Governor Hints Taxes May Go Up

Michigan Needs Cited in Speech at Inauguration

Williams Notes Health, Education Problems as He Starts 5th Term

LANSING (AP) — The cost of government — paid for in taxes — will unquestionably go up during his fifth term, Gov. G. Mennen Williams says.

Just how much the cost will soar, Williams didn't say in his inaugural address yesterday. But he did say that educational, mental health and public health needs, plus a better lot for the aging, will require increased spending.

The governor didn't discuss, either, what new taxes or what increases he would recommend to meet the bills. Apparently he was leaving that for communication to the Legislature when it convenes for the 1957 term a week hence.

A Democrat, Williams conceded a week ago that some Republican legislators "might be right" in foreseeing a need for at least 40 million dollars a year in new revenue.

Sworn in with Williams, only man in Michigan history ever to win five consecutive two-year terms as governor, was a five-man cabinet he carried to victory in rolling up his largest plurality last November. He also carried four of the five Democrats into the cabinet in 1954.

The 1957 cabinet is made up of Lt. Gov. Philip Hart, Secretary of State James Hare, Attorney General Thomas Kavanagh, State Treasurer Sanford Brown and Auditor General Frank Szymanski. The latter was appointed to a vacancy last June.

JUSTICE SWORN IN

Also sworn in by Chief Justice John R. Dethmers of the State Supreme Court was John D. Voelker of Ishpeming, appointed Monday to the Supreme Court by Williams.

In forecasting an increase in governmental costs, Williams said there were limitations on how much could be financed "within a tax structure reasonably in line with other states."

"If we must pay more," he continued, "we certainly shall get more for what we pay . . .

"What we put into schools, hospitals and other services is a public investment in the future which will

But U. S. Toll Is 405

No County Traffic Deaths

Oakland County survived its second successive four-day holiday weekend without a traffic fatality, but two area residents remain in critical condition at Pontiac General Hospital today as the result of New Year's Day accidents on slippery roads.

The national holiday traffic toll had reached 405 by midnight last night, far below predictions of 490 for Friday through Tuesday. Deaths from fires and other mishaps sent the overall toll to 574.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy Ross Miller, 28, of 331 Reitman Ct., Rochester, and John E. Queen, 49, of 6615 Tipsico Rd., have been "critical" since their separate early morning accidents yesterday.

Miller has failed to regain consciousness due to severe head injuries. He was reportedly off duty when he crashed into a tree on icy Pontiac Road near Rochester. He is the son of Avon Township Supervisor Cyril Miller, who was the first to find the wrecked vehicle.

Queen's condition took a turn for the worse overnight. He is under treatment for internal injuries received when his car overturned on him on a Highland Township road.

DEATHS PRECEDE HOLIDAYS

Oakland County had two fatal accidents during the interim between holidays, but none during the more dangerous rush hours.

The combined total of deaths in the U. S. for the two holiday periods far surpassed that of any other year, due to the high Christmas total of 706. Some 1,100 fatalities were recorded as compared with the old record of 973 set last year. Delayed reports may increase the present toll considerably.

California led all states in New Year's highway deaths with 38. Michigan was third with 22. Thirteen state residents died of miscellaneous causes and one was burned in a fire to make the combined state toll 36 for the 102-hour period.

These included four persons who drowned when their cars plunged through the ice on Houghton Lake New Year's Eve and three youths who died of asphyxiation in an Ypsilanti garage.

Royal Oak Police to Quiz Pontiac Man in Shootings

A Pontiac man will be questioned by Royal Oak Police tomorrow in the mysterious sniping incidents in that city which have the police puzzled and the people jittery.

Troy Lee Keith, 26, of 119½ Gladstone Pl., became a suspect in the 18-day mysteries when Romeo State Trooper Robert Hutchins discovered a sawed-off .22 caliber rifle on Keith after an early Tuesday morning auto accident.

State police were reported seeking warrants against Keith for carrying a concealed weapon and for felonious driving.

Hutchins first spotted Keith's car when it sped through a stop sign in Shelby Township. After a one mile chase at speeds up to 90 m.p.h., Keith's car collided with one driven by Richard M. Wilk, 24, of Utica.

Keith and Wilk, along with Keith's brother, Floyd C., 39, 1236 Pontiac Rd., a passenger with Keith, are in Mt. Clemens' St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Troy was reported in fair condition while the other two were reported satisfactory.

Royal Oak police detectives said the gun would be put through ballistics tests.

The shooting incidents began Dec. 15 and have resulted in the wounding of a 14-year-old girl Dec. 21 and a rash of some 50 shooting calls a day to police.

The latest reports were turned in last night. John H. Hannigan Jr., 32, told police he was burning rubbish when he heard a shot and "sparks flew from the rubbish and an empty can flew 30 feet into the air."

A youth, changing a tire on his car, reported another shot was fired at him.

Other incidents believed traceable to the phantom rifleman, included that of a 39-year-old woman waiting for a bus. She reported she was shot at twice.

A teen-aged couple, parked in Southfield Township, was also terrorized by a youth with a rifle.

Abitibi Will Boost Newsprint $4 a Ton

TORONTO (AP)—Abitibi Power & Paper Co., Ltd. today announced a general increase of $4 a ton in the price of newsprint effective March 1.

A company spokesman said a letter dated Dec. 31 has been sent to all Abitibi publisher-customers advising them of the increase.

The price rise, he said, is due to increased costs, including higher freight costs.

Mercury Low, Possible Snow, but—I Don't Know

The Weatherman's prediction for the Pontiac area tonight is partly cloudy and cold with a low of 12-16 degrees.

Tomorrow will be a little warmer with the temperature rising to 26-30. Friday night and Saturday will be colder with precipitation averaging about one half inch.

The Automobile Club of Michigan said today that roads north of a line from Bay City to Ludington and in the Grand Haven area are slippery in spots.

The rest of the southern part of lower Michigan is clear. Indiana, Ohio and Ontario roads are generally clear.

A cold wave spreading over wide areas of the Eastern United States dropped temperatures in parts of Michigan to as low as 2 degrees during the night. A low of 2 was recorded at Kinross while Pellston and Sault Ste Marie each had 6 degree readings.

The lowest thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 14 degrees. The mercury rose to 27 at 2 p.m.

85th Congress Ready to Begin

Party Caucuses Huddle to Decide Slate on Eve of First Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats and Republicans called party huddles today to work out routine preliminaries for the formal opening at noon tomorrow of the 85th Congress.

The separate caucuses were expected to approve retention of the same leaders and elective officials who served in the last Congress.

With Democrats in control, this means that Sam Rayburn of Texas, who already has served as speaker of the House longer than anyone else in history, will retain the top post for another two-year term.

John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts will continue as Democratic and Republican floor leaders, respectively, with Carl Albert of Oklahoma, Democrat, and Leslie Arends of Illinois, Republican, remaining as party whips.

Senate party meetings will be held tomorrow, with no leadership changes in prospect but with two vacancies to be filled. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana is slated to replace Earle C. Clements of Kentucky as Democratic whip. Clements was defeated for re-election. Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz) is in line to become president pro-tem of the senate, succeeding Walter George of Georgia, who did not seek re-election.

Die in Murder-Suicide

MRS. MARIE Y. SAYERS

Discover Bodies Behind Motel in Royal Oak

Cleaning Shop Owner, Branch Store Manager Die on Holiday Eve

Royal Oak police today placed a murder-suicide tag on the New Year's Eve shooting of a Birmingham cleaning shop executive and his attractive employe.

Assistant Chief Herman Potts said police tests should confirm the theory in the deaths of Jack D. Robinson, 39, owner of Beck Cleaners, 332 N. Woodward Ave., and Mrs. Marie Y. Sayers, 33-year-old manager of his Royal Oak branch store.

Their bodies were discovered in Robinson's car early Tuesday behind the Capri Motel, 3016 N. Woodward, police said.

Robinson, whose home is at 19925 Prairie Ave., Detroit, was shot twice in the chest. Mrs. Sayers, 324 N. Woodward, Birmingham, was shot once in the stomach.

Potts said Mrs. Sayers, who was separated from her husband, bought a .38 caliber automatic Monday night and apparently used it on Robinson and herself, while parked with the motor idling at the rear of the motel lot.

Robinson, the father of three children, was in the driver's seat at the time of the shooting, Potts said. His foot apparently struck the accelerator and the automobile moved forward into the rear fence of a home at 3117 Woodslee Dr. The car has an automatic transmission which was in forward gear, Potts said.

Statements of several neighbors, who believe they heard shots, Potts said, place the shootings about 9 p.m. Monday night.

DISCOVERS BODIES

The bodies were noticed several hours later by James F. Todd, of 3955 Quarton Rd., Birmingham, a newspaper distributor.

Potts said he is awaiting analysis of a paraffin test on the woman's hands. It would determine if she had fired a gun. A ballistics test, he said, will show whether bullets taken from the bodies were fired from the automatic found on the car floor by the woman's feet. She was sitting on the front seat next to Robinson, Potts said.

Mrs. Robinson told police Mrs. Sayers had threatened her husband's life two weeks ago after he told her she would have to leave the store which she was managing, across Woodward from the motel.

The dead man's wife said her husband recently had broken off with the woman after being "involved" with her for nearly a year.

He had been living at a Royal Oak hotel recently but New Year's Eve telephoned about 7:30 p.m., she said, saying he was coming home.

Robinson was living away from home "to calm his nerves," his wife said. She denied they had ever separated.

Potts theorized Mrs. Sayers shot him and herself when he announced he was going back home.

Suggests Elevated Highway Over Grand Trunk Tracks

Reviving an idea that was proposed a quarter of a century ago, Harry M. Pryale suggested today that road authorities study and consider a big automobile highway above the Grand Trunk tracks where they pass through the city.

"This could come into Pontiac from the south along Franklin Road," said the Baldwin Rubber Company president to The Press "and proceed until it reaches the Grand Trunk tracks." Then it would be elevated above them through to the north end.

"I believe this would cause less confusion and less damage to abutting property owners than any methods yet outlined. The Grand Trunk right-of-way is established and certainly Franklin is the easiest entrance to Pontiac from the south.

"The fact the new road is elevated would leave all present crossings intact," he continued. "If we depress a new highway, every street crossing would require a bridge; and the exits and entrances might be more expensive.

"If we build above the tracks, exits could be located where they come advantageously. There could be one around Johnson Avenue and about two more where the ground suggests the best approaches.

"Certainly this city and county need a big throughway immediately. With the federal government interesting itself in assisting on main roads, I assume the Oakland County Road Commission is studying the whole problem and is preparing to come up with definite recommendations. Their work and the city planning should be tied in together.

"As has been said before, someone has to be hurt wherever a new road is located. But we still need many roads. The problem is to inconvenience the fewest number possible and do the work in the most economical manner.

"I rather believe the route suggested here would cost the least money in damages to property owners. So many roads have been suggested that I think we should confine our studies to a couple or we will be wasting our fire by shooting at half a dozen targets. The depressed highway and this one are close to Saginaw Street and may help downtown merchants in addition to speeding other traffic. It might hasten matters along if we confined our attention to these two."

'Best Year Ever' Forecast for '57

Fortune Magazine Sees Record Breaking Output as 3 Pct. Above 1956

The Fortune business roundup, which for the past six years has correctly forecast U. S. business conditions six to 12 months in advance, predicts in the magazine's January issue that 1957 will be, like 1956, another "best year ever" for business.

The nation's output of goods and services probably will total $427 billion (at 1956 prices), or more than 3 per cent higher than 1956's record-breaking $412 billion, say Fortune economists.

The publication says that the Federal Reserve Index will rise from last year's average of 143 to 149 in 1957. Prices will also advance, and in actual dollars the Gross National Product will reach $435 billion this year, predicts that magazine.

Fortune sees no real danger of a business relapse in 1958:

"The striking thing about the business outlook is how extraordinarily impervious the economy appears to be, after so long a period of expansion, to the threat of a real recession. There could be a minor economic dip in 1958—say, to a Federal Reserve Index of 145.

"But that appears to be the worst that can happen, and it would hardly be a recession."

Famed Detroit Club, Latin Casino, Burns

DETROIT (INS)—Two separate fires destroyed a well-known night club and forced the evacuation of a hotel and all-night theater in Detroit early today.

The interior of the Latin Casino was completely destroyed and Fire Marshal Matthew McNally estimated damage at $90,000.

Fourteen pieces of firefighting apparatus battled the blaze, which apparently started near the kitchen in the rear of the one-story brick building. Merchandise in an appliance and furniture store next to the night club also was damaged.

A minor fire in a sandwich shop sent smoke into the National Theater and Hubar Hotel, forcing police to remove 60 hotel tenants and about 200 movie house patrons. Officers had to enter the hotel twice to evacuate the tenants, who balked at fleeing into 17-degree cold.

Press to Begin Highlights Monday

FBI Chief Praises New Whitehead Book

J. Edgar Hoover himself puts a seal of approval on Don Whitehead's runaway bestseller "The FBI Story," highlights of which will appear in The Pontiac Press beginning Monday.

In a foreward to Whitehead's book, Hoover says:

"My associates and I are deeply grateful for the painstaking care of the author in his accurate portrayal of the record of The FBI."

"For more than 30 years, as the FBI's director, I have watched the story of the bureau being reported on a day-to-day basis by the press, radio and, now, television. Our organization has been scrutinized by committees of Congress, by the budget bureau and by the courts. In magazine articles and books, many phases of the bureau's work have been recorded. Some of those accounts were correct, others were distorted and some were the figments of the imagination.

"It seemed to me that far too many people had no real understanding of the FBI's work. It was too much of a "mystery." It was a mystery because of its scattered record occasioned by its widespread operations, and to learn of its many activities would require research which few people have time to conduct.

"In the summer of 1955, Don Whitehead revived a request he had previously made to do a book which would span the entire history of the bureau. Mr. Whitehead was well known on the Washington scene.

"He had won two Pulitzer prizes for distinguished reporting on domestic and foreign affairs. He was generally regarded as one of the top war correspondents in World War II and in the Korean war. He had written stories on the bureau and we had complete confidence in his integrity, ability and objectivity.

"Mr. Whitehead had to have the facts if there was to be a worth-while objective result, and full facts were given him so long as they did not violate security.

"The author was free to ask questions and we felt it was our duty to provide him with full facts so that he could form his own independent judgment on our policies, procedures and performance . . .

"In recent years, a campaign of falsehood and vilification has been directed against the FBI by some ignorant and some subversive elements. In the world-wide struggle of free people, the truth is still one of our most potent weapons. And the record of the FBI speaks for itself.

"It is the best answer to the falsehoods, half-truths and rumors spread by Communists, their stooges and defenders."

Bipartisan Support for Ike Indicated; to Study Details

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional leaders gave support today to President Eisenhower's request for advance authority to launch quick American retaliation against any Communist aggression in the Middle East.

Eisenhower told 29 top members of the Senate and House at a four-hour White House conference yesterday he will ask speedy action by the new Congress on a proposal "designed to deter Communist armed aggression in the Middle East area."

A White House statement said this would be linked with a request for "an enlarged program of economic aid to the nations in that area," to be administered under Eisenhower's personal direction.

The general principles of this new peace-keeping doctrine got immediate backing from leaders of both parties, subject to a more detailed explanation Eisenhower will give Congress within the next five or six days.

Some conferees said Eisenhower may deliver the special message in person early next week, but the White House said no decision on this has been reached.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) told reporters he believes the President's proposal—which conferees said involved standby presidential authority to order U.S. military forces into action—"will be a very fine thing if it can have proper explanation and practical unanimity in the Congress."

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House Appropriations Committee said, "The President's proposal seems to me the only sensible course for us to follow."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, reserved judgment. He said Eisenhower's request involved some "rather far-reaching proposals with grave and serious implications." But he promised speedy Senate consideration of them.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, top Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he "didn't hear any opposition" when Eisenhower broached his plan to the assembled 13 senators and 16 House members.

But Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), who was not at the meeting, said Eisenhower has "quite a selling job to do," and added he wants to know more details before he votes.

Vice President Nixon gave the legislators a summary of his report to the President on the Hungarian refugee system. In it he recommended that no ceiling be put on refugee admissions to this country. Eisenhower announced the attorney general will continue to permit entry of refugees above the present 21,500 limit until Congress acts.

Resume Search for Two Women

Cars and Men's Bodies Located Yesterday in Houghton Lake

HOUGHTON LAKE (INS)—Divers resumed their search today for two women still missing in a grim New Year's Eve mishap on Houghton Lake.

Two cars carrying a party of five ice fishermen plunged through the lake Monday night during a blinding snowstorm.

The cars and the bodies of Arthur Klatt, 33, of Lansing, Mich., and Albert Sohn, 52, of Houghton Lake Mich., were located yesterday by state police and volunteers.

Still missing and presumed drowned are Klatt's wife, Bernadette, 32, and Mrs. Dorine Butler, 33, of Lansing.

The lone survivor, John Whorley, 36, also of Lansing, notified authorities after wandering over the frozen lake for more than an hour. He opened the door of one of the sinking cars, leaped out and rolled over the thin ice to safety.

Klatt's body was found beneath the ice 300 feet from his car. He apparently had escaped from the auto, but was trapped by the lake's ice surface. Sohn's body was recovered from the car in which he was riding.

Whorley said the two cars were heavier than most of the other vehicles on the lake and that is probably why they broke through the ice.

Fire Forces Family to Flee Sylvan Home

Six members of a Sylvan Lake family received minor burns when a fire broke out in their home forcing them to flee to safety in their nightclothes in 12 degree weather early today.

Released by Pontiac General Hospital following treatment for burns of the hands, arms, and hair were: Guy J. Reed, 49, his wife, Addice, 51, Doris, 16, Frene, 12, Janet, 13, and Alice Reed, 19.

The blaze occurred at 1575 Lakeview Rd., at approximately 3:15 a.m., causing an estimated $5,000 in damages to the home and contents.

West Bloomfield Township Fire Chief Ben Mosher reported no cause has been determined for the blaze which started in a bedroom closet and was confined to the interior of the house. He said the building was saved and received only wall blistering in the three-hour battle by his department.

Bloomfield Jeweler Found Dead in Store

The body of Bloomfield Township jeweler Richard E. Garlick, 42, of 6085 Wing Lake Rd., was found by Detroit police yesterday in his store at 1250 Washington Blvd.

Wayne County Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. Francis X. Krynicki listed the death as a suicide. Police said he apparently drank a poisonous solution used in cleaning jewelry.

Mrs. Garlick had reported her husband missing yesterday to area police. He reportedly was feeling despondent over a medical condition.

Bomb Reports Still Come In

Scares Prove False but Keep Police Running in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Pranksters and crackpots continue to harass the police search for New York City's "mad bomber."

The number of bomb scares dwindled to about a dozen yesterday. The variety of scares, however, matched that of any previous day.

Police said the perpetrators ranged from a 19-year-old who exploded a bomb firecracker in mid-Manhattan to the person who planted a fake bomb in a Times Square telephone booth with an attached note saying:

"Dear Marian: This is to start the New Year with a bang."

Police said Marian's admirer had left an unexplosive 15-inch length of pipe with a wire running its length.

Also found yesterday were a harmless flashlight case and a bag of cookies which a cautious usher carried gingerly from a theater.

An unexploded but authentic bomb was found in the New York public library Dec. 24. Since then, police found another live bomb in New York's Paramount theater last Friday and have checked about 150 reports of bombs which proved unfounded. Both bombs were detonated harmlessly by authorities.

Police linked the library and Paramount explosives to the "mad bomber," who has plagued this city since 1940 with some 34 bombs, 22 of which exploded injuring 15 persons. There were no fatalities.

Discovery of the cherry bomb firecracker in Manhattan yesterday led to arrest of four youths: George S. Scarles, 19, of Queens; PFC. John Beckman 17, a Marine on furlough from Camp Lejeune, N. C.; Beckman's brother Ronald, 16, of Manhattan, and Donald Jones, 17, of Queens.

Scarles was charged with exploding a firecracker in violation of a city ordinance. He was held in $500 bail. The others were accused of disorderly conduct. Charges against Jones and the Beckman brothers were dismissed, however, when a complainant failed to appear in court.

She had applied for a permit to purchase the gun Dec. 4 at the Birmingham Police Department. She bought it a few hours before the shootings at Geake's Sporting Goods Store, 23510 Woodward, Ferndale.

Mrs. Sayers apparently had been worried about molesters when she applied for the gun permit, Birmingham Det. Sgt. Robert Schaule said. She had filed a complaint, he said, that she had found a strange man in her car one night.

Robinson was the father of two sons, 18 and 7, and a daughter, four months.

Autopsies were performed last night by Dr. Richard E. Olsen, pathologist at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said no investigation was contemplated by his office.

The eldest, 16-year-old Sharon, a junior and the holder of many state and midwest twirling honors, won the big championship in a field of 250.

Her sisters, Arlene, 15, a 10th grader, and Marilyn, 13, 9th grader, worked with Sharon as a unit at all home games of the West Bloomfield grid team last fall. They were a feature whenever the school band appeared. Arlene and Marilyn also placed high in the contest at Miami.

Romantic Arabian Float Top Winner at Pasadena

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Indio, Calif., a first-tie entry, holds the coveted sweepstakes honors among the 63 breathtaking floats fashioned from flowers for the 68th annual Tournament of Roses.

A scene from the Arabian Nights — a caliph's court — was the setting in which Indio depicted its "first date festival."

Police and veteran observers among the grandstand crowd estimated the New Year's Day spectacle was viewed by the greatest throng in its history — 1 to 1½ million persons.

The six-mile procession wound through Pasadena's streets for more than two hours.

The floats, costing from $5,000 to $25,000 each, represented a myriad of scenes in keeping with the theme, "Famous Firsts in Flowers." Indio, a community of about 8,000 fashioned its romantic original setting with dates suspended from orchid trees overlooking a courtyard of lavender, pink and white blossoms.

Other awards included:

International trophy — Switzerland, in cooperation with the March of Dimes. A floral clock, labeled "Time to Join the March of Dimes," called attention to the problem of polio.

States and territories Division — Iowa, whose football team beat Oregon State in the Rose Bowl following the parade. Six Iowa girls rode on a platform representing agriculture, industry and education.

The float, "Strength From the Land," was the first ever entered by Iowa in any Tournament of Roses. It was constructed of sweet peas, roses, torch ginger and other blooms.

TOP PARADE FLOAT — The float of Indio, Calif., winner of the Sweepstakes prize in yesterday's 68th annual Tournament of Roses parade, passes before some of the million or more spectators who viewed the fabulous floral spectacle in Pasadena. Entitled "First Date Festival," the float heralded the town's desert climate and date orchards. Real dates are suspended from the trees, and the display is a mass of lavender, pink and white flowers. Queen Scheherazade and a caliph are portrayed, along with princesses and slave girls.

Eye Emerson for Post

Educator Clair Taylor to Retire

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, said today he will retire from politics July 1 to join the staff of Michigan State University.

Popping up as a possible succeeding candidate to Taylor in Republican party circles was Oakland County's Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of the county Board of Education.

In response to mention for nomination, Dr. Emerson said this morning that he was "absolutely inactive" in that line and had been so for four consecutive years. "I intend to remain that way and I'm not going to change my mind," he emphasized.

Taylor in his second term as the $12,500-a-year state educational chief, did not elaborate on his announcement except that it would be an administrative post and would not involve teaching.

Taylor, 54, a native of Illinois, is a graduate of Lake City High School and holds degrees from Western Michigan College, Central Michigan College and Michigan State University.

Before launching his political career, he served as teacher and coach in the Sand Creek Schools, principal at the Pigeon High School and superintendent of the Elberta Public Schools.

He joined the Department of Public Instruction in 1937, serving as chief of the Finance and Accounting Division. Named deputy superintendent in 1948, he was elected to his first term as superintendent in 1953, then re-elected in 1955.

The Day in Birmingham

Chief Reporting Thursday on City's Juvenile Crime

BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioners tomorrow night will receive an official report from Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley on the status of "juvenile crime" in the city.

Moxley's report shows that 184 minors came to the attention of police in 1955, with 153 entering the records during the first 11 months of the year just ended.

"It is a small drop," Moxley said, "but with the increases we have had during the past five years, it is a welcome one."

