Delivers Note Requesting End to War in Laos

Harriman Says Nothing About Prospects of Resuming Conference

GENEVA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today a U.S. note urging the Soviet Union to end the fighting in Laos.

"I delivered the note and we discussed it," President Kennedy's roving ambassador told a reporter after returning from an hour's discussion. Harriman would say nothing about the prospects for success, or on getting the stalled 14-nation Laotian conference here under way again.

A Soviet spokesman said the two discussed "difficulties in the work of the conference."

Western delegations are refusing to attend conference sessions here under the pressure of pro-Communist military action 7,000 miles away.

Harriman went to see Gromyko at Soviet headquarters.

Britain, cochairman with the Soviet Union, has postponed the conference indefinitely because of cease-fire violations. But both East and West expressed desire for agreement.

There had been some hope Gromyko was bringing new instruc-

2 Decisions Face Waterford Voters

Waterford Township voters will receive two separate ballots at Monday's 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. annual school election. On one, they will choose a man to fill a four-year term on the board of education while the other will ask that the electorate decide on the establishment of a school library.

The two candidates are incumbent Frederick Poole, 37, of 1238 Helten Drive; and Lewis B. Ruelle, 42, of 5156 Farm Road.

Poole has lived in the Waterford area 24 years. After his graduation from the University of Michigan, Poole went into the lumber business with his father. He is a past president of Kiwanis, and was selected as Jaycee Man of the Year. He is married and has three children. The family attend the Central Methodist Church.

"The Waterford Township School District has been faced with tremendous challenges and problems since consolidation 20 years ago," Poole said. "The decisions made by the board concerning these situations have been advantageous and constituted to the growth and development of educational opportunities afforded the youth of the school district," he continued.

"Not all of the decisions have had unanimous support in some positions taken by the board. However, I feel the basic planning and achievements have been firm and of sound construction.

"In conclusion, if elected, I shall pledge to do to the best of my ability, to continue to support school board policies which will contribute to enhancing educational opportunities for our students."

May Bring Solons Back for Meeting Later in Year

LANSING (AP)—Michigan legislators formally closed out their 1961 session today, but there was a strong possibility that Gov. Swainson will call them back into special session later in the year.

Five of the so-called "moderate" Republicans in the Senate recommended a special meeting to deal with important matters left unsettled. They range from moves to boost spending for higher education to a move to bring Michigan under the new federal program providing aid for children of jobless workers.

In last-minute dicisions the legislature:

—Set up a special six-man Senate committee to study plans for establishing the 19th Congressional District allocated to the state as a result of population gains in the last decade.

Lawmakers were unable to agree on a reapportionment plan, setting up the possibility that the new congressman will be elected from the state at large.

—Killed a bill to require a Saturday opening of the deer season in the Upper Peninsula.

—Clocked an 11th hour move by House Democrats to permit the state to take advantage of the federal ADC program and collect a $5-million federal bonus for restricting billboards along the interstate highway system.

—Expanded the state program of medical care for the aged.

The session, they said, should deal with extension of temporary taxes on telephones and cigarettes due to expire June 30; produce an unemployment compensation bill that will assure solvency of the ailing jobless pay fund; assure adequate spending programs for higher education and mental health programs and produce action on the federal ADC and billboard plans.

Democrats Thursday successfully blocked Republican attempts to override the governor's 14 vetoes. They include controversial measures to modify Rule 9 of the real estate code, banning discrimination by brokers and salesmen in real estate deals, and to revise the state unemployment compensation law.

Gov. Swainson, meanwhile, was confronted a second time with the hotly-disputed milk price-fixing bill.

House members, chiefly Democrats, reversed themselves again Thursday and called back the bill from the House Agriculture Committee, where it had been sent for quick burial. They sent it to the governor on an 80-16 vote.

Ties TV Crime to Delinquency

Federal Prisons Chief Believes Cause Relation Does Exist

WASHINGTON (AP) — James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons, said today he thinks there is a definite causal relationship between juvenile delinquency and television shows dealing with crime and violence.

At a hearing by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, Bennett likened television to "the old-fashioned street corner pitchman who attracted and entertained his audience with card tricks and magic while he sold them snake-oil remedies."

In his prepared statement, Bennett added "modern television attracts its audience with crime and violence while they sell soap and deodorants." But in delivery, he merely said "modern television has a parallel (to the pitchman)."

Bennett complained that some television programs depict law enforcement officers as "gauche, stupid and in fact venal at times."

He said this hinders the recruitment of officers and damages the morale of those already in service.

★ ★ ★

There is strong evidence, Bennett said, that "exposure to the viewing of crime, mayhem and conflict as a means of entertainment has a deleterious emotional impact on youth and creates the risk of triggering delinquent behavior."

★ ★ ★

The prison bureau director said surveys at two federal institutions for young offenders—the Ashland Youth Center and the National Training School — showed that about one-fourth of the inmates believed such programs "were in some way responsible for their conflict with the law."

Press Scholarship Won by Area Teen

Celebration was in order since 18-year-old Warren A. Gooch, a Pontiac Press carrier for five years, learned that he will enter Michigan State University Oakland this fall under a scholarship awarded by this newspaper.

Still finding it hard to believe he was the lucky carrier among 43 seniors graduating this month, all the tall teen-ager could say was: "I'm real happy."

Gooch, one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Gooch, 368 Hillcliff Drive, walked into the office of Earl Treadwell, circulation manager of The Press, yesterday to learn that he was the recipient of the $500-a-year, 4-year scholarship.

"Warren was chosen out of the 43 for his general qualifications — his grades, service and his all-around attributes as a young man," Treadwell said.

★ ★ ★

Scheduled to graduate from Waterford Township High School on June 14, Gooch hopes to put his scholarship to work toward a possible career as an engineer, a profession his 24-year-old brother is following at General Motors Truck & Coach Division. His father is a plant protection officer there.

AWARD'S THIRD YEAR

This is the third year The Press has awarded the scholarship to its outstanding senior carrier, Treadwell said.

A delegate to the National Boy Scout Jamboree in Colorado Springs last June, Gooch, who is a towering 6 foot 2 inches and 190 pounds, took up the after-school job of delivering to 130 Press readers in the Huron Gardens area after he had substituted for other carriers.

"I've enjoyed working with these people," Gooch said. "It's a terrific experience."

He said his 9-year-old brother might become a carrier.

Treadwell, in announcing Gooch's scholarship, added that all but five of the 43 carriers planned to continue their educations in colleges or universities.

Nelle Lassiter Goes Home

Leaves Hospital After All Charges Dropped Against Her

DETROIT (AP)—"When you are innocent, when you have God on your side, how can you lose?"

Blonde Nelle Lassiter thus closed the book on a story that began more than two years ago with the murder of her husband.

With an armful of red roses and smiling, the glamorous Mrs. Lassiter left Jennings Memorial Hospital Thursday for her home at 19090 Beverly Road, Beverly Hills, after murder and conspiracy charges against her were dropped and an order committing her to a state mental institution was set aside.

"It's wonderful, it's like a dream," she said.

Mrs. Lassiter and her onetime lover, Gordon Watson, had been accused of plotting the April 1959 slaying of her husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, a suburban Royal Oak car dealer.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution, accusing them of "lust and greed," charged they plotted the slaying in order to continue their illicit affair and take over Lassiter's business.

FOUND INNOCENT

Watson was found innocent by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury Monday. He returned to California with the vow "I'll never come back to Detroit."

Mrs. Lassiter had been a co-defendant but collapsed midway in the trial and a mistrial was declared in her case. A sanity commission found her emotionally exhausted and unable to assist in her own defense.

Circuit Judge Joseph Rashid ordered her committed to a state mental hospital but she remained at Jennings, pending a hearing in U.S. District Court on the commitment order. Rashid set aside this order when Assistant Prosecutor George D. Kent asked that the charges against her be dropped.

Kent, who conducted the trial against Watson, said it was decided to drop charges against Mrs. Lassiter because evidence presented at Watson's trial would be legally inadmissible in a separate trial of Mrs. Lassiter.

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said, "We had a much stronger case against Watson than we did against her."

Next Move Is Mr. Castro's in Tractor Trade

Committee Ready to Move on Exchange of Prisoners

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him.

★ ★ ★

The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today, to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

★ ★ ★

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that were make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released.

"We would recommend that the International Red Cross be asked to handle the details relating to the release of the prisoners."

WILL SEND COMMITTEE

The committee, formed after Castro made his trade offer May 17, said it would not send one of its more prominent members to Havana to negotiate as Castro had asked but would send a six-member technical committee of agricultural and tractor experts.

It said that if Castro approved of the offer the team of experts would arrive in Havana next Monday. It urged Castro to reply as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

Castro had asked that any delegation to Cuba should contain one of the principal members of the committee "preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Mrs. Roosevelt is committee honorary chairman, Dr. Eisenhower, educator and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is a co-chairman.

Walter P. Reuther, also a co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said, none of the prominent members would go.

TO DISCUSS DETAILS

The committee told Castro it had "designated a technical committee to discuss with you or your representatives the details of our proposal related to types of agricultural tractors and attachments best suited to increase agricultural production and raise the living standards of the Cuban people."

Named to the technical committee were Prof. Roy Bainer, head of the University of California agricultural engineering department; William Bishop, leader of agricultural programs for the University of Tennessee Extension Service; Duane P. Greathouse, director of the UAW's agricultural implement department; C. M. Hansen, Michigan State University assistant professor of agricultural engineering; J. B. Liljedhal, Purdue University professor of agricultural engineering, and Prof. E. W. Schroeder, head of the Oklahoma State University agricultural engineering department. They would be accompanied by a Spanish language interpreter.

He attends St. Andrews Episcopal Church, serves on the Township Recreation Board, is a member of the township's Democratic Club and the Lakeland Optimist Club.

Ruelle has been active in township civic affairs for more than 20 years, serving previously on the Township Zoning Board and for one term on the Waterford Township Board.

"If elected to the Waterford Township School Board, I will work toward continued progress in our education system," he said and added, "A program to obtain the best teachers possible, a more extensive use of our present school facilities for adult education and recreation can be accomplished by study of the present $4½-million school budget for possible revision in some areas. These are the things I believe in."

LIBRARY ASKED

Supt. William A. Shunck explains that the township school district has never officially established a school library. In order that the district may continue to receive state reimbursement (about $10,000 annually), he points out that it is necessary that there be official action by the electorate.

Shunck adds that even though the ballot may give the impression that only one library is involved, it actually concerns all of the many libraries in the township's school district.

"If this issue carries," Shunck notes, "we can expect to continue to receive state funds. If it does not carry, it means that our school district will lose approximately $10,000 a year from monies from the State of Michigan."

Shunck emphasises that this vote is not for the establishment of a township or community library, and that it will not increase taxes.

Voting places for the school election have been set as follows: Precinct No. 1, Drayton Plains School, 3000 Sashabaw Road, Drayton Plains; Precinct No. 2, Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron St.; Precinct No. 3, Waterford Center School, 1021 Airport Road; Precinct No. 4, Waterford Village School, 4241 Stefens St.; and Precinct No. 5, Pontiac Lake School, 2515 Williams Lake Road.

FRANK L. DOTY

A special place in Oakland County's legal hall of fame belongs to Frank L. Doty, who retired from the Circuit Court bench at the close of 1959 after 32 years.

The appointment of Doty as the county's third circuit judge by former Gov. Fred W. Green on Sept. 14, 1927, was the beginning of a remarkable judicial career.

He served longer as a jurist than any other in the county's long history. During his many years of public service, Doty sat as a judge in every judicial circuit in Michigan with the exception of Marquette and Alcona counties.

His start as a public servant was made in 1912 after five years as a practicing attorney.

He served two terms as prosecutor before entering the armed forces. An infantry lieutenant in 1916, he saw service with Gen. Pershing on the Mexican border and later became an Air Force captain, flying many missions over Germany.

Big Two-Hour Parade to Launch Centennial

in at 2:30 p.m. Parade units will begin arriving in the staging area at 1:30 p.m.

Highlighting the parade will be about 20 glittering floats, all produced by professional parade experts working under the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission.

FLOAT FOR QUEEN

Pontiac area organizations are sponsoring the floats. Among them will be a float for Miss Centennial and her court of 10 Centennial princesses.

There'll be 22 marching bands, including two military units, 15 from high schools and junior high schools and five from other organizations.

In tribute to Pontiac's long automotive history, there'll be vehicles galore.

Some will be horsedrawn, recalling moments from Pontiac's 143 years as a community and 100 years as a city.

Others will reflect the city's big buggy and bicycle plants at the turn of the century.

SOUGHT BALANCE

Despite this tribute to Pontiac as a city on wheels, the major emphasis in organizing the parade was to achieve a balance among the various types of participating groups, said Sherwin M. Birnkrant, chairman of the parade committee.

"We've lined up a wide variety of units and tried to space them so that there'll be something new and something different all the time," he said.

About 20 drill teams and twirling units will add color to the parade. There'll be Civil War marching groups and the mounted posse of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

A big contribution from the military will be a real Bomarc guided missile, 45 feet long.

There'll be bands and drill teams from Army and Navy units, a number of color guard teams, clowns, jazz bands, old fire trucks, horses, boy scouts and a long list of others.

Car Production Up 48 Pct. This Week

DETROIT (AP) — Auto production rose 48 per cent this week from last week's holiday low point, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

Ward's estimated production at 126,905 passenger cars compared with 85,645 during the Memorial Day week and 130,423 in the similar week of 1960.

All assembly plants worked five days except for Lincoln-Thunderbird at Wixom, Mich., and Mercury at Wayne, Mich. Next week Ford will close its St. Paul plant for five days.

tions from Moscow when he arrived in Geneva Thursday night for the first time since Kennedy met Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, Austria.

"My pockets are empty," he said.

A cease fire was proclaimed May 3. But the West has charged repeated violations and today there were reports of attacks by Communist-led rebel units north of the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

STRENGTHEN HOLD

It appeared the Communist-led Pathet Lao rebels are trying to clean out areas of government resistance and strengthen their claim to Xieng Khouang Province.

Gromyko met this morning with the foreign ministers of three of the Communist countries — Marshal Chen Yi of Red China, Adam Rapacki of Poland and Ung Van Khiem of North Viet Nam.

Sees Finance Curb on Cars Slap at GM

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Chairman Frederic G. Donner today labeled "discriminatory" proposed legislation to prevent auto manufacturers from financing sales of their cars and insuring the vehicles.

"Its target avowedly is General Motors," Donner said in testimony prepared for the House antitrust subcommittee.

Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, has told the subcommittee that GM's ownership of GMAC, "the largest sales finance company in the world," gives GM important competitive advantages over other auto manufacturers.

Airlifts Flying Bands to Centennial Parade

Two military airlifts will bring Army and Navy bands to Pontiac for the giant Greater Pontiac Centennial parade at 2:30 p.m. on kickoff day next Saturday.

★ ★ ★

From the Chicago area there'll be the 5th U. S. Army Band and the Great Lakes Navy Band.

The 60-member Navy group will fly into Pontiac Municipal Airport that morning. The new runway is long enough to handle the big R5D Navy transport plane.

The 58 Army musicians will have a tight schedule.

★ ★ ★

Arriving in Pontiac by bus after an Air Force airlift to Selfridge Air Force Base, they'll perform in a joint concert after the parade with the Michigan Male Chorus Association.

★ ★ ★

This will be in Wisner Stadium beginning at 7:30 p.m. The soldiers will perform first in an hour-long concert. Then they'll quickly bus back to Selfridge to catch the 9:30 p.m. airlift returning to Chicago.

600 TO SING

After the soldiers leave the stadium, 21 male choruses with about 600 voices will combine in the Centennial State Sing. Tickets for the night cover both the band and choral concerts.

★ ★ ★

George Putnam, head of secondary instrumental and vocal music in the public schools, arranged for the Army band as chairman of the parade band committee. The Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center obtained the Navy band for the parade.

★ ★ ★

The Navy group is scheduled to arrive at Pontiac Municipal Airport at 10:30 a.m. Coming into town in buses loaned by the Board of Education, the sailors are to eat at Elks Temple before joining other groups at 1:30 p.m. in the staging area for the parade.

★ ★ ★

The Army group is to arrive at Selfridge at 10 a.m., then bus here. Arrangements for their lunch and dinner have been made at Waldron Hotel.

Mrs. Blair Moody OK After Fainting, Falling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Blair (Ruth A.) Moody, 44, widow of a former U.S. Senator from Michigan, was reported improving in Georgetown Hospital today after being found unconscious in her apartment.

Her son, Robin, 12, found Mrs. Moody on the bathroom floor, about 8:30 Thursday night. Mrs. Moody's physician said she had fainted and struck her head in falling.

When's Our Vacation? Cries Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Speaker Sam Rayburn weeks ago snorted "nonsense" to the suggestion that Congress take a summer vacation the idea appeared doomed.

It still may be, but its adherents die hard.

One of them, Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y., has two children and the belief "that the warmth and support of a family are vital to the efficiency of many congressmen."

Armed with this observation and also the statistics that senators have about 140 school-age children and House members more than 600, he appeared Thursday before the House Rules Committee.

His aim: Action on his resolution requiring Congress to recess every year, or at least every other year, from the end of June until early October.

WIVES IN FAVOR

He got no immediate sympathy from the committee, even after saying wives of 175 senators and representatives have signed a petition favoring the summer recess.

Meanwhile, operating on a second front—the Senate—Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., said a Senate resolution proposing annual summer vacations for Congress has been misunderstood.

He urged Congress to adopt a policy of "continuous year-around sessions" with time out for summer vacations, election campaigns and the national political conventions. Such a policy, he said, "will result in less time off, rather than more."

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., joined Barry in his plea for summer family unity before the House committee. Schweiker, the father of two, said the public expects members of Congress—like ministers—to lead ideal family lives. They should have their summer fun together, he said.

The Barry-Schweiker plea on behalf of children and mothers seemed to make headway with Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., a grandfather many times over.

"I think we ought to stand up for these ladies," he said. "I'm scared of them."

Another authority on grandchildren, Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, took another view. This veteran of 45 years of married life said he suspected some of the agitation for a recess came from wives who might not trust their husbands alone in Washington during the summer.

And, from bachelor Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., came this question: What about the 270 or so congressional wives who did not sign the petition?

Finally, the committee put off action on Barry's resolution until an indefinite later date. By then, the chances are, summer may have come and gone.

Places Still Available for Mahn-Go-Tah-See

An official of the YMCA's Camp Mahn-go-tah-see said there still are openings in three of the four camp periods this summer and that there would be an expanded "out camp" program for the older boys.

WALLACE T. CRIPPS

At the same time, it was announced that Wallace T. Cripps, a teacher at Brookside School, Cranbrook, will serve as camp director for the third straight year.

Openings are available for the June 30-July 13, July 13-July 26, Aug. 8-Aug. 21 camp periods.

Registration fee for any of the two-week periods is $75. Registration can be made by calling the camp office at 78 Washington St.

The camp, affiliated with the YMCA and supported by the Downtown Kiwanis Club and city businessmen, is situated adjacent to the Huron National Forest four miles north of Hale on Loon Lake. Its sailing fleet has been increased by the gift of a Lightning sailboat.

The expanded program for older campers will include canoe trips and exploration trips into the Upper Peninsula, Cripps said.

Has Disarmament Hope

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Thursday he considers some progress in disarmament possible now that President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev have met.

Jobless Father of 9 Blows Himself Up

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — An unemployed father of nine children strapped dynamite around his waist and blew himself to bits Thursday night.

John H. Alston, a carpenter in his 60s, died in front of his trailer home. His wife and children were absent.

A neighbor, Al Nelson, said: "I heard something that sounded like a rifle shot. Then I saw smoke and went outside and it was a bloody mess."

Alston's watch, stopped at 7:38 p.m., was found a block and a half away. A suicide verdict was returned.

Michigan Would Gain by Billboard Measure

It's hard to see just why Michigan's Legislature has ducked that billboard measure.

★ ★ ★

This newspaper isn't in favor of Federal grants in general because Michigan pays in more than she gets back. Nearly always we'd be better off to face our own bill at the state, county or community level.

★ ★ ★

However, in this case the folding money is down there in Washington right now. We pay in our share and if we don't get back what we can, we're simply making an idle donation to the other states.

The total that we will receive from Washington runs more than $5 million. Who are we to kick that sum aside?

★ ★ ★

Experts say the bill is actually so mild that the only class of Michigan citizens that can suffer will be the motel owners. If they've hushed the Michigan Legislature all by themselves, they're more powerful and energetic than most people suspect —or the Legislature folded meekly on general principles.

★ ★ ★

Governor Swainson has asked the House of Representatives to adopt this during the brief meeting.

Certainly Michigan will gain.

Did Isolation Influence Jurors in Lassiter Case?

The question in many minds following the acquittal of Gordon Watson in the Lassiter murder case, is whether the jurors were freeing Watson or themselves. They had been locked up for the six-week trial, to avoid any possible influence on their decision.

As the trial dragged on, with several postponements because of the ill health of defendant Nelle Lassiter, this isolation began to bother Nelle's peers.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps by the very act of isolating the jury, the court created just what is was seeking to avoid — an influence on its collective state of mind. Rather than on the trial, however, this influence was of a personal nature, separation from their families and jobs.

★ ★ ★

True, the jurors were questioned as to whether they could be locked up for the duration of the trial, and two who felt they couldn't were excused.

Now to wrap things up neatly, Nelle has recovered, and all charges against her have been dropped.

U.S., Russia Have Equal Chance in Race to Moon

Space expert Wernher Von Braun gave us a little good news and a little bad news when he appeared at Michigan State University Oakland, but the good outweighed the bad.

Von Braun warned that we can expect another Soviet victory in the space race. The Reds have the rocket booster capacity to put more than one man in space and our chances of a multiple manned shot before they pull this off are slight.

But as for the race to the moon, our expert sees us on an equal footing, and this is significant. As far as size of space payload, we have trailed the Russians right from the start.

They were "Fustest with the mostest."

★ ★ ★

But the race to the moon will require much larger boosters than we have, and larger than any we know the Russians have. Von Braun says entirely new vehicles will be needed, and the race to create these new boosters has started on an even basis.

★ ★ ★

If this is so, it will be the first time since the Soviets launched their first satellite that we won't be behind. If this is true, it will be a test of our capabilities, dedication, and engineering brains.

If we must engage in this expensive race, it would be nice to win once. The fact that we have a chance is encouraging.

Editor's Journey—Part 4

Turkish Ally in State of Transition

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on Southern Europe and the Middle East after my recent tour of 12 countries.)

★ ★ ★

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD
Editor, The Pontiac Press

Leaving the hot desert country of Jordan, we headed for Ankara, Turkey, which is much higher and cooler. Ankara is nearly 3,000 feet above sea level and surrounded by gentle hills.

FITZGERALD

On Ankara's highest hill stands the Ataturk Mausoleum honoring the memory of the founder of modern Turkey. In 1920 Ankara was still a dusty, exotic-looking little provincial town; today it's becoming a great city.

Little more than a year after toppling the strongman government of Adnan Menderes, Turkey's military rulers are groping by trial and error for the new order they promised when they seized power.

The army leaders now rule the country, and it is probably best that they kicked out Menderes since he apparently was stealing the country blind.

However, still ahead are promised free elections, and until they are held the average Turk will feel uncertain, insecure and a little uneasy.

But some solid advances toward the goal of free elections have been registered, even while the military occasionally has throttled a basic liberty.

NEW CONSTITUTION

We met with Acting President Cemal Gursel, a former army general, and he assured us that the welfare of Turkey is in good hands. Emphasizing this, he told of the writing of a new model constitution. It was drawn up by a committee of intellectuals and specialists from many walks of life.

It would guarantee individual and press liberty, and provides for checks and balances within a cabinet-type government. The country was bankrupt to the tune of $248 million when the army took over.

Now with foreign grants, mostly from the United States and West Germany, Turkey slowly is trying to bring some order to its national finances.

Sitting right on the Russian border, the Turks are a strong fighting unit, according to Col. Charles Burtyk of the United States Army military mission. We have several bases in Turkey and they are equipped with the latest exotic weapons.

The Turkish people have been strongly anti-Communist since 1924, and today they are a powerful deterrent for the Western powers to have on their side in the Middle East.

We could not help but be impressed with this little country, yet at the same time we could tell from the man in the street that unrest exists today. The Menderes diehard group will not give up easily and trouble could erupt before or after the elections.

ON TO GREECE

Leaving the Turks behind, we flew to Athens, Greece, which is a peninsula jutting out into the Eastern Mediterranean, bounded on three sides by the Aegean, Ionian and Cretan Seas, and on the fourth by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria.

Athens is a thoroughly westernized city from every point of view. In briefings with our embassy officials, we learned that they feel strongly that the United States will have to continue to spend money in helping Greece if it is to be kept on the side of the West. Some $2 billion in aid already has been given Greece since 1947.

Under the present government, the local press is more free than controlled and much better than in many other places. An interesting fact about this country is that everyone must vote.

It is a civic duty, and if you fail to turn out you are fined. As a result, 90 per cent of the people vote.

IN MIDST OF REDS

At this time, Greece is the only country in the Balkan area that is not Communist. The present government is a monarchy under King Paul. The executive power belongs to the king and is exercised by his ministers.

The general feeling is that Greece has a good government but that the future is at stake because of the Communist growth. In the last general election, one-third of the Greeks voted Communist.

This is partly because the existing political parties are weak and spread too thinly.

Constantine Goustis, special assistant to the prime minister, told us that one of the most pressing problems was the great amount of unemployment. This was true in all countries we visited.

★ ★ ★

The present government feels that this lack of work may cause political trouble in the near future.

Goustis explained that his countrymen are an odd lot in that the sun and warm climate makes for great apathy and the people naturally become lazy.

The present government would like to be a part of the Common Market to increase its number of customers. At this time, 30 per cent of Greek trade is with Soviet Russia.

(To Be Concluded Monday)

Dr. William Brady Says:

Woman's Change of Life Should Receive Welcome

Many feminine readers have assured me that at 50, 55 or 60 the only indication of "change of life" they have noticed is cessation of menstruation. Otherwise, I gather from their comments, it might as well be spring.

A cogent reason why some doctors go along with the "change of life" when the patient seems susceptible is that, like "just a cold that hangs on," it serves so well in lieu of a diagnosis.

Instead of morbid unhappiness, said Dr. Clelia Duel Mosher in "Personal Hygiene for Women," the change of life should produce in the mind of a normal healthy woman no more than a mild regret that the period of youth and potential motherhood is over. It should be naturally welcomed as release from the inconvenience attendant upon menstruation.

DR. BRADY

In mother's and grandmother's day, instead of anatomy, physiology, and hygiene, girls were taught that menstruation is a periodic illness involving suffering and incapacity. Such instruction infected them with a morbid dread of menstruation, a state of mind that favors development of all sorts of trouble.

