

Bob Tarr Describes Sole Vote for Joe Smith

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

SAN FRANCISCO—No one was surprised by the Republican nominations yesterday afternoon, even though local papers rushed extras to the streets.

TARR
Ike signs blossomed throughout the vast hall and all

The dump-Nixon threat had collapsed completely during the forenoon, and Harold Stassen had climbed back on the bandwagon, making one of the seconding speeches for the vice president.

Even so, the nominating speech for President Eisenhower set off a prolonged and tumultuous demonstration.

types of noisemakers including bells, whistles and a couple of fire sirens joined the uproar.

State banners waved wildly and small helium-filled balloons, which had been held by a number of delegations, soon filled the air. Someone released a couple dozen white pigeons which soared crazily around, seeking refuge from the noise.

The roll call of states was merely a formality for it was evident no one cared even to think of any other name for the top of the ticket. A like situation prevailed for the second spot.

NINE SECONDING SPEECHES

A change in the rules had been approved earlier to permit nine seconding speeches for President and vice president each, but limiting them to two minutes each.

Earlier in the day Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York, received an ovation almost equal to that accorded former President Herbert Hoover Monday.

Eisenhower's acceptance speech will close the convention this evening. An acceptance speech by Nixon is scheduled just ahead of the President's appearance.

The convention ran far overtime Wednesday because of the slow moving roll calls of the states.

At a press conference in the St. Francis Hotel yesterday morning, Convention Chairman Joe Martin told newsmen a roll call could not be suspended because every delegate must have a chance to vote.

"These men and women are sovereign delegates, elected by their fellow citizens," he said, stressing that each one must have complete freedom in the convention.

ONE VOTE FOR JOE SMITH

As it happened, only one among all the delegates held out for a candidate other than Nixon. A Nebraska man insisted he wanted to vote for a "Joe Smith" and the state's vote was first recorded for Nixon with one vote missing. But Joe Smith never was entered on the record and eventually Nebraska corrected its vote and Nixon, like Eisenhower had a unanimous nomination.

Prepare for Weekend Session

Oakland County Dems Fill Quota for State Convention

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.

Oakland County Democrats gathered last night, and proceeded to fill the 86 allotted county seats at the Democratic State nominating convention set for this weekend at Grand Rapids.

To make sure the county's delegation will be up to strength, they authorized delegates to fill their ranks with other county Democrats at the convention, in case of absences.

The weekend convention, widely regarded as a let-down after the national convention in Chicago last week, apparently offers no promise of contests in the nomination of Democratic candidates to support Gov. G. Mennen Williams on the state ticket Nov. 6.

Williams' present team, consisting of Aud. Gen. Frank S. Szymanski, Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh, Secretary of State James M. Hare, and State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, have collected no opposition for renomination.

Two Michigan Supreme Court Justices, who will run on the non-partisan ballot, also are expected to receive nominations without opposition. They are Talbot Smith of Ann Arbor and George Edwards, newly appointed member from Detroit.

A move to block the unit voting of the county delegation to the state convention failed.

Under the unit rule, the delegation will cast all of its 86 votes on any issue as a block, after a majority preference has been established in a caucus.

Unsuccessful opposition to the unit rule, popular among party leaders because of its usefulness in bargaining sessions, came from delegate John Houston of Sylvan Lake.

Cobo Discusses Roads With Ike

President Is Interested in Financing System Used in Detroit Area

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—It was a brief but friendly get-together, and when it was over Albert E. Cobo agreed that his trip to San Francisco had been well worth while.

Cobo, mayor of Detroit and Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, was one of eight Republicans who rated personal appointments with President Eisenhower yesterday.

Obviously pleased with his visit, Cobo told newsmen he had invited the President to campaign in Michigan.

Cobo said that in discussing highways the President showed keen interest in the revenue bond system of financing used in the Detroit area. The President had proposed a similar program for the federal interstate network but Congress rejected it for a pay-as-you-go system of financing.

Others at the visit were committee chairman Clifford O'Sullivan, State Chairman John Felkens and Mrs. Rae Hooker, national committeewoman.

16 U. S. Fliers Shot Down Near China; Reds Admit Attack on Chiang Plane

TOKYO (U)—Red China said one of its planes damaged a "Chiang Kai-shek" aircraft early today over islands southeast of Shanghai—the area where a U. S. Navy patrol plane and its 16 crewmen were believed shot down.

A Peiping broadcast, without identifying the plane beyond the reference to the American-supported Chinese Nationalist leader, said it had intruded over Chinese islands and made off after the encounter toward the southeast—the direction of Formosa.

U. S. ships and planes were searching for the naval patrol plane, believed downed by Communist Chinese aircraft 32 miles off Wenchow, China.

Lt. James B. Deane of Grand Rapids, is one of the missing airmen.

The missing plane, a four-engine P4M Mercator, in its last brief radio message reported it was "under attack by aircraft" at 11:25 a.m. EST Wednesday.

A Navy spokesman said it then was 32 miles off Red China's shore. Far East naval headquarters at Yokosuka, Japan, clamped a news blackout on developments. A spokesman said any new information must come from Washington.

A Navy announcement more than 10 hours after the plane sent its last message said search crews up to that time had found nothing, though they had scanned the East China Sea since dawn. The pilot of the missing craft was Lt. Cmdr. Milton Hutchinson of Cumberland, R.I.

It was the first attack on an American plane in the Formosa area since Jan. 18, 1953. On that date a Navy Neptune was downed by Red gunfire off Swatow and 11 men were lost. Another Navy plane was shot at while searching for survivors but was not hit.

The four-engine plane, carrying four officers and 12 enlisted men, was on a "routine training and patrol mission" from Japan to Naha, Okinawa, the Navy said. U.S. patrol planes operating in China waters have instructions to keep at least 12 nautical miles away from the Communist mainland.

Keep Windows Shut, Showers to Continue

Partly cloudy with scattered showers is the prediction for the Pontiac area tonight with a low of 60-64 degrees.

The forecast for tomorrow is partly cloudy with a high of 78 to 82 degrees.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 59 degrees. The thermometer registered 70 degrees at 2 p.m.

Leave It to the Ladies

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—And then there's the one about the two elderly ladies at the Republican National Convention listening to a speaker who kept mentioning "Dwight D. Eisenhower."

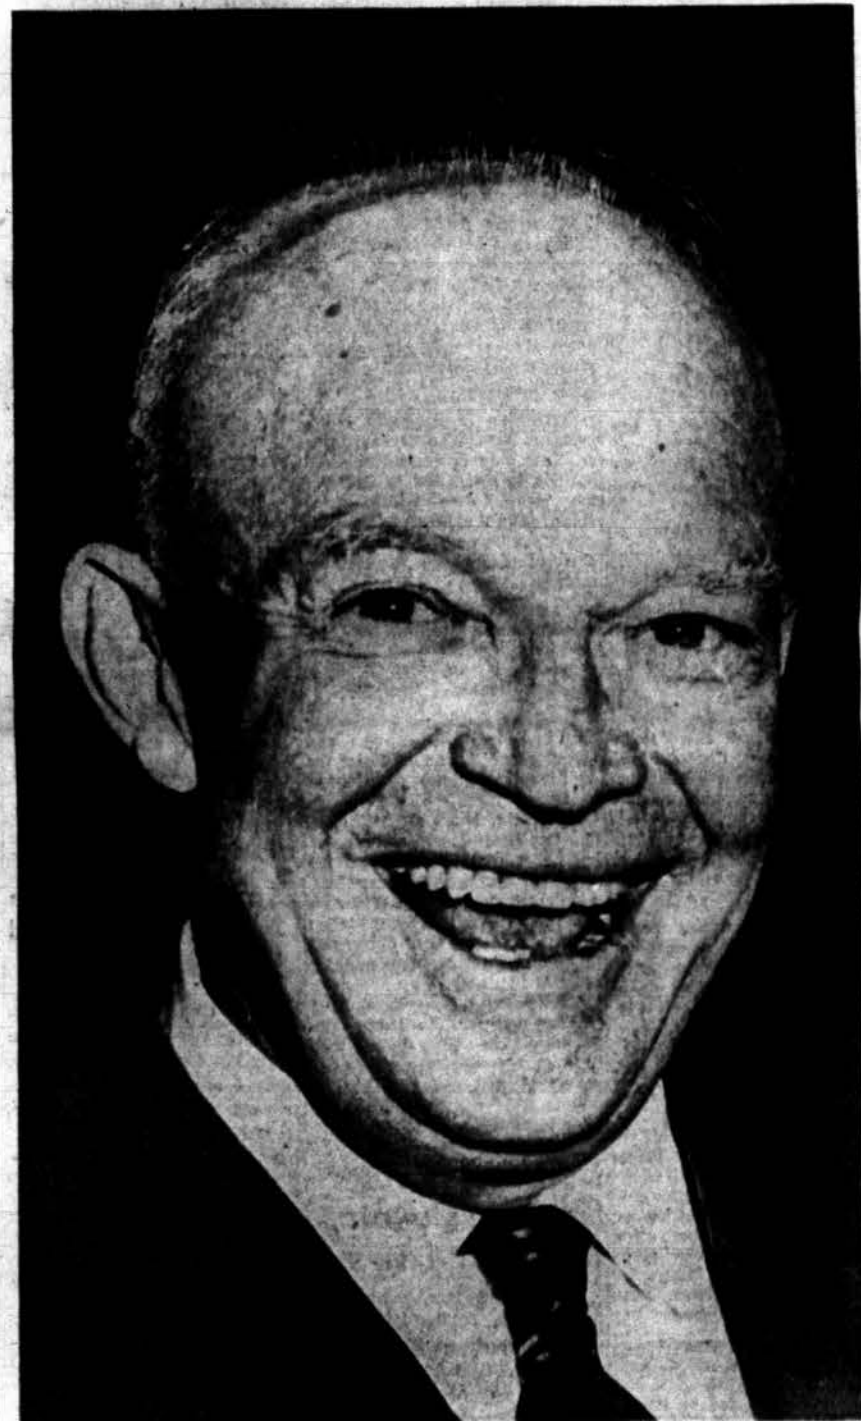

Finally one of the ladies whispered: "This Dwight Eisenhower—is he any relation to Ike?"

One Man's Opinion

Steel Strike Cuts Supplies

The $300,000 Orchard Lake-Telegraph Road Grade separation project will not be completed until early next summer. A shortage of 258 tons of structural steel, caused by the recent steel strike, will halt work, a Michigan Highway Dept. spokesman said yesterday.

Work crews will be pulled off as soon as three concrete abutments and two piers are completed. They won't resume work until delivery of the steel expected next February.

Under contractual agreement, the spokesman said, steel beams were to be erected by Sept. 30, with the project completed by Dec. 15.

"This is not an unusual situation, the steel situation is critical all over the state," the road official said.

When completed, the mile-long divided highway relocation of Telegraph Road will carry north-south traffic under Orchard Lake Avenue at a point 200 feet west of the present intersection.

The federal government is paying half the cost of the project, with the state and city splitting the balance.

Worst Turnpike Pileup Kills 1, Hurts 27 on Bus

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (U)—A loaded Trailways bus rammed into a trailer truck during a car pileup on the foggy New Jersey Turnpike today. One person was killed and 27 others injured, none critically.

State police trooper Stephen J. Sakli called it "the worst pileup in years—I've never seen anything like it."

Just Slight Mention

LONDON (INS)—The Suez Canal crisis far overshadowed news of the Eisenhower-Nixon nominations today in the British Press.

The three London evening newspapers carried brief page one stories on the nominations, but these were sandwiched between stories of the alleged Egyptian threat to British shipping and other canal items.

President Pens Speech on How GOP Can Win

Vice President Leaves Improved Dad's Bedside to Accept Honor

By JAMES LEE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)

—President Eisenhower accepts his second term nomination today with a bold call to the Republican party to march under his leadership toward new frontiers of prosperity at home and safeguarded peace in the world.

The Chief Executive, renominated along with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in roll calls of the states and territories which yielded not one dissent among the 1,323 delegates to the GOP National Convention, is prepared to make the most important speech of his lifetime.

Presidential associates said Eisenhower, who worked far into the night on the final draft of his acceptance address, is determined to lay before the convention a GOP blueprint not only for victory in

Dick Plans to Be There

LA HABRA, Calif. (INS)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon planned to leave the bedside of his "very much improved" father today to return to San Francisco and accept his party's renomination on the GOP ticket.

Nixon will make his speech of acceptance at about 7 p.m. (Pontiac time). Eisenhower's speech is to follow.

1956 but for many years of Republican leadership of the nation.

Ike is ready to use the phenomenal popularity reflected in his tumultuous nomination as a shield and buttress for his ideals and objectives.

He is expected to signal an all-out campaign for the GOP's recapture of Congress to implement his program, and to promise far more active participation in the victory drive than most Republicans had hoped.

His address accepting the unanimous renomination of a party which ignored his heart attack and his illness operation is designed as a look into the future. The language will, it is reported, spell out a program so bold and so imaginative that it will dwarf the dreams of those who were among the nation's most daring politicians a decade ago.

BRIGHT TOMORROW

Sources close to the San Francisco White House said Ike's speech declaring his willingness to lead the GOP forward into what the party's platform calls a "bright tomorrow" will be a blockbuster aimed not only at 1956 but at indefinite preservation of Republican power.

Nixon, still at the bedside of his stricken father in La Habra, Calif., hoped to be able to fly back to San Francisco to pledge his own allegiance to his chief and his party.

As the President, in his sixth-floor suite at the St. Francis Hotel—which last night overlooked a scene of unrestrained GOP rejoicing—put the final touches on his speech, there were these developments in the aftermath of the Eisenhower-Nixon nominations:

1. Harold E. Stassen, who renominated himself, was re-nominated.

Fire in Stockyards Injures 6 in Chicago

CHICAGO (U)—Six persons were injured in a massive fire which destroyed an eight-story abandoned warehouse in the huge Chicago Union Stockyards last night.

Nearly half of the city's fire-fighting equipment brought the blaze under control after a five-hour battle. More than 75 pieces of fire equipment were sent to the scene in response to five alarms and six special alarms.

Firemen maintained a watch over the smoldering ruins today. Fire Commissioner Albert Mulaney, who estimated damage at $150,000, said the empty warehouse was owned by the Armour & Co. meat packing firm, and was in the process of being razed.

Coal heats more than half the homes in Michigan and Ohio.

Even Animals Can Suffer Prostration

BOSTON, Mass. (U)—Pets can suffer heat prostration just as well as humans, says the Massachusetts Veterinary Assn.

Never, the association says, lock an animal in a car standing for hours in the sun, or in tightly-closed apartments and hot, stuffy rooms. Water should be made available to them at all times.

If the animal shows signs of severe panting, weakness and apparent helplessness it's an indication of approaching prostration. To combat this serious danger, the association says, the animal's body should be swabbed with cool water.

If the pet's discomfort is not quickly eased, death can follow quickly.

Security for You

Payments Will Be Less for Women Reaching 62

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

Starting in November, the wives of retired workers receiving Social Security payments won't have to wait until they reach 65 to be eligible for their payments.

Congress has just changed the Social Security law making them eligible for payments at any time after they reach 62.

But, if you're an eligible wife and you start drawing payments before you reach 65, the payments will be less than you could get if you waited until 65. How much less will depend on the number of months before you reach 65 that you choose to begin the payments.

For example: If you choose to start the payments as soon as you reach 62, your payments will be only 75 per cent of what you could get at 65. If you start the payments at 63, they'll be 83.3 per cent of what you would get if you waited until 65. And, so forth.

As a general rule, once you start drawing reduced payments, you'll be stuck with them even after you're 65. Of course, if your husband should die, you'll be eligible for widow's payments which will always be higher than your wife's payments.

Will you be better off in the long run to start drawing the payments before you reach 65?

It all depends on how long you live.

This general statement can be made: If you choose to get the reduced payments at any time between your 62nd and 65th birthday, you'll be money ahead for the first 12 years. For example: If you start drawing payments at 62, it would only be after you reach 74 that the combined total of all your payments will be less than the combined total of all your payments if you had started drawing them at 65.

No matter when you retire after you reach 65 the size of your payments will always be related to the size of your husband's payments.

Your Monthly Payments
Year Husband's Monthly Payments	Chained at 62	Chained at 63	Chained at 64
$ 20.00	$11.30	$12.80	$13.80
25.00	14.13	16.00	17.40
30.00	16.95	19.20	20.88
35.00	19.77	22.40	24.36
40.00	22.59	25.60	27.84
45.00	25.41	28.80	31.32
50.00	28.23	32.00	34.80
55.00	31.05	35.20	38.28
60.00	33.87	38.40	41.76
65.00	36.69	41.60	45.24

You can get an idea of what you may be eligible for by comparing your husband's payment with the amount closest to it in the far left column and then running your finger to the right on a level with that figure.

Remember: These examples can only give you a rough idea of the size of your payments. Only your Social Security office can give you exact official figure after you apply for payments.

The first payments under the reduced retirement age for wives will be for the month of November. But, the Social Security people say it's too early to say how soon after that, that the first payment checks will be sent out.

There are two things you should keep in mind about these payments:

— You can't start drawing them until your husband has reached 65 and he's started drawing his payments.

— If your husband's payments should stop because he's gone back to work, your payments will stop.

(You may write to Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

You're Well Adjusted—Frankfurter Is King

CHICAGO (U) — A psychologist says Americans are well-adjusted individuals because to them the frankfurter is king.

Peter E. Siegle, consultant for a manufacturer of cellulose casings for skinless frankfurters, says that the fact that everybody enjoys the frankfurter reflects the basic security and happiness of the nation's population.

The frankfurter is a national dish at picnics, ball games and on the dinner table.

"Until rather recently, the frank was considered either a snack food or an economy dish," Siegle said. "What we call 'high society' didn't accept the succulent frank, perhaps because it was too reasonable in price."

He observes that now franks have become socially acceptable everywhere. This is submitted with the fact that the frank accounted for something like $10 billion in sales last year. An increase is forecast for 1956.

The winner has won friends, he says, because "people are just plain feeling good and they don't have to worry about what friends think of their food tastes."

We Like Appliances

CLEVELAND—Nearly three out of every four American homes today have electric toasters, more than 90 per cent have electric irons, about 60 per cent have vacuum cleaners, and 80 per cent have electric washers.

Proper Lighting Protects Eyesight of Your Child

The light you provide for your child's homework and play can influence his reading and recreation habits for a lifetime.

This conclusion of lighting engineers is reported by the American Home Lighting Institute of Chicago.

"According to recent surveys, more than 80 per cent of homes today are inadequately lighted for general living, let alone for the precise seeing requirements of study and hobbies," the institute said.

With more than 25 per cent of school-age children have defective eyesight, poor lighting can further reduce seeing efficiency.

Engineering tests show the best type of light for studying comes from two light sources, one at each end of the desk, or from a single long light source across the desk.

"The most effective way to provide this light is to use wall or off-center ceiling fixtures, which also relieve the desk of clutter and make for more working space," the institute advised.

Another idea is to install a fluorescent wall bracket with two 15 or 20-watt tubes, shaded by a faceboard. Mounted six inches out from the wall, the bracket throws light up on the wall and down on the desk, eliminating any contrasts.

LIGHTING TIPS:

Here are specific tips the American Home Lighting Institute recommends for arranging your child's study and hobby areas:

1. Place the desk or table so it faces a light-colored wall. The wall will reflect more light on the work and create a better seeing environment.
2. The desk or table surface should be light-colored, or be covered with a light-tinted blotter to avoid harsh contrasts.
3. Avoid using floor lamps or desk lamps with dark linings or with shades closed at the top. Be sure to shield the bulbs properly, so that no direct light glares in the eyes.

4. If you use the two wall fixture idea, arrange the fixtures so that the sockets are 22 inches apart. Lower the shade to 18 inches above the desk top. Each fixture should have a 6-inch diffusing bowl, translucent shade, and 100-watt lamp.

5. Don't forget to light up the rest of the room when work is going on. This is best done by turning on ceiling or wall fixtures which cast general downlight on the room.

6. If your child studies or plays his hobby at a dining room or kitchen table, install the type of center ceiling fixture that can be raised or lowered. Lower the fixture to provide specific work light, and turn on other lights in the room to illuminate the background.

TV Station Adds Power

CADILLAC (U)—Television station WWTW, operating on Channel 13, will increase its power to 316,000 watts early in September. Gene Ellerman, station manager, said the increase will send WWTW's signal into 48 northern Michigan counties from its 1,282-foot tower.

'Helping Hand' Fund

CEDARVILLE (U)—Residents of this Upper Peninsula community have started a "helping hand" fund for 18-year-old Sue Kester, victim of a rare arthritic condition of the blood and skin. The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kester, is in Little Traverse Hospital at Petoskey. Organizers of the fund said it will be used to help pay medical bills.

This Is a Long Dam

BISMARCK, N. D. — Garrison Dam, north of Bismarck, cost more than $200,000,000, is nearly 2½ miles long, backs up a reservoir more than 200 miles long, and its five huge generators will develop enough power to electrify a city of more than 1,000,000 population.

After 28 Years of Political Hustings

Lehman's Retirement Opens Big Gap in Wing of Dem Liberals

By GEOFFREY GOULD
NEW YORK (U)—The retirement of Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-Lib NY) from politics leaves a massive gap in the ranks of the Democratic party's liberal wing. In the view of many, Lehman was the mightiest oak in the liberal woods.

He announced Tuesday that at the age of 78, after 28 years on the political hustings as governor of New York and later Senator, he no longer felt up to the demands of campaigning and would not run for re-election this year. Lehman was a tireless advocate of civil rights legislation, public housing, foreign aid. He was a relentless foe of racial segregation, immigration restrictions and the transfer of tideland oil fields from the federal to state governments.

It would be hard to point out any occasion when Lehman, a determined fighter, sacrificed principle for expediency, no matter how unpopular the cause. In this he was like the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Unlike Taft, however, Lehman rarely spoke in postwar years as found himself far to the left of the voice of his party. Often he the party majority.

WHAT'S MY LINE?

INSTRUCTIONS: Each word is related to my work. Unscramble as few as possible to guess my line. Answer appears under arrow, reading downward.

Yesterday's answer: chock, charge, funds, change, service, money, end.

Lehman, although often speaking up for the rights of leftist political groups, was rarely accused of being soft on communism, even by his most partisan opponents.

He frequently criticized Soviet Russia and in 1954 voted along with the entire Senate for a strong anti-Communist bill. Lehman is a square-jawed, dignified man. His bald head is fringed by white hair, but his beetling eyebrows remain black. His private life has always been one of the utmost respectability.

The senator began his political life in 1928 at the age of 50, when he ran for lieutenant governor of New York with Franklin D. Roosevelt at the top of the ticket.

The long-time friends won with ease. Four years later Roosevelt ran for president and Lehman won his first term as governor.

He went on to win an unprecedented four terms in the governor's chair, over a period of 10 years.

He supported Roosevelt's policies almost without exception for the rest of his political life. After service as the first director-general of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration, Lehman ran for the Senate in 1946. He was beaten by Republican Irving M. Ives.

Woman's Vanity Costs Her $28, Wrecked Car

LONDON (U)—What's a gal going to do when she notices her slip is showing?

She's going to bend over and pull her skirt down, even if she happens to be driving a car at the time, Mrs. Violando Embiricos explained to the traffic judge.

And that, said Mrs. Embiricos, is how she came to swerve and hit a parked car.

The judge agreed that pulling down her skirt was "an instinctive movement." Just the same, he fined Mrs. Embiricos 10 pounds ($28) for careless driving.

Farmington is the name of 16 municipalities in the U. S.

by trouncing John Foster Dulles. Lehman won a full term in 1950.

He ran on the tickets of the Democratic and Liberal parties, the latter a New York state organization.

Lehman, in a familiar paradox of American politics, came to his liberal convictions from a background of great wealth.

He was the son of the founder of Lehman Brothers, the Wall Street investment banking firm.

He was in the textile and banking fields before entering politics. On his 75th birthday, the New York Times in an editorial said Lehman has had three careers—in business, philanthropy and in government.

"To all that he has done he has brought a keen intelligence, a humane spirit, and an urgent sense of responsibility," the Times said.

Another Ticker to Watch

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—For the convenience of delegates to the Republican National Convention, the Fairmont Hotel, GOP headquarters, has installed a stock ticker.

