Loss Estimated
$15-16 Million
in Rotunda Fire

Eight-Sided Structure
Completely Collapses
Due to Intense Heat

DEARBORN (AP) — The Ford Rotunda — a famous landmark in the Detroit area for 26 years — was a mass of twisted steel and stone rubble today.

A flash fire broke out on the 110-foot high dome at 1:15 p.m. yesterday. It spread downward into the interior and intense heat soon caused the eight-sided structure to collapse.

The loss was estimated at between $15 and $16 million.

Ford Motor Co. made no immediate decision on whether to rebuild one of the nation's most visited tourist attractions.

The company's president, John Dystera, said, "We are all greatly saddened by the loss of the Rotunda. To Detroiters and to millions of visitors it was a symbol of the automotive industry and Ford's role in the industry."

Included in the loss were $350,000 in Christmas decorations to be used for the annual Christmas fantasy; 12 new cars, and one new tractor.

The only casualty was John Riley, 58, of Dearborn, a building engineer, who was treated at a hospital for smoke inhalation.

2 SPOT FLAMES

Two men working on the roof first spotted the flames. Ford officials said the men were using a tar-like waterproofing material and heating it on the roof with a propane gas-fired heater.

In less than two hours the gear-shaped building began collapsing. When the alarm sounded, 35 visitors and 15 office workers were inside the Rotunda. All got out safely.

A group of 118 school students from South Bend, Ind., had just left the building for lunch.

A fire wall saved one wing which houses 90 per cent of the vast archives of Ford Motor Co.

A Ford spokesman said the building was fully insured.

Reds Wage Border Battle

India Repulses Attacks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Red Chinese troops launched new attacks along India's northeast Himalayan border but were repulsed, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Indian and Red Chinese tanks were reported poised in Ladakh on the northwestern front.

The attacks in the northeast came over the past two days.

near Walong, 15 miles west of the Burma border, and at Jang, about 300 miles to the west near the Bhutan border, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

He said the Chinese push near Walong was under cover of artillery fire. In Jang, he reported, the Indian forces shelled advancing Chinese.

Informed sources said Indian commanders in the northeast expressed confidence they can hold their present lines where the Chinese threaten mountain passes leading down into the plains of India's Assam State.

In the Ladakh area, informed sources reported, the Chinese shot at an Indian transport plane carrying military supplies to Chushul airfield, situated on a 14,200-foot plateau. The sources said the Chinese gunfire missed the plane.

A showdown battle for the airfield is expected.

India flew light tanks into the area to counter a Communist tank build-up near the airfield and across the disputed border at Rudok in Tibet.

Communist tanks were seen only a few miles from the airstrip, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said.

The airfield is the only one the Indians have in the area and is vital to their supply line. Only sporadic shelling and rifle fire were reported Friday in the northeastern sector of the frontier where the Chinese have paused after early advances that threatened the thickly populated Assam Plains.

Report Nikita Calling Back Technicians

But Cautious U.S. Will
Prolong Blockade and
Aerial Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the 40-odd Soviet missiles secretly installed in Cuba are reported on their way back to Russia. The rest are due to be headed home by Monday night.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev is also understood to be pulling out several thousand military technicians assigned to the Cuban rocket bases.

But there were indications the end of the U.S. blockade may not be soon.

unexpected speed—coincides with the apparent end of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's mission to Havana.

U.S. officials now take it Mikoyan has failed in any effort he may have made to pressure Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro into accepting international inspection to verify removal of the missiles and dismantling of the bases.

In Havana, Mikoyan was reported to have conferred again Friday night with Castro after having spent Thursday touring collective farms with him. But Washington officials believe Mikoyan may leave this weekend.

So far as President Kennedy is concerned, officials said, this assumed failure of Mikoyan means Khrushchev will not live up to that part of his Cuban crisis agreement that called for international verification.

Kennedy, informants added, plans to maintain a prolonged naval blockade and aerial surveillance of the island to safeguard against any new sneak Soviet operation.

HUNTED — Cranbrook officials hope it's just a horse thief, not an art thief, who took this sculpture entitled "Wounded Horse," by sculptor Carl Milles. Milles became world-famous for his fountains and other sculptures which grace capital cities of Europe and America. Well known is the large Orpheus Fountain at Cranbrook.

'Wounded' Sculpture Vanishes

'Horse Thief' Hits Cranbrook

BY RALPH P. HUMMEL

It's a horse. It weighs 250 pounds and it's made of stone.

What Cranbrook Academy of Art officials want to know is: "Where is it?"

The sculpture disappeared from the south steps of the academy galleries-library buildings in Bloomfield Hills four weeks ago.

It is called "Wounded Horse" and was created by one of the world's greatest sculptors, the late Carl Milles, resident artist at Cranbrook for 21 years.

POSSE CAN'T FIND IT

Even a posse of groundsmen scouring the 300-acre Cranbrook property couldn't corral it.

Galleries head Wallace Mitchell finally announced the theft today, explaining that

Cranbrook had been plagued by "continuing problems" of "pranks and vandalism."

Several years ago another piece of Milles' sculpture, "Sven Hedin," was removed from its permanent pedestal in front of Cranbrook Institute of Science and was recovered later from the grounds of a county high school, Mitchell said.

"Wounded Horse" is carved in black granite. It's 24 inches high, 24 inches long and 15 inches wide. It was bought by Cranbrook in 1934 for $3,000.

The horse is shown wounded in battle and struggling in pain. Milles had intended it as a protest against war.

Today, worried Cranbrook officials were wondering about a judgment Milles had once rendered.

"In America," he had said, "the appreciation of art is not general."

Great, Humble Gather in Tribute to Mrs. FDR

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Funeral services were conducted today for Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, as the great and the humble gathered to pay their last respects before she was interred beside the grave of her husband, the nation's 32nd president.

The mourners attending the services in this Hudson River Valley community included President Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline.

The Rev. Gordon L. Kidd conducted the services at St. James Episcopal church. It was the same church where

Yule Clubs Mail Out Savings

Subscribers to Christmas Club accounts at Pontiac banks and savings and loan companies will begin receiving more than $1-million in Christmas Club checks Monday.

Local financial firms today began mailing 13,654 checks representing a total $1,183,062 in club savings.

The figure is about $141,000 more than last year and the number of checks has increased about 1,664 over the 1961 mailing.

Leading the way again is Community National Bank, which will distribute $608,366 in 8,046 checks. This is about 940 checks and $82,000 more than the bank mailed out last year.

Pontiac State Bank is mailing 4,558 checks for a total of $393,779. This is about a 10 per cent increase over their 1961 figures.

First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Oakland shows an increase of $20,448 and 263 checks over last year's payoff. They are mailing out $90,907 in some 1,650 Christmas Club checks this year.

The financial institutions have already turned their thinking to Christmas 1963. Most are scheduled to begin opening new Christmas Club accounts Tuesday.

News Flashes

BELLEVIEW, Ill. (AP) — A passenger and a freight train collided three miles east of Belleville today. Five ambulances have been sent to the scene and a number of injured have been rushed to the hospital.

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — Three women and two men tried for the killing of a malformed thalidomide baby girl were acquitted today by a 12-man jury.

Russian Ship Inspected Hours After Rendezvous

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet freighter Anosov, steaming away from Cuba with a deck load which apparently included missiles, was inspected today by the U.S. Navy destroyer Barry.

A Defense Department spokesman said the inspection was carried out shortly after dawn today.

The Barry had arranged Friday night for an "inspection without boarding" after intercepting the freighter in the glare of searchlights as dusk fell.

Details of this morning's inspection were lacking, but no incidents were reported.

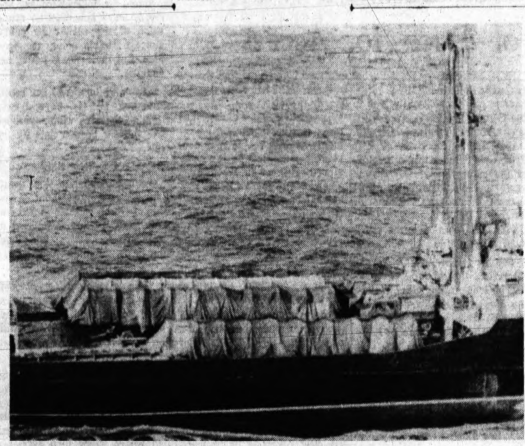

The inspection presumably took place about 700 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

A group of newsmen aboard two long-range Navy patrol planes witnessed Friday night's intercept and today's inspection while their aircraft circled overhead. But the newsmen had to await their return to Washington later today to report on the incident.

Meanwhile, other newsmen flying from Guantanamo Bay in Cuba watched as another Soviet vessel, the Lenin's Komsomol, was escorted through the windward passage off Cuba today by the U.S. Navy guided missile ship Dahlgren.

On the freighter's deck were eight long objects, shrouded in canvas, which appeared to be missiles. Eight trucks also were lashed to the decks.

The Dahlgren remained about 900 feet behind the freighter as she moved toward open water after (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

Police Recover Stolen Stocks

Nab Former Broker in New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Police announced today that they have arrested a former broker and recovered $1-million worth of stocks stolen yesterday from a midtown brokerage office.

The stocks were stolen from the Fifth Avenue brokerage of Robert A. Martin Associates. They were certificates for shares of American Dimensions Corp. stock worth $1,075,000.

Also taken from the office at 680 Fifth Ave. were oil paintings valued at $25,000. Police said these have not been recovered.

Arrested in the case was Ralph H. Rapp, 34. He was booked on grand larceny charges and police claimed to have his admission to the crime.

The thefts were reported to police yesterday by Robert Martin, head of the brokerage firm.

Jury Links It to Cancer

Smoking Is Blamed

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A jury has ruled that cigarette smoking can give you lung cancer but you can't legally blame the cigarette manufacturer.

A U.S. district court jury came to this conclusion Friday following a trial in which a carpenter tried to collect damages from Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Otto Pritchard, 64, of Pittsburgh said he smoked the company's Chesterfield cigarettes from the 1920s until 1963, got lung cancer and had his right lung removed.

The jury of eight women and four men ruled that cigarette smoking was "the cause or one of the causes" of Pritchard's lung cancer, but said Pritchard assumed the risk of injury when he started smoking.

The panel said Liggett & Myers did not "make any express warranties upon which the plaintiff relied and by which he was induced to purchase" the cigarettes.

Attorneys for both sides indicated they were at least partly satisfied with the verdict.

James P. McArdle, Pritchard's attorney, said, "I would assume in the broad sense that he won because we have established that there is a causal medical connection between smoking and lung cancer." He called the verdict a "mixed victory" and a "social victory."

"If the risk of smoking gets to the level of the teen-agers in high school, if the lesson is brought home that they are courting death by smoking and taking the chance of getting lung cancer, there will be a great victory on the Pritchard case," McArdle said.

William Eckert, counsel for Liggett & Myers, said the jury's linking of smoking to lung cancer was "contrary to our position," but added that he was "deeply gratified by the verdict."

Pritchard had tried to collect $213,000 in damages.

The trial lasted six weeks as both sides paraded a host of medical experts to the stand.

It was the second time the case had been tried. For testimony was completed in the first trial in 1960, the judge prevented the case from going to the jury on the grounds that insufficient evidence had been presented.

McArdle went to the U.S. circuit court of appeals and a new trial was ordered.

He said he didn't know whether he'll appeal Friday's verdict.

Give Concert at MSUO

Some 278 choral students from 70 southeastern Michigan high schools were to be in concert from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 2:30 p.m. today at Michigan State University, East Lansing, a university spokesman announced yesterday afternoon. Admission is free.

Foreign Tour for Broomfield

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, will leave tomorrow with other members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee for a three-week tour of foreign countries.

Broomfield said the trip will include stops at Moscow, Berlin, Warsaw, West Germany, Denmark, Portugal and Spain.

A member of national security and Far East subcommittees, Broomfield said that "this is the first time behind the Iron Curtain for me, and I am looking forward to the experience."

Conferences have been arranged with government officials in each country so committee members may increase their understanding of these nations, according to Broomfield.

Broomfield is scheduled to become senior Republican next year on subcommittees dealing with the Far East and with national security and scientific developments affecting foreign policy.

Troops Poised Near Yemen's Border

BEIHAN, West Aden Protectorate (UPI) — British-trained Southern Arabian Federation troops were poised today only six miles from the border of Yemen, but their British commander denied an invasion was planned.

The soldiers made a 133-mile night-long dash from their base at Alau following rocket and bomb attacks against the amirate of Beihan, part of the protectorate, by planes allegedly flying from the newly proclaimed Yemeni Republic.

Beihan itself is about 50 miles east of Sana, capital of neighbor-

'Political Plums' Relatively Few

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The number of "political plums" available to Governor George Romney will be relatively few — especially in the category of paying jobs.

Unlike many states, several of Michigan's department heads and other persons in places of authority are under civil service.

A maximum of somewhere around 100 jobs will be available to Romney appointees, but most of these are on nonpaying boards and commissions.

Some will come up because terms are expiring, other jobs will be available because the Republican-dominated Senate has failed to approve appointees by Democratic Gov. John Swainson and still others because some appointees are serving at the pleasure of the governor.

The appointments, widely varying in importance, range from A to W in the long list of state boards and commissions. There are no state agencies with first letters starting with X, Y or Z.

WIDE RANGE

The jobs available will cover a range from the State Board of Accounting, the aeronautics, agriculture and aging commissions and the State Board of Alcoholism and apple commission down through the list to waterways and water resources commissions.

In between are positions in such little-known state departments as the board of examiners on basic sciences, the Civil War centennial commission, the board for registration of foresters and the ski area safety board. All do important jobs in their own area but seldom make headline news.

Outgoing Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson could take more than half of these away from the Republican leader by filling the vacancies between now and the end of the year, but he has indicated he would leave the positions unfilled.

Probably the most important state agency to be affected is the State Public Service Commission.

The appointment of Chairman James Ingalls has not yet been affirmed by the Senate. Commissioner Thomas Burns has a term expiring in July next year.

