The practice alert, begun at 1 p.m., is used to test the efficiency of mobilizing the unit. See story and additional pictures on page 12.

Dallas Sheriff Claims Ruby Security Tight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Jack Ruby remained alone in a jail cell today while his attorneys prepared to appeal the verdict of a Dallas jury which sentenced him to death for murder.

"Maximum security" surrounds Ruby, Sheriff Bill Decker said.

1 Week Left for Registering

Want to vote for your favorites in the City Commission race April 20?

You have one week left to register if you haven't voted in Pontiac in the last two years.

City Clerk Olga Barkley said today that the deadline for registering to vote in the April 20 general election is next Monday, March 23.

Her office, on the main floor at City Hall, will stay open until 8 p. m. that night to issue voter registrations.

She reminded residents that under the new State Constitution, persons who haven't voted in the last two years must re-register. It used to be four years.

Winds Whip Brush Fires in California

Hundreds Evacuated From Hills North of San Fernando Valley

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A rash of brush fires broke out amid howling winds today and converted the Verdugo Hills, separating the suburban communities of Burbank and Glendale, into a nightmare of flames.

Half a dozen or more separate blazes over a front six or eight miles long were being whipped by gusts to 60 miles per hour.

So great was the confusion, due to swirling smoke and flying embers, firemen were not sure precisely how many fires there were or their exact location.

Hundreds of residents were evacuated from hillside homes on both sides of the Verdugos, which form the north border of the San Fernando Valley.

On the Burbank side, residents were ordered out of homes in Sunset Canyon, Wildwood Canyon and Skyline Drive. The brushy canyons wind high up into the hills.

FLED HOMES

On the Glendale side, hundreds more fled from homes in the Whiting Woods area and from brushland bordering Glendale College.

There were unconfirmed reports of several homes destroyed by flames.

Major brush fires are extremely unusual this time of year, normally the rainy season. But Southern California is in the midst of near-record winter drought that has kept the brushland tinder-dry.

LBJ Vows Aid to All Americas

U. S. Power Pledged to Protect Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson pledged today "the full power of the United States" to help any American country whose freedom is threatened by forces directed from outside the continent.

The President delivered this assurance in his first full-scale address on inter-American affairs and the Alliance for Progress.

What he said in committing the United States to help any other American nation whose freedom is endangered by outside pressure was not new, in itself.

KENNEDY BANNER

But, once again on a specific issue, the President was picking up the banner of the man he succeeded.

Similarly, he rededicated the United States to partnership with Latin America in the Alliance for Progress. In doing so, he put heavy emphasis on increased cooperation, self-help and social justice.

Johnson spoke at the Pan American Union, where Carlos Sanz de Santamaria of Colombia was installed as the first chairman of a new Inter-American Committee for the Alliance for Progress (CIAP).

The President noted that 31 years ago this month Franklin D. Roosevelt proclaimed the Good Neighbor Policy for the Americas, and three years ago this month John F. Kennedy called for the Alliance for Progress — a 10-year, $20-billion hemispheric program,

Aims War on Poverty at Youth

LBJ Presents Teen-Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson gave Congress marching orders today for the War on Poverty, concentrating his $962.5-million attack on helping needy young Americans.

The program to help youngsters in the 16 to 20 age bracket centers on a Job Corps retraining center of the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

"The years of high school and college age are the most critical stage of a young person's life," Johnson said, in a special message on poverty.

"If they are not helped then, many will be condemned to a life of poverty which they, in turn, will pass on to their children."

The Job Corps would enlist up to 100,000 young men, draft rejects and school dropouts, from "those whose background, health and education makes them least fit for useful work."

PLACED IN CAMPS

These young men would be removed from their slum backgrounds and placed in camps to work on conservation projects and in special job-training centers for a blend of training, basic education and work experience.

"These are not simply camps for the underprivileged," Johnson said.

"They are now educational institutions, comparable in innovation to the land grant colleges."

"Those who enter them will emerge better qualified to play

OTHER PHASES

Other phases of the youth program are work-training and work-study projects, federal grants to provide full or part-time jobs to help youngsters stay in high school, take vocational training or work their way through college.

Coordinating the War on Poverty will be a new executive agency, the Office of Economic Opportunities, which Johnson said would be headed by Sargent Shriver, "my personal chief of staff for the war against poverty."

In addition to the Job Corps, Shriver also will supervise creation of another new group, the Volunteers for America, a Peace Corps-styled body of 3,000 to 5,000 volunteers who will work in various phases of the war on poverty.

Both the Job Corps and the Volunteers for America are taken from legislation now pending in Congress—the Youth Conservation Corps and the National Service Corps respectively.

PROGRAM OF GRANTS

Other phases of the war on poverty asked by Johnson included:

—A program of grants of up to 90 per cent for urban and rural community action programs, where local plans were drafted to utilize all available community resources, public and private.

Yanks Given Prison Terms

Long Sentences Set in Killing of Spaniard

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—A Spanish civil court sentenced today two Americans, a Spanish woman and a British girl to long prison terms today for the robbery-murder of a Barcelona furniture dealer.

The sentences were:

James Bell Wagner, 23, of Union Beach, N.J., 30 years; Maria del Pilar Alfaro Velasco, 32, Spanish mother of two daughters, 23 years;

John Joseph Hand, 40, Southfield, Mich., and James Stephen Johnston, 30, Blue Jacket, Okla., 21 years each;

Nancy Karen Hand, 25, Detroit, Mich., 12 years and one day.

Joan Douglas Bryder, 22, a British librarian, 6 years.

ASKED DEATH

The prosecution had asked the death penalty for Wagner and the Spanish woman, 20 years for Hand and Johnston, 12 years for Mrs. Hand and six years for Miss Bryder.

Court attaches said the prison terms would be set at least in half by a amnesty which Generalissimo Franco ordered upon the election of Pope Pius VI and a second amnesty expected April 1 in connection with the 25th anniversary of the end of the Spanish Civil War.

The six prisoners were arrested after the slaying on Nov. 17, 1962, of Francisco Robirosa, 50, in his shop. The crime netted only $33 in loot.

Liz, Burton Wed in Canada

MONTREAL (AP)—"Elizabeth and I are very happy," said Richard Burton after he and Elizabeth Taylor were married yesterday in a quiet ceremony that contrasted sharply with their widely publicized romance.

The simple, single-ring ceremony was performed in the royal suite of Montreal's Ritz-Carlton Hotel by the Rev. Leonard Mason, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah. Eleven guests attended.

It was the fifth marriage for Miss Taylor, 32, one of the film world's highest paid and most beautiful stars.

Burton, 38, son of a Welsh miner, had been married once. The couple was to return today to Toronto where Burton is playing the lead in a production of "Hamlet" due in New York next month.

CHIFFON GOWN

Burton Wilson, a friend of Robert from New York City, was best man.

Karras, Hornung Reinstated

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Hornung, star Green Bay Packers halfback, and Alex Karras, bruising defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, were restored to good standing by the National Football League today, after having been suspended nearly a year ago for betting on football games.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced the two players had been reinstated after separate reviews of their suspensions and personal discussions with the two players.

They were suspended April 17, 1963, after both had admitted betting on their teams to win certain games and on some games in which in which they were not involved.

Rozelle said there was no evidence that either player ever bet against his own team or failed to do his best in any football game.

Rozelle said he had established to his own satisfaction that each player now has a clear understanding of the seriousness of the offenses and of the circumstances that brought them about.

Rozelle's prepared statement said: "Taking into prime consideration the extent of their violations and also their conduct during the period of suspension, it is felt that the best interests of the league will be best served by termination of the suspensions."

The suspensions of two of the game's outstanding players last spring rocked the sports world.

Claims Unions Bypass Talks, Create Threat

Company Negotiator Asks Immediate Aid of Labor Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief railroad negotiator J. E. Wolfe said today the country is on "the verge of a national railroad strike."

Wolfe said five railroad unions created the new strike threat by bypassing national negotiations and seeking separate talks with two individual railroads.

"We have unimpeachable advice that the unions do intend to strike Wednesday" against the two railroads, Wolfe said at a news conference.

Wolfe released a copy of a letter the railroad negotiators delivered to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz yesterday.

"We respectfully ask that you move promptly to prevent the unions from turning private disputes into public disaster," the letter said.

NO COMMENT

A Labor Department observer at Wolfe's press conference said there would be no immediate comment from Wirtz.

Wolfe said that if the unions carry-off plans to strike the Southern Pacific or the Louisville & Nashville, the other railroads will immediately issue proposed wage and other work rules changes across the nation.

Union sources have said this would bring about a nationwide strike.

"The railroads will go into court in an attempt to halt any union move to strike the two individual railroads, Wolfe said.

RULES POSTED

If this fails, the work rules changes would be posted within 24 hours on all major railroads, he added.

Wolfe said the railroads had what they considered a binding agreement with the unions that the negotiations would be handled on a national, rather than a local, basis.

"We are not going to permit these unions to crucify any single railroads," he said.

The new strike threat arises out of issues which Congress let to joint negotiations when it passed emergency legislation last August to halt a nationwide strike then.

Wolfe said the railroads would be happy to have suggestions from the Johnson administration on some method to settle the new strike threat.

Last Winter Days to Be Below Norm

In spite of sunshine this morning, winter will take advantage of its last few official days.

Temperatures will average about 3 degrees below the normal high of 43 and low of 36 with colder weather on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday.

Predicted snow flurries will yield only one fifth of an inch of precipitation.

This morning's low before 8 a.m. was 26; by 2 p.m. it had reached 50.

No Word Lodge Will Quit as Vief Envoy — Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he has no indication that Henry Cabot Lodge plans to leave his post as ambassador to South Vietnam.

"If he did, I am sure he would let me know," Johnson told a nationwide radio and television audience last night.

He said that the ambassador, whose political stock boomed with victory in New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary, has tended to his business and behaved properly.

On his own side of the political fence, Johnson dismissed as "newspaper talk" reports of a rift with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and said he has taken Kennedy's word that he has done nothing to encourage efforts to boom the attorney general for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Johnson said he hopes the Democrats will not campaign actively until after this summer's convention, although he said he intends to "carry out some commitments that President Kennedy made for fundraising dinners from time to time."

DOMINATED TALK

Politics and foreign policy dominated the hour-long "Conversation with the President" broadcast by the ABC, CBS and NBC radio and television networks.

These were among the chief executive's other major pronouncements:

- He has had no contact with his old friend, Bobby Baker, since Baker resigned last October as secretary to the Senate's Democrats. The President said Baker could not properly be called his protégé because "he was there before I came to the Senate for 10 years."

- A Communist victory in South Vietnam would involve "the whole of Southeast Asia." Thus, said Johnson, "we must stay there and help them, and that is what we are going to do." He said the United States will evolve "effective and efficient plans" to combat Communist guerrillas there but has no blueprint for carrying the war into North Vietnam.

PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

He intends to be "a people's president." He will continue to mix with crowds even though his bodyguards "would feel better if the President kept 100 yards distance from every human being."

- Congress should make certain the nation always has a vice president but he doesn't have any "deep-set views on just how that should be done."

- "A substantial majority" of senators favor the House-passed civil rights bill and will pass it.

- During his first 120 days in office, Johnson said, "I am sure that we have made a good many mistakes, but I don't know of any recommendation that I have made that I would change."

- His most vivid memory of the days following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy is of Mrs. Kennedy. "I saw her greatness, her gallantry, her courage and it will always be a vivid memory."

Johnson said the presidency "is a much tougher job from the inside than I thought it was from the outside." But he said "I am enjoying what I am doing" and "I never felt better in my life."

"I may not be a great president," he said, "but at least I am here, I'm going to try to be a good president."

GRIM STRUGGLE—A small child struggles to help his mother wrench free from the grip of a South Vietnamese soldier as he tries to run after her husband who was taken prisoner by raiding Viet Nam forces. Her husband was among 300 who were captured and charged with being members of the Viet Cong, during the weekend. According to American advisers, the raid near Cai Cai, was the most successful in months by the government forces. (See story, next page.)

Start Slated on Buildings for Juveniles

Construction of Oakland County's Children's Village for Juvenile Court wards is scheduled to begin March 25 with a ground-breaking ceremony.

The initial three units going up this year within a $775,000 building-budget will provide for 92 youngsters.

These buildings are planned to ease overcrowded conditions at the existing Children's Center, and provide separate facilities for problem youngsters.

The first units, which will be used for the rehabilitation of these youngsters, will include two youth cottages (halfway houses) and a special services unit described by county juvenile authorities as a semidetention facility.

Future plans call for the addition of 12 more units by 1960 when the county is expected to have some 320 youngsters placed in its care as a result of population growth. The county currently cares for about 198 children.

PREPARE CHILDREN

Besides housing, the village will include a school and special treatment facilities to prepare children for return to the general community.

The 56-acre site is situated behind the Pontiac State Police Post at the County Service Center on Telegraph.

City to See 1st Write-In in 20 Years

For the first time in 20 years, Pontiac residents will see a write-in candidate campaigning for election in a City Commission election next month.

Emmett S. Wellbaum, 58, of 289 Second officially announced he would seek the District 7 nomination by a one-vote margin in the March 2 primary.

A purchased parts inspector at Pontiac Motor Division, Wellbaum lost the District 7 nomination by a one-vote margin in the March 2 primary.

It was 20 years ago, in the 1944 general election, that Neise Knudsen ran as a write-in candidate against then-mayor Philip R. Sauer. Knudsen won that election.

Wellbaum said this morning that "the decision to run as a write-in candidate was not my own. It was what the people wanted."

URGED TO RUN

"I've received an estimated 200 phone calls and several letters from people urging me to run. Some of the calls came from District 7 residents who didn't vote in the primary but they said they planned to vote April 20."

"Other calls," he noted, "came from people who said they had voted for another District 7 candidate March 2 but wanted a chance to vote for me next month."

Winning the District 7 nomination were Mayor Robert A. Landry, the incumbent, and Curtis L. Webb, 30, of 294 Judson.

Sheriff Holds 3 Suspects in Safecrackings

Warrants were being sought by sheriff's detectives today against three men being held as suspects in a number of safecrackings throughout the area.

Detectives Harry Jones and Fred Pender said information they received through questioning has implicated the trio in at least 13 burglaries, including those at Independence and Orion township halls.

Two and a half cases of dynamite have been confiscated by police.

Being held are Wilbur J. McCauley Jr., 26, of 21 Edith; Milton W. McDowell, 26, of 172 Princeton; and Steven T. Kochan, 35, of 229 Walton.

McCauley and McDowell were arrested Friday morning and Kochan, at his home, early today.

McCauley was taken into custody at 4:35 a.m. while driving on M59 near Ormond in White Lake Township. McDowell was picked up while walking on M59 near Duck Lake shortly after 7 a.m.

At 6 a.m. Friday an attempted safecracking was discovered in the West Bar, 3224 Highland (M59), at Duck Lake. Safe drilling tools and explosives were found inside.

to wipe out pockets of poverty.

Special grants and loans to help boost the incomes of subsistence farmers.

Special low interest loans for investments that will provide jobs for low-income families or persons who have been out of jobs for many months, and also to small businesses not eligible for regular loans from the Small Business Administration.

WELFARE EXPANSION

Expansion of a Welfare Department program to help train and find jobs for heads of families whose children now receive payments under the aid to dependent children program.

The legislation—the "Economic Act"—"the foundation of our war against poverty," Johnson said. "But it does not stand alone."

"For the past three years this government has advanced a number of new proposals which strike at important areas of need and distress."

"I ask Congress to expand those which are already in place and to establish those which have already been proposed."

MANPOWER TRAINING

He listed programs in the field of manpower training, education, medical care for the aged, protection for migrant workers, unemployment compensation, housing and the program to help depressed areas of Appalachia.

So far, a White House source said, selection standards have not been set up for the Job Corps, nor have detailed plans been made for setting up the camps and job training center.

The source said many of the 40,000 recruited for the Job Corps in the first year would be from the backlog of more than one million already rejected by the draft as physically, mentally or psychologically unfit.

Lowering the draft registration age to 17, or even 16, so that the preinduction physical and mental examination might be used to screen young men for the Job Corps was considered, the White House source said, but rejected for the time being because of the heavy backlog of draft rejectees.

NEW POLICY

Actually, part of the purpose of lowering the draft age has been accomplished by a new Selective Service policy effective July 31, which requires all persons to take the examination upon registering at the age of 18.

Enlistment for the maximum two-year term of service would be voluntary.

NY School Boycott Loses Broad Support

NEW YORK (AP) — More than a quarter-million pupils missed classes here today during the second civil rights boycott of the nation's largest school system.

The demonstration, however, failed to draw the broad support given the first boycott by Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

James B. Donovan, board of education president, reported absenteeism totaled 267,459, compared to the normal daily figure of 100,000 and the 464,362 out during the Feb. 3 boycott.

"We are encouraged that the boycott method of expressing a point of view is regarded with markedly diminishing favor," Donovan said.

Before official over-all attendance figures were compiled, spot checks of target schools clearly showed that the boycott for integration and better schools did not match the earlier protest.