Moxley pointed out that the "crime" upswing was among adults, as well as juveniles. He added that, for the most part, crimes committed within the city were of a minor nature, and said he felt the situation was well controlled in the city.

Commissioners, a year ago suggested that with the fire department occupying new quarters, the juvenile section be moved into the former BFD office. It had previously shared quarters with those assigned to repair parking meters.

During the year the main burden of juvenile work has remained with Lieut. Henry Timm. Det. Robert Schaule has been assigned to the division, and according to Moxley, has been doing a splendid job working with complainants, juveniles and their parents.

"I feel that we have broadened our program in the right direction," Moxley said, "and are definitely making marked progress in the handling of our juvenile cases."

The January 8 session of the Birmingham Child Study club will be held at 8:15 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Joseph Dran, 6222 Lahser road. Mrs. Howard Rieman, R.N., will speak on "Dangers in the Home."

Newly elected officers for the Past Chief's club, Pythian Temple 94, are Robertina Davidson, president; Dorothy Walker, vice president; Ilau Matice, secretary-treasurer; Sarah Symons, chaplain, and Jane Capling, publicity director. The slate takes office immediately without formal installation.

Resumption of the Saturday story hours at Baldwin Public Library will begin Jan. 5, from 10:30 to 11 a.m. Kindergarten through sixth grade youngsters this week will hear an old favorite Danish story, "The Foolish Lad" and a Celtic fairy tale, "Hudden and Dudden and Donald O'Neary."

Meetings scheduled at the Birmingham Community House for the balance of the week include on Jan. 3, the Business Women's dinner at 6:30 p.m., Kiwanis dinner at 6:45 p.m. and the Recovery, Inc. session at 7:30 p.m.

Friday will see the Senior Workshop and Birmingham Women's Club groups meeting at 10:30 a.m. A luncheon for the Oakland County Federation of Women's club will be served at 12:30 p.m.

The Horticultural Society meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Jan. 5.

The disposal of Christmas trees will be made easier for Birmingham residents a DPW spokesman said today, if they will cut the tree into easily handled lengths. This, and removal and bundling of branches will make it possible for trees to be handled along with other rubbish collection materials.

Neither whole trees nor large branches can be taken.

Williams Indicates Taxes May Go Up

pay us rich dividends in a better life for ourselves and our children.

"Perhaps as a state we cannot meet all our needs and challenges at once. We shall have to work out together just how fast we can go.

VITAL MATTERS

"Such public needs as education and mental health must take precedence over other desirable and needed things which we may want but cannot manage within the tax structure . . ."

Leading up to his increased spending theme, the governor said "It is not in the character of the people of Michigan to float placidly in back waters while great things cry to be done.

"In a world where the role of brawn and muscle is rapidly declining," he said at one point, "the role of brains and education is becoming correspondingly more important.

"We must not only educate a great many more children with whom God has blessed us, but we must educate them to the much higher requirements of the revolutionary age in which we live.

"If we fail in this, we fail in everything—in our responsibility to our own families, and in our responsibility to the rest of the world, which looks to our children for tomorrow's leadership . . .

FOR FUTURE PROGRESS

"If we are to continue to maintain our liberties, our high standards of living, our world leadership in technology and industry, we must provide our children with the education they need for the world of tomorrow."

In a society of automation and atomic and solar power, Williams said citizens educated by "little red schoolhouse standards—regardless of tugs of nostalgia"—wouldn't be adequate.

In a roundabout way, Gov. Williams served notice on Republicans that Michigan Democrats are going to keep the pressure on politically through April 1—spring election day.

The governor, in a talk to an inaugural banquet audience last night, told of the report he would make of inauguration activities if he were in attendance as a "spy for the Republicans."

* * *

As such a spy, he said, he would wonder why some leading Democrats present at the swearing-in ceremonies in the morning and receptions that followed didn't stick around for the evening banquet and ball.

WORK TO DO

"I know. Some of them told me," Williams said. "They said: 'It's a fine party and we'd like to stay for tonight, but we've got an election coming up April 1 and we've got to get home and go to work.'"

He assured the diners he meant his words literally.

Newsmen pricked up their ears when Williams, speaking to the same group, described the nature of remarks addressed to him by well-wishers passing through the afternoon reception line.

"Ten to one it was 'I'll see you at the 1960 inaugural' too 'I was with you in 1948,'" he said.

He said what was uppermost in the minds of these persons was not that Michigan Democrats had elected a governor five straight times but rather "the forward look."

Questioned afterwards about the "1960 inaugural" part of it—whether that meant 1960 in Washington, D.C.—the governor said he was just relating what people said to him.

EMBLEM IN EVIDENCE

As one would expect, the Williams emblem—the green bow tie with white polka dots—was everywhere in evidence at all inaugural events.

One of the floral pieces on display in the executive office consisted of a three-foot, green-dyed piece of dry foam material shaped like a bow tie and liberally studded with white carnations.

PARIS (AP)—The price of gasoline, already boosted to the equivalent of 86 cents a gallon for high test, rose again at French pumps today. The rise was a third of a cent a gallon. But this time the Suez Canal blockage was not to blame. The government arranged the increase to help finance loans for farmers.

Sumatra Group Supports Hatta

Moslem Ministers Seek to Install New Premier on Restive Island

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The coalition Cabinet of Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo scheduled a meeting tonight to consider demands from Indonesia's leading Moslem party that it resign.

A spokesman for the Masjumi party said its five ministers will quit the Cabinet tomorrow if other parties attempt to keep the government in power. The Masjumi had demanded the dissolution of the Cabinet to meet the military-political crises on Sumatra.

A party spokesman said the Masjumo wants (1) the Cabinet to resign, (2) all parties in the government to propose former Vice President Mohammed Hatta for premier, and (3) Hatta to form a Cabinet of businessmen chosen from all parties.

Similar demands have been voiced by rebellious military groups which staged bloodless coups in central and northern Sumatra. Other areas in the young island republic also are reported restive.

In a New Year's message to the Indonesian people, President Sukarno declared the "present difficulties with which we are now being confronted can only be surmounted by a strong national unity."

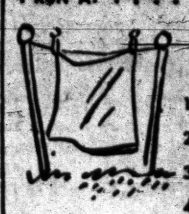

He urged his countrymen to consider whether the democratic system on which Indonesia's constitution now is based is a good one.

"If not," he said, "replace it with a better one."

Colorado Gold Sites Reopen Operations

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo. (AP)—Seventeen mines which in past years yielded 20 million dollars in gold will be reopened in the Cripple Creek-Victor, Colomn area.

J. Selby Young of Colorado Springs, head of the Beacon Hill mines firm, said the reopening operations were starting today.

The mines were bought from Thomas Copeland of Colorado Springs and James Knight of Chicago for approximately $50,000 and "the ore values . . . could be fantastic," Young said.

Three to Attempt Swim Baltimore to Annapolis

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three young Baltimore area men will attempt soon to swim nonstop from Baltimore to Annapolis, a distance of about 35 miles.

All are members of the Maryland Waterbugs, which claims the distinction of being the first skin-divers club organized in the state.

They will wear special rubber suits over several suits of underwear for the long swim in the icy waters of the Patapsco River, Chesapeake Bay and the Severn River.

The three hoped to make the surface swim in about 20 hours.

Evacuate Theater

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police evacuated 2,800 moviegoers from Loew's Midland theater downtown last night after an anonymous telephone tipster warned a bomb had been planted there. Twenty detectives joined the staff in an hour's search but found no bomb.

Utah Lists No Fatalities Over Holiday Weekend

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Utah finished the four-day New Year holiday weekend with no traffic fatalities reported up to midnight last night—in sharp but bright contrast to the Christmas weekend in which six were killed.

The state waited anxiously this morning in hopes no delayed reports of accidents in the more remote areas would stain the unblemished mark.

1956 Traffic Death Toll 'Disgrace to California'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—B. R. Caldwell, commissioner of the California highway patrol, says the state's drivers should be ashamed of the 1956 record traffic death toll.

Patrol headquarters announced that last year's toll had been set tentatively at 3,772. That was 341 higher than for 1955 and 108 above 1946, the previous record year.

Caldwell suggested that car manufacturers should stop the "horse-power race."

Curley Appears Winning Tough Battle for Life

BOSTON (INS)—Ex-Governor James M. Curley today appeared to be winning the most important fight of his life—a battle for life.

Doctors at City Hospital said they removed an oxygen tent for the first time since Saturday and that Curley, 82, who was operated on four days ago for a massive hemorrhaging ulcer "continues to make satisfactory progress."

Holy Roman Emperor Charles V, who died in 1558, had 27 pairs of spectacles to match each of his costumes.

Senators Meet on Rule Change

Coalition Seeks to Limit Filibuster; South Forms Opposing Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Dixie Democrats and a coalition of Northern and Western Democrats and Republicans convene rival strategy meetings today on a proposal to change Senate rules.

In the opening hours of the new Senate session tomorrow, the Northern group plans to try to knock down the Senate rule it regards as a bulwark for filibusters against civil rights bills.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) called members of the coalition group to a closed door strategy huddle in his office at which, he told a reporter, he hopes a nose count will show whether the group has any real chance to win.

Sen.-elect John Sherman Cooper (R-NY) announced last night that he will join the group seeking the rule change.

A group of Southern senators arranged for its own strategy meeting in the office of Sen. Russell (D-Ga). Its members said little, but some of them indicated privately they are far from sure of the outocme of a fight over civil rights in which the White House goes all out.

At issue in the rules fight is a Senate rule which requires the affirmative votes of at least 64 of the Senate's 96 members to impose a time limit on debate. The Northern group would like to make it a simple majority.

A Cincinnati husband, coming home late, was met by his missus who screamed, "If you don't stop this drinking, I'm leaving!" He quietly replied, "Promises—that's all I get—just promises." . . . Hal Boyle Says:

Presley Sideburns Bring Fad Back to Life

NEW YORK (AP) — The Elvis Presley sideburns have become something of a badge of honor among the teen-age rock 'n' roll crowd.

It could be a lot worse. What if they were old enough to grow handlebar mustaches—or honest beards?

Many of us red-blooded, clean-shaven elders who rage against the Presley-style sideburns forget the hirsute sins of our own youth.

If any balding grandpa will just thumb through the family album to a portrait of himself, when he was a dashing young "cakeater" in the flaming 1920s, what will he see? He will see a youthful caricature in wide pants, a pork pie hat—and wearing sideburns. And if he's a foxy grandpa, he'll tear the picture out of the album so his grandkids never get to see how ridiculous he looked when young.

One man with an historical perspective is Meyer Shnitzler, who may know as much about whiskers as anyone in America.

Shnitzler, vice president in charge of research for the Gillette safety razor, has made a lifelong study of man's relations to his whiskers through the ages. Here is what he has to say about the new juvenile rage for sideburns:

"They apparently come into vogue during periods of unrest and especially in postwar eras.

"This whisker trim was named after Gen. Ambrose Burnside, a Civil War officer, whose colorful sideburns set a fad among young Union soldiers.

"What he was to them and Rudolph Valentino—remember his sideburns?—was to the youngsters in the 1920s, Elvis Presley is to the rock 'n' roll crowd today.

"What'll happen? Why, they'll outgrow the idea."

Shnitzler, a tall, scholarly-looking scientist, bristles like a porcupine with statistics on whiskers. He believes that his firm is the only corporation in America that encourages its employes to come to work unshaven—and whack off their whiskers on company time, so they can be used to test company products. About 20 per cent of the employes take him up on the offer.

Here are a few things Shnitzler says is known about the 50 million American men who shave daily:

Each has about 30,000 hairs in his beard which grow a 50th of an inch every 24 hours. This means, he figures, that U.S. men grow about 500,000 miles of beard every day.

If all this were one whisker, it would reach to the moon and back and if it were rolled into a single ball it would weigh 25,000 pounds.

Furthermore, if all the growth in just one man's 30,000 whiskers were confined to a single hair it would shoot up 42 feet in a day.

Naturally, a fellow can't tell one whisker to grow and the others not to. But why couldn't all the hermits who are mad at life simply lie down and let their beards grow out and strangle civilization?

Because, fortunately, their beards would grow only to a length of about 18 inches, then stop.

"A whisker grows that long in about three years when it reaches maturity, dies and falls out," explained Shnitzler, "and another whisker starts growing to replace it."

Nature thinks of everything.

Other whisker lore:

A dry male whisker is about as tough as a copper wire. Color isn't as sure a sign of toughness as age.

Why don't men use chemicals to remove their beards the same as women do depilatories on their legs? Their faces are too sensitive for daily use of such preparations.

How much times does a man spend shaving? If he devotes five minutes a day to it five times a week, between the time he's 20 and 60 he'll put in about 109 eight-hour days removing his facial foliage.

And women complain men never do anything for them!

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

THE STORY OF THE CALENDAR

Primitive Man and the Moon

Today, Junior Editors, we bring you the first part of a four page calendar for 1957 together with a story of how the calendar came into being.

Save the four pictures, mount them on stiff paper and fasten them together. Then you will have your own calendar for the year.

The word "kalends," from which we get our word calendar, is from the ancient Roman and means "the first of the month." But long before Roman times, men were studying ways of measuring time.

Hours, minutes and seconds are man-made divisions, and not nearly as old as the three great natural divisions — days, months and years.

Primitive man told time by the sun and later by the moon. That's how the expression, "many moons ago," was started. The cycle of the moon became the "month." Our picture shows a primitive man studying the moon.

The sun was used by the ancients to reckon time not only during the day but over a longer period. They saw cold weather followed by warm and then cold again. When this happened over and over again, the people gave names to the seasons and the complete turnover was called a "year."

Report Industry Idle in Hungary

Lack of Power Forces Layoffs, Reds Eye Draft for Coal Mines

VIENNA (AP) — Radio Budapest reported that large segments of Hungarian industry were still idle today on the first work day of 1957.

"The resumption of work in the new year was still suffering from lack of coal," the Communist regime's radio said. It added that deliveries of gas and steam power also were still "disturbed."

The broadcast said Premier Janos Kadar's government was consolidating work units and reorganizing production methods to meet the power shortages. Thousands have been laid off from the idle plants but there has been speculation many would be drafted to work in the coal mines.

The sound of small arms fire marked the coming of the new year in Budapest. The shooting went on for an hour after midnight, during the regular six-hour military curfew that kept Hungarians in their homes. Radio Budapest said only, "There was some shooting during the night by irresponsible elements."

When the curfew was lifted at 4 a.m., the broadcast said, many drunks came out on the streets —apparently from parties in private homes.

As usual, Soviet armored cars patrolled the city streets New Year's Day. Churches were crowded for morning services. Many Hungarians lined up outside movie theaters.

President Istvan Dobi held his traditional New Year's reception for the diplomatic corps. The Russian tanks guarding the Parliament Building were withdrawn for the occasion, but took up positions in nearby streets. Kadar and members of his government did not attend. Diplomats of the United States, Britain, France and the other NATO powers boycotted the party.

Win You a Dollar, Vegas'll Holler: Attaboy! Hooray!

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) —Only in Nevada are there business establishments that advertise their losses wildly — and the more they lose the more customers they get.

The Sands hotel announced proudly today that it had lost a million dollars to crap-shooting, roulette-playing, blackjack bettign celebrators during the three-day New Year's holiday.

In addition to the heavy losses in the casino, the Sands thre wits usual costly New Year's Eve party which is highlighted by little velvet handbags distributed to the ladies. They are weighted with 25 silver dollars — which, incidentally, doesn't go far in Las Vegas.

The lure of newly minted silver dollars and expected winnings at the gaming tables brought nearly 100,000 visitors to Vegas since Saturday. The Cahmber of Commerce counted 64,000 cars, buses, trains and planes.

Schedule Meet in France for Freedom Fighters

WASHINGTON (INS) — Two exiled Hungarian leaders have informed the state department that refugee freedom fighters will meet in Strasbourg, France, on Saturday to organize an anti-Soviet movement.

The leaders are Maj. Gen. Gela Kiraly, a former Hungarian army officer, and Miss Anna Kethly, a cabinet member in the short-lived government of deposed Premier Imre Nagy.

Paper Provides Callers With Verbal Capsules by Automatic Machines

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—News highlights provided callers by automatic telephone answering machines of the Montgomery Advertiser-Journal have proven popular in their first week.

Publisher R. F. Hudson Jr. says from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m. about 720 calls an hour are made to obtain a capsule version of the news and the weather outlook.

When the service began Dec. 24 the machines answered 3,121 calls in the first 24 hours, the Southern Bell Telephone Co. reported. Its monitor showed another 6,481 overflow calls turned away in the period.

A third machine was added yesterday to the original two, Hudson said, to handle the load. Over the past weekend the service averaged about 2,800 calls for each 24-hour period.

Every hour a fresh 30-second version of news headlines is prepared and put on the machines. Bulletins are added as needed. Hudson said since the service started the newspaper switchboard had received hundreds of requests for further details of news on the machines.

"This may prove one way to keep the public turning to newspapers for the latest news before they get it on radio or television," the publisher said.

While it is still too early to tell whether the service will stimulate newspaper sales, Hudson said several other newspaper publishers have inquired about it.

The machines are rented from the telephone company for $9 a month each. Hudson called the service one of "our most inexpensive public service ventures."

Each machine will handle up to 120 calls an hour. Extra callers get a busy signal.

Pontiac Area Prosperity to Continue During 1957

What about the Pontiac area in 1957?

This question is of vital interest and importance to some 200,000 people in this general vicinity.

The Pontiac Press has read many surveys and forecasts of the year to come in the United States. These are predicated on world peace and no military entanglements. Some come from national economic authorities. Some come from the heads of the automotive industry. Some come from weekly business letters. Some come from self-starters who merely want to horn into the act.

Generally, they are in agreement. Good business is the prediction.

Furthermore, all of the critics seem to unite in the belief that this trend will continue straight through the year. They may be wrong. They've erred at times in the past, but the unanimity with which they foretell a steady flow of business lends credence to the over all picture.

The Press believes that Pontiac will go forward evenly with the nation. In 1956 we lagged somewhat behind the national trend, as the automotive business was jogging behind the average of other businesses for the first time. From all indications, The Press believes that Pontiac will participate in the general average business condition across the country.

The new 1957 Pontiac cars have gotten away to a splendid start and have been favorably received by the public. This is vital to the welfare of this area.

Harlow H. Curtice predicts that the GMC Truck and Coach Division will continue along in 1957 about as it did in 1956. This means that business will be fine, as the Truck plant was only two or three per cent behind 1955 in its 1956 operations. Philip J. Monaghan, plant manager, also believes that his division will have a strong year.

So far as The Press can learn, the smaller plants in the area will run along in proportion to the activities of the general automobile business. Mr. Curtice said in New York at his big, annual press conference that he estimated this would be somewhere between 1956 and 1955. He felt 1957 would exceed the year just closed, but that it would not equal the all time record buster of 1955.

Pontiac's retail trading area is in a strong position. The stores enjoyed a good December and are well stocked with true value merchandise.

All in all, the outlook for the ensuing 12 months is good. The year will not match 1955, but it will be a good period of generous activity with business and jobs for everyone that hustles. The weary and the laggards will be side lined as usual but our population will continue to increase and a very high level of national prosperity lies ahead.

No Agreement in Sight on the Philippine Bases

Last July when Vice President Nixon and President Magsaysay of the Philippines issued a joint statement on the return of U. S. bases there, it looked as though agreement had been reached.

Under discussion was the question of sovereignty. Our negotiators agreed that the bases were American installations on Philippine soil for the defense of both countries. All American claims to U. S. lands in the islands have been surrendered.

Recently, however, Filipino negotiators made the suggestion that: (1) the Philippines assume control of the bases; and, (2) that use of the bases by the United States be linked with continued flow of military aid from this country.

These questions appear to have been brought up by Filipino politicians for home consumption. A national election is to be held next November and that may have a lot to do with the present obstructive tactics.

That the bases are vital to his country's security has been emphasized by President Magsaysay. His political opponents have tried to make capital out of what they call "a compromise of Philippine sovereignty."

The fact is that the installations are even more essential to the defense of the Philippines than to the security of the United States. The politicians should keep that in mind.

The Man About Town

Promptness Pays

Early Income Tax Returns Will Bring Early Refunds

Jan. 2: The day when most New Year resolutions become history.

Whether it was in a fleeting spirit of kindness, or just plain slowness in their work, the Internal Revenue Department did not pester us and take the joy out of the occasion by sending out the income tax blanks during the holidays. But who is in charge of the Pontiac office, says he has word that the Detroit branch will soon put them into the mails.

Mr. Coddington also points out a distinct advantage in filing our returns early. They are processed at Detroit in the order of their receipt, and many people in former years have received their refund long before the April 15 deadline. In fact, I recollect that of Birmingham wrote me from Florida last March that he was there on a vacation "financed by my income tax refund."

After he is sworn in at Washington today as our Congressman, goes to the rooms assigned him for his business at 1422 in the new Representative Building. Mr. and Mrs. Broomfield have rented a home at 5416 Taney Road in Alexandria, Va., about ten miles from the Capitol.

William S. Broomfield

After trying several other methods that failed absolutely, of Elizabeth Lake Estates tells me the only way to lose excess weight is to starve it off.

Jack Morseman

Answering that woman who hates the doings of squirrels,

Mrs. Beatrice Fortman

of Auburn Heights suggests that she feed them, and they'll soon become so tame that their antics will give her many pleasant hours.

Rushing the season a little,

"Bonnie Louise"

sends me a valentine. She is the little girl who requested Santa Claus to remember all the good children on Iroquois Road and everywhere else, asking nothing for herself. She says she couldn't buy a valentine this early, so sends me one she received last year.

"Been waiting for them ever since last year," writes

"Little Excess Avoirdupois," after reading that the self-improvement articles by

are again to run in these pages.

Chairman of the Oakland County Republican Committee,

Chad Ritchie,

tells me that his party is to put on a campaign in the coming spring election much hotter than usual, inspired by Ike's success and profiting by some of the mistakes made in pushing the state ticket in 1956.

When the Psychological Approach Fails

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Mideast Plan Born Last April

WASHINGTON — The "Eisenhower Doctrine"—the new expression of American foreign policy which seeks to keep the Middle East out of Soviet control—has been evolving for more than nine months.

The first intimation came last April when Secretary of State Dulles publicly spoke of the need for "broadening" the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to make sure that the all-important oil supply of the Middle East would not be lost to the Western alliance.

Very little came of the "broadening" idea for while it was intended to cover a more intimate consultation on political and economic matters as well as military strategy, the basic differences of approach between the United States and Great Britain were never reconciled. In fact they tended to widen as Nasser moved closer to the Soviet Union's policies and various complications ensued.

The United States, moreover, which found that Nasser was playing a double game pulled out of the Aswan Dam negotiations. It is a sad commentary on the difficulties in conducting international relations these days that the petty partisans in Congress—and some of them abroad—took the position that Secretary Dulles had stopped the Aswan Dam negotiations too "abruptly."

U.S. WAS PATIENT

If the full story is ever disclosed it will reveal that America was much more patient during the period of Nasser's attempt at double-dealing than it should have been and that the breakoff of the Aswan Dam negotiations was a wise move because it served notice that the United States would not furnish economic aid to those who were playing ball with the Communists.

The public notice may have been sudden but Nasser knew a long time beforehand that he had mortgaged his resources to an extent which made it impossible to grant the loan.

Then Nasser tore up the Treaty of 1888 and seized the Suez Canal. The subsequent negotiations to try to solve this new problem found America and Britain striving to find some way to internationalize the waterway. Secretary Dulles was convinced it had to be done through direct negotiations and, if this failed, then later through the United Nations machinery.

WIDE MISCONCEPTION

One of the curious pieces of misrepresentation which has been printed and reprinted widely is that Mr. Dulles came up with a users association plan last autumn and then backed away from his own proposal. This is a half-truth. Actually he became convinced subsequently that the British and French did not intend to rely on the negotiating process but had reached the conclusion that Nasser must be ousted and by force, if necessary. The United States thereupon drew away.

Then came a long drawn out discussion between Paris and London concerning the proper means of dealing with the crisis. America was in the midst of a presidential campaign and this encouraged some British officials to believe that an independent course could be followed by them, even using force, and the United States would not dare to express opposition.

Notwithstanding the very difficult position in which any administration is placed during a presidential campaign when important problems arise in foreign policy, the United States made it crystal clear that it was opposed to the use of force in handling the Suez question. This view was reiterated so often that when the British and French did decide to go ahead with their plan to use force they preferred not to "consult" the United States government.