Ingalls is a Democratic appointee and so is inclined to Democratic policies. Burns is the sole Republican on the three-man board.

COULD GAIN CONTROL

By bypassing Ingalls and putting in a new candidate next year and by reappointing Burns or naming another Republican, Romney could have his men control the commission.

The commission sets rates for Michigan utilities, such as telephone, gas and electric firms.

In theory, individuals in paying jobs who serve at the pleasure of the governor offer resignation when a new administration takes over.

In practice, there are a number of cases where a change in the governor's office makes little difference.

Some administrators of departments — such as State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs — would be very difficult to replace if a resignation was offered and accepted.

plated suffering with anemia, complicated by tuberculosis.

Former President Harry S. Truman was one of the first to accept an invitation to attend, as did former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

On her death, tributes came from queens, presidents and prime ministers, organizations of all faiths and leaders of the down-trodden for whose causes she battled.

From behind the Iron Curtain Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev expressed sorrow at her passing.

It was at Val-Kill, her cottage on the estate, that Mrs. Roosevelt entertained Khrushchev and his wife at a luncheon in 1961.

Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, eulogized her in a special tribute at the U.N. Friday.

Say K to Give Policy Report

Expect Cuba, Berlin Topics to Be Covered

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev is expected to give a foreign policy report to the nation's 330 top leaders when the Communist Party Central Committee meets Nov. 18, Western observers said today.

Although the announcement of the Central Committee plenary meeting last night said it would discuss managerial improvements in Soviet industry and agriculture, it was believed that Cuba and Berlin also would play a major role in the meeting.

Khrushchev yesterday completed a series of separate meetings with the Communist party chiefs of the Soviet bloc apparently to explain the Kremlin position on withdrawing missiles from Cuba and the prospects for a peace treaty with Communist East Germany.

But no report of the talks was made public, and none is expected on the foreign affairs aspect of the Central Committee meeting, the first held since last March.

Khrushchev appears embarked on a newly defined policy of peaceful coexistence which permits compromise with the West, according to Western diplomats here.

The idea of compromise and mutual concessions first began to appear in official Soviet statements during the Cuban crisis.

Khrushchev underlined the policy Wednesday in his rambling discussion during a Kremlin reception on the anniversary of the Russian revolution.

The new direction appeared to be an attempt by Soviet leaders to defend their Cuban withdrawal against the charges of Communist China, which accuses Russia of retreating in the face of imperialism.

Sheldy Topp Trial to Begin Nov. 27

Seventeen-year-old Sheldy Topp will go on trial in Circuit Court Nov. 27 for the May 16 murder of Oakland County's first assistant corporation counsel Charles Davis.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor Robert D. Long yesterday said the trial was set for the first day of the next jury term.

Topp, a former patient at Pontiac State Hospital, was found mentally competent to stand trial by a Circuit Court jury Oct. 26 at the third sanity hearing for him.

He had previously been found sane twice by Circuit Judge William J. Beer in June.

NIGHT-LONG SHADOW

The Anosov had moved well out of Cuban waters before the ship was intercepted and inspected.

Through the south Atlantic night the Barry shadowed the Soviet vessel, homeward bound with a military cargo that apparently includes eight missiles wrecked from their Cuban bases.

For the first time since President Kennedy proclaimed on Oct. 22 a blockade against offensive weapons shipments to Cuba, newsmen were allowed to watch the Navy in action in the quarantine area.

Reporter Jim Becker of The Associated Press was among reporters who watched from a circling Navy patrol plane as the Barry pulled alongside the Anosov and "requested inspection" of the ship at dawn.

The Anosov apparently agreed.

"We have arranged an inspection without boarding," the destroyer reported by radio. The Barry said it would inspect and photograph the Soviet cargo from close alongside the Anosov at 6 a.m.

The Barry intercepted the Soviet freighter about 565 miles northeast of Puerto Rico.

At 5:55 p.m. the U.S. destroyer sped up stern of the Anosov and bathed the Russian vessel in its powerful searchlights.

The two ships exchanged blinking light signals, apparently arranging the inspection in the dot-dash code of the lanterns.

As the destroyer flashed its signals, the freighter continued plying a straight course, but apparently at reduced speed.

Then the Barry dropped back astern of the Anosov for the night of shadowing.

The sea was calm and the moon was full.

It appeared that the ship's cargo of military equipment had been hastily loaded in a Soviet effort to comply swiftly with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's promise to get the missiles out of Cuba.

FORECAST
Unit: Sunday Morning

NATIONAL WEATHER — Rain is predicted tonight for the north Atlantic states, with showers in the Northwest and northern Plains. Partly cloudy skies are expected in the mid-Atlantic states and westward to the Rockies with fair skies elsewhere. It will be cooler in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, south Atlantic states, northern Plains and Pacific Northwest. It will be warmer elsewhere.

Along the main entry points from Yemen — the Wadi Khir, Wadi an Nahr and Wadi al Mablugh — troops have laid out a network of defenses.

Stone-built gun positions are sited to cover the routes and constructed so skillfully that they are virtually invisible until you are directly on top of them.

Since the federal troops arrived, there has been no repetition of the earlier air raids and no trouble along the borders. But the army is taking no chances.

Jeep and armored car reconnaissance patrols have been combing the area while, overhead RAF hunter hawk jets fly patrols.

INVASION 'NONSENSE'

The commander of the army, British Brig. James Lunt, a veteran of Ghazal's famed Jordan Arab legion, dismissed as "nonsense" Yemeni allegations that he is planning an invasion.

"Our defense positions are not being manned," he said. "We have constructed them merely as a precaution so that they will be ready if we ever need them."

"At present there are no indications that further Yemeni actions against the federation are likely, but in an area where the border is not too well demarcated, and where every man carries a rifle almost automatically, trouble is always possible."

"We are here to prevent trouble, not to cause it," he said.

Shorten Prayer, Clerics Suggest

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Suggestions were made at the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council today that the daily prayers priests must say be shortened to give them more time for their pastoral duties. Opposition to any change also was expressed.

The breviary—the book of daily prayers said by every priest—was the main topic of discussion at the council session in St. Peter's, a spokesman said.

“Several speakers requested that it be reduced in size so that priests might dedicate themselves more to the work of the apostolate,” the spokesman said. “Others requested that it be adapted more to the demands of the times.”

Priests now spend about two hours every day reading from the breviary.

Nineteen prelates spoke today—cardinals and archbishops.

The spokesman said that some of the prelates suggested that the breviary not be changed because it has undergone reform through the centuries. The speakers, the spokesman said, pointed to revisions made by Pope John XXIII in 1960 and asserted that these made recitations easier.

Chiang Protests McMahon Line

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China has lodged a formal protest against its acceptance of the McMahon Line as the frontier between India and China, it was announced yesterday.

In effect, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's regime shares with the Communist administration in Peking a Chinese claim to border territory long under the Indian flag.

Foreign office spokesman Patrick Pichi Sun told a news conference the protest had been filed because “the American view on the matter is obviously contrary to historical facts.”

The protest, he disclosed, was made after the State Department endorsed a statement by John Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India, that “the McMahon Line is the accepted international border and is sanctioned by modern usage.”

The spokesman recalled a statement made by the foreign office Oct. 29 that “the so-called McMahon Line is a line unilaterally claimed by the British during their rule over India” and had never been accepted by the government of the Republic of (Nationalist) China.

Announce 2 Are Eligible for Postmaster Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday Donald G. Bachman Sr. and Hugh P. Gaston are eligible for the Ann Arbor, Mich., postmastership.

Either of the two may be nominated by President Kennedy, subject to Senate confirmation. Bachman now is acting postmaster. There were four applicants for the $9,725 a-year job.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHELLFISH

QUESTION: Do sea shells have babies?

ANSWER: Many of the ocean mollusks, which produce sea shells, have young which at first look and act quite differently from the adults. The little shell “veligers” which we show do have very small shells, but the most prominent things about them are their wings.

These delicate creatures swim freely through the water instead of crawling along the bottom as they will later on. Soon after being hatched from eggs, the little veligers rise to the surface and feed on the very minute sea life called “plankton.”

Then, perhaps because their shells are growing heavy, they sink down and take up a crawling existence. Oyster “fry,” in much the same way, swim around gaily for a couple of weeks and then attach themselves to an empty oyster shell, a rock, or a wooden piling where they remain.

Life may not be as much fun then as it was when they were swimming around, but it's a lot safer, for a great many veligers and oyster fry are gobbled up by hungry fish.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are few things more fun than gathering shells at the seashore. If you get a chance, start a shell collection and try to identify them.

Handsome Guys Are 'Out'; Julie Likes Beat-Up Chaps

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There's good news finally for us plain-looking guys.

Men with pretty faces aren't doing as well in the popularity sweepstakes as slightly beat-up types like Anthony Quinn.

Julie Harris went so far as to tell me that “men become more beautiful and appealing when they have wounds on their faces.”

(That could make a man go out and pick a fight with Sonny Liston.)

And Miss Shirley Anne Field, the new British sex symbol, assured me about the same time that having a romance with a really handsome man is just short of hell.

In this double interview, Julie Harris insisted that the punchdrunk, stumblum battered look of Tony Quinn in “Requiem for a Heavyweight” had somewhat of a romantic tug—and Miss Field grew bitterly angry recalling an American actor who primped even more than pretty girls do.

“I had this romance with this actor who took hours getting dressed—I had to wait for him!” she fumed. “He drove me mad, he was always brushing his hair.”

“I was supposed to tell him he looked nice. But did he ever compliment me? Never, ever, ever!”

It was a subject which fascinated Julie Harris. In “Requiem,” she's a girl in an employment office who finds herself taken with this chopped-up old has-been fighter. Yet he thinks she's repelled by his scars.

“A wounded face,” she reiterated, “to me is not ugly. The puffy eyes, the ears, the nose getting broader, to me are beautiful.”

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Johnny Mathis' throat's O.K., and he resumes his tour in Minneapolis. He'll make a Christmas album with her four daughters. . . . Teresa Marz Gabor announced that she'll write a book about her “wonderful family” . . . Molly Bee'll take time from the Store Allen show to tour Army camps with Bob Hope during the holidays.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Thousands of women could add years to their age, simply by telling the truth.

EARL'S PEARLS: The average lush is a cheerful fellow who thinks the bluebird of happiness is just another swallow—Harold Coffin, S. F. Examiner.

Automation may not make things much simpler, after all. For instance, it'll take four vending machines to replace the single office boy who goes out for coffee, doughnuts, sandwiches and cigarettes. . . . That's earl, brother. (Copyright, 1962)

Text of Adlai Stevenson's Tribute to Mrs. Roosevelt

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Following is the text of U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's tribute to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in the General Assembly yesterday:

Mr. President:

I stand here for the second time in little more than a year sad in heart and in spirit. The United States, the United Nations—the world—has lost one of its great citizens. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is dead; a cherished friend of all mankind is gone.

Yesterday I said I had lost more than a friend. I had lost an inspiration. She would rather light candles than curse the darkness, and her glow has warmed the world.

My country mourns her, and I know that all in this assembly mourn with us. But even as we do, the sadness we share is enlivened by the faith in her fellow man and his future which filled the heart of this strong and gentle woman.

'IMPARTED FAITH'

She imparted this faith, not only to those who shared the privilege of knowing her and of working by her side, but to countless men, women and children in every part of the world whom she loved even as she loved them.

For she embodied the vision and the will to achieve a world in which all men can walk in peace and dignity. And to this goal—a better life—she dedicated her tireless energy, the strange strength of her extraordinary personality.

I do not think it amiss to suggest that the United Nations, in no small way, a memorial to her and to her aspirations. To it she gave the last 15 years of her restless life.

She breathed life into this organization.

The United Nations has meaning and hope for millions thanks to her labors, her love, no less than to her ideal—ideals that made her, only weeks after Franklin Roosevelt's death, put aside all thoughts of peace and quiet after the tumult of their lives, to serve as one of this nation's delegates to the first regular session of the General Assembly. Her duty then—as always—was to the living, to the world—to peace.

'WITNESSED WORK'

Some of you in this hall were present at that first historic assembly in London seventeen years ago. More of you were witnesses to her work in subsequent assemblies in the years that followed.

The members of the third committee—the committee on Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Questions—and the Commission on Human Rights, which she served so long as chairman—you in particular will remember the warmth, the intelligence and infectious buoyancy which she brought to her tasks.

You know, better than any of us, the unceasing crusade that helped give the world, after years of painstaking, patient travail, one of the noblest documents of mankind: the declaration of human rights.

This is not the time to recount the infinite services of this glorious, gracious lady; the list is as inexhaustible as her energy! But devotion to the world of the charter, to the principles of the United Nations, to a world without war, to the brotherhood of man, underscored them all.

And, happily for us all, she could communicate her devotion, her enthusiasm to others. She saw clearly; she spoke simply. The power of her words came from the depth of her conviction.

"We must be willing," she said, "to learn the lesson that cooperation may imply compromise, but if it brings a world advance it is a gain for each individual nation. There will be those who doubt their ability to rise to those new heights, but the alternative is not possible to contemplate."

'MUST BUILD FAITH'

"We must build faith in the hearts of those who doubt, we must rekindle faith in ourselves when it grows dim, and find some kind of divine courage within us to keep on till on earth we have peace and good will among men."

While she lived, Mrs. Roosevelt reminded that faith in ourselves. Now that she is gone, the legacy of her lifetime will do so less. Albert Schweitzer wrote:

"No ray of sunlight is ever lost. But the green which it wakes . . ."

Needs time to sprout, and it is not always granted to the sower to live

To see the harvest. All work that is worth anything is done in faith."

Mr. President, I trust you will forgive me for having taken the time of this assembly with these very personal thoughts. The issues we debate in this hall are many and grave. But I do not think we are divided in our grief at the passing of the great and gallant human being—who was called the first lady of the world.

EULOGIZES MRS. FDR—United States Ambassador Adlai Stevenson addresses the United Nations General Assembly in New York yesterday, eulogizing Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as one who had helped mold the U.N. and give it spirit. The assembly interrupted its debates for a special memorial service.