Called for protest. Despite splintered support, Rev. Milton A. Galamison, head of the Citywide Committee for Integrated Schools called for the demonstration against the million-pupil, 863-school system.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the national Congress of Racial Equality and the Urban League, all supporters of the first boycott — refused to endorse the second.

Their defection was reflected in the attendance reports of several schools almost emptied six weeks ago.

No parental support. "There seems to be no parental support and no support by the teachers," said the leader of 20 student pickets outside a high school in Manhattan.

Almost a thousand pickets marched outside 104 schools, compared to 2,600 at 300 schools last February, police reported.

The Rev. M. A. Galamison drew public support from Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat, and Malcolm X, the Negro nationalist and Black Muslim.

Metro Project Fights Polio

County Medical Unit Offers Latest Vaccine

The Oakland County Medical Society will offer area residents polio protection on a sugar cube next month as part of a mass immunization project slated for the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

Doses of the oral vaccine will be given on April 19 and June 14, both Sundays, at some 800 stations to be set up in metropolitan area schools, shopping centers and other public buildings.

The project is being jointly sponsored by the medical societies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

They emphasized that all persons over the age of 1 should take the two doses, regardless of previous immunization through Salk shots or oral vaccine.

RELATIVELY NEW

The vaccine to be used in the program is Orimune. It is the relatively new trivalent vaccine, providing protection against all three strains of poliovirus.

Only two doses of the new vaccine are needed and protection starts two or three weeks after the first dose.

Administering the dose is as easy as giving candy to a baby. The vaccine will be given in liquid form on sugar cubes. It is pleasant tasting and designed to appeal to children, according to doctors.

STATION QUOTAS

Officials hope to handle from 3,000 to 5,000 persons at each immunization station. Locations of the stations and exact times they'll be open will be announced later.

A donation of 50 cents or more will be asked of each person, but the medical societies stress that no one will be turned away because of lack of funds.

Birmingham Area News

Bloomfield Association Offers New Art Courses

BIRMINGHAM — The Bloomfield Art Association is approaching spring term with offering of 45 classes, with some innovations sprinkled among those which proved themselves last term.

One of the ideas to be tried this spring is a class in art self expression which will involve seven 4-year-old children and their mothers. They will gather from 10:15 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Directing the groups will be Deanna Barty, Detroit Institute of Arts instructor, and Alicia Mackie, art teacher at City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills.

Another new offering in the schedule which begins next week is of particular interest to those who make their own greeting cards.

During the 8:30-9 p.m. course Thursdays, Miss Barty will introduce her students to printmaking, linocut, woodcut, paper cut, silk screening and monotype techniques.

U OF M PROFESSORS

A team of three University of Michigan professors will present the attitudes of a painter, a poet and a printmaker in the BAA's spring lecture series.

Dr. Irvin Kaufman will lead off the series of demonstrations and discussions April 7 with "Trends in Modern Painting." His April 14 talk will concern the "Background of Today's Art."

The 8:30 p.m. lectures will continue with "A Taste of Clay" by Dr. John Stephens April 21 and "Printmaking Today: Innovations and New Directions" by Dr. Frank Cassara April 28.

Painting classes for which registrations are now being accepted include those to be taught by James Hansen, 7:30 p.m. Thursdays; Kathleen Birch, 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Thursdays; Peter Gilleran, 7:30 p.m. Mondays; Burton Dickerson, 9:30 a.m.-noon and 12:30 p.m. Tuesdays; and Dorothy Siddall, 9:30 a.m.-noon Fridays.

ALSO SCHEDULED

Also scheduled are beginning oil painting, James Hansen, 9:30 a.m.-noon Wednesdays; drawing, composition, James Hansen, 12:30-3 p.m. Wednesdays; drawing and design in painting, E. L. Prackowski, 7-9:30 p.m. Thursdays; and techniques in painting, E. L. Prackowski, 9:30 a.m.-noon Wednesdays.

Others are life drawing, John Jacobson, 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays; portrait painting, Robert Koonsman, 9:30 a.m.-noon Fridays; pottery, 12:30-3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays; and sculpture, S. v. a. Kline, 9:30 a.m.-noon, 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Mondays.

Concluding the list of adult classes are sculpture — metal.

Leaders Back Negro March

A spokesman for the Oakland County NAACP chapter said today the March 24 "Freedom march" in Pontiac has brought endorsements from civil rights government and labor leaders.

Charles Billings said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., has also pledged to send a personal representative to the demonstration.

"I send my best wishes to citizens of good will in Pontiac," Billings urged King as saying, "and a strong urge people in your area to join together in this demonstration for freedom."

Other messages of support have come from Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director; Michigan U.S. Senator Philip A. Hart; Congressman-at-Large Neil Staebler and UAW President Walter Reuther.

Billings said the freedom march is key to NAACP demonstrations to be held in other parts of the country the same day, as well as to draw attention to local "de facto segregation in Pontiac schools, discrimination in employment and segregated housing patterns."

Rev. James Wadsworth, president of Detroit NAACP will be among speakers at a rally on city hall steps following the 4:30 p.m. march from board of education offices.

casting, Christos Papadopoulos, 12:30-3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Thursdays; mosaic — glass and metal, Betty Conn, 9:30 a.m.-noon Friday and 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays; watercolor, Mary J. Bigler, 9:30 a.m.-noon and 1:30 p.m. Wednesdays; and weaving, Arlene Lind, 12:30-3 p.m. Tuesday and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Another 13 courses have been scheduled for youngsters six through 18 years of age. All will be taught at the Birmingham Art Center, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Mrs. Joy Adamson, who has enchanted thousands with her Jonas Eliot, will speak at the members lecture program sponsored by Cranbrook Institute of Science Wednesday night.

Color films and slides will illustrate how Mrs. Adamson and her game warden husband George reeducated their pet for return to life in the bush. Elias found a mate, raised three cubs and often brought them back to show off to her former masters.

The 8:15 p.m. program in the Cranbrook school auditorium is open to the public for a nominal fee.

Mrs. Adamson is the author of "Born Free," "Living Free" and "Forever Free."

The public can view the heavens through the six-inch refractor telescope at Cranbrook Institute of Science nine evenings this spring. The first two showings are 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Others are 8 p.m. April 16 and 17; 8:30 p.m. May 15, 20 and 21; and 9 p.m. June 15 and 16.

Since the eyepiece will accommodate only one person at a time, only a small number can be booked for an evening. Appointments must be made in advance at the Cranbrook Institute of Science office in Bloomfield Hills.

Road Toll Twice Last Weekend's

By The Associated Press

Nineteen persons—more than twice as many as a week ago—were killed over the weekend in Michigan highway crashes, with one accident wiping out a family of five and another taking four lives.

All the deaths resulted from collisions in southern Lower Michigan where state police are working six days a week in a campaign to halt the rising fatality rate. Nine persons died last weekend in Michigan traffic.

Joseph A. Childs said yesterday the number of multiple-fatality accidents this year was extraordinary.

The crash that killed five members of the David R. Olson family of Dearborn Heights Saturday night was one of three taking more than one life.

An adult and three children died in a crash near Benton Harbor Saturday and an elderly Indiana couple perished yesterday in the other mishaps.

VICTIMS LISTED

Olson, 26, and the other four members of his family perished in a fiery three-car collision at Van Born and Beech Daly Roads outside Detroit.

His wife, Geraldine, and their 7-year-old daughter, Dawn, were thrown from their car and killed.

A daughter, Beth, 6, and a son, Todd, 3, died in flames which engulfed the Olson car after the crash.

John Gearhart Jr., 32, of Madison Heights was injured critically and was held a police prisoner at Wayne County General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Gearhart had been in a hit-and-run accident at Meridian and Van Born Roads minutes before his car slammed into the rear of the Olson station wagon which had been stopped at the intersection.

Plane, Helicopter Shot Down

Six U.S. Airmen Killed in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Six more American airmen were killed in South Viet Nam during the weekend as Red guerrillas shot down a U.S. helicopter and a spotter plane.

Four of the airmen were aboard the helicopter. It was hit by ground fire during a Vietnamese government operation Sunday in Ba Xuyen Province, 100 miles south of Saigon.

The other two airmen were aboard an L-19 spotter plane that was knocked down Saturday northeast of Saigon.

TOTAL DEAD

The six deaths brought to 124 the number of Americans killed in action in the Viet Nam war since the U.S. buildup there began in December 1961.

The Defense Department said the dead airmen were:

Aboard the spotter plane: Capt. Thomas J. Bergen, Schenectady, N.Y., and Lt. Richard Jeck, Milwaukee, Wis.

Aboard the helicopter: Lt. Roger E. Garvin, pilot, Caribou, Maine; Lt. Kenneth A. Shannon, copilot, Lynchburg, Va.; Spec. 5 Carleton W. Upton, crew chief, Auburn, Calif.; and Pfc. Frank J. Holguin, gunner, Los Angeles.

The South Viet Nam government claimed an important victory Saturday at Cat Cai, near the Cambodian border.

Seventeen Communist Viet

cong were killed and 300 suspected Communists were captured. A U.S. Army sergeant was wounded by a land mine and the government put its losses at four wounded. An American adviser said 35 of those captured asked to join the government forces.

The surprise raid was carried out along a canal regarded as one of the major infiltration points for Viet Cong coming across the Cambodian frontier.

Hundreds of women and children swarmed into the region later, pleading for release of the captives. They expressed displeasure at the offer of the 35 guerrillas to join up with the government.

"This only makes us greater targets for the Viet Cong," one said.

BEST PERFORMANCE

An American adviser said 18 South Vietnamese were killed and 3 injured Friday in an accidental mortar blast during a training exercise at an officer candidate camp.

Informal sources said at least one U2 high-altitude plane recently began regular photographic reconnaissance missions over guerrilla concentrations in South Viet Nam.

Military sources said 18 South Vietnamese were killed and 3 injured Friday in an accidental mortar blast during a training exercise at an officer candidate camp.

Avondale School Vote Set

6-Mill Levy on Ballot Next Week

The Avondale School Board is going to ask district residents for continued financial support in a special millage renewal election a week from today.

On the ballot will be a request for continuation of the 6-mill levy which expired last year.

If the issue receives voter endorsement, school district residents will continue paying very close to the present level.

Schools Supt. George E. Shackelford has pointed out that the millage being asked for brings in approximately 25 percent of the system's operating budget, some $117,000.

The board is holding off preparation of this year's preliminary budget until after the election.

Several organizations have publicly-endorsed the requested renewal, including the Auburn Heights Rotary Club and the Avondale PTA Council.

VOTE SUPPORTED

The Avondale Education Association, comprised of district teachers, is mailing out literature reminding residents to vote on March 23 and backing a "yes" vote on the ballot.

Two polling places in the district will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Those living west of Adams can vote in the Auburn Heights Fire Hall, 3425 Auburn. Taxpayers residing east of Adams can cast their ballots in the Southwest Avon Community Building at 2137 W. Auburn, just west of Crooks.

Shackelford stresses the point that approval of the millage will not cost any additional funds.

However, the superintendent said some Pontiac Township residents have received notice of increased assessed valuation.

Pontiac Township has just completed a reassessment survey while some of its residents will be paying more school taxes, others will be paying less, depending on results of the township's reassessment survey.

Township Assessor Clayton Lovelace said today all those who will have to pay additional taxes have been notified.

Boomed After World War II

Irrigation Increasing in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Even in the "Water Wonderland," farmers are finding it increasingly profitable to give nature a hand in watering crops.

Michigan farmers are pouring the equivalent of more than 5.5 inches of rainfall over 165,778 acres of land a year, according to estimates by the Water Resources Commission.

Expressed another way, that's 222.4 cubic feet of water a second, day and night, for an average 110-day growing season with normal rainfall.

Michigan fields have been irrigated since before 1930—but how long before that, no one knows. There were at least 214 irrigation systems in operation on more than 8,000 acres that year—compared with 2,879 in 1961.

RAPID GROWTH

The commission completed its first extensive field inventory in 1958—and found rapidly growing use of irrigation over the entire state "for frost and drought protection."

Irrigation started to boom after World War II, the commission said—due to the availability of lightweight portable irrigation equipment "and the economic necessity of increased yields of high-quality crops."

Irrigation, it said, "can and does double—and sometimes triple—crop production, as well as improving quality."

In April of 1958, an estimated

68,481 acres were being irrigated. Three years later the number had climbed to more than 105,000, and the practice is increasing at an estimated 10 percent a year, says Norman Billings, chief of the commission's Hydrology Division.

Irrigation is used most widely in the growing of strawberries, tree fruits, potatoes, truck crops and municipal parks and golf courses.

The practice has not as yet presented any major or widespread fights over the title or diversion of water. A commission researcher says over the course of a normal year, any watershed in the state receives and discharges enough water to take care of all its conceivable needs. But in low periods—such as the one threatening the state this year—problems could develop.

WED 50 YEARS — Mr. and Mrs. Eber D. Baza, 2830 Lakeville, Lakeville, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday at an open house from 2 to 6 p.m. in the Arnold Auditorium, 3550 Lakeville. The Bazes have two daughters, Mrs. Dan Haddrell and Mrs. Robert Binger, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

AREA NEWS

2 Contracts Awarded in Park Site

The Board of Commissioners of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority today awarded two contracts in connection with the development of Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, a 3,500-acre recreational site located between Rochester and Romeo.

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, authority director, stated that both contracts are necessary in order that limited facilities will be available for use some time this summer.

The L. Loyer Construction Company of Taylor was awarded a contract in the amount of $54,354 for the construction of entrance roads and parking lots for three picnic areas and an additional entrance road.

The Taylor firm's contract also includes installation of a parking lot to service the nature study area.

In addition, a contract in the amount of $34,943 was awarded to Brenco Contractors, Inc., Detroit, for the construction of sidewalks and a concrete plaza area surrounding Baypoint Beachhouse.

This will be the first swimming site to be open at Stony Creek Lake in the park.

Diabetic Series Set at Farmington High

FARMINGTON—The next series of classes for diabetics and their families sponsored by Botsford General Hospital will begin March 31.

The sessions, which follow the pattern currently being used by the Oakland County Department of Health, will be held in room 107-E of Farmington High School.

Mrs. Florence Meiers, executive dietitian, and John Collins, registered nurse, will conduct five 7-9 p.m. lessons on consecutive Tuesdays.

Class enrollment, limited to 15, can be made at the Oakland County Health Department in Pontiac. Diabetics must have the written approval of their physicians to attend the classes.

Science Fair Held at Avondale School

AUBURN HEIGHTS—Piezo-electricity, moon exploration and soil nutrients were three of the many award-winning projects displayed at the Avondale Junior High School Science Fair.

Grand prize and seventh grade winner was Gail Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Stevens, 416 Lovell, Troy.

Gale's exhibit illustrated the effort of soil nutrients on hybrid bean plant growth.

Walking off with top honors in the eighth grade was Kathy Loewer, who displayed piezo-electricity, the process by which sound is picked up from a phonograph record.

Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Loewer, 1389 Ashover, Bloomfield Township.

OTHER WINNERS

Other seventh grade winners were Wilson and James Stock, tied for second, and Marsha Hall, third.

The budding young scientists chosen for second and third place honors from the eighth grade were Chris Coman and Mary Erwin.

All ribbon winners in the school competition will go on to the regional science fair.

Winners of that event will compete with others from the state for the April 4 competition in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

Training Class Slated for Cub Scout Leaders

The second of five training classes for cub scout leaders in the Ottawa Boy Scout District will be held tonight at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School, 8400 Commerce, Commerce Township.

The 7:30 p.m. session is open to leaders and parents in any of the nine townships in the district.

Woman Found Dead

NILES (AP)—Edith McManus 84, of Niles was found dead, apparently from natural causes, in a wooded area near her home Saturday. A search had been organized for her when she was reported missing from her home.

They were picked up in connection with the above incidents as well as break-ins at Walled Lake Elementary School and Walled Lake Churches, according to Police Chief James A. Decker.

Charged with stealing a transistor radio from a car, police said Rose also confessed to a recent break-in at Lakeside Auto

See End to Crime Spree With Arrest of 15 Youths

WALLED LAKE—Police believe they have cleared up a rash of recent break-ins and larcenies with the arrest of 15 youths.

Paul D. Rose, 19, of 49150 Pontiac Trail, Wixom, was sentenced to 30 days in the Oakland pleading guilty to a charge of larceny from an auto.

Being held on a $1,000 bond is Christopher Jones, 17, 8165 Willow, Union Lake. Jones waived preliminary examination on a charge of breaking and entering in the nighttime and is awaiting trial before Justice of the Peace Gene Schmelz.

Charged with stealing a transistor radio from a car, police said Rose also confessed to a recent break-in at Lakeside Auto

Wash and the theft of tires and wheels from two new cars in Michigan.

Jones is implicated in the theft of the tires and wheels as well as break-ins at Irland Jewelry, Lakeside Auto Wash, and the Golden Cue.

The other 13 youths arrested are juveniles, awaiting Juvenile Court hearings.

