Mr. Tinsman was comptroller at Oakland Motor Car Co., now Pontiac Motor Division, from 1911 to 1921. Midwest Snow Kills 2; Isolates 37 Communities

'Smaze' Shrouds East; Wintry Storm Smothers Plains States

By UNITED PRESS

A vicious wintry storm piled up to nine inches of snow in the Midwest today, caused at least two deaths and cut off long distance telephone communications to 37 communities.

Meanwhile East Coast residents coughed and rubbed their eyes in the midst of a thick "smaze" that settled over the North Atlantic seaboard.

The storm raking the nation's midsection rolled out of the Rocky Mountains, ending a week of perfect Indian Summer weather. The temperature fell to 15 below at Big Piney, Wyo., and 13 below at Laramie, Wyo., and generally cold weather covered the northern and central plains.

Snow and sleet fell on parts of North and South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, and Minnesota. Up to nine inches of snow were reported in parts of Nebraska and the storm knocked out communications to at least 21 towns in Minnesota and at least 16 in South Dakota.

At least two auto fatalities were blamed on the snow and cold, hard-driving rain.

Mike Dancula, 30, Chicago, was fatally injured Friday when his car skidded on a snow-glazed highway near Virginia, Minn., and slammed into a power pole.

At Superior, Wis., Mrs. Bernice Ripley, 30, Superior, was killed Friday night when her car skidded on a rain-slicked highway into the baggage car of a Soo line passenger train.

Two jet airmen were feared dead as a new snow storm swept into the Southwest. Their T-33 jet training plane, based at Big Spring, Tex., lost its way in the storm about 20 miles from Albuquerque, N. M. The plane was presumed to have crashed and an Air Force spokesman said the men were feared dead because "when a jet crashes it comes down fast."

However, the new storm was not expected to gather much strength, Weather Bureau officials said it was confined to light snow flurries in Southwest Colorado and mixed rain and snow in New Mexico.

The Midwest storm struck hardest at the Dakotas and parts of western Minnesota today.

There were 8,200 broken telephone lines west and north of Sioux Falls, S. D., and the Northern States Power Co. reported numerous broken power lines in the Canistota region. Inch-thick ice coated power lines in other regions, cutting off service to 45,000 consumers in the East River Electric Power Co-op region.

2 Stores Robbed by Bandit Pair

Thugs Hold Up Grocery 2 Hours After Looting Drugstore

Two armed bandits escaped with an unestimated amount of money after holding up a drugstore and threatening to shoot all three employes last night, Pontiac Police reported today.

Eugene H. Cole, owner of the drugstore at 501 S. Saginaw St., said the thugs brandished revolvers and "forced us to lie on the floor while they took the money from two cash registers."

He said the pair first inquired about a rare type of wine and bought a bottle of liquor before the holdup.

Cole said that there is usually a "flow of customers in the store during Friday night and it seemed funny that no one entered the store until the two men ran out."

Employes who were ordered to remain still on the floor are Phillip Lazirry, 42, pharmacist, and William Lambouris, 15, soda fountain worker.

Two hours after the drugstore robbery, the same two men were reported in a holdup at the Home Service grocery store, 43 Orchard Lake Ave., according to Pontiac Detective Allen D. Noble.

Store owner Donald L. Collier, told Noble that he and a customer were forced to lie on the floor while the thugs snatched $100 from the cash register and fled.

Snow Is Expected Late Sunday Night

Snow and cold weather is forecast for the Pontiac area Sunday.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts temperatures in the 40s tomorrow, and snow late that night. The wintry blast, moving toward Pontiac from Canada, is expected to arrive tonight, dipping the mercury into the 30s.

Friday, the mercury rose from a low of 46 to a high of 66 degrees in the city.

At 8 a.m. today the temperature stood at 49. But at 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac the mercury registered 52 degrees.

New Program 'Streamlined,' Says Wilson

Secretary Tells Group Administration Makes Defense Progress

DETROIT (AP) — Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson last night described the "model change-over" program of the Eisenhower administration in revamping the nation's defense program.

The former General Motors executive spoke to a meeting of the Automotive Parts Manufacturers Association.

Wilson said the Republican administration was making progress on its program of expanded national security with reduced expenditures and fewer personnel.

Summing up the changes in the Defense Department during the first nine months of his tenure, Wilson said:

"Of course the new model is snappy and streamlined. It has more horse power and better acceleration. The engine has a high compression head and new spark plugs. It has better lubrication and less internal friction.

"The new model is designed to meet all requirements, and as usually claimed by the sales and advertising departments, it has better value per pound. In fact, it is designed to sell for less, even though it is superior."

Wilson insisted that the nation's security would be maintained despite defense spending cuts contemplated and already in effect.

"The fiscal 1954 budget for the Defense Department, approved by Congress, amounted to $34,500,000,000." Wilson said, "more than $6,500,000,000 less than the budget recommended last January by the previous administration.

"The Defense Department feels sure, with these new funds and other funds previously made available to it by Congress, a continuing increase in military strength can be achieved."

Wilson said Defense Department experts were at work now in preparing the "security" budget for the fiscal year 1955.

"We hope the expenditure rate for our total defense effort is at or near the peak," Wilson said.

"We have no plans at present to increase the number of combat units of the Army, Navy and Marines. But we do plan on building up their military effectiveness with better equipment, some new weapons, and a better planning of reserve components," Wilson said.

"The strength of the Air Force is to continue to increase both through an increase in the number of combat wings and through better equipment."

Trieste Jobless Beset Mayor

Demonstrators Besiege City Hall for Increase in Relief Rolls

TRIESTE (AP) — Jobless Triestini shouting "hunger, hunger" marched on city hall today in the third straight day of demonstrations for an increase in relief rolls in the disputed city.

An estimated 500 demonstrators beseiged the building demanding to see Mayor Gianni Bartoli, an Italian. A guard of 100 Civil Police barred their entrance but a delegation was allowed to interview Bartoli.

The marchers claimed to represent 17,000 unemployed persons in the city, where more than 1,000 civilian employes of the Allied Military Government have lost their jobs since Britain and the United States decided Oct. 8 to pull their tropps out of the territory's Zone A and turn it over to Italy.

Italian sources, however, claimed the demonstrations were politically motivated. They charged the leaders were either pro-Moscow Communists or persons favoring Yugoslav claims on the Trieste territory.

Deputies Search for Three Youths in Grass Fires

Oakland County sheriff's deputies today are looking for three youths believed to have set 10 grass fires in Waterford Township between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. yesterday.

All the township's fire-fighting equipment was called to put out the blazes, located in a four-square mile area between Crescent road and Williams Lake road near Elizabeth Lake road, according to Waterford Township Fire Chief Rudolph F. Boss.

Boss said he notified the sheriff's department to be on the lookout for the youths when a Lockhaven road resident reported seeing three boys of high school age set one fire and drive off in a car.

Boss said the fires, some of which spread over two or three acres, were started with paper torches.

21 Raids Smash Mutuels Ring

50 Arrested in Detroit as Police Moves Climax 18-Month Investigation

DETROIT (AP)—A total of 21 raids by Detroit and state police last night smashed a "multi-million dollar mutuels ring" as 50 persons were arrested and more than $40,000 was confiscated.

Inspector Clayton Nowlin, of the Detroit Vice Bureau, said the police action climaxed 18 months of investigation of the "Lucky Star Mutuels Combine."

He said the Lucky Star syndicate apparently was a renewal of operations of a ring that was smashed in raids during 1948.

Seven of the raids yesterday were made on search warrants signed by recorder's Judges W. McKay Skillman and O. Z. Ide.

Police termed the remaining 14 locations raided as "stores, gasoline stations and barber shops suspected of being pick-up stations."

Nowlin said the investigations prior to the raids were so thorough that most of the suspects were arrested on street corners, in their cars, at work or in their homes.

Among those arrested were Joseph and Sam Lobaido of Detroit. They were termed key persons in the Lucky Star ring which police cracked in 1948.

The breakup of the ring in 1948 resulted in prison terms, fines and probationary sentences for 20 persons.

Police named Joseph Lobaido, 40, as head of the new syndicate. His brother Sam is held for investigation but Nowlin said he has not been connected with the ring's current operations.

Pontiac Bride, Ten Others Perish in Night Accidents

A Pontiac bride of a few hours lost her life in an Ohio auto accident and 10 persons died in Michigan traffic last night and today.

Mrs. John B. MacKnight, 39, formerly of 18 Jacokes St., was killed in a two-car crash near Fayette, Ohio, yesterday, while she and her husband, also of Pontiac, were returning here after being married in Angola, Ind.

Four of the Michigan victims were pedestrians. They are Mrs. Mabel Stephenson, 65, Detroit; Daniel Durham, 67, Clio; Harold C. Kneeland, 63, Battle Creek; and Mrs. Jane Allen, 58, Detroit.

Other state traffic victims were Wendell Lacoe, manager of an Ann Arbor auto sales firm; Jack Adams, 41, Detroit; Mrs. Helen Kiph, 62, of Elyria, Ohio; a man tentatively identified as Lewis Treece, 24, Detroit; an unidentified man fatally injured near Ypsilanti; and William Kitchen, 34, Detroit.

MacKnight, 49, of a hotel in Pontiac, told Ohio State Police shortly before lapsing into unconciousness in Detwiler Hospital, Wausaon, Ohio, that they were returning from their wedding when the accident happened.

Police said the MacKnight car skidded on a curve and collided with an auto driven by Mrs. Mary Frees, 23, of Adrian.

Mrs. MacKnight, who died of injuries received in the crash, came to Pontiac from Memphis, Tenn., and formerly lived here with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Davis.

Mrs. Stephenson died in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital early today, about nine hours after being struck down while crossing a Detroit street. The driver, John E. Pelto, 28, of Detroit, was released after witnesses told police Mrs. Stephenson ran into the path of his auto.

Kneeland was struck by a car driven by James Bohanna, 34, Battle Creek, while crossing a downtown Battle Creek intersection last night. Bohanna was held for investigation.

Durham was fatally injured yesterday while crossing M50 in Vienna Township. The motorist was Elmore Grafton, 22, Montrose.

Mrs. Allen died last night in Receiving Hospital after being struck on Detroit's west side by a car driven by Glenn W. Fahner. Fahner was held for investigation of felonious driving.

Vessels Collide on Foggy River

Report None Injured in Freighter-Barge Crash in East

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A Norwegian freighter and a barge collided in the fog-shrouded Delaware River off Tinicum Island today. No injuries were reported.

Lt. I. C. McLean of the Philadelphia Coast Guard Station said early reports indicated there was no danger of either vessel sinking.

He identified the freighter as the Grunisunda out of Stockholm, Sweden. He said the other vessel was the interstate barge No. 4 which he understood was being towed at the time of the collision.

The collision first was reported by residents of homes along the river at Paulsboro, N. J. The fog on the river was so heavy, however, that the Coast Guard and harbor patrol had to conduct a minute search for more than an hour before finding the scene of the accident.

The Grunisunda, listed in Lloyd's register as 2,394 tons, was outbound at the time while the barge was being towed upstream by a tug, the Coast Guard said.

Trailer Burns When Kerosene Stove Blows Up

Mother, 2 Other Sons, Unhurt as Temporary Home Is Destroyed

Two Royal Oak Township infants were burned to death at noon today when an explosion and flash-fire destroyed their plywood home-made housetrailer at 27767 Delton Rd.

Dead are Robert Straight, 2, and his sister, Hazel Lee, 1, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Straight.

Police Captain Robert E. Richardson and Detective Bernard Travnikar said they tried to rescue the youngsters by ripping a flaming door off the trailer.

"The fire was so hot and dense, we couldn't even get past the door," Richardson said.

By time firemen arrived, the trailer was almost burned to the ground, police said.

The children's father is hunting at Mancelona.

"We tried to get in the place with masks after the fire was practically out, but it was still so hot, we couldn't get in," the captain said.

The 35-year-old mother, Rosalee, told police she left the infants to go next door to her father-in-law's house to get milk for her children. She said she returned the milk to the house and left again to her father-in-law's house.

Police quoted her as saying she saw the fire, but by that time the entire tar roof top had completely burned.

Capt. Richardson said that a two-burner stove was setting on top of Robert's body. He had one hand on the stove. Hazel was found dead in her crib.

The mother told police that she left Robert sleeping in bed and her daughter was also asleep in the crib.

The Straights were living in the trailer temporarily while they were building a home in the township. The father, who is being notified by authorities, is employed at Ford Mound Rd. plant.

The Straights moved to Royal Oak Township three years ago from Florida. They have two other children, Kenneth Ray, 6, and Melvin Roy, 4, who were playing outside when the fire occurred. They were unhurt.

Thousand Hunting Missing Child, 3

HOLLAND (UP) — A thousand volunteers, aided by 115 National Guardsmen and sheriff's officers, pressed their search today for little Scott Rozeboom, missing since noon Friday.

The 3½-year-old, blond, blue-eyed boy disappeared while playing near his home. An urgent appeal for help in the search was made Friday evening and by 7:30 p. m., more than 1,000 persons had turned out.

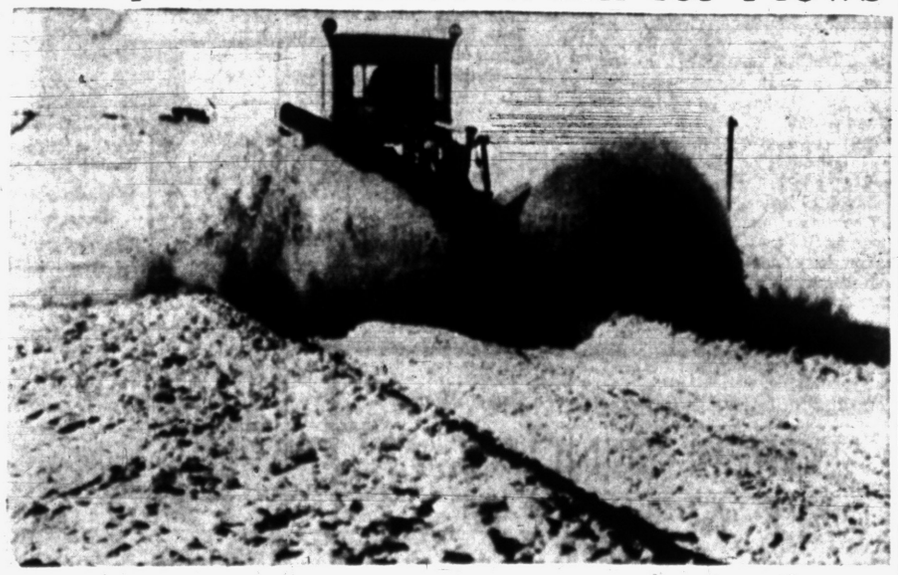

The entire Holland National Guard Company of 115 men under Capt. Russell Kampker responded. The guardsmen used walkie-talkie radios and searched around the clock.

Christmas Club Members to Get Over $1 Million

Over $1,000,000 in Christmas Club savings checks are being mailed to nearly 12,500 Pontiac area residents this week end by the two banks here.

Another 490 checks totaling $34,000 have been sent to members of its savings club by Pontiac Savings and Loan Association.

Both banks reported a large increase in Christmas Club membership and savings this year over 1952.

Community National Bank reported that it is mailing out 8,606 checks totaling $766,060, a gain of about $250,000 over last year. The bank sent out about 7,300 checks in 1952.

Pontiac State Bank said 3,842 checks carrying a total value of $319,077 will be sent to its Christmas Club members this weekend. The dollar-and-cents gain is about $28,750 over 1952, when about 3,400 checks were mailed out.

Officials at both banks said the majority of the members of the savings clubs will receive their checks the first of next week.

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—Lessons in Yankee thriftiness throughout the Birmingham school system will commence after the Christmas holidays when a systematic savings program begins.

Tuesday will be set aside as Bank Day, when children of all grades may bring sealed envelopes containing their money, deposit slip and pass book.

The program was devised by the cooperation of Supt. of Schools Dr. Dwight B. Ireland and Mrs. Edythe Crandell Peck, director of Public Relations for the Birmingham National Bank.

"Actually, it brings the bank to the school," Mrs. Peck explained, since we will pick up the envelopes at the school and process them in a special savings department in the bank."

The program will be coordinated with arithmetic classes in most grades, and is designed to give the children saving experience at a early age.

Most previous plans were abandoned because they took too much of the already overburdened teacher's time, Mrs. Peck stated, but this reduces her work to a minimum.

Entries will be made in specially designed pass books, and will be returned to the children at school.

Withdrawals may be made at the bank, and elementary and junior high school students will be required to have a parent or guardian present.

The usual rules of the savings department will apply, except that children in the program may open an account with a minimum of 10c, instead of the $1.00 usually required.

Mrs. Peck emphasized that the move is a long range program to teach the saving habit. The same passbooks may be kept as children transfer from school to school, or even when they are graduated.

For those who get the urge to "put some away for a rainy day" during the summer months, deposits may be made at the bank.

Driver of the other car, Gerald S. Udell, 44075 W. 12 Mile Rd., was treated at the hospital for an injured left ankle and later was taken to University Hospital at Ann Arbor.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies said Udell was traveling south on East Lake drive and had just passed another car when the accident happened.

LONG DISTNCE EASE — Opening Birmingham's nation wide toll dialing telephone service yesterday, local Michigan Bell head A. H. Warner holds the cross-country directory while Birmingham Mayor Pro-Tem Lance Minor places the call, by dialing the Pittsburg area code number 412, and the exchange and number of John A. Palmer there. Listening in is Ray Palmer, John's father, and well known former city official. Birmingham residents can now call 14 metropolitan areas and 13,000,000 telephones across the country without the aid of the operator.

Salt Blast From Shotgun Kills Persevering Suitor

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A handsome 24-year-old bakery employe was hit in the chest and killed last night by the blast of a shotgun shell filled with table salt.

The victim, Ernest Poor, died inside the doorway of the home of his divorcee girl friend. Sheriff's deputies said the woman's mother admitted firing the shot.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Sperling, 56, was held without bond on a preliminary charge of murder. Sgt. Richard Parker quoted her as saying:

"I'd heard it was a good thing to do, to load them with salt. You can't get hurt that way."

Parker said the shooting apprently grew out of a dispute between Poor and the woman's daughter, Mrs. Betty Horton, 28, which ended their romance.

"Ernest said he'd get me if I'd try to quit him," Parker said he was told by Mrs. Horton, the mother of three children.

He said the two women told him that Mrs. Horton had broken up with Poor after a date a week ago but that he continued trying to see her.

Mrs. Sperling and Mrs. Horton called the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon and reported that Poor was trying to get into their house in a northwestern section of the city. He was gone when deputies arrived.

Sgt. Parker said Poor apparently returned to the house later in the evening, and after being refused admittance at the front door, broke through a side door into the dining room.

The sheriff's officer said Mrs. Parker related that she emptied the buckshot from a shotgun shell and refilled it with table salt while Poor was trying to get in.

"She apparently crimped the end over the salt and loaded it in a 20-gauge shotgun," Parker said. "The muzzle must have been less than six inches from Poor's chest when the trigger was pulled."

He said the blast ripped a hole the size of a 50-cent piece in Poor's chest, tore one lung and hit his heart.

"He died instantly," Parker said. "We don't know yet whether it was the salt that killed him or the paper wadding off the shell. It was a real freak shot.

DC7 Is Fastest Piston Airliner

One American Air Lines Plane Flies 2,500 Miles in Less Than 7 Hours

LOS ANGELES (UP) — American Air Lines flew the world's fastest piston engine air liner, the Douglas to New York in 6 hours and 40 minutes.

One of the new turbo-compound-engine-powered air liners flew nonstop 2,500 miles from Los Angeles to New YORK IN 3¼ hours and 40 minutes.

The other, scheduled to make the New York-Los Angles hop non-stop in seven hours and 55 minutes, developed pressurization trouble and landed at Denver for repairs. After a three hour delay, it flew the 950 miles to Los Angles in slightly more than 2½ hours.

American carried about 50 news writers on each flight in what was designed as a preview of the nation's first regular daily non-stop service coast-to-coast in each direction, starting Nov. 29.

American said the DC7 is the only aircraft in service that can operate non-stop coast-to-coast schedules under eight hours in either direction. Several air regulations limit domestic schedules to no more than eight hours.

Asks Separate Water Survey

Broomfield Wants Study Separate From Review of Drainage Needs

Rep. William C. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) today declared that the proposed survey of water supply problems in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties should be separate from a suggested study of the three counties' drainage needs.

Broomfield asked a special meeting of the State Water Resources Commission's 13-man advisory committee be scheduled to discuss the matter. He said the problems of each are not common to each other.

The advisory committee was created recently upon Broomfield's request for a water survey of southeastern Michigan. The legislator said divorcing the two studies would reduce state aid participation costs.

Cost of the joint survey was estimated by the committee at $775,000 to be appropriated on a maching basis by the state and three counties. By confining the survey to water needs, Broomfield estimated the cost could be reduced to approximately $155,000.

Broomfield outlined his views in letters to the State Water Resources Commission and the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission.

The Royal Oak Republican said he would ask the Legislature for additional funds to help finance the sewage and drainage survey.

State Red Trial Ends 4th Week

Mrs. Baldwin, Former FBI Undercover Agent, Testifies for U. S.

DETROIT (UP) — The conspiracy trial of six Michigan Communists concluded its fourth week yesterday with the testimony of a 50-year-old Detroit grandmother who served as an undercover agent for the FBI.

Government attorneys, seeking to prove that the six defendants conspired to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the United States government, placed Mrs. Berenice Baldwin on the stand as their third witness.

Mrs. Baldwin, a Communist Party member for nine years and an FBI employe at the same time, almost at once pointed out one of the defendants, Mrs. Helen Winter, as active in Communist Party affairs.

Questioned by William Hundley, aiding U. S. District Attorney Fred W. Kaess, Mrs. Baldwin said she joined the party in 1943.

She said she assumed she lost her membership when she testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee in Washington in 1952.

Mrs. Baldwin's testimony, like that of previous government witnesses, is being introduced to furnish background information on the Communist Party for the federal court jury hearing the case.

Committees Should Get Files on All Appointees, Johnston Says

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC) urged today that FBI reports on all future presidential appointees be sent to Senate committees to prevent another Harry Dexter White from ever getting a high government post.

Johnston, a member of the Senate internal security subcommittee which is investigating the White and other spies-in-government cases, said he will formally introduce his proposal in the next session of Congress.

"I wonder why the FBI sent no report on White to the Senate Banking Committee that approved him in 1946," Johnston told newsmen. "That's where his appointment could have been easily and quickly stopped."

He said FBI reports should be sent to the chairman and at least one member of each party on the committee. Such a practice, he said, would have blocked White's promotion from assistant Treasury secretary to U. S. representative on the International Monetary Fund in 1946.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has insisted that his reports receive the most limited possible circulation to prevent inadvertent disclosures compromising FBI sources. He presumably would not favor Johnston's proposal.

Senators Enter Reservist Case

Order Full Data From Defense Department on Lt. Radulovich

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has intervened in the ouster proceedings against a Michigan Air Force reserve officer classified as a "poor security risk."

The Air Force reservist, Lt. Milo J. Radulovich of Dexter, faces ouster from the service for alleged Communist leanings of his father and sister.

A 10th Air Force hearing board last month formally recommended Radulovich's dismissal although the reservist's own loyalty has not been questioned.

Radulovich's father was said to have subscribed to Communist publications and his sister was alleged to have participated in Communist picket lines.

The dismissal recommendation currently is under review by Air Force authorities.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) yesterday informed Radulovich's attorney, Charles C. Lockwood, that the Senate committee has ordered a complete Defense Department report on the dismissal recommendations.

Lockwood quoted Russell as saying "I'm sure our common objective — a fair treatment of this individual and a maintenance of security standards necessary to the national welfare — will be achieved."

Lockwood said he had previously written to members of the armed services committee in the House and Senate.

Radulovich, a student at the University of Michigan, is married and has two children.

'Arsenal' Shocks Youth Probers

Weapons of Juvenile Gangs Include Ice Pick, Sword, Dagger, Guns

WASHINGTON (UP) — Spectators gasped during yesterday's juvenile delinquency hearing when a witness produced a homemade "zip gun" that shoots .22 cartridges, an automatic pistol, a dagger, an ice pick, a switchblade knife and a 2½ foot sword.