Au Sable Canoe Race

GAYLORD (U)—Some 25 canoes are expected to take part in the 10th annual Michigan Canoe Marathon Sept. 1, a 240-mile race down the Au Sable River to Oscoda on Lake Huron. More than $2,000 has been offered in prizes.

The marathon winners for the last three years, Bernie Fowler and Donald Feldhauser, of Grayling, will not compete this year.

President Eisenhower posed for a photograph exactly one month after his Sept. 24, 1955 heart attack.

Dick Nixon Has 'Sold' the Eisenhower Team at Home and Abroad

By ED CREAGH
SAN FRANCISCO (U) — One steaming day in the summer of 1952, a tired-eyed newspaperman looked down at the California delegation to the Republican National Convention in Chicago and remarked:

"Look at that Nixon. Not a hair out of place. Not a bead of sweat on his face. When he applauded that last speaker, I bet he counted every handclap. Does he have a book that tells him what to do in any situation?"

"Son," said a colleague, "look around at the rest of these yowling characters in this convention hall. Which one of them do you think has his eye on the ball — the way Dick Nixon has?"

Richard M. Nixon, vice president at 40, renominated yesterday at 43, is indeed a man with his eye on the ball.

It may seem an odd role for a shy youngster from Yorba Linda, Calif., where his father grew some not-overly-thriving citrus trees. Nixon is strictly 20th century. He is probably the first of his kind to come so close to the presidency. His skyrocket rise from nowhere to next door to the White House is a grey-flannel-suit success story.

It may not be sheer coincidence that in 1954 Nixon was (1) named "Salesman of the Year" by the Los Angeles Sales Executive Club, and (2) described by Newsweek magazine as "the Eisenhower administration's star salesman."

Nixon has "sold" the Eisenhower administration at home and abroad. In telecasts and whistle-stop speeches. In a round-the-world sweep, a Caribbean tour, a recent swing through Eastern Asia.

Applause has been profuse but not unanimous abroad, the opposition and their friends have sent up the catcall "Tricky Dickie." At home, some Democrats have blown fuses and demanded Nixon's hide.

Nixon's is not quite a Horatio Alger story. His folks, after moving away from Yorba Linda, were middling-well-to-do Quakers in Whittier, Calif. There were five Nixon boys and no girls.

Young Dick managed to conquer his early shyness. He went out for the football team in high school and at Whittier College. He never made it but he kept on trying. He got up at 4 a.m. to buy produce for his father's market. The money he earned helped him through college.

Much of the Nixon story is well known from there in:

Young lawyer . . . Navy veteran . . . Beat an old-timer, Democrat Jerry Voorhis, for Congress in 1946. . . Made the most of two terms. . . Built a reputation as an anti-Communist campaigner. . . Went on to the Senate in 1951 by defeating Democrat Helen Gahagan Douglas.

In 1952, Eisenhower listed half a dozen young Republicans who'd suit him as vice presidential nominees. Nixon was chosen.

Early in the campaign Nixon came under fire from the Democrats for accepting a private expense fund from well-off fellow Californians while in the Senate. There was serious talk of dropping him from the ticket.

Nixon bounced back with a zing few television playrights could have dreamed up. He went on television with his wife Pat at his side, and his dog Checkers barely offstage. The resulting influx of pro-Nixon telegrams still shakes Western Union shake its head in wonderment.

What manner of man is Nixon? He is friendly in a restrained sort of way — quick to give out with a hello. But no hand-wringer in the fashion of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, his opposite number on the Democrats' ticket.

He is one of the busiest men in the capital. As presiding officer of the Senate, he has been one of the White House's most active lobbyists on Capitol Hill.

What have people got against Nixon?

For one thing, some say he's all right as a vice president, taking orders and guidance from the White House, but would not be all right if he were in the White House directing things himself. Eisenhower's 65 years and two recent illnesses spotlight that criticism.

For another, some don't like his campaign tactics. What seem like speeches to some people look to others like below-the-belt politics.

MONKEYSHINES AS MONKEYS SWEEP — It's a two-man all-fours job as a pair of chimps battle over the single broom in their cage. The housecleaning antics, at the Children's Zoo in Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, provide plenty of amusement to visitors, but don't bring results in cleaning the cage.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR

LET'S TAKE A TRIP—
Yellowstone Park

Yellowstone Park is the oldest large wild life preserve in the country. Its 3,453 square miles lie in the northwestern corner of Wyoming, overlapping into Montana and Idaho.

In its forests and valleys live elk, deer, antelope, buffalo, moose, grizzly bear and many species of birds. The streams abound with trout. The park is noted for its beautiful colored rock formations and for geysers, and hot springs.

Most famous of the geysers is Old Faithful, which sends up a towering stream of hot water about every 65 minutes, as high as 170 feet.

College Professors — You Want Logic?

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U) — Ever wonder what's tucked away behind those college cornerstones?

Illinois Governor William G. Stratton recently mortared up the cornerstone of Southern Illinois University's agriculture building.

Among the 25 items sealed away were an agricultural bulletin entitled: "Shall Southern Illinois Vegetables Go South in August?" and a reprint from a cattleman's Magazine: "Where Will Cross-breeding Lead You?"

Not very exciting you say? Well then check the next two leaflets that will probably be as timely a thousand years hence as they are today: "Poison Ivy" and "Chiggers."

Rub-a-Dub-Dub

MAYSVILLE, Ky. (U) — Rub-a-dub-dub, a man in the tub. That's the way Maysville tailor Walter G. Austin does his fishing.

His craft is a huge tractor-tire inner tube that encircles a No. 3 washtub, just the right size for Austin. An ardent fisherman, he devised the craft in order to get to many hard-to-reach but choice fishing spots along the Ohio River.

Divers Seeking Gold Treasure

Canadian Group Hunts for Lost $120,000 Chest at Lake Erie Bottom

HAMILTON, Ont. (U.S.) — There's gold in them thar Great Lakes—or so a group of skin-diving enthusiasts believe. They aim to prove their theory by searching the murky bottom of Lake Erie for shipwrecks.

The members of the Hamilton Sub-Mariners Club are first going after a $120,000 cargo of gold believed aboard the steam Packet Clarion which went down with all hands nearly 47 years ago. She sank somewhere off Point Pelee in Lake Erie.

The $120,000 in gold is small stuff compared with the total wealth lying on the bottom of the Great Lakes, said Bob Peters, secretary of the Sub-Mariners. He estimates the sunken caches as "worth millions of dollars" to those who find them.

Members of the club are being aided in their first hunt by Bill Eastman, a Dundas, Ont., resident whose hobby is collecting data on Great Lakes shipwrecks.

He volunteered to supply charts and information about the Clarion's probable position. Eastman said he believes "there is more sunken treasure in the Great Lakes than there are people interested in looking for it."

During four-day storm in 1913, he said, 43 ships sank and in 1916 a one-day storm sent 21 craft to the bottom.

Records show that the Clarion, a package freighter connecting points on the Pennsylvania Railroad system, was on her last trip of the season when she foundered Dec. 12, 1908. A crew of 32, a cargo of four and $120,000 in gold were lost.

The Sub-Mariners were formed last February and plan to start looking . . . where?

That's a secret—in the tight-lipped tradition of all treasure hunters.

State Areas Benefit by Polio Foundation

LANSING (U.S.) — Six county chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis have received emergency funds totaling $20,725.

Chapters receiving national aid were Branch county, $3,700; Cass, $4,400; Eaton, $3,450; Iron, $1,550; Marquette, $4,600 and Mecosta, $3,025.

State headquarters of the foundation said Michigan chapters have received $137,257 in emergency aid from the national fund so far this year.

The foundation said its policy is to replenish chapter treasurers from the national fund in order that medical and hospital bills of polio patients will be paid after locally-raised money is depleted.

Kent Man Convalescing

Many Spraying Elms

GRAND HAVEN (U.S.) — A report to city council said spraying the 2,000 American elms in Grand Haven against Dutch elm disease would cost about $9,000 a year for an indeterminate period. Council also learned that Detroit, Grand Rapids, Niles, Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Dowagiac, Sturgis, Coldwater and Watervliet have started spraying programs.

Insurance is carried by 95 per cent of French automobile owners and 64 per cent of the drivers of two-wheel motor vehicles.

East Lansing Sprays

EAST LANSING (U.S.) — The East Lansing city council, alarmed at the spread of Dutch elm disease in Lansing, has ordered the city's 800 elm trees sprayed against the blight. Six cases have been reported in Lansing.

Widen Investigation of Rumored Killings

EASTBOURNE, Eng. (INS) — Scotland Yard today reportedly was widening the scope of its investigation into the suspected mass poisoning of wealthy women in the Eastbourne area during the past 20 years.

Detectives were said to be probing the wills of at least 400 men and women, and rumors were the names of 25 persons would be picked out as victims of a maniacal mass killer.

The London Daily Mail said the investigations may uncover the most sensational episode in British criminal history.

A chain of rumors, gossip, suspicions and letters to Scotland Yard that the mass killer was living undetected in Eastbourne brought to the scene an investigation team headed by detective superintendent Herbert Hannan.

Cypriots to Nix British Truce

Rebels Contend Terms Would Kill Prospects for Any Settlement

NICOSIA, Cyprus (INS) — Greek sources predicted today the EOKA underground organization will reject surrender terms offered by British Gov. Sir John Harding. EOKA's reply is expected in the next day or two, in the form of a secretly distributed leaflet.

Greek Cypriot leaders expressed disappointment at the British offer and said it would reduce prospects for a settlement of the dispute over this east Mediterranean island.

Hopes were raised a week ago when EOKA announced a cease-fire in its fight to end British rule and unite Cyprus with Greece. The move brought a relaxation in tensions that had mounted steadily since EOKA, the national organization of Cypriot fighters, launched its campaign to drive out the British April 1, 1955.

Harding announced EOKA members who surrendered during the next three weeks would be given a choice of free passage to Greece without punishment or remaining in Cyprus. If they stayed, he said, they would face trial if involved in the wounding or slaying of anyone. They would not be charged if involved in any other offense.

"If there is genuine response to this offer," Harding declared, "it will help create conditions in which real progress can be made in the introduction of responsible self-government."

But adverse reaction was quick in coming from leaders of the island's Greek Cypriot majority.

Driver Was Not Stopped

A story in Saturday's Pontiac Press erroneously stated that Mrs. Ruth Cope, 22, of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd., had been stopped at a stop sign on Scott Lake road when her car was struck in the rear by another vehicle driven by Mrs. Helen Stone, 25, of Drayton Plains, Friday night. Waterford Township investigators said yesterday the Cope car had either run the stop sign or pulled out in front of the Stone car.

21 Million Women Work

NEW YORK—More than 21,000,000 women now hold jobs outside the home—more than a third of all women over 14 years of age. These 21,000,000 make up nearly a third of all workers in the nation.

Baby's First Cry Heard by Dad

LOS ANGELES (INS) — New born babies at the California Hospital in Los Angeles have been busy for the past twelve years making high-fidelity transcriptions.

The "new sound" in this case is a recording of the child's first cries — with accompanying commentary by the doctor — all for the benefit of the new papa.

The play by play account of birth is simultaneously recorded and transmitted to the father's waiting room where anxious daddy has been pacing.

Child in hand, the attending physician throws the transmitter into action with a convenient foot pedal while a nurse sets the recording apparatus turning.

The entire performance is then recorded—the ear-splitting cry of the healthy arrival, responding to the firm but necessary slap from the doctor.

When the safety of the infant and mother are assured, the father is told when he may meet the newest member of his family. All the while the disc cutting arm is in action.

The permanent plastic record usually includes description of the mother's condition when she enters the delivery room, the exact time of birth, and the child's sex.

Although infant mortality at the hospital is extremely low, two fathers have fainted into the arms of nurses upon seeing their new children.

The records, enclosed in a special fancy envelope showing a picture of the hospital, and including a souvenir birth record, are presented to the parents when the mother is able to leave the hospital.

The parents are told that the disc is probably the only one they'll ever receive made on a machine guarded 24 hours by a germicidal lamp.

The broadcast to the waiting room was originally an emergency war measure to conserve the time of doctors, interns and nurses.

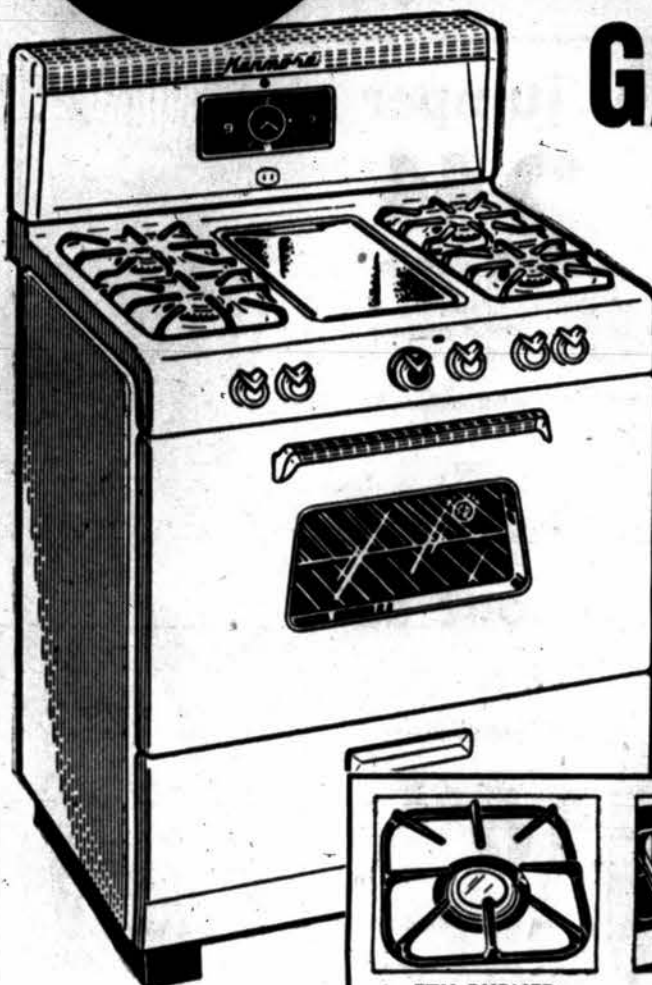

Ritz E. Heerman, general manager of California hospital, says that this idea of recording is satisfying a "gimmick conscious America" as a courtesy innovation.

One nurse speculated that one of the recordings may someday be used in a presidential campaign—to prove that even from birth, the man was yelling for lower taxes.

Canada has about 3,200 branches of chartered banks.

U. S. Holds Up Aid to Egypt

Technicians, Equipment Withheld Till Settlement of Canal Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has halted the normal flow of foreign aid technicians to Egypt and has taken steps to hold up delivery of some 20 million dollars worth of heavy transportation equipment.

These twin moves have been ordered by the International Cooperation Administration as a precaution, pending settlement of the bitter Suez Canal dispute.

Responsible officials said some "minor" foreign aid shipments are continuing. Further, they said, the United States has no intention at present of closing down its 102-man foreign aid mission in Cairo.

About five technicians a month move to Cairo under normal conditions. Those who were ready to go there have been given extended home leaves.

The major undelivered foreign aid items involved are railroad engines, freight cars, tugboats, barges, a dredge, railroad machine shops, railway ties and some waterway equipment.

Some $35,800,000 worth of foreign aid supplies for Egypt are reported in the pipeline. Some of this has already moved ahead normally but foreign aid officials report it amounts to "only a trickle" of small items.

Journalists' Union Boycotts La Prensa

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A boycott of the newspaper La Prensa called by the Argentine Journalists' Union has failed, Maximo Gaimza, son of La Prensa's director Alberto Gaimza Paz, said today.

"We are not going to hire a single one of those Peronista stooges," he said. "We have experienced no ill effects from the so-called boycott. On the contrary circulation yesterday jumped 1,000 over the same day a week ago."

The union charged La Prensa broke its word by refusing to re-hire "hundreds" of employees who worked for it while it was controlled by ex-President Juan D. Peron.

Lad's Love for Pigeons Leads to His Death

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The fondness of 14-year-old Marvin D. Ivey for raising pigeons led to his death in a 60-foot fall from a railroad trestle under MacArthur Bridge.

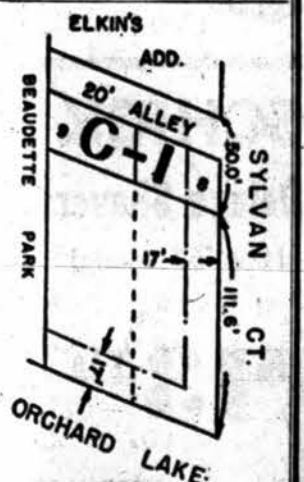

His companion Dale Moon, 15, told police Marvin had been climbing in the trestle taking young pigeons from their nests. He apparently lost his balance and fell.

THE BERRYS

Mississippi To Reflect Spectacle

ST. LOUIS (INS)—Old Man River will roll proudly past St. Louis next month as water and sky reflect the blazing lights of a mid-west spectacular designed to demonstrate the spirit and strength of a city and a section of America.

Below the cobble levees, the Mississippi River will flow by a waterfront transformed into a wonderland of color, gaiety, music and modern design which will make up the first Mid-America Jubilee, opening on Sept. 1.

This major industrial, scientific and agricultural exposition is piloted by a non-profit organization of citizens who have underwritten the project to the sum of a guaranteed $400,000.

TO CALL ATTENTION

One prominent citizen explained that the purpose of this 30-day commercial fair, which is scheduled to become an annual event, is "to call attention to the entire nation that we are a city on the move."

The extravaganza will be the biggest thing to hit the Missouri metropolis since its famed 1904 World's Fair.

In the center of the riverfront site is a gothic dome. Resembling a gigantic steel erector toy, the strutt half-sphere structure—100 feet in diameter and 30 feet high—encloses approximately 8,000 square feet of floor area without interior supports. Its covering is a skin of plastic.

This ultra modern design—an object of intense interest in architectural circles—is the product of

R. Buckminster Fuller, noted engineer, author and president of Geodesics, Inc.

The dome will include a theater-in-the-round for the presentation of fashion, musical, horticultural shows and other special events.

U. S. Industry Seeks Engineers From Italy

ROME, Italy (AP)—American industry is looking as far afield as Italy to meet its shortage of engineers.

For five years the competition for trained engineers in the United States has been increasing. College newspapers at leading American universities are full of advertisements placed by companies seeking to recruit eligibles. Now some companies are looking abroad.

A typical advertisement appeared recently in La Stampa Sora di Turin, a major newspaper in Italy's automobile industry center.

"A limited number of engineers and specialists interested in becoming U.S. citizens are offered permanent positions in the Aircraft Gas Turbine Division of the General Electric Co., at Cincinnati, Ohio," it said.

It promised careful and confidential consideration for all applications from Italians with a working knowledge of English. Paid passage was guaranteed to the United States for successful applicants.

Around this unique construction will be other buildings housing displays of the nation's industries.

In addition to a "Who's Who" list of St. Louis firms, business giants such as the Ford Motor Co., General Electric, Inland Steel and Westinghouse will strive for attention with exhibitions in buildings bright when color and singular atmosphere.

Flocking crowds will be treated to an old-time German beer garden, a heliport with five helicopters for tenants, huge military displays and even an area where the Atomic Energy Commission can show off its unrestricted stuff. Add to this: A modern model farm and livestock shows, displays of apparel arts and trades, a vast amusement area, gardens and four miles of walks to allow the throngs of visitors to wander anywhere and everywhere.

STORE UP MEMORIES—Time waits for no one. And the school years' games, parades, get-togethers and activities make prized souvenirs. The camera need not be expensive—a brownie will do the trick of recording history too quickly gone.

IF SEEING IS BELIEVING—YOU'LL CHOOSE

The Rise and Fall of Harold Stassen's Opposition

SHE PROPOSED 'JOE SMITH' FOR VICE PRESIDENT — Mrs. George R. Abel of Lincoln, chairman of the Nebraska delegation, threw the GOP National Convention into momentary confusion — and mirth — last night by proposing a "Joe Smith" for the vice presidency. Delegate Terry Carpenter, beside her, told reporters "Joe Smith" is a prominent citizen of his hometown "Terrytown." The whole thing was patently a gag, delaying starting of the Nixon nominating speech by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

AP Wirephoto

PUERTO RICAN DELEGATE PLAYS IT STRAIGHT — There were no jokes from Puerto Rican delegate, Marcelino Romany, holding microphone, as he cast his delegation's votes for Ike.

AP Wirephoto

VACATION SPOT — The "toughest" golf course in the world will provide relaxation for President Eisenhower at the Cypress Point Club in Pebble Beach, Calif., where he will spend from three to four days on a brief vacation. The picturesque clubhouse is located on the locality's famed 17-Mile Drive.

AP Wirephoto

STASSEN SPEAKS FOR NIXON — Harold E. Stassen waved to delegates as he appeared before the GOP National Convention in San Francisco last night to make a seconding speech for Vice President Richard Nixon. He spoke for Nixon after giving up earlier in the day his effort to dump him from the ticket.

Fuse Fizzled and Went Out

'Anti-Nixon' Skyrocket Never Got Off Ground Against GOP Pressure

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Harold E. Stassen lit the fuse of his ditch-Nixon rocket in Washington on July 23 and, after a steadily descending course, it plunked to earth hard at a presidential news conference yesterday.

Altogether, it was one of the strangest episodes in recent political history.

The full story has not yet been told, and probably won't be for some time, if ever. Particularly intriguing is whether Stassen had, behind the scenes, any major Republican political figures.

Another question is: What was President Eisenhower's attitude toward Stassen's effort? Asked about that last night, Stassen told a reporter:

"I've always felt I had neither the approval nor the disapproval of the President in this venture."

On July 23, at a news conference Stassen said that, in the interest of strengthening Republican victory prospects, he favored dropping Vice President Richard M. Nixon from the GOP ticket and nominating Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts as Eisenhower's running mate.

Stassen said private polls showed that Nixon would weaken an Eisenhower ticket by 6 per cent.

The reaction among Republican leaders was explosive. Not a single one of national prominence openly lined up at Stassen's side.

Three days before his announcement, Stassen had told Eisenhower what he proposed to do, and says Eisenhower told him he could go ahead as long as he made it clear he was not acting in his official capacity as a White House adviser.

Eisenhower had said he would be delighted to have Nixon as his running mate again but that the decision was up to the convention delegates.

By the time the national convention rolled around, Stassen had only a scattering of support among the delegates and even this appeared to be evaporating day by day.

Yesterday morning, Stassen talked to the President at the St. Francis Hotel.

Later the President announced that Stassen had abandoned his campaign and would ask permission to second Nixon's nomination for the vice presidency, as he later did.

'One Fly in the Ointment'

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Joe Smith? He's only a myth.

But he handed the Republicans the biggest laugh of their convention last night. He gave the television audience an injection of wake-up juice too.

There's one at every convention. Four years ago the Republicans had Marcelino Romany. He was the Puerto Rican delegate who broke up a lot of tension by demanding a poll of his three-member delegation.

This year Romany played it straight. He voted the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket. Then came Joe Smith. And the man behind him: "Terrible Terry" Carpenter.

Everything had been going fine up to that point. It was a wide-open convention. The door was wide open for everybody — except Vice President Nixon — to disappear into the San Francisco fog. Alabama yielded. Arkansas yielded. Everybody yielded except Carpenter.

Then Scottsbluff, Nebraska's Terry Carpenter (who freely acknowledges the "Terrible Terry" nickname) dug in his heels.

He once was a Democratic congressman. He changed parties. He has run for all sorts of offices, without success. He disapproves of Nixon.

So when the roll was called on Nixon the Nebraska delegation chairman, Mrs. George P. Abel, gritted her teeth and did her duty. She told convention chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. there was a bit of a split in the Nebraska delegation: Nixon: 17. Joe Smith: 1.

She announced that delegate Carpenter was speaking for himself alone.

Martin furrowed his brow, considered the problem for a good five seconds, and told the defiant delegate from Nebraska:

"You take your Joe Smith and get out of here."

Carpenter, a stocky, 56-year-old businessman who wears glasses, took the hint. He got out. Escorted by uniformed convention guards.

This is an open convention, though, so he soon marched back in.

