Sad Search for Victims Goes On and On

Workers Sort Plane Debris

NEW YORK (AP) — Squads of emergency workers struggled in icy waters and biting winds today to recover bodies of Thursday's air crash victims.

They also searched the wreckage for an instrument which might show what caused the American Airlines jet to plunge to disaster, killing all 95 aboard.

Toward noon, bodies or parts of bodies of 45 of the 95 victims had been taken from the shallow waters of Jamaica Bay.

Other items such as luggage, clothing and women's handbags also were being collected. Men's wallets and even loose paper money were found floating around the site.

The shattered plane's parts were pulled from the bay and trucked to the American Airlines hangar at Idlewild Airport. They will be studied in an effort to pinpoint the cause of the crash.

The instrument sought by air experts is a metal globe about the size of a basketball. The device is an automatic flight recorder. It keeps a second-by-second record of a plane's speed, altitude, direction and gravity forces.

By a careful study, investigators might be able to ascertain whether it was man or machine which failed.

At the controls of the airliner, which suddenly turned and went down in a nosedive just after takeoff, was a veteran skipper of the sky.

At 56, Capt. James T. W. Heist of Rolling Hills, Calif., had flown 18,300 hours. Of these, 1,600 hours were spent in the cockpit of a Boeing 707 such as carried him and his passengers to death.

President Kennedy took a personal interest in the investigation. A top government investigator, who conferred with Kennedy by phone, said that the President was deeply affected by the tragedy and asked that everything possible be done to prevent a recurrence.

Defense Chief Moves Fast in Second Coup

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burma's defense chief, Gen. Ne Win, seized power for the second time in 3½ years today and arrested Premier U Nu, ex-President Sao Shwe Thaik and other members of the government.

One casualty was reported in the army seizure of power—the son of Thaik was fatally wounded by a stray bullet when Thaik's guards and troops exchanged fire. Thaik was Burma's first president. He retired from the office in 1952.

Military informants said U Nu was arrested at his suburban residence at 3 a.m., and taken away by soldiers. Thaik lived a few hundred yards away.

Military personnel in quick succession also arrested Thakin Tin, finance minister and president of Burma's ruling party; the housing minister, U Zahr Lalan; the trade minister, U Thwin; the districts minister, U Rashid; and the minister for Karen State affairs, Sao Hla Tun.

The army suspended Parliament and seized strategic communications, transportation and security points throughout the country.

An army source said about 10,000 troops and 50 tanks took up posts at key points throughout the capital and blocked all main roads leading in and out of Rangoon. Heavily armed troops backed by tanks entered Rangoon. All flights in and out of Burma were canceled.

In Rangoon, however, there were no troops on the streets and city dwellers went about their business seemingly unperturbed by the events. A large concentration of soldiers took station at the central police station in the heart of the city, and smaller concentrations were seen at all other police stations.

Win declared in a radio broadcast appealing for calm that the army had acted to halt a "vastly deteriorating situation and to save the nation from disintegration."

What motivated the staunchly anti-Communist general's action was not immediately clear.

But the coup coincided with growing opposition to a government plan to nationalize Burma's private import trade and a rise in strength of the extreme left-wing of the country's ruling party.

The nationalization plan had been scheduled to go into force Thursday. The government had claimed that foreign interests were gaining a stranglehold on the nation's economy, and that many Burmese firms had been transferring their import licenses to foreign companies.

"The windows were all closed and they were sitting on the front seat."

"The two were dead when Mrs. Clark found them, deputies said."

"The girl belonged to Miss Little. Sheriff's deputies said a hole had rusted into the top of the exhaust pipe and in the trunk and that exhaust fumes were leaking through the trunk into the car."

Miss Little, an assistant buyer for Walte's Department Store, had been staying with a girl friend while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Little, are vacationing in Florida, according to her aunt, Mrs. Joe Little of 311 S. Winding Drive, Waterford Township.

The girl, an only child, is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School. Her father is a foreman at the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Pontiac.

Clark, a graduate of Waterford Township High School, was a swimming pool service man for Dotco, Inc., an Avon Township firm. He is one of five children—three sisters and one brother.

Clark's father is a gardener and maintenance man at Meadowbrook Farms.

The youth's body is at Moore Chapel of Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Auburn Heights.

Pilot Witnessed Jetliner Crash

Saw No Explosions or Fires Before Tragedy That Claimed 95 Lives

UTICA, N. Y. (UPI) — A former Navy combat pilot who witnessed the crash of an American Airlines Boeing 707 jetliner in New York's Jamaica Bay Thursday with a loss of 95 lives, said there was no indication of fire or explosions prior to the tragedy.

Capt. Robert G. Harrar, 40, of Oriskany, N. Y., was flying a Mohawk Airlines flight directly behind the ill-fated craft. He said the jetliner, en route to Los Angeles, Calif., had left runway No. 31 a few minutes before his own plane.

He said the big liner had gained an altitude of about 500 feet, veered sharply to the left and then went into a vertical climb into the water.

Harrar, a flight manager for Mohawk, was acting as relief pilot, on a trip from Idlewild Airport to Saranac Lake, N. Y. He told a news conference after landing here that his own plane was about 300 feet up when he noticed the dip of the jetliner.

"I was distracted momentarily doing something in our ship, and lost sight of the plane, but just for a fraction of a second."

"When I looked again, I saw the plane go into a vertical climb and I knew that a crash was inevitable."

"I radioed the tower of what happened and was told to circle the crash site so it could be pinpointed by rescue squads. I also observed and pointed out various access routes to the water's edge."

"There was no sign of life, only bits of wreckage, fire and smoke," he said.

Pilots Have Complained Before

Noise Rules May Be Key to Crash

News Analysis

By DIKE BUCK
Airline pilots have complained often and at times loudly of "dangerous maneuvers" required to satisfy noise abatement rules.

Their warnings may have become a reality. It's far too early in the investigation of yesterday's crash of an American Airlines jet at New York to draw any conclusions.

However, obedience to an anti-noise ordinance by the ill-fated craft's pilot has been mentioned as having a possible part in the tragedy.

Ninety-five lives would be a high price to pay for the peace and quiet of those living near New York International Airport.

Noise in airport areas has become an inescapable problem of the jet age. To keep peace with their neighbors, airport managers and the airlines, with Federal Aviation Authority have put into effect certain noise-easing practices.

Since a jet engine cannot be muted below a medium roar, pilots have been instructed to avoid spewing their engine noise over heavily populated areas as much as possible.

On take-off, the problem is remedied by quick turnouts toward less populous places once the plane is airborne. For landings, higher approaches are recommended.

Such practices have made it necessary at times for pilots to handle their jets in what they regarded an unnatural and potentially dangerous way.

ACCEPTED RULES

The pilots reluctantly accepted the anti-noise procedures but only when they'd practice them only to the point where safety wasn't sacrificed.

That point may have been exceeded yesterday.

American Airlines Flight 1 took to the air from Idlewild Airport's Runway 31 Left, a jet-length strip pointed northwesterly toward crowded Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan.

An Astrojet is a good climber — one of the best — as jet liners go. Yet a sharp turn, coupled with the faithful struggle to gain altitude, could rob a plane of its momentum severely enough to send it into a deadly stall.

Much investigation lies ahead before any "probable cause" in this disaster can be determined. But there's little doubt a fresh appraisal will be made as to how the struggle against noise can be safely carried.

Tourist Trade Boosts Florida Tax Revenues

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Spurred by a booming tourist season, Florida sales tax collections took a big jump last month. The 3-per-cent levy brought in $55.3 million in February, up $12 million or 9.04 per cent over collection for the same month last year. Comptroller Ray Green reported.

"Apparently the tourist season started late but is now in full swing, with good effect on tax collections," he said.

Sen. Smathers Asks Monument to Glenn Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to authorize a monument commemorating the flight of Glenn J. Harrar, Jr., was introduced Thursday by Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla.

As a sponsor for the proposed monument, Smathers suggested a location as close as possible to the spot from which astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. began his historic flight at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Smathers compared Glenn's achievement to the first airplane flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903. Both men, he said, risked their lives to reach Aqueduct, Mexico, about 7 a.m. Saturday.

The Robison took the men from two small fishing boats which had taken them off the island. The Robison expects to reach Aqueduct, Mexico, about 7 a.m. Saturday.

Navy Ship Rescues Fishermen on Island

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Ten fishermen marooned on a desert island are coming back to civilization on a Navy guided-missile destroyer.

The men were stranded on Clipperton Island earlier last month when their San Diego-based tuna clipper, The Monarch, capsized and sank. Other fishermen discovered them early this week, and the USS Robison was sent to pick them up.

The Robison took the men aboard Thursday, transferring them from two small fishing boats which had taken them off the island. The Robison expects to reach Aqueduct, Mexico, about 7 a.m. Saturday.

Smathers compared Glenn's achievement to the first airplane flight at Kitty Hawk in 1903. Both men, he said, risked their lives to reach Aqueduct, Mexico, about 7 a.m. Saturday.

At Seattle Fair Opening April 21

Church Group to Surprise With Unexpected Service

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"We wanted to do something which people who do not go to church would not expect the churches to be doing."

This, says Dr. Lemuel Peterson, has been one of the principles in planning Protestant church participation in the Seattle World's Fair.

The fair opens at noon April 21, twelve hours before Easter Sunday.

The emphasis will be on science and technology, but a stone's throw from the U. S. Science Pavilion will be the Christian Witness Pavilion.

What are the things people might not expect churches to be doing?

For one thing, caring for children while their parents see the fair. For another, presenting a seven-minute film recounting in space-age countdown fashion the crisis of life. For a third, not having anybody preach a sermon.

Dr. Peterson, executive secretary of the Greater Seattle Council of Churches, says planning started in 1959.

"A Princeton student wrote that she had read about the science fair and wanted to know what the churches were doing," he recalls.

Local church leaders got busy and formed Christian Witness in 1961, a corporation with 21 Protestant and Orthodox denominations participating. Dr. Lavern L. Rieker, a law professor at the University of Washington and an active Lutheran layman, was elected president and Dr. Peterson became executive vice president.

The local church leaders, meeting for weekly prayer and planning sessions, set a budget of close to $300,000 and have raised it by private subscription.

The corporation rented 5,000 square feet of exhibit space at the regular rates. Under Washington law, it gets no tax break.

Witness Claims Airliner Couldn't Pull Out of Dive

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—"It seemed as though something reached up from the earth, grabbed its nose and pulled it down."

With those words, Joseph F. Farano of New York City, a passenger aboard a Mohawk Airlines plane, described the crash of an American Airlines jet Thursday in Jamaica Bay. The crash killed 95 persons.

"NO CHANCE"

The Mohawk plane took off from Lidewild Airport seconds after the jet.

The pilot, Capt. Robert G. Hartran, 40, of Utica, said, "The minute I saw that beautiful machine nosediving I knew there would be a disaster. There just was no chance for recovery."

About 40 persons were aboard the Mohawk plane, headed for upstate New York.

"WORST EXPERIENCE"

In Troy, Thomas F. Mathews, who also was a passenger aboard the Mohawk plane, said, "Immediately after impact, the plane was gone. It seemed as if a big bag of water hit the ground."

Hartran, a war veteran, said he had seen more than his share of crashes but it was one of his worst experiences.

"IT WAS HOPELESS"

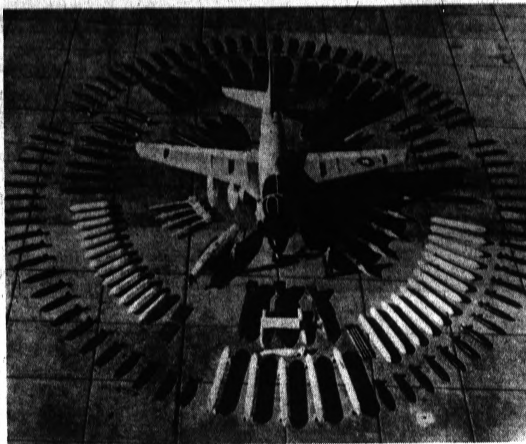

"When I first looked out, at about 300 feet, I saw it and I knew that it was hopeless," he said. "They were falling from about 500 feet. I was stunned and just stared for a minute. Then I called for my co-pilot to look. By that time it had hit the water and disintegrated."

He said the ill-fated plane "had as nice a takeoff as I have ever seen."

POWERFUL INTRUDER—This is the Navy's new Grumman A2F Intruder, an attack aircraft due for delivery to the U.S. fleet in 1963. The plane is surrounded by circles of the various types of bombs, rockets and missiles it is capable of delivering, although not in the quantity shown on a single mission. The photograph was released in Washington Thursday by the Defense Department. (U.S. Navy photo via AP Photofax.)

Part of Glenn's Rocket Booster Found in Africa

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A scored rocket fragment found on a South African farm has been identified as a piece of Atlas booster 1003 which hurled astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit.

The 3-foot by 2-foot sheet of metal was flown here Thursday and markings stamped on its surface definitely tabbed it as part of the fuel tank on Glenn's rocket. Identification was made by General Dynamics—Astronautics, maker of the Atlas.

The rocket section was found on a farm near Aliwal North, Cape Province.

B. G. MacNabb, base manager for General Dynamics, said the empty Atlas shell apparently orbited the earth about five times before breaking up in the earth's atmosphere.

A fuel cell that produces 500 watts of electricity directly from heat has been developed.

Soviet Envoy Resigns as U.N. Undersecretary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—George P. Arkadyev, Soviet national who has been U.N. undersecretary for political and security affairs since May 1960, has resigned, the United Nations announced Thursday night.

The announcement said the resignation was due to the illness of Arkadyev's wife. It is effective March 14. No successor was announced.

Doctor Warns Patients, Dies

Illinois Physician Was Suffering From Cancer, Had Told Townspeople

HIGHLAND, Ill. (AP)—Dr. Sedat A. Kayar, who told his patients last January he would soon succumb to cancer of the pancreas, died Thursday.

The physician, 41, didn't get his last wish—to visit his native Turkey.

"It is my unpleasant duty to inform you that my services to you as your doctor must end," Dr. Kayar had said in a letter published by both weekly newspapers here. He said the inevitable would probably come within six or eight months.

ALL WERE HOPING

It came much sooner.

"Everyone was hoping for a miracle," said Miss Verna Hornetiaux, Dr. Kayar's secretary, who had stayed on at his office receiving the mail and referring patients to other doctors.

There was little immediate reaction from the townspeople. One resident observed, "You know its going to happen but you always hope for one more day."

SPEND TIME READING

The doctor, an athletic man who loved to ski, spent his last days putting his affairs in order and reading, sometimes a few of the thousands of letters he received.

Two weeks ago complications of an undisclosed nature arose and Dr. Kayar went to St. Joseph's Hospital in Highland for four days. Early Thursday his condition worsened and he returned to the hospital.

Dr. Kayar told his physician, "I'll never see Friday." He died about four hours later.

Who ever thought a car that saves like this could have so much sizzle? Chevrolet engineers, that's who! Liveliness and luxury for a low, low price were exactly what they had in mind to begin with. And they began from scratch with a whole carload of ingenious new ideas designed to give you more car for your money. That spunky 6 with gas-sipping stinginess is just one example. Another: a new unitized body by Fisher that's fit for a full-size family inside, easy to park outside. Still another: tough but gentle one-piece Mono-Plate rear springs that outdo many a bigger car for quiet comfort. And along with the dollar-saving dependability you just naturally expect in a Chevrolet-built car, Chevy II has a flock of features that cut upkeep costs to the bone. For example, the various front-end components—fenders, engine compartment, the works—bolt on and off to make repairing easy. Any wonder Chevy II won Car Life magazine's 1962 Engineering Excellence award hands down? (The only wonder would be if you settled for anything less—once you get your hands on one at your Chevrolet dealer's!)

Public Transportation No Longer Segregated

A long overdue decision was handed down by the United States Supreme Court when they ruled that no state may impose rules of segregation on the use of public transportation.

We have been critical of this high court before and probably will not always agree with their decisions in the future. Yet, this action on their part we feel will be a real blow to the segregationist cause.

This is as it should be. Any law that will assist in halting the city councils and state legislatures in not treating the Negroes and white people alike is good, honest legislation.

Actually, for years the white Southerners have tried to prove their superiority by forcing the Negroes to ride in the rear or some special area of all transportation vehicles. This custom has been the background for a great deal of friction.

The last few years, rumpus after rumpus has been created in the South over segregated riding. This has been the struggle behind the Negro boycott of buses in Montgomery, Ala., and the jailing of freedom riders in Mississippi.

The court's ruling says: "We have settled beyond question that no state may require racial segregation of interstate (across state lines) or intrastate (wholly within an individual state) transportation facilities . . . the question no longer is open; it is foreclosed as a litigable issue." Our Constitution guarantees individual freedom and this law merely backs it up.

High Snowbanks Force Pupils to Wait on Road

Current road conditions with accumulated snow on the shoulders is creating a safety hazard with youngsters awaiting school buses on our major roads.

Rather than stand almost knee-deep in plowed-side snow, many children are standing right on the highway while they wait. Drivers have to cross the center line to avoid them, or come closer to the children than is safe.

The first driver in a string of cars may be able to avoid the boys and girls, but those behind him may not react quickly enough to avoid hitting them.

Parents should know the conditions under which their children are waiting, and create safe places for the youngsters.

Unrest Is Stirred Up by Some Labor Unions

It was just a little over a year ago that Secretary of Labor ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG was working in behalf of labor and now he finds himself as the middleman trying to get labor and management together.

Currently, he has his hands full with the steel negotiations. Adding to these worries, labor unions at some of our missile bases are acting up.

Just last May he brought about a no-strike pledge from unions at missile bases. At that time the walkouts had almost become a national scandal.

Unrest is again in the wind and trouble is brewing within some of the labor groups at certain missile bases. Before things get out of hand Secretary GOLDBERG has set up a meeting with the same union leaders to remind them of their promise.

Perhaps these union leaders are being taken by all the soft talk from Russia. There are no real signs to date from the Kremlin that things have changed.

The Red prattle continues and let's not forget that for all practical purposes we are at war in Viet Nam.