Kenneth Marshall, associated with the New York City Youth Board, used the arsenal to point out how rival juvenile gangs engage in no-holds-barred mass fights called "rumbles."

But sometimes the gangs just have a "fair" fight, he said — two individuals picked from each group have it out by themselves.

Why do they fight, the Senate judiciary subcommittee wanted to know. The group is investigating juvenile delinquency throughout the country to see what the federal government can do to help reduce it.

"To assert themselves, their status . . . to blow off steam," Marshall said. "If you ask most of them what the fight is about, you will find they don't know or care."

Kitchen, a Detroit DPW employe, was dead on arrival at Receiving Hospital last night. Police said he lost control of his car and smashed into a tree.

Police said Adams apparently lost control of his car on rain-slicked pavement in Highland Park and suffered fatal injuries when his car rammed a light pole.

Mrs. Kiph and her husband, Walter, were headed for Ann Arbor when their car collided with a truck on US 25 in Monroe county last night.

Treece, a nightclub entertainer, was a passenger in a car which rolled over several times and crashed into another auto waiting for a traffic light. Driver Kenneth Parker was held for investigation of manslaughter.

The unidentified victim, between 17 and 21 years old, was fatally injured last night when a car in which he was riding struck a bridge abutment.

The driver, John Robertson of Willow Village, was taken to University Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was unconcious and unable to identify his passenger.

Russians Can't See the Sights; No Eyeglasses

NEW YORK (AP)—Copies of Pravda reaching here from Moscow report no eye glasses are being sold in many cities of Russia.

The Soviet paper says the leaders of the Soviet Ministry of Health are being more near-sighted than the persons with defective vision they are supposed to provide for. It gives these examples:

Kiev student Victor Krutikov made a journey to Leningrad to see the sights and broke his glasses on the way. Because he could get no new glasses in Leningrad he had to grope his way through the city's museums.

Worker Alexandra Krutikova overfulfilled her production norms at her textile factory in Leningrad till she broke her glasses. Now she can't get new ones and is turning out shoddy goods against her will.

Galya Gromova of Leningrad, a student, is considering entering the Optics Institute. She thinks she might be able to make there the spectacles her aged father needs. She has been searching without success in Leningrad optical shops for months.

The paper says the situation is the same in many other cities. It quotes an official of the Ministry of Health as admitting only half the demand for glasses is being met.

Law Book Study Frees Convict

Prisoner Studies Legal Works in Library, Wins Own Release

MEDIA, Pa. (AP)—A Chester welder is free today because he studied law in a State Prison library.

Edward G. Hinkle, 32, was sentenced from 18 months to three years for sale and possession of marijuana cigarettes.

He read law books and learned that for his crime the State Legislature had prescribed "simple imprisonment"—meaning he should have been sent to a county jail rather than a state institution.

Hinkle got a hearing yesterday in Delaware County Court on a habeas corpus petition. He appeared before Judge William R. Toal who had sentenced him.

Hinkle told Judge Toal:

"I have served 15½ months. But because I was sentenced erroneously I am entitled, under decisions of the Superior and Supreme Courts of Pennsylvania, to two months credit for every month served.

"Therefore, I should get credit for 31 months on a 36-month sentence. I am entitled by law to three months reduction of sentence for each year served, for good behavior.

"My conduct at the eastern penitentiary has been exemplary."

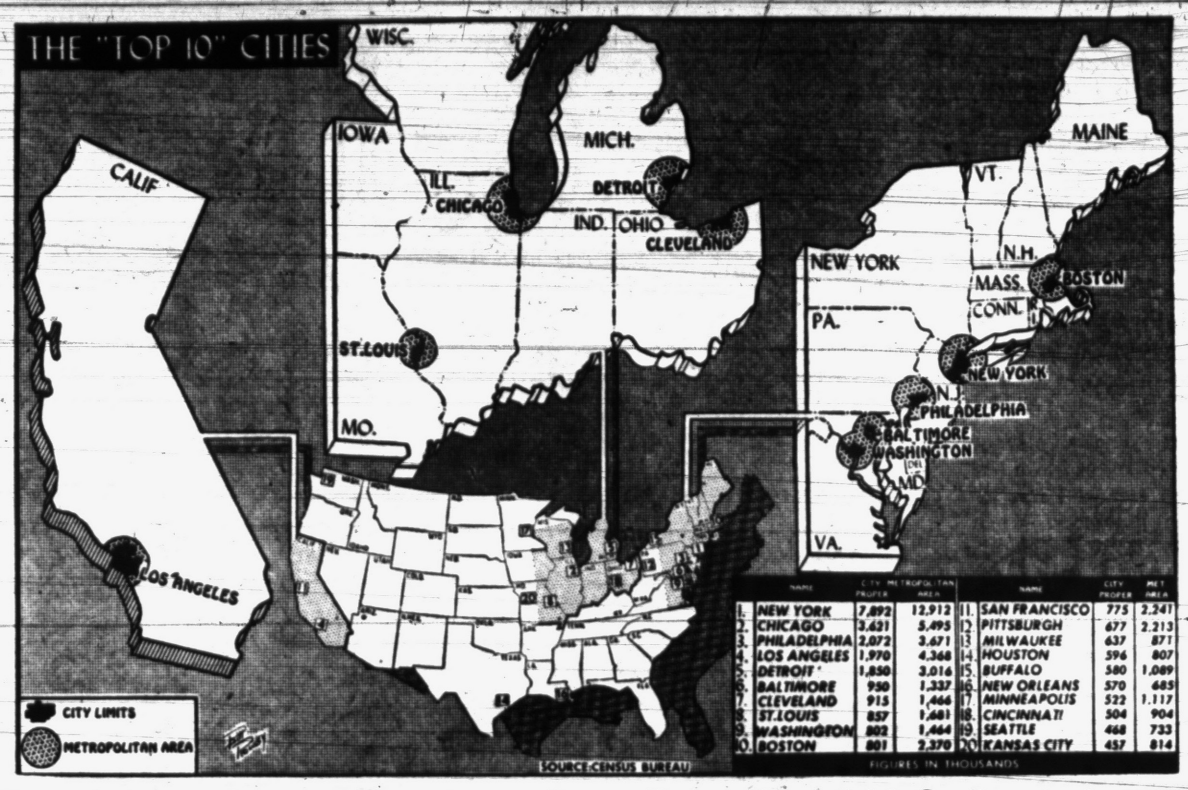

That added up to 40 months, four more than the original sentence. He was not under control of the parole board.

Ten Main Cities Contain One-Fourth of U.S. Population

By WARREN BENNETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Almost one in every four persons in the United States lives in or near one of the country's Top 10 cities.

The Top 10 and their suburban areas (shown on the accompanying map) had more than 37,780,000 people in 1950—more than one and one-half times the entire population of the country a century earlier.

The Top 10 had a combined population of 21,730,000 within their corporate limits at the time of the 1950 Census, or one-seventh of the national total.

And, extending the list, slightly more than one in every three Americans lives in or near one of the 20 largest cities.

America's No. 1 City has always been New York. It has led since the first census in 1790 and shows no signs of surrendering the leadership.

New York with nearly eight million inhabitants far outranks Chicago, its nearest rival. The midwest metropolis has less than half as many residents as New York.

Even so, Chicago has had an extraordinary history of growth, particularly in the latter half of the 19th century, when the westward push of population first started.

In the 50 years from 1840 to 1890, Chicago grew from a town of about 4,500 to a roaring, sprawling metropolis of nearly 1,100,000, displacing Philadelphia as the second biggest city in the United States. Since then, Chicago has tightened its grip on second place, doubling its population between 1890 and 1910. In 1950 it had a total of more than 3,600,000.

Los Angeles has had the fastest relative population growth of any of the Top 10 cities in the last half century. In 1900 the city had little more than 100,000 people; now it is in the two million class.

Los Angeles doubled its population in the 1920's to reach 1,240,000 in 1930 and became one of the nation's Big Five. Its rapid growth continued as the West boomed.

Los Angeles had the twin magnets of climate and industry (movies and airplane plants). Its population increased 31 per cent between 1940 and 1950 when it edged Detroit out of fourth place.

Detroit is a city whose growth has been keyed to industry—automobiles. In 1900 Detroit was the 13th largest city in the United States with a population of 286,000. By 1910 its population had increased by 180,000; in the century's second decade its growth was 528,000 and in the third 575,000.

Detroit rose to ninth place in 1910 and to fourth in 1920, retaining that position until 1950 when Los Angeles bumped it back into fifth place.

It is unlikely that there will be any new additions to the Big Five for some time, although there may be some shifts within that select group. Detroit has almost twice as many residents as Baltimore in sixth place.

Washington in ninth place with 802,000 people and San Francisco in 11th with 775,000 increased by 21 per cent and 22 per cent respectively between 1940 and 1950.

The rates of growth of other cities in the Top 10 during the last decade were New York 6 per cent, Chicago 7, Philadelphia 7, Los Angeles 31, Detroit 14, Baltimore 11, Cleveland 4, St. Louis 5 and Boston 4 per cent.

San Francisco appears a good bet to edge into the Top 10 by 1960 and a possible dark horse is Houston which increased 55 per cent in the last decade to rank 14th.

In the past decade suburban areas bordering the largest cities have grown even faster, in many cases, than the cities themselves. The Census Bureau defines a standard metropolitan area generally as a county which contains at least one city of 50,000 or more residents and of contiguous counties considered economically integrated with that city.

New York contains five counties within its city limits and its metropolitan area takes in parts of New Jersey and Connecticut. The Philadelphia metropolitan area includes Camden, N. J., San Francisco takes in Oakland and the Minneapolis area includes St. Paul.

The fastest growing metropolitan area among the nation's 20 biggest cities is San Francisco which registered a 53 per cent increase between 1940 and 1950.

The other 10 fastest growing metropolitan areas in this group with their rates of increase are Houston 52 per cent, Washington 51, Los Angeles 50, Seattle 45, Detroit 27, New Orleans 24, Baltimore 24, Minneapolis 19 and Kansas City, Mo., 19.

Board to Consider Hiss Parole Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss, whose first request for parole was unanimously rejected last year, gets another chance in an annual review of his case today by the Federal Parole Board.

Hiss, a former State Department employe, was convicted Jan. 25, 1950, on charges of lying when he denied under oath that he passed government secrets to a Soviet spy ring before World War II.

He began serving a five-year sentence March 22, 1951, at the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Penitentiary.

The meeting will be held at 3 p.m. in Waterford Community Activities Building. Petitions will be turned in at the meeting, Snyder added.

Jap Engineers to Let Off Steam as Strike Gesture

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese railroad engineers want a raise in pay so bad they just have to let off a little steam.

They decided to do it all together at noon next Wednesday. They will blow the whistle of 5,000 locomotives for one full minute.

The engineers chapter of the National Railway Workers Union said this will cost the government, which operates the railroads, 130 yen (about 30 cents) per engine, or the equivalent of $1,500.

Defense Head Complains He's Often Misquoted

Singer Learns That Kalamazoo Is Not a Joke

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Jennie Tourel, opera and concert singer, has learned Kalamazoo is no joke. And that goes for Oshkosh, too.

Miss Tourel, being driven to Michigan State College for a concert, exclaimed: "Why there's that name on the street sign." It was Kalamazoo Street.

"You know," she confessed, I had always thought the word 'Kalamazoo' was just a funny joke until my manager sent me a contract. Then I found it was a town I was going to sing in."

Oshkosh was another joke, she said, until she was booked for a concert there, too.

(Kalamazoo, incidentally, is a city of 57,704 in southwestern Michigan. Oshkosh's population is 41,058 and it's in eastern Wisconsin.)

Republican Brands FTC Charges False

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) says "nothing can be further from the truth" than contentions that the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) is deliberately firing competent employes.

Sens. Magnuson (D-Wash) and Humphrey (D-Minn) have been critical of the FTC's new Republican administration. They have accused the FTC of weedimg out capable employes who fought improper business practices.

Bricker, in a statement issued from his office yesterday, said he had checked up and found such accusations without basis. He said reduced appropriations are causing layoffs, while proposals are being made to "strengthen and improve the enforcement" of anti-monopoly laws.

Beaten Man Found Dying in Restroom

MARINE CITY (UP)—A 37-year-old construction worker was beaten to death in the restroom of a Marine City bar early today and police were holding his companion for investigation of murder.

The victim, Oakley Barnes of Marine City, died at Port Huron Hospital shortly after admittance. Police said he had been beaten severely about the head.

Held was Terrell Spencer, 31, Highland Park, who police said was too intoxicated to make a statement. Both men were employed on a Detroit Edison Co. project here.

admitted about 26 other breakins and the theft of about 10 automobiles.

Reflections
THANKSGIVING
by J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES
God, with infinite wisdom, gave us a time to sow and a time to reap; Thanksgiving Day is a time when we may Thank Him for the harvest we have reaped.
Give thanks to Him for the simple things, for they're the seeds of all that's beautiful, all that's worthwhile in this life. A friend cannot be purchased, love of a child is priceless, to worship in the church of our choice has no market price yet they are simple things. Give thanks to Him for the opportunity to enjoy them. They're our rich harvest.

M. E. SIPLE
To live amicably with the things we have is a Thanksgiving. To rear our children with faith, trust and freedom; to give them educational advantages, lots of them, with us, participate in spiritual feasts are a few of the things that underlie a sincere, reverent Thanksgiving.

UF Does It Again

Once again the people of the Pontiac area have shown that no job is too big for them in putting the United Fund drive over the top.

In reaching the 1953 goal General Chairman Arthur J. Law and his army of 5,000 volunteers made history in the fifth United Fund drive.

Not only was Waterford included in the campaign for the first time but contributions exceeded the 1952 total by more than $50,000.

This means that the 53 participating local, State and national health, social service and welfare agencies are assured the funds for their 1954 programs. It also means that the Pontiac area has maintained unblemished its record of never having failed to meet these vital community obligations.

We congratulate everyone who helped carry the United Fund story to the people. Most of all we congratulate those whose contributions put the campaign over the top.

It was a big job well done.

IT IS strange that when people engage in the argument as to which came first, the egg or the hen, it never occurs to them that perhaps the rooster figured somewhere in the sequence.

Dewey Wins Wicks Fight

New York's Governor DEWEY has won a decisive victory in the resignation of State Senator ARTHUR H. WICKS from his posts of majority leader and acting lieutenant governor.

The fight started after DEWEY learned that WICKS had visited convicted labor extortioner JOSEPH S. FAY in Sing Sing Prison. WICKS' explanation of these visits satisfied neither the Governor nor public opinion. He said his only reason for visiting FAY was to "keep labor peace and avoid jurisdictional strikes in my Senatorial district."

DEWEY demanded that WICKS either resign his posts or be stripped of them by the State Senate. In this he was supported by the New York State Republican organization.

Two hours after the special session in which a compromise agreement was reached between opposing forces, WICKS submitted the requested resignation. This does not affect his Senate seat.

It is difficult to see how any less dramatic decision could have been reached. The fact that a labor boss can retain power in prison never could excuse Wicks from dealing with him. Nor could any official deal with such a convict without creating public suspicion that a tie exists between government and crime.

WICKS' resignation is a victory for Governor DEWEY, the New York Republican organization and clean government.

A LOAFER has so much nothing to do that he is constantly trying to get a busy person to help him do it.

Canada's Wheat Problem

Due to their third successive bumper crop Canada's wheat growers are plagued by problems much like those of our own grain farmers.

Most immediate and serious, according to an AP dispatch from Edmonton, is that of storage. At present it is estimated that there are at least 500,000,000 bushels of wheat still on Canadian farms and elevators are overflowing.

Thanks to a warm, long, harvest season, some farmers have been able to build emergency storage bins. But much of this grain is finding its way into abandoned schools, churches, farm buildings and old gasoline storage tanks.

Other farmers aren't so fortunate. In many places, especially in Southern Alberta, wheat can be seen piled up in the fields and farm yards. This is the grain that is causing the most worry, for it must be protected against the severe Canadian Winter.

In addition to the storage problem this backlog of grain has created serious financial worries in the prairie provinces. When wheat doesn't move normally, farm buying declines, with a depressing effect on the entire economy.

The financial plight of prairie farmers is engaging the attention of Canadian politicians. Farm leaders and opposition members of Parliament are demanding some form of financial aid for wheat growers.

In other words, Canadian farmers, like our own, are learning the simple economic lesson that they can not continue producing surpluses without serious consequences.

The People's Business:

Michigan Divided

Tax Propagandists Arouse Ire of Northerners

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING Æ — A Detroit industrialist's crack about the Upper Peninsula of Michigan has stirred a hornets nest among our northerners — but more important, it has demonstrated an unfortunate attitude among some of our southerners.

John S. Coleman, president of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. of Detroit, told a presidential committee, in effect, that Detroit has to support the northern counties and that some folks think Michigan would be better to turn the Upper Peninsula into a game and timber preserve.

Luckily, Coleman has such a good personal record of trying to help the north country improve its economy that the remark can be dismissed as irrelevant, as far as he is concerned personally.

But unconsciously, he expressed what seems to be a growing theory in the metropolitan area.

Behind this attitude is a clever and extremely appealing propaganda campaign being conducted by certain large taxpayers for the sole purpose of securing repeal or modification of the sales tax diversion amendment.

Further, it is stirring up so much bitter feeling that it probably will block any logical revision of the sales tax diversion—admittedly, a necessity if the state is to keep solvent.

Ironically, many of the same big taxpayers who will spend handsomely to undermine the diversion amendment are among those who broke their necks to pass the amendment in the first place.

They thought—contrary to advice of all those who knew the problem—that it would reduce their local real estate taxes by forcing the state to share its income with local government.

They forced the amendment through, heedless of warnings. Now they find that it is bankrupting the state and that they must pay a new business receipts tax to keep the state afloat. Further, they suspect that in the future even more state taxes will be necessary.

So now they blandly attack the monster they created.

They have many good arguments on their side. Unquestionably, many townships are getting too much state tax money—more than they need.

Unquestionably, many rural and some urban communities are not paying the local taxes they should to support their own local governments. Unquestionably, much of the outstate area is under-assessed in comparison to Detroit.

Correction of these inequities is regarded as a worthwhile goal by impartial observers.

But—in their headlong enthusiasm and the oversimplification of their propaganda, the sponsors of revision are pounding home one unfortunate theme: That Detroit is supporting the rest of the state and should stop.

It is easy for up-staters to get extremely angry about this argument.

They note that, from the beginning of Michigan, equal opportunity for education has been the goal of our society. They believe that a great mass of poorly educated or uneducated citizens in northern Michigan is more dangerous to the future of the state—and Detroit—than a high tax rate.

And they know that their poor farm land, cut over forests and depleted mines will not support adequate local education alone.

They are acutely aware that others, not themselves, took the wealth of their country in the past and, in many cases, took it to Detroit to erect an industrial empire.

They know that much of their own paycheck finds its way into the banks and stores of Detroit. They believe that if they are to some extent dependent upon Detroit's bounty, Detroit is partly dependent on them for the life blood of business.

They know that vacationing city folks demand comforts and conveniences in parks and highways throughout the north—and they wonder where the money will come from if not from the cities.

Their leaders, at least, feel that no state which has a forest slum in its backyard can become strong.

And their hackles rise at the implications they are country cousins dependent on charity.

"—Deep Thanks That the War Is Cold, Not Hot"

Voice of the People

He Says Servicemen Deprived of Enough Without Taking Away Occasional Drinks

I served three years with the Canadian Army in World War I and I remember the reaction of the troops when Canada went dry without giving the soldiers a chance to vote.

I was in the 194th Battalion and the night that prohibition was put in force the 202nd Battalion was on guard duty. Almost everyone went to town intending to get a supply, but the guards confiscated it all.

We were glad when we got to England where we could get a drink when we wanted one. We had a rum ration in France. No one ridiculed anyone for not drinking. If anyone did not want their ration they simply passed it on to the next guy and there weren't very many who got a double ration.

The fact that we could get a drink now and then helped to build up our morale. The boys over there now are deprived of enough without depriving them of the pleasure of an occasional drink.

Instead of storming our law makers, let us write to our boys and ask them to write to our law makers and tell them what they want.

A Moderate Drinker

He Opposes Reading of Bible in Public Schools

The managers of the United Church Men in Michigan, a unit of the National Council of Churches, have urged repeal of state laws banning Bible reading in public school classrooms.

If they had learned why such laws were passed in the first place, they should have known why they should not be repealed.

Parents of about 250 religious denominations in the U. S. pay taxes for public schools to teach their children from books on which the parents can agree. The Bible takes first prize of all books on which parents do not agree.

As to morals, police records show that the morals of students from secular public schools compare favorably with those of students from religious parochial schools, as much as the morals of both may need to be improved.

It should just be remembered that morals which can be and are agreed upon and taught are one thing and that religion is something else. What is true religion is everybody's choice.

Just A Smile

Disappointed

She had been to a bridge party the previous night, and the next morning she seemed depressed.

"Have a bad time last night?" asked her husband at last.

"Awful!" she snapped. "And it was your fault, too!"

"My fault! Why, I wasn't playing!"

"No, but you introduced me to the man you said was a famous bridge expert, and—"

"Well, so he is, my dear."

"Nonsense! He's only an engineer."

Mixed Up

"Not size," the man replied. "Scythe."

"Yes, yes, I can hear you," said the salesman. "How much size?"

"No, no, no," the customer replied. "Not size, but scythe — SCYTHE. A grass cutter."

"Oh," said the assistant, "I've got you now. I'll send it around in the morning."

Days of All Faiths

Our Thanksgiving Day First Observed in 1621 by Pilgrims of Plymouth Colony

Although Thanksgiving Day falls on next Thursday, many Protestant denominations have designated tomorrow as Thanksgiving Sunday and will emphasize the theme of gratitude to God. Many will also hold special services on Thursday.

Practically every kind of religion, ancient and modern, has had a day or season in which to give thanks for the harvest. The American Thanksgiving has its roots mainly in Protestantism.

It goes back to the ultra-Protestant Plymouth Colony, where Governor Bradford in 1621 set aside a day on which the Pilgrims were to thank God for having given them their first harvest in the wild, new country.

If anyone ever felt real relief and gratitude it must have been these Pilgrims when they saw that the harvest had brought them an adequate stock of provisions for the hard winter ahead.

Thanksgiving Day has been observed in America ever since Bradford first proclaimed it — a matter of 332 years.

Tomorrow is also dedicated to St. Cecilia, a Roman lady of the Third Century, who is the patron of music and musicians. Legend says that she played the harp so beautifully that an angel left heaven to come down and listen to her.

"She drew an angel down," says Dryden in his Ode to St. Cecilia. Christian paintings, however, always show the angel doing the playing and St. Cecilia doing the listening.

Whatever may have happened to the true details, the Academy of Music at Rome accepted her as its patron when it was established in 1584, and that should give her enough credentials to satisfy anyone.

For a large part of the 17th Century it was fashionable in England to hold special concerts on Nov. 22 in St. Cecilia's honor.

There are still many choirs and musical societies named for St. Cecilia in both America and Europe.

St. Clement, who was one of the earliest (100 A.D.) of the Popes, is credited with having discovered the cloth now known as felt.

The story is that Clement, before he was Pope, was once forced to flee from certain prosecutors, and that as he trudged along the hot, dusty road his feet began to blister.

To ease the discomfort he put some wool inside his sandals. That night when he stopped he found that by the motion and pressure of walking he had pounded the wool into a uniform and compact sheet.

Later, when life became a little more leisurely, Clement took time to develop the crude substance into a workable cloth. This legend made Clement the patron saint of hatters, who, in medieval Guild times, always held their big annual festival on St. Clement's Day.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Use 'Sandwich' Method When Correcting People

The strategy described in today's Case Record is the very core of practical psychology. And it forms the foundation of successful Personnel Administration. But every parent and teacher should become adept at the "Pause and Praise" prelude to the "Sandwich Method" of giving criticism.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case J-348: Don Poland, aged about 40, is the dynamic head of the General Electric Plant at Danville, Illinois.

