United Fund Starts Big Push for $501,000 Goal

Eisenhower Sails Into Dems, Asks for Party Unity

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Eisenhower lambasted Democrats last night as political radicals.

He called for an end to Republican "family bickering" in the party drive to capture control of Congress.

The President flies north to San Francisco today for two more campaign addresses. His speech last night was perhaps the hardest hitting one of his political career and was made to a cheering crowd of about 6,500 GOP workers in Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium.

In a peppery, fighting mood for the first time on this coast-to-coast tour, Eisenhower sailed into the Democrats as a party "hopelessly split right down the middle."

★ ★ ★

He touched off a round of laughter in saying they have political schizophrenia, or split personality.

"The opposition record," said Eisenhower, "is one of ever higher taxes—of dollars worth 50 cents—of sky high prices—of an economy harassed into producing fewer jobs, chronic upemployment, labor strife and fear of the future."

The President said the record of the administration on the other hand is one that justifies support for Republican candidates from coast to coast—in the fields of foreign policy, defense, agriculture and the nation's economy, and others.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower was interrupted by applause 35 times at the party rally where nearly every seat in the auditorium was filled. The biggest round came when he said that under this administration:

"Ladies and gentlemen, things are good, and getting better every day."

Eisenhower came to California mainly to boost the candidacy of U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland in the race for the governorship, and the bid for GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight for Knowland's Senate seat—and to try to heal a party split.

The split is over Knowland moving into the gubernatorial contest after Knight had announced he intended to seek re-election, and Knowland's championship of a

Area Men in Plane Smashup

Two Oakland County residents were injured early Monday evening when a single-engine plane they were in crashed on Detroit's East Side.

Most seriously injured was Arthur W. Bull, 38, of 2780 Bradway Blvd., Bloomfield Village, executive vice president of the Michigan Wire Cloth Co. in Detroit. He is listed in critical condition at Saratoga General Hospital.

Another passenger, Earl Morgan, 27, of 3960 Cumberland Rd., Berkley, an IBM salesman and brother-in-law of Bull; and the pilot, Charles S. Wolf, 31, a Detroit businessman, were in serious condition.

The three men were returning from a weekend of hunting near Port Sanilac when the plane's engine sputtered and conked out near Detroit's City Airport.

Wolf had been cleared to land and was circling the field when the engine failed. He decided to land in unlighted Mt. Olivet Cemetery at 6 Mile Rd. and Van Dyke, rather than the well lit, paved area of Six Mile road.

"I didn't want to smash up any of those cars, so I took it into the cemetery," he said today.

The plane struck some high trees and one wing hit a tombstone as it came in for the landing. The plane flipped over on its back but did not catch on fire.

Announce Belle Isle to Be Missile Base

DETROIT (UPI) — Belle Isle in the Detroit River will be turned into a new Nike Hercules missile base and armed with atomic warhead rockets, according to an announcement yesterday from Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker.

Brucker, who was touring the Chrysler Corp. missile plant in Sterling Township, said Belle Isle would be armed with the atomic weapons within five weeks.

The Hercules is known to have a range of 75 miles and is capable of carrying more explosive force.

Meeting Hours Switched

Pontiac Workers to Vote

With meeting hours switched approximately 7,500 Pontiac Motor Division UAW employes were to vote today on ratification of new local agreements ending the 20-day strike.

★ ★ ★

Local 653 production workers are to vote on the pact at 5 p.m. in Wisner Stadium. Skilled workers are to vote there at 8 p.m. This is a reversal of the meeting times listed in yesterday afternoon's announcement in The Pontiac Press.

If the pact is approved, it was expected that some workers would begin returning to the plants tonight and tomorrow, with full production expected when Fisher Body returns.

No change was reported in the status of negotiations at Fisher Body Division, which also has been closed down over local issues since Oct. 2.

Dr. Crane in City for Talks

Cloudy and Cool—Chance of Showers

The weatherman predicts considerable cloudiness tonight, with the low about 55.

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy and cooler with a chance of some light showers. Tomorrow's high will be near 70, the low 48.

For the next five days temperatures will average near the normal high of 60 and normal low of 41. Thursday will continue a little warmer, but temperatures will be colder Friday and Saturday.

The lowest recording in down town Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 48 degrees. The mercury rose to 68 at 2 p.m.

City Students Hear Dr. Crane's Warning

When you select an older person to imitate as you move up the ladder to adulthood, be sure your choice is a wise one, Dr. George W. Crane warned a large crowd of high school students this afternoon.

The noted psychologist related some of the hundreds of questions directed to him from teenagers across the country, and advised why so many start up the ladder on the wrong foot.

He addressed a capacity crowd of Pontiac Central High seniors and representatives of other area schools in the Central High auditorium.

Dr. Crane's talk this afternoon was the first of two which The Pontiac Press is sponsoring today. His talk to the students was entitled "Be a Good Ape."

Tonight at 8 he will talk on "Sex Problems in Marriage" before another expected capacity crowd in the school auditorium. There will be no admission charge, and people are urged to arrive early as there will be no reserved seats.

★ ★ ★

Parking will be available in the playfield area of Crofoot School to the west of the high school on West Huron street.

Readers of The Press will have their first opportunity to hear the man whose column, "Case Record of a Psychologist," appears daily on the editorial page of The Press.

Following tonight's lecture, which is designed for adults, cards will be distributed to those in the audience who have questions to ask Dr. Crane.

Dr. Crane holds degrees as a Doctor of Philosophy and Medicine, and is recognized as one of the most outstanding psychologists in America today.

Another Kierdorf 'Device'

By PETE LOCHBILER

More Teamster officials and another "device" appeared today in the Circuit Court trial of Herman Kierdorf, uncle of "human torch" victim Frank Kierdorf.

Testifying at the opening of Kierdorf's defense before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams were Edward Petroff and Wilfred Mott, business agents for Detroit Teamsters Union Local 376.

Kierdorf, a former business agent of the Teamsters Joint Council in Detroit, is charged with illegally possessing a silencer for a pistol.

Kierdorf's attorneys began the defense by arguing that the "device" in question is really a muffler which Herman made for his own power mower.

Both Petroff and Mott said they were acquainted with Herman and knew he had been "tinkering" with mufflers for some time.

The defense asked Petroff to examine the second "device," almost identical to the one which Oakland County authorities introduced earlier in the trial as a silencer.

HOW IT WORKS

Testifying he had seen both "devices" in Herman's possession over the past 18 months, Petroff showed jurors how one of them worked by fitting it on to the power mower.

He tried to screw on the other one also, but it wouldn't work. "It's too small," Petroff admitted.

The first "device" Petroff demonstrated was the one introduced in Kierdorf's defense today. The second was the "device" police say they confiscated Aug. 4, the day Frank Kierdorf staggered into St. Joseph Hospital with fatal burns covering most of his body.

Madison Heights Police Chief Robert E. Richardson has testified he discovered the "silencer" and a German P-38 automatic pistol which fitted it together in a briefcase which Kierdorf allegedly had delivered for safekeeping to neighbors of his in Madison Heights early in July, before he was to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington.

'HAD EXPERIMENTED'

Petroff, of 18489 Moreland St., Detroit, said Kierdorf had been "experimenting on a cheap, simple muffler for his powermower."

Mott, a Southfield mechanic, said that the so-called silencer is built

Torch-Lighting Opens Tenth Fund Appeal

Gala Kickoff Show Here Spurs Area Volunteers on 3-Week Campaign

Touched off by the traditional torch lighting ceremony and a two-hour variety show, this year's tenth anniversary Pontiac Area United Fund appeal moved ahead today with more than 4,500 workers engaged in collecting this year's $501,000 goal.

For the tenth consecutive year, the charitable volunteers are calling on the residents and workers in the Pontiac-Waterford area to give all they can for the support of the Fund's 55 community service agencies.

This single campaign enables these agencies to continue caring for the crippled, diseased, mentally ill, orphaned or destitute in our community.

The torch was ignited by 13-year-old Jacquelyn Morris, a Camp Fire Girl with the assistance of Philip J. Monaghan, campaign chairman and Lenard Lewis, president of the local fund.

Jacquelyn has been in the Camp Fire Girls for six years. She lives at 260 W. Longfellow and is an eighth grader at Lincoln Junior High School.

The Gala Kickoff Show, held in the auditorium of Pontiac Central High School and sponsored by Community National Bank, followed the traditional torch lighting ceremony.

The volunteer workers attending the show were entertained by vocalist Fred Kendall, Miss Paddy Beach who mixed comedy with magic, Warney Ruhl with his 11-piece orchestra and featured singer Patti Brown.

Victor Hoerath, a Commercial Division cochairman, welcomed the volunteers participating in this year's humanitarian cause, and introduced Warney Ruhl to open the show.

John Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, was the featured speaker for the evening. He appealed to the volunteers, who will sacrifice time and shoe leather during the next three Khrushchev on Drinking: Nyet! Nyet!

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, himself noted for his tippling at diplomatic receptions, has warned Russians the government is planning a crackdown on drunks and moonshiners.

★ ★ ★

"We must proclaim the sternest struggle against drunkenness and put an end to this evil," he told a group of farmers at the village of Malinovka near Kursk last Friday. Moscow radio broadcast the speech today.

★ ★ ★

"Drunkenness is antisocial and profoundly alien to our order and times," he said. "One cannot shut one's eyes to the fact that in our society there still are drunkards, thieves and swindlers.

"Drunkenness saps man's health. The drunkard disfigures family life and damages society."

★ ★ ★

Khrushchev said the Soviet government is working out a bill to provide sterner action against drunkards and "those who contribute to drunkenness." One law will limit restaurant customers to one glass of vodka or other spirits.

★ ★ ★

"If there are people who like their five tots, they will have to go to five restaurants," Khrushchev told the farmers. "They will sober up as they go from one to the other."

Peripatetic Reporter Writes of First Flight on New Jet

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

Some four dozen hardy souls are home today after a meteoric, world's record breaking clipper flight to Brussels. Within three days, we spanned the Atlantic, visited the World's Fair, attended numerous receptions, luncheons and formal dinners; flew to Iceland for an hour's visit, skirted Greenland and landed back in New York.

★ ★ ★

The Baltimore to Brussels record-shattering time was seven hours and 14 minutes and in the jargon of the ring "in this corner we have the winnah — and new champion — Pan American." The flight also set a record for congeniality. There wasn't even an unkind thought.

★ ★ ★

The event was off to a "flying start" when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower christened the huge ship the "America" at a colorful ceremony in Washington. The bottle contained water from the seven seas, including melted snow from both poles. But the crew decided on Baltimore's 9,600 foot air strip for the takeoff as they wanted to "play it cosy." So, the loaded departure was moved from Washington.

★ ★ ★

The powerful sleek craft poised at one end of the long runway as a big crowd watched from the Baltimore observation tower. For a long 40 seconds, we raced down the concrete runway gaining speed steadily and at last the pilot let her come off. Inside the great, luxurious liner, the entire assembly cut loose with a spontaneous whoop and roar.

We were air borne.

The huge, deluxe airplane was officially "in action."

★ ★ ★

I was sitting with Norman Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times during the take-off. "I'm the most thrilled man aboard," I said excitedly.

He shook his head. "I am."

"Nope, me," I insisted.

"But I'm a director of Pan American," said Norman and I lost the first argument of the trip.

Shortly, guests began wandering around the big aircraft. She can handle around 165 passengers, but at the moment the Number One Model is set up for 86; and we had approximately half that number aboard, so everyone was free to visit with neighbors and congratulate our host on Trippe's Tremendous Triumph.

★ ★ ★

Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan, was the spark plug of this tremendous event, aided and abetted by the finest flight crew ever assembled. They were strictly All-American. I'd gamble the man at the controls could have flown that gigantic and luxurious jet deal the last half of the journey, purely on savvy and experience, minus fuel. The hostesses were hand picked from 1,300 Pan Am beauties and if that Joan Schroeder isn't Miss America, it just means one thing — she never entered.

★ ★ ★

This airplane is larger and more powerful than any other jet in service today. It cracked England's Atlantic record with aplomb—and even disdain.

We flew 3,900 miles non-stop from Baltimore and averaged more than 550 miles an hour. Just a week before I flew to New York from Buenos Aires (approximately 6,700 miles) in about 25 hours and that flight was a de luxe deal, but with piston engines.

★ ★ ★

After the early excitement died down, the crew "announced dinner" which proved to be many, many courses including caviar, champagne, filet mignon and crepe suzettes. The meal was "by Maxim's" of Paris and par for all the courses was about 4,000 calories.

★ ★ ★

We climbed to 20,000 feet, to 30,000 and then to 38,000. We were told that if the oxygen supply ever became insufficient, individual tubes would automatically lower in front of our seats. (Who says we can't get to the moon?). In mid-Atlantic, the captain announced that our speed was just under six hundred miles an hour. Boys and girls, that's knocking 'em off.

I know that speed is possible for a tiny Air Force jet, but it seems fantastic and incredible to summon sufficient power to hurl this great 250,000 pound craft through the skies and at any such rate. Why, it's 144 feet long and the tail is four stories high. In fact, to a dull, noncomprehending layman like your peripatetic reporter, getting it off the ground at all comes under the head of a major miracle. There was no sense of great speed. There was no great noise. There was no confusion and there wasn't enough vibration to tinkle the ice against the glasses in the er-Coca-Cola.

★ ★ ★

Finally, some of the boys settled down to catch forty winks as Brussels was operating on a time schedule five hours ahead of ours. Unchanged watches still showed 12:30, but shortly the sun began to dawn in a gorgeous crimson sky and suddenly Old Sol broke through and we were facing the beginning of an unexpected tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Somewhere along the line, a few of us glimpsed London under the left wing, but London didn't look as large as Clarkston — or nearly as important. Oh, she looked well enough in her stolid, stodgy middle class British way, but we were in the midst of glamour, excitement, world records and just the Dawn of Tomorrow was infinitely more important.

★ ★ ★

By this time, those who had sneaked a dash of sleep were awake with the new excitement and we began to descend. DeWitt Wallace, publisher of The Reader's Digest looked around with an easy smile. "This is the first reception I ever attended that lasted seven hours," said he. Finally, the giant craft leveled out and everyone sat up expectantly, until the wheels brushed Belgian soil. Another spontaneous cheer arose from 40 tired but excited passengers.

We were there.

We were "in."

★ ★ ★

The record was now a fait accompli and we all shook hands amid good will and general excitement.

A dozen limousines met us in the early morning of beautiful Brussels and the next two days were a round of entertainment, receptions, dinners and visits to the Fair.

★ ★ ★

Sunday, we headed for home. And new surprises were in store. High winds suggested one stop for refueling and Mr. Trippe — what a man — had elected Iceland.

Yes, I mean Iceland.

So-o-o-o-o, our big glamour baby headed northward across England and Scotland and like a frightened shadow we sped over those Nordic lands to challenge the frozen north.

★ ★ ★

It wasn't long before the Captain told us in dolorous tones that we weren't even averaging 500 M.P.H. as the headwinds had increased to an amazing 110 miles a hour; and it was 60 below zero. But even such titanic and glacial blasts—straight from the Big Deep Freeze of the frozen north are just trivia in the life of this new jet air liner. We headed into the teeth of the opposition and in an incredibly short time were advised that Iceland was directly ahead; and we'd circle to show us the country and show us to the country.

★ ★ ★

Don't bail out over Iceland. That's a friendly and earnest tip from old Uncle Harold. The land of big ice and formidable snow didn't, earn its name through whimsy or geographic caprice.

It's really ice land.

And how!

★ ★ ★

The country is mountainous and even those big hounds with the little casks under their floppy ears would never negotiate the deep snows and the frightening declivities. Marshall Field of Chicago, called it yesterday's "baked Alaska."

★ ★ ★

We spent an hour there—just a goodwill visit — and our boy scouts bought souvenirs like all get out.

"How," someone asks, "can you land in Iceland when you can't take off from Washington, D.C.?"

The answer is simple.

The U.S. Air Force has prepared facilities in Iceland that leave Washington runways looking like a half mile dirt track at a county fair.

★ ★ ★

When we left Keflavk, Iceland, we took a cozy little swing across part of the ice cap of Greenland (courtesy of the management) and then headed for Montreal, Albany and New York City.

It was a great cruise.

No one will ever forget it.

If they let you sit down in a quiet corner for an hour's earnest contemplation of what you want in the way of a 72 hour trip, who could conjure a more thrilling deal than this? Echo answers, "No one."

★ ★ ★

We saw the Fair, we were dined and entertained and last night at home I looked around absent-mindedly for the caviar and assorted hors d'oeuvres before our simple Pontiac repast.

Cinderella, the gong has sounded. Back to your corner into sack cloth and ashes.

The glorious and golden hour is over.

But what a ball!

If Juan Trippe runs a flight to the moon, count me in.

Owosso Hunter Shot to Death

At Least 40 Woundings Reported by Troopers on Opening Day

By The Associated Press

One gunshot death, that of an Owosso area hunter in his own barn yard marred the start of Michigan's small game hunting season Monday.

★ ★ ★

State Police reported at least 40 woundings of hunters, none serious, by accidental gunfire.

The farmer victim was Albert Crandall, 42, father of two children who was found shot and killed in his corn wagon.

Crandall apparently had reached to the back of his wagon to get his shotgun and the weapon discharged. The charge entered his right hand and abdomen.

★ ★ ★

It was presumed that Crandall took the gun in the wagon with him in order to fire at birds while picking corn.

A son, Rodney, 10, found his father's body upon returning home from school at Chesaning.

One of the injured Monday was 17-year-old Diane Wilson of Dearborn. A hunter's buckshot struck her in the legs. A total of 78 pellets were removed.

Mrs. Mae Marquand, 55, of suburban Flint, was struck by buckshot while in her backyard. She was not seriously hurt.

Bring New 'Device' Into Kierdorf Case

according to the same principles as an automobile muffler.

Attorney Erick Zisman said the defense hoped to show more than that Kierdorf simply was "a good neighbor who was apprehensive about disturbing his neighbors in the early morning with his powermower."

He told the jury that a Marine Corps veteran had advised Kierdorf to patent his device, since the Armed Forces might be interested in it as a weapons' silencer.

NO PATENT FILED

The defense contended that Kierdorf gave this ex-serviceman $200 to get the patents started. But it was admitted that the serviceman never filed any official papers with the Patent Office and has since died.

Zisman said he had other witnesses to call as the trial continues, some of them not connected officially with the Teamsters Union.

Earlier, the prosecution concluded its case by demonstrating the pistol and silencer. Two shots were fired from the pistol without the silencer screwed onto its barrel tip, and three were fired with the silencer attached.

Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry Jr. contended that with the device attached, the noise of three shots was reduced.

With the pipe contraption off, two shots made about twice the amount of noise, Barry told the jury.

Jurors assembled at the old Pontiac Police pistol range off Oakland avenue to watch Chief Richardson fire five shots from the pistol into a five-gallon ice cream can stuffed with cotton waste.

While Richardson was demonstrating the alleged silencer today, Kierdorf stood off to one side seemingly disinterested.

Bloomfield Hills to Start Home Delivery of Mail

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Home mail delivery will begin Nov. 15 in Bloomfield Hills, Postmaster Wayne Mortimer announced today.

Three rural routes are being replaced by four vehicle delivery routes, which will bring mail directly to home mail boxes.

The rural pattern of clustered mailboxes will be eliminated entirely, Mortimer said.

The Bloomfield Post Office staff will be increased to 12 to 14 full-time workers. Carriers will go on a five-day week. They presently work six days.

Mortimer said Civil Service examinations for the additional help will not be completed in time to meet the immediate needs, and that temporary employes will be hired.

Plans already are under way, he said, to secure extra trucks, clerks and carriers to handle the Christmas mail rush. Extra space for the processing of parcel post probably will be set up in the former Kingsley Inn building.

A comparison between educational systems in the United States and those of Western Europe and Russia will be the subject of a talk at 8 tonight by George A. Roeper, headmaster of City and Country Day School, at the school's PTA meeting.

Roeper recently returned from a tour of nations in Western Europe and the Soviet Union.

The meeting will be preceded by an open house. Refreshments will be served.

The Women's Society of Redeemer Lutheran Church will hold its fall rummage sale Thursday and Friday in the church basement. Hours will be Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., according to Mrs. R. K. Lewis, general chairman.

The first edition of the Bloomfield Hills High School newspaper will be published Friday, according to Donald Gregory, journalism instructor.

A temporary staff is headed by Marty Cole, editor in chief, with Nancy Sharp and Dan McClellan, assisting. Chris Newman is business manager. The paper has not been named yet.

★ ★ ★

A Birmingham Chamber of Commerce suggestion that temporary stores be barred from the city during the Christmas season was referred last night to City Attorney James Howlett by the City Commission.

Charles Mortensen, chamber manager, asked that the Commission adopt an ordinance to this effect, pointing out that these temporary merchants hurt stores which operate the year-round.

City Manager L. R. Gare, Major Carl Ingraham and City Engineer Grover Serenbetz asked commissioners to attend a meeting with them next Tuesday in Lansing to discuss access drives with Howard E. Hill, deputy commissioner of engineering for the State Highway Department.

About a year ago, commissioners notified all business places on U.S. 10 that they must have access drives installed within a period of two years. At the time, the State Highway Department had considered these drives a necessity.

A recent ruling by the state, however, has in effect banned construction of these drives, according to Gare.

Ingraham stated that the access drive is a necessity from the point of safety. Correspondence with the state and the request it rescind its ban brought a statement from Hill that the possibility of adding another lane to U.S. 10 made the access drives impractical.

An evening kickoff featuring entertainment was a United Fund innovation this year. It was a fine show and a fine tribute to the men and women who work so hard each year to make the Torch Drive a success, Monaghan said. Its theme was built around this year's campaign slogan, "Care Enough to GIVE Enough."

Knight, running for an office he didn't want, is against the proposal and has said he may not vote for Knowland. Organized labor also is fighting Knowland on the "right to work proposal" and he currently faces the gloomy prospect of defeat by his Democratic opponent, State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown.

With Knowland and Knight side by side on the speakers' platform with him in an outward show of harmony, Eisenhower told his applauding audience: "Lets have no more family bickering — fancied or real. It just helps defeat what we want."

Knowland and Knight joined the prolonged applause.

A bit later the President said the Republicans "have had our family spats." But he went on to say at that point that the Democrats are worse off—that they are hopelessly split.

Eisenhower picked Vice President Nixon's home state to say this about him: Nixon is "one of our most effective leaders in this great fight" to win control of Congress from the Democrats in the November elections. Eisenhower added: "He is giving us a shining example of dedication to the cause of good government."

The President's scrappy address —carried on television and radio over an 11-state Western network— was the first major effort of Eisenhower's new chief speechwriter, Malcolm C. Moos.

★ ★ ★

The speech bristled with criticism of the Democrats. The President accused them of reckless public spending, of being political merchants of fear and defeat, and of being demagogues.

In boosting of the record of his administration, the President got another big round of applause in talking of efforts to win a just world peace.

"Today—from Lebanon to Quemoy — those in the world who would do us harm know that America will not be bullied," Eisenhower said. "They know that America will not countenance territorial expansion by force . . .

"America is allergic to appeasement. There will be no appeasing Communist aggression while I am President."

Women Will Be Women

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—About 100 reporters waiting in a press room at a hotel yesterday for President Eisenhower to make an appearance thought the Chief Executive had arrived when they heard loud shouts of feminine joy. Of the total for 1959, about $93,200,000 will be spent in sections of the United States other than Florida and another six million will be used outside the United States.

Cooler Air Fans Eastward Across Rockies, Plains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cooler air from the West spread south and eastward into sections of the Southwest and mid-continent today but generally mild autumn weather prevailed in the Eastern third of the country.

Only a few wet spots were reported across the nation, with no severe storms.

The cool air that chilled the Rockies and Plateau region dipped southward to the Mexican border in Arizona and New Mexico during the night. As it advanced eastward, temperatures dropped across the Plains, Minnesota, western Iowa and most of Kansas.

Lowest readings were in the central and northern sections of the Rockies and Plateau states. They were mostly in the 30s, with some areas colder.