They were picked up in connection with the above incidents as well as break-ins at Walled Lake Elementary School and Walled Lake Churches, according to Police Chief James A. Decker.

Charged with stealing a transistor radio from a car, police said Rose also confessed to a recent break-in at Lakeside Auto

Commerce Township—A series of classes for parents of mentally retarded children will begin Thursday night at Clifford H. Smart Junior High School.

Home care and training will be covered at the first 8-10 p.m. session. The other four are scheduled for April 2, 9, 16 and 23.

Donald Place, Oakland County Schools consultant for the mentally retarded, is coordinating the program with the cooperation of Walled Lake's special education department.

Subjects to be discussed by experts in the field include types of programs available, community services, post-school possibilities and parent counseling.

Buchholz-Hazen Rites

Wed in Union Lake

UNION LAKE—St. Mark Lutheran Church was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Barbara May Hazen and Harlan Buchholz.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hazen, 350 Wise and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Buchholz of Esteline, S.D.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length lace gown with full skirt that ended in a chapel sweep. She carried carnations centered with a white orchid on a Bible.

Cathy Springer of Commerce was maid of honor while Susan Sundberg attended as bridesmaid.

On the best man side, Dennis Hazen, brother of the bride, served as best man. The groom was escorted by Dennis Collins. Both are from Commerce.

A reception at the Dublin Community Center followed the rites. The newlyweds will reside in Sioux Falls, S.D.

Injured Girls Said Improved

3 Rochester Teens Hurt in Car Mishap

ROCHESTER—The three 16-year-old Rochester girls who had been in a "very critical" condition since their car collided with a train 10 days ago are reported improved today.

Pat O'Brien, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wallace O'Brien, 1300 Catalpa, was driver of the automobile which crashed into a 10-car freight train shortly after 11 p.m. March 6.

Taken with her to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, were passengers, Diana Nedrow, daughter of Mrs. Alice Nedrow, 302 W. Third; and Patricia Shoemaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Siwert, 430 Taylor.

All are listed in fair condition today.

The car, was northbound on Division when it rammed into the side of the moving locomotive, police said.

WHISTLE BLOWN—The train's engineer, Milton Fuller of Drayton Plains, said the whistle had been blown before the train reached the crossing, which was marked with a railroad sign but no flashers.

Police said skid marks began 53 feet from the crossing. As yet cause of the accident has not been determined.

Woman Dies of Injury

BAY CITY (AP)—Unconscious since she was injured in an automobile collision last June 14, Mrs. Sarah Nicholson, 65, of Bay City, died Friday. Brain damage was among injuries she suffered in the smashup on US 23 west of Omer.

Politicians to Watch UAW Contract

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP)—When the automakers and the United Auto Workers Union sit down some four months hence to negotiate new labor contracts they may find a third party and even a fourth party insisting on a seat at the bargaining table.

When current three-year pacts run out Aug. 31 both the Democratic and Republican presidential candidates will be in the field.

The auto contracts often serve as national politics. In that and related industries alone, they cover wages and hours of roughly a million workers.

PUSH AND HAUL

While the negotiators push and haul over such items as profit-sharing and wages and hours, they'll at the same time be deciding in effect what you'll pay for a 1965 model car.

The price and the pattern set-ling are what involve the so-called "public interest" of the nation in these negotiations.

The industry already is accusing President Lyndon B. Johnson of having given the UAW unfair bargaining advantage in proposing double-pay for overtime as a means of spreading employment.

Spokesmen for the automakers say it wouldn't create more jobs and likely would wipe out some. The UAW long has insisted in this highly automated industry on an overtime penalty exceeding time-and-a-half on the theory it would promote new hires.

ANOTHER FRONT

On another front, the President's Council of Economic Advisors has suggested industrial wage increases generally be geared to gains in productivity, and that highly profitable industries consider price cuts as an inflation deterrent.

Walter P. Reuther wrote President Johnson his UAW would not demand wage rises that in Reuther's view would raise auto prices. But Reuther insisted that annual productivity in autos is going up much faster than the 3.2 per cent which the council estimated for industry as a whole.

The UAW fought without success to increase the so-called "annual improvement factor."

carried forward in 1958 and 1961 contracts. It provides an automatic yearly increase of six cents hourly or 2 1/2 per cent, whichever is greater, to compensate workers for cost-cutting.

Reuther also wrote President Johnson that General Motors, with a record 1963 profit of $1.5 billion, could have cut prices $200 a car, given substantial wage increases and still have shown a profit higher than the average for American industry. The average auto production worker's wage now is $3 hourly.

DECLINED DEBATE

GM has declined debate in public prints with Reuther, and he did not speculate on the effect a GM price cut might have on Chrysler, Ford or American Motors.

Speaking of record profits such as those run up in autos, the presidential council said:

"Such profits become highly visible to the public and constitute a lure for strongly intensified wage demands."

"On the one hand, extra increases in wages or fringe benefits tend to spread to other industries, creating a general cost-push from the wage side."

"On the other hand, there is no justification, on either economic or equity grounds, for distributing above-average gains in productivity exclusively through the profits channel."

"The real way out of this dilemma is for the firms involved to remove its cause by reducing prices."

Both sides will be loaded economically for an all-out struggle when the bargaining begins about July 1.

The union's strike fund already tops $61 million and secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey says it will exceed $65 million by mid-year. The UAW figures its resources total a record $88.3 million.

The Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—rolled up combined profits of $2,242 billion in 1963. American Motors had a net of $37.8 million after sharing before-taxes profits in its fiscal year that ended last Sept. 30.

At the January-February selling rate, 1,182,000 cars represent a two-month supply in dealer hands—or roughly enough at today's accelerated selling rate to cover dealer needs for more than half the time that the industry's longest strike lasted—113 days at General Motors in 1945-46.

Union spokesmen, however, insist this advantage is offset by contracts expiring just when all the automakers are preparing to introduce new models. None wants to be left at the post with competitors off and running.

Only once has a third party made it to the bargaining table. That was when the then Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins sent the chief of the government's mediation service, James Dewey, to Detroit in the 1945-46 GM-UAW impasse.

NOT INVOLVED

While he sat in and presided at the opening and closing of each day's bargaining, Dewey

Big Population Boom to Spur Area Economy

A recent growth projection for Waterford Township and Oakland County by Detroit Edison Co. is of breath-taking quality.

The township's population is expected to rise from its 1960 level of 47,000 to 100,000 by 1980 — a stunning 113 per cent. Not far behind is the County as a whole, with comparable figures and dates of 690,000 and 1,200,000. They reflect a 74 per cent growth in population.

Indicative of the area's bright population and economic expansion potential is its relation to the national forecast of a total population rise of but 30 per cent for the 20-year period.

Since utility projections are based on proven experience indices and are basis for vast outlays of capital to keep abreast of and anticipate envisioned expansion, the conclusions are invariably realistic and a reliable barometer of the developing economic climate.

Township, county and Pontiac residents have sound reason for satisfaction and great expectancy over the rosy prospects for the next 15 years.

Competition Ahead for Nation's Maidens

Now is the time for all smart girls to come to the aid of themselves, for things are likely to get a bit more competitive over the next couple of years.

Reason is that girls generally marry before they are 20, while most boys marry between 22 and 23. This means that girls born in the postwar baby-boom years of 1946 to 1949 will be looking for prospective bridegrooms among young men born in the leaner war years of 1942-45.

By 1966, girls in the one category will outnumber eligible men in the other by 364,764.

Remember, the next Leap Year won't be until 1968.

Agriculture Far Behind Red's Space Progress

Although Russia's harvest of agricultural products is currently notable for its slowness, the Reds' party hierarchy is exercising a booming harvest in another area — headlines.

The lean and bountiful, however, are closely linked and stem from persistent relation of agronomy concepts to the Communist Marxist-Leninist philosophy of natural phenomena.

Thus, while the Reds have made impressive progress in economics and science, they have left agricultural developments to the vagaries of nature — and kept it where it was 25 years ago.

Long ago, Western experts predicted that plowing up the virgin lands of Kazakhstan and sowing it, unfertilized would result in a dust waste exceeding our Western dust bowl of the 1930's.

It has come to pass, and the Soviets are desperately making overtures to industrial countries of Europe for acquisition of fertilizer plants to remedy their antiquated soil technology.

A quarter-century ago, the Communist bosses' addition to the cultist approach to land productivity resulted in a grave potato famine. Today, after promises and hopes of a new era of farm abundance, a critical grain shortage is gripping the country. It has forced the wholesale killing of cattle and hogs, on which Russia has relied on conversion from a starch to a protein diet.

Perhaps the Kremlin will someday give free rein to her many able geologists to evolve scientific solution to Russia's agricultural woes. But until then, the Reds will probably continue to do better in outer space than here on earth.

LBJ Interview Offended No One

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Nobody can get mad at President Johnson for what he said in a television-radio interview last night. He saw to that. He said he wanted to be a "people's president."

He spent an hour assuring as many as possible about his stewardship, even to mentioning how he has the lights turned off in the White House closets to save money.

Would-be Republican presidential candidates have been critical of him, when not criticizing one another, though some times they seem to be stretching hard to find something to hit him with.

So far he hasn't given them much excuse for criticism. Since he succeeded President Kennedy he has carefully said and done all the popular things, even to the point of some things sounding corny.

Again last night he was restrained, and pleasant about the Republicans, which is exactly what could be expected from a politician as good as Johnson.

At this particular time, they're not hurting Johnson, although they may be hurting one another, and the polls show he is doing fine with the public.

WOULD BE WASTED

No there wouldn't be much political sense in wasting shots on the small mob of would-be candidates now milling around. He can go on the offensive next summer after the Republicans finally pick their candidate.

But there is something else to be remembered in Johnson's avoidance of direct personal assaults. This is exactly in the tradition of Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower who found it a highly successful technique.

It was near the end of his interview that Johnson gave an insight into how he plays all the political angles, at home and abroad. This involves French President Charles de Gaulle, although de Gaulle wasn't mentioned.

Johnson talks of meeting called here today with Latin American ambassadors from the Organization of American States, along with American ambassadors to Latin America called home for this occasion.

BETTER COOPERATION

The subject: better cooperation between this country and its southern neighbors. At this meeting, Johnson will make a major speech on Latin America. He didn't mention this last night. It had been announced before.

But he makes this speech just as de Gaulle arrives in Mexico, part of his campaign to spread French influence in Latin America. His arrival, and anything he says, will make headlines all over Latin America.

He would have had them to himself if there had been no Johnson speech. Now he will have to share the headlines with the President. Some of the edge and even the purpose of his visit will be blunted.

This is truly tit-for-tat if anything ever was. De Gaulle had done exactly the same thing to Kennedy a year ago, in reverse.

On the very day Kennedy sent his State of the Union message to Congress, full of optimism about relations with the European allies, de Gaulle called a news conference and shot holes in the optimism. He has been a pain since.

Johnson is giving him a taste of the medicine.

David Lawrence Says:

Wage Floor Bill Is Inflationary

WASHINGTON — The maneuvers in Congress which could bring on a severe inflation and break down the national economy are sometimes in times in proposed legislation that outwardly appears to be designed to serve a beneficial purpose.

Do many people realize, for instance, that LAWRENCE the unions are asking for the passage by Congress of a bill which, if enacted, could conceivably add at least $8 billion a year — and possibly several billions more — to the current expenses of American business and inevitably force prices upward to absorb such costs?

Although in a free-enterprise system the government, except in wartime, isn't supposed to fix wages or prices, Congress is being urged to raise the minimum wage throughout the country from the rate of $1.25 an hour to $2.

On the surface this looks like an inconsequential item.

Also, who doesn't sympathize with the objective, which is to help in the "War on Poverty" and give a better wage to many of the unskilled workers who are in the lower grades of employment?

OVERHAUL STRUCTURE

To move a person working a 40-hour week from a rate of $1.25 an hour, or $50 a week, to $2 an hour, or $80 a week, doesn't affect just those particular individuals.

It means an overhauling of virtually the entire wage structure and a raising of wage rates all along the line.

This is why the AFL-CIO unions — who really don't have many members in the lower grades of employment — are pushing hard for such a bill.

WAGE DEMAND

This applies all along the line and creates a demand for more wages among those who control their skills are worth a higher rate of pay than that given to those in the next lower category.

It is not likely that a skilled worker getting $2 an hour will be satisfied with that wage if, for example, the man who sweeps the floor is to be paid $2 an hour, too.

If the federal minimum wage law affected only the workers in the minimum wage class, the cost of raising these workers alone to $2 an hour would mean an extra cost of about $8 billion a year to business.

But when the wages of the higher-paid groups also are to be boosted, the new expense total confronting management would be increased by billions of dollars more.

Sung Chin-huang, Peking's chargé d'affaires in Paris, mentioned the status of the building to the French Foreign Office but did not follow up on claims to it.

He is now hunting for other quarters.

French officials say the dispute will not hold up exchange fixes the minimum wage, it engages, in effect, in wage control for all categories, and this, in turn, means price rises.

LOW WAGE EARNERS

But, it would be asked, what of the low wage earners? Should they be deprived of their increase?

The answer is that, if Congress will undertake wage control and forbid any further increases in wages in other grades of employment, the minimum wage could readily be raised gradually and benefits given to the deserving workers.

But since Congress will not tackle the wage-and-price-control issue across the board, there is only economic trouble ahead for the nation.

New Round of Strikes to Tie France in Knots

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

FRENCH STRIKES: The most crippling round of strikes by government and nationalized industry workers since last November is expected to tie France in knots on Wednesday.

Railroads, postal services, gas and electric utilities, and airport ground control facilities are among services likely to be affected.

The government will maintain its tough attitude, NEWSOM although wages of state employees still lag behind those in private industry. Any relaxation would endanger President de Gaulle's save-the-franc austerity program.

U.N. AND CYPRUS: European diplomats lean toward the belief that United Nations may suffer in the long run by being dragged into the Cyprus crisis.

The proposed U.N. peacekeeping operation for the Mediterranean island is viewed as a tough and thankless job that stands little chance for success.

Japanese travel bureaus are bracing for an onslaught of customers and Japanese manufacturers are gearing for increased competition.

Weak spots in Japanese industry, including automobile, cosmetic and color film producers, are expected to suffer from the new money status.

CHINESE EMBASSY: The Chinese Communists are not expected to make an issue out of possession of the Chinese embassy building in Paris — claimed by both the Peking and Formosa governments.

Sung Chin-huang, Peking's chargé d'affaires in Paris, mentioned the status of the building to the French Foreign Office but did not follow up on claims to it.

He is now hunting for other quarters.

French officials say the dispute will not hold up exchange of ambassadors between France and Red China, expected by the end of next month.

DEFFERRE VISIT: The trip to the United States by Gaston Defferre March 19-27 is designed to create an "image" abroad for the French Socialist presidential hopeful.

Defferre is almost totally unknown outside France. He has hired an American press agent for his tour and plans to make speeches in New York and Washington. Defferre speaks fair English.

Convicted at Last

The San Diego Union

Time is running out for James R. Hoffa, long-time boss of the 17-member International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers.

Convicted on two counts of jury tampering, his first defeat in five federal trials, Hoffa finally has discovered that American justice, though it grinds meticulously slow, eventually catches up with law evaders.

Hoffa will use every legal sanctuary provided by the Constitution, the document which he has flouted in the past, to escape prison. There will be demands for a new trial, appeals and pleas to the public. But Hoffa, through the untiring efforts of the Department of Justice, is over the hill and on his way to oblivion.

Jimmy Hoffa is an ego-maniac who believed he was above the law. As boss of the teamster union, he believed he had a stranglehold on the American economy because trucks distribute many of the vital necessities of life.

'U.S. Needs More People Who Use Common Sense'

I'm sick and tired of the nonsense we hear about how to handle problems, children, countries, dictators, etc.

Where has good common sense gone? Many of us do not have a degree yet when it comes to practical application and good, honest know-how we could put many of these modern experts to shame.

We can start at the top with our Supreme Court and come on down to the individual home. I know we're living in the Twentieth Century but can't some thing be done to stem the tide of the drift to easy going, mamby-pamby sort of attitudes we find in places of authority?

I love our Godly heritage and we need to preserve it for our future generations. I hope The Press will keep up the good works for there are those of us who really appreciate a little old-fashioned common sense.

There is no excuse for yards to be cluttered with junk cars and trash, houses and fences in need of paint and repairs, uninvited garages, and some lawns without a shrub or tree.

Until people clean up their own property we are never going to attract any good prospective buyers for our empty homes.

'Teachers' Pension Cause for Concern'

Teachers' pensions are in jeopardy as the following report shows:

"The Michigan School Employees' Retirement Fund contained $86,465,075 in June 1963 with which to pay liabilities of $489,523,602. This leaves about $403 million to be found. Without a change the retirement fund will be solvent only two more years. One of the causes is that the State of Michigan has failed to pay part of its yearly share since the law was enacted in 1945.

"Teachers, write your legislators (and have them appropriate monies past due while the constitution is being implemented. Demand that the retirement law be updated to an actuarially sound basis."