Earlier this year the Supervisors Club of the G-E had invited me to Danville to address a public audience at night.

So a few of us had dinner before the meeting. And Mr. Poland asked me about the nature of my talk that night.

"What is the most important idea to keep in mind," he said, "in getting along with people?"

This is a very frequent query by industrial leaders for we now realize that human relations is the biggest field for progress in industry.

Mechanical and chemical and electrical engineering have made wonderful progress. But human engineering is so new that it is still almost a virgin field.

"Everybody should be visualized as bearing a magic tattoo across his chest," I replied to Don Poland.

"And that tattoo reads: 'I want to feel important.' Our first birth cry as an infant is thus to get attention.

"And many men, in particular, are so obsessed with their own ego that they sink a small fortune in an elaborate mausoleum to show off their importance 100 years after they are dead."

If we parents and teachers and bosses in industry could always see that famous tattoo, we'd be more tactful in correcting people.

For when anybody receives a criticism or correction even though it is for his own ultimate best interests, that criticism deflates his importance. Then he grows angry or bitter or vindictive and wants to strike back.

"Instead of "yelling" at our children or "bawling" out an employe or "barking" at a patient or client, we'd curb our caustic tongues if we'd just remember that tattoo on his chest — "I want to feel important."

"Well, Dr. Crane, how can an employer train workers and administer correction without making the recipient feel less important?" Mr. Poland inquired.

And the psychological strategy for that universal problem is to use the "sandwich method."

Insert the correction or reproof as the meaty middle layer of your sandwich. But start off with an honest compliment first. Praise the person you are going to correct.

"But that sounds unusual," you may reply. "It is the very opposite of how we feel. For when we catch somebody in a mistake, we like to jump on him."

True enough. And that's why we must carefully teach ourselves to resist this natural reaction. Don't jump on the victim with a vicious reprimand. Instead, pause a moment and praise some of his obvious good points.

For your initial praise forms the basic layer of the psychological sandwich.

Then smile and casually lead into the meaty layer by saying, "Don't you think that you might get better results if you did that in this manner."

Even with your original compliment, plus this smiling, casual lead-in, he may vaguely feel belittled and less important.

So push his ego back to par, or even higher, by fading out with another sincere compliment as your final layer of the sandwich!

Baering Down

By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER
(International News Service)

We like Winnie Churchill's masterly handling of the London smog season. Realizing the weather was co-op old Winsome said, "I have nothing to offer you but smoke, fog and dampness."

Which he named smogasbord. What Winnie fears is the Russians may have the secret of H-smog. That's fissioned ant paste, attar of yesterday's cabbage and glucose.

When the smoggery flattens down on London the old school tie is a yard of antiseptic gauze wrapped around the schnozzola.

You could get rich over there selling California air in paper bags. It's dangerous waltzing in three-fourths time. The smog wraps around you.

Winnie gandered the Londoners trying to read street directions at match's length with their monocles adjusted to infinity. Their pockets were loaded with yesterday's weather and they were breathing through mineral wool. Winnie stirred two highballs in one glass and said, "This is their finest hour."

Then he lighted an all-Havana smoke-stack and added a bit of aromatic asthma to the southwest fumes.

There isn t'much that you can do about London's tired climate. Except do without breathing.

Even our western states are complaining about the ooze-zone. Must be a leak somewhere.

One fortunate thing is you never see gnats or moskeeters in London's atmosphere. Those insects can't swim.

They've changed air-raid shelters into plain shelters from the air. And air-wardens are warned not to bring samples into the house.

The minister of climate has been cashiered for malfeasance of predictions. But the only way you can improve the London smog is drop a couple of raisins in it.

Otherwise, everything is lovely and wish you were there.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Pure Food

Are any of the following ingredients of oleomargarine harmful for human consumption? Mono and diglycerides, lecithin, 0.1 per cent sodium benzoate as a preservative, added vitamins A and D, artificial flavor and color? (R. J.)

Answer—Not in the quantities one would get in the comparatively small amount of such food one consumes. However, I'd prefer oleomargarine without the chemical preservative, just as I'd prefer catsup, canned fruit or canned vegetables or canned meat or canned fish without the sodium benzoate.

Carrots

Are there any foods, in addition to carrots, which help to strengthen the eyes? (Mrs. O. M. A.)

Answer—Yes. Any food you like helps to strengthen the eyes as much as carrots. Or the eyesight. Or vision. Carrots contain carotene, which may be converted into vitamin A in the body, but carrots or carrot juice are unimportant as a source of vitamin A—compared with such good sources as tomatoes, lettuce, apricots fresh or dried, red peppers, calf liver, sardines, egg yolk, cream milk and butter.

On the Brink

Slept real well before becoming pregnant. Then couldn't sleep and became so nervous doctor gave me sleeping pills. Just had baby and want to stop taking pills now but can't. Every time I almost fall asleep without pill my body becomes very nervous . . . (Mrs. T. M. P.)

Answer—It would be better for your health and happiness to get little or no sleep than to resort to any further use of the drug. A doctor who would give an expectant mother such dope probably doesn't bother much about nutrition. Keep away from the dope peddler and consult a real doctor.

His Coronary

He had been through a bout of coronary thrombosis and he was just waiting for . . . your booklet C V D helped him so much. It restored his confidence so that he no longer considers himself an invalid who must "walk on eggs" . . . (Mrs. F. M. D.)

Answer—I'm delighted to hear the good news. I do feel sorry for the thousands of victims of iatrogenic invalidism. They should study the C V D booklet too. For copy send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Creaks?

Have been reading your column for years—have had wonderful results from following your advice—particularly from taking calcium and D for my creaky joints. (M. McA.)

Answer — Thank you, Ma'am. Pamphlet on Calcium and Rheumatiz available on request—Inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dope

Painful feet, hammertoe and bunion. Long dependent on phenobarb, pentobarb, etc. So I was interested in your comment on the barbiturates . . . (Mrs. T. B. R.)

Answer — Read the chapter on the barbiturates in the green book Nerves and Nutrition. Hammertoe, painful callus, bunion, corns, foot itch, ingrown toenail, excessive sweating of the feet, weak ankles, potential flatfoot etc., are discussed in Care of the Feet. For either booklet send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed.

400 Missing GIs Listed as Dead

Pentagon Will Change Records of Thousands More Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP) —The U.S. battle death toll in Korea will pass 30,000 when the Pentagon begins next January to close out its books on American casualties in the conflict.

After the truce and completion of prisoner exchanges, the death figures stood at 25,604 and the missing at 7,955. The Army yesterday announced confirmation of 400 more deaths among those previously listed as missing.

The Army announced yesterday that, unless new information appears by January, it will declare 4,000 men listed as missing for more than a year as "presumed dead." The remaining Army missing, unless they are found, will be declared dead one full year after their disappearance.

The Air Force, with 671 listed as missing, said it will declare 170 presumed dead next month.

The Marine Corps has 493 missing and the Navy 78, but neither said they had any plans to declare any of them dead in the near future.

The U.S. casualty total in Korea —142,277 killed, wounded or missing—remains the same. It is a preliminary figure, however, and is being checked and re-checked as new information gets to the Pentagon.

The change in status from missing to killed was foreshadowed in early October when the Defense Department said most of the missing must eventually be presumed dead.

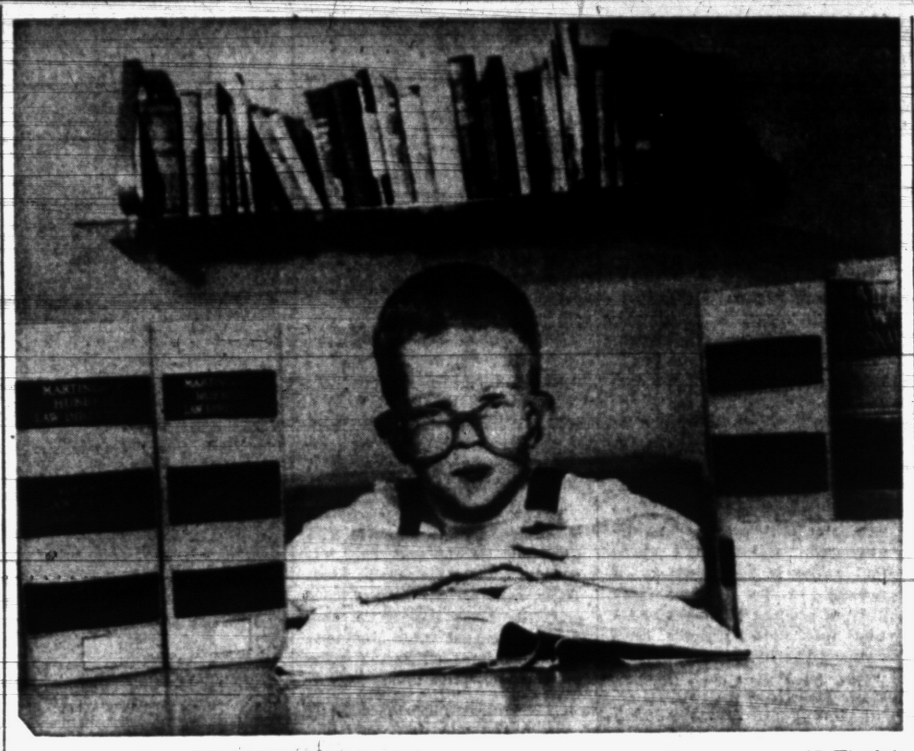

The declaration of presumptive death is needed to comply with the Missing Persons act. This law expires next Jan. 31, but the Defense Department is expected to ask for an extension so survivors of the missing and probably dead men may receive the benefits to which they are entitled.

The Army has set forth information needed for the families and beneficiaries of men who have been or will be declared dead. The regulations, which also apply to such survivors of all servicemen, include:

1. When a survivor is notified that a serviceman has died as the result of combat, the beneficiary will be furnished an application form for the payment of a gratuity. This gratuity is equal to six months pay at the rate prevailing when the man was declared dead.

2. Survivors are entitled to whatever portion of a missing man's pay that accumulates while he is missing and which has not been previously allocated, such as for allotments or savings bonds.

3. Immediately after a serviceman is declared dead, the Veterans Administration will be notified. The Veterans Administration will then help survivors collect whatever government life insurance is due them.

Dec. 1 Retirement Set for Gen. Weber

OAK PARK—Brig. Gen. Harold T. Weber, one of Michigan's best known National Guardsmen and assistant commander of the Guard's 46th Infantry Division, will retire Dec. 1.

He has completed 42 years of military service, serving on the Mexican Border in 1916-17, in World War I and World War II. He began service as a private.

During the first World War, Gen. Weber commanded the Second Battalion of the 119th Field Artillery in France. Later he was commander of the cavalry arm of the Guard, rising as chief of staff of the 23rd Cavalry Division.

Damage was confined to the doll and feelings of the solicitous "mother."

DETROIT (AP) — A smog which blanketed downriver Detroit communities Friday was traced to a chemical plant in Riverview.

Benjamin J. Linksy, chief of the Detroit Smoke Abatement Bureau, said the smog resulted from the accidental release of a chemical used to odorize natural gas. The chemical plant was not identified.

Area Couple Will Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

DAVISBURG — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schultz will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house in their home at 329 Broadway St.

Mr. Schultz was born in Springfield Township and has lived his entire life in the area. Mrs. Schultz, the former Sarah E. Roe, was born in Osceola County.

Well-known in the township, Mr. Schulty served as township clerk since 1911 until failing health forced him to retire this year. He is a life member of Lodge 48, F&AM. Both are life members of Austin Chapter 396 of OES.

They have five daughters, Mrs. William West of Keego Harbor, Mrs. Charles Kolb and Mrs. Robert Dorman of Pontiac, and Mrs. Henry Nimphie and Mrs. Charles Felch of Holly. There are also two sons, William of Fepton and Karl of Davisburg, 17 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

ROTC Cadets Forsake Army for Navy Clothes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—It looks as though 34 reserve officer training cadets at Grand Rapids South High School have deserted the Army—for the Navy.

Again, it may be their way in shaming the Army into providing them uniforms.

They bought inexpensive blue shirts and blue jeans, decking themselves out like sailors at work, then capped off the uniform with what is unmistakably a sailor's turned-up white cap.

Vandalism at School Brings Prison Term

A prison sentence of one to five years was imposed yesterday on James Perkins, 24, of 27066 Dartmouth St., Royal Oak, by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for attempted breaking and entering.

Finds $10,335 in Stocks, Doesn't Even Tell Wife

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When a reporter called to ask Mrs. William Schroeder about her husband finding $10,335 in Bank of America stock certificates on a street, she was mystified.

Her husband had turned the certificates over to the Hollywood Sheriff's Station and went about his business at his father's wholesale auto parts store.

Farmington Sets School Talk

Proposed 8.5 Mill Tax Slated for Discussion at Monday Meeting

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Future growth and development of Farmington School District schools will be discussed when the local Citizens' Advisory Committee meets with the board of education Monday.

Main topic of the session, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the library of the new high school, will be a study of a proposed 8.5-mill tax increase to raise an estimated $1,313,400 needed to add facilities and buildings. The tax boost was recommended by the school board Oct. 26.

According to school officials, increased enrollment necessitates construction of four new classrooms at Bond School, four at Middlebelt School, 12 at William Grace and four classrooms and a gym-auditorium at the new high school.

Also proposed was a 10-classroom school south of the Grand River cutoff.

All interested residents have been invited to attend the meeting.

St. Louis Hit-Run Driver Is a Man of Manners

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Here's the story of a polite hit-and-run motorist:

"I'm sorry I hit you," the motorist told Frank E. Munyak, 30-year-old St. Louis engineer yesterday. Munyak said the driver shouted the apology from his car, then sped away.

Munyak walked to his own car, drove home and called police. He was taken to city hospital and treated for a bruise on the left leg.

This is the time of the year to watch out for the unordered merchandise schemes. This racket has already started in many cities. Christmas cards, handkerchiefs, perfumes, boxes of candy, neckties, stockings, etc., may be delivered to your home or office with collect charges. Warn your family and office not to pay for anything that is delivered without first making sure it was ordered. You need not pay for it or return it. Another reminder is not to pay for your neighbor's packages, unless they leave the money with you with specific instructions as to how and to whom the money is to be paid. Many people have become victims of this racket because they took a delivery man's word that the neighbors were not at home and because of certain restrictions, the company would be unable to deliver for several days.

OSU, Wolverine Tilt Brings Old Friends Together

A friendship begun when the principals wer ebaseball players with University of Michigan and Ohio State University, respectively, will have its latest contact today.

Back when Goodloe Rogers, Pontiac industrialist and former U. of M. catcher, and later a major leaguer, and George Trautman, present "czar" of the minors, was a hurler for the Buckeyes, they formed a friendship. It has endured down the years, and has been marked by many trips and meetings between the families.

Today, over at Ann Arbor, Trautman will sit on the OSU They witness this clash almost every year.

During their stay here, the Trautmand are guests of the Rogers. Tonight, after the game, Mr. and Mrs. Trautman, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nida (former OSU graid star) and Dr. and Mrs. Chauncey Burke will have dinner at the Rogers home.

Ike's Visitors Can Read Bible in 78 Tongues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any guest of President Eisenhower who speaks Amharic, Malagsy, Urdu or Swahili now can settle down to read a White House Bible in his native tongue.

Eisenhower said he was glad to get the Bibles, and that he would keep them available for any guest who wanted to use them.

Probably not too many persons who drop in on the Eisenhowers speak Amharic (used in Ethiopia), or Malagsy (Madagascar), or Urdu (Pakistan), or Swahili (East Africa). But the collection also includes the more common languages, such as Dutch, French, Italian, Greek, Swedish, Russian and English.

State Minister Noted for Hymn

Rev. George Bennard of Reed City Composed 'Old Rugged Cross'

REED CITY (AP) — Every Sunday churchgoers all over the nation sing "The Old Rugged Cross" and the echo carries to a quiet farm home near Reed City. There the Rev. George Bennard, its composer, lives with his wife, Hannah.

Bennard is 80 years old. His eyes are still quick and bright, and his wit sharp, just as in the days when the evangelist captured his audiences.

He still preaches in the churches of Reed City, where his wavy white hair is a familiar sight. Beside a road near his home, the city put up a huge cross of wood, painted with the name of his famous hymn.

Born in Youngstown, Ohio, to a coal mining father, Bennard entered the mines himself as a laborer at the age of 15. But one day he attended a Salvation Army meeting in Canton, Ohio. That was in 1895.

He joined the Army and traveled over much of the nation leading a special brigade. Then he was transferred to New York where he remained to write hymns after resigning from the Army in 1910.

Among the first were: "Oh, Make Me Clean," "Speak My Lord," and "Have Thy Way Lord." Since then he has composed more than 300 hymns.

Then in 1913, while traveling about the country, he wrote the words and music of "The Old Rugged Cross."

Confident Living

Prayers of 10 Pct. Asking Leave 90 Pct. for Thanks

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A man I met at a friend's home recently taught me a lesson worth passing on this Thanksgiving season.

We had been talking about prayer and, because I'm a minister and therefore presumably more conversant with the subject, I had been allowed to take up more than my share of the conversation.

Therefore, all of us were a bit surprised when a man who, up to that point, had taken no part in our discussion spoke up.

"You know," he said, "I agree with you that prayers can be answered. But I don't agree that asking is the best way of praying. I try to make my prayers prayers of thanks and I find that these prayers have changed my life."

"How have they done that?" I asked.

"Well," he replied, "I've prayed all my life. I came from a family that believed in prayer and I grew up believing in it myself. Whenever I wanted something, I prayed for it.

"I found out soon enough that I just didn't get everything I wanted and prayed for. And I began to get bitter about it. I praying. But things didn't come my way any easier.

"It wasn't that things went bad for me," he continued. "They didn't. I got along, but somehow didn't seem to get as far as I should. Something seemed to be holding back.

"Then my wife became seriously ill. I thought for a while I was going to lose her, but they pulled her through. It seemed almost a miracle, and I went to church to give thanks. I came out of that church feeling better and happier than I had in years. I had made a great discovery."

"What was that?" one of other guests asked.

He thought for a moment before answering. Then he spoke and seemed to emphasize each word: "I discovered that the best way to obtain real results from prayer is to practice the art of thankfulness.

"Up to that time, I had used my prayers only for asking and never thought about giving thanks. Now I divide my prayer into 10 per cent asking and 90 per cent thanking.

I have found that by being thankful for what is given to me, many other blessings come my way. That is because the act of thanks-giving is positive and affirmative and starts power to flowing; at least, it did for me," he concluded.

You can, indeed, obtain better results from your prayers if you practice the art of thankfulness.

As the hymn says, "count your blessings" and thank Him from whom they flow. This emphasis on appreciation for what you have will give the kind of spirit which will bring new blessings to you.

I can suggest one technique which will help you do this. A friend of mine, Kenneth Giniger, who heads the publishing firm of Hawthorn Books, has just sent me two new books which you can use, called "The Protestant Year 1954" and "The Catholic Year 1954."

They have been prepared, respectively, by the staffs of The Christian Herald and The National Council of Catholic Men. Each contains an inspirational entry for every day of the new year, suggested Bible readings, devotional information and space in which to write diary entries.

If you provide yourself with such a diary, you can list, each day, the things for which you are thankful and use the book as a source of positive inspiration in preparing your prayers. This listing of blessings is important for it will soon develop in you the thanks-giving psychology.

Then, set aside a specific time each day to review these entries and practice thankfulness to Him from whom all blessings flow.

The practice of thankfulness is really the art of positive thinking. And positive thinking is the only creative approach to the everyday problems of living.

Be thankful, be positive, be creative. And start today, this Thanksgiving week, by being thankful.

SPIRITUAL COMFORT IN KOREA—Silhouetted against a gray sky, a U.S. soldier reads from his pocket-sized Bible in Korea, typical of millions of servicemen and civilians who will participate in Worldwide Bible Reading all over the globe.

Bible Unites GIs, Families

Reading Plan Follows Schedule of Scripture Passages

NEW YORK (NEA)—Millions of Americans will read their often-neglected family Bibles during the month beginning Thanksgiving Day, thanks to an inspired idea suggested by a lonely serviceman 10 years ago.

Back in 1943, the mother of a GI phoned the Philadelphia office of the American Bible Society.

"My boy is stationed on Guadalcanal," she said. "I just received a letter from him and thought you would like to know what he has to say. He asks that we at home read the Bible with him every day and that's just what we're going to do."

"But how are you going to do that?" asked the Bible society secretary. "Didn't you say that he is in the Pacific combat area?"

"My boy," explained the mother, "has sent us a list of Bible passages he plans to read each day of the coming month. We intend to read the identical portions of the Scriptures on the same days he reads them. That way, at least, we'll be together in prayer."

The idea stirred the imagination of Bible society officials.

The story of the mother who shared an invisible bond with her overseas son was passed along to other servicemen and their families in a society publication, and thereafter throughout the war years thousands of GIs and their folks shared a similar experience.

After the end of World War II, the idea continued to spread in cities and states at home, and in countries abroad where servicemen — lonely and homesick — felt the need for a closer tie to those they'd left behind.

As the movement spread, the American Bible Society began printing and distributing free of charge, paper bookmarks on which were imprinted suggested reading lists.

Then it was decided that the holiday period, Thanksgiving through Christmas, with its emphasis on close family ties and comradeship, might be most appropriate for a special month of simultaneous Bible reading.

Thus was born Worldwide Bible Reading, a program that last year was observed in 40 different countries. Through the work of missionaries, agents of the American Bible Society and the usual channels of public information; through chaplains serving with the armed forces and the servicemen to whom they minister, millions all over the world now join hands in this heart-warming movement.

The Bible reading program, is sponsored in the United States by a widely representative national committee of laymen and has the endorsement of some 70 denominations.

Its sole purpose, now as in 1943, is to enlist people of every faith and nationality in concerted reading of the same Scriptural passages. It is hoped that this simultaneous reading will help draw peoples closer—nations as well as members of individual families.

Each year, to help promote this spiritual fellowship, the American Bible Society asks clergymen throughout the nation to name their favorite Bible selections. The result of this nation-wide poll is printed on the bookmarks distributed by the Society.

These are the Scripture selections for Worldwide Bible Reading:

	November

LOVING THE UNLOVABLE

People need most to be loved when they are most unlovable.

An actress is stunningly beautiful. She is young, she is healthy, she has abundant talent, and she is paid a fabulous salary.

The drama critics rave about her; she has any number of suitors; she is the toast of two continents.

But look at this same actress some years later. Her beauty has faded; she is old; she is sick; she can barely make ends meet on a small pension.

When does she most need to be loved — as a famous young star, or as a broken old woman? Obviously, she needs most to feel loved when she is most unlovable.

What is more, when the unlovable know themselves to be loved, they change and become actually lovable. The more people feel themselves cherished, the more they shed their ugly traits.

No adolescent is less appealing than a New York "Dead End Kid." Yet, as a high school principal, Angelo Patri had almost uncanny success with dozens and dozens of such boys.

He was able to communicate the affection he had for them and the trust he had in them. And they responded. Time and again Patri demonstrated that when the refractory, perverse, unattractive child is met with affection and trust, he changes for the better and becomes likable.

There are, perhaps, some who are denied human love. But all, even the most unattractive and unpromising, can know the love of God.

And knowing themselves loved — even while they are unlovable —they become in time lovable, serviceable to their fellow-men and to God.

Open 3 Churches in Pacific Islands

By Religious News Service

SUVA, Fiji Islands — Three big Protestant churches have been opened recently in the Pacific Island groups of Samoa, the Fijis and the Tongas that lie midway between Hawaii and Australia.

Newest is the great "mother church" for Samoan Methodists at Apia which was dedicated during a week-long celebration early in October by the Rev. William C. Francis, New South Wales leader of the Methodist Church in Australia.

In Suva, Holy Trinity Cathedral of the (Anglican) Diocese of Polynesia was consecrated last May 5, and earlier in the year a magnificent new 3,000-seat Methodist church, said to be the largest in the entire Southern Hemisphere, was opened at Tongatabu in the Tongas.

Dedication of the 1,200-seat concrete church at Apia, built and financed largely by the Samoans themselves, was marked by one of the biggest celebrations the islands have seen in years.