Campaign Drums Beating Louder

Democrat, Republican Candidates Exchange Volley Across State

By The Associated Press

The beating of the campaign drums grew louder in both of Michigan's Democratic and Republican camps yesterday.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) blasted the Eisenhower administration on various issues before an Ann Arbor audience. He blamed the GOP for failing to turn the Formosa crisis over to the United Nations and also said the current recession was planned by deliberate Republican design.

"Stubborn John Foster Dulles will have to go to the United Nations and when he does he'll be as popular as a case of diphtheria," Humphrey said at a campaign dinner for Democrats from Michigan's Second Congressional District.

The Minnesota senator said that there is great need for another Asian power on the UN Security Council before there is any discussion about admitting Red China to the group. But Humphrey said he does not support communist China's admittance.

★ ★ ★

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson carried the Republican standard into Detroit and Grand Rapids. He told his audiences he is looking to the farm states to bolster Republican strength in the Nov. 4 election, saying, "I can't believe the Republican Party won't pick up some congressional seats in the farm states."

He said he based his optimism on farmer talk he heard during his travels through the farm belt states.

"The farmers have an ideal combination," Benson said, mentioning "abundant production, good prices and stable costs."

"Pure demagoguery" was his answer to a recent claim by Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) that family farms have dwindled by four million under the Republicans.

"It is not true," Benson said. "The facts are available from the Census Bureau. Official figures show that 3.3 million persons left the farm in the last four years of the Truman administration while only 1.8 million left in the past five years of the Republican administration."

At Flint, U.S. Sen. Charles Potter (R-Mich) told a dinner group his Democratic rival, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, was a pawn of United Auto Worker President Walter P. Reuther.

He scoffed at Hart's assertion Saturday that he would have supported the Kennedy-Ives Bill to curb labor racketeering had he been in the Senate and that if elected he probably would vote for successor legislation in 1959.

Hart's statements were dismissed as "a pre-election switch."

Potter said Hart criticized recommendations of the McClellan Labor Rackets Committee, followed the UAW pattern of "misinformation" as to Potter's voting record, and never lifted a hand against labor violence in Michigan.

The state's senior senator spoke at a dinner in the Masonic Temple which was attended by 175 persons and later briefly appeared before an audience of about 100 assembled at the Dom Polski Club to hear a talk on behind the scenes politicking in labor unions.

★ ★ ★

Big businessmen are rallying around Potter and other Republicans in an eleventh hour move to stave off defeat in the Nov. 4 election, Lt. Gov. Hart asserted last night in Lansing.

Hart, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate, assailed Potter in a television talk as "the voice of big business bosses."

Those same men will donate $300,000 at a $100-a-plate dinner honoring Vice President Nixon next Monday in Flint, he said.

Earlier, he predicted Michigan Republicans "will cut loose a million dollar slush fund" in the last two weeks of the election in a move designed to "buy votes" with a wave of radio and television advertisements. That, he said, is almost as much as the Democrats will spend all year.

Hart accused his rival of soft-pedaling his association with the Republican Party.

In Sebewaing last night Gov. Williams urged voters to break up the Republican monopoly in the the Legislature.

"Michigan's biggest governmental problem is the two decades of foot-dragging we have had to undergo while Republicans held unbroken one party control of both Houses of the Legislature," Williams told a Democratic dinner group here.

Williams said that for more than a century the Republican Party has had legislative control.

"For 20 years without interruption," he said, "Republicans have had a majority in both Houses and enjoyed the power to block or delay legislation needed by a modern industrial state."

"It doesn't make sense," he said, "for a state which is heavily Democratic, whose people obviously want to see a forward-looking Democratic program enacted, to leave the law-making function entirely in the hands of those who represent the minority party."

★ ★ ★

And also in Lansing, Paul D. Bagwell, Republican candidate for governor, visioned Michigan as a future center for Polar route flights.

Bagwell proposed that the state start a study to determine the feasibility of optioning from 3,000 to 5,000 acres of land in the center of Michigan to be held for a jet age intercontinental air field to take advantage of Michigan's "ideal geographic location" with the respect to Polar flight.

The proposal was spelled out in a fifth "Bagwell blue book" — a series of discussions of major state issues.

Bagwell said immediate steps should be taken to make Michigan a terminus of the new air age. He said that atomic powered planes flying the polar route will completely change the air map of the world.

40 Million Visitors See Brussels World's Fair

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The World's Fair, which attracted more than 40 million visitors in six months, ended with a blaze of fireworks here last Sunday.

The last day broke all attendance records as thousands jammed into the 500-acre fairground for a last look at the 116 pavilions representing the balance sheet of progress for 46 nations.

People arriving by streetcar, auto, bus and on foot easily surpassed the May Day record crowd of more than 700,000. Their upturned faces mirrored a rainbow of color as aerial bombs and rockets burst overhead.

At the U.S. Pavilion, commissioner-general Howard S. Cullman lowered the Stars and Stripes that had fluttered in front of the building since April 17.

"I believe the United States participation has been a success," said Cullman. "Judging from what we read and hear, our pavilion and exhibits were liked by visitors and we hope that they went away with more knowledge and a better understanding of the United States than when they arrived."

SEEN BY 15 MILLION

Officials estimated that some 15 million visitors had passed through the U.S. pavilion. They included about 50,000 persons from Iron Curtain countries, 5,000 of them Russians.

The 360-degree "Circarama" movie theater, built with a grant from the Ford Foundation, was jammed for every performance. Officials said about 1,800,000 persons saw the movie, "This Is America." About the same number passed through the color television studio in the pavilion.

The performing arts theater attracted about 175,000 persons, and the voting machines, put in at the request of President Eisenhower, were used by 200,000.

More than a million maps showing the spread of different nationalities and regional products were snapped up by visitors.

★ ★ ★

The fate of the six-million-dollar U.S. Pavilion was uncertain. Along with its modern theater, it has been offered as a gift to the City of Brussels, but the City Council has not yet accepted the offer.

Governor's Wife Set to Leave Hospital

LANSING (UPI)—There's some doubt as to whether Gov. G. Mennen Williams will have his wife Nancy at his side election night.

Dr. Kenneth Johnson, the Williams' family physician, said yesterday Mrs. Williams is about ready to be discharged from Lansing's Sparrow Hospital where she has been recovering from a muscular ailment brought on by a virus infection.

But Johnson said she needs rest.

The physician said Mrs. Williams still has difficulty walking and that she "doesn't always sleep well at night."

"However, she is doing real well and I don't anticipate anything but complete recovery."

Detroit Orchestra Well Received at Worcester

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—A first night audience of 2,200 applauded the Detroit Symphony Orchestra last night in its debut performance at the 99-year-old Worcester Music Festival in the Worcester Municipal Auditorium.

The "pianist's night" program featured Gyorgy Cziffra in the Lizst Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major.

★ ★ ★

Also featured was the Worcester Festival chorus, conducted by T. Charles Lee, in several selections.

Conductor Paul Paray led the orchestra in a performance of Rimsky-Korsakov's Cappriccio Espagnol.

The performance marked the first appearance of the Detroit Symphony in the annual Worcester Festival, which began in 1858.

The orchestra played two encores after the regular program: Schubert's "Moment Musicale" and Wagner's prelude to the third act of Lohengrin.

Spectacular Stunt Fails to Win Detroiter Job

DETROIT (AP)—Charles Hamilton, 37, is an unemployed machine repairman who wants a job.

So he tried to get one by pushing a seven-foot wooden signboard on rollers up and down the streets of downtown Detroit. It said: "First class all-around man wants job. Phone Olive 1-6531."

Hamilton said he got 10 calls. "Three of them were from guys who thought I was offering them a job," he said. "Seven people asked if it was just a stunt or if I really meant it."

He plans to keep trying.

Bagwell Reports Tour 'Hard on Haberdashery'

LANSING (AP) — Hopping around the state in a political campaign is hard on the haberdashery — at least in the case of Paul D. Bagwell, Republican gubernatorial nominee.

Bagwell says that in six weeks of stumping he has lost four hats and three topcoats, not to mention a sizable number of shirts, shorts and socks.

The first balloon ascension in the United States took place at Philadelphia in 1793.

London Court Verdict: Muffle That Mynah!

LONDON (AP) — A mynah who couldn't keep his mouth shut has been convicted of being a major nuisance.

The Magistrate's Court at nearby Kingston-on-Thames was told the talking bird made a noise like squealing brakes, sang "Pop Goes the Weasel" and other ditties and whistled at the girls.

In the respectable suburb of Esher, on London's southern fringe, that was too much for the neighbors.

★ ★ ★

The mynah, a type of starling, lived in an aviary with 21 other tropical birds at the bottom of potato merchant John Luttmer's garden.

The bird was not brought to court, but to the stand came neighbors to imitate its cries.

Middle-aged John Puddy—"a bird lover all my life"—described the mynah call as "Ou ow, ow," decidedly raucous.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Doreen Corderoy thought it went "Ack, ack, ack." The bird also whistled at the girls and sang "All the Nice Girls Love a Sailor," she testified.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eliza Riley likened the noise which bothered her to "the scratching of knives on plates."

The mynah had its friends in court.

Ex-Detective Charles Vanstone said he had spent several weekends with the Luttmers and the bird was "not an atom of trouble."

★ ★ ★

Luttmer himself claimed his mynah was popular with most people.

"Everybody is very intrigued with him," he said. "They enjoy his conversation and his cuteness."

After a six-hour hearing the court ruled against the bird. Luttmer was fined 2 pounds ($5.60), ordered to pay 42 pounds ($117) court costs and told: "Muffle the mynah."

New Playboy Wins 'No Housekeeping' Seal

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — In the quest of headlines, a female reporter frequently comes face to face with real publicly-certified "playboys," who bear the "no housekeeping" seal of approval.

★ ★ ★

Our first brush was with Errol Flynn whom we met in Paris under the influence of Capricorn and champagne. He was loaded with, among other things, charm.

Then came Rosselini with those quick, roving eyes; followed shortly by Rubirosa whose eyes looked slower and deeper. Next came Ali Khan whose countenance seemed relatively normal and cool in this hotbed of ladies' men.

Finally, last week, along came the most inexperienced international playboy of them all — Francisco (Baby) Pignatari — a man who comes by his title naturally. He lavishes jewels on girls, and he is an acquaintance of Zsa Zsa Gabor. .

"Baby" is a Brazilian millionaire and thus can afford, you might say, to make a fool of himself. And he has done exactly that, in the eyes of the conservative sane, several times. His biggest experiment into foolishness occurred last spring in his native Rio de Janeiro when he hired pickets to strike actress Linda Christian's hotel bearing the advice "Linda Go Home."

When a millionaire playboy blushes, it is news. Baby made news as he remembered the incident.

"Funny thing. I did it just for fun. Now most people think I am horrible and nasty." The gaunt, Latin face smiled uncertainly. "Actually I am nice to everyone I meet, but now I've got a reputation because of that one d—— foolish thing."

For the benefit of American women who are titillated by the antics of playboys, but who would prefer to eliminate their husbands from that category, Pignatari described the elements that turned him into an international rover boy.

He was a good, solid, wife-fearing businessman until this year, when he reached the dangerous age of 40.

He had been married for seven years to a lovely woman.

"But she was afraid of life. I worked hard to make enough money so we could have fun. I bought planes and motor boats and motorcycles and at last I could afford to relax and enjoy myself.

"But she was afraid I'd be hurt. She made me sell the planes and boats and motorcycles, and for five years we sat in front of the television set every night and slowly grew old.

"At least," Pignatari shrugs, "I felt I was growing old. One morning I walked out. I weighed 35 pounds more than I do now. Life had been almost over. Now I am traveling and doing all the things I couldn't do. I'm alive.

★ ★ ★

"The worse thing a woman can do to a man is to put him on a routine. I have a routine. And I hate television. If there is nothing else to do, I say go to a movie. At least when you go to a movie you're using a little energy; you've got to drag yourself out of a couch and put on your clothes; you've got to shave.

"TV and frightened women can kill a man's personality."

Suspends Official in Wayne Probe

LANSING (AP) — Detroit attorney Louis Wechsler was suspended as a Wayne County public administrator yesterday by the State Attorney General's office.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said the action was ordered after a report was made to him by Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen of a four-month investigation into alleged irregularities at the county morgue.

Wechsler, one of the county's 15 public administrators, figured in the case in connection with alleged kickbacks to morgue employes in return for business directed to certain attorneys and funeral directors.

Detroit Reports Total of 598 Polio Cases

DETROIT (AP)—One new case of polio was reported in Detroit Monday to bring the city's total for the year to 598 with 19 deaths.

Wayne County, outside Detroit, had six new cases for a total of 184 and one death.

Nearby Macomb County recorded its second polio fatality in two days. The victim was Roy Tobbe, 30, of suburban St. Clair Shores, who died less than 12 hours after his wife gave birth to their third child.

Breaks Up Party for Poet

Gary Crosby Has Tussle

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A flock of celebrities showed up at a cocktail party for poet Carl Sandburg Monday night, but most of them missed the thrilling last act.

A wrestling match between Bing Crosby's son Gary and a cheese company executive twice his age.

John Geiger, 48, West Coast head of a cheese firm that used to sponsor Bing's radio show, said he walked up to young Crosby—and:

★ ★ ★

"I told him who I was and wanted to introduce my wife to him. But all of a sudden we were on the floor wrestling. He insulted my wife."

Said 24-year-old Gary: "I still don't know what happened. This fellow just came up to me and the first thing I know I'm wrestling on the floor with him."

The match had been in progress less than a minute when bystanders — actor James Mason among them—separated the combatants. Neither was hurt, but Geiger lost his tie.

★ ★ ★

The husky Crosby boy shook hands with his taller but more slender adversary before leaving.

The cheese company and comedian Milton Berle sponsored the party for Sandburg. But Berle, the poet and lots of cocktails had disappeared by the time the late floor show started, some 3½ hours after the party began. And so had most of the other celebrities, including Groucho Marx, Alec Guinness, Sammy Davis Jr., Tina Louise and Barbara Nichols. Sandburg will be a guest on Berle's TV show Wednesday night.

Civil Defense Classes Start in Waterford Area

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Civil defense welfare instruction classes will be held in the CAA Building, 5640 Williams Lake Rd., Waterford Township, Tuesday evenings, instead of the West Bloomfield Township Hall as previously announced.

The course, consisting of four sessions will begin at 7:30 tonight, according to Lloyd Gidley, assistant director of civil defense in the township.

All interested persons are invited to attend the course, which will discuss CD measures in case of an emergency.

OWOSSO (AP) — Victor Moiles went pheasant hunting. His wife remained at home. Moiles returned home empty-handed. His wife had a pheasant. She said the bird had flown into the side of their house and killed itself.

Urging Nations to Train Men

U.S., Britain Go After Small Asian Countries to Prepare Technicians

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The United States and Britain are urging underdeveloped nations in South and Southeast Asia to sharply increase the training of technicians needed to help raise living standards in their countries.

★ ★ ★

U.S. officials made this known today as the 10th Consultative Conference of Colombo Plan Nations swung into its second day.

The Colombo Plan is an 18-nation organization designed to cooperate on economic development programs.

Official sources stressing the need for more technicians pointed out that a new era of loan resources will soon be realized.

★ ★ ★

This was one of the results of decisions reached by directors of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund who met earlier this month in New Delhi. The directors approved enlarging up to 50 per cent the capital available for development and stabilization loans.

In addition, the U.S. Export-Import Bank has increased its capital two billion dollars to a total of seven billion as a result of congressional action last summer.

Voters Must Decide on Constitution

Michigan voters will be asked to decide at the Nov. 4 election whether or not to call a convention to revise or rewrite the state's constitution.

★ ★ ★

Michigan has had three state constitutions: 1835, 1850 and 1908. The first was the shortest and most flexible. The present constitution, a much more detailed one, has been amended 63 times.

If the vote in November is favorable, a special constitutional convention of 102 delegates will be called to consider what can be done about this patch-work document: whether it should be further revised or entirely rewritten.

Whatever their recommendations, these must have final approval by voters of the state before they could replace the present constitution.

★ ★ ★

The work of such a convention, if approved by the voters when completed, would have far reaching influence on the political and economic life of this state for many years. Some of the topics which undoubtedly would come in for prime consideration include:

Should the office of governor be granted more power?

How about reapportionment for the Legislature?

Should judges continue to be elected, or should they be appointed?

What about county home rule? Cities and villages already have it.

Finally, revision of Michigan's complicated tax structure is an absolute must, according to many economists.

These are only some of the major issues which such a convention would face. Many others will appear if a convention is called.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS is currently publishing a series of ten articles which discuss the proposal of a constitutional convention. They are written by Dr. ARTHUR W. BROMAGE, of the University of Michigan, and are designed to help voters decide whether or not this is the proper time for a complete overhauling of Michigan's Constitution.

★ ★ ★

Every voter, regardless of his present convictions, should read these articles.

The issue deserves a careful and intelligent decision.

Pioneer Rocket Flight Thrilling Achievement

Soaring 79,000 miles into space, the greatest distance over the earth ever pierced by man, the Pioneer rocket's remarkable performance has convinced Air Force officials that the moon can be reached before long.

The rocket didn't circle the earth or come close to it. Except for a slight error in trajectory and the lack of a little more thrust, it might have gone all the way. However, the Pioneer carried important recording instruments and perhaps its most important accomplishment, apart from the fields of communication and weather reporting, was information on radiation.

★ ★ ★

The data received indicates that the intensity of the radiation belt stretching thousands of miles above the earth, has been exaggerated. Instruments showed that Roentgen doses would be encountered exceeding the levels permitted for atomic workers but below some accidentally experienced without serious effects. Heavy radiation would have interposed a serious barrier to man's flight into space.

★ ★ ★

Scientists from other lands cooperated in the close watch of the rocket's flight. Britain's giant radio telescope at Jodrell Bank made noteworthy contributions. This interest indicates the importance of the test to the whole world.

The success of Pioneer I also will do much to nullify Soviet propaganda. Ever since the Russians announced their successful ICBM test in August, 1957, and launched their first Sputnik, the United States has been at a propaganda disadvantage.

★ ★ ★

After a year of limited achievement and many disappointments, we can take pride in the ramarkable performance of the Pioneer. Those who contributed to this thrilling forward stride merit the thanks and the congratulations of all Americans.

Roaring Right Past the Stopped Bus

David Lawrence Says:

Hopes Stirring in Republican Camp

LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Reports that the Democratic Party leaders are beginning to revise downward their previous estimates about a "landslide" victory in the coming congressional elections are unwittingly a stimulus to the Republican Party's workers.

For until recently the tendency privately among Republicans was to predict a big defeat. Before President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon started to do some campaigning, defeatism was really rampant among the Republicans.

★ ★ ★

What then has prompted the Democratic leaders to grow a little less confident than they were a few weeks ago? One thing undoubtedly has been the healthy sentiment generally about an upturn in business. Economic conditions are improving right along and businessmen exude a feeling of confidence that, so far as recession is concerned, the worst is over and a boom is in sight already.

★ ★ ★

Politically speaking, the Republicans have improved their chances of winning back many congressional seats they lost in 1956 by reason of the drop in farm income.

Most of these districts are in the West. Incidentally, the Republican congressmen in the agricultural areas who were defeated lost by narrow margins. It is conceivable that these seats will be regained by them. Where the Democrats had hoped to pick up seats in the Middle West and Far West, they may not make as many gains. This probably is the real reason for the revision of their estimates.

As economic conditions improve, the city vote of the Republicans should also show less of a deviation from normal. This, together with Republican strength in rural areas, should enhance the position of Republican candidates for the Senate in such states as New York and Wisconsin.

There are strenuous efforts being made by Republican organizations to win back disgruntled Republicans, and on the success of this effort is dependent whether the Democrats are going to gain the seats they have for several months been looking forward to capturing.

★ ★ ★

The Democrats have the advantage of the big labor union organizations on their side. The precinct workers of the labor groups are so numerous that no regular political party organization can match them. Their only handicap is that they are concentrated in the cities.

★ ★ ★

If the Republicans work hard in the small towns and rural areas and persuade large numbers of the apathetic or indifferent voters to go to the polls to offset the city votes of the Democats, Republican chances will be immeasurably improved in statewide contests.

Foreign policy may have more of an impact on the campaign now that the Red Chinese have resumed their shelling of the offshore islands. Those Democrats who have been advocating a species of surrender are encountering a growing resentment from the voters generally.

★ ★ ★

The country is beginning to understand how dangerous it would be to accept the advice of those Democrats who want America to betray the Nationalist Chinese by forcing them to give up the offshore islands.

The whole issue is one that is beginning to be understood by the American people. The offshore islands are a symbol of freedom. To give them up is to announce to the entire free world that America is retreating and surrendering.

The obvious purpose of the on-again-off-again tactics of the Communists is to produce, if possible, some embarrassment for the Eisenhower administration during the current political campaign. But the American people are standing behind the President and those few Democratic spokesmen who want to see delicate issues of an international nature kept out of the campaign.

"There's nothing like the bright, scrubbed faces of youngsters in a Sunday School class to give a man faith in our future."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Iodin Ration, Riboflavin Help Many Stay Young

A Michigan lady says she has been on iodin ration now for a year. It has been just what she needed. She is 42 but feels as if she were 21 again. This, she adds, is just one of the many benefits.

DR. BRADY

A suitable intake of iodin, essential for every child, youth or adult, has some such effect on many people, particularly people who live in the Great Lakes Basin where the soil, water and locally grown food is deficient in iodin.

Remember, we are talking about nutrition. The daily ration of iodin I recommend is not medicine. If you are confused about it, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the free pamphlet "The Iodin Ration."

It was not iodin but riboflavin (formerly called vitamin B-2 or vitamin G) to which a great nutrition authority, McCallum, ascribed preservation of the characteristics of youth.

★ ★ ★

The daily minimum requirement of riboflavin (the least that will prevent manifestations of nutritional deficiency) recommended by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, is 2 milligrams (about 1/30th of a grain). Four glasses (a quart) of milk would contain about 2 milligrams. Milk is the best food source of riboflavin.

FOOD SOURCES

Other good food sources of riboflavin are cheese, eggs, plain wheat as it comes from the thresher, dried alfalfa, greens, liver, sardines, fish roe, broccoli, nuts.

I am reminded of the Iowa farmer who told me that when he felt weary he had himself a dish of alfalfa tea and presently went prancing back to work.

In the free pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks" (for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope) I recommend a daily supplement for the ordinary diet—it supplies enough of the three vitamins and three minerals to make up for the deficiency of these essentials in the average diet.

In the booklet Chronic Joint Deficiency, which deals with rheumatiz, or, as you poor misguided creatures call it, "arthritis," (35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope), I recommend as a daily, year-round routine, what I have only just realized are more liberal allowances of the same three vitamins and three minerals.

I can't explain it. Maybe it's just the way the ball bounces. On the other hand maybe I'm in a rut. Anyway you're the doctor — you decide for yourself whether my teachings make sense or nonsense.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Union Members Indignant About Unfairness of Strike

Why is it that the UAW-CIO, the great protector of the working class of people, will accept union dues from its members at any time, but when you stand in line for four or five hours to collect your strike assistance check you find out you're not qualified for it?

★ ★ ★

They tell you you're not a member in good standing because your dues weren't paid on a certain date. They took $15 out of our checks for this purpose and they also took our dues for August and September but still we're not fit to draw anything from the strike fund, regardless how long the strike lasts.

★ ★ ★

They tell us how cheap Pontiac Motor and GM are. Why don't they take inventory of themselves and see who is cheap? I can't blame the U. S. government for checking into union funds and activities. I think it should when things like this go on. Is this the democratic way the union runs things?

UAW Wins Again

Our banquet dinners at Local 653 have ended. What happened to the big meals? Put an end to some of the romance and stage shows and get down to business and maybe these strikes wouldn't last so long.

'Happy Policemen Do Better Jobs'

The more I read the paper, the more I get confused on this police deal. If the brass has legitimate gripes against subordinate officers and men, why don't they bring them before the board and prove who's right? If the men are dishonest and unfit to wear the badge, get rid of them. But so far, I can't see any honest charges, just talk.