DIDN'T DO SO

They didn't do so because they knew ahead of time the Washington government strongly disapproved. What they didn't expect was that the United States would go so far as to make this known to the world and would vote in the United Nations to request the British and French to give up their military operations in the Suez area.

When all the facts are known—especially the intention of the United States to develop a broad international plan rather than a "unilateral" substitution of American for British and French domination of the Middle East—the Arab world will recognize as will London and Paris that the "Eisenhower Doctrine" is an effort to bind all the nations on this side of the Iron Curtain more closely together politically and militarily, with economic aid as the cornerstone of a peaceful evolution.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Lack of Calcium Is Factor in Long List of Ailments

Anyone who has volumette 26 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health (The Calcium Shortage, 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope), or anyone who has followed this column for a year or longer must have noticed that I believe inadequate intake of calcium (lime) is an important contributing cause of many common ailments.

For a long while I've been waiting for some Yankee Wiseacre to notice this and list the many conditions I ascribe to calcium deficiency, to prove that Ol' Doc Brady, or the syndicate of doctors using Brady's name to get their propaganda over, is crazy.

Maybe I am—if so, naturally I'd be the last to become aware of it. But I can't wait any longer. I have decided to make a clean breast of it and throw myself upon the mercy of our readers.

Lest ninnyhammers who don't quite understand what we're talking about laugh at the list and show their ignorance, let me begin by quoting from his classic "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition" Henry C. Sherman's dictum:

"A food supply may appear liberal and varied, and yet unless milk and green vegetables are well represented it may be calcium-poor. Hence the 'ordinary mixed diet' of Americans and Europeans, at least among the dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element." If there is no copy of Sherman's book in your library, you had better commit this statement to memory, for it is fundamental in the study of nutrition.

I believe the lack of calcium can contribute to such ailments as:

1. Allergy
2. Asthma
3. Eczema
4. Headache
5. Hay Fever
6. Rheumatis
7. Tetany
8. Hives
9. Hot flashes.

That should be enough to give you a fair idea. I hope every reader will understand clearly what I say.

All I say is that the individual with calcium deficiency is more likely to have such trouble than the individual who gets an adequate daily ration of calcium from diet or dietary supplements.

I do not say that calcium deficiency is the sole cause of any such trouble.

If you are subject to any of the troubles listed, send for the booklet on Calcium Shortage and a pamphlet about your particular trouble. Any one pamphlet is free. If you ask for more than one, inclose 25c for each two.

Would Put Stop to Gifts to Policemen at Holidays

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I would like to take the red ribbons and bows off the gratuities used in connection with gifts given at holiday time to members of the police departments. Take these wraps off and this word is immediately revealed by its true name, graft. Such graft is demeaning to the honest law abiding businessman, the businessman who would think no more of corrupting a policeman than losing his American way of life.

This system of giving gratuities, no matter how well-meaning they seem, is not a good system.

When a small gift is given to a policeman, you are helping to corrupt him, in that many times these gifts grow in size and value until a favor is asked of the officer, which under a false sense of obligation cannot be refused. These officers do not want under the table handouts from special interests for special favors. You do not tip the law.

Chinese Commies Defend Bloody Record of Stalin

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai is due in Moscow next weekend for a peep into the new year through the Kremlin's crystal ball.

The trip in itself is evidence of a vast rift in the Communist world. Chou and the Soviet leaders will map plans on how to repair the damage.

The "charm diplomat," Chou, has just made a tour of Asian nations where his reception was cool.

Russia has suffered a big loss in prestige by its military suppression of Hungarian patriots. Moscow dispatches say the Soviets want Red China's aid in recovering the lost prestige.

In preparation for Chou's visit the top Communist theoreticians in Peiping have just issued a long apologia for the late Soviet dictator Stalin.

TITO CRITICIZED

The long report on world communism criticizes Yugoslav President Marshal Tito, the 1948 anti-Stalin heretic, defends the Soviet slaughter of Hungarians, and depicts Stalin as "a great Marxist-Leninist revolutionary."

The polite language about Stalin of course conceals from the Chinese masses just what Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev had to say last February about his former master.

The report also conflicts with Khrushchev's account of Stalin, an account never yet published inside the Soviet Union.

Peiping tells the people that the word "deStalinization" was coined by cunning Western imperialists to cause trouble in the Communist camp.

It says Stalin's "serious mistakes" were made toward the end of his life—a patently false statement on the basis of Khrushchev's own long report to the 20th Soviet Communist Party Congress.

Stalin was 73 when he died nearly four years ago. He was only 44 years old when revolutionary father Nikolai Lenin died in 1924 and he emerged as the strong man.

Khrushchev denounced Stalin's blood purges conducted during the 1930s and termed these "brutal acts of violation of Socialist legality," whereas the Chinese reds claim he was a great Socialist.

Khrushchev cited "vile provocation and odious falsification" by Stalin in fabricating cases against his purge victims.

Having lived under the shadow of possible execution himself, Khrushchev was scathing in his denunciation of the dictator while the Chinese Reds are far more lenient.

There is a possible explanation of the favorable Peiping view of Stalin. Chinese Red leader Mao Tse-tung and his cronies are aping the Soviet revolutionary path pursued by Stalin.

Mao has liquidated millions of Chinese as the madman Stalin killed off millions of his countrymen.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Much Depends on Sense of Touch

Alfred wonders why art galleries are plagued by people who wish to touch the paintings. Well, the sense of touch is our "Supreme Court" among all the sense organs. And it is the basis of romance, as you will see explained below. Menopausal wives should scrapbook this case record, too!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-363: Alfred G., aged 23, is enrolled in our Chicago Art Institute.

"Dr. Crane, why don't people keep their fingers off the paintings that are on display?" he asked irritably.

"At most of our art galleries we must hang up signs asking the viewers to 'Please do not touch'.

"I had my best oil painting marred in a recent exhibition because so many people fingered it to be sure it was real.

"Can't people believe their own eyes? Must they feel things to be sure?"

OUR FINAL TEST

Yes, Alfred, our sense of touch is figuratively the "Supreme Court" among our various sense organs.

We rely to a large degree on vision for our impressions of the external world. In fact, it has been estimated that about 65 per cent of our knowledge of the world comes in via our eyes.

But in a crisis, we fall back upon our fingertips to be sure. For we have learned that our eyes can often deceive us.

Even Jesus recognized this fact when his astonished Apostles could not believe that it was their Messiah who stood before them in that famous Upper Room, following Christ's resurrection.

When Thomas, who had been absent, was told of Christ's appearance, Thomas refused to believe, saying (St. John 20:25):

"Except I shall see in his hands the print of the nails, and put my finger into the print of the nails, and thrust my hand into his side, I will not believe."

When Christ appeared to them eight days later, with Thomas now in the group, Jesus told Thomas: "Reach hither thy finger . . . and thrust thy hand into my side."

DO NOT TOUCH

Art galleries must likewise warn viewers not to touch the oil paintings. For when artists create the illusion of depth (third dimension), the usual spectator wants to rub his finger or thumb on the canvas to be sure.

The sense of touch is thus our most intimate and most reassuring sense. It can seldom be deceived.

But the Aristotle illusion is one rare evidence of how you can be tricked by your own sense of touch. Aristotle described it 2,200 years ago.

As you are now reading this column, just cross your middle finger over your index finger.

Now slide the shaft of your pen or pencil up and down in the groove produced by your crossed fingers.

You will get a distinct feeling of two pencils, even though you have your eyes open and know positively there is only one.

In fact, this makes a parlor trick which you can use to entertain guests. Blindfold the person with the crossed fingers. Then ask him to tell you how many pencils are touching his finger.

LOVE MAGIC

Magicians realize, too, that their viewers will demand to touch the rope to make sure it isn't cut or the steel rings to be sure they are intact.

And lovers realize that romance would not develop very far if we lacked the sense of touch.

Menopausal wives are also unnecessarily disturbed by fear of the age of 45, for the womb (uterus) is not primarily a sexual organ, anyway, so it makes little difference whether it functions or has been removed surgically.

For it is the tactile stimulation that creates sexual passion and this tactile sense does not stop at the age of 45 or 50. It remains as long as we live.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

It shows how wives past 45 can banish their bugaboo and remain thrilling, thrillable mates as long as they live.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Stop Bus Runs in Tallahassee

Governor Halts Service After Violence Flares in Racial Issue

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The first violence in Tallahassee's long bus integration dispute prompted Gov. Leroy Collins to order temporary suspension of bus service yesterday.

Collins took the action under his emergency powers after a youth hurled rocks through the windows of a Negro leader's home and a Negro store was peppered with shotgun fire.

The Cities Transit Co. complied immediately with the ultimatum but the leader of the integration movement, the Rev. C. K. Steele, charged that events leading to the suspension were "concocted by the Florida White Citizens Council."

The suspension temporarily left Florida's capital city of some 42,000 population without a public transport system except for taxicabs.

Collins said temporary suspension of the buses was the only answer "in this emotionally charged atmosphere and in the face of threats and over acts of violence."

With segregation disputes in mind, a special session of the Florida Legislature last summer gave the governor emergency powers to take direct control of public facilities where riots and disorders were threatened. This was the first time Collins had exercised the broad powers.

Four windows in Steele's home were shattered early yesterday by rocks reported hurled by a white youth. About the same time two shotgun blasts were fired through the front glass window of a Negro grocery store. No one was hurt.

Steele said he received an anonymous telephone call about a half hour before the rocks were hurled and that he saw a white youth get out of a car and toss hunks of concrete through his windows.

March of Dimes Loses $4 to Ailing Customer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The March of Dimes campaign here opened officially today — minus about $4 to a man with a pain. A waitress at a restaurant, Miss Delores Link, said a man who complained of a "neuritic pain," came in last night and ordered a beer.

The man continued to complain and asked another customer to hand him the March of Dimes container, explaining he wanted to make a contribution. The waitress said when she looked again both complainer and container were gone. She estimated the loss.

Ended World War in Gestapo Prison

Speidel, Rommel Chief, to Head NATO; Symbolizes German Position in West

BONN (INS) — Lt. Gen. Hans Speidel, who may be named to command Nato land forces in Central Europe, is a rare bird even among the upper intellectual echelons of Germany's career officers.

For years he was both a professional soldier and philosopher. The dual qualifications perhaps engendered his part in the 1944 bomb plot against Adolf Hitler.

After the war, his qualifications enabled him to earn a living as a lecturer in Modern History at his alma mater, Tubingen University.

Speidel was born in 1897, became a regular army officer in 1914, fought through both World Wars and ended in a Gestapo prison in Berlin. There for seven months he bewildered his interrogators with intellectual arguments that left them in doubt about his guilt in the bomb plot.

From 1939 until his arrest, he had served as a military expert in staff appointments, finally as chief of staff to the army group under Germany's most brilliant general, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, "The Desert Fox."

He served as Rommel's chief of staff throughout the desert campaign in North Africa, and during the bitter Normandy crisis shared his leader's innermost thoughts.

SAW BREAK WITH HITLER

He conducted Rommel's correspondence, and was present at the stormy conferences where the relations between Rommel, the brilliant soldier, and Hitler, the fanatic, reached the breaking point.

He was at Rommel's shoulder when the Field Marshal negotiated with the anti-Hitler plotters, throwing in his lot with those who believed Germany could only be saved by Hitler's death.

After the abortive plot, he spent the seven months in prison until, ironically, he was liberated by the French, for whom he had developed a fondness while an assistant military attache in Paris before 1935.

Speidel served that sentiment earlier, when he was chief of staff of the army group retreating through France. He sabotaged Hitler's order to defend Paris bridge by bridge.

WITNESS AT NURENBERG

At Nurenberg — when Nazi bigwigs stood on trial for war crimes —he was a witness, not a defendant.

In 1951 he became a military adviser to the West German government. Four years later he was named lieutenant general in the new German army and became West Germany's chief representative at the Supreme Allied Headquarters in Europe—SHAPE —near Paris.

German sources said it was believed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization soon would request a nomination for the 1957 successor to French Gen. Marcel Carpentier.

They said the nominee would be Speidel, whose appointment would require the formal approval of the other NATO countries.

But only five years ago the general was so unimportant that he was presented, at an American diplomatic reception, under the name of another German officer.

AMUSED BY ERROR

No one noticed the difference, least of all the beak-nosed, bespectacled general so erroneously introduced. When the error was corrected by a blushing aide of the American High Commissioner—after some harrumphing by this reporter who stood at the General's side—Speidel just let the whole thing pass with a broad smile.

That aplomb is typical of the quiet man, known for his brilliance, who was slated to become a sort of miliary symbol of Germany's resurgence among the peaceful powers of the west.

Alaskans in Capital Set to Fight for Seats

WASHINGTON (INS) — Alaska's newly elected senators and congressman have begun a corridor-trudging campaign to win seats for themselves on Capitol Hill and statehood for their home territory.

The three Alaskans, who arrived in Washington Monday after their caravan was ironically delayed by snows in Tennessee and Virginia, said they will carry their case to the White House itself.

Senator-elect William Egan said his first concern is to win seats in the senate and house for the Alaskan legislative delegation. His colleague, Ernest Gruening, added that elected territorial representatives have been granted the privilege of the floor in the past while seeking statehood.

Along with congressman-elect Ralph Rivers, they will try to convince Congress that Alaska should be admitted during the present session. They oppose Alaska's being grouped as a statehood candidate with Hawaii. Such a bill was defeated two years ago.

Ship Resumes Voyage

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Norwegian freighter Ragna Ringdal has resumed her voyage after spending nearly 10 hours aground on the Atlantic coast, 15 miles north of Cape Charles. The 13,000-ton vessel freed herself on an incoming tide at 5:30 p.m. yesterday. She had reported her grounding at 7:40 a.m. The ship is en route from Rotterdam to Baltimore.

Plates Puzzle Officials

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. (AP) — Charles Green noticed his Massachusetts 1957 automobile plates didn't match when he put them on. One of them, 641-627, agreed with his registration certificate, but the other read 641-647. Registry officials, who believe someone else has the same problem, gave Green permission to travel with one plate until the situation is straightened out.

TOKYO (AP)—More than 170,000 people streamed through the open gates of the imperial palace today to shout "Happy New Year" to Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako, who came out on a balcony nine times to return the greetings.

Millions of Japanese visited Shinto shrines and prayed for luck during 1957.

U. of C. Reports Aleutian Quakes

Seismograph Records 3 Earth Shocks Among Heaviest of 1956

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Don Tocher, University of California seismologist, reported last night that a series of severe earth shocks, apparently about 2,500 miles northwest of Berkeley had been registered during the afternoon and evening on the university seismograph.

Tocher said the shocks ran up as high as 7¾ on the Richter magnitude scale and the directional indication was that they would have centered somewhere in the Aleutian Island chain extending west from Southern Alaska.

The first of the shocks was recorded beginning at 4:46 p.m., the second at 6:24 p.m. and the third at 7:24 p.m. Since then, Tocher said, after shocks which had traveled around the world had been recorded faintly all evening.

The 7.75 Richter magnitude was about that of the famous earthquake which resulted in the burning out of San Francisco in 1906 and was as heavy as anything recorded during the last year, Tocher said.

Because of the location of the quake, he added that he understood that the Honolulu tidal wave warning system had been alerted to the shock.

Russian Pleads for Arch Support

Reads 30-Year-Old Ad; Asks U.S. Firm to Aid Girl Friend's Flat Feet

CHICAGO (AP) — A magazine advertisement of 30 years ago has just prompted a Soviet citizen to dispatch a frantic S.O.S. to America for arch supports to buttress a girl friend's flat feet.

The letter, from V. K. Tishchenko of Moscow, was in slightly flawed English and took a circuitous route before reaching the Scholl Manufacturing Co. here.

It first went to the firm's London branch because, the letter explained, "I have read the address in the 'Strand Magazine' (a British publication) of 1926, June."

"Suppose that it is possible to do a mistake as 30 years have passed and the company could change its address. In such case I supplicate you to . . . write its address to me, you see?"

The Russian requested a booklet offered in the old advertisement "because I am very much interested in the method of correcting flat feet. Besides there are a girl I know well who have such feet and I should like to help her."

"It's of great importance to me," Tischenko concluded. "In heaven's name do it, please."

ART BEHIND BARS — Although he plans to finish this mural within a month, this artist could spend a lifetime at it — he is sentenced to spend the rest of his life as an inmate of the Kansas State Penitentiary at Lansing, Kans. The prisoner, a graduate of an art course from an Eastern school, calls his work "Education — The Key to Tomorrow." The mural, covering one wall of the prison's new classroom building, is significant of the swing to education at the institution. Under the prison's new school program, almost 600 of the 1,500 inmates are taking courses which will win them diplomas at elementary and high school levels.

New System Lets Railroads Save 83 Pct. on Sand

LOS ANGELES — An improved method of track sanding newly developed by a large Western railroad will reduce the quantity of sand deposited on the rail by 83 per cent and still prevent locomotive wheels from slipping.

The new system, which involves improvement of the sanding mechanism — including a new design of sand nozzle — more closely controls the amount of sand used and puts it where it is most effective.

Tests have shown that the minimum quantity of sand required for effective wheel-slip control is one-fourth pound per wheel per minute at 14 mph. But practical operating conditions make it necessary for the optimum amount to be half a pound per minute at 14 mph. Previously as much as 3 to 5 pounds of sand was being delivered per minute for each wheel.

West Point Cadets Put Up Pin-Up Club

PARIS (INS) — Brigitte Bardot, Europe's current pin-up girl No. 1, apparently is keeping some future U. S. generals from thinking solely about bombs, fuses and trajectories.

Among the fan letters received by the fast-rising French screen star, the weekly France-Dimanche reported, was one telling her of the formation of a "Brigitte Bardot Club" at West Point.

The shy U. S. Military Academy cadets, the weekly added, did not sign their names to the letter.

SAGINAW (AP) — The Saginaw News expects to move into a new building before celebrating its 100th anniversary in June 1959.

A new, three-story newspaper plant will be built a block south of the present location at Washington and Federal Sts. The new building is scheduled to be completed late in 1958.

The modern plant will be located on a 180x240 lot. No estimate of its cost was disclosed.

The national capitol has a floor area of 14 acres. The building contains 430 rooms and there are a total of 679 windows and 550 doors.

Japan Hails New Year

TOKYO (INS)—Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako made traditional appearances on a balcony of Tokyo's Imperial Palace today as part of Japan's celebration of the new year.

Mona Lisa Back in Glass

PARIS (INS) — The 450-year-old Mona Lisa, hardly the worse for her stoning on Sunday, will be returned tomorrow to her place of honor in the Louvre Museum.

The Louvre's experts said nobody would be able to tell La Gioconda had been injured following repair work carried out by Jean Gabriel Goulinat, director of the museum's restoration workshop.

Hugo Unzaga Villegas, a 42-year-old Bolivian, is being held by French police on a vandalism charge for throwing a fist-sized rock at the glass-framed work of art by Leonardo Da Vinci.

Officials said they were at a loss to determine the motive of Villegas' action.

One theory was that the Bolivian had flung the stone in an attempt to evade a deportation or tempt to evade a deportation order by being sentenced to a prison term in France.

Villegas, a self-styled translator, had been ordered to leave the country by last Dec. 28 because he was about to become a public charge. Unable to obtain employment, he had been living in a Salvation Army home for tramps.

The painting, dating back to the 16th century, is the only item in the Louvre that is kept under glass. Moreover, it was under constant guard after it had been once stolen on Aug. 22, 1911.

Louvre curators say the damage inflicted by Villegas was minor, consisting of about a 1-3 square inch bruise to "Mona Lisa's" left elbow and some scratches inflicted by glass splinters.

CONSTIPATED?
new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAID, the amazing new lavative discovery is so effective that it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, yet is so smooth, so gentle it has been proved safe even for women in the most critical stages of pregnancy.

SUPERIOR TO OLD STYLE bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; does not interfere with your absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; and in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other side reactions.

IT'S A PHYSIOLOGICAL FACT: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Whether occasional, frequent or chronic, whatever your degree of constipation, get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! The price, only 98c for the economical 60 tablet package, brings you positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Farm Boy, Girl of Year Named in SW Michigan

The outstanding farm boy and girl of the year in southwestern Michigan are, respectively, Ernest Canniff, 19-year-old graduate of the Dowagiac High School, and Ann Grashuis, 18-year-old student in business administration at Michigan State University. The two were chosen from among 8,000 rural youth in the six-county area.

Canniff, son of Mrs. Louise Canniff, works 438 acres of land and a fulltime shift in a Dowagiac manufacturing plant. While in high school he worked his mother's 185-acre farm, an additional 118 acres on shares, went to work in the Dowagiac plant at midnight on a seven-hours shift and, on getting through work in the morning, walked directly to school. Farm work came after school hours and sleep when the chores were done.

In spite of that heavy work load he found time to play on the high school football and baseball teams and to win a large number of medals in a 4-H work and fair exhibits. His Future Farmers of America awards alone netted him $15,500 while he was in high school.

Miss Grashuis, daughter of Carl Grashuis, helps operate her father's 350-acre farm near Hastings and was a member of the high school honor society and the state Tri-Hi-Y Council.

In addition she won a DAR citizenship contest, besides numerous medals for vegetable and flower displays and dressmaking and 4-H Club honors.

2 Talk Religion and Steal Wallet

Police Believe Women Had Male Accomplices in Getaway

Deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department today are investigating the possibility that two Clarkston men were working with two women who robbed a Brandon Township man of $400 Friday night after going to his home on the pretense of raising money for a religious drive.

That belief was expressed today after it was learned the men were involved in an accident shortly after the robbery in a vehicle which had been seen near the home of Jack Hummer following the incident. Deputies think the men and women may have operated in different cars and then switched to avoid detection since both a pickup truck and car were reported seen near the home at 2621 Granger Rd. that night.

Hummer's wallet was found in some snow near his home by a neighbor yesterday. Personal papers were intact but the money missing.

The women visited Hummer and his sister at the home and reportedly left to buy some salt to use on Hummer's ailing back when he discovered the wallet missing. One of the women had been rubbing his back and talking religion while the other talked to his sister before departing.

Court Decides Election Contest

Democrat Roberts Wins Governorship by 3 to 1; No Appeal by Del Sesto

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Two months after the election, the turbulent fight for the Rhode Island governorship has been settled by a State Supreme Court ruling that Democrat Dennis J. Roberts won re-election for a fourth term.

The court's ruling that Roberts had defeated Republican Christopher del Sesto came three hours after the time originally set for the inauguration of a new governor yesterday.

Roberts was sworn in later after Del Sesto announced he would not appeal the court's decision.

The state's highest court threw out civilian absentee and shut-in ballots that had given Del Sesto a 427-vote margin after all votes had been counted.

Roberts led by 207 votes in the count of ballots cast at the polling places.

When the absentee ballots put Del Sesto in the lead, Roberts brought action before the court that some ballots were mailed by absentees and shut-ins before the Nov. 6 election day.

The court invalidated 4,994 absentee ballots. Three Democratic state representative candidates also were put into office by the court's decision.

British-Egyptian Treaty Canceled

Permission for English to Station Suez Troops Ended by Nasser

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt has formally ended the 1954 treaty that gave Britain the right to station troops in the Suez Canal zone in the event of Soviet aggression in the Middle East.

A decree signed by President Nasser said the pact was broken "from the moment the British armed forces attacked Egypt."

In effect the treaty was written off when British and French planes bombed Egypt Oct. 31 in preparation for the invasion of the Suez Canal zone. The next day the Egyptian army seized the five big British supply bases maintained under the treaty, jailed their British civilan caretakers and confscated the stores of arms and equipment.

* * *

Nasser's action takes away the right of British troops to return in case of attack by an "outside power"—mutually understood to mean Russia—on Turkey or any of the Arab nations of the Middle East. Loss of the British bases at the strategic crossroads between East and West may be a heavy blow to Western defense planning. The pact had five years to run.

WONDERFUL RESULTS REPORTED BY O-JIB-WA USER

The real test of a medicine is not in words, but in its use. Thousands of people right in your vicinity, have tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and have been so pleased with the results, that they are continually telling others, so that they too, can gain from their experience. Typical is the testimonial of Mrs. Clara Anderson, 5681 Nightingale, Dearborn, printed below.

