GOP Sees Votes to Carry Tax Bill

Exemption Hike Against Income Facing Defeat

Key Dems Conceding $100 Point in Revision Vote Today

From AP and UP Dispatches

WASHINGTON — Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said today the Republicans definitely "have the votes to beat" a Democratic-sponsored proposal to boost personal income tax exemptions from $600 to $700 for each taxpayer and dependent.

Key Democrats, conceding the odds were now against them, planned a last-ditch fight for their proposal.

They are battling to tack the exemption onto a general tax revision bill now before the House. The bill would overhaul almost all tax laws and provide $1,397,000,000 in revenue cuts next year through many more liberal deductions for businesses and individuals.

Republican leaders stuck firmly to a prediction that the move to boost exemptions would be beaten in a showdown roll-call vote late today. President Eisenhower strongly opposes an exemption increase, terming it a political maneuver.

Both sides said there was no doubt the big, 875-page general revision bill would pass, although some Democrats bitterly attacked parts of it.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn), acting Democratic whip, forecast a very close decision on the exemption increase but conceded "the odds have shifted toward the Republicans. I'd say if there's any advantage at all it's more on their side." The House has 219 Republicans, 215 Democrats and 1 independent.

Two Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who are in the thick of the fight, said privately they expect Democrats to lose the battle over exemptions. But they said the party would press the issue in the Senate and in congressional election campaigns this fall.

In five hours of heated debate yesterday, Democrats hammered

2 Detroiters Admit Breakin at Barnum

BIRMINGHAM — Two Detroit men admitted to police there yesterday they attempted to rob the safe at Barnum Junior High School Feb. 17.

James Anglin, 25, and David Rohde, 21, pleaded guilty to armed robbery charges in Detroit yesterday.

They were unsuccessful at the school, spending several hours breaking through a brick wall but not reaching the empty safe.

Doesn't 'Give Tinker's Dam'

White House Plea Defied, McCarthy Continues Fight

CHICAGO (UP) — Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy today defied White House pleas for moderation in congressional investigations and said his critics were trying to be heroes to a "jackal pack" snapping at his heels.

"I don't give a tinker's dam how high or low are the people in either party who are unhappy about our methods," the Wisconsin Republican said of his permanent subcommittee's investigations of communism.

President Eisenhower Wednesday deplored "unwise investigations" and national hysteria at a Washington news conference. Vice President Richard M. Nixon, acting as Eisenhower's spokesman, last week criticized "reckless" methods in congressional investigations.

The senator, speaking at a St. Patrick's Day banquet of the Irish Fellowship Club Wednesday night, also said he did not pick his celebrated fight with the Army, "but I think I will have to finish it."

3 Business Burglaries Last Night Cost $850, Raise Total to 28

A wave of breakins which has plagued the city for 12 days continued last night with three more burglaries which netted thieves an estimated $850 and raised the total number of entries to 28.

Det. Lt. Walter Krause said today there is a similiarity in the various recent breakins.

"It could be that the safe jobs are being done by one group and the other breaking by another group. They have the same pattern of operation," Krause said.

Detectives John DePauw, Allen Noble and John Wilson, who investigated the burglaries this morning, said that the pattern is com-

Freak Accidents Hurt 2 in County

Birmingham Motorist Is in Hospital Here After Car Rolls Over

A Birmingham motorist is in Pontiac General Hospital today with serious head injuries after his car sideswiped another, knocked down 27 mailboxes and went 500 feet and overturned last night on Lahser road in Southfield Township.

In another freak accident this morning, Edward E. Cline, 20, of Utica, escaped serious injury when his car ran off Bloomer road near Rochester and crashed through a barn.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies said Frederick J. Teichman, 42, of 21741 Hampton, Birmingham, had to be pried from his overturned car after it rolled to a stop in a yard at 32856 Lahser Rd.

Teichman, whose condition is listed as fair, sideswiped another car at 14-Mile road, deputies said.

Cline, who also had to be pried from his car, told deputies that he didn't know how the accident happened, but said he "must have fallen asleep."

The hurtling car, deputies said, smashed seven-foot holes in two walls of the barn located about 60 feet from the road. Cline was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital.

Volume of Mail Good Indicator of Prosperity

How's business?

According to Acting Pontiac Postmaster Leslie H. Dean's mail barometer "it's steadily going up."

Dean, who has been using the mail barometer system since 1940, says he's never known it to miss.

"The present trend shows that business is ahead of the first two months in 1953," Dean said. "This is indicated especially in the increased purchases of money orders and postal savings."

The post office's monthly reports show an increase of 13 per cent in revenue for the first two months of this year, over the same period in 1953.

Last year's recording was $151,097.54 which trails this year's figure of $170,757.56.

Total pieces of mail also increased by 7.5 per cent. Dean said that 4,749,469 articles of mail were handled during January and February. A total of 4,468,414 went through the post office in the same period in 1953.

A boost in man hours for the 223 employes was set at 5.26 per cent.

Dean, who has been with the post office since 1927, said he has found his system "as good an indication as any for forecasting business trends, and right now it looks very good."

He added:

"People write more letters when business is up."

French Troops Burn Forests to Repel Reds

Planes Drop Napalm as Desperate Defenders Continue Fight

HANOI, Indochina (UP) —The French defenders of Dien Bien Phu ringed their besieged bastion with an inferno of forest fires today to hold back a new Vietminh division massed for a final attack.

Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap threw in the new division to replace 12,000 dead and wounded rebels.

Waves of French bombers and fighter-bombers swept over the area in one of three war's heaviest air attacks, searing the forests with flaming napalm. Gunners of the encircled garrison opened a desperate barrage.

The pilots were ordered "at any cost" to seek out and destroy Communist assembly areas and gun positions and pound them mercilessly with explosives and napalm.

Brush and light growth, drying out after rain of two days ago, caught fire and the licking flames forced many Red soldiers to flee, French authorities said. A smoky brown-yellow pall hung over the basin.

The French high command reported the Reds moving supplies to Vo in Russian-made Molotov trucks and U. S.-built trucks which the Chinese captured from the Nationalists in China's Civil War.

But the rebels did not launch their expected all out assault last night. The French high command said harassing fire and patrol probes increased steadily, however.

The fighting has raged with unparalleling savagery since Saturday and the French accused the Vietminh of violating the Geneva Convention by firing on Red Cross planes attempting to evacauate some of the hundreds of French Union wounded.

Mild Temperatures, Showers Predicted

With spring just around the corner, the U. S. Weather Bureau predicts continued mild temperatures, coupled with showers late tonight and Friday.

A low of from 35 to 38 tonight is expected to rise to a high of from 48 to 52 degrees tomorrow.

Wednesday the mercury climbed from a low of 33 to a high of 50 degrees in the city.

At 8 a. m. today the reading was 32, but by 2 p. m. the temperature rose to 52 degrees in downtown Pontiac.

House Probers Reopen Reds-in-Religion Hearings

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House Un-American Activities Committee reopened its investigation of Communists-in-religion today and centered the new inquiry on activities in the Baltimore area in the 1930s.

The Rev. John Hutchinson, professor of religion at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., was subpoenaed to testify at a public hearing before a subcommittee headed by Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif).

It is the group's first hearing involving a churchman since last summer when the committee questioned Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Washington and the Rev. Jack R. McMichael of Upper Lake, Calif.

Jackson told newsmen that Hutchinson was being called "as an individual and not as a member of any church or creed" for questioning relative to red activities in the Baltimore area.

He said the general purpose of the hearing is "to determine how successful Communist front groups were in soliciting and obtaining the aid of ministers."

Jackson said that Hutchinson is a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary in New York, which figured prominently in the testimony at the Oxnam and McMichael hearings.

Ex-Communist Benjamin Gitlow testified that Dr. Harry F. Ward professor emeritus of the seminary was a "chief architect" of the Communist Party activities in the religious field. Ward has denied the charge.

Another former Red, Joseph Kornfeder, told the House group last year that an estimated 600 ministers were Communist Party members and 3,000 or 4,000 were fellow travelers.

'Escaped' Panther Behind Bars Despite Rumors

LOS ANGELES (UP)—The black panther scare is over today and Los Angeles and the 45 other communities in the county were breathing a bit easier—or trying to, at least.

The whole thing was a hoax, whether intended or no. The jungle cat is in the cage of Wayne Roberts, a carnival owner, and has been all the time. Roberts insisted that his report to police last Monday saying the panther was missing was based on an inventory error, and not on a desire for publicity.

Claims Probes Brought to Light No New Cases

Secretary of Defense Disputes McCarthy's 'Coddling' Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson denied today the Army is "coddling Communists," and declared he has "absolute and complete confidence" in Secretary of the Army Stevens.

Testifying before the Senate Armed Services Committee, Wilson also said he has confidence in John G. Adams, the Army's general counsel, "as far as I know" about him.

Wilson, under questioning by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said too that no case of Communist or subversive infiltration in the armed forces had been exposed by any congressional committee that had not been previously known to defense officials.

By indirection, this disputed contention by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) that his investigations subcommittee had dug out subversives unknown to authorities.

Senators raised the questions of "coddling" and other words and phrases McCarthy has used while Wilson was before them on another matter.

The primary reason for his appearance before the committee was to discuss proposed changes in the doctor draft law.

The defense secretary said the armed services have 51 drafted doctors and dentists who have been denied commissions—20 because of "very questionable loyalty."

Wilson said the remaining 31 were refused commissions because in some respects other than serious loyalty doubts they failed to qualify as officers.

Of the 51 physicians and dentists, he said, two are in the Air Force and the rest in the Army. The Navy has none.

Wilson gave the figures to the Senate Armed Services Committee under questioning by Sen. Byrd (D-Va).

"Twenty out of the 14,000 doctors we have drafted is not a considerable number," Wilson said.

"I don't want anyone to get the idea we have many disloyal doctors."

Wilson led a group of top Pentagon officials, including Secretary of the Army Stevens, before the Senate committee for a discussion of how the armed services are handling the problem of Communist infiltration and subversion.

Specifically, they want a change in the doctors draft law to make it

Rashid Pledges Thorough Probe

Grand Jury Prosecutor to 'Pull No Punches' in Detroit Police Scandal

DETROIT (UP) — A grand jury prosecutor pledged today to "pull no punches" in the investigation of suspected police graft.

The prosecutor, Joseph G. Rashid, 40, South Dakota-born and Detroit-educated, made his promise as he and Grand Juror Judge John P. O'Hara prepared to launch the inquiry.

Judge O'Hara, acting as a one-man grand jury, said he plans to call the first witnesses Monday.

Thirteen Detroit policemen have been suspended on suspicion of collecting payments from numbers racketeers or otherwise being false to their oaths. Unverified reports say there may be others.

Rashid, chief trial lawyer for Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien, spoke firmly about his responsibilities.

"There will be no punches pulled at any time and the chips will fall where they may," he said. "Anyone guilty of wrongdoing will be brought to justice."

At the same time Rashid promised to "go out of my way" if necessary to safeguard innocent policemen.

Police heads, in connection with the original announcement of the suspected scandal, emphasized the belief the great majority of the force was honest and above reproach.

U.S. Super H-Bomb Puts Crimp in Defense Schemes

WASHINGTON (INS) — Word that the U. S. has set off an H-bomb which amazed its creators raised an appalling new problem today in the Eisenhower administration's attempts to effect international control of super-weapons.

The terrific blast that initiated atomic-hydrogen tests in the Pacific earlier this month is now known to have equalled at least 15 million tons of TNT and was probably 1,000 times more powerful than the A-bombs that leveled Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Rep. Carl Durham (D-NC), long-time member of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, indicated in confirming reports of the new H-bomb's size that it may have been even more super-destructive than has ever been predicted.

Durham said the detonation was "several times" more powerful than the first H-bomb, which was set off in the gray dawn of Nov. 1, 1952, and is known to have equalled five million tons of TNT — 250 times the Hiroshima bomb.

At the lowest interpretation of "several times" the first thermonuclear explosion, the new H-bomb could destroy all life in an area of 500 square miles.

Congressional sources agreed that the explosions exceeded the expectations of scientists who prepared the bomb.

Some reports stated that instruments spread over several hundred miles of the Pacific were inadequate to record the full effect of the blast.

The reports suggested a possible explanation of why 264 persons on

Birmingham Police Dept. Reports 15 Pct. Increase in Major Crimes in 1953

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — The annual report of the Birmingham Police Department for 1953 shows a 15 per cent increase in major crimes committed, and a slight increase over 1952 in the total number of accidents, injuries, and property damage.

Chief of Police Ralph W. Moxley said there was a substantial increase in offenses cleared by arrest, indicating that the crime problem is being kept under control.

Auto thefts showed the largest increase, jumping from 12 in 1952 to 32 in 1953. Breaking and entering followed with 45 in 1953, compared to 35 in 1952.

Juvenile crime increased approximately 41 per cent, with 95 youths under 17 arrested in 1952, and 163 in 1953. A breakdown of residence statistics on juvenile arrests shows that in 1952 27 per cent of youngsters arrested lived outside the city; in 1952 the outsider figure was 44 per cent.

Thirty-three were arrested for auto theft in 1953, compared to 11 in 1952.

Right-of-way violations and following too closely accounted for 113 of 294 accidents. Of 19 persons charged with drunk driving, 13 were found guilty of the charge, and five found guilty of lesser charges.

neighborhood newspaper today, also said that the policy of the Communist party was to push itself into any fights between McCarthy and Eisenhower in the hope of making them both look bad.

McCarthy made it clear he would resist any moves to change the operating rules of his subcommittee and said his much-discussed methods had forced at least 20 Communists out of federal or defense jobs.

"Traitors are not gentlemen," he said. "They don't understand being treated like gentlemen."

McCarthy was greeted with enthusiastic applause after John J. Kelly, Irish Fellowship Club board director, introduced him as the man who "is driving the snakes out of America" as St. Patrick drove the snakes from Erin.

During the speech applause from the crowd of about 1,600 persons in a Palmer House banquet hall was frequent but not prolonged.

Votes Stacking Up to Pass Tax Bill

away at their theme that the GOP-sponsored revision program is loaded with huge benefits for corporations and wealthy stockholders with only scattered and light relief for the great majority of people in lower income brackets.

They insisted the exemption increase is vital to make the tax program fair to all, and to help increase consumer buying power and pull the nation out of the current economic dip.

Republicans denied favoritism in the revision program, and said all taxpayers would benefit. They said the revenue loss from the proposed exemption increase would "utterly destroy the government's financial stability."

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey took up verbal cudgels for the Eisenhower administration's tax program in a letter to House Speaker Martin (R-Mass). He said:

"I feel as strongly as I can that it is in the long run interests of the American people that this bill be enacted substantially in its present form."

He especially defended a part of the revision program which would reduce taxes on dividends received by stockholders. The Democratic amendment, in addition to increasing exemptions, would knock the dividend tax cut out of the bill.

Humphrey said both major political parties "have for almost 20 years recognized the unfairness of double taxation of dividends."

Sponsors of the proposal say corporation profits now are taxed twice, first under corporation income taxes and a second time under individual income taxes as profits are distributed in dividends.

Humphrey said the late President Roosevelt "recognized the inequity of double taxation of dividends in his tax message of March 1936."

He said many Democrats still on the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee signed a 1948 report recommending a revision of the entire federal tax system and listing "such important matters as the double taxation of dividends" as among "needed amendments."

On the other hand, AFL President George Meany, in a letter to each member of Congress, termed the provision "indefensible" and said "no proposal in recent years has come so close to being class legislation."

There has been a ruling by one court that a commission is mandatory.

Wilson said doctors of questionable loyalty will not be commissioned.

"We'll discharge them before we'll commission them," he declared.

On the point of whether they could be given dishonorable discharges, Wilson said he thought they could but that the Army hesitates to do it without court-martial trials.

In the background was the roaring dispute between Secretary Stevens and Army Counsel John G. Adams, on the one hand, and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and his chief counsel, Roy Cohn, on the other over McCarthy's hunting for Reds in the Army.

Anticipation that the Stevens-McCarthy dispute might come up brought out such a large crowd of spectators that Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) shifted the session from the committee's own hearing room to the larger Senate caucus room. The latter room seats about 250.

Television and news reel cameras were spotted on the witnesses.

Wilson, reading a prepared statement, said defense officials welcomed a chance to discuss "the vital problem of dealing with Communists."

"This question affects the morale, the effectiveness and the prestige of the armed services," he said.

State Stays Out of Dog Wrangle

House Unit Kills Bill Insisting on Shots for Rabies in Pontiac

A bill to force Pontiac dog owners to have dogs vaccinated against rabies is dead in Michigan House of Representatives' committee on towns and counties.

Rep. Roy H. Brigham (R-Kalamazoo), committee chairman, said his unit would not recommend the bill be passed.

"People from that area (the Pontiac area) both favored and opposed it," he said. "We seemed to be getting into some neighborhood argument. We felt the people themselves should get together without interference from upstate."

The bill, introduced Feb. 2 by Rep. Fred G. Beardsley (R-Oxford) had its roots in Oakland County Board of Supervisors' action Jan. 18.

The board ordered its legislative committee and Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, to try to plug the loophole in Michigan's dog law that let Pontiac go on issuing its dog licenses without requiring vaccination. Supervisors have ordered no county dog licenses issued without proof that the dogs have been vaccinated within the previous year.

The bill, House Bill 227, would force cities that issue their own dog licenses to call for compulsory dog vaccination if their county boards of supervisors did.

Capistrano Marks Return of Birds Despite Doubters

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif. (AP) — The old mission here will go right on celebrating the arrival of the swallows on March 19, despite skepticism of some Audubon Society members.

William K. Kirsher, member of the Sacramento Audubon Society, said he is weary of "the pat little syndicated story" about the punctual return of the swallows to the mission each year.

"Through a long period of inculcation by the press," said Kirsher, "the phenomenal promptness of the returning Capistrano swallows with its mystical overtones, has become a legend against which mere truth is a feeble antagonist."

The Rev. Vincent Russell said in reply that the mission has never made any categorical claims concerning the swallows' return, "but it seems that the main body of the birds does arrive on March 19, and we make note of the fact in connection with our observance of St. Joseph's Day on that date."

Father Russell estimated that there are about a dozen swallows now at the mission.

"It is interesting to recall," he said, "that in the early days of the mission the Indians celebrated their ancient feast of the birds at just this time of year."

This was a rite which apparently grew out of their reverence for a legendary bird of great size and power.

School Board to Award Building Contract Friday

Pontiac Board of Education will meet Friday at 5 p. m. in school offices, 40 Patterson St., to award contracts for a one-room addition to Owen School.

Contractors' bids on the addition, scheduled for completion by September, were opened Wednesday afternoon. School officials say they want to let contracts quickly so building can get started as soon as possible.

Defense Plans Hurt by Super H-Bomb

Kwajalein Island, and an undetermined number of Japanese fishermen who said they were outside restricted waters, were unexpectedly exposed to radiation during the test. Some of the Japanese are in serious condition.

Administration sources said that the overwhelming power of the new weapon "greatly complicates" international control by raising a question whether defense could be based on retaliation after an agreement was broken.

With the possibility that even H-bombs too big for planes might be delivered in submarines or tramp steamers, and might strike at several points at the same time, they said the question is raised again whether a country could survive to retaliate after the first attack.

The sources revealed that the development is likely to upset calculations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who had concluded, that with modern air defenses the U. S. could survive even a well-planned A-bomb attack hitting at many points simultaneously.

Mail Chute

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (UP) — Mailman Frank Wynne delivered mail to a downtown business building the hard way. He fell through a sidwalk grating and landed in the cellar of the building. He was treated for minor injuries at a hospital.

'HOME BEAUTY'—Mrs. William Luther, 66, of Galien, Mich., will match her time-tested culinary charms against the nation's most beautiful housewives for the 1954 "Mrs. America" title. She's not even disturbed over the fact that she may have to appear in a swimming suit. For the first time in 16 years, the contest will stress ability in the kitchen over beauty, which should give Mrs. Smith a lead over some of her younger goes.

Hearings Open on Outlaw Bills

11 Separate Measures Seek to Brand Commie Party as Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first legislative hearings on outlawing the Communist party in the United States were called today by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

Eleven members of the House were on hand to argue the merits of as many bills to strip the Communist party of its political label and brand it a subversive clique without legal standing.

While recommendations to outlaw the Communist party have been made on numerous occasions, this was the first time a legislative committee of Congress has formally undertaken hearings on specific bills.

The House Un-American Activities Committee, in its last year-end report, withheld recommendation on this point pending outcome of final court review of the findings of the Subversive Activities Control Board.

The Board, after nearly three years of hearings, last year ruled the Communist party was a subversive organizatiion. The finding of the board has been appealed to the courts.

The board's findings, however, gave impetus to attempts in Congress to enact a law to outlaw the party, and 11 House members have sponsored separate bills to this end—two of them Republican, the rest Democrats.

The Republican sponsors are Rep. Hagen of Minnesota and Rep. Clardy of Michigan.

The Democrats include Rep. Martin Dies of Texas, chairman of the first Committee on Un-American Activities in the House.

The others are Rep. Walter (Pa), senior Democrat on the Un-American Activities Committee; and Representatives Boggs (La), Bennett (Fla), King (Calif), Staggers (WVa), Wilson (Tex), and Madden (Ind) and O'Brien (NY).

Internal Revenue Officer Candling Empty Envelopes

OMAHA (AP)—Carl E. Lundgren has closed his desk at the internal revenue office here to start his annual letter "candling."

When the flood of income tax returns sent in by mail hits the office about the tax-deadline time, Lundgren begins a methodical search of empty envelopes for checks and other enclosures which may have been overlooked. Each envelope is passed over a light to make sure it's empty, just the way an egg is examined.

So far this season lundgren's "candling" has turned up $1,600.

Gunman on Spree Wounded by Police

DENVER (AP)—Police wounded a young gunman in the arm yesterday near the Colorado capitol after his bullets shattered street lamps and a bookstore window.

The gunman, who identified himself as Robert Smith, 25, of Casper, Wyo., shot out street lights in the civic center and nearby statehouse grounds and fired wildly at police before an answering bullet brought him down.

Police quoted Smith as saying he came here from Casper two days ago and was disgruntled because he couldn't find a job.

Dust-Filled Storm Brings Brown Snow to Idaho

HAILEY, Idaho (AP)—Hailey had a brown snow yesterday.

A storm blew in from the Southwest and apparently picked up dust particles from Nevada dust storms. Sheriff Les Outzs said the windshield of his car looked as if it had been spattered with mud.

Many Countries Battling for Kashmir, the Window

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Kashmir, besides being the birthplace of Kashmir wool and thus the Kashmir sweater, also is the center of bitter strife between India and Pakistan.

It also has been called a "window on Tibet."

And its capital, Srinagar, has been called "a Venice in the mountains."

Thus it may be deduced that its value is both scenic and political.

Comes now, India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru who is perennially annoyed with the United States and righ, now is especially annoyed because the United States has agreed to extend military aid to his neighbor, Pakistan.

In retaliation he has issued a one-sided decree to the effect that United States members of the truce observation team in Kashmir are unwelcome guests.

He wants the United Nations, which is in charge of the cease-fire in Kashmir between India and Pakistan, to throw the Americans out.

For one thing, it illustrates the far-flung, and, in many cases, the little known points of the world in which United States representatives find themselves.

For another, and strictly from the personal standpoint of the 21 Americans stationed with the U. N. team in Kashmir, it would be too bad, since by now they must be pretty well accustomed to Srinagar which is the Venice, Miami, Palm Springs or what have you of that part of the world.

A National Geographic Magazine writer once wrote:

"We lunch here under towering chenar trees, as guests of the maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir, and mingle with his friends, by night we dine on one of his houseboats. We are rowed through the reflected beauty of lake and mountain by silent Kashmiris wielding paddles shaped like hearts . . . The full moon looks down on Dal Lake — such scenes as only dreamers know in less-favored climes."

Kashmir is about the size of Pennsylvania and is inhabited by about 4,000,000 persons, of whom the majority are Moslem but whose rulers are Hindu.

As might be expected, its rulers have leaned toward union with India. Moslem Pakistan, however, also claims it on the basis of religious ties.

The two countries have been fighting for it since 1947, the same year they became independent nations. In that year, Pakistani tribesmen entered it in an attempt to conquer it for Pakistan.

India retaliated with troops and now an uneasy peace prevails, with Pakistani troops on one side of a cease-fire line in the West, and Indian troops on the East, and a United Nations Commission in the middle.

Geographically, Kashmir is important to the Western nations or their Allies because it borders on Red Chinese-held Tibet and is separated from Soviet Russia only by a thin strip of Afghanistan. So it is a "window" on both major Communist countries.

For Pakistan it is important because, in the hands of any other power, it could cut off the source of rivers which are essential to Pakistan livelihood.

On paper both India and Pakistan favor letting the Kashmiri make their own decisions by popular vote. One projected date has been next May.