People in the News

Were Pilgrims 1st?

By The Associated Press

Former Virginia State Sen. John W. Wicker Jr. has sent a telegram from Richmond to President Kennedy claiming that the chief executive, in his Thanksgiving Day proclamation, erroneously credits Massachusetts Pilgrims with the first Thanksgiving in America. Wicker long has been a campaigner to give Virginia credit for having the first Thanksgiving celebration in 1619 on the banks of the James River—a year before the Pilgrims landed in Massachusetts.

Food Theft Try Means Prison

A 35-year-old Pontiac man was sentenced to 1½ to 2 years in Jackson Prison Wednesday for attempting to steal 12 food and milk orders from the Oakland County Social Welfare Department office, March 9.

Lewis Cummings, 69 Elizabeth St., was found guilty of attempted larceny in a building Oct. 24 by a Circuit Court jury before Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, who handed down the sentence.

OK $915,000 in Loans

DETROIT (AP)—A total of $915,000 in loans to small businesses in Michigan was approved by the Small Business Administration in October, the SBA announced yesterday. A $200,000 loan went to Emerland City Harbor, Inc. for a yacht marina at St. Clair Shores.

King Mohammed Zahir Shah of Afghanistan has flown to Rome, Italy, for treatment of his left arm, broken in an automobile accident.

Lindsay Crosby, 24, son of singer Bing Crosby, has been sued for divorce in Hollywood by his wife, Barbara Diane, a former dancer. Mrs. Crosby, 24, has asked for alimony and support for their son, David, 2. The couple married Feb. 6, 1960. Mrs. Crosby's suit said they separated last Wednesday.

A court decision in Rome, Italy, shows that Abbe Lane—in one instance at least—proved a better bread winner than her husband, Xavier Cugat. The orchestra leader and his singer wife claimed they had been summoned to Rome in 1957 to make a movie, and were there for the agreed period, but the film wasn't made. The court allowed Cugat 10 million lire ($16,000) and Abbe 15 million lire ($24,000) in damages. Title of the movie which was never made: "Bread, Love, and Chacha."

Congratulations to UF in Surpassing '62 Goal

The Pontiac Area United Fund has again gone over the top in its annual drive for funds in support of the 56 agencies which it encompasses. The total realized this year, well over-subscribed, is a gratifying $713,328.40.

Responding with customary generosity, contributors for the fourteenth time have indicated their hearty support of the give-once-for-all plan of welfare assistance. The plan, which our area was one of the first to adopt, assures that the funds pledged have been wisely allocated and will be efficiently collected and ably administered.

Moreover, it affords subscribers the satisfaction of fulfilling humanitarian responsibilities without obligation to various other solicitations limited in scope or unessential to over-all welfare needs.

To be congratulated on the superb job done are General Chairman Fred V. Haggard and his corps of hundreds of dedicated men and women who participated in the campaign. The time and effort expended were often at the expense of business and personal interests; and deepest thanks are due them for such self-sacrifice.

Industry also rates a deep bow of appreciation for not only its own munificent contribution but the co-operation shown in facilitating the processing of employees' pledges.

And finally, the heart-warming receptiveness and liberality of the rank and file of area citizenry to the canvass can only be described in the most commendatory terms.

The Press leads a rousing cheer for all those whose mutual spirit of community well-being made possible the successful outcome of this undertaking.

Crisis Pressure Is Off, U.S. Mustn't Retreat

Now that we have taken the initiative in the cold war, particularly in Cuba, we must not be fooled by the Reds into believing that peace is here.

If it were true, and we could be assured of it, we would be the first to cheer. But we are desperately afraid this is far from the truth.

Already there has been softening on both sides resulting from President Kennedy's original ultimatum. The discussions, and a lot of the useless diplomatic wordage concerning inspection of the missile bases, are a typical Russian maneuver.

The Soviets took us to the brink and now the pressure is off. The President's decision was right, but now we should make certain we do not retreat from the strong stand this nation has taken.

Quite obviously the Russians wanted time, and they are getting it. Actually, their stalling tactics could be part of Khrushchev's moves to alter, but not completely dismantle, and return to Russia all missiles which had been sent to Cuba.

Since the President's forthright stand, all Americans, Latin nations, our European allies and Canada are backing us up. We have been in the driver's seat on the Cuban settlement, and this is no time to relax and discover later that we have been booby-trapped.

Reports circulating out of Cuba that parts of entire missiles are being hidden in caves and crevices in the mountains should be thoroughly investigated.

Past experiences have taught us that deceit and dishonesty can be expected in any diplomatic relations we have with the Reds. This is no time to gamble and be fooled.

We must insist on complete first-hand inspection of the missile bases and the surrounding areas.

"The girls are inexperienced but are shaping up nicely."—Fredericksburg (Tex.) Standard. That's encouraging. A nice shape is far the more important factor, as experience can be acquired.

The Man About Town

Honored Abroad Scion of Area Family Scores Musical Triumph

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
Pontiac may well be proud of 34-year-old John Mathews former Pontiac resident. A musical virtuoso of the highest order, he, with his accompanist wife, Shirley, has received enthusiastic acclaim on a series of European concerts featuring his double-bass.

To that instrument, so difficult of full tonal mastery that in Amsterdam no solo rendition had been heard for 40 years, the young musician has become "dedicated." He is one of the few performers on it in the world.

The artist, son of Fenton R. Mathews of Birmingham, was with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra for seven years, but felt the urge to broaden his scope with the bass. Offered the principalship of several large symphonies, he accepted four years ago the offer of the Baltimore Symphony, with which he is principal, and his wife the harpsichordist.

The couple inaugurated two summer concert series in home-town Baltimore which, taken with their symphony work and teaching, keeps their days filled with musical interest.

Congratulations from the MAT on the recognition thus far achieved, and best wishes for many, many enjoyable and rewarding years in their chosen field.

AP General Sports Editor

Ted Smits

observed colleges were issuing too many vague reports of football injuries. He asked for lucid information.

"Don't say so-and-so hurt his arm or leg," he pleaded. "Be specific."

Yale issued this statement after its first football workout: "Sophomore fullback Pete Cummings has a contusion of the left anterior superior spine of the crest of the ilium. "Guard Stan Riveles has a subluxation of the distal head of the right ulnar. "Tackle Mark Herlings has a strain of the semitendinosus muscle of the right thigh at the insertion of the ilium."

Hitting a philosophical note is this quote of Indianapolis Times:

Irving Leibowitz
From the day of your birth

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

There is spiritual meaning to be found in Veterans Day, the day we pay honor to the 21 million men and women who have served the cause of freedom in our armed forces. The faith and courage that helped them carry their crosses in past wars is needed as much today by those who bear the burden of uneasy peace.

The prayer of Stephen Vincent Benet, "For the Freedom of Mankind," gives a poignant thought for this Veterans Day.

"God of the free, we pledge our hearts and lives today to the cause of all free mankind . . . Grant us faith and understanding to cherish all those who fight for freedom as if they were our brothers . . . Grant us honor for our dead who died in the faith, honor for our living who work and strive for the faith, redemption and security for all captive lands and peoples . . . And in that faith let us march toward the clean world our hands can make."

Days of All Faiths:

Encourage Greater Giving to God

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The second Sunday in November has, since 1824, been the day on which many Protestant churches begin their annual campaign for funds to finance next year's operations. The day used to be called Canvass Sunday, or Every Member Canvass Sunday, but in recent years the term Stewardship has come in. Now it is Stewardship Sunday.

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Saturday, Nov. 10, the 341st day of 1962 with 51 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1775, the U. S. Marine Corps was authorized by the Continental Congress then in Philadelphia.

In 1919, the American Legion held its first national convention in Minneapolis.

In 1950, the United Nations Security Council adopted a resolution asking the U. N. to call on Communist China to withdraw its troops from North Korea.

In 1957, the U. S. Office of Education reported that a two-year study showed the Soviets outstripping the U. S. in its emphasis on technical and scientific education.

A thought for the day — the Scottish essayist, novelist and poet, Robert Louis Stevenson said:

"Marriage is like life in this — that it is a field of battle, and not a bed of roses."

The Country Parson

"You don't really know a man until you live with him — and the same is true of God."

The churches have had a hard time agreeing on just what the word stewardship means in the religious sense. In fact, there is not even full agreement among the members of any one denomination.

Theologians explain that a steward is a man who handles another man's property. He is an agent for the owner, and similarly each man on earth is God's steward, handling materials and talents that are not his own but are entrusted to him by God.

Under this definition, a man's stewardship takes in a lot more territory than finance. It covers everything, all of his life. There is no area of his existence in which he can say "This is mine." It is his task as God's steward to handle 100 per cent of his abilities and his possessions in the awareness that they all belong to God.

Mostly, the laymen accept this theology. And so do church administrators. But somehow, in actual church life, stewardship always loses its application to the totality of life and narrows down to the matter of how much of his money a man gives to the church and to good causes.

The purpose of Stewardship Sunday, as stated by the National Council of Churches, is "to encourage greater giving to God in expression of our gratitude for His gifts to us."

A SAINT IN BUSINESS

Can a rich man enter the Kingdom of Heaven? Is there such a conflict between Christian ethics and business practice that a business man must constantly compromise between his religion and his need to make a living?

One is always hearing that the man of business is caught in an attachment to the material things of this world, that he lives in an atmosphere of greed and trickery, if not actual fraud.

It takes someone like St. Homobonus to show that "it isn't necessarily so." These virtues may be in men, but they are not inherent in business.

St. Homobonus (the name means "good man") is honored Nov. 13 in the Christian calendar. He was a saint and at the same time a highly successful business man.

Homobonus lived in Cremona (in Italy) in the twelfth century. His father was a merchant there, and a prosperous one, and the boy was brought up in business. He had very little formal schooling, but his father taught him the ways of commerce, always with the emphasis on integrity. To their rigid honesty, both father and son added thrift and hard work.

When Homobonus inherited the business he took it as employment given to him by God. It was God's business, not his. Diligence and responsibility were his simple Christian duty. (This, incidentally, is real stewardship.)

Pentagon Bunk—Status Symbol

WASHINGTON (NEA)—New status symbol in the Pentagon during the Cuban crisis: A cot in your office.

On the door of one room in the Pentagon, where harassed Department of Defense officials have installed a row of Army cots for night duty during the Cuban crisis, there is a sign reading "SAC Headquarters."

In one Pentagon area half the cots have been removed. Reason given: "The Cuban crisis is half over."

Major news crisis in the Pentagon during the Cuban episode: An official attempt to take the sofa out of the press room. A reporters' committee has been formed to fight this drastic move.

Last pun of the election: The Nixon Truth Squad accused California Gov. Pat Brown of conducting a "hit-and-run" campaign "blitting his opponent with myths that have no basis in reality."

Voice of the People:

Five Points Stop Light Seen as Real Necessity

I drive past that very dangerous Five Point corner near MSUO daily and while the paint job helps, this corner will never be safe until a light is installed.

I'd hate to be the Oakland County Road Commission if a bad accident happens there and someone is killed again. They've been sufficiently warned by The Press, by letters in the Voice of the People and word of mouth.

The full responsibility will rest squarely on their shoulders and nowhere else.

Speakers to Tell Mississippi Side

Much has been written about Mississippi. The Mississippi viewpoint and the reasons for Mississippi's situation and attitude seldom get a hearing before Northern audiences.

The Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission, upon invitation, will send volunteer speakers to recognized service clubs and civic organizations to present in a factual manner what we call "A Message From Mississippi." All expenses of the speakers will be borne by the Sovereignty Commission.

If any clubs in your area would like to have a Mississippi program, write Public Relations Department, Mississippi Sovereignty Commission, New Capitol, Jackson, Miss.

Erle Johnston Jr.
Public Relations Director
Mississippi State Sovereignty Commission

Tells Why Doctrine Was Not Used

Following is why we didn't use the Monroe Doctrine in regards to Cuba: The doctrine was abolished by Article 103 of the United Nations Charter. Article 103: "In the event of a conflict between the obligations of the members of the United Nations under the present charter and their obligations under any other international agreement, their obligations under the present charter shall prevail."

'Courageous Men Lead Voters'

I'm not surprised at Milton Henry's and Charles Tucker's choice in campaigning for Romney. It takes men of courage, with enough foresight and integrity to lead in encouraging the voter.

It is important that the Negroes in "Polio" close all gaps and work together in future elections to stamp out "all dirty mudslinging" campaign propaganda against anyone, such as was witnessed in this election.

BY JOHN C. METCALFE
Often now I dream of you . . . While you are so far away . . . And it cannot be too soon . . . Till together we can stay . . . All the day and all the night . . . I keep thinking of you, dear . . . And each little thought of mine . . . Wishes you were drawing near . . . When at dawn I hear the birds . . . Softly singing tender songs . . . Loneliness within my heart . . . For your presence deeply longs . . . And at golden eventide . . . When the purple shadows fall . . . All my love in gentle winds . . . Oh, how often now I dream . . . Of your lovely smile and eyes . . . In the emptiness I find . . . Haunting deep enchanting skies.

Gen. Maxwell Taylor has had a hectic career since he resigned as Army chief of staff and retired in 1959. Five he was elected chairman of a Mexican power company. It was nationalized and bought out by the Mexican government. Taylor was made president of Lincoln Center in New York. Then President Kennedy called him back into service as White House military adviser.

When Taylor went back to the Pentagon recently as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, an old friend welcomed him with the comment: "You don't seem to be able to keep a job very long."

President Kennedy's Press Secretary Pierre Salinger halted news conference questioners for a moment to say "Just a minute; I'm thinking off the record."

Dr. Kontz Urges Congregation to Tithe

"To uphold the standard of workers will be formally dedicating one's income to God's work" is the aim of the current stewardship program at Bethany Baptist Church, said Dr. Emil Kontz, pastor.

