City Commission Rejects Sunday Blue Law

By PETE LOCHRILER

The drive for a Sunday Blue Law in Pontiac died last night as city commissioners turned down the proposal by a 4 to 2 vote.

Despite a plea for delay by the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the vote was taken after 90 minutes of debate and comment from an overflow audience of more than 150 persons.

Opponents of the proposal felt the city should not legislate "on moral questions." It should be left up to stores to regulate themselves, they said.

John W. Hirlinger, Chamber of Commerce manager, was optimistic that Pontiac businesses would voluntarily stay closed Sundays.

In calling for a roll call vote, Mayor Philip E. Rowston said he "personally felt" stores should close on Sundays.

"Legally speaking, however, the proposal before us is very discriminatory," Rowston said.

Siding with Rowston were Commissioners John A. Dugan, Robert A. Landry and Milton R. Henry. Voting for the proposal were Commissioners Floyd P. Miles and Wesley J. Wood.

Commissioner William W. Donaldson abstained from the vote, saying he believed the Chamber of Commerce request for delay should be granted.

★ ★ ★

The proposal would have amended an existing ordinance that outlaws Sunday sale of furniture and household appliances. Under the proposed amendment, the ban would have been extended to all sales, except those of essential items such as groceries, medicines and gasoline.

Grocery stores, drug stores, places of amusement and taverns would not have been affected.

"The proposal is obviously aimed at the large department stores," Rowston said.

Miles initiated the proposal last month after one large Pontiac department store, Federal's stayed open on three successive Sundays before Christmas.

Previously, stores had generally abided by an unwritten Chamber of Commerce rule to stay closed on Sundays.

★ ★ ★

Joseph Davidson, Federal's president, said the firm had to meet Sunday competition from stores outside the Pontiac city limits.

He said Federal's would prefer to stay closed, but only if everyone else closed too.

Frank S. Lyndall, Pontiac Sears Roebuck Co. manager, said if Federal's opened again on Sundays, Sears might have to also.

Lyndall asked the Commission to pass a Blue Law for the sake of store personnel. "They don't want to work on Sundays," he said.

Commissioners received a petition signed by 695 employes of various downtown stores. It called for a Blue Law.

Miles and Wood felt legislation was necessary if stores couldn't regulate themselves.

"It's important for all of us that we set aside one day of the week for rest and worship," said Miles, a businessman himself.

Miles predicted that Sunday business would be unprofitable, and argued that sales personnel should not have to work Sundays. "There is no doubt in my mind they would be forced to do so or lose their jobs," he said.

Wood quoted the Bible to the effect that the Sabbath should be kept holy.

Observing opposition to the law, he noted "it was the businessmen themselves who originally asked for it."

Opponents of the proposal felt that the city shouldn't attempt to legislate on questions of morals.

LA Auto Boycott Could Backfire

"If the Los Angeles mayor seriously advocates boycotting all new automobiles, we accept the challenge," stated Mayor Philip E. Rowston today, "and we hereby advocate that Michigan boycott all movies and all vacations and travel to the west coast."

MAYOR PHILIP ROWSTON

Pontiac's mayor expressed grave doubts as to whether the mess in which Los Angeles finds itself can be cured by boycotting new automobiles. "It's my opinion," said he, "that this deadly smog is caused by these small European cars and the old relics that still chug along California highways, plus those beastly and ill-smelling oil wells. There's where the trouble lies.

"If the Los Angeles mayor ordered all the old wrecks off the road and substituted nice, new, bright, shiny 1959 Michigan automobiles, it might cure a lot of awful conditions in which his citizens are forced to live.

"We in Michigan extend our deepest sympathy to the unfortunate residents of Los Angeles who are gripped by this unhappy horrible manifestation of nature, and if Los Angeles must be plagued forever by this depressing fog, we suggest they buy bright new efficient cars to eliminate the oil burners. That might help quite a little.

★ ★ ★

"We sincerely hope nothing untoward happens in California to cause Michiganders to cancel all California travel in favor of warm, sunny Florida and also to boycott the California movies. But we are quite prepared to act. Also, Ohio and Indiana have very large automotive manufacturing plants and I am sure these very close midwestern associates of ours would be happy to join us in a common cause."

Hungarians Organize Protest

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan makes his first stop of a Midwest tour in Cleveland today, before flying to Detroit for a two-day visit tomorrow and Friday.

Hungarian refugees will meet again tonight in Detroit to complete plans for protest demonstrations when Mikoyan arrives in Detroit.

Refugee leaders said they will picket the Detroit Club when Mikoyan arrives there tomorrow night. About 250 Hungarians were expected to carry signs.

The group planning the demonstration is the Hungarian Freedom Fighters Association.

Its legal adviser, Tibor Magyar, said the freedom fighters want "to show Mikoyan that we didn't forget him and what he did."

Mikoyan went to Hungary after the 1956 revolution and assured the country that "the Soviet Union honors the will of the people and respects Hungary's desire and efforts for independence." Then Soviet troops moved in.

Mikoyan, the whirling dervish of Kremlin diplomacy, took off on a 13-day coast-to-coast tour today after two days of probing the U. S. attitude toward the future of Germany.

The 63-year-old first deputy premier arranged to head first to Cleveland a visit with millionaire industrialist Cyrus Eaton. He is due back in Washington Jan. 19 to talk to President Eisenhower.

Sale of Pontiacs Tops for Month Since March '56

Pontiac Motor Division has just recorded its highest monthly new car sales figure since March of 1956, it was announced by S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager.

During the month of December, Knudsen said, Pontiac dealers sold 32,501 new cars representing a 26.6 per cent increase over the same period last year.

"Our biggest sales month in nearly three years gave Pontiac over seven per cent of total car industry sales in December," Knudsen disclosed. "The performance thus far of our completely new line of Pontiacs holds every promise of 1959 being a highly successful year for Pontiac," he said.

"Since its introduction last October the new Pontiacs have been exceptionally well received by the general public due to tremendous strides made in engineering as well as in styling," Knudsen added.

"Such exclusive advantages as Pontiac's wide track wheels and its high performance economy engine, which is accounting for a current 25 per cent of all sales, are playing an important role in the car's huge success," he concluded.

Cold May Give Way to Freezing Drizzle

Rising temperatures have brought a threat of freezing drizzle for the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow. The U. S. Weather Bureau said this was only a possibility, however.

Tonight's low will be near 24. A high of 30 is forecast for Thursday.

For the next five days, the Weather Bureau said, temperatures will average near the normal high of 33 degrees and the normal low of 19.

Precipitation will average two to three-tenths inches, with occasional drizzle or light snow.

Michigan's cold wave began a retreat today but the state posted two records — the lowest temperature and the most snow.

It was 13 below zero at Sault Ste. Marie, the coldest spot in the nation this morning. Houghton still had 49 inches of snow on the ground, the most in the nation outside the Rockies.

Eleven was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 27 at 2 p.m.

Castro Declares Ties to Soviet Definitely Out

Says Cuba Should Not Maintain Relation With Any Dictatorship

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro, Cuba's revolutionary hero, indicated today the island's provisional government will steer clear of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries.

The newspaper Diario de la Marina quoted Castro as saying in an interview it is his personal opinion Cuba should not maintain relations with any dictatorship.

At the same time Cuba's provisional government polished up a new interim constitution as the work of weeding out remnants of Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship went forward.

The Cabinet met far into the night working on a new fundamental law to replace the constitution of 1940 until the holding of free elections.

It was not immediately learned how the charter would differ from the old one, which was adopted during Batista's first period of power. Presumably the interim constitution will be replaced after a new Congress is elected.

Provisional President Manuel Urrutia Tuesday dismissed all provincial governors, mayors and councilmen in the island's six provinces. Presumably a new list of civilian appointees to replace them was ready, although it was not announced immediately.

Earlier Tuesday Urrutia's cabinet dissolved congress, suspended the criminal courts and announced it would rule by decree until elections are held. Revolutionary courts reportedly will be set up to try Batista, now an exile in the Dominican Republic and other officials of his regime who may be charged.

Urrutia has said he would demand Batista's extradition from the Dominican Republic.

Liberals Dump Floor Leader

AFTER 20 YEARS — Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts keeps his eyes on the floor as he walks out of yesterday's meeting with House Republicans with Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana a step ahead of him. Halleck replaced Martin as floor leader of the GOP, after Martin held the post 20 years.

Sickness in Martin's Heart Can't Be Treated by Dr. White

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joe Martin laid aside the cane he had used since last summer when he suffered a blood clot in his leg.

He marched jauntily into his party's caucus armed with a two-page testimonial from Dr. Paul Dudley White, the heart specialist.

Dr. White pronounced him recovered and in the peak of condition.

Joe made his slow way, limping, through statuary hall and back to his office.

He was tired.

He was 74.

The sickness he felt in his heart was not the kind Dr. White treats.

After 20 years as House Republican leader or speaker, during years fat for his party and some that were painfully thin, Joe Martin had been turned out to pasture. Tears he wasn't willing to shed welled up in his eyes.

Sure, his old friends gave him a standing ovation. They offered him a new, hollow title. They shook his hand and wished him good luck. They said—and it was true, almost to a man—they loved him still.

But they voted, 74 to 70, to replace him as party leader with Charlie Halleck, his rival.

"They did what is done for all dead men," Joe told reporters afflicted with unaccustomed lumps in their throats. — "They sent flowers."

86th Session Gets Off to Lively Start

Must Reconcile Plans to Conquer Space With Cut in Spending

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The 86th Congress, recast in a heavier-than-before Democratic mold, convenes today for a session that must try to fit moon-shot ambitions into an economy budget.

Republicans went into the historic new Congress with leadership fights rocking their membership in both houses.

They turned House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., (Mass), out of party office and elected Rep. Charles A. Halleck (Ind) in his place by a 74-70 vote.

He defeated Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky 20-14, with all 34 Republican senators participating.

By a similar 20-14 margin, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California was chosen whip or assistant floor leader.

Halleck took over the leadership of House Republicans with a mandate to give the Democrats Hell. He was ready, willing and able to do just that.

Most Democrats and Republicans figured that with Halleck as GOP leader the temper of House

Keehn Denies Story Is Hoax

Accuses U.S. Embassy in Cuba of Trying to Cover Up

Edward W. Keehn today angrily denied charges that his story of violence and torture as a political prisoner in Cuba was a hoax.

The 20-year-old Pontiac ex-GI accused the American Embassy in Havana, which made the charges, of having "its back up against the wall."

"They (the Embassy) are going to try to discredit us," said Keehn, whose mother flew to Cuba last month in a vain effort to secure his release.

"They know they are going to be hung."

KEEHN

Keehn and two other Americans who escaped from a Havana prison New Year's Day disclosed yesterday they were held five months by Batista forces on "trumped up" charges of being rebel sympathizers.

The three accused the Embassy of virtually abandoning them, ignoring pleas that they were held unjustly.

But an Embassy spokesman said today that the trio was being held for common crimes, rather than as political prisoners.

Besides Keehn, the spokesman named Dean L. Gleaves, 23, of Portland, Ore., and Jonathan Graham Jr., 29, of Akron.

He said Keehn and Gleaves were

Would Keep Only Essential Services

Lodge Hopes to Cut State Waste

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Nothing will concern State Senator L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County) and the 1959 session of the Legislature more than money, where to get more and how to spend wisely what's available.

Lodge, who a week from today will embark upon his sophomore year as the county's single voice in the Michigan Senate, has been busily occupied during the summer months trying to make state officials more dollar-wise.

The Pontiac attorney, Drayton Plains resident and former state representative has just closed out hearings as chairman of a Senate Interim Committee seeking to stop waste in state government.

He has urged Gov. Williams and his official staff to pledge their united effort to produce a rigid economy, "preserving all essential services and discarding those which are merely desirable."

"Otherwise," the cigar-smoking Republican senator remarked, "to follow the wastrel pattern of the past decade with no consideration for the conservation of the taxpayer's dollar will result in this era being known as the age of stupidity under the sign of the jackass."

L. HARVEY LODGE

So holding the top spot on Lodge's priority list of 1959 problems is the nearly-empty state treasury. A $100 million deficit is awaiting the new session which opens Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

This poses a big worry, too, about what Sen. Lodge deems his major local concern, that of the future of Michigan State University Oakland.

"The state's money problems will have a big bearing on the opening and operation of the branch university," he said.

The three state universities have already felt the pinch of Michigan's shrinking pocketbook by cutbacks in state appropriations.

"I will keep a sharp eye on the situation to assure sufficient funds for the opening and future operation of MSUO," Lodge promised.

Lodge, recovering from a bout with pneumonia, is under the impression that the state can control wasteful spending and cut budgets all it wants, but this won't "save a sufficient amount to erase the deficit or meet anticipated growth needs."

Some means of additional revenue for the state must be discovered and fast, he said.

What about the proposed tax on personal incomes of Michigan residents, he was asked? "The majority report of this scheme is fantastic and has many elements of questionable constitutionality," Lodge replied.

"The trouble with most tax plans is that they are designed to appease certain political and

U. of M. Teacher, Alumnus Among Jaycees' Top 10

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A University of Michigan professor and a prominent alumnus were among those selected as the nation's 10 outstanding young men by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

They are Donald A. Glaser, 32, U. of M. professor of nuclear physics, and Dr. Hugh Edward Wilson III, 34, of the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School.

Glaser, who joined the U. of M. faculty as an instructor in 1949, has been acclaimed for his invention of a bubble chamber device, used for observing the paths of speeding atomic particles. The device was finished two years ago and has been used extensively during the past year.

Glaser was recipient of the University's Henry Russel award in 1955. The award is conferred upon the faculty member of instructor or assistant professor rank whose work as a teacher or research worker is outstanding and holds great promise for the future.

Wilson graduated from the University in 1948. He also attended Ann Arbor High School, and his father is an Ann Arbor attorney.

He was credited with efforts providing normal lives to a semi-invalid Fort Worth woman and a 6-year-old Dallas girl, both "almost certainly doomed to an early death."

The other outstanding young men included:

Singer Pat Boone, 24, of New York.

Dr. James T. Grace, 35, of New York, a research surgeon in cancer.

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, 35, of Belmont, Mass., associate director of the Center for International Affairs and director of the Defense Studies Program and Harvard University.

Dr. Gus Tubreville, 35, of Ashland, Wis., president of Northland College.

Sunday Blue Law Plan Turned Down

science," said Henry. "We should not try to enter the area of morals which this legislation borders on."

He believed the law favored the Christian majority and did not take into account the rights of religious minorities which do not keep Sunday as their Sabbath.

★ ★ ★

"A general resolve by God-fearing people not to shop on Sundays would be more effective than action by the Commission," said Landry.

"Out people do not have to be told not to shop on Sundays. They know it in their hearts."

Dugan said the law only went half-way, outlawing sale of some things and not others.

"If we're going to say it's a sin to buy a cigarette lighter on Sundays, isn't it a sin also to buy cigarettes?" he queried.

"This Commission has no right to pass moral laws that would only affect the city," he said. "If the ban were statewide, the situation would be different."

Rowston said the judges administering the Blue Law would have to take difficult questions of religious conviction into consideration.

"I believe the proposal would have a hard time of it in the courts," he said.

Donaldson called upon Pontiac ministers to pledge their congregations against Sunday shopping.

He asked the Commission to grant the delay on grounds the proposal needed more study, but was not given any support.

Hirlinger confided that while opposed to Sunday sales, the chamber's Board of Directors felt that self-regulation was better than legislation.

Twelve persons spoke from the audience, eight favoring the law and four opposing it.

Rowston said he noted diverse opinions on the question within the ranks of business and religious groups.

Gets Jury Trial in Parking Case

Sitting or Standing, Fenton Mathews to Have Day in Court

Sitting or standing, Fenton Mathews will stand a jury trial—at his request—on Feb. 4 for refusing to pay an overtime parking fine in Birmingham.

Judge John C. Emery Jr. set the trial date today in Municipal Court when Mathews was arraigned on the charge.

The accused refused to stand in court because he was "not feeling well." He was given permission to remain seated.

Mathews, who lives at 5900 N. Adams Rd., Birmingham, was ticketed Sept. 8—first for overtime parking. When he chose to "discuss" the charge somewhat heatedly with the arresting officer, he was further charged with improper parking and for leaving the keys in the ignition of his German sports car.

All three charges were dismissed Nov. 12 because Sgt. Richard E. Brown, who was called to the scene by the arresting officer wanted to go on a deer hunting trip he had previously planned.

Mathews, a retired antique dealer, was asked if he would consent to postponement. He refused, saying the police hadn't shown him any consideration.

So, dismissals were granted by the court.

Mathews' victory was shortlived, however, as the overtime parking charge was drawn up and filed again—after the hunting season.

Halleck's Republican supporters were counting on him to move more quickly, frequently, and effectively to challenge the Democratic version of what's going on in Congress.

In the Senate, Republican liberals were running Sen. John Sherman Cooper (Ky) against Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill) for the party leadership.

In contrast, Democrats lined up their top-heavy majorities in harmony, with Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) as Senate leader. Rep. Sam Rayburn (Tex) was elected to an unprecedented 9th term as speaker.

But they had trouble ahead in a party-splitting battle over revising Senate anti-filibuster rules and on civil rights legislation. The rule fight may start today.

Before the opening gavel sounded in both chambers, Eisenhower and top members of the administration joined legislators of both parties as a special prayer and communion service at the National Presbyterian Church. Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, Senate chaplain, offered special prayers for the President and Congress in their efforts to achieve world peace and provide for the nation's welfare.

Biggest single issue of the 1959 session appeared to be spending—the issue raised by President Eisenhower in the 1958 election in which the Democrats strengthened their control of Congress.

Space exploration to overtake Russia's "Mechta," civil rights, foreign policy and a host of domestic problems like labor and farm legislation were other key issues.

Neither house expected to transact anything but routine business until after President Eisenhower delivered his State of the Union message at a joint session Friday.

In it, Eisenhower may add some fiscal facts to his skeletonized announcement that he will propose a 77 billion dollar "balanced budget."

Leaders of both parties were given a briefing Monday on his foreign policy plans and his $40,000,000,000 defense budget. Details of his domestic program are yet to be unveiled.

Thirty-six senators and 436 House members were set to take their oaths of office today. Eighteen of the senators are newcomers and 15 of these are Democrats in the 64 to 34 political lineup. The new House has 283 Democrats and 153 Republicans.

WILLIAMS HEADS GROUP

Gov. G. Mennen Williams headed a group of Michigan Democrats acclaiming Philip A. Hart as the state's new senator. They also applauded a Democratic addition to the state's House delegation as the new Congress convened.

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich), now Michigan's senior senator, arranged to escort Hart down the the Senate's center aisle to receive the oath of office from Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Hart, former lieutenant governor, toppled Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) in the Nov. 4 election, and got more votes than the popular Williams in the process.

disregard the revolt that had been brewing among younger Republicans since Nov. 4, when the GOP was reduced to 153 House members against 283 for the Democrats.

Even at the end they were insisting Halleck was licked. But on the ballot, with every man voting in secret, some of Martin's friends let him down.

To most observers it had seemed unthinkable that more votes would be cast against than for the name of Joe Martin. It was a name known to millions. Martin's unruly black hair, his beetle brow and fierce grin, his stocky figure, were capitol landmarks.

To many Americans, who watched or heard Martin's heavy-handed use of the gavel at five consecutive Republican National Conventions, Martin had come to symbolize the Old Guard of the GOP.

That, no doubt, was part of his downfall. There also was the inescapable fact that Joe's birthdays were beginning to show. The blood clot, cured or not, was mentioned by some. Even his closest friends said that Martin had slipped since the lean GOP year of 1939 when newsmen voted him the ablest man in the House.

Joe never had been much of a speaker. But some members lately had said the bloopers and tongue-twisters for which his speeches were famous were getting more chuckles than votes.

Once, as speaker during a Republican Congress, Martin recognized "the gentleman from Halleck, Mr. Indiana." With the same Charlie Halleck, as chairman of an escort committee, in mind, Martin on another occasion introduced Syngman Rhee as "President of Indiana — India — I mean Korea."

Joe always joined in the laughter. Yesterday, there seemed nothing to laugh about.

Royal Oak Boy First Fatality

Murray Hartwell, 10, Dies After Being Hit by Auto

A 10-year-old Royal Oak boy, Murray Hartwell, became Oakland County's first traffic fatality of 1959 Tuesday evening when he was struck by a car not far from his home.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartwell of 1722 Crooks Rd., he died in the emergency room at William Beaumont Hospital at 6:45 last night, about a half hour after the accident.

Oakland Highway Toll in '59 1

He was struck by an auto driven by John W. Keeler, 38, of 924 Hilldale St. Keeler told Royal Oak Police the boy darted into the path of his car, and that he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting him.

Keeler was not held.

Murray was the youngest of four children.

Stolen Baby's Sad Mother Goes Home

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Frances Chionchio, 26, is home from the maternity ward—away from the sight of new mothers with crying babies. Her own infant daughter is still missing.

Mrs. Chionchio returned Tuesday to her Brooklyn home where her child was kidnaped from a nursery Friday night, only 2½ hours after birth.

