Supervisors' Head Backs Courthouse Plan

Says New Space a Pressing Need to Serve County

Would Speed Up Court
Work and Consolidate
Scattered Offices

Speedier and more efficient court operation, saving of heavy rent for expanding county offices, and more convenience to citizens by central location of county offices were advanced today as reasons for approval of the Oakland County Courthouse plan at Tuesday's election.

Floyd Andrews, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, today urged voters to authorize building of a new courthouse at Tuesday's primary. He said he was "one hundred per cent" behind the proposal.

"I'm glad the people will have a chance next Tuesday to vote on a bigger, up-to-date building," he said. "I hope they'll vote yes. We certainly need one."

The county will ask voters Tuesday for a $4,500,000 bond issue to build a new courthouse on Telegraph Road and a tax of 50 cents on each $1,000 of property valuation to pay off bonds.

Andrews, of Clarkston, said the county's present courthouse at Huron and Saginaw streets and the Lafayette Street office building "are so crowded they're starting to cripple county government. That means slower, poorer, more expensive service to our people."

He said the lack of room for more judges is actually endangering citizens' Constitutional right to "a speedy and public trial."

"When a person has to wait several months for his case to come to court," Andrews said, "that's not speedy justice. Witnesses can forget a lot of details in several months."

A study in 1950 showed Oakland County's three judges handled 555 cases each that year—200 more apiece than any other judges in Michigan. A supervisors' committee in January reported circuit court cases had to wait eight months to come to trial.

Andrews pointed out that voters won't save much money, in the long run, by turning down a new courthouse. He said the county would have to rent office space, adding that cost to the high cost of keeping its 50-year-old courthouse in shape.

Harry J. Klingler Retires From General Motors Posts

Retirement of Harry J. Klingler, vice president of General Motors and group executive in charge of the passenger car divisions, was announced today by GM President Harlow H. Curtice. He also is retiring as a director of General Motors and as a member of its Operations Policy and Administration Committees.

Klingler's retirement, effective July 31, follows a career of more than 35 years with General Motors, including 12 years as a vice president. For more than 17 years he was general manager of Pontiac Motor Division.

As group executive in charge of the passenger car divisions since Jan. 1, 1951, Klingler supervised the operations of GM's Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, and Cadillac Divisions. Until recently, the group also included the GMC Truck & Coach Division.

He was named a vice president on Jan. 5, 1942, and elected to the Board of Directors on December 4, 1950.

From October 23, 1953, until his appointment as a group executive Klingler was general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division.

Under his leadership, production of Pontiacs rose from 80,195 in 1954 to 469,513 in 1950, and employment in the division increased from approximately 5,000 to about 16,000.

Signs Taboo on Public Property

are Patrolmen Robert Gaines and Roy Hudson and Lt. William A. Crisp. They already have torn down over 500 signs. Straley said posting political signs on city land violates a city ordinance.

45,000 Loyal Vietnamese Stream Sout h From Delta

HANOI, Indochina (UP)—Forty-five thousand loyal Viet-Namese, including thousands of Roman Catholics, streamed southward from the Red River delta today to escape Communist rule.

The refugees ignored pleas to remain behind. Communist orators throughout the western delta told them they could keep their property and would not be harmed.

"You will only be coolies forever under the heel of the colonialists if you go south," the orators said.

Crowds from Communist-occupied villages around Hai Duong halfway down the road from Hanoi to Haiphong, the main evacuation route, surged around buses and truckloads of refugees, shouting at them to remain behind.

A low of 63 to 67 is expected tonight and a high Saturday of 82 to 86, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Downtown temperatures yesterday ranged from 68 to 82. At 8 a.m. today the reading was 68, rising to 91 by 1 p.m.

Most of the 45,000 came from Son Tay, 25 to 30 miles west of Hanoi, among them were an estimated 20,000 Roman Catholics.

Mons. Maret, French bishop of Son Tay, decided to remain at his post and urged his priests to do the same.

Fighting continued to flare up in various parts of Indochina. French warplanes bombed rebel troops which attacked posts in central Viet Nam with the cease-fire, less than 48 hours away.

The French High Command said all posts in the Dong Hoi sector of central Viet Nam were under rebel fire. Rebel forces mounted two direct assaults against two French-held bastions.

One small post in the Dong Hoi sector fell to the rebels and the high command called in the warplanes to hold Communist units from further gains before the shooting stops.

The cease-fire goes into effect in central Viet Nam on Aug. 1. Fighting stopped officially in northern Viet Nam on July 27 and ends in Laos Aug. 6, Cambodia Aug. 7 and south Viet Nam Aug. 11.

Newsmen at Saigon protested today to Viet Nam Premier Ngo Dinh Diem against cables from their Hanoi correspondents being held up for 48 hours without advance notice.

(In Paris, the National Federation of the French Press asked Premier Pierre Mendes-France to take measures respecting freedom of information in regard to Viet Nam censorship.)

Police Remove Political Signs

500 Campaign Posters
Are Torn Down From Illegal Locations

Pontiac Police have torn down over 500 illegally posted political campaign signs since an order was issued by Police Chief Herbert W. Straley last week.

Police will continue throughout the campaign to take down the signs posted on city property, which is in violation of a city ordinance, explained Straley. Twenty-five were torn down Thursday.

Citing the ordinance which dates back to 1905, Straley said he issued the order following the complaints of citizens and a letter which appeared in the Pontiac Press "Voice of the People" column July 21.

"Our actions are not discriminatory against anyone in particular," Straley explained. "We are enforcing the ordinance at the He also explained that the signs cannot be posted on private property without the owner's consent.

The ordinance states that upon conviction a violator may be jailed 30 days or fine $10, or both.

In reporting to City Manager Walter K. Willman, Straley said that considerable damage is caused to trees and utility poles by long spikes holding up the signs.

He added that the flashy signs also serve to distract motorists and may cause accidents.

Vote to Censure Sen. McCarthy May Be Put Off

Many Colleagues Want to Avoid Pre-Election Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cards appeared today to be falling in favor of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) as the Senate approached debate on a move to censure his Communist-hunting behavior.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said he regards as "still good" the prospect that the Senate eventually will adopt his proposal to censure McCarthy for what Flanders calls unbecoming conduct.

But there was general agreement that a substantial number of senators would like to avoid any showdown vote now on the politically explosive issue.

In this atmosphere there were indications Republican friends of McCarthy may come up with some compromise to shelve the matter at least until after the November elections for control of Congress.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, said he will open the way for debate on the Flanders proposal during today's session.

Knowland's program called for the Senate to complete action first on the foreign aid bill. As the Senate convened at 9 a.m. (EDT) the GOP leader told reporters his guess was that debate on the Flanders resolution would begin about 2 p.m. (EDT).

He and en, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, agreed in separate interviews that final disposition of the matter is likely to be delayed until early next week.

Plunge in Pool, Steaks Primed Senate Talkathon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois found a good way to cool off while many of his colleagues were heating up on the floor during the atomic filibuster. He frequently went down to the Senate pool and jumped in.

Some of the waiters in the Senate restaurant were getting a little loggy in the legs until they looked up and found they were getting time and a half! After the usual supper hour, the restaurant served the standards, ham and eggs, sandwiches and even the famed beef soup.

The restaurant employees, by the way, could tell when Sen. Wayne Morse, the champion talker from Oregon, was about to speak. The senator came in to fortify himself with a thick steak, with onions. And right behind him came his whole staff, ordering the same. The staff had it timed to the onion how long they could stand the gaff.

AEC Reports Progress on Many Atomic Projects

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's atomic arsenal is "growing rapidly in total numbers," the government said today and high-level action has been taken to assure continued U. S. superiority in A-bomb and H-bomb fields.

The Atomic Energy Commission so told Congress today in its semi-annual report which also said there had been record production of uranium from domestic sources in the last six months and a "sharp rise" in the production of fissionable materials at lower unit costs.

AEC reported the start of operation of "a number of components" of its big plant at Savannah River, S. C., where materials for either A-bombs or H-bombs can be made.

And it reported continued progress toward development of reactors for industrial nuclear power which it said may be produced economically in the foreseeable future, and "for naval and aircraft propulsion and other military requirements."

The Commission reported the near completion of the atomic power plant to drive the Nautilus, the Navy's first nuclear-powered submarine whose hull has been completed. A second atomic sub is under construction and plans for early building of two more were announced yesterday by the Navy.

AEC said last spring's tests in the Pacific, which stirred an international controversy, "were successful in development of thermonuclear weapons," and it said it has found no evidence of any permanent harm to persons in the area who suffered burns from radioactivity.

The Commission said it has plans for the construction of a second and much more powerful "breeder" reactor for producing atomic fuel and, at the same time, turning out heat capable of use in power generation. One such experimental reactor is in operation.

Completes First Major Overhaul in Past 75 Years

Cornerstone of Ike's
Legislative Program
Awaits Signature

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress completed action last night on the first complete overhaul of the nation's tax laws in 75 years, and both Republicans and Democrats claimed they would profit more politically.

Whatever the political effects may be in the coming campaign for control of Congress, the action sent to the White House for virtually certain approval the bill President Eisenhower had designated as the cornerstone of his 1954 program.

Before a 61-26 vote in the Senate sent the bill to the President, Democrats seized a final chance to snipe at some provisions.

Only three Republicans—Dwight D. Eisenhower (Idaho), Langer (ND) and Williams (Del)—joined 22 Democrats and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) in voting "no." Supporters included 42 Republicans and 19 Democrats.

The revision bill carries $1,363,000,000 in assorted tax cuts for individuals and corporations in its first year of operation, more in later years.

Michigan Backs Bill

Michigan Sen. Ferguson and Potter, both Republicans, voted with the 61-26 majority yesterday for the omnibus tax revision bill.

later years. It does not change major tax rates except to maintain the 52 per cent levy on corporate income which dropped to 47 per cent April 1 and is extended retroactively.

Republicans hailed the bill as capping a 7½-billion-dollar 1954 tax reduction program—biggest for any single year. This already has been used in GOP campaign material.

Democrats interject here that two big boons to the taxpayer took effect automatically under a 1951 law enacted when their party controlled Congress.

GOP leaders from the President down argue the bill will spur business by providing more funds for plant expansion and modernization through a wide variety of more (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

U.S. to Move 275 CD Workers to Battle Creek

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Federal Civil Defense Agency has announced plans to move 275 of its employees and their families from Washington to Battle Creek in September.

The agency is shifting its headquarters to Battle Creek and will take over the now idle Percy Jones Hospital. The remainder of the agency's 450 man staff will be recruited from the Battle Creek area.

Ike Lauds Hannah on Resignation Eve

WASHINGTON (UP)—Praising his "significant contributions" to U.S. defense planning, President Eisenhower late Thursday accepted the resignation of Dr. John A. Hannah as assistant secretary of defense.

Hannah has been on leave from his post of president of Michigan State College for the past 18 months while serving as the defense department's manpower chief. His resignation is effective Saturday.

Hannah told the President in his letter of resignation that "my obligations to Michigan State College and to my family are paramount."