As Dr. Mosher observed, "It is impossible to make a healthy man ill simply by having a number of people tell him how ill he looks." The same psychology is fine for everybody at any time. If you can't use it, for goodness sake, keep your trap closed. Your best friend doesn't like to be told how bad he or she looks.

Much of the trouble uninformed and misinformed middle aged women attribute to "change" is actually due to causes that are unrelated to sexual life.

For example, I have had reports from many readers who have obtained great relief from hot flashes by following a high calcium diet and supplementing the diet with a good daily ration of calcium and Vitamin D, as suggested in the menopause pamphlet — for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Mosher, in her gentle way, called it "muscular inactivity." But more about this modern sin later.

★ ★ ★

Followed your advice, put some flaxseed in our oats for breakfast every morning. Now we never need any laxative. (A.P.)

I am 36 and have no gray hair worry, but unless my imagination deceives me the color seems enhanced since I started taking the iodin ration. (L.J.)

Ans. — That's what a good many correspondents tell me. Anyway it can do no harm. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for "The Iodin Ration."

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 300 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People:

Writer Hopes Employers Will Help Handicapped

Employers should help keep handicapped people employed.

So many handicapped people just give up when they lose a job due to their handicap. I have worked for the past nine months for the same employer, but I lost my job because of epilepsy. I have a wife and two children to support, but I haven't given up yet.

There are many more handicapped people with families that need the help and understanding of more employers.

'Favorable Views Often Neglected'

Can our key GOP lawmakers judge the rightness of their action in cutting college appropriation requests by the letters they receive from the public? A news article says they have their fingers on the public pulse and that the public isn't alarmed.

★ ★ ★

Consider the recent and almost unbelievable public response to the honest act of a man, who upon finding a bag containing $240,000 returned it to the owner. Letters from many parts of the country called him a "sucker." The family, if it followed GOP policy, could have concluded "dishonesty is the best policy."

★ ★ ★

Only when the persecution of this family was made public did they receive the commendation they deserved. Is this another example of the saying, "Good causes are lost because good people do nothing?" Have all of the Pontiac believers in good education expressed themselves to their lawmakers?

'Constant Sunshine Is Exasperating'

May was a lovely month! You must have been thinking of April, the rainy one. There were probably five or six days of rain, but I think May did very well.

★ ★ ★

People aren't gay and happy and carefree all the time. And months aren't either. I wouldn't want it to be sunny all the time. It's too boring. I came back from "sunny" California and nine months of sunny weather was pretty exasperating.

Be kind to May in the future. And all the months for that matter. I like them all.

Our Backs Not Human

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Perhaps the basic reason President Kennedy is suffering from a strained back is that "the good Lord made the back for quadrupeds and not for bipeds," a Washington bone and joint specialist said today.

He told a reporter that in the evolutionary process, through which man assumed an erect position and began walking on two legs, "everything was compensated for except the back."

"Too much strain has been placed on the human back for the position that man has assumed," declared the doctor, who asked to remain anonymous.

"The human spine," he said, "has an angle or curve to it that makes it susceptible to strain because of man's erect position. The vertebrae in quadrupeds are evenly balanced due to the way they carry their weight on four legs."

A "lumbosacral strain" such as Kennedy suffered can occur during such activities as golf, tennis, heavy lifting, and even gardening, the doctor said. And, he added, victims are not necessarily limited to occasional devotees of such exercise.

"Why," he said, "a professional golfer came to our office with a lumbosacral strain just a couple of weeks before he went out and won the National Open. We treated him before he went into the match. No sir, I won't tell you his name."

★ ★ ★

The doctor added: "I'm a fairly regular golfer myself, but one day, when I got up to the fifth hole, I took a good poke at the ball—and I felt as though I had been stabbed with a knife in my back. I could barely get to my car, and I felt it (the injury) for several weeks."

You've got to have "an even rhythm" of motion in any exercise to stand the best chance of avoiding back strain, he said. Any sudden twist of the body could well bring it on.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Friday, June 9, the 160th day of the year with 205 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

The evening stars are Mercury and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1892, American composer Cole Porter was born at Peru, Ind.

In 1943, Congress passed an act providing for pay-as-you-go income tax deductions.

In 1958, the first ballistic missile submarine, the nuclear-powered George Washington, was launched at Groton, Conn.

Thought for today: British writer Samuel Butler said: "A virtue to be serviceable, must, like gold, be alloyed with some commoner but more durable metal."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Let thy mercy come to me, that I may live: for thy law is my delight.—Psalms 119:77.

★ ★ ★

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Many Wives Have Wrong Attitude

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-41: Mary, aged 48, is one of the dental wives who objected to my scolding women for their sins of omission.

"Why should a man run around," she began belligerently, "when he has 10 children already?"

To which I replied:

"When was the last child born?"

"Oh, about 16 years ago," she said.

DR. CRANE

That's a sad mistake that drives thousands of couples into the divorce courts.

★ ★ ★

If her husband was virile enough to have 10 children, then she should have realized he wouldn't turn off his romantic hunger all of a sudden.

Wives, get hep. Men retain their sex desire all their lives.

And you women should do likewise, for the menopause does not eliminate a wife's ability to function as a thrilling and thrillable mate.

WIFE'S CHOICE

Either you modern American women must permit your husbands to have paramours, a la the French male.

Or you must wake up and get rid of your sins of omission.

"Oh, but I never rebuff my mate," says the typical wife. Malarky: You do it without knowing what a rebuff is.

"Oh, it's too late," you remonstrate when he acts a little kittenish on Saturday night.

"No, no, I've just taken my bath for church tomorrow."

And then you wives have the gall to tell us doctors you never rebuff your mates.

★ ★ ★

It is high time you got told off, and that's what I am doing today.

There is a dearth of men in America. So there are plenty of sirens waiting to entice every available man.

When you wives kiss your mate goodby in the morning as he heads to work, please remember that you enter a "triangle" that very minute.

For he will meet plenty of women before nightfall who would delight in stealing him from you.

MEN PREFER WIVES

Men routinely tell us doctors they much prefer their wives to any or all other women they have ever met, "IF."

And that big "IF," means, IF those wives would show a little ardor, even though feigned, when those weary husbands try to act kittenish and revive some of their lost courtship thrills.

"Oh, Herbert, act your age," is the usual "ice water" retort that the stodgy, fat wives of forty will throw on their devoted mates when the latter try to resurrect some of the romance that has been in cold storage for maybe 20 years.

Remember, this is a man's world; Men can easily get women half their age but women seldom can win a man even 10 years younger.

★ ★ ★

Besides, there are far more unattached women in America and since women don't stick together, even your best girl friend will steal your husband if possible.

Send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It will show you how to keep your mate purring contentedly at home.

State Senate Nixes Nominees

Refuses to Approve Five Appointments of Gov. Swainson

LANSING (AP) — Five candidates for positions on state boards found themselves fired before they were hired today.

★ ★ ★

The Senate refused Thursday to advise and consent to the nominations of four men and a woman proposed for various jobs by Gov. Swainson.

It marked the first time in the current legislative session that any nominee of the governor had been turned down. The Senate has approved 138 Swainson nominations.

Democratic senators protested that rejection of the five amounted to "character assassination" and a case of prosecution without adequate defense rebuttal.

★ ★ ★

The Republican-controlled Senate turned thumbs down on Jack Moskowitz and Kennett A. Hull as members of the Michigan Employment Security Appeal Board; Mrs. Dorothy Sadowski for the water resources commission; S. Neil Jacobs for the crippled children commission, and Benjamin Marcus for the State Council of Health.

In rejecting the nominations, the Senate followed the advice of its business committee.

The committee chairman, Sen. John W. Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, said Moskowitz and Hull had speeded up consideration of appeals cases while serving interim appointments on the board.

★ ★ ★

Fitzgerald said speedy action was inadvisable when it affected the quality of the decisions.

U.N. Troops Patrol in Congo Shake-Up

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Malayan and Nigerian troops patroled the streets of Bukavu today following bitter denunciation of the United Nations by Kivu provincial ministers deposed in a government shake-up.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. troops also are standing guard over the provincial assembly building, where Kivu's president, Adrien Omari, was returned to power this week by a vote of provincial legislators.

The legislators earlier voted no confidence in Omari's government but by the time election of a new government occurred, Omari had rounded up sufficient supporters to get back in power.

Teamsters Official Missing for 4 Days

UNION CITY, N.J. (AP)—The secretary-treasurer of a turbulent Teamsters Union local has been missing for four days.

★ ★ ★

Police issued a missing persons alarm Thursday for Anthony (Three Fingers Brown) Castellito, 49, a leader of Local 560 and possessor of a lengthy criminal record.

Castellito, of New Milford, was last seen at 10:30 p.m. June 5 as he drove away from the local's hall, police said.

Castellito and Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano, president of Local 560, were among Teamsters officials summoned before the U.S. Senate rackets committee in July, 1959. They were questioned about accepting payoffs from trucking firms to insure labor peace. Both men pleaded possible self incrimination and invoked the fifth amendment.

Blames State Legislature for School District Cuts

LANSING (AP)—The state's school chief says a survey shows refusal of the legislature to increase state school aid is forcing many districts to make drastic cuts.

"Local communities are going to have to again increase their share of school financing if present programs are to be maintained," said Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction.

Fire Chief at GMC to Attend Annual School

Kenneth Goodell, GMC Truck & Coach Division fire chief, will attend the 33rd annual Michigan Fire College June 20-23 at the University of Michigan.

One of the features will be a demonstration of an aerial attack upon a gasoline fire by a jet helicopter manned by a crew from Selfridge Air Force Base.

An estimated 400 firemen, plant protection specialists, CD and institutional officials are expected to attend the fire college.

Says U.S. Will Fight for Asia

Free People Won't Be Surrendered to Reds, Promises Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today the United States will not surrender the free people of Asia to communism "without putting up a fight."

* * *

He said it was his judgment that "freedom in Asia is worth fighting for" and that the American people, once they understand the tremendous stakes, "are ready to follow the path that means freedom—not just for Asians, but for ourselves as well."

In an address prepared for delivery before a conference of United Press International editors, the vice president declared:

"The front line of freedom lies today in nations like Viet Nam, Thailand and Pakistan. It is our obligation to ourselves and to our descendants to so conduct ourselves that those lines will not be breached or pushed back."

Communism, the vice president declared, "is not riding a tide of inevitability in Asia," and "it can be stopped in its tracks."

"Simple arithmetic and common horse sense dictate that we take the necessary steps to maintain the freedom of nations that have not fallen under the Communist yoke," Johnson said.

* * *

He added: "The Communists are hoping that we will surrender these people without putting up a fight. And I am here today to tell you—as I told the leaders of the countries that I visited—that we are not going to do it.

"We are not going to pull back to Honolulu and San Francisco to await the inevitable Communist assault that would follow such a tremendous victory. These are not idle words."

Soviets Begin Charges Against West Germany

BERLIN (AP)—The Soviet Union has protested formally to the Western Big Three that West Germany is organizing "international provocations and endangering peace" by holding meetings of the West German Parliament in West Berlin.

Only last weekend Premier Khrushchev told President Kennedy in Vienna that West Berlin is a bone that must come out of the Soviet throat. The President replied the West had a right to be in Berlin and intended to stay there.

★ ★ ★

The latest Soviet complaint was in notes handed the American, French and British embassies in Moscow. It was made public by the Soviet Tass news agency.

Moscow radio, in a companion broadcast, charged West Germany, with the support of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, was trying to undermine the results of the Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting.

The Soviet foreign ministry statement protested meetings now being held in West Berlin by committees of the West German Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament, and also dormant plans to hold a symbolic Bundestag session in the Allied-occupied half of the Communist-surrounded city.

Bonn announced Thursday night that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will visit Berlin next month. The official East German news agency ADN described this as "the high point of this year's Bonn provocations in West Berlin" and indicated the Communists would kick up another fuss.

★ ★ ★

Moscow warned, "The Soviet government could not be indifferent to new international provocations prepared by the Federal German Republic (West Germany) in West Berlin which has never been part of the federal republic."

The Allied position is that although the Western sectors of Berlin are still technically occupied territory, they are dependent on West Germany for financial support and administrative measures.

$3.75-Million Suit Filed Against Olsen

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel Olsen was sued Thursday for $3.75-million damages by a former assistant prosecutor.

Thomas H. Gallagher charged conspiracy, libel and slander in the lawsuit filed in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Gallagher was dismissed from his job in the prosecutor's office on May 23 after he wrote a letter to Olsen which accused the prosecutor of "political oafishness."

The law suit asks $1.25 million on each of the three counts and demands a jury trial.

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Ten Republican con-con candidates, starring George Romney, premiered in Pleasant Ridge last night, and even the Democrats took a bow and applauded.

Act 1 of a month-and-a-half drama entitled "Why I Want to be a Con-Con Delegate," was witnessed by nearly 100 Republicans — and at least four Democrats — at the Ridgedale Playhouse on West 10-Mile road.

Villain, the Democrats thought, was 5th District candidate and attorney Larry S. Davidow who urged his election so his legal experience could help "detect those Democratic delegates who come in sheep's clothing for Walter Reuther and are actually under the cloth of a wolf."

Davidow, first general counsel for the old United Auto Workers, now headed by Reuther, wasn't asked for his autograph by Mrs. Harriett Phillips, one of the visiting Democrats and vice-chairman of the state party.

★ ★ ★

But she sharply criticized his performance afterward.

★ ★ ★

American Motors Corp. President Romney, of Bloomfield Hills brought the curtain down on the two-hour show by urging that the common interest of "uniting the state" be put above "separate and distinct" interests of groups and political parties at the fall convention.

★ ★ ★

FIRST OBLIGATION

"It's necessary for the delegates to recognize that as delegates their primary obligation is to identify the state's needs and to seek to express them in a fundamental statement of principles," the unopposed primary candidate for the countywide senatorial seat said.

★ ★ ★

The onetime nonpartisan, Romney took two curtain calls, one to explain his stand on the hot issue of legislative apportionment and the other to refrain from saying whether the terms of governors should be limited.

★ ★ ★

He said the legislature should be reapportioned on a population basis and so that "people living in all areas — not groups — should have sufficient representation so they will have effective participation in state government."

Questions for three District 6 GOP candidates proved futile as only one brave lady identified herself as being from the traditionally Democratic district.

★ ★ ★

Surprisingly identified in the audience by Arthur G. Elliott Jr., county GOP chairman and 5th District con-con candidate, were Mrs. Phillips and Avern Cohn, Royal Oak lawyer bidding for the Democratic nomination from the 5th.

PAIR OVERLOOKED

Overlooked in the group was Stuart Hertzberg, campaign manager for William A. O'Brien, who'll oppose Romney in the Sept. 12 general election, and Sherwood Colburn, a regional director for the state party.

★ ★ ★

Hertzberg didn't stay for Romney's talk.

"You're going to go away wiser than you came," exclaimed Elliott to the Democrats in the back row. They smiled.

Mrs. Phillips and Colburn also applauded Elliott when he concluded his allotted seven-minute speech by saying he doesn't "subscribe to the theory that the Senate should be reapportioned solely on geographical basis."

There was no applause for 5th District candidate William H. Thomas who jarred Republicans by criticizing their leadership. "I don't think the Republican party has a set of goals," he said.

★ ★ ★

He later asked for a short curtain call to explain he didn't mean Elliott.

Six Plane Hijackers Ask Asylum in Antilles

CURACAO, Netherlands Antilles (AP) — Six Venezuelan political prisoners requested asylum here today after hijacking a plane taking them to trial in Caracas.

A seventh prisoner fled when the airplane landed Thursday night. Among the six captured is Lt. Col. Juan Diaz Moncada Vidal, former commander in chief of Venezuela's army and a leader of military plots to overthrow Caracas governments in 1958 and 1960.

Officials said no decision had been made on the request for asylum by the prisoners, now held by Dutch authorities.

The White House has 150 rooms including a solarium, barber shop, physician's and dentist's offices, a swimming pool, and a new bomb shelter.

PNH Seniors Await Big Prom Saturday

By BILL RAMSEY

The final two weeks of the 1960-61 school year are packed with activity at Pontiac Northern High School, much in the form of homework for students who find that studies continue right up to the last minute.

More spectacular, however, are those special events that only come once a year. Of these, perhaps the most eagerly awaited is the senior prom.

Tomorrow night the prom will begin at 9 p.m., as the students, transformed into lovely young ladies in brand-new formals, and young gentlemen in tuxedos, dance until midnight to the music of the Blue Notes.

* * *

Many weeks of hard work have gone into the transformation. Chiefly responsible are Carolyn Mills and Richard Gould, cochairmen of the overall planning.

GET CAPS AND GOWNS

Seniors have already received their bright red caps and gowns. These were distributed Thursday. The first big chance to wear them will come this Sunday at Baccalaureate.

The service will be held in the Northern auditorium at 8 p.m. Delivering the address will be Rev. James Deeg. Rev. Howard Clegg will read the scripture, and the invocation and benediction will be given by Rev. Hilding Bihl.

Organ music will be played by Robert Stasiuk. The Northern choir will also perform, singing the anthem, "Sanctus." Soloist with the choir is Pamela Huntley.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday final exams are scheduled for underclassmen. Three, 105-minute exam periods will be held each day, with 15-minute breaks between them.

CEREMONY NEXT FRIDAY

Commencement exercises for graduating seniors will be on Friday evening, June 16 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Dr. Edgar Harden, president of Northern Michigan College, will be the guest speaker.

His topic will be "Education for What?" Seating facilities allow each student to bring his parents and others. Graduates will turn in their caps and gowns after the ceremonies.

Students of Pontiac Northern High School, and especially the graduating class of 1961, wish to thank the citizens of Pontiac both for our school and for the strong support we have received during our years here.

We ask that you will continue to give the same support and encouragement to Northern students in the years to come.

Pontiac Press Photo

PLAN FOR PROM — These aren't exotic Egyptians, they're Pontiac Northern High School students, but what they're working on are exotic Egyptian decorations for tomorrow night's senior prom. Busy turning the PNH cafeteria into a ballroom are (from left) Sharon McWethy, 18; Janet Haldane, 17; Winfred Miracle, 18; Ronald St. Amant, 18; and Nancy Vogler. The big event will be from 9-12. Sharon is decorations committee chairman and Janet will be in charge of the coat check facilities.

CENTENNIAL DUNCE — Danny Adler of 300 Sheffield St. doesn't look too happy in his role as dunce, but it's all part of the centennial fun at Malkim Elementary School. Both pupils and teachers decided to wear centennial outfits to school this week. At the left, decked out in centennial dresses and bonnets, Mrs. Margaret Brown, sixth grade teacher, point out a few interesting things on the school's centennial bulletin board to Kathy Hoisington of 989 Northfield St. Drawing a contrast to the past wearing 20th century clothing (right) Mrs. Ronald Gilmore, fifth grade teacher, looks over a book with Sally Malkim of 1374 Joslyn Ave.

To Graduate 493 Seniors

Central Seniors Bow Out June 15

By BARB GRIFFIN

Next Thursday afternoon at 4 the high school careers of 493 Pontiac Central High School seniors will come to an end.

The Greater Pontiac Centennial Spectacle Committee has agreed to let the class of 1961 continue the tradition of having an outdoor ceremony at Wisner Stadium.

In case of rain, however, Commencement will be held in the Boys' Gym at 8 p.m. and each senior will be allowed only two guests.

Guest speaker for Commencement will be Dr. Tennyson Guyer, a noted senator, orator, and world traveler. His address to the graduates will be "Mandate for Tomorrow."

Other speakers will be Class President Ed Haroutunian and Principal Francis W. Staley. Presiding at the exercises will be Board of Education president Monroe M. Osmun.

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, will award diplomas to the graduates and the Pontiac Central band will perform the processional and the recessional.

SLATE BACCALAUREATE

Baccalaureate will be held Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Central Methodist Church with Dr. H. H. Savage, pastor of the First Baptist Church, the featured speaker.

Others taking part in the service will be Rev. V. L. Lewis, of the St. James Missionary Baptist Church, and Captain J. William Heaver of the Salvation Army.

The Central a cappella choir will sing two anthems, "Sine Nomine," arr. by Rosenberg, and "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by Cain, under the direction of Jerry Libby.

Class Day will be held Monday at Bob-Lo Island. Seniors will leave at 8 from the parking lot and travel to Detroit by chartered buses. The cost of the trip is $3 which includes the boat ride to the island, admission to the park and two free rides.

Students will pack their own lunches for a picnic to be held on the island. At this time the class prophecy will be read.

TWO DOZEN AWARDS

Pontiac Central is very proud of its 24 seniors who have received scholarships and grants to various colleges and universities next fall.

Parents and Rotary Club Fete Walled Lake Seniors

By SHARON MURDY AND KATHY FELLOWS

Walled Lake High School seniors are being treated to a first class send off by the community.

* * *

Parents of graduating seniors will present "A Night at the Cafe Moulin Rouge" on June 15. The party is closed to anyone outside the senior class, with the exception of fiances of graduates.

Last Monday night, all senior boys with varsity letters and varsity cheerleaders attended the All-Sports Dinner sponsored by the Walled Lake Rotary Club at the Walled Lake Methodist Church.

The Moulin Rouge party will begin at 11:30 p.m. after the commencement ceremonies and last until 4 a.m. Entertainment will be provided by Don Zee of WKMH radio, and refreshments by "Les Madames".

* * *

The snacks, breakfast which will be served at 3 a.m., and dancing will be free. All seniors are urged to participate in this event.

* * *

The money needed to put on this event is provided by contributions from the parents. These contributions have been collected in senior homerooms for the past two weeks.

HELPS AVOID TROUBLE

This is the third annual graduation party to be given at Walled Lake. The main purpose of the party is to keep all the graduates at one place and to take the place of house parties which sometime lead to trouble because of excessive drinking.

* * *

Providing safe, clean fun, it is the last time that graduates will be together at one time. In two previous years the party was well attended by three-fourths of the senior class and parents hope that this year's party will be equally successful.

This is the only high school in the area to offer such an evening consisting of a disc jockey, dancing, games, cards, stunts, and conversation.

Both the gymnasium and the cafeteria are being transformed into a cafe scene by the decoration committee for the event.

GETS GOLD WATCH

* * *

Jim Holt, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Edward Holt of 8944 Cooley Lake Road, White Lake Township, was named by the faculty for the award.

Jim, who has served as president of his class for two years, was presented with a gold watch by the Rotarians.

* * *

Jim was also President of the Walled Lake Junior High Student Council in ninth grade, was named covaledictorian of his freshman class, and was a student council representative in his sophomore year. Cross-country and basketball played big parts in Jim's athletic life at Walled Lake Senior High School.

HAS HIGH AVERAGE

He has maintained a high scholastic average, is a member of the National Honor Sceoity, and ranks twenty-fifth in his class of 364 students.

Other outside activities which occupy his time include a weekend job at the Cooley Lake Service station. He has attended the Walled Lake Consolidated School System since the first grade.

* * *

Jim hopes to attend the University of Michigan where he will study architecture.

Dust Off Old Yearbooks for Next School Report

The Pontiac Board of Education is looking for historical photographs and information concerning Pontiac schools for its annual report.

Persons with old classroom pictures or other interesting items are urged to contact Lewis A. Crew, administrative assistant, at the Board of Education Building, 40 Patterson St.

Return addresses should accompany all items submitted so they may be returned. The annual report, to be published in September, will attempt to compare facilities of the past with those of today.

Honors Go to Dave Garza, Carole Hoyt at St. Fred's

By MARY ELLEN DETMER

St. Frederick High School held commencement exercises for 63 graduates at 8 last night.

* * *

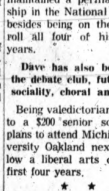
Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Garza of 279 Harrison St. As valedictorian he has carried a 3.0 average with a total of 266 honor points.

This means 3.0 out of 3.0, the highest possible point average to accomplish. Besides keeping up his scholastic record Dave has presided as senior class president, sophomore class treasurer and has proved his leadership in many ways through these offices.



DAVID GARZA

Due to his consistent scholarship and leadership qualities, Dave has maintained a permanent membership in the National Honor Society besides being on the school honor roll all four of his high school years.

Dave has also been active in the debate club, future teachers, sociality, choral and choir.

Being valedictorian entitled Dave to a $200 senior scholarship. He plans to attend Michigan State University Oakland next fall and follow a liberal arts course for the first four years.

* * *

DOUBLE DUTY SECRETARY

Carole is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hoyt of 7388 Sweetbriar Road, and as salutatorian has carried a 2.8 average and a total of 242 honor points.

This year Carole served as both class secretary and student council secretary besides staying on the honor roll. She is also a permanent member of the National Honor Society and has been an active member of the Glamrod staff and the school choral.

As salutatorian Carole received a $100 sophomore scholarship which she will use towards a liberal arts course at University of Detroit.

Bloomfield Hills Students Study for Final Exams

By DICK NETTER

This being the last week of school at Bloomfield Hills High School, it seems only reasonable that the entire train of thought around the halls of BHHS is turned toward the final exams next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Also coming up next week are activities devoted to the graduating seniors.

Among the activities are Baccalaureate, which will take place in the school gym on Sunday, at 4 p.m. and commencement exercises on Thursday, at 8 p.m.

Tonight will mark the last social affair of the year. On this occasion, the girls will have the opportunity to repay the fellows for expenses incurred last week on prom night.

DANCE ON COURTS

The annual Tennis Match dance will take place on the tennis courts. The title of the affair is especially significant because the purpose of the dance is to match dates.

Seniors Hold Final Social of Last Days Before Commencement

By BARB SECAN

Juniors played host to seniors at the annual Junior-Senior event, "This Is Your Life," last Saturday night to begin a busy slate of events during the final days of the school year at Waterford Township High School.

Those attending enjoyed a night dancing and refreshments. On Monday seniors checked in their books and left school to return Wednesday for graduation practice and cap and gown distribution.

Thursday night, wearing graduation robes, they returned to school again for their last social activity, the Senior Cap and Gown party.

ELECT OFFICERS

Junior classmen to attend Waterford elected Gary Gammage, president; Carole Sholte, vice president; Pat Dovre, secretary; and Joyce McKenna, treasurer of next year's senior class.

TRY NEW PLAN

Underclassmen took part in an experiment today when a new examination schedule for today and Monday began on a trial basis.

Rather than dividing each exam into parts and giving them during regular class time, class periods will be extended.

The first-, fourth- and sixth-hour exams are being given today and second-, third- and fifth-hour exams on Monday.

Clarkston Grads Are Looking Up to Upward Girl

By JANET TISCH

Clarkston High School has named Mary Upward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Upward of Clarkston, as Summa Cum Laude student of the Senior class of 1961.

Mary Upward is graduating with a 3.82 honor point average.

Chosen on the basis of point averages maintained throughout four years of high school, Mary and six other graduating seniors compose the rostrum of Clarkston's honor students.

OTHERS WIN HONORS

The six other honor students, graduating with Magna Cum Laude honors, include Mary Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Robbins, and Earl Pearson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pearson Sr., both with 3.6 point averages.