He refused to vote on the first — and only — ballot for Nixon. He passed.

In the end, though, he buckled under the pressure of his fellow Nebraskans.

Final Program Features Ike's Acceptance Talk

COW PALACE, SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—The program for the fourth and final day of the Republican National Convention:

5:30 p.m. entertainment — Lee Bowman, master of ceremonies.

Pledge of allegiance. Songs and marching by 300 Young Republicans; color guards and Long Beach Young Marching Band.

Invocation.

Introduction of representatives and senators.

Musical number — John Charles Thomas.

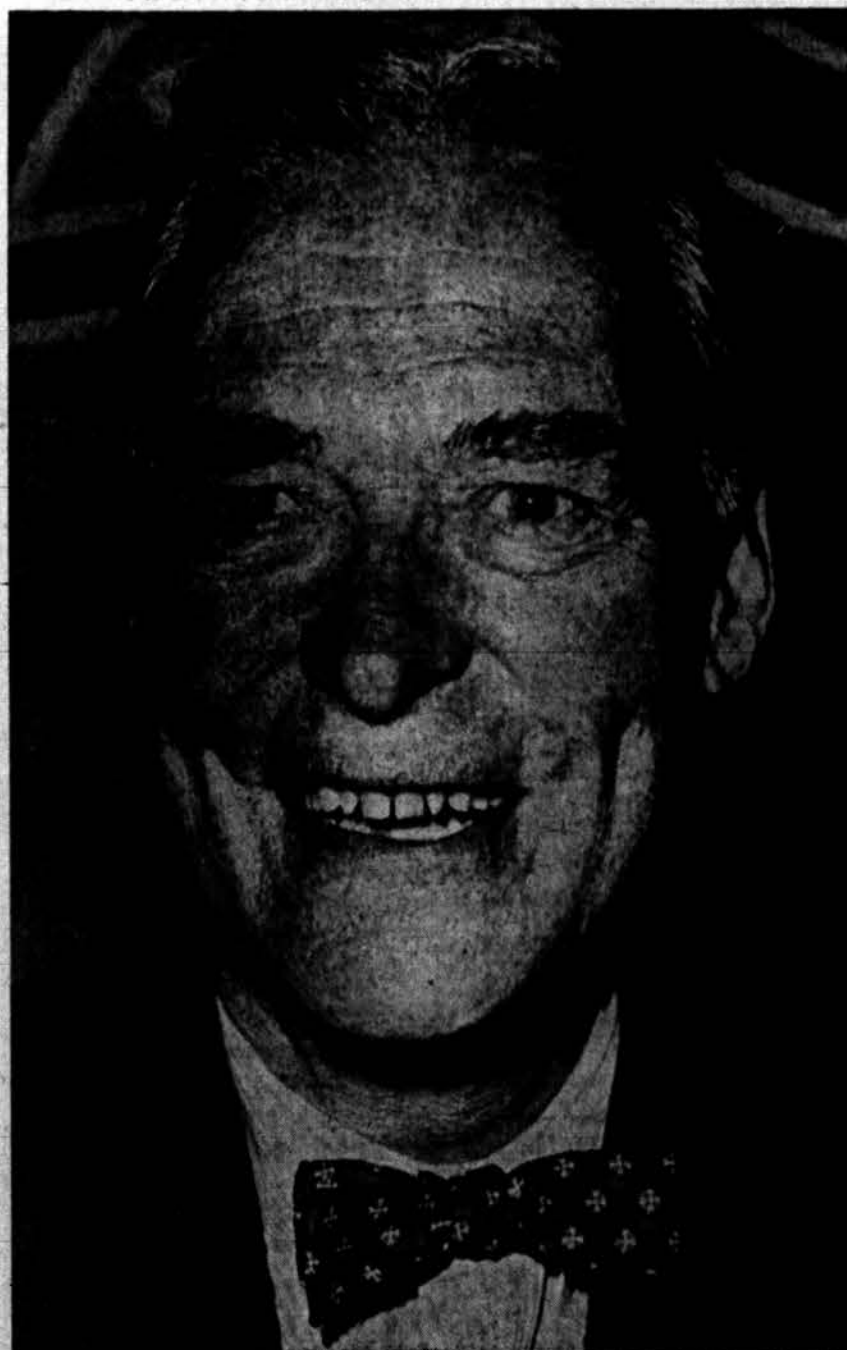

Address by vice presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon, if possible for him to be present.

Address by President and presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Benediction.

Sacked by Pranksters

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Seen on San Francisco's Post Street: An Eisenhower bandwagon car with its big "Let's back Ike!" sign sabotaged. An "S" had been painted neatly over the "E."

WAS STASSEN'S MAN — This is a fresh portrait of Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, who was Harold Stassen's choice to replace Vice President Richard Nixon as President Eisenhower's running mate on the 1956 GOP ticket. But Stassen did an about-face yesterday afternoon, got behind Nixon and last night made a seconding speech after the Vice President's nomination by Gov. Herter.

AP Wirephoto

Bob Considine Says:

Scantily Clad Gals Brighten Up Convention

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — If Minsky was running the official headquarters at the GOP convention he'd be ruined.

By conservative estimate, at least four acres of semi-naked young ladies move through the lobbies of the prim old Fairmont, the chipper old Mark Hopkins and the brave old St. Francis each day, giving away buttons, pens, stickers and assorted soft drinks. They look like apprentice strippers somehow transported into a mob scene.

A couple of them broke up a pleasant conversation of Dick Nixon by Gerald L. K. Smith in the Fairmont lobby Monday by appearing before the sweating political miscreant and offering him free guns—a practice which is believed to have established a new AAU record for redundancy.

The beautiful young babes endlessly parade their charms through the clattering, bustling newsrooms at the Fairmont, disturbing busy copy boys and putting a faraway look into the eyes of the gaffers.

You can't look up from the keys without finding yourself confronted by a reasonable embodiment of a dream about Mrs. Arthur Miller—tastefully gowned in half a dozen Pepsi Cola bottle tops.

NERVOUS SHOCK

Some strange writing has come out of here partly as a result of these shocks to the nervous system.

I know a fellow who was buried fathoms deep in a brilliant new lead the other day which began, "All roads lead to the Cow Palace today where jubilant delegates pledged allegiance to Eisenhower, Nixon and the Flag. Permanent Chairman Joseph W. Martin said:

(At this point the reporter looked up at a dish that would stop traffic at noon.) "Jimminy crickets! It can't be true! Do you think I can palm her off as my wife's sister?"

Weinberger Kidnap Note Sender Caught

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—The FBI has announced that a 35-year-old Greenville man had been arrested on a charge of using the mails in attempting to collect a ransom in New York's Weinberger kidnaping case.

The FBI said a ransom note was sent to Mrs. Morris Weinberger of Westbury, Long Island, N.Y., demanding $10,000 for the release of Peter Howard Weinberger. The child was four weeks old when he disappeared from his home last July 4.

Ray J. Abbaticchio Jr., in charge of the FBI's Charlotte, N.C., office, identified the man as John Harvey Wiggins, an unemployed roofer and tree surgeon who is married and has three children.

At least that's how the first paragraph of his story ended. It may lead to Martin's defeat.

Miss San Francisco of 1956, or whoever she was, gave our man a genuine imitation leather socket for a buggy whip. Free. The experience affected his mind. When he reached for her she had gone.

Unhappily, unkempt and probably unconstitutional, the whisky-soaked derelict can be seen wandering through the crowds night and day, calling her name. Her name was Chloe.

She wore her curves like medals, though, come to think of it, we've never seen any medals like that. She bore a banner plugging a local disc spinner for vice president, or some such sign.

Joe was out, and this is how he will learn he had the visitor in the first place. Miss Boomer, one of the Boomer girls, waited 15 minutes and left in a convertible huff, an impetuous act which may cost her candidate votes.

Joe Smith wouldn't know Miss Boomer from one of the original Boomers girls. But there were others, who asked not to be identified, who tried to.

It's quite a show, this bone-dry aqueduct they're running out here. Calvin Coolidge would have had difficulty understanding what it has to do with the Republican party.

So did a delegate from Saudi Arabia who passed through the chorus line today. He tried to buy them all and ship them home, only to learn that their hearts belonged elsewhere—chiefly to daddy Bernie Rehn.

PAGING KEFAUVER
Sen. Estes Kefauver, of the enemy, was paged in the Fairmont lobby this morning. Several old Republican delegates needed smelling salts.

Chairman Len Hall won't take a salary. Gen. Snyder, the White House physician, arrived with a case of milk of magnesia. The parties are piling up so badly that even the free-loaders are hollering "uncle." Instead of "encore," which will do for a millennium until one comes along.

Just a Little Switch
—but Smell Is Same

MORGANTFIELD, Ky. (AP)—Neat little rows of burly tobacco were growing right in Mrs. Sam McElroy's flower bed.

Mrs. McElroy planted them herself and, until the other day, she thought they were petunias. She had planted the petunia seeds in a tobacco bed and then transplanted some young plants herself. Her husband said the petunias were doing fine—in his tobacco patch.

Elephants in Glory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The elephant, symbol of the Republican party, is the most common motif of rhinestone jewelry in the GOP convention hotel's lobby jewelry store.

Gets Cement Shower

SPRING CITY, Pa. (AP)—William W. Ralston was showered with cement blocks and he loved it. Ralston was living with his in-laws while he built his own home. Friends got together and gave him a shower. They brought 100 cement blocks for construction of the house. The party was given by his mother-in-law.

Romans Credited With Tricky Math

ST. LOUIS 28—The Romans—builders of fine roads, graceful buildings and lasting empires—did their math in a tricky manner. A description of what they considered mathematical shortcuts has been found among the 600,000 microfilm copies of Vatican library manuscripts at St. Louis University here. For example, one shortcut involved multiplying VIII (8) by VI (6). Doing it the Roman way, you take the difference between 10 and the multiplier (6) and subtract it from the number to be multiplied (8) leaving 4. This difference was multiplied by 10, giving 40. Next, the "differentia" of both the multiplier and the multiplicand was found. This gives you the numbers 4 and 2, which if multiplied become 8. Add the 8 to the 40 and the answer is 48 or XLVIII. Friday is 'Celery Day' HUDSONVILLE 28—Officials of the Hudsonville Community Fair, which opened Wednesday for a three-day run, have set Friday as "Celery Day," marking the 100th year that celery has been grown in the Hudsonville area.

Screwdriver Has Bartender Stumped Literally

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. 28—Harry Ralston, local Moose Lodge governor, pitched in to help bartenders serve customers celebrating the lodge's sixth birthday. He was doing OK until a customer asked for a "screwdriver."

a new drink made with vodka. It stumped him for a few seconds until he walked to a storage drawer and produced a small screwdriver. "No," the customer said. "It's a drink." "Oh!" Ralston said. "I thought you were having trouble with your car and needed a screwdriver." The lumber industry in the U.S. dates from 1608 at Jamestown, Va.

Fellow Falls in Love With Adding Device

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. 28—A Little Rock man has got two years to see if he can overcome a fascination for a particular adding machine. Andrew Mosley was sentenced to two years in prison for theft of a $135 adding machine from his employer. At the time of his arrest, he was out on bond, facing a charge of stealing the same machine once before. "If he's going to keep on stealing that same machine," said Circuit Judge William J. Kirby, "we've either got to give it to him or else send him to the penitentiary." Hawaii came under jurisdiction of the United States officially in 1898.

Paris Tree From U. S. PARIS — A recent count shows there are more than 400,000 trees along the boulevards and avenues of Paris. That's about one for every 10 Parisians. One of the oldest trees came from America, brought back in 1601 by botanist Jean Robin. It is a locust that grows in the garden of the Church of St. Julien le Pauvre on the Left Bank.

COSMETIC TRAINING—Only neatness and good manners in aiding nature must be taught. This young lady is practicing with cosmetics "just like mother's." They're colorless and harmless when applied.

Children Have Own Aids to Encourage Grooming

Once upon a time, a little girl who wanted to be pretty was presumed to be a midget woman.

Did she want to wear lipstick? Use Mommy's. It's called "Bleeding Heart."

Was she after perfume? Try Mommy's. It's called "Ulysses Waterlily."

Did she want curly hair? Mommy's stylist will copy Mommy's coiffure for her. It's called "Lounge Lizard" (short version).

These days, manufacturers recognize that a little girl who wants to be pretty is just that, still a little girl. Cosmetic products are marketed for her alone.

CHILDREN'S PERMANENTS

Outstanding in this respect is the child's permanent. Good ones are made with lotions suitable for a child's hair. They are made to act more quickly so that an impatient child won't fret three years on her life.

They not only provide beauty for the girl, but convenience for a mother who will this way avoid nightly pin-ups. One such permanent even contains a sheet of cut-outs for amusement and a plastic turban.

A line of cosmetics for face and hands, including colorless polish and lipstick, satisfies the girl's desire to do things in the adult manner without turning the child out looking like a masquerade.

These "Little Lady" products help a mother encourage grooming habits without the use of a baseball bat.

Light scents help a girl to feel really turned out for a big occasion without making her smell like opening night at the opera.

Children's shampoos, fancy soaps (some are shaped like hamburgers and whatnot) and lip pomades all serve the same purpose: Encouraging the desire for self-improvement without staggering all adults in sight.

The reputable ones are harmless and don't include any ingredients—like macassar—that could cause trouble in clumsy hands.

Since personal appearance is so important in the life of a woman, early training in grooming is an essential for a small girl.

Her mother is the proper teacher and through her, the girl can learn proper habits.

Harmless Sweets Provide Added Nutrition for Youth

When the kids come home in the afternoon it's time to open the way for hungry youngsters to help themselves at the cookie jar.

After a long day in the classroom, the junior miss and mister need quick energy and there is no more pleasant way to supply this need than with home-baked sweets from the oven.

A jam sandwich cookie, or a molasses cookie like grandmother used to make, or a nourishing date and nut square is just the thing.

JAM SANDWICH COOKIES

One-half cup shortening; ¼ cup sugar; 1 egg; ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring; 1½ cups sifted enriched flour; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon double-acting baking powder; ¼ cup strawberry preserves.

Blend shortening, sugar, egg and almond flavoring. Combine flour, salt and baking powder, add to golden shortening mixture and blend well. Spread half the dough in an eight-inch square pan rubbed with golden shortening.

Spread with preserves. Press remaining dough onto an eight-inch square of waxed paper, place dough over preserves and peel off paper. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool and cut into two-inch squares. Makes 16 squares.

MOLASSES COOKIES

One-half cup shortening; 1-3 cup sugar; 1 egg; ¼ cup molasses; 2 cups sifted enriched flour; 1 teaspoon soda; ¼ teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon nutmeg; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; ¼ teaspoon ginger; ¼ cup sour milk.

Blend shortening, sugar, egg and molasses. Combine flour, salt and spices and add alternately with the sour milk. Drop batter from tablespoon onto baking sheet rubbed with golden shortening and bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Makes 2 dozen large cookies.

DATE AND NUT SQUARES

One-half cup shortening; 1 cup sugar; 2 eggs; 2 cups chopped pitted dates; 1 cup chopped pecan nuts; ½ cup cut candied cherries; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2-3 cup sifted enriched flour; 1 teaspoon baking powder.

Blend golden shortening and sugar and beat in eggs. Stir in remaining ingredients and spread batter in a nine-inch square pan rubbed with golden shortening. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 to 45 minutes. Cut into squares while warm and roll in confectioners' sugar. Makes three dozen squares.

FEED THEM: Traditional well-come in the afternoon: A well-filled cookie jar. Simple recipes make delicious cookies.

If Teacher Says So, Then It Must Be So

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (U)—Much to the bother of the fire department, a 12-year-old boy believed that "if teacher says it, it must be so."

The boy pulled a fire alarm box lever. It brought 3 pumps, 2 ladder trucks and 2 chiefs. Facing the surprised firefighters, the boy explained.

"Teacher told us the boxes weren't in operation and were no good, so I didn't see any harm in playing with it."

A disgruntled fire inspector left the boy and headed for the nearby junior high school.

Grand Rapids Picked

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—This mid-western convention center has been announced as the site of the 1958 convention of the International Stewards and Caterers Assn. William Dehaan, president of the west Michigan chapter, said that about 1,500 organization members — top food executives — will attend the six-day mid-August sessions.

100 Peachy Recipes

Allegan (U)—More than 100 peach base recipes will be displayed Saturday at nearby Casco Community Hall as part of the first annual parade of peaches, sponsored by Western Michigan Peach Growers and the Allegan County agent's office.

New Facility Planned

BENTON HARBOR (U)—Owners of the Benton Center Fruit Exchange, which burned last Saturday with losses placed at $300,000, say the facility will be rebuilt in time for operations next season. Allan Gerber, of Phoenix, Ariz., exchange official, estimated $250,000 as the cost of replacing the building. He said up to $85,000 in fruit and packing materials were lost in the flames.

You Can't Stop 'Em

IRON RIVER (U)—A handicapped man is a dependable skywatcher for the Ground Observer Corps at Basswood, west of Iron River. Jack V. Virkler, 36, a cerebral palsy victim, rides a special bicycle with extra wheels and a siren. When he detects a plane, he signals his mother, Mrs. Elmer Virkler, who relays the report by telephone to the Green Bay, Wisc. filter center.

Wins Nurse Scholarship

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Miss Patricia Russell, 23, a 1954 graduate of Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids, has been notified by Mercy College in Detroit that she will receive a $2,400 federal grant under which she will continue her nurse training at Detroit. She is the first in the Grand Rapids area to obtain a grant under the Health Amendments Act of 1956, passed last July.

Battle Lines Set for November Clash

By ROSE McKEE
SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Battle lines for the 1956 political campaign were fixed yesterday in wake of adoption by the Republican convention of a platform clashing sharply with the stand taken by Democrats last week on many key issues.

The two statements of party objectives will give voters a clear choice on the Arab-Israeli question, the farm issue, labor legislation, development of natural resources and many other national problems.

Both parties came out for tax reductions, a balanced budget and continued support of the United Nations.

CIVIL RIGHTS SPAT

Each had trouble drafting a civil rights plank that would avoid a rift between northern and southern factions within each party. Republicans settled their dispute without any floor fight and came out

Lawyer's Advice Gets Motorist Off Traffic Hook

DETROIT (INS)—A young Detroit motorist was released from jail this morning, because, as traffic Judge John D. Watts put it:

"I'm giving you a break on account of the bum advice you got from your lawyer."

The attorney concerned the Gregory M. Pilon, perennially unsuccessful candidate for Congress who is in hot water on an income tax evasion charge.

Pilon was representing Leroy Burrell, 21, who was charged with driving too slowly; failing to keep to the right; interfering with traffic that wanted to pass at a legal rate and operating a vehicle on a suspended driver's license.

Pilon pleaded for his client and shouldered the blame saying:

"I know he didn't have a license, but I had to have some campaign literature . . ."

Self-conscious of the lack of an operator's license, Burrell was arrested crawling along Michigan, keeping away from curbs and utility poles in fear of becoming involved in an accident.

'They's Cats Behind Iron Fence'—Satchmo

NEW YORK (INS)—Jazz trumpeter Louis Armstrong may have a chance to get in home hot licks on the cold war.

A statement released by Yuri I. Gouk, cultural attache of the Russian embassy in Washington, said the Ministry of Culture in Moscow is considering granting permission to "Satchmo" to tour behind the Iron Curtain.

Armstrong said he was "dreading of a tour of Russia" because "They's cats behind that Iron fence that have every record I've ever made."

with a plank rated a shade stronger than the stand approved by Democrats in Chicago after a floor squabble.

Democrats, as the party out of White House power, liberally saluted and peppered their platform with criticisms of the Eisenhower administration that will blow forth again from sound trucks on the street corners of America in the months ahead.

Republicans, as the "ins" viewed the achievements of the last four years with sparkling pride and declared that "good times in America have reached a breadth and depth never before known by any nation."

ISSUES CONTRAST

On key issues, the two parties will bid for votes in November with these contrasting promises:

Agriculture—Republicans vowed to work for full parity prices for farmers through flexible supports and expanded markets. Democrats pledged the same high prices but through restoration of 90 per cent price supports and a combination of tools including direct government payments to farmers.

Foreign Policy—The GOP pledged to support Israel against military aggression but failed to promise arms. Democrats said the U. S. must send weapons to Israel so she can defend herself against Arab assaults.

Taxes—The "elephant" championed tax cuts for low and middle income families. The "donkey" stood for tax cuts via a $200 increase in personal income tax exemptions. Both called for tax reductions to aid small business.

Civil Rights—Republicans said the Supreme Court's school desegregation decision must be implemented. Democrats recognized the ruling as part of the law of the land. Both omitted force to carry out the decision. The GOP called for an end of job discrimination because of race or sex and endorsed the controversial Eisenhower legislative program to protect the rights of Negroes. Democrats favored a change in Senate rules to break filibusters, the weapons of southerners in fighting civil rights legislation.

Natural Resources—Republicans upheld the Eisenhower partnership of private enterprise and government in development of power. Democrats promised great new public power projects along the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Bonneville Power System.

Labor—The GOP wants revision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act for greater protection of the workers, the boss and the public. Democrats demanded repeal of the act because, they said, it provides the basis for union-opposed right-to-work laws.

Prosperity—Republicans vowed to continue and even enlarge the "good times" which they said have put nearly 67 million persons in full time jobs with record high personal income. Democrats charged that the GOP prosperity picture is "deceptive" because farmers, small business and minority groups do not share in high earnings. They promised to correct this.

Atomic Energy—The elephant's party called for an atomic peace ship to display nuclear advancement for civilian life. Democrats came out for a study of radiation hazards from bomb tests and charged that the GOP put the Atomic Energy Commission into politics.

Government Operations—Republicans vowed "unwavering vigilance against corruption and waste." Democrats demanded an end to "secrecy in government."

National Defense—The GOP said this nation has the "strongest striking force in the world" and promised to continue the defense build-up to deter any aggressor. Democrats accused Republicans of thinking more of dollars than defense and allowing the Air Force to fall behind that of Russia in rate of build-up. They said they would strengthen national security.

Buses May Escape Gasoline Tax Levy

LANSING UP—A special interim legislative committee is expected to recommend tax relief to help keep buses running in Michigan cities.

The committee's chairman, Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain), said yesterday he favors exempting bus operators from the 6-cent a gallon state gas tax and the license tax based on weights.

Most other committee members were expected to go along with Goulette's suggestion.

"We're going to have to cut taxes on these companies will go under," Goulette said.

The tax exemption would apply to both inter-city and intra-city buses. But it would not be granted companies making more than $15 per cent profit—a plan borrowed from the federal system.

Writing Shows Nation's Hurry

Little Thought Given to Developing Legible Handwriting in School

While penmanship may have been one of the three "R's" in the days of the little red schoolhouse, modern teaching methods have practically abolished the "Rit-ing" in many schools today.

And in many schools, little thought is given to the importance of developing clear and legible handwriting at an early age. Consequently, bad writing habits follow a person through life.

This is the considered opinion of Robert D. Howse, president of the Waterman Pen Co.

Howse believes that as a child begins forming his handwriting characteristics at the age of eight or nine when the development of his muscular control allows him to connect letters with flowing and rounded strokes, he should be given the advantage of a flexible nib point to help him develop better and more expressive penmanship. The average American, however, selects a stiff point when he purchases a fountain pen.

GOOD FOR SCRIBBLING
Such a point writes a uniform line with no variations in width. It is a perfect instrument for scribbling down a few notes, an illegible signature on a typewritten letter or check.

But the writing from such a point has as much individuality as a rubber stamp, according to Howse. He stresses that this is not a condemnation of his fellow Americans who don't win honors in penmanship.

It's just that we are so mechanized that we tend to underplay the importance of anything done by hand. Americans are a hurry-up-and-jot-it-down group, who are concerned with what they write rather than the way it looks after it is written.

"WE ARE REALISTS"
We are realists who accomplish much more during a working day than the European or the Latin who is as concerned with his handwriting as the American woman is about her makeup or the tilt of her hat.

The Europeans have exactly the opposite preferences in writing equipment.

Perhaps an equally important reason for the Europeans' ability to write well is the fact that he believes his personality is evident in his writing.

He is also more artistically inclined and less prone to be in a hurry.

