Anti-Commies Want Kasavubu to Head Group

In Meantime, Mobutu Forces Start Drive and Oriental Boss Is Out

From Our News Wires

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic (AP)—Anti-Communist political leaders of the Congo have agreed to replace their centrally controlled parliamentary government by a confederation of semi-independent states headed by Joseph Kasavubu.

The action of the political conference which ended Sunday, raised hopes in Leopoldville that the way had been opened to an eventual end to the recent chaos.

This warfare has plagued the Central African territory since it won independence from Belgium last summer.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's forces have captured three companies of pro-Lumumba troops in an offensive near the Oriental Province border, the Congolese foreign ministry announced today.

Mobutu's long-expected drive was coupled with reports from Stanleyville that Anoine Gizenga was being eased out as boss of Oriental Province, which is in the hands of followers of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The announcement said one Lumumbist company was trapped in the town of Mondombe, about 300 miles southeast of Coquilhatville.

Mobutu's force of 1,200 troops then pushed on to the town of Ikela, 40 miles to the south, and captured and disarmed two more companies. Dispatches from the bush country said his troops had captured the Lumumbist stronghold.

Gen. Victor Lundula, head of Lumumbist forces, had sent reinforcements to the garrison at Ikela to protect Stanleyville from an attack from the south.

In addition to the threat from Mobutu, Lundula faced a stiff task in trying to stop his army and gendarmerie from going on the rampage. The Stanleyville treasury is reported nearly empty and officials are worried how to pay their soldiers and security forces.

Take $20,000 From Markets; Escape Dragnet

Hit Kroger Store at Miracle Mile; Daylight Robbery at Tom's

Masked bandits who netted over $20,000 in two holdups of Pontiac area supermarkets in less than 36 hours eluded police roadblocks a second time today.

City and state police were forced to rely solely on routine investigations shortly before noon today when a dragnet failed to snare the armed robbers.

Lt. Ray Meggitt, head of the city's detective bureau, said the same two-man team apparently staged this morning's broad-daylight robbery of Tom's Market at 888 Orchard Lake Ave. that pulled the Saturday night stickup of the Kroger market at Miracle Mile Shopping Center on Telegraph Road, just outside the city.

The bandits escaped with $12,180 from Tom's Market, Meggitt said. Less than $3,000 of the loot was in checks. The Kroger store was cleaned out of at least $10,000 including several checks.

Meggitt bemoaned the fact that local merchants would keep so much cash on hand, especially over a weekend. "They are really asking for it," he said.

A state police and county sheriff's department dragnet Saturday night, minutes after the Kroger holdup, failed to turn up any suspects. This morning's roadblocks were set up by city and state police with the same result.

According to Meggitt, at least two cars were used in the successful escape.

Two bandits armed with pistols and wearing scarves on their faces were waiting inside when three employes opened Tom's Market at 8:30 a.m.

Store manager Eddie Caudill, 30, and two other employes, Mrs. Alice White, 21, and Louis Kovanes, 35, were surprised at gunpoint.

Caudill said the shorter bandit, about five feet six inches tall, stepped out of the shadows next to the burglar alarm control box and "whipped his pistol" across the manager's cheek, grazing him slightly.

DIDN'T HIT HARD

"He didn't hit me hard, just hard enough to let me know he meant business," said Caudill.

Caudill said the man stood behind him, grabbing his around the throat with one arm and pressing the gun into his back with the other, propelling him into the store proper.

Meantime, Kovanes had been surprised by the taller bandit, about six feet one inch.

"I thought at first he was kidding," said Kovanes. "Then he waved the gun in my face and I knew he was serious."

On orders from the bandit, Kovanes lay on the floor and called the cashier.

"I didn't know anything was wrong until I heard Mr. Kovanes call me," said Mrs. White, "I

JFK to Discuss Latin America

Will Unveil Alliance for Progress Program at White House Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today unveils plans for the "alliance for progress" with Latin America. He has described his announcement in advance as a major statement.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy will make the statement midway through a reception at the White House for Latin-American diplomats and dignitaries starting at 5 p.m.

The President plans to follow up with a special message to Congress Tuesday implementing the program.

All but two of Washington's Latin-American envoys are invited to the reception.

The two not invited: The Cuban and Dominican Republican ambassadors to the Organization of American States. The United States has broken off diplomatic relations with both those countries.

Kennedy is expected to refer to Cuba in the speech, but officials said the emphasis will be on a U. S. pledge for continuing help for nations which help themselves."

In a campaign speech last October he used this description: "An alliance of nations with a common interest in freedom and economic advance in a great common effort to develop the resources of the entire hemisphere, strengthen the forces of democracy, and widen the vocational and educational opportunities of every person in all the Americas."

Snow, Tornadoes Buffet Wide Area

BY UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Snow and sleet hit parts of the midwest today and portions of Missouri and Arkansas cleaned up from tornadoes that killed on and injured at least 11 persons.

Snow blanketed Southern Wisconsin and sleet, mixed with rain, made driving hazardous in the southeast Michigan.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted snow would fall on other sections of the Midwest before night.

Winds of gale strength whipped over the Lakes Huron, Erie and Michigan and also Lake St. Clair.

The Weather Bureau said high winds and tornado conditions which threatened Southern Illinois and Indiana Sunday night ended today. It had been feared earlier the tornado-like weather would drift into the Ohio Valley.

Tornadoes Sunday scraped Missouri and Arkansas and hovered over Southern Illinois. The Ozark twisters killed a woman and injured her husband and 16 other persons at a West Plains, Mo., prayer meeting. At least 33 other persons were reported injured in Missouri and Arkansas.

Three Nebraska teen-agers were killed last night when their automobile slid into the path of a truck on a slushy Nebraska 92 west of Wahoo. The truck driver was not injured.

★ ★ ★

Rain shifted inland from Vancouver Bay and Western Washington State, lacing the Rocky Mountains with mixed showers and snow at higher elevations. Showers also pelted most of the Northern Great Plains.

Thunderstorms blanketed a wide area south and east of the Ohio Valley and Lower Mississippi Valley east to the Atlantic Coast.

Sunday's tornadoes scraped a 150-mile border belt in Missouri and pummeled at least six widely separated northwest Arkansas communities.

Snow-Rain Mixture to End by Tonight

The weatherman tells us today's mixture of rain and snow will change to snow before ending tonight. Tuesday will be mostly cloudy with a high of 38 predicted.

Temperatures for the next five days will average 2 to 5 degrees above the normal high of 43 and normal low of 27. Wednesday will be warmer. Thursday is expected to be colder, with warmer temperatures returning Friday.

Precipitation will total one-half to three-quarters of an inch in rain or showers, mostly Thursday and Saturday.

Morning southeasterly winds at 14 miles per hour will become northerly tonight.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 34 degrees. At 2 p.m. the temperature reading was 36.

Deny Lassiter Murder Link

Lawyers Begin Battle to Kill Charges Against Widow, Gordon Watson

Attorneys for Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and Gordon Watson today began a fight to kill charges of murder and conspiracy against the pair.

They argued there was no connection between the glamorous ex-model and her admitted lover direct enough to implicate them in the shooting of Mrs. Lassiter's husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, Royal Oak used car dealer, on April 6, 1959.

The legal argument ran like this:

Even if Mrs. Lassiter, 37, and Watson, 44, Lassiter's business partner, did plan to have Lassiter killed (and it's denied that they did);

And even if Charles Nash, 43, the "dirty little man" in the killing, was summoned from Tennessee purposely to kill Lassiter (and it's denied that Mrs. Lassiter and Watson had anything to do with this);

And even if the hired killer shot Nash to death in a drunken rage and dumped his body near Willow Run Expressway, according to the express court testimony of his two companions, Roy C. (Buck) Hicks, 37, an employe of Lassiter's; and Richard Jones, 29, a hoodlum chum.

Nevertheless, both Hicks and

Missing Boy Found; Death Puzzles Police

TECUMSEH (AP)—The gunshot death of farm boy John Paul Marsh puzzled police today despite apparently extensive evidence.

John, 13, who had been missing from his home in this small Southern Michigan town since March 5, was found shot to death in a wooded ravine Sunday.

Near the body lay a revolver that state police said two neighbor boys admitted having taken from John's home and hiding under a tree.

Police said they could not determine immediately whether John had shot himself or been shot by someone else.

The boy, stepson of Alex Glenn, unemployed laborer, and one of six children in the family, had been shot once in the chest.

The ravine, in the River Raisin marshland area, is less than half a mile from the family home. Playmates found John's body. One of them was John's stepbrother, Alex Walter Glenn, 18. They ran and told their parents.

John's body lay face up. The arms were folded across the chest.

A sixth grader in school, John last was seen at a movie theater in Tecumseh the afternoon of March 5. Police and National Guardsmen had searched vainly for him for days.

★ ★ ★

State police said that at one time during the search for John the boy's parents said he might have gone off on his own on a trip to Kentucky to visit relatives.

THEY SOLD BOTTLES

John's tragic story began with a movie matinee. He and his father had sold bottles to get the 50 cents admission for John, police said.

That was the last seen of the boy.

John's teachers spoke well of him. One of them said he was "one of the best all-around students" in her class.

The mother, Mrs. Agnes Glenn, described John as a normal boy.

Dr. J. H. Ahronheim, a Jackson pathologist who performed an autopsy, said the bullet missed John's heart but penetrated a lung, causing him to bleed to death. He may have lived about an hour after being shot, the doctor said.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ahronheim estimated the time of death as about 6 p.m. on March 5, the afternoon the boy disappeared.

Police Kill Man in Act of Stabbing

ROSEVILLE (UPI)—A young Detroit man was shot and killed early today when police discovered him stabbing his estranged wife in her parked automobile.

Gerald T. O'Hern was shot by Policeman Robert McPherson.

McPherson and his partner, Howard Day, were patroling when they heard the horn of an automobile blare. They investigated and saw a man sitting in the car, stabbing a woman who was covered with blood.

The officers ordered the man, O'Hern, from the car. He reached into his pocket, told the officers, "You'll have to shoot me," then lunged at McPherson. McPherson shot him.

The woman was identified as Grace O'Hern, the man's estranged wife. She suffered several superficial wounds.

Police said O'Hern, in his early 20s, had gone Sunday night to an East Detroit restaurant and attempted to get his wife to leave with him. She refused.

Later she left the restaurant and found O'Hern waiting in her car. He forced her to drive him around, and finally ordered her to stop the car in front of a party store at Gratiot and Wildwood in Roseville.

This Way, Folks, Into Stony Creek Park

PARK CONSTRUCTION UNDER WAY — Heavy equipment and a large crew of workmen are being used for the first time at the Stony Creek Metropolitan Park development three miles northeast of Rochester. A $273,000 bridge and dam is the first major construction project at the 4,000-acre park site owned by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. The structure, which is being built south of the 28-Mile Road entrance to the park, will separate two artificial lakes and carry traffic into the park when it opens to the public in two years. The Stony Creek development will be the second largest recreational facility run by the authority when it is completed.

Village Voters Go to Polls as Weather Plays Dirty

The polls in 18 area communities will be open until 8 p.m. today for voters casting their ballots in the annual village elections.

Few village residents were expected to show up at the polls in many nearby communities because of poor weather conditions and a lack of races. A large percentage are running unopposed.

However, good turnouts were forecast in Rochester, Franklin, Metamora and Imlay City where lively campaigns for council posts were waged right up to election time.

Romeo residents may vote twice today. Besides the regular village election, voters in the Romeo Community School District are being asked to approve a three-mill operational tax on a special school ballot.

Only two issues were to be decided in the area. Residents of Wood Creek Farms will be asked to approve a sewer contract with Farmington Township and the proposed purchase of the Village Green will be decided by Franklin voters.

Although only one slate of candidates is listed on ballots in many villages, the entry of write-in or sticker candidates remains as a possibility which could heighten voter interest.

Complete election returns will be reported tomorrow in The Pontiac Press.

UAW Officials File Suit to Delay Blue Cross Ruling

LANSING (AP) — Officials of two United Auto Workers locals in Detroit today started court action aimed at holding up a decision on proposed increases in Blue Cross and Blue Shield rates.

They asked the State Supreme Court to conduct a hearing March 21 on why Frank Blackford, state insurance commissioner, should not be prevented from making a decision on the matter until new hearings are held.

Blackford already has conducted hearings in Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids on requests of Blue Cross and Blue Shield for rate increases of 22 per cent and 13.5 per cent, respectively. If granted they would cost subscribers $42.5 million annually.

Paul Silver, president of UAW Local 351 and one of the plaintiffs in the suit, charged that earlier hearings held on the proposed rate hikes for the hospitalization and health care plans were "merely forums to propagandize the public."

★ ★ ★

Joining him in the suit was Mike Marasco, vice president of UAW Local 7.

Blackford said he was uncertain what action he would take until he had consulted with state attorneys. He indicated last week that a decision on the rate changes would be issued this week.

He acknowledged that he had refused a March 5 request from a group of unionists to schedule new hearings, basing his decision on the Administrative Procedures Act of 1952.

Silver said he and Marasco are filing the suit as subscribers to the hospitalization and health care plans, but that they had the support of union locals.

★ ★ ★

The suit demands that public hearings be held "in conformity with the law," and that Blackford furnish the plaintiffs with a complete copy of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield applications "so a proper answer can be made."

Inmate Stabbed to Death at Marquette Prison

MARQUETTE (AP)—A 26-year-old inmate of the Michigan State Branch Prison was stabbed to death Sunday night by another prisoner with a homemade knife.

James Davis, who was serving a 10- to 25-year sentence for armed robbery, was stabbed three times while waiting for the prison movie to start at a prison assembly hall, officials said.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe said another inmate, Ernest Rodriquez, 26, had admitted stabbing Davis in an argument over cigarettes. Buchkoe said Rodriquez told him Davis had intercepted some cigarettes by mistake and refused to return them.

Arrest 3 for Plot Against Russian

Cuban Youths Held in Connection With Attack on Envoy's Residence

HAVANA (UPI) — Informed sources said today three Cuban youths have been arrested on charges of plotting against the life of Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kudriavtsev.

The arrests apparently were connected with an attempted attack by anti-Communists on Kudriavtsev's residence in the fashionable Miramar suburb last Saturday night when police drove off a handful of youths seeking to force an entrance into the block-long residence.

Kudriavtsev was not home at the time the attackers battled police with gunfire. He was attending a reception at the official residence of his Red Chinese counterpart.

The assault on the Russian envoy's home took place shortly before Maj. William A. Morgan, a Toledo, Ohio, died before a firing squad on charges of counter-revolutionary activities.

LUNCHEON WITH HART — This group of Oakland County officials returned home this weekend after two days in Washington in an attempt to speed up funds for public works projects in the county in order to provide more jobs for the unemployed. Here they pose with Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart (right, seated). Seated (left to right) are: Robert McGinnis, chief engineer for the drain commission; Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry; Robert P. Allen, assistant corporation counsel; John G. Semans, the county's legislative agent; Harry W. Horton, DPW Board secretary; Sidney H. Woolner, Housing and Home Finance Agency official; R. J. Alexander, DPW director; and Hart. Standing: Hiland M. Thatcher, road commission chairman; Thomas H. O'Donoghue, chairman of the board of supervisors' drain committee; Paul Van Roekel, commission highway engineer; former state highway commissioner and governor Murray D. VanWagoner; Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Willis M. Brewer, coordinator of road projects for the road commission.

Seeks Emergency Funds

County Bids for Grants

Should the federal government approve an emergency grants program for public works to spur the economy, Oakland County's bid is in to get a slice of it.

A delegation of county officials, headed by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, returned this weekend after two days in Washington where they spoke of the need for a speed-up of federal funds to get sewer and water projects under way.

Should such grants be forthcoming, they said, many of the county's and state's unemployed laborers would be put back on the payrolls.

Talks were had with Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart, a representative of Michigan Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, who was tied up in a committee meeting, and Sidney H. Woolner, former aide to former Gov. Williams and now commissioner of the community facilities administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, said if the federal funds were available today the county could start on $70 million worth of various water and sewer projects within one to three months.

From Woolner, Alexander said he received one definite assurance that his office would push ahead on the county's request for $65,000 for a preliminary study of sewer needs for the southwest section of the county.

While other commitments were lacking, Alexander termed the Thursday and Friday sessions in the capitol "very advantageous" in that "we got the county on record should Congress enact any public works legislation."

"They had an awful lot of sympathy for our program and were willing to listen," Alexander said. "They said they were happy to have the information."

One means to speed up such projects, the director said, would be for the federal government to grant interest free loans which could be repaid over the years from sewer or water connection charges.

Other solutions might be partial loans or partial grants to be matched by local funds.

★ ★ ★

Now that Oakland County had submitted it's blueprint for public works projects, a similar plan for the six-county Southeastern Michigan metropolitan area should be presented, Alexander suggested to Hamlin, chairman of Supervisors for the Inter-County Committee which consists of supervisors from the six counties.

Gets 6 Months Free Classes

American Buys Gown, Gate-Crashes Oxford

OXFORD, England (AP)—The American youth who got six months of Oxford education free by gate-crashing the university's classes ran few risks of detection, university officials said today.

Officially his ingenuity was disapproved. But some of the dons secretly admired the exploit as just the sort of thing a high-spirited Oxford undergraduate might do at Cambridge.

The undercover student was bearded Alfred Raedel, 24, a Columbia University mathematics graduate. He bought a cap and gown, and in Oxford that made him look like any other student. No classroom door was barred to him, and no one ever asked in which college he was enrolled or whether he had paid tuition fees.

★ ★ ★

His irregular course at Oxford completed to his satisfaction, Raedel is going on to the University of Bonn. There he will study physiology out in the open, as a properly enrolled student.

Oxford officials wouldn't talk about Raedel's achievement publicly. But a fellow of Merton, one of the university's colleges, gave this explanation:

★ ★ ★

"Anyone can be taken to college meals as a guest of a proper undergraduate, and in the confusion of a busy dining room guests aren't identified too precisely.

★ ★ ★

"Then as to lectures, people who go in wearing gowns aren't checked. It would be tiresome to hold up every gown every day. But of course people without gowns would be spotted. This American, it seems, was properly attired, and that's what counts.

Bestial Stories Told of Congo

Nuns Raped and Whites Beaten; Disgusting Acts by Local Soldiers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Nuns have been stripped and one American missionary girl has been raped by Congolese soldiers on the rampage in the rebel province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

★ ★ ★

U. N. Malayan patrols are pushing out from Kindu, trying to reach isolated villages where whites are at the mercy of the Congolese soldiers.

★ ★ ★

Six Belgians and four other whites, believed to be Portuguese, were flown here from Kivu Sunday. All were badly beaten, the U.N. spokesman said. They told of daily beatings in the streets, pillaging and threats of execution.

★ ★ ★

A nun reaching Kindu from a mission station at Kasongo told of 48 hours of terror, rape and bestiality soon after the death of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba last month. The nun, whose name was not disclosed, said nine sisters from the mission were bundled into trucks and carted off to the local jail.

★ ★ ★

A 75-year-old nun said she was thrown out of the truck and her arms broken and her shoulder dislocated. That nun has now reached Leopoldville.

In a prison courtyard, the nuns were made to dance barefoot on stones and gravel, singing hymns to Lumumba. Then they were locked up in a room for the night with three Congolese soldiers. They were made to lie on the ground and strip off their clothes.

"They did not rape us but they did things so disgusting to our poor bodies that we dare not speak of them, much less write of them," one nun said.

Try to Kill Charges in Lassiter Case

Jones testified that Nash didn't know who Lassiter was at the time of the shooting; didn't even know Lassiter was the man he'd been hired to kill.

Therefore, how can Mrs. Lassiter and Watson be connected with a spur-of-the-moment, drunken slaying?

Attorneys Joseph W. Louisell, representing Mrs. Lassiter, and Harry K. Rosen and Ralph R. Goldsmith, representing Watson, pointed out that Nash, Hicks and Jones were convicted last February of second-degree murder, instead of first, indicating that no premeditation was proved in the slaying.

The arguments came as the attorneys sought a ruling from Circuit Court Judge Joseph G. Rashid in Detroit, to quash the murder charge. Moves to quash the conspiracy charges were expected tomorrow or the day after.

It was further argued that Watson, who now lives in Los Angeles, is outside the jurisdiction of Wayne County.

Louisell maintained that Assistant Prosecutor George D. Kent "intentionally supressed and withheld" testimony at a preliminary hearing a year ago, which would have favored Mrs. Lassiter. He claimed the evidence presented then was insufficient to show probable cause she is guilty of either charge.

In a hearing last year, Judge Rashid denied a motion by Louisell to disqualify himself in the case on grounds that he had formed prejudices against Mrs. Lassiter and Watson through hearing the trial of the three men now serving life-terms for the slaying.

After that, a long delay in the proceedings occurred while the State Supreme Court was asked to disqualify Rashid. The high court refused last week.

Press Chiefs Blast Castro

IAPA Board Declares Cuban Leader 'Main Enemy of Press'

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — The board of directors of the Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) ended its semiannual meeting Sunday with a condemnation of Fidel Castro as the main enemy of the freedom of the press in the Western Hemisphere.

The three-day meeting was dominated by discussions on the precarious state of freedom of the press in parts of the Americas — particularly in Cuba. Suppression of the free press also was attacked in Haiti, Nicaragua, Bolivia, Paraguay and the Dominican Republic.

A resolution adopted by the board went beyond the situation of the press in Cuba. It said Castro had betrayed the hopes of the entire continent by making his government the spearhead of Communism in Latin America and endangering continental security.

★ ★ ★

The resolution was a reiteration on one adopted by the IAPA general assembly at its Bogota, Colombia, meeting last October.

Ray Dix of the Wooster (Ohio) Daily Record said Castro "in handing Cuba to communism alerted Latin America to this problem and helped unite the hemisphere in a campaign for democracy."

Jack R. Howard, president of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said it was "discouraging to see how press freedom has been suppressed in some countries, especially the totalitarian assault by Fidel Castro in Cuba."

The directors also approved resolutions declaring that "the free press of the hemisphere again demonstrated its unalterable defense of basic human rights by giving broad understanding and coverage to the needs and aspiration of Cuban refugees."

Area Delegates Fighting Swainson on School Aid

A quintet of county Republicans, recently returned from the 22nd annual Citizens Conference on Education in Lansing, have forewarned legislators in Washington that the concensus of the meeting was not support of President Kennedy's federal aid to education program.

In a sharply worded letter to Rep. Adam C. Powell, chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor, the five hoped to dispel any attempts tomorrow by Gov. John B. Swainson and Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, that this was the result of the Saturday conference.

Swainson and Bartlett are scheduled to testify before Powell's committee tomorrow on the administration's education plan.

The five complaining Republicans charged the past conference was "a huge brainwash" for the federal education program.

SEND LETTER

Firing off the letter to Powell and 10 other legislators and officials in Lansing and Washington, including Swainson and Bartlett, were Alvin R. Balden, Mrs. Ann M. Charles, both of Huntington Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Sinclair of Birmingham, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenberg of Royal Oak. They attended the conference as delegates from Oakland County.

"Traditionally this conference has taken a particular educational problem and seriously studied all aspects of it," Balden said. "But this year all we got was a constant sales talk on federal aid."

"No effort was made to study any alternate solutions to our state's educational problems," the five contended.

"Instead, Gov. Swainson and Bartlett used the forum to advance their partisan views on federal aid to education."

In one group, the five told Powell in the letter, 21 out of 28 delegates were opposed to federal aid to education.

"President Kennedy's program was looked upon as being neither inevitable nor particularly desirable," the letter said.

They said that if Swainson and Bartlett support the administration's federal aid plan, their views will not be an accurate reflection of the attitudes of conference delegates.

Two Hold Up Men Get $20,000 in Area

walked in and there were those two men with guns and they ordered me to lay down and put my hands behind my back. All I could do was lay there and cry."

Kovanes and Mrs. White were tied up as Caudill was forced to the front by the taller bandit and told: "Open the safe or I'll kill you."

GETS LOOSE

In the rear, Kovanes worked one of his hands loose when he was discovered by the shorter man, who pressed his pistol to the employees head.

"You're gonna get it right now. I'm gonna shoot you right in the head," Kovapes remembered the bandit saying. But the threat wasn't carried out, and Kovanes was re-tied.

The pair escaped in Caudill's car.

CAR STOLEN

Caudill's 1959 Pontiac automobile was found abondoned at 9:10 a.m. on Golf Drive next to Pontiac Municipal Golf Course, a half mile from the store.

Apparently the pair had transferred to a second get-away car at the golf course. This probability complicated the search, since there was no description of a second car.

Two employes of the Kroger's market at Miracle Mile had just locked up the store at 10 p.m. Saturday when they were surprised by a lone masked bandit armed with a chrome-plated revolver.

One of the victims, Roland Barrett, 27, assistant store manager, told state police he and a stockboy, Leroy Brooks, 19, were getting into Barrett's car in the parking lot in front of the store when the gunman ordered them back inside.