"Bethany is voluntarily cooperating with thousands of other churches in the American Baptist Convention. The purpose is to instruct the membership in the method and motive of Biblical tithing as the basis for undergirding the local and mission program of the church," he added.

Chairman of the general committee on tithing is Ben M. Wilson.

Others are Maynard Johnson, visitation chairman; Robert Sickels, faith proposal chairman; Harlan Boyce, publicity; and Rev. Chalmers Mastin, Christian education; and Dr. Kontz.

The pastor said besides being able to increase the budget, the tithing program would lift the spiritual tone of the congregation.

Pastor Kontz will continue his series of sermons on stewardship with a message entitled "Divine Demands Upon Life" tomorrow.

Several young people will profess their Christian faith at the 8:40 morning service. At 11 a.m. more than 50 tithing enlistment shall not be room enough to contain it." Malachi 3:10.

The tithing program includes tithing one's talent and time as well as treasure.

The Baptist Sunday Evening Fellowship will continue tomorrow with a vesper hour at 6:30. At 7 p.m. the children's, youth and adult groups will meet for individual programs. Fred Gibbons and Charles Hazel are directors.

Each young person has received a tithing coin about the size of a half dollar to carry about with the inscription, "Bring me all the tithes and offerings to the Lord. And I will pour out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to contain it." Malachi 3:10.

Young people of Senior High Fellowship will present a dramatic program entitled "The Outsiders" at the 6:30 dinner and prayer service Wednesday evening. The drama will be followed by a discussion period.

ADDITION TO MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH — Members and friends of Memorial Baptist Church, 599 Michigan Ave., broke ground this week for the new addition. Shown is the architect's drawing of the first unit with addition. The new sanctuary and additional educational facilities are being built by the Bersche Construction Co. The congregation expects to occupy the building in early spring, Pastor Gerald Rapelje said. The Bersche Company also drew the plans. Excavation for the basement will start soon.

Memorial Baptist Church Adding Sanctuary to Present Unit

Membership at church and Sunday School sessions has grown by leaps and bounds at Memorial Baptist Church, 599 Michigan Ave. So much so that the congregation is now preparing for the future with a new sanctuary and more rooms for educational expansion.

Families gathered outside the present building this week for a special ceremony with Russell Duncan and John Davis breaking ground for the new structure.

The first unit was completed in 1959. The congregation worshiped at 351 Prospect St. until the property was sold to the Mexican Baptist Church.

Young people of Memorial Baptist are especially interested in music, both vocal and instrumental.

The Disciples' Quartet, a group formed about four years ago, visits various churches providing musical programs of gospel songs.

First Congregational Lists Sermon, Music
Rev. Malcolm K. Burton will preach on "My Word Shall Not Return to Me Void" at the 10:30 morning service in First Congregational Church tomorrow.

Charles A. Wilson will direct the Chancel Choir in "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silent" by Holst and "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee" for male voices.

The quartet is active in Memorial Church every Sunday. The singers include Douglas Brown, bass and music manager; James McIlrath, second tenor and engagement manager; Marshall Causbie, baritone; and Edward Justin, first tenor. Mrs. Brown is accompanist.

Each member of the group is a teacher in the Sunday School, the choir, and one is superintendent of the primary department and another general superintendent of the Sunday School.

The Disciples' Quartet will present several numbers at the Missionary Church, 2800 Watkins Lake Road at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

On Nov. 25 the group will appear at the First Social Brethren Church, 316 Baldwin Ave. and at 7:30 the same day the four will be heard at Marimont Baptist Church, 68 W. Walton Blvd.

Dr. Hinsberg Will Speak

Abby Gets Plenty of Notes About Kids, Gifts and Titles

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: You're a great one sticking up for children who claim they are abused by clerks who wait on adults first.

You even agree that some kids steal because "it's easier to walk out with something than to get a cashier to wait on them!"

Abby, have you ever seen some kids in a grocery store running down the aisle with carts, knocking over displays and bumping into customers?

Their mothers sit in the car and half the time the kids get the wrong things, don't have enough money or they lose their change. If parents want to teach Junior how to handle money and shop, they should do it on their own time, and not during the rush hours.

BEAT CASHIER

DEAR ABBY: This is for merchants who forget that children one day grow up to be customers. I still live in the town where I grew up, and I make it a policy never to trade at the stores where I was pushed aside by the clerks while adults who came in after

I did were waited on ahead of me. A child's memory is good.

GOOD MEMORY

DEAR ABBY: My neighbors gave me a shower just before I had my third baby. My little angel was stillborn. I was just going to pack the baby gifts up and put them away, but my neighbor told me to take them back and buy something nice for myself.

I want to do what is right, Abby. If I were to take the gifts back I would rather put the money toward a stone for the baby. Would this be wrong?

MRS. PUZZLED: If you plan to have another baby, put the gifts away. Otherwise, take them back and do whatever you please with the money. I am sure your neighbors would not mind if you were to buy yourself a nice gift.

DEAR ABBY: If a husband dies shortly after a divorce, is the ex-wife considered a widow just as though there had been no divorce?

SATCH: No! A widow is considered a widow only when her HUSBAND dies.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3385, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3385, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Meg's New Hair-Do Brings Buzzing at Ball

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret's new hair-do—probably the most exciting she's ever worn—had them all talking. "It can't be all her own," gasped one woman over the noise of the ballroom band. "Of course it isn't," chimed in another in a loud stage whisper.

But they were wrong. Every royal hair of the hair-do belonged to the pretty princess. It was a Grecian hair-do. With a shape-revealing pink gown, she wore it to Thursday night's sparkling Dockland Settlements Ball.

AI D CHARIITY The Mayfair set sponsors the ball to aid one of her royal highness' favorite charities, the money going to clubs for the aged, the young and other welfare organizations in London's dockland area.

The hair was swept up forehead and fixed with jewel-studded pins above and slightly behind her ears.

This produced a sort of grandiose pony-tail. The ends, however, curled back on the long and shapely royal neck.

Diamond pendant earrings hung from Margaret's ears. She also wore a diamond necklace.

As the princess took the floor with her husband, Lord Snowden, the band struck up "You Were Never Lovelier."

May Leave Early, but Quietly

By Emily Post Institute

Q. Is it considered improper for a guest to leave a wedding reception before the bride and groom? Someone has told me that the bride and groom must be the first to leave the reception and it would be very discourteous on the part of a guest to leave before them. Will you please tell me if this is true?

A. Most wedding guests do stay to see the bride and groom off, but, if a guest has to leave early, it is not discourteous for him (or her) to do so. Such a guest should, however, leave quietly without attracting attention by saying good-by to the bride or her parents.

Q. Is it proper to include the names of our children on Christmas cards sent to my husband's business associates? In most cases these business acquaintances have never seen our children and therefore I do not think their names should be included.

We always include their names on cards sent to relatives and personal friends, but somehow it does not seem suitable to include them on cards sent to business people. What is your opinion?

A. You are right. The children's names should not be included on cards to business associates who do not know them.

Q. Recently I accompanied my husband on a business trip. Some of my husband's business associates and their wives went all out to entertain us and I had a very enjoyable time.

I would like to know if there are any ways that I can show my appreciation for their hospitality. Should I write notes to those who entertained us or perhaps send them small gifts?

A. Your thanks to them at the time is all that is expected of you. If at some future date you can return their kindness when they visit your city, you will be of course do so.

The new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party," describes the clothes worn by the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants. The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Since that time he has literally circled the globe with music, appearing with American and foreign musical organizations. He has played on radio and television programs.

Chamber music receives much of his attention. He was cofounder of "Gateway to Music" in Pittsburgh and founder of "Excursion in Music" in Detroit.

Keep Vegetable Supply

Catch All Vitamins!

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is no doubt that there is considerable vitamin loss in the food we eat. This is due in part to the fact that vegetables and fruits must often be peeled before they are really ripe and tender and because of losses which occur in shipping and storage and cooking. Also, many of the highly refined foods are vitamin-poor.

Here are a few suggestions to aid you in keeping your vitamin intake as high as possible:

1. Cook vegetables in as little water as possible, and as quickly and lightly as you can. If there is any water left over save it for soups.
2. Do not thaw frozen vegetables. Cook them while they are frozen.
3. Eat the peeling of vegetables and fruits whenever feasible. Vitamins are concentrated in the skin.
4. Prepare fruit juices just before using them. When you have some in the refrigerator, be sure that the top is screwed on tightly.
5. Eat some of your fruits and vegetables raw.
6. Don't use soda when cooking vegetables. This makes them look pretty but destroys vitamins.
7. Do not cut vegetables a long time before cooking them.

8. Whenever you can, buy vegetables right from the farm when they have just been picked.

All of these measures will add up to quite a sizable increase in your daily vitamin intake.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Vitamins in Your Diet," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 38. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Caroline Waldron assisted. Mrs. Frank Martin with devotions.

Show Film at Meeting

The Ladies Guild of St. Stephen Lutheran Church met Thursday evening in the church hall on Sashabaw Road. Mrs. Raymond Zona read passages from the Gospel of St. Luke.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ulrich of Huntington Woods showed a film strip of the Bethesda Lutheran Home in Watertown, Wis., and some of the handicraft articles made by the children who are residents.

Final plans for the Christmas bazaar, Dec. 1, in the church hall were announced by Mrs. Joseph Neubacher.

Remind Shoppers: Watch Pocketbooks

With Christmas only six weeks away, holiday shoppers across the nation are receiving their annual reminder: "Watch your pocketbooks!"

This warning refers not to high prices but to low thievery—each November and December, pickpockets' activities in shopping districts double, even triple. After all, they need Christmas money, too.

Word on why there is a seasonal increase of cash loss hazards—plus advice on protecting yourself—comes from Ben Cunningham, former FBI agent, now chief inspector of American Express.

Cunningham knows all the new and old tricks of the pickpocket trade, being head of the worldwide "private eye" organization that rides herd on millions of dollars worth of travelers' checks put into circulation by Americans on the go.

3 BASIC PRECAUTIONS

He says three basic precautions will most likely protect all honest citizens:

Pickpocketing increases in shopping areas for several obvious reasons, according to Cunningham. More people with more money congregate there; as baseball, then football sea-

1. Women: keep a hand over the opening of your pocketbook while walking, standing or examining merchandise; when seated in a restaurant or other public place keep your purse on your lap.
2. Men: carry cash in a flat, thin wallet and in your inside jacket pocket.
3. As much as possible, pay without cash—use personal checks, travelers' checks, credit cards and charge accounts.

sons end, the "dips" who "work" sport crowds shift operations to Christmas shopping crowds, where holiday excitement, beverages and anxieties create distraction while the pickpocket performs his extraction.

The professional thief is an expert at patience, awaiting the moment of inattention to pick up a woman's purse from a store counter, restaurant seat or table in a powder room.

Professional woman thieves are in a minority but annually take a big toll, specializing in the try-on rooms of dress shops and powder rooms of restaurants, theatres and so on.

VICTIM BEST FRIEND

Surprisingly, says Cunningham, the pickpocket's best friend is his victim.

A person who is careless in handling money, boasts of cleverness in hiding it, or otherwise relaxes prudence is simply sending come-on signals to the professional pickpocket.

Some people have the mistaken idea they are secure because everyone around looks respectable.

Actually the successful pickpocket usually dresses and behaves well enough to seem completely at home in the crowd—even at luxury hotels, cruise parties and "class" spectator events.

Woeful tales of losses to pickpockets stream across Cunningham's desk from all parts of the world. These are cases where the loot includes travelers' checks.

It's part of his job to refund the victim's lost checks and run down the thief. At one time his department was reputed to catch "a crook a day;" at year's end, the rate is often two or three a day.

Adams' Modern Home

Place for Gracious Living

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From the street side, the Charles F. Adams home near Franklin Village, looks like any other modern house. But step inside the spacious foyer, and you seem to be suspended in mid-air.

It's not a case of "going" down the three wide, curving steps into the sunken living room. You get the feeling of floating down into a sea of soft, cocoon-colored carpeting.

To the left, the reflected glare of a brilliant sun and sky has been muted by a tremendous nylon drop curtain that reaches from the floor to the 15-foot beamed ceiling.

A great bronze horse with medieval tack stands poised for action on one of the two contemporary cabinets set together under four large oil paintings.

From the high ceiling, and situated proportionately above the six-sectioned semi-circular sofa are two white filigree globe lights that peer into the room like hand-carved snowballs.

Above the much-used Steinway piano, is a wrought iron railing, breaking the space from the upper level master bedroom. This may sound like a too-open arrangement, but a subtle toned drape can be drawn all the way from one of the bedroom's floor-to-ceiling glass doors on around past the open section to part of the opposite wall.

BLUE SHADES

Robin's eggs were never so blue as those shades that melt together in the Adams' wide, wide open home. Every possible shade of blue against the white walls and drapes is sparked with an occasional royal purple accent.

Four barrel-type chairs that one of the country's biggest football players would be comfortable in, have mahogany casters for easy moving, around a low round cherry cocktail table.

From one end of the house facing Wing Lake to the other and on part of one side, there are floor-to-ceiling windows. The expanse of plate glass is broken by two-by-fours every two feet — making it appear as if each section were an individual shadow box.

The limed-oak beams of the free-flowing ceiling push six feet out over the glass window-wall, shielding a tiled terrace.

One of the most dramatic eye-catchers in the living room is the five-foot opening around the corner fireplace with its ceiling high copper hood. Logs can be burned upright as well as horizontally.

The formal dining area in the L-shaped living room is designed so that its occupants may enjoy the beauty of the scenic lake and surrounding landscape. Four big candles (Mrs. Adams' delight) in carved holders march down the center of the long dining table.

Next, in this all-open house is the newly added 30-by-30-foot family room. Its special made brick-like tiles, many built-ins, sink-down-in sofas and copper-hooded brick barbecue pit in one corner of two glass walls, makes the room unique. This is really more than a family room. It is a vibrant multi-purpose area where the four Adams children have the time of their young lives.