The head of the department agreed to an investigation and then insulted the man who did it. They knew he was only 28 before they hired him and what's age got to do with a man's ability? What I'd like to know is why a man with 33 years experience can't get the respect of his men?

Our great city of Pontiac can never have a top police department if the men don't respect their bosses. They have a full time job keeping law and order and they can't do that until they clean their own house. Let's all make up and have a happy police department and then a top running police department.

Members of Baha'i Support UN Day

In anticipation of United Nations Day, we members of the Baha'i World Faith wish to state we're in accord with the assemblage working for peace.

In 1865 Baha'u'llah, prophet and founder of the Baha'i faith, outlined a plan for a universal league of nations in which all countries would lovingly and prayerfully consult with each other to make and maintain international peace. He also stated it should support a police force strong enough to quell any uprising among individual nations. We feel the United Nations is an outgrowth of this plan prophesied 93 years ago.

In these troubled times we hope spiritual brotherhood, which unites nations and removes the cause of warfare and strife, may be achieved and continually practiced in the U.N.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Good Samaritan Attitude Pays Off

You've heard the poem about the house beside the road. Well, Hazel operates a cozy eating house beside Route 136 in Indiana and tries to be a motherly soul who be-friends many homesick truck drivers and other lonely travelers. She employs the Good Samaritan technique, as do thousands of other kindly restaurant folks.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 350: Mrs. Hazel Small, aged 58, operates a neat little roadside restaurant on U. S. 136, just east of Waynetown, Indiana.

DR. CRANE

On our way to Indianapolis recently, Mrs. Crane and I stopped for a bite to eat.

Mrs. Small is a motherly type who is a superb applied psychologist, plus a whiz of a cook, for we have sampled her food many times.

"Dr. Crane, I try to create a homey atmosphere," she began, "for I find that many truck drivers get lonesome while on the road.

"The other night, for example, I was sitting in this same booth where you and Mrs. Crane now are.

★ ★ ★

"A young man was at the counter on a stool when a large group arrived and needed his stool.

"Since all the other booths were occupied, I asked the young truck driver if he wouldn't like to join me at my booth while I had my cup of coffee.

"He gladly accepted, and we talked for almost an hour. I told him about our town and the interesting people in it, while he soon informed me about his family.

"As he left, he thanked me very sincerely and added that he had been so homesick he felt he could hardly go on with his truck, for he was 1,000 miles from home and overwhelmed with loneliness.

"But his talk with me had been a tonic to him so he felt as if he had had a visit with his mother.

"Well, that compliment was good for my soul and I guess I helped lighten his journey, too.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, I find that operating a roadside eating place gives me many chances to practice the Good Samaritan principle.

GOOD SAMARITAN

"Five boys stopped here last week. One was about 21 but the others were youngsters of 10 or 12.

"They ordered milk and pie. But when they were ready to pay their bill, I saw that they pooled all their money and had nothing left.

"When I asked them if they were still hungry, the youngest boy nodded but said he didn't have another cent.

★ ★ ★

"Well, I had just prepared several banana cream pies. But when I poured the filling into the first pie, the crust crumbled, so it was not very attractive to place on the counter.

"On the spur of the moment, I decided I'd surprise these boys. I went out into the kitchen and cut that fresh pie into five pieces, after which I set a piece in front of each one.

"Then I told them it was a bonus. They devoured it with shining eyes and thanked me.

★ ★ ★

"As they went out the door, the youngest boy called back: 'I'll never forget this place.'"

GOD IN RESTAURANTS

Most of us think of God as being in our churches, but you will find God in Mrs. Small's restaurant and in a lot of other eating places, for kindness probably shows up as often along our highways as in formal religious edifices.

I've known Mrs. Small for ten years. She is a kindly person with a plump, energetic figure which accomplishes more than two ordinary people get done.

She keeps her roadside restaurant open on Sunday so she probably gets to church rather seldom.

But she applies the Good Samaritan technique many times.

If Christ were walking along Route 136, I imagine He would enjoy sitting in her restaurant as much as in many churches.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Yardstick Giving means more adequate support for our health and welfare services. It means that each year more and more men and women in all income groups give careful consideration to the community's well-being. It means that ours is a better community in which to Live — Work — and Raise a Family, because of more and better services to everyone. And most of all it means a fair distribution of the financial responsibility among many, rather than a sacrifice for a few. It takes the guesswork out of giving—It gives each contributor the satisfaction of pledging his share.

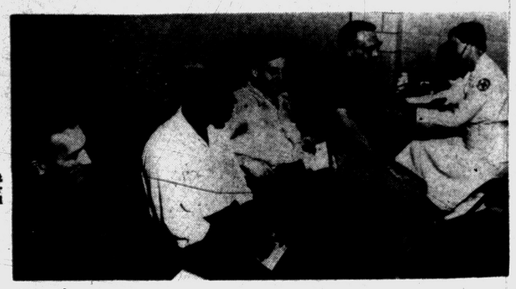
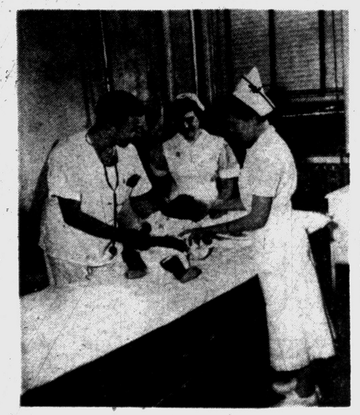
Sight for the sightless—and a new lease on life is provided for the blind at Rochester's Leader Dogs for the Blind, one of the 55 community service agencies included in this year's Fund drive.



On every street — in every plant there are people who help . . . or are helped through the Red Cross.



One out of every seven Pontiac area residents directly receives aid from one or more of the health agencies included in this year's Tenth Anniversary Campaign.

Medical research aimed at eliminating the many dreaded and crippling diseases like Cancer, Polio, Heart Disease, Epilepsy, Nephrosis, Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis, Arthritis and Rheumatism are financed by United Fund dollars.

Pontiac, the city with a heart, need not let this forgotten child symbolize its younger generation.

Cancer kills one man, woman, or child every two minutes in our nation. Fight this dreaded disease by pledging generously to the Pontiac Area United Fund. The South Eastern Michigan Division of the American Cancer Society is included in our drive.

Helping couples mend their family problems is a career job for the trained therapists working in the family counseling agencies of our United Fund.

Hal Boyle Says:

5-Year-Old Off to Sea and Right in-the-Swim

ABOARD THE SS BRASIL AT SEA (AP)—It is nice for every good girl to learn three things early in life.

They are: how to play the piano, how to sit down gracefully without showing her knees, and how to swim.

Two of these ladylike accomplishments are presently impossible for our daughter, Tracy An. At the age of five she is all knees, and she beats a piano as if it were a drum.

★ ★ ★

But she has achieved the third feat. She has learned to swim, and in our family this now ranks as the greatest victory at sea since Trafalgar.

At first I was dubious about taking Tracy on this maiden voyage of the new Mooremack liner Brasil to South America.

"She'll miss nearly three full weeks of kindergarten," I objected to my wife, "Getting off to a good start in kindergarten is highly important."

"Well," replied Frances, a bit acidly, "I think with luck she'll be able to overcome the handicap by the time she enters college."

We finally made a compromise. Tracy could come along if she agreed faithfully each day to keep up with her kindergarten home work—paper scissoring and water coloring. You can't afford to fall behind in these vital subjects. If you don't learn to cut out paper dolls in kindergarten, you'll never learn it at Radcliff.

A modern ship at sea is a wonderful and exciting world to a child. Because she is merry and friendly, people like to spoil Tracy. She quickly became an unofficial crew mascot.

★ ★ ★

One night at dinner she gravely confided to staff Capt. Robert H. Bradsell: "My five best friends are all captains. There's you, and Johnny and three others."

Investigation disclosed Johnny and the other three "captains" were all bellboys. To Tracy there was no distinction. She still ranks people by the way they smile rather than by the gold braid they wear.

From the first day she took to the children's swimming pool like a porpoise, and her nose sprouted a new freckle an hour under the hot southern sun as she struggled valiantly to swim.

She was absolutely heedless of the danger of drowning, but the pool guard said: "The less afraid they are of the water, the quicker they start swimming."

One afternoon she simply pushed away from the pool wall and set out for the other side, her small paws flailing the water like those of a skinned poodle.

★ ★ ★

She made the other side and turned — a woman flushed with the exultation of a major triumph — and immediately swam back. She swallowed less than half the contents of the pool on the way. Watching from an upper deck, I didn't know whether to laugh or cry. It was a landmark moment for daddy-o, too.

The next day she entered a swimming race for beginners and won over a 10-year-old opponent.

"That wasn't easy," she said later, still breathless. "Ten-year-old girls have awful long arms."

Now every day she insists that her mother and I enter the water, too, and take swimming lessons from her. It does no good for me to point out I've been swimming for more than 30 years and, bad as I am, probably won't ever get much better.

"Just watch me and do like I do," says Tracy confidently. "If you're going to learn to do something, you might as well learn how to do it really right."

Should We Rewrite Our Constitution?

102 Delegates to Be Needed if Vote on Nov. 4 Is 'Yes'

(Second in a series of 10 articles on constitutional conventions)

By ARTHUR W. BROMAGE
Professor of Political Science
University of Michigan

If Michigan voters in November summon a convention to revise the State Constitution, 102 delegates will have to be selected.

As to how this is done, the present constitution is clear on one point. Three delegates must be elected from each of the state's 34 senatorial districts.

Apart from this, the constitution does not spell out how the delegates are picked. Earlier this year, a bill providing for their nomination and election on party tickets was vetoed by Gov. Williams.

If the November vote is a "yes" vote, new legislation must be passed promptly, since the delegates will have to be named next April.

★ ★ ★

Necessity of using the state senatorial districts has cut into the support for calling a constitutional convention. It accounts for lack of endorsement from the Democratic party.

When area and not population forms the basis for representation in Michigan, it means that the less thickly settled sections get a voice out of proportion to the number of residents in the state. It is estimated that the Republicans would get a substantial majority of the delegates.

If there are enough votes in November to call a constitutional convention in Michigan, the work will be spread over a gradual and deliberate schedule. The 102 members of the convention will be elected next April and will convene in Lansing next September.

Proposals resulting from their deliberations can be voted on by the people in April, 1960, provided the delegates complete their work and adjourn 90 days before then. The vote can be later if the convention requires more time.

If this deadline for submission is not met, the delegates will probably complete their work in time for the November election of 1960. And a revised constitution adopted by the voters either in April or November 1960 will take effect Jan 1, 1961.

★ ★ ★

In organizing, the delegates choose their own officers; decide upon their rules of order. It is likely that they would divide up into committees to carry out their tasks, although the entire convention must decide on what to recommend to the voters as a new or revised constitution.

Stamps on Sale Mark Period Without Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — New stamps marking the Vatican's period without a pope went on sale today.

The stamps are issued between the death of Pope Pius XII and the election of his successor. They show the crossed keys of St. Peter and the canopy of a cardinal's throne.

★ ★ ★

They carry the inscription, "Sede Vacante" (Seat Vacant) and the year 1958 in Roman numerals.

★ ★ ★

Three stamps have been issued: a yellow one worth 15 lire (2.5 cents), a white one for 25 lire (4 cents) and a violet one for 60 lire (10 cents).

4-H Alumni in Oakland Asked to Aid Camp Fund

Former 4-H club members living in Oakland County are being asked to participate in the 4-H "Alumni Roll Call" now going on to help raise funds for Camp Kett, the new state 4-H training center.

Chairmen for the county's drive are Jim Reid, 5400 Cedar Island Rd., Milford, and Mrs. Stuart Braid, 2331 Lake George Rd., Lake Orion. The campaign will run through November 15.

Dedicated to training youth leaders, the $300,000 state training center will be located on a 140-acre tract owned by the 4-H Club Foundation of Michigan on Center Lake in Osceola County.

Texas Menaced by New Flood

Waters of Rio Grande Still Rising at Points 800 Miles Apart

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Rio Grande, on a rampage one place or another all fall, threatened new flooding at points 800 miles apart today.

Floodways built to relieve pressure from the main stream ran bankfull at some points and the International Boundary and Water Commission kept a wary eye on them. Water from the river and the floodway system already has spread over thousands of acres and chased an estimated 12,000 from their homes in this area near the Gulf.

★ ★ ★ ★

Far up the winding river at Presidio, Tex., flooded earlier this year, the Rio Grande rose again. By Monday it had risen four to five feet since Saturday and the international bridge there was blocked again. No flooding was reported, however.

At this end several persons living near the floodway at Harlingen, 20 miles from the river, fled their homes as a precautionary measure.

★ ★ ★

However, the river continued its slow fall at the upper end of this flooded section, just below Falcon Dam.

John Selleck, chief hydrographer for the IBWC said, "Things are a lot brighter now. When it starts to drop on one end then you can begin to see daylight and determine what to do on the other end."

Posture Photos Taken in School Stir Parents

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—The freshman coed without her clothes on stood behind a sheet, fixed vertically like a movie screen in the gymnasium.

A light behind her threw her full-length image on the sheet. The shutter clocked on a special camera, recording her silhouette.

Nude photography? No, just part of a posture program at Towson State Teachers College — required of all freshmen girls.

★ ★ ★

"We would never think of making nude photographs," said Towson President Earl T. Hawkins after some parents had objected to the program.

Dr. Hawkins conceded "the danger of misunderstanding" the program. But he made clear that:

The girls stand disrobed for only a moment.

A female gym teacher takes and develops the photos.

Developed prints are kept in a locked file to which no one has access except the teacher and the department head, also a woman.

It's impossible for an observer to determine the identity of the subject from the silhouette.

Although all girls must take part, they can decide for themselves whether to disrobe completely. The teacher says only without garments can a true silhouette be obtained.

Dr. Hawkins said corrective exercises are prescribed after the posture prints are studied.

★ ★ ★

Why don't boys participate too? The staff isn't large enough to handle them, said Dr. Hawkins.

Transistor Price Dips

NEW YORK — More than 28,000,000 transistors were sold last year in the United States. The average price was $2.40, which was 20 per cent lower than in 1956. Dr. William Shockley, one of the transistor's co-inventors, believes the average cost will plunge to about 25 cents in the next five years.

Church Offers Plan for Peace

Christian Sect Urges Birth Control, Admission of Red China to U.N.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The International Convention of Christian Churches acts today on a fervently stated plan for world peace.

It excited more discussion than anything to come before the 8,500 ministers and laymen attending the six-day convention.

The practical steps it suggests contemplate birth control education in overpopulated areas of the world and admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

★ ★ ★

Both these ideas were attacked when the 13-page document was processed by the convention's Committee on Recommendations. This panel of 201 men and women elected by state conventions of Christian Churches, and by provincial conventions in Canada, resisted efforts to tone down the resolution. It was passed on to the convention's General Assembly as a statement of position. Some sought to label it merely a document for study.

★ ★ ★

"What is needed today," it says "is the moral and ethical leadership which should be coming from an informed Christian community."

The statement urges universal disarmament under a United Nations inspection system. It calls for a suspension of nuclear weapons tests. It urges limits on the production and storage of long-range missiles, international control of the production of nuclear materials and U.N. control of space exploration.

★ ★ ★

Several of its proposals are designed to strengthen the United Nations — "The world's greatest political hope for peace."

To build the foundations of peace, the plan suggests: equality of opportunity for the races, freedom of communications, free international trade, financial and technical help for have-not nations and independence for colonies and satellite nations.

First Social Register Irks Many Canadians

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Some people have taken an antisocial attitude toward Canada's first Social Register, its publisher reports.

David B. Crombie said he had received some two dozen telephone calls accusing him of "trying to foment a class war in Canada" by listing 40,000 elite in his Blue Book, published last Friday.

Crombie said the callers expressed "a lot of hostility and they said nasty things I wouldn't care to repeat." He conferred with a private detective agency about possible protection but did not complain to police.

Taking a stoic stance, Crombie commented: "It is the same in any case of trying to pioneer something new in a country."

Calls on Doctors Noted

NEW YORK — Persons living on farms see their doctors about 3.6 times a year compared with 5.1 times a year for city residents, according to a study by the National Health Survey. For the rural nonfarm population the rate of doctor visoits per persons per year was found to be 4.5.

Bob Considine Says:

Nixon Must Fight Tough or Get Clobbered

NEW YORK — People . . . places . . . planes . . .

Vice President Nixon's campaign for the White House in 1960 appears based on the following philosophy: Use Harry S. Truman as a model of how NOT to run for office but with one exception—win against overwhelming odds as old Harry did in '48.

Nineteen sixty's campaign promises to offer welcome relief to political buffs who like a good ripsnorting fight. The years with Dwight David Eisenhower, who abhors politics and sincerely believes it demeans a gentleman to engage in same, have been a steady diet of pablum to those who pine for the red meat of debate and controversy.

With Nixon and Truman explosively spearheading the rival forces, we should have our fill. However, to fulfill those expectations, the Vice President must remember that charges of "character assassination" against him are being lodged by fellow pros who are pretty doggone able character assassins themselves. If he tries to fight this one with kid gloves, in his role as the "new Nixon," he's going to get clobbered.

Wonder how Mr. Dulles is going to say it to Chiang Kai-shek?

What the secretary of state unquestionably is going to tell the leader of the Nationalist Chinese is that he's not going home to China again.

Instead, he is going to stay on his little island and be a good boy—like Singhman Rhee in South Korea, whose gasoline we lock up whenever he makes sounds like a man about to barge northward over the truce line. He is not going to bomb those mainland artillery batteries. He is not to be given the tools of an offense, only the weapons of defense—interceptors, not bombers; Nike missiles, not Thors or Jupiters.

If Red China bombs Formosa, well (the secretary will say) that'll be different. He probably won't spell out just how it will be different, just what we would be prepared to do, how far we'd go toward the ultimate war.

The story of the crash of that Russian TU104 jet the other day brought back a flood of memories of a trip Bill Hearst, Frank Conniff and I took on one like it—if not the same one—a year ago.

It's a good airplane, the TU104, fast, graceful, comfortable, though it probably would financially break any free enterprise operator who used it as his standard carrier.

Aeroflot, the Soviet airline system, is under no compulsion to make money in order to stay in business. Its jet operation is for prestige primarily.

What BOAC and Pan American have done over the past couple of weeks was inaugurated by the Russians, in effect, in September of 1956. The TU104 we rode from Prague to Moscow in stopped there just long enough to gas up and then flew on to Omsk, Irkutsk and down across Outer Mongolia to Peiping. Routine.

We were three Americans among 70 Communist leaders and delegates from a dozen lands. There were cheers at lunchtime when a Latin columnist proposed a toast to Khrushchev and the hammer-and-sickle forever. Only the three of us drank a toast I proposed to the President of the United States. But a number of puzzled Reds uncertainly joined in a toast proposed by Conniff—who offered one "to the president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers."

They've probably all since been shot.

The finest restraint of the New York gubernatorial race has been demonstrated by Republican candidate Nelson Rockefeller.

When he expresses his appreciation for some favor given, or vote offered, he grins like a schoolboy and says, "Thanks a thousand." Never, "Thanks a million."

Maybe it's a throwback to his grandfather's familiar exclamation, "Thanks a dime."

A hurried reading of Field Marshal Montgomery's memoirs suggests the thought that we should all say a prayer of thanksgiving tonight for managing to defeat Italy, Germany and Japan with a numbskull allied leadership which had only one impeccable genius. Fellow named Field Marshal Montgomery.

The man who stayed in Caen long enough to become eligible to wear a beret and vote implies that if left to his own devices he could have ended the war in the first round.

Senate Candidate Hart to Tour County Friday

United States Senate candidate Philip A. Hart has planned a dawn-to-dusk campaign tour of Oakland County Friday.

Lt. Gov. Hart will kickoff a busy day at 6 a.m. when he is expected to meet factory workers at local plants with Fred V. Haggard, Oakland County CIO Council president.

Later in the morning Hart will move to Pontiac Central High where he will be asked questions by civics students. A similar Rochester High School government class will question the Democratic candidate at 1 p.m. William K. Benson, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, will accompany Hart to the Rochester school.

Hart will take part in the dedication ceremonies of the new Community Hospital near Romeo from 2:30 to 4 p.m.

Pontiac precinct delegates will hold a dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel in the evening, from which the candidate will move over to Madison Junior High for a Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce candidates rally.

State Office Building Plan Remains Alive

LANSING (AP) — Attempts to start construction of a 10-million-dollar state office building in Lansing got another lease on life from the State Administrative Board yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The all-Democratic board offered two alternatives to the Republican-run State Office Building Committee, the group empowered to authorize construction of the 14-story building.

The ad board renewed an offer to finance the project from the state employes retirement fund at a 3.95 per cent interest rate—the going rate on the bond market for similar borrowings.

It also agreed to accept the legislative committee's 3.08 per cent offer on the loan provided the legislature will appropriate funds which might be needed to keep the retirement fund "actuarily sound."

The ad board earlier rejected the lower offer, saying that as trustees of the fund they were responsible for obtaining the highest interest rate possible.

Plan to See World in 80 Musical Ways

A case of mistaken identity leads to a hilarious trip around the world — in 80 ways though — not days — for the public attending the fifth annual Hi Fever Follies.

The production, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital, will be presented Nov. 5 and 6 in Central High School auditorium for the benefit of Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

This year's production "Around the World in 80 Ways," is the story of two school teachers, Mabel and Gertrude, who are on their way to see the celebrated film, "Around the World in 80 Days," and discover, too late, that the tickets they purchase from a sidewalk barker are not for a film, but for a world tour.

FLOAT AWAY

Before they can change their minds, they are loaded onto a balloon and away they go.

First stop, England — There a young lovely, but lonely, American girl discovers romance on a "Foggy Day in London Town," and a male quartette boasts of what it can do with "A Little Bit of Luck."

★ ★ ★

The two teachers and the audience — will see highland flings in Scotland and the lush scenery of Germany.

No world tour would be complete without a look at Paris —and Mabel and Gertrude stay on the beaten track to hear a glamorous chanteuse and watch a lively can-can dance.

A huge Venetian carnival brings the first act to a bright ending with the "Italian Street Song."

SEE JUNGLE CHINA

In act two, the teachers stop off in the jungle, land of gypsies, China, the South Seas, and Hawaii, where they see an exhibition of hula dancing by earnest male members of the company rigged out in wigs and grass skirts.

★ ★ ★

A critical glance is given all those South American dances which have invaded the homelands over the past decade or two and the wild West is also brought to life on the stage.

A stop in Chicago is hilariously punctuated by an added historical (and hysterical) note: the time is 1925, the setting is a speakeasy, hideout of Chicago's most notorious gangsters. A gum-chewing Charleston is one of the high points of the scene.

★ ★ ★

The world tour ends in a New York night club where Gertrude and Mabel hear the blues sung and watch some solid jazz and jitterbug dancing.

MR. and MRS. LEE M. HATHAWAY

Hathaway-Barber Vows Spoken in Church Rite

White chrysanthemums and white gladioli banked the altar of First Congregational Church for the Saturday evening wedding of Gail Mary Barber and Lee Milton Hathaway. The Rev. Malcolm Burton and the Rev. Karl Ostberg officiated at the ceremony before 250 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilson H. Barber of Cherokee road and Dr. and Mrs. F. Milton Hathaway of East Iroquois road.

IN SILK AND LACE

The bride wore a floor-length gown of silk bombazine and Chantilly lace. Sequins and seed pearls accented the scalloped lace portrait neckline, and a lace Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls secured her veil of illusion. The full skirt of her gown featured a panel of lace that formed a full chapel train. She carried a bouquet of white roses, feathered carnations and ivy.

Mrs. Kurt E. Bemman Jr. was her sister's matron of honor, and Sue Ann Hathaway, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Beth Tenny, Patricia Campbell of Onaway and Mary Orr of Detroit.

All wore blue lace and chiffon dresses and carried cascade bouquets of white and blue carnations.