The desperado, described as about 20 years old, 5-foot eight, and weighing 160 pounds, then ordered the pair to lie down on the floor inside the supermarket. He scooped approximately $1,000 out of a cash register, and, apparently not satisfied, ordered Barrett to unlock the store's safe, which the assistant manager did.

"He said he had a 'buddy waiting outside in a car' and not to try anything," said Barrett. The safe yielded over $10,000 including several checks.

State Police said the bandit was in the store almost a full hour. He placed money and checks in a pillowcase, told his two victims to stay on the floor for five minutes and left by the front door.

Barrett said they did not hear a car drive off. He telephoned state police at 11:10 p.m.

A roadblock failed to net the robber.

State police said he was wearing kid gloves and left no clues at the scene. He also wore a white kerchief on his face during the holdup.

The bandits in the Town's holdup, one tall and the other short, had broken into the store early this morning through a ventilator to the roof, then lay in wait in a rear room until store manager Caudill arrived at the store.

Arriving with Caudill were Mrs. Alice White, 21, of 4975 Comstock Rd., Commerce Township, a cashier, and Louis Kovanes, 35, of 507 Cerry St., Royal Oak, a meat cutter.

Mrs. White and Kovanes were forced to lie face downward on the floor behind a rear food counter while Caudill, his life threatened, opened the safe at the front of the large market and handed over the uncounted receipts.

Declares War on Con-Con

VFW Council Declares Programs Endangered by Convention

HOLLAND (UPI) — The policymakers for the Michigan Veterans of Foreign Wars were on record today against a state constitutional convention.

Michigan will vote April 3 on whether to call a con-con.

The council of administration for the state VFW adopted a resolution at a weekend meeting here, urging VFW members and auxiliary members to vote "no" on the con-con proposal.

The council said current veterans programs tied into the present state constitution would be in "dire jeopardy" if a con-con was held. The council said that an amendment process would be a better method of working over the state's constitutional problems.

The council also said the con-con would be "too expensive" for Michigan taxpayers, putting a dollar figure estimate of $3.4 million as the cost of a con-con.

The council adopted another resolution calling for congressional appropriation of $1.2 million for remodeling and renovating Camp Grayling, the National Guard training camp.

The council said remodeling and renovating would enable another division to train at Camp Grayling, giving the area's economy a needed shot in the arm.

'Soldier' Morgan Dies Calmly; Buried in Crypt

HAVANA (AP) — William A. Morgan, American soldier of fortune who fell from national hero to traitor in the eyes of the Fidel Castro regime, was buried Sunday in a crypt beside the Cuban major executed with him.

Friends of Morgan's Cuban wife attended the rites in Colon Cemetery, and a Catholic priest officiated. Mrs. Morgan, in hiding to escape captivity, did not attend the funeral. She and 10 others were convicted of treason along with her husband last week, and she was declared a fugitive.

The five-man court at La Cabana Fortress sentenced Morgan and Maj. Jesus Carreras to die Saturday after convicting them of aiding anti-Castro rebels in the mountains. A firing squad shot them in a dry moat outside the ancient fortress a few hours later.

The military tribunal acquitted three of the defendants, Saturday, gave Morgan's former driver 15 years in prison after he had turned state's evidence, and ordered seven defendants to 30-year jail terms.

Luis Carro, the Cuban lawyer who defended Morgan, described the final moments before Morgan and Carreras became the 568th and 569th unofficially listed victims of revolutionary firing squads.

Morgan wore his military boots and faced death calmly, Carro said. Witnesses told the lawyer that Morgan joked with his executioners and embraced the soldier in charge.

Volunteer List for Space Rides Getting Crowded

LONDON (AP) — About 20,000 men and women of many lands have volunteered to get aboard most any old rocket flying off into space, the British Interplanetary Society estimates.

★ ★ ★

"Many of the volunteers don't seem to care whether they get back to earth," said L. J. Carter, secretary of the society, in an interview. "Such volunteers have been approaching me, and writing to me, for 20 years. Up to now our reaction has been to dissuade them. Some crave excitement, and some must be regarded as crackpots.

"But lately more seriously minded persons have been volunteering, medical men and some who are well qualified in scientific fields.

★ ★ ★

"The more valuable they are the more expendable they seem to regard themselves. We advise them all to wait, there being at the moment a shortage of space ships."

Would Dwarf Atomic Significance

Future Men to Make Life at Will

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist predicted today that man eventually will be able "to produce at will undreamed-of forms of living things."

Discoveries now imminent, he said, may spark "a revolution far greater in its potential significance than even the use of atomic energy."

The scientist, Dr. Gairdner B. Moment of Baltimore, adds these forecasts in the first of a series of lectures which 20 American biologists are delivering over the voice of America.

Moment, professor of biology at Goucher College, said scientists are amassing new information about such building blocks of tissue as amino acids and nucleotides.

"When enough is known about amino acids and nucleotides," he said, "it will be possible to produce at will undreamed-of forms of living things."

He said this may "sound fantastic, but so also did the use of nuclear energy only 30 years ago."

Moment said the most important discoveries are being made at the level of the molecules of which living matter is made.

"A new world of what goes on inside the living cells has not only been opened up for human exploration," Moment said, "but detailed metabolic maps have been drawn which show the complex and interconnecting pathways taken by matter and energy during the multiform transformations within living things . . .

"Knowledge of this deeper sort enables us to know for the first time why poisons poison — and hence to find rational antidotes.

"Our total understanding of what makes a living thing alive has been immensely enlarged."

The lectures will constitute the ninth of a series of forums broadcast by the Voice of America on "Arts and Sciences in Mid-Century America."

Morton Hunts for Successor

GOP Chairman Wants to Spend Time on His Senate Re-Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thruston B. Morton, Republican national chairman, is stepping up his search for a successor with the hope that he can bow out of office within the next few weeks.

* * *

Morton is being pressed by Kentucky friends to resign the chairmanship so he can devote more time to the tough job of trying to win re-election to the Senate next year in a state normally regarded as Democratic.

On a recent visit here, the Kentucky national committeeman, John T. Diederich, told reporters he thinks Morton has a good chance to win in 1962, "but he's got to get started pretty soon."

If Morton is re-elected, some Republicans think he will be a man to be reckoned with when the party gets around to picking its 1964 presidential and vice presidential nominees.

* * *

Morton's search for a new chairman acceptable to all factions of the party was reported centering around four men.

A number of Republicans think the leading prospect for the job is Rep. William E. Miller, 47, a Roman Catholic from Lockport, N.Y. As chairman of the Republican campaign committee he is given a large share of the credit for the GOP's gain of 22 seats in the House.

Miller was for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination last year even while New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who later bowed out, was considered a contender. But Miller retains cordial relations with Rockefeller.

Blowup Is Feared at Jackson Prison

DETROIT (AP)—William H. Bannan, Southern Michigan State Prison warden, says tension among the 700 psychotic inmates of the Jackson prison is "approaching the breaking point, and the roof may be blown off at any moment."

Bannan, speaking at a meeting at the Detroit Yacht Club, said trouble, if it comes, "would undoubtedly mean mowing down many mentally deranged inmates with machine guns."

W. Berlin Mayor Sees No Early Crisis Over City

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt says he is "inclined to believe there will be no new Berlin crisis within the next few months" but adds "perhaps later this year."

Brandt is expected to talk about this and other European defense matters when he meets President Kennedy this afternoon at the White House.

* * *

Over the weekend Brandt talked with Kennedy's defense aides. They included Walt W. Rostow, deputy special assistant for security affairs, and Paul Nitze, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

* * *

Brandt made his assessment of the West Berlin situation Sunday in a television interview (NBC-Meet the Press).

Wins Top Award for Handicapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former Marine fighter pilot who was crippled in a wartime plane crash was selected last night as the "Handicapped American of 1960."

The President's Committee on employment of the Physically Handicapped selected Charles E. Caniff, 40, of Evanston, Ill., to receive the annual award.

Caniff, who started the Indiana rehabilitation center in Evansville, Ind., and saw it grow to serve more than one million persons in a three-state area, will receive the President's trophy at a ceremony in Washington on April 27.

Montezuma, Kan., is named for the next to the last chief of the Aztecs of Mexico.

Whiffenpoof in French

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A group of foresters from other countries, in a visit to the Yale University campus, went to Morey's, the eating club renowned in the Whiffenpoof Song. They wanted to hear the song, but few spoke English. All spoke French, so each was given a copy of the song in that language.

Trujillo's Sugar Quota Should Be Eliminated

Last year when Cuba's sugar quota of 2.5 million tons was eliminated, President EISENHOWER asked for discretionary powers to allocate the Cuban share to other countries.

Congress refused and enacted its own formula for dividing up a rich market. This gave the Dominican Republic 321,857 tons in 1960, three times its normal quota.

Prior to this the United States with other OAS members had denounced the TRUJILLO dictatorship for involvement in an attempted assassination of President BETANCOURT of Venezuela. Sanctions were voted.

★ ★ ★

Unfortunately, TRUJILLO has powerful friends in Congress and a well-paid lobby. He and his family own most of the Dominican Republic's plantations and mills. However, President EISENHOWER saw that the TRUJILLOS did not receive the two cents premium normally paid to protect American sugar growers.

★ ★ ★

The Sugar Act expires on March 31 and the situation in Latin America for the United States is even more critical. Last year Undersecretary DILLON told the House Agricultural Committee that TRUJILLO was "a tyrant, a torturer and a murderer." Sec. RUSK currently is asking that TRUJILLO not be given this windfall again.

★ ★ ★

Because foreign policy is directly involved, President Kennedy should be granted the flexible policy needed to assure our sugar supply and to deal fairly with all producers.

If future circumstances warrant, the President should be free to restore Cuba's quota. The danger is that reallocation of that quota might become permanent and that even a friendly government in Cuba would find itself shut out of our sugar market.

Congress Pushing Bill for 69 New Judgeships

Patronage and politics go hand in hand and it is now apparent that former President EISENHOWER was a little lax in this timeworn maneuver. A great deal of the time he tried to hold himself above this sort of thing.

A recent news story points this up when it tells that during the years of Ike's Presidency, Congress held off on creating many badly needed Federal judgeships.

Now with KENNEDY in office they are stampeding to push a bill authorizing some 69 new judgeships. Naturally deserving Democrats will be appointed to fill most of them.

★ ★ ★

We can't help but hope that the next Republican President is a little more realistic and a down to earth politician. Some political dealings at the right time might have set up half these Federal judgeships for appointment during EISENHOWER'S term of office.

Union of South Africa May Be on Probation

The annual meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers and presidents in London is of particular interest to those outside because of the situation in the Union of South Africa where Prime Minister VERWOERD is sure his apartheid policy has been divinely ordained.

The Union becomes a republic on May 31 and if it wishes to remain a member, it will have to ask for the consent of the other Commonwealth nations. These are not only multiracial but have a preponderance of non-white members.

There are many and even conflicting forms of government within this Commonwealth of 550 million people. Each member is completely independent while remaining a part of this strong and influential unity.

So the question of South Africa is not so much its government but the policy of apartheid or segregation which other Commonwealth members from time to time have strongly condemned.

The current conference is behind closed doors and it seems likely that a compromise will be reached. The Union will be warned and perhaps put on probationary status.

★ ★ ★

Nothing would be gained by expelling South Africa. That would leave moderate whites, and they are growing in number, at the mercy of Dr. Verwoerd and harden his attitude.

David Lawrence Says:

Don't Bury Facts on Communism

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives has just given an overwhelming vote of confidence to its Committee on Un-American Activities. But, while this is constructive, it doesn't altogether solve the problem of how to expose the efforts of the Soviet government to infiltrate certain colleges, churches, newspapers, radio and television stations, labor unions and businesses in the United States.

LAWRENCE

The real problem is how to distinguish between those individuals who sincerely and honestly advocate policies they truly believe in and those who are influenced by intermediaries to write or demonstrate in behalf of various causes.

The very movement launched recently on such an extensive scale to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities has become suspect.

While there are many persons who on principle do not like any congressional investigations, there are others who, though joining in the attack on the House committee procedures, are strangely silent when other congressional committees use virtually the same tactics to ferret out the facts.

There was a time in American history when newspapers and magazines alone took the leadership in exposing wrongdoing, but the courts lately have narrowed the freedom of the press in this respect by decisions in libel cases.

Testimony and statements given before Congress and its committees, on the other hand, are immune from damages for libel when published. If, therefore, committee investigations were abolished, the opportunities for misleading the American people and subverting American institutions would grow by leaps and bounds.

The Communists know this, and that's why they have gotten behind the drive to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

FEAR COMMITTEE

Perhaps the clearest explanation of what is going on today has come from the pen of Roy M. Brewer of New York City, vice chairman of the Council against Communist Aggression. He writes:

"The extreme effort which the Communist party is making to destroy and discredit the Committee on Un-American Activities is evidence of the fear which the party has for the disclosures of the committee.

"The usual cry against the committee is that it is maligning innocent people. Innocent in what respect? Innocent of membership in the party, perhaps, but not of being a part of the transmission belt that has sold so much of the Communist line to America and the world.

"Such people are entitled to be treated as misguided persons, but they are not entitled to secrecy to the degree that the apparatus remains hidden and undetected in its operation. The people who are drawn unwittingly into this web should not be branded as traitors, nor should they be considered disloyal. But they should assume responsibility for their acts.

"It is really the lack of understanding of the true nature of communism that has caused the greatest criticism of the House committee. The public doesn't fully understand that one can really be a part of the Communist apparatus without intending to be; that one can serve the Communist purpose without being sympathetic to its aims.

"If the so-called liberals of America want to be worthy of the name, then they must assume the leadership against the most reactionary force in the history of the world—the world Communist conspiracy."

What Brewer says will be echoed by almost all the members of Congress irrespective of party.

They don't want to injure the reputation of anyone who is truly innocent, but they do want American public opinion to be informed that suppression of the facts bearing on the operations of the Communist conspiracy inside the United States is not only un-American but dangerous to the safety of this country.

Smiles

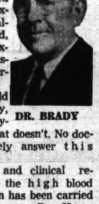

Lots of untruths travel mighty fast although they haven't a leg to stand on.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Cause of Hypertension? Answer Still Not Positive

During the many years that I have been writing these columns, I have received letters daily expressing concern about high blood pressure (or hypertension).

Many people have asked what causes hypertension. They have asked if it is caused by many unrelated things such as abscessed teeth, alcohol, sexual excess, and allergy. In a word, no. But let's extend the discussion a little further.

DR. BRADY

I wish I could say, as positively, what causes hypertension as what doesn't. No doctor can positively answer this question.

Experimental and clinical research to solve the high blood pressure question has been carried on for many years. Dr. Harry Goldblatt has found experimentally that hypertension can be produced by reducing the blood supply to the kidneys.

Then the kidneys in turn secrete a substance into the blood which directly results in high blood pressure. This work may lead eventually to answers to more unsolved problems and to effective methods of treatment.

The trouble with the kidney theory at the present time is that many of the patients with hypertension do not have any known disease of the kidneys.

To further confuse the issue, some hypertensive patients develop kidney damage apparently as a result of the high blood pressure itself.

SOME EVIDENCE

The psychiatrists have turned up with some evidence that hypertension in many cases is due to psychosomatic problems, but there is evidence that some are.

Psychiatry is a science of diseases of the motions and the personality. To illustrate how the emotions can affect the blood pressure, I'll use the case of Mrs. X.

She had had hypertension for many years, and after her physician had her stay in bed for treatment, her blood pressure fell to normal levels.

Several days later she received a letter which contained very distressing news. Immediately her blood pressure jumped up to the original high levels and remained there for several days.

★ ★ ★

One of the prime psychiatric factors of high blood pressure is repressed hostility. Repress means that the hostile feelings are driven into the unconscious mind.

The mind is a curious thing, and it can often play tricks on us.

Until the medical research experts find more evidence, the final word as to the causes of hypertension will remain undisclosed.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters not more than one page or 400 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Tells Dissatisfied Patients to Stay With One Doctor

I have all the faith in the world in my doctor. He spends enough time with me to tell me what is wrong and he uses every day words.

A lot of people don't ask the doctor to explain things. Some go from one doctor to another. If these people would stay with the same doctor and give him a chance, there wouldn't be so many half-sick people.

Writer Speaks for State Employes

It seems to employes at Pontiac State Hospital that the most complaints about them are made by people who know the least about state jobs. When work is plentiful few complaints are made, but when unemployment rises the only place you can cut costs are in the state jobs. When things are going well, you couldn't bribe most people to take these jobs that are too far beneath their dignity.

★ ★ ★

If you think state employes are exempt from paying taxes, you have been misinformed. These same people went without their checks last year when unemployment, welfare and ADC checks were given out. And if you think their working conditions are so ideal, tour your state hospitals during the forthcoming Mental Health Week.

★ ★ ★

There are few other jobs that are so thankless or that are open to so much criticism.

Stands Behind JFK on School Aid

I admire President Kennedy for his stand against Federal aid for parochial and private schools. Our forefathers under the leadership of James Madison and Thomas Jefferson wrote two great principles into our bill of rights. Namely, religious freedom for everybody, and the separation of church and state. And more recently in 1947, 1948 and 1952 our Supreme Court made three important decisions that built a wall of separation between church and state to protect the public treasury from all ordinary religious claims. By declaring that this is the law of our country today, that no tax in any amount, large or small can be levied to support any religious activities or institutions whatever they may be called, or whatever form they may adopt to teach or practice religion.

America First

Tax Tips . . .

QUESTION:

My wife worked during the year and earned $400.00. If I claim her as a dependent, can she file her own return so as to get a refund of the taxes withheld from her pay?

ANSWER:

A spouse is not considered a dependent, so that if separate returns are filed by husband and wife, each may claim one exemption only, if under 65. Your wife may file a separate return and report her income, but you, on a separate return, cannot claim her as an exemption.

Personnel Cutback Lays-Off Man

What type of social ethics is it when at a moment's notice a man of 63 years is told he must be "laid-off" from his county job because of a "cutback" in personnel?

The Michigan unemployment office tells him he is not eligible for unemployment benefits because the county does not contribute to this cause (of course, not phrased in such simple terminology).

What must this man do now; lie down and die? After all, he has raised his family of seven children, one of whom gave his life for his country. This "old" man's job is now done: What need is his for financial stability or self-respect? Too bad he is not yet 65 and thus be eligible for social security retirement.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

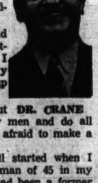

Pay Compliments to Regain Poise

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H — 431: Homer G., aged 29, is a successful insurance man.

"Dr. Crane, we have 49 agents," he began. "They are divided into units of 7 men each. I have charge of one of these.

"For 5 years I have been quite successful. But lately I have grown very self-conscious and analytical. So I am losing my confidence.

"I used to hold group sales meetings, but now I am actually afraid to stand up before people.

"I can go out with one of my men and do all right, but I am afraid to make a speech.

"I think it all started when I hired an older man of 45 in my sales unit. He had been a former lawyer.

"He is inclined to criticize me. Recently he told me that I was slipping in my leadership of the men. Now I'm afraid he has actually caused me to develop a complex.

"For I hate to go to the office in the morning. I am so uncertain and fearful that I blush and act like an amateur.

"I can't go on like this, for my men will lose all their respect for me. So what do you recommend?"

You readers may recall the old rhyme about the centipede:

"The centipede was happy, quite,
Until the toad, in fun,
Asked which leg followed after which.

This wrought him up to such a pitch
He lay quite prostrate in the ditch
Inquiring how to run!"

★ ★ ★

The moral of that little poem is obvious. As soon as we become too analytical, then we interfere with the previous smooth operation of our habits.

Homer was a successful salesman, extrovertive and happy, until this ex-lawyer criticized him. Then Homer grew introspective and analytical.

But the longer he analyzed himself, the less assurance he possessed. And a star salesman must feel sure of himself.

★ ★ ★

Excessive self-analysis is one reason why a person stutters. Some embarrassing slip of the tongue calls his attention to the previous automatic act of speaking. So he figuratively throws a monkey wrench into its smooth machinery.

The person who blushes profusely is also a victim of this undue self-analysis.

At some time in the past his attention was called to his pink skin and red ears. Since then, he keeps thinking about himself exclusively.

Homer is handicapped by this ex-lawyer, who is older and of course desirous of being thought a "big shot" because he once had a successful legal practice.

The lawyer thus tries to browbeat others so he can again stand out as the top man in the group. For it rankles the 45-year-old lawyer's pride to think a 29-year-old is now his boss.

So he has made Homer self-conscious to the point where Homer is ready to quit his job.

★ ★ ★

I urged Homer to re-extrovert himself. To do this quickly, join the "compliment club."

That compels you to analyze others for virtues on which to pay honest compliments.

Meanwhile, your attention is turned off yourself so you no longer feel unduly shy, fearful, or afflicted with imaginary aches and pains.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 30¢ to cover typing and printing costs, for which he send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

The Presidents of the Twentieth Century. We may all have strong feelings about their stewardship of this office but history alone will pass the final judgment. They have led our country through one of the most rapidly changing centuries in history. Many things which are now commonplace were unknown when the first President took office. Through their years we have learned much about our world. Vast knowledge which will save lives and bring a better way of life to men everywhere. Knowledge which could destroy more life in one day than would have died in several centuries in times past. Knowledge which will lead man out from our planet Earth to other planets in our system and to unknown galaxies beyond... if we can only learn to live in peace with one another. When you read The Pontiac Press you will know from day to day the road our President is following. Your newspaper, The Pontiac Press, is your personal link with the White House. It informs you... it protects you. It brings you the news of the Presidents... and All the news of Your World.

Robert Crawford Dies; Wrote 'Air Corps' Song

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert McArthur Crawford, 61, composer of the song "The Army Air Corps," died in a hospital Sunday after a short illness.

Crawford, a former lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserve, had been in New York writing the score of a musical show about Alaska. He was born in the Yukon Territory and spent his childhood in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Ike Enjoys Deep-Sea Fishing

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower and three friends Saturday flew to Mexico to spend a week deep-sea fishing.

* * *

Eisenhower waved and smiled to a crowd of about 300 persons who showed up at the Desert Air Park Runway to see him leave in a private, twin-engine plane.

He apparently has shaken off a cold and a lumbago attack he suffered since arriving here Feb. 8 for an extended vacation after leaving office.

The former chief executive and his companions flew to a fishing spot south of La Paz in Baja California. His companions were Charles Jones, board chairman of Richfield Oil; Freeman Gosden, "Andy" of the "Amos 'n' Andy" radio show; and W. Alton Jones, president of the City Service Utility Co.

* * *

They planned to return late this week at the same time Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower is scheduled to get back from Elizabeth Arden's Maine Chance Salon at Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Eisenhower has been relaxing there for the past week.

'Quiet Sort' on Trial for Murder of Coors

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) - - Joseph Corbett Jr., once described as a quiet sort who never bothered anyone, goes to trial in District Court today for the murder of millionaire Adolph Coors III little more than a year ago.

* * *

Once jury selection is complete, Dist. Atty. Ronald Hardesty estimated the trial itself will take about one month.

Hardesty, in office only two months, has said he will not seek the death penalty.

Michigan Ranks Fifth in Nation in Census Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan ranked fifth in the nation in numerical population gains since the turn of the century, the census bureau announced.

* * *

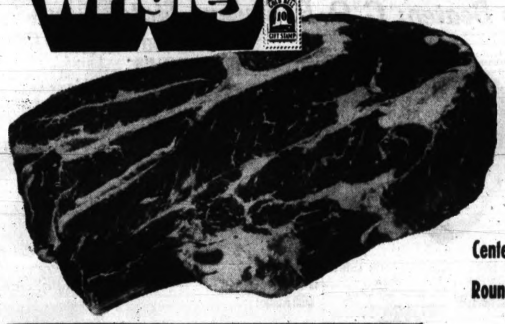

The state's population more than tripled between the 1900 and 1960 censuses, growing from 2,421,000 to 7,823,000 for a 223.1 per cent increase.

The 5,548,000 increase ranked Michigan behind California, New York, Texas and Ohio.

Long or Short Session?

U.S., Reds Argue Agenda for U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A showdown is expected today or Tuesday on whether the current session of the U.N. General Assembly is going to be short and sweet or long and bitter.

Some smaller-power delegations planned consultations aimed at bringing out once and for all whether the Soviet Union and the United States can agree on what should be on the agenda.

CLOSING DATE?

The prospect is that the 21-nation steering committee of the 99-nation assembly would meet Wednesday or Thursday to fix a closing date for the session, which resumed last Tuesday. There was talk of closing on April 21 and leaving all unfinished business over to the 1961 regular session, which starts Sept. 19.

Neither the steering committee, the political committee nor the special political committee has met yet because delegates have been waiting to see whether the Americans and the Soviets could reach an agreement.