Chick, 12, Amy, 10, Randy, 8, and Pat, 6, and their parents have fun during meal-time eating on a long table under two big transparent bubbles installed in the ceiling.

background for LIVING

ing. Later they can romp and play on one side of the room while their mom and dad talk quietly in the opposite corner.

Everywhere, there is a feeling of being out-doors because of the expanse of glass walls. Up-keep is at a minimum.

Smooth birch cupboards and easy-to-clean tile floors in the open kitchen, allow Mrs. Adams to forget the hazards of jam-sticky little fingers and feet that forgot to stay out of puddles.

In the luxurious library, shelves filled with books from floor to ceiling line one wall. The sweeping big bay window makes this one of the most cheery and yet restful rooms in the house.

From top to bottom, this house speaks of domestic dignity and at the same time, boasts of robust, fun-filled livability.

STREETSIDE — The Adams' beautiful home seems low, but actually "digs" way down into the ground. The opposite side is a wall of glass from one end to the other, and faces scenic Wing Lake for super viewing. To give an even more pronounced optical illusion, the front porch-terrace under the plate glass windows, is two feet lower than the lawn and driveway.

ter bedroom in the balcony at the right, is enhanced by a huge artificial plant whose blossoms can be snapped off and replaced with different blooms.

VIEW FROM BALCONY — Spacious openness is the key feature of the Adams' home, and this sweeping view from the master bedroom indicates the livableness found there. The slate hearth is slightly raised a couple of inches, then the actual fire area is again raised on the copper hooded corner fireplace. The bright cherry family room is at the far end.

THIS IS THE ADAMS' — It's a merry group that convenes for breakfast and dinner at the Adams dining table. All four of the children are taking music lessons of one sort or another, and their talented father is a writer, as well as an executive for an advertising firm. From left with their parents are Chick, 12, Amy, 10, Pat, 6 and Randy 8.

SERENITY ABOUNDS — This is the uncluttered room that is subtly visible from the Adams' huge L-shaped living room. Thick white carpeting, a profusion of blues, purples and whites in the oversized bedspread, and the private little balcony beyond the sliding glass doors, are the unique feature. The custom-made drape can be pulled around the open balcony area for complete privacy.

SPACIOUS REC ROOM — Two nine-foot down filled sofas separated by a custom built table, set back to back for versatility. One faces the unique copper-hooded barbecue pit, and the other, the activities area. Special-made bricks polished to a high luster are easy to care for. On two sides of this room, are window-walls that rise from floor to the beamed ceiling.

ELEGANT LUXURY — The mammoth curving white sofa seems to embrace the low marble topped table in the Adams' sprawling modern home. Luxurious formality, and yet inviting comfort at the same time, has resulted in the overall picture of good living. White filigree globe lights extend from the 15-foot ceiling, and a "flower" from the big artificial plant near the piano peeks over the master bedroom railing.

FOUR-INCH FOYER—Create a foyer with only 4 inches of space. It can be done. If your door opens right into the living room, give the room a foyer. Construct a waist-high counter of glass block (only four inches wide) as a buffer for wintry breezes. Additional decorative use can be made by running shelves for plants and favorite vases up to the desired height.

Advice to Mothers: Teach Home Arts

A common complaint among young housewives is their lack of confidence in planning and furnishing their homes.

All too often a girl's training includes little if any preparation for this very important job she assumes.

The Home Furnishings Industry Committee suggests you begin teaching your daughter the household arts at an early age.

You could have a mother-daughter study course in interior decorating! What fun it would be for both of you, and the chief benefit will be a more relaxed bride someday.

Certainly the more confident a bride is, the better her chances for happiness.

TEACHING TOOL
The best teaching tool is her own room. After she reaches the teen-age years, allow her to "do" her room.

Tell her the total amount of money that can be spent, and remind her it must cover drapery, rugs and accessories, etc.

Be willing to give her a free hand with inexpensive purchases. She may make some poor choices, but she'll learn from them.

When she is ready, let her help you with decision about decorating and purchasing for the rest of the house.

By shopping with you she learns how to look for value, how to compare, and brand names to depend upon. In essence she will learn the ABC's of planning and buying a home.

USEFUL HINTS
Instead of confining her household maintenance chores to the dishes and dusting, show her how you care for draperies and carpets, how you remove spots and stains.

Through the years she will accumulate valuable knowledge about the care of furniture.

You might suggest she start clipping and filing ideas for decorating. Furnishings should easily become a hobby for her.

Through your guidance your daughter will take pride in her home during her early years of marriage instead of apologizing for her lack of knowledge.

P.S. Don't be surprised if Mama doesn't learn as much as Sis. To teach is to learn, 'tis said.

Business Run in Home Needs Pleasant Office

According to the 1960 census figures, 1,204,000 home owned one-family dwellings, not including apartments, are being used as places of business.

The list of businesses conducted from the home is long and varied. In addition to this are the many and women who maintain a second office in their homes.

Today's executive requires an area in his home where he can take care of work overflowing from his main office.

Also in need of a home office are the teacher, musician, writer. And we must not forget the student.

Wives doubling as secretary for a salesman husband need the room and convenience for handling correspondence, typing and bookkeeping.

Many housewives would also enjoy a workspace for efficiently conducting business affairs in running the household.

Confronted with decorating such a home - office shouldn't discourage you. Drab, sterile office furnishings are a thing of the past.

BUSINESSNESS KNOW
Businesses today are aware of the effect of pleasant surroundings on the attitude of personnel. Just witness the interesting decors of modern offices! Why not carry this theory to the homeoffice?

Unless the office was planned when building the home, your first choice is where to place it.

Two factors compose the ideal office: if possible, it is used for nothing else, and, again if possible it should be located away from the main activities of the home.

A business conducted from a home should be allowed the same privacy for working as would be found in an office building.

However, if there is a lack of floor space, it may be an area of the den, a mail room, bedroom or even living room.

The first item you'll need is a desk. You'll find a wide choice of styles — dignified, sleek, even period designs.

DESK CHAIR
A comfortable desk chair is a must also, and you should plan on at least one other chair. You may find that wood finishes processed to resist spills and burns are very satisfactory in an office.

Your at-home businessman is going to need an adequate storage area as well as an area for filing materials. Many space-saving units are on the market now including modular units that stack or hang wall cabinets.

In decorating, emphasis should be placed on a well coordinated work area, simply but effectively planned. Color can be used interestingly and to help eliminate the idea of drudgery connected with work.

Accessories should be decorative as well as functional. Select carpet, drapery, and accessories as you would for any other room in your home.

One last hint: If this home office is for the man of the house, consult him on the decorating. Not only is this good psychology, but he could be handicapped by a decor irritating to him.

Remember also in purchasing the furniture, it should be comfortable for him and scaled to his proportions.

Decorators Call Big Heat Units Unattractive

Interior decorators recognize that Goliath-sized heat distributors detract from the overall appearance of even the most beautifully furnished homes.

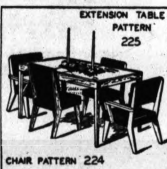

When old-fashioned radiators or registers are left in a room, new furnishings, a new paint job or other redecorating may go only half-way in improving the appearance of the room.

Many professional decorators prefer to work on a home that's heated with a hydronic (forced circulation hot water) system, reports the National Better Heating-Cooling Council.

This system utilizes wall-hugging baseboard heating units which are only about eight inches high.

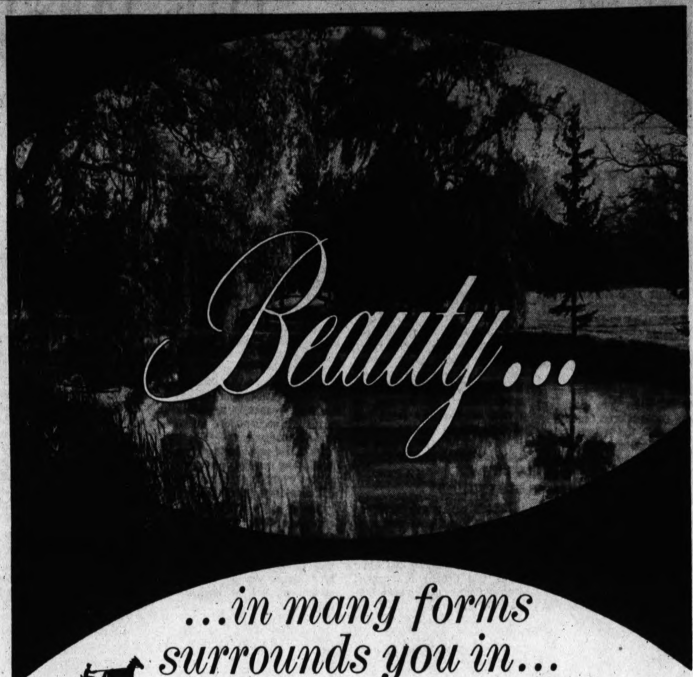

The decorator or homeowner can place furniture close to the walls without fear of blocking heat. Baseboards can be painted to blend with the room decor and thus literally fade into the wall.

In addition, installation of floor to ceiling drapery and wall-to-wall carpeting is simplified with baseboards.

MAKE YOUR OWN DINING SET. Pattern 225 for an Extension Table and 224 for Chairs in Two Sizes require common hand or power tools. The table top may be of plywood or colored plastic panel material to match the chair covering. The table and chair patterns are 35 cents each. Both are included in the Quick and Easy Furniture Packet No. 13 for $1.

Paneling Not Expensive

Whether a dwelling is generations-old, middle-aged or young modern, ideas for distinctive interiors are constantly being sought by home decorators—both amateur and professional. Low budget and light maintenance, however, often dictate the choice of materials.

Betty Jennings, staff designer for the corporation, suggests that if you've never paneled a room before, try just one wall.

Select an area without windows or doors," she says, "and create an accent wall. For as little as $64, the family handyman can bring into being over the weekend a striking, one-wall mural of real wood with all of the intricate and never-repetitious patterns that only nature's artistry can create."

Making Plug-In Warning

The new system is currently being evaluated, the magazine says.

'Hot Brown' Top Color for Decorating in 1963

If you haven't discovered "hot brown," you will. It should be one of the top colors for 1963, predict topflight interior designers.

The brown is not the conventional chocolate shade, but rather a spicy brown, "a little deeper shade than cinnamon. It was shown by interior designers at the Decoration and Design show."

"Brown, yellow and gold combinations are going to be big," predicts William Pahlmann, "and it'll be teamed with orange in different names and shades."

"It's a great color combination, particularly for temperate zones. He thinks we'll see a lot of green this fall, too."

Warm yellows used in the show range from deepest amber to bright banana.

A rich Indian curry is one of the most mouth-watering yellows seen in many a day. Those who've never warmed to yellow may do so now that it has taken on exotic airs.

HAS WARMTH
From deepest tortoise shell brown to delicately hued mushroom, brown has a warmth that is catching.

There is a good deal of blue in the show, also, often teamed with green, but in most instances colors are determined by where it is to be used.

Quiet rooms such as libraries lap it up: Pat Harvey uses blues and greens combined with bamboo in a library.

David Barrett combines cerulean with white in a restful billiard room. Ellen Lennan McCluskey did one living room entirely in blues for a tranquil look.

Iridescent aqua-blue with avocado green is in a terrace room by Jeannette McKean.

The majority of green used in the show is on the yellow side, rather than deeper greens used last year.

Both brown and blue teamed with gold and copper are used by Melanie Kahane. She uses cobalt blue ceramic tile on a living room floor, combining the same tile with brown felt for the walls.

PANELS OF FELT

The effect is achieved by using 27-inch panels of the felt from floor to ceiling spaced with strips of ceramic tile.

The recessed strips give walls added dimension.

One wall of the living room has an antiqued copper veneer laminated to fiber paper surrounding a fireplace from tile-lined wall to ceiling.

A handprinted velveteen designed by Jack Lenor Larsen in shades of cobalt blue, brown, gold and copper carries out the room's color scheme at the sofa.

A strong accent color, especially for rooms suggested for tropical areas is hot pink, even in carpet.

One wall-to-wall carpet has its hot pink textured with various sections determining living areas.

AREAS FOR CONVERSATION

There are areas for conversation groups and for dining. Hot pink is used in small doses too when vivid effects are required to complete a color scheme.

In one bedroom it is combined with white, but there are no Hollywood-type white rooms in the show this year.

Though colors in the show blow hot and cold, deeper colors go to walls, brighter hues go to floors, and fabrics remain subtle even when a great many varying hues are used.

A display by the American Institute of Interior Designers, a series of room-size photographic blow-ups of the new White House library for which they were responsible, reveals that the President too is enjoying the new color palette.

The room's color scheme is pale yellow, henna, brown and green.

Child Likes Furnishings 'Just Like His Parents'

The dearest wish of almost every child is to grow up as quickly as he can, and to own, at the earliest possible moment, all the wonderful possessions attached to grown-up life.

Keeping this thought in mind when shopping for a child's room will give you the footproof formula for delighting any boy or girl—select furnishings as similar as possible to adult designs, scaled in miniature for children.

There are a great variety of charming pieces of furniture, decorative accessories, and imaginative accent pieces on the market today—all created with the younger set in mind, but with a freshness and bright charm to replace the sticky-sweet babyish designs of the past.

A leader in this new trend has a new collection, designed by Paul McCobb, with which any child could feel delightfully at home.

The "Gallery" group, in warm-toned walnut, has clean, straight-lined case pieces, scaled to youthful dimensions, and accented with slender silver drawer-pulls.

To help the furnishings adapt to a growing youngster, the group includes a matching walnut headboard, which can replace the crib at the appropriate time.

For mattresses, the manufacturer suggests a child's table setting "just like mother's," but in miniature sizes, and made of durable stainless steel that withstands breakage and chipping.

"In addition to the familiar child-sized fork, spoon and knife set, the manufacturer offers an attractive metal plate, drinking cup and other accessories for budding gourmets that are certain to encourage grown-up table manners.

For sophisticated seating, on a youthful scale, another manufacturer shows a group of natural pine spool-chairs—matched to a spool-table for games or tea-party.

