The address will be carried by all major radio networks and by NBC-TV and CBS-TV at 8 p. m.

Victims Mostly Americans in Norway Blaze

Tourist Hotel Levelled by Inferno Trapping Many in Rooms

VOSSESTRAND, Norway (UPI) — Fire destroyed the packed Stalheim Tourist Hotel today and was reported to have killed many of the 130 American tourists visiting there.

Police feared the death toll would exceed 32 and that most of the victims would be Americans. They said they had recovered seven bodies and that more than 25 other persons were missing and feared dead.

There were 147 guests and about 50 Norwegian employees in the 50-year-old four-story wooden hotel when fire flashed through the building at 3 a.m. and trapped many persons in their rooms.

At least 35 persons were taken to hospitals, many of them men and women between the ages of 50 and 60 who had come to this resort area 50 miles northeast of Bergen to view the country's famous fjords.

Police hoped that some of the missing had left the hotel grounds and had merely failed to report their absence. But they could not be sure until they searched the remains of the tourist inn that was built here at the turn of the century.

The search for more victims was extremely difficult and dangerous in the still-smoldering ruins.

Hospital officials said some of the 35 being treated were in "serious" condition. Victims' names were withheld by authorities.

Police said the hotel was packed by 147 guests and the Norwegian hotel staff when flames ripped through the 50-year-old structure. The fire burned out the telephone system and hotel employees and guests were unable to telephone for help at once.

SOUNDS ALARM

An American tourist, Horace Caldwell of Atlanta, Ga., sounded the alarm after fire invaded his room.

Three American women leaped through upper floor windows to escape their flame-filled rooms. Police said one leaped from the third floor and two from the second floor.

'Sick' Convicts Holding Five in Missouri

Psychiatric Group Sits Tight, Asks Nothing as Troopers Ring Building

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Rioting psychiatric patients seized five guards and took over a wing of the U.S. Medical Center here last night and an official said he feared it was part of a plan to escape the prison.

Sheriff Glenn Hendrix of Greene County said information from inside the prison indicated the convicts were trying to break through the wall on the north west corner of the "10 North" building.

Guards, State Troopers, Springfield policemen and special guards from the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan. formed three separate tight rings around the "10 North" wing of the federal prison system's general hospital today. The unit is known as the "Country Club" because it resembles one from the outside.

The officers, armed with riot guns and gas grenades, were spaced only 20 feet apart to guard against the possibility of a break.

But the officers made no move toward the wing. Dr. Russell O. Settle, warden of the center, ordered his staff to avoid provoking the rioters.

The "10 North" wing is a prison-type building with barred doors and windows and individual cells. It is divided into three wards, each housing about a third of the 106 inmates.

Homosexuals are in one ward, "young aggressives" in the second ward, and "older aggressives" in the third. All are neuro-psychiatric patients and they are among the most dangerous of the hospital's 1,046 inmates.

MANY ARE SICK

Of the center's inmate population, 250 are trustees. About 60 per cent of the 787 patients suffer mental illnesses.

None of the rioters has been identified by the warden.

At 6:30 a.m., the inmates in "10 North" called the warden's office and demanded that food and coffee be sent to the wing.

But the coffee and food was not sent over.

So far as is known, the rioting inmates do not have access to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Seven Agree to Act in '61 Centennial Posts

Seven prominent Pontiac men have agreed to serve in key positions in Pontiac's 1961 Centennial.

The seven are slated to become members of a board of directors governing a centennial corporation, expected to be formed within a few weeks. Accepting appointments by the Pontiac Centennial Advisory Commission were:

A. C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank; William B. Hartman, attorney; John W. Hurlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Philip E. Rowston; Thomas F. Wietorn, Fisher Body plant manager; Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools; and Howard H. Fitzgerald, Pontiac Press business manager.

While it was decided yesterday that the 34-member citizens commission, which Rowston appointed in April, should act as the centennial's executive committee, this decision may be reversed.

"It would perhaps be better not to settle definitely on the membership of the executive committee until after incorporation," said Rowston today.

Provisions for the board of directors and the executive committee are to be included in bylaws which are being drawn up for incorporation.

LOOKING FOR TOP MAN

The commission has still to fill the key position in the organization it is setting up to run the centennial.

This is the post of general chairman, a job that is expected to require hundreds of hours of volunteer work.

Rowston, who is serving as chairman of the commission, said the post may be filled shortly.

"It is difficult to find a man of high caliber who will have the time to devote to the job," he said.

The general manager will be responsible for running the centennial, said Rowston, with the help of the executive committee and divisional chairmen in charge of various phases of the celebration.

New 59ers Getting Ready

DETROIT (AP)—Undaunted by the rough-going encountered by their predecessors, a new group of 59ers is planning to strike out at dawn tomorrow to homestead in Alaska.

The newest group includes 78 members of 19 families. They plan to leave via motor caravan from the Michigan state fair grounds.

Most of the group, already having disposed of Michigan homes, have been camping out—apparently conditioning themselves for the rigors to come.

Frank Milazzo, 35, who recently returned from a visit with the first 59ers, now trying to claw out farms from the wilderness above the Susitna River, is confident a lot

Rackets Probers Call Thompson

New Trial Rejected; May Delay Sentencing if in Washington

With a second request for a new trial rejected, Flint Teamsters business agent Jack D. Thompson might escape his scheduled sentencing Monday for arson because of an appointment before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington.

Genesee Circuit Judge Stephen J. Roth yesterday afternoon turned down a second trial for Thompson, saying "the case was fully and fairly tried."

Thompson, convicted by a jury April 3 of being the second man in the dry cleaning establishment fire—which cost fellow Teamster Frank Kierdorf his life last summer, claimed the jury foreman was prejudiced against him and the Teamsters.

Judge Roth said: "The defense has not made sufficient showing and the court will not require the appearance of the jury foreman for questioning."

Thompson's attorney contended yesterday that the foreman, Coley Crump, a factory worker, once worked for a Flint builder who had a labor dispute with Thompson's Local 332.

After being postponed twice because of two requests for new trials, Thompson's sentencing by Judge Roth is set for Monday. However, the judge said the date would be rescheduled if Thompson is away in Washington. He faces a maximum prison term of 10 years.

Thompson's attorneys said he had been summoned to appear in Washington Thursday.

Thompson, along with Leann Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614, and another man, since imprisoned, were subpoenaed by the Senate Committee last August during the height of the Kierdorf investigation. Later appearance dates were cancelled indefinitely.

Harrelson today said he had not been notified to appear since. It was not immediately known what Sen. John McClellan's committee wished to question the 42-year-old Thompson about, and whether he was appearing on the original subpoena or a recently-issued one.

Slate-Lie Test for Mate Slayer

Mrs. Millican Will Be Released if She Passes It, Authorities Say

Held Monday night in the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Edna L. Millican, 34, of Brandon Township was to be released today if she passes a lie detector test.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said that all available information tends to bear out the woman's statement that she shot her husband, Earnest, to death in self defense after he beat her in a drunken rage.

