NIXON REPORTS—Vice President Nixon gestures as he tells a National Press Club audience out diplomats should pay more heed to students, labor leaders and press representatives in Latin America.

'Fail to Meet People'

Nixon Raps Envoys

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Nixon says American diplomats in Latin America should get away from the white-tie circuit and talk more with persons at the grass roots level.

He mentioned students, labor leaders and press groups which he described as "the wave of the future" in Latin America.

In giving his views yesterday on what can be done to improve U.S. relations with other nations in the Western Hemisphere, Nixon said Communist influences were only partly responsible for the mob violence directed at him during his recent tour of South America.

He said the demonstrations stemmed also from economic troubles and a belief among some Latin Americans that the United States supported dictators.

Speaking at a National Press Club luncheon, Nixon said he found that American policies had not been adequately presented.

And he suggested that U.S. diplomats work more closely with private enterprise in Latin America to convince the people there that American policy is not aimed at making "the rich richer and the poor poorer."

More Trouble for Pflimlin

Fighting Erupts in Tunisia

PARIS (AP)—Fighting between French and Tunisian forces erupted in Tunisia today, heaping new North African troubles on Premier Pierre Pflimlin's government.

President Habib Bourguiba said in Tunis the fighting broke out after French planes dropped a bomb yesterday on the airport at Gafsa, in south-central Tunisia 25 miles from the Algeria border.

The French had accused Tunisia of trying to provoke a clash with French troops at a time when the government in Paris is trying to regain control of neighboring Algeria from French rightists.

French troops and planes have been technically restricted to their bases by Tunisian orders since the bombing of a border village in February touched off a crisis between France and its former protectorate.

A Conservative leader lent a hand to hard-pressed Premier Pierre Pflimlin by going off to see Gen. Charles de Gaulle, who has offered to assume full power in France.

The leader, Antoine Pinay, was reported urging De Gaulle to use his influence over insurgent military men and French colonialists in Algeria to bow to Paris' authority.

The leaders of the nine-day-old Algerian insurgent movement were cheered wildly by about 100,000 residents of Oran as they flew into that western Algerian city today.

The loudest cheers were for Jacques Soustelle, De Gaulle's leader in Parliament, who eluded police surveillance in Paris last week and flew to Algiers.

STOPS DECADENCE
Soustelle told the throng in Municipal Stadium the Algiers movement "definitely stopped the decadence in France."

Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu, the paratroop commander who started the insurgent movement May 14, got a roar from the crowd when he said the army had turned the Algerian revolt into a movement of unity.

Soustelle and Massu demanded De Gaulle's return to power and there were more cheers when Massu shouted "Vive de Gaulle."

Pflimlin was speeding progress of constitutional reforms aimed at strengthening the executive authority and making it more difficult for the National Assembly to turn cabinets out of office.

Pflimlin's new military chief, meanwhile, prepared for a mission to Algiers aimed at bringing the Gaullist generals there back under the control of Paris. A military envoy from Algiers already was in Paris.

The Premier put his constitutional proposals in shape for Cabinet consideration in a conference last night with political leaders, who have given him overwhelming support so far.

The chief aim is to end the rapid turnover in French cabinets which has so often stymied French policy and produced the demand for a strong-man regime headed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Charges against Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger by the Pontiac General Hospital medical staff are not "constitutionally sound as they now stand," City Attorney William A. Ewart advised the Board of Trustees today.

"They must be made specific," explained Ewart in submitting a recommendation that the board grant the ousted staff surgeon's request for a final hearing.

The staff's charges, which led to Dr. Sullenberger's temporary suspension when he failed to show up at a Nov. 13 meeting to answer them, specify only "professional and personal misconduct in and around the hospital."

"It is the responsibility of the staff to bring specific charges, either of professional or personal misconduct or both, since they made the original recommendation that Dr. Sullenberger be suspended," Ewart said.

Specific charges have been leveled against Dr. Sullenberger during his five-months battle to practice again at Pontiac General. But these were made by ex-hospital director Carl I. Flath in answer to the surgeon's $250,000 law suit for reinstatement.

Using medical records the staff had accumulated but never detailed in public, Flath charged Dr. Sullenberger with violating professional standards in 25 of his cases.

Board chairman Willis M. Brewer has said publicly that there was "no connection" between Flath's handling of the case and his dismissal from MIDDLETOWN, N. J. (AP)—Three Nike guided missiles exploded at their base here this noon. Police said possibly six persons were killed and 12 injured. Dense smoke continued to rise from at least two locations on the Nike base—one of a number of bases guarding the New York Metropolitan area.

Military sources said they believe one of the Ajax missiles had flown a distance and landed in nearby Raritan Bay. Within half a mile of the launching platform, fragments of another missile were found strewn in the woods, smoldering. Windows in the area were shattered.

Setting Tax Rate Is Big Headache for County Unit

Tentative Levy Due as Board Sifts Needs of Townships, Schools

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
Members of the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board are confronted with a big problem.

By law they must keep tax allocations for the county, townships and school districts within a 15-mill limitation.

Posing as the "big headache," as Board Chairman William J. Emerson puts it, is doing this and still trying to comply with requests for more and more money from the county, townships and school districts.

Cloudy Tonight; Fair and Cool Friday, Saturday

Partly cloudy and much cooler with the low near 40-44 is the weatherman's forecast for tonight.

Tomorrow will be fair and cool with a high of 64 degrees. This morning's southwesterly winds will become northerly tonight at 20-25 miles an hour.

The thermometer reached a high of 70 degrees yesterday. The outlook for Saturday is mostly fair and cool.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 52. The mercury rose to 60 at 2 p.m.

Sees Air Lane Control Soon

CAA Head Promises New Plan in 120 Days to Avoid Sky Crashes

WASHINGTON (INS)—Civil Aeronautics Administrator James Pyle today told a Senate committee that the CAA in 120 days would have a complete new system of reserving air boulevards for commercial air liners in an effort to curb mass sky tragedies. He said the plan also included a proposal to segregate the nation's crowded airways by setting aside air reservations or restricted areas for jet military training. Talks are under way with the military to divide up the sky, he said.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower ordered his air coordinating committee to make a special study aimed at eliminating mid-air collisions to the maximum degree.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), chairman of a Senate aviation subcommittee conducting the hearings, warned Pyle:

"You are going to have to talk pretty fast, Congress and the public are going to be very disturbed if something is not done quickly." Pyle said that five of the so-called sky boulevards already have been set up and that others would be earmarked as soon as the CAA has the capabilities such as radar and communications to handle other traffic.

Even military planes will come under control of the civilian air towers, according to the CAA administrator.

Under federal regulations, military planes must abide by CAA air traffic rules except in emergency situations.

Pyle, appearing before the aviation subcommittee headed by Monroney said, however, that "we are not going to solve this problem over night and I am not going to give you a false sense of security."

Area Man Injured in Destroyer Blast

A Waterford Township man was among five navymen injured when an explosion rocked the destroyer escort Silverstein in Pearl Harbor today.

Ensign Kenneth A. Schlachter, of 2855 Silverhill Dr. was one of two men badly burned when a storage locker containing cartridges for depth charges blew up.

The identity of the other seriously burned man was withheld by the Navy until his family could be notified.

Schlachter and the other man were taken to Tripler Hospital, Honolulu, while the other three were treated at the Pearl Harbor dispensary.

With No Star for 1960 Big Race

Governors Head for Home

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The nation's governors headed homeward today from their golden anniversary conference without having pegged any star performer for the 1960 Democratic and Republican presidential nominations.

In four days of meetings, the governors covered subjects ranging from the size of the National Guard to a proposal for a White House conference on the recession.

They heard Secretary of Defense McElroy and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson explain what the federal government is doing—and why it hasn't done more—to combat the business slump.

But behind the scenes governors who consider themselves available for their party's top nomination two years from now maneuvered for position and publicity to help their cause.

The general opinion among those who had no national ambitions was that none of those who displayed their wares made much headway in a field from which the party nominees traditionally are chosen.

Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, who would like to be the 1960 Democratic nominee, stumbled over a coalition roadblock in his efforts to win the chairmanship of the conference. Southern Democrats and conservative Western Republicans gave the plum to Democratic Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida.

This helped Collins in his obvious bid to become a compromise representative of the South on a 1960 Democratic ticket that would avoid any showdown stand on the school segregation issue.

In the Democratic ranks, Governors Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Averell Harriman of New York generally were credited with outshining their colleagues. Neither is considered presently available for the 1960 presidential nomination.

Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky said that after looking over the field of availables, he is not at all embarrassed to be running openly for the 1960 nomination.

On the Republican side, there was an admitted lack of presidential talent among GOP governors. They seemed generally to take it for granted that Vice President Nixon will be their party's 1960 nominee.

Republican Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois, the retiring chairman of the conference, put out some tentative feelers for the vice-presidential nomination. Almost no other Republican even touched a toe in the national waters.

The cross-section feeling among the governors seemed to be that current economic conditions make it likely the Democrats will increase their margins in both houses of Congress in the November elections.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital has been delayed in preparing an answer to a Detroit Area Hospital Council report that indicates its proposed expansion program is unnecessary.

The hospital is waiting to confer with a member of its Chicago consulting firm, who was expected early this week but has been held up by another commitment, said Sister Mary William, hospital administrator.

The report said present crowded conditions in Pontiac hospitals represented "an artificial demand" and new facilities should be constructed elsewhere.

Union Showing No Indication of Backing Down

Statement on Future of Negotiations May Come Tomorrow

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers 25-member executive board met in special session at UAW headquarters here today to hear a report from President Walter P. Reuther on contract negotiations.

A union spokesman said any statements on the future course of negotiations will come tomorrow from a joint meeting of union councils representing General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The union gave no indication that it is backing down from its original demands for wage and fringe benefits which the companies say would increase labor costs more than 70 cents an hour per worker.

A GM executive said yesterday the union had not modified any of its original demands.

The meeting added to the tension and uncertainty marking renewal today of bargaining talks at General Motors.

During a recess yesterday, the company and union joined hands to battle rebellious skilled workers at a National Labor Relations Board hearing.

But tension mounted when GM fired a hot reply to a statement by UAW President Walter P. Reuther accusing GM negotiators of failing to show any indication "they are ready to begin bargaining."

Only eight days remain before the current three-year contract expires.

Vice President Louis G. Seaton, head of the GM bargaining team, said Reuther's statement "is fantastic in view of the fact that only last week the UAW settled major agreements in the aircraft industry for considerably less than what General Motors has put on the bargaining table."

GM, Ford and Chrysler have offered to extend for two years the 2½ per cent wage improvement factor of present contracts.

The UAW and the big three joined forces before the NLRB to fight craft unions seeking separate bargaining rights in the auto industry.

Pontiac Federal Savings Loan to Build Branch on Dixie Highway

Plans for a new Drayton Plains branch for Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn., were announced today on behalf of the board of directors by R. C. Cummings, president.

"We have purchased 72 feet of Dixie Highway frontage just north of the Drayton Plains Post Office," said Cummings. "In addition to the 72 by 120 foot site for our new building, we have bought 100 by 120 feet directly across the alley at the rear which we plan to use for free parking."

"Heenan, Puller, Smith, Inc. are preparing plans and we hope to ask for bids on the building within four weeks. Tentative opening date is set for November. In general appearance the branch will resemble our main office building on West Huron street in Pontiac."

"The branch, when completely equipped, will represent an investment of approximately $100,000. It will be the association's third branch, in addition to the main office."

"This site was chosen to provide more convenient service to the whole area lying to the north and west of Pontiac," said Cummings.

"A substantial number of homes in the area have been financed by mortgages arranged by Pontiac Federal, and we anticipate a steady increase in this volume. Likewise many Waterford residents already have savings accounts in our association."

"Steady growth has brought about the need for this new building. The association's assets have grown from five million dollars in 1954 to more than 15 million today."

Slump Blamed on Wage Hikes

Ford Stockholders Told Big Unions Discourage Business Investments

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Henry Ford II said today that he termed excessive wage increases have contributed directly to the present recession and to unemployment.

The Ford Motor Co. president told stockholders at their annual meeting: "By squeezing profits, powerful unions have discouraged business investments; by squeezing up prices they have created sales resistance."

"Until a way has been found to limit the monopoly power of unions and bring about a real balance of bargaining power between industry and unions, this country of ours will be under constant inflationary pressure," he said.

Ford noted that small car imports are reaching 300,000 to 400,000 a year and said they likely will continue at this rate for several years.

"Even if the total market for small cars were forecast at say 600,000 units annually, there is still serious question as to whether our normal share of such a market would yield the profits that might normally be expected from the additional investment in styling, engineering, tooling and facilities," Ford said.

Ford said company sales and profits are off sharply but he gave no figures.

'Don't Do It,' Students Urge

Buying Car for Teenager?

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Teenagers advice to parents: "Don't let teenagers have cars until they can buy them with their own money."

It came today from students at Stockton College and Stagg High School. It's one suggestion made in a poll conducted by the junior college public relations class after Thomas Callahan, a student, was killed in an automobile accident May 10.

Other recommendations for traffic safety:
Suspend first offender's license for 30 days.
Learn where teenagers get liquor and cut off the supply.
Enforce curfew laws.
Give each traffic violator a day in jail at hard labor.

City Couple Held in Texas Killings

Tennessee Arrest Ends Pontiac, Orion Vigil for Suspects

Texas officials are expected to arrive in Brownsville, Tenn., to take custody of a Pontiac area couple wanted for a double murder in Texas. They waived extradition.

William G. Long, 28, and Kay Long, 20, were arrested Tuesday night by a Tennessee State Trooper who was making a routine check.

The arrest ended a weekend vigil for the couple by Pontiac police and state police. Thinking the pair might be on their way to Pontiac where they have relatives, police watched houses in the city and in Lake Orion.

Long has been sought since Sept. 6, 1957 by Pontiac detectives for auto theft. He fled the state just before a warrant was issued for him.

He is also wanted in Michigan as a parole violator. He served time in Jackson Prison for auto theft.

Long and his wife were indicted by a grand jury in San Antonio, Tex., for murder in the slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Lippman of Somerset, a town about 20 miles from San Antonio.

The Lippmans owned a farm adjacent to the place where Long had been working as a farm laborer. The couple fled Texas in the Lippmans' car.

With them was their two-month-old daughter, who is being cared for in the Haywood County General Hospital in Tennessee.

Pontiac detectives said that Long, who lived with an uncle while attending Pontiac Central High School and again after his parole, stole a car the night of Sept. 5, 1957 and abandoned it in Lake Orion. In the car were a purse and clothing belonging to his present wife.

This at first gave rise to thoughts of foul play. Later it was found she had left the state with him.

Catch Fugitive Sound Asleep

50 Police Hunt Gunman All Night After Theft Near Pinckney

PINCKNEY (AP) — Police caught a man sought as a shotgun firing fugitive asleep in a garage in a rural area between Pinckney and Howell today.

Eugene Kelly, 32, of Ann Arbor was taken into custody for investigation of armed robbery and breaking and entering.

Kelly was the object of a search by more than 50 police and conservation officers following two holdups near this Livingston County community last night.

State Police said Kelly had a shotgun with him. A shotgun-wielding man held up Walter Nowacki of Detroit at a cottage on nearby Pardee Lake before robbing the Bee Line Bar here and escaping with $30. He got only $1.15 off Nowacki.

A patron at the tavern, Lawrence Griggs of Howell, followed the gunman when he left the tavern and came across him in a car parked nearby.

Griggs said he banded his car into the gunman's and he fired a shotgun through Griggs' windshield before fleeing into woods. Griggs ducked to the floor and was not injured.

Kelly was found sleeping in a garage at the home of James O'Connor three miles west of nearby Howell.

The driver took off on foot and eluded the officers but was seized by Robert Taylor, 16, of 276 W. South Blvd., on Bagley near California street.

The boy has admitted the theft of the car and also another auto theft that occurred the night before, the detectives said.

The cat carefully wiggled and pushed his head through the hole and, when he tried to withdraw, found he was stuck tight.

Blackie started to yowl, kick, and tug until neighbors were attracted. Men climbed ladders, greased the cat's neck but his head would not budge.

Waterford Township Police were called and, with a hammer and wood chisel, freed the terrified animal.

The police report concluded with: "Cat was able to continue under its own power with a high rate of speed on the takoff."

Waterford Cat Really Got It—in the Neck

Curiosity almost killed a cat yesterday when it got its head caught in a hole in a tree in Waterford Township.

Airline, Jet Have Near-Miss

Mid-Air Crash Averted

WASHINGTON (INS) — Capital Airlines reported today an Air Force B47 crossed about 500 feet in front of a Viscount airliner carrying 19 passengers near Findley, Ohio, late last night.

The near-miss followed a collision in air Tuesday between a Capital passenger plane and an Air National Guard T-33 jet trainer over Brunswick, Md., which killed 12 persons.

Capital said the Viscount was flying at about 19,000 feet on a Chicago-Baltimore-Washington run when the jet bomber passed from above to below the airliner.

The airlines said the Viscount's pilot, Capt. Jesse Bradford, immediately called the Cleveland Airport control center and reported the incident.

The witness, Rudolph L. Doelcke, once a New York State Trooper and now an actor, said he was employed at the time by Bernard Spindel, a professional wiretapper.

Spindel and Owen Bernard Brennan, president of Teamsters Local 337 in Detroit, are co-defendants in the Federal District Court trial.

"I had asked Spindel if the work was legal and he told me that he had looked into the matter and that it was a legal job," Doelcke said.

Doelcke had testified earlier that Spindel told him Hoffa wanted the wiretaps so a check could be kept on subordinates who might be called before congressional committees or a grand jury and who "might sell Hoffa out."

Only Southfield shows a millage requirement for 1958-59 which is less than millage levied in 1957-58. This is from $1.14 to $1.08 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Emerson warned that by the time final rates are arrived at June 2, most all will show some adjustments because of the 15-mill requirement.

Emerson attributed the large requests for more money to increases in population, in the case of the county, schools and townships requests alike.

"Breaking it down," he continued, "we see that welfare costs make up the big county jump, the fact sales tax revenues are becoming less and less productive in the case of the townships, and the fact that the amount of state aid for schools has remained constant as population goes up."

All townships, except Southfield and Waterford, will need to levy larger millage for 1958-59 if they are to meet budget needs. The possible hikes range from 4 cents more per $1,000 dollars' valuation in Rose Township, to a whopping $8.15 more for Royal Oak Township.

Groveland, Lyon, Springfield, Troy and White Lake Townships do not come under the 15-mill allocation as their sources of other revenue are sufficient for operations, Emerson explained.

The Day in Birmingham

High School Choir Gives Annual Spring Program

BIRMINGHAM — The annual spring concert of the Birmingham High School Choir at 8:15 tonight will mark the group's 20th anniversary as well as that of Victor Ulrich, music director.

Members of the original choir under his direction which made its first appearance April 3, 1939, will be honored guests. They are Mrs. Clark (Mary Gardner) Pardee and Ruth Lotero, Robert Flusser, also a member of the original group, is now director of music and organist at the First Presbyterian Church in Birmingham.

Tonight's program will begin with the 1939 opening number, "The Cherub Song," and will include the choir's most popular selections throughout the years.

Several featured soloists, the Madrigal Singers, and various ensembles will participate in the program.

There were 25 per cent fewer traffic mishaps and injuries during the first four months of 1958 than in the corresponding period last year, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said today.

"This is the most impressive improvement in the Birmingham traffic picture in several years," he said.

The chief pointed out that bad driving habits caused most of the city's 42 accidents in which seven persons were injured last month.

He said judges for the local contest will include Mayor William W. Donaldson, Irving Steinman of the Lions Store, Cleo Pipe of Radio Station WPOP, Harry Reed, city editor of The Pontiac Press, and John W. Hurlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Entries must be from the Pontiac area, single, and between 18 and 28 years. They will be judged on beauty of face and figure, charm, poise and personality.

County Unit Tackles Problem of Tax Rate

the situation like this: "I haven't seen the county, schools or townships in such a bad fiscal position since the war."

Based on 1958-59 budget requests from the 31 districts and 70 townships, millage required to raise the desired funds all show substantial increases, except in the case of Waterford and Southfield Townships.

Emerson said the townships and districts most likely will have to go into deficit financing if they are to provide for their proposed budgets.

"The other alternative is to trim their requests," he added.

If Oakland County is to raise $10,672,280 of its $12,762,280 budget for 1959, it must levy a county tax of $3.90 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, the board figures. This is based on a state equalized valuation of $1,808,669,600 for the county.

It represents a 50-cent increase over the $5 county rate for 1958.

The seven-member board will hand down its tentative tax rate tomorrow noon. This follows three half-days of preliminary hearings where the townships, school districts and the county appear to explain why they need certain allocations.

"The arguments will begin next Wednesday," said the chairman. Final rates will be settled on June 2.

If the county rate is fixed then at $5.90 it means that the remaining $9.10 under the 15-mill limitation must be split between the townships and schools.

Special voted millage increases do not come under the limitation. Nor do cities which are not bound to keeping within the limitation.

Emerson attributed the large requests for more money to increases in population, in the case of the county, schools and townships requests alike.

"Breaking it down," he continued, "we see that welfare costs make up the big county jump, the fact sales tax revenues are becoming less and less productive in the case of the townships, and the fact that the amount of state aid for schools has remained constant as population goes up."

Groveland, Lyon, Springfield, Troy and White Lake Townships do not come under the 15-mill allocation as their sources of other revenue are sufficient for operations, Emerson explained.

Only Southfield shows a millage requirement for 1958-59 which is less than millage levied in 1957-58. This is from $1.14 to $1.08 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Emerson warned that by the time final rates are arrived at June 2, most all will show some adjustments because of the 15-mill requirement.

Emerson attributed the large requests for more money to increases in population, in the case of the county, schools and townships requests alike.

"Breaking it down," he continued, "we see that welfare costs make up the big county jump, the fact sales tax revenues are becoming less and less productive in the case of the townships, and the fact that the amount of state aid for schools has remained constant as population goes up."

All townships, except Southfield and Waterford, will need to levy larger millage for 1958-59 if they are to meet budget needs. The possible hikes range from 4 cents more per $1,000 dollars' valuation in Rose Township, to a whopping $8.15 more for Royal Oak Township.

Find Farmer, Daughter Dead

Heart Attacks Claim John, Katherine Adams in Dryden Area Home

DRYDEN TOWNSHIP — An elderly retired farmer and his invalid daughter were found dead yesterday in their Dryden Township home.

John Adams, 85, and his daughter, Katherine, 46, both were stricken by fatal heart attacks, according to Lapeer County Coroner Dr. Dorothy Leith of Imlay City. They had been living at the home of Adams' son, Roland, 4133 Hough Rd., about four miles from Almont.

The bodies were discovered about 2 p.m. by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walters of 451 Main St., Romeo, friends of the younger Adams and his wife, whom they had come to visit.

Lapeer County Sheriff William J. Porter said he believed the daughter suffered a seizure first and that the father died when he got out of his wheelchair to go to her aid. He had been an invalid himself, having suffered a stroke.

Joint funeral service will be held at 1:30 Saturday at Muir Brothers Funeral Home in Lapeer. Burial will be in Romeo Cemetery.

Canadian Ships Seek Advantage

But Royal Commission Rejects Suggestion of Seaway Preference

OTTAWA—A royal commission has rejected suggestions that Canadian ships be given an advantage over competitors when the St. Lawrence Seaway opens next spring.

The report, filed with the House of Commons, suggested however that the government might help ship builders with a subsidy if seaway competition hurts the industry.

Although royal commission recommendations are not binding, they usually carry weight with the government. The commission, set up three years ago with Justice W. F. Spence of the Ontario high court of justice as chairman, turned down a series of proposals for giving Canadian ships the upper hand in the seaway and Great Lakes business. One rejected proposal was that Canadian ships handle all water shipments between points in Canada. Another provided that no inland water traffic would be permitted between U.S. and Canadian ports except by U.S. and Canadian vessels.

Bank's Ad Announces 1919 Model-T for Sale

NEW YORK (U) — How many people do you think would like to buy a 1919 model-T Ford coupe in good condition for $350?

The Dry Dock Savings Bank offered just such a deal the other day, as part of an attention-getting advertising program featuring unusual things to buy.

A newspaper advertisement pictured the car and said: "If you want a car with plenty of headroom and lots of nostalgia, here she is. A postwar model—World War I that is—she was born in 1919 and is still in good running condition. Electric starter — or crank it by hand if you insist."

The bank got 50 quick phone calls and letters, not only from this area but from Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. The inquiries are still coming in.

Only about half the inquiries were from people with car hobbies. The others just saw the ad and got to thinking what fun it would be.

Miss Sally Dominick, who handles the bank's ad program, makes arrangements with people who have unusual things to sell, checking carefully to make sure they are bargains in their way and of top quality.

When people see the ads and inquire, they are mailed circulars giving all details so that direct contact may be made with the sellers.

The ads have featured such things as $300 ship models, $995 telescopes, fencing lessons and Mexican burros for $85 each. Most popular items so far were the telescopes and burros.

Now about that 1919 Ford again. Just so prospective customers would have a better chance at a car, Miss Dominick listed on her fact sheet a 1913 Ford touring car and a 1915 Ford pickup truck restored as a hobby by a real estate man. He was willing to sell for $1,000 and $750, respectively.

What happened? The fellow with the touring car and pickup changed his mind. Instead, he rushed out with a $350 check and snapped up the coupe.

Announces Later Date for 1959 Michigan Week

LANSING (U) — The 1959 Michigan Week will be observed May 17-23.

A date later than this year's celebration, held the first week in May, should permit more outdoor events, the Michigan Week Office said.

"Early announcement of next year's date is being made so local programs for next year so they can be mapped far in advance," said Don C. Weeks, director of the State Economic Development Department.

"We hope that clubs, schools and communities will plan specific programs for next year so they can be incorporated into Michigan Week plans."