"My trouble started back in 1942, when I was working in a factory. I had arthritis in my back, arms and legs. My knee would swell and it was very difficult to even walk. Shots and other treatments would take the pains away, but they always returned about a week later. In 1952, a friend recommended O-JIB-WA BITTERS to me, so I decided to give it a good trial. It wasn't long before I could tell that your Bitters was helping me, as in two months the pain and swelling went out of my knee, and I was feeling lots better. Little things that bothered me in the past were no longer noticeable. O-JIB-WA also seemed to calm me down considerably, so that now I am able to pitch in and help around the house again. My husband has noticed too, how much stronger I am, and how much more pep I have. In fact, we both are painting our house, and that is something that would have been impossible except for O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I can't say enough for this wonderful medicine."

Ex-Alcoholics Take on Happy Glow at Party

By EDWARD J. MARKAITY

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A New Year's Eve open house celebration at the Grand Rapid: Alcoholism Rehabilitation Center found about 250 former patients taking on a real glow.

It was the glow of confidence and faith that each has made progress and sees continued victory against a common enemy—alcohol.

Most of the guests—many accompanied by wives — accepted the Center's invitation to attend the open house as one of few places to usher in the new year without alcoholic beverages.

For others, it was a chance to renew acquaintances with old friends. The atmosphere was one of true party gaiety—a gathering of friends. Only the traditional intoxicants associated with the holiday season were absent.

The familiar "Happy New Year!" most often was acccompanied by the phrase:

"Boy, you're looking well."

For entertainment, the Center offered bingo, card games and the opportunity just to sit and chat. Refreshments included an ever-bubbling urn of coffee, soft drinks, punch (spiked with ginger ale, said one attendant), sandwiches and light pastries.

Morris Barrett, director of the Center and party host, said:

"This was our first attempt to bring back all the patients at one time."

BLANKET INVITATION

A blanket invitation earlier had been extended to the 456 patients treated during the unique center's first year of operation.

The Grand Rapids Center, which opened in September 1955, is Michigan's first "total treatment" program. Others in the state—hospitals or clinics—are devoted to a "dryout" of alcoholics or merely to outpatient care.

"In treating the alcoholic here," Barrett said, "we first attempt to win his confidence and show our interest in helping him—show that we understand his problem."

Typical bits of conversation among the guests reflected appreciation of the treatment they received while at the center and the progress each has made toward improvement.

GOOD TREATMENT

"You feel that they know what you're up against," said one guest. "They really treat you like a king," echoed another.

"Man, this is the first New Year's eve in 16 years I've been sober."

"Christmas Eve was the first sober one I've spent in the last 22 years. This place helped me do it."

One of the most enthusiastic advocates of the center and its treatment is the father of five and recent graduate of the in-patient program.

He said:

"I might not have cheated myself of 27 years of life if this place had been available. It got so that I was taking up to two-fifths a day—not counting beer—before I was steered here when I asked for help. Sure, I was leery about coming in. I thought it would mean lots of needles, bars on the windows and things like that.

THEY UNDERSTAND

"But it's altogether different. Most of the treatment is "brainwashing." They understand your problem and make you think clearly. Pretty soon you find you've got a whole new outlook on life.

"No, it doesn't happen overnight. But, it happens.

"I'm back on the job again, I feel just great and it was wonderful tonight to hear my son say, 'Congratulations, dad. You really did it.'"

Experts say alcoholism is one of modern civilization's most widespread problems. Michigan alone counts upwards of 200,000 victims.

CURE UNKNOWN

Outright cures are virtually unknown. The alcoholic faces a daily battle to retain sobriety throughout his life.

Barrett says the alcoholic is not completely recovered until he has a record of four years of sobriety. He explains the difference between being sober and obtaining sobriety thusly:

"Being sober is doing without alcohol. Obtaining sobriety is being happy without alcohol.

"Our program is a means of obtaining sobriety," he adds.

According to a summary of opinion from party guests, the Center is doing well. The typical reaction of departing guests:

"It was a wonderful party. Let's do it again next year."

"With a turnout like that, you feel proud to be associated with such a program as we have," Barrett declares.

(Next: The Center operates on a $60,000 budget with costs shared by the city and the state. It treated 456 patients in the first year of operation. Statistics show excellent results at a huge savings to the community and the state in the recovered alcoholic. Other states are launching alcoholism programs with multi-million dollar price tags.)

Knowland Asks More Refugees

Should Keep Tradition of Providing a Refuge for Oppressed Peoples

WASHINGTON — Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today he expects the new Congress to pass legislation permitting more Hungarian refugees to enter the United States.

Some other congressional leaders indicated a similar view yesterday after a White House briefing on foreign affairs, including the Hungarian situation.

Knowland, who was at the meeting, said in an interview he did not want at this time to predict what form the legislation would take.

Vice President Nixon said in a report that this country should take "substantially more" Hungarians fleeing their homeland. He also proposed specific steps for Congress to take, but said no definite number of additional refugees should be set.

"We should not place a ceiling on what we will do in fulfilling our traditional national mission of providing a haven of refuge for victims of oppression," he said.

President Eisenhower announced the United States would continue to bring in Hungarians under a temporary "parole" procedure beyond the 21,500 quota previously scheduled.

They cannot be granted permanent status until Congress changes present laws to provide for them.

The President said this procedure would be used "until such time as the Congress acts."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said none of the congressional leaders at the briefing raised any objection to this.

Saar Residents Join Germany Loudly, Calmly

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP) —Residents of the industrial rich Saarland last night celebrated their return to Germany with dazzling fireworks displays.

The 990-square-mile area became West Germany's 10th state at the start of the new year. As the red, black and gold flag of Germany was raised over public buildings, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer termed the return of the Saar an example of how Germans in the East and West some day may again be one nation.

Except for last night's firing of rockets and firecrackers and some low key flag waving, Saarlanders took the change-over calmly. They voted a year ago to again become part of Germany.

The valley, long contested by France and Germany because of its coal mines and steel plants, was taken over by the French after World War II but had been politically semiautonomous since 1947.

Complete economic integration with Germany will not be effected until 1960. Until that time the Saar will remain in the French customs system and use French currency.

17 Captured Japanese Escape South Koreans

SHIMONOSEKI, Japan (AP) — A Japanese fishing ship captured by a South Korean gunboat returned to Japan today after escaping while its guards were sleeping off a New Year's Eve drunk.

The coast guard said the Daiichi Chirodi Maru and its crew of 17 slipped out of Pusan Harbor before dawn New Year's Day.

South Korea has captured many Japanese ships on charges of crossing the Korean-proclaimed Rhee Line, which extends an average of 60 miles from the Korean coast.

CHICAGO — During 1955 the United States exported 40,700,000 pounds of beef, an increase of 6,900,000 over the year before and the largest since 1948.

Toupee Maker Believes Yul's Head Is Incidental

Does Baldness Make Brunner Appealing?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — There has been much talk recently to the effect that Yul Brynner, the nude-domed Beau Brummel, will revive the pride and social status of bald men everywhere.

With his pate gleaming attractively in full flesh-orama, Yul is a sight to make strong women palpitate. Not since Guy Kibbee has any movie star so unblushingly exposed his elongated forehead, and never before in Hollywood history has there been a lockless lover.

"Okay, but let's analyze it," said a man in the "hairpiece" business, named Ben Z. Kaplan. "Is it Brynner's baldness that is appealing to women, or would you say that he would be attractive even if he were sprouting green foliage on his head?

"I have seen pictures of him before he went bald for 'The King and I,' and he's a lot handsomer than he is today. If you ask me, his eyes and shoulders and voice make Brynner so attractive that his head is incidental. . . Greta Garbo has big feet, you know, but that's not the clue to her sex appeal."

Kaplan points out further that "practically every male singer over 35 who is well known to the general public" wears a false hairpiece to cover up what Yul Brynner shows off, and that more famous actors than you could shake a comb at would never need a comb at all if their heads were left as nature made them.

"The reason I talk of famous people instead of just guys like myself — incidentally, I'm almost bald under this crew-cut — is that they are the ones who always cover up their deficiencies.

"A lot of other men still think that if they get a hairpiece, they're going to come out looking like either Liberace or an ad for 'easy greasy hair lacquer'."

To ease the minds of men everywhere, who may be deflated to learn that Yul Brynner's dome is not necessarily his fortune, Mr. Kaplan says statistics prove most of the male population is in the same boat, balding-wise.

Seems that 8 out of every 10 men in the U. S. are affected, in some way, by the fate of their follicles. It breaks down this way:

Three of every 10 are visibly bald; three have bald spots or partial thinning of the hair, apparent to close observers; two are concerned inwardly because their hairlines are receding although this is not yet apparent to the world at large. Only 2 of the 10 are equipped with full and permanent heads of foliage.

INTRIGUING NAMES

Kaplan's vice president and general manager of the "House of Feder," one of several big outfits whose products bear such intriguing names as "the tousled effect topper," "the casual front with receding temples," "The conventional wavy pompadour," "the thin-haired covered lace front" and "the back bald spot cover." He says by far the biggest sellers are crew-cut hairpieces.

The reason — "70 per cent of this business is with men under 35, and three out of four men under 35 want crew-cuts."

Like the great majority of men destined to lose their hair, Ben noticed he was thinning out over the brain while he was in his late teens. In a state of suspended ego, he went to the company he now works for and got himself a new coif. Also a job.

All men's hairpieces are made from the hair of women, he says.

Which proves once again the age-old story: Girls were made to take care of boys!

Slate State Funeral for Soviet Scientist

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government plans a state funeral in Red Square tomorrow for Deputy Premier Avrami Pavlovich Zavenyagin, minister of medium machine building since February 1955.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, published a medical report signed by six doctors which said Zavenyagin died Tuesday of arteriosclerosis and paralysis of the heart brought on by thrombosis of the left coronary artery. He was 55.

Zavenyagin also was a member of the Communist party's Central Committee and a "Hero of Socialist Labor."

American students of Soviet affairs considered Zavenyagin to be the boss of Russia's atomic energy industry and identified his Ministry of Medium Machine Building as a cover designation for the Russian equivalent of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission. These American experts also considered him a top expert on the use of slave labor.

During World War II he was in charge of much of the Soviet forced labor system.

Warns Satellites on Rebellion

Khrushchev Backtracks on Downgrading of Stalin

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev has backtracked on his denunciation of Stalin.

Remarks by the party chief at the Kremlin New Year's Eve party were interpreted as further indication of tough measures to combat moves by the satellites toward independence from Moscow as well as an effort by Khrushchev to bolster his own position.

Asian diplomats reported that Khrushchev, in giving a toast at the party, said:

"Stalin was a great fighter against imperialism. He was a great Marxist. The imperialists call us Stalinists. Well, when it comes to fighting imperialists, we are all Stalinists."

This appeared directed particularly at the satellites, since the Kremlin has charged repeatedly that the Hungarian rebellion was a Fascist plot fomented by "Western imperialists." Khrushchev seemed to be promising that any such future outbreaks would be met with the same military crackdown which Stalin would have used and which finally prevailed in Hungary.

In contrast with the line he laid down in his "de-Stalinization" speech at the Communist Party Congress last February, Khrushchev was quoted as telling the Kremlin partygoers, "Men of action make mistakes and Stalin has done so much good that one must overlook his mistakes."

One Asian diplomat reported the party boss also said, "Stalin made mistakes, but we should share responsibility for these mistakes because we were associated with him."

The official line since Khrushchev's February speech had been that Stalin's mistakes in his latter years outweighed his achievements, and that the present Kremlin command could not be blamed for those mistakes because Stalin acted without consulting them.

Khrushchev's latest remarks lauding his former chief followed the line laid down last week in a lengthy statement by the Chinese Communist Politburo. An editorial on this from the Peiping People's Daily was widely reprinted in the Soviet press.

Western diplomats generally boycotted the Kremlin reception, but several neutral non-Asians confirmed the gist of what Khrushchev was reported to have said.

Poetry Valuable to All Children

English Prof Declares Nursery Rhymes Need No Adult Censors

OMAHA (INS) — Fathers who force themselves to spend some time with their sons tossing a football or playing "horse" could profitably be reading some poetry.

A professor of English at Creighton University in Omaha, who believes that everyone is a natural poet, says poetry trains and organizes the emotions and gives a good deal of moral instruction.

"For example," Chester G. Anderson says, "children learn that the sheep got into the meadow and the cows in the corn because the boy fell asleep on the job."

"One of the reasons many boys dislike poetry," says Anderson, "is because they hear it only from their mothers and female teachers and associate it with something feminine."

Anderson believes poetry is a help in memorization and in presenting some things that could not be taught in any other way.

"Children love rhythm, just as adults do," he says, "but the kids are more honest about it. They may never have seen a 'hot cross bun' or 'peas porridge' but they enjoy the poem."

Anderson takes an unpoetic view of persons who wish to censor nursery rhymes. It is the so-called sophisticated adult, he says, and not the child, who wants to eliminate the "four and twenty blackbirds baked in a pie."

"In Jack and the Beanstalk," Anderson says, "they've deleted the line the children like most—'fee, fie fo fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman'."

'Tobacco Road' Author Caldwell on Honeymoon

RENO (INS) — Erskine Caldwell, famed portrayer of the South in novels and plays such as "Tobacco Road," and his bride are headed for Paris on their honeymoon today.

Caldwell, 53, and the former Mrs. Virginia Moffett Fletcher of New York, were married in Reno New Year's day.

Mrs. Caldwell is the former wife of Andrew Fletcher Jr., New York socialite.

Stir of Inquiry on Plans of Outgoing GOP Head

WASHINGTON (INS)—The pending resignation of Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall created a tremendous surge of speculation in GOP ranks today—and some of his friends were wondering whether he will enter the 1960 presidential arena.

Hall, who is to be succeeded as national chairman by Fred W. Scribner Jr. on Jan. 19, may run against Averell Harriman for the New York governorship in 1958. Victory in that race would put him in the top rank of GOP White House hopefuls.

Some Republicans believe, however, that Hall is leaving the party post because he wants to help Vice President Richard M. Nixon become President Eisenhower's successor in the 1960 election. As national chairman, he would be forced to maintain neutrality.

Scribner, who is leaving his post as general counsel of the U.S. Treasury to become national chairman, will undertake as his first task the shaping of strategy for a Republican attempt to regain control of Congress in 1958.

PROFESSES IGNORANCE

Scribner, however, on his return to Washington from a Christmas holiday in Maine, said: "It's all news to me." He declared his present plans are to remain in his treasury department post.

Hall's closest friends say he is enigmatic about his own plans. They quote him as declaring only that he intends to "take a rest."

But intimates insist that the big, beaming master strategist from Oyster Bay, N.Y., will find it hard to remain away from the political career for which Eisenhower's second-term inauguration Jan. 20 comes as a crowning achievement for Hall as well as Ike.

Hall's associates point out that he is 56, and therefore will still be in a suitable presidential age bracket in 1960.

Moreover, the GOP regards him as a symbol of victory. During his nearly four years as Republican Party pilot, Hall has built close relationships with party leaders in every section of the country.

No national chairman of either party, since the days of the Democrats' James A. Farley, has enjoyed wider popularity.

The consensus is that either on his own behalf or on Nixon's, Hall, as a private citizen, will wield great influence in determining his party's 1960 nominee.

His resignation, agreed to with great reluctance by Eisenhower, will be accepted by the national committee when it meets in Washington on the eve of Ike's second-term inaugural jubilee.

New York Refugees Can Study English

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—New York will provide every Hungarian refugee who settles in the state an opportunity to learn English.

Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, said today classes in English and principles of the American way of life already were being organized.

Allen said in a telegram to Tracy Voorhees, chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee on Hungarian Refugees, that adult public education programs in 610 communities of the state "are ready and eager to aid."

River of Refugees Into Austria Rising

VIENNA (INS) — Austrian authorities reported today that the stream of Hungarian refugees which had dropped to a trickle during the Christmas holidays has been increasing steadily in the past couple of days.

In the 24 hours ended at 10 A.M. (4 A.M. EST), more than one thousand Hungarians crossed the frontier into Austria.

One of the first refugees to arrive in the new year—a four-months-old baby—died in his mother's arms ten minutes after crossing the border. Officials said the cause of death was heart failure, probably brought on by the extreme cold.

Leading Chilean Family Mourns Mother's Death

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Mrs. Olga Budge Edwards, matriarch of a Chilean family outstanding in Latin-American diplomatic and newspaper circles, died early today.

She was the grandmother of Agustin Edwards Eastman, vice president of the Santiago newspaper El Mercurio. She was the widow of Agustin Edwards MacClure, Chilean diplomat, and mother of the late president of El Mercurio, Agustin Edwards Budge.

Got Right Denomination but Wrong Wedding

BEDFORD, Ind. (AP) — It was the right denomination but the wrong church.

An out-of-town couple arrived by car and asked for the Methodist Church, where they were to attend a wedding.

They were directed to First Methodist Church. The wedding started before they realized it was the wrong couple. They couldn't leave without disturbing the services so they sat through the ceremony.

Then they left hurriedly for Trinity Methodist Church, but no one learned whether they got there on time.

Cadillac

Finally Believed His Eyes and Ears!

He has heard and read a great many wonderful things about this new 1957 Cadillac since it made its first appearance a few brief weeks ago—

—about its magnificent new luxury, for instance . . . its brilliant new responsiveness . . . its marvelous new handling ease . . . and its extraordinary new smoothness of ride.

And so, quite frankly, he began to wonder if it weren't all too good to be true. Could any motor car be as wonderful as this latest "car of cars" was reputed to be?

Well, he has decided to put his eyes and his ears to the test today. And the verdict is unmistakable!

It's a joy just to lean back into those deep, soft cushions and look out over that graceful hood into the beckoning highway.

And what a revelation the car is to drive!

A curve in the road ahead? He simply follows it with the arc of his hands and the car responds with perfect obedience.

A hill in the offing? He just nudges the accelerator and the car sweeps up and over as if it were traveling the level road.

A stop light coming up? He presses his toe—ever so gently—on the broad braking pedal and comes to the smoothest, surest stop imaginable.

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac. This is far and away the finest motor car ever to travel the world's highways.

How about you? Have you heard the wonderful things they're saying about this newest "car of cars"?

Well, the proof is in the driving—and the facts about Cadillac have never been more convincing. Why not make it today?

Money's Waiting for Right Entry to Pot-O-Gold

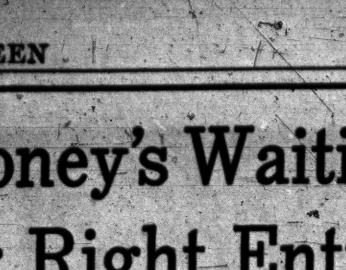

Now that the winners seem to be coming closer and closer together, it's time for you to get in on the prize money. This week's puzzle is worth $200 if there's no winner for last week's Pot-O-Gold. But winner or no, it will be worth at least $100 for the entry with a correct solution. Be sure you look over the puzzle and clues carefully. And don't forget to read the rules. A late or missent entry isn't worth anything, and you've just wasted your time and stamp.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries becoming the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Wilson Gives Forecast for New Year Events

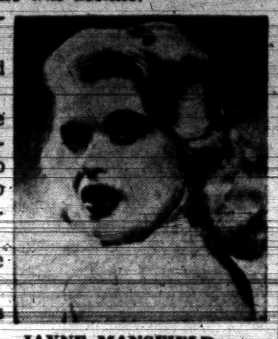

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Having just gazed into my 8-ball, I can tell you exactly what's going to happen in 1957.

Bing Crosby won't marry anybody. Several girls will discover that he isn't going to, and they will be keenly disappointed.

Perry Como will become "very hot." Hollywood will try to get him to do movies, and he will decline.

Milwaukee will win the National League pennant.

JAYNE MANSFIELD

Blondes will become outmoded and redheads will take over.

However, one blonde, Jayne Mansfield, will be seriously acclaimed as a great talent due to her film, "The Girl Can't Help It." She will marry Mickey Hargitay.

Margaret Truman will decide she should raise a family.

Not one, but several magazines will fold up.

The new drink, called the "bullshot," consisting of vodka and cold consomme or cold bouillon, will catch on because "It's so full of vitamins."

Pat Boone, the singing minister, will become a big Hollywood movie star—but will consider retiring to take over a pulpit.

Jackie Gleason, after giving up his weekly program, will go on a very severe reducing diet, and gain 20 pounds.

Gaspar (Indian) Ortega, the welterweight from Mexico, will be the fighter of the year; Jackie Robinson the N.Y. Giant of the Year.

Red dinner jackets such as "After Six" and other companies are pressuring us gents into wearing, will become tres distingue.

The Elvis Presley hysteria will simmer down, and Johnnie Ray will get big again.

Pizza pie will replace apple pie as America's national dish.

I will be adjudged the worst prophet of the century.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Mike Todd told Shirley Eder on a "Monitor" broadcast from Detroit that when he looked up his birth certificate he found he's only 45 (4 years younger than we thought.) Liz Taylor, please note . . . Seth Baker, Jack Benny's ex-son-in-law, announced he was leaving for Virginia to marry again.

Kim Novak'll be signed for the "Bell, Book and Candle" film, with Rex Harrison probably co-star . . . Jayne Mansfield's muscle man, Mickey Hargitay, is a pin-up boy on a '57 calendar . . . Pianist Teddy Wilson remarried . . . Jane Morgan, who subbed for Marguerite Piazza, goes in on her own March 11.

Joe Louis' doctors ordered him to lop off 35 pounds.

MARY MORGAN

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

An automobile, defines Fay DeWitt, is something your son manages to drive into the garage on the last drop of gas.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Remember," asks Billy Eckstine, "when you could spend four hours in a movie theater and see two pictures?"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Victor Borge, who got $100,000 for his TV'er said. "Just think — all that money and I didn't have to answer a single question!" . . . That's earl, brother.

Natural GAS

"Lung" Checkups Keep Gas Meters Accurate

Your gas meter is similar to a healthy lung. It actually goes through the motions of breathing—inhaling and exhaling gas by means of little diaphragms of leather or plastic. At each intake of "breath," the meter registers how much gas is consumed.

The "lung" and other vital parts of your gas meter are regularly inspected to insure accurate measurement of gas consumption. More than 300 gas meters a day go through the scientific test and repair cycle at Consumers' General Meter Building in Jackson.

Here gas meters are tested, adjusted and repainted. Even new meters, fresh from the manufacturer, must undergo rigid tests before going into service. Only a meter of demonstrated accuracy is permitted to measure the gas that serves you.

1,747 Refugees in First Shipload

Operation 'Safe Haven' Nears End; Six Planes of Escapees Still Due

CAMP KILMER, N. J. (UP) — The first shipload of Hungarian refugees to reach America's shores swelled the population of this resettlement center to 6,291 today.

And another six planes were to land more of their countrymen at nearby McGuire Air Force Base today as Operation Safe Haven neared its end.

The military transport Gen. Leroy Eltinge docked at Brooklyn yesterday with 1,747 Hungarian men, women and children aboard.

One of the children was only a few hours old, a son born to 24-year-old Gabriella Matusek as the ship rode at anchor in quarantine.

"I am happy beyond words," said the child's father, Harry, 26, a machinist.

"I don't care where I live as long as it's in the United States. I don't care what I do as long as I can do it in freedom and earn an honest living."

The parents named the child Leroy Eltinge Matusek. He had the added distinction of being brought into the world by an admiral, Rear Adm. Hubert Van Peenan, district medical officer.

"This is the first time in my 28 years in the Navy that I have delivered a baby at sea," Adm. Peenan said.

The vessel, a former Army troopship named after a West Point officer, is the first of three ships due to bring some 5,500 Hungarian refugees to the United States from Bremerhaven, Germany.

She docked 72 hours late after bucking heavy seas, winds and fog during a 12-day crossing. More than 12,000 dramamine pills for sea sickness were distributed to the passengers.

Hollywood Headlines

Grandma-to-Be Blondell Stays Saucy, Successful

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A 25-year veteran in Hollywood and becoming a grandmother, Joan Blondell is still as saucy and successful as ever in movies.

Joan is batting her long eyelashes and acting with her usual verve in "This Could Be the Night," her third film in quick succession. Earlier she did "The Opposite Sex" and "Lizzie"; next she goes into "The Desk Set" with Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy. And she says her agent has another assignment warming in the bull pen.