Mr. Eisenhower replied in his letter accepting the resignation: "With the security problems still facing this government, we can ill afford to lose men with your foresight, integrity and judgment."

Hannah expects to return to the East Lansing campus of Michigan State Saturday.

Father Delivers Baby

NEW YORK (INS)—A Brooklyn father didn't get a chance to pace the floor when his baby daughter was born. Cono Liquori lost a race with the stork to the hospital and had to deliver the baby himself in the family car.

Here Are Ways the New Tax Law Will Save You Money

WASHINGTON (UP)—Here are some of the ways you as an individual taxpayer can benefit through the big tax revision bill now on President Eisenhower's desk for almost certain signature:

DIVIDEND INCOME—If you're a stockholder, you won't have to pay any tax at all on the first $50 of income in dividends. Furthermore, you can take 4 per cent of any dividend income above $50 and deduct that from your tax payment.

The $50 exclusion is effective as of last Jan. 1. The 4 per cent deduction applies to dividends paid after July 31 this year.

MEDICAL EXPENSES—You may deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of income, instead of 5 per cent as at present. But you must remember that from now on you may only deduct sums spent for drugs and medicines above 1 per cent of your income.

Also, you can have a total medical deduction of $10,000 for your family; the limit has been $5,000.

RETIREMENT INCOME—You won't have the basic 20 per cent tax rate on the first $1,200 of retirement income received after you pass 65. If you're a retired government employee such as a teacher, fireman or policeman, you can get the benefit even though you're under 65.

WORKING MOTHERS—If you must work to support children under 12 or other dependents, and if your husband is incapacitated or if the combined income of the family is less than $4,500, you may deduct up to $800 spent for child care.

SOIL CONSERVATION—If you're a farmer putting a lot of money into soil rebuilding, you may deduct these outlays up to 25 per cent of your gross income.

COLLEGE STUDENTS—If you have a child who is under 19 or is in college and has a job which pays him more than $600 a year, you may continue to list him as a dependent with a $600 exemption on your return if you pay half of his support.

CHARITIES—You may deduct up to 30 per cent of your income for charitable contributions, instead of 20 as at present.

INSTALLMENT BUYING—You may deduct the carrying charges on such purchases, even though they're not specifically stated as interest in the contract.

HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD—If your husband or wife dies, you may continue for two years to get the full benefit of income splitting as on a joint return.

HEALTH & ACCIDENT PLANS—If you miss work because of an illness or an injury, you are entitled to tax exemption on payments made to you by your employer, up to $100 a week, if they are issued under a regular health and accident plan. The exemption does not apply in the first seven days of an illness, unless you are hospitalized.

DECLARATIONS OF ESTIMATED TAX—If you're married and have up to $10,000 of income, practically all of it subject to withholding, you no longer need (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

5 Chilean CAP Members Visit Squadron Here With Fighter Pilot and General

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM—For the third time in two weeks Birmingham is hosting visitors from overseas, this time five Civil Air Patrol members, a fighter pilot, and a retired Air Force general from Chile.

The seven, delayed on their flight from Washington D. C. by poor weather, arrived at Selfridge Air Force Base yesterday afternoon.

They were met by 36 cadets and officers of the Birmingham Civil Air Patrol unit and driven to the sprawling General Motors Technical Center at 12 Mile and Mound Rd., the first stop on the local itinerary.

The visitors are in the United States for 30 days, having already spent five of them in the nation's capital. They will be here through Sunday.

Retired Gen. Ruiz Guillermo Villouta, now director of the Federation of Aero Clubs of Chile, is accompanying the group. Gen. Villouta, who was also a general of the national police, lives in Santiago as do the other members of the tour.

The second chaperone is Lt. Rawson Jorge Peake, a pilot attached to the Aviation School of Santiago.

Included among the visiting cadets are Fernandez L. R. Ortes, 16, son of the commander-in-chief of the Chilean Air Force, and Jose G. Silva, 19, whose father is commander of the air garrison at Santiago.

Others are Irarrazaval J. Ruiz-Tagle, 18, a second year student of engineering at the Chilean Naval School, Larrain S. Warrarazaval, 19, whose father is president of the Aero Club of Chile.

Roundup of the group is Krarup J. Gomez, 19, a freshman in industrial chemistry at Catholic University. Gomez' father is the former minister of education and is now rector of the University of Chile.

The Birmingham CAP played host to a group of Alaskan CAP girls and their escorts two weeks ago, and early this week a busload of foreign exchange students spent two days here.

liberal deductions for businesses. This will mean more jobs, they say.

Democrats, claiming they will benefit, say the bill concentrates benefits for big corporations and the wealthy, but does little or nothing for the average little man.

Most of the benefits in the bill are effective as of last Jan. 1 and thus can be figured in on returns filed next year. The bill, incidentally, tosses out the traditional March 15 filing date in effect since the income tax law was passed in 1913, and substitutes April 15.

The biggest revenue loss in the bill results from a new rapid depreciation write-off system allowed corporations and individuals. This will cost $223 millions in the first year, much more in succeeding years.

Corporations also are given more liberal treatment of research expenses, greater freedom to "set aside" surpluses, more power to offset losses in bad years against profits in good years, and less stringent accounting requirements. Mining companies get a whole new set of depletion allowances.

Churchill Wins Confidence Vote

Parliament Recesses After Approving Plan to Pull Suez Troops

LONDON (U)—Parliament got ready to close shop for the summer recess today after according Prime Minister Churchill a 10-1 confidence vote on his plan to pull British troops from the Suez Canal zone. Most Laborites abstained on the ballot.

The House of Commons backed the prime minister's historic decision by a vote of 257-36 after Churchill made an impassioned declaration that the H-bomb had rendered the billion dollar, 75-year-old string of bases obsolete.

Both Commons and the House of Lords, which also debated the controversial Suez issue, begin their summer recess today. They will not reconvene until October.

Churchill, who in World War II remarked he had not become prime minister in order to liquidate the empire, declared yesterday the whole British position in the Suez had been outdated by "the appalling developments and the appalling spectacles which imagination raises before us."

"Merely to try to imagine in outline how to portray the first few weeks of a war as it is now... would convince you of the obsolescence of the base," he asserted.

The agreement, which has strong U.S. support, calls for the transfer of 83,000 British troops from their Suez base within 20 months after a seven-year pact is signed.

The pact will give Britain the right to reoccupy the base in case of attack on Turkey or any of the eight Arab nations. Civilian caretakers under contract to Britain will keep up the great installations dominating the vital waterway.

A group of 40 rebellious Conservatives had threatened to break the party traces over the prospect of seeing another portion of the empire pass out of British hands. But in the final test, only 26 Tories voted against the government.

Aly and Rita to Decide on Custody of Daughter

NEW YORK (INS)—Price Aly Kahn arrives in New York today to meet ex-wife Rita Hayworth and thrash out the long-standing problem of their little daughter's custody.

Rita's attorney, Bartley C. Crum, landed in New York yesterday one day ahead of Aly and said the Moslem price is coming to America with "a club in one hand and an olive branch in the other."

Crum said Aly insists on a condition, that little Yasmin be allowed to visit her ailing grandfather, the Aga Kahn, in Europe. He described the Aga Kahn as desperately ill.

Eight Hurt in Crash at Telegraph, Golf

Eight persons, all of Detroit were injured last night in a head-on crash at Telegraph Rd. and Golf Dr. when one motorist drove over the center line into the path of another car, according to Pontiac Police.

Charles Crawford, 27, one of the motorists was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for head and chest bruises and then arrested for driving over the center line.

He was released on $100 bond after pleading not guilty to the charge. Trial was set for Aug. 8. Crawford's auto collided with a car driven by George Kopka, 40, who was treated for lip cuts.

Passengers, all with Crawford, were John Hawk, 27, forehead cuts; his wife, Margaret, 22, leg bruises; their daughter, Janet, 2, face bruises; Edward Navin, 50, admitted to the hospital and reported in good condition today with a knee fracture and Hauls son, John, 4, and daughter, Betty, 6, who were shaken up.

Hunger Halts Jailbreak

LACONIA, N.H. (UP)—Robert Dickerson, 26, and Alvin Robbins, 18, sawed their way out of the Belknap County Jail Thursday before breakfast. Sheriff's deputies said 14 other inmates, invited to join in the escape, declined because they didn't feel like fleeing on empty stomachs.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. E. D. Schermerhorn

Funeral for Mrs. Edwin D. (Mabel C.) Schermerhorn, 79, formerly of Pontiac, will be Saturday at 3:30 p.m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of First Congregational Church of which she was a member, will officiate and burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

OES No. 228 of which she was a past matron will have charge of the service at the grave.

Born in Tawas City July 20, 1875 she died in the Tawas Hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Schermerhorn lived in Pontiac for 50 years returning to Tawas four years ago.

Besides her husband she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Muriel Horton of Tawas and a brother, Fred Murphy of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Rites for Justice to Begin Tonight

Rosary service for Richard V. Broder, 36, Royal Oak Township justice, will be at 8:30 p.m. Friday followed by a memorial service by Union Aerie 2082 at 9 p.m. from the Sullivan and Son Funeral Home.

Prayer service will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Saturday from the funeral home, and a Requiem Mass will be sung at 11 a.m. at St. Mary Magdalen Church, Hazel Park. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Park Cemetery.

Broder, who lived at 27029 Barrington, had served as justice for the past 20 years.

Surviving besides his widow, Sadie, are three sons, Richard of Royal Oak Township, Paul of Mt. Clemens, and Airman Second Class John of Selfridge Air Force Base, and two daughters, Mrs. George Corey of Hazel Park, and Alice M., at home and two sisters.

GOP Promises Speedy Action on Immunity Bill

WASHINGTON (INS)—House Republican leaders promised today to push for speedy action on immunity legislation, a key part of the administration's Communist-control program.

The bill would empower federal courts, at the request of a congressional committee or U. S. attorney, to grant immunity from prosecution to witnesses who testify about subversive activities.

The measure is aimed at halting the practice of persons who invoke the Fifth Amendment and refuse on grounds of possible self-incrimination to answer questions at investigations of communism.

If a witness who had balked at testifying refused to answer questions after he was granted immunity from incriminating himself, he then could be cited for contempt.

The immunity bill is the last of Brownell's major anti-Communist proposals to reach the House floor. The House already has approved measures to legalize wire-tapping, strip citizenship from convicted Reds and provide the death penalty for peacetime spying.

Rhee and Dulles Wind Up Talks

U.S. Firm in Refusal of Military Aid to Unify Korea

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U.S. and Korea formally winds up a week-long series of talks today with the Koreans now convinced they will not get a desperately-sought agreement to unify their country by force.

Peppery, aging Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea, has fought a losing battle at the highest political levels on his argument that only force will bring North and South Korea together.

A high administration source said while the U.S. admires Rhee's gallant decision to plunge his country into another blood bath if necessary to achieve reunification, the Korean chief of state will not be given American backing for such a move—"at this time."

Rhee and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are meeting, probably for the last time, and are expected to hammer out final agreement on at least two other major issues.