Police Pursue Police, No One Gets Caught

BETHANY, Okla. (AP) — Police Car No. 2 in this small city moved fast after receiving a radio message, the officers in the car spotted a fast-moving car in the distance and radioed back: "We're chasing him now."

Back came a message: "Bethany Car 1 to Bethany Car 2. Slow down. That's me you're chasing. I'm trying to catch that guy too."

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

THURSDAY, MARCH 18, 1954

Foes Stalling Seaway

While he may not be surprised, Rep. George A. Dondero no doubt is concerned by the success of St. Lawrence waterway foes in delaying a House vote.

Approved by the Senate weeks ago and reported favorably by a 23 to 6 vote of Dondero's Public Works Committee, the seaway bill is stalled in the House Rules Committee. Approval of that group is necessary before the measure can go to the floor.

As the records show, foes of this project will seize on anything to block U. S. participation. The latest excuse is the desire of Maryland's Democratic Rep. Fallon, a bitter seaway foe, to be present when the committee votes. The fact that Mr. Fallon was one of the five Congressmen wounded by the Puerto Rican Nationalists has served the opposition well.

But that doesn't alter two other facts — time is running out on our decision and Canada is increasingly anxious to build the seaway alone.

Nothing Congress can do will block construction. The only question is — will we have the vision to be in on it. That, of course, means will the Rules Committee let the House vote on this bill.

262 Years Too Late

The great State of Massachusetts is moving to wipe out the shame of the witchcraft indictments and convictions in Salem back in 1692.

Unfortunately 19 of the hundreds who were accused and arrested during the year long community hysteria, were hanged. The rest, however, later were freed and now a descendant of Ann Greenslade Pudeator has persuaded the State Legislature to erase the conviction which cost her ancestor's life on Gallows Hill.

The extent to which fear had gripped Salem is emphasized by the case of Susannah Martin. History has it that the town's elders believed she was a witch because she sent "the devil into cattle, raised phantom puppies and came into the house dry out of a heavy rainstorm."

Whether the Bay State's action to make amends after 262 years will include refutation of the tale that Salem witches were burned alive, isn't yet clear. There is no record of such outrages.

But at least it is good to know that all possible is being done to clear the names of those who suffered or died as a result of Salem's madness.

Naval Oil Reserves

Signs of the political times include more than just a hint of an effort to set aside the 42-year-old policy of maintaining naval oil reserves.

First indication of this trend came from Nebraska's Republican Senator Butler. He proposed that as a part of Alaska's transition from territory to statehood, the Point Barrow naval oil reserve be thrown open to private exploitation.

Shortly thereafter John Darden, the Denver oil man, suggested similar action with respect to Wyoming's Teapot Dome which figured so prominently in the oil scandals during the Harding Administration. Moreover, he contends that the Navy, as well as Wyoming's Senators Hunt and Barrett, eventually will support his proposal.

If these proposals are implemented, the Navy would have left only two oil reservations, one at Elk Hills, Calif., and another nearby. Another effect, of course, would be virtually to end the policy established in 1912 by President Taft and maintained since by both Republican and Democratic Administrations.

Before Congress even considers acting favorably on such a policy shift, it should get the other side of the story. The place to get that is from the Defense Department.

Housing Plan Periled

Federal Housing Administrator Cole has admitted that if not corrected a sleeper in current legislation would kill the Eisenhower housing program for the next fiscal year.

The admission came when Mr. Cole was testifying before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. Senator Maybank noted that an Appropriations Committee rider to the bill authorizing the current program would have the effect of ending public housing as of July 1.

Mr. Cole, a former Republican Congressman, agrees with Senator Maybank that corrective action by Congress is needed to save the Administration's new housing program.

No time should be lost in remedying this situation. The liberalized Eisenhower housing program with its promise of 35,000 dwelling units in the next fiscal year has won widespread support. No sleeper should be allowed to block it.

A few people love life so much that if they can't live any other way they will turn to working for a living as a last resort.

Claims We Need More Leaders Like McCarthy

I would like to voice my opinion regarding Senator McCarthy, who in my estimation is doing a great job to uncover treason and spying in our government and military forces.

We are spending billions of the taxpayers' money for a program, "Freedom for Europe," but ignore and lightly pass by the fact that as one writer claimed . . . we do have Benedict Arnolds in high places. One red blooded American has the courage to unmask and warn the public of the danger.

There is a saying "that truth hurts" and therefore the smear of Senator McCarthy, sponsored by those of a guilty conscience. More power and confidence to and in the senator . . . we need his kind.

Believes Patients Who Worry Prolong Illness

I was taken ill Feb. 24 very suddenly and was lucky to get hold of my doctor by phone seconds after I was stricken. I was alone but the doctor arrived quickly and then I had a fast ambulance ride to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

One hour after being stricken I was under an oxygen tent. The student nurses and registered nurses were trying to make me comfortable.

There are some people who would gripe if they had the whole world for themselves. I have cooked for and also waited on the public as a clerk and waitress and know you just can't please everybody.

Food is the main gripe at the hospital but will people ever understand they are in the hospital because of illness? The food is everyday, good food for the patients to get better on.

The patients that worry and stew over their trays must realize that keeps them upset and in the hospital longer. During the depression days they didn't even have it cold or hot to eat. They should thank God they have hospitals to go to.

How Is Cold War Working for Russia? Coming Nicely, Thank You, Says Soviet

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What is Russia's game? What are her plans and intentions?

All speeches coming out of the Communist ranks, including addresses by both Malenkov and Molotov in the last few days, indicate a desire to avoid a hot war and even to put an end to the "cold war."

Why should Malenkov emphasize that, "with the existence of modern means of destruction, a third world war would mean destruction of civilization"?

The answer is that he wishes his own people not to believe the cries from the free world that Soviet Russia has aggressive intentions. Also he is impressed with America's growing armament program. He doesn't want the big atomic war.

Is Russia, therefore, interested primarily in the pursuit of the "cold war," which thus far has added nearly 600,000,000 persons to the side of the Communists in Europe and Asia without involving a single regiment of Soviet troops?

The answer is that the "cold war" offers further opportunities for infiltration of free countries and also for the acquisition of important raw materials needed in the next five years for the Soviet armament program.

Does Russia concede that it wants to pursue the "cold war?" Of course not.

Reiterating that its intentions are peaceful at all times, the spokesman for Soviet Russia who succeeded Stalin—Premier Malenkov — now says that Soviet Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war."

Where is the "cold war" being fought today?

In Italy, in France and in Great Britain, in India and in the Near East, and also in Africa and Latin America as well as within the United States.

Just what is the "cold war"? It is a method of warfare inside free countries which seeks, through Communist-front organizations and through political influence, to gain control of governments or at least to influence the trend of its policies.

How is such infiltration accomplished?

In some countries, like France and Italy, where the Communist party is not regarded as a conspiracy, direct access is gained to cabinets and government departments where important information is acquired daily as to the trend of policies while they are being shaped.

This permits Moscow to move on the diplomatic scene in ways that cause international friction and weaken the solidarity of the free world.

What is the present objective of the Soviets in the "cold war"?

It is to drive a wedge between Great Britain and France, on the one hand, and the United States on the other. It is aimed at producing dissension by a campaign inside free countries to resume trade between Europe and the Iron Curtain countries.

The door is being opened to such trade. The United States government is wobbling on the issue.

The Soviets see a chance of getting Britain and other countries so entangled in trade that Russia will acquire in the next few years strategic materials and machinery acutely needed for armament and also for improvement of the Moscow government's internal position through the production of more consumer goods.

What about the hot spot in the "cold war" — Indochina? This is the trump card of the Soviets.

They see the French anxious to pull out and they see the parliament in Paris divided through Communist influence and they see all of Southeast Asia soon falling into the hands of the Soviets once Indochina is surrendered by a phony armistice set-up like Korea.

The "cold war," on the whole, goes well for Soviet Russia, and that's the war Moscow is most eager to win because it is less expensive in men and money than a third world war of the atomic variety.

'Blood Kinship' Analogy Helps Explain Adoption

Foster children forget that their Daddy and Mother are of no blood kinship to each other at all. For in marriage, two previous strangers just "adopt" each other because of love. So employ this analogy when you inform your adopted child.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-352: Larry T., aged 12, was adopted in infancy by a young dentist and his wife.

"But we have never told Larry about it," his mother informed me nervously.

"His Daddy thinks we ought to do so, and I have felt it was his Daddy's job to tell Larry.

"But Daddy says mothers are closer to children than are their fathers, so he has insisted that I do it.

"Dr. Crane, I've tried to broach the subject several times, but I just couldn't get up the nerve. Besides, I didn't know what to say.

"How should I inform Larry that we adopted him as a baby?"

Some evening after a meal, have a little tete-a-tete with your foster child.

Maybe it will be when you are doing the evening dishes together. Just casually start to reminisce about the past.

"Fifteen years ago I met the most wonderful young man I had ever seen," Larry's mother might begin.

"I fell in love with him at first sight. It was your Daddy. And fortunately, he also fell in love with me, too.

"We went together for a few months and then we got married. And we were very happy.

"But we wanted a baby boy, and one day at the hospital, I saw you. And I fell in love with you at first sight, just as I did with your Daddy.

So I picked you for my son, just as I picked Daddy for my husband.

"Now Daddy and I are not blood kinship at all, yet I have felt closer to him than to my own brothers and sisters with whom I grew up as a child.

"For the strongest bond on this earth is that of love and voluntary affection.

"You and I are not of actual blood kinship, either, but I also feel closer to you than to my brothers and sister.

"For we three are all held together because we love one another. And we belong together forever because we have chosen each other."

Be sure to use that method of informing your foster child. For it will banish his feeling that he doesn't quite "belong."

Even if you have employed the conventional statement that foster children are "picked" whereas other parents have no choice but must take what the doctor delivers, this isn't enough.

For your adopted child will spontaneously begin to feel that he isn't quite admitted to the inner sanctum.

So use the analogy of the marriage relationship where we pick a total stranger as regards blood ancestry, yet become closer to our mate than to our own siblings, who are blood kin.

For this analogy is simple and effective. Your foster child grasps it readily.

"Why, Daddy and Mother are not any blood kin, either, he will exclaim, as his eyes light up with happiness.

Most adopted children never pause to realize that marriage is just a case of mutual "adoption" where two alien blood ancestries unite by voluntary choice, due to love.

Once this analogy is made clear, your foster child will relax and feel that reassurance of being a member of the inner sanctum in your home.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3 cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Baering Down

It was Metternich the sardonic Austrian premier who said Russia was an autocratic monarchy tempered by assassination.

At the time Metternich cracked wise the nihilists were bombing away with sputterers, fast ones and slow grenades.

They were knocking over the tsars like stacked dishes.

We thought that style of plebiscite had gone out with czarism. He who lives by the sword shouldn't eat with his knife.

There isn't much you can do when a screwball tilts his toupee over imagined wrongs and whipped-up aberrations. The whole thing happens as sudden as a busted tooth.

We've been fortunate as spring weather that we haven't had much of that skirmishing. There is no reason for it. At its worst a republic is a democracy tempered by investigations.

Nothing scrambles a cause more than corrosive ambushes and individual violence. Benito Mussolini hepped this so well he staged shooting matches through his official windows.

Benito did not stand there with an apple on his noggin. He used a potato on the end of a 16-foot pole.

The faked stories of the murderous serenade made the front page of Benito's newspaper. And each time Benito came out on the balcony using poet and peasant for bow music. It runs 19 minutes.

This is not the country for that kind of score-keeping. The Constitution gives you the right to petition congress or a quizz panel.

But you cannot even settle the status of the iron birds in a Coney Island shooting gallery with a gun.

So we ask with the idiot in George Cohan's famous play, "What's All the Shooting For?"

High or Low Blood Pressure Is a Sign of Trouble, but Is No Ailment in Itself

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A correspondent asked: What is hypertension? What causes it? Can it result from an automobile accident?

Some readers may have noticed that the chap who conducts this column doesn't say much about high blood pressure.

High blood pressure (hypertension is a $1.98 word for it) is a sign, an abnormality, discovered by the physician when he or she examines the patient. It is not an ailment.

It is not even a symptom, for nothing the person with high blood pressure can feel or see warrants the conclusion or inference that the blood pressure is too high.

Neither flushing of the face nor headache nor throbbing sensations nor dizziness nor other unpleasant or abnormal sensation indicates high blood pressure.

The reason why no medicine, treatment, diet or other remedy for high blood pressure gets into this column is that this is a health column.

Being a quack (see Webster), I profess to know all about high blood pressure (hypertension).

Or, to tell the truth, I know just enough about it to assure you that the discovery of high blood pressure is not a diagnosis of the patient's ailment, and a physician or anyone else who prescribes or administers treatment for high blood pressure is a word they tell me I simply cannot use in this column.

In Little Lesson No. 2, C V D—cardiovascular degeneration, that is, common heart and artery troubles—for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope—I tell all you need to know about high blood pressure, as follows:

The blood pressure is too high or too low in consequence of what ails you or your way of living.

You will never get anywhere if you are childish enough to believe that your blood pressure has somehow gotten out of kilter when you weren't watching it carefully enough, so if you can only find some drug, diet, bath, mechanical or physical treatment that will raise or lower it a few notches your complaints will vanish . . .

Since Tom, Dick and Harry are equipped to "take" your blood pressure, just as the neighborhood fairy gang "takes" your temperature, many poor souls have acquired the habit of "watching" their blood pressure, just as almanac readers in the 19th century "watched" their bowels.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Homer WSCS Keeps Lost Art of Quilting Alive

HOMER (AP) — Busy fingers skilled in an almost lost art bring money for modern use to a flourishing group in Homer.

The art is quilting. The fingers are those of a Methodist Church women's society.

Their fine stitches, worked on such old fashioned designs as "Grandmother's Flower Garden," "Trip Around the World," and "Hole in the Barn," turn out colorful quilts. These are handed down through the years for the needy, and sold with other handiwork to finance church and community projects.

The group—the Homer Methodist Women's Society for Christian Services—dates back to the formation of the Homer Ladies Aid in 1875. Quilting is traditional with the society.

A long-time member, Mrs. John Naugle, says: "Not many women can quilt nowadays. It takes patience and lots of practice and a good steady hand to make the stitches fine and even on both sides."

Money raised by the society financed an addition to the Homer Methodist Church. The next big project is a new kitchen addition for the church.

Two-Headed Baby Reported in Trouble

PETERSBURG, Ind. (INS) — Oxygen was being administered today to the weaker half of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hartley's two-baby boy.

Dr. J. J. Elbert said the 3-months-old baby has shown no interest in eating for two days and that oxygen was given to Daniel Kay when his breathing became difficult Monday.

Mrs. Hartley said she has given the child oxygen several times.

Dr. Elbert said he believed the food that Donald Ray is eating will provide for the needs of the weaker head and arms of Daniel Kay whose digestive tract is not complete.

The physician said he has not yet determined what is causing the boy's breathing trouble.

Bob Considine Says:

Take Trip in Air Pullman and Enjoy the Revolution

NEW YORK (INS) — Took an 1,100 mile ride down to the blossomed-filled Shenandoah Valley the other day for lunch. It was worth it.

Pan American World Airways wanted to give a crowd of us final assurance that the era of the aerial pullman is here to stay.

For years I wondered if the airlines would ever get around to first class travel. The rudimentary nature of the first large equipment, the frantically served and badly prepared meals, seats placed so close that when the guy in front of you leaned back his head was in your coffee, the cramped and evil little restrooms, gave passengers on long flights a vague feeling that they were living in a flying slum.

Such travel, of course, still exists. What was alarming was the headlong flights of the airlines to lower even that low standard of transportation.

"The tourist flight" attracted new customers to flying, which was of course its purpose, but it added no more to the prestige of the industry than would the opening of a Chinese laundry add to real estate values along Park avenue.

More and smaller seats were nailed into the big tin cylinders, the rug down the middle was permitted to fray, the stewardess became a drudge who was sorely overworked, and the long lines of patient people and bawling children queued up in front of the little overworked restroom.

Creature comfort seemed to be just about the last thing the operators had in mind. They had started, in truth, with what would correspond in railroading with coach travel.

Now, instead of raising the standard of life in the air they were depressing it. Instead of going on from coach to pullman they went from coach to cattle car.

But at a certain point the downward spiral stopped, real sudden like. My first personal experience with pullman travel in the air was on a non-stop trip to London on TWA's Ambassador three years ago.

Suddenly, that guy's head wasn't in the coffee. He seemed yards away, there was so much leg room. And it didn't have to be coffee. It could be a drink or a bottle of wine.

And there was the leisure of a number of courses in the meal, and flowers about the place, good reading lights in the lounge, and a big bed to sleep in over the Atlantic.

In the ensuing time I've flown on all the major U. S. lines and many of the foreign carriers and am happy to see them now thoroughly engaged in race for the premium buck, in addition to maintaining regular tourist travel.

Some amazing things are being done with the interiors, furniture and hardware of routine-looking Constellations, DC7s, DC6Bs, and Boeing Stratocruisers. Like "dishware by Raymond Loewy."

Pan Am used one of its "President" Stratocruisers the other day to show off its new features. This equipment os four or five years old and is no longer being made, but the twin decks, the fine insulation and air of spaciousness made it — I think — the most comfortable plane in the air, though not the fastest.

Our clipper, commanded by an old hand named Emery Wanless, had been redesigned to hold only half as many passengers as it could carry in a pinch.

The 8-seat compartment ahead of the wing had been rebuilt into two staterooms, equipped with fully reclining chairs, leather-covered divans, private clothes closets, removable table, wash stands, book shelves and fold-away beds.

In the calm air 14,000 feet above the gusts of spring that whipped the ground, we tooled smoothly down the coastline until the first groping fingers of spring could be seen. The Scotch Sour was just right. The lobster, the filet mignon (my seat-mate John Watson had a partridge we had rammed), the variety of desserts, cheeses and assorted nectars. So was the sweet music that filled our isle in the sky.

Parakeet-Parrot Problem Found Not for the Flighty

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS) — The F.B.I. is hunting 47 blue parakeets, and here's wishing them good hunting.

The missing 47 flew up from Miami to Idlewild Airport, or rather were flown up in a carton, along with 160 lovebirds in two other cartons.

Arriving in the chilly hour before dawn, all the birds were stored in the airport office for warmth, but when the owner arrived, only the lovebirds were present.

Their fine feathered friends, worth $500, or about $10 per parakeet, were missing, and since interstate shipping was involved, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was summoned as well as local police.

This yarn may strike some wise old bird as being trifling, but the three million Americans who own five million parakeets certainly won't feel that way about it.

Nor did I pick these parakeet figures out of the air or on the fly. They come from a birdseed, mustard and spice manufacturer, and if there's one authority whose statistics I'd never question, it's a birdseed, mustard and spice manufacturer.

But in my ignorance, I did question what difference, except size, there was between parakeets and parrots, and straight as the crow flies, I went to a dictionary.

"Parrot," it said, "any of numerous hook-billed, fleshy-tongued, often gaily colored birds which constitute the order Psittaciformes, as the cockatoo, lory, macaw, parakeet."

"Parakeet" was perched on another page. "Any of numerous small slender parrots, usually with long, pointed, graduated tail, as the Australian grass parakeet, melopsittacus undulatus. Also paraquet, paroquet, parrakeet, paroket, parroquet."

Wouldn't you think they could make up their minds? What kind of fleshy-tongued doubletalk is that?

Not a word about important things like the different dialogue for parrot or parakeet. If the correct approach to a parrot is, "Polly want a cracker?" What is considered proper ettiquette for a first pass at a parakeet?

In the interests of journalism, I interviewed a pet shop owner and asked.

"You can say anything you want to a parakeet," the owner said irately, as if freedom of speech were at stake. "And you can teach them to say anything you want."

"Parakeets have young minds," he went on. "They're brighter than some people."

Boy's Marble Collection Decreased by TV Show

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP)—Ten-year-old Johnny Stubblefield got excited watching a television program last night and swallowed a marble.

He was rushed 75 miles by highway patrol escort to an Oklahoma City hospital. Doctors said they may have to operate if the marble lodged in his lung.

The youngster said except for the hiccoughs "I didn't feel a thing."

"I like to collect marbles. I've got 800 of them but this is the first time I ever swallowed one."

Accused Woman Undergoes Surgery

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The principal figure in the Lake Wales poison candy case is recovering here today from an emergency operation to remove several pins and needles from her stomach.

In a 3½-hour operation last night four open safety pins, four needles, six straight pins and a mass of 65 bobby pins were taken from the stomach of Mrs. Letha Della Overton, 49. Only one pin had pierced the stomach wall.

Her doctor said she came through the operation in "fairly good" condition.

She was taken to a hospital after suffering pains at a Tampa rest home.

Mrs. Overton is charged in a federal indictment with sending through the mail poisoned candy which made 20 persons in Lake Wales violently ill last December. All recovered.

Children under 5 are about 11 per cent of the U. S. population.

Signals Turned Red by Device in Ambulance

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An emergency hospital ambulance snapped green traffic signal lights to red by remote control as it sped through a congested intersection in downtown Los Angeles yesterday.

The ambulance was testing an experimental electronic traffic control system designed by engineers at North American Aviation. The device is known as "NATECS." It consists of two parts, (1) a small radio transmitter in a moving police car, fire truck or ambulance, which passes the word to a (2) midget, weatherproof receiver on an intersection traffic signal.

The receiver cuts into the timing of the traffic lights and makes sure all are red and stay that way for the vehicle until five seconds after it has cleared the crossing. The emergency over, the signals go back to their regular, set timing.

The device automatically clears intersections up to ¼ mile ahead. The city is testing the devices to determine if they should be installed on emergency vehicles.

An electromagnetic pump has no moving parts.

Benson May Be Target of Probe

Sen. McCarthy's Aides Have Been Checking Agriculture Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) —Agents of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) have been quietly checking the Department of Agriculture and Secretary Benson's agency soon may be brought under the Wisconsin senator's fire.

McCarthy, now on a Midwestern speaking tour, has announced he wants to make a farm speech in the Senate.

It may be the kickoff in a campaign against some of the aspects of the flexible farm price support program put before Congress by Benson with President Eisenhower's support.

Investigation by the staff of McCarthy's subcommittee of alleged Communists who may be in the department could blossom at almost any time into hearings like those conducted into some of the Army's affairs.

Benson's action in announcing a cut in dairy price supports from the present level of 90 per cent to 75 per cent on April 1 has angered McCarthy and many of his dairy farm constituents in Wisconsin.

McCarthy's attitude toward Benson—as expressed to the Wisconsin senator's friends—is that the Cabinet member is a fine, upstanding gentleman whose ideas and speeches are likely to cost the Republicans Senate and House seats in the Middle West.

The net loss by Republicans of one Senate seat would bring Democratic control of that body and cost McCarthy his chairmanship of the Senate's permanent investigating committee. The Wisconsin senator has plans to campaign extensively for Republican candidates running in the November election.

In the farm speech he hopes to make soon in the Senate, McCarthy is expected to call for a flexible system of price supports ranging from 85 to 110 per cent of parity. Parity is a standard said by law to give farmers a fair return for their products in relation to the things they buy.

Eyes Center on Indochina, World's 1954 War Zone

WASHINGTON—Now that Indochina has succeeded Korea as the world's primary war zone, America's highest military and civilian officials are turning their attention to the latest crucial developments in the eight-year-old conflict.

As always, problems of terrain weigh heavily in the strategy of both the French-led Viet Nam and the Red Vietminh forces. This is particularly true in northern Indochina where most recent fighting has occurred.

Dispatches tell of fighting in two broad areas. One lies near the productive, heavily populated delta of the Red River in the state of Viet Nam.

The other covers a wild, mountainous, thinly populated region in the neighboring state of Laos.

Military significance of the Red River delta area stems from its location, its fertility and its cities, principally Hanoi and Haiphong, says the National Geographic Society.

Hanoi's 250,000 people engage in a variety of industries, mainly rice milling, distilling, brewing, cotton and silk textiles, woolen rugs, bricks and tiles, and leather goods. Only 90 miles from Red China, it is a vital railroad hub.

Haiphong, linked by road and railway to Hanoi 55 miles away, is the chief port of northern Viet Nam, manufacturing cement, glass, china, cotton textiles, buttons, and candles. It is also a center for tin smelting, shipbuilding and rice milling.

Both cities owe their importance basically to the Red River, whose delta forms a vast rice bowl where the population runs as high in places as 6,000 to the square mile.

The river takes its name from the color of its water, dyed by iron oxide washed from upland soils. Military operations are often hampered by floods, heat, fog and rain.

The other presently contested area bears marked contrast to the delta terrain.

Three names stand out: Luang Prabang, Muong Sai and Dien Bien Phu. All three towns are imbedded in the nearly roadless mountains of northwest Indochina whose heavily wooded ranges and steep canyons encourage hit-and-run tactics.

Luang rabang does a business in opium, rice, rubber, cloth, teak, and fish. Amid palm trees, it nestles in the heart of north Laos at the head of navigation along the Mekong River, one of the primary waterways of the country. Mist often hangs low over the city.

