Name 4-H Fair Queen

CHOSEN LAST NIGHT—Judy Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crawford of Milford reigns as 1956 4-H Queen. She was chosen in competition last night at opening night of the 20th annual 4-H fair over a field of 21 other contestants.

Meet the 4-H Queen: She'll Reign at Fair

Pretty 16-year-old Judy Crawford of Milford reigns today as the 1956 4-H queen. Judy won over 21 other contestants last night for the title of beauty queen at opening night of the 20th annual 4-H fair.

A thundershower dampened few spirits as the contest moved into the only permanent building on the 4-H grounds, Perry Street at Walton Boulevard.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crawford of 2535 S. Hill, Judy is a five-foot-seven inch blue-eyed queen. A member of the Milford 4-H group for six years she has a total of 32 projects completed.

JUDGED BY POINTS

The girls were judged on nine different points: speaking, posture, poise, grooming, face, figure, ability, years in 4-H and years in each project.

Judges were Miss Bernice A. Wilson of the Pontiac Beauty School, Mrs. Alfred Collins of the Paramount Beauty School in Pontiac and John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

FLOAT PARADE TONIGHT

Home economics exhibits, dairy classes and general exhibits were judged this morning at the fair and an archery contest held at 1 p.m.

On the agenda for tonight at 7:30 is the parade of floats, and the pig scramble at 8:45.

Highlights of tomorrow's program include judging of hogs, beef and beef showmanship. A baseball game is slated at 3:30 p.m.

* * *

Tomorrow night the annual Dress Review, where 4-H girls model their own creations, is on the agenda for 8 p.m. with a 4-H talent show slated at 8:45 p.m.

Sheriff Irons: 30,863 Votes

Takes 7-1 Lead Over Opponents; Ziem, Allen Lead in Numbers

Unopposed Republicans' vote totals led candidates for county offices today as Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem headed the field with 33,861 votes in yesterday's primary. County Clerk Lynn D. Allen followed with 33,186.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons, facing two opponents in his bid for renomination, racked up a 7 to 1 majority over his closest competitor and netted 30,863 votes in the most decisive contest of the election. Irons will face George D. Hicks in the Nov. 6 general election.

Democrat David E. Utley, who defeated two opponents yesterday, will face Ziem in November, and Odin H. Johnson, unopposed for the Democratic nomination as county clerk, will attempt to unseat Allen.

County treasurer Charles A. Sparks, unopposed, netted 28,753 votes. His Democratic opponent in November will be Robert W. Stevens, 17,676, also unopposed yesterday.

In a close race for the Democratic nomination as register of deeds, B. J. Habel nosed out three competitors. Habel will face incumbent Daniel T. Murphy, Jr., who was nominated by a handy majority.

Democrat Wallace E. Rice was nominated to face Republican Daniel W. Barry for the post of county drain commissioner, vacated by retiring Republican Ralph A. Main.

Main, running unopposed for county surveyor, racked up an impressive total of 31,781 votes yesterday. There was no Democratic candidate.

To Face Sutton in Fall Election for House Seat

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR

When final votes were counted at 5 a. m. today, Broomfield won by 1,482, with 19,906 to Higgins' 18,424.

Victory for Broomfield, the 35-year-old state senator from Royal Oak is regarded as an upset in GOP circles. Top officials have backed Higgins throughout the campaign.

* * *

Higgins' backers predicted he would match Broomfield vote for vote in the southern end of the county and forge ahead in northern areas.

But Broomfield carried Royal Oak, his home city, by 1,700 votes. Higgins was unable to recover in the south end. Carrying Ferndale, his home city, by a margin of 1,000, Higgins held relatively even in Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods and Clawson. But he lost Southfield Township by 800.

In northern areas, voters split evenly between the two. The 1,500-

OK Township Appeal on Tax

Independence Receives Millage Hike; Brandon Request Denied

Independence Township's appeal over tax allocation rates has been upheld by the State Tax Commission, county officials learned today, but a similar appeal by Brandon Township was denied.

At the same time, the commission ordered changes in allocation rates in three Oakland County school districts in addition to Independence.

Tax rates in all other governmental units and school districts will remain as set by the County Tax Allocation Board, according to Commission Chairman Louis M. Nims.

The state body ordered Independence Township rates to be changed to 1.92 mills from 1.31 mills. School districts affected and their new rates include Clarkston School, 8.40; Lake Orion No. 3 Fractional, 8.40; and Waterford Township Schools, 8.40.

The decisions were reached following a hearing July 25 which preceded a general review of Oakland County school district and governmental unit tax spreads.

According to Clerk Lynn D. Allen, the decision was reported in a letter to Supervisors Frank Brigham of Brandon, and Floyd Andrews, of Independence, who launched the appeals in June.

Lodge to Race Elias for Senate

Unofficial totals have Elias narrowly edging his nearest opponent, Daniel J. Connolly, 7,479 to 7,266. Elias, 42, also won the Democratic nomination in 1954.

Pontiac City Commissioner Philip E. Rowston was third with 6,922 votes.

A Pontiac attorney, Lodge unofficially took 9,897 votes in a contest with six other candidates. He is seeking the seat vacated by William Broomfield, who won the 18th District nomination to Congress.

HELD SEVERAL OFFICES

Lodge, 53, former Michigan assistant attorney general, has been Oakland County prosecutor, Pontiac's state representative, and director and two-time president of the Michigan Children's Aid Society.

His closest opponent, Richard D. Kuhn, polled 7,046 votes.

Elias is part-owner of six drive-in restaurants in and near Oakland County. He is a member of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and past president of the Hazel Park Businessmen's Assn.

Detroit Mayor to Face Williams in November

Leonard Offers His Support to State Republican Slate, Congratulates Winner

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo was chosen overwhelmingly by Republicans in yesterday's primary as the party's hope for breaking Democrat G. Mennen Williams' eight-year grip on the Michigan governorship.

In scattered early returns, Cobo jumped into a two to one lead over Donald S. Leonard, former state police commissioner, and slowly widened his margin through the night.

The outcome had been confidently predicted by Cobo supporters, who included the vast majority of Republican organization leaders.

Cobo said he was "very elated" at what he regarded as "a vote of confidence and for good government."

At 2:15 a.m., Leonard conceded. He pledged his service to the entire state Republican ticket in months ahead, and offered the winner congratulations.

* * *

Williams, bidding for a fifth two-year term, was unopposed. So were Hart, seeking a second term, and Reid, the man he replaced two years ago.

Aside from the Cobo-Leonard contest, chief interest in the primary centered on races in the state's 18 congressional districts.

City Employes Win Social Security Plan

For Amendment: 4,919
Against Amendment: 1,088

Some 1,000 city workers will link their retirement system to federal Social Security as a result of overwhelming approval in a special vote during yesterday's primary election.

The unofficial tally on a charter amendment which makes the change was 4,919 for the amendment and 1,088 against it.

Retroactive to the first of the year, the change will affect the five per cent of workers' pay deducted for retirement benefits.

* * *

Two per cent will now go to Social Security while three per cent will continue to be deducted for the city's pension plan. For employes earning over $4,200, an additional five per cent will be deducted.

Police and firemen are not affected by the change. They are excluded from Social Security benefits by federal law.

Merchants Reveal Plans

Area Children to Be Guests at Back-to-School Treat

A rousing last fling, compliments of the Pontiac merchants, is ready for Pontiac and Oakland County kids before they take that trek back to school next month.

Eighteen Pontiac stores have planned a free back-to-school theater party for all school age kids.

On Aug. 21 and 22, the three Pontiac Butterfield Theaters (Oakland, Strand and State) will open their doors at 9:30 a.m. for a free showing of "Chief Crazy Horse," plus added attractions.

Free tickets will be available in 18 stores. Children may obtain them if accompanied by a parent.

The feature picture is in CinemaScope and color and stars Victor Mature and the late Susan Ball. The story concerns the Battle of the Little Big Horn and the life of one of the Indians' most colorful chiefs, Crazy Horse.

In addition, Art Sanford, manager of the local Butterfield Theaters, said there will be a short subject "Who's Who in the Zoo," and three cartoons, Bugs Bunny, Tweedie and Tom and Jerry.

This is the first time Pontiac merchants have presented such an event for school age children.

Merchants handling the free tickets for the two day theater party include the Lion Store, Peggy's, Penney's, Arthur's, Waites, Sears and Gillies Shoes.

Others are Rappy's, Simms, Stapps, Margaret Ann, Lewis Furniture, Osmun's, Federal's, Brown Brothers and George's Newport.

Tickets are limited, store managers report, and should be obtained as soon as possible.

The eighteen merchants have filled their stores with top back-to-school buys for the mothers who will shop during the theater parties.

Pontiac Dems Pick Hudson to Oppose GOP's Miller

Pontiac voters yesterday gave incumbent State Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, a Democrat, a comfortable winning margin of better than two to one in his bid for renomination.

* * *

In District 1, a sprawling area covering most of the northern half of Oakland County, retiring Waterford Township Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson won the Republican nomination by the same margin.

And in District 5, which includes Royal Oak, Clawson, Pleasant Ridge and Huntington Woods, incumbent Vernald E. Horn was upset by Donald A. Brown for the Republican nomination.

Hudson, who won the Pontiac nomination with a total of 2,800 votes, will be opposed Nov. 4 by Robert C. Miller, who picked up 3,327 votes running unopposed on the Republican ticket.

ROBERTS VS. SMITH

Anderson, whose winning total was 3,875, will face Democrat Steven J. Kolar, supported yesterday by 1,155 District 1 voters.

In District 3, traditionally Republican, Farrell E. Roberts will represent the GOP in November facing Democrat P. T. Smith. Roberts scored 3,626 votes yesterday against strong competition. Running unopposed, Smith won 1,886 votes.

In District 4, where Republican primary voters yesterday outnumbered Democrats, incumbent Theodore F. Hughes will represent the GOP against Democrat S. James Clarkson.

Representing Republicans from District 5, Brown will face Democrat David Paul in November. Paul was unopposed for the nomination yesterday.

Election Turnout in City, County Above Prediction

More than 65,000 Oakland County voters went to the polls in yesterday's primary election—about 27 per cent of the county's estimated 239,000 registered voters.

Before the election, officials had predicted a 20 per cent turnout.

In Pontiac, where a 25 per cent turnout had been predicted, nearly 30 per cent of the city's 38,000 registered voters went to the polls.

Counting of Pontiac ballots — a process which formerly dragged into the small hours of the morning—was finished at 12:05 a.m. Voting machines were used for the first time in Pontiac yesterday.

The Pontiac Press unofficial count of county votes wound up at 5 a.m. today, nine hours after the polls closed at 8 p.m. yesterday.

The first Pontiac precinct to turn in completed figures to the City Clerk's office was Precinct 22, housed in City Hall. Election returns crossed Clerk Ada Evans' desk at 9:23 p.m.

Water Pipeline Under Study

West Coast Company May Build $150 Million Conduit for Area

A San Francisco company may build a $150 million pipeline to supply Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair County communities with 1.7 billion gallons of water a day.

Royal Oak Mayor Howard K. Kelley, chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority, announced yesterday the project will be discussed Friday in San Francisco by the board of directors of the Bechtel International Pipeline Co.

Preliminary surveys already have been made, he said, and the company has indicated it is interested in building and operating the pipeline on either a public or private basis.

The Southeastern Michigan Water Authority was organized in April as a joint effort by Oakland and Macomb Counties to solve their growing problems of water supply.

With legal authority to enter contracts, issue bonds and condemn land, the Authority is in position to undertake building of the pipeline at public expense.

Results of the studies, made by communities considering individual pipelines, were made available to interested engineering firms for suggestions, estimates and further studies of feasibility.

The hearing had been adjourned for one week after additional testimony was taken before Judge Cecil McCallum Friday.

All suspects are freed under bond. They are charged with conspiracy to violate state narcotics laws. The examination opened July 11.

Possible Action Cause of Airlift

English, French Chiefs Huddling Over Suez; Evacuation Continues

LONDON (INS)—Britain's big military airlift into the eastern Mediterranean—for possible action in the Suez Canal crisis—will begin in strength shortly after dawn Friday.

A British foreign office spokesman said Britain wants a peaceful solution of the crisis. But the troops and men and planes will move south.

Commonwealth and French military leaders are in a huddle with the British military.

* * *

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, due to broadcast to the nation tonight, first was to have a private audience with Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace at 6:30 p.m.

MOVEMENTS SECRET

The War Office and Air Ministry froze all information on military movements on security grounds. But Air Charter Company informants said air lift planes will move out from Hurn Airport near Bournemouth and Blackbushe Airport in Wiltshire.

It is understood that one of the plane move-outs has been proceeding for several days, with small groups of specialist troop and others urgently needed in forward bases area.

Friday's move-out, however, will be the first important staging movement by air.

Britannia turbo-jet airlines, converted to seat 100 men each, will leave Hurn with the headquarters staff of the Third Infantry Brigade and units of the first battalion of the Royal Berkshires.

EVACUATION SPEEDED

Big Hermes four-engined airliners will leave Blackbushe with the first battalion of the Duke of Wellington's Regiment.

The British Suez contractor companies, which have been maintaining Suez Zone installations left by the departing British military, stepped up plans to evacuate 934 women and children from the $250 million base.

London's air ministry was asked to supply RAF transports. Ninety-nine women and children are leaving this week on British Overseas Airways Company's already overcrowded regular commercial flights.

Remaining behind with 25,000 tons of ammunition, 2,000 vehicles and huge warehouses with supplies, will be 616 Britons who have made no request to depart.

A British airways spokesman said the Shell Oil Co. in a special charter plane was taking 120 women and children out of Egypt "shortly."

* * *

Approximately 1,000 evacuation bookings, he said, thus far have been made.

Trans-World Airways reported a 15 per cent increase in bookings.

Ike Shows Old Keenness

WASHINGTON (INS) — The old fire, sadly missing from President Eisenhower's demeanor these past 11 months, zipped forth today during a rapid-fire press conference which he dominated like a five-star general in full battle array.

BATTLE OF WITS

Ike seemed to enjoy today's battle of wits. He took a few gleeful digs at the Democrats, artfully evaded any further questioning on the Harold Stassen-Richard Nixon melee, refused to be trapped by a Reuter's correspondent into blessing the British-French show of force in the Suez crisis, and at one point laughed so heartily that his mobile face flamed scarlet.

The laughter came when a correspondent, reminding that he had spoken of "rebuilding" the Republican party, asked:

"It is well known that you could have had the Democratic nomination at one time. Is this a case of marrying a man to reform him, or why did you choose the Republican party?"

Ike, after thoughtfully cocking his head to one side, suddenly shook with chortles before he could find words to reply that this wasn't exactly the case.

Frankly, he said, after 20 years of Democratic power, he felt it was inevitable that some abuses had crept in which could not be cleaned up by the party in the driver's seat. It seemed necessary, therefore, to sweep clean so that much needed changes could be effected.

* * *

That, he added with a grin, was one of the reasons why he chose the GOP for his platform. He emphasized the word "one."

Kiwanis Clubs Work All Day to Get Out Vote

If you failed to vote in the primaries yesterday it was no fault of the Pontiac area Kiwanis Clubs.

* * *

Eighty members of the four local clubs worked all voting hours yesterday to stimulate the highest vote possible.

The men, working under the direction of the newly-formed Pontiac Council of Kiwanis Clubs, were kept busy during the entire day passing out pamphlets and making phone calls to residents to get out the vote.

Each group concentrated on the specific area in which its club is located. The clubs included Downtown Pontiac, West Bloomfield, Pontiac North, and Pontiac West.

* * *

Horace Hatfield, president of the Kiwanis Club, supervised. He said the group will continue to operate a similar plan in future elections if successful.

Blast Traps 300 in Mine

CHARLEROI, Belgium (INS)—Nearly 300 miners were trapped below ground today when fire swept the Amercoeur-Marcinelle Coal Mine near Charleroi.

First reports said 25 men were rescued. Nothing was known of 274 others who were working when the fire started.

Two shafts were blocked by fire.

Intense heat completely melted one of the mine's lifts.

The men were trapped in a new pit when a wooden beam became wedged in the shaft elevator cage and cables which lifted the cage melted.

Telephone Aids Bank Burglars

New Alarm System Used in Robbery for New York Bandits

LYNBROOK, N. Y. (AP)—A cautious crew of safecrackers has come up with a new burglar's aid—a telephone alarm system from lookout to bank vault.

* * *

The thieves, working under cover of night, successfully demonstrated the modern communication setup over the weekend. They looted the Lynbrook branch of the Meadowbrook National Bank of an estimated $100,000 in cash and an undetermined amount in checks.

* * *

Police said the burglars first leaped from a Long Island Railroad trestle to the roof of a one-story building next to the bank. Then, using a ladder, they climbed to the roof of the bank's two-story annex. From there they ducked into the main building through a third-floor window.

* * *

The thieves strung communications wire all the way from a lookout point on the railroad trestle right up to the steel door of the bank's night depository. Apparently there were telephone sets on each end of the line.

The lookout could observe any vehicle or pedestrian near the bank and flash a warning in an instant to the gang inside.

* * *

The burglars burned open the depository with an acetylene torch. They hauled out the cash and checks that depositors had left there after the bank closed Friday.

The bank's alarm system failed to ring.

Titoists Walk—and With Good Enough Reason

* * *

A little German Volkswagen costs $12,500. A Yugoslav-assembled Italian Fiat 600, just about the smallest of Europe's tiny autos, goes for $8,500.

And those prices are figured at 400 dinars to the dollar — a rate only foreign tourists get. Yugoslavs pay a third more.

There is no official explanation of the markups. The most common unofficial story is that the government keeps prices high to hold down purchases and conserve scarce foreign currency.

One result: Traffic and parking are no problem. You can drive for miles in the countryside without seeing a car. In the cities, parking space is available almost anywhere you want it.

Highland Park OKs Fluoridation Plan

HIGHLAND PARK — Continuation of the suburb's water fluoridation program was endorsed by the heavy margin of 3,043-1,874 in a special advisory vote yesterday.

Tooth-protecting sodium fluoride has been added to Highland Park's independent water supply since 1952, when it was introduced by an act of the city commission. A referendum on halting the program had been demanded by a citizens committee.

GOP Beware! Woman's Power Can Convert You

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP) — Andy Gray grinned a little sheepishly when he called for a Democratic ballot in the Kansas primaries yesterday.

At his side was Georgia Neese Gray, treasurer of the United States in the Truman administration and now Democratic national committeewoman for Kansas.

When they were married Jan. 24, 1953, Gray pointed out he was a Republican and said:

Yesterday he said:

Cali Is Leveled by Huge Blast

Army Battalion Takes Brunt of Dynamite Blast; Sabotage Blamed

CALI, Colombia (INS) — More than 1,000 persons were blown to bits and hundreds of others injured yesterday when three army trucks, loaded with dynamite exploded in a populous suburb of Cali.

* * *

Every hospital in the city was jammed with injured. Others, suffering every conceivable injury from cuts to shock and broken limbs, were packed into the city's new football stadium.

Emergency units fed and cared for the thousands of homeless who came to the stadium in search of assistance. Damage was initially estimated at more than $12 million but was expected to be much higher.

Eight square blocks of the city of 90,000 inhabitants were leveled by the atomic-like explosion.

SABOTAGE BLAMED

Most of the dead were soldiers from the Codazzi battalion. Their barracks were only a half block from ground zero.

President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla said the disastrous blast was set off by the "worst enemies of our nation." A government spokesman in Bogota pinned the blame on political enemies of Rojas Pinilla.

The president declared:

"The armed forces will not rest until they discover those responsible and punish them severely."

2,000 INJURED

He appointed a special commission to investigate the disaster and members of the group arrived in Cali early today to visit the damaged areas.

They walked through fons of rubble and debris still being searched for dead or injured. Estimates of the number of injured ran to more than 2,000.

Civilian casualties were mostly poor people gathered at bars and coffee shops in the area. Many were blasted to bits.

* * *

Bodies were placed in cemeteries, public buildings and other sites awaiting identification and burial.

One reporter said he personally counted 330 dead in one hospital building.

Insurance officials estimated the damage from the explosion and subsequent fires would run as high as eight million dollars.

* * *

Through the night and early today planes arrived from nearby big cities bringing drugs, doctors and nurses. They were rushed to clinics and hospitals crowded with injured and to the football stadium.

* * *

The explosion, one of the worst in western hemisphere history, paralyzed most industry and commerce in Cali. The city is the chief commercial center of the rich Cauca Valley, the manufacturing hub of a region producing cattle, sugar, fruit, minerals, tobacco and wood products.

Ike Signs Flood Aid, Housing Bills Into Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has approved bills to continue present federal housing operations and to set up a new program for insuring homes and businesses against flood damage.

Those measures, along with one boosting by 10 per cent the monthly payments to retired railroad workers, were among 13 bills signed yesterday by Eisenhower out of the big batch sent him by Congress in the windup of its session late last month.

Ship Lines Deny Blame for Doria

NEW YORK (AP)—Owners of the Swedish motorship Stockholm and the Italian liner Andrea Doria are in dispute over blame for the disastrous collision of the two vessels.

The opposing statements came as a preliminary to court actions that will argue blame for the collision. Millions of dollars in damage claims are at stake.

Fifty-two persons are dead or unaccounted for in the July 25 collision south of Nantucket Island, Mass. The Doria sank, but more than 1,600 of those aboard were rescued. The Stockholm suffered a crushed bow but crept back to port here for repairs.

FILE LEGAL PAPERS

The Swedish American Line filed legal papers in federal court asking that the firm not be held responsible for any losses, damages or injuries resulting from the crash. At the same time the line said it would sue the Doria owners for damages.

A spokesman for the Italian Line said the court action by the Stockholm owners was "obviously made in anticipation of an Italian Line suit to recover damages resulting from the sinking of the Andrea Doria."

* * *

Damage suits against both lines have climbed past the two-million-dollar mark with no end in sight.

Both lines not only disputed the blame for the crash but also differed about the weather on the night of the collision.

The Italian Line said dense fog covered the water at the time. But the Swedish Line said the moon was out and visibility good.

The petition accused the Doria of carelessness, failing to keep a proper lookout, speeding, veering without warning and failing to sound proper signals.

SWEDES ACCUSED

"The Swedish American Line does not deny that the Stockholm was far off the usual and agreed track for eastbound vessels. It admits that the Stockholm was proceeding at high speed, 18 knots . . . , and at least tacitly admits that she was not blowing fog signals, although everyone knows that there was considerable fog at the time.