The woman's uncle, Dr. John Mollica, who delivered the baby, said he had planned to discharge her today or Thursday, but after seeing her Tuesday decided she should leave at once.

"I think she would be better off mentally if she were away from the atmosphere of seeing other new mothers and crying infants," Mollica said.

Mrs. Chionchio has one other daughter, Gerardette, 1. Her husband, Frank, 28, an attorney for the Port of New York Authority, was with her when she left the hospital weeping.

serving one-year sentences for the kidnaping and robbery of Mario Merendi, an American gambling club manager, in August last year and Graham was serving a one-year term for swindling.

MRS. KEEHN

The embassy said the three apparently were evacuated to the United States while posing as stranded U. S. tourists.

Cuban authorities indicated they might ask the U.S. to extradite Keehn and Gleaves, the embassy spokesman said.

Keehn was indignant over the charges.

He denied being involved in the kidnaping-robbery and maintained he had never been tried on the charge.

"It was brought up at one time and then forgotten about," Keehn said. "For that matter, we were accused once of robbing a bank."

Keehn said that he and his friend Gleaves were accused of being gun-runners for the rebel forces.

"We were tried on this charge by a military court and sentenced to prison. We were arrested by the Cuban Army Military Intelligence Service, not by the civil police."

He noted that the intelligence service was a Batista agency.

"We saw them shoot and torture people. They held us so we couldn't tell the outside world about it."

Keehn denied he was a rebel supporter or had anything to do with gun-running.

"We didn't even meet a rebel until we were in prison," he said.

Keehn maintained he and Gleaves were "strictly on a vacation" when they were arrested by the intelligence agents during a stopover Aug. 8 in Camagey to visit a friend.

"If I had known the revolution was as serious as it was, I wouldn't even have gone to Cuba," said Keehn.

Last August, however, the Cuban government announced the pair was being held for the kidnaping-robbery under $10,000 bail. The last announcement said they were awaiting trial, but no date had been set.

Merendi, a 68-year-old naturalized citizen, told police he had been abducted by two men who took his car and $400 in cash. Police said the two men had told Merendi they wanted to join Fidel Castro's rebels.

Keehn, a former Pontiac Central High School pupil, said he went on the vacation after being discharged from the Army in May last year because of ear trouble.

The youth had once been in trouble with Pontiac Police, facing a charge of breaking and entering which was dismissed in Circuit Court in May, 1957, so that he could join the Army.

Keehn was accused of stealing minor tools in the break-in of a maintenance shack at Wisner Stadium in January, 1957.

Keehn's mother, a widow, employed as an office worker at GMC Truck & Coach Division, today described for the first time her journey to Havana last December to aid her son.

Mrs. Edith Keehn, 183 Pingree St. said she had been afraid to make her trip public before, fearing reprisals against her son.

In a letter which Keehn had smuggled out of prison, the mother said, Mrs. Keehn was told that if she paid the prison commandant $1,000 her son would be released.

"I realized it was a bribe or something crooked," she said.

The Pontiac woman said she flew to Havana Dec. 4 and waited in the prison all day Dec. 6 for an interview.

She was permitted to visit her son in a waiting room for about 15 minutes, Mrs. Keehn said.

"He had a black eye and looked as if he had lost a lot of weight. He couldn't talk much because the guards were present."

The mother said she finally was granted 10 minutes with the commandant late in the afternoon and gave him $200 in traveler's checks. She said she had previously telegraphed $800 to the prison via the Salvation Army in Havana.

"The commandant couldn't talk English, but an interpreter said that my son would get his liberty, although he didn't say when," Mrs. Keehn said.

She said that Salvation Army personnel, who had helped her get a letter to and from her son, advised her not to leave her hotel while in Havana because of strained conditions caused by the revolution.

"I only went to and from the airport and to and from the prison and a Salvation Army official accompanied me on each trip," she said.

Keehn, who maintained he was beaten and tortured in prison to force a confession that he was a Castro sympathizer, said the commandant failed to live up to his promise to free him.

He and his two companions said they escaped during a prison battle Jan. 1 and were able to flee Cuba by means of an Embassy plane that was shuttling U.S. refugees to the mainland.

Local Fire Loss for 1958 Equals $3.52 Per Person

BIRMINGHAM—Based on an estimated population of 26,000, Birmingham's fire loss for 1958 was $3.52 per person.

Fire Chief Park H. Smith in his annual report gave fire losses on buildings and contents as $91,615.

Restricted parking on Henrietta street, between Brown and Frank streets has gone into effect, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley announced today.

Parking will be limited to two hours between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Restriction is in answer to complaints from residents that all-day parkers created a serious traffic problem, the chief said.

Moxley also said one-way traffic on Martin street, between Bates and Chester streets will "remain for the time being."

★ ★ ★

This may be the first step toward more one-way streets in the downtown area, a system long-favored by the Plan Commission, according to Moxley.

George W. Walker of 267 Woodberry Dr., Bloomfield Hills, has been named general chairman of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan's 1959 Fund Raising Campaign.

Walker, who is vice president and director of styling for Ford Motor Company, will lead the drive for the largest JA area in the nation. The drive will be held from Jan. 26 to Feb. 26.

Walker has set a goal of $240,000 for the JA's program operation in the area.

Deacons of the First Baptist Church will sponsor a blood bank Jan. 20, from 2:45 to 8:45 p.m. Recruitment chairmen are Mrs. Ralph Alexander of 1975 Shipman Blvd. and Mrs. Fred Sawyer of 325 Manor Rd.

Persons visiting the bank in the basement of the church are asked to use the side entrance. Parking will be provided in nearby lots.

The monthly meeting of Birmingham's Metropolitan Club Spirit No. 9 Auxiliary will be held at 8 tonight at the home of Mrs. Robert Dunn, 1946 Bowers St. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. DeLyle Service, Mrs. Samuel Snell, and Mrs. Howard Hatt.

Plans for the Installation Dance on Jan. 17 will be completed during the course of the meeting.

Program Chairman Thomas Heydon said that a panel discussion on "Parents' Responsibility in Sex Education" will be held when Derby Junior High School PTA meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school.

Doctors Charles Payton, Robert Mason and Frederick Adams will discuss the subject on the junior high school age level.

Mrs. Frank Van Sickle will have charge of refreshments, to be served in the cafeteria.

Sen. Lodge Hopes to Cut State Waste

special interest groups and are based more on political expediency than facing the problem honestly," he added.

Sliding his glasses up on his forehead and glancing out of his office window down Perry street, Lodge said he would favor an excise tax on utilities, such as electricity and natural gas, to produce extra state funds.

He tabooed proposals to dip into the $50 million Veterans Trust Fund.

Whatever state lawmakers come up with, it must produce added dollars immediately to meet the financial crisis, which undoubtedly will be the aim of the 144 senators and representatives when the session convenes.

Ways to counter it will be heard day and night through the transom of Room 226 in the Porter Hotel in Lansing, traditionally Oakland's headquarters in the capital.

In their order of urgency, Lodge listed the state welfare burden, dwindling funds for education, control of youth problems, mental health, and overcrowding of prisons as next in line of important matters to come before the Legislature.

On the subject of the thousands of persons on welfare assistance rolls, the senator proposed a possible control with a law which would require a person to hold residence in Michigan for a specified number of years before he could become eligible for aid.

Lodge urged an overhauling of the state criminal code with more attention paid to rehabilitation of criminals and crime prevention.

Michigan ranks third among states in spending for mental health but its results show we rank 24th. The senator said means to get "more for our money" in this field must be sought.

Besides scrutiny of funds for MSUO, the Oakland County lawmaker said he would work for legislation to allow the merger of the County Drain Office with the Department of Public Works, a county suggested law establishing lake levels, and the appointment of referees to hear all matters in Probate Court except claims for counties of 250,000 or more population.

He said more concrete proposals and bills to aid Oakland County will be drawn up following meetings with fellow representatives and county supervisors.

If Oakland supervisors approve the home-rule government proposal, this will be added to Lodge's repertoire of measures he will help steer toward passage, he said.

"Much can be done if we from Oakland County work shoulder-to-shoulder with each other and put politics farthest from consideration," he said.

Lodge will be in Lansing with six Oakland representatives—three Republicans and three Democrats.

Masonic Organization to Elect New Officers

Pontiac Council No. 3, Masonic Order, will be host to the Triangle Cryptic Association tomorrow night at the Masonic Temple, 21½ E. Lawrence St. Officers of the association for the 1959-60 year will be elected.

★ ★ ★

Fred G. Kirby, president of the association which includes officers and members of the councils in four area counties, will preside at the meeting.

★ ★ ★

It will follow the Pontiac council's regular meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Bitter Cold Eases Off

Gusts Whip Northeast

By United Press International

Gusty winds whipped the northeast for the third straight day, but bitter cold temperatures began moderating Wednesday under the influence of a western storm front.

The storm yesterday turned fire-blackened drought sections of southern California into a sea of mud as rains up to 3.57 inches doused the Los Angeles area.

As the storm system moved inland, it sent temperatures soaring into the 50s in eastern Colorado and western Kansas in contrast to sub-zero readings during the weekend.

Cold, northerly winds which reached 70 miles an hour again plagued New York City yesterday. The combination of cold and high winds were blamed for a rush of fires in the city which killed five persons and injured 11 others.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. of New York said all of the fires "were wholly avoidable" and he warned against overtaxing furnaces or leaving children unattended.

The gale-force winds also toppled trees and utility lines, and turned the eastern end of Long Island into a miniature dust bowl which forced the closing of schools in the heart of the potato-growing region.

The departing cold wave, which swept into the southwest during the weekend, was blamed for at least 69 deaths caused by exposure, traffic accidents, fires and drownings.

Oklahoma counted nine weather deaths, Kansas 8, New York 7, Mississippi 6, Indiana, Missouri and Virginia 5 each, Iowa 4, Illinois and Pennsylvania 3, Georgia, Maine, Massachusetts, Tennessee and Wisconsin, 2 each, and Alabama, California, Louisiana and New Jersey, 1 each.

Fires were among the major

Whirley-Whirler Successor to Hula Hoop

New Toy Spinning to the Top

By DON ROTH

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A simple toy invented by a former television advertising salesman is whirling toward the top in the kingdom of children's fun.

It's the Whirley-Whirler, the only invention of John Hyatt. Simply, it's a small stick whirling a plastic soup plate aloft.

How did Hyatt get the idea?

"I was reading about the hula hoop craze," Hyatt recalled, "and like a million other guys, I said to myself, 'Why can't I think of something like that?'

"Well I got to thinking about hula hoops and what made them popular. Kids like something that balances and spins—and suddenly I remembered the jugglers and their spinning plates in vaudeville."

Then Hyatt excitedly went to a friend, Lou Westheimer, a marketing consultant, and told him he had the successor to the hula hoop.

The men joined forces and took in Israel Treiman, a lawyer, to handle the legal end.

The public unveiling came in St. Louis' biggest department store. Hyatt and his two sons did the whirling. That first day they sold more than 250.

The cost of a single die was $5,000. But "the Whirley boys"—as John and Lou call themselves — gambled.

The toy clicked. In two months a half million units have been sold. Four plants now work around-the-clock to make the toy.

You work the toy by elevating the 4-ounce plastic plate on the 2-foot long stick. You flick your wrists and the plate begins spinning. The right motion puts it in orbit. The wrong one puts it on the floor.

'My Policy Was Persuasion'

Martin Rueful in Defeat

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—"My policy was persuasion," Rep. Joseph William Martin Jr. told newsmen after the Republican caucus had ousted him Tuesday as party leader in the House.

In that phrase, he was saying a great deal about his defeat by hard driving Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana — and about Joe Martin, the Massachusetts Yankee who headed House Republicans for 20 years.

★ ★ ★

His hearers remembered scenes in recent years when the ruddy, stumpy Martin had battered the majority Democrats with hot phrases—and then sat down and laughed heartily as Democrats replied.

He couldn't seem to stay very mad very long, even at the oppositon.

The 74-year-old Martin conceded ruefully his Republican opponents jumped on him because "I didn't give the Democrats hell enough." But he said he had to angle for Democratic votes for Republican administration policies.

★ ★ ★

There was a time when Martin was singled out scornfully as a Republican symbol — by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Roosevelt, running for his second term in 1936, lit into the combination of "Martin, Barton and Fish" as the epitome of what he called the Republican reaction he was pledged to defeat.

The others in that combination were publicist Bruce Barton and Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, then a Republican stalwart on the House Rules Committee.

Those who pressed to replace Martin as floor leader might contend he had had more gusto than skill in debate.

Millons of television-watching Americans remember how Martin, presiding over the 1956 Republican convention, was taken aback by a high-spirited delegate's nomination of the mythical Joe Smith for vice president.

"Take your Joe Smith and get out of here," was the best Martin could think to say.

He had been a Republican officeholder and hardworking party man for almost a half-century. It was obvious his first defeat deeply grieved him.

★ ★ ★

Martin repeated to the newsmen his description of himself to the caucus that rejected him — an old politician, told to fade away.

Associates said Martin wouldn't run again for Congress — he's been in the House for 34 years.

Martin left that question open, but said he wasn't going to drop out of politics in the next two years, though he wants no secondary party posts and no committee assignments.

Martin said he'd have plenty to do as representative of the 14th Massachusetts District, publisher of the Evening Chronicle of North Attleboro, his birthplace, and the Franklin, Mass., Sentinel.

A bachelor, Martin was born Nov. 3, 1884. He went into newspaper work immediately on graduation from the North Attleboro public schools and soon entered politics, winning a seat in the State House of Representatives in 1912.

He was elected to Congress in 1924 and regularly thereafter. He presided over every Republican national convention beginning in 1940. For two years starting in 1940 he was chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Martin became Republican House leader in 1939. By virtue of his leadership, he was twice speaker of the House — when the Republicans controlled it in 1947-48 and 1953-54.

5 Killed in New Wave of Terror in Algeria

ALGIERS (UPI)—The new wave of Nationalist terror sweeping Algeria claimed five more civilian victims yesterday, French officials announced last night.

They said a Moslem victim was found with his throat cut near Setif, a city 70 miles west of Constantine, while a French farmer was killed by rebel agents in a barn on his farm near Villebourg, 70 miles west of here.

Says State in Serious Condition

Rockefeller Calls for Taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller launched his administration today by telling New Yorkers they must pay millions more in state taxes.

The new Republican governor declared in his first annual message to the Legislature that the state's fiscal affairs had fallen into "a serious condition of deterioration" under Democrat Averell Harriman.

★ ★ ★

"Much as we deplore the facts," he said, "conditions require additional tax revenues now."

Rockefeller said he was struggling with a deficit of "at least 230 million dollars" in the new budget.

He said he would spell out his tax proposals in the budget message, which he must submit to the GOP-controlled Senate and Assembly by Feb. 1.

The governor's 7,000-word message hewed strictly to state problems, unlike his inaugural message, which carried strong international overtones and prompted new speculation on Rockefeller's White House potential.

He linked virtually all of the state's problems to its economic climate, which he said had grown stale during Harriman's four-year tenure—an era marked by constant battling between Harriman and the Legislature.

For Better Winter Starting:

Go Easy on Battery Drain

DETROIT (UPI)—With more cold snaps ahead, the Automobile Club of Michigan has five tips for winter-weary motorists.

Robert C. Nisbet, emergency road service manager, said gas line freeze up and battery failure are the two chief causes of car trouble.

Nisbet said motorists should make sparing use of electrical accessories during the cold wave and that all battery-draining equipment should be turned off when starting the car. He advised a battery charge or replacement if the battery is weak.

Gas tanks should be as full as possible to prevent water vapor which freezes the fuel line, Nisbet said. He added commercial dry gas solutions will help keep the gas line free.

Nisbet said to check on the effectiveness of anti-freeze, especially if it is of the non-permanent type and to run the motor at least 10 minutes daily even if not planning to use the car. He said door locks should be kept free of snow and other moisture to prevent freezing.

Airline Strike Begins 19th Day

Mediation Head Claims Minor Items Separate Pilot Union, American

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Differences on minor items today blocked settlement of a pilots strike against American Airlines.

Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, gave this appraisal of the negotiations yesterday as the strike by the Airline Pilots Association began its 19th day.

Union and company officials declined comment.

Reservation and ticket agents idled by the pilots' strike picketed the building where negotiations were under way. The employes, including several women, carried placards pleading with the pilots to return to work.

One sign read: "Pilots, I can live on $400 a month. You can try to work on $2,000 a month."

Another said: "Pilots, don't kill the goose that laid the golden egg. American Airlines is losing money. Go back to work."

About 20,000 American employes were furloughed by the company this week for the duration of the strike. The pilots walked out Dec. 19 in support of their demand for wage boosts.

Police Headquarters Is a Metal Shack

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — A police force stationed a few miles outside this city has only a small corrugated metal shack for headquarters. Yet it is larger than the law enforcement agencies of most villages around the country.

Capt. M. Alvin Johnson, a veteran of 27 years in police and fire service, heads a 64-man force on duty at the giant Niagara power project now under construction.

Johnson said his men's primary job is "to enforce safety rules, prevent construction areas and prevent thefts and pilferage of the millions of dollars worth of equipment and material being used here."

★ ★ ★

The unusual police force has two patrol cars and also operates the project ambulance when necessary.

Phone Directory Code Open to Interpretation

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Locally prominent attorney Raymond F. Bossmeyer was surprised recently when a neighbor's child addressed him as "Fatty." Bossmeyer is a bit stout, but not fat.

The child explained she got the name from the telephone directory, where the attorney is listed as: "Bossmeyer, Raymond F atty . . ."

Rail Passenger Service May Be Ended by 1970

Interurban electric railways sprang into public popularity, enjoyed a thriving business for a time and then disappeared. For a lot longer period the passenger train, first steam driven, then diesel, has been a familiar sight throughout the country. Now, government transportation officials hint, it, too, may be headed for the museum.

HOWARD HOSMER, an Interstate Commerce Commission official, made a year long study of why the railroads continue to lose money on their passenger business. His report is being studied by the Commission.

He predicts that railway passenger service may be halted by 1970 and that Pullman service may end as early as 1965. His report shows that between 1947 and 1956 that portion of the total intercity traffic carried by automobiles rose from 77.6 to 88 per cent. Travel by rail dropped from 13 to 4 per cent. The airlines' share rose from 1.7 to 3.6 per cent.

★ ★ ★

He finds that the railroads' losses are real and not due to trick bookkeeping. He reports that they have made great efforts to avoid these losses. They have provided lighter trains and faster service. They have tried luxury features to attract more passengers. They have tried and still are trying economy features in an effort to cut fares.

The railroads have lost passengers first, because the public prefers to travel by motorcar or plane; second, because union "feather-bedding" has increased their operating costs tremendously, and finally, because of increasing taxation in the face of declining revenues.

Hosmer's report cites the effect of "spread the work" clauses in union contracts. The engine crew's so-called "basic day" is still 100 miles.

★ ★ ★

This was a reasonable figure in 1919 when it was established. The average speed of passenger trains then was about 20 miles an hour. Today the Burlington's "Zephyr" makes the 1,034 miles from Chicago to Denver in sixteen and a half hours, yet, under the union's contract eight engine crews are required, and some of them have to be paid overtime.

HOSMER sees one possible exception to his forecast of no passenger service by 1970. That is in the commuter field. Ultimately, however, he feels even the commuter trains will go, as more expressways are built into our bigger cities.

He says a few trains might even continue to run between large cities a thousand miles apart if a high speed train could be developed which could travel from New York to Washington in two hours or less.

★ ★ ★

The railroads were aided in the early days by government subsidies in the form of huge land grants. Now government road and airport construction and air-mail contracts are aiding their competitors.

★ ★ ★

Even when a train traveled much more swiftly than an automobile, the convenience of the latter gave the motorcar a great advantage. Now, with modern highways and automobiles, the train has lost much of its former advantage in travel time. People in a hurry can drive over turnpikes in about the same time made by the fastest trains.

The railroads will continue to operate their freight lines, for these still produce a comfortable profit. But each year the number of passenger trains has grown smaller. Already such traffic has ceased on many branch lines. Apparently only a miracle can prevent its complete elimination. But the smartest brains in the railroad industry are doing their best to bring about that miracle.

"Your New Suit, Sir"

David Lawrence Says:

Mikoyan Visit Golden Opportunity

WASHINGTON — As the deputy premier of the Soviet government, Anastas Mikoyan is entitled to a courteous reception by the officials of the United States government. The American people, however, are under no obligation to embrace a man whose hands are dripping with the blood not only of his fellow-countrymen but of the people of Hungary and the other captive nations in eastern Europe.

LAWRENCE

Indeed, this is the opportunity of a lifetime to do something for the millions of persons imprisoned even now in slave-labor camps in Russia and for the millions who are denied freedom behind the Iron Curtain.

For, as Mr. Mikoyan travels around America, questions can be asked him publicly concerning the conditions inside the Soviet Union for which he, as a part of the Kremlin apparatus, is responsible.

When, for instance, will censorship be removed so that the Iron Curtain can be lifted for the more than 300,000,000 people who today are being forbidden to learn the truth of what's going on in the world around them or outside their countries?