Thief Has Real Ball

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A thief broke into the George Washington High School gym last weekend and had himself a ball. More precisely, said school officials, he took 536 of them—footballs, basketballs, golf balls, tennis balls, softballs and baseballs.

Milazzo said his group plans to head out of Michigan via the Mackinac Bridge and U.S. 2, entering Canada near Minot, N.D. The original snowstorm went via Chicago and battled snowstorms for two days before reaching the Windy City.

Mrs. Millican left the Oakland County Jail at 10:30 a.m. today for the Redford State Police Post where the lie test was scheduled.

Taylor said he expected the test results would confirm Mrs. Millican's story.

She admitted shotgunning her husband to death in the basement of their home, 1570 Perry Lake Rd., early yesterday after she had been beaten by him a few hours earlier.

She said that she was hiding the shotgun from Millican, 40, because he had threatened to take her life.

When Millican discovered her with the shotgun, she said, he tried to take it away from her and the gun "suddenly went off."

Millican died of a wound below the heart.

Millican was employed at the Fisher Body Division plant in Grand Blanc.

Baby Sitter Is Clinging to Life

18-Year-Old Remains in Critical Condition; Man Admits Beating

An 18-year-old baby sitter who was the victim of a savage beating early Monday morning was clinging to life today in Pontiac General Hospital.

The girl, Phyllis Jean Keel, is in critical condition. She suffered two skull fractures and severe neck and chest cuts.

In the Oakland County Jail is Bruce M. Taylor, 32, who has admitted beating the girl to Pontiac police detectives. He said he mistook the girl, who was sleeping on the living room sofa, for his wife, Juanita, 29, from whom he is separated.

Miss Keel was staying with Mrs. Taylor's three children while the mother was working at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital where she is a nurses' aid.

Mrs. Taylor told police her husband had bothered other baby sitters previously.

Police believe a blood-smeared baseball bat found in the basement of Mrs. Taylor's home was the weapon used in the beating. Taylor said he didn't remember.

Later yesterday he refused to make a formal statement at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said a warrant may be issued today, charging Taylor with assault with intent to commit murder.

But Supervisors Hit 'Monkeyshines'

MSUO Road Paving OK'd

Recent student demonstrations at Michigan State University resulted in four members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday voting against appropriating $10,000 to pave the main road leading into MSUO.

Just as the supervisors were expected to give a routine unanimous roll call approval of the appropriation, Brandon Township Supervisor Alex R. Solley jumped to his feet.

"We have seen quite a bit lately that they (students) have been wasting our money by a bunch of monkeyshines," Solley said. "I for one won't give money of taxpayers so it can be wasted."

Solley's objection went for naught, however, as supervisors approved the money, 69-4.

Voting against allocating it with Solley were Sydney Frid of Northville, Mayon Hoard, Milford Township, and Lee H. Clark, Oxford Township.

"I don't mind those party raids," said Solley after the vote. "It's when they have to call out the police, and when property is damaged, that it goes too far and wastes our money."

The money appropriated from the county's contingent fund will pay half the cost of grading, draining and hard surfacing one-third of a mile of Squirrel road from the main entrance of MSUO north to Pontiac road in Pontiac Township.

The County Road Commission, with state funds, will pay the other half.

3-Truck Crash Sends Driver to the Hospital

A Pontiac milk truck driver, Harry Felix, of 240 S. Sanford St., was injured critically this morning when his truck was involved in a three-truck collision at the corner of Opdyke and Auburn roads.

Felix, a driver for the Detroit Creamery, suffered multiple cuts of the head and chest, and a possible concussion. He was taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

A gravel truck driven by Ralph Shanahan, of Detroit, struck Felix's truck, knocking it from the road. Shanahan told sheriff's deputies he could not avoid the milk carrier.

A third truck driven by Verney Harrington, of 2527 Waverston St., Rochester, was damaged as the gravel carrier tipped over and dropped its load on Harrington's truck. Neither Harrington nor Shanahan were hurt in the accident.

The Sheriff's Department is waiting for a statement from Felix before a complete investigation can be made.

New GM Cars Slated by Nov. 13

TV Show on That Date Will Feature 5 Lines of 1960 Models

The five passenger car lines of General Motors will introduce their 1960 models on or before Nov. 13.

This was disclosed today when GM said the entire line would be shown together for the first time on a television spectacular on that date.

No specific introduction dates have been announced. Industry rumors have said Chevrolet Division will show GM's first small car, the Corvair, about Oct. 9.

The 90-minute TV show on NBC will be a musical by Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe based on their Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady," and their screen adaptation of "Gigi."

A top cast of stage and screen stars will be featured in Lerner and Loewe's first television production. Lerner is writing a musical story especially for the GM program. Also woven into the show will be scenes from two other Lerner-Loewe stage successes—"Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon."

Arrangements for the program are now being completed with the National Broadcasting Company. Campbell-Ewald is the agency handling the show for General Motors.

Thunderclouds Scatter Rain Over Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattered thundershowers, spawned by a collision of warm and cool air, erupted today from Texas to the Appalachians.

The new rains followed a rash of tornadoes, hail, damaging winds and torrential downpours that hit numerous sections of Texas Monday.

A dozen twisters were reported in the Plainview and Lubbock areas of Texas, but damage was confined to farm buildings. Fort Worth was drenched with nearly eight inches of rain. Hail covered ground at New Deal near Lubbock and the storm disrupted power for nearly an hour.

Two deaths were attributed to the Texas storms.

The Cincinnati, Ohio, area was doused with 3.17 inches of rain in six hours. Thundershowers swept the New York City area, leaving nearly an inch of rain. Showers sprinkled parts of New England.

Cool air extending to the eastern slopes of the Rockies touched off showers and thundershowers over the western portion of the northern and central plains.

Temperatures were in sharp contrast from the cool air over the upper Great Lakes to the hot, dry air in the desert Southwest. Grand Marais, Mich., had a frosty 33 reading, while Needles, Calif., sweltered in 102-degree heat.

responsible for policy decisions, legal contracts and budgetary matters, he explained.

Another decision that will be made before incorporation concerns possible profits from the centennial.

It appeared that the commission favored putting any profits into a fund for construction of a civic auditorium.

By dedicating profits to a charitable or civic purpose, the commission can avoid federal amusement taxes on admission prices to centennial events.

The commission is scheduled to meet next Tuesday to review the proposed bylaws, and on Wednesday to consider hiring the John B. Rogers Producing Co. of Fostoria, Ohio.

The Rogers company produces the giant spectacles with which many United States cities have marked important dates in recent years.

A representative of the firm has already appeared before the commission to advise on the initial steps in centennial planning.

A train of 30,000 cars long enough to extend from New York City to Richmond, Va., is needed to transport bituminous coal from mine to market each day.

Queen's Tour Picking Up at Last

By REILMAN MORIN

QUEBEC (AP)—After a slow start, Queen Elizabeth's tour of Canada is beginning to assume the proportions of a major success.