AREN'T reports that most of our young people are weak physically in error to a considerable extent? Many of them drive to school in cars that don't have automatic transmission, power steering or power brakes.

The Man About Town

One Way to Do It

After Extra Valuation in Spite of Neighbors

Puzzle: What the TV and radio cigarette and liquor commercials are getting at.

By adding a few acres of scanty population, but untold millions in assessed valuation, our sister city of Flint has discovered a rather unique way of hoping to cure its ills, financially and otherwise. The proposition was carried in this week's election, the city folks, who overwhelmingly outnumbered those in the proposed annexed area, voting for it by such a large margin that it went through. In the out-city precincts it was snowed under by a vote of ten to one.

Now the courts will have their inning. Judicial proceedings having already been started.

With the month of March coming in on the coldest day in Pontiac "since Hector was a pup."

A good pre-season summary of the baseball situation comes from Peter Burler, that year-round Birmingham fan, who sends word that, since Norm Cash has signed on the dotted line, and Bruno Kears was the Tiger gang at Lakeland, to tell us all about it, all that now is lacking is the opening of our 1962 baseball contest. OK, Pete, that will soon be forthcoming.

According to my Lansing advice, the con-con boys intend to ask us to pray for them, and Grover Nare of Rochester phones that we should have started it a long time ago.

Ice on most of our lakes is still safe for skating. But be careful on lakes that have a stream flowing through them, also look out for the impending spring thaws.

It is pointed out in a phone call from Mrs. Gertrude Ulber of Waterford that the word "it" has scarcely been used in the talks by

John Glenn, but it was used 12 times in a 45-word talk by Harry Truman when he accepted the nomination for President.

A letter comes in from former Pontiac resident, Randall Phelps, now living in Milwaukee, which says: "In the horse and buggy days, Pontiac and Flint quarreled as to which was the vehicle city. How about now?" Well, Mr. Phelps, we're still quarreling, and there would be no argument if a certain Louis Chevrolet hadn't happened to stop over for lunch one day in Flint, where they were afraid to let him come to Pontiac.

An Editorial for America's Todays - and All Her Tomorrows

By Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.

This has been a great experience for all of us on the program and for all Americans. I guess, too, and I'm certainly glad to see that pride in our country and its accomplishments is not a thing of the past.

I know I still get a real hard-to-define feeling down inside when the flag goes by and I know all of you, too. As we rode up Pennsylvania Avenue today from the White House and saw this tremendous outpouring of feeling on the part of so many thousands of people, I got that same feeling all over again, and let's hope that none of us ever loses it.

(The above quotation is from the astronaut's address to Congress. We bring it again to your special attention in this form because our newspaper believes it to be an unusually fine expression of the patriotic credo.—THE EDITOR.)

David Lawrence Warns:

JFK Had Better Boost Business

WASHINGTON — "Overlooking the obvious" is a common error in government. Billions, for example, are being added to government expense. The national debt isn't being paid off at all. It's growing bigger and bigger. Proposals are being made regularly by the Kennedy Administration to give various Federal funds through various kinds of benevolence called "welfare."

Little thought seems to be given to the obvious question — Where is the money coming from to pay the bills and keep America solvent?

Scant attention has been paid here to the true condition of the national economy. Slight changes downward in the percentage of unemployment are emphasized even as hazy predictions are made about the growth of national output.

The basic problem, however, is one of confidence — how to convince American businessmen that they can go ahead and invest money in America's future without risking large losses.

While businessmen don't like to talk about it openly, they worry about the future as they haven't worried about it since the depression days of the 1930s.

They are asked to speed up their operations — to buy new plant and equipment so as to become more efficient. They are told to "weatherbiding" and "unite and resist." They are confronted with demands for a shorter and shorter work-week at the same total pay. The prospect of extending through strikes or threats of strikes is constant before industries, large and small.

As for investment, businessmen ask themselves whether interest rates are ever going to come down and whether these may even skyrocket upward in the next few years.

They are told that the international balance of payments is the cause of the trouble. Yet exports are high.

ENCOURAGED TO COMPETE They read that the Kennedy Administration intends to penalize American companies that have built plants abroad to compete with Europeans. Yet Europeans are encouraged by tariff reductions to come here to compete with American companies.

Business is told by our government to risk its money in underdeveloped countries and, in effect, to abandon or disrupt profitable operations in Europe.

Wherever the accumulation occurs and whatever we call it, there is a disturbance of water balance that is much less easy to deal with than the opposite condition of dehydration.

LOOKS FOR CAUSE Your doctor's first task in the investigation of fluid retention is to determine the cause.

Maybe it's something reasonably obvious, like taking in too much salt or overdoes of ACTH or some related steroid product.

Maybe it's an infection of the pleura with tubercle bacilli. Maybe it's a manifestation of heart failure or kidney trouble.

As you can see there's not much point in striking out blindly until the cause has been pinpointed.

Once the cause is known, treatment may be highly successful. Maybe it's just a matter of cutting down on salt or fluids or of stopping a course of ACTH pills or injections.

Maybe it's a matter of toning the heart off by digitalis or driving off fluid from chest or abdomen.

Inside America, the case that business has against the Administration is even more serious. Depreciation allowances have been a part of the tax structure for decades past. The rates are out of date. The Administration has attempted to throw a bone to business by advocating an 8 percent credit on new capital investments in certain industries. But this is trifling and, because it is limited in scope, it doesn't touch the fundamental ailment — the handicap of outright depreciation rates as a whole.

THESE ARE NO CURE Temporary stimulants are not a cure. A special investment credit, such as is being proposed, which may be granted one year can be withdrawn the next. There is no feeling of permanence about it, such as would follow a comprehensive revision of depreciation rates.

The Administration vaguely promises something like this, but doesn't seem to get it going. Here, too, there is nothing on which businessmen can make plans for even five years ahead.

There are plenty of people who have urged the Administration to give more thought to the fundamental ills of the national economy and to be less concerned with temporary measures and gimmicks.

Practically nothing, for example, has been done to encourage the creation of jobs for the millions of youngsters coming out of school every year.

Uncertainty permeates the national economy today, particularly in the case of the young.

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Excessive Fluid Retention Is a Job for Your Doctor

Although many of us are accused of being full of "hot air," actually we are half water. Our water balance is regulated as precisely as the tides of the sea, so far for high tide, so much for low tide.

Sometimes the tide goes out a bit too far. Perhaps we didn't drink enough fluid. Perhaps we got rid of too much by way of our kidneys or digestive tract.

Perhaps we lost it through our skins due to overbathing or perspiration. We say we are parched. The doctor says we're dehydrated.

Either way, we feel thirsty and we restore the fluid balance by drinking whatever fluids are at hand.

Sometimes we overdo high tide and get flooding of the tissues. Our fingers swell and we can't get rings off. There's pitting of the shins. Shoes become too tight and leave dents when they're removed. The face looks puffy. Bags appear under the eyes.

We know we haven't overaten but somehow we have gained weight. Sometimes, under more serious conditions, fluid accumulates in chest cavities, the abdominal cavity, or elsewhere in the body.

Wherever the accumulation occurs and whatever we call it, there is a disturbance of water balance that is much less easy to deal with than the opposite condition of dehydration.

LOOKS FOR CAUSE Your doctor's first task in the investigation of fluid retention is to determine the cause.

Maybe it's something reasonably obvious, like taking in too much salt or overdoes of ACTH or some related steroid product.

Maybe it's an infection of the pleura with tubercle bacilli. Maybe it's a manifestation of heart failure or kidney trouble.

As you can see there's not much point in striking out blindly until the cause has been pinpointed.

Once the cause is known, treatment may be highly successful. Maybe it's just a matter of cutting down on salt or fluids or of stopping a course of ACTH pills or injections.

Maybe it's a matter of toning the heart off by digitalis or driving off fluid from chest or abdomen.

Reader Applauds Editorial on Bobby Kennedy's Jaunt

I heartily commend The Press on the editorial concerning the globe-trotting of Bobby Kennedy and his popping off to foreign nations without the authority to do so.

I'm glad The Press has the backbone to print the truth without being afraid it will lose its license like the National Broadcasting Company is if it doesn't low-toe to the Kennedy administration.

Master Plumber Has Questions I wonder if the doctor who charged "Ann K." $6 for repairs brought tools, supplies, etc., worth $5,000 or more. Would the doctor make a free service call the next day if it all was not repaired satisfactorily? Did the $6 include parts (prescriptions)?

Master plumbers have to serve an apprenticeship, and as a journeyman before they can qualify to take the state exam. They are licensed by the state health department to protect health through better plumbing.

I wonder if "Ann K." ever asked her doctor what quality plumbing means? Master Plumber

"Meter Man Method Not Proper for U.S." Using meter men to spy on dog owners is not the proper way of solving problems in a free country. Why not hire a good honest man for a dog warden and have a stiff fine for people who keep dogs without licenses? A few might be missed, but people are pretty much what we expect them to be. Let's make people feel they are honest until they are found guilty.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Should Youngsters Read Column?

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE L-47: Betty J., aged 12, is unusually precocious, for this section reads until young folks attain the junior year of high school.

"D. J. Crane," Betty began, "I read your column frequently. And I can truthfully say that I have learned something from every article."

"Think my Daddy and Mother," DR. CRANE said, "is all right. But the parents of my girl chums think a child of 12 years is too immature to be reading your column."

"For they say you discuss sex problems."

"But how do you have to be before you learn the so-called 'facts of life'?"

"I thought the purpose of education was to remove our ignorance so we could learn how to act wisely and thus be happier?"

YOU BE JURY What do you readers think about this case?

From past newspaper stories almost every week recount lurid sex assaults on women. And they often fail to employ the discreet euphemisms that I use such as "erotic calories" etc.

For example, I have often cited the fact that about 50 percent of all American marriages are failures, either because of actual divorce or constant quarreling. In one such case record, I simply ended by column by this euphemistic statement: "Most divorces start in the bedroom."

I did not elaborate or say another word. Yet an elderly publisher in Wisconsin canceled my column at once on the ground that:

"Dr. Crane is an immoral influence."

But his front page still carried lurid stories of sexual assault.

And he switched to a woman advice columnist who began her recent column with my same statement:

"More divorces start in the bedroom than in any other room of the house."

Now why do you suppose this Wisconsin publisher would call me an immoral influence, when I am a double doctor (M.D. and M.P.) and the special lecturer on family matters before Catholic, Jewish and most of the major Protestant denominations?

Should this important function of rendering sound medical psychological advice be left to untrained columnists instead of to Dr. Paul Popenoe or myself and other experts specifically schooled for this crucial task?

You readers again may serve as the jury, for newspapers are becoming vast "Universities in Print" and thus need to select their "faculty" with care.

As regards the time for children to be informed about the facts of life (or their adoption), we urge you to tell them when they please.

Parents, please don't blush or hurry your questions or give us any falsehoods and blarney.

And send for my booklet "Sex Problems From 2 to 20 Years," enclosing a stamped, return envelope.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 100, Pontiac, Michigan 48101. All correspondence, stamped, addressed envelope and in care of your post office and please send for my psychological chart and key for this crucial task.

Neighbors Grieve With Family Over Crash Victim

They All Loved Him . . . Now He's Gone

By EDWARD J. DENNEY

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — You've seen the little guy with the crinkly grin, shoveling snow from the sidewalks of his elder neighbors. On wintry mornings he'd be out in the street helping to get balky automobiles started.

That was Stephen A. Shan, 48. He kissed his wife, Ruth, and two youngsters, Emily, a 14-year-old blonde, and Stephen Jr., a sturdy 7-year-old, and said good-bye Thursday.

He left on a business trip to the West Coast. He never came back.

Nixon Urges GOPers to Leave 'Welchers'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a candidate for governor of California, is making his strongest attack against the John Birch Society and its leader, Robert Welch.

At a news conference, Nixon urged fellow Republicans Thursday to quit the ultra-conservative organization because Welch won't "Welch," he said, is the Birch society.

Describing the former candy-maker as dictatorial and anti-Republican, Nixon said he would not endorse any Republican candidate who does not make the choice between Dwight Eisenhower and Robert Welch.

This was an apparent reference to statements attributed to Welch calling Eisenhower "a dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy."

Miami Weather Unit Reports Driest Season

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The past six months have been the driest since the U.S. Weather Bureau began keeping records at Miami International Airport in 1939.

The Weather Bureau said only 11.19 inches of rainfall were recorded during the six-month period ended Feb. 28, compared with the normal average 25.18 inches. The previous low of 13.88 was recorded during the same six months of 1961-1962.

for the G. R. Kinney Corp. in nearby New York City.

In a scene repeated many times around the country Thursday, friends and neighbors went into the comfortable brick home to console Mrs. Shan when they learned of the plane crash. With tears welling in her eyes, she told them of her hours of suspense. She knew her husband was scheduled to take that plane, but maybe there was a chance he wasn't aboard. The tragic confirmation came hours later.

Tree-lined Macatee Place was a quiet spot Thursday night. The short street has only 18 houses lining it. Neighbors walked through the gray patches of ice across the street at No. 447, left by a recent storm, and quietly rendered their condolences to the family.

Peter J. Smith, who was a particularly close friend of Shan's, lives at No. 455. He was almost wordless. His eyes glistened behind his glasses. He silently ate the parlor as people filled in and out.

The Shan's daughter Emily sat curled up on the sofa leading through the newspaper stories telling of the crash. Little Stephen Jr. was upstairs in a bedroom—perhaps too young to realize his loss.

Alfred R. Boyd, who lives across the street at No. 447, summed up the neighbors' reaction.

"Steve was a devoted family man. Whether you were a friend or a stranger, he was always ready to help you. Why, just a few weeks' ago, he went out of his way to drive me to the railroad station when I couldn't get my car started. It's a big loss to our community."

Mrs. Shan walked out to the front door with one neighbor as he ended his visit. She said: "Steve was always merry, always happy. He enjoyed life. I must hang on to that thought."

Wallendas Use Net for 1st Time

State Law Requires Precaution for Show in Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—The great Wallendas for the first time in eight years are using a net under their high wire act at a Minneapolis circus.

Karl Wallenda, 57, head of the troupe, said Thursday it doesn't make much difference. But he added that he thought it sort of took the edge off the act.

Officials at the auditorium where the circus is showing said the net was spread when an attorney called their attention to a state law which makes its use mandatory as a safety precaution for such shows.

Herman Wallenda and his son Grunther, ride bicycles across the wire, about 30 feet high, with Karl perched on their shoulders in the current act.

The Wallendas were showing a similar, seven-person pyramid act until Jan. 30 when two were killed as the troupe fell while performing in a circus at Detroit.

Liz and Eddie Will Remain in Europe Awhile

ROME (UP)—Americans may not be seeing much of screen star Elizabeth Taylor for the next year or two, except in the movies. Friends say that the actress plans to stay in Europe for a while.

She and her husband, Eddie Fisher, are buying a chalet at Gstaad, Switzerland. Apparently they plan to live there.

When she has finished work on 20th Century Fox's multi-million-dollar "Cleopatra," her next film will be made in France.

Singer Eddie wants to try his hand as a movie producer. Actress Elizabeth wants to try her skill in a French-type mystery-suspense picture.

Tiny Guide Package Steers Polaris Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris steered by the smallest inertial guidance system ever carried in a U.S. ballistic missile successfully flew a 1,500-mile course down the Atlantic tracking range today.

The guidance package is so compact it can fit in a filing cabinet drawer. The system and a lighter, streamlined nose cone flown for the first time Thursday are being developed for an advanced, longer-range version of the submarine weapon.

Party Gal Dies at 75

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gwendolyn MacBoyle Bechhold, 75, onetime golden girl noted for her lavish parties, died Wednesday. She was once director of Idaho Maryland Mines, which her first husband, Erroll MacBoyle, developed into the nation's second largest gold producer at $40 million.

No Child Is Impossible to Teach, State Woman Proves

(Editor's Note—This is the second (and concluding) story on Mrs. Jocelyn D'Arkos of Jonesville, who won nationwide attention for her nine years' work in trying to help children who could not make the grade in their early years of regular schooling.)

BY CONNIE V. REED
Jackson Citizen-Patriot
Written for the AP

JONESVILLE—A former social worker who has won nationwide attention for her nine years' work with schoolchildren previously considered subnormal is critical of the way some teachers handle similar children.

Mrs. Jocelyn D'Arkos charges many teachers "throw up a smoke screen of phony words to confuse parents."

As an example she gives this evaluation of a pupil written by a teacher:

"Maturation experience has not placed him in the readiness category. Thinking skills place him in the strategy group. Uncooperative. Chances of succeeding very poor."

This same boy, after spending three periods of one month each studying under the D'Arkos method, has finished his second year of college with As, Bs and one C, she says.

How did she happen to evolve her method, which can be used to teach any subject?

Mrs. D'Arkos taught in elementary schools in the West and in Michigan, was a piano instructor and finally spent 20 years as a social worker at the Child Care Bureau in Wayne County. It was here she found delinquents who were intelligent but who had "simply built up mental barriers against learning and were woefully ignorant."

In 1957 Mrs. D'Arkos and her husband, Francis, a retired landscape architect, built their country home near Jonesville and she began her crusade in earnest.

As word of her remarkable achievements spread, through newspaper and magazine articles and word of mouth, requests for her help poured in from desperate parents in nearly all the 50 states. One letter from Sweden, another from Austria.

JUST "UNTRACKED"

"Unless they have a child with learning difficulties in their own families, many people just don't realize that the majority of troubled pupils have no real mental drawbacks—they have simply become untracked," Mrs. D'Arkos says.

She calls such pupils "left behinders"—and it was this category which led her to develop her method, although it works equally well with all children.

Mrs. D'Arkos contends if all schools used her method the problems of today's educators would all but vanish—especially in the realm of discipline.

"It has worked completely with the physically handicapped, epileptic, deaf, blind, cerebral palsy victims, feeble-minded, superior and emotionally disturbed," she says.

Just what is her four-way teaching method?