When will the millions of innocent men and women under Kremlin control who have been thrust into jail, without a hearing or a trial, be given a chance to regain their liberty?

When will the right of self-government be given once more to Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany?

Above all, when will the Soviet government begin to honor its pledges and its promises as written in treaties, agreements and documents of an international nature in the 13 years since the close of World War II?

For there can be no assurance of peace if one of the powerful governments, with a vast military machine at its disposal, can at any time violate its written word and plunge the world into war.

There can be no trust, moreover, as long as the basic principles of freedom and a free society are ignored by the tyrants and autocrats in the Kremlin.

Anastas Mikoyan is a symbol of dictatorship. This very week Americans generally — especially those on the "liberal" side—have been enthusiastically acclaiming Fidel Castro and expressing satisfaction that Batista, the dictator, has been overthrown in Cuba.

More than anything else in the world, American approval of Communist behavior is important to the Kremlin in squelching any possible uprisings inside the Soviet Union.

To welcome Mr. Mikoyan in America with open arms, and without voicing any protest, is to furnish headlines in the Soviet-controlled press telling the Soviet people that the people of this country no longer disapprove of or at least are unwilling to combat the Communist philosophy.

America's moral force is the most powerful weapon in the world—it can move millions of people behind the Iron Curtain. So, on the kind of "reception" given the deputy premier of the Soviet Union as he tours this country depends the hope of the oppressed and the enslaved in whose hearts and minds the craving for freedom and liberty will never die.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Little Danger of Drinking More Water Than Needed

If water is given in large amount via the stomach tube, the animal (or man) is likely to develop serious symptoms—subnormal body temperature, headache, nausea, great weakness, retching and vomiting, convulsions and even coma—which may terminate in death. These effects, called "water intoxication," occur in man if large quantities of water are given to a patient with the dropsy (edema) of nephritis (Bright's disease).

DR. BRADY

Intake of a large quantity of water in any case where kidney secretion is diminished tends to produce these effects. Some physicians believe water intoxication is the explanation for the symptoms of uremia.

In all ordinary circumstances it is inconceivable that anyone may drink more water than is good for him, from thirst. On the other hand, it seems apparent that many persons do not drink enough water.

In general it is a mistake to avoid drinking all the water one wants, under the impression that one will be more comfortable without much water or one will sweat less if the water intake is restricted.

★ ★ ★

Hunger bears the same relation to starvation that thirst bears to dehydration. The symptoms of starvation are commonly confused with those of dehydration, because in cases of deprivation the victims generally lack both food and water.

HUNGER FOR VITAMINS, TOO

My own opinion, based on considerable observation and study, is that hunger is a demand for not only proteins, fats and carbohydrates but also for the essential minerals and vitamins.

★ ★ ★

Briefly the effects of absolute deprivation of water are:

1. Loss of body weight, due to continued excretion of the unbound water and also the combustion of body fat and carbohydrate (blood sugar, glycogen) and later body protein material to produce water.

2. Development of acidosis, from diminishing quantity of blood and retarded oxidation, and from slowing of kidney circulation and excretion and retention of phosphoric acids which normally are eliminated.

3. Rise in body temperature.

4. Rise in non-protein nitrogen in the blood.

5. Thirst; dryness of mouth, throat, tongue.

6. Dryness of skin; wrinkling and looseness of skin; pinched expression from loss of subcutaneous stores of fat and water from the deeper layers of the skin. Sunken eyeballs and reduced tension in the eyeballs.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

The Country Parson

"Even good inventions are not always used well—like the automobile which makes it so easy for us to get where we shouldn't be."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

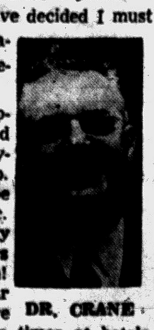

Sterility Provokes Odd Behavior

Sadie's problem is serious and occurs far more often than many people realize. Despite the Kinsey report to the contrary, women like Sadie are not hyper-sexed. They are simply goaded into illicit affairs by the reasons shown below. And these reasons are usually psychological, not organic.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-421: Sadie S., aged 28, has been married for 6 years.

"Dr. Crane, I've decided I must divorce her," Sadie's husband began.

DR. CRANE

"In fact, I suppose I should have done so several years ago. For she must be a nymphomaniac.

"She constantly gets into affairs with other men! In the past year alone, I have caught her three times at hotels with other men.

"Yet she comes from a good family and had two years of college, so what makes Sadie flaunt her unfaithfulness?"

SEX MAD WOMEN

"Is she sterile?" I asked, as my opening remark, and her husband nodded assent.

★ ★ ★

"Why did you ask that question?" he then added.

Well, it has been my experience over the past 30 years of Marriage Counseling, that supposedly sex-mad women aren't really passionate in an organic way.

No, they are goaded onward into their illicit affairs by a mental desire to inflate their ego.

Many nymphomaniacs have been referred to me by other doctors. Yet I have never found one of them to be passionate, as measured by the normal husband's standard.

Women like Sadie who pick up dates with stray men and seem to have no more sense of morality than dogs, are usually hungry for masculine praise and attention.

Others who have come to my office have suffered from amputated breasts or bad burns and other disfiguring scars.

In many cases, however, their disfigurement was not very serious to an outsider. But to the victim herself, it appears colossal.

"I am ugly or below par as a woman," is the usual thought percolating through the minds of these sex-mad women.

"I'm sure men will not be interested in me for I haven't got what it takes to win their love."

This negative thought causes them to brood. Finally, they get into a "testing" frame of mind wherein they decide to make advances just to see if they really can attract a male.

★ ★ ★

And when they find some man who accepts their overtures, they are delighted, for such male attention is a sop to their wounded female ego.

Like a drug addict, therefore, they use men to lull their painful worries into a quiet state, even though temporarily.

SADIE'S CONFESSION

"Dr. Crane, whenever I see a woman my age wheeling her baby down the street, I feel awful," Sadie began.

★ ★ ★

"For I realize I can never have a baby of my own. This scares me and I wonder if I ever could attract another man.

"So I flirt a little to test my ability and then the affair just goes on to a clandestine date at the hotel."

When the Kinsey report listed wives as hyper-sexed, it failed to distinguish between psychic goading to offset such an inferiority complex, versus the normal erotic desire of the male.

Send for my booklet "Sex Differences Between Men & Women," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It will offer you some essential facts you probably have never seen in print before.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Appreciates Press Giving Front Page for Christmas

You're worthy of much praise for giving the whole front page of your paper to printing in verse and picture the Bible story of Christ's birth. I am 79 years of age and do not remember a secular paper ever doing that before and you are to be complimented.

Reader Demands Better Candidates

I approve of that editorial Saturday about the responsibility of the leading Democrats. They've shirked their duties as individuals and as a group. They get pushed around by the lower element and don't even resist.

I've voted Democratic eight years and expect to do so again, but I won't do it unless they offer a better set of candidates. We expect the older men in our party to lay the plans and pick the men.

Acting Postmaster Explains Parking

Your Dec. 22 editorial was not unwelcome. We're aware of the needs for the post office parking lot, but due to an easement for an alley retained by the city, we'll probably have more trouble later on.

We have 34 parking spaces. When the city puts through an alley to Miami road, we'll lose 10 feet of our lot and Fox Cleaners will lose their 10 feet. This will eliminate half our present parking spaces.

★ ★ ★

During early construction stages of the post office I requested paving what is now lawn behind the lot, but the request was denied as unjustified. Later the idea was turned down again. This additional paving would allow at least 12 more spaces.

★ ★ ★

We haven't encouraged patrons to use the Fox driveway as an exit as Mr. Fox indicated he would prefer not to risk accidental damage to his building. We hope this matter will be corrected at an early date.

'We Must Have New Tax System'

Removal of personal property taxes and lowering or removal of real estate taxes are a must if our Americaan system of free enterprise and initiative is to continue. The confiscatory income tax must be removed on lower and middle class incomes if we're to make any progress in this nation.

★ ★ ★

A new system must be devised that doesn't keep a person in business from justifiable expansion and improvement and that permits home owners to improve their living conditions without being penalized with heavier taxes.

★ ★ ★

All citizens who are heartily interested in seeing the American system survive can do something concrete by keeping after their representatives in Washington, Lansing and Pontiac until something drastic is done to relieve the situation.

Doctor 'Needles' Old Folk Out of Doldrums

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—The reason some elderly people act old is that they have lost interest in people, places and things.

They don't hear, because what's there to listen to?

They don't say much, because they're wary of not being heeded.

They fold their hands over their stomachs because what is there to reach out for? Money, maybe, like the young grab at? So what's to spend it on? Hula hoops?

Elderly people lose interest in the world around them because it has lost its humor, its flavor. With one infirmity or another, they cannot expand this little world. The same faces. The old routine. Why bother to move?

"Doc" Henry Milchstein, the chief of physiotherapy at the home and hospital of the Daughters of Jacob, in the Bronx, N.Y., has performed wonders on aging people.

Partly it's because he has a sense of humor, which obviously the families of his patients had long lost.

Mainly, it's because he has a great ability to "needle."

Psychology, he has learned, is better than pills when a man passes 70. To rouse a patient from lethargy—and sheer lethargy at life is the chief cause of senility in many cases—kid him.

★ ★ ★

"Howcum?" asked Milchstein, the first visit.

"Can't," muttered the patient.

Next visit, the doctor brought a glass of wine. He held it over the bed. "Private stock," he remarked. "Too bad you can't try it."

The arms went up automatically. The patient tasted again the flavor of life.

An 86-year-old man, stricken with aphasia (speech defect) was too discouraged for anything but lying down. "Don't you want to be up for Washington's birthday," Doc asked. The patient shook his head. "Be more patriotic, man," Doc went on. "Anybody who isn't proud to say, 'I am an American . . .'"

SPOKE UP

"Listen, if I could say 'I am an American'," was the startling response, "I wouldn't be here."

Patient is recovering satisfactorily.

"Don't bother me," was his protest. "I want to go to the devil."

"Would you mind telling me your politics?" snarled the Doc.

"Democrat," came the snarl back.

"The devil's a Republican. He won't take you."

★ ★ ★

The old man sat up belligerently. "Well the hell," he snorted, "with the devil."

He is now so annoyed with the idea of death that he embraces life.

State Gets Prize for Car Courses

Michigan Honored 2nd Straight Year for High School Driver Education

LANSING (AP) — Michigan was honored for the second straight year Tuesday as the nation's leading state in high school driver education.

The Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, which surveyed driver education programs across the country, was to present Gov. Williams with a silver plaque at a state safety commission meeting today.

The organization reported that 537 of the state's 544 public high schools offered driver education courses at nationally recommended standards in the 1957-58 school year. About 84,700 students were enrolled.

The citation accompanying the award praised the Legislature, State Department of Public Instruction, State Police, the Safety Commission and a host of voluntary organizations ranging from auto manufacturers to newspapers and radio stations for aiding in the program.

U. S.-Canada 5-Point Plan to Foster Unity in Trade

OTTAWA (AP) — The United States and Canada have agreed to consult more closely on issues that can hurt each other's trade. They also have called on Europe to speed up reduction of barriers to imports from North America.

Ending 24 hours of talks between Cabinet members of the two neighbors, a 1,500-word communique Tuesday night announced:

1. Wheat experts of the two countries will meet every three months in attempts to resolve Canadian complaints that subsidized disposal of American surplus wheat cuts into Canada's commercial markets.

★ ★ ★

2. More talks will take place on U.S. restrictions on import of Canadian oil. There was joint agreemnt that continued oil exploration and development are necessary on defense grounds.

3. The United States expressed hope it could withdraw its import curbs on lead and zinc once some international agreement is reached among major suppliers and buyers.

4. Cabinet spokesmen, probably Canadian Justice Minister E. D. Fulton and U.S. Aty. Gen. William Rogers, will hold talks on U.S. prosecution of three big electronic companies whose subsidiaries operate a patent pool in Canada. Canada wants the suit dropped. The U.S. said it has no intention of infringing on Canadian sovereignty.

5. Canada will study an American proposal to set up an international development association affiliated with the world bank. The association would provide underdeveloped countries with long-term loans on more generous terms than the world bank gives.

Canadian Finance Minister Donald Fleming said the talks were held in an atmosphere of utmost harmony.

The talks were on the fourth annual meeting of the Joint Canada-U.S. Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs, set up in 1953 to iron out problems between the two countries before they develop into embarrassing public stuations.

The United States was represented by Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson, Interior Secretary Fred Seaton, Commerce Secretary Lewis Strauss and Under Secretary of State Douglas Dillon, representing ailing Secretary Dulles.

Dime Returned to Schoolgirls by Rockefeller

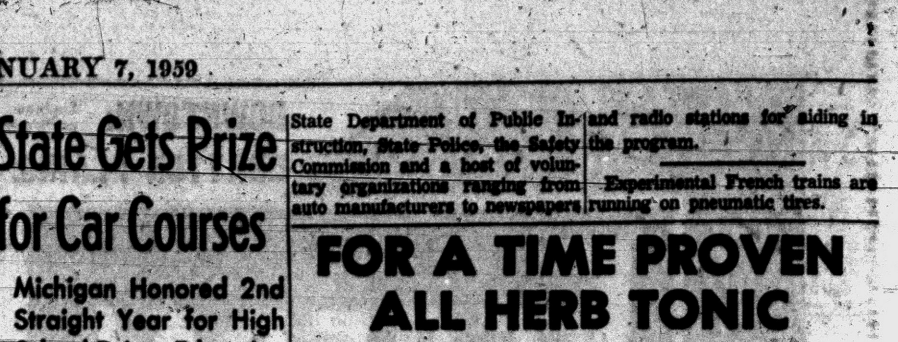

NEW YORK (UPI)—Gov. Nelson Rockefeller yesterday returned a dime sent to him by two Long Island schoolgirls with a note saying:

"We know from our history that your grandfather gave dimes to the populace as a token of friendship, and to show our esteem for you we are sending you the same token of friendship."

Rockefeller thanked the pupils for the gesture but said he could not violate his own rule against the acceptance of gifts.

Study Fire Combine

DETROIT (AP) — The city council of Grosse Pointe Farms has appointed a committee to investigate the possibility of combining the suburban fire departments in that area. The action came in the wake of a $250,000 fire which recently destroyed a home in Grosse Pointe Farms.

State Crews Can Clear Roads in Several Hours

By TOM SHAWVER

So runs the familiar tribute to postmen, but with an alteration here and there it could just as well apply to the men who keep Michigan's highways clear of snow and ice.

Let old man winter lay down a blanket of snow, and 5,000 men stand ready to man a fleet of trucks and plows that can clear state trunklines for auto travel in a matter of hours. Midnight or Sunday, it makes no difference what the hour or day.

For more than 20 years, the State Highway Department has been testing and improving its system of keeping traffic in the Motor State on the go in the worst kind of weather.

Today, it costs upward of 6½ million dollars to pay for winter maintenance on the 9,300 miles of state highways. Cost analysts say it's worth it. The more cars and trucks on the highways, the more gas tax money pours into state coffers.

Highway department workers maintain state trunklines in only 15 of the 83 counties. In the rest, county road commissions do the work on a yearly contract basis.

Michigan, far more than neighboring states, makes use of rock salt and calcium chloride to prevent snow and ice from accumulating on highways.

Motorists curse its effect on the finish of their cars, but it's the most effective substance yet found to prevent snow and ice from paralysing traffic. Control of snow before it accumulates rather than removal of the snow after it has blocked off highways is the theory.

Last winter, about 100,000 tons of rock salt and some 13,000 tons of calcium chloride were spread over state trunklines. Wisconsin, as an example, maintains 2,000 more miles of trunklines than Michigan but used only about 24,000 tons of rock salt and less than 1,000 tons of calcium chloride.

Shipping costs are a big factor in use of salt and chemicals, and Michigan is lucky on that score. With "the Nation's Salt Cellar" furnishing an unlimited supply of rock salt from the vein that runs under the Detroit area, the highway department can have it delivered for $13 a ton. Wisconsin must pay $5 more.

Dow Chemical Co. at Midland and Wyandotte Chemical Co. in the Detroit area, plus two other firms in neighboring Ohio, furnish calcium chloride.

In Michigan's rugged northland, snow plows and snow fences are more important than chemicals. Giant "V's plows form the backbone of the department snow removal system along with the "Sno-Go," a big machine that sucks up snow from enbankments and throws it 100 feet off the highways.

Other winter weapons include rows of closely planted pine trees that block drift snow from many highways. North of the Straits of Mackinac, where more than a dozen feet of snow falls in an ordinary winter, "Paul Bunyan" snow fences up to 16 feet high help keep roads open in the worst kind of weather.

2 Alaskans Draw Lots for Terms

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Alaska's two new senators participate today in an American ritual that hasn't been performed in 47 years.

In the presence of the full Senate, Ernest Gruening and E. L. (Bob) Bartlett will draw lots to determine the length of their terms.

Under Senate rules, approximately one-third of the Senate's membership must stand for re-election every two years, which necessitates differing terms for Gruening and Bartlett.

Although the senior-junior classifications will affect the two senators' assignments to committees, they will have nothing to do with their tenure.

Gruening and Bartlett, both Democrats, will be the last of the new Senators to be sworn in shortly after the Senate's first meeting of the 86th Congress convenes.

Bob Considine Says:

Marie Torre Walks Calmly, Proudly to Cell

NEW YORK — The ritual in Judge Sylvester Ryan's court was brusque. The defendant, Marie Torre, the New York Herald Tribune radio-TV reporter who had refused to reveal the source of a story, walked quickly and with quiet pride to her place before the bench. She is a handsome young woman, mother of two young children.

Judge Ryan asked her and her attorney if there was any change in her determination not to reveal the name of the executive at CBS who gave her a story on Judy Garland which prompted the involved suit which was now at its climax. The answer was an almost inaudible no, almost drowned out by the wicked winds which rattled courtroom windows.

"The marshals will remand this woman," the judge said with what seemed a trace of both resignation and impatience. Two beefy fellows shuffled forward, embarrassment showing briefly through the crust of their occupational indifference. The judge prepared to leave the bench, but he had another word for the reporter he had earlier in the trial called "a modern Joan of Arc." He told her briefly that if she had a change of heart during her upcoming 10 days in prison to contact the court.

Miss Torre walked back dry-eyed to the benches where sat her husband and a collection of reporters, some of whom had come to cover the story, some to wish her well. The marshals crunched out of the room with her, stepping on a foot or two in the first row of the spectator benches.

The husband followed, carrying a small plaid suitcase. "Marie didn't quite know what to pack," her good friend Mary Kelly said, "so I told her to pack what she took to the hospital for the baby."

The photographers followed the tight-lipped procession to the ground floor door of Thomas J. Lunney, U.S. marshal in charge of transporting Miss Torre to Hudson County (N.J.) Penitentiary. They fired away at their compatriot until the door closed, and then said, "isn't this a damned shame. . ."

Lunney, a kindly soul, put the star of a momentous test case as much at her ease as was possible under the circumstances. The husband and a few friends were permitted in to talk with her as she waited for Lunney's "we'll go now." But 10 minutes stretched to 20 and then to half an hour.

"The papers in this case have been in Washington, on that appeal business, and just got back here to the courthouse this morning," Lunney explained. "We're still waiting for them to come downstairs. You know how those things are."

The newsreel fellows came in then and patiently set up their tripods. They fixed their lights, tape-measured the distance between their lenses and where Miss Torre would stand. They might have been getting ready for an interview with Archie Moore or the runner-up in the Miss Rhengold contest.

On another side of the room, Miss Torre smoked one of the cigarettes from the carton she brought along and talked in her amiable and unexcited way. She talked of crackpot telephone calls and a rash of supporting letters and editorials which allayed the doubts of her father. The babies would be taken care of by a good nurse. She didn't know what to expect at the prison: What schedule she'd follow, whether she'd have her own cell.

"Jackie Gleason sent me a cake with a saw in it," she said, summoning a sweet smile. "Bert Wheeler sent me a loaf of Italian bread with a saw and a file. Somebody sent a small cap pistol.

"'Shoot your way out,' the note said." But the strain was telling a bit on her and she was tired and perplexed over what would happen to her if Judy Garland reinstituted the action after her release.

"Okay, Marie," one of the cameramen called out cheerfully. She took her place in the bowl of a crescent of TV and newsreel interrogators and placidly answered all their questions. She said earnestly she hoped that two bills seeking immunity for reporters — in the case of identifying news sources — would be passed.

The photographers said, "Hold it. Let's shoot that part over again, with a lens change." She said it again, with feeling.

The cameramen departed, after one said, "sorry to keep you so long, Marie, but just think, we blew most of the first day for you." Then the friends, one by one, and after a long time the papers came and Mr. Lunney said, gently, "We'll go now."

STEAMING COLD — One look at this and you would think the Ohio River was afire, but 'taint so. The steam swirling about a boat harbor at Cincinnati is due to a sudden dipping of temperature from 46 degrees to four below zero in less than 16 hours. Above the boats is the Central bridge, linking Cincinnati with Newport, Ky.

