more than $2.50 for every dollar saved.

Under the GM Savings-Stock Purchase program, all salaried employes with one or more years of continuous service are eligible to contribute up to 10 per cent of their base salary, plus cost-of-living allowance.

Half of the employe's savings is invested in U.S. Government bonds and half in GM common stock. Dividends and interest are accumulated.

The distribution today is to participants in the "class" of 1957, the second full year of the program's operation. A class is formed each year, and matures after five years.

Under the program agreement, General Motors contributes $1 for each $2 of employe savings.

Frederic G. Donner, GM board chairman, called the program a means "to encourage employes to put aside a portion of their income in a systematic manner to increase the number of employes owning General Motors stock."

The distribution of the stock, bonds and cash aong the three local divisions was $2,034,000 at GM Truck and Coach, $1,967,000 at Pontiac Motor, and $280,357.75 at Fisher Body.

WILLIAM MILLER

Young Republicans Announce Officers

Oakland County Young Republicans have elected William Miller, 29920 Briarton St., Farmington Township, as chairman for 1963-64.

Named vice chairman was Edward Van Buren, 1728 Graefield Road, Birmingham.

Robert Crink, 649 Purdy St., Birmingham, was elected treasurer. Pat McComb, 1050 N. Adams Road, Birmingham, became recording secretary, and Janet Jones, 314 N. Connecticut St., Royal Oak, is new corresponding secretary.

Miller, Van Buren and Miss McComb also were re-elected to the state board of control of Young Republican clubs.

Tax Collection Up to 70 Pct.

Waterford Township Treasurer Mrs. Dorothy Olson said today approximately 70 per cent of the township's $3,320,512 property tax billing has been collected.

Formerly Jan. 19, the deadline for ta xpayment without penalty has been extended to Feb. 14 by action of the Township Board.

As of last Saturday's original deadline, collections totaled $2,121,352, or 64 per cent of the amount billed.

Russ Have Rights on Paper Only, Says Bobby

NEW YORK (AP)— Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said yesterday civil rights guarantees in the Soviet Union's constitution "have gone the way of many a New Year's resolution."

The attorney general, in a speech to the 10th anniversary convocation of the Fund for the Republic, contrasted governmental action in civil rights in the United States and in the Soviet Union.

In this country, he said, much more remains to be done for the American Negro, the American Indian, the migrant worker and for other minorities.

He cited progress in these fields:

Education—Desegregation of 28 more Southern school districts last year after consultation between Justice Department and local officials.

★ ★ ★

Transportation — Discrimination in interstate travel has disappeared, with virtually all bus and railroad terminals desegregated in 1961 and desegregation of airports following in 1962.

★ ★ ★

Voting—Thirty-two suits were filed by the Justice Department under the 1957 civil rights law to assure the right to vote to Negroes, and voting records were inspected as a possible preliminary to such suits in 82 other cases.

★ ★ ★

Employment—An 18.3 per cent increase in the number of Negroes employed by the federal government in Civil Service grades 5 through 11 and a 33.1 per cent increase in grades 12 through 18 in the past two years.

HIDDEN TRUTH

"The headline hunter" paid particular attention to the violence over the enrollment last fall of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi, Kennedy said.

"The historian, however, will record the progress made—not only the unflinching commitment of the federal government to civil rights—but more importantly, and more notably, in the amount of voluntary compliance by Southern officials and citizens in this area," Kennedy said.

★ ★ ★

The attorney general said officials in 29 counties in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana voluntarily made voting records available to Justice Department officials.

THE OTHER HALF

"Meanwhile, back in the Kremlin's shadow, what do we find?" Kennedy asked.

"We find over 100 persons executed in the past year for economic crimes — most of them Jews," he said.

"We find Christian faiths harassed and Christian peoples persecuted.

"We find a law branding as treason any unauthorized departure from the country—and the unhappy story of a Jewish woman sentenced to be shot last February for 'currency manipulation' after a prior three-year sentence in Siberia for trying to escape to Israel."

"The British have proved a constitution need not be written. The Soviets have proved a constitution must be more than written," he said.

Play Musical Lights Instead of Chairs

BALTIMORE (AP) — Thomas Johnson, a member of an organization of fire buffs known as the Box 414 Association, removed all the old fluorescent light bulbs in the group's museum the other day, replacing them with new ones.

Then he neatly slipped the old tubes into the paper sleeves which the new ones came in, without throwing them away.

Possibly it was inevitable that another association member, Charles Price, should arrive at the museum and—having heard the bulbs needed changing—removed all the new ones and replaced them with the old.

That's Horse Trading?

ALMOND, N.Y. (AP)—The biggest deal at the 41st annual world's original horse trader's convention this year was the swapping of a female or Nanny goat for a Dalmation dog. Times have changed, pards!

School Comes to Press Readers

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Someday Pontiac is going to have an auditorium big enough for everyone who wants to attend The Pontiac Press Cooking School. Now, only a limited number of homemakers can see the demonstrations in person.

Picture, if you will, the stage at Pontiac Central High School. Not only are there footlights and overhead lights, but also special floor lights focusing on the table in the center of the stage.

Every morning Miss McKellin and Mary Meyer, her assistant, do the preliminary work for each of the ten dishes presented. Sometimes this means baking a cake that is going to be demonstrated on stage because the cake would not be baked in time for the final showing.

All the food prepared is given away as prizes at the close of each day. Some of it has to have more cooking time after its stage debut.

After the last recipe is demonstrated, each dish is brought back and presented under the lights in an appropriate setting with the proper garnish. This procedure always brings "oohs" and "ahs" from the audience.

Here are a couple of recipes that have been used the past two days at the cooking school.

Our readers never seem to have too many casserole recipes and probably will like this one presented at Tuesday's cooking school.

Company Casserole

2 pounds ground beef
1 package (8 ounces) noodles
½ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon lard or drippings
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
2 packages (3 ounces ea.) cream cheese
1-3 cup milk
2 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cook noodles according to directions on package. Brown ground beef, onions and green pepper in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, pepper, tomato sauce and mushrooms and liquid to meat mixture.

Combine the cream cheese, milk, lemon juice, garlic salt and Worcestershire sauce until smooth. Add the noodles to the cream cheese mixture.

Alternate layers of noodles and meat mixture in a 2½-quart casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes. 6 to 8 servings.

* * *

Pork shoulder butt is usually an economical cut of meat. When you dress it up with an apricot glaze, you have a really special dish.

Glazed Pork Shoulder Butt

2 to 4-pound smoked pork shoulder butt
Water
1 small onion, sliced
3 whole cloves
5 whole black peppers
2 cinnamon sticks
½ cup apricot preserves
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind

Cover meat with water. Add onion, cloves, black peppers and cinnamon sticks. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ hours. Remove meat and place on a rack in open roasting pan.

Combine apricot preserves, dry mustard and orange rind. Spread over top of meat. Bake in a slow oven (350 degrees) 25 minutes. Serve hot or chilled. 6 servings.

VOL AU VENT — An intriguing main dish will be yours if you serve creamed Polish ham and green peas in a giant-sized cream puff (that's all vol au vent is). Keep the creamed mixture hot in a double boiler until serving time.

Diced Polish Ham, Vegetable Sauce Fill Cream Puff Shell

Today's homemaker, unlike Mother Hubbard, keeps the shelves of both the cupboards and the refrigerator well supplied with foods for family meals and for those welcome but unexpected guests.

By keeping two imported canned Polish hams in the refrigerator . . . you'll have one to use and one to have on hand so that you're never without this food which can be prepared, or served "as-is" for so many meals and snacks.

This ready cooked, lean, every-bit-edible ham can be sliced, cubed, ground, diced, or served whole, hot or cold, for some of the best eating you've ever enjoyed.

A cream puff is filled with hot air. This one is filled with the tasty, bite-size morsels of Polish ham blanketed and kept hot in a colorful vegetable cream sauce.

The puff can be baked in advance and stored in a dry place for a day.

The filling is so easily prepared that it's a matter of combining the already cooked ham with a ready-cooked or quickly cooked sauce and adding the cooked peas. If you really want to telescope.

Vol Au Vent with Creamed Polish Ham

1 package cream puff mix
2 cups diced Polish Ham
1 10-oz. package frozen green peas, cooked
2 cups thick white sauce (OR can cream of mushroom soup, undiluted)

Prepare cream puff mix according to package directions, bake as one large puff in a shallow pan. Reserve baked shell to serve later or break open and serve as soon as baked, filling center with a hot mixture of remaining ingredients.

(Idea: Keep ham, soup and peas hot in top of a double boiler until ready to serve in puff).

Hide Peaches on Cake Under Meringue

Left-over cake has its face lifted in "Peach Surprises." For this festive dessert, cake is topped with juicy, golden canned cling peach halves and meringue.

Peach Surprises

6 canned cling peach halves
6 slices pound or sponge cake
Butter or margarine
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Graham cracker crumbs
4 egg whites
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
Strawberry sauce

Drain peaches. Cut cake into rounds size of peach half. Toast on both sides; spread with butter and mixture of syrup and cinnamon.

Dip peaches in remaining syrup mixture and roll in crumbs. Place peach, cup side down, on toast rounds.

Whip egg whites until barely stiff. Add sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Stir in vanilla. Cover each peach with meringue.

Bake on greased cookie sheet in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Serve with strawberry sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Strawberry Sauce Ruby Red and Clear

A delightful all-year-round strawberry sauce to serve with a soft meringue and other deserts.

Strawberry Sauce

1 package (1 pound) frozen whole strawberries
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ cup light corn syrup

Thaw strawberries according to package directions; turn them into a strainer over a measure to drain thoroughly; reserve and refrigerate berries. To the strawberry juice add enough cold water to make ¾ cup; gradually stir into cornstarch in a small saucepan, keeping smooth; stir in corn syrup.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until clear and thickened; cool. Fold in drained berries. Refrigerate until serving time. Makes about 1¾ cups.

WHAT DO DOCTORS RECOMMEND the Most For TENSE, NERVOUS HEADACHES?

ANACIN® contains the pain reliever doctors recommend most for headaches. In minutes—pain goes, so does its tension, mental fatigue and depression.

New York, N.Y. Medical reports confirm that tense, nervous headaches are by far the most common kind. They are caused by tension that presses on the nerves. But fortunately, one can get remarkable relief in minutes with this special tablet—Anacin.

Anacin not only relieves the pain, but also relaxes its tension and releases painful pressure on nerves—bringing you fast 'all-over' relief.

Anacin Tablets are so effective because they are like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of ingredients. Anacin contains the pain reliever doctors recommend the most plus an extra ingredient not found in leading aspirins or buffered aspirins. And Anacin has such a gentle action. Doesn't leave you depressed or 'let down'.

This big difference in Anacin makes the big difference in the way you feel. Always take Anacin for fast 'all-over' pain relief.

U.N. Katanga Success Boosts Its Stock as Peace Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Katanga crisis is over. What are the lessons? Several American experts on Africa agree the world has learned that an effective United Nations can do a better job at ending trouble than a big power rushing in by itself.

"One of the chief lessons," Prof. Carl G. Rosburg Jr. of the University of California said today, "is that the U.N. secretary general can act as an independent and effective agent in solving major disputes if he has a reliable body of supporters."

Rosberg, a political scientist specializing in African affairs, was one of several experts in American universities, the State Department, and Congress contacted by the Associated Press and asked: "What are the lessons of Katanga?"

Dr. James Coleman, director of the African Studies Center at the University of California at Los Angeles, said the greatest lesson was the extreme danger of intrusion by outside influences other than the United Nations itself.

Another professor, sociologist Immanuel Wallerstein of Columbia University, looked at Katanga from another angle. His chief lesson: "The United States waited too long to push a sound policy."

★ ★ ★

Most members of the State Department's bureau of African affairs probably would agree with him.

Sources said the bureau long had argued that a strong U.N. policy, supported by the United States, could end the reign of Moise Tshombe in Katanga with ease.

To them, the lesson is clear: The Kennedy administration should have followed their advice sooner.

PRESTIGE FOR U.S.

Rep. Barratt O'Hara, D-Ill., the chairman of the House subcommittee on Africa, said Katanga, in one lesson, has shown African countries that the United States stands for their territorial integrity.

★ ★ ★

"That's a sound position with a basis in our history," O'Hara said. "If we permit Africa to divide itself into many little states, the future of Africa will be set back 50 to 100 years."