The crowds are growing. There are more and more spontaneous signs of affection and enthusiasm as the Queen and Prince Philip sail up the St. Lawrence River aboard the royal yacht Britannia toward Canada's big cities.

Ancient Quebec, the only walled city in North America, is blazing with flags and decorations. The people are tingling with excitement over the possibility of catching a glimpse of the Queen wearing a diamond tiara and a regal gown for the state dinner the provincial government of Quebec is giving tonight.

But that's paganism.

Perhaps more significant indications are two thousand workmen in an aluminum factory at Arvida waiting after hours, clapping and cheering, as the Queen and her husband walk through the plant.

Virtually entire populations of small towns and cities in the northern part of Quebec province—Baguetteville, Chicoutimi, Arvida—standing hours in pelting rain to watch the couple pass.

A housewife rushing to bring her washing from the clothesline as rain starts to fall, then forgetting it as police sirens signal the Queen's approach.

Members of the Queen's party are frankly relieved. They had been worried by what looked almost like apathy in the first days of the six-week royal tour of Canada.

For both Britain and Canada this trip has specific objectives.

any food. The kitchen and dining hall are in another building.

The only outward sign of violence was broken glass smashed from windows on the west side of the wing. The rioters had covered the windows with blankets.

From time to time, spectators on a road a quarter of a mile from the building could hear shouts from the inside.

One inmate was seen holding a knife to the back of a hostage. A rioter told the center's control room by telephone: "Don't try to come in here or your men will get hurt."

Another inmate said in a second call, "We mean business."

Questioned by Settle on what started the riot, the man said: "We have our demands almost ready but we will call you."

That was at 10:20 Monday night. Nothing since has been heard from the prisoners.

There has been no sound at all from the wing. There are no lights. The prisoners smashed the lights when the uprising began.

Only one newsman, Jim Billings, Daily News, was allowed inside the center.

"There is no rioting in the general sense—no shouting and all that," Billings reported. He said officials were "sitting around, sweating out" the riot and added, "There is not much anyone can do except wait."

COMPLAINT UNKNOWN

"The trouble is, we don't know what these 106 men want," said Billings. "We don't even know what triggered this seizure of the wing."

The 100-foot-long one-story concrete wing is divided into three cell blocks and is separated from the rest of the center by a barred door.

First indication of the riot came when a guard peered through that door in a routine check just before "lights out."

The guard told Dr. Settle he saw inmates milling in the long corridor. The five guards in the wing were stripped to their shorts. Some inmates were wearing the off-bits uniforms. An inmate was holding a knife against the back of a guard.

The hostages are William L. Fitch, Leonard Appleby, Melvin G. Jung, Robert D. Rosenthal and Charles R. Allen, all of Springfield.

As soon as escape routes through the main door and the steel-barred windows were blocked, the staff settled down to waiting.

The medical center is a general hospital for the government's prison system.

Its population has included some of the nation's most notorious criminals, including Al Capone and other gang leaders of the 30s.

The Day in Birmingham

Planning, Building Board Appointments Are Made

BIRMINGHAM—The City Commission put in a relaxed session at its regular meeting last night. At 9 p.m. business at hand was wrapped up, and the commissioners were on their way home.

One item of business concerned appointments to the Planning Board and Building Code Board of Appeals.

Mrs. Florence H. Willett was named to the Planning Board to fill the spot vacated by the recent resignation of William Merrill. His term had until July 1, 1961 to run.

Appointed to the Planning Board for three-year terms were Robert W. Page and Linn Smith. Page was reappointed, and Smith will take over for Dr. George Marin whose term expired.

T. Norville Hubbard was reappointed for a five-year term to the Building Code Board of Appeals.

No action was taken last night to fill the City Commission vacancy left by the recent resignation of John S. O'Gorman Jr. Commissioner William H. Burgum, however, was named to replace O'Gorman as chairman of the City Recreation Board.

On hand at the commission meeting was a group of Latham road citizens protesting sidewalk construction on Latham road between Lincoln and 14-Mile roads. The group appeared to oppose R. B. King of 1700 Latham Rd. who had requested sidewalks in the area.

Following discussion, the matter was tabled for further study by the commission. To be examined are safety factors in the area where pedestrians must use the road because of the lack of sidewalks.

In other commission action Parking Meter Ordinance 405 was amended to require cars to park head-on to meters. The action was taken to prevent damage to meters resulting when cars have been backed in too far in parking spaces.

Mrs. Howard S. Christie of 761 Southfield Rd. and Mrs. William G. Meese, 2775 Pine Hill Dr., both of Birmingham, were among representatives of the Women's Service Committee of William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, who attended the 10th annual meeting of the Michigan Assn. of Hospital Auxiliaries yesterday at the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel in Detroit.

Mrs. Christie was one of the hostesses of the day.

The Beaumont volunteers exhibited a poster depicting their services in the Project Parade as part of the meeting. The poster was designed by Mrs. Earl W. Rohrbacher of 2875 Hylane Dr., Troy.

The Past Chiefs Club of the Birmingham Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Hazel Lawler, 1100 N. Adams Blvd. Cohostesses for the meeting are Mrs. Edwin Weaver and Mrs. Walter Thompson.

Mrs. West H. Gallogly Sr. Service for Mrs. West H. (Margaret H.) Gallogly Sr., 53, of 3560 Wooddale Ct., Bloomfield Township, will be held at 3 p.m. today from Christ Church Cranbrook. Burial will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Gallogly died Saturday in Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, after a prolonged illness.

Prominent in local activities, she was a member of the Tau Beta Assn., the Altar Guild of Christ Church, Junior League of Birmingham, the Women's Village Club and the Bloomfield Farm and Garden Club.

She also was a member of the board and vice president of Neighborhood Service Organization, Detroit.

Surviving besides her husband are a daughter, Mrs. John A. Bacon of Shaker Heights, Ohio; two sons, West H. Jr. of Algonac and William G. of Birmingham; a sister, Mrs. George C. Booth of Bloomfield Hills; and a brother, William H. Harry of Milwaukee.

Her mother, Mrs. William G. Harry of Birmingham, also survives.

Funeral arrangements have been made by the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Traffic Toll 6 on Monday

Two Were Young Bike Riders, Another Was on Scooter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Michigan traffic accidents claimed six lives Monday on top of a weekend toll of nine.

Two of the latest victims were young bike riders. Another was a 15-year-old motor-scooter rider. Also among the victims was a 41-year-old father of nine children. Kenneth G. Wardlaw, 15, of Detroit, was killed when his motor-scooter and an auto collided near his east side Detroit home.

Another east side Detroit, Keith Magna, 11, was killed shortly before. Police held car driver Jasper Carter, 54, of Detroit, and accused him of veering across a street and striking young Magna's bike.

Curtis Wimbley, 8, of Muskegon Heights, was killed when he was hit by a car as he rode his bike from an alley into a street near his home.