Stealing Begins Month Before Library Opens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The new North Beach Public Library won't be opened until Feb. 5, but already three outdoor lights and some of its shrubbery have been stolen.

"Did you ever put up that sign that defacing public property is illega?" Library Commissioner J. Max Moore asked at a meeting Tuesday.

"They'd steal the sign," said Commissioner S. Lee Vvuris.

State's Economic Growth Concerns Legislators

Industrial Development Hot Issue

By GEORGE WEEKS

A sampling of lawmaker opinion indicates a variety of proposals will be made to the 1959 legislature in the name of spurring economic growth—a subject that was a political football in the last election campaign.

Democrats and Republicans alike say if the other side is serious about beefing up Michigan's industrial development program, now is the time to do it.

Republicans talk in terms of easing the tax burden on industry and changing labor laws. There has been some talk of a right-to-work law but little is expected to come of it.

Democrats say the Republicans should quit "smearing Michigan" and vote for increased funds to promote and aid industrial development.

Rep. Carroll C. Newton (R-Delton) said:

"So long as G. Mennen Williams is governor and is dominated by (Michigan CIO president) Gus Scholle and so long as we allow unreasonable strikes . . . I do not believe Michigan can expect any better economic health."

Senate Majority Leader Frank Beadle (R-St. Clair) and House Speaker George M. Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) are expected to play major roles in drafting GOP policy toward economic development legislation, even though Van Peursem may lose the speakership in the equally divided House.

Rep. Harry J. Phillips (R-Port Huron) also is expected to influence Republican economic development policy. He has headed the subcommittee that controls appropriations for the economic development department and has been active in development work in the Port Huron area.

Democratic lawmakers said they will be guided by recommendations from Williams.

The governor outlined his proposals in general terms at his inaugural. He said his 100-member Committee on Michigan's Economic Future (COMEF) will draft a "blueprint for progress for the coming quarter century or more."

"At the same time COMEF develops broad plans for progress, we will be pushing for action in direct and immediate ways," Williams said. "Our economic development department must be strengthened. Local industrial development organizations must be encouraged. Small business opportunities must be promoted."

Many see the need for aid to local industrial groups as the key factor in stimulating economic growth.

In Maine, for example, the state guarantees, up to 90 per cent, loans made by a community or bank for construction of plants for industry.

Pennsylvania has loaned about eight million dollars for industrial expansion in depressed areas.

Changes in GOP Laid to Nixon

Martin Believes Defeat as Minority Leader Due to Vice President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon is getting the credit or blame—whether he deserves either or not — for being the directing influence behind some changes in the Republican party.

Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, ousted Tuesday as House minority leader, pointed a finger in Nixon's direction in accounting for his defeat by Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Asked if the vice president had a hand in bringing about his overthrow, Martin replied, "All I know is that his people were against me—actively against me."

Martin went on to say that some White House aides had met a month ago with Halleck and implied they were against his re-election because "I was a little more independent than I should be—of them."

Halleck denied any White House intervention. There was no comment from Nixon.

Senate Republican liberals, rebelling against installing Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois as party floor leader, have denied Nixon has aided them in any way. But before they launched their drive, they informed the vice president in some detail of their plans.

It has been Nixon's contention that the GOP has failed to sell itself to the average voter and that the Democrats won their victories last November because they had projected the idea they were for the little man.

Next Detroit Election Using Less Workers

DETROIT (AP) — A 38 per cent cut in the number of Detroit election workers in next month's primary was agreed upon yesterday.

Election director Louis Urban proposed the use of 4,119 full time workers, next month compared with 6,610 in a major election.

Urban said the city would save $50,000 because of the cut.

There will be only four contests for office and one bond issue on the ballot. The primary races include traffic court judge, county auditor, regular term common pleas court judge and a short term judge in the common pleas court. The bond issue is a proposed 30 million dollar sewer construction program.

Secret Divorce Cases OK if Children Involved

That was the opinion of the State Supreme Court Tuesday. It upheld a decision of the District Court of Appeal that the public can be barred from the courtroom "for the good of the child."

2nd Christ Child Stolen

DETROIT (AP) — A second plastic figure of the Christ Child was stolen from a Detroit-area nativity scene Tuesday. A public works official said the life-sized image was missing when workmen went to dismantle the display in Trenton. A similar figure disappeared New Year's Day in the yard of Detroit's St. Bonaventure Monastery.

Hartford "Damage Suit" Insurance Saved Us $750!

A true story based on an actual case

While my wife was in the hospital a kindly neighbor offered to take care of our 18-month baby. That was fine — but while in our house she fell down the dimly lit stairs and injured her back! Her "damages" came to $750 and were paid on my behalf by the Hartford.

If someone is injured on your premises you may be faced with the expense of defending against a law suit and perhaps paying out damages. That's why the sensible thing to do is to have adequate liability protection!

Hope Red Visitor to U. S. Will Lead to Farm Trade

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm leaders kept an eye on the visit of Soviet Deputy Anastas I. Mikoyan here hoping that it might lead to the opening of new foreign outlets for farm surpluses.

There was speculation that the Russian leader, himself a trade expert, might broach the subject in conferences with White House and State Department officials.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson long has advocated negotiation of sales of farm surpluses to Russia on terms which would be beneficial to this country. However, no positive steps for such deals have been made.

The American Farm Bureau Federation adopted resolutions at its recent Boston Convention that backed the Benson stand.

"We should offer farm products in world markets without regard to destination whenever it will advance the welfare and security of the people of the United States," the resolutions said.

But there have been no recent indications as to whether the Russians are interested in any of the surpluses held by the government. These largely are wheat, corn, other livestock feed grains, and tobacco.

Several years ago, the Soviet showed interest in surplus U.S. butter. But stocks of butter have been cut to a very low level, reflecting a decline in the quantity moving into government hands under price supports and heavy donations for welfare purposes at home and abroad.

★ ★ ★

The Communists are striving hard to expand production of meat to meet promises of Soviet leaders that Russia would outstrip the United States in the production of this food. They have been handicapped to some extent by limited supplies of feed grains, of which this country has a record large surplus.

UAW Urges Bill to Provide Jobs

Will Press Congress to Devise Program to Aid Depressed Areas

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers will seek a comprehensive congressional program designed "to put America back to work."

★ ★ ★

UAW President Walter P. Reuther says the union will press for enactment of such a program by the 86th Congress in the coming months.

Reuther said the UAW wants "a depressed area bill which would give to cities . . . much needed aid both in locating new industries and finding work for the unemployed in the area."

He said the union also would seek:

1. Legislation to increase the benefits of unemployment compensation and extend their duration according to federal minimum standards.
2. A bill providing federal aid for school construction.
3. Housing and industrial redevelopment legislation.
4. A measure to increase the federal minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and to extend its coverage to millions now unprotected.
5. An increase in the level of social security benefits.

New Engineers in Walled Lake

Detroit Firm Named by City Council to Fill Position Immediately

WALLED LAKE — The city council at last night's meeting named Civil Engineering Inc. of Detroit the new city engineers. At the same time they released the firm of Hubble, Roth and Clark from the same position.

The council also heard a report from the state concerning the widening and paving at Walled Lake drive and Pontiac trail, and at W. Maple road and Pontiac trail.

These projects should be under contract by April, according to the state report, and traffic signals installed when this work is accomplished.

The council spent some time discussing whether or not the city is liable for the paving of Beverly boulevard. The general opinion was that the contractor was released before he fulfilled his obligation. Further study will be given to this matter, council members decided.

★ ★ ★

The council also is considering plans to improve Decker road between W. Maple and 14 Mile Rds.

In cooperation with other city governments in the area, the council proclaimed the week of Jan. 18-24 as "Symphony Week."

Sale of Bonds OK'd for School District

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Consolidated School District was granted permission to sell $650,000 in bonds for school construction yesterday by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

According to a spokesman at Superintendent Clifford H. Smart's office, this amount was the remainder of the $1,500,000 bond issue approved in February 1958 by voters. The district has already sold $850,000 in bonds and asked for approval to sell the remainder last November.

A new junior high school which will open in September, additions to the senior high school and remodeling of the present junior high school are being paid for with this money, the spokesman said.

FIRST ARRIVAL — The distinction of being the first baby born in the new Community Hospital near Almont goes to Phillip Allen Powers, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Powers, 26245 Prinz Rd., Armada. The baby was delivered by Dr. William L. Martin, Romeo, at 1:20 a.m. yesterday — less than 24 hours after the hospital opened its doors to the public Monday morning. Pictured with the proud mother and her new offspring is Miss Lauretta Paul, executive director of the hospital. She said that, in honor of the event, the hospital board will pay all the Powers' hospital expenses, and an insurance company is giving the baby a 20-year policy with the premium paid for the first year. Lapeer merchants are donating $500 worth of merchandise to Phillip's family.

Region Officials Will Meet Jan. 14

Municipal officials from Genesee, Macomb, and Oakland counties will assemble in Ferndale Jan. 14, for the annual meeting of Region IV of the Michigan Municipal League.

Attending will be mayors, presidents, councilmen, and other elected and appointed officials from League-member cities and villages from these three counties.

Region IV program will begin with a talk on "Planning Municipal Insurance Programs," delivered by Richard N. Mann of the Insurance Audit and Inspection Company, Indianapolis, Indiana, followed by a panel discussion of the topic.

Scheduled next is a talk on "Municipal Liability for Negligence," to be given by Louis C. Andrews Jr., League Staff Attorney.

A dinner session will be highlighted by a talk on "The Michigan Tax Study—Its Effect on Cities and Villages," and conclude with the annual election of 1959-60 officers for Region IV.

Present Region IV officers are: Ferndale Commissioner Thomas H. O'Donoghue, vice-chairman and Farmington Manager Earl F. Scheriffius, secretary.

Regional officers serve as liaison between the League headquarters and its regional member municipalities, and play a great part in helping member officials realize and make use of their League services.

The Michigan Municipal League, organized in 1899, is made up of 415 cities and villages in Michigan and is dedicated to the advancement of home rule and the improvement of municipal government through cooperative effort.

CAROL SOMMER

WALLED LAKE—The Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) "Good Citizen" title has been awarded to Carol Sommer of Walled Lake High School.

★ ★ ★

Following nomination by her classmates, she was elected by the school faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, service, dependability and patriotism.

A top scholar in her class of 350, Carol is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Sommer of 3238 Winterberry Rd., Westacres, and the late Mr. Sommer.

Carol, who is in her senior year, is a member of the student council. As a varsity cheerleader for a second year, she has charge of all pep meetings.

The outstanding student also is a member of the Latin Club and the Chess Club. She was elected to the National Honor Society while in her junior year.

Her plans for the future include a career in the field of education. She plans to attend the University of Michigan.

According to Lloyd's Register of Shipping, there were 35,202 steamships or motor vessels of 100 gross tons or more in the world merchant marine as of June 30, 1958.

State Sets Traffic Goal: Cut Accidents 10 Pct.

LANSING (AP)—The State Safety Commission has again set a goal of a 10 per cent reduction in highway accidents in 1959.

But members are agreed it will be a touch-and-go proposition on realizing the saving in lives.

Michigan has achieved a 10 per cent cut in fatal accidents each of the three past years. Last year's total of 1,343 killed on the highways was 194 below 1957.

"It's like playing golf," observed Joseph A. Childs, State Police Commissioner. "When you get your score down low, it's hard to get it lower."

Gov. Williams suggested at the commission meeting yesterday that new areas of accident prevention be explored. He proposed further research into accidents caused by drinking drivers and into rural road deaths.

★ ★ ★

"The new quota will mean that we can average only slightly more than 100 deaths a month if we are to reach our goal," said Secretary of State James M. Hare.

There were seven months last year in which fatalities topped the 100 mark—the highest, the 153 deaths recorded in November.

The new year got off to a bad start, Childs reported. He said State Police recorded 10 highway deaths over the 30-hour New Year's period compared to only three during the same period last year.

There were seven persons killed during the 30-hour period over the Christmas holiday, Childs said, against 12 fatalities in 1957.

Propose Bridge Connecting Soos

Mackie Supports Move for International Span at Sault Ste. Marie

DETROIT (AP)—Engineering proposals for an 18-million-dollar bridge to link the Sault Ste. Maries of Michigan and Ontario will be unveiled today.

The man who prepared them is Dr. David B. Steinman, New York bridge expert who designed the 100-million-dollar Straits of Mackinac bridge some 50 miles south of the proposed international span.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and James N. Allan, Ontario minister of finance, will turn over the recommendations to the International Bridge Authority, the body created by the Legislature to build a toll bridge across the St. Marys River connecting the two Soos. The Ontario senate created the St. Marys River Bridge Co. for the same purpose.

Both Mackie and Allan have indicated their departments support the project.

See Little Rise in Wheat Prices

Farm Experts Warn Growers to Keep Eyes on Market Price

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Farm economists see little chance for Michigan wheat prices to improve much in the next few months.

The current wheat supply and the trade situation seem to indicate steady prices until spring.

Meanwhile, says Michigan State University extension farm economist John Ferris, it has not paid to hold wheat beyong December in four of the last 11 crop seasons.

But Ferris advises growers to watch the market price closely in the next few weeks. If they do not increase, many producers will find government storage a more profitable alternative than selling the wheat.

The deadline for applying for a government wheat loan is Jan. 31. Ferris suggests farmers check the "effective" support rate before deciding between storage and selling.

The "effective" rate is what a farmer would get for wheat after storage costs and services charges are deducted from the announced support price.

Special Election Set on School Bond, Tax

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A special election on a proposed $400,000 school bond issue and an increased tax rate has been scheduled for Feb. 2 in the West Bloomfield School District, it was announced yesterday by School Superintendent Leis Hougan.

The school board is asking voters to approve a 6-mill operating tax for the next five years to replace the 3.5-mill tax which expires this year, Hougan said.

He explained that a minimum of $50,000 and a maximum of $300,000 of the proposed $400,000 school bond issue would be used to remodel the Roosevelt Elementary School, with the remainder to be spent on the other three schools in the district.

A panel of three school board members, as yet unnamed, will be present at the Green Elementary School PTA meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the school to discuss the election proposals.

Uncontested in Primary

LYON TOWNSHIP — Democrat Daniel Foley Jr., is uncontested within his party in seeking the township clerk post in the spring election. He will oppose the incumbent Kirk Joslin, Republican, for the position.

Romeo Civic Center Gets New Officers

★ ★ ★

Louis Verellen was elected vice chairman for the coming year. Mrs. Lester W. Poosch is the new secretary and Roger Toothacker, treasurer.

Center director Royal A. Holt gave his annual report in which he stated that 22,308 perons made use of the center during its first year of operation in 1958.

These included members of clubs, organizations, scout and church groups plus patrons of teenage dances and other public events, Holt said.

Schools in State to Get Only Partial Payment

LANSING (AP)—There was some more bad news today for the state's school districts—most of them already hard up financially and borrowing.

Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said he has been told that the state school aid payment due Jan. 15 will go out on time.

But it will be only a partial payment. Schools will receive around $17,000,000 of the $33,941,750 due them the 15th.

The state currently is lagging about 25 million dollars behind on its school aid payments. Schools have received only $76,487,629 of the $101,843,251 due them.

After Jan. 15 the state will be about 42 million dollars in arrears in its payments to the schools.

The schools, meanwhile, have borrowed nearly 55 million dollars to meet current operating expenses —some 42 million against anticipated state payments and around 12 million against property taxes.

The critical financial status of the state, Bartlett said, and its failure to make the payments was mainly responsible for the borrowings.

Oakland Man Appointed to Study Housing Code

ROYAL OAK—Owen Perkins, chief of the Inspection Dept. in Royal Oak, is one of the six men appointed by Governor Williams to the Housing Code Study Commission.

Perkins, of 1605 Crooks Rd., was appointed yeterday in Lansing.

To Sponsor Ham Dinner

LAKE ORION — The Women's Dept. of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints will sponsor a family-style baked ham dinner from 5 to 7 p.m. tomorrow at the church. Proceeds will go toward the building fund.

What Makes Weather Blow Its Stack?

IGY Findings May Help Man to Control Climate

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with our weather could be that it behaves too much like people.

And suspicions are mounting that little things may set off vast storms, droughts, floods, or changes in our climate.

The triggers could be flares on the sun, a hail of meteors, strange kinds of radiation, or other events.

Discovery of such triggers—if they exist—could well be one of the fantastic rewards from the worldwide studies of the International Geophysical Year.

★ ★ ★

The earth has been wheeling around for millions of years. By this time, you might expect it to have worn down or become pretty stable weatherwise, says John Townsend of the National Aeronautical and Space Agency.

But the sun does vary in its outbursts of X-rays and radiations from flares. Could these be triggers for mechanisms high in the atmosphere, which in turn affect surface weather? Do cosmic rays, or radiation leaking from magnetic traps above the earth, heat up the air?

Some flares could deepen weather troughs or lows so they sweep farther south than usual, bringing rain or snow to Texas rather than the Dakotas. Absence of flares — as the sun now is quieting down in its cycle — could mean severe droughts in the U.S. Southwest in 10 years or so.

Australia's E. G. Bowen proposes that dust from meteors supplies seeds for raindrop formation — meaning more rainfall a month or so after the earth intercepts a swarm of meteors.

Whatever the merit of such ideas, IGY is certain to produce far keener and more basic understanding of the why and how of our weather. That means better forecasts, perhaps methods of eventual weather control.

Massed around the South Pole is the earth's great icehouse — Antarctica. Ice is a factor in the balance of heat and water on earth, hence a weather influence.

Scientists discovered Antarctica contains nearly half again as much ice as first suspected — ice averages about 1½ miles thick over the region's six million square miles. At one point in Marie Byrd Land ice lies nearly three miles deep.

Were it all suddenly to melt, seas would rise 300 feet or more, in disastrous floods.

Antarctica was stripped of its icy masquerade — it's apparently not a continent after all, but an ice-hidden system or even two separate systems of islands and mountains.

Soviet weathermen at a station in the Antarctic highlands measured a record low temperature of 124 degrees below zero. But temperatures on any given day can vary 80 to 90 degrees between South Pole and coastal stations — a range as great as that between Miami and Bismarck, N.D.

Signs were found that Antarctica is warming up, at least in places. Little America is about five degrees warmer now on the average than in 1912, reports Dr. Harry Wexler of the U.S. Weather Bureau.

At Spitzbergen in the arctic, average winter temperature is 11 degrees warmer than 50 years ago, he adds.

Arctic studies find there is less ice in that region than half a century ago, but that the arctic is being bathed with far more snow than Antarctica now.

Seagoing scientists discovered three vital counter-currents flowing deep under the Gulf Stream, under the Pacific Equatorial Current, and another north of the Equator. They influence not only weather, but the precious marine life reserves of the oceans.

At sea and on land, they sought to learn whether mankind is making the earth grow warmer from the stupendous quantities of carbon dioxide released by burning coal and oil. This gas, if it stays in the atmosphere, could exert a greenhouse, warming effect.

The preliminary verdict: All but 2 or 3 per cent of it is absorbed by the oceans.

Ships of many nations sounding the water bottoms discovered new submerged mountains and valleys, recovered specimens of marine life long thought extinct, charted water temperatures, density and salinity to determine the course of ocean currents and the speed with which cold bottom waters rise to replenish and fertilize sea life.

Floating on a flimsy ice floe and ice island, daring scientists discovered a new mountain range, rising from the Arctic Ocean floor, a high plateau with steep drops, and mountain peaks as jagged as the Rockies, took photographs of puzzling tracks made on the ocean bottom by some strange sea life.

★ ★ ★

Sea topography can channel currents, and in the arctic — where the Russians have long concentrated scientific studies—could also be essential for future submarine voyages under the ice cover.

And IGY brought a fabulous prospector's strike.

In the southeast Pacific, oceanographers discovered a vast area of sea bottom is covered with a sludge of manganese, iron, cobalt and copper — worth perhaps half a million dollars per square mile. It appears economically feasible to bring it up.

★ ★ ★

Solving the mystery of how and why it is there could supply important clues to past geologic history of the seas, in which life on earth first began.

Skate Star Gets Home, $2,000 Monthly Alimony

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Ice skating star Donna Atwood has a divorce decree, $2,000-a-month alimony, $375 monthly support for her three children, and title to the $300,000 family home.

Paying for all this is John H. Harris, 59, her husband for eight years. The 34-year-old Mis Atwood obtained the divorce Tuesday after telling the court he was rude to her friends and had a bad temper. He did not contest her suit.

State Liquor Sales Drop More Than 10 Per Cent

LANSING (AP)—The State Liquor Control Commission reports net sales of liquor dipped slightly more than 10 per cent in the first 11 months of 1958.

Net sales for the period were $132,692,207—down almost 15 million dollars from the figure of $147,454,581 for the corresponding portion of 1957.

Hal Boyle Says:

Survivor Felt God Went Down With Titanic

NEW YORK (AP)—"For years I felt God went down with the Titanic," said the tiny old lady. "It took a great many years for me to get my faith back."

Mrs. Henry B. Harris shares today a feeling held by many that the sinking of the "unsinkable ship" after crashing into an iceberg in 1912 spelled the end of an age of security the world has never known since.

"That way of life seems gone forever," she said.