The agenda contains 39 items left over from the first part of the current session. These include such controversial issues as Korean unification, U.N. membership for Mauritania and Outer Mongolia, and racial troubles in South Africa.

* * *

The Americans want to put off until next fall all items except disarmament, the Congo, Palestine refugee relief and trusteeship and budgetary matters — with the avowed aim of easing the cold war and smoothing the way for East-West negotiations.

Mackie to Speak to County Dems at Meet Tonight

County Democrats will mix business with pleasure tonight at their quarterly delegate meeting at the Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

The pleasure will come in the form of a talk from their party's spring election standard bearer, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, who'll report on past and future highway construction plans for the state.

It will be Mackie's last appearance before the full Oakland County Democratic Committee before his name goes on the state ballot April 3 in an attempt to win a second four-year term.

The business part of the agenda will follow Mackie's presentation, which County Chairman James M. Ginn said will be open to the public.

* * *

Reports of registration and get-out-the-vote drives for the spring election and how many federal patronage jobs are being funneled out of Washington are expected to make up the business side of the 8 p.m. meeting.

World production of crude oil in 1959 was estimated to be 7,042,000,000 barrels. Of this, the U.S. produced 36.5 per cent.

Herro discovered the theft late Saturday and McCarty, early Sunday.

Call Street Clean-Up Off

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—After a series of tornadoes tore off roofs, knocked out windows and felled tree limbs in the Charleston area, the Business and Professional Women's Club called off a clean-up-the-streets campaign.

Policeman's Murderer Escapes After Tornado

MARBLE HILL, Mo. (UPI) — Tornado damage and heavy rain diverted authorities today and masked the escape route of a 27-year-old fugitive from California accused with two other men of policeman.

Officials resumed an air and ground search at dawn for the desperado, Douglas Wayne Thompson of Bakersfield, Calif., who was believed armed with a rifle and a pistol.

Thompson's two companions, Calvin Willis Johnson, 22, and Sammy A. Tucker, 26, of Fresno, Calif., were captured separately Saturday and charged with first degree murder and felonious assault in the fatal shooting Friday of Herbert Goss, 67, an auxiliary policeman.

Car Barges Right In When Everyone's Asleep

Congress Goes Into High Gear

Hopes to Finish Action on 3 of 4 Major Bills During Week

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress stepped up its legislative pace today and leaders hoped to complete action this week on at least three or four major bills.

The House Rules Committee scheduled a session on three measures expected to clear the House by next weekend. They were bills to restore five-star general's rank to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to authorize military construction projects and to deal with regulation of food additives.

The Senate, which passed the Eisenhower bill last week, was ready to debate a $394-million measure to aid economically depressed areas. A final vote appeared unlikely before Tuesday night or Wednesday, however.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield announced that the Senate would follow the depressed areas bill with action on the treaty to ratify U.S. membership in the 20-nation organization for economic co-operation and development.

* * *

Ratification appeared assured by a unanimous endorsement from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Mansfield said he hoped the Senate also could act this week on the Columbia River Basin, and possibly begin debate on President Kennedy's proposal to extend unemployment compensation payments.

The House completed action last week on the jobless benefits legislation.

Kennedy to Speak at Ad Man's Dinner

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Kennedy will speak at the annual dinner here on the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, on April 27.

Russ Stewart, board chairman of the Bureau of Advertising and executive vice president of the Chicago Sun-Times and Daily News, said the subject of Kennedy's speech has not been announced.

Cap and Gown Old Hat

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Poet Carl Sandburg has been selected to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from UCLA. Sandburg, in addition to already having received 32 honorary degrees, also is the recipient of the Pulitzer Prize for poetry and the Gold Medal of the Poetry Society of America.

Record Number of Newsmen

Eichmann Trial to Be Packed

JERUSALEM (AP) — The biggest army of reporters ever to cover a criminal trial has registered for the proceedings against Adolf Eichmann, due to start next month.

* * *

The total seeking credentials is 560, representing 35 nations. If all show up, they will double the number of correspondents who covered the Nuernberg war crimes trials in 1946.

* * *

Eichmann was a high officer in the German Gestapo during World War II. He is accused of complicity in the death of millions of Jews in a program the Nazis called "the final solution of the Jewish question." Israeli agents captured Eichmann in Argentina last year and brought him to Israel.

Of the 560 press and broadcast correspondents already signed up for credentials, 500 represent media outside Israel. About 100 American publications or radio stations are sending reporters and photographers to the trial.

Press cards have been issued to 44 newsmen from West Germany and seven from East Germany.

Jerusalem's Bet Ha'am—community Center—has been converted into a huge court room. Of its 756 seats 474 have been allotted to reporters. Those who cannot get seats will follow the hearings from a press room through small transistor radios with earphones.

* * *

The radios can be tuned to Hebrew, English, French or German translations. The proceedings will be conducted in Hebrew, with simultaneous translation into the other languages.

The remaining 282 seats in the courtroom are reserved for official observers from foreign governments, foreign diplomats, Israeli officials, judges, lawyers and representatives of political organizations.

To transmit the heavy volume of news reports and photographs the Ministry of Posts is setting up a special communications center within the court compound it self.

Radio circuits will connect the press room with New York, London, Moscow, Paris, Rome, Vienna and Bern.

Everyone entering the compound, reporters and officials, will be searched to prevent firearms or explosives from being brought into the courtroom, the Jerusalem Post says.

A SMART STUNT PROTECTING YOUR GOOD CREDIT RECORD

When I visited my favorite store for my spring needs, all I had to do was say "Charge It" . . . and the merchant was glad to do so because he knew the bill would be paid promptly the following month on the date it was due.

I'll tell you it was a real convenience to be able to buy the things I needed now and pay for them later from my weekly pay checks. If YOU maintain a good credit record, you too can buy almost anything you want at any time and anywhere without waiting for accumulated cash. Be smart, use your credit, don't abuse it.

FDIC VERSUS FS&LIC

Delayed Payoff Privilege of Savings and Loan Associations Compared to Banks' Commitment to Pay Deposits

Considerable attention has been directed toward our editorial of Jan. 24, in which the differences between the payoff procedures of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. were compared.

The intent of our editorial, which created a storm, obviously was misread and we deplore its misuse and distribution in such a way as to become a disservice to the banking industry.

The actual intent of the editorial was to call attention to what we consider a serious condition in the difference of the payoff procedures of the two government insuring agencies.

We wish to express our regret at the unfair and misleading uses to solicitation of savings accounts to which the editorial was put, such as its incorporation in an advertisment in the "Hillsboro, Tex., Daily Mirror," as a "public service."

It never can be "public service", to circulate the implied suggestion that a community's banks and Savings and Loan Associations might be wrecked by embezzlements.

We call the circulating of the editorial "unfair" because by reprinting it alone for public consumption, the implication is given that insurance is all that there is to comparison of insured banks and Savings and Loan Associations—something that bankers and Savings and Loan executives both know is untrue.

We call it also "misleading" because the real nub of difference between banks and Savings and Loan Associations is not how the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation pay off. The difference is the rules under which banks and Savings and Loan Associations can treat demands for withdrawals of cash before they are in default.

As every banker knows—and every bank depositor should know — a bank must meet all checking account withdrawals on demand, and all savings withdrawal orders either on demand, or after 30 days' notice—a very short time.

If an insured bank fails to comply with demands for withdrawals on checking and savings accounts, it is automatically in default; the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation must step in and pay off as soon as it can complete its audit of the closed bank's books.

Savings and Loan Associations Can Delay Withdrawals

However, an insured savings and loan association has the power to delay withdrawals of cash. Its board of directors, at its discretion, can shut off or slow down (for all practical purposes, indefinitely) withdrawals by shareholders, without being in default. This can happen without Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. payoff coming into the picture.

The Federal Savings and Loan System provides three steps by which insured Savings and Loan Associations can delay meeting requests for cash:

(1) They can invoke a 30-day notice requirement, and pay out cash in order of receipt of such 30-day notices from shareholders.

(2) If the inflow of new cash from savings and from mortgage payments is sufficient to meet all of the requests under the 30-day rule, Savings and Loan directors can, without being in default, invoke a section in their Federal charter under which they can require all requests for withdrawals of sums of $1,000 or more to be filed in order received. When and as its inflow of cash permits (and after providing for operating expenses and dividends on shares), the Savings and Loan Associations can decide to pay $1,000 each on these requests in the order received. After each $1,000 payment, each request goes to the end of the file. When all requests ahead of it have been paid the first request comes up for its $1,000, the first request comes up for its second $1,000, and so on, back and forth over the list until all such requests have been paid in full.

There is no time limit specified for making or completing these $1,000 instalment payouts, so they could be delayed until sufficient cash is accumulated to meet them.

(3) An insured Savings and Loan Association also is permitted a method of instalment payout of smaller amounts. It can pay a sum up to $300 monthly—self-same sum to all shareholders—as an additional method of meeting withdrawal requests.

Such procedure in a bank would place it in default—bankrupt—and the bank examiners and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation would take over and the payoff would be in order at once. However, an insured Savings and Loan Association can exercise all the above powers to delay encashment of their savings accounts without being considered in default, and without Federal Savings and Loan Insurance payoff in cash or otherwise.

Banks Must Keep Liquid

Banks are committed to liquidity in both checking and saving accounts. They cannot invest 90% or more of their savings in mortgages as Savings and Loan Associations may, and as a result they cannot pay high rates of interest.

When a Savings and Loan shareholder accepts the higher rate being paid by a Savings and Loan he becomes an investing member in an association, a partner in it. His position is quite different from the way a depositor is a creditor of his bank. As a Savings and Loan Association investor, he accepts the provision of its charter permitting slow-down, or shut-off of withdrawals in cash. It is an old principle of finance that liquidity and high yields cannot always be had together. For this reason the Savings and Loan Associations are chartered with built-in legal protection for the illiquidity of their investment operations, as distinguished from banks of deposit.

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Does Good Job

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation does its job well. According to its 1959 annual report, more than 1,400,000 depositors with total deposits of more than $600 million received their deposits in full, by merger in 182 cases and by payoff in cash soon after closing, in the cases of 257 banks in the period since deposit insurance began in 1934.

The merger method is used by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, where bankable assets are equal to the amount of a defunct bank's deposits. In view of the fact that between 4% and 5% of insured Savings and Loan Associations' accounts are over $10,000, it is a question whether there may be cases where the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation may have to deviate from the merger method.

The fact that Savings and Loan Associations look like banks does not make them banks. The fact that they can pay cash withdrawal requests without delay as long as the inflow of funds exceeds the outflow, does not mean that in periods of recession they will be able to do so.

When people put their money into banks, or invest it, they should know all the facts, not part of them.

That is why the reprinting and circulating of the "American Banker" editorial as a means of soliciting savings, strikes us as unfair, and misleading. It presented only a part of the facts about banks and Savings and Loan Associations.

It should be in the public interest that people know all of the facts about the way banks and Savings and Loan Associations differ. They should know the rules under which banks must meet withdrawals in quick order, while insured Savings and Loan Associations, if pressed, may continue to operate without paying on demand requests of shareholders for cash.

Spy Trial Opens in London Today

Two Americans Among 5 Charged With Selling Secrets to Moscow

LONDON (UPI) — Britain charged today that a spy ring of five persons, headed by a Russian posing as a Canadian citizen, stole vital naval secrets and transmitted them to Moscow from the cellar of a shabby suburban bungalow. The trial opens today.

(The FBI in Washington has identified two of the defendants as Americans).

At the Bar of Justice in the No. 1 Court of the Old Bailey, three men and two women went on trial in Britain's most sensational spy case since Klaus Fuchs was convicted of giving atomic secrets to the Communists in 1950.

All the defendants pleaded innocent, a jury of 12 men was chosen with the traditional speed of British justice and the attorney general of the realm, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, personally opened the case for the crown.

He unfolded to the court a cloak-and-dagger story of how British counterespionage agents followed a winding trail through London's streets.

It brought them at last, he said, to a cottage in the suburb of Ruislip occupied by a bookseller named Peter John Kroger and his wife Helen.

This place, Sir Reginald told the jury and Britain's Lord Chief Justice Lord Parker, who chose to preside personally over the case, contained a powerful radio transmitter hidden under the kitchen floor.

Head-On Collision in Orion

5 Hospitalized by Crashes

Five persons were hospitalized in Pontiac as the result of three separate traffic accidents over the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today was Buford Johnson, 40, of 4230 Clarkston Road, Orion Township. He suffered a ruptured spleen in a two-car head-on collision near his home Saturday.

Injured in the same crash was James Eubanks, 44, of 288 S. East Boulevard. He has facial cuts and is in satisfactory condition at the hospital.

Mrs. Joseph Ward, 32 of 554 E. Madison St., Pontiac, sustained a fractured arm when two cars collided at a Pontiac Township intersection Sunday evening.

★ ★ ★

The only one injured in the crash, she was in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

CAR SWERVES

The driver and a passenger were injured when a car swerved out of control in Commerce Township Saturday afternoon and smashed into two mailboxes and four trees.

Both Mrs. Harold E. Herriman, 46, and Miss Thelma I. Tubert, 32, of Garden City were in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General. Mrs. Heriman suffered a fractured knee cap and Miss Tubert received facial cuts and a fractured arm in the crash.

Mrs. Herriman told sheriff's deputies she lost control of the car when it skidded on mud on Carroll Lake Road, a quarter mile south of Cooley Lake Road. The car careened 183 feet, after knocking down the mailboxes, before crashing into the trees, deputies said.

Mrs. Herriman's two grandsons, Edgar, 13, and Gerald, 12, both of Garden City also, were treated for minor injuries at the hospital and released.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ward was a passenger in a car driven by her husband when it collided with another at Baldwin Road and Galogyle Street in Pontiac Township.

Driver of the other car, Miss Guadaloupe Ramirez, 27, of 431 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac, said the Ward car executed a left turn into her path and she was unable to avoid it.

Both she and Ward escaped injury.

Johnson and Eubanks were hurt when the latter lost control of the wheel Saturday morning on Baldwin Road in Orion Township. The car careened over the center line on a curve, a quarter mile south of Clarkston Road, and smashed into an oncoming vehicle.

★ ★ ★

Driver of the other car, Charles Scribner, 42, of 3461 Baldwin Road, Orion Township, was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released.

Red China Bargains Over U. S. Newsmen

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today demanded the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Formosa as the price of admission of U.S. newspapermen.

The information department of the ministry of foreign affairs made the announcement in commenting on the recent U.S.-Red Chinese talks in Warsaw.

Radio Peiping said the demand first was made last Sept. 6 and still stands.

Truck Narrowly Misses Williams on African Road

MONROVIA, Liberia (UPI) — Assistant Secretary of State G. Mennen Williams narrowly missed being involved in an automobile accident Sunday while returning from a tour of the countryside around Monrovia.

★ ★ ★

Williams was in the front car of a six-car convoy. A three-quarter ton pickup truck passed three of the six cars at a 70-miles-an-hour clip and overturned when the driver lost control, bruising but not hurting seriously the 12 passengers and driver.

Swainson Finds Public Apathy on Tax Reform

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. Swainson warned business leaders today that if they fail to support his tax program, or "something close to it," tax relief may not be forthcoming for Michigan's business and industry.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of Detroit, Swainson said so far the business community has been publicly silent on his fiscal reform program.

"For some time now," he said, "the business and industrial community has said that it was forced to assume unfair tax burdens, that some taxes were detrimental to growth.

Farmers Pin Hopes on JFK

Rural Union Long-Time Advocate of Policies Urged by Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the elation of pilgrims reaching the promised land after eight years of tribulations, members of the National Farmers Union today opened their annual convention.

The 750,000-member union is a long-time advocate of the kind of farm marketing controls and farm income-boosting programs endorsed by President Kennedy. It was almost continuously on the outs with the Eisenhower administration.

★ ★ ★

James G. Patton, president of the smallest of the nation's three major general farm groups, said in advance of the three-day convention:

"Farm people have been patient. For eight years they have watched their programs diluted and destroyed. Now their government is rebuilding, and they are showing great enthusiasm over the change in attitude."

He predicted Sunday that Kennedy "will probably be sending to Congress his first special message on agriculture while we are in session." The message is expected to include Kennedy's proposals for new long-range farm legislation backed by th efarmers union.

This is the first national convention ever held in the nation's capital by the 59-year-old group which has chartered units in 20 states and organizations in 6 others.

Most farmers union membership is west of the Mississippi. The group operates allied insurance and farm marketing and supply cooperatives, including the Farmers Union Grain Terminal Association of St. Paul, Minn., the nation's largest grain marketing co-op.

In addition to routine business, the convention schedule today includes annual reports by several other farmers union officials. Patton will deliver the keynote address tonight to the 2,000 delegates.

★ ★ ★

Later in the week, delegates will be addressed by Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman, Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg, and several other government officials including John A. Baker, director of agricultural credit services. Until recently Baker was a Washington legislative representative for the farmers union.

World Understanding Week is an annual effort on the part of Rotary clubs throughout the world to focus attention on continuing peace and understanding among people and government of all countries.

Bentley, who will discuss the subject "Our Shrinking World" before several local organizations and nearby Rotary clubs invited to the meeting, also was a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

As a member of the committee, he went to Berlin in 1959 to obtain first-hand information on conditions. He was a delegate in October to the first American-German Conference held in Germany.

The public is invited to hear the address, following the dinner, without charge. The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and the talk at 7:30 p.m.

At Oxford High School

Chorale Will Sing Sunday

OXFORD—The 69 teen-agers in the Michigan Chorale who will take part in the "Youth for Understanding" program this summer in South America are slated to make their only local appearance here Sunday.

Included in the group of young songsters are 29 Oakland County high school students, three of them from Oxford High School where the chorale will perform Sunday at 4 p.m.

Among the vocalists are David Gark, Russell Valentine and Leslie McWilliams, all seniors at Oxford High School.

Proceeds from the concert here will be given to the three local youths to help pay their expenses on the South American tour. Sunday's program is sponsored by the Oxford Music Club, Junior Women's Club, Lions and Rotary clubs.

Except for the funds received in benefit concerts, all members of the chorale pay their own expenses on the tour which is sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches.

The chorale will leave the United States June 26 to fly to four capitols south of the border. The group will present one concert a day before returning here Aug. 28.

Members of the chorale will stay with South American families while on their tour. They will spend two weeks in Bogota, Colombia; Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; and Montevideo, Uruguay; with stops in Mexico City, Mexico; Dallas, Tex.; and Chicago, Ill.; en route home.

The group has a repetoire which includes music from Stephen Foster to Bach. They also sing spirituals, hymns and Spanish numbers.

BY AUDITIONS

Like all other members of the chorale, the three Oxford youths were chosen for the tour in competitive auditions before Lester McCoy, director of the Choral Union at the University of Michigan. McCoy will travel with the group in South America.

★ ★

Gark, a first tenor, is a member of the mixed ensemble and choir at Oxford High. He has studied on a scholarship at Interlochen. McWilliams, also a member of the choir and mixed ensemble at the high school, is a baritone and an accomplished pianist.

Valentine, a member of the mixed ensemble and high school choir, is president of the boys music club. A second tenor, he took the lead in local productions of "Good News" and "Oklahoma!"

★ ★ ★

Other area students in the chorale include Chalmers Brumbaugh of Bloomfield Hills; John W. Bird and Judith Eldred, both of Rochester; and Ralph Adams, Marlene Beale, Susan Greenlee and Barbara Griffin, all of Pontiac.

FROM COUNTY

Other county students in the group are Sue Millapaugh, David Parrish and Bonnie Shepard, all of Walled Lake; Patricia Oaks of Holly;; William F. Greene of Milford; Richard Benninger and Katherine Harger of Orchard Lake; Gordon Bush of Clawson.

Arnold P. Czarneck, Mary Louise Meharg, Irene Suess and George Wilke, all of Southfield; Thomas Threlkeld of Pleasant Ridge; Carol Jones of Northville; Jerry G. Alkire and Norman York of Ferndale; and Elizabeth G. Barnett, Robert Jessup and Barbara Sala, all of Royal Oak.

Zoning Notice Action Clarified

Landowners Inside 500 Feet of Area Must Be Informed of Hearing

An official of the Oakland County Planning Commission said township zoning boards in the county must give notice of public hearings to all owners of property located within 500 feet from the perimeter of the property to be rezoned.

Clyde E. Cooke said he wished to correct an earlier United Press International story that appeared in The Pontiac Press which stated that "no notice of the public hearings need be mailed to owners of property within 500 feet of the property affected by the zoning hearing."

The statement was made following an opinion by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams in which he said that township officials are required to mail notices of zoning hearings only to public utilities and railroads which "actively serve the public and have an interest in the pattern of development of the district affected."

"This opinion refers only to amending an interim zoning ordinance," Cooke said. "There are no longer any townships in Oakland County operating under an interim ordiance."

"A postcard notice is sufficient," Cooke said.

Soon township officials will receive from the planning commission copies of a bulletin on amending township zoning ordinances outlining the entire procedure, Cooke said.

Plan Jewish Seminary

SOUTHFIELD — A fund drive to raise $300,000 to finance construction of a Jewish seminary here will begin Sunday with a kickoff dinner at Cobo Hall.

Rabbi Moses Rothenberg, dean of the Yeshivath Chachmey Lublin Theological Seminary, said plans call for building a one-story school and synagog on its new campus at 10½-Mile and Greenfield roads.

The 32-year-old seminary has been meeting in a house on the campus since selling its quarters at 12015 Linwood in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Rabbi Rothenberg said the enrollment of 40 is expected to double with the opening of the new seminary.

★ ★ ★

Besides the school and synagog the campus will contain a library, science laboratory and a dormitory.

Millionaire Takes Life by Jumping

NEW YORK (AP) — Multimillionaire Hanns Ditisheim, 59, Swiss-born financier, plunged to his death Sunday from the roof of a 17-story Bronx building. Police said it was an apparent suicide.

A note from Ditisheim to his wife, Cornelia, was found on the roof. Police declined to disclose its contents but they said it emphasized worry over his health and not his finances.

★ ★

Mrs. Ditisheim said she awakened in the morning to find her husband missing from their 18-acre estate, Les Oiseaux, in Tarrytown, N.Y. She identified the body here.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ditisheim told police her husband had appeared in good spirits Saturday. She said he spent the entire day at home.

The building from which Ditisheim plunged, one of seven apartment houses in the $16 million Fordham housing development, is owned by the Canal-Randolph Corp., of which Ditisheim was president and director.

Canal-Randolph also is the major shareholder of United Stockyards, the nation's largest stockyard company. Ditisheim and his backers took over the company in 1959.

★ ★ ★

As president of Canal-Randolph, he had been reported trying to gain control of the huge Montgomery Ward Co., following a similar effort by financier Louis Wolfson that failed.

Laos Ex-Official Asks U.S. Keep Hands Off

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos said today that peace in his war-torn homeland depends on whether the U.S. government will truly support real neutralism in Laos.

Souvanna, who agreed last week with a representative of the Western-backed government of Prince Boun Oum to try to secure a truce between the pro-Communist rebels and the government forces, was critical of U.S. policy toward Laos in recent years.

5 priceless gifts that parents can provide for their children

How the unique advantages of life insurance can help parents give children a better start—bringing peace of mind at the stroke of a pen

1 A sense of security. With life insurance, a family is protected right from the start. For only life insurance guarantees, at the stroke of a pen, an amount of money far greater than most couples could save in many years.

2 A protected home. A prudent husband safeguards the home his family loves by owning enough life insurance to take care of any unpaid mortgage. Life insurance guarantees this protection.

3 A college education. By figuring in advance what it will cost to give their children a college education, parents can make sure—through their life insurance—that college expenses can be met.

4 A confident family atmosphere. A family can face the future and accept new job opportunities with much more confidence because of life insurance protection. And, with life insurance, parents know in advance exactly how much money will be available for an emergency at any given time.

5 Freedom to achieve their goals. Children have greater freedom to pursue their own ambitions when life insurance guarantees their parents a steady lifelong retirement income.

• • •

The wise family head carefully estimates his family's future needs, then plans his life insurance accordingly. Since family circumstances often change, many couples review their programs with their life insurance agent each year. In this way, they get the most from the unique advantages of their life insurance.

Student Play Sees Outsiders Getting Into Act

Thriller to Be Offered at City School

By DICK SAUNDERS

Approximately 75 Washington Junior High School students will see several months of hard work bear its fruit Friday night at 7:30.

The product should be as sweet as success can be.

★ ★ ★

When the auditorium lights dim, the audience will be thrust into "Flight Into Danger" — a dramatic effort unparalleled in the school's history.

The Washington Pioneer Players are attempting something — on both a dramatic and technical level — usually reserved for senior high and college acting groups.

"This is the first time a play of this scope has been attempted at the junior high level anywhere, as far as we know," said Glenn F. Hartman, director and speech instructor.

"Flight Into Danger' has been adapted for the stage by Christopher Sergel. It was originally a celebrated television play by Arthur Hailey.