All of which proves that talent tells. Back in the early '30s, she and a kid named James Cagney were picked out of a Broadway show and brought to Warner Brothers. For 10 years, she served in the studio's stock company along with Dick Powell, Ruby Keeler, Warren William, Guy Kibbee, Frank McHugh, Allen Jenkins, etc.

"Oh, those were hectic times," she reminisced. "I was literally doing two and three pictures at a time."

But survive she did. She has always kept active in films, minus time out for matrimonial and other ventures.

"I've always thought that if you know your job, you ought to be able to find work," she said. "Of course, in every acting career there are certain transitions you have to make."

She feels she has made hers. "At least they don't cast me as a dumb chorus girl any more," she sighed. "I played so many of those I couldn't think of any new way to do it, except maybe standing on my head."

Note: In her current film, Joan plays an ex-chorus girl.

While she's working in Hollywood, she lives in an apartment with her daughter Ellen, 18. But her home is in Manhattan.

Her big interests are her children. Ellen is an avid horsewoman and is studying horse raising at Pierce College in the San Fernando Valley. Her son Norman graduates from Cornell University in June. He's married and his wife is expecting a baby in March.

Michigan Firms Announce Plans for Expansion

LANSING (UP) — Some 300 Michigan firms have a 100 million dollar share of the nation's guided missile program, according to the state economic development department.

The department's year-end report said Michigan firms had defense contracts worth 440 million dollars at the start of 1957.

In addition, non-agricultural employment reached a new peak and industries continued to expand, the department said.

"I am pleased with the overall growth of industry in Michigan during the year and confident the trend will continue," said Dan F. Gerber, chairman of the Economic Development Commission.

The department said 2,791,000 persons were at work on non-agricultural jobs Nov. 15. The previous peak was 2,616,000 in 1955.

During the year, 31 out-of-state companies announced plans for new plants in Michigan. Twenty-four Michigan companies decided to build new plants in their home state, while nine chose locations in other states.

More than 200 firms announced plans to expand their plants in Michigan.

Ag Research Groups Meeting in January

WASHINGTON (INS) — Seven agriculture research and marketing advisory committees are scheduled to hold their annual meetings this month. All of the sessions except one will be held in Washington.

The Washington meeting dates are sugar, Jan. 9-11; refrigerated and frozen products, Jan. 14-16; poultry, 15-18; deciduous fruit and tree nut, Jan. 22-25; soils, water, and fertilizer, Jan. 28-30, and food distribution, Jan. 30-Feb. 1.

The oilseeds and peanuts committee meeting will be held Jan. 14-16 in Peoria, Ill.

To Ask Pay Increase for Postal Workers

DETROIT (UP)—Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich) will introduce a pay-raise bill for postal workers when Congress reconvenes Thursday.

Lesinski, deploring what he called a "tremendous turnover" of postal employes because of limited pay rates, said his legislation will call for starting pay of $5,500 a year for mail carriers and clerks as against the present $3,600. The maximum would be $6,100 after three years service as compared to the present $4,400 after seven years.

Lesinski, a member of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said employes have been leaving the postal service because of low pay.

Soviet Farming Is Topic

British Say 2,100 Reds Fight in Malaya Jungle

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (UP)—Britains military commander, Lt. Gen. R. H. Bower, told a news conference today 2,100 Communist rebels, controlled by 17 leaders, are still operating in the deep jungles of Malaya.

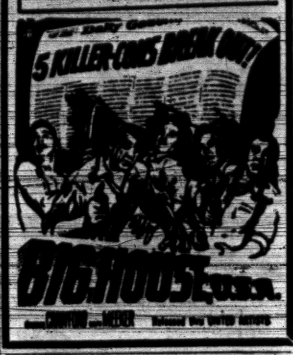

Bower said the Red fighters are being eliminated by death, capture or surrender at the rate of 40 a month.

Last July — when the war against the rebels entered its ninth year—British authorities estimated the Communist force at 2,500 to 3,000.

Biggest Year of Exploration Starts in All Scientific Fields

(The New Year will see the start of the largest organized effort in scientific history to crack the secrets of the physical world in which man lives. But in all branches of science, dedicated men will be working to make life happier, longer, healthier for everyone. In the following article, third of a series on up-and-coming events, a prize-winning science writer points out the men to watch.)

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

Science will scrap the 1957 calendar and juggle conventional units of time to suit its needs in the upcoming biggest year of exploration the world has ever known.

The New Year will see the beginning of International Geophysical Year, an unprecedented scientific adventure involving researcher from 55 nations.

Scientific teams will probe the heavens, plunge the ocean depths and literally go to the ends of the earth—all in search of new knowledge about the world around us.

"IGY," an 18-month-long "year" beginning July 1, was blocked out long ago by the world's scientists based on evidence the period would be a time of great solar activity.

This means the sun, source of all life on earth, will be triggering meteor showers and giant solar flares, the latter equal to the explosion of millions of H-bombs. In order to study these phenomena with every available instrument from every vantage point, scientists will operate with some new units of time during IGY.

There will be 48-hour long "regular world days," "meteorological intervals" of ten consecutive days, "world alerts" which possibly will precede "special world intervals" the length of which will depend on the severity of solar activity.

AIR OCEAN HAMPERS STUDY

But these earth-bound studies are hampered by the "air ocean" that blankets the globe and obscures research into cosmic phenomena.

To break out of this blanket and take mankind's first giant step into outer space, U. S. scientists will launch at least one earth-circling space satellite and fire almost 200 upper-air research rockets during IGY.

Launching date for baby moon has not been officially announced, but a late-1957 target is generally believed to be on the time table.

Appropriately, the first rocket firing will be on the Fourth of July, 1957. Scientists will send up a U.S. Navy Aerobee-hi rocket from Fort Churchill, Canada, to probe the ionosphere, where conditions begin to approach that of outer space.

IGY also will be the time of large-scale "settlements" in the Arctic and Antarctic. Some 12 different nations will maintain scientific stations in the south polar regions. These polar stations will be complemented by other stations in a broad band around the equator.

As these various projects get under way, you will be hearing the names of a predominantly youthful group of scientists, such as:

—Alan H. Shapley, 35-year-old son of the Harvard astronomer. Shapley, a slight, sandy-haired physicist, will be in charge of world day communications, co-ordinating the observations of all IGY scientists.

—Dr. Paul Siple, a geologist and explorer with four Antarctic and three Arctic expeditions to his credit. Dr. Siple will be scientific leader of the South Pole station.

With him will be Dick Chappell, 18-year-old Eagle Scout selected in a nationwide competition to accompany the U.S. South Pole team. Chappell, a June, 1956 graduate of Amherst Central High School, Snyder, N.Y., will spend 18 months at the Pole.

—J. Paul Walsh, the slim, crew-cut deputy director of Project Vanguard, code name for the earth satellite program.

When the count-down officer intones "x-hour-minus-30-minutes" over the loud speaker at Cape Canaveral, Fla., late next year, the focus of world attention will be on Walsh.

A youthful 39 and immaculate in his ivy button-down collar and striped rep-tie, Walsh will stand supreme and alone as the man in charge of launching.

If every mathematical calculation checks out and every nut and bolt stays in place, man will have a 300 mile high satellite moon circling the earth every 90 minutes at a speed of 18,000 mph., for as long as a year.

The science adventures of 1957 will not be confined to exploring the physical world, however.

Surgeons, now routinely performing operations that were unheard of a few years ago, are moving inside the human heart to repair defects.

The talk is now about prevention as well as treatment of heart disease through surgery.

Next big step in heart work is expected to be operations to clear clogged coronary arteries. This could lead to full-scale heart "prophylaxis," an operation in which the chest cavity is opened and the coronary arteries cleaned out routinely for all men at age 35 to 40.

The heart surgeons to watch will be Cleveland's Claude S. Beck and Philadelphia's Charles P. Bailey as this still-experimental work progresses.

HOPE FOR CANCER VACCINE

In cancer research, interest will be focused on Drs. John and Ruth Graham, a husband-and-wife team at Harvard Medical School and Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

Their work is now at the stage where an anti-cancer vaccine is being used on human patients. More than 30 victims with a variety of cancers have been treated with vaccines made from their own tumors. Some of them were also given X-rays as a "booster" to step-up production of cancer-fighting antibodies.

The New Year may tell you how much cancer-fighting benefit the Grahams' work has.

Next: Jack O'Brian spotlights the TV year.

WELL, I SWAN! — A clean-up job that's also a live-saving operation is being performed on this once snow-white swan by Dr. Max Heinz Sy, right, noted German bird expert at the R.S.P.C.A. in London, England. Swan was one of hundreds soaked with oil when a barge sank near them. More than 100 of the birds died before aid reached them.

Wind Halts Rescue of French Climbers

CHAMONIX, France (AP)—An 80-mile wind and continuing snowstorm today again prevented rescuers from reaching two frost-bitten mountain climbers who have been marooned 12,000 feet up on Mt. Blanc for the past 11 days.

The two, Jean Vincendon and Francois Henry, spent another night aboard a damaged helicopter which made a crash landing while trying to rescue them two days ago. The four helicopter crew members and four other army men parachuted from another helicopter last Saturday are marooned a few hundred yards away.

Temperatures fell to 30 degrees below zero during the night.

One of the score or so skiers spending the holidays in the southern Alps telephoned that several of the skiers were caught in an avalanche and he believed three were killed and others injured.

Rescue parties set out, but were slowed by the heavy snow.

Queen Picks Male Tutor for Prince

Charles Lonesome for His Dad Who's Touring World

By JOHN CAMSELL

LONDON (INS) — Queen Elizabeth has appointed a male tutor and companion for Prince Charles because he is pining for his father who presently is making a 'round-the-world trip on the royal yacht Britannia.

* * *

The queen suddenly decided to appoint a "temporary father" after

Seven pages today in Women's Section

she noticed the 8-year-old heir to the throne was missing the companionship of the Duke of Edinburgh.

The lack of companionship was particularly noticeable during the Christmas vacation at the royal estate in Sandringham when the duke normally devotes considerable time to playing boisterous games with his young son.

The new tutor and companion is Michael Farebrother, 37, a bachelor with an impeccable background. Farebrother, an ex-guards officer, is headmaster and joint proprietor of St. Peter Boys' Preparatory School at Seaford.

He arrived in Sandringham Monday.

Farebrother will organize games for Charles, accompany him on shooting parties and local sightseeing trips and set up simple school lessons.

PREVENT MISCHIEF

Farebrother explained his appointment by saying:

"They thought that with his governess, Miss Peebles, on Christmas leave it would be a good thing to have someone keep an eye on the prince . . . and see that he gets into no mischief."

A spokesman at Buckingham Palace emphasized that Farebrother's appointment would not alter the prince's schooling plan. The youngster will continue to study with Miss Peebles after the Christmas vacation.

The spokesman said:

"The point is that the prince is now of an age when he wants a man to do things with. He wants to play football and that sort of thing.

"Charles is asking a lot of questions and Farebrother will be there to answer them and teach him all sorts of games and generally make fun for the little boy."

Loretta E. Sayles, Albert W. Probert Exchange Vows

Loretta Elaine Sayles became the bride of Albert William Probert in a ceremony performed Saturday evening in Ascension Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sayles of Hogarth street and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Probert of South Cass Lake road.

A lace redingote accented the floor-length gown worn by the bride. Her fingertip veil was secured by a tiara of pearls and sequins. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses.

Mrs. Ted Meyers served as matron of honor and Carole Skelton as bridesmaid. They wore ballerina-length gowns of pink and blue net, respectively, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

Tom Mackie served the bridegroom as best man. Seating the guests were Milton and Norman Probert, brothers of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sayles chose a burnt orange-colored dress with brown accessories and a corsage of carnations.

Mrs. Probert wore an aqua and gold print dress. Her corsage was also composed of carnations.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Waterford CAI Building.

Women Make 1956 News With Marriage, Careers

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

Women made news in 1956 in a variety of ways: Some achieved new careers, some wrote books, some made speeches.

But mostly women got into the news last year by behaving like women and getting married.

Grace Kelly, Margaret Truman and Marilyn Monroe married in '56, along with some 1,500,000 other American girls who boosted the Leap Year matrimonial statistics to a new high.

On the other hand, Princess Margaret of Britain made news by staying single another year.

Mrs. Charles Ulrick Bay became the first woman to head a New York Stock Exchange firm. Clare Boothe Luce completed her assignment as the first woman ever sent to Italy as U.S. ambassador and received the highest honor Italy has ever given a woman.

AIDED HUSBANDS

Mamie Eisenhower nursed the President through convalescence from his heart attack and ileitis operation. Pat Nixon campaigned a lengthy 25,000 miles with the vice president, and even pinch-hit for him as a speech maker.

The greatest tribute earned by any woman in the newspaper columns of 1956 went to the late Babe Didrickson Zaharias, the greatest woman athlete of our century, who died after a heroic battle against cancer.

But the splashiest stories of the year were about weddings, and Grace Kelly's wedding to Prince Rainier of Monaco was the splashiest.

The beautiful blonde movie star married the ruler of the postage stamp principality in a ceremony that attracted 1,500 reporters and cameramen to Monaco last April.

It was the wedding story of the year, and it had a suitable climax when Grace revealed she expects an heir early in '57.

SIMPLE WEDDING

Margaret Truman got married just two days after Grace, on April 21, but her wedding was a simple home town affair. Margaret married New York newspaperman E. C. Daniel Jr. in Independence, Mo., with her proud father, ex-President Harry S. Truman, walking her down the aisle of the church where she once sang in the choir.

Marilyn Monroe married Pulitzer Prize playwright Arthur Miller in a civil ceremony in White Plains, N.Y., on June 29. Two days later, they were married again in a religious ceremony, and then honeymooned in London, where the bride had to play movie love scenes with Sir Laurence Olivier.

June was the favorite wedding month for Kathleen Winsor (husband No. 4), Sonja Henie (husband No. 3) and Genevieve de Galard-Terraube (husband No. 1).

Genevieve, the French nurse who was called the "Angel of Dien Bien Phu" for her heroism during the Indochina fighting, was wed to a French army captain she met during the siege of Dien Bien Phu.

The most optimistic bride of the year was probably Peggy Hopkins Joyce, 60, who took her sixth husband in May.

REMAINS SINGLE

The girl that most people wanted to see wed, Princess Margaret, didn't oblige during 1956. The pretty princess, who in 1955 renounced Capt. Peter Townsend, made no move toward matrimony in '56. By year-end, Britons were saying that maybe Margaret would never marry.

Meantime, some wives were making news—sometimes as wives, sometimes as authors, sometimes as career women.

Mrs. Grace Metalious, mother of three children, wrote a book called "Peyton Place," which got on the best-seller lists in September and topped the list by November.

Her home town, pop. 488, thought her book a nasty portrait of small town doings, and Mrs. Metalious said her husband George lost his job as high school principal as a result. Metalious didn't get his job back, but Mrs. Metalious sold the movie rights to her book for $175,000 to insure a happy '57.

One of the most stirring events of '56 was the comeback of Ingrid Bergman. The actress who made headlines seven years ago because of her romance with Italian movie director Roberto Rossellini remained in her self-imposed European exile.

But Ingrid, now Rossellini's wife, made her first big movie since 1949 for a major American film company. The picture, "Anastasia," was an overwhelming success.

OLYMPIC WINNER

An American housewife, Pat McCormick of California, starred in the '56 Olympic games at Melbourne, winning two gold medals in diving for the U.S.

The most popular girl in New York was a pretty English import named Julie Andrews. People payed as much as $150 a seat to see 21-year-old Julie sing opposite Rex Harrison in "My Fair Lady," the musical version of G. B. Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Everything Julie sang made the hit parade, everything she wore in the show set a style. Julie, engaged to a boy back home, was too busy as a result to get married in '56.

Websters Host Gathering to Announce Engagement

At a family dinner party held at the Recess Club in Detroit on Friday, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker Webster of Birmingham announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean Elizabeth, to Charles Dudley Weir. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Reeves Weir of Birmingham.

The bride-elect and her fiance are both seniors at the University of Michigan.

Jean is a member of Delta Gamma and Charles is affiliated with Sigma Chi. They plan a June wedding following graduation.

Jean's brother-in-law and twin sister, 2nd Lt. and Mrs. David L. Higgins of Lubbock, Tex., were present for the announcement.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Weir and sons, Donald and Larry; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Higgins of Bloomfield Hills and Robert Webster.

Capes Go With Suits for Spring

NEW YORK (INS) — If you have a suit you like and can get material to match, have a cape made for it, because capes are the latest rage for spring.

Designer Adele Simpson features them in suits with a costume look plus matching print linings in jackets and blouses.

Then there's the navy suit with the lingerie touch — white collar and cuffs, which hasn't been around lately.

Other popular suit trends for spring are the bolero, gray chiffon flannel, black and white check worsted and "meringue beige."

For evening Miss Simpson shows cloud gray chiffon, black lace, and blue and white silk prints with bell skirts and pocket stoles.

Chiffons are tops in popularity for the coming season and are shown in grays and pale colors. One gown is even shown in flame red with crepe top, high belt and rounded slim skirt topped by a chiffon overskirt.

One dress that is sure to be a popular number is a sheer transition wool in navy with a panel back, a demi-bolero front and a linen collar.

'Fur Frost' for Coats

Neighborhood dry cleaners are now equipped to clean heavy pile coats such as O'llegro, Borgana, Glenara and Cloud No. 9, popular new piles that have heretofore been cleaned by furriers.

The new "fur frost" process eliminates matting and tufting of the heavy pile that occurs during normal dry cleaning. It relusterizes orlon-dynel fibers to their original state and glazes at the same time.

Berean Class Attends Dinner

Members of the Berean Fellowship Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Levely of Alice avenue for dinner on New Year's Eve.

After viewing movies of the Levelys' recent vacation in Florida, and listening to a Christmas recording made by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Moran, missionaries to Germany, the group attended the Watch Night service at the church.

Fashion Hint

The daytime boot in suede leather or smooth leather for street wear in fine or foul weather is creating a lot of talk. Another Edwardian echo is seen in the spat or demi-spat which gives an opportunity for interesting combinations of lighter buffed leather on smooth or grained, such as spats of chamois yellow or Victorian beige or taupe on black calf.

Gifted Child Gets Ahead in Spite of All Obstacles

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Prof. Warren Ketcham says that "it's about as possible to stop a cannonball as to stop a gifted child when he's going some place."

"Bright children," says the University of Michigan's associate professor of education, "have burning curiosity about things. They have a persistence and a drive toward their own goals that are just wonderful to behold.

"They learn things so quickly that they are frequently accused of not having a long attention span. They do many things at once.

"They flit about and adults think they don't finish the things they do and that they will never learn anything well because they don't practice it," he continued.

"In most instances, upon close examination, you'll find they have learned it a long time ago. No one knows how."

Prof. Ketcham says that "the task of schools and parents is to bring out the best in every child, whether he is extra bright, retarded or just normal."

The professor said that one educational system "that everyone seems set on" keeps bright children segregated in special classes with special teachers, but he added: "This system just doesn't do any good."

In one experiment, he said, a group of superior children was divided, with one group put in special classes and the other not.

"At the end of several years," he said, "the two groups were tested. Neither group knew more than the other one."

Reception Honors Couple

One-hundred and forty guests attended a reception Saturday afternoon honoring Mr. and Mrs. Richard Card who were married in a morning ceremony at Our Lady of Refuge Church.

The bride is the former Patricia Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis C. Sears of Pine View drive. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elven Card of Dixie highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Purdy, grandparents of the bridegroom, opened their Drayton Woods home for the reception.

An arrangement of pink and white carnations and a tiered wedding cake centered the refreshment table at which Mrs. R. E. Springer presided.

The newlyweds are making their home in Big Rapids, where Richard is an engineering student at Ferris Institute.

News From Birmingham

Ens. Frank Norton Plans Marriage to Detroit Girl

BIRMINGHAM — Romance mingled with holly and mistletoe in the Francis S. Norton home on Radnor drive during the holidays, for it was in Christmas week that the son of the house, Ensign Frank Norton, presented Sharon Puhek with an engagement ring.

Sharon, who is planning a summer wedding, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Puhek of Detroit. She attended St. Mary College of Notre Dame and is now in her third year at the University of Detroit.

Frank is a graduate of U. of D. and has just completed training at Officers' Candidate School in Newport, R. I. He has been assigned to Washington, D. C.

Add to vital statistics in the social department, news revolving around pretty Ann Hamilton (a frequent summertime visitor here) who made her bow to society in West Hartford, Conn., during the holidays.

Ann, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Stewart Hamilton, is a granddaughter of Mrs. Stewart Hamilton of Henrietta avenue and a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bethel B. Kelley of Henley drive.

The deb was presented at the Holly Ball in Hartford, and was again honored at a tea dance given in the old Simsbury Carriage House. She is a freshman at Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

ANNUAL REUNION

Mrs. Virginia Kunkle of Portsmouth, N. J., is in town on her annual visit with the Wayne A. Andreaes of Half Moon road. She and Mrs. Andreae were classmates at Wellesley, and the vivacious brunette Ginny plans to be about these parts for at least a couple of weeks.

In the meantime, the Andreaes' other houseguests, Dr. and Mrs. John L. Wiant, will leave this Sunday for their home in Portland, Ore.

They will be accompanied on the flight home by their two daughters, Judy and Sally Ann, who spent the holidays with their grandmother, Mrs. Clarence E. Lehr of Old Salem court.

Mrs. Donald Maentz, one-time Birmingham resident, got caught up on local news this week when Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Otis Jr. arrived to spend several days with her and Mr. Maentz in their Grand Rapids home.

* * *

Among localites trekking into Detroit Tuesday night for the Princeton Triangle show were Mr. and Mrs. David W. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Auger, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan S. Stover, Mr. and Mrs. John K. Bagby and Mr. and Mrs. E. McCord Mullock and their two sons, Edward and Bruce.

Make Bathing Leisurely Affair

The best time to soak away those rough spots on elbows and heels is when you take your nightly bath. Instead of popping into the tub and out, try to take time to make your bath a leisurely affair at least twice a week.

Follow up the soaking with a good, stiff brush for both elbows and heels and then finish up with a natural pumice stone. Cream both heels and elbows as carefully as you do your hands.

And while you're about it, don't forget a body lotion for your legs. In winter weather, it's especially important to guard against that dry and flaky look.

Career Gal Needn't Be Unfeminine

By ANNE HEYWOOD

More than we realize, we live in the past when it comes to some of our thinking.

I realized this acutely the other day when I heard two young women talking on a bus.

"I don't want a real career," one of them said. "I just want a dumb job. If you're really successful and get to be a big shot, people won't like you. You become 'aggressive and even unfeminine."

Maybe that used to be true in the days when a woman had so many obstacles that she had to get tough as all getout to reach the top. But nowadays, some of the most successful women in some of the biggest jobs are feminine, modest and comfortable to be with.

CITES EXAMPLE

I was thinking particularly of Josephine McCarthy, the television cooking expert.

Recently, I spent the weekend at the home of a friend, Mrs. L. When I heard that another of her weekend guests was going to be Josephine McCarthy, it occurred to me that maybe the going might get a little rocky.

After all, Mrs. L. was no mean cook herself, and with a really big shot cook on the premises! But I was just as wrong as the two girls on the bus!

Josephine McCarthy was exactly the opposite of what you picture expert. She obviously enjoyed Mrs. L.'s cooking, she ate with gusto, she evinced real interest in some of Mrs. L.'s recipes.

There are, I think, several explanations for things like this.

REAL HUMANITY

First, people who get to the top—in any field and in either sex—invariably have, in addition to their skills, real humanity. Occasionally, of course, a bad person gets to the top, but he doesn't stay there long. The people who stay at the top are usually generous, pleasant and decent people.

Secondly, the woman who goes into a field that she likes, becomes a happy, well-adjusted person and has no need to throw her weight around.

And third, the woman with high intelligence and drive is much better off in a job using that intelligence and drive. If she works at top capacity, she is calm and serene at the end of the day.

If, instead, she forces herself into what the girls called "a dumb job," she has lots of unused energy and drive which cause her to be a frenetic and aggressive person after hours.

If you want to be a career woman without losing your femininity, be sure to enter a field that really interests you and to aim at the proper level for your energy, intelligence and drive!