Boy, 7, Struck by Car, Escapes With Bruises

Seven-year-old Darrell Collins of 442 Kenilworth Ave. was injured slightly yesterday when he dashed into the path of a car on Featherstone at Cameron street, police said.

The car, driven by Warren H. Anders, 20, of 106 Omar St., could not stop in time to avoid hitting the boy.

Students in Panama Call General Strike

PANAMA (U) — Students supported by a committee of mothers and some labor unions today called for a general strike against the government at midnight. The call was issued as unidentified demonstrators forced traffic off the principal avenues of the Panamanian capital early today. At least three homemade gasoline bombs exploded in separate areas. High school and university students are demanding that President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr. fire Education Minister Victor Julio, charging he has failed to provide proper high school facilities.

Since a student was fatally injured Monday in a clash with National Guardsmen at the city's largest high school, the students also have demanded dismissal of three guard commanders. A student spokesman said earlier that De la Guardia was given until midnight last night for a decision on the demands. Although there was no official announcement, the indication was that the President would not accede. De la Guardia has charged political opponents with stirring up the trouble but student leaders deny any political influence. Sumatra in the Indonesian archipelago is larger than California and longer than the distance from Chicago to New York, says the National Geographic Society.

Octagonal Schoolhouse for Sale in Wisconsin
PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (U) — The Pleasant Valley School—one of the few octagonal schoolhouses in the nation—is up for sale. The eight-sided school was abandoned last year after the opening of a modern school.

The architect who designed the building in 1905 said the eight sides would give more light for the pupils. Europe consumes more wheat than it can produce.

Future Looks Brighter -- Ike

Expressing optimism and confidence over the promise of a better day directly ahead economically, President Dwight D. EISENHOWER told business men Tuesday evening that much of the responsibility for bettering our position rested on them.

"This nation is very price conscious right now," he declared and "this is the moment that things must be produced and sold at the lowest possible levels. And that means a recognition of the price and costs situation by the parties sitting on both sides of the bargaining table."

Most economists are convinced that we cannot sell more with costs continuing to advance, and thus, we need a cessation of upward steps by all concerned. There's nothing mysterious in the President's suggestion. He is simply reiterating first principles and asking that they be applied immediately.

President Eisenhower did not say that the slump had terminated or was about to do so. He did say we had positive signs that the decline had already lessened appreciably and that we could expect a reversal of the trend in the days ahead. He made no attempt to pinpoint the exact time, explaining that none of the economists anywhere could do that accurately.

The President made it plain that the Federal Government would assist to the fullest extent in fighting the gradual recession. At the same time, he pointed out that an even larger responsibility rested on the people themselves.

Sellers must exert their utmost to place prices within reach of a price conscious nation; and on the other hand the buyers must not hesitate to buy when the asking figure is reasonable. No matter what prices are established, if the people of the nation refuse to go to market, we are definitely cutting more men off of more jobs.

The President was handsomely received and appeared to be in good spirits and good health.

The Man About Town Discrimination

Area Suffers From Worst Spring Drouth in Years

Senses: What nature gives us five of — touch, taste, hearing, sight and smell, but we must acquire the other ourselves — horse.

Michigan in general and the Pontiac area in particular are being bumped by our former best friend — nature. Old residents, including Perry Aitmare of Pontiac Trail, who has kept tab on it for 50 years, say this is the worst spring drouth on record.

County Agricultural Agent, Lyle Abel, asserts that he never saw a spring that even remotely approached it for lack of moisture.

While the rest of the nation has precipitation above normal, our fields are drying up at the very season when they usually are in good moisture condition. With a bumper national wheat yield predicted, that crop in this area is licked. Spring crops are being planted in clouds of dust.

A letter just received from George Arundson of Waterford, says, "Every other method of inducing it to rain has failed. So why don't you plug for it in your column?" Well, George, here's my biggest plug.

LATER: The above already has brought results. Here's a further urgent prayer and plea that the rains continue, copious, abundant, drenching, saturating soaking and plentiful.

Right at the time when new radishes are on the menu.

Orville Burnside of Lake Orion sends me a clipping that says both cows and humans lose a major part of their energy in burping.

A column reader expresses my sentiments exactly in a letter which says grownups can take good shopping lessons from their children with only a few cents to spend.

Celebrating her 93rd birthday on May 27.

Mrs. Ezra Hicks of Farmington suffered a broken hip on her 92nd birthday, and since then has been confined to her bed.

In response to my request that we have a better display of the stars and stripes, several people have told me that their flag has become so soiled that they hesitate to put it up. I am informed by County Clerk Lynn D. Allen that most cleaning establishments have a policy of doing this work without charge.

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Optimism Is Well Founded

WASHINGTON — When the President of the United States speaks on the business outlook, he has at his disposal information gathered from reliable sources.

Particular significance may be attached therefore, to Eisenhower's latest summing up of the present business situation. He says: "Reports from the country strongly indicate that the economic decline of recent months is slowing down. Not all our economic troubles are over by any means. But there is a change in the making. That it will prove to be a change for the better, I have no doubt."

"No single person, no single group, however wise and well-informed, can name the day or the week when that upturn will begin. But there is reason to believe that much of the adjustment, which a free economy experiences from time to time, has already occurred."

The readjustment really began more than a year ago. It started slowly but gained momentum toward the end of 1951.

During the first few months of this year, however, the retrospective appraisals of what actually had happened prompted many politicians in Congress to predict dire consequences unless the government started to spend profusely.

The net effect of such talk was to generate more fear.

Today, the country is suffering from two major pains—the readjustment of economic forces themselves and the psychological effect of "recession" talk.

There is no valid objection to the reporting of the news of a recession, but exaggerations and misrepresentations by politicians just to enhance their own position are open to severe criticism as a destructive influence at this time.

Many people have postponed purchases of new cars, for instance, because they fear their working hours may be curtailed or their jobs may be lost.

Until confidence in the future comes back, purchases may be deferred no matter how attractive the prices.

What will produce a renewed confidence? Washington is as much a key to this as are the business leaders themselves.

Political parties are more than ever in need of self-examination. They claim credit for prosperity and they try to impose blame on each other for recessions.

But the simple truth is that, in an uncontrolled economy, organized greed produces the recessions.

The Country Parson

"If we don't like the moral caliber of our politicians, at home is the place to correct it—for that's where the new ones are growing up."

It is the lack of self-discipline which brings maladjustments.

The government is supposed to keep hands off the economy, but the net effect is to let private groups run the economy into the ditch.

Apparently only by "recessions" or "readjustments," with human suffering through unemployment, does a free economy learn its lessons.

For, while the President may exhort and exhort, realistically there is no immediate restraint possible except by wage and price controls. Yet this would be considered today as unwarranted intervention by government in the economy.

Government nevertheless regulates credit supply through the Federal Reserve system. Government, moreover, through anti-trust laws, forbids price-fixing by corporations.

But government today closes its eyes to monopolistic practices by labor unions. (Copyright 1953)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Mother Praises Hospital With Rooming-In Service

"I would like to take issue with you in your advocacy of home delivery rather than hospital delivery of babies, and cite my own experience as an example."

"I had my second baby by natural childbirth. The doctor was with me the entire time after I went into active labor."

So was my husband. In fact my husband helped a lot by massaging my leg which got a cramp in it with each contraction. "After the delivery I had rooming-in service. My baby weighed only 6½ pounds, so I fed him whenever he was hungry—about every three hours."

(The lady says "fed"—I hope she means nursed.)

"Now, how can you beat this arrangement with a home delivery, where the new mother must supervise the running of the household and the disciplining of the older children? Dad's at work all day, you know."

"My baby was born at Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia.—(Mrs. W. F.)"

I can think of only one way I could beat the arrangement—have a good reliable housekeeper ready to move in and run the household and discipline the older children and, well, shall we leave that out—for one week after the birth of the baby. With this arrangement not even Jefferson Hospital and rooming-in service could compare, although I believe you couldn't choose a better place to have your baby than Jefferson Hospital in Philadelphia, if home delivery is not possible.

Doctors and nurses in hospitals that still maintain that 19th Century institution—the new-born nursery—have little conception of how much the newborn infant needs close physical contact with his mother whose warmth and firm clasp give him the security he needs.

When the 20th Century rooming-in service succeeds the new-born nursery, each new mother keeps her baby in a bassinet at her side, nurses, fondles, croons a lullaby or plays with the baby whenever she wishes. The baby is never out of her sight and hence not likely to be mixed up with some other baby.

The nurse keeps hands off and comes only when the mother asks for her help. The husband is not only permitted but urged to remain with his wife as much as he can, so that they may learn together how to take care of the baby after they take the baby home.

By the way, it was the professor of obstetrics in Jefferson Medical School who, in 1946, castigated outrageously Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes for daring to tell the world the truth about childbirth fever—that it was caused usually by the unclean habits and instruments of the obstetrician.

The other day, I am happy to note, the professor of obstetrics in Jefferson Medical stated that the place for a husband is at his wife's side when their baby is being born. Of course the professor assumes they love each other.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1953)

Case Records of a Psychologist:

New Personality Brings Success

Don's confession is proof of the pudding. It shows, too, that psychology is worth at least 50 per cent toward your success in most fields of human activity. So learn the basic secret for winning friends and becoming popular. Do it now, before you are out of high school, for it may let you "cash in" quickly as soon as you seek a job after graduation.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE.

Case Y-316: Don G., aged 32, is the poker faced merchant mentioned yesterday.

Don followed my suggestions as faithfully as possible, for he saw that he was going bankrupt if he did not alter his personality.

"Dr. Crane, it was tough at first," he said when I saw him a few weeks later.

"I practiced smiling at myself in the mirror when I shaved. And the kids kept reminding me, for I had promised them a penny every time they caught me wearing my poker face."

"They took fiendish delight in catching me in error, so that first week I was constantly called on the carpet."

"For the first few days, my face actually felt stiff and I was very self-conscious about wearing my artificial smile."

"But later I guess it became second nature, for I didn't feel so conspicuous."

"And I diligently followed your 'Compliment Club' plan, too. I'd speak first and wear my smile

Four Readers Say Church Attendance Is Necessary

Get out your dusty Bible, puzzled, and let's see if it's really necessary to go to church. God gave us the law to live by, but no person could live up to it completely. If you don't go to church, how can you go to Holy Communion? Jesus says to do this.

You go to worship, praise and thank God, to hear His word and for fellowship with Christian people. The greatest pleasure in life is for the family to be in church worshipping God and learning His way of life. What about the children's Christian education?

All this you are denying yourself and family. It would be a pleasure to be of any help.

376 Farnsworth

Even though a man may do everything God commands for his neighbors, family and friends, he has left God completely out of the picture if he doesn't go to church. God made us and to show Him we appreciate this, we give God one day to worship Him. God commands us to do that and we are disobeying Him when we don't worship.

14-Year-Old Church-Goer

One doesn't have to attend church to believe in God and pray and to lead a godly life. However, one can't share in the fellowship of Christ to any great degree, much less call himself a Christian, without recognizing His church.

The church is a wonderful spiritual and social organization between Christ and his people which non-church-goers are missing. A study of all church denominations will help you understand them and make intelligent decisions concerning them, and it will help in being in line with one's own thinking concerning Christ's church.

Robert C. Lambert

Royal Oak

You may follow all the moral paths of life, but none has redeeming power to save the soul. Surely it is necessary to go to church, for there you receive the greatest results of the teachings of Christ. Jesus said that where two or three are gathered in His name, there is He, but one should attend church to learn.

'If They Starve, They'll Leave'

Concerning items about Pontiac rats, it reminds me of the time Detroit rats were not fed, and when they didn't fare so well, they left. No animal, free to roam, will stay where he will starve. Let's be careful not to feed them by leaving garbage and unwrapped food around.

'We Must All Help Protect Children'

I was horrified at the recent account of the child dragged into the lion cage and killed. With all our pleading for safety, why did such a condition exist that it was possible for her to get within reach of the beast?

We are still our brother's keeper, and these little ones don't always realize danger. With foresight and proper safeguards this child could still be safe, and it's a shame and disgrace to us all.

Parents must be vigilant, but we all have a moral responsibility to protect children, no matter who or where. Deep openings left in the earth, any place one could be trapped, water and fire hazards, careless and calloused operation of motor vehicles all take a needless toll. Let's do our part. Remove and guard against all hazards. When we safeguard the little child, we protect all.

Wife Requests Readers' Ideas

A marriage counselor says husbands should encourage their wives to visit them at their offices. I'd like to know what some of the boys and girls around here think about this. I've never been encouraged at all, but my husband brings various office people to the house. How often should I go down there?

Monkey Business Hit by Price War

NEW DELHI — A bitter inflationary price war has hit the monkey business of India. Trappers, once satisfied with $8.50 per live monkey for export now demand up to $22 for the sturdiest specimens. New Delhi learns. Some resentful merchants have hired their own trappers as cut-price specialists.

The embittered strife does not promise an easier life for the monkey, whose worth to India as an article of export is nearly $2,800,000 a year. Latest figures show that in a recent nine months, merchants exported 150,000 monkeys, netting $1,800,000. Principal reception countries were the United States, Canada and Britain.

Motorists watching the overall scenery a block ahead in city driving or a half-mile ahead on the road tend to fewer accidents because they are aware of any instant change in the traffic picture.

Basutoland Finding Helicopters Useful

MASERU, Basutoland — Basutoland may be the first part of South Africa to use helicopters commercially, according to agents for French helicopters who have been demonstrating their machines around Maseru, the capital.

Jack Scott, a mining magnate, is interested in using 'copters on his mining interests in Basutoland, they say. Road communications are so poor in that area that during the rainy season some places are isolated for long periods, it is pointed out.

ing that helicopters can be useful for prospecting. Geiger counters can be used from the machines.

African Wool Climbs

CAPE TOWN — South Africa produced a bumper wool crop of 305,600,000 pounds in 1957. It was 9,000,000 pounds more than the 1956 output.

'Mush' May Soon Go From Eskimo Talk

SWAN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—The word "mush" may soon be on the way out of the Eskimo's dictionary. Idaho snowplanes are replacing yapping dog teams for transportation in Alaska.

Weise, a part-time designer, already has sent three snow skimmers to Arctic regions and is preparing more. Besides being more comfortable, snow planes don't eat meat.

80 Million Plan Auto Vacations This Year

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Eighty million Americans will take auto vacations this summer and attempt to beat the recession with maximum use of the nation's free tourist attractions and sight-seeing wonders.

And the vacation hotel and motel owners, the operators of resorts and other vacation-for-pay enterprises are braced for price-haggling such as they haven't encountered from tourists in many years.

Nevertheless, auto vacationers will spend about 13 billion dollars this summer. This is about as much as they spent the year before, a survey by the American Automobile Assn. reveals.

Many persons are deciding to take inexpensive driving vacations instead of their usual stay at expensive resorts. Many people who customarily take long, cross-country trips this year will take shorter trips in the interest of economy. And the camping boom which has been developing the past several years is expected to reach a new high this summer.

Two of the big reasons for general optimism by the AAA experts and other travel authorities are the record saving which Americans have in the bank, and the new roads which have opened to tourists during the past 12 months.

NEW MACKINAC STRAITS BRIDGE — The span is a boon to tourists heading for Northern Michigan. The bridge joins Lower and Upper Michigan at Mackinaw City and St. Ignace, linking the state's two peninsulas by land for the first time.

Official state and federal statistics on the completions of new highways sometimes lags more than a year in being reported to the public because of red tape. But a privately published survey, Turnpike Guidebook, reports:

"Since last year, more than 500 miles of turnpike and 1,350 miles of expressways have opened. This now gives the U.S. more than 3,000 miles of turnpikes and more than 7,500 miles of free expressways."

Here are some of the new turnpikes available to American motorists this summer, as described in the Guidebook:

Connecticut Turnpike: 129 miles from Stamford, Conn., to South Killingly, Conn., near the Rhode Island border. It is an important feeder from New York to New England.

Pennsylvania Turnpike North-east Extension: 112 miles from the original turnpike near Philadelphia to Scranton.

Will Rogers Turnpike: 88 miles from the Turner Turnpike to U.S. 66 at Joplin, Mo. With the Turner, it helps sidestep congestion on Route 66, a main East-West highway.

Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike: 30 miles, downtown to downtown.

Killed Near Port Huron

PORT HURON (AP) — Francis Frederick Thomas, 26, of Port Huron was injured fatally Wednesday night when his car hit a tree and rolled over, throwing him out on M24 four miles west of here. He was driving alone.

span of 3,800 feet—second, longest center span in the world—and a total length of 8,614 feet.

Heads Transplanted While Embryos

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Mira Pavlovic, Yale zoologist, reports having reared baby chicks whose heads were transplanted while they were still embryos in the shell.

Miss Pavlovic, 28, a Yugoslav scientist who came here from Paris in 1957, said the feat provides new information on the compatibility of tissues.

She said she performed the transplants on 100 embryos and six of them hatched. One lived 70 days, and another 55. Others lived two, four and nine days, and one died shortly after it was hatched.

Studies are now being conducted to determine the cause of five of the deaths. The one which lived 55 days died of a digestive disturbance. A lack of appetite was common in the others.

The experiments were performed on Rhode Island Reds to which the heads of a black breed were transplanted. The chicks displayed no different behavior characteristics from normal chicks.

Britain Lowers Rate of Interest on Money Loans

LONDON (AP)—Britain today cut its bank rate another half per cent, reducing the Bank of England's rate for lending money to 5½ per cent.

It was the second reduction in nine weeks in the fight to bolster the British economy. The rate was cut on March 20 from 7 to 6 per cent.

The bank rate is the control valve on the nation's economy. It had been sent skyrocketing last September to 7 per cent—highest in Britain since 1921—in a fight to tighten credit and steady the value of the shaky pound sterling.

The second reduction this year was seen as a further sign of Britain's growing confidence in its economic position despite recession reports abroad.

With the Bank of England the keystone of the British Commonwealth's financial system, the rise or fall of its rate is automatically reflected in the rates charged by other institutions in the worldwide financial empire.

The news of the reduction had an immediate buoyant effect on the London stock market. Brokers were delighted.

It meant that money, cheaper to borrow, would flow more freely for industrial expansion projects.

About 30 million acres of wood in U. S., according to forestry estimates, are burned annually in the wastes.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hysteria Unlikely to Cause World War III

NEW YORK — Sidewalk scrawls of a Pavement Plato: History can be a record of hysteria. It is unlikely that hysteria will momentarily cause World War III.

The spokesmen of the two major world powers — the United States and the U.S.S.R. — have been making angry noises at each other since the end of their mutual victory at the end of World War II.

Each probably feels himself bigger than he is — each is gnawed by inside as well as outside fears. Each throws a larger shadow at the moment than either wants to have to live up to by force.

All around the world since the end of World War II people have looked at two menus—the bread they have, the bread they want. In civilized as well as uncivilized countries the people have reached toward the bread they want. Their desire is the same. The method of reach varies. Agreement has made fewer headlines than violence. But has it given less bread?

Violence in human relations gives off a great boom in terms of sound. The real test in judging a change, is whether—after the echoes have died—the people who made the change feel it was worth the effort.

ence have cheated their dreams. This is the way to weigh war. Is more than the cost of staying away from it?

FLOATING POWER — Germany's largest floating crane goes to work in Hamburg harbor. The new hoist is powered by a 515-h.p. diesel engine and has a lifting power of 200 tons.

In looking over previous civilizations and trying to figure out why they went to war, a Side-street Socrates, always asking questions, would have to query: "For this you were afraid?" "Did you measure your tears? Did you go to war for a purpose or to escape from one boredom to another?"

"Why does peace lack the human cement of unity that war creates?"

"Is there a possible way by which men, strangers on the earth and foreign to each other, can make the possible harmony of human life a mutual adventure?"

Man's greatest enemy on earth is the insect and the insect, as many scientists believe, is still in doubt. The six-legged insect society is built absolutely on heredity, and allows no rebels. The two-legged human society, which also inherits wherever it exists a local caste system, does occasionally allow rebels. This tolerance is often well repaid.

The insect world is changeless in changeless discipline. The human world is possibly changeable through freedom. The insect is born to his doom. The man can, at his best, at least choose his doom. His possibility above the ant is that he can select how he can best serve his society. This is his total liberty.

It is an individual matter.

As a muted skeptic who believes however far science journeys man will still have to slap at a mosquito and endure the common cold, I am optimistic enough to feel in my heart and brains and bones that World War III isn't likely within 10 years.

Why?

Because:

1. The tumultuous reach for political liberty by the submerged people of this earth is balanced by the desire of the so-called civilized people for a higher standard of living.

2. At least for another decade the powers that can now precipitate a major conflict have more to gain by landscaping their own lawns than they do by trying to tear the other guy's house down. They all know this.

There is a season under the sun to build, and this is the season. One repairs his roof after the last hurricane, even though there may be another.

I have a poor man's faith that the man in the world's street is as of now more lonesome for improvement than disaster.

Seven U.S. states were never organized as territories.

Find Footprints on Ocean Floor

Say Unknown Denizen of Deep Might Have Walked There

WASHINGTON — Scientists follow strange footprints along the road to knowledge.

Among the latest clues to nature's mysteries are tracks photographed on the Arctic Ocean floor, 400 miles from the North Pole. The pictures were taken by a team of American geologists carrying on research from an ice floe for the International Geophysical Year.

The scientists report that the small prints resembling chicken tracks might have been caused by feeding fish or by rocks that were later washed away. But they do not rule out the more imaginative possibility that some unknown denizen of the deep may have walked there.

Trained observers deduce an astonishing amount of information from animal imprints, including those made many millions of years ago, says the National Geographic Society.

The relatively young science of paleontology, based on fossil remains, is constantly revealing new details of prehistoric life. Footprints alone may indicate an extinct animal's species, size and weight. They even give hints to its habits and cause of death.

An outstanding example was the discovery in Texas, 20 years ago, of dinosaur tracks pressed into soft mud flats some 135,000,000 years before. From that trail in mud now turned to stone, the leader of a field expedition of the American Museum of Natural History read a drama of the Age of Reptiles.

The giant footprints—some were 38 inches long—had been made by plant-eating brontosaurus, the largest animals to walk the earth. Marks stop and behind them belonged to a smaller, flesh-eating type of dinosaur.

Apparently the carnivore, lurking in the jungle, had stalked the bulky but defenseless monster. Whether it caught a brontosaurus is unknown. As the work crew uncovered and cleared the trail, the prints suddenly disappeared under tons of clay and limestone deposited later.

Ice Cream Man to Run Gauntlet

Judge Holland Anxious to Test Peddling Rule Effected in Pontiac

Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday called for a test case in order that Pontiac's controversial ice cream peddling ordinance might be settled.

The Oakland County judge requested the case after dismissing three appeals on the ordinance to Circuit Court on the grounds "there are no sworn complaints" to make the appeals valid.

In order that a test case may be started, Sam Wineman, 45, of Detroit, volunteered to peddle ice cream in the city in his Penguin Ice Cream Co. truck. City police will watch the truck in order that any violation might be used to initiate the new case.

Wineman's attorney, Paul W. Harty, of Southfield Township, said he was anxious for the violation to be brought before Pontiac Municipal Court in order that it might be appealed.

The city ordinance, passed several years ago, prohibits selling of ice cream from trucks unless a helper is with each to protect children from traffic hazards. The law also prohibits use of attracting devices, such as bells.

Judge Holland instructed Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart to allow the sale of ice cream in the city pending his decision on the test case.

Car Is Driven Without Oil in S. Africa Test

DURBAN, S. A.—In a recent test in South Africa, a standard 1955 American car with 37,000 miles on the speedometer was driven for 100 miles around Durban without any oil in the engine.

Dave Illing, a racing motorist, made the experiment to test the anti-friction properties of a mineral called molybdenum-disulfide, which when added to engine oil forms a protective coating. With a half pint of the mineral added to the engine oil the car was driven 15 miles and the oil then drained out, observers reported.

The car then was driven, during the no oil test, at 35 miles per hour and the temperature remained constant at 160 degrees. A check showed no damage, it was claimed.

Bob Considine Says:

Wild West Show Going to Brussels Fair

NEW YORK (INS) — Somewhere on the high or low seas of the Atlantic at the moment, on the good Norwegian ark Hoegh Silver Beam, bound for Antwerp, God save King Baudouin, are 219 head of livestock: Five buffalo, 40 steers, 20 bulls and more horses than have beaten Silky Sullivan in the last fortnight.

The beasts' purposes are twofold.

1) To show the visitors at the Brussels World's Fair that biped Americans are more virile than the fashion show and cockeyed art at the U.S. Pavilion might indicate and, 2) To enable Bob Hope and John Wayne to pay their income taxes.

We'll consider point two first.

Hope and Wayne are major stockholders in something called Cramer Rodeo Shows, of which Gene Autry is president and, still of which, a fellow named Casey Tibbs, who can actually ride a horse, is star performer. The company hopes to gross $250,000 a week at harvesting fair-goers, even though the rodeo will be outside the fair grounds proper.

Some of our older westerners are beginning to appear on European and Asiatic TV screens. The only real danger the stockholders, managers and performers will face may be an enraged group of customers from Madagascar demanding an immediate appearance of William S. Hart, currently the Perry Como of WMAD-TV.

The crazy, mixed-up Norwegian garbage scow that departed from New York Wednesday also had in its vociferous hold some 10,300 bleacher seats, plus lighting gear, sound boxes, six covered wagons, one stage coach and 20 teepees.

To populate the canvas Levittown, some 60 Sioux will be flown to Brussels May 30, after a fast flight from their South Dakota reservation to Denver. Three days later, 60 cowboys and 30 cowgirls will head them off at the pass, if Pan American World Airways can arrange it that way. Eventually, they'll all get together—more or less—in the arena outside the World Fair wall.

Also airborne will be the roof of the 10,300-seat rodeo arena. The roof weighs nine tons. It covers four acres, and is made of vinyl plastic (by U.S. Rubber), colored red, white and blue. It will be inflated over the whole business. If there's enough left, it will go around, too. It's a preview of the circus tent of the future. It could bring back the full tent show. It could even bring back my friend John Ringling North.