* * *

"It admits also that the Stockholm made a severe turn to the right without sounding any whistle signal such as is required by the rules to prevent collision and which, of course, was the act on its part that actually brought about the collision."

And the 29-million-dollar question in maritime circles today is whether the Italian liner Andrea Doria can be raised from its watery grave 250 feet beneath the Atlantic.

Statue Change Ruins Intended Symbolism

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The statues representing war and peace on Lincoln Square now have their backs turned to each other.

The war memorial statues, which used to face each other, were dismantled to make way for a traffic development program.

When they were placed back on the square the statue of the woman with dove and olive branch were back to back with the statue of a man with spear and shield.

Sculptor Carl Paul Jennewain said the delicate symbolism has been destroyed.

City officials said correction of the mistake will be difficult because air spaces which facilitated initial dismantling have been filled.

Oakland's 4-H Fair

Once again the people of this City and surrounding area are privileged to enjoy an outstanding summer event — Oakland County's 4-H Fair.

As has been the case with all previous fairs, a trip to the 20th annual exhibition at Perry St. and Walton Blvd. will prove both educational and entertaining. At the 5 p. m. opening hour Tuesday every exhibit was in place and a large first night attendance gave promise of a record four day run.

Chief features, of course, are the pure bred cattle, horses, hogs, sheep and poultry entered by the more than 2,000 farm boys and girls of the County. Other attractions include splendid exhibits of handicraft, sewing, baked and canned foods and prize vegetables. Besides all this some 30 local merchants have set up interesting display booths and continuous entertainment is provided by a carnival, bands, rides, etc.

★ ★ ★

Through the years the Press has watched with pleasure as this fine fair has grown and improved. Congratulations are due County Agent Jack Worthington, fair manager and John Trocke, 4-H leaders and the boys and girls whose entries made this year's exhibits the best yet.

Working together they have made another notable contribution to a movement which pays lasting social and economic dividends.

Warren to Visit India on Goodwill Mission

There should be widespread satisfaction over Chief Justice Warren's acceptance of an invitation to visit India and President Eisenhower's blessing on the trip.

We can think of no one better able to improve our relations with the people of that country and their government. These relations have suffered in recent months as a result of U. S. criticism of India's policy of neutrality.

Another circumstance which may have offended the Indians was President Eisenhower's attendance at the Panama conference. That came shortly after cancellation, because of the President's operation, of the invitation to Prime Minister Nehru to visit Washington.

The Chief Justice, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Warren, will have the advantage of visiting leaders under favorable circumstances. Jurists and politicians as well as the Prime Minister himself will not forget that the Californian symbolizes this country's attempts to stamp out racial discrimination and prejudice.

The part he played in the historic 1954 segregation decision of the Supreme Court frequently is praised by Indians. He is considered and admired as a political liberal.

We feel confident that shortly after the Chief Justice reaches the subcontinent, U.S.-Indian relations will be restored to their former foundation of friendship and understanding.

Our Philippine Bases

Interest in just opened American-Filipino negotiations over the permanent status of U.S. bases in the island republic has been heightened by a recent important event.

It was the formal opening of our largest naval air station in Asia. Located in the Subic Bay area of the Bataan Peninsula, the base with its 8,000 foot runway, is capable of handling any of our present or projected aircraft. An interesting fact is that in building this base, more earth was moved than in digging the Panama Canal.

Under discussion in the negotiations is the question of sovereignty. Our negotiators already have agreed that it rests in the Philippines and that the bases are American installations set up on Philippine soil for the defense of both countries.

President Magsaysay personally has emphasized that such installations are vital to his country's security. His political opponents, however, have tried to make capital out of what they call a "compromise of Philippine sovereignty."

Fortunately, the negotiations can uphold President Magsaysay completely. Once the islanders understand the security situation fully, all their talk about sovereignty soon will be forgotten.

By working hard and diligently, even a man who had to start from scratch can sooner or later accumulate enough money to buy a $6,000 car of which he's almost a tenth as proud as he was of his first bicycle.

Even the Weather Couldn't Make Voters Get Out

Today: The time for you to resolve that you'll never be a party to such a dull election by not casting your vote.

"The weatherman may be a little flooey, but he gave us a good election day," said as he voted in a Pontiac precinct, and asserted the slackers could not use the weather as an excuse for staying at home.

Harmon Hinchman

In a Waterford precinct a woman voted by ballot and then wanted to do it again on the machine, and was somewhat peeved when she was refused.

I like the sentiments expressed by

who writes: "The defeated primary candidates now can show they're good losers and good sports by removing their posters and thus take a blot off the scenery, also obliterate the reminders that they were also-rans."

Those well known veterans in producing palate and eye appealing things,

Mr. and Mrs. Percy King of Waterford, have hollyhocks 12 feet high and in a variety of colors that make the rainbow look dull.

A phone call from

of Rochester, says: "Your front page editorial about cockeyed weather forecasts was the super. Wish the weatherman was on the primary ticket. We need a change, both in the forecaster and his work."

It was considered to be a late spring, but

Do or Die!

David Lawrence Says:

Conventions Neglect True Choices

WASHINGTON—Within a few days there will be dramatized through radio, television and the press what amounts to a spectacular hoax—the idea that in some way the two national conventions are representative bodies which the American people have set up to choose candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

The direct primary will be ignored and only the wishes of party bosses, group bosses and manipulators of blocs will be obeyed.

Anybody who knows the personalities active in the public life of America would have to concede that the ablest, the most experienced, and in every sense the best qualified men to become president and vice president will not even be considered by the two national conventions.

Everything that has been said about how vice-presidential nominees are chosen by a coterie of politicians can be said also of the method of choosing presidential nominees. There never has been in either political party a genuine opportunity for the voters of each party to pick their candidates. Woodrow Wilson was the first president to argue for a presidential preference primary that would be nationwide. But the politicians killed off the idea. Even a supposedly advanced state like New York, with its articulate "intellectuals," today uses the convention system to select the candidates for governor and has party primaries for the presidency.

IS ADLAI BEST?

Does anybody high up in the Democratic party really believe that Adlai Stevenson is the best qualified man to be president of the United States? Does anybody who knows the many outstanding men in Congress believe that Gen. Eisenhower in 1952 was the best qualified man?

Judging by what the Democratic leaders now say, Eisenhower hasn't made a good president, and yet they would replace him with Adlai Stevenson—a man they know hasn't had any important experience in the national government in dealing with the many intricate legislative problems that come up in Congress. At least Eisenhower now has had nearly four years of experience and is familiar with the ins-and-outs of international as well as national problems. The man who has had the next amount of experience in the same field is Vice President Nixon, yet the Democrats and their ally, Harold Stassen, are saying that Nixon should be replaced by someone else. They usually name someone who has not had the first-hand experience in national or international affairs that Nixon has.

But in all this the people have little or nothing to say. It is all very well for purposes of convention oratory to argue that the delegates are "chosen by the people." But are they? The custom is for local political organizations to pick the delegates, and more often than not the posts go to those who have the money to spend on the trip or who seek the opportunity for reasons of local prestige to sit on the state delegation.

PEOPLE DISREGARDED

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the disregard of "the people's wishes" is to be noted in what happened just a couple of weeks ago when Sen. Kefauver announced his "withdrawal" from the contest for the presidential nomination in the Democratic party. He and his associates denied emphatically that there was any "deal" whereby he would be awarded the vice-presidential nomination. But why did Kefauver withdraw? There had not been a counting of noses. The so-called "open convention" had not even met. But Kefauver knew somehow that he couldn't win the nomination. He knew the line-up of the bosses in the various states and their power over the balloting. And this is what is called a "peoples" convention.

This correspondent has attended 10 Republican and 10 Democratic party national conventions and not one of these polled the voters beforehand, either through the primaries or by any other nationwide system. Conventions, it must be admitted, are ruled by oligarchies.

The wonder is that they do produce some good presidents—but the tragedy is that they also produce some very incompetent presidents. The people have no choice in the November election except between two specific candidates in whose selection they have had no part and for whom there are many able substitutes available who could really make good presidents.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Then said Saul, I have sinned: return, my son David: for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day: behold, I have played the fool, and have erred exceedingly.—I Samuel 26:21.

★ ★ ★

Dr. William Brady Says:

Aspirin Can't Cure a Thing —It Just Relieves Pain

"Had a total of 25 warts on both hands—six of them as large as an aspirin. Prior to using your remedy I went to two doctors with no results. Then I used your salicylic collodion. I now have no warts. I wanted you to know how much you helped me. (B. J. M.)

In the first place, we should remember that warts come and go without rhyme or reason, we don't know what causes warts, and so whatever remedy or treatment you use may "work like magic" or have "no results."

Through the years I have received from readers as many reports of removal of warts by castor oil as by any other remedy—that is, the warts disappear after daily application of castor oil for a week or two.

The salicylic collodion which the correspondent used is, I suppose, the standard corn remedy—thirty grains of salicylic acid dissolved in one-half fluid ounce of flexible collodion. Apply a coat of this to corn, callus or wart once a day. In a week or so the corn, callus or wart becomes soft and may be wiped away.

I'M IMPRESSED

Now may I say I was impressed by B. J. M.'s description of his or her warts as the size of an aspirin.

It seems remarkable that the correspondent is so familiar with aspirin.

If aspirin cured anything at all, there might be some justification for taking the drug occasionally. But it doesn't cure anything. It is merely analgesic—pain relieving—and by no means the harmless sense-deadener many addicts believe it is.

One recognized authority says: "The promiscuous use of acetylsalicylic acid (aspirin) for relief of headache, neuralgia, neuritis, arthritis, tonsillitis, influenza, muscular rheumatism, cystitis, etc., may lead to poisoning, the chief symptoms being edema of the lips, tongue, eyelids, nose or entire face, vertigo, nausea, vomiting, profuse sweating, rapid irregular pulse."

While death from aspirin poisoning is rarer, "overdose" sometimes proves fatal. Of 750 persons who attempted suicide with aspirin only four died.

Once or twice in my lifetime I have taken 5 or 10 grains of aspirin, gingerly. I mean I'm a great coward about unnecessary risks, and so when I take aspirin or any other analgesic or sense-deadener or pain-killer I remain quiet, sitting or lying down, for not less than an hour afterward.

If the ache, pain or distress is not bad enough for that, I worry along without the dope. But then, maybe I consider good health more precious than some Y. W.'s do.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Group Expresses Gratitude for Articles About Poland

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

We would like to express our deepest gratitude for a number of articles which recently appeared in your paper.

We would like to thank you in the name of the whole Polish nation, whose mouth was gagged by the brutal oppressor, and also in the name of the heroes who offered their lives recently on the streets of Poznan in order to make the truth known to all.

The people of Poland are certain that the descendants of the great heroes of the American Revolution, who loved liberty more than life itself, will not be indifferent to the abuses of the Communistic regime, especially at the present time, when the dark night of unprecedented terror has fallen on all the towns and villages of Poland after the blood suppression of the Poznan revolt.

They know that just as Kosciuszko and Pulaski and other Poles offered their talents and lives to win the much longed-for independence for the colonies of America, so the United States now at the peak of its power will extend a helping hand to the nation whose history proves that it deserves all the support possible.

Thank you once again for giving voice to the silent and suffering Poland. May your work contribute to the restoration of justice and lasting peace in the world.

Will War Come to Suez? World Is Waiting to See

By JOHN H. MARTIN
(INS Foreign Director)

Will war come over the Suez Canal issue? It now seems certain that the only way to avert it is an Egyptian backdown.

★ ★ ★

Concessions on either side will be aimed at face-saving. The United States was considered a possible mediator. It still may be, but U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles now has lined up Washington firmly behind the basic British and French position. This is that the canal cannot be left in the hands of Egypt alone because it might be "exploited by one country for highly selfish purposes."

Nasser strongly is counting on objections at the forthcoming international conference to discuss international control of the canal. But even with the Soviet Union, his strongest possible backer, objecting, it will not get Nasser off the hook.

Britain and France are rushing men and equipment into a semi-mobilized rendezvous for a re-occupation of the Suez Canal Zone.

EDEN ON SPOT

Nasser may think this is a bluff. If he does he is wrongly advised. The public opinion in Britain and France is such that there does not seem to be any possibility of a Western allied retreat on the issue.

In fact, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden is being criticized for not acting hastily enough. He knows that his government could fall if he does not act decisively after the conference meets.

The conference meets Aug. 16, which gives Egypt less than two weeks to chart future policy. The Egyptian officials and those of other Arab nations react angrily, but are not sufficiently rearmed yet to challenge any Anglo-French force.

Nasser's attitude, if he is to stay in power, is to find some compromise in the gamble he undertook when he seized control of the internationally-owned canal company.

At stake is not only his own power position, but the prestige of all the Arab nations he purports to lead.

Legally, the British and French see their way clear to attack no matter what happens at the international conference. Illegally, they still could see their way to use force because of the "industrial life or death" issues involved.

In the juridical sense the two powers could intervene with military force on the basis that Egypt has blocked Israeli use of the canal while paying lip service to the 1888 convention that pledged free use of the canal by all powers in war or peace.

No other inspiration could . . . Have made those dreams come true . . . I never would have known the joy . . . Of loving you so much . . . As now you overwhelm me with . . . Smiles

If folks were as quick at getting started at their work as they are getting tired of it, more things would get done.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Defies Foes to Find Error

"Dr. Crane is all wet," an occasional professor in your local university may exclaim. But pin him down, as Tom has done, and see if he can offer you any specific instance of error on my part. Or ask him how he would improve my diagnosis. If he can't offer specific data, then maybe he is just jealous.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, a few weeks ago you outlined what you called the 'stutter triangle'," he said when I visited his newspaper recently.

"It was the simplest and most understandable discussion of stuttering which I had ever read.

"So I tried it with my oldest son, who is in junior high, but who has been stuttering for the last year. It helped a lot.

"But one of our state university psychologists called our office to protest against your column.

"When I asked him what he objected to, he hemmed and hawed and refused to be tied down to facts. Apparently, he was just jealous of you and hostile.

"The gist of his remarks was that you had oversimplified the problem of stuttering. So I asked him if he cared to complicate the matter by telling me where you were wrong.

He backed away at that and weakly faded out with the argument that you make readers feel that psychology is too simple."

TEST OF GOOD TEACHING

It has always been a cardinal test of good teaching to be able to take difficult problems and make them simple to the student.

Anybody can befuddle a pupil by using five-syllable words, as has too long been true on the part of some college professors.

Byron is reported to have said regarding literary skill that "easy writing's damned hard reading."

What he meant, as a corollary, is the fact that when you can understand a thing on the first reading, that means the author has done the hard work of thinking his way through the problem carefully and has then diligently picked the exact words which will reveal the problem without confusing you.

The fact that high schoolers follow this column regularly is a fair test of the choice of vocabulary which I employ.

And if you ever hear a soured college professor attack what I say, just pin him down. Ask him to show you where I have made a mistake.

Oh, I don't claim to be infallible, but I don't aim to make many mistakes as regards psychology or medicine, for all writers who express their views over their own signed columns, must be correct.

It is true that I have professional enemies. But challenge them to show where I have made an error. And then doubly challenge them to explain a psychological problem more simply or more briefly.

NEWSPAPER AUTHORITY

Although I had been teaching psychology for many years and not only held a Ph.D. in psychology but was author of a widely used college textbook, I went back to medical school and obtained my M.D. just to further qualify myself for giving you readers this educational column.

How many other newspaper columnists do you know who ever spent an extra six years in college just to add additional scientific authority to their newspaper writing?

The reason I must go to my own defense in this manner is because an occasional foe tries to highhat a newspaper editor by citing his professional post in a local university or by a general charge that "Dr. Crane overly simplifies psychology."

If they can't cite anything more concrete than that they have simply paid me the supreme compliment awarded all good teachers.

Dr. Walter S. Hunter once told a seminar of graduate students at Northwestern University that he could read John S. Dewey twice over and still not always get what Dewey was driving at.

Yet Dr. Hunter is a brilliant psychologist. But Dewey's obfuscation and circumlocutions may explain why high school grads can't speak English after 12 years in our schools.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Atomic Power Drives AF Plane

First Pictures Reveal Aircraft Goes Through Successful Test Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has released first pictures of an aircraft carrying an atomic reactor.

The plane is a B36 intercontinental bomber, converted some months ago into a flying testbed for research into the radiation effects of the nuclear power plant on instruments, equipment and the frame of the aircraft.

During these research flights the atomic reactor is turned on only after the B36 reaches high altitudes. The power, which pushes the big plane through the air, is supplied throughout by its conventional piston motors and at times by the four jet engines. The nuclear plant is not connected with the propulsion system.

These research flights are being conducted by the Convair division of General Dynamics Corp. as part of its work toward development of a fully atomic-powered airplane.

Doubting Thomas Believes It After Seeing It

It happende as he and Nick Plott were unloading a carload of bananas at his father's Smedley Fruit Co. here.

Smedley recalled he had just said: "I don't believe all those stories of tarantulas and snakes being found in carloads of bananas."

And Plott replied: "There's one of them now."

It was in a stalk of fruit Smedley had just unloaded. The rush to gain a respectful distance caused some bruised bananas.

Hal Boyle Says:

You Owe Your Budgereegah Something

NEW YORK (AP)—Keep yourself mentally healthy. You owe it to your parakeet.

"If you become neurotic, the pets in your home may become neurotic, too," said Rene Gaspard.

Although he deals in animals ranging from $3 turtles to $1,200 cheetahs — "just the thing to show off your new sports car" — the dapper, middle-aged Frenchman likes to call himself a "bird psychologist."

This is a title you earn, he said, not by going to college, but by lifelong study of the habits and yearnings of birds.

* * *

He has provided pets — or boarded the pets — of such well known clients as Skitch Henderson, Faye Emerson, Ernie Kovacs and Arthur Godfrey, who has two mynah birds.

"People in the entertainment world usually are extraordinarily kind to their pets," he remarked. "They feel nothing is too good for them."

However, he recalled the case of one comedian who liked to tour the bars at night with his pet monkey. The monkey soon began to share his taste for whisky.

"The combination of liquor and late hours killed the monkey," said Gaspard, "but the comedian is still making the rounds — alone."

* * *

Birds, he insisted, can have a form of nervous breakdown, just like people. Too many crowded cocktail parties, for example, will upset a canary and cause him to come down with sinus trouble, a psychosomatic escape.

One of his current patients, a talking crow named "Ole," had been used as a photographic model for a beverage concern. He also had appeared on TV, where he spoke a cherry "hello."

After a photographer held him too tightly while posing him for a picture, "Ole" became so frightened his head feathers fell out, he became bald, and clammed up completely.

Now, following several sessions on the psychiatric perch with Gaspard, "Ole" has begun talking again, but instead of saying "hello" he mutters "What for?" and "Oh, yeah?"

* * *

"Kindness is essential in dealing with birds," said Gaspard. "A small canary needs affection as much as a great dane. You can't force birds to talk or sing. They will do it only when they are happy and carefree."

"A bird is as temperamental as a child. It will perform only when it wants to."

Here are a few more things Gaspard has learned:

"Women can teach a parakeet to talk much better than men can. It is because their voices are higher, more like those of birds.

"Birds learn words easier that have the letter R in them. It is probably easier for them to learn German, French or Hungarian than it is English.

* * *

"The best time to teach a bird is just before he goes to bed. Then he will study in his sleep.

"Don't just teach your bird nonsense phrases. Make him learn his name and address. I know of one parakeet that became lost and was returned home safely because he was able to give his telephone number to the person who found him."

"If you put two talking crows in with two talking mynah birds," said Gaspard, "one crow will learn from the other crow and one mynah bird from the other mynah.

* * *

Boy, 2, Goes on Spree, Father Gets 'Spanking'

CHICAGO (INS) — Sometimes a two-year-old just can't keep out of trouble. Take the case of John Anders. He splashed a bucket of black paint over the rear porch. Then he lifted a small drain cover and stuck his foot in to see how far down it would go.

Little John was rescued by firemen after 10 minutes. Then the boy's father, Walter Anders, was given the punishment when his wife said, "After all, Walter's got to repaint the porch."

Plants Hang in Streets

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — This resort community's main street is decked out in its own version of a hanging gardens with brightly hued plants suspended in flower pots on street light posts. Park employes use a special long-necked pump to water the plants daily.

Contractors to Testify?

SAGINAW (UP) — Area contractors have invited the Saginaw Building and Construction Trades Council to join in a petition for a grand jury investigation of a paint splattering incident last month. Union officials said they preferred to confer with law enforcement officials before taking action. Paint was smeared on five newly constructed homes built with non-union labor. The union offered a $600 reward for information on those responsible for the vandalism.

2100 Dead; Millions Homeless

Typhoon Wanda Wreaks Havoc Amid Red Chinese

HONG KONG (AP)—Reports from Red China claim that Typhoon Wanda was one of the century's worst, killing more than 2,100 persons and leaving millions homeless on the Chinese mainland.

* * *

A compilation of dispatches from the Communist New China News Agency put the number of known dead at 2,161 and the injured at almost the same figure.

The casualties may be boosted when reports reach Peiping from remote regions where communications were cut.

Crops were devastated in an immense area.

Heavy rains threatened to flood the Hai River network in north China.

Wanda struck the China coast with defastating force Wednesday and veered north. It spent itself deep in the interior.

Chekiang province, south of Shanghai on the coast, bore the brunt.

Winds of up to 150 m.p.h. tore across Chekiang, causing casualties put by Peiping radio at 1,960 dead and 1,200 injured. One report said 38,000 homes were destroyed in the province and more than a million persons were homeless.

Wanda took six lives on the nationalist island of Formosa before striking the mainland. The storm left 6,000 Formosans homeless. It also destroyed many native homes and sheared off the roofs of Army warehouses on the U. S. base island of Okinawa.

* * *

The city of Shanghai was spared the full force of the storm, but it counted 9 dead and 100 injured.

Peiping reported more than one million persons were trying frantically to prevent floods by repairing dikes on the swollen Hai River tributaries in north China. The waters were the highest in years.

China's two great rivers, the Yellow and the Yangtze, were said to be under control.