If a child cannot write, for example, she writes his name on a sheet of paper, then has him trace it over and over until he can write it without help. If he can read only the simplest sentences, she gives him a first grade level book, which he is sure to be able to read without difficulty.

This, she explains, banishes the withdrawals, frustrations and fears which arise when a child is confronted with material far beyond his ability.

Use of the typewriter is a psychological as well as a practical step, especially for younger children, since few grade school pupils know how to type. Mastery of the typewriter adds greatly to a child's confidence, Mrs. D'Arkos says.

But the real heart of the four-part method is "the book."

Mrs. D'Arkos gives each child a loosely-bound pamphlet of blank typewriter paper. Each lesson must be put into this book—typing exercises, spelling, writing, arithmetic, maps and other illustrations are preserved within its pages.

Why is the book so valuable?

Because among children with learning difficulties, the very sight of any book can cause a highly disturbed reaction, Mrs. D'Arkos explains. Books represent the unknown facts which these children believe they will never conquer. Such children actually hate books, she says.

"But they won't hate something they themselves create."

Her pupils fill from 600 to 900 pages before their first books are done. Then, under her guidance, they create hand-tooled leather covers for them—another move in the fight to increase the pupils' self-confidence.

ACCOMPLISHMENT

When the pupil can look back over his work thus preserved, he feels a sense of accomplishment not possible when his daily efforts are graded, then relegated to a wastebasket as is done in school, Mrs. D'Arkos says.

In learning to spell, a pupil will write page after page of the words and sentences under study. During typing lessons he will start with lines after lines of exercises, then graduate to the typing of words and sentences.

History, geography, science, algebra, geometry and all other subjects, advanced and elementary, go into the book. Some of the more advanced volumes contain psychology, philosophy, original compositions, physics, chemistry and zoology—anything under study is thus preserved.

And if all sounds too simple to succeed, which is every teacher's first reaction, Mrs. D'Arkos can cite results which

A boy who had been graduated from high school was unable to spell, read or write simple sentences. This, says Mrs. D'Arkos, took a year to overcome, but he succeeded after monthly visits to Stouffer and by working at home.

Mrs. D'Arkos is convinced that any child can learn. She should be. She has proved it.

Delay Congress in Red China

Reason Not Given but It Could Be Because of Moscow's Meeting

TOKYO (U)—The meeting of Chinese Communist parliament scheduled for Monday has been postponed.

Announcing this today, the New China News Agency gave no reason but said the postponement was decided upon recently by the standing committee of the National People's Congress (parliament).

The meeting had been scheduled to begin on the same day as a Soviet Communist party session in Moscow. There had been speculation the two meetings might emphasize differences in Moscow and Peking approaches to world affairs.

It was to be the first meeting in two years for the Chinese parliament.

The China news agency said the first session of the national committee of the Chinese people's consultative conference also has been postponed.

Senator Is Ticketed for Reckless Driving

LANSING (U)—Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, was ticketed for reckless driving in Lansing early today.

Brown's white Mercedes sports car skidded 61 feet on the pavement, cleared a four-foot snow bank and slid another 30 feet before it stopped inches from a fence surrounding the State School for the Blind, police said.

Brown, 34, is the leading candidate for Senate minority leader. With him was Shirley Dean of Marshall. Neither was injured, police said.

Brown, who was due for arraignment in Municipal Court later today, said he did not know how fast he was going because his speedometer was broken. He told police he had had "six or seven shots" of liquor before the mishap.

Pay for Women Bill Passed by Lansing House

LANSING (U)—By an overwhelming majority, the House today passed and steered to the Senate a bill to prohibit employers from paying men more than women if they are doing the same work.

There was a good deal of wisecracking and some division among women lawmakers before the measure passed by an 81-6 vote.

"Twenty-one states have passed similar legislation," said

Rep. Lucille H. McCollough, D-Deansboro. "This bill would be a tremendous step forward."

Rep. Josephine Hunsinger, D-Detroit, disagreed.

The present law, prohibiting discrimination in manufacturing only, "never did a thing for women," she said.

Mrs. Hunsinger, who is on leave from a job in a Detroit diesel engine plant, voted for the bill, but declined to be listed as a sponsor.

Cleared of Role in McDonald Death

The Pontiac Township man who furnished liquor to 13-year-old Randy McDonald the night before he was found dead near a Rochester skating rink last Saturday has been cleared of any implication of foul play.

The story told by Roger McLintock, 21, of 3134 Eastwood Road, was substantiated by a lie detector test yesterday, according to Rochester Police Chief Samuel Howett. He said investigation into the circumstances leading up to the boy's death is continuing today.

629 Flee Red China to Macao in February

MADAO — The Chinese Nationalist Refugee Relief Association reported Thursday 629 fugitives from Communist China reached Macao last month.

The association said 1,389 refugees had registered with the group since Jan. 1 for a total of United States own dogs.

37,651 since the association was established in 1953. Many refugees do not register and unofficial estimates say an average of 150 refugees escape Red China to Macao and the nearby British colony of Hong Kong every day, for an average total of well over 50,000 a year.

Nearly 18 million families in the group since Jan. 1 for a total of United States own dogs.

At Ill-Fated Take-Off

All OK in Last Jet Report

NEW YORK (UPI) — The final radio messages exchanged between Idlewild Airport controllers and American Airlines Flight 1 gave no indication of trouble with the jet.

After the control tower gave Capt. James T. S. Heist his departure clearance, Heist repeated it. Then the pilot notified the tower he was beginning his take-off run: "American One rolling."

Radar departure control then gave Heist his pattern instructions: "Continue left, turn heading to one-four-zero degrees, report leave 2,000 (feet)."

The instructions were repeated back from the jet.

That was the last message from the plane before it crashed.

Senate OKs Boost in U.S. Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to President Kennedy a bill to temporarily boost the national debt limit to $300 billion, an increase of $2 billion.

The bill cleared the Senate Thursday by voice vote. The House had stamped its approval on the measure Feb. 20.

Kennedy had asked for the hike and said he will ask Congress for another $8 billion increase in the temporary ceiling by June 30.

Probe Yields 37 Dead in Debris of Fallen Helicopter

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Thirty-seven bodies have been recovered from the debris of a third-class hotel in Assiut, southern Egypt, which collapsed early Thursday.

All the victims were Egyptian. It was feared there might be more bodies buried in the rubble.

The collapse of the three-story hotel was blamed on weak foundations.

March 1, 1962: A Day of Grim Contrasts in New York

SADNESS MARKS THE SCENE — Smoke in the air from the wreckage of the American Airlines jet which crashed shortly after taking off Thursday from New York's Idlewild Airport for Los Angeles matches the grief in the hearts of rescue workers probing through the scattered debris in search of bodies. It was a day of pain for the relatives of the disaster's 95 victims.

HAPPINESS ON BROADWAY — The air was full of joy and gaiety as astronaut John Glenn, Mrs. Glenn and Vice President Lyndon Johnson ride along New York City's Broadway toward the City Hall during the welcome parade given the nation's hero Thursday. Glenn's wife and the vice president appear to be dodging some of the confetti and torn paper which was showering down upon them. It was a scene of gladness and bubbling emotion.

THE UNDERWATER SEARCH — A skin diver emerges from the shallow waters of Jamaica Bay after searching for bodies and clues to the disastrous plunge of a jet airliner after it took off from New York's Idlewild Airport Thursday. A helicopter hovers over the scattered wreckage as a fireman (right) probes the shoreline with a hook. All 95 persons on the plane died in the plunge of the jet as it was making a turn about three miles from the take-off point.

AP Photofax

ON ASTRONAUT WAY — This was the scene Thursday as astronaut John Glenn's motorcade moved up lower Broadway through a cloud of ticker tape.

Glenn and his wife are visible in the second car, between two security guards in the lead car. Broadway was renamed Astronaut Way for the day.

AFTERMATH OF CRASH — Wreckage of an American Airlines jet, some of it still smoking, is shown in the shallow waters of Jamaica Bay after the airliner crashed shortly after taking off from

LOOKING FOR BODIES — Police wade and look for bodies of victims in the crash of an American Airlines 707 Astrojet Thursday. The water of the bay was shallow. All aboard the jet were killed. The passengers were bound for Los Angeles.

She's Stewardess With Same Name as One Killed in New York

MOUNT UNION, Pa. (UPI) — A National Overseas Airlines stewardess, unaware that she was mistakenly identified as the Lois Kelly killed in the crash of an American Airlines Astrojet, sat calmly in the New York apartment of a girl friend while her distraught parents awaited word of her fate.

Soon after the jet crashed in a swamp near New York's Idlewild Airport Thursday killing 95 persons, friends and neighbors began calling Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Kelly. "Friends kept calling us and said they heard reports that a Lois Kelly, a stewardess on the plane, was killed." But the Kellys refused to go along with the reports. "We decided to wait and see."

"We called National Overseas Airlines in New York, and they finally contacted Lois in the apartment of her friend, Carol Frank," of Pittsburgh. "Lois was completely unaware of the mistaken identity," they said.

The girl for whom Lois was mistaken was Lois A. Kelly, 23, a stewardess aboard the ill-fated jet. The victim was a native of Haverton, Pa., and, like Lois, was living in California.

The Clinton Kellys said they were very happy to learn their daughter was alive, but were sorry for the parents of the victim.

Mackie Hails Bill for 45-MPH Rate on State Ways

LANSING (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today backed a 45-mile-an-hour minimum speed limit for Michigan freeways.

Mackie Thursday hailed house approval of a bill, sponsored by Rep. Lester O. Begick, R-Bay City, setting the minimum limit. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The bill, Mackie said, is aimed at "keeping the Sunray driver type of motorist off the freeways."

Many freeway accidents are rear-end collisions caused by slow-moving vehicles — mostly old cars and trucks, he said.

Nearly 90 per cent of all cars travel the freeways at more than 45 miles an hour, he said. But the other 10 per cent is causing a high percentage of the accidents.

to Change His Business

RISING SUN, Md. (AP) — Clark Cochran has decided that the business of owning a general store is not for him.

Three hours after he purchased the store Wednesday a man came in, showed a pistol in his ribs and took $125.

Once is enough, Cochran decided. He resold the store to its original owner Thursday morning.

Time is that expanse of space between paydays.

State's Attorney General Favors U.S. Water Bill

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley went to Washington today to testify before a Senate committee in favor of a bill to create a national water resources council.

Kelley said Michigan favors the bill because the state's water resources constitute the basis for three major enterprises, industrial manufacturing, tourist business and agriculture.

CELIA MERRILL TURNER

Young Cellist Will Play; Celia Turner to Conduct

Celia Merrill Turner, assistant conductor of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, will take the podium Tuesday evening to conduct a portion of the season's fourth concert.

Mrs. Turner, closely associated with the orchestra in its nine years of growth, will conduct the first half of the program. Selections include the Corelli, "Concerto Grosso in G Minor" and Mozart's "Symphony 40 in G Minor."

YOUNG CELLIST TO PLAY
Sixteen-year-old cellist David Eicher will play the cello concertante in the Corelli Concerto, David, a junior at Walpole Lake High School, has been a member of the orchestra for two years. In 1961 he received a partial Interlochen scholarship from the orchestra. In addition he held, for the second consecutive year, a Foster Foundation Award to the camp from the University of Michigan.

David is principal cellist of the select 150-piece Michigan Youth Symphony Orchestra sponsored by the University of Michigan. His music activities include five seasons at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, membership in his school orchestra, a string trio, the Southeastern Michigan String Symphony, Kingswood School - Cranbrook's Chamber Orchestra and participation in Walpole Lake High School's mixed chorus and vocal ensembles.

He has been named a 1962-63 recipient of a $1,250 scholarship to the Interlochen Arts Academy. An honor student academically, David studies with cellist Gretchen Dalley of Ann Arbor. David's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David N. Eicher of Orchard Lake.

CONDUCTOR, DIRECTOR
In addition to her role as assistant conductor to the orchestra, Mrs. Turner is an active member of the orchestra's violin section and a violin soloist in her own right. A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, she is one of the few women conductors in the country.

Mrs. Turner's musical talents extend to composition and teaching. In 1957 her "Chippewa Symphony," commissioned by the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, received its premier performance. Her one-act chamber opera "Bills of Chish" received its initial production at the February meeting of the Birmingham Musicale.

Well-known as the director of the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater, where she has launched a master class in theater, bringing important theatrical talents to the area for critique of students' efforts, Mrs. Turner also narrates a daily radio show from Detroit. In private life she is Mrs. Kenneth Turner and the mother of three children.

Following the intermission, Felix Resnick, new conductor of the orchestra, will direct "Knightsbridge March" from Gustav's London Suite, Barber's "Adagio for Strings" and "Romeo and Juliet" by Tchaikovsky. Mr. Resnick has just returned from tour with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in which he is a member of the violin section. In addition tion to conducting the Pontiac Symphony, Mr. Resnick conducts the Grosse Pointe Symphony Orchestra.

The program is set for 8:30 p.m. at Pontiac Northern High School. Tickets are available at the door.

Be Honest and Explain High Cost

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: My husband and I live in a large city and when friends visit us from out of town they quite naturally want to go to the theaters, night clubs, sightseeing, etc. It always seemed to me less than hospitable to let a guest pay for anything, but I have to admit it is becoming a financial strain to keep up with this.

A: Entertain them only to the extent you can afford and explain that you would love to take them to the theaters and night clubs but that night life in your city has become so frightfully expensive that you have had to give it up entirely.

Q: Last year my husband and I bought our own house. It was not a new house and was badly in need of repair. We have finally finished decorating and renovating and are now very proud of our house. I would like to know if it is too late to give a housewarming party now after having lived in it a year?

A: Even though you have lived in your house while the alterations were being made, it will be entirely proper to have a housewarming now that it is finished.

Q: My sister who is going to be a bride has been living with our unmarried brother in the family home. I am the oldest one in the family, and married. Which of the two brothers should send her wedding invitations and give her away at the wedding?

A: Although the older one is the normal person to choose, the fact that she and the younger brother have been living together would certainly obviate any disparagement to the older and make it natural to choose the younger.

Mrs. Astronaut 'Excited' in New York

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Annie Glenn says excitement gives her energy and it showed in her radiant smile at the end of the historic welcome she shared with her astronaut husband.

It's a good thing the wife of Li. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. does thrive on excitement. For the pace the Glens have kept since Feb. 20 would have wilted a couple who were less in a "go" condition.

Yesterday was one of the most exciting days for America's space hero, his dark-haired childhood sweetheart and their two children.

4 MILLION STRONG
New Yorkers turned out four million strong for a roaring, cheering, frenzied welcome to the 40-year-old astronaut who made a triple earth orbit in the Friendship 7 space capsule.

The astronaut and his brown-eyed wife were in more of a whirl yesterday than Col. Glenn's space capsule. Their New York orbit started with their arrival by plane, continued through a ticket-tape parade, a city hall welcome and lunch at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

With only a little rest there was a dinner, a trip to the Broadway smash hit, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," along with the six other astronauts and their wives. Finally the Glens attended a dance at the Waldorf's Empire Room where son David, 16, got into a night-club act.

Through it all, until the Glens left at 1:15 a.m., Mrs. Astronaut smiled with her happy warmth.

Today, the Glens, the other astronauts and their wives and families have one official event scheduled. They will visit the United Nations at the invitation of Acting Secretary General U. Thant.

Whether they would rest or go shopping later, they didn't say.

LOVES EXCITEMENT
Rest? For Annie Glenn? "Oh, I thrive on excitement," she told New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller yesterday. Later, she told reporters: "I was so excited it gave me extra energy."

After attending the theater last night, the astronauts and their ladies went to the Empire Room, but the Glens didn't dance.

SHEPARD'S DANCE
Navy Comdr. Alan B. Shepard, who led the way into the dance floor with his wife, they were joined by some of the other spacemen.

Despite autograph seekers Glenn managed to order a brandy and for his Annie, a grasshopper — a sweet cocktail composed of equal parts of creme de menthe, creme de cacao and cream. David Glenn, and his 14-year-old sister Lyn had soft drinks.

Dolores Gray, the actress-singer who led the Empire Room, dedicated a song to the marine colonel. "Around the World in 80 Days."

Glenn tossed back his head and laughed.

Then Miss Gray enlisted the aid of David Glenn in unfurling the zipper of her outer costume during an on-stage change.

Miss Gray commented that she was happy to see that other members of the family had mechanical aptitude which brought cheers and laughter from the Glens and the audience.

When the astronauts and their ladies called it a night the band struck up the Marine hymn.

Mrs. Glenn summed it up when she said, "It was a long day, but fun."

FUN FOR ALL
And it was fun for the other ladies of the astronauts.

Their wives rode with them in the ticker-tape parade. Each got a standing ovation from the 2,000 guests at the Waldorf for the official lunch.

Others sharing the limelight were Glenn's parents, his in-law, and Mrs. Robert R. Gilruth, wife of the Mercury Project director. For them the applause was thunderous.

Another guest at the lunch was the astronaut's nurse, Dee O'Hara, who had flown in from Cape Canaveral for the ceremonies.

"I've never seen a parade of such magnitude," she said, wide-eyed.

The diminutive Mrs. Glenn is a chic dresser. On her arrival she wore a dark red velvet hat and black shoes.

Crack Down on Mother

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a nervous wreck. I am 54, a grandmother several times, and I feel like a servant in my own home.

My problem is my mother. She is in her early 70s and enjoys the best of health. She has always been a meddler and trouble-maker. She has lived with me for the past 16 years.

I recently had my children and grandchildren here for dinner. Everyone left after in tears or anger. She is brutally

Frank, critical and sharp-tongued. My gentle, patient husband eats his meals downtown to avoid her. He tried home for the aged, but in three days they called and asked us to come and get her. She raised such Cain there that the home was in an uproar.

She is domineering, sarcastic and cruel to everyone. I know it is terrible to feel this way about your own mother, but she has made my life miserable. She hasn't a penny. Don't say it's her advancing age. She's always been this way. Can you help me?