I have at hand some alarming statistics about photography, picked up recently while in Rochester, N.Y., home of Eastman Kodak and of my insurance man, Art Holzman, a latter day Louis Jacques Mande Daguerre.

Those blurred or wonderful shots you took last year added up to a $3 billion business. If you shot in color, the bill came to $640,000,000 nationally. Just 55 per cent of all pictures were taken by women. (The remaining 45 per cent was directed by them, you can be sure.)

The family, en toto, remains the number one subject in the matter of exposed film, even in those days of the off-beat triangular F.2 with a Japanese rear-pleat. Forty-eight per cent of all film shot last year concerned family groups. Kids were second, vacation trips third.

The astonishing number of 31-

500,000 U.S. families own cameras and another 1,200,000 regularly rent cameras. Still another 4,300,000 families own cameras but say to hell with them, and don't use them, and this is a group we'd like to talk to someday, too.

There are 1,150,000 do-it-in-one-minute cameras regularly stewing out 60-second productions, and a quarter million three-dimensional buffs are showing viewers at as many more or less reluctant guests right now. This year of recession will be photographed, embarrassingly enough, by 5,900,000 new addicts.

Let Vesuvius blow its top worse than it did in 79 A.D. We'll leave a lovely record of our times, mainly stills of sullen or squinting children or, in the case of our home moving-pictures, large families advancing en masse on the camera, waving.

Shipbuilding Firm Tool Matter of Big Money

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Back in 1936 the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company purchased a huge heavy-duty engine lathe for $6,000. In 20 years it was depreciated on the books in the amount of $6,300 and in profits.

this amount set aside for replacement.

It was sold for $3,700, making $10,000 available for replacement. The new lathe cost $36,000 and $26,000 had to be taken from profits after taxes. Taxes amounted to $54 per cent of earned profit and, therefore, $57,000 had to be earned to replace the old lathe.

HAND-CARVED HIGHWAY — Across Formosa's lofty mountains a new highway will link the country's east and west coasts, provide access to untapped natural resources. Most of the highway is being hewn by hand out of rocky cliffs like this one.

Building New Highway for Chiang's Aged Army

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Nationalist China is about to gain a fortune in untapped natural resources because Uncle Sam decided to help some Chinese soldiers who had grown too old to fight.

This is the unexpected result of a joint U. S.-Nationalist China operation that was originally designed to whip Chiang's army into shape.

In 1954, U. S. military observers found Chinese forces on Formosa drastically weakened by about 80,000 men who were either too old or sick for duty.

Unless the old timers were replaced by new blood, Chiang's chances of withstanding an all-out Communist onslaught were slim.

But where could thousands of discharged soldiers go in an overcrowded country already suffering from employment problems?

Formosa's mountainous geography had squeezed most of its 10 million population into the narrow coastal plains. To find jobs and homes there for 80,000 more people would have been impossible.

Many of these men were completely untrained to hold down civilian jobs. Others desperately needed long-term medical treatment.

Providing them with a pension for the rest of their lives would have put too big a drain on Chinese government funds.

The U. S. solved the problem with a 48 million dollar program designed to strengthen the armed forces and provide the old servicemen with a profitable livelihood at the same time.

Six million dollars was authorized to equip young able-bodied Chinese soldiers who were drafted to replace the old timers. The rest of the money was earmarked to prepare the discharged servicemen for useful civilian lives.

The U. S. International Cooperation Administration set up several important national development projects to help create jobs. It was one of these projects which unexpectedly opened the door to what is destined to become an economic windfall for the Chinese.

Plans were made for a coast-to-coast 200-mile highway which would cut across the island's lofty mountains, and a survey team was dispatched to explore the proposed route.

They returned with startling evidence that the area was a virtual treasure chest of natural resources worth untold millions. A highway across the mountain peaks would give the Nationalists easy access to rich deposits of gold, marble, white mica, granite, coal, asbestos, manganese, iron and copper.

It would snake across land which offered an excellent potential for lucrative farming and cattle raising. Also, the area was covered with valuable timber ready for cutting.

The surveyors reported that wild mulberry trees could turn the mountains into an important silk producing region. And three rivers provided several sites for vital power producing hydro-electric plants.

Future development of the resources is expected to provide excellent job opportunities for the discharged servicemen, ICA officials explain. They will be able to settle in the region under a special homestead plan worked out by the Chinese government. Many of the 5,000 soldiers working on the highway already have started building farms.

So far, 70,000 unit servicemen have been discharged. Many of these have gone to work on the national development projects. Others have been helped to get jobs with public service or private enterprises.

More than 9,000 are receiving vocational training which will help them to hold down specific jobs, many of them in private industry. And about 15,000 are hospitalized or confined to old soldiers' homes. But ICA officials believe half of these will soon be rehabilitated and ready for work.

HOW'S THAT AGAIN? — By the time a motorist finished reading the five signs on this post in Pittsburgh, Pa., he'd probably have gotten a ticket. Now, see if you can figure out those signs. It's what is known as piling confusion on confusion. There is one unqualified statement visible — the speed limit is 25 miles per hour.

Wants to Make National Anthem Easier to Sing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lucy Monroe recommended today that Congress make it easier to sing the Star Spangled Banner.

The brunette singer testified before a House Judiciary subcommittee considering various bills to provide an official version of the national anthem.

Rep. Joel T. Broyhill (R-Va.) said he started a search for an official version only to find none exists. The Star Spangled Banner was officially designated in 1931, but no standard version is set forth in the law. Broyhill said 171 versions are on file at the Library of Congress.

Miss Monroe, who often sings the anthem at public gatherings, said she always asks the audience to join in.

"Audiences have difficulty with the high notes in the middle and again in the end," she said.

"Paul Taubman's proposed version would make only the smallest changes, leaving the tune as beautiful and stirring as it has always been," she said. "These changes would give the song an added richness of sound and would allow all of us to join in with greater assurance of joy."

With 30 More Teachers Needed, Rochester to Vote on Tax Levy

ROCHESTER — Completion of school construction and the entering of senior high school by a large war-baby class will require 30 more teachers in the Rochester Community School District next fall, Supt. Donald C. Baldwin said today.

This will add approximately $150,000 to the teachers' salary budget, he said in a prepared statement. To pay for the increase, voters will be asked in the June 9 school district election to approve the renewal of the 5 mill operating tax levy for another five years.

Opening of the 13-room Meadow Brook Elementary School and the seven-room addition to the North Hill School will allow for a redistribution of children, bringing the average elementary load to about 25 pupils per classroom, Baldwin said.

Barring poor weather, contractors may be able to complete the addition to the Woodward School sooner than anticipated. It should be ready for occupancy early in September, he said.

Twenty-three more teachers will be needed to staff the new rooms, according to the superintendent, plus another five for the war-baby class of 320 10th graders.

REPLACE 150 GRADUATES

They will replace a graduating high school class of 150, he pointed out.

The Junior High School continues to suffer from overcrowding, Baldwin stated. New elementary school facilities will permit one or two classrooms to be allocated to the junior high, but this will call for two more teachers, he said.

Increasing enrollment is the biggest problem facing the school district, Baldwin said.

It has been estimated that a class of 450 kindergarten pupils, plus transfer students will bring the school enrollment next fall to about 4,250.

Ex-Birmingham Mayor Is Southfield Attorney

SOUTHFIELD — Former Birmingham mayor, James C. Allen, has been appointed city attorney of Southfield.

His appointment to the post three weeks ago by Mayor Donald L. Swanson had been delayed until the council could agree on a salary arrangement.

Allen will receive a minimum of $8,000 a year, plus $100 a day in court or $25 an hour.

Rochester Will Block Main Street for Sale

ROCHESTER — Main street from 3rd to 5th street will be blocked off from 7 a.m. tomorrow through 9 p.m. Saturday night for the big U-Auto-Buy days in Rochester.

Main street will take on the appearance of a huge outdoor auto showroom. New and used cars will be on display to be sold by all auto dealers in the area. Car salesmen will be in cowboy hats and garb and an aerial bomb will be fired at the completion of each sale.

A carnival atmosphere will prevail for two days and the Downtown Merchants Association will provide many entertainment features, including a merry-go-round, pony rides, theater matinee at 2 p.m. Saturday, and a square dance at 9 p.m. Friday at Fourth and Main streets.

Prizes will be given at drawings at 7 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Saturday.

Robert Warren, Clifford VanAken and Ray Rammner are co-chairmen for the two day program.

Tourist Boom Expected

Artists, Technicians Busy Restoring Fort Mackinac

MACKINAC ISLAND — A team of artists and technicians is working almost as hard on Fort Mackinac as the pioneers who built it in the late 1700s.

As a result, there will be a Fort Mackinac this summer closely resembling the one known by the early fur traders and Indians.

The job of restoring the fort is being rushed in anticipation of a tourist boom during the first summer following the opening of the Straits Bridge.

A center of attraction will be a new museum on the old barracks building. Exhibitions dating back to revolutionary and War of 1812 times are being installed under the supervision of Dr. Eugene T. Peterson, director of the State Historical Commission Museum.

on loan to the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

Dirk Gringhuis, East Lansing author and artist, has been putting finishing touches on several large murals.

The murals show Indians enjoying a game of lacrosse and voyageurs racing their canoes and batteaux toward the island beach with the fort high in the background.

Dr. Moreau S. Maxwell, archaeologist with the Michigan State University Museum, is advisor to the group, making sure of authenticity of details.

The work is being speeded by recent State Municipal Finance Commission action approving the sale by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission of $50,000 in revenue bonds to improve, equip and furnish the fort.

WILL MODEL FOR HOSPITAL — Susan Shepley pins a flower on her mother, Mrs. Walter C. Shepley, in rehearsal for Monday night's Community Hospital benefit fashion show to be held at the Romeo Youth and Civic Center. Looking on is Frances Mary Castellucci.

Benefit for Community Hospital

32 to Model in Fashion Show

ROMEO — A California high board fence and evergreens will provide the backdrop for 32 models as they appear on stage next Monday evening in the hospital benefit show at the Romeo Youth and Civic Center for the new Community Hospital. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

The Romeo Auxiliary of the Community Hospital Foundation and the Romeo Monday Club are co-sponsors of the event. Chairmen are Mrs. Walter C. Shepley, representing the auxiliary which has charge of the between-acts entertainment, and Mrs. George McKeough, past president of the Monday Club, who is directing the show.

The program will open with 12 little girls showing summer clothes from the Romeo Children's Shop. The tiny models will be Kim Kasari, Cheryl and Kathy Gamelin, Amy West, Nancy and Suzie Arbron, Jennie Gaines, Debbie Taft, Mary Ann and Ruth Page, Susan Shepley and Frances Schmidt.

Then the main portion of the show will begin with teenage and career girls appearing in bathing suits and sportswear. Mothers and daughters will be featured in the next segment, wearing daytime and afternoon dresses.

The climax of the show will be the appearance of the attractive girls and women in more formal evening wear. All of the fashions will be from Perkins Dress Shop.

These models will be Kathy Gaines, Marlene Schoenherr, Jennette Gates, Ellen and Carol Heide-man, Joanne Ellis, Mary Lynn Priest, Sue Lindsay, Lynda Shepley, Mary Martell and Frances Mary Castellucci, all of Romeo.

Others will be Betty Cole, Nancy Rainer, Mrs. Stuart Card, Mrs. Shepley, Mrs. Janet Martell, Mrs. Wayne Kargi and Mrs. Donald Cole, all of Romeo, and Mrs. Donald Marcus of Auburn Heights.

Intermission entertainment will be provided by talented youngsters in the community. Tom Vos and Ronnis Ross will play several selections on their cornets. A Romeo High School clarinet quartet composed of Nancy Ojala, Nancy Bartholomew, Judy Rauch and Gloria Garrison also will play.

A high school singing group will don outfits reminiscent of the "roaring twenties" for their rendition of "Sugartime."

Prizes will be given out between acts and the entire proceeds will be turned over to the Community Hospital.

Hint Out-of-Court Settlement Possible

Recess Caribou Inn Condemnation Suit

CLARKSTON — The on-again, off-again Caribou Inn condemnation suit is off again until June 3.

Although Oakland County Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick and attorneys refused to tell the reason for the recess, it was hinted that an out-of-court settlement might be possible.

The suit involving property on which the old village landmark stands was adjourned Wednesday afternoon as Village Attorney Milton F. Cooney continued to put witnesses on the stand to show why the community desires the 132 by 186-foot lot for off-street parking.

Democrats to Meet on Platform Issues

LANSING — Michigan Democrats, not showing any superstition, have listed 13 subjects to be considered Saturday as possible issues for their 1958 platform.

Democratic leaders plus representatives of more than 200 organizations have been invited to attend the day-long meeting here by Gov. Williams.

"Purpose of the day," Williams said, "is to make the 1958 Democratic platform more responsive to the will of the people."

Morning panels will cover agriculture, civil rights, conservation and recreation, economic policy, elementary and secondary education and state government.

The afternoon session will have panels on higher education, public works, welfare and social security, international affairs, local government, public health and traffic and industrial safety.

Views expressed will be considered when the party drafts its state platform at the Aug. 23 state convention at Grand Rapids, Democratic leaders said.

Keego Picks Avery to Head Appeals Unit

KEEGO HARBOR — Howard Avery, a member of the Keego Harbor City Council, has been appointed to the Building Board of Appeals by the council.

The council also adopted an amendment to the city parking meter ordinance which requires time changes to be posted on the meters.

In other action, the council approved the rezoning of property needed for the construction of a new post office, on Cass Lake road across from the Roosevelt Elementary School, from residential to commercial use.

Bids will be asked on a new police car, it was decided.

Farmington Garden Club to Hold Benefit Party

FARMINGTON — The Farmington Garden Club will hold its annual benefit card party Saturday at Farmington High School on Shawansee road near Orchard Lake road. Dessert will be served at 1 p.m.

Proceeds will be used in the club's various civic improvement projects, according to Mrs. S. H. Kosmensky, general chairman.

Library Sets Up Two Fund Days at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Community Library Committee has designated Friday and Saturday as tag days in a drive to raise funds to meet operating expenses.

Library representatives will be stationed at strategic places in Walled Lake.

Mrs. Margaret Hughes was elected to her third term as library committee chairman at a recent election. Each term is for one year.

Others elected were Mrs. Dorothy Meagley, vice chairman and chairman of community relations; Mrs. Pearl Wallace, recording secretary; Mrs. Trudy Champe, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Joyce Garland, treasurer; Mrs. Myrtle Joramo, head librarian; Mrs. Ruth Brede, book committee; Mrs. Gertrude Bailey and Mrs. Ida Van Lare, co-chairmen of ways and means committee.

Lions at Orion Will Sell Brooms for Leader Dogs

LAKE ORION — The Lake Orion Lions Club will sponsor a broom sale Friday evening and Saturday of products made by the Flint School for the Blind.

A foot will be set up tomorrow evening at the corner of Broadway and Flint streets. Saturday members of the Lions Club will conduct a door-to-door sale in the village and township.

Proceeds will go to Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., in Rochester, and to the club's project fund, according to Silas Adams, chairman.

Austin to Head Civil Service

Ex-Chairman Defends Commissions Formed Under State Act

In a brief meeting last night, the Pontiac Civil Service Commission elected Stuart Austin as chairman.

Austin was nominated by Commissioner Gerald Guinan and was unanimously elected. He succeeds Theodore Carlson who was elected chairman when civil service was first adopted for the police department by the voters.

The only other business was a defense of the Civil Service Act by Carlson.

Carlson asked Chief Herbert W. Straley if he thought civil service was detrimental to the operation of the police department.

Straley replied, "The way it is administered in Pontiac it is detrimental."

He refused to elaborate except to say the act could hinder recruitment by insisting on a one-year residence before a man could join the department.

Carlson replied that the city charter also had a residence requirement.

The chief said the act, by making the city manager the appointing and disciplinary authority, hindered his own powers to run the department.

"Under civil service we have to make a federal case to maintain proper discipline—that's not right."

Carlson said that local charter civil service as suggested in the Public Service Administration study of the police would not work.

"It is too easy for politicians to break local rules. The state law has teeth in it. That's why they don't like civil service."

Carlson defended the act further by saying it gave ample probationary time in which to study the character and performance of new men. "Six months is long enough to know a man," he said.

Discussing the hearings held under the act, Carlson said they perhaps had been too formal and legalistic.

Paul Merideth, attorney for the Police Officers Assn., said the hearings were the only concrete results the commission had achieved in its year of existence.

"We knew the hearings would be appealed to circuit court, so we needed formal hearings. Court review of disciplinary hearings is a good feature of the act."

The commission then passed a resolution thanking Carlson for his work as chairman, to which he replied, "I hope you (Austin) have a better year than I had. It was pretty rugged."

It's No Flying Saucer

McMINNVILLE, Ore. (INS) — City police, called to investigate reports a "flying saucer" was hovering over the National Guard armory, reported: "Runaway kite!"

Joan Kukuk of Avon Weds in Mount Clemens Rite

AUBURN HEIGHTS — St. Louis Catholic Church in Mount Clemens was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Joan Helen Kukuk to Patrick M. McCarthy.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kukuk of Auburn road in Avon Township. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Raymond McCarthy of Mount Clemens.

The new Mrs. McCarthy chose a gown of Chantilly lace, featuring long tapered sleeves, a sash neckline and a skirt of ruffled tulle tiers ending in a chapel train of lace.

A sequin and pearl studded coronet held in place her scalloped finger-tip veil of French illusion. She carried a white orchid and lilies of the valley arranged on her mother's lace-covered prayer book.

Maid of honor was Colleen Wall and bridesmaid was Mary Lou NIROBI, Kenya—Employing new techniques, scientists are making an attack all around the world on malaria this year, Nairobi, learns.

It is not known that it is more effective, in the long run, to kill adult mosquitoes in homes and buildings than to kill the larvae in the swamps or rivers. The malaria parasite is doomed more speedily in the developed mosquito and the new methods of spraying make more sure of its destruction. On the Mediterranean island of Crete, malaria was routed in a three-year battle.

In the tropical areas of Africa, people must still take preventive medicine every day. In Ceylon, Thailand and Afghanistan millions still are exposed to the malaria risk.

Two-Car Collision Injures Six in Orion

Six persons were injured yesterday in a two-car collision at 5:20 p.m. on M24, near Indianwood road, Orion Township.

Treated at Lapeer County General Hospital for cuts and bruises were Edith May Chapin, 68, of 264 Carpenter Rd., Fostoria, and Elsie Thatcher, 45, Dean Thatcher, 4, and Frances M. Thatcher, 59, all of Otter Lake.

Admitted to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak, was Mildred Edwards, 53, of 4015 Edgar, Royal Oak. She is in fair condition today with contusions of the chest and right arm.

Treated at Beaumont was Linda Light, 18 months, of the same address.

Her mother, Phyllis Jean Light, 32, was one of the drivers. The other was Mrs. Chapin.

Walled Lake Park Opens for New Summer Season

Walled Lake Park has opened for the summer season. The amusement center features the tallest roller-coaster in Michigan, the "Flying Dragon," a brilliantly-colored merry-go-round, and numerous other rides for adults and children.

Picnic and swimming facilities are available as well as exciting speed boat rides and boats for fishing.

Clinton Man's Body Recovered by Divers

Divers from the Macomb County Sheriff's Department yesterday recovered the body of James Ingram, 50, Clinton Township father of six who was drowned Tuesday afternoon when his car plunged into a water-filled gravel pit four miles north of Mount Clemens.

The body was found 10 feet from where the car had been pulled out Tuesday evening. Efforts to recover the body were delayed because of darkness and several feet of mud at the base of the pit.

Ingram was traveling at a high rate of speed, witnesses told deputies, when he lost control on a soft shoulder and crashed through a wire fence. He was alone in the car.

TERRIER IS OUTFOXED — "Hello there. Fancy meeting you here." Bits, the hunt terrier seems to have ferreted out a fox, but actually, Bits is just practicing. The fox is stuffed, but Bits had nothing to do while the horse show was in progress in Ascot, England, so he brushed up on his hunting form.

Terms Often Puzzle Novices

Wall Street Investors Speak Their Own Language

NEW YORK (INS) — New investors — and even many seasoned ones — are often puzzled by the language of Wall Street. Some of the expressions in the investment world have filtered down from the days when brokers traded securities under a button-wood tree in downtown Manhattan.

A number of the more frequently employed terms are listed in the glossary below.

BEAR — Someone who believes the stock market will decline.

BULL — One who believes the market will rise.

BIG BOARD — A popular term for the New York Stock Exchange.

BLUE CHIP — Common stock in a company known nationally for the quality and wide acceptance of its products or services, and for its ability to make money and pay dividends in good times and bad.

BOND — Basically an IOU or promissory note on a corporation, usually issued in multiples of $1,000. A bond is evidence of debt on which the issuing company usually promises to pay the holder a specified amount of interest for a certain number of years, and to repay the loan at a specified expiration date.

CAPITAL GAIN — (Or capital loss) Profit (or loss) from sale of a capital asset such as stocks or bonds. A capital gain may be either short-term (six months or less) or long-term.

CONVERTIBLE — A bond, debenture or preferred share of stock which may be exchanged by the owner for the common stock or another security, usually in the same company, in accordance with terms of the issue.

DAY ORDER — An order to buy or sell stock at a specified price which expires at the end of the day the order is given unless executed. An investor may instead give a longer time period or an order good until cancelled (GTC).

DEBENTURE — A promissory note backed solely by the general credit of a company and not secured by a mortgage or lien on any specific property.

DISCRETIONARY ACCOUNT — An account in which the customer gives the broker discretion — complete or within certain limits — as to the purchase and sale of securities, including selection and price.

EX-DIVIDEND — A synonym for "without dividend." The buyer of a stock selling ex-dividend does not receive the recently declared dividend.

LONG — Signifies ownership of securities. An investor who says he is "long 100 Ford" means he owns 100 shares of Ford.

MARGIN — The amount paid by an investor when he uses credit to buy a security, the balance being advanced by the broker. The initial payment currently, under Federal Reserve Board regulations, is 70 per cent.

MARGIN CALL — A demand by the broker to the customer to put up money or securities. This is generally done when the customer's equity in a margin account declines below a minimum amount set by the firm or the exchange where the stock is listed.

OVER-THE-COUNTER — A market for securities not listed on an exchange. Dealing is transacted, usually by telephone, among security dealers who may or may not be members of a stock exchange.

PAPER PROFITS — An unrealized profit on securities still held.

PROFIT-TAKING — Selling to convert a paper profit into cash.

PUTS AND CALLS — Options which give the right to buy or sell a fixed amount of a certain stock at a specified price within a designated time period. A call is the right to buy; the put gives the holder the right to sell.

SHORT SALE — Sale of a stock the individual does not own in the belief it will decline and he can buy the stock at a lower price. The investor's broker in the interim borrows the stock sold.

Palace Denies Princess Meg to Get Engaged

LONDON (UP) — A Buckingham Palace denial of another report that Princess Margaret will get engaged to Peter Townsend after all puzzled British newspapers today.

The press wondered why the palace had bothered to deny the report published in a Geneva paper from its London correspondent. The report followed a dinner meeting of Group Capt. Townsend and the 27-year-old princess, who announced in 1955 she wouldn't marry him because he is divorced.

The palace explained it issued the denial because the report was picked up by a British news agency and distributed throughout the world which tended to lend the report authority.

The Laborite Daily Herald observed, "Similar rumors have been published abroad before. They are usually ignored by the palace (and) might otherwise have been ignored in this country."

The tabloid Daily Sketch said the princess and the World War II ace still agreed with her 1955 statement that she had no intention of marrying him.

"It was because of this understanding they have had their recent meetings—three in the last eight days," the paper said. "We understand that it is fully intended that they shall meet again when the group captain returns from the travels he is to begin on Saturday," the tabloid added.

Townsend is going to the Continent. Princess Margaret leaves tonight for a vacation in Scotland with her mother, Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Calls for Reappraisal of Latin American Policy

Nixon Ventures Into Dulles' Backyard

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon steps right into Secretary of State Dulles' backyard and calls for a reappraisal of American policy toward Latin America. Dulles has not admitted a single error in handling Latin Americans.

Does this look like the beginning of a head-rubbing contest between the two men? It's not likely. Nothing Nixon has publicly proposed so far, or is expected to propose, goes much beyond generalities.

Since both men are key members of the Eisenhower administration — and haven't locked horns since they took office in 1953 — there's no reason to expect conflict now.

Nixon, the most likely Republican presidential candidate in 1960, will hardly do anything to split the party or hand the Democrats brickbats for free. And Dulles has enough troubles all around the world without taking on Nixon.

The vice president, horse after facing mob violence in Peru and Venezuela and hostile demonstrations almost everywhere he went in Latin America, talked to a National Press Club luncheon yesterday.

He took a poke at the diplomats who work for Dulles' State Department — but this was far from a poke at Dulles — by saying it's high time the diplomats in Latin America pay more attention to labor leaders, students and newspapermen there.

He jibed at them for spending too much time and attention on the cocktail and white tie dinner circuits. While Dulles brushed aside at his Tuesday news conference any idea that there is broad anti-Americanism in Latin America, Nixon did say it would be a great mistake to attribute to the Communists all the troubles he encountered.

He pointed out such causes of Latin-American resentment — which he said the Communists exploited — as these: a belief this country has supported dictatorships, and a decline in Latin-American exports to this country.

Dulles has acknowledged some economic factors are behind the Latin-American demonstrations. And he talked at length on American policy towards dictators without indicating any change.

It is understood Nixon in a couple of weeks will recommend to President Eisenhower and Dulles some ideas for offsetting Communist influence in Latin America. For instance: a colder attitude towards dictators.

But Nixon himself on his tour created some ill will for this country by stopping off in Paraguay and showing friendship for South America's last remaining dictator, Paraguay's President, Alfredo Stroessner.