Muong Sai, fortified by the French and 60 miles north of Luang Prabang, has been a thorn in the side of the Laos invaders.

Dien Bien Phu is 110 miles northeast of Luang Prabang and just over the border in Viet Nam. This French bastion has been hemmed in by Communists who have lately given round-the-clock air and artillery attack.

The war has also scourged another portion of Indochina—its narrow, mountainous waist in central Viet Nam. A railroad parallels the water to facilitate their advance, but the shoreline is indented by mountain spurs reaching to the sea.

These ramparts cradle plains formed by deltas of short and at times torrential rivers. On the plains rice, cinnamon, cotton and raw silk are produced.

Gen. MacArthur Visits President

Long-Time Friends to Meet Alone Before Top Leaders Join Them

WASHINGTON (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur goes to the White House today for a luncheon meeting with President Eisenhower and top military and administration leaders.

MacArthur, now chairman of the board of Remington-Rand Co., will meet privately with Eisenhower before the luncheon.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty declined to comment on whether MacArthur might be in line for an administration post. He indicated, however, that the President had no plans to offer MacArthur a job.

The visit will be MacArthur's second to the White House since President Eisenhower took office. He was a guest last June at a stag dinner given by the President.

Eisenhower and MacArthur are friends of long-standing. The President was a major on Gen. MacArthur's staff in the early 1930s while MacArthur was Army chief of staff. Eisenhower later served under MacArthur in the Philippines.

An oil tanker can carry 145,000 barrels of residual fuel oil, or the equivalent of 36,250 tons of coal.

Plane's Crew Bails Out, Rescued From Water

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Seven persons who parachuted from a C119 Flying Boxcar were plucked from the sea 100 miles off northern Formosa today. Then the pilot and co-pilot brought the faltering plane to a landing at Taipeh.

The U.S. Air Force plane, en route from Okinawa, developed engine trouble.

Humphrey Hits at Civil Service

Says Present System Protects Incompetents, Hinders Progress

NEW YORK (UP) — Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said today the present civil service system is hindering government progress by protecting "the incompetent worker too much."

In an article published today in Collier's Magazine, Humphrey said he has "no quarrel with government employes but civil service protects the incompetent worker too much."

"It impedes incentive for the good and penalty for the mediocre," Humphrey said. "A government executive does not have the minimum disciplinary power he needs to keep his people on their tiptoes."

"Civil service laws are necessary and generally are good, but discipline is crippled by their restrictions, which are too rigid," he wrote.

"The mass of workers in government should not be subjected to partisan political sweeps, but I think there should be more flexibility in the rules."

Humphrey, formerly president of the M. A. Hanna Co. of Cleveland, said he did not realize when he accepted his Cabinet post how different government is from business and "how much more difficult it is to get things done."

"The job of making changes looked a lot easier from the outside," he said. "Even in the biggest businesses everything is very simple compared with government."

Humphrey said the Eisenhower administration is attempting to end the "trend of extravagance" of the preceding administration "but the "difficult situation . . .could not be relieved as quickly as all of us had hoped."

"I came to Washington certain the people want the government operated economically. I still think so. But the people have not yet fitted their actions to their desires. Too many people want economy for everyone but themselves."

Ski Enthusiasts Are Married in Snowstorm

TAHOE CITY, Calif. (UP)—Two ski enthusiasts were married in a snowstorm 8,700 feet up on Squaw Peak yesterday.

It was so cold that neither Austin Edward Frodenberg, 25, of Tahoe City, nor his best man, Kjell Rustad, could do much about the wedding ring. Frodenberg's bride, June Louise Drake, 27, of Denver, had to slip the ring on herself.

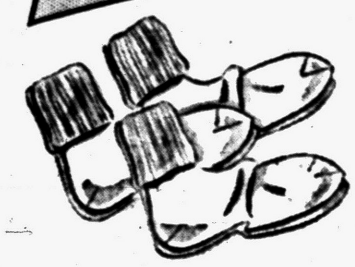

The bride, on skis, wore a powder blue gown—under ski pants. Frodenberg, also on skis, wore a tux over "long johns." The minister wore street clothes.

After the ceremony the newlyweds sped down the mountainside through an arch of ski poles formed by guests.

Lake Erie's standard low and high water levels have been established at 570 feet and 575.11 feet above the mean tide level that prevails at the port of New York City.

Young People Have Faith, Ask for Belief in Them

By BOB MATHIAS
Olympic Star Athlete of Stanford University

Judging from some of the things we hear and read today, our younger generation is in a bad way.

Bob Mathias

One article, for example, labeled us the "beat generation." You would think we majored in driving cars like maniacs, smoking marijuana and scoffing at good morals.

No one denies there are irresponsible kids in "hopped up" cars. But the hot rod drivers I've known have been mostly pretty earnest lads who regarded themselves as architects of ideas which they made happen on old cars. The boys who run the police blockades, aren't socially acceptable among the ones I've met who spend hours tinkering over an engine.

Twice I've known boys who experimented with marijuana. One was a college lad who thought he was being "smart." Instead, he just bored everyone.

The other was a high school boy. He waited until he had quite an audience including some of the most attractive girls in school. Then he gave the big pitch about his "weed."

"So what?" said one of the girls. "That doesn't take any brains or courage. Anyone can do that."

A recent survey stated that youth, as a whole, lacks any real faith and has a lusterless attack on life.

If that's the sort of team we are, the future is already lost. A team with such spirit wouldn't win many games and would be an awfully hard one to play on. I've been in some of the scrimmages in high schools and colleges around the country, however, and come up with an entirely different picture.

Take a fellow we'll call George since he wants no publicity. A few years ago George was a football hero. Easy going, popular, he graduated straight into the service. He did all right there too, and came back to land an excellent job in one of San Francisco's oldest industries.

He had two promotions and was on his way to the top. He has a lovely wife and is expecting his first child. Could any man ask more in the way of a secure, riskless future?

Recently, George announced that he was quitting his job. "By the time I become a father I'll be a Stanford law student," he said.

Why? George's answer is simple.

"I got the feeling I wasn't doing anything. That there's a lot to be done." Law, he felt, was where he could make his best contribution.

Was his young bride willing to exchange the life of an executive's wife, with three bedrooms and two baths, to living in cramped quarters and keeping the baby quiet while her husband studied 55 to 60 hours weekly?

"George has too much on the ball to settle in a rut even if it's lined with mink," she replied.

I get hundreds of letters today from kids in high school and junior high. There's nothing "beat" about them either. They want to know about health habits. Training rules. They are also aware that the spirit behind the effort is just as important as physical fitness.

"I'm out for track and I'm not very good at it," one high school boy wrote. "I get kidded quite a bit by the gang. Should I stick?"

He could take the kidding; but he didn't want to be a quitter to himself. He wasn't worried about conformity and he wasn't too worried about winning. He was willing to go along as an "also-ran" if it was making a better man of him.

I wrote him to stick, remembering that one guy can run fast, another can't. But if he tried to do his best at everything he started, he'd soon find something he could do better than anyone else. This was my experience.

I grew up in a normal household in Tulare, Calif.—three boys, one girl. My dad was a model of self-discipline, a hard-working doctor, while my mother always has been the busiest woman I know.

Small and vivacious, she managed all our laundry, cooking, cleaning and had energy left over. She had time for civic activities in town, and yet somewhere along the line she became a walking record-book of sports information.

We were always throwing balls or running races. As mother says, "It seemed like there was always a track meet going on in our backyard. Ours was one home that never had a garden—just a garden of kids."

Then there was the time I had anemia. I can remember taking refuge in a big tree outside our house and watching the other guys play rugged games. I used to dream about playing with them, and yearn for the secrets of victory.

Thanks to this illness, I discovered early the importance of proper rest and good eating habits. Learning how to relax in the middle of the day helped me a great deal during both Olympics.

My girl, Melba, has had a hand in moulding my future plans, just as my mother had a strong hand in shaping my present.

It was Melba who startled me with the idea that a lot of responsibility went with my athletic awards. "Those letters you get from kids are cutting out your future for you," she said.

That was pretty hard to figure at first. The things I do don't seem very great. If there is some special secret to athletic victory I don't know it.

From what I've seen of champions, their success is an open book, easy to read, hard to apply: good health habits, moderation, discipline, and so forth. Most important, an athlete needs both faith in himself and faith in a higher Power.

The growing enthusiasm of youth for religion is reason in itself why we're no "beat generation." We do have faith in the future. We could be greatly strengthened by some faith in us.

CHICAGO (UP) — A federal tax lein of $593,938.48 is on file by the federal government against Muntz TV Inc., which is undergoing reorganization.

The lien, for withholding taxes for the period ended Dec. 31, 1953, and for miscellaneous unspicified excise taxes for December, was filed Tuesday by Ernest J. Sauber, internal revenue director, with the Cook County recorder.

Interest or penalties were not included in the lien.

Earlier Tuesday trusteees and creditors of the corporation agreed to continue operating the company rather than liquidate it.

Krawczewicz was seized and disarmed by Roy Brewer, 25, his second wife's son-in-law, following her fatal shooting yesterday.

Circuit Judge Stresses Role of Proper Zoning

Calls It Public Housekeeping

175 Township Officials Hear G. B. Hartrick at Wednesday Parley

Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick told some 175 township officials Wednesday night that "zoning is just good public housekeeping."

Judge Hartrick was keynote speaker for Oakland County Planning Commission's "Township Zoning Conference." J. Robert Swanson, commission chairman, presided at the meeting at Independence Township Hall, Clarkston.

Judge Hartrick pointed out that good housewives don't put the stove in the living room or the bed in the kitchen. Zoning is somewhat like this, but it deals with homes, farms, and factories —not furniture.

The judge said the U.S. Supreme Court, ruling on a Euclid, Ohio case in 1926, said a city can keep certain industries from its home area.

Michigan Township Zoning Act, passed in 1943, talks of zoning as a way to ease overcrowding and road congestion and make it easier to set up systems of sewage, water supply, education and other facilities.

"But I believe," he said, "we should not think our private rights are so important that we can selfishly use property as we wish, with no regard for our neighborhood and community as a whole."

Prof. Louis A. Wolfanger of Michigan State College said Oakland County's township problems stem from the statewide "back to the land" movement, with people leaving cities to live in the country. He said the goal of zoning should not be to restrict anyone, but to encourage people to set up standards to live up to.

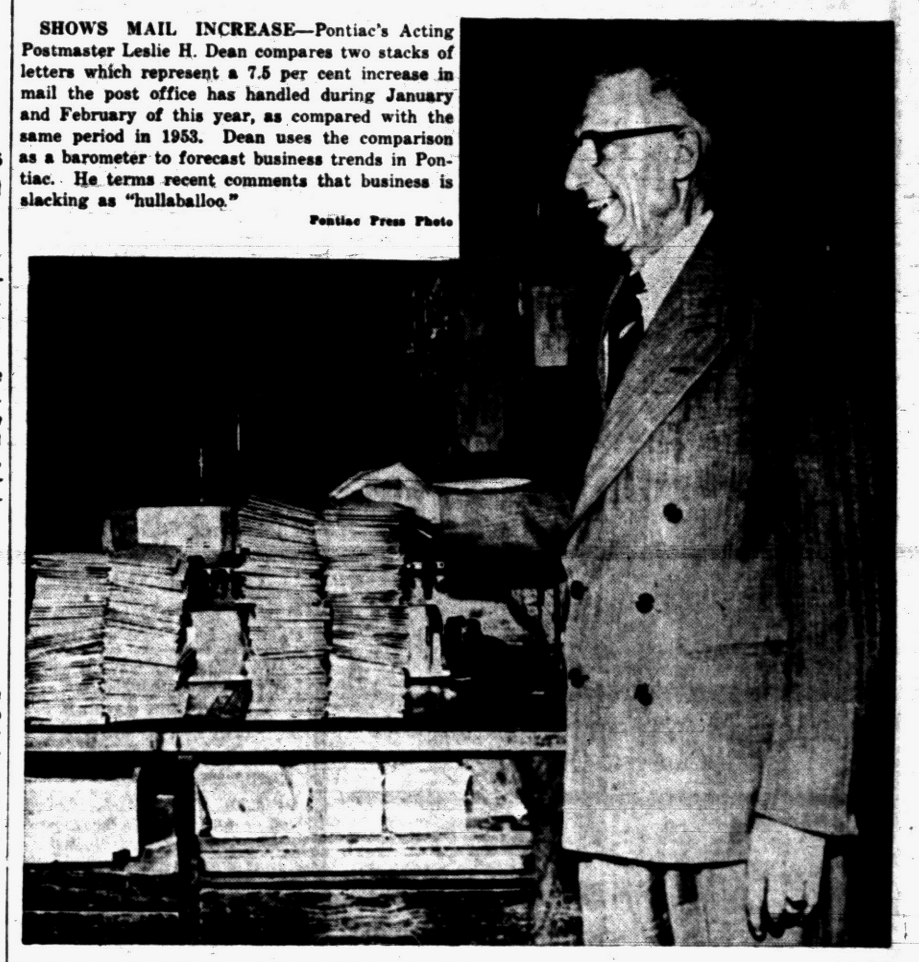

Floyd Andrews, chairman of the county Board of Supervisors, commented that to make zoning a success "you need a good zoning board, good zoning appeal board and inspectors who will do their job."

Lloyd Anderson, Waterford supervisor, touched on special problems of zoning, such as his township faces.

People must learn, he said, that zoning aims to help, not hurt them. Special problems include parking, ways to separate industries from homes, naming a good zoning board.

SHOWS MAIL INCREASE—Pontiac's Acting Postmaster Leslie H. Dean compares two stacks of letters which represent a 7.5 per cent increase in mail the post office has handled during January and February of this year, as compared with the same period in 1953. Dean uses the comparison as a barometer to forecast business trends in Pontiac. He terms recent comments that business is slacking as "hullaballoo."

Toots to Warn Fast Drivers

Teenagers Form Club to Promote Road Safety With Horns

LANSING (UP) — Michigan teenagers, out on a crusade to promote highway safety, today warned adult drivers to be on the lookout for members of the "Two Toots" Club.

Members of the club, expected to number nearly 1,800 by spring, said they will blow two sharp blasts with their horns every time they are passed by another car going too fast.

"If you hear two toots, you're going too fast," Janet Brimes, of Midland, cautioned.

The Midland High School girl brought the idea before the Michigan Teenage Driver Safety Conference at Michigan State College last month. Representatives of 439 Michigan schools unanimously adopted the horn-sounding plan and began passing out "Two Toots" stickers for safety-minded drivers to stick on their rear windshield.

Miss Brimes said the idea has spread rapidly among Michigan teenagers.

Marine Vets Handle Local Recruiting

Two Marine Corps sergeants, veterans of the Korean War, have been appointed to the Pontiac Marine recruiting station located in the post office building.

SGT. POWERS

M. Sgt. Ishmael Powers, with 14 years in the corps has been named as the non-commissioned officer in charge of the local station.

Assisting him is Sgt. Leroy Meisner who has seven years of Marine Corps service.

Sgt. Powers, who served in Korea from October, 1951 to July, 1952, also served 14 months in the South Pacific during World War II, and took part in the Guadalcanal invasion.

Originally from Paintsville, Ky., Sgt. Powers took his boot training at Parris Island, Island, South Carolina in 1940. Decorations he has received include Pacific campaign ribbon, the Presidential Unit Citation, good conduct, American Defense, American Theater; Occupation of Japan, and the U. N. and Korean ribbons.

SGT. MEISNER

With his wife, Marie, and daughter, Jean, 11, he resides at the Parkhurst Trailer Park in Lake Orion. Sgt. Powers came to Pontiac from recruiting duty in Kalamazoo.

Sgt. Meisner served in Korea from Sept., 1951 to July, 1952, and was decorated there with the purple heart, Korean ribbons, and the good conduct medal.

Two weeks after his rotation from "The Hook" area in Korea, the Chinese overran the forward positions held by his company.

Sgt. Meisner came here for his first recruiting assignment from Camp Pendleton, Calif. Before going to Korea he was based at San Diego, Calif., where he took his boot training. He played football for the Marines at that station for four years.

Sgt. Meisner and his wife, Dana, and their 4½-month-old son, Leroy Jr., live at 1509 Opdyke Rd., Pontiac Township.

Large Cities Asking Higher Jobless Pay

DETROIT (UP) — CIO President Walter P. Reuther says communities with more than half of the state's population have adopted resolutions calling for higher unemployment compensation.

He made the statement in telegrams Wednesday to all members of the Michigan Legislature. He testified at a Senate Labor Committee hearing on jobless benefits Feb. 25.

Since then, Reuther told the legislators in his telegrams, more and more communities have taken formal action in calling for more liberal unemployment compensation. The list includes Pontiac and Ferndale.

At the committee hearing, Reuther assailed the Teahen Bill raising maximum family benefits from $35 to $42 a week. Since then that bill has been approved by the Senate.

'How Dry I Am' Is Grim Reality in Kansas

Map shows stream flow in Kansas as of October, 1953. Generally no flow in shaded area. The western section is not too badly off because it has wells, but dry streams are a problem to the eastern part.

Fall River reservoir, in Greenwood County, Kansas, is at its lowest ebb since construction. The weed line (arrow) shows the normal water level.

A resident of El Dorado, Kansas recently said: "Every time we turn on the water faucet, we think how much we're lowering the lake."

That nutshells the story of the worst water shortage the area has known. For folks not living along major streams, life may not be dull, but it's becoming increasingly dry.

If you lived in El Dorado or Yates Center or other eastern Kansas towns, you'd wash dishes in a pan, with not too much soap, because it takes more rinse water.

All washdays would be big ones because it takes too much water to do small ones. You'd let the windows go dirty or use chemical cleaner. You'd watch your lawn burn up and your shrubs and flowers die of thirst. You'd save bath water to flush toilets.

Those are but a few of the privations suffered under water-short conditions

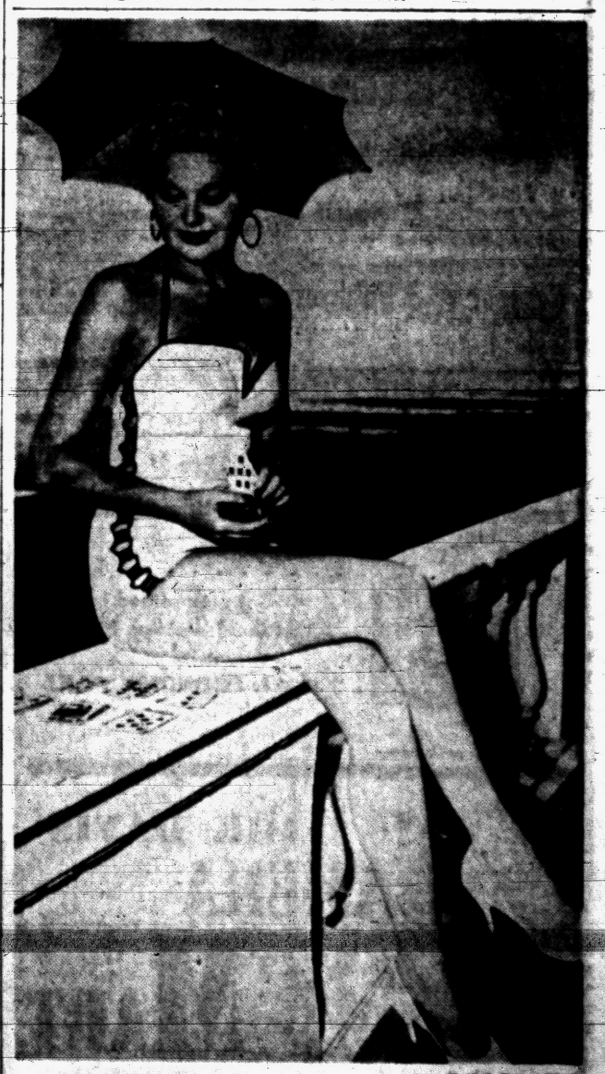

A kitchen sink, with scant water, is the present bathtub for Mrs. Charlton Lawhorn's year-old daughter, Linda.

H. R. Van Middlesworth points to a 2-inch mark in his bathtub. Authorities request El Doradoans to set that limit for baths.

Mrs. H. R. Van Middlesworth of El Dorado rinses dishes in small pan instead of under running faucet.

Ionia Site for New Prison Could Benefit Taxpayers

(Editor's note: What are the accomplishments and problems of Ionia since the end of World War II? The following story — the sixth in an Associated Press series—was written by Gordon Gapper, staff writer of the Ionia Sentinel-Standard.

By GORDON GAPPER
Ionia Sentinel-Standard Staff Writer

IONIA (AP)—Ionia says it can save Michigan taxpayers a mint of money. All it needs is the proposed medium-security state prison.

It is not purely sympathy with the taxpayer that motivates Ionia's campaign for the prison. More employment will make for a more prosperous city.

Ionia's conservative development since World War II is largely the result of its two existing state institutions, a reformatory and a hospital for the criminally insane.

But when land is available free, medical, teaching and custodial personnel and facilities are on hand, and a constant food supply is guaranteed from the reformatory farm, the city fathers see no cause for delay in the state's decision on the medium-security prison.

Their most potent argument is that the new $1,300,000 reformatory power plant was built to serve a much greater population than it does. Should the state locate the prison elsewhere, a good part of the power plant's cost will have been wasted.

The Michigan Corrections Commission currently is studying a number of sites, including Ionia, for the proposed prison.

Postwar additions to the reformatory, one of the country's most progressive, are a canning plant, a vegetable storage plant, increased trade-school space and equipment and an outside housing unit.

Another million-dollar-plus project is under way on the other bank of the Grand River, at the state hospital for the criminally insane. A new 200-bed men's unit may be finished early next year.

Nearly $900,000 has been spent on a 100-bed tuberculosis and geriatric unit and a women's ward.

The reformatory and hospital for the criminally insane are both outside the city limits.

Within the city, a county memorial hospital was opened last year.

Bypassed apparently forever by the only two trunklines in the vicinity, M21 and M66, Ionia's main street, marketplace for 38,000 county folk, has seen little commercial construction since the war. Smaller industries are housed in old, uneconomic buildings.

But existing business and industry flourish. There is ample good ground for expansion, and the city can easily attract more business and more people.

Ionia taxpayers will soon have to finance a $1,000,000 sewage treatment plant.

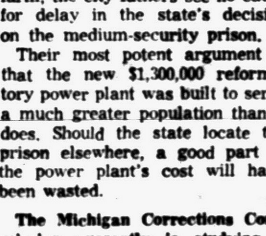

But if solid qualities of citizenship put life into a community, Ionia can meet its problems.

The city needs and wants more amenities of the kind to entertain both itself and outsiders. But if consolidation of what Ionia has must come first, then the new prison and other projects can help it immensely.

Clergyman's Son Gets Jail Sentence

BALTIMORE (AP) — The 16-year-old heir to a $100,000 estate was sentenced to three months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday for violating probation.

Atwood H. Taylor, son of a clergyman, was picked up while driving his late-model, high-powered car.

Last month he was convicted of stealing a 16-year-old car worth $85. He was given a three-month suspended sentence and put on probation for a year. One of the terms of the probation was that he not drive any automobile during that period.

U-M Is Studying Medical Bomb

Has Idea for Explosive Spray of Drugs Within the Body

ANN ARBOR — Another type of bomb may play a significant role in exploding difficult health problems. The small, compact "bug bomb" which fills the breezeway with a fog of DDT may be used to blast strep germs right out of the respiratory system.

Research now under way at the University of Michigan's College of Pharmacy on aerosol bombs and their adaptability to internal medicines offers possibilities for more effective approaches to old and difficult ailments.

Albert M. Mattocks, professor of pharmacy, reports that "the principle of the aerosol bomb may be applied to nose sprays, adrenalin, even antibiotics."

He says, however, that research in this area is very much in its infancy, and that although the principle of the fine mist is being tried in hospitals, no efficient way has been devised as yet to "package" medicines in a hand spray resembling the currently popular aerosol bomb.

The technique is especially promising since by direct application to the affected area, toxic and otherwise unpleasant side-effects to other parts of the body may disappear, the professor says.

The old hand spray or nebulizer used by sufferers from sinus infections, colds or asthma has serious limitations. Because there is no efficient way of controlling the droplet size of the solution, penetration is superficial. With an aerosol bomb containing the same medicine under moderate pressure, the delicate sinus membranes can be reached, Professor Mattocks declares.

Penicillen and other antibiotics offer additional possibilities. A respiratory system bathed in a fog of miracle drugs may take dramatic responses.

The technique is especially promising since by direct application to the affected area, toxic and otherwise unpleasant side-effects to other parts of the body may disappear, the professor says.

Doctors have been looking for a method of concentrating and localizing medicines which now have to be injected into the entire blood stream. Professor Mattocks speculates that it may even be possible to treat other elusive diseases with a spray of drugs which currently require great caution and a sharp needle.