She was one of the 705 saved when the great ship went down. Her husband of 10 years, a famous New York theatrical producer, was among the 1502 lost.

Mrs. Harris, now in her 70s, uses a crutch because of an ailing hip. Looking a bit like a crippled elderly thrush, she was the life of the party at a recent reunion of a dozen or so of the 83 Titanic survivors. Afterward she found herself unable to watch the premiere of a British-made film based on the disaster.

Mrs. Harris had broken her elbow when she slipped and fell on the ship stairway a few hours before that fatal collision. She was playing cards with her husband in their suite when the ship struck the iceberg at 11:40 p.m. April 14.

"There was no shock or jar," she recalled. "I simpy noticed that my clothing, which had been swinging on hangers a moment before, suddenly stopped swinging.

"When we went up on deck later and saw people getting into the lifeboats, we thought they were sissies. There was no feeling of terror—then.

"But as time passed we realized we were in real danger. My husband begged and pleaded with me to go, but I didn't want to leave him, even though I felt everyone would be saved."

Her husband finally put her in the last seat in the last collapsible boat, tossed her a blanket, stepped back—and was lost in a sea of faces.

Mrs. Harris, left a millionaire, became America's first woman theatrical producer, but lost her wealth during the last depression. Someting of a career survivor, in the nearly 47 years since the Titanic sinking Mrs. Harris has also weathered two world wars, hard times, and three more marriages.

"If I had my life to live over, I wouldn't change it. After all, I had 10 wonderfu, happy, superb, unforgettable years with my first husband.

"He spoiled me for any other man in the world. I have had four marriages—but really only one husband."

Alaska Governor OK, Rests After Surgery

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Gov. William A. Egan, who has spent most of his time as governor of this new state in the hospital, was resting comfortably today after undergoing surgery.

★ ★ ★

Egan, 44, was inaugurated as the first governor of the new state of Alaska last Saturday. Four hours after the ceremony he entered the hospital.

Tuesday, during a four-hour operation, surgeons removed his gall bladder and a gall stone. They termed the operation a complete success and said Egan was in good condition.

Priest Boosts Album by His Teenage Choir

Plugging an album of songs by a teenage choir he directs, Father John McDonald wrote in a circular letter:

"The enclosed brochure is somewhat flamboyant, but readable. Because I composed it, it is to be suspected of bias — to say the least."

Let Psychiatrist Check Hoarding Impulse—Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: What would you do if your husband bought food like he was feeding a family of 12 and couldn't get to a grocery store for a year? That's my Gus. I'm a wreck from shifting canned goods, sacks of flour and cases of detergent around. He hunts up bargains in the newspapers and runs to food sales and fills up the car.

ABBY

"My cellar and cupboards are so crammed full we could feed an army and there's just the two of us and we never entertain. We live one block from a supermarket. I think he's crazy. This has been going on for years. I bought a freezer but it only made matters worse because now he's got that filled with frozen foods. What's ailing him, anyhow?

ANXIOUS TO HEAR

DEAR ANXIOUS: A psychiatrist would probably call this a "compulsion to hoard." Your husband really should stop and see a doctor on his way home from the store sometime.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my 30s who, about six months ago, decided to have plastic surgery on a nose that was so big it gave me a complex. It was a very successful operation, but my problem is this: When I see friends I haven't seen in a long while and they say, "You look simply wonderful but there is something different about you and I can't figure out what it is," should I tell them or not?"

RIVA

DEAR RIVA: Certainly. If you don't—somebody else will.

"DEAR ABBY: My fiance is stationed in Germany and will be there for two years. Before he left we became engaged in the church and he gave me a beautiful diamond.

"My fiance says it is okay for me to go out on dates with other boys while he's gone to take my mind off my loneliness. My parents say that no engaged daughter of theirs is going out on dates. Don't you think that if my FIANCE doesn't mind, my parents have no say in the matter? I am almost 18." LONESOME

DEAR LONESOME: I agree with your parents. It was generous of your fiance to give his approval, but since you accepted his diamond, you should decline his offer to date others. You made your choice.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: There is this girl at school who I am sure is a very nice girl underneath it all, but if I told anybody that I liked her they wouldn't associate with me any more. She wears so much makeup that you would think she was made up to go on a stage. Her hair is up and she boasted that she had 101 bobby pins in it. One of the teachers made her wash her face once, but the next day she had the makeup on as thick as always and said that was the style and the teacher was square. Do you know of any way I could help this girl without insulting her?" CAROLYN

DEAR CAROLYN: The girl you describe is not likely to accept criticism from anyone who is merely a nodding acquaintance. If you are sincere about "helping" her . . . gain her confidence by offering your friendship first. Then move in with the helpful suggestions.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO THELMA: The difference between a successful marriage and a mediocre one consists of leaving about 3 or 4 things a day unsaid.

Sale Gift Often Is Risky

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: During the summer I bought a lovely sweater at a sale at one of the department stores. I put it away to give to a friend of mine for Christmas. She was very pleased with it but unfortunately it was so small for her and she asked me if I would please exchange it for the next size.

"This sweater is now almost double the price I paid for it and I really cannot afford to give such an expensive present. I am really in a spot and hope you can help me out of it. Am I obliged to give her the same sweater or could I possibly give her a less expensive one?"

Answer: Your experience shows why it is unwise ever to buy a present at a sale. You will now either have to tell your friend the truth and explain that you cannot afford to buy her the same sweater at the regular price, or do without something you want and buy it for her.

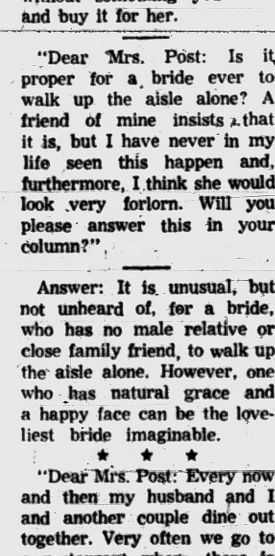

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a bride ever to walk up the aisle alone? A friend of mine insists that it is, but I have never in my life seen this happen and, furthermore, I think she would look very forlorn. Will you please answer this in your column?"

Answer: It is unusual, but not unheard of, for a bride, who has no male relative or close family friend, to walk up the aisle alone. However, one who has natural grace and a happy face can be the loveliest bride imaginable.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Mrs. Post: Every now and then my husband and I and another couple dine out together. Very often we go to a restaurant where there is dancing. Neither of our husbands cares very much for dancing, but I love to dance and so does the other wife. Would it be proper for the two of us to get up and dance together?"

Answer: Sorry, but it would be most improper.

Child Needs Physical Closeness to Parent

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At 3, Chet's activities sometimes resulted in bumps, scratches and cuts.

His response to these injuries was immediate and direct. Roaring, tears streaming down his face, he'd make a bee-line for his mother.

She'd take him on her lap, applying treatment to the bump, scratch or cut. Soon thereafter, he'd start wriggling in her arms or otherwise make it clear that he was ready to resume independent life.

But now that Chet's 6, his demands for her physical nearness are no longer direct.

When his mother comes out to remove his baby brother from his playpen, he notes the tenderness with which she says, "Oh, you want your doll to come, too, do you? All right, here he is. Now let's go in and get that snowsuit off . . ."

The contrast between her tone to Buddy and the way she says "Come in and get ready for supper, Chet" hurts him.

But instead of screaming his need for closeness to her, he follows her into the kitchen to pester her for help in putting his express wagon away. As she knows he can put it into the garage himself, she rejects his appeal with impatience.

If she understood what it represents, she mightn't.

The world too soon makes us timid of a direct admission of our need for a beloved person's attention. Children soon discover that we find their hurts inconvenient or reproachful, and to avoid our impatience will think up all kinds of excuses to get us to attend to them.

* * *

One day your 12-year-old will suddenly protest his lonely chore of removing old magazines to the cellar. Like Chet, he has developed a protective pride against appearing to need your company—and has lost the small child's innocent and more honest acceptance of the need.

A Greek myth concerns the giant Antaeus, son of Terra the Earth. A mighty wrestler, he was unconquerable because after every fall he always rose with his strength renewed by contact with the Earth, his mother.

Myths survive because they're interesting. The myth of Antaeus survives because it symbolizes our timeless need to renew our strengths by physical closeness to our beloved people.

When it's filled, like the 3-year-old who wriggles from our lap, older children are ready again for independent activity.

Potato Beet Salad Best Served on Second Day

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If you are entertaining a group of friends who like highly seasoned food, you will please them with this Russian Salad. It should be made the day before you serve it so that the flavors can blend with dark rye bread.

* * *

The salad recipe was given to us by Mrs. Walter Lange into one another. Serve it whose native country is Estonia. Estonian cooking has a Russian touch to it. Besides being a homemaker and mother, Mrs. Lange is an artist.

RUSSIAN SALAD
By Mrs. Walter Lange

5-6 big potatoes
3 cans diced beets
4 hard cooked eggs
Diced apple (optional)
2-3 garlic dill pickles, diced
½ cup herring
1 medium onion, chopped fine
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon horseradish
Sour cream or salad dressing (not mayonnaise)

Cook, peel and dice potatoes. Add drained beets, diced eggs, apple, if desired, pickles, onion and herring (also optional). Mix in enough sour cream or salad dressing to moisten. Add mustard and horseradish to taste.

This salad should be rosy red. Let it stand overnight in the refrigerator before serving.

In Youth Is Time to Save

It's never too early to start financial planning for future retirement. In fact your early working years are the time when you should develop the saving habit, according to a spokesman from the home management department at a state university.

HAVE RESERVE

Of course the first aim of the young family's savings program is to serve as an emergency fund. Having a little "spare" money to meet ordinary emergencies eliminates a lot of worry.

Your local bank, a savings and loan association or a credit union are ideal places to start your savings account. Check interest rates and locate your account to get the highest rate possible. Now you can get from 2 to 4 per cent compound interest — and it's compound interest that makes saving worthwhile.

START EARLY

Young families feel responsibilities are heavy when children are small. But actually this is the time to get a savings program under way because the second working stage or education of children period is the most expensive of all. However, this is usually the highest earning period for the family, too.

What started as an emergency fund and long time retirement plan can become the college fund. Savings and loan or credit union shares usually pay the highest compound interest, so continue that saving method. Keep the fund in the names of the parents so it can be a combinaiton emergency and college fund.

Engagement Told

Former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Blackwell of Hadley announce the engagement of her daughter, Margaret Jane Farrell to Roy A. Heckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heckman of Lapeer. A July wedding is planned.

The first regular coal mining operations in North America were begun by the French in 1720 on Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia.

Never Too Late to Improve Looks

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Have you lost the feeling of personal attractiveness you once had? Perhaps life has "mowed you down" to some extent with its responsibilities and disappointments, and being human, you have neglected yourself.

Of one thing I am sure! The knowledge that she looks as lovely as possible gives a woman's ego a lift which nothing else can, and makes her better able to cope with whatever problems she may have.

IT IS NEVER TOO LATE! Although it is true that it is easier to prevent signs of aging or overweight than it is to correct them, yet it is never too late to make great improvement in your looks or your personality.

At this time each year I bring you my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. All over the country women are joining to see how much they can improve themselves in eigth weeks time. Eight weeks is such a short time that anyone can keep determination firm for that long, but it is long enough to lose 20 pounds, decrease measurements, and improve your skin, hair and posture.

The knowledge that she looks as lovely as possible gives a woman's ego a lift which nothing else can, and makes her better able to cope with whatever problems she may have.

Excercise does wonders for your figures, complexion and health. You will find exercises for the most usual figures faults in my Marathon booklet. Today let me give those of you who wish to try Marathon an easy exercise to do before you receive your booklet.

Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor at your sides. Drag both legs as far to the left as you can without lifting the heels or hips from the floor. Drag them as far to the right as you can. Continue left and right.

Another. The same starting position. Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen. Straighten the leg, toe pointing toward the ceiling. Lower leg to the floor with a stiff knee. Do the same thing with the right leg and continue, alternating left and right.

The Marathon Booklet directs you in analyzing your figure, tells you how to measure yourself, gives you a weight and height chart and a calorie chart, illustrated exercises and general directions for improving complexion and hair. In the back of the booklet you will find "Eight Weeks to Popularity" a daily personality test.

If you would like to join thousands of other women who are going to stick to this routine for eight weeks, send 10 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon Booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Fighting Words Will Provide Ammunition

By RUTH MILLETT

If you don't want to start a husband-wife argument, stop before you start a sentence in any of the following ways—

The trouble with you is. . .
You promised me you would. . .
I wish you wouldn't. . .
If your mother just wouldn't. . .

I don't suppose there's any use reminding you. . .

You wouldn't listen when I tried to tell you. . .
It was certainly embarrassing for me to have you. . .
What in the world ever gave you the idea that. . .

Now you listen to me for a minute. . .

It's none of my business, but...
All right, have it your way. . .

I'm not complaining, but . . . I know it's a lot to ask, but. . .

You never used to. . .
This is the last time I'm going to mention. . .
I could have told you that. . .
It's a mystery to me why you. . .
Those are fighting words in any family.

Femininity Is First in This Year's Blouses

Tops that gracefully bridge the fashion gap between day and night are available in designs that combine elegance with comfort and easy care.

★ ★ ★

Relaxed overblouses that skim the waistline or hug the hips have a wealth of details that make them eminently suitable for a number of occasions. The softer look prevails and femininity is the keynote with collars that are set slightly away from the neck, supple crushed collars and others that dip to a bow-trimmed "V" in back.

★ ★ ★

There are twist-over ties and bows galore accenting necklines, waistlines and even hemlines. Trapeze styles that swing out from under the arms and are moderately flared in back will be popular and the fitted look is also available for those who like it for "dress-up" occasions.

Some folks have been married so many times, the only thrill they could get out of Niagara Falls is to go over it in a barrel.

Marriage Is Her Career

This has been the announced ambition of Berthe Fredrique Jourdan since she was a 10-year-old schoolgirl in France.

Now, as wife of the French film star, Louis Jourdan, and mother of his 7-year-old son, also named Louis, life is complete for small, blonde, casual and always chic "Quique" Jourdan pronounced "Keek."

★ ★ ★

"It's the luckiest thing in the world for Louis that he married a wife with no talent and no ambitions," says Quique. "In France we are brought up to know how to appreciate a husband."

WED IN 1946

Louis and Quique were married in France in 1946 and came immediately to Hollywood, where they have lived ever since, making annual excursions back to Europe. Says Quique:

★ ★ ★

"Louis' plan, which we have followed most of the time, is to make one picture every year in France, one in England and one in America. It keeps us on the move, and it makes us really people without a country. We no longer belong to France, and we are always treated as visitors in England and Hollywood. But I like it that way. It gives you perspective."

★ ★ ★

The Jourdans are members of Hollywood's ultra-chic social circle. They entertain charmingly in their comfortable, mellow Beverly Hills Home, furnished mostly with French antiques and books. They avoid night clubs and public appearances. They enjoy life.

"When we were first married," Quique remarks, "I did find it difficult to remain calm when women swarmed all over Louis every time we appeared in public. But then I made up my mind to stay in the background, and to trust Louis' good sense and our love.

AVOIDS JEALOUSY

"I've always believed that if you don't invent reasons for jealousy, they usually don't happen. But if you get jealous and make a big scene, you make everything more important to your husband.

"Even if he has not thought of it before, he will decide that if you are so upset about some other woman, she must be more exciting than he had noticed before, and he will go and find out.

★ ★ ★

"So I make for him a good home, and I make myself a good wife, and I let him alone when he wants to think. I even let him alone when he wants to cook.

"He can cook like Escoffier when he is in the mood, while as for me, I hate to cook. It works out very well."

A May 2 wedding is being planned by Ethel Lee Graham of Lincoln avenue and Richard Sherman Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Russell Clark of West Huron street. Miss Graham is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Graham. Mr. Clark is a graduate of Michigan State University.

Pilots to Aid CAP Survey in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Members of the Michigan Civil Air Patrol will start quizzing private pilots tomorrow on their flying patterns.

The two-week survey, to be conducted nationally, was asked by the Federal Aviation Authority.

The CAP members will interview pilots of all aircraft landing or taking off at 27 Michigan airports. Excepted from the quiz will be regularly scheduled airliners and military aircraft.

The interviews are aimed at helping the FAA to study air traffic patterns across the country and to plan for the traffic problems of the future.

Brazil Growing Rapidly

RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazil's population now exceeds 63,000,000 — four times that of Canada—and is growing at the rate of 2½ per cent a year, or about 30 per cent faster than the rate of growth in the United States. Population experts predict that Brazil's population will exceed 105,000,000 by 1980.

CHAPTER XX

The luggage was carried out and placed in the hall. Angus went forward to meet the manager, who was called Senor Portalas and who was grave and polite and whose eyes, dark, spaniel-like, lit with homage when they rested upon Angela.

"Guapa!" he murmured reverently to Angus, ushering him into the office.

"Guapa indeed," agreed Angus inwardly.

Rooms were ready. Soon, baths were flowing. Dinner was still two hours away, but in the meantime there was sherry, dry, pale gold.

And the others could do what they liked, Angus decided, without the help of a courier. He was going to take Angela out to dinner.

They went out early, and on foot. They strolled slowly along the lighted streets, only half aware of their surroundings.

They stopped to look at the windows of still open shops, and the proprietors came to the doors and looked at Angus with hope lighting a gleam in their eyes.

"Americano?"

"No."

A GIFT FOR ANGELA

Hope died, to revive once more when Angela went inside and fingered delicate black lace mantillas and draped them over her fair hair. Angus bought one for her, as frail as a cobweb.

"When will you wear it?" he asked her, smiling.

"To Church." Her voice was dreamy. "I'll wear a black suit, unrelieved, and I'll go into Church late and walk up to the family pew, past all the feathers and summer felts and straw with flowers.

"I shall look remote, and tragic, and the vicar will forget what he was going to preach about."

"He might decide to preach about exhibitionism instead."

★ ★ ★

He was fingering some scarves, and he drew out a small one and held it out to see if the color suited her.

He bought it with the mantilla, and while the latter was being wrapped, Angela made the scarf into a narrow band and tied it round her hair.

"You like that?"

"I like that," he said.

They strolled out of the shop, and she looked up at him.

"You think it's just a scarf," she said slowly, "but it's more than that. It's a — a symbol. A talisman. No, it's a signal. Whenever I wear it, in all the years we're together, it'll mean that I love you especially much.

"I shan't have to give out any heavy hints at the breakfast table on the morning of our anniversaries.

"I shall just sit down and pour out your coffee, and you'll look up and see that I'm wearing this scarf with the tiny fans all over it, and you'll know you've forgotten to buy me an anniversary present.

'SUITABLE PLACE?'

They were at the door of a restaurant in a narrow, unsavory street. She paused and looked dubiously at the low, dark doorway.

"Is this a suitable place to bring a delicately reared girl?" she wanted to know.

"They feed you magnificently."

"Lead on," she commanded.

They sat at a corner table and he bought her a bota and filled it with wine and she put her head back and tried, unsuccessfully, and to the amusement of the other diners, to direct the scarlet stream down her throat.

"No good," said Angus. "You do it this way."

"Where did you learn?"

"Here. Where else? Drink your wine."

"What is it?"

"Logrono. Like it?"

"Yes."

★ ★ ★

He held her in his arms, and released her at last and looked down at her.

"And so I bring you to my castle," he said, "By courtesy of Sir Claud."

His hands were in hers, and she swung them gently to and fro.

"I've been making up some beautiful, moving poetry," she told him. "Want to hear it?"

"Please."

Angus and Angela dined out in Spain.

'Will you,' he asked her, 'come with me again?'"

She paused. "You are going to ask me, I suppose?"

"I daresay. Is that the end?"

BEGINS AGAIN

"No. I'll begin again, and then you can hear it as a beautiful whole.

Angus and Angela dined out in Spain.

'Will you,' he asked her, 'come with me again?'

'Sir,' she replied, 'with a man of your worth, I would go — if you asked — to the ends of the earth.'"

There was a pause.

"Like it?" she asked.

He tried to speak, and found that he could not. The absurd little rhyme, spoken in her light, soft voice, conveyed as no serious lines could have done her love and trust in him.

★ ★ ★

They stood looking at one another, and then he raised one of her hands and kissed it gently.

"Thank you, Miss Clunes, for the happiest night of my life."

"Thank you, Mr. Graham, for the most wonderful night of mine, Dear Mr. Graham," she said dreamily, "how I long, how I long for the time when we won't have to part for the night. . ."

He left her, lingeringly, reluctantly, at the door of her room and went to his, hoping to dream of her. Dawn was breaking when he fell asleep.

But once again, he had to wake to cold reality — and to one hard and unpleasant fact.

LUGGAGE DISAPPEARS

Maurice Tarrant's luggage — all of it — had disappeared.

The details were soon learned. Maurice had dined with Mr. and Mrs. Zoller. They had gone on to a cinema which began at eleven-thirty and ended shortly before two in the morning.

They had returned to the hotel and Maurice had gone straight to his room, which was next to that of the Zollers.

He had had a bath and gone to bed. Tired after the day's drive and the evening's pleasure, he had slept heavily.