This should be the concern of all taxpayers, not just teachers.

"A most unusual woman."

This did Gus Harrison, state corrections commissioner, describe Mrs. Robert Posson, of Munnich, after she literally had talked escaped Southern Michigan Prison flycatcher Lester R. Dineen into surrendering to Mr. Harrison after she had been Dineen's captive and hostage for most of a day.

Indeed she is.

Perhaps many persons who live calm, orderly, law-abiding, workaday lives, wonder how they would react if placed in such a situation. Most of us fear that we would panic; wouldn't know what to do; wouldn't have the courage to cope with the obvious danger.

When the challenge arrives a few persons are able to reach into depths of courage and resourcefulness which they probably didn't know they possessed.

Courage is where you find it.

Negroes in Mississippi to Seek Congress Seats

By United Press International
Negro leaders announced last night they will put up two congressional candidates in Mississippi this year and that they will bring in 1,000 northern college students to work in a "peace corps" for voter registration this summer.

The announcement was made at Jackson by the "Council of Federated Organizations."

COFO is a group of various major civil rights organizations.

COFO said Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer of Ruleville plans to run for Congress in the Second District and the Rev. John Cameron of Hattiesburg in the Fifth District. Spokesmen said the two would seek to get their names on the June Democratic primary ballot.

Aaron Henry, Mississippi president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said if Mrs. Hamer and Cameron lost, they would go to Washington anyway and try to unseat the winning white candidates.

"We intend to challenge these congressmen for their seats on the floor of Congress because they cannot be legally elected where so many Negroes are deprived of voting," Henry said.

In another political-civil rights development in the South six Negroes have announced in Tuskegee, Ala., they will run as independent candidates for city and county offices

State Solons to Air Recess

5 From Each House to Work Out Agenda

LANSING (AP)—The dispute between Republicans in the Senate and House over whether the legislature should take a break will be aired tonight an hour before the legislative week begins.

Five senators, headed by Senate majority leader Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, are scheduled to meet with five representatives, headed by House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kings-ton.

Green first voiced the recess idea, asking a two-week break to allow the House Ways and Means Committee extra time to work on Gov. George W. Romney's general fund budget. Such a recess would also push back adjournment, extending the session.

Thayer said there is no sentiment among the Senate's Republicans to extend the session or authorize a recess. Senate Democrats also oppose these.

SPECIAL SESSION

Thayer has raised the possibility of a special summer session to dispose of work for which Green has asked the extra time, but Green branded this suggestion "silly."

A possible compromise mentioned by both Thayer and Green would keep the present adjournment schedule but extend the deadline for committee action on bills.

Until this disagreement boiled its most productive pace of the session, passing both the mandatory tenure law and the statute enabling aid to dependent children of the unemployed within the week.

Another key item—Romney's committee-approved $1 hourly minimum wage bill—is on the House calendar.

2 Trains Collide in Connecticut; 4 Are Injured

NORWALK, Conn. (AP)—Mechanical failure in a boxcar apparently caused a wreck involving two Boston-bound New Haven Railroad passenger trains, a New Haven spokesman said today.

Four persons were treated at a hospital after the accident Sunday but only one had to be admitted.

The New Haven spokesman said a boxcar in "The Senator," a passenger train headed for Boston, slipped off the tracks. Two Railway Express cars behind it followed.

TRAINS SIDESWIPED

Moments later another Boston bound train, "The Puritan," approached on an adjacent track. Seven of its cars, including the locomotive, derailed as the Puritan sideswiped the crippled train.

Former Senator Dies After Short Illness

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—James M. Mead, 78, former Democratic U.S. senator and representative in Congress from New York, died Sunday after a short illness. Mead served in the House of Representatives for 28 years before he was elected to the Senate in 1938. He left the Senate in 1946 for an unsuccessful effort to unseat former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

In Battle for Primary Votes

California GOP Unit Backs Goldwater

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater carried the strident endorsement of the 14,000-member California Republican Assembly into the state's primary campaign today.

Conservatives topped off their Goldwater victory by capturing control of the volunteer party organization in a free-swinging contest with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's forces.

Climaxing a stormy 12-hour Sunday session, the outnumbered Rockefeller delegates staged a walkout before the vote committing the CRA to support the Arizona senator in his California race against the New York governor.

The Rockefeller faction battled to prevent any endorsement but there was never any doubt about the outcome. All the Rockefeller backers could do was fight a long delaying action to a parliamentary nightmare.

LOPSIDED MARGIN

Goldwater swept the endorsement by a lopsided margin on a standing vote with only two dozen or so Rockefeller members still around to register their protest.

The Goldwater wing showed its strength on balloting for the assembly's new officers. Its entry for president, Dr. Noland Frizzell, a tall 42-year-old Newport opiomaniac, defeated the moderates' Vernon Davis of Fresno, 392 to 272.

George Murphy, 61, former Hollywood actor long active in state Republican affairs, won the endorsement for the U.S. Senate. He beat out Lee M. Kaiser, a San Francisco financier who was favored by many Goldwater supporters.

Fred Hall, 47, the assembly's

1963 president and a former governor of Kansas, announced his candidacy for Democratic Sen. Clair Engle's seat earlier in the day. He did not seek the CRA endorsement.

PENT-UP RANCOR

All of the pent-up rancor in Republican ranks burst out in the well-planned maneuver by the conservatives to take over the party's statewide club. The Young Republicans Federation fell to them last year.

Goldwater spokesmen accused the Rockefeller camp of trying to tarnish the senator's endorsement by deliberately creating turmoil and by attempting to "thwart the will of the majority."

The Rockefeller managers in turn blamed their opponents for causing more bloodletting in their insistence on gaining assembly approval for Goldwater's quest for California's 68 delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Former Sen. William F. Knowland, Goldwater's California chairman, said the assembly traditionally has taken sides in the presidential contest. The endorsement is only advisory but Goldwater supporters hailed it as a major boost for his chances in the June 2 primary.

School Chief to Retire

DETROIT (AP)—President E. George Lawrence of Lawrence Institute of Technology is retiring Aug. 1, he announced Sunday. He will be succeeded by Dr. Wayne H. Buell, executive vice president of Aristo International, a division of International Minerals and Chemical Corp.

U. S. Judge Succumbs

MARLIN, Tex. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge Ben H. Rice Jr., 74, died Saturday. Rice, who had been under treatment for pneumonia, was appointed by President Harry S. Truman in 1945. He was born in Marlin.

Battleships of the U. S. Navy were named for the states.

'Blue Angel'
Dies in Fall;
Chute Fails

APALACHICOLA, Fla. (AP)—Lt. George N. Neale, 29, one of the Navy's Blue Angel precision pilots, plunged to his death Sunday when his parachute failed to open fully after he ejected from his crippled jet.

A Navy spokesman said the flight demonstration team was returning to its base at Pensacola, Fla. from an air show at West Palm Beach when Neale's plane "experienced some sort of mechanical failure" west of Apalachicola, 167 miles east of Pensacola.

W. H. Meadows and his son, Billy, said they heard a popping noise — like a backfire — before the jet fighter hit 200 yards from their home. Meadows said the pilot ejected at about 150 to 200 feet — too low for his chute to open fully.

Neale was beginning his third year with the Blue Angels. Surviving are his widow, Donna, who lives at Pensacola Naval Air Station, and his mother, Katherine D. Neale, of Pittsburgh.

No Slowdown Seen in Effects of Automation

EDITOR'S NOTE: Automation's impact is expected to touch every American; and its force can already be felt. Ray Cromley's in-depth report on the giant changes now under way is complete in four parts, starting in today's Press.

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—
"Folks who are out of work need action—not arguments."

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, 1964.
But whatever action the President and his successors take in the decade ahead, key Johnson advisers and private economists interviewed by this correspondent agree that there will be no slowdown in automation, and that its effects on workers will be profound.

Twenty-one key government and private experts on automation, economics and labor recently gave testimony before a Senate committee on automation and unemployment.

A consensus shows that in the decade ahead, the average worker—white-collar and blue-collar, scientist and unskilled laborer alike will:

• Change jobs more often, be unemployed more often, spend more time between jobs. The average worker may make between seven and nine job changes in his lifetime.

• Move more often from one section of the country to another or from one city to another to find work.

• Learn that seniority means less as whole plants go out of business, as did the Studebaker plant in Indiana.

• Discover that his pay will go up more slowly than it has on the average in the past decade. (Prices are likely to rise more slowly, too, to keep pace with foreign and domestic competition.)

• Find it necessary much more often than in the past to continue his education after graduation, whether he starts out as a Ph.D. or a high school or grade school graduate.

ACHIEVE SKILLS

Some of this additional education will be required to achieve the new skills required in retraining to get a new job. Some will be needed to keep abreast of technological changes and new knowledge in his field.

Doctors, teachers, engineers, scientists already feel this need heavily today. In the decade ahead, a wider segment of the working population will find it a necessity to update formal education.

As automation takes an increasingly stronger grip on the nation, other predictions now come into focus:

Working hours will grow shorter, but only very gradually. More likely there will be longer vacations, annual or sabbatical.

There will be a higher and higher percentage of women in the work force. The percentage of women working is expected to push past 50 per cent.

FINANCIAL HEADS

More women will, in effect, become financial heads of households as new educational and skill requirements pass their husbands. By the possible effect this will have on children already has drawn the attention of psychologists. It will certainly place strains on many marriages.

More men, if they want jobs, will move into types of work often held traditionally by women—secretarial, typing, nursing, elementary school teaching, office clerical.

By 1970, engineers, scientists, professional and technical workers, teachers, managers, clerical and service workers are expected to account for more than half of all U.S. employment.

Over-all employment will increase and many skilled and specialized jobs will go begging.

GROWING GROUPS

But there will be growing groups of unemployed—men who find it more and more difficult to get jobs, even when there are many job openings.

There are even some authorities who believe that many men may never be regularly employed in their whole lifetimes as automation increases—unless there are radical changes in our education and job organization.

The hard-to-employ groups consist of the unskilled, the uneducated, the narrowly educated, the less aggressive, the adaptable men who are overly specialized in lines that are dying out.

New educational requirements cannot always be traced to automation. Often, in reality, automation requires less skill. But with the new machines goes new psychology. The employer demands a higher education for the same job because it's the trend—and because he can demand that higher education and get it.

MISTAKES COST

His argument, often valid, is that he has so much invested in the new machines that a mistake can cost him too much money. He cannot afford to take chances.

He must have men who don't make mistakes and who know what to do in emergencies. But, at the same time, employers are requiring higher educational standards for the same old clerical jobs, too.

Next: LBJ and automation.

Integrationist Welcomed on Second Visit

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Eight months ago the Rev. Ashton Jones, 68, accompanied by Negroes, attempted to attend the First Baptist Church and was arrested on charges of disturbing worship.

Sunday, Jones, again accompanied by Negroes, attended the church and said he received "a most cordial greeting."

Between visits, the California minister spent six months in jail because he was unable to post an appeal bond after he was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 18 months in prison. He finally was freed under a property bond posted by an Atlanta woman.

The church membership meanwhile had voted to accept all persons, regardless of race or color.

Children Can Eat Poison Just as Easily as Candy

How can a child eat a moth-ball?
It's easy. He puts it in his mouth and swallows.
Parents often ask, "Why?"
Why not? A mothball looks far more like candy than some medicines that many parents tell their children taste like candy.

This week is National Poison Prevention Week, and this is just one of the things that doctors will be urging parents not to do.

500 DIES A YEAR

Dr. Robert J. Mason, director of the poison control center at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, points out that more than 500 children die every year in America from accidental poisoning in the home.

The poisons include medications, pesticides, cleaning materials and petroleum products. Almost all are the result of neglect or improper storage of medicines and toxic materials.

"Parents should remember," said Dr. Mason, "that children are inquisitive and like to imitate adults. Medicines should not be taken in their presence and should be stored out of their reach."

He emphasized that children should never be told that medicines are candy.

CONFUSED ORDERS

Many adults wonder how a child can take a hostess-tasting or vile-spelling product and yet reflect on how frequently a mother insists that "this tastes good" or "that tastes good," "please do this for mother," "this will make you grow strong"—and "this is good for you."

All such phrases and pleading to get food ingested lead one directly to the realization that a child feels that anything that is put in the mouth is worthy of being eaten and is therefore good for him. To please his parents he will take anything.

The poison control center at St. Joseph is housed in the emergency treatment area, in a separate room especially designated for care and treatment of poisoning cases.

SPECIAL STAFF

The center functions on a 24-hour basis and is covered by resident physicians, specially trained nurses, personnel and specially designated secretarial clerks to keep the information files up-to-date.

These extensive reference files are the result of years of effort by similar centers throughout the country to catalog every known product containing a harmful ingredient.

They contain information for the physician on the degree of toxicity of, the substance and the most recent information on counteracting and treating the particular kind of poison.

The room is equipped with a variety of lavage and suction apparatus and a ready supply of drugs for the indicated treatment of specific poisonings.

Surprise Practice Alert Called on Area Guard

By JIM LONG

Clarence Pizzala was at home cutting a hole in a basement wall when he first got the word. Robert J. Hines was installing a muffler on his car. It was shortly after 1 p.m.

Saturday. Within a half hour, both were in uniforms of National Guard sergeants and were frantically telephoning other members of the Pontiac unit to report to the Armory, 57 Water

The surprise alert, White Ball Practice, was on for A Co., 2nd Battalion 125th Infantry.

The alert, announced early this month as scheduled for some time within 60 days, is used to test the efficiency of the National Guard in the rapid assembling of personnel to assist in national, state or local emergencies.

The aim is above 90 per cent of all personnel assembled and ready to function within three hours.

Company commander Capt. Robert G. Carland said the unit's effectiveness fell below the goal — 60 per cent of the outfit, or about 90 men, turned out.

Some of the men could not be contacted at all, others were out of town, while the wives of many had the family car and were shopping.

"All in all, the plan went according to schedule and I believe we could cope with any surprise that might arise," said Carland, a Mount Clemens resident.

The percentage of the Pontiac unit nearly equalled the average of the four other National Guard units in the Third Brigade participating in the alert.

AREA PERCENTAGE

Of the 1,300 men in the Pontiac, Flint, Owosso, Lapeer and Port Huron units, 65 per cent assembled and prepared to function as organized units.

Pizzala, Hines and the third man to arrive at the armory, 1st Lt. David MacGillis, the executive officer, were met by Sgt. Lowell M. Wilhite, U.S. Army advisory assigned to the Pontiac unit for the alert.

Reports on the operation were made to the group's headquarters in Flint periodically, keeping it informed of the unit's strength.

Errors made during the alert will be studied by command officers so they can be corrected.

EMPLOYERS KEY

Much of the effectiveness of a practice alert depends on the cooperation of employers in allowing their workers to take the time off from their jobs.

During the 4½ hour alert, the men were equipped with fire arms and field packs and deployed around the armory.

One group was sent to an alternate area near Goodrich. The six trucks and jeeps used by the unit were driven to Avon Township, under an order to move vehicles five miles from the addressed an applauding crowd.

Foreign Policy Told

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard today called the Atlantic Alliance and reconciliation with France the cornerstones of West German foreign policy.

"America's divisions stand for our rejection on German soil," he told a convention of his Christian Democratic party, "and for that reason, together with everything the United States has done for Europe, we are deeply thankful to that great-hearted people."

"German-French friendship remains the key to any European policy whatsoever. So I find no contradiction in greeting the people of the United States and the French nation. In the end, we stand together to defend common ideals."

Erhard gave more emphasis to the Atlantic Alliance than did former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, the party chairman, who called yesterday for negotiations to change its terms.

French President de Gaulle has been pressing for this, also and has come into sharp conflict with the United States over the best way to defend the West against the communists.

URGENT DUTY

Erhard said prospects for further progress in uniting Western Europe give no cause for exaggerated hope, "and just for that reason we are under the urgent duty not to let the flame of this idea die out, lest the heart of Europe grow cold."

Premier Khrushchev to permit the 17 million Germans under communist rule to decide their own future.

"I and all responsible German politicians can be believed," he said, "when we say that we want nothing but peace and order in Europe and in the whole world, and a peaceful settlement of all questions still open."

"We know the responsibility we bear, that has grown out of World War II. But we do not believe that justice can be done for new injustice."

NEW PROPOSAL

Erhard said his government had recently laid before its allies a new proposal for bringing the two parts of Germany closer together.

He did not disclose what the proposal was. But informed sources say it calls for a permanent committee of the four major victors of World War II — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France — under which Germans from both East and West would try to settle particular problems in committees of their own.

Erhard emphasized the importance of the international trade talks due to start in Geneva May 4, known as the Kennedy round. These talks, he said would test the Atlantic market and the Common Market.

"Whether these bonds are to be loosened or strengthened," he said, "can decide the 'to be or not to be' of the free world."

Aviatrix Readies for Historic Flight Around World

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Navy wife Joan Merriam Smith was making last-minute preparations today to become the first woman to fly solo around the world.