Challenge No. 10! Lucky 16 Words Can Snare $125

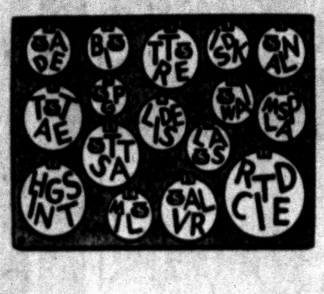

Another week — another $100; that's the least the Press will pay to the reader who comes up with the correct solution to Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 10, the newest challenge in our fascinating summer word game. Oother than the clues below, the best advice we can give is to read the rules carefully before sending in your entry. Have fun, and good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 10 must bear a Tuesday, Aug. 14 postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Humphrey Will Seek Dem Second Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said today he was "very much encouraged" as he prepared to leave for Chicago to seek the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

* * *

At the same time he predicted Adlai E. Stevenson will be nominated for president by the Democratic National Convention "not later than the second ballot."

Humphrey left no doubt in an interview that he will try for the No. 2 spot.

"I am not campaigning against anyone," he said. "Any name I have heard mentioned for the vice presidential nomination for the Democratic party is the name of a man for whom I have high regard and personal friendship."

Humphrey said he regards the "farm problem" as one of the top domestic issues this fall, and he added:

"I say in all modesty that I am prepared to discuss this issue intelligently and persuasively. I have a farm program and I have worked for it."

Heart Stops 8 Minutes, Aid Fails to Save Lad

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Bob Brayshaw 3, whose heart stopped beating for eight minutes Monday and had to be restarted with massage, died yesterday.

The boy's heart stopped in what doctors called a "one in a million" cardiac arrest as a reaction to anesthesia during a tonsillectomy.

When usual treatments failed, the boy's chest was opened and the heart massaged for about five minutes. He never regained consciousness, however.

Ducking GOP Criticism

Labor Shuns Conventions

CHICAGO (AP) — Organized labor leaders are staying away from the Democratic convention scene in sharp contrast to four years ago.

* * *

They apparently want to avoid giving substance to Republican charges that union bigwigs are trying to exercise a guiding role within the Democratic party.

Only a few union leaders are on hand, watching from the sidelines as observers. At the Democrats' last convention in 1952, they played an active part in the proceedings and in the jockeying for platform and candidates.

The word from Washington is that both James McDevitt and Jack Kroll, political codirectors of the 15-million-member AFL-CIO will stay away from the convention and watch the show on television.

* * *

AFL-CIO headquarters is reported to have counseled against union leaders' mixing into convention affairs beyond sending a delegation to appear before the Platform Committee.

AFL-CIO President George Meany is due to testify here Friday and then go to San Francisco and give the same recommendations to the Republican platform group next week.

Atomic Power Plant at Monroe to Be First Large Private Project

Inaugural ceremonies were held at noon today on the shore of Lake Erie near Monroe for Michigan's first atomic electric power plant, and the world's first large breeder plant for atomic energy.

The plant, whose atomic reactor will create energy to generate 150,000 kilowatts of electricity, is the project of the Power Reactor Development Co., comprised of 26 firms in several states.

The atomic reactor will cost in the neighborhood of $40 million, and the electric generating plant adjacent another $14 million.

License to build the plant was issued Saturday by the United States Atomic Energy Commission.

• • •

Actually, power generated at the new plant is expected to cost far more at first than power generated in conventional ways.

But technical knowledge to be learned from this first big peacetime plant will be of untold value in the future. And Cisler has stressed that this technical knowledge "will be available to free people everywhere."

The electric power generating plant, to be operated by Detroit Edison Company, will be a steam turbine plant.

The departure from the usual process is in the manner of creating the steam to turn the turbines.

• • •

The atomic reactor core, to be housed inside a huge steel structure for safety, has been described as "about the size of a rain barrel."

The atomic process generates a fantastic amount of heat. This heat is utilized by pumping through the reactor a liquid metal (sodium).

Through the hot sodium will pass other pipes containing sodium potassium which picks up heat from the liquid sodium, and conveys it to a boiler in which steam is generated.

In this manner the traditional fuel (coal or oil) is replaced by the atom in the generation of heat to make steam.

A fantastic feature of the so-called "breeder" reactor is that the very process by which atomic fuel is consumed to obtain heat creates more atomic fuel.

In non-technical language it is somewhat like burning coal in your furnace and dropping more useable fuel into your ash pit instead of ashes.

• • •

Two types of atomic fuel (uranium) are used: one, U-235 which is fissionable (can be split) and U-238 which cannot be split. During the controlled process which gives off intense heat, the U-238 is converted into a new fissionable fuel, plutonium. The project calls for turning the plutonium back to the AEC, as all such atomic fuels are under strict governmental control.

Power Reactor Development Company engineers have stressed the safety features which have been incorporated in the design of the new plant.

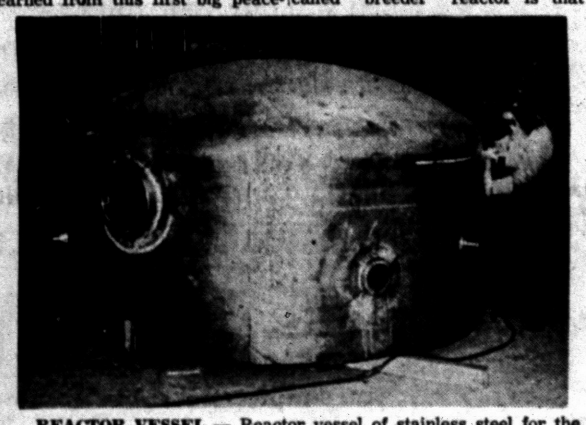

The type and quantity of atomic fuel to be used is not subject to explosion such as in nuclear weapons; no liquid waste will be dumped into Lake Erie; there is no possibility, they assert, of the reactor "running away" if controls break down.

Should anything go wrong, the plant is designed to shut off operations automatically. As a final safeguard any unexpected gases and heat would be contained within the huge steel structure which houses the atomic plant.

It is anticipated the plant will be ready for final testing by 1960.

• • •

The new generating plant will be known as the Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant, in tribute to the famed Italian-American physicist (1901-1954) who first demonstrated how the power of the atom could be harnessed for practical use. In 1942 he directed building and operation of the atomic "pile" at the University of Chicago which initiated a self-sustaining nuclear chain reaction and achieved the first controlled release of atomic energy.

REACTOR VESSEL — Reactor vessel of stainless steel for the atomic power plant is being built by Combustion Engineering Corp., at Chattanooga, Tenn. Lower section of the vessel, which will surround the reactor core and contain molten sodium, is shown here. It will weigh 13,000 pounds and stainless shell is an inch and a half thick.

GOP Governor in Kansas Loses

Controversial Figure Out in Primary Bid for Renomination

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)— Gov. Fred Hall, controversial Republican chief executive in President Eisenhower's home state of Kansas, yesterday suffered a crushing defeat in his bid for renomination to a second term.

* * *

It was only the second time in half a century of direct primaries in this rock-ribbed Republican state that a GOP governor has been denied renomination for a second term.

The fiery 40-year-old Hall, backed by leaders of organized labor was buried under an avalanche of votes piled up by State Rep. Warren W. Shaw.

Returns from 2,379 of the state's 2,957 precincts gave Shaw 107,767 and Hall 84,370.

Harry Woodring, former governor and a secretary of war in the Roosevelt administration, was locked in a tight race for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Woodring, who was elected governor for one term in 1930 amid a similar battle among Republicans, was opposed by George Docking, Lawrence banker and Democratic gubernatorial nominee in 1954.

With 2,354 of the state's 2,957 precincts reporting, Docking had 51,168 votes, Woodring 50,321.

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS)—The fate of Marine S.Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon rests with a stocky, balding man who has repeatedly electrified slower-moving Pentagon colleagues by his split-second decisions.

* * *

Navy Secretary Charles "Sparks" Thomas, to whom falls the onerous duty of reviewing McKeon's sentence, is inspecting the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean. There he faces an even graver decision: What order to give the Navy if fighting erupts in the dynamite-laden Suez Canal zone.

Thomas, who has lived and and breathed the Navy since he served as one of its fly-boys in World War I, is a master at slashing red tape. He first captured the public eye when, in the summer of 1954, he discovered commissions of the three Annapolis graduates were being held up pending completion of a security check.

Thomas was brand new at his job. But with a roar that echoed through the Pentagon, Thomas grabbed for the phone. He ordered Annapolis bigwigs to complete the security check on the double, and to accelerate the program so such a situation could never again plague academy graduates.

ASSURES 'SUSPECTS'

Thomas summoned the three young men to his office to assure them the humiliating delay would in no way affect their careers. They were speedily cleared and commissioned.

The morale of sergeants—the bone and sinew of any fighting force—may rest with Thomas. On the other hand, the bereaved parents of the six recruits who died on that disciplinary march into the South Carolina swamps must consider the sentence unduly soft. Their sons are dead. McKeon can pay his debt to society in nine months, and live.

With Thomas, the devoted father of four, lies the soul-searching decision whether McKeon shall serve nine months at hard labor, forfeit $30 a month for the term of his confinement, be reduced to the grade of private and given a bad conduct discharge from the Marines. Thomas can lighten the sentence. But he can't stiffen it.

* * *

McKeon, cleared of manslaughter, was convicted of negligent homicide and drinking on duty.

Thomas, who was born in former President Truman's home town of Independence, Mo., bristles when he recalls Truman's unfortunate reference to the proud Marines as the Navy's "police force." Thomas loves that outfit, even though he and two of his sons served with the Navy.

WORKED FOR FORRESTAL

A special assistant to Assistant Navy Secretary Artemus L. Gates and to Navy Secretary James Forrestal during World War II, Thomas returned to public life in 1953 as under secretary of the Navy, then assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics before assuming his current role two years ago.

Thomas has been extremely active in Los Angeles civic affairs, Republican finance matters and Episcopal lay activities. A devoted churchman, he will address an international meeting of NATO chaplains in Brussels next week, before returning to his desk and the dossier on McKeon.

Navy assistants predict Thomas will devote "practically his entire time reading every word of the evidence" before disposing of the case. They cite as precedence the famed case last year of the Merchant Marine Academy graduate whose commission was held up because of "guilt by association" with his own mother. Learning of this, Thomas spent every available moment for three weeks reading the thick file. He also appointed a special three-man board to meet here and in New York.

* * *

The moment word reached Thomas of the tragic explosion aboard the carrier Bennington last year, he grabbed his hat and was almost out the door before startled aides learned he was on his way to the ship.

His plane landed at Quonset Point, R. I., just as the crippled carrier limped into port. Thomas immediately plunged below decks to sick bay, inspected the flight deck and then spent hours going from bed to bed in naval hospitals to comfort wounded survivors.

Gen. Lewis A. Kunsig Dies on B&O Train

MONROE (AP) — Brig. Gen. Lewis A. Kunsig, first business manager of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, died on a train yesterday en route to Washington. He was 74.

* * *

His body was removed from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Ambassador at Monroe. He was stricken in the diner about 7 p.m., 40 minutes after leaving Detroit and he died in his compartment.

Kunsig was a controversial figure in Michigan's liquor monopoly. He originally was hired by Republicans in 1943.

A Democratic attempt to fire him in 1950 by abolishing his job was checked by the Supreme Court. The tribunal ruled the Liquor Control Commission could not do away with a job without consent of the state Civil Service Commission.

* * *

A native of Altoona, Pa., and a 1911 graduate of West Point, Kunsig was promoted to Brigadier general just before his retirement from the army in 1942.

Forrest Tucker Gives His Formula for Acting

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Forrest Tucker, the tall, handsome TV and movie actor, proved to me once while having some lunch that he could cry real tears within 30 seconds.

"It's concentration, and that's all acting is," said Tucker, now a star on the "Crunch and Des" TV show.

"I hear these kids from acting schools using words about acting that I never even heard. Sometimes I say to them—what about the Barrymores, Walter Huston, Wallace Berry, Ronald Colman, Victor McLaglen, Paul Muni and Spencer Tracy—what schools did they go to?

FORREST TUCKER

"None that I know of," Tucker continued.

"I'm not knocking the schools," he said, "but it looks to me like they teach you how it feels to be hurt, whereas us older actors know how it feels to be hurt from being hurt.

"That's what acting is . . . concentrating and recalling those things. You have to make yourself the master of yourself and put yourself in somebody else's place.

"I'm going to one of these schools as an observer because if I can act any better I'd sure like to.

JEAN

I then asked Tucker—who comes from Plainsfield, Ind.; Des Moines; Westtown, Pa.; Mount Herman, Miss., and Arlington, Va.—just where he learned all of this if he didn't go to school.

"I guess," he admitted, "it was kind of a college at that. It was burlesque."

Frank Sinatra planed to LA to inspect his new bachelor haven on Mullholland Drive . . . Virginia Darcy, Grace Kelly's hair stylist, is here awaiting her return and looking for other clients to beautify. (Memo to Grace: Thanks for confirming our June 4 story. We'll go out on a limb again and predict that the baby, boy or girl, will be one of the handsomest ever seen, just because—how can it help it?)

An hour after Joan Crawford got to London, she asked Siegi Sessler to deliver a dozen bottles of 100 proof vodka . . . The NYorker's touching tribute to John McNulty touched us . . . When Miss Universe rode in the parade at Hudson for the premiere of "Walk the Proud Land," the wolves yelled, "Let her walk, so we can see if she wiggles like Marilyn!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The five singing DeMarco Sisters are a trio. Arlene is out—either ill or visiting Keefe Brasselle—and Jeanne is recovering from an auto crash . . . Bing's boy, Denis, gets his Army discharge in October . . . Jeannette MacDonald's burning at her biographer; claims he hasn't started work yet . . . CBS should switch pretty Jean Moorhead from its Radio Workshop to TV, so we can watch her.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Television has turned the family circle into the family half-circle.—Peter Frankenfeld.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Mickey Taylor tells of the understanding psychiatrist who gives his patients the bill while they are still lying down.

"You can always tell a kid from Texas," says Roger Price. "He's the one with the pearl-handled slingshot." That's earl, brother.

State Prof at A-Institute

MT. PLEASANT (AP) — Dr. LaVerne Curry, associate professor of biology at Central Michigan College, is one of 29 persons chosen to attend the nuclear institute at Oak Ridge, Tenn., Aug. 6-31. The institute provides four weeks of training in techniques for producing radio-isotopes and their uses.

Americans bought 4,000 automobiles in 1900 and seven million in 1955.

Reds Claim Cheapest All Time Land Grab

TOKYO (INS) — Eleven years ago today Russia entered the war against Japan in one of the cheapest land grabs of all time.

The first U. S. atom bomb had already been dropped on Hiroshima. The defeated Japanese submitted their surrender offer two days later.

Within a week the war was over, but Russia, by virtue of having entered the war in the Pacific, moved in to occupy Manchuria, Southern Sakhalin, the Kurile Islands, and northern Korea.

The repercussions of that eventful week between August 8 to 14 in 1945 are now being felt at a white-topped table in the Spiridonovka Palace in Moscow.

Observers feel Japan will be lucky to regain four small islands just north of Japan's northernmost island of Hokkaido.

Russia did not keep all she grabbed. Some she just stripped clean or communized and turned over to puppets.

Manchuria was stripped. Soviet troops moved into the highly industrialized land and brazenly carried out everything her soldiers could lift.

Unofficial estimates place the value of machinery and other property taken from Manchuria at one billion dollars.

And in North Korea, the Russians promptly installed Russian-trained North Koreans who formed a "people's" government which eventually attacked South Korea with Russian guns.

By winning southern Sakhalin and the Kuriles Russia was removing the remnants of a great loss of face.

Japan had taken the southern half of Sakhalin after thoroughly trouncing Russia in the Russo-Japanese War of 1904-5.

Both Southern Sakhalin and the Kuriles had changed hands several times between Japan and Russia.

When Russia moved into the Kuriles after the end of World War Two she also occupied the four islands of Etorofu, Kunashiri, Shikotan and Habomai, which had traditionally been Japanese.

It is these four in particular that Japan is bargaining to regain at Moscow.

Russia entered the Pacific war against Japan under an understanding with the allied powers, but not with their blessing. The tide of war had shifted so quickly near the end that Russia's help was no longer felt necessary.

In fact many American officials, realizing the predominantly American drive up the Pacific island chain, plus the atom bomb, had been so successful actually tried to deter Russia's entrance into the conflict.

Russia's declaration of war officially went into effect on August 9. The second atom bomb fell on Nagasaki on that same day and Japan submitted its acceptance of the Potsdam agreement, in effect its surrender offer, the next day.

The surrender was accepted and announced on August 14 and the war ended.

To help stem the rising price of rice, the Indian Government will sell 100,000 tons to West Bengal, New Delhi reports.

Must Land Job or Else

Alien Circus Performers Facing U. S. Deportation

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Once they thrilled the multitudes but now the biggest thrill this little band of circus stars could get would be landing a job.

They are the alien performers—aerialists, horseback performers, trick bicycle riders—who lost their jobs when Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey folded July 16.

Life has been pretty rugged for many of the workers who rode the train back to winter quarters here. "The aliens particularly have been hard hit," said B. M. Birdsong, manager of the Florida state employment office here.

Most of the circus hands can seek unemployment compensation, but not the aliens—they aren't eligible.

The circus closed with 79 foreign performers on the payroll. They came into this country on visas permitting them to stay in America until December when the circus would come off the road for the winter.

If they get jobs—and a very few have—with another circus, that's fine, and they can remain in this country. If they don't then the Immigration Department can deport them which means they can't re-enter the United States.

The Ringling Circus has said it will work out each case with individual performers.

Immigration officials say they have had only one hardship case reported to them. But here, several performers say they are down to their last $20 or $25. One or two stars have about $200.

About 30 such stars are in a trailer camp—just waiting.

What of the others?

Some 500 applied for unemployment compensation or a job and about 200 are drawing compensation. Many of those applying have found work. Between 60 and 75 roustabouts got work with construction gangs.

Turkey has 7,586 engineers and 910 architects, Ankara reports. Those numbers are on the rolls of the Turkish Federation of Engineers and Architects.

Nowhere else that we know of—which is one big reason why Buick outsells all others cars in America except two of those smaller cars.

BUT RIGHT ALONG with low price is something else behind Buick's big success: Buick is a lot more automobile for the money.

It gives you more room and luxury—more zip and power thrill—fine handling and sure-footed stability.

And it gives you something you can't get in no other car—today's advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the only transmission in the world with the cruising thrift and the switch-pitch safety-surge taken from the modern plane's propeller.

SO WHY WAIT any longer—when the time to take action is now, so you can start enjoying all the golden months of summer and fall in a new '56 Buick?

Now—when Buick prices are as low as—perhaps lower than—they'll ever be again.

Now—when your present car is at its peak of worth—and when today's high volume '56 Buick sales permit us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Come see us—and look into the car that puts you years ahead right now.

Come see us today—and discover the dilly of a deal that will make you wonder why on earth you waited as long as you did.

Hollywood Headlines

Derek-Andress Romance Will Cross the Atlantic

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—John O'Hara just happens to be one of my favorite writers, so I'm not in the least surprised that Buddy Adler has signed him on a multiple-story contract at 20th. But what does surprise me is that the sophisticated O'Hara's first will be the screen play of a western, "The Bravados," by Frank O'Rourke.

"How come O'Hara's doing a western when 20th owns his best seller, '10 Frederick Street?'" I wanted to know.

"Because he's never done a western and he likes the idea," was the answer. He'll get around later to his own story. Herbert Bayard Swope, who'll produce "The Bravados" says no cast is set.

The romance between John Derek and Ursula Andress (she dated the late James Dean at one time) goes merrily on. So much so that Ursula probably will accompany Derek to London when he goes there for a TV series based on the adventures of "Captain Blood." Remember when Errol Flynn did this swashbuckling hero at Warners years ago?

No one would be particularly surprised if John turns on the heat for Ursula to be his leading lady in the TV series. He leaves for London as soon as he completes "Showdown Creek" at 20th.

Guess Terry Moore and Eugene McGrath just couldn't take their commuting marriage anymore. They've bought a lot in the swank Trousdale-Doheny estates subdivision and figure that by the time the house is completed Gene can have transferred the bulk of his insurance business from Panama and Cuba to Beverly Hills.

This should definitely settle the question about whether Terry's giving up her career to be with her husband. McGrath is really proud of her screen work and doesn't want to ask her to give it up. So he's switching his plans to mesh with Terry's work in Hollywood.

Sally Forrest is a happy girl over being handed the prima ballerina assignment on the first of the Ford Jubilee spectaculars on CBS Oct. 6, "Tribute to Cole Porter."

"Bob Alton is producing and staging the show," Sally told me, "which is wonderful for me. Do you remember, it was just a few years ago that I was Bob's assistant at MGM. Now it's a kick for me to be his star dancer."

Another nice thing for Sally, she and Milo Frank, CBS executive, celebrate their fifth happy anniversary this week.

Moviewise, Eddie Albert's riding high this season. I hear he's excellent as the cowardly captain in "Attack," formerly called "The Fragile Fox," which Bob Aldrich directed. Currently finishing up the rain-soaked "Teahouse of the August Moon," Eddie has still a third picture coming up.

It is "3:10 for Yuma," about a debt-ridden officer who takes on the dangerous chore of escorting a wealthy killer to prison, a story by David Heilweil, who will also produce.

Hollywood in shorts: Mara Corday and Director Dick Bare a newsome at the Sportsman's Lodge.

A well-known character actor, out of work too long, applied for the job of King Neptune at Marineland. The deal was all set until the former star demanded billing over the porpoises—and then it was all wet.

Sunday dinner at La Rue brought out Irene Dunne and Dr. Griffin, the Jules Steins and Gladys Knapp. Also the Charlie Brackett's.

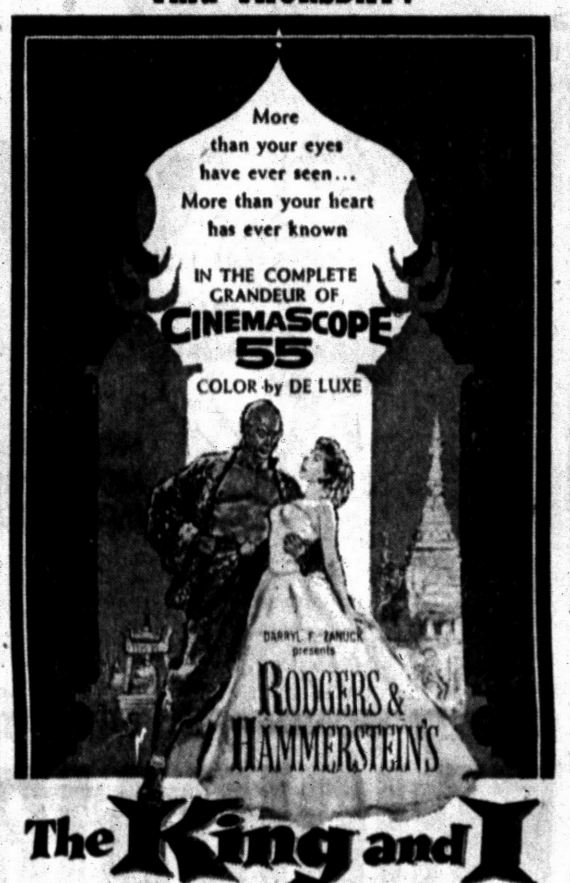

Shelley Winters' leading man in "Girls of Summer" on Broadway will be Pat Hingle, who just made his movie debut in "End as a Man."