Most of the experts agreed that the prestige of the United States had swelled in Africa because of the American role in the defeat of Tshombe.

G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, said "the participation of the United States in the Congo operation has greatly increased the respect of Africans for us."

Coleman explained the increase of respect this way:

"I don't think Americans can realize the depth of feeling in Africa against Tshombe. He is a symbol of imperialism.

"This is in the mind of practically every African leader. I think America's backing against him will be to our credit."

HARD TO GUAGE

Wallerstein, however, qualified this a bit.

"I think it's always difficult to measure American prestige," he said. "People will look more to our actions in the present and future than to those in the past."

There was general agreement among the experts that the successful U.N. operation had kept the Congo from erupting into a battleground of the cold war.

"I think that if the U.N. had not come in," said Melville J. Herskovits, director of African studies at Northwestern University, "the Congo could very easily have become another Korea."

"But I think we should also recognize," he continued, "that the Congo is a very special situation in Africa. It is not typical in any sense, and I've never thought of Africa as a cold war battleground except insofar as unilateral action in the Congo might have brought this on."

Rosberg said that "as long as the Congo issue remained unresolved the potential for direct conflict between the two great powers in central Africa was a critical and dangerous question. The failure to achieve unification could have produced chaos in central Africa."

While accepting this, Wallerstein looked to the future and noted other areas that might suddenly become cold war battlegrounds.

"I think the future problems of Africa will be centered in the southern half of the continent where the settler-dominated governments are resisting the African drive for independent government based on universal suffrage," Wallerstein said.

"This will become a cold war issue only if the United States fails to lend its weight in every appropriate manner to this movement of the Africans for their rights."

Randall's Problem: Nothing to Write About

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It is always a pleasure to have Tony Randall back in town. He usually has something new and faintly fantastic on his mind.

I dropped in on the set of his latest photoplay, "The Brass Bottle," and asked, "What is on your mind?"

"Books by actors," he said, with a wink. "I have been reading them since I was a small child and fell in with 'Up the Years From Bloomsbury' by George Arliss. Then I read 'Confessions of an Actor' by John Barrymore and I was hooked.

THOMAS

READ THEM ALL

"Now I read them all and I love them, though I must admit that I prefer the ones with indexes. That way I don't have to thumb through the whole book to see if my name is mentioned.

★ ★ ★

"Naturally, after I had achieved some prominence in the profession, I had the compelling urge to join my fellow thespians on the printed page. I even consulted a ghost writer, who told me, 'Since you are a class type we'll king's English it.'

"But once he had heard my story he dropped me like a starlet's option. This so upset me I was forced to consult a psychiatrist.

NO GIMMICK

"I'm at my wit's end, I told him. I want to write a book but I don't have a gimmick.

"I thought of trying to be an alcoholic and I made a resolution to start drinking, but have broken it already.

"I thought of trying dope and I looked for disreputable characters in my neighborhood. I found one and asked, 'Are you a pusher?' He pushed me.

"Oh, I tried to think of everything. A lot of the actors write about how they hated their father or mother. But the only reason I could find for hating my mother and father was that they were so nice to me.

'NEVER BOTHERED ME'

"Some actors have written that they were afraid that they didn't know how to act. That never bothered me.

"I couldn't write about my triumph over poverty because my parents were comfortably fixed and I have earned a good living as an actor.

"What's more, I like it. Acting doesn't bug me in the least. I don't hate the limelight. I don't despise my work. I like it."

"And what did the psychiatrist say?" I asked.

Said Randall: "He just nodded and said, 'You've got a problem.'"

Waterford Gets Library Report

3 Possible Approaches for Public Facility

A report outlining three possible approaches to the establishment of a public library in Waterford Township has been completed by the library study committee.

The suggestions are: expansion of the present facilities in the Community Activities, Inc., building; affiliation with the North Oakland Library Cooperative; and affiliation with the Wayne County Public Library.

No specific recommendations are made in the analysis, prepared by Township Planning Director Robert Dieball, a member of the study committee.

In considering an unaffiliated public library, the study committee proposed a 25-foot-square addition to the present library room at the CAI building to approximately double existing space. Cost of the addition is estimated at $3,500.

As proposed, CAI would erect the addition on the agreement that the township would sign a five-year lease at $100 monthly.

A comparison of the three library alternatives indicates the local unaffiliated unit would cost $1,200 annually for rent, plus an undetermined expenditure for maintenance and book acquisition.

The Wayne County Library service is estimated at $5,000 annually. The approximate figure for service from the North Oakland Library Cooperative is $12,000 per year.

The report has been submitted for study by the planning commission and will later be referred to the township board.

First Joint Talks in Week Set Today in News Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Mediators have called representatives of striking printers and the publishers of the city's nine major newspapers to meet today in the first joint negotiations in a week.

Announcement of the bargaining session was made Tuesday night. It came hours after leaders of 10 newspaper unions called on the publishers to participate in "continuous negotiations" and the publishers replied that they were ready to meet at any time at the call of the mediators.

★ ★ ★

Morris Tarshis, a New York City member of the mediation panel, said the full committees of the publishers and printers would attend the meeting.

There has been no joint negotiating session since last Wednesday in efforts to end the city's newspaper blackout, now in its 47th day.

★ ★ ★

The negotiations are between the Publishers Association of New York City, which represents the newspapers, and Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union.

SEND PLEA

Leaders of the 10 newspaper unions — cooperating in a group called the Officers Committee for Newspaper Unity — sent their "continuous negotiations" plea in telegrams to the publishers and mediators after a meeting Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The telegrams expressed continued support for the printers, who struck against four of the newspapers in a contract dispute centered mostly on wages.

Bertram A. Powers, president of Local 6, is chairman of the unity committee.

The unity committee telegrams said the group's unanimous opinion is that "the typographical union has not had the opportunity to engage in true collective bargaining with the newspaper publishers."

"It is also the unanimous position of this committee," the telegrams said, "that in an effort to end the strike and lockout it is the desire of all the unions involved that the publishers also engage in continuous negotiations with the representatives of the typographical union to effect a satisfactory settlement."

20,000 IDLE

Nearly 20,000 members of newspaper unions are idle in the blackout caused by the strike of 3,000 printers.

In Cleveland, Ohio, representatives of the Cleveland Newspaper Guild and the city's two strike-closed newspapers talked again Tuesday about the key union security issue. The Cleveland newspaper blackout is in its 55th day.

Visiting Teachers Group to Meet in Greenville

GREENVILLE (AP) — Members of the Michigan Visiting Teachers Association, Region C, representing the Upper Peninsula and northwestern Lower Michigan, meet Friday at Greenville.

★ ★ ★

The visiting teacher works with socially maladjusted children and is assigned by her home county board of education.

Groups Demonstrate About Iran Elections

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Opposition and progovernment groups demonstrated at various points in Iran in connection with Saturday's national referendum called by the shah.

The referendum seeks voter approval of land reform and profit-sharing laws in the absence of parliament, which has been dissolved for 19 months.

★ ★ ★

Observers think a victory for the shah's government is inevitable, since workers, farmers and civil servants all stand to benefit.

The program gives factory workers a 20 per cent share of factory profits.

The number of airline workers in the United States has almost doubled since the end of World War II.

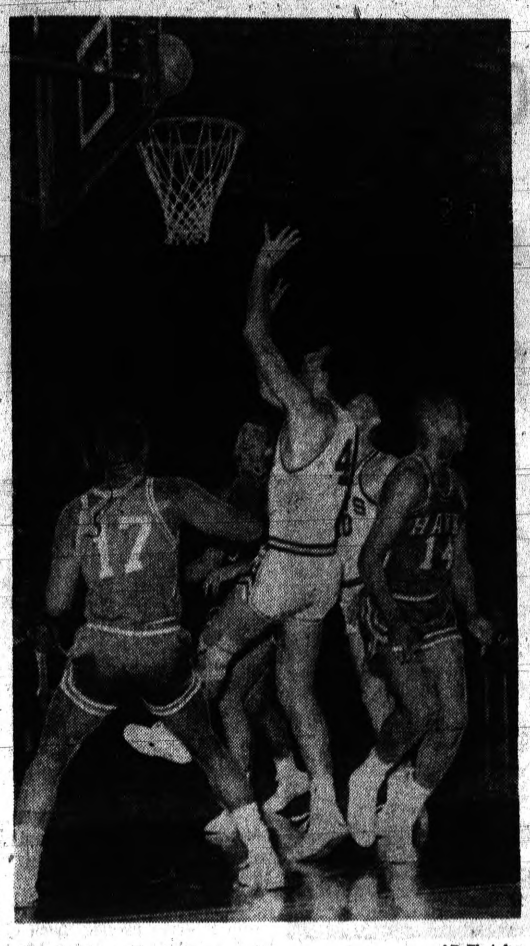
Aguirre Signs Hoping 'Bubble Never Bursts'



AP Photofax

SCHAYES SCORES — Dolph Schayes (4) of the Syracuse Nationals, playing in his 1,000th regular season National Basketball Association game, drops in a two-pointer last night against the St. Louis Hawks.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Activities in the Pontiac area hockey scene are the quietest they have been in 10 years.

Mr. Hockey, Charlie Irish, the man who has devoted more than 25 years to aiding junior hockey and youth activities in the Pontiac area, has decided to hang up his blades.

Irish's "retirement," which could probably be delayed with a good rejuvenated hockey program was made with some disappointment.

Since coming to Pontiac in 1928, after which he joined the Northside Community Club and assisted with the hockey program, Irish remained hopeful year after year that an artificial rink would be built in Pontiac to accommodate the hockey and ice skating enthusiasm which started to grow quickly.

"When you have to depend strictly on the weather, you can never have a good concrete hockey program," he said.

"There's a lot more hockey interest around Pontiac than anywhere in Oakland County, yet other communities like Royal Oak and Birmingham have artificial rinks. There's no reason why Pontiac shouldn't," he added.

TRANSPLANTED

Irish was born in Manchester, England and at 13 he was brought to this country and received his schooling in Wisconsin.

Despite his loyal Badger interests in the Packers, Braves, U. of Wisconsin, Irish has become a devotee to Michigan and Pontiac athletics in his 34 years as a naturalized Wolverine.

He came to Michigan with some friends intent on getting employment in auto industry which started to boom.

He and three of his friends started to work with the Maxwell Motor Car company in Detroit. Only one of the friends who did not get a job there was a man by the name of Maxwell. He decided to sell furniture.

He decided the Oakland Motor Car company provided greener pastures and Pontiac became his newly found and permanent home.

Everything about Irish became automotive at the time he started thinking about marriage. He lived on Cadillac street, worked in a Packard plant, drove a Pontiac and married a girl named Eleanor Vogel who lived on Hudson street.

He then became a fleet-carrier driver and moved on to GMTC. Mrs. Irish has been with Pontiac Motor for 40 years and is contemplating retirement in the near future.

Through the years, anywhere a Pontiac athletic team or athlete was playing for high stakes, Irish has been right on the scene.

His present absence from area hockey doesn't mean he plans to quit his association with the local recreation program, but any kind of hockey setup around here wouldn't be the same without Irish.

Hockey needs a good shot in the arm, around here. The city does need an artificial rink, and Irish would be the best man to handle the program. In fact the "Charles Irish Outdoor [illegible]," would certainly benefit the city.

There's Still One Big 'If' in Title Bout

Liston Will Agree to Fight Patterson When Money Arrives

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) —The on-again, off-again battle between heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and former king Floyd Patterson is on again . . . and again, it's an "if" proposition.

Promoters and lawyers met here yesterday and announced that the fight will be held at Miami Beach Auditorium April 4 "if" Championship Sports Inc., comes through with $207,000 for Liston this weekend.

The money, which includes Liston's winnings from his earlier first-round knockout of Patterson, has been held in escrow to assure that the contract for a return match between the two be carried out.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, said after the private conference yesterday that "we'll be ready to sign the contract next week if they (Championship Sports) come through with the money as promised this weekend."

Also present at the conference was Tom Bolan, head of CSI, and Patterson's attorney, Julius November.

DOWN PAYMENT

Neither Nilon or Bolan would say what down payment was agreed on as part of the $207,000 payment, but Bolan earlier had promisd to come up with a check for $85,000 by Friday if Liston would sign immediately.

Bolan's brother, Al, said the agreement reached yesterday was "less stringent."