The first would be a firm pledge by the U.S. to pour additional military aid into Korea, possibly including an initial fleet of either 215 or 315 jet planes. At present the South Korean forces have only outmoded piston craft. The North Korean Communists possess both jet fighters and bombers.

The second was expected to be a U.S. agreement on the need for revitalizing and stepping up the Korean Relief and Rehabilitation Program.

However, on this latter score, an authoritative official who has participated in some of the conferences, said the Koreans will not get a hoped-for direct economic program.

Instead, the present relief agency in Korea probably will be given additional funds and undergo a shift of emphasis to meet Rhee's objections to its lagging efforts in the past.

At the same time Korean sources said they have fought a losing battle on an economic front—a drive to squeeze Japan entirely out of the Korean relief program.

Money-Saving Facts of New U.S. Tax Law

to file a declaration of estimated tax.

RAPID DEPRECIATION — If you're a businessman or farmer, you may use the new double declining balance method of quick depreciation on a plant or piece of equipment. This means that in the first year of life, you can write off twice the amount for depreciation now allowed; thus you can concentrate most of the write-off in the early years of use of the item.

The accelerated depreciation plan will benefit chiefly corporations. They get other relief, too, including:

More liberal treatment for research expenditures. Greater freedom to set aside surpluses.

The right to offset a loss against profits of two prior years, instead of one as now.

Elimination for utilities of the 2 per cent penalty tax on consolidated returns.

Greatly expanded depletion allowances for mining companies.

A cut-off date of April 1, 1955, for the 52 per cent corporation tax rate, at which time it automatically drops to 47 per cent unless Congress continues it again.

State Insurance Official Dies at Desk Thursday

LANSING (U)—Richard W. Atwell, 69, director of the property insurance division of the Michigan Department of Insurance, suffered a heart attack and died at his desk in the Lewis Cass State Office Building Thursday afternoon.

Atwell had been with the State Insurance Department since 1943 when he was named director of the workmen's compensation division. He was appointed second deputy director in July of 1950.

Attempt to Poison Fleas Kills 11 Fine Hounds

PETTY, Texas (U)—A fox-hunter Joe Beville found some fleas gnawing on his pack of fine hounds. So he sprinkled his dog pen with cotton poison. Even rubbed some on the dogs.

Killed the fleas alright, and 11 of the hounds.

Bob Considine Says:Gentle Blasts of Dynamite Jar New York City Life

NEW YORK (INS)—Guy Fawkes, who tried to blow up Parliament, was a crude amateur compared to Edward J. Keenan, a hearty, good-natured Irishman who has been blowing up New York for 30 odd years. Keenan is a blasting foreman for one of the major construction firms.

Keenan has been knocking at my window for several weeks now. He knocks with 40 per cent nitro-glycerine.

But his artistry is such that it is a gloved and gentle knock by the time the blast wave reaches my apartment — which is across the street from where Mr. Keenan is engaged with the task of blowing a gaping wound in the rock-ribbed earth of Manhattan.

We caught him between blasts yesterday, and gained an introduction through John Finn, the super on the work. They and their swarms of associates have scrapped famous Old Sherry's, across from the Waldorf, from the face of Park Avenue. Didn't drop a single lognette on the head of a passer-by. The place that once housed or temporarily sheltered the mighty of the world for decades fell victim to the relentless march of business to Park Avenue.

"This one isn't too hard," he said, rubbing his Dempsey-like jaw-bridge and speaking above the roar of the traffic that swept past the demolition. "We went down 40 feet for the foundation of U.N. That part of it is certainly going to last."

Because his work is hemmed in by buildings, traffic and tens of thousands of passing pedestrians, Keenan decided at the start that this would be a "two mat job." The mats, 4-ton steel mesh rugs, are deftly spread over the mined area by a steam shovel before Keenan touches off the blast. The mats keep the rock from flying about and braining innocent bystanders.

"We're taking it a little easy here," the master blaster said.

"Using from ten to twelve sticks a shot. That comes to about six pounds of powder. We never call it dynamite. Powder is the word. Forty per cent nitro. Makes a nice mixture."

Keenan blasts the rugged Manhattan schist (the crystalline rock without which the city could not be a forest of heavy skyscrapers) as confidently as you might cut through butter.

He blasts with the grain. ("Manhattan schist grain always runs toward the East River.") With the charges he's using now, right next to the naked wall of a business establishment, he is rooting out from 15 to 20 yards of rock per shot. Never scars the wall.

"But it's interesting work," he philosophized. "And I get $136 a week rain or shine."

"We take every precaution from the time my powder monkey places the sticks until the job's done. The city sends us an inspector every day, to keep an eye on things. The inspector on this job is, I'm proud to say, my son. Flew with the Flying Tigers under Chen-nault."

And Keenan went back to work at his wonderful job of blowing up the nation's biggest city.

The compass needle points not to the North Pole, but to the north magnetic pole of the earth. This pole is in northern Canada, near the Arctic Circle.

INJURED WHILE DANCING — Mitzl Gaynor caused a major sensation at 20th Century-Fox studio when she danced through the most torrid number ever filmed, (left) ending up with ice packs on a sprained ankle. Screamed Mitzl: "This is the second time I've torn ligaments in my ankle while doing that sequence."

Released Ex-Convict to Enjoy Honeymoon

CINCINNATI — A pastry chef who gave himself up to police after escaping from the Jefferson City, Mo., Prison Farm, today is free to start a new life with his bride.

After marrying her recently, 25-year-old Cecil W. Hamm told his bride he had escaped from Missouri with only 12 days remaining of his sentence and was wanted on two false check charges there. She pleaded with him to turn himself in so they could start over again with a clean slate.

After he told police he wanted to make restitution for the bad checks, Gov. Frank J. Lausche refused to honor extradition papers for his return to Missouri. Yesterday Judge Ralph E. Kohnen dismissed a fugitive charge which had been filed against him.

Unexcited Surgeon, 90, Re-starts Woman's Heart

PITTSBURGH — Mrs. Helen McDermott's heart stopped functioning during an operation last week but she resumed breathing when direct massage by the surgeon's hand restored the vital heart beat.

While this emergency procedure is no longer considered unusual, it was the first time her surgeon ever tried it. He's colorful, 90-year-old Dr. James P. Kerr.

Asked if he became excited or upset when his patient stopped breathing, Dr. Kerr replied: "Hell, no. What's there to get excited about? I never get excited."

More than 40 per cent of the world's goods are produced in the United States, which has six per cent of the world's people.

1,500 Convicts End Three-Day Strike

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — State Penitentiary inmates picked up their normal routines today and the man who will be their warden said the "situation is in complete accord" after a three-day sitdown and hunger strike.

But Lawrence Delmore Jr. warned trouble still is possible among the nearly 1,500 convicts after their 72-hour fast.

The sitdown, which started among laundry workers Monday noon and in the next 24 hours spread throughout the prison, ended suddenly yesterday afternoon.

The prisoners said they were accepting assurances of Fred Dickson, supervisor of state institutions, that some of their demands would be met, and were led off to their first meal—fried eggs, fried potatoes, fruit, bread and coffee.

Brush Fire Endangers Movie Stars' Dwellings

LOS ANGELES — A 20-acre brush fire destroyed one house and endangered movie players' dwellings in the Coldwater Canyon area before it was controlled yesterday.

Actor Jack Palance called firemen and wet down the rear of his house with a garden hose.

Homes of actor Ward Bond and actress Ella Raines are on nearby cross streets. Movie producer Charles Feldman lives two doors from Palance. Actor George Raft's home is two blocks away.

Son Guards Dad's Home as Thieves Hit Jackpot

HAMILTON, Ohio — Russell Brockman and his wife moved into the home of Brockman's father last Saturday to guard the place a few days while the father was absent.

Yesterday the Brockmans returned to their own home only to find burglars had made off with a television set, radio and phonograph while they were gone.

Burglar Doesn't Even Say Thanks to Victim

OMAHA — Mrs. Nancy Sexson was visiting Mrs. Gladys Moline here when she told police a man walked in the front door. He went to a table, picked up Mrs. Sexson's pocketbook containing $3 and walked out with the comment "I'm taking this with me."

Lilacs were found growing wild in the Balkan mountains.

Accused Slayer Released on Bond

PHOENIX, Ariz. — William E. Demand, charged with the murder of his "best friend," was out of jail on a $30,000 bond today.

He is accused of the slaying of Vernon Donn Frederick, 38, Scottsdale service station owner and city councilman. Frederick was shot to death in the living room of his home.

About an hour later in the early morning hours Wednesday Mrs. Faye Demand, wife of the accused, was found dead in a canal. Investigating officers said she drowned when the car she was driving plunged into the water.

Demand, 35, owner of a photo shop at Scottsdale, is charged with shooting Frederick through the heart with a .32 caliber pistol while Frederick was watching television in his home.

The Frederick and Demand families were next-door neighbors.

Ike, Family Leave on Weekend Trip

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower and his family—three grandchildren included—left today for a long weekend in Maryland's cool Catoctin Mountains.

The entourage left the White House at 9:10 a.m. (EDT) for Camp David near Thurmont, Md. Accompanying the Eisenhowers in addition to their grandchildren—David, 6, Barbara Anne, 5, and Susan, 2—were their son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and his wife, Barbara.

Some time over the weekend the Eisenhowers plan to drive to the Gettysburg battlefield to inspect progress on the home they are building there.

The President plans to return to Washington Sunday evening or Monday morning.

Soviet Decides That Little Ivgnns Study Too Hard

MOCOW (U)—The Soviet government has decided that Russian school kids have been working too hard, and that they've been getting too much book jearmin' and not enough practical education.

So it has revised the study program for primary and high school grades for the new term to cut down the work load and give the kids more to do with their hands and less with their nogginns.

Izvestia, official newspaper of the Soviet government, and the Teachers Gazette predict that the new program will make little Ivan not only a smarter but a stronger boy.

The kids of Moscow and Leningrad are going back into school uniforms, and in some of the primany schools "coeducation" is being restored. Boys and girls are going back together in the same classes after some years of segregation.

Parents had complained their children were subjected to overstrain at examination time.

To increase practical education, Russian primary school children are going to get garden and shop work and less biology, geography and psychology.

The principal borrower was the Little League, a baseball organization of boys. Some 38 teams have encircled their playing diamonds with snow fence sections.

James told Waterford Township Police he did not know his brother was playing in front of the auto. Two witnesses also did not see the child.

Lena Rose Scheett, 22 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Scheett of 2534 Premont, is reported in good condition today after a car driven by a neighbor passed over the child's leg, causing a leg fracture and bruises.

Douglas Ridder of 2554 Premont, driver of the car, told police he was backing from his driveway when he heard a scream, stopped his car and discovered that he had run over the Scheett child. Both babies were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

Cleary Hits Shadow Governing by CIO

Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor in the Aug. 3 primary, told a luncheon group of 125 Republicans today that "it is long past time to remove the shadow governor of Michigan, Gus Scholle, of the Political Action Committee of the CIO."