Ecuador Mopping Up Revolution in West

QUITO, Ecuador (UP) — Government army, navy and air force units were reported closing in today on a rebellion in western Ecuador's Manabi province.

* * *

Ecuador's military high command said the revolt would be put down "once and for all by whatever means necessary."

The outgoing government of President Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra charged the uprising was led by defeated political leaders and a military garrison at Portoviejo, Manabi provincial capital. The government denied rebel radio reports that other garrisons were joining in the revolt.

Activities in Quito, capital of this nation of three million persons, were normal.

Civil War Slave, 107, Dies, Buried in Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Funeral services were held yesterday for a Dallas Negro whose memory dated back to slavery and the Civil War period, 107-year-old Strong Hood.

Named for his master, Hood was born in slave quarters on an Alabama cotton plantation and sold away from his family as a young boy.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

AT THE SEAL POOL

This is Dippy, who lives in the seal pool in the park, and is a great favorite with boys and girls. They like to watch him slide off the rocks, dive head first into the water and come up shining like polished metal.

He barks hoarsely, and when the keeper tosses him a fish he stretches out his long neck and catches it in his mouth.

If you want Dippy to dive into the pool, tip him off the rocks into the slit in the water.

Want a Job? Bedouins Need a Little Rest

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — A bunch of Bedouins who used to herd sheep are working at a more dangerous job now in Egypt's western desert.

Ten of the Bedouins have been blown up.

* * *

But with the thrills, steady pay and all, the rest seem to like this switch from their once peaceful existence.

"I've spent most of my life sitting by sheep," an ex-herder remarked. "This is much more exciting."

Wired iron rods and Mars-like earphones replace the hooked stick and flowing garb which have characterized their profession since the days of Moses.

* * *

The Bedouins' job is to clear the desert of hundreds of thousands of mines planted by three different armies — Italian, German and British. They are spread from Berga, on the Libyan border, to El Alamein, only 60 miles southwest of Alexandria.

The sheepherders turned mine dowsers are directed by German and Italian experts under contracts with the Egyptian army.

* * *

E. L. Profiry, a former captain in Italy's Fascist army who took part in the planting of the mines, is one of their experts.

The experts estimate the job may take up to 15 years.

There Is No Greater Courage

Babe Zaharias: Height of Determination

(This is the third of four articles on the greatest woman athlete of all time, and on her current battle against cancer.)

Babe Zaharias' first track and field competition of importance was in the 1930 Women's National A.A.U. championships in Dallas. She won the javelin toss and the baseball throw and broke the world's record in the broad jump.

At Jersey City the following year she won the broad jump and set records of 296 feet for the baseball throw and 12 seconds flat for the 80-meter hurdles. But 1932 was the year that meant everything to her. That was an Olympics year. Col. McCombs called her into his office and told her that she—alone—would represent the company team at the nationals in Chicago.

Babe failed to qualify in the 100-meter dash. She picked up a point by finishing fourth in the discus. She won the shot put event. Victory in the baseball throw was easy—272 feet, two inches. Her javelin toss of 139 feet, three inches and her 80-meter hurdle heat of 11.9 broke world records she herself held.

In eight events she placed in seven, won five outright and tied for first in a sixth. She scored 37 points to win the national championship.

At the Los Angeles Olympics that summer she became a world figure, a position she never relinquished. She threw the javelin 143 feet four inches, lowered her world's record to 11.7 in the 80-meter hurdles.

A few days after the Olympics, Grantland Rice invited Babe to accompany him to Brentwood for a round of golf. Babe took a two-minute lesson in how to swing a stick from the club pro and she outdrove all members of the male foursome on the first real drive of her life—a belt of 240 yards.

The golf bug bit Babe hard. She knew that track and field, basketball, barnstorming with this or that baseball club, couldn't last. The A.A.U. had closed many sports doors on her by barring her for "endorsing" an automobile, though she proved conclusively that her name had been used without her authority.

Some nights, Babe's hands bled from her blisters. But she wanted golf, and to learn to play that mystifying and humbling game well enough to support her.

Babe won her first tournament, the Texas State Women's Amateur title, in 1935. Babe played a lot of golf after that, pro, amateur, and then pro again. Happily married to wrestler George Zaharias, Babe applied for reinstatement as an amateur during the war.

She was determined to become the first American girl ever to win the British Women's Amateur. She did win it triumphantly in Scotland in 1947.

The years rolled on and so did Babe: "Woman Athlete of the Year" in 1947, "Greatest Female Athlete of the Half Century" in 1949, "Woman Athlete of the Year" again in 1950, leading money winner in 1951, and again in 1954, during an incredible comeback between critical operations.

But the world and human cells had changed for Babe. In 1953 she found it so hard to get through the late rounds of a tournament without great weariness that, after winning the Babe Zaharias Open, she took herself off to the office of Dr. W. E. Tatum, an old friend of the family who had operated on her previously for a femoral hernia.

Dr. Tatum probed at length. Babe watched his face in the oppressive silence of the examination room. It was she who broke the quiet.

"I've got cancer, haven't I?" she said.

Oakland County Voters Decide on Special Issues

Voting Light for Primary

Southfield Rejects Tax; Farmington, Race Track; OK Gas Franchise

In generally light, countywide voting yesterday, Southfield citizens rejected a millage proposal for a recreation center and ok'd the little Evergreen interceptor franchise. Farmington Township voters rejected rezoning of 244 acres for a race track, and at Milford, both township and village approved a gas franchise for Michigan Consolidated.

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP

In Southfield, two proposals appeared on the ballot. Residents turned down, by a ten to one majority, a two mill tax proposal fo ra recreation site and a civic center.

A second proposal, to grant a franchise to a private corporation to build the proposed $1,112,000 "little" Evergreen interceptor, won by a small margin. Figures were 1,958 yes and 1,706 no.

MILFORD

The Township and Village here, in an almost ten to one vote, ok'd the franchise for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP

A proposal to rezone 244 acres of section 30 in Farmington Township from residential to commercial for a proposed race track was defeated 1,197 to 481.

Residents of Wood Creek Farms Subdivision here voted, 72 to 46, to become the Village of Wood Creek. They elected five commissioners who are:

EARLY TALLY

Rose Township, using voting machines for the first time had its complete tabulation ready for the Press at about 8:45 p.m.

Troy Township's count was complete shortly before 9 p.m. and 11 of the 28 registered voters in the two-mile square township voting. "That's not a bad average to have at the polls," said township clerk Norman J. Flemington. Counting was at the Troy City Hall.

Although nine Republican votes were cast for Edward E. Wilson, county convention delegate, he is ineligible because he lives in Troy City and not in Troy Township.

In the Waterford Township area, where 14,851 persons are registered, 3,353 voters in its 12 precincts went to the polls.

By a vote of 5,245 to 1,401, voters doubled a $500 limitation on civil cases handled in the court and approved increases in maximum punishments from $100 fines and 30-day jail terms to $500 fines and 90-day sentences.

In Oak Park, social security benefits for police and firemen was approved 1,761 to 462 as was a change in retirement age from 65 to 60. A $150,000 bond issue for construction of an indoor swimming pool passed 1,230 to 927.

X-ray Uses Increase in Animal Treatments

EAST LANSING (AP)—The X-ray, becoming increasingly important in treating diseases in animals, is used mainly for treatment of skin diseases and cancer, according to a Buffalo, N. Y. veterinary radiology expert.

In his talk at a conference of 50 colleagues at Michigan State University, he said x-ray therapy is used for chronic and acute arthritis, goiter, ulcers and abcesses in small animals and foot rot and lumpy jaw in cattle.

Berkley Hero Crashlands to Save Lives

A 26-year-old Berkley air force lieutenant died last night near Denver when he piloted his crippled jet plane away from a residential area and made a crash landing.

Lieut. George A. Frederick's action was called magnificent by a spokesman at Lowry Air Force Base. He said the young pilot refused to eject himself and parachute to safety after his F86 jet flamed out.

Instead, Frederick maneuvered the plane to crash in a small park. If abandoned, the plane could have crashed anywhere in the residential area that borders the air field on three sides.

First Lt. Fredericks, who joined the air force shortly after he was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1953, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Fredericks of 36500 Kenmore.

Cities Parry Over Corner

Huntington Attempting to Annex Rezoned Lot of Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK—A zoning change approved by city commissioners two weeks ago has resulted in a bid by neighboring Huntington Woods to annex a part of the disputed property.

About 600 Huntington Woods residents have signed petitions against the change. Eighteen Royal Oak residents have joined their protest.

Part of the property in question was annexed to Royal Oak in 1950 by joint resolution of the two city commissions.

Assessors of both sides promoted the move to make city boundary lines conform to lot lines.

Since then Oakland County Circuit Court has declared the boundary change illegal. Royal Oak is appealing the court reversal.

Huntington Woods city manager Fred Yockey said that there had been only time to certify 243 of the 600 petitions and that the balance will be sent to the Royal Oak Commission before next Monday.

Meanwhile, rezoning takes effect 20 days after it is approved by the commission, which will be next Sunday. The owner of the property in question can apply for a building permit, therefore, on Monday.

Pink Accents White Outfit for Wedding

MARLETTE—A candlelight wedding Saturday united Maralene Olsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amil Olsen, of Marlette and Clarence Phillips, son of Mrs. Roy Phillips and the late Mr. Phillips, before 75 guests.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a waltz length gown of white spider-web lace over blush pink taffeta for her wedding. She wore a white nylon fingertip veil and carried white carnations centered with pink roses.

They will live in Marlette on their return.

Two Oxford Girls Attend FHA Camp

OXFORD — Shirley Smith and Lois Stoddard, ninth graders at Oxford High, will be spending a week at the beach beginning next Sunday.

They are among 200 girls, chosen to attend the Future Homemakers of America Leadership Training Camp on Lake Michigan near Montague, who are attending in week-long sessions that started Sunday.

Members of FHA since February 1956, they belong to the Oxford chapter guided by Mrs. Jean Harkness. Norman Geisler sponsors the two girls from this district.

Elizabeth Shores Has First Meeting

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — First annual picnic of the Elizabeth Shores Civic Assn. will be at 5 p.m. Aug. 25 at Woodbridge and Arfesian Avenues.

Carl Domas, recreation chairman, Mrs. Ray Runyon and Mrs. Richard Featherstone, are planning the event.

Races are planned for children and a potluck dinner for all. Election of officers will be in September.

Conley Loses Party Bid as Lapeer County Clerk

LAPEER COUNTY — Republican John T. Conley, Lapeer County Clerk for the past 18 years, failed to gain his party's nomination in the primary election yesterday, and will be replaced on the November ballot by Lyle F. Stewart.

Stewart polled 2,243 votes in unofficial returns from the 26 precincts. Conley had 2,071.

County voters favored Albert E. Cobo over Donald S. Leonard for Republican nomination for governor, 3,084 to 1,288. In the race for the nomination for the Republican 7th district, U.S. Congress, Robert J. McIntosh had 1,786 in the unofficial figures, with Frank C. Lawson trailing with 852, and Claude L. Wood polling 1,387.

Robert L. Patterson captured the Republican nomination for state senator in the 34th district, polling 2,325, compared to 1,543 for Frank D. Beadle.

George D. Lutz won the GOP nomination for county prosecutor, nosing out Michael C. Dionise, 2,013 to 1,962. William J. Porter claimed the GOP nomination for sheriff with 1,879, over Ralph L. Hayden, 1,509; Clare Barrett, 657; Robert H. Albrecht, 266; Dayton H. Hinds, 181.

Claiming the two GOP coroner nominations were R. Lyle Riddell, 2,015 and Dorothy L. Leith, 2,013, over William C. Heitsch, 1,832.

Unopposed on the GOP slate were Clarence A. Reid for lieutenant governor; Louis C. Cramton, for state representative; Lyle Goodrich for county treasurer, Leona Hevener, for register of deeds; and Claude A. Stewart for drain commissioner.

Oxford Newlyweds Tour Quebec, East

OXFORD—A background of ivy, palms, and white gladioli surrounded the candlelit altar of the Oxford Methodist Church when Janet L. VanWagoner and Charles H. Baty spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening.

The bride is the daughter of the Lee VanWagoners, and her husband's parents are the Horace Batys of Neches, Texas. Both young people are teachers in the Pontiac schools.

Approaching the altar on her father's arm, the bride wore a white floor length gown with chantilly lace bodice, sleeves, and panniers and nylon net hoop skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and orchids.

Maid of honor Beverly Maguire and bridesmaid Patricia Jones in yellow taffeta and net gowns wore net halos and carried matching carnation nosegays. The bride's cousin, Jo Carol Crawford, was junior bridesmaid and wore aqua with aqua flowers.

MRS. CHARLES BATY

Duties of best man were performed by James Hunt of Detroit. Guests were seated by Robert Ford of Lake Orion, and Dean Hall of Sylvan Lake.

Following the reception in the church parlors the newlyweds left for a trip to Quebec and New England. Upon their return they will make their home in Oxford.

Child Drowns at Milford

Mother Searches Field as Neighbor Discovers Floating Body

The body of 20-month-old Kenneth Roberts was found floating in the Huron River at Milford yesterday shortly before noon while his mother, Mrs. Wesley Roberts, searched in a field across the street.

Kenneth was gone 50 minutes when he was seen by Mrs. Ethel Newton, who had joined Mrs. Roberts in the search.

All efforts to revive the boy with an inhalator failed and he was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. The inhalator was provided by the Commerce Fire Department whose station is near where the Roberts live at 509 Sherbrook, Milford.

The boy never regained consciousness after he was taken from the creek, according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputy Leonard S. Evans.

The river is more of a creek as it runs behind the home where Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and their children reside, and behind the Newton home at 515 Sherbrooke.

Mrs. Roberts stated that she was in the house with a smaller child while Kenneth was in a small fenced in area in the front yard. When she realized he was gone, she began searching along with Mrs. Newton.

Firing Vote Fails in Lathrup

Mayor, Councilwoman Seek Move; Johnson Refuses Choice

LATHRUP VILLAGE — Mayor John G. Campbell and Councilwoman Kathryn V. Feyereisen tried to fire City Administrator Leonard A. Watchowski at the commission meeting Monday night.

The issue was a paid or volunteer police force.

Only three of the five councilmen were present.

The meeting broke up almost immediately when Miss Feyereisen read a resolution that would fire Watchowski as of Aug. 20 for a more "stable, harmonious" government.

Campbell quickly seconded the motion.

Councilman Frederick O. Johnson said he would have nothing to do with such "steam-roller tactics" and that he "would do everything in my power" to keep the matter from coming to a vote.

He walked out of the meeting before voting on the motion.

When contacted this morning Watchowski said it came as a complete surprise to him and that he is still very much on the job.

Watchowski said that after the meeting Mayor Campbell handed him a letter of resignation from Justice of the Peace L. Bernard Cross who has held the position for only three weeks.

Bleachers will be erected for parent spectators and registration for all events must be made Sunday at the beach. Some 300 parents were present last year.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXXV

"I told you to stop and think it over," he exploded. "Was it red or black? You ought to remember a simple thing like that. Start thinking about it while I'm on my way over, Lucy."

"Don't you dare come here at this time of night, Michael. I won't let you in if you do. I'm going to get some sleep. As far as the bag goes, it was black suede. Good night."

Her voice rang in his ears for seconds after he heard the decisive slam of her receiver breaking the connection.

He replaced the phone slowly, shaking his head and glancing at his watch. It was still five minutes to midnight. What had got into Lucy?

He straightened his shoulders and told Gentry absently, nodding toward Paulson, "He's all yours, Will. He'll explain all about the guy Lieutenant Neils has got staked out as Paulson." There was a curious look of concentration on his face as he turned to go out.

"Hold it, Mike. Where you going now?"

"I've got a date with Lucy," Shayne said over his shoulder without slacking pace. "Promised her I'd be back by midnight to have a night-cap with her."

He was out the door without bothering to close it, and he lengthened his stride almost to a run down the corridor and out the side door.

CURTAINS DRAWN

It was something like 16 blocks from police headquarters to Lucy's apartment, and Shayne covered the distance in something like 60 seconds.

He cut his motor off while swinging into the block that held her apartment building, cut off his lights and slid silently to a stop directly across the street.

Shayne got out and closed the car door quietly, crossed the street to the foyer and went in.

He had a key on his ring that opened both the downstairs inner door and also her apartment.

Shayne had been touched by the gift, and he had been very careful never to use it. He had a special signal he always rang on her bell from the foyer so she would know who was calling.

Tonight, he didn't ring her bell. He got out his keys and picked out the shiny new one that had never been used, and carefully inserted it in the lock.

It turned easily and he went in.

DREW DEEP BREATH

He climbed the one flight of stairs slowly and cautiously, testing each tread for squeaks before putting his weight on it.

At the top, he stopped in front of Lucy's door and drew in a deep breath. Sweat beaded his corrugated forehead and crept down the trenches in his cheeks.

He still held the shiny new key in his hand. He stooped in front of the door and put his left hand on the lock, with thumb and forefinger pressingly loosely together in front of the opening to make a sheath of flesh through which he inserted the key without the slightest scraping sound.

When it was firmly bedded, he transferred his hand to the doorknob and pulled on it firmly while he turned the key.

He turned the knob, keeping pressure on it, and then went into the apartment in a violent lunge.

AND DEADLY

He caught one fleeting glimpse of Lucy seated in a chair beside the telephone as he went by, but his attention was centered on the other occupant of the room.

Female and blonde and deadly, she sprang from the sofa to meet his rush, and there was the reddish gleam of dried blood on the short-bladed knife in her hand.

Shayne went under the vicious arc of the blade and hit her brutally with his shoulder and he full weight of his charging body. The impact slammed her back against the wall with a crash and she sank to the floor in an unconscious heap.

MIDNIGHT

Shayne wasted one brief look at her face to assure himself that it was the girl with the red patent-leather bag who had thrust Charles Barnes' picture in his pocket in the lobby of his hotel earlier, and that she wouldn't be using her knife again for some time to come.

Then he turned to Lucy with a reassuring grin.

Her ankles and her right arm were bound tightly to the legs and arms of her chair with wide strips of cloth that had been torn from a sheet. Her other hand had been left free so she could lift the telephone receiver behind her. Her face was white with strain and her eyes had a glassy look, but she managed to twist her lips in a feeble smile and to ejaculate with spirit:

"It's about time you were coming to the party."

"Sorry I cut it so fine, angel." Shayne picked up the blood-stained knife from the floor and went to her to kneel and slash her bonds. "You all right?"

* * *

"Sure. Just perfect. Aside from my heart being permanently lodged where my Adam's apple used to be and a few minor things like that. She's insane, Mike! She's already killed two people with that knife tonight. She boasted about it to me. And she was going to cut my throat, too, just as soon as she got the call she was waiting for. She told me it was some man named Lanny. He's in cahoots with her and pretends to be her brother."

Old Babe Is Dead —After Seventy Years in Circus

* * *

The aged Indian elephant, a performer in circuses, vaudeville and the movies for at least 70 years, died last Friday at the Paul Kelly Animal Farm and children's amusement park near Peru.

Eight other elephants of the Kelly herd, of which Old Babe was the unquestioned boss, raised their trunks in salute Sunday as her wrinkled old body was tumbled into a huge grave dug by a power shovel.

"She deserved something better than the glue factory," Kelly said.

* * *

Old Babe was retired to the 15-acre farm two years ago after her last job with the King Brothers Circus. Her history was confused, but she was known to have been with the famous Robinson Show in 1909 and later with the 101 Ranch, Downing, Webb's Motorized and Cole Brothers circuses.

She also appeared in the movies, "Jupiter's Darling," "El-"Elephant Walk" and "Road to Burma."

Gas Firm Sues to Block Panhandle Competition

LANSING (AP)—Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has asked for a temporary restraining order to block the sale of industrial gas to the McLouth Steel Corp. by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

Michigan Consolidated and Panhandle, its supplier utility, have been contending for more than two years for the right to supply gas to the new steel plant, located at Gibraltar.

His Honor's Hint Fails, More Work for the City

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mayor Andrew Broaddus thought it would be nice if the people of Louisville demonstrated a little interest in their city's beauty.

Several weeks ago he hinted that neighborhood garden clubs might like the job of beautifying the city's numerous traffic islands.

But yesterday he ordered the parks department to the job. The mayor had only one offer from a garden club. And there was no traffic island in its neighborhood.

Local Hospitals Handle More Patients, Spend More Money Than Last Year

Hospital admissions in Michigan reached a record 945,529 patients in 1955, an increase of 58,188 over 1954, the Michigan Hospital Assn. announced.

* * *

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital established a high of 15,463 admissions while Pontiac General Hospital admitted 12,297 patients.

Another record for state hospitals was posted with the birth of 195,022 babies, an increase of 2,918 over the preceding year's 192,104 total.

Both local hospitals bettered 1954 records of births with 2,913 at the city hospital and 3,681 at St. Joseph Mercy. The former had 2,860 the previous year while the latter posted 3,576 in 1954.

UP $30 MILLION

The association report from which statistics come, showed a steady climb in Michigan hospital admission since 1946.

Michgan hospitals spent $278,601,215 to care for patients and child deliveries as compared to 1954's total of $248,822,000, a jump of nearly $30 million.

The state's general hospitals spent an average of $28.41 a day, a rise of $2.21 over 1954 for patient's care. This sum is more than the average daily cost of $24.15 for the rest of the nation.

Other statistics revealed that patient income constituted 95.1 per cent of total income of all non-profit hospitals in 1955 as against 94.6 in 1954. Contributions, grants, and income from sources such as endowments, make up the balance.

More than 50 per cent of the chronically sick people in the United States are less than 45 years old.