School, Convent Ceremony Set

Break Ground Sunday for St. Benedict Church Construction Project

Sunday will mark the groundbreaking ceremonies for the construction of a 12-room school and convent at St. Benedict Roman Catholic Church on South Lynn avenue.

The building fund campaign was put on by the church in July and August to raise $150,000, and $151,000 was pledged.

The school and convent will cost approximately $350,000.

First floor of the convent will house two offices, a community room, chapel, dining room, kitchen, lavatories and baths. On the second floor will be 10 bedrooms, lavatories and baths.

The pastor, the Rev. Richard S. Thomas, reports that construction will start at once, so that the buildings will be ready for the opening of school in September, 1954.

Head Says Bigotry Made Unpopular by Conference

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Bigotry has been made unpopular in the U.S. by the National Conference of Christians and Jews over its 25-year history, Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, president, told the organization's silver anniversary meeting here.

As a result of the conference's efforts, he said, "bigotry has become recognized as anti-social, the hallmark of the ignorant, of the internal enemy of the United States."

No Woman Needs to Have Rough 'Hideaway' Hands

No woman has to have "hideaway" hands today! Your hands can be practical to have (as well they must) and still beautiful to hold. . . and behold, if you can take a few hints such as the following:

Never get into too hot water. A good sound rule at any time, but especially true when you realize the average woman plunges her hands into water 27 times a day.

Wear gloves whenever possible. Rubber gloves for washing and scrubbing. Cotton gloves for digging in the garden. Cosmetic mitts going to bed at night. Fashion gloves to protect from outdoor elements.

Protect your hands against ugly, ingrained stains such as tobacco and ink. Use a cigarette holder to keep your fingers free from tobacco stains. Don't use leaky fountain pens. Stains such as tobacco and ink necessitate hard scrubbing which is ruinous to any hand beauty.

Don't use your hands or nails to break twine, pry jars open, scrape food from dishes or frying pans.

Keep your nails at a length compatible with the work you do. Mandarin nails may be wonderful for the leisured lass, but not for you who do housework or typing. Broken nails, hangnails or bitten nails don't contribute to loveliness.

Find a good lotion to soften and smooth your hands as well as protect them from getting red or chapped. Keep a bottle or jar handy in your bedroom, kitchen, bathroom and office.

Use a bleach (lemon is good) if your hands have brown spots or other discoloration.

Choose a fashion-right nail enamel and give yourself a weekly manicure. In between, push back the cuticle each time you wash your hands; tip your nails whenever necessary.

Perfume your fingertips and the palms of your hands for dates and important occasions.

Don't use unflattering gestures such as wringing or squeezing your hands (let others do the squeezing) or playing with your fingers. Practice finger exercises, or massage your hands regularly to relax them.

Thelma Lewis Is Honor Guest at Bridal Party

Guests included Mrs. Norman Brown, Mrs. Chester Reynolds, Mrs. Ben Bundo, Mrs. Raymond Swaney, Mrs. W. H. Lewis, Mrs. Roy C. Lewis and Mrs. Norman Hill.

Others were Mrs. Harry Booker, Mrs. Willis Bugg, Beverly Bugg, Mrs. Maynard Cotcher, Mrs. Forest Bouck, Mrs. Jack Barron, Mrs. Fred Kemper and Mrs. Shirley Stamp.

The daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. W. H. Lewis of North Avery road, Thelma will speak her vows with Mr. Booker, son of Mrs. Joseph Fitzgerald of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the late Harry Booker, on Jan. 2.

Speakers Are Heard by 2 PTAs

Malkim, Hawthorne Groups Gather on Thursday

Thursday evening PTA meetings featured speakers for Malkim and Nathaniel Hawthorne Schools.

Safety highlighted the Malkim School PTA meeting at which Mrs. Carson Cascadden, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Stanton A. Levely, supervison of transportation in the Pontiac School System. He used "Safety on the School Bus" as his topic.

Mr. Levely said there are four aspects to be considered in bus safety. These include the bus as a vehicle, the competence of the driver, the conduct of the passengers and the assignment of routes.

Mrs. Howard Dow introduced the Safety Patrol and Service Squad sponsors, Lucille Amsden and Mrs. Kenneth Brown.

Carl Romanelli, William Mihalek, Carolyn Pomeroy and Gloria Spooner outlined the work of their groups and Lillian Davidson described the duties of the adult school guards. A film, "Safety on a Bus," closed the program.

Mrs. Richard Soloman presided at the meeting and Mrs. William McGlasken, Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. Carl Vedane, Mrs. David Walls, Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. George Parks and Mrs. James Hibbs were in charge of the social hour.

William Treanor of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce was guest speaker for the Nathaniel Hawthorne PTA. He gave an illustrated talk entitled, "Your Kids and Mine," which featured the importance of education.

It is much cheaper, he said, to educate than to take care of delinquents and criminals. Some problems of education have been depression, war and inadequate schools, he continued.

Too few people vote in school elections. He urged that all citizens get behind the school programs to make our schools better.

The social hour included a period of get-acquainted games. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gus Perazzo, Mrs. Eugene Moody, Mrs. Norris Vaughn and Mrs. Chester Frasa. Mrs. William Aitkens and Mrs. Ruth Willis presided at the tea table.

Guard Eyesight, Most Precious of Possessions

"Our experience of things here in the earth we owe to vision because a blind man can have no experience worthy of the name concerning this world."

This statement was made nearly 700 years ago by Roger Bacon, Franciscan friar, scientist and father of modern optics. And it is still true today.

Virtually all our knowledge and experience is gained through use of the eyes. As sight is the most precious possession, it should be guarded accordingly.

Eyewear users should have their eyes checked regularly to make sure old lenses are still correct.

Nervousness, irritability, squinting, headaches, stomach upset and other ills may be caused by faulty eyesight which the proper glasses could correct.

Friar Bacon labored to improve vision through glass lenses in the days when the vast majority could neither read nor write.

Auxiliary Plans Christmas Party

Plans for a Christmas Party, with husbands as special guests, were discussed by East Side Civic Auxiliary Thursday evening when it met with Mrs. Norman Feet on Spokan drive.

Dec. 19 was set as the date for the party, which will be at the home of Mrs. Theodore Carlson of South Marshall street.

Cancer pads were sewed, and the birthdays of Mrs. Floyd Zielinski and Mrs. Sol Hoover were observed. Mrs. Leon Bumgardner was announced as hostess of the next meeting, which will be at her home on East Beverly avenue in January.

Program Given for Sunset Club

Members of Sunset Club met Thursday at Wilson School for luncheon and a social meeting.

Handkerchiefs were made into umbrellas and candleholders by the members as others sang hymns and songs and read poems.

Mrs. Helen Harper and Charles Little entertained the group with several selections of Scotch songs and Mrs. Maude Hill played old-time pieces on the kazoo.

The meeting closed with the Virginia reel and the next meeting was announced for Dec. 3 at Wilson School. Persons 60 years and over are invited to join the group.

Dog Owner Is Welcome, Pooch Isn't

By EMILY POST

A hostess tells me: "I have a friend who takes her dog with her wherever she goes. This dog is not particularly well trained and I do not like having him in my house.

"Several other friends have complained about this too, but none of us knows just how to tell her she is welcome but not her dog. Can you offer any tactful suggestions?"

Answer: This is a very difficult question to answer because it is very rude to tell your friend the truth and it is certainly too distressing on your part to endure quietly. You might tell her that dogs make you nervous and ask her to please leave him outside.

Dear Mrs. Post: In this morning's mail I received a wedding invitation worded as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Bride's Parents
Mr. and Mrs. Bridegroom's parents requests the honor of your presence etc.

This invitation asks for a reply and, as I have never received an invitation worded this way before, I am completely at a loss as to how to word my reply and to whom it should be sent. Will you please help me?

Answer: You write:

Mr. and Mrs. Jones
accept with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. Brides's Parents and
Mr. and Mrs. Bridegroom's Parents
kind invitation for etc.

You then write both names on the envelope and send it to the address given for reply on the invitation. If no address was given, you would send it to the home address of the bride's parents.

Dear Mrs. Post: May a girl keep a man's fraternity pin after their romance has cooled off? A fraternity pin is not exactly the same as an engagement ring, or is it?

Answer: The sentiment of a fraternity pin is very much the same as an engagement ring. You should return it.

Specs Made Attractive by Science

As every stylish woman knows, eyeglasses are fashion news today. But few realize optical scientists were as much responsible as fashion designers for the cosmetic appeal of glamour eyewear.

A wide variety of shapes and colors to suit every face and costume is now available. Yet colorful, face-fitting frames would have little beauty value if fitted with the lenses of 30-odd years ago.

Lenses then were flat on one side, curved on the other. The single curve made the lenses quite thick at the edges or center, and reflections made them seem even thicker. Peering out from behind them, the wearer had an unnatural, owlish look.

Scientists set out to remedy this situation. They developed thinner lenses with "corrected" curves so as to give uniform wide-angle vision throughout. Besides being inconspicuous and conforming to facial contours, this lens improved faulty vision to an extent never possible before.

One of the great achievements of optical history, it made possible both better looks and better vision in eyewear.

This youngster is all set for partying in a dress styled in chambray. Good news for mother is the fact that it's wrinkle-proof and soil-resistant.

Very Soiled Clothes Harder to Get Clean

When clothes are allowed to become too soiled, they require hard rubbing or other drastic treatment to get them clean again.

In view of the ease with which any good household washer can be used it is not necessary to let an article show more than the very slightest sign of soil before tossing it into the suds. Clothes kept spick-and-span last longer, in addition to giving the wearer the satisfaction of being well-groomed at all times.

Minutes Spent on Nail Care Pay Dividends

If you are willing to spend a few minutes every day, you can do a great deal toward making your fingernails lovely. Since nails take four to seven months to grow, don't expect quick results.

Set aside a certain time each day, perhaps right after your bath, for massage. Massage a nail cream into the base of each nail with the cushion of your thumb. Using a gentle, but firm, rotary motion, continue massaging until you feel warmth beneath the cuticle.

It is important to develop a consciousness of your nails so that you can protect them from breaking.

Open bobby pins with the cushions of your fingers instead of with the nails; use a pencil for dialing telephone numbers; push back the cuticles every time you dry your hands.

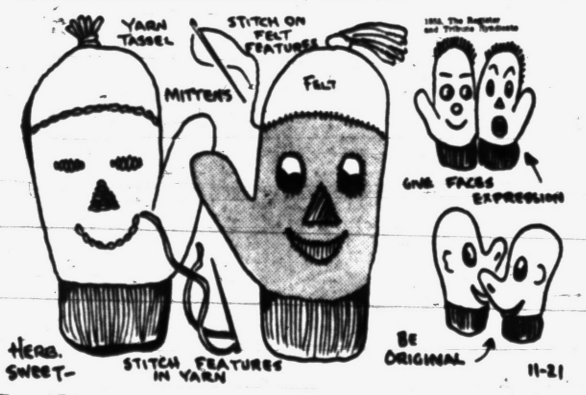

Your nail enamel will help you to disguise poorly-shaped nails. Wide nails appear more slender when the polish does not completely cover the sides. Fan-shaped nails seem oval when the polish covers the nail near the cuticle, and is applied in a straight line to the top so that the sides are exposed.

Manners
MAKE FRIENDS

It's nice to have a neighbor drop in for a short visit in the afternoon. But nothing throws a busy homemaker off her stride like having a not-so-busy neighbor drop in to say "Hello" and stay three hours.

When you say "I thought I'd drop by for a minute," for your hostess' sake don't let that minute run into more than 30.

Try It

Stitch Faces on Mittens

Do you like to wear little things that are different? I believe that we all do, for it would be terrible if we all wore clothing just alike.

Here is an idea for a way to decorate your mittens. It will be fun to do and will brighten them up. Say, these would make nice Christmas gifts, too!

Perhaps you already have a pair of plain colored mittens. If you do, use them. You Try-Iteers who live in warm climates will like these, for you often have a few days when your hands feel good with some covering. If you do not have a pair that you can use, see if you can buy a pair. Plain ones are usually inexpensive.

There are four decorating ideas in the drawing. The first one has a cap and yarn embroidery features. These can be made in contrasting yarn.

The next one has a felt cap and features. Make the eyes large and a big smiling mouth.

The upper pair of mittens has yarn hair and features and the thumb seems to be a hand. The lower ones have funny noses which are formed by the thumb. Their features are of felt. Use bright colors and you will have loads of ideas once you get started.

PETUNIA!

There are facts
Which must be faced.
It's obvious
I'm going to waist!

Then don't wear wide belts, Petunia! They're most unflattering to a thick middle. Coat-type beltless dresses are best—and how about some bend-down exercises?

Breaking Up With Steady Won't Be Final Chapter in Girl's Book of Romance

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: My steady boy friend called me up two days before the semi-formal homecoming dance and told me to find someone else to go with.

"I went with another boy and he went with another girl. He was very surprised to see me there—he didn't expect it, I guess.

I've gone out with other boys since, but just can't seem to enjoy myself with them, no matter how hard I try. I still like this one boy.

"I have found out that he had been waiting for a long time to break up with me, but he isn't going with anyone now.

"Should I try to get him back or keep going with other boys and try to forget him? He was the only boy I had ever really liked well enough to go steady with!"

Let's say he was the first boy you ever liked well enough to go steady with. And I'd say the chances are very good that you'll find another boy you can like that well. Maybe two or three in rapid succession.

While you were going with him your life took a definite pattern and coloration. You got pretty used to his ways. You could interpret his moods, anticipate his reactions, count on his behavior and attitudes.

You knew him well. You changed in many ways because of knowing him. Your habits and points of view were influenced by his. You are the girl you are now because of your experience of going with him.

At the moment you feel that the captain has deserted the ship. You are left alone to guide your own course. And you're not one speck happy about it.

Actually you're in the same fix as a girl who switches jobs. After working for the same boss for some time you get used to his ways, you know what there is to be done and how to do it, you know what to expect.

With a new boss you have to start all over again getting acquainted, finding out, adapting yourself to a new routine. Carrying a torch for the old office doesn't help a bit in shaking down into the new one.

The same holds for boy friends. Of which, incidentally, you seem to have no lack. Each boy you go out with is an experiment and an adventure. Each date you have with him gets you that much better acquainted with his ways and points of view. Each date increases your stock of shared memories, gives you more to talk about and laugh over. More chance to find out, as you get better acquainted, just how much you really do like him.

But blocking your mind to other boys' possibilities is pretty short-sighted. And that's just what you are doing when you refuse to give them a break.

Oh, you say you go out with them, but you can't seem to enjoy yourself. You won't let yourself react to another boy's personality because you're comparing him with your old steady. You don't find his kind of fun amusing because you're too busy remembering the kind you'd grown used to.

It's time you faced the facts that you know are only too true. You've found out that he'd been waiting for a long time to break off with you. Obviously there was no one thing you did to make him furious. He just stopped caring . . . a long time ago.

The recent dates he'd had with you could hardly have been pleasant for him. He was chafing at the bit. Under those circumstances, is it sensible to hold out any hope of getting him back? Hardly!

Get slightly mad at yourself for caring so much for a boy who doesn't care for you. Salvage the pieces of your pride and tell yourself you've had a very interesting experience indeed.

Then muster your curiosity, good humor and love of fun, and tackle the question "Where do we go from here?"

You'll find your old steady didn't really quite write finis for you. He just wrote the first chapter. There will be new authors for those that follow.

Joy Found in Salvation Army Work

Many people know little about the Salvation Army—except that on occasion its members are noisily in evidence on street corners.

The fact is the Salvation Army was founded as a church in 1865 in England by ex-Methodist minister William Booth, and it has continued to function as a church ever since.

The story in a current magazine tells of the life of Joyce and Russel Smalley as a married couple working for the Army.

During the eight years since their marriage they have given up just about everything to dedicate themselves more fully to the Army—their home, car, and temporarily their baby—not to mention all personal ambition and what is generally called fun.

Transplanted to New York, Joyce at the age of 29, and Russel, 28, went back to school. They took the grueling nine-month course prescribed for Salvation Army soldiers hardy enough to wish to become officers.

Now that they are officers, they are serving a probationary year with the corps in Atlantic City, N. J. Their duties include attending to corps business, tutoring children in music, preparing Sunday school lessons, supervising summer camp activities, visiting members of the congregation and attention to office work.

They work for 16 hours a day and get 32 dollars pay and their living quarters.

Someday the Smalleys hope to have a corps of their own. They are completely happy with the choice they made in June of 1952. The lack in their lives has been filled.

Women Act as Volunteer Patrolmen

Guard Children at School Crossings for Pin Money

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Nothing pleases me more than having a reader act as "talent scout," and tell me good ideas she has dug up in her community.

Mrs. O. E. W. of Rochester, Mich., has done this, and her letter is of such interest that I would like to print it in its entirety for you.

"Today, there was a very interesting program on the radio about the volunteer policewomen, usually housewives, who are serving at busy intersections in Detroit during school hours, thus releasing more policemen for active duty elsewhere in the city.

"Now it seems to me that every city, town, village or hamlet in the United States never has too many policemen on its force, and if more women could be recruited to serve just a few hours a day, during the periods when the children are going either to or from school, it would mean that many more hours in which the policemen could serve the community.

"In Detroit, as I understand it, the requirements are a physical examination for women of 25 to 50. Their minimum pay is $3 per day, they receive 10 hours instruction, and usually they can work near their own home.

"Wouldn't that be a perfect solution for 'money for peanuts,' as the director of the Detroit program mentioned?

"I think women would be just right for such jobs at busy crossings because of their natural protective instinct with regard to children.

"It's just another opportunity for making pin money for women who can fill such positions, but who have no particular talent or skill, nor the time that a job away from home would take."

My congratulations to those in Detroit who planned such a sensible move, and my thanks to Mrs. O. E. W. for telling me about it.

Perhaps some of you will approach your own towns and help set up a similar arrangement. It would be helpful for the children, helpful for the police force, and helpful for those who feel, "I need to make money near home" — who are legion!

Oilman's Gifts Amount to Mere $25 Million

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A school whose chief benefactor apologetically explained his gifts had amounted to only 25 million dollars, not 210 million, had another $2,225,000 from him today for a football victory.

The school is burgeoning University of Houston and the oilman philanthropist with football fever is Hugh Roy Cullen.

The oilman, pleased with the school's football win over Baylor last week, announced his gift yesterday at a campus pep rally for today's game with Texas Tech.

"The great spirit and determination shown by the Cougars last Saturday in defeating Baylor fills me with enthusiasm and prompts me to do something for our great university," Cullen said. Nobody doubted his enthusiasm when he said a few minutes later:

"I have decided to give the university $2,225,000 in oil payments."

Cullen explained that campus improvements needed to obtain accreditation from the Southern Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools would "put the university in the red by $830,000" and the money was to "help this situation."

Thieves Gets $200 Left Out of Safe for Safety

The co-owner of an ice cream company read so much about safe robberies he decided to foil any designs culprits might have on his safe.

So he hid more than $200 in a bundle of linen, ignoring the floor safe in the store. Yesterday he went to his hiding place. The money was gone.

The safe wasn't touched.

Proposes U. S. Aid Asia Union

President of Philippines Outlines Plan to Nixon at Meeting

MANILA (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino proposed today that the United States bolster far eastern democracies in their battle against communism by taking the lead in formation of a Southeast Asian economic union.

Quirino, defeated in his bid for re-election this month, outlined his plan to U.S. Vice Presiden Richard Nixon during a 1-hour, 15-minute conference—the longest Nixon has had with a chief of state during his goodwill tour of the Pacific.

There had been reports Quirino would renew his angry charges of U.S. intervention in the Philippines presidential election. But there was no mention of politics at the meeting.

Quirino said a Southeast Asian union should be economic rather than military because Pacific nations have insufficient military strength. He expressed confidence that the cold war against communism will be won with U.S. aid.

The Philippines president-elect, Ramon Magsaysay, said in an interview today that Quirino has expected all Southeast Asian nations to accept him as a leader whereas first "we must win their confidence."

Magsaysay, who talked with Nixon last night, implied that he favors Filipino leadership of a Southeast Asia alliance, but intends to proceed slowly.

The president-elect declined to say what he and Nixon talked about.

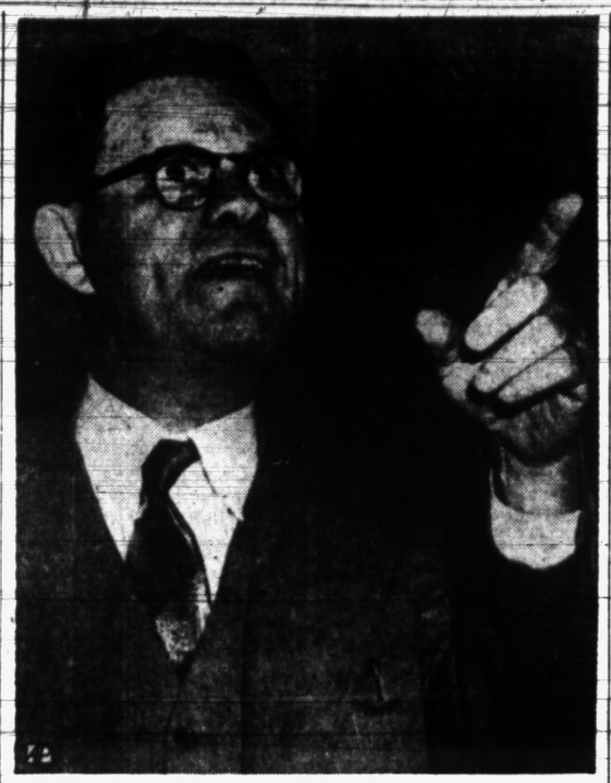

"We just sat and stared at each other," he said with a grin. Actually the two had an animated conversation for nearly an hour.

Magsaysay said the problem of Communist-led Huk outlaws in the Philippines no longer is serious. He said there are only about 3,000 Huks left and once he takes office Dec. 31, "I'll go after them and finish them."

Hospital Seeks $155,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — "My son! My son! Bless the Lord!"

Shouting these words and waving her arms in the air, Bessie Dickenson early today rushed into the arms of her son, the prisoner of war who embraced communism and then changed his mind.

It was the first time Cpl. Edward Dickenson had seen his mother in more than three years and for a breathless moment a score of reporters and photographers stood mutely by.

Then pandemonium broke loose. Photo bulbs snapped and questions came from everywhere. In the midst of all this, the Dickensons—mother, father, son and sister—kept on embracing and weeping.

"I thought he was dead," cried Mrs. Dickenson. "But the Lord has given me back my son."

Ed's father, 73-year-old Van Burean Dickenson, kissed the 23-year-old soldier on the cheek.

"God bless you," said the elderly farmer from Cracker's Neck, Va.

The family had about 10 minutes together at Andrews Air Force Base. Then Ed was placed in a bus and sent off to the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center for a physical checkup—"just like any other POW," said an Army officer.

"It feels wonderful to be home," Ed said.

Then, in response to a question, he said: "Yes, I'm definitely going to reenlist. I haven't spent any time in the Army. I've been in prison practically the whole time."

"Oh, I hope he doesn't go back in," said his mother. "All we want is to have him back with us on the farm."

It was the first trip to Washington for the Dickenson family, who hadn't been away from their home in the southwestern Virginia mountains in 25 years. They made the 450-mile trip to Washington by auto yesterday.

They'll stay in Washington a few days sightseeing and they hope to take their son home with them. He's due for a 30-day furlough.

Dickenson was one of 23 American soldiers who refused repatriation after the Korean truce was signed. He later changed his mind and asked neutral Indian guards to turn him back to the U.N. side. The other 22 still have given no indication of a change of heart.

Law With Double-Edge; Husband Draws Alimony

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Portrait painter Jirayr Zorthian has been awarded $400 a month temporary alimony from the wealthy wife he says persuaded him to give up a lucrative commercial art business.

Superior Judge Kurtz Kauffman, saying the statute does not make a distinction between support for a husband or for a wife, ordered that the alimony to be paid by Mrs. Elizabeth William Zorthian, 34, remain in effect until a divorce action is heard.