NO NAME PLEASE
DEAR NO NAME: You've allowed your mother to run your life for so many years, she wouldn't know how to behave otherwise. Children can "spoil" their parents just as parents spoil children. Your first obligations are to your husband and family. When elderly folks become obstreperous and behave like children, they should be treated with the same patience, understanding and firmness. Don't expect any change in your mother's conduct until you lay down the law.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know if you personally would think a person "ignorant and crude" because he crumbled up his crackers and dropped them in his soup in public? This is the only way I can enjoy my soup, and every time I do it I catch heck when I get home.

"PA" (born in 1884)
DEAR "PA": As far as I am concerned, it is perfectly permissible. I never would think less of a person for indulging in such a small, harmless pleasure.

DEAR ABBY: What is the procedure when you receive a wedding announcement from people you have met very casually for their daughter whom you don't even know? Seems like a racket to me.

DEAR WONDERING: Could be a "racket" without strings. However, send them a nice note congratulating them, and wish the couple well.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. William McCall of St. Joseph Street recites lines for her role in the Birmingham Village Players' presentation of "The Pleasure of His Company" under the watchful tutelage of her daughter Tracy. Tracy 10, has been a salaried listener during the five weeks of rehearsals and knows the script as well as her mother by now!

Playing 'Ingenue' but 1 Role for Versatile Mother of 3

"I can't play an ingenue forever," laughed petite and pretty Mrs. William McCall of St. Joseph Street, better known to Birmingham Village Players audiences as Peggy McCall.

She was commenting on her role in the Players' current production, "The Pleasure of His Company," in which she is cast in one of her frequent "daughter" roles.

It is easy to see why this azure-eyed mother of three is usually so cast.

Although her husband is this year's Village Players president, Washington, D. C.-born Mrs. McCall's interest in the stage started during her days at Fountain Springs High School in Pennsylvania. Theater work began as, and continues to be, "just a hobby."

IN CHELSEA PLAYERS
Before her marriage Mrs. McCall was a member of the Chelsea Players in New York City. She and her husband have appeared behind the scenes and before the lights with the Players for over 10 years.

Mrs. McCall combines her talents in everything from painting sets to silvernitting and the stage. Her husband's main interest, before he took on the duties of president, were centered around lighting and staging. Mr. McCall designed and installed the lighting equipment at the Players' Chestnut Street playhouse in Birmingham.

Mrs. McCall has appeared in at least one of the Players' performances each year during her membership.

A year ago she had a part in "Hay Fever," and two years ago she played the lead in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

"Diary" was perhaps her most satisfying role. She found the part "quite an experience" because it is "so moving."

CHARM BRACELET
A heavily laden sterling charm bracelet bears Mrs. McCall's "Oscars," mementoes "awarded" by her husband after each of her stage appearances.

A tiny silver streetcar recalls her part — "a very small one," she emphasized, "about three lines" — in "A Streetcar Named Desire." A blue enameled half-moon which she made herself is reminiscent of her role in "The Moon is Blue" and "The only gold charm on the bracelet" was necessitated by her role in "Solid Gold Cadillac."

With only seven members in the present cast, memorizing lines was no mean task. Tracy, her fourth grader at Daniel Whitfield School, helped out.

"I paid Tracy a dollar to listen to me recite," Mrs. McCall said. Four evenings a week, for five weeks, Mr. McCall stayed home with Rob-in, 4; Billy Jr., 8; and Tracy, 10, while his wife rehearsed. Sunday afternoons were devoted to rehearsals too.

"I'd enjoy playing opposite my husband," she said, "but we couldn't afford the baby-sitter that often!"

TAKES COURSE
Besides looking after a Brownie, a Cub Scout and a vivacious preschooler, Mrs. McCall takes a Great Books course in Franklin once a week. Reading, she finds, is "a great relief from house-work."

When time permits, and there hasn't been too much of it lately, she pursues the art of silvernitting in her basement workshop. Some lovely silver bracelets have resulted and the McCall men are the proud beneficiaries of some splendid cufflinks.

Perhaps, in the far, far distant future, Mrs. McCall will no longer be cast in ingenue roles. It's unlikely though, that such an active and talented painter, actress, jewelry designer and homemaker will ever run out of roles to play!

Spending, Inflates a Woman's Morale

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. "Do you Think Women are Emotional Spenders?" was the intriguing title of an article in a recent issue of a magazine devoted to the American home.

Expecting to find a "Yes" answer to the question, I was surprised to find it answered in the negative. Maybe that is because the article was written by a man.

Only a woman knows (for she certainly isn't going to tell a man) just how often she does buy something to get an emotional lift.

SPENDS FOR A LIFT

Whether she shops for a silly hat, a dress in a shade that makes her "feel good," or for some gadget for the house, she is buying to add a little zest to a dull day.

When a woman has a birthday that marks a 10-year milestone, and a long look in the mirror is anything but reassuring — it's likely to send her to a luxury shop in search of some new clothes that will "do something for her." What they do mostly of course, is raise her morale.

When a woman gets down in the dumps for any reason, nothing does her quite as much good as spending a little money. The amount isn't important.

It's the simple act of spending money that seems to give a woman a lift in trying times.

Of course, women are emotional spenders. A woman can go for weeks or even months carefully pinching pennies, buying only what is necessary, comparing prices, and being a good manager. And then comes a day when she needs a lift. She takes off on an expedition that has but one object — to buy something, anything.

And almost always she comes home in better spirits. So there really is a justification for a woman's emotional spending.

What she spends on a new hat to get a new lease on life she doesn't have to spend for a session on a psychiatrist's couch.

Edison Contest Focuses on Working Women

Local women are invited to participate in a cook-off to find the "Queen of the Kitchen" among working girls.

Sponsored by Detroit Edison in cooperation with Central Business District Association, the cook-off will be held as part of the Salute to Women Who Work Week program, which begins March 13.

The grand prize will be a new deluxe electric range (the queen will have her choice of model and color), offered by Detroit Edison. Edison will also award electrical appliances to seven finalists, including a second prize of an electric roti-servier and a third prize of an electric blender.

Any girl or woman working full time who lives in Wayne, Macomb or Oakland counties is invited to submit a favorite recipe to: "Electric Living," 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit 26.

Each entry must include contestant's name, age, address and occupation and she MUST be able to compete in the cook-off.

Deadline for entries is Wednesday, March 7, midnight.

Home economic experts from newspapers, radio and television will serve as judges and select the seven most interesting and promising entries.

COOK-OFF

The seven finalists will be announced on Sunday, March 18.

and will compete in the cook-off at 9:30 a.m., Friday, March 23, in the electric living department of Detroit Edison, 2000 Second Avenue.

The decision of the judges will be final and all entries will be the property of the Detroit Edison Company.

E. O. George, Edison vice president in charge of sales, will be host at a special luncheon for the finalists and the judges after the cook-off.

"A great number of folks are under the impression that girls who work are lost in front of a kitchen range. The cook-off could help prove this is not true," he said.

George said that since the company sponsors other contests for Edison employees, this one will not be open to them or their immediate families.

"How did you get in?" I asked. "You're a child, not a grownup."

The sparkle went out of her eyes. Lighting a cigarette, she said to me: "You some kind of a hick or something? That For Adults Only sign is just for lookers. It's for show. It don't mean nothing. Any kid can get in there if we've got the you-know-what."

Shower Honors Future Bride

May bride-elect Carole Elizabeth Morris was honored at a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening in the home of Patricia Boughner on Whittemore Street.

A cake in the form of a bride, complete with veil and bouquet, centered the refreshment table.

Among some 40 guests were Mrs. Charles E. Morris of Whittemore Street, mother of the bride; and Mrs. John E. Hendrix, of North Perry Street, mother of her fiancée, David E. Hendrix.

Others were Mrs. Alfred Hendrix, Mrs. Bernard Morris, daughter Deborah and Mrs. Roscoe Goddard, Drayton Plains; Mrs. David Blower, daughter Pamela, Mrs. Leslie Davidson and daughter Patti Ann, Clarkston; Mary Ellen Detmar, Lake Orion; Mrs. Michael Morris and daughter Michele, Royal Oak.

"Sure," she agreed. "Sure. You all lie. That's why I'm bad. My pop lies to me. So I don't listen to him no more."

"This dialogue, I think contains the answer for a reader who has written:

"When my boy is late for school, I write an excuse note to his teacher that says he has over-slept or couldn't find his homework. Then the teacher bawls him out."

"My neighbor says, telling the truth is mean to him and I should say that he has had a stomach upset because teachers can't bowl out children who have been sick. My boy wants me to do this, too."

When parents lie — even in a child's behalf — life is not grateful to them.

Your son carrying your lying excuse note for his tardiness to school is certainly relieved of his fear of his mother's wrath. But the fear of which you have relieved him is a tiny fear compared to the one that replaces it.

SHOULDN'T HAPPEN

It is the kind no child should be called upon to bear, for it springs from the realization that those upon whom he relies for direction in this confusing, many-road world are not reliable.

He knows that he's on his own, alone — and can depend only on his own meager experience of the world.

He feels what the great psychoanalyst Erich Fromm calls "moral alienation" — that most painful disconnection from values one has trusted and seen betrayed by those who preach them.

As my unhappy young guest said, lying to or for children is the beginning of the end of parental authority.

American Women in Two Classes

Do You Work or Are You 'Only a Housewife'?

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK — It has been suggested to me that the day will come when American women will be divided into two groups: Mothers who work at highly specialized jobs outside the home, and mothers who stay home and take care of all the children in the neighborhood.

In other words, women who want both children and a career will be served, and women who enjoy being housewives will have flocks of little chicks to love; for a salary, of course.

A SOCIAL PROBLEM

On the surface, this may sound like an impossible arrangement. But in view of some stark facts—perhaps it is a way out of an already enormous, and constantly growing, social problem.

Dr. Margaret Mead, the anthropologist, summed up this problem for me. She pointed out that the economic and educational structures in our society are calculated to cause a woman misery.

In low-income homes, where the educational background usually is not as high as in upper-income homes, the wives and mothers must work to help the family.

And the children of both classes suffer.

I just received a statement from Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of Labor, who is always sending me little tidbits of gloom about the working wom-work to support the family. In fact, the tax structure and high cost of baby care makes it almost impossible, certainly unfeasible, for them to work.

Yet they're well educated; they're frustrated that they are "only housewives."

So the college graduate stays home and scrubs floors, while the grade school girl goes to the office.

CHILDREN SUFFER

And the children of both classes suffer.

I just received a statement from Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of Labor, who is always sending me little tidbits of gloom about the working woman's set. She reports today that the number of women who must go to work, even though they have children under 6 years of age, is now about three million. That's almost double the number of 10 years ago.

As for mothers with children over 6, there now are five million who feel they must work outside the home.

One out of every four of the working women with children under six has a husband who earns less than $3,000 a year. In sharp contrast, only one out of 10 women work when the husband's income is $7,000 or more.

Miss Peterson sends these sad statistics to illustrate a need for federal aid for day-care services to children of working mothers.

She points out that the "relatively small" sum of $10 million (ah, don't you wish you had relatives like that?) could take care of from 10 to 15,000 children.

NO SUPERVISION

But 15,000 children are also a "relatively small" portion of the national problem. The dismal fact is that a Bureau of Census survey shows that there are 400,000 American children under 12 whose mothers work full time who have no planned supervision.

So perhaps it is not such a wildly far-out idea, after all—at least on a local community basis — to separate the careerists from the home girls.

Let the women who are trained to use their minds go to work during the day, leaving their little ones (and a little money) in the gentle hands of the women who were groomed for nothing but the natural job of being loving mothers. Perhaps a local church or nursery could provide the facilities for this system.

Ah, but I suppose the idea is too simple to catch on. Especially if there's a chance that big old reliable Uncle Sam will step in, like Santa Claus.

Two Fats, Two Sugars Mix in Ice Box Cookies

Pontiac Press Home Editor

How long is it since you made up a batch of Ice Box Cookies? It's comforting to know that the making of dessert or light refreshments are in the refrigerator. Mrs. Clarence J. Williams of Rochester shares her favorite recipe of this type with us.

Her children grown, married and busy with grandchildren, Mrs. Williams finds time to do things she couldn't in earlier years. She does church work, belongs to the VFW Auxiliary and a few social clubs.

ICE BOX COOKIES

By Mrs. Clarence J. Williams

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 cup lard
1 cup brown sugar

3 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup silvered nuts

Cream butter or margarine with granulated sugar; cream lard with brown sugar. Mix the two together. Add beaten eggs. Sift dry ingredients and add. Add nuts. (Silvered nuts make cookies slice more easily.) Mix well and form into rolls. Chill in refrigerator overnight.

When ready to bake, slice and place on very lightly greased pan. Bake at 350 degrees for about 12 minutes or until lightly browned. If cookie pan is greased too much, the cookies will spread.

City Water Dept. Pumps Fewer Gallons in 1961

The Pontiac Water Department pumped nearly 288 million fewer gallons of water last year than the year before.

The 1961 pumpage totaled 2,530,539,000 gallons according to Herbert G. Parker, water superintendent. The 1960 figure was 3,788,894,000.

"Much of the drop," said Parker, "is because we had a relatively cool summer with good rainfall. It's been a long time since we've had a long, hot, dry summer."

Another factor is the local General Motors divisions. Water usage dropped transiently during a strike last September when a new contract was being negotiated.

HOT AND DRY
The summer of 1955 was very hot and dry. That was also a record production year for Pontiac Motor Division. The combination gave the water department its record year with 4,682,927,000 gallons pumped.

Stress Careers at St. Frederick

Pupils Discuss Goals With Guest Speakers, Await Dance Tonight

By SUZANNE POLMEAR

Now that excitement over the senior play has died down, the Student Council career day and the sophomore dance headline the news at St. Frederick's High School.

The Student Council career day today featured 13 speakers from various professions such as doctor, lawyer, nurse, social worker, and state trooper.

Its purpose is to inform students of requirements and qualifications needed for these various fields so that they will be aided in their choice.

TO CONFER

Each student will attend two conferences lasting about 45 minutes each. The conferences will consist of introduction by the student chairman, talk by the speaker followed by a question and answer period. This program is under the direction of the Student Council.

"Moonlight Memories" is the theme for the second sophomore dance of the year to be held from 8 to 11 tonight in the parish hall. Dress will be casual.

Entertainment will be furnished by Henry Muniz and the Sierras, a local instrumental group with Brian Dirker as disc jockey. Cochairmen for this dance, proceeds of which will go to the sophomore scholarship fund, are Fred Landry and Bernice Goss.

MOST SPIRITED

Winners of the spirit trophy for selling the most senior play tickets over their quota are the seniors with 41 per cent over their quota of four tickets apiece.

The entire school is to be congratulated on ticket sales, for this year's play was attended by one of the largest crowds ever.

On Saturday at Madison Junior High School, St. Fred's varsity will play an alumni game. Members of former St. Fred's teams including 1952 championship team will pit their skills against the present team. Besides entertainment the game will be a warmup for the district tournaments to be held next week.

Seniors, measured for their class rings, will receive them at the end of the year instead of waiting until the beginning of their senior year.

Waterford Kettering Mimics TV Antics

By SHERYL LEHIGH
Juniors aimed the Waterford Kettering High School spotlight on a talent show from a television program today and came up with a pep assembly!

During last hour the familiar "Groucho Marx" program was re-enacted in the WKHS gymnasium.

Acting as "Groucho," Doug Stranahan conducted a contest between Pat Kizer who signified Ket-tering's cheerleading captain, and Gary Buchanan who portrayed the coach of an opposing basketball team.

Gary seemed to be coming up with all the wrong answers as Pat made hissing headway by answering all the questions correctly and thus secured the grand prize for Kettering!

As the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders built student enthusiasm with cheers, members of the junior class showed extra spirit as they appeared in white shirts and blouses with green crepe paper bow ties.

Talent literally filled the air Wednesday morning at Waterford Kettering, as students presented the first talent assembly of the year.

After the flag salute was given by Student Council President Tom McKinnon, senior Jerry Galt was introduced as master of ceremonies.

FIRST ACTS

First acts on the agenda were the Coronados playing the "Peppermint Twist" and the girls' ensemble singing "Lollie Tu Dum." They were followed by Jeri Hobby and Connie Condon who presented a modern jazz dance to "Top Hat."

Kettering's foreign exchange student, John Simon, was next with a guitar solo. "The Object of My Affection," a pantomime, was then performed by Cheryl Hillman.

Presenting the seventh act was a combo playing "Summertime," followed by a duet by Kathy Freeman and Mark Byington, a humorous skit by Sue Jackson and John Anderson, a second jazz dance given by Windy Tomlinson, and the boys' ensemble singing "Oh Won't You Sit Down."

"Blue Moon," sung by Terry Kraft, a duet by Kathy Martin, Frances Young, and Susan Rogers to "Painter's Rage," a vocal by Marlene Colgrove, original poetry by Bill Pelletier, and a piano solo by Connie Grieseth, concluded the program.

Although there will be no school for students Monday, it does not mean the teachers will experience a vacation also. The WKHS faculty will play host to the Waterford Township High School faculty as they participate in a joint workshop.

Dr. Curi Byerly from the Detroit Board of Education will address the teachers on "The World of Work." This will be a summary of an extensive study of changing employment patterns in 14 major metropolitan areas in the country.

SADIE HAWKINS' IN TOWN — Michaelie Gwen Wilson, in Daisy Mae attire, dreams of one Lil' Abner she spotted in the school halls the other day — Dave Moreno (caption). Gwen and Dave are among the many to be Dogpatch characters who are "stalking their claims" for the Sadie Hawkins Dance tomorrow night from 8:20 to 11:30 in the parish hall. Sponsored by the juniors, the "Daisy Mae Sway" will feature a cake walk and marriage booth.

Daisy Maes Tab Lil' Abners

By SHARON RODDEN

St. Michael High School students are turning into Daisy Maes' and Lil' Abners this week as the girls scurry about "stalking their claims" for the Sadie Hawkins Dance to be held tomorrow night from 8:20 to 11:30 in the parish hall.

The dance, entitled "Daisy Mae Sway," promises to be fun and "different" as various members of the junior class, sponsoring the dance, foretell of such unusual features as a Cake Walk and a Marriage Booth.