Al Bolan said "all parties have agreed on all points regarding the April 4 match.

U. S. Entries Hurt in Bobsled Trials

IGLS, Austria (AP)— Joe McKillip and Paul King, U.S. entries for the two-man world bobsled championships here, crashed and were injured during a trial run today.

McKillip, the 30-year-old pilot from Saranac Lake, N. Y., was reported to have fractured an arm and received facial cuts with a possible eye injury.

King, 28, of Massena, N. Y., the brakeman, was bleeding from the mouth when he was lifted into an ambulance. He was believed to have suffered internal injuries.

It was the second serious accident in two days of practice runs for 21 teams from 11 countries participating in the championships. Yesterday Sweden's favorite team of Gunnar Ahs and Goesta Jelmbrandt crashed and both suffered multiple fractures.

BELLEAIR, Fla. (UPI) — C. Hugh Whitelaw of Birmingham, Mich., was eliminated yesterday in the first round of match play in the 29th American Seniors Golf championship.

Whitelaw was beaten by Glen Norville of Oklahoma City 1 up in 19 holes with a par on the first extra hole.

LOST CHANCE — Not only did Cranbrook right winger Tom Brown (2) lose the puck (arrow) attempting to cut in on goalie Gord Thompson of Riverside but he also lost his balance and a possible goal. Neither teammate Dave Schultz nor Riverside's Boyne Wiseman (8) appears to realize the elusive pellet is between Schultz's feet during this action in the contest that ended 1-1.

Cranbrook Six Ties Unbeaten Riverside

By JERE CRAIG

Cranbrook's hockey team gained a little prestige in the International High School Hockey League yesterday by forging a 1-1 tie with unbeaten, defending champion Riverside.

The Cranes, as a result of the tie, remained ahead of the visitors in the league standing on a point basis. Catholic Central of Detroit leads the race with 14 points on seven victories.

Cranbroom remains second with five wins and a tie for 11 points while Riverside is 4-0-1 for nine markers. Cranbrook dropped a 5-2 decision to Catholic Central earlier, which in turn, was shutout, 4-0, by Riverside.

The three teams figure to fight it out for the league crown.

BILLESDON GOALS

Center John Billesdon beat Riverside goalie Gord Thompson at 13:10 of the second period to knot the tying marker yesterday. The Cranes' team captain alertly followed up his own missed shot to net the big score over the prostrate Thompson.

Only 5:02 before, Riverside's Bruce Stott had deflected a loose puck past The Blues' net minder, Pete Maxwell, from a jam up in front of the cage for a 1-0 lead.

It was the only time the visitors could best the 6-3, 200-pound Maxwell who was outstanding in thwarting 23 Riverside shots. His teammates could only muster 19 on-goal thrusts at Thompson.

The Cranes were outshot, 9-2, in the final session but came within a whit of winning the contest when Billesdon and winger Tom Brown had shots at Riverside net in the final five seconds only to see Thompson cover the loose puck as the final whistle sounded.

There were four penalties in the fast skating contest, all imposed on Riverside. Cranbrook's best scoring opportunities came in the middle period when it fired 11 shots at the visitors' net.

COMPLETE EFFORT — Even his tongue gets in the act as Cranbrook goalie Pete Maxwell stretches his 6-3, 200-pound frame to snag shot in his gloved hand during the fast International High School League hockey game yesterday on the Cranbrook ice. The Cranes tied unbeaten Riverside, 1-1, as Maxwell made 23 saves.

May Outrage Every Hurler

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Gene Mauch, manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, wants to break with tradition during spring training and banish pitchers from the plate, except for sacrifice bunts.

★ ★ ★

"I know I'm going to outrage every pitcher in basebal, including my own," Mauch said Tuesday, "but after all, pitchers make the club on the basis of their pitching, not their hitting."

He may have been thinking of the combined average of his pitching staff last season—.120.

Turbine Try to Wait in Indianapolis 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — John Zink of Tulsa, Okla., who tried to get an experimental gas turbine car into the 1962 Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, entered a conventional racer today for the 47th running of the Memorial Day classic.

Zink indicated he would not bring the turbine this year. It ran well in practice last year when the weather was cool but rapidly lost power when the track heated up.

SWCC, Baptists Triumph

Charity Helps Cage 5s

Southwest Community Club and Columbia Avenue Baptist Church stayed in the thick of their respective class races last night with victories in city recreation basketball games.

Sharp foul shooting gave both squads their victories. SWCC edged Local No. 653, 68-63, thanks to a 20-13 advantage from the charity stripe.

It was even clearer cut in the Class C contest where the Baptists sank 21 free throws to only nine for the Town & Country Lounge team in a 67-57 victory.

Other action saw the Class D Spartans defeat Neopolitan, 54-49, and undefeated Class A leader Westside Recreation pick up a forfeit win from McDonald's Drive In.

Jimmy Gardner's 23 points and Clarence Douglas' 12 were not enough to overcome Southwest Community Club's foursome of Mel Taylor (17), Jerry Williams (15), James Drake (14) and Earl McKee (10).

HIGH SCORER

George Ratledge had 24 and "Red" McAleer 17 as the Baptists hit well from the outside to down Town & Country which was led by Rodger Reynolds' 14 and 10 each by Bruce Reynolds and Walt Allison.

Jon Blocker had 25 markers in the Spartans' victory.

Action tonight will find the Pontiac Police team meeting T&C Lounge at seven o'clock in the Pontiac Northern gymnasium, followed by an 8:30 contest between Michigan Bell and UAW No. 594.

In the Waterford Township recreation league, Spencer Floors (6-0) will tangle with Lakeland Pharmacy (5-1) at 7:15 p.m. at Pierce Junior High School in a game that will pit the league's two top scorers. Spencer's John Herrington carries a 20.2 ppg standard and Lakeland's Tom Nickman ranks second with an 18.3 average. An 8:30 contest will pair Hoyt Realty and winless Woodcum Drilling.

Tiger Pitcher Gets Pay Hike in $25,000 Pact

Posted 16-8 Record, Had Lowest Average for Earned Runs

By The Associated Press

"May the bubble never burst," said Detroit pitcher Hank Aguirre last season as his earned run average and batting average continued to drop at a rate that would send Stock Market manipulators scurring for apple carts.

It didn't. And Tuesday the 30-year-old left-hander, who made one of the most astonishing flip-flops in the majors last year, got his dividend—a $7,000 pay boost to $25,000 when he signed his 1963 baseball contract with the Tigers.

Aguirre had a 4-4 record and a 3.27 ERA in 1960. In 1961, he underwent a complete transformation after getting his first start on May 26, and wound up with a 16-8 mark and a major league leading 2.21 ERA.

DOCTOR HELPED

How does Aguirre account for the change?

He gives much of the credit to team physician Dr. Russell Wright pain in his chest stemmed from a quirk in his pitching motion and had nothing to do with his heart.

"I got sick the second day of the season in 1960," says Aguirre, "I was in church when it happened. I got a pain in the chest I thought I had a heart attack. The doctors told me I didn't, but I didn't believe them."

Wright convinced him, and Aguirre corrected the hitch in his pitching form and became a winner But he still has one lament —he can't hit. He was 2-for-75 last year for a .027 average, and managed to strike out both left-handed and right-handed in the second All-Star Game.

"I don't hit the ball very often," he concedes, "but doesn't it sting your hands?"

ALOU UNSATISFIED

He should ask Felipe Alou, who stung 'em quite often for National League champion San Francisco while batting .316, hitting 25 home runs and driving in 98 runs, and now is numbered as an unsatisfied customer of the Giants.

Alou said at his home in Santo Domingo that he had mailed his contract back to San Francisco unsigned. "I think I had a good season," he said, "and I think I deserve more than they offered." Reports indicate that Alou wants a $12,000 boost to $30,000.

Rally in Final Gives Red Wings 8-5 Triumph

PORT HURON (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, tied 3-3 after two periods, scored five goals in the final session last night and defeated Port Huron of the International Hockey League 8-5 in an exhibition game.

Lloyd Maxfield of the Flags was the only player to score more than once. His first goal came in the second period and he added another one in the final frame.

Eight Detroit players scored as the National Hockey League club scored its second straight victory over Port Huron in exhibition play this season.

Rochester Skaters in 3-Way Loop Tie

The high-scoring Rochester Merchants moved into a three-way tie for first place this week in the Detroit Parks and Rescreation Department's "B" Division Hockey League by scoring two impressive wins.

The Merchants swamped the DCAS six, 14-1, Monday night as Hugh Remley of Pontiac had four goals and two assists, Bill Booth three goals and four assists and Bob Wilson six assists.

The winners added a 4-0 shutout over The Spoilers last night to boost their log to 6-3 in the league. William Ventalm tallied two goals while Booth and Wilson added one each. Ray Ketlyian had two assists.

THE STYLE CORNER OF PONTIAC

Mighty Leap Made by 90-Second Sub

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—It's a mighty leap from a 90-second scrub in college to National Football League apprentice quarterback, but Wisconsin's Ron VanderKelen is so nonchalant about it all you'd think he was Y. A. Tittle.

"I realize nobody can just step in and play pro football," the handsome Badger Cinderella gridder said Tuesday after he'd signed a one-year contract with the Minnesota Vikings. "A big burden has been lifted from my shoulders."

★ ★ ★

Terms were not disclosed, but the pact does not include a no-cut clause. It is believed he signed for about $20,000 in bonus and salary. A personal agreement will guarantee employment so VanderKelen will realize his salary next year whether he makes the team or not.

OTHER OFFERS

"I think I can make it or I wouldn't have signed," the Rose Bowl hero said. "I had several other fine offers but I kept leaning toward the Vikings.

"Sure this club has a real good quarterback in Fran Tarkenton. I don't know if I'll ever be as good as he is, but I'll try and I know with this team I'll get the chance."

★ ★ ★

He picked Minnesota because "I think it's a great opportunity to play on a young team. Now it just depends on how well I perform whether I can make it."

He added that Viking coach Norm Van Brocklin told him to forget about football for now and concentrate on his studies.

The last time VanderKelen "got a chance," was only five months ago when coach Milt Bruhn assembled his Badger squad for the start of fall practice.

VanderKelen, 23, was tabbed by Bruhn to fill the shoes of the departed Ron Miller, a fancy college passer who last year rode the bench for the Los Angeles Rams. VanderKelen got the nod although his log showed only 90 seconds of previous varsity playing experience.

BECAME STAR

Vandy, a 6-foot-2, 185-pounder with bright eyes and boyish appearance, not only became Wisconsin's first-string quarterback. He very nearly became the Big Ten's top player and Wisconsin's Athlete of the Year by The Associated Press over Green Bay's great fullback, Jim Taylor.

VanderKelen gained 1,237 yards with his pinpoint passes and runs to come within 57 yards of matching the conference individual record of 1,294 by Illinois' Tommy O'Connell in 1951.

He led Wisconsin to an 8-1 season and the Big Ten championship, gained in a 14-9 squeaker past Minnesota's Gophers in the season finale.

Then came the Rose Bowl and VanderKelen surpassed even his most brilliant Big Ten performances. Wisconsin lost to National champion Southern California 42-37, but not before Vandy rallied the Badgers from a four-touchdown deficit.

That showing sent the pro scouts flocking to his door, although most had been only lukewarm before the Rose Bowl game. The NFL didn't have a single team draft him, but the New York Titans of the American League did—on the 21st round.

Lakers Need Rally to Overcome Foe; Non-League Games

Frank Rompel and Larry Janiszewski hit for 33 points between them as the Eaglets coasted to a 57-34 victory over Detroit St. Stanislaus.

Waterford OLL edged Genesee, 41-39.

Rompel had nine of his 17 in the first quarter of play. With Janiszewski adding eight of his 16 to Rompel's opening efforts, the Eaglets jumped into a 19-6 advantage after one period of play.

At half-time, OLSM led 35-16 with reserves playing much of the second quarter. Rompel had 15 markers on seven field goals and a foul shot, most of which came on drive shots.

Only five personal fouls were called against each team in the cleanly played contest. The Eaglets' triumph pushed their season record to 7-2.

Don Beauregard's only field goal in the game, with 45 seconds to play, tied Our Lady with Genesee, 39-39.

When Wes Borys dropped in the winning two-pointer with 17 seconds remaining on the clock. He also tied George Sharpe for OLL scoring honors with 10.