The plot revolves around events which take place when the crew of a huge airliner is stricken with food poisoning while in flight to Los Angeles.

UNIQUE STAGING

In an attempt to achieve realism and vividness of event, the production will be unique in the fact that staging facilities are being expanded into the audience.

The interior of an airliner and the ship's cockpit are being constructed on stage.

A control tower has been constructed in the first few rows of auditorium seats.

The fuselage will be built about 3 feet off the stage, and the floor of the 8 by 10 foot control tower will also stand some 3 feet above floor level.

★ ★ ★

The tower will be glassed-in so the audience will be able to see the action clearly.

The play's "curtain" will be lighting. The lights will fade from one set as they rise on another.

PLAY KEY ROLE

This calls for plenty of planning and timing for art instructor Trayer Miller, in charge of lighting.

Miller and his crew of seven students play a key role in the production.

The technical side will have a real professional look due to the help of outside organizations.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is sending technicians this week to install radio communications between the control tower and airliner. They will also provide head phones for the actors.

General Motors Truck & Coach Division is donating 10 seats for the interior of the airliner.

DONATE HEADSETS

Robbins Flying Service, at Pontiac Municipal Airport, is donating headsets for pilot and copilot. Personnel from Robbins is also assisting in an advisory capacity to insure realism and authenticity in the production.

Appearing in the lead roles will be Bob Dudley and Carolyn Spanburg.

Other key roles will be played by Mark Walker, Joanne Lynch, Jon Hartman, John Hofmeister, Ann Fulton, Cindy Morrell, Betty Nyhof, Char Everett, Carol Dodd and Roger Putnam.

★ ★ ★

Also in the student cast are Jum Briney, Mike Harmon, Susan Capuzzi, Cheri Wyrick, Christine Bexell, Nathan Jones, Dave Brown, Diane Mitchell, Jack Blestein, Russell Underwood and Bob Isgrigg.

Assistant director is Elaine Pyrros, English and speech instructor.

Staff heads include Pamela LaLonde, stage manager; Dave Dunlap, publicity; Diann Mitchell, advertising; and Jeanie Jenner and Jack Bletstein, ticket chairmen.

The students are charging 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students to see the show. Tickets can be obtained from Washington students, at the door, or at Felice Quality Market, 238 S. Telegraph Road.

It will be the first evening dramatic performance at the junior high school in eight years.

CONTROL TOWER CREW — The most unusual setting in Washington Junior High's production will be this control tower off-stage at audience level. It is now partially constructed. Finishing touches will be added this week. Actors and actresses who do scenes from the tower are (from left) David Brown, Michael Harmon, Nathan Jones, Cheri Wyrick, and Diann Mitchell. The production, originally a television play, is being attempted for the first time in this area. Pontiac Press Photo

Board Will Consider Black Topping Streets

The only items scheduled for tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting are a hearing for black topping two streets, according to Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

The hearings, scheduled from 7 to 9, involve a stretch of road on Cheeseman Street from Frembes Street to Sashabaw Road, at a total cost to property owners of $10,200. A second hearing to be held at the same time involves an area on Riveria Street from Elizabeth Lake Road to Beechgrove Street.

REHEARSING PLANE SCENE — These Washington Junior High School students are rehearsing a scene which will greet an audience in the school auditorium Friday night. The play, "Flight Into Danger," takes place on an airplane. This is actually two sets — a cockpit and a passenger area of the giant airliner. The actors and actresses are (from left) Bob Dudley, Carol Spanburg, JoAnne Lynch, Jon Hartman, Roger Putnam, Jim Briney, Susan Capuzzi, John Hofmeister, Betty Nyhof, Cindy Morrell, Carol Dodd, Char Everett and Mark Walker.

Liz Breathing Without Tube

Actress Talks Freely With Eddie and Parents; Recovery Assured

LONDON (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor was breathing naturally today, minus the special throat tube she used for eight days in her fight against double pneumonia.

Removal of the tube in a five-minute procedure Sunday at the Longon Clinic was a sign of further progress in the movie star's recovery. Her critical illness had made necessary an oxygen-pumping electronic lung machine, a blood transfusion and intravenous feeding, now ended.

★ ★ ★

"Miss Taylor is now going along very nicely," said a spokesman at the exclusive hospital.

Miss Taylor, 29, conversed freely during the day with her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, and her parents.

Fisher praised the team of doctors and nurses and the clinic staff who had fought to keep his wife alive.

He added: "There is now every reason to believe that she will recover fully from the dreadful illness which so very nearly took her life more than once this past week."

★ ★ ★

He also expressed appreciation "to the many thousands of friends throughout the world, unknown to us personally, who by their messages of prayer and encouragement and faith helped us importantly to keep alive our own sometimes faltering hope."

Car Crash Trial Starts

CAMERON, Tex. (AP) — The trial of a Texas A&M student charged with murder without malice in the car wreck that killed singer Johnny Horton last November starts here Tuesday. James Evans Davis, 19, was injured when his car collided with the car belonging to the singer.

Says Recession Has Hit Bottom but Aid Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges says the recession has "hit the bottom" and the economy is recovering but that President Kennedy's antirecession program still is needed.

Hodges said legislation to help areas which have suffered from chronic unemployment — the so-called depressed areas — was particularly essential.

Hodges rejected the contention of a number of Republicans that Kennedy's antirecession proposals should be scrapped because some statistics indicate the business outlook is brightening.

But he said a temporary income tax cut probably would not be needed to pump more purchasing power into the economy. Kennedy had promised to consider such a cut if business did not improve by spring.

Floods Halting Ferries

TIPTONVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ferries at Cottonwood Point, Powell's Landing and Tiptonville have suspended operations due to Mississippi River flooding. The nearest bridges are at Cairo, Ill., and Memphis.

Whaling nations of the world signed an agreement in 1937 not to take cow whales running with calves.

Teamsters to Halt Port Strike on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Attorney Sam Kagel announced early today that an agreement had been reached to end the four-day strike of Teamsters against the port of San Francisco.

Kagel, who acted as mediator in the dispute, said the agreement was reached during a 15-hour meeting with representatives of the Pacific Maritime Association (PMA), the Teamsters Union, and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU).

The San Francisco attorney declined to give any of the details of the agreement, but said "Teamsters and Longshoremen will report to work as of this morning."

A similar strike in Los Angeles, which started last Tuesday, was settled Friday night.

Boys Steal Fire Truck, Take Fast Siren Ride

CRANDALL, Tex. (AP)—Three boys stole the city's fire truck and raced over the countryside Sunday, siren screaming and red light flashing.

Four other boys in a car chased the truck, thinking it would lead them to a fire.

Boys in the fire truck, thinking the car occupied by police, swerved into a deadend road.

Two boys on the truck fled. The third waited for police to arrest him. Officers are looking for the other two.

Recital at Temple Brilliant

Charles A. Wilson Plays New Organ for Large Crowd

By JAY JACOBSON

Charles A. Wilson, minister of music and choirmaster of First Congregational Church and organist at Temple Beth Jacob, presented a brilliant and diversified organ recital Sunday afternoon at Temple Beth Jacob, Mr. Wilson played with great variety and understanding and gave the feeling of complete identity with both the instrument and the music.

The program opened with the seven part Suite of Clerambault, a contemporary of Bach, in which the varying stops of the organ were used very adroitly. Especially noteworthy stops were the Basse et Trompette and Dialogue. Bach's "Toccata in the Dorian Mode" is a fine example of the master's unique contrapuntal style and Mr. Wilson executed the difficult passages with musicianship and finesse. Haydn's "Musical Clocks" was in whimsical contrast to the more serious opening selections and it was played with humor and lightness.

The two selections representing modern Jewish composers were "Prayer at Midnight" by Berlinski and "March" by Bloch. The first evoked a mood of intense religious feeling at the same time that its atonal expressiveness was tempered in the traditional mode.

In the "March," the great Ernest Bloch successfully combined the usual form with the harmonies for which he was so famous. The program closed with "Plainte and Dialogue sur les Mixtures" by Langlais. These contemporary works are beautifully contrasted with each other, and Mr. Wilson gave each of them a reading of great sensitivity and depth.

The new organ at Temple Beth Jacob is an addition to the musical life of this community and the large audience that attended this recital gave proof that fine organ music played as Mr. Wilson interpreted it will always be highly appreciated in Pontiac.

Caroline Kennedy, 3-year-old daughter of the President carries a toy six-shooter and a purse as she leaves the Georgetown home of her aunt Mrs. Stephen Smith to join her father in a waiting automobile. Caroline's comings and goings have become as newsworthy and interest-loaded as those of her famous parents.

Caroline Keeps GOP Reeling

By RONALD H. NESSEN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This joke is making the rounds here:

First Republican: I think we can beat Kennedy in 1964.

Second Republican: Yes, but can we beat Caroline?

Some GOP politicians fear there's more truth than humor in that little gag.

And it's not just President Kennedy's daughter who is stealing headlines. Presidential nieces, nephews and assorted in-laws by the nursery-full are garnering columns and columns of newspace with their high jinks.

★ ★ ★

For instance, the President granted his nephew Bobby (son of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy) a formal appointment last Saturday after the lad wrote him, "Dear Jack: I would like to see you sood."

Seven-year-old Bobby gave his Uncle Jack a salamander named Shadrach in a foot-high glass vase.

Associate White House Press Secretary Andrew W. Hatcher suggested with tongue in cheek that perhaps Bobby jealously wanted equal space with his much-publicized cousin Caroline. Almost daily front pages carry pictures and stories on the exploits of this golden-haired bundle of energy and mischief.

Caroline dancing at a diplomatic reception; Caroline kissing her baby brother's feet; Caroline riding on daddy's shoulders; Caroline losing her pet hamsters; Caroline shuffling into a Kennedy news conference wearing her mother's shoes; Caroline welcoming former President Harry S. Truman to "our" house; Caroline stretching out in a church pew; Caroline keeping her father waiting while she chats with a reporter; Caroline brandishing a toy six shooter.

The President's 3-year-old daughter is the star performer of a sort of our gang of administration offspring.

Another White House member is her 4-month-old brother John Jr., born in the glare of publicity the day after Thanksgiving, ensconced in a white nursery in the executive mansion and the subject of more published photographs than any other baby in years.

The largest single contingent in the new frontier youth brigade belongs to Attorney General Kennedy—seven children.

The sports-minded attorney general often winds up a busy day at the Justice Department by tossing a football around his office with his older kids.

KIDS ROMP

One day last week, all seven of his children descended on the department at the same time. They raced up and down corridors, popped into the press room and even fired off queries to startled officials over daddy's intercom.

Then there are platoons of Kennedy sisters, brothers and other assorted relatives, all with children who are forever doing something cute or prankish or otherwise diverting.

★ ★ ★

In the words of a Gridiron Club spoof (to the accompaniment of a Gilbert and Sullivan tune), the President is surrounded by:

". . . His sisters and his cousins and his aunts, And also his brothers and his in-laws and his aunts, His uncles and his cousins whom he reckons up by the dozens, And his aunts."

The quantity and exuberance of the Kennedy kiddie korps is reminiscent of the days when Teddy Roosevelt's brood used the Lincoln bed as a trampoline and snuggled a pet goat to the upper floors of the White House in the elevator.

Like TR's brood, the Kennedy youngsters frequently are seen with animals.

In addition to her hamsters, Caroline's White House pets at one time or another have included "Robin" the canary, "Tom Kitten" the cat, "Charlie" the welsh terrier, two ducks and a rabbit.

The hamsters, Debby and Billy, twice have escaped from their cages. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger announced after the latest recapture that "security measures" had been tightened.

★ ★ ★

Charlie was sent to the Virginia estate of Caroline's grandparents where there is more room to romp. Tom Kitten was given to the children of Mrs. Kennedy's secretary.

There's an old newspaper axiom that everyone wants to read about children, animals and celebrities.

Many a Republican strategist must lie awake nights pondering: How do you beat 'em when the Kennedy clan combines all three?

Button Earrings May Become Saucer Sized!

NEW YORK (UPI)—Short, simple hairdos, big bulky hats and lengthening necklaces spell bigger, more dramatic earrings—button or drop—for spring.

The Fashion Coordination Institute reports that the size of button earrings has grown so dramatically that today an earring considered daring a year ago seems almost conservative to a woman's eye.

Gals' Thumbs Down – Abby

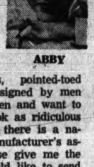

Blunt on Pointed Shoes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am sick of hearing the beefs about pointed shoes for women. The reason we sell so many is because you women must WANT them.

SHOE SALESMAN

DEAR SHOE SALESMAN: Please don't tell me what we women want. We take what we can get. I am convinced that the sack dress, those goofy mile-high hair-dos (that no woman can comb herself) and those hideous, pointed-toed shoes were designed by men who hate women and want to make them look as ridiculous as possible. If there is a national shoe manufacturer's association, please give me the address. I would like to send them all the mail I receive from women who protest the new style shoes. A letter (or postcard) to this column will help—and I lead all the rest.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am with you all the way in your campaign to get rid of those homely Wizard of Oz witches' shoes. I have a long and narrow foot, (nine) and you can imagine what my feet look like in the new spring shoes. I refuse to wear gray shoes because they look like gun boats.

GUN BOAT ANNIE

DEAR ABBY: My husband can tell you how much women suffer from pointed shoes. Especially young girls whose feet are still developing. They are making themselves candidates for bunion surgery and a multitude of other foot disorders.

PODIATRIST'S WIFE

DEAR ABBY: The pointed toes are bad enough, but oh, those heels! I have to walk "tippee toe" so I won't get my heels caught in gratings, between cracks in the sidewalks, or even on shag carpets. Please, please help us get some sensible shoes before I break my neck.

TIPPEE TOE

DEAR ABBY: This will kill you! Now they have pointed-toed bowling shoes! Abby, are they going crazy?

GOING BAREFOOT

DEAR ABBY: The woman who complained about pointed shoes is no doubt wearing cheap shoes. Also she is probably one of those peacocks who needs a size 8 B and fights with the shoe clerk to make him give her a 7 double A. The new pointed shoes are beautiful and comfortable when you get the proper fit.

SHOE MAN

DEAR ABBY: In reply to "FOOTSORE AND WEARY" you said, "I have been told the women love the new pointed-toed shoes." Please tell me exactly who told you that women love these asinine, ridiculous, pointed atrocities?

AUGUSTA

DEAR AUGUSTA: Every shoe salesman to whom I complained.

DEAR ABBY: I beat the fashion experts and ruined my feet years ago when it was stylish to cram your foot into a pointed shoe. Now I wear leather moccasins just like the Indians did.

COMFORTABLE

DEAR ABBY: You are to be commended for the letters on mental illness you ran in your column. In those letters I saw so clearly the attitude of society, which makes it so difficult for the emotionally disturbed to recover.

I had 10 years of emotional trouble and was one of the lucky ones whose family stood by me. I wonder how many people know anything of the dark and horrible world a mentally ill person lives in.

There are no words to describe the fear and terror. And then the hurt they receive when trying to recover and they become aware of the strange things they did during their illness.

Society has done a good job in making the mental patient ashamed. Too much cannot be said about the attitude of the public concerning mental illness.

If ever a human needs understanding and patience, it is the one who is in the dark and lonely world of mental illness. I lived there—and I know.

DEAR ABBY: When we were married, I bought my husband a wedding band to match the one he gave me. I wear mine all the time, but he refuses to wear his to work. He makes up the excuse that it is dangerous for anyone working around machinery to wear a ring. I think this is a lot of hooey. How can a wife hang on to a husband who tries to pass himself off as a single man?

MARRIED AND PROUD OF IT

DEAR MARRIED: Your husband's "excuse" for not wanting to wear his wedding band is probably valid. Don't insist that he wear it to work unless you want a nine-fingered husband.

Ask Guest to Have Tea; Go Ahead

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: We have a very late dinner and I usually have a cup of tea and some crackers in the afternoon to tide me over until dinner time. A great many of my friends never eat between meals.

Should any of them come in to see me in the afternoon, would it be proper for me to have my usual snack even though they do not have anything, or would it be considered rude to eat in their presence?

A: Explain that because of your late dinner you are going to have a snack and ask your visitors if they will join you, and even if they don't, it will be proper for you to eat in their presence.

Q. The other day I went to a restaurant with a friend and passed the table of other friends with whom I stopped for a minute to exchange greetings.

The man with whom I was dining did not stop but walked ahead to get a table.

I think he was very rude to have walked away and that he should have stopped with me to meet my friends.

He claims that since these friends were strangers to him, he was perfectly right in walking ahead. I would like your opinion.

A: If you did not ask him to stop and meet your friends he was quite right in not adding to the interruption of their dinner by being introduced to them.

★ ★ ★

Q: The gifts for my wedding attendants are all bought with the exception of one, and that is something for my little niece, aged four, who is to be a flower girl. Will you please help me out by giving me some suggestions as to what to buy for her?

A: A locket or a charm bracelet would be most suitable.

Child Needs to Learn Fine Art of Pushing

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our younger child is an outgoing little boy of three except for the way he treats his brother. He pushes him.

In the car he scrambles over his brother and will shove at him until he squeezes into the space next to me. Recently George was showing me a school drawing he'd made when Jody climbed up on my knee and pushed George away.

I can't forget the sad look that came over my older boy's face. But he wouldn't talk to me about it. He is overweight for his age, quite chubby . . . .

ANSWER: Repressed anger can make us fat.

And it is inevitably an anger-creating experience for an only child to be displaced by a second one. We ourselves start shoving him away. We can't help it.

We may have to shove him away when we feed the baby, bathe him, rush to the sound of his wail. The result is, our older child becomes uncertain of his position.

So, when the new baby is old enough to push him he may, like George, accept the pushes instead of resisting them.

I'm glad you caught the look of sadness on your older boy's face. Now you have reason to know that he needs help in order to claim his position beside you in the car or on the sofa.

Though we cannot tell him to fight for it, we can encourage him to realize that he wants to.

★ ★ ★

We can declare his right to his share of favored positions in the car, before the TV set — and keep on declaring it until he's sure enough of our support of his right to assert it by shoving his little brother back.

★ ★ ★

That hoped-for shove will be fine for his little brother, too.

It is difficult for children to grow fond of brothers and sisters who always allow themselves to be pushed aside.

You can't make friends with a pudding. Though we parents find submissive children endearing, brothers and sisters don't. Indeed, I suspect that many of your younger boy's bullying pushes derive from his hope of encountering another pusher in his brother—an interesting, vigorous and respectable resister.

★ ★ ★

It is often an older child's emotional confusion about his family place that makes him the submissive victim of a younger one's displacing pushes and shoves. That is the confusion we try to clarify by declaring his right to oppose the pusher.

Substitute for Potatoes Mixes Rice and Pasta

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

A pilaf is the East Indian method of cooking rice, our basic cookbook says. Today's recipe adds Italian vermicelli to the rice and comes up with an interesting dish to serve with hot lamb or cold meats.

Mrs. Dudley McCully is the cook of the day. She belongs to the Neighborhood Association, sews and knits.

PILAF
By Mrs. Dudley McCully

¼ pound butter or margarine
4 vermicelli bunches (about 1 cup)
1½ cups raw rice
46-ounce can chicken broth

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add vermicelli and brown. Add rice and broth. Simmer about 30 minutes, or until rice is tender. Serves 10-12 as a substitute for potatoes.

Birmingham Deb Is Wed in Virginia Ceremony

White tulips banked the altar in St. Paul's Church, Lynchburg, Va., for Saturday vows of Ann Armitage Hamner of Birmingham and Joseph K. Houck of Lynchburg.

The Rev. Alexander Robertson officiated at the late afternoon ceremony in the presence of some 400 guests.

Parents of the newlyweds, the Duncan H. Hamners of Birmingham, and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Houck of Lynchburg received guests at the Oakwood Country Club.

An heirloom veil of rose pointe lace complemented the princess-line bridal gown of ivory peau de soie styled with bell skirt and chapel train. The scoop-neck bodice extended into three-quarter length sleeves. The bride carried a cascade of white tulips and ivy.

Mrs. John M. Otter III of New York was honor matron. Attending their cousin as bridesmaids were Jacquelin Perry of New Canaan, Conn., and Elizabeth Hamner of Lynchburg, with JoAnne Beechler of Birmingham and Sally Frost of Lynchburg. Martha Marshall of Lynchburg was her cousin's flower girl.

They wore pastel pink organdy with bell skirts gathered into back pleats and carried pink tulips with ivy. Their headbands were of ivy.

SON'S BEST MAN

Dr. Joseph Houck stood as best man for his son. Peter, Thomas and Leighton Houck and Randolph M. Hamner, of Birmingham, brothers of the bridal couple ushered with Gill Holland and Joseph Lyle of Lynchburg, Thomas Eaton of Wallingford, Conn., and Richard Pachirrer of New Haven, Conn. The bride's uncle, J. Merrick Marshall, was head usher.

Upon leaving for Florida, the bride was wearing French blue linen sheath trimmed in green and white, green shoes and purse and a white hat. The couple will live in Lynchburg where Mr. Houck teaches at the Virginia Episcopal School.

The bride, a graduate of Hollins College, Virginia, made her debut in Lynchburg in 1955. Mr. Houck is an alumnus of Virginia Episcopal School and the University of Virginia. His fraternity is Zeta Psi.

Folk-Songs Good Example

Music Joins Young and Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is impossible for older and younger generations to bridge the age gap entirely, and to a certain extent, this is as it should be.

However, I always have felt that we could come much closer to getting together, and that both generations would profit by it, if we did not think so constantly in terms of age.

There are areas in which all of those who are youthful in heart can meet without thought of age. Music is one of them.

It is interesting to note how many of the songs their fathers and mothers loved have been revived and are now popular with the younger generation. A great many of these young people also are addicted to classical music as well as to far-out jazz and rock and roll. However, perhaps the greatest meeting ground of all in music is the world of folk songs.

A recent interview with The Brothers Four highlighted this. You probably have heard their records and or seen them on television where they have been guests on many of the best shows.

The Brothers Four are not blood brothers, but fraternity brothers. They are making a career of what they started doing for fun when they first got to know each other at the University of Washington, — singing their own arrangements of folk songs.

And where do they get their audiences? At golden age clubs only? Far from it! Young people of college age and younger can't get enough of these songs.

The Brothers Four do a tightly-booked year-round concert tour, appearing almost exclusively at colleges and universities throughout the country.

When asked how they account for the vast audience they have found for their versions of folk song heritage, these attractive young musicians turned into philosophers. Tomorrow I will tell you some of the things they said.

Any of you who measure life in years will profit by the remarks of these young men. And if you feel out of touch with your children, why not invest in some of the areas where the younger and older generations meet? Some of these are enthusiasm, humor, love of life and music.

The Brothers Four — Mike Kirkland, Dick Foley, John Paine and Bob Flick — are folk song specialists who are popular with young and old alike.

Hats Steal Show at Meeting of Mothers Group

Mrs. Cressy B. Larson displayed spring hats, furnished by a local millinery shop, at the Mothers Group of the Pontiac Boys' Club meeting recently.

Each member brought an Easter bonnet fashioned from kitchen utensils. Winning originality awards for their creations were Mrs. Dick Kirby, Mrs. William Rogers and Mrs. Frank Lesco.

Mrs. Kirby and Mrs. Harold MacKenzie were presented corsages and recognized as the mothers making the greatest contribution to the club during January and February.

The group has been invited to attend a joint meeting with the Mothers Group of the Boys Club of Detroit April 5.

Mrs. Roy Barbe, Mrs. Lloyd Hampton, Mrs. R. A. Allen and Mrs. Vartkes Haroutunian are new members of the group.

Guests were Mrs. Leigh Gentges, Mrs. William Neighbors, Mrs. William Maule, Mrs. Dugald Walker, Mrs. David Stokes and Mrs. Eugene Harry.

Church Units Keep Busy

Mrs. Howard McIntyre of Henry Clay Avenue was hostess on Friday when the Saybrook group of the First Congregational Church met.

Assisting her with the luncheon were Mrs. Carl Leonard and Mrs. James Absher. Mrs. Malcolm Burton and Mrs. Harold McIntyre were guests. Mrs. James Cheal was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Arthur W. Selden gave devotions. Mrs. William Miller and Mrs. Leonard participated in the St. Patrick's Day program.

The Standish Group was served a salad luncheon Friday at the East Huron Street home of Mrs. Daniel Kinney, with Mrs. Gus Shier serving as cohostess.

Mrs. John Morrison read a Lenten theme "Steadfastness" from the Book of St. Luke and Mrs. S. E. Kline, who led devotions, read a story on spring. Mrs. Ray Meiser and Mrs. L. C. Barner entertained with a vocal duet.

Guests were Mrs. William Eustice, Mrs. George Campbell, Mrs. Ralph Howell and Ethlynn Peterson.

The group will attend the Good Friday breakfast.