The Cake Walk will consist of purchasing tickets and playing a round or two of musical chairs. When the music stops the fortunate person who acquires the seat with the "lucky winning number" will win a "summy" cake. The yummy cakes will be voluntarily lugged through the gallant efforts of the girls in the junior class.

CHAIRMAN NAMED

Chairmen in charge of the two features are Kathy Duruss and Susan Hunt.

Gwen Wilson and Dave Moreno, cochairmen of the decorating committee, have their team working hard with the selective colors of blue, gold, and white. Silhouettes of Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae will decorate the windows.

Dave is also to be credited for making the colorful posters and

Clarkston Club Sets Card Party

By JANET TISCH
A benefit card party will be sponsored by the Clarkston High School Y-Teens, March 12. An annual activity, it will be held in the home economics room from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Only requirement by participants is a small admission price and a card table.

In charge of the event is Kay Federspell and working as her cochairman is Marsha Booth. Funky Golembeske and club president, Paula Parker are in charge of distributing posters throughout the community and surrounding areas.

Sue Fulton and Janet Tisch are in charge of door prizes, and Barbara Buzzell and Bev Galligan are responsible for distribution of tickets.

TO BAKE CAKES

As of yet, there is no refreshment chairman appointed, decision is that each Y-Teen member will bake a cake for the evening. Proceeds from the public event will be used to help the underprivileged in our area.

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be administered March 10 to all interested juniors of Clarkston High School.

Any student planning to attend college should take this test; especially those who will need financial aid. Results may help to disprove weaknesses which can be strengthened before a student enters college.

Central's Class Rings Offer Variety of Colors

By WADE WILKINSON
The traditional Pontiac Central High class rings exemplifying the long history of the school were distributed in February. Ordered last October, over 300 class rings were handed to seniors, juniors, and sophomores.

Waterford Twp. Sings for Honors

High School Choristers
Bring Excellent Rating Home From Festival

By MARY KAY STREZELECKI
Honors galore have been bestowed upon the musical students at Waterford Township High School.

At the recent Annual Solo and Ensemble Festival at Wayne State University the Men's Ensemble brought home an excellent rating. Members are Paul Kumbley, Steve Wagner, Tom Talaba, John Smithson, and Dick Walsh.

Receiving a superior rating at the festival was Steve Wagner, a senior, who sang a solo number. Also receiving a superior rating were Waterford's Madrigal Singers comprised of Bobbi Grosjean, Mary Hodges, Sherry Zannath, Margaret Wilson, Linda D'Avila, John Meyer, Paul Kumbley, Dick Walsh, and Heidi Bergenman.

MONDAY'S LUCKY

Monday is a lucky day this year for Waterford students. This past Monday school was not in session for the bus riders because of bad weather. This Monday, however, all students of Waterford Township High will have no school for the teachers will attend a secondary workshop.

At this meeting the teachers will hear a report revealing that far fewer unskilled jobs will be available in the future and that non-high school graduates are looked down upon by employers. Teachers will study the changing trends in employment and consider ways of preparing future graduates for their future employment.

The Junior class of Our Lady of the Lakes is presenting a Mardi Gras dance tomorrow. Guest of honor will be a local disc jockey along with Cathy Jean and the Roomates.

There will also be a "Mystery Guest." No one knows who this mystery celebrity will be. The event will be in the school gymnasium and will last from 8 to 11:30 p.m. Dress for the high school public is casual.

OFFICERS CONFER—Conferring to formulate plans and dates for the spring semester calendar are West Bloomfield High School Business club officers; (from left) Sandra Simmons, secretary; Sandy Wenk, vice president; Linda Myers, treasurer and Sue Jenkins, president. The newly reorganized club, under the sponsorship and direction of Nila Cookingham and Doss Wallace of the school's commercial department, will publish a group magazine in the near future.

Business Officers Announced

Renew W. Bloomfield Club

By BONNIE DISTEL

West Bloomfield's newly reorganized business club, under the sponsorship and direction of Nila Cookingham and Doss Wallace of the commercial department, is now under way. Meetings will be each Tuesday during the next few weeks.

Business club officers for this semester are as follows: Sue Jenkins, president; Sandy Wenk, vice president; Sandra Simmons, secretary; and Linda Myers, treasurer.

Candy Hughes will hold the position of editor of the business club magazine to be published in the very near future. Bonnie Distel and John Smith were elected as co-business managers. All club members will participate in the production of the magazine.

TO INSTRUCT

Within the next few meetings

Miss Cookingham and Mr. Wallace plan to give instruction on stenics and operation of the mimeograph machine. Future plans for the club's activities will also be discussed.

Monday after roll was taken and announcements read, the seniors met in the school gymnasium for a brief class meeting concerning their trip to New York.

Rex Austin, principal, told the seniors that each student who is to be New York bound this coming May should turn in a reservation fee before leaving the building today.

This fee will be returned if the student decides not to go, or it will be deducted from the original total amount of the trip if he goes as planned.

Orion Y-Teens Ready for Dance Bermuda Bounce

By WENDY SCHAAER

The Y-Teens of Lake Orion High School are sponsoring the annual Bermuda Bounce tonight at the high school. For this dance the girls ask the boys and the girls pay.

The Thespian Society has gone into rehearsal for their next play, "Our Town." The play will be under the direction of Laura Gardner, the eleventh and twelfth grade English teacher.

Student director is Evan Andrews, a junior, and stage manager is Jan Bryans, senior. Since the play takes place from 1908 to 1918, the costume committee has been searching for the proper clothes for this period but hasn't been too successful.

Wilder to Be Bum, Go Out to Arizona

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—"I'm heading out into that Arizona desert to be a bum for two years," said Thornton Wilder.

"As soon as I get back to the states it's going to be two years without neckties, without shoes and without cultivated conversation," the American author and playwright said Thursday.

Wilder, 64, here from New York for the premiere of an operatic version of his play "The Alcestis," said he had wanted to slip away to the wild beauty of that desert for the past 30 years but had only recently decided to take the step.

"It's like suicide with some people who always talk about it, but now I'm going to realize my ambitions," the writer continued. He said he needed to "renew the springs, refresh the wells by getting away from it all in some quiet place."

After the two-year sabbatical, Wilder said, he will "return to the chock full of ideas for more work."

TO HIT THE BARS

"I'm going to choose some place half way between Nogales and Tucson—a place where I can hit the bars with equal ease in both towns," he went on.

Wilder plans to get back to the United States toward the end of March and will go immediately to Arizona to search for his retreat.

"No matter where it is," he said, "it's going to be my ideal of get-away quarters—a little white frame house with a rickety front porch where I can lounge away in the shade in a straight-backed wooden rocking chair."

"Some of my big city friends think I'm getting old, but I tell them it's good to be old at times because then people let you alone."

"They think you're old and feeble, but at heart I feel like a 25-year-old."

February Road Toll Lowest in 17 Years

EAST LANSING (AP)—The toll on Michigan highways last month was the lowest February traffic death count in 17 years, state police reported Thursday.

It also was the sixth consecutive month in which traffic deaths were reduced from last year. The 62 deaths were 36 less than the toll a year ago. Stated death reports will raise the total slightly, police said.

Glenn Invited to Visit Britain, Says Macmillan

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan announced in the House of Commons Thursday the government has invited Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr. to visit Britain.

"I very much hope that Col. Glenn will be able to accept the invitation which I have already sent him on behalf of the government through President Kennedy, although I recognize that it may be difficult for him to leave the United States in the near future," the prime minister said in answer to a question.

When "Soyuz-Astro" Yuri Gagarin visited London July 11 last year, he was welcomed by wildly enthusiastic crowds. Queen Elizabeth II invited him to lunch at Buckingham Palace.

Truck Crash Kills Nine

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A truck plunged into the river Moraca Thursday in the outskirts of the town of Titograd, killing nine persons and injuring 12. Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, said the truck plunged from a bridge and reported police were investigating to find out why.

the Continuous Filament Nylon Story

The country's major nylon producers, long famous for yarn that was superior, wear-wise, have created a new type that is sweeping the country. It is a process by which the yarn is made from a single continuous strand of nylon that prevents pilling, shedding and fuzzing. The new yarn enables you to get pleasant long service from even a modestly priced carpet. Most major producers have an entry in the field: DuPont's 501, CHEMSTRAND's CUMULOFIT, CAPROLAN, TYGORA and SEVERAL OTHERS. All reach relatively the same wear and beauty results through slightly different methods. . . and the best of these are at Beckwith-Evans.

Lansing Man Wants U.S. to Cover Cuban Honey Loss

LANSING (AP)—The only American importer of Cuban honey is hopeful the U. S. government will come up with a subsidy to sweeten the loss of his one-time $25,000 annual business.

J. Harold Sessions, 66, of Lansing says his honey business is washed up because of an executive order by President Kennedy, placing an embargo on all Cuban imports.

"The ban cut off an estimated $35 million in imports from the Caribbean island. Hardest hit by the embargo was the multi-million dollar cigar-making industry in Florida."

"If the cigar industry receives a subsidy from the government, I hope we can get a honey subsidy, too," Sessions said.

The world-famed El Aquinaldo honey was sold for 28 years in the United States in leading department stores in New York, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco, St. Louis and Philadelphia.

Sessions said he has a small inventory of about 600 pounds of the Cuban honey left over from an October shipment for final processing.

"I'm going to ration it out to my customers and close up shop by the end of the month," he said.

An Associated Press story relating the fate of Sessions' business caused him to be deluged with orders and telephone calls asking the last shipment of the rare item.

The last order for 48 dozen bottles of honey will go to a customer in Elton, S. D., Sessions said.

The firm once employed as many as 41 persons. Sessions said he employed only eight women on a part-time basis after 1956 when it became more difficult to get honey from Cuba because of Fidel Castro's control of the island.

The Cuban government certified that the honey was gathered while the flowers were in bloom. The honey was shipped to the United States between October and May for processing.

Sessions said the embargo hurt his former employees only in that some of the workers used their wages for Christmas gifts. Most of the women, he said, were married.

"I don't know what we will do now," he mused.

"My wife and I always figured the business would carry us through the rest of our years."

"We have hope of starting up again somehow because we had a good business and a good reputation."

BEGAN IN 1933

Sessions and his wife, Madeline began the Cuban honey business in 1933. After he lost his job in a Lansing bank at the height of the depression, Sessions looked desperately for a way to make a living. He became associated with an importer of the honey in Tampa, Fla.

A year later, the importer died and Sessions took over, transferring the operation to Michigan.

The firm grew to where it was importing 350,000 pounds of honey annually between 1950-56.

"We would have stayed big if Castro hadn't caused a lousy Communist," Sessions declared.

ONCE EARNED $20,000

Imports fell off after Castro rose to power and the firm was importing only 70,000 pounds of honey when it was hit by the embargo.

Now 2 Can Live Cheaply as 1, on the Honeymoon

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Newlyweds can honeymoon at Niagara Falls at half-price during June.

Hotels and motels in the plan will charge honeymooners single occupancy rates and restaurants will give them two meals for the price of one, the Chamber of Commerce announced Wednesday.

Under the plan, couples present their marriage certificates to the chamber office when they arrive. The chamber then supplies them with a list of cooperating merchants and tours.

Chinese on the "Nationalist-held" island of Quemoy farm a profitable crop called "iron potatoes." Artillery shells, fired from the Communist mainland three miles away, are dug out of the fields and sold as scrap iron.

Urge McNamara to Push B70

Defense Chief Refused to Use Funds Voted in 1961 for Bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has urged the Defense Department to continue strategic bomber production and move ahead with development of the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70.

The committee vote Thursday, was a replay of action at the 1961 congressional session.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has turned down the plan.

Congress last year voted more than $500 million to continue production of B52 bombers after next fall, and move the B70 toward production as a combat aircraft.

McNamara refused to spend the money voted to boost the manned bomber program.

LOMAY DISAGREES

The Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, disagrees with his civilian chief. He has endorsed the manned bomber program in testimony before House and Senate military committees.

And recently, he took his case to the White House. President Kennedy was reported to have listened attentively, but left the decision with McNamara.

2 Negro Ministers Win Plea for Bail

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Two Negro ministers have been released on bond on orders of a federal judge after Alabama state courts rejected their pleas for bail.

The ministers, the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth and J. S. Philter, posted bonds and were released shortly after U.S. Dist. Judge J. Hobart Grooms set bail at $300 each Thursday.

Shuttlesworth was sentenced to 90 days and Philter to 60 days in 1958. They were convicted on disorderly conduct charges stemming from an integration demonstration on a city bus.

The two remained free for more than three years because of a long series of appeals.

Prince Charles Attends First Palace Party

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles, the schoolboy heir to Britain's throne, has taken a small step toward joining adult company.

He attended his first palace luncheon party this week given by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II. Charles sat in for his father, Prince Philip, away touring South America.

The informal Wednesday luncheons are the queen's way of getting to meet prominent figures in the arts, politics, the church and industry.

The prince, still pale from his recent appendix operation, mainly looked and listened while the queen and his great-aunt, Princess Marina of Kent, led the conversation.

Dominican Priests Set Meeting to Elect Head

VATICAN CITY — The general council of the Order of Preachers (Dominicans) is to meet at Toulouse, France, to elect a new master general after the Rev. Michael Browne becomes a cardinal March 19.

Pope John XXIII named the Irish-born head of the Dominicans among 10 new cardinals last month.

Announcement of the Dominican meeting gave no date, saying only that it would take place soon after Father Browne dons his red hat.

Space Contract Switches Coincidental?

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Eyebrows are being lifted in scientific circles at some of the contract letting and shifts in our space program. Since Americans would not be annoyed at the thought of government officials playing politics—usual in this crucial field it is to be hoped that the following cases are purely coincidental:

1. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is currently moving its manned spacecraft center from Langley, Va., to Houston, Tex. A top scientist reports that the move was ordered even after Director Robert H. Gilruth complained that to do so could delay the manned space program by a year.

Coincidence: Texas is the home state of Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, chairman of the President's Committee on Aeronautics and Space Sciences.

Houston is the home city of Chairman Albert Thomas of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles space funds. Virginia's Sen. Harry F. Byrd did nothing to help elect the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

2. NASA recently awarded to North American Aviation Inc. of California the Apollo contract to design and build a three-man space craft for eventual landing of men on the moon.

The contract stipulated that a large facility was to be opened at Tulsa, Okla., for production support of Apollo, and an option taken on 300 acres of land on the Verdigris River in Oklahoma, for possible expansion. The $400 million starter contract should eventually involve billions of dollars.

Coincidence: The chairman of the Senate Committee on Aeronautics and Space Sciences is Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma. NASA Director James E. Webb, a Kerr protégé, was until his appointment a member of the board of Kerr-McGee Oil Industries in Oklahoma.

Rep. George P. Miller of California is chairman of the House Science and Astronautics Committee.

3. Space Daily reports this week that "powerful forces in Congress" have called on NASA to initiate a broad research program to develop rocket engines capable of using fuels derived from boron. Scientists have contended that boron is antiquated by our hydrogen fuels.

Boron is derived in Moskogo, Okla., by the Calvery Chemical Co., whose headquarters are in Pennsylvania. Space Daily listed the boron pressure group as Kerr, Sen. Mike Mansfield and Rep. Ed Edmondson, all of Oklahoma, and Rep. James Fulton and Sen. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania.

4. Republic Aviation Corp. of Long Island produces the F105 Thunderchief fighter bomber, the striking plane of the tactical air command. Recently its $1 billion air force contract was drastically cut back, and thousands of employees are facing layoffs and job loss.

A huge contract was instead given to McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis to produce the Navy F105 plane, which will replace the F105Ds.

Coincidence: Sen. Stuart Symington of St. Louis is a ranking Democratic member of the Senate Committee on Aeronautics and Space Sciences and a former secretary of the Air Force under President Truman.

Webb until his appointment as NASA director was on the board of directors of McDonnell Aircraft the Mercury craft which astronaut Corp. which also has the contract John Glenn has successfully orbit for producing the Gemini two-man orbit. New York's two senators and space craft, the next step after governor are Republicans.

Though Malays are famous for Malay smok. It usually happens their gentle and accommodating after a Malay broods over an afternoon, they sometimes run front to his pride, and he seldom amuck—a word derived from the remembers what he has done.

Scheffing Won't Support Numerous Trade Suggestions

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
LAKELAND, Fla. — Manager Bob Scheffing has become a disbeliever to those who keep screaming about the infield grass being greener in some other baseball camp or the pitching mound being more solid on some other diamond.

"Everyone is ready to trade off our pitchers and our infielders because it looks like someone else has something better," said the Tiger manager after a bad day of workouts for his hot hurlers yesterday.

Phil Regan was whipping the ball in to the batters, as were Frank Lary, Don Moss and Jim Bunning. In fact, they were throwing hard enough to have Scheffing comment to catcher Mike Roarke to have them ease off a little.

"I've heard so many people making trades for us they don't make sense anymore," said Scheffing. "Why should I give up my starting pitcher for Pedro Ramos, Cal McLish or some of the other names that have been tossed about?"

"We have the best starting pitching staff in the league, and a few boys who can help us in the bullpen. Sure, I could use a strong bullpen man but not by breaking up my staff," Scheffing said.

"Why would I give Foytack for Perry? Foytack had a better record, Foytack was 11 and lost 17; Foytack had 80 strikeouts in 170 innings; Foytack had a 3.22 earned run average. Perry had a 4.78 ERA."

Scheffing continued to point out figures on other pitchers mentioned in Tiger trades.

Frank Lary, Don Moss and Jim Bunning are Scheffing's big three. They are not on the market. Paul Foytack and Phil Regan are part of his secondary starting line. Ron Kline came through with three complete games in his short stay with the Tigers and Hank Aguirre and Terry Fox had good relief performances.

"Sure it would be great to have another starter-reliever but not for some of the names who can't help us any better than what we have," Scheffing said.

The one Scheffing is hoping will be the one who will help cut the 8-game margin between the Yankees and the Tigers is Sam Jones, the 27-year-old veteran from Houston of the National League and formerly of the San Francisco Giants.