★ ★ ★

MICHIGAN HONEYMOON

When the couple left for a honeymoon to northern Michigan following a reception held in the church parlors, the bride was wearing a navy blue wool jersey dress with matching accessories and the rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live on Dwight avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Grace Hospital School of Nursing and her husband is attending Wayne State University.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Barber wore a turquoise Chantilly lace dress with pink accessories and a pink orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Hathaway wore a topaz beige lace dress accented with satin and matching accessories. Her corsage was of bronze orchids.

Style Show Set by Figure Club

Fashion Your Figure Club will hold a style show Nov. 6 at Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

Models will be Mrs. Raymond Gartley, Dorthea Campbell, Mrs. Harry Wallace, Mrs. Gerald Ellis, Mrs. John Lutzkiw, Mrs. Wallace Rauch, Mrs. Joseph McLeod, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mary McAboy, Mrs. Clarence Mahaffey and Mrs. Edward Flood.

Tickets may be purchased from club members.

Bride-to-Be Announces Attendants

Joan Wyzgoski was honored at a personal shower Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. James Bendig of Clarkston.

Miss Wyzgoski announced her attendants. They will be her sister, Mrs. George Sullivan, matron of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Bendig, Mrs. Lorin Goodwin and Frances Kline, sister of the bridegroom. Pamela Stockman, the bride's niece, will be flower girl.

★ ★ ★

Guests were Mrs. Joseph Bildstein, Mrs. John Deschaine, Mrs. John Annis, Mrs. David Kline, Mrs. Raymond Valentine, Mrs. Frank Spadafore, Mrs. Richard Courteau, Mrs. Frances Guellec, Mrs. Francis O'Connor, Mrs. Jerry Mancuso, Mrs. Theodore Gross, Mrs. Robert Phillips Jr., Mrs. Thomas Rehwoldt, Lorene Rossman and Margaret Graham.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wyzgoski will become the bride of James P. Kline Dec. 27 at St. Vincent de Paul Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Wyzgoski of Middlebelt road and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kline of Dearborn.

Frederika Arrives Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Greece's vivacious Queen Frederika arrives today with two of her children for a 40-day coast-to-coast private tour that will include lunching with President Eisenhower and launching the world's largest cargo vessel.

It is the Queen's second visit to the United States and her children's first.

The 41-year-old Frederika was accompanied by 18-year-old Crown Prince Constantine, a lieutenant in the Greek Army, and her elder daughter, Princess Sophie, who will celebrate her 20th birthday in Salt Lake City, Nov. 2. The princess is a carbon copy of her curly-haired mother.

ON SEPARATE TOUR

Constantine, who bears the classic title of Duke of Sparta, has been invited to tour important U.S. continental defense installations by Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy, and will travel separately from his mother and sister.

The royal ladies will visit 13 cities, visiting friends, inspecting social service institutions, sightseeing and taking part in a few social functions.

★ ★ ★

Details of the Queen's visit have been kept very hush-hush due to her desire for privacy. The Queen felt that the glitter and formality of her state visit with her husband, King Paul I, in 1953, kept her from really getting acquainted with America. She will travel very simply, accompanied by only one lady-in-waiting.

TO LUNCH WITH IKE

The royal party will go Thursday to Washington. President and Mrs. Eisenhower will entertain them at lunch and the Queen will play lunch hostess to Secretary of State and Mrs. John Foster Dulles at the Greek embassy, where she will stay. She will visit the American Red Cross headquarters, the Atomic Energy Commission, and attend a press reception in her honor.

★ ★ ★

Mayor and Mrs. Robert F. Wagner of New York will fete the Queen at a reception for 2,500 business and social leaders and U.N. diplomats at the Waldorf-Astoria grand ballroom Oct. 29.

Dear Abby...

Football Juliet Scores Zero Making Passes at Players

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: There are two fellows I am in love with. They both play football for the Philadelphia Eagles. One plays halfback and the other plays right tackle. I wrote to them, but never got an answer from either one of them. I tried to call them on the phone, but couldn't get them.

ABBY

"I don't know if they are married or going steady or anything about them, but they sure have got me shook. Please tell me how I can meet them?"

FOR THE EAGLES

DEAR FOR: You may be "for the Eagles," but your behavior is for the birds. If you want to score, you will have to let the fellows make the passes.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl and my problem is I want my own bedroom. I am expected to share a bedroom with my brother who is 12. It isn't because we don't have a big house, either, because we have. My mother has two extra bedrooms. One is full of old furniture and piled to the ceiling with empty boxes and junk but she is too lazy to clean it out. The other one see uses for a sewing room but she never sews. Can you tell me if I am wrong in complaining?" FIFTEEN

★ ★ ★

DEAR FIFTEEN: You are definitely NOT wrong. You should not be expected to share a bedroom with your 12-year-old brother. Offer to help your mother clean out the room full of junk (and I'll bet your brother would help, too) and enlist the support of your father on the project.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am one of those foolish women you read about who let a man waste eight years of her life before she found out that he was married. I have no intention of getting roped in on a deal like that again, but here is my problem. I have been going with this man for six months and he swears up and down that he is divorced. I want to make absolutely sure before I spend any more time on him. How can I go about it without insulting the man?"

MAKING SURE

DEAR MAKING: Ask to see his divorce papers. If he has them he will not be insulted. If he hasn't—he deserves to be.

"DEAR ABBY: A while back you printed a letter from a lady who had trouble with her husband who was a photography bug. It was my story to a T except we don't have any cats. (My husband thought I put that in to throw him off.) My husband always develops his prints in my bathtub and uses my hair dryer to dry his negatives. My problem is how to turn HIS dark room back into MY kitchen again.

"He keeps developing trays on the washing machine and timing lights are attached to the dish cabinet. One of these days someone will fracture his skull getting up from the table too quickly. Is there any help for us photography widows?"

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

DEAR VOICE: Every hubby should have a hobby, but it shouldn't take over the whole house. Be positive about his negatives and see what develops.

"DEAR ABBY: I am fourteen years old and am in high school. I like a boy but he doesn't like me. He liked me before I liked him, but when I started to like him he found out about it and didn't like me any more. Do you think I should quit liking him or is there a chance that if I quit liking him he will start liking me again?" LIKING HIM

DEAR LIKING: You don't have to quit LIKING him—just quit letting other people (and him) know about it.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "RED": You are absolutely wrong. If you go to "A.A" it will NOT get around. Furthermore, if your boss knew you attended "A.A" he would not fire you, he would respect you as a man who knows he has a drinking problem and is sincere in his determination to lick it. Good luck!

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 13, almost 14. My best girl friend has the most wonderful brother. He is 16 and goes to the same high school. We sometimes walk together, the three of us. I know he likes me but he is too brotherly. I don't want this. I have my own brothers, I would give anything if he liked me like I like him. How can I get him as a boy friend?" SINCERELY, ANN

DEAR ANN: Be available . . . but not aggressive . . . be sweet, but not sugary. Let him know that you like him—but don't let him know how much. Good luck!

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO DIANE: You are wasting your time. Your boy friend has Anns in his plans!

Only Brides' Pictures to Be Printed in Press

Once again The Pontiac Press Women's department is reminding brides of our new policy regarding wedding pictures. After Oct. 31 we will be unable to use pictures with both bride and bridegroom. We will accept only portraits of the bride.

The Press can not publish every picture submitted, but will attempt to use as many as space allows.

Remember, we can not assume responsibility for loss or damage to photographs, and only those which have names and addresses printed clearly on the back will be returned.

MR. and MRS. KENNETH CARLSON

Judith M. Hurley and Kenneth L. Carlson were married Friday evening at First Presbyterian Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Hurley and Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Carlson.

Judith Hurley Becomes Bride of Kenneth Carlson

White chrysanthemums and white snapdragons banked the altar of First Presbyterian Church for the Friday evening wedding of Judith M. Hurley and Kenneth L. Carlson. The Rev. William H. Marbach officiated at the ceremony before 125 guests.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Hurley of Forest avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Lester K. Carlson of Grayton street.

The bride wore a satin taffeta gown with chapel length train and a lace bodice. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle was held by a jeweled tiara. On a Bible, she carried a cascade bouquet of ivy centered by a white orchid.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Nancy Wern was matron of honor. Her dress was of pink lace. Bridesmaids were Lois Carlson and Carol McCullough. Their dresses were deep pink with velveteen bodices, Sabrina necklines and chiffon skirts. All wore crowns of velveteen flowers.

The matron of honor carried a cascade bouquet of crimson carnations and the bridesmaids bouquets were pink carnations.

★ ★ ★

Best man was Walter Stonehouse with ushers Glenn H. Hurley and Roger Moore.

The bride changed to a pink sweater dress when the couple left for a honeymoon to Mackinaw following a reception in the church parlors.

Mrs. Hurley wore a royal blue sheath dress and an orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Carlson wore a deep blue crepe sheath with matching hat and an orchid corsage.

All the rage with the school set this year are these suede oxfords with ribbed foam-rubber soles. They come in beige, black, red, gray and white buck and match up perfectly with ever popular ribbed wool knee socks and plaid skirts.

You May Get Her Substitute

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I asked a relative who is soon to be married what she would like for a wedding present. She mentioned a particular article and I said that I would get it for her. I had no idea this item was so expensive until I shopped around for it and it is really much more than I can afford to spend.

"Having mentioned that I would get it for her, am I obliged to do so, or may I quite properly send her something else? I would appreciate your help in this matter."

Answer: You can certainly tell her that when you said you would give her what she said she would like you had no idea it was so expensive, and that you are sorry but you will have to give her something more within your means.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I was invited to a wedding anniversary reception last week. After all the guests were received, the wife opened the presents and announced the name of each giver. Several of the guests brought money instead of presents and when she opened these envelopes she announced the name of the giver and also the amount each gave. I thought this was in very bad taste. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you. She should have said, "A very generous sum of money (or check) from Uncle John."

"Dear Mrs. Post: My father's sudden death canceled my European trip. I had been given quite a number of going-away presents which I still have. Should these be returned?"

Answer: Under ordinary circumstances you would keep them in the hope of going on the journey in the not-too-distant future. On the other hand, if the plans of your ever going are very slim, you return anything of intrinsic value.

Changing Heel Height Brings Foot Comfort

If you wear high heels all day long, switch to perfectly flat slippers when you reach home at night. This gives your leg muscles a chance to stretch and adjust.

But it does something else. It helps to strengthen weak arches and thus may be of aid in eliminating those unpleasant cramps in the feet that many women have at night when they're trying to sleep.

Changing heel heights often is a good idea, anyway. If you wear high heels one day, try to wear a medium or low heel th next.

PEO Group Tours County Youth Home

AW Chapter of PEO visited the Oakland County Youth Home Monday. Following the tour, the group returned to the Motorway drive road home of Mrs. C. W. Oliver for a meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Norman Allen of Newberry street.

ELOISE M. LARSON

Mr. and Mrs. Alester Larson of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter, Eloise Marie, to Marvin Hennin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hennin of Midvale street. No wedding date has been set.

Four local students are among 172 members of the famed University of Michigan Marching Band. Pictured above, they are (left to right) John Howell of Judson street, William Scribner of Augusta street, Harold Jones of Thorpe street, James Shaw of Auburn avenue, with George R. Cavender, assistant conductor of bands. Men from 26 states are represented in the precision marching band, which has earned a reputation of being one of the finest in the nation.

In Vienna It's Done

Let's Bring Back More Walking

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today I want to relate more of my observations while visiting in Vienna recently.

One thing of interest is the way they can eat! I simply do not know why the Viennese are not all huge because they eat all day long. They have breakfast and luncheon and a late dinner. In between these they usually have two leisurely breaks for coffee, almost always with pastry and often with whipped cream on it.

Perhaps the typical silhouette here is slightly plumper than ours but I am not sure. I think one reason that their weight does not seem to keep up with their eating is because of their habit of walking. They walk miles—everywhere.

The roadways and parks are jammed with them all weekend long and even on weekdays much more than ours are. You see very few high-heeled shoes on the streets. People go out equipped to walk comfortably and long.

I suppose one reason for this walking habit is the fact that many of them do not have cars. The wage scale here does not permit it. Also the climate is conducive to physical activity. Then, too, there are so many beautiful parks with miles of walking corridors, bordered by marvelous trees.

NO RIGHTS

The pedestrians have absolutely no rights. No car slows up for you. Jay walking in New York City is child's play compared to crossing a street in Vienna. The curving narrow streets and many courts and plazas add much to the beauty and picturesque quality of this city, but not to the safety of the man or woman on foot! There are some places in the center of Vienna where cars and bicycles and motorcycles come at you from four or five angles.

There are as many or more motorcycles than there are cars. They zoom past you with a terrific noise.

When I think of the walking habits of the Viennese, it makes me think what a shame it is that this wonderful exercise has been almost discarded in countries where there is such a prevalence of automobiles. Even teenagers may feel imposed upon if they have to walk 10 blocks.

Yet every physician will tell you that this is one of the finest of all exercises, that it builds health and good looks, and that it is one exercise which can be indulged in at any age unless there is some special condition, and even then a certain amount is sometimes prescribed.

With wonderful fall weather upon us let us leave our cars at home and indulge in some self propulsion. Walking does not cost any money or require any special equipment except a good pair of walking shoes. Once you form the habit you will enjoy it, and you certainly will profit by it.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow: "Many Mental Breakdowns Might Have Been Prevented."

This girl let the bus pass her by and walked to an appointment. She knows she will profit by forming the walking habit. You will, too.

Brides, Take 'Stock', Plan Good Future

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to last summer's brides:

Now that the honeymoon is behind you and a lifetime of marriage ahead, here is an important point for you to consider.

Having each other isn't enough to make a happy and lasting marriage. So before any of the romantic glow begins to fade, you should begin to build toward the future.

In that future friends will be important—friends you both enjoy. Start making them right away, for good friends are sure to enrich your life together.

You'll need common interests, too, to keep your life together full of fun and anticipation for tomorrow. Whether or not a married couple shares many interests depends more on the wife than on the husband. In most marriages shared interests means that the wife shares her husband's, rather than the other way around.

You'll need goals to work toward. Such steadying, constructive goals as a home of your own, a plan for your husband's career, a place in your community.

And as a housewife your most important job will be to make whatever place you are living in, however temporary it may seem at the moment, into a real home. One that your husband is eager to return to, that you are proud to share with your friends, a place that expresses the personalities of its master and mistress.

And since, by your marriage, you two have brought two families together, it is important that you both do all in your power to make the new ties warm and happy ones. You can beest manage this by each treating the other's family as his own.

★ ★ ★

Marriage never stands still. Nor should you want or expect it to.

If you realize from the start that marriage is ever-changing, then you will be ready to see that the changes are ones of growth and development, instead of trusting to luck that your marriage will be a happy and lasting one.

No sooner said than done ...by TELEPHONE

Suddenly your TV set goes on the blink. Not exactly a crisis, but the children don't want to miss their favorite programs—neither do you.

So you just pick up your phone and call the service man. Soon the picture is back, clear as ever.

It's good to know, isn't it, that any one—or anything—you want is just a telephone call away.

Use your telephone to run your day-to-day errands, plan good times, keep you in touch with family and friends. There's just no end to its usefulness.

Sharron Ann Foote Wed in Double-Ring Ceremony

MRS. WILLIAM H. WERTZ

Dressed in a white slipper satin gown with a chapel train, Sharron Ann Foote became the bride of William H. Wertz in a double-ring ceremony performed Saturday noon at St. Michael Church. The Rev. Norman P. Thomas officiated before 200 guests.

★ ★ ★

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Foote of Kimball street. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Francis Mahaffy of Berwick boulevard and John H. Wertz of Auburn Heights.

The bridal gown featured a nylon yoke and lace-trimmed Bertha collar. The long sleeves came to points at the wrist and were edged with matching lace. A Juliet cap held the bride's fingertip illusion veil, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of phaelaneopsis, orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Gerald Strozeski was matron of honor, Best man was Gerald Strozeski, and ushers were Gerald Crossman, and Wayne Connon.

★ ★ ★

Following a reception held at Elks temple, the bride changed to a tweed suit with red accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet for the honeymoon. The couple will live on Baldwin avenue.

Mrs. Foote wore a dress of blue lace over taffeta with white accessories for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Mahaffy was dressed in a pink satin gown with brown accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Areme Unit of OES Has Installation

Mrs. Lester Oles Takes Office as Worthy Matron

Mrs. Lester Oles was installed as worthy matron when Areme Chapter No. 503, OES, held its installation of officers Monday evening at Roosevelt Temple.

Installed as worthy patron was Eugene Perkins.

Others taking the oath included Mrs. Victor Bodamer, associate matron; Harry Eaton, associate patron; Mrs. Royal Clark, secretary; Mrs. Robert Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Scharf, conductress; Mrs. Harry Lunsford, associate conductress; Mrs. Lyle Venner, chaplain; Mrs. Wilford Robinson, marshal; and Mrs. Claude Kimler, organist.

Star points installed were Mrs. Robert Edward, Mary Trask, Mrs. Byron Rogers, Mrs. James Rienert and Mrs. Clarence Crawley. Mrs. Allan Hersee was installed as warden and Mrs. J. B. Wilder as sentinel.

Officers exemplifying the color degree were Mrs. William Cox, Mrs. Eugene Elmer, Mrs. Melvin Patterson, Mrs. Plezzy Newingham, Norma Kirchmeyer and Mrs. Danial Peterson. Flag bearers installed were Clarence Rush, Melvin Patterson and Mr. Newingham.

★ ★ ★

Past matrons of the chapter conducted the installation, with Mrs. Sidney Fellows as mistress of ceremonies; Mrs. Grover Remley, installing officer; Mrs. Theron Taylor, chaplain; and Mrs. Eugene Perkio, marshal.

Past matrons and past patrons presented Mrs. William C. Pfahlert and Norton R. Graham with their jewels.

Participating in the musical portion of the program were Marilyn Vernon, Gwen Vernon and Ralph Bergman.

Officers of the International Order of Job's Daughters honored Mrs. Oles. Members of the DeMolay honored Mr. Perkio.

★ ★ ★

On Nov. 3, a school of instruction will be held at Roosevelt Temple, with the meeting to be held at 4:30 p.m. and a cooperative dinner planned for 6 p.m.

Signs of Age Show Quickly in Our Hands

Because your hands are literally thin-skinned and because they are so much exposed to soap, water and elements, they are quick to show age. The best way to keep them young looking is to cream them faithfully each night, wear rubber gloves for dishes and housework and regulate the temperature of the water into which you thrust them.

Remember that dishwater need not be nearly boiling to do an efficient job. Have it comfortably warm, use plenty of soap and rinse the dishes with boiling hot water. They'll gleam and your hands won't start looking dried out.

When veins stand out on the back of your hands, it's usually a sign of fatigue. Hold them straight up in the air and shake them as flexibly as possible. The veins will vanish in seconds and your hands will look both smoother and younger.

Use old nylon hose for storing flower bulbs such as gladioli. Just place them in the hose and hang them up somewhere out of the way.

Defense Opens in Army Trial

Ft. Jackson Sergeant Accused of Mistreating 20 Recruits

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP)—Did M. Sgt. George Sovie abuse his power in punishing recruits — or were his disciplinary measures simply the justified efforts of a battle-hardened veteran trying to toughen trainees for combat?

That question may go before an Army general court-martial board today after the defense offers its testimony.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution finished its presentation of witnesses Monday. A string of some 20 recruits testified to manhandling and unusual punishment meted out by Sovie for violations of orders.

The 30-year-old Ogdensburg, N.Y., sergeant is charged with assault and battery and with maltreatment of recruits subject to his orders in Company B, 4th Battalion, 1st Training Regiment at this Army infantry training post.

One trainee told of being dunked head first into the scum of a mess hall grease trap. Several told of being forced to wade waist-deep in the slimy mixture. Two recruits said they were made to "tear up and eat" dollar bills.

Others testified they were cuffed, slapped or kicked by Sovie. The prosecution sought to show that Sovie forced trainees to hold 40-pound foot lockers over their heads for extended periods and in one instance made a recruit grip a loaded duffel bag between his teeth.

Pvt. Gorge L. Sheffield of Fairburn, Ga., said Sovie hustled him from a mess hall because he had both hands on the table at one time and had three other recruits dip him head first into the grease trap.

Sovie, a veteran of World War II who was wounded and won the Bronze Star in Korea, faces up to 6½ years in prison, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances if found guilty.

The defense brought out that the alleged disciplinary measures all resulted from some violation of orders.

Berserk Policeman Had Been Barred From Cafe Where He Shot 4

NEW YORK (AP) — Policeman James McDermott was barred for obnoxious behavior six months ago from the restaurant on Broadway where he shot four men to death.

His murderous outburst occurred on his first visit to the Pic-a-Rib Restaurant since then, owner Lou Olman told police.

★ ★ ★

Detectives in search of clues to a motive for the killings early Sunday also learned that McDermott had been seen drinking in at least three bars before going berserk and that he knew three of his victims—one a convicted loan shark and two others with minor police records.

But detectives insisted they still lacked enough evidence to pinpoint a reason for McDermott's action.

McDermott, 34, remained in critical condition, unable to speak, in Roosevelt Hospital. He was reported improving slightly from gunshot wounds suffered as he dueled with pursuing policemen on his flight from the restaurant.

McDermott, described by shocked neighbors Sunday as having given up drink five years ago, had been ordered out of the Pic-a-Rib after he made himself obnoxious with loud, boisterous behavior, Olman told Inspector Frederick Lussen.

★ ★ ★

Detectives who tried to retrace McDermott's steps from the time he left his home to the time he appeared in the restaurant 12 hours later said he had drunk at least two beers and three whiskies in three different bars. Witnesses at the bars said McDermott did not seem intoxicated nor did he appear to be looking for anyone.

The three victims acquainted with their killer were Edmund Leahy, 50; Thomas Joseph O'Hare 55; and Lawrence Davion, 63.

The fourth man slain, Eugene Cronin, 60, Jersey City, N.J., was described as just a "jolly fellow" who stopped in the restaurant bar and offered to buy drinks for the other three.

★ ★ ★

Leahy recently completed a prison sentence for usury. O'Hare had once been acquitted of a burglary charge and Davion had been convicted of bookmaking.

★ ★ ★

Checking on the possibility that McDermott may have been squeezed on loan interest by Leahy, police found the policeman's only debt was a bank loan to pay for a new car.

★ ★ ★

McDermott, married and the father of four, lives in a $14,000 home in the Flushing section of Queens. His 10-year record as a policeman was previously unblemished.

The Police Department confirmed that McDermott had complained to police doctors of violent headaches after he was involved in a radio car accident last December, and had been on sick leave for two months of this year.

Frieda, 12, Promises Not to Wed After All

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Frieda Ogle celebrated her 12th birthday today still single and vowing she doesn't want to marry just now, after all.

However, the Rev. George Washington Rollins, 33, still faced a preliminary hearing on a charge of kidnaping the mountain girl. It was filed by her father Earl Ogle Jr. after the Missionary Baptist preacher took her to Georgia in a vain attempt to get married.

★ ★ ★

"I thought I was in love with him but I definitely wouldn't do it again," the girl told her parents after her father brought her home from Atlanta. "I realize now I'm too young, and he is not the right man for me."

★ ★ ★

Frieda said neither she nor the preacher thought she was too young when they went away together.

"I thought I could make him a good wife," she said.

Rollins, father of five children, was divorced two months ago by his wife of 16 years. She charged nonsupport.

3-Day Marriage Ends in Death of Young Lovers

GAFFNEY, S.C. (AP)—A teenage couple's three-day-old secret marriage became known Monday when they were found shot to death in his parents' home. Officers said it apparently was a murder-suicide.

★ ★ ★

Carol Parker Stephenson, 15, a 10th grade high school student, was shot in the chest and temple. John Hale Stephenson, 19, Limestone College sophomore here, was shot above the ear. He clutched a .32 pistol.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the two, who witnessed their marriage Friday night, said they knew of no motive for the killings. The young people had planned to live at their parents' homes and keep the marriage secret so they could continue school.

Should College Professors Be Second Class Citizens?