'Smart Set' Eyes School Styles

If she's more interested in having the world see her than vice versa, she'll love this nylon taffeta two-tone suit with the Old World touch of Tyrolean braid trim. The nylon quilt lining and snugly fitted bonnet will keep her cozy.

This taffy blond dress in gleaming cotton satin has an attached apron bordered with a wide band of cross-stitched embroidery outlined in ric-rac. For those special "after school" affairs.

One plus one equals two. And here's a slate-gray back-to-school dress and jacket ensemble to prove it. The dress can be worn alone or with the jacket. Full skirted, it is in a strawberry polished cotton print and boasts luscious rose-hued strawberries against a slate-gray background. The white collar on cotton velveteen jacket with attractive tatting detail adds a further tailored note to this ensemble.

School Bells Will Ring In Chic Attire for Small Fry

Provincial High Neck, Puffed Sleeve, 'Daring' Slit Skirt to Please Primer Set

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

School bells will soon be ringing and little misses from coast to coast are destined to be smash hits in this year's fashionable back-to-school styles.

Cottons are much in evidence, combining fashion color and prettiness with practicality. Designed specifically for the younger set, they're as stylish and smart as any you'll find in a grown-up's wardrobe.

Tyrolean prints copied by designers from the colorful costumes of the Alpine countries, sky-blue, true red, muted green and cocoa are used predominately to lend authenticity to the designs.

WAISTS MOVE UP

In addition to the provincial look, there's the high waist empire line. To accent the look, many are belted above the natural waistline, or have wide midriffs of contrasting color.

* * *

Another fashion note is the very short caraco jacket — not quite reaching the waist and allowing full skirts to really billow.

Conversational prints, appropriately named, are much in demand to make the wearer the talk of the classroom.

* * *

COLORFUL PRINTS

The more sophisticated members of the school set will find a wide array of bright florals randomly splashed on dark grounds, colorful geometrics, stripes in all widths and variations.

Browns are especially favored this year, in all shades from light caramel to deep chocolate. Muted green, cocoa, gold, gray—even black is in evidence.

Brushing Keeps Hair Beautiful

Deep in the recesses of their personal lives, where most women let no one find out what's going on, there seems to be a resistance to hairbrushing.

* * *

One young woman finally admitted in public that she never brushed her hair and this prompted three other women to confess they never did either. As soon as the confession came out, a woman who knew something about beauty raised her hands in horror.

"Brushing and shampooing are the bases of all good-looking hair," she explained.

COMES OUT SOON

This may be true for a while. But hair with a temporary wave, however nice it may look for the moment, will soon grow lack-luster and come out in considerable quantities if not brushed. Brushing is the only exercise hair gets. And it needs it.

Brushing stimulates the scalp and keeps the blood and nourishment flowing up there. It takes the oil from the scalp and hair roots and spreads it out along the hair shaft so that it's controllable and shiny. Brushing removes dust and dirt between shampoos and keeps a healthy scalp that way.

A wave set in a beauty salon may be brushed out, true. But steady, consistent brushing will eventually bring out a natural wave.

There is no hair beauty without brushing, so if there are any women who think, in the private portion of their mind, brushing is nonsense, it's time for a revision of opinion.

Boys Clothes in Easy-Care Fabrics

Shopping for sons' school clothes will be a pleasure for mothers who have discovered wash and wear clothing and want more of the same convenience.

This fall the school wardrobe that gets hard daily wear—slacks, shirts, jackets, socks, sweaters, and outer coats—can be selected in garments of modern fibers designed for ease of care.

Women who have not had experience with this modern clothing convenience will find that wash and wear means just this. Ironing is seldom needed, for the clothes hold their shape so remarkably well for the life of the garment that they set a new, higher standard of appearance.

An easy washing method is all that's necessary to keep wash and wear clothes neat and wearable. The steps of starching, dampening and ironing are bypassed because of the garments' high content of modern fibers, plus proper construction.

WASHING EASY

These fibers have the built-in ability to ease away wrinkles and hold a press, which makes garment care a simple three-step procedure.

Wash thoroughly, by hand or machine, but do not wring or spin-dry. Hang wet garments to drip dry (jackets or outer coats on shaped, non-staining coat hangers, trousers by the cuffs). Smooth seams while the garment is wet.

If, after several washings, a sharper crease is desired, it can be accomplished quickly with a warm iron and damp press cloth, or a steam iron.

School boys are rough on slacks, but they've met their match in new fall wash and wear gabardacron blended with rayon, and are exceptionally sturdy.

They are warm and wind-resistant, and the excellent wrinkle recovery of dacron sets a high standard of neat day-to-day appearance.

Mothers have commented on the ease with which trousers with muddy cuffs and knees can be washed and be ready for wear again the next day, complete with a presentable press. These are shown in solid colors and small patterns.

For the college man and school boy who prefer flannels, slacks of orlon wool or rayon have the characteristics of this traditional weave, plus the advantages of wash and wear.

College men will appreciate being able to refresh their flannels' appearance overnight through washing, and, to mothers, this ease of care speaks for itself.

* * *

The ease of movement and warmth of sweaters have made them a standard garment for students of all ages, and new fall sweaters bid well to hold scholastic interest with their handsome colors and patterns.

Less care, longer wear are features of the new wash and wear clothes for boys. At left is shown a white sweater with navy and red design band. It is easily washable and needs no blocking. A bright red jacket, lined with nylon fleece, and gray flannel trousers are worn by the model at right.

Classroom appearances are slated for improvement for boys who wear wash-and-wear school clothes. This boy's sweater of soft orlon, in bright red with design band in black and white, needs no blocking, is shrink-resistant and has no appeal for moths. The shirt is washed and hung to drip dry.

U. S. Treasurer Cites Woman's Place in Politics, Foresees Female President

NEW YORK (INS) — Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, the treasurer of the United States, thinks the U.S. will have a woman president — eventually.

"One hundred years ago women had no rights whatsoever," she explained in an interview. She added, "There are more women in high positions today than ever before—in industry, in medicine, in the professions, in politics. The list is long and impressive.

"And women today have the most important job in the country—they must develop the children into the citizens of tomorrow."

Mrs. Priest whose signature appears on all that nice, new currency, feels that women have a real place in political life.

"Women's point of view is as important as men's," she said, "and we need both. This is a world of men and women working together, and we need the women's point of view in government as in other fields of endeavor."

SELF-MADE WOMAN

Mrs. Priest became successful "the hard way," beginning as a young girl running errands. On graduation from high school she went to work, first as a telephone operator, then as a merchandising clerk and eventually she became a buyer.

She taught American history and citizenship in night school, but this woman of importance has no college degree, except for the honorary ones her work has brought her.

"My degree is from the university of hard knocks," she said cheerfully.

Mrs. Priest, who has three children and an infant grandson, thinks that very often the time for a woman to enter political life is after her children are in school. She explained:

HOME COMES FIRST

"I do think the average woman will provide for her children first—any woman does that. But with all the modern conveniences a woman has to help her with her household chores, she has leisure time for outside work.

"The best way to do anything in politics is to start where you live—where the vote goes in the ballot box.

"Pick out your party, go right up to the precinct or district captain, or write to county or state headquarters, tell what time you have available and find out where they need people. But you must have a political party first.

"I think women are much better informed today because of the tremendous amount of public information available through mass media. If we aren't well-informed, it's certainly our own fault."

Plan Variety Show

Teenagers of Green Lake will provide a variety show for members of the Green Lake Women's Club. Monday, following the club's 12:30 p.m. cooperative luncheon. Mrs. James Anderson will be chairman for the event being held in the community house. She will be assisted by Mrs. Henry Boller, Mrs. Winston Ely, and Mrs. Richard F. Schmid.

Tweed and velvet combine to make a smart fitted coat. Flecks of olive and russet appear in this all wool tweed, with the olive reappearing in velvet trim on the bonnet, collar, slit pockets and outlining the back belt.

Shoes Are Waterproof

School shoes are now being made with silicone to make leather permanently water repellent. These new shoes keep water out, yet let air in so that junior's feet won't get hot and uncomfortable on rainy autumn days.

The silicone, Syliflex, surrounds each individual leather fiber so that water rolls off the shoes, but the leather still "breathes." If an innocent looking puddle fills the shoes with water, the leather dries out quickly without stiffening or curling at the toes and shines up easily with any good wax polish.

Small Title, Important Job in Being 'Just a Housewife'

Equal Rating With a Boss You Love; What Career Gal Could Ask for More?

By RUTH MILLET

In answer to a recent column of mine deploring the way so many women refer to themselves as "just a housewife," a wife writes:

"Hasn't it ever occurred to anyone that it is modesty and modesty alone that prompts most of us to say, 'I'm just a housewife?'

"If we weren't so modest we might describe our job something like this: I've got the best darned job in the world. And the most important one, too.

"I love my boss. Nobody knows better than I do what a wonderful guy he really is.

"And do you know what that boss of mine does for me financially? He sees to it that my living standards are every bit as high as his own. You can't ask for better pay than that, can you?

"You may not believe it but often when I am tired or not feeling well that guy will do my work as well as his own and never complain about it.

"Other people may have to work for bosses they neither like or respect. But sister, they don't make them any better than mine.

"Nobody ever needs to feel sorry for me. I've got a swell job. I'm a housewife.

"Why don't we ever talk like that, if that's the way we feel? Well, it isn't nice to brag in front of people who for one reason or another have been cheated out of the real business of living. So we pretend to envy career women and say of our own job, 'I'm just a housewife.' But don't ever take us seriously.

* * *

"Most of us 'just housewives' wouldn't trade our jobs or our bosses. Being 'just a housewife' suits us fine."

Plan Ahead for Happy Retirement

By ANNE HEYWOOD

At one time, the country hayseed came to the city in search of fortune and got trapped into buying the Brooklyn Bridge or managed in some other way to make a fool of himself. But today, it's more apt to be the other way around.

The city slicker goes to the country to make a living in his retirement years, does everything wrong and succeeds in losing his life savings!

Several times, in the past month, I've received letters from people who did just that.

They bought the country place, determined to farm for a living or open a roadside stand, an antique shop or a typing service.

PROJECT FAILED

But knowing nothing about the country or the community they were in, they couldn't anticipate its needs and failed in their project.

* * *

In most cases, the trouble was insufficient planning.

Country people do things differently from city people. You have to know them well and be accepted by them before you can get their confidence—and their business.

The couple from the city who plan to spend their so-called harvest years in the country, had better not wait until the year they are ready to retire from their city job. They'd better begin at least ten years earlier.

You must first investigate parts of the country, to decide in which area you feel most at home. Use your summer vacations for this, for several years.

Then, when you decide on a specific locality, rent a place there for several summer vacations, year after year.

Get to know the people, get familiar with what facilities the community offers and what new ones it could use.

Read up on what to look for in a country property and what to avoid.

BUY CAREFULLY

When you do decide to retire, buy your property carefully and plan to have enough to live on for several years while you settle down and get accepted.

Then, when you know what you're doing and what kind of people you're doing it for, you'll have a chance at a success.

If this dream is one of yours, a good first step is to read some of the excellent books available on selecting a country place and making a living in the country.

Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, in care of this newspaper, and I'll be glad to send you a list of such books.

Bridesmaid Need Not Be Sister

No Slight if Close Friend Is Chosen as Only Attendant

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "I am planning to be married in the near future. As of now, I plan to have only one attendant. I would like to have a very dear girl friend fill this position, but I've been told that it would be unthinkable not to have my sister. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: There are many times when a sister is not chosen—generally because of a great difference in ages, and sometimes because of incompatibility. In other words, it is not necessarily considered a slight to your sister to choose a really intimate friend.

To choose someone who is not your very best friend, but whom you consider a person of importance, would be open to criticism.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My sister is going to be married shortly. In discussing her wedding plans with me, she told me that in order to cut down expenses she was going to serve beer at the reception.

"I do not think beer is the proper beverage to serve at a wedding and think she will be criticized for doing so. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you—beer would be improper. If she wants something inexpensive she can serve a white wine cup or even ordinary lemonade!

Dear Mrs. Post: "Does one have to follow the gift list for anniversaries? The tenth year is tin and I have been invited to such a celebration. Am I limited to sending something made of tin?"

Answer: Not necessarily—in cnnnwh?shrdlu shrdlu pu pu pupu fact aluminum is equally correct. Or for that matter, you may properly give anything that you know they would very much like.

Carole Ann Lewis became the bride of Eugene D. Thompson Saturday evening at Bethany Baptist Church. Carole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer W. Lewis of Woodbine drive, and Eugene's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Thompson of Hershey drive.

MRS. EUGENE D. THOMPSON

Carole Ann Lewis Wed to Eugene D. Thompson

The Rev. Elwood Dunn of Bethany Baptist Church officiated at the Saturday wedding of Carole Ann Lewis and Eugene D. Thompson. The candlelight ceremony was conducted in the presence of 250 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Omer W. Lewis of Woodbine drive are parents of the bride. Eugene is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Thompson of Hershey drive.

Her floor-length bouffant skirt was fashioned of tiers over hoops, and a double band headpiece of German orange blossoms secured her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion.

PEARLS ARE GIFT

* * *

Frances Bohlman was her maid of honor. Other bridal attendants were Joan Amburn of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Darrell Whitaker of Camden, Del. They wore soft blue embroidered organdy gowns with square necklines in ballerina-length. Their bouquets were of pink roses and white carnations.

Robert Graham was best man. Seating the guests were John Boaz, Robert Lewis of Port Huron, Norman Patton and Robert Wright. Lanny Thompson was junior usher.

For the reception, held in the church parlors, Mrs. Lewis wore dusty pink lace over taffeta with ice blue accessories. Mrs. Thompson chose an aqua net over taffeta with white accessories.

* * *

When the couple left on their honeymoon trip to Grand Bend, Ont., the bride had changed to a black sheath dress with white accessories. The newlyweds will reside on Murphy street on their return.

Both attended Central Michigan College, and Eugene will enter Wayne State University in September to complete his studies.

Use Color Pencil as Art Medium

The nation's schools are encouraging the use of colored pencils as an art medium.

According to a 100-year-old pencil company, its pencils, available in 52 colors, serve students of all ages in such areas as: Elementary geography color maps; advanced art training for vivid effects, blending, and shading.

Pencils produce brilliant, waterproof markings and permit many combinations of technique. Fine lines, broad strokes, and massively solid areas of color are possible.

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Rita Moreno, who has tripped the light fantastic with most of Hollywood's eligible males, today defended her standing as movietown's number one "playgirl."

"It's true that I've had lots of dates," the dark-eyed stunner admitted, "but how else can a girl find the most important man in her life—the husband who's going to be the father of her children—if she doesn't move around?"

EDUCATIONAL, TOO

Rita says she not only enjoys playing the field, but insisted she has learned everything from horseback riding to religion from the men who have taken her dining and dancing.

This, she added, includes Geordie Hormel (ex-husband of Leslie Caron) once nabbed by police on a marijuana charge.

"I don't regret a single date I've ever had," Rita declared, with a defiant toss of her head. "I probably shouldn't mention Geordie—of all people—but I learned a number of things from him, too,—good and bad.

* * *

"I learned a sense of values and I found out that the nightclub merry-go-round is unimportant—even objectionable. But I also learned a lot about jazz from Geordie and I still enjoy that knowledge."

RECALLS FIRST DATE

Rita sipped delicately on an orangeade, crossed her shapely legs and disclosed that her first date in Hollywood was with Actor Hugh O'Brian.

"He invited me to go riding," she recalled, "and I had to tell him I'd never been on a horse in my life. Most men would skip you after that but not Hugh.

"He promptly offered to teach me—and did. It was lucky for me because a month later I had to ride in a picture and there was no time for lessons."

* * *

GOD IS SOURCE

"Dick is a deeply religious man," she declared. "He taught me the beauty and serenity of having real faith in God. If you have real faith you don't grow bitter about your own personal setbacks.

"Bitterness gets you nowhere. That's something else he taught me—not to waste emotional energy on frustration, but to have faith and channel your energy constructively."

Rita, who made her first big screen hit recently in "The King and I," has picked up other interesting bits of information from the men in her life—water-skiing and unselfish friendship from Jeffrey Hunter and the art of silence from Marlon Brando.

"Silence is golden as far as Marlon is concerned," Rita grinned. "I still can't talk about him. He wouldn't like it."

Paris Dress Has Built-In Girdle, Slip

PARIS (INS) — Paris fashion designer Jean Desses has simplified dressing — and undressing.

A girl can start from the very beginning and slip into an elaborate cocktail outfit in no time flat.

The secret of these new Desses creations is that they are "all-in-one," combining a figure shaping device, a silk base that replaces a slip or petticoat and garters to hold up the stockings.

Desses' unique "quick dresses" may start a new conception in women's apparel — clothes that are made to look like dresses but also act like girdles and garters. In evening dresses the boned bodice even stands in for the bra.

The principle of these dresses is that they are smart outer garments combined with a boned, elaborate silk base which acts as a dress lining. The garters, which also are an inside part of the dress, help hold the waist at the proper place and eliminate pulling on the girdle when getting up.

* * *

There is a drawback to these elaborate dresses. They are expensive since the "foundation-lining" alone often requires two fittings before it can be covered by the dress fabric and fitted again to become a complete outfit.

Rubber Floors Center of Activity in New Schools

The nation's multi-million dollar school building program is providing a record number of rubber floor installations which are encouraging more and more of the curriculum in kindergarten and primary grades to actually take place on the floor.

At Green River School, Greenfield, Mass., for example, youngsters in the kindergarten actually spend most of their time on their resilient, noise-muffling, functional rubber floor.

No longer is the floor a mere barrier between students and the ground, a foundation for desks, chairs and other furnishings. This modern era functional rubber floor is part of just about every activity in which youngsters participate from marching and free play to the mid-morning snack and the rest period. Literally the widespread use of rubber tile is giving the floor a new role in education.

Don't Make 'Big Thing' of Defects

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

During a conversation with Robert Weede, the great baritone, now star of the Broadway hit "The Most Happy Fella," some interesting subjects were discussed.

Among them was the idea that while it is important to correct what physical defects we may have, it is much more important to perfect our personality, to be warm and interested and enthusiastic. He stressed that good looks is only a small part of attractiveness.

* * *

When Mr. Weede was asked how he explains the fact that so many handsome men marry plain women and that so many beautiful women marry men who are far from handsome, he replied:

"Lots of reasons, but one may be that people who have looks themselves are often insecure for other reasons. They deprecate what they have and greatly admire other things; strength, intellect, accomplishment or what not. So they seek a mate who has important qualities beside beauty or good looks."

I am sure that this is very true.

He and I also agree that it is such a waste of life and so sad when folks allow physical defects to rob them of the adventure and happiness of living, and that most often the defects which do this to them are barely noticeable to others.

* * *

He told about a young woman he knew who had had an operation for bowlegs (not badly bowed either). This girl, he added, was a bore with her lamentations and self-consciousness about her legs before her operation. Afterward she thought that it had been well worth while but could not understand why it didn't make a bigger difference in people's reaction to her.

Robert Weede said, "The truth was she was always more aware of her bowlegs than others, and so, naturally, she was more aware of their straightness after the operation than others. She would have done better if she had invited people's interest in her as a person, by being more interested in them than in herself and her imperfections."

If some imperfection is bothering you and you can do something about it, if it is really bad enough to be worth the trouble, then remedy it.

If it cannot be corrected for heaven's sake don't let it ruin your life! Life is too wonderful to be spoiled by physical defects.

It might be interesting if some of you would write me your ideas about why so many handsome men marry plain women and why so many beautiful girls marry homely men.

HAVING A BABY?
Pregnancy can be your prettiest time. Most women take on a glow, haven't you noticed? When you begin to feel just a bit ungainly it's time for a lovely new hair style. We'll shape it with gentle softness around your face, keeping your neckline neat. Hair up and away from the neckline makes you look taller.
Don't let anyone tell you that your hair must become dry or dull during the months of waiting. Brush it! Brush it! Brush it! Keep it sparkling clean with frequent shampoos. Glands are extra productive at this time. Often mother-to-be complains of darkening muddy-looking skin. A deeper make-up base with a rose or peach tone will help correct this. Remember to get more rest . . . circles can spoil even the most sparkling eyes. If circles stay anyway, cover with a make-up stick a shade lighter than your regular shade.

Dem Recipe Uses Lots of Beef

Cook Potpourri for GOP

CHICAGO (INS) — Democratic women hope to keep the pot boiling and Republicans, too, with their own version of beef stew.

The recipe, released today by the Women's Activities Division of the Democratic National Committee, follows:

"Two pounds of any beefs American people have accumulated since the Eisenhower administration took office;

"Brownell in two tablespoons of bungled security program.

The women Democrats suggested that the stew be seasoned with "salty language by Charlie Wilson and peppery Howard Pyle," and flavored with "essence of Nixon garlic and one Knowland San Francisco bay leaf."

MR. and MRS. RONALD E. BURR

Married in a double ring ceremony at Trinity Methodist Church Saturday were Betty Jo Arnett and Ronald Edward Burr. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Arnett of Pensacola avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Burr of East Beverly avenue.

Betty Jo Arnett Becomes Bride of Ronald E. Burr

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and gladioli, Betty Jo Arnett became the bride of Ronald Edward Burr. The candlelight ceremony was performed Saturday evening by the Rev. Robert H. Benedict at Trinity Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth M. Arnett of Pensacola avenue are parents of the bride, and Ronald's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Burr of East Beverly avenue.

A portrait neckline accented the floor-length bridal gown of lace and tulle. Long sleeves ended in points at the wrists and the skirt featured a short lace tier over a double tier of tulle. The gown extended into a chapel train.

The bride's fingertip veil was secured by a Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses centered with red roses.

ATTENDANT IN PINK

A gown of white hand-embroidered organdy over pink was worn by Mrs. Jack Skelly of Cleveland for her duties as matron of honor. The gown was fashioned with a scalloped bateau neckline and a scalloped ballerina-length hemline.

The other bridal attendants, Mrs. Charles Welchle and Mary Arnett wore identical gowns in a shade of yellow and light blue respectively. They carried fans covered with carnations matching their gowns.

Debbie Morrison, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a frock of light green organdy and carried a basket of rose petals.

Kenneth L. Burr served as his brother's best man and Merritt Morrison was groomsman. Ushers were Charles Welchle and Jack Coons.

DINNER-DANCE FOLLOWS

A buffet dinner and dance was held at the VFW Hall in Keego Harbor following the service.