Jones won 21 and 13 and had earned runs marks of 2.88 and 2.82 for two years with the Giants. Last year he was 8-3 for the season and his ERA rose to 4.50.

"There's some good life in Jones' arm," said Scheffing. "and if he gives us just a portion of what he gave the Giants, he'll help us."

Jones, who reported to Lakeland General Hospital on Wednesday, had minor surgery performed on his neck.

"A couple growths were removed from his neck and laboratory tests were made for malignancy. But they were negative," said trainer Jack Howell. "Jones should be back in camp within three days," he added.

Scheffing said the big 6-4 right-hander was throwing well and appeared to be in good condition.

"He just had problems turning his head so that neck really was bothering him," he said.

ACHES AND PAINS
The casualty list thus far has been limited to a few aches and pains and some fast blisters. Foytack was treated for blisters.

The big bats stayed overnight in the batting cage yesterday long after the pitching over was in the clubhouse. Batting practice catcher Ben Witzel and coach Tom Foytack served up some extra pitches for Al Kaline, Norm Cash, Jack Wood, Vic Wertz, Steve Bress and Dick Brown.

Kalene has been hitting the ball solidly. He had 36 cuts at the ball, drove five over the wall and had at least eight or nine line shots right along the line in left. In fact, he was hitting the ball solid enough to cause Chico Fernandez to quip in his broken English, "Hey Alie, you like for to hit .400 this year?"

VIC WERTZ
(Outfielder of Tigers)

From the Press Box
BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—There's no place like home. For Vic Wertz the start of the 1962 spring training camp with the Tigers is "just like coming home to stay."

It has been 9 years since Wertz started his spring baseball training with the club for which he started his Major League career. Since 1952, when the Tigers shuffled him to the St. Louis Browns, Wertz has had a strong desire to swing a bat for his "adopted" home town again.

"I have never convinced myself that the trade with the Browns was justifiable. It didn't make sense," said Wertz after shedding his jersey following a good workout in the opening of camp at Lakeland.

Charlie Gehring was general manager and Freddie Hutchinson was manager of the Tigers in 1952 when Wertz went to the Browns with Dick Littlefield, Marlin Stuart and Don Lenhardt for Ned Garver, Jim Delsing, Bud Black and Dave Madison.

What didn't make sense for Wertz was the fact that for six years prior to the trade he was an every day player for the Tigers. Detroit in exchange was getting a player who could play only once every four days. He and Garver were naturally the big names in the trade.

The trade hurt Wertz. When he walked into the Tiger training camp at Evansville, Ind. in 1943 from his home in York, Pa. he was the youngest player on the roster. The Tigers trained at Evansville because of wartime travel restrictions.

OLDEST ON SQUAD

"The oldest player on the squad was Roger Cramer who was 38 years old. I was 18 and like most kids starting in baseball I never figured I'd ever be the oldest player on a baseball squad," Wertz said.

Today at 37 he is the oldest member of the Tiger squad in Lakeland. Sad Sam Jones is eight months younger. "I stayed with the Tigers one month, then another month with Buffalo before going into the service," said Wertz. "Detroit became my Major League love," he added.

After his discharge in 1946 he returned to the Tigers and his career grew with experience. He was a popular choice in Detroit. In 1949, 1950 and 1951 he had his best years. He hit .304, .308 and .285 and had 133, 123, and 94 RBIs. When the Tigers failed in their pennant bid in 1950 the rash of trades to put the team back in contention the following years started.

A dejected Wertz went to the Browns in August of 1952. He went to Baltimore where Cleveland where he had great years in 1956-57 after a battle in 1955 with non-paralytic polio. A broken ankle in the exhibition season of 1958 allowed him to play in only 25 games that season. He was traded to the Red Sox in 1959. During the nine years away from Detroit, there were rumors on four different occasions that he would be traded back to the Tigers.

"I had a good year at Boston in 1960 and they figured they had a chance so they weren't going to make any move to trade me," Wertz said. "I guess I hurt my own desire to get back to Detroit by just having a few too good seasons," he jested.

The 5th hope in nine years came last September and it wasn't a rumor. Wertz was back "home." The Tigers lost nine productive baseball years of Wertz. He knows he won't be a regular now, but he still has a big bat, one he hopes will produce a few clutch hits to put the Tigers into the 1962 pennant chase.

CIO Upset Winner, 66-65

Lounge Cagers Finally Lose

It finally happened! The 300 Lounge basketball team wound up on the short end of the score for the first time this season Thursday night in the 2nd round of the City League's Class A playoffs at Pontiac Center.

After posting 14 straight wins during the regular season and one more to end the playoffs, the Lounge cagers bowed to the CIO Lancers 66-65, in a one-hour thriller.

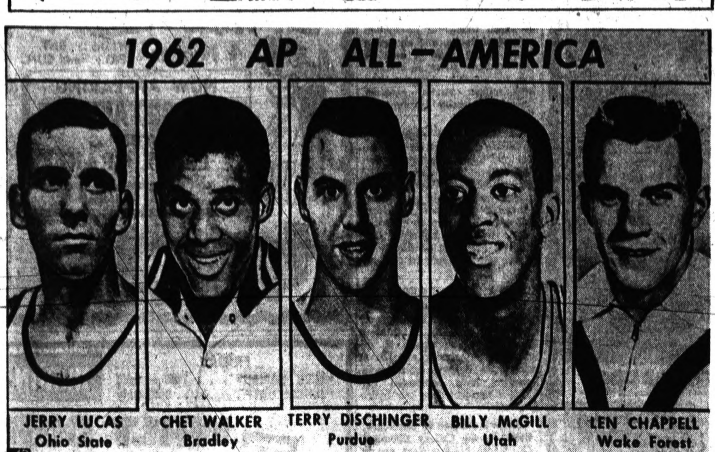

It was a nip-and-tuck contest all the way. CIO led at the end of the first quarter, 17-16, and managed to stay in front at half-time, 34-29. Lounge cut the deficit to 54-51 after three periods and the CIO replied with all three in the 4th stanza to win, 66-65.

Victor Patis defeated the Bombers, 32-26, in the Class D tournament. Dane Bourgeois meshed 19 points for Victor and Johnny Humer was stay-in front at half-time, 34-29.

Three players hit double figures, three periods and the CIO replied with all three in the 4th stanza to win, 66-65.

All-America Has 3 Repeaters

NEW YORK (AP)—Five seniors, topped by Ohio State's Jerry Lucas, make up the 1962 college basketball All-Americans announced today by The Associated Press. Named to the first team with Lucas were Terry Dischinger of Kansas State, Paul Silas of Purdue, Billy McGill of Utah, Chet Walker of Bradley and Len Chappell of Wake Forest. Lucas, Dischinger and Walker are repeaters from the 1961 All-American. In addition, Lucas is the first 3-time All-American since Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati.

Lucas, Dischinger and McGill topped the voting by 322 sports-writers and Radio-TV broadcasters. On the basis of five points for a first team vote and two points for a second team nod, Lucas polled 1,589 points, Dischinger got 1,273 and McGill 1,151.

Walker was next with 828 while the 240-pound Chappell barely won out over John Havlicek of Ohio State and Art Heyman of Duke for the last berth on the first team. Both Heyman and Havlicek received more first team votes, but Chappell sneaked in with 691 points helped by 103 second team votes.

SECOND TEAM
Havlicek, with 685, and Heyman, with 655, topped the second team. Joining them on the second team were Charles (Cotton) Nash of Kentucky (64), John Rudometz of Southern California (616) and Rod Thorn of West Virginia. Paul Hogue, of Cincinnati, Don Nelson of Iowa, Jack (The Shot) Foley of Holy Cross, Jimmy Ray of Indiana and Dave DeBussche, of Detroit, landed the third team places. It was nip and tuck in the balloting between Thorn and Hogue for the second team, but Thorn squeezed in with 338 points to 332. Nelson polled 322 points, Foley 313, Ray 199 and DeBussche 181.

W. D. (Red) Stroud, of Mississippi State, Nick Werkmann of Sethon Hall, Hubie White of Villanova, Ken Crotson of Colorado, Jim Kerwin of Tulane and Jerry Smith of Furman were named to the honorable mention list. H.M. also included Mike Wroblewski of Kansas State, Paul Silas of Purdue, Mel Counts of Oregon State, Leroy Ellis of St. John's, Cornell Green of Utah State, Ron Rascoe of Western Kentucky and Ron Warner of Gettysburg.

GREAT TALENTS

The talents of the first team are well known to dribble fans. All are tops when it comes to shooting, passing, floor work and rebounding.

Lucas, 6-8, led the Buckeyes to their third straight Big Ten title while Dischinger, 6-7, was the Big Ten leading scorer. The 6-9 McGill set Skyline scoring records and the 6-8 Walker, known as the Jet, became Bradley's all-time highest scorer. Chappell, one of the fastest 6-8 players in the game, led Wake Forest to the Atlantic Coast Conference regular season championship. He was a whiz during the latter part of the season.

Nash, the "Baby Bomber" led Kentucky back to prominence as a sophomore while Heyman, a junior, was Duke's showpiece. Havlicek, a senior, was a big factor in Ohio State's success.

In addition to the first four, Heyman and Havlicek were the only ones to receive 100 or more first team votes. Lucas got 317, Dischinger 233, McGill 205, Walker 128, Heyman 109, Havlicek 109. Chappell was next with 99 first team votes. The Hoosiers led the first three teams will receive certificates from The Associated Press.

Cinci's Tourney Fate Hinges on Bradley 5

By The Associated Press
The Cincinnati Bearcats are now in the frustrating position of being able to do nothing but sit and wait, and hopefully polish their already glossy skills.

"The Bearcats have finished their regular season basketball play, but don't yet know whether they're going to make it to the NCAA midwest regional tournament—first stop in the defense of their national basketball championship."

"They won't know until Saturday night when Bradley plays St. Louis."

The situation is this: Cincinnati completed its regular season with a narrow, 61-58 victory over St. Louis, a team that has taken earlier this season. Should Bradley win, the Braves and Bearcats will meet in a one-game playoff for the right to compete in the NCAA tournament. The loser is expected to get a bid to the NIT.

Seventh-ranked Bowling Green, already associated with its league title, was victim of Thursday night's biggest upset, falling to Loyola of Chicago 81-68. Loyola, riding a nine-game winning streak, came from behind at the point halftime deficit and took it back to sick bay and miss the National AAU Championships last week. But when he arrived today he said he felt fine.

"But," he cautioned, "I don't expect to break the record every time I vault. I've been working out all week and I think I'm ready for a good one."

Gubner likewise has spent the winter breaking all the indoor shotput records in the books. Bill Nieder's 65-10 world outdoor record. The 26-pound Gubner, a New York University sophomore, started to reach at least 65 feet in the K. of C. meet.

The 600, matching Bill Crothers of the University of Toronto against record holder George Kern of Illinois, could turn into the best race. Crothers has been chasing Kern's 1:03 indoor record all season. But this is their first head-to-head meeting.

John Thomas of Boston University, back in form after a 7-foot high jump last week, hopes to do even better. Hayes Jones of Pontiac, Mich., goes after his 29th straight indoor victory in the 60-yard hurdles and Frank Bud of Villanova tries for his 15th in a row in the 60-yard dash.

In the absence of Jim Beatty, Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago, is the mile favorite. He has a 4:22 behind Beatty two weeks ago.

Successful Operation on Schmidt's Shoulder
ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Joe Schmidt, veteran linebacker of the Detroit Lions, underwent an 8-hour shoulder surgery at University hospital yesterday.

The Lions received word yesterday that rookie halfback Pat Stud still also requires surgery on a broken arm suffered Tuesday in a fall at the Houston, Tex., home.

Badgers Play Bucks Too Late on Court; League Makes Moves

NEW YORK (AP)—Leatherstocking John Uelses shot for an over-16-foot and big Gary Gubner goes after his own 2-week-old indoor shotput record tonight in the features of the Knights of Columbus track meet in Madison Square Garden.

Uelses, a corporal from Quantico, Va., is the world's only 166-foot vaulter. He did it twice earlier in the season — 15-6 in the Milwaukee meet and 15-6 in the Boston A-B games.

Then he came down with the flu and in the Louisville meet couldn't even clear 14 feet. He missed the meet.

The Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs continue tonight at Ann Arbor with Michigan making its title bid. Big Ten basketball has a full slate Saturday.

The league held its annual business meeting Thursday at East Lansing.

Indiana tankers set conference records in the only two swim events held Thursday. Alan Somers broke his own 1500-meter freestyle mark in 17:37.5 and Ted Sicking set a 200 individual medley record in 2:01. The Hoosiers led Michigan by 9 1/2 points going into today.

The Michigan skaters play Denver tonight seeking a berth in Saturday night's "championship" Michigan Tech. Tech dropped Michigan State to the loser's bracket Thursday, 5-1.

Ohio State and Wisconsin, the top cage teams, clash tomorrow but the Bucks already have won the "championship" by 13 points most of the contest. Both teams posted the same number of field goals, but Spencer had a 15-11 edge at the foul line.

Chuck Gillis topped the winners with 13 points. Tom Nickman netted 18 for Lakeland. Gary Headon scored 28 markers for St. Louis. Homer Harrison of Northwest, MSU goes to Minnesota, Iowa is at Illinois and Purdue vs. Indiana in the televised contest.

The conference yesterday discarded a proposed round-robin football slate and suspended a rule which would have required each team to play eight conference foes annually.

Spencer Floor Covering won the Class A Waterford basketball championship last night by defeating runnerup Lakeland Pharmacy, 54-47.

The champions finished the season with a 14-1 record. Lakeland won 9 and lost 2. All three setbacks were administered by Spencer in as many games.

Steve's Market routed Tim's Barber Shop 75-54 in a battle to see which team would be left in the Class A cellar.

Spencer had little trouble winning. The floor covering team led by 13 points most of the contest. Both teams posted the same number of field goals, but Spencer had a 15-11 edge at the foul line.

Prep Front

Harry Moore has five-plus good reasons to be grinning these days.

The Capac basketball mentor has directed his team to 16 straight wins and a second straight Southern Thumb championship.

Anyone who thinks it's about time the bubble burst at the St. Clair County school had better take a look at the Capac roster.

There is only one senior among the top 11 players. The five starters all have a year or two left after this season.

The lone senior is Ricky Hawks who serves as No. 6 player.

Three of the regulars are juniors working on their third letters. They are guards Ken Kobayashi (4-7) and Ben Ysa (4-9) and forward John Standt (6-5).

Center John Scheuer (6-5) is a sophomore and the leading scorer. The other forward is sophomore Ken Adamski (6-2). Scheuer and Adamski both lettered as frosh when Capac won the championship with a 13-1 record.

The Chiefs eventually lost in regional play, by a very slim margin, to eventual Class C state champion Grosse Pointe. St. Paul Capac is rated the No. 1 Class C team by the Associated Press and UPI polls.

No wonder other coaches in the Southern Thumb Association start waving crying towels every time the charges of Harry Moore are mentioned. It could be long 1962-63 season for the other seven league members.

While Capac has been stealing headlines, two of the Southern Thumb teams—Almont (3-13) and Dryden (0-16)—have been getting little attention.

It's their turn to move into the spotlight tonight. We'll be in Dryden when the Almont Raiders hit town for confirmation of one of the top small high school athletic rivalries in the state.

At the conclusion of North Farmington's 41-50 triple overtime triumph over Livonia Franklin, one of the cheerleaders from the winning school fainted.

THE PROGNOSTICATOR

The state basketball tournament is no time to make predictions. Invariably, some team with a 0-16 record comes up and knocks off two or three foes in district play. So, here goes nothing.

CLASS A — Pontiac's two schools—Central and Northern—will advance to regional play at Livonia Bentley. Rochester will survive its own district and head for Flint.

CLASS B—Northville should have an easy time at Milford and go to the Willow Run regional where things won't be the same. We like Romeo to win at Clarkston, but we could be very wrong on this one.

Moore to Face 10th Spare foe

Monroe Moore of Pontiac will be taking on his 10th opponent on the "Make That Spare" television show Saturday night.

Tall Milt Mahousen, a Southwest star from Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be his next foe.

Moore has won $23,000 and could break Don Carter's record of $27,000 with a big showing this week. He could earn a total of $10,000 more if he won again, made all the regular apes and then topped the big 6-7-8-10 jackpot setup. The latter spare is valued at $8,000 now.

The 300 Bowl staff member left for New York this afternoon in order to start his usual pre-program practice sessions.

Goal for Carry Back

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Carry Back, assured of a place among racing's immortals despite his back barn ancestry, can step into fifth place among all-time money winners with a victory in Saturday's $50,000-added New Orleans Handicap.

Districts Next as Prep 5's End Season

By REX CORNWELL.

Oakland County area high school basketball teams bid farewell to their regular season schedules tonight.

Except for three weekend games, everybody hangs down the curtain on the 1961-62 campaign this evening and hopefully look forward to next week's district tournament action.

All league championships except two have been decided and the game yet determined will be settled before the evening is finished.

The Inter-Lakes Conference race, an unpredictable thing this year, reaches its climax with Southfield at Berkley, Waterford at Farmington and Pontiac Northern at Walled Lake.

Berkley leads the pack by one game and can clinch the 11 crown by downing the Jays.

A Farmington victory at the Skippers' expense, coupled with a Berkley loss, would mean a championship between Berkley and Farmington.

The only thing at stake in the PNH-Walled Lake game is Northern's hopes of finishing as high as third in the final standings. The Huskies currently share 3rd spot with Southfield. Walled Lake is hoping to rescue one win out of the campaign after 16 losses.

East Detroit is expected to have no trouble wrapping up the Eastern Michigan League crown. The Shamrocks play host to cellar-dwelling Hazel Park and they can probably name their own score on the way to top honors.

The No. 1 game likely is Flint Northern's invasion of Pontiac Central for a Saginaw Valley duel.

The Chiefs can wrap up 2nd place in the Valley standings with a win over Northern, which has been the boys' hottest outfit for the past three weeks. Game time is 8 p.m. at the PCH gym.