Weather and other factors permitting the 17-year-old, 5-foot-2 blonde wife of Navy Cmdr. Marvin (Jack) Smith will take off tomorrow from Oakland, Calif., on a 27,000-mile flight tracing the route Amelia Earhart plotted but never completed in 1937.

Dubbed "City of Long Beach," the plane will make 28 stops on the history-making flight — including one in Guam where the petite young aviatrix hopes to rendezvous with her husband.

LBJ Pledges Total Effort to Pass Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he'll do everything he can to win passage of the civil rights bill and predicts the Senate will approve it "in due time" in its present form.

The Senate has a duty to pass the measure as approved by the House, he told the nation in an interview broadcast and televised Sunday night.

"I know of nothing more important for this Congress to do than to pass the measure, he said. "I think that when the Senate acts upon the civil rights bill, that we will have the best civil rights law that has been enacted in 100 years, and I think it will be a substantial and effective answer to our racial problems."

"The Negro was freed of his chains 100 years ago, but he has not been freed of the problems brought about by his color and the bigotry that exists."

PRaises BILL

The President said the bill "goes a long way to taking the battle from the streets into the legislative halls and into the courtrooms."

"I think it will be a great step forward for the nation, and I think it will make us much more united."

With this prodding from the White House, the Senate starts a second week of debate today on a motion to take up the bill. Leaders are hopeful of a vote within the next few days.

The key to action held by Southern opponents, who want the bill routed to the judiciary committee for hearings.

Pontiac Camp Fire Girls Light Birthday Candles

"Camp Fire Girls is not a busy-work or head-straining organization," says local council president Eldon Gardner on the eve of its 54th birthday.

"True, the girls do use crafts in the program, but only as a means to explore, to invent, to grow and to create."

"Group activities place great emphasis on helping the girl develop her mind and talents, to have a deep appreciation of individual worth and dignity, to realize and practice responsibility and to value basic feminine qualities."

Founded March 17, 1910 by Luther Halsey Gulick and his wife, Charlotte, the Camp Fire Girls have groups in more than 6,000 communities in all parts of the United States.

The Pontiac area council serves some 1,600 girls.

FOUR LEVELS

Girls are divided into four age-level groups. Finding out about the world around them is important in the Blue Bird program. Here, seven and eight-year-olds do simple handicrafts, take trips and learn about nature.

Nine, ten and eleven-year-olds progress through the ranks of Trail Seeker, Wood Gatherer and Fire Maker. They earn honors in a variety of fields.

Junior high Camp Fire activities provide girls with opportunities to develop social relationships. Members participate in both group and individual projects.

Exploring career possibilities and giving service hold the interest of the older girls in the Horizon Club.

The local Camp Fire Girls organization is a member of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Creativity is one of the tenets of the Camp Fire Girls Blue Bird program for girls seven and eight years old. Members of the Golden Blue Birds of Leggett School Susan Burns, Fernbarry Court, and Cheryl Loomis, Lorbera Lane, learn about creative play with puppets they have made.

pleton, Hudson Street; Susan Norberg, East Brooklyn Avenue; and Elaine Adamczyk, Voorheis Road.

Mothers find the Camp Fire program helpful in deepening mutual understanding and companionship with their daughters. Mrs. Howard Hissong and daughter Amy of Rochester share the work on a cooking project. Amy is a Blue Bird.

Carnations to Daughter for Easter

No matter how young she may be, every lady always enjoys a beautiful, fresh corsage to brighten her Easter outfit.

The Society of American Florists points out that even toddlers will be delighted to wear a corsage of fresh blossoms — especially if it is designed with her in mind.

Bunnies mean Easter to most youngsters. The joy of new clothes may well be limited to the slightly older set, but a fragrant corsage of bright carnations with rabbit pipe — cleaner ears and button eyes will bring joy to any little, little girl's heart.

Your florist can make such a pert little bunny face for you — or you can make one yourself with the aid of some carnations, a perky bow of glossy ribbon, those handy pipe cleaners and a single sassy daisy as an accent.

Carnations are an ideal choice for a corsage such as this. They are not expensive. Their colors are varied enough to harmonize with or complement any outfit. And, best of all, when grouped tightly together, their petals are remarkably reminiscent of fur.

Their spiky fragrance, too, will enchant a youngster's tiny button nose and she will feel proud to have a corsage like mommie's.

One wants little girls to be feminine and to have a sense of being glad that they are girls. One of the best ways to encourage this early femininity is to give them the things that mean "girl." Give them flowers whenever mommie wears them. She'll be a happier girl because of them.

Alumnae Slate Talk on Flower Arrangements

Mrs. Joseph N. Schaeffer will open her Birmingham home Tuesday evening to the North Woodward Alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

Mrs. Frederick B. Eilber will introduce guest speaker Richard Patterson, who will follow the 8 p. m. association meeting.

Mr. Patterson will speak on flower arrangement.

Dessert and coffee will be served by hostesses Mrs. Donald Hurst, Mrs. Dana Rose and Mrs. Thomas C. King of Royal Oak and Mrs. Alexander J. Ricker of Birmingham.

Card Party to Be Held at Boat Club

The Oakland County Boat Club will be the setting for the annual benefit card party sponsored by Sylvan Lake Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association Thursday at 8 p.m.

Among the branch projects are assistance with the horticultural therapy program at Pontiac State Hospital, student scholarships and a teacher's expenses at the Michigan Conservation School at Higgins Lake each summer.

Mrs. Arthur Silverthorn, chairman, has as committee members: Mrs. Albert E. Kohn, hostesses and refreshments; Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Richard Cavette, tickets; and Mrs. Thomas Lyons, publicity.

Don't Give Party Prize to Family

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My daughter has had several bridge parties since I have been living with her, and at a couple of these I have had high score.

A: My daughter never considers my score and always gives the prize to the next highest one. Is this right?

I know the hostess is not supposed to keep a prize in her own house, but does this also apply to the mother of the hostess?

A: As you are making your home with your daughter and are one of the family, your daughter is quite right. If you were a guest, then you would be entitled to the prize exactly as any other guest.

Q: I am going to be married soon and I have engaged a photographer to take pictures at the wedding and the reception.

The guests will be seated at small tables of 10 and the photographer suggested taking pictures of each table so that the guests, if they wish, may order them to keep as souvenirs.

I have never seen this at a wedding and before giving my consent, I would like to know if it would be a proper thing to do?

A: Allowing the photographer go around taking pictures of the individual tables, and then taking orders for them sounds very commercial and is certainly not in good taste at a wedding.

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

A son, Jeffery William, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Coon (Bonnie C. Denham) of West Ypsilanti Avenue, March 11 in Pontiac General Hospital.

The grandparents are the late Denham of Oriskany Road and the James Coons of Jackson.

Several Zonta Officers Continue Leaders' Role

The Zonta club of Pontiac held its annual election of officers and directors at a recent dinner meeting.

Mrs. Katherine M. Baker will again be heading the group as president. Also re-elected for the coming year were Mrs. Beecher Fawcett, vice president; Grace Clark, corresponding secretary; Jean Andrews, recording secretary; and Margaret Stark, treasurer.

Only newly elected officer on the slate was Mrs. Roy Riddle, second vice president.

Continuing on the board of directors for another year are Charlotte McManus, Mrs. Earl Carmichael, and Mrs. Oscar Sorenson.

NEW DIRECTORS
Newly elected directors include Mrs. Howard Brooks, Mrs. Earl L. Clark and Mrs. Grover Scott.

Officers and directors will be installed at the annual spring breakfast April 26 at Devon Gables.

Mrs. Clark reported on plans for the 9:30 a.m. affair.

Mrs. Hiram H. Smith was hostess for the election dinner meeting which was held at her Edgely Drive home.

New Officers for Musicale

Mrs. V. M. Lindquist will lead the Pontiac Tuesday Musicale in its 1964-65 season activities as newly elected president.

Assisting her will be Mrs. W. A. Schmitt, first vice president; Mrs. J. E. Rodenbaugh, second vice president; Mrs. J. G. Haviland, recording secretary and Mrs. N. W. Todd, corresponding secretary.

Others will include Mrs. R. H. Austin, treasurer; Mrs. F. L. Haushalter, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. M. R. Voss, historian.

St. Pat Dance for Newcomers

St. Patrick was honored Saturday by the Pontiac Newcomers' Club at their meeting in the Portland Court home of president Mrs. Gerald Berry.

Bob Lange guided members in square dancing followed by a late evening buffet. Cohostesses were Mrs. A. W. Wickley and Mrs. Howard Drosser. Assisting were program chairman Mrs. Walter Oberhauser and social chairman Mrs. James Wood.

Scrambled Egg Man

Bigot Deserves Boycott

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Since we moved to this state, seven years ago, we've bought our eggs from the same egg man.

Soon after the tragic death of our beloved president, I went to buy our eggs as usual, so it was natural for me to say, "Wasn't it heartbreaking about Mr. Kennedy?" Abby, his reply was so cruel I can't even repeat it.

In the past he has made remarks about "dirty Jews" and "niggers." But knowing that my religion was the same as President Kennedy's, I never expected him to say what he said.

I told my husband that I will never again buy eggs from that man. My husband said I am foolish.

His eggs are fresh and reasonable, and I shouldn't quit buying from him just because he is ignorant. I would like your opinion.

A WOMAN FROM N. H.
DEAR WOMAN: Ignorance is the least offensive of your egg man's shortcomings.

Assure your husband that you can buy "fresh and reasonable" eggs from someone

County Council Donates to Blind

The braille edition of the Reader's Digest was presented to the Michigan Industries for the Blind at the recent meeting of the Oakland County Council of Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliaries at the VFW post in Pontiac.

who is not so bigoted, vicious and destructive. Then prove it.

DEAR ABBY: My son is now 14 years old. My husband and I were divorced three years ago.

The law officer told me at that time that when the boy reached the age of 13 he could choose which parent he wanted to live with.

Well, he chose his father, and the officials told me that I couldn't even SEE the boy unless he wanted to come and see me.

This week he came to my house. His shoes were worn out, his clothes were a mess, and he looked as though he hadn't had a haircut in six months.

He had money in his pocket, though. I always kept him looking nice, Abby.

What kind of laws do we have that let a 14-year-old boy go around looking like a bum?

Or is there any such law? I think I have been tricked.

Bank Altar With Glads at Nuptials

White chrysanthemums and gladioli banked the altar in the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church on Saturday where Peggy Penrod became the bride of Andrew Villarreal.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Samuel McManis and Harriette Street and the Nicholas F. Villarreal of Warren Drive.

Tiers of Chantilly lace over white satin fashioned the bride's gown which swept into a chapel train. She donned a short silk illusion veil with pearl and crystal tiera and held cascading white roses and carnations.

PINK CHIFFON
Judy Baldwin as maid of honor and only attendant, appeared in pink chiffon with matching shoes and veiled headpiece. Her bouquet was pink roses and white carnations.

The bridegroom had Henry Roehl for best man. Guests were seated by Jerry Earnest, Leonard Kilgore and Wesley Martin.

A church reception followed the evening ceremony performed by Rev. Dennis Dusek.

Let Husband Share in Budget Enthusiasm

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
I took some steps toward making a budget for ourselves some months ago. It seems to be going all right from my viewpoint—but my husband has his doubts if I'm right. So would you please answer some questions.

I am figuring this budget on the basis of food, clothes, and house as 50 per cent of the total annual income. I take care of these expenses. My husband takes care of everything else—vacations, drugs, doctor, taxes, also a small payment on a vacation cottage.

I figured this budget on our annual income, which we don't really know for sure until the end of the year because we own our own business. But it's usually about the same. However, our take home "pay" each month is lower, and this is part of the trouble.

I figure I can manage better with 50 per cent of our annual income divided by 12, because I have monthly expenses that are quite large, but my husband's major expenses can be figured annually. On the other hand, maybe I'm wrong in this.

The budget was supposed to help us decide whether or not we could afford a bigger house payment because I would like a bigger house. I believe we can handle this but I don't want my husband to think I'm being unfair just to get my own way.

All he knows now is that he's getting less than I am each month and says he never has any money!

Will you please list the items that belong under each of our separate budgets, and also send me a chart on budgets according to income. And do you have a chart for mortgage payments?

I. M. Glenview, Ill.
Dear Mrs. M.:
If your husband is confused by your budgeting methods, that makes two of us. What especially fascinates me is that you say things are working out all right!

Let's back up, Mrs. M., and start over. In the first place, you should be basing your expenses on your "take home pay," not on your annual gross income. The difference between the two is what you have to pay out in taxes. If you don't allow for that right off the bat, you're spending money you don't actually have at the end of the year.

I agree that you should divide your estimated income into 12 parts—since it remains more or less the same, you say. But you're simply going to confuse yourself if you divide only your expenses into monthly amounts.

Your husband's share of the expenses should also be divided the same way. The fact that he pays them annually is beside the point. As of now, you seem to be keeping only half a budget!

TAX MONEY

Maybe what you're allowing as a mortgage payment for a bigger house is actually tax money, your husband's hair cuts, and a week of your vacation!

I'm sending you a suggested chart for itemizing expenses. This time use your net, or take home pay, divided into 12 parts.

As for monthly mortgage payments, they would depend on how much the down payment amounted to, and for how long a period of years the mortgage was set up. If you'll give me more specific information about the house you have in mind, I'll go into details.

In the meantime, more power to you. Just use that enthusiasm in the right direction.

Dear Miss Feeley:
Do you think a woman is required to continue to pool all her earnings after having done so during 10 years of marriage? Is it not a husband's duty to support his wife now that he is in a position to do so—or does he have the right to scold her in the matter of spending her own money?

I might add that the wife made it possible for his increased earnings by putting him through school. Your opinion would be appreciated.

B. N., Norwalk, Conn.

Dear B. N.:
I doubt if my opinion will be appreciated very much—in your present mood. Because I'm convinced that any marriage suffers a mortal wound when the working wife, thinks and talks in terms of "my money."

In this era of the two-income family, both husband and wife are presumably rowing the boat. Their combined earnings make for a standard of living they both share and benefit by.

The conception of the man making the living and the woman making the home is basic, of course, and works as well today in many cases as it did in the stone age. But you can't cling to this philosophy and at the same time break the rules and take over the man's role, too. Settle for one or the other.

I'm the first to agree that it's frustrating not to have the satisfaction of spending some portion of your income exactly as you wish. Many a man with a family to support suffers from the same frustration. Your husband may never be one of them.

So why can't the bop of you pool your earnings and allow a certain amount for each to spend—without having to account for how these personal funds are used?

Sounds to me as if you're a

New Baby Shower

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — Having just read your column about the baby shower by mail where everyone sent gifts to the expectant mother, let me tell you of a shower I attended.

The recipient had recently moved away and her friends wanted to "shower" her with gifts for the expected baby. The hostess invited everyone to her house.

While we were enjoying refreshments, one of the girls took the package to the post office and we all shared the postage cost when she returned. We also took snapshots of the party to send to the absent guest of honor — MRS. J. T. H.

DEAR POLLY — A common dustpan makes the best sort of shovel to use when cleaning snow off steps or outside stairways.

Begin with the bottom step and scoop as you climb. Try this the next time it snows for it is quick, easy and efficient. — A. M.

Couple Plans First Home in Hawaii

Wedding vows were exchanged by Toni Sue McEynolds and Airmann 2C John William Chatterton, Saturday, in the Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Rochester.

A reception in Eagles Hall, Rochester, followed the evening ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George McEynolds of Mulvale Street and the Howard Chattertons of Davisburg.

LACE GOWN
The bride's floor-length gown of white Alencon lace was worn over silk tulle. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a Swedish tiara of seed pearls.

Yellow roses centered her colonial bouquet of white carnations.

With Jacqueline Bishop, maid of honor, were Judy Bishop, also Mrs. Larry Morgan of Lake Orion who served as bridesmaids.

Howard Chatterton Jr. was best man for his brother, Michael McReynolds ushered with Fred Chatterton.

The new Mrs. Chatterton will join her husband at a later date for his tour of duty in Hawaii.

Wednesday Tea Set at Church

The women of Christ Lutheran Church will meet at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday for a Lenten tea, at the church on Williams Lake and Airport Roads.

Pastor James Wallace from King of Kings Lutheran Church in Lake Orion will be the speaker. Special music will be presented by the Waterford Kettering High School a cappella choir.

Women from surrounding churches have been invited and a nursery will be provided for small children.

Q: Ever wonder why a left-hand pitcher in baseball is called a "southpaw"?

A: Ball parks are usually laid out so the batter faces east to avoid a setting sun shining in his eyes... So, if center field is east, the south end of ball parks oriented in the first base line is west.

A left-handed pitcher's throwing hand (as the first base end of the diamond is called) is west... That's a "southpaw".

Racing Executive Expires After Operation

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—Eugene J. Hayes, 54, a leader in U.S. harness racing, died Sunday after an emergency operation.

Piggy banks are for antique collectors

The old piggy bank is great as a conversation piece, or an ornament on the bric-a-brac shelf. But it's not much for saving money... even for the youngsters. And many other savings plans offer even less "interest" than that!