Taxi Driver Fined $10 for Chasing Police Car

Officers J. W. Rankin and R. D. Brokaw claimed Wilcoxson followed them at high speed while they were chasing another speeder.

Wilcoxson's lawyer, Pat Brogan, appealed the conviction. He claimed it was impossible for police to keep an eye on speeders in front and in back of them at the same time.

Arabs Seeking Bigger Protest

Dissatisfied With Big 3 Resolution of Censure Against Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The Arab bloc worked over plans toda to get more teeth into a censuring Israel for the recent killing of 53 Jordan border villagers.

Backed by Lebanon and Pakistan in the U.N. Security Council, Jordan expressed complete dissatisfaction with the Western resolution. They assailed it as too weak and because it did not demand Israeli compensation for the loss of Arab life and property in the Oct. 14-15 raid on Kibya village.

The United States, Britain and France have asked the 11-nation council to vote the "strongest censure" of Israel for the attack, which the Jewish state maintains was in retaliation for a long series of Arab provocations.

The Big Three resolution asks for Israeli guarantees against future assaults and calls for reinforcement of the U.N. truce observer team watching over the tense Arab-Jewish borders.

Israel also has voiced bitter opposition to the Western resolution as "one-sided and discriminatory" and a "big step backward from peace."

Although a member of the U.N., Israel is not a member of the council and has no vote there. Jordan, a non-member of the 60-nation world organization, was invited with Israel to present its views to the council.

An Israeli spokesman said its chief delegate, Abba Eban, may suggest the Western resolution be dropped—or at least amended—in favor of broader proposals on the whole Palestine armistice issue. A member of the council must sponsor such a suggestion, and there seemed little hope that Israel would find such a sponsor at this time.

U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth told the council yesterday it should accept the Western resolution as soon as possible to indicate its censure of the Kibya incident and point up the "prejudicial effect which it can have on progress toward peace."

Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain and Henri Hoppenot of France seconded Wadsworth and asked the interested parties to wind up their arguments quickly so a vote could council already had all the arguments and evidence clearly before it and further long debate would only fog the issue.

The council was scheduled to take up the Kibya incident again, with the hope of reaching a quick vote, next Tuesday.

Water Officials Have Problem With 'Dumb' Deer

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—It's against the law for deer to swim in Berlin Pond, Montpelier's municipal reservoir.

But how to get the idea over to the deer? That's the city health officer's current headache.

He recently had reports that farmers' cows were wading in the pond.

That wasn't so tough. There's a city ordinance that prohibits animals from straying into the reservoir. All he had to do was tell the farmers to keep their cows away.

But who is going to tell the deer to keep the law?

Fire Alarm Causes Plane to Turn Back

GANDER, Nfld. (AP)—A Europe-bound Trans World Airlines Constellation with 57 passengers aboard returned to Gander early today after what appeared to be a false fire alarm 500 miles out over the Atlantic.

The big airliner was flight 966, out of Philadelphia and New York and bound for London and Frankfurt.

TWA said a fire indicator on the plane flashed a warning signal from one engine shortly after 9 p.m. (EST). The pilot radioed there was no smoke or flame but officials said he was instructed to return as a precautionary measure for a mechanical check.

U. S. Navy planes from Argentia escorted the liner back to Gander, where it landed safely at 1:08 a.m.

Husband Backs Story, Wife Wins Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The divorce that Mrs. Jean M. Robinson was denied last month because of insufficient corroborating testimony is now hers.

Her husband, William S. Robinson, UCLA anthropology professor, told the court yesterday he left home for long periods without telling his wife where he had been.

Mrs. Robinson had testified that he set up a bachelor apartment because living in a family pattern gave him a feeling of claustrophobia. They had been married 17 years.

Curb Service Not Part of Divorce Court Order

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—A mother complained to the Common Pleas Court her estranged husband's parents would not allow her to visit her child.

On investigation the court found the mother would drive up to the in-laws' house, sit in the car, toot the horn and wait until someone carried out the 2-year-old boy.

"Walk in the house and visit the child," ruled Judge Fred B. Cramer yesterday. "There is no curb service provided by this court."

Stars Angry Over Show for Royalty

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The week's work —

The city fathers of Los Angeles aroused a teapot tempest over their claims that the show for the king and queen of Greece was in bad taste. It was the last straw for many performers who have donated their services for nothing.

Many of these stars have long given their talents to entertain visiting royalty, film executives, sales conventions, beauty contests and other such events. When they work for free and then get criticized, the performers naturally are peeved.

It's going to be increasingly hard to obtain stars for any free shows but the most legitimate of charities.

Actually both sides were in the wrong in the Greek controversy. The politicos were ungrateful for all that free talent. And some of the performers failed to remember that the best entertainment is clean entertainment. . . .

The fan mag photographers tossed a dandy ball for which dozens of stars gladly paid $30 per couple. The players realize that these boys can be their best friends or worst enemies.

Such get-ups you have never seen. Jeffrey Hunter and Barbara Rush came as a couple of ghouls from a Charles Adams cartoon. Vera-Ellen in an obvious plug for "White Christmas" was attired in a white bathing suit bedecked with dozens of Christmas balls. She even had Christmas tree bulbs and was all lit up. Humphrey Bogart arrived late, disguised as Humphrey Bogart.

Marie Wilson, who cannot be disguised, was wearing a low-cut gown. Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh, who perhaps are angling for the forthcoming picture, came as Paris and Helen of Troy.

Lots of pictures were taken, making everyone very happy.

"It Should Happen to You" is a weak title for one of the funniest movies of the season. After stubbing her toe on tragedy, Judy Holliday is back with a farce and she is as delightful as ever. This time she's a girl who is determined to make a name for herself in the big city. She buys a billboard to feature her name, and things start happening. It's played for laughs throughout and succeeds most of the time.

Says Answers Out Before Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Eberharter (D-Pa) has protested that, even before questions were asked and answers given, a House Ways and Means subcommittee came out with a press release of a witness's testimony.

The release was issued yesterday while the subcommittee's hearing on the Social security program was underway. It reported testimony by Philip Vogt, a Nebraska welfare administrator.

In a prepared statement, released along with the questions and answers, Vogt criticized the federal welfare program as "arbitrary, degrading and unfair."

Subcommittee Chairman Curtis (R-Neb) said the release was prepared in advance after a conference with Vogt. Curtis said he resented any inference that the subcommittee staff, and not Vogt, prepared Vogt's testimony.

Pontiac Man on Probation for Nighttime Breakin

Thomas Blower, 29, of 668 Central Ave., was placed on three years probation and assessed $150 costs yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Blower pleaded guilty Oct. 3 to entering the Warwick Supply Co. on Orchard Lake Rd.

Wins Share of Estate

DETROIT (AP) — Probate Judge James H. Sexton Friday awarded the former yacht captain of the late Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck a $17,500 share of the Groesbeck estate. Judge Sexton awarded the money to Ernest Stanton. Stanton, originally sought $144,136, insisting that Groesbeck had made an oral promise to repay him for his services.

Australian ballot system of secret voting was originated in Australia in 1856. It was later adopted in the United States of America, the first state being Massachusetts in 1888.

Bowl Complications Mark Grid's 'Get Away' Day

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—This is getaway day for most of the country's major college football teams. It also could be bowl-clinching day for three of them and relief day for the members of two conferences who conceivably might be forced to vote a team into the bowls.

Maryland, one of the nation's two major undefeated, untied outfits, could get the Orange Bowl spot against Oklahoma by defeating Alabama. That's fairly simple, but the Big Ten and Pacific Coast conferences are more complicated.

In the Big Ten, Michigan State, Illinois and Wisconsin could wind up in a three-way tie for the championship. This is contingent on Illinois turning back Northwestern and Wisconsin beating Minnesota. That would give all three 5-1 records since Michigan State's season is over.

A vote would be called to decide whether Illinois or State would make the New Year's Day trip to Pasadena. Wisconsin is out of it by virtue of having played in the game last year.

Then the other conference bigwigs could start reaching for the headache powders. Whichever they voted in, probably would touch off criticism. For a time, it was thought that since Michigan State was on probation, the Illini would get it in the event of a tie.

But earlier in the week, most of the other schools' spokesmen disclaimed any intention of being influenced by the Spartans' probation. They'd make their choice strictly on football, they said.

Of course, if Northwestern upsets the Illini, the problem would vanish. Michigan State would go on its 5-1 record.

In the Pacific Coast Conference, both UCLA and Stanford have aspirations for the championship and they could wind up in a deadlock provided they defeat, respectively, Southern California and California. Both are favored.

Here, again, a vote would be required if both UCLA and Stanford win. In that case, the Indians would have definite advantage in view of the fact that they edged the Bruins, 21-20 earlier in the season.

The UCLA-Southern Cal contest, incidentally, will be the NCAA's television game of the week.

Meanwhile, Notre Dame, the No. 1 team in the Associated Press weekly poll, takes on Iowa, and for some unfathomable reason, many experts seem to think the Hawkeyes will make things tough for Frank Leahy's team. Not that Forest Evashevski's lads are not fine young men, but there is no reason to believe that they'll do any better against Notre Dame than the Irish's other victims.

The Ivy League has its big game of the year — Harvard vs Yale. This is the ONLY game of the season to the old grads of these venerable institutions and although no national titles will hinge on the outcome of the 70th meeting, it will attract a crowd of about 60,000 in the Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn. The Elis are favored by one touchdown.

Glimpse Into Future!

Griffith Sees Solons Title Contenders in '54

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking ahead at 84, Clark Griffith for the first time in many years sees a definite pennant threat in his Washington Senators.

"Give us some help in a spot or two," Griff said at his birthday party yesterday, "and we'll cause a lot of trouble."

Griffith and his board of strategy, headed by manager Bucky Harris, are pretty well pleased with the Senators' pitching prospects for 1954 — notably Bob Porterfield, who posted the league's best record last season, a glittering 22-10.

Along with Porterfield, Griffith and Harris expect their starting pitchers will be Frank Shea, Chuck Stobbs, Walter Masterson and an unheralded youngster named Bob Ross.

Griffith said he doesn't know yet whether the club will field its first Negro player this season. There's a chance of a deal with another major league club involving a Negro player, but this is unlikely.

"I'd rather develop a youngster of my own," Griffith said. "And right now, we have two fine prospects, Angel Scull and Julio Becquer. They have fine minor league records and we intend to look them over pretty carefully in the spring."

Scull, an outfielder, led the hitters on the Charleston, W. Va., club of the Triple-A American Assn. Last year with .290. He's batting .397 in the Cuban Winter League now. Becquer, a first baseman, is regarded as a likely successor to Mickey Vernon, the American League batting champion.

More than 100 well-wishers showed up for Griffith's birthday party.

Hunter Deaths May Hit High

By TOM FARRELL

LANSING (UP) — The number of Michigan deer hunters killed by gunfire may reach an all-time high this year, a conservation department official said today.

"If the present rate of gunshot deaths continues or goes up slightly, we may end the season with more hunters dead from bullet wounds than ever before," Dave Jenkins said.

Jenkins, a game division official who annually keeps track of the number of sportsmen killed and wounded while hunting, said the highest number of deer hunters killed in one year was 18 in 1943 and again the same number in 1950.

So far this season, seven have been killed while deer hunting — an average of more than one hunter a day since last Sunday when the season opened. At least 28 other deer hunters have been wounded.

There still are 10 days remaining in the regular season, which ends Nov. 30, while a special "any deer" season will be held on Dec. 1 in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula above highway M-55.

"With 11 days of deer hunting remaining, we very easily could exceed the number of gunfire deaths recorded during the 1943 and 1950 deer seasons," Jenkins said.

"I certainly hope we don't, but I just want sportsmen to know that it can happen," Jenkins said. "Maybe this warning may help save the live of one or two hunters."

Jenkins said 16 deer hunters were killed and 72 wounded during the 1952 season.

During all of 1952, including both deer and small game seasons, 25 hunters were killed and 254 wounded. The number wounded last year was the highest in Michigan history.

So far this year, at least 14 hunters have died from gunshot wounds during both small game and deer seasons while ae least three others drowned.

Rain hampered hunters today as the season neared the mid-way mark but cooler temperatures were welcomed.

Conservation department said hunting conditions were only "poor to fair."

The conservation department reported 694 hunters have been arrested for violating game laws since last Sunday. This total is about "normal," officials said.

At St. Ignace, the highway department reported 2,445 deer have been on southbound cars crossing the Straits of Mackinac since the season opened. They also have counted 54 bear, five bobcats, three wolves, and three coyotes.

COLUMBIA'S IRON MAN — Dick Carr, 21-year-old Columbia University quarterback, will attempt to complete a season-long "iron man" performance today when the Lions close their 1953 season against Rutgers at New York. The Beverly, Mass., junior has played every minute of Columbia's eight games this season.

Henry Registers 3rd Shutout at Hawks' Expense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sugar Jim Henry's steady goaltending is one of the main reasons Boston Bruins are in a challenging position in the National Hockey League race.

The 33-year-old veteran registered his third shutout of the season last night as Boston blanked the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks 2-0, to move to within two points of third place.

Henry's mother, Mrs. Essie Henry of Winnipeg, was visiting friends in Chicago and saw her son play in the NHL for the first time.

Last season Henry blanked the opposition seven times in 70 games as he led his team into the finals of the Stanley Cup playoffs. His three shutouts this season, two over Chicago, have come in 17 games and he has allowed only 2.18 goals per game.

Bruins scored both goals last night within a space of 52 seconds late in the second period.

MSC, boasting a 7-1 record and a share of the Big 10 title, is heavily favored over Marquette's twice-beaten and once-tied Hilltoppers. A 40,000 crowd is expected.

Spartans will be keeping an anxious eye on developments in the Illinois-Northwestern game at Evanston. A defeat for the Illini, trounced 34-7 by Wisconsin last weak, would supposedly give MSC a clear shot at the Rose Bowl berth.

Big 10's athletic directors will vote on their representative after today's games.

Michiga State lineup will be unchanged from the unit that downed Michigan, 14-6, last Saturday. Bert Zagers will start at right half in the place of ailing Billy Wells, who was released from the hospital this week after a bout with pneumonia.

Ohio State and Michigan wind up mutually disappointing seasons at Ann Arbor before an expected crowd of 90,000. For the 1st time in several years, nothing will be at stake except victory in the clash of the arch Midwest rivals.

Wolverines, off to five victories in its 1st five starts, now faces their worst Big 10 record since 1936. A triumph would give Michigan a 3-3 conference record. Buckeyes are seeking their 5th Big 10 win against two defeats.

Kickoff times in both games are set for 1:30 p.m.

Iowa Provides Toughest Test for Notre Dame

Irish Face Formidable Defense in Quest for 8th Victory

By TOM BRANAGAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A young Iowa football team that in late season has become a formidable, ground-stingy machine puts Notre Dame's crushing offense to perhaps its toughest test today.

Although showers were in prospect, a capacity crowd of 57,000 was expected. It rained most of yesterday in South Bend and vicinity.

Notre dame, ranked as the nation's No. 1 team, was seeking its eighth straight victory. The Hawkeyes, having their best season in many years, have won five games and lost three.

Forrest Evashevski's Iowans haven't yielded a point in their last two games—26-0 and 27-0 victories over Purdue and Minnesota—and have allowed their eight opponents only an average 102 yards rushing per game.

Their last loss was a 10-6 bow to Wisconsin, a team that ran up 34 points in each of two subsequent, lopsided victories—over Northwestern and Illinois—and is hailed by many observers as the best in the Big 10 right now.

Nonetheless, the betting crowd established the Irish as two-touchdown favorites, figuring Coach Frank Leahy has a squad that is always up to the occasion.

The Irish have stuck mostly to the ground in their undefeated '53 march. They've amassed 2,014 yards—an average of nearly 290 yards per game—on running plays. Twenty-five of the Irish touchdowns were produced in this manner, only six on passes.

Bill Fenton, Iowa end, earned lineman-of-the-week honors mostly for his part in holding Minnesota's Paul Giel to 13 yards rushing last Saturday.

With center Jerry Hilgenberg and guards Calvin Jones and Don Chelf of the Hawks ranked among the toughest defenders in the Midwest, Notre Dame's so-far invincible offense faced a trying afternoon.

Televiewers Watch Uclans Bid for Rose Bowl Berth

LOS ANGELES (AP)—This was showdown day for the Bruins of UCLA and their Rose Bowl aspirations. They engaged the University of Southern California Trojans and victory, or at best a tie, was mandatory.

It was the game of the year for UCLA, and the game of the week for the nation's television fans.

Upward of 90,000 fans were expected to witness the game in Memorial Coliseum, and millions more awaited the kickoff before the National Broadcasting Company television cameras.

Game time: 1:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. EST)

UCLA headed into the contest, last of the Pacific Coast Conference schedule, tied with Stanford University in the Rose Bowl race.

Each had a record of five conference victories and one defeat—UCLA to Stanford, Stanford to bowl-ineligible Southern California.

Naturally, progress of affairs at Palo Alto, between Stanford and California, was of intense interest here. If both Stanford and UCLA win, or both lose, or both tie, the bowl issue will be decided over the weekend by conference vote. The outcome will be announced Monday.

Aussie Milet Landy Fast 1st Time Out

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — John Landy, Australian who startled the track world last December by running a 4:02.1 mile, ran his first mile of the new season. He was clocked in 4:09.2 over the Olympic Park course.

Before the race he declared he had no intention of trying for Gunder Haegg's world record of 4:01.4. At the finish he had virtually stopped to a walk, but still won by 110 yards.

"I could have turned in a 4:07 mile today," Landy said later.

Illini 14-Point Pick Over NW

Eliot's Eleven Expected to Stay in Running for Bowl Bid

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Illinois closes out its regular football season today as a 14-point favorite to beat Northwestern and earn a share of the Big Ten championship.

A win also would keep the once-defeated, once-tied Illini in the running for Rose Bowl bid.

Northwestern hasn't won a conference game yet but has been in the habit of upseting the Illini down through the post-World War two years.

Wildcats have beaten Illinois five of the six times the teams have met since Bob Voigts became head coach in 1947, and in only one of these games was Northwestern favored.

This year the Wildcats have won three outside games but have been beaten five straight in the Big Ten. Illini were tied by Nebraska, then won six straight before losing to Wisconsin.

Pan-American Field Cut to 95 for Today's Grind

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tens of thousands of racing fans, many in colorful sarapes and sombreros, lined the highway leading to Leon today as a sharply whittled field of about 95 drivers headed north on the third lap of the five-day Pan-American road race.

Accidents, disqualifications, slow time and other reasons have cut down the original 177 who started the $100,000 classic on the Guatemalan border Thursday.

Italian Lancias and American Lincolns had a firm grip on top honors in their divisions, and these were the first to head for LLeon, 420 kilometers away, at dawn.

Two legs will be run today, marking the longest of the entire five-day dash. From Leon the cars will then go to Durango for the night, 50 kilometers from Mexico City.

But the route is far easier than that of the first two days, which twisted through dangerous mountain terrain.

Over a dozen accidents were reported yesterday, but none resulted in deaths. To date, six persons have been killed—two drivers and four spectators.

In the small sports car class, Karl Kling and Hans Hermann, both of Germany, were eliminated when Kling's car had an accident and Hermann's reportedly lost a gear box. They were driving Porsches. Kling was winner of the 1953 race.

Italy's Piero Taruffi and Felice Bonetto are running one-two on the Lancia team. They set new records for the race yesterday.

Chuck Stevenson of Milwaukee was leading in the international tourist division, or big stock car class.

Browns Streak on Line Sunday

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, striving to become pro football's first undefeated team since the Chicago BEARS WON 1s conference games in 1942, put their eight-game victory streak on the line against the Pitsburgh Steelers Sunday in one of the top weekend attractions in the National Football League.

The Chicago Cardinals visit Philsince the Chicago Bears won 11 conference games in 1942, put their eight-game victory streak on the line against the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday in one of the top weekend attractions in the National Football League.

Detroit, which took over the Western Conference lead last week and is a half-game ahead of Los Angeles, rules a 7½-point choice to turn back the improving Bears. The defending champion Lions have a 6-2 record while Chicago has won two, lost five and tied one.

The Rams, who tied the Cardinals a week ago, hope to get back on the victory trail at the expense of Baltimore. Los Angeles (5-2-1), runnerup to Detroit, is favored by 14 points over the Colts 3-5-0).

Deer Contest Gets Two New Entries Friday

Two entries were received Friday in the "best head" division of the Pontiac Press' deer contest.

Mrs. Karl Schultz, 51 Clive ave., brought in an 8-pointer, downed opening day at the Canada Creek Ranch. It was the 4th buck in 12 years of hunting for Mrs. Schultz. She reports that Canada Creek Ranch members had bagged 71 bucks by Tuesday afternoon.

Other entry was a 10-pointer, shot Sunday in the Huron Mountains in Marquette County by Glen Robertson of 2600 West Walton blvd.

Other successful area nimrods included Norman Wilson, 3300 Elizabeth Lake Road (8-pointer), Charles McDonald, 125 S. Airport Road (8-pointer), and Donald R. Bennett, 3069 Eastwood street (9-pointer).

Titans Play Tulsa, Seeking Title Share

TULSA, Okla (UP) — University of Detroit meets Tulsa today in a Missouri Valley Conference football game and a victory could set Detroit up for a share of the league title.

Titans play Wichita at Wichita, Kans., Thanksgiving Day, and a win there would insure the co-championship.

Fans at Army-Navy Game Keep Stadium Hands Busy

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Here's a football story for the average housewife—the little woman who has the chore of gathering the fixings for Thanksgiving dinner.

One week from today more than 100,000 admirals, generals and assorted citizens will gather at Municipal Stadium for the annual Army-Navy football game.

Between now and then a reinforced regiment of workers will be getting things ready for the mob—a task that makes the preparatins for even a mass family get-together look like a picnic.

Top man in the gigantic operation is Leo Previti, who has been superintendent of the stadium since it was first opened in 1926. His chief assistant is Bob Nilon.

Nilon has completed the installation of 31 temporary food booths to augment the 11 permanent stands. He also has ordered:

Seven and a half tons of hot dogs—150,000 of them a sea of hot chocolate—110,000 cans 25,000 chocolate bars 50,000 bags of peasandwiches.

In addition, Nilon's crews will have on hand—in case of rain—5, raincoats for sale.

Hundreds of dignitaries will arrive in the same manner, but one noticable absentee may be President Eisenhower. He has indicated 00he probably will be playing golf that day at Augusta, Ga.

Martinez Wins Nod Over Vejar

New Jersey Welter Moves On to January Date With Showing

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice Martinez moves on to a January date with Carmen Basilio or Rocky Casillo and soldier Chico Vejar goes back to Ft. Benning Monday morning.

That is the new result of last night's lively 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden in which Martinez won a unanimous decision with his quick hands and stabbing jab.

Vejar was down for an automatic eight-count from a right to the jaw in the second round of the bout witnessed by 7,319 fans who paid $27,267.

After the knockdown, Chico rallied strongly with a swarming body attack that should have pleased the TV viewers back at camp.

Vejar puzzled the customers by switching to left handed style in the sixth. Instead of confusing Martinez, it set him up for some solid right hand punches.

There was a strong home town following from Stamford, Conn., 149½ for Martinez.

Referee Petey Scalzo and Judge Frank Forbes scored it 6-4 and Judge Art Aidala 6-3-1, all for Martinez. The AP card had it 6-2-2 in favor of Martinez.

Toledo Coach Quits

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Claire Dunn, head football coach at the University of Toledo for two years, has quit.

Dunn, who disclosed his action last night, said he had no immediate plans for the future. His team won three and lost six games this season.

The coach gave no reason for resigning. School officials also had no comment.

It's Time Out!

MSC Minds Wander?

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Some astute judges of football psychology would not be too surprised if Michigan State should let its mind wander at awkward moments today and in consequence take an upset beating from Marquette.

The game means nothing to the Spartans so far as the Big Ten title is concerned.

Marquette, say the heavy thinkers, is too good a team to be licked by a set of young men who are trying to hear signals and listen to the stadium public address system at one and the same time.

Tris Speaker, one of the all-time outfield greats, thinks Jimmy Dykes, Baltimore's new manager, is making a big mistake in throwing away his golf clubs.