When he awakened, it was to find that his large suitcase, his small suitcase and their contents had vanished, together with the clothes and even the shoes that had been lying about the room.

A search had been made, without result. At the end of the search and the questioning and the confusion of suggestion and counter-suggestion, one fact remained unchanged: the luggage was missing.

"But why do they take yours?" Mrs. Zoller wanted to know. "Why do they not take mine? Mine is of more value.

"My jewels by themselves, they are more worth stealing, and my clothes, and my shoes. Why do they not take those?"

"There were two of you in the room," pointed out the admiral. "But how," he went on, addressing Maurice, in whose bedroom they were all gathered, "how the devil could anybody enter a room and remove two cases without disturbing you?"

"When I'm asleep," said Maurice, "somebody could remove the bed without disturbing me."

WALLS USELESS

"Are there only two bedrooms on this floor?" asked Mr. Holt.

"Yes. Mine, and the Zollers'. If I'm a heavy sleeper," said Maurice, "then so are they, because for all the good that wall is for keeping out sound, you might as well take it down and put up a curtain.

"The outer walls of this place might be ten feet thick, but the inner ones must be made of plaster."

2nd Peyton Place Movie Has Lana in Lead Again

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — When Jerry Wald returned to 20th Century-Fox after an illness of a month he found a completed copy of Grace Metalis' book, "The Return to Peyton Place" on his desk. When he became sick she had only half her book finished.

The original "Peyton Place" grossed $15,000,000, the biggest grosser 20th has had. The new book will come out in the spring and shortly after its publication the sequel to "Peyton Place" will be brought to the screen.

The same cast, Lana Turner, Lee Philips, Diane Varsi, Hope Lange will have their original roles. Of course Arthur Kennedy, Betty Fields and Barry Coe will be among the missing because they died in the picture.

Met John "Duke" Wayne and Pilar in passing at the baptism reception of the Hernando Courtright's daughter, but I did manage to ask him, "What's next on your agenda?"

Duke said he completes "Horse Soldiers" in about a week. "I'm physically exhausted because I've been knocking myself out learning the art of direction from one of the greatest, John Ford."

I had been told that Wayne follows Ford around watching the old maestro's every move, and if you don't say I told you, John who always looked upon Duke as his protege, has even allowed Duke to direct a few scenes in "Horse Soldiers," when they were on location in Louisiana.

Hollywood can well be proud of Lita Baron and Rory Calhoun, who lead an exemplary family life. They welcomed their second daughter, Tami Mary Elizabeth, on Christmas day and Saturday Tami was baptized in the Church of the Good Shepherd.

I was godmother and Vic Orsatti, who is producer of the highly successful "Texas" TV series starring Rory, was godfather. Monsignor Kanaly who converted Rory, flew from Oklahoma and while he was here he blessed the marriage of Rory and Lita.

After the church services there was a reception. Nancy Sinatra, Cesar Romero, Virginia Grey and the family attended, and when I left, Debbie Reynolds, who is Lita's closest friend, was expected.

Lita has given up her career for motherhood. She also has a little daughter, Cindy Frances, age 2½.

Frank Sennes, still in a whirl over the success of Louis Prima and Keely Smith at his Moulin Rouge (and probably still counting the money) has reached out and snagged another gold mine. The Harlem Globetrotters (that all-time, all-pro, unbelievably fantastic team of Negro basketball players) open at the Moulin Rouge Feb. 3 and will actually play a game every night on the nightclub stage! There will be just one show, or game, nightly—the late show. If you've ever seen the Globetrotters in action you know they're the greatest in the world—can even play basketball to music and make unbelievable basket shots!

Debbie Reynolds is clearing the decks so she can spend a few months late this summer as a student at Actors Studio in New York.

Julie London rushed back from New York after appearing on Garry Moore's TV show to the bedside of her father, who is critically ill in Burbank Hospital.

The Johnny Mathis opening at the Cocoanut Grove tomorrow night will see a great gathering of stars. Johnny is very popular with all the actors and singers. The Kirk Douglases, June Allyson, Dick Powell, Rock Hudson, Joan Collins, Barbara Rush, the Milton Berles are among those who have reservations.

Mrs. Guy Madison is riding around in a rented car following the smashup of her own car and the theft of Guy's station wagon.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Oh, What's the Use!

VINCENNES, Ind. (AP) — A City councilman says he is quitting his campaign against indecent magazines on Vincennes' newsstands. Marvin Miller said while he was suggesting that a magazine dealer remove a display of nude femininity from his newsstand, two elderly women came in and asked for "pinup pictures of men with big muscles."

Enough Is Enough

MERIDEN, Conn. (AP) — Police located Clark Morgenson's stolen car in a municipal parking lot—tagged for overtime parking. Police officials said they expect to excuse the ticket.

Airway Gals Fight Hemline Order

Show More Leg? Never!

LONDON (UPI)—British European Airways' 700 female employes gave notice Monday they will fight a company order to shorten hemlines because the wife of the chairman said the length of their skirts made her wince.

"Show more leg," they were told.

One ground hostess said "I would not shorten my skirt for the Queen, let alone Lady Douglas."

It was Lady Douglas, wife of Lord Douglas of Kirtleside, who said on returning from a trip to the fashion shows in Paris that "I thought their skirts were too long. Nothing is more dreary and drab than a long skirt when everyone else is wearing a short one. They make me wince."

She spoke to her husband about it—and out went the order to shorten skirts.

A few younger girls welcomed it.

The rebels have until Feb. 15 to "toe the hemline." What then?

Wants to Separate Naughty TB Patients

DETROIT (UPI) — State Health Commissioner Albert Heustis has been asked to establish a special state hospital for trouble-makers among tuberculosis patients.

Detroit Health Commissioner Joseph Molner said in a letter to Heustis yesterday that such a hospital could be used to confine patients who insist on drinking, starting fights and running away continually.

NCAA Starts Annual Confab Today

Expect Reports From Committee on Infractions

Preliminary Sessions Held on Other Matters Including TV

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 53rd annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. starts officially today. And it could open with a bang and screams of anguish if the council finds any member schools guilty of infractions of the NCAA code.

The Committee on Infractions, headed by A. D. Kirwan of Kentucky, delivered its report to the council yesterday, but there was no indication of its findings in cases which it might have studied during the past year.

The Committee on Infractions met last month in Kansas City to assemble the report which was delivered yesterday. In its final session this morning, the council was to decide if any action would be taken on the basis of findings by the infractions group.

If any, punishment meted out to member schools would be announced just prior to official opening of the convention in the afternoon.

In a routine action, the council is expected to remove the University of Southern California from probation. Southern Cal has served out its probationary period, but the council must be convinced that past violations have been corrected.

Schools currently on probation and the dates on which their term ends are UCLA, August 1959; Southern Methodist, September 1959; Memphis State, January 1960; North Carolina State, November 1960; Seattle, September 1960; and Auburn, September 1961.

The degree of punishment during the probationary period varies with seriousness of the violation, but basically it prevents probationary schools from competing in NCAA-sponsored and NCAA-affiliated championships and tournaments.

The report of the NCAA television committee, which met in two days of preliminary sessions, was also expected today, but all indications are that it will merely indorse the current program of restricted TV.

It was learned that the Big Ten put up its usual stiff fight for unrestricted TV, but was again thwarted by committee members from other regions.

One committee member advanced a radical proposal for taped telecasts that would be shown on Saturday evenings, replacing the current live telecasts on Saturday afternoons, but it drew no support from other members.

★ ★ ★

The number of national and regional telecasts may vary slightly from last year, but the "split-network device," an arrangement to satisfy NCAA regulations requiring at least one telecast to originate in each district, will probably be retained. Under this setup, two or more games are shown "nationally," but the network is split so that each area gets only one game.

Nation's No. 1 Quintet Absorbs 1st Loss, 75-66

Vanderbilt Upsets Kentucky

By The Associated Press

The load's considerably lighter today for Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky basketball baron who once said "a winning streak gets kinda' heavy to carry around."

Vanderbilt's Commodores eased the burden last night, shattering top-ranked Kentucky's 16-game victory string with a 75-66 decision that must rank as the top upset of the college basketball season thus far.

Only 5-5 before the game with the team judged the nation's best, the Commodores reeled off a 21-4 spurt midway in the first half and stayed comfortably ahead throughout.

Jim Henry's 29 points and 32 fouls called on Kentucky were the big factor in the Wildcats' first loss since another Southeastern Conference team, Auburn, sandbagged Rupp & Co by a single point, 64-63 last Feb. 24.

Kentucky reeled off five straight victories to close out last season as NCAA champions and had tacked on 11 in a row this season. Vandy bagged it at the free throw line hitting 33 to 20 for Kentucky.

Ironically, the Vanderbilt coach, Bob Polk, didn't learn about his team's tremendous victory until after the game. Roy Skinner, an assistant, coached the team for Polk, who suffered a heart attack nine weeks ago and wasn't even permitted to listen on the radio.

North Carolina State, No. 2 in the weekly Associated Press poll and the only other rated team in action last night, had a scare but survived—overcoming pesky Virginia 73-68 in an Atlantic Coast Conference match. Virginia, which upset West Virginia last month for one of its two victories in 11 starts, led the powerful Wolfpack 52-51 with nine minutes left but State pulled it out behind the clutch shooting of Lou Pucillo and Bob MacGillivrary.

Rice's Gary Griffin whipped in five points in the last 12 seconds to break a tie and upset Texas A&M 70-65, throwing the Southwest Conference race into a tizzy. The Aggies, beaten but once in 10 earlier starts, pulled even at 64 on Neil Swisher's swisher with 33 seconds left. Griffin broke it up with a lay-up with 12 seconds to go, and then wrapped it up with three fouls.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Jones' 30 points led Southern Methodist over Texas 73-55 and Texas Tech rallied to edge Baylor 68-65 in other SWC games.

Dartmouth, with George Ramming netting 20 points, opened its Ivy League campaign with a 52-51 squeaker over Yale, and Virginia Tech and Richmond won Southern Conference tests.

Virginia Tech rode a 34-point performance by sophomore Bob Ayersman to an 86-81 decision over George Washington, and Richmond had four players in double figures—topped by Alan Cole with 19—in a 69-62 victory over the Citadel.

★ ★ ★

Connecticut, triggered by Jack Rose's 20 points, won its seventh straight for a 10-1 record, 73-58 over Yankee Conference foe Maine.

Pistons Snap Losing Streak; Win 107-105

It was their finest National Basketball Assn. performance of the new year. The Pistons trailed the Philadelphia Warriors by 18 points late in the third quarter and rallied to win a 107-105 squeaker.

Phil Jordon's basket with 26 seconds left was the margin of victory. He claimed Detroit's fourth-period comeback by finally tying the score at 103-all with 1:37 to play.

In the hectic seconds that followed the Warriors went ahead again by two points and Gene Shue re-tied the game to set the stage for Jordon's game-winning score.

Pleasing coach Red Rocha the most was Detroit's evenly distributed scoring. George Yardley flashed some of his 1958 form in leading the Pistons with 27 points. Shue contributed 20 and Jordon and Walt Dukes had 19 apiece.

Cliff Hagan, an All-America at Kentucky, held Elgin Baylor to 12 points, half his average, and scored 21 himself as the Hawks defeated Minneapolis 112-95. New York's Knicks skimmed by the floundering Syracuse Nats 118-108 in the second game, playing under protest by both coaches.

It was a one-two job for the Hawks, with Hagan's defense complementing Bob Pettit's 38-point performance and 35 rebounds. Both were Garden records this season. Pettit's 38 points topped his own mark of 36 on Nov. 25 and his 35 rebounds bettered Boston's Bill Russell, who had 33.

Cronin Prexy by February?

Bosox General Manager Looks Like Sure Bet to Replace Harridge

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Cronin, long identified with American League baseball as a player, manager and executive, today appeared a certainty to take over as league president at the end of the month.

★ ★ ★

At the moment there is no other candidate to succeed Will Harridge who resigned last month after serving as president for 27 years.

★ ★ ★

The official announcement is expected Jan. 31 at a meeting of league club owners in New York. A majority vote is needed to elect a new president.

Harridge yesterday said that Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, is the only candidate who has been invited before a screening committee which will meet in Chicago Jan. 14.

★ ★ ★

In Boston, the 52-year-old Cronin declined to comment on the situation until something definite has been settled.

Cronin is expected to come to Chicago with his boss, Tom Yawkey, who is chairman of the screening group.

Russians Sharp in 7-3 Victory

Soviets Outskate 'M'-MSU Team

DETROIT (AP)—Russia's touring hockey team took on another American foe last night with the same familiar result.

The Soviets defeated 7-3 a combined Michigan-Michigan State collegiate team composed mainly of Canadians who had played the game since boyhood. The collegians were unable to cope with the Russians' faster skating and sharper passing.

Jack Adams, Detroit Red Wings' general manager, was among the 6,783 who watched the game. He had high praise for the Soviet team.

"These Russians are wonderful stickhandlers and skaters and playmakers, but I wonder how they would stand up against pro-style body-checking."

The victory kept the Russians unbeaten in four games on their visit to the United States. They previously had tied and beaten the U.S. nationals twice on American ice.

Led by Alexis Guryshev, the Russians had more stamina than the younger collegians. Guryshev, 33, years old, skated like a recently-launched rocket and tallied twice. He assisted on two of his teammates' goals.

The well-conditioned visitors waited until the 14:22 mark of the first period before scoring. The tally came on a 40-footer by Nick Sologubov, the 34-year-old Russian captain and veteran of international hockey wars.

★ ★ ★

The lead lasted only a minute when Michigan State's Dick Hamilton tied the score. The stalemate continued until the six-minute mark of the second stanza.

Then the Russians went into orbit around the collegians' net and tallied four times in 10 mnutes. Each club scored twice in the final period.

Four of Russia's goals came when the collegians were shorthanded because of penalties. Seven penalties were called, four on the Russians.

They were to depart today for Colorado, where they meet Colorado College Friday and Denver University Saturday.

12 Colleges From Coast to Coast

Nationwide Grid Loop May Become a Reality

CINCINNATI (AP)—The American Conference, a nationwide football league of colleges which now likely to come a lot closer to realization at this week's meetings of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. and allied bodies.

This conference, which has been under discussion for several years would include about a dozen teams from the East and the Pacific Coast, with Notre Dame as the all-important middle college.

Discussions have ranged from hot to cold for some time, but the breakup of the Pacific Coast Conference has made the big four of California football and the University of Washington, closely allied with the Pacific group, available for other affiliations.

The coach of one team which might become a member, Floyd (Ben) Schwarzwalder of Syracuse, commented today that it would be "a great thing for us."

★ ★ ★

The big thing is that Army and Navy have said they wouldn't come in without Syracuse," Schwarzwalder said. "Before, we were rather on the outside. Tom Hamilton (Pittsburgh athletic director) was guiding the whole thing and he wasn't too much interested in us.

"Now, since Army has said they won't come in without us, Pitt no longer has so much influence."

Schwarzwalder suggested that the conference setup could be arranged so that six Eastern teams would play basically among themselves, with a few intersectional games. The Western teams could do the same thing. Then the sectional winners might meet in one of the major bowl games—possibly replacing the Big Ten-Pacific Coast conference Rose Bowl alliance.

★ ★ ★

Potential members include Southern California, UCLA, Stanford, California and Washington on the West Coast; Syracuse, Pitt, Penn State, Army, Navy, West Virginia and Miami, Fla. in the East and possibly Notre Dame and the Air Force Academy in the middle territory. Schwarzwalder suggested a maximum of 12 teams.

Such an alliance has been proposed on several occasions but so far, the colleges never have reached an agreement. Several other colleges have been mentiond as possible members.

Johansson May Get a Brushoff

Swedish 'Heavy' Seems 3rd in Line for Shot at Patterson's Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Sweden's Ingemar Johansson is undefeated, the European heavyweight champion and universally recognized as the No. 1 challengar to world titleholder Floyd Patterson. But he may be third in line for a crack at Patterson's crown this year—if he gets the shot.

★ ★ ★

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's enigmatic manager, hinted today that his protege may have a couple of title fights this year before he gets around to Johansson. That is, if he ever gets around to the hard-hitting Swede.

Who the first two possibilities are, Cus wouldn't say. He did say in answer to a question that he considered Johansson and England's twosome of Brian London and Henry Cooper as worthy challengers. He said there were others he had in mind, too, but he declined to name them.

★ ★ ★

D'Amato, in a telephone interview, seemed to give the impression that something had gone amiss in his dealings with Johansson. He said, however, he hadn't spoken to the Swede since the latter met with him in New York last November.

The next move appeared to be up to Johansson.

West Bloomfield Upsets Walled Lake

Pontiac Press Photo

Layup in Final Second Clinches Overtime Game

Johnson Hits Winning Bucket; Prep Activity Is Light

The Walled Lake-West Bloomfield game more than lived up to its billing as the top contest on a slim prep hoop schedule starting 1959 last night as the host Lakers pulled out a 56-54 victory in overtime.

Chunky Barry Johnson was the hero of the night when he clinched the ding-dong duel with a layup basket with only two seconds remaining in the extra period.

Lapeer and Ortonville both bounced back on the winning side of the ledger. The Panthers, down by 14 at one time, tripped Lakeville 64-57 while the Blackhawks were whipping Hartland 54-45.

In other action, Berkley walloped Royal Kimball 50-21 to stay unbeaten, Warren repeated an earlier win over Clawson 60-40, Clarenceville did the same against Wyandotte Shaefer 46-30 and Oak Park trounced Huron, 52-41.

The game at West Bloomfield was see-saw all the way. The unpredictable Lakers, now 3-2, held slim leads most of the 1st half but fell behind 40-38 as the 3rd quarter closed. Walled Lake pulled away to an eight-point edge in the last period but the home team battled back and sent it into overtime when John Lucadam swished a shot just before the final buzzer.

Three quick points by Jim Hollister pushed Keego ahead 54-51 early in the overtime. Frank Fink deadlocked it again with 10 seconds left but Johnson followed with the big one.

Four of the five Lakers scored in double numbers paced by Hollister's 17. Walled Lake, which had an unbeaten streak snapped at four, had a trio led by Kirk Evans' 14. A sparkling 16-for-21 foul shooting record enabled the home five to win despite making two less field goals.

Lapeer had lost three straight close contests and was determined to bring things to a halt. A close press told the story as the victors came from behind and went ahead by 10 in the last period which started with Lakeville still in front by four. Butch McKillen swished 21 and Ed Marshall 18 to dominate the scoring.

Earl Richardson hooped 20 to pace Ortonville which led all the way. Coach Harvey Fletcher is going with a young team since steady scorer Ted Follis and center Winston Merrick dropped the sport.

Berkley had a breeze from the 2nd quarter on in winning its 6th straight. Kimball led late in the 1st period but then fell behind to stay. Dave Burris, Dick Rose and Bob Ross tallied 10 apiece for the Bears. John Dallavo hit eight for the losers. Warren started out early and kept gaining momentum. Jim O'Dell of Clawson led all the scorers with 14. It was Clawson's 5th setback as against one win.

Clarenceville has now three straight since losing two. Tony Giacobazzi led a balanced attack last night with 11 points. Oak Park improved its record to 2-5. Mike Detmer led the way with 18.

St. Frederick Bolsters SCL Lead

Rams, Shamrocks Winners

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac's two parochial quintets came through with much-desired victories, last night, as Suburban Catholic League resumed its title race after the holiday respite.

St. Frederick bolstered its leadership with a 49-47 win over an unexpectedly tough St. James outfit on the latter's floor. The Shamrocks took a high-scoring victory, 58-34 over St. Clement, at Center Line.

Orchard Lake St. Mary was idle, but St. Benedict stayed in the race with a 38-25 win over RO St. Mary.

Shamrocks will return to action on Thursday night, at their own court, St. Michael Hall, instead of Friday, against St. Mary of Royal Oak. Change in schedule was made to avoid conflict with the big St. Frederick—St. Mary of Orchard Lake encounter at Pontiac Central gymnasium.

Rams were outshot from the floor at Ferndale, by four goals, but turned in a great performance at the foul line to win. In the final 17 seconds, Phil Landry was fouled and dumped in his two free tosses for the clincher. Previous to Landry's winning heaves, Mike Fraser had knotted the count at 47-47 after the lead had changed hands several times.

St. James, led by Dick Christie, who banged in six straight long-shot, buckets in the 3rd period, grabbed the lead in that session for the first time. Christie had 17 for game honors, followed by Steve Pocs of the Rams with 16. Pocs was the real clincher for Rams, with his string of eight free throws in 12 tries. Victory was the Rams' 4th in the SCL and 5th overall, without a loss.

Shamrocks squared their record at 2-2, led by George Drake with 18 points and Art Robak with 15. The North Siders grabbed an early 8-point lead and just rolled along. Halftime count was 30-12. Mikemen got points from nine players of 11 who got into the game.

New Terp Coach Eager

The Florida State University head coach, who moves into the Maryland job Jan. 15, is an experimenter and a careful planner of plays. He led FSU to a 7-3 season last year, his sixth at Florida State.