Brian Bell, Associated Press reporter in Argentina, wrote of the effects of Nixon's visit with Stroessner as follows:

Diplomatic sources in Buenos Aires said Nixon's visit to Paraguay might have triggered the riots he encountered later in Peru and Venezuela. Bell quoted one diplomat as saying: "When Nixon included Paraguay in his trip, many South Americans took this as a direct slap at their hard fight for democratic government. It is difficult to see why Paraguay was included in (Nixon's) tour."

Remember the good old days, when your take-home pay was enough to take you home? . . . Description of a B-way character: "Not only do his checks bounce, but they're made of a very poor grade of rubber."

Security for You

Civil Service, SS Retirement Different

By RAY HENRY
More than 95 out of 100 working people are covered by either Social Security or Federal Civil Service Retirement.

Yet, the two systems only have these main things in common: (1) A worker covered by either must pay a portion of his wages into the system, and (2) in return, he and his family may be entitled to monthly payments should he die, become disabled or retire in old age.

Here is a comparison of the major elements of the two systems:

Contributions—Under Social Security, a worker must now pay a tax of 2½ per cent of all his wages up to $4,200 a year. His employer must match this amount. Self-employed persons must now pay a tax of 3½ per cent on their net earnings up to $4,200 a year. The tax is scheduled to increase every five years until 1975 when it will level off at 4½ per cent each for a worker and his employer and 6½ per cent for a self-employed person. The tax is never refunded to a worker.

Under Civil Service, a government worker must contribute 6½ per cent of his basic salary per year into the system. The government must match this amount. There are no plans to increase the size of the contributions. A worker may be refunded the full amount of his contributions if he quits government work.

Retirement eligibility—Under Social Security, a male worker may retire and collect payments only after he reaches 65 and a female worker after she reaches 62. The payments may only be collected after a person has worked under Social Security between 1½ and 10 years, the exact amount of time depending on a person's year of birth.

Under Civil Service, there are three main ways a government worker may retire and collect monthly payments. He may retire at 62 if he has at least five years' government work, at 60 if he has at least 30 years service and between 55 and 60 on reduced monthly payments if he has at least 30 years of service.

Retirement payments—Under Social Security the size of a worker's monthly payments are roughly based on the monthly average of his wages on which he paid Social Security tax between Jan. 1, 1951, and when he retired. The highest payment is now $108.30.

Under Civil Service, a government worker's retirement payments are roughly based on the number of years he worked and on the five continuous years of work in which he had his highest earnings. The payments for a person with 30 or more years of government work are always more than half of his monthly wages during the five years in which he had his highest earnings. A person with 42 years service can collect monthly payments of 80 per cent of monthly wages during his high five years, but 60 per cent is as high as anyone can ever get.

Survivor payments—Under Social Security, the close relatives of a worker may usually receive monthly survivor payments when the worker dies. The payments to a widow are usually three-fourths of what the worker would have collected had he lived to collect retirement payments.

Payments to children are usually one-half of what a worker would have collected.

Under Civil Service, a government worker must have put in at least five years of service for his widow and dependent children to collect payments. The payments to a widow are one-half of what the worker would have collected had he lived until retirement age. The payments to a child are generally $30 a month, with a high of $150 a month for all children.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service. You may obtain Ray Henry's new social security handbook by sending 35 cents in coin to this newspaper and requesting "Security for You" booklet.)

Loyal One on Probation

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — In arranging a dinner honoring John Harris, manager of an airline communications office, on his retirement after 28 years service, it was discovered that Harris still was carried on company records as a probationary employee. Feeding Arms to Nasser

Soviet Policy Unchanging

By JOHN H. MARTIN
Russia warns the United States not to "intervene" in Lebanon's crisis — but keeps shipping arms into the explosive Middle East. Soviet policy has not changed much since the Russians first jumped into the Middle East years ago at the time of the first East-West summit conference in Geneva.

Moscow's peace propaganda called for the chiefs of government meeting and President Eisenhower and other Western leaders responded. While this was going on, the Russians were shipping big quantities of arms to President Gamal Abdel Nasser in Egypt.

Nasser, cursed and derided as an "imperialist" by Arab leaders who do not want to be swallowed by him, rode out the Anglo-French-Israeli attack of 1956. This was due in large part to the powerful American influence in ending hostilities although the U.S. got scant thanks from Nasser.

Nasser later got Syria handed to him on a plate in the formation of the United Arab Republic. Then little Yemen became a partner. And all three nations are being supplied with equipment in their cold war with the Western powers and their degrees of hot war in the Middle East.

Turkish customs authorities now have disclosed that the number of arms-laden freighters going through the Bosphorus from Russia sian Black Sea ports to the Mediterranean is increasing rapidly.

In the first two weeks of May a total of 147 ships — mostly loaded with heavy military material such as tanks and spare parts — entered the Mediterranean. This compared to a total of 46 for the entire 1957 month of May.

These same ships returned empty almost 10 days later.

Aside from the possibility that some of the material went to the tiny Soviet satellite of Albania adjoining dissident Communist Yugoslavia, the sharp turn-around of the ships indicated that the Nasser-ruled United Arab Republic is getting a big flow of arms.

In short, this is another display of Soviet diplomacy: Accusing the West of intervention and meddling in the Middle East while at the same time building up forces which can and do meddle in the affairs of nations still oriented toward the Western powers.

Highland Gas Station Break-In Reported

A modern factory can handle about 6,000 tons of sugar beets in a day.

Cardinal's Condition Slightly Improved

ROME (AP) — Samuel Cardinal Stritch showed a slight improvement today but still was in serious condition.

"The condition of the cardinal is stationary with a tendency toward improvement," said the brief bulletin from his doctors.

The 70-year-old cardinal Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, suffered a stroke that partially paralyzed him three days ago. He had been recovering from the amputation of his right arm April 28, the result of another blood clot which threatened him with gangrene.

Dr. Filippo Rocchi of the Vatican medical staff said the cardinal had rested well during the night and had been able to take a little nourishment. There were no signs of the slight fever he had yesterday, and he was able to receive communion more easily this morning.

His speech still was limited to a whispered yes or no to questions. But Dr. Rocchi said the prelate had passed the initial "pre-occupying" phase of the cerebral thrombosis.

Dr. Rocchi did not explain his terminology but the doctors had indicated earlier they considered the first 48 hours after the stroke — now past — as an especially critical period.

Partial to Pythons

Keeps Reptiles at Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Man's best friend may be his dog, but 16-year-old Kraig Adler is partial to pythons.

In fact, he's probably the only high school senior in the country who could be late for school and get away with the excuse: "I was sitting up with a sick snake."

HAS 30 SPECIMENS

Young Adler's interest isn't limited to pythons. His live pets run the whole range of reptilia. Included are 30 specimens of snakes, lizards and turtles.

They're kept in glass-front cases lining the walls of the basement in his home. New "faces" appear from time to time as the young herpetologist (student of snakes) buys or sells specimens. His collection presently is valued at about $1,000.

SOME POISONOUS

When Kraig, at the age of 10, bought some chameleons at a circus, it's doubtful his family realized it would lead to such additions as a four-foot python (non-poisonous), a Gila monster (the only one of his poisonous pets kept at home), a boa, a viper from the Tartar steppes of Russia, a skink (water lizard), and possibly the only monitor lizard (2½ feet long) in the United States.

"The main reason I keep my poisonous reptiles at the Columbus Zoo is to protect the people who come to see my collection," Kraig explains. He keeps a snake bite kit around the house, but neither he nor his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Adler, and his brothers Gary 14, and Bruce, 11, have had to use it.

TEACHES OF SNAKES

Reptile collecting has led Kraig into a number of sidelines. He studies foreign languages to keep up his extensive correspondence with a growing number of collectors all over the world, including Russia. He regularly teaches the reptile phase of biology at his high school.

With the addition of little-known reptiles to his collection, he has had to read all available material and then experiment in their care and feeding.

RAISES INSECTS

And he has to arrange food for his specimens. This includes raising his own insects — meal worms — to feed some, and finding lettuce, mice, eggs, hamsters, birds and meat for others.

His collection has also made Kraig something of an expert on U.S. customs regulations. He has even lectured to customs inspectors and post office employees about some of the specimens shipped to him from abroad.

At 16, Kraig is among the youngest members of such organizations as the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists, the Herpetologists' League, and their British counterparts.

HOPES TO BE SURGEON

Despite this interest, he will give up his live reptile collection in June when he graduates from Arlington High School here. Already graduated as a cadet first lieutenant from Culver Military Academy in Indiana, Kraig intends to study medicine, with the hope of becoming a surgeon.

"Maybe after I become a doctor,

Tippler's Training Takes Topsy Toll

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (U) — Police Sgt. Lee Swing, on a rush assignment, observed a familiar figure in a familiar condition near the court house.

Not having time to stop, Swing shouted from his cruiser: "Go on and register in, Allen." Returning some time later, the sergeant found, as he expected that "Allen" had charged himself with being drunk and was sleeping it off.

"It's all a matter of training 'em right," said Swing.

Air Tourists Enjoy Native Life in Tonga

NUKULOFA, Tonga—Although Tonga, in the South Pacific, is still lacking in tourist accommodations, some recent groups which have arrived by air have been entertained successfully, Nukualofa reports.

They were taken to the village of Nukunuku on Tongatapu where a large Tongan house, divided into two by a tapa curtain, housed male and female tourists in the respective halves. Electric light was provided. The beds in each dormitory were gaily decorated with colorful bedspreads.

A typical Tongan feast formed the evening meal, with native dancing and singing as entertainment. Meals were provided in a shelter adjoining the house. The tourists were so pleased that other groups will be accommodated, the funds thus raised going for a new village church in Nukunuku.

Cons Leave in Spring

BOISE, Idaho (U) — Warden L. E. Clapp says the population of the Idaho state penitentiary shows a marked decline every spring and summer. The reason, he explains, is that paroles are only given to prisoners when they have an outside job waiting for them and more jobs are available in the spring and summer months. The United Nations flag was adopted by the General Assembly October 20, 1947.

in Postal Bill*Passage of Proposal
Would Mean $342 Hike
Yearly for Workers

If the present bill up for House passage today is approved and signed by President Eisenhower, Pontiac postal employees will receive an average annual pay hike of $342 according to Acting Postmaster Robert C. Miller.

The bill seeks to hike postal rates to four cents for first class, three cents for a post card and seven cents for air mail letters. It would also boost the pay of 500,000 postal workers as of last January 1 from 7 1/2 to 10 per cent or to 265 million dollars instead of the 257 million figured last week.

According to Miller, the present payroll for the postal employees in Pontiac, excluding rural carriers, is $1,170,410. The hike in pay would bring the annual payroll to $1,285,247 or an increase of $115,000 per year.

The employees will only receive approximately 75 per cent of this figure due to deductions for social security and retirement and income tax and insurance.

According to Miller, 236 of the 250 local employees will get the permanent increase of 7 1/2 per cent plus a 2 1/2 per cent temporary cost of living raise for three years. It then will go back to 7 1/2 per cent.

The other 15 employees, in supervisory capacities, will only receive the 7 1/2 per cent raise.

If the bill, which includes the postal rate hike, passes, the local office "may be able to break even" from now on, he said.

At present, "the office expends $35,000 over and above yearly receipts," he said.

About 726 million pennies were minted in the United States in 1950 or more than three times the total of all the other varieties of coins.

Twins occur once in 88 births and triplets occur once in 7,600 births. Quadruplets occur once in about 670,000 births, and only about 50 verified cases of quintuplets have been recorded.

Possibility Perplexes Education Experts

Should We Drop Progressive Teaching?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — School experts are perplexed by recent demands that educators drop "progressive education" and return to the methods and programs of 30 years ago.

Charges that it's the arch villain of the nation's schools give teachers headaches as they wonder how the modern educational technique could be so controversial and often so completely misunderstood.

Education officials insist that progressive education is not a system which allows children to talk back to teachers, take easy courses and generally dictate the operation of the school. Instead, they explain it's an effort to improve teaching by applying techniques based on the latest advances in psychology, sociology and child development research.

One perplexed school expert declares: "We expect business, medicine and all fields to be progressive, especially where our lives are involved. Are we so unconcerned about our minds that we insist on requiring schooling today to be like the schooling we had 30 or 40 years ago?"

Dr. Sam Lambert, head of the National Education Assn. Research Division, explains that progressive education tries to bring teaching methods up to date so they can better prepare children for the perplexities of modern living. In fact, he points out that progressive education employs techniques that critical parents often take for granted and sometimes even praise.

For instance, it strongly emphasizes making a subject as interesting as possible, Dr. Lambert says. One way progressive education gets at this problem is through the principle of learning by doing.

Education experts believe this technique sparks needed motivation that makes children eager to learn. They believe it's far more effective than the old system which preached that the best way to make a child study was to keep him scared. "Psychologists have proved that people don't learn through a fear technique," Dr. Lambert explains.

Another concept of progressive education is to teach each child according to his individual capabilities. Educators point to psychological studies which prove that all children don't absorb the same amount of knowledge in the same amount of time. That's why advocates of progressive education believe teachers should pay attention to the need of each pupil instead of applying one rigid standard to the whole class.

Dr. Lambert declares that progressive education never advocated the idea that children be allowed to run wild in school. He says, however, that a few educators who misunderstood the principles of the modern teaching system, did allow too much freedom in the classroom. Dr. Lambert believes that the bad reputation which progressive education has among the general public stems partly from these isolated cases.

Actually, progressive education began in the U.S. in 1919 when a group of teachers banded together in an organization called the Progressive Education Assn. Their goal was to try to eliminate old 19th Century teaching methods and replace them with ideas based on recent discoveries in psychology. The organization lasted until 1955. The late philosopher John Dewey of Columbia University was a leading advocate of progressive education.

Although PEA is no longer operating, the impact of its ideas are being felt in schools throughout the country. A recent survey among 2,500 teachers counters the charge that "the American teacher has been taken in by the progressive educator."

The teachers were asked if they considered themselves progressive, traditional or a combination of both.

More than 46 per cent answered that they used both teaching methods but leaned toward progressive. About 43 per cent, who also combined both techniques, said they leaned toward traditional.

About seven per cent believed their teaching was completely progressive. Only slightly more than three per cent said they were strictly traditional.

"BOATCOPTER"—Trying a new version of the "Look Ma, no hands" routine, aircraft designer Igor Bensen shows off his new helicopter boat at Gresham Lake, near Raleigh, N. C. Bensen says the rotor-lifted craft towed by a motorboat, is as easy to handle as a bicycle. Bensen heads the company bearing his name at Raleigh-Durham Airport, which is engaged in manufacturing one-man helicopters.

Say Flying Boat Could Be Used as Atom-Plane

LONDON (INS)—Hopes are soaring that Britain's "Cinderella" aircraft, the mammoth Saunders Roe Princess flying boats, may become America's first nuclear-powered aircraft.

A team of the company's technical experts is flying to Washington to discuss with the U. S. Navy the technical details of adapting the flying-boats for experimental work in atomic air propulsion.

So far no take-over price has been mentioned, but a considerable amount of work would have to be done before the three ships now "mothballed" off the Isle of Wight, where Saunders Roe built them, would be ready for delivery.

Only one of the huge 10-motored planes, costing altogether $28,000,000 went into the air. The other two were mothballed before the motors were installed.

The Princesses, powered with Bristol Proteus turbo-prop motors were designed for a range of 5,000 miles, and to maintain a non-stop haul between Britain and America.

Development was abandoned in 1954 until more powerful motors were available. But the Ministry of Supply, who were responsible for the initial ordering and building of the flying-boats, have never made more powerful powerplants available.

Libya Building Third Capital

Newest City Rising at King Idris' Favorite Summer Retreat

WASHINGTON — The infant kingdom of Libya is building a new national capital, although it already has two.

Tripoli and Benghazi, desert ports of World War II fame, are the present capitals of the north African nation. They have equal status under the Libyan Constitution, but King Idris lives in the latter.

Now a new city is rising at his favorite summer retreat, the village of Beida in Libya's littoral highlands. Unlike the two low-lying capitals, Beida has mountain breezes, clumps of pine and cedar, and abundant water.

Plans are afoot to establish a permanent federal capital there, with possibly a residential suburb at near-by Cyrene.

All these cities have stirring histories, the National Geographic Society reports.

Beida was Idris' frequent camping spot in his struggle against Italian Fascist invaders. The Libyan Embassy in Washington says it also was the death place of a disciple of Islam's prophet Mohammed. Thus it is a religious shrine for Moslems of Arab Libya.

Cyrene's mass of ruined temples, tombs, and amphitheaters — mellowed by time to the color of the landscape — bear witness to the city's past as one of ancient Greece's greatest colonies.

Libyans have been dominated by many peoples. This generation's history is written in Mussolini's ill-starred dreams of empire, and in the annals of Rommel's Afrika Korps and the British Eighth Army. For two years the battles of desert warfare seceded along Libya's coast.

Libya ended the war as a United Nations orphan. On Christmas Eve, 1951, it was taken into the growing postwar family of independent nations. Its provinces, Tripolitania on the west, Cyrenaica on the east, and the landlocked desert of Fezzan, were federated.

Thus began Libya's curious tale of two cities. Tripoli was the queen city of the former Italian colony, Tripolitania. Benghazi was the capital of the province from which Idris and his proud Senussi-tribesmen sprang. Both became capitals, twin cities wholly different in tradition.

Says U.S. Security Timed in Minutes

CLEVELAND (AP)—A leading nuclear scientist says the launching of Sputnik III was final evidence that the security of the United States is measured in minutes.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a leader in the wartime Manhattan Project and who later directed nuclear scientific branches for the War Department, said last night the launching of the latest Soviet satellite eliminated all doubt that the Soviet Union had an intercontinental ballistic missile.

He addressed the annual banquet of the American Foundrymen's Society.

The recent firing of a 3,000-pound satellite, he said, was evidence that the Soviet Union could fire nuclear missiles from its bases to this country in 20 to 30 minutes.

He said efforts to end the atomic race should be intensified and expressed the opinion that a ban on nuclear tests probably was possible since the Soviet Union had as much to lose as this country.

Learn About Anatomy

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—To help ease the burden of secretaries working in local industrial plants, the vocational school initiated a series of 20 lectures on anatomy and related vocabulary to help them prepare insurance claims for illness and accident reports.

Cattle, Lambs Fed on Tranquilizers

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS)—Experiments in which a tranquilizer was mixed in stock feed are reported to have resulted in appreciable weight gains in cattle and lambs.

This was disclosed in Fort Worth by Dr. Ralph P. Soule, Jr., nutritionist for Chas. Pfizer & Company, Inc., of Terre Haute, Ind., at a medicated feed research seminar.

He said daily increases in the weight of cattle have been as much as 10 per cent as a result of adding the tranquilizer to feed. He said also that research information had shown daily weight gains of up to 42 per cent in lambs when fed on the mixture.

Byrd's Ship, Heroine of Alaska Patrols, Antarctic Ice, Now to Return to Sealing

WASHINGTON—An octogenarian fighting lady is expected to come steaming out of retirement soon.

She is the ship Bear, heroine of Arctic ice battles and Antarctic service with the late Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Eighty-three years ago, when the 198-foot three-master was launched in Greenock, Scotland, sail was giving way to steam.

For hazardous duty among the ice floes, she was built of stout oak timbers and sheathed with Australian ironbark, one of the toughest woods known. Her deck was teak. On the solid oak bow, a steel plate was fixed.

Operating out of St. John's, Newfoundland, the Bear made 11 annual trips to the icy sealing grounds of the North Atlantic. Then tragedy called her to the colors in 1883. Members of an expedition led by A. W. Greely were starving on ice-block Ellesmere Island. Their supply ship had been crushed and sunk by the ice.

The United States bought the Bear for $100,000 and sent her north on the rescue mission. After a grinding battle with the floes, she rescued the party—reduced from 25 men to seven by hardship and starvation.

ALASKA SERVICE

The United States Revenue Marine, a forerunner of the Coast Guard, then sent the Bear to Alaskan waters, where she became a legend. Cruising between isolated outposts and Eskimo villages, she delivered mail and supplies and carried such diverse human cargo as missionaries and teachers en route to their posts, and stranded theatrical troops. A migrating Eskimo village was transported in toto, with its tents pitched on deck.

Over much of the Bering Sea patrol, the Bear was the only visible arm of the United States Government. Her crew guarded timber, game, and the seal herd. Coasts were mapped. The ship's doctor looked after the ill in remote regions.

She rescued shipwrecked whalers, and provided law enforcement in quiet villages and roaring gold-rush camps. Her captain judged minor cases. Serious offenders were placed in irons and returned to the United States for trial.

Sometimes a native boat would put out from a village flying a pair of pants and a petticoat from a pole—a signal that the captain would soon be called upon to perform a marriage ceremony on the quarterdeck.

FOUNDED REINDEER HERD

Alaska's wild caribou had been virtually depleted, and other food animals were dwindling in numbers. So the Bear ferried reindeer from Siberia to found a herd as a continuing source of meat and hide. The animals made possible one of the Bear's most dramatic rescues.

In the winter of 1897 about 300 whalers were stranded at Point Barrow in northernmost Alaska when their ships were frozen in the ice. They were in danger of starvation.

The Bear fought her way north as far as ship could go. Volunteers then struggled on by foot and sled. They drove 400 reindeer, the only transportable food. By making a three-month trek over 1,500 miles of snowy, mountainous country, they saved the whalers.

MARINE MUSEUM

After 40 years on the Bering Sea patrol, the Bear was decommissioned and given to the city of Oakland, California, for use as a marine museum. Her active days seemed over.

But Admiral Byrd was searching both coasts for a stout wooden ship to take on his 1933 expedition to the Antarctic.

As he wrote "To take a metal ship deep into the Antarctic, where she must lie alongside granite-hard floes for unloading, is always a hazard."

"Therefore I took a polar ice ship, the Bear of Oakland, as a safeguard for my men. She would also be able to do some important exploring in dangerous, unexplored waters."

Byrd added the words "of Oakland" to the ship's name to honor the city that had made available its museum ship.

It was a tough trip. "I know she was never in worse ice," Byrd wrote. "It couldn't have been worse."

But the Bear not only survived; it brought the expedition home to a big welcome in Washington, D.C.

Again she retired. Then World War II called all able ships to duty, and the Bear patrolled the Atlantic. Once she towed a captured German supply ship into Boston.

Now in retirement for the third time, the Bear is moored in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. But the owners plan to recondition and return the vessel to her earliest trade—hunting seals.

Teenage Couple Killed by Rival for Girl's Love

ALBION, Neb. (U)—An honor student and the daughter of a prominent farm family died in a burst of gunfire last night from the rifle of a rival for the girl's attention.

The shots that shocked this town of 2,132 population were fired by Kermit Keeshan, 17. His father William is a former county attorney and mayor in Albion.

Waterford Jobless Arbitration Board Set

The newly organized Waterford Township Unemployment Arbitration board is now ready for operation, according to its chairman, township attorney Paul Mandel.

Seven businessmen have been appointed to hear the problems of temporarily unemployed residents, and try to aid relations between the creditor and debtor.

Applications are available at the Waterford Township supervisor's office. After they have been filled out and returned, the board will hold hearings at 9 a.m. Wednesday mornings at the Township Offices.

Keeshan tried to kill himself with a bullet in the head after he killed Jerry Sherwood, 18, and Diane Zaruba, 17. He is expected to recover.

Young Sherwood, whose father Lynn is a former school board president, was killed at the rooming house where Diane stayed while in school.

Diane was slain despite the bravery of housewife Mrs. Frank Svoboda, who said she didn't have time to get scared as she tried to keep Keeshan from Diane.

Applications are available at the Waterford Township supervisor's office. After they have been filled out and returned, the board will hold hearings at 9 a.m. Wednesday mornings at the Township Offices.

Apparently there was a struggle between the boys and then a shot that hit Jerry in the heart.

Diane ran screaming from the house toward the Svoboda backyard, where Mrs. Svoboda was working.

A shot hit the running girl in the leg but she hobbled onward to the side of Mrs. Svoboda, who waved her on to the Svoboda back door.

Mrs. Svoboda stood quietly as Keeshan raced up, then, when he came to a halt, slapped him hard in the face. He dropped his gun.

The housewife turned, walked to her back door and stood guard in front of Diane.

But Keeshan picked up his gun. He advanced and fired again at Diane, who was crouched behind Mrs. Svoboda. The shot hit her in the chest.

Keeshan then turned and walked back to the room where Sherwood had died. There he tried to kill himself.

Lynn Sherwood, whose term as school board president expired last week, was scheduled to be the high school commencement speaker tonight when he would have given his son his diploma and a University of Nebraska regents scholarship.

Miss Zaruba's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zaruba, farm in rich territory about 15 miles from Albion.

Woman Dragged as Car Door Closes on Coat

A 68-year-old woman narrowly escaped serious injury when she closed a car door on her coat.

Mrs. Roxie Quinn, 68, of 106 Lull St. got out of the car driven by her husband, Lessley, 72, on Lawrence Street near Saginaw. She was on her way to visit a doctor.

She closed the car door and caught the hem of her coat inside. Her husband started to drive off and pulled her to the pavement before he noticed what had happened.

Mrs. Quinn was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for a dislocated shoulder.

Jimenez' Status in U.S. Probed

Immigration Seeks Way to Deport Venezuelan Ex-Dictator

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Immigration Service is conducting an investigation into former Venezuelan Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez' residence status in the United States, and if the facts warrant will kick him out.

Many Venezuelans blame the recent angry demonstrations against Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the asylum granted to the former dictator and his hated security boss, Pedro Estrada, in the United States.

There were persistent reports in Washington that Estrada had left the country over the weekend and flown to Switzerland. The Immigration Service could neither confirm nor deny these reports, but it was in the process of checking its field offices on the matter.

Rep. Michael Feighan (D-Ohio) asked the government to expel Perez from the country.

Feighan introduced a resolution making it the sense of Congress that the administration "cause the immediate departure" of the former Latin American leader now vacationing in Florida.