* * *

Mrs. Burr selected a rose lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Teases Sister to Air Gripe at Dad

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One morning his father drove the children downtown. To protect Nancy against Jeff's teasing, he took her into the front seat with him. Downtown, his errand done, he bought ice cream cones—Jeff's favorite strawberry for him and Babsy; chocolate for Nancy.

On the drive home Jeff asked for a bite of Nancy's ice cream. She ignored him. So he started drumming on the front seat with his heels. Told to quit, he kept jumping up at traffic lights to yank Nancy's pony tail.

CUFFED HIM

Jeff's father cuffed him and sent him to his room. Exasperated, he demanded of his wife, "What's the boy's gripe against his sister anyway?"

* * *

This time Jeff had no gripe against his sister. The person he was angry at was his father.

He wanted the favored front seat on the drive home. The trouble is, like many teasers, he dared not ask for what he wanted. He feared to make the demand for the front seat privilege lest his father become irritable—and humiliate him.

To avoid being called a "baby" or "silly," he detoured his frustration to his sister. Denied the direct protest against his father's partiality, he settled for the next best thing — attack on the sister who profited by the partiality.

Nine times out of ten, hostility at us is the teaser's problem. He wages his guerrilla war against his brother because he fears to declare it openly on us. By sniping at the other child's pleasures and possessions, he seeks to render worthless the favors we have done.

To help him, we cannot afford sensitive feelings. He will need great encouragement to recover from his fear of offending us.

We may have to repeat this kind of thing many times: "Jeff, you think I've been unfair somehow. Tell me how. How can I learn to be more fair to you if you tease Nancy instead of telling me what I have done?"

If this question is asked out of genuine interest in giving Jeff better justice, he will develop trust in us—and eventually answer it.

But if we ask it to reproach him, to express our despair over his "badness" or to show how noble-intentioned we are, it will never be answered. Nor should it be.

This soft striped woven zephyr oxford classically designed shirt is tailored as meticulously as a man's shirt. The sleeves are long and cuffed, the collar is held in place by tiny pearl buttons. A deep patch pocket is set at the front.

Cagy Katie Won't Pick Top Dem

Leader Plays No Favorite

CHICAGO (INS)—Does the leader of Democratic women like Adlai E. Stevenson or Averell Harriman? Mrs. Katie Louchheim won't say.

"That's like asking an expectant mother whether she wants a boy or a girl. She'll take whatever she gets and love it," asserted the party's director of women's activities.

A tall, still-blonde grandmother who has held the post for nearly three years, Mrs. Louchheim also refused to single out a specific issue which women Democrats would like to see spelled out above all others in the party platform.

Interviewed while the Democratic Platform Committee conducted open hearings on its 1956 campaign program in Chicago, Mrs. Louchheim asserted:

"Women are interested in all the issues. They are, of course, interested in good schools for their children but they are just as apt to sit up late into the night talking about foreign policy.

HOME IS WORLD

"A woman's home today is the world. She knows that trouble in Suez eventually means trouble right in her own back yard."

Mrs. Louchheim said the party's feminine membership regards the farm problem, small business troubles, taxation, conservation and foreign affairs "equally important because they all affect the welfare of the people."

In her own opinion, Mrs. Louchheim asserted that "there is an essential need for a government that is willing to assume leadership, as it did during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

"The government should work for the individual—you and me—instead of 'bigness,' the prime concern of the present administration."

As for her plans for women delegates to next week's convention, Mrs. Louchheim said she planned no political workshops.

NO TIME FOR SESSION

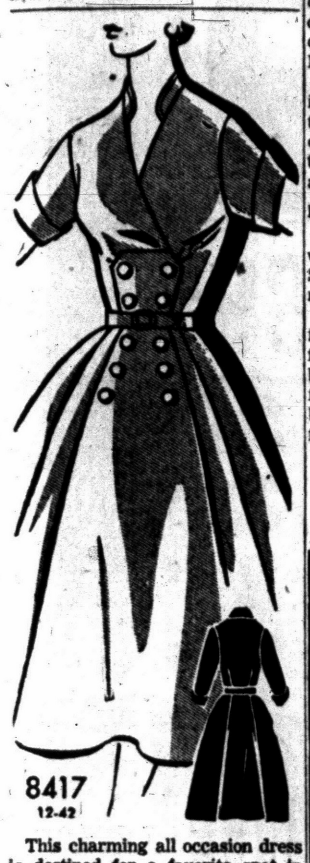

"They are going to be too busy sitting side by side with the men at the convention for any organizational sessions," she explained.

Mrs. Louchheim asserted that the party "has always recognized women who are able and willing by giving them important jobs at county, state and national levels."

However, she doesn't foresee a woman either as a presidential or vice presidential candidate "for at least 50 years." She said:

* * *

"There once was talk that a woman as a vice presidential nominee was in the offing. But now we recognize that a vice president might well turn out to be the president."

Sandals Nice for Easy Work

Teenagers who don't have to get all dressed up to go to work in the summer like to wear sandals.

Sandals are entirely suitable footwear for some camp work, for baby-sitting jobs and for leisure time in the summer.

But the feet that are so prominently displayed in sandals ought to be soft and pretty. Here are some ways of making them that way.

Good long baths, with the feet soaking, are a help.

Since a hot bath is uncomfortable in the summer, the services of a pumice stone may have to be employed to work off the callus on the back of the heels.

SOAK FEET

If there's no time for a bath, the feet can be soaked in a basin of hot water containing soap or detergent and a small amount of a gentler brand of laundry bleach.

A stiff nailbrush should be used over heels, toenails, toes and the bottoms.

A special toenail clipper may be a big help. It has, in addition to the clipper, an implement for cleaning under and around the toenails.

The toenails should be cut straight across and not so short as to invite an ingrown nail.

Girls who grow hair on the tops of their feet ought to shave there as well as on the legs.

If ever there was a dejected expression on any face, it was that of 15-year-old Wanda Werner at the Olympic Swimming trials now being held at the Brennan pools in Detroit.

When the public address system announced the names of the eight girls who qualified for the finals of the 100-meter freestyle, Wanda muttered a few words and turned toward the locker room with a pathetic downcast expression.

This was supposed to be her best event, but she finished 9th best which was two-tenths of a second over the last qualifying time of 1:07.2.

Wanda had reason for dejection. She had a title with prestige at stake. She was the 1955-56 National outdoor and indoor 100-meter and 100-yard freestyle champion and yesterday she failed even to qualify in the event.

Her chances for an Olympic spot are not gone, however, as she still has the butterfly event coming up, which she also excels in, but it was the 100-meter freestyle on which she was banking.

Dick Hanley, youthful University of Michigan sophomore who broke the Olympic time in the men's 100-meter freestyle preliminaries yesterday figures he has the greatest Rooter in the world on his side.

Hanley points with pride to the fact that for the past week, while staying at the dormitory on the University of Detroit campus where the swimmers are being housed, he has not missed a 6:30 a. m. religious service at which time he says he "asks for guidance for the day." He swam the event in 56.7 in qualifying.

★ ★ ★

One of the first to congratulate Hanley on his performance in the qualifying heat was Clark Scholes, former Michigan State swimming ace whose time of :57.1 was the record in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki for the 100-meter freestyle.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Paul Foley writes to say that there is nothing to the rumor that the Horse Show of the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club is on its way out. "This would be the last thing in the world," writes Foley.

This, we are happy to hear because the Horse Show is one of the most colorful events in the area and it can proudly point to being one of the best in the nation.

We'll say our source close to the Long Lake club may have been spreading it thick.

When it was reported in the Pontiac Press several weeks ago that Tom Tracey would be back in Ottawa playing football because of Bert Bell's determined stand, the story was scoffed at by a couple of writers and a Lion official who figured Tom a sure bet for Detroit. May we say, we told you so?

Williams Spits at Fans, Fined $5,000

EXPENSIVE SALVO — Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams found his salvo of saliva against Boston fans last night a costly gesture. He was fined $5,000 by general manager Joe Cronin.

BOSTON (AP)—Slugger Ted Williams spit defiance today at his $5,000 fine for spitting at Boston fans, heaviest impost in major league history.

"I'd spit again at the same people who booed me today," the Red Sox great said last night after being informed of the levy.

* * *

The $100,000-a-year man logged a new item in his long list of records for his most recent saliva salvo which occurred after he put a fielding error and fielding gem back to back in the 11th inning against New York yesterday.

Although the announcement was made some 90 minutes after the game by General Manager Joe Cronin, Club Owner Tom Yawkey later revealed in New York "I instigated it" after a phone conversation with Cronin.

"It's got to stop, that's all," was Yawkey's comment.

For Williams it was a severe rebuke from the South Carolina millionaire-lumberman who has given Ted a blank check and a free hand for years.

Williams indicated his spitting campaign may be at an end by saying:

* * *

Asked if this would be his last season as a player, the fuming Williams added: "probably."

Only New York's immortal Babe Ruth drew a like $5,000 fine, from Manager Miller Huggins in 1925, and it was repaid later to the Bambino. Ruth was penalized for not reporting to the club for two days in St. Louis and for showing up late the third day.

The tempermental, high-strung athlete—once known as "The Kid" but now only two weeks away from 38—always has revolted at criticism.

Yesterday, with two out in the Yankee half of the 11th, Ted misjudged Mickey Mantle's fly ball which bounced off his glove for a two-base error. The stands rocked with thundering boos from most of 36,350 fans—the largest crowd here since World War II.

Then Ted leaped against the scoreboard to catch Yogi Berra's drive to end the threat and keep the game a scoreless deadlock. As he approached the dugout, Williams spat in the direction of the crowd several times.

When Ted walked with the bases loaded to force in the winning run in the 11th, he threw his bat high in the air in a gesture of disgust. Next to critical fans and sports writers, baseball's greatest natural hitter hates bases on balls the most.

The game umpires said they were going to include the batthrowing episode in their reports to American League President Will Harridge.

From Chicago, Harridge did not indicate whether the league would add another fine to the Williams woes.

Ted's performance followed similar spitting episodes July 17 when he hit his 400th major league home run and July 20 on Cronin Hall of Fame night at Fenway Park.

* * *

Contacted after he leveled his financial axe, Yawkey refused to be pinned down as to what would happen if Williams steps out of line again.

Speaking as a businessman, Yawkey told one questioner:

* * *

"You know as well as I do that every day behind closed doors awful things are done . . . but here's a man in front of the public, and everything he does gets into print. It's got to stop, that's all."

Among the events which led up to Williams' latest outburst, the price of which will be deducted from his pay, were catcalls from the Yankee dugout yesterday. The Yanks were ribbing Ted about his spitting and the fact he had received a front-office reprimand.

Baseball's bad boy said, "I just can't help it" when asked why the boos bother him.

It was suggested to Ted he might be a little to blame for the situation.

"Not a bit," he roared.

"You writers are responsible for this—the whole thing. I'm no rock head, you know. If it didn't bother me, I wouldn't be as fired up as I am now."

FAN CHASES WILLIAMS — Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox leftfielder, walks toward dugout as a fan chases him in yesterday's game in Boston in which the American League slugger was fined $5,000 for spitting at the crowd. Umpire Ed Rommel goes to stop the fan. The Red Sox beat the Yankees, 1-0, after Williams walked to force in the winning run in the 11th inning.

Hart in Good Shape at Lions' Grid Camp

YPSILANTI (AP) — Take it from big Leon Hart, dieting and daily exercise are just the ticket for overweight football players. Leon, the Detroit Lions veteran who performs equally well at fullback and end, already is in playing trim after only two days at the Lions training camp at Eastern Michigan College.

* * *

Last year Hart checked into camp at a bulging 270. Hours after he signed his 1956 contract Monday, he reported for his first scrimmage at a cadaverous, for him, 248 pounds.

Coach Buddy Parker said Leon turned in one of the top performances of the day in play against squad members who had been working out for as long as two weeks.

Hart's formula for keeping in shape: a rigid diet featuring such staples as hard boiled eggs and low-calory salads, plus daily workouts at a high school track near his home in Birmingham, Mich.

* * *

Hart, starting his 7th season with the Lions, will play mostly in the backfield this season, according to Parker's current plans.

More two-a-day workouts are on tap for the rest of the week with another full-scale scrimmage set for Saturday.

Expected here in time for the Saturday show are the Lions' three rookie members of the college all-star team—Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Jerry Reichow and Don McIlhenny. The trio will fly in from Chicago the day after the all-star game against the Cleveland Browns but are not expected to take part in the scrimmage since they've not had an opportunity to work out with the Lions as yet.

Showers Postpone Waterford Games

* * *

Emmanuel Baptist and Thrifty Drug were deadlocked at one run apiece in the 1st game with the Baptist club batting in the top of the 7th inning when the water descended. Glenn (Wimpy) Johnson of Emmanuel and Thrifty's Ed Farnsworth were engaged in a tight pitching duel at the time.

The rain continued and washed out the scheduled nightcap between Lakeland Pharmacy and the VFW. The same two games will be played tonight at the Drayton park.

Garcia Gains 5-2 Win

Indians Stop Bengals

DETROIT (AP) — After a midseason spurt, sophomore Frank Lary has run into another batch of trouble trying to reach the .500 mark.

* * *

The Detroit Tiger righthander had a chance yesterday to pull even in the pitching department for the first time this season, but failed as his mates stranded 13 runners in a 5-2 loss to Cleveland.

* * *

The Detroit hitters came to life too late and Ray Boone's 9th inning home run with a mate on base was the only damaging blow off hulking Mike Garcia.

The Cleveland pitcher gave up four walks and 11 base hits and rightfielder Al Smith contributed two errors, but the Tigers whipped themselves. In only one inning—the 5th—did they fail to get a runner on base.

The Detroiters passed up scoring opportunities with:

A runner on third and none out, bases loaded and two out, two on and none out, first and third and none out, first and second and none out, and first and second and two out. And in the 4th inning there were base hits by Bill Tuttle — who had three for the day—Lary and Harvey Kuenn, and still no scoring.

Lary and reliefers Steve Gromek and Bob Miller had no trouble with the power half of the Cleveland batting order. Eleven of the Indians' 12 base hits were produced by the so-called "weak" end of the order.

The big guns for Cleveland were reserve catcher Hal Naragon and substitute first baseman Preston Ward. Naragon swatted a home run and three singles for a perfect day, while the Chicago Cub castoff had a home run and two singles in four appearances.

One of the best crowds of the season — 11,963 plus 5,200 youngsters—sat in on the game.

Rosewall Sees Win for Hoad

Aussie Netter Predicts Victory for Countryman in Davis Cup

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Ken Rosewall, the Australian David Cup star who is top-seeded among the foreign entries in the Eastern Grass Court tourney, sees the Aussies holding "bit of an edge" over the United States in the cup Challenge Round in Australia in December.

* * *

"The way Lew Hoad's playing," Rosewall explained, "he's the world's best. He'll give us two matches to start."

The sturdy but small Aussie, who moved into today's second round with a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Mike Franks, Los Angeles, yesterday, expects the United States to use Vic Seixas and Sam Richardson in the best-of-five match Challenge Round.

Rosewall is presuming, of course that the United States gets past Italy and India in the Interzone finals prior to the Challenge Round in Adelaide Australia Dec. 26-28.

Three of the 16 seeded men were eliminated—Mal Anderson of Australia, Armando Vieira of Brazil and Eddie Moylan, Trenton, N.J.

Seixas, the top-seeded American player, ousted John Cranston, San Marino Calif., 6-1, 6-2, and fourth-seeded Richardson, Westfield, N.J. whipped Norm Perry, West Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2.

Golfing Honesty

Urzetta Penalizes Himself

Pointing up a situation with which most every golfer has come in contact at some time or other, in the matter of honesty, is the following story regarding Sammy Urzetta, long a topflight amateur, now a pro:

For most of the good golfing citizens of Rochester, N. Y., there was only one disappointment growing out of the Open Championship at the Oak Hill Country Club. That was the fact that Sam Urzetta did not qualify to play.

Sam has been the city's golfing idol since his caddie days. As Amateur Champion, Walker Cup player and now associate professional at the Country Club of Rochester, he has earned universal respect and affection. All Sam's home-town friends wanted to see him do well when the Open came to Rochester, and Sam naturally wanted to justify their good-will.

In the first round of sectional qualifying at his home course, however, Sam stepped up to address a putt and carelessly let his putter glance off his shoe against his ball. Whether the ball left its original postion and came to rest in another place, in violation of Rule 27-1c, was open to question, as far as Sam's two playing companions were concerned. But Sam promptly added one penalty stroke to his score.

When all the scores were in, Sam's 72-77—149 left him tied with four others for the last two qualifying places and he was out-distanced in the play-off.

"The only thing that bothers me about the episode," said Sam later, "is that some people talk about it as if I shouldn't have called the penalty on myself.

Detroiter Sets Record

She covered the 200 meters in 15.2 seconds. The old mark was 16 seconds.

Pitches 3rd Straight Shutout

Newk Nears 20-Win Circle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Don Newcombe, "hummin' that pea" again, is closing in on his second straight 20-victory season and now is within reach of two shutout records while helping Brooklyn's Dodgers keep the pressure on Milwaukee in the National League race.

* * *

Newk, winning his 17th of the season and eighth in a row, hung up his third consecutive shutout, stretching his scoreless - inning string to 33, by blanking Pittsburgh 3-0 last night.

The National League record for consecutive shutouts is four and it's been accomplished by only two modern-era pitchers, Bill Lee with the Chicago Cubs in 1938 and Sal Maglie, now a Dodger, with the New York Giants in 1950.

The NL record for consecutive scoreless innings is 46 1-3 by King Carl Hubbell of the Giants in 1933. Maglie, incidentally, got as far as 45 in 1950.

It also was Newk's sixth straight complete-game victory over the Pirates, stretching back to last year, and kept the world champs within 1½ games of the Braves, who belted the Chicago Cubs 6-1. Third-place Cincinnati fell three games back, losing to St. Louis 8-4. Philadelphia, hottest club in the league, made it five straight and nine out of 10 by sweeping the Giants 4-3 and 3-1 in a twi-night doubleheader.

American League headlines centered on Ted Williams, fined $5,000 by Boston General Manager Joe Cronin for another spitting skirmish, as the Red Sox clipped the New York Yankees 1-0 in 11 innings on Ted's bases-loaded walk. The defeat, seventh in eight games, trimmed the Yankees' lead to seven games over Cleveland as the Indians broke a four-game slump with a 5-2 victory over Detroit. The Chicago White Sox defeated Kansas City 5-4 and 4-3 in a pair of 10-inning contests in the only other action scheduled.

* * *

Newcombe, who has allowed only 2 runs and 25 hits in his last 45 innings, got all the support he needed from Duke Snider, who tagged Vern Law (4-13) for his 31st home run, with a man on, in the third inning. It was the Duke's fifth in four games and nailed the Dodgers' fourth straight success while giving Newk his fourth shutout. That ties the 30-year-old righthander with Milwaukee's Lew Burdette for the NL shutout lead, and the 17 victories match White Sox lefty Billy Pierce's total to top the majors.

* * *

The Braves banged 11 of their 12 hits, including two singles that gave Hank Aaron a 24-game streak, off Jim Brosnan. Warren Spahn chipped in a homer in winning his 11th.

Pair of 3-Hit Shutouts Hurled in Softball Play

Royal Bar's Cal Atwood and Pete Mihay of Elks No. 810 both hurled three-hit shutouts in the American League and Louie's Tavern fell by the wayside in the National division to highlight Tuesday night's City Softball League playoffs at North Side and Beaudette parks.

Atwood's masterpiece enabled Royal Bar to pick up its 2nd consecutive victory in the American division's post-season tournament. The Royal squad pounded out eight hits for a 4-0 triumph over Sam Benson at North Side.

The Elks made six safeties count in their 3-0 decision over Bicmar Inn, which was victimized by Mihay's slants. The Elks made four of their six hits in the 6th when they scored all three of their runs.

Louie's team, last year's Class C city champion, was a playoff casualty as Walled Market chalked up a 10-5 verdict in the National League opener at Beaudette. Don Williams homered for Walled Lake, which scored in every inning except the 7th.

Richard's Tavern, a 4th place club during the regular season, continued to be the surprise of the tourney by upsetting Lunsford Market, 8-1, behind Lloyd Harper's four-hit pitching. The win moved Richard's into the final round.

Royal Bar meets the Elks at 8:30 and Stadium Inn faces Bicmar at 7 o'clock in tonight's American games at Beaudette while National foes Walled Lake and Lunsford collide on the North Side diamond at 8:30.

Church Loop Leaders Clinch Playoff Spots

Leading teams of the Church Softball League last night assured themselves of places in the coming playoffs. Perry Vaughn of First Baptists hurled a one-hit victory, 13-1, over Galloway, while Jim Reynolds' two homers helped Central Christian to a 18-4 win over Columbia Ave. Baptists.

Vaughn's victory was his 17th in league play this season.

In other games, Tuesday night, Five Points knocked out First Presbyterians 7-5 in a tilt called at the end of the 6th; Church of The Brethren beat Memorial Baptist 5-3 and Oakland U.P. and Marimont Baptists had a field day at the plate in a 11-11 tie.

California Boy Made Favorite in JC Net Test

Crawford moved into the top spot in the junior division after top-seeded Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md., was upset by Jim Shaffer of St. Petersburg, Fla. Shaffer, seeded ninth, defeated the favorite 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

No-Hitter Hurled; Two Titles Decided

A magnificent no-hit, no-run mound performance by Chuck Gillis handed the Pontiac Police team its 1st setback of the season and two city Boys Club squads won divisional championships to spotlight Tuesday's Junior League baseball playoffs.

Gillis struck out six and walked only one during his pitching gem as the Pontiac Boys Club nosed out the Policemen, 1-0, in the opening round of their best-of-three series.

Boys Club teams took major strides toward a sweep of playoff honors by annexing Class F and Knothole championships. West Side Kiwanis was drubbed, 14-3, in the "F" ranks while Auburn Heights Boys Club bowed in the Midget final, 3-1.

The Pike Street nines will now enter the regional playoffs. The Class F regional is scheduled this Friday in Pontiac and the Midget tournament starts Aug. 13.

In Class E playoff tussles yesterday, Gingellville eliminated Auburn Heights Boys Club with a 1-0 shutout victory in 10 hectic innings and a 3rd Pontiac Boys Club aggregation advanced to the finals by defeating Clarkston, 7-4.

Today's tourney games pair the Boys Club and the Policemen in Class D at Columbia-Joslyn south while Gingellville tackles Clarkston in the "E" division at Columbia-Joslyn north. Both contests begin at 5:30 p.m.