Also included are Judy Boo daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Booth; Joan Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bailey; Nancy Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walker; and Rosalie Lippert.

All four will graduate with 3.5 honor point averages and all are Clarkston residents.

Do Not Take Early Gift to Hostess

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Recently my girl friend's sister invited us both to her house for dinner. This was my first meeting with her sister and brother-in-law. I did not take a gift to the hostess. At a later date it was mentioned to me by my girl friend that I should have brought a gift of some nature along. Never having met these people before, I thought it not only unnecessary, but incorrect, for me to bring anything at this time. Please let me know if my assumption was correct?

A: Your girl friend is mistaken, and you were right not to bring a gift to the hostess.

Q: I would like your advice as to who is considered the immediate family. My husband's nephew will be married soon and after the mass there will be a breakfast for the immediate family which according to the bride's mother includes the parents, brothers and sisters and their husbands and wives, only.

The bride has no grandparents but the bridegroom has three — one coming a great distance. They are not included in the breakfast, just the reception in the afternoon.

Aren't grandparents considered immediate family, and shouldn't they be invited to the breakfast?

A: The grandparents are very definitely considered immediate family and should be invited to the breakfast.

Q: My husband and I have been invited to a large cocktail party a week from Saturday from five to seven o'clock. Will you please tell me what type of dress I should wear? Would a suit be proper, and also do I wear a hat?

A: A suit with a dressy blouse will be entirely proper. A hat is correctly worn with a suit, but in recent years so many women go hatless that you will probably not be criticized if you go without one.

Abby Says: Pray for Strength

No, Don't Call This Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man who treats me like dirt. The worse he treats me, the more I love him. I have broken up with him a dozen times, but I always call and ask him to forgive me even though he was the one who was in the wrong.

ABBY

I can't understand myself, Abby. I could have gone with many men who treated me like a queen, but I always go back to this no-good tormentor who gives me nothing but heartaches. This has been going on for six years, and I am almost 27.

How can I kill a love that is killing me?

COMPLETELY MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Your slavish devotion to a "no-good tormentor" is not "love." It's physical attraction, passion and the compulsion to punish yourself — all tightly bound together.

Unless you want a life of misery, put this man out of your heart and mind. And pray hard for the strength never again to "love" a man you cannot like.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please do me a favor and wake up these young wives who are always running home to Mother for a visit? What are we young husbands supposed to do with our evenings? Sure, we love our wives, but we get lonesome. It's no crime to stop in a bar (after dinner alone) for a night cap.

There are always some friendly gals there who will take the time to talk to us. I have seen some real nice guys get involved when they have had no bad intentions. And many marriages have gone on the rocks because of an affair that started just that way.

My mother-in-law has several daughters and she is always cooking up some excuse to get them home with her. One of these days she is liable to have one (or more) of them home for good.

LONESOME

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy and for Christmas my parents gave me an encyclopedia set, and ever since then they won't answer any question I ask them. Please do not think I am ungrateful because I know I am very lucky to have parents who care enough to give me a gift like this, but my problem gets worse every day.

★ ★ ★

When I ask a simple question, they always send me to the encyclopedia to look up the answer. Do you think this is fair?

NOT UNGRATEFUL

DEAR NOT: Don't complain. You will retain the information much longer if you have had to look it up. Besides, it's good practice learning how to use the encyclopedia.

Alligator Bag, Status Symbol

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fashionable women seek status symbols the same way successful men do.

Now, I'm told, the man who's arrived is the one with membership in one or more of the exclusive, executive dining clubs and holds a job with a stock option.

★ ★ ★

All you have to do to determine this trend is watch the accessories of well-heeled women dining at fashionable restaurants to discuss fund-raising for their favorite charities.

★ ★ ★

These same women now are adding alligator pumps—which industry sources said is a hot sales item, partly because Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy has been wearing them all spring.

Alligator bags come in a variety of sizes and styles, but the one most frequently seen with the Colony Club set has a double-strand gold chain for the handle.

Prices on the handbags range from $59 up to $450, said Billie Gould, fashion director for the Leather Industries of America. Price depends on the size of the handbag and quality of the alligator skin.

"The smaller the markings, the higher your status," said Miss Gould. "Now, girls are saving their money to buy alligator bags the way they used to save up for a two-week vacation."

"Want to see the latest beauty equipment?" asked the girl at the appointment desk of my beauty shop. She hauled out a pair of pink-framed specs for me to try on.

"They make eye makeup easier," she explained.

It turned out that the lens magnify the eye area, so that supposedly you have a better view for applying mascara, eye pencil, shadow and false lashes if you wear 'em.

The lenses are optically ground and are hinged to the frame so that you can adjust the magnified for each eye. The manufacturer said the blinkers now are available nationally.

Pearls which change their sheen to match the wearer's complexion and costume color are the newest item in costume jewelry. The manufacturer said the opalescent pearls have a protective coating, chemically developed, to prolong their luster and prevent cosmetics soil.

The fashion industry has made everything from tweed to sailcloth into culottes. Now, it's trying the divided skirt in fur. One fur company this week introduced a three-piece costume for fall consisting of street-length coat, vest and culottes, all done in natural-sheared Alaska seal.

To get your figure back in shape after having given birth to a baby, do abdominal exercises. Exercise regularly each day, and eventually you will see great improvement.

Exercises Will Slim You

Still Flabby After Baby?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I am the mother of four children. I always have been able to get back in shape after a baby was born until this last time. Why is this and what can I do about it?"

A. Pregnancy stretches the skin and tissues of the bust and skin of the abdomen and the abdominal muscles. Naturally, each pregnancy stretches them a little more and it takes longer to see results from exercise. If you are overweight, of course calorie counting is in order. Stick to your abdominal exercises. Do them regularly each day, and even if it takes longer this time, I feel sure that you will eventually see great improvement.

Q. "I would like to wear powder and make-up but I can't because my skin is so very oily. My nose is very oily on both sides and on the top. When I put on powder it cakes. What can I do and what kind of make-up can I wear?"

A. In the first place, wash the oil areas several times daily with soap and water. Then it would be helpful if you would ask a dermatologist to prescribe a drying lotion to be applied on the nose and any other extremely oily portions of the face, such as the chin. You may find that the cake make-ups or a base which is designed especially for dry skins would be best. Bases for dry or very thin skins are lighter.

Q. "Could you please give me a good exercise that will help reduce that spread one gets from sitting down three-fourths of the day? I work in a theater box office and go to school. Recently I bought two beautiful bathing suits and I would look much nicer in them if I could get rid of that extra fat on the sides and backs of the top part of my thighs."

A. Here are three of the best I know.

1. Lie on the floor on your back with your knees bent and your feet on the floor, arms resting on the floor, extending out from the armpits. Palms face the floor. Bring the feet close to the hips, and raise the heels from the floor, keeping the toes on the floor. Roll from side to side, slapping the thigh at the end of each roll.

2. Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms in the position described in the preceding exercise. Make large circles with your right leg, keeping the knees stiff. After a time make large circles with your left leg.

3. Stand tall. Swing your right leg forward-upward with a stiff knee. Return to place. Swing your left leg forward-upward and return to place. Continue, alternating.

Newlyweds Should Be Fully Realistic

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It's high time married people quit fooling the young. Those about to get married get only two points of view—and neither is the truth.

The cynics warn them that marriage will dull their love — that after a year or two they'll be bored to death with each other and with marriage.

The hopeful romantics tell them that if they do just the right things—if he brings her roses once a week and tells her she's beautiful once a day and she repeats "you're wonderful" often enough — the eager romance of courting days will be theirs forever.

★ ★ ★

The truth, of course, is that people old enough to marry should neither want nor expect a lifetime honeymoon.

There is no reason in the world why a girl should be disappointed in marriage because her husband occasionally gets too engrossed in his own thoughts to really hear her chatter or to jump to his feet to light her cigarette or help her put on her galoshes.

And he shouldn't feel justified in looking elsewhere for romance and adoration and mystery just because his wife treats him like a human being instead of God's greatest gift to woman.

Young people ought to be taught that it is an achievement and not a letdown for a man and a woman to learn to be good enough friends to take each other a little bit for granted.

Enough to let them enjoy the happiness and companionship of marriage without feeling they should put on an act every minute they are together.

It is only the emotionally immature who expect to live in a romantic dream world all their lives.

For Emergency

If no steril gauze compresses are available for emergency treatment of small wounds and cuts, quickly wash a handkerchief or other cloth in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses. If possible, sterilize further by pressing it with a very hot iron.

For Pretty Hands

(NEA)—When your nail polish starts to chip, take it off immediately. Better to do without than to wear polish that looks tacky. The purpose of any manicure is to make your hands look prettier. Usually, a professional manicure will last a week. Beyond that, it shows wear and tear.

Rules Aren't All for Benefit of Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The first time 14-year-old Peg baby-sat for the gay young couple who had just taken a new apartment six blocks away, they promised to get her home by 1 a.m.

They didn't keep their word.

At 1:25 Peg's mother phoned her to be told, "You and daddy go to bed, Mom. They'll be back any minute now. Mr. Foster will drive me home."

But at 2:45 when the Fosters finally arrived, it was Peg's father who drove her home. Getting out of the car he had parked at their curb, he walked over to the inebriated Mr. Foster and said, "Kindly tell my daughter I am waiting for her."

Then as his child scrambled into the seat beside him, he said, "No more Foster babysitting for you."

NO MORE

Said she argumentatively, "I don't see why, daddy. I made nearly $10 tonight. They just got stuck at their party. And I'm fine. I'm not tired at all . . ."

Said her father, "Your mother and I are. This time the rule isn't being made for you. It's being made not to protect your health but to protect the sanity of your mother and me. We'll have no more baby-sitting for the Fosters."

And they didn't.

We parents need to learn to make rules for our open and honest advantage.

IT SHOCKS THEM

As it is, the young are so used to assuming that all our rules seek to benefit them exclusively that discovering we can make them for our own interests produces a salutary state of shock.

We are so accustomed to promoting rules as protectors of their health, developers of their responsibility, punctuality and other virtues we forget that these rules also benefit us.

So anxious are we to appear loving and exclusively interested in Johnny that the child is convinced our rule for promptness at meals exists solely to insure him a hot meal.

So when he breaks the rule, he can justify his disregard by protesting "But I like cold meals!"

Honesty about our own stake in the regulation ends such justification. You cannot argue with a parent who says, "I want promptness at meals because I don't want to spend the evening washing dishes."

Families are cooperative institutions. If we pretend that all the rules are made for children's benefit, we have only ourselves to blame when the children undertake to readapt them to their own ideas of better advantage.

Old Gold Band Ain't What It Used to Be

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It is getting harder to tell the married girls from the single girls.

There was a time when it was easier. All you had to do was glance at a certain finger of her left hand. If she wore a gold band on it, there was no doubt about it. She was married.

★ ★ ★

But customs change. So do rings. Many of the married women in America's 20 million-plus femine work force don't wear their wedding rings on the job.

★ ★ ★

And many single girls wear rings which give them the air of matronhood but actually celebrate only the fact they were able to graduate from high school or are members of a winning team in the factory bowling league.

HOW TO TELL

But there are other signs. It's a pretty safe bet a gal is married if—

★

Whenever she leaves home after dark, she is trailed, two paces behind, by a tired-looking man who looks as if his feet hurt him.

★

In reading a magazine she merely glances at an article titled, "America's 12 richest bachelors," then turns to one about "What's wrong with our schools?"

★ ★ ★

She pushes her own way through a revolving door instead of waiting for some man to come along and do it for her. This is really the acid test. A single woman would rather stand there and starve than use her own muscle to get through a revolving door.

★ ★ ★

★

MECHANICAL WHIZ

She can't name the latest matinee idol, but she can take a vacuum cleaner apart and put it together again in 15 minutes.

You look in her refrigerator and see eight bottles of milk and six cans of beer.

She always carries needle, thread, safety pins and an odd button or two in her handbag.

When shopping in a department store, she rushes past the racks of Paris-styled dresses to see what's new in the household linens department.

At a cocktail shindig, she keeps yanking at the same male elbow while yelping, "Remember what you promised. You said we'd go home after you had two."

★ ★ ★

She yawns when the talk turns to politics, but brightens up immediately if someone mentions a new recipe.

She doesn't know anything about the CIA, the CAB or the USIA, but she knows all about the PTA.

★ ★ ★

She has heard of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, but is sure Dr. Spock's name will ring longer in the annals of mankind.

At 11 a.m. she still has last night's pin curlers in her hair.

★ ★ ★

She tells the same man every morning five days a week, "Let's go somewhere tonight. We haven't been out in ages."

★ ★ ★

When someone asks her what she does, she hangs her head, sighs, and says deprecatingly, "Me? Oh, I'm just a housewife."

But she wouldn't trade her job for any other career in the world.

Many Feel Strain of Work

Women on Job No Joke

NEW YORK — Women who work are the subject of many jokes and cartoons. There's the office wife, who's a whiz at remembering birthdays and dispensing vitamin pills for a busy boss.

There's the beautiful blonde stenographer with the classy chassis and the high-powered female executive with lacquered nails and a Paris hat. These, however, are only the stereotypes.

★ ★

Actual studies show that the vast majority of the 22 million women who work—work hard. Because they are women in a man's world, they are subject to special tensions.

Fifty-eight per cent of them are 35 to 65 years old. Most of these women have gone to work as their children have grown up.

In exchanging the role of a housewife for that of a business career, they also must adjust their own attitudes and emotions.

Often, the result is stress on the job. Among women office workers for example, stress produces many minor ailments, varicose veins, colds. Stress also causes headaches, nervousness and irritability.

★ ★ ★

How to stand up to stress without resorting to tranquilizers and psychiatry is the subject of an article by Dr. Maxwell Maltz in the June issue of a leading magazine.

Especially timely for women who work, the article tells how to achieve a mental coffee break to clear mental machinery, encourage relaxation and efficiency. This theory is an old one; one that has been used successfully by philosophers and presidents, as Dr. Maltz explains.

Many a woman surrounded by jangling phones and clacking typewriters will want to discover for themselves "the quiet room that each of us needs — and has." Dr. Maltz has a key that opens the door.

Kennedy Swims in Heated Pool

Minds Doctor's Order and Will Exercise for Aching Back

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy, just like any other good patient, today minded doctor's orders and gave a heated salt water swimming pool his No. 1 priority.

Kennedy flew here from Washington Thursday afternoon within a few hours after the first announcement he had been suffering from a painful back injury since May 16.

Dr. Travell came along to keep a watchful eye on her famous patient, although the bothersome back might have been all right by now if Kennedy hadn't gone through such a heavy schedule abroad.

Both in Washington before his departure and after his arrival here Kennedy gave little or no indication of suffering discomfort. He smiled as he walked down the ramp from his plane. Onlookers could detect no sign of real distress. And when his car reached the Wrightsman home, Kennedy hopped out in his usual brisk manner.

Kennedy's present back trouble is described medically as a bosacral strain. The White House says it is unrelated to his previous serious back problems.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI) —Ambassador Adlai Stevenson arrived by air today from Argentina on the third stage of a three-week tour of South America.

A busy day of conferences had been lined up for the U.S. goodwill ambassador, including meetings with President Eduardo V. Haedo and Foreign Minister Homero Martinez Montero.

Stevenson's talks, as at other points on his trip, were expected to be devoted largely to economic subjects — notably the inter-American economic conference scheduled in this country next month.

A six-hour marathon conference Thursday with President Arturo Frondizi effectively wound up Stevenson's program in Argentina.

See the homes that wear the Edison "Live Better Electrically" medallion. They're the ones that are truly modern now and will stay truly modern for years to come. It's more fun (and less work) to live in an Electric Home where electricity gives you the power to preserve and cook food, wash the dishes, wash and dry the laundry, heat the water, and light up work and play—all the modern flameless way. Every Electric Home offers . . .

■ Total electric kitchen with built-in electric oven and range for cooking without looking. ■ Electric water heater —silent, flameless and trouble-free—supplies lots of hot water over a long, long life. ■ At least two other important work-saving appliances, such as food waste disposer, dishwasher, refrigerator, freezer, washer, dryer. ■ Light for living, with path-of-light switching plus permanent fixtures picked by experts for eye comfort, good looks and safety. ■ Certified Wiring with plenty of circuits and outlets for dependable operation of today's work-savers, plus extra capacity for tomorrow's. Included is a special circuit for an electric clothes dryer.

An Electric Home is a better investment, too. Should you subsequently move, you can be sure that it will bring a better resale price than a similar home without a built-in electrical future. So, before you decide on a new home . . . take the family to see an Edison-approved ELECTRIC HOME. There's one near you.

Pat Took Two Suitcases, Jackie Goes With Forty

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy and almost-First Lady Pat Nixon provide a fascinating study in contrasts as goodwill envoys abroad.

Although each has had brilliant success an an official ambassadress for Uncle Sam, two more different operators could scarcely be visualized.

Forty-seven-year-old Pat Nixon, who except for a whisper-thin margin of votes would now be the chatelaine of the White House, is a seasoned goodwill traveler with a string of solid achievements in Asia, Africa, Latin America, Britain, Poland and the Soviet Union.

Thirty-one-year-old Jackie started from behind, but after an unspectacular trial run in Canada, has suddenly forged ahead and is the toast of Paris, Vienna and London.

Pat Nixon, for all her tireless energy and devotion to duty, never managed to achieve the spectacular crowd appeal of glamorous, green-eyed Jacqueline.

HAVE A SPARK

Some people seem to possess a chemical spark which "sends" crowds, and others don't. The British royal family is doubtless aware of this truth.

Queen Elizabeth II, like Pat, inspires respect and approval, while Prince Philip attracts the shrieks of adoration and squeals of admiration that are also evoked by Jackie.

To contrast the modus operandi of the American women is enlightening.

Mrs. Kennedy traveled with 40 pieces of luggage, most of which belonged to the exquisitely gowned First Lady. Pat Nixon went around the world with only two suitcases.

Jackie took along her personal maid to care for her enormous wardrobe, and to help her dress. Pat not only had no servants, but even washed out her own and the vice president's drip-dry garments at bedtime.

Pat carefully selected non-crushable and wrinkleproof fabrics for her travel costumes. Jackie's maid solved the wrinkle problem for her. So that both women were immaculately groomed.

Jackie, who had said that as First Lady she would wear only American-made clothes, wore a Parisian Givenchy gown to the glittering dinner-ballet at Versailles Palace. This gesture enchanted the French. She reportedly bought still other frocks while in Paris.

VISITED HOSPITALS

Pat's wardrobe as second lady consisted of good little dresses off the racks, and an occasional Elizabeth Arden evening gown. She owns no French creations, and would not have dreamed of wearing one abroad for fear of enraging American garment workers.

Mrs. Nixon tirelessly visited hospitals, schools and welfare projects to shake hands with "the real people," as she called them. Art galleries held no interest for her, and when the Russians took her through the world renown Hermitage in Leningrad, she walked past fabulous Rembrandts, Leonardo Da Vincis and French impressionists at a fast military clip, with scarcely a glance to left or right at the priceless paintings.

Mrs. Kennedy skipped the "little women" projects wherever possible, but her eyes kindled with pleasure at the sight of French paintings, French antiques, French ballet, and all other aspects of that nation's culture.

Pat Nixon twisted up her hair in bobby-pins at night, before dropping off to sleep. Jacqueline Kennedy devoted hours each day to French, Austrian or English hairdressers, who tried to outdo themselves and each other with elaborate coiffures for the photogenic First Lady.

★ ★ ★

It is doubtful whether even time will tell which method of distaff touring accomplishes more in terms of lasting goodwill.

At this writing, however, it looks as if hard-working, serious Pat Nixon will have to find comfort in the old adage, "Virtue is its own reward." The street crowds obviously voted for glamour, high-styled Jackie.

The actor also made provision for lifetime care for his mother.

Ten thousand dollars to the Motion Picture Relief Fund; $5,000 each to a brother, Arthur, of Indio, Calif., a nephew, Howard Cooper, and a niece, Georgia Burton of Marion, Ohio; and $1,000 to Our Lady of Gethsemane Abbey, Louisville, Ky.

Artillery Group to Celebrate

Missile Unit Stationed in Area to Mark 9th Anniversary

The ninth anniversary of the reactivation of the Army's 28th Artillery Group was being marked today with celebrations at Nike Missile Sites in Commerce Township, Utica, Southfield and Auburn Heights.

* * *

The artillery group was formed in World War II and served in the Asiatic-Pacific Theater.

It was deactivated Dec. 31, 1945, in Hawaii, but the threat of an enemy attack on key population and industrial areas during the Korean conflict led to the reactivation of the 28th Artillery Group June 10, 1952, at Fort Custer.

Today's celebration honors the Artillery Group for its nine years service as a defense unit in the metropolitan area. A field day and picnic were scheduled at Selfridge Field.

* * *

Headquarters of the defense group is at Selfridge Air Force Base. The Commerce Township unit is armed with Nike-Hercules missiles, which the Utica site is scheduled to receive this summer.

The Auburn Heights and Southfield units, both now manned by Michigan Army National Guard personnel, are armed with Nike-Ajax missiles.

Will Speak at Revival Slated in Auburn Heights

AUBURN HEIGHTS—Rev. Alge T. Lewis will speak at week-long tent revival services scheduled to start Monday on the grounds of the new Avondale Baptist Church, 1391 Auburn Road.

* * *

The services will be held nightly at 7 p.m. through June 18. The tent will be located behind the church which is now under construction.

Out of town musicians will include the Ambassadors Quartette of Marlette and Bob Johnson Quartette of the Canton Baptist Temple, Canton, Ohio.

RECEIVES CURVED BAR — Nancy Mills, 14, of Davisburg Troop 198, is presented the highest rank in the intermediate Girl Scout program, the curved bar award, by Mrs. Gerald Schultz, neighborhood chairman of the unit. Nancy, an eighth grader at Brandon Junior High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Osmun Mills of 9260 Oak Hill Road, Davisburg. Nancy also has been awarded the girl scout religious citation. Mrs. Clarence Gordon is the leader of Troop 198.

June 16 Is New Deadline for Miss Oxford Contest

OXFORD — One week is all the time that remains for girls to enter the 1961 Miss Oxford contest, Mrs. Jack Valentine, contest chairman, announced today.

The deadline for filing applications originally was set for Monday but has been extended to Friday, June 16, to allow girls coming home from college to apply.

To be eligible to compete for the coveted crown, candidates must be single, be between 17½ and 20 years of age and live in the Oxford Area Community School District.

* * *

Tentative plans are to hold the contest in the Oxford Theater June 18 with the girls to be judged on beauty, poise, personality and speaking ability.

* * *

In addition they will be asked to display some talent. This is a prerequisite for the Peach Queen contest in Romeo Aug. 5 for which the winner of the local competition will be eligible.

Aspirants for the Miss Oxford title will appear on stage three times. First they will parade before the footlights in street dress, then present their specialty acts in appropriate attire and finally come out in formal gowns for personal interviews.

This is essentially the format of other area contests which are held as preliminaries to the Peach Queen competition and ultimately the Miss Michigan contest in Muskegon.

Last year's Peach Queen Jo Ellen (Jody) Schafer, who first was Miss Rochester, was the first entrant in the Miss Michigan contest this year.

* * *

Girls interested in competing for the local crown must contact Mrs. Valentine before the June 16 deadline.

SAVE $10,000 FOR WATERFORD SCHOOL LIBRARIES
ON JUNE 12

"Shall the Waterford Township School District, Oakland County, Michigan, establish a school library?"

The reason for voting on this issue at the present time is as follows: Waterford Township School District has never officially established a school library or libraries. In order that our school district may continue to receive State reimbursement (this amounts to about $10,000 a year) it is necessary that there be official action taken by the electorate. Even though the ballot may give the impression that only one library is involved, it actually concerns all of the many libraries in the Waterford Township School District. If this issue carries we can expect to continue to receive the State funds. If it does not carry it means that our school district will lose approximately $10,000 a year of monies from the State of Michigan.

This is not a vote on the establishment of a Township library, or a community library. This will not increase your taxes. It involves only Waterford Township Schools and only means that if the issue carries we will continue to receive State funds for our school libraries.

The Waterford Education Association urges a "yes" vote of this proposal to insure that boys and girls in Waterford may continue to have available the many new books which are purchased each year with this money from the State of Michigan.

Kennedy Wins Victory in Fight on Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy wrapped up a smashing victory on the $6.14 billion housing bill in the Senate early today, but only after a bitter fight through a marathon 13½ hour session.

* * *

But the Senate only quit at 1:35 a.m. after the bill had been advanced to a stage at which no further changes are possible.

Thus on Monday there will be only talk and a seemingly assured vote to pass the bill and send it on to the House.

But this turned out to be the case only after administration lieutenants battled for hours to reverse a severe defeat suffered Thursday afternoon at the hands of a Democrat.

* * *

Administration forces had been knocking down attempts by Republicans to chop the bill but they were caught by surprise at a maneuver by a Democrat, Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Gore won, 49 to 44, adoption of an amendment cutting from the bill the entire moderate income family program advanced by the administration. This is one of the new features of the bill on which Kennedy has set great store.

* * *

In its original form, it sought to aid families in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket by offering no-down-payment, 40-year mortgages to buy homes, and similar-term, low-interest rate loans to non-profit groups to build apartments.

Gore attacked 40-year mortgages as unsound and impractical. Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., floor manager for the bill, defended them as the key provision in the measure designed to aid "poor folks" through low monthly payments.

* * *

After much oratory and lots of jockeying in the cloakrooms, Sparkman finally devised a substitute which got the provision back into the bill by a 47 to 42 vote early today.

The only significant concession he made was to require a down payment on the housing. This could amount to $555 on a $15,000 home, the maximum price allowed.

Air Crash at Niles Kills Man and Woman

NILES (AP)—A man and a young woman were killed when a small private airplane crashed and broke into pieces in a corn field three miles east of here Thursday night.

The victims were Veryl Alan Young, 39, of Niles, the pilot, and Yvonne Joan Williams, 23, of Route 2, Berrien Springs.

State police said the plane, a single-engine, two-seat Piper Tri-Pacer, took off from the Niles airport and crashed while flying in a dense fog.

The craft hit a barbed wire fence when it came down and was torn to pieces.

Cuba Announces 'Eat Less Meat' New Campaign

TORONTO (AP) —Fidel Castro's Cuba has announced an "eat less meat" campaign. Apparently the result of an acute shortage caused by indiscriminate killing of the country's nationalized cattle herds.

* * *

Canadian Press correspondent Jack Best reported from Havana that the government is promoting what it calls a "well-balanced diet"—black beans, white rice, roast bananas, lettuce and carrots, bread or crackers and custard.

Cuba's armed forces minister, Raul Castro, who is also vice chairman of the central planning council, recently suggested in a broadcast that the people alternate beef days, chicken days and fish days.