The Pilgrim Group, meeting with Mrs. Esther McIntosh for luncheon Friday at her home on Mark Avenue, prepared scrap books for hospitalized children.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Don Thomas, Mrs. Harry Lillie and Mrs. William Becker.

Johansson 18-5 Underdog in 'Rubber Match' at Miami Beach

Patterson Favored to Retain 'Heavy' Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Floyd Patterson was an 18-5 favorite today to defeat challenger Ingemar Johansson in their third fight tonight for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Patterson and Johansson were officially notified that the gate had passed the all-important $400,000 mark for the celebrated "rubber match" at the Miami Beach Convention Hall. Both boxers expressed relief that sportsman Bill MacDonald of Miami Beach would lose no money on his $400,000 guarantee for the scheduled 15-round fight and officials of feature Sports Inc., sent telegram to Mac-Donald releasing him from the guarantee.

A crowd of 13,000 is expected when Patterson, 26, of Rockville Centre, N.Y., and Johansson, 28, of Sweden and Switzerland, square off with the six ounce gloves at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Left hooker Patterson was the first man to recapture the heavy crown when he beat Ingo, an explosive right-handed puncher, in their second fight June 20. Floyd's left hooks floored big, brown-haired Ingo twice in the fifth round for a knockout that night.

Johansson, who knocked out Patterson in the third round of their first fight in 1959, told friends today he hoped his unprecedentedly stiff training this time had geared him to stiffen Floyd again and make himself the second man to win back the title.

Although tonight's international "rubber match" is scheduled for 15 rounds, the betting is "even money" that it doesn't go the full 15 sessions. However, should it unexpectedly last its scheduled distance, the betting is 25-1 that Johansson doesn't win the decision.

When tonight's match was first made for the 15,922-seat arena, officials of Feature Sports aimed at a sellout of $1,100,000 — with tickets priced at $100, $50 and $20. But now it appears unlikely that the gate will reach $500,000.

★ ★ ★

However, the bout still may be the richest fight in history because of the booming sales at theater-TV locations in the United States and Canada, as well as the large guarantees paid for radio, movies and foreign kinescopes.

Irving B. Kahn, president of Teleprompter—which bought the rights to theater TV, radio, movies, etc. — announced that the total receipts from those ancillaries" promise an unprecedented gross of $4,000,000.

Johansson, who floored Floyd seven times in the third round for a technical knockout in their first fight, will be free to defend against any challenges he chooses if he takes the title from Patterson tonight. There's no return bout contract.

Thanks to the possible $4,000,000 in gross ancillary receipts, plus the "live" gate, the purses of Floyd and Ingo may approach the million-dollar mark this time.

Each gets 25 per cent of the net live gate, and Feature Sports receives 50 per cent. However, Patterson's cut of the promotion's ancillary receipts is 50 per cent; Johansson's, 35. Feature Sports gets 15. In addition, Johansson has the entire Scandinavian rights to radio and film.

From their previous meeting, Patterson got $622,741 and $771,232, Johansson received $281,462 and $643,107.

Rams Wallop Orchard Lake 68-48 for Title

Ortonville, Millington Romp to Also Make Regionals

By CHUCK ADAIR

Little Mike Reed had one of the biggest nights of his impressive basketball career at St. Frederick Saturday night pacing the Rams to their 2nd straight Class C district championship.

He swished 25 points in a 68-48 walloping of Orchard Lake St. Mary at the Pontiac Northern gym.

Reed made four of his first five shots and went on to hit 11 of 22 field goal attempts and three free throws. A spree of six straight misses prevented him from being way up in shooting percentage.

The Rams will now advance to the Ypsilanti regional where play begins tomorrow night. Wyandotte St. Patrick, Chelsea, Jonesville Onsted, Ann Arbor University High and Whiteford are in the field.

Ortonville and Millington won other "C" crowns while Memphis was having an easy time taking Class D honors at Troy.

St. Fred got rolling in the 2nd quarter after both local teams appeared to have championship game jitters early. Reed was the only boy doing anything in an 11-9 1st quarter. Ted Dobski got eight in a 24-point 2nd round to pace a 35-35 halftime local.

It was up to 49-36 starting the final period and kept going higher and higher.

Dobski followed Reed with 13. Larry Sissen topped a balanced Eaglet offensive with 11.

Ortonville and Millington will move into the same regional at Bay City with Fowlerville, Deckerville, Sebewaing and Bay City St. Joseph.

Ortonville belted Atherton 72-57 pulling away in the last quarter. Atherton had led once 29-24. Jim Hutchings fired in 25 and Doug Moors 15 to pace the Hawks. Millington bombed Marlette 64-44 with Ned Lockwood and Mike Lockwood and Mike Zink combined for 47 points.

Memphis had a 20-2 bulge in the 2nd period after trailing 14-12 and went on to take New Baltimore St. Mary, 55-35. Ken Stahl swished 15 and Hildreth Lewis 13 for MHS. Memphis will play in the Class D regional at Willow Run. Britton, Webberville and Detroit St. Bernard complete that field.

'Boom Boom' Is Close to Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion's back-hander from 20 feet out moved the Montreal ace to within one goal of the National Hockey League scoring record Sunday night and helped keep the Canadiens in front in the NHL race with a 6-2 victory over Chicago.

Geoffrion's goal came midway through the second period as the Canadiens virtually ruined goalie Glenn Hall's bid for the Vezina trophy.

Andy Bathgate and Camille Henry each scored twice in New York's win over Detroit. Andy Hebenton, Ted Hampson and Earl Ingarfield also scored for the Rangers while Gordie Howe, Howie Glover and Vic Stasiuk tallied for Detroit.

Norvell, Donaldson Star in Swim Meet

For the first time in its swimming history, Pontiac Central has two state champions.

Bruce Norvell won the breaststroke in record time Saturday in the state Class A meet held in the Michigan State University pool. Two events earlier, Ben Donaldson became a double winner by capturing the 200-yard freestyle. He had won the 400 freestyle in Friday's only final event.

The three firsts gave PCH a total of 21 points and a surprisingly high fifth place finish in the field of 55 teams. Plymouth won the championship with 44½ points, Battle Creek Central was next with 36½ and then came Birmingham Seaholm 28 and defending champion Grosse Pointe 22. Royal Oak Kimball was right behind PCH with 20.

Norvell's victory was a mild surprise, but not totally unexpected. The PCH co-captain had turned in an enviable dual meet record during the last two seasons. He was clocked in 1:05.3 for the 100-yard orthodox event.

This lowered the standard from the 105.6 set by Bill Truesdale of Redford Union in the preliminaries. Truesdale was second in the final.

The meet ended with two PCH swimmers in the record books. Donaldson set a new mark in the 400 freestyle.

★ ★ ★

Donaldson, the other co-captain of the Central team, and Flint Northern's Jim Riutta were the only double winners. Riutta set a state record in the 50-yard freestyle, beating. Seaholm's Jim Elliott easily in 22.5 seconds. The Viking swimmer also won the 100 freestyle.

Ed Boothman of Royal Oak Kimball won the diving competition. Seaholm's Don Norris was second.

Birmingham's Don Spencer beat Larry Jacobs again in the 100-yard butterfly. Although his time of 56 seconds flat wasn't a state record, it was the sophomore's best clocking this season.

Birmingham Groves showed surprising strength in the Class B meet at Ann Arbor by finishing third. East Grand Rapids again won the team crown with 61½ points. Riverview had 55 and Groves 42.

★ ★ ★

Lee Driver of Groves won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:06.4, a new state record. He was a member of the medley relay team that swept to victory. Others on the team were Bill Quick, Russ Martin and Bob Sutton.

Now the Question Is: Can Ohio Be Toppled?

By The Associated Press

Comes now the time of the year when the college basketball fan takes a look at the big NCAA, small NCAA, the NIT and the NAIA and yells SOS.

Seventy-six of the nation's best teams, big and little, start this week the 10-day scramble that will end with four champions of the 1961 season and the answer to the question just about everyone has been asking all year—can anyone beat Ohio State?

After smashing Illinois 95-66 last Saturday, the mighty Buckeyes of the Big Ten Conference start defense of the National Collegiate title they won so emphatically last year with the first perfect record of any major team since North Carolina in 1957.

All-America Jerry Lucas & Co. have their two-season streak at 29, their regular season slate completed at 24-0, and a solid No. 1 ranking of all the college teams as they go into the NCAA Mid-East Regional at Louisville Friday night.

They'll need four more victories —and a winning streak of 33—if they expect to nail another championship and match the '57 North Carolina club that won 'em all during the season, then swept on to the NCAA crown for a 32-0 record.

Naming of Xavier of Ohio, Seattle and Oregon to the last three at-large berths completed the 24-team field for the NCAA championship tournament which has preliminary games Tuesday night and Wednesday before settling down to regional semifinal scuffling at Charlotte, N.C., Louisville, Lawrence, Kan., and Portland, Ore., this weekend.

To keep 'em company, the 12-team National Invitation Tournament begins at Madison Square Garden Thursday night with the first of six doubleheaders between then and championship day on March 25.

The eight survivors of the NCAA small college field gather in Evansville, Ind., for a three-day showdown Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And 32 select teams start week-long competition today in the NAIA tourney in Kansas City.

Ohio State, St. Joseph's, Pa., Kentucky, Texas Tech, Cincinnati, Kansas State, Utah and Loyola of Los Angeles drew first-round byes in the national championship.

The tourney begins Tuesday night with George Washington vs. Princeton, Rhode Island vs. St. Bonaventure, and Wake Forest vs. St. John's in an Eastern Regional tripleheader at New York and with Ohio U. playing Louisville and Morehead meeting Xavier in a Mid-East Regional doubleheader at Louisville.

Marquette at Houston in the Mid-West Regional and Arizona State U. vs. Seattle and Southern California vs. Oregon in the Far West at Portland on Wednesday night will decide the field for the four regionals this weekend.

The New York winners go to Charlotte to join St. Joseph's. The Louisville winners stay there to join Ohio State and Kentucky. The Houston-Marquette survivor advances to join Texas Tech, Kansas State and Cincinnati at Lawrence, and the Far West winners stay in Portland where Utah and Loyola also will be present.

Chiefs Easily Hurdle Final District Test

Skippers Routed, 59-38; Walled Lake Advances in Ypsi Tourney

By BILL CORNWELL

Tournament-wise Pontiac Central High School led five other Oakland County Class A quintets into this week's regional action after easily surmounting Saturday night's district final at Pontiac Northern.

Veteran PCH coach Art Van Ryzin used all 14 varsity players and 12 of them scored as the Chiefs hurdled outmanned Waterford without difficulty, 59-38, to qualify for the Southfield regional tourney.

The Chiefs will have area company on the Southfield court. Rochester earned a berth in the same regional by downing Utica last Friday at PNH and two of Central's familiar tourney rivals, Detroit Catholic Central and Livonia Bentley, will complete the field.

Walled Lake stayed alive in Class A competition at Ypsilanti by surprising favored Plymouth, 59-47, Saturday evening. The Vikings will be joined by Inkster, Ann Arbor and Jackson in this week's Ypsi regional.

Royal Oak Kimball gained a spot in the Ferndale regional with a 53-36 conquest of Berkley Saturday and Highland Park followed suit by dumping Warren, 57-45. The Ferndale regional field consists of Kimball, RO Dondero, Highland Park and the host Eagles.

PCH, a state finalist last year and a state semifinalist two years ago, was never pressed by outclassed Waterford.

The Skippers of Gerry Wallace made a valiant effort to pull an upset, but Central had too much backboard strength and too many guns.

The Chiefs enjoyed quarterly leads of 16-9, 29-13 and 45-20. The closest the Skippers ever came to catching PCH was a 6-5 deficit midway through the 1st period.

Any thoughts the Skippers might have entertained of staging a stunner were thoroughly squelched early when the Chiefs scored 13 straight points for a commanding 25-9 bulge halfway through the 2nd stanza.

Central's scoring punch was so well spread that Rudy Ransom's 11 points were high for the game. Clarence Douglas tallied 10 points for PCH and Waterford's little Ed Stigers also collected 10.

As usual, Central's agile George Fed topped the rebounding department with 18 recoveries, 14 in the 1st half.

Walled Lake broke away from Plymouth early in the 4th quarter after leading all the way by margins of four to six points. Bill Carter meshed 16 points for the Vikings and teammates John Margos and Frank Thierry added 15 and 12, respectively.

PCH, Rochester Are Opponents

Pontiac Central and Rochester are matched in the Class A regional basketball tournament at Southfield.

The Chiefs and Rochester were paired in the drawing held this morning at the Southfield High School athletic office and the two local foes will square off Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

Livonia Bentley and Detroit Catholic Central begin Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the opening game of the Southfield tourney. The two winners meet Friday night, also at 8, for the regional title.

ON TO SOUTHFIELD — Pontiac Central's happy basketball players display their district trophy after Saturday's 59-38 victory over Waterford in the Class A final at Pontiac Northern. The Chiefs swing into regional activity this week at Southfield.

Clarkston, Shrine Gain Regional

By DON VOGEL

Clarkston, Royal Oak Shrine and Northville basketball teams will carry Oakland County colors into Class B regional play this week. Clarkston and Shrine will be at Birmingham Seaholm along with Fenton, Marysville and Redford St. Mary. Northville is in a six-team field, including powerful River Rouge, at Willow Run.

★ ★ ★

Drawings were scheduled today at both sites.

Clarkston won the district crown on its own floor Saturday by edging Lake Orion, 40-36. Shrine just barely slipped past host Troy, 47-46, to earn the trophy.

Fenton will be a slight favorite to advance to the quarter-finals from the Seaholm regional. But Clarkston will be strong contender and so will high scoring Marysville. Shrine, a surprise district winner, and St. Mary do not appear strong enough to win the honors.

★ ★ ★

River Rouge, a heavy favorite to win the state championship, should have little difficulty winning at Willow Run. Riverview and possibly Blissfield have outside chances for the regional trophy. Milan, Michigan Center and Northville round out the field.

Clarkston successfully bottled up Lake Orion's offense but almost lost the game because of poor field goal shooting.

The Wolves managed to get good position for shots, inside and out, but at times, failed to hit the rim or backboard. They made three of 14 attempts in the first period and two of 17 in the second.

Although they weren't allowed many close-in shots by the Clarkston defense, the Dragons did get some timely outside firing by Bucky Craven and Gary Hunter and managed to snare a 22-16 halftime lead.

Neither team could do much in the opening five minutes of the second half. Then the Wolves began hitting and finally took the lead, 29-28, for the first time in the game on a set shot by Hal Weston with 46 seconds to play in the third period.

Although a corner shot put the Dragons back on top by one at the buzzer, it was the beginning of the end for Orion. Two follow shots by Gar Wilson and three free throws moved Clarkston in front, 37-34, with 4:11 to play. The Wolves went into a semi-stall and forced the Dragons out of their zone defense.

Orion players began fouling and, although they could make only one of the charity tosses good, the Wolves managed to hold on for the win.

Bill Powell was the big hero for Clarkston. The 6-4 senior center sparkled under the backboards, going high off the floor to clear rebounds. He grabbed 21. Powell topped the Clarkston offense with 11 points, many coming when it looked like Orion was about to pull away.

The Clarkston defense kept high scoring Tom Reed away from the basket and the Dragon star managed only five points. He seldom got a good shot.

Craven took game scoring honors with 14 points. Hunter added 10.

Shrine used a strong third quarter to gain a 10-point margin over Troy and then almost blew the game by hitting only four markers in the last period.

Shrine held a 47-42 lead with two minutes to play. The Colts picked another basket and then Pete Davidson dropped in a fielder at the buzzer to cut the final margin to one point.

★ ★ ★

Pistons in NBA Playoffs, Thanks to Jerry West

By The Associated Press

Jerry West, the Los Angeles Lakers' valuable rookie, proved even more valuable to the Detroit Pistons in the final seven seconds of the National Basketball Association season.

West's basket with only seven seconds left Sunday helped the Los Angeles Lakers to a 123-122 victory over the Cincinnati Royals. The loss eliminated the Royals from the NBA playoffs and gave the berth to the Pistons. The playoffs start Tuesday.

Detroit had clinched at least a tie for the third and last playoff berth in the Western Division a couple of hours earlier when it defeated New York 120-106.

Detroit used 14-1 and 17-1 spurts to down the Knicks, who wound up with 58 losses, a league record.

Let's Celebrate—Tigers Are on Top

Bengals Own 3 Straight Citrus Loop Triumphs

Detroit's 8-4 Victory Over Twins Completes Weekend Sweep

By BRUNO I. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla—It's been a long time since one could look at any league standings and see the Detroit Tigers sitting up on top. At least it's not very often, in the Major League or Grapefruit circuit.

But, those Grapefruit Tigers have been full of surprises in winning three straight games, including yesterday's 8-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins, in the "home" opener at Lakeland.

This gave the Tigers a sweep of the two-game series after beating the Twins in Orlando on Saturday, 4-1.

The surprises have been the young pitchers, Bob Bruce, Jose Grzenda and Phil Regan, and the "rebuilt" arm of Ray Narleski, plus Don Mossi and Hank Aguirre.

★ ★ ★

What has been even more surprising is the clutch hitting especially from first baseman Norm Cash and Larry Osborne, and the consistent bat of rookie second baseman Jake Wood.

Even Dick Brown, supposedly a non-hit catcher, came through with three singles yesterday and two runs batted in.

So far it has been the two veteran pitchers Paul Foytack and Jim Bunning who have been victimized the hardest by opponent hitters. Foytack and Bunning have given up a total of 12 hits in six innings, while seven other pitchers have allowed only 11 hits in 21 innings.

★ ★ ★

When the Twins started out yesterday against Bunning the first comment was "well, Jim still has his gopher ball."

This was noted by the fact that the first two hits off Bunning were homers in the first inning by Len Green and Don Mincher.

The Tigers came back in the first inning however and took advantage of Ralph Lumenti's wildness.

Wood singled, Bill Bruton walked, then came a wild pitch and a fielder's choice by Al Kaline for the first run. Rocky Colavito walked and Cash drove the ball 385 feet to right center he scored on Brown's single and it was 4-2.

Brown again drove in a run in the 3rd inning after Boros singled and advanced. In the 4th inning Cash rapped his second triple of the day and Colavito, who singled scored.

Rocky, who has been a tough clutch hitter, also doubled in the sixth. In the 7th rookie Bubba Morton singled home two runs and finished the Tiger scoring.

Minnesota's two other runs came in the 7th off rookie Gordon Seyfried.

In the three games the Tigers first basemen have collected seven hits in 11 trips, including a double and two singles by Osborne Saturday, and two singles and a pair of triples by Cash in two games.

Wood has played in two games and he has five hits in 9 trips. Yesterday his last time up he drove the ball nearly to the fence in center before it was caught.

Coach Bob Scheffing was especially pleased to note one important thing about the Tiger hitting.

"We're hitting more to all fields, regardless of whether the batter is right or left," Scheffing pointed out. Osborne's three hits went to a different field each time. Cash's triples were to right center and left center.

The Tigers are in Bradenton today facing the Milwaukee Braves with Doug Gallagher, Bill Fischer and Terry Fox taking the mound duties in that order against George Brunt, Bob Buhl and Denny Lemaster.

Walled Lake Team Bowls Tonight

ABC Has 1 Change

DETROIT — Little Bobby Vien stole the spotlight from some of bowling's best names at the American Bowling Congress tournament yesterday.

The chunky, 5-6 typesetter from St. Louis took the all-events lead in the regular division with a 1911 total for nine games. Vien, 31, rolled a 664 series in the team event Saturday night and then came back yesterday with 630 in the doubles and 617 in the singles.

The classic division stars had another rough outing.

The Bowlers Journal team of Chicago, boasting such names as Andy Varipapa and Whitey Harris, mustered a dismal 2682 series. Varipapa, who won the All-Star tournament in 1946 and 1947, rolled 513. Harris shot 558. Dennis Chapis led the team with 592.

★ ★ ★

Onyx Art Trophies, New York City, the only other classic division team on yesterday's schedule, shot 2849. Graz Castellano had the only 200 average series, a 626 total.

Onyx and the Bowlers Journal shoot their second and final blocks tonight.

Modern Action, Comedy to Make Inroads

TV Westerns May BE Going Thataway

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—For several years now, prophets have been predicting a decline in popular favor of the television western. And maybe, just maybe, 1961 is the year when the fad really will begin to pass.

There is one important sign: So far the three television networks have announced a total of 21 new shows which they plan to put on their fall schedules. Not one is a western.

* * *

However, the interest in action stories, mostly police and adventure tales, apparently is stronger than ever; 12 have been announced. And eight new situation comedy series have been picked up — two of the animated cartoons stimulated by the success of ABC's "The Flintstones" this season.

Here are some of the derring-do shows we can expect following the summer slump of reruns:

"The Impatient Ones," a story of the World War I Lafayette Escadrille, produced by Quinn Martin, late of "The Untouchables," another period piece; "Las Vegas Beat" and "Las Vegas," crime-and-games in Nevada—the first an NBC series, the second an ABC program; "The New Breed," about the Los Angeles police Metro squad; "87th Precinct," police action in New York City; "Small Town D. A." and "The Defenders," the first an ABC legal-action tale, the second a father-son lawyer series on CBS; "The House on Rue Riviera," skullduggery in the south of France.

Among the incoming situation comedy series are a new Bob Cummings series, a new Robert Young series, the Gertrude Berg-Sir Cedric Hardwicke series, "Mother Is a Freshman," the Dick Van Dyke series, a series tentatively called "Snow Whites" for NBC, about a pair of police car cops, and three animal series, "Top Cat" and "Calvin and the Colonel," both cartoon programs, and "The Hathaways," starring some chimpanzees.

State Solon Fights Medal for Poet Frost

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R-Mich., doesn't have anything against poet Robert Frost. But he wants his fellow legislators to know that medals cost money.

* * *

Hoffman, who is 85 and known as one of the orneriest men in the House, said Sunday he wanted to set the record straight about why he came out recently against a medal for the New England poet.

"Why I don't even know Frost," he said. "He's undoubtedly a fine fellow. But if Congress is going to give a medal to every American who has done a good job that would cover at least two-thirds of the women and maybe even a third of the men."

Father and Son Both Learn Their Lessons

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Carl Schmidt was proud when his son Tom took a lively interest in his hobby, model airplane racing.

But Dad was somewhat chagrined when he finished as runner-up to 16-year-old Tom in the sixth annual Thompson Trophy Junior Air Races, sponsored by the Gulf Hawks Model Airplane Club.

"I can remember when marriage used to hurt an actor's career, but nowadays success seems to depend on three or four of them."

Laos Forces Fall Back, Await Reds

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Most of the government forces defeated at the Sala Phou Khoun Road junction have fallen back to defend the royal capital of Luang Prabang from an expected Communist attack, U.S. military observers reported today.

Other sources said leftist paratrooper Capt. Kong Le's forces have been ferried at night by planes to an unknown destination and that it was feared they were grouping for an assault on Luang Prabang. Communist Pathet Lao rebels also have been reported active north of Luang Prabang.

Sala Phou Khoun is 35 miles southeast of Luang Prabang and about 100 miles north of the administrative capital of Vientiane. In recent days 60 to 70 wounded soldiers have been brought to a hospital near here for treatment.

The Communists have claimed the capture of Moung Kassy, 45 miles south of Luang Prabang, but there still was no confirmation here. Capture of the town on the Luang Prabang-Vientiane Road would indicate another major victory for the Red forces.

Williams Is Finding Desire for Freedom

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs G. Mennen Williams said Sunday he has found a desire for freedom and a better way of life in every country he has visited on his African tour.

* * *

The former governor of Michigan said he believes Africans will resist attempts at Communist domination because of their desire to be free.

Williams visited the Monrovia port Sunday and addressed a student gathering at the University of Liberia.

To Let Millions in U.S. Contracts

Detroit Ordnance Unit to Release Work Early to Aid State Economy

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Ordnance District announced over the weekend it would award several millions of dollars in defense contracts early in an effort to help revive the state's economy.

* * *

Col. J. E. Johnson, commanding officer of the district, said his office would attempt to award some 75 per cent of the remainder of its entire current fiscal year procurement program by the end of March. He declined to estimate a total figure of contracts or their worth.

He said the contracts would be primarily in the automotive field, including autos, trucks, engines, tanks and parts.

* * *

Johnson also said contracts in the current fiscal year awarded by the Detroit District may exceed the normal yearly total of some $300 million.

Modern English New Testament on Sale Today

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—A New Testament in modern English, 13 years in the writing, went on sale today.

Known as "The New English Bible: New Testament," it strips away the language of the King James and earlier English versions. It is the first revision in Britain since 1881.

And for the first time in British history, all the major churches in Britain, except for the Roman Catholic, joined in the revision.

Prof. Charles Dodd, director of the project, says the original Greek and Hebrew have been translated into "English which is as clear and natural as the subject matter will allow."

New Pulpits for Billy Graham?