Lakers Sign Leonard

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Leonard of Indiana today was signed by the Minneapolis Lakers for the 1956-57 season of the National Basketball Assn.

Leonard, drafted by the now defunct Baltimore Bullets in 1954, became a Laker later that season but then went into the Army where he since has been. The 6-3, 185-pound Leonard scored 1,098 points in his three-year college career.

JUST BETWEEN GIRLS — Shelley Mann (left), 18-year-old U. S. swimming sensation, and Mrs. Robert Irwin, swimming instructor at Pontiac High School, have something to talk about after Miss Mann had just finished breaking the Olympic 100-meter freestyle record in the qualifying heats of the Olympic trials at Brennan pools in Detroit yesterday. Shelley set a new mark of 1:04.6 in the event. Mrs. Irwin offers her congratulations to the youthful swimmer from the Walter Reed Swim Club of Washington, D. C.

Big 10 Swimmers Take Olympic Honors

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT—All of the athletic power of the Big Ten doesn't lie in football alone.

This was proven at the opening of the Olympic Swimming Trials at Detroit's Brennan pools yesterday where the top individual men's performances came from swimmers of Western Conference schools.

* * *

Bill Woolsey, 21-year-old Hawaiian, who will co-captain the University of Indiana swimming team next season, won the men's 100-meter freestyle event last night in a time of 57 seconds flat.

This was one second better than the 1952 time set by Clark Scholes of Michigan State in the Olympics at Helsinki, Finland, but it did not match the record time of :56.7 set by Dick Hanley, University of Michigan sophomore, in the qualifying heats during the afternoon program.

In the exciting evening finals, Hanley came in second with a time of :57.1 and Reid Patterson of the U. S. Navy was third at :57.4.

During the afternoon prelims, Hanley knocked four-tenths of a second off Scholes' mark of :57.1. He was followed in the qualifying heats by Patterson with :57.1, Robin Moore with :57.4, Woolsey with :57.6, Gary Morris with :57.9, James Coles with :57.9, Carl Woolley with :58.0 and in a swim-off for the eighth spot between Dave Armstrong and Perry Jecko which Armstrong won in :57.5.

In the women's 100-meter freestyle, it was 18-year-old Shelley Mann of the Walter Reed Swim club of Washington, D. C., who turned in a sparkling time of 1:04.6 which bettered the Olympic record by nine-tenths of a second.

* * *

The Olympic record for the event was set by Judit Temes of Hungary in 1952 with a time of 1:05.5.

Mary Jane Sears, another Walter Reed swimmer, snapped her own American record for the 200-meter breaststroke in topping the evening qualifiers in 2:58.2 which was eight-tenths of a second faster than her recently set mark.

It was Ohio State day in the Men's 3-Meter Springboard Diving Finals. Don Harper of OSU took first place with 516 points, followed by Buckeye teammate Glen Whitten with 490.5 points.

Bob Clotworthy, an ex-Buckeye diver, now performing out of New York A. C., took third place with 476.3 points when he outpointed Gerald Harrison in the final dive.

* * *

A crowd of 4,000 watched the opening afternoon program, and another 4,500 saw the evening trials.

Tonight the finals in four events will be held. They include the Men's 200-Meter Freestyle, Women's 200-Meter Breaststroke and Women's 100-Meter Freestyle.

FINALS
Men's Three-Meter Dive
1—Dow Harper, Ohio State, 516.05 points.

(Best time by Woolsey :57, beters Olympic record of 57.1, by Clarke Scholes of Detroit, 1952 at Helsinki, Finland.)

FORMS — Don Harper, diving sensation from Ohio State University, shows the forms he exhibited yesterday in winning the 3-Meter Springboard Diving Championship at Brennan pools in Detroit in the Olympic trials. Harper was one of three Buckeyes who swept through the diving finals. Harper, an OSU junior from Lakeland, Fla., accumulated a total of 516.05 points. His teammate Glen Whitten, also from Lakeland, was second with 490.50 points. Third diver to win the trip to Melbourne was Bob Clotworthy, an OSU graduate who now swims out of the New York Athletic Club. He had a total of 476.30 points. Clotworthy, who was in 8th place after the preliminaries, nosed out Gerry Harrison in the final dive of the finals. The Olympic trials will continue through Friday.

Florida Golfer Has Lefthanders' Lead

HICKORY, N. C. (INS)—Harry Shoemaker, Florida State Senior, has a one-stroke lead of 141 today as third-round play begins in the national lefthanded golf association tournament at Hickory, N. C.

Shoemaker slipped to a one-over-par 73 yesterday but managed to maintain the lead because of his opening round 68. Jim Dezern of Durham, N. C., was in second place with a 142.

Detroit Skeet Shooter Wins

Chet Crites Captures National Championship in Nevada

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Chet Crites of Detroit, president of the National Skeet shooting Association, won the 28-gauge National Skeet Championship here today—but for the second time in two days the national championships have been running it was a feminine shooter who dominated the field.

* * *

Both shooters shot a 97x100 in the regular event and both shot 24x25 in the first shootoff round. In the second shootoff, Mrs. Mandel dropped two targets while Judy missed another single to win the title.

The men's championship likewise was a shoot-off affair after Crites and Jaime Loyola of San Juan, Puerto Rico, tied at 99 x 100. In the shootoff the Detroiter went straight and Loyola missed one bird.

* * *

20 Trotters After Hambletonian

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — Egyptian Princess was favored to become the 10th filly to win the Hambletonian when a "cavalry charge" field of 20 trotters battle it out today at Good Time Park in the famed 3-year-old classic.

* * *

It is the third largest field in the history of the race, and the 31st Hambletonian will have a gross purse of $100,603.99, with the first horse to win two heats earning the top prize of $59,155.15.

Ancient Goshen was jumping with excitement, as harness racing fans jammed into the village for the 3-day Grand Circuit meeting which began yesterday under sunny skies.

Hanging over the scene was the future of the corn tassel derby, which has been raced at Goshen since 1930. Bill Cane, who died last March, was the guidling light in the event, and his estate was to sponsor the Hambletonian in 1957.

Tracks in Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and elsewhere are bidding for the race, but the seven New York State trotting tracks will ask the Hambletonian Society tomorrow to keep the race in Goshen. These tracks will offer to sponsor the race on the same contract basis as Cane had operated in the past.

Earle Avery drives her from the favorable No. 3 post, as 10 horses will start in two tiers behind the mobile gate. Another heat follows an hour later.

Three other highly regarded contenders are Saboteur, from the Arden Homestead Stable of E. Roland Harriman and Elbridge T. Gerry, Goshen; Nimble Colby, owned by Leo McNamara's Two Gaits Farm, Indianapolis, and Ego Hanover, pride of Mrs. Cecile Goosman, Mountain Lakes, N.J.

Jones Shuts Out Coachers, Fares No Better Than Tie

Jim Jones, former Pontiac High School mound ace, Tuesday night accomplished what no other pitcher in the Class A City Baseball League has been able to do during the 1956 season.

The young right-hander, who now pitches for Griff's Grill, fireballed his way through seven innings of shutout effort against league-leading General Motors—yet he didn't win the decision.

Jones struck out nine batters and permitted only two hits, singles by Gene Cox and Bob Swindell, as Griff's battled GMC to a 0-0 draw last night at Wisner Field. The game was stopped after seven innings because of darkness.

It marked the 1st time this season that the Coachers were held scoreless by a rival pitcher. It also interrupted unbeaten GMC's winning streak at 21 straight games.

Steve Kebler started on the mound for GMC and worked until the 5th stanza when veteran Herman Bishop took over. Kebler and Bishop scattered six safeties, two by Dayt Patterson, and fanned a total of 13 Grill hitters, with Kebler chalking up seven.

After Homer Crown

Snider Bids for NL Title

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Barring a horrendous slump, Duke Snider probably will become the Brooklyn Dodgers' first National League home-run king in 15 years.

Dolph Camilli won the home-run crown in 1941, but since then no Dodger has been able to do it despite the fact that the team has been No. 1 the past seven seasons.

Snider has hit 31 homers, including his two-run job in last night's 3-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates to pull a half-dozen ahead of the field. He also is just six behind the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle.

"I'd sure like to lead the league in home runs," he said. "I'd like anything like that. Anyone would. If the home runs win games, I'd like it even more."

Longden's 4,828 Winners Only 41 Short of Record

DEL MAR, Calif. (AP)—In the hottest riding streak of his long and illustrious career of 29 years in the saddle, Johnny Longden has been up on 12 winners in the last three days at Del Mar.

* * *

Before today's first race, Longden's lifetime mark was 4,828 winners, only 41 short of the world record held by Sir Gordon Richards of England. It will take a lot of doing, but it is entirely possible that "moneybags" can smash Richards' mark at the short Del Mar meeting. He collected a triple yesterday, had five winners the day before, and four last Saturday.

The fans are plunging on everything Johnny rides now. He accepted six mounts yesterday and the fans backed his horses heavily into favoritism in five of the races. He scored with Snack Abbey at $6, Peranne at $3.40 and Solid Choice at $4.50.

Longden has seven mounts today and is likely to be aboard the favorite in five of them. He will have the favorite in the fifth running of the Graduation Stakes for $13,675 with Pie Master, E. B. Johnston's Color Bearer.

100-METER REPRESENTATIVES—Only four-tenths of a second separated these three swimmers in the finals of the 100-meter freestyle event being held at Brennan pools in Detroit. Bill Woolsey (left) a Hawaiian who swims for the University of Indiana was first in :57 seconds flat; Dick Hanley (center), University of Michigan swimmer from Evanston, Ill., was second in :57.1 and Reid Patterson, U. Williams' Fine Matches Babe Ruth's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ted Williams, generally acknowledged as the greatest hitter in present-day baseball, moved into another select group when he was fined $5,000 following another of his spitting sessions yesterday.

* * *

Ruth was fined $5,000 in 1925 by Yankee Manager Miller Huggins after the Babe had failed to show up at the team's St. Louis hotel two nights in a row and then reported late for a game with the Browns. Ruth, who figured he had gotten away with much more against Huggins, appealed to club owner Jake Ruppert, but the fine was upheld.

The Babe later said the club repaid him following Huggins' death in 1929.

The fine was quite a shock to Ruth, who at the time cited other incidents which Huggins had overlooked. "We were coming home by train from the West one time and he (Huggins) bawled me out," he recalled. "We were standing on the back platform of the observation car and I picked him up and held him over the edge. But he didn't do anything about it afterwards."

Ruth also was fined $4,000, along with Bob Meusel and Bill Piercey, in 1921 by Judge Landis, baseball's first commissioner. The trio had violated a barn-storming restriction and were fined their World Series shares, figured at $4,000 each, and suspended one month at the start of the next season. The fines and suspensions stuck.

Other baseball immortals have felt the bite of fines, too. John McGraw, then manager of the New York Giants, was fined $1,000 by National League President John Tener back about 1916 for questioning Tener's honesty.

Bill Dickey, the Yankees' Hall of Fame catcher, was tagged for $1,000 when his haymaker broke the jaw of Washington's Carl Reynolds in a 1932 scrap between the two on the playing field.

Urge Drastic Changes in California

Coast Boxing on Hot Seat

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A special state investigating committee today urged drastic changes in control of boxing in California and recommended revoking the licenses of some of the biggest figures in what it called a gangster-ridden sport.

* * *

The special committee, appointed by Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, landed its heaviest blows on Matchmaker Babe McCoy and Promoter Cal Eaton, both of Los

Of McCoy the report said: Murray of Oakland.

The three were characterized as dictators in their areas and were accused of associating with underworld figures.

Of McCoy the report said:

* * *

"He is truly representative of all that is wrong with boxing today. All of us who worked on this project have had experience in law enforcement, and in the course of such employment have known and dealt with criminals. McCoy is as vicious as any of us have encountered."

* * *

The report urged both McCoy and Eaton be booted out of boxing and forbidden even to visit training camps. Eaton is the father of Robert Eaton, who is married to Gov. Knight's daughter.

* * *

In Los Angeles, McCoy and Eaton learned of the report in advance and issued denials for simultaneous release with the report.

Both indicated they would fight in court any move to revoke their licenses.

* * *

"We want to have a full trial and a chance to have a full legal defense," McCoy said. He accused the committee's chief investigator, James Cox, of "setting himself up as a sentencing judge."

"I once managed Mickey Cohen when he was a fighter," McCoy said. "I had dinner accidentally with Frank Carbo in New Orleans recently. But if the committee wanted to look a little further, they'd find I had dinner with Gov. Knight not so long ago."

* * *

"I'd like to see them prove we've ever mixed with underworld characters," said Mrs. Eaton. "The governor and attorney general are our close friends."

Eaton said:

* * *

Sid Flaherty, manager of former middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson, heavyweight contender Eddie Machen and other fighters, was criticized, but only a fine was recommended in his case.

The committee described as illegal Flaherty's setting up of a satellite organization, California Boxing Enterprises, Inc., to promote fights while he was a licensed manager. But it said he treated his fighters right.

One Big Frame Squares Midget Loop Playoffs

Usually a 4-0 lead anywhere in a ball game proves a tough obstacle for the trailing club, but Federal Savings Midget League Athletics weren't bothered in the loop title playoffs, last night at Boys' Club.

The A's just went to work after Senators had collected four counters, and in the last of the 3rd staged a scoring riot that won the game 11-7. Athletics got all their runs in that one inning. Senators added three. Win squared the series.

Shurly Victor at Orchard Lake

Burt R. Shurly, Bloomfield Hills resident, yesterday afternoon marked up his 2nd club championship at Orchard Lake Country Club. Champion in 1950, Shurly yesterday outlasted E. M. (Mack) Mulock of 1045 Westchester, Birmingham, for a 2 and 1 win over a 36-hole route.

This finals match was as close as they come. It was nip and tuck all the way, with Shurly holding a one hole edge at the turn and adding one more on the "home stretch." Shurly carded a 73-76 for his two rounds compared to Mulock's 74-77.

Mulock is also a former champion, having won the OL crown in 1942. Dr. F. M. Adams was the 1955 champion, and was eliminated in this year's event in the 2nd round.

Graham Warns All-Stars That Browns Are Ready

CHICAGO (AP)—Take it from a guy who should know, the Cleveland Browns are prepared to the hilt for their football battle against the College All-Stars Friday night at Soldiers Field.

* * *

* * *

Graham, who did not play in last year's All-Star game but came out of "retirement" to qualify the Browns for this year's game, said "if the pros are up mentally they should beat any All-Star team and these Browns are mentally up."

Referring to the pros' 30-27 defeat last year by the All-Stars, Graham said, "The Browns are ready this time. Ordinarily they'd run only one or two scrimmages before their first game. They've scrimmaged five times for this one."

Graham has again retired, however, and that should be a factor in favor of the All Stars.

* * *

Instead of trying to stop Graham they'll have to concentrate on George Ratterman and Vito Parilli. Ratterman couldn't pass the Browns to victory last year, although it wasn't all his fault. The Browns line received some unexpected competition from the All Stars.

* * *

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Long iron daze

DIAGNOSIS: Use choked woods

TREATMENT: If you're one of those players who can't master the long irons don't let pride inflate your scores. Switch to the wooden clubs—Nos. 3, 4, 5, or 6. In this sport the idea still is to get the ball into the cup in the fewest number of strokes in the best way you know how.

There's a surprising trend among average golfers to the Nos. 5 and 6 woods, which are the equivalent of the Nos. 3 and 4 irons, and it's just as surprising how easily they handle by comparison with the irons. That's because the woods call for swing, smoothly done, while the urge with the irons is to execute them with more hit or punch.

* * *

In the final analysis, swinging ease produces constancy and accuracy, plus confidence. That's why the woods in place of long irons are a recommended change.

It is on the shot shown in the sketch, over an intervening water hazard, that mental attitude means a lot; where a smooth swing does the trick, and a mind mistrusting a long iron must fail.

Don't mind what others think if you take a wooden club on a 130 yard shot. Use it. For firmness, I suggest you grip the club an inch or more down the shaft. That will reduce the swing more readily to long iron length and give you comparable distance.

8-Pounder Tops Pike Division in Fish 'Derby'

Jack Gray Takes Big Northern From White Lake Waters

Young Jack Gray of 2191 Summitt, White Lake township (Milford RFD 1) captured a northern pike that weighed 8 pound 4 ounces. The 32½ inch long fish pushed the previous leader, a 4 pound 2 ounce pike out of the running.

Jack, fishing with his father, Allen M. Stotts, used a chub minnow to take the fish from White Lake at noon Monday. The pike is not only the biggest fish Jack has ever caught, but the first of any kind he has taken this season. It was also the only fish he got on Monday.

Pike fishing, very slow, unproductive as far as the really big ones go, is beginning to pick up a little, fishermen report, and another leader could be reported any time.

In the active bass division current top fish is a 5-pound 12-ounce specimen, entered by Max Wardrop on July 24. Bluegill division leader is a 1-pound 1-ounce fish entered June 23, by Harvey Boatwright.

Solunar Tables

Periods of best fishing for this area, according to the solunar tables prepared by John Alden Knight, noted fish expert, are as follows for the coming week.

THIRSTY PALS—Balmy August days make everyone crave a drink and this Windsor boy's pet is no exception. The pet raccoon uses a downtown fountain with the assistance of its owner, George Pinder. The shoulder perch is a familiar one for the raccoon who is seven weeks old. George and his pet have become steady companions since the animal was six days old. He has not decided what to do when the pet grows up.

Losing Battle

Game Future May Lie in Private Lands

By JACK PATTERSON

The present to-do over Laughing Whitefish falls serves to point up the advisability of locking the barn door before the horse is stolen. Public assumption that this scenic spot would always remain inviolate had no realistic basis. Property can and does change hands. People interested in the preservation of a natural beauty spot should be aware of this. We have no doubt but what a satisfactory arrangement can be worked out to preserve Laughing Whitefish.

PATTERSON

But as a guide to future problems of the same nature one lesson should have been pounded home. The time to act to preserve an irreplaceable bit of natural beauty from the threat of despoilation is before that threat arises.

State ownership of tourist attractions is all very well. State ownership of hunting lands is something else again. That is not to say that the present ownership and continued acquisition of public hunting lands by the state is not a good thing. It is, but we feel it's a losing battle.

It becomes more apparent every day that the mushrooming population and diminishing wildlife just aren't going to make a satisfactory go of it on available public lands in the years to come.

* * *

If public lands won't stand the pressure then the future of game species must depend on wired, posted private lands.

Such lands, although acquired and used for hunting purposes, are principally valuable because they are in effect sanctuaries. Limited use, by limited numbers of people make of them areas of refuge.

* * *

Private lands saved the Michigan deer herd a few decades back. And yet deer hunters comprise the largest, and noisiest, opponents of privately held hunting lands. Many of them think up schemes, and some are lulus, to legally deprive owners of the exclusive enjoyment of their properties. Fortunately, unless we completely overhaul the laws of the land—a most unlikely contingency—such efforts amount to so much Dixie-whistling.

* * *

Happily, there is a great deal he can do about it. Individually, or with a group of friends, he can pick up northern lands today, and there are thousands of acres available. Going prices generally run $15 to $35 an acre. The point is that land and assurance of future hunting can be had today. It costs money, but what doesn't?

Pontiac Fisherman Among Kensington Lake Victors

Taken in Kent Lake by Erwin Rogge, 20436 Norborne, the 20-inch fish was one of a string of five largemouths totaling 21 pounds, four ounces, the smallest weighing three pounds, caught trolling with worms on July 20.

Smallmouth bass prizes went to Cecelia Klimas, 24320 Westhampton, Oak Park, for a two pound, four ounce fish, and to Tom Van Ness, age 15, 15751 Burt Road, for a two pound three ounce fish.

Panfish prizes were won by Arlene Seniff, 4624 LeMay, for a bluegill weighing seven ounces, and by 12-year-old Charles Humphrey, 670 Bloomfield, Pontiac, for a 13 ounce crappie.

Rangers' Show Set for Sunday

Tenth Annual Affair Attracts Riders From All Over State

Tenth annual western horse show, under auspices of the Michigan Rangers' Saddle Club has been set for Sunday, Aug. 12 at Davisburg. Show gets under way at 10 a. m. and includes many interesting features. Entries will come from many state points, show officials report.

There'll be a grand entry, women's and men's pleasure horse events, bag race and several Texas speed and action tests and an open spotted horse class. The club relay is a top feature.

In case of heavy rain the show will be put over to Aug. 17. Further information may be had by calling Ranger Duke Brunson, FE 2-4032.

Mary Lou Wilson and Dragnet Add to Show Honors

Mary Lou Wilson, U. of M. coed and daughter of Birmingham residents Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wilson, and her new show horse, Dragnet, are continuing to build up a fine winning combination.

Dragnet, under the guidance of Miss Wilson, one of the area's rising young show riders, did very well in several eastern shows, latest of which was at Williamsport, Pa. Miss Wilson rode Dragnet in most of the events he won, leading to the show's green conformation hunter championship. He was 1st in every event in which he competed, the family reports.

Two weeks ago, Dragnet won the model hunter class at Skaneateles, N. Y., in his only event. A cut on one foot from broken glass kept the hunter out of other events. Williamsport show concluded Sunday.

Mary Lou and her mother returned yesterday. Dragnet stays on for further show work. Miss Wilson will ride Carbo and Free Weekend in several early autumn shows in Michigan. Wilson's have sold Tinka, veteran show horse, to a Chicago family. Dragnet, which will be brought here next season, replaces the former Wilson favorite.

Rains Damage Fish Hatcheries

Rearing Ponds Washed Out, Fish Mixed Up at Harrietta

LANSING (AP) — Heavy rains last weekend damaged several state fish hatcheries, the state conservation department reports.

At the Harrietta hatchery in Wexford County, rain flooded all the hatchery ponds, mixing fish from various ponds and causing heavy damage. The department said the most serious damage at Harrietta was the loss of brood fish and yearling lake trout scheduled for planting this fall.

Island Queen Popular With Park Visitors

The 60-foot stern-wheeler "Island Queen" carried 9,700 passengers on 50-minute cruises on Kent Lake during July, park authorities reported. Replica of a Mississippi steamboat, the craft makes hourly trips from noon through 6 p.m. and is available for charter before and after those hours. A total of 15,940 passengers have been carried since the bot was launched in May.

Attendance at Kensington Park totaled approximately 425,000 during July as compared with half a million last year when the weather was warmer.