Charles Shuburte, 41, a migrant farm worker and father of nine children, was killed when the car in which he was riding collided with a Berrien county road commission truck at an intersection five miles south of Watervliet. Shuburte was from Steele, Mo.

Melvin Lewis Joslin, 21, of Kalamazoo, was killed when his automobile ran off M43 at Gull Lake, near Hastings, and smashed into two utility poles.

Mrs. Charles Standish, 69, of Jackson, was killed and three persons injured in a collision at a U.S. 127 intersection, a mile north of Jackson. Mrs. Standish's husband, who was driving, and Burt Peek, 77, a Jackson passenger, were hurt seriously. So was George Wright, 23, of Jackson, the other driver.

Available to Public Thursday Oakland Directory Out

Copies of Oakland County's official 1959-60 directory will be available to the public beginning Thursday in the County Clerk's Office. There will be no charge.

Copies of the 38-page, pocket-size booklet were distributed yesterday to members of the Board of Supervisors. Immediately Ferndale Supervisor Clayton G. Lilly noticed that under the listing of county departments the Board of Public Works was omitted.

Admitting this was in error, a county clerk has ordered stickers to be added to this department to the books. Lilly is a member of the Board of Public Works.

Again "Mr. Oakland County," Joe Haas of The Pontiac Press, has written his annual one-page introduction for the directory on the county's facts and figures.

Pictured on the front of the directory, prepared by Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr., is Kent Lake in Kensington Metropolitan Park. On the back is the county's new seal, centered with a full oak tree.

This is the first year, Haas reports, that a picture of one of the county's 423 lakes has been used on the cover. Haas yesterday received the first copy of the directory.

Inserted within the front cover is a map showing the boundaries of Oakland County's six legislative districts. In the back is a more detailed map of the county, with locations of city, village, and township offices pinpointed.

Murphy has ordered 10,000 copies of the directory printed.

TIMMINS, Ont. (P)—Mayor Leo Del Villano left for Montreal last night with more than 70 bearskins destined to become hats for Buckingham Palace guards.

The skins will be processed in Montreal and sent to London. Eventually they will make new headpieces—two to a skin—to replace the guards' worn busbies.

The number of skins was boosted in the last few days as various northern Ontario communities shipped them to the mayor, who instigated a recent hunt in this area to help the guards look better.

Annual expenditures for civilian health and medical services in the United States are estimated to be about $94 a person.

Journey To Love

Chapter XXIII

Kathie knew now that she had never been in love before. What Buck Landers had stirred in her heart had frightened her, and now she knew the reason.

Alex was still an enigma to her, and she did not dare trust him, but she was not afraid of his arms. She longed for them with all her heart.

For all she knew, he intended to marry Leilani. Leilani seemed to think he did.

Yet Alex seemed to be as much drawn to Kathie as she was to him, as stirred by her nearness as he was able to stir her.

The conflict in her heart kept Kathie silent as they drove through the lovely streets.

Leilani was chattering gaily, as she always did with Alex, completely at ease with him.

She was telling him about the luau. It was to be a birthday feast, and there would not be time to take Alex to the house to change from his business suit into a more appropriate aloha shirt if they were not to miss the opening of the imu, the underground oven which had been especially prepared for the roasting of the pig.

Kathie thought Leilani had never looked more lovely. Her hair shone in the last rays of sunlight like a mixture of spun silver and gold, and she was dressed in the traditional Hawaiian-flowered muumuu, loose-fitting to allow complete grace of movement, yet showing the outlines of her lovely body as she moved.

The long tables were set up under a huge canopy in the garden of their hosts. Kathie gazed with pleasure at the novel setting.

Large green leaves of the ti plant, overlapping, formed the tablecloths. Spaced at intervals down the long tables were whole pineapples, with their decorative spiky leaves. The places were set with polished bowls of varying sizes, made from coconut shells and calabashes. There was no silver.

The imu had already been opened, and the smell of roasted pork mingled with the fragrances of flowers worn by the guests.

Kathie was presented to their hosts, then she, Leilani, and Alex found places at one of the tables. They were facing the back lanai of the house, which was open to the garden and had been transformed into an impromptu stage for the musicians.

"Like it, Kathie?" Alex asked, watching her expressive face.

"Love it!" she breathed. She was thinking of Uncle Job, wondering how as a young man he could bear to leave all this. He left because he had to!

Alex caught the sudden, almost sick look that came and disappeared in her eyes. He reached out impulsively to touch her hand, and to his surprise, she drew back.

"Kathie, do watch this hula!" Leilani suddenly said, a bit faintly. "You'll never see a better performance."

And Kathie turned blindly toward the improvised stage, realizing that Leilani had seen Alex' impulse to touch her and was resenting it.

Young girls in bright-colored muumuus moved among the tables, carrying trays of coconut and calabash dishes. Kathie looked at the food before her.

The pork looked tender and delicious, cut into bite-sized chunks. Another dish contained chicken, similarly cut.

Tiny dishes contained a delicious-looking pink fish, sliced thin—Alex called it lomi-lomi salmon—and a dark chopped relish Leilani told her was a variety of seaweed.

EAT WITH FINGERS

Everyone began eating with his fingers, and Kathie followed suit. The largest bowl contained a pudding-like food, the color of thin cocoa.

"Two-finger poi," Alex said, and Kathie began to giggle as he dipped two fingers into the sticky mass.

Someone said, "Aloha! Aloha!" and Kathie looked up to see Sam Ward smiling down at her.

"Sam!" she exclaimed in surprise.

And Alex said, sounding none too pleased, "Hello! When did you get in? I was on the six o'clock plane."

"I just got in," Sam said. "Seven o'clock trip."

"Where's Mums?" Leilani asked, and Kathie decided that Sam must have been the "friend" that Bea said would drive her over.

"I put her on the plane for the return trip to Honolulu," Sam said, dropping into the empty place beside Kathie.

"Honolulu?" Leilani cried, looking stunned.

"You didn't know she was going?"

She didn't explain. Just said she had to see someone there.

"I can't imagine what could have come up since we left home," Leilani said.

Kathie said nothing, but her thoughts were busy. She didn't spend much time wondering why neither Bea nor Leilani had seen fit to tell her they were expecting Sam this weekend, too.

She was more alarmed by Bea's unexpected trip back to Oahu. Bea had deliberately deceived them, she knew, for Sam had implied she met him at the airport ready to go to Honolulu. And Bea had told the girls a little over an hour ago that a friend would pick her up and bring her to the luau.

Bea obviously had not wanted to take her daughter into her confidence. Remembering Bea's caution to tell Leilani nothing of the conversation about Uncle Job Hammer and the deed, Kathie could not help but think that she was right in her impression that Bea knew more than she had told.

"I didn't know you were expected," Kathie said to Sam.

"I called Bea this morning and

Says Fuchs Due in East Germany

British Officials Claim Not Released Yet but Won't Tell Where He Is

BERLIN (AP) — A spokesman for the East German Foreign Ministry said today that British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs will enter East Germany tonight or Wednesday.