Perhaps this sounds like a silly question. Yet, judging by the salaries of many college professors, it looks as though we hold them in low esteem. That's why too many of them are leaving their jobs.

What a tragedy!

For today, more than ever before, the future of our country is being shaped by the kind of thinking these men inspire in the classroom.

We must encourage them to stay on. You can do your part. Help the college of your choice now. The rewards will be greater than you think!

Dinner Delayed by Frantic Hunt for Oven ????

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Wanda Terry opened a drawer in her electric stove to cook a roast. A snake stuck its head out.

Mrs. Terry called for help. Her husband Corbin, county peace officers, firemen and others moved the stove outside and dismantled it. They couldn't find a thing.

So they searched the house. Nothing.

★ ★ ★

Then, after 3½ hours, they gave up. So the snake crawled out of the pile of stove parts.

It was quickly captured.

The harmless snake out of the way, the stove was reassembled and Mrs. Terry went back to cooking her roast.

Milford Votes Overwhelmingly for Home Rule

Village Looking for Manager

New Charter Approved in Special Election by 251-61

MILFORD — The village of Milford today began looking for a village manager, following overwhelming approval in yesterday's special election of the adoption of a home-rule charter.

The 251 to 61 vote provided the village with its first major governmental change in years.

The ballots were tabulated with 20 minutes after the polls closed. A short time later, the Village Council, meeting in regular session, authorized the village clerk to advertise for a manager.

One will have to be hired within 90 days, or the charter becomes void. No salary figure was disclosed.

The change to local self-government will not alter the status of the village's elected officials—clerk, treasurer, president or six trustees.

The manager will direct operation of all government offices. The Council will continue to determine policies.

According to the new charter, the clerk will be the chief accountant, subject to direction of the village manager.

PASSING OF AN ERA — The old New York Central Depot in Lake Orion, once the busy hub of excursions to Lake Orion's amusement park and Bible Chatauquas at Bellevue Island, is being dismantled this week to make way for a new supermarket. Business previously handled by the 50-year-old building, which outlasted both attractions, has been moved to a smaller wood structure across the tracks. The depot's usefulness diminished due to a decrease in freight and passengers carried by the railroad.

Troy Group Sued on Libel Charge

Ex-City Attorney Asks $100,000 From Yanich, Owners League

TROY — Troy City Commissioner Louis Yanich and a property owners group have been named in a $100,000 libel suit filed Monday by former city attorney Jack W. Hutson.

Hutson, now a Royal Oak attorney, charges in the suit that Yanich and the Troy Non-Partisan Property Owners' League slandered his name by accusing him in a 1957 letter to the commission of being "neglect in his professional duties."

The letter of Nov. 25, 1957 from the association and signed by Yanich demanded Hutson's resignation for not having kept the city informed that it had no landfill ordinance on the books. Hutson, 45, resigned in April of this year after two years with the city.

He contends in the suit filed in Oakland County Circuit Court that on two previous occasions when the alleged libelous letter was written that he had suggested such an ordinance be drafted.

Presentation of the letter before the City Commission last year resulted in its contents being carried in several area newspapers.

CAROL A. GAVETTE

Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Gavette of 3250 Frembes Ave., Waterford Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol A., to James D. Fasnaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Fasnaugh of Detroit. An April wedding is being planned.

Bus Service Will Resume for School Children in Troy

TROY—Beginning tomorrow morning, Troy youngsters again will be riding to school in buses.

At a special meeting last night, the Board of Education voted to adopt a deficit financing program, which will restore bus service for all pupils and provide salary increases for teachers and other school district personnel.

School Supt. Rex Smith said this action was necessary to avoid "ruining the whole educational program."

At the special meeting, attended by some 250 parents, a recount of last Tuesday's election added only one vote to the number favoring a tax increase for operating expenses still 20 short.

★ ★ ★

A group of angry mothers, protesting curtailment of school bus transportation, following defeat of the tax hike, blockaded several main intersections in the city yesterday morning, noon and afternoon.

Although no definite date has been set, the Board indicated last night it again will ask residents to approve tax increases in January.

Romeo Players Announce Cast of 'Grass Harp'

ROMEO—The cast of the Romeo Players' forthcoming production of Truman Capote's "The Grass Harp" was announced today by Director Robert G. McGuire.

Veterans to be featured in important roles are Mrs. Robert C. Smith, Mrs. Andrew Downey, Mrs. Lester W. Poosch, M. T. "Bud" Cummiskey, Byron Scott, Jim Walters, Jay Shustary, Robert Bradley and Marlene Schoenherr, all of Romeo, and Dale Parkinson of Utica.

Newcomers to the local boards will be Carolee Schoenherr of Romeo and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Williams of Leonard.

★ ★ ★

The play, a comedy-fantasy in three acts, will be presented Nov. 21 and 22 at the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center. Mrs. Richard W. Covert of Washington is serving as McGuire's assistant director, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Gerald McLean of Romeo are production managers.

Assessment Hearing Planned in Milford

MILFORD — A representative of the Nebraska Assessors, the E. T. Wilkens Co., told the Milford Village Council last night that a hearing date will be set within a month for residents dissatisfied with their property assessments.

The Council hired the outside firm to reassess all property in village. The company plans to hear all complaints.

★ ★ ★

In other business at the brief meeting, Trustee Elmer Johnson presented a report on the near-completion of blacktopping on S. Main street.

The area had become troublesome because of rain water pouring down a steep hill on the south side of the village. The pavement has been widened and proper drainage facilities installed.

Detroit has 17 foreign language newspapers.

Clarkston Plays Host to County Firemen

CLARKSTON —The Clarkston Fire Fighters Assn. will play host tonight to the Northeast Oakland County Fire Fighters at a dinner at the Clarkston Community Building.

The Phillips Petroleum Co. will present an educational program on "What to Do With Bottled Gas Installation in Case of Fire."

Independence Town Board members will be guests of honor, according to Donald Beach, fire chief.

Rochester Kiwanis Elect New Officers

ROCHESTER — Milton Weaver last night was elected 1959 president of the Rochester Kiwanis Club.

Other officers named were Robert Smitha, first vice president; Carl Simon, second vice president; Herman Klix, treasurer, and Art Kollins, secretary.

Directors elected to two-year terms were John Buerker, Vern Conley, William Slavin and Arvid Jouppi.

Named to one-year terms were Frank Bogart and Kean Farlin.

Armada Man Hurt in 2-Car Crack-Up

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — An Armada man was hurt last night in a two-car collision on M-53, south of 29-Mile road.

Peter Schultz, 72, of the Armada Hotel, suffered mouth cuts and rib injuries. He was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Romeo State Police said he was driving down the wrong-side of the road with his headlights off. One auto succeeded in getting out of his way, but another driver did not see his car in time and was struck head-on, police said.

Schultz was ticketed for reckless driving.

Win Class B Pistol Shoot

Southfield Police on Top

SOUTHFIELD — The men in blue at the Southfield Police Station are proudly displaying their Class B championship trophy won by their department at last week's pistol shoot.

The yearly South Oakland Chief of Police Pistol Shoot was held at the Birmingham Police pistol range at 14-Mile and Evergreen roads.

Sgt. Edward Ritenour and Patrolman Edward Blackburn won top Class B honors for the Southfield department. Six other South Oakland County police departments also won class B trophies.

The Southfield police are particularly proud of the event because they are the youngest police force in south Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

This is the first time Southfield police entered the event. They are not qualified to win a trophy in class A because their police force only numbers 17. To qualify for a class A trophy a police department must have a force of 21 or more.

Mooney in Naples on Way to Rome

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Edward Cardinal Mooney, Archbishop of Detroit, arrived in Italy last night to attend the conclave to elect a successor to Pope Pius XII.

The American prelate sailed to Italy aboard the Italian liner Giulio Cesare. Soon after the vessel docked in this port city south of Rome, he went to a hotel for the night. Today he will travel by train to the Italian capital.

The other two American cardinals — Francis Spellman, Archbishop of New York, and James Francis L. McIntyre, Archbishop of Los Angeles — already are in Rome.

Clinic Set Up for Polio Shots

Inoculations to Be Given at Roosevelt School in Keego Harbor Tonight

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The West Bloomfield Township School District polio clinic will be open to all persons in the Pontiac area between 6:30 and 8:30 tonight at Roosevelt Elementary School, Cass Lake road, Keego Harbor.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Phyllis Anding, health chairman of the school district.

A fee of $1 will be charged.

★ ★ ★

The clinic is part of the West Bloomfield Township School Health program and is under the auspices of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Adults and children who have not received their first immunization shot, and all persons due for a second, third or booster shots may attend the clinic, Mrs. Anding said.

The clinic will be held for a second time in about a month and for a third time in about seven months to enable persons to receive a full series of polio shots during the current school year.

Commissioners Slate Sidewalk Hearings

With City Manager Walter K. Willman in Dallas, Tex., this week to attend a city manager's conference, only a brief agenda faces City Commissioners tonight.

Two public hearings are scheduled. One covers intention to construct sidewalks on the west side of East boulevard north of Michigan avenue. The other is on the proposed rezoning of three vacant lots on the northeast corner of South boulevard from residential 1 to personal service.

★ ★ ★

Up for confirmation are assessment rolls covering the installation of sidewalks on the north side of Baltimore avenue, Stirling to Melrose, and both sides of Robinwood avenue, Baltimore to Perry.

Cost estimates for sidewalks on the east side of Stirling avenue, Madison to Baltimore, will be submitted.

★ ★ ★

Up for more debate is an application from the Pontiac Waste Material Co., 139 Branch St. for a renewal of its junk collecting license. This has been opposed by Commissioner Milton R. Henry, in whose district the junk yard is located.

Move of Suit Denied Doctor

Sullenberger Loses Plea for Change of Venue From Oakland County

Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger has failed in a move to have a $100,000 damage suit against him moved out of Oakland County and into another county for trial.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday denied a change of venue motion from Sullenberger's attorney, who asked the change of trial location because he said his client could not receive a fair trial due to past "unfavorable publicity."

The suit against Sullenrger was started in May by a 36-year-old Pontiac factory worker, Cecil J. Harrison, of 269 Seward St. Harrison said the doctor left a sponge in him following an operation July 31, 1957 for stomach ulcers, whic hnecessitated two subsequent operations.

The doctor's attorney asked that the case be heard in either Wayne or Macomb Counties.

Judge Doty did grant a motion from Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart dismissing the city and the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees as defendants in the suit. The remaining defendants are Dr. Sullenberger and the hospital's medical staff.

Although it has only six per cent of the U.S. population, New England boasts 10 per cent of the persons listed in "Who's Who."

State Labor Leaders Invited to Fete Nixon

FLINT (AP) — All Michigan labor leaders have been invited to attend the $100-a-plate dinner honoring Vice President Richard M. Nixon here next Monday night.

W. H. Boutell, chairman of Region 10 of the Republican Finance Committee of Michigan, said yesterday that "apparently there is a misunderstanding among labor people" about the dinner.

★ ★ ★

"Republican candidates for governor and U.S. senator were embarrassed at a union meeting in Detroit Sunday by questions indicating the askers thought they were barred from attending the dinner," he said, adding:

"I hope labor leaders on all levele will buy tickets and attend the dinner. This is an all-Michigan dinner and the leaders of our laboring people who contribute so vitally to our economy should take advantage of the chance to hear Mr. Nixon first-hand."

Horses are so rare on Formosa that a pair of them attracts throngs to the Taipei Zoo.

Methodist Men to Have Dinner at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — The Methodist Men's group of the Lake Orion Methodist Church will hold a dinner meeting Thursday evening at the Church House. Dinner will be served at 6:30 by members of the WSCS.

Featured speaker of the evening will be Detective Charles A. Leaf of the Pontiac State Police Post. He will talk on police work and relate some of his experiences as a police officer.

Members may bring a guest, Walter Hampton, club president, said.

Detroit Driver Injured in Crash Near Romeo

ROMEO — A 59-year-old Detroit man was injured yesterday afternoon when he lost control of his car on a curve on 32-Mile road, two miles west of here, and struck a car approaching from the other direction.

Patrick Coleman was taken to St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens, with cuts and bruises on his face and arm, according to Romeo State Police.

Driver of the other auto was unhurt.

Former Mayor to Give Talk About Israel Trip

Former Mayor William W. Donaldson will show slides and comment on his recent trip to the State of Israel at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Congregation B'nai Israel, 141 Oneida Rd.

The evening affair is sponsored jointly by Pontiac Lodge of B'nai Brith, Pontiac Chapter of Hadassah, and the congregations of Temple Beth Jacob and the host synagogue.

David E. Utley, general chairman, stated the public is invited.

Voting was made compulsory in Puerto Rico in 1917.

Quick on the Draw

Cashier Routes Gunman From Bank in Blanchard

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—A bank cashier who is sharp on guns upset a holdup plot and chased some wouldbe robbers out of town yesterday.

Robert Smith, 26, did so with the help of a cool bluff in the face of a robber's gun by 76-year-old Chester McDonald, his boss.

Witnesses told the story of a scary few minutes in the Blanchard State Bank of Blanchard, an Isabella County town 17 miles southwest of here.

State Police and Sheriff's men sought the holdup pair today. Evidently they eluded a road block set up shortly after the abortive robbery attempt.

Nothing was stolen.

As the bank was about to close, a car drove up to the curb and one man with a gun got out and entered.

First he went to the window of Mrs. Lillian MacArthur, bookkeeper, toying with his pistol. Witnesses said the man acted as if he might have been drinking.

Smith, a father of three children who served in Korea with the Army, watched.

The holdup man ordered McDonald, chief cashier, to put cash at the window. McDonald refused.

"I'll shoot you," said the gunman. "You don't think I'll do it, do you?"

"Go ahead," replied McDonald.

★ ★ ★

Smith said he noticed the breech of the gunman's pistol was open, putting it out of commission.

With that, he seized one of the bank's guns from a drawer. He ordered the holdup man to drop his gun. Smith fired a shot into the ceiling. The gunman turned and fled.

Smith said he fired twice at the man's legs and twice at the men's car as they drove off. He said he did not know whether he hit them.

★ ★ ★

As a medic in Korea, Smith carried sidearms. He's an outdoor man and knows about guns from that source, too.

'Sinful Paradise' Theme for Mission Circle Meet

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — "Sinful Paradise" is the unusual theme of the 7:30 meeting this evening of the Elizabeth Missionary Circle at the West Bloomfield Baptist Church, 4900 Orchard Lake Rd.

Mrs. Clyde Gibbs will present the color slide presentation of the work of Rev. and Mrs. Norman Wetther, Conservative Baptist Home Mission Society missionaries to the island of Guam, among the servicemen and their families stationed on this Pacific island outpost.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Dwight Butler and Mrs. Richard Muntz.

Announcement will be made of the inauguration of the circle's white cross program which begins next Tuesday.

Nancy Harlyvetch Weds in Rochester Ceremony

AVON TOWNSHIP — St. Paul's Methodist Church in Rochester was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Nancy Ann Harlyvetch to Cpl. William R. Davis. Performing the rite was the Rev. J. Douglas Parker.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Harlyvetch of 3140 Crooks Rd. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Orval Davis of 3107 Margaret St.

For her wedding, the new Mrs. Davis chose a waltz-length gown of white silk taffeta, featuring short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her elbow-length veil fell from a Juliet crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley on a white Bible.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Joan Price of Troy. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Connie Thorpe of Pontiac.

Gary Thorpe of Pontiac was the best man, Glen Thompson of Auburn Heights, attendant, and Edward T. Harleyvetch of Warren and Robert Davis of Auburn Heights were ushers.

★ ★ ★

The reception was held in the Amvets Hall, Pontiac.

Following their honeymoon trip to northern Michigan, the newlyweds will make their home at Oceanside, Calif., where the bridegroom is stationed with the military.

Parkedale Farm Enters 50th Year

Research Center Began With Tent

AVON TOWNSHIP—Parke, Davis & Company today recounted the many life-saving achievements that have been developed in biological medicine and virus vaccines during the 50-year history of its farm, Parkedale.

★ ★ ★

The biological farm, established here in October, 1908—about the time the first Model-T automobiles went into production—was one of the world's first and largest of its type.

Interest in biological research was growing at the time, particularly since Parke-Davis was authorized to produce diphtheria antitoxin after receiving U.S. Biological License Number One in 1903. And, as housing the many horses, monkeys, heifers, rabbits, guinea pigs and other animals used in biological research at the company's main laboratories in Detroit was impossible, the farm became vitally important.

Parkedale, a 635-acre tract of land, located near Rochester, has become well-known during its 50 years at Parke-Davis' production center of poliomyelitis, influenza, adenovirus, rabies and small pox vaccines; antitoxins used against tetanus, gangrene and diphtheria; plus other experimental work.

TENT WAS FIRST 'BUILDING'

From its beginning, when a circus tent was pitched to provide shelter for horses, the biological farm has grown steadily until today it boasts not only barns, but numerous buildings, including offices, laboratories a modern cafeteria, its own power plant and a greenhouse, according to Dr. G. D. Brigham, director of Parke-Davis' biological division.

★ ★ ★

The production of medicine at Parkedale is an exacting job for its 280 employes.

For instance, those engaged in influenza vaccine production work with fertile eggs which are incubated 11 days (1,760,000 eggs were used during 1957, because of the influenza epidemic of 1957-58) and implanted with live influenza virus, then incubated again for two days before the final processing can be undertaken.

Long-time employes at Parkedale recall many periods of excitement as production was started for new life-saving vaccines . . . and times of tragedy also.

During the early part of World War I, a fire destroyed three barns, 100 horses, 40 heifers and ten spans of horses and mules used to work the farm. Investigations indicated that the fire deliberately was set by enemy saboteurs.

★ ★ ★

This year, Parke, Davis donated 12 acres of Parkedale land to Avon Township for public use and set aside another 20 acres as the site for a 200-bed community hospital in Rochester.

WILL YOU LET REUTHER GET AWAY WITH IT?

WHAT DOES REUTHER WANT?

Never in the history of this Republic have constitutional government and freedom of enterprise been in such danger as today. The danger is not so much that Walter Reuther, by applying for political purposes a big slice of the $613 million collected annually by labor unions from their members, is out to obtain control of Congress. That by itself is perilous enough. But the real and imminent danger is that the American people aren't aware of what this means, and through apathy, a "what's the-use" attitude will let him achieve his purpose.

Who is Walter Reuther? What is his background? What does he seek? And what would it mean if he got it?

Walter Reuther is a third generation Socialist. His grandfather, who came to this country in 1892, was a German Socialist Democrat. Reuther's father was a labor organizer and a known Socialist. Walter and his brother Victor spent three years at Wayne University in Detroit, where they were connected with a number of student radical movements. Then they studied and lectured at Brookwood Labor College at Katona, N. Y.

Inspired by Russia

In 1933, the Reuther brothers went to Europe, then to Russia where they studied and worked in an industrial plant. January 20, 1934, they wrote to a friend in Detroit a letter from which the following excerpts are taken:

"The daily inspiration that is ours as we work side by side with our Russian comrades in our factory, the thought that we are actually helping to build a society that will forever end the exploitation of man by man, the thought that what we are building will be for the benefit and enjoyment of the working class, not only of Russia, but the entire world, is the compensation we receive for our temporary absence from the struggle in the United States.

"Mel, if you could be with us for just one day in our shop, you would realize the significance of the Soviet Union. . . . Here are no bosses to drive fear into the workers . . . I tell you, Mel, in all the countries we have thus far been in we have never found such proletarian democracy."

Then the Reuther brothers signed off with this: "Carry on the fight for a Soviet America."

Now, Walter Reuther has denied being a communist. But, so far as is known, he has never denied having been a Socialist. At all events, many Congressmen have accepted financial support from Reuther and his people and appear to be under obligation to vote as he directs. The essence of our Republic is that men elected to Congress shall go there as free agents, voting on issues as they arise as judgment and conscience dictate. The negation of this is that the men whom Reuther helps in their elections might be expected to follow his orders. Such a state of affairs is in itself a destructive assault on the structure of our government and imperils the Republic itself. One of the strongest assaults is in the form of union-provoked inflation, for union officials who are dedicated Socialists know that inflation is the most brutal socializer and leveler of all.

What Lincoln Said

Socialism is the antithesis of the Constitution and of free enterprise. "As the patriots of '76 did to the support of the Declaration of Independence," said Abraham Lincoln, "so to the support of the Constitution and laws let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor. Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the Constitution become the political religion of the nation."

Although Reuther has gone far toward his goal of building an organization that will dominate the Federal Government, he still can be defeated. Many Congressmen, whom Reuther now counts on to vote his way and eventually subvert our Constitution into a socialist republic, are likely to realize, on second thought, that to do so is a violation of their oath of office. Across the entire nation organizations, business firms, professional men are waking up to the need for political action; and when the impact of these forces on national public opinion has been felt, the complexion of Congress will be changed by aroused public sentiment for defending our heritage of constitutional government.

Wake Up To Realities

As Donald Richberg points out in his fearless, plain-speaking book, "Labor Union Monopoly," what is needed even before the drafting of a lot of laws "is an education of the so-called intellectual stratum of American life to a clear-eyed comprehension of the grave menace to our free economy and our free government in the unchecked growth and continuous spread of labor union monopolies."

Mr. Richberg continues: "Americans are more out of date and ill-informed concerning the realities of the labor movement than they are in any other area of public interest. Fifty years ago, the picture of a labor union as a weak, idealistic organization of downtrodden workers struggling against an oppressive concentration of property power was often accurate. Any such picture of an established union today is not merely ridiculous; it is willfully or ignorantly untruthful.

And so, two important questions and one answer: First, are you going to let Reuther get away with it? Second, if not, how can he be effectively stopped? The answer is on this page.

LABOR UNION MONOPOLY

A Clear and Present Danger

By Donald R. Richberg

Today the greatest concentrations of political and economic power in the United States of America are found—not in the over-regulated, over-criticized, over-investigated, and over-taxed business corporations—and certainly not in their hag-ridden, brow-beaten, publicity-fearful managers. The greatest concentrations of political power are found in the under-regulated, under-criticized, under-investigated, tax-exempt and specially privileged labor organizations—and in their belligerent, aggressive, and far-too-often lawless and corrupt managers.

There is grim humor in the constant complaint of the unions against alleged business monopolies, when the only widespread, long-standing and effective monopolies in the business world are those maintained and constantly expanded by labor unions. Their legal exemption from prosecution, combining with an illegal expenditure of vast sums of money and illegal use of physical violence and terrorism, creates for them a monopolistic power which no business combination could possibly exercise.

As a matter of fact, the unions are powerful, aggressive organizations that are engaged in a continuing warfare against the maintenance of a free competitive economy. Unless this civil war is stopped and peaceful competition is substituted for monopolistic coercion of labor relations, a socialized economy and a socialist labor government are inevitable.

Instead of being a movement of workers banded together for the protection and advancement of the legitimate interests in a free economy, the labor movement has now become a political movement with the objective of establishing a socialist labor government in control of the economic and social life of the nation.

These evils will not be remedied until an overwhelming majority of free citizens realize that labor's economic and political power are preparing the way for communism far more effectively than the communists themselves.

The above article consists of extracts from the book of the same name—"Labor Union Monopoly." Its author, Mr. Richberg, is a lifetime friend of labor. He was co-author of the Railway Labor Act of 1926 and has been legal counsel to many labor unions. He had a prominent part in working out the Norris LaGuardia Act, which has been termed "Labor's Magna Carta," and the National Industrial Recovery Act, of which he later became administrator.

No one in the United States can speak with more authority on the American labor union movement than Mr. Richberg. (See the August, 1958, issue of the Monthly Letter of the First National City Bank of New York.) "In writing this book," Mr. Richberg says of himself, "he feels that he still speaks for the legitimate interests of his friends in the labor movement—who, perhaps as much as the general public, are endangered by the growth of labor monopoly." If the facts of this book can be projected across the nation and into the thinking of the average American, the dominance of the union bosses, pushing America into Socialism can be stopped. What YOU can do to further its distribution is explained on this page.

THE PERIL OF REUTHER

This is an emergency—immediate and dangerous. Walter Reuther is already within reach of controlling your Congress.