Many European business men write their more important letters by hand and the sure way to lose a friend is to typewrite a personal letter.

'Can Do' Club Does

HAZLETON, Pa. — A self-improvement agency of this area proved already it has more than lived up to its name. The volunteer organization set up to bring new industry into the Hazleton section, has collected $682,654 to date in various enterprises. They call it the CAN-DO Drive.

THE FALL TALL LOOK—Minaret turban of long-haired felt in muted gold shade is a fall fashion. Rounded crown is studded with topaz and gold pheasant feather tips.

Court Orders Isolation Booth in Sanity Trial

LOS ANGELES (U) — A soundproof isolation booth will silence a violent, shouting defendant during the remainder of his sanity trial.

The booth was ordered by Superior Court Judge Clement D. Nye for the defendant, James Merkuris, 40. Merkuris was ordered bound and gagged Tuesday when he called the prosecutor an obscene name, then struck him in the face. Several times he has interrupted the trial with shouts and screams.

His sanity is being considered by a jury as a preliminary to his retrial for the 1954 murders of his former wife, Despine Forbes, 35, and her husband, former policeman Robert Forbes, 42. An earlier murder conviction was reversed.

The booth will have the occupant behind unbreakable glass. He will be able to hear courtroom proceedings via loudspeaker, but those on the outside won't be able to hear him.

He Sure Was Right: but He Has His Shirt

DETROIT (INS) — An elderly Detroit man who never trusted banks and took extra special care not to have his life savings stolen walked soberly into a police station last night to report the loss of $2,325—his life savings.

Henry Weil, 72, told officers of his distrust for banks and that he kept his money secreted in a garage which he operates. Having a hunch someone would steal his money, he tucked the hoard in his shirt when he went to eat dinner last evening. Weil said he was walking back to the garage when he noticed his shirt-tails sticking out.

The money was gone.

All This for (on) Time

WALTHAM, Mass.—A $1,000,000 center devoted to basic biochemical research, with special emphasis on glandular disorders, will be established here soon at Brandeis University.

Plenty of Fresh Produce Available at Good Prices

Warm days and cool nights are bringing even more garden-fresh vegetables to the food shopper's attention. This weather combination has improved sweet corn quality and increased the size of other Michigan crops.

VEGETABLES—Excellent supplies of corn and cucumbers are among the top favorites in the vegetable department.

Now fresh corn tastes depends upon how it has been cared for after harvest. More growers and storekeepers each year are making a special effort to improve sweet corn quality. In some cases, growers deliver direct to the store where the corn is chilled and sold within a day after picking.

Corn stays fresh longer if it is not husked, so keep it in the husks and keep it refrigerated at home. If the husks are removed before storing, keep the corn in a closed plastic bag.

At a seasonal low of 39 to 59 cents a dozen, sweet corn will fill the need for a yellow vegetable in the menu.

Slicing cucumbers are about five to seven cents each. The smart shopper always checks to see that cucumbers are firm, smooth-skinned, a good green color, and fairly straight, says Mrs. Josephine Sawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent.

Cucumbers for pickling will be most economical when bought from the grower. Cucumbers that are about 3 1/2 to 4 inches long with a diameter from 1 to 1 1/4 inch are a good size for bread and butter pickles. For chunk and dill pickles, cucumbers about 5 inches long are a desirable size.

FRUITS—It's a natural thing to put out a thumb and pick out a plum for the market basket. Plums of every variety—red, green, yellow, orange and blue are stacked on the produce counters at very attractive prices.

Early apples cook into many tempting dishes, not the least of which is the first apple pie of the season. According to Karl Bailey, District Horticultural Agent in this area, the Duchess variety which is best suited for pies and sauce is now in its peak of supply and quality.

It's time to enjoy Michigan peaches again. More of the Red Haven variety are in evidence this week at about 5 to 7 cents per pound in many stores. Red Haven peaches have a deep yellow background color with a natural red blush which practically covers the peach. Peach prices are related to their size, the larger diameter peaches rating the higher price.

MEATS—Choice grades of beef are costing more than they did in early August. Beef with less finish, and of less tender cuts can prove a better buy. Lower grades of beef are more plentiful at this time. However, if properly prepared they score high in eating pleasure and just as high in good food value.

Perhaps one of the modern young roasters can fit into the menu pattern. These young 4 to 5 pound birds are versatile enough to broil, fry, bake or roast. Notice the large amount of white meat, the broad breast, and thick meaty appearance of the new type roasters.

Spareribs, always a summer favorite are still reasonably priced for the season at about 39 to 40 cents per pound in many stores. Rib end loin roast and Boston Butt are also excellent choices for pork barbecue or roast. Shoppers will find these pork cuts on the good value list this week.

The skin on the human abdomen has twice the elasticity of skin on the back.

Gold-Plated Blades Boon to Jet's Life?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U-P)—Scientists at Battelle Memorial Institute here believe gold-plated turbine blades may increase the life and operating efficiency of jet engines. The institute reports that experiments show a thin plating of gold helps protect turbine blade metals from deteriorating at high temperatures.

Many turbine blades are made in part from molybdenum, a metal that corrodes at high temperatures. At 1800 F., the institute reports, the molybdenum burns rapidly, forming a gaseous compound. The discovery was made during a research program for the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

Homesteading Ends

HELENA, Mont. (U-P)—The era of homesteading in Montana, which began with the passage of the Homestead Act in 1862, is virtually ended. R. D. Nielson, supervisor of the Bureau of Land Management office at Billings, said that nearly all remaining federal land in the state is of such low productive capacity that it will not support a family unit.

Only eight of the first edition of "The Journal of Major George Washington," are in existence. It was printed in Williamsburg, Va., in 1754.

Typewriters Help Children Gain Better School Marks

Planning ahead to the typewriter you'll give your child as a far-off graduation reward?

Think again. You may be wise to give it to him now, for there is a good chance he'll stand higher in his class on that graduation day because of it.

A classic study of nearly 15,000 school children showed school children who use typewriters improved in spelling, vocabulary, reading, ease of expression and—surprisingly enough—in handwriting and arithmetic.

Five or six years of age is not too young to begin the regular use of a typewriter at home. Modern portables can be easily understood and operated by a child.

RIBBON CHANGE HARD

Heretofore, the only difficult operation was the changing of a ribbon, often a messy and frustrating job, even for an adult.

Now one company, Royal, has cleared that up with a clean and easy ribbon changer. Even a child can switch ribbons in five or 10 seconds, handling only the spools, never the ribbon itself.

The earlier a child starts typing the better. The simple act of striking keys is not tiring, leaving the child able to complete his thoughts on paper.

The fact, the studies showed, improves children's ability to express themselves, and the length and quality of their compositions.

Children with learning problems—slow readers, retarded children, left-handers, and children with poor muscular coordination—have been shown to benefit in some degree from the use of the typewriter. Don't worry about your child's method of typing. Naturally the young child will learn to type by the hunt-and-peck method.

A special experiment showed that, when the time comes, these children can learn the touch system of typing much faster than those who have never used the typewriter.

Just give him access to a portable and let him learn with it. Your reward will be his better marks.

Peanut Butter
Still a Favorite

Stimulates the Appetite of School Children—and It's Healthy

There's something about going to school that seems to stimulate youngsters' appetites. No matter how hearty the lunch, an after-school snack is just about inevitable.

A universal favorite with almost every youngster is a peanut butter sandwich and a glass of milk. Nutritionally, it outranks by far many more costly and pretentious foods. It is rich in protein, is a generous supplier of minerals, and is a very good source of B-complex vitamins, especially niacin.

Experts have prepared and tested countless recipes for using peanut butter for wonderful sandwiches.

Here are some of their suggestions:

1. Use all kinds of bread for making peanut butter sandwiches—white, whole wheat, rye, raisin or Boston brown bread. Occasionally, to add variety, use two or more kinds together. Bread a day old with a firm, even texture will cut in thin, neat slices.

2. For variety of flavor, any of the following fruits, combined with peanut butter, will make delicious sandwiches:

(a) Tart apple, chopped fine and moistened with a little mayonnaise.

(b) Chopped figs, dates, prunes, candied or dried fruits, mixed to a paste with a little orange, lemon or other fruit juice.

3. Combine one-third cup of piccalilli with one-third cup of peanut butter for another delicious spread.

4. Spread one slice of bread with peanut butter and lightly spread the second slice with butter or margarine and then with canned jellied whole cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly.

Adlai Welcomes Ike to Presidential Race, Sights on Nixon, Republican Congress

By ERNEST R. VACCARO
LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson picked Vice President Nixon and Republican differences in Congress as he welcomed President Eisenhower's renomination and the opportunity "to be matched against him again."

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke sarcastically of Harold E. Stassen's final support of Nixon's renomination and declared he supposed "we will now witness the greatest dry cleaning job in our political history."

Stevenson spokesmen said this was a reference to Nixon's style of campaigning and frequent Democratic complaints that Eisenhower's running mate is the GOP "hatchet man."

The biting statement came from Stevenson's farm home near here shortly before midnight. He had just completed a conference lasting several hours with James E. Finnegan, his campaign manager, and Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

They talked over a campaign drive envisioning one of the heaviest speech-making tours ever attempted by a White House candidate.

Stevenson is expected to announce shortly a campaign organization in which Clayton Fritchey, former Cleveland and New Orleans newspaper executive and deputy national chairman, will be his top press secretary.

Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, his vice presidential running mate, start out next Monday at Santa Fe, N.M., on the first of a series of conferences with Democratic state and local leaders.

His statement struck out at Stassen, Eisenhower's special assistant for disarmament, for seconding Nixon's nomination at San Francisco yesterday after his stop-

Nixon drive collapsed. And it sought to put ridicule on the failure of Nebraska delegate Terry Carpenter to nominate someone else in his stead.

"As to the cynical Republican ceremonies; well, we almost had someone named Joe Smith to thank for almost keeping the convention almost open," Stevenson said. "As it turned out the only way Mr. Stassen could get a chance to speak to this exciting open convention was to second Nixon's nomination."

"I suppose we will now witness the greatest dry cleaning job in our political history."

Stevenson began by saying he congratulated Eisenhower on his nomination and "I am pleased to be matched against him again."

"It is no secret that I look forward to this contest and I am glad he finds himself able to be the Republican candidate," he said.

Then, with a dig at Republican division over some issues in Congress, the Democratic nominee suggested the Republicans give Eisenhower better support in an election than they do his program.

"Although President Eisenhower got a unanimous nomination from the Republican convention, time and again he could not get even a majority of the Republican members of Congress to support his measures," he continued.

"Evidently, the Republicans like him better as a candidate than as a leader."

Stevenson worked at his home today with national committee promotion experts on some of the

Sizzling Fishin' Worm — 39 Inch Rattler

ALTOONA, Pa. (AP)—Three-year-old Mares Mannion looked down from her swing. "Mama, look at the fishing worm that is sizzling!" she called.

"Mama's right, it is sizzling," called Joel, 4½.

But when Mrs. Mannion came to look she knew better. The sizzling fishing worm was a rattlesnake — 39 inches long, with six rattles.

A neighbor shot the rattler with a target pistol after it had slithered and "sizzled" about the Mannion lawn for a while.

Social Security Change to Hike Benefits for County Folks by $120,000 a Month

The Congressional lowering of the Social Security retirement benefit age of women to 62 will result in a $120,000 monthly increase in payments issued by the Pontiac Social Security Administration office, Gilbert G. Gallivan, assistant district manager said yesterday.

Gallivan said the local office has received 90 applications for early payments and that 3,000 are expected by February of next year.

The new law, signed by President Eisenhower Aug. 1, provides for monthly benefits to retired women workers, wives and widows three years earlier if they desire.

These benefits will be reduced by 30 per cent for retired workers and wives, Gallivan said, but not for widows. He said it narrowed down to whether the women wanted the reduced benefits earlier or desired to wait for full benefits payable at 65 years. The Social Security official said applicants' checks would be in the mail in December as the new law doesn't become effective until Nov. 1.

He added that applicants must present proof of their age and wives should be accompanied by their husbands who must sign a marriage certificate.

The new retirement benefit age was reached from extensive surveys which showed that women between 55 and 64 leave the labor force two and one-half times faster than men.

The law will amount to $1 million more monthly payments in Michigan, Gallivan stated.

Planning Group Discusses County Farm Problems

Agriculture in Oakland County held the spotlight in yesterday's meeting of the County Planning Commission.

Purpose of the meeting was to enable commission members to "better understand farm problems and be better able to prepare a county land use."

Lytle Abel, county agricultural agent, and Roger Oberg, a member of the commission and agriculture instructor in the Oxford schools, led the discussion concerning Oakland County farms.

The two speakers discussed the trends in numbers, size and production of farms. "In the last ten years the number of farms in the county have decreased from 3,054 to 2,064, sizes have decreased and so have crops," Oberg told the commission.

In summing up the past, present and future role farms will play in the country, Abel traced the work handled from his office, and how planning, conservation and co-operative extension programs might be brought closer together as the county changes from a rural to urban economy.

Oberg discussed a possible tax rate to induce farmers to stay with their farms. "Now many farmers are required to pay high taxes to pay for the things that nearby subdivisions require—such as schools, paved roads, etc."

"I would like to see a tax system where the farmers get a rebate if they stay with their farms. I don't know if such a thing is legal."

Walter Cook, office manager for the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee, who planned to speak at the meeting, was unable to attend.

State Airports Share $250 Million Grant

WASHINGTON — Air navigation and traffic control equipment worth nearly a million dollars will be installed in five Michigan cities during the next 18 months under a new three-year government construction program. The Civil Aeronautics Administration yesterday announced nearly 200 sites throughout the nation for installation of the latest types of equipment in the new project. Altogether, the government will spend 250 million dollars in the three years in its program to increase aviation safety and prepare airports for the jet plane age.

Michigan's initial share will be spent at Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Grand Rapids and Grand Marais. The CAA said contracts will be let by November and installation of some of the less complicated equipment should be started by late spring.

Looting House of All but Sink Brings $50 Fine

GRAND RAPIDS — Charles Bell, 24, made off with nearly everything but the kitchen sink when he invaded a house where dismantling operations were under way.

Patrolman Ed Cole said he gave chase in his patrol car when he spotted Bell making off with fixtures from the house. The door of Bell's car flew open, Cole said, and, piece by piece, out tumbled a complete bathroom suite—wash bowl, bathtub and toilet. Cole caught up with Bell and drove back along the path of the chase to retrieve the stolen fixtures. Bell, charged with larceny, was fined $50 in Police Court yesterday.

Extend Court Order Against FSBA Foes

Extension to Sept. 7 of an injunction restraining a splinter group of dairy farmers from interfering with the Fair Share Bargaining has been handed down by Carl M. Weideman, Wayne County Circuit Court judge.

The insurgents, headed by Homer Martin who was fired as an FSBA advisor in April, will be asked on that day to show cause why the injunction shouldn't be made permanent, Judge Weideman said.

The injunction forbids Martin and three others from representing themselves as FSBA officials to collect money or call meetings. Also named in the order are Arnold J. Wyss of Capac, and Samuel Ballo and Leon Van Bonn of South Lyon.

The group bolted the FSBA in a row over labor affiliation.

Network Expects Ed Sullivan Back on Air Sept. 16

NEW YORK — CBS said yesterday that Ed Sullivan expects to be back on his television show Sunday, Sept. 16.

Sullivan is in Grace-New Haven Community Hospital, New Haven, Conn. He was admitted Monday night after a physician noted a slight rise in his temperature. His temperature was reported down to normal yesterday.

The temperature rise had been noted by a physician treating the 53-year-old Sullivan at his Southbury, Conn., home for a fractured rib and a lung bruise suffered in an auto collision in Connecticut Aug. 6.

Sullivan's son-in-law, Robert Precht Jr., 26, of Scarsdale, N.Y., also injured in the collision, was admitted to the hospital in New Haven last night for further treatment of an ankle fracture.

Precht was operated on at the Griffin Hospital, Derby, Conn., after the accident. He and Sullivan were later discharged from that hospital.

Ex-Policeman Admits Selling Dope in Detroit

DETROIT — Clarence E. Wilson, former Detroit narcotics bureau patrolman, pleaded guilty yesterday to selling heroin in violation of federal law.

Wilson, 37, was accused of selling three ounces of heroin for $450 to federal narcotics agents Nov. 19. He also faces charges as a co-conspirator in another narcotics case involving 15 persons, including two other ex-policemen, William Frank, 36, and Henry Marzette, 28.

Federal Judge Frank W. Picard continued Wilson's $10,000 bond and ordered a pre-sentence probation report.

Bridge Cost Too High, Claims Designer

The charge that the building of the Mackinac bridge is costing Michigan taxpayers unnecessary millions of dollars because of "extravagant strength," was made by Dr. D. B. Steinman, designer of the span, last night.

Speaking before Les Cheneaux Chamber of Commerce in Cedarville, along with many other leading Mackinac Bridge officials, Dr. Steinman reflected the tenor of his talk with the title, "The Bridge That Couldn't Be Built."

"Doubting Thomas," declared the speaker, "said the project was impossible." He said these scoffers delayed the building of such a bridge because it cost too much, financing was impossible, foundation difficulties were insurmountable and storms and high winds would destroy it.

These were all surpassed, Dr. Steinman added.

The bridge, including bond interest during construction, will cost $99,800,000, Dr. Steinman said, and this figure establishes a new record for the magnitude and difficulty of a bridge project.

Comparing it with the next two biggest suspension bridges, the Golden Gate and George Washington, Dr. Steinman said the Mackinac bridge cost is greater than that of the other two bridges combined.

To please "the scoffers," several "extravagant" safety features were built into the bridge, the speaker stated.

The foundations contain more than 800,000 tons of concrete and steel and "they will be more enduring than pyramids. Piers and anchorages were generously designed with a large safety factor against the greatest conceivable ice pressure, and the bridge will withstand the highest possible wind pressure.

"We have adopted unnecessary precaution and they have cost unnecessary millions of dollars. But that's the price we had to pay to sell some people that the bridge was feasible at all."

Len Hall to Boss Joint Campaign

GOP Chairman to Put Strong Accent on Youth in Re-election Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—A man who has won every election in which he was a candidate, is the mutual choice today of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon to direct their joint campaigning for re-election.

He's Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican national committee, who will be renamed to that post by the newly elected committee when it organized Friday. It will be the first time in remembered political history that one man ran the campaigns of both presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

hower - Nixon ticket. The "old course, in advisory roles but many a youngster will be out directing the political battles in the front-row trenches.

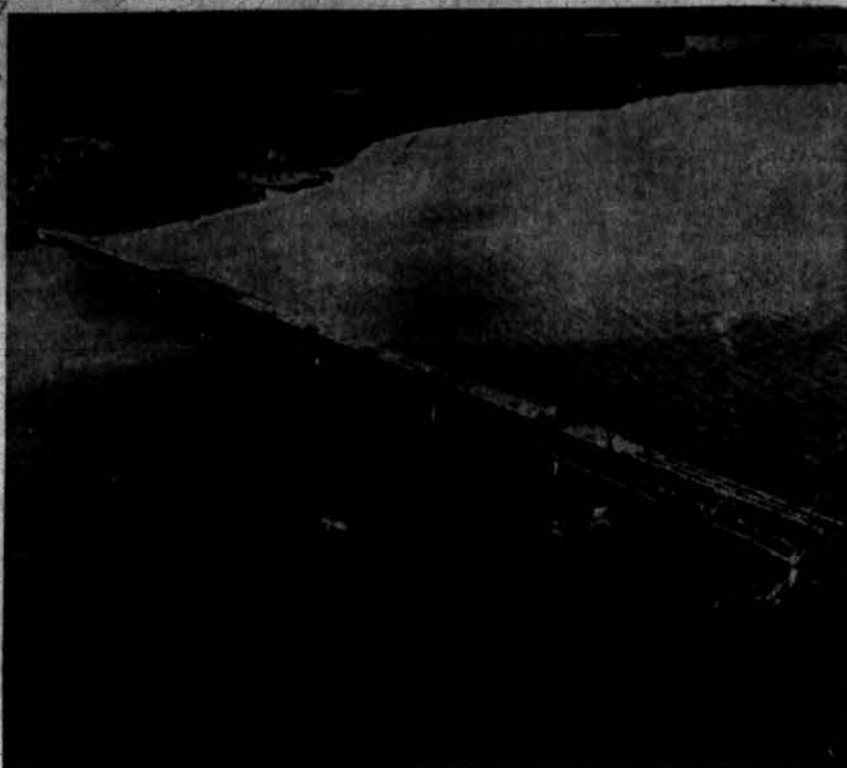

Hall is putting a strong accent on "youth" and "new faces" in his plans for re-electing the Eisenhower - Nixon ticket. The "old guard" will be retained, of course, in advisory roles but many a youngster will be out directing the political battles in the front-row trenches.

Hall started in New York politics in 1923 when only 23 years old. He was elected four times to the New York State Assembly, seven times to Congress, and also as sheriff and surrogate of his home (Nassau) County in N. Y. In 1932, he traveled 32,000 miles with Ike as his train manager.

Now Hall smiles all the time. And here's one reason for it. Not too long ago, the Republicans lost two special congressional elections and Hall went to the White House to talk to Ike about it. He was grim and his face was grim. A little while after he got back to his office, the President phoned him and said:

"Len, get that smile back on your face."

There are 65,000 sawmills in the U.S.

AERIAL VIEW SHOWS PROGRESS—Already extending one-half mile into the Straits of Mackinac, the first nine of the 16 south approach spans of the Mackinac Bridge have been partially completed.

Twelve similar spans will connect the suspension bridge portion, the world's largest, between cable anchorages.

Juliana Boots Out Her Faith Healer

LONDON (INS)—Queen Juliana of Holland was reported today to have banished faith healer Greet Hofmans from the royal court and reconciled with her husband, Prince Bernhard.

The London Daily Express said the royal couple will fly to Cortu tomorrow to join 82 European princelings and bluebloods as guests of the king and queen of Greece on a royal cruise.

The scheduled travelers were said to also include Juliana's daughters, Irene and Benxtrix. The gossip at Cortu has been that this may be Juliana's last voyage as queen—that she may abdicate in favor of 18-year-old Benxtrix. The talk followed reports that the Dutch palace was split over Juliana's association with faith healer Hofmans.

Baldwin Rubber to Stop Noises

Firm President Says Project Will Be Done by End of Year

The Baldwin Rubber Co. is undertaking a $30,000 project to eliminate noises coming from the plant which have raised numerous complaints from residents in the South Boulevard neighborhood.

Milo D. McIntock, firm president, said installation of the many valves and filters to prevent steam from escaping into the air would be completed by the end of the year.

He said the noise complaints, which had sent citizens scurrying to the City Commission in May, would be stopped with these new devices.

"The company that sold us the equipment said the noise would be reduced to a volume that the people won't know the plant is operating," McIntock said.

In answer to the complaints which began in November 1955, the city had prepared a noise ordinance establishing limits of industrial noises permissible in Pontiac.

City Manager W. K. Willman said the ordinance would be held in abeyance pending completion of the firm's project.

McIntock added that the ejection of dust from the plant had been eliminated by repair of a "faulty piece of equipment."

The steam muffling devices permit the re-use of the steam, resulting from the manufacturing of automobile floor mats, for further production, the president said.

Auto Rams Guard Rails, Drayton Woman Injured

A 23-year-old woman escaped serious injury when her car left Clarkston-Orion road and rammed several guard rails and a tree yesterday afternoon in Independence Township.

Ann J. Fritz, of Drayton Plains, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that she lost control on a curve. She was treated for leg cuts at Pontiac General Hospital, authorities said.

Receives Head Injuries When Auto Hits Pole

Minor head injuries were suffered by a 25-year-old driver whose car skidded across Baldwin avenue and rammed a utility pole at the city limits early today.

Reed E. Smoot, of 4775 Baldwin Ave., was treated and released at Pontiac General Hospital, authorities said.

Expect Protest on Drain Rates

Southfield and Troy Officials May Seek Lower Charges

Two townships may register protests at a meeting of the Twelve-Town Drain Board which began at 10 a.m. today in the County Office Building.

Southfield and Troy Township officials have indicated they think they are being charged too much in the $38,581,000 drainage project planned in South Oakland County.