Fuchs, 47, has served 9 years and 3 months of a 14-year British sentence for spying for the Soviets.

He has been due for release momentarily for good conduct, but British officials have declined to reveal his whereabouts. The Home Office in London indicated Monday, however, that he had not then been released.

The British government has said the German-born physicist after his release would be free to go wherever he wanted. His father, Prof. Emil Fuchs, 84, lives in Leipzig, in Communist East Germany.

The first monument in honor of George Washington is a rough stone tower in Boonsboro, Washington County, Md. It was dedicated on July 4, 1827. The Washington monument in Washington, D. C., was dedicated in 1885.

Four Points Emphasized

Offers Retirement Plan

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A Chicago educator Monday offered a four-point plan for what to do after retirement.

1. Decrease your expenditures of energy, do less than formerly.
2. Revise your activity budget, spend less time in work-oriented projects.
3. Spend more time in playing, in service to others, and in gaining new experience and enjoyment from life.
4. Spend more time in contemplation.

"Insofar as conscious choice of activity and budgeting of time and energy are possible, this is the prescription for satisfactory retirement," Havinghurst told the University of Michigan's 12th Annual Conference on Aging.

"Satisfactory retirement is more a matter of discovering rather than inventing new patterns for the use of time which are congenial to the individual," he said.

"The right use of leisure is something which cannot and should not be learned at retirement," the professor said. "It should be learned throughout a man's years."

David Eisenhower Starts 5-Week Stay at Ranch

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP)—The President's only grandson, David Eisenhower, began today a five-week vacation at a ranch near this resort in Rocky Mountain National Park.

David came here after a brief stop in Denver to visit with his ill, great-grandmother, Elvera Doud, in Communist East Germany.

Thompson, an uncle of David's mother, Mrs. John Eisenhower, a Secret Service agent is keeping an eye on David.

Buzzard Bugs Plane

VINCENT FIELD, Ariz. (P)—Marine Capt. Samuel Newton's Skyhawk jet met a buzzard head-on at 11,000 feet. The big bird was plastered over the canopy, cutting off visibility. Newton's wingman, Lt. Pat Kogan, helped steer the temporarily blinded pilot in for a landing.

7,400,000 Employed in Trucking Industry

DETROIT (AP)—The manufacture, sale, service or use of motor trucks employs 7,400,000 persons in the United States, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reported today.

The figure represents one of every 10 employed men and women in the nation.

In the survey of the trucking industry, the AMA reported that 11,200,000 trucks were in use on U.S. streets and highways in 1958, an all-time record. These trucks traveled more than 113 billion miles.

Three million of the trucks are located on farms.

Truck production in 1958 fell below the one million mark for the first time since 1946. But this year it is running almost 50 per cent ahead of last year with some 650,000 units due to be built for the first six months.

The AMA figures that one of every five trucks produced is exported.

Senate OKs Pay Hike for 3 on Service Board

LANSING (AP)—With only Sen. John H. Stahlin (R-Belding) dissenting, the Senate last night voted a $1,000 a year pay raise for the three members of the State Public Service Commission.

If the House goes along, the salary of the chairman of the state utilities regulatory agency would rise to $12,500, that of the two commissioners to $12,000.

Incumbents would have to be appointed to a new term before they could collect the higher salary.

Girls Know Signals

CENTER CROSS, Va. (AP)—Lights blinked on the Rappahannock River. They were seen by girls of Troop 71 of the Girl Scouts, who had been studying signals at their Camp Shangri-la. They recognized the distress signal and guided two lost men ashore with flashlights.

MESC Doling Out Anthony Anastasia Wants Ford-Canton Idle Pay to Integrate ILA Docks

DETROIT (AP)—Some 11,000 workers today began collecting an estimated one million dollars in unemployment compensation as a result of layoffs arising from a 1953 strike at an Ohio Ford Motor Co. plant.

The last legal hurdle was eliminated yesterday when Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid signed an order instructing the Michigan Employment Security Commission to begin payments.

The Michigan Supreme Court ruled last January that the Detroit area Ford workers were entitled to compensation payments because they were laid off when a parts shortage arose from a strike of workers at a Canton forging plant.

The U.S. Supreme Court recently refused to heed a Ford appeal of the state court's decision.

MESC officials said payments would average about $100 and only workers who participated in the appeal to the State Supreme Court would be eligible for benefits.

State Solon Proposes Annexation Laws Study

LANSING (AP)—A legislative study of Michigan's often confusing annexation and consolidation laws was proposed last night by Rep. Harry A. DeMaso (R-Battle Creek).

DeMaso said he hoped the study would lead to adoption of a single comprehensive code setting forth annexation and consolidation procedures.

The present statute has been a constant source of many attorney general opinions, court cases and disagreements by boards of supervisors," he said. "An entirely new law might end some of the bickering between cities and outlying areas brought on by a continuous growth of population."

DeMaso proposed appointment of three representatives and three senators to conduct the study between the 1959 and 1960 legislative sessions.

Luxaire Cushion Won't Reopen Wayland Plant

WAYLAND (UPI)—Luxaire Cushion Co. said today that its plant that was destroyed by fire here recently will not reopen and that equipment salvaged from the fire will be shipped to the firm's home plant in Canton, Ohio.

Company officials said they appreciated the efforts of the village council and the Chamber of Commerce of this Allegan County community to have the plant remain here but it was decided the plant would not be reopened. It was destroyed by a spectacular fire in April.

Chiefs Lose Emblems

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's 126 honorary fire chiefs are losing their emblems of office. The white Maltese cross with emblems with the letters F.D.N.Y. were called in Monday by Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr., on instructions from Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Clinic Keeps Oldsters Healthy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The little old lady looked as healthy as a bowl full of pippins on a farmer's table.

So the doctor, thinking it just a friendly call, asked politely: "What do you think of our new clinic?"

"It's fine, what I've seen of it," she replied, all business. "I must be one of your first customers."

"You mean you want—?" She clipped him short with a bob of the head and this jaunty confirmation: "Yes, a complete physical. Not that I'm sick. No serious complaints anyway. Touch of asthma. And I could do with a washing machine. Been using a scrub-board for donkey's years. Maybe a good fairy will give me one for a birthday present. I'm 82 today."

A most remarkable woman, this Mrs. John T. Styring, the doctors summed up after they examined her in a new clinic exclusively for older people who needn't pay a nickel if they don't want to. The sponsors think there is no clinic quite like it anywhere.

Down the line of specialists Mrs. Styring went, chuckling over the memory of some caper, kidding the doctors and dropping bits of personal history.

Thus by the time she was finished and given a bill of health a much younger woman might envy, the staff knew that Mrs. Styring does all the cooking, mending, washing, ironing and general housework for herself and 85-year-old husband in their nine-room home.

It was an altogether fitting trial run for Wednesday's formal opening of the clinic in Tacony Baptist Church in Northeast Philadelphia.