Today, your savings can work for you (kids' savings should work too)... and they work best, earn you most, in credit union savings accounts!

Oakland County's 100,000 credit union members harvested a total of over $2 million this year. Most received 4% or more in dividends on their savings... far better than average payments by any other form of savings institution!

There's life insurance protection, too, equal to members' savings... provided at no extra cost!

With higher returns, and bonus dividends like this, credit union members have a savings plan that no other savings institution can match!

Credit unions are big on savings because they were formed over 115 years ago to provide people a better place to save and borrow. They work for people, not for profit. And credit unions are people—people like you. The members own it. And they run it... solely to serve members' needs.

See if you can qualify for membership, and the benefits it offers! Write NOW, we'll also send—

FREE, without obligation, a year's subscription to EVERYBODY'S MONEY—authoritative national publication on everyday money matters. It gives useful ideas—is yours for the asking. Address:

Lake Searched for Plane Parts

Metals Pieces, Bodies Discovered by Divers

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Divers groped blindly on Lake Pontchartrain's muddy bottom today as divers probe deeper for more wreckage... mechanical and human... from a big airliner.

The Eastern Air Lines DC-8 jet plunged into the shallow lake 21 days ago, carrying 58 persons to their death. Cause of the crash is unknown.

The first major wreckage was located, after intensive effort, last Friday. Since then, divers and a derrick have lifted several truckloads of parts from the 108-ton plane.

Parts of bodies turned up with grim frequency as the divers worked in the five feet of mud underlying 13 feet of water.

A new electronic probe was planned in an effort to determine whether part of the fuselage, plunging like a giant spear, dug deep into the hard bottom underlying the water and mud.

FIND DISAPPOINTMENTS

Jack Yabe, a Civil Aeronautics Board spokesman, said one of the most disappointing finds was part of the tape from the flight recorder—indicating that the instrument was broken open by the impact.

The recorder makes an automatic log of a plane's behavior in flight, including its heading, altitude and air speed.

Yabe said the recovered tape was being checked but seemed to be an unused section.

The bits of wreckage were closely examined in an effort to find out what caused the plane to crash in the 625-square-mile lake shortly after takeoff from New Orleans International Airport.

Foundation Veep Dies

MOUNT KISCO, N.Y. (AP)—James M. Nicely, 64, vice president and treasurer of the Ford Foundation, died Saturday. In addition to taking part as a general officer in the foundation's programs, Nicely had over-all responsibility for its financial affairs.

Romanians Visit Nikita After China

MOSCOW (U) — The Romanian government delegation that has been visiting Red China has met with Premier Khrushchev on its way back to Bucharest, Tass announced today.

The Soviet news agency said the Romanians talked with Khrushchev about "questions relating to the struggle for strengthening the unity and cohesion of Socialist countries."

The meeting with Khrushchev was not announced until after the delegation had left his vacation villa on the Black Sea today and headed for Bucharest. There had been no previous indication that the group would stop in the Soviet Union.

The delegation, which was headed by Premier Ion Maurer, arrived in Peking March 2 on what was officially described as a good-will visit.

Both the Chinese and the Romanians said unity of the "Socialist camp" would be discussed, but there was no indication whether the Romanians had been sent on their mission by Moscow, or whether they were swinging around to side with Peking in its feud with Moscow.

However, the fact that the delegation did stop to talk with Khrushchev on its way back seemed to indicate that the trip to China had the Kremlin's blessing.

Tass did not indicate what the Romanians told Khrushchev about their conversations with the Chinese.

Hart Urges Funds for Pollution Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., urged a House appropriations subcommittee today to vote $2.5 million for construction next year of a water pollution control laboratory at Ann Arbor, Mich.

No funds were included in President Johnson's budget for construction of the laboratory, but Hart said many pressing pollution problems face the Great Lakes region.

In a statement for the subcommittee, Hart said substantial delay in completing the laboratory would result if Congress fails to approve the $2.5 million for the fiscal year which begins July 1.

Wayne Health Board Seeking Commissioner

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County Board of Health may name a temporary successor to Dr. Joseph G. Molner, pending civil service procedures to fill the post. Dr. Molner, 57, who resigned as city health commissioner in 1962 after 13 years service, has left the county post for health reasons. He said he suffers from bursts in both shoulders.

Federal planners joined with governments of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania to help the estimated 110,000 persons affected by the worst Ohio River valley flood in 19 years.

The crest on the Ohio surged downriver and passed Owensboro where some residents have returned home. Others must wait for the flood to dip further before they can return to mud-coated property which they fled last week. The U.S. Weather Bureau says it will be a week before the river drops to flood stage at most points between Louisville and Cairo, Ill.

The Ohio leaked under a floodwall in Cannelton, Ind., Sunday, but officials said there appeared no danger to waterfront residents. Sandbags blocked the water's path and civil defense workers were standing by in case evacuation was needed.

HELICOPTER CRASH
An Indiana State police helicopter crashed and burned Sunday at Cannelton. Both occupants escaped injury.

The river crested 8.5 feet above flood stage at Owensburg. No significant new flooding was reported.

President Johnson, who made an aerial tour of the flood area Friday with the governors of five states, has assured the

Quake in Portugal; 50 Mauled in Panic

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—An earthquake shook Portugal last night, toppling houses, knocking out power lines and causing panic in a movie house.

The quake was most intense in the southern town of Fuzeta where two houses collapsed.

Fifty persons were mauled fighting their way out of a movie house in Sao Bras de Alportel. The quake also was felt in Madrid, the Spanish capital.

closed as many refugees returned to their homes.

The Salvation Army, Red Cross and other agencies started distributing cleanup and comfort kits and civil groups began handing out clothes to the flood victims.

President Johnson has been asked to declare 47 counties in Kentucky and 12 in West Virginia as disaster areas.

The towns of Aurora, Utica, Mauckport and Grandview in Indiana were reported still under water.

Hoffa Will Appeal in Cincinnati

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—James Hoffa now takes his case to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals, having gone through the technicality of asking for, and being denied, a new trial on a jury-fixing conviction.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank Wilson denied Hoffa's new trial motion Saturday. But the President of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters had already announced he would appeal all the way, if necessary, to the Supreme Court.

Hoffa has been sentenced to 8 years in prison and fined $10,000 for trying to fix the jury that heard his 1962 Nashville conspiracy trial.

Three codefendants were convicted with Hoffa last week and sentenced to three years each. Two other codefendants were acquitted.

Hoffa and the others have until March 24 to file notices of appeal with the appellate court in Cincinnati. All are free on bond pending appeal.

Oppenheimer at Rites

HUY, Belgium (AP)—J. Robert Oppenheimer, controversial U.S. physicist who helped develop the first atomic bomb, will take part in Sept. 27 inauguration ceremonies of "Peace University," the university founded, Father Dominique Pire announced.

At Cincinnati, Ohio, the Weather Bureau said the river would go below the 52-foot stage on Saturday.

Clinic Is Needed

Key Question: Why Can't Johnny Learn?

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON
 "Why Johnny can't learn" is the most pressing problem in education. Solve it, and you will have happier students, fewer dropouts, less delinquency and more scientists.
 If our automobile runs sluggishly we take it to a motor clinic. No where in present schools is provision made for a Learning Clinic where parents can take Johnny when his learning becomes sluggish.

 Just as trained mechanics must search for the flaws in the operation of an engine, school people must analyze pupils' learning procedures. The trouble must be found before it can be corrected.
 That's not simple! Similar symptoms can develop from quite different causes.
 Four students from different schools came to me with similar problems. Each had made satisfactory grades on tests early in the semester but ended with low final marks.

 The teacher's explanation was the same in each case: "Your final examination grade was so low as to bring down your average." Not one of these schools offered to help the student find out why his satisfactory grades were followed by an unsatisfactory final examination.
 These cases were not alike even though the records in the teacher's classrooms were the same for all four.

Jane, a high-school sophomore was relying upon trick mental pictures in every subject. She was not really learning.

 Jim, a college freshman, was trapped by his giftedness. He understood everything he heard in class with no effort. In reality it "went in one ear and out the other."

mend the ace in this spot. You want to be sure to get two rounds of trumps played and there is very little chance that an ace lead will drop a singleton king from your partner.
 It really does not matter which trump you lead the second time. Declarer will have to go after the diamond stop.

By OSWALD JACOBY
 No bridge encyclopedia would be complete without a collection of clichés and foremost among them would be, "when in doubt, lead trumps."
 The cliché might easily be revised to read, "When not in doubt, lead trumps."
 Now take a look at the West hand only. Your opponents have arrived at a four-spade contract by the simple bidding of one spade, two spades, four spades.

If you don't start with a trump, declarer will still have to go after diamonds. You will get in and may shift to a trump, but it will be too late. Declarer will be able to ruff one diamond in dummy and make his contract.
 You will get the lead again and continue trumps. Eventually declarer will have to lose three diamond tricks and the ace of spades.
 If you don't start with a trump, declarer will still have to go after diamonds. You will get in and may shift to a trump, but it will be too late. Declarer will be able to ruff one diamond in dummy and make his contract.

(You can obtain Prof. Nason's helpful booklet for parents, "Help Your Child Succeed in School," by sending $1 to Help Your Child, Box 1277, General Post Office, New York City.)

A trump lead is clearly called for. In the first place, any other suit lead is unattractive. In the second place, the chances are that declarer is going to want to do some ruffing. You will want to get trumps out as quickly as possible.
 Your only real problem is which trump to lead. I recom-

Astrological Forecast

For Tuesday
 By SYDNEY OMARR
 "The wise man controls his destiny. Astrology points the way."
 "YES," you say. "Much to be gained if you don't reach too far. Expect to purchase of luxury in the coming week. Gain from written word. Read your paper for valuable suggestions."
 TAURUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Cycle continues high, appeal to those with power to aid personal cause. Women to figure prominently in day's activity. Feature beauty, imagination, CREATIVE ENDEAVORS.
 GEMINI (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Tendency to be pulled in two directions. Welcome challenges in aggressive, efficient manner. There are some mysterious developments due. But these evolve in "fast" form.
 CANCER (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Deception possible if you believe everything. Maintain skeptical attitude. Listen politely but act only on FACTUAL INFORMATION. Evening time for social activities.
 LEO (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Time to complete projects. He up local ends. Handle routine matters; catch up on correspondence, orders, get business affairs in order. Make contacts for future needs.
 VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Utilize creative forces. Fine for writing, publishing, advertising. Spread influence. Test ideas. Consult experts. Gain from written word. Read your paper for valuable suggestions.
 LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 23): Money question due to require special attention. Stress patience, cooperation. Share knowledge. Explain rather than demand money with kindness. Show off LIBRA charm!
 SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Key is expansion. You are now in position to win friends, make contacts. Your great asset is sense of humor. Avoid forcing tactics. Do more listening than talking.
 SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Question arises concerning PRINCIPLES. You may be urged to take actions considered "safe" but you want to be happy. If you break promise. Remain true to own convictions.
 CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Expecting money but destination involving CHANGE. No time to sit tight for sale of important to the right selling and able to admit mistakes. And to MAKE CHANGES.
 AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19): Seek to be a leader. Avoid extremes. Don't be involved in disputes. Areas exist which have yet to be revealed. You are at stage which calls for GREATER DECISIONS.
 PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20): Where travel is concerned... proceed with CAUTION. Where agreements, written contracts go... proceed with deliberation. Time to get comfortable. But no desire to become involved in adventures.
 IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY... you surprise many people because you are strong and capable but speak with soft voice and exude charm and a personal kind of "sensitivity."
 GENERAL TENDENCIES: Day when many appear to take a holiday. I believe everything you hear!

BEN CASEY

THAT'S MY FATHER'S CAR!

THE BERRYS

DO YOU KISS YOUR WIFE GOOD-BY EVERY MORNING?

WITHOUT FAIL!

THERE ARE MORNINGS WHEN MY WIFE WOULD JUST AS SOON LOOK AT ME!

AS LOOK AT ME!

MINE TOO BUT I STILL GET THE KISS!

THEN HOW CAN YOU TELL WHEN SHE'S MAD?

HER EYES ARE CLOSED BEFORE I GET TO THE DOOR!

DRIFT MARLO

WHILE DRIFT IS SOLVING THE CASE OF THE QUINCY SPACEMAN, HE IS UNWISDOMLY LOCAL. GEM ROBERTY IS DOOMED TO BE A SPACE... AND WILL BOOBY A SATELLITE WIDE INCREASING FUNCTION IS TO MEASURE COSMIC RAYS!

YOU SAY YOU EXPECT PROOF OF THE MYSTERIOUS SPACEMAN'S DEATH WITHIN THE HOUR, DRIFT?

RIGHT, GENERAL... FROM THE PATENT OFFICE IN WASHINGTON!

ALLEY OOP

YOU CALL ZELBA A PHONY?

THAT'S WHAT I SAID, YOU PHONY!

FEMMENT? WHAT'S THAT?

IT'S A PRODUCT OF GEMBODY'S IMAGINATION! IT'S A NOTHING LIKE YOU, IT JUST HINT!

WELL, ARE YOU A SCENE?

YES... I'M A SCENE!

WELL, MY JEALOUS FRANCES... NOW, STRAIGHT AHEAD. IT'S FOUR MILES TO OLA AND'S PLACE!

OH, GOSH... HE JUMPED IN HIS CAR, AND 16 FOLLOWS!

WOT'S ALL TH' RACKET? ON MY STAGE! STOP, BERNIE! YOU GOT NO PLACE TO GO!

THAT BEATS THIS!

CAPTAIN EASY

CORR, WAIT! I'M OKAY, MELVIN!

WELL, ARE YOU A SCENE?

YES... I'M A SCENE!

OH, GOSH... HE JUMPED IN HIS CAR, AND 16 FOLLOWS!

THAT BEATS THIS!

MORTY MEKLE

MY MOTHER TOLD ME THAT BILLY SAID HIS FIRST WORD TODAY.

WHAT DID HE SAY?

I DON'T KNOW... SHE WOULDN'T TELL ME...

ALL I KNOW IS SHE WASHED HIS MOUTH OUT WITH SOAP.

NANCY

HEY---WHAT'S THE IDEA?

SOMEbody IN THE BALCONY KEEPS DROPPING PEANUT SHELLS ON ME!

GRANDMA

YOU MEAN BILLY SWAPPED YOU THESE MOTH BALLS FOR MARBLES?

HE DID? GOODNESS, MY EYES MUST NOT BE WHAT THEY USED TO BE!

YOUR NOSE MUST NOT BE WHAT IT USED TO BE, EITHER!

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — An additional 23 Canadian soldiers were due in Cyprus today for the U.N. peace force. The island itself was unusually quiet. Although tension remained high, a lull in the fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots continued into the sixth day. Arrival of the Canadians was considered to have had a calming effect.

Five more Canadian Royal Air Force transport planes were due in Nicosia today. Wearing blue U.N. berets and shoulder patches, battle-dreaded members of the Canadian 22nd Regiment boarded the planes Sunday at Quebec.

Additional soldiers were to depart by air today from Quebec and Halifax. The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure was being loaded at Halifax for departure Wednesday with 100 soldiers and 60 vehicles.

ADVANCE FORCE — Canadian troops for the U.N. peacekeeping force on strife-torn Cyprus arrived in Nicosia, capital of the island, during the weekend. Finland, Sweden and Ireland are also planning to send troops for the force.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — The French girls are so mysterious . . . "I'm happy to see you," I told Capucine, the beautifully legged French star. "I want to ask what goes on with you and William Holden?"

"We were on a cruise on Sam Spiegel's yacht . . . we've been 'dating.' Sitting in her hotel suite, in a charcoal gray wool suit and a white wool turban which she wears in her next film, 'The Pink Panther,' she smiled at the use of that American verb, 'dating.'"

"I mean, are you cats getting married?" I said.

"I don't know whether I want to get married. I've been a bachelor a long time. I love it. Even if he asked me tomorrow I'm not sure I'd say yes." She was twisting a string of beads.

"He hasn't asked you? Come on, Cap!" I was thinking that the man had some nerve! Taking up a girl's time!

"We never discussed it. You know, I'm not a home-wrecker!" She pointed the beads at me. "I didn't break anything that wasn't broken before. Bill's just separated — he's not divorced."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .
Broadway will be astonished when the name of a big "personality" comes out in the "ice" probe . . . "Grace de Monaco" cabled a regretful thanks to Milton Goldman who asked her to star on Broadway in "Roar Like a Dove." Betsy Palmer'll do it.

Liz Taylor cuts Richard's hair. Recently told me, "You need a haircut, Eve. I'll get my scissors." . . . Eva Gaber and Dick Brown are offering a closed circuit Beatles broadcasts at the Jamaica Merrick Theater and Long Island City Astoria.