Speaking in Berkley after a tour of south Oakland County, Cleary said Gov. G. Mennen Williams is devoting his time and effort to capturing a nomination on the presidential ticket in 1956, while he completely ignores the critical problems of Michigan.

The acute water shortages in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties, while presently local problems, should be given any voluntary held possible by the estate of Michigan, Cleary said.

38,500 Registered in City for Primary

Some 38,500 Pontiac citizens are registered to vote in next Tuesday's election, according to City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

In the 1952 presidential primary 38,688 persons were eligible and 16,093 voted.

In the general city election held April 5 this year 38,391 persons were registered, with 13,885 voting. The vote was a record high for an election when only city positions were at stake.

Entire Deserted Lumber Town Sold at Auction

DELLEKER, Calif. (U)—This entire town was auctioned off yesterday.

Irwin Friedman, San Francisco auctioneer, announced he had received definite bids for all of Delleker, site of former lumber mill activities.

Sold were 58 homes, a hotel, a dining hall, school house and several other buildings.

Delleker was founded in 1909 by the Feather River Lumber Co. The available timber supply became exhausted last November, and the town's 350 inhabitants moved away.

Waterford Youngsters Run Over in Separate Accidents

Two Waterford Township children, both under 2 years old, were run over in separate accidents by autos as they played in driveways near their homes last night.

The condition of Gerald Chaffin, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Haskey Chaffin of 7182 Band, is listed as critical today.

Gerald was playing in front of a car in the family driveway when his brother, James, drove the car over his body, severely injuring his chest.

James told Waterford Township Police he did not know his brother was playing in front of the auto. Two witnesses also did not see the child.

WCTU Hears Life Histories of Two Workers

A resume of the life of Mrs. Emor L. Calkins was given when members of Emor L. Calkins Chapter of WCTU met Tuesday in the Shore View drive home of Mrs. Bradley L. McCoy.

Mrs. Minnie Clemens, chapter president, also reviewed the life of Mrs. Anna Gordon, telling of her accomplishments which were of lasting importance. Mrs. Rhoda Rubey, gave devotions. Sadie Patton gave the prayer.

Mrs. McCoy will be in charge of a meeting on Aug. 5 when members will make cancer pads. This meeting will be held at the Green street home of Mrs. John Braid.

The Aug. 24 meeting of the chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Green at Pontiac Lake. Mrs. Green is the president of the 18th District of WCTU.

The "friendship basket," a money-making project designed by Mrs. Braid, was introduced to the members at the Tuesday meeting.

Photographing Tips

If you are planning to have a photograph taken at a studio, here are a few tips: Don't wear rouge; it creates bad shadows. Don't go directly from hair dresser to photographer; the hairnet may leave ridges on your forehead. Just before the picture is taken, moisten your lips.

Splashing Children Defy Summer Heat

Witbeck Pool Attracts Very Young Set

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BIRMINGHAM—The Harold Witbeck home on Cranbrook road is a busy one this summer. The four children of the house, Gregory, Gary, Suzanne and Barrie, have as their visitors their cousins, John, Susan and Jim Jansen of Effingham, Ill., and spend most of their time in the family pool in their garden.

The pool, lovely in its setting with underwater lighting, is especially attractive, and all neighboring friends of the children are invited to swim there afternoons—providing they abide by the rulings of Mr. and Mrs. Witbeck. As a consequence, there is one continual swimming party.

Other pools include that of Mr. and Mrs. George Russell on Lone Pine road, where George Jr. and Mary Love entertain their friends, and that of Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Morse Jr., also on Lone Pine road. Many picnics are staged for the Morses' friends and for those of their son, Richard, and daughter, Suzanne.

Mrs. S. O. Wylie Bell, who has been the guest of Mrs. Guy S. Jensen of Kennesaw avenue, has gone to visit Dr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford of Westchester Way. Mrs. Bell formerly lived in Birmingham but moved to Tucson, Ariz., three years ago with her son and daughter-in-law and their children, Katty and Tommy Bell. The Bells have bought a ranch near Tucson and are busy with many improvements.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parry and their children are on a western camping trip and at present are near Cimmaron, N. Mex.

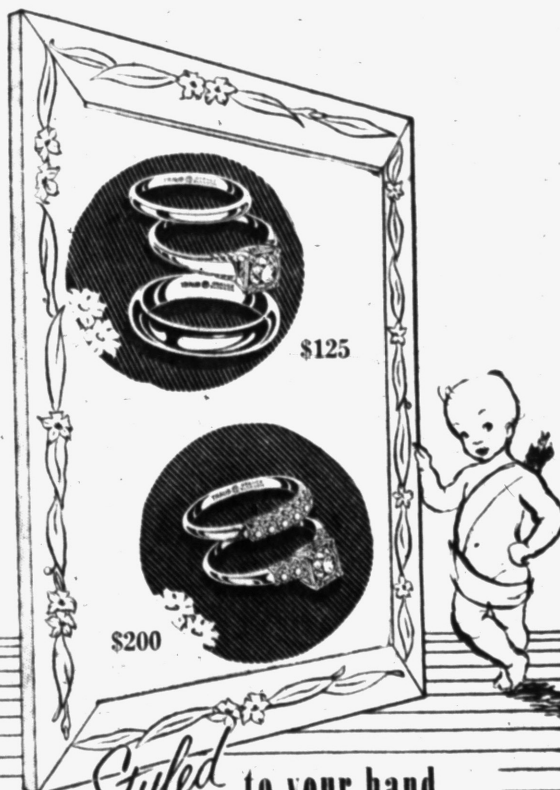

Mrs. Thomas P. Hubbard of Southfield road will leave Sunday to spend a week at St. Clair.

Snack Is Satisfying to Tiny Toddlers

Most babies like a snack, both midmorning and midafternoon even though they have good appetites for their regular meals. So if Baby does want a snack, be sure that he gets it regularly every day and at the same time.

Make it light so that it doesn't spoil his appetite for his next meal. You might try a small glass of milk and a cookie or fruit juice and a cracker or two.

Interviews Mrs. Before Hiring Mr.

Businessman Says
Employee's Spouse
Must Be an Asset

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

The man who wants to be a success in business should pick the right wife, says Joseph Weiss, a businessman with an unusual philosophy.

"Most men don't realize how important their wives are in shaping their financial future," says Weiss, president of an auto seat cover manufacturing company with retail outlets all over the country. "I won't hire a representative, or even allow a man to invest his own money in my business, if I don't think his wife can be an asset."

The era of the clinging vine has passed, says Weiss who explains his theory thus:

"Behind every successful man there is a woman who understands at just what point a man needs to be pushed and when he wants to be coddled. She should encourage him when he's down in the dumps and tighten the rein when he shows signs of wandering into aimless pursuits."

"She must be happy and interested in her husband's career, realizing that it's her career too, and that she can make or break it."

"She must be a good mixer, willing and able to meet and entertain her husband's business associates, to make friends with them and to make them believe that friend husband is a routine go-getter, even if he's merely a milk-toast."

"A successful wife should keep her own appearance up to snuff, so that her husband will be proud of her and his associates will be impressed."

"She should be able to influence her husband. That doesn't mean she has to henpeck him. It should be done more subtly than that."

"Any wife who wants to see her husband succeed should remember that she entered a partnership with him when they got married, and that she should be a working partner, not a silent one."

The woman who makes a profession of being a "homebody" is no asset to an ambitious man, in Weiss' opinion. She should run her house smoothly and efficiently, but widen her horizons so that she is able to talk intelligently on a wide variety of subjects.

She needs good common sense, a generous dash of ambition and the ability to understand her husband's job.

There are two kinds of wives that automatically put the jinx on any man applying for a franchise from Weiss' company. Says he:

"The woman who is obviously bossy, and who answers every question before her husband has a chance to open his mouth, is poison to a man."

"And I'd never hire a man whose wife is a gimmer-girl. A gold-digger can ruin the ambition of the ablest man."

Homemakers Meet for Etching Lesson

The Modern Homemakers Extension Club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. H. L. Stein on Manse road. The group etched patterns on aluminum trays, and the special lesson was taught by Mrs. Kenneth Anderson.

A business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Daniel Peterson, and a letter was read from Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, who is resigning her office as Oakland County home demonstration agent.

Message Scalp

The scalp should be massaged for at least two minutes each day. Hold your finger tips firmly against the side of the head and move the scalp itself with the fingers. Slowly knead the entire scalp, and this will increase the blood supply of the hair.

Name Corrected

It was incorrectly stated in the Pontiac Press Wednesday that Eliam Russell is engaged to Robert McQueen. The item should have read that Mr. and Mrs. Morley L. Russell of Maxwell road are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Eliam, to Roger McQueen, son of the Mallon T. Dunns of West Longfellow avenue.

Dior Flattens Out Curves With His 'H-Line' for Fall

Flat-Chested and Waistless Costumes
Hark Back to the Roaring '20s

PARIS (AP)—Fashion designer Christian Dior, who popularized the postwar New Look, set out today to do it again with a fall and winter line that denies feminine curves are where they used to be.

Dior's mannequins appeared as if they were ready for a big night back in the roaring '20s. They had flattened busts, waistslines where you might expect hips and hardly a natural curve in the house.

If Dior's ideas win acceptance—and he drew loud applause at the showings—it will be pretty trying for women who lack the sleek figures of Dior's models.

He calls it his "H-line" because that is what the new form is supposed to resemble. It also might indicate "hips," because that is where the emphasis is. The few belts that appeared on the costumes were draped consistently at the hips.

Dior appears to have disregarded last year's unsuccessful attempt by former fashion empress Coco Chanel to stage a comeback with similar beaklike figures. His styles—flat, boyish, slender, elongated and long-waisted—go even farther.

"The Line," as fashion experts quickly dubbed it, looks less startling and more wearable in full flaring cocktail and dinner dresses.

One reassuring part of the changing fashion scene is the decision by Dior and other designers not to tinker with skirt lengths. They figure 17 inches from the floor is about right for hemlines.

Dior's salon was packed as he unveiled his creations in a press showing and for the scads of buyers in town.

His first five or six creations failed to surprise the critical audience. But "The Line" slowly began to appear and set the house buzzing.

Everywhere in the collections, coats, full-skirted cocktail dresses, dinner and evening gowns and daytime ensembles, the tapered, spindle-like flat look was in evidence.

Jackets fell from narrow sloping shoulders to the hips or below. Long bodices were emphasized by five or six rows of double-breasted buttons.

Blouses and the tops of two-piece dresses looked for all the world like the old-fashioned middie blouse without the sailor collar.

A typical Dior ensemble features a three-quarter-length coat, double-breasted and close-fitting with no waistline. Beneath the coat is a straight, flat pullover, reminiscent of old tunic dresses, which ends at the skirt just below the hipline.

Nails Require Care

Be gentle in caring for your nails. Even a tiny break in the skin around the nail may lead to infection. Hangnails should be cut short and kept clean. At the first sign of one, apply a bandage soaked in boric acid solution.