The congressman said Perez Jimenez' presence in the United States with some of his aides is one of an "unhappy trend of events" that has caused U.S.-Latin American relations to fall into a state of disrepair characterized by the recent attacks on Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

City to Control Trailer Parks

Rigid Zoning Approved to Keep New Camps Out of Pontiac

A week from Friday, rigid controls preventing location of new trailer parks in Pontiac will go into effect.

They are part of zoning code changes given final approval by the City Commission.

Henceforth, new trailer parks must be approved through amendment of the new zoning laws by the City Commission. They will have to be located in areas specifically zoned for them.

At present, camps can settle in any unlimited manufacturing or commercial zone. The changes provide for a new type zoning classification for trailers.

The city is planning to district only two areas with the new classification. These districts are identical with the boundaries of the city's two existing trailer parks. To get more areas districted would require an amendment.

The plan, originally proposed by the city's administration and approved by the Planning Commission, represents another attempt on the part of the city to keep trailer parks out of Pontiac.

"We think that the zoning changes are the answer," said City Attorney William A. Ewart. "They are perfectly legal and allow for the existence of the two trailer parks here."

"The machinery is also set up for the Commission to allow more trailer parks, if it saw fit to do so."

The new laws were approved by the Commission Tuesday.

The parks are located on Telegraph road north of Beaudette Park and on E. Walton boulevard next to the Pontiac, Oxford & Northern Railway.

Dr. Sicher Says:

'All Men Afraid of Females'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All men, says Dr. Lydia Sicher, are afraid of all women — including their wives.

Dr. Sicher, of course, is a woman.

It's a matter of male inferiority, the psychotherapist insists. The same inadequate feeling that makes men seek to be Casanovas.

The same impulse that makes them gruff toward the fair sex when they don't really feel tough.

The feeling that makes a man go out and pick up a babe when he loses his job. Unconsciously he identifies his failure to keep the job with the fear that he isn't completely masculine.

And so, in almost any situation you could think up, Dr. Sicher would say men invariably are afraid of women.

"In our Western culture the male feels he must constantly prove himself adequate as a man," she told an interviewer. "The result has been that he strives to become a combination of God and Napoleon."

Dr. Sicher, 68, is a consulting psychologist. Her husband is Dr. Harry Sicher, head of the department of anatomy at the Loyola University dental school in Chicago.

She said he lives there and she lives here. She said they see each other occasionally. They have no children.

She is on the staff of the Institute for Individual Psychology here and also on the staff of the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital psychiatric outpatient staff. She said she obtained a degree in medicine and a Ph. D. in Vienna.

Dr. Sicher, disciple of Vienna's famed Alfred Adler, concedes that women constantly are trying to get men under their thumbs.

How does she defend women for this? She says women traditionally have had to take a back seat in public life. Thus, they should be given a chance for self expression.

This doesn't sound so awfully brave. But Dr. Sicher sticks to her point. Even men who kill their estranged wives — an increasingly common type of homicide — are basically afraid.

They may not want their former spouse any longer, but they're afraid she'll go get another guy.

Estate Tops $1 Million

DETROIT (AP) — The late Charles T. Fisher Jr. left an estate of more than a million dollars to his wife and seven children. The will of the president of the National Bank of Detroit who died April 14 at the age of 51 of lung cancer was filed for probate Wednesday. Judge Thomas C. Murphy set a hearing for June 23.

The Amazon river pours about five million gallons per second into the Atlantic ocean.

Italian Officials Cool to Soviet Proposals

ROME (U) — In an obvious attempt to help the Communists in Italy's parliamentary election Sunday, the Soviet Union has sent two peaceful coexistence proposals to Rome. Italian officials gave them a cool reception today.

One was a new offer of a 20-year nonaggression pact. The other was a request that the Italian Parliament join the Soviet Union in opposing rearmament of West Germany.

The pro-Western Christian Democrats, who have dominated all postwar Italian governments, are seeking a majority Sunday for policies which include continued adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Their chief opponents, the largest Communist party in the West and its allied left-wing Socialists, are campaigning for neutralism.

Urges Opening Business Books

Labor Leader Meany Says Checking Records Can Safeguard Funds

WASHINGTON (U) — Organized labor's chief spokesman told Congress today the government should have power to examine the financial records of business as well as labor organizations.

AFL-CIO President George Meany advanced this as one of 16 proposals he said would help safeguard union and employer funds and discourage corruption.

Meany, in testimony prepared for a Senate labor subcommittee considering legislative changes in light of labor scandals, cautioned against tinkering with the Taft-Hartley labor relations act. He said Congress should confine its attention now to helping insure honesty among employers and unions.

Recounting AFL-CIO moves against labor corruption, Meany cautioned against being "misled by the propagandists who have appeared here with cynical propositions, who would use the labor movement's hour of trial for their own nefarious purposes or by those who would subvert the legislative process to cheap political ends."

Meany largely reiterated organized labor's position of opposition to most current labor law proposals but he did not take a firm stand against proposals for secret ballot elections for unions. Previously, the AFL-CIO has opposed them.

Meany advocated generally that the matter of insuring more union democracy be left to the unions to work out, contending they are aiming steadily toward that goal.

Meany recommended public disclosure of all union funds, government power to examine all employer and union financial records, and provision of federal criminal penalties for embezzlement and falsifying financial records.

Fire Hits Plant at Fowlerville

Say $250,000 Blaze Caused Destruction of Home 2 Blocks Away

FWOLVERVILLE (U) — A quarter million dollar fire whipped through a factory here yesterday and was blamed for destroying a house two blocks away.

There were no casualties at either blaze.

The fire began at the Utilex Division of Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. of Ann Arbor.

Fire fighters from Fowlerville and nearby Webberville, Howell and Brighton rushed to the scene. They were helped by volunteers from the plant's 100 employees.

Company officials said quick action by the volunteers saved the die castings plant from destruction.

The home of Russell Risdon, two blocks away, caught fire and was destroyed. His wife was home alone. Their three children were at school and Risdon was at work in Howell. Neighbors said sparks from the factory fire set the house ablaze.

Fowlerville Fire Chief John Copeland said he believed the blaze at the plant was caused by a welding torch.

Starkweather Bets on Electrocutation

LINCOLN, Neb. (U) — Charles Starkweather, who says he is betting he'll be sent to the electric chair, listens today to the final arguments in his murder trial.

The case probably will go to the jury early this afternoon.

As testimony drew to a close yesterday, Starkweather offered to make his bet that he'd die in the electric chair.

He leaned forward and to psychiatrist Dr. John Steinman, a defense witness, said, "I'll bet you a pack of cigarettes that I get a battery charge."

Later Dr. Steinman said "battery charge" was Starkweather's term for the chair.

A jury of eight women and four men will decide the fate of Starkweather, who admits involvement in 11 slayings and admits he shot Robert Jensen, 17, for whose death he is on trial.

The defense pleaded Starkweather innocent by reason of insanity.

3 Attend Institute on Alcohol Problem

Three members of the Pontiac Alcoholic Information Center attended the third annual Alumni Institute for Community Action held at the Michigan Education Association's camp near Battle Creek.

They were Dr. Leon F. Cobb, Mrs. John D. Monroe and Mrs. Frances Kessler.

Purpose of the two-day meeting was to allow alumni of previous national and midwestern institutes on alcohol studies to explore various ways in which Michigan areas may take community action on alcoholism.

Dr. Cobb and Mrs. Kessler are alumni of the Yale University School on Alcohol Studies held in 1956.

Extra $100 Million Asked in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (U) — An additional 100 million dollars for possible emergency foreign aid use was sought today from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which already has tentatively reauthorized 220 millions of House cuts.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed giving President Eisenhower the full 200-million-dollar emergency fund he asked. The House had cut that item in half as part of its 339-million-dollar slash in Eisenhower's over-all $3,942,000,000 foreign aid program for the year starting July 1.

"The anti-American incidents in Latin America, Algeria, Lebanon and Indonesia emphasize the need for an adequate emergency fund for the President's discretionary use," Smith said.

The committee, in tentative voice votes yesterday, approved an authorization of $1,800,000,000 for military assistance abroad, and $35 million dollars for defense economic supports. These are designed to enable allies to maintain military forces their own economies cannot afford alone. The figures were the full amounts Eisenhower asked.

The House had allowed $1,640,000,000 for military assistance and 775 millions for defense supports.

UAW Discusses Contract Terms With Clergymen

DETROIT (U) — The United Auto Workers held a daylong meeting with seven prominent clergymen yesterday to discuss the ethical and moral aspects of the union's new contract demands, including its profit-sharing plan.

The clergymen are members of a panel invited last December by American Motors Corp. to weigh the ethical and moral principles involved in the then-upcoming negotiations between the UAW and that company.

The clergymen said in a statement incorporated in the union report of the meeting only that they appreciated the opportunity for such a meeting.

Chief spokesmen for the UAW were President Walter P. Reuther and Leonard Woodcock, vice president and director of the union's General Motors Department. The discussions covered all major auto company negotiations now in progress.

Clergymen attending the conference included: Rabbi Morris Adler, Detroit; the Rev. Robert Francis Allen, Detroit; the Rev. Cameron P. Hall, New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George G. Higgins, Washington, D.C.; Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, Detroit; Rabbi Eugene J. Lipman, New York; and the Rev. G. Paul Musselman, New York.

Pentagon Eyes Plan to Place Man in Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is studying a dozen proposals to place man in space, including one to rocket a human out of this world and bring him back in a matter of minutes.

But the chief officials of the Defense Department's Advanced Research Projects Agency assured Congress that no American will be hurled beyond the atmosphere until an animal has made the trip and been brought back to earth. They said a chimpanzee may be put in orbit in 12 to 15 months if present studies succeed.

United States plans for space conquest — and money to be spent on them — were disclosed by Roy Johnson, ARPA director, and Dr. Herbert York, its chief scientist, in testimony released today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Johnson testified last month that a 72-million-dollar appropriation request for the fiscal year starting July 1 included money for "man-in-space" research.

But man's safety in space can't be guaranteed within the next 12 months, he said, "regardless of the amount of money that we spend."

ARPA's chief scientists disclosed that the Air Force is now planning a reconnaissance satellite with a gross weight of from 1 to 1½ tons. They said it will take television pictures and pick up radio signals while over potentially unfriendly territory and rebroadcast this intelligence while orbiting over American stations.

York said the Army and Air Force have about a 75 per cent chance of success in getting satellites in orbit around the moon this year. The Army has been authorized to make one or two tries at the moon, and the Air Force three attempts.

BACKWARD GIRL — Turn about evidently is fair play as far as Joy Lynn is concerned as she suns by the sea in Miami, Fla. While she takes in the seascapes, her backward-flipped hat keeps an eye on the camera's birdie.

School System Hit by Nuclear Engineer

DETROIT (AP) — Another verbal punch was thrown at this country's oft-attacked public school system today by a top nuclear engineer.

Dr. Donald H. Loughridge, head of General Motors' nuclear power engineering research staff, said atomic energy will not be able to make its most complete contribution to this nation's future economy unless "the lethargy of America's school system toward basic technological education" is overcome.

Loughridge told the National Assn. of Credit Men's Convention at Detroit that "habits of hard mental work have not been successfully taught in our primary and secondary school systems."

"Students entering universities too often are prepared inadequately. The numbers entering scientific and engineering curricula are inadequate to our needs. It will require an aroused public demand that the lethargy into which our school system has been allowed to slip be rapidly done away with."

Privately-owned forests currently supply up to 90 per cent of the timber which is processed for domestic purposes.

Univac Unveiled at Dedication

University of Chicago Gets $1.3 Million 'Brain' for Heavy Problems

CHICAGO (AP) — The University of Chicago has a new brain on its staff, a $1,301,600 Univac which will be asked to solve some weighty problems.

The Univac—universal automatic computer—was unveiled yesterday at dedication ceremonies at the university's operations analysis laboratory.

It cost $200,000 to house the Univac, which requires a special cooling system for its high-speed thinking, and a staff of five to keep it operating.

Univac, a gift to the university by the Remington Rand division of Rand Sperry Corp., was presented to Chancellor Lawrence A. Kimpton by Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves (Ret.), corporation vice president.

After Kimpton's remarks accepting the gift, Univac wrote on sheets of paper 12 by 16 inches: "I am a Univac. I am an electric brain given to the University of Chicago for furtherance of research and higher education."

"I am the first Univac to reside here. My heart is the size of a small garage. Its beat is maintained by more than 54,000 vacuum tubes and 200 miles of electrical wiring."

Univac will help with analyses on the nation's population, weather, and economy. It also will prepare and maintain the university's payroll and general accounting records. Eventually, it might also handle academic records.

Mechanical defects are a contributing factor in only about 16 per cent of all fatal automobile accidents.

Whooping Cranes' Family May Grow

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The first whooping crane to reproduce in captivity is expected to lay another egg tomorrow.

Josephine laid her third egg this spring at Audubon Park Zoo here yesterday, and Park Supt. George Douglass said he thought the second of her "clutch" was due tomorrow.

Earlier this year Jo laid two other eggs. One hatched April 30 and the bird is growing. The second failed to hatch.

Last year and in 1956 Jo and her mate Crip produced four eggs. All hatched, but only two birds survived.

If the latest pair survive, they will bring the world's known total to 33. There are now only six whoopers in captivity, five in New Orleans' zoo and one in a San Antonio zoo.

Suburbia Needs Rebels Not Trying to Conform

This is the last of four articles reporting on the tensions peculiar to suburban living—what causes them and how they can be handled to prevent trouble within a family.

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
INS Medical Science Editor
Janet M., of Long Island, N. Y., thought she had a sure cure for her suburban tensions—a martini. Recipe? Gin and vermouth to taste and a tranquilizer pill in place of the olive.

STOPPED WORKING

But even that stopped working after a while, so Janet got inventive.

She was dizzy from a merry-go-round of meetings, taxing, entertaining, shopping, house-keeping and child-rearing. The telephone kept her hopping so much that she didn't have time for a much-needed afternoon nap.

Janet gained a few hours peace by having a device attached to her telephone that automatically cut in a recorded message when the phone rang asking the caller to phone back later.

RIGGED GADGET

But that wasn't enough. So she rigged a gadget that would enable her to talk on the phone while she puttered about the kitchen or did laundry.

Janet's solution for her problem took a touch of genius, but that's what it sometimes takes to overcome suburban tensions. The patience of Job and four hands help, too.

Janet M.'s family is less tense now. She doesn't scream at the children over every little thing. And her husband gets smiles with his supper now.

Leonard W. Mayo, a New York member of the executive committee of the International Conference for Social Work, puts the suburban situation this way.

"We are now discovering that

Knock on Door Boosts Disease

Gullible, ill Americans Easy Targets for Quack Pill Salesmen

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Many gullible, seriously ill Americans will surrender to disease this year because they answer a knock on the door.

Although they should be under a doctor's care, these people become easy targets for quack salesmen peddling cure-all vitamin pills. The pitchmen have developed a spiel so subtle and convincing they have even made a scapegoat out of a life giving necessity — food.

The door-to-door selling of these fake wonder vitamins has spread to the extent that it has become one of the major problems of the United States Food and Drug Administration, which is not against vitamins but is against quacks.

FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick declares there are many people with unusual ideas about how to obtain wholesome food. He warns, "Unscrupulous promoters spread these ideas and then cash in by offering vitamin and mineral products as cure-alls for every kind of human ailment."

The FDA isn't sure how many pill salesmen are preying on a wishful thinking public. But it does know that several years ago one company was employing 15,000 of these self-styled "nutrition experts."

And reports from district offices show the number of people getting a chunk out of this million dollar racket is increasing. Even duped customers are being recruited into the salesmen's ranks.

The FDA is not worried about the pills themselves harming anyone. What concerns these health protecting officials are the false claims by which the vitamins are sold.

Salesmen use a scare campaign promoting the false idea that food has lost its nutritional value. The reasons they list contain a grain of truth exaggerated to the ridiculous.

suburban living does not automatically free us of all the troublesome problems we sought to escape when we left the city.

"The way of life we want for our children must be won by dint of hard work, the making of difficult choices, democratic planning, the expenditure of substantial public and private funds — and constant vigilance."

CHOICES HARD

He warns that if suburbia is to be a better place for children than many city neighborhoods, some hard choices must be made within the family:

—Father must learn whether he is to spend the entire weekend in pursuit of his own personal interests, or divide it, giving some time to the family.

—Mother must decide whether she will devote some of her few free hours to Junior and Janie when they need and want her.

—The children, even the young ones, must decide whether they are willing to help with the work in and outside the house in order to free their parents for more time to be spent with the family.

—Both parents must learn to control their schedules to avoid being pushed around by business and community obligations, or by a constant round of social engagements to which they have given no thought in terms of priorities.

Suburbia, in the words of Clark W. Blackburn, director of the Family Service Association of America, needs a few rebels.

That is—families willing to stop worrying about conforming, families willing to develop a pattern of life forged by independent thinking, rather than a way of life that measures up to "The Joneses."

Mayo suggests that fathers and mothers learn to give their best hours to their children, adding:

"One hour of the father's time each week when he is relaxed is worth more than 10 hours when he is tense or indifferent."

Despite the problems, sociologists are agreed that the suburbs some day will produce a quality of home life which surpasses anything yet known in America.

Behind this prediction are the many forces capable of welding suburbia into a "better" way of life for children. Better that is, than in the city.

Suburbia, too, provides the climate for "grass roots" participation in government, giving the adults in the community an opportunity to organize and bring pressure to bear on those officials who may be guilty of ignoring basic needs in the community.

The tensions involved in making suburbia a better place in which to live, ironically, are a sign that all is well in suburbia.

Dr. George S. Stevenson, of the National Association for Mental Health, says:

"Anxiety and tension are essential functions of living, just as hunger and thirst are.

"Without the experience of anxiety, we would not be prepared to avoid or overcome situations harmful to ourselves and our families."

However, if the tensions strike frequently and don't wear off as quickly as they used to, your family might need emotional first aid. Your local family service agency, mental health unit, or family doctor should be able to help you get it.

Dr. Reuben Hill, professor of sociology at the University of Minnesota, says families, like combat teams, have a morale and esprit de corps to maintain — if they are to function properly.

Paying $500 Extra to Get Same Work

BRAINTREE, Mass. (U)—Printing the 1957 town report cost this town nearly $500 extra — all because a bylaw prevented the job from going to the low bidder. Ironically, he got the job anyway.

Before being elected selectman, Chester W. Nelson, operator of the Observer Press, invariably got the printing contract. This year his firm bid was low at $9.50 a page.

However, a town bylaw prohibits town officials from letting contracts to firms in which they have a financial interest. So the selectman awarded the contract to the only other bidder, The Duxbury Clipper, at $11.50 a page.

Whereupon, the Duxbury company sub-contracted the job to Observer Press and the town paid the higher figure.

Bermuda Shorts War Travels to WSU Campus

DETROIT (U)—The war against Bermuda shorts has spread from the Michigan State University campus to Wayne State University.

The shorts recently were banned at MSU and now women faculty members at Wayne want the same thing on the Detroit campus.

Elizabeth A. Platt, Wayne registrar, says "I don't think the campus is a beach — proper things should be worn at the proper time."

She is seconded by Dr. Katherine M. Chamberlain, physics professor, who says "It is a disservice to the university to have girls coming here as though they are attending a summer resort. We certainly wouldn't like men coming in bathing suits."

Plans to ask the student-faculty council to ban the shorts are being made.

Colorado has 6,000 miles of trout streams, most of them open to the public.

Learn to Know Edible 'Weeds'

WEEDS ARE FOOD — The young lady on the right looks a bit skeptical, as if she didn't believe the "mess" of weeds in the pan is good to eat. She is nine-year-old Martha Forbes. Her sixteen-year-old sister, Miriam, likes to cook and was ready to prepare the curly dock, burdock, dandelion and pepper grass mustard that their father, William Forbes, had picked in a vacant lot. Between Miriam and Dr. Forbes is six-year-old James. The Forbes live on Chadwick drive.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Weeds to eat! That's not so crazy as it sounds. Many of the wild greens growing in fields, vacant lots and by the roadside are delicious. Furthermore, they are high in vitamins and minerals.

It will pay you to learn to identify some of these wild greens and to use them in salads or as a cooked vegetable at this time of the year. Use only the ones listed in this article unless you know that others are not poisonous.

A small leaflet from the Michigan Department of Health suggests the following:

Dandelion
Marsh marigold
Milkweed
Pokeweed
Chicory
Sorrel
Watercress
Dock
Pigweed or Lambs Quarters
Summer mustard
Purslane

Mrs. Pauline Harding, Market Master at the Oakland County Farmers' Market, has used the common brake and ostrich fern. In spring, she says, the fiddleheads or young shoots may be used as a pot herb and in soups and salads.

William Featherston of Martell drive called to say that he likes to eat dock greens prepared like spinach. Use only the small early leaves.

Wash thoroughly and cook in just the water that clings to the leaves. Cook quickly in a covered pan and remove cover as soon as the greens are wilted. This takes from five to ten minutes.

Mr. Featherston mentioned using grape leaves in pickles. We know that some Greek recipes call for grape leaves also.

Mrs. Clayton Adams of Middle Straits Lake was one of several persons to tell us about eating milkweed. Again, use only the young tender shoots.

Strip the stems of their leaves and cook exactly like asparagus. The first water may be drained off to remove the milky juice. Some people eat the tender buds or pods, but not the blossoms. Indians used to bake the pods with pig liver, Mrs. Harding reports.

Watercress is one of the most delightful of the weeds. It can be found growing most of the year in clear streams. Be careful about picking it from contaminated water. And always ask permission of the land owner.

It is against the law to pick or dig any plant or flower "just growing" along the roadside. But if you are on private property and have permission, you are out of trouble.

CAN EAT CHICORY

Many of us know chicory as something put in coffee which gives the beverage a strong bitter taste. But do you know that the early leaves, before the flowering stem appears, are good cooked like greens or used raw in salad?

Dr. William Forbes, Science Consultant for Oakland county schools, gave us invaluable help in writing this article. He has long experimented with weeds as food and has persuaded his children to try some species.

The Forbes' eat two kinds of dock, burdock and curly. Both are bitter if eaten raw, but lose their bitterness when cooked. They have collected enough cinnamon fern fronds to make a dish of them creamed on toast. They like to chew sorrel leaves as they walk through a meadow.

Dr. Forbes has a friend who

Buckwheat Groats Sub for Potatoes

If you've never served buckwheat groats, try this good food!

Steamed Buckwheat Groats

1 cup coarse buckwheat groats
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 cups boiling water
Pour buckwheat groats into a 10-inch skillet. Sprinkle with salt and paprika; add butter and boiling water. Bring to simmering, stirring well. Cover and simmer until groats are soft and cooked through — 10 to 20 minutes usually. Water should be evaporated. If groats are not cooked through and there is no more water, add it by the 1/4 cupful. Fluff with fork and serve hot. Or reheat over boiling water. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

through — 10 to 20 minutes usually. Water should be evaporated. If groats are not cooked through and there is no more water, add it by the 1/4 cupful. Fluff with fork and serve hot. Or reheat over boiling water. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Try Mayonnaise Sauce

To two cups chopped cooked spinach add two tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing, two teaspoons butter or margarine, one teaspoon onion salt, 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, a dash of salt and freshly ground black pepper. Heat. Serves four.

Enrich Chili With Economical Milk

Some homemakers have a knack of making a thrifty dish a favorite for family meals. One homemaker we know has a chili recipe that her family simply adores, and yet the total cost of the recipe is only about $1.23 for six to eight servings. That makes her Savory Chili recipe a fine food budget balancer.

Savory Chili is tasty and satisfying. But more than that, it brings the family a nutrition bonus for it is enriched with instant nonfat dry milk, which is a food budget helper.

Economical instant nonfat dry milk is the source of milk's important nutrients—protein, calcium and riboflavin—and that is why it is known as "the heart of milk." Yet it is so inexpensive. The family-size package makes 12 quarts of nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart.

Instant nonfat dry milk is so versatile. Use it as you use milk baking. It mixes instantly, even in ice water. Also, it can be used in the powder form as in the Savory Chili recipe.

Savory Chili

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 pound ground beef
1 cup (1 envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
2 cups (No. 303 can) tomatoes
1 cup water
2 tablespoons chili powder
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 small cloves garlic, minced
2 cups (No. 303 can) kidney beans

Melt shortening in skillet over medium heat; saute onions until tender. Combine beef and instant nonfat dry milk powder; blend until powder is no longer visible. Add to onions; mix well; brown over medium heat, stirring occasionally.

Stir in tomatoes, water, chili powder, sugar, salt and garlic. Cover; simmer over low heat 1 hour. Remove cover; continue cooking 30 minutes. Add kidney beans and juice; continue cooking until beans are hot. Serves 6-8.

Rhubarb Gives Tang to Pineapple Sherbet

Crushed pineapple and rosy rhubarb are the unusual combination in this refreshing sherbet which is cooling and nourishing as well.

Cook 5 cups of cut-up rhubarb with 2 cups of crushed pineapple until rhubarb is tender. Add 1 cup sugar. Stir until dissolved and press through a sieve. There should be four cups. Chill. Add 1 1/2 cups of heavy cream. Pour into freezing trays and freeze until firm. Serves 6.

Good Vegetable Supply Blankets Local Markets

Warmer weather is bringing heavy supplies of a number of spring vegetables to market. Homegrown asparagus and Florida sweet corn are leading the popularity list. Radishes, green onions, tomatoes, cabbage and potatoes are improving in value, reports the Marketing Information Agent. The volume of shipped-in strawberries is reaching a peak. Bananas are an economical fruit choice.

Fryers have decreased in price this week. The wholesale market was lower two days last week. Retailers took advantage of this and are offering them at close to wholesale cost. In some stores both the large size and the smaller Beltsville type turkeys are available at lower prices than a week ago.

FRESH VEGETABLES

This is the first week of volume shipments of Michigan asparagus. Prices are expected to be 20 to 25 cents a pound. Locally grown green onions are in abundant supply. Radishes, in moderate supply, are low in cost.