DETROIT (INS)—Billy G. Walsh, 33, of Clarksville, Tenn., who dressed as a sailor to get 50 free meals at the Detroit USO, today awaited sentencing for impersonating a member of the armed forces.

Walsh pleaded guilty yesterday. Federal Judge Theodore Levin deferred sentence pending a probation report.

Walsh, who received a bad conduct discharge from the Coast Guard after serving from 1941 through 1945, has no permanent home and moved from one flop house to another during his year in Detroit.

Diverse Roles Awaiting Actor in Coming Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The last time I saw Edmund Purdom, he was somewhat concerned about being typed as the man who mouths Mario Lanza's songs. It turns out he needn't have worried.

Purdom is the hottest young actor in Hollywood today. His schedule for 1954 contains the most diverse roles imaginable.

The English lad fell heir to "The Student Prince" when Lanza took a powder, leaving behind his song recordings for Purdom to deliver a la Larry Parks. Next Ed profited from another walkout, being loaned by MGM to 20th Century-Fox for the role vacated by Marlon Brando in "The Egyptian." Brando left nothing behind, not even a ripped T-shirt. So Purdom's interpretation of the role is strictly his own.

He is now doing that role. As soon as he is finished, he tosses off his desert costume for the tweeds of a proper Bostonian lawyer in "Athena." That's a gay tunefilm with Debbie Reynolds, Jane Powell and Vera-Ellen. After that he expects to do "a real swashbuckler" called "The King's Thief." And he is scheduled to appear opposite Ava Gardner in a biblical drama, "The Prodigal."

It's hard to describe Purdom. He is sort of a combination of James Mason and Errol Flynn with a touch of Brando. He says pretty much what he pleases and can come up with some remarkable remarks. He views his present success with candor:

"I have instructed my agent to try and get me a raise now. If I wait until these five pictures come out, the public may get wise to me and I'd get no raise whatsoever."

Still, he is obviously pleased with his good fortune and reflects on the time when things weren't going so well.

"I've been in Hollywood two years, and this is the first time I've been busy," he recalled. Warners brought me over from England for a test, which Michael Curtiz directed, by the way. (Curtiz is now directing Ed in 'The Egyptian.")

"It was obvious that Warners had nothing I could do, with the exception of 'I Confess.' And that was already cast very adequately with Montgomery Clift. So I was not signed. For six months, I almost starved."

Now he's the new sensation of Hollywood. He did a bit on the Fox lot in "Titanic" before he was signed at MGM. His salary was $300 a week. Fox is reported to be paying over $100,000 for his services in "The Egyptian."

Purdom is 27, married to an actress he met in a London musical show, father of one and expecting another.

New York City Assigns Extra Police in Latest Puerto Rican Scare

NEW YORK (AP)—A cryptic State Department warning that Puerto Rican Nationalists planned to kill "important" persons — including Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations—sent 200 extra city police on special guard duty early today.

Although Lodge was the only person named in the emergency order, officers were rushed to residences of prominent national, state and local officials.

The FBI had no comment on the alert. Further information from the State Department was not immediately available.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, in town for the St. Patrick's Day parade, reportedly left his Roosevelt Hotel apartment late last night for his farm home in Pawling, N. Y.

The homes of several federal judges and other officials got special protection on the strength of supplementary police orders dealing with public officials residing on Manhattan's West Side. Among them is Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. (D-Lib-NY).

The shooting of five congressmen on the floor of the House in Washington more than two weeks ago touched off an intensive hunt here for fanatic Puerto Rican Nationalists.

Hidden Heroes of U. S.

Whispering Smear Campaigns Follow Group of Brave Counterspy Workers

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A handful of U.S. citizens who joined the Communist Party in various cities to report on its activities to the FBI have made a vital contribution to breaking the back of the Party's treasonous activities in America, according to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

These persons have received numerous national awards for outstanding patriotism and have been widely acclaimed as heroes.

At the same time, Hoover warns that the Communist menace in the U.S. is far from ended. Proof of the truth of this warning is the shocking effectiveness with which the Party has been able to strike back at the FBI's former undercover workers.

The Party's motive is two-fold: Revenge, and the need to discredit the credibility of the group against possible future testimony they might give.

One of the most unfortunate victims is William G. Cummings, a Toledo Negro who is considered one of the most effective witnesses of the group against the Party by the Justice Department.

He infiltrated the Party to its top echelon in Ohio, traveled all over the country in Party work and became intimately acquainted with the top Reds in the U.S. and their activities.

His testimony in more than a half-dozen Smith Act trials around the country has been of great help in sending many of the top Commies to jail.

Not one shred of the information he has supplied has been proved wrong, Justice attorneys claim, and his facts have stood up under the withering cross-examination of Communist attorneys.

Yet today Bill Cummings is beset by numerous personal and financial woes, due exclusively, he contends, to Communist Party retaliation.

WILLIAM G. CUMMINGS and family read a letter from son in Japan. "I just gotta roll with the punches," he says.

He has been dropped from his regular job as a skilled machine operator and is barely able to keep his large family eating and clothed, thanks to part-time consultant work the Department of Justice has given him.

A great many of the Negroes in the neighborhood he lives in have been turned against him, his family and the handful of friends who have remained loyal to him, through whispered hate campaigns.

In a stinging pronouncement he was publicly thrown out of the church in which he had been a faithful member for many years. Just after his undercover role was revealed, the city council tried to give him a public commendation for his contribution to the security of America. But it was killed by a bitter attack on his character which got widest circulation in Toledo.

He has received awards from a Toledo business group and the Toledo Municipal League, however.

Cummings, a giant of a man who looks amazingly young for his 43 years, is astonishingly good-natured about his plight. "Just gotta roll with the punches," he says. "I've made an awful lot of good friends through this work, and that's worth plenty," he adds.

He's most upset about his 18-year-old son, William Jr., who is attending Ohio State University. He is an outstanding athlete who made the freshman football team last fall and is a sure bet for the varsity.

Cummings is having a desperate time keeping the boy in school and feels some left-wing influence somewhere is keeping him from getting the financial help afforded most college athletes of his son's caliber.

He tells about another son, Lemuel, 21, now in the Air Force in Japan, who suddenly began having unreasonable trouble from one of his high school teachers. He found that the teacher's husband had worked with him in the Communist Party, but as a regular.

NORMAN L. HAMLIN: Whispers are worse than violence.

Cummings insists his being out of his regular job has nothing to do with any left-wing influence, however. "I'm temporarily laid off because of business conditions and my lack of seniority in the union."

For his work for the FBI on the West Coast, Norman Lloyd Hamlin received "The Book of Golden Deeds" award from the San Diego Exchange Club. Hamlin says of Communist retaliation:

"CP leaders work through their dupes who are many times well-to-do persons in the various communities. These are whispering campaigns and propaganda drives more successful than any direct physical violence could be."

Marlane Kowall, now trying to begin life anew on the West Coast after giving up a promising modeling and dancing career to join the Party in New York, is finding the going very difficult. Her work for the government was revealed only recently.

"I never had any doubt about the trouble I was in for," she says.

"While I was in the Party I heard them boast many times that they could prevent Party enemies from rising to better positions in all organizations, from show business to the teaching fields."

Louis Budenz, the well-known ex-Communist who has done so much to help build a legal case against the Communist Party, doesn't fit the category of the others in this survey, but he is subject to the same smear campaigns. He says:

"The insidious aspect of this attack is the way they get seemingly respectable, non-Communists to carry the burden of attack against you."

'Mr. Peepers' Production Has Successful Opening

By GOLDIE STAMAS

The lovable if somewhat unpredictable populace of Jefferson City High School came alive last night as the saga of "Mr. Peepers" unfolded on Pontiac High School's auditorium stage.

Playing to an appreciative opening night audience, the high school thespians, directed by Mary Parrish, showed unusual finesse and a good sense of timing in handling the subtle characterizations.

Robinson J. Peepers, played by Don Bumgardner, was the epitome of a shy young man, somewhat bewildered by the forceful personalities which confronted him.

Peepers found himself torn between material wealth, personified by Daniel Schroeder, portrayed by Burton Belant, and the spiritual satisfaction which teaching offered.

Mrs. Bernice Gurney, perpetually flustered colleague, was enacted by Marlene Crocker.

Offering romantic interest was gentle Nancy Remington (Marie Meyer) and over-anxious Alice Hennessy was portrayed by Karen Anderson.

Jim North as handsome, devil-may-care Harvey Weskit, offered "Robbie" some good natured competition in the heart department.

Fiery Betsy Williams was played by Myrna Paul, with Jack Niggeman as her adoring if somewhat dense boyfriend, Archie Adams.

Sandra Jean Mair had the role of Wanda with Dick Ramsdell as Herbert Bushnell and Bob Crandall as Cliff Dailey. Crandall was also heard as the "voice of Mr. Gurney.

Shrilly resonant was the personality of Harriet, which Martha Varney performed, and Esther Diem proved effective as Ann Williams.

Jack Porritt was featured in the role of William Williams III.

Extras for the comedy, adapted from the popular television program of the same name, were, Joyce Allen, Patty Johnson, Karen Sampson, Tom Patton and Lois Austen.

Others who performed were Judy Learned, Leonard Berry, Jack Trarop, Marianne Crozier, Elaine Miller, and Richard Clark.

The leading roles for the play which will run through Friday will be enacted by another student cast tonight.

Playing Peepers will be Ron Cummings with Pauline Logsdon as Mrs. Gurney and Leah Mae MacNutt as Nancy Remington.

Tom Loignan will be seen as Harvey Weskit, and Dave Robinson will perform as Daniel Schroeder.

Named to Fund Drive

Robert W. Emerick, director of public relations for Pontiac Motor Division, was appointed today co-chairman in the Pontiac area for the $200,000 subscription drive of the Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan, Inc. The Junior Achievement program seeks to teach teenagers business principles by letting them operate their own businesses.

Hospital Has Fire

A fire in one of the dust chutes at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital last night caused $100 damage, according to Pontiac Firemen. The blaze started when someone carelessly discarded burning cigarettes, firemen believed.

Williams Still Mum on Political Intentions

FLINT (AP) — Gov. Williams still isn't announcing his political intentions for the coming election.

Speaking at a Democratic St. Patrick's Day rally last night, the governor said that if he ran for either the U. S. Senate or the governorship he hoped to get the support of the people.

Cheboygan Communities to Get Overdue Windfall

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Towns and townships in Cheboygan County are in for a surprise gift. County treasurer Don McRae found $7,194 lying around which was due to be refunded to local governmental units for money received by his predecessor in the last half of 1949 for delinquent taxes. So he sent out the money — five years late.

William Webb, Omar MacNutt, Eldon Powley, Mrs. John Gemmell and Jim North will serve on the committee on recreation and athletic activities and equipment.

Another committee composed of Mrs. Noble Meredith, Earl Shepherd, Mrs. Harold Brittain and Mrs. Richard Kelley will study the problem of attendance awards for the year, will supervise awards, and will recommend suitable recognition.

On the publicity committee are Mrs. Stanton Levely, Mrs. Ralph Osborne, Mrs. Donald Upton, Howard Webb and Mrs. MacNutt.

It will be the job of this committee to plan ways of "selling" the Bible School, first, to its own members, then to their families, and finally to the community.

Mrs. H. N. Watson (left) of Nelson street received a life membership in Parliamentary Study Club from Mrs. Joseph Panter of Pingree avenue, parliamentarian emeritus, at the meeting held Wednesday afternoon in Grace Lutheran Church. Mrs. Watson has been a member of the club for almost 30 years.

Prosecutor Talks on Law Enforcement

"Law Enforcement" was the title of a talk given by Fredrick C. Ziem, Oakland County Prosecutor, at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Parliamentary Study Club in Grace Lutheran Church.

Mr. Ziem spoke on the different phases of law enforcement and compared the form of government of the United States with that of countries controlled by communism.

"With the communistic form of justice, a man can be caught, tried, convicted and executed all in one day," said Mr. Ziem, "while our government gives a man every chance for a fair trial."

The speaker pointed out how wrong it is for an American citizen to hide behind the Fifth Amendment.

Mrs. Russell French is the new president of the study club and will be assisted by Mrs. George Watters, first vice president; Mrs. Dale Moats, second vice president, and Mrs. Aden Thornton, recording secretary.

Mrs. Stanley Deyo is corresponding secretary; Mrs. John McNeely, treasurer, and Mrs. John Sheehan, auditor.

Mrs. Paul Gorman, Mrs. Ivan Wilcox and Mrs. Thorton were in charge of the luncheon.

A life membership was presented to Mrs. H. N. Watson who has been a member for nearly 30 years. The presentation was made by Mrs. Joseph Panter, life member and parliamentarian emeritus, who said that much of the success of the club can be attributed to Mrs. Watson.

Names presented for membership in the club were Mrs. F. J. Gouin, Mrs. Lewis Swarts, Mrs. Bessie Baker, Mrs. Orrin Huntoon Jr. and Mrs. J. K. Ritter.

Mrs. Don Breen, Mrs. P. Grier Chambers and Mrs. John Chetisten completed the list.

Douglas Miller will be his brother's best man, and seating the guests will be the bride's brother, F. David Patch, and Richard McNary.

St. Paul Episcopal Church in Endicott will be the setting for the ceremony.

The district convention of the Second Diocese of Greek Orthodox Youth of America was discussed when GOYA Chapter of Pontiac met at the Hellenic Hall recently.

Delegates to the convention, to be held in Grand Rapids May 7, 8 and 9, are Evelyn Ryeson, Madeline Gabriel and Despina Mitchell. Alternates are Ann Savvas, Christine George and Martha Savvas.

The group also heard a report by the athletic committee on the basketball tournament and discussed plans for a bowling banquet to close the season. Margaret Chalapis of Detroit was announced as the Detroit reporter for the GOYAN, the group's national publication.

Mrs. Charles Neal Hostess to Circle 4

Plans for the state meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Group of First Christian Church were discussed when Circle Four of the Women's Fellowship met Tuesday.

The state meeting will be held April 3 and 4 at Central Woodward Christian Church, Detroit.

Hostess for the Tuesday meeting was Mrs. Charles Neal of Cass-Elizabeth road, assisted by Mrs. Harry Stuart and Mrs. William DeRousse. Welcomed as new members were Mrs. Gilbert Davis, Mrs. Bertha Stanley and Lorna MacKellar.

Mrs. Harold Aeschliman led the program study and Mrs. William Tompkins conducted the worship program.

Abandons Molded Look

Carnegie Loosens Waists

NEW YORK (INS)—Hattie Carnegie—the grande dame of grande fashion at grande prices—recommends the loosening of waistlines for spring.

It's as simple as that, the new Carnegie silhouette.

She merely appears to have let out a few seams around the middles of her suit jackets to give them a semi-fitted silhouette, rather than the close-molded shape for which her elegant suits have been famous.

"There is a definite trend away from the very molded feeling," Miss Carnegie's office announces.

In coats for spring, the style queen shows coats that "tend toward slimness" but actually stand away from the waistline by inches. Her newest suits, coats and dresses have collars that ease off the throatline and settle in drapes or flattering upturned cuffs on the shoulders.

Like most of her fellow dressmakers, she shows basically slim skirts for daytime and full, flowing skirts for 5 o'clock and on.

A few are almost as stiff as her prices—$625 for suits, around $500 for dresses.

A woman's voice is an important beauty asset. Learn to keep it low and speak at a slow rate. A little practice will enhance your voice.

Sylvia Orvis Exchanges Vows With Jack Bailey

Touring the southern states are Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Bailey, who were married Saturday evening in First Baptist Church.

The bride, the former Sylvia Orvis, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Budd L. Orvis of Emerson avenue, and Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Bailey of Raeburn street.

The Rev. H. H. Savage performed the double-ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock before 200 guests.

For the occasion the bride wore a candlelight satin gown fashioned with a bateau neckline and a cathedral train. A heart-shaped tiara held her illusion veil and she carried a cascade of gladiellias.

Mrs. William Joyce attended her sister in a gold-colored gown with matching accessories and flowers. Two other sisters, Mrs. Lester Ostrander and Marsha Orvis, were also attendants, wearing green and blue gowns, respectively, and Kaye Bailey, the bridegroom's sister, was junior bridesmaid in a yellow dress with orchid flowers. Laurie Roberts wore orchid for her duties as flower girl.

Mr. Joyce was best man and Richard Carmichael, Charles Joyce and Allan Orvis were groomsmen. Gary Joyce carried the ring.

Receiving guests at Knights of Pythias Hall after the ceremony were Mrs. Orvis, who wore a brown suit with a corsage of yellow carnations, and Mrs. Bailey, who was wearing a navy taffeta dress with navy and white accessories.

The new Mrs. Bailey later changed to a beige suit with a bridal corsage for the wedding trip. On their return they will reside on Thomas court.

Accidents Fewer on Good Highways

Good roads are safe roads. Figures show that four- and six-lane highways, well - separated by islands and designed for visibility and the speed of modern traffic, have the lowest per-mile accident rates.

Write your state legislators that you and your family will support highway improvement programs. It's important, too, to urge your local government to provide adequate parking in your town or city.

Plenty of Opportunity in Practical Nursing

A girl who studies practical nursing is practically sure of getting a job, says the Women's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The agency reports that practical nurses will find ample opportunities for employment, not only in the immediate future but for years to come, because an acute shortage of practical nurses has existed ever since World War Two.

There are about 13½ million people over 65 in the United States.

Ceremony Held at Pontiac General Hospital

12 New Gray Ladies Capped in Ritual

Twelve new Gray Ladies were capped at a ceremony Wednesday afternoon in Pontiac General Hospital. Chairmen for the luncheon which preceded the ceremony were Lauretta Paul, director of Pontiac General Hospital; Shirley Dovre and Mrs. Gilbert Brown.

The Gray Ladies Service was first introduced in 1918 at Walter Reid Hospital at the close of World War I.

At first, Gray Ladies only served in military hospitals, but soon branched out into civilian hospitals. Their original purpose was to visit lonely and depressed servicemen who were to be hospitalized for a long period of time.

Since the uniforms of these volunteers are gray, the servicemen soon began to call them "Gray Ladies" and the name has lasted through the years.

The first Gray Lady class in Oakland County was established in 1942 at Pontiac General Hospital and some members of that class are still active.

There are 125 volunteer Gray Ladies serving in Oakland County now. Areas of service include, besides Pontiac General Hospital, Selfridge Air Force Base, Oakland County Infirmary, the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and all bloodmobiles coming into Oakland County.

The Gray Ladies are required to give 150 hours of service a year.

Hats Appear Flat, Forward and Generally on the Level This Spring

Little hats with a level look make the most fashion news this spring. We show here (upper left) a little profile bonnet of ice blue straw by Sally Victor. This has long-stemmed roses in red and pink at one side with stems entwined on crown. Hat with visored segment brim (upper right) is by Harryson in vivid Granada orange toyo. It's topped with whip and silk pompons in matching orange.

Tiny Chapeaux Will Reign Over Easter Parade

NEW YORK (NEA — Hats are flat, forward and generally on the level this spring.

The smaller the hat you put on your head, the smarter you'll look. Hats actually aren't silver-dollar size yet, but they're coming close.

The new shallow crowns have been designed to keep company with the short hairdo, the kind of cut that American women continue to find prettiest and most efficient.

But even so, brims appear on nearly all hats and vary from the narrowest rim to the cartwheel.

Level hats and the forward pose are given handling that turns them out "small and pretty," exactly right for the slim lines and simplicity of spring clothes.

And femininity is achieved through use of soft, rippled effects, fragile flowers as trimming and pale but glowing colors.

Even the profile hat is not tilted this year. It gains a side-swept look through deft twists of the brim, but it's actually worn straight on.

The forward-posed watteau gets flowers as trim most often, in order to convey an impression of ladylike beauty. These start in the tiniest shapes and continue on up to the larger plateau types.

Vivid color is sprinkled through all of the collections by the top designers: Shocking pink, turquoise, sunny yellows, parakeet greens and sapphire blues. But there's a whole rainbow of pastels and many natural straws.

White is important, too, but it's most often a white with a dash of color added.

Gift-Opening at Reception Not Proper

By EMILY POST

I am only too glad to comply with the following request: "I do wish you would write something in your newspaper column about present-day wedding receptions.

"I don't know whether it is customary everywhere (I certainly hope not), but in this part of the country it has become a custom for the bride and bridegroom, after they have cut the wedding cake, to open all the wedding presents.

"To me, there is nothing more boring than to have to sit for hours while they open the presents. By the time they get through many of the guests have had to go home.

"To my way of thinking, a wedding reception should be gay and friendly, with dancing or at least lively and pleasant conversation—either of which is possible while the confusing present-opening is going on. I think wedding guests deserve a little more consideration. What do you say, Mrs. Post?"

Answer: I thoroughly agree with you. In fact, I do not like the present-opening idea at all. Correctly, presents should be sent several days before the wedding.

The bride unwraps them as they are received and they are then put on display in a special room. If the reception does not take place at home, the bride invites her friends to come in the day before the wedding to see the presents.

Dear Mrs. Post: Very soon we will be moving from a small apartment to our own house. Would it be permissible to have cards printed with our new address to be mailed to our many friends, several of whom are out of this state? If so, what would be the correct wording?

Answer: Write by hand on your new address card, "We will be living here after May 1."

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it good manners, after one has finished a meal at which finger bowls are served, to dip one's fingers into the finger bowl and wipe the corners of one's mouth?

Answer: If done very gently—yes.

Eyelet Rodding Permits Drapery to Hang on Slant

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Mrs. W. M. is happy about the extra bedroom in her newly remodeled attic, but it brings up a curtaining problem.

"How can I hang draperies as high and wide as I'd like to when the walls slant so?" she asks in her letter. "The one window is small and I'd like to make it look larger."

Here's a design for the wall as Mrs. M. described it. The draperies are wider and higher than the window itself to make it look much more generous in size than it is.

The secret of hanging them on slants on both sides is an inexpensive little eyelet rodding by the yard, which can be bent to fit any angle or curve.

It's easy to do the bending yourself, and the rodding nails up on the wall with the eyelets 1 inch apart for hooks on the back of draperies to drop into at regular intervals. The rodding cuts with heavy shears to the right length.

Mrs. F. M. "A large white shadow box was a gift to me for my living room, which is schemed in dark green, gray, beige and dark rose. Do you think it will fit in with these colors and the mahogany furniture?"

The success of this large white object in the room depends on repeating the white. It may look too large and too white by itself, but it will tie into the room scheme if white is used elsewhere, even in much smaller areas.

Mrs. C. A. G. Our problem is the beamed ceiling in our living room. The mantel and fireplace wall of knotty pine are stained a mellow brown to match the woodwork, but the beams are stained dark brown. The ceiling is plastered between the beams and painted white. Walls are pink.

"What can be done about the beams? Should they be painted or should the knotty pine be painted? I would prefer not to paint the window frames and doors."

To paint the knotty pine would not solve your problem. The beams would still seem too dark and unmatched to anything else in the room, and the woodwork color would not be repeated.

If the beams cannot be finished to match the rest of the wood, paint them white to match the plastered strips of ceiling, or paint both beams and plaster pink to match the walls.

French Export Lingerie

PARIS (INS)—Romantic nighties hand-embroidered slip and precious lingerie blouses with the real French touch and label soon will be exported to the United States.

According to lingerie manufacturers, the combination of traditional French craftsmanship with individual deluxe styles assures the success of Paris lingerie.

For the latest collection, to be sold in the U. S. this spring, designers are using nylon, thus combining practicability with luxury for handmade feminine garments.

The nightgowns will all have a romantic style. Loose around the body, they often have a high empire waistline or they frill out fully from a deep shoulder yoke.

One, made of fine white tricot nylon, comes with a deep square neck trimmed with frills and hand-inlaid lace stripes. Others are pink and cut to be subtly feminine with lavish lace trimming.

For a young girl a Swiss cotton nighty is white with fine pale blue flowers and a large white organdy ruffle around the neck and the ground-length hem.

The most vampy night attire is, of course, black. Made of silk georgette it has a large pastel colored orchid flower patched as decoration on stomach and bust.

Wash Hose Daily

Your nylon stockings will give you better service if you wash them after each wearing. Be sure that they're completely dry when you put them on.

Combine Marriage, Religious Work

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Mrs. Rolfe Floyd of Walker's Cay in the Bahamas has sent me the story of a wonderful husband-and-wife team working together successfully and happily.

They are a young couple in their mid-20s who hail from Kilgore, Tex. Mr. Butler, I should say Brother Butler, is a missionary, and he and his wife cover the remote islands of the Bahamas in a seaplane

They bring the only religious services which the natives get, and they also give children's services. They carry a phonograph and records of hymns to islands which have no pianos.

Where there is a piano, Mrs. Butler plays the hymns. When the weather is fine, services are held outdoors and Mrs. Butler plays an accordion to accompany hymns.