Sorority Holds 'Hobo Hoedown' Thursday Night

Elizabeth Lake Estates Park was the setting for the Thursday evening meeting of Alpha Alpha chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Dee Brim and Ann Tierney were cochairmen of the program entitled "Hobo Hoedown." They were assisted by Mrs. Benjamin Sweeney, Maxine Miller, Mrs. Frank Osterhoff, Mrs. Marshall Rose, Beth Ullom, Mrs. L. L. Schieffer and Mrs. Fred Baumgartner Jr.

Others assisting with arrangements were Mrs. Walter Kresge, Mrs. Don Moore, Beryl Wilson and Mrs. Glenn Wilson.

Swimming, games and outdoor cooking in hobo style were the activities of the evening. Maxine Miller won first prize for her hobo costume.

Turn Your Bedroom Into Beauty Salon, With You as the Only Customer

Emergence From Facial Mask

Copy Snake, Shed Your Old Skin

By ANITA COLBY

This week you're going to turn your own bedroom into a private salon; learn to give your face and body professional care, to pamper yourself in peace and quiet.

You're the only customer—take plenty of time. You're also the experienced operator. Today the facial, whose triple purpose is to cleanse, stimulate and soften. This is how you do it:

3-Purpose Facial

GET TOGETHER YOUR FACIAL EQUIPMENT: Big towel, headband or hand towel, absorbent cotton, tissue.

FOR DRY SKINS: Cleansing cream, lubricating cream, skin freshener, special mask.

FOR OILY SKINS: Soap and water, cleansing cream, astringent, special mask.

WHICH MASK FOR YOU? Right here we'll pause to explain the reasons types and uses of the mask.

It is, first, the quickest "re-do" your face can get. There are many fine, safe, effective types on the market. They rest the face, make skin seem smoother, fresher, less lined.

Most of them have a tightening pull that sucks out dirt from pores therefore they make the best treatment for blackheads, clogged or enlarged pores. You can buy excellent masks in these categories, each with their own instructions. Here are a few:

Types of Masks

STIMULATING MASK: This has ingredients that lightly flush the skin, freshening and revitalizing pale, sallow or dusty-looking faces.

WAXY MASK: This is especially designed for older skins—is applied warm, and kept warm under heated towels or pads. Skin comes out firmer, tinged with a blush.

ASTRINGENT MASK: This is for either oily or crepey skins. Lie in the Hollywood Slant without fail if you use this type—your face should look its youngest—taut and "running uphill" a bit, as any of these creamy or syrupy types harden and should "set" your face at its best.

MEALY MASK: The most popular mask... intended for the dry or oily skin, with blackheads, whiteheads, etc., as its chief objective. Moistens meal in palm of hand and spread on skin.

When it dries and hardens, scrub off with dry cloth, if your skin can take such treatment. If not, rinse off.

Now if you need a mask, don't put it off just because you haven't any "boughten" ones in the house. You can make your own—mix fresh each time:

CORNEAL MASK: Mix 2 tablespoons of cornmeal with one egg white, lightly beaten, to form a paste as thick as heavy cream. Spread over face and neck in 1, 2, 3, 4 motions—let dry. And when it feels taut, rinse off with cool water.

ALMOND MEAL MASK: Get this in any drugstore, mix with witch hazel in palm of hand—enough to form a creamy paste. Follow same directions as for corneal, unless your skin can stand the dry washcloth scrub-off.

Now the Treatment

Ready to begin? Wrap yourself in a big towel, leaving arms and shoulders free; tie back your hair in a small towel or headband.

Sit before your mirror and examine your skin for pore troubles—if you have bad spots, dab with zinc ointment.

STEP 1: CLEANSE... thoroughly, with cleansing cream or soap, and finish with several warm rinses. This opens pores and starts you relaxing.

Now fall to pieces—drop your head, let its weight fall willy-nilly, let your shoulders sag, your arms fall lifeless. Shake out your hands. Rest there a minute.

STEP 2: LUBRICATE: Now take up palms full of oil or rich cream (oily skins use cleansing cream) and work into body. Base your thumbs just back of each jugular vein, and stretch fingers down back to vertebrae between shoulder blades.

Full up across that big muscle, massage and knead it, working slowly and deeply. Cross arms one by one, work opposite shoulder muscles.

Now knead up both sides of neck vertebrae to base of skull, firmly, over and over. Knead upward along large neck muscles: Now work oil into chest, starting at breasts, working up to neck.

STEP 3: MASSAGE: Starting at base of throat with fresh oil or cream, stroke up to chin, alternating hands, 10 times. Now work on an angle out to jaw hinge, 10 times. Now, pulling with two fingers, one just above jawbone, one just below, make 10 strokes from chin to ear.

STEP 4: FACE MASSAGE: With upward rotations of first three fingers massage from jaw to top of ear. Now upward at an angle from corner of nose to temple, stroke 10 times. Now from below mouth corners, work up the laugh lines, rounding over cheek to inner eye corner, 10 times.

Now rapidly alternating hands, pat-stroke up, up, up from chin to lip, then down, down, down. Repeat this all across forehead—quick little following pats—and between eyes. With two fingers trace wings from bridge of nose over brow to hairline, 10 times.

Danger Area

Now, DANGER AREA—Don't rub, very lightly pat around eyes from nose, across cheekbones to outer eye corners, filling that thin skin with more lubricator. Note: Each time you take up lubricator, wring some into hands.

STEP 5: MASK: Here steam with cloth wrung out of hot water to open pores and make ready for your mask. Use whichever type is indicated for you above, and cover all of face except eye area, where you leave plenty of oil.

Make sure mask is thick enough to cover every pore, packed into wrinkles and crevices, spread thickly under chin and out under jaw.

Now soak cotton pads with eye lotion, witch hazel or boric acid, lay over eyes and get into your Hollywood Slant.

Relax here for 15 to 20 minutes, seeing black, and seeing blank. Think of nothing except to count your blessings.

STEP 6: CLEAN AND TIGHTEN: Up now, and saturate a big blob of cotton with astringent or skin freshener and, repeating your stroking patterns, wipe off mask, leaving a little oil around your eyes.

Now rinse with a dash of cold water—and take a look at yourself. Your skin is smooth as a baby's—as you've shed the old like a snake.

Your eyes are bright and dewy. Your body is fresh and relaxed. You're ready for a lovely makeup, and a wonderful time.

Davidson Family Holds Reunion

Ojibwa Island in Saginaw was the setting for the Sunday reunion of the Davidson family. Ray Davidson of Saginaw was elected president; Henry Davidson of Dryden, vice president; and Julia Davidson, secretary treasurer. Members were present from Pontiac, Cass City, Flint and Saginaw.

Other cities represented were Midland, St. Louis, Dryden, Leeper, Fenton, Owendale and Elkton. It was announced that the 1955 reunion will be held in the same place.

Eye Shadow Ideas

For light hazel, blue, or gray eyes, use a blue-gray eye shadow. For dark hazel, brown, or black eyes, use a dark brown eye shadow. And remember, eye shadow should be used sparingly.

Beebe Home to Be Setting for Party

Dr. and Mrs. Willard E. Beebe will entertain 30 guests Saturday evening at a cocktail party and dinner-dance in their East Iroquois road home.

Cathi Marie Price will be 1 year old Aug. 13 and is lucky enough to be celebrating the occasion with her parents, Sgt. and Mrs. Warren Price, in Heilbromm, Germany. Cathi and her mother flew to Germany to join Sgt. Price last March and will reside there for the next three years. Cathi's grandparents are the Charles Freemans of Chandler avenue.

The Clarence Huemillers of Walnut road have been entertaining her mother, Mrs. George Uthoff of Mount Vernon, Iowa, for the past 3½ weeks.

Mrs. Huemiller's cousin, Albert Irving, and his granddaughter, Patty Ann Comer, of Arlington, Va., have also been their house-guests for a few days.

The Edward Somervells and children, Eddie, Mike, Tommy and Christine, will return to their Huron Gardens home Sunday after vacationing for two weeks at Houghton Lake.

After serving 15 months in Korea, 1st Lt. Edward C. (Ted) Wells will arrive Sunday at the Orchard Lake avenue home of his parents, the Harold F. Wells. After a 30-day visit—he will report to Ft. Meyer, Va., where he is assigned to the President's honor guard.

TAKE OVER GIRLS Should Take Initiative and Show Boy That She's Interested in Him

She Could Break the Ice by Inviting Lad to Party

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Last year this boy liked me. He never came right out and said so, but he acted that way and all his friends told me he did. I liked him as a friend, but that's all."

"Now I find I like him a lot. But for a while he wasn't even answering me when I said hello. Toward the end of school, though, he was acting a bit more friendly."

"And some of his best friends still told me that he likes me. I can't take it as kidding now—I really wish it were true."

"I think he is afraid I would turn him down if he asked me to go out with him. Maybe the only way I can get him is to tell someone I like him a lot. What do you think?"

The usual maneuvers won't work now that you're out of school and don't see him every day. You'll have to manufacture a chance to see him. You'll have to take the initiative, since he doesn't. But you can do it without appearing to chase him.

If one of his best friends happens to go with a girl you know—well, invite them over for the evening and ask the boy to bring your boy along with them.

Include other couples if you want to make the fun merrier. Or call your boy up and invite him yourself. Make the evening sound exciting—make a real party of it.

An invitation from you will break the ice and show him the way to your house. If he enjoys it, he might be back of his own accord—to prove to you that his friends weren't kidding.

"Dear Miss Woodward: This boy asked me for a date—and now I've changed my mind about going out with him. I realize he is definitely not my type. How can I explain this to him without hurting his feelings?"

You promised you'd go, and even though you now have cold feet, you should go through with it. How can you tell you wouldn't have fun? You don't know the boy well enough, if you've never dated him, to decide whether or not you could get along together.

I'm not much for turning down a friendship sight unseen. Which is exactly what you'd be doing if you backed out of that date. I'd give it a try. You might be delightfully surprised by the lad.

If the date was a bust, he'll be as aware of it as you are, and won't be likely to ask you again.

If things go well, and you change your mind about him, you'll be glad you kept the date. You wouldn't like it one bit to turn him down and then regret it later.

Cocoa Cake Is Perfect for Picnics

Mrs. Floyd Nelsey
Tops Dessert With Coffee Frosting

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor
Quick cocoa cake with coffee frosting would be just the thing to take to your next picnic. Try this recipe of Mrs. Floyd Nelsey's, and you'll vote it your favorite, too.

The White Lake road farm where Mrs. Nelsey lives is also home for two pre-school sons who keep her busy. She is an active member of the Eastern Star and the White Shrine, being a past high priestess of the latter organization.

QUICK COCOA CAKE
By Mrs. Floyd Nelsey

1 cup sugar
2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cocoa
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup salad dressing
1 teaspoon vanilla

Put all dry ingredients in a large mixing bowl. Add water, salad dressing and vanilla. Beat thoroughly.

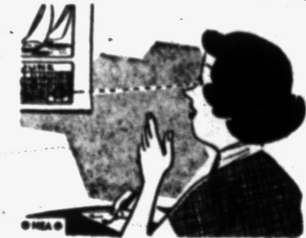

Grease a square cake pan and sprinkle chopped nuts on the bottom. Pour in the cake batter and bake at 375 degrees for 35-40 minutes.