Following bad weather conditions in many parts of the country there is now an unusual harvest overlap in several growing areas. Sweet corn is in heavy supply because of this. Good quality is expected into June. Good supplies of cabbage are arriving from several areas. Cost is about 10 cents a pound.

Tomato prices are declining as supplies increase. Hothouse tomatoes are of fine quality and flavor.

You will find head lettuce quality improving.

FRESH FRUITS

Strawberries are approaching the lowest price expected during the shipped-in season. Five or six states are shipping at once. The first quart-size baskets are in the markets this week.

Keep strawberry quality by careful handling. Mrs. Josephine Lawyer suggests. Empty gently onto a tray. Remove damaged or decayed berries. Cover loosely with waxed paper and store in the refrigerator. Before serving wash quickly and carefully in cold water. Lift from water and drain. Remove caps after berries are clean and dry.

IN THE MEAT DEPARTMENT
Fryers are news in the meat department. A three cent per pound drop on the wholesale market last week means chicken for your table at less money this week.

You may also find store specials on roasting chicken, duck, 16-20 pound turkeys and the small Beltsville-type turkeys.

Due to high wholesale pork prices last week it is doubtful shoppers will find many changes this week. The Boston butt and picnic are good values compared to other pork cuts.

Some stores will feature hams this week. Whole smoked hams will keep in the refrigerator for 7 to 10 days without much flavor change. Unopened canned hams will keep in the refrigerator for several months. If you buy a canned ham, check directions for refrigeration.

Market checks show beef, veal and lamb prices at about the same price levels found a week ago.

The catch of fresh fish from the Great Lakes is unusually small. Prices of many varieties are high. Fresh eastern cod and haddock are arriving and cost less per pound than most Great Lakes varieties. There are ample supplies of frozen fish.

EGGS FOR HEALTH

Put plenty of eggs in your market basket. At current prices of 49 to 53 cents for a dozen large size Grade A eggs, that is only 8 to 9 cents for two.

Eggs are low in calories. Two large eggs have about 160 calories, less than you find in most meat servings.

Coconut and Curry Go Into Shrimp Soup

For coconut and curry lovers here is a wonderful soup that you'll not only love, but cherish... once you've eaten it.

The recipe is: Melt 2 teaspoons butter or margarine in a small saucepan. Stir in ¼ teaspoon curry powder and ¼ cup flaked coconut. Cook, stirring often, until lightly browned. Remove from pan. Combine 1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup with 1 soup can milk in same saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring often.

Garnish each serving of soup with curried coconut. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Veal Blade Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It comes from the blade section and resembles the blade section except for the thickness. It contains the blade bone and backbone. Fat is interspersed in the meat and covers the outer surface.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. It is cooked slowly by braising. Veal blade steaks cut ½ to ¾ inch thick require 45 to 60 minutes for cooking. A steak cut less than ½ inch thick may be pan-fried.

Mustard Toast Encircles Fish

Finger foods—foods that can be eaten without benefit of forks and spoons—are always popular. That's why so many millions of sandwiches are made and eaten every year. A variation of the sandwich—but still more appetizing because it can be eaten hot—is the food rolled in thin slices of bread and toasted.

Fish sticks are of just the right shape for this method of preparation. Prepared this way, they make satisfying luncheon or supper snacks for the entire family. Plan on three for each person and follow this method recommended by the National Fisheries Institute.

Fish Sticks in Mustard Toast

For each box of fish sticks, cut the crusts from ten thin slices of bread. Roll the bread with a rolling pin. Brush both sides of the bread with melted butter and spread the top side with prepared mustard.

Place a stick on the mustard side diagonally, and wrap the bread around the sticks securing the corners with a toothpick. Place on a baking sheet and bake in a 375-degree oven until bread is toasted.

Cheese Wonderful Way to Accent Crisp Salad

Crisp vegetable salads are accented by the addition of crumbled Blue or sharp cheddar cheese; simply toss the cheese with the greens and add a tangy dressing.

For a more bland dressing to compliment fruit or aspic salads, try mixing either sour cream or whipped sweet cream with an equal amount of mayonnaise; a combination of cottage cheese and sour cream is another natural for fruit and gelatin salads.

Marinate Herbs in Oil

Next time you use a recipe which calls for herbs, add the measurement of herbs to a tablespoon or two of olive oil and let the herbs marinate in the oil for half an hour or so before adding to the stew or sauce. This is an old Spanish trick for bringing out the full aroma of the herbs. If the recipe calls for sauteing onion, meat or other ingredients in olive oil, add the herbs to the skillet along with the ingredients to be sauteed.

GETS VITAMIN C NATURALLY

Mrs. Richard Becker says... "What a joy it was to learn that my family's favorite orange juice—TreeSweet—is naturally pure and gives us all the vitamin C we need! Guess that's why TreeSweet's so naturally fresher-tasting... and just 2 small glasses give us our daily vitamin C—naturally."

In-a-Pot Fowl Glamorous Dish

Chicken-in-the-pot is a thrifty way to serve the whole family. A delicious meal. Choose a broiler-fryer because it's all tender, plump meat whose delicate flavor blends perfectly with vegetables and seasonings, and it is one of the best buys in your food store.

By using a single pot, the cooking process is reduced to one easy operation, and if the container is a pretty one, you can bring real gourmet glamour right to the table by serving directly from it. Here's one delicious way to fix

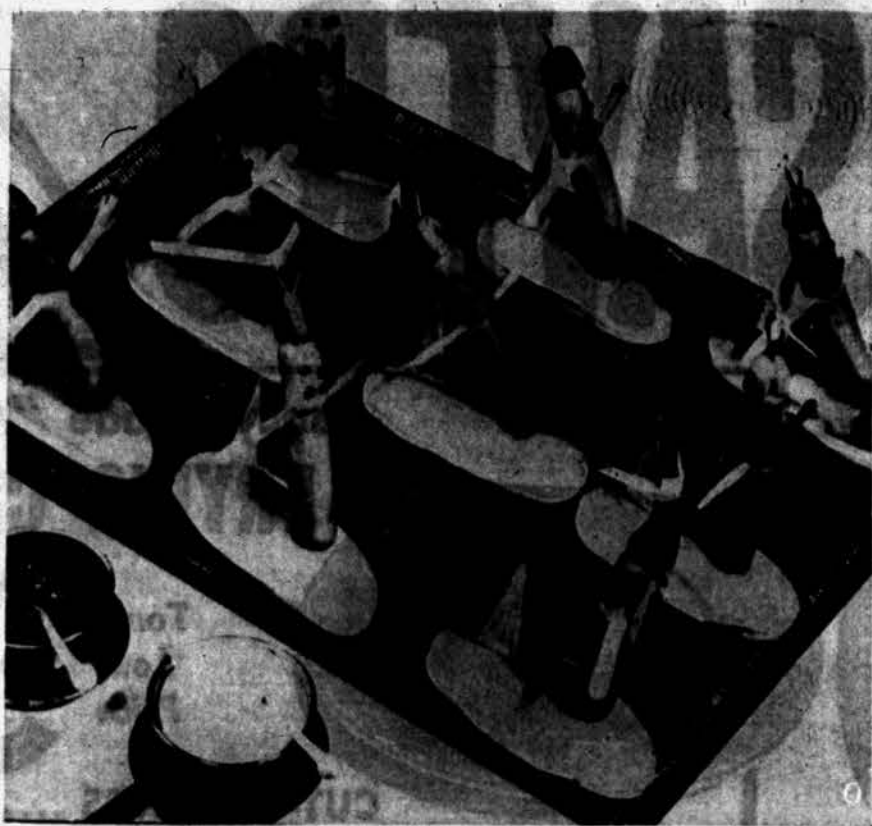

Chicken in the Pot
1 3-pound broiler-fryer chicken
1 teaspoon salt, divided
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, divided
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup liquid (water, bouillon or wine)
4 medium potatoes, peeled and quartered
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
1-18 teaspoon pepper
6 carrots, peeled and sliced
1/2 pound fresh peas

Wash and dry chicken, sprinkle cavity with 1/2 teaspoon of the salt and 1/4 teaspoon of the monosodium glutamate. If desired, stuff with a favorite stuffing; truss. (Chicken may be trussed without stuffing.) Brown on all sides in melted shortening in skillet.

Place browned chicken in casserole; add liquid, potatoes, remaining salt and monosodium glutamate, rosemary and pepper. Cover. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Add carrots and peas. Cover. Bake 30 minutes longer. Yield: 4 servings.

Buttermilk Low Caloried

Plain buttermilk matches skimmed milk in food value. Like skim milk it is low in calories—86 calories per cup. For those who are counting calories, it provides an ingredient for cooking and a drink that makes it easier to keep the weight down.

FRANK SAILORS — No need to spend lots of money when you entertain for the small fry. Anticipate the summer season with these frank sailors. Anchor each one to his bun boat and let him set sail across the table.

Dressed Up Fudge Sauce

A superb pear sundae can be made with two canned Bartlett pear halves and a scoop of vanilla ice cream. This is a tasty combination when topped with Peppermint Fudge Sauce or Chocolate Rum Sauce.

Use 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1/4 teaspoon rum or peppermint extract, and 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Hot Diggety Dog! See the Sailors and Clowns

Frank sailors will produce gleeful shouts at both indoor and outdoor meals. Here's how to fix them.

With a metal skewer, spear a half-inch pickle cap, then a frank. Cloves can be used to make the face. Heat the franks 8 to 10 minutes in very hot water.

To serve, cut a crosswise slit and insert a green onion for arms, then secure the sailor on a buttered split bun. Just for fun, add a paper sail to the boat and a twist of paper to the loop of the skewer to show the sailor is really sailing.

If you prefer frank clowns for a circus party, you can fix them easily too.

For the clowns, insert cloves for designing a face in each frank. Just 8 to 10 minutes in very hot water is enough to heat the franks, since they are fully cooked when purchased.

To serve, insert a toothpick for arms and to aid in handling. Slit each frank about halfway up to form the clown legs, and set each astride a buttered, split frank bun. A slice of pickle anchored with a toothpick forms a jaunty cap.

Potato chips and pink lemonade or milk go with our clown riders. For the sweet, serve ice cream bars or ice cream cones.

P. S.: Some "over 20" folk enjoy this circus party, too!

Bean Sprouts Flavor Thin Strips of Beef

Good flavor in this skillet dish.

Beef With Bean Sprouts
1/2 pound flank steak (trimmed of fat and partly frozen)
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup dark molasses
1/2 cup peanut oil
1 clove garlic (minced)
1 egg (1 pound) bean sprouts (drained)

Cut steak in half the long way; with sharp knife held as flat as possible, slice meat across the grain so strips are about 1/4-inch thick and 1 inch wide. In a 2-cup measure, dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water. Mix cornstarch with cold water until smooth; stir in soy sauce, sugar and molasses; add to bouillon; reserve.

Heat oil in 10-inch skillet; add meat; stir-fry rapidly until meat loses its red color. Add cornstarch mixture; stirring constantly bring to rapid boil to clear and thicken sauce. Add bean sprouts and heat briefly. Makes 4 small servings.

Bountiful Bacon Is Versatile

What's a better alarm clock than the tantalizing smell of bacon drifting up the stairs? But bacon is more than just a breakfast food—its smoky-sweet, salty flavor can add zest to almost every meal. Try one of the new methods of cooking—oven-baked or broiled, or grilled outdoors on the barbecue. And if there should be some left over, save it for sandwiches or seasoning. Everyone seems to like bacon cooked differently—soft or crisp, broiled or fried—but everyone likes bacon!

Bacon of course is best when fresh. Keep the flavor fresh by storing bacon in the refrigerator. In the original wrappings, until ready to use. Don't freeze bacon for over a month, even in an unopened package, because salted fats may become rancid when stored longer in the freezer.

A special new packaging material, Cryovac Film, is now being used on many brands of bacon and it protects the flavor until the package is opened. This impervious transparent plastic material keeps bacon from drying out, losing color, or changing flavor far better than any other types of packaging material.

Bacon gets its sweet-smoked flavor from being "cured" with sugar and salts and smoked over smoldering oak or hickory sawdust. Automatic machinery slices, layers or "shingles" the slices, and wraps the packages at the rate of about fifty pounds a minute. For the average thin-sliced bacon, there will be an average of twenty-eight slices to a pound, each 3-32 of an inch thick.

Thirty years ago, pre-sliced bacon was unknown, and bacon was bought in slabs or chunks. Slicing was done in the home with a knife. Twenty years ago, the corner grocer would slice the bacon at the time of purchase, if requested. It was only about fifteen years ago that slicing operations were started at the manufacturing level.

BIG BUSINESS
Bacon is big business in the United States—1.2 billion pounds were sold in 1937. Most of this was in the familiar thin-sliced form but thick-sliced bacon and bacon squares or jowls are also sold. Canadian bacon isn't really bacon at all, but smoked pork tenderloin. It is usually baked, like ham, or fried in thin slices.

When it comes to cooking bacon, pan-frying is most common; but baking, broiling, barbecuing and grilling are also recommended. For pan-fried bacon, the old rule says to start with a cold pan, then cook slowly and turn often. In cooking bacon for a crowd, perhaps the easiest way is to put it in the broiler for about eight minutes, turning only once.

Baking bacon saves stove spatter. Ten minutes in a 350 degree oven, without turning, in a shallow pan with a rack, and the bacon is crisp and brown.

Bacon Bits

With the summer barbecue season coming up, don't forget to wrap frankfurters in bacon, fasten with toothpicks and broil. Cook right on the grill, turning often, until the bacon is crisp.

For a simple salad, crumble crisp cooked bacon over mixed salad greens and toss with an oil and vinegar dressing.

Leftover frankfurter rolls? Serve them for breakfast, toasted on both sides and filled with crisply cooked bacon.

Season your next beef stew with crisp bacon bits, and go easy on the salt.

Liver and bacon en brochette is a barbecue—weave strips of bacon around cubes of liver as you put them on the skewers. Broil until done—about fifteen minutes.

Spice a meat loaf just before it goes into the oven by spreading the top with bacon drippings and mustard.

A California Hamburger is a meal and a half—a cheeseburger plus lettuce, tomato and crisp bacon.

Plain string beans take on a new flavor when sprinkled with crumbled crisp bacon.

Fettie Flaxen—Spread half an English muffin with tomato paste, sprinkle with oregano, add a slice of cheese, and top with a strip of partially cooked bacon. Broil until the bacon is crisp and the cheese melted.

Balance the budget with chopped lamb patties, wrapped with bacon and broiled.

Scalloped potatoes with a new zip — Alternate layers of thinly sliced potatoes and onions in a covered baking dish and cover with milk. Top with slices of bacon and bake at 350 degrees for about an hour and a half. Remove cover for the last fifteen minutes.

Crumble a few pieces of cooked bacon into waffle batter or corn muffin mix.

Mixed grill—Broil lamb chops for ten minutes, then turn and add sausages and bacon. Broil about ten minutes more, turning sausage and bacon occasionally. Serve with baked potato and sliced tomatoes.

Don't throw away bacon drippings—they cost just as much as the bacon. Strained through a double thickness of cheesecloth, they can be used for shortening in making spicy baked goods, as well as for frying eggs, onions and potatoes.

Making spice cake or molasses cookies? Substitute half the shortening called for with clarified bacon drippings.

For flavor, you can't beat bacon drippings for frying potatoes. Add a few onions, and serve the cooked bacon with the potatoes, O'Brien style.

Down East Dinner? Substitute bacon drippings for the salt pork in baking beans. Bacon drippings can be used too for browning onions for corn or fish chowder.

Cookbook Devoted to Hors d'Oeuvre Recipes

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Hundreds and hundreds of recipes — and everyone devoted to hors d'oeuvres, those tasty little snacks that have become so much a part of American eating.

Two young homemakers, Alice Schryver and Francille Wallace tested and tasted a multitude of recipes in order to write their book, "The Complete Hors d'Oeuvres Cookbook" (Coward McCann Inc., New York, $3.95). They froze many of them and did a second taste-test some time later. They used a food blender whenever possible.

The authors contend that hors d'oeuvres meet the demands of many occasions, even making up a full meal. They offer a variety of old favorites, of new variations, small versions of large dishes and a few foreign delicacies. The ingredients used are to be found in any grocery store.

As a base for spreads you might try Yankee Doodles, little corn meal crackers.

Yankee Doodles
1/4 cup water

2 tablespoons butter
1 cup corn meal
1/2 teaspoon salt
Bring water and butter to boil. Add and mix dry ingredients. Drop by teaspoonfuls on lightly greased cookie sheet. Flatten with spatula dipped in cold water. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve hot or cold with any spread.

Here's a spread to use on the Yankee Doodle crackers:

Sardine Paste
1 small can drained sardines
1/2 cup grated sharp cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon onion salt
Blend well and spread on crackers.

If you have a cup of cooked chicken left over from Sunday dinner, try these little chicken balls. They may be frozen.

Rock and Roll

1 cup cooked chicken
1/2 cup thick white sauce
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 slices crisply fried crumbled bacon
Put chicken in blender. 1/2 cup at a time (or put through the food grinder several times) Add to white sauce, bread crumbs and Worcestershire sauce. Stir in crumbled bacon gently.

Form into bite-size balls, dip in beaten egg, roll in crushed potato chips. Fry until brown. Drain. Serve on toothpicks.

From Japan comes this spread to serve on bland crackers.

Oshitashi
1 cup chopped raw spinach
1/2 cup sesame seeds
2 tablespoons soy sauce
Mix and spread on crackers.

Picks Come With Cheese

"Cheese-on-a-stick" is a popular item on a cheese snack tray. Simply spear a cube of cheddar cheese and a stuffed olive with a colored toothpick. Now you can buy fresh cheddar cheese cubes in air-resistant packages which contain 16 cheese cubes along with the fancy toothpicks.

Buttermilk Good for Pork Chops

This way of cooking pork chops is a change from the usual frying.

Tasty Pork Chops

2 tablespoons butter
2 pork chops
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup water
Melt butter in skillet; add the pork chops and brown on both sides. Add seasonings, buttermilk and bay leaf; reduce heat and simmer gently until chops are tender, about 1 1/2 hours.

Make gravy just before serving. Blend flour with water until a smooth paste is formed. Add the paste to the meat liquid and stir constantly until gravy is thickened. Makes six servings.

Broiled Frosting Is Short Cut to Dessert

Whip up a 'Broiled Pineapple Frosting, combine it with a handy mix cake and you'll have a real take-it-easy dessert: Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine in a skillet. Remove from heat and add 1-3 cup drained crushed pineapple, 1/2 cup shredded coconut (not flaked), 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 1/4 cup chopped walnuts.

Mix well and spread on hot or cold loaf cake or an 8-inch cake layer. Place on broiler rack as far as possible from heat. Broil 15 minutes or until topping is bubbly. Serve slightly warm. Yield: one cup of frosting.

Baking Soda Removes Insects on Windshields

Baking soda used in solution is ideal for removing insects from windshields and from the car finish according to Robert C. Nisbet, Automobile Club of Michigan road service manager. Nisbet advises using a half pound of baking soda to a gallon of water.

Sponged on liberally, this will float bugs off with no effort and avoid building up layers of "bug juice." One should rinse it off with clear water or proceed with regular car wash.

Event Has Hypnotic Highlights

230 Attend Gala General Motors Club Dinner

By GRETTA PORTER

An amazing demonstration of hypnotism by Edwin L. Bacon of Chicago highlighted the annual May dinner of General Motors Girls Club held Wednesday evening in Devon Gables.

Before hypnotizing a number of subjects from the group, Mr. Bacon explained that hypnosis is a phenomenon of the human mind in which personalities can be changed. He said that a person can be rendered insensible to pain permitting major surgery without anesthesia.

The speaker pointed out that hypnotism is safe and pleasant in the proper hands and that no person can be hypnotized against his will. A subject must be sincere and be able to concentrate and cooperate.

Some 230 members and their bosses attended the annual event, which carried out an Hawaiian motif. Invocation was given by Florence Landry, and Mrs. Margaret Francis greeted members and guests.

New officers introduced by Mrs. Frank Jalsky were Mrs. Francis, president; Arlene Newcombe, vice president; Norma Kirchmeyer, recording secretary; Irene Schwanbeck, financial secretary, and Donna Wilmont, treasurer.

It was announced that Mrs. Harry Derberger was the winner of the first merit contest.

Armand J. Maloney led the group in singing. Hula girls and aloha girls greeting the guests were Miss Hensel, Aileen Baerwolf, Pat Pheph, Marilyn Main and Joan McGinty. Dick Dierkiss was the musician. Chairman of the dinner was Miss Newcombe.

General Motors Girls Club was organized in December, 1949 with 149 members. Ruth Carpenter was the first president.

Pillar Club Sees Big-Game Films

Mrs. Donald B. Hogue of Franklin Village opened her home to members of the Pillar Club for a cooperative dinner with 35 members present.

Films of Canadian big-game hunting, shown by Howard H. Fitzgerald II, highlighted the Tuesday program.

Assisting Mrs. Hogue at the affair were Mrs. Arthur Selden, Mrs. Karl Kutz, Mrs. John Kiltie and Mrs. Fred Holmes.

Bosses Night was held Wednesday by the Insurance Women of Pontiac at Old Mill Tavern. Mrs. Vern Hartman, retiring president, was photographed with her boss Harvey Perry.

Kalinke Is Key Speaker

Peter Kalinke told Insurance Women of Pontiac of his experiences behind the Iron Curtain when the group met for the fourth annual Bosses night party Wednesday evening at Old Mill Tavern.

The Key Knights, a barber-shop quartet composed of Lyle Howard, Harold Wedow, Richard Blanchard and Jack Caverly, entertained.

Mary Trask gave the invocation and Mrs. Vern Hartman served as toastmistress. A toast to bosses was given by Mrs. Charles Hauser Jr., and Harvey Perry responded with a toast to secretaries.

Officers were presented as follows: Mrs. Allan Schmidt, president; Mrs. Mac Harrington, vice president; Olive Blair, recording secretary; Lois Amy, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carroll Crawford, treasurer.

Bridal Party Announced by Joy Clark

Joy Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Clark of Tyrona avenue, who will become the bride of William A. Arnold III, son of the William A. Arnolds of Drayton Plains, has announced attendants for her June 14 wedding.

Kaye Smithson will be maid of honor. Others attending will include Shirley Carter, bridesmaid, and James Arnold will assist his brother as best man.

Ronald Shebor will be groomsman and Jimmie Clark, brother of the bride-elect and Richard Arnold, brother of the prospective bridegroom, will serve as ushers. The ceremony will be performed at Covert Methodist Church.

Mrs. Allan Schmidt, new president of the club, was photographed as she was being congratulated by her boss Carleton C. Patterson.

Olive Blair, the club secretary, was photographed with her boss Howard Looney at the Wednesday event.

Flower Workshop Held

An all-day flower arrangement workshop, sponsored by the Pontiac Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, was held Wednesday at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

The program was presented by Mrs. Frank Webb of Birmingham, flower show chairman, of the Michigan Division of the club.

Mrs. Y. A. Morita of Troy demonstrated Japanese floral arrangements. Mrs. George Chesley of Birmingham spoke on modern trends. Mrs. Charles Schwein of Highland Park illustrated design.

HOLD PRACTICE SESSION

In the practice session which followed, Mrs. Webb and the speakers were assisted by Mrs. J. C. Calhoun of Birmingham, state horticulture chairman of the club, and Mrs. Henry Mika and Mrs. William Dehm of Beverly Hills.

Mrs. W. Ross Thompson of the Pontiac Branch was chairman of the affair. She was assisted by Mrs. William Rogers, Mrs. Donald Neal, Mrs. Robert Dunlay, Mrs. O. H. Lundbeck, Mrs. Standish Sibley, Mrs. Ben Jerome Jr., Mrs. Robert Nelson and Mrs. C. R. Gately.

Mrs. Frederick Lowe, Mrs. Edward Barrett, Mrs. William Thomas Jr., Mrs. L. H. Schimmel and Mrs. LeRoy Small also assisted the chairman.

Representatives from Lake Angelus, Waterford, Sylvan Lake, Pine Lake, Holiday Farms and Clarkston branches attended.

Since He Pays Fiddler—Abby

Let Papa Call the Tunes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I have a husband who has a fit if I buy anything from anyone who comes to the door. He says they are all crooks and whatever they are selling is no good and costs too much. I have bought a lot of very good things (and cheaper, too) from door-to-door salesmen."

ABBY

"Will you please tell me if I have been taken for a ride? You can print this letter but please sign it 'BROWN EYES' because if I used my right name my husband would never let me forget it."

BROWN EYES
DEAR BROWN EYES: Some top quality products are sold ONLY door-to-door. However, it's not worth fighting about. So, since papa pays the fiddler, let him call the tunes.

"DEAR ABBY: For 16 years I have been married to a husband who is one of the best husbands and fathers a woman could want. My problem is that I have got to get some sleep. I am afraid if I suggest twin beds he will think I don't love him any more, which is not the case."

"It is only that he weighs 265 pounds and he insists on cuddling up to me at night. He falls asleep with his arm on me and it feels like a ton of logs. I move over, and HE moves over, until I am on the edge of the bed—so I get up and walk around the bed and crawl in on his side. Then he finds me again and the same thing starts all over again. Please advise me."

TIED
DEAR TIED: Give your husband a long and loving lecture on how much you love him and then—order the twin beds.

"DEAR ABBY: My problem is my wife. We've been married for 22 years and she has nothing to do all day but clean the house and rearrange the furniture. When I get used to where everything is, she will move everything around again. She cleaned out my desk and now I can't find my insurance policies, contracts, receipts or anything. How does a man tell his wife to leave her mitts off things or should he just knock her for a loop?"

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: After 22 years, I doubt if you are going to change your wife. Gather up all your important papers (once you find them) and lock them in a strong box. Keep it under your bed. She can't move that very far.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PEGGY: Take up bird watching—that bird needs plenty of watching!