The Lakers had to rally after falling behind 15-6 in the first quarter.

NORTH BRANCH LOSES

Buena Vista took full advantage of a home court and home fans last night to chalk-up a 90-55 victory over North Branch.

It was the fourth loss of the season for the visitors who are 1-1 in the South Central League.

Asa Thompson and Lynn DeGrow combined for 23 points for North Branch but it wasn't enough to successfully counter the 30-point effort of Hal Morrice of Buena Vista.

Boggess Announces Retirement

Surprise Ends Awards Banquet

HOUSTON (AP)—Lynton Ross (Dusty) Boggess, after 22 years in arbiter's blue, announced his retirement Tuesday night upon receiving the Bill Klem Award as the outstanding baseball umpire for 1962.

★ ★ ★

It was a surprise climax, and a poignant one, to a successful third annual Houston major league baseball dinner. Yogi Berra, Don Drysdale, Dick Groat, Bob Lillis and Glenn Vaughan, the Houston schoolboy, received trophies, but Boggess upstaged them all.

When Jimmy Delmar introduced him, and handed him his silver trophy, Dusty looked out into the audience and said: "My friends—if I have any—this is the happiest moment of my life."

UMPS 19 YEARS

The trophy brought him to the crest of 19 years service as a strong and colorful umpire in the National League.

A few moments later, Boggess in a voice that kept getting huskier said:

"Like Bill Klem, I never missed a call...not in my heart. But I've had that arm raised a thousand times when I wished that it had been cut off at the shoulder.

"Now comes the saddest moment of my life. I've been in baseball 42 years. Tonight I'm retiring from the National League. My eyes are growing old and my legs are getting tired. I'd rather go out when I'm on top, and have you say 'he is a pretty good umpire,' then have you say," he used to be."

'WITH REGRET'

There was a telegram from Warren Giles, president of the National League, who had been informed of the decision in advance and accepted it "with regret."

Fred Fleig, the league's secretary-treasurer, told Boggess that he would be missed. "I've dealt with umpires for 20 years," said Fleig. "I never knew Bill Klem. But Dusty had the greatest diplomacy in handling situations on the field of any umpire I ever saw."

Boggess, 59, graduated from high school in Waco, Tex., and broke into pro baseball as an infielder in 1921.

At his best, Boggess was a second baseman in the St. Louis Cardinal chain, but the Cards then had a fellow named Rogers Hornsby patrolling second and hitting around .400.

Berra, the New York Yankee veteran who will be a player-coach this year, received the Tris Speaker Award for outstanding contributions to baseball.

Drysdale, with a 25-9 record for the Los Angeles Dodgers, receive the Dickie Kerr Trophy as the pitcher of the year.

Lillis was honored as the most outstanding Houston Colt player last season and Vaughan, rookie shortstop with Durham, N.C. of the Carolina League, was named outstanding Texan in the minors in 1962.

2 Over Wins Opener on LPGA Tour

NAPLES, Fla. (AP)—Ruth Jessen of Delray Beach, Fla., won the opening competition on the 1963 Ladies Professional Golf Association tour with a 146, two strokes over par.

Twenty of the top money winners on last year's LPGA circuit stroked around the treacherous 6,520-yard course without ever threatening par. Miss Jessen, fourth money winner last year, came closest Tuesday, but she double-bogeyed the 10th hole to come in with her second 73 in a row and top money of $500.

Jackie Pung of Daly City, Calif., was second with a total of 147. Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., top female pro last year, was third with 148. One of the four pros shooting a final round of 73, Marilynn Smith of Jupiter, Fla., finished fourth with 149.

Low amateurs were Barbara Fitton of Hamilton, Ohio, with 153. Tish Preuss of Pompano Beach was second with 155.

Welu, Mrs. Ladewig Top All-Star Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Billy Welu and Marion Ladewig won the qualifying trophies in the All-Star Bowling Tournament Tuesday.

Welu, former champion from St. Louis, won the medal with a 32-game total of 7,202 pins. Welu and 13 other semifinalists demolished the record of 6,874 established last year by Roy Lown of El Paso, Tex.

Welu climaxed his outstanding performance by shooting six-game blocks of 1,292 and 1,347.

RECORD PINFALL

Mrs. Ladewig, seven-time champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., felled 5,018 pins in 24 games to break her record of 4,898 set in 1961.

It was the third qualifying trophy in a row for the dignified grandmother of five.

The leading 16 scorers in other men's and women's fields advanced to the round robin finals today. The $100,000 classic ends Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Survivors in the men's division included defending champion Dick Weber and four-time titlist Don Carter, both of St. Louis. Weber finished second with 7,147 but Carter barely avoided the cutoff, finishing 14th with 6,877.

Tom Hennessey, Ray Bluth and Pat Patterson, all teammates of Carter and Weber, also made the finals. The quintet holds the national team championship.

Getting the last finals berth with 6,859 was Bill Heisel, the Tampa, Fla., airman who roled a 1,454 six-game series, highest in All-Star history, in the last block of the semifinals.

JUST MADE IT

Shirley Garms, defending women's champion from Chicago, will be among Mrs. Ladewig's opponents. Mrs. Garms, 38, totaled 4,549 and got the last position in the qualifying.

The condition of little Dick Weber's index finger and Welu's thumb could be decisive factors in the All-Star Bowling Tournament.

Weber's ailing finger pains him when he holds it parallel to the other fingers, as he would prefer to do. Welu's thumb has a tendency to swell in the last two days of lengthy tournaments, causing him to lose his sharpness in delivery.

"I've been going great so far," said the 5-foot-8, 125-pound Weber, St. Louis pro who is defending champion.

CAN'T COMPLAIN

"I can't complain about a 223-plus average. But if I get in trouble in the finals, I may risk moving the finger over, although this usually brings me a lot of pain.

"I have to keep it spread now and this gives me a larger hook on the ball than I'd like."

Weber moved the finger away from his thumb for the last two days of the rich World Invitational at Chicago in November The result was a hot finish which jumped him to third place. Welu was his victim in the last round.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The men's qualifiers in the All-Star Bowling Tournament:

2.	Dick Weber, St. Louis	7,147
3.	Ray Bluth, St. Louis	7,084

Powell Must Go in Three—Cassius

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"So you people will believe in me, Powell must now go in three."

★ ★ ★

So reads the latest entry in the verse anthology of Cassius Clay, the fighting poet who is unbeaten in 16 boxing bouts and, he says, in 12 predictions.

Clay delivered his rhyming couplet Tuesday as he neared the end of training for his 10-round heavyweight match with Charley Powell Thursday night.

SWITCHED PLANS

The 21-year-old phenomenon from Louisville originally predicted Powell would fall in five rounds, but as sometimes has been his style, he switched plans.

For his last fight, Clay first said he would finish aging Archie Moore in the eighth round. But after Moore "talked back" to Cassius, boxing's poet laureate correctly revised the prognostication to four rounds.

Powell didn't comment on Clay's new plans, but he did say he wouldn't help pay Cassius' plane fare out of the country if the bout ends in an upset.

Clay, a 4-1 favorite, has promised he will take the first jet out of the country if his prediction is proved wrong.

"He's been saying that with 16 fights and it's been working for him pretty good," Powell, a former all-around sports star said.

MAY SET RECORD

Apparently, Cassius' boasting has been pretty good for the gate, too. The Dapper Dan Club, which is sponsoring the fight for the benefit of the Robena Mine Disaster Fund, reports the match could set a record indoor figure for a boxing show in Pittsburgh.

The Civic Arena, site of the match, holds about 13,000. The last major fight in Pittsburgh was the Sugar Ray Robinson-Wilf Greaves bout on Dec. 8, 1961. That one drew 8,400 with receipts of $41,000.

Both Clay and Powell planned only some road work today, then a rest until the fight.

As Cassius wound up his work, he offered his fans some advice.

"Get there early," he said.

Top College 5s Meet Saturday

CHICAGO (AP) — Cincinnati's defense, Illinois' speed and Loyola's scoring prowess will be on display Saturday night in one of college basketball's biggest attractions in years.

A sellout crowd of 18,000 will jam Chicago Stadium to see the nation's three top-ranked teams along with Santa Clara.

Top-ranked Cincinnati, the undefeated NCAA champion, goes up against third-ranked Illinois which has lost only once in 13 games this year, falling 90 to 88 before Notre Dame.

BEST OFENSE

Loyola, ranked second and leading the nation in offense with a 97.7 average, will play Santa Clara in the first game and then, if victorious, will witness the second game in which its national ranking can only gain strength.

Cincinnati has held its opponents to an average of 48.5 points in 14 games while scoring 71.1. Illinois has an 88.6 average with a yield of 73.6 per game.

★ ★ ★

Both schools have been out of action because of mid-semester examinations but coaches Harry Combes of Illinois and Ed Jucker of Cincinnati have had their teams working out.

Nor is Combes worried about Cincinnati using a pressing zone defense.

"We have worked against both zone defenses and man-to-man," said Combes. "We're equipped for either but in the long run it's all a matter of whether the ball is falling in for you."

BALANCED TEAM

Illinois is a balanced squad with exceptional speed. The thing that impresses Jucker the most is "their ability to bring the ball down the court quickly."

Speaking to the Chicago basketball writers by telephone, Jucker explained his club's pattern.

"We have the fewest number of personal fouls of any team in the county," he said. "We take good shots. We don't lunge and grab at the opposition. We harrass them into making bad passes and taking bad shots. We know it takes points to win and we eventually score our share. It may take time but we have the patience."

Asked if his club's 32-game winning streak places any extra pressure on his players, Jucker said, "I don't know if it does or not but there are times that I feel the pressure."

★ ★ ★

Loyola Coach George Ireland was asked the same question. His Ramblers will be shooting for their 18th straight this season against Santa Clara.

"No, there's no pressure," he said. "They're not even jubilant after they win. All they want to know is 'when do we eat.'"

WINTER TARGET — This large sturgeon was speared last year from Black Lake in Cheboygan County. The 1963 sturgeon spearing season runs during February.

February Big Month for Lake Sturgeon

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — February is the banner month of the year for a group of hardy and hopeful ice fishermen who will flock to three lakes in the northern tip of the Lower Peninsula.

There they will try for a fish that often runs a hundred pounds or more, sometimes reaches an age of 100 and belongs to a species that probably existed 50 million years ago.

This improbable - sounding monster is the lake sturgeon speared through the ice of three inland lakes — Black, Burt and Mullett Lakes in Cheboygan County, just south of The Straits.

The record for a sturgeon taken from these inland lakes was a 175-pounder measuring 86 inches in length speared from Mullett Lake in 1955.

A 212-pounder was taken from Lake Michigan in a net. A sturgeon 312 pounds in weight drifted up on a Lake Michigan beach, apparently killed by a boat propellor. There are records of Pacific Coast sturgeon weighing up to 1,800 pounds and the Russians claim to have caught one weighing 3,000 pounds.

The sport of spearing the fish, becoming increasingly popular, is all but confined to the Cheboygan - Indian River chain of lakes. A few sturgeon occasionally wander up connecting streams to other lakes in Michigan. They are also taken from Wisconsin's Lake Winnebago.

The fish look like the primitive left-overs that they are. They have sharke-like tails, a body covered with hard, bony plates and long rubbery snouts with feelers attached to them. The fish are bottom feeders and suck up food like a vacuum cleaner.

A good piece of advice to the novice is not to take a stinger along and expect to catch a half dozen the first day. The size limit is 42 inches and the spearing limit per season — through the month of February only — is just two fish.

The dedicated sturgeon fishermen who live in the area have the most success. They will be out in the shanties, waiting with spears poised, nearly all day every day.

During 1956, there were 70 sturgeon taken from all three lakes and it took an average of 140 hours to catch one fish. There were only 25 fish taken from the three lakes in 1958 and the average wait was 260 hours per fish.

But you can still count more than 200 shanties on each of these three lakes during the average day of the month-long season.

For those who want to try their luck, the heated shanties can be rented. The equipment is fairly simple, a five or seven-pronged, lead - weighted fish spear weighing around 20 pounds and an unlimited supply of patience.

The spear has a line generally tied to the shanty. A gaff is a handy instrument to help drag the fish through the hole spudded in the ice. An artificial minnow is gigged by hand as the lure.

"The best idea is to drag it fast out of the shanty to let it die on the ice if you spear one," advised a veteran spearer. "Otherwise, everything in the shanty can be wrecked."