Restricting its clientele to those drawing Social Security — women over 62, men over 65 — the clinic asks of the patients no more than a donation of a dollar or two, and that only if it doesn't hurt. In return, the patients get the full diagnostic treatment.

It is a community project, made possible because the doctors donate their services, the church asks no rent, and good neighbors contribute money. Funds come from as far away as Chicago.

The geriatric center is the brainchild of Dora Schatz, herself one of the golden age set and a prime mover in whatever helps the elderly feel younger.

"We can't afford to pay for proper medical care, so we put off having checkups," she said. "That gives disease a chance to start. Now at our clinic tests should spot illness in the early stages."

J. B. Hurst, board chairman, put it this way: "We feel Christianity should show its worth in action, not just talk. Three churches offered space."

To start with, the clinic will be open several hours one day a week, with a staff of up to 10 doctors giving their time and skill.

Dr. Maurice E. Linden, director of the City's Health Protection Division, hailed it as a rare example of unselfish action, all the more vital since cities themselves seldom can pay for such services.

Nurses Win $100 Prize

Three Pontiac General Hospital nurses have won a $100 prize for their plan to improve standards of nursing care.

Splitting the prize will be Helen Harper, director of nursing; Mrs. Josephine Harlan, emergency room supervisor; and Grace Bloomstrand, operating room supervisor.

The award was presented by the Michigan Hospital Assn. yesterday at the opening of its convention in Detroit. Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, accepted the check in behalf of the nurses.

The award was one of 15 cash prizes which the association distributed to top winners in its second annual contest recognizing new ideas to increase hospital service and efficiency.

The Pontiac General idea centered about a new system whereby the nursing charts of all patients are reviewed by a committee of nurses and faults, errors and other inadequacies are pointed out to the entire nursing staff.

It is believed that the system has improved the hospital's nursing records to a point where doctors are better able to determine the day-to-day condition of their patients.

The association distributed a $1,000 grand award to Midland Hospital, four $500 prizes, 10 prizes of $100 each and 30 honorable mentions.

Get Help for Varicose Veins

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many women have varicose veins! In fact it seems to be the exception for a woman to be completely free of these from middle age on and many very young women are made unhappy and uncomfortable because of them.

Though they seem to be inherited, this does not mean that you will have varicose veins just because your forebears had them. They do seem to run in families, however, and you may have a tendency to them.

Perhaps the most important bit of advice I can give you is to see a physician as soon as you notice this trouble. At whatever stage your varicosity may be, you should see one — the sooner the better. It is important to get treatment early. Needless pain and trouble later on may be avoided by early preventative measures.

Varicose veins are not only ugly to behold but they can cause you great discomfort and even become dangerous if neglected.

It has been estimated that more than half of the adult population has some degree of varicosity. Women are more subject to this than men. Pregnancy is a predisposing factor. Tight girdles and garters and standing for long periods each day also play their part.

As a preventative and corrective measure you should put your feet up whenever possible. Take short rest periods with your feet higher than your head, or if that is not possible, at least place them on a chair when you sit. If your work keeps you at a desk or sitting for hours at a time, periodically get up and walk about the room.

Elastic stockings are a help but these should be fitted to you individually. Some of the newest ones are quite sheer.

Medical treatment for extreme cases usually consist of injections, or surgery to remove the offending early stages of the trouble. However, so many extreme conditions could have been avoided out in the Summer — Are You had the patient seen a doctor inReady?"

As a preventative or corrective measure for varicose veins, you should put your feet up whenever possible.

Eleanore Jasinski Wed in Lutheran Ceremony

Eleanore Jasinski became the bride of Warren H. Anders Saturday at St. Paul Lutheran Church. The Rev. George Mahder performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jasinski of Royal Oak. Mr. and Mrs. Herman L. Anders of Omar street (who are celebrating their 25th anniversary) are the bridegroom's parents.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Eleanore was dressed in a ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace with nylon net ruffles. A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones secured her fingertip veil. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Ethel Smith of Royal Oak attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a blue silk gown and an orchid corsage.

Serving as best man was James Stafford, and ushering were Gary Green, cousin of the bridegroom, and Allan Ridgeway of Milford.

Mrs. Anders, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige lace sheath with matching accessories and an orchid corsage for the wedding.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Out-of-town guests were present from Hollywood, Calif., Sault Ste. Marie, Port Huron, Detroit and Ferndale.

The couple will reside on North Cass street.

You Want Family Feud to Begin!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Two weeks ago, my nephew, aged nine, and his parents came to dinner at my house. I was aghast at his table manners. He kept shoveling food into his mouth as though he were afraid someone might take the plate away from him. Not only did he smear his face but the table as well. His parents made no attempt to correct him.

"I could not stand it any longer so I corrected him (in a nice way of course) but my sister-in-law seemed resentful over this. When they had gone, my husband said that I was wrong to have said anything to the child and that it was not my place to correct him.

"I did this for the child's own good and I certainly think that, as an aunt, I was within my rights to correct him. I would like your opinion."

Answer: My own instinct would be to do exactly what you did, but I am afraid that a very occasional correction will do the child little good and will risk a family feud between you and his parents. Of course, if the child were visiting or staying with you without his parents, it would be your right, and indeed your duty, to correct him.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Our son is to be married soon at a morning wedding. A breakfast will follow at a hotel. The bride's parents are paying for this. The day before there is to be a pre-rehearsal dinner.

"The bride-to-be has invited about twenty-five people and made all arrangements for the dinner. We were not consulted about anything. She now informs us, that the groom's father is to pay for this. We were very much surprised. Is this correct?"

Answer: It was not necessary that she consult you about the arrangements for the rehearsal dinner, but she was entirely wrong in expecting you to pay for it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have always tipped my hair stylist when he was employed by someone else. Now, he is the owner of his own beauty salon. Is it necessary that I continue to tip him?"

Answer: You do not tip the owner of a beauty salon.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We would like your help in settling a difference of opinion concerning the use of nail polish by men. Is it considered a sign of good grooming, and more important still, is it in good taste?"

Answer: Well taken care of and perfectly clean fingernails are essentials of good grooming, but the use of nail polish by men is not in very good taste.

DEANNA S. DOVE

Don't Make Pawns of Grandchildren

By RUTH MILLETT

"With summer vacation time here again, won't you please write something about the problem my husband and I face every year?"

"It's simply this: Both of our parents live in the same city so going home for us and taking the children means visiting two sets of relatives.

"That could and should be a simple, happy arrangement. But believe me, it is anything but that. It's a 10-day tug of war between my parents and my husband's parents because each set of parents is jealous of the time we spend with the others.

Channel Husband's Reading Interests

EVANSTON—Pick the right books for hubby and you may nudge him closer to that big promotion, says Peter E. Siegle, a consulting psychologist.

For better or for worse, he reports, the little woman has a tremendous influence on her husband's reading tastes. During a survey, Siegle learned that many senior and junior executives tend to read haphazardly.