According to the ranking minority member of the House Committee on Education and Labor, Rep. Gwinn, "In the 1956 elections organized labor was active in 300 of the (then) 535 districts—and were successful—that means that their man got elected—in more than 175." Today, backed by huge union funds —more than $100 million out of $600 million of annual income is spent for political purposes—the goal is at least 220 Congressmen—only 44 more than at present—and an absolute majority to vote labor's way.

If this happens, it means more confiscatory taxes, destruction of higher incomes and incentives to save, higher gasoline prices because of reduced depletion allowance for American oil exploration, socialized medicine, more inflation, and a deluge of such socialistic measures as British laborites imposed on the United Kingdom. As Donald Richberg says elsewhere on this page, the American labor movement "has now become a political movement with the objective of establishing a socialist labor government in control of the economic and social life of this nation."

An Effective Action Plan

There is no time to lose. Only action NOW can defeat labor monopolists' attempt to control the next Congress. It calls for immediate mobilization of all segments of the American people—not only business organizations, or lawyers, physicians and other professional persons, but taxpayers, consumers, housewives. And, yes, the rank and file of organized labor, too, for unbridled labor monopoly deprives union members of freedom even before the public at large. Nor is the needed mobilization one of partisan politics but is for both freedom-loving Democrats and Republicans.

The gigantic funds of labor unions, more than both parties together are able to collect for political action, can be opposed only by the lowest cost mechanism: (1) statements distributed under frank in the most critical of the 300 districts where Reuther is working, and (2) widespread reprinting of this advertisement and two others to follow in 100 or if possible 1,000 newspapers immediately and during October, reaching 15,000,000 circulation.

A Tested Program

This program to block Reuther from destroying our Federal Republic must have your help. Although copyrighted, the ads may be printed anywhere with local support and without further permission. However, as this progam requires preparation for action in the future, we trust that, where reprinted, special support will be provided equal to 20% of the cost of the ad to improve the Committee's financial position and to permit printing of ads in special areas where educational action beyond available local support should be supplied. Mats of the advertisements are being sent to leading newspapers and will be provided on telegraphic request anywhere.

All who read this and believe in the crusade to block Reuther and his attempt to dominate our government are urged to get together with associates in their community or state to finance the reprinting of these advertisements, which are part of a tested and highly effective program.

To project the advertisements to the most important metropolitan centers the Committee for Constitutional Government needs immediately a seed money fund of $250,000. This should bring from tens of thousands in smaller amounts contributions many fold larger than the seed money fund.

Time is vital. Send check at once for as large an amount as you can, making check payable to the Committee for Constitutional Government, Inc. for multiple subscriptions at $10 each, a legitimate business expense, for SPOTLIGHT for the Nation, the Committee's antisocialist publication, dealing with national issues of vital importance by outstanding authorities. For tax deductibility for individuals and corporations, make check payable to the Constitution and Free Enterprise Foundation, Inc., publisher of Richberg's book, "Labor Union Monopoly, A Clear and Present Danger." Mail to 202 East 44th Street, New York 17, N. Y.

Enlist others. The need is great and immediate. This may be your last chance to work to save our Constitutional Republic.

Army Still Tops AP Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unbeaten Army, which added Virginia to its growing list of victims last Saturday, retained a firm hold on the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press college football poll today which saw the top 10 teams pretty well scrambled.

The sportswriters and broadcasters taking part in the balloting gave the Cadets 90 first place votes and a total of 1,446 points. Ohio State, which moved from third to second place, drew only 14 first place votes but the Buckeyes' strong support for lesser positions brought them an impressive total of 1,188 points.

The fourth, fifth and sixth places proved the most vulnerable, the teams holding those positions last week dropping out of the top 10. Wisconsin, No. 4 a week ago, dropped to 13th as a result of its defeat by Iowa; Michigan State, loser to Purdue, dropped from fifth to 20th, and Navy, No. 6 last week, fell to 18th. The Middies were defeated by Tulane Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Replacing these fallen giants are Iowa, which climbed from 13th to 7th; Northwestern, leaping from 17th to 8th on the strength of its astonishing victory over Michigan, and Oklahoma, moving up from 11th to 9th through its lop-sided victory over Kansas.

Auburn, in second place last week, dropped to fifth this week as a result of its tie with Georgia Tech, and Louisiana State jumped from 9th to 3rd by its convincing victory over Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

Texas also gained in prestige, going from seventh to fourth. In fact, only first-place Army and 10th-place Clemson retained their positions.

Louisiana State was the top choice of 22 voters, second only to Army in that department. Texas, oddly enough, landed in fourth place despite the fact it got only two votes for the No. 1 position. The Longhorns, like Ohio State, were on nearly all the ballots for a place in the select circle, but not considered as a first choice.

The top 10, based on 10 points for first place, 9 for second, etc (first place votes, season's records in parentheses):

1.	Army (90) (4-0)	1,446
2.	Ohio State (14 (4-0)	1,188
3.	LSU (22) (4-0)	963
4.	Texas (2) (4-0)	861
5.	Auburn (5) (3-0-1)	706
6.	Mississippi (4) (5-0)	693
7.	Iowa (13) (3-0-1)	632
8.	Northwestern (3) (4-0)	618
9.	Oklahoma (1) (3-1)	441
10.	Clemson (5) (4-0)	371

Dukes Shows Up Minus Uniform

But Tall Center Paces Pistons to Exhibition Win Over Lakers

FLINT (UPI) — The inimitable Walter Dukes, who showed up last night but forgot to bring a uniform, tallied 25 points and picked off 23 rebounds to lead the Detroit Pistons to a 103-97 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers in an exhibition game.

Dukes sank 15 of 19 free throws and was followed by George Yardley who notched 23 points. Vern Mikkelsen had 23 for Minneapolis.

The Pistons trailed the Minneapolis contingent by five points at the end of the third period, but staged a 33-point fourth quarter rally to take the game.

Lions' Coach Strikes Back at Critics

'Don't Have to Make Excuses,' Wilson Growls

Says Loss of Players, Early Season Injuries Hurt Club

DETROIT (UP) — A belligerent George Wilson said today his Detroit Lions could do with more encouragement and less criticism for their poor start in the National Football League race.

"If we can get the front-runners of four backs, we'll be in far better shape," said the bitter coach. "We have enough trouble winning without having to put up with that kind of stuff."

Wilson, his aides and the players have been criticized for the club's failure to win in four starts after capturing the world championship a season agao.

★ ★ ★

"Not one of the coaches and not one of the players built us up as champions this year," he added. "The people who are upset most are those who figured it would be a simple matter to win another title. Well, I got news for them—it ain't that easy."

The Lions lost their last three games on the pre-season schedule and have only a tie with Green Bay in four regular season games.

"I don't have to make excuses for this club," Wilson growled. "Anybody halfway smart knows we lost two top men, Steve Junker and Jerry Reichow, with injuries before the season ever started. And our regular fullback, John Henry Johnson, hasn't even played in the last two games."

There are 10 new faces on this year's team, including eight rookies. Wilson defended the heavy turnover by saying:

"A lot of other teams — the Browns, the Bears, in fact, practically every team in the league —they have fallen apart because they hung on to guys too long. We've had good reasons for making our moves."

Wilson said he has been shocked by the sudden hostility.

"It's amazing how quickly things change," he said. "Already they have the Lions dead and buried. These front runners are funny ducks.

"They're the first guys to come around and slap you on the back and tell you what a helluva guy you are when you win, and the first to criticize you when you lose. I can't figure it out. Maybe I'm lucky at that, though. At least they haven't hung me in effigy—not that I know of, anyway."

Charley Horse May Not Keep Dawkins Idle

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UPI) — Pete Dawkins, Army's "bread-and butter" halfback who is receiving injections for a "severe and painful" charley horse, may be in the lineup Saturday when the Cadets tackle Pittsburgh.

Coach Earl Blaik said that he wouldn't know for sure whether Dawkins would be able to play until at least Wednesday. The coach also revealed that fullback Harry Walters was hobbling around on crutches and it was highly improbable that he would be able to make the trip to Pittsburgh.

Dawkins suffered his injury during the second quarter while charging up the middle against Virginia last Saturday. He crashed head on and injured his left thigh. Walters, who also stars on defense for the Cadets, sprained his left ankle when his cleats caught as he was stopped in the fourth quarter of the same game.

No 4th Quarter Foldups for Baltimore Yet

Confidence Changes Colts

BALTIMORE (UP) — Confidence is a strong ingredient in the all-victorious start of the Baltimore Colts in the National Football League this season.

It is the difference between last year's foldups by the Colts in late stages of games and their dominance of the fourth quarters this season.

End Jim Mutscheller put his finger on it in talking about last Sunday's victory over the defending champion Detroit Lions for the second time and fourth Colt triumph.

Last season, the Colts led Detroit 27-3 in the third quarter of their return match and lost.

★ ★ ★

When Detroit scored in the fourth quarter last Sunday to trail by only 20-14 some people might have felt there was going to be a repeat.

Not the Colts, reports Mutscheller.

"When our offensive team got into the huddle, you could just feel the confidence that we were going to score again," said the former Notre Dame end.

The Colts did. They scored three times.

"We had no thought of losing," said Art Spinney, offensive guard.

★ ★ ★

The Colts also scored 10 points each against Green Bay and the Chicago Bears in the last quarter and 14 on Detroit in their first meeting.

One touchdown by Chicago is the only other fourth period score against the Colts.

Coach George Wilson of Detroit also believes the late-game superiority of the Colts is because they have "the confidence they didn't have last year."

Besides blowing a lead to his team in the fourth game of the 1957 season, the Colts dropped decisions to Green Bay and San Francisco with less than a minute to play.

Last season was the second that the Colts were tripped up in the fourth game and never quite recovered after winning the first three. The pattern was the same in 1955.

★ ★ ★

This time, Coach Weeb Ewbank disclosed "we tried to calm our boys down before the game. We've been too tense in the past at this point in the season."

There's a lot of talk naturally about how many games the Colts are likely to win and perhaps their first pro championship.

"We'll settle for 10 wins," says veteran defensive tackle Art Donovan confidently.

Coach Ewbank and others in preseason guesses felt that eight victories should assure a team of at least a tie in the Western Conference.

Bennie Ignores Criticism

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Bennie Oosterbaan is too busy to concern himself with being hanged in effigy and with alumni discontent.

The Michigan coach, victim of student and alumni criticism often in recent seasons, was quiet about the current barrage.

He declined to discuss the matter yesterday. Practice was more necessary than ever after the 55-24 pasting by Northwestern. And there was a scouting meeting with the players to prepare for Saturday's Minnesota game.

But Oosterbaan apparently felt other coaches have survived mock hanging to win their next game.

★ ★ ★

A dummy bearing Oosterbaan's name appeared dangling from a tree on the Central campus during morning classes. It was the only outward sign of disenchantment over the Northwestern affair by the student body.

The dummy didn't hang around long. Authorities placed the blame on a handful of more zealous students.

Reports that Detroit alumni were hostile and ready to demand Oosterbaan's ouster were taken with a grain of salt.

"I've heard these for the last five years," Oosterbaan said.

★ ★ ★

Fred K. Matthaei Jr., a prominent alumnus and close to the football scene, said Oosterbaan had warned the alumni months ago not to expect a winning season.

Oosterbaan himself told newsmen in September that Michigan's chances hinged on five performers. The coach recalled his earlier remarks yesterday.

"We have only five creditable Big Ten players," Oosterbaan said over a month ago. He listed them as Bob Ptacek, John Herrnstein, Stan Noskin, Gary Prahst, and Brad Myers with Walt Johnson an additional possibility.

"If we lose any of these, we'll be hurt," he said.

Herrnstein and Noskin didn't play at all against Northwestern. Ptacek was hurt in the opening quarter and Myers has been handicapped by injured legs in every game. Sophomores Dick Syring, Don Deskins and John Halstead have taken up the slack, but not enough.

Where does Michigan go from here? Oosterbaan won't talk.

But war whoops replaced disappointment yesterday. The flat, crunching sound of leather boomed out during the blocking and tackling drills. Michigan is an angry football team.

Chief Harriers Cut 'Dot String

Wyandotte High's cross-country squad yesterday paid a long-delayed visit to Pontiac, and the trip here proved to be less pleasant than the Dots expected.

Unbeaten in dual competition, up to yesterday, the Dots lost their first meet to the determined Chief runners, 20 1-2—34 1-2. Sophomore Joe Anderson led the pack over the Beaudette park course with a 10:35 mark. PCH placed five others in the top 10, in one of the tightest finishes of the season.

A few seconds back of Anderson, five runners battled for the runner-up spot, Pontiac's Maurice Johnson and Dots' Bill Bryan hitting the line in a dead finish at 10:43. Johnny Jefferson (P) was 4th (11:01), Jim Patterson (P) 5th (11:02). Naylor and Horch of Wyandotte took the next two places (11:04, 11:08). Jim Nelson (P) at 11:10, Erlich (11:13) and McGunagle (11:25) both of Wyandotte, were 8th, 9th and 10th respectively.

★ ★ ★

PCH reserves also won, 19-41, led by Ken R. Byrd (P) (11:33), with Melvin (W) 2nd at 11:45.

Yankee Tony Kubek Enters Army Service

FORT LEONARD WOOD, Mo. (AP) — Tony Kubek, New York Yankee shortstop, was inducted into the Army Reserve Monday for six months of active duty.

The 23-year-old Kubek, who signed up for the reserve hitch, in less than an hour received an orientation briefing, was given a blood type test and changed into Army uniform.

Kubek had been scheduled for induction early in September but was granted a delay so that he could play in the World Series.

Deadly Robbins Top Qualifier in North-South

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Tom Robbins has a deadly eye with his chip shots and a good putter too, as he proved during Monday's qualifying for the seventh annual North-South Seniors golf tournament here.

Racking up six birdies, Robbins shot a 3-under-par 35-34—69 over the No. 2 Pinehurst Country Club course to win the medal.

Four strokes behind was John W. Roberts of Columbus, Ohio, who had a 38-35—73. The final lineup in the 32-man championship flight was to be determined today, with 11 men, who tied with 78s Monday, playing off for the last seven spots.

★ ★ ★

Others who qualified Monday included James Wolcott Brown of Sea Girt, N.J., Southern Seniors champion, 41-36—77; P. J. Farley, Grand Rapids, Mich., Robbins' first-round opponent, with 40-36—76; Jack Brittain Sr., Woodhaven, N.Y., 37-37—74; and Egon F. Quittner, Rydal, Pa., 40-35—75.

Crisler, Kipke Admit Distress

But Both Have Seen Good Things Despite Recent Battering

By The Associated Press

Two well known Michigan men admit to distress over the Wolverines' 55-24 shellacking from Northwestern in football. But they've seen good things, too.

Athletic director Fritz Crisler said in Chicago Monday he didn't like its being Michigan that had to take the walloping but that it was "good for conference football."

Crisler told the Chicago American Quarterback Club that the Wildcat victory, after Northwestern had been a Big Ten doormat, showed Northwestern to be "a more worthy football team for the other nine members of the conference."

Harry Kipke, former Michigan All-America halfback and former Wolverine coach, was heard from at a huddle of football Hall of Fame members in New York.

Kipke sympathized with coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "I never saw Michigan look so bad." But then he thought of how fine Michigan looked in the upset 12-12 tie of Michigan State two weeks before.

"I never saw Michigan look so good for guts and spirit," Harry said.

Nominations Now Being Taken

Hall of Fame for Cagers

BOSTON (AP) — The wheels today were set in motion for the first elections to the National Basketball Hall of Fame which will be located at Springfield College.

Ground is expected to be broken for construction early next Fall on the campus near the site of the first game in 1891.

Meanwhile nominations forms have been circulated among the colleges, clubs and leading figures in the game. The honors committee has announced it hopes the results of the first elections can be ready by January.

★ ★ ★

The 13-man committee was named at the NCAA championships in Louisville last March by John Bunn, Colorado State College coach and general chairman of the Hall of Fame movement.

A candidate can be considered under any of four categories—an outstanding player, coach, referee or contributor.

★ ★ ★

A college, AAU, YMCA or professional player may not be considered until 10 years after his retirement according to the rules. A coach or referee must wait five years after leaving the field.

★ ★ ★

Teams with exceptional records also may be elected, as a unit, but not before 10 years have elapsed since they played.

★ ★ ★

To be elected, a candidate must receive 10 votes from the 13-member committee. Elections will be open to women as well as men and to residents outside the United States.

Myers at RH, Harper Will Start

'M' Backs Shifted

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A backfield reshuffling was the first bandage used to patch Michigan's wounds.

"We're going to refresh Myers at right half to protect ourselves," Oosterbaan said. "Three right halves are hobbling."

But it was evident the move was permanent. Myers hasn't displayed his usual running speed at left half. He has gained only 133 yards in 50 carries.

★ ★ ★ ★

Harper, who was just about the only Wolverine to distinguish himself in the 55-24 Northwestern victory, has accounted for equal yardage in 27 fewer rushes.

More lineup shifts may be necessary later in the week as Michigan attempts to regain prestige Saturday against Minnesota.

Oosterbaan yesterday sent his charges through their roughest Monday drill in several seasons. It was a grim scene. The Wolverines returned to the early September fundamentals of blocking and tackling.

Quarterback Bob Ptacek watched in civilian clothes. His first period injury left the Wolverines without their leader and they never were able to regain their composure.

"The swelling in Ptacek's ankle has gone down a lot," Oosterbaan said. "It's a possibility now that he will play Saturday."

Stan Noskin whose bruised hip prevented him from playing against Northwestern, probably will replace Ptacek on the first unit.

Among the injured were right halfbacks Fred Julian, Gary McNitt and Al Groce and tackle Willie Smith. All took part in yesterday's workout.

Reid Bushong, who made his Michigan debut aginst Northwestern, went back to left halfback in the Myers realignment.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Northeast Oklahoma retained the top spot in the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics football ratings this week, but Lamar Tech of Texas is providing the most fireworks.

Lamar jumped another three places from last week and is rated second. Northeast Oklahoma has won its six games this season, Lamar four.

Arizona State of Flagstaff is rated third, Willamette, Ore., fourth and Central Michigan fifth. The Flagstaff and Michigan teams have won six games without a loss and Willamette is undefeated in five games.

Spartan Shuffle Has 23 Changes on Top 3 Teams

Atmosphere at Practice Grim; Panitch, Kelly Ailing

EAST LANSING (AP) — You wouldn't recognize the Michigan State starting football lineup today.

Coaches, angered by the inept showing in the 14-6 beating by Purdue, ordered a wholesale shakeup. The line was hardest hit by the reshuffle.

In all, there were 23 shifts out of the top 33 men in the first three teams — players being moved either up or down or being sent to other positions. Six starters were demoted.

Veteran observers termed it the most drastic resuffle in modern day Michigan State football history.

★ ★ ★

The atmosphere was grim on the practice field Monday.

Coach Duffy Daugherty had a long talk with his troops, bearing down on such things as spirit and what happens to those who don't put out with an all-out effort.

Then he announced the changes.

Mike Panitch, the starter all season, was not in at quarterback. But this was because Panitch was limping on the sidelines with an ankle injury.

Greg Montgomery was running with the first string, Larry Bielat with the second and sophomore Ike Grimsley with the third.

★ ★ ★

At right half, sophomore Herb Adderley jumped up to first string. Starter Art Johnson dropped down to second and Roger Donnahoo was third.

Fullback was practically unchanged with Bob Bercich first, Don Arend second and Park Baker third.

The lineup at other positions:

Left end—team captain Sammy Williams, who has been a defensive standout, remained at his post.

Left tackle—Fran O'Brien, a senior, dropped down to third and Paul Rochester, a junior, moved up from third string to first.

Left guard—senior John Middleton dropped down to second and sophomore Mickey Walker moved up to starter from second.

Center—first stringer Jim Chastain and second man Don Wright, both juniors, swapped places.

★ ★ ★

Right guard—senior Ellison Kelly held No. 1 spot but Cliff LaRose was temporarily running in his place because of an injury to the starter.

Right tackle — Palmer Pyle, a junior, dropped down to third and George Perles, a sophomore, took his place.

Right end—Dick Barker dropped to second and Fred Arbanas, a sophomore, moved up from second.

Cranbrook Gridders Lose in Final Minutes

The roof fell in the Cranbrook football team Saturday with the Cranes leading Western Reserve 8-6 with eight minutes left in the game.

A blocked kick and a pass interception sparked the host Cleveland school to a comeback 28-8 victory. It was the 4th straight defeat for Cranbrook. The Crane soccer team dropped its first match at Western, 1-0.

ROLLS 299 — Ron Rothbarth, a member of the Montcalm Centre teams, rolled the high game of the current season over the weekend by hitting a 299. Rothbarth put every ball in the 1-3 pocket, but the eight pin on the last ball prevented a perfect score.

Worst Is Yet to Come for Pontiac Central 11

By BILL CORNWELL

The 1958 football season has been good to Pontiac Central High School thus far from the standpoint of wins and losses.

Coach Jesse MacLeay's gridders have won four of their first five games, the best mid-season record for a PCH team in many years, and they stand 1-1 in the Saginaw Valley Conference.

But a quick glance at the remaining four games on their schedule reveals that the worst is yet to come.

★ ★ ★

Three of their last four opponents are the big Saginaw Valley powers —Flint Northern, Bay City and Flint Central. The other foe is non-league Melvindale.

If the form chart means anything in this game—and frequently it doesn't—the Chiefs will defeat non-loop Melvindale and bow to their three Valley foes.

Northern is next for PCH and it could be an extremely unpleasant evening if the Chiefs don't go any harder than they did last Friday against Saginaw High.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs were pushed to the limit to conquer the Trojans, 13-12, for their 1st Valley triumph of the season. Saginaw has yet to taste victory in five tries.

Coach Andy McDonald brings his Northern squad to Pontiac this Friday night for a Valley engagement with the Chiefs at Wisner Stadium at 8 o'clock.

★ ★ ★

Earlier in the fall, PCH might have been rated about even with the Vikings, but the picture has changed immensely since then.

★ ★ ★

After starting slowly and losing to Grosse Pte. in their opening contest, the Vikings have improved rapidly with successive conquests of Grand Rapids Catholic Central, Saginaw and Muskegon.

Now the Chiefs are decided underdogs. On the basis of comparative scores with their only mutual opposition, they are already hopelessly outclassed. The Vikings trampled Saginaw with ease, 49-0, in their lone SVC outing.

★ ★ ★

After Northern, the Chiefs meet Melvindale at Wisner for the only "breather" left, then they travel to Bay City to encounter the mighty Wolves and return home the following week for the season finale with Flint Central.

★ ★ ★

As an indication of what Chiefs can expect from these final two foes, Central and Bay City fought to a 13-13 tie and the Wolves last Friday dished out an awesome 60-0 pasting to Arthur Hill, a team which drubbed Pontiac, 27-0.

Stengel's Moves Lauded by Spahn

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—One of the main things that beat Milwaukee in the World Series, Brave pitcher Warren Spahn said, was Yankee Manager Casey Stengel.

"In my mind I saw the greatest job of managing I've ever seen; Casey didn't make one mistake," Spahn said. He added that Stengel's use of relief pitchers was great.

Michigan Horse Sets High-Jumping Mark

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Windsor Castle, owned by Carl Miller, Jr., of Battle Creek, Mich., won the "sky-hi jump" in the 13th Pennsylvania National Horse Show last night. The horse, ridden by Max Bonham of Grass Lake, Mich., set a new record for the horse show with a jump of 6-feet-9. The victory brought $500 to the owner.

Shamrocks Still in SCL Race

Ram Comeback Story Had Highlight Sunday

By CHUCK ABAIR

The traditional St. Frederick-St. Michael clash is over for another year but followers of the two schools will likely be talking about Sunday's game for a long time.

St. Frederick officials can now be convinced that the Rams are "back" as a parochial grid power. Team followers had suffered four losing seasons and 34 straight games without a win before the comeback started last fall.

Gene Wright, Tom Kennedy and Tony Pizza turned out a team that snapped the victory drouth and won four of eight. But one of those losses was to St. Michael which kind of put a dent in the "new look." Sunday the dream was realized. The Shamrocks had won eight successive seasons.