AWARD WINNERS — These three gladioli are 1961 All-America selections. Left is Rusty, a first "smoky" with chocolate red florets. Lawns Need Feeding Now

This is the time of year the wise homeowner will give his grass a feeding of a good lawn food.

Such a feeding at this season is excellent insurance against weeds and against the effects of the hot sun in the months ahead.

If you will give your lawn a pickup application right now, following feeding instructions printed on the bag, you will restore the nutrient supply which has been exhausted.

Lawn owners will be surprised by the dramatic improvement in the appearance of their grass which will occur almost immediately, says E. L. Thomas of Vigoro research laboratories.

"Besides bringing back its sparkle, a feeding right now offers another important advantage. It will thicken the top growth, encourage wide lateral growth of root systems, and help crowd out pestiferous weeds," he says.

Another important bit of advice which the amateur lawn tender should take to heart was given by Thomas.

"Dont scalp your lawn."

It is generally best to reset the height of your mower blade as soon as the first heavy growth has passed.

"Set your mower at 2 inches or 2½ inches and keep the adjustment there most of the year. This cut will in all probability be higher than the adjustment you have been using. Only during the early period of flush spring growth is a cut of 1 inch to 1½ inches recommended."

Any one of the modern jet fighters in use today in the military service has enough power to pull a freight train of 200 cars length.

Have An Instant Garden With Clay-Potted Plants

THIS is bedding plant buying season for a growing number of homemakers who've learned with satisfaction that you can have almost "instant" flower or vegetable gardens with plants that have been grown in porous clay pots.

Because they've been well rooted and brought to sturdy growth by professional growers, bedding plants in individual clay pots hasten the mid-summer peak of productivity for both flowers and vegetables by from three to four weeks.

* * *

Plants grown and sold by garden centers in their own clay pots arrive ready for easy planting. They can be readily removed from the pots without injury to their roots and they do not wilt when placed, root ball and all, in the planting area.

Wilt-back in bedding plants is usually caused by the destruction of feeder roots, which often tend to cut or break apart in plants that are grown and bought a dozen or more at a time in a single container. It usually takes plants in pack containers three or four weeks to recover their strength after planting in your garden — thus the beauty of a flower garden and the productivity of a vegetable garden may be delayed by as much as a month, or until almost midsummer.

* * *

While finished bedding plants in clay pots cost a little more, they will give you an immediate pleasure and vegetables from three to four weeks earlier. A productive vegetable garden earlier in the summer will soon return you the additional cost of the plants. Besides, your own garden produce is vine ripened and luscious compared to what the stores offer.

Ancient Tree Grows Fast, Is Hardy

The Metasequoia tree is believed to be some 50 million years old.

It was discovered still living in China in 1945. The Arnold Arboretum received some viable seeds of this interesting variety and has since distributed them to various corners of the world.

An extremely hardy ornamental that can be propagated from cuttings, the Metasequoia is a tremendous grower. One tree in Santa Barbara, California, for example, has grown five feet in a single year.

Carry Hose High

To water tender perennials, you often have to spend time snaking the hose in and out to keep from damaging plants. It's often easier to carry the hose over the plants, through the D-handle of a spade or fork that's been thrust into the ground. This prevents a lot of broken stems and buds.

Plant Flowers for Fragrance

Let's go on a toot and get a little "nose-gay" in the garden this year! The intoxicating delights you'll enjoy from planting a fragrance garden from seed will prove to be a most rewarding experience.

* * *

The scent of flowers has played an important part in the history of man. Thousands of years ago, ancient Aztec physicians learned that fatigue was a bodily ailment and melancholia was also susceptible to treatment. To alleviate both, they used the fragrance of flowers. It's believed that the effects were psychic.

Through the ages, from the scents used in worship in ancient temples and shrines, the medical practices of physicians, the lure of the perfumes of famous women of history, up to the present time, the appreciation of the value of fragrances in our lives has grown. Today there is a new profession based on this realization, known as odor engineering.

While you man not want to be a chemist and spend your time in a laboratory investigating odors, chances are you'll like to grow your own fragrances.

If you position your fragrance garden close to the house foundation, sweet scents will be wafted through your home all summer.

Tomatoes Are A Must in Everyone's Garden

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Every garden, no matter how small, should have at least a few tomato plants. A half dozen plants will provide enough vine-ripe, luscious tomatoes for an average family.

There are many good varieties that will grow in virtually any part of the country. Our favorite is Rutgers, but there are others just as good. These include Big Boy, Homestead, Marglobe and many others. Jubilee is a good yellow variety if you want a change of color.

Buy stocky, fresh, disease-free plants, preferably in individual bands, peat or clay pots or other containers. The cost will be greater but the survival rate more than offsets the added expense.

About 25 pounds of 5-10-10 fertilizer should be mixed in the soil before planting. Side-dress with about half that amount of fertilizer when the first cluster of fruit is set.

Tomato growers will debate the merits of staking and pruning or natural growth. Staking will provide slightly earlier, larger fruit. It also facilitates spraying and dusting, increases yield, and reduces rot and sunburn. Natural growth is less laborious and less costly.

Generally, tomatoes are trained to one or two main stems, which permits setting plants as close as two feet apart. Use sturdy stakes six feet tall.

Place the stakes on the opposite side from the cluster, preferably after the first bud cluster is formed. All clusters will be on the same side of the stem.

In pruning for one stem, remove all suckers, allowing only the terminal end or bud to grow. For two stems, leave the first sucker below the first bloom cluster to form the second stem. Remove all suckers on both stems, leaving the two terminal buds to grow. Do not remove leaves from the main stems. Suckers should be pinched or cut when small.

SOFT TIE

For tying plants to stakes, use soft twine or cloth strips. The ties should be loose around the stem so as not to interfere with growth. The best spot for the first tie is just below the first fruit cluster. Subsequent ties should be below additional clusters.

The soil should be kept fairly moist throughout the season. A mulch of straw, sawdust, marsh hay or peat moss will help retain moisture.

If the weather is too hot or too cold the fruit may not set. Too much nitrogen also may cause blossoms to drop. So may sucking insects.

For pest control, use a combination dust or spray that contains DDT or TDE and a fungicide such as maneb, zineb or copper. Apply weekly after the first fruit set and spray once a week thereafter.

One expert says that if you use tobacco, wash your hands with soap and water before transplanting and pruning tomatoes to reduce danger of spreading tobacco mosaic, a virus disease. The disease may dwarf your plants.

"AS YE MOW —" — Newest improvement in lawn-mowers is virtually noiseless, powered by batteries you can recharge via ordinary house current. Pushbutton starting and constant blade speed are other features of the Lectro Lawnshear, which operates so quietly that even irascible neighbors can sleep in peace.

Husband and Wife Team Up in Garden

There are more than twice as many husband-and-wife "teams" who share equally in planting and beautifying the home property with trees and shrubs, than there are families in which the gardening is predominantly the wife's or the husband's interest.

Apparently planting and beautifying the property is a family affair. The tendency for husbands and wives to share interest and responsibility and companionship in gardening was strongly evident in the studies, it is stated.

Gardening is considered healthy exercise by many, that does more for both husband and wife, or either one, than bodoes for the plants.

In 15 per cent of the cases where homes had been landscaped according to a plan, husband and wife "teams" shared the pleasure of drawing up their own planting plans, while about 66 per cent had the plantings drawn up by nurserymen.

Home gardeners are expected to buy more than 40 million rose bushes this year.

Dwarf Trees Are Boon to Family

Fruit trees having three varieties, early mid-season and late ripening, on one tree trunk are "made to order" for the home owner having limited space, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. They will be found in nursery catalogues and many local nurseries all ready to plant.

★ ★ ★

The development of dwarf fruit trees in general is due to the needs of many home owners for trees from which they can pick the ripened fruit while standing on the ground. By planting the dwarf trees closer together on eight to ten-foot centers, a whole orchard can be contained in a very limited area and they will bear profusely also where space is limited.

Three dwarf varieties of one fruit, early, middle and late season bearing, can be planted about a yard apart on the corners of a triangle.

"Standard" fruit trees are those which will grow larger and produce more fruit per tree, but require more space. These will include all types of fruit and nut trees.

With multiple varieties on one tree, as well as dwarf fruit trees and standard trees, the home owner always can find fruit trees which are "made to order" for his property whether it is small or large.

All kinds of delicious fruit and nut trees are available for home-growing according to the climatic conditions of the area. Nurserymen will recommend trees to "fit the space" and specific varieties found to be most popular, or best-growing for the location desired.

Plant Fertilizer in Soil Way Out Around Tree

Proper placement of plant food determines its effectiveness. The fertilizer must be placed so that it is readily available to the tree's feeder roots. This feeder root system extends outward around the tree just beyond the branch overhang. Therefore, fertilizer should be applied in holes bored about 18 inches deep and 24 inches apart around the treet in the area of this root concentration. On light, sandy soils, the holes may be more shallow.

After mixing the fertilizer with about three times its volume of good topsoil, pour the mixture to within four inches of the top of the holes. Finish filling the holes with topsoil and water thoroughly.

Brass Jardinieres Back

Smart containers for your favorite sizes of clay flower pots are provided by the designers of new flared solid brass jardinieres. These interesting satin finish brass jardinieres come in six sizes to fit clay pots from 3" to 10". Their beauty and durability make them suitable for both indoor and outdoor use.

RICHLY COLORED—Perennial flowers are much admired for their early blooming and because they frequently have blooms much different from the annuals. This fine, long spurred acquilegia is the All-America winner, McKana's Giants.

Blooms for Next Year Should Be Started Now

It's hard enough for some of us to look as much as two or three months in the future, and to get seed of annual flowers in the ground. But the real test of forehandedness in a gardener is the preparation for blooms a whole year away.

Do you like the nodding blooms of the spectacular new aquilegias like McKana's Giants? Are you impressed by the towering spikes of delphinium or of foxglove? Do you respond to the spicy fragrance of carnations? Are you determined to have some extra early blooms in your flower border?

Then you must acquire some of this forehandedness for yourself, for these are all biennial or perennial flowers that have to be started one year to bloom the next.

The time to be starting this program into action is now. While it is true that seed of these flowers can be planted as late as midsummer, there is no good reason for putting it off, and there are good reasons for late spring sowing.

Plants that have all summer to develop are larger at the end of the season than those started late. This gives them a better chance to winter over successfully, generally insures more flowers on the plants next year, and may even give you a few sample blooms this fall.

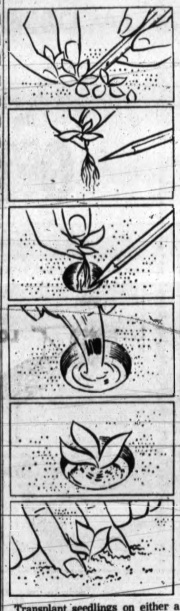
The best way to go about it is to set aside a little nursery block specifically for the purpose of starting plants. Sow the seed in rows so you can identify them from the weeds that are sure to confuse the issue, thin the seedlings to stand two inches apart in the row, and thin again later if the plants become crowded.

You may move the started plants into the flower border as replacements for annuals, that have finished blooming or for perennial flowers that have deteriorated with age. In any case, get them located about a month before you expect cold weather so they can become well established in their final position.

If you have a neighbor who is equally forward looking, you might do a little trading. You could plant two or three kinds of perennials and your neighbor two or three other kinds, and then exchange plants when they are ready to be moved. In a project of this nature there are nearly always many surplus plants, and frequently you have need for only half a dozen of one kind in your border.

Here's a check list of good perennials and biennials you can start now: Alyssum saxatile, aquilegia, Canterbury Bells, foxglove, hollyhock, perennial candytuft, carnation, Shasta Daisy, coreopsis, dahlia (yes, it does well from seed), gum, lathyrus latifolius, Russell Lupine, penstemon, oriental poppy, pyrethrum or painted daisy, scabiosa caucasica, Sweet William, and tritoma or red hot poker.

How to Transplant Those Small Seedlings



Transplant seedlings on either a cloudy day or in the early evening, if possible. Otherwise if the young plants must be put into the sunshine, provide them with shade for several days until they become acclimated.

The seedlings should not be transplanted until they have their first true leaves. Do not transplant until after the last frost of the spring.

1. Slip a small trowel, knife blade or even a pencil under each seedling and lift it carefully from the seed bed.

2. Keep the roots unbroken and intact by letting as much soil as possible cling to them.

3. Make the hole in which the seedling is to be planted wide and deep enough to receive the roots without crowding.

4. Fill the hole with water just before planting the seedling.

5. Set the seedling in the hole before the water has entirely soaked away.

6. Fill the soil in close around the roots and press top soil down firmly at the base of the plant.

Hungry Plants May Flash Colored Danger Signals

With people, it's emotions, but in plants, the trouble is physiological — they could be dying from hunger.

★ ★ ★

Flowers, shrubs, ornamentals, and shade trees all flash these danger signals. If adequate pest control is practiced and leaves turn yellow or light green, it may signal a lack of nitrogen in the soil. Purple tinged leaves often mean phosphorus is lacking.

Yellowing or browning of leaf edges probably indicates a lack of potash. These are specific hunger signs for various nutrients. When this color change is seen, the plant is physically sick.

Plants manufacture food from minerals and water taken up by roots and from carbon dioxide taken in through the leaves. This remarkable process, which takes place only in light, is called photosynthesis. In this process, sunlight, acting on chlorophyll (the green coloring in leaves), changes the water-carried nutrients absorbed by the roots and the carbon dioxide drawn in by the leaves into simple sugars and starches which feed plant growth cells.

Plant feeding is like feeding people. Both need easily accessible sources of nutrition in their youth and a continuous balanced diet during their entire life.

More than 15 food elements are considered essential to plant growth. Of these 15, twelve come from the soil, and three are obtained from air and water. The primary plant food elements are nitrogen, phosphorus, and potash.

Nitrogen gives the dark green coloring to plants; promotes rapid growth and fullness. Phosphorus stimulates early root formation and growth. It hastens blooming and maturity and promotes hardiness. Potash (potassium) provides plant vigor and disease resistance, as well as stepped-up food production. Other secondary elements stimulate root growth and leaf development.

New high-strength, soluble plant foods contain all the nutrients needed by a healthy plant in good soil and they are in a form that can be absorbed readily through the leaves or through the roots. Mixed with regular pest control sprays or applied separately as a foliage spray, these nutrients go directly on the leaves where they are taken up rapidly.

Soluble plant food can be applied to flower and shrub foliage with ordinary pest control sprayers such as those used on your garden hose.

Spray feeding should be scheduled at two-week intervals during the growing season. When leaf feeding, use a single strength solution mixed according to directions. Early morning or evening spraying is recommended. For root feeding, a double strength solution may be necessary. Soak the soil thoroughly.

Home Renters Need Joy of Gardening

There's no need to miss out on the fun of gardening, just because you happen to live in a rented house or apartment. Until you're permanently settled, aim for mobility by putting emphasis on plants in containers.

Garden the easiest way you can on somebody else's property. Buy pansies in bloom, and transfer to ornamental containers. Geraniums are always dependable, too.

When you're on the move from home to home, as are so many young American couples, choose durable house plants such as dieffenbachia, sansevieria, and cut-leaf philodendron. They adapt to various light conditions.

Plants scattered here and there about the place are often neglected, says the magazine. For easier care, group them on the floor, on a pebble-lined tray to protect the carpet.

Grow in Shade

In a shady area, caladiums are a good choice. One or two plants plunged in 6-inch clay pots are sufficient for one plot and will continue to produce colorful foliage all summer. In fall they can be replaced by mums in clay pots and in winter by evergreen branches clipped to a height of 6 or 8 inches and inserted in the ground to form a green cover.

First Day Shade

If the day is sunny and you have to transplant early in the day, shade the plants until nightfall. If they are not tall, an empty berry box popped over each will furnish shade. A tent of newspaper will do the same. A shingle stuck into the soil on the side of the plant from which sunlight is coming also will shade it.

Worm Trees for Leaf Miner

At least; that's a catch phrase for home owners who want to protect the graceful birches on their landscapes. The early worm in point is the malevolent birch leaf miner, which begins to swarm, out of view, around mid-May.

The reason he can't be seen is in his name, miner. This pest actually mines between the upper and lower leaf surfaces of certain birches. In one-two-three order of preference, they are gray, paper and European white birches.

William A. Jeffers, entomologist at the Davey Tree Expert Company's research laboratories, says the greenery invaders can be controlled with lindane poison sprays. There's a rule-of-leaf time to tell when to start the chemical war. Hold a leaf up to the light. If it's infested, you'll see a small yellowish-green blotch and possibly the small worm inside.

Two sprays are recommended for the first generation, spaced about ten days apart. In early July, another spray is recommended for the second generation. For effective control, timing is most essential. First generations are the most destructive. Because of this, the early Spring sprays are important.

★ ★ ★

The miner over-Winters in the soil as larva and a small fly emerges in May. The insect flies to young, succulent birch leaves and lays eggs in leaf slits. The larvae cause the damage, eating their way to maturity in 10 to 15 days. Then they emerge and fall to the ground — and a new cycle starts in July.

Aluminum Trellis Carries Water Down

An aluminum trellis stake that doubles as a root feeder and deep watering device is now being marketed. The stake, useful for installing any kind of metal or wood trellis, is slightly larger than the nozzle of a garden hose, and is perforated liberally in the length which is driven below the ground level.

Water or plant food poured into it quickly reaches roots, eliminating the waste that goes with surface feeding and watering. The stake is made of aluminum tubing. The stake is packaged ten to a carton and is available through garden supply centers.

Peat Pots Useful

Peat pots, which are widely used by commercial growers, are made of processed organic peat. As the plant roots grow, they penetrate the sides of the pot. When it's time to transplant, the pot and plant can be put in the ground together. The plant continues to grow without interruption because there is no transplant shock, root damage or bare wilting.

Rock Garden Can Solve Difficult Space Problems

Rock gardening is an excellent way to make problem areas beautiful. Bare walls of stone, brick or logs also can be brightened with rock garden plantings.

If your property has steep banks, rock gardens offer double dividends. Flowers and leafy plants blend well with rocks on slopes. And you avoid wrestling with your lawn mower there.

Natural outcrops, a few boulders or just an open slope welcome rock garden plantings. Start with a sketch of the selected area. Planning eliminates extra rock moving efforts.

Informal groups in naturalistic settings are usually most pleasing. Formal lines, such as along a stone or brick retaining wall or bordering terraces also provide good rock garden opportunities.

Choose plants that prosper in your area. A local garden center can advise on this matter. Sun-loving annuals include candytuft, coleus, dwarf marigolds and zinnias, petunia and portulaca. In partial shade, try ageratum, lobelia and sweet alyssum.

Good perennials for sun include dwarf aster, dianthus, rock rose and moss pink. In partial shade, coral bells, pansies, primrose and various ivies do well. From bulbs, grow spring-flowering scilla, snowdrop, winter aconite and narcissus or late-blooming lily-of-the-valley and fall crocus.

Select rocks with the same care you use in choosing plants. Use larger rocks. Pick those that have attractive weathered lines. Bury them about halfway, so they serve their purpose of holding soil, reflecting warm sunlight on nearby plants and aiding drainage. Rocks also help keep the earth cool in hot weather.

Soil requirements vary with the plants. In preparing good soil for most situations, mix well-rotted manure, compost and complete fertilizer at about 5 pounds per 100 square feet, with soil. For acid loving plants like heather and azaleas, add oak leaf mold or peat moss.

You may add plants whenever you obtain them, except for those that require special season planting, like fall bulbs. Transplant carefully, keeping sufficient soil around roots. You'll be surprised how quickly new additions build a balanced garden.

In "dry" stone walls, spaces between rocks are ideal for many colorful plants. Use a crowbar to pry rocks apart. Wedge in wet peat or sphagnum moss. Insert plant roots carefully, then tamp in soil. With rock walls you can grow dozens of different plants in an appealing vertical garden.

Thunderstorms May Be Good for Gardens

Lightning is good for your garden. In his book, "Ways of the Weather," W. J. Humphreys explains that lightning disrupts many of the oxygen, nitrogen and water vapor molecules along its course. Many of these elements combine as a new substance. These new combinations form ammonia and nitrous and nitric acids in the presence of water vapor. He adds:

"This ammonia promotes plant growth and both nitrogen acids, on reaching the ground, produce compounds with substances in the soil which make excellent plant food, from which one correctly infers thunderstorms above enrich the earth beneath."

Feeding Roses

Established roses can be fed as soon as buds begin to grow by spreading one-half cup of rose food in a broad band around each plant. The fertilizer should be scratched into the soil, then watered well to carry the nutrients down to the plant's root area. Additional feedings in the same manner should be continued every month during the plant's growing season.

Kentucky Bluegrass First

The main grasses in lawns from eastern Kansas and Nebraska to the Atlantic, and from Tennessee northeastward, are Kentucky bluegrass and one or more of the red fescues. In sunny areas most lawns are predominately Kentucky bluegrass or a new variety called Merion bluegrass.

Some Trees Are Victim of Fungus

You don't have to see leaf spots in front of your eyes to do something about it—especially if you're the proud ower of choice hawthorns, horse chestnuts and elms.

These trees are susceptible to the fungus infection that mars their beauty and their healty by spotting foliage and causing leaf fall. If trees were infected last year or the year before, be on the alert by byd-breaking time. That's the advice of Henry W. Gilbertson, pathologist of the Davey Tree Expert Co., who warns infection occurs as leaves open.

You can't see this taking place since symptoms rarely are discernible in less than four to six weeks. So when buds break, break out the spray equipment. Ferbam fungicide is important for control. Coverage should be as complete as possible and repeated twice at ten day intervals. In a spring marked by heavy rainfall, repeat the fungicide spraying a third time.

Infections of this kind over a period of years are considered serious. Defoliation weakens trees and makes them prime targets for other ills. Feeding with a good tree food high in nitrogen content helps restore growing vigor.

Moisture is necessary for germination of the microscopic fungus seeds wafted by winds on to the young, tender leaves. Sprays act as chemical barriers preventing germination of the spores. Fungi causing leafspot over-Winter in fallen leaves. Burning of fallen leaves from tainted trees in the Autumn sometimes helps minimize the malady's spread.

The National Fire Protection Association says the worst fire hazards in homes are defective or ralsused stoves and heaters. They cause 14 per cent of all home fires and 20 per cent of home fire deaths.

Ailing Trees Respond to Proper Fertilizing

The overall growth of trees and the color of their foliage determine how much fertilizer they need, agronomists say. Slow-growing trees with light green or yellow leaves should receive more fertilizer than trees showing normal growth.

Adequate fertilization is determined by the tree's trunk size, measured four feet above ground level. Three to four pounds of fertilizer for turf and trees per inch of trunk diameter will supply the amount of plant food the tree needs for constant growth.

No Crabgrass Shortage

A single crabgrass plant may drop up to 100,000 seeds annually. The seeds remain dormant all winter and early spring and sprout through the summer when soil temperature is above 65 degrees, sunlight is plentiful and surface moisture is present.

More than 17 species of crabgrass are found in the United States. All crabgrass loves light and hates shade. Experts recommend that you keep the cutting height of your mower at least about 1½", preferably 2½", to shade the soil and reduce crabgrass germination.

Air Out Your Lawn

Quite like a pogo stick is this lawn aerator. Each time you press it into the soil it makes three nail-size holes to permit air and moisture to get to the root of some of your grass troubles. It also is touted as a means of preventing fertilizer run-off, and aiding drainage.

Soapsuds Trees Bear Berries That Lather

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soapsuds trees grow in Barbados, West Indies. They reach heights of 30 feet and bear clusters of berries. The berries produce a thick lather when shaken in water.

Even with their handy soapsuds trees, the Barbadians prefer the convenience of man-made detergents and soaps. The Cleanliness Bureau said this is because the soapsuds tree is more novel than efficient.

DUKE WEDS COMMONER — The Duke of Kent and his bride, the former Katherine Worsley, a commoner, bow heads during wedding ceremony in Anglican York Minster Cathedral at York, England. The archbishop of York, Dr. William Ramsey, performed the ceremony. Flanking the couple are the bride's father, Sir William Michael, best man. Centennial-Type Rodeo to Take Place at Ranch

An old-fashioned Centennial-type rodeo show complete with audience participation will get under way at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Sundance Rodeo Ranch grounds next to the Highland Recreation Area on M59.

Scuffy, the trick mule, will kick up his heels and "lay down dead," among other feats.

The Sundance Riders, a group of girl precision quadrille riders, will present several intricate acts and an exciting wild-horse race with 14 contestants entered will spark up the program.

Real cowboys will attempt to rid 18 wild broncs and later, huge Brahma bulls will try to shake loose their cowboy antagonists.

NEW VIEWING AREA

A new drive-in type viewing area has been constructed directly across the arena from a new enclosed stadium, and a bright field-lighting system has been installed.

Norman (Duke) Dennison, who was raised in the West and traveled as manager for the Roy Rogers show for years, is the owner, promoter and organizer of the local rodeo show. He also seems to be a part of his well-trained horse, Cabana, who is "the next thing to human," he said.

The entire show will be patterned after the roughshod pageantry of the century-ago West. Dennison explained that in the old days spectators were invited to participate in all western rodeos.

And that's just what is scheduled for this, and every 8 p.m. Saturday show during the summer months.

* * *

All kids in the audience will be challenged to catch a greased pig, and there will be other types of racing with prizes for the winners.

A new group known as the Rodeo Riders Association has invited young would-be cowboys to join as members at the ranch, Dennison said.

He added that officials of any charitible or civic organization in Oakland County have been urged to contact him if they desire free tickets for their groups.

Waterford Firemen Pick Assn. Officers

Waterford Township's Professional Fire Fighters Association, Local 1335, has re-elected Capt. Clayton Soncrainte president; Lewis Goff will be vice president; Donald Sommerville, secretary; and Ernest Latimer, treasurer.

Trustees elected were Ray Bush, Earl Wilcox and Ray Allen. Douglas Schlutow will be guard and Harry Wormnest, guide.

Khrushchev Tells Nasser to Go Communistic

CAIRO (AP) — The newspaper Al Ahram reported today that Soviet Premier Khrushchev bitterly attacked President Nasser's suppression of communism in the United Arab Republic and predicted Nasser's downfall unless he embraces communism.

* * *

The report said Khrushchev on May 3 told a delegation from the U.A.R. National Assembly visiting Moscow: "If our people are living a better life than yours under the banner of communism, how can you declare you are against communism?

"Your people will ask you to step aside and demand they handle their own affairs."

The Soviet press recently has been demanding that the Communist party be allowed to operate in the U.A.R. It has been bitterly attacking Nasser's government for jailing local communists.

Khrushchev was quoted as saying: "You Arabs understand communism is based on socialism and say you desire socialism, but you don't know much about this socialism which leads to communism."

Augusto Arango of Panama, the head of the OAS mission, told a news conference President Joaquin Balaguer and Foreign Minister Porfirio Herrera Baez had promised their government's complete cooperation at a meeting Thursday.