"They're such a nice young couple," Mrs. Floyd says, "and they do so much good, and work so hard. They make emergency flights when people are sick and have to be taken to the mainland.

"Mrs. Butler is simply wonderful. In addition to handling all the music, she can do relief piloting. She is both pretty and well-groomed.

"She has six nylon dresses in various colors, all the same style and very becoming. She says this is the only way she can cope with the fashion side of island-hopping."

Couples like this one are the perfect example of husband-and-wife teams. So many people ask me if it ever works well; if a husband and wife can really work together without getting into each other's hair, and the answer I give is always one which the Butlers, I am sure, would agree with.

That is, you can work together well if (1) you love each other, (2) you both believe in the importance and value of the work you do and (3) you have well-defined individual jobs, one handling one thing, the other handling the other.

The trouble comes when the authority is mixed, when one partner butts in on the other's domain, or one tells the other how to handle his or her own particular job.

My thanks to Mrs. Floyd for telling me about the flying missionaries.

If any of you know of a husband and wife who work together in any field, do drop me a note about it. It will be a great help to other couples who may be contemplating a joint venture.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Purple Passages in Diary Recall Puppy Love Days

All my life I've made spasmodic attempts to keep a diary and the other day I came upon a few yellowed pages that go back to a lovesick spring of my boarding school days.

"Why am I so ugly?" I wrote in once-passionate, now faded purple ink, "Never, never will B. love me when I look like this!"

There followed extravagantly depressed estimates of my own appearance and ecstatic notations about B's height, his looks and his charm. I feel sorry for the poor spring-mazed girl that was me, but what makes me really sad is that I haven't the faintest idea now who the beloved B. was.

MISS McBRIDE

I'm sure only that he was a student at Westminster College which like my own school, William Woods, was in Fulton, Mo. Originally, William Woods was for the children of Civil War heroes, but later it was enlarged and renamed for my Great-Uncle Willie, who endowed it. That was how I happened to get sent there.

We didn't wear sunbonnets as the Civil War orphans had, but our uniforms made us just as conspicuous—three-cornered mortar board caps and long black robes with flowing sleeves such as scholars don when degrees are conferred upon them.

We put on our caps and gowns even when we went for afternoon walks, looking and acting more like soldiers drilling than a bunch of lively young girls out to stretch their legs. Two my two we marched along the paths of the countryside, one teacher in front to clear the way of boys and kindred dangers and another to guard the rear.

We marched to church, the whole school in line, and divided into smaller groups, we marched downtown once a month to shop. We were not supposed to know that boys existed even though we were constantly stumbling over the Westminster students.

Sometimes in these hazardous encounters, a boy passed a girl a note. This, if found later on the girl's person, meant court martial, boarding school style.

Then puppy love found a better way. There was a third school in Fulton, one for the deaf and dumb, and all of us learned their language. On Sundays as we girls sat demurely in the body of the church, upstairs in the gallery, reversing the Romeo and Juliet routine, were the boys, and fingers in both areas formed loving messages hidden from teachers' scrutiny by hymn books and Sunday school leaflets.

For at least one young man, though, this long-range communication was not enough. Tommy, dark-eyed, curly-haired, got hold of a Willie cap and gown, tucked up his trouser legs, put on our uniform and slipped into the line beside Martha, the girl of his choice.

Within seconds, by the mysterious grapevine that operates in schools and prisons, everyone of us knew he was there. But the teachers in charge that day never suspected. He walked along for a while murmuring no telling what sweet nothings, then disappeared as adroitly as he had arrived.

Whoever B. was, I'm glad he didn't possess Tommy's lion heart, for one thing I'm sure of: If he'd suddenly appeared in that line beside me, I'd have fainted for the first time of my life.

Once you wash clothes with all you'll know why suds are going out of style all is the controlled suds detergent that outwashes any thick-sudsing detergent in your automatic. It gets clothes so clean and soft and sweet, it's prescribed by washer makers!

WHEN YOU start using all in your automatic washer you'll discover what a truly wonderful machine you own. You will get the brightest dresses, the fluffiest diapers, the softest towels, the cleanest blue jeans and the whitest shirts that you have ever washed.

all is a new kind of detergent created especially for automatics. It doesn't foam away into thick suds which slow down washing action. Instead, all gives you controlled suds that help your machine work free and easy, the way it was built to work.

Why controlled suds work better

Old-fashioned soaps and detergents pile up a thick cushion of suds in your machine. This interferes with washing action. And suds cling to your clothes so stubbornly, they never completely rinse out.

Don't let thick suds fool you. They might look pretty, but actually they have little cleaning power. (After washing, you've often seen white suds riding on top of dirty water.) all makes no thick, useless suds. Every particle of all works down in the wash water. Your clothes get cleaner.

Washer makers asked for all

The idea for all came from the men who make automatic washers. They found suds made their machines overflow and kept clothes from getting really clean.

They asked for a product like all with plenty of washing power but with little or no suds. all lets your automatic do a perfect job of washing and rinsing every time. This is the reason washer manufacturers now prescribe all for the brightest, sweetest clothes in the world.

Cleaner washing is guaranteed

The book that came with your washer warns you against overloading. A machine overstuffed with clothes can't slosh and swirl them around with enough action.

Just like an overload of clothes, suds slow down washing action. Suds act as a cushion and prevent free sloshing and swirling. That's why all's controlled suds give you the cleanest possible washing. Your clothes swish around freely and really get washed clean.

Every trace of all rinses out

If you've ever tried to drain thick suds out of your sink or wash bowl, you'll understand why it is so hard for a mere machine to get rid of stubborn suds during the rinse cycle.

When you use all there is no such problem. all's controlled suds rinse away quickly and completely. Linens don't turn grey with a suds deposit. Colored fabrics have no dingy, cloudy film. And baby's clothes come out so hygienically clean and soft they can't irritate tender, sensitive, lovely skin.

all saves money—saves bother

Every box of all contains everything you need for perfect carefree washing. You don't have to bother buying a bleach, bluing or water softener.

These extras are all included in all. Just the right amount of water softener and whitener is blended into this controlled suds detergent to guarantee the kind of clean-smelling, bright-looking wash your dealer promised you when he sold you your machine.

Read all's special offer

Try all next time you wash. It's wonderful for the grimiest work and play clothes, for dainty lingerie, for baby's things. It's unconditionally recommended for the new miracle fabrics like acrilan, orlon, dynel and nylon.

If all isn't the finest detergent you've ever used, your dealer has been instructed to refund your money.

Citrus Juices Point Up Flavor

Top Pastry Delicacy With Whipped Cream for Party Touch

With canned Bartlett pears on your shelves you will never be caught short whether you need fruit for breakfast or a snack at midnight. You will find the sweet juice and fruit versatile for use with fruit-flavored gelatin and a combination of other fruits: apples, bananas, grapes for an interesting crisp salad.

The juice may also be used in punch. Fresh frozen juice and canned pear juice combined and chilled may be served as the fruit course for breakfast or the cocktail course for dinner.

Around the clock you will find many ways to enliven your family and party menus with canned pears.

Some evening soon when you are not very enthusiastic about the menu planned for dinner, perk it up with the addition of this Pearadise Pie. It is guaranteed to please with its fresh fruity flavor enhanced with a touch of orange and lemon for added zest.

PEARADISE PIE

1 No. 2½ can pears
⅔ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch or quick cooking tapioca
⅛ cup coffee cream
Dash of cinnamon and nutmeg
Pastry for double crust

Slice pears and mix gently with other ingredients. Pour into unbaked pastry lined pie pan. Lace strips of ½ inch pastry for top crust. Bake at 425 degrees for 35 minutes.

Top with whipped cream or ice cream if desired.

"PEARADISE" PIE—This pie has just a hint of spring in its delicate fruity flavor. Simple to make and delicious to eat, it's the answer to "What shall we have for dessert that's economical, yet different?" If you've never tried a pear pie, this is the time to do so.

Anything Goes When Making French Dressing

CHICAGO (UP)—Amateur chefs take notice! Even gourmets disagree on how to make French dressing.

The experts say there now are 78 kinds but they hope to classify them into four types.

"You just can't standardize food, not even a salad dressing," said Sam Mallick, a restaurant operator and member of the classifying committee.

"Everybody's salad dressing is bound to be different, and it should be," Mallick said.

"If you make too many rules about what goes into a 'french dressing you take away too much of the artist in the maker."

The base for french dressing, according to Mallick, is three parts good oil and one part good (not white) vinegar. After that every maker adds to suit his or her taste.

"It shouldn't even be called 'french dressing.'" Mallick said. "It should be 'Joe's french dressing,' 'Topper's french dressing,' or the 'Johnsons' french dressing'."

Salmon Tasty in Budget Dish

If you have missed this recipe when it was given on television; or if your grocery store was completely out of copies, perhaps you will welcome our printing it. It is an excellent Lenten dish.

Salmon Macaroni Dinner

(The recipe is given for 4 servings. Figures in parentheses are for 2 servings.)

1 cup elbow macaroni (½ cup)
6 cups boiling water (4 cups)
2 teaspoons salt (1 teaspoon)
1 can undiluted cream of celery soup (⅔ can)
⅔ cup undiluted evaporated milk (⅓ cup)
¼ cup finely cut pimiento (2 tablespoons)
1 cup grated American cheese (½ cup)
2 cups salmon, broken into pieces (1 cup)

Boil macaroni in salted boiling water until tender. Do not rinse. Mix together the soup, evaporated milk and pimiento. Add half of the cheese.

Stir in the macaroni and salmon. Pour into greased baking dish. Sprinkle rest of cheese around edge of casserole. Bake 20-25 minutes in a 350 degree oven. Serve at once.

If an egg cracks while boiling you can prevent the contents from oozing out by adding a teaspoon of salt to the water.

Teenager's Diet Should Include Lots of Vitamin C

A teenage girl in your family? Then keep an eye on what she's eating. According to the U. S. Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, teenage girls have poorer diets than boys of the same age.

Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) is one of the food elements your teenage daughter needs every day if she is to have sparkling health, because Vitamin C is important in the formation of bones and tissues.

Citrus fruit is a great source of this vitamin and so, right now, while our generous crop of grapefruit is on the market, take advantage of this good fruit and feature it in your menus.

For breakfast, young people usually like grapefruit halves sweetened with honey or maple syrup.

With a small sharp knife remove any seeds and loosen the fruit by cutting around each individual section. Do not cut continuously around the entire outer edge of tthe fruit, this just makes the grapefruit hard to eat!

Sometimes you might like to sweeten the grapefruit halves with the syrup left from canned fruit. (This is a good trick when you are broiling or baking canned pineapple rings or peach halves for meat garnishes or desserts and have the fruit syrup left over.)

In this case, cut around the grapefruit segments as we suggested, then snip out the center core with a kitchen scissors or cut it out with a small sharp knife. Pour a little of the fruit syrup over the top of grapefruit, so that there's a little well of it in the core cavity.

Want your meat pie to have a beautiful glaze? Brush the crust with beaten egg yolk mixed with an equal amount of milk before baking.

Wondrous Rich Recipes Herald Maple Sugar Time

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

It's maple sugar time again. Maple sap normally runs from the first to the fifteenth of March. During this time the maple sugar producers work around the clock, gathering the maple sap and evaporating it as quickly as possible to obtain the delicate golden syrup and the smooth creamy sugar.

Like many other foods, maple syrup has an interesting legend to account for its discovery. It is said that an Indian squaw prepared some moose meat for her brave in the sweet water that came from a tree near her wigwam.

Busy with a pair of moccasins she was making, she forgot about the meat. But, to her relief, not only was the meat unburned, but the sweet water had turned to a delicious golden syrup.

Her brave ate the meat with gusto, then went out to share his findings with the tribe. Tapping the tree again, the Indians boiled the sap in deer hide bags, decided it was heaven-sent, and repeated the process yearly.

Ninety-seven per cent of all the maple sugar products are made in the northeastern section of the United States. In Michigan, the industry centers in Eaton County, with Vermontville having a yearly festival. The maple sugar industry is purely an American one.

The fact that it takes about forty gallons of sap to make one gallon of syrup accounts for the high price we must pay.

The first run sap is lightest in color and makes the preferred syrup. Good syrup weighs eleven pounds to the gallon; if it is heavier, you will find sugar in the bottom of the can.

The best way to keep a large amount of maple syrup is to bring it to a boil and seal it in mason jars. Small amounts should be kept in the refrigerator. It may also be frozen.

Maple syrup and maple sugar make good food taste even better. Maple syrup on vanilla ice cream makes a delectable sundae. Shaved maple sugar adds a different taste to French toast.

Why not try some of these maple recipes in the near future when you get your gallon of maple syrup or quantity of maple sugar?

Maple Parfait

4 eggs
1 pint heavy cream
¼ teaspoon salt

Heat the maple syrup, but do not boil. Beat the whole eggs in the top of a double boiler until they are light yellow. Pour the hot syrup over the eggs, beating briskly and constantly.

Place over hot water and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture coats the spoon. Whip the cream until stiff, add the salt.

Cool the maple mixture and fold in the whipped cream. Freeze in the refrigerator until firm, or about 2½ hours. Makes about 1 quart.

Crushed maple sugar may be added to baking powder biscuit dough before the dough is rolled out. Use ½ cup for your regular biscuit recipe.

Maple Creams

1 cup maple sugar
1 cup light brown sugar
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon almond extract
Walnut meats

Cook the sugars and water to 240 degrees or to the soft-ball stage; add the almond extract. Cool to lukewarm, then beat until creamy, yet firm.

Knead until smooth, form into small balls, and press a walnut meat into each ball.

You can't determine the quality of an egg by the color of the eggshell. Brown and white are equally good. Buy whichever is cheaper in your locale.

THREE-WAY YEAST BREAD—These rich looking muffins are but one way you can make up this good yeast bread recipe. A Tea Ring and a Fruit Loaf are the other two. The dough is refrigerator dough so may easily be stored for a few days. Or you may bake all three at once and freeze the surplus.

Enriched Bread, Cereals 'Musts' on Nutrition List

By JANET ODELL

Eat three or more servings a day of bread, flour and cereals. That is the advice nutrition experts give us. Along with that goes the recommended serving of three pats of butter or fortified margarine daily.

Enriched or whole grain products provide minerals and proteins, as well as calories in the daily diet. Butter and fortified margarine contribute valuable amounts of vitamin A.

MRS. ODELL

Be very sure that all the flour you use and the bread and cereals you buy are either enriched or whole grain products.

Practically all flour is enriched, has been since the days of World War II. But there are no standards for the addition of nutrients to breakfast cereals.

It is up to the person who plans and buys the food to check the ingredients as listed on the package. Refuse to be satisfied with anything less than the best.

The federal government has set standards for the nutritional improvement of certain foods, and these foods carry the terms "enriched," "restored" and "fortified." Read the labels carefully to be sure.

Assuming that dark bread has more minerals and vitamins than white bread is incorrect, for the flour used may not be enriched. If the bread is labeled "whole wheat," it must be made from 100 per cent whole wheat flour, including the wheat germ.

Try to serve your family some whole grain cereals in addition to the popular dry cereals that are eaten in such quantities.

Just plain oatmeal, a whole wheat neal type of cereal, or rolled wheat cereal are all cheaper than the ready prepared cereals and may contain more nutritious food values.

Since margarine has been fortified with large amounts of vitamin A, more people are assured of an adequate amount of this essential vitamin. Other and additional fats may be used in cooking, but a minimum of three servings a day at meals is needed.

Yes, even for people on a diet. Dieters who include moderate amounts of fat in their diet feel better and lose weight just as fast as those who eschew all fats. This was proven in experiments at Michigan State College.

I hope that this series of articles about foods essential for an adequate diet have been helpful. One need not be a nutrition expert to give her family an excellent diet.

Remember the basic 7, serve food from each group every day, and be assured that your family will be well fed.

Basic Sweet Bread Yields Three Exciting Variations

This is the recipe to keep in mind for any occasion where you need more than one kind of sweet bread. For with one mixing, you you get a 9½ inch tea ring; 12 caramel muffins and a fruit loaf, all equally good.

One of the flavor-giving ingredients in the recipe is ready-to-eat bran cereal. It lends a nut-like flavor that is attractive and a texture that is most interesting. This is a recipe you'll want to keep in your files.

Three-Way Muffins
Tea Ring . Fruit Loaf

2 cakes compressed or
2 packages dry granular yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
¾ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 cups ready-to-eat bran
2 teaspoons salt
1½ cups boiling water
2 eggs, well beaten
6½ cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Measure shortening, sugar, ready-to-eat bran and salt into large mixing bowl; add boiling water, stirring until shortening is melted. Let stand until lukewarm.

Stir in eggs and yeast. Add one-half the flour and beat until smooth; add remaining flour, beat well. Place in greased bowl, brush with melted shortening. Cover and let stand in warm place until double in bulk; punch down.

Dough may be shaped, allowed to rise and baked at once according to directions below, or stored in refrigerator and baked when needed.

Caramel Muffins

In each of 12 greased muffin cups, place 1 teaspoon melted butter or margarine and 2 teaspoons dark corn syrup. Using one-third of dough, form into balls and place in muffin cups. Brush with melted shortening; let rise until double in bulk. Bake in 425 oven about 15 minutes.

Turn upside down and sprinkle with ½ cup broken nutmeats. Yield: 12 muffins, 2¼ inches in diameter.

Tea Ring

Roll one-third of dough about 18 inches long, 5½ inches wide and ¼ inch thick. Brush with melted butter or margarine and spread with cooked date filling. (One 7¼-oz. pkg. dates, ½ cup water, ½ cup sugar; cook to consistency of jam, cool.)

Roll up like jelly roll and seal edges firmly. Place roll on greased baking sheet, pressing two ends together to form circle. With scissors, cut from outside edge toward center, at 1-inch intervals; turn each section slightly so cut edge is up.

Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in 375 oven 25-30 minutes. While still warm, brush with confectioners' sugar icing. Yield: 1 ring (9½ inches in diameter).

Fruit Loaf

To remaining dough, add 1 cup chopped, dried fruit or nutmeats. Form into loaf; place in 9½x4¼ inch loaf pan and brush with melted shortening. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in 375 oven about 45 minutes. Makes one loaf.

Smooth-Textured Salad Dressing Made in a Jiffy

It is most annoying to peek into your refrigerator to discover that you have run out of salad dressing, and there is no time to run down to the corner store for another bottle.

But before you get your ire aroused, take another peek. Chances are you have all the makings of a quick and easy salad dressing right within arm's reach.

Have you a lemon? And a ½ cup honey? A little salad oil? Salt? Then you're all set. This recipe for Honey French Dressing does not require cooking and can be put together in a hurry. Here goes:

Shake these ingredients well in a jar or bottle:

½ cup lemon juice
½ cup honey
⅓ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt

Shake just before serving.

For variation you can crumble ¼ pound Roquefort cheese with a fork and add it to the French Dressing. You'll note that the honey blends well with the oil and lends a smooth texture to the dressing.

Or if you are really in a hurry, simply combine ¼ cup honey and ¼ cup of lemon juice and serve as a dressing on a fruit salad. This is so simple as to sound absurd, but once you've tried it you will use it over and over again.

Salad dressings do not have to be hard to make; oftentimes it is the simplest dressing which does the best job of enhancing, rather than making, the flavor of a salad.

Mashed Yams Go With Lamb

Lamb crown roast stuffed with yams is a company dinner treat. Bright red apple bits and chopped pecans combine with fluffy mashed yams to make the delectable filling.

Spiced crabapples are a colorful garnish. Mixed vegetables are a good selection to serve with the roast.

Yam Stuffed Lamb Crown Roast

1-5 pound crown roast of lamb
Salt and pepper
3 cups mashed cooked yams
1 medium-sized apple, cored and diced
½ cup chopped pecans
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Sprinkle the roast with salt and pepper; wrap exposed part of rib bone with aluminum foil to prevent charring. Place on a rack in roasting pan. Bake in 325 oven 1½ hours. Combine yams, apple, pecans and butter or margarine; mix well. Remove roast from oven and fill center with yam mixture. Continue baking 1 hour. Makes 8 servings.

STUFFED LAMB ROAST—As spring approaches, the cook's thoughts turn to lamb. Have your butcher make you a crown roast. Bake it and fill with a stuffing made with yams, apples and pecans. Decorate the ribs with paper "ruffles."

When you're storing lettuce in the refrigerator, use a paper towel rather than a cloth bag. Then the leaves won't turn rusty looking.

Chicken Chow Mein to Bake or Freeze

If you're getting low on casserole dishes in your freezer, why not take a few minutes to put yourself back in business? Serve this favorite tonight and have several meals to put away in the freezer at the same time.

Chicken Chow Mein

3 cups chopped celery
1½ cups chopped onion
1 green pepper, chopped
¼ cup fat
4 cans cream of mushroom soup
2-3 cup milk
3 cups diced chicken
2 ounces chopped pimiento
½ pound peanuts, whole, salted
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Pepper to taste

Saute the celery, onion, green pepper in the fat. Add the soup, milk and chicken. Mix well. Add the remainder of the ingredients and mix thoroughly. Place in casseroles or freezer containers and freeze.

This recipe will make five casseroles of four servings each. If you wish, bake one for tonight's dinner and freeze the rest.

Meatless Meal Is Rich and Quick to Prepare

For a meal in a jiffy, that's meatless but rich, use cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce. Pour 2 cans of spaghetti (about 4 cups) into a shallow casserole. Over the top, arrange thin strips of cheese in a lattice pattern. Around edge, place thin short strips of green pepper.

Bake at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes or until spaghetti is hot through and cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings.

Round out the menu with broccoli in lemon-butter sauce, peach pickles and toasted rye bread.

Broccoli Loves Lemon

Lemon and broccoli are two flavors that were just made for each other. Cook a bunch of broccoli in a small amount of boiling salted water in a covered pan. Drain. Arrange on the serving dish and sprinkle with salt, ground black pepper, 2 to 3 tablespoons of olive oil or melted margarine or butter and the juice of 1 lemon.

Canned Cream Whip Is Party Standby

Here's an idea to give new appeal to one of your family's old-time favorite desserts. Whip your fruit gelatin thoroughly just before it hardens, then place again in the mold and allow to set.

Just before you serve it, top it off with a taste-appealing mound of luscious fresh, real cream pressurized in a can.

Whipped cream in a can is taking American housewives by storm. It ends the trouble and mess of washing bowls and beaters, ends the disappointment of last-minute whipped cream failures.

American housewives, too, have discovered that it adds new glamor to all their desserts, pies, cakes, puddings, salads, fruit and cereal.

Solid Cabbage Best

When choosing cabbage, select solid heads, heavy for size, free from yellow leaves. One pound makes seven to eight half-cup servings raw, four to five servings cooked, according to home economists at Michigan State College.

Pan Cover Trick Helps Keep Broccoli Green

Broccoli that is cooked properly should be tender but faintly crisp. Here is how to do it. Dunk the heads up and down in cold water to wash thoroughly. Trim off tough stem ends. If stems are very large, split in half or quarters lengthwise. Make gashes lengthwise in the stems so they will cook as quickly as the tops.

Drop into 1-inch of rapidly boiling salted water. Cook, covered, 15 to 20 minutes or until stems are tender. Lifting the cover several times while cooking will help retain the green color.

Let Thaw in Wrapping

To thaw a frozen cake, place it on a cake rack in its freezer wrapping and keep it at room temperature. An eight-inch, two-layer, frosted cake will thaw in three to four hours at average room temperature.

MORE TENDER • MORE DELICIOUS

For New Touch: Sauteed Spinach

Quick frozen chopped spinach mixed with cheese and eggs - sauteed in butter until golden brown.

Spinach and Cheese Mounds

1 package frozen chopped spinach
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 tablespoons grated cheese
Nutmeg
Cayenne pepper

Drop solidly frozen chopped spinach into ½ cup boiling water with ½ teaspoon salt. Bring to boil, turning and breaking block with fork to hasten thawing. When water is bubbling rapidly in center as well as around edges of pan, cover and cook one minute, or until done.

Drain if necessary and add 2 tablespoons grated cheese, 2 egg yolks slightly beaten, ½ teaspoon salt, few grains of cayenne pepper, and grated nutmeg. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and stir in two unbeaten egg whites.

Drop by rounded tablespoons into frying pan; brown in butter. Serve with grilled tomatoes and cream sauce. Serves 4 to 6.

Good Sunday brunch dish: Toast spread with deviled ham and topped with scrambled eggs.

FLAKED SALMON WITH DRESSING—Here's an excellent idea for Lent that uses canned salmon in an entirely different way from any you've used before. Layers of bread dressing and red salmon make up this unusual casserole. Mayonnaise adds interest to the dressing. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley.

Easy to Make Your Own Festive Ice Cream Roll

Have you ever thought of "rolling your own"? We're speaking of ice cream now. An ice cream roll is a treat at any time.