The Grey Eagle points out that he tromped the fairways almost daily in the years he was player-manager at Cleveland, and that he posted his best batting averages after he took up the game.

The latest reason we see expounded for Baltimore's failure to retain Marty Marion as its manager, incidentally, is the supposed fact that Marty couldn't get along with Satchel Paige and wanted to get rid of the ancient Negro pitcher.

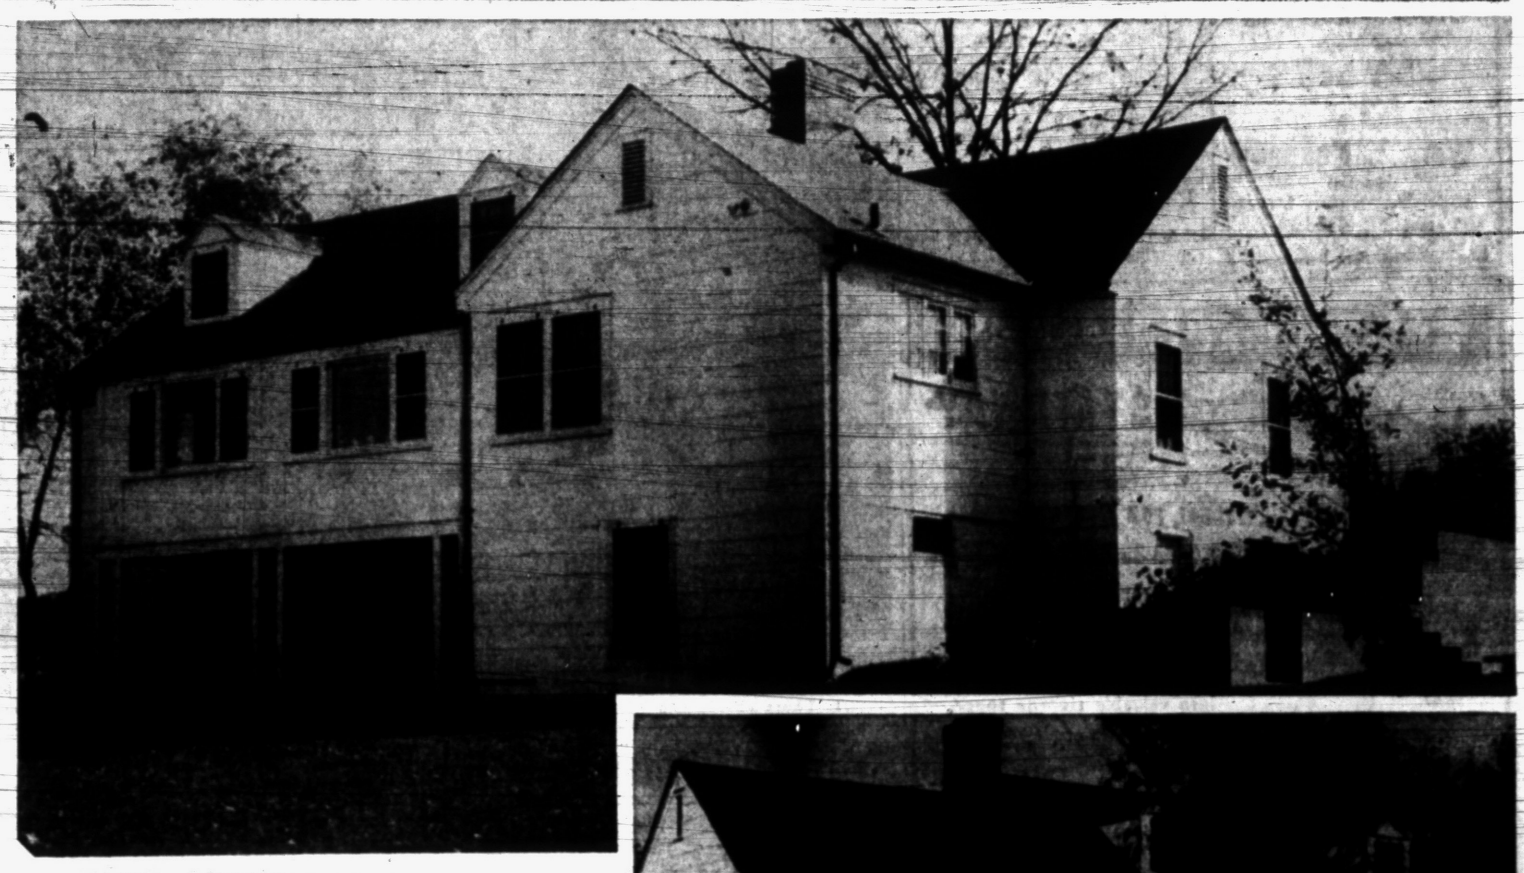

On the other hand, says this account, the new owners feel Satch will be a big attraction in Baltimore and are anxious to talk him out of his threat to retire.

background for LIVING

RECREATION ROOM OVERLOOKS LAKE—A 50 by 28 foot pine paneled room that features spacious activity floor space and a combination kitchen and bar in one corner, is on the first floor of the George L. Guinn home at Walters Lake. The floor of this room is in asphalt tile, but all other floors of this 11 room home are of natural finished hardwood. A stairway serves as a divider for this room and beneath this is a "hunter's closet." Adjacent to this activity room is a complete bath with shower, the laundry and utility rooms.

Architect Takes Outdoors Inside

Remodels Living Room to Include Portion of Lawn, Flowers

If you like plants growing inside your home, you'll probably envy the Joseph F. Gordons' "living" living room.

When Gordon, an ingenious young Dallas architect, recently redesigned and enlarged his home, he brought the outdoors in — including a banana tree with bananas, grass on the living room floor and an amiable little turtle who lives in the lush growth.

The Gordons' living room originally was 30 feet long and 12 feet wide, separated by glass from the adjoining living porch.

But when they remodeled, they removed the glass partition and included the lawned area in their home, walling it in with glass on two sides, and brick on the third.

They have ginger lilies, philodendron, azaleas, fiddle-leaf rubber plants, an avacoda tree, cattails, caladium and spider plants in their living room garden — as well as that turtle.

Wrought Iron Will Be Shown in Rainbow Hues

NEW YORK (INS)—Wrought iron furniture is going to look different next year, thanks to new color finishes and new upholstery ideas.

You'll be seeing gold, pink, white, yellow and aqua wrought iron items in the stores come January, in addition to the still-popular black.

And you'll see wrought iron chairs and settees upholstered in "indoors fabrics" like plush velvet, glazed chintz and modern-styled denim.

New wrought iron furniture displayed at the New York Furniture Exchange included "gold" chairs with red or green velvet cushions; a cheerful dining table and chair set of yellow wrought iron with a yellow and red glazed chintz upholstery fabric in provincial design; a white wrought iron sofa covered with denim in a modern charcoal, white and pink plaid, and a set of black wrought iron chairs with glazed chintz seats of white polka dots on charcoal.

The iron itself is being given a lighter look by simpler design and fewer curliques. There's less scroll work on table legs, and table tops are using frosted instead of clear glass to eliminate light reflections and shiny gleams.

Choose Practical Holiday Furniture

Holidays are just over the horizon!

This means entertaining and pre-holiday planning is in order when it comes to the most functional furniture arrangements you can contrive in order to enjoy free time with your family and friends.

Reflecting your holiday mood, your home could have one of the new tea-tables or wagons as they are sometimes called. Extra serving pieces that will save steps are the chest-servers, the flip-top or pivot-top tables, or room dividers.

On the market today, too, are the new expanding buffets, or credenzas. They are finished in both back and front so they can serve well as either dividers or wall pieces.

Tables have the new round banquet ends which can be used with drop leaves for large dinner parties or as wall consoles when the company has gone.

Furniture is functional and lovely to look at all year round, but at holiday time when space is limited and serving needs greater, it reaches the full potential of its versatility.

Consider this when choosing a new piece to go with what you have.

Wood Treatment Highlights Guinn Home

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

The living room, running from the front to the back of the house, has walls of limed oak. Because of an interlocking process, there are no visible lines where the panels fit together.

An inlaid patern with the grains running at geometric angles is used for the fireplace wall. Colors in this room are gray, with shades of rose and green. Brass is the accessory to give a highlight to the neutrality of the wooded walls.

The stairway leading to the third story is paneled in the same West Virginia pine with a finish in mahogany stained varnish. The bedrooms upstairs also are walled in this wood.

A 50 by 28 foot recreation room, with a fireplace, has a bar and kitchen combination at one end. This room has an asphalt tile floor and is pine paneled.

For entertaining flexibility, Mrs. Guinn selected several four-party red chrome and plastic tables with matching chairs.

"According to the size of your group, you can set these together and take care of any number of people," she said.

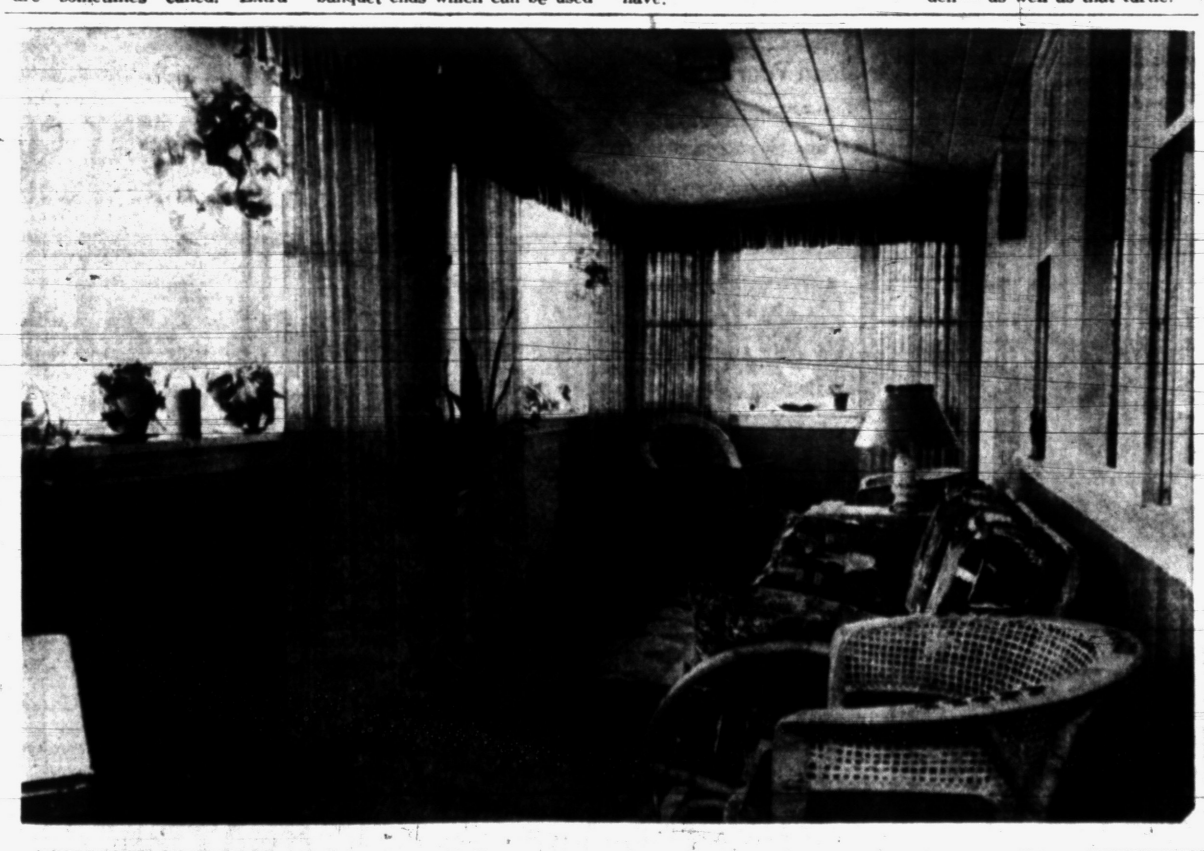

Adjacent to this is a complete bath and shower facility, a laundry room and a utility room. The concrete patio opens from this room onto the lake frontage.

Ten closets are featured in this house with six lined in cedar. They are placed so that there is no waste wall space in any area of this plan.

A sun porch connects the kitchen and living room of the second story. Split bamboo draperies are used here and the picture windows provide fine space for planters. Color scheme for this room is yellow and white with touches of green and red.

Completing the floor plan of this home is a two-car garage which is part of the second-story area.

Guinn is superintendent of the Pontiac Motor Gear and Axle Plant. The house was designed and built by W. S. Downes of the Pontiac Millwork Company.

SUN PORCH INVITES PLANTERS—African Violets and many other varieties of green plants thrive in the window areas of this sun porch. Split bamboo draperies are used at the windows and the color scheme for this room is white, yellow, red and green. Mrs. Guinn says this is her favorite work room. She is a ceramist and artist.

Pontiac Press Photos

LIVING ROOM HAS OAK WALLS—Limed oak completely panels the walls of the Guinn's living room. It has been so intricately interlocked that no lines are visible where the panels are put together. The wall over the fireplace has an inlaid pattern of the oak. Brass accessories provide the highlight for this room to relieve the neutrality of the wood. Grays and roses are other colors used.

Tufted Carpets Are Developed in Cotton, Wool

Tufting is the talk of the town when it comes to floor coverings. And carpet firms experimenting with heretofore untried tufted textures have achieved two new results—the first multi-level tufted cotton carpet and the first tufted wool carpeting.

Modern makes its mark on floor coverings. And with modern making fashion news in furniture, fabric and accessory lines, it is reported that floor coverings will feature new abstract and linear patterns.

Full steam ahead for synthetics! the texture and color potentials of rayon carpeting are even further revealed this season with several more manufacturers in rayon production. And it is significant to note that as wool producers have invaded the cotton field, so cotton manufacturers have in turn explored the rayon market. Nylon is now imported from Holland in popular-priced carpeting.

SHEER PRINTS FOR BEAUTY — Roller printed fiberglas drapery fabrics feature this new design which is called "Libbey Curio." These translucent draperies permit soft, diffused light to fill a room even when completely drawn. These will neither rot from exposure to sunlight nor stretch, sag or shrink. With a minimum of care, the original appearance lasts indefinitely.

Some Architects Foresee Building Slump Next Year

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Results of a nationwide survey of building activity, announced yesterday by the American Institute of Architects, indicate that, although the volume of building is still high, an "undefined cautiousness over the future exists in the minds of some architects."

The survey is a compilation of reports made by 11 of the 12 regional directors of the institute at its semi-annual board meeting in Santa Fe, N. M., last week.

According to these reports, work now in architects' offices—which serves as an indication of building activity in general—shows little change from conditions a year ago and no significant shifts since the last survey in June.

Four regions reported work volume equal to that of last year. Three regions, the New England, the north central states and the western mountain states, reported slight increases in work, but this was over-balanced by similar drop-offs in four regions: Texas, Sierra Nevada (including California), the central states and New York.

In New York state, housing alone has gone down, but it has dropped by 10 per cent. Massachusetts and New Hampshire show the most gains, the former up 16 per cent over last year, the latter up 10 per cent in all categories of building. The Northwest region made no report.

As in June, schools lead in building volume in all but one region (western mountain—residential. The general lineup of activity is as follows: Schools, institutional, commercial, industrial, public buildings, residential, churches, hospitals.

Despite the evident fact that building has been holding its own throughout the nation, six regions indicated a fear that 1954 would not be as good a building year as 1953. Two other regions felt that there would be little change, two ventured no prediction and only one, New York, stated optimistically that the outlook was healthy.

This general uneasiness is probably caused by the fact that new boards—work coming in to architects' offices—as opposed to work already on the boards is slightly down. Three regions reported a general drop in all new work, four reported drops in housing, one in industrial and commercial, one in public building and one in churches.

Some regions which showed drops in certain categories of work reported increases in other categories. Three of these reported an increase in school volume, one in public buildings, one in commercial and one in church work. But only New England reported a general increase in all categories of work.

Perhaps the most important factor in the slackening of incoming jobs is the tight mortgage money situation. Nine regions reported difficulties in financing which have slowed up residential building.

In the western mountain states, high costs, alleged to be the result of union labor, are beginning to price homes out of the market. Tight mortgage money is credited with causing a drop in commercial work in three regions: Texas, the central states and the Sierra Nevada region (where financing is tight in all categories of building.)

In three other regions, school building is, or soon will be, in difficulty. In New England many counties are reaching their public debt limit; the middle Atlantic states are finding interest rates too high for bond issues, and the north central states are meeting resistance at the polls against passage of new school bond issues.

Spatter Painting Peps Up Floors and Linoleum

Spatter painting sparks up old, painted wood floors or tired, solid-color linoleum. Try it sometime.

Here's the step-by-step procedure: The base color must first be brushed on the entire surface. Then the spatter colors are applied one at time, allowing each to dry before the next is applied.

Dip the tip of a brush with very flexible bristles in the spatter paint and strike it sharply on a stick held in the other hand, parallel to the surface to be painted.

In order to achieve the exact effect you want, practice spatter painting on a sheet of paper or cardboard. The size and distribution of the spatter dots will depend on how much paint is on the brush and how far the stick is held from the painted surface.

Brighten Your Corner

Got a corner that is the dull spot of your living room? Try placing matching occasional chairs finished in black and gold in that corner. Team these with a lamp and table. You will have a cozy tete-a-tete grouping.

Good Pictures Can Fit Budget

Excellent Copies of Fine Art Add Home Beauty at Small Cost

Pictures to highlight your decorative plan need not be expensive. In your stores are excellent copies of fine art with small price tags. The selection of sizes and frames is extensive and whether you prefer non-objective modern art or copies of the masters, there is a wide variety from which to choose.

You will note that picture frames today are simpler than in years past. The sculptured look, so characteristic of the new furniture, appears frequently in picture frames.

Wood finishes are warm looking, with natural wood tones receiving much emphasis. Antiqued white frames, or those with wash finishes, as well as wide black frames are available for contrast.

Several small pictures grouped together make an attractive substitute for one large picture. In using a number of small pictures you can avoid a stilted effect by selecting frames that are similar but not matching and coordinating them by choosing pictures with mats in the same colors.

Or select pictures with similar subject matter, that are closely framed, without mats. In arranging them, it is more interesting to use two or three sizes, rather than one size.

Hang your pictures so that the center of a large picture or of a grouping is at eye-level. Avoid arrangements which are partially concealed by lampshades or by greenery.

Doubtless you have family portraits or photos that you enjoy. Good places for such pictures are in bedrooms and upstairs hallways. Have some of them reframed and combine them with other pictures acquired in your travels or representing your hobbies.

Glass Door on Exterior Adjustable for Good Fit

Exterior sliding glass doors, which have become so popular with the trend to "indoor-outdoor" living, are now being made fully adjustable to assure the closest possible fit when closed.

One manufacturer is offering sliding steel doors, in which plate or insulated glass is installed, with adjustable anti-rattle top guide, adjustable bronze lock, adjustable bottom roller, which makes for more efficient installation especially in cold weather areas.

Until the atomic era, uranium was merely a by-product of radium and vanadium mines, useful for coloring glass, pottery, and artificial teeth.

Music Boxes Can Be Used for Decoration

Idea for a music room, for the wall above a television set or over the piano: Arrange a grouping of musical shadow boxes, each dedicated to a different composer.

These music boxes are a trifle over five inches square and about two inches deep. On the face of each mahogany finished case is a bronze colored medallion of a composer's head. Inside, each is a Swiss music box which plays one of the composer's compositions.

A ball, attached to a cord, hangs from the bottom of the frame. To wind the mechanism, the ball is pulled downward as far as it will go. To start the music, a peg on one side of the frame is pulled out. The tune can be stopped at any time by pushing in the peg.

One of the plaques is a head of Mozart, and the music box plays his "Magic Flute." Others include Beethoven with a minuet and a sonata; Wagner and his "Wedding March" from Lohengrin; Haydn and his "Serenade," and Johann Strauss and "Roses From the South."

Determine Paint Needs

When figuring how much paint you will need for the redecorating of a room, you need to get out your yardstick and take a few measurements. Your paint dealer will want to know the length of one side wall, of one end wall and the height of the ceilings. Also make note of the number and size of the doors and windows in the room.

Soap, Alkali Not for Rugs

Soap and alkaline solutions should not be used on carpets. Soapy cleaners generally leave a greasy deposit which promotes resoiling and matting of the pile. Alkalies (ammonia, washing soda, water softeners) may cause a bleeding of colors and some damage to wool.

In replacing a window pane, householders should apply linseed oil to that part of the window frame which touches the putty, to prevent later cracking and loosening.

Predicts Homes to Use Plastics

Within Next Ten Years, Engineer Sees World Now Unknown

By 1963, homes may be made partly of plastic, will have electronically - controlled air conditioning and heating, probably will include a seeing telephone and may receive electricity from an atomic power plant, an authority of automatic controls predicted this week.

"We are entering an automatic world where electronics will do things for us we cannot now imagine," John E. Haines told the Nebraska Chapter of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, at Omaha.

Declaring that engineering and research would result in "tremendous technological advances in every direction," Haines predicted that within the next 10 years:

Atomic energy will be commonly used to create electrical power, drive ships, airplanes and submarines.

Residential air conditioning will become as commonplace as automatic heating is today, and will be controlled electronically.

Homes, commercial and industrial buildings will become more functional, yet better in appearance, and lower in cost.

Plastics will replace many metals and building materials, and complete buildings will be built of plastic materials.

Planes will fly non-stop around the world in less than 18 hours.

Guided missiles or rockets will reach the moon.

Haines, who is a vice president of the ASHVE, said that in the electronic world which we are now entering, "transmission of power and signals of all types will eliminate wires and cables, television - telephones will be in common use and transitors will soon be available to eliminate (vacuum) tubes.

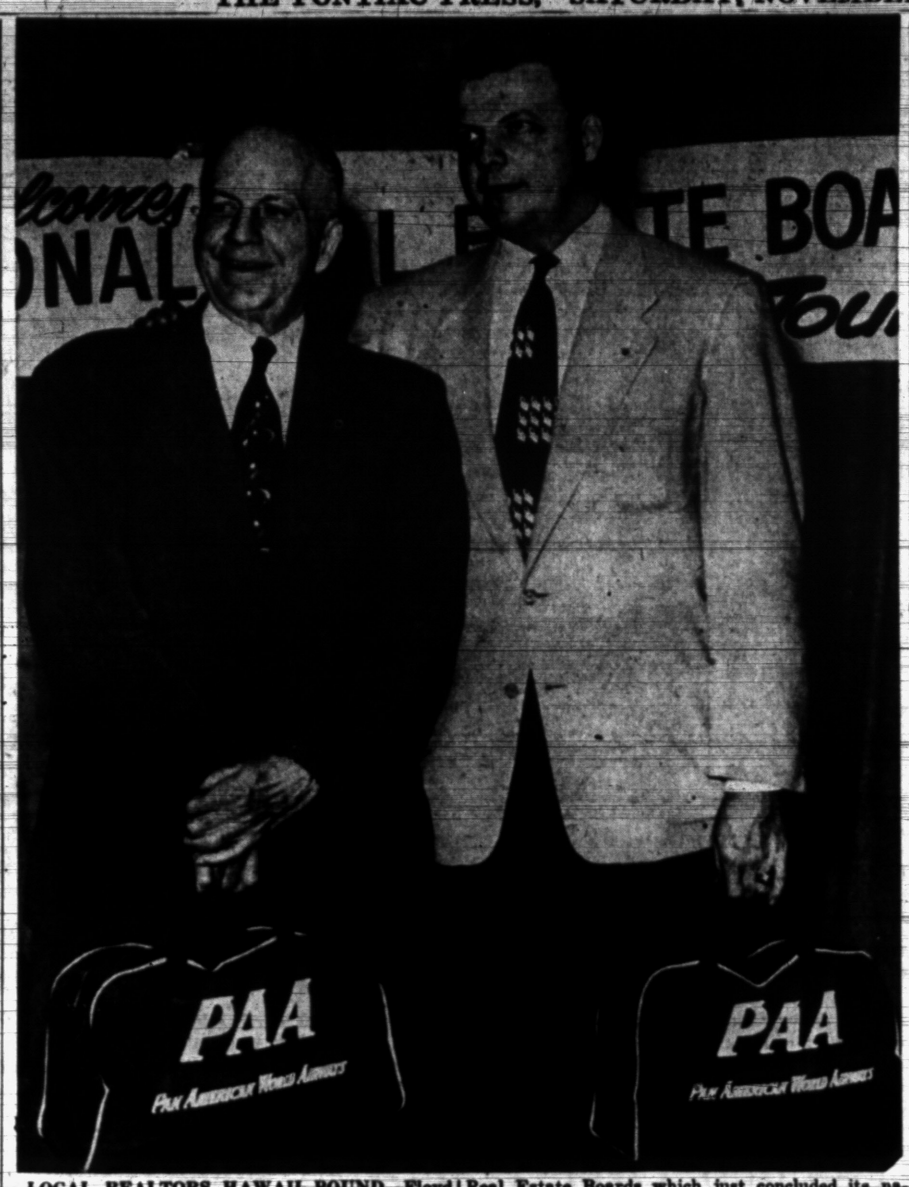

"Many processes and even complete manufacturing plants will become almost completely automatic," he added. "During the next 10 years, the engineer will really come into his own and be recognized as the leader in the growth and progress of our country."