COFFEE FROSTING

3 cups confectioner's sugar
1 egg yolk
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Salt
Cold coffee

Cream butter; add salt and part of the sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Then add egg yolk. Add cream of tartar and rest of sugar, alternately with the cold coffee. Add only enough coffee to make frosting right consistency to spread.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

It's always good manners to answer invitations promptly, but it is especially important when you are invited to a breakfast, lunch or dinner.

A tardy answer isn't as likely to upset the hostess who has invited you for cocktails as it is the hostess who is planning a meal for a certain number of guests.

It is estimated that at present there are about 100,000,000 acres of worn-out land in the United States. Bringing this land back to productivity is one of the major tasks.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Letters Contrast Optimism, Pessimism

Two letters in my morning mail struck me particularly because they were such contrasts.

One writer had a tale of woe to tell that filled three folders, closely written. Everything is wrong with this woman—health, opportunity, but mainly others people. Nobody will lend a helping hand, nobody cares, everybody is heartless, selfish and indifferent, she moans.

"I did it," exulted John, my other correspondent, a young man who has made his own way in the world after a difficult start that included a broken home, several sets of foster parents and no money at all.

"Everybody said it couldn't be done—that I was wasting my time and breath," he relates. "I was turned down three times but I just refused to believe that I couldn't put it over."

"I never worked so hard nor so long on anything and hardly anybody knows of my part in it, but that doesn't keep it from being the greatest thrill of my life."

The only reason the two letters are worth commenting on is that they themselves tell seem to repeat stories so often—not only in my mail but in all my experience.

On the other hand, wherever you go, there is the broken, beaten creature who blames everybody but himself for his misfortunes and, on the other, the buoyant optimist who, each time he is knocked out, picks himself up and goes back to the fray.

The versatile Shirley Booth, discussing roles she has played on the stage, remarked the other day that with one exception she has always loved the characters she depicted.

"But not Leona in 'Time of the Cuckoo,'" she said. "She felt sorry for herself and I can't abide that."

John is one of the select company of courageous spirits who doesn't wallow in self-pity and I keep book on him and others like him for my own upliftment. This year I've added the name of a man who got a whopper of an idea, and before he could do anything with it, somebody else had.

I think maybe I and a lot of others might have cried, "Thief," but this man didn't. He explained to me it often happens that an idea gets into the air and persons remote from each other, with no possible chance to plagiarize, come up with the same scheme. So the thing to do he said cheerfully, is get another inspiration and be quicker about carrying it out.

Also new on my list of spirit-lifters is a scientist who has kept on researching a disease which the experts say is killing him.

USE A CLEAN HAMPER

HERB SWEET- Try It

Decorate Hamper Heads

Hampers are usually used to store or to carry things in, then they are thrown away. This means that they are easy to collect, so how about getting one or two together for a party decoration?

Hampers like the one shown are usually used for tomatoes, and since this is tomato time, they should be easy to find. I have drawn four different faces on the hampers. You could carry out the one which you like best, or better still, look at these, then make your own.

I think that any kind of left-over paint will be fine to use to draw the features.

See the stocking cap and paper cup nose on the first. The next hamper is turned up-side down and has a mop for hair. He also has cardboard eyes, mouth and nose. The third has rope hair and the last has paper hair, paper-cup eyes and cardboard features.

They will make your guests laugh, and you can make them up like famous persons and have the guests guess whom they represent!

IF angular figure—

Whether career or college girl, the trench coat or the fur coat is smarter than the box coat which emphasizes angularity.

Miss A. F.—Boxy lines are unflattering to angular figures. The refter is good if you prefer the full skirt. The trench coat, now in luxury fabrics, is a wonderful suburban or urban fashion. Both are becoming to the tall, angular figure.

Get Money's Worth When You Paint

Good Preparation Will Insure Years of Wear

By HUBBARD COBB

Painting the outside of a house costs money no matter how you slice it.

If you pay someone to do the work for you it costs a lot of money. If you do the work yourself it still costs money for paint, brushes and other equipment.

So, it makes good sense to do everything you can to be sure the job turns out satisfactorily and that you get four, five or even six years wear out of the paint.

The first rule to insure a good paint job is to buy the best quality paint. Inferior paints don't sell for too much less than the good quality stuff but they just don't stand up for long.

The next rule is to be sure that the surface is properly prepared and this is something that may take longer to accomplish than the actual application of the paint.

Finally, you want to be sure to pick the right sort of weather, for the climate has a good deal to do with the success of the job.

Don't try to apply paint when it's too hot. When the temperature gets over 90 degrees or so it's too hot for painting.

On the other hand, don't try painting when there might be a chance of low temperature—35 degrees or so—before the paint has a chance to dry.

The ideal temperature for painting—both for you and the paint—is around 70 degrees.

Don't paint too early in the morning or too late in the afternoon for there may be moisture on the surface because of dew.

Don't try to paint directly after a rain before the wood has a chance to become dry and don't try painting if there is the possibility of rain before the paint is thoroughly dry.

Do-It Fad Has Pitfalls for Amateur

For millions of homeowners, do-it-yourself has proved to be a wonderful new way of life. It results in getting done what you want when you want it—and just the way you want it done. There's nothing so beautiful as something you've made yourself.

But there are dangers in doing it yourself. Success depends upon avoiding four pitfalls: enthusiasm that exceeds ability, inadequate preparation, inaccurate measuring and abuse of equipment.

Don't take on more than you have time, aptitude, experience, and equipment to do successfully. There is no reason you must do the whole job yourself. Do only what you enjoy doing. Sub-contract tricky parts to experts. Cabinetwork, for example, is no job for an amateur.

Everyone should begin with a small project. Even a professional starts at an inconspicuous place when he tries a new product, tool or method of application. Make your mistakes where they won't show.

The Waterloo of many weekend decorators is that they don't think through an entire project before starting. You may discover that you can't possibly cope with one of more vital steps. Better to know this now while you can still call off the project. Makeshift leads to makeshift results, and may lead also to accidents.

Then there is the matter of proper preparation of surface. Ignoring this means paint eventually blistering or glued pieces separating. Don't start painting, for instance, until the item to be painted is thoroughly cleaned, sanded, scraped, etc.

Watch out for errors due to measuring devices too hard to read accurately. Errors in measuring can lead to parts that don't fit.

Friend Should Introduce Waiter at Soda Fountain

By EMILY POST

A girl writes: "A boy I've known all my life has taken a place for the summer behind a soda fountain. This is a very popular spot in town and naturally I go there with my friends after the movies."

"Sometimes these friends know my friend behind the counter, but when they don't, I feel a little embarrassed. I never know what to do about introducing him."

"It's not that I'm ashamed of the fact that he's serving sodas, but introductions at a public soda counter seem out of place, don't they?"

Answer: Not under the circumstances you describe. It would be inexcusable not to introduce him.

Dear Mr. Post: My son is going to be married at an afternoon wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats.

My husband had planned on wearing a dark blue business suit but my son told him that he has to dress the same as the bride's father. My husband is very upset over this and we would like to know if my son is right?

Answer: No, your son is not right. His father takes no part in the ceremony so his dark blue suit and a dark plain tie certainly would be suitable.

Dear Mrs. Post: In your book you say that men (excepting the bridegroom) have no place in the bridal receiving line. Will you please tell us what the ushers and best men are supposed to do during this time that the others are receiving?

25 Candidates Seek Nomination to Six House Posts

All Incumbents Opposed; 4 Running in Clear Field

Incumbent representatives in Tuesday's primary all face opposition while three Democrats and one Republican are unopposed in their attempt to gain nomination.

A total of 13 Republicans and 12 Democrats are seeking nomination to the six posts.

Democrats Donald E. Adams of Pontiac; William G. Lambros of Royal Oak and Michael F. Cox of Clawson are assured nomination in the first, third and fifth districts while Republican Ernest Huthwaite of Pontiac is running uncontested in the second.

Incumbent Fred G. Beardsley of Oxford is opposed by Louis Dorman Jr. of Waterford for Republican nomination in the first district and Richard C. VanDusen of Birmingham, Republican incumbent in the third district, is opposed by Wallace R. Furbur of Rochester.

Democrats Odlin H. Johnson and Leslie H. Hudson of Pontiac oppose incumbent Leann Harrelson in the second district race and Walter T. McMahon, former fifth district representative before reapportionment, is seeking nomination to the sixth district post.

Opposing him are Barney J. McGrath of Royal Oak and Carl Thom and Charles D. Arnold, both of Hazel Park.

Following is a brief biography of each candidate.

District 1
(Democrat)

Donald E. Adams, 41, is seeking the Democratic nomination as state representative from the first district.

Adams, who lives at 2711 W. Waterford Township, has unsuccessfully sought the nomination three times since 1928. He was graduated in 1936 from the University of Michigan Law School and attended Pontiac High School.

At present he is serving as Waterford Township Justice of the Peace and has held that position since 1936 with the exception of four years spent in the U.S. Navy during World War II. He is married and has one son.

CHARLES D. ARNOLD
District 3
(Democrat)

A resident of Hazel Park, Charles D. Arnold, 32 W. Elza St., has announced that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination as state representative from the sixth district.

Arnold, 28, was born in Atlanta, Ga., and received his education in Hazel Park schools and extension services while in the Coast Guard during World War II. He was a delegate to both state and county Democratic conventions in 1929 and 1932. He is secretary of the Hazel Park Democratic Club.

Married, Arnold is a car salesman with the Hettche Motor Sales Co. in Detroit, and a member of the VFW and F.O.E.

FRED G. BEARDSLEY
District 1
(Republican)

Incumbent Fred G. Beardsley of Oxford is again seeking the Republican nomination as state representative from the first district.

Beardsley, 71, lives at 12 Hudson Ave. and served two terms from 1928 to 1932. He was supervisor of Addison Township from 1935 to 1938 and operates a real estate and insurance business in Oxford.

He attended Beardsley, Oakland County schools and Oxford High School and is a member of Masonic Lodge; Lions; Oxford Chamber of Commerce and the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

ROBERT BURNS
District 4
(Republican)

The fourth district's Republican candidate for nomination as state representative is Robert Burns, 28, of 2727 N. Western Hwy., Route 3, Birmingham.

A senior at Detroit College of Law, Burns also attended Flint Junior College and Detroit's public and parochial schools.

He spent more than three years in the South Pacific while serving with the U.S. Army during World War II. Burns is married and has a four-year-old son. He has never held public office.

He is married, has two children; was graduated from Michigan State College and served in World War II. He is also a former construction engineer with the Michigan State Highway department.

Only Two Contests Offered for County Post Nominees

Only two contests for nominations to county offices are before the voters Tuesday. On the Democratic ticket a nominee for prosecutor must be named; on the Republican ticket five seek the party's nomination for sheriff (see separate story on this page).

On the Democratic ticket Robert L. O'Connell of Birmingham and Maurice E. Tripp of Royal Oak are seeking the nomination. Other county officers to be elected in November include county clerk; county treasurer; register of deeds and drain commissioner.