Apartment May Solve Problem

America's astronauts have been receiving well deserved national acclaim for fantastic conquests of outer space.

But serious space problems remain to be solved—closer to home.

Many U.S. cities are already overcrowded and their populations are still growing fast. The worst may be yet to come.

The largest baby crop in the nation's history was born during World War II. These "babies" will reach family-forming stage in the years immediately ahead.

Where and how are we going to find the space to house them?

Many of the nation's leading industries, municipal and civic planners have already come to grips with this impending problem.

Some cities see their probable line of attack may be found in current construction trends.

According to the Southern Pine Association, one hint may be discerned in the boom in apartment building.

In an effort to approximate a residential flavor, designers have been applying home building techniques to one, two and three-story apartment buildings.

While accommodating large numbers of families, this new type of apartment has some of the advantages of a single family residence.

In many instances the apartments are grouped around a centrally located outdoor area.

The latter contains ample "running room" for children, attractive landscaping and occasionally a swimming pool.

The interiors follow a residential pattern. Room atmospheres are informal and there is a decided emphasis on "warm" materials, such as wood paneling, and on color and texture interest.

Many modern apartment buildings use a glamorous residential technique—the wood plank-and-beam system—which permits large windows adjacent to the central yard.

Such apartments are appealing to younger families who are comparative strangers in new cities.

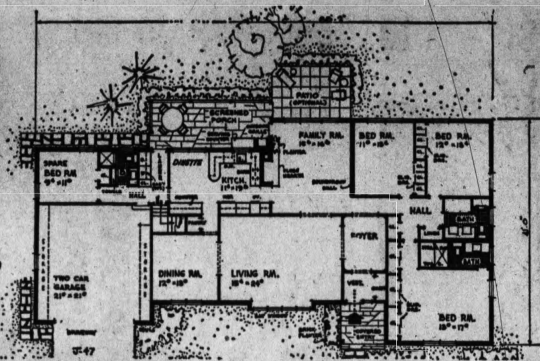

Early friendships are formed with apartment neighbors, in addition to enjoying a homelike atmosphere.

Four-Level Home Keeps Old-Fashioned Values

By JULES LOCH

Here's a house you might have a hand in designing. That is to say, everything about it, from the shape of the roof to the size of the broom closet, was dictated by the preferences of House of the Week readers.

Recently architect Herman H. York made a careful analysis of the ten most popular designs among the scores he has produced for House of the Week.

He catalogued every feature that appeared in a majority of the homes and designed today's model around these requirements.

The result was a handsome and truly livable ranch with a modified traditional flavor. It is design J-47.

"Home owners nowadays are more knowledgeable than ever before," said York. "It was no surprise to me that every one of the features in this house is sound from an architect's point of view as well as a layman's."

His list of requirements, gleaned from the ten plans, ran to 30. The main ones were:

One-story design with a center hall plan, three bedrooms and a spare fourth bedroom, 2 1/4 or three bathrooms, separate dining room, efficient kitchen layout with laundry room and broom closet nearby, large family room, and a full cellar.

Exterior preferences were for brick or stone walls, a gable roof emphasizing horizontal lines.

The home buyers also indicated they wanted a covered entry, double hung wood windows, an attractive front door including a brick planter, an oversized two-car garage (for storage) plus other extra closet and storage space, a fireplace in the family room, large glass areas overlooking the rear play area, a living room of at least the dimensions in this plan (15' by 24') and with a projecting window, a large pantry, built-in oven and burners, a wash-up lavatory near the rear door, a screened porch, outdoor barbecue grill—plus other detail as a backyard terrace, light colored roof, and soundproofing between the living and bedroom areas.

This house provides all these features in a floor space of 2,504 square feet not counting the 231 square foot garage. Its over-all dimensions are 88'2" wide by 41' deep.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS
Architect York also discovered many persons like at least one bedroom with a separate shower as well as a tub, and he designed it in this home in an unusual and eminently sensible way—one of those things you wonder why nobody ever thought of before.

In the bath adjoining the master bedroom, the tub is located behind the shower. You cross the shower to get to the tub. It not only saves space, but it means you can step out of the tub and dry off where there's a drain without dripping all over the floor.

Probably the most distinctive note in this house of distinction is the comfortable family room. It is in a dominant position, and its focal point—the fireplace—plaster ensemble—gives a good first impression.

Another interesting feature is the front vestibule between the entry and the foyer. It allows you to enter the house gradually, rather than suddenly brushing in and having to start shaking hands before you get your coat off.

Though the house has a full cellar, which can be developed any way the owner chooses, the laundry is located on the main floor next to the kitchen. It keeps the entire housekeeping area, including garage storage, lavatory and spare room, (which could be a maid's room), all in one efficient layout and eliminates having to climb any stairs with the clothes basket.

York has used the demand for plenty of closet space to solve the problem of soundproofing the bedrooms—two of them, anyway, the third has a soundproof wall. If it's possible ever to have enough closet space, this house plainly has it.

"Incorporating 30 basically sound ideas into one plan wasn't the easiest job I've ever tackled," said York. But a close look at the design shows every one of them present and accounted for.

J-47 Statistics

A one-story house containing three or four bedrooms, living room, dining room, family room, three bedrooms, central foyer, kitchen, dinette, oversized double garage, full basement.

Living area totals 2,500 square feet not counting 231 square foot garage. Overall dimensions are 88'2" wide by 41' deep.

Kitchen Becomes Family Focal Point

The sterile, laboratory look of kitchens is outdated... thank heavens! Once again, as it was in grandmother's day, the kitchen is becoming established as the focal point of family living.

Certainly, every woman who does her own work deserves a pretty kitchen. The appliances may be of the very latest design, and even the work and storage needs may be fulfilled, yet often there still may be a lack of that certain touch which makes it a room that's fun to be in.

The easiest and least expensive way to put charm and color in the room is by adding a perky-looking design in accessories, such as towels, potholders, aprons, etc.

Once thought of merely as functional items, towels and their counterparts can now be had in a pattern of clear, fresh colors. Moderately priced, they will help you revitalize your kitchen quickly and easily. Even the toaster, which sits on the counter or open shelf can get a terry "dress up" and be ready at all times for quick service.

49ers Shuffle Lineup for Game With Lions

Detroit Works On Goal Line Scoring Moves

Scholtz Sidelined by Cris; Starting Role to Gonzaga

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
SAN FRANCISCO — "These guys are mad and they want to beat Detroit." This was San Francisco coach Red Hickey speaking to football writers.

Hickey announced a "new" after offensive team with three supposed fixtures Clyde Conner, Roland Lakes and Ted Connolly all moved to the bench. Other players were shuffled to different positions as Hickey looked for "the best lineup to do the job for us."

Doubtful starter for San Francisco is big Bob St. Clair, 365 pound 6-4 all pro tackle, the tallest man in pro football.

St. Clair who was a all-pro tackle three times, injured his leg against the Colts last week. A veteran of 10 years in the NFL, St. Clair is mayor of Daly City, a 40,000 population suburb of San Francisco.

He will be replaced by Leon Rhodes, a 240-pounder in his third season since leaving Utah State.

TWO QUARTERBACKS
Defensively the Lions have been working against all known three plays and in view of the announced starting backfield they are expecting Hickey to pull a few surprises. The 49ers will have two quarterbacks in the backfield, John Brodie and Billy Kilmer presumably to give them a better running-passing threat. Brodie is considered the team's best passer and Kilmer, who can also throw, is a top runner. Others will be J. D. Smithback and Jimmy Johnson at flanker back.

"We'll be ready for them," said coach George Wilson, who sent the team through goal line plays yesterday. The Lions ran numerous series of plays from the 20, 10 and five yard lines and at the goal line.

Wilson was disappointed that Earl Morrill did not call any of practiced goal line plays when the Lions had the ball for four downs from the two foot line and failed to score.

"Of course, with such a short distance Earl certainly thought it would be easy to score with four tries," said Wilson, "and the movies certainly looked like Earl had scored himself on the 49ers."

Offensive line coach Aldo Paris said that John Gonzaga would be offensive tackle again in place of Bob Scholtz who missed last Sunday when he was recalled to duty for the Cuban crisis.

Scholtz was supposed to be given weekend leaves to play for the Lions but he was doubtful that he would arrive for Sunday's game.

The Lions have been rated 4th points favorites. A crowd of 50,000 is expected and the game will be televised back to Michigan at 4:30 p.m. Pontiac time.

Cutting off the ball carrier is John Ran of the Falcons. Rochester won, 27-12.

Rain Fails to Dampen Knight's Aerials

Kimball Storms Past Oaks, 30-2

By DICK BUCK

How wet does it have to be to confine football teams to the ground?

Royal Oak Kimball and Dondero proved last night that it takes more than a medium drizzle. But Kimball was more convincing as it posted a 30-2 victory over its city rival before an overflow of witnesses at Dondero.

The Knights scored two of their four touchdowns through the air and used the aerial route to help on drives for the other two. In all, the winners tried 11 passes and completed seven.

The Oaks lofted the ball 16 times but had a connection average of only 25 per cent.

Kimball's most spectacular pass play didn't make it to the end zone but it did set up a TD and probably did more to damage Dondero's spirit than any play in the game.

It was third and 13 on their 25 for the Knights, who had been set back two plays in a row on a penalty and misfired running play. The Oaks were ready to force them into a punt situation.

Quarterback Ted James found and Lloyd Harper open near the right side and tossed the ball his way. Harper journeyed to the Dondero 17 before his travels were interrupted.

SAME RESULT
But that was only briefly, because James called the same thing on the next play and Harper notched Kimball's second TD, at 10:33 of the second quarter.

The Knights scored their first six points with 2:16 left in the opening period as fullback Steve Wilson swept over the line to cap 41-yard drive. An 11-yard pass on fourth and eight to the 12 had kept the effort from dying.

A fumble on the Oaks' 40 set up Kimball's third tally. James sprinted around left end from the six for the counter eight plays later.

Wilson, an impressive kicker as high school gridders go, clicked the scoreboard to 23-0 just before intermission with a strong 26-yard field goal with two seconds remaining.

An 11-yard pass play manipulated by James and Dick Sanderson at 11:21 of the fourth stanza ended the Knights' scoring. A 13-yard pass play to the 11 promoted this 58-yard scoring push.

Dondero got its two consolation points with 3:33 left when Jim St. Clair tackled James in the end zone.

The Oaks actually played as well, if not better, than their foes in the second half, but were stopped by pass interceptions and misfortune on fourth down plays. Kimball finished the season with a 6-2-1 mark while Dondero's was 4-5.

HEAVY ANCHOR — Roger Ball of Avondale is firmly anchored to the ground as tackle Howard Hagen falls on him.

Rochester Swats Avondale Rallies

Holly, Lapeer Win Closing Contests

Holly was "up" for Penton last night and the final score saw the Broncos finish their '62 grid season by downing the visiting Tigers, 26-4.

While the Holly rout was in process, Northville and Howell were battling to a 14-14 standstill and Lapeer was pasting Lake Orion, 22-6.

Centerline, also, dropped another defeat on Fitzgerald, 19-13.

RAY SPARKS WIN

Jim Ray sparked the Holly aggregation with a six-pointer that capped a 70-yard drive following the opening kick-off.

Penton managed his lone counter after a 4-yard jump by Bronco back Dick Canfield past Holly ahead, 14-4, at the intermission. Cal Rapson went 20-yards for the third period touchdown.

Canfield culminated a 50-yard drive late in the fourth quarter hitting paydirt from the 20 for the clincher. Ray and Canfield each ran a conversion.

Lance Haddon, Gary Thrall and John Howe were defensive standouts for the victors who finished with an overall 4-5 mark and a tie for 5th in the Wayne-Oakland standings.

The Lapeer offensive, spearheaded by halfbacks Gary Schwerin and Mike Supernault, was too much for the Lake Orion squad which trailed the entire tilt. Late in the final period the Dragons mustered TD energy with three minutes remaining.

WILLIAMS SCORES

Ed Williams picked up a fumble on his 46 and sprinted 54 yards for the single L.O. tally.

Schwerin hit once and Supernault twice for six-pointers. John Cuckey was tackled in the end zone by the marauding Panthers for a safety.

In the Northville-Howell deadlock Joe Hay of the Mustangs enjoyed one of his good nights scoring all of his team's 14 points. He tallied on runs of 15 and 3 yards and kicked both PATs.

Howell narrowed the halftime

Managers to Meet for Men's Basketball

Monday is the date for the next meeting of managers of teams wishing to play in one of the two men's basketball 16 a game conducted this winter by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

The meeting will start at 7 p.m. in the Recreation office located in the Community Activities Building on Williams Lake Road.

Practice-session dates will be handed out and the general setup of the two leagues (Class A for advanced players; "B" for intermediates and beginners) will be discussed.

140 deficit by sending Chuck Arnold 7 yards for its first TD.

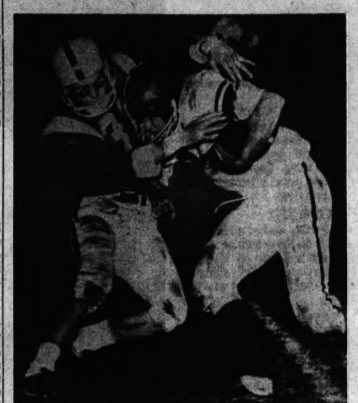

Dave Reid caught a 25-yard pass from Jon Roberts for three more points and when Maury Cole kicked his second of two extra points the score was even.

The Panthers maintained a 13-7 halftime lead and Erwin Williams plunged five yards to clinch the victory for Centerline after the Spartans rallied and then sputtered after trailing by one-point in the final quarter.

Glenn Cherup, the lone Fitzgerald scorer, made a five-yard plunge and a sneak payoff. He was also responsible for one kicking one PAT.

Garnering TDs for the winners were Bill Leonard, Vince Naisona and Erwin Williams.

END OF THE LINE — Kettering's Bill Haviland is stopped by Stan Grant of Waterford after making a short gain. Haviland scored one of the Captains touchdowns.