Evangelist Looks to Films, TV

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Billy Graham, the greatest religious showman of our time, began his climb to fame a dozen years ago in a Los Angeles tent, but now is on the threshold of becoming a TV and movie mogul.

★ ★ ★

Through his world wide pictures subsidiary the evangelist plans to produce feature-length pictures and inspirational video shows.

Dick Ross, president of World Wide Pictures, said the first picture, "Decade of Decision," already is in the works — starring Billy with TV chatterbox Dave Garroway acting as narrator.

"Until now our films have been made principally for showings in churches throughout the world," Ross said.

"Now Mr. Graham is desirous of making an impact in commercial television and movies to reach those people who do not go to church. We are now dealing with 20th Century-Fox and Columbia Pictures as part of our expansion."

BASED ON TRAVELS

"Decade of Decision" is a documentary of stock footage based on Graham's travels and mass revival meetings.

"Billy started in a tent at the corner of Washington and Hill streets in Los Angeles back in 1949," Ross went on. "His movement snowballed until he has preached before 32 million people by actual count, and that doesn't include the millions who have seen him on TV.

"Our first major television project is a pair of hour-long specials for Christmas and Easter of 1962. The format will involve Broadway and Hollywood stars who will help tell the traditional stories of the holidays.

"Our movies will translate the Billy Graham message into the entertainment vehicle, with the realization that this must be done subtly and dramatically."

★ ★ ★

In his war against sin Graham feels these are emergency days, and require emergency measures — among them motion pictures with a religious theme.

'WIDELY RESPECTED'

"He is a courageous churchman," Ross said. "His crusades transcend any denomination. He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, Tex., but his wife, Ruth, is a Presbyterian. Billy is one of the most widely respected religious leaders in the world."

Current plans do not call for Graham to star in future movies. However, he will act as host in both of next year's teleshows, have the largest cast ever seen in any picture," Ross concluded. "The footage contains literally hundreds of thousands of people who have come to hear him speak in this country, in Europe and Asia. That's a pretty big cast."

'Peace Corps No Joy Ride'

Shriver Also Maintains New Service Won't Be Draft-Dodger Haven

WASHINGTON (UPI)—"This is going to be very difficult, very hard, very real work. I would suggest that anybody who anticipates a joy-ride get off the train right now.".

★ ★ ★

With these words, Director R. Sargeant Shriver promised Sunday night that President Kennedy's Peace Corps program won't be a haven for draft dodgers as one Republican congressman has charged.

Shriver, the President's brother-law, said Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey had agreed to permit deferment of draft-eligible corpsmen until their term of Peace Corps service was up.

But he said that the corpsmen would be subject to the draft after their four of duty unless they go into another socially useful and normally deferable occupation.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R.-Iowa, charged Friday that the Peace Corps would provide refuge for draft dodgers because of Hershey's agreement to exempt the corpsmen during their service overseas.

★ ★ ★

James Stephenson, 2736 Stephenson, Birmingham, and the Rev. Clyle Elliott, 425 W. Third St., Avon Township, finished first and second, respectively, in the area Toastmasters competition held last week at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Rochester.

The district contest will be held in May at Toledo. 0

Among the participants in the area contest was Donald Rofe, 64 Matthews St., vice president of the Pontiac "Y" Toastmasters.

Toastmasters International seeks to give members the opportunity to develop public speaking skills so they will be able to take a more active role in business and community affairs.

This Week May See End to Third Finch Trial

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The fate of illicit lovers Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff may be placed in the hands of a predominantly male jury this week.

Only final arguments and the judge's instructions remain to be concluded in the third trial before the nine men and three women jurors begin their life and death deliberations on the couple accused of killing Finch's wife for love and money.

CORN DIGS ROCK 'N' ROLL — Jimmie Griffith (left) and John Martin, both Selma, Ala., high school students, say that the sound of music has a nutritive effect upon their corn plants. The two claim they fed the plants a steady diet of rock 'n' roll during recent experiments and music-loving shoots far outgrew a similar stand of corn left in silence.

Grain Futures Mart Running Light, Thin

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market mustered a few small gains today in early dealings, but prices generally were slightly easier in a slow trade.

★ ★ ★

Brokers said there appeared to be no new important developments over the weekend. Buying was described as thin but offerings also were very light.

The absence of a significant push either way was viewed as an indication that the market was established for either bullish or bearish influences.

Door Firm Features Remote Control in '61

A new remote control operator, fiberglass garage door and new wooden and steel garage door models are in the 1961 line of Berry Door Corp., 2400 E. Lincoln Ave., Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

The remote control door operator is designed for 30-minute installation and is so simple in construction that 90 per cent of service will require no tools, Berry said.

It features a portable hand transmitter which can be used from inside an auto or from within the house to open the garage door.

There is also a permanently installed button control unit inside the garage.

The new operator can be used on any one-piece or sectional garage door.

The new fiberglass canopied door is translucent and diffused a soft light to the garage interior.

Student's Permit Lets Him Drive Bus to School

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Many college students drive to their classes in sports cars, jalopies or conventional autos. But Gordon A. Wagner, a senior at the University of Bridgeport, has them all beat.

He rolls onto the campus behind the wheel of a 32-passenger bus.

Wagner has a part-time job as a bus driver, carrying pupils to and from three public schools. His employers let him use the bus to attend his college classes and student council meetings.

★ ★ ★

"The biggest problem is parking the thing," says Wagner. "So many students drive cars to the campus, there isn't much room for a bus."

Explorer Scouts Study About Oil at Houston Post

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—One of the most unusual boy scout posts in the nation is Explorer Post 655 in Houston.

★ ★ ★

The explorers have broken away from the usual concept of a scout wandering through woodland trails and trying to outdoor cookery, and have begun a study of the oil industry instead.

The scouts, donning the steel helmets worn for safety by oil workers, have toured refineries in Houston, have visited oil industry historical sites, and have made synthetic rubber in experiments.

They ran tests to determine the viscosity of oil and have heard oil men lecture.

★ ★ ★

Big Lift for Trailer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A drawing of a helicopter that could straddle a huge highway truck trailer, pick it up and fly away with it was described by Hiller Aircraft Corp.

★ ★ ★

The helicopter, weighing 30 tons, would be powered by turbojet engines mounted in the tips of its rotor blades.

Mart See-Saws as Steels Slip

NEW YORK (AP) — Speculative interest boomed a number of stocks but the over-all stock market canceled an early gain and showed a mixed pattern early this afternoon.

Gains and losses of key stocks went from fractions to about a point. Selected secondary stocks produced some gains of 1 to 4 points and losses of 2 more.

The list was higher at the start and the ticker tape ran late most of the morning, failing as much as three minutes behind transactions. As early gains dwindled, trading slowed.

Predictions of a business upturn by the secretary of commerce and others formed a backdrop for the market action but seemed to have little influence on cyclical stocks. Some big transactions were made in issues which snared trading interest for one reason or another.

Steels, motors, utilities and nonferrous metals showed a slightly lower trend. Building materials, oils and electronics were mostly higher.

Among the larger blocks, Ampex opened on 35,000 shares and kept a gain exceeding a point in later trades. Sperry Rand traded on blocks of 23,000, 5,000 and 7,500 shares and was up close to a point as trading wore on.

Wall Street advisories, favorable chart patterns and rumors of favorable actions seemed to account for movements among the livelier issues.

Vendo advanced about 4 points, Alden's more than 3 while Polaroid and Litton were up 2 points or more.

Brunswick continued under selling pressure, losing more than 2. American Machine & Foundry, Brunswick's running mate, rebounded more than a point at the start then cut its net gain to a fraction.

Lionel, which is introducing a new scientific line of toys, spurted at the start and held a fair fractional gain. Revlon trimmed an early 3-point rise to about a point.

International Business Machines picked up about 9. Gains of around a point were made by Johns-Manville, U.S. Gypsum and Texaco. Merck, Ford and Phelps Dodge declined about a point each.

Translation Took 13 Years

Modern-English Bible on Sale

A New Testament in modern English, known as "The New English Bible: New Testament," is on sale today.

The new translation authorized in 1946 by all Protestant church bodies of the United Kingdom, the National Bible Society of Scotland, and the British and Foreign Bible Society is the first new church-authorized translation of the Scriptures into English since 1611. The task took 13 years.

The presentation of the New English Bible marks the 350th anniversary of the King James Bible which has been read and cherished by English speaking peoples everywhere.

The new translation into current English was undertaken by a Joint Committee of 70 distinguished scholars of several denominations appointed by the major churches. It is not a revision but an entirely new translation from the original Hebrew and Greek.

Although a new translation had been discussed in England before World War II, nothing specific had been planned when the war postponed any work until 1946.

The joint committee formed in July 1947 arrived at an agreement with the University presses of Oxford and Cambridge whereby the latter would bear the entire cost of translation and publication and in return would be the joint publishers of the Bible.

The committee met twice a year in the Jerusalem Chamber of Westminster Abbey. They organized the work by appointing three panels of translators, one for the Old Testament, one for the New Testament, and one for the Apocrypha.

★ ★ ★

They also appointed a panel of literary advisers to scrutinize drafts of the translation. A revising committee of three then went through the whole work.

APPROVED YEAR AGO

The translation of the New Testament was formally approved on March 23, 1960, 13 years after work was begun. Work continues on the Old Testament and the Apocrypha, which will be published several years from now.

As to the need for a new translation, a memorandum circulated when the project was first being planned noted:

"In the urgent task of evangelism, one main difficulty of the church is the difference between the language customarily used by the church, and English as currently spoken.

"There is danger that archaic language may give the impression that the message itself is out of date and irrelevant. This is especially deplorable since the New Testament was written in the 'common' language of the time."

★ ★ ★

"The New English Bible" is planned and directed by representatives of the Church of England, the Church of Scotland, the Methodist Church, the Congregational Union, the Baptist Union, the Presbyterian Church of England, the Churches in Wales, the Churches in Ireland, and the Society of Friends.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the British and Foreign Bible Society and the National Bible Society of Scotland also sit on the Joint Committee.

Scout Officers Meet for Training Course

Officers and committee chairmen of Chippewa Lodge, No. 29, Order of the Arrow, met Sunday, in the Community Services Building on Franklin Boulevard for a training course.

★ ★ ★

Lodge Advisors Van R. Braidwood of Pontiac and William J. DeGrace of Birmingham said the course included ways to conduct chapter and committee meetings, how to promote attendance at events, and the general organization of the order — a national society of Boy Scout honor campers and leaders.

★ ★ ★

Following the course, an additional meeting was held for members who will be conducting elections for order membership in all the troops and explorer posts of the Clinton Valley Concil.

Drugs Shorten Hospital Stays Since Year '40

SALT LAKE CITY, (UPI) — The president of the American Pharmaceutical Association says the cost of a stay in the hospital is less than it was in 1940.

★ ★ ★

Ronald Robertson, Spokane, Wash., says that's because new drugs have shortened periods of hospitalization or even make it unnecessary.

★ ★ ★

An example, Robertson points out, is pneumonia cases. The ailment used to mean an automatic two-week confinement in a hospital. Now many cases are cared for in the home.

Pontiac Man 'Poor' After Fight Stabbing

A stabbing victim, Walter Andrew, 28, of 52 Vermont St. remained in poor condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

★ ★ ★

Police said Andrew was stabbed in the stomach with a three-inch pocketknife during a brawl last night at 594 Arthur St.

Facing possible charges of felonius assault is John Shaw, 51, of 623 Ditmar St. Shaw was held pending an investigation by detectives.

Commuters Must Pay

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are spending nearly as much to transport themselves to and from their homes as they are spending on housing itself, according to Architectural Forum, a professional building journal. The publication said Americans will spend $1 trillion on transportation in the next 15 years.

City Vice Squad Arrests 10 in Moonshine Raid

Ten persons were arrested in a raid Saturday night on what vice squad officers described as an illegal liquor place at 479 Nebraska St.

★ ★ ★

The 11 p.m. raid netted about two gallons of moonshine, according to Lt. William F. Nesbitt, vice squad chief.

Held on charges of operating an illegal liquor place was William Nash, 47, of the Nebraska Street address. Nine others were arrested for loitering. They are:

Leona Jones, 40, of 478 Nevada St.; Pletto Causey, 21, of 535 Nevada St.; Lucille Stovall, 38, of 460 Nebraska St.; John Coward, 31, of 160 W. Man Is Critical After Beating

Find 2 Men Unconscious Following Family Row in Independence Twp.

Severely beaten about the head and face, a 44-year-old Independence Township man lies in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Floyd Rowley of 7035 Andersonville Road remained unconscious since being admitted to the hospital early Sunday morning.

Sheriff's deputies today were holding 22-year-old Robert Young of 4174 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, for investigation of felonius assault.

Young has not been formally charged yet. Should Rowley die, Young probably will be charged with murder, according to detectives.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Young told detectives her husband had left her and their 17-month-old daughter, Carroll Ann, at Rowley's home Saturday evening, while he went out drinking.

When her husband returned shortly after midnight, he went berserk, she said and started to choke her. She told deputies she managed to break loose when the bed fell on their daughter and dashed from the house.

Hysterical, she phoned police from a neighbor's home.

When deputies arrived, they found the child crying but otherwise unhurt. Young and Rowley were both unconscious on the floor nearby.

★ ★ ★

Detectives said Rowley apparently had been severely beaten with a bloody chair found at the scene. He was rushed to the hospital while deputies revived Young and brought him to the county jail for questioning.

He was still being held today.

Prosecutor Eyes Charge in City Shooting

A Pontiac man, who police say has admitted blasting an unwanted occupant of his car with a shot from a double-barreled shotgun, was to be asked today to make a formal statement at the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

★ ★ ★

Police Sgt. Allen Noble said that after the statement a warrant charging attempted murder may be sought against Sylvester Johnson, 28, of 44½ Lorraine Court.

Johnson was arrested Saturday night after the shooting of Arthur H. Thomas, 19, of 67 Florida St. near Johnson's home.

Thomas, shot in the left side, remained in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Police said Johnson's only explanation of the shooting was that he was angered because Thomas was asleep in the car and wouldn't wake up.

Edgerton, Edwardsville, Ellinwood, Lakin, Norton and Peabody, Kan., are all named for one-time employes of the Santa Fe Railroad.

Gear Boating Course to Small Craft Owners

The Coast Guard safe boating course, which is scheduled to get under way at Pontiac Central High School Wednesday evening, has been trimmed to eight weeks and specially fitted to benefit small boat operators on Oakland County lakes, Training Officer Smith Cook said today.

Last year was the first time the course was offered in Pontiac by the Coast Guard. It ran 10 weeks, and covered many phases of seamanship which had little bearing on operating on small lakes, where at least some landmarks are practically always visible.

"We learned from experience, and have trimmed the course accordingly," said Cook. "This year we are limiting instruction to basic seamanship, the proper handling of outboard motor boats, rules of the waterways, correct usage of nautical terms, navigation and the reading of compasses and charts."

★ ★ ★

The course is free except for a $3 registration fee to cover the cost of text material and other equipment, and this fee will cover more than one member of a family taking the course together.

★ ★ ★

Registration will be held at the high school Wednesday at 7 p.m., prior to the first classroom instruction will be given by qualified Coast Guard Auxiliary members each Wednesday, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., for eight consecutive weeks.

Those completing the course will receive Coast Guard certificates.

Given Job, Aid for Son by Brinks

LOS ANGELES, UPI — Today is decision day for Douglas William Johnson, the man who found $240,000 in unmarked bills in a bag that had tumbled from a Brinks armored car and returned it.

★ ★ ★

Grateful Brinks officials, after much thought on how to adequately reward such honesty, came up with an unusual solution—they offered the out-of-work Johnson a steady job and a college education for his eldest son.

The cash-carrying Brinks said they'd like to have an honest man like Johnson around.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, a father of three sons, wanted to talk over the firm's offer with his family over the weekend before making a decision.

Three Sailors Hurt on Roller Coaster

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Three sailors were injured Sunday night when the front wheels of a roller coaster car jumped the track on the big sloop at the Pike Amusement Park.

About 20 persons were in the car, but most of them managed to scamper uninjured from the car when it ground to a halt after skidding down the slope and going part way up the next one.

Attendants at Long Beach Memorial Hospital said one of the sailors suffered a fractured leg. Injuries to the two others were described as minor.

Two of the sailors were trapped for more than half an hour when the front of the metal car crumpled in on them. Workmen had to cut them out.

LIFE HAS A LIFT — The American Toy Fair in New York is a boon for kids and manufacturers alike. For the kiddies, it's a chance to have fun with new toys. For the toy manufacturers, it offers first-hand information on which toys the youngsters will want Santa to bring them at Christmas. Find Poor Housing for 1 of 6 Families

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Census Bureau reports that one out of every six American families lived last year in dilapidated housing or lacked full plumbing facilities.

Nevertheless, housing in this country improved appreciably in the 1950's.

There were the chief conclusions of a report released Sunday on the 1960 housing census, taken along with the population count last spring.

The bureau found that 83 per cent — or five out of six — of all occupied nondilapidated houses and apartments contained full plumbing facilities. In 1960 the ration was 64 per cent or just under two-thirds.

Seconds Meet on TV Debate

Paar Guarantees the Exchange Will Not Be Friendly With Sullivan

NEW YORK (UPI)—The seconds for Jack Paar and Ed Sullivan meet today to lay down the rules of honor by which the two stars will stage their duel of words on television tonight.

* * *

"If people around the country want to stay awake for this," Paar said, "I'll guarantee it will not be a friendly debate. I don't want to see Sullivan before the debate. I don't want to give him a chance to soften me up. At the moment I'm not so crazy about Ed Sullivan."

* * *

The "great TV debate" between the two high-powered emcees over payment of guest stars on their programs is scheduled for broadcast on Paar's "Tonight" show on NBC-TV at 11:30 p.m. (Pontiac time —one hour after a preliminary battle between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson for the world's heavyweight boxing championship in Miami Beach.

* * *

Sullivan's representative Robert Preckt, meets with Paul Orr, named by Paar as his second, at 11:30 a.m. to map out detailed ground rules for the debate to make sure no one has an unfair advantage.

The meeting of the seconds take place on neutral ground in the office of publisher Bennett Cerf, of the TV show, "What's My Line," who was named moderator for the debate.

Sullivan Is Sure to Lose in Tonight's Big Match

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — I understand that the winner of tonight's championship struggle earns a crack at the winner of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson contest.

* * *

I'm referring, of course, to the championship struggle between Ed Sullivan of CBS-TV and Jack Paar of NBC-TV, who stage "The great Rebate Debate"b on Paar's show starting at 11:15 p.m. WWJ-TV Channel 4 will begin broadcasting at 11:30 p.m.

* * *

Frankly, I expect Paar to win by a teardrop. How can he lose? Stars can and will always come on his show to chat and they'll fit into his format most comfortably.

Sullivan, who can't see the logic in paying $7,000 to stars who accept $320 from Paar, has placed himself in the impossible position of trying to apply logic to show business fees. He may as well try straightening out the mess in Africa. It would be easier.

* * *

Does Sullivan really think he's going to get top stars to perform on his Sunday night, prime time, variety hour, agree to stay off TV for three weeks before going on his show, and do it for $320?

Does Sullivan really equate his show with Paar's C-time, low-budget nightcap?

Does Sullivan think the sponsors, now trained to sit up and drool over cost-per-thousand figures and shell out premium prices for prime time programs, will remain silent if his logic prevails?

* * *

So Sullivan and Paar think it's fair for them to "debate" the pros and cons of performer fees without having a spokesman for the performers on hand?

Anyhow, there is a happy solution to all this. We agree, don't we, that Sullivan would like to present stars at $320 a head?

We agree also that Paar would dearly like to run a high budget show and pay his guests loftier fees. Well, the solution is obvious: Paar and Sullivan ought to swap shows.

NO LUCK FOR CARNEY

Art Carney again affiliated himself with the Bill Baird puppets to star in a one-hour musical, "O'Halloran's Luck."

* * *

Carney's luck was all bad in this NBC-TV special, based on Stephen Vincent Benet's story, with music by David Saxon, lyrics by Diane Lampert and Peter Farrow.

The songwriters displayed a pat knowledge of contemporary musical essentials that now lock in the flavor of our Broadway stage successes. But their application lacked originality, bounce, full-bodied lightness and style.

Connecticut's new state turnpike was used by 40,356,371 vehicles in 1959, its second year.

Big 700-Pound Cannon Stolen . . . but How?

RAHWAY, N.J. (UPI) — If you happen to run into a 200-year-old cannon weighing about 700 pounds we suggest you contact Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Marsh.

* * *

Someone stole the antique from their front lawn during the weekend.

* * *

The Marshs aren't quite sure how the theft was managed. According to them, anyone who stole the iron weapon would have had to drag it some 600 feet across the lawn, through a brook in the back yard, up a small hill, over some fallen trees and finally into a car or truck for the getaway.

Vegas Stars Tremble at Thought of Attack

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH—A particularly fascinating rumor heard around the flight crowd here is that gambling will come under attack in Nevada.

I give it to you for what it's worth, which may not be much. It's been heard often, but Nevada performers are reportedly encouraged now because Atty. Gen. Bobby Kennedy's gunning for the nation's bad boys.

WILSON

It's a scarey story to legit business people with millions sunk in the gambling temples. Actors wince at the rumor. Many top entertainers depend on the so-called "To heck-with-you-money" from Las Vegas and Reno. It's named that because four weeks at $10,000 to $20,000 a week enables them to use that crude expression frequently.

Anyway, Las Vegas will probably bet you that it'll never happen.

A remarkable Chinese houseboat — modern design, worth $140,000 which must be towed as it has no motors — is docked here, the property of Jilly Rizzo, owner of the NY pub, "Jilly's." The boat ("Jilly's Yen"), docked across from the Eden Roc, has a round bed and gold bathroom fixtures — and you have to take your shoes off when you enter.

Parents Taught Girl to Use Her Will

JENNIE GROSSINGER
Grossinger, N.Y.
(as told to Ann Pinchot)

The most crucial moment of my life came not when my husband and I were still poor and struggling but long after success with a vacation resort. It came when a doctor told me that without an immediate operation the odds of my surviving a certain vicious form of high blood pressure were very small.

I was on the West Coast — 3,000 miles from my husband and children. There was no time to send for them. The decision was solely mine. And I was afraid.

With the fear came a terrible yearning for my mother. No matter how old we are, in a crisis the need for the mother's comforting touch returns.

ELEMENTAL FAITH

Looking back, I see that whatever I am now was for the most part created and molded by this unschooled woman who had a simple faith in her God. My mother's love for Him was elemental. She made no bargains. She merely entrusted herself and her brood to His loving care.

Ours was the story of many immigrants who came to America at the turn of the century seeking a haven against oppression. Our scanty possessions included two treasures — my father's prayer shawl and the family Bible.

We settled on New York's lower East Side where home was a squalid tenement. My father, a gentle, kindly man, bewildered by the new world, worked in a sweat shop for a very small salary. There was never enough to eat.

★ ★ ★

Being the eldest child, the desire to help the family made me restless. At 13, as much as I loved school, I took a job making buttonholes from 7 in the morning until 6 at night.

TO NIGHT SCHOOL

My mother hated my job, although we desperately needed my earnings. "You mustn't forget about your education, Jennie," she would remind me. In the Orthodox Jewish home, usually the father is the source of learning. But Mama also had great respect for knowledge.

"Only through learning can we become what God has meant us to be," she said. From then on I worked by day and went to school at night.

When I was in my late teens, my father lost his job. He and my mother had a little money saved, and they decided to open a small restaurant. Mama was a wonderful cook. She loved to feed people. She always told us, "Never turn anyone away hungry."

Since her philosophy applied particularly to nonpaying guests, the restaurant failed.

When it became clear that my father urgently needed a change of air, we salvaged what we could from the restaurant for a down payment on a small farm in the Catskills.

POOR LAND

Our land was too poor for farming. The alternative was to take in summer boarders.

Nine guests that first summer. A net profit of $81 for the whole family's labors.

That was the beginning of Grossinger's.

Now, lying in the hospital bed, I remembered how this past Labor Day — 43 years later — we had housed and fed 1500 guests. "We're still following Mama's precept," I thought. "No one must ever leave hungry." By hunger she didn't mean physical pangs alone. To Mama, hunger extended to the heart and the spirit.

As the years went by, and my husband and I worked hard to build up Grossinger's, there were times when I just wanted to relax, to be lazy, to stop worrying about improving myself.

But some inner drive kept nagging at me. And that night, in the hospital room, I suddenly realized what it was.

A SUDDEN WARMTH

It was will power. My will had not allowed me to give up. My will had nourished itself on the hardships and disciplines of my childhood. And it would see me through this crisis. What was it Mama used to say, "Of all God's creatures, we alone are blessed with will power."

★ ★ ★

It was quiet in the hospital room. There was a sudden warmth within me, a resurgence of the will that Mama had coaxed to life in me when I was a child. In my heart, I could hear her voice:

"God knows no geography, Jennie. He is everywhere. Put yourself in His hands."