The project is designed to halt flooding in 14 communities by diverting storm water into the Red Run ditch, according to Ashton J. Berst, project coordinator.

Berst and Oakland County Drain Commissioner, Ralph A. Main, were at the meeting.

Most of the communities involved have accepted their share of the total cost. It is expected that a date would be set today for a public hearing on the allocations.

Estes Rests With Folks After Tough Week

BLOWING ROCK, N.C. — Estes Kefauver, admittedly "over-tired" from last week's Democratic National Convention at Chicago, rested with his family and admitted the mountain scenery at this resort today, while his press secretary fended off newsmen and the curious.

F8U1 Navy Jet: —1,000 M. P. H.

Cmdr. R. W. Windsor
Screams Over Mojave
Desert Test Area

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy confirmed today that a new American speed record has been set by one of its F8U-1 jet fighters which traveled more than 1,000 miles an hour.

The Navy statement said the record was set over the Mojave Desert Tuesday in a plane piloted by Commander Robert W. Windsor.

The flight shatters the old U.S. mark for combat planes of 822 m.p.h. set by Air Force Colonel Horace A. Hanes in a P-1090 "Super-Sabre" last fall.

A Navy spokesman said only that Windsor flew his craft over 1,000 m.p.h. but short of the 1,132 m.p.h. world record established by a British Delta-wing research plane last spring.

He added the exact speed of the flight would be disclosed at the national air show in Oklahoma City during the first week of September.

It was understood that Windsor who is stationed at the Patuxent, Md. Naval Air Station was under orders not to press the plane to its top speed.

Georgia Park Picked for Aid by Government

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Interior Department has announced that four National Park system areas in Georgia are scheduled for development and improvement under the National Park Services "mission 66" program at an estimated cost of $2,500,000.

National Park Service Director Conrad Wirth said plans for the areas include $1,040,000 for buildings and utilities and $1,460,000 for roads and trails.

The areas are Fort Frederica, Ocmulgee, Fort Pulaski national monuments, and Kennesaw Mountain National Battlefield Park.

Wirth said that $258,000 of the estimated amount to be spent in Georgia is included in the 1957 department appropriation act to get the 10-year, "mission 66" program started there.

The program, scheduled for completion by 1966, said Wirth, must give priority to the most urgent needs within the entire national park service and, therefore, "some of the Georgia area projects may have to be deferred in the early years of the program."

Veteran Detroit Fireman Heads State Program

ANN ARBOR (U)—William B. Burr, veteran Detroit fireman, will take over Sept. 1 as head of a statewide program of industrial fire control.

Burr, 49, will join the University of Michigan extension service in his new role, working directly with industry and municipal fire departments. Among his duties will be establishment of industrial fire brigades, composed of factory employees, to deal with fire hazards at individual plants.

Her Eyes Are Fixed on Washington

Jacqueline Cochrane Fights for Old Dream

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Way back in the days when Jacqueline Cochrane was a teenager with scarcely anything to do but run her own business and fly airplanes like a bat out of the belfry, she did a lot of thinking.

What she thought most ardently was: "Someday when I'm old enough and smart enough I'm going to run for Congress and do something about the mess this country's in."

The country has gotten into and out of thousands of messes while Jacqueline was getting smart, breaking aeronautical records and making big money; but now she's ready.

"I feel that I am sufficiently old," she says, "and the time has come to run. Of course, when I got this dream, the Democrats were in power and they had just started the NRA which was killing my business and all the other small industries, and I was mad. 'Now I am just enthusiastic.'"

VERY REPUBLICAN

Miss Cochrane is emphatically Republican.

She was sitting perky in a suite at the St. Francis Hotel, receiving Republican friends who are on her side in her struggle to win the congressional seat of the Imperial Valley district in California, where she lives with her husband, war ace Floyd Odlum.

183 Million Visits to National Parks

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Interior Department has reported a record high of more than 183,000,000 visits to state parks in 46 states during 1935.

An annual survey by the National Park Service showed a 10 per cent increase over the 166,000,000 in 1934.

Since 1930, the department said, attendance has increased more than 60 per cent.

States reporting more than 5,000,000 visitors at their parks last year were California, Illinois, Iowa, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon and Pennsylvania.

"That man," she said amiably, closing the door on the last guest of the afternoon, "was the owner of the 40,000th hand I've shaken in the last month. I've recent influx of farm workers will aid the male Democrat opponent."

MALE TYPE OF LIFE

"I don't honestly think the fact that I'm a woman will hurt my chances any, because I have always conducted my life on a man's scale," she said.

She holds many world speed records for aircraft, was the only woman to fly the Atlantic in a plane, 33,000 miles and walked an average of six miles a day in this campaign, and I think I'm going to make it.

"But then," she smiled self-consciously, "maybe I kid myself. Politics is a fickle business, and you can't wage this kind of a campaign without being optimistic about your chances."

Friends say that Miss Cochrane's barnstorming ballot-raising technique has been peculiarly effective in certain areas of the wealthy agricultural district she hopes to represent; but a great bomber, the first woman to break the sound barrier in a jet.

She has also owned and managed a farm for 21 years and is one of the nation's leading businesswomen with her cosmetics factory which for 25 years has turned out powders and paints that have left her well off—financially.

"I combated five men in the primaries and, as you see, I am now down to one Democratic opponent," Miss Cochrane thought about that for a moment. Then: "You know, I'm proud of that. I've never been a joiner, and I've never even run for dog-catcher."

I saved the old outstretched palm for the big chance.

CAREFUL ANALYSIS

"I promise only one thing, if I'm elected. I will analyze carefully every matter that comes before me and, to the best of my conscience and the best interests of the nation, I will vote. I will not be a slavish follower of anything or anybody."

Considering her personal history, that last sentence must just about sum up the life philosophy of Jacqueline Cochrane.

About 1,200 lives are lost in boating accidents a year, or a total of seven fatalities for each one million persons in the population.

When There's a Law—You Get Around It

NICHOLASVILLE, Ky. (UP)—It looked like a losing battle for Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reynolds when their farm home near here caught fire.

They fought the blaze in the basement with a garden hose after putting in a phone call for help.

But a city ordinance prohibits taking the fire truck out of town—and the Reynolds knew it.

Soon, however, Fire Chief Walter Brumfield and several of his men showed up and quickly put out the flames.

The ordinance confining the fire truck to town didn't say a word against volunteer firemen leaving without it.

Washing Machines Easy for Young Miss to Run

Back in the wringer washing machine days, children received good experience in group living. They helped to heat the water, turn the crank on the machine and spread the clothes on the lawn to bleach in the sun.

It's a safe bet that many a

Cool Collection of Hot Day Drinks

Feature From Home Editor

You can plan on some member of your family wanting a tall cool drink every day in hot weather. Some families consume prodigious amounts of milk; others drink gallons of soft drinks; still others like iced tea or iced coffee.

Mixed drinks a little out of the ordinary are always welcome. Most of these have some kind of a fruit base.

This one that uses frozen pineapple chunks is truly refreshing. It's one you can serve at any time of year, as you can use concentrated mint if fresh mint is not available.

Golden GateFizz
1 12-oz. can or 1 12-oz. package frozen pineapple chunks
1 egg white
About 13 mint leaves or 3 drops concentrated mint
Orange soda

Combine pineapple and mint leaves (or concentrated mint); put through sieve or food mill. Beat egg white stiff but not dry; fold in pineapple mixture. Divide among 4 tall glasses.

Fill each glass with ice cold orange soda. Stir gently to mix. Top each glass with a sprig of mint.

Adding fresh berries as a garnish to drinks made with soft drink powders is a new idea. Use blueberries or blackberries with lemon-lime or orange, and raspberries with others.

Berry Beverage
1 package strawberry soft drink powder
2 quarts cold water (or water with ice cubes)

3 to 3½ cups sugar

Dissolve soft drink powder in water. Add sugar and mix well. Makes two quarts.

Combine deep pink watermelon, scarlet strawberries, golden peaches and red raspberries with bottled soft drinks. Presto—amazing, tall, fruit coolers to take your mind off the thermometer.

Peach Ginger Cooler
1½ cups finely diced peaches
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon ginger
3 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup sugar
4 (7-ounce) bottles ginger ale
4 thin orange slices

Mix the peaches, nutmeg, ginger, lemon juice, sugar together. Mash lightly and mix well. Chill. When ready to serve, put ice cubes in each of 4 tall glasses.

Add a bottle of ginger ale to each glass. Spoon in 3 tablespoons of peaches and juice. Garnish with orange slices.

Watermelon Cooler
1½ cups diced watermelon

3 tablespoons finely cut fresh mint
3 tablespoons sugar
4 (7-ounce) bottles chilled lemon-lime soda.

Mix the watermelon, mint and sugar together. Mash lightly together. Chill. When ready to serve, place 3 ice cubes in each of 4 tall glasses.

Pour a bottle of lemon-lime soda over the ice. Add 3 tablespoons of watermelon-mint mixture to each glass.

Raspberry Orange Cooler
1 pint fresh raspberries
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
4 (7-ounce) bottles carbonated orange soda.

Wash raspberries; drain. Add sugar and almond extract to raspberries and mash together lightly. Chill mixture.

When ready to serve, place ice cubes in each of 4 tall glasses. Add a bottle of carbonated orange soda to each glass. Spoon in 3 tablespoons raspberries and juice. Garnish with orange slices.

For milk drinks you can use the new milkshake powders that have become so popular this summer. Use the chocolate or strawberry flavors if you like them. Experiment a bit with the vanilla flavor.

Add a cut-up peach and mix it in the mixer or blender. Add maple flavoring or peppermint. Use fresh cherries and crush them before adding to the shake.

The next time you go on a picnic take along a soda kit. In an insulated thermos bag take milk, a carbonated beverage and ice cream. Fortify the bag's cold keeping qualities with dry ice. Take quick cocoa powder for the people who like chocolate sodas.

Quick Chocolate Soda
3 heaping teaspoons quick cocoa powder
Small amount of milk
1 scoop vanilla ice cream
Chilled ginger ale

Combine quick cocoa powder and milk in a tall glass. Add vanilla ice cream. Fill slowly with chilled ginger ale or other carbonated beverage. Yield: 1 soda.

Combine Chili Sauce With Peanut Butter

Until you've tried it you'll never believe how good chunk-style or creamy peanut butter mixed with a little chili sauce can be. It's a favorite with the men.

You might try it next time you want a quick and easy canape spread. Sprinkle a little salt over the canape if you like things extra salty.

Tasty Soup Nibbles

A tasty soup garnish is an easy treat when you spread snippets of crisp toast with deviled ham. Float on clear and cream soups or serve with jellied and cold soups as a side nibble.

GOLDEN GATE FIZZ — Here's a tall, frosty drink that is truly different. Mint (fresh or concentrated oil of mint) and pineapple are mixed with stiffly beaten egg white. This mixture is combined with cold orange soda pop. The result is a beverage with "snow" on top.

Onion Soup Mix Good Teammate for Hamburgers

Onion-Layered Hamburgers

½ pound (½ cup) butter or margarine
1 package (1½ ounces) prepared onion soup mix

1 pound ground chuck beef
Have butter soft enough to cream; mix thoroughly with dry onion soup mix; chill.

At serving time, make eight thin patties of ground beef; put 1½ tablespoons of the butter mixture on the centers of 4 of the patties; top with remaining patties; work edges together well with fingers to seal.

Brown hamburgers in a little butter or margarine in a heavy skillet and cook to desired doneness.

Remove patties from skillet. Add a little water to drippings in skillet; stir well and heat; pour over hamburgers. Makes 4 servings.

Store remaining butter-onion mixture in a covered jar in the refrigerator for use another time.

Adding fresh berries as a garnish to drinks made with soft drink powders is a new idea.

Use blueberries or blackberries with lemon-lime or orange, and raspberries with others.

1 package strawberry soft drink powder
2 quarts cold water (or water with

Ripen Green Tomatoes
If tomatoes are not ripe when bought at the store, keep them in a dry place, either light or dark at a temperature of from 55 to 70 degrees F. for a day or two. Mrs. Josephine Lawler, Consumer Marketing Information agent says ripening tomatoes on a sunny window sill is a poor practice, for excessive sunlight prevents normal color and sometimes makes the tomatoes splintery. Placing under-ripe tomatoes in the refrigerator stops the ripening and makes the tomatoes watery.

CHERRY PINEAPPLE PARFAIT — Lusciously cool — elegant to look upon — blended to the very taste of summer is a tall, tall parfait. Here spoonful of a mid-summer ice cream specialty, Cherry-Pineapple, are alternated with pineapple and cherry sauces to make one of the easiest and prettiest of party desserts. Top with a maraschino cherry — and serve with pride.

Refreshing Soup Shake Is Beverage Headliner

Beverage news is being made these days by a drink called Soup Shake!

Chill a can of condensed cream of chicken, cream of mushroom, or cream of celery or tomato soup. Add a soup can of milk or water and mix to a froth in a shaker, electric mixer or blender. Garnish a tall glass of this cool refreshment with a lemon or lime slice, or sprig of mint.

Distinctive Relish

Relish Adds Zip to Potato Salad

A favorite salad that is all the more tempting because of the addition of pickles is potato. At picnic planning time, potato salad always manages to appear on the menu. The next time you're preparing it, why not vary the flavor by using hot dog relish instead of straight mustard. Hot dog relish, as you know, is that tasty combination of yellow mustard and pickle relish.

Picnic Potato Salad

4 medium (approximately 3 cups) diced, cooked potatoes
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 radishes, sliced
1 tablespoon vinegar

2 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 cup Hot Dog Relish
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
Combine first 5 ingredients. Chill in refrigerator several hours. Add remaining ingredients; chill. Makes 4-6 servings.

Note: For variation, add 1/4 cup chopped onion and 1/2 cup chopped cucumber. Or instead of hot dog relish, try hamburger relish. It combines tomato with pickle.

Milk Is Important

In good reducing diets, milk is always included. This should be a clue, says Mrs. Josephine Lawler to how important milk is in every day living. With milk being sold in so many different ways, it should be easy to use four cups a day for children, three cups daily for adults.

Tomatoes Reach Peak Season

We're at the "something extra" time of year, so far as most of our favorite vegetables are concerned. That something extra is the improved flavor that comes from freshness, and the short trip from garden to store to table. One of the vegetables that gives you most of that extra something is tomatoes. Tomatoes are good at almost any time of year, no matter where they're grown. But there's no doubt about it, tomatoes are at their best when they're allowed to ripen thoroughly on the vine. Of course, when they get completely ripe on the vine, tomatoes are delicate; the flesh gets soft, and the skin on a tomato is about as thin as skin can be. Ripe tomatoes just aren't built for rough handling. But oooooooh! That flavor! To make certain that the wonderful summertime flavor of homegrown, vine-ripened tomatoes gets to your table, just pretend you're handling a baby, from the moment you pick out your tomatoes at the store. Look for tomatoes that are free from blemishes and cracks. If you do your shopping at a self-service store, see that the tomatoes get a ride on the top of the cart, with nothing piled on top of them. "Baby" them to the check-out counter, and all the way home. Tomatoes will keep longer if you put them in the refrigerator when you get them home.

However, if you intend to use them right away, a few hours refrigeration won't make much difference. The governing thing then is whether you prefer the flavor of tomatoes chilled or at room temperature.

Zucchini Squash Tasty
One of the tastiest of summer vegetables is the squash called Zucchini, and it is at its best when the bright green peel is left on slices that are cut about one-quarter inch thick and fried in Spanish olive oil. A garlic clove can be fried in the oil along with the squash for extra flavor.

Recipe trick: next time you make chocolate souffle, butter the sides of the souffle dish and then sprinkle them with granulated sugar.

Seasonal Foods Now Available the Year Round

It just isn't possible these days to guess the season of the year by what you see on the dinner table. It used to be that we had fried chicken only in summer; now it's plentiful all year.

Tomatoes, head lettuce, and many other vegetables are grown and harvested somewhere in the United States every month of the year. Even the foods that were associated traditionally with a single holiday now are common and increasingly popular right around the calendar.

Turkey and cranberries are associated with our reverent and joyous observance of Thanksgiving. And they carry a happy sentiment of thankfulness and the pleasure of good eating to a meal at any other time of the year.

Turkey growers are delivering the first of their new crop of turkeys, and there's still an abundance of old crop cranberries to go with the turkey, in the form of canned cranberry sauce.

Just as cranberry sauce breaks away from the tied-to-Thanksgiving tradition, it also is breaking away from the tied-to-turkey pattern.

More and more homemakers are recognizing that cranberry sauce's unique tangy sweetness makes it a delightful accompaniment to other meats, such as pork and veal, and a wonderful relish to top hamburgers and other meat sandwiches. The sprightly cranberry flavor makes it especially welcome in hot weather.

HONEY CHOCOLATE SAUCE—Want a chocolate sauce that is smooth and creamy and never crystallizes? Make it with honey. Keep some on hand for warm summer evenings when you want a snack with TV.

Honey Makes Smoother Sauce

Nothing tops off a family evening together as much as a serving of ice cream topped with chocolate sauce.

After the TV set is turned on or the family game table set up, highlight the evening with a dish of ice cream and a bowl of chocolate sauce that you've stirred up yourself.

Only this time make your sauce with honey. No more worrying about a crystalline mess if you use honey.

Honey Chocolate Sauce is simple to make—and it is creamy and smooth to eat. Make it in the afternoon and have it ready for a surprise treat for the evening. When ready to serve just heat it and serve warm.

Honey Chocolate Sauce

1 tablespoon corn starch
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup butter
6 marshmallows
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Mix cornstarch and cocoa in pan, add enough water and honey to form a smooth paste—add rest of water and honey and butter. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly.

Fold in marshmallows and stir until marshmallows are just melted. Add salt and vanilla. Serve warm on ice cream.

Soy Sauce Adds Dash to American Dishes

Soy sauce, staple ingredient of Oriental cooking, enlivens many American dishes.

Add a dash of it to onion rings, which you have cooked until golden in butter, and serve the onions with the hamburgers or steak. A little of the sauce added to canned mushroom soup is a happy touch.

Pork chops, marinated in soy sauce, sugar and pineapple juice, have wonderful flavor when they're pan broiled; just make sure the chops are thin and that they are cooked until they are white through.

3 Salads to Make Guests Sit Up and Take Notice

TRANSPARENT WRAP FOR FISH — Fish can be cleaned, chilled and wrapped in transparent wrap to bring home in the car after that fishing trip. Rinse fish in salt water immediately after cleaning. Drain or wipe nearly dry. Use folded pieces of saran between individual fish so that they may be easily separated when you are ready to cook them. Wrap tightly in film and seal with freezer tape. Label with type of fish and date. Do not plan to keep longer than 2-3 months.

SKILLET CLUB FOR MEN

By Frank Kohler

BLUE CHEESE AND BEEF BARBECUE SANDWICH from Caroline Saltzman of New York City, who finds this satisfactory summer fare. A good place for left-over cold roast beef, and sounds much longer than it is. Does nicely for four.

1 tablespoon butter
1 small onion, sliced thin
1 slice cooked roast beef
1 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1 clove garlic, minced fine
1 cup crumbled blue cheese
Buttered, toasted split rolls

Melt butter over medium heat, add onion, and cook until tender. Add beef slices. Combine chili sauce, lemon juice, vinegar, sugar, horseradish, pepper, oregano and garlic and mix well.

Four over the beef and simmer 15 minutes, then add cheese and cook until cheese melts. Serve beef on split toasted rolls, covered with the sauce.

You might like added oomph, as we did. Carefully, and with due discretion, we added some chili powder and hot sauce — but use discretion!

LETTUCE HEARTS WITH HOT BACON DRESSING came to us from Larry L. Moore, Chicago Daily News Chapter, and we do like this one. Here is a different touch — definitely so, and you can vary the proportions to suit yourself. We found no changes necessary.

1 large, fine head of lettuce
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 medium sized onions, sliced
1/2 pound sliced bacon, sliced
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
Dash Anchovy bits

Wash and drain the lettuce thoroughly, then cut in about three-fourth-inch cubes and place in a bowl. Dice the onion and toss with the lettuce. Sprinkle with salt and sugar and toss again.

Fry bacon pieces until nicely crisped in a saucepan, then pour off all but one tablespoon of the fat. Add the water, vinegar and biters to the bacon, bring to a boil, and boil briskly for three minutes. Pour over the lettuce, toss well, and serve.

QUICK ICE CREAM DESSERT — and this is very festive, indeed. This came from our old archives. Use firm-frozen square packages of vanilla or New York or French ice cream. Cut in slices of desired thickness and place on very cold ice cream dishes. Cover the slices with chopped preserved pineapple, figs, ginger, or maroons. A few chopped nuts may be sprinkled on too.

Cover with whipped cream and dust grated sweet chocolate lightly over the top.

Use Meat Tenderizer

The less tender cuts of meats which usually require long moist cooking, should be treated to a tenderizing period before barbecuing.

This is done by marinating the meat for 12-48 hours depending on the size and thickness of the pieces, in a food acid preparation in the refrigerator. Food acids that might be used include lemon juice, vinegar, wine or tomato juice.

These foods in combination with seasonings, break down the meat fibers as well as impart a distinctive flavor to the meat. Two practical and easy marinating preparations are French dressing and barbecue sauce.

To brown pies and tarts, use a pastry brush to brush them with milk before putting them in the oven.

Shrimp Dinner Easy To Serve

If you've ever envied a hostess who can arrange an attractive buffet table, to be crowned at the last minute with a molded main dish fresh from the refrigerator, this Shrimp-Cottage Cheese Mold is for you. Made of canned shrimp, cottage cheese, tomato soup and other easy-to-get ingredients, this mold is beautiful as well as delicious. There are many ways you can serve it — in individual molds, one for each guest; in a large fancy round mold to be cut in wedges; or in squares cut from a shallow rectangular pan.

Shrimp-Cottage Cheese Mold
1 envelope gelatin

1/2 cup cold water
1 (10 1/2 ounce) can condensed tomato soup
1 cup cottage cheese
1 (8 ounce) can shrimp
1/2 cup celery, chopped
1 small cucumber, peeled and diced
2 tablespoons onion, minced
Salt to taste
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Soak gelatin in cold water. Heat tomato soup. Dissolve soaked gelatin in hot soup. Add cottage cheese. Let cool. In the meantime, cut shrimp into small pieces; chop celery, dice cucumber and mince onion. When tomato-cheese mixture is cool, add shrimp and vegetables. Add salt. Fold in whipped cream.

Pour in a mold which has been rinsed in cold water, or into individual molds. Chill it until it is set. Unmold and serve on lettuce or other greens. Serves six generously.

Salade Provencale Is a French Delight

Salad as it is sometimes prepared in France.

Amedee's Salade Provencale

1 medium-sized apple
Lemon juice
2 medium-sized tomatoes
12 black olives
1 can (2-ounces) rolled anchovies (drained)
Olive oil

Wine vinegar
Freshly-ground pepper

Separate romaine leaves from center; wash in cold water and dry; chill. Tear romaine into bite-size pieces in salad bowl. Peel and quarter apple; core and slice thin; dip apple slices into lemon juice; arrange apple over romaine. Cut stem end from tomatoes; slice into thin rounds; arrange over apple. Place olives and anchovies on tomatoes. (If salad is made an hour or so ahead, cover tightly and refrigerate.) At table, mix olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper (in desired proportions) together in a large serving spoon (using a fork for the mixing); pour over salad; toss well. Makes 6 servings.

Baked Bananas

Bananas are wonderful baked. Peel 6 firm bananas and arrange in a shallow greased baking dish. Brush with melted butter or margarine and sprinkle generously with brown sugar. Bake 15-20 minutes at 375 degrees. Serve either as part of the main course or as dessert with a chilled sauce of coconut-cream pudding or floating island.

Make Liquid Sweetener

Keep simple syrup (made from equal parts of sugar and water) on hand in the refrigerator to use to sweeten fruit drinks, iced coffee and tea.

HAM AND NOODLE SKILLET — Cooked and served in a skillet, this hearty main course dish combines noodles, chopped ham, Swiss cheese and asparagus. A crisp salad and ice-chilled watermelon make the summer meal perfect.