Program Given for Husbands

Mrs. Charles Buck was in charge of arrangements when Chapter CL of PEO Sisterhood entertained husbands at dinner at Haven Hill Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lindquist sang four duets. Their selections were "Make Believe," "If I Loved You," "Will You Remember?" and "Tea for Two."

Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald showed the group colored slides of her two-month tour of Africa, presenting an informal narrative.

Get Back on Time for Play

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please say something in your column to the theater goers who go out during intermission for a cigarette and return after the lights have gone out and the performance has resumed? I find this habit most annoying and lacking in consideration for others. Nine times out of ten it is done by people who should know better. A word from you will help."

Answer: There is no act that is more inconsiderate than not going back to your seats when you are notified that the curtain is about to go up. It is not only very disagreeable to the people in the audience to have someone stand between them and the stage, but it is very upsetting to the actors.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My wedding will take place in the church rectory in the presence of only the immediate members of our families. Is this wedding too small for the bride to wear a very simple white dress and a plain tulle veil?"

Answer: No, it is always proper that a bride wear a white dress and veil when she is married by a clergyman whether she is married in a church, a rectory or at home. In fact the only time when it's unsuitable to wear a veil is when she goes to City Hall or the County clerk's office to be married.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day my son and I were walking down the street when a man I know came toward us. He tipped his hat in greeting, but did not stop. My son did not tip his hat in return. I told him that he should have, but he said that a man did not tip his hat to another man—only to a woman. Will you please tell me who is right?"

Answer: You are completely right. It was very rude of your son not to tip his hat.

Anyone Can Learn

Swimming — a Great Conditioner

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is time again for me to begin calling your attention to that most wonderful of all sports, swimming! In my estimation it has everything.

In the first place, folks of all ages can indulge in it. It often is allowed when more strenuous exercise is not because of some physical disorder. It is wonderful medicine for nervous tension. Nothing is quite so relaxing!

In addition to all of these virtues it is beautifying to the form divine, and cools one off for hours in hot weather. It is a great aid in gaining weight because of the relaxation it brings. Then, too, even the most restless sleeper usually has no trouble after a day at the beach or an afternoon in a river or lake or pool.

If you used to swim but have gotten out of the habit, why not begin again this summer? If you never learned, don't pass by another hot season without doing so. I once taught a class of middle-aged women to learn to swim and I never had a more satisfactory experience.

They all enjoyed it so much and felt a great sense of accomplishment because they had learned something new, had added a new interest to their lives. Many of them were afraid of the water when they began and conquering a fear gave their self-respect a boost.

Swimming normalizes the figure. If you have pads of fat, it will streamline you. If you are underweight and have poorly developed muscles it will build contour for you. It is a good spinal exercise and builds a lovely bustline. It is corrective to round shoulders and a flabby inner leg line.

Best of all, it is an exercise you can enjoy with everyone from your grandchild to your grandmother.

The breast stroke is especially good for round shoulders and inner leg contour. The overarm stroke or the crawl is good for bust development. When you go swimming hang onto the side of a float or boat and separate your legs widely. Bring them together. Continue. This is splendid for firming the inner upper legs. The water provides mild resistance.

Begin getting ready for that swim suit and if you want to begin learning right at home, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 22 "Learn to Swim." Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "Two Helpful Thoughts for Those with a Breast Gone."

He's Finished as Political Power

Sages Write Off De Gaulle as Strongman of France

PARIS (NEA)—Now the French political soothsayers are writing off Gen. Charles de Gaulle as France's future strong man.

The pundits are saying that De Gaulle is through as a political power that never again will the apparition of the beanpole general appear over Elysee Palace either as France's savior or as her dictator.

One sage explains it thus:

De Gaulle missed the boat when he made his return to power contingent on the will of the people. De Gaulle is admired, respected, even revered, but not popular. There will be no groundswell of public demand that he take over the government."

In the lobbies of the National Assembly, the jubilation among anti-Gaullist deputies in the wake of the general's historic press conference was summed up by a Radical Socialist who declared:

"The fireworks are over. Now the general can go back to his village and finish writing his memoirs."

Except among Communists, talk of the Republic being menaced, of the necessity of a popular front against military dictatorship, appear to have simmered down.

The DeGaulle obsequies may be premature. While the air was remarkably cleared, his conference solved nothing. The crisis continues with Pflimlin's government facing its own internal contradictions and the problem of restoring order in Algeria.

But by coming down solidly on the side of legality and constitutional government, De Gaulle removed the threat of civil strife endangering the Republic. From now on the spotlight will be on Pflimlin in his showdown fight with the tough Algerian generals.

The consensus is that De Gaulle emerged with his reputation as a statesman and patriot enhanced. Even his critics admit this, but in arguing that he is finished as a political power they argue thus:

By reaffirming his faith in the Republic and refusing to be a party to illegal action, De Gaulle removed himself as a rallying point for military dissidents and would-be revolutionaries. From now on the events will rapidly overtake him and at the next crisis, when the question of force arises, a real strong man will take center stage with solid army support.

"De Gaulle's stomach is too delicate for the job," is the way one cynic puts it.

More Globemasters Going to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has nearly doubled a force of Globemaster transport planes sent to Europe amid outbreaks in Lebanon and Algeria.

The Defense Department said last night 13 of the three-dick planes went to join 18 others which left for Germany, starting Saturday morning. The Pentagon said 8 of the 13 took off later Saturday and 5 headed across the Atlantic since then.

Basing the 200-passenger planes in Europe would put them in position to evacuate Americans from the Middle East and North Africa, if the need arose.

The department said the 13 additional transports were sent to provide replacement parts and "normal logistics" for the first 18.

About 300,000 different plant species have been identified by scientists.

Feathers Putting Poultry Dealer in Ticklish Spot

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicken feathers have Jack Mintz in an extremely ticklish situation.

Mintz, a live poultry dealer in Brooklyn, got two summonses in five minutes yesterday. Caught in the swirl of the city antilitter drive, he was accused of littering the sidewalk in front of his shop — with chicken feathers.

Mintz pointed out that chickens, crated for market, can't be too cooped up on a truck. So what happens? The wind blows, and feathers fly all over the street.

That's all very true, agreed Special Patrolman William Wilkening, but how about that thick accumulation of feathers in the bottom of Mintz's truck? Wilkening advised Mintz to clean his truck, and the coops inside his shop, after every trip.

Mintz said that was impossible; he'd have to move to much larger quarters. Fowl play or no, he still has the summonses.

Car Breakdown Aids Antibiotic Discovery

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—A car's breakdown lead to the discovery of neomycin, one of the newest antibiotics.

Dr. Hubert Lechevalier, an associate of Nobel prize winner Dr. Selman A. Waksman, was driving past a manure-covered barnyard at the Rutgers University College of Agriculture when his car broke down.

While waiting for repairs, Lechevalier collected a soil sample. It was processed and neomycin resulted.

The drug is used to treat diarrhea in infants, in skin and eye ointments, and as an anti-septic preparation for bowel surgery.

Move Slow on Education Changes—U. of M. Head

GRAND HAVEN (U) — A Michigan educator says America should not stampede into educational changes, moving too far and too fast to aid only brilliant students. Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, University of Michigan president, last night said, "We built our educational system in response to things our American society has felt important."

He declared that education, in the process of change for 300 years, can continue to undergo many more improvements.

Dr. Hatcher addressed nearly 500 persons at a workshop sponsored by Ottawa County high schools. The event gave parents and community residents a look into classroom operations and invited recommendations.

It is believed the first of its type held in Michigan.

Noting opportunity for improvements, Dr. Hatcher urged creation of "a happy environment for expanding the mind and not stampede too rapidly to aid only the brilliant."

He cautioned against panic because of Russian achievements in the scientific field.

"We have a right to be proud of what we have created," he said of American education, but added the challenge of comparison with Russian achievements and questioning of parents must be met.

E. V. Erickson, Grand Haven manufacturer, urged a de-emphasis of specialized and vocational training in favor of greater stress on rounded study programs.

Richard Cheverton, Grand Rapids radio-television news director, cautioned against imitation of the Russian educational system of solely producing scientists.

Dr. Clyde M. Campbell, professor of school administration at Michigan State University, said the U.S. education system started with a realization that democracy required a public educational system to train its youth in living as free men.

A report on the workshop is being compiled for distribution.

White Sewing Center... Waite's Fourth Floor

From the Press BoxBY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Back in February down in Lakeland, Fla., Jack Tighe made an evaluation of the 1938 Tigers.

"Our bench will be much better. Billy Martin, Gus Zernial and Lou Skizas are certainly improvements over last season. We will get some pinch hitting now."

This was a hopeful Tighe talking. "Winning a pennant is always tough, but there's always a chance," he admitted.

Actually there was nothing wrong with this evaluation. The Tigers did strengthen themselves, not to any extent of pressing the Yankees, but seemingly strong enough to move up at least another notch from fourth place.

Only 12 weeks have gone by and instead of showing any resemblance to Tighe's evaluation, the Tigers have been dimly pushed around to the lower depths of the American League.

On or off paper it has been conceded that no team in the American League can touch the Yankees. Yet, man for man, this corner will not agree that Kansas City, Baltimore, Cleveland, Washington or Boston can match or hold the edge on the Tigers.

Chicago claimed it had the pitching advantage over the rest of the league, but everyone knew the White Sox bats were anemic. Look where the Chisox are now—in the cellar.

Let's match the core of Tiger hitting and pitching to those of some of the other teams.

Detroit has Kuenn, Kaline, Maxwell, Boone, Zernial and Bolling along with Lary, Bunning, Foytack and Hoelt.

Is Kansas City better with Martyn, Lopez, Power, Tuttle, House along with Garver, Maas, Urban and Terry?

Is Baltimore better with Boyd, Nieman, Pilarcik, Triandos, Williams along with pitchers Harshman, O'Dell and Zuverink? Or is Washington the better team with Pews, Courtney, Sievers, and Lemon along with Stobbs and Griggs?

Cleveland may have Ward, Colavito, Brown and Avila to go with Minoza and a disabled pitching staff, and Boston IS Williams wrapped around Piersall, Jensen, Gernert and Malzone, but we can't buy the suggestion that matching personnel of these teams makes Detroit 7th best.

It's difficult to analyze what is wrong with the Tigers. Is it the manager? Is it the pitching? Is it the hitting? Is it complacency? Is there dissension? Is it attitude and lack of desire?

Whatever the reason or reasons, the wolves are after Tighe's scalp. Whether it be Tighe or another manager we still think the Tigers are a 2-3 ball club, and if they finish the season in the second division then we would go along with any idea which suggests a complete house cleaning, but not till then.

Indianwood Host to Medal
Tourney Starting Friday

Thirty-eight of the state's finest amateur golfers, the majority from this neighborhood, will tee off at Indianwood Country Club Friday afternoon to raise the curtain on the 4th annual Detroit Medal Play Championship.

Nearly every elite Michigan amateur player is entered in the three-day 72-hole tournament, headed by defending champion Bob Babbish and former club champion Chuck Kocis.

Eighteen holes will be played tomorrow, starting at 12:30, followed by a 36-hole round on Saturday and Sunday's final 18 holes. Saturday's action begins at 8:30 a.m. while Sunday's starting time returns to 12:30.

Babbish will be shooting for his 3rd straight crown. The veteran star first won the title in 1936 at Red Run, then repeated last year at Detroit Golf Club. The peerless Kocis won the opening tourney in 1935 at Red Run.

Among the many other stand-out shotmakers in the field are Tom Draper, Ben Smith, three-time state amateur champ Glenn Johnson, Sam Kocis, Gene Woodward, Harold Brink and ex-state amateur ruler Nick Westlock.

Another entry new to the Michigan scene is Talbot Smith, former California amateur champion now playing out of Fremont. Other star-wart entries include Randall Ahern, Perry Byard, Ralph Ellstrom, John Kurach, John Driver and ex-state amateur king Lou Wendrow.

Carrying the hopes of Indianwood CC will be Leo Daigle and Ferd Henkel. Daigle went to the quarter-finals of the Michigan Amateur last year.

Pete Green's par 70 and a 74 for Gary Mynon sparked Birmingham to a 392 to 425 victory over Pontiac Central in golf yesterday. Bob Deaton was low man for the losers with 81. Birmingham is unbeaten in eight duals.

Baron Netters Lose

A victory by Gary Eynon in singles saved Bloomfield Hills from a shutout as the Baron net team bowed to Northville 4-1 in tennis yesterday.

Three Pitchers Hurl One - Hitter; Resume Loop Play Friday

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State goes into the final three games of the season tomorrow with a tiny lead in the Big Ten baseball standings and the possibility its top hitter won't play.

Outfielder Dean Look sprained his ankle sliding into second yesterday as the Spartans came within an out of no-hitting Wayne State. They won 8-0 as Don Sackett, Don Pickman and Bob Rabias teamed up to hurl a one-hitter.

Look was expected back in the lineup as Michigan State opens its crucial weekend at Iowa. He has a .444 batting average in the conference action. The Spartans meet second-place Minnesota in a doubleheader Saturday. The Gophers are a half game behind the league leaders. MSU has a 9-3 mark to Minnesota's 8-3.

Ray Indrka was the spoiler yesterday. He bounced Wayne's only hit off the knee of Rabias with two out in the ninth.

Anybody for 'Cat' Angling?

A new plan for lazy anglers, at a dollar a day, is being offered area devotees of hook-and-line activities by former bait and fish dealer Warren Chambers at Pontiac Lake.

Chambers has cleaned out the pond across M89 from Pontiac lake, stocked it with hundreds of channel catfish, brought in from Saginaw Bay. The "cats" augment a big population of goldfish already in the pond, which Chambers says he has been assured may be taken legally by anglers. "We don't have any limit on number or size," says Chambers. "people can take all they catch." After the goldfish are gone, Chambers says he'll put in perch and keep both perch and "cat" populations well stocked.

The catfish range from 2-3 pounds to 14 pounds, Chambers says.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

Patient's Complaint: High-grass Chip Shots Mean Trouble.

Diagnosis: Wrong Right-hand Technique.

Treatment: The right hand plays a more important part in short shots from deep grass than it does in other shots since this shot is essentially a right hand shot.

Be extra firm with the grip in the right hand. Be extra sure that your grip with the right hand is almost wholly in the fingers instead of the palm.

These precautions taken, it will be easier for you to make this little shot. On the swing itself, make it firm, crisp, and decisive. You'll have to bring the clubhead through the tall grass behind the ball to make contact.

Unless the stroke is firm, the grass will catch the clubhead, turn it, and slow it down too much. If the stroke is particularly sloppy, the grass may even stop the clubhead before it reaches the ball.

To insure crispness and firmness, shorten the backswing for this shot. Then be sure that the right hand does its full share of the work on the downswing. Follow through firmly, with the clubhead moving straight toward the objective.

Do I have to say it's important on this shot to keep the head still and the eyes on the ball?

'Rinky Dink' Orioles Still Tiger Tamers

'Big Four' Fading, but Indians Are Doing OK

Tribe Wins Behind Tomanek

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No Herb Score, No Bob Lemon. No Early Wynn. And very very little of Mike Garcia, the last of Cleveland's Big Four.

Only Ray Narleski, Don Mossi, Cal McLish and Hoyt Wilhelm, four rescued relievers. And such practically unknowns as Jim Grant, Don Ferrarese, Bob Kelly and Dick Tomanek. Yet the Indians aren't exactly disgracing themselves.

Bobby Bragan's patched-up Indians won't win any pennants. They may not even finish in the first division but they're going to put up a stubborn battle.

They indicated that again Wednesday when they turned back Boston 3-2 in 12 innings with Tomanek, an unheralded left-hander going all the way. The victory boosted Cleveland back into fourth place, only a game behind Kansas City and Baltimore, deadlocked for second place.

Baltimore made it two straight over Detroit with an 8-1 triumph while Kansas City was beaten by Washington 6-1. The New York Yankees continued their massacre of the rest of the league by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5-2.

The Indians finished sixth in 1937, largely due to an extraordinary run of injuries. It didn't seem possible that this jinx would manifest itself again this year. But so far Lemon, Score, Garcia, Vic Wertz, Larry Doby and Carroll Hardy all have been incapacitated by injuries or illness.

Lemon is on the disabled list. Score hasn't pitched since he pulled a tendon in his forearm April 30. Garcia, bothered by a pulled hip muscle, hasn't started since April 20. Wertz hasn't played at all because of a fractured ankle. Doby has a lame shoulder and Hardy is recovering from an appendectomy.

A 12th inning home run by Minnie Minoza off Murray Wall decided the game. The Cuban outfielder had been hitless in five previous trips to the plate. Minnie is hitting only .270 but he has hit home runs in six games and Cleveland has won five of them.

Two streaks ended when Washington whipped Kansas City. The Senators concluded their own seven-game losing streak while snapping the Athletics' five-game winning streak. Home runs by Ken Aspromonte, Jim Lemon and Norm Zauchin spelled defeat for Ralph Terry. Russ Kennermer posted his first victory with a four-hitter.

Home runs also paved the way for the Yankees' eighth straight victory, their second in a row over the White Sox. After Chicago had taken a 2-0 lead four-baggers by Jim Landis and Al Smith, the Yankees tied the score on Elston Howard's two-run blow in the fifth, tallied the winning runs in the sixth when Gil McDougald tagged Billy Pierce for a three-run wallop.

Whitey Ford won his fourth in six decisions with a nine-hitter. Pierce, who has won only one, dropped his fourth.

Yanks Invade Detroit Home of 'Fat Cats'

Seven Straight Losses
Could Reach 10 Before
Yanks Leave Town

DETROIT (AP) — If the Baltimore Orioles are a bunch of rinky-dinks — as Jack Tighe called them a couple of weeks ago — just where does that leave the Detroit Tigers? The listless and inefficient Bengals are forcing out the age-old cry of "fat cats of the American League." They dropped their seventh straight game yesterday, bowing 8-1 to the Orioles before a gathering of only 3,387 at Briggs Stadium.

As the Tigers limp from one lackluster performance to another they are faced with a three-game series against the league-leading New York Yankees. The defending American League titlists will show no mercy, and in fact will send three undefeated pitchers after the Tigers.

Bobby Shantz (4-0), Bob Turley (6-0) and Sal Maglie (1-0) are Casey Stengel's choices to oppose the Detroit club, which threatens to eclipse a 10-game losing streak staged in 1936 under Bucky Harris.

The Orioles, who now have defeated the Tigers in all four 1938 engagements, made a runaway out of yesterday's contest from the outset. Belting out starter Frank Lary with a three-run uprising in the third inning, they collected two more runs off Lou Sleater and added three more off George Susce.

Striking out as though manager Paul Richards had masterminded a plan for revenge, the Baltimore club made every base hit count. Every man who hit safely either scored or drove in somebody else.

Gus Triandos belted two tremendous home runs and Gene Woodling smashed one off the facing of the third deck in right field. Woodling homered behind Bob Nieman's fourth-inning single and Triandos followed with a shot over the left center field screen.

Sleater walked Woodling after getting two men out in the fifth and Triandos promptly smashed his sixth home run over the same spot in the fence. Susce, making his debut in Detroit uniform, issued two walks and yielded three singles that brought on three more Baltimore runs in the seventh.

The Baltimore manager may have outsmarted his team out of a shutout. The Tigers averted the whitewash in the ninth inning on consecutive doubles by Johnny Groth and Billy Martin.

Blanks Cards; Giants Increase Lead

Roberts Back on Beam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Robin Roberts is back where he belongs—among the elite of the pitching fraternity.

Once the premier pitcher of the National League, Roberts got a taste of how the other half lives last year—he won only 10 while losing 22—and there were widespread rumors that his days with the Philadelphia Phillies were numbered.

That's nothing more than a bad dream now, Robbie is Philadelphia's fair-haired boy again. He added another chapter to his brilliant career last night when he hurled the Phillies to a spine-tling 1-0 triumph over red-hot St. Louis. Furthermore, he broke up a scoreless duel with Sam Jones with a ringing eighth inning double that drove in the lone run.

The San Francisco Giants defeated Cincinnati 5-4 in 10 innings to increase their first place margin over Milwaukee to 2½ games. Los Angeles made it two in a row over the Braves, 2-1 and Chicago thrashed Pittsburgh 5-1.

The Phillies moved into fourth place by virtue of their victory. Held to one hit through seven innings by Jones, they set up the winning run when Willie Jones singled to open the eighth. Chuck Essegian forced Jones, attempting to sacrifice but Roberts came through with a double off the centerfield wall scoring Essegian.

It was Roberts' first shutout of the season and 31st of his career. Only Warren Spahn, with 42, has more. It also was Robbie's fourth straight complete game, his third straight victory and evened his season record at 4-4. Two of his defeats were shutouts, one a 12-inning 1-0 loss to Pittsburgh.

His earned run average is a gaudy 2.96. He now has won five 1-0 games while losing six in his 10-year career.

Willie Mays won the game for the Giants with a 10th inning home run, his 12th of the season. Willie also had two singles and his sacrifice fly brought in the tying run.

Walt Morin drove in three runs with a home run and single and Taylor Phillips hurled a five-hitter for his second triumph in Chicago's victory over Pittsburgh.

Bob Porterfield was the loser.

Marv Grissom, third giant pitcher, received credit for the victory with Hal Jeffcoat losing it.

Gino Cimoli drove in both Dodger runs with his fifth home run in the first inning and cut down Milwaukee's bid for a tie in the seventh with a strong throw from center field that nipped Wes Covington at the plate. Don Drysdale won his second game for Los Angeles. Bob Rush lost it although he gave up only three of the Dodgers' four hits.

Walt Morin drove in three runs with a home run and single and Taylor Phillips hurled a five-hitter for his second triumph in Chicago's victory over Pittsburgh.

Bob Porterfield was the loser.

Marv Grissom, third giant pitcher, received credit for the victory with Hal Jeffcoat losing it.

It was Roberts' first shutout of the season and 31st of his career. Only Warren Spahn, with 42, has more. It also was Robbie's fourth straight complete game, his third straight victory and evened his season record at 4-4. Two of his defeats were shutouts, one a 12-inning 1-0 loss to Pittsburgh.

His earned run average is a gaudy 2.96. He now has won five 1-0 games while losing six in his 10-year career.

Willie Mays won the game for the Giants with a 10th inning home run, his 12th of the season. Willie also had two singles and his sacrifice fly brought in the tying run.

The San Francisco Giants defeated Cincinnati 5-4 in 10 innings to increase their first place margin over Milwaukee to 2½ games. Los Angeles made it two in a row over the Braves, 2-1 and Chicago thrashed Pittsburgh 5-1.

The Phillies moved into fourth place by virtue of their victory. Held to one hit through seven innings by Jones, they set up the winning run when Willie Jones singled to open the eighth. Chuck Essegian forced Jones, attempting to sacrifice but Roberts came

2nd McKay Car Ruined in '500' Test

ALCORN

GIBSON

MAPLES' ACES—Two of the athletes Birmingham High hopes will crash the "winners" circle at Ann Arbor, Saturday are star pole vaulter Bill Alcorn (left) and shot-putter Chuck Gibson. Alcorn is going after former teammate Bill McFarlen's mark of 12 feet one inch that won the state a year ago. Gibson has consistently been over 50 feet, this spring, in his specialty. Maples will have athletes in most events.

Rookie Driver Fails to Pass Final Testing

Another Racer Crashes Into Retaining Wall in Kuzma Car

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A broken piston finished the McKay racing team Wednesday, the last day on which rookie Bob Cortner of Redlands, Calif., could have finished his Indianapolis Motor Speedway driver's test before attempting to qualify for the 500-mile race May 30.

Don Edmunds of Anaheim, Calif., wrecked the other McKay car May 10.

The spurt of smoke that signaled Cortner's ruined engine came after he had completed seven of the 10 laps in his 125-mile-an-hour test. He had been driving beautifully, with three laps of identical times, down to one-hundredth of a second.

The car, owned by Roy McKay of Youngstown, Ohio, finished seventh in the 1951 Memorial Day race with Carl Forberg driving.

Cortner was the 11th new driver to apply for the tests this year—but a newcomer hasn't won the 500 since George Souders did it 31 years ago.

The test covers 100 miles—10 laps each at 115, 120, 125 and 130 miles an hour. Today had been set previously as the final day of testing.

The test was passed by Paul Goldsmith, St. Clair Shores, Mich.; A. J. Foyt Jr., Houston, Tex.; Joe Gibbs, Denver; Juan Manuel Fangio, Argentina; Jack Ensley, Indianapolis; Art Bisch, Phoenix, Ariz.; Jerry Unser, Long Beach, Calif.; Rex Easton, Springfield, Ill.; Earl Motter, Pacifica, Calif.; and Len Sutton, Portland, Ore.

Fred Agabashian of Alamo, Calif., a veteran of 11 consecutive Indianapolis 500-mile races, crashed into the Speedway retaining wall late Wednesday, but apparently escaped with relatively minor injuries.

Agabashian, a consulting engineer, was testing a Kuzma owned by H. H. Johnson of Chula Vista, Calif., and scheduled to be driven by veteran Jimmy Daywalt of Indianapolis.

The car probably is out of the May 30 race. The front end was badly smashed.

What's in a Name—or Face?

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—There are four strangers in the tennis team picture of Ohio University's yearbook, which came out yesterday.

The names aren't the same as Ohio U's team members. Neither are the faces.

But they do have a familiar look, embarrassed student editors admit. One looks suspiciously like Dick Thomas; another like John Fowell.

Thomas and Fowell are members of the basketball team at rival Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. It's a pretty fair bet the other two in the picture are also Miami basketball players. The names below it are apparently fictitious.

So far, the only explanation is that a student photographer must have confused the Miami players—arriving for a game and dressed in suits and ties—for Ohio U.S. tennis squad, which might also have dressed up for a picture that wasn't taken.

Mazur, Dennis Hurl Shutouts

Two brilliant shutout pitching performances highlighted last night's City League softball activity at Beaudette and North Side parks.

Jack Mazur twirled a one-hit masterpiece as Shaw's Jewelers won their 2nd decision in three starts with a 9-0 rout of Blue Star Drive-In.