Costly Romeo Mistakes Help Utica to 19-13 Win

Utica put a damper on Romeo's scores in the second quarter and finale last night with a 19-13 victory over the Bulldogs.

Leading 13-12 with less than three minutes to play, Romeo was the victim of a bad break and the winners quickly capitalized on their good fortune.

Quarterback Buzz Smiles' punt was blocked by one of his Bulldog teammates who had entered the contest as a blocker. The deflected ball was recovered at the Romeo seven-yard line.

Carl Lindemuth ran six yards two plays later for the winning touchdown. It was the halfback's third scoring jaunt of the game. He ran 61 yards to score for Utica in the first quarter, and three yards for a second period tally.

Tom Harrington kicked the PAT following Lindemuth's final six points.

Smiles passed for two Romeo scores in the second quarter and finale last night with a 19-13 victory over the Bulldogs.

Smiles hit Mark Johnson on a 51-yard play for the first TD and John Hanley caught an eight-yard pass for the second score with only 59 seconds remaining in the half.

Romeo had one last burst at pulling the contest out of the fire, but a fumble inside the Utica 20-yard line in the closing minute of play killed off the comeback. The Bulldogs finished with a 7-2 mark and the Tri-County League championship.

Utica's defense was superb in the second half, however. It gathered in the kickoff at the seven, twisted into the clear at the 25 and went all the way as Ted Swoboda blocked out the last pursuer on the Avondale 15.

It was all Rochester the first half. The Falcons took the opening kickoff and marched 68 yards with Stefanski getting loose on the 11th play.

Avondale reached the 29 following the kickoff, but Rochester went 61 yards in six plays this time. Stefanski's next scoring jaunt came on the second play of the second period.

Avondale's potent ground game, sparked by Mike Ball and Acker, failed in the second half, but the steady short game was no match for Rochester's explosive tactics.

Stefanski was the leading ground gainer with 130 yards rush ing, fullback Denny Kosteki made 66, and Mitzelfeld 60. Ball collected 68 yards and Acker 61 for the Yellow Jackets.

The win extended Rochester's domination over Avondale to nine victories in the 10 games. On the final season record, the Falcons are 3-4 and Avondale 4-5.

Gross 'Extravaganza' Nets U. of D. 1st Win

DETROIT (U) — Another one-man extravaganza by Jerry Gross and a new formation ended the University of Detroit's football torment.

"Finally—I never thought it would happen," said John Idzik, a winner for the first time as a head coach last night.

Gross, dazzling in a triple-threat performance, scored all the Titans' points in their 15-14 victory over Cincinnati.

The versatile center from Bay City gained 155 yards passing with a wet ball and running on a muddy field.

Detroit's victory ended an eight-game losing streak dating back to last season. Despite Gross' frequent heresies, the Titans lost their first six games this year under their new coach.

A beaming Idzik rode off the field on the shoulders of his players moments after the losing streak ended.

DOUBLE FLANKER
Idzik had designed a new double-flanker offense to exploit Gross' passing and Cincinnati's weak overhead defense. It functioned at near perfection.

Gross combined with four receivers and hit on 16 of his 27 passes for 203 yards. He gained 52 more yards as a runner.

His passes—mostly gainers of 15-20 yards—set up all three scores. Gross booted a 24-yard field goal and ripped off touchdown runs of 26 and 6 yards.

The 36-yard dash in the third period wiped out Cincinnati's 7-3 halftime lead. The run came when Gross was unable to pass.

"It started out as a pass," said Idzik, Idzik's assistant coach. "There was a slight breakdown in the blocking on the right side and that forced him to run."

Two crushing blocks downfield enabled Gross to prance into the end zone.

"I just saw the red shirts and followed them," said Gross. "How long was that run, anyway? Wow, 36 yards, I must have done some scampering."

Detroit's 9-7 lead was short-lived. Al Nelson raced 49 yards and put Cincinnati ahead again 14-7. But before the third period ended, Gross had the Titans back in front.

He took them 78 yards in eight yard-gulping plays. Gross' passes of 14, 21 and six yards got the Titans downfield to the 17. Then Gross ran six yards, five yards and six again for the winning score.

The victory, which made sure Detroit wouldn't suffer its first winless football season, was the school's 300th. And it was a present for their greatest all-time star, Lloyd Brazil, who was honored at halftime.

The victory was Detroit's eighth against two losses and one tie in its 17-game tour of Japan. But the Tigers had to come from behind with five-runs in the top of the seventh to overtake the Japanese.

Cash's four-run homer, deep in the right field stands, was the first grand slammer of the U.S.-Japan series. It was Cash's third homer in three games and his fifth in the Japan tour.

Giants Regroup for Dallas

By The Associated Press
The Green Bay Packers and New York Giants are winging their way toward a second successive meeting for the National Football League title, but the Giants may run into the heaviest flak concentration of the season tomorrow in Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

While the defending champion Packers are given little to worry about in their visit with the Philadelphia Eagles, New York must gather its oft-punctured defenses and battle the league's top offensive team.

The Giants are usually up to such crucial battles, as witness their 17-14 upset victory over Detroit in which they simply overpowered the big, bustling Lions on both offense and defense. But Dallas presents more of a diversified attack than Detroit, featuring the league's leading passer and a fine running attack.

A victory by the Giants and one by the Washington Redskins, who play host to Cleveland, would put New York in a highly favorable position to get its fifth eastern conference title in the past seven years. Washington is second in the east, a half game behind the Giants, while Dallas and Cleveland are tied for third, 1 1/2 games back.

In other NFL weekend activity, Detroit (6-5) is at San Francisco (3-5), Baltimore (4-4) plays at Los Angeles (1-7), Pittsburgh (4-4) visits St. Louis (3-5) and the Minnesota Vikings (2-6) are at Chicago (4-4).

Denver and Boston, division leaders in the American Football League, play in Denver, Dallas is at New York, Buffalo is at San Diego and Houston is at Oakland in AFL action.

Eddie LeBaron, always a thorn in the side of the Giants, splits the Cowboys' quarterbacking with young Don Meredith. LeBaron is ranked No. 1 in the NFL's passing statistics, and the Giants' pass defense has been punctured lately.

Y. A. Title, the Giants' quarterback, is the league's top TD tosser with 19, one less than both Dallas quarterbacks combined. He is facing a young Dallas defense which must beware the running prowess of Alex Webster in addition to the pass catching abilities of Del Shober, Frank Gifford and Joe Walton.

The Packers are itching to avenge their 17-13 loss to the Eagles in the 1960 title game on the same Franklin Field gridiron. The same cast returns for the de-

County Girl is Ski Queen

Coronation Tonight For Miss Rexhausen

Renate Rexhausen, a physical therapist at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, will be crowned Miss Ski Fair tonight in a 9:30 ceremony tonight at Light Guard Armory in Detroit.

Miss Rexhausen was selected from 17 contestants in competition last weekend. Representing the Birmingham Skiers Club, she passed a written test, oral examination and modeled ski clothing to emerge the "fairest of the fair."

She and the four members of the court will be introduced at the Detroit Ski Fair dance tonight. J. Richard Smith of Royal Oak will escort Miss Rexhausen.

A native of Germany, she attended Ann Arbor High School as an exchange student and graduated from that school in 1954. She returned to her home in Koeln, Germany for further study.

About 16 months ago she decided to return to the United States. She now resides with the H. D. Terkuester family in Birmingham.

The attractive fraulein did not ski in her homeland, although she admits to testing the snow on a few Austrian mountains. Miss Rexhausen skied on several Michigan slopes last season and is anxiously awaiting this season's local opening.

Mrs. FDR Dem Party's 'Mother'

(Editor's Note — Eleanor Roosevelt was a family woman, but in addition to her own children, she adopted the entire Democratic party, and ultimately most of the world. Here is the concluding chapter of her story.)

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—On a bright August night in 1946, a tall, erect woman in a conservative blue dress and a no-nonsense hat walked to the speaker's stand at the Democratic National Convention.

Without a prepared note, relaxed and easy before a crowd that stood cheering, then hushed in deference to her, she administered a kindly but unmistakably maternal lecture.

Her appearance came at a critical time in the Democratic convention's struggle to name a candidate. Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 candidate, was the odds-on favorite.

But he was being fought by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and New York Gov. Averell Harriman, the latter seeking his party's nomination as the political heir of Franklin D. Roosevelt and of the New Deal.

WORDS BELIEVE YEARS

The words of Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the New Deal president, belied her 72 years.

"New problems must be met in new ways by young leaders with imagination rather than by reliance solely on party traditions," declared the woman who had presided over the White House for 12 years. "... Keep the (Democratic) party young and let young people lead it."

It was a dramatic moment which the delegates present and the nation—watching on television—savored fully. The woman who was the living symbol of the whole Roosevelt era urging her party not to look backward but to face toward the future.

Facing forward, rarely looking backward, she was the epitome of her own brisk approach to life. When she did look back, it was quite without nostalgia for the good old days but rather to explain, connect or amplify something current or ahead.

An acquaintance recalled one day asking Mrs. Roosevelt, "Don't you ever feel depressed?" What do you do when you just have one of those days when life doesn't seem worth bothering with?"

Mrs. Roosevelt, looking at her with surprise, said: "Why, one just faces up to it and goes on one's job."

DIFFERENT RELATIONSHIP

Toward the whole Democratic party, Mrs. Roosevelt developed something of the family feeling she had about her own children. The relationship was quite different than that of any previous President's wife and finally had little to do with her empress position.

"Actually," she said, "I grew up without any political party convictions. My maternal grandmother, who raised me, never really recognized there were Republicans and Democrats. And then, of course, I spent many years in school abroad. So when I came home and started to do some social work at Rivington House, it turned out that the friends I made were Democrats and it seemed that the Democrats stood for the things I stood for."

Her active participation in politics began during the days of her husband's convalescence from polo. She was "pushed" into the women's division of the Democratic State Committee by her husband's political mentor, Louis McHenry Howe.

Howe pushed, she said, "not because Louis cared so much about my activities but because he felt that they would make it possible for me to bring into the house people who would keep Franklin interested in (New York) state politics."

And in the course of her political education, Mrs. Roosevelt, in her determined way, took on the most painful job of her life. She triumphed over her shyness and forced herself to make speeches. At first, Howe was self-appointed critic.

SEILY LITTLE GIGGLE

Once, she reported, he asked her why she gave "that silly little giggle" when there was nothing to laugh about. Mrs. Roosevelt's nervousness gradually disappeared through the years, and with it the high-pitched little laugh. In the course of the years, too, she even learned to ignore attacks and rumors which were, apparently, the crosses every public person and his family must carry.

In the book, "This I Remember," Mrs. Roosevelt discussed forces which prevented the much criticized Roosevelt children from growing up in the usual family atmosphere.

"I sometimes wonder," she wrote, "whether the American public... realizes how much the family of a public man has to pay in lack of privacy for the fact that he is willing to serve his country... In addition, I doubt if the public realizes the price that the whole family pays in curtailment of opportunity to live a close family life."

The pattern of Eleanor Roosevelt's public life indicates that, had circumstances been different, she would have found a professional career in either teaching or social work.

And while Mrs. Roosevelt never underestimated the importance of the jobs she was tackling, never forgot the dignity surrounding the positions that she held, she set

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — The prosecution demanded convictions today for a family and a doctor on trial in the slaying of a 16-month-old baby born without arms.

The case was expected to go to the jury late in the day.

Prosecutor Leon Capponys said in final statements that he has been described "as the most lonely man in this trial," but he pressed the jury to act according to their conscience and not to public opinion.

In an earlier address to the jury, the prosecutor asked that a recommendation of leniency accompany a guilty verdict.

The defense, in its summation Friday, called for acquittal of Mrs. Suzanne Vandepuit, 24, accused of poisoning her daughter eight days after she was born in a hospital, and of four others charged with being accomplices.

On trial with Mrs. Vandepuit are her husband, Jean, 35; her sister, Mrs. Monique de la Marck, 26; the victim's grandmother, Mrs. Fernande Verma, 50, and the family's physician, Dr. Jacques Casters, 33.

His active participation in politics began during the days of her husband's convalescence from polo. She was "pushed" into the women's division of the Democratic State Committee by her husband's political mentor, Louis McHenry Howe.

Howe pushed, she said, "not because Louis cared so much about my activities but because he felt that they would make it possible for me to bring into the house people who would keep Franklin interested in (New York) state politics."

And in the course of her political education, Mrs. Roosevelt, in her determined way, took on the most painful job of her life. She triumphed over her shyness and forced herself to make speeches. At first, Howe was self-appointed critic.

SEILY LITTLE GIGGLE

Once, she reported, he asked her why she gave "that silly little giggle" when there was nothing to laugh about. Mrs. Roosevelt's nervousness gradually disappeared through the years, and with it the high-pitched little laugh. In the course of the years, too, she even learned to ignore attacks and rumors which were, apparently, the crosses every public person and his family must carry.

In the book, "This I Remember," Mrs. Roosevelt discussed forces which prevented the much criticized Roosevelt children from growing up in the usual family atmosphere.

"I sometimes wonder," she wrote, "whether the American public... realizes how much the family of a public man has to pay in lack of privacy for the fact that he is willing to serve his country... In addition, I doubt if the public realizes the price that the whole family pays in curtailment of opportunity to live a close family life."

The pattern of Eleanor Roosevelt's public life indicates that, had circumstances been different, she would have found a professional career in either teaching or social work.

And while Mrs. Roosevelt never underestimated the importance of the jobs she was tackling, never forgot the dignity surrounding the positions that she held, she set

LIEGE, Belgium (AP) — The prosecution demanded convictions today for a family and a doctor on trial in the slaying of a 16-month-old baby born without arms.

The case was expected to go to the jury late in the day.

Prosecutor Leon Capponys said in final statements that he has been described "as the most lonely man in this trial," but he pressed the jury to act according to their conscience and not to public opinion.

In an earlier address to the jury, the prosecutor asked that a recommendation of leniency accompany a guilty verdict.