Remove both ends from a clean No. 2-½ can. Pack slightly softened ice cream into the can. Smooth off both ends of the roll and seal with freezer foil. Secure foil to can with freezer tape. Store in the freezer or the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. (Save one of the can tops for a "pusher")

When ready to serve, remove the roll from the freezer. Wrap the can in a warm, damp towel for just a few seconds. Then, using the can top, push the roll out and onto the serving platter. Add your favorite topping and slice into servings right at the table.

Here are some variations to try:

Make a roll of chocolate ice cream. Roll in chopped nuts. Or roll in crushed mint candies.

Vanilla ice cream can be rolled in shaved or grated sweet chocolate or crushed chocolate cookie crumbs.

You can even make a two-tone roll. Place one or two empty frozen juice cans (one on top of the other) in the center of the larger can and pack the ice cream around it.

Place in the freezer until the ice cream is hard. Remove and take the juice cans out. Fill this center hole with another flavor and color of slightly softened ice cream.

Let your choice of flavors and colors suit the season and the reason. Roll in colored or toasted coconut just before serving.

Yellow Cheese Cut-Outs Fine for Garnishing

Slices of processed yellow cheese may be used to make pretty garnishes.

Dressing Adds Gusto to Salmon

Lent is a period when many of us do without the usual meats, but that only means we should seek special ways to keep the more frequent use of fish particularly interesting and varied.

You may have stuffed a baked fish with good bread dressing. Now try the same trick wit hthe more accessible can of salmon.

Flaked Salmon With Dressing

2 1 pound cans red salmon
Juice of ½ lemon
6 tablespoons milk
6 tablespoons real mayonnaise
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
2 teaspoons minced onion
½ teaspoon salt

Drain salmon, remove bones and skin and flake with a fork. Squeeze lemon juice over fish and toss lightly.

Add milk to mayonnaise. Mix with bread crumbs, parsley, pimiento, onion and salt. Grease a shallow 8-inch baking dish and line the bottom with one half the salmon.

Top with bread dressing and press lightly with a fork. Spread remaining salmon on top.

Cover and bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes. Remove cover and bake 10 minutes longer. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Pineapple Relish Will Make Big Hit

Your family will go for this sweet relish in a big way.

Sweet Pineapple Relish

1 No. 2 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) crushed pineapple
¼ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
½ cup seedless raisins
½ cup finely diced onion (1 medium-size)
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon allspice

Put pineapple, including syrup, in saucepan; add sugar and vinegar. Rinse raisins in hot water, drain and halve. Add to pineapple mixture with onions, salt, ginger and allspice.

Bring quickly to a boil; boil gently until there is little liquid left—about 15 minutes. Makes about 2 cups. Store any relish not used in covered container in refrigerator.

Bacon, Thickly Wrapped, Can Be Stored to 3 Weeks

How shall I store sliced bacon to retain its top quality? Can the bacon be frozen to lengthen storage life?

Will a special wrapping improve the keeping quality?

These are the questions about sliced bacon most often asked by homemakers.

Today's super markets with once-a-week shopping have led to buying food in larger quantities. This, in turn, has raised the question of real economy of buying bacon in quantity.

A series of experiments was designed to test the effects of (1) the type of wrap and (2) the storage temperature on the flavor and color of sliced bacon.

The test storage periods ranged from one to five weeks. The samples were judged by an experienced taste panel and the experiment was replicated for statistical analysis.

The bacon samples were divided into three lots to test different wraps. The types of wraps included (1) the original semi-moisture proof, cellophane-wrapped package; (2) the original cellophane wrapped package overwrapped with waxed kraft paper: i. e., a freezer type wrap; and (3) the original cellophane wrapped package overwrapped with heavy duty aluminum foil.

Thus, three types of wraps were used: cellophane, a poor wrap for freezing; waxed kraft paper, an average wrap for freezing; and aluminum foil, a good wrap for freezing.

Each lot within the wrapping test was again divided into three parts and each part stored at a different temperature. The three storage temperatures were (1) 0 degrees F. in a home-type freezer; (2) 23 degrees F. in the freezing compartment of a household refrigerator; and (3) 40 degrees F. in a household refrigerator.

The 23 degrees F. temperature was chosen because previous work indicated that this might be a good storage temperature for bacon, inasmuch as bacon is not frozen at this temperature.

Freezing of bacon is not recommended because of the rapid development of a rancid condition in the fat of cured smoked pork.

The results of this study showed that all three types of wraps were satisfactory for storing bacon to retain acceptable flavor and color for 5 to 7 days at (1) 40 degrees F., (2) 23 degrees F., and (3) 0 degrees F.

Regardless of the type of wrap, bacon stored longer than one week at 0 degree F. and at 40 degrees F., was lower in quality. Bacon overwrapped with heavy duty aluminum foil and stored at 23 degrees F. kept in acceptable condition up to three weeks.

The results indicate that (1) it is not necessary to overwrap bacon stored 5 to 7 days; (2) freezing bacon at 0 degree F. does not prolong the storage life, regardless of the type of wrap; and (3) overwrapped bacon in heavy duty aluminum foil stored at 23 degrees F., may be kept up to three weeks.

* * *

For the best guarantee of serving excellent quality bacon, therefore, it seems desirable to buy top-quality branded bacon in the quantity that can be used within five to seven days while the original quality is still retained.

Keep Cutting Edge on Kitchen Knives

Use a cutting board for cutting or chopping meats, vegetables or fruits. A hard or enamel surface ruins the knife edge.

Don't use your household knives to sharpen pencils; use a regular pencil sharpener or a sturdy pocket knife.

Shredded Carrots Give Color to Loaf

About all there is to making this tasty meat loaf is measuring ingredients and mixing them together thoroughly in one large bowl, but the result is as delectable a meat dish as if you had spent much more time in preparation.

Shredded raw carrots add unusual color and flavor to the loaf and evaporated milk keeps it moist—a necessity for a good meat loaf.

And besides being easy to make and having an "easy to take" taste, meat loaf has the third and important advantage of being easy on the budget—it's a real three-way winner.

Meat Loaf

2 pounds ground beef
1 pound ground pork
2 cups bread crumbs
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup shredded raw carrot
1 tablespoon salt
1 egg
1 cup evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon pepper

Place all ingredients in a large bowl and mix together thoroughly. Pack lightly into a loaf pan 10½x5½x2¾ inches. Bake in 350 oven 1 hour and 15 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Seven out of 10 Americans of 40 today are statistically expected to reach the age of 65.

Cheese Sets Off Fruit Salad Plate

The latest—and one of the most hospitable—of salad ideas is the "Help Yourself!" fruit plate. It stars familiar favorites—a variety of fruits, combined in classic good taste with cottage cheese.

The newness comes in the manner of service—chop plate or platter decked as prettily as a flower arrangement with enough fruits so that every guest, or member of the family, may serve himself with his own special favorites.

A generous bowlful of creamy cottage cheese is the center attraction of the plate. And making his own individual salad from this bounteous assortment gives everybody an extra zest in the eating.

For the fruits, choose some fresh ones in season—and some canned ones—always ready to come to the aid of the party. Bananas, apples, oranges, grapes and strawberries might make up the fresh fruit assortment.

Peaches, apricots, pear halves, prunes and pineapple are a pleasing assembly of canned or cooked dried fruits for the giant salad plate.

Snowy cottage cheese sets off all these fruit favorites to perfection, both as to eye-appeal and flavor attraction.

The mild sweetness of this great cheese variety — its delicacy of flavor—make it a happy complement to almost any salad ingredient you can mention.

Children almost universally like this simple cheese. And they are bound to enjoy drinking their milk out of the gay re-usable mugs in which cottage cheese is available on the market, and through home delivery, this Lenten season.

Prepare Own Coloring for Soups, Gravies

You can make your own brown coloring for chop suey, for soups, gravies and sauces, says Mrs. Norma Kowitz, a Michigan State College home economist.

Simply carmelize one-half cup sugar in a frying pan until it is almost burned (it will have lost its sweet carmel flavor at this point) then add a little hot water to dissolve the carmelized sugar.

Save what you do not need for later use. It will keep indefinitely in a bottle in the refrigerator.

Eat Breakfast and Stay Young

Minutes are precious in the morning, so the next time you hear, "I don't have time for breakfast," re-examine that busy schedule. Each day should and can start off with an adequate meal and still not rob us of those treasured morning minutes.

You'll be a happier, more pleasant person, too, if you start the day eating an appetizing breakfast. Raisin-pineapple bedecked grapefruit, an egg boiled to your individual liking, slices of hot enriched toast and your favorite warm beverage would be a good starter. A few minutes for an adequate breakfast will help mother nature add color to your cheeks, make your skin softer, add more lustre to your hair, and don't forget—sparkle to your personality, too.

Authorities suggest you include these foods to get your family into a year-round breakfast habit:

A fruit or juice—preferably a citrus fruit
Cereal—hot or cold with milk or cream
An egg at least 5 times a week
Enriched toast with butter or margarine
Milk for children and coffee for the adults

The United States Army Signal Corps was established as a separate branch of the Army March 3, 1863. At the height of the War between the States, it consisted of 102 Signal officers and 1,350 enlisted men.

HORS D'OEUVRE TRAY—A large party tray of crisp vegetables provides added zest at any gathering. Crunchy vegetables are filled with vitamins. Grapefruit and tomato shells hold cocktail dips to eat with crackers or potato chips.

Cheese Biscuits New Taste Treat

Hot bread tricks come in mighty handy during Lent. They'll help you vary those meatless meals and give such a satisfying touch.

Take these Cheese Chips — delicate little biscuits made of cornmeal and pancake ready-mix, rolled in potato chips, then baked with a cube of cheese in the center.

They taste delicious with a soup or salad; they're perfect for an afternoon or evening snack.

Cheese Chips

½ cup enriched cornmeal
1¼ cups pancake ready-mix
⅓ cup shortening
⅔ cup milk
½ cup crushed potato chips
20 small cubes processed American cheese

Mix together pancake ready-mix and cornmeal. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add milk all at once, stirring lightly only until mixture is dampened. (Dough will be quite soft.)

Using about 1 tablespoon of the dough for each, shape into small balls. Roll balls in crushed potato chips. Place the balls on a lightly greased cookie sheet; make a thumb print in the center of each of the balls. Fill each hole with a small cube of cheese.

Bake in 440 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 18 to 20 biscuits.

Since July 1, 1894, with the exception of one series, all U. S. postage stamps have been printed by the Federal Bureau of Printing and Engraving. The exception was the 13 stamps commemorating the over-run nations, issued in 1943-44.

Antarctica is a vast plateau averaging 6,000 feet in height.

Vegetable Hors d'Oeuvres Add Zest to Party Fare

The next party you give, why don't you serve a large tray of crisp, fresh vegetable appetizers? They are bright, crunchy, appetite-whetting, and most everyone enjoys them.

Incidentally, these raw vegetable hors d'oeuvres are little packages of health for your friends. Dancing with vitamins, they are ideal for children too.

Hors d'Oeuvre Tray

Radishes; carrot sticks, rings or curls; celery hearts, curls or sticks; unpeeled cucumber fingers or slices, young tender raw spinach leaves, cauliflowerets; young green onions; green pepper sticks, raw apples, slices or wedges, raw pear, slices or wedges, raw pineapple wedges, fresh melon balls.

Serve cocktail dips with your raw hors d'oeuvres. Use grapefruit or tomato shells placed right on the tray with the vegetables.

Grapefruit Cocktail Dip

3-ounce package cream cheese
⅓ cup diced fresh grapefruit
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
10 drops tabasco sauce

Soften cream cheese and mix with remaining ingredients until fluffy. Serve as a cocktail dip for fresh raw vegetables, fresh raw fruits and potato chips. Serve in grapefruit shell. Makes ¾ cup.

Luscious Lemon Pie to Make in a Hurry

Quick Lemon Cream Pie is a natural for your hospitality-in-a hurry file. Note the new twist in making the Corn Flakes Crumb Crust. By using butter which is just soft enough to blend well with the other ingredients, the pie can be served almost immediately—without long chilling, as is necsary when the butter is melted.

Quick Lemon Cream Pie

3 cups corn flakes
2 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup butter or margarine
1 1-3 cups (1 15-ounce can) sweetened condensed milk
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar

Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Blend butter and sugar. Stir in corn flakes crumbs; mix well.

Press evenly around sides and bottom of 8-inch pie pan. Chill.

Combine condensed milk and slightly beaten egg yolks. Add lemon rind and lemon juice, stirring until mixture thickens. Pour into pie shell.

Beat egg whites with salt until stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually and continue beating until mixture is glossy. Pile lightly on filling, spreading to edges of pie shell. Chill until ready to serve. Yield: 1 8-inch pie.

Icing for Donuts

7 Unusual Ways to Serve Delicious Cherry Sauce

Versatility is one of the chief characteristics of this sweet cherry sauce which has so many uses. Make up the sauce and have on hand for occasions large or small.

Magic Cherry Sauce

1 cup dark or light canned sweet cherries (pitted)
1 cup cherry juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ cup honey
½ teaspoon red food coloring
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon lemon extract
2 tablespoons cornstarch

Pit cherries and set aside. Mix cornstarch with a little fruit juice and combine with other ingredients in saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook and stir for 2 minutes. Add cherries and serve . . . sometimes hot, sometimes cold.

Here are suggestions for ways to use Magic Cherry Sauce:

1. As filling for cream puffs. Last minute fill puffs and add a dash of thick sour cream before putting back top of puff. Elegant dessert for party fare.

2. For a glamorous dessert: Make an angel food cake from a prepared mix. Top with chilled sauce on the fresh cake.

3. Filling for birthday cupcakes. Cut off top and scoop a little cake out. Fill with sauce, replace top of cake and top with a small lighted candle.

4. Serve over nutmeg custard—unmolded on a sherbet glass.

5. Pour warm over ice cream for the unexpected drop-ins on a busy evening.

6. Serve over pancakes hot from the griddle. A spoonful of sour cream will complete this different brunch dish.

7. Serve over waffles, topping with heavy sweet or sour cream. Add coconut to the waffle batter.

Prepare grapefruit halves an hour or so before serving time, spread them with a little honey and chill.

A large salt shaker is best for sprinkling meat, fish and patties with flour. It avoids waste and mess.

Serve Peach Omelette on Your Gayest Platter

Some of the best surprises for supper come out of the skillet. This one starts with your favorite omelette. Just before folding the omelette, place a layer of drained, sliced, cooked peaches on half of the egg mixture.

Fold, sprinkle with a mixture of sugar and lemon juice. Heat under a low broiler for a few minutes. Turn out on your gayest platter and surround with golden toast points to complete a pretty dish.

Hike to Total $500 Yearly

Supt. Baldwin Declares It Will Require $63,000 More in District Budget

ROCHESTER — Teachers in the Rochester Community School system will receive about $500 more per year beginning next school term.

Minimum salary for beginning teachers was raised this week by the Board of Education from $3,200 to $3,550 for those with bachelor's degrees. Teachers with master's degrees will begin at $3,750 with a maximum of $5,400.

"Our investigation showed," said Donald Baldwin, superintendent of Rochester schools, "that teachers' salaries in the area will range from $3,300 to $3,700 for minimums. The board is stretching its budget to the limit in an attempt to put itself into as good a bargaining position as possible in order to continue to attract outstanding teachers."

The increase will require about $63,000 more in the district's budget for next year, said Supt. Baldwin.

Last summer the voters of the district approved a three mill increase in taxes for school operation costs. This will just about cover the new salary schedule for instructors.

Rochester pays an annual increment of $150 to its teachers. Eleven of these are given before reaching the maximum.

Non-degree people will receive a minimum of $3,350 plus $25 for a year's experience and with the allowance of $5 per hour for work taken prior to next September's regular school term.

The board also voted this week to increase the salary schedule of the janitorial staff $100 per year.

Puerto Rican Police Holding Red Leader

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Police announced today the arrest of Cesar Andreu Iglesias, one of Puerto Rico's four top Communist leaders.

Andreu and the other three Red chiefs have been sought since March 7 when warrants were issued against them in connection with a roundup of suspected subversive elements on the island.

The police announcement said Andreu gave himself up last night through the San Juan newspaper El Imparcial.

The roundup was ordered after a group of Puerto Rican Nationalists wounded five U.S. congressmen in a shooting spree in the House of Representatives in Washington.

State Warning License Issuers

Drivers Living Outside Municipal Boundaries Must Go to Sheriff

Drivers' license issuing stations in Clawson, Milford, Oxford and Rochester will soon join the list of cities and villages warned by the State that they cannot issue licenses to drivers living outside municipal boundaries.

The first city to receive the notice was Farmington, which has been issuing licenses to drivers in Farmington Township as well as the city.

George Newman, chief examiner, for the division of driver and vehicle service of the Secretary of State's office, said in Lansing today the reminders are being issued in accordance with a state law which limits issuing by city or village authorities to municipal limits.

"The whole thing stems from popular demand that drivers' licensing be tightened up," Newman said.

"What we're trying to do is channel this work through full-time examiners as much as possible. We are trying to establish a good uniform examination throughout the state.

"That can only be done if licensing is handled by people who know how it should be done and do it that way," he declared.

Under the law, motorists living in townships and other unincorporated areas in Oakland County must come to the Sheriff's Office to obtain their licenses.

An Attorney-General's ruling in January stated that all money taken in by the examiner belongs to the state. Since that time all police chiefs and sheriffs have had to be bonded.

Newman said a sheriff has authority to have a deputy establish a license bureau in a locality to serve driver sliving outside city limits.

In Farmington Monday, the City Commission passed a resolution protesting the sending of the letter to the police department restating the State law (Sec. 309, Motor Vehicle Code.)

"I would be glad to meet the people so resolving and explain the situation," Newman commented.

Stevenson Warns Loose U.S. Talk Confuses World

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson says Americans "must be careful" of their words because foreign opinions are formed from "the composite of the voices of America, official and unofficial, true and false."

"We do not realize what injury needless words and bad manners do us abroad," the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate told an audience at Harvard University last night in the first of a series of three lectures.

He will deliver the second Godkin Lecture tonight and the final on Friday night. The general subject is "A Troubled world."

"There is still another danger in loud, loose tongues," he said. "We not only confuse and mislead foreigners but we can mislead and deceive ourselves; we can become the victims of our own propaganda, especially in times of tension and impatience.

He said Americans are "accustomed to political bad manners and Billingsdate," adding that we have "developed some immunity to villification, abuse and misrepresentatiton in our domestic public dialogues."

"But now the situation has changed with the chance in America's position in the world," he said. "Everyone is listening attentively to what we say but without even our imperfect capacity to evaluate its significance."

Building Bids Above Estimate

Cost for 2 School Units $35,000 Over Allotment by Rochester Board

ROCHESTER — Bids received this week for two new school additions to the Rochester Community school district were 10 per cent above what the Board of Education had anticipated.

Low bids for additions to Hamlin and Baldwin Schools was submitted by the Wallace Construction Company of Farmington.

Their bid was $345,300.

Contractors stated an expected rise in labor costs within the next two months the reason.

According to the budget established by the Board of Education, this bid was about $35,000 more than they had alloted for the additions, and they instructed their architect, H. E. Beyster and Associates of Detroit, to analyze the bids to see where savings might be made.

Final decision will be made on March 23, said the board of education.

Seek Facilities to Store Grain

Federal Officials Meet in Omaha to Work Out Storage Problem

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agriculture Department hopes today to move toward at least a partial solution of one of its most pressing problems — the impending shortage of grain storage facilities.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Ross Rizley and other officials of the department are meeting in Omaha with grain industry leaders, to work out storage problems.

The conference is similar to one called last summer when government and private wheat and corn warehouses were overflowing and the 1953 crops were ready for harvest.

To meet the crisis at that time, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson adopted a number of emergency steps, including setting up loans for farmers and commercial warehousemen who were willing to construct additional storage.

A his weekly news conference Monday, Benson again expressed concern over the problem, and said he regretted he could not attend the Omaha conference personally.

The secretary already had warned farmers that the storage situation this year probably will be more acute than it was in 1953. He called upon them last month to begin planning for adequate storage facilities.

Benson pointed out that in addition to the large crops of wheat, corn and other grains expected this year, there wil be huge carry-overs from 1953 and preceding crops.

He explained that the carry-overs of wheat and corn during last year's emergency were 562 million bushels and 769 million bushels, respectively.

Benson then noted that this year's carry-overs will be even greater—more than 800 million bushels of wheat and 900 million bushels of corn.

Court Closes Trailer Park

Injunction Requires 66 Families at Walton Site to Move by April 19

The Pontiac City Health Department yesterday obtained an injunction requiring 66 famlies living in the Burke Trailer Coach Park, 229 E. Walton Blvd., to move by April 19.

The order, issued by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland, cited failure of the park to be licensed by the state or meet sanitation and health laws.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said the petition filed by City Health Director John D. Monroe gave unsanitary sewage, waste, and garbage disposal plus unsafe electrical wiring and inadequate water supply as conditions existing in the park.

Monroe issued a notice of condemnation of the property Feb. 20.

According to the petition for injunction, the park's owner Care W. Burke twice has been fined for operating a trailer park without a license and is scheduled for sentencing March 22 in circuit court for a violation of the trailer coach law.

All residents must remove their trailers by April 19, the order states, and stop paying rent to Burke.

Monroe's petition stated that when the park is brought to comply with the state housing and trailer coach laws "an order may be entered authorizing use of said premises" again.

Wounded Youth in Fair Condition

15-Year-Old Boy Shot by Playmate Unable Yet to Make Statement

John Engleman, 15, of 83 Osmun St. was reported still in fair condition today in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being shot Tuesday night by a 15-year-old playmate.

Engleman has not yet recovered sufficiently to make a statement, according to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

The teenaged assailant is held in Oakland County Children's Home pending a hearing in Juvenile Court. The youth told Ziem bullying by Engleman had incited his action.

Statements of eight mutual playmates and two neighborhood adults taken yesterday varied as to Engleman's treatment of his assailant, said Ziem.

Engleman was shot at 9:15 p.m. in the other youth's home after a street basketball game at Park Pl. and O'Riley St. The youth claimed Engleman didn't want him to leave the game and followed him home.

State Police Nab Boy on 3 Counts

Search for Teenager Ends at Home of Friend in Commerce Twp.

Francis Ortwein, 18, of 2121 Old Lane, Waterford Township, sought by the FBI and local authorities on three separate charges since September, was arrested Wednesday by State Police of the Pontiac Post.

Ortwein was apprehended at the home of a friend in Commerce Township after Trooper Henry A. DeLooff and Detective Charles M. Leaf received information that Ortwein was there.

Ortwein is specifically charged with transporting stolen property over the state line, uttering and publishing and violation of probation.

Police said Ortwein admitted stealing five cars and passing 20 bogus checks in Pontiac. He also told police he burglarized an Auburn Heights apartment, and stole several auto license plates.

Robert C. Miller, investigator for the County Prosecutor's Office, said the youth entered the army under an alias and has been AWOL since last January. Ortwein is being held in Oakland County Jail.

He was placed on probation in Kalamazoo for auto theft.

Chiefs, Utica Out, Vikings Spoil Sexton Record

WATCHFUL WAITING—Highland Park's Dick Brown (5) follows Walt Poe (10) of Pontiac as the Chiefs' guard attempts to drive in for a layup in 3rd-quarter action of last night's quarter-final game at Birmingham. Poe missed on this try, and the Polar Bears broke loose on a 15-point spree. Parkers won the game easily, 53-31, to advance to the semifinals in the state Class A tournament.

Polar Bears Extend Unbroken Record; Northern Tops Big Reds in Test Here

By JACK SAYLOR

Lansing Sexton was in mourning for the 2nd straight year, while Flint Northern made preparations for a Friday trip to the state tournament semifinals at East Lansing.

Northern blasted Sexton's 19-game unbeaten record with a 54-49 Class A quarterfinal victory before a jam-packed crowd in the Pontiac High School gymnasium Wednesday night.

Last season, Sexton ran up 20 consecutive triumphs before bowing to Fordson in the tournament finals. Big Reds had posted two regular-season victories over the Saginaw Valley League champs, but their shooting eyes failed them this time.

Carl Stelter's Vikings clicked on 41 per cent of their shots and made good use of Sexton's offensive mistakes, passes that went astray, traveling violations and the like. Lansing team was outscored 25-19, from the floor and blew 14 chances at the charity stripe.

Clarence Elliot, Northern's 6-4 center, did a fine rebounding job, particularly on the defensive board, and tossed in 16 points to pace the Vikings. Frank Manley's all-around floor generalship, feeding and driving also stood out for Northern.

Manley, an all-state guard, collected 11 points, while his running mate Bob Failing notched 14. Art Gowens led Sexton with 15, but missed a great many chances. Entire Lansing club was plagued by poor shooting luck as many shots rimmed the hoop and bounded out—usually to be gathered in by Elliot.

Neil Nickel scored 11 points and southpaw Bill Cunningham hit 10, while teaming with Gowens on the Sexton backboard.