Now the coaching trio must try to keep the Rams "up" from here in with a good chance to take Suburban Catholic honors. St. Mike will still be in the race if coach Jim Niebauer can rally his forces and knock off formidable Orchard Lake St. Mary at Wisner Sunday.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael is now deadlocked for 2nd place with St. Benedict. The Ravens are the big hurdle in the way of St. Fred now.

Many SCL observers are predicting a three-way tie for the championship. A St. Mike win Sunday and St. Ben triumph over the Rams Nov. 2 would make such an unusual finish possible providing each won its other games.

EXTRA POINTS

St. Fred won the 1st leg on the new Steven Griffin Memorial trophy Sunday. It was presented after the game by Rose Griffin . . . A variety of offenses and defenses helped make the Rams effective . . . Middle of Mike line held well on running plays but could not break in to rush passers.

Unusual sight was seeing longtime Shamrock skipper Bob Mineweaser in a spectator role along with his former assistant Mike Kazakos . . . Tom Dabbs' TD was his first. Pat Campbell would have had his first also on a 23-yard run but an offside nullified it . . . Defensive work of Steve Pocs, Bill Cassidy, Rudy Yapo and Jere Dirker big factor for Rams.

40 of 73 yards in final SM touchdown march were on penalties . . . A 3rd Kennedy helping St. Fred was Bill, the U of D end. He kept coaches posted on phones. Bill suffered a broken hand at Xavier Saturday. Typical of how Shamrocks kept battling was the way Jim Zugres picked up a fumble and dashed 26 yards in closing minutes . . .

Pirates Sign Californian

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sandy Johnson, 17-year-old second baseman from San Gabriel, Calif., has been signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates' Clinton, Iowa, club in the Class D Midwest League, the Pirates announced today.

Kuharich Cites Role of Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officiating, good or bad, is one of three keys to the outcome of pro football games. So says Coach Joe Kuharich of the Washington Redskins.

★ ★ ★

Kuharich's clubs usually are the least penalized in the National Football League.

He emphasized today that he is not quarreling with any of the crews that police NFL games when he says "officiating and penalties are intangible things" which hurt one day and help the next.

Two pro coaches, Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams and Frankie Albert of the San Francisco 49ers, have complained about officiating at Wrigley Field in Chicago the last two weeks. Albert also complained about the sideline outbursts of George Halas owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

★ ★ ★

Both their teams lost to the Bears, a point which Halas noted in replying that officials have to call penalties when violations are committed.

Officiating also has caused a small tempest in college football's Big Ten. Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State stomped out on the field last Saturday to protest a decision. Earlier he had charged officials were allowing the defense to get away with dirty football but punishing the offense.

Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson retorted that Hayes was doing college football a disservice.

Kuharich skirted both controversies, but said the caliber of officiating is sometimes crucial to winning or losing.

★ ★ ★

Pro teams are so evenly balanced, he said, that "the three most important factors in determining the outcome of a game are fumbles, interceptions and officials' decisions." For example:

★ ★ ★

"Say a back gets away for 30 or 40 yards and the play is nullified by a clipping penalty. That could turn the tide. Or maybe on a long gain there is a holding violation which the officials miss. You never know."

The Redskins may not win championships, but for three of Kuharich's four seasons as coach they have been penalized for less yardage than any other NFL team. They're in the same position so far this year.

"We teach our players to go by the rules, to play the game straight," Kuharich said.

★ ★ ★

Records seem to disprove his theory that good conduct pays off. Washington's best won-lost record in his time here was 8-4 in 1955. That season was the exception to the Redskins' behavior record. Only one other club drew heavier sentences from the officials.

Still he insists:

"With a minimum of penalties, a team is less likely to be hurt."

Success Attends Season Opening

Hunters Find Plenty Birds in Area

By H. GUY MOATS

Fewer hunters than were expected took to the fields and fencerows in the Pontiac area yesterday, but the hunting was excellent, and more than the usual number of limit bags were reported.

Monday marked the opening of the general Michigan pheasant and small game season.

★ ★ ★

Conditions afield were fine.

First report of success to reach The Pontiac Press, and the first entry in the 1958 "pheasant derby" were one and the same. Eugene Cox, 15, 2360 Joy road, on his first pheasant hunt bagged a three and three-quarter pound rooster, which still held up today as the leader.

However, among the many entries for the longest bird, the lead changed so swiftly that a 36-inch bird was left far in the ruck. Leader, as of this morning, was the 3-pound, 38-inch beautifully colored rooster taken by Raymond McCoy, 1006 Owona, Royal Oak, yesterday, while hunting at Peck.

For the benefit of prospective entrants:

Heaviest bird so far, 3-pounds, 12-ounces.

Longest bird, 38 inches (tip of beak to tip of tail)

Rewards for final winners: a $50 U.S. Bond for heaviest bird, $25 for longest.

Duck and goose hunters also were doing all right in the area, conservation men report. Latest was a big Canada taken in the sanctuary area north of Holly.

Several queries have been made to this observer regarding hunting on state-owned lands in townships where hunting is banned, such as Waterford. An answer to the question was provided by Michigan Conservation officer Harold Stoll, at Fenton.

Stoll explained:

"As far as I know, there is no bar to hunters taking game on state lands, whether or not located in otherwise barred areas, unless the state specifically bars such hunting. There is some state land in Waterford, and I presume that would come under this provision. "However, hunters should be certain of their rights to hunt on such lands and should check with township officials first."

Yesterday morning, north bound roads in this area were carrying heavy concentrations of obviously—hunting bound motorists, the majority of whom were headed for the Thumb area.

Gary Cotter of Howell, who bagged a 37-inch 3-pounder.

★ ★ ★

Dorsey Chambers of 205 East Shadbolt, Lake Orion, who took his limit, along with his partner, Jim Raab of Orion, shooting in the Orion area. One of Chambers' birds was 34 inches long. The pair, hunting with a dog, saw "lots of birds," mostly young roosters, splendidly colored.

Chuck Portell, 317 Third street, Rochester, hunting alone on Silver Bell road, downed a 36-incher, on opening morning.

New York and St. Louis set a scoring record in pro basketball when St. Louis won by a 137-128 margin for a total of 265 points.

Bill Bull's 763 Paces Calbi Five to 3266 Series

It's getting so the sky's the limit for bowlers competing weekly in the Huron Classic.

The latest meeting produced an all-time high series of 3266 by the Calbi Music team, a 299 game for Ron Rothbarth and a 763 series by Bill Bull among many highlights.

Bull hit 279-215-269 to pace Calbi followed by Joe Foster's 671. Bull had the first nine strikes in his first game and the first eight in the final. Paul Karas fired a 752 series as West Side totaled 3259.

A balky eight pin on the last ball prevented Rothbarth from rolling the first area 300 of the season.

CHICAGO—Jerry Jordan, 145, Chicago, stopped Indian Buddy Jackson, 145, Springville, N.Y. 7.

BALTIMORE—Boom Boom Lester, 184, Bel Air, Md., outpointed Tiger Floyd, 182, New York, 8.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

I've discussed two ways to roll a hook, using nothing but finger lift. Below are two additional methods:

1. A hook will result if the bowler turns his wrist from right to left just as he delivers the ball. This turning of the wrist will give a similar right-to-left spinning motion to the ball, which will cause it to break to the left when it nears the pins. We depict this wrist turn in today's drawing. The spinning motion won't take effect until the ball is further down the alley. Then, the spinning action overcomes the ball's momentum and causes the ball to hook. Be sure you turn only the wrist — not the whole arm or shoulder.

2. The fourth way to roll a hook ball is through a combination finger-lift and wrist-turn. The thumb is in the 12 o'clock position, and the fingers are at 6 o'clock. The palm is directly behind the ball. Just as the ball passes the left foot in delivery, the fingers apply lift, then the wrist turns from right to left. Because this combination lift and turn requires a delicate touch, I don't recommend it for any except the advanced bowler, or the bowler who does a lot of practicing.

Physician Heads Private School Setup

Believes He's Qualified

By PHIL NEWMAN
United Press International

Dr. T. J. Raney may have been a physician most of his life, but he comes from a family of educators.

That plus the fact he believes strongly in states' rights, racial segregation and "getting our children back in school," are, he believes, qualifications enough for his new job.

The new job is president of the Little Rock, Ark., private school corporation, which is trying to provide a segregated education out of reach of the U. S. Supreme Court's integration order for more than 3,000 Little Rock high school students.

Raney is not exactly a stranger to the teaching business. He has a brother on the board of Hendrix College at Conway, Ark., and another who serves on the board of trustees of the University of Arkansas. Still another relative is the Parkin, Ark., superintendent of schools.

But it's not primarily a love for the field of education that prompted the soft-spoken, slightly balding doctor to head the private-schools-on-private-property effort.

STATES' RIGHTS BELIEVER

"I am, above all, interested in getting all these children back in school," he said. "You can say that's why I'm doing what I'm doing."

Does he believe in state's rights?

"Of course I do," Raney said. "Doesn't everyone in the South? Let me correct that. I meant don't most people in the country favor states' rights?"

As for segregation, "We've been through all that before," he says, looking down at one of the light-colored neckties he habitually wears. "You know I am for it. It's the only way education can be handled here."

★ ★ ★

Raney, who looks older than his 45 years, has two sons in public schools here. They are Jeff—"his real name is T. J. Raney III"—who is 14, and Glenn, 10.

Glenn is in grade school and Jeff is in junior high. Jeff will go to Hall High School next year, if it is open. It is one of four high schools closed by Gov. Orval Faubus to keep them from being integrated.

Raney, a native of the northern Arkansas hill country town of Newark, shares a medical clinic with Dr. B. T. Kolb. They have a suite of offices not far from the Arkansas state capitol, in a residential district. The two doctors rent the upper floor of their building to two other physicians.

ALREADY TOO SMALL

"We turned our apothecary room into headquarters for the private school corporation," Raney said. "But it's already too small and we will just have to find bigger quarters."

Four secretaries work full time in the corporation office, which opens into Raney's medical office.

"We don't have to hire a soul," Raney explained. "We get more offers from folks who want to do secretarial work than we can use. People want to help this thing to work."

Raney tries to forget the turmoil connected with the integration battle by going out to his showy, saddle horse breeding farm near Little Rock. He enters stock in horse shows throughout the country.

★ ★ ★

Does Raney think the private school plan will succeed?

"I'm convinced it will," he says resolutely, "because the people are behind it."

Park Dedicates Bench to Bernard M. Baruch

NEW YORK (AP)—It's official now. The bench in Central Park long used by Bernard M. Baruch as his informal headquarters has been formally dedicated to the 88-year-old adviser to presidents.

The Park Department placed a plaque beneath the bench. It reads "Elder Statesman's Bench — Reserved for Bernard M. Baruch."

Baruch said he will welcome others to his private bench.

German President Gives British Cathedral Funds

LONDON (AP) — Visiting President Theodor Heuss of West Germany has given the people of Coventry 5,000 pounds ($14,000) to help rebuild their cathedral, destroyed during World War II.

Heuss also laid a wreath on the tomb of the British Unknown Soldier during the first day of his four-day visit. He arrived Monday as the first German head of state to visit Britain since Before World War I.

Engineers Test Chemical Fuel

Mixture May Replace Gasoline, Double Power Output of Motors

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —A chemical substitute for motor fuel which could double the power output of automobiles and aircraft engines being investigated here.

Development of a successful fuel from these compounds could mean engines that would be less than half the size and weight of present engines but have as much power as present ones, said Ernest S. Starkman, who heads the testing project.

★ ★ ★

Starkman is an associate professor of aeronautical engineering at the University of California. He announced results of initial tests showing the energy output of the compounds compared with conventional gasolines.

The compounds are known in chemistry as nitro-paraffins. They are made by mixing methane, propane, butane and other petroleum products with nitric acid.

These compounds are relatively expensive, Starkman said, but if produced in quantity the fuel could be made economically.

★ ★ ★

Whether the nitroparaffins are explosive is a matter of varying opinion among authorities. Prof. Starkman said he did not consider them any more dangerous than gasoline. Hot-rodders sometimes mix them with gasoline to increase the power output of their engines.

One of the problems, the engineer said, is preignition—when an overheated engine causes premature explosion of the compressed fuel and air mixture. Starkman said, however, that present engines probably could be modified to use the compounds without preignition trouble.

★ ★ ★

The nitroparaffins might be especially useful in diesel engines, Starkman said, because preignition there is an advantage. They also could help to reduce diesel smoke, he added.

Gary Cooper Mounts Up Again to Make Western

By BOB THOMAS
AP Motion Picture Writer

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP)—"The horse is a highly overrated animal. They're dumb as hell, and you can't trust them one bit."

Heresy, you say? Perhaps, but our authority is none other than Gary Cooper, one of the few stars with an authentic Western background.

★ ★ ★

The rangy Montanan gazed up at the red bluffs of this southern Utah wilderness and reflected: "When I was 14 or 15, I used to ride alone for days through country like this." One thing he learned: never trust a horse.

★ ★ ★

Contrarily, he has learned another axiom in more than 30 years of loping through the movie scene: always trust a horse opera.

Yup, ole Coop is back in the saddle again after ventures into sports cars and limousines. After two middling films, "Love in the Afternoon" and "10 North Frederick," he has done three horseback pictures in a row.

★ ★ ★

His latest, "They Came to Cordura," is being filmed here. It's technically not a Western, but there are plenty of horses. Producer William Goetz assembled 300 horses and riders to re-create the last U. S. cavalry charge during Gen. Pershing's invasion of Mexico in 1916. The rest of the picture largely concerns the trek of Cooper and five others across the Mexican wasteland.

How does it feel to be back on a horse?

★ ★ ★

"It hurts," Cooper confessed.

He explained: "It's painful for me to be in the saddle too long. No, it's not because of an injury I got from a horse. When I was getting started in pictures, I used to take horse falls for $15 a fall and I never had a scratch.

"But I did a lot of skiing after the war, and that's what banged me up."

★ ★ ★

Newcomers might find profit in a credo that might help explain Cooper's amazing three decades as a star: "I always made it a point to do at least one Western every two years. In years when I did four pictures, usually one of them would be a Western."

Times have certainly changed. Nowadays a young man tells his father, "Dad, I have a heavy date tonight — may I borrow your Diners Club card?" . . . The really honest quiz show is one that'll come right out and admit it's fixed. —Earl Wilson.

But Jet Travel Headaches Acknowledged

Airlines Banking on U. S. Curiosity, Hustle

(Second of two articles)
By ROGER GREENE
AP Writer

Girding for the plunge into the commercial jet age, the nation's major airlines are banking heavily—to the extent of four billion dollars—on American curiosity and hustle.

But while the public is expected to welcome jet travel, there are acknowledged headaches.

Putting it bluntly, some people are afraid of jets: They fly too high, too fast.

A recent survey of 3,000 adults, conducted by the University of Michigan, disclosed:

1. Among persons who had flown at least 100 miles in the last year, 80 per cent said they would welcome jet travel; 20 per cent expressed doubt.

2. Among those who traveled only by train, bus or car, 50 per cent said they didn't think they would fly in jets.

★ ★ ★

In the unfavorable category, nearly half said they didn't like flying at all. One in four said the jets are too fast. One in 10 said jet flying is dangerous.

Experts say jet engine flame-outs—when the burning kerosene fuel goes out like a snuffed candle—are rare. Moreover, tests have shown that a jet with a flame-out can swiftly descend to lower altitude and relight the engine.

John G. Borger, Pan American's chief projects engineer, says every precaution has been taken to guard against explosive decompression in high-flying pressurized jet cabins.

They have double windows for safety and in an emergency, Borger says, "an oxygen mask will drop down right in your face . . . a simple cup affair that goes over your nose and mouth."

As for the hazard of increased collisions among the fast-flying jets, air safety experts say jet speeds are so great that pilots can't take evasive action in time to avoid an approaching plane.

Moreover, the new passenger jets will operate largely at an altitude between 20,000 and 40,000 feet which is the prime training ground for thousands of military jet fighters and bombers.

JET SKYWAY POSSIBLE

To solve that problem, the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) may set up a jet-age super skyway, perhaps from 25,000 to 40,000 feet, and keep military jets either higher or away from the airline corridor.

The CAA is now in the midst of a billion-dollar five-year program of installing new traffic control equipment designed to meet the needs of the jet age, but some officials are candidly worried about the immediate future.

These officials say recent air collisions and numerous "near misses" have raised a serious question whether U. S. airways and airports are ready for the speedy jetliners. Pilots last year reported 971 near misses, almost three a day.

Too, many people remember what happened to Britain's ill-fated Comets, the world's first jet airliners, which developed "skin fatigue" and blew up in flight.

America's solution has been to install rip-stopper hoops to prevent skin tears from spreading in the pressurized cabin. The metal hoops are 10 inches apart. If a leak develops, it won't blast the plane apart; the crack can spread only to the next hoop.

★ ★ ★

Company officials say emphatically the jets will be safer to fly than propellor planes—and much safer than driving your own car in traffic. They are far less complicated mechanisms than propellor aircraft.

Amid all the fanfare heralding the jet age, easily the most controversial aspect of the new planes is spelled out in five screeching letters: N-O-I-S-E.

Some communities, already plagued by the teeth-rattling thunder of propellor planes flying low overhead, have protested vehemently at the prospect of an even fiercer assault on their eardrums from blasting jets.

Boeing and Douglas have expended huge sums—Boeing alone has spent 20 million dollars—in an attempt to solve the noise problem. Both claim they have made impressive strides.

'INTOLERABLE NOISE'

American Airlines, which has ordered 110 jets at a cost of 365 million dollars, says frankly:

"As the jet approaches the gate, the noise will be intolerable to anyone on the ramp without earplugs or some similar device. Only one man, well protected in a sound-proof helmet, will be in the open to handle the parking. Other ramp personnel will wait in a ready room, protected from both blast and whine."

As for passengers, the airline says they will reach and leave the jetliner via mobile corridor to protect them from bad weather—and noise.

After the take-off, passengers will find jet flying is something like sitting in a time capsule, silent and vibrationless. The jets are so fast they literally outrun the screech, hiss and swoosh which may briefly startle earth-bound humans far below.

Stock Market Turns Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market tried to muster a rally today but turned mixed in early trading.

Changes were mosly narrow except for coppers which were bolstered by higher prices. Anaconda and Magma Copper featured this group with gains beyond a point.

Some of the recent lower priced favorites again were active and higher.

Trading followed closely the pattern of recent sessions. There were numerous big opening blocks and the ticker tape lagged behind transactions for a six minute period shortly after the start.

Some observers saw bearish signs in the fact that short interest declined 10.9 per cent during the past month. This, they reasoned, weakens one of the technical props to the market.

Short interest refers to stock which is borrowed, then sold in the expectation it can be bought back later at a lower price.

Avco Manufacturing, yesterday's third most active stock, led the opening block parade on 30,000 shares, up ⅛ at 9⅞. Avco continued active and widened its gain.

Loew's opened on a 15,000 share block, up ⅛ and Studebaker-Packard on 10,000 shares, up ⅛. Studebaker later turned to the downside.

American Motors, higher in recent sessions, was off more than a point.

Small gainers included Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Allied Chemical, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge and International Nickel.

Tell of Breakins Purse Snatching

Pharmacy, Gas Station Looted, Pontiac Women Lose Handbags

Pontiac Police reported several breakins and a pair of purse snatching incidents Monday.

Thieves broke a 24 by 50-inch plate glass window from the front door of the J. & V. Pharmacy, 89 S. Saginaw St. and crawled through.

Missing were five cartons of cigarettes valued at $20, two wrist watches and a cigarette lighter, total value of $13.60, and $25 cash taken from the cash registers, said police.

★ ★ ★

Taken were 72 quarts of oil and an oil spout, totally valued at $23.80.

Mrs. Jack Prasil, of 101 Mechanic St., reported to police while she was walking on W. Huron St. at Pontiac Central High School, two youths approached her and snatched her purse.

The boys, described as about 18-years-old, escaped on foot. The purse contained $10 cash and personal papers.

Shortly before this, Mrs. Gail Ronan, of 162 E. Iroquois Rd., told police two young boys attempted to snatch her purse while she was walking on State St. near Porter St.

She said they pulled so hard the strap snapped and the purse fell to the ground. The youths ran east on Porter.

Monday afternoon, Mrs. Charles McPherson, of 130 Baldwin Ave., reported that someone had stolen her purse from a counter at 66 N. Saginaw.

Scattered Sales in Wheat Today

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices for grain futures were mostly mixed in rather light transactions on the Board of Trade today.

There was scattered commission house selling of wheat early in the session and a small amount of commercial buying. There was no big export demand in sight, although India and Greece are due to make substantial purchases of bread grain under government authorizations.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ higher to ½ lower, Dec. $1.95; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, old style Dec. $1.10¼; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, Dec. 64¼; rye ½ to ⅞ lower, Dec. $1.29; and soybeans ⅛ to ⅝ higher, Nov. $2.13¼.

Fire Apparatus Bids Scheduled

Waterford Township Committee Draws Up New Specifications

New and separate bids for a fire truck chassis and apparatus will be opened by the Waterford Township board at 8 p.m. Nov. 24. This was decided at last night's regular township board meeting.

Previous bids on firefighting equipment had been opened and discarded because of indefinite specifications. A complete set of specifications has been compiled by a special committee and are now ready for contract bids.

On Nov. 3 bids for sale of bonds totaling $35,000 will be asked by the township board for constuction of a water main to be installed along Cass Lake road from Lincolnshire avenue to the Venice of the Lakes subdivision.

A benefit charge for connection to the new main will be made to each of the 100 property owners to defray construction costs and the bond will be payable over a seven year period.

★ ★ ★

In other business board members approved the Furler-Crest Haven plat located on Cooley Lake road after developers presented revision in lot sizes.

A request from the Ideal Country Club Assn. for a street light to be installed at their beach park was also approved by the board.

The Detroit Edison Co. will install the light and association members will be charged for the electricity.

★ ★ ★

Three bids for blacktopping Landsdowne avenue and three for Camley street were opened and referred to township enginees Johnson and Anderson for analysis and recommendation.

A low bid of $43,048 for Landsdowne avenue was submitted by the Detroit Concrete Products Co. and the Ann Arbor Arbor Construction Co. submitted a low bid of $6,657 for Camley street.

★ ★ ★

A request for installation of 22 No Parking signs for the Menniwaters subdivision near Cass-Dodge Park was approved. Additional equipment for the township clerk's office was approved along with the authorization of $190 for remodeling of the treasurer's office.

After a lengthy discussion on the pros and cons of accepting a revision of the reciprocal heating council code the township board tabled the project for further study.

Sealed bids for the sale of a 1957 police car will be opened by the board Nov. 3.

Production of West German photo-chemical products approached the $80,000,000 level in 1957, a $20,000,000 gain over 1956. Photographic papers accounted for $30,000,000. Exports climbed by roughly 20 per cent to $31,000,000.

A DRAW — Dr. Joseph I. Chapman (center), pastor of Bethany Baptist Church, declared a draw last night after some of his congregation and visitors listened to Lawrence B. Lindemer (left), Republican state chairman, and Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, debate the issues in the Nov. 4 election.

Party Chairmen Agree on One Point

Status of Industry Main Issue

State party chairmen Lawrence B. Lindemer and Neil Staebler agreed last night that the number one issue in the Nov. 4 election is the status of the state's industry. That was the last agreement of the evening debate.

Lindemer, Republican state chairman, said "an exodus of industries and jobs can be blamed on the 10-year reign of terror imposed by Gov. Williams' attitude of antagonism of job-producing industries."

Democratic state chairman Staebler said Michigan's troubles were "attributable to the difficulty we are having nationally."

"Five out of every six cars we make here are sold outstate," declared Staebler. "And if they don't buy, we don't make."

★ ★ ★

Their debate over the major issues in next month's election was Bethany Baptist Church. A group of about 75 gathered in the auditorium of the church to see Lindemer and Staebler square off.