Meat, Noodles to Eat Outdoors

Keep your summer parties informal and everyone's bound to have more fun. Even if you don't own a barbecue or grill for cooking outdoors you can still serve hearty macaroni, noodle or spaghetti dishes in the open without fuss or fanfare.

A simple skillet dish or casserole that combines macaroni and canned meat is a good choice for a terrace or patio supper. They can be put straight on the table just as they come from the stove.

With casual living the key to warm weather enjoyment, you'll find this main course recipe ideal for easy summer serving.

Ham and Noodle Skillet
1 tablespoon salt
3 quarts boiling water
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 1/2-quart can chopped ham, cut in thin strips
1 1/2 pounds fresh asparagus, sliced and cooked
1 1/2 cups light cream

2 cups grated processed Swiss cheese (about 1/2 pound)
Add one tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Melt butter or margarine and add onions, celery and ham. Cook over medium heat five minutes. Add remaining ingredients and cook, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted.

Add noodles and heat to serving temperature. Serves 4 to 6.

Empty Food Jars Ideal for Storing Dried Fruits

Don't throw away empty pry-off capped food jars. Because they can be resealed airtight, they're ideal for storing foods that are adversely affected by absorbing moisture.

The pry-off capped container will keep brown sugar from becoming hard, nutmeats from becoming stale and tasteless, helps oyster and cocktail crackers retain original crispness. Good for storing dried fruits and raisins, too.

Kids Love It

Glasses brimming with taffy floats invite the family to frosted milk refreshment. Looking like a soda fountain treat, this drink calls for 2 tablespoons of taffy-flavored, unsulphured molasses stirred into a small portion of milk in a glass. Then add a scoop of vanilla or coffee ice cream and stir vigorously. Fill glass to top with milk.

Grill cheese sandwiches in your electric skillet for Sunday night supper. Add a big salad, fruit and cookies.

Baked Beans Treat

Make baked beans with better-than-usual flavor by combining a 4-oz. can or jar of pimientos, chopped in medium-sized pieces, with a large-sized can of baked beans. Add 1 teaspoon of prepared mustard, 2 teaspoons of brown sugar, and bake at 325 degrees for 30 minutes.

Foil Trays Available

Disposable aluminum foil broiling trays are now available. Use them and you'll never have to scrub your regular broiling pan!

It's Low Caloried

Here's a tip for a low-calorie dressing superb with fresh fruit salads: Combine 1/2 cup evaporated milk with an 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 2 teaspoons sugar. Beat until blended and serve like.

chilled. This makes 1 1/2 cups and stores well in refrigerator.

Freeze Cherries in Ice

Home Style Ice Cream Fine Finish for Barbecue

The ice cream freezer is moving outdoors alongside the barbecue pit as another embellishment to the American fad of outdoor dining. Along with recipes for barbecue sauces and how to turn out a perfect steak, personal experiences in ice cream making are being exchanged over back yard fences, and even at men's luncheon tables.

Some people prefer the early Philadelphia type ice cream which is a simple mixture of cream, sugar and flavoring.

Others think there is no substitute for a cooked custard base and the rich, creamy product it produces. And sales of packaged ice cream mixtures indicate there are just as many other people who prefer the commercial mixes.

Like the recipe ingredients, there are many variations in the proportions of salt and ice used to freeze the cream, but the generally accepted ratio is four parts ice to one part salt. This is the proportion which, combined with steady agitation of the cream mixtures, produces a smooth ice cream, free of frozen particles.

Another tip for smooth ice cream is slow turning of the mixture for the first few minutes, and more rapid, constant churning after the mixture is thoroughly chilled.

ADD EXTRA ICE
As the ice melts, and the salt brine drains off, continue adding ice and salt in the four-to-one proportion to maintain an even temperature. Later, when the cream has hardened and the crank removed, pack with additional ice and salt and let the cream ripen for at least an hour.

Here are basic recipes for Philadelphia ice cream and for a cooked, custard type. Both can be varied with different flavorings or the addition of sugared fruit in season:

Philadelphia Ice Cream
1 quart light cream
1 cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons flavoring extract
Mix the ingredients, stir until the sugar is melted and freeze.

Cooked Ice Cream
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 cups milk, scalded
1 1/2 teaspoons flavoring extract
4 cups thin cream

Mix flour, salt and sugar and add to slightly beaten egg yolks, stirring until smooth. Add the scalded milk slowly to the egg mixture. Cook in top of double boiler until mixture thickens. When cool, add cream and extract. Freeze.

Keep These Cool

Custards, cream-filled pastries and cakes, stuffed eggs and egg salad are all subject to rapid spoilage if they are kept in a warm place. Don't take them out of the refrigerator until you are ready to serve them. Take them to picnics in insulated containers.

Three Cookbooks Bought on Vacation Offer a Variety of Tempting Recipes

Feature Press Home Editor
Wherever I go I look for new cookbooks. You understand, of course, that I do not NEED any more cookbooks. My collection numbers more than fifty right now. But I like cookbooks. I often go through every one, hunting for some recipe a reader wants. Anyway, I like to read them and to try out unusual recipes.

While on vacation this year I bought three small paperback cookbooks and several old ones. The latter I got in a box of old books at a country auction. I paid fifty cents for the whole box of books. Most of the contents—nursing textbooks dating back to the early 1900s—I tossed out. I'll tell you more about the old cookbooks some other day.

My first new cookbook came from Cape Cod. Published by the Yarmouth Branch of the Cape Cod Hospital Aid Association, it is full of fish and seafood recipes. Here is a recipe we islanders can use with fish fillets. You may either bake or broil the fish.

Oven Broiled Fish
Rinse fillets under cold water and dry on paper towels. Sprinkle fish with salt and pepper and cover both sides with vegetable oil. Place, flesh side up, on well-greased shallow pan.

Sprinkle top side of fish with sifted bread crumbs or cracker meal, dust with paprika. Put about 2 tablespoons water in pan—this will be absorbed by the heat and will prevent the oil in the pan from burning.

Place pan about 2 inches from heating unit and cook for about 15 minutes or until the fish flakes when tested with a fork. The time will depend on the thickness of the fish.

Thin fillets will need broiling on only one side. Thick fillets should be turned carefully with broad lifters when one side is done, and cooked until the skin-side is brown and crisp.

Garnish with lemon and parsley. Melted butter may be poured over the fish when ready to serve. If fish is baked, it will not need turning.

My second cookbook came from Rockport on Cape Ann. It is published by St. Mary's Episcopal Church and contains recipes from summer visitors, as well as those from local inhabitants.

Here is a different recipe for corn bread. It's one I shall try. Annalsquom Corn Bread
Cream 4 tablespoons butter or shortening with 1/2 cup of sugar. Add 2 beaten eggs. Sift 1/2 cup cornmeal and 1 1/2 cups flour with 4 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt.

Add alternately with 1 cup of milk to the first mixture. Bake in a hot oven 425 degrees for 25 minutes.

With blueberries on the market in large quantities now and so reasonably priced, we can enjoy them in many forms. Try this cake.

Cape Ann Blueberry Cake
from 1700.
1 cup shortening
2 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
8 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 pints blueberries
Cream shortening and work in sugar. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add milk. Sift dry ingredients. Add to batter and mix well. Stir in washed blueberries.

Bake on a greased cookie sheet. Sprinkle cinnamon and sugar over the top of the cake before baking. Bake 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes.
In Montreal I picked up a small cookbook published in the Gaspe Peninsula. Called The Black Whale Cookbook, it is written partially in French. It has interesting comments on life in old-time Canada and recipes handed down from mother to daughter.

This is preserving season. For something unusual make this jam.

100 Year Old Spiced Tomato Jam
16 pounds ripe tomatoes
8 pounds sugar
2 pints vinegar
2 tablespoons each whole cloves, pepper, coriander
15 blades of mace
Peel and cut tomatoes in pieces. The spices in cheesecloth bag. Mix all ingredients.

Let come to a boil, then simmer until thick and rich. Remove bag of spices and seal in sterilized jars. Use with meat or on toasted crackers as a dessert.

Cranberry, Apricot Teamed in Beverage

Fruit-flavored beverages are in demand in hot weather! Here's one everyone will like.

Cranberry Apricotade
1/2 cup cranberry juice cocktail
1 can (12 ounces) apricot nectar
Juice of 1 large lime (about 3 tablespoons)
Mix cranberry juice cocktail, apricot nectar and lime juice together; chill.

At serving time, fill four 10-ounce glasses with ice cubes; pour fruit drink over ice.

Peach of a Breakfast

Pep up the appetite appeal of the morning cereal bowl—place half a peach on top of corn puffs and top with frozen or fresh blueberries. Add cool rich cream. A tempting combination!

Flowers Decorate Cake
Let flowers beautify a tempting centerpiece—a layer cake! Bake your favorite flavor of cake mix, frost with fluffy white angel fluff frosting mix, and press small blossoms (leaving only tiny stems 1/4") into icing as a border or an all-over pattern.
Popovers with a tablespoon or two of melted butter added to the batter tastes extra delicious.

Iced Rosebuds Garnish Bridal Punch Bowl

Plans for the wedding reception loom large in the minds of all mothers of brides. Simplicity is added to graciousness in the serving of refreshing canned tropical fruit punch on the buffet table. The delicate blend of tropical fruit juices is so complete that it need only be iced in the punch bowl to be ready to serve.

Garnish the punch bowl with a frozen wreath of roses. To prepare: dip tiny roses and rose buds quickly into melted paraffin and dry on paper toweling. Arrange in a wreath in the bottom of a ring mold.

Four over them a thin layer of chilled, boiled water. Place in the freezing compartment until roses are frozen securely in place. Fill ring mold with chilled, boiled water and freeze until firm.

This may be prepared several days ahead. You may wish to prepare several to use as replacements during the entire serving period.

To unmold, run the ring mold quickly under the warm water tap. The frozen mold will slip into your hand, ready to float on the surface of the punch bowl.

Good With Swiss Steak

Give Swiss steak a refreshing note. Cut seeded green peppers in eighths and boil about five minutes in water to cover; drain. Just before serving the beef and tomato sauce, stir in the blanched peppers. Tastes good, looks attractive!

FRUIT PIE A LA GRAPEFRUIT — Two summertime favorites, watermelon and canned grapefruit sections, combine simply and the result is so mouthwatering you'll be sorry you didn't think of it sooner. Slice a chilled quartered watermelon into nice thick pie-shaped wedges. Top with frosty grapefruit sections, decorate with a bit of mint. We predict it will have many repeat performances this summer.

Most Sausage Varieties

When the sausage family migrated to America, it brought along all its cousins—and today we find members of the family in every city and town in the United States. Sausages, or cold cuts, as most of them are known, are available everywhere today in wide varieties. One of the first sausages that comes to mind, and no doubt the most popular for summer serving, is the frankfurter. This member of the family came from Frankfurt, Germany, and was given its name after the city of its origin.

Although franks represent 34 per cent of the total sausage output now, America has adopted many other European sausages, too. These sausages also were often named according to the town in which they were produced. A product from Bologna, Italy, achieved the name bologna sausage. Rome was the birthplace of Romano; Braunschweig or Brunswick, Germany, of brunschweiler, and Genoa, Italy, of Genoa salami.

Everyone's taste for cold cuts can be satisfied today with the large selection of sausages which are produced. These are dry and semi-dry sausages, cooked meat specialties, cooked sausages, and cooked and smoked sausages all ready to slice and serve for snacks, picnics, lunches, and dinners.

Dry and Semi-Dry Sausages
Summer sausage, Cervelat, and the salami are dry sausages well known today. Of the two kinds of salami, one is a rather firm product, highly seasoned and spiced and containing garlic. It is often wound with string. The larger, softer varieties of salami are made with the same ingredients, but dried a shorter length of time.

The main difference between the salamis and Thuringer summer sausage is that summer sausage contains no garlic. Thuringer is made with finely chopped meat, with a lot of pork for juiciness. Cervelat is a smoked product of both ground beef and pork.

Cooked Meat Specialties
Another large classification of the sausage family is the cooked meat specialties. This group includes a variety of products ranging from head cheese and luncheon meat to pickle and pimiento loaf. These, too, are ready for slicing and serving.

The luncheon meats, which make up a large part of this class, have the ham-like flavor of good cured pork. They come in round and loaf shapes. Beef, pork, and veal tongue are chopped for jellied tongue, sometimes called tongue loaf. Other loaves are tasty combinations of various meats and seasonings.

Head cheese, or souce, pickle and pimiento loaf, veal loaf, and jellied corned beef are only a few of the many cooked meat specialties marketed.

Cooked Sausages
Liver sausage (liverwurst or brunschweiler), liver cheese, and blood sausage are a part of a third family, the cooked sausages.

All the important nutritional values of liver are found in liver sausage, and there are many kinds produced—all the way from the soft to the firm types, from light pink to darker pink, and sometimes even smoked types.

Liver cheese or loaf is generally loaf shaped with a coating of fresh pork fat to keep it moist. It's good served hot, too.

Probably Dad can remember his small allowance, but he knows that today's enjoyments for teens cost more. Why are youthful pockets filled higher? Most of the answer lies in the higher level of the nation's economy.

Ironie Note: More Spare Cash Than Parents

Teenagers 'in the Money'

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

How much money did your teenage son or daughter receive through allowance and earnings last week?

If the son got less than $3.96 or the daughter less than $6.59, they were below the national average, according to a study of 5,065 representative boys and girls across the nation.

Our cumulative research, covering 25,000 cases since 1944, shows results which may be startling to dads who can look back to 50-cent allowances and 25-cent lawn mowing fees.

For all along the line, the income of the nation's young people has taken a sharp upward turn. Even the moppets are getting more money.

MOFFETS AVERAGE $1.12

The survey showed the average boy between the ages of 8 and 12 has a weekly income of $1.12 per week in 1956, compared to 42 cents in 1944.

That's an increase of 267 per cent for the small fry. And the older boys and girls are doing even better.

Counting allowances and earnings, the average teenage boy in 1944 had an income of $2.41 per week. By comparison, the 1956 figure of $3.96 represents an increase of 372 per cent. Teenage girls are only slightly behind.

PARENTS THE NEW POOR

One ironic aspect of the growth in youthful prosperity is that in some cases sons and daughters have more uncommitted pocket money than their parents.

The children, free of such major responsibilities, are usually free to spend their increased income as they see fit.

Dad pays the bills, worrying about the mortgage, food, clothing and other expenses, often winding up with little left over.

Why are youthful pockets filled higher? Most of the answer lies in the higher level of the nation's economy.

Boys and girls get bigger allowances because their parents realize it costs more to go to a movie or buy a hot dog. Too, jobs are easier to find for youngsters in search of spare cash. More high school students are working after classes, and for better pay.

The manner in which the young people are spending their money reflects the adult trend in recent years toward do-it-yourself pursuits and hobbies.

The almost universal dream of the American boy to own his own automobile has continued as strong as ever, with four times as many boys being able to achieve the dream as in 1944. Of the workers between 17 and 19, nearly a fourth have autos as their sole objectives.

Here are other details of the pocket change boom among the nation's youth:

Teenage girls covered by the study have an average weekly income of $6.59, compared to $1.91 in 1944.

Girls between 8 and 12 picked up from an average of 32 cents to 76 cents over the same period.

In 1944, 17 per cent of boys eligible to work after school had afternoon jobs. In 1957 the figure had risen to 38 per cent.

BIG INCREASE

The number of jobs available for boys and girls wishing to work has increased almost phenomenally.

"Times are much different from when my older brother was in high school," said a youth in Duluth.

"He had to deliver packages or papers to make money, while it seems that I could work for almost any business concern in town if I wanted to. And they pay terrific salaries."

Prominent among the hobbies and do-it-yourself activities which are claiming an increased percentage of youthful cash are model planes, stamp and coin collections and even making or refinishing furniture.

Sporting equipment expenditures have increased 275 per cent since 1944.

The boom that is benefiting high school students carries over and even grows when the young people enter college.

And when the college student reaches his senior year, he is often beset by dozens of companies in search of his services.

A midwest student representative reported that during his final year of college over 600 companies sent representatives to the campus to try and woo graduates.

NOBLEZA ASUNCION

Talented Daughter Soon to Begin Work on Ph.D.

Scholarships Not New to Student Who Comes From Unique Manila Family

By VICKY MICU

Ambassador of good will and scholar extraordinary is 24 year old Nobleza Asuncion of the Philippines, soon to be studying at Michigan State University for her Ph.D. in speech correction.

Miss Asuncion came from Manila and a teaching position to Pontiac last September after being offered a foreign scholarship by Michigan State. At the present she is living with an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Gill Pambid of Midway avenue.

Scholarships are not something new for this petit miss. She completed the required courses at Michigan State last year for her Master's degree on a scholarship, attended a United Nations seminar on a scholarship from the East Lansing YM-YWCA, and attended an international seminar through the efforts of the American Friend Service Commission.

A unique family is one of the main reasons for her scholarly success. Her father, Juan Asuncion, is a medical doctor in Manila and is now working on his Master's degree in law. Not to be outdone by her husband, Mrs. Asuncion has obtained her Master's degree in education.

Five of the seven Asuncion children are attending college (two are in elementary and high school) taking up law, education, and medicine.

AMERICANS FRIENDLY

By now Miss Asuncion is familiar with the often asked question, "What are your impressions of the United States?" but sincerely answers that the American people are friendly and most hospitable. She adds that "There is so much to learn here, and so many opportunities to do so. If my country had the educational facilities that are available here, not so many would leave home to take up higher education."

Miss Asuncion was surprised at some of the differences in the social life here. Especially so, she said, the striking independence of the young people at such an early age.

"Even at 18 and older," she explained, "Filipino young people are still under their parents' wing."

That brought in another favorite topic of conversation, dates. In the Philippines, an almost national institution, the chaperon, is still prevalent.

Young people there, Miss Asuncion recalled, will hold a party or a dance for any reason. At formal dances, the traditional "butterfly sleeve" Filipino gowns are worn. (Miss Asuncion is wearing such a gown.)

Her biggest concern and love is her own homeland. She says the real drawback to progress in the Philippines is the language. Some 87 dialects are spoken, and the only means of communication between peoples of different parts of the country is English.

Educational facilities must be

'Bernadine' Is Study of Teenagers

Play in 2nd Week at Will-O-Way Has Humor, Pathos

"Bernadine," which is now in its second week at the Will-O-Way Playhouse in Bloomfield Hills, was written by Mary Chase only after she had undertaken a study of the viewpoint of a crowd of teenage boys.

Even though she had three teenage sons of her own at the time, the author did not find it easy to penetrate into their world.

However, she went ahead and followed them or bribed them to follow her, sometimes to her embarrassment, until "Bernadine" emerged—a funny and touching comedy about adolescent males and their problems in "growing up."

"Bernadine," the teenagers' dream girl, lives in Sausky Falls, Idaho, an imaginary spot they have created. There, the mothers must ask the boys' permission to leave the house, the teenagers are paid to throw water-bombs in revolving doors and the girls know only one word, "yes."

Danny Simpson is starred as the problem boy. Others in the cast are Charmaine Harma, James Wright, Mady Correll, Paul Caplan, Martha Drage, Robert Bryson, Fred Hudson, John Baldwin, Lee Moore and Janet Simpson.

The comedy will run through Sunday and reservations may be made by calling the playhouse.

Mom Right to Refuse Invitation

Unexpected Visit Could Have Caused Embarrassment

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "Last week my daughter's boy friend offered to drive us home from the beach. On the way he stopped off at his house to pick up something. He asked us to go in but I said we would wait in the car as I did not think it right to barge in on people we did not know unannounced."

"Apparently he told his mother that we were waiting outside in the car because when he came out he said that his mother was hurt because we would not go in. Under the circumstances, do you think we were right in not going in, or should we have gone in to meet his family. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this matter."

Answer: You were right. Instead of feeling "hurt" she should have come out and invited you in, and naturally then you would have gone in.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My husband and I are adopting a baby. We will get the child next week but it will take a year before she is legally ours."

"When would be the proper time to send out the announcement. Should we send them as soon as we get the baby, or must we wait until the baby is legally ours before sending them out?"

Answer: You should wait until the baby is legally yours before you send out the announcements.

Dear Mrs. Post: "I would appreciate your answering the following question in connection with my forthcoming marriage. Does the bride-to-be send out the wedding invitations to the bridegroom's relatives and friends, or does his family send them out?"

Answer: The bride's family sends them out, having received the list from the groom's family.

Lois A. Bowman Becomes Bride of Lowell Schneider

In a double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. John Mulder, assisted by the Rev. Gordon D. Everett of Blissfield, Lois Ann Bowman became the bride of Lowell C. Schneider.

The United Brethren Church in Blissfield was the setting for the 4:30 o'clock ceremony Saturday afternoon.

Lois is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Bowman of Blissfield. Lowell, of South Johnson avenue, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton P. Schneider of Cosby, Mo.

The bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white cotton lace over taffeta for her wedding. The princess lines were accented with a V-shaped neckline and short fitted sleeves.

Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a tiny crown of seed pearls and she carried a Dutch colonial bouquet of pale pink roses and shattered white carnations.

SERVES AS HONOR MAID

Barbara Borgen was maid of honor. She wore a gown of white embroidered nylon over ice blue taffeta with matching lace mitts and a miniature picture hat of net and pastel flowers. Her colonial bouquet was of variegated pink carnations and baby pompons.

For her duties as flower girl, Lorraine Lee Bowman, niece of the bride, was groomed in a frock of blue dotted nylon over white taffeta, trimmed in matching blue and white lace. She wore matching mitts and a floral crown. Her bouquet was a miniature of the maid of honor's.

James Sommer of St. Joseph, Mo., served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Philip and Lewis Bowman, brothers of the bride, and Roger Sommer, cousin of the bridegroom, from St. Joseph, Mo.

MRS. BOWMAN IN BLUE

Mrs. Bowman was wearing a slate blue sheath dress of silk shantung with beige accessories when she greeted her guests at the reception, held at their home following the ceremony. Her corsage was of white baby pompons.

A dress of rose lace with white accessories was chosen by Mrs. Schneider for her son's wedding. Her corsage was also of white baby pompons.

For her wedding trip through the Eastern states, the new Mrs.

Open Monday and Friday Evenings

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

INS Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—First Lady Mamie Eisenhower was dressed to the teeth for her first night out since Ike's ileitis operation, but where were the throngs?

The spirit was there, but the flesh was weak.

The first family, looking fresh as a breeze off the Colorado peaks, strode into the swish Centennial Ball in San Francisco last night to accept the accolades of 3,000 invited delegates and socialites.

The Eisenhowers delayed their dramatic, half-to-the-chief arrival for nearly 20 minutes, but even so, the cavernous Civic Auditorium was only one-eighth full.

Not a cabinet officer, not a senator, not even a mouse was in evidence to admire Mamie's Mobile Marie black velvet-and-satin gown, her jet-studded beanie, and her beaming, blue-suited husband.

SESSION CAUSED DELAY

The thrill-studded overtime nominating session of this '56 Republican convention simply hadn't given the other stellar performers time to wash behind their ears and arrive in time.

The sparse collection of champagne-sipping admirers could not, however, have been more enthusiastic.

What they lacked in numbers was beautifully made up by the roiling sincerity of their greeting to Mamie and Ike, madly in love with politics after a lifetime of Army activities, made their post-illness debut.

Suddenly, it was another sick man that the President was talking about. Taking the podium to rousing and heart-warming cheers, recuperating Ike told a hushed audience:

"You will be glad to know that just before I left the hotel, I had a call from Dick Nixon and his father is much better. We're all glad for that."

Unspoken sympathy flooded the assemblage.

All sensed that Ike was speaking from the heart, as one formerly bedridden man to another, when he voiced those simple words.

The honey Eisenhower touch that has proved so contagious these last four years had its moment of spotlight last night.

It came when J. D. Zellerbach, chairman of the Centennial Ball, introduced blue-eyed Mamie and Eisenhower to the enthusiastic assemblage as "The First Lady of the Free World."

Mamie, almost inundated by a vast sheath of red roses, waved gaily from her seat. But this was not enough for President Eisenhower — suddenly a politically-savvy politician again.

Leaning across two orchid-bedecked ladies on the platform, he stage-whispered a firm "Stand Up."

Mamie, who loves that man, not only stood — but made a good show of it, to the delight of photographers and admirers alike.