TO VISIT PRISONERS

The mission came to Ciudad Trujillo Wednesday to determine if the Dominican government is making good on its promises since Trujillo's assassination to end repression and lay the basis for a democratic system.

Arango said his group's first step would be to visit all political prisoners and their relatives. He said the government had authorized this and that the investigators expected to talk with the prisoners privately, not in the presence of other Dominicans.

Asked his initial impression of local conditions, Arango replied: "What we have seen so far indicates that the country is calm, tranquil and orderly, and I think that is the impression which some of you gentlemen also have."

Reds Knocked Dead by Jackie's Charm

EPIDAURUS, Greece (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy today had all of Greece in the palm of her hand. She even succeeded in capturing the hearts of Greece's Communists.

For the first time since America's First Lady arrived in Greece Wednesday for a nine-day "get away from it all" vacation, the Communists took notice of her.

★ ★ ★

On the way to the island of Epidaurus Thursday for a weekend cruise among the fabled Cyclades Islands of Greece, Jacqueline wore sunbathing shorts.

It was reported from the yacht Northwind that Jackie spoke by telephone to her daughter, Caroline, in Washington and during the cruise aboard the yacht the President's wife feasted on fried lamb's liver and stuffed vine leaves, which she described as "wonderful."

Mrs. Kennedy had her first real encounter with the common people of Greece at Epidaurus. She was greeted by 80 school children who welcomed her at the dock with flowers.

★ ★ ★

She stopped to chat with the youngsters before taking a tour around the island.

She was to continue on her cruise of the mystic Greek isles until Sunday when she returns to the mainland.

Castro Claims Cubans Free to Go to U.S.

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro said today Cuba is open to Americans and Cubans are free to go to the United States—"even to go to American universities to see if they can be brainwashed there."

The prime minister spoke at the closing session of the leftist assembly of the Union of International Students. He made no mention of the tractors-for-prisoners deal in his two-hour speech.

The revolutionary leader berated foreign news agencies for their reports on the Cuban situation and declared: "Revolutions are the most misunderstood events in the history of the world and history is made not by news agencies but by the revolutionaries. We have never said we are Communists. This is a name that has been given to us. This is a socialist revolution."

Tanganyika, a British trust territory in Africa, is almost the size of France, Belgium and Germany combined. The population numbers about 23,000 Europeans, 200,000 Asians and Arabs, and nine million Africans.

Answers Stolen to MSU Exams; Quiz Rewritten

EAST LANSING (AP) — Professors at Michigan State University worked through the night rewriting questions on final examinations for 7,500 students after it was learned answer sheets were stolen and were being peddled on the campus.

"We had enough evidence to merit putting out completely new finals for 4,000 social science and 2,500 humanities students," said Dean Edward A. Carlin of the university college. The exams were for freshman and sophomore students, he said.

"This is not just another student prank," Carlin said. "This type of thing violates just about every code of ethics we seek to instill in our students."

'Eichmann Hand-Picked by Hitler'

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Drunk with war success, Adolf Hitler decided early in 1941 to exterminate all the Jews in Europe and Adolf Eichmann was handpicked to execute the plan, documentary evidence produced by the Israeli prosecution showed today.

Attorney General Gideon Hausner, concluding his case against the Gestapo officer after nine weeks, rammed this point home in such a manner Eichmann was galvanized into a flurry of notewriting to his counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius.

The focal point in the final presentation of documents lay in the testimony of Rudolf Hoess, commandant of Auschwitz, where 2.5 million Jews died.

Hoess made the statement to a Polish War Crimes Court which sentenced him to hang in front of the gas chambers he operated.

Said Hoess: "In 1941 (Gestapo chief Heinrich) Himmler told me the fuehrer had ordered the final solution of the Jewish problem and that we in the SS must perform this task.

"I have selected Auschwitz, (Himmler said). More detailed information will be given to you by Eichmann who will go there."

Hoess continued that Himmler told him between six and seven million Jews would come to Auschwitz.

He said Eichmann did come to Auschwitz area and they surveyed the "installations" to be erected.

NO WRITTEN ORDERS

Written instructions did not exist, Hoess went on, because of the secrecy of the hideous scheme but he had one definite order: "Eichmann's transports must be exterminated and his operation cannot tolerate the delay of even one hour."

As the program was stepped up, Hoess said Himmler and Eichmann came to Auschwitz and ordered more unloading facilities created to speed up things and also the activation of an extra crematory which had been in disuse.

After Eichmann left his Berlin headquarters to supervise evacuation of the 600,000 Hungarian Jews, he accompanied the first transports to Auschwitz to see for himself how it was going, Hoess testified.

★ ★ ★

The story of the dead Nazi chief of Auschwitz brought out a detail never before contained in any document nor voiced by any witness. This was a declaration that "Eichmann fixed the date the transports were to be gassed and I was personally responsible to Himmler for any delay."

Britain, U. S. Split Again on Angola

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Britain split with the United States on Angola again today and urged the Security Council to refrain from any action that might provoke further violence in Portugal's restive West African territory.

But prospects were that the council would override British objections and approve an Asian-African resolution calling on Portugal to end repressive measures in Angola.

The United States was expected to vote for the resolution, which was regarded as virtually certain to win the required seven votes in the 11-nation council.

Dykes Protests Lary's 2-1 Nightcap Triumph After Dispute

Tigers, Indians Split Wild Doubleheader Before 48,550

DETROIT (AP)—The Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers are fighting for first place in the American League and they have the umpires in the middle of the squabble.

★ ★ ★

Manager Jimmie Dykes of the Indians and Bob Scheffing of the Tigers were storming at the men in blue in last night's doubleheader at Tiger Stadium, and, for Dykes' part, the battle is not over.

"I doubt if I'll win the protest," Dykes admitted, "but I never had a more legitimate squawk in my life."

The baseball games, two of the tighest battles in the race so far, were divided. Cleveland took the opener 1-0 as Jim Perry and relief ace Frank Funk scattered 10 Tiger hits and won on first inning doubles by Johnny Temple and Vic Power. Detroit won the nightcap 2-1, Frank Lary getting his eighth triumph on Norm Cash's 13th home run and some help from the Indians' infield. The victory snapped Cleveland's 10-game winning streak.

But most of the excitement came in the eighth inning of the nightcap, and it kept 48,550 fans howling for 15 minutes.

HOW IT STARTED

The Indian trailed 2-1 and Woodie Held led off with a single. Bubba Phillips struck out and Bob Hale was sent to pinch hit for Funk, who was working in relief in the second game. Hale sent a bouncer to second baseman Jake Wood, whose throw to shortstop Chico Fernandez forced Temple.

When umpire Larry Napp called Hale safe at first on Fernandez' relay, the stadium rocked with jeers, Detroit players rushed at Napp and manager Scheffing bolted from the dugout. While the argument was going on, Hale lit out for second base. Catcher Mike Roarke tagged him. Napp ruled that Hale was out.

★ ★ ★

Dykes' argument was that no play could be made since Scheffing and his coaches were on the playing field. Napp argued that time had not been called. Scheffing did not need to argue any more. The argument raged on for 15 minutes while Dykes, his coaches and players bellowed at first one umpire then another.

★ ★ ★

"Napp had the unusual distinction of blowing the same play twice in one game," Dykes barked after the game. "The runner should have been called out at first because the throw beat him by a full step.

"Everyone in the park saw that except Napp, and he knows he missed the call. So the Tigers are all over him, and he makes it worse by lettting the tag on Hale stand when you cannot possibly have a legal play in baseball with more than nine men on the field."

When play finally resumed, Lary finished up his six-hitter and almost everyone had forgotten that the Tigers got their winning run in the fifth inning on a wide throw by shortstop Held and a late throw to the plate by first baseman Power. Don Mossi had his six-game unbeaten streak snapped in the opener and at the end of it all, the two clubs were right where they began at the start of the evening—Cleveland one-half game in front of the Tigers.

★ ★ ★

NO TELEGRAM

"I'm going to write a long letter about it," the grizzled Dykes snapped. "I can't put all the things I want to say in a little old telegram."

Just when it seemed the first game would end on a quiet note, a 15-year-old boy in the centerfield bleachers heaved a can opener out on the field, narrowly missing Piersall. A firecracker and a golf ball were also included in the Piersall-oriented barrage before the game was over.

"I'll press charges if I'm able to," said the stormy second-ranked hitter in the league after the game when informed of the youth's arrest. "What a town this is," he complained. "I've got a wife and eight kids and a mother and father to support. If I could get some money together, I'd quit this game."

★ ★ ★

Piersall—despite his grievances with Detroit fandom which he considers the worst in the league—collected two hits in four times at bat in the opener. He went hitless, however, in four straight at-bats in the second contest.

CONFERENCES GALORE — There were plenty of conferences and arguments in the twi-night bill at Tiger Stadium yesterday. In the opener won by the Cleveland Indians, Chico Fernandez and Jake Wood point fingers in argument with umpire John Rice while second base ump Larry Napp listens to catcher Dick Brown and manager Bob Scheffing. At the right, Jimmie Dykes protests call in 8th inning of the second game. The Tigers won the nightcap, 2-1.

Pirates Edge LA, Reds Regain 1st

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates finally have come around with some support for Bob Friend and the world champions are within 3½ games of the National League lead again.

Friend, who along with Vern Law pitched the Bucs to the top last season, got the hitting help he's missed, picked up some daddy relief from Bobby Shantz and beat the second place Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2 Thursday night.

Those four runs matched the total scored by the Pirates in Friend's last seven starts. The big right-hander lost all seven, four times going down as a shut-out victim, while allowing only 24 earned runs, an average of little more than three a game.

The defeat dropped the Dodgers a half-game behind the Cincinnati Reds, who regained first place with a 10-8 victory over Milwaukee despite four consecutive home runs by the Braves that set a major league record. It was the third time in four days that the Dodgers and Reds have swapped places in their leap-frog battle for the lead.

Philadelphia defeated third-place San Francisco 5-2 in the only other game scheduled in the NL, and left the Giants just 1½ games ahead of the Pirates, who open a three-game series at San Francisco tonight.

A pair of two-run homers by Bob Skinner and Bill Mazeroski in the fourth inning did it for the Pirates against Stan Williams (4-5). Willie Davis homered in the sixth for the Dodgers, who got the other run on two singles and a bobbled grounder in the eighth before Shantz moved in. Little Bobby retired Davis and Wally Moon on flies with two on base, nailing it for Friend (6-7) with 1 2-3 hitless innings of relief. It was Friend's first victory as a starter since April 30.

★ ★ ★

The Braves walloped six home runs, two by Ed Mathews, while losing their eighth in 11 tries against the Reds. Mathews, Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas put together the record four-in-a-row in the eighth inning off winner Jim Maloney (4-2) and reliever Marshall Bridges. Losing pitcher Warren Spahn (6-5) tagged the other home run, Gene Freese, who drove in four runs, and Gordie Coleman hit home runs for the Reds, with Freese' three-run shot off reliever Moe Drabowsky clinching it in the sixth inning.

★ ★ ★

Philadelphia defeated Sam Jones (5-5) for the first time in nine decisions since June 27, 1959. The Phils did it with three runs in the first on an error, two outdoubles by Pancho Herrera and Don Demeter and a single by Bobby Del Greco. John Buzhardt (2-5), winning two in a row after losing five straight, beat the Giants for the first time in his career. He allowed four hits, two of them solo homers by Willie Mays and Willie McCovey.

Yanks and A's Divide; Boston Drops Angels Back Into Cellar

BALTIMORE (AP)—It was like a World Series victory.

As soon as center fielder Bill Tuttle caught a fly ball for the final out, Minnesota infielders rushed to shake pitcher Chuck Stobbs' hand. Others poured from the dugout to join in the backslapping.

Shortstop Zorro Versalles tossed his glove into the air and headed into a happy dressing room—for a change.

Tuttle's catch Thursday night not only ended a bases-loaded threat by the Baltimore Orioles. It preserved a 3-1 Minnesota victory and ended a 13-game losing streak by the Twins.

Billy Martin's two-run homer in the third inning after he missed an attempted bunt, and a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth by Bob Allison scored the Minnesota runs. Jim Kaat, the first of three Twins' pitchers, was the winner.

★ ★ ★

"I told the players to do the best they could," said Mele, who took over the helm earlier this week after Minnesota owner Calvin Griffith ordered Manager Cookie Lavagetto home for a rest.

But above all," Mele said, "I told them to relax and enjoy the game."

Baltimore has lost seven of its last nine games to drop within one game of the .500 mark (27-26)—a far cry from the pennant contention expected of the Orioles before the season started.

Third place New York divided a two-night pair and stayed three games back of leading Cleveland. The Yankees beat Kansas City 6-1, but the A's bounced back 9-6 in the second game.

Boston beat Los Angeles 6-5 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader, pushing the Angels back to the bottom. The nightcap was called because of rain and ended in a 4-4, 11-inning tie, the Chicago-Washington game was rained out.

Bill Skowron drove in four runs for the Yankees in the first game, two with an eighth-inning homer that gave New York 32 home runs, an AL record, for 17 consecutive games.

Scheffing Juggles Lineup 1st Time After 1-0 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' hitting slump finally forced manager Bob Scheffing to do his first lineup juggling of the season.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers have not been up to their old hitting tricks for about 15 games now. There have been occasional spurts, like in the Memorial Day sweep over Minnesota, but the bats have been generally silent.

So, after the Tigers lost the opener of last night's twi-night doubleheader to the Cleveland Indians — getting 10 hits and no runs in a 1-0 defeat, Scheffing made some changes.

He benched rookie third baseman Steve Boros, who had only six hits in his last 51 at-bats. He rested center fielder Billy Bruton, inserted Charlie Maxwell in the lineup and moved Al Kaline from third to second in the batting order.

The hitting was not improved, but the Tigers won the second game 2-1.

"Each man is having a different kind of trouble, it seems," said Scheffing. "Kaline and Boros have been going after bad balls. Dick Brown is going back to his old habit of trying to pull everything to left field. When you get three guys whose hitting drops off, you're in trouble."

Ironically, putting Kaline in centerfield was the best move Scheffing could have made. It was Al's fine throw to the plate in the sixth inning which nipped Don Dillard with what would have been Cleveland's tying run in the second game.

Dillard had doubled in the Tribe's first tally and raced around third on Johnny Temple's single. Kaline, however, took the ball on one bounce and fired a perfect strike to catcher Mike Roarke in time to get Dillard.

"Bruton wouldn't have made the throw," said Cleveland skipper Jimmy Dykes. "It definitely was one of the big plays of the game."

★ ★ ★

Whether the Tigers are in trouble depends largely on what they do tonight and tomorrow against the Indians. Tonight, Scheffing named Phil Regan to oppose Bobby Locke. Jim Bunning likely will pitch Saturday against Gary Bell.

Maxwell, who pinch hit safely in the first game, then hit a double in the nightcap, could solve some of the problem—Scheffing said with a grin — "If he could play third base."

Big Inning Wins for '300'

A meaty six-run uprising in the 4th inning brought 300 Lounge a 7-5 triumph over Huron Bowl in a National division game to highlight Thursday night's City League softball program at Beaudette and Northside parks.

The Lounge team wreaked all its havoc on only three hits, singles by Dick Adams and Ed Rondo and a double by Ed Smith. The big inning was also cluttered with three walks, two errors and a wild pitch as 10 batters strolled to the plate.

Gene Lund pitched a four-inning two-hit shutout as Bib Bear Construction drubbed Stadium Inn, 13-0. Jim Wheatley blasted a two-run homer in the 3rd to highlight a seven-run outburst.

Sam Baughey and Darrell Lovell clouted back-to-back homers to feature Sarko Investment's 13-8 rout of the Northland Rockets. The Investment club picked up 14 hits, three by hurler Bill Redmond who was touched for only three safeties by the Rockets.

Jim Uhan made three hits and five other players had two safeties apiece to spearhead a 15-hit assault as Harry's Hideaway trounced St. Paul Lutheran, 14-7. Harry's team enjoyed two four-run stanzas and a seven-run 2nd frame.

Grand Haven Asking Return of Park Land

GRAND HAVEN (AP) Scheduled talks June 18 before the State Conservation Commission on a new city water intake might open the way for Grand Haven to regain ownership of its popular state park.

City Manager R. V. Terrill has invited councilman George Purcell to accompany him to the commission meeting for a look into a transfer possibility. Purcell says state parks chief Arthur Elmer recently asked whether citizens of Grand Haven would "like the park back."

Whiting, Byard Pine Lake Targets

By BILL CORNWELL

Dick Whiting and Perry Byard of Red Run were prime targets today as the first round of match play began in Pine Lake Country Club's 12th annual Invitational Golf Tournament.

As defending champions, Whiting and Byard were exempt from Thursday's 18-hole qualifying rounds so they relaxed and waited for 15 other two-man teams to join them in the run for the selective drive-alternate shot crown.

Among the teams qualifying for a crack at Whiting and Byard were Tony and Tommy Skover, Meadowbrook's father-and-son tandem who took runnerup honors last year and won the Pine Lake title two years ago. The Skovers qualified with 37-36—73.

Nobody succeeded in burning up Pine Lake's tree-infested par 36-36—72 course. Only two teams managed to equal par and consequently they shared medal honors in the qualifiers.

Co-medalists at 72 were Jim Smith of Gowanie and Dr. William Yott of Essex, who carded 36-36, and Don Pierce of Western and Dave Pottinger of Bloomfield Hills, who fired 37-35.

The two teams held a sudden-death playoff in order to determine the winner of the merchandise award for qualifying medal and the Smith-Yott tandem took top prize by scoring a birdie four on the first extra hole.

Six teams deadlocked at 77 and had to wage a sudden-death playoff to decide the 16th entry in the championship flight. The Red Run team of Bob Gullett and Paul Jackson gained the final place with a par five on the first extra hole.

Dr. Yott, 53, who never had seen the Pine Lake layout until yesterday, and Smith, 37-year-old insurance salesman, posted four birdies. Pierce, 50, a 16-handicap golfer, and the 31-year-old Pottinger, general manager of a golf cart firm, birdied two holes and had 10 one-putt greens.

Yott, a Grosse Pointe resident, sank an eight-foot putt for a deuce on the 185-yard 4th hole. Smith's putter provided the remaining birdies as the Mt. Clemens player dropped a 10-footer for a four on the 1st hole, a four-footer for a deuce on the 14th and a 15-footer for a three on the 18th.

Pierce, a rubber and plastics salesman who lives in Livonia, canned a 15-foot putt for a birdie four on No. 16 and Pottinger, former Forest Lake member, furnished their other birdie by sinking a 15-footer for a deuce on No. 4.

One of today's most interesting matches pitted Whiting and Byard against their Red Run associates, Jack Zinn and Bill Pettibone, who qualified with a score of 37-37—74. Another interesting duel paired Pine Lake's Howie Neilson and Dearborn's Ralph Ellstrom with Don Patrick of Red Run and Ray West of Oakland Hills.

The Skovers were playing Dr. Robert Lurie of Saginaw Country Club and John Morrell of Chicago.

Single matches are scheduled today and Saturday with semifinals and finals set for Sunday. All matches will be conducted over an 18-hole route. The Pine Lake field lists a total of 256 entries, 128 teams, competing in eight flights.

Perry Byard, Red Run, and Dick Whiting, Red Run (defending champions, exempt from qualifying), vs. Jack Zinn, Red Run, and Bill Pettibone, Red Run (37-37—74).

Seymour Winokur, Tam O'Shanter, and Herb Segal, Tam O'Shanter (38-35—73), vs. Chuck Stinson, Pine Lake, and Leigh Smith, Red Run (38-37—75).

Bill Kralik, Knollwood, and Jim Funston, Plum Hollow (38-36—74), vs. Robert Gullett, Red Run, and Basil Jackson, Oakland Hills (38-34—72).

Kenny Lane Held to Draw in Fight at Texas Fair

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Kenny Lane of Muskegon, the 7th ranked lightweight and Curtis Cokes of Dallas, 9th ranked junior welterweight, fought to a 10-round draw Thursday night in the first fight ever held in the State Fair of Texas livestock coliseum.

Cokes, weighing in at 141, scored early in the fight with a stiff right in the second round. Lane's best round was the 10th when he mixed combinations well. There were no knockdowns. Lane weighed 138.

Referee Benny King scored it 97-96 for Lane. Judge Bill Shaw had it 97-96 for Cokes and judge Lonnie Huckins called it 97-97.

Champion Thinclads Converge on Texas

Jones Competing in Houston Meet

HOUSTON (AP) — The Meet of Champions — a track meet with stars aplenty — puts several national and world records in danger today.

* * *

The long entry list includes Hayes Jones of Pontiac in the high hurdles and 11 other Olympians from three countries. Five performers planning to compete have world records in their pockets or pending certification.

Jones, unbeaten during the indoor season, is doing as well on the outdoor cinders. He recently posted victories in his only two starts in California meets.

Bragg has his vault of 15 feet 9¼ inches in the book now. Davies, a sophomore at Oklahoma State, has a vault of 15-10¾ pending.

* * *

Ralph Boston, the Tennessee State lad with a broad jump record of 27 1-2 inch pending; John Thomas of Boston University, holder of the high jump record; and Don Styron of Southern Illinois are the other record performers in the meet.

Texas Southern University of Houston withdrew its team Thursday night after school officials discovered seating in the city-owned stadium will be segregated.

But Boston, Thomas and other Negro stars said they will compete as planned to give the meet the best field in its six year history.

The preliminaries started this afternoon—almost a meet in themselves—and some of the country's best runners had to be eliminated before tonight's finals.

The finals in the discus, javelin and hop, step and jump were this afternoon.

* * *

The last event—the mile relay—could be the best. Abilene Christian College has tied the NCAA record this season with a 3:07.6 clocking. Houston has a 3:10, Oklahoma State a 3:11.9, and Kansas the same. The world record is 3:07.6.

Coach Says Freehan Will Sign Pro Pact

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A professional baseball contract is taking 19-year-old Bill Freehan, of Royal Oak, from the University of Michigan football ranks, one of his coaches said last night.

End coach Jocko Nelson said the 6-3, 208-pounder told him Wednesday he expected to sign a big league pact next week. Nelson commented while in Grand Rapids for a U-M alumni golf outing.

Freehan, a heavy-hitting catcher-first basemen with the University's baseball team, reportedly has been sought by several major league clubs offering bonuses in excess of $100,000.

Tam Golfer Sure Knows Right Day to Shoot an Ace

Max Klayman, a Tam O'Shanter Country Club member, couldn't have chosen a better day to score a hole-in-one than Thursday.

Tam O'Shanter members were honoring head pro Warren Orlick for his selection as National PGA Club Golf Professional of the Year and Orlick responded on his "day" by giving Klayman a pair of PGA cuff links for his accomplishment.

Diamond Bonuses May Set Record

AP Photofax

ON THE BALL — Arnold Umbach Jr., 18-year-old right-handed pitcher from Auburn, Ala., tosses a bonus-labeled baseball around to the tune of $100,000 with the Milwaukee Braves. He was assigned to Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League.

LOS ANGELES—Manuel Linson, 122, Acapulco, Mexico, outpointed Ray Salazar, 130½, Santa Ana, Calif., 10.

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball's bird dogs — the big league scouts — are busier than a last place team's bullpen chasing around high schools and signing almost any athlete who graduates, it seems.

The frantic search for talent is even wilder than usual this summer because of the majors' expansion program which will be accelerated next year with the addition of the National League clubs.

★ ★ ★

The huge sums offered to untried teen-agers almost certainly will reach record heights, easily surpassing the reported $7.5 million spent on bonuses last year. Two clubs already have shelled out more than $100,000 for a single prospect. Two others reportedly have gone as high as $200,000 in an effort to land an 18-year-old high school boy.

This week alone nearly a million dollars was handed out.

The Kansas City Athletics announced Thursday they had given what they proudly said was a "cash record" of $125,000 to Chester, Pa., high school pitcher Lew Krausse, 18. He was recommended by his father, a former pitcher and now a scout for the Athletics.

Just two weeks ago, the New York Yankees said they had given more than $100,000 to Jake Gibbs, Mississippi's All-America quarterback and star third-baseman.

Thursday, the Yanks signed for $50,000 total pitchers Jack Spurgin and Gary Lewis from Edison High School in Tulsa, Okla. Spurgin received $30,000; Lewis $20,000.

Milwaukee and Pittsburgh are said to be ready to spend $200,000 for Bob Bailey, 18, a shortstop at Wilson High in Long Beach, Calif. He will become eligible for a bonus when he graduates June 15.

The Braves supposedly beat 17 other clubs to the door of Arnold Umbach, 18, a pitcher at Baylor Prep. A fat $80,000 bonus served as the pass-word.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who recently corralled Kerry McDaniel, a younger brother of Lindy and Von, for $30,000, divided $100,000 between Dave Fritz, 20, University of Minnesota outfielder and Craig Seegmiller, a Provo, Utah, high school shortstop.

Detroit gave a five-figure bonus to Jim Mooring, North Carolina outfielder and the Los Angeles Dodgers handed Wally Heckel, St. John's (N.Y.) shortstop, $25,000. The A's also landed Amos Gray, a Waco, Tex., high school pitcher for an undisclosed figure, and the Yankees signed Billy Madden, Boston College catcher, for $25,000.

★ ★ ★

The new National League clubs also got into the act. Houston gave Ken Pate, 18, a high school pitcher from Columbus, Tex., a $25,000 bonus and the New York Mets gave a similar sum to outfielder Billy Cronin of Milburn, N. J.

The Chicago Cubs doled out $2,500 to Don Barnett, a McNeese State (Lake Charles, La.) sophomore outfielder, and it drew a blast from the college coach Reed Stephens.

"They paid the boy peanuts," he said. "What's the boy going to do about a college education now? He was on a scholarship. If he had gotten a sizeable bonus, I mean $20,000 or $25,000, I'd be the first to congratulate him."

Barney Cable Signs With New Packers

CHICAGO (AP)—The new Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association Thursday signed Barney Cable, 6-6 player drafted from the Syracuse Nats.

Cable, formerly Bradley University star with three seasons of pro experience, was one of eight players the NBA permitted to be drafted by Chicago from the other clubs in the league.

★ ★ ★

The Packers also have signed six players from the collegiate ranks. They are Walt Bellamy of Indiana, John Turner of Louisville, York Larese of North Carolina, Roger Kaiser of Georgia Tech, Howie Carl of De Paul and Dave Voss of Tulsa.

Defending Champions Pace College Tourney

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — Defending champion Lamar Tech stretched its lead to 18 strokes over Stephen F. Austin College Thursday in the third round of the NAIA golf tournament.

Through 54 holes of the 72-hole tournament which ends Friday, Lamar has an 862 team total with two of its four-member team also involved in a three-way tie for medalist with 213, Stephen F. Austin College has an 880 team score.