Legend of Banyan Hawaiian Favorite

One of the glories of the Hawaiian Islands is the banyan tree. According to a report from the islands, a legend from Tahiti, early home of the Hawaiians, has it that the first banyan tree grew in the moon and provided shade for the residents there.

One day, the goddess Hina climbed this tree to break off a branch for tapa and it fell on Tahiti. There it took root and became the source of all other banyans.

Stop Wishing, Start Doing and You'll Find Success

Develop Skills You Desire in Yourself by Analyzing, Copying, Resisting Defeat

By RUTH MILLETT

It's a waste of time for any woman to sit around and wish she had this or that ability belonging to someone else.

Whether she is wishing she could entertain as graciously as Mrs. A or be as good a housekeeper as Mrs. B or preside at a meeting with the ease and assurance of Mrs. C, she won't get anywhere until she makes up her mind that there is no real mystery about these accomplishments.

The next step, of course, is to start analyzing to find out why Mrs. A.'s parties are so much fun, or why Mrs. B. can manage her household so efficiently or what makes Mrs. C a leader with poise and self-assurance.

Those things just don't happen. And they aren't the exclusive talents of certain people. They are all jobs that have been mastered, and they can be mastered by any woman who really puts her mind to it.

DON'T BE DEFEATIST

Most people who only wish they could do what other people seem to do easily don't break down a job or an accomplishment into its essential parts.

They give up with thinking, "I never could do that" instead of trying to figure out how the other person does it and then saying, "I can do it too." Maybe not in quite the same way or quite as well, but adequately.

What would you really like to do that you think you can't do? What makes you so sure you can't? Chances are if you'll try to figure out how you could succeed and then not be afraid to try, you'll surprise yourself by what you can accomplish.

And there is nothing in the world that builds self - confidence like tackling something you are afraid of and carrying it through to a successful finish.

MABEL JEAN COLLINS

The engagement of their daughter, Mabel Jean, to Douglas Sparks is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collins of Giddings road. Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sparks of Auburn Heights. No date has been set for the wedding.

For Urban Life Shampoo Often

Your shampoo schedule has to be adapted to the type of hair you possess and the area in which you live. If you have oily hair and live in a large city, where your hair gets dirty easily, then you probably need a shampoo at least every three days.

To be successful at shampooing your own hair, pick the shampoo that's right for your hair, follow it with a cream rinse and then by at least three rinses with clear, running water.

Give your hair a brisk towelling and then brush it nearly dry. Brush it into place, shaping it the way you usually wear it, before curling it.

We can only see and feel, enjoy or appreciate to the extent of our own personal light. Past that there is darkness.

Do You Put Others in 'Good Light'?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Emerson wrote: "We must be as courteous to a man as we are to a picture, which we are willing to give the advantage of a good light."

Wouldn't it be wonderful if others would do this for us, give us the benefit of the doubt—and if we would do this for others, give them a chance? Any person, any scene and any experience, will look entirely different to different people, depending on the viewpoint and the light which the observer or participant provide.

It is amazing how this carries through into everyday living. One person will be annoyed by an unexpected April shower, while another will drink in the fragrance which rises from a hot dusty road which has been drenched suddenly.

One individual will find only hecticness in hectic happenstance, while another will discover humor. On and on it goes in the things which happen to us each day.

SHOW TO ADVANTAGE

If you have a lovely painting, you want it to show to best advantage. Therefore you give it the most flattering light you can provide, one which will bring out its patent beauty.

But, do we do this for people, just plain human beings? Of course they have faults which we are better able to understand than any flaw in an artist's technique.

Suppose we gave people the break we give pictures! What would happen then?

Actually, we can only see and feel, enjoy or appreciate, to the extent of our own personal light. Past that there is darkness. There is no beauty or happiness for us further than our individual light can reach. We only live that far and that much!

Resort Wear Fashions to Look Most Ladylike

Fabric and silhouette trends for cruise and resort wear are toward the ladylike and romantic.

And nowhere does fashion's influence become more apparent than in cotton daytime and date clothes.

This season both sheaths and full-skirted silhouettes are given a finished costume look with the addition of capelets, rounded boleros and short caracao jackets.

The "sheath plus" appears in a natural beige day dress of lightweight denim which coordinates with a full-length coat in orange-printed cotton, slit at the sides and bound in biege.

The capelet makes its fashion point when worn over a fly-front black and white cotton tweed sheath. Detachable, it has narrow white edging which forms a demure bow at the neckline.

A full-skirted dress is of two-part pique—white skirt; black bodice—and is worn with a detachable "thimble" jacket that buttons in back.

Date and dance dresses of cotton satin and lace are designed camisole style, with full bell skirts, and are often held in place by velvet streamers which go over the shoulders to form bows.

Hot Bath Relieves Aching Muscles

Muscles ache from all that weekend activity? Climb into a tub of very warm water, whip up mounds of thick soapsuds, then lie back and soak.

There's no pleasanter treatment for muscles that are tired and sore from excessive or unaccustomed exercise.

Keep the bath warm by adding more hot water gradually. Allow plenty of time for this comforting soak, and you'll feel like new next day.

A dangerously low-cut neckline can look cheap and vulgar worn at the wrong time, place and occasion. You are the one who must decide how to dress for your way of life.

Vote Habits of Women Are Studied

By ANNETTE DAVIS
(For Jane Eads)

WASHINGTON—With 4½ million more women than men of voting age in this country, both political parties are increasingly challenged with how to win the allegiance of the woman voter.

So far, neither party has been able to depend on how its women members will vote once they get to the polls, according to Dr. Louise M. Young, Washington, author, lecturer and student of women in politics.

This was evident in the recent election, she says, where ticket splitting of the independent voter was largely responsible for the overwhelming endorsement of President Eisenhower while keeping the control of Congress in the hands of the opposite party.

Dr. Young feels the increasing independence of the "independent" voter undoubtedly can be contributed in part to women.

"When women were enfranchised," she pointed out, "they weren't drawn into the parties, nor were they given any real status in the parties."

LACK LOYALTY

"As a result, lacking party recognition, they tend to lack party loyalty," she said.

Ruling out all other factors, the difference is reflected at the polls, Dr. Young feels.

A woman votes as a consumer. If a new road is to be decided upon, she is interested in what she gets for her tax dollar whereas a man is concerned with whether he wants the road or not.

Dr. Young, author of "Understanding Politics: A Practical Guide for Women," says she is not a feminist but a political observer. She feels women have whatever political power they deserve and have earned.

It will be another century before women realize their potential power. For the most part, they are content at present to find channels for self-expression by playing auxiliary roles in the parties.

Initial Hangers Avoid Disputes

Whenever more than one pair of nylons hang in the bathroom, the most heated disputes can develop between the closest of sisters, career girl room-mates, or college dorm pals.

The Cleanliness Bureau suggests a simple way to avoid this trouble — "monogram" individual hangers with block initials made from colored cellophane tape. In this way, once you've sudsed and rinsed your nylons, you'll know which are which by hanging them on your personalized hanger.

There are 36 letters in the Russian alphabet.

Fashion Hint

Silk enters the beach scene with checks and stripes in soft, feminine styling so perfect for mature women. Silk tussah herringbone here is coordinated for town and country wear. The shirt can be worn outside to make a beach coat.

Double Rite Solemnized

In a double-ring and double wedding ceremony performed by the Rev. E. C. Swanson at Pilgrim Holiness Church, Joyce Ann Nemec became the bride of Floyd Wright and Elizabeth Marie Nemec became the bride of Jack Barnett.

Joyce and Elizabeth are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nemec of South Adams road.

Floyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie L. Wright of West Cornell avenue and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barnett of North Saginaw street.

Following the Dec. 22 ceremony, a reception was held at Pine Lake Inn on Orchard Lake road. The couples traveled to northern Michigan for their honeymoon.

The Jack Barnetts are residing on North Sanford street and the Floyd Wrights are making their home on Orchard Lake road at Orchard Lake.

Fashion Hint

The cape must not stand out from the body because of a too pointed bra. A high, rounded bust permits the cape to disguise large portions just as the bolero does.

TRIUMPH OVER DIAPER RASH

with MITEY-DRYE and Sleepy-Drye by Modella

$2.98 *Pat. and T.M. Pending

$1.25 *Pat. No. 2,695,618

*Size chart refers to Sleepy-Drye only.

MITEY-DRYE is the brand-new, long-lasting, washable diaper liner that goes next to baby's skin when pinned together with diapers. It works like magic—keeping baby's ENTIRE body dry. Made exclusively with magical EXPELTHAL fabric, Mitey-Drye lets wetness pass through to diapers, and keeps it there. Then Mitey-Drye dries in a few minutes. This same action takes place every time baby wets. So, urine can't get a chance to soak into baby's tender skin . . . and that means diaper rash and discomfort don't have a chance either! And that's not all—Mitey-Drye also means good-bye to chills caused by baby sleeping against cold, wet diapers. One size fits any diaper.

SLEEPY-DRYE diaper cover (ideal training pants later) makes sure all wetness stays in diapers; can't dampen nighties and crib clothes. Yet all-cotton Sleepy-Drye is porous, thereby invites cooling air in and lets it circulate throughout the diaper unlike old-fashioned, air-tight rubber and plastic pants — that's why dangerous ammonia compounds, which are caustic and burn baby's skin haven't a chance to form in the diaper area . . . and he's safe from this form of diaper rash too. It's really true! Two are better than one. Try Sleepy-Drye and Mitey-Drye together . . . and you'll find baby and crib completely dry on awakening—while wet diapers are sandwiched in between these two wonder-products!

Hunger for Praise Brings Problems

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

About 10 years ago, Mr. Mills failed in business. It turned out a good failure, freeing him to a job in which he's made steady progress. But at the time, it seemed cruel.

However, his wife was wonderful. She got work as a saleslady, paid a neighbor for the children's after-school care, sold the furniture that wouldn't fit into the smaller house they'd moved to.

But behind these gestures of helpfulness, Mrs. Mills hated having to make them. She resented her small kitchen, impatient customers, strap-hanging rides on crowded buses. Unfortunately, to know how she felt would have meant forfeiting everyone's praise of her as a "brick." So to retain it, she ignored her resentments.

Thus, unacknowledged, they thrived without control. Soon they were asserting themselves in an objectionable new habit of Mrs. Mills. She began to ask everyone to wait on her.

WANTED 'SERVICE'

She stopped hanging up her own coat when she came in. She stopped looking for a mislaid pair of scissors. Though the magazine she wanted was in reach of her hand, she'd say to her husband or children, "Hand me that magazine, will you, dear?"

* * *

At first, because she was still such a "brick," her family was glad to wait on her. But as time passed and her reputation as a "brick" has faded, they have grown a little tired of it. Though Mr. Mills has developed a certain defensive deafness to her endless requests for help, her children obey them with increasing irritation.

If she does not get on to the unpopularity of her aggressive helplessness, she may end up without any affection.

As parents, we are indeed entitled to helpful children. But we are not entitled to use the children as extensions of our own healthy arms and legs.

When we do demand that they render us services we should be rendering ourselves, we become weak. We lose, not just their eagerness to help us, but respect for our own powers.

Usually parents who demand such constant personal service are, like Mrs. Mills, working out resentments they have preferred not to know about.

Hunger for praise is a most perilous appetite. If we're not aware of it in ourselves, it can betray us into making all kinds of noble gestures we haven't the strength to make. If we are parents, it should be outgrown as soon as possible as a childhood hangover.

Floor Coverings to Keynote Trend in Neat Patterns

A strengthening of the most important current trends will key new additions in floor coverings, note fashion reporters. Wider endorsement of wool, wool blends and synthetic tweeds, many in solution-dyed yarns, are noted in tufted newcomers while new emphasis has been placed on neater modern patterns and area styles in woven goods.

Metallic effects, outdoor flooring textures such as brick and flagstone and terrazzo designs are highlights of smooth surface

Colors are more individual than ever. Pastel tones are played up and the more unusual shades such as mauve, cerulean blue, burnt orange and antique white.

Keep Eye on Beach Wear to See Smartest Fashions

The smartest fashions are often born on the beach—and designers of beach wear make a point of interpreting some of their most exciting ideas in gay, colorful cottons.

Cotton beach and patio clothes for 1957 take two new directions: the bareback look and the covered-up silhouette. Breezy floral-printed sheers, giant frosted plaids and woven cottons made to resemble appliqued lace—all make play-clothes that are absolutely backless, and often strapless.

Patio dresses in pale prints and cotton jerseys have new sleeves cut out from the shoulder blade. Necklines cut high and square in front—V-cut in back—are seen in foamy pink and white lace prints and cotton satins appliqued in white eyelet.

New low-curved horseshoe necklines are featured in longer-length floral cotton chiffons and wide-spread plaids with colorful piping. A long, full-flowing dress in Spanish gold cotton twill has a horseshoe neckline piped in lilac to match a wrap-around string sash.

Fashion says bare your back to the sun—and resort cottons go along with fashion.

The halter bareback beach dress is a case in point. Cut high in front with a tiny collar and a row of buttons, it has a shirtwaist look which contrasts with its bare back.

One designer does this in window-pane checked gingham with its back cut bare to a wide belt which encircles the waist. The same top appears on a companion pastel playsuit which has little girl bloomers.

Face Up to Facts, Ladies, You Must Use Hairbrush

Hundred-Stroke Routine as Important as Ever in Keeping Scalp Groomed

There's no dodging the fact that daily use of a hair brush is as important in these days of modern beauty aids as it was when grandma was a girl. It's the best tonic you can give your hair and scalp and shouldn't be neglected because of weariness after a late date.

It's easier to manage the hundred-stroke routine if you divide it into 50 strokes in the morning and 50 more before you get into bed each night.

Many of us find it simpler to care for our hair at home, rather than to spend the time required in a beauty salon. Yet no hair style looks as it should unless the hair has been professionally trimmed and shaped. Once this has been done, you, yourself, often can do the rest.

Hair colorings, sprays, hair dryers and metal clips for setting are necessities for most of us. But if we use these essentials to good hair grooming, we must also take care that our hair does not dry out or split at the ends.

If you use bleach or hair coloring, there is a color shampoo on the market which, according to the makers, contains no drying chemicals.

A color cream rinse, too, is available; it is reported to condition the hair to a natural, manageable state. You might note that a cream rinse with blue in it is good both for keeping blonde hair from becoming brassy, and dyed brown hair from becoming too red.

When giving yourself a home permanent, don't leave the solution on any longer than necessary to obtain a soft curl. Stiff, tight curls are particularly unattractive in these days of the natural-looking coiffure.

When you want to add height to the front of your hair, use rollers rather than metal clips for setting that section.

Heat can be damaging because it tends to make the hair brittle. So if you use a hair dryer, rub your hair with a towel before you set it, to reduce the time under the dryer.

The hair spray is an invaluable asset after setting, or as a last-minute touch before going out. But be careful to choose one that will not make the hair look stiff and lacquered. A non-drying hair spay will keep it in place for hours.

The cosmetic counters are well stocked with all the products you will need to keep your hair lovely at home. If you shop carefully and wisely, your hair can be truly your "crowning glory."

Here Are Ways to Remove Ink Spots

MADISON, Wis. (INS) — Don't waste milk by trying to remove ink spots with it.

All it does is add a milk stain to the ink stain, according to research findings of U.S. Department of Agriculture textile chemists.

On washable fabrics, the safest first step for all writing inks —except from ball point pens— is to soak the stained material in cool water for at least 30 minutes, preferably overnight.

Then rub with soap or detergent and wash in warm suds. If a stain remains, a chlorine bleach can be used on all fabrics except wool, silks, Vicara and those with special finishes.

Use sodium perborate or a perborate bleach on fabrics with special finishes.

Put one or two tablespoons of the bleach in a cup of very hot water.

If a yellow stain remains after bleaching, treat it as you do a rust stain.

On wool, silk and Vicara, sponge the ink stain with cool water until no more ink comes off. Then try sponging with an ammonia solution; one tablespoon to a cup of water. Repeated treatments are necessary because the ink color tends to reappear when the fabric dries.

If the ink stays put, sprinkle a non-precipitating water-softener (like Calgon) over the stain and cover with a pad of wet cotton for an hour or more.

If traces of ink still remain, apply a few drops of hot solution of commercial color remover and rinse immediately.

This quick treatment is safe for many dyes, but test each fabric. Repeat if necessary. Treat traces of yellow with rust remover.

Inks used in ball point pens usually can be removed completely by repeatedly sponging the stained fabric with acetone. But test the material first — acetone cannot be used on acetate, Arnel or Dynel fabrics because it dissolves them.

Fruit, Nuts in Dessert Enrich It

Mrs. Blums Bakes Her Chess Pie Like Pecan Pie

By JANET ODELL

If you're tired of fruit cake and plum pudding, why not make a Chess Pie for dessert soon? Mrs. Edward Blum has an easy and interesting recipe.

As the mother of three schoolage sons, Mrs. Blum is active in PTA work, especially in McConnell School. She likes to bake and sew.

CHESS PIE
By Ms. Edward Blum

1 eight-inch pie crust
1 cup sugar
½ cup butter
4 eggs, beaten
½ cup raisins
½ cup currants
½ cup nuts
½ cup dates, cut up

Cream butter and sugar, add eggs and beat well. Add fruit. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake 50-60 minutes in a 300-degree oven, or until a knife cut into the filling comes out clean.

Pastel flower-printed sheets and pillowcases are an inexpensive way to brighten up a bedroom. They come with matching blankets, too.

Should Club Alter Plans for Couple?

Right to Have Party Though Illness Kept One Pair Away

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows:

"My husband and I belong to a bridge club consisting of five couples. Every time we meet we put a sum of money into a kitty and when we have enough saved we go out for an evening's entertainment.

"We had planned to go out last Saturday night. However, two days before, my husband's father was taken very seriously ill and we were called out of town. The other couples went out anyway. I was very much put out over this and think that they should have postponed going out until we could go with them. In fact, I am so upset over it I am thinking of withdrawing from the group.

"My husband thinks I am making a mountain out of a molehill and that I have no cause to feel as I do. I would very much like to know what you think about this."

I agree with your husband. To expect them to have stayed home after they had made plans to go out was hardly fair to them and there is no reason why you should feel hurt.

Dear Mrs. Post: "My father died several years ago. My mother has not remarried. We have always been very close and are like sisters than mother and daughter. Mother is very young and quite attractive. I would like to know if it would be proper to have her serve as my matron of honor?

Answer: No, your mother should not be your matron of honor. She is the hostess at your wedding and her place is on the aisle in the front pew from where it is permissible for her to "give you away."

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me exactly what term "coming out" means?

Answer: The coming out of a debutante means coming out into the social world from that of the schoolroom. In other words, one who has finished her education is supposed to be eligible for invitations to whatever adult parties are being given in the community.

If your favorite perfume no longer wafts its scent to you,it's time to switch to another. Half the enjoyment of using perfume is in being able to whiff it yourself.

Combination Shirt Proves Functional, Attractive

Sweaters Reveal Simple Style, Interesting Design

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—There's a nip in the air and there should be a couple of the handsome new sweaters in the closet.

The sweaters of this season are warm, but light in weight; they're simple in styling, but not dull and uninteresting; they're modern in construction and fabric, yet still not expensive.

New this year is a freshly-designed coat sweater from McGregor. This most comfortable of garments has historically (and unfortunately) been associated with old men. But with the new styling, it's a young man's garment, too. McGregor has added a roll collar and other trim, dressed it up in handsome contrasting patterns. The result is a fine gift item—and not bad to buy for yourself, too.

Jantzen has done right by the sweater shirt, a garment long overlooked by most men. It's warm enough for a sweater, handsome enough for a shirt. It comes in long and short sleeve models. On chilly nights when you feel a sweater won't look right, the sweater shirt is your answer.

In general, the basic look of the ordinary sweater this season is one of bigness and bulkiness. But, with the new fabrics, the garment is light in weight. Many are made of fabrics that can be easily washed, too.

There is a definite Scandinavian trend in these sweaters Styling is along Nordic lines, with patterns and colors borrowed freely from the Scandinavian peninsula.

If you have a tendency toward hypochondria, you'll be delighted with the news that researchers in the employ of a shoe company claim 60 different bodily ills can be traced to run-down heels.

It seems when your heels are worn, the feet are turned outward and certain muscle's get overtired. From such a situation, all health can break loose. Then, too, you might trip and break something.

So it's a good idea to keep your shoes in good repair. Or else get to know a good doctor.

The fashion industry looks for a big spring for silk. They expect silk suits, shirts, swimwear, ties and even silk-plugged shoes will hit record levels in the early months of '57.

The worms are working overtime to get ready.

Work clothes, which have been fairly steady in styling for 20 years, are getting a face lifting. Work shirts are (or will soon be) available in sportswear-type prints. The old stand-by, the denim jacket, is being turned out in stripes. Even denim pants, grandfather of the teen-agers' blue jeans, are being re-styled in new colors and some fancy patterns.

Put Your Iron Away

Producers Featuring Drip-Dry Fabrics

ATLANTA (INS) — The American woman can put up her iron for good if a group of sportswear and dress manufacturers have their way.

Manufacturers participating in an advance showing of spring and summer styles in Atlanta are featuring drip-dry fabrics, in almost all lines and all types of clothing.

Sol Brawerman, of New York, representing one sportswear manufacturer, explains that in many cases the new synthetic fabrics actually resemble old favorites.

For instance, he showed the new line designed to replace the ever-popular straight linen skirt for spring. The materials look almost exactly like linen, and they are not only wrinkle resistant, but also wash and drip dry without ironing.

Coordinates are big in the drip-dry picture, and these linen-look skirts are paired with blouses of the same or lighter material in matching colors—also drip dry.

Brawerman points out that even the "summer cotton" dress is now a combination of dacron and cotton that washes and dries in a jiffy—ready to wear without ironing.

The "sissy blouses," with ruffles and lace trim, are cotton, but they too, are designed for washing and wearing—no ironing.

Maurice Solomon, representing a manufacturer of dresses for misses and half sizes, is showing the drip-dry idea in another type.

He says this particular feature is "something women are looking for."

Here the wash and wear idea shows up in dresses with accordion pleated skirts, made of Arnel Jersey, which is packable, washable and drip-dry.

The style is varied with a dacron and Arnel blend made with a border print pattern in the permanently pleated skirt. Blouses of these dresses are softer in usually matched with this type of skirt.

Jack Gray, of Miami Beach, Fla., is showing the drip-dry clothing in cotton knits fashioned to take this fabric out of the tee-shirt class.

Dresses and sportswear, from "short shorts" to pedal pushers, all are showing up in cable-stitch or fancy cotton knits, completely lined.

One of the highlights of the line is a cotton lace design woven in two shades with a filmy stitch. This is used for a dressy dress, but it also comes in hostess pants.

Gray explains that the dresses are "not shpaed." He says of the cotton knits:

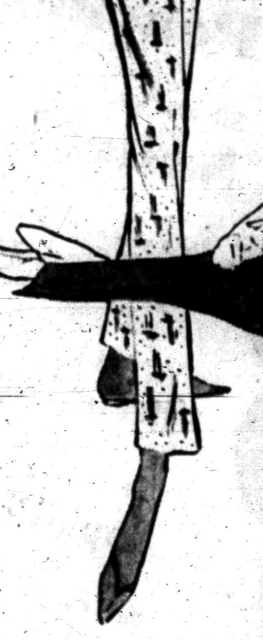

"You give it the shape when you put it on the figure."

Broil Banana in Bacon

Bananas broiled with Canadian bacon make an ideal luncheon salad accompaniment. Just brush peeled slices (1-3 banana cut on the diagonal) with honey. Wrap a slice of Canadian bacon around each slice as far as it will go and secure it with a toothpick. Place on a broiler pan and broil, 4 inches from the heat, turning it to broil all sides.

INTERCEPTION — Arthur Beall (40), Baylor back, intercepts a pass thrown by Tennessee back John Majors in the Sugar Bowl game Tuesday. End Buddy Cruse (86) of Tennessee was the intended receiver.

Tennessee Fumbles Away Sugar Bowl

Baylor Staggers Vols, 13-7

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Baylor Coach Sam Boyd, his 13-7 Sugar Bowl victory over Tennessee dampened by an unfortunate player squabble, warned the Southwest Conference today his Bears were the team to beat next fall.