Barbra "Fanny Girl" Streisand lost 5 lbs. last week, helping squash rumors she's expecting . . . Harry Belafonte and Sidney Poitier staged at Danny's, then heard singer John Proctor at the Blue Angel . . . Actress Susan Kohner has an unglamorous ailment here: German measles . . . Tony Bennett taped a Danny Kaye TVer one day last week, another the next day with Red Skelton.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "What's all the fuss," says Larry Mathews, "about Lincoln being born in a log cabin without heat or running water — and which would probably rent for $100 a month today?"

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Many speakers need no introductions: they need are conclusions."
EARL'S PEARLS: Robert Morse reports on the young man who visited the flower show and admired the long-stemmed beauties. Tomorrow he's going back to look at the flowers.

Mort Sahl notes at the Copa that the New Hampshire returns are encouragement for Lodge to stay out of the country: "The further away he is, the more votes he'll get." . . . That's Carl, brother.

SENTRY — A Pontiac National Guardsman walks guard duty at the armory, 57 Water, following a surprise alert Saturday, which saw some 90 of 155 enlisted men and officers respond. The practice alert, begun at 1 p.m., is used to test the efficiency of mobilizing the unit. See story and additional pictures on page 12.

1 Week Left for Registering

Want to vote for your favorites in the City Commission race April 20?

You have one week left to register if you haven't voted in Pontiac within the last two years.

City Clerk Olga Barkeley said today that the deadline for registering to vote in the April 20 general election is next Monday, March 23.

Her office, on the main floor at City Hall, will stay open until 8 p.m. that night to issue voter registrations.

She reminded residents that under the new State Constitution, persons who haven't voted in the last two years must re-register. It used to be four years.

No Indications Lodge Plans to Quit—LBJ

President Labels Rift With Kennedy as 'Newspaper Talk'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says he has no indication that Henry Cabot Lodge plans to leave his post as ambassador to South Viet Nam.

"If he did, I am sure he would let me know," Johnson told a nationwide radio and television audience last night.

He said that the ambassador, whose political stock boomed with victory in New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary, has tended to his business and behaved properly.

On his own side of the political fence, Johnson dismissed as "newspaper talk" reports of a rift with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and said he has taken Kennedy's word that he has done nothing to encourage efforts to boom the attorney general for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

Johnson said he hopes the Democrats will not campaign actively until after this summer's convention, although he said he intends to "carry out some commitments that President Kennedy made for fundraising dinners from time to time."

DOMINATED TALK

Politics and foreign policy dominated the hour-long "Conversation with the President" broadcast by the ABC, CBS and NBC radio and television networks.

Johnson Talk Taking Aim at Latin Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson tries to breathe new life into the Alliance for Progress today with an appeal for a united attack on the economic and social ills that bedevil Latin America.

In what has been heralded as a major policy address to the Organization of American States, the President was expected to assure the Latin American nations that he is firmly committed to the $20-billion, 10-year hemispheric reform program charted three years ago by his predecessor.

President John F. Kennedy first set forth his proposals for the alliance on March 12, 1961.

Johnson timed his pledge of support on the alliance's third anniversary to coincide with the installation of Colombia's Carlos Sanz de Santamaría as chief chairman of the newly formed Inter-American Commission.

"The committee is to share with the United States the responsibility for operating the alliance."

OAS SESSION

Johnson's address at a special OAS session is designed to give the committee an enthusiastic takeoff.

All U.S. ambassadors and foreign aid mission chiefs based in Latin America have been summoned to Washington by the President to attend the session.

They are also to participate in a full-scale review of U.S. diplomatic, military and economic relations with Latin America and a discussion of all aspects of hemispheric affairs.

FIVE KILLED — A police officer looks at the wreckage of the auto in which David R. Olson, 26, his wife Geraldine and three children perished in a fiery three-car collision in suburban Detroit's Taylor Township on the weekend. John Courthart Jr. of Madison Heights, driver of the other car and critically injured, was held as a police prisoner.

Double Last Weekend's Toll

State Highway Deaths Mount

By The Associated Press

Nineteen persons—more than twice as many as a week ago—were killed over the weekend in Michigan highway crashes, with one accident wiping out a family of five and another taking four lives.

All the deaths resulted from collisions in southern Lower Michigan where state police are working six days a week in a campaign to halt the rising fatality rate. Nine persons died last weekend in Michigan traffic.

Joseph A. Childs said yesterday the number of multiple-fatality accidents this year was extraordinary.

The crash that killed the five members of the David R. Olson family of Dearborn Heights Saturday night was one of three taking more than one life.

An adult and three children died in a crash near Benton Harbor Saturday and an elderly Indiana couple perished yesterday in the other mishaps.

VICTIMS LISTED

Included among the victims are:

Olson, 26, and the other four members of his family perished in a fiery three-car collision at Van Borne and Beech Daily Roads outside Detroit.

His wife, Geraldine, and their 7-year-old daughter, Dawn, were thrown from their car and killed.

A daughter, Beth, 6, and a son, Todd, 3, died in flames which enveloped the Olson car after the crash.

John Gearhart Jr., 32, of Madison Heights was injured critically and was held as a police prisoner at Wayne County General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Gearhart had been in a hit-and-run incident at Merriman and Van Borne Roads minutes before his car slammed into the rear of the Olson station wagon which had been stopped at an intersection.

The third driver in the three-car pileup, James Walker, 49, of Inkster suffered minor injuries. Walker's car was hit by Olson's.

NFL Lifts Suspension From Karras, Hornung

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League reinstated today Paul Hornung and Alex Karras, professional football stars suspended indefinitely last April 17 for gambling activities. The reinstatement goes into effect immediately.

Hornung, a member of the Green Bay Packers and three-time scoring champion of the National Football League, and Karras, an outstanding defensive tackle with the Detroit Lions, were set down for betting on football games.

At the same time, five other Detroit players were fined the maximum of $2,000 each for betting on one game, and the Detroit club was fined a total of $4,000 for laxness reporting information to the commissioner and in supervising its bench at games.

Betting on games is flatly forbidden by a provision in NFL player contracts. Rozelle said there was no evidence that any of the players had bet against his own team or that they ever had attempted to influence the results of games.

Both Hornung and Karras admitted they had made substantial bets of $50 or more over a period of several seasons.

The other five—Joe Schmidt, Wayne Walker, John Gordy, Gary Lowe and Sam Williams—bet $50 each and Karras $100 on the Green Bay Packers to beat the New York Giants in the 1962 NFL championship game.

Liz, Burton Wed in Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—"Elizabeth and I are very happy," said Richard Burton after he and Elizabeth Taylor, were married yesterday in a quiet ceremony that contrasted sharply with their widely publicized romance.

RICHARD BURTON

The simple, single-ring ceremony was performed in the royal suite of Montreal's Ritz-Carlton Hotel by the Rev. Leonard Mason, pastor of the Unitarian Church of the Messiah. Eleven guests attended.

It was the fifth marriage for Miss Taylor, 32, one of the film world's highest paid and most beautiful stars.

Burton, 38, son of a Welsh miner, had been married once.

The couple was to return today to Toronto, where Burton is playing the lead in a production of "Hamlet" due in New York next month.

CHIFFON GOWN

The bride wore a yellow chiffon gown designed by Hollywood's Irene Sharaf.

She carried a bouquet of yellow freesia.

Robert Wilson, a friend of Burton from New York City, was best man.

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

There was no announcement of who attended Miss Taylor.

A champagne party followed the ceremony.

The romance began two years ago when Burton played Antony to Miss Taylor's Cleopatra in the Rome production of that movie.

The wedding was shrouded in secrecy.

WHISKED OFF

Eluding reporters in Toronto, the couple flew to Montreal in a chartered airliner and were whisked off to the hotel.

This was in sharp contrast to the fanfare surrounding Miss Taylor's marriages to hotel heir Conrad Hilton Jr., actor Michael Wilding, Mike Todd, the late

Yanks Given Prison Terms

Long Sentences Set in Killing of Spaniard

BARCELONA, Spain (AP)—A Spanish civil court sentenced four Americans, a Spanish woman and a British girl to long prison terms today for the robbery-murder of a Barcelona furniture dealer.

The sentences were: James Bell Wagner, 23, of Union Beach, N.J., 30 years; Maria del Pilar Alfaro Velasco, 32, Spanish mother of two daughters, 23 years;

John Joseph Hand, 40, Southfield, Mich., and James Stephen Johnston, 30, Blue Jacket, Okla., 21 years each;

Nancy Karen Hand, 25, Detroit, Mich., 12 years and one day.

John Douglas Bryder, 22, a British librarian, 6 years.

ASKED DEATH

The prosecution had asked the death penalty for Wagner and the Spanish woman, 20 years for Hand and Johnston, 12 years for Mrs. Hand and six years for Miss Bryder.

Court attaches said the prison terms would be cut at least in half by an amnesty which Generalissimo Franco ordered upon the election of Pope Paul VI and a second amnesty expected April 1 in connection with the 25th anniversary of the end of the Spanish Civil War.

The six prisoners were arrested after the slaying on Nov. 17, 1962, of Francisco Robirosa, 50, in his shop. The crime netted only $33 in loot.

Other phases of the youth program are work-training and work-study projects, federal grants to provide full or part time jobs to help youngsters stay in high school, take vocational training or work their way through college.

Coordinating the War on Poverty will be a new executive agency, the Office of Economic Opportunities, which Johnson said would be headed by Sargent Shriver, "my personal chief of staff for the war against poverty."

In addition to the Job Corps, Shriver also will supervise creation of another new group, the Volunteers for America, a Peace Corps-style body of 3,000 to 5,000 volunteers who will work in various phases of the war on poverty.

Plan Stresses Job Corps for Needy Youths

Congress Receives Marching Orders for the War on Poverty

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson gave Congress marching orders today for the war on poverty, concentrating his $962.5-million attack on helping needy young Americans.

The program to help youngsters in the 16 to 20 age bracket centers on a Job Corps reminiscent of the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s.

"The years of high school and college are the most critical stage of a young person's life," Johnson said, in a special message on poverty.

"If they are not helped then, they will be condemned to a life of poverty which they, in turn, will pass on to their children."

The Job Corps would enlist up to 100,000 young men, draft rejects and school dropouts, from "those whose background, health and education makes them least fit for useful work."

PLACED IN CAMPS

"These young men would be removed from their slum backgrounds and placed in camps to work on conservation projects and in special job training centers for a blend of training, basic education and work experience."

"These are not simply camps for the underprivileged," Johnson said.

"They are now educational institutions, comparable in innovation to the land grant colleges."

"Those who enter them will emerge better qualified to play a productive role in American society."

OTHER PHASES

Other phases of the youth program are work-training and work-study projects, federal grants to provide full or part time jobs to help youngsters stay in high school, take vocational training or work their way through college.

Last Winter Days to Be Below Norm

In spite of sunshine this morning, winter will take advantage of its last few official days.

Temperatures will average about 3 degrees below the normal high of 43 and low of 28 with colder weather on Tuesday, Friday and Saturday.

Predicted snow flurries will yield only one fifth of an inch of precipitation.

This morning's low before 8 was 26; by 1 p.m. it had reached 50.

U.S. Downgrades Report of Accord With Panama

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. spokesman has squelched optimism arising from an Organization of American States announcement that the United States and Panama had agreed to resume diplomatic relations.

The situation was further confused when an aide to Panama's President Roberto Chiari confirmed in Panama City the agreement announced by the OAS.

Panama broke diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10 after rioting in the Panama Canal Zone left 21 persons dead and some 200 wounded. It said it would not resume relations until the United States agreed to renegotiate the 1903 treaty under which it has perpetual rights to operate the canal.

The United States said resumption of diplomatic relations must precede any talks about the canal's future.

Start Slated on Buildings for Juveniles

Construction of Oakland County's Children's Village for Juvenile Court wards is scheduled to begin March 25 with a ground-breaking ceremony.

The initial three units going up this year within a $775,000 building budget will provide for 92 youngsters.

These buildings are planned to ease overcrowded conditions at the existing Children's Center, and provide separate facilities for problem youngsters.

The first units, which will be used for the rehabilitation of these youngsters, will include two youth cottages (halfway houses) and a special services unit described by county juvenile authorities as a semidetached facility.

Future plans call for the addition of 12 more units by 1969 when the county is expected to have some 320 youngsters placed in its care as a result of population growth. The county currently cares for about 190 children.

PREPARE CHILDREN

Besides housing, the village will include a school and special treatment facilities to prepare children for return to the general community.

The 50-acre site is situated behind the Pontiac State Police Post at the County Service Center on Telegraph.

Sunday night's announcement was made by Ambassador Juan Plate of Paraguay, chairman of the special OAS committee investigating the crisis and seeking a reconciliation.

RESUME RELATIONS

"The governments of the Republic of Panama and of the United States of America have agreed to reestablish diplomatic relations as soon as possible to seek the prompt elimination of the causes of conflict relative to the Panama Canal," Plate said.

The agreement calls for both countries to "designate special ambassadors with sufficient powers to carry out discussions and negotiations with the objective of reaching a fair and just agreement."

It added that diplomatic relations would be resumed "as soon as possible."

A statement from the U.S. source said: "The United States government, and the government of Panama, as of 11 p.m. Sunday, have had no meeting of the minds on either the resumption of relations or the procedures to be followed in an attempt to solve the problems surrounding the Panama disturbances."

"The United States government will welcome a resumption of diplomatic relations with Panama. The United States appreciates the contribution of the OAS delegation and hopes that successful conversations will result from its endeavors."

NY Boycott Fails to Gain Support

NEW YORK (AP)—The second civil rights boycott of New York's million-pupil school system today failed to draw the deep support Negroes and Puerto Ricans gave its forerunner six weeks ago.

Before attendance figures were counted, the size of picket lines and the crowds of children entering schools showed the boycott would not equal the Feb. 3 protest during which 464,000 pupils were absent.

At P.S. 140 in the Bronx, for example, only 10 per cent of the 1,300 pupils attended class during the first boycott, but 75 per cent were on hand today, the principal said. The student body there is 85 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican.

Similar reports came from other schools. "There seems to be no parental support and no support by the teachers," said the leader of 20 student pickets outside the High School of Commerce in Manhattan.

GRIM STRUGGLE—A small child struggles to help his mother wrench free from the grip of a South Vietnamese soldier as he tries to run after her husband who was taken prisoner by raiding Viet Nam forces. Her husband was among 300 who were captured and charged with being members of the Viet Cong, during the weekend. According to American advisers, the raid near Cal Cai, was the most successful in months by the government forces. (See story, next page.)

City to See 1st Write-In in 20 Years

For the first time in 20 years, Pontiac residents will see a write-in candidate campaigning for election in a City Commission election next month.

Emmett S. Wellbaum, 58, of 269 Seward officially announced he would seek the District 7 commission seat as a write-in candidate April 20. Wellbaum notified the city clerk and county election clerk by mail this morning.

A purchasing parts inspector at Pontiac Motor Division, Wellbaum lost the District 7 nomination by a one-vote margin in the March 2 primary.

It was 20 years ago, in the 1944 general election, that Nels Knudsen ran as a write-in candidate against then-mayor Philip R. Sauer. Knudsen won that election.

Wellbaum said this morning that "the decision to run as a write-in candidate was not my own. It was what the people wanted."

Conservation Corps and the National Service Corps respectively.

PROGRAM OF GRANTS

Other phases of the war on poverty asked by Johnson included:

—A program of grants of up to 50 per cent for urban and rural community action programs, where local plans were drafted to utilize all available community resources, public and private, to wipe out pockets of poverty.

—Special grants and loans to help boost the incomes of subsistence farmers.

—Special low interest loans for investments that will provide jobs for low-income families or persons who have been out of jobs for many months, and also to small businesses not eligible for regular loans from the Small Business Administration.

—Expansion of a Welfare Department program to help train and find jobs for heads of families whose children now receive payments under the aid to dependent children program.

The legislation—the Economic Act—is "the foundation of our war against poverty," Johnson said. "But it does not stand alone."

"For the past three years this government has advanced a number of new proposals which strike at important areas of need and distress."

"I ask Congress to expand those which are already in action and to establish those which have already been proposed."

MANPOWER TRAINING

He listed programs in the field of manpower training, education, medical care for the aged, protection for migrant workers, unemployment compensation, housing and the program to help depressed areas of Appalachia.

So far, a White House source said, selection standards have not been set up for the Job Corps, nor have detailed plans been made for setting up the camps and job training center.

The source said many of the 40,000 recruited for the Job Corps in the first year would come from the backlog of more than one million already rejected by the draft, as physically, mentally or psychologically unfit.

Lowering the draft registration age to 17, or even 16, so that the preinduction physical and mental examination might be used to screen young men for the Job Corps was considered, the White House source said, but rejected for the time being because of the heavy backlog of draft rejectees.

NEW POLICY

Actually, part of the purpose of lowering the draft age has been accomplished by a new

Selective Service policy effective July 31, which requires all persons to take the examination upon registering at the age of 18.

State Road Toll at 384

LANSING (AP)—Traffic accidents have killed 384 persons so far this year, provisional state police figures show. The total by this date last year was 273.