HIGH KICKER — Kansas City Athetics' manger Joe Gordon watched the high-kicking delivery of the A's bonus pitcher Lew Krouse, Chester, Pa., who signed for a reported $125,000. He was in uniform at Yankee Stadium last night and will be assigned to relief duties. He had 18-no-hitters to his credit as a high school hurler.

Moore, Rinaldi Both Confident for Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Giulio Rinaldi knows what he has to do to beat Archie Moore in their light heavyweight title fight at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

After all he did get the verdict over a plumpish Moore in a non-title ten in Rome last Oct. 29 and he has carefully scrutinized films of Archie's losing heavyweight title fights with Rocky Marciano and Floyd Patterson.

"Marciano and Moore pressed him," said the Italian. "They knocked him out. Move Moore back and his legs get tired. I guess that has been his trouble for a long time.

★ ★ ★

Okay, Giulio knows the answer. But can he do it?

"I think I can," he said via an interpreter. "Maybe it will take me seven or eight rounds but I think I can stop him."

The challenger is as optimistic as any husky, youngster of 26 should be at the prospect of fighting a guy 44, or more.

But the big question won't be answered by Giulio. It's all up to Archie. If old age doesn't catch up to him in one swoop—like it very well could—he's apt to blast the strong but light-powered Italian out of action in three rounds.

"I feel great," said Moore as he prepared to break camp today at Monticello, N. Y. "I feel better now than I have in a long time. All I can say is that I wish that Rinaldi makes good on his promise to go after me. Then it will be mighty interesting."

Rinaldi, with only eight knockouts in 30 fights (25-5), doesn't compare with Archie in punching. Moore has knocked out 130 opponents (in 212 fights) for a world record.

Garden officials report lively business at the box office and expect a crowd of 10,000 to contribute to a $50,000 gate despite local and national television (ABC TV 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time). The TV fee is $150,000. Archie has been guaranteed $100,000 plus $12,000 expenses. Rinaldi will collect $25,000 plus expenses plus the shot at the title.

Relegates Vets Ditmar, Turley to Spot Work

Manager Compares Kid Hurlers to Those on Oriole Staff

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ralph Houk is trying to build another New York Yankee championship team around a staff of hard-throwing youngsters, who are replacing veterans of the "old guard" staff with which Casey Stengel won the American League pennant a year ago.

Houk, who sees his mound staff as the potential "Achilles heel" that could prevent the hard-hitting Yankees from taking the flag in his first season as manager, has relegated World Series veterans Art Ditmar and Bob Turley to second-line roles.

In their places he is elevating Bob Stafford, rookie Roland Sheldon, Jim Coates and Ralph Terry to key assignments along with veteran clutch—lefty Whitey Ford.

"I have the younger men worked into a rotation," explains pilot Ralph, "and they'll continue that way until it's proved they can't do the job. Frankly, I'm confident they won't fail."

Stafford, Sheldon, Coates and Terry average a mere 24 years of age, with Coates the "old man" at 27. Stafford, 22, and Terry and Sheldon, each 24, round out a collection of young flingers whom Houk insists are just as good as the famed "kiddy corps" of Paul Richards and the Baltimore Orioles.

"I'm not belittling the Orioles' staff," Houk is quick to point out. "But I am saying I like my young pitchers."

HELPED TEAM

Stafford and Sheldon are in some respects the most intriguing of the four youthful right-handers. Hard-throwing, confident Stafford helped the Yankees in the 1960 stretch run but Stengel feared to risk him with key starting assignments in the World Series. Sheldon came out of nowhere — or rather from the University of Connecticut and the Class D Auburn club of the New York-Pennsylvania League.

"A lot of people say Stafford makes them think of Allie Reynolds," says Houk, referring to the brilliant Yankee star of the 1950's. "And Sheldon is simply remarkable for a chap with so little professional experience."

Stafford served army time during the winter and was slow reporting to spring, training. Only now is he rounding into top form.

Sheldon, who amazed experts by even sticking on the Yankee roster until the start of the campaign, has won two games and impressed with his steady performances in every outing.

Over Fight Never Held
Archie Face Court Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—Archie Moore, already socked by a $295,000 damage suit, faces emergency action by the New York State Athletic Commission if he fails to make the weight for tomorrow night's defense of his light heavyweight laurels against Italian Giulio Rinaldi.

All three members of the commission will attend the noon weigh-in tomorrow in the lobby of Madison Square Garden, scene of the fight. And if Moore fails to make 175 pounds or less by 2 p.m. (EDT) the commission will hold an immediate meeting to see what shall be done, chairman Melvin L. Krulewitch said today.

Moore and trainer Dick Sadler remained at camp in Monticello, N.Y., last night, possibly to avoid process servers for the federal court damage suits of $295,000 filed by Peatire Sports, Inc., against Archie for his alleged failure to fight Erich Schoeppner of Germany last summer at New York on either July 18 or Aug. 8.

Feature Sports claimed it had incurred heavy expenses in promoting the contracted Moore-Schoeppner bout and asked for the damages as reimbursement and for loss of profits.

Archie, 44 or 47, was scheduled to come into New York today. He said he weighed only 178 and expected no difficulty making 175 tomorrow. However, boxing men know that it's the last two or three pounds which are the hardest to pare off in desperate weight-making.

Teddy Brenner, garden matchmaker, admitted that Harold Johnson of Philadelphia will be "standing by" at the weigh-in, in case Moore is too heavy.

British Track Team In Favorite's Role

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — An Oxford-Cambridge combination, strong in the hurdles and distance events, carries the favorite's role against a Penn-Cornell team in their fifth international track meet Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Despite the absence of Herb Elliott, world's fastest miler who decided to run this weekend at Zagreb, Yugoslavia, the English team still boasts capable men in the 880, the mile and the two-mile.

The meet presents a big opportunity for Steve Machooka, Cornell freshman from Kenya, East Africa, who has drawn rave notices for his potential as a miler.

Machooka may expect stiff competition from a British twosome that could include Stephen James of Oxford, who has been clocked in 4:05.1; Tim Briault of Cambridge, 4:08, or Rodger Bell of Oxford, 4:09.2. James has covered two miles in 8:47.6.

In the 880, Oxford's John Holt will be tested by Cornell's Pete Brandeis, the Heptagonal champion and runnerup in the IC4A, and Fran Smith, a freshman from Buffalo.

Elliott, an Australian who represents Cambridge, will join the squad for a meet against a Harvard-Yale combine at Boston Tuesday.

A talk by the Rev. James Hayes, St. Michael pastor, closed the program. The Rev. Norman Thomas, former school athletic director, was toastmaster.

The series opens tonight with the Cowboys, champions of the Big Eight Conference, meeting Duke.

The other six clubs swing into action Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The Saturday schedule:

Nelson Pitches Team Into Waterford Lead

Jack Nelson hurled a three-hitter last night to lead Spencer Floor Covering to a 3-2 victory over Five Spot and into sole possession of first place in the Waterford American Softball League.

Nelson hurled 6 1-3 innings. He was relieved by John Herrington who put down a seventh and final inning threat by the losers. Steve Rysen's homer and John Studt's triple were the big blows for Spencer's.

Plays at Wisner

The 'King' Here, July 3

The royalty of softball — Eddie Feigner the King and his court will make its first appearance in Pontiac in 16 years, Monday July 3rd at 8:00 p.m. at Wisner Stadium.

The fabulous four-man softball team which beats nine-man teams with regularity will play a group of selected All-Stars from the Pontiac Recreation League.

The event will be played on the Wisner Stadium gridiron under the lights.

★ ★ ★

The game is sponsored by the Pontiac VFW and Jaycees and the purpose is to raise funds to send the local drill team to the National VFW Convention.

Feigner won 138 games last year with his four-man team against some of the best nine-player squads in the world.

The King has a variety of 28 pitches and uses various antics much to the pleasure of the fans. He pitches blindfolded, he strikes out batters from second base, he pitches the ball through his legs and even hurls while kneeling.

In 16 years, Feigner has won 2,035 of 2,265 games, losing 199 and tying 34. The 35-year-old right-hander averages 20 strikeouts per game. He has 125 perfect games; 428 other no hit, no run games.

Paul Parks is chairman of the event. He said the softball diamond will be laid out on the stadium sod. The King and his Court-draw an average well over 6,000 fans for their games. The tickets are currently on sale at the VFW and will be available at other sites in the Pontiac area. Tickets sell for $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Twins Sign State Star

BALTIMORE (AP) — Neil Otto, an outfielder from Eastern Michigan, was signed to a bonus contract yesterday by the Minnesota Twins.

McDermott Makes Good in Cardinals' Bullpen

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mickey McDermott, who spent three years "fighting my way back to the majors" has found a home with the St. Louis Cardinals as the club's left-handed Lindy McDaniel.

★ ★ ★

In fact the 32-year-old former American Leaguer has been the Red Birds' top relief man so far this season, often going to the rescue of ace right-hander Lindy McDaniel, who has had his troubles at times.

Mickey came to the Cardinals' early camp in February at Homestead, Fla., requesting a chance. Manager Solly Hemus obliged.

"But he promised me nothing but a chance," McDermott recalls. "He said he needed batting practice pitchers."

Hemus had reason to remember McDermott, who felled Solly in a beaning incident in a 1951 exhibition when Mickey was with the Boston Red Sox.

McDermott was one of the hardest working athletes at Homestead, was invited to the main Red Bird base at St. Petersburg, Fla., and promptly made the club with his hard hitting and sharp pitching.

WON GAME

In 11 appearances in relief covering 14 1/3 innings this season, McDermott has won one game, lost none, saved three and permitted just two earned runs for a 1.26 earned run average, best on the club. He has given up only one home run, walked five and struck out 10.

As a pinch-hitter he is batting .250, including a three-run double against San Francisco April 23.

The Cardinals are the 10th team Mickey has played for, including the majors and minors. He was an 18-game winner in 1953 during a five-season stint in Boston, then started moving around.

The handsome pitcher worked two winters as a night club crooner in Boston and part of his act was impersonating big-name singers. He wears a big grin and is easy going. But this vanishes when he tells of how he was sent to the minors in 1958 by John McHale, then Detroit general manager, with the promise he would get a big league contract for 1959.

But he was sold to Dallas and refused to go. Commissioner Ford Frick refused to act, explaining it was just a verbal agreement with McHale.

Boys Club's Homer Derby Starts Saturday

A Pontiac Boys Club home run derby will be launched Saturday by a three-man exhibition battle.

Bill Hegwood, last year's champion, and Tom Shaw will meet in the opening battle. The winner will meet George Tuesbury, who was homer king of the Indian Ball meet with seven in four games. The opener will be at 11 a. m.

Competition will be held each Friday in the actual Home Run derby.

Teeing Off

By BILL CORNWELL

Sam Snead and Jay Hebert nearly stole the show, but it was still Warren Orlick's night and neither the hillbilly humor of the West Virginia Slammer nor the irrepressible wit of the personable Cajun from New Orleans could make Tam O'Shanter Country Club members forget the occasion.

Snead and Jay, along with brother Lionel and Wally Burkemo, dropped in at Tam O'Shanter to help fete Orlick after a day of hard practice at Oakland Hills where the 61st National Open will be held June 15-17.

In reality, of course, Sam and Jay enhanced the occasion immensely. Their jests and off-the-cuff remarks greatly benefit such a function because they furnish vitally-important ingredients.

Thursday was Orlick's day from beginning to end. Detroit Mayor Miriani officially proclaimed it "Warren Orlick Day" and Tam president John Sklar presented the proclamation to Warren.

ORLICK

The tribute to Orlick was long in coming and definitely overdue, but certainly worth the wait. It recognized in an official sense Orlick's long and dedicated service to the sport he loves so well.

Last fall at the National PGA meeting in Phoenix, Arizona, Warren was named PGA Golf Club Professional of the Year. This is truly a distinguished honor since he was competing against so many dedicated club pros across the nation.

Because of that accomplishment and also due to his unselfish service to them, Tam O'Shanter members lauded him last night at the club.

All of Warren's fellow pros throughout the area, members of the press and the four touring pros already mentioned plus numerous other PGA and USGA officials joined in the tribute to Mr. Rules.

* * *

Since Orlick came to Tam nine years ago, eight of his assistants have moved into head jobs. All were present — Gene Bone, Ben Lula, Mac McElmurry, John Monitz, Ted Huffman, Don Soper, Don D'Ontrio and brother John Orlick — and toastmaster Herman Fishman introduced them. Huffman saluted Warren in their behalf.

In addition to the giant traveling award symbolic of Warren's achievement, Tam's veteran pro also received an engraved silver plate from the membership plus a color television set to let Orlick's patient wife, Genevieve, know she was not being ignored.

Orlick, a fixture on the PGA Rules Committee for many years, has been devoted to the game of golf since boyhood. "I know it sounds a bit corny, but I love the game so much I can actually smell a golf ball. Ask Sam. I think he knows what I mean," he said.

* * *

"I love every phase of the game," said Orlick, who got his start at Grosse Ile under the now retired Joe Devany. "I caddied for the first time when I was only eight years old," he said. Warren caddied for John Kelsey Sr., then part owner of the Detroit Tigers.

After his initiation at Grosse Ile, Orlick went to Monroe C.C. and from there to Tam. "I've always been a pro, I guess," said Warren. "I've never thought I was ever really an amateur."

* * *

A typical example of Orlick's dedication to golf and his fellow pros was the revelation to the packed house that Warren—on his "day" — had presented a PGA briefcase to his long-time friend, Horton Smith of Detroit Golf Club.

Accompanying the briefcase was a message which read: "To Horton Smith, whose guidance, encouragement, cooperation and friendship helped make my award possible." Well done, Warren.

Plan No Suit Against Chisox

Thomas Gives Up Try to Purchase Control of Ball Club

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Comedian Danny Thomas and his associates Thursday washed out all negotiations involving purchase of stock in the Chicago White Sox baseball club.

* * *

Nor will there be any litigation against the club as threatened Wednesday by Chicago attorney Bernard Epton, one of Thomas' group.

"As far as we are concerned the Chicago White Sox deal is closed. There will be no litigation," Thomas said in a prepared statement.

"Our only interest now is Bill Veeck's health and that the White Sox win ball games."

* * *

The Thomas group, which also included a group of Chicago investors, proposed to buy 54 per cent of the White Sox stock.

Marlene Hagge Leads Women's Round Robin

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—Marlene Bauer Hagge, a slim, trim veteran of the tournament tour, started the second round of the five-round women's round-robin golf tournament today with a whopping plus 26 points and a 13-point lead on her nearest rival.

* * *

The younger of the golfing Bauer sisters blazed around the rocky, hilly Wykagyl Country Club course Thursday with its par of 37-35—72 and its 6,293 yards in 37-32—69, two strokes better than the fine 37-34—71 registered by tiny Kathy Cornelius, who finished in second place with plus 13 points.

* * *

The round robin calls for each of the 16 players to meet each of the other players once during the five rounds, matching medal scores with the respective opponents. For instance, if a player finishes a round with a 70 and another member of the foursome has a 75, the 70 shooter gets plus five points and the 75 shooter minus five.

Pontiac Yacht Club launched its Wednesday Nite Owl series of paces Wednesday night with Phil Smith taking the honors and junior sailors Ted Flack and Don VanDoren following in order.

Count Now Shows 31 Players Involved

Hoop Probe Still On

NEW YORK (UP) — It may be another three months before the investigation into the still-growing college basketball scandal — which now counts 31 players, 17 schools and 40 games — is completed, district attorney Frank Hogan said today.

* * *

Four former players, previously named as co-conspirators, were indicted yesterday on charges of conspiracy and bribery. At the same time, Hogan released the names of two new players covering one more game allegedly involved in the revelations of point-shaving that have stretched from coast-to-coast.

And, added Hogan:

"The term of the grand jury expires on June 20. It's fair to assume it will be extended, probably into the fall."

The newly accused players, according to Hogan, were Jack Rose, 23, captain of the Connecticut basketball team a year ago; and Ray Stanley, 23, a recent graduate of the University of North Carolina.

Their names came up as Dave Budin, 28, former Brooklyn College star; Jerry Vogel, 24, of the Bronx, N.Y., and Dan Quindazzi, 24, of Yonkers, N.Y., both former Alabama players; and Lou Brown, 22, of Jersey City, N.J., were indicted on charges of conspiracy and bribery. All four had been named previously in the investigation which began in March as co-conspirators in indictments of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hacken, both of New York.

BIG LOSS

Hogan said Vogel and Quindazzi paid Rose $1,000 under an agreement that Connecticut lose a game with Niagara on Jan. 16, 1960, by seven or more points. Niagara won by 33 points, 112-79.

Hogan said Brown made a blanket offer to Stanley for $1,000 per game regarding the scores of North Carolina contests. Stanley, Hogan said, refused the bribe offer but failed to report it either to school or other authorities.

Most of the counts involving Budin, Vogel, Quindazzi and Brown duplicated those made in the indictments of Wagman on April 27 and Hacken on May 24.

Budin, who was involved in an alleged fix attempt of the Michigan-Oregon football game last fall, was indicted on one count of conspiracy and one of bribery; and Brown on one count of conspiracy and two of bribery.

* * *

Both Rose and Stanley were granted immunity for their testimony. Bail was set at $1,000 each for Vogel and Budin and at $500 for Quindazzi. Brown was paroled. All four were released pending trial, date of which has not been set.

Blanks Oxford Squad, 10-0

Goldsworthy Gets No-Hitter

Thursday the hard-throwing righthander hurled another no-hit, no-run masterpiece as the Pontiac Merchants routed the Oxford Merchants, 10-0, in a City League game at Jaycee Park.

The big difference between the two gems was distance. Goldsworthy's previous no-hitter was performed over the full seven-inning route. Yesterday's contest was stopped after five innings due to the 10-run rule.

Goldsworthy struck out seven and walked two. He faced only 16 men, no runner advanced beyond 2nd base and his teammate gave his errorless support in addition to pulling a double play in the 4th after he had issued his two walks back-to-back.

The Merchants put him on easy street right at the start by scoring eight runs in the 1st inning on seven hits as 13 men went to bat. They tallied twice in the 4th to complete the scoring. John Fleser made three of the winner's nine hits.

Talbott Lumber also had easy sailing in yesterday's other City League game at Wisner Field. The Lumbermen collected 17 hits in a 13-4 drubbing of Don Nicholie. The losers made only one hit off the slants of Talbott pitcher Bob Garrett, who fanned 12 and walked four.

Glenn Funck, Dan Dropps and Chuck Honchell each banged out four hits for the Lumber team and Garrett furthered his own cause with three safeties. Talbott's heftiest scoring innings were a three-run 2nd, a two-run 4th and a five-run 5th.

Two games are scheduled today at 5:30 p.m. The Pontiac Merchants meet Don's Used Cars of Lake Orion at Jaycee Park and Don Nicholie faces the Oxford Merchants at Wisner Field.

Who Says You Won't?

Polio struck last summer especially at babies—and the summer before—and the summer before that. And you can be reasonably certain that it will strike this summer, too.

It will continue to strike as long as parents neglect polio vaccine. Quick now: Have your children had all their shots?

There's no reason for children and babies not to have these immunizing shots. There are three of them, and a booster, and you can find out where to get them from your doctor or health department. Salk vaccine is cheap, plentiful, and wholeheartedly approved by doctors.

Here's what the Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service has to say: "We have a proved weapon against polio. Everybody needs the protection of the Salk vaccine."

So, go to your doctor or clinic now! Don't hold out because there's a new vaccine on the way. It won't be in doctors' hands in adequate amounts this year.

Don't face next summer's polio season without protection for your children—or, as a matter of fact, for you. This is the most important single protection you can get!

Don't take a chance—take your Polio shots

Yes, You Too Can Be a No-Talent Pianist

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — There is a new invention on the market which will make it possible for anybody to play the piano reasonably well with two fingers; in two minutes, no instruction and no talent.

★ ★ ★

You don't need to pump pedals, a la the old player-pianos. Pumping pedals is work, and who needs it? This device, so the sales pitch goes, is for people (even a child can play it) who have "no time or inclination for instruction and practice." You press a key and a chord comes out.

In other words you, too, can be a no-talent pianist or your money back.

The "Electra Chord" — for that is the name of this piano attachment, our newest addition to cultrate culture — reminds me of an invention I concocted in college.

As a final term project in an advertising course, we were to devise a product and build an imaginative $100,000 campaign around it.

My product was an electronic piano which "even a child could play," and I carefully used my allotted funds to place colorful advertisements in a wide variety of media — from big newspapers and slick magazines, to specialized musical publications.

The grade on this campaign was A-minus. And the grade came with a note of explanation from the professor. "The 'A' is for breezy ads which undoubtedly will sell this monstrous product you created," the note explained.

"The 'minus' is for wasting your money advertising in magazines read by people who are truly interested in music. Such readers would never fall for cheap imitation culture, even in a costly package."

In those days I hadn't much sense of cultural conscience; I was amused by the comment, delighted by the "A." I forgot about the electronic piano, and went back to my lessons on the old-fashioned variety where it takes plenty of patience and at least five years and 10 fingers and some sensitivity to put together a decent "Claire de Lune."

Now, 16 years later, I have a cultural conscience of sorts — and America has an "Electra Chord." And I'm wondering if the professor was right, that such a product will sell, but not to people who are truly interested in music.

Probably so, though I think it less likely (than 16 years ago) it will become a popular commodity to sweep the country like the hula-hoop or the yo-yo. The hula-hoop takes rhythm, the yo-yo takes talented timing, and all the "Electra Chord" takes is money and an index finger which can press on a key to produce a chord.

★ ★ ★

And I have a feeling we Americans are just now entering into an era of honest energy in protest against our occasionally well-earned reputation as a "take it easy, something for nothing" society. We want to cook our own dinners once in a while, instead of merely thawing them; we want to travel to Europe instead of attending lectures on it; we want to feel the sense of accomplishment that comes of blowing our own horns, instead of just listening to Benny Goodman.

Church and Reds in Berlin Tug of War

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP) — The struggle between the Protestant church and the Communist regime of East Germany will reach a new peak in July.

The church has scheduled its annual mass rally in divided Berlin for July 19-23 and the Communists are doing their utmost to wreck it.

Half a million of the church's 40 million members throughout known as the Kirchentag, in Munich last year. An equally large turnout could be expected next month.

But the Communists have made it plain they will do all they can to prevent East German members getting to Berlin.

They may also interfere with free travel to surrounded Berlin by barring church leaders from West Germany coming by road or rail. They have done this before when meetings of which they disapproved were held in the divided city.

The struggle is over the unity of the Evangelical church.

Groups of member churches are federated in one body which straddles the iron curtain. The biggest group, the Church of the Union, which formerly covered the area of Prussia, now stretches from the Oder River in the Communist East to the Rhine in the free West.

The Communist regime doesn't like this. It wants for East Germany a separate church leadership. So it is campaigning to split the church in two by obstructing unified meetings of members from East and West.

To justify their opposition the Communists have slapped a political label on the rally.

They claimed East Germans were being lured to West Berlin to become pawns in the cold war. They called the organizers "militarists and revenge seekers," claiming the Kirchentag was under the patronage of North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

So far the Communists have confiscated church papers announcing the date of the Kirchentag, vetoed meetings in East Berlin and warned East Germans not to try to get to West Berlin to take part.

The church has made one concession to this pressure. It has advised serving members of the West German armed forces not to come to Berlin to take part.

Sylvan Lake Buys Park and Well Site

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today approved the sale of an excess parcel of property for $200 to Sylvan Lake as a site for an artesian well and recreation area.

The parcel has 219 feet frontage on Telegraph Road, and 65 feet on Garland street.

The property was bought by the Highway Department in 1957 for the relocation of M24.

State Administrative Board approval is needed to complete the sale.

Rocket to Orbit Three Satellites

Two-Stage Vehicle to Try Putting Trio Into 500-Mile-High Area

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Thor-Able-Star rocket will try next week to orbit three satellites at once, including the first operational prototype of the Navy's transit navigation satellite.

The 80-foot two-stage vehicle will aim the bundle of satellites at a 500-mile-high circular orbit. If this is achieved, spring devices will separate the trio so they will whirl about the earth in slightly varying paths.

Another Thor-Able-Star was used to place two satellites into orbit at one time last summer. These were the Transit 2-A experimental sphere and a smaller satellite to study radiation. No previous attempt has been made to send up three satellites on a single rocket.

Slated to ride in the nose of next week's rocket are: Transit 4-A, a 175-pound ball carrying nearly all components of future operational transits. It is the first of four prototype models leading to a space navigation system by late 1962.

When the transit system is operational, four of the satellites will circle the globe in evenly-spaced orbits and beam a steady stream of signals to earth. Navigators will translate the signals into highly-accurate position fixes.

Asks $24 Million for Projects in Great Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association asked Congress Thursday to vote $24.65 million for navigation and harbor improvement projects in the Great Lakes area.

The request included a plea for a $19.1-million item to continue deepening and improving the Great Lakes connecting channels to match depths of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

N. R. Danielen, president of the association, told a House appropriations subcommittee Army engineers had estimated the channels would be usable to seaway depths by June 1962, at the present work rate.

★ ★ ★

Keith Wilson, director of the Michigan State Waterways Commission, urged the subcommittee to increase the channel funds to $27 million, the amount engineers said could be efficiently used in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Miami University Plans to Admit Negro Students

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Racial bars will be lowered for the first time at the University of Miami in the summer session starting June 15.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Paul K. Vonk, chairman of the Admissions Committee, said no records had been kept of the number of Negroes to be admitted.

★ ★ ★

"There was no quota, and we had no reason to count them," he said. "All applications are accepted or rejected on their merits."

TWA Orders Jets to Reduce Airport Speed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Trans World Airlines today ordered its jets to observe new lower speed limits around major air terminals.

★ ★ ★

The speed restrictions were put into effect in accordance with a request from Federal Aviation Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby. Halaby has asked all airlines operating jet-powered equipment to participate in a voluntary speed restriction program as a means of lessening collision danger.

★ ★ ★

TWA said its jets will not exceed 292 miles per hour at altitudes below 14,500 feet within 50 miles of a destination airport.

Market Pickup Takes a Slump

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional. A few specially situated issues did better but there were no runaway favorites.

★ ★ ★

The market jogged ahead at the start as a rallying movement resumed from a promising start at the end of Thursday's declining session. But the rise lacked follow through.

Foreign developments were in an uncertain stage and traders were displaying their usual pre-weekend caution.

Encouraging factors were a scheduled rise in auto output and a government forecast that business investment in new plant and equipment would turn up in the third quarter.

Raytheon, Thursday's most active gainer on a breakthrough in its stock chart pattern, fell victim to profit taking and dropped fractionally.

★ ★ ★

Chock Full o'Nuts, up about a point, found continued strength on news that it is opening its first highway restaurant next week.

Graham Suffers Dizzy Spells After Speaking

Graham's organizer of his "north-of-England crusade" here, the Rev. Walter Smyth, said the evangelist is still plagued by a throat infection and is taking penicillin shots daily to combat the ailment that kept him in bed in his London hotel during the first week of the crusade.