Boyd, 43, a standout end at Baylor in the 1930s, had reason to be optimistic the way his squad handled one of the year's top teams in the 23rd staging of the Sugar Bowl yesterday. Forty players on the squad will return next season.

Boyd has a solid nucleus for what Baylor rooters hope may be the first Bear team ever to play in the Cotton Bowl. The last Baylor conference title came more than 30 years ago, long before the Cotton Bowl went into business.

The sweetness of victory was bittered, since fullback Larry Hickman was ejected from the game for kicking Tennessee guard Bruce Burnham in the face during a third quarter hassle.

The injury sent Burnham to the hospital where he was treated for a slight concussion and facial lacerations. Hospital spokesmen said he was scheduled for release today "barring any complications."

Burnham would have also been ejected from the game since it was his personal foul which touched off the melee.

Boyd sadly admitted the triumph "was the first game I've ever won I can't be happy about." He was at a loss to explain Hickman's action and added he believed "the boy himself probably doesn't know."

But the incident could not detract from Baylor's magnificent team effort as the Bears handed Tennessee its first defeat this season. Tennessee was ranked second in the final Associated Press poll of the season and entered the game a 7½ point favorite.

Baylor stepped into the lead in the second quarter on quarterback Bobby Jones' 12-yard pass to end Jerry Marcontell.

With All-America halfback Johnny Majors putting life into the Tennessee attack, the Vols moved ahead in the third period. Majors swept around end from the one for the touchdown and Sammy Burklow booted the lead conversion.

But Majors took Del Shofner's punt on the five in the early mintes of the fourth quarter, danced back to the 12 but fumbled when tackled and Baylor's Reuban Saage recovered on the 15. Four plays later the Bears had the winning touchdown. Sub quarterback Buddy Humphrey went over from about a half-foot out.

Tennessee Coach Bowden Wyatt contended his Vols "played a great game. We just made too many mistakes."

He praised Baylor as a great team, "easily the best we met all year" and singled out Shofner, who earned the game's most outstanding player award in a poll of news-men and netted 88 yards in 14 attempts.

The setback continued Tennessee's jinx in the Sugar Bowl. It marked the Volunteers third setback against one victory in the New Orleans New Year's extravaganza. The game marked Baylor's debut in the Sugar Bowl.

REFRESHING — Forest Evashevski, coach of the Rose Bowl winning Hawkeyes, has a winning smile to go with a refreshment in the locker room after trimming Oregon State 35-19 yesterday.

Hawkeyes Roll Against Coast Representative

Win Continues Big 10 Mastery in Bowl Games Against PCC Foes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Big Ten mastery over the Pacific Coast Conference in the Rose Bowl remained intact today, with Iowa's triumph over Oregon State, 35-19, before 97,126 New Year's Day fans.

The Hawkeyes outclassed the Beavers by land and by air to make it 10 Big Ten victories to a lone PCC win since the interconference series began in 1947.

Iowa quarterback Ken Ploen was voted the outstanding player in yesterday's game. The husky senior from Clinton, Iowa, produced a brilliant 49-yard touchdown run and passed 16 yards to end Jim Gibbons for another Hawkeye score. Altogether he completed nine of 10 passes for 83 yards and rolled up 59 yards on the ground.

Ploen injured his right knee in the first quarter, after his 49-yard stunner, but he returned in the second half to work more havoc on Oregon State.

This was the first rematch in Rose Bowl history, Iowa having squeaked by Oregon State 14-13 last October.

Oregon State's standout halfback Joe Francis, strove mightily to keep the Beavers in the ball game. He completed 10 of 12 passes for 130 yards and one touchdown, and carried the ball 15 times for 73 net yards. But his efforts fell far short.

Ploen's 49-yarder started the scoring and Iowa's workhorse, halfback Collins Hagler, made it 14-0 for the Hawkeyes with a nine-yard scoring run in the first quarter.

Hagler got another in the third period on the game's prettiest play. Ploen handed off to Ken Dobrino who handed to Hagler and the latter went 66 yards to score. Bill Happel contributed a five-yard touchdown run for Iowa and the Ploen-to-Gibbons 16-yarder completed Iowa scoring, plus five conversion points by Bob Prescott.

* * *

Oregon State scored in each of the last three quarters, via Tom Berry's three - yard run, Nub Beamer's one-yard plunge and Sterling Hammack's score on a 35-yard pass from Francis.

Beamer ran for one conversion. The other two attempts, place Kicks by John Clarke, were blocked.

ALERT HAWKEYES—Four alert Iowa Hawkeyes head for the loose ball after tailback Joe Francis of Oregon State fumbled in the first quarter of the Rose Bowl game yesterday. Halfback Collins Hagler (right) of the Hawks recovered on the Iowa 38 and Hagler scored his team's second touchdown from the Oregon State nine a few plays later. Other Iowans showing are quarterback Ken Ploen (11) and tackle Alex Karras (77).

Colorado Scores 27-21 Victory Over Clemson

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I'd rather have won one like this, than to win 50-0," chortled Coach Dallas Ward after his Colorado Buffaloes snuffed out Clemson's last-gasp threat and wrapped up a 27-21 Orange Bowl football victory.

Ward referred to the seesaw battle that developed in the second half of yesterday's grid classic after Colorado had threatened to turn it into a rout in the first two periods.

And to the losing coach, Frank Howard, must go the credit for giving the 72,552 fans and a national television audience a storybook thriller instead of a Colorado cakewalk.

Howard was thoroughly disgusted with his Tigers when they stumbled off the field at halftime, trailing the Buffs 20-0.

And he told them so, in no uncertain terms.

"I told 'em if they didn't get in there and play, I was gonna resign,' Howard allowed around a big cud of chewing tobacco. "I meant it, too. I told 'em I didn't want to be associated with a bunch of boys who played like that.

Howard must have gotten through. They came back and clawed out two touchdowns in the third period and one early in the fourth for a temporary 21-20 lead.

Then quarterback Charlie Bussey made a call which may have cost Clemson the game. Earlier, an onside kickoff had worked — Clemson recovered it — and Bussey decided to try it again. The gamble backfired.

Colorado recovered the short kickoff at the Buffs 47 and John Bayuk, 217-pound fullback, scored the winning touchdown.

Joel Wells, Clemson halfback, was the game's top rusher with 125 yards in 18 carries. He scored two touchdowns, one on a 58-yard spring off right tackle and the other on a three-yard smash.

Bayuk, who netted 123 yards in 23 tries and scored twice on short plunges, was only one of the Colorado stars. Halfback Bob Stransky set up the second Buff touchdown with a 36-yard runback of an intercepted pass and killed Clemson's last threat in the closing moments with another interception. End Frank Clarke and halfback Howard Cook shared honors on the third TD.

Iowa 11 Honors Jones' Memory After 'Rose' Win

PASADENA, Calif. (INS) — The Iowa Hawkeyes, triumphant 35-19 over Oregon State in yesterday's Rose Bowl football game, ended their day of glory on notes of sentiment and tribute, while in the Beavers' quarters there was only gloom.

The gridiron warriors of coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa voted to award the game ball to the mother of Calvin Jones, All-America guard for the Hawkeyes last year and who is presumed dead in airliner which disappeared in Canada several weeks ago.

She lives in Steubenville, Ohio.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When the Detroit Lions made Bill Glass of Baylor their number one draft choice, they said he was the best guard in college football the past season.

How he does in pro ball remains to be seen, but one thing is sure, the Lions at least picked themselves a topflight goodwill ambassador.

After yesterday's Sugar Bowl game in which Baylor defeated the nation's second ranked team Tennessee, 13-7, one of the first persons to get to the Tennessee locker room was Glass.

The big Baylor guard didn't lose his way to his own locker room. He bulled his way through the crowd to make apologies to the Vols, not for beating them, but for a poor act of sportsmanship on the part of one of his teammates.

It was an incident which took place in the game when Baylor fullback Larry Hickman put Tennessee guard Bruce Burnham in a hospital after kicking him in the face.

Burnham drew a personal foul during a pile-up, which was the reason for Hickman's action.

Tennessee governor Frank Clement entered the Vols' dressing room with Glass and asked that the Tennesseeans hear him.

Glass then said, "Hickman is a fine boy and player, and he hopes you will find it in your heart to forgive him. He just lost his head."

After the recent brawl in the pro ranks between the Lions and the Bears, it should do the play-for-pay game some good to bring in a player like Glass.

Let's hope Glass maintains this attitude when he comes up with Detroit. It will help the pro game.

WHAT ABOUT BARR?

Michigan football fans felt slighted after the East-West game last week.

Many local observers figured Terry Barr was the most impressive ball player on the field, offensively and defensively.

Yet it was Stanford's John Brodie who received the outstanding player award in a vote of West Coast sportswriters.

28-27 Cotton Bowl Thriller

TCU Nips Syracuse

DALLAS (AP) — Chuck Curtis' passing, Jim Brown's running, clutch extra points by Harold Pollard and a blocked try by furious Chico Mendoza added up to one of the finest Cotton Bowl games yesterday as Texas Christian beat Syracuse 28-27.

The Horned Frogs were breaking a bowl drought that extended to five games, gaining vengeance for a one-point loss to Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl last year and vindicating themselves from the tag of "second rate" team.

Curtis, Texas Christian quarterback, passed for 174 yards, completing 12 of 15 throws, had two scoring shots, ran for a touchdown and set up the fourth in leading the Frogs to probably the most-needed triumph in their football history. Curtis was passing into defeat the team that had led the nation in pass-interceptions.

Pollard, the victim last year when TCU lost to Mississippi 14-13, kick four conversions.

Brown, 222-pound Syracuse, All-America halfback, slashed through and around the Texas Christian line for three touchdowns and kicked three extra points — only to see Mendoza's block of one of his conversion efforts prove to be a decisive point.

It wasn't a sellout for the first time in 16 years, with some 68,000 in the stands and 7,000 seats vacant.

Fans had stayed away because TCU was considered "second rate" since it was second in the Southwest Conference with the champion, Texas A&M, prohibited from playing in the game because of an NCAA probation.

Syracuse, victim of the most crushing defeat in bowl history — a 61-6 debacle in the Orange Bowl in 1953, with Alabama as the villain — justified the faith of the Cotton Bowl in bringing it here to face TCU.

Brown gouged 152 yards out of the TCU line, often carrying four or five of the Frogs on his back as he dug for more. He also took three kickoffs back 96 yards. He was voted outstanding back of the game. Curtis was runner-up.

Syracuse will receive about $140,000 while TCU gets the same. It will retain $60,000 and share with the Southwest Conference members in the remainder.

Prep Swimming Squads Return to Action Friday

Prep natators resume their winter competition this weekend. But only one meet is scheduled for the Oakland county area, while a single contest marks Saginaw Valley activity. The first mentioned is a league affair.

Art Salow's Royal Oak (Dondero) high school team of the Border Cities circuit tangles with a good Wyandotte Roosevelt club coached by Ed Fedosky, at the downriver pool, on Friday afternoon.

Saginaw, of the SVC, goes outside the loop Friday to entertain Bay City Handy and gets back in Valley competition Jan. 8 with a night test against Arthur Hill. Royal Oak is host to Trenton of the Suburban B loop, Jan. 8, in an afternoon meet.

Mt. Clemens at Birmingham opens Eastern Michigan League play for the New Year on Jan. 10 and Hazel Park is at Ferndale the same day.

PHS Chief natators go to Flint Northern for a night meet Jan. 11 and Arthur Hill will be at Bay City Central the same night.

Royal Oak hosts Highland Park in a Border Cities meet at 4 p.m., Jan. 11.

Canisius Next for Detroit 5

DETROIT — A pair of holiday tournament champions, University of Detroit and Canisius College will tangle tonight in Detroit.

The Buffalo quintet, ranked among the top ten teams in the country, is gunning for its 3rd successive NCAA playoff berth this year after whipping Minnesota for the championship in the Queen City tournament.

Canisius has a record of 8-1, paced by captain Hank Nowak, a 6-foot-3 forward who has led the Griffins in scoring and rebounding for two years.

Last year Canisius reached the national quarterfinals of the NCAA before bowing to powerful Temple, 60-58.

Richardson Gains Spot in Finals

VALENCIA, Spain (AP) — Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La. and Westfield, N. J. beat Milan Branovich of Germany 6-1, 6-3, 6-0 in the men's singles semifinals at the five-day international tennis tournament at Valencia Club yesterday.

Top-Ranked Quintets Win Big Ones to Retain Spots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In a week when basketball tournaments were sprouting on almost every protected patch of boards, Kansas, North Carolina and Kentucky won the big ones to maintain their 1-2-3 rankings in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Kansas, proving it could win even when Wilt Chamberlain was contained, took the Big Seven tournament; North Carolina, with Lonnie Rosenbluth leading the way, won the Dixie Classic and Kentucky went on from a victory in its own invitation tournament to win the Sugar Bowl tourney.

The result left their status unchanged in a tournament-inspired shuffling of the ratings that saw four of last week's leading teams lose their places in the Top Ten and some other well-regarded teams drop clear out of sight.

In a rather light ballot, 38 of 77 sports writers and broadcasters cast their first place votes for Kansas and 25 put North Carolina on top. On the usual point basis of 10 for each first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Kansas Jayhawks received 686 points to 656 for Frank McGuire's North Carolina Tar Heels. Kentucky drew five votes for first but a comfortable third place total of 482 points.

Southern Methodist, winner of the Southwest Conference tournament, moved up from sixth place to the fourth spot vacated by West Virginia and Illinois and Louisville trailed along in this advance as the St. Louis Billikens also dropped out of the Top Ten. West Virginia took a couple of lickings in the Dixie Classic and St. Louis dropped three straight games last week, two of them in the Blue Grass Festival.

The four newcomers to the top bracket were Iowa State, UCLA, Vanderbilt and Seattle, ranked from seventh to 10th.

The leading teams with first place votes and won-lost records through Dec. 29, points on 10-9-8 etc basis:

1.	Kansas, 38, 9-0	686
2.	North Carolina, 25, 11-0	656
3.	Kentucky, 5, 9-2	482
4.	Southern Methodist, 1, 10-1	407

Moylan Ousts Chilean

TAMPA, Fla. (INS) — Eddie Moylan, top-seeded men's player from Trenton, N. J., defeated Chile's Ivan Salas in the second round of the Dixie International tennis championships New Year's Day at Tampa.

Moylan, winner of the tournament in 1954, won easily over Salas, 6-0, 6-3.

'M' Dedicates New Pool

Meets NC State Tonight

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Powerful North Carolina State will help Michigan dedicate its new varsity swimming pool in dual competition tonight as the Wolverines start their schedule.

The Carolina strokers, co-champions of the Atlantic Coast conference, will meet Michigan State at East Lansing tomorrow.

Leading the Wolfpack's array of all-star swimmers are breaststroker Dick Fagan and backstroker Dave McIntyre. Fagan is the defending NCAA champion in both the 200-yard breaststroke and butterfly.

Michigan is predominently a sophomore team, but coach Gus Stager has several lettermen back to balance his squad.

Odds Favor Challenger in Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, 36, dazzling but aging middleweight champion, makes the second defense of his third reign tonight as an underdog to Gene Fullmer, 25, strong, willing challenger from West Jordan, Utah.

Overnight backing for the sleek titleholder dropped the odds from 8-5 to 13-10. It even could be closer by the time they step into the Madison Square Garden ring at 10 p.m. (EST) for their once postponed 15-rounder.

A crowd of about 14,000 is expected to pay around $150,000 into the cash boxes. The pot will be sweetened by another $100,000 for the radio-TV rights. The scrap will be broadcast and telecast coast to coast by ABC. The New York-Philadelphia area will be blacked out of TV.

Win or lose, Robinson will get 47½ per cent of the gate and $60,000 from the air receipts. Fullmer, desperate to get the crack at Robinson, agreed to take 12½ of the gate and nothing from the radio-TV purse. Robinson in all will collect about $120,000 and Fullmer $16,000.

"That's okay with me," said Fullmer. "I want that title.'

Two sensational workouts over the weekend brought the late support for the Harlem dandy. Robinson displayed his oldtime power, fast combinations and pinpoint accuracy with his sleep-producing right hand. He was quick to take advantage of his sparmates' mistakes.

"That's where Ray is best," commented Joe Louis after watching his buddy wind up his training. "He's quick to take advantage of a mistake and Fullmer makes plenty. Gene is strong and has to stay on top of Ray if he wants to win. But he tends to get wild and you can't do that often against Ray. Once is enough in most cases. I've got to pick Ray because of that."

A majority of the experts, however, lean to the thick-necked, muscular-armed, iron-jawed challenger because of his youth, vigor and drive. He never has been stopped in 40 pro bouts — 37-3 — and is a dedicated, superbly conditioned fighter with a zest for the sport. The general opinion is that Robinson must take out Fullmer within five rounds to win.

"He's still a great fighter,' said Fullmer. "He can punch and he can box, and he's very, very smart. But he's 36 and I'm 25 and that's going to be the difference. I'm going to keep after him and make him fight every second of the way. That's the way I'm going to win."

"He's a strong boy and he can hurt you,' commented Robinson. "You know I never make any predictions on any of my fights but I'm as ready now as I've ever been for any of my fights. I'm fully recovered from my illness (that forced a postponement from the original Dec. 12 date) and I'm prepared to do my best. I'm fond of the title and I aim to keep it."

Robinson's last two title fights, both against Carl (Bobo) Olson, were quickies. He won the 160-pound crown for the third time by flattening Bobo in the second round Dec. 9, 1955, and then blitzed the faded Hawaiian-born Californian in the fourth round last May 18.

Fullmer, an apprentice welder in a copper mine when he doesn't fight, swept through the leading contenders, Rocky Castellani, Gil Turner, Ralph (Tiger) Jones and European champion Charley Humez in 1956. He stopped washed-up Moses Ward in three rounds in his last outing Sept. 22.

Major Cage Action Slow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If it's any consolation to Tennesseans after that Sugar Bowl spill, one of the Volunteers' athletic teams kept the winning combination on New Year's Day.

The Tennessee basketballers ran their unbeaten streak to eight last night by defeating William & Mary, 81-67 in one of the features of a limited college schedule.

Now ranked 12th in The Associated Press poll, the Vols got 58 points from Herman Thompson, Dick Keller and Leon Ammerman, with Thompson the leader with 28.

Whether Tennessee has the stuff to challenge mighty Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference race remains to be seen, but so far the Vols have been handling opponents the way their football brothers did during the fall.

Georgia, another of the Southeastern members, continued to show an improvement which began in the Gator Bowl tournament at Jacksonville last week, won by the Bulldogs over favored South Carolina. Georgia's fourth straight was a 72-68 decision over Florida State.

A survivor of the maze of tourneys that began last week, the All-American City competition at Owensboro, Ky., wound up a four-day run with host Kentucky Wesleyan winning the title, 91-46 over outgunned New Mexico A&M.

In Durham, N. H., Amherst defeated Bowdoin 77-66 and New Hampshire edged Trinity, Conn. 74-73 to reach the finals of the New Hampshire Invitational. Another tourney, the last big one of 50 or more conducted during the Holidays, opens tonight at Mobile. It's the Senior Bowl, with Furman, Morehead, Ky., Florida State and Spring Hill, Ala. entered.

Michigan, Ohio State, Butler and Memphis State won intersectional games in other major activity.

Kramer Paces Wolverine Win

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's basketballers started the new year on the right foot last night with a 75-62 conquest of a touring Yale quintet.

Led by captain Ron Kramer's 20 points and some noble second half work by substitute Jack Lewis and M. C. Burton, the Wolverines were able to capture their fifth non-conference win against three losses.

Burton, playing with a mild case of influenza, came off the bench in the second half to break up a close ball game.

The rangy sophomore from Muskegon Heights hit for two quick baskets to give the Wolverines a working margin early in the half and then went on to total 11 points for the night.

Pontiac Chief Wrestlers Back in Action Thursday

Winless Pontiac High School wrestling team returns to action Thursday in a match at Garden City. Also making its first 1957 appearance will be strong Hazel Park which travels to Port Huron.

Despite three straight setbacks, Coach Bill Wilson's PHS grapplers are expected to make things interesting for every opponent the rest of this first season in the sport.

Chiefs have gained valuable experience in bowing to three of Michigan's top prep mat teams and scored a total of 30 points in the process.

Defending state champion Ypsilanti and regional king Berkley have been among the Pontiac conquerors.

Mel Nosenchuck, a 133-pounder, Dave Payne, 120, heavyweight Willie Duncan, Don Herron, 165, and Duke Reilyea, 175, have been the local scorers thus far, with speedy 95-pounder Jack Keller another top performer. Nosenchuck and Reilyea upset two Ypsi boys in the final pre-holiday match.

Hazel Park is fresh from a fine showing in the big Southeastern Michigan Amateur Wrestling Association tourney last weekend. Veteran 154-pounder Jim Thompson and Andy Sedden, 175, won titles in the big event.

Mikes, St. Fred Resume Cage Rivalry

The new year will be scarcely four days old when two arch-rivals get together on the basketball court.

* * *

St. Michael and St. Frederick, a pair of bitter cross-town foes, will resume their traditional rivalry Friday night in a Suburban Catholic League encounter at the Pontiac High School gymnasium.

It will be the 1st of two meetings between the north and south side schools this season. They clash again Feb. 8, also in the spacious PHS gym.

For the 1st time in several reunions, St. Fred will find itself in the favorite's role, slight though it may be.

Past records mean nothing when these two schools collide in any kind of sport, but better scoring punch and superior height give the Rams an edge for this one.

Sparked by center Bill Mountain and forward Tom Derocher, the Rams have rolled to three victories in four games. Their lone defeat was a 54-46 setback at the hands of Highland Park St. Benedict, pre-season choice for the SCL title. Hazel Park St. Rita, Ferndale St. James and Royal Oak St. Mary have been their victims.

Mountain, a 6-foot-2 transfer student from Pontiac High who becomes ineligible at the end of the 1st semester, is Oakland County's leading scorer with 100 points, an average of 25 per game.

Derocher is averaging 14.1 per contest with a total of 57 points.

St. Mike is undefeated in three starts, but the toughest part of the schedule lies ahead. The Shamrocks own easy wins over Detroit St. Agatha, St. Rita and Center Line St. Clement.

Chuck Brown and Dan Dropps, St. Mike's only returning regulars, have been the sparkplugs of the attack. Brown has accounted for 44 points, a 14.2 average, while Dropps is averaging 13 per game on 39 points.

The Mikes are defending SCL co-champions with St. Benedict.

Rookies Spark Celtic Revival

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Celtics, spurred by rookie talent, today are back to making the National Basketball Assn. Eastern Division race a shambles after sagging to within a game and a half of second place a week ago.

Bill Russell, Olympian and former San Francisco All-America, and Tom Heinsohn, an All-America with Holy Cross last season, were the difference last night as the Celtics laced their nearest Eastern rivals, the Philadelphia Warriors, 100-87. It was Boston's fourth straight win.

In other NBA action, Rochester boosted its Western Division lead to a game, defeating St. Louis 102-101 in overtime after blowing a 24-point lead.

'56 Record Outdoors Year

Increasing demands on Michigan's natural resources received new emphasis during 1956 as record numbers of persons sought outdoor recreation. That's the word of Michigan's Conservation Department.

Public fishing sites and other recreational facilities often were crowded to the bursting point. Growing populations and increased leisure time meant even heavier pressure on existing recreatinoal opportunities and magnified the need for expansion of facilities.

Complicating this need for more and better opportunities for outdoor recreation, however, is the problem of financing these developments. Rising costs in all fields make even the present level of operation impossible without new revenues.

During the year, millions of persons jammed state parks, with the many parks in the Pontiac area among the most popular.

Progress in the state parks program was marked by the establishment of two new areas—Van Riper park in Marquette county and Muskallonge Lake park in Luce county. The state Conservation Commission also worked out plans for leasing 1280 acres of Fort Custer, near Battle Creek, from the U. S. Army for use as a recreation area.

More than 1,000,000 hunters enjoyed their sport with varied success in Michigan during the year. Hunters bagged some 70,000 deer in 1956, including 12,000 during special seasons.

Pheasants, Michigan's most popular game birds, were down in numbers, but hunters took an estimated 900,000 ringnecks. Grouse populations indicated an upward swing in their population cycle is on the way and rabbits were fairly abundant.