Remove Lipstick

Rub lipstick stains with lard or petroleum jelly, then wash the garment in a hot solution of suds detergent. The stain should disappear.

"If my mother invites us for dinner that is sure to be the very night my husband's mother wants us. If my husband's parents want to take the kids fishing, my parents say in hurt tones, 'But we wanted to do that for the children.'"

"That kind of pulling against each other with us in the middle goes on for our whole visit. It isn't any open quarrel, or anything like that, and so it is almost impossible to cope with. This may sound terrible, but much as we love our parents and want to be with them and have them see their grandchildren, we almost dread going home.

"If they could just relax and enjoy the time we can spend with them we could relax and enjoy it, too. But this way no one is ever entirely satisfied and no one is ever very happy."

There's not much to add to that letter. And because I receive similar letters every summer I know this isn't an isolated problem.

So grandparents, it's up to you. If you really want your children to enjoy visiting you, don't be so possessive that you make them uncomfortable.

Enjoy the little time you have with them instead of worrying for fear the other set of parents may get to see them a little more.

The important thing is that they have come back to visit because they want to. See that you keep them wanting to — or they may stop coming.

Tension Mounts in Argentina

Move to Oust Frondizi, Install Military Junta Gains Momentum

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentina's government crisis appeared near a climax today as a move grew among military leaders to oust President Arturo Frondizi despite his Cabinet's resignation.

Tension was heightened by Frondizi's refusal to accept the resignations of his three armed services secretaries, chief targets of the rebellious officers.

Open threats were voiced against Frondizi's regime by his military opponents. They reportedly feel they are strong enough to force out the embattled president unless he meets their demands for sweeping changes in his government and policies.

Leaders of the clique talked openly of installing a military junta to replace the president, a landslide victor 16 months ago in Argentina's first free election in more than a decade.

Striving to cope with the darkening crisis, Frondizi told Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo, long an administration "spokesman," to meet leaders of Argentina's political parties today to sound them out on the situation. This aroused speculation Frondizi was considering forming a coalition government.

Vitolo told newsmen the mass Cabinet resignation Monday indicated "changes in the government's policies. He did not say what the changes would be, but observers believed they might have come too late to appease the aroused military.

Many of the military opponents of Frondizi's administration had key roles in the revolution which toppled dictator Juan Peron four years ago.

SIMPLE RIG LAUNCHES ATLAS — A new simplified launching system for the Atlas ICBM has been developed to eliminate huge gantry crane usually employed. The missile is stored horizontally, below, clamped by the nose on a 70-foot erector boom. In less than two minutes, fueled and fired, right. Clamp released the fuel led and fired, right. Clamp released, the boom is taken away. The 100-ton Atlas is lifted into this position by a 75-horsepower electric motor. First new installation will be made at Warren Air Force Base, Wyo.

Rockefeller Support Grows, Sallade Finds

LANSING (AP) — A backer of Nelson Rockefeller for president said last night he found a ground swell for the New York governor at a national Young Republicans' meeting in Denver, Colo.

Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) reported on his operation of a hospitality suite boosting Rockefeller. Michigan's Young GOP delegation frowned on Sallade's activity.

Sallade, who has started up a national citizens for Rockefeller movement, still in a fledgling stage, said more than one-third of the 900 delegates visited his suite.

It was situated in the Brown Palace Hotel, two blocks away from convention headquarters. "Our approach was one of the 'soft sell,'" he said.

"At no time were there any but tons distributed or traditional campaign hoopla techniques followed."

"It was for this reason that our experience and reception by convention delegates can be classed as nothing short of sensational."

Joining in the venture was Rep. John C. Morris (R-Midland). Hotel space rent, printing of five placards and free coffee ran each a total of just over $100, Sallade said. Neither were delegates.

Fire Damages Church, Landmark in Cadillac

CADILLAC (AP) — A midnight fire caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the First Congregational Church, a Cadillac landmark.

The church's pipe organ was destroyed and the sanctuary extensively damaged.

Fire Chief Robert L. Gilchrist said defective wiring in the organ is believed to have caused the blaze.

The Rev. Clayton A. Stowe, pastor, estimated damages at $50,000. The brick church was extensively damaged three years ago by a gas explosion that rocked it shortly before Sunday services were to begin.

Queen of Accordions Begins Her Crusade

NEW YORK — How would you like to get in on the ground floor on a new thing we're starting called Be-Kind-to-Accordions Week? Just mail in one dead accordion-player in a plain wrapper.

Frankly, we'd never tossed fitfully in our sleep, worrying about the cruelty inflicted on the accordion until we broke a bagel with pretty Kathy Manzi, the Accordion Queen.

"They call it the squeezebox or the cheese-box, which I resent, and they do not think of it as a symphonic instrument," Kathy proclaimed bitterly when she lunched with this music lover.

"What do you think of Gypsy Markoff as an accordionist?" I asked.

"She's a performer and an entertainer—rather than a musician," said Kathy. "I'm happy to say I'm not following in her footsteps."

"What about Lawrence Welk?"

"That's his instrument, but he doesn't play either," Kathy replied. "Musicians feel what he's doing is so cornballish, but my goodness, he's making all the money!"

We talked about such classicists as Phil Baker, Shep Fields, Bob Kreech—who's with Vincent Lopez—and I don't know how we missed Milton DeLugg who was voted "the outstanding accordion player of 1951."

"I was offered a job with Sammy Kaye, but when I found it meant traveling, I said no, because it meant leaving my husband," Kathy said.

Kathy's going to be hostess to the World Accordion Competition at the Prince George Hotel, where the leading brains of the accordion world will discuss getting more accordion music written for symphonies and more respect for the accordion.

Bing Crosby's long time writer Bill Morrow is here hoping to do a B-way show for his favorite entertainer, Genevieve. Note from Joan Crawford: "I can't talk about Alfred's death yet. When you reach perfection and have to face reality—it's pretty grim." Friends of Jack Paar are amused by Henry Morgan's new 8 o'clock TV time; they wonder what happened to his "Down With Jack Paar" campaign.

Polly Bergen and husband Freddie Fields, off to Europe on the Queen Mary, will visit Prince Rainier and Grace (arranged by their chum Judy Balaban Kantor).

Cary Grant bought a chunk of one of the major camera firms. Jersey Joe Walcott's son will become a pro boxer.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A poet must use his imagination. For instance, he must imagine that people will read his stuff. That's earl, brother.

WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Film star Marilyn Monroe underwent gynecological surgery today at Lenox Hill Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said her condition was excellent.

Miss Monroe is the wife of playwright Arthur Miller.

There was no immediate further explanation of the surgery.

The actress has twice previously experienced miscarriages. On Aug. 1, 1957, she underwent surgery at Doctors Hospital here after a month's pregnancy.

She lost an unborn child Dec. 17, 1958, while at work on a movie in California.

Marilyn Monroe Undergoes Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — A special one-hour television show is being planned to star Arthur Godfrey, who is convalescing from a lung cancer operation performed April 30.