Anglers Take Trout, Pike at Oxbow Lake

Some nice rainbows and a six-pound pike were among the finny trophies taken from Oxbow Lake, off the Nelson Boat Livery, last of the week. Don Reynolds, 17, of Detroit, landed a six-pound northern, using a spinning rig and a plug near the flowing island.

Gene Carano, 19668 Dale, Detroit, took four 'bows while trolling with a nightcrawler rig. Bluegills were also hitting well, at Oxbow, both on surface lures and crawlers.

Dormophone Teaches You When Asleep!!

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

"Waste of time," he snaps, glaring from the circles of his eyes. "Here I am a man of 67 and I've spent 22 years in bed. Ridiculous. There is plenty of time for sleep when I pass on."

Sherover says he has felt this way for years. But in the old days nobody listened to his theory. Just when he'd get going strong, usually early in the morning, his audience would go to bed.

Today the small man with the large natural energy no longer has to spout his ideas to lazy-lidded friends. He can supply them with one of dozens of his own inventions called the "dormophone," an instrument for persons who want to use their sleeping time for study.

BROKE SMOKE HABIT

It is a record-and-microphone device which plays all night into the sleeper's ear, and gives him a variety of sleep-study lessons—in everything from language courses to speech memorization.

Sherover himself wanted to try the device, so one of his first experiments was to make a dormophone record which repeated to him: "Don't smoke. Cigarettes taste bitter."

After several nights he couldn't bear to smoke any more, though he'd indulged in the habit for more than 40 years. He decided then that sleeping time, if put to use, is not such a waste after all.

The dormophone is but one small project in the life of the 5-foot-one inch man who ran away from his New York home at 14 so that he could avoid school, seek his fortune and enjoy a good cigar in the open.

VERSATILE FELLOW

He has written many books, made millions of dollars, traveled the world, edited a newspaper, and dabbled in most anything that smelled of challenge. His biggest job, however, is the presidency of Linguaphone Institute of America, Inc., an outfit that sells phonograph lessons in languages.

"You were born dumb," he says bluntly, when asked if it is not to late to learn a foreign language after reaching maturity. "Yet you learned, just by listening to it, the most difficult and illogical language on earth—English.

"If you learned that, by listening, you can learn the simpler ones by listening. Maybe you'll talk French at first as you talked English as a child; you'll flub a few words. But in one month, unless you're afflicted with a brain injury, you can learn enough to get by comfortably in a foreign country."

By that, he means you can discuss food, clothing, shelter, the weather and love.

"What more do you want to talk about on short notice—anthropology?"

Sherover himself speaks 14 languages and says he has "a theoretical familiarity" with some 2,500 others. He is currently brushing up on his Swahili and Luganda. At night of course.

He still doesn't want to waste those four hours which nature insists he spend with "That dull ——, Morpheus."

Heart Victim Improving

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Thomas E. Walsh, Kent County airport manager and Civil Defense director, is reported "improving every day" at St. Mary's Hospital after his heart attack July 24. Walsh, 57, still is on the critical list, but attendants said Monday it is a technicality.

A new Moscow-to-Stockholm air service has four flights weekly in each direction.

Army Will Call Up 17,000 in October

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has issued a draft call for 17,000 men in October — all for the Army.

* * *

This is the largest monthly draft quota since December's 18,000. However, that included 8,000 for the Army and 10,000 for the Navy.

The Pentagon said the increased call for October 3,000 more than announced for September — was necessary for the Army to counteract a lag in reaching its scheduled strength. At the end of last month, the Army was about 15,300 men short of the approved goal of 1,040,250.

* * *

The new call will bring to 2,101,430 the total number of men drafted or earmarked for involuntary induction since the resumption of Selective Service in September 1950.

UM Health Expert Says Young People Should Have Regular Checkup

DETROIT (INS) — A University of Michigan public health expert has warned that "If you are over 25, you may have a chronic disease."

* * *

Speaking at a meeting of the Michigan Public Health Association, Dr. Vlado Getting, professor of public health, said tests show that the otherwise clinically healthy couple have an average of three chronic ailments between them.

This disease may not appear actively until later life, or it may never appear. On the other hand it may be developing latently, only to appear as incurable.

Dr. Getting said:

Referring to the importance of regular health supervision, he said that if a person has no active chronic ailments until age 60, chances are 1 in 4 that he will develope one or more within five years that will require medical or hospital care.

* * *

"We can prevent many diseases today with vaccines, antibiotics and other measures," said Dr. Getting, "but we have no preventive answers yet for our four major groups of disability producers — heart disease, cancer, diabetes and arthritis."

The health specialist added:

"Medical researchers are busy developing conclusive testing methods for detecting those among us who are very likely going to have these diseases in later life and progress is being made."

The chest X-ray, for example, is turning up many more chronic conditions than tuberculosis, such as lung cancer, which is responsible for more deaths today than TB.

* * *

Dr. Getting stated that one of the biggest jobs public health has to do is find the patient with the chronic disease, treat him as early as possible, and rehabilitate him as possible, and rehabilitate him as quickly as possible.

'Litterbugs' Costly

WASHINGTON — The American Automobile Association, in urging stepped-up efforts to reduce the amount of litter spread along the nation's highways, says it is costing the country $30,000,000 a year just to clean up roadside rubbish and trash left by motorists. This cleanup bill, it says, is in addition to the in-city expenses to collect litter dropped on streets and curbs.

* * *

The bride wore a white taffeta, princess style, waltz-length gown with a lace jacket. A crown of lace and satin held her veil and a white orchid centered her cascade bouquet.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. John Lambert of Kalamazoo, the bridegroom's sister, and bridesmaid was Mrs. William Hartman of Highland Park. Rita Tyyska of Ontonagon was flower girl.

The bridegroom asked John Lambert to be his best man, and, to seat guests, Robert Swinson, the bride's brother, Stewart Miller of Mason, his cousin, and Franz Geisz and Norman Ho, classmates at University of Michigan.

Sheriff and State Police Continue Investigations of Little, Norton Deaths

County and State Police detectives are rechecking details and seeking new leads today in the murders of Martha Little and Mrs. Florence Norton.

* * *

Detectives Donald Francis, of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and Charles Leaf, of the Pontiac State Police, met with county prosecutor Fred Ziem to study evidence in the Little slaying for the Friday morning examination of Howard W. Moore on a first degree murder charge.

The 23-year-old Lake Orion man will be examined before Independence Township Justice William H. Stamp. He has been held at the county jail since July 27 when the girl's body was found.

A jack handle, believed to have been one of the weapons used by Moore in the bludgeoning, has yet to be found. Investigators are awaiting a report from the state crime laboratory on glass found near the child's body, and a blood-covered T-shirt taken there yesterday for analysis.

AX MURDER PROBE

Lee Hazen and Jack Davis, of the Sheriff's Department, and Melvin Kaufman, of the State Police, believe the motive was robbery.

* * *

The detectives have learned the farm woman had a checking account of over $6,000 in the Clarkston bank and today planned to check a safety deposit box she was known to keep in the First State and Savings Bank in Holly.

Mrs. Norton was found murdered in a shed near her farm house Aug. 1.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen — judge by his own words — is concerned about the vice presidency for political reasons and not about the merits of Richard Nixon or Christian Herter as president if President Eisenhower should die.

* * *

Stassen, trying to keep Vice President Nixon off the ticket, has not discussed his worth as a possible president. Nor has he said Gov. Herter of Massachusetts, whom he prefers, would make a better president.

He simply says Herter would draw more votes — especially among labor, minority and independents groups — and thus be a bigger help in getting Republican members of Congress elected. He brushes aside any question about either man in the presidency.

* * *

Asked if he had considered that Eisenhower might die, he said he was operating in the belief Eisenhower would give the country leadership "for 10 years or more."

* * *

Yet, because of Eisenhower's age and his two serious illnesses in a year, there never has been an election in which more attention was given to the possibility of a vice president may become president.

Stassen, opposing the professional Republican politicians who have closed ranks for the renomination of Nixon, has also said he is dedicated to the principle of an open nominating convention free to name whom it pleases.

But Stassen said he would not have opposed Nixon if Eisenhower wanted his vice president as running mate again.

* * *

If Eisenhower should die or drop out of the presidential race between now and the time the convention nominates him and election day, Nov. 6, then the Republicans almost certainly would move the convention's vice presidential nominee into Eisenhower's spot and name someone else for vice president.

* * *

To do otherwise — to have second thoughts on their vice presidential candidate and pick someone else instead of him for the presidency — would be to sacrifice public confidence in the party, its judgments, motives and ticket.

In addition to any claim that they are thinking of the good of the country in pushing Nixon for vice president again, the Republican professionals have some good political reasons for wanting him:

* * *

They could present the same ticket which won so overwhelmingly in 1952 and they could avoid a party-shattering fight in San Francisco over the vice presidency. A party split is the last thing they want in an election year when the President's health is an issue.

Cobo Beats Leonard for GOP Nomination

Two other incumbents, Rep. Thaddeus M. Machrowicz in Detroit's First District, and Rep. August E. Johansen of Battle Creek in the Third, engaged in nip and tuck struggles.

State Sen. Cora Brown ran well before losing to Machrowicz in the First, where the civil rights question and Negro rebellion against the Democratic organization were involved.

Johansen, a first-termer, got a hard run from State Sen. Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek, Republican caucus chairman in the upper Legislative chamber, but squeaked through with less than 1,000 votes to spare.

In his concession of defeat, Leonard recalled he was handicapped in the campaign by lack of funds.

* * *

"It should be remembered that because of meager funds I did not have a minute of paid television or radio time," he said. "Neither did I have a billboard in the entire state or newspaper advertising."

He said he meant it "sincerely" when he said he would work for a Republican victory in November.

Cobo, 62, has 23 years in public office behind him, has thrice been elected mayor and never has lost an election. He was treasurer and deputy city treasurer before winning the mayor's post in 1949.

Many of his backers, those who originally urged him to make the race, felt Cobo's popularity in Detroit could cut into the traditionally heavy Democratic pluralities there in the general election.

Against Leonard, Cobo ran almost as strong outstate as he did in his own bailiwick. He piled up tremendous margins of better than three to one in populous counties like Kent, Oakland, Jackson, Genesee and Saginaw.

* * *

His margins were noticeably smaller in several of the sparsely populated Upper Peninsula counties, and in several in the northern section of the Lower Peninsula.

Leonard appeared to have carried four or five counties in the Upper Peninsula by narrow margins.

Nunn Labels Senator a 'Moral Coward'

DETROIT (UP) — Guy Nunn, radio director for the United Auto Workers union, says Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) is guilty of "moral cowardice" for rejecting an invitation to appear on a UAW-sponsored broadcast before the November election.

* * *

Goldwater and Nunn exchanged sharply worded letters after the senator said in Washington he would be too busy to appear on any UAW program before the first of the year.

Nunn had invited Goldwater to defend what Nunn said were false charges by the senator concerning the union's political activities.

In his letter in reply to Goldwater yesterday, Nunn declared: "You have ratted on your own assertions that you could and would substantiate your claims about the UAW."

* * *

This, he said, is "moral cowardice," adding, "you are a political hit and run driver, sulking behind your own press releases. This constitutes a fourth invitation to put up or shut up."

Famous Dresses Will Be Worn

Wags Suggest Toreador Pants Are Appropriate for Arena Battles

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Many political wiseacres believe the results of this month's conventions are foregone conclusions. Although speculation on the outcome of both is pretty quiet, here is at least one small morsel of suspense:

* * *

Will Betty Furness, who will do the commercials for the sponsors of CBS-TV convention coverage, wear toreador pants? True, she's leaving with 30 dresses to wear during a probable 180 commercials from Chicago and San Francisco. But at least once, says Miss Furness, she'd like to appear on TV in black toreador pants.

Toreador pants, friends, are also known as fitted pants—though they're different from pedal pushers. Plenty of women wear 'em in the New York suburbs. In California the girls even wear them at dinner. So why shouldn't Miss Furness wear them on TV?

* * *

"I rather doubt," she says wistfully, "that the sponsor will approve. They wear them in New York and Hollywood, but do they wear them in Kansas and Iowa?"

What difference does that make? There are no geographic requirements for toreador pants, though it helps if a woman's personal geography is trim and slim—which Miss Furness' is. She's a honey blonde, standing 5 feet 5½ and she wears a size 8.

* * *

Now about those 30 dresses:

"I'd like to emphasize," she says, "that I personally select and buy all my dresses. No one designer makes enough different things to handle me in my job of announcing. Buying 30 dresses is not like buying a trousseau. They must be different and they must photograph well.

"I consider it a prime requirement of my job to keep the audience watching the set during the commercial. That means I must be attractively enough dressed to interest the women in the audience. But I can't wear something so striking that they'll say, 'Look at her, look at her, what's she got on?' and pay no attention to the commercial.

* * *

"There are three general 'looks' in my wardrobe of 30 outfits. There's the shirt and skirt look, which I mostly wear early in the day. Then there's the New York type look—a straight sheath, mostly sleeveless because it's summer. And there's the evening look which is basically very soft with scoop necklines and very full skirts.

* * *

"I'll try to mix them up so the ladies won't be able to guess what I'm going to wear next."

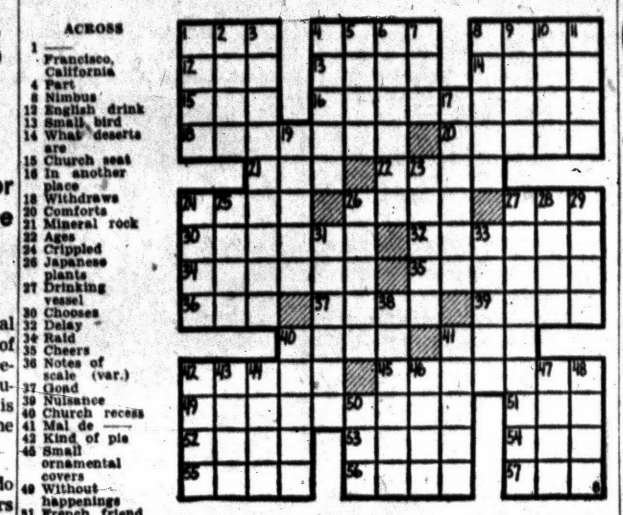

Youth Questioned in Charge of Arson

A 19-year-old youth is being held, Pontiac police said today, for questioning about a $2,000 fire which partially destroyed a garage home at 53 W. Columbia Ave. early Sunday while the occupants were away.

Fire Marshal Charles Metz said that an investigation is under way to discover possible evidence of arson. Cause of the fire so far is unknown, Metz said.

He said the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Adkins had left on vacation Friday or Saturday and that the one-story frame building supposedly was vacant when the 50-minute blaze broke out at 3:15 a.m.

The garage had been condemned four months ago as unfit for human occupancy, Metz added. About $1,000 damage was done to the structure and $500 damage to the contents, firemen estimated.

Adlai Shocks Southern Dems

Unequivocal Approval Demanded on Court Integration Ruling

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson rode the angry waves of a self-created storm over civil rights today with some signs that his Democratic presidential nomination ship might be springing a leak.

* * *

Stevenson, top contender for the nomination at next week's convention, hit his Southern supporters with something akin to a bolt of lightning yesterday.

He called for "unequivocal approval" in the party's platform of the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in public schools.

* * *

The Southerners don't like Stevenson's stand but "as of this date" he remains the active candidate most acceptable to the South."

This seemed to hold out the threat that if no compromise is reached within the Platform Committee, some of the Southerners might walk out of the convention. Any such move would enhance the chances of Stevenson's thus-far outdistanced rival Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

For the time being at least the Southerners appeared to have no other candidate in sight whose stand on the issue was less objectionable to them than Stevenson's.

The Stevenson statement which kicked up the storm was this:

"I have a very strong feeling that the platform should express unequivocal approval of the court's decision, although it seems odd that you have to express your approval of the Constitution and its institutions."

This statement in a TV interview was interpreted in some quarters as a public move by Stevenson to wipe out the "moderate" label pinned on him by Harriman.

The statement provoked caustic comment from the Harriman camp that Stevenson was moving in the direction of their own candidate.

On the Northern side of the civil rights fence, Stevenson appeared likely to pick up some new backing.

3 Semi-Trailers Pile Up, Clog Highway Near Gary

GARY, Ind. (AP)—A pileup of three Michigan semi - trailer trucks blocked U.S. 20 for five hours yesterday, 10 miles east of Gary.

The trucks were practically demolished. The heavily traveled highway was strewn with furniture and other merchandise. But only Dick Lautner, 47, Rockford, was injured.

He was reported "fair" at Doctor's Hospital, Michigan City, with a skull fracture, broken ribs and other injuries. Drivers of the other trucks were Robert Anson, 31, Kalamazoo, and Raymond Rissman, 31, Sturgeon.

Killed by Lightning

SAGINAW (AP) — Lightning killed 16-year-old C. Alfred Busch Jr. last night as he ran for shelter at his farm home in the outskirts of nearby Bridgeport. He and a companion, Gerald Lauer, 12, had dashed for home when a thunderstorm caught them in the middle of a field. The Lauer boy was not hurt.

Girl Killed in Driveway

DETROIT (AP)—A newspaper truck backing out of a driveway yesterday struck and killed Debra Sturgill, 23-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sturgill of Taylor Township. Clifford A. Arndt, the driver, said the child was playing beneath a wheel on his truck and he didn't see her.

Chicago Speeds Antipolio Shots

Rising Outbreak Heads Near Halfway Mark; 13 Dead, 609 Sick

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's mounting polio outbreak—now 609 cases and 13 deaths — today appeared heading toward the halfway mark of a full-scale epidemic.

Clinics and hospitals, wary of the mid-August and September peak polio season, stepped up their program of inoculating thousands of Chicago children with Salk antipolio vaccine.

* * *

The U.S. Public Health Service, on the basis of the city's nearly four million population, has set 1,330 cases as the number marking an epidemic.

The 1956 polio surge in Chicago — the nation's highest — is more than 3½ times greater than a corresponding period in 1952 when the previous high was set with 170 cases and 11 deaths. The total number of cases in 1952 was 1,203.

This year's outbreak exceeds by more than 7½ times the 80 cases and three deaths reported for the same period a year ago.

* * *

Garroway's Bride to Fix Breakfast Every 4 A.M.

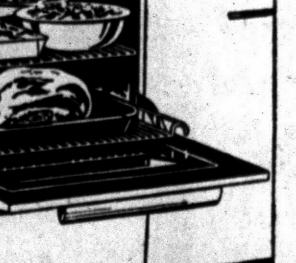

NEW YORK (AP) — The pretty brunette bride of Dave Garroway promises to love, honor and cook breakfast for the TV commentator every morning at 4 a.m.

Pamela Wilde, 28, told newsmen of the promise shortly after she and Garroway were married yesterday in the Municipal Building.

Garroway, 42, has to get up early each weekday morning for his show, which starts at 7 a.m.

The marriage is the second for both Garroway and his bride. Both were divorced.

Bob Considine Says:

Bad Memories Won't Dam Flowing Oratory

CHICAGO (INS) — The teleprompter people have parlayed man's chronic bad memory into a big business. Democratic and Republican orators in the weeks to come at Chicago and San Francisco will view with alarm, sound the tocsin, issue charges, decry privilege, embrace the faceless working stiff and wrap themselves in Old Glory without once having to memorize the words.

* * *

If they appear to be addressing televiewers with downcast eyes, modesty has nothing to do with it. The boys (and the dear political ladies Mencken once described as old British trawlers prettied up for the coronation) will be reading their speech off a long roll of yellow paper that unwinds just as fast or as slow as the speed of their delivery. The letters on the unpeeling manuscript will be five-eighths of an inch high.

The whole shebang is built into the lectern. It is, in effect, a tall desk which surrounds all but the back of the speaker. In the top of the desk, concealed from the eyes of the audience, are two holes about a foot square, one to the right the other to the left of center. A peek into either hole reveals a tricky mirror set-up which reflects the speech.

The fellow who unwinds the speech for the speaker will be imprisoned upright in the bowels of the lectern, not unlike a mummy. He has his own copy of the speech and carefully follows its course, line by line, so as not to get ahead or behind the speaker overhead. The operator, who has only a couple of inches clearance inside his cell, is the sole judge of whether or not to stop the flow of the printed speech if the speaker wanders off into an ad lib or paraphrases the text.

AND AIR CONDITIONING

The lectern to be used at each convention this year features air-conditioner vents that strike the speaker about the knees. They can be adjusted, however, to squirt the breeze up at his face or direct it at his barking dogs. The floor on which he stands is in effect a small elevator this year. The teleprompter man told us today that he has a list of the heights of everybody who will speak at Chicago. The flooring will be raised or lowered accordingly while the person is headed for the mikes. The big fellows no longer will have to crouch over the mikes like vultures. The little guys will no longer look as if they are standing in a hole.

"This invention could bring back Fiorello LaGuardia," the man said positively.

Eight 50-foot Sparton trailers—oops, sorry, "executive mansions"—will be rolled into the amphitheater to serve as dining and lounging rooms for the working press. The mobile homes each have four rooms, ingrown TV, modern kitchens and, now, a parking place.

The convention had its first casualty today. Molly Barrett, housekeeper at the Conrad Hilton, ordered one of the bedrooms cleaned of furniture for use as a TV studio. Returning to the room, a minute or two after it was emptied of Mr. Hilton's priceless bric-a-brac, Molly stumbled over a TV camera cable and broke her hand.

She has been offered a role on "Medic" in lieu of a cash settlement.

The portable TV camera which will be used on the convention floor—historians may as well note—is called a Creepy Peepy.

Ionia Escapee Caught

IONIA (AP)—Authorities at Ionia State Reformatory say they have been notified that Kenneth Miller, a recent escapee, has been captured in Ohio. The 19-year-old fugitive was reported in the custody of the sheriff at Upper Sandusky, Ohio. The sheriff said the youth was picked up in a car stolen earlier this week from Saranac, Mich. Miller walked away from Ionia on Sunday.

U.S. Bans Red Trips

WASHINGTON (INS) — The State Department has forbidden any American newsmen from accepting an invitation to visit Communist China so long as the Peiping regime continues to hold U. S. citizens as prisoners.

Michigan Lakes Get Anti-Itch Treatment

LANSING — The State Water Resources Commission reported today it has treated 10 northern Michigan lakes for swimmers' itch since June 15.

The program, financed by a $10,000 grant from the legislature, will come to an end this week.

The commission said reports of the itch from southern Michigan lakes indicate that a similar program probably also will be necessary next June in certain lakes in Jackson, Calhoun, Washtenaw and Lenawee counties.