Land purchases during the year expanded many public hunting areas and provided acreage for waterfowl flooding projects and other game habitat improvements.

Research projects in game and fish sought solutions for many problems resulting from increased hunting and fishing pressure.

Fishing opportunities were improved during the year with water frontage acquisitions boosting the total number of public fishing sites to more than 650.

Field administration division strengthened its law enforcement operation with the additional of 43 new conservation officers, graduated from their training school in July. The recruits boosted the total officer force to 200.

$200,000 Paid for Bounties

LANSING — Hunters and trappers collected $18,675 from the state in bounty payments during November.

November payments boosted the bounty total to date this year to about $200,000. In 1955, bounty payments cost the state $176,000 for the entire year.

Bounty fees are paid for foxes, wolves and coyotes taken anywhere in the state and for bobcats taken in the upper peninsula. Bobcats are protected in the Lower Peninsula except during a Dec. 15-March 15 hunting season.

November payments included $12,080 for 2,416 foxes, $5,855 for 331 coyotes, $675 for 135 bobcats and $65 for four wolves. All wolves and bobcats and 255 of the coyotes were bagged in the U. P. Some 76 coyotes were taken in the Lower Peninsula and foxes are bountied generally throughout the state.

1957 Outdoors Future Topic for Speculation

By JACK PATTERSON

First of all we'd like to ask what in the world you'd write about in the waning hours of New Year's Day. We tried unsuccessfully to pass on the onerous duty of writing this column to a collection of sometime hunters and huntresses at a "recovery" festival at Bruce Annett's. Sort of a guest columnist idea, you know. Only trouble was we couldn't find anybody willing to put three words together, let alone the 800 or so necessary to fill this space.

PATTERSON

So there you are, or rather, here we are, wishing we were somewhere, or somebody, else. We could, of course, beg the issue a bit by adopting the old gimmick of summing up the year past or predicting what lies ahead.

To take care of the first absurdity we feel it necessary only to mention that anyone who went outdoors long enough to go to the grocery store is fully aware that we had a bad summer, poor for fishing, an off-again, on-again fall that saw poor upland bird shooting, a miserable deer season and a waterfowl season that was everything but what the experts predicted.

As far as predicting the future we know as much about it as our neighbor's dog.

But it doesn't matter much anyway. The past is out of our hands and the future's promise lies not so much in what it will bring as in what we hope it will bring. The fly tier at his vise toils unaware of winter's chill.

He lives in a land of eternal springtime where lilac leaves are always the size of a hound-dog's ear and shadblow blooms forever besides still, secret pools. Each new creation has a sure and potent charm that will bring to net at last the speckled triumph of a lifetime's fishing endeavor.

The fact that the flies will rest forgotten in a dusty corner or live in an alder bush is of no significance. Here and now they are potent medicine and the magic they'll work on a sunny someday is as real as yesterday.

The upland gunner's world is more divided. He alternately follows staunch pointers through the stubble fields of a golden Saskatchewan afternoon, game pocket heavy with sharptails and chickens, and ghosts along the edge of the cedars in our own northland, with one more pat to fill the limit.

And maybe most of all the wildfowler, in his gray, watery and windy world feels the promise of his new season so many months away. In his heart he knows full well that the great days of offshore battery gunning are gone forever, but right now in winter's darkness it's just possible, he thinks, that some combination of things will come to pass and the cold windy days will know the big rigs once again.

Unusual Facts About Wildlife

A white elephant is not white. It is generally a pale yellowish-gray, with pink spots.

The great blue heron is the largest American heron. It stands some four feet high and has a wingspread of about six feet. It puts its long bill to good use in spearing food in shallow water and defending itself.

The bite of the short-tailed shrew is poisonous, owing to a secretion in the salivary glands.

The great teeth of the hippopotamus, which weigh up to seven pounds each and have a length of more than 30 inches on the curve, were formerly used for dental ivory and are still used for ivory ornaments.

Early Egyptians made an idol of the cat because their food depended on the annual grain harvest. Cats kept swarms of rats and mice from eating the nation's sustenance.

The Greenland Ptarmigan molt three times a year. They have black and yellow feathers in the spring, gray in the fall and are pure white each winter.

'Free Lunch' Loses Its Lure as Snow Comes

LANSING — Snow can chase deer away from a "free lunch" counter, according to reports from the federal Fish and Wildlife Service on game studies conducted during the last year.

In a federal aid research project reported to the Fish and Wildlife Service, attempts were made in South Dakota to set up winter feeding stations for deer in the Black Hills.

Feeding stations were stocked with alfalfa hay, dry corn on the cob and an especially prepared deer concentrate. South Dakota authorities found that all went fairly smoothly until a heavy snowfall, when deer turned their backs on the well-stocked feeding stations and moved down into ranch country.

The deer apparently were willing to take "potluck" in the low country, rather than sure feed in the snowy hills, the report concluded.

New Licenses Available

LANSING — Michigan's 1957 fishing licenses and fish law digests are now available from any of the state's 4,200 license dealers. A resident license, good for all species except trout, costs $1.50. A similar annual license for nonresidents is $4 and the 15-day nonresident permit costs $3.

Wildlife Body Meets March 4

Conservation General Theme for Conference in Washington, D.C.

LANSING — The 22nd North American Wildlife Conference has been scheduled for March 4-6 in Washington, D. C., according to the Wildlife Management Institute.

These international conservation meetings are attended by natural resource authorities, outdoor writers and sportsmen from almost all the States, the provinces of Canada, Mexico and Alaska.

Theme for the conference is, "Conservation Is Everyone's Business," and three general and six technical sessions have been scheduled to cover many phases of soil, water, wildlife and forest management and restoration. All sessions of the three-day meeting are open to the public without charge.

New Marine Directory Aid to Boat Owners

NEW YORK — The world's first complete marine directory is featured in the January boat show issue of a national boating magazine, on the stands Thursday.

The directory section contains more than 1,000 illustrations and 2,500 listings of all boats, equipment and accessories on the market. Up till now, it is pointed out, there has been no attempt to provide a complete buying guide for the estimated 28 million Americans who take part in pleasure boating.

More than 3,000 manufacturers and suppliers of marine equipment were contacted for accurate information on products, specifications and prices. The resultant guide to the boating market is divided into sections on boats, engines and outboard motors, deck fittings and accessories, trailers, navigation equipment, and miscellaneous supplies and gear. Everything from Honduras mahogany to marine insurance is listed and prices range from an 85c boat cover clamp to a $72,000 56-foot motor yacht.

Porcupines Are Target

TORONTO (AP) — The Ontario Lands and Forests Dept. has asked hunters to shoot porcupines on sight, to combat an invasion by the animals in southern Ontario. The prickly creatures do considerable damage to trees and often kill hunting dogs.

WINTER BEAUTY — Mere presence of Bonnie Elliott on Michigan's ski slopes is a telling argument on behalf of the state's expanding winter sports industry. And while the Michigan Tourist Council doesn't exactly promise such comely winter sports company, it can guarantee plenty of snow and slopes. Sixty well equipped winter sports centers — 14 of them new this year — will be catering to the cold weather set in Michigan this winter. Miss Elliott, incidentally, was last year's Michigan winter sports queen. She hails from Petoskey.

New Books on the Outdoors

Among the newest books concerning outdoors are the history of water conservation (Water for America) by Edward H. Graham and William R. Van Dersal, and W. M. Charlesworth's book on retrievers (Golden Retrievers).

Others include Walter Taylor's "Deer of North America;" "Hawks, Owls and Wildlife," Frank and John Craighead; "Pheasants in North America," edited by Durward L. Allen; Lyle K. Sowls' "Prairie Ducks."

Bill Reichart, University of North Dakota hockey star, set the school record for a single game by scoring seven goals. He did it in 1954 against Duluth Branch of the University of Minnesota.

Ringnecks Aid Research

2 Seen Near Statehouse

LANSING—Two cock pheasants were seen in downtown Lansing last week, about 200 yards from the front steps of the state Capitol.

Victor S. Janson, who coincidentally took charge of the Conservation Department's pheasant research program on the following day, reported seeing the two wild birds, thoroughly surrounded by concrete and civilization.

The nearest, and only, grass within shotgun distance was the Capitol lawn and the birds were obviously not headed that direction. One flew up and perched on the Hotel Wentworth's marquee sign, the other sailed around the corner toward the Grand River, 50 feet from the hotel.

Janson, formerly assistant to the Department's regional game supervisor in southern Michigan, replaced Ralph Blouch, who was recently placed in charge of the Houghton Lake Wildlife station.

Trading Active in Grain Pit

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains had a firm tone on the board of trade today and dealings were a little more active than in the recent very slow sessions.

Soybeans moved ahead a little more than a cent at one time while wheat scored fractional gains. Feed grains were mixed at the start and then went slightly above the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ⅝ higher, March $2.41, corn ⅛ to ⅜ higher, March $1.35¼, oats unchanged to ¼ higher, March 77¼, rye ¼ to ⅞ higher, March $1.45¾, soybeans 1⅛ to 2¼ higher, January $2.46¼, and lard 7 to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $14.72.

Prospects the Eisenhower administration would ask Congress for an expanded foreign economic aid program, particularly with respect to the Middle East, apparently imparted a firm tone to the grain market in early dealings.

Soy beans moved ahead despite the fact 2,105,000 bushels of cash beans were tendered on January futures. Early strength in soybean oil was a help to soybeans. The trade felt there still was a big export business to be put through in bean oil over the next several months.

Prices Mixed in Early Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices showed a mixed tendency in moderately active trading early today in the stock market.

Pivotal issues fluctuated fractionally. Some selected issues made bigger gains at the opening than fell away.

As the market made its 1957 debut, the opening was fairly active then turnover slowed down as some of the best gains were pared.

Some shipbuilding issues stepped ahead as it was reported the industry has enough orders to keep it operating near capacity for three years. Bath Iron Works was up 3 points then trimmed a fraction from this gain. American Shipbuilding gained around a point.

After its initial rise, however, the market showed little response to these factors. Lukens Steel lost all of its first leap of 2⅝. Bethlehem dropped its initial fractional advance.

U. S. Steel fell a point after opening unchanged.

Opening blocks included Gulf Oil unchanged at 123⅞ on 2,000 shares, Bethlehem Steel up ¼ at 198¾ on 1,800, and Republic Aviation up ⅝ at 31 on 1,300.

LANSING — A half billion dollar increase in operating costs dropped the railroads' net income of 3.95 per cent in 1956 below that of the preceding year, despite a sharp increase in revenues, the Michigan Railroads Association reported today.

Operating net totaled $1,065 million against $1,128 million in 1955, with gross revenues running above 10½ billion. Frieght movement last year showed a 5.4 per cent increase and passenger revenues, a 1.6 per cent increase over those in the year before.

Last year the lines moved 37,775,000 carloads of frieght, a total of 650 billion ton-miles. Revenue passenger miles totaled 28.5 billion, a fraction under 1955.

During the year the lines spent $1.3 billion on additions and betterments, bringing their total of capital expenditures since the end of World War II to above $12 billion. Included in last year's purchases were 55,000 new freight cars. End of the year finds them with orders for 110,000 additional new cars on their books.

The railroads' national tax bill reached a total of $1,130,000,000 during 1956.

Rayburn Denies Powell Censure

Says Democrats Plan No Penalty to 'Straying' House Member

WASHINGTON (INS)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn puts the quietus today on any plans to punish Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N. Y.) for supporting President Eisenhower's campaign for re-election.

Rayburn, prior to a caucus of Democratic house members, said that he was sure the Harlem congressman would not be censured for bolting the party this past fall. The Negro congressman expressed displeasure over the Democratic civil rights stand.

The Texas Democrat commented on reported plans to punish him: "That's not the way we do business in the Democratic party."

Both parties caucus in the House today—the Democrats in the morning and the Republicans in the afternoon. They will re-elect leaders and name key employes as well as discuss plans for the coming session.

Rayburn's statement backing Powell came even before some 50 officials of the Ministers National Civil Rights Conference called on Democratic House leaders to urge that Powell's seniority and committee assignments not be taken away from him.

The group, representing Negro churches from across the country, is part of more than 300 meeting in Washington to protest Powell's loss of patronage and urge Congress to pass civil rights legislation.

Prosecutor Orders Test for Nancy Rizzo

DETROIT (INS)—Sixteen-year-old Nancy Rizzo of Detroit, will be placed in a Dearborn sanitarium and given complete psychiatric examination before any decision is made on whether to prosecute her for slashing of her mother.

The girl's uncle, assistant prosecutor Angelo Pentolino, made the disclosure today.

Mrs. Rizzo, who is recovering in a hospital, first told police Nancy cut her with a knife, but later changed her story and said she did not see her assailant.

Nancy has steadfastly denied she attacked her mother.

Video Leaves No Time for Movie Making or Vacationing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—In 18 months, Clint Walker has starred in the equivalent of 28 feature Westerns. And frankly, he's kinda saddle-sore.

Clint is the giant economy-size hunk of man who stars fortnightly on the Warner Brothers Presents hour, "Cheyenne," on ABC Tuesday nights. It is the sole survivor of the original three-part show ("Casablanca' and "King's Row" were the other segments) and has racked up amazing ratings.

"I'm grateful for the show," said Clint over a large tomato juice—his only lunch, "but I'm also pretty tired.

"I've had only a week's vacation in a year and a half. It takes seven or eight days to film the show and we have to do one every two weeks. The other days are taken up with sound dubbing, tests, publicity and personal appearances.

"It's been a tough go, and I don't see how the situation is going to get any better if the show continues. I have been promised a feature picture, but there would be no time to do one under the present schedule."

Clint admitted he would like to escape the series.

"There are many disadvantages for an actor," he said. "We often start a show without a finished script and I'll get my lines 15 minutes before I'm supposed to say them. And you don't have time to perfect. Many times I know I could do a scene better if I had just one more take. But we have to hurry along.

* * *

"That's why I want to tackle a feature. I figure if I can handle dialogue on 15 minutes' notice and with one take, I surely ought to be able to get by in a feature."

Oak Park Girl Wins $16,000 on TV Quiz

OAK PARK (AP)—Susan Sandler, 13, again proved herself an expert on horse racing last night, winning $16,000 on the television show "$64,000 Question."

She has until next week to decide whether to stand pat or try for $32,000.

Susan was asked last night to name the only two horses listed in the American racing manual which were honored as "horse of the year" in more than one year.

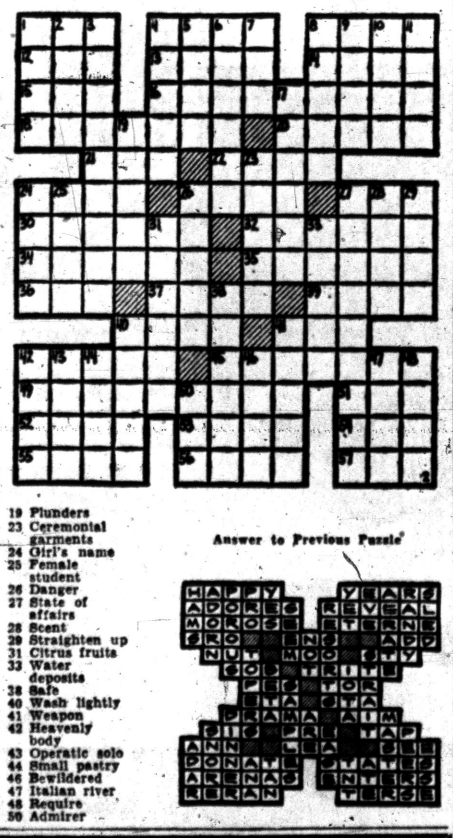

She promptly named Chaledon for 1939 and 1940 and Whirlaway fo 941 and 1942.

As the second part of the question she named without hesitation all horses which have won the honor since 1946.

Susan has never owned a horse nor witnessed a horse race.

Freighter's Hull Damaged

Ice Floe Pounds Ships of U. S. Fleet in Antarctica

By DON GUY

MCMURDO SOUND, Antarctica (AP)—A great ice floe, driven by near-hurricane winds, slammed the U. S. Navy freighter Arneb against the coast of Antarctica's frozen Ross Sea New Year's Day. An iceberg ripped a five-foot hole and a series of cracks in the Arneb's hull.

The powerful icebreaker Northwind crunched to the side of the stricken ship. Ice chunks bent one of the Northwind's propellers. Today, both ships were trapped in the grinding ice pack, struggling to fight free.

Capt. Nels C. Johnson of the Arneb radioed that water was trickling through the cracked seams, but pumps had the flooding under control.

The jagged hole was above the waterline on the starboard side. The Arneb's crew mustered in the holds to shift the cargo and shore up the torn sides with timbers.

The Arneb's propeller and one engine were damaged.

The Northwind — one of the Navy's most powerful icebreakers able to smash through ice many feet thick—apparently did not suffer structural damage. But the pressure of the wind-driven ice was so great neither ship could maneuver.

The scene of the battle against ice and sea was near Cape Hallett at the northwest end of the Ross Sea, 500 miles north of this U.S. base. Capt. Johnson, of Alexandria, Va., sent this account by radio:

His ship was making its way toward the Knox Coast, 1,000 miles to the west, to establish a U.S. base for the International Geophysical Year.

It was buffeted by 70 m.p.h. winds.

The 100 - square - mile ice floe came down on the Arneb swiftly, from across miles of open sea.

If the Northwind can clear a path, the Arneb will try to seek shelter inside Cape Hallett to make repairs.

The Ross ice shelf is a solid chunk of ice more than 1,000 feet thick, shaped like a triangle, each side 500 miles long. Last year the Navy tanker Nespelen was trapped by shifting ice in the same fashion and lost more than 100,000 gallons of aviation gasoline before icebreakers freed it.

The Arneb, based at Davisville, R.I., is an attack cargo ship about 450 feet long, designed to carry heavy tanks and equipment into combat areas.

U.S. Group in Paris Survey Aid Program

PARIS (AP)—President Eisenhower's special foreign aid surveyors today investigated French needs.

The group, headed by Benjamin Fairless, retired chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, conferred with American experts in Paris. Among those they met were men arranging emergency oil shipments to France.

Other members of the President's Citizens Advisory Committee on the European tour are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mines Workers; Jesse W. Itapp, vice chairman of the board of the Bank of America, and Colgate W. Darden, president of the University of Virginia.

The committee goes to West Germany tomorrow.

Eisenhower appointed the group in September to re-examine the foreign aid program and to recommend possible changes. The report is due March 1.

Writes His Own Ticket for Parking Too Long

ALBANY, Ga. (INS) — Traffic policeman E. H. Jeter is still miffed about a parking violation ticket he wrote out during the last days of 1956.

Finding three cars in a row which were beside meters showing time expired, he wrote out three tickets. Only after returning to the station and turning in his duplicate tickets did Jeter realize that one of the cars was his own.

Tempest Wrecks Raft; Believe 20 Oilmen Killed

BAHREIN (AP)—A midnight tempest in the Persian Gulf wrecked a 1½-million dollar oil-drilling raft and was believed today to have killed 20 oil workers.

The disaster may force the abandonment of a four - year search for oil beneath the sea on which the Shell Oil Co. has invested more than 25 million dollars.

U.N. Assembly Resumes Work

New Council Members Favor West; to Discuss Disarmament, Colonies

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y (INS) — The U. N. General Assembly returns today from its holiday recess hopeful the new year may bring solutions of the Middle East, Hungarian and other world problems.

First order of business is the summoning of the powerful 80-nation political committee for its first meeting of the current assembly session to deal with disarmament and the explosive problems of Cyprus and Algeria.

The advent of the new year also finds three pro-western allies added to the membership of the Security Council: The Philippines, Iraq and Columbia. The three countries succeed Yugoslavia, Iran and Peru on the 11-nation council. Sweden is a fourth addition.

Russias continue d dfoeefianc

Russia's continued defiance of the U. N. over Hungary has aroused a storm of indignation from assembly diplomats and is expected to come again before the global organization for further action.

Cuban delegate Emilio Nunez-Portuondo has declared he will propose suspension of the puppet Budapest regimes U. N. delegation and sanctions against the Soviet Union as the perpetrator of the Hungarian bloodbath.

The U. S. for its part is studying ways of bringing officially before the assembly testimony from Hungarian exiles such as Mrs. Anna Kethly, a member of the ousted government of premier Imre Nagy. Mrs. Kethly has offered to testify on Soviet repression in Hungary.

Strike Looms Today for Canadian Pacific

MONTREAL (AP)—Operations on the Canadian Pacific Railway's 17,000-mile network ground toward a halt today in preparation for a 4 p.m. strike call. Nearly half of Canada's rail system was affected.

Both union and management representatives continued to express hope for a last-minute settlement, but there appeared to be little prospect for an agreement.

About 3,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen have been alerted to walk out in protest against a company plan to reduce the number of firemen in its diesel locomotive operations on freight and yard service.

Practically all those involved in the strike action are firemen, but other unions made clear they would not cross the firemen's picket lines. About 75,000 employes will be affected if the shutdown is complete.

Wage demands also have been in dispute but are not an issue in the strike.

Long haul operations were halted yesterday by the railway. The only runs operating today were those where terminal points could be reached before the strike deadline.

Traffic Fatalities Lowered in State

'56 Averages Show Cut of Over 10 Per Cent From Previous Year

LANSING (UP) — Highway traffic deaths in Michigan in 1956 were cut by more than 10 per cent over the previous year.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams says the percentage may rise to 12 to 13 per cent after final figures are in.

A preliminary year-end report by the state police shows a reduction of 281 lives from the 1955 figure of 2,004 highway deaths.

"More deaths will be recorded as final accident reports are compiled," the governor said. "But it appears certain we shall end the year with a saving in the neighborhood of 250 lives — a 12 or 13 per cent reduction."

Calling the traffic law enforcement in the state "vigorous but reasonable and fair," Williams said the percentage saving of lives appears to be the greatest in any state for 1956.

The governor said the main weapons in the enforcement campaign "are increased State Police patrols; better control of driver licensing and suspension of licenses from dangerous drivers, use of National Guard troops to reenforce state police and sheriff's road patrols and widespread publicity."

He credited newspapers, radio and television with cooperating "nobly."

Williams made no specific reference to the highway speed limits which went into effect last February.

Waters of the Great Salt lake in Utah are said to contain as much as 23 per cent salt. By contrast the average salt content of the Atlantic ocean is only about 3.6 per cent.

Appeals to Hungarians to Return to Homeland

VIENNA (INS) — Hungarian President Istvan Dobi appealed today to refugees who have fled their Soviet-oppressed homeland to return to Hungary.

Speaking over radio Budapest, Dobi said Western propaganda had deceived the refugees by "promising them an agreeable and comfortable life."

He added:

"Most of those who have left have neither work nor home nor hope of finding them. In the name of the government I ask all of them to return to Hungary."

Heck! What's the Use of Being a Prince?

SANDRINGHAM, England (UP) — Young Prince Charles' Christmas-New Year's holiday was ended early.

Michael Farebrother, headmaster of an exclusive boys preparatory school, reported to the Norfolk country home of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh to tutor and act as companion for the eight-year-old boy for the next two weeks.

Prince Charles will resume his normal work schedule with his governess when the family returns to Buckingham Palace in two weeks.

Canadian Toll Hits 46

TORONTO (UP) — At least 46 accidental deaths were reported in Canada for the four-day New Year's holiday. It was the second highest total in history, but substantially below the 61 killed during the three-day celebration last year. Traffic accidents took the biggest toll — 27 lives. A year ago 39 died on the roads.

Shipping Firm to Get 16 More Freighters

CLEVELAND (UP)—Wilson Transit Co. confirmed yesterday it is negotiating to acquire the 16 lake freighters of the Great Lakes Steamship Co.

That would give Wilson a fleet of 30 cargo ships, third largest on the Great Lakes.

The 16 Great Lakes Co. ships represent 169,200 tons of cargo capacity per trip and would bring the combined fleet of Wilson a potential capacity of 325,100 tons.

Pittsburgh Steamship Division of U.S. Steel Corp. has the biggest capacity at 777,500 tons and Interlake Steamship Co. is second with 391,300.

Vets' Enrollment High

WASHINGTON (UP) — A record total of 760,600 veterans with service during the Korean fighting enrolled this fall for education and training under the GI Bill, the Veterans Administration reported today.