The sturgeon are generally smoked and are considered a delicacy. So is the roe, sold commercially as caviar.

There was a time when sturgeon were so plentiful in the Great Lakes they were used only as fertilizer. Fishermen sometimes piled them on the shore and burned them to keep the fish out of the nets.

Elk Hunting in State Under Study

There is a chance Michigan will become the only state east of the Mississippi River which will have an elk season.

★ ★ ★

The State Department of Conservation has proposed a "full-scale study" of elk management. Included would be the taking of about 200 animals the first season.

A lottery system would be used to determine who received applications to hunt elk which range in size from 600 to 1,000 pounds.

Plans for determining the herd's makeup and productivity rate are presently keyed to a one-year controlled kill of 10 per cent of the animals.

The department estimates there are 2,000 to 3,500 elk in the northern Lower Peninsula. The recommended kill would be based on 2,000 or the lowest estimate at the time the season is set.

The Conservation Commission must approve the study and legislative approval would be needed to carry out the hunting phase of the research project.

No proposed hunting season dates have been announced.

DEER VS. ELK

"In recent years, there have been growing signs of the herd over-browsing its primary range and making serious inroads into natural food supplies of deer," reports Dr. Justin W. Leonard, assistant deputy director of research for the department.

"The time has now come for developing an elk management program that will not only face up to the existing situation, but also head off potential problems," according to Dr. Leonard, who outlined the plan for stepped-up studies during the last Conservation Commission meeting.

"The elk herd's value as a tourist attraction will be a major guideline to any management program that is worked out," Dr. Leonard emphasizes. "Our goal is to maintain as large a herd as range conditions permit."

Although no immediate threat is seen, there is the possibility of elk spreading into the economically important fruit belt on the northwestern side of the lower peninsula. Some elk are ranging within 30 miles of cherry orchards in Charlevoix County.

Some farm crop damage has been caused by elk within the heart of their range which takes in parts of Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Otsego, and Montmorency Counties.

Department field personnel have kept a continuous check on the herd since its beginning in 1918 when six elk were released in the Pigeon River area.

"We have built up a good deal of general information about elk over the years, but our estimate of the herd's size and its annual growth rate must be refined so an effective management program may be set up," Dr. Leonard explains.

Also needed is a better picture of the herd's composition — a more accurate breakdown of the number of animals in various age classes and the ratio of bulls to cows.

Fox 'Walk Up' Set by OCSC

Hunters will "walk up" foxes Sunday near Ortonville.

The occasion will be the first winter hunt by the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club on Jossman Road a quarter of a mile south of Grange Hall Road.

The public is invited to participate in this hunt in which the nimrods circle a section and drive out the foxes. No dogs are used and only shotguns may be carried by the hunters.

The hunters will convene at the OSCS clubhouse at 8 a.m. Sunday. Others may go directly to the site, according to Lewis Wrenn, chairman of the hunt.

SMOTC Dog Classes Taking Registrations

Registrations are still being accepted at three sites by the Southern Michigan Obedience Train-Club.

First classes in dog training will be tonight at the CAI Building in Waterford, Thursday at Whitfield school in Pontiac, and Monday at Bloomfield Hills High School. The classes start at 8 p.m.

There are openings in the Waterford Wednesday afternoon sessions at 1:00. A review class also is being conducted Thursday night at Whitfield.

People 'Rescue' Two Whitetails

By DON VOGEL

The story often is heard about citizens picking up baby wild animals because these helpful people fear for the little ones' safety.

Game experts try to discourage the "aiding" of young animals claiming the mother is not far removed from the scene.

In the last week there has been two instances of people rushing to the "rescue" of grown deer.

One case turned out all right. In the other, the deer was the loser.

A doe running around on the ice of Sylvan and Otter Lakes drew the attention of residents last week. Finally, the deer hustled down in to a swamp between the lakes.

Late in the afternoon a Waterford Township police officer captured the animal and it spent the night in the Waterford jail. The doe was released the next morning.

In Gary, Ind., a doe was spotted in a junk yard and Humane Society officials decided to rescue it. Before the chase was over the deer had:

—bounded 24 blocks to the heart of the business district.
—smashed through the door of a store and once inside inflicted $200 worth of damage.
—rammed the side of a passing car.
—entered a book store and plunged down some steps into a storeroom where it was locked in.

It took another half hour for conservation officials to corral the frightened deer. It died from loss of blood while being taken to a sanctuary.

The Sylvan Lake deer had been chased on to the ice by dogs. How the Indiana doe got in the junk yard is anyone's guess.

But in both cases, the deer were confused, but not necessarily in any danger. Had they been left alone, both does probably would have returned to more familiar surroundings.

FISHING CARNIVAL

The annual Fair Haven-Anchorville Lions Club Ice Fishing Carnival will be Friday through Sunday on Anchor Bay.

Fishing and rabbit hunting continued on the slow side during the last week because of the near-zero weather.

Winter Duck Population Shows Increase Over '62

Duck numbers are well above the 1962 mid-winter mark in Michigan, according to results of a survey earlier this month by the Conservation Department and U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

The survey, carried out as part of a continent-wide inventory of North America's wintering waterfowl population, produced a combined count of 39,600 ducks from ground and aerial observations.

Only 14,000 ducks were reported in the state during last winter's survey. This all-time low was partly due to snow, sleet, and cold temperatures which blitzed much of the state just before the survey started, pushing many birds farther south.

Although Michigan's latest count was considerably higher than a year ago, it does not necessarily point to an upward trend in the continent's duck supply.

Survey results from all other states and Canadian provinces must be tallied together to show how the total duck picture shapes up after the 1962 hunting season.

CANVASSBACKS UP

Department game men are hoping this state's gains in wintering canvasbacks and redhead ducks reflect an overall turn for the better in the birds' low populations.

Some 9,925 canvasbacks were seen compared with 1,300 noted last January. The count on redhead ducks was 1,164 as against only one reported a year ago. Both birds have been fully protected throughout the nation during the last three hunting seasons.

Higher populations were reported for all other duck species in Michigan this winter. Canada goose numbers dropped from 6,725 last January to 4,485.

Rematch Set Thursday Between Ferry, Wilt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "No grudges will probably be held," laughed Detroit Piston Coach Dick McGuire after his Bob Ferry and San Francisco's Wilt Chamberlain tangled in a one-sided fist fight Tuesday.

It won't take long to see if McGuire is right.

For the two National Basketball Association teams, battling for the third playoff spot in the Western Division, meet again Thursday at Bakersfield, Calif.

The 5-minute battle that cost Ferry a bloody nose erupted with 4 minutes to play in what wound up as a 115-107 Pistons' victory. What happened depended on who was telling the story.

'GRABBED ME'

Said Ferry: "I was just trying to clear the ball off the bucket and somebody grabbed me from behind. The next thing I knew punches were coming my way."

Said Chamberlain: "It seemed to me that he (Ferry) deliberately threw an elbow at Guy (Rodgers of the Warriors) after the rebound. If he wants to battle that's okay, but picking on a little fellow like Rodgers doesn't go. I have four teeth missing to prove what those flying elbows can do."

"Little" Guy weighs 185 and stands 6 feet. But Ferry is 6-8, 230, and Chamberlain 7-1, 250.

Chamberlain threw a flurry of punches and fought after once being restrained because of unspecified remarks made by Ferry. Both benches emptied and some of the small Cow Palace crowd of 2,291 flooded the court before order was restored.

"Any other player in the league would have been thrown out of the game," muttered Ferry later. "We're not allowed to throw punches but he did and he threw them all."

NO FOULS

No fouls were called nor ejections made.

"It was an awful big game for both of us and their string of losses seems to be telling," said McGuire.

San Francisco crept within six points right after the fight but could get no closer. The Pistons put the game out of reach midway through the third period when they built a 69-68 lead to a 93-80, thanks to four baskets each by Ferry and Dave DeBusschere.

Terry scored 22 points with teammates Don Ohl and Bailey Howell each collecting 23. Chamberlain led San Francisco with 39 but the Warriors still fell 2½ games behind the Pistons.

Study Terrifying Weapons

(Editor's Note — This is the third and last segment of a series on the Pentagon's big defense gamble.)

★ ★ ★

By COL. RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Defense Secretary McNamara has ordered a detailed study into what weapons most impress the Soviet Union with U. S. strength and determination.

The study, to be completed within six months, is intended to determine:

1. What weapons will convince Nikita Khrushchev and his advisers that they had better not start a war and what weapons are less convincing, whatever their actual military value in war.

2. What weapons might scare Khrushchev too much and trigger him into desperate action.

Why this study is being conducted was learned in a series of interviews with Defense and State Department officials, scientists and military men.

McNamara and his advisers are worried. They are afraid they may have concentrated too heavily on super-efficiency in military weapons.

They are afraid that missiles, although they may be very efficient in winning wars, may not be as impressive in preventing wars as are warships, planes and tanks.

And Washington believes that preventing a war is even better than winning a war.

One of the major factors in getting Khrushchev to back down in the Cuba crisis was our ability to mass a huge array of visible force — aircraft carriers, submarines, troops, tanks, artillery, huge bomber planes, fighter planes.

Reserves were called up. This build-up could be seen and felt. These were normal, understandable ways of showing the United States meant business.

But 1,000 intercontinental ballistic missiles standing ready on 1,000 launch pads and silos don't move.

Agents for Khrushchev, Fidel Castro or Mao Tse-tung can't see missiles "building up" for a showdown.

For decades, U. S. warships regularly have stopped at ports around the world "showing the flag."

Diplomats and military men have long felt this served a purpose in diplomacy and in preventing wars. These U. S. ships showed strength in a way that meant something to people.

MISSILES NOT CLEAR

There is worry in the Pentagon that maybe missiles don't show that strength as clearly. As one military man puts it:

"No matter how strong the U. S. is, if the Russians can't see that strength or feel it, or it doesn't impress them, then that strength doesn't serve the ends of U. S. diplomacy and it doesn't do what it should to prevent wars."

On the other side of the coin, there are scientists high in White House, Defense and State Department councils who worry that some weapons and defense systems — if built — might lead the Russians to start a war or do something else we wouldn't like.

★ ★ ★

This reasoning in part is back of the fight some of these scientists are putting up against:

A strong civil defense program of blast-proof shelters.

A strong anti-missile program for protecting U. S. cities from Russian ICBMs.

A system for orbiting offensive ICBMs aboard satellites.

The idea is to scare the Russians — but not too much.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Since the spade suit outranks all others it would appear that any time you have any excuse to bid spades you should do so. In the early days of contract this principle was followed. Early books on the game recommended that if a player held two biddable four-cardd suits he should open the higher ranking.

JACOBY

It didn't take long to find out that when you held four spades and four clubs of about the same strength a club opening was far more advisable. It didn't take much longer to find out that in many cases a three-card club opening was preferable to a bid in a four-card spade suit.

Today, most experts won't open four-card spade suits and the few who do, only open these four-carders when the suit is very strong and there is no other satisfactory opening bid.

Thus, even for a player who does not open four-card spade suits the South hand is a proper third hand spade bid. South plans to pass at his next turn and his partner's jump to three spades does not change his mind.

It is just as well that he passed. There is no play for four spades, but South has no trouble making three. He has an anxious moment when he leads a club to dummy, but West has the ace and dummy's king of clubs is a winner.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East

What do you do?

A—Bid six hearts. Your partner is inviting a slam and you have the strength to warrant bidding it.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR
For Thursday

"The wise man controls his destiny . . . Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 9): Plenty to do, see, read and DECIDE today. Area of activity almost forgotten "comes to life." Could be revival of old interest, romance. You can now begin to spread your wings.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Take front-running position. Lead rather than follow. Assert yourself. The "unknown" factor is not strong. More of a bluff than anything else. Be decisive, sure, confident. Move ahead!