The 45-year-old father of nineis eager to try his brand of football at the University of Maryland and Maryland officials are happy to have him.

"I am enthusiastic about the opportunity at Maryland," Nugent said yesterday after the board of regents announced his appointment. "The school has a great background and the future looks bright."

Dr. Wilson Elkins, president of Maryland, said the university was lucky to get Nugent. . . "his football is original with an interesting style of play."

Nugent's over-all coaching record, including four years at Virginia Military Institute and six at FSU is 53 wins, 45 losses and three ties.

Busy Prep Mat Slate Thursday

Chiefs Host Port Huron, Skippers and Vikings Also in Action

Five wrestling matches Thursday will make up the biggest prep mat schedule of the season for Oakland County schools.

Pontiac Central's second home event within six days will feature the program. The Chiefs will take on Port Huron in an attempt to snap a losing streak at three.

Three of the other matches will be in the Inter-Lakes League as those schools waste no time getting into the crucial contests.

Waterford, with only one start thus far, will be host to rugged Berkley, Walled Lake visits Southfield and Farmington is at home against Van Dyke in the I-L.

Strong Hazel Park travels to East Detroit in the other local match.

Vikings Pin Redford

Walled Lake forfeited two matches but won seven pins and a decision to beat Redford Union 38-20 in a wrestling match last night.

Other lone Viking losses were in the 165 and 175 weights.

World Series Scramble Merits Honor

Yanks Voted 'Comeback' of '58

By The Associated Press

The comeback of the year in 1958 was made by the New York Yankees in Milwaukee's County Stadium where they won the World Series.

Trailing 3-1 after the fourth game, the Yanks scrambled back to win the fifth in New York and swept the last two in Milwaukee. Only the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates ever had done this in the history of best-of-seven World Series.

The nation's sports writers and sportscasters gave the Yanks a sizable margin over the Pittsburgh Pirates in The Associated Press' annual year-end poll. The Louisiana State University football team was a distant third, closely pressed by Boston's Pete Runnels who almost won the American League batting title and Robin Roberts who regained his pitching touch at Philadelphia.

Of the 207 writers participating in the poll, 65 put the Yanks first, 23 had them second and 20 more rated them third. The total of 253 points on a 3-2-1 basis compared to Pittsburgh's total of 159 points, including 31 firsts.

The Yankees, who were runners-up to LSU in the team-of-the-year balloting, found themselves in an unusual situation as comeback winners. Normally, they are cast in the role of the heavily favored champs who are grinding some hapless opponent under their heels.

The job that earned Pittsburgh enough points to finish second was the Pirates' cellar-to-second rise in the National League under manager Danny Murtaugh who had the club in the pennant race until the final weeks.

LSU drew recognition as a comeback team, as well as the team of the year, because the 1957 football team had managed only a 5-5 season while the 1958 version was the No. 1 team in the nation. LSU ended its regular season with a 10-0 record and added a Sugar Bowl victory over Clemson. A total of 18 first place votes and 79 points went to LSU.

Runnels, traded to Boston by Washington last winter, finished second to teammate Ted Williams in the batting race, a fine comeback for a 30-year-old handyman. Runnels drew 12 firsts and 68 points. Roberts recovered his pitching skill for a 17-14 record with the Phils, winning seven firsts and 50 points.

The leaders with points on a 3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses)

1. New York Yankees (65)	253
2. Pittsburgh Pirates (31)	159
3. Louisiana State Football (18)	79
4. Pete Runnels (12)	68
5. Robin Roberts (7)	50
6. Northwestern Football (5)	42
7. Indiana Football (10)	41
8. Baltimore Colts (3)	40
9. California Football (7)	35
10. Ray Robinson (4)	33

Others with 10 or more points.
Air Force football (4) 27, Archie Moore (4) 24, San Francisco Giants (3) 21, Bob Turley (4) 20, Pittsburgh Steelers (5) 18, Alabama football 15, Bobby Layne (2) 13, Roy Campanella (1) 13, Bob Cerv (2) 12, Kentucky basketball (2) 12.

City Hockey Tourney Starts

The 12-team league has been divided into two classes in an attempt to more nearly equalize abilities and the revision faces its first test this evening when the City Junior tournament begins on the lighted softball field.

Separate tournaments will be held in classes A and B with all eliminations on a double knockout basis. The Class B tourney starts tonight with the "A" skaters taking over the rink tomorrow evening.

Tonight's first round "B" games match Bulman's and Northern A at 7 o'clock and Jim's and Mountain View at 8. Thursday's Class A openers send Huron Valley against Sylvan at 7 p.m. and Forge vs. Spencer at 8.

Faculty Quintet Easy Winner at Waterford

The Waterford Faculty basketball breezed to an easy 57-32 victory over Ron & Don Service last night in a Waterford Township Recreation League Class B contest at Isaac Crary Junior High.

Stu Thorrell caged 13 points and Vern Cork 12 to spark the Faculty while Clarence Beers bagged 11 in defeat. Northern Lumber gained a forfeit win over Lakeland Pharmacy in the other scheduled game. Three Class A tilts are scheduled Thursday night, starting at 6:45 p.m.

AIDS FATHERLESS CHILDREN — Clyde Hazen's (above) deer hunting trip last fall, to the Drummond Island club, where he hunts each November, proved an unexpected blessing for some of the fatherless children in the Rogers City ship disaster. Hazen, a Walled Lake storekeeper, won The Press' big deer derby with his big buck, collecting $150 in U. S. Bonds for his effort. But he didn't keep the award, sending a check for the amount (which he shows above) to the Rogers City agency handling relief funds for the unfortunates, left by the sinking.

Withdrawal of Mining Plea Saves Porcupines

By JACK PATTERSON

The first battle for the Porcupine Mountains has ended. With the announcement yesterday that Bear Creek Mining Co. had withdrawn its application for exploration and mining rights in Michigan's largest state park, it appears that this wilderness area, for the time being at least, is safe from exploitation.

PATTERSON

Now, whether this timely withdrawal, made four days before the Conservation Commission was expected to turn down the petition, was a face-saving gesture on the part of the company, or an attempt to avoid a ruling on the proposition until a more favorable climate exists towards such a proposal within the commission, is something for the cynics to kick around.

At any rate, Conservation Director Gerald Eddy deserves a big vote of thanks from conservationists and others who recognize the value of a true wilderness area for his part in defeating the mining company's bid.

To be fun, any contemporary battle should have a villain, whose defeat may be thoroughly enjoyed. To properly judge Eddy's contribution it is necessary to find the villain in this piece. It is not the mining company, Bear Creek Mining and its parent Kennecot Copper were within their rights in seeking to exploit known copper reserves under Lake Superior.

Copper, like gold, is where you find it, and that's where mining companies are interested in operating. So far as the company is concerned it was trying to make a business deal with the state — a deal that fell through. No villainy there.

Nope, the black hats in this particular horse opera were certain U. P. promoters, chambers of commerce, individuals corporate or otherwise who were eager to sacrifice an irreplaceable national asset for a temporary and largely illusory benefit to their area.

For once the magic rallying cry of "more jobs for our area" didn't obscure the basic interests of the rest of the people of Michigan. Director Eddy listened to this outcry and said no.

In our book he's a bigger man for so doing. Because he said no, the Porcupine Mountain State Park remains, as it was dedicated, one of the few wilderness areas in the continental U. S.

Note to ice fishermen: For some obscure reason fish, though locked beneath winter's blanket of ice, respond to surface conditions just as they do when lakes are open. Forecasts for latter part of week call for south-southwesterly winds. Watch for a feeding binge.

Lists Followers in Multi-Millions

Boating Growth Fantastic

Figures just released by Outboard Boating Club of America and the national manufacturers and trade associations of the boating industry, are fantastic. They deal in multi-millions, such as the gain of two millions during 1958, over the 1957 figures for participation in recreation boating. In 1958, surveys showed 37-million (35-million in 1957).

The current joint report also lists 7,330,000 boats as the vehicles for the 37-million that went down to the water. This total is some 376,000 more than 1957 figures. And, in terms of money, the 37-million spent something like $3,085,000,000 (billions) at the retail level, for their fun.

Rowboats, dinghies, prams and other types in use (2,425,000) plus 486,000 sailboats without power; 774,000 inboard and diesel marine engines in use.

Then mull over the report on marine products raw materials, like the 171-million square feet of plywood sheets, 47-million pounds of aluminum, or the near 37-million pounds of fibreglas that went into construction of new craft added to the astronomical-number fleet during 1958.

Phew!

To top it off, there are some 5,535,000 outboard motors in use, a gain over the previous year of 325,000, the report indicates. There appeared to be more motors than boats, but there were 3,620,000 outboard-powered boats in use.

The ubiquitous outboard motor, a fixture in leisure-time fun for Americans, is now beginning to gain a foothold in the social and economic life of Europe, according to men high in the industry.

Hydro Developments Threat to Fish Runs

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Research into fish passage techniques must be accelerated. More must be learned about protecting fish and wildlife resources from increasing use of insecticides and other poisonous materials. Ways must be found to increase the ability of the national wildlife refuges and other lands to accommodate larger numbers of fish and game animals as well as greater recreational use, it is pointed out.

Aspen Harvest Provides Food for Deer, Revenue

LANSING — Supplementing fall and winter outdoor sporting activities is an equally gratifying and significant operation from the standpoint of commercial forest management and wildlife interests —the aspen harvest.

This harvest is made by commercial loggers and pulpwood cutters who bid for the right to cut areas of public land designated by Conservation Department foresters.

Where possible, cuttings are made in dooryards to relieve deer food problems that plague the herd most seriously during winter months.

Tops and limbs of aspen cuttings are non-merchantable for logging and pulpwood purposes, but supply sorely-needed winter browse to the deer herd on the ground.

Aspen cuttings bear year-round ramifications since cut-over areas stimulate growth of aspen shoots and other close-to-ground food plants which are major items in the herd's summer diet. These regenerated areas also provide cover and food for ruffed grouse, rabbits and other game.

Dollar-wise, timber sales provide revenue for future financing of reforestation programs. Pulpwood receipts totaled $179,863 in 1957.

Obedience Training Group Plans Dinner, Fun Trial This Week

Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club, pioneer in Michigan for community group obedience training for dogs, has a new president for 1959, and this week starts its new year activities with the annual dinner and a fun trial.

Rudy Buchmann, dog show judge, long active in the SMOTC, breeder and owner of champion German Shepherds, succeeds Bill Averill of Birmingham as president. Averill retains his post as treasurer (he held both jobs in 1958). John Eicher is vice president and Mrs. Mary Larson continues as secretary.

The annual dinner will be Saturday night at Huck's, Redford and 7-Mile Rds.

Fun trial takes place at the Vester St. VFW Hall in Royal Oak. Group members only will take part, with 21 top dogs of the area competing. Walt Lerner of Warren will judge the event.

Deer Hides Used in VA Therapy Program

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Deer hunters have been requested to turn in their deer hides to the nearest New Mexico Elk's Lodge or any Air Force reserve unit in the state. The hides are traded for tanned cow hides and distributed to veterans in New Mexico veterans' hospitals for use in the VA physical therapy program. Surplus hides are distributed to neighboring states. The idea is a non-profit operation created for the use of disabled veterans only by the New Mexico Dept. of Game and Fish.

Flies Only Restrictions Irk 'Wormers'

'Meat vs. Trophy' Real Trout Issue

ALL OUTDOORS (UPI) — While worm fishermen and flies-only trout fishermen swing at each other with fishing poles from each side of the Michigan trout stream, what's the real question?

★ ★ ★

A detailed report prepared by Albert S. Hazzard, former director of the Institute for Fisheries Research, said it is basically a question "meat vs. trophy" sport.

"Certainly the skillful deception and the successful landing of a fine trout far outweigh the trophy or meat value," according to Hazzard.

"True these are also important values, especially to the novice, but on our most important and heavily fished trout streams sensible management must drastically decrease the kill of sublegal trout and even of trout of the present seven-inch size to maintain large enough stocks of fish for sport."

The number of worm fishermen far exceeds the number of fly fishermen—and this is a risky statement, but we believe a fair one.

"Wormers" argue bitterly they are being discriminated against when "fly fishing only" signs are posted along some of our best streams.

Behind those special regulations is a trend that has been developing for many years in the outdoor sports. It seems to be the simple goal: To get the most sport from the least amount of game.

Fred Westerman, chief of the Michigan Conservation Department fish division, said:

"Perhaps we have a situation here comparable to the dyed-in-the-wool rifle deer hunter who is still somewhat unhappy at the competition from the earlier season bow and arrow hunter who crams many more hours into his deer kill than the hunter with the gun would be satisfied with."

Westerman added that since the hooking of undersized trout comes into the situation on most trout waters, returning them to the water with as little injury as possible becomes important in maintaining population especially where tied in with size limits in the 8-9 or 10-inch range.

In one test with hatchery brook trout, none of the 159 trout caught on flies died, while 96 out of 165 (58 per cent) caught on bait were killed.

Little Stories About Outdoors

It's surprising how long a fish can survive without taking nourishment. Purveyor of this column found out yesterday that some fish have been known to live six months with almost no sistenance. Trout were observed at the Oden state hatchery that existed almost six months on less than starvation diet, because of inability to absorb food.

★ ★ ★

A 26-inch long pike, speared at Fletcher pond near Hillman, last weekend by Walled Lake schoolman Wayne Francisco weighed less than a pound. It was only an inch or two from back to belly and not an inch thick, Wayne reported. It's head and internal organs appeared to be complete, except that the food sac was apparently empty.

How did the fish get into that condition?

That was the question that stumped the experts—for the time being, anyway.

★ ★ ★

M. J. DeBoer, conservation department's fish division hatchery operations chief, had this to say, but shunted the final answer to L. N. Allison, pathologist of the Grayling hatchery:

★ ★ ★

". . . fish was probably undernourished due to inability to take food because of mechanical injury or pathological condition, including possibility of tapeworms."

Francisco, with Asst. Supt. of Walled Lake schools John Williams and Wayne's dad, Leon, of Atlanta, speared some nice pike, averaging better than 3 pounds, with a 11-pounder by Williams the biggest. Ice was 18-inches thick.

★ ★ ★

Another Pontiac pike fisherman who did all right in the same area, was Noland Stitz of Waterford. Stitz speared a 12½-pounder, 37 inches long. His son, David, helped land the lunker.

Mallard Ducklings Lure for Wildfowl

The Illinois state department of conservation released 400 large mallard ducklings on Triangle and other lakes in the vicinity.

Conservationists believe that if the ducks stay in the area they will make good decoys to lure flocks of mallards.

Kimball High Sets Up Boat Safety Class

Coast Guard to Aid in Seamanship and Navigation

Registration for the first meeting of a class in basic seamanship and navigation at Kimball High School will take place Jan. 22, those in charge of plans announced today.

The class is under direction of the Royal Oak Continuing Education Department, and occupies an evening period. It will convene in room 140, at the school, 13-Mile rd. and Crooks rd. Royal Oak.

U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, Flotilla 12-3, wil cooperate in the program, which will include boating safety. This is an important factor, it is pointed out, when it is known that one in every seven families of thet Metropolitan Area owns a boat.

Gets Buck; Cost $1,200

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP) — Melvin Coleman didn't go hunting on opening day but he got a deer anyway—the expensive way. His car collided with and killed a full grown buck and went over an embankment. Damage was estimated at $1,200.

State Tries Out Fast Operating Timber Cutter

LANSING — A new impetus may have been injected into Michigan's deer-food management program when Conservation Department workers began testing a rapid timber-cutting contrivance, recently, on state forests in a northeast sector of Gladwin county.

The device—a heavy, crawler-type tractor employing an 11-foot cutting blade—is expected to level an average of two acres per hour.

Approximately 210 acres were selected for the cuttings which are concentrated on aspen stands of non-merchantable quality in eight or nine poor winter-browse ranges. The experiment, expected to last 30 days, will furnish a browse supply this winter for the ranges' deer herd.

The cuttings are expected to stimulate prolific aspen sprout growth which will improve the post-winter food supply. Ruffed grouse, rabbits and other game will also benefit as cover and vegetation will be regenerated in the cut-over areas.

Dog Training Demonstrated at Three Sites

Obedience-trained dogs will show their best manners at three public demonstrations to be held at the CAI building in Waterford on Jan. 14, at the Daniel Whitfield School Jan. 15 and the Bloomfield Hills High School on Jan. 26.

Demonstrations will be under supervision of the Southern Michigan Obedience Training club, a band of dedicated workers which has been responsible for the great popularity of these classes. The exhibitions are a prelude to the start of regular spring training classes.

The demonstrations will give dog owners an idea of what they may expect from their own pets if they attend one of the courses, which consists of 10 weeks of classes.

For further information about the Waterford class call Jim Richmond at OR 3-3810; Reg Armstrong FE 2-7749 regarding the Daniel Whitfield class, or MI 7-0155 for details of the Bloomfield Hills High School class.

Citizens Group Backs Tax Hike

Claim New Plan Will Allow State to Live in Accustomed Manner

EAST LANSING (AP)—Authors of a 138-million-dollar-a-year state tax increase and overhaul plan say it would allow Michigan to live in the style to which it has become accustomed.

Moreover, it will provide for retirement of an accumulating state deficit expected to reach 100 million dollars by summer.

The assertion was approved by 22 of 25 members of a citizens advisory group to the Conlin legislative tax study committee at a meeting on the Michigan State University campus yesterday.

The citizen advisers, who keyed their plan to a 220-million-dollar graduated state income tax, disturbed none of the recommendations first disclosed in preliminary form over a month ago.

Comparatively minor changes were written into a preface to their report explaining the whys and wherefores.

"This shows that the current tax structure will not support the level of expenditure to which Michigan has become accustomed."

If their tax package is adopted by the Legislature, the majority members said, it will provide for a balanced state budget in 1959-60 and retirement of the deficit.

"The state must live within its income or go bankrupt," the report said. "Unlike the federal government, it cannot issue its own currency."

Announce County, State Party Convention Dates

Oakland County political party chairmen have announced the dates of county and state conventions at which delegates will be elected to aid in the selection of party nominees for state offices in the April 6 election.

Republican Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. announced Jan. 21 as the date of the county convention to be held in Pontiac, and Feb. 14 the date for the state convention in Detroit's Ford Auditorium.

Carlos G. Richardson, Democratic county chairman, said the Democratic county convention will be held in Pontiac Feb. 12, while the state convention will take place in Grand Rapids Feb. 20-21.

Primary purpose of the GOP county convention, to be held in the Supervisors' Room, 1 Lafayette St., will be the selection of 140 delegates to attend the state conclave.

State-wide delegates at this meeting will pick their party choices for several state educational and judicial posts to be filled in the April 6 election. Delegates to the 1960 presidential nominating convention are selected at the party conventions also.

Richardson said he could not tell the number of Democratic delegates who will be chosen for the party's convention until figures are released after a meeting of the State Central Committee Jan. 18.

Trip to Planets Still One-Way Project

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians say the chief unsolved problem in sending men cruising among the planets is how to bring them down again.

Soviet scientists expressed this view Tuesday as they reported cosmic rocket Mechta was still speeding toward an orbit around the sun. One physicist, Prof. Vladimir Dobronrarov, commented:

"A perfectly realistic foundation for the development of interplanetary travel already exists and in the near future man can set foot on other planets."

Shiny Bumpers of '59 Pontiacs to Keep Glow

Pontiac customers in 1959 can look forward to unprecedented chrome protection as a result of the division's tried and proven double copper plating process now applied to all front and rear bumpers.

First tested on 1957 automobile rear bumpers and utilized in 1958 on all front bumpers, the treatment is extended on 1959 Pontiacs to afford maximum protection even in areas where rust and corrosion are greatly accelerated by winter road salt or high humidity.

★ ★ ★

In addition to substantially reducing chrome deterioration, the double copper operation provides an exceptionally lustrous, mirror-bright finish, unexcelled by any other car manufacturer.

Pontiac's highly successful plating process consists of two copper platings with buffing, followed by conventional nickel and chrome coatings in the division's modern electro-plating system.

An additional chrome protection called Protex is applied to front and rear bumpers and tail lights on all 1959 Pontiacs built between September and May. The oil soluble coating forms a transparent film over the chrome parts and is moisture repellent.

Pontiac plating experts remind motorists that frequent cleansings and occasional use of a good paste wax or polish during winter months will appreciably reduce chrome deterioration.

Claws Way Out After Cave-In

Well-Digger Trapped 13 Hours With Steel Strip Around His Ankle

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (UPI)—A 45-year-old well-digger trapped in a cave-in for nearly 13 hours clawed his way free from a steel and sand prison today with the help of a winch.

★ ★ ★

Leslie Stafford Jr., once given up for dead, was trapped at the 20-foot level of a narrow four-foot diameter sump hole by a steel strip which pinned his ankle and prevented rescuers from pulling him out after tons of gravel had been removed from atop him following the cave-in at 3:22 p.m. (PST) yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He dug with his bare hands for more than eight hours before he was freed and was pulled from the hole at 3:57 a.m. (PST).