A brief biography of all candidates follows:

Prosecutor

(Democrat)

A native of Michigan, Robert L. O'Connell, 27, of 1587 Henrietta, Birmingham, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination as Oakland County prosecuting attorney.

O'Connell was born in Huron County and attended public schools in Owenton. Following 25 months of service during World War II, he took up study toward a law degree at the University of Detroit, graduating in 1952.

Married, O'Connell has three children and is currently engaged in private law practice.

MAURICE E. TRIPP
(Democrat)

Maurice E. Tripp, 47, a member of the law firm Tripp and Tropp, will seek the Democratic nomination as prosecuting attorney for Oakland County in the Aug. 3 primary.

Tripp, who lives at 402 N. Troy St., in Royal Oak, was born in Homer, Mich., and attended Hillsdale College where he received an A.B. degree. He completed work for his law degree at the University of Michigan and became a nominee for prosecuting attorney in 1944. He was also a delegate to the Democratic national convention in 1948.

A member of the Exchange Club and Delta Theta Phi law fraternity, Tripp has been retained as tax attorney.

Clerk

LYNN D. ALLEN
(Republican)

Lynn D. Allen, 4025 Southshore Dr., Watkins Lake, Oakland County Clerk for more than 21 years, is a candidate for the Republican nomination to that post again.

Born in Birmingham in 1898, Allen attended the old Hill School there, and Detroit Central high school. He also attended the University of Detroit. Allen served in the Navy during the First World War.

He is a member of the American Legion, Elks Clubs, past president of the County Clerks Association, and past president of the Pontiac Civic Club. He also served eight years as secretary of the County Clerks Association. Allen is now seeking election to his 12th term in office.

NEIL R. CROWE
(Democrat)

The unopposed Democratic candidate for nomination as Oakland County Clerk is Neil R. Crowe, 33, of 330 Maple Hill Rd., Rochester. He received a B.S. degree in commerce from Roosevelt College and is an administrative specialist with Packard Motor Car Co.

Crowe is a former automobile salesman, income tax consultant, real estate broker, department manager of a retail store and an army veteran. He is chairman of the North Oakland County Young Democratic Club and treasurer of Avon Township Democratic Club.

Treasurer

DONALD E. BARRETT
(Democrat)

Unopposed in his race for the Democratic nomination as Oakland County treasurer, Donald E. Barrett, 86 Cottage St., is a native of Pennsylvania.

Barrett, 45, attended the Beckley College of accounting in Harrisburg Pa. and the Wharton School of Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania. He was twice a delegate to the Democratic national convention and served as president of the Pontiac Democratic club in 1932. He was defeated in 1932 for election as county clerk.

A member of the Elks and American Accountants Society, Barrett is currently engaged in his own business as a tax consultant and accountant. He is married and has one daughter.

4 Seek GOP Nomination for Sheriff

Four Republicans will vie in Tuesday's primary for their party's nomination for Oakland County sheriff, while the Democratic primary candidate is unopposed.

Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell is opposed by Frank Irons, 55, Berkley police chief; Gordon W. Deneau, 53, of Pontiac; and Robert R. Copeman, 34, of Clarkston.

The sole candidate on the Democratic ticket is George D. Hicks, Sr., 48, of Pontiac.

Although Hubbell has served as sheriff since 1947, many believe Irons will give him solid opposition in this primary election.

Brief biographies of the candidates follow:

ROBERT R. COPEMAN
(Republican)

Republican candidate for nomination to the post of Oakland County Sheriff is Robert R. Copeman, 34, of 5266 Pine Knob Rd., Clarkston.

Copeman was born in Pontiac and attended public schools here. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II, and he is a member of VFW, American Legion, Fraternal Order of Eagles, and the Third Order of St. Francis.

GORDON W. DENEAU
(Republican)

Gordon W. Deneau, 53, of 101 S. Francis St., Pontiac, is a Republican candidate for nomination as Oakland County sheriff.

A high school graduate, Deneau is a member of the National Sheriffs' Assn.; served two years as a sheriff's deputy and county jail turnkey one year.

He had been in business 20 years, and is a past member of the Board of Education.

GEORGE D. HICKS
(Democrat)

George D. Hicks, 48, of 16 N. Johnson Ave., is a Democratic candidate for nomination as Oakland County sheriff.

Hicks was educated in Pontiac's public schools and was a member of the Pontiac Police Dept., for 22 years. He resigned the force in 1950 and is now employed as a plant protection man at a local factory.

Married, he has two sons and one daughter; is a member and past president of the Metropolitan Club; Eagles and the B.P.O.E. Hicks won the Democratic nomination as sheriff in 1952 but was defeated in the general election.

(Republican)

With approximately 27 years of service in the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, Clare L. Hubbell, 104 Wayne St., has entered the race for the Republican nomination for the post of county sheriff.

Hubbell, 52, was born in Owosso and attended public schools both there and in Pontiac. He was elected to his first term as Oakland County sheriff in 1947, and he is completing his fourth term in that office.

He is a member of the Michigan and National Sheriffs' Assns., F & AM, Lions Club and the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

FRANK IRONS
(Republican)

An Oakland County resident 31 years, Frank Irons, 55, of 2660 Sunnyknoll, Berkley, is a candidate for Republican nomination to the post of Oakland County Sheriff.

Irons has been Berkley police chief from 1926 to the present time and first went with the department in 1924. Married and the father of two children, he is president of the Southeastern Michigan Police Assn., member of the Berkley Lions Club and a life member of the Chamber of Commerce and American Legion.

He was born in Atlanta, Mich., in 1899 and attended high school there. For six years he worked for Michigan Central Railroad.

HAZEL A. KUSCHINSKY
(Democrat)

Hazel A. Kuschinsky is a candidate for nomination to the Oakland County Register of Deeds post on the Democratic ticket. Mrs. Kuschinsky, 47, of 3360 Kilmer Rd., route 4, Birmingham, was educated in Port Huron and took special business courses. She is married and the vice-chairman of the Troy Township Democratic Club.

ORRIN MCQUAID
(Republican)

Orrin McQuaid, Republican incumbent, is again seeking nomination as Oakland County Register of Deeds.

McQuaid, 49, of 225 N. Berkshire, Pontiac, is seeking his ninth term. He attended Pontiac schools, was graduated from Ferris Institute and attended the University of Detroit. He is a registered land surveyor.

Married and the father of one daughter, McQuaid is a World War II veteran.

GLENN D. HARPER
(Democrat)

Seeking the Democratic nomination as Oakland County drain commissioner is Glenn D. Harper, 45, of 1915 Kalana Street in Royal Oak.

Harper attended public school in his home state of Arkansas and the Cohn Engineering Institute of Chicago. He is a former member of the Hazel Park building code committee and belongs, to the Hazel Park Goodfellows, Eagles Club and the I.O.O.F.

Nation's Oldest Farm Magazine Gets New Title

"Country Gentleman," the nation's oldest farm publication, is changing its name to "Better Farming." It was announced by editor Robert H. Reed.

The new name of the 101-year-old magazine "is more indicative of its contents," Reed said. The change will take effect later this year.

"We will present a new cover format, with the new logotype featuring 'Better Farming,'" Reed continued.

Ignored Weeds Hurt Garden

Must Be Exterminated by Pulling Them Out by Roots

The garden is made... The sun is warm... And the heat is on... The heat is on the gardener.

Weeds... weeds... weeds... they keep the heat on. Weeds thrive on neglect.

Yet, the weed situation can be handled easier than you can attack plant diseases, combat drought or slog through over-moist conditions.

All you have to do is get rid of them.

This is the time of the year, while the seedlings still are in their formative stages that you've got the biggest problem.

Sometimes the weeds grow faster than the seedlings. Then you've got to pick and choose. Some weeds are so fantastically deceptive that they take the form and appearance of valuable flower plantings.

Weeds really do a job on your garden. They take nourishment from the plants you want. They shade the good plants, and they are a swell place for harmful insects to breed and get a foothold, spreading disease throughout the area.

They're not very sightly either. Every day is W-day in the garden.

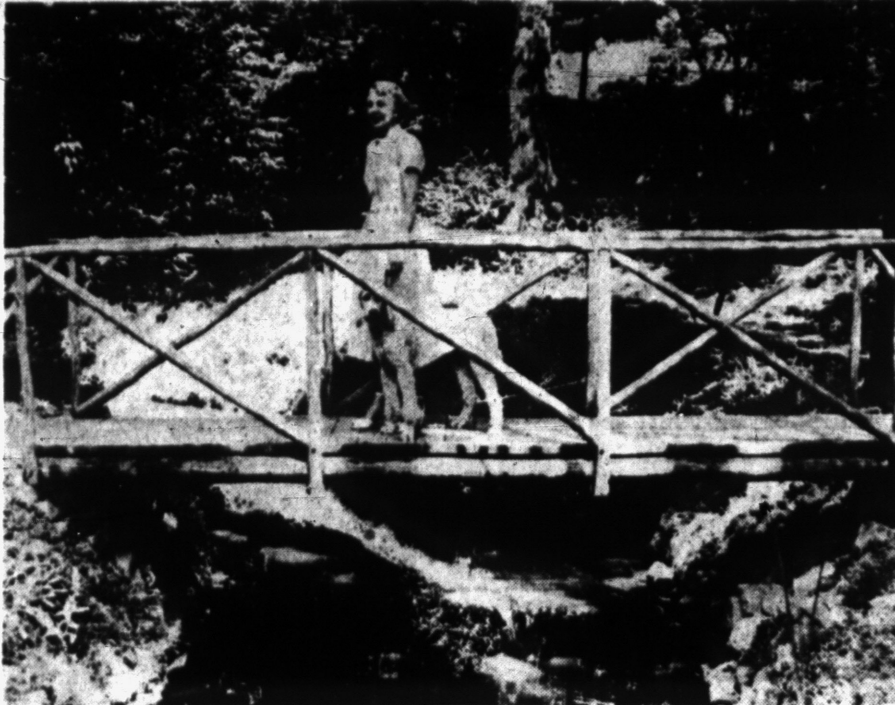

You've got to fight the weeds in the lawn, the flower beds, the shrub section, around trees and in the vegetable garden.

You can pull 'em out by hand, become the man with the hoe, get a cultivator, use a weed killer, blanket them with mulch... any way you can do it, do it. Weeds are no friends.

Just pulling off the weed leaves won't give you too much relief. You've got to get to the root of the matter. This means soaking the area to be weeded first. The roots will slide out easier.

If it's a deep-rooted weed, water well, grasp the weed firmly at ground level and tug. You'll win. You'll be surprised, perhaps, at the depth to which some of those weed roots go.

Once you've got the area well weeded, give yourself a break. Mulch well. This will help keep them down.

WOODLAND RETREAT—Mrs. Harle O. Schjolin takes time out to appreciate the wildflower garden-estate which she and her husband developed out of four acres of "river wilderness and poison ivy." Beside her is her French poodle, Negro. The woodland garden along the Rouge River in Bloomfield Township has become a focal point for sightseers. It was chosen recently as one stopping of the places for the annual Detroit area garden club tour.