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Allow prestige to "get in." Means don't try to top yourself. Be patient, willing to wait, teach and learn. Other member of family can help. Listen, analyse. Don't be in too much of a hurry.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Today competition will be much in evidence! Best course is to let others run out of adjectives, self-praise, claims. Keep sense of humor. Don't be drawn into disputes. Play waiting game.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Develop ideas to make job more productive. Emphasis should be on service, to others AND yourself. Day to check details, security, budget. Take conservative rather than radical course.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Push ahead today with ENTHUSIASM. Excellent for display of talents. Exchange ideas. Tonight plan events, such as theatrical party and charitable work. Expand horizons.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Key today is PERSISTENCE. Discouragement over minor matters can be evident early, but these matters fall into place later. Set goal. Follow through. Accept suggestions. Stick to course.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Excellent for visits, entertaining, writing, putting ideas across. Take notes. Look for unusual approach. Grab opportunity when it is presented. Be sceptical about legal reports until substantiated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Anchor agreements. Create solid basis for understanding. Live up to promises and be sure others do too. Avoid rambunctious friends who throw caution to winds. Heed your own counsel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Flurry of ideas, opportunities and key is SELECTIVITY. Be discriminating. Accept the best. Reject the mediocre and outmoded. Streamline activities. Trim away the "fat." Be alert, positive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): May be exchange of confidences today. Keep your word. Don't reveal secrets. One who confides should have his privacy respected. Like Taurus, be willing to lead. Stress originality.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Divide joys, responsibilities among friends. Cooperation is key. Express willingness to entertain and be entertained. Day for ACCEPTING. Welcome ideas, new acquaintances.

★ ★ ★

IF THURSDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY . . . this year should see greater personal achievement. You are loyal, ESPECIALLY where family members are concerned.

★ ★ ★

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Some in authority due for "shakeup." New ideas, methods may create controversy, clearing way for changes.

Trading on Heavy Side

Steels, Rails Pace Mart Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and rails paced a continued stock market advance early this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Gains of fractions to a point or more among key stocks were the general rule.

Steels were higher from the start in a continuation of their rally of late yesterday. This was triggered by 1962 profits of Youngstown Sheet, which were better than expected, brokers said.

A similar situation boosted rail shares today as they responded to a published report that Atlantic Coast Line's net income last year was up sharply and that the total operating revenues for the year were the highest since 1956.

FRACTIONAL GAINS

Wide-moving IBM and Polaroid were content with fractional gains.

★ ★ ★

Gains exceeding a point by Union Carbide and Du Pont bolstered the chemicals.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.47 at 678.00.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mostly higher in moderate trading. Syntex gained more than a point. Fractionally higher were Pentron Electronics, Polarad Electronics, Signal Oil "A", Audio Devices, Bloomfield Building "A," British Columbia Power, and General Plywood.

Bond Prices Narrowly Mixed

Over-the-counter dealers in U.S. government securities said about the only changes in the list were gains of 1-32 or 2-32 among a few issues due 1966-67. Trading was extremely quiet.

Rails moved upward in corporate trading on the New York Stock Exchange but industrials and utilities were thoroughly mixed. Relatively few changes amounted to as much as a point.

Gets Prison Term for Store Break-In

Gerald Gravlin, 25, of 2962 Hartline St., Avon Township was sentenced to two to 15 years in Jackson Prison yesterday for breaking into a Pontiac market Oct. 21.

★ ★ ★

Sentence was imposed by Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero, who accepted Gravlin's guilty plea Jan. 10.

★ ★ ★

Gravlin was nabbed by Pontiac police at Vito's Market, 94 Oakland St.

UPI Executive Dies of Crash Injuries

BAY CITY (UPI) — James J. Klockenkemper, 36, United Press International regional executive for Michigan, died today of injuries suffered in a two-car accident Jan. 12.

★ ★ ★

He never regained consciousness. He was transferred from Clare General Hospital to Bay City Mercy Hospital hours after the accident and showed signs of recovery following emergency surgery.

★ ★ ★

He was injured when a car in which he was riding collided with another vehicle on U.S. 10 south of Clare. Injured was William Norkunas, 28, UPI maintenance man from Michigan, the driver.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Power Failure Darkens Buckingham Palace

LONDON (UPI) — Buckingham Palace suffered a complete power failure today and its hundreds of rooms were briefly without lights or electric fires.

★ ★ ★

Princess Anne, 11, was the only member of the royal family in the palace at the time of the eight-minute power cut.

Second Trial Under Way for Pair on Kidnap Charge

The second trial of two men on charges of kidnaping and robbing Royal Oak gas station chain owner J. J. Levy Sept. 5 was to get under way this morning in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Visiting Circuit Judge Edward Kane of Port Huron presides.

It took a full day to impanel a jury yesterday.

Arrangements for Judge Kane to hear the case were made when a mistrial was declared last month. On trial are Joseph Loncar, 35, of Lincoln Park, and Joseph Welsh, 38, of Hazel Park.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem disqualified himself and declared a mistrial. Attorneys for Loncar and Welsh said Judge Ziem's impartiality might be affected because Levy had contributed to one of his past election campaigns.

★ ★ ★

Another attorney pointed out that Levy had contributed to past election campaigns of all the county's circuit judges.

EARLIER DELAY

The trial had been delayed earlier when peremptory challenges by defense attorneys exhausted the supply of available jurors.

★ ★ ★

Defense attorneys yesterday used up 33 of the 40 peremptory challenges to which they were entitled.

Some 75 jurors were on hand for the beginning of the January jury term yesterday. They were the only ones remaining after screening of 165 summoned for the term.

Loncar, Welsh and two others are accused of taking Levy, owner of Oakland County Gas & Oil Co. from his home to his main station and forcing him to open a safe.

The other two, Thomas Kabala, 26, and James E. Wilson, 27, both of Lincoln Park, pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

Kabala was sentenced to 7½ to 25 years in prison by Judge Ziem. Wilson is awaiting sentence.

Adlai's 'Dyspeptic'

Now JFK's Mimicked as Mimic

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Suppose the President of the United States got so tired of listening to his imitators that he decided to make an album of his own?

This couldn't happen, but such an hypothesis is the theme of a new long-play record that, in many respects is superior to those which have preceded it.

Called "The 'President' Strikes Back," the record features Boston-born, Harvard-educated Marc London in dual impersonations of the President and U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson.

London's impression of the President is as close to the voice we hear on radio and television as that of Vaughn Meader. But London's Stevenson sounds like Adlai with indigestion.

Unlike other Kennedy-imitation albums, "The 'President' Strikes Back" has a continuing story line. The others were constructed around unconnected episodes.

It begins with the President summoning his Cabinet to a 4 a.m. meeting.

★ ★ ★

"Why wasn't I awsked to make an album?" the President's voice asks. "I do as good a Kennedy as any of my imitators."

At this point, the voice of the President repeats some of the "proceed with vigor" cliches used by other imitators.

"Remarkable, Mr. President, close, very close," says the voice of Stevenson.

The voice of the President then complains to the First Lady that his imitators pronounce Cuba as "Cuber" whereas he pronounces it "Cuber" and the situation must be remedied because children are spelling it C-U-B-E-R.

"There are over 972 people making a living making imitations of me, including 26 members of my family," he said.

As the plan proceeds, men behind the recording business ask the President if he can do imitations.

"Sometimes at parties I do imitations of Cary Grant," he replied and follows with an unconvincing mimicry.

"Have you heard my imitation of Ed Sullivan?"

After the album is issued, the President calls a news conference.

"First of all, I would like to read an opening statement," he says. "There is no business like show business."

"Is Bobby going to make an album?" a reporter asks.

"We have an agreement," the President's voice says. "Bobby will not make a record until he becomes the President."

★ ★ ★

Later, the President is told other heads of government are making records, such as "Sing Along With Pandit Nehru" and "The Button-Up Mind of Nikita Khrushchev."

The Khrushchev record contains lines stolen from the President's album.

May Seek Shutdown of Clemson

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Two members of the South Carolina House of Representatives were reported today to be preparing legislation to close Clemson College rather than allow its integration under federal court order.

★ ★ ★

Passage appeared doubtful. In the Senate Tuesday one of the state's leading defenders of segregated schools argued against closing Clemson. Sen. L. Marion Gressette, counselling peace and order said court orders to admit Negro Harvey Gantt are only a setback in a war which he said South Carolina still hopes to win.

EXHAUSTED EFFORTS

The state apparently has exhausted all legal remedies against admission of Gantt, 20, an architectural student who seeks to transfer to Clemson from Iowa State University. Clemson trustees meet in Columbia Thursday, presumably to act on the basis of U.S. Dist. Judge C. C. Wyche's formal filing Tuesday of the final order from the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Gantt has said he expects to enroll Monday. The new semester begins Feb. 1.

State Reps. A. W. (Red) Bethea and Mitchell Ott discussed the possibility of legislation to close Clemson in separate meetings with Gov. Donald S. Russell and Gressette. Gressette heads the State School Segregation Committee which for 11 years has helped preserve South Carolina's record of completely segregated public schools. The state is the last one with such a record.

AF Assured of Major Role in Space Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force got definite assurance yesterday of an important role in the manned space flight program.

A written agreement between the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Defense Department was announced in connection with the Gemini program, which aims at a series of flights of orbiting vehicles with two-man crews.

Officials told newsmen that under the agreement, Air Force pilots will participate in some of these flights.

The joint NASA-Pentagon announcement said the two agencies had agreed on ways for the "most effective utilization" of the Gemini project in advancing manned space flight, including rendezvous of space vehicles.

The Air Force and NASA had been at odds on some features of the man-in-space program.

But today's announcement emphasized new cooperation in meeting the requirements of both civilian and military scientists and in eliminating duplicaton of efforts.

The military's primary interest in the Gemini program is in a rendezvous, which is directly related to the problem of inspecting possibly hostile satellites.

The air force also wants to explore the possibilities of using manned satellites for inspection of ground areas.

State Surveys U. S. 27 to Build 30 Overpasses

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has started making surveys for some 30 overpasses and interchanges to be built at present grade crossings on U.S. 27 between Ithaca and Grayling.

★ ★ ★

The structures will be built during the next three years and will cost some $5 million, the department said.

Car Ferry Rates to Rise Between Town, Island

DETOUR (AP) — Car ferry rates between Detour and Drummond Island will be increased April 15, reports the State Highway Department.

The one-way passenger car rate will go from $1 to $1.25, and the general passenger rate will be increased from 25 to 35 cents.

Nab Guerrillas After Slaughter

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — Authorities today announced the capture of 42 Communist guerrillas who slaughtered helpless Vietnamese trainees at a camp run by the U.S. Army.

Informed sources said the Viet Cong guerrillas were part of a 400-man force which murdered 40 anti-Communist tribesmen and wounded 26 others with machine guns, grenades and clubs in a planned raid Jan. 3.

Two Americans were wounded in the nearly five hours of fighting.

One of the Vietnamese victims was beaten to death with spiked clubs. Another was tied to a tree and shot.

The sources said the Viet Cong suffered 50 dead and an unknown number of wounded in a hastily organized counter-attack.

The raid took place before dawn at a U.S. special services camp near Plei Mrong village on the Vietnamese-Cambodian border, about 250 miles north of Saigon. The attack was plotted with the help of Communist agents inside the camp.

Brooklyn Comedian Hits Gag-Telling Officials

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Brooklyn comedian Phil Foster went to Washington to a dinner of the Touchdown Club, met Vice President Johnson, senators and Supreme Court justices — and then he told them off.

WILSON

"I'm surprised at you all," he said. "I've looked forward to meeting you and wanted to hear some words of wisdom from our leaders. So what do you do? Everybody gets up and tells a joke . . . an old joke.

"This is a real switch. If I want words of wisdom, I've got to call up Joey Bishop or Buddy Hackett and say, "Tell me, what's the latest that happened to Cuba?" "

Phil's going into Carnegie Hall—also on Arthur Godfrey's TV spec on CBS—to snicker at some of our leaders.

"I think the funniest man in America is Mayor Wagner," says Phil. "He made a speech in which he said 'Tammy Hall is finished. Bosses are out, bossism is dead, there will be no more bosses.' Then he added, 'From now on, I'm the boss.'"

Foster's doing Carnegie Hall and TV because, since the Dodgers left Brooklyn, "there no place to work before any crowd, except the Aquarium—and you can't get many laughs out of fish."

★ ★ ★

Senator Barry Goldwater's thrilled rather than disturbed — evidently — about satires on his philosophy — for the other night he heard the Plaza Hotel's Plaza 9 supper club sketch called "Barry's Boys."

Those who are anti-Goldwater call it "murderous."

The senator will probably add it to his own act with a preface, "This is the sort of thing they say about me." It opens with:

"We're the bright young men . . . who want to go back to 1910 . . . we're Barry's Boys . . . And closes: "Let's go back to the days when men were men . . . and start the first World War over again . . . We're Barry's Boys."