The other mound gem was turned in by Al Dennis who spun a two-hitter while Elks No. 810 was thumping Caverna Bar, 8-0. Jerry Ganzel clouted a three-run homer for the Elks.

In other games, the Pontiac Police banged out 20 hits during an 18-7 thrashing of O'Neill Realty and the Pontiac Merchants scored a 9-3 victory over Spence Rambler. Six different members of the Police team had three hits apiece.

14 Americans Play in British Amateur

Prep Front

By CHUCK ABRAIR

The Bloomfield Hills High School baseball team took an overall 5-5 record into its final Wayne-Oakland league game at home against West Bloomfield today. That would not be earth-shaking news in most cases but it is for the Barons.

A victory today and a triumph over Oak Park next week would enable the charges of Hal Trott to finish with more wins in one season than the school's teams had been able to gain in the four previous springs combined.

Plenty of hard work by Trott, still an outstanding athlete himself in Pontiac city circles, and a great improvement of desire on the part of the athletes have brought about the quick change.

Trott volunteered to take over the head baseball job this spring after helping out in the past hoping he could change the Barons' luck. The ex-Hillsdale star has certainly done that and then some.

When Bloomfield began baseball drills this year, the record books showed a total of six victories against 30 defeats in four years of play since the school got started in competitive sports. Included were a 35-0 loss to Harper Woods and one to another area foe of 18-4.

Trott not only has cut down the high scores and losses but he even had a contender going for him in the rugged W-O until a recent slump dropped Bloomfield from the top rung of the southern division. Several rival coaches had been wondering "what this Bloomfield team has" when the Barons started off strong.

John Dixon, Bruce Withers and Bob Barrett have been his only real dependable performers. The fact that Dixon, named the most valuable player recently, has played five different positions is an indication of the lack of depth.

Not having an adequate catcher has been a big factor in the Barons' downfall. "Northville stole everything but our bus Tuesday," commented Trott in reporting the game.

Of course, baseball does not stand alone in the sports upswing at BHS. The golf team, featuring ace Bud Badger, will be in the state finals at Kalamazoo Saturday, while the track, football and basketball contingents showed steady improvement despite rough schedules. The tennis team won only twice in its first season but only one netter graduates so the Barons could be a power in that game come 1959.

SKIPPING AROUND
A fellow named Mickey Mantle is expected to be the featured guest at the Oak Park High banquet at the Oak Park High banquet tonight.

South Lyon has a grid assistant job opening... Rochester may add two coaches to present staff... Southfield's Tom Eddy goes to Ann Arbor for a checkup on his operation tomorrow... Al Grunsch at Holly happy the way some of his future football backs have been running in track.

Add important dates: W-O golf, tennis regionals at Cranbrook and Dearborn (Friday and Saturday); track finals at Michigan, MSU and Central Michigan (Saturday); golf finals at Battle Creek and Kalamazoo (Saturday); Pontiac Press Invitational golf tourney, Saginaw Valley golf meet and Catholic Invitational track prelims involving St. Michael and Orchard Lake St. Mary at U. of D. Redskins Defend Title Millford's defending championship Wayne-Oakland golf team today goes against league opponents in the annual title tourney. The 18-hole test is being played over the interesting Meadowbrook CC layout at Northville with Northville the host team.

Bloomfield Hills and the defending Redskins are rated as top contenders. The Hills quartet won a three-way W-O match Tuesday, outscoring West Bloomfield and Holly.

4 Draw Seeded Spots in Golf Test June 2-7; Detroiters Entered

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (U)—Fourteen Americans will compete in the 63rd British Amateur Golf Championships, June 2-7, and four of them have drawn seeded positions.

Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif.; Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia; Harold Ridgley of Haverford, Pa., and Tim Holland of Rockville Centre, N. Y., were seeded yesterday.

Andrews, former U. S. Public Links champion playing in his third British Amateur, meets Dr. J. L. Hastings of Scotland. McHale, a former Walker Cupper, faces W. G. Richmond of Scotland. Both were drawn in the first quarter of pairings.

Ridgley, runner-up last year to champion Reid Jack of Scotland, will play 17-year-old Bobby Verwey of South Africa in the third quarter. Holland was given a bye in the fourth quarter draw.

There were 200 entries for the championships to be played over the Old Course at St. Andrews, which will be at its full 6,996-yard length. Par normally would be 72, but North Sea winds could turn the course into an equivalent of par 73 or 74 or drop it to 70 or 71.

Other Americans and their pairings:

Ed Meister Jr., Cleveland, vs. Lt. Col. A. A. Duncan, Wales; John B. Franek, Newton, N. J., vs. W. J. B. Girardet, London; Brig. Gen. K. K. Compton, U. S. Air Force in Fedala, Morocco, vs. Robert Ross Jr., San Francisco, vs. D. M. Cadman, England; Ernest Vandeweghe, Rockville Centre, vs. J. A. Irvine-Edwards, England; John Penrose, Miami, Fla., vs. Niels Thygesen, Denmark; Frank Strafaci, Miami, vs. Flight Lt. H. D. Moseley, England; Peter Grant; Phoenix, Ariz., vs. Donald Cameron, Scotland; James Law, Detroit, vs. Stewart W. T. Murray, Scotland; Capt. Robert Callis, U. S. Air Force in England, vs. Hamish McDonald, Scotland.

Waterford Horseshoe Meeting Set Tonight

The Waterford Township Recreation Department will hold an important meeting for all township and area horseshoe pitching enthusiasts tonight at 7:30 in the C.A.T. building on Williams Lake Road.

Discussion will include the starting time of the program, rules and regulations, and eligibility. All interested persons are encouraged to attend tonight's meeting.

League play will be conducted weekly, starting in early June, under lights at the Drayton Plains ball park. Competition is open to both beginners and advanced players. Upwards of 40 pitchers took part last year.

EVANSTON, Ill. (U)—Art Andrews of Iowa is favored for the singles crown and Illinois is the choice for the team title in the three-day Big Ten tennis meet opening today on Northwestern's courts.

Stengel Not Overconfident—Yet White Sox Still Last but Lopez is Hopeful

CHICAGO (U)—Despite the gloom of the American League cellar, Manager Al Lopez of the once highly rated Chicago White Sox declared optimistically today "There is still a long way to go."

The Sox yesterday folded for the second straight day at Comiskey Park under Yankee home run pressure and lost 5-2.

That put the last place Sox 11 1/2 games behind the first place Yankees, who have propelled themselves to the best start in the remarkable reign of Casey Stengel. The Yanks killed off Chicago's two aces, Dick Donovan and Billy Pierce, in their two-game sweep. Lopez was not too dismayed as reporters cornered him in his tiny White Sox office.

"They got two homers and so did we, but they had men on base on their's and we didn't," said Lopez after yesterday's defeat of Pierce, one of the American League's two 20-game winners last year.

Pierce now has a 1-4 record this year.

"Billy was getting hit hard, so I pulled him after six," said Lopez. "I thought we had a chance to win all the way and a solid hit just twice could have done it. This is still the month of May, though, and we have plenty of time left to right ourselves."

Stengel sympathized somewhat with Lopez.

"They got the speed, they got the defense and they got the pitching," said Casey. "But speed don't help if you don't get on base and them pitchers got to get encouragement."

"You talk about rush right now."

Pontiac Nine Rallies to Defeat Cranbrook

A three-run 6th inning enabled the Pontiac Central baseballers to overcome a 2-0 deficit and trip Cranbrook 3-2 at the Crane diamond Wednesday.

Singles by Dave Kimball and Bob Hayward, a walk, error and Bob Robaja's sacrifice fly produced the big inning. Charley Honchell hurled the victory. Larry Demberick was the loser.

Pontiac's three errors had helped Cranbrook to its early lead. Pontiac is now 6-8 for the season.

Royal Oak St. Mary clinched the suburban Catholic title by beating St. Rita, 3-1.

Jagged Stone Towers of Dolomite Alps Bear Name of Explorer

WASHINGTON — No monument ever raised by man can compare in size and splendor to the memorial of a little-known French geologist named Deodat de Dolomieu.

Recently a plaque to his memory was dedicated in the Italian town of Cortina d'Ampezzo. But this was only a reminder of the enormous memorial, built by nature, that surrounds the town.

The majestic monument is the Dolomites. These mountains, a range of the Alps, have such unusual formations and coloring they have attracted visitors from all over the world. Beside the jagged stone towers with their kaleidoscopic hues, the Great Pyramid of Khufu would seem a child's playhouse.

Back in 1769, one could hardly have imagined a person less likely to succeed than Dolomieu. At 19, the young geologist was imprisoned and condemned to death for killing a man in a duel. After getting a pardon because of his youth, he became a correspondent of the Academy of Science in Paris.

For years he wandered about Europe, a hammer in his hand and a bag on his back. He carefully studied the region that now bears his name, and he collected mineral samples.

With Napoleon, he went to Egypt in 1798. On his way back, the Neapolitan Government arrested him on a charge of revealing its plans to conquer the island of Malta. For 21 months, Dolomieu was in jail again.

Deprived of writing materials, he made a pen out of a piece of wood and, using the smoke of his lamp for ink, wrote a book of mineralogy on the margins of a Bible. The book was published in 1810 and Dolomieu became professor of mineralogy at the Museum of Natural History in Paris. He died shortly thereafter.

Dolomieu first described the mineral structure of the Italian chain named for him. The principal stone is a calcium-magnesium carbonate, also called dolomite, to which impurities lend many colors.

This handsome, limestonelike mineral is found in many places, including New England, the Appalachians, and the Mississippi Valley.

Besides its use in making steel and Epsom salts, dolomite is an excellent building material. It was used for the Houses of Parliament in London.

JAGGED SILHOUETTES

The Dolomite region of the Alps covers about 200 square miles of northern Italy near the Austrian frontier. Unlike the symmetrical peaks of the Alps proper, these mountains are surmounted by rugged, treeless cliffs and pinnacles that make jagged silhouettes against the sky. Some formations resemble the walls of mighty fortresses or the steep towers of ancient castles; others suggest cathedral spires. The setting sun casts weird shadows, and strangely beautiful colors dance from the rocks.

Though they are far from being the highest mountains in the world (the tallest peak is less than 11,000 feet), the Dolomites are unexcelled for expert rock climbing. Their mysterious beauty has also attracted thousands upon thousands of travelers who can only look up in awe at the monument that perpetuates the memory of Deodat de Dolomieu.

HOUSEWIFE BRIGADE — Fruitdale's women fire fighters leap off their truck to battle a grass fire.

Take Over While Men Work

Women's Fire Brigade Guards Town

FRUITDALE, Ind. (U) — Nobody laughs at Fruitdale's housewife fire brigade.

Most of the men in this hill country community have daytime jobs in Indianapolis, 35 miles away.

That situation could leave the Fruitdale Volunteer Fire Department unmanned about 10 hours a day, but it has an enthusiastic day shift—all women.

When the Fruitdale pumper screeches up to a daytime fire, it's manned by six or eight women in house dresses or slacks—whatever they happened to be wearing when the siren blew. They leap off, grab fire axes and hose nozzles, and attack the blaze with a kind of controlled fury.

Everybody in the southern Indiana hills hates and fears fire with an intensity felt only in areas where there are few wells and streams often go dry. When a fire gets a good start, not much can be done about it. Blackened chimneys and gaping cellars are scattered about the countryside.

MEN AWAY BY DAY

When the Fruitdale community organized its volunteer fire department three years ago, it was discovered that few of the 52 male members were available in the daytime. The 55 women of the auxiliary simply took over as a matter of course.

About a dozen are especially eager fire fighters and make almost every run.

Speed is the essence in fighting dry-country fires and the first few women who reach the station roll out the truck and start to the blaze. They leave one behind to give later arrivals the location and they follow in their own automobiles.

The girls battle house fires with chemicals and hose from an 80-gallon tank of water, filled at Morgantown, three miles north of Fruitdale. They wallopp grass fires with big squares of matting fastened to long handles and wet down burning brush with portable fire extinguishers and the tank hose.

None of the women volunteers has had any professional training in fire fighting.

"It seems to us when there's a fire, you just put it out," says president Betty P. Bailey of the auxiliary.

AID OTHER TOWNS

The girls have put out dozens. Some weeks in the spring and fall dry seasons they make three or four runs a week. They're always ready to go outside their community to help firemen fight big blazes in nearby towns.

Fruitdale housewives are so sensitive to smoke that they often start gathering at the station before the alarm is given. Some of their calls come from the forest fire lookout tower at Brown County State Park almost 20 miles away.

When the department was organized, the Morgantown telephone operators called the Fruitdale volunteers with five rings on their party lines.

Now the community has dial telephones and fires are reported to the nearby auto service station of Morris and Mary Haggard. They turn on the fire station siren.

The firewomen drop their washing or peach canning and go after the blaze.

Mickey Rooney Returns for 'Andy Hardy' Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U) — "It gives me a strange feeling to be back at this studio," said Mickey Rooney as he was driven onto the MGM lot.

"I still expect L. B. Mayer to be walking down the street, or to see Joan Crawford or Clark Gable or Spence Tracy. But they aren't here any more. None of the old gang is here any more."

Despite the thinning of the star ranks, Mickey says MGM will be coming back strong. And he's doing his bit to help the recovery.

He has returned to the home grounds in the role that made him the No. 1 box office star in his youth, "Andy Hardy Goes Home" revives the fabulous series that was the most successful in film history.

Mick returns not merely as a star, but as a partner. His Fryman Productions, named after the street where he lives, owns 50 per cent of the film.

Does this mean the Hardy series will keep going?

"We'll wait and see how this one goes," he said. "What we'd like to do is make two of them a year back to back. We could film two of them in 20 days, then space out their release."

It seems incredible that two films could be made in 20 days but he explained that he's making the current one in slightly over 11. That's due to the skillful planning of his manager and producer, Red Doff, and fast-shooting director Howard Koch.

"We're making the picture for $301,000," said producer Doff. "That includes the overhead. MGM is wondering how we can do it. Within one month, we will have moved on the lot, made the picture and moved off."

"But the quality is there," Mick added. "We're getting some wonderful stuff from my son Teddy, who plays Andy Hardy's son, and from Johnny Weissmuller Jr."

Also in the film are the Hardy family regulars: Fay Holden, Cecilia Parker and Sara Haden. The late Lewis Stone will be represented by an oil painting of Judge Hardy. And there will be flashbacks showing Andy's onetime girl friends—Lana Turner, Judy Garland and Esther Williams.

Many Film Friends Attend Colman Rites

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (U) — Many motion picture colleagues turned out for the quiet, simple funeral of British-born actor Ronald Colman.

Easter hymns were played during the 15-minute service yesterday. There was no eulogy for Colman, 67, who died Monday of a lung infection.

Colman's widow Benita Hume was accompanied to All Saints-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church by actor William Powell, Richard Barthelmess, who appeared years ago took the arm of the actor's daughter Juliet, 13.

Others who made the 100-mile trek from Hollywood included George Sanders, Joseph Cotten, Patricia Medina, Jack Benny, Vincent Price, Gladys Cooper, Herbert Marshall and George Cukor, who directed Colman's Academy Award-winning performance in "A Double Life."

2-Stage Rockets Boost Sputniks?

Vanguard Expert Says Same System Used to Launch 3 Soviet Moons

WASHINGTON (U) — Kurt Stehling, top propulsion expert on the Navy Vanguard rocket project, says calculations indicate that the Soviet Union has been using two-stage rockets to launch all its Sputniks.

Stehling told an Air Force Assn. dinner meeting last night that information points to the use of the same propulsion system for the 184-pound Sputnik I, the 1,120-pound Sputnik II, and the 3,000-pound Sputnik III. He estimated the rocket's length at 175 feet and total thrust at about 555,000 pounds.

Stehling also told the group to watch for another Vanguard satellite launching attempt in the not too distant future. He declined to pinpoint the date of the launching of a 20-pound satellite.

The Navy has announced that this will be the first official satellite launching vehicle of the Vanguard series. Previous Navy launchings have been of test vehicles with experimental satellites aboard some of them. The Vanguard satellite now in orbit was launched by one of these test vehicles.

Stehling said that from the information released by the Soviets it was possible to estimate that for the first stage they used a rocket 100 feet long and 10 feet diameter, with a thrust of 500,000 pounds.

He said the second stage rocket apparently was 75 feet long and had 55,000 pounds of thrust. Stehling said the Red scientists probably used alcohol and liquid oxygen as propellants.

The Vanguard rocket which launched the Navy's satellite and the 50-pound, 5-foot-long final-stage rocket that is also in orbit was a three-stage vehicle 72 feet tall with total thrust of 36,800 pounds.

The Army Jupiter C rockets that launched the Explorer satellites were 70 feet long and about three times as heavy and powerful as the Vanguard rockets.

Search for Lost Dog Needing Drug to Live

LOS ANGELES (U) — A search is on for a missing 6-year-old dog who will die of heart disease without his daily dosage of digitals. Maurice Bolduc reported that the patient can live only a few days without his medicine. The medicine has always been hidden in his daily candy. Chances of finding Peanuts are poor, Bolduc said he left his dog collar and license at home.

All About Men ... Chapter Ten

It's Her Baby, Let Her Tend It

By JOSEPH H. PECK, M.D.

A baby doesn't smarten up until he is about six days old. At that time he will take advantage of your weakness and pretend he is fretful merely because he wants you to take him for a midnight stroll.

It's all right for you to take your turn walking your new son at night if he has a legitimate beef, but don't let him disturb your dreams simply because he isn't sleepy. I have seen many a baby quieted in hospital nurseries by the judicious laying on of the nurse's hand in a strategic spot.

There are certain duties a man should assume in caring for the new arrival, but there are other things which, if wished on him, will destroy his manliness.

DON'T GET UP

Don't get up and prepare his meals. Nature provided a source of nourishment for him that does not have to be warmed, measured or purchased; if it isn't available, blame it on your wife's laziness or on some fool doctor's scheme to cause more office visits and thereby sweeten his kitty.

There isn't one woman in ten who couldn't nurse her papoose if she weren't afraid it would make her breasts seem less beautiful, yet nothing a pediatrician can dream up will give that baby such an immunity from disease and as good a start in life as the food nature intended him to have.

If your wife wears proper supports and lies down when nursing Junior, her breasts will look just as enticing after lactation as before, and probably even more so. Also, her generative organs will return to normal without any expensive fussing.

PRESCRIPTION: SCRUB FLOORS

Don't tell your wife I said this, but there is nothing so conducive to a normal involution of the organs as scrubbing the kitchen floor on hands and knees.

Once, when a young couple visited us with a new baby, we were sitting around the fireplace when the baby began to

Monkeys Squabble Over New Contract

ANN ARBOR (INS) — Trained Malayan monkeys and their masters squabble over work, just like American labor and management — but Malayan negotiations are always stacked against the monkeys.

Peter Goeling of the University of Michigan geography department reports some Malayans make good livings by training monkeys to climb trees and throw down coconuts.

Goeling said the monkeys, directed by long cords attached to collars around their necks, generally do the job under protest and are constantly ready to strike over what they consider unfair labor practices.

He said negotiations usually consist of taking the irate monkey to the nearest river and floating him on a log or large piece of bamboo, then spanking him with a stick.

Empire Games Attracting Many New Names

CARDIFF, Wales — A good many new names will appear among contestants in the British Empire Games to be held this year in Cardiff. Among the 32 or more countries to be represented, first-timers will be British Honduras, Brunei, Sarawak, North Borneo, Gibraltar, Sierra Leone, Tanganyika, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man.

Mike Lindsay, one of Britain's best discus throwers, who is in the United States studying at Oklahoma University, will make a special trip home to represent Scotland in the weight events.

Two Australian swimmers, Ian Hendricks and Murray Rose, also in America, are not expected.

Farmland Envelops Capital in Argentina

RIO DE JANEIRO—Like Washington, D.C., the Argentine capital is in a special territorial unit called the Federal District. Because much of the district's 450-square-mile area is made up of farms and forest lands, the City Government includes a Department of Agriculture.

IF NECESSARY, USE PINS.

fret. Papa got up and carried him to the bedroom to change him, and his wife kept gabbing. Poor guy, I thought at the time, he has lost his horns and will forever after be a muley.

Don't accept this chore without a fight, and if vanquished, use guile instead of force. Stick the kid with a pin, pinch him or do anything else to make him scream.

It's her baby. The time will come soon enough when he will transfer his allegiance to you. Meanwhile, remembering your and your wife's hereditary characteristics, be on the lookout for any trouble.

One thing to watch for is allergy. If there is a lot of hay fever, rose colds and asthma in the picture, tell the doctor about them before he injects lockjaw or diphtheria serum or any other compound containing horse serum. Children have died because of neglect of this precaution.

Some persons can't take antibiotics, and there have been deaths from ingestion of a couple of aspirin tablets in sensitive patients.

Watch also for a family weakness in resistance to streptococcus, and if there was much rheumatism or heart disease in your ancestry, watch that kid's throat.

IT'S UP TO YOU

A red throat and above-normal temperature in a baby whose forebears suffered from heart trouble means it is time to call a doctor. Keep the kid in bed until he arrives, even if you have to use a club. We have drugs to cure almost everything, except the disease from which you happen to be suffering, but the most wonderful thing in medicine is prevention.

You will meet opposition when Junior goes to school, but a perfect attendance record for a child with a family history of rheumatic or coronary condition is a disgrace to his parents.

We mentioned that as the male child develops, he turns from his mother to his father. Now it's your responsibility to start molding that little lump into a man.

But don't be overly protective or demand that he follow any prescribed course. Let him get into some trouble on his own, for only women are born with experience. It's your son's life, so let him live it in his own way, with proper guidance, but with no unnecessary interference either before or after he can lick you.

Weather Hits Wheat Tab

CHICAGO (U) — A good Commission House demand boosted wheat futures prices a cent or more a bushel in early board of trade dealings today.

The higher prices brought out liberal offerings, however, and the extreme advances were trimmed within a few minutes. Dealers said the buying appeared to be related to forecasts of frost and freezing weather in parts of the northern Great Plains which probably would further delay the harvest there.

After about an hour, wheat still held gains of major fractions of a cent. It was $\frac{1}{8}$ to $\frac{1}{4}$ cents a bushel higher, July \$1.85 $\frac{1}{2}$; corn unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ higher, July \$1.27; oats $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, July \$0.97; rye $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, July \$1.19 $\frac{1}{2}$; soybeans $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ lower, July \$2.27 $\frac{1}{2}$; lard unchanged to 3 cents a hundred pounds lower, July \$12.42.

Cost of Living Rise Continues

Means Hourly Wage Increases for 500,000 Industrial Workers

WASHINGTON (INS) — The government reported today that the cost of living climbed again in April, but there were indications of a leveling out in the steady rise since August, 1956.

An increase of two-tenths of one per cent advanced the consumer price index to 123.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average, three and one-half per cent higher than a year ago.

The April increase will mean cost of living pay raises for 500,000 workers with union escalator clauses tied to the index.

A two-cent hourly increase will go to about one-half of these, while most of the remainder will get three cents. The workers are scattered among independent automobile plants, aircraft and farm implement industries.

The United Automobile Workers would have been entitled to a two-cent increase on the basis of the April increase, but the UAW contracts with the Big Three producers are now in the process of being renegotiated.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the index increase last month could be traced to higher food costs with all other items balancing out.

Statistics Commissioner Ewan Clague told a news conference that "in a broad, general way" the big increase in the cost of living is over for the time being.

Clague said the index is "peaking out" although it "may move up a little more by summer" before hitting a normal period of decline in August.

Kick in His Head Started Spirited Career

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS) — When he was 16, Lewis Rosenstiel was kicked in the head.

For Lew, it meant the exact opposite.

He had been studying to become a doctor, but the cleat that wuffed into his face during a Cincinnati high school football game in 1907 turned him away from the medical profession for good. Because of an eye injury, he was ordered to stop playing, stop reading. It was suggested that he visit his Uncle David in the country for a rest cure—and Rosenstiel has not really rested since.

Uncle David owned a small distillery in Milton, Kentucky, and he put Lewis on the payroll as a meal-room helper to help the boy pass the hours. By the time Lew was well, a matter of less than a year, he was so imbued with spirit for the spirits industry that he couldn't leave Kentucky.

It didn't take long for him to work up to the position of salesman.

Armed with whisky and pride, he confronted his first customer, who told him, "I'll buy if you're sure your product is prime, sound and marketable."

Lewis was startled. For probably the last time in his life. "Look," he said, "we don't sell anything that isn't prime. What's more, I don't think you'd know good whisky if you fell in it. And I don't have to sell it to you at all."

So smug, he strode out. Still bristling, he faced his next prospect. "I'm selling the best whisky on the market," he enunciated. "The price is $7.75 a case."

This customer bought plenty... even though the price Lewis asked was $2.50 more than the going rate of his company.

"I learned an important lesson that day," he remembers. "I learned that if you don't have pride in your product—if you sell it too cheap—you lose that precious thing known as good will, respect and dignity for your product."

Twenty-five years ago exactly, Lewis Rosenstiel founded Schenley Industries, Inc.; he is now the giant tycoon in the business. And the kick-in-the-face kid is not only known for his pride in products, but for his predictions.

At the beginning of prohibition, he made the first one: The law would be repealed in slightly less than 15 years. He made all his plans for his Schenley operations based on his own prediction. And he was a prepared man when—14 years, five months and five days later it began—prohibition ended.

In July, 1941, he forecast the sharply curtailed. Accordingly alcohol, and ordered purchase of U. S. would enter the war and he prepared all his plants for fast conversion to production of wood forthcoming peacetime. additional stocks of whisky for the

There have been many more Rosenstiel predictions come true. He now foresees fast under-employment, in the near future; a U. S. population increase to 235,000,000 by 1975; within two decades a good-sized city growing up in rural America every 30 days; and a consequent expansion and prospering of his own already-booming business.

Men who have followed them say that, to date, Lewis Rosenstiel's visions must be accounted true, until proved otherwise.