The defense, in its summation Friday, called for acquittal of Mrs. Suzanne Vandepuit, 24, accused of poisoning her daughter eight days after she was born in a hospital, and of four others charged with being accomplices.

On trial with Mrs. Vandepuit are her husband, Jean, 35; her sister, Mrs. Monique de la Marck, 26; the victim's grandmother, Mrs. Fernande Verma, 50, and the family's physician, Dr. Jacques Casters, 33.

Loss Estimated
$15-16 Million
in Rotunda Fire

Eight-Sided Structure
Completely Collapses
Due to Intense Heat

DEARBORN (AP) — The Ford Rotunda — a famous landmark in the Detroit area for 26 years — was a mass of twisted steel and stone rubble today.

A flash fire broke out on the 110-foot high dome at 1:15 p.m. yesterday. It spread downward into the interior and intense heat soon caused the eight-sided structure to collapse.

The loss was estimated at between $15 and $16 million. Ford Motor Co. made no immediate decision on whether to rebuild one of the nation's most visited tourist attractions.

The company's president, John Dykstra, said, "We are all greatly saddened by the loss of the Rotunda. To Detroiters and to millions of visitors it was a symbol of the automotive industry and Ford's role in the industry."

Included in the losses were $250,000 in Christmas decorations to be used for the annual Christmas fantasy; 12 new cars, and one new tractor.

The only casualty was John Riley, 58, of Dearborn, a building engineer, who was treated at a hospital for smoke inhalation.

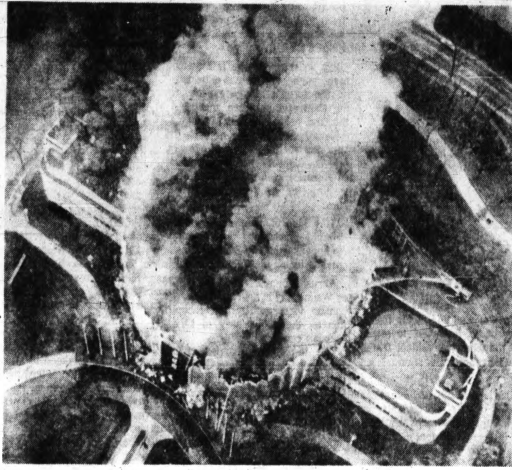

2 SPOT FLAMES
Two men working on the roof first spotted the flames. Ford officials said the men were using a tar-like waterproofing material and heating it on the roof with a propane gas-fired heater.

In less than two hours the gear-shaped building began collapsing. When the alarm sounded, 35 visitors and 15 office workers were inside the Rotunda. All got out safely.

A group of 118 school students from South Bend, Ind., had just left the building for lunch.

A fire wall saved one wing which houses 90 per cent of the vast archives of Ford Motor Co.

A Ford spokesman said the building was fully insured.

Reds Wage Border Battle

India Repulses Attacks

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Red Chinese troops launched new attacks along India's northeast Himalayan border but were repulsed, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Indian and Red Chinese tanks were reported poised in Ladakh on the northwestern front.

The attacks in the northeast came over the past two days.

near Walong, 15 miles west of the Burma border, and at Jang, about 300 miles to the west near the Bhutan border, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

He said the Chinese push near Walong was under cover of artillery fire. In Jang, he reported, the Indian forces shelled advancing Chinese.

Informed sources said Indian

commanders in the northeast expressed confidence they can hold their present lines where the Chinese threaten mountain passes leading down into the plains of India's Assam State.

In the Ladakh area, informed sources reported, the Chinese shot at an Indian transport plane carrying military supplies to Chushul airfield, situated on a 14,200-foot plateau. The sources said the Chinese gunfire missed the plane.

A showdown battle for the airfield is expected.

India flew light tanks into the area to counter a Communist tank buildup near the airfield and across the disputed border at Rundu, in Tibet.

Communist tanks were seen only a few miles from the airstrip, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said.

The airfield is the only one the Indians have in the area and is vital to their supply line.

Only sporadic shelling and rifle fire were reported Friday in the northeastern sector of the frontier battlefield where the Chinese have paused after early advances that threatened the thickly populated Assam Plains.

But Cautious U.S. Will
Prolong Blockade and
Aerial Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the 40-odd Soviet missiles secretly installed in Cuba are reported on their way back to Russia. The rest are due to be headed home by Monday night.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev is also understood to be pulling out several thousand military technicians assigned to the Cuban rocket bases.

But there were indications the end of the U.S. blockade may not be soon.

Khrushchev's cleanup of the known missile sites—and at an unexpected speed—coincides with the apparent end of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's mission to Havana.

U.S. officials now take it Mikoyan has failed in any effort he may have made to pressure Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro into accepting international inspection to verify removal of the missiles and dismantling of the bases.

In Havana, Mikoyan was reported to have conferred again Friday night with Castro after having spent Thursday touring collective farms with him. But Washington officials believe Mikoyan may leave this weekend.

So far as President Kennedy is concerned, officials said, this assumed failure of Mikoyan means Khrushchev will not live up to that part of his Cuban crisis agreement that called for international verification.

Kennedy, informants added, plans to maintain a prolonged naval blockade and aerial surveillance of the island to safeguard against any new sneak Soviet operation.

LONG SAFEGUARD
The U.S. Navy began Friday to intercept merchant ships hauling the Soviet rockets away from Cuba.

The missiles were loaded as deck cargo and photographs made public showed eight on one ship and six on each of two other vessels.

HUNTED — Cranbrook officials hope it's just a horse thief, not an art thief, who took this sculpture entitled "Wounded Horse," by sculptor Carl Milles. Milles became world-famous for his fountains and other sculptures, which grace capital cities of Europe and America. Well known is the large Orpheus Fountain at Cranbrook.

'Wounded' Sculpture Vanishes

'Horse Thief' Hits Cranbrook

BY RALPH P. HUMMEL

It's a horse. It weighs 250 pounds and it's made of stone. What Cranbrook Academy of Art officials want to know is: "Where is it?"

The sculpture disappeared from the south steps of the academy galleries-library buildings in Bloomfield Hills four weeks ago.

It is called "Wounded Horse" and was created by one of the world's greatest sculptors, the late Carl Milles, resident artist at Cranbrook for 21 years.

POSSE CAN'T FIND IT
Even a posse of groundsman scouring the 300-acre Cranbrook property couldn't corral it.

Galleries head Wallace Mitchell finally announced the theft today, explaining that

Cranbrook had been plagued by "continuing problems" of "pranks and vandalism."

Several years ago another piece of Milles' sculpture, "Sven Hedin," was removed from its permanent pedestal in front of Cranbrook Institute of Science and was recovered later from the grounds of a county high school, Mitchell said.

"Wounded Horse" is carved in black granite. It's 24 inches high, 24 inches long and 15 inches wide. It was bought by Cranbrook in 1934 for $3,000.

The horse is shown wounded in battle and struggling in pain. Milles had intended it as a protest against war.

Today, worried Cranbrook officials were wondering about a judgment Milles had once rendered.

"In America," he had said, "the appreciation of art is not general."

Great, Humble Gather in Tribute to Mrs. FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP) — The great and the humble gathered today at this Hudson River Valley community to pay their final respects to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The mourners represent the same cross-section of the world that made the sad journey 17 years ago to attend the funeral of her husband—the 32nd President of the United States.

President Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, head the list of those scheduled to attend the service in St. James Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Gordon L. Kidd will conduct the services.

Mrs. Roosevelt will rest beside her husband in the family

Yule Clubs
Mail Out
Savings

Subscribers to Christmas Club accounts at Pontiac banks and savings and loan companies will begin receiving some more than $1-million in Christmas Club checks Monday.

Local financial firms today began mailing 13,654 checks representing a total $1,183,052 in club savings.

The figure is about $141,000 more than last year and the number of checks has increased about 1,664 over the 1961 mailing.

Leading the way again is Community National Bank, which will distribute $698,366 in 8,046 checks. This is about 940 checks and $82,000 more than the bank mailed out last year.

Pontiac State Bank is mailing 4,558 checks for a total of $393,779. This is about a 10 per cent increase over their 1961 figures.

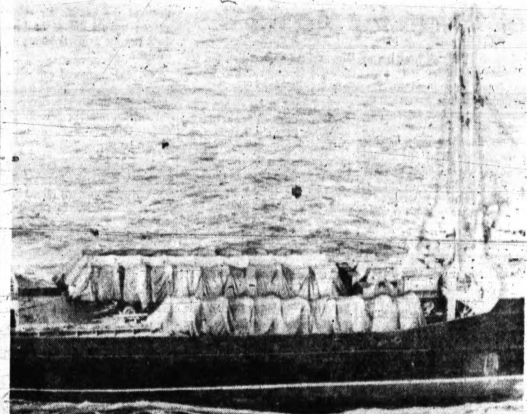

First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Oakland shows an increase of $20,448 and 263 checks over last year's payoff.

They are mailing out $30,907 in some 1,650 Christmas Club checks this year.

The financial institutions have already turned their thinking to Christmas 1963. Most are scheduled to begin opening new Christmas Club accounts Tuesday.

News Flash

NEW YORK (AP) — Police announced today that they have arrested a former broker and recovered $1 million worth of stocks stolen yesterday from a midtown brokerage office.

BACK TO RUSSIA — This picture made late yesterday shows the Soviet freighter Bonrocc as it sailed an easterly course away from Havana. The shrouded cylindrical objects on the afterdeck appear to be mobile missile launchers. Vehicles to the right are armored half-tracks.

Shorten Prayer, Clerics Suggest

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Suggestions were made at the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council today that the daily prayers priests must say be shortened to give them more time for their pastoral duties. Opposition to any change also was expressed.

The breviary—the book of daily prayers said by every priest—was the main topic of discussion at the council session in St. Peter's, a spokesman said.

"Several speakers requested that it be reduced in size so that priests might dedicate themselves more to the work of the apostolate," the spokesman said. "Others requested that it be adapted more to the demands of the times."

Priests now spend about two hours every day reading from the breviary.

Nineteen prelates spoke today—cardinals and archbishops.

The spokesman said that some of the prelates suggested that the breviary not be changed because it has undergone reform through the centuries. The speakers, the spokesman said, pointed to revisions made by Pope John XXIII in 1960 and asserted that these made recitations easier.

Chiang Protests McMahon Line

TAIPEI, FORMOSA (AP)—Nationalist China has lodged a formal protest against its acceptance of the McMahon Line as the frontier between India and China, it was announced yesterday.

In effect, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's regime shares with the Communist administration in Peking a Chinese claim to border territory long under the Indian flag.

Foreign office spokesman Patrick Pichl Sun told a news conference the protest had been filed because "the American view on the matter is obviously contrary to historical facts."

The protest, he disclosed, was made after the State Department endorsed a statement by John Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India, that "the McMahon Line is the accepted international border and is sanctioned by modern usage."

The spokesman recalled a statement made by the foreign office Oct. 29 that "the so-called McMahon Line is a line unilaterally claimed by the British during their rule over India," and had never been accepted by the government of the Republic of (Nationalist) China.

Announce 2 Are Eligible for Postmaster Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday Donald G. Bachman Sr. and Hugh P. Gaston are eligible for the Ann Arbor, Mich., postmaster ship. Either of the two may be nominated by President Kennedy, subject to Senate confirmation. Bachman now is acting postmaster. There were four applicants for the $9,725 a-year job.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHELLFISH

QUESTION: Do sea shells have babies?

ANSWER: Many of the ocean mollusks, which produce sea shells, have young which at first look and act quite differently from the adults. The little shell "veligers" which we show do have very small shells, but the most prominent things about them are their wings.

These delicate creatures swim freely through the water instead of crawling along the bottom as they will later on. Soon after being hatched from eggs, the little veligers rise to the surface and feed on the very minute sea life called "plankton."

Then, perhaps because their shells are growing heavy, they sink down and take up a crawling existence. Oyster "fry," in much the same way, swim around gaily for a couple of weeks and then attach themselves to an empty oyster shell, a rock, or a wooden piling where they remain.

Life may not be as much fun then as it was when they were swimming around, but it's a lot safer, for a great many veligers and oyster fry are gobbled up by hungry fish.

FOR YOU TO DO: There are few things more fun than gathering shells at the seashore. If you get a chance, start a shell collection and try to identify them.

Handsome Guys Are 'Out'; Julie Likes Beat-Up Chaps

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—There's good news finally for us plain-looking guys.

Men with pretty faces aren't doing as well in the popularity sweepstakes as slightly beat-up types like Anthony Quinn.

Julie Harris went so far as to tell me that "men become more beautiful and appealing when they have wounds on their faces."

(That could make a man go out and pick a fight with Sonny Liston.)

And Miss Shirley Anne Field, the new British sex symbol, assured me about the same time that having a romance with a really handsome man is just short of hell.

In this double interview, Julie Harris insisted that the punchdrunk, stumblebum battered look of Tony Quinn in "Requiem for a Heavyweight" had somewhat of a romantic tug—and Miss Field grew bitterly angry recalling an American actor who primed even more than pretty guys do.

"I had this romance with this actor who took hours getting dressed—I had to wait for him!" she fumed. "He drove me mad, he was always brushing his hair."

"I was supposed to tell him he looked nice. But did he ever compliment me? Never, ever, ever!"

It was a subject which fascinated Julie Harris. In "Requiem," she's a girl in an employment office who finds herself taken with this chapped-up old has-been fighter. Yet he thinks she's repelled by his scars.

"A wounded face," she reiterated, "to me is not ugly. The puffy eyes, the ears, the nose getting broader, to me are beautiful."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Thousands of women could add years to their age, simply by telling the truth.

EARL'S PEARLS: The average lush is a cheerful fellow who thinks the bluebird of happiness is just another swallow.—Harold Coffin, S. F. Examiner.

Automation may not make things much simpler, after all. For instance, it'll take four vending machines to replace the single office boy who goes out for coffee, doughnuts, sandwiches and cigarettes.... That's Earl, brother.