All of these developments, he said, will result in continued improvement in our standard of living, our health and comfort.

Haines predicted that individual and two-family homes will increase during the next 10 years to more than 1,100,000 starts in 1963, with a few ups and downs on the way.

Similar expansion in the construction of commercial buildings, hospitals, schools and highways should keep the annual rate of spending for all construction at its present high levels and result in an increase of at least 20 per cent by 1963, he said.

Gas Furnace Gives Off 7,000 Pints of Moisture

During an average heating season, a gas furnace will give off, through its products of combustion, approximately 7,000 pounds—or pints—of moisture. An unlined or poorly constructed chimney should be repaired to keep this moisture from seeping into the living quarters of the house and causing structural damage.

Proper maintenance should be observed to make sure that vent flues remain clean and open. Because oil-fired burners produce 8 pints of vapor for each gallon of oil burned, they should also be vented.

Softened Water Is Wholesome, Good to Drink

Is soft water wholesome to drink? Yes, says the Water Conditioning Foundation, not only wholesome, but pleasing to the palate as well.

Water, the foundation points out, has been subjected to more than its share of old wive's tales throughout the ages.

One of the most commonly-held misconceptions involves softened water. Because it has had its calcium and magnesium hardness removed in the softening process, there are those who believe that such water has been robbed of nutritive elements important to the body, and therefore should not be used for drinking purposes.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, the foundation explains. Actually, the calcium content of water of average hardness — even of very hard water, for that matter—is infinitesimal when it comes to meeting the body's needs for this teeth and bone-building mineral.

The body obtains most of its mineral intake from food consumed. An ordinary plate lunch consisting of meat, potatoes, vegetables and dessert provides the mineral equivalent of 250 glasses of water — more than 60 quarts.

It will be seen from this that the individual attempting to drink his daily quota of minerals in the form of hard water will be fighting a losing battle, the foundation observes.

One million tons of sugar are used in making soft drinks in the United States each year.

Process Dries Paint in Seconds

New Chemical Method Invented by Engineers at Illinois Tech

CHICAGO—Quick drying of fresh paint without the aid of heat is science's newest contribution to industry.

A new chemical process has been designed by two Illinois Institute of Technology chemical engineers. It enables inks, paints and varnishes to dry in from 5 to 20 seconds.

It is the patented invention of Clarke Thorpe and Layton Kinney of Armour Research Foundation of I.I.T. The process is called Chem-Dry.

Thorpe and Kinney say the technique is based on a chemical reaction between the applied coatings and the sulphur dichloride vapor instead of the former slower method of oxidation by drying.

The process is simple. The sulphur dichloride is vaporized by a carburetor. Painted objects are placed on an endless belt which moves through the vapor enclosed in a chamber.

Exhausted air from the system is washed with a dilule caustic soda solution to remove any remaining vapor.

The Chem-Dry process is expected to provide a new economic punch in the fields of printing, wood finishing, wire, paper and fabric coating and metal decorating. It will permit quicker handling and packing of finished pieces.

Carved Look Shows Ease in Cleaning

In fine traditional furniture, designers of yesterday used carvings and turnings to add a decorative quality to wood parts.

Today's leading designgers are alert to the homemakers' desire for pieces which are easy to dust and at the same time add distinctioin and beauty to your rooms.

This principal is expressed in a new line of tables and chairs which feature the sculptured look. The wood is mahogany and the finish is a warm nut-brown, transparent color.

Numerous Surfaces Guarded by Shellac

Its a safe bet that you can't go through a single day without coming into contact with shellac in some form.

By far the biggest use of shellac is in protective coatings. Gun stocks, broom handles, venetian blinds, bowling alleys and lead pencils are all coated with it.

Good floor waxes, lacquers and nail polish often contain shellac. It goes into wax crayons and is used as an adhesive in the manufacture of dental plates and as a protective coating over the silver backing on mirrors.

Optical frames, toys and housewares are often made of plastic molding compounds in which shellac acts as a plasticizer. And these are only a few of its many uses.

Treat Concrete Floor With Fluosilicate

Clean the concrete carefully and then mop it with a fluosilicate composed of 20 per cent zinc and 80 per cent magnesium. Dissolve ½ pound of the fluosilicate in 1 gallon of water and mop it evenly over the concrete.

After the floor has dried, apply a second solution made of 2 pounds of fluosilicate to 1 gallon of water. Let the floor dry again, then immediately mop it with clear water to remove encrusted salts.

MODERN SILHOUETTE—Striking in its simplicity, this silhouette is the classic but unique combination of black and white. A coordinated bedroom grouping which features gleaming black lacquer highlighted by showy, damage-resistant plastic tops and small porcelain pulls. The handsome headboard forms a picture frame around the white, washable plastic inset. Panelyte-topped night tables, chest and dresser are the last word in practicality. The six-drawer chest features a mirror-backed hinged top that closes over a sectioned enameled compartment. Smooth-line night tables have one drawer and cross-band shelf.

Fabric Terms Are Described

Learn About Materials and Finishes to Guide Decorating Selections

With so many new fabrics and finishes in the stores, many new terms have come into use, each signifying an important characteristic in the beauty or serviceability of the material.

So for wise buying, better brush up on the terms and read the labels carefully when you make your selection.

Described here are some of the more widely used decorative fabrics, which you will be buying for draperies, slipcovers and bedspreads for the new season:—

Antique satin; satin: Antique satin is woven with slubbed yarn, that is yarn with soft, uneven places put there intentionally. This gives an interesting textured surface, resistant to soil and wear. Satin is a basic weave which has a smooth surface, a lustrous face and a dull back.

Chromspun taffeta: Taffeta from acetate yarns, in many beautiful colors; an unusually lustrous and beautiful fabric that is fast to laundering, dry cleaning, sunlight and atmospheric fumes.

Clipper sailcloth: A very strong, beautifully woven canvas type of weave in a wide color range. Excellent decorative fabric for hard use as well as colorful beauty.

Documentary print: A print design that is an exact replica of a pattern of early days. Usually the more classical patterns of the early 18th Century are reproduced.

Glazed chintz: A good quality chintz which has been treated with a patented resin that produces a finish and a glaze durable to repeated laundering and dry cleaning. This finishing process reduces shrinkage to less than 2 per cent, and increases soil-resistance and durability.

Plisse: A thin cotton fabric, chemically treated to shrink part of the material to give it a crinkled effect. This crinkling is not removed by repeated launderings. Plisse only needs pressing after it is dry to help shape it and straighten out double thicknesses such as at hems.

Provincial design: A neat, well-spaced design consisting of simple but usually convenionalized motifs, such as stylized flowers.

This type of design rises from folk art and has the characteristic flavor of the region from which it springs, such as New England, Pennsylvania, the Southern Highlands, France or England.

No point in Nova Scotia is more than 35 miles from the sea.

Painting Over Wallpaper Becomes Major Problem

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How to paint wallpaper is becoming quite a universal problem in this do-it-yourself age. Our women folks are now so fastidious they give us a glassy stare when we suggest that we just go ahead and paint and see what happens.

Well, thanks to the ladies, we realize this could be an expensive experiment, especially if we have to call in a professional to undo any damage. Wallpaper can be tricky. It can blister, buldg.e curl or fade through some paints.

Also, so many houses have been built with gypsum wallboard, which itself is covered with paper, that redecorating is even trickier.

It seems that one of the short cuts (or "trade secrets") of some builders (or their subcontractors) has been to apply wallpaper directly to paper-covered wallboard with no sizing or special paste to permit the wallpaper to be removed without destroying the wallboard. Painting the wallpaper therefore becomes about the only economical redecoration.

Faced with such a problem, we have sifted the advice of several authorities. One expert, a paint manufacturer, reduces the job to a fairly simple operation, provided the wallpaper is tight.

Another authority, the Gypsum Association, warns of proper application and proper treatment of dry wall construction in the first place. A third, a contractor, emphasizes the amount of work involved in a satisfactory job.

First we asked Douglas C. Arnold, president of Keystone Paint & Varnish. He said:

"Paper that has bulges, bubbles or blisters will not hold paint properly and will give an uneven finish. It is fairly simple to determine whether your paper is tight. Run your hand over every area. Check whether the paper is loose.

"Then be certain your paint will cover the pattern. Red and orange often bleed through because the ink in the pattern may be oil soluble under oil paint.

"Select a corner which is inconspicious for a test. Let it dry for several hours. If there is no trace of pattern you can proceed."

To prevent wallpaper ink from striking through paint, Arnold suggests a coat of shellac or aluminum primer to seal the surface. Then paint is applied with sweeping fan-like strokes to prevent the paint from running.

Gypsum wallboard manufacturers, however, contend that shellac or ordinary glue size, used on bare wallboard before applying wallpaper, can prove too brittle. Peeling can be a hazard.

Manufacturers of rubber (latex) base paints say no sizing is required. Of course, careful concealment of all joints and nailheads is taken for granted in all cases.

"Wallpaper should never be applied to gypsum wallboard without first priming the surface," says the Gypsum Association.

"Sizing varnish or high gloss varnish cut 25 per cent with turpentine are recommended. Special sealers specified by the wallboard manufacturers will protect the wallboard when removal of wallpaper becomes necessary."

Wood Offers Exterior Variety

Almost Unlimited Range of Choices Gives Home Owner Individuality

Do you pay as much attention to the fabric when you buy a house as you do when you buy an overcoat?

Chances are when you buy a coat, its size and general shape are dictated by your personal contours. But its styling and texture are matters for your own preference and pride, tempered as necessary by your budget.

Yet, when you get ready for one of the biggest purchases in your life—a home—are you inclined to overlook styling and "fabric" in your preoccupation over such things as whether it is better to have a basement or not, or whether you should have a one or two-story house?

A recent sample survey showed that a good many home buyers do just that. In fact, more than a third of those questioned said they had no preference as to the material of which the house was built.

Actually, the choice of construction material and exterior finish for a home is the most interesting and challenging that today's home buyer can make, according to the National Lumber Manfacturers Association.

Here is why:

The size and shape of your new home may be dictated by the size of your pocketbook and your family. But its exterior wall finish offers an almost limitless range of choices for individuality of expression.

This is possible because of the many varieties and patterns of wood siding and wood shingles that are available today in all home-budget brackets. Also, architects and builders have developed many new forms of application of wood siding to give greater beauty and distinction.

Modern methods of manufacture, selection, grading and seasoning of siding materials assure that wood gives even better technical performance than ever before.

Check Soot at Source

If you have a coal-burning furnace, you can check soot at its source—the furnace—by throwing a handful of salt in the fire once a week. An old flashlight battery every two or three weeks is said to do the same thing.

Drapery Fabrics Multi-Purpose This Season

Drapery fabrics this season are multi-purpose, adapting themselves to any period, whether it be modern, Provincial or traditional. Because in feeling, in temper, in motif, fall fabric designs are fluid and refuse to fall within set style boundaries.

In outlining this season's decorative fabric trends, the fashion editors of Retailing Daily say that the fusion of pliable Provincial plus mobile modern motifs defies precise design definition, takes only one element — small scale for common denominator, expressing varying degrees of informality and suitable for all nuances of both Provincial and modern decor.

Novelties are a growing concern. Once sacrosanct "playroom" prints go all over the house . . . bring in humor, whimsy, a formula for fun fabrics and help to dispel serious stereotypes, especially in sheers.

Woven fabric lines widen as basic constructions improve. Cotton and rayon weaves show slicker surfaces, less slub. But texture is a talking point in cotton fabrics, finally being recognized as right for fall as well as spring.

Tough Climate Can Be Licked

Even House Roof Pitch Works For or Against Heating Efficiency

Howling winter winds and snow and ice can make your heating bill soar. Yet it's easy to keep your expenses down and enjoy far more winter comfort, if you learn to lick a tough climate before you buy or build or remodel.

The first thing you should do is really get to know your local climate. Too many people guess, letting their memories trick them.

Go to the local weather office. Look at the records. Learn the extremes to expect each year and what can happen in unusual winters.

Next, study the climate of your particular site. How does it differ from weather bureau data? You may find as much difference as in moving 300 miles south or north.

Remember that the shape of your house, its roof pitch, even its roof color can work for or against you. In some cases, plants can be a help or a hindrance.

1. Big south windows flood the house all winter with fuel-saving sunlight.

2. Existing trees and shrubs can often serve as a windbreak.

Special awning-type windows lock airtight when closed.

4. To keep winter cold out and furnace heat in, when building employ both wood fiber and glass fiber insulation plus an aluminum foil vapor seal.

5. Weatherstripping on doors that lifts automatically when door opens.

Ice Pick Will Determine the Soundness of Wood

An ice pick is the best tool to use for determining whether a sill or floor joist is rotten or not.

Simply jab the ice pick into the "suspected" wood. If it goes in easily and deeply, the wood is rotten. If it penetrates only a fraction of an inch, there's nothing to worry about.

ROOM TO LIVE—The family room is an important feature of homes designed for modern living. This is a room in which the family does most of its living—an informal living room, a main floor recreation room, a party room, a multi-purpose room. In this plan it merges with the boys' bedroom, which can be closed off with a folding partition. It opens into the kitchen to give the mother constant view of youngsters at play. A glass wall separates it from the play yard, still within view of the kitchen. This house was designed by Wiltshire & Fisher, architects, 5217 Ross St., Dallas, Texas, in cooperation with engineers of General Electric. Wide roof overhangs and basementless construction are used for year-round air conditioning. All equipment is electric. (Further information and blueprints available from the architects).

Color Scheme Base Is Problem

Should Decision Begin With Carpet, Walls or Decorative Fabrics?

In establishing my room color scheme, where should my decisions begin — with the carpet, walls or decorative fabrics?

This is a problem that confronts every homemaker at one time or another. One decorator suggests this rule of thumb:

Pick your carpet first if you want it multicolored, for the entire room will be built around it. One of its colors may be repeated in the walls, others in the upholstery and draperies. This creates a harmonious relationship.

It's also well to choose your carpet first when you plan on painted walls of a definite color. This will permit your painter to mix a tone to blend with the carpeting or match it. It's easier to mix paint to go with carpet than to find carpet to match paint.

When walls are to be papered with an elaborate floral or scenic pattern, or when large expanses of patterned drapery and upholstery are to be used, make a tentative carpet decision but withhold final choice until you know absolutely where you are going.

Then select a plain, solid colored carpeting to match one of the colors in the patterned surface. But keep in mind that your carpet will stay in your house much longer than the fabrics and wallpaper, which are a smaller investment and are likely to be changed from time to time.

Creeks in the Canadian Yukon's Klondike Valley have yielded $215 million in gold since the initial strike was made in 1896.

Wood Paneling Will Recapture Outdoor Colors

Most people today try to live more closely with the outdoors, and even in wintertime this desire can be accomplished, for wood paneling brings some of the colors of the outdoors into the home. These are warm and important tones.

The selection of the particular wood should be made with an eye toward color and light reflection.

Those men who put up their own walls will enjoy bringing out qualities and characteristics of the living wall by careful sanding, rubbing and polishing before applying any seals or coatings.

It is possible to develope some fascinating color combinations and delightful shadings in the wood if a person is willing to experiment. Antique and driftwood finishes give character to some rooms, and are applied with ease. The color of natural wood, held faithfully by some of the fine new finishes, is recommended in living rooms and dens. Lovely painted walls in bedrooms and dining rooms bring out the delicate patterns of some wood panels as well as complimenting the furnishings.

Chest Adaptable to Many Rooms

Scaled for use in the living-dining area or small dining room, the group features a chest of four drawers.

Funds to Ease for New Homes

But Mortgage Market Shows Tighter Trend This Winter

NEW YORK (AP) — Money may be a little easier to come by this winter if you want a new home. But the mortgage lender's eye is much colder today than a year ago.

Builders still complain about a tight mortgage market, in spite of the recent easing of money and credit in general. But lenders put it this way: "No actual shortage of mortgage funds, but access to them is becoming more difficult."

Lenders, in other words, are taking the cream of the applicants, and turning down unattractive risks.

Returning from a survey trip across the country, George W. Warnecke, head of the national mortgage investment firm bearing his name, reports today a slight easing of the mortgage market in the last month. He finds the market fairly strong in the West, firm in the Midwest, and undergoing "a period of readjustment" in the East.

Caution, not lack of money, keeps the mortgage market tighter than it was last year, says George L. Bliss, president of the Century Federal Savings Association of New York. Back of the caution is fear that if home building continues at the rate of a million or more homes a year there may soon be an oversupply.

But a builder, David Picket, president of the Gotham Construction Corp. of New York, disagrees. He thinks there's still a substantial backlog of demand and predicts 1954 will be another one million housing unit year.

In the Chicago area, Warnecke reports, all homes are selling well, but in both New York and Los Angeles areas he found houses priced above $12,500 hard to sell. Stricter credit terms may be a reason.

"Requiring 10 to 15 per cent down payments automatically reduces the market in many areas," he says.

Demand for office space stays high, he reports, especially in some of the smaller cities where big corporations are locating branch offices. He finds lenders in medium-sized cities "generally ready to finance modernization of existing buildings but extremely cautious in underwriting new office construction of the type that is required."

Where is the money for future mortgage lending to come from? Earl B. Schwulst, head of the Bowery Savings Bank of New York, tells the Mortgage Bankers of America, meeting this week in Miami Beach, that savings banks have about six billion dollars they could invest in more mortgages.

Bankers who are holding back on loans got a scolding at the same meeting from the head of the National Association of Home Builders. John M. Dickerman said the public interest requires mortgage financing based on low down payments, long-term mortgages and moderate interest rates. He criticized the bankers for tightening up on their regulations.

A note of caution, however, comes from the Midwest. Norman Strunk, executive of the United States Savings & Loan League, Chicago, says funds are ample but there is "a serious question" as to the ability of the economy to go on absorbing housing units at the rate set since the war.

Veterans got an encouraging prediction at the Miami Beach meeting of the National Savings & Loan League. The league was told that GI home loans should soon be more readily available.

Recent tightness in the market for Veterans Administration guaranteed loans is expected to ease now that interest rates for other investments have slipped.

Follow One Pattern in Combining Styles

There is no set rule for mixing traditional styles of furniture. A basic pattern however, should be followed.

Generally, sturdier looking styles should be combined with pieces of furniture of similar construction. At the same time, the more delicate styles are combined with items of that type.

If you mix woods follow this as a guide: walnut and mahogany, or walnut and oak. The best rule however, is oak with oak, walnut with walnut, mahogany with mahogany, and maple with maple.

Pebble-Finish Wall Can Be Papered

Here are a couple of ideas for smoothing a pebble-finish plaster wall so it can be papered.

Though requiring more work, the cheapest way is to rub a brick over the wall to make it smooth enough for paper to stick tight and look well. A power sander also will smooth down the wall, but you'll need and wear out many sheets of sandpaper.

If the effect still doesn't please you, cover the walls with building felt before hanging the paper.

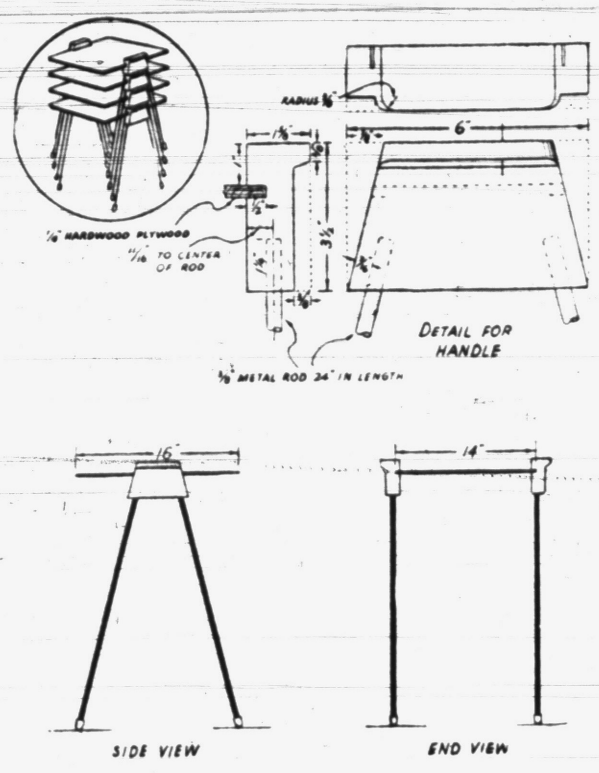

Celluloid Protects Wall

TV Trays Easy to Make in Home Shop; Several Types of Plywood Available

Plywood in hardwood species such as oak, mahogany, walnut, birch, maple and gum is a boon to the home craftsman who likes to turn out pieces with the true fine furniture look. Economical, practical and easy to handle, hardwood plywood is a material with which every workshop hobbyist should be familiar.

For a starter, here's a project that is useful as well as decorative—a set of "TV trays." Made to nest neatly together when not in use, they are just the thing for serving snacks to television viewers and at any buffet occasion.

The tray tops are simply pieces of ¼-inch hardwood plywood, 14"x16", of a species to harmonize with the room furnishings. They fit into wood blocks cut from a length of 2"x4" lumber, preferably of a like species, although a contrasting or dark stained wood may be used if desired. Metal rods set into the blocks serve as legs.

These blocks are the key pieces. They serve as handles and join the parts. The first step is to cut eight 6-inch lengths of 2"x4", two for each of the four trays. Next, diagonal cuts are made from points 7/8-inch in from each side of the block top to the extreme ends of the base. (The same result can be obtained by cutting the 2"x4" into trapezoids by a series of diagonal cuts, alternating their direction.

The bottom lengths should be 6" and the top lengths 4¼". The corners of one face of each block then are rounded on a radius of about ⅛-inch.

The third step is to cut ⅜-inch from the rounded face, which is to be the handle side. Extend the cut from the base to ⅝-inch from top. (See side view of handle detail.) The protruding edge forms a convenient finger lift.

On the reverse face, 1 inch from the top, make a ¾-inch mortise ½-inch into the block. Then drill two ⅜-inch holes into the base to a depth of 1¼-inch. These holes should be centered on the narrow dimension and drilled at an angle paralleling the slanting side, with a space of 7/16-inch between the slanting surface and the hole. These measurements are important to insure proper nesting.

All that remains now is to glue the plywood panels into the mortises and to fit 24" lengths of metal rod into the leg holes.

If desired, the gluing may be supplemented by toe-nailing from the underside. Rubber caps should be fitted over the bottoms of the legs. Finish the plywood top as you would any fine furniture.

Many leading lumber dealers carry hardwood plywood in regular stock or will get it quickly on order.

Women With Outside Jobs Ask Work-Saving Kitchen

Kitchens should be designed with more thought to the woman who works outside the home.

New U. S. Labor Department statistics show that more than half of all working women are married.

In addition to holding down an office or factory job, they are also chief cooks and bottle washers in kitchens that often make home work hard rather than easy.

To be easy and pleasant to work in, every kitchen needs these features, home economists point out:

1. Easily cleaned and maintained surfaces. Dish washing and clean-up chores are lightened by the use of such materials as clay tile, which is not damaged by water, grease or sunlight. Clay tile surfaces are permanent.