The operation is over, a year in the past, and although recovery often has been marked with pain, I have acquired a spiritual sedative.

★ ★ ★

It is to try to forget myself in thinking of others. This demands the full use of one's will, but with practice, it gets easier.

Wood Preservatives Bad in Swine Crates

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Wood preservatives containing pentachlorophenol or creosote may be toxic to swine coming into direct contact with them.

★ ★ ★

This was found out during experiments conducted at North Dakota Agricultural College by Dr. I. A. Schipper. Schipper said the problem has become more serious because more shippers are using these preservatives in wooden farrowing crates.

★ ★ ★

The preservatives are especially toxic if used on freshly cut wood and have a more harmful effect on younger swine.

Contributions Buy Headstone for a Stranger

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (UPI)— The inscription on the grave headstone reads, "A Stranger Who Wanted to Live in Goldsboro."

★ ★ ★

Beneath the stone lies Don Wilbur Calvert, a drifter with neither home nor relatives who kept coming back to Goldsboro.

★ ★ ★

Because he had no job, the only place he could find lodging was the Salvation Army. Even there shelter was limited to overnight stays. Last winter on one of his visits, Calvert, 89, collapsed and died.

★ ★ ★

The city provided a coffin and a grave. As his story spread, small contributed amounts of money which were deposited in a bank, and later used to buy a headstone for his grave.

A survey made by the U.S. Department of Interior in 1955 reveals that 8 per cent of all fishermen and 3 per cent of all hunters are 65 years of age or more.

Anti-Commies Want Kasavubu to Head Group

In Meantime, Mobutu Forces Start Drive and Oriental Boss Is Out

From Our News Wires

TANANARIVE, Malagasy Republic (AP)—Anti-Communist political leaders of the Congo have agreed to replace their centrally controlled parliamentary government by a confederation of semi-independent states headed by Joseph Kasavubu.

The action of the political conference which ended Sunday, raised hopes in Leopoldville that the way had been opened to an eventual end to the recent chaos.

This warfare has plagued the Central African territory since it won independence from Belgium last summer.

Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu's forces have captured three companies of pro-Lumumba troops in an offensive near the Oriental Province border, the Congolese foreign ministry announced today.

Mobutu's long-expected drive was coupled with reports from Stanleyville that Anoine Gizenga was being eased out as boss of Oriental Province, which is in the hands of followers of slain ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The announcement said one Lumumbist company was trapped in the town of Mondombe, about 300 miles southeast of Coquilhatville.

★ ★ ★

Mobutu's force of 1,200 troops then pushed on to the town of Ikela, 40 miles to the south, and captured and disarmed two more companies. Dispatches from the bush country said his troops had captured the Lumumbist stronghold.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Victor Lundula, head of Lumumbist forces, had sent reinforcements to the garrison at Ikela to protect Stanleyville from an attack from the south.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the threat from Mobutu, Lundula faced a stiff task in trying to stop his army and gendarmerie from going on the rampage. The Stanleyville treasury is reported nearly empty and officials are worried how to pay their soldiers and security forces.

Missing Boy Found; Death Puzzles Police

TECUMSEH (AP)—The gunshot death of farm boy John Paul Marsh puzzled police today despite apparently extensive evidence.

John, 13, who had been missing from his home in this small Southern Michigan town since March 5, was found shot to death in a wooded ravine Sunday.

Near the body lay a revolver that state police said two neighbor boys admitted having taken from John's home and hiding under a tree.

Police said they could not determine immediately whether John had shot himself or been shot by someone else.

The boy, stepson of Alex Glenn, unemployed laborer, and one of six children in the family, had been shot once in the chest.

The ravine, in the River Raisin marshland area, is less than half a mile from the family home. Playmates found John's body. One of them was John's stepbrother, Alex Walter Glenn, 18. They ran and told their parents.

John's body lay face up. The arms were folded across the chest.

A sixth grader in school, John last was seen at a movie theater in Tecumseh the afternoon of March 5. Police and National Guardsmen had searched vainly for him for days.

State police said that at one time during the search for John the boy's parents said he might have gone off on his own on a trip to Kentucky to visit relatives.

THEY SOLD BOTTLES

John's tragic story began with a movie matinee. He and his father had sold bottles to get the 50 cents admission for John, police said.

That was the last seen of the boy.

John's teachers spoke well of him. One of them said he was "one of the best all-around students" in her class.

The mother, Mrs. Agnes Glenn, described John as a normal boy.

Dr. J. H. Ahronheim, a Jackson pathologist who performed an autopsy, said the bullet missed John's heart but penetrated a lung, causing him to bleed to death. He may have lived about an hour after being shot, the doctor said.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ahronheim estimated the time of death as about 6 p.m. on March 5, the afternoon the boy disappeared.

JOHN PAUL MARSH

Set Roadblocks for Bandits on West Side

Employes at Terrorized Grocery; Escape Car Found by Golf Course

Police roadblocks were set on Pontiac's west side today after the second of two grocery store robberies in less than 36 hours.

More than $12,000 was taken in the holdups, the first at the Kroger Store in Miracle Mile Shopping Center Saturday night, the second at Tom's Northwood Market, 888 Orchard Lake Avenue, this morning.

The two crimes may have been connected, police said.

Pontiac and state police combined in the road search at 9 a.m. today after two bandits, both carrying pistols and wearing Army surplus clothes, their faces concealed by scarfs, terrorized three employes at Tom's market, threatening two of them with death and tying up two, including one woman.

Eddie Caudill, 30, of 2821G Delton St., Madison Heights, the store manager, said the Sunday receipts, amounting to "at least a couple thousand dollars" were stolen at gunpoint shortly after the 8:30 a.m. opening time.

CAR STOLEN

Caudill's 1959 Pontiac automobile was stolen in the escape, but found abandoned at 9:10 a.m. on Golf Drive next to Pontiac Municipal Golf Course, a half mile from the store.

Apparently the pair had transferred to a second get-away car at the golf course. This probability complicated the search, since there was no description of a second car.

Two employes of the Kroger's market at Miracle Mile had just locked up the store at 10 p.m. Saturday when they were surprised by a lone masked bandit armed with a chrome-plated revolver.

One of the victims, Roland Barrett, 27, assistant store manager, told state police he and a stockboy, Leroy Brooks, 19, were getting into Barrett's car in the parking lot in front of the store when the gunman ordered them back inside.

The desperado, described as about 20 years old, 5-foot eight, and weighing 160 pounds, then ordered the pair to lie down on the floor inside the supermarket. He scooped approximately $1,200 out of a cash register, and, apparently not satisfied, ordered Barrett to unlock the store's safe, which the assistant manager did.

"He said he had a 'buddy waiting outside in a car' and not to try anything," said Barrett. The safe yielded over $10,000 including several checks.

State Police said the bandit was in the store almost a full hour. He placed money and checks in a pillowcase, told his two victims to stay on the floor for five

Spy Trial Opens in London Today

Two Americans Among 5 Charged With Selling Secrets to Moscow

LONDON (UPI) — Britain charged today that a spy ring of five persons, headed by a Russian posing as a Canadian citizen, stole vital naval secrets and transmitted them to Moscow from the cellar of a shabby suburban bungalow. The trial opens today.

(The FBI in Washington has identified two of the defendants as Americans).

At the Bar of Justice in the No. 1 Court of the Old Bailey, three men and two women went on trial in Britain's most sensational spy case since Klaus Fuchs was convicted of giving atomic secrets to the Communists in 1950.

All the defendants pleaded innocent, a jury of 12 men was chosen with the traditional speed of British justice and the attorney general of the realm, Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller, personally opened the case for the crown.

He unfolded to the court a cloak-and-dagger story of how British counterespionage agents followed a winding trail through London's streets.

It brought them at last, he said, to a cottage in the suburb of Ruislip occupied by a bookseller named Peter John Kroger and his wife Helen.

This place, Sir Reginald told the jury and Britain's Lord Chief Justice Lord Parker, who chose to preside personally over the case, contained a powerful radio transmitter hidden under the kitchen floor.

DEARBORN (UPI)—The University of Michigan has announced plans to reduce vacation times and registration periods at the Dearborn center to tighten up its trimester schedule and make the fullest possible use of facilities.

Lassiter, Watson Ask Dismissal

An attempt to have murder and conspiracy charges against Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and Gordon Watson dismissed was to be made by defense attorneys today in Wayne County Circuit Court, Detroit.

The hearings will be in the courtroom of Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid, who has already sentenced three men to life imprisonment in the April 1959 slaying of Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, wealthy Royal Oak auto dealer.

Lassiter's widow and Watson, his former business associate, are accused of plotting the auto dealer's death.

A defense plea that Rashid be removed as trial judge on grounds of bias because of statements he made in sentencing the trio of killers was turned down earlier in the month by the State Supreme Court.

Mrs. Lassiter lives at 19690 Beverly Rd., Beverly Hills, and Watson in Los Angeles. They are free on bond.

Both Mrs. Lassiter and Watson have denied the charges and insisted in their motion to quash them that the prosecution "intentionally suppressed and withheld" testimoy at their examination which would have "conclusively demonstrated" their innocence.

Mackie to Speak to County Dems at Meet Tonight

County Democrats will mix business with pleasure tonight at their quarterly delegate meeting at the Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

The pleasure will come in the form of a talk from their party's spring election standard bearer, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, who'll report on past and future highway construction plans for the state.

It will be Mackie's last appearance before the full Oakland County Democratic Committee before his name goes on the state ballot April 3 in an attempt to win a second four-year term.

The business part of the agenda will follow Mackie's presentation, which County Chairman James M. Ginn said will be open to the public.

JFK to Discuss Latin America

Will Unveil Alliance for Progress Program at White House Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today unveils plans for the "alliance for progress" with Latin America. He has described his announcement in advance as a major statement.

Kennedy will make the statement midway through a reception at the White House for Latin-American diplomats and dignitaries starting at 5 p.m.

The President plans to follow up with a special message to Congress Tuesday implementing the program.

All but two of Washington's Latin-American envoys are invited to the reception.

The two not invited: The Cuban and Dominican Republican ambassadors to the Organization of American States. The United States has broken off diplomatic relations with both those countries.

Kennedy is expected to refer to Cuba in the speech, but officials said the emphasis will be on a U. S. pledge for continuing help for nations which help themselves."

In a campaign speech last October he used this description: "An alliance of nations with a common interest in freedom and economic advance in a great common effort to develop the resources of the entire hemisphere, strengthen the forces of democracy, and widen the vocational and educational opportunities of every person in all the Americas."

Wants Aid for Teacher Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of a teachers' union, testifying in favor of the administration's federal aid to education bill, said today: "Bricks without brains constitute national folly."

"I cannot emphasize enough the necessity of having a portion of federal aid appropriations mandated for teachers salaries," said Carl J. Megel, president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

"It is foolhardy," Megal said in testimony prepared for a hearing of the Senate Education subcommittee, "to consider aid for education only in the area of school construction, for the teacher and the pupil are the keys to education in the final analysts.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., Sunday made a proposal to allow income tax deductions on tuition paid to parochial schools as a substitute for a loan program for nonpublic schools.

Pucinski said he had written to Mortimer M. Caplin, director of the Internal Revenue Service, asking him to reverse a 1954 ruling that such tuition cannot be claimed as a deduction on federal income tax.

Pucinski, a Roman Catholic, said a reversal of the ruling would eliminate further debate over the constitutionality of federal aid to church schools.

Home Show to Open

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—About 150 exhibitors from Grand Rapids and West Michigan had more than 360 displays ready Monday for opening the week-long Greater Michigan Home Show at Civic Auditorium. The 23rd annual show expects about 50,000 visitors over the week.

Snow, Tornadoes Buffet Wide Area

A new snowstorm rocketed into the Upper Midwest today powered by winds expected to reach gale strength on the thawing Great Lakes.

Michigan and Wisconsin braced for up to a half-foot of snow and the U.S. Weather Bureau warned of sleet and snow accompanying 40-mile-an-hour gales on Lakes Huron, Erie, St. Clair and Michigan.

High winds and tornado conditions that threatened Southern Illinois and Indiana during the night shifted east into the Ohio Valley. A Weather Bureau spokesman said the winds appeared to losing strength as the low pressure center broadened.

Tornadoes Sunday scraped Missouri and Arkansas and hovered over Southern Illinois. The Ozark twisters killed a woman and injured her husband and 10 other persons at a West Plains, Mo., prayer meeting. At least 33 other persons were reported injured in Missouri and Arkansas.

Three Nebraska teen-agers were killed last night when their automobile slid into the path of a truck on a slushy Nebraska 92 west of Wahoo. The truck driver was not injured.

★ ★ ★

Rain shifted inland from Vancouver Bay and Western Washington State, lacing the Rocky Mountains with mixed showers and snow at higher elevations. Showers also pelted most of the Northern Great Plains.

Thunderstorms blanketed a wide area south and east of the Ohio Valley and Lower Mississippi Valley east to the Atlantic Coast.

Police Kill Man in Act of Stabbing

Gerald T. O'Hern was shot by Policeman Robert McPherson.

McPherson and his partner, Howard Day, were patroling when they heard the horn of an automobile blare. They investigated and saw a man sitting in the car, stabbing a woman who was covered with blood.

The officers ordered the man, O'Hern, from the car. He reached into his pocket, told the officers, "You'll have to shoot me," then lunged at McPherson. McPherson shot him.

The woman was identified as Grace O'Hern, the man's estranged wife. She suffered several superficial wounds.

★ ★ ★

Police said O'Hern, in his early 20s, had gone Sunday night to an East Detroit restaurant and attempted to get his wife to leave with him. She refused.

Later she left the restaurant and found O'Hern waiting in her car. He forced her to drive him around, and finally ordered her to stop the car in front of a party store at Gratiot and Wildwood in Roseville.

When O'Hern began stabbing her, she managed to sound the car horn with her foot.

This Way, Folks, Into Stony Creek Park

PARK CONSTRUCTION UNDER WAY — Heavy equipment and a large crew of workmen are being used for the first time at the Stony Creek Metropolitan Park development three miles northeast of Rochester. A $273,000 bridge and dam is the first major construction project at the 4,000-acre park site owned by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority. The structure, which is being built south of the 28-Mile Road entrance to the park, will separate two artificial lakes and carry traffic into the park when it opens to the public in two years. The Stony Creek development will be the second largest recreational facility run by the authority when it is completed.

Village Voters Go to Polls as Weather Plays Dirty

The polls in 18 area communities will be open until 8 p.m. today for voters casting their ballots in the annual village elections.

Few village residents were expected to show up at the polls in many nearby communities because of poor weather conditions and a lack of races. A large percentage are running unopposed.

However, good turnouts were forecast in Rochester, Franklin, Metamora and Imlay City where lively campaigns for council posts were waged right up to election time.

Romeo residents may vote twice today. Besides the regular village election, voters in the Romeo Community School District are being asked to approve a three-mill operational tax on a special school ballot.

Only two issues were to be decided in the area. Residents of Wood Creek Farms will be asked to approve a sewer contract with Farmington Township and the proposed purchase of the Village Green will be decided by Franklin voters.

Although only one slate of candidates is listed on ballots in many villages, the entry of write-in or sticker candidates remains as a possibility which could heighten voter interest.

Complete election returns will be reported tomorrow in The Pontiac Press.

UAW Officials File Suit to Delay Blue Cross Ruling

LANSING (UP) — Officials of two United Auto Workers locals in Detroit today started court action aimed at holding up a decision on proposed increases in Blue Cross and Blue Shield rates.

They asked the State Supreme Court to conduct a hearing March 21 on why Frank Blackford, state insurance commissioner, should not be prevented from making a decision on the matter until new hearings are held.

Blackford already has conducted hearings in Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids on requests of Blue Cross and Blue Shield for rate increases of 22 per cent and 13.5 per cent, respectively. If granted they would cost subscribers $42.5 million annually.

Paul Silver, president of UAW Local 351 and one of the plaintiffs in the suit, charged that earlier hearings held on the proposed rate hikes for the hospitalization and health care plans were "merely forums to propagandize the public."

Joining him in the suit was Mike Marasco, vice president of UAW Local 7.

Blackford said he was uncertain what action he would take until he had consulted with state attorneys. He indicated last week that a decision on the rate changes would be issued this week.

He acknowledged that he had refused a March 6 request from a group of unionists to schedule new hearings, basing his decision on the Administrative Procedures Act of 1952.

Silver said he and Marasco are filing the suit as subscribers to the hospitalization and health care plans, but that they had the support of union locals.

The suit demands that public hearings be held "in conformity with the law," and that Blackford furnish the plaintiffs with a complete copy of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield applications "so a proper answer can be made."

Inmate Stabbed to Death at Marquette Prison

MARQUETTE (UP)—A 26-year-old inmate of the Michigan State Branch Prison was stabbed to death Sunday night by another prisoner with a homemade knife.

James Davis, who was serving a 12- to 25-year sentence for armed robbery, was stabbed three times while waiting for the prison movie to start at a prison assembly hall, officials said.

Warden Raymond J. Buchkoe said another inmate, Ernest Rodriguez, 26, had admitted stabbing Davis in an argument over cigarettes. Buchkoe said Rodriguez told him Davis had intercepted some cigarettes by mistake and refused to return them.

Open Confab, Seek Expulsion

Ministers Pushed by People to Put S. Africa Out of Commonwealth

LONDON (UPI) — The British Commonwealth prime ministers conference opens today with several members seeking to expell South Africa for its racial policies.

Scheduled for early discussion by the prime ministers was a request by South Africa for continuing membership in the commonwealth after it switches from a constitutional monarchy under Queen Elizabeth to a republic on May 31.

Despite open criticism of South Africa, observers said there is little likelihood the government of Prime Minister Dr. Hendrik Verwoerd would be kicked out of the commonwealth.

But some of the prime ministers are under heavy political pressure from their people to demand South Africa's expulsion from the commonwealth, notably President Kwame Nkrumak of Ghana.

Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaya and Sir Abubakar Balewa of Nigeria, have stated publicly they would like to see South Africa out of the commonwealth unless it changes its racial policies of apartheid (separation of races).

LUNCHEON WITH HART — This group of Oakland County officials returned home this weekend after two days in Washington in an attempt to speed up funds for public works projects in the county in order to provide more jobs for the unemployed. Here they pose with Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart (right, seated). Seated (left to right) are: Robert McGinnis, chief engineer for the drain commission; Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry; Robert P. Allen, assistant corporation counsel; John G. Semann, the county's legislative agent; Harry W. Horton, DPW Board secretary; Sidney H. Woolner, Housing and Home Finance Agency official; R. J. Alexander, DPW director; and Hart. Standing: Hiland M. Thatcher, road commission chairman; Thomas H. O'Donoghue, chairman of the board of supervisors' drain committee; Paul Van Roekel, commission highway engineer; former state highway commissioner and governor Murray D. VanWagoner; Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, and Willis M. Brewer, coordinator of road projects for the road commission.

Seeks Emergency Funds

County Bids for Grants

Should the federal government approve an emergency grants program for public works to spur the economy, Oakland County's bid is in to get a slice of it.

A delegation of county officials, headed by Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, returned this weekend after two days in Washington where they spoke of the need for a speed-up of federal funds to get sewer and water projects under way.

Should such grants be forthcoming, they said, many of the county's and state's unemployed laborers would be put back on the payrolls.

Talks were had with Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart, a representative of Michigan Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, who was tied up in a committee meeting, and Sidney H. Woolner, former aide to former Gov. Williams and now commissioner of the community facilities administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

R. J. Alexander, drector of the Oakland County Department of Public Works, said if the federal funds were available today the county could start on $70 million worth of various water and sewer projects within one to three months.

From Woolner, Alexander said he received one definite assurance that his office would push ahead on the county's request for $65,000 for a preliminary study of sewer needs for the southwest section of the county.

SESSION 'ADVANTAGEOUS'

While other commitments were lacking, Alexander termed the Thursday and Friday sessions in the capitol "very advantageous" in that "we got the county on record should Congress enact any public works legislation."

* * *

"They had an awful lot of sympathy for our program and were willing to listen," Alexander said. "They said they were happy to have the information."

One means to speed up such projects, the director said, would be for the federal government to grant interest free loans which could be repaid over the years from sewer or water connection charges.

Other solutions might be partial loans or partial grants to be matched by local funds.

* * *

Now that Oakland County had submitted it's blueprint for public works projects, a similar plan for the six-county Southeastern Michigan metropolitan area should be presented, Alexander suggested to Hamlin, chairman of Supervisors for the Inter-County Committee which consists of supervisors from the six counties.

Gets 6 Months Free Classes

American Buys Gown, Gate-Crashes Oxford

OXFORD, England (AP)—The American youth who got six months of Oxford education free by gate-crashing the university's classes ran few risks of detection, university officials said today.

Officially his ingenuity was disapproved. But some of the dons secretly admired the exploit as just the sort of thing a high-spirited Oxford undergraduate might do at Cambridge.

* * *

The undercover student was bearded Alfred Raedel, 24, a Columbia University mathematics graduate. He bought a cap and gown, and in Oxford that made him look like any other student. No classroom door was barred to him, and no one ever asked in which college he was enrolled or whether he had paid tuition fees.

* * *

His irregular course at Oxford completed to his satisfaction, Raedel is going on to the University of Bonn. There he will study physiology out in the open, as a properly enrolled student.

Oxford officials wouldn't talk about Raedel's achievement publicly. But a fellow of Merton, one of the university's colleges, gave this explanation:

* * *

"Anyone can be taken to college meals as a guest of a proper undergraduate, and in the confusion of a busy dining room guests aren't identified too precisely.

* * *

"Then as to lectures, people who go in wearing gowns aren't checked. It would be tiresome to hold up every gown every day. But of course people without gowns would be spotted. This American, it seems, was properly attired, and that's what counts.

Cubans Foil Embassy Attack

Stop Anti-Castro Band at Soviet Quarters Before Morgan Shot

HAVANA (UPI)—Police guards foiled an armed attack by an anti-Castro band on the Soviet Embassy residence shortly before Maj. William A. Morgan of Toledo, Ohio, died before a firing squad for allegedly aiding the enemies of Premier Fidel Castro, diplomatic sources reported.

* * *

The incident was seen as another indication of mounting opposition to the Castro regime in spite of harsh reprisals. Observers said that rather than discouraging the counter-revolutionaries, the executions appeared to have sharpened their determination to overthrow the revolutionary government.

* * *

The sources said the attempted attack on the Soviet Embassy residence in swank suburban Miramar was made at 8:30 p.m. Pontiac time Saturday night—about 90 minutes before Morgan was executed in La Cabana prison fortress, about 5 miles away.

* * *

At least a dozen shots were exchanged between the police guard and the attackers, according to the informants. The anti-Castrotites were scattered by the police gunfire and at least one subsequently sought asylum in a foreign embassy, they said.

Bandits Net $12,000 in 2 Market Holdups minutes and left by the front door.

Barrett said they did not hear a car drive off. He telephoned state police at 11:10 p.m.

A roadblock failed to net the robber.

State police said he was wearing kid gloves and left no clues at the scene. He also wore a white kerchief on his face during the holdup.

The bandits in the Tom's holdup, one tall and the other short, had broken into the store early this morning through a ventilator to the roof, then lay in wait in a rear room until store manager Caudill arrived at the store.

Arriving with Caudill were Mrs. Alice White, 21, of 4975 Comstock Rd., Commerce Township, a cashier, and Louis Kovanes, 35, of 507 Curry St., Royal Oak, a meat cutter.

OPENS SAFE

Mrs. White and Kovanes were forced to lie face downward on the floor behind a rear food counter while Caudill, his life threatened, opened the safe at the front of the large market and handed over the uncounted receipts.

At one point, one of the robbers pressed his gun against Kovanes temple as he lay on the floor and threatened to shoot because the employe had attempted to loosen his bounds.

Press Chiefs Blast Castro

IAPA Board Declares Cuban Leader 'Main Enemy of Press'

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — The board of directors of the Inter-American Press Association (IAPA) ended its semiannual meeting Sunday with a condemnation of Fidel Castro as the main enemy of the freedom of the press in the Western Hemisphere.

The three-day meeting was dominated by discussions on the precarious state of freedom of the press in parts of the Americas — particularly in Cuba. Suppression of the free press also was attacked in Haiti, Nicaragua, Bolivia, Paraguay and the Dominican Republic.

A resolution adopted by the board went beyond the situation of the press in Cuba. It said Castro had betrayed the hopes of the entire continent by making his government the spearhead of Communism in Latin America and endangering continental security.

* * *

The resolution was a reiteration on one adopted by the IAPA general assembly at its Bogota, Colombia, meeting last October.

Ray Dix of the Wooster (Ohio) Daily Record said Castro "is handing Cuba to communism alerted Latin America to this problem and helped unite the hemisphere in a campaign for democracy."