Bloomfield Hills visits Clarkson and West Bloomfield entertains Holly to feature a full Wayne-Oakland schedule.

Avoidance tries to upset visiting Clawson and Lake Orion is a definite underdog at home against Troy in Oakland A. features.

Waterford Kettering attempts to snap up 3rd spot in the Eastern Michigan League at L'Anse Creuse while Romeo invades Lake Orion. Rochester seeks revenge at home against Roseville in a non-conference rematch.

The No. 1 contest in the Eastern Michigan circuit pits Farmington against Kimball at Royal Oak in a battle for 3rd place. Both teams have 7-4 EML records.

Oxford visits Waterford. Our Lady of the Lakes tonight in another area game of keen interest. North Farmington will be attempting to climb a notch higher in the same league at Cherry Hill.

Rochester Five to Meet Lapeer

Tri-County champion Rochester, twice conqueror of Lapeer during the regular season, has drawn the Panthers in the first round of the Class A district basketball tournament of the Rochester area.

The other half of the Rochester "A" district pits Utica (12-3) against Troy (13-2). Utica meets Troy next Wednesday. Lapeer faces Rochester Thursday and the two winners clash Saturday for the title.

The Rochester district champion will advance to the "A" regional at the Flint IMA. Troy is competing in Class A for the first time.

Class D pairings also were determined at Rochester yesterday with Memphis drawing a bye and Pontiac Emmanuel drawing Richmond St. Augustine.

Walled Lake drew Adrian as its opening foe in the eight-team "A" district at Ypsilanti. The Vikings will meet Adrian Wednesday at 7 p.m. on the East Michigan University Fieldhouse floor.

League Swim Meets Under Way Tonight

High school swimmers start churning up the water tonight in search of three conference championships.

The Saginaw Valley and North

Suburban boys hold preliminaries while the Eastern Michigan is deciding whether Birmingham Seaholm will reign again.

The Valley meet is at Arthur Hill. The host team and Flint Northern are expected to battle for honors. Pontiac Central's chances are very slim.

Fitzgerald and Southfield expected to challenge host Thurston for NSSA honors. Pontiac Northern is in this meet. Seaholm is expected to fight off a challenge by Kimball and triumph in the Maple's pool.

The 400-yard freestyle and diver finals are scheduled tonight in the Valley and NSSA meets. Preliminaries will qualify swimmers for final events Saturday. Kimball holds a 126 point edge over Southfield going into tonight's EMI final.

Seaholm and Kimball qualified a total of 38 swimmers between them in last week's preliminaries. Farmdale was the only other school to have tankers in the finals.

Tim Cash of Kimball established a league record in winning the 400 freestyle final. He was clocked in 4:15. Bill Watts of Farmdale's Lloyd Goodwin third. Lynn Smith and Jim Henderson of Seaholm were fourth and fifth.

There are 18 other Maples in the finals, including final. All-America Don Spencer. The Maple star set league records in the BRONCO STARTER — Joe Fisher will be in Pontiac's starting lineup as the Broncos close the regular season at West Bloomfield tonight. He has been a big reason for a good finish by the former Wayne-Oakland power.

St. Fred, Alumni Clash Saturday at PCH Gym

St. Frederick basketball fans will have a reunion with stars of years gone by when the current Rams variety meets an Alumni squad Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Pontiac Central gym.

Included on the team helping St. Fred close its regular season and prepare for tournament play will be seven of the right boys who have captained teams up to present coach Gene Wright. They are: Dick Doyon, John Bradley, Dick Nichols, Tom Dorchner, Ted Dobski, Dick Nickerson and Mike Reed.

Other Wright-coached boys to appear will be Wally Quares, Gary and Jerry Dicker, Phil Landry, Bob Broadwell, Bob and Rudy Yape, Dave Lufkin, Jim Spadafora and Charles Oltman. Completing the Alumni will be Roger Neeck, Red McMan, Del Chavez and Jerry Bradley, who played before Wright became coach.

A preliminary attraction will have grade school cagers in action.

buttery and individual medley in the preliminaries. His times were 5:1 and 2:16.2.

Bob Wolf of Seaholm was first in the 100 and 200-yard freestyles and is favored to cop both events tonight.

The EMI meet gets under way at 8 p.m.

Freestyle Chuck Gross will be PNH's chief hope in the meet at Thurston. The Huskies finished the regular season in fourth place.

Thurston and Fitzgerald are expected to battle for honors. The host school edged Fitzgerald in the final meet of the season to take regular season honors. Southfield finished third.

John Poff, Rod Kaminski, Andy Wilson, Don Boddener and the 200 freestyle relay team got the other Bluejay lists.

Daryl Kitter of Warren set records in the 50 freestyle (23.2) and the 100 freestyle (51.8). Southfield is now 7-5.

Oakland County area wrestlers were competing at three different sites today as the state regionals got under way.

Flint Northern and Hazel Park, Class A meet hosts, were favorites. Defending state champion Wiley Vetterite heads a well balanced Northern team. Bill Kettellwell and Gary Burger among the Parker standouts.

Inter-Lakes champs Ken Kimmel, Skip Melroy and Don Terz make PNH a solid contender at Flint. Pontiac is there led by Saginaw Valley.

Several Area Mat Stars Open State Title Campaign

Hills Art Fowkes and Wayne Lee, Unabated Tom Brown, Dan Wilkinson and Jim Bales carry Walled Lake's top hopes. Waterford and Kettering will also be in Flint.

The race seems wide open at Hazel Park, after the favorite Farmington, featuring the Cook boys, appears strong along with Fitzgerald. Bill Shelton, a 138-pounder, is the top Southfield contender.

Hazel Park is not as strong as early season. Frank Staggs graduated, and Tim Davis moved away and, Ron Davis suffered a broken arm. Rick Harris of Kimball and Donero's Dave Yobe are among the county's top boys.

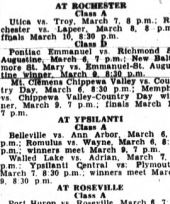

ORION DARKHORSE

Lake Orion and host River Rouge are considered darkhorses in Class B with Ann Arbor St. Thomas and Flack Rock favored. Greg Doty, Mickey LaMagna, Frank Ochso, Ray Smith and Fred Lauer have been the most steady Dragons in a losing season.

Other schools to be in the Rouge battle will be Northville, North Farmington, Lathrup West, Willow Run, Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, L'Anse Creuse, Summerville and Grosse Ile.

The four top finishers in each weight class in four Class A and four "B" tournaments will be eligible to go to the Michigan championships March 9-10 at Michigan State and the University of Michigan, respectively.

Records Mean Nothing in Almont-Dryden Game

Almont's only two victories this season have come at the expense of Dryden.

The Cardinals are confident that they can make Almont return part of the favor when the Southern Thunder arch-rivals clash tonight at Dryden.

The records — Almont, 2-14, and Dryden, 6-18 — mean very little when these southern Lake Superior county schools collide in an athletic event. And the outlook is the same tonight.

Dryden member Bob Mason feels his team "has a good chance this time."

"I have a feeling our boys are going to come through," he said. "The biggest problem is keeping them from getting too keyed up."

FOUL TROUBLE

"This happened when we played over at Almont and we ran into serious foul trouble in the first half. The boys were just too eager."

"I'm quite confident; unless the boys want to be the only Class D school in the area without a victory."

Paul Grundin, one of the top players in the league, has carried Dryden's offense tonight by averaging 16 points a game.

Forward Ray Bollert is the top scorer for Almont. But he has been helped in past games by center Bill Harris and guard Tony Patch. This trio could offset any hot night by Grundin.

Brown City and New Haven square off on the latter's court with second place going to the winner. Capac, No. 1 team in the state, entertains Ansonia Bay and Memphis is at Armada.

Birmingham Groves hits the road for its finale.

Other action has Ortonville finishing its first Genesee C League basketball season at Linden. Waterford is at Royal Oak Dondero and Pontiac Emmanuel Christian plays at North Branch.

Dufek Will Headline St. Benedict Banquet

Don Dufek, freshman football coach at the University of Michigan, will be the main speaker at St. Benedict's annual sports banquet Monday at 7 p.m.

Over 500 men and boys are expected to attend the affair in St. Benedict hall.

Bruce Martin, sports announcer for radio station WCAR, will be the master of ceremonies. Monroe Moore, local bowling champion, and Detroit-Lions' linebacker Wayne Walker also will be on the program.

MOUNT AYR, Iowa — A sign on a local lawn reads "Tooth acres."

In a situation where the student is making poor grades, a solution is for parents, counselors, teachers and the student to concentrate on present difficulties before becoming too concerned about which college or what future should be planned.

Whether your child is starting school or is already in high school, get an understanding with his teachers. Parents, teachers and counselors can achieve much when they work together for the benefit of the child.

Plan Milford Corporation to Develop Area Industry

MILFORD — A nonprofit industrial development corporation will be formed here to attract industry to the area and to support existing industrial firms.

Organization of the corporation will be the job of the Milford Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development Committee.

Once established, however, the corporation will not be affiliated with the local group's development committee. Each will operate under the direction of its own officers.

Wholehearted support of the development corporation, which will encompass the entire Huron Valley School District, was given by members of the Milford Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday.

While the industrial corporation and the industrial committee will each be a separate unit, the two will work in close association to eliminate duplication of work and to provide greater assistance in advancing the industrial development program for the area.

James M. Rahl, chairman of the chamber's industrial committee and manager of the Milford branch of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, said the next step in forming the corporation would be the election of a board of directors.

"It's expected there will be 25 directors," said Rahl, "and it will be up to them to elect the officers of the corporation."

LIKE ROCHESTER UNIT
"Our plan is very much like the one in Rochester, where a corporation was formed and already has promoted a new industry, the Rochester Aerial Corporation," he added.

"Not much in the way of funds will be needed, but with it a great deal can be accomplished. The money would be used for operational purposes only."

Finances would come from the members of the board of directors and would amount to about $500.

"When larger amounts are involved the corporation would act as a liaison between the investor and the manufacturer who wants to locate in the area."

"Much of the paper and foot work will be done by the industrial committee," said Rahl.

"The prime concern of the corporation will be to find a suitable area that can be used for an industrial park," Rahl added.

FOR BETTER CHANCES
"We already know our chances for success will be better if we have an area that can be controlled with industry because services can be provided for all at cheaper rates."

Local zoning boards and realtors will benefit the corporation and a great extent in finding choice locations," Rahl concluded.

Pine Knob PTA to Meet Monday, Elect Officers

CLARKSTON — The annual election of officers will be the highlight of Monday's meeting of the Pine Knob Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association.

The program, starting at 7:30 p.m., will also include the showing of the film, "So Noble a Noisy Nine," concerning children in this age range. Refreshments will be served.

Square Dance Unit Sets Troy Meeting

TROY — A new square dance group in Troy will hold its initial meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 9 at Johnsonville School on Square Lake Road.

Herb Rose of Warren will instruct and call the dances for the group, sponsored by the Troy branch of the Metropolitan Detroit YMCA.

Board member Mrs. Robert Bevier of Booth Road, Troy, said a number of area residents have expressed interest in organizing the square dance group, and that others are welcome to join them.

Information about square dancing and other newly-organized YMCA activities in the Troy area may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Bevier or Bill Beck at the Birmingham YMCA, which sponsors the new Troy extension branch.

JUDITH A. CHAPMAN
A July 14 wedding is planned by Judith Ann Chapman and John P. Boyer among the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chapman of 4125 1/2-Mile Road, Wall Lake.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Philip A. Boyer of Detroit and the late Mr. Boyer.

The change came after several lawyers reported that Detroit, Mount Clemens, Pontiac, Jackson and probably other cities want the federal facility, said Sen. Perry W. Greene, R-Grand Rapids, said it really didn't matter what happened to the resolution.

"I don't think they pay any attention to our resolutions in Washington," he said. "They have great big wastebaskets down there."

Federal authorities have indicated they plan to establish a data processing center employing about 1,500 persons in the Midwest. At least two other states besides Michigan have indicated an interest in being chosen for the site.

Port Huron, suffering from heavy unemployment, offered to build a 200,000-square-foot office building on a 36-acre site and lease it to the federal government for $1 a year. If it is chosen for the processing center.

Sen. Perry W. Greene, R-Grand Rapids, said it really didn't matter what happened to the resolution.

DISCUSS BENEFIT — Merrill Lee Ostrum of Oak Park and John Loring, secretary of the Wall Lake Optimist Club, review the program for the production "The Money Saver," a space-age comedy to be presented at 8 p.m. March 12 at the Wall Lake Senior High School.

The show is being sponsored by the local Optimists to raise funds to support the Wall Lake Little League baseball team. Merrill Lee, 19, is affiliated with Variety International Productions, Inc., Houston, Tex., the firm producing the play.

Seek New Farmington Tax

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — while the average state equalized valuation for each child in the state is about $15,000, the valuation in the area is only $9,000 and is continuing to drop due to a lack of tax support from industry.

Unless steps are taken to correct the imbalance of industrial development in relation to residential growth it will become more and more difficult to maintain the present operating income per child without making the local tax more severe, the committee's report stated.

Township officials anticipate that much of the revenue that is brought in by industry connecting onto the water and sewer lines would pay for the bonding program.

As a new industry looked onto the facilities it will be required to pay proportionate shares of the cost for both the main lines already constructed and the needed laterals.

This is the third partial building opened at the Plymouth State Home. The first, a Hospital-Administration Building, was opened in February 1961 and the second, a 170 nursing patients addition.

The second, a 220 bed unit, was opened in November 1961 when 320 patients were transferred from the Farmington Unit which was closed due to budget cutbacks. The institution currently has a capacity of 490.

Marilyn Wood Engaged to Robert D. Morgan

Announcement is made of the engagement of Marilyn Joyce Wood to Robert D. Morgan of 448 N. Court St., Lapeer, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Morgan of Lapeer.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Charles F. Martin of Ypsilanti and the late Dr. Ernest Wood, an April 7 wedding is planned.

At Rochester PTSA Meeting

ROCHESTER — Steps being taken in planning for construction of the Rochester unit of Crittenton General Hospital were outlined for some 200 local citizens here last night.

One of the main points brought out in the discussion after a presentation by hospital officials was that approval has been given for the hospital's own sewage disposal system.

"Water has never been a problem," said Dr. Eugene Sieber, Crittenton Hospital administrator, "and now that the State Health Department has approved our sewage disposal system, our sewer problems are nearly resolved."

If this approval had not been given, the sewer line would have had to be run over two miles to the nearest sewer.

Methodists Set Prayer Vigil on Ash Wednesday

TROY — The Big Beaver Methodist Church will begin the Lenten season with an all day Prayer Vigil on Ash Wednesday. The sanctuary will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. for those who wish to come in for a period of prayer and meditation.

Members of the congregation are pledging themselves to be present at specific hours so that one will be at prayer all day long.

Rev. Albert E. Hartog, pastor, will conduct brief devotions at 10:00 a.m., 1:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. there will be a Bible Study Class conducted by Mr. Hartog. The Book of Acts is the subject for discussion.

House Dems to Fight Bills for 19th District

LANSING, (AP) — House Democrats have agreed to fight two Republican-sponsored bills to create a 19th Congressional District for Michigan.

Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, House Democratic floor leader, said Democrats agreed in caucus Thursday to line up solidly against measures sponsored by Sen. Frank D. Beale, R-M, chair, and Rep. James N. Fols, R-Huron.

"Both are plans to deprive people of their rightful voice in congressional elections," he said. "Neither one does anything about the big population disparity in the present districts."

Beale's plan, already past the Senate, would create a new district of Southern Macomb County and Southeastern Oakland County. The main feature of the Fols plan would carve a new district out of St. Clair and Lapeer counties and eastern Genesee County. A House vote on the measure has been put over to March 8.

Gov. Swainson branded the Beale Bill "a malapportionment" plan and served notice he would veto it if it comes to his desk.

Michigan, which picked up the new district as a result of population gains in the last decade, will elect congressmen from the state at large if the legislature fails to agree on a reapportionment plan.

AREA UNTOUCHED
Some observers predicted Upper Peninsula Democrats in the House might go for one of the GOP plans since both leave their area untouched.

Another bill, sponsored by Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, and favored by Swainson, would reduce U. P. representation from two to one.

Joe Collins, Democratic state chairman, blasted the Beale plan Thursday as "clearly aimed at depriving the citizens of Oakland County of their right to greater representation in Washington."

It would give 600,000 Oakland County residents one congressman but allow two congressmen for 700,000 others, he said.

Tell Preliminary Plans for Widening of M53

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced preliminary plans for a $2.6-million project to widen M53 in Warren and Center Line to Southern Macomb County.

The existing five-lane pavement between Eight Mile Road and 12-Mile Road would be widened to seven lanes and the four lanes divided highway between 12 and 14-Mile roads would be widened to six lanes of divided highway.

Picking Up the Pieces

SEARCH GOES ON AND ON — Rescue workers waded through shallow waters around the tangled wreckage of an American Airlines jetliner as the search for the bodies continues. The plane crashed into Jamaica Bay Thursday morning after taking off from New York's Idlewild Airport on a scheduled nonstop flight to Los Angeles. All 95 on the plane were killed. Only 52 bodies have been recovered so far.

Might Take a Year to Solve NY Crash

NEW YORK (AP)—What failure of man or machine caused an American Airlines Astrojet to plunge with powerful fury to a splintering disaster in the shallow waters of Jamaica Bay? The answer to this grim question was still a mystery today.

Fatal Flight Passengers Eager, Happy Travelers

NEW YORK (UPI)—The passengers who boarded American Airlines flight 1, minutes before its crash Thursday, were a cross-section of traveling America — businessmen on the job, first-time air travelers, vacationers seeking relaxation.

Winter-weary Pontiac lay in the clutch of a cold wave today for the second straight day, and the U.S. Weather Bureau's forecast gave little hint of much change for the better.

The bureau said temperatures were expected to be moderate throughout the state today, reaching a high of 18 to 22 in Pontiac, but will stick under the next five days although not so severe.