The Eisenhowers, arriving in San Francisco the night before at 7 p.m., checked into bed early after reminding themselves that they had risen on Washington time — three hours later than Pacific Daylight Time.

Since then, they must have adjusted to the grueling change, because their belated appearance at Civic Auditorium — and their maiden appearance since Ike's illness — came at 1:30 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time.

Ike and Mamie remained only long enough to assure cheering, exuberant delegates of a Republican victory this fall. But that was long enough!

Magnetism eventually loses its power.
If you let the steel filings stay too long on the magnet, they will eventually fall off—the magnetism is worn out.
Then, if you keep them separated a while, you can begin again, and the magnet will attract the steel filings once more.

LIKE MAGNET
Life is like that in many ways.

If you keep your mind on one problem or one job too long, your mind begins to lose its effectiveness.

You have to withdraw it to something else and then, when you return it to the job, it works again like magic.

That was Marie's problem. Marie has a job that means a lot to her—too much, in fact. It's in advertising and it's a creative job, the kind she has always longed for.

CAN'T FORGET WORK

She works at it all day, even having a sandwich lunch on her desk, and thinks about it all night. She is too concerned with her job to think of social life or anything else. And she takes work home with her every weekend.

For a year or more, I tried to explain to Marie that she was defeating herself.

Her mind, like the magnet, had been close to that job so long that it wasn't working very well.

If she would just take up a hobby or start some volunteer work or some kind of social life, she might actually get more work done.

NOT CONVINCED

But Marie wouldn't believe it. The harder she worked and the more time she spent, the more she'd get done—that's what she thought.

But Nature came to Marie's aid—Nature, in the form of overweight!

Marie began to gain and gain and the doctor said she absolutely had to take up some kind of active exercise, every day.

When Marie explained that she couldn't spare the time, the doctor made it clear that he wouldn't answer for her health unless she did. Reluctantly, she started to play tennis.

There were courts near where she lived. She began getting home from the office at five and playing until seven. She met people, and became interested in the fine points of the game.

Pretty soon, Marie was playing on Saturday and Sunday and taking less and less work home.

"Can you believe it?" Marie asked me in astonishment. "I get awfully good ideas for copy and art work, right while I'm waking up in the morning!"

"I don't even think about work any more, except during working hours. All I think of is tennis—and yet these wonderful ideas keep popping into my mind when I first wake up. Isn't it amazing?"

No—it isn't amazing. A rested mind, a mind taken off the problem occasionally, gets recharged and works better than ever.

Allergic to Sun?

If you're a heliophobe (allergic to the sun) take as little sun exposure as possible and never when the body is wet. Dry with a towel as soon as you come out of the water. Soothe the sting of the sun by splashing the body with good quality witch hazel after exposure.

Kill Two Bulges With One Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today exercises are streamlined. Women used to go through many laborious, ineffective and rapid exercises and then wonder why they did not get the results they craved.

Today a few highly effective motions, when indulged in for 20 or 30 minutes each day, will improve the figure remarkably.

Some exercises are especially effective in slimming a couple of figure faults. With each motion you kill two bulges. What more could you ask? I call these my combination exercises.

The following exercise is effective in reducing the thighs and the abdomen: Lie on the floor on your back with your arms out at your sides (resting on the floor) and your legs straight. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen. As you stretch the legs, separate them and lower them to the floor as far apart as comfortable.

Drag the legs together (not lifting the heels from the floor). Bend and continue. If you have sacroiliac trouble you should not try this exercise, or should be very careful when you do.

FOR ABDOMEN, WAIST, HIPS

This exercise slims the abdomen, waist and hips. Lie on the floor on your back, with your legs straight and your arms stretched out on the floor extending straight from your shoulders. Palms cling to the floor.

Lift your left leg up as far as comfortable with a stiff knee. Cross the left leg over the right side of the body with the left

Do all of your exercises with rhythm, in a smooth way, not jerkily. Also beware of doing them too rapidly. Take time for the stretch.

If you would like to have my combination exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 "Combination Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

From this position stretch and separate legs and lower to floor. Drag the legs together (not lifting the heels from the floor). Bend and continue. This reduces thighs and abdomen.

Vacation Snapshot Tip: —Look Pretty as Possible

Soon women will be tottering back home and back to offices with fistfuls of vacation snapshots. Most of them will be ghastly and not because the photography is poor.

If you haven't gone on vacation yet, take a look at last year's photos to get an idea of why you, generally so pretty, look like cold fried eggs in photos.

These are main ailments of vacation snapshots:

Feet stuck into the camera. This generally happens in beach shots, where one is sitting down. If you're going to have your picture taken, make an effort to see that the perspective won't be out of whack.

Standing with weight on one leg. This casual pose may be comfortable, but it makes the hips look extra large and the clothes appear to fit poorly. If you stand for your picture, stand with weight equally on both legs.

Extra fat in bathing suit shots. This comes from not standing or sitting straight. Get the abdomen in and the chest up when your picture is being taken, to iron out those rolls of flesh that aren't bad in actuality but look wretched on film.

Stringy hair hanging in face. This happens after swimming, on boats and in the wind. It's silly to try to comb hair down for a picture when the wind will loosen it again anyway. Smart women keep their hair under a chiffon scarf, tied peasant-fashion under the back hair. This also aids in keeping it out of picnic lunches.

Sour expressions. You may not want to have your picture taken while changing the baby, but resign yourself and smile anyway. If you look unpleasant, someone will surely save it as a regrettable joke for the snapshot album.

Approximately 400 varieties of cheese are produced in the U.S.

Bathrooms are 'prettier than ever'—and here's a set that will add to its beauty. The lovely swan and water lily design is applied to ready-made or home-quilted material. So easy and inexpensive to make!

'Kird' Dinner Bids While Wife Is Away Often Swamps Man Who Hoped to Loaf

By RUTH MILLETT

The first thing every wife who knows Jim Jones does when she hears his wife is going to be out of town for a couple of weeks is call Jim up and say:

"We don't want you getting lonesome. What night can you come to dinner?"

In short order, Jim—who probably kicks about going out more than one night a week when his wife is home—finds he doesn't have a free night left while his wife is out of town.

Says one of the Jim Joneses who goes through this same routine every time his wife leaves town: "It is a characteristic of women to think a man can't live without food cooked by female hands for even a week or two."

"One thing a man particularly enjoys when his family is out of town is the fact that he doesn't have to be any particular place at any particular time once his business hours are over," he continued.

"So as soon as the news gets around that he is on his own for a little, every wife of every friend he has starts inviting him to dinner. If he has one or two free evenings during the whole time his wife is away he's lucky."

Well, ladies, if that's how the men feel about it—apparently a lot of them do—let's quit worrying about trying to give our friend's husbands a good home-cooked meal when they are left to batch it for a few weeks.

If they want to be left alone to eat out of the ice box or to grab a meal at a restaurant let's not invade their privacy.

If they want a break from routine and an escape from organized social life, why not let 'em have it?

If they think we're silly for believing they can't live without "food cooked by female hands" let 'em live on snacks.

Fan Airls Closet

Every now and then, your closets (and the clothes in them) need an airing. Most efficient way to do this is to open the closet door, place an electric fan in the open door and let it blow out the stale air.

Pelts, Furs Featured in New Ways

PARIS (INS) — This autumn women — and men — can have the real "animal touch." Animal skin and animal pelts will be worn in Paris close to the body. Besides leather jackets and coats, it will be fashionable to be clad in a leather blouse, a leather dress, leather trousers and fur sweaters.

One of Christian Dior's new "magnetic styles" is a suit of beige and brown checked tweed called "Honeycomb." Underneath the double-breasted jacket appears a beige blouse in wrap-around style made of suede leather. The finishing touch is a beige suede leather scarf.

But Dior wants men, too, to benefit from leather's softness and comfort. He introduced his version of levis, the classic American blue jeans, in his autumn collection of masculine garments displayed in his boutique.

The Dior jeans are of fawn colored suede with marine blue stitching and gold rivets. For this animal touch for men Dior charges some $30.

Pierre Balmain prefers to wrap the female body-beautiful in leather. He has designed a shirtwaist dress for autumn wear entirely made of putty colored kid leather as soft as a glove.

He marks a fashion point by showing this number with a raglan-sleeved, roomy coat of pine-green velvet.

Nancy Reid Speaks Vows in Candlelight Ceremony

Basket of white gladioli banked the altar of St. John's Evangelical Church in Three Oaks for the candlelight wedding ceremony of Nancy Lee Reid and Thomas Edward Glenn. One hundred and fifty guests attended the 7:30 o'clock service.

Nancy of Augusta avenue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reid of Three Oaks, and Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Glenn of Cadillac avenue.

As she approached the altar, the bride was wearing a floor-length gown of white nylon lace and tulle, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and bouffant skirt.

A seed pearl headpiece secured her fingertip veil, and she carried a white orchid with streamers of shattered white carnations on her prayer book.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

COUSIN TAKES PART
Barbara Reid, cousin of the bride from Jackson, was maid of honor. The bride's other attendants were Sue Cameron and Mary Lou Reid, sister of the bride.

Their ballerina-length gowns of lace were fashioned identically in aqua, pink and yellow respectively. Each wore a matching headpiece of flowers, and carried bouquets of carnations that also matched the color of their gowns.

James Pursey and Jack Harned, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

At the reception held in the church parlor, Mrs. Reid greeted her guests wearing a brown shantung dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Glenn wore a pink sheath dress with matching pink hat and beige accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

On their return the newlyweds will make their home on Augusta avenue.

The decorated sweater doesn't belong with a decorated dress. It's either plain dress and fancy sweater or the other way around.

30 Attend Meeting of Fashionette Club

Thirty members attended the Tuesday evening meeting of the Fashionette Club held at the Adah Shelly Library. The weekly trophy was won by Mrs. Robert Smith. It was announced that James Bale of the Pontiac Police Department will speak on "Narcotics" at the next meeting.

The box-type coat with patch pockets cuts height. For petites, diagonal lines leading from the narrow collar to slash pockets help break the square look.

Casual box coats have a new and exciting look. Pockets are plentiful but big patch pockets, while a boon to the tall figure, should be avoided by the short. From narrow shoulders to hemline create a diagonal sweep for a taller look.

AND TELEVISION
125 W. Huron Where Wrigley's

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Let American League pitchers play it straight and colorful Mickey Mantle could break the coveted "60" of the fabulous Babe Ruth.

It seems every time a Major League slugger moves into range of the much sought-after home run record the question pops up, "Will they pitch to him?"

At his home run pace of June and July, Mantle could pass Ruth's without maximum effort. Yet the Yankees themselves doubt their teammate will do it. Not that he isn't capable of hitting 60 or more, but because he may not get the opportunity to do it.

"Mantle would hit 61 home runs and more if they would pitch to him," said Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford, "but they won't, and I could see the difference between the first three months and recent weeks."

Everyone saw it happen in 1949 when Pirate slugger Ralph Kiner was burning up the National League with his fence-busting blasts.

Pittsburgh fans booed and even pelted opposing pitchers for putting Kiner on base as often as three times a game in the final two weeks.

No one could show where Kiner with a 7th place ball club was a threat to the pennant chase. Even in some games where the score was lopsided in the final inning with two outs, Kiner was lucky to get a strike.

In the previous year, September was a hot month for Kiner. This included 8 homers in 4 games. The following year during his surge toward 60, Kiner started his early September onslaught.

In one Sunday doubleheader against the St. Louis Cardinals, Ralph blasted four homers over the left field fence at Forbes Field.

Frantic Pirate fans saw the end of the Ruth record. So did the pitchers because for the next three weeks Kiner was lucky to get the feel of the ball on his bat.

Mantle, at 24, is already finding himself among the game's greatest.

Actually he hasn't even reached his prime and even if he never reaches 60 the Oklahoma slugger should be given a fair chance.

They condemned basketball players for shaving points, boxers for throwing fights. How about the pitcher who throws four straight outside pitches to preserve sentiment?

Ruth climaxed his record breaking total with 18 homers in September. For Mickey the month has not been his luckiest. He hit only two in September 1955. A couple more in August and Mickey may do it in September, if they throw to him and not away from him.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX
Nick Kerbawy, general manager of the Detroit Lions, did not deny the Press report that the Lions were trying to get a back from the Chicago Cardinals.

"We would give them one of our leading draft choices of next season," said Kerbawy.

The Cardinals are also reported trying to get Kerbawy as their general manager.

Something may come out of the exhibition meeting between the two teams in Mobile, Alabama, this weekend.

Tom Tracy is reported going great guns for the Ottawa Roughriders in exhibition play. The Roughriders have won three straight and Tracy is only one of two American holdovers from the cellar team of last year.

Shanty I Is Officially Named for Harmsworth

DETROIT (INS) — The United States will have a formidable speedboat to meet Canada's challenger in the Harmsworth Trophy race this Saturday on the Detroit River.

Shanty I, representing the Seattle Yacht Club, was officially named yesterday by the 15-man Harmsworth selection committee. The powerful speedboat, owned by Bill Waggoner of Vernon, Tex., will meet the Canadian champion, Miss Supertest.

Waggoner's entry was selected on the mighty performance of the boat as the Shanty raced the 5-mile course in yesterday's qualifying trials in the time Waggoner's boat was selected after the Shanty I gave a mighty performance in Tuesday's trials by racing the 5-

Flint Non-Pro 9 Wins in Tourney

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — One more team has been eliminated from the 31-team field in the national non-pro baseball tournament.

The latest to fall by the wayside in the double-elimination tournament is the Angier, N. C., Pearldges beaten 4-3 by Evanston, Ill., Ericksons in one of five games played yesterday.

Other results included Flint, Mich., Kellys 5, Richmond, Va., Glendales 1.

Chicago Cub pitcher Bob Rush is the son of Harry J. Rush, former major league player with the old St. Louis Browns in the American League.

Tigers Find Nats "Favorite Cousins"

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers moved into town today hoping to improve their two-game winning streak started at the expense of their favorite pasties, the Washington Senators.

With their chances of a 1st division finish fast fading away, the Tigers slatted their top hurler, left-hander Billy Hoelt, to face the 6th-place Orioles' Ray Moore tonight in the first of a three-game series. Hoelt will be going after his 15th victory.

Detroit, which stand a good chance of grabbing the American League team batting title this season, turned on the power again last night in coasting to a 3-5 victory over the hapless Senators. It was the Bengals' 15th triumph over the Nationals against seven defeats.

Harvey Kuenn, Jack Phillips and Charley Maxwell, the top three men in the batting lineup, led the Tiger hitting parade, accounting for nine of the team's 15 blows. Each collected three hits in six trips to the plate.

Detroit wrapped up the game in the first inning, jumping on Dean Stone for five hits that produced six runs. Stone, who has gone the distance in only two of his 17 starts, gave up four successive hits in the inning. Kuenn singled, Phillips doubled and Maxwell singled to score one run. Al Kaline followed with a triple that accounted for two more runs and he scored when Bill Tuttle forced Bob Kennedy, who had walked. Tuttle moved to third on Frank Bolling's double and scored on a wild pitch. Bolling later scored when Red Wilson grounded out.

All of Washington's runs came on the game's two home runs, a three-run blow by Eddie Yost in the third and a two-run blast by Roy Sievers in the 6th. It was the 24th of the season for Sievers and the 10th for Yost.

Detroit scored one run in the second inning added two more in the 6th.

Washington threatened the Tiger lead in the 9th when they leaded the bases with two out, but Al Aber replaced winning pitcher Paul Foytack and got pinchhitter Ed Fitzgerald to lift a fly to Tuttle in centerfield, ending the game.

It was the 10th victory for Foytack, who has lost 10. Stone was charged with the defeat.

Kentucky Lad Leads Jaycees

National Junior Golf Tourney Goes Into 2nd Round Play

FARGO, N. D. (AP) — The son of a Kentucky hardware merchant who practices golf until his hands are blistered held a 2-stroke lead on the field today as 108 teen-agers swung into the second round of the Jaycees Junior Golf Tournament.

George Stigger III, a 17-year-old with an impressive name had a score to match yesterday when he carded a four-under-par 68. The husky Henderson, Ky., youth went into the second 18 hole round today ahead of a trio grouped at 70.

In the race for the International Trophy, Gary Cowan, Kitchener, Ont., ninth in last year's even and top international entrant, was running ahead of two Canadian mates and a trio of Hawaiians. He carded a 71 along with nine others, including last year's runner-up, Jack Rule of Waterloo, Iowa.

Trailing Stigger with 70s were Dave Leon, Tucson, Ariz., Hugh Rocky Thompson, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio.

Tom Wilson of Detroit led the four Michigan players with a 72; Dave Britigan of Kalamazoo had a 77; Bud Badger of Bloomfield Hills had a 79; and Jim Rock of Kalamazoo had an 86.

Add $2,500 Hole-in-One Pot

DETROIT (INS) — The nation's finest golf professionals will have an added incentive to shoot for at the Motor City Open Aug. 30 through Sept. 2.

The extra attraction is a $2,500 hole-in-one pot which will go to the pro who holes out his tee shot on any of the 72 holes of actual tournament competition at the Western Golf Club.

If, by any chance, more than one golfer scores a hole-in-one, those pros who carded the aces will divide the pot.

This is the first time that such an offer has been made in a Motor City Open. In fact, the extra prize is a rarity in any tournament.

The added cash means that a pro could conceivably pick up $7,000 in prize money for the five-day stopover at the Western Golf Club.

This year's purse for the Motor City Open has been raised to $50,000—the richest purse ever posted for the tournament. The winner's share will be $4,000.

Golf Is Going to the Dogs

CHICAGO (AP) — Golf is going to the dogs. Great Danes, Newfoundland, Labradors, German short-haired pointers and Old English sheepdogs will act as cart-pulling caddies in a printers' tournament next week.

And they'll be judged on smart appearance, quietness when the master tees off, ability to locate lost balls, good behavior and general serviceability.

Milwaukee Leads NL by 2 Games

Brooks, Reds Gain as Braves Fall

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Don Newcombe, with his 19 victories, and Duke Snider, with his 33 home runs, have been big guns for Brooklyn's world champions, but where would the Dodgers be without those friendly St. Louis Cardinals in the National League pennant race?
The Brooks have won more games from the fourth place Cards than they have from any other club — mainly because the Redbirds have kicked in 20 unearned runs in their 30 games. In at least four games, the gift runs paid off in Dodger victories.
It was the same old story again last night as the Dodgers scored four unearned runs to beat St. Louis 5-3 for a 15-5 season mark against the Cardinals. This time the Dodgers used the Redbirds to edge within two games of first-place Milwaukee, beaten 2-1 by the last-place New York Giants.

The victory also kept the Dodgers a full game ahead of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who defeated Pittsburgh 6-3, as the two challengers meet in the opener of a three-game series at Crosley Field tonight. Newcombe, incidentally, will be going for No. 20 (opposing Johnny Klippstein).
Chicago's Cubs defeated Philadelphia 8-3 in the other NL game. In the American, the New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 2-1 on a double error by Al Rosen on one play that lifted the Yanks back into an 8½-game lead over the second-place Indians. The third-place Chicago White Sox split a day-night pair at Boston with Billy Pierce winning his 18th with a 6-3 decision over the Red Sox, who then came back to win 7-6 and move within 6 points of the Sox.

Detroit peppered Washington 9-3. Kansas City defeated Baltimore 7-3 in 11 innings.
The Cardinals, only 7-8 vs. Milwaukee and 6-9 vs. Cincinnati, led 2-1 behind Tom Poholsky's two-hitter (both by Pee Wee Reese) until the Brooks paired three hits with two errors for a four-run eighth-inning. Reese's third hit scored the tie-breaker after Stan Musial's second error of the game.
Wally Moon of the Cards had two hits in two trips, one an RBI double, to edge into a virtual tie with Milwaukee's Hank Aaron for the NL bat lead. Aaron has a .3318 mark. Moon is .3317.

Rosen's display came in the fourth when he dropped a throw that should have nailed Billy Martin at third base, then interfered with Martin as he got up from the slide. The obstruction ruling sent Billy home with the run that beat Early Wynn, now 14-7. Tom Sturdivant won his 12th with a six-hitter, striking out seven.

Grand American Hits Big Money Stage

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The 57th Grand American Trapshoot reached the big money stage today as more than 1,700 handicapped marksmen faced the firing line.
The shooters are not physically handicapped — the term denotes the number of yards each is placed back of the traphouse from which the flying clays emerge. Today's event is the preliminary handicap, a 100-target feature.

Although most trapshooting is done from 16 yards, the entrants are placed, depending upon their averages and known ability, from 18 to 27 yards away from the traps. Today's race, a dress rehearsal for tomorrow's Grand American Handicap — the No. 1 contest on the week-long program — carries a guaranteed first prize of $1,000. The list diminishes until the 92nd high gun receives $40.

The guaranteed purse is only part of it however. It is possible for a shooter to pay the $25 entry fee and $31 in optional fees and emerge with a payoff of around $7,500 if he can win the event. Even the runner-up and other high spots carry terrific payoffs.

Last year, F. D. Reese of Harworth, Ill., broke 98 of 100 from 20 yards to outshoot a field of 1,753. But he isn't expected to cut much of a figure today since no one has ever won the event twice.

Clarkston Plays Tri-County Pair

Clarkston's Tri-County baseball team will battle it out with Durand Friday night in a doubleheader which may determine the leading challenger to Fenton, current leader of the league.

The Clarkston nine eliminated Galesburg from the Tri-County race with a double win, 4-3, 8-7 Tuesday night.

Both Durand and Clarkston are still in the running for the title and a double loss would eliminate one. Winner of the Tri-County League will meet GMTC of Pontiac.

The 16-yard portion of the "Roaring Grand" wound up yesterday with Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev., former Northwestern University and Green Bay Packer football star, winning the clay target championship. Orlich tied four others in a field of 926 with a score of 199 in the 200-target event. He then broke 125 straight in a shoot-off to win the title. It was the first time in 10 years the championship was not decided on a perfect score.
Bob Allen of Des Moines, Iowa, Walter Ostrom of Orangeburg, N.Y., Buford Bailey of Big Springs, Neb., and Arnold Smith of Middletown, Ohio, finished behind Orlich in that order.

Otter Dislikes Fish, Goes for Bread and Milk

LANSING (AP)—Here's an odd otter.
Fishermen generally dislike otters because of their reputation as fish-killers.

But the state conservation department reports it has an otter with a positive dislike for fish.

The five-month old lady otter turns up her nose alike at mackerel, salmon, sardines, smelt and other varieties. Her favorite dish is hamburger but she will settle for bread and milk rather than fish.

The otter, caught on a farm near Mio, is under study by Dr. S. C. Whitlock, assistant chief of the game division.

Torgeson Says: Thinking Ahead Helps in Good Base Running

By EARL TORGESON
Detroit Tiger First Baseman
DETROIT (AP)—Possibly the one thing about baseball that is more overlooked than anything else is base running.

If a player is a bad baserunner, everyone in the league soon knows about it. Then they take advantage of him.

Speed isn't the only consideration in running bases and stealing them. It's a matter, too, of getting that jump on the pitcher or catcher and trying to think a little bit ahead of the opposition.

I'm not the fastest guy in the league by any means. But I try to use my speed to the best possible advantage. When I got the award a short time ago for being the American League's best baserunner for the 1955 season, it wasn't because I had stolen more bases or run faster than the others.

After all, I stole only nine bases all year. But I believe the records will show that I was seldom caught stealing. It was a matter of knowing what I could do and when I could do it.

selected as the League's base-running highlight of 1955).

A lot of young players feel they don't have to know how to slide, but every player, and that includes pitchers, should practice sliding a lot. It often means the difference between winning and losing.

Tackle Irv Schexnayder is a welcome addition to the Tulane football team. He hails from Welcome, La.

Aussie Netters Lead Doubles Field Is Trimmed

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The field was trimmed and competition stiffened with only one seeded entry on the sidelines today as the 75th National Doubles tennis championships entered the third round on Longwood's grass courts.

Heading the advance through the first two rounds were six members of the Australian Davis Cup team, two promising youngsters waiting for a chance to gain a berth on the Aussie squad, and the two top tandems on the U.S. Cup team.

Of the eight teams seeded in the men's division and four in the women's play only Jerry Moss of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Bill Quillian, beaten 1955 finalists seeded No. 5 this year, were early round casualties.