Beauty Spot by River Ends Lawn Mowing

By WILMA GREENWAY

You have to see it. Otherwise you'll never believe that in three years two "city greenhorns" could transform a four-acre tangle of woods, weeds, swamp and poison ivy into a woodland garden so inviting and naturally beautiful that gardeners from far and near travel into Bloomfield Township to see it.

A garden of wildflowers, sloping woods and river that outlines the house in the treetops that Hans and Maja Schjolin call home.

True, a football team helped. And Allegro and Randolph were always ready with an encouraging bark. And, of course, Garibaldi was strictly on the job when it came to keeping mice out of the lily bulbs.

Still, it seems a wonderful thing that two people, unversed in the ways of growing things, could accomplish the miracle of natural beauty that makes up the Schjolin estate at 127 Cambridge Court.

No one is more surprised than the Schjolins themselves.

Maja Schjolin makes an expressive gesture toward the hundreds of transplanted wildflowers, the rock beds, river walls, the many stepping stones that meander along river paths and form into stairways up the wooded incline. "It's our method of getting away from lawn mowing," she says.

It seems that one day, four years ago, Hans leaned on his lawnmower, looked at Maja, and said: "If only we could find a place that was wild—and leave it wild. No work..."

Not the girl to let a brilliant idea hang fire, Maja mounted her bicycle and started exploring.

That's how this river beauty spot came into being. It's how Hans Schjolin got tangled with a mass of brush, swamp and river and acquired a part-time job that takes nearly as much planning and ingenuity—and hard labor—as his daytime profession of development engineer with GMTC. And how Maja, who didn't know one plant from another, became a creative gardener and gained an education in the habits and growth conditions of American wildflowers.

Everywhere there are flowers and trees, moss and lichen. Pheasants nest in the cover of tall grass, muskrats and possum find a home there, and birds fill the air with their song and the rustling whir of their flight.

Ajuga, Japanese spurge and winter creeper cover the ground with flower borders, graveled drive and rustic fence give the visitor little idea of what is in store for him. But step through the door to the living room bay window, and a magnificent panorama greets the eyes.

The house is level with the treetops. Some 25 feet below, the Rouge River winds across the property, its banks buttressed with rock-walled garden, its center point spanned by a rustic bridge, Hans' birthday gift to Maja. Over 600 feet of stepping stones make up the woodland paths, and 150 steps and risers mount the incline.

From the front of the house, neat shady slopes, around and over the a thick green carpet, climbing the stepping stones, between the rocks that confine the flowing river.

The interlacing foliage of trees sifts the sun in a translucent pattern that outlines the shape of oak, elm, basswood, maple, sassafras and dogwood leaves. Evergreens throw heavy blotches of shade. On the ground, ferns in many varieties wave their delicate fronds.

Maja says the scene is constantly changing. In spring the hillsides are a riot of color as hundreds of varieties of wildflowers break into bloom. Then the river swells and flows in a swift current, rising six or seven feet to a width of perhaps 21 feet.

Chemical Mixture Destroys Crabgrass

EAST LANSING — You don't have to go on your knees and battle crabgrass any longer.

You can knock out the pest with a single blow nowadays. A weed researcher has found that a mixture of kerosene and chlor-dane can be the fatal punch.

The mixture is this: One-half pint of 72 per cent chlordane concentrate in a gallon of a good grade of white kerosene. That much will take care of 1,000 square feet of lawn. It's recommended for every lawn grass except bentgrass and fescue.

And a special crabgrass spray on the market will do the job, too. But it takes three applications. Recommendations are on the container and you can use this one for bentgrass and fescue.

Potassium cyanate is another chemical recommended for people who don't wish to use oil. It kills the crabgrass, but the pesky plant germinates rapidly after the application.

In summer, lush green vegetation replaces the flowers. The river shrinks to brook size—sometimes to a narrow trickle.

Winter brings a white wonderland, as snow blankets the earth, heaps the branches and laces every bush and shrub.

Outside of the football team, the Schjolins have done practically all the work themselves. Maja goes on countless expeditions to discover new varieties of her beloved wildflowers. Hans wields the sledgehammer and places the heavy stones.

Together they have thinned out the trees, built the rock gardens that surprise the eye at every turning, arranged for the filling-in of swamp areas.

They have hauled concrete from repaving projects and broken it up for material to build the river walls. On this last project, though, they nearly bogged down — until they thought of the football team.

Where else could they find workmen willing to stick at the back-breaking labor of digging watery foundations and fitting stones and concrete along both banks of 400 feet of river? So the Clawson football team was hired for a whole summer; the wall was built, and the team started their fall season in tip-top shape.

"It's a lot of work," she said, "but I don't think either Hans or I would ever give it up—even for a lawn with one of these new self-propelling lawnmowers!"

Americans eat 15 quarts of ice cream per person a year — and now MSC dairy processing specialists are developing a low-calorie ice-cream.

Good Pasture Boosts Output

Planning Assures Feed Supply During Summer Months

It's good business for a dairyman to have all the nutritious, palatable pasture his livestock can eat every day that weather is fit for grazing. Abundant, luxurious pasture boosts milk production and keeps down feed cost.

There are several ways that a summer pasture shortage can be avoided.

1. Provide liberally for early spring pasture which with usual spring rainfall will leave some to be cut and put in the silo for a midsummer shortage or if not needed then will be available for later use.

2. Early harvest of heavy growth of such crops as alfalfa or orchardgrass which have outstanding ability to recover rapidly after early cutting to produce abundantly in July and August. Heavy fertilization encourages early growth of such crops.

3. Irrigation where water supply and equipment are available for use in summer months. This method is coming into use more each year even though in some cases the expense in dollars and cents seems to outweigh the apparent advantages.

Making possible a continuous milk supply to meet a consuming milk market is often a deciding factor.

4. Perhaps the safest and most practical way where acreage is available, even when one of the other methods is used, is to sow a warm season crop such as sudangrass, sorghum or millet which can be used wholly or in part for pasture or silage during July and August.

Sudangrass is one of the most satisfactory crops for this purpose and has come into very general use over a large part of the United States in recent years.

Sown in late spring or early summer when both weather and soil are warm, it will be ready for grazing in 4 or 5 weeks.

Double Win Boosts Tigers to 4th Spot

DETROIT (AP)—Harvey Kuenn sat on the rubbering table in the Detroit Tigers' dressing room. He was sipping a beer and shaking his head.

"Baseball sure is an odd game," the Tiger shortstop said. "I'm hitting the ball again but don't ask me why. I'm hitting to left field more often but that's not the answer. I just can't explain it."

Despite the mystery, Kuenn had completed a hot day at the plate. He collected six straight hits—five singles and a double—and helped Detroit sweep a doubleheader from the good old Philadelphia Athletics. Scores were 4-2 and 7-3, and the double win moved the Tigers back into 4th place, two points ahead of Washington.

Just three days ago, Kuenn limped back to Briggs stadium with a sickly .258 batting average. Talk of the "sophomore jinx" rose above the whispering stage.

But the blond shortstop silenced all talk in the five-game series against the A's. Kuenn batted at a .609 clip, lifting his batting average to a respectable .378—a 20 point boost.

Kuenn had 14 hits in 23 at bats against Philadelphia's juicy pitching.

"He's been our big problem," said Detroit skipper Fred Hutchinson when asked about Kuenn's sudden surge at the plate. "When he's hitting, we're okay. I don't know whether he'll reach the .300 mark, though. That's asking a lot."

At any rate, Kuenn's hitting helped George Zuverink and Billy Hoelt to victory.

Hoelt's victory in the 2nd game was especially significant. It was his 1st victory in Briggs stadium this season after nine straight failures.

Hoelt fell behind 3-0 after 2½ innings, but the Tigers scored five times in 3rd—the 1st four crossing on Bob Nieman's grand slam home run into the center field seats.

In the opener, Zuverink also fell behind. He trailed 2-0 entering the 5th. But the Tigers scored three times to clinch the game. Zuverink, himself, accounted for the winning run with a perfect squeeze bunt. It scored Frank Bolling, who had knocked in two running with a looping triple into the left field corner.

14 Thoroughbreds Primed for Rich Arlington Event

CHICAGO (AP)—Fourteen thoroughbreds of the 3-year-old and up class, headed by Sir Mango and Iceberg II, are primed for tomorrow's $100,000-added Arlington Handicap.

This is the world's richest grass course race, and if all 14 start the purse will total $159,000 with $102,060 going to the winner.

Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango, who won his first turf effort, the recent Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park, has been assigned top weight of 125 pounds and currently is favored at 5-2.

Maxwell Is Leader in All-Army Meet

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Par-smashing Cpl. Billy Maxwell was three strokes ahead of rival golfing troops, and a good bet to stuff the All-Army championship into his barracks bag today.

The former National champion from Big Springs, Tex., had a 54-hole total of 211 at the start of the final round over the 7,028-yard Woodmont Country Club course. He chopped two strokes off par with his second straight 70 yesterday and at that rate could stroll in baring a sensational last fling by one of his pursuers.

'Futurity King' Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—Thoroughbred racing's "Futurity King," John Marsch, 85, died at his Chicago home yesterday following an illness of two years.

Marsch earned the title "Futurity King" through the amazing success of the two-year-olds he owned. One of the most famous of his string, Occupation, was the top money winner among two-year-olds in 1942 with $192,335.

No 'Cousins' Here

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The less Murry Dickson of the Phils sees of the Cincinnati Redlegs, the better off he is. Dickson, pitching for the Pirates last year, lost three games to Cincinnati without a victory.

The veteran righthander hasn't fared much better this season. He bowed to the Redlegs 3-0 last night for the third straight time and he's yet to beat them as a Phillie.

Nine-Year-Old Lad Lands Big Turtle

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Angelo Simbari showed how a lad of nine can handle a fishing pole when he went fishing in the Allegheny River, hoping to catch a carp. Suddenly there was a mighty tug on his line. He held on fiercely.

Workmen nearby watched Angelo struggle. But they didn't rush to help because Angelo said he could handle the situation. He did, too, pulling a 24-pound turtle. It was the largest such catch reported in Angelo's neighborhood in years.

Ask U.S. POW Release

SAIGON (AP)—The U. S. embassy here said today the French have asked the Vietnam to release five American Army and Air Force soldiers captured near Tourane June 34.

Most Grains Holding Gains

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains held onto small gains on the board of trade today although wheat sank below the previous close after getting off to a firm start.

Dry weather in the Midwest and low stocks of soybeans on July 1, as disclosed by the Agricultural Department after the close yesterday, helped soybeans. The dry weather also was a factor in strengthening corn.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/4 to 1 cent lower, September $2.07 1/2, corn 1/4 to 1/2 higher, September $1.63 1/2, oats 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, September 74 1/2, rye 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, September $1.17 1/2, soybeans 2 1/2 to 4 cents higher, September $3.23 and lard 5 to 13 cents a hundred pounds higher September $15.12.