Low temperatures will range from 9 to 17 above tonight. It will be mostly cloudy and a little warmer Saturday, the high from 25 to 32, with a chance of afternoon light snow.

Except for the residue of recent ice and snowflakes, roads in the state were generally clear. There was little precipitation in Michigan last night.

Morning winds northeasterly at 5 to 14 miles per hour will become southeasterly to south at 10 to 18 m.p.h. tonight and Saturday.

Hour-Long Fight Laid to Edgy Temper as Cease Fire Nears

ALGIERS (AP)—French troops fought a wild, hour-long battle with Moslem riflemen in the ancient Casbah today.

Thousands of troops ringed the squalid native quarter after crack units stormed into its narrow byways to put down Moslems who fired at them from rooftops. The sniping was crushed with gunfire and grenades.

There was no immediate accounting of casualties.

Military officials said they believed the fight started after a terrorist attack set off edgy tempers.

Police cars were withdrawn from the area at the height of the fight but it led soldiers take over the job of restoring order. Green and white rebel flags waved in some areas in defiance of the French.

Barbed wire barriers sealed off the old quarter but after fighting had died down to random shots, one exit into the Place du Gouvernement was opened to let Moslems go to the nearby mosque. Moslems are in the closing days of the observance of Ramadan, a holy month in their faith.

TROOPS PATROL

Although the outbreak was put down, troops in platoon strength filed through the European section of the city, alert for signs of further disturbance.

At the French naval base town of Mers el Kheir, adjoining Oran, European mobs shot five Moslems to death and sacked Moslem shops in retaliation for the slaying Thursday of a European mother and her two children.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department announced today that early releases will be granted an estimated 5,100 military reservists on active duty who wish to study or teach in schools and colleges.

LONDON (UPI)—The Communist New China news agency said today that the National Congress session which had been scheduled to open in Peking next Monday has been postponed.

JFK on TV Tonight

N-Test Decision Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to announce tonight that the United States will resume testing nuclear weapons in the atmosphere next month unless the Soviet Union agrees quickly to a reliable nuclear test ban treaty.

The long-awaited announcement of the President's decision on new U.S. air tests, will be carried across the nation by network radio and television and to the world by the Voice of America.

The White House announced only that Kennedy will speak at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time on the subject of nuclear testing and disarmament.

However, according to reliable advance indications he will make a last-chance bid to the Soviet Union to join in a nuclear test band treaty, backed by strong international opinion, which could make further testing unnecessary.

Both Convention President Stephen S. Nisbet, R-Fremont, and Richard Van Dusen, R-Bingham Farms, chairmen of the rules and resolutions committee, admitted the deadline could not be met.

The convention is making slow progress, on Michigan's court system as delegates launched into a second week of debate.

"I think now we may get into the middle or the end of April," said Nisbet, "or even run on into May."

Visits Actors Backstage in NY

ASTRONAUT MEETS STAR — Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. shakes hands with Rudy Vallee (right), star of the Broadway hit "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," during a backstage visit at New York's 46th Street Theater Thursday night. Glenn Visits U.N. Today

NEW YORK (AP)—John H. Glenn Jr., the blazoff of this city's wildest hero welcome still echoing in his ears, visited United Nations headquarters today.

Among those accompanying Glenn is Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N. The visit was by special invitation of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. The hour-and-a-half tour includes an informal session with delegates on the 28-nation U.N. committee on the peaceful uses of outer space.

Glenn, a down-to-earth gentleman except when he is in his space suit, was visibly overwhelmed by the outpouring of an estimated four million New Yorkers greeting him on his first day here.

Tragedy also took the stage on Glenn Day as 95 persons perished when an airliner plunged into Jamaica Bay after takeoff from Idlewild Airport. It was this nation's worst plane crash involving a single commercial aircraft.

A third method would involve the gathering of a sufficient number of voters' signatures on initiative petitions to get the document on the November ballot.

The convention also could file a suit seeking to upset the attorney general's opinion before the Supreme Court.

Both Van Dusen and Nisbet said they were unaware of any concerted move to force the issue, however. Both indicated they felt it would make no great difference whether the constitution was submitted to the voters in November or next April.

Defense Chief Arrests U Nu, Other Officials

Ex-President Thaik's Son is Killed by Stray Bullet in Gun Fight

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's defense chief, Gen. Ne Win, seized power for the second time in 3 1/2 years today and arrested Premier U Nu, ex-President Sao Shwe Thaik and other members of the government.

One casualty was reported in the army seizure of power—the son of Thaik was fatally wounded by a stray bullet when Thaik's guards and troops exchanged fire. Thaik was Burma's first president. He retired from the office in 1952.

Military informants said U Nu was arrested at a suburban residence of 2 a.m. and taken away by soldiers. Thaik lived a few hundred yards away.

Military personnel in quick succession also arrested Thakin Tin, finance minister and president of Burma's ruling party; the housing minister, U Zabin; the trade minister, U Thwin; the industries minister, U Rashid, and the minister for Karen State affairs, Sao Hla Tun.

SUSPENDS PARLIAMENT

The army suspended Parliament and seized strategic communications, transportation and security points throughout the country.

An army officer said about 10,000 troops and 30 tanks took up posts at key points throughout the capital and blocked all main roads.

Fumes Fatal to Young Area Couple

A Pontiac area couple was asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes early this morning as they sat taking in a car after returning home from a party.

Pronounced dead shortly before 6 a.m. by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. Isaac Prevette were Richard P. Clark, 22, of 3135 S. Adams Road, and Margaret E. Little, 21, of 136 Dwight St.

The couple had been dating steadily for about a year. They were discovered overcome by the deadly fumes shortly after 5 a.m. by the young man's mother, Mrs. Rayburn C. Clark.

"Richard and Margaret left on a date at about 9 p.m.," said the grief-stricken mother. "I awoke and heard the car on the driveway around 3 a.m. Then I awoke a second time around 5:20 and the motor was still running."

"They never said a word long before," she told Oakland County sheriff's deputies. "So I went out to see what was wrong."

"The windows were all closed and they were sitting on the front seat."

The two were dead when Mrs. Clark found them, deputies said.

The car belonged to Miss Little. Sheriff's deputies said a hole had rusted out in the top of the exhaust pipe and in the trunk and that exhaust fumes were leaking through the trunk into the car.

Miss Little, an assistant buyer for Walte's Department Store, had been staying with a girl friend while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Little are vacationing in Florida, according to her aunt, Mrs. Joe Little of 311 S. Wilding Drive, Waterford Township.

The girl, an only child, is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School. Her father is a foreman at the Coen-Cole Bottling Co., of Pontiac.

Clark, a graduate of Waterford Township High School, was a swimming pool service man for DeLoe, Inc., an Avon Township firm. He is one of five children — three sisters and one brother.

Clark's father is a gardener and maintenance man at Meadowbrook Farms. He is one of five children — three sisters and one brother.

School Budget for City Unveiled

Hike Proposed Only To Cover Increase in Enrollment

The education program provided for Pontiac public school children in 1962-63 was pretty much the same as this year's — if the Pontiac Board of Education sticks to the preliminary budget proposed last night.

But there'll be 505 more students to take care of next year — a record total of 21,328.

The proposed $39,790,796 record budget is $30,000 higher than this year's, administrators explained.

No millage hike has been asked.

The district could meet the higher budget because of expected increases in state aid following the enrollment hike and because a lower debt requirement in 1962-63.

A large chunk of the increase would go to pay teachers: $13,630 for 25 new teachers, an estimated $15,000 for teachers' normal salary increments and $66,000 held in reserve to add to teacher pay checks in the form of a one per cent cost of living increase.

The $6,962,606 portion now set aside for instruction could well be increased if the board finds it advisable to adjust upward its salary and wage scales. Such an adjustment was missed only once in the last eight years.

The total budget would also grow if the board accepts any of the proposed "staff shortfalls." These are proposals for $399,044 worth of new programs and the current education program. The "staff shortfalls" recommendations will be heard at a March 8 board meeting.

Also not included in the operational budget presented last night is capital outlay for buildings. The district at present is engaged in constructing a $700,000 addition to Jefferson Junior High and is readying a $1-million addition to North High School.

A decision on a millage hike will have to be made by the board in June, when definite figures on the final budget, tax allocation, state equity and state aid will be known.

A millage increase would probably be needed if the board decided to adjust upward its salary and wage scales.

But Midwest Still F-Freezing

Spot 'Cold Relief' Today

By the Associated Press

Temperatures moderated across the north central region today after nearly a week of below zero weather, breaking a late-winter cold spell.

But unseasonable cold still grips much of the nation's midland and freezing weather extended across the major part of the country. Only areas in the South and Pacific Coast were out of the cold belt.

It was below zero again this morning in northern Midwest sections. But readings for the north were far higher than those in the south.

No Child Is Impossible to Teach, State Woman Prove

(Editor's Note—This is the second of a continuing series of articles on Mrs. Jocelyn D'Arkos of Jonesville, who won nationwide attention for her nine years' work in helping children who could not make the grade in their early years of regular schooling.)

JONESVILLE—A former social worker who has won nationwide attention for her nine years' work with schoolchildren previously considered subnormal is critical of the way some teachers handle similar children.

Mrs. Jocelyn D'Arkos charges many teachers "throw up a smoke screen of phony words to confuse parents."

As an example she gives this evaluation of a pupil written by a teacher:

"Maturational experience has not placed him in the readiness category. Thinking skills place him in the strategy group. B-cooperative. Chances of succeeding very poor."

This same boy, after spending three periods of one month each studying under the D'Arkos method, has finished his second year of college with As, Bs and one C, she says.

How did she happen to evolve her method, which can be used to teach any subject?

Mrs. D'Arkos taught in elementary schools in the West and in Michigan, was a plane and motor instructor and finally spent 20 years as a social worker at the Child Care Bureau in Wayne County. It was here she found delinquents who were intelligent but who had "simply built up mental barriers against learning and were woefully ignorant."

In 1952 Mrs. D'Arkos and her husband, Francis, a retired landscape architect, built their country home near Jonesville and she began her crusade in earnest.

As word of her remarkable achievements spread, through newspaper and magazine articles and word of mouth, requests for help poured in from desperate parents in nearly all the 50 states. One letter came from Sweden, another from Austria.

JUST 'UNTRACKED'
"Unless they have a child with learning difficulties in their own families, many people just don't realize that the majority of troubled pupils have no real mental drawbacks—they have simply become 'untracked,'" Mrs. D'Arkos says.

She calls such pupils "left behinders"—and it was this category which led her to develop her method, although it works equally well with all children.

Mrs. D'Arkos contends if all schools used her method the problems of today's educators would all but vanish—especially in the realm of discipline.

"It has worked completely with the physically handicapped, epileptic, deaf, blind, cerebral palsy victims, feeble-minded, superior and emotionally disturbed," she says.

Just what is her four-way teaching method?

If includes making a book, using the typewriter, starting with "easy enough" reading material and offering a lot of praise for any achievement, no matter how slight.

How does she apply it?

She begins with a new pupil by showing him in a short time that he can accomplish something.

If a child cannot write, for example, she writes his name on a sheet of paper; then has him trace it over and over until he can write it without help. If he can read only the simplest sentences, she gives him a first grade level book, which he is sure to be able to read without difficulty.

This, she explains, banishes the withdrawal, frustrations and fears which arise when a child is confronted with material far beyond his ability.

Use of the typewriter is a psychological as well as a practical step, especially for younger children, since few grade school pupils know how to type. Mastery of the typewriter adds greatly to a child's confidence, Mrs. D'Arkos says.

But the real heart of the four-part method is "the book."

Mrs. D'Arkos gives each child a loosely-bound pamphlet of blank typewriter paper. Each lesson must be put into this book—typing exercises, spelling, writing, arithmetic, maps and other illustrations are preserved within its pages.

Why is the book so valuable?

Because among children with learning difficulties, the very sight of any book can cause a highly disturbed reaction, Mrs. D'Arkos explains. Books represent the unknown facts which these children believe they will never conquer. Such children actually hate books, she says. "But they won't hate something they themselves create."

Her pupils fill from 600 to 900 pages before their first books are done. Then, under her guidance, they create hand-tooled leather covers for them—another move in the fight to increase the pupils' self-confidence.

When the pupil can look back over his work thus preserved, he feels a sense of accomplishment not possible when his daily efforts are graded, then relegated to a wastebasket as is done in school, Mrs. D'Arkos says.

In learning to spell, a pupil will write page after page of the words and sentences under study. During typing lessons he will start with line after line of exercises, then graduate to the typing of words and sentences.

History, geography, science, algebra, geometry and all other subjects, advanced and elementary, go into the book. Some of the more advanced volumes contain psychology, philosophy, original compositions, physics, chemistry and zoology—anything under study is thus preserved.

And if it all sounds too simple to succeed, which is every one's first reaction, Mrs. D'Arkos can cite results which will convert any non-believer's thinking.

A deaf boy, 13, who couldn't do even first grade work and was unresponsive in any school was entered in the sixth grade after 2 years of work, mostly tutored by his mother, with the guidance of Mrs. D'Arkos. Soon after entering school he won a third prize in a county-wide science exhibit.

A kindergarten who was threatened with having to repeat kindergarten "because he didn't adjust properly to the school situation," learned within days to write and spell Illinois, stepbrother, Saskatchewan, penitents, home refuge and dozens of other hard words.

A boy who had been from high school was spell, read or write—tences. This, says Mrs. D'Arkos, took a year to overcome. Stoncroft and home.

Mrs. D'Arkos says any child can be. She has

Two Die in Flames Above Drugstore

HOWARD CITY (AP) — Fire roared through living quarters above Watson's drug store here early today, killing the owner and his daughter.

The bodies of Otter W. Watson, 51, and his daughter, Cheryl, 12, were found in the ruins by firemen. Both were burned beyond recognition.

Police Chief Harvey Williams said the blaze broke out about 3:30 a.m. in the rear of the nine-room apartment above the store.

It filled the rooms with smoke. The two occupants probably were asphyxiated before the flames reached them, firemen said.

Podophyllin is a drug obtained from the American mandrake of May apple. The drug has cathartic and emetic properties.

She's Stewardess With Same Name as One Killed in New York

MOUNT UNION, Pa. (UPI)—A National Overseas Airlines stewardess, unaware that she was mistakenly identified as the Lois Kelly killed in the crash of an American Airlines Astrojet, sat calmly in the New York apartment of a girl friend while her distraught parents awaited word of her fate.

Soon after the jet crashed in a swamp near New York's Idlewild Airport Thursday killing 35 persons, friends and neighbors began calling Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Kelly. "Friends kept calling us and said they heard reports that a Lois Kelly, a stewardess on the plane, was killed," But the Kellys refused to go along with the reports. "We decided to wait and see."

"We called National Overseas Airlines in New York, and they finally contacted Lois in the apartment of her friend, Carol Frank," of Pittsburgh. "Lois was completely unaware of the mistaken identity," they said.

The girl for whom Lois was mistaken was Lois A. Kelly, 22, a stewardess aboard the ill-fated jet. The victim was a native of Haverton, Pa., and, like Lois, was living in California.

The Clifton Kellys said they were very happy to learn their daughter was alive, but were sorry for the parents of the victim.

Mackie Hails Bill for 45-MPH Rate on State Highways

LANSING (AP)—State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today backed a 45-mile-an-hour minimum speed limit for Michigan freeways.

Mackie Thursday hailed house approval of a bill, sponsored by Rep. Lester O. Beghtol, R-Bay City, setting the minimum limit. The measure now goes to the Senate.

The bill, Mackie said, is aimed at "keeping the Sunray driver type of motorist off the freeways."

Many freeways' accidents are rear-end collisions caused by slow-moving vehicles—mostly old cars and trucks, he said.

Nearly 30 per cent of all cars on the freeways travel at more than 45 miles an hour, he said. But the other 10 per cent is causing a high percentage of the accidents.

State's Attorney General Favors U.S. Water Bill

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley went to Washington today to testify before a Senate committee in favor of a bill to create a national water resources council.

Spending Inflates a Woman's Morale

By NUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"Do you think Women are Emotional Spenders?" was the intriguing title of an article in a recent issue of a magazine devoted to the American home.

Expecting to find a "Yes" answer to the question, I was surprised to find it answered in the negative. Maybe that is because the article was written by a man.

Only a woman knows (for she certainly isn't going to tell a man) just how often she does buy something to get an emotional lift.

SPENDS FOR A LIFT

Whether she shops for a silly hat, a dress in a shade that makes her "feel good," or for some gadget for the house she is buying to add a little zest to a dull day.

When a woman has a birthday that marks a 10-year milestone, and a long look in the mirror is anything but reassuring—it's likely to send her to a luxury shop in search of some new clothes that will "do something for her." What they do mostly of course, is raise her morale.

When a woman gets down in the dumps for any reason, nothing does her quite as much good as spending a little money. The amount isn't important.

It's the simple act of spending money that seems to give a woman a lift in trying times.

Of course, women are emotional spenders. A woman can go for weeks or even months carefully pinching pennies, buying only what is necessary, comparing prices, and being a good manager. And then comes a day when she needs a lift. She takes off on an expedition that has but one object—to buy something, anything.

And almost always she comes home in better spirits. So there really is a justification for a woman's emotional spending.

What she spends on a new hat to get a new case on life she doesn't have to spend for a session on a psychiatrist's couch.

NEW YORK — Some 1½ million riders sought alternate transportation today in the first full day of a strike against the world's largest private bus company.

The strike, launched by the Transport Workers Union at the start of the evening rush hour Thursday, was the second against Fifth Avenue Coach Lines and its subsidiaries in less than two months.

But it was the first against the new company management headed by (Frank) Magnante, who says he needs financial help from the city.

City-operated subways and bus lines, plus several smaller private bus companies, scheduled extra routes to handle the overflow. Their routes parallel many of the Fifth Avenue routes.

But in the Bronx, bus service was almost totally cut off and residents of outlying areas not served by subways had to scramble.

The city put into effect an emergency program legalizing group riding in taxicabs and suspended parking and other traffic control measures.

The union called its members out for the line-off 29 employees. The walkout killed 6,000 company employees.