De Gaulle Sets Out to Win Over Latins

POINTE-A-PITRE, Guadeloupe (UPI)—French President Charles de Gaulle, surrounded by the West Indies today en route to Mexico for the start of a drive to win Latin America to his independent policies.

De Gaulle and his wife spent the night in a villa on this French island after a flight from Paris.

They were continuing to Mexico City for a three-day state visit this morning, stopping briefly at Merida on the way.

Security precautions were unusually heavy because of two anonymous telephone threats in Paris against de Gaulle, who already has been the target of three unsuccessful assassination attempts.

Citizens of Guadeloupe were kept at a distance from de Gaulle's plane and villa, and caught only a fleeting glimpse of the famous visitor in his limousine.

Metro Project Fights Polio

County Medical Unit Offers Latest Vaccine

The Oakland County Medical Society will offer area residents polio protection on a sugar cube next month as part of a mass immunization project slated for the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

Doses of the oral vaccine will be given on April 19 and June 14, both Sundays, at some 600 stations to be set up in metropolitan area schools, shopping centers and other public buildings.

The project is being jointly sponsored by the medical societies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

They emphasized that all persons over the age of 1 should take the two doses, regardless of previous immunization through Salk shots or oral vaccine.

RELATIVELY NEW

The vaccine to be used in the program is Orimune. It is the relatively new trivalent type vaccine, providing protection against all three strains of poliovirus.

Only two doses of the new vaccine are needed and protection starts two or three weeks after the first dose.

Administering the dose is as easy as giving candy to a baby. The vaccine will be given in liquid form on sugar cubes. It is pleasant tasting and designed to appeal to children, according to doctors.

STATION QUOTAS

Officials hope to handle from 3,000 to 5,000 persons at each immunization station. Locations of the stations and exact times they'll be open will be announced later.

A donation of 50 cents or more will be asked of each person, but the medical societies stress that no one will be turned away because of lack of funds.

Bloomfield Association Offers New Art Courses

BIRMINGHAM—The Bloomfield Art Association is approaching spring term with an offering of 42 classes, with some innovations sprinkled among those which proved themselves last term.

One of the ideas to be tried this spring is a class in art self-expression which will involve seven 4-year-old children and their mothers. They will gather from 10:15 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Directing the groups will be Deanna Barty, Detroit Institute of Arts instructor, and Alicia Mackie, art teacher at City and Country School of Bloomfield Hills.

Another new offering in the schedule which begins next week is of particular interest to those who make their own greeting cards.

During the 12:30-3 p.m. course Thursdays, Miss Barty will introduce her students to printmaking, linocut, woodcut, paper-cut, silk screening and monotype techniques.

U OF M PROFESSORS

A team of three University of Michigan professors will present the attitudes of a painter, a potter and a printmaker in the BAA's spring lecture series.

Dr. Irwin Kaufman will lead off the series of demonstrations and discussions with "Trends in Modern Painting." His April 14 talk will concern the "Background of Today's Art."

The 8-9:30 p.m. lectures will continue with "A Taste of Clay" by Dr. John Stephenson April 21 and "Printmaking Today—Innovations and New Directions" by Dr. Frank Cassara April 28.

Painting classes for which registrations are now being accepted include those to be taught by James Hansen, 7-9:30 p.m. Thursday; Kathleen Birch, 9:30 a.m. - noon and 1:30-3 p.m. Thursday; Peter Gilleran, 7-9:30 p.m. Monday; Burton Dickerson, 9:30 a.m.-noon and 12:30-3 p.m. Tuesday; and Dorothy Skidall, 9:30 a.m.-noon Friday.

ALSO SCHEDULED

Also scheduled are beginning oil painting, James Hansen, 9:30 a.m.-noon Wednesday; drawing, composition, James Hansen, 12:30-3 p.m. Wednesday; drawing and design in painting, E.L. Prackowski, 7-9:30 p.m. Thursday; and techniques in painting, E. L. Prackowski, 9:30 a.m. - noon Wednesday.

Others are life drawing, John Jacobson, 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesday; portrait painting, Robert Konersman, 9:30 a.m.-noon Friday; pottery, 12:30-3 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesday; and sculpture, Svea Kline, 9:30 a.m.-noon, 1:30-3 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m. Monday.

Concluding the list of adult classes are sculpture - metal casting, Christos Papadopoulos, 12:30-3 p.m. and 7-9:30 p.m. Thursday; mosaic - glass and metal, Betty Conn, 9:30 a.m.-noon Friday and 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesday; watercolor, Mary J. Bigler, 9:30 a.m.-noon and 1:30-3 p.m. Wednesday; and weaving, Arlene Linn, 12:30-3 p.m. Tuesday and 7-9:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Another 13 courses have been scheduled for youngsters six through 18 years of age. All will be taught at the Birmingham Art Center, 1516 S. Cranbrook.

Mrs. Joy Adamson, who has enchanted thousands with her lioness Elsa, will speak at the members lecture program sponsored by Cranbrook Institute of Science Wednesday night.

Color films and slides will illustrate how Mrs. Adamson and her game warden husband George reeducated their pet for return to life in the bush. Elsa found a mate, raised three cubs and fled to her former masters.

The 8:15 p.m. program in the Cranbrook school auditorium is open to the public for a nominal fee.

Mrs. Adamson is the author of "Born Free," "Living Free" and "Forever Free."

The public can view the heavens through the six-inch refractor telescope at Cranbrook this evening. The first two showings are 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Others are 8 p.m. April 16 and 17; 8:30 p.m. May 15, 20 and 21; and 9 p.m. May 15 and 16.

Since the eyepiece will accommodate only one person at a time, only a small number can be booked for an evening. Appointments must be made in advance at the Cranbrook Institute of Science office in Bloomfield Hills.

executive's other major pronouncements:

• He has had no contact with his old friend, Bobby Baker, since Baker resigned last October as secretary to the Senate's Democrats. The President said Baker could not properly be called his protégé because "he was there before I came to the Senate for 10 years."

• A communist victory in South Viet Nam would involve "the whole of Southeast Asia." Thus, said Johnson, "we must stay there and help them, and that is what we are going to do." He said the United States would evolve "effective and efficient plans" to combat Communist guerrillas there but has no blueprint for carrying the war into North Viet Nam.

PEOPLE'S PRESIDENT

He intends to be "a people's president." He will continue to mix with crowds even though his bodyguards "would feel better if the President kept 100 yards distance from every human being."

• Congress should make certain the nation always has a vice president but he doesn't have any "deep-seated views on just how that should be done."

• "A substantial majority" of senators favor the House-passed civil rights bill and will pass it.

• During his first 120 days in office, Johnson said, "I am sure that we have made a good many mistakes, but I don't know of any recommendation that I have made that I would change."

• His most vivid memory of the days following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy is of Mrs. Kennedy. "I saw her greatness, her gallantry, her courage and it will always be a vivid memory."

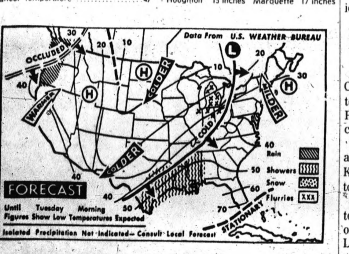

Johnson said the presidency "is a much tougher job from this point of view than it was from the outside." But he said "I am enjoying what I am doing" and "I never felt better in my life."

"I may not be a great president," he said, "but as long as I am here, I'm going to try to be a good president."

New Baby Shower

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — Having just read your column about the baby shower by mail where everyone sent gifts to the expectant mother, let me tell you of a shower I attended.

The recipient had recently moved away and her friends wanted to "shower" her with gifts for the expected baby. The hostess invited everyone to her house.

We all brought our gifts unwrapped, and our wrapping paper and ribbon. We showed each other the gifts, wrapped them and packed them all in one large box.

While we were enjoying refreshments, one of the girls took the package to the post office and we all shared the postage cost when she returned. We also took snapshots of the party to send to the absent guest of honor — MRS. J. T. H.

DEAR POLLY — A common dustpan makes the best sort of shovel to use when cleaning snow off steps or outside stairways.

Begin with the bottom step and scoop as you climb. Try this the next time it snows for it is quick, easy and efficient. — A. M.

Share your favorite home-making ideas... send them to Polly in care of The Pontiac Press. You'll receive a bright, new silver dollar if Polly uses your idea in Polly's Pointers.

Couple Plans First Home in Hawaii

Wedding vows were exchanged by Toni Sue McReynolds and Airman 2C. John William Chatterson, Saturday, in the Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Rochester.

A reception in Eagles Hall, Rochester, followed the evening ceremony. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George McReynolds of Midvale Street and the Howard Chattersons of Davisburg.

The bride's floor-length gown of white Alencon lace was worn over silk taffeta. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a Swedish tiara of seed pearls.

Yellow roses centered her colonial bouquet of white carnations.

With Jacqueline Bishop, maid of honor, were Judy Bishop, also Mrs. Larry Morgan of Lake Orion who served as bridesmaids.

Howard Chatterson Jr. was best man for his brother. Michael McReynolds ushered with Fred Chatterson.

The new Mrs. Chatterson will join her husband at a later date for his tour of duty in Hawaii.

Wednesday Tea Set at Church

The women of Christ Lutheran Church will meet at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday for a Lenten tea, at the church on Williams Lake and Airport Roads.

Pastor James Wallace from King of Kings Lutheran Church in Lake Orion will be the speaker. Special music will be presented by the Warford Kettering High School a cappella choir.

Women from surrounding churches have been invited and a nursery will be provided for small children.

Pontiac Central Plays Monroe in Quarter-Finals

Chiefs Trim Mt. Clemens in Regional

PCH Breaks Press in 86-72 Triumph Over Bathers

By DON VOGEL

There is one unexpected change on Pontiac Central's state tournament basketball program.

The Chiefs are going to play Monroe Wednesday in the Class A quarter-finals instead of Detroit Northwestern. The game will be at University of Detroit at 7:30 p.m.

PCH reached the round of eight by polishing off Mt. Clemens, 86-72, Saturday night before 2,000 fans at Clarkson. It was the Chiefs' best showing in the tournament.

Art Van Ryzin journeyed to Trenton to scout Detroit Northwestern for third time, but he filed a report with PCH coach Fred Zittel concerning Monroe.

The Trojans shocked previously unbeaten Northwestern in the regional title game, 75-69.

Monroe, a member of the Border Cities League, now owns a 12-8 record. PCH is 16-3. Mt. Clemens, another team with an unimpressive regular season record, started out against PCH like it was going to match Monroe's upset feat.

QUICK PRESS

The Bathers scored three quick baskets off a full court pressing defense as the Chiefs seemed paralyzed by the maneuver. To compound the problem, the Chiefs acted like defense—something they've been noted for—had been left in Pontiac.

Unfortunately for the Bathers, they couldn't contain the Chiefs on defense. Once Central figured out how to beat the press, Mt. Clemens was headed on the road to defeat.

The Bathers rode the shoaling of Al Hairston, who proved why he is one of the best press guards in the state, to a 24-21 first quarter lead.

Walter Moore came off the bench to hit three long one-handers from the side to spark a second period PCH comeback that carried the Chiefs into a 39-37 advantage at the half.

Al Keel personally lowered the boom on Mt. Clemens in the third period.

The senior guard hit four driving layups to trigger a surge that put the Chiefs in front, 58-46, after six minutes of the quarter. Gerald Henry canned a layup and added a tip in the rally. This finished the Bathers' tournament hopes.

Hairston was a one-man show for Mt. Clemens.

Four Chiefs took a crack at guarding the 6-footer. Reserve Carl Arnold turned in the best effort.

Hairston went around and through the Chiefs for 31 points. He hit 23 in the first half. The total was made on 12 field goals and seven free throws.

PCH fans were joined with rosters from Mt. Clemens in giving Hairston a standing ovation when he fouled out with 5:06 remaining in the game.

Bill Ford moved from center to forward for Mt. Clemens in the fourth quarter and hit five baskets to give him 23 points for the game.

STEADY PACE

While Mel DeWalt (19), Henry (19) and Keel (14) were scoring their points in spurts, William Morgan kept dropping the ball.

Seaholm Repeats as Champ

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

ANN ARBOR—The battle for swimming supremacy between Birmingham Seaholm and Royal Oak Kimball became a thrilling individual showdown in the state Class A swimming championships Saturday night.

Seaholm successfully defended its state championship by accumulating 92½ points, six points less than last year, and Kimball finished a gallant second with 73 points.

The races between Seaholm and Kimball swimmers were highlighted by the 400 freestyle where the 4-minute barrier was broken by both the winner and the runnerup.

Doug Webster, who tried unsuccessfully three times this season to beat Pete Adams of Seaholm, did it twice over the weekend, in the prelims and in the finals when he went 3:56.7 for a new national, state and county record.

BIG 'M' CHAMPS—Birmingham Seaholm's swimming team form the letter 'M' for Maples after winning their second straight record. His time in the prelims was 3:59.7.

Webster led Adams set the pace this time and for 300 yards stayed closely behind. He pulled even with 50 yards to go and pushed ahead at the turn as both swimmers made a fantastic spurt at the finish. Adams was timed in 3:57.12.

The races between Seaholm and Kimball swimmers were highlighted by the 400 freestyle where the 4-minute barrier was broken by both the winner and the runnerup.

Doug Webster, who tried unsuccessfully three times this season to beat Pete Adams of Seaholm, did it twice over the weekend, in the prelims and in the finals when he went 3:56.7 for a new national, state and county record.

FLOOR GAME — Pontiac Central's Gerald Henry comes up with the ball after a scramble on the floor with Mt. Clemens' Clarence Martin. Pontiac Central won the Class A regional final, 86-72, Saturday and will meet Monroe in Wednesday's quarter-finals.

Major Tournament Upset Posted by Monroe Five

A surprising Monroe High team as a big obstacle in the path of Pontiac Central's bid for the state Class A basketball title.

Monroe shocked previously unbeaten Detroit Northwestern Saturday night at Trenton, 75-69, to advance to a 7 p.m. quarter-final at University of Detroit.

The Trojans entered the game with a modest 11-8 record and proceeded to take the Detroit city champion apart.

The big man in the Trojans' attack was Marc Drinkhain (6-5) who tossed in a field goal in the closing moments of the game to put his squad ahead, 67-66, after a nip-and-tuck battle. Drinkhain finished with 21 points.

Monroe actually won the game at the charity line, connecting on 21 of 28 attempts. The Colts made only 11.

SAGINAW WINS

Other games on the quarter-final Class A schedule Wednesday will be Lansing Sexton, the top-ranked team in the state, meeting Benton Harbor; Grand Rapids South meets Saginaw; and Detroit Northwestern takes on Warren.

Saginaw (15-5) upset Flint Central Saturday, 65-60, to move up in the tournament.

The Central squad, winner of the Saginaw Valley Conference, trailed all the way against Saginaw, a team they defeated twice during the regular season.

Jerry Patton (19) and Bill DeLong (12) led the Saginaw attack. Leroy Blassingame paced Central with 16 markers. Saginaw fired at a 45 percent pace while the Indians connected on only 27 percent.

The winners held a 40-28 edge at halftime.

Sexton (20-4) came through with an easy 75-60 triumph over Adrian in the regional finals at Ypsilanti, and Grand Rapids South trounced Marquette Graceland, the Upper Peninsula, 65-47.

Stamps, That Is!

Mets Start 'Trading'

NEW YORK — When you lose 11 games, you've got to do something.

Like get some outfielders, a shortstop and a catcher or two. Or give away trading stamps.

That's what the New York Mets are going to do. Give away trading stamps.

Supermarket customers are going to get 2.5 million trading stamps in a big drawing in connection with the Mets opening game at their new stadium on April 17.

Another 5,000 customers will get free tickets for the opening game. And 24 will get season passes.

As you can see, it will be hard to tell the winners from the losers.

And you can expect to see

Writer Behan Fights for Life

In Deep Coma, Gets

Last Sacraments

DUBLIN (UPI)—Irish playwright Brendan Behan rallied slightly early today in his fight for life but a hospital spokesman said "the outlook for his recovery is poor."

The 41-year-old author of the Irish literary scene was in a deep coma.

Last night, he received the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church, "Behan has already received these rites on several other occasions."

The switchboard at the Meath

Hospital was jammed with calls as news of the flamboyant playwright's grave illness spread through Ireland.

Early today a hospital staff member said Behan had rallied slightly and was "less dis-

DRINKING SPIREE

The brilliant Bohemian playwright who once said "there's no bad publicity except an obituary" was hospitalized Tuesday after a drinking spree around

Dublin.

"His condition has been de-

the hospital spokesman said.

Behan who wrote "The Hostage," "The Quare Fellow" and books which won him international acclaim, long has suffered from a "serious diabetic complaint which doctors maintained was aggravated by his

continents.

Behan's illness was listed of-officially as "jaundice."

Only two months ago he was taken to a hospital unconscious

pool of blood outside his father's working class home here in the early morning hours.

"Brendan had a few drinks under his belt at the time," his mother said.

The playwright was treated for a severe head wound and released on the condition he "took things easy." But he had been