2. Good arrangement of equipment. A good rule of thumb is that the distance between sink, refrigerator and range, known as the work triangle, should not exceed 22 feet.

3. Adequate storage. A recent study of 100 new homes showed that 80 per cent had insufficient kitchen base and wall cabinets. Storage is needed at the range, the sink and the refrigerator.

4. Colorful decoration. Color often determines a woman's mood as she works. All white kitchens, dark ones and those in weak pastels are dull places to work in. Strong, clear colors in the kitchen make work easier.

5. Sufficient lighting. A single ceiling light throws the homemaker's shadow across work surfaces. Additional lighting is therefore a requisite.

6. Energy-saving devices. A kitchen stool, for example, is a must. The homemaker should not only have one but train herself to use it as much as possible, for sitting takes less energy than standing.

Check Two Points if Faucet Drips

Those annoying drippy faucets won't be a disturbance any longer if you check two sources of trouble; the washer and valve seat.

Replace the washer in the faucet. If the valve seat looks so worn that the washer can't press against it tightly and evenly, smooth the seat with a valve seat grinder to prevent future leakage.

Remove the faucet handle and valve stem and screw the grinder into the faucet body. Turn the cutting spindle several turns until the valve seat looks smooth. Then reassemble the parts of the faucet.

Clean Walls Before Painting

Solution of Soda, Warm Water Is Recommended for Surfaces

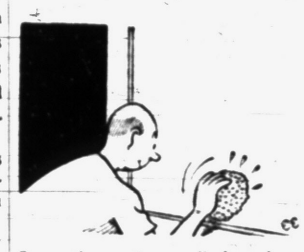

By HUBBARD COBB

When it comes to painting a room, most people take the direct approach and just go ahead and paint.

This is a fine spirit to have but it often produces rather poor results because in 9 times out of 10 the paint is applied to a dirty surface. When paint goes on over dirt the paint is likely to become streaked and there is a good chance of it peeling off or not drying properly. It pays, therefore, to remove the dirt before you start to paint.

A good solution for washing down painted walls can be made by adding a handful of washing soda to a gallon of warm water. If you prefer, a ready-made paint cleaning powder such as is sold at grocery stores can be used.

The best way to go about the actual job of washing is to start at the base of the wall and work up. Wet a sponge in the paint cleaning solution and wash a small area of the wall. Then take a clean sponge dampened in warm water and rinse the area thoroughly. Be sure to change the rinse water at frequent intervals.

Once the entire wall has been washed, give it time to dry before applying the paint.

If the surface you are going to paint over is a wallpaper, it too must be cleaned but youve got to be a little careful how you use water around wallpaper. Ordinary non-washable wallpaper should be cleaned with a dry wallpaper cleaner. The washable type paper can be cleaned with warm water.

If you are dealing with woodwork that has not been painted its best to use turpentine to clean it rather than water. Water doesn't do as good a job of removing the grease and it will also raise the grain of the wood which means more sanding before the paint is applied.

Extra Warm Air Flue Is Fine Bonus Warmth

The efficiency of home wall heaters has been increased by the development of an auxiliary chamber or flue by several heating companies. Besides heat normally supplied by the burner, this secondary heat exchanger draws extra air from floor level, heats it and re-circulates it out into the room as "bonus" warmth.

This supply of extra warm air not only adds to comfort but to econom yalso, since no greater fuel consumption is required, according to the manufacturers.

Rocker Can Be Fixed to Rock Just So Far

If you have one of those rocking chairs that rocks back too far for comfort, it can be fixed to rock "just right."

Screw a small block of wood, preferably hardwood, to the bottom of each rocker. Attach the wood block at a point which allows comfortable rocking but prevents the chair from going back too far.

Sliding Door Cushions Save Pinched Fingers

Many home owners like interior sliding doors between rooms and in wardrobes because they save space, but many have found it is easy to pinch your fingers in flush pulls or between the by-passing doors.

A new sliding door cushion that prevents such accidents has just been placed on the market. These cushions are attached with screws to the back of by-passing doors such as in cabinets and wardrobes and act as door checks to prevent slam and cushion the doors at the jamb when opened or closed.

Hew '54 Output to Auto Demand

Gear Car Production to Need More Closely Than in Years

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Automobile production next year will be geared more closely to demand than it has been for many years.

That doesn't mean too sharp a cut back in output volume unless the bottom drops out of the market. As of right now nobody close to the industry foresees any collapse in demand for new cars.

It does mean, however, that the industry cannot afford to pile up another surplus of new cars such as will remain in dealer hands at the end of the present year. The total this year end may hit 600,000 units.

Besides the large dealer inventories of new cars, the thing that worry the car makers right now include:

1. The dwindling total of new car orders.

2. The huge volume of used cars on hand.

3. The fact a used car has to be taken in trade on almost every new car sale.

The industry, of course, cannot turn production off and on over night. It has to project its production schedules weeks in advance. It has to keep its supply lines filled. It has to schedule the arrival of parts and sub-assemblies pretty closely to the exact number of completed vehicles it desires to turn out. Commitments for materials have to be made months ahead.

That's why potential new car demand next year will be studied more carefully than ever before.

The auto makers, of course, are not pessimistic about the future. Virtually all of them insist five million or more cars can be sold in 1954. They are investing just as heavily as ever in future planning.

Business Booms for Tank Firm

By WILLIAM H. THOMAS

It has been a good year for business as far as the Silver Lake Tank Manufacturing Co. at 2240 Edinburgh, Waterford Township, is concerned.

So far this year, according to A. O. Tharr, part-owner of the three-year-old company, 980 septic tanks have been sold as compared to 740 for the entire year of 1952.

"Our biggest problem up to this year has been that of getting enough cement," said Tharr, who owns the company in partnership with Fred Kemper.

"And even this year we have had to bring in ready-mix cement from cement companies to keep going," Tharr said.

Daily production of the company is four 500-gallon septic tanks and two 750-gallon tanks. This operation in one month will eat up 1,200 one-hundred-pound bags of cement.

It takes two days for the production of the tanks but the second day is to allow the cement to harden, according to Tharr.

The company, which sells mostly through dealers, makes the tank, delivers it and sets it in place. "We work with about 80 dealers," said Tharr, "but we do some business with homeowners, too."

Raw material, except steel which comes from Detroit is delivered from local sources, and the finished product is sold in Michigan, largely in Oakland, Macomb and Lapeer counties.

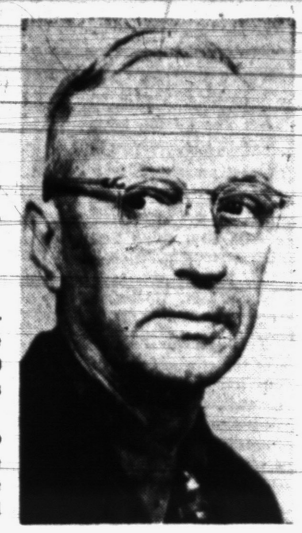

Tharr expects to add a third truck to the business next spring and perhaps begin making a 1,000-gallon tank.

"We've had quite a few calls for a larger tank which could be used in bigger homes and trailer camps," according to Tharr, "but our trucks haven't been equipped to handle that size tank."

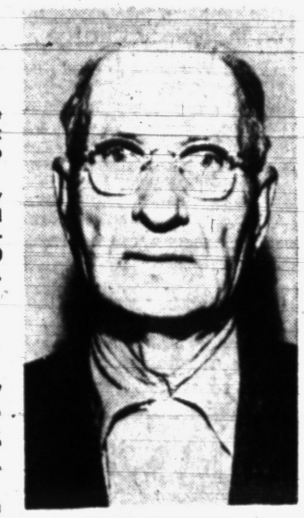

"Some people get around that problem by hooking together two 500-gallon tanks, and in some cases, two 750-gallon tanks," said Tharr.

Kamper, who has been in the cement business most of his life, learned the septic tank manufacturing techniques used by his company while working for his brother-in-law in Cleveland.

This is Tharr's first experience in the tank making business. He was formerly employed at the Oakland Mill Supply Co.

French Seize Vietminh Base

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — Thousands of French and Vietnamese paratroopers have jumped deep into mountain territory of the Communist-led Vietminh to grab a major base for new raids on their guerrilla foes.

The French High Command announced their forces, supported by U.S.-supplied fighter bombers, yesterday seized the big rebel war base of Dien Bien Phu, 180 miles west of Hanoi.

Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in north Indochina, said the capture:

1. Provides a center of the rallying and training of partisan fighters from the pro-French Thai tribes and for raids by them and the French forces on the Vietminh.

2. Removes a major threat to the Thai tribal capital of Lai Chau, 50 miles to the north. The Vietminh failed to capture Lai Chau in their sweeping offensive last winter which seized large areas of the Thai country.

3. Takes from the rebels a potential springboard for a renewed attack on the kingdom of Laos, whose northern frontier is less than 10 miles south of Dien Bien Phu.

4. Seizes "highly important" Vietminh base in the center of a rice growing area and at the crossroads of supply routes to the northeast and to the south.

Cogny said the French dropped "many battalions" on the broad plain around Dien Bien Phu and they quickly captured the town and its airfield. Fighter bombers flew more than 100 sorties against the area.

In previous such paratroop raids deep in enemy territory, the French have withdrawn after destroying enemy arms and stores. This time, said Cogny, they would remain and shortly would be reinforced by airborne troops and war supplies poured in through the captured airfield.

The French claimed to have inflicted heavy casualties on the Red-commanded rebels. It was believed the Reds had about one regiment of 3,000 men around the town.

Hal Boyle Says:

Meramac Cave Pays Off; Showmanship Is Secret

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Lester B. Dill's biggest asset is a hole in the ground.

"I guess you'd be safe in saying I am the most successful private cave operator in America," admitted Lester, who is the Phineas T. Barnum of underground showmanship.

As a barefoot farm boy Lester used to love to explore the giant Meramac Caverns, 55 miles southwest of St. Louis, where legend held that outlaw Jesse James and his gang hid and buried their loot.

In 1933 Dill achieved his boyhood dream and bought the cave, which he says is exceeded in size only by Kentucky's Mammoth Cave and New Mexico's Carlsbad Caverns.

It has 26 miles of passageways, an underground river, and according to Dill "is celebrating its hundred millionth birthday this year." Nobody baked it a cake.

The cave cost $30,000, and Lester, who saw the business possibilities in it that Jesse James overlooked, now wouldn't sell it for a million dollars.

"We've had 1,600,000 visitors since 1933," he said. "But the cave business isn't as rosy as some people think it is. You can't stand still in the cave business. You have to keep up with the times.

"People don't want to go into a cave just to look at the darkness. They want to see something. You have to dramatize the cave—put in music and daylight lighting."

Lester puts on a show that winds up with a record of Kate Smith singing "God Bless America" and a projection of the U. S. flag proudly waving against a rock wall 500 feet underground.

He has found that most people will believe anything but the truth once the get in a cave. Take those blind fish in his caverns. They are only two or three inches long. Lester went to a lot of trouble catching 50 of them and putting them in a pool.

"Everybody thought they were fakes," he said. "So I just tossed me a 30-pound catfish in that pool. Now, as far as I know, that catfish could see as well as an eagle, and I didn't even claim it was near-sighted.

"But everybody looked at it and said, 'See that big blind fish.' And they were happy. Couldn't sell 'em at all on the little fish that were really blind."

Same way with his guides. Lester has a hillbilly guide who tells the tourists tall tales about the cave, and a college-trained guide who tells the facts.

"Most of 'em prefer the hillbilly guide," Lester said. "People just don't have any faith in a college graduate in a cave."

Lester once jestingly announced he was prepared to modernize his cave and shelter one million people in the event of an atomic attack. Immediately he was besieged by mail requests for room reservations.

"As a matter of fact a well located cave is the safest place on the world during earthquakes, fires, floods, or storms," he said.

"You never heard of anybody being struck by lightning in a cave, did you? Lightning just won't go into a cave."

Dill says there are 418 commercial caves in 39 states, but most operators don't make much profit because they let their caves get out of date. That's why a lot of them are up for sale.

"Most folks, though, dream about owning an island, and I can't see why," said Lester. "I'd feel hemmed in on an island."

The first thing Lester did on his arrival in Manhattan was to visit the subway—and he promptly got lost. He has a very low opinion of the subway.

The subway charges 15 cents, and the customers come out scowling. Lester charges grownups $1.50 to walk through his subway, and they emerge humming "God Bless America."

"The only difference is in the showmanship," said Lester, modestly.

Scouts Need Leadership

Milford Girls Troop Is Without Head; Presently Has 52 Registered

Instituted about four years ago, this plan according to Stringham Principal, Mrs. Emily Hicks, succeeds in accomplishing three things.

"It creates a real enthusiasm for good literature and it opens the door to a most enjoyable and constructive recreation. It also serves as a valuable supplement for their regular academic courses giving them the opportunity to visit other lands, broaden their interests in the field of science, music and art," she said.

Mrs. O. L. Siegman served as story teller for the lower grade children and did a book review for the upper grades.

Liquor License Suit Dismissed

Macomb Circuit Judge Rules Against Romeo Hotel Owners

ROMEO—The controversial case of Earl and Ethel Hanson, local hotel owners, versus the Village of Romeo has been dismissed by Circuit Judge James S. Spier.

The hotel owners filed suit last spring after village officials granted liquor licenses to two local taverns and approved the hotel only as an alternate.

In their brief, filed several months ago, the plaintiffs charged the Village Council failed to consider different tavern classes as defined by a referendum governing sale of liquor by the glass.

Lawmakers unanimously approved application by one of the taverns but were divided on the second. Village President George Bradley cast the deciding ballot in favor of the other tavern, excluding the hotel.

Judge Spier, in dismissing the case, cited a recent decision which ruled that such actions of local governing bodies were not subject to review by a court.

But Howard Campbell, attorney for the Hansons, stated the case Judge Spier referred to was one dealing with renewal of a license, not the issuance of one.

Hanson said yesterday that he would consult with his attorney and local businessmen before deciding whether to take his case to the Michigan Supreme Court.

"Girl scouts have earned better consideration than just being ignored," Mrs. Mancour said. "They have helped with the blood bank, during the polio drive and canvassed the area for cancer information," she reminded.

Continuing, she stated that scouts had aided in the community house project, packed 1,200 Halloween candy bags, helped with the sky watch and in general have volunteered for every community project available to them.

In issuing her plea, Mrs. Mancour said Milford would continue to be without a girl scout troop unless three women are found who will help present organizers.

The first 26 couples in the square dance class sponsored by the recreation board were "graduated" last night in the CAI building. The classes are held every Thursday night with William Spalding as instructor. Basic fundamentals and advanced square dancing are stressed.

More than 50 young men were on hand Monday night for activities offered by the Young Men's Athletic Club, also sponsored by the recreation board.

All young men in or out of high school may register for the club for evenings of basketball, volleyball, weight lifting, boxing, table tennis, shuffleboard and wrestling.

Activities are held each Monday night in the CAI building starting at 7:30.

Comedian Imogene Coca Actually Is Shy Off Stage

NEW YORK — Imogene Coca, who co-stars with Sid Caesar on TV's Your Show of Shows, represents a unique paradox among show people. An extrovert when performing, she is in reality an introvert — shy, absent-minded, quiet.

The five-foot, three-inch comedienne, who has been referred to as the "female Bobby Clark," was born in Philadelphia "more than 21 years ago."

"Though sometimes I feel like a hundred," she says, "no lady in her right mind ever tells the truth about her age." She is actually in her thirties.

Her father was Joe Coca, a Philadelphia orchestra leader, and her mother, Sadie Brady, once worked with the magician Thurston.

At the age of eight, Imogene wrote, produced and sold tickets for school plays, in which she usually would come up with the best part. In her first appearance she was clad all in white, representing "an evil germ."

It was cold in New York's Fulton Theater, where she was waiting to rehearse a ballet scene for "New Faces of 1934."

Borrowing a man's overcoat nine sizes too large for her (it belonged to Henry Fonda, then also an unknown), she tried to get warm, failed, jumped up and started dancing like a Raggedy Ann doll.

She didn't know that the producer, Leonard Sillman, was watching.

"Don't stop, Imogene," he urged. "I'm going to put that in the show." So the sad-eyed dancer became a comedienne, instead of a ballerina, in the revue.

After building up a following at such elegant bistros as Cafe Society (Uptown and Downtown) and Le Ruban Bleu in New York, at the Palmer House in Chicago and the Park Plaza in St. Louis, Imogene was offered a job on Max Liebman's TV show, "Broadway Revue," in 1949.

Sid Caesar, a young regular on "Broadway Revue," occasionally did a number with Imogene — but it was quite by accident that they evolved the first of their classic sketches: a pantomime about a boy taking his girl to the movies.

Imogene suggested it, when a sketch was needed, because she and her husband used to do it on the stage. It was wildly successful.

On Your Show of Shows, which began in 1950 on television, Imogene may be a nagging, disheveled wife, a ballerina burlesquing just subtly enough to be hilarious, a harassed heroine of the silent films, or a sultry siren of the Theda Bara School. In private life she is shy and self-effacing.

Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca are liberal in giving credit to each other.

Caesar feels that the best evidence of the impression they have made upon the public as a team occurred when he took his wife, an attractive blonde to a night club. They had a drink, danced, ate dinner, and prepared to go home.

As they were leaving, Caesar overheard an elderly woman say: "Isn't that terrible? Just like an actor, traipsing around with a show girl and leaving his sweet little wife, Imogene, sitting home tending the baby. Poor thing."

LOS ANGELLES (UP) — Two Air Force F86D Sabre jets have broug San Francisco and Los Angeles within commuting distance of each other.

North American Aviation, Inc., builder of the planes, disclosed the jets flew from San Francisco to Los Angeles in a half hour yesterday. That's the fastest between the cities, the best previous being 32 minutes, 56 seconds, set in 1950 by a North Amerifan F86 Sabre jet.

Gillette Backs Ike's Proposals

Iowan Urges Complete Overhaul of American Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Sen. Gillette (D-IA) today urged a complete overhaul of U. S. foreign policy and programs "to bring them in line with President Eisenhower's latest proposals."

"Instead of a race to build the world into two massive military camps, we should put our emphasis on universal knowledge, understanding and cooperation, as the President said," Gillette, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview.

A drastic cutback in multi-billion dollar outlays for military buildups here and abroad is the "only possible way to carry out campaign pledges of tax reductions and a balanced budget," Gillete added.

The Iowa senator referred to Eisenhower's informal speech here Thursday to a Catholic University convocation at which he received an honorary doctor of laws degree.

The President said there was no peace in military strength alone and urged unity "among those who think as we do" to convince others that:

"Those who seek peace in terms of military strength alone, I am certain, are doomed to end up in the agony of the battlefield."

The President said all the peoples of the world—if not the rulers of some—share a "longing for peace."

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have called repeatedly for actions, rather than words, from Russia as a sign the Kremlin really wants peace. Such deeds as agreement on an Austrian peace treaty and unification of Germany, they say, would set the stage for to plevel talks to settle East-West differences.

Dulles has criticized the Truman administration "policy of containment," under which Western alliances would block the spread of communism. Instead, Dulles argues the United States must offer the Red satellites all aid short of war to inspire hope of eventual liberation.

CHIEF A. D. SIMONSON

Navy Chiefs to Assist in Local Recruiting

After six-months service at the main induction center in Detroit, Chief Alan D. Simonson, 30, has assumed duties at the Naval Recruiting Station in the Pontiac Post Office building.

Chief Simonson will handle Navy recruiting along with Chief John B. View, who became head of the station when Chief George F. Bellair was transferred to Key West, Fla., recently.

His recruiting activities include interviewing prospective volunteers, processing pre-enlistment papers, contacting high schools, showing movies and executing other public service duties undertaken by the station.

Man Gets 3 to 10 Years on Assault Conviction

Richard J. Peterson, 30, of 3163 Nortonlawn St., Rochester, was sentenced to three to 10 years in prison yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty on a charge of assault with intent to rape.

Peterson was found guilty Nov. 4 by Judge Doty of assaulting two women at a park July 13. He will serve his term in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Wild Turkeys Just a Memory

Huge Flocks Roamed Michigan in 1800s, Are Now Extinct

ANN ARBOR—Michigan has lost its "gobble."

The elusive wild turkey, largest of North American forest game birds, was an important Michigan resident until 1900, when it reached a point of extermination, according to Prof. Warren W. Chase, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Wildlife Management.

Originally found in the oak-hickory forests of the southern half of the Lower Peninsula, the bird used the hardwood swamps of the Saginaw-Thumb areas as its last stronghold, he says.

Dr. Chase explains that the Indians called October "turkey month" because of the great flocks roaming the land for grains, acorns, nuts, berries, grasshoppers and large insects.

The wild turkey found its way into the pages of history, too, the professor claims, for Father Marquette, on his second voyage to the Illinois Indians, reports the killing of the bird on several occasions.

Professor Chase points out that in Cavelier de La Salle's description of the Great Lakes country in 1679, he mentioned the "presence of flat country and open fields near Lake Huron and Lake Erie in which were seen numbers of turkeys."

Wild turkeys remained abundant until 1830-40, Dr. Chase relates, but the clearing of land for farms and logging made inroads into their natural habitat. He explains that market hunting took its toll, too.

Market shooting in Michigan ended in 1894, but by this time the wild turkey was "just a memory," Professor Chase says. In 1897, the bird was given complete protection, but he points out that "it is ironical that the last bird known to be taken in the state was in that year."

Efforts have been made to re-establish the wild turkey in Michigan, but they have been to little avail. The professor explains that birds were stocked on Grand Island in Lake Superior in 1904-05, but no trace was found of them after 1913.

In 1932, the Conservation Department decided to abandon any further attempts at re-establishment, but experimental raising and stocking are still being tried at the W. K. Kellogg Bird Sanctuary without "any great success," Professor Chase says.

"The birds released each year tend to disappear before they are established," he states, but "possibly there could be successful groups in the Allegan Forest or on the Fort Custer Military Reservation."

Professor Chase concludes that "to anticipate that the wild turkey could ever again be a huntable game bird in Michigan would be overly optimistic, to say the least."

Man Is Sentenced for Nighttime Entry

Donald Downing, 24, of 261 Perry St. was sentenced yesterday to one-and-a-half to 15 years in prison by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Downing pleaded guilty to the charge Nov. 6, admitting that he and two companions broke into a die and stamping company at 2170 Walton Blvd. on Sept. 11.

His companions received similar sentences Oct. 30 after the group

Gets Probation and Costs for Concealed Weapon

John L. Shaw, 29, of 264 Rockwell St. was placed on two years probation and assessed $100 costs yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for carrying a concealed weapon.

Shaw pleaded guilty Nov. 4. He was stopped by Pontiac Police on a drunk charge and a .22 caliber revolver was confiscated following his arrest.

Russians Claim War Inventions, Including Rocket

LONDON (UP) — The Russians laid claim today to being first in the field with a whole range of modern war weapons, including rockets, quick-firing cannon and mine throwers.

Moscow Radio quoted Col. Gen. Fomin, identified as a Soviet artillery commander, as saying that the Russians also invented rifle gun barrels 200 years before anyone else and were the first to use breech-loading cannon.

By the beginning of Worrld War II, he added, Soviet artillery was "superior in fighting and technical qualitites to artillery of any other country in the oorld."

3 Members of Family Killed in Auto Crash

JACKSON (UP) — Funeral services were held in Jackson Saturday for three members of the family of a Jackson dentist killed in an automobile accident Wednesday.

UD Team Finalists in Law Competition

DETROIT (UP) — A University of Detroit Law School team qualified last night for finals of the national inter-law school moot court competition in New York Dec. 8-9.

Other schools competing in the district finals were Ohio State, Detroit College of Law, and the University of Michigan.

Bank Cashes Big Check (for One Small Dollar)

CARLSBAD, N. M. (UP)—It was only for a buck but the check Jim Craft of Malaga, N. M., brought to the Carlsbad National Bank the other day was the biggest the bankers had ever seen.

Prepared by students at Malaga, the check measured six feet by two feet. It was properly made out for $1, so the bank cashed it.