Jack R. Howard, president of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, said it was "discouraging to see how press freedom has been suppressed in some countries, especially th etotalitarian assault by Fidel Castro in Cuba."

The directors also approved resolutions declaring that "the free press of the hemisphere again demonstrated its unalterable defense of basic human rights by giving broad understanding and coverage to the needs and aspiration of Cuban refugees."

Area Delegates Fighting Swainson on School Aid

A quintet of county Republicans, recently returned from the 22nd annual Citizens Conference on Education in Lansing, have forewarned legislators in Washington that the concensus of the meeting was not support of President Kennedy's federal aid to education program.

In a sharply worded letter to Rep. Adam C. Powell, chairman of the House Committee on Education and Labor, the five hoped to dispel any attempts tomorrow by Gov. John B. Swainson and Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, that this was the result of the Saturday conference.

Swainson and Bartlett are scheduled to testify before Powell's committee tomorrow on the administration's education plan.

The fiv ecomplaining Republicans charged the past conference was "a huge brainwash" for the federal education program.

SEND LETTER

Firing off the letter to Powell and 10 other legislators and officials in Lansing and Washington, including Swainson and Bartlett, were Alvin R. Balden, Mrs. Ann M. Charles, both of Huntington Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Sinclair of Birmingham, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rosenberg of Royal Oak. They attended the conference as delegates from Oakland County.

"Traditionally this conference has taken a particular educational problem and seriously studied all aspects of it," Balden said, "But this year all we got was a constant sales talk on federal aid."

"No effort was made to study any alternate solutions to our state's educational problems," the five contended.

"Instead, Gov. Swainson and Bartlett used the forum to advance their partisan views on federal aid to education."

In one group, the five told Powell in the letter, 21 out of 23 delegates were opposed to federal aid to education.

"President Kennedy's program was looked upon as being neither inevitable nor particularly desirable," the letter said.

They said that if Swainson and Bartlett support the administration's federal aid plan, their views will not be an accurate reflection of the attitudes of conference delegates.

Long or Short Session?

U.S., Reds Argue Agenda for U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A showdown is expected today or Tuesday on whether the current session of the U.N. General Assembly is going to be short and sweet or long and bitter.

Some smaller-power delegations planned consultations aimed at bringing out once and for all whether the Soviet Union and the United States can agree on what should be on the agenda.

CLOSING DATE?

The prospect is that the 21-nation steering committee of the 99-nation assembly would meet Wednesday or Thursday to fix a closing date for the session, which resumed last Tuesday. There was talk of closing on April 21 and leaving all unfinished business over to the 1961 regular session, which starts Sept. 19.

Neither the steering committee, the political committee nor the special political committee has met yet because delegates have been waiting to see whether the Americans and the Soviets could reach an agreement.

The agenda contains 39 items left over from the first part of the current session. These include such controversial issues as Korean unification, U.N. membership for Mauritania and Outer Mongolia, and racial troubles in South Africa.

* * *

The Americans want to put off until next fall all items except disarmament, the Congo, Palestine refugee relief and trusteeship and budgetary matters — with the avowed aim of easing the cold war and smoothing the way for East-West negotiations.

Heater Kills Father, 2 Sons

Failure to Place Call Results in Rescue of 3 Others in Windsor

WINDSOR (UPI)—A makeshift heating unit was blamed today for the asphyxiation deaths of a father and two of his sons in their Sandwich East home.

Three other members of the family were saved because Boy Scout officials were unable to reach the house by telephone and asked police to find out why they got no answer.

Police broke into the home of Robert McNab, 45, Sunday afternoon and found McNab dead in a chair. His wife, Clair, was slumped on a nearby sofa and a year-old adopted son, Robert, was on the living room floor.

The mother and young boy were unconscious, but still alive.

Officers then ran to two bedrooms at the rear of the one-story house and found the couple's three older sons.

Wayne, 16, was dead in his bed. Billy, 13, and Richard, 12, were unconscious on their bed. Billy's face was pressed against a crack in a window and he was gasping for air in the stifling 90-degree heat.

Produced Enough in '59 for 30 Chickens Per Pot

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—A presidential campaign slogan once suggested that a chicken in every pot helped make for a contented household.

Now comes word from the Charleston field office of the U.S. Department of Commerce that commercial hatcheries in the South produced enough broilers in 1959 to put nearly 30 chickens in every pot.

Car Bearing Snakes Hits, 5 Are Killed

SLATON, Tex. (UPI) — Five persons were killed and one passenger injured critically Sunday night when two cars collided while one of them was carrying 50 live rattlesnakes.

★ ★ ★

State police said the snakes were loaded in four sacks and a can in the car trunk and remained captive in the accident. Three state policemen beat the snakes to death with sticks to make sure the poisonous reptiles would not hurt anyone.

The snakes were believed captured in the annual Sweetwater, Tex., rattlesnake hunt.

The accident victims were identified as: Elden Estes Eli Sr., 52; his son Eldon Jr., 19, a Texas Tech student; Mrs. Patricia Eli Baucum, 28, all of Sweetwater; and Benito Cisneros, 19, of Southland, Tex., and Gilberto Hernandez, 15, of Slaton.

William D. Ferguson, 19, of Mount Pleasant, Tex., was hospitalized at Lubbock, Tex., in critical condition.

Sees Real Hope on Nuclear Pact

Chances Are Good for Test Ban Treaty With Soviet, Says Humphrey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee reports that chances of reaching agreement with Russia on a nuclear test ban agreement are better now than ever before.

The Minnesota Democrat said that, thanks to the Kennedy administration, U.S. negotiators will be armed with a clear cut American position on the issue when they resume talks next week with the Soviets in Geneva.

In a radio report to his constituents, Humphrey said U.S. negotiators in the past did not have "a clear purpose and distinct offers to make" to Russia.

He also said the Americans often were at a disadvantage because political and technical aspects of a test ban treaty.

While wary of Russia, Humphrey said in recent weeks he had seen evidence that chances for success at Geneva are better than at any time in the past.

Police Question Deputy

MARBLE HILL, Mo. (UPI) — Tornado damage and heavy rain diverted authorities today and masked the escape route of a 27-year-old fugitive from California accused with two other men of policeman.

Officials resumed an air and ground search at dawn for the desperado, Douglas Wayne Thompson of Bakersfield, Calif., who was believed armed with a rifle and a pistol.

Thompson's two companions, Calvin Willis Johnson, 22, and Sammy A. Tucker, 26, of Fresno, Calif., were captured separately Saturday and charged with first degree murder and felonious assault in the fatal shooting Friday of Herbert Goss, 67, an auxiliary policeman.

Car Barges Right In When Everyone's Asleep

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. Thelma Seay was awakened Sunday by a noise she thought was caused by one of her children falling out of bed.

★ ★

Closer inspection showed a driverless automobile had rolled down an embankment and crashed into her living room. Damage was estimated at $700.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. When does a dog start getting milk teeth and when do they change to permanent teeth? How do you know that he is having trouble? Mrs. E. Cuoghi, Ozone Park, N. Y.

A. Some milk teeth are usually present when a dog is born. Within a few weeks he has a full set. Between four and five months he starts loosing his milk teeth to be replaced by his permanent teeth, a process which will be completed by six to seven months of age.

* * *

During this period your dog will chew on anything available to get rid of the old teeth and encourage the new teeth to come through. Petrified bones and imitation bones made of raw hide or nylon will be a great help, an even greater furniture saver.

* * *

Although your dog's gums may be inflamed and he may be a little cross, his natural cheerfulness should carry him through this slightly painful period.

'Wasteland' Becomes Valuable U.S. Base

By STANLEY HALL

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — This once unwanted piece of real estate on the shores of the Pacific has been transformed in the last two decades from 65,000 acres of shifting sands and scrub oak into one of this country's most important space age bases.

The transformation has been gradual. The area first came to the attention of the military shortly before World War II when an armored training base — Camp Cooke, was established there. It was closed in 1946, reactivated briefly during the Korean War, and then abandoned again in 1953.

In December, 1956, two Air Force officers arrived at old Camp Cooke. It was one of 200 sites being investigated as a possible place to establish the Air Force's first missile base.

The abandoned camp was not an impressive site. Trees had grown over the roads, sand blew over the tops of fences, and the relentless wind and sun had drained the color from the few remaining buildings.

* * *

But the Air Force decided old Camp Cooke was perfect for what it wanted—a site for training missilemen along with maintaining an operational missile force.

* * *

That is the prime reason Vandenberg has for being. But scientists soon found it was perfect, too, for launching satellites into orbit over the poles. It is one of the few places really suited for that in this country.

OVER ANTARTICA

"You can shoot a rocket south from here," one officer said, "and the first land mass it crosses is Antartica, 6,500 miles away."

On a drizzly Dec. 16, 1958, the first successful missile was launched from Vandenberg. It was a Thor and it roared 2,500 miles out into the Pacific. Since then, some 50 other missiles have departed Vandenberg—Thor intermediate range missiles, Atlas ICBMS, Discoverer and Midas satellite shots.

The satellite launches (the first was Discoverer I on Feb. 28, 1959) made Vandenberg, along with Cape Canaveral and Wallops Island, Va., synonymous with space research.

Particularly so on a sunny August afternoon last year when a Discoverer, No. 13, sent back the first man-made object from orbit. Three more recoveries followed quickly, planes catching them in flight off Hawaii.

HAIL RECOVERIES

Scientists hailed the recoveries as proving that plans for the Mercury man in space program would work. They pointed out that the mechanism that fired the capsule out of orbit and down toward the Pacific was similar to the one planned for the Mercury astronaut capsule.

Nineteen launch pads are scattered around Vandenberg and its adjoining Navy counterpart, Point Arguello, including four pads for the short-range Thor where Air Force crews still train British Royal Air Force missilemen to handle the IRBMS positioned throughout the British Isles.

Within the next two or three months possibly, the first Titan ICBM will be fired from a silo launcher 160 feet below the surface of a Vandenberg hillside.

Cardinal Feels All Should Share in School Aid

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis says he is opposed to federal aid to education—but if it comes, Catholic children should share it.

Cardinal Ritter told the archdiocesan Council of Catholic Men Sunday: "Do we really want federal aid? I personally am opposed to it. It's my personal conviction the parents ought to keep the schools in their own hands.

*

"Nevertheless, federal aid might, before the year is over, become a fact. As it is now proposed, there is no question in my mind but that it discriminates against children who attend private schools. If public funds are raised for the educational benefit of the children of America, then all children should share in that benefit."

Student Play Sees Outsiders Getting Into Act

By DICK SAUNDERS

Approximately 75 Washington Junior High School students will see several months of hard work bear its fruit Friday night at 7:30.

The product should be as sweet as success can be.

* * *

When the auditorium lights dim, the audience will be thrust into "Flight Into Danger" — a dramatic effort unparalleled in the school's history.

The Washington Pioneer Players are attempting something — on both a dramatic and technical level — usually reserved for senior high and college acting groups.

"This is the first time a play of this scope has been attempted at the junior high level anywhere, as far as we know," said Glenn F. Hartman, director and speech instructor.

* * *

"Flight Into Danger' has been adapted for the stage by Christopher Sergel. It was originally a celebrated television play by Arthur Hailey.

The plot revolves around events which take place when the crew of a huge airliner is stricken with food poisoning while in flight to Los Angeles.

UNIQUE STAGING

In an attempt to achieve realism and vividness of event, the production will be unique in the fact that staging facilities are being expanded into the audience.

The interior of an airliner and the ship's cockpit are being constructed on stage.

A control tower has been constructed in the first few rows of auditorium seats.

The fuselage will be built about 3 feet off the stage, and the floor of the 8 by 10 foot control tower will also stand some 3 feet above floor level.

* * *

The tower will be glassed-in so the audience will be able to see the action clearly.

The play's "curtain" will be lighting. The lights will fade from one set as they rise on another.

PLAY KEY ROLE

This calls for plenty of planning and timing for art instructor Traver Miller, in charge of lighting.

Miller and his crew of seven students play a key role in the production.

The technical side will have a real professional look due to the help of outside organizations.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is sending technicians this week to install radio communications between the control tower and airliner. They will also provide head phones for the actors.

General Motors Truck & Coach Division is donating 10 seats for the interior of the airliner.

DONATE HEADSETS

Robbins Flying Service, at Pontiac Municipal Airport, is donating headsets for pilot and copilot. Personnel from Robbins is also assisting in an advisory capacity to insure realism and authenticity in the production.

Appearing in the lead roles will be Bob Dudley and Carolyn Spanburg.

Other key roles will be played by Mark Walker, Joanne Lynch, Jon Hartman, John Hofmeister, Ann Fulton, Cindy Morrell, Betty Nyhof, Char Everett, Carol Dodd and Roger Putnam.

* * *

Also in the student cast are Jum Briney, Mike Harmon, Susan Capuzzi, Cheri Wyrick, Christine Bexell, Nathan Jones, Dave Brown, Diane Mitchell, Jack Biestein, Russell Underwood and Bob Isgrigg.

Assistant director is Elaine Pyrros, English and speech instructor.

Staff heads include Pamela LaLonde, stage manager; Dave Dunlap, publicity; Diann Mitchell, advertising; and Jeanie Jenner and Jack Bletstein, ticket chairmen.

The students are charging 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students to see the show. Tickets can be obtained from Washington students, at the door, or at Felice Quality Market, 238 S. Telegraph Road.

It will be the first evening dramatic performance at the junior high school in eight years.

CONTROL TOWER CREW — The most unusual setting in Washington Junior High's production will be this control tower off-stage at audience level. It is now partially constructed. Finishing touches will be added this week. Actors and actresses who do scenes from the tower are (from left) David Brown, Michael Harmon, Nathan Jones, Cheri Wyrick, and Diann Mitchell. The production, originally a television play, is being attempted for the first time in this area.

Board Will Consider Black Topping Streets

The only items scheduled for tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting are a hearing for black topping two streets, according to Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

* * *

The hearings, scheduled from 7 to 9, involve a stretch of road on Cheeseman Street from Frembes Street to Sashabaw Road, at a total cost to property owners of $10,200. A second hearing to be held at the same time involves an area on Riveria Street from Elizabeth Lake Road to Beechgrove Street.

REHEARSING PLANE SCENE — These Washington Junior High School students are rehearsing a scene which will greet an audience in the school auditorium Friday night. The play, "Flight Into Danger," takes place on an airplane. This is actually two sets — a cockpit and a passenger area of the giant airliner. The actors and actresses are (from left) Bob Dudley, Carol Spanburg, JoAnne Lynch, Jon Hartman, Roger Putnam, Jim Briney, Susan Capuzzi, John Hofmeister, Betty Nyhof, Cindy Morrell, Carol Dodd, Char Everett and Mark Walker.

Liz Breathing Without Tube

Actress Talks Freely With Eddie and Parents; Recovery Assured

LONDON (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor was breathing naturally today, minus the special throat tube she used for eight days in her fight against double pneumonia.

Removal of the tube in a five-minute procedure Sunday at the Longon Clinic was a sign of further progress in the movie star's recovery. Her critical illness had made necessary an oxygen-pumping electronic lung machine, a blood transfusion and intravenous feeding, now ended.

★ ★ ★

"Miss Taylor is now going along very nicely," said a spokesman at the exclusive hospital.

Miss Taylor, 29, conversed freely during the day with her husband, singer Eddie Fisher, and her parents.

Fisher praised the team of doctors and nurses and the clinic staff who had fought to keep his wife alive.

He added: "There is now every reason to believe that she will recover fully from the dreadful illness which so very nearly took her life more than once this past week."

★ ★ ★

He also expressed appreciation "to the many thousands of friends throughout the world, unknown to us personally, who by their messages of prayer and encouragement and faith helped us importantly to keep alive our own sometimes faltering hope."

Car Crash Trial Starts

CAMERON, Tex. (AP) — The trial of a Texas A&M student charged with murder without malice in the car wreck that killed singer Johnny Horton last November starts here Tuesday. James Evans Davis, 19, was injured when his car collided with the car belonging to the singer.

Says Recession Has Hit Bottom but Aid Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges says the recession has "hit the bottom" and the economy is recovering but that President Kennedy's antirecession program still is needed.

Hodges said legislation to help areas which have suffered from chronic unemployment — the so-called depressed areas — was particularly essential.

Hodges rejected the contention of a number of Republicans that Kennedy's antirecession proposals should be scrapped because some statistics indicate the business outlook is brightening.

But he said a temporary income tax cut probably would not be needed to pump more purchasing power into the economy. Kennedy had promised to consider such a cut if business did not improve by spring.

Floods Halting Ferries

TIPTONVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Ferries at Cottonwood Point, Powell's Landing and Tiptonville have suspended operations due to Mississippi River flooding. The nearest bridges are at Cairo, Ill., and Memphis.

Whaling nations of the world signed an agreement in 1937 not to take cow whales running with calves.

Teamsters to Halt Port Strike on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Attorney Sam Kagel announced early today that an agreement had been reached to end the four-day strike of Teamsters against the port of San Francisco.

Kagel, who acted as mediator in the dispute, said the agreement was reached during a 12-hour meeting with representatives of the Pacific Maritime Association (PMA), the Teamsters Union, and the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU).

The San Francisco attorney declined to give any of the details of the agreement, but said "Teamsters and Longshoremen will report to work as of this morning."

A similar strike in Los Angeles, which started last Tuesday, was settled Friday night.

Boys Steal Fire Truck, Take Fast Siren Ride

CRANDALL, Tex. (AP)—Three boys stole the city's fire truck and raced over the countryside Sunday, siren screaming and red light flashing.

Four other boys in a car chased the truck, thinking it would lead them to a fire.

Boys in the fire truck, thinking the car occupied by police, swerved into a deadend road.

Two boys on the truck fled. The third waited for police to arrest him. Officers are looking for the other two.

Door Firm Features Remote Control in '61

A new remote control operator, fiberglass garage door and new wooden and steel garage door models are in the 1961 line of Berry Door Corp., 2400 E. Lincoln Ave., Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

The remote control door operator is designed for 30-minute installation and is so simple in construction that 90 per cent of service will require no tools, Berry said.

It features a portable hand transmitter which can be used from inside an auto or from within the house to open the garage door.

There is also a permanently installed button control unit inside the garage.

The new operator can be used on any one-piece or sectional garage door.

★ ★ ★

The new fiberglass canopied door is translucent and diffused a soft light to the garage interior.

Student's Permit Lets Him Drive Bus to School

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UPI) — Many college students drive to their classes in sports cars, jalopies or conventional autos. But Gordon A. Wagner, a senior at the University of Bridgeport, has them all beat.

He rolls onto the campus behind the wheel of a 32-passenger bus.

Wagner has a part-time job as a bus driver, carrying pupils to and from three public schools. His employers let him use the bus to attend his college classes and student council meetings.

★ ★ ★

"The biggest problem is parking the thing," says Wagner. "So many students drive cars to the campus, there isn't much room for a bus."

Drugs Shorten Hospital Stays Since Year '40

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The president of the American Pharmaceutical Association says the cost of a stay in the hospital is less than it was in 1940.

★ ★ ★

Ronald Robertson, Spokane, Wash., says that's because new drugs have shortened periods of hospitalization or even make it unnecessary.

★ ★ ★

An example, Robertson points out, is pneumonia cases. The ailment used to mean an automatic two-week confinement in a hospital. Now many cases are cared for in the home.

Explorer Scouts Study About Oil at Houston Post

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—One of the most unusual boy scout posts in the nation is Explorer Post 655 in Houston.

★ ★ ★

The explorers have broken away from the usual concept of a scout wandering through woods, bend trails and trying outdoor cookery, and have begun a study of the oil industry instead.

The scouts, donning the steel helmets worn for safety by oil workers, have toured refineries in Houston, have visited oil industry historical sites, and have made synthetic rubber in experiments.

They ran tests to determine the viscosity of oil and have heard oil men lecture.

Commuters Must Pay

NEW YORK (UPI)—Americans are spending nearly as much to transport themselves to and from their homes as they are spending on housing itself, according to Architectural Forum, a professional building journal. The publication said Americans will spend $1 trillion on transportation in the next 15 years.

NEW CAR CARRIER — Looking with pride at the newest product in the automotive-railroad industries are (from left) William O. Bridge of Birmingham, inventor of the new car hauling device; Paul G. Fritzching Jr., traffic director of Chrysler Corp.; S. E. Hebert, vice president of Whitehead and Kales, Detroit steel structural firm that will build the rack; Frances G. Bridge, president of Multi-Car Corp.; and Arthur Berry, president of Transport Leasing, the Pullman Co., of Chicago. The new Multi-Car Carrier will provide up to 75 per cent greater shipping capacity by hydraulically positioning vehicles on three levels to achieve a 16-feet, 8-inches bi level clearance. The carrier will enable manufacturers to ship at tri-level capacity to areas previously inaccessible by rail due to clearance restrictions. It is available to manufacturers and railroad companies on a lease basis through Multi-Car Corp. To be produced by Whitehead and Kales starting this month, the carrier will hold 12 large cars or mixed loads of 14 automobiles.

Translation Took 13 Years

Modern-English Bible on Sale

A New Testament in modern English, known as "The New English Bible: New Testament," is on sale today.

The new translation authorized in 1946 by all Protestant church bodies of the United Kingdom, the National Bible Society of Scotland, and the British and Foreign Bible Society is the first new church-authorized translation of the Scriptures into English since 1611. The task took 13 years.

The presentation of the New English Bible marks the 350th anniversary of the King James Bible which has been read and cherished by English speaking peoples everywhere.

The new translation into current English was undertaken by a Joint Committee of 70 distinguished scholars of several denominations appointed by the major churches. It is not a revision but an entirely new translation from the original Hebrew and Greek.

Although a new translation had been discussed in England before World War II, nothing specific had been planned when the war postponed any work until 1946.

The joint committee formed in July 1947 arrived at an agreement with the University presses of Oxford and Cambridge whereby the latter would bear the entire cost of translation and publication and in return would be the joint publishers of the Bible.

The committee met twice a year in the Jerusalem Chamber of Westminster Abbey. They organized the work by appointing three panels of translators, one for the Old Testament, one for the New Testament, and one for the Apocrypha.

★ ★ ★

They also appointed a panel of literary advisers to scrutinize drafts of the translation. A revising committee of three then went through the whole work.

APPROVED YEAR AGO

The translation of the New Testament was formally approved on March 23, 1960, 13 years after work was begun. Work continues on the Old Testament and the Apocrypha, which will be published several years from now.

As to the need for a new translation, a memorandum circulated when the project was first being planned noted:

"In the urgent task of evangelism, one main difficulty of the church is the difference between the language customarily used by the church, and English as currently spoken.

"There is danger that archaic language may give the impression that the message itself is out of date and irrelevant. This is especially deplorable since the New Testament was written in the 'common' language of the time."

★ ★ ★

"The New English Bible" is planned and directed by representatives of the Church of England, the Church of Scotland, the Methodist Church, the Congregational Union, the Baptist Union, the Presbyterian Church of England, the Churches in Wales, the Churches in Ireland, and the Society of Friends.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the Brisish and Foreign Bible Society and the National Bible Society of Scotland also sit on the Joint Committee.

Severely beaten about the head and face, a 44-year-old Independence Township man lies in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Floyd Rowley of 7035 Andersonville Road remained unconscious since being admitted to the hospital early Sunday morning.

Sheriff's deputies today were holding 22-year-old Robert Young of 4171 Lotus Drive, Waterford Township, for investigation of felonius assault.

Young has not been formally charged yet. Should Rowley die, Young probably will be charged with murder, according to detectives.

Mrs. Young told detectives her husband had left her and their 17-month-old daughter, Carroll Ann, at Rowley's home Saturday evening, while he went out drinking.

When her husband returned shortly after midnight, he went berserk, she said and started to choke her. She told deputies she managed to break loose when the bed fell on their daughter and dashed from the house.

Hysterical, she phoned police from a neighbor's home.

When deputies arrived, they found the child crying but otherwise unhurt. Young and Rowley were both unconscious on the floor nearby.

Detectives said Rowley apparently had been severely beaten with a bloody chair found at the scene. He was rushed to the hospital, while deputies revived Young and brought him to the county jail for questioning.

He was still being held today.

Prosecutor Eyes Charge in City Shooting

A Pontiac man, who police say has admitted blasting an unwanted occupant of his car with a shotgun from a double-barreled shotgun, was to be asked today to make a formal statement at the Oakland County prosecutor's office.

Police Sgt. Allen Noble said that after the statement a warrant charging attempted murder may be sought against Sylvester Johnson, 28, of 44½ Lorraine Court.

Johnson was arrested Saturday night after the shooting of Arthur H. Thomas, 19, of 67 Florida St. near Johnson's home.

Police said Johnson's only explanation of the shooting was that he was angered because Thomas was asleep in the car and wouldn't wake up.

Edgerton, Edwardsville, Ellinwood, Lakin, Norton and Peabody, Kan., are all named for one-time employes of the Santa Fe Railroad.