The show is set for Sept. 16 from 10 to 11 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. The type of show has not been disclosed. Presumably it will be in the nature of a welcome for Godfrey returning to television.

Godfrey is spending most of his time at his farm near Leesburg, Va. He left Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center for his New York City apartment on May 15. He returned to the hospital for postoperative treatments almost daily until about two weeks ago.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Composers Alan Jay Lerner and Fredrick Loewe will draw upon their "My Fair Lady," "Gigi," "Brigadoon" and "Paint Your Wagon" for a 90-minute General Motors special on NBC-TV Friday, Nov. 13.

There is discussion on the set of NBC-TV's new summer series, Perry Presents, and regular Teresa Brewer is threatening to leave the cast.

CBS-TV has under consideration one or two special Arthur Godfrey shows for next season — Godfrey.

British to Discuss Part in Launchings

LONDON (AP) — A team of six experts left by plane for Washington today to discuss the installation of British research instruments in U.S. space satellites.

Dr. R. L. Smith-Rose, director of radio research, told a reporter the instruments will go aloft in three or four launchings during the next two years.

The information thus obtained will have a bearing on Britain's plans to send up satellites of its own.

Rhode Island, the nation's smallest state, has the shortest motto. It's "Hope."

Phone Exchange Letters Replace Familiar Names

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. is junking the names that precede telephone numbers.

Murray Hill, Trafalgar, University are merely MU, TR, UN, PL, BU, RE.

About a million Manhattan directors, all in the new style, start going to customers today.

For some people the names symbolized all the romance of the big city.

Imagine John O'Hara's book about the young lady who was rapidly collecting a past it was called "Butterfield 8." For her telephone number. Who would buy a book called "BU 8"?

Predict Support, Passage of States Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Democrats predict the House will pass a states rights bill opposed by the Eisenhower administration — and that the Republican floor leader will actively support it.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader, was away from Washington Monday when debate opened on the bill. It provides that federal laws do not automatically supersede state laws in the same field.

He asked managers of the legislation to reserve time for him. He reportedly has prepared a speech strongly advocating the measure.

Such a stand by Halleck would only emphasize an already complete split on the measure between the Republican administration and the Republican House leadership.

The bill was introduced by a leader of the Southern conservatives, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.). It is described by its backers as an effort to restore the constitutional balance between the judicial and legislative branches, said "it will pass."

and between the federal government and the states.

But opponents contend it actually is aimed at federal laws in the fields of civil rights and labor-management relations. However, they say, it would create chaos in dozens of fields where both state and federal legislation exists.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh wrote that the Justice Department strongly opposes what he called "this retroactive, far-reaching legislation."

But the House Republican Policy Committee, of which Halleck is a member, voted a week ago to support the bill.

Most Republicans present Monday joined the "Southerners to vote 233-116 in favor of taking up the bill for discussion—the procedural vote which is usually the first test on a controversial measure.

As for the final House action, Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.), one of the handlers of the legislation, said "it will pass."

TV News and R... MAY HAVE WON THE WAR but Our Spies Lost Play

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — I knew things were going badly right off last night when the Gestapo grabbed kindly old Dr. Brunner only five minutes into CBS-TV's Desilu Playhouse.

Kindly old Dr. Brunner was a spy, on our side, of course—the kindly ones always are—and he had to be replaced by kindly middle-aged Froelich who was married to kindly Frau Froelich.

Like all kind spies, the Froelichs weren't very efficient and the Gestapo got them, too.

That left the whole spy business in the hands of kindly Margaret Lewis who was played by kindly Joan Fontaine who was in love with Hans who was played by Max Schell.

He was a kind newspaperman or maybe I should change that to a kind of newspaperman because he didn't seem to have much work to do.

Well, anyway, neither Margaret nor Hans were much as spies or lovers or anything else for that matter and Desilu Playhouse ended on a melancholy note with Brunner and Froelich and Frau Froelich in the house-gow, Margaret running off to Vienna to do some more spying and Hans deciding to fight it out at home in his own kindly, inefficient fashion.

It all happened in Berlin in 1938 and I kind of got the feeling that if these were the people on our side, we were doomed to lose the war. I know we lost the play.

SHORT SHOTS: Laya Raki had to be forcibly restrained last night on ABC-TV's pantomime quiz when she was rather graphically trying to act out the word "nude."

Orson Bean's comment to emcee Mike Stokely: "You know, if we didn't get that in another few seconds, your show would have been on for the last time." Love that show.

Virginia Angelo, a contestant on CBS-TV's Name That Tune for the past month, isn't identified as such, but she strikes me as a professional performer—perhaps one of the thousands of kids who come to New York hoping to break into show business and float around its fringes.

CBS-TV has under consideration one or two special Arthur Godfrey shows for next season — Godfrey.

British to Discuss Part in Launchings

LONDON (AP) — A team of six experts left by plane for Washington today to discuss the installation of British research instruments in U.S. space satellites.

Dr. R. L. Smith-Rose, director of radio research, told a reporter the instruments will go aloft in three or four launchings during the next two years.

The information thus obtained will have a bearing on Britain's plans to send up satellites of its own.

Phone Exchange Letters Replace Familiar Names

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Telephone Co. is junking the names that precede telephone numbers.

Murray Hill, Trafalgar, University are merely MU, TR, UN, PL, BU, RE.

About a million Manhattan directors, all in the new style, start going to customers today.

For some people the names symbolized all the romance of the big city.

Imagine John O'Hara's book about the young lady who was rapidly collecting a past it was called "Butterfield 8." For her telephone number. Who would buy a book called "BU 8"?

Predict Support, Passage of States Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Democrats predict the House will pass a states rights bill opposed by the Eisenhower administration — and that the Republican floor leader will actively support it.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, the GOP leader, was away from Washington Monday when debate opened on the bill. It provides that federal laws do not automatically supersede state laws in the same field.

He asked managers of the legislation to reserve time for him. He reportedly has prepared a speech strongly advocating the measure.

Such a stand by Halleck would only emphasize an already complete split on the measure between the Republican administration and the Republican House leadership.

The bill was introduced by a leader of the Southern conservatives, Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.). It is described by its backers as an effort to restore the constitutional balance between the judicial and legislative branches, said "it will pass."

and between the federal government and the states.

But opponents contend it actually is aimed at federal laws in the fields of civil rights and labor-management relations. However, they say, it would create chaos in dozens of fields where both state and federal legislation exists.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence E. Walsh wrote that the Justice Department strongly opposes what he called "this retroactive, far-reaching legislation."

But the House Republican Policy Committee, of which Halleck is a member, voted a week ago to support the bill.

Most Republicans present Monday joined the "Southerners to vote 233-116 in favor of taking up the bill for discussion—the procedural vote which is usually the first test on a controversial measure.

As for the final House action, Rep. Edwin E. Willis (D-La.), one of the handlers of the legislation, said "it will pass."