Score was tied at the quarter, 12-12 and Northern led at half-time, 28-23, after Elliot had bagged 12 of his 16 points. With time running out in the 1st half, Elliot and Manley both swished long running one-handers that proved to be important points.

Late in the 3rd quarter Northern slowed down play almost to a standstill as its lead reached 38-31.

A hook shot by Elliot and a layup by Manley following a brilliant court-length dribble gave the Vikings a 42-34 edge with five minutes to go. Then Chet Russell tapped in a Sexton basket and Cunningham hit from the foul line.

Both teams suffered defensive lapses as Jim Johnson of Northern and Cunningham matched baskets with no one near them. Gowens sandwiched a jump shot between two Northern free throws, and Cunningham hit from close in to pull the Big Reds within three points at 46-43.

At the 2-minute mark, Northern stalled until Art Johnson found an opening and made the score 50-45 Northern. Pat May's long shot brought it to 50-47, then Sexton rooters went wild as the ball was stolen and Gowens hit to put the Big Reds within a point with less than a minute to play.

Sexton pressed, but the reliable Manley engineered the ball past mid-court and hit a one-hander from near the foul circle to ice the game. With only five seconds remaining, Failing emerged from a pileup with the ball and added two unneeded Northern points at the buzzer.

A huge crowd watched the two Class A powers. Lines began forming as early as 5 p.m. Gym was packed a half-hour before game time and there were standees in every available spot.

Utica Victim of Tournament Jinx

Jinx that rides with Utica in quarter-final play held steadfast Wednesday night as the last Oakland County area representatives fell from state prep basketball tourney play.

Utica suffered a heartbreaking 50-48 setback at the hands of St. Johns in Class B at the Flint IMA Auditorium, while Pontiac was being bumped by Highland Park, 53-31.

Free throws and a sparkling outside shooting performance by St. Johns' Bruce Williams doomed the Uticans. It was the Chieftains 3rd loss in as many quarterfinal appearances in the last four years.

Fighting an up-hill battle all the way, Utica finally captured the lead with 2½ minutes to go as Pat Schutte hit to make the score, 44-43. Doug Knight countered to make it 45-43 St. Johns.

With 20 seconds left, Gordon Rogers netted a pair of free throws to tie the score at 46-46. With only eight seconds remaining, Knight was fouled and made both.

Final nail was driven in the Utica coffin as Williams stole the ball and scored at the 5-second mark to make it 50-46. Rogers' basket at the buzzer made the final count, 50-48.

Knight, heralded Red Wings' center, was held to 11 points, while Utica's Rogers meshed 19. But the Chieftains couldn't cope with the uncanny long-range accuracy of Williams. He collected 25 points, including 11 baskets.

Fred Hoscilla had 13 for Utica, but forwards Elmer Balow and Dick Duvall had a total of only two points and Duvall fouled out with six minutes left in the game. Utica out-scored the winners from the field, 19-17.

Chieftains dropped 10 of 21 foul tries, while St. Johns was making 16 of 26. Loss closed the Utica record at 14-6, while St. Johns advances to the semi-finals with a 17-2 mark.

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's basketball team bowed out of state high school tournament play last night, falling victim to heavily-favored Highland Park 53-31 in Class A quarterfinal action at Birmingham.

Coach Art Van Ryzin's willing but outclassed Chiefs made a valiant try to hold the powerful Parkers in check and succeeded in limiting the Polar Bears to a 3-point 1st-quarter edge. From that point on, it was all Highland Park's game. Bears ran up a 30-12 halftime advantage and, at one stage of the 3rd period, held a 28-point margin.

Defeat of Lansing Sexton by Flint Northern here last night left Highland Park as the state's only unbeaten team. Parkers now boast a 19-0 mark and are practically unanimous choices to grab the state "A" crown.

Pontiac scored 1st, with John James connecting on a 1-hander from 12 feet out. Parkers' big George Less then sank one of two free throws and Walt Poe dropped a foul shot to give the Chiefs an early 3-1 lead. Polar Bears tied the score seconds later on a layup by Rabon McHenry and Lee followed up with a tip-in and another charity toss. Parkers never again lost the lead.

Lee made good on five of six chances at the free throw line to spark his mates to an 11-8 lead at the end of the period.

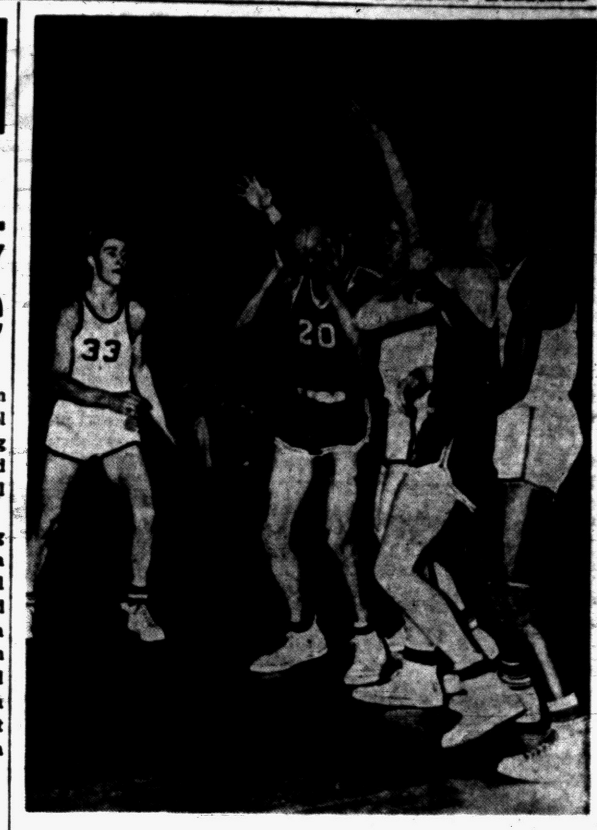

Pontiac, which had staged such a promising showing in the 1st eight minutes, fell completely apart in the following quarter. Lee, George Duncan and Don Anderson all contributed points as the Detroit Suburbanites piled up 10 straight points, gave up a rebound bucket to Pontiac's Dick Blacklaw, and then added five more tallies to move ahead, 26-10. Polar Bears left the floor at halftime with an 18-point bulge.

The talented Lee Highland Park's 6-foot-3 all-state center, added six more points in the 3rd quarter as his mates raced to a 46-20 margin. He retired to the bench at the end of the period, with 18 points and not a single personal foul on him.

Coach Jim Wink began running in his reserves in the finale, and Pontiac outscored the Parkers 11-7 to account for the final margin.

Only Pontiac player completing his eligibility in the game was reserve guard Paul Bersche. Forwards Marv Caswell and Dave Ballard graduate at mid-year next season, while all other members of the squad are juniors and sophomores.

Special Training Helps

'Tutored Trout' Come Through Winter Well

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP) — The conservation department has already found out that its "college-trained" rainbow trout survive the hazards of winter better than native or hatchery reared rainbows.

When the trout season opens April 24, a study will be made of how the specially trained trout stand up against the wiles of fisherman.

Several thousand trout were trained by psychological research services, an independent consulting group, to be more wary than their trusting brothers in the ordinary run of hatchery trout.

By the use of special feeding devices and electric shockers they were taught to feed on the bottom and to scamper for cover when a human appeared on the scene. This is standard behavior of wild trout, but exactly opposite from normal hatchery trout.

The idea was to see if such training would help hatchery trout to survive better when they are dumped in the streams.

First graduating class was planted last fall. Researchers have established that the trained rainbows are even better at getting along in the winter than the natives.

They have also found — something that won't surprise veteran trout fishermen — that brook trout are more stupid than rainbows. It was found that rainbows learn faster than brooks, but there were indications this can be overcome to a degree by starting to train the brooks earlier in life.

Trained trout have been planted in Lower Peninsula streams where close checks are possible on the numbers that are caught and that die off from natural causes as the season progresses.

This will be compared with similar figures for native trout and untrained hatchery fish.

Making Up for Lost Time

Wife of Chisox Pitcher Jack Harshman Serves as Catcher in Practice Sessions

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Dee Harshman thinks she might possibly be the only woman in the country ever to have been given a big league catcher's mitt by her husband as a Christmas present.

The gesture was not entirely a sentimental one on the part of her husband, Jack Harshman, who is being counted upon to bolster the Chicago White Sox pitching staff this season. Jack needed a receiver to help him keep his arm limbered up in the back yard during the winter, and Mrs. Harshman just happened to be handy.

She is not the type that one would pick out in a crowd as a catcher, being slender and blonde and extremely pretty, but this apparently is no great handicap.

"Don't misunderstand," she cautioned. "Jack doesn't throw with all his speed or give me any breaking stuff. He just limbers up. He forgets now and then, though, and cuts one loose on me. One of them knocked me flat on my back and I told him any more of that and he'd have to find himself another catcher."

The reason for Harshman's unusual zeal and his wife's personal mitt is that he started pitching seriously only the past couple of years after a not-too-brilliant career as a first baseman and feels he has a lot of catching up to do in a hurry.

The Giants had something like $100,000 invested in Harshman during the five years he knocked around their farm system as a first baseman and pitcher. After last season, when he burned up the Southern Assn. with a 23-7 record at Nashville, they let him go to the White Sox for cash and players estimated at another $100,000.

Tribe Pilot Knows When to Encourage Ballplayers

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A baseball manager is sometimes more than just a guy who shuffles the lineup and criticizes. He must know when to encourage, too.

Manager Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians, about to take a shower, was interrupted by a knock on his hotel room door. It was pitcher Mike Garcia, bashed for 17 runs in three innings in two exhibition games.

"What's wrong with me?" asked the winner of 18 games last season.

Lopez looked over the crestfallen hurler and replied:

"Mike, you don't have that good fast ball yet. You're older and it takes longer for your arm to get strong. We'll give you more assignments."

Garcia left with his morale much higher. Then came another visitor, Al Rosen, voted the American League's most valuable player last year.

"What's wrong with me, Al?" he asked. "Why is it I'm not hitting?"

Lopez: "You've been batting against pitchers who pitched all winter. They're ahead of you, that's all. You're watching the ball good and that's what counts."

Champs Defend Kaycee Titles

Truex, Ashenfelter Go for Mile, 2-Mile Wins in Cleveland Meet

CLEVELAND (AP)—Last year's champions will be defending their titles in the one-mile and the two mile events tomorrow at the annual Knights of Columbus track meet in the arena.

Len Truex, former Ohio State star from Lima, Ohio, will be trying to keep his mile crown. Horace Ashenfelter, holder of the world two mile record, is scheduled to defend the title he won here last year.

Truex's competitors will include Fred Wilt, balding veteran from Indiana who won the 1949 and 1952 meets; Lawton Lamb, former Illinois star; Bill Squires of Notre Dame, and John Cook of Michigan State.

The two mile relay also should see some fast action. The field includes Pittsburgh, Fordham, Michigan, Michigan State and Syracuse.

Hearings Set Today on Bill Hitting Busch

Monopoly Sub-Group to Hear Testimony by Senator Johnson

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators scheduled public hearings today of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson's blunt assertion that beer and baseball should not mix.

The Colorado Democrat was waiting to testify as a monopoly subcommittee began consideration of his bill to balk such beer-and-baseball blending. Johnson has said the measure is aimed "specifically" at the St. Louis Cardinals and brewery-owner August A. Busch.

Chairman William Langer (R-ND), who heads the subcommittee and the parent judiciary committee, also asked for testimony from Stanley N. Barnes, assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, and Earl W. Kintner, general counsel of the Federal Trade Commission.

Johnson's bill would subject to the federal anti-trust laws any baseball club owned, or partly owned, by anyone who makes or sells alcoholic beverages.

Church for Skiers

MONTREAL (AP)—Folks in this area are calling the log church of St. Francis at St. Sauveur des Monts the "Skiers" church. Young people who come to the Laurentian mountains for a week-end of winter sports usually crowd the church every Sunday morning. Some of them sit on the floor when seats are filled.

Spartan Net Squad Heads South Soon

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College tennis team will head south for its spring training trip March 29-April 2 with only one letterman on the seven-man squad.

For the first time in a number of years, the entire team is from Michigan. Others on the squad are Dave and John Brogan of East Lansing, Dick Menzel of Wyandotte, Dean Britton of Midland, Arnold Hoffman of Grand Rapids and Dana Squire of Midland.

MSC will open its spring tour against Davidson College at Davidson, N. C., March 29.

Rudolph Takes Lead in Billiards Event

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Erwin Rudolph, five-times pocket billiards champion, has taken a commanding lead in the world tourney play underway here.

Rudolph won both his matches yesterday to run his unbeaten string in the present competition to four. Rudolph beat Joe Canton, Watervliet, N. Y., 150-79 in an afternoon match and came right back last night to whip Mike Eufemio, Brooklyn, N. Y., 150-9.

Bosox 'Night Demons'

BOSTON (AP)—The Red Sox compiled a remarkable night game record in 1953, especially on the road. They won 20 out of 27 are contests in enemy parks. Their overall night record of 28 won and 14 lost was tops in the American League.

Lemon Tough Afield

CLEVELAND (AP)—Bob Lemon of the Indians has developed a reputation as one of the finest fielding pitchers in the majors. His 1953 defensive record proves it. He handled 108 chances and made only three errors. Bob participated in 15 double plays, 10 more than the next highest man in the American League.

Under Three Patricks

NEW YORK (AP)—Edgar Laprade, forward on the New York Rangers, has played under three different Patricks. Edgar came to the Rangers when Lester Patrick was running the club. Later he played for Lynn, Lester's elder son. Now he is playing for Muzz Patrick, younger son of Lester.

Race Still On for 2nd Place

Only 2 Games Left in NHL for Canucks and Maple Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

End of the National Hockey League season is only four days away and second place still is in doubt.

Both Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens, battling for the second spot, have only two games remaining with Toronto holding a one-point edge thanks to their 3-1 victory over Montreal last night.

Goalie Harry Lumley of Toronto, heading down the home stretch with Detroit's Terry Sawchuk for the Vezina Trophy goaltending honors, now has two fewer goals scored against him — 120 — than Sawchuk. Sawchuk has three more games, one more than Lumley.

Canadiens scored in the first period on Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion's bullet like shot. Toronto's Eric Nesterenko tied it late in the same period. In the second period Tod Sloan broke the 1-1 tie and Rudy Migay scored the insurance goal midway in the third period.

The Milwaukee Braves have scheduled seven Ladies' Days for the 1954 season, one against every club in the league.

Vehement Mat Fans Object to Referee's Ruling

Main event of last night's wrestling show at the Pontiac Armory, between Irish Samson and Canadian Stan Holek, developed into a real brawl.

After winning the 1st fall, Holek battered the Irisman's head against the ring turnbuckle. The enraged Samson then applied a full Nelson with such force that Holek was unable to continue and the match was awarded to Samson.

Ringsiders disagreed with the verdict so vehemently that both contestants had to be escorted from the ring.

In other matches, Laddie Holek defeated Jimmy Nelson of Detroit and 7-foot "Mighty Goliath" took only nine mintues, four seconds to subdue Hassen Bey of Turkey.

Reynolds, Lopat Must Have Big Years for Yankees; Ted Williams' Loss Helps Cause of Bronx Bombers

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—When Casey Stengel looked over the three stars of his pitching staff at St. Petersburg in March, 1949, he must have smiled. Ed Lopat was 30, Vic Raschie 31 and Allie Reynolds 31.

They were right at the outer edge of their peak, a trifle beyond their most effective age which is supposed to be 28 or 29, where both stamina and speed are concerned.

Five years have passed since that somewhat historic date. Since that time Eddie Lopat has won 80 games, Allie Reynolds has won 83 and Vic Raschi has picked up 92.

Now Stengel has lost his big winner and the other two are five years older than they were that March day in 1949. He has added Whitey Ford, but he has lost Bob Porterfield and Frank Shea. He has also lost Johnny Sain.

Main problem now rests with Reynolds and Lopat. With Raschi missing, neither Reynolds nor Lopat can afford anything but one of his best years.

With Raschi a total loss, as far as the Yankees are concerned, Lopat and Reynolds must be at their best from April to October.

But it isn't so much a question of what will happen to pitching staffs lately. It is more a matter of what is happening to outfields.

Casey got quite a break when Ted Williams was hurt. This will cost the Red Sox several games before Williams is back and ready. Four or five games may be quite enough to win or lose a pennant.

It isn't likely that Ted will be ready and right before May. By that time the silencing of his big bat may have been responsible for several games, all in the Yankees' favor.

What happened to Milwaukee came at a much higher cost to the Braves. Odds are Bobby Thomson with a triple fracture won't be ready before August. He was the only man they needed—a fine hitter and a power hitter. When he cracked his ankle he practically spotted the Dodgers—and the others—10 games.

* * *

Team that has no problems to speak of is Brooklyn. Dodgers start with one of the great all-time catchers of baseball. Then they move to a star pitching staff headed by Don Newcombe and Carl Erskine. And there's nothing the matter with their infield or outfield.

Defending Class 'A' Titlists Surprised by Jackson

By JOE FALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unheralded Jackson, nothing more than a mediocre team during the regular season, stepped into the dark horse role today as the survivors in the state high school basketball tournament prepared for Friday's semifinals.

Coach Donald Ogden's Vikings, with a 6-9 record, scored the biggest class A upset last night by eliminating defending champion Dearborn Fordson 57-46 in a quarter-final match at Adrian College.

The result overshadowed the advance of Highland Park, Muskegon Heights and Flint Northern, and the fall of previously unbeaten Lansing Sexton.

Sexton's gaudy 19-game winning streak was cut short by Flint Northern, which avenged two regular-season losses by handing the Big Reds a 54-49 setback.

Highland Park powered ahead, as expected, by overwhelming Pontiac 53-31 for its 18th win without a setback. Packers, prohibitive favorites to capture their second Class A title in three years, are the only unbeaten team in the tourney.

Muskegon Heights, which is gaining support with each game, moved into the semifinal round with a 44-39 victory over Kalamazoo Central, five-time champion.

As a result, Muskegon Heights, winner of 18 and loser of one, meets Highland Park in one semifinal game Friday, while Flint Northern and Jackson collide in the other.

Odds are heavily against coach Ogden's Vikings getting past powerful Flint Northern but you can be certain they won't give an inch.

Against Dearborn Fordson, Jackson built a lead, blew it and then rallied with a crushing fourth-quarter rally that sent the Tractors to the sidelines.

Entering the final period, Jackson trailed Fordson 49-37. But, led by Bob Zimmerman, Vikings soon took the lead and outscored Fordson 20-6 to win going away. Losers failed to make a field goal in the final eight minutes.

Apparently, Jackson operates on the theory that if you take a lot of shots some are bound to go in. Vikings outshot Fordson 41 to 21 in the first half and the ratio was about the same in the last two periods.

Last time Jaskson won a Class A title was in 1948, Ogden was the coach then too. But since that time he has never came close.

Northern will prove to be a tough customer for Jackson, however. The Saginaw Valley champions played a carefully planned game to down Lansing Sexton.

Muskegon Heights turned back Kalamazoo Central by taking control of the backboards in the second half. John McMurrey broke open the game in Heights' favor by firing a pair of consecutive 35-foot set shots.

Sixteen teams won berths in the semi-finals — four in each class. Advancing in Class B were Holland Christian, St. Johns, River Rouge and Ludington. Moving up in Class C were Marine City, Watervliet, Lansing St. Mary and Wakefield, while in Class D, Detroit All Saints, Gobles, Remus and Ellsworth advanced.

After Friday night's semifinals, finals will be held Saturday afternoon and evening in Michigan House. Capacity crowds of 11,500 State College's Jenison Field are expected for each session.

LaSalle Is Slight Favorite in Windup of NCAA Test

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Four top-notch basketball teams were ready today to climax the long season with NCAA semifinals and championship games Friday and Saturday.

The four teams will play before capacity crowds of 10,000 in Municipal Auditorium.

Southern California's Trojans meet Bradley of Peoria, Ill., in the opening semifinal game at 9 p.m. EST Friday, followed by the battle between LaSalle of Philadelphia and Penn State of State College, Pa., at 10:45 p.m. EST. Winners play for the national title at 10:45 p.m. EST Saturday, after the consolation game between the losers.

The championship battle will be televised nationally (NBC) and the sellout brought a lifting of the ban against local television coverage. Previously, a local TV blackout had been planned.

Sporting elements have been slow to pick a favorite because of the predominant number of upsets in regional NCAA play. But LaSalle, ranked No. 11 in the final United Press ratings, has the best record (24-4) among the semifinalists and was given a weak nod.

The Explorers from Philadelphia also boast the most publicized player on the four teams in big Tom Gola. The 6-7 scoring whiz has won more than 40 major basketball awards during his three years at LaSalle.

Philadelphia's choice as one of the greatest players the game has ever produced would like nothing better than to climax his career with a national championship for LaSalle. Gola still has another year at LaSalle.

Johnson Climbs Off Canvas to Defeat Andrews

Title Shot at Moore Is Shaping Up for Top 175-Pound Challenger

CHICAGO (AP) — A light heavyweight title showdown between Harold Johnson and champion Archie Moore was shaping up today for the challenger's hometown, Philadelphia, this summer.

Johnson, 25, snapped out of a first-round knockdown to win a split decision over impressive Paul Andrews, 24, of Buffalo in Chicago Stadium last night.

In winning his 48th start in 53 bouts, Johnson had trouble working into Andrews, who at 6-3, towered over him and outranged him in punches by several inches. Andrews, an ex-paratrooper, outweigned Johnson by three pounds, 179 to 176.

Aside from the mandatory eight count knockdown in the opener of the national televised 10-rounder, Johnson was a clever, sharp boxer who threw four times as many punches as his somewhat cautious opponent and handled himself up to expectations of his No. 1 ranking as a contender.

"I thought it was a right," Johnson said afterwards. "Those ring lights seemed awfully bright and I had to look up to that tall Andrews. The lights blinded me."

Johnson's date with Moore, he has met four times, may be in late June or early July.

"Moore still wants a $100,000 guarantee," said Johnson.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, said the match was in the making for Philadelphia.

Stydahar Wins Court Decision

Pro Grid Coach Gets $7,000 for Sale of Film Studios

SANTA MONICA, Cal. (INS) — Joe Stydahar, coach of the Chicago Cardinals pro football team, was the victor today in his court battle with his former boss, Frederick Levy Jr., co-owner of the Los Angeles Rams.

A superior court jury in Santa Monica returned a verdict in Stydahar's favor yesterday in his suit for part of the profits Levy earned by arranging the sale of RKO film studios to a group of Chicago businessmen headed by Ralph Stolkin in 1952.

The jury awarded Stydahar $7,000 and 50 per cent of any further money Levy collects as commissions on the sale of RKO stock. Stydahar, former coach of the Rams, originally sued for $36,250.

Charlie Trippi of the Chicago Cardinals, who didn't make a single punt return in 1952, won the National Football League title in 1953. He averaged 11.4 yards per return.

Of the 107 two-year old stakes Rodgers' Duc de Fer was unbeaten winners in the United States during 1953, only two horses completed their season undefeated. Mrs. John D. Hertz' Double Speed was the winner of his four starts and J. W. inthree starts.

Reports From Majors' Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

TAMPA, Fla. — Cincinnati Redlegs don't know yet whether they have found any new and dependable starting pitchers but manager Birdie Tebbetts believes Art Fowler, bought from Atlanta of the Southern Association last fall, will be a good relief man.

"It looks like he's just the right type," said Tebbetts yesterday after Fowler had completed a four inning chore against the Detroit Tigers in which he allowed five hits but no runs.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Gran Hamner, Philadelphia Phillies shortstop, is burning up the Grapefruit League with his batting prowess. Hamner has hit safely in every one of the Phillies 11 exhibition games to date.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — Manager Eddie Joost of the Philadelphia Athletics is looking at the world through rose colored glasses these days and one of the brightest things he sees is southpaw Alex Kellner. In spring training Alex has been looking steadily better. Yesterday he turned in five scoreless innings as the A's won their 7th straight exhibition game, whipping the Yanks 5-3.

FORT PIERCE, Fla. — While his mates shoved off for Orlando to meet the Washington Senators, outfielder Jerry Lynch of the Pittsburgh Pirates was hospitalized here today with a foot infection.

TAMPA, Fla. — Don Johnson, rookie from Toledo, may win a starting berth on the Chicago White Sox mound staff before the season opens. Johnson's earned run average in 10 innings thus far is 0.92.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Tom Morgan, New York Yankee right-handed pitcher, who has been in the army since mid-season of 1952, will make his first start of the spring Sunday against the Brooklyn Dodgers. Morgan is practicing with the club while on terminal leave.

Sports Briefs

Rookie pitcher Pete Modica, getting a trial with the Giants, isn't superstitious. He has won 13 games in three different seasons.

Duke Markel, rookie pitcher for the Phillies, was born in Paris, France. Last season he pitched a no-hit game for Syracuse in the International League.