The terribly tired man who had been forced to forego pain-easing sedatives so he would be alert enough to dig his way free was carried in a stretcher to a waiting ambulance and taken to Bakersfield Hospital.

Stafford's condition was reported as satisfactory by hospital doctors who praised the courage and stamina of the wiry 125-pound, 5-foot 4-inch well-digger.

X-rays were taken of his right leg and ankle which had been pinned under the metal strip. Results were not immediately available.

The other fire was in the attic of the Lenn Kennaday home, 1431 Airway Dr., at 5:30 p.m. Damage was estimated at $1,000 by Waterford Township firemen.

$15 Million Expressway Hearing Due

LANSING (AP)—A public hearing will be held Jan. 16 in Ann Arbor on a proposed 15-million-dollar expressway — a relocation of U.S. 23 — to run from Milan to a point north of Ann Arbor.

The four-lane divided and limited access expressway will run for more than 19 miles, connecting at its northern terminus with the U.S. 23 Ann Arbor-Whitmore Lake Expressway. It will bypass Ann Arbor on the east and intersect the U.S. 12 expressway south of Ann Arbor.

The expressway also will serve as the eastbelt for the expressway system ringing the Ann Arbor area, channeling big volumes of traffic away from city streets.

Alvis Winston, 411 Franklin Rd., was treated for a bruised hip at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

She was struck by a car driven by Joseph J. Goralski of Allen Park. Goralski told police he tried to stop, but the pavement was slippery and his car skidded into the woman.

Wheat Futures Support Limited

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures attracted further limited support today in early Board of Trade transactions but other grains and soybeans showed some tendency toward weakness.

Trade was somewhat slower than other recent sessions. Dealers said, however, that there were no significant influences in most of the pits.

Demand for wheat followed word that Japan and Pakistan had bought a total of a million bushels of hard wheat overnight for February shipment and that India, which bought about 1,400,000 bushels on Monday, would be back in the market soon for additional large purchases.

Near the end of the first hour the market had become irregular. Wheat was ⅜ cents a bushel lower to ⅛ higher, March $1.97½; corn ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, March old type contract $1.14½; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, March 66; rye ⅜ to 1 cent lower, March $1.33¾; soybeans ¼ higher to ⅜ lower, January $2.14¾.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—It was difficult for Glenn Holmgrain to believe that his wife had given birth to a girl.

Holmgrain ran to the telephone and called his mother, Mrs. Eric Holmgrain, in Rock Island, Ill. Mrs. Holmgrain promptly caught a plane to Memphis.

Reason for all this extra excitement: The child was the first girl born in the Holmgrain family in 200 years.

Bendix Aviation Income Dips to $4.18 a Share

Mart Declines in Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, rails, motors and chemicals were hit hard by profit taking early this afternoon. The Stock Market declined in heavy trading.

★ ★ ★

Losses of key stocks went generally from fractions to about 2 points. Selected issues bucked the trend, some making sizable gains.

Wall Street has been anticipating some corrections of the latest rise which has taken the averages to record highs on the past seven trading sessions.

The ticker tape was late on four occasions in the morning. The market was a bit lower at the opening. The prices improved, making the tone irregular. A selling drive multiplied the minus signs and cut some big early gains.

12-Town Drain Case Due in High Court Next Week

Another knot in the legal tangle blocking Twelve-Town storm relief sewer for southern Oakland County is expected to be loosened next week when the State Supreme Court hears arguments on appeals stymying the proposed project.

Donald F. Winters, court clerk, said it probably would be Tuesday or Wednesday before the eight justices could hear arguments from attorneys representing apellants Southfield, Troy and Royal Oak Township, in addition to the county.

The three municipalities appealed a ruling of Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland upholding the constitutionality of the drain act under which the county was proceeding to build the much-needed and long-awaited $44,092,000 system to serve 14 South End communities.

They also opposed what they said was unfair apportionment of costs.

However, county planners and residents of the area who have watched their basements flooded from heavy spring rains, will have to wait awhile longer for any action on the problem.

Winters said it might be several months before the Supreme Court rules on the appeals.

With only sketchy information to go on, some interested state officials surmised that bringing the two state institutions under one policy-making roof could be accomplished by legislation.

Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said he assumed it could be done by repealing existing laws providing for election of a Wayne University board, and by a separate act placing Wayne under control of the U. of M. Board of Recents.

"As I understand it, Wayne, since its transition from a city to a state institution, legally is a creature of the legislature," Bartlett said.

He said he could not immediately come to a judgment as to the desirability of the proposal, advanced by Clarence B. Hilberry, Wayne president.

"A proposal as important as this — not only to the institutions directly concerned, but to the future of higher education in Michigan — needs very careful thought and consideration. There are many ramifications," he said.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, a Wayne alumnus and former faculty member who this year put the school colors on state automobile license plates, said he had no foreknowledge of the plan.

But, Hare said Hilberry had made a date with him for late today — he assumed to talk about the merger.

Bartlett and Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams could give no immediate answer to whether the regents could be obliged to accept Wayne if the legislature gave it to them.

"But, as a former regent, and knowing how the two schools have worked closely together in the past, I feel confident the regents would go along on any reasonable plan," Adams said.

★ ★ ★

One of Bartlett's staff members observed that the possibility of combining Wayne and the U. of M. under one board was nowhere discussed in a voluminous survey of higher education in the state just completed.

The $165,000 study was undertaken by John Dale Russell as research director of a special legislative committee on higher education.

Only a year ago, Wayne administrators quietly favored establishment of their school on a separate constitutional footing comparable to that of the U. of M. and Michigan State University.

But, apparently sensing opposition from the other two schools, the Wayne officials never actually asked the legislature to adopt a resolution putting the question to the necessary statewide vote.

Under existing law, Republican and Democratic state conventions next month will nominate six candidates apiece for election as Wayne's first permanent state board of regents.

1959 Car Sales Are Brisk

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—The auto industry is scheduling 1½ million cars for production in this year's first quarter.

The projection is based on an assumption that retail demand will hold up at the current improved rate. A further upsurge will bring increased output, possibly as much as 150,000 more units.

So far in the 1959 model year new car sales have been encouragingly brisk. There is no indication of a leveling off with production again at a more nearly normal level. Some industry optimists are predicting a return of the traditional spring sales upsurge.

The seasonal upturn did not appear in 1958 or 1957. Some analysts noted that 1957 sales approximated six million units despite the lack of a spring sales boom. But much of the 1957 volume came at the expense of profits. A lot of price slashing was needed to attain the relatively high unit volume.

To some extent the current higher production rate has been occasioned by the weeks of idleness that marked General Motors' start on the 1959 model year. GM divisions built few cars in October because of labor disputes that followed the new contract agreement. The disputes were not covered in the contract.

Nevertheless, nobody close to the car factories is disputing predictions that 1959 will bring production and sale of approximately 5½ million cars. Some forecasters say this figure would be in addition to more than 400,000 imported-car sales.

The industry's retailers started the new year with approximately 500,000 new cars in inventory. That compares with 625,000 units on hand at the start of 1958. At the present sales rate the inventory represents about four weeks' supply, or about a normal stock.

Sales executives generally expect new car retail deliveries this month to run well above those of the like 1958 month. In January last year 382,000 new units were sold. In February a year ago sales numbered 340,000.

It took nearly four months for the industry to sell 1½ million cars. Industry sales chiefs will be disappointed if that many cars are not sold in this year's initial three months.

★ ★ ★

Whatever else may be said about the new car market immediately ahead, the industry is favored with more buyer interest, apparently less reluctance to buy and a better over-all inventory situation.

The inventories are in good balance, factory spokesmen say, not only numerically, but also from the standpoint of model availability. This was a major problem for several producers at the start of the new model year.

There are scattered instances of certain model shortages, but generally that problem has been solved—largely through the almost industrywide overtime operations of the 1959 model year to date.

Revolution Adds Spark to Michigan Man's Vacation

Holiday in Cuba—Until Lid Blew Off!

YPSILANTI (AP)—It wasn't the fighting that bothered Cecil R. McLeod during the Cuban revolution, it was food — He couldn't get any.

"My trouble," said the Eastern Michiman College librarian back on campus after an exciting few days in Havana," was that I couldn't get anything to eat."

★ ★ ★

A general strike called by the rebel forces of Fidel Castro had paralyzed the Cuban capital.

"My hotel had no food and all I could buy was a small amount of fruit from a vendor," McLeod said. "A friend of mine had some breakfast food and that's all we had to eat for a couple of days."

He had expected a quiet holiday when he arrived in Havana Dec. 27. But when the trouble broke out in earnest New Year's Eve, McLeod found himself in the middle of the rioting.

"The rebels took over my room and began firing out the window at snipers from the Batista forces," said McLeod. "You couldn't call anything your own."

He said at the height of the street fighting he went into the streets and took nearly 60 pictures.

★ ★ ★ ★

Asked if the experience spoiled his vacation, McLeod replied: "Not at all.

"It added something to it," he said. "I'll probably have better vacations but they'll never be more exciting."

Mother of Dead Boy Accused of Neglect

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI)—A Richmond mother whose four-month-old son was found dead in an unheated, ramshackle house was held today on child neglect charges.

The infant, Gary Russo, one of seven children of Mrs. Romelda Russo, 37, was found dead yesterday. Death was due to pneumonia, according to Macomb County Prosecutor Cecil A. Byers.

Sheriff's officers said the temperature in the Russo home was below 50 degrees. They said several doors were off the hinges, two windows were boarded up and there were gaping holes in the walls.

Mrs. Russo said the baby was alive at 2 a.m. yesterday but he failed to respond when she tried to awaken him at mid-morning.

Island Cottage Burns; Firemen Stuck on Bank

ALGONAC (UPI) — Fire-fighters watched helplessly from the mainland last night as flames destroyed a cottage on nearby Russell Island.

The blaze was spotted by Algonac residents and they turned in the alarm. But there was no way for local firemen to reach the island since the St. Clair River is frozen over between the mainland and the island.

Ordinarily, a ferry would take fire-fighting equipment to the scene, but the ferry has been out of operation between Algonac and Russell Island because of the ice.

Nasser Purges Syria, Arresting 300 Reds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Gamal Abdul Nasser has carried out in Syria one of the biggest purges of Communists in the Middle East, arresting more than 300 persons.

The arrests, beginning last Thursday, virtually wiped out the Communist organization in the Syrian region of Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Action on Proposed Vice Law Postponed

City commissioners agreed last night to talk the law over informally at a meeting Friday night. Technical questions concerning the wording of the law were raised at last night's commission meeting.

The proposed law would amend the city's existing disorderly conduct ordinance. It focuses attention on the purchaser of vice and the middle man in vice transactions.

Like the existing ordinance, it contains prohibitions against the sale of vice.

Star Role Played by Dana Wynter

Immortal Romance, 'Wings of the Dove' Televised Thursday

Dana Wynter heads a cast which includes James Donald, John Baragrey, Isobel Jeans, Henry Daniell, Lurene Tuttle and Inga Swenson in Henry James' famed love story, "The Wings of the Dove," on "Playhouse 90," Thursday (9:30-11:00 p.m., Channel 2).

★ ★ ★

"The Wings of the Dove," set in England and Italy in the early years of the 20th Century, is a moving love story about a beautiful young girl whose romance with an impoverished writer is disapproved of by her wealthy, socialite aunt.

To outwit the aunt, the lovers devise a clever scheme involving an innocent girl. The plan works—with ironic consequences to the pair.

In this, her third "Playhouse 90" appearance, Miss Wynter will portray Kate Croy, the glamorous young Englishwoman. James Donald plays her impecunious suitor, Miles Denshaw. Donald made his U. S. television debut last season.

John Baragrey will be seen as Lord Mark, a wealthy contender for Kate's affections, Isobel Jeans as Maude Lowder, Kate's strong-willed aunt, and Henry Daniell as Kate's father, Lionel Croy.

Lurene Tuttle and Inga Swenson play Susan and Millie Stringham, an American mother and daughter traveling abroad, who find their destinies crossed with those of Kate and the young writer.

De Gaulle Plans Draw Protest

Farmers, Vets, Unions Bitterly Oppose New Austerity Program

PARIS (UPI)—Unionists, farmers and war veterans lined up in opposition to Premier Charles de Gaulle's "truth and severity" economic program today, marring the eve of his inauguration as president of France.

The opposition so far had been no more than sporadic, but some observers regarded it as a token of serious trouble ahead for De Gaulle's efforts to stabilize the French economy.

Police had to be called out yesterday to disperse 1,000-odd employes of the nationalized gas and electricity industry who massed to demand more than the 4 per cent wage increase they will get under the "austerity" program.

At the same time, unionists who work on the nationalized railroads decided to demand an 11 per cent raise when they meet management negotiators tomorrow. Communists among the railwaymen urged a "warning" strike to enforce their demands.

The powerful national federation of farmers threatened to halt deliveries of meat, milk and other foodstuffs unless the government restores the food subsidies eliminated by the De Gaulle program.

War veterans' groups protested the abolition of the pensions paid to able-bodied veterans—usually only a token $1.20 a year—saying that it amounted to a challenge to their war records.

Two of the three Socialist members of De Gaulle's cabinet, including ex-premier Guy Mollet, have resigned over the austerity issue, and their party is expected to proclaim its opposition to the program formally at a convention that opens here Friday.

Flat Tire Ends Luck of Denver Auto Thief

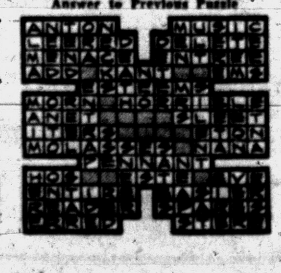

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—One Denver automobile thief may never again try his hand at stealing a car.

The thief successfully crossed the ignition wire and started the motor of Clarence A. Serr's car. Then he hopped in and started to drive away.

Suddenly, the car came to a halt and with a terrific jar. The thief deserted the car and fled. The car had a flat tire.

About one million babies were born in hospitals in the U.S. 20 years ago, compared with four million in 1957, when only about five per cent of all babies were not born in hospitals.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

BACHELOR AND THE BEAUTY — John Baragrey plays Lord Mark, wealthy bachelor, and Dana Wynter stars as Kate Croy, ambitious English beauty, in the Playhouse 90 production of Henry James' immortal love story, "The Wings of the Dove," Thursday at 9:30 p.m. (channel 2).

Who Could Be Better to Play Rebel's Role?

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

Deciding, about Thanksgiving, that Castro'd oust Batista, Flynn wanted to play his life story. He ventured bravely to Castro's hideout trying for an appointment. War is hell, so Flynn got his young Hollywood and Texas girl friend, Barbara Woods to join up as his adjutant. NY Photog Bill Crespinel enlisted as the only private.

"I saw the guy go in and I'd like to have seen him go out," Hemingway told me last Thursday night. "I'd have gone yesterday. But you couldn't get a plane out of here. We left Cuba normally."

FLYNN

CASTRO

Discreetly, Hemingway said: "Americans have no business interfering in Cuban politics." He added, "I've always been against dictatorships. I hope they will have a legal government. This thing came faster than anybody expected." As for his book: "I'm winding it up and going good."

Steve Crane, father of Lana Turner's 16-year-old daughter Cheryl, decided finally that it was o.k. to permit his daughter to be photographed with him and his fiancee, Helen DeMaree, in a night club. He had previously refused. Steve, who danced with both his daughter and his fiancee, told Hope Hampton "I want you to meet my beautiful daughter—she's the love of my life."

Ted Peckham, the escort service gent, got an MG for Christmas, also a town house. Quel escoft, quel service!

Fernando Lamas told a Las Vegas audience, "I don't know why they call me a Latin lover. In all my life I have loved only one Latin—me."

Tony Curtis Earns Profit 4 Times That of Studio

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tony Curtis' business advisers have just told him that he made four times more money last year than Universal-International Studio.

That's the studio that first hired Curtis for $75 a week ten years ago.

"I can remember not long after I started at U-I," Curtis recalls, "when one of the top producers advised me to get out of this business—that I had no future in it.

★ ★ ★

"I also remember telling him: 'I want to be a movie star. That's the only thing I want.' I guess that singleness of purpose is what did it."

He also gives credit to Lew Wasserman, who runs the biggest talent agency in the business — Music Corp. of America.

"I'm a good client," says Curtis. "I figure I'm paying MCA a lot of money so I listen to them."

Tony estimates he will gross 1½ million dollars from two pictures alone — "The Vikings" and "Kings Go Forth." He's also in for a healthy cut of "The Defiant Ones," which is headed for a six-million worldwide gross.

★ ★ ★

Upcoming on the Curtis slate are "Some Like it Hot" with Marilyn Monroe and Jack Lemmon. He gets a slice of the revenue. Two others, both old U-I commitments, are "The Perfect Furlough" and "Operation Petticoat" with Cary Grant.

He's got three more pictures lined up.

"The only way to become and stay—and I put this in quotation marks—a movie star is to work all the time. The public has got to see you," he says.

"Good pictures and often, that's my philosophy," he says. Although Tony long has been a favorite of the Hollywood press corps, he can't see publicity as a substitute for good scripts.

"The public would sooner read about Zsa Zsa Gabor than Gregory Peck, but that doesn't mean that they'd sooner see Zsa Zsa's pictures than Peck's."

Curtis feels the picture that was the turning point in his career was "Sweet Smell of Success." In it he played the worst kind of heel.

★ ★ ★

"It was my first outside picture and everybody warned me against doing it but it was my first critical success. And my golden year started with it."

Arraign Three in Tire Slashing

Union Officials Charged With Harming Truck Delivering Newsday

MINEOLA, N. Y. (UPI) — Three officials of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union (Ind.) will be arraigned in Nassau county court today on charges of slashing tires on a truck delivering Newsday, a Long Island daily newspaper.

They were identified as John Lawrence Jr., 41, Long Island City; Joseph Baer, 46, Jersey City, N. J.; and Stanley Lehman, 41, Queens.

Lawrence and Baer are union business agents and executive committee members, and Lehman is secretary-treasurer.

A fourth union member, Joseph Hulahan, 44, of Bellmore, N. Y., who also was indicted, later surrendered to police and was booked on similar charges. He also was to be arraigned today. All four were released in $1,000 bail each.

Chinese Reds Pound Quemoys

Bombard Islands With Heaviest Shelling Since Last November

The Nationalist Defense Ministry reported more than 12,000 Red shells landed on the offshore islands between 2 and 4 p.m. and said the bombardment was continuing without a letup in intensity.

The Ministry said the Nationalist guns fire back vigorously, but the volume of counterfire was not announced.

It was the heaviest Communist firing since Nov. 3 when 39,162 shells were fired during an 18-hour period. And the rate of fire this afternoon virtually equaled the hardest shelling on Nov. 3, some 39,000 shells in 6 hours.

The heavy Communist bombardment was expected. The Reds had charged the Nationalists with shelling a commune nursery on the mainland Saturday and threatened a severe attack in reprisal. The Nationalists denounced the charge as a barefaced lie and said the Communists had made it as a pretext for resuming intensive shelling of Quemoy.

Since Oct. 25 the Communists have been shelling the offshore islands only on odd-numbered days. Except for the Nov. 3 attack, the biggest bombardments have totaled about 2,000 shells and they have only been occasional.

WHITES FROM RED — Three matched white racing stallions, a gift from Soviet Premier Khrushchev to Cleveland industrialist Cyrus S. Eaton, are shown after their arrival in New York. The three, Konus (Cone), Naturstchik (Nature Boy) and Otklik (Answer) pull an open carriage called a "troika," and were the champion team of Russia last year. The Red leader made the gift when Eaton visited Russia last October.

Spurred by Past Atrocities

Cubans Hunt Batista Informers

By THOMAS DEL VECCHIO

The dictionary defines it as rascal, but to Cubans who endured the police state oppression of fallen Dictator Fulgencio Batista it means informer — and death if he is caught.

One terrified youth was dragged by revolutionary militia from the plush Capri Hotel. Watching American guests said Cuban onlookers drew forefingers significantly across their throats and explained that the youth got $33 a month to tip the police on revolutionary activities. He was traced through checks he cashed.

The hunt for Judases among Havana's million and a quarter people was spurred by memories and documentary evidence of sadistic practices of government interrogators exacting information.

The station information chief, Rafael Coello, explaine the pictures and gave a graphic account of methods used by police Col. Esteban Ventura's men in questioning prisoners. Ventura was known as one of the most hated men in Cuba and was marked by rebels for death. He fled Cuba last Thursday when Batista left.

"One night 13 bombs exploded," said Coello. "The next morning in different places we found 13 bullet-pierced bodies of young men, each with an unexploded bomb in his hands."

Coella indicated these men had been slain in haphazard retaliation for bombings by rebels. Ventura's men pulled captives fingernails and toenails, beat them, electrocuted them by connecting high voltage wires to their steel beds and hammered nails into their heads, Coello said.

Rogelio Paris, a director of commercial television shows, said: "Last December right in front of this building about 100 women came with two lawyers to appeal for the release of their husbands, fathers, brothers and sisters. Police beat them with clubs and whips. They screamed and ran bleeding. We could do nothing."

Television men who kept a photographic record of victims estimated that Batista's police had killed about 600 young men and five or six girls in Havana.