"After the speeches each night, he is not himself," Smyth said. "The infection is coming along nicely, but he still suffers spells of dizziness after the messages."

Lien Filed on Actor, Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service Thursday filed a $61,798 income tax lien against actor Mickey Rooney and his fourth wife, Elaine, for the years 1957-58. Agents said Mrs. Rooney, since divorced, owes $28,079 of the sum.

Paar Challenging Fred W. Friendly

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't be surprised if Jack Paar beats out Fred W. Friendly and Irving Gitlin for the next Emmy in the "public affairs" category.

★ ★ ★

Since May 31, Paar has staked out large portions of his nightly NBC-TV rear-guard action to help raise funds for the Tractors for Freedom Committee. Seldom has one issue been explored with as much persistence and intensity on TV.

★ ★ ★

Paar has virtually turned the show into a telethon. He has presented Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter Reuther to bolster his arguments. And, to rebut them, he has presented Clare Boothe Luce and Sen. Barry Goldwater. Richard Nixon wired his regrets.

Goldwater, in a 20-minute appearance last night, evoked brisk applause with ringing statements about the dangers involved in submitting to Communist "blackmail."

★ ★ ★

Paar, in putting the issue on a basis of reuniting families, went for the heartstrings, but didn't get as much applause.

While bidding his guest good night, Paar told the Arizona Republican that Arizona viewers wouldn't see their conversation because the initial half hour isn't carried in the state.

In a business where performers are reluctant to voice strong opinions on controversial matters, it is understandable when Paar tells viewers that he is out on a limb in this cause, backing an unpopular movement, frankly. I'm inclined to think that President Kennedy has more at stake.)

★ ★ ★

Every performer who has attracted some front page attention seems to get caught up in a cause, and Paar is following the tradition with his tractile tractor pitch. Most of the TV stars, however, join the battle against juvenile delinquency, or crabgrass, or disease.

Hissing Missile Repaired on Pad

Men Brave Death to Make Adjustment but Rocket Fails in Flight

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A huge Discoverer rocket stood hissing and fuming on its pad Thursday, the countdown frozen at 30 seconds.

Then two sedans drove into the restricted launch area five men got out and two of them moved in to make a daring but crucial adjustment.

Only the previous day an Atlas missile had blown up on its pad here, and inside the Discoverer's lower stage—on which the men were working—were 47,000 gallons of kerosene and 7,000 gallons of highly volatile liquid oxygen.

★ ★ ★

But everything seemed to go well and the repair crew moved out. Discoverer XXIV blasted off into what looked like a perfect shot.

★ ★ ★

Belgian Queen Fabiola Says She Awaits Baby

The Pope gave a special audience for newsmen who came here with the Queen and King Baudouin, who are paying a state visit to the Vatican. The Pope received the royal couple in a state audience Thursday.

Fabiola, 32, daughter of a noble Spanish family, married the Belgian king Dec. 15 in a brilliant ceremony in Brussels. Her pregnancy was first reported—without confirmation — by a Brussels weekly on May 24.

Bolivian Parade Act of Support

To Show Loyalty for President Paz, Protest Miners Strike

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI) —Armed supporters of President Victor Paz Estenssoro were expected to parade through the streets here today to demonstrate their backing for him against his Communist foes.

The government was considering the threat of a general strike by tin miners protesting the arrest of Communist union leaders suspected of complcity in the "armed insurrection" plot reported here this week.

Paz called Vice President Juan Lechin home from Caracas Thursday night to help head off the strike threat. Lechin is head of the mine union and secretary general of the COB union federation as well as vice president of the nation.

It was still not certain what effect the upheaval here would have on Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's plans to visit Bolivia June 15-16. Stevenson arrived in Uruguay today.

Needs Only a Briefcase for Trip Around World

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — All of you gadabouts who think you travel light— get into something comfortable and listen to the project of globetrotter Irving Hoffman.

WILSON

"I'm figuring on my next trip around the world to take nothing but a briefcase," says Irving.

"I've only needed a suitcase to carry my newspaper clippings. I'll just have to carry less clippings."

"Two and a half suits?" I said.

"I wear one, then pack one, plus slacks . . .

"Three shirts — I may cut this down to two—you can always get a maid to wash a shirt for you. No shirts that require cuffiinks. I walk around town in my bedroom slippers; those Italian ones are very good for that . . ."

★ ★ ★

"Another thing you must carry—they don't weigh too much—American stamps," says Irving. "Including special delivery. You're always asking somebody to mail a letter for you when they get home—you shouldn't impose on them to buy stamps for you."

He's nearsighted and that helps. "I can't see myself," he says, "and it may be that I'm not very neat."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Joey Bishop's new TV series was ready to offer Jack Paar up to $20,000 for a spot. He replied: "I'll do it for $320 and plane fare—same as I pay you" . . .

Two members of the Kingston Trio will go to court with the third—who's leaving the group—over use of a name . . . MGM starlet Paula Prentiss (of "Where the Boys Are") has the measles . . .

Harry Belafonte recorded his first Calypso tune in six years . . . David Niven smoked a cigarette for the first time in his life for a scene in "Guns of Navarone" . . . Tuesday Weld's mother followed daughter's lead, became a blond.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A married Broadwayite sighed, "I've tiptoed into my house at 4 a.m. so often my neighbors think I'm a ballet dancer." . . . That's earl, brother.

Defeat Repeal of Travel Tax

House Dems Nip GOP on $300-Million Issue, Vote to Continue Levies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Democrats narrowly beat down a Republican attempt Thursday to hand travelers a $300-million tax break and passed a bill to continue present levies on travel, new cars, cigarettes, liquor, beer, telephones and corporation profits.

★ ★ ★

Administration forces turned back 196 to 189 the GOP move to repeal the 10 per cent tax on train, bus and airline tickets. Then, the overall measure was passed by the House on a 295 to 88 vote.

The Senate also must approve continuation of the levies for another year, or the taxes will drop or expire on July 1.

Amendments, such as the House GOP move, still will be possible on the Senate floor, but administration leaders felt the bill was relatively safe.

Democratic leaders told the house the government could not afford the $300-million revenue loss represented by the travel tax repealer.

But Republican spokesmen claimed support of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Civil Aeronautics Board for discontinuing the taxes.

Hagerty Plans Flight to Tokyo Next Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Former White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty will fly next week to Tokyo.

Hagerty's car was mobbed by Japanese demonstrators when he arrived there last year to prepare for a visit by the then President Eisenhower.

Hagerty said Thursday he was going back to Tokyo for business talks with representatives of the American Broadcasting Co., of which he is now vice president for news.

JFK, Congo Leader Trade Gifts, Toasts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy and President Fulbert Youlou of the Congo Republic exchanged gifts and toasts of friendship at the White House yesterday.

Kennedy gave Youlou a sculptured head of Abraham Lincoln and the Congo leader gave the President two full-length elephant tusks.

Bus System to Hike Fare

CLEVELAND, Ohio, (AP)—The Transit System will raise bus fares a nickel at midnight July 1. The transit board estimated the fare increases, approved Thursday, would raise $1.1 million a year.

Legislative Extension Drive Fizzles

Congratulations to Carrier

MSUO BOUND — Warren A. Gooch, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Gooch, 368 Hillcliff Drive, Waterford Township, is congratulated by Earl Treadwell, circulation manager of The Pontiac Press, after being named winner of the 3rd annual Pontiac Press carrier scholarship to Michigan State University Oakland.

Press Scholarship Won by Area Team

Celebration was in order since 18-year-old Warren A. Gooch, a Pontiac Press carrier for five years, learned that he will enter Michigan State University Oakland this fall under a scholarship awarded by this newspaper.

Still finding it hard to believe he was the lucky carrier among 43 seniors graduating this month, all the tall teen-ager could say was: "I'm real happy."

Gooch, one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Gooch, 368 Hillcliff Drive, walked into the office of Earl Treadwell, circulation manager of The Press, yesterday to learn that he was the recipient of the $500-a-year, 4-year scholarship.

"Warren was chosen out of the 43 for his general qualifications — his grades, service and his all-around attributes as a young man," Treadwell said.

★ ★ ★

Scheduled to graduate from Waterford Township High School on June 14, Gooch hopes to put his scholarship to work toward a possible career as an engineer, a profession his 24-year-old brother is following at General Motors Truck & Coach Division. His father is a plant protection officer there.

AWARD'S THIRD YEAR

This is the third year The Press has awarded the scholarship to its outstanding senior carrier, Treadwell said.

A delegate to the National Boy Scout Jamboree in Colorado Springs last June, Gooch, who is a towering 6 foot 2 inches and 190 pounds, took up the after-school job of delivering to 130 Press readers in the Huron Gardens area after he had substituted for other carriers.

"I've enjoyed working with these people," Gooch said. "It's a terrific experience."

He said his 9-year-old brother might become a carrier.

Treadwell, in announcing Gooch's scholarship, added that all but five of the 43 carriers planned to continue their educations in colleges or universities.

Order Extra Copies of Centennial Issue

Don't forget to tell your Pontiac Press carrier to save for you those extra copies of the big, colorful Centennial edition that will be published Monday, June 19.

★ ★ ★

You won't want to miss it, and neither will your friends and relatives from out of town.

★ ★ ★

At 30 cents for the extra copies, The Press will mail this outstanding souvenir of Pontiac's once-in-a-100-years event to anyone you wish anywhere in the United States.

★ ★ ★

As a subscriber, you'll get your copy at the regular price. But undoubtedly you'll want some more copies for yourself, too, and this can be arranged with your carrier.

Nelle Lassiter Goes Home

Leaves Hospital After All Charges Dropped Against Her

DETROIT (AP)—"When you are innocent, when you have God on your side, how can you lose?"

★ ★ ★

Blonde Nelle Lassiter thus closed the book on a story that began more than two years ago with the murder of her husband.

With an armful of red roses and smiling, the glamorous Mrs. Lassiter left Jennings Memorial Hospital Thursday for her home at 19690 Beverly Road, Beverly Hills, after murder and conspiracy charges against her were dropped and an order committing her to a state mental institution was set aside.

"It's wonderful, it's like a dream," she said.

Mrs. Lassiter and her onetime lover, Gordon Watson, had been accused of plotting the April 1959 slaying of her husband, Parvin (Bill) Lassiter, a suburban Royal Oak car dealer.

★ ★ ★

The prosecution, accusing them of "lust and greed," charged they plotted the slaying in order to continue their illicit affair and take over Lassiter's business.

FOUND INNOCENT

Watson was found innocent by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury Monday. He returned to California with the vow "I'll never come back to Detroit."

Mrs. Lassiter had been a co-defendant but collapsed midway in the trial and a mistrial was declared in her case. A sanity commission found her emotionally exhausted and unable to assist in her own defense.

Circuit Judge Joseph Rashid ordered her committed to a state mental hospital but she remained at Jennings, pending a hearing in U.S. District Court on the commitment order. Rashid set aside this order when Assistant Prosecutor George D. Kent asked that the charges against her be dropped.

★ ★ ★

Kent, who conducted the trial against Watson, said it was decided to drop charges against Mrs. Lassiter because evidence presented at Watson's trial would be legally inadmissible in a separate trial of Mrs. Lassiter.

★ ★ ★

Prosecutor Samuel Olsen said, "We had a much stronger case against Watson than we did against her."

U.S., Russia Meet to Seek Peace in Laos

Harriman to Give Note From Washington to Gromyko Today

GENEVA (AP) — U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman meets Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today in an attempt to get the stalled international conference on Laos moving again.

Harriman, chief U.S. delegate to the conference, will deliver a note sent from Washington with President Kennedy's approval urging the Soviet Union to help establish an effective cease fire in Laos.

Britain, cochairman with the Soviet Union, has postponed the conference indefinitely because of cease-fire violations. But both East and West expressed desire for agreement.

There had been some hope Gromyko was bringing new instructions from Moscow when he arrived in Geneva Thursday night for the first time since Kennedy met Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Vienna, Austria.

★ ★ ★

"My pockets are empty," he said.

A cease fire was proclaimed May 3. But the West has charged repeated violations and today there were reports of attacks by Communist-led rebel units north of the royal capital of Luang Prabang.

STRENGTHEN HOLD

It appeared the Communist-led Pathet Lao rebels are trying to clean out areas of government resistance and strengthen their claim to Xieng Khouang Province.

Gromyko met this morning with the foreign ministers of three of the Communist countries — Mar-

LEWIS B. RUELLE

FREDERICK POOLE

2 Decisions Face Waterford Voters

Waterford Township voters will receive two separate ballots at Monday's 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. annual school election. On one, they will choose a man to fill a four-year term on the board of education while the other will ask that the electorate decide on the establishment of a school library.

The two candidates are incumbent Frederick Poole, 37, of 1238 Heitch Drive; and Lewis B. Ruelle, 42, of 5156 Farm Road.

Poole has lived in the Waterford area 24 years. After his graduation from the University of Michigan, Poole went into the lumber business with his father. He is a past president of Kiwanis, and was selected as Jaycee Man of the Year. He is married and has three children. The family attend the Central Methodist Church.

"The Waterford Township School District has been faced with tremendous challenges and problems since consolidation 20 years ago," Poole said. "The decisions made by the board concerning these situations have been advantageous and constituted to the growth and development of educational opportunities afforded the youth of the school district," he continued.

"Not all of the decisions have had unanimous support in some positions taken by the board. However, I feel the basic planning and achievements have been firm and of sound construction.

"In conclusion, if elected, I shall pledge to do to the best of my ability, to continue to support school board policies which will contribute to enhancing educational opportunities for our students."

RUELLE A DEM

Ruelle is married and has three children. He has been employed for the past five years in the engineering model shop of A. C. Spark Plug Division of General Motors in Flint.

He attends St. Andrews Episcopal Church, serves on the Township Recreation Board, is a member of the township's Democratic Club and the Lakeland Optimist Club.

THOMAS E. WILSON

GMC Manager Takes UF Post

Thomas E. Wilson Says He's Proud to Be Head of Industrial Group

Thomas E. Wilson, general manufacturing manager of General Motors Truck and Coach, has been named chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1961 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign Drive.

Wilson is a member of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, board of trustees of the William Beaumont Hospital, Oakland County Bar Association, board of trustees of the Kingsbury School in Lapeer County and has worked with the United Fund in the past.

Last year the Industrial Division raised $462,831 or 65.6 per cent of the drive's total amount of $705,-

In commenting upon his appointment, Wilson said: "I consider it a honor to be asked to serve as industrial chairman of the 1961 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign, and it is with pleasure that I accept the challenge.

"I am aware of the outstanding success of the division in the past and the many responsibilities connected with this position, and I look forward to serving our community in this capacity."

★ ★ ★

The Industrial Division includes Baldwin Rubber, Consumers Power, Fisher Body, General Motors Truck & Coach, Pontiac Motor, Jig Bushing, Pontiac Varnish and Universal Oil Seal, along with approximately 50 smaller plants in the Pontiac and Waterford area.

Konrad 'Too' Optimistic

BONN, Germany (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin accused Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today of showing too much optimism about the Berlin and German questions after the Vienna summit meeting.

Only Hope for Fund Bills Is Now Special Session

LANSING (UPI) — A move to extend the 1961 legislative session and increase appropriations for higher educational and mental health today appeared likely to fizzle into little more than a token gesture with lawmakers in favor of money hikes looking for a special session.

Thayer, one of the leaders of a group of GOP moderates attempting to round up support for extending the session, indicated sentiment for noon adjournment, as called for in joint rules of procedure, was too strong.

Gov. John B. Swainson said he would not make a decision on whether a special session should be called until after the legislature adjourns.

An extension of at least 11 days would be required, Thayer said, in order to take the action necessary to beef up the tight appropriations, chiefly in the areas of mental health and higher education.

ROBERTS BEHIND MOVE

Thayer and Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, were the driving force behind a move mounted Thursday to bring up the plan for extending the session, and indications were they would go through with it.

If the GOP moderates try and fail, however, it would give Swainson more reason to consider favorably an extra meeting at a later date. Without such a move, any special session call would have to be a decision made by the governor alone.

LANSING (UPI) — Republican moderates today scuttled their own plan to seek extension of the 1961 session of the legislature and called for a special meeting later in the year to hike appropriations for higher education and mental health.

Last night, the moderates were optimistic about being able to get increases for budget measures, but the necessary maneuvering to accomplish it apparently scared off many potential backers.

The GOP moderates would require the cooperation of Democrats in the upper chamber to take any action to fatten the education and mental health appropriations.

While there was little doubt the Democrats would go along if the chance came up, enough opposition was expected, chiefly from conservative Republicans, to block the complicated legislative maneuvering necessary to keep the session alive.

Milk-Price Bill Awaits Inking

Hot-Potato Issue Now Up to Swainson After Clearing Legislature

LANSING (AP)—The hotly disputed milk price-fixing bill was en route to Gov. Swainson's desk for the second time today after another sudden turnabout in the House.

★ ★ ★

Lawmakers chiefly Democrats, reversed themselves again Thursday and called back the bill from the House Agriculture Committee, where it had been sent for quick burial. They sent it to the governor on an 80-16 vote.

Only last month, the House retrieved the bill from the governor's desk after it had already cleared the legislature.

Swainson, apparently reluctant to deal with the measure, now has a choice of signing it or exercising his "pocket veto" power by failing to sign it.

WILL STEP ON TOES

Either way, he faces a politically ticklish situation. Consumer groups, fearful it will lead to higher prices for milk and other dairy products, will assail him if he signs it.

★ ★ ★

Dairy worker unions, dairies, milk producers and small retailers will condemn him if he doesn't.

The milk bill, part of Swainson's legislative program, would create a division of milk marketing in the State Agriculture Department. Its director would enforce bans against unfair trade practices.

The measure also would prohibit sale of milk at less than the invoice cost plus eight per cent unless other cost figures could be proved. This would eliminate sale of milk as a "loss leader" by groceries, chiefly supermarkets.

Opponents asserted the bill would boost milk prices by $10 million a year. Supporters argued it would stabilize milk prices and give producers a fairer price.

★ ★ ★

"We now have a better understanding of what the bill is trying to do," said Kowalski, explaining the Democratic switch. "The dairy industry needs it, it won't hurt the consumer and it will help the farmer."

Next Move Is Mr. Castro's in Tractor Trade

Committee Ready to Move on Exchange of Prisoners

DETROIT (AP)—The Tractors for Freedom Committee is ready to send Fidel Castro the 500 tractors he asks in exchange for 1,200 invasion prisoners as well as a team of experts to negotiate the deal. The next move is up to him.

The committee cabled the Cuban prime minister Thursday night that "we are prepared to move with dispatch and ship the first consignment of 100 tractors not later than two weeks from today, to be followed by additional consignments of tractors in lots of 100 until the total of 500 are delivered."

It cautioned Castro, however, that "we trust you are equally prepared to move with dispatch to release the prisoners. We remind you of our insistence that you make available to us without further delay a complete list of the 1,214 prisoners involved so that we can develop satisfactory procedures for verifying the identity of those released.

"We would recommend that the International Red Cross be asked to handle the details relating to the release of the prisoners."

WILL SEND COMMITTEE

The committee, formed after Castro made his trade offer May 17, said it would not send one of its more prominent members to Havana to negotiate as Castro had asked but would send a six-member technical committee of agricultural and tractor experts.

It said that if Castro approved of the offer the team of experts would arrive in Havana next Monday. It urged Castro to reply as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

Castro had asked that any delegation to Cuba should contain one of the principal members of the committee "preferably Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt or Milton Eisenhower, whose names, because they are better known in political spheres, would contribute to the solution of the matter."

Mrs. Roosevelt is committee honorary chairman, Dr. Eisenhower, educator and brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, is a co-chairman.

Walter P. Reuther, also a co-chairman and president of the United Auto Workers Union, said, none of the prominent members would go.

TO DISCUSS DETAILS

The committee told Castro it had "designated a technical committee to discuss with you or your representatives the details of our proposal related to types of agricultural tractors and attachments best suited to increase agricultural production and raise the living standards of the Cuban people."

Named to the technical committee were Prof. Roy Bainer, head of the University of California agricultural engineering department; William Bishop, leader of agricultural programs for the University of Tennessee Extension Service; Duane P. Greathouse, director of the UAW's agricultural implement department; C. M. Hansen, Michigan State University assistant professor of agricultural engineering; J. B. Liljedhal, Purdue University professor of agricultural engineering, and Prof. E. W. Schroeder, head of the Oklahoma State University agricultural engineering department. They would be accompanied by a Spanish language interpreter.

Sight Funnels of 4 Tornadoes Over Michigan

From Our News Wires

Four tornado funnels swirled over Michigan Thursday, but none of them touched ground and none did any damage.

Parts of Lenawee and Monroe counties were under a severe weather warning for several hours Thursday. No twisters were sighted in those areas, however.

The tornado funnel sightings were made at Niles in the far southwestern part of the state, at Mount Pleasant in Central Michigan, and at Bad Axe in the Thumb Area.

Mount Pleasant had no less than two funnels playing tag overhead. They were sighted near Shepherd and were tracked traveling north toward Mount Pleasant.

Rain clouds hovered over most of the eastern half of the nation today in the wake of another outbreak of severe storms, the same general weather pattern of the past several days.

Gery gave his bride-to-be a diamond ring. The couple said they would be married next June. Both are 20. They have been going together since they were seniors in high school.

Airlifts Flying Bands to Centennial Parade

Two military airlifts will bring Army and Navy bands to Pontiac for the giant Greater Pontiac Centennial parade at 2:30 p.m. on kickoff day next Saturday.

From the Chicago area there'll be the 5th U. S. Army Band and the Great Lakes Navy Band.

The 60-member Navy group will fly into Pontiac Municipal Airport that morning. The new runway is long enough to handle the big R5D Navy transport plane.

The 58 Army musicians will have a tight schedule.

Arriving in Pontiac by bus after an Air Force airlift to Selfridge Air Force Base, they'll perform in a joint concert after the parade with the Michigan Male Chorus Association.

This will be in Wisner Stadium beginning at 7:30 p.m. The soldiers will perform first in an hour-long concert. Then they'll quickly bus back to Selfridge to catch the 9:30 p.m. airlift returning to Chicago.

600 TO SING

After the soldiers leave the stadium, 21 male choruses with about 600 voices will combine in the Centennial State Sing. Tickets for the night cover both the band and choral concerts.

George Putnam, head of secondary instrumental and vocal music in the public schools, arranged for the Army band as chairman of the parade band committee. The Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center obtained the Navy band for the parade.

The Navy group is scheduled to arrive at Pontiac Municipal Airport at 10:30 a.m. Coming into town in buses loaned by the Board of Education, the sailors are to eat at Elks Temple before joining other groups at 1:30 p.m. in the staging area for the parade.

★ ★ ★

The Army group is to arrive at Selfridge at 10 a.m., then bus here. Arrangements for their lunch and dinner have been made at Waldron Hotel.

in at 2:30 p.m. Parade units will begin arriving in the staging area at 1:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

FLOAT FOR QUEEN

Pontiac area organizations are sponsoring the floats. Among them will be a float for Miss Centennial and her court of 10 Centennial princesses.

There'll be 22 marching bands, including two military units, 15 from high schools and junior high schools and five from other organizations.

In tribute to Pontiac's long automotive history, there'll be vehicles galore.

Some will be horsedrawn, recalling moments from Pontiac's 143 years as a community and 100 years as a city.

Others will reflect the city's big buggy and bicycle plants at the turn of the century.

SOUGHT BALANCE

Despite this tribute to Pontiac as a city on wheels, the major emphasis in organizing the parade was to achieve a balance among the various types of participating groups, said Sherwin M. Birnkrant, chairman of the parade committee.

"We've lined up a wide variety of units and tried to space them so that there'll be something new and something different all the time," he said.

About 20 drill teams and twirling units will add color to the parade. There'll be Civil War marching groups and the mounted posse of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

A big contribution from the military will be a real Bomarc guided missile, 45 feet long.

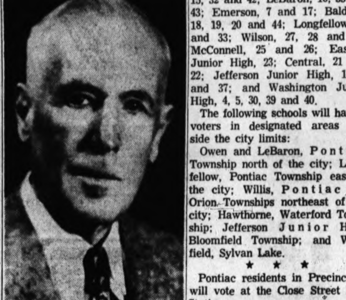
Centennial Citizens



FRANK L. DOTY

A special place in Oakland County's legal hall of fame belongs to Frank L. Doty, who retired from the Circuit Court bench at the close of 1959 after 32 years.

The appointment of Doty as the county's third circuit judge by former Gov. Fred W. Green on Sept. 14, 1927, was the beginning of a remarkable judicial career.

He served longer as a jurist than any other in the county's long history. During his many years of public service, Doty sat as a judge in every judicial circuit in Michigan with the exception of Marquette and Alcona counties.

His start as a public servant was made in 1912 after five years as a practicing attorney.

He served two terms as prosecutor before entering the armed forces. An infantry lieutenant in 1916, he saw service with Gen. Pershing on the Mexican border and later became an Air Force captain, flying many missions over Germany.

Doty, 80, lives at 160 State Ave. He calls himself a "farmer at heart," and owns a dairy farm in Rose Township.

Sues Him for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor-dancer Dan Dailey was sued for divorce Thursday by his wife, Gwendolyn. She charged cruelty, claiming he had inflicted bodily injury on her.

Two Decisions Face Voters in Waterford

ship civic affairs for more than 20 years, serving previously on the Township Zoning Board and for one term on the Waterford Township Board.

"If elected to the Waterford Township School Board, I will work toward continued progress in our education system," he said and added, "A program to obtain the best teachers possible, a more extensive use of our present school facilities for adult education and recreation can be accomplished by study of the present $4½-million school budget for possible revision in some areas. These are the things I believe in."

LIBRARY ASKED

Supt. William A. Shunck explains that the township school district has never officially established a school library. In order that the district may continue to receive state reimbursement (about $10,000 annually), he points out that it is necessary that there be official action by the electorate.

Shunck adds that even though the ballot may give the impression that only one library is involved, it actually concerns all of the many libraries in the township's school district.

"If this issue carries," Shunck notes, "we can expect to continue to receive state funds. If it does not carry, it means that our school district will lose approximately $10,000 a year from monies from the State of Michigan."

Shunck emphasises that this vote is not for the establishment of a township or community library, and that it will not increase taxes.

Voting places for the school election have been set as follows: Precinct No. 1, Drayton Plains School, 3000 Sashabaw Road, Drayton Plains; Precinct No. 2, Donelson School, 1200 W. Huron St.; Precinct No. 3, Waterford Center School, 1021 Airport Road; Precinct No. 4, Waterford Village School, 4241 Steffens St.; and Precinct No. 5, Pontiac Lake School, 2515 Williams Lake Road.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Says Link Exists Between TV and Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP) — James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons, said today he thinks there is a definite causal relationship between juvenile delinquency and television shows dealing with crime and violence.