★ ★ ★

Both men had promised church pastor Dr. Joseph I. Chapman that no mention would be made of candidates. They held to the stipulation carefully until some of the spectators started asking questions.

Dr. Chapman had to break up an exchange between Lindemer and a woman who charged the Republican-dominated Legislature was responsible for the state's fiscal ills, and not the governor.

But the 37-year-old Lindemer still managed to sneak in the only plug for his party when he said there would be "a day of new light in Michigan after January first."

★ ★ ★

Staebler echoed his party standard bearer's claim that industries are coming, not leaving Michigan, as Republicans say. He criticised the Legislature for cutting appropriations for the Economic Development Commission.

He said the GOP legislators exercised a "penny wise, dollar foolish" economy. He said his party never offered a program of state improvement without an accompanying tax program to finance it.

This remark prompted Lindemer to remind the audience that the Democrats in their state convention adopted a platform "the likes of which you've never seen." "And where will the money come from?" he asked. "From the sweat of men's brows."

Staebler said other issues included Michigan's Federal Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) laws, mental health, help for the aged, and education.

His counterpart said too strong government control and fiscal responsibility are the other major issues which voters will pass on in two weeks.

Dulles, Chiang in Conference

Communist Guns Rack Off-Shore Islands for 2nd Day, Only Lighter

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek opened their conference today against a backdrop of renewed Red cannonading of Quemoy.

★ ★ ★

After a 2½-hour meeting between Dulles and Chiang, a State Department spokesman said that "Mr. Dulles is not here to twist anybody's arm or apply any heat or pressure."

While the talks progressed, the Chinese Communists put their shore guns into action for the second day but on a much lighter scale. The Defense Ministry said up to noon only 362 shells had hit Quemoy, compared with more than 11,500 Monday.

But there was no doubt the abrupt Red decision to end the Communist-imposed cease-fire had an important bearing on the Dulles-Chiang discussions.

Joseph Greene, special assistant to Dulles, said Dulles' first conference with Chiang was "a stock-taking of the present situation." He said the political and military situation was being assessed along with Communist propaganda.

Greene took this tack on reports that the United States might bring pressure on Chiang to cut down the off-shore islands in the hope of obtaining a permanent cease-fire.

He said applying heat or pressure "would not be in tune with the relationship of mutual trust and confidence of the two countries as allies."

Vice President Chen Cheng, Chiang's right-hand man, declared that to cut the size of the garrisons or to pull out of the off-shore islands would "definitely lead to a large-scale war."

Chen told a rally in Taipei on Overseas Chinese Day he was not surprised that the Reds had broken the cease-fire because all Communist pledges are worthless.

Bagwell Jalopy Running Afoul of Detroit Law

Paul D. Bagwell's 1908 jalopy was dealt a blow yesterday when Detroit Traffic Judge John D. Watts said it belonged in a museum and not on the streets.

The judge found Donald E. Barber, 26, of White Lake Township, guilty of chauffeuring Bagwell around in the antique car which let off too much smoke, the judge said. He suspended Barber's sentence.

★ ★ ★

Barber, a political science major at Michigan State University, was ticketed while driving the jalopy in Detroit in August.

Jason L. Honigman, Republican candidate for attorney general, defended Barber.

News in Brief

Three kiddie concession rides in front of the Kresge store and the Federal Department store in the Drayton Plains Shopping Center were pryed open and an undetermined amount of money was taken sometime last night, according to Waterford Township police.

Mrs. James Miller of 7790 Gale Rd., Waterford Township, reported to police that approximately $17 was stolen from her purse in her home sometime yesterday.

3 Area Disputes End for GM

Leaving Total of 72,000 Still on Strike, With 203,226 Back on Job

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors announced today that three more United Auto Workers local bargaining units have come to terms over local disputes leaving only 72,000 GM workers still on strike.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the firm said so far 87 local units have reached agreement and 203,226 workers were back on the job today.

New-car production continued at Buick and Oldsmobile and at a few other Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plants. The spokesman said "We don't know how long our materials will hold out. When they expire the plants will have to close again, unless the other strikes are settled."

GM resumed some production yesterday in five of its 22 assembly plants for the first time since Oct. 2.

★ ★ ★

The UAW international office announced that the GM-UAW national agreement reached Oct. 2 has been "overwhelmingly ratified" by UAW members at GM plants.

Chrysler Corporation's 8-Mile Rd. plant in Detroit was struck this morning. A company spokesman said about one thousand UAW members walked out "in continuation of a dispute that started last Friday." The plant, a parts and equipment center, was hampered, but not closed, by a walkout Friday.

AF Plans to Put Animal in Orbit

To Attempt Feat Only When Survival Chance Considered Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has plans to place a "specially trained small animal" into an orbit around the earth—but not until there's a good chance of bringing it back alive.

The animal would be in a space capsule equipped to radio back to earth information on the animal's performance and physiological condition.

★ ★ ★

The Russians got similar reports on the dog Laika, sent aloft in a Soviet Sputnik last year. No effort was made to return the dog to earth.

Brig. Gen. Donald D. Flickinger, Air Force director of life sciences, outlined that service's plans in the Air University Quarterly Review, published at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

He said the attempt would be made provided techniques for the recovery of the space capsule and its occupant are satisfactorily developed.

★ ★ ★

The experiment would be made particularly in connection with a study of the effects of weightlessness on animals and human beings.

Flickinger said consideration is being given to various methods of putting laboratory animals, and later man, into a semiballistic flight path which would provide six to eight minutes of weightlessness.

★ ★ ★

"If weightlessness proves to be a limiting factor in space flight, we are faced with an engineering problem of some magnitude to provide a degree of artificial gravity during orbital coast," he said.

Mother Gets 10 Days for Hitting Principal

MONROE (UPI) — A mother who slapped her son's school principal in a dispute about disciplinary methods today was serving a 10-day jail sentence.

Mrs. Temple Owens, 36, Lasalle, was sentenced by Justice Tedd Dickerson after she pleaded guilty to an assault and battery charge brought by Louis Poretta, principal of Mason Consolidated Junior High School at Erie.

★ ★ ★

Poretta said Mrs. Owens slapped him after she objected to the way a history instructor, John Murray, disciplined her son, Robert, 15.

★ ★ ★

Poretta also brought charges of creating a disturbance against Mrs. Owens' husband, Hubert, 36. Owens pleaded not guilty. Another son, James, 17, was charged with assault and battery and is awaiting arraignment.

Couple Found Shot to Death in Cottage

NEWBERRY (AP) — The shotgunned bodies of a St. Johns couple were found today in a cottage on the Lake Michigan shore near here.

State police of the Newberry post said the deaths of James Mitchell, 45, and his wife, Lois, 42, apparently were a murder and suicide.

They said Mrs. Mitchell apparently shot her husband as he slept and then turned the shotgun on herself.

Officers theorized the woman shot and wounded herself once and then killed herself with a second blast.

State police went to the cottage, located in Mackinac County, Garfield Township, when an unidentified friend of Mitchell's called them and asked them to look in on the couple.

Plays TV Role Opposite Mineo

Carol Lynley, Pert 16, Anxious to End Career by Time She's 21

HOLLYWOOD — Carol Lynley, who plays Sal Mineo's romantic vis-a-vis in "The Vengeance," premiere presentation of the "Pursuit" series, tomorrow night on CBS Television Network, is a dedicated actress at an age when most of her contemporaries are absorbed in such ephemeral subjects as hot fudge sundaes, high-school proms, and rock 'n' roll cacophony.

At 16, the blonde and beautiful Miss Lynley can look back on a thespian career that has included Broadway roles in "Anniversary Waltz" and in the Graham Greene drama "The Potting Shed," in addition to such television productions as "Junior Miss" and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents."

★ ★ ★

She accredited herself with signal success in her screen debut, playing opposite James MacArthur and Fess Parker in Walt Disney's "The Light In the Forest," and her career as a model is almost legendary.

Carol was only 10 when she got her start in the New York modeling marts of Madison Avenue, and several hundred shutter clicks later she was to command as high as $35 an hour for lending her photographic presence to the sale of such various and sundry products as nail polish and oranges.

Looking back to that period in her precocious career, Carol gives a succinct reason for switching her ambitions to the arena of the stage and screen. "Modeling," she says, "is 'iffy'. It was all right for me when I was younger, but I feel I was definitely destined to be an actress."

★ ★ ★

"I think I've done all right so far," she adds (probably the understatement of the year), "and I want to take advantage of what opportunities are available.

"Being an actress is fun, of course, as well as profitable, but I feel that my time is limited. I give myself just five more years. After that — when I'm 21 — I intend to quit, marry and bring up a family."

The frenetic pace she sets for herself doesn't leave Carol much time for the luxury of contemplation. Too busy to attend school, she has a private tutor attend her at home.

She spends at least two hours a day in keeping her skin looking fresh and youthful, and repairing the ravages of constant application of theatrical makeup.

★ ★ ★

Then there's the matter of figure problems. In order to ward off untoward pounds (she leans to avoirdupois), Carol sticks to a diet regimen that calls for only two meals a day — tea and grapes for breakfast, and steak or fish, ice cream and more grapes for dinner. She says she puts on two pounds just by looking at a chocolate eclair. Additionally, she studies modern dancing in order to keep her figure firm and trim.

★ ★ ★

Although she sets a daily pace for herself that would try the stamina of Floyd Patterson, young Miss Lynley is seldom ill and seems able to get by with a minimum of relaxation.

Veteran performers in the cast of "Pursuit" were amazed at her constant enthusiasm and drive. With only five years to go before calling it a career, young Carol Lynley is making the most of every opportunity before calling it quits.

Frank Sinatra and Lady Beatty 'Going Steady'

LONDON (AP)—Frank Sinatra spent the past two days going steady with beautiful American-born Lady Beatty, and London newspapers suggested today a wedding is coming up.

"Sinatra will wed Lady Beatty," proclaimed The Daily Mail. It said the 36-year-old beauty's friends indicated that "the only questions to be answered were when and where."

★ ★ ★

"Frankie's out again with Lady Beatty," headlined The Daily Sketch.

"When the companionship of a man like Sinatra and a beauty like Lady Beatty becomes a daily routine, it also becomes news," apologized The Daily Express by way of explaining its daily picture of the couple.

★ ★ ★

Lady Beatty was divorced from William O'Connor of California in 1949. Earl Beatty, son of the British naval hero of World War I, divorced her last June, charging adultery with a man identified only as George Henry Lane.

Sinatra is in town to attend a movie premier next week. He has been escorting her ladyship around town until the early hours of the morning.

RISING YOUNG STARS — Carol Lynley and Sal Mineo carry on a teenage romance in "The Vengeance," premiere presentation of the "Pursuit" series tomorrow night.

Society of Comedians One Big Helpful Family

By EARL WILSON

"Do you know why comics help each other?" Jan Murray asked across a table.

"But they're always feuding," I said.

WILSON

"Despite that, they help each other out of sympathy. Nobody else but a comedian knows the bleeding a comedian goes through," Jan said. "They all helped me . . . Jolson, Berle, the Ritz Brothers, Jack Benny . . .

"When I was a kid working in a little Miami saloon called Kitty Davis' Airliner, Jolson and Ben Bernie walked in in turtleneck sweaters and ordered ice cream.

"Jolson sent me a note asking me to come see him at his cabana at the Lord Tarleton. He told me things I did wrong. He gave me one great piece of advice.

"He said, 'Fight like hell for money and billing, but if it means the job, sacrifice both. Because no act ever improved and no act ever was seen while it was laying off in a hotel room!'"

Later in Miami Beach, Jan's opposition "across the street" were the Ritz Brothers and Jan remembers, "We were dying."

★ ★ ★

"I happened to see Harry Ritz and told him, 'It was my luck to draw you guys as competition.'

"The next night I hear this hubbub in the audience. These three guys run out on my stage and stay for an hour. They did it every night. Our joint started to jump. Later I asked Harry Ritz why they helped me. He said, 'There's enough business for everybody.'"

Seniors to Start Classes in Little Rock Today

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A portion of Littl Rock's high school student population will start school today—more than a month tardy.

About 300 white seniors registered Monday for classes in the new high school operated by the Little Rock Private School Corp.

A legal challenge to the new school's operation was immediately promised by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Another 407 students of all high school grades registered at the Second Baptist Church for classes which will start next Monday at Baptist High School, a branch facility opened by Ouachita Baptist College. These classes will be held in education buildings of the Second Baptist and two other Baptist churches. A tuition of $20 per month is charged.

The corporation school is free. W. C. Brashears, principal, said the corporation would have no space for 10th and 11th graders until Nov. 1, when it will get other quarters at an undisclosed location.

The senior high is holding classes in a 32-room building formerly used by the University of Arkansas Graduate Center.

An estimated 3,700 high school students, including those at Horace Mann, a Negro institution, were shut out when Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed the city's four high schools Sept. 12 to block integration. The schools were scheduled to open Sept. 15.

A reported possibility that two Negro colleges would establish high school classes for displaced Little Rock Negro students was squelched.

The Rev. Roland Smith, chairman of the board of Arkansas Baptist College, said if his institution decided on the high school undertaking, it would be after federal courts act further on the issue of white private schools.

Dean B. F. Lever of Shorter College at North Little Rock said the college president, Dr. A. O. Wilson, had decided that it wouldn't set up a high school school branch because of its current building program.

Waterford Village PTA Schedules Parents' Night

Parents Night is the theme for the Waterford Village PTA meeting on Thursday, at 8 p.m. in school.

Following a short business meeting the film "Skippy and the Three R's" will be shown. After the film the parents will go to their child's room where the teacher will conduct a discussion on the year's work.

France Rejects Test Ban Plan

Serves Notice in U.N. Against Participation in Any Pact at Geneva

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —France's blunt warning that she will not feel bound by any U.S.-British-Soviet agreement to suspend nuclear weapon tests aroused fears today for the chances of the Geneva arms talks opening Oct. 31.

Diplomats wondered whether the Soviet Union — which was quick to blast the French position —might use it as an excuse to refuse agreement and continue her own tests.

★ ★ ★

French disarmament expert Jules Moch caused a stir in the U.N.'s 81-nation Political Committee Monday by serving notice that any agreement reached at Geneva would be "drawn up without the participation of France and not applying to her."

France's government has been pressing to develop its own atomic bomb so that France can join the nuclear-weapon club.

Moch made plain that France would call off its plan for nuclear weapons tests only if the Geneva talks produced agreement on (1) control over cessation of tests, (2) controlled reduction of atomic stockpiles and (3) a controlled end to production of atomic weapons.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin said he interpreted Moch's statement to mean France "does not intend to contribute to the reduction of the atomic threat or take any concrete steps in the field of disarmament."

★ ★ ★

Some diplomats felt Zorin might try to depict the French position as evidence of Western bad faith on the eve of the Geneva talks. The French will not take part in the talks, but they usually work closely with the other two Western powers on such questions.

MacRae, Fabray Set for Hearing Today

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Singer Gordon MacRae and television actress Nanette Fabray were scheduled to appear in federal court today to contest the government's claim that they are behind in income tax payments.

★ ★ ★

Judge Bruce M. Forrester continued a case yesterday against actor Van Johnson involving a back tax claim of $117,497, and settled a claim of $15,260 aaginst New York Yankee co-owner Del Webb and one of $40,609 against Alexander Carson, husband of comedienne Carol Channing.

★ ★ ★

Also on the docket today are claims against the estate of the late actor Louis Calhern and against former producer Z. Wayne Griffin. Actor Clark Gable was expected to appear to testify on Griffin's behalf.

Comes Through Trying Moments With Dexterity

DALLAS (AP)—The hotel desk clerk, busy assigning rooms for the International City Manager's Assn. convention, looked blankly at the man standing before the desk.

"You are Rene Labrosse, city manager from Pointe Claire, Quebec?" he repeated. "And you wish your wife, Mrs. Labrosse, to be put into the double room with the Pointe Claire mayor, and you take the single?"

The visitor nodded. The clerk nervously drummed his fingers.

Finally the clerk asked: "The mayor—it is a woman mayor?"

"Of course," answered the visitor.

Ed Sullivan Planning Film Trek to India

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Sullivan plans to go to India late in January to film a one-hour television program, to be shown on the CBS network.

★ ★ ★

He will use Indian talent, including dancers, singers and instrumentalists.

★ ★ ★

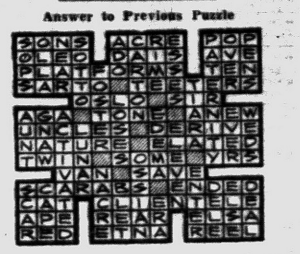
The TV producer and host leaves here Wednesday for another trip to Alaska, where he is recording a television show for presentation from here Dec. 7.

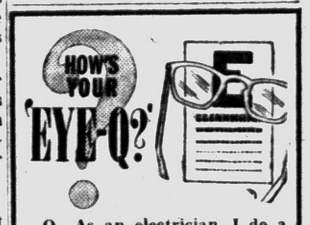
2 New TV Classes

DETROIT (AP) — Two more television classes, offering six hours of college credit, will be given by Wayne State University beginning Oct. 27 over Detroit station WJBK-TV (Channel 2). They will be humanities and the contemporary novel. A three-hour graduate course in atomic age physics for teachers is carried on WWJ-TV (Channel 4).

More than 6,600 tons of mussel shell were harvested from the Tennessee River last year, shipped to Muscatine, Iowa, and processed into fresh water pearl buttons.

Answer to Previous Puzzle





Q. As an electrician, I do a lot of close work above my head. Because I have to look through my bifocals, it gets mighty uncomfortable holding my head way back in order to see. Do you have any suggestions that would help me? E. F. C.

A. There are several types of occupational bifocals that are designed for people, like yourself, who do quite a bit of overhead work. At the time of your eye examination, discuss your work habits with the optometrist and he will suggest the best style bifocal for your needs.

Q. My mother, who is 59 years old, has had cataracts removed from each eye. She now has to wear glasses that are so heavy that she has terrible sores on each side of her nose where the glasses rest. Does she have to wear such heavy lenses? L.M.J.

A. Removal of cataracts means taking out the lens of the eyes which have become cloudy thus interfering with vision. These removed lenses had a lot of power and this lost power must be substituted with high power optical lenses which of course are quite thick and heavy. There is a way of eliminating these heavy glasses, however, and that is through the use of contact lens. Not only are they more comfortable to wear but they give better natural vision than regular eye glasses.

Q. My eyelashes are always touching the lenses of my glasses. Can this be corrected? B. M. C.

A. There are several ways to correct this annoying occurrence such as being fitted with a different style of frame that isn't so close to the eyes or by having the lens ground so it curves far enough away from the lashes without touching.

Pope's Doctor to Face Inquiry

Rome Medical Group Will Look Into Articles Describing Pius' Death

ROME (AP)—The Rome Medical Assn. will conduct a formal inquiry to determine if the personal physician of Pope Pius XII violated his professional obligations by selling articles describing the pontiff's last illness and death agonies.

★ ★ ★

The inquiry on Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, the Pope's personal physician for 19 years, will take about three weeks. A finding of guilty could result in a reprimand, suspension for a time or even ouster from the medical profession.

The association's governing council voted the inquiry Monday night at an urgent meeting to consider a storm of public demands that Galeazzi-Lisi be disciplined.

The Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals had earlier accepted Galeazzi-Lisi's resignation as Vatican Health Services director.

★ ★ ★

Galeazzi-Lisi has contended that his articles betrayed no professional secrets because his obligation of secrecy ended with his patient's death. He attributed the criticism to jealousy of doctors who were not called to treat the Pope before he died Oct. 9.

★ ★ ★

Articles signed by the doctor were sold to a number of Italian and foreign publications, but some Italian newspapers decided they were too explicit for publication. Rome papers also raised pointed questions about published photographs of the dying pontiff taken with a miniature camera.

Charges Inefficiency by Prosecutors Here

James P. Lawson, Democratic candidate for Oakland County prosecutor, charged last night the county has at least six unsolved murders because the present prosecutor's staff is not working fulltime in solving them.

"Perhaps some of the inefficiency that we've seen during the Republican dominated scene lies in the fact that we have only part-time prosecutors," said Lawson, Farmington Township Justice of the Peace, in a press conference in Berkley.

★ ★ ★

"Pick up a copy of the Oakland County Legal News and see for yourself the names of assistant prosecutors, including the chief trial lawyer, who appear as counsel in private law cases," Lawson added.

Lawson, who said he wasn't criticizing his opponent, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, but rather the county for not appropriating more funds and assistants, said murderers picked this county for dumping their victims, believing they could get away with the crime in Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Lawson did criticize Ziem however when he rebuked his opponent's alleged statement that the prosecutor's office wasn't an investigating agency.

The first concrete effort to change the status of Hawaii from that of territory to a state was a bill introduced in Congress in 1937.

Living on Social Security

Housing Problem After 65

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

It's almost inevitable that many retired people wind up in homes far bigger than they need, can afford or take care of.

In fact, this is the dilemma many of them face today. The government figures about one out of three people 65 or older live in households with six or more rooms—obviously more space than most need or even want.

What can you do if you're faced with this problem?

Of course, you can sell your home and buy a smaller one. The government has made this easier recently by setting up some special financing arrangements for people 60 or older. You can get the details on this from any Federal Housing Administration (FHA) office.

Or, you may want to sell your home and rent an apartment where you'll have no upkeep costs or maintenance responsibilities.

On the other hand, you may not want to sell your home. The memories and attachments are too strong. Being in familiar surroundings may mean too much to you. You may want to keep the home so you'll have a place where your children can come to visit.

If keeping your home is your preference, you may have the alternative of dividing it and turning the extra space into an apartment you can rent.

But, before you go too far with such plans, you should find out from the city zoning authorities if apartment dwellings are okay in your area. They may not be.

If they are, your next step should be to check with a real estate agency about your chances of renting the apartment, how much rent you can collect.

You could—if you're not careful—find yourself with a big building expense and a vacant apartment or one that's losing money for you.

If you decide to go further, you should next call in an architect or building contractor to figure out how—and at what cost—you can build an apartment. You may even want to call in several to try to get the best deal.

The next move—if you don't have the cash to build the apartment—is to write or visit the nearest FHA office. This agency is permitted by law to stand back of a "modernization" loan up to $3,600 you get from a private loan agency.

With this backing, a bank, building and loan association or other lending agency is more likely to make you a loan because it doesn't take any serious gamble on you defaulting on the loan.

You don't have to use FHA help, however. The financing is up to you and your lending agency. If you can get the financing, your next step is to give a contractor the job.

After the apartment is built, you may want to arrange with your tenant to take care of some or all of the upkeep and maintenance duties. For this you could offer lower rent.

Here's one caution: Don't expect to get rich by renting an apartment in your home. Chances are you'll get little more than enough to offset the payments for building the apartment and the heating and upkeep costs.

But, if you handle it right, you'll be money ahead, have the advantage of living where you want to, and perhaps have none of the burden of outside household chores and responsibilities.

Artist Suspected of Setting Fires; 'I Had to Do It'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Darrell J. Roesbery, who paints on velvet with water colors for relaxation, tried today to explain why he set 23 fires in the past three months which did some $200,000 worth of damage.

The 32-year-old tire repairman surrendered to police Monday after he had been placed under surveillance as a suspect.

In his jail cell, where he was held for $10,000 bail on an arson charge, Roesbery told reporters that although he didn't know why he had done it, setting the fires "seemed just natural. . . . I had to do it."

"I'd go out and drink beer. I'd get to a certain point—feel tired. I'd make sure the building was empty first. I didn't want to hurt anyone," he said.

★ ★ ★

He also said he would get severe headaches before touching off the fires by wadding up newspapers and lighting them with matches.

Police said he told them he had serious family difficulties. He is separated from his wife and two young children.

His landlady, Mrs. Edna Peters, said Roesbery was "a wonderful boy. . . . We're all just dumbfounded."

★ ★ ★

His employer, Robert Elliott, said that Roesbery was a good worker and came highly recommended.

Roesbery is proud of his painting. "My latest is on velvet, a watercolor. It's the face of a tiger. I bought oils once and I tried to paint on canvas. But I wanted something unusual," he said.