Mercury at 3 Below in Survival Test

CLARE (AP) — The temperature dropped to three below zero today as Mrs. Lavina Radabaugh continued her "survival test" in the woods of Clare County.

The housewife has camped in the wilderness since Friday when she carried a 75-pound pack containing a shotgun and fishing and camping gear into the center of Michigan's Lower Peninsula for an eight-day stay.

A county sheriff's officer said today Mrs. Radabaugh, 47, from the Detroit suburb of Wayne, is taking the camp out "smoothly."

Hospital Will Expand

DEARBORN (AP)—Oakwood Hospital announced a $3.4-million expansion program yesterday, increasing the number of regular beds in the hospital to 457. The expansion is the second since the hospital was built 10 years ago.

Responsibility of Maturity

Parents Must Decide What Child Studies

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Parents and teachers are supposed to be mature — this implies the ability to make decisions. Therefor, it is our responsibility to decide how much school work children need to do.

A first or second grader cannot be expected to understand that learning to write with ease and confidence insures success all through school.

Whether or not he practices sufficiently to gain this skill cannot be left to the child's "feeling of need" for writing.

DR. NASON

A conscientious mother would not let her child decide whether or not to brush his teeth or put away his toys. She insists he pays attention to such tasks until they are completed.

Andadults should expect children to do satisfactory work at their level. Children need firm support in establishing skills needed for future success.

AT OWN PACE

But remember, not all children develop at the same rate. Some may have made little progress, for instance, in mastering writing by the end of second grade.

Moving such children on to third grade places them in a difficult position. In fact, they are not prepared to do third grade work.

Careful supervision and encouragement by teachers and parents helps most children catch up.

However, when slow writing development is due to slow physical development it is no one's fault — neither the child, parents, nor school.

But you must make the effort to help him overcome the writing handicap just as soon as he gains the necessary physical development. Too often this is neglected.

Without such individual help the child will be passed from grade to grade handicapped in his ability to write and feeling incapable of success all through his school life.

Skills other than writing also effect a child's confidence in school. If your child dislikes or avoids homework and study, there is something he does not know how to do well.

For instance, if a third grader dislikes reading he may not understand what he reads. It may take long practice sessions, starting with very simple materials to advance this skill.

★ ★ ★

He must gain the ability to read, understand and be able to state the ideas he has gathered in his own words.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

When a fourth grader, or high schooler, cannot write well enough to produce neat papers; if he cannot explain the processes he is carrying out in words, only practice in these procedures will install a feeling of confidence.

This confidence will enable him to carry on his studies free from outside pressures, and then he can look forward optimistically to college or further education.

The student who is inadequately prepared for exams usually puts off doing anything until the last minute. You should help him to set up efficient patterns of review and make him stick to them.

At all times, we owe it to our children to see that they are willing to work to gain the necessary knowledge and skills for success.

People who are confident of their ability are happy people. Those who have no confidence not only lack the drive to try, but are susceptible to suggestions of attaining their ends through less than honorable means.

Corporation Taxes May Rise in 1st Year of Cut

ONE COLOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corporations might find themselves paying more tax instead of less under the first full year of President Kennedy's proposed tax reduction program, it was learned today.

Well-posted sources reported also that Kennedy plans to call for a sharp curtailment of the personal deductions claimed by millions of taxpayers for charity, interest, local taxes and casualty losses.

In a 9,000-word special message to Congress Thursday, the President will reveal the details of the proposed three-year tax package which would cut corporate and individual income tax rates by $13.5 billion, but would partly offset these reductions by $3.5 billion of revenue-raising revisions.

★ ★ ★

The message will urge early tax relief—next July 1—for individuals and small businesses. For corporations generally, it will propose a two-stage reduction starting next Jan. 1 to reduce the corporation rate from 52 to 47 per cent in annual steps.

DELAYED BENEFITS

In the event Congress goes along with the whole Kennedy plan—an unlikely prospect, in the opinion of many members of Congress—the corporations would not receive a full benefit of their $2.5 billion rate reductions until 1969.

The reason is Kennedy's proposal that corporation tax payments, now due six months after the quarter in which the income was earned, be speeded up sufficiently over a period of years to bring the tax collections to a current basis.

This would increase total corporation taxes by $1.5 billion annually in 1964, while the rate reductions were saving about $1.25 billion.

In 1965, when the second step of the corporate tax cut takes effect, the net tax savings would be roughly $1 billion, experts estimate. Not until the fifth year, 1969, would the full relief be felt.

For consumers, the benefits would be quick and substantial, even though the $11 billion cut proposed in individual income taxes would be reduced to about $8 billion because of changes intended to close what the treasury calls tax loopholes.

The reductions for individuals also would come in two steps, but the timing would be different. The first reduction would take effect in mid-1963 and the second in mid-1964. The tax rates, now ranging from 91 to 20 per cent would wind up in a range of 65 to 14 per cent.

But starting next Jan. 1, the proposed tightening-up revisions would take hold. Besides trimming severely the personal deductions, these revisions would bring important changes in the tax treatment of capital gains, stock options, dividend payments, inheritances, and percentage depletion allowances which apply to natural resources.

The basic exemption of $600 each for taxpayers and their dependents would not be cut, informants said, but an over-all limit would be imposed on the terest payments on bank loans total of such deductions as in- and mortgages, losses from storm or casualty, doctors' and hospital bills, and taxes paid to state and local governments.

The mercury dipped to an unofficial 35 below zero at Covington during the night.

And things will get worse before they get better.

The short range forecast called for lows tonight from 3 below to 20 below in lower Michigan and 15 to 25 below in the Upper Peninsula.

Pontiac's high tomorrow is expected to reach a frigid 10 above.

Heavy snow was forecast for southwestern lower Michigan and for northern portions near Lake Michigan.

About an inch of snow may fall in the local area over the weekend.

Between 1 and 2 inches of new snow fell on the Pontiac area yesterday. New Buffalo bore the brunt of the evening storm with 11 inches reported.

The Michigan State Highway Department said highways throughout the Lower Peninsula were snow-covered and slippery in spots.

Highways in the Upper Peninsula were generally in good driving condition, the department said.

New Blizzard Slashes Into the Midwest

From Our News Wires

A new blizzard swept through the Midwest today, dropping the mercury far below zero, stacking up new snow from Denver to New York and creating huge ice gorges on the Mississippi River.

Weather Bureau forecasters said little relief appeared in sight immediately from the prolonged siege of bitter cold and stormy weather.

At least 91 deaths were attributed to the storms since last weekend. Indiana counted 20, New England 15, Illinois 12, Texas 10, Oklahoma 8 Michigan 7, Colorado 5, Missouri, Iowa and Wisconsin 3 each, Minnesota and Montana 2 each and New York 1.

Some early morning low temperatures included -30 in Eau Claire, Wis.; -29 in Wausau, Wis.; -28 in Duluth and International Falls, Minn.; and -26 in Minneapolis.

Up to three inches of fresh snow fell from Detroit to New York.

Nearly 30 inches of snow had fallen at Muskegon, Mich., since the weekend, and 10 inches fell yesterday alone.

Commission Beats Down Condemnation Awards

A resolution which would have allocated $1,030,116.50 in condemnation awards to property owners in Pontiac's R20 urban renewal area, was defeated by a 4-3 vote of the City Commission last night.

Defeat of the measure set off a heated debate over procedures followed by the city in settling contested offers for properties in the urban renewal program.

City Attorney William A. Ewart and City Manager Robert A. Stierer urged commissioners to approve the resolution. They argued that the awards were ordered by the court and the measure is required by federal urban renewal regulations.

Voting against the resolution were Commissioners Milton R. Henry, Winford E. Bottom, Dick M. Kirby and Charles H. Harmon.

Mayor Robert Landry and Commissioners Loy L. Ledford and William H. Taylor Jr. voted in favor.

De Gaulle Eases Up Temporarily on British

PARIS (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle agreed today to put the problem of Britain's entry into the European Common Market on ice for the time being.

Reliable sources said de Gaulle at a final half-hour talk with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, agreed to Adenauer's proposal that the executive commission of the European Economic Community make a thorough new study of the problems of British entry and submit its recommendations to the foreign ministers of the six Common Market countries.

There would be no time limit for completion of the study, but it is expected to take some months.

Adenauer left for Bonn after his talks with de Gaulle, ending a three-day visit to Paris during which he signed a comprehensive treaty for French-West German cooperation in diplomacy, defense, education and culture.

De Gaulle's opposition to British membership in the Common Market posed a major problem in French-West German cooperation even before the treaty was signed. West Germany favors Britain's entry into the economic community.

West Germany also has endorsed President Kennedy's proposal for a multinational nuclear force for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. De Gaulle opposes it.

Adenauer's proposal to transfer the Common Market issue from the negotiating table to the study stage is designed to prevent a dramatic rupture in Brussels Monday, when the six nations are to take up a French demand that the British application for membership be shelved indefinitely.

JFK Willing to Take Chance

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) President Kennedy is willing to take some risks in order to get a nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union, U.S. officials now are trying to find out whether Soviet Premier Khrushchev is willing to reduce the risks to what they consider a reasonable level.

The heart of the problem in negotiations now under way here is whether Khrushchev will agree to the kind of foreign inspection on Soviet territory which would give the United States confidence that the Soviet Union would live up to its agreement.

U.S., British and Soviet negotiators, opening a new round of talks on the test ban issue, met at the State Department for almost four hours late Tuesday and reported only that they had agreed to meet again at midafternoon today.

The United States is understood to have asked the Soviet Union a series of questions designed to disclose in detail just what types of test ban safeguards the Soviet government is willing to accept and precisely how they would operate.

Khrushchev has told Kennedy that he is prepared to agree to two or three on-site inspections a year by outside experts. Those would be used to determine whether earth shocks which originated in the Soviet Union were caused by earthquakes or by nuclear explosions underground.

Kennedy has taken the position that eight or 10 such inspections by international scientific teams would be necessary to provide reasonable security for the rest of the world against any sneak Soviet tests.

Shipping Association Accepts Proposal of Presidential Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said today the New Orleans Steamship Association has accepted the dock strike settlement plan proposed by his presidentially appointed mediation group.

NEW YORK (AP)—Northeast ship owners and longshoremen have agreed to terms to settle the month-long dock strike — but numerous details remain to be worked out before more than 600 idle ships sail again.

Southern and Gulf ship owners and longshore negotiators had still to come to terms.

And agreements in all areas are subject to ratification by the union rank and file.

The New York Shipping Association agreed yesterday to accept a presidential board's proposal to provide a 37 cents an hour package wage increase over a two-year period.

The AFL-CIO International Longshoremens Association had agreed to it for the northeast area last Sunday.

Agreements reached here usually — but not necessarily — set the pattern for the remainder of the industry.

Federal mediation sessions were scheduled today in Galveston, Tex.; New Orleans, La. and Mobile, Ala.; in an attempt to reach agreement in those areas.

A similar meeting will be held in Miami, Fla., at a time not yet specified.

Controversy Seemingly Dead Issue

LANSING (AP) — Partisan scuffling over the seating of a new member-elect appeared to be a dead issue today as the House prepared to receive a committee recommendation that he be given the oath of office.

The controversy — which developed when Republicans challenged the fitness of Rep.-elect Leonard Walton, D-Detroit, to serve—was all but settled yesterday when a special house committee agreed tentatively to recommend that he be sworn in.

A formal vote on the matter is expected Thursday, but still unsettled is the question of whether Walton, 37, should be censured for violation of state election laws.

Walton still faces trial next month on charges he broke the law by permitting the word "re-elect" to be used on campaign literature although he never had held office.

TESTIMONY REVIEWED

The committee, composed of three Republicans and two Democrats, decided on its recommendation after a review of testimony from three days of public hearings in Detroit last week.

Rep. Henry Hogan, R-Birmingham, the committee chairman, said that on the basis of evidence Walton possibly deserved a censure but his offenses —high misdemeanors—were not serious enough to merit denying him a seat.

"All his campaign literature apparently was designed to deceive the public," said Hogan. "We feel that his hand should be slapped so future candidates will be more careful."

The committee also took the position, Hogan reported, that the constitutional provision which gives House members sole power to judge qualifications of members does not intend the right to deny a seat by a simple majority vote.

The provision provides only that the chamber can decide, by a two-thirds vote, to unseat a member, committee members said.