★ ★ ★

At a hearing by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on juvenile delinquency, Bennett likened television to "the old-fashioned street corner pitchman who attracted and entertained his audience with card tricks and magic while he sold them snake-oil remedies."

★ ★ ★

In his prepared statement, Bennett added "modern television attracts its audience with crime and violence while they sell soap and deodorants." But in delivery, he merely said "modern television has a parallel (to the pitchman)."

★ ★ ★

Bennett complained that some television programs depict law enforcement officers as "gauche, stupid and in fact venal at times." He said this hinders the recruitment of officers and damages the morale of those already in service.

Honor 2 Retiring Teachers at Bloomfield Hills School

BIRMINGHAM — Two Bloomfield Hills school teachers, retiring after a total of 60 years service, were honored last night by faculty and parent-teacher organizations in the area.

They are Mrs. Eva Thompson of 2411 Pine Lake Ave., Keego Harbor, and Mrs. Katherine O'Neill of 2546 Woodbine Ave., Pontiac.

Mrs. Thompson has been a teacher in the Bloomfield Hills school system 19 of her 31 years as an instructor. She has been a teacher at the Hickory Grove School.

Mrs. O'Neill, with 29 years of teaching behind her, has taught in the Wing Lake Elementary School the last five years.

The Men's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold its annual picnic on the grounds of the William Arlund home at 2727 Square Lake Road Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Dinner will be $1.50 per person. Reservations must be made in advance at the church office. The picnic is open to members or friends of the congregation.

Maj. William E. Mayer of the Army Command and Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., will be commencement speaker tomorrow at graduation exercises for Cranbrook School.

A class of 65 graduates, 22 of them from the Birmingham and Bloomfield area, will receive their diplomas in the commencement at 10 a.m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cranbrook.

Mayer, a medical doctor and psychiatrist, will replace the Hon. Aaron Switzer Brown, U.S. Ambassador to Nicaragua, as speaker.

The ambassador notified Cranbrook officials that he would be unable to attend since he is under orders from Washington to remain at his post.

Chinese and Vietnamese Communists may be even less eager to stop the fighting than Moscow.

Gromyko told newsmen he had returned to Geneva to resume the conference and declared: "We still believe that if all parties are willing, it is possible to reach an agreement. I repeat, if all parties are willing."

The assumption was that he meant if all parties are willing to go along with the Communists. With the rebels holding the upper hand militarily, the Communist delegates at Geneva insist the cease fire is effective and the conference should only discuss the political future of Laos.

Sees Finance Curb on Cars Slap at GM

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Chairman Frederic G. Donner today labeled "discriminatory" proposed legislation to prevent auto manufacturers from financing sales of their cars and insuring the vehicles.

"Its target avowedly is General Motors," Donner said in testimony prepared for the House antitrust subcommittee.

★ ★ ★

Lee Loevinger, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, has told the subcommittee that GM's ownership of GMAC, "the largest sales finance company in the world," gives GM important competitive advantages over other auto manufacturers.

Rules on Cuban Property

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban property in the United States was up for grabs today by Americans whose holdings in Cuba were confiscated by Fidel Castro.

Circuit Judge Hal P. Dekle Thursday ruled that any Cuban property found in this country can be attached. He found in favor of Terry Kane, who contended that the Cubans confiscated $22,500 worth of farm equipment in his tractor agency.

Dekle's ruling skirts the so-called foreign acts doctrine under which the U.S. Supreme Court since 1897 has held that the courts of one country will not judge the acts of a foreign state within that country's own territory.

"There is no relief any longer afforded in the Cuban courts or with the Cuban government," Dekle said.

He added that his ruling was founded on a principle that in the event of a breach of international law, this "nonintervention" by the courts should not apply. He said the U.S. State Department has found Castro's confiscations in violation of international law.

For Americans who want to get back at Castro, the big problem now is to find Cuban property in this country.

Smeekens Raps Scholle's Desire for Appointment

LANSING (UPI) — Republican Sen. John P. Smeekens, Coldwater, Thursday bemoaned the fact that he did not get a chance to vote "no" on the controversial appointment of State AFL-CIO President August Scholle of Royal Oak to the conservation commission.

★ ★ ★

He also blasted Democrats for the influence that labor has on the party.

"Why Gus Scholle wants this appointment to the Michigan Conservation Commission, I will never understand," Smeekens said in a statement. "He already has more political power and governmental authority than any other man in Michigan with the possible exception of Walter Reuther."

Scholle's appointment to the commission was kept from coming to a vote by another Republican, Sen. Carlton H. Morris, R-Kalamazoo, who refused to vote the labor leader's name out of committee.

JFK, 44, May Turn Gray Over Unsolved Problems

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — That last half of this century is like living through a perpetual thunderstorm, waiting for the next lightning bolt.

He's gotten along well with Congress. But he inherited multiple dilemmas overseas and he's solved none of them.

It is difficult now to point to a single Kennedy achievement in foreign affairs unless perhaps in establishing better relations with the European allies.

Take a look:

TAKE A LOOK

1. He inherited the problem of Fidel Castro's Cuba — a constant trouble spot for the United States, if not a menace.

Kennedy approved the rebel invasion against Castro. It ended in disaster. And just because of it and because the United States lost prestige and is unlikely to try rough stuff again soon, Castro looks more solid than ever.

2. Kennedy inherited the dilemma of Laos where the Communist-supported Pathet Lao forces were slowly taking over the country. They stepped up their pace since Kennedy took office and he has found no way to stop them.

3. He hoped through a conference with the Russians and others at Geneva at least to get a cease fire in Laos and agreement on a neutral government. The Communists have made hash of that notion in a way most bitter for Kennedy.

Just this week, in his TV broadcast immediately after returning from a talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, Kennedy said they had agreed Laos should be free and neutral and that both wanted a cease fire.

TALKS IN DANGER

But in Laos the pro-Communists forces kept fighting until at Geneva the United States called their action a "blatant violation" of attempts at a cease fire. The Geneva talks are in danger of breaking down.

4. At Geneva, also, Kennedy had hoped to negotiate with the Russians an agreement ending nuclear testing. The Russians made so much hash of these talks that agreement now seems impossible.

5. In South Viet Nam, where the government is supported and supplied by the United States, Communist guerrillas from North Viet Nam are putting the southern government in increasing jeopardy by stepping up their warfare.

6. In South Korea, where the United States supported and supplied the civilian government which it seemed to think was doing all right, Korean military leaders threw out the civilians and took over.

One of their main excuses: To wipe out "corruption." The net result, even though the new Korean military rulers express friendship for the United States, is an end to democratic government.

7. In the Middle East, Iran, right next door to the Soviet Union but helped by the United States, looks more wobbly than ever. Here, too, there was a government shake-up to end corruption.

Kennedy told congressional leaders that Khrushchev predicted to him that Iran would be lost to the West, although disclaiming any Soviet part in it.

8. In his TV talk Kennedy made it clear he told Khrushchev the United States would not let the Communist world shut off West Berlin, one of the most delicate of all spots in the West-East struggle.

Khrushchev apparently gave him no comfort. And Thursday Russia began stirring up a storm about Berlin, claiming the West German government is building trouble in West Berlin which, although linked to West Germany, lies in East Germany.

Kennedy is 44 now. There is thunder on all his horizons. Communism is cocky, confident, pushing. There's no let-up in sight anywhere. Kennedy has a remarkable head of hair. There should be a lot of gray in it before his first term ends.

Corruption Report False, Says Mackie

LANSING (AP) — A charge that there is a "pattern of corruption" in the State Highway Department is absolutely false, says the state's road chief.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner John C. Mackie made his reply following issuance of a final report by Sen. John Stahlin, R-Belding, who headed a Senate committee investigating the department.

★ ★ ★

Stahlin and Mackie, a Democrat, have been feuding since he started his probe in 1959.

"His report is full of weird reasoning, wild assertions and wrong conclusions," said Mackie of the report signed by the three Republicans on the committee.

Rules Aren't All for Benefit of Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The first time 14-year-old Peg baby-sat for the gay young couple who had just taken a new apartment six blocks away, they promised to get her home by 1 a.m.

They didn't keep their word.

At 1:25 Peg's mother phoned her to be told, "You and daddy go to bed, Mom. They'll be back any minute now. Mr. Foster will drive me home."

But at 2:45 when the Fosters finally arrived, it was Peg's father who drove her home. Getting out of the car he had parked at their curb, he walked over to the inebriated Mr. Foster and said, "Kindly tell my daughter I am waiting for her."

Then as his child scrambled into the seat beside him, he said, "No more Foster babysitting for you."

NO MORE

Said she argumentatively, "I don't see why, daddy. I made nearly $10 tonight. They just got stuck at their party. And I'm fine. I'm not tired at all . . ."

Said her father, "Your mother and I are. This time the rule isn't being made for you. It's being made not to protect your health but to protect the sanity of your mother and me. We'll have no more baby-sitting for the Fosters."

And they didn't.

We parents need to learn to make rules for our open and honest advantage.

IT SHOCKS THEM

As it is, the young are so used to assuming that all our rules seek to benefit them exclusively that discovering we can make them for our own interests produces a salutary state of shock.

We are so accustomed to promoting rules as protectors of their health, developers of their responsibility, punctuality and other virtues we forget that these rules also benefit us.

So anxious are we to appear loving and exclusively interested in Johnny that the child is convinced our rule for promptness at meals exists solely to insure him a hot meal.

So when he breaks the rule, he can justify his disregard by protesting "But I like cold meals!"

Honesty about our own stake in the regulation ends such justification. You cannot argue with a parent who says, "I want promptness at meals because I don't want to spend the evening washing dishes."

Families are cooperative institutions. If we pretend that all the rules are made for children's benefit, we have only ourselves to blame when the children undertake to readapt them to their own ideas of better advantage.

Old Gold Band Ain't What It Used to Be

By HAL BOYLE

There was a time when it was easier. All you had to do was glance at a certain finger of her left hand. If she wore a gold band on it, there was no doubt about it. She was married.

★ ★ ★

But customs change. So do rings. Many of the married women in America's 20 million-plus femine work force don't wear their wedding rings on the job.

★ ★ ★

And many single girls wear rings which give them the air of matronhood but actually celebrate only the fact they were able to graduate from high school or are members of a winning team in the factory bowling league.

HOW TO TELL

But there are other signs. It's a pretty safe bet a gal is married if—

Whenever she leaves home after dark, she is trailed, two paces behind, by a tired-looking man who looks as if his feet hurt him.

★ ★ ★

In reading a magazine she merely glances at an article titled, "America's 12 richest bachelors," then turns to one about "What's wrong with our schools?"

★ ★ ★

She pushes her own way through a revolving door instead of waiting for some man to come along and do it for her. This is really the acid test. A single woman would rather stand there and starve than use her own muscle to get through a revolving door.

★ ★ ★

MECHANICAL WHIZ

She can't name the latest matinee idol, but she can take a vacuum cleaner apart and put it together again in 15 minutes.

You look in her refrigerator and see eight bottles of milk and six cans of beer.

At a party you ask her to dance, a look of incredulous surprise sweeps over her face.

★ ★ ★

She always carries needle, thread, safety pins and an odd button or two in her handbag.

When shopping in a department store, she rushes past the racks of Paris-styled dresses to see what's new in the household linens department.

At a cocktail shindig, she keeps yanking at the same male elbow while yelping, "Remember what you promised. You said we'd go home after you had two."

★ ★ ★

She yawns when the talk turns to politics, but brightens up immediately if someone mentions a new recipe.

She doesn't know anything about the CIA, the CAB or the USIA, but she knows all about the PTA.

★ ★ ★

She has heard of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, but is sure Dr. Spock's name will ring longer in the annals of mankind.

At 11 a.m. she still has last night's pin curlers in her hair.

★ ★ ★

She tells the same man every morning five days a week, "Let's go somewhere tonight. We haven't been out in ages."

★ ★ ★

When someone asks her what she does, she hangs her head, sighs, and says deprecatingly, "Me? Oh, I'm just a housewife."

But she wouldn't trade her job for any other career in the world.

Gives Shower for Bride-to-Be

Mrs. John Walls of South Johnson Street honored Elaine Cummings of Royal Oak Monday evening at a bridal shower in her home. Mrs. Ross Walls was cohostess.

Invitations were extended to Mrs. Robert Cummings of Royal Oak, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Arnold Mann of Clarkston, mother of her fiance, George Mann.

★ ★ ★

Places were also marked for Mrs. Wendell Crosby of Zephyr Hills, Fla.; Mrs. Ralph Lowes, Grand Blanc; Mrs. Cordon Walls of Kenmore, N.Y.; Mrs. Floyd Walls of Linden, N.J.; Mrs. John Kales of Flint, Mrs. Ted Baker of Detroit and Mrs. Joseph Soboley of Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Norris Walls and Mrs. Colin Walls came from Davisburg and from Clarkston were Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. Joe Hubbard and Mrs. Bradley Miller.

Gail Gullen Weds Dr. Fitzsimmons in Marshall Rite

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Gullen Jr. of Adams Road announce the marriage of their daughter Gail Melene to Dr. Paul E. Fitzsimmons, May 20, at the First Presbyterian Church in Marshall.

The bridegroom is the son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. John Fitzsimmons of Belmont, Mass. Dr. Fitzsimmons is the pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church of that city.

The newlyweds will make their residence in Boston but will return to Olivet College this fall, where they both are students.

An average family today has twice as much life insurance as 25 years ago and at least four times as much in personal savings, according to government estimates.

Many Feel Strain of Work

Women on Job No Joke

NEW YORK — Women who work are the subject of many jokes and cartoons. There's the office wife, who's a whiz at remembering birthdays and dispensing vitamin pills for a busy boss.

There's the beautiful blonde stenographer with the classy chassis and the high-powered female executive with lacquered nails and a Paris hat. These, however, are only the stereotypes.

★ ★ ★

Actual studies show that the vast majority of the 22 million women who work—work hard. Because they are women in a man's world, they are subject to special tensions.

Fifty-eight per cent of them are 35 to 65 years old. Most of these women have gone to work as their children have grown up.

In exchanging the role of a housewife for that of a business career, they also must adjust their own attitudes and emotions.

Often, the result is stress on the job. Among women office workers for example, stress produces many minor ailments, varicose veins, colds. Stress also causes headaches, nervousness and irritability.

★ ★ ★

How to stand up to stress without resorting to tranquilizers and psychiatry is the subject of an article by Dr. Maxwell Maltz in the June issue of a leading magazine.

Especially timely for women who work, the article tells how to achieve a mental coffee break to clear mental machinery, encourage relaxation and efficiency. This theory is an old one; one that has been used successfully by philosophers and presidents, as Dr. Maltz explains.

Many a woman surrounded by jangling phones and clacking typewriters will want to discover for themselves "the quiet room that each of us needs — and has." Dr. Maltz has a key that opens t he door.

15-Year Members Are Given Pins

Recipients of 15-year membership pins at the June meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary 1008 Monday evening are Mrs. Denver Plummer, Mrs. Otto McCrae and Mrs. Ellis Witt.

Mrs. Ayres Miller reported on the VFW Auxiliary County Council election and on the 5th district convention at St. Clair Shores.

Mrs. Wanda Bridsall, president of Auxiliary 1370 of Pontiac, was a guest and a new member, Mrs. Roe Dunning, was welcomed.

Rock Garden Can Solve Difficult Space Problems

Rock gardening is an excellent way to make problem areas beautiful. Bare walls of stone, brick or logs also can be brightened with rock garden plantings.

If your property has steep banks, rock gardens offer double dividends. Flowers and leafy plants blend well with rocks on slopes. And you avoid wrestling with your lawn mower there.

Natural outcrops, a few boulders or just an open slope welcome rock garden plantings. Start with a sketch of the selected area. Planning eliminates extra rock moving efforts.

Informal groups in naturalistic settings are usually most pleasing. Formal lines, such as along a stone or brick retaining wall or bordering terraces also provide good rock garden opportunities.

Choose plants that prosper in your area. A local garden center can advise on this matter. Sun-loving annuals include candytuft, coleus, dwarf marigolds and zinnias, petunis and portulaca. In partial shade, try ageratum, lobelia and sweet alyssum.

Good perennials for sun include dwarf aster, dianthus, rock rose and moss pink. In partial shade, coral bells, pansies, primrose and various ivies do well. From bulbs, grow spring-flowering scilla, snowdrop, winter aconite and narcissus or late-blooming lily-of-the-valley and fall crocus.

Select rocks with the same care you use in choosing plants. Use larger rocks. Pick those that have attractive weathered lines. Bury them about halfway, so they serve their purpose of holding soil, reflecting warm sunlight on nearby plants and aiding drainage. Rocks also help keep the earth cool in hot weather.

Soil requirements vary with the plants. In preparing good soil for most situations, mix well-rotted manure, compost and complete fertilizer at about 5 pounds per 100 square feet, with soil. For acid-loving plants like heather and azaleas, add oak leaf mold or peat moss.

You may add plants whenever you obtain them, except for those that require special season planting, like fall bulbs. Transplant carefully, keeping sufficient soil around roots. You'll be surprised how quickly new additions build a balanced garden.

In "dry" stone walls, spaces between rocks are ideal for many colorful plants. Use a crowbar to pry rocks apart. Wedge in wet peat or sphagnum moss. Insert plant roots carefully, then tamp in soil. With rock walls you can grow dozens of different plants in an appealing vertical garden.

Thunderstorms May Be Good for Gardens

Lightning is good for your garden. In his book, "Ways of the Weather," W. J. Humphreys explains that lightning disrupts many of the oxygen, nitrogen and water vapor molecules along its course. Many of these elements combine as a new substance. These new combinations form ammonia and nitrous and nitric acids in the presence of water vapor. He adds:

"This ammonia promotes plant growth and both nitrogen acids, on reaching the ground, produce compounds with substances in the soil which make excellent plant food, from which one correctly infers thunderstorms above enrich the earth beneath."

Feeding Roses

Established roses can be fed as soon as buds begin to grow by spreading one-half cup of rose food in a broad band around each plant. The fertilizer should be scratched into the soil, then watered well to carry the nutrients down to the plant's root area. Additional feedings in the same manner should be continued every month during the plant's growing season.

Kentucky Bluegrass First

The main grasses in lawns from eastern Kansas and Nebraska to the Atlantic, and from Tennessee northeastward, are Kentucky bluegrass and one or more of the red fescues. In sunny areas most lawns are predominately Kentucky bluegrass or a new variety called Merion bluegrass.

Some Trees Are Victim of Fungus

You don't have to see leaf spots in front of your eyes to do something about it—especially if you're the proud ower of choice hawthorns, horse chestnuts and elms.

These trees are susceptible to the fungus infection that mars their beauty and their healty by spotting foliage and causing leaf fall. If trees were infected last year or the year before, be on the alert by byd-breaking time. That's the advice of Henry W. Gilbertson, pathologist of the Davey Tree Expert Co., who warns infection occurs as leaves open.

You can't see this taking place since symptoms rarely are discernible in less than four to six weeks. So when buds break, break out the spray equipment. Ferbam fungicide is important for control. Coverage should be as complete as possible and repeated twice at ten day intervals. In a spring marked by heavy rainfall, repeat the fungicide spraying a third time.

Infections of this kind over a period of years are considered serious. Defoliation weakens trees and makes them prime targets for other ills. Feeding with a good tree food high in nitrogen content helps restore growing vigor.

Moisture is necessary for germination of the microscopic fungus seeds wafted by winds on to the young, tender leaves. Sprays act as chemical barriers preventing germination of the spores. Fungi causing leafspot over-Winter in fallen leaves. Burning of fallen leaves from tainted trees in the Autumn sometimes helps minimize the malady's spread.

The National Fire Protection Association says the worst fire hazards in homes are defective or misused stoves and heaters. They cause 14 per cent of all home fires and 20 per cent of home fire deaths.

Ailing Trees Respond to Proper Fertilizing

The overall growth of trees and the color of their foliage determine how much fertilizer they need, agronomists say. Slow-growing trees with light green or yellow leaves should receive more fertilizer than trees showing normal growth.

Adequate fertilization is determined by the tree's trunk size, measured four feet above ground level. Three to four pounds of fertilizer for turf and trees per inch of trunk diameter will supply the amount of plant food the tree needs for constant growth.

No Crabgrass Shortage

A single crabgrass plant may drop up to 100,000 seeds annually. The seeds remain dormant all winter and early spring and sprout through the summer when soil temperature is above 65 degrees, sunlight is plentiful and surface moisture is present.

More than 17 species of crabgrass are found in the United States. All crabgrass loves light and hates shade. Experts recommend that you keep the cutting height of your mower at least [illegible] inches to help shade the soil and reduce crabgrass germination.

Air Out Your Lawn

Quite like a pogo stick is this lawn aerator. Each time you press it into the soil it makes three nail-size holes to permit air and moisture to get to the root of some of your grass troubles. It also is touted as a means of preventing fertilizer run-off, and aiding drainage.

Soapsuds Trees Produce Berries That Lather

NEW YORK (UPI) — Soapsuds trees grow in Barbados, West Indies. They reach heights of 60 feet and bear clusters of berries. The berries produce a thick lather when shaken in water.

Even with their handy soapsuds trees, the Barbadians prefer the convenience of man-made detergents and soaps. The Cleanliness Bureau said this is because the soapsuds tree is more novel than efficient.

MEET ME IN PONTIAC — What a history behind the 19th Century gown Mrs. Edward McDonald, 696 Fourth St. is wearing for the Centennial. Imported from France, it was purchased by her great aunt for the St. Louis Exposition at the turn of the century. She wore it to a reception given there for the daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt. Now it's here and the phrase is no longer "Meet Me in St. Louis," but "Meet Me in Pontiac."

Marilyn Is Cheerful Eager to Start Work

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Carl Sandburg recently pointed a finger at Marilyn Monroe and said in his melodious voice: "You are not what is wrong with America."

This bit of information was among the notes gleaned from a session with Miss Monroe in her Beverly Hills hotel bungalow. I am happy to report that she is cheerful and in good form, conversationally and otherwise.

Interviews with Marilyn have become ritualistic. You wait for an hour while the phonograph plays gems from Frank Sinatra and Jack Lemmon. The maid brings in pots of caviar and pate de fois gras. You munch and wait.

When you least expect it, the door to the next room swings open and Marilyn appears. She is trim in a low-cut black lounging outfit. You wonder briefly what has kept her, since her blonde locks are still awry.

EXPLAINS TARDINESS

"I was out to see Clay Gable," she explains. "We stayed up late talking; that's why things are kind of disorganized today. I saw her son; he's a beautiful boy. It was wonderful seeing Kay. Kind of sad, too."

She looks at the mantle and sees a forest of birthday cards. "Oh, yes, I just had a birthday," she says. "I'm 35, and I don't mind at all. I enjoyed being a girl. I'm going to love being a woman."

Marilyn says she is also enjoying the single life—dating and all that. But she is also eager to go to work.

* * *

"I'm very anxious to do 'Rain' (for NBC-TV)," she says. "I'm going back to New York to talk about it. The problem now is a leading man. Fredric March would have been just wonderful, but now he's going to do a play."

RECOVERS

About her health—it's fine. She has recovered from her minor surgery of two weeks ago and says she recuperated lying in the sun in her private patio. Could this be the same Marilyn who once eschewed sun-bathing because "I like to feel blonde all over?"

* * *

"Yes, I was positively bronze," she reports. "But then the overcast set in. How disappointing."

Marilyn is escaping the overcast—a June hazard in Los Angeles — to return to New York, where she will continue to make her home.

'Eichmann Hand-Picked by Hitler'

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP) — Drunk with war success, Adolf Hitler decided early in 1941 to exterminate all the Jews in Europe and Adolf Eichmann was handpicked to execute the plan, documentary evidence produced by the Israeli prosecution showed today.

Attorney General Gideon Hausner, concluding his case against the Gestapo officer after nine weeks, rammed this point home in such a manner Eichmann was galvanized into a flurry of notewriting to his counsel, Dr. Robert Servatius.

The focal point in the final presentation of documents lay in the testimony of Rudolf Hoess, commandant of Auschwitz, where 2.5 million Jews died.

* * *

Hoess made the statement to a Polish War Crimes Court which sentenced him to hang in front of the gas chambers he operated.

Said Hoess: "In 1941 (Gestapo chief Heinrich) Himmler told me the fuehrer had ordered the final solution of the Jewish problem and that we in the SS must perform this task.

"I have selected Auschwitz, (Himmler said). More detailed information will be given to you by Eichmann who will go there."

Hoess continued that Himmler told him between six and seven million Jews would come to Auschwitz.

He said Eichmann did come to Auschwitz area and they surveyed the "installations" to be erected.

NO WRITTEN ORDERS

Written instructions did not exist, Hoess went on, because of the secrecy of the hideous scheme but he had one definite order: "Eichmann's transports must be exterminated and his operation cannot tolerate the delay of even one hour."

* * *

As the program was stepped up, Hoess said Himmler and Eichmann came to Auschwitz and ordered more unloading facilities created to speed up things and also the activation of an extra crematory which had been in disuse.

* * *

After Eichmann left his Berlin headquarters to supervise evacuation of the 600,000 Hungarian Jews, he accompanied the first transports to Auschwitz to see for himself how it was going, Hoess testified.

* * *

The story of the dead Nazi chief of Auschwitz brought out a detail never before contained in any document nor voiced by any witness. This was a declaration that "Eichmann fixed the date the transports were to be gassed and I was personally responsible to Himmler for any delay."

* * *

In additional documents, the attorney general established that Eichmann's office delivered the skeletons of 150 Jews killed at Auschwitz to a German research institute in Strasbourg for study on ancestral backgrounds. One of the affidavits was a letter to Eichmann explaining that remains of Jews who had been subjected to "experiments" at Auschwitz had been sent to the institute.

Kennedy May Scold; General May Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has finished reviewing the Army's investigation of charges that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker exposed his troops in Germany to propaganda of the militantly conservative John Birch Society.

* * *

Indications are that Walker will be dealt what amounts to a reprimand in the report, which is expected to be made public Monday.

There was speculation that Walker will ask to retire. Though only 51, the Texas-born general has completed 30 years of Army service and is entitled to retire if he wishes.

* * *

Business News Helps Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market jogged to the upside in fairly active early trading today.

* * *

Fractional gains among key stocks outnumbered losers in the same range. Wider moves were made by a few issues.

The list was continuing the smart recovery movement that began at the tail end of Thursday's declining market.

A scheduled rise in auto production and a government prediction that business investments in new plant and equipment would turn up in the third quarter aided sentiment.

American Viscose was active and fractionally higher as it continued to respond to news that it will build a plant to produce "Avicel," its edible cellulose, on a commercial scale.

Zenith advanced more than 2 points and Chock Full O' Nuts picked up more than a point, both stocks resuming their latest strength.

Big Three motors were fractionally higher and most of the major steelmakers were a bit on the upside, although Bethlehem eased.