Moss and Quillian were overpowered by Mexican Davis Cup stars Francisco (Pancho) Contreras and Mario Llamas, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, yesterday in the only major upset of the first two rounds.

Top-seeded Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, aces of the Australian Davis Cuppers, and Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson, America's No. 1 duo seeded second, breezed through second-round play and led the way into the third-round stage.

Aussies Ashley Cooper and Neale Fraser, listed in the upper bracket with Hoad and Rosewall, also were in contention and expected to gain a berth in the quarter-finals.

But one Australian doubles team was set for elimination in the third round. The draw paired Aussie Davis Cuppers Mal Anderson and Roy Emerson, fourth-seeded in the tournament, with fellow countrymen Rod Laver, 17, and Bob Marks, 19, outstanding youngsters.

Take Bids After Sept. 15 for Special Deer Season

LANSING (AP) — The state conservation department today reported that applications for Michigan's proposed special deer seasons are scheduled for distribution to hunters after Sept. 15.

The applications, together with detailed information on regulations and areas, will be obtainable from license dealers or from department district headquarters and other special field offices.

License officials said many requests for applications have been received but cannot be filled until the blanks are printed and delivered in mid-September.

Michigan State was admitted to the Big Ten on May 20, 1949.

Sebo Sees Quaker 11 Doing Better

PHILADELPHIA (U)—"We're going to win some football games this year," says Penn football coach Steve Sebo.

Sebo, whose Penn teams have lost 18 games in a row—longest major college losing streak in the nation—is confident that 1956 is the year Penn begins its climb back to Eastern football prominence.

"We'll win some games this year; next year we'll be an even bet against any of our opponents; in 1956 on the eve of Penn games, we'll be the favorite," says the determined looking former Michigan State assistant.

Sebo isn't concerned about the small group of old grads who would like nothing better for Christmas than his scalp. He isn't worried about the fact he's on the last leg of a three year contract.

He won't say so, but he appears confident he'll be around as Penn Coach for quite a while.

"Everything is getting better around here, manpower and schedule-wise. We're going to take 70 boys to training camp as compared with 48 and 55 the past two years. It will be by far the best looking group we've had," says the coach.

Sebo's hopes revolve around a hard core of eight seniors, four non-letter winners who were sophomores last year and 12 members of the 1955 freshman team.

Sebo, of course, is quite happy over getting rid of the "killing" schedules his overmatched kids have had to face the past two seasons.

"I'm not underrating Ivy League opposition," says Sebo. "But it will be much easier to meet week-in and week-out opponents who have mutual problems. This season seven of our opponents—all Ivy League—will not have had spring practice. Last year, seven did. We're all operating under the same rules. It's bound to make a difference."

Braves Hopes Fading Out

MILWAUKEE (U)—Experienced baseball men, who have been on the Braves' bandwagon since they left the East in first place a month ago, are now beginning to doubt whether Milwaukee will win the National League pennant.

My Peggy 1st at Line

DETROIT (U)—My Peggy, with Archie Niles driving, captured the featured 8th race, a BB pace, last night at Hazel Park harness raceway. Vicki Wayne is favored to take tonight's running of the $10,000 Detroit trotting derby.

U. S. Wrestling Captain Banned

AAU Rules Bill Smith Ineligible for Olympic Competition

CHICAGO (INS) — William T. Smith of Rock Island, Ill., captain of the 1956 United States Olympic Wrestling team, was banned last night from further competition in all sports governed by the Amateur Athletic Union.

The action announced by Marvin Thomas, chairman of the Central Association of the AAU registration committee, makes Smith ineligible for the Olympic games in Australia.

The AAU heard charges last Aug. 14 that Smith had been paid by the Rock Island public school system to coach wrestling at Rock Island High School. Thomas said:

"In the judgment of the committee, Smith did not produce any creditable evidence to alter that fact."

Smith won the 1952 Olympic welterweight title for the U. S. at Helsinki. The 27-year-old athlete won the middleweight division title to qualify for the Olympic team this year.

Savoldi Named Most Valuable

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U)—Joe Savoldi Jr., Michigan State track star and son of a Notre Dame football great, today was named the nation's most valuable all-around Italian-American athlete of 1956 by UNICO National.

UNICO is an Italian-American service organization with chapters in 55 cities. It will present awards to more than 20 Italian-American sports figures in Saturday's windup of the group's annual convention here.

Semifinal Round Set for VFW Teen-er Test

HERSHEY, Pa. (U)—Four teams squared off today to decide which will be finalists for the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Teen-er baseball title.

Paired for afternoon games were Hollister, Calif., against Gloucester City, N. J., and the Panama Canal Zone against Gastonia, N.C. The teams for the semifinal round were decided yesterday when Hollister defeated Akron, Ohio, 6-2, and the Canal Zone downed Mifflintown, Pa., 5-4.

Bill Lillard and Stan Gifford of Chicago rolled 1,331 in taking the 1956 American Bowling Congress doubles title. No other team went above 1,300.

Worth More Money!

Knox Shines in Pro Tilt

HAMILTON, Ont. (U)—Ronnie Knox played his first Canadian football game last night and his stepfather looked at him and exclaimed:

"I should have asked for more money."

Ronnie, 21-year-old ace from UCLA, was brilliant in defeat as the Hamilton Tiger-Cats dropped a 29-21 decision to the Ottawa Rough Riders in a thrilling opener to the Big Four football season. He passed for one touchdown and set up another.

Harvey Knox, Ronnie's stepfather and agent, and most of the estimated 19,500 fans, were mighty happy about the quarterback's performance.

It was Harvey who masterminded the financial end of Ronnie's contract with Hamilton last Saturday. The agreement called for $14,000 for 14 regular games and a $2,500 bonus for the signature. It's the biggest salary in Ticat history.

"I would have been disappointed if he hadn't done as well as he did," Harvey said. "I expect a lot from him."

Players Find Training Camp Envelopes Empty

Little Pay for NFL Exhibition Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The hopeful college football player who signs a contract to play in the National Football League for, say, $10,000 a season, may wind up by beating his brains out in exhibitions for $10 or $15 a week—or for nothing more than a chance to make the team.

He may collect quite a bit more, in some cases, but he'll soon learn that he's being paid for 18 or 19 games a season instead of just the 12 shown on the regular schedule.

This situation came to light the other day when players of the Los Angeles Rams demanded pay for exhibition games and threatened to sit out Friday's game against the Cleveland Browns unless they got it. They asked $75 a week for veterans and $50 for rookies during the exhibition season.

Commissioner Bert Bell smoothed over that dispute, but he didn't change the fact that NFL contracts cover the entire year and the first payday doesn't come until after the first regular-season game.

Of course, the clubs provide living quarters and meals—not a minor consideration in the case of a 265-pound tackle—and usually hand out what the Giants' Emlen Tunnell calls "walk-in" around money. Players badly in need of cash usually can obtain loans or advances on their salaries from the clubs.

An Associated Press survey today revealed that only two of the 12 NFL clubs pay more than token amounts as, spending money during the training season. But only one, besides Los Angeles, would admit having had any trouble with players over these payments.

The Pittsburgh Steelers used to pay every player in training camp $25 a week. "The system just didn't work out," a Steeler spokesman said. "One year, the night before the first scrimmage, about a dozen quit and demanded their pay."

bitions—which are unprofitable, anyway, for a last-place club.

The Detroit Lions still pay $25 weekly to players, whether rookies or veterans, as expense money during the exhibition and training season. General Manager Nick Kerbawy pointed out it costs well over $150 a week to keep a ball player in camp.

Owner George Halas of the Chicago Bears wouldn't mention any figures, but he hinted the Bears make rather substantial payments during the training season and added: "It never has been a problem with the Bears."

As for the others, the New York Giants provide $10 a week spending money, the Chicago Cardinals $2 a day, the Baltimore Colts $15 a week—plus sizeable bonuses at the end of the season—and the Green Bay Packers pay an "insignificant amount," which in the case of those who make the team is later subtracted from their salaries.

General Manager Ray Walsh of the Giants said that a player who gets into a pre-season game or two before he is cut receives some pay. "We don't send them home empty-handed," he said.

Tony Morabito, head of the San Francisco 49ers, said all salary payments are "a matter between the management and players."

The other clubs indicated they follow the league rule and don't pay regularly until the season opens. Paul Brown, coach and general manager of the Cleveland Browns, explained it this way:

"We could give them money through the exhibitions by cutting about five per cent from their salaries. We could split that among 55 to 60 players we take to camp. But I think our veterans prefer to fight it out for the jobs and full salaries and let the best men win the jobs."

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Topping the ball.

DIAGNOSIS: Double fault.

TREATMENT: The topped ball that slithers miserably along the ground, going nowhere in particular, is caused by one of two things: Firing and falling back on the right leg, or allowing the head to sway far forward in the downswing.

It's surprising how many players get into good hitting position at the top of the swing. Body wound up perfectly, which comes only when the head isn't moved a particle in the backswing. And then the impetuous urge to whomp the ball fast and far. What happens? The left arm dies right up there at the top and the right arm, taking over, is thrust at the ball. The right side locks; no transference of weight. It stays back there on the right haunch, and of course the clubhead doesn't get to the ball beyond merely nipping it, or whamming it on top.

As the sketch shows, the downswing begins with a downward pull of the left arm, and with a feeling of a little pressure in the middle, third, and little fingers of the hand to initiate the pull. With the pull the weight shift to the right hand doesn't get into the shot until the hitting area—about 10 to 14 inches from the ball. Let me remind you of the importance of keeping the head stationary in the downswing. Move it forward even the smallest amount and—well, you've just naturally got to hit the ball on top or, worse, swing right over it for a complete miss.

Champ Disperses Weight Fears

Bud Smith Now Close to Limit for Friday Title Battle

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith today dispelled any fears that he would be unable to make weight for tomorrow night's title defense against Joe Brown of New Orleans.

The 27-year-old titleholder from Cincinnati tipped the scales at 135½ before today's workout, only a quarter-pound over the lightweight limit. Trainer Adolph Ritacco said Smith "can sneeze that much off."

Big Lou Viscusi, always a fast man with a word, charged earlier this week that Smith was dodging a date with the scales because he was far over the stipulated limit. The State Athletic Commission ordered both Negro fighters to take a preliminary checkup Monday, but neither man was asked to step on the scales.

The first title fight here in 13 years and the possibility of a New Orleans fighter winning the crown has whetted fans' appetites to the extent of a $30,000 advance ticket sale for the nationally-televised and broadcast NBC, TV and radio, 9 p.m. EST 15-rounder at the Municipal Auditorium.

Trenton, Portland 9s in Babe Ruth 'Semis'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Portland blanked Wichita, Kan., 4-0, last night in the final game of the first round of the Babe Ruth World Series. Lefty Mickey Lolich allowed the losers only two hits.

Trenton, N.J., poured across six runs after two were out in the seventh inning to defeat Pensacola, Fla., 7-2, in the first game of the night's doubleheader, watched by 2,524 fans.

In Friday night's semifinals between teams of 13 to 15-year-olds, Tulsa, Okla., meets Huntington Park, Calif., and Trenton plays Portland. The teams are idle tomorrow night.

Vice President Lauds Joe, Rest of Smiths

WHITTIER, Calif. (U)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon had only good words today for his only "rival" for renomination—the mysterious Joe Smith. The fictitious Joe Smith was nominated yesterday by a member of the Nebraska delegation who said he was trying to prove "that it was an open convention." Nixon, visiting here with his critically ill father, was asked by a newsman if he knew Smith. He replied: "Smith is a very honorable name in the United States. There are a lot of them who vote and I'll say nothing against any of them."

81 Homes, 6 Businesses Boost Last Month's Total

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Building in Waterford Township is less than that of a year ago, but expansion of business and community activities is still under way in full force, a tally of July and the first half of 1956 building permits reveals.

During the first six months of the year, total of permits was 794 for buildings estimated to cost $6,079,368 in all. In the same period last year, 907 permits were granted at a valuation of $6,834,554.

Decline in housing plans is shown with 449 permits so far this year, with 575 for the like period in 1955.

Commercial building also decreased, with 27 approved at $582,050 as compared with 35 for $716,576 in 1955's first half.

The month of July continued the same trend, with 180 permits below last July's 198. Plans for 81 homes to cost $948,810 were reviewed by the township last month. Commercial projects numbered six, at $120,320. Among commercial buildings approved were a body shop on Elizabeth Lake road, to cost $16,000; an Eagles' Lodge on Highland Road at $14,000; and a doctor's clinic at Voorhees and Waverly at $36,700. Also planned are a gas station on Elizabeth Lake road at $13,500, a warehouse for a cement plant on Airport road, $22,320, and a new hangar at the airport, $18,000. Other permits for last month include 42 additions and home remodeling, 38 garages, nine garage and breezeway combinations, two business additions, a house-moving, and a new sidewalk.

Detroit Youngsters Try 'Wilds' of Orion at Camp

By LAOMA SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

LAKE ORION—Camp Franklin is, to Lake Orion residents, just down the road, but to the nearly 370 Detroit children who spend summer days there, it is a bit of Northern Michigan wilderness. The area is overgrown with aspen, spreading oaks, and sumac growing without being disturbed. But beyond the trees and the dark green cabins and dormitories one can see chimneys of village homes.

The camp was founded 32 years ago to give city youngsters a chance to learn and enjoy social living in an atmosphere where nature is the inspiration.

Children 6 through 13, with different economic and racial backgrounds are selected. Catholic, Protestant and Jewish children, more than half of whom are relatives of former campers, are taught that nationality can be an asset rather than a liability. They learn that team competition resulting in group achievement is more desirable than individual achievement.

Ten acres of the camp are in the village of Lake Orion. Through agreement with the Board of Education, the Lake Orion High School uses the ball diamond and archery range, for baseball and football practice during the school year.

Many biology students have tramped over the area on school field trips. The other 124 acres including much of Long Lake is north of the village.

Originally used by an ice com-like structures filled with sawdust that had to be removed before the feeling of untouched nature could be acquired.

Now the buildings include a beautiful recreation hall with fireplace; three girls' and three boys' dormitories; a dining hall; crafts cottage, and the Joseph Beattie's home which doubles as an infirmary.

The camp is on a friendly basis with the village. Every week Robert Haukwell takes ponies to the camp in behalf of the Lake Orion Saddle Club for every child to ride.

W. E. Burde has for several years taken groups on a motorboat tour of Lake Orion, and this year Elmer Ewald of the Lake Orion Boat Club helped with the project. Ice cream for a birthday celebration today for Beattie, director, was donated by Van Wagoners Drug store.

Many local residents have been judges for table decorations, in the Tuesday noon time competition.

Residents also judge the spontaneous dramatic skills presented the second week by groups of 14 including a cross section, built around three props, with surprising talent.

Residents know that Thursday the campers enjoy a movie in Orion. Hiking is a favorite camp activity. Featuring everything from overnight camps for older boys and girls, to breakfasts cooked outside on the five acres across the lake, a knowledge of trees, insects and flowers is instilled through treasure hunt hikes in company, the site held several barn petition with other "tribes" of campers.

The camp director, Joseph Beattie, has been with this camp 28 years. All but two of the buildings have been constructed during that time. He is currently president of the American Camping Assn.

Franklin is among the ten used to set the standards for settlement and neighborhood centers throughout the U. S.

Mrs. Wm. Scripps, until recently owner of Wildwood Farms at Orion is on the Board of Directors.

Detroit Common Council recently gave a citation to Franklin Settlement Center on their 75th anniversary this year.

Mayor Cobo Invites Ike to Campaign in Michigan

SAN FRANCISCO (U)—Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo chatted yesterday with President Eisenhower for 15 minutes in the presidential hotel suite and invited Eisenhower to come into Michigan during his re-election campaign.

Cobo, the Republican nominee for governor, said the President made no commitment on campaigning in the state but thanked him for the invitation.

"The President said if he could leave Washington at the time, he'd be glad to come," Cobo told newsmen.

Once 'Treasure' in City

Time Consumes: Detroit's Hammond Building Going

DETROIT (AP)—In 1889 people gawked at it in wonder. The new Hammond Building was Detroit's first skyscraper.

Scrawled on one of the drawings was a note: "Be sure to use material of good, sound stuff." Another note said completion would be delayed because there were not enough mules.

"Funny," said Mardigan, "despite the engineering progress made during the 67-year life of the building we still have to wreck it by hand and hard work."

Mardigan's company hopes to have the structure levelled within 60 days to make room for a new National Bank of Detroit Building.

Sitting in his first floor office where a short time ago workers took their coffee break in the doughnut shop, Mardigan said: "We'll do most of the work by hand. We can't 'ball' this building down. It would not be safe to get a crane in here." (Balling consists of swinging an iron sphere suspended by a crane against walls and floors, crumbling them).

The building, bordering on the elaborate, Rococo decoration of old, also had its famous tenants. It was the early home of the Detroit Tiger front office.

In those days, Detroiters could look at the roof and if a white flag with a blue circle was flying, know the Tigers were playing at Bennett Park.

Files also showed that the widow of George H. Hammond, a meat packer, had her problems, too.

Shortly after the building was finished it sagged six inches and Mrs. Hammond charged the architect and builder with using inferior materials.

"She was worried about the bottom," said Mardigan. "But we work from the top down."

The American steel industry hit a new high in 1935 in consumption of manganese, using more than 743,000 tons, an increase of 19 per cent over the record year of 1933.

Where President Goes, White House Is There

By EARL WILSON

SAN FRANCISCO — "White House, San Francisco" a male voice answered when I phoned a number at the Hotel St. Francis.

"My goodness, what's the White House doing in San Francisco?" I wondered. "And how did they sneak it out of Washington without anybody noticing?" Maybe I hadn't heard right.

So I phoned back. This time it was another male voice and he switched it. He said: "San Francisco White House."

But why not? With President Eisenhower and so much of his staff here, they come right out and admit over the phone hundreds of times a day that they have a branch of 1600 Pennsylvania Av. on the "sacred sixth" floor of the St. Francis. This intrepid reporter had to visit the "San Francisco White House"—how many chances will I have in a lifetime—and one very earnest chap told me:

"Wherever President Eisenhower is, that's the White House to us, even if it's the golf course."

But the crisply masculine "San Francisco White House" phone salutation doesn't issue from the sixth floor.

It comes from a couple of shirt-sleeved Signal Corps guys stashed away in a ladies' coat room off the hotel's regular phone room on the mezzanine. No use kidding about it—in normal times, the women phone operators often use it for a powder room.

I wandered in—after getting permission from the boss man, Col. George McNally of the Signal Corps—and found them busily taking calls for everybody from Sherman Adams to Robert Montgomery.

"Lou Costello sort of choked up when he heard me say 'San Francisco White House,'" one of the guys said. "He said something about 'Imagine that California Chamber of Commerce swinging a deal like that!'"

There are six Signal Corps men assigned here—one's a sound man who tapes the President's utterances, two are message-decoders.

"Can't tell you where the cryptographers are," Col. McNally mysteriously told me. "But it's not in this hotel. We have to be prepared because of the Suez situation."

To make the "San Francisco White House" situation rather perfect, I thought, was Snyder's tale of a Western Union messenger saying, in some puzzlement, "Are you sure this is the . . . uh . . . White House?"

"Positive," Snyder said. "In fact, this young lady here is Miss White of the White House."

And he introduced the attractive receptionist . . . Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's assistant . . . who has been lent to the campaign . . . Her name is Nancy White.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.

Jerry Lewis' father, asked about Martin and Lewis reconciling, said bitterly, "Dean doesn't deserve my boy!" . . . Ava Gardner belted her boy friend, Walter Chilar, at a party in Rome; just a lover's quarrel . . . The Billy Daniels are expecting . . . Arlene DeMarco, of the singing sisters, goes dramatic in "Tender Trap," opposite her honey, Keefe Brasselle.

Joan Crawford, who'll make a film with Rossano Brazzi, ordered Italian lipsticks. (To make her feel at home?) . . . Cover girl Vicki Duggan makes her film debut in "Back From Eternity."

The Vie Damones are shopping for a New Jersey home . . . Frank Sinatra did the evening shows at the Paramount despite laryngitis . . . That picture of "Duke Ellington" in Time mag, page 56, is of Cab Calloway . . . Henry Fonda's ex-wife, Susan, is dating Armando Orsini . . . Pianist Ray Hartley, working at the Forest Hills Inn, writes, "I'm the first Australian to play piano instead of tennis at Forest Hills."

A couple of years ago singer Jo Sullivan (of "Most Happy Fella") shared cafe billing with a comic; she was held over, he was fired. The comic: George Gobel . . . Harry Karl, ex-husband of Marie McDonald, may get some alimony trouble from his first wife.

Karl's Pearls . . . Never yet have we seen a fellow who could keep himself and his business liquid at the same time. H. C. Diefenbach.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Election year is when some politicians get free speech mixed up with loose talk."—Dan Bennett.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Phil Leeds says he saw a TV Western film so old that Gen. Custer was played by Gen. Custer.

"The best place to spend your vacation," advises Martha Scott, "is just inside your income." . . . That's earl, brother. (Copyright 1956, The Hall Syndicate, Inc.)

Musical Tribute Due October 6

Vocalist Joan Weber to Be Saturday Guest of Tony Bennett

NEW YORK (INS)—Peter Lind Hayes and his Mary Healy join CBS-TV's "Cole Porter Festival" Oct. 6 . . .

So far the stars for the Cole Porter Festival seem to be everyone but the stars of past Porter triumphs, except possibly for Dolores Gray, who had a small stint in his "Seven Lively Arts." Pete and Mary finish their current Godfrey fill-in Sept. 4.

Does the Sullivan cancellation of Ingrid mean he won't present the straight publicity film for "Anastasia," which was all that 20th Century-Fox arranged in the first place? . . .

If you wondered whatever happened to Joan Weber after "Let Me Go, Lover," she'll be let go long enough to sing on Saturday's Tony Bennett opus . . .

Puerto Rico's Marcelino Romany, so hilarious at the GOP convention four years ago, has some of his old Gwynnisms still—asked which way Puerto Rico's delegates would vote, Marcelino replied: "We have not made up my mind" . . .

TYCOON ARNAZ

Already a millionaire, Desi Arnaz goes onward and upward toward Ft. Knox with eight filmed TV series aside from "Lucy" in production . . .

Fred MacMurray considered moderating CBS' new "Playhouse 90" series and decided it was too much work for a millionaire; which Fred is many times over . . .

Sgt. Preston's TV dog pal, Yukon King, is passing out bones. He's a new pup . . .

One of our favorite talent scouts says keep an eye on "Auge and Margo," dance team on the Steve Allen Show Sunday, his nomination for certain stardom . . .

GUEST OF COMO

Irene Dunne will be a Perry Como TV guest this fall . . .

Mrs. Will Rogers Jr. is much better, should be home from Saratoga by the holidays.

Besides Ingrid, Audrey Hepburn has sized Sullivan . . . she also snooted Murray's "Person-to-Person."

The staff of NBC's "Wide World" will do an inside-Hollywood type telecast, so producer Alan Neuman was moved to show his staff last year's "Inside Beverly Hills," a big-rated big bust as a TV accomplishment . . . Neuman's advice to scrutinize it closely was followed by: "This is what we don't want to do."

Young 'Rooster' Supports Change for Folks' Benefit

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP)—In the mist of the agitation for and against Daylight Saving Time, Mayor J. Clifton Boyd received this letter:

"Dear Mayor Boyd: 'I am a little boy, 7 years old. I have a real bad habit of waking up every morning at 4:30 when daylight comes in my window. I am so glad to see the daylight that I begin to crow like a rooster. This seems to bother my mother and daddy, because for some reason they don't like daylight. 'My mother says if you would move up your clocks, I wouldn't wake up until 5:30, and she would be in a better humor all day. 'Thank you, Bobby Sutor.' Bobby's letter no doubt wasn't the only reason, but afterward Mayfield went on Daylight Saving Time for the first time since World War II."

Troubles for Tribe

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP)—An official of the Blackfeet Indian Reservation in northern Montana says his people are troubled by tribal administration, credit, alcohol and health facilities. Joseph Iron Pipe, leader of a delegation on Blackfeet problems, told the Indian Bureau area office in Billings that "liquor as it is used now is a great detriment to the Blackfeet people."