The censure was to be reconsidered today after a preliminary vote yesterday went against it. The proposed censure probably would cite five violations of elections laws.

JOINT RESOLUTION

The House today also may receive for consideration a joint resolution already passed in the Senate to set April 26 as a tentative date for adjournment of the regular 1963 session.

The measure passed the Senate on a party-line vote, 21 Republicans and 10 Democrats, two days ago. It has the backing of Gov. George Romney.

Some 23 bills were assigned to committees yesterday in the brief session in the House — among them a $1.25 minimum wage bill (labor committee), appropriation of $300,000 for a governor's mansion (ways and means) and a bill to strengthen rules governing lobbyists (state affairs).

City Commissioners Fail to Agree on 1963 Budget

By DICK SAUNDERS

Pontiac's 1963 budget appropriations remained a big question mark today.

Eight weeks of budget study and revision ended in indecision last night as the City Commission failed to agree on budget appropriations for adoption next Tuesday.

Under city charter regulations, the budget must be adopted in the form of an appropriations ordinance before midnight Jan. 31.

Commissioners have only one more regular meeting before the deadline.

Last night they were to have ordered City Atty. William A. Ewart to prepare the budget appropriations for adoption next week.

Instead, an informal meeting was called for 8 p.m. Thursday, at which time a final decision may be made.

At this point, the only thing that appears certain is that the $7,045,435 budget proposed by City Manager Robert A. Stierer last November will be revised considerably.

Stierer's proposed budget is based on the assumption that the city's total assessed valuation will go up nearly $7-million, from $281.2-million in 1962 to $288-million in 1963.

On the assumed $288-million tax base, the proposed budget would require a tax rate of $15.65 per $1,000 of assessed property value — a hike of $1.79 over the current tax rate.

★ ★ ★

As in the case every year, the tax base won't be known until it is set by the tax board of review in April.

Stierer cut more than $480,000 off original departmental requests before submitting his proposed budget.

Since then, commissioners have unofficially considered further cuts in appropriations for the police, youth assistance, parks and recreation, street lighting, legal and health departments.

Also suggested is a $90,000 cut in capital improvement appropriations.

The decision over where to cut the budget is a secondary one. Commissioners are split over what to do with the money they slash from proposed appropriations.

Some want to put it back into the budget to cut down on the unappropriated surplus, thus affecting no measurable decrease in the tax rate.

★ ★ ★

Others want to cut the total budget figure, thus decreasing the assumed $15.65 tax rate.

OK $30,000 Purchase of Site for New School

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education last night authorized purchase of a site for a future elementary school and approved plans for a new educational program for gifted students.

The school site is located on North Franklin Road between Franklin and Telegraph roads in Bloomfield Township. Purchase price is $30,000.

Once the purchase is completed, it will mark the final project in a school expansion program financed by a $4,135,000 bond issue approved by school district voters in 1961.

★ ★ ★

The program for exceptional students, according to Mrs. Kathleen Flint, superintendent of instruction, will begin next September with select pupils from all elementary schools in the district.

Mrs. Flint said the program will start with a small class of ungraded pupils in a classroom equipped with instructional material for all educational levels.

It will be for students with high intelligence quotients or high achievement levels.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS

A Pontiac woman, Mrs. Hazel MacGirr of 23 Boston St., announced her resignation as principal of Vaughan Elementary School.

Mrs. MacGirr, whose resignation will be effective in September, has been with the school district since 1932.

Also, it was announced that six Bloomfield Hills High School students have received recognition for excellence in English and mathematics.

Jason Hall, 1470 Clarendon Road, has been honored by the National Council of Teachers of English. A theme written by the high school senior will be published in "The Clearing House," a national magazine.

Another senior, Tom Hoopengardner, 1414 Lenox St., placed 23rd among the 12,200 students who took part in the Michigan State Mathematics Competition Examination.

★ ★ ★

Bloomfield Hills students who placed in the top 4 per cent in the state math competition were seniors Fred Fink, 4432 Quarton Road, and Peter Lambeck, 868 Helston Road, and juniors Donald Gillian, 140 E. Hickory Grove Road, and Joseph Plante, 951 Timberlake Road.

Two new courses will be included in the Bloomfield Art Association's educational program which opens next week for the winter term.

Added to the curriculum are drawing and water color and costume jewelry.

Registration is available by contacting the art association at the Birmingham Art Center, 1516 S. Cranbrook Road. Classes are available for beginners and advanced students.

Other classes include sculpture composition, studio art, portrait painting, mixed media, enameling copper and silver, water color painting, oil painting and "Young People's Art Workshop," a six-week series for first and second graders.

Balky Car Gets Push Off Campus

Meredith 'Helped' at Ole Miss

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Negro student James H. Meredith left the University of Mississippi, possibly for good, yesterday with students and newsmen literally pushing him off the campus in a broken-down auto.

★ ★ ★

Meredith departed in an atmosphere of boisterousness, but there was none of the bloody violence that marked his admission four months ago.

★ ★ ★

The 29-year-old Korean War veteran was delayed in his departure when his car would not start. He called several service station attendants to recharge the battery.

The car still would not start when he was ready to leave and he had to be pushed off by students and a few newsmen.

He refused to say whether he would return.

Meredith drove to Memphis, Tenn., 80 miles north of here, after taking his last semester examination, and then drove on to Jackson, Miss., where he moved into his newly rented apartment.

An attorney at Memphis, A. W. Willis, said the 29-year-old Air Force veteran would have nothing to say about his future plans until Jan. 28, the official end of the current semester at "Ole Miss."

★ ★ ★

He is reported in serious academic difficulty at the university. He skipped a mathematics examination Monday, presumably failing it by default.

★ ★ ★

About 40 students gathered around Meredith's car as he prepared to leave, taunting him with shouts of "There's the nigger."

★ ★ ★

They were dispersed by campus police. Later, a caravan of 30 cars followed Meredith off the campus and out of town until he reached an interstate highway leading to Memphis.

Ewart said he wasn't in favor of the delay.

The resolution instructed the city treasurer to hold money in a fund and pay settlements in amounts prescribed by the Circuit Court, as property owners applied for awards.

Bottom suggested the city "wait until we see who is going to appeal the decision to the State Supreme Court; then allocate the money."

He felt the city would know which awards would be appealed by next Tuesday's meeting.

Ewart and Stierer explained that persons appealing the court decision would not be able to draw their awards until decisions were handed down on appeals.

GOP Will Investigate Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversy over the failure of the 1961 Cuban invasion has flared up again.

★ ★ ★

The Senate Republican leadership announced Tuesday it would begin an independent investigation of the U.S.-backed assault on the Bay of Pigs, and Democrats immediately raised a cry of "politics."

In Miami, some Cuban exile leaders took issue with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement that the United States never promised air cover for the invasion.

CHARGES BETRAYAL

Dagoberto Darias, head of an invasion veterans organization and a commander of one of the assault transport ships, charged Tuesday that President Kennedy betrayed the Cuban people, even though "his brother is attempting to justify him on the Bay of Pigs fiasco."

He said jets were in the air on invasion day and that he had received a message from "the American flagship directing our operations" advising that air cover would be forthcoming at 2:30 p.m.

"We saw the first two planes pass in the direction of Giron Beach (invasion point)," he said. "A minute later two other jets crossed, but the next minute, the first ones returned, like sea gulls fleeing from a storm."

DIRKSEN ACTS

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he is already gathering information on the crushed invasion and would lay it before the Senate Republican Policy Committee within two weeks.

The committee, he said, gave him clearance to begin the investigation.

Dirksen's aim obviously was to assembly evidence to rebut Atty. Gen. Kennedy's recent review of "mistakes" made in the assault.

Dirksen said only that he was interested in learning if the President's brother "told the entire factual story." But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., contended in the Senate that Kennedy's summary was "a cleanup operation — designed to make the worst mistake of the President's career seem like something entirely different."

"The purpose is to attach a major portion of the blame for the invasion at the feet of the Eisenhower administration," he added.

The White House declined to comment on the investigation. There was no comment from the attorney general.

Dirksen said Republicans agree that the advance work for the invasion was done during the administration of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. But he said the carrying out of the operation "is a matter of such importance that it cannot be left in doubt as to facts."

Democras responded that the Republicans were trying to play politics in international matters.

HAVANA (AP)—A planeload of U.S. citizens who want to go home and a boatload of 900 to 1,000 Cubans who want to leave home were expected to embark for the United States today.

Some 205 U.S. citizens who have been living in Cuba are scheduled to be flown out on two planes—one leaving today and the other Friday.

The Cubans, relatives and friends of former invasion prisoners, are expected to leave Havana tonight aboard the ransom ship Shirley Lykes. The Red Cross in Miami said the ship is expected to arrive at Port Everglades, Fla., about 8 a.m. Thursday.

CASTRO AGREES

The Swiss Embassy, which represents U.S. interests in Cuba, announced Monday that the Castro regime had agreed to the departure.

The Shirley Lykes arrived in Havana Friday with baby food and medicines shipped from the United States as part of the ransom for the Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners. Unloading of the ship was halted by wind and rain Monday but was resumed Tuesday.

Two high-ranking American Red Cross officials arrived in Havana Tuesday arousing speculation that their mission might have wider implications than delivery of the ransom for the 1,113 Bay of Pigs invasion prisoners freed last month.

★ ★ ★

There was talk that the Red Cross mission might try to intercede for the 17 or more Americans held in Cuban prisons. In Washington a spokesman at Red Cross headquarters said he had no information that the American prisoners would be discussed.

Rep. Griffin Blasts Unions on Strikes

MUSKEGON (AP) — Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., blasted what he termed "some arrogant and power-hungry union leaders" last night in calling for stronger legislation regarding strikes.

★ ★ ★

Addressing the West State Press Club here, Griffin said, "I don't think we can take away the right of unions to strike, but some arrogant and power-hungry union leaders call or prolong strikes when it might not be the wish of the majority of the union membership."

Griffin said he thinks "there should be government-supervised secret strike ballots taken."

Injured Man Succumbs After Car-Train Crash

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Theodore Huntley, 45, of Milan, died in a hospital here yesterday of injuries suffered Monday in a car-train crash near the train depot in Milan.

★ ★ ★

Wife Obeys 'Wish,' Kills 3 Children

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — A husband had a row with his wife in the morning.

He returned home from work and found a note which said: "Your very last words this morning 'I wish we did not have a family'—Now you don't."

★ ★ ★

Their three children had been suffocated in plastic bags. The children were Susan, 4, Michael, 13 months, and Kevin, 6 weeks.

Yesterday, Marie Elizabeth Tucker M'Ginty, 33, the mother, pleaded guilty to killing her children and was sentenced to life in prison.

Trading Is Fairly Active

Steels Continue to Pace Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels continued to pace a stock market advance in fairly active trading early today.

The pleasant surprise of Youngstown Sheet's better-than-expected earnings paced yesterday's late rally by the steels and Wall Street continue to enjoy its tonic effect.

Youngstown added about 2 more points. Jones & Laughlin was ahead a full point. Fractional gains were made by Bethlehem, U.S. Steel, and Republic Steel.

A rise of about 2 by Du Pont bolstered the averages. Union Carbide recouped a point.

ADDS POINTS

IBM, which did very little yesterday on news of its higher dividend added about 2. Polaroid rose more than a point.

SCM Corp., actively traded and higher in the preceding session was about unchanged. American Photocopy, which also has been attracting speculative demand, jogged ahead fractionally.

Motors showed a thinly higher edge, with Chrysler about unchanged. Rails were hesitant, showing barely any change following their strength of yesterday.

Oils moved ahead narrowly on balance. Aerospace issues were firm, drugs, tobaccos, and building materials mixed.

Fractional gains were scored by Allied Chemical, CBS, General Electric, U.S. Rubber, International Telephone, and American Smelting.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly higher. Most gains were fractional. Gainers included Reliance Insurance, General Plywood, Breeze Corp. Kawecki Chemical, Paddington Corp., and Draper.

Newly Formed Plant Landed by Little Rock

DETROIT (AP)—Dowsmith, Inc., formed by Dow Chemical Co. and A. O. Smith Corp. a year ago to make glass reinforced plastic pipe, announced yesterday that it is placing its first large facility in Little Rock, Ark.

★ ★ ★

Michigan and Wisconsin industrial development agencies had hoped to land the facility, which will include two buildings to cost $2.4 million.