During 1953 the Brooklyn Dodgers topped the National League in double-header wins. They won 26 and lost only seven. They never dropped both games of a twin bill.

Sam Crawford of the Detroit Tigers won the American League home run championship in 1908 by hitting only seven homers.

The lowest batting average ever to win the American League championship was .306 hit by Elmer Flick of the Cleveland Indians in 1905.

CASE—Change Spot or Loft?

Reach for Late Break—When a bowler goes along as a top flighter for 33 years as Adolph Carlson has, he knows what to do to make the ball keep on clicking. We asked him during the recent match tourney what he prescribes for the kegler coming up?

Two things he said, and only two. 1—Coordinate footwork and swing. Practice until you finish at the identical spot at the foul line. Until you perfect this, you can't score well. The slightest variation in finish changes ball direction.

2—Do not shift from one spot to another on the runway. To hold the strike pocket on a slow alley surface, learn to pitch or loft the ball well over the foul line. Do it with arm reach. No jerk. Swing through.

Loft causes the ball to break later—farther down the alley. On a slick alley you release the ball early, on the foul line or just over it, as illustration shows. You roll it to get the hook to "take."

George Beard of the Burgettstown (Pa.) Community Bowling league rolled three consecutive league series of 499.

Olson Getting Top Share of Purse April 2

40 Per Cent to Bobo, While Gavilan Gets 20 for Title Bout

CHICAGO (AP) — Middleweight champion Bobo Olson will get a 40 per cent split of a net gate that may top $300,000 when he defends his title against the welterweight king, Kid Gavilan, in Chicago Stadium April 2.

Olson and Gavilan today were to sign a formal contract for the 15-round bout.

Olson also will receive 40 per cent of a reported $100,000 television deal. The Chicago area, stretching as far as Milwaukee, will be blacked out. Fight otherwise will be televised nationally to home viewers.

Gavilan's share of the gate and TV proceeds will be 20 per cent.

Gavilan said he will return to New York today to continue training, returning to Chicago March 25. Olson was to open daily sparring drills at Chicago's Rainbo Arena.

Olson said he weighed about 163 and expects to scale 159 for the fight, ½ pound less than he carried when he defeated Randy Turpin for the 160-pound crown last October.

Gavilan said he weighed 154 and will enter the ring at 153 or 153½.

"Gavilan's bolo punch is just for show, but he does have a fast, hard left hook," Olson said in an interview. "I've never seen him fight in person but I've watched him five or six times on television. He didn't show me much of anything new, except maybe his footwork. But I don't believe in studying an opponent's style.

"I just like to go into a ring without knowing what exactly to expect and then make my adjustments after one or two rounds. So, I can't tell you just what I'll do against Gavilan."

SMELT-DIPPING SEASON—There are more comfortable methods of catching smelt than by letting them in—along with several quarts of water—over the tops of your boots, as this somewhat dampened angler will tell you. But the little silvery fish are so plentiful during the late March-early April spawning run in Michigan that most any procedure will work. The usual plan involves a small dipnet for catching and a bushel basket or bucket for holding your catch. Lists of streams open to such fishing may be obtained by writing the conservation department's fish division at Lansing, 26.

Young Rookie's Attitude Helps; Leads Hitters

Al's Pinch-Double Is Detroit's Only Extra Base Hit in 4-1 Loss

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Scouting reports on Al Kaline said he could run, throw and field—but was a light hitter.

Despite this, the Detroit Tigers gave the young outfielder a $35,000 bonus to sign with them last June.

The reasoning was obvious. A player can be taught to hit. Running and throwing are talents which you either have or haven't, and if you haven't, not too much can be done about it.

So the Tigers took a chance—a $35,000 chance—that they could teach Kaline enough about the intricacies of the curve ball to make him into a major leaguer.

It is, of course, too soon to tell whether Kaline will make it but certainly he's headed in the right direction.

First, and probably the most important, he has the proper attitude. Many a rookie has been ruined by a swelling of the noggin. Not Kaline.

"I didn't play much last season so I didn't help the team much," he says rather frankly. "Guess I won't play much this season, either, but I sure would like the opportunity to learn."

Apparently, Kaline is going to get that opportunity.

Tigers have used him in one capacity or another, in nine of their first 10 exhibition games. He's the leading hitter on the team, with a .583 average. He has seven hits—one a home run—in 12 times at bat. He's scored three times and batted in three runs.

That doesn't look like somebody who isn't supposed to know how to hit. Remember, though, this is March, not July or August.

Kaline hit a pinch hit double yesterday for Detroit's only extra base hit against the Cincinnati Reds in Tampa. Tigers dropped a 4-1 decision, making their exhibition record 4-6.

The game was noteworthy in that Ned Garver, hoped to be the ace of Detroit's pitching staff, made his first appearance. He pitched the first four innings and didn't fare too badly. He gave up two runs and five hits.

Ralph Branca, who also was making his initial start, hurled the last four innings. He, too, looked pretty good. Branca gave up only two hits and two runs.

Prior to the game, Tigers sent outfielder Fred Flemming to their rookie camp. He was the sixth player cut from the roster.

Detroit plays again today, meeting Boston Red Sox in Lakeland.

The Detroit Red Wings have played in the Stanley Cup playoffs every years since the 1937-38 season.

It's Time Out!

"Don't worry; pretty soon we'll be playing teams like the Pirates, Red Legs and Cubs . . . then watch us win games!"

Autos Replace Horses in May at Racetrack

LONDON (AP) — Aintree race course, home of the world-famous Grand National steeplechase, will echo to the roar of screeching auto racing cars this summer.

The promoters aim to make Aintree as famous for its auto racing as for the tough Grand National. The first international auto meeting is scheduled for May 29.

The circuit runs alongside the historical four miles of the National course. Aintree already can accommodate 200,000 spectators. Special parking lots are being arranged for a total of 12,000 cars.

An official claimed the new track will rank with the best in the United Kingdom.

Plans also included the staging of motorcycle races.

Florida Boys and Girls Playing New Cage Game

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The boys and girls are playing a new kind of basketball on Jacksonville playgrounds. It is mixed basketball, with three boys and three girls on a team.

Mixed basketball came about because Tom King, supervisor of the City Recreation Department, one day saw a group of boys playing basketball and a group of girls watching.

King worked out a game where girls guard girls at one end of the court and boys guard boys at the other end. No player may cross the center line.

After each quarter the teams reverse positions so that those on defense in the first period switch to offense the second period and vice versa. At their end the girls play women's AAU rules. At the opposite end the boys follow men's AAU rules.

Two senior leagues of players, 17 and older, were formed and are playing a round-robin schedule. It has caught on so well that several adult leagues are being planned to play night games starting next fall.

Scores so far have been somewhat low—as in the early days of regular basketball. Total scores run between 30 and 40 points.

Stengel Faced With Three Big Problems in Quest of Sixth Straight AL Pennant

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Casey Stengel clasped his hands behind his head and said thoughtfully:

"If they're improved in the league, we will have a very hard time winning the pennant; if they haven't we will have a very hard time not winning it."

This was the old professor's way of rolling with the question: "Do you think the Yankees could make it six pennants in a row?"

"First of all we've got to make up those 27 games we lost by the sale of Vic Raschi and the retirement of Johnny Sain.

"Second, we've got to build up a strong bench. The retirement of Johnny Mize and the recall of Billy Martin to the Army is bound to hurt us.

"My third problem is Mickey Mantle. Mickey has been taking things easy after his knee operation. He wants to play but I'm scared to play him. You can't be too careful with such things."

Stengel believes the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox will offer the Yankees the most competition. Loss of Ted Williams for any length of time robs the Boston Red Sox of any chance they had, he thinks.

He figures the Washington Senators to head the 2nd division followed by Detroit, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

"Detroit is stronger because of the experience of their shortstop (Harvey Kuenn) and their third baseman (Ray Boone) gives them power on the left side of the infield."

Running through his own club, Stengel said he counted on Allie Reynolds, Harry Byrd, Ed Lopat, Eddie Ford and Jim McDonald to make up his big five on the mound.

With the exception of Jerry Coleman at 2nd, the infield will be the same as last year—Joe Collins at 1st, the irreplacable Phil Rizzuto at short and Gil McDougald at third. Yogi Berra will handle the catching.

Even with Mantle on the shelf, Casey insists he has the best outfield in baseball with Hank Bauer, Gene Woodling and Irv Noren.

Yanks, Dodgers Use Opposite Methods

By RIP WATSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don't bother to shed a tear for the stumbling New York Yankees, who are having trouble winning baseball games these days.

Casey Stengel's young men lost their fourth straight exhibition yesterday. The surprising Philadelphia Athletics whipped the world champions 5-3 for their seventh win in a row. That makes eight losses in 11 tries for the Yanks and leaves the New Yorkers seventh in the American League spring standings.

But before you start consigning the champs to a second division berth, it is worthwhile to note that only two of Stengel's October, or World Series, players were in the March starting lineup.

Gil McDougald opened at third base and belted two triples, the second three-bagger driving in the first Yankee run, and Gene Woodling started in left field. Shortstop Phil Rizzuto also came in the game in the late innings. The Scooter rapped a single in the Yanks' two-run rally in the ninth.

For purposes of comparison, a look backwards shows that New York was fifth among American League teams at the conclusion of spring training a year ago.

Four players obtained from the Yanks in a trade last December drove in runs in the Athletics' victory. Rookie Jim Finigan clouted a home run off Steve Kraly. Vic Power, Bill Renna and Don Bollweg also sent runs home.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, meanwhile, apparently are taking a directly opposite course in getting ready to try for their third consecutive pennant and still another go at the Yanks in the World Series.

Although they were shut out by Sandy Consuegra for five innings and managed only seven hits to Chicago's nine, the Brooks thumped the White Sox 5-1 yesterday and now boast an eight-game winning stream. Six regulars started for the Dodgers. Don Hoak's home run and a two-run triple by fleet Junior Gilliam were the big blows backing up a good pitching job by veteran rookie Pete Wojey, Don Bessent and Bob Milliken.

The Milwaukee Braves, looked upon in some quarters as the Dodgers' chief threats, got even better pitching as fastballer Bob Buhl and rookie Ray Crone limited the Philadelphia Phillies to five hits in a 2-0 victory. Joe Adcock, Braves first baseman, batted in both runs with singles in the first and eighth innings.

One losing streak ended and another was continued as the Boston Red Sox took a 10-6 slugfest over the Washington Senators. A five-run seventh inning put the Sox over the top, with the key blow a two-run, pinch-hit single by rookie Harry Agganis.

Peoria, Phillips Move to AAU Round of Eight

DENVER (AP)—Peoria's defending champions and the co-favorite Phillips 66ers coasted into quarter-finals of the 47th National AAU basketball tournament with decisive victories last night.

Peoria dusted off Indianapolis Anderson Towne House, 82-44. Phillips exhibited customary polish in beating Cleveland's Carmack Realtors.

Winter Sports Facilities Will Be Expanded in 1955

BOYNE FALLS (AP) — Michigan's winter sports facilities will be expanded further for 1955 with the addition of at least a dozen ski runs, another chair lift and more powered tows.

This was forecast Tuesday night at a West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. roundup meeting of representatives of winter sports areas. Despite the mid-February thaw, several centers reported substantial gains this season over last in patronage.

Top Muskie Angler Has Caught 400

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP)—Muskie fishin gians here abouts believe Art Stillson is the champion muskelunge fisherman in the country. He's run up a lifetime record of 400 muskies caught.

How does the 45-year-old outdoor man do it?

"It's knowing when to jerk the line and how not to gouge the other guy's eyes when the bait is tossed back," he said.

No Superstition Here

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pirate rookies Jerry Lynch and George O'Donnell both come from families of 13 children. Lynch, a lefthanded hitting outfielder, won the Piedmont League batting title in 1953 with a .333 mark. He played for Norfolk, Va. O'Donnell, a 24-year-old righthanded hurler, posted a 20-12 record with Hollywood last year. He earned the Pacific Coast League's "Rookie of the Year" award.

Winter Book Is Loaded With Derby Outsiders

Turn-To, Porterhouse Favored, 2 Horses List at 1000-1

NEW YORK (INS)—We have been studying the first issue of the Caliente future book of Col. Bill Corum's Kentucky Derby.

The good gray colonel has been known to take a few flyers at the book in previous years and probably is trying his luck again.

But, after studying the odds, we think the colonel would do better to buy a piece of the book itself. It must be a gold mine, for never have we seen a bigger booby trap.

You may recall that the late Col. E. R. Bradley repeatedly said that the odds should be at least 3 or 4 1, against any horse even starting in the Derby.

But 3-1 is the shortest price offered on any horse in the forthcoming Derby and that honor goes to Capt. Harry Guggenheim's great colt Turn-To.

Next comes Liz Whitney's Porterhouse at 4-1 and then there is a big drop to A. J. Crevolin's Determine at 8-1. This would seem to indicate that the Caliente slate writer thinks the Derby shapes up as a two horse race.

Three horses are listed at 1,000-1 and the odds might just as well be 10 times that for all the chance they have. You can have five other at a trifling 500-1, eight 300, 16 at 200 and more than a score at 100-1.

'M' High Jumper Leaps Nearly Foot Over Head

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — It takes a good man to jump as high as his head.

Milt Mead, Michigan's NCAA and Big Ten high jump champion, stands 6-feet-7. His best mark is six feet, 8 ¼ inches. That's 1¼ inches over his head, and pretty good.

But another member of the Michigan track squad is even more remarkable, in a way.

Mark Booth stands 5-feet-8. He has leaped as high as six feet, 7¼ inches — almost a foot higher than his head.

Abraham With Chisox

KALAMAZOO (UP)—Paul Abraham, 23, Lansing, said today he has left Western Michigan College to enter professional baseball with the Chicago White Sox.

Abraham, a junior, had been a candidate for second baseman on the Western Michigan baseball team.

BEST AMONG JUVENILES—Muldoon, a "small scale" St. Bernard, won first prize for puppies in dog show of Marines in Korea. Its master, Sgt. T. L. White, holds the champ.

Tom Alston, rookie first baseman, is the first Negro ever to appear in a St. Louis Cardinal baseball uniform. He was purchased from San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

Vernon Sights 2,000 Hits, Flag for Nats

By AL JONAS

ORLANDO, Fla. (INS) — American League batting champion Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators optimistically set his sights today on two 1954 goals—155 hits to bring his career total to 2,000 and a pennant for the Nats.

The left-handed slugger said he still is behind in attaining his best batting form after reporting 10 days late. His holdout was of much concern to the club.

However, everyone agrees that the "Silent Senator," who will be 36 next month, should enjoy one of his best years in baseball.

"I guess I'm lucky I don't put on much weight in the off season," the modest 6-2 native of Eddystone, Pa., said. "I came to camp here at just around my normal weight of 170. It should be a few more days and I'll be caught up with the pitchers."

But Vernon isn't the type of guy who would talk about his own promise for very long.

He prefers to discuss the fact that he expects the addition of pitcher Maurice McDermott and outfielder Tom Umphlett from the Red Sox to bring the Nats at least into the 1st division. Mickey, who never has been in a World Series, thinks that this might possibly be the year.

"Forget about me," the brown-eyed veteran continued typically. "I think everyone will be surprised by the improvement of our club."

The good-natured Senator first baseman has a hobby of taking motion pictures, particularly of his 19-months-old daughter, Gay Anne. He spends as little time as possible away from his family. During the off-season, he works for a haberdasher at Wallingford, Pa.

Following a year at Villanova College, Mickey was signed by Easton, Md., in the Eastern Shore League.

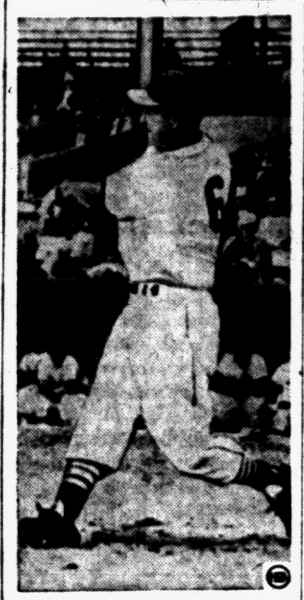

After two and a half seasons in the minors, he was brought up for the first time by the Nats late in 1939.

He stayed with the club until 1948, when he was traded to Cleveland. This was a short stint and he was back with the Nats in 1950.

Last season, when he hit .337 was his most spectacular. Mickey led the league in doubles with 43, batted in 115 runs and scored 101.

Having slapped out 205 hits last season, it's quite possible that he'll reach the 2,000 mark this campaign.

When Mickey played American Legion ball, he first was told that he was too small to handle his preferred position at 1st. He played in the outfield for a season. However, he finally won his way back to the initial sack, he's been there ever since.

FAMILIAR — St. Louis Cardinal outfielder takes a healthy cut during training session at St. Petersburg, Fla. His name? Oh, yes. Guy by the name of Stan Musial.

Jack Christiansen of the Detroit Lions led the National Football League in punt returns in 1952. Last season he finished first in pass interceptions.

KC Drops Columbian Mile

BY JOHN BARRINGTON

NEW YORK (INS)—Track is a sport that takes considerable promoting if it is to fill such arenas as Madison Square Garden. For many years, the mile run has been the staple—the big attraction.

Picture then the discomfiture of John Downing, affable director of Saturday night's Knights of Columbus meet, when he was forced to announce that the renowned Columbian Mile has been dropped from this year's program.

"We just couldn't line up a mile field up to our standards," Downing explained. Wes Santee is tied up by Big Seven red tape. Josy Barthel, winner of the mile in other Garden meets, is too busy with his Harvard graduate studies. John Landy declined an invitation to come to the U. S. from Australia.

And so, rather than give the customers a meaningless mile, Downing decided to peg his meet's appeal upon the attempt of Mal Whitfield to run a 600-880-yard double and a 2-mile duel between FBI buddies Horace Ashenfelter and Fred Wilt.

The K. of C. decision, while logical enough, raised an interesting question among the more addicted of track addicts. Namely, is too much stress put upon running against the record book as opposed to the thrill of close man-to-man competition?

For example, a field of 4:12 milers might stage a photo-finish race more exciting than the one-man runaways Barthel and Santee have made of most of their mile tests this winter.

The average fan probably would enjoy the slower race immensely—until he heard the time announced. Then, because he has been educated to think in terms of the eventual 4-minute mile, he would go away thinking he hadn't seen much of a race.

Luck Against Pirate Club's Pitching Whiz

Sore Arm Compels Ron Necciai to Quit Camp in Florida

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)—Rocket Ron Necciai, the stringbean pitcher who is the only hurler in the history of organized baseball to strike out all 27 men in nine innings, has left the Pittsburgh Pirate training camp.

Disgusted, discouraged and—his mates indicated—just about heartbroken, Necciai (pronounced "netch-eye") came up with a sore arm.

When the Pirate brass ordered him to accompany some other players to their minor league camp at Huntsville, Texas, for assignment, Ronnie said he was going home.

And that's the last Pirates saw of him — a big gangling youth, walking downcast. He said he was flying to his Monongahela (Pa.) home, near Pittsburgh.

There was no immediate comment from the Pirate official family. But a source close to the club back in Pittsburgh declared:

"Ronnie may work out of this. His arm may heal up and he'll want another chance. I hope so because he's a nice kid."

Ronnie, son of a coal miner started out in great fashion, climaxing his minor league career with an amazing performance on May 13, 1952, while hurling for Bristol (Va.) against Welch (W. Va.) in the Appalachian League. He struck out all 27 men, the first and only time the feat has officially been recorded in organized baseball.

County Stadium, home of the Milwaukee Braves, has a seating capacity of 44,091.

Attractive Pairings Set for Opening Round at N-S

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Luck of the U. S. Golf Assn. numerical draw set up some attractive pairings for today's first round of match play in the 52nd annual North and South Women's Invitation golf tournament.

Medalist Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., drew Virginia Dennesy, the Northwestern University coed from Lake Forest, Ill., as her opponent to start the ball rolling. Nineteen-year-old Miss Ziske, who last month won the Palm Beach, Fla., championship, won the medal with a two-over-par 76 in yesterday's qualifying round.

Barbara McIntire of Toledo finished one stroke behind Miss Ziske with a 77 to head the lower bracket. Today she met Mrs. H. C. Riedel of Dallas, Tex., who qualified with 84.

Former champion Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Barabara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., and Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., 1953 National Amateur champion, were among the top drawer contestants answering the call to the first tee today.

Miss Kirby, who scored a 78 yesterday, met tourney-tested Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., and nearby Southern Pines in one of the round's better matches.

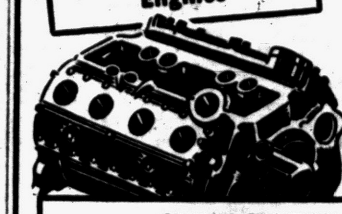

Ag Expert to Study African Tobaccos

WASHINGTON (INS)— An Agriculture Department commodity specialist will depart for Africa Saturday to study the production of tobaccos that compete in Europe and other market areas with U. S. leaf tobacco.

The specialist, J. W. Birkhead, will visit northern and southern Rhodesia, Nyasaland and Mozambique. Later he will journey to Madagascar to determine the probable amount of the tobacco harvest which is nearing completion in those areas.

Birkhead is especially interested in the fact that tobacco production in Africa has risen sharply since pre-World War II days, and that it may increase more in the future. He will investigate present and potential outlets for expanded tobacco production.

Grains Headed Slightly Lower

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains headed a little lower on the Board of Trade today, wheat leading, but soybeans maintained a firm tone. Lard also was strong early, the March contract racing up to a new seasonal top.

Profit taking carved a considerable dent in wheat, both the old and the new crop months declining. The recent strength in fats and oils markets was a factor in the comparative firmness of soybeans. These grains were only a shade lower.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents lower, March $2.28⅝, corn unchanged to ⅛ lower, May $1.54¾, oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March 77⅞, rye 1¾ to 1½ lower, March $1.16, soybeans unchanged to 1 cent higher, March $3.51¼ and lard 5 to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $19.47.

Curbs on Trade to Reds Are Hit

Group at Caracas OKs Plan to Have U.S. Pay for Losses From Bans

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Latin-American delegates readied a new needl for the United States today in their campaign at the 10th Inter-American Conference to btter their nation's economic lot.

This time their target was Washington's ban on shipment of strategic materials to countries of the Soviet bloc.

A working committee last night approved 10-1 a proposal calling on the United States to pay compensation whenever it bans something other American nations could ship behind the Iron Curtain. Speeches by various delegates indicated the move has general approval.

The resolution was authored by Chile, which has ideas about selling her strategic copper to the Soviet Union.

Under present laws, the United States can cut off her loans and other aid to countries which violate the ban on strategic shipments to the pro-Moscow Reds.

The Chilean plan calls for consultations on what material should be defined as strategic and studies looking toward "compensation for harm" caused by such classification.

The conference buzzed, meanwhile, over Guatemalan delegates' failure to show up for a tribute last night to United Nations soldiers who died fighting the Communists in Korea.

Martin Pledges Statewide Audit

Highway Right-of-Way Buying in Past 5 Years to Be Scrutinized

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—A statewide audit of state road right-of-way buying over the last five years was promised here Wednesday by John B. Martin Jr., state auditor general.

This will take a year or more, he said.

State investigators currently are concentrating on gathering evidence in criminal cases involving road right-of-way buying in Muskegon County.

No wrongdoing has been found in the highway investigation outside Muskegon and Ottawa Counties, Martin reported.

"We have some tips that warrant investigation in scattered areas, but these must be substantiated," Martin added.

Martin's staff dug out alleged road-buying irregularities in Muskegon and Ottawa Counties in an audit that started last August. Disclosures led to firing of two and suspension of a third employe and transfer of the head of the State Highway Department right-of-way division.

G. Palmer Seeley, former head of the Grand Rapids district right-of-way division, and Mrs. Lois Moon Ley of Muskegon, head of a house-moving concern there, face charges of mulcting the state and individuals of $80,000 in Muskegon County.

Seeley and an assistant, Ronald V. Kennedy, face charges of defrauding two Hudsonville brothers in Ottawa County road deals.

Mart Advances in Second Rally

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market continued its advance today for the second straight session in early dealings.

The push ahead went into the major fractions. Minus signs were found in most major divisions, but they were small and not bunched.

Best acting groups were the steels, motors, railroads and oils. The first three groups were leaders in yesterday's advance.

Also higher were U. S. Steel, Republic Steel Packard, Northern Pacific, Illinois Central, Lion Oil, American Telephone, Du Pont, American Woolen, Goodyear, and Radio Corp.

Yesterday's market was higher as a result of a late rally that managed to cancel out an earlier net decline. That broke a string of three straight falls of the market.

Name 2 Women in Vaccine Test

Will Head Volunteers for Polio Experiment in Oakland County

Mrs. Howard W. Rieman of Birmingham will head the corps of volunteers working in Oakland County's polio vaccine test this April.

Mrs. Harold Jacober of Waterford is public information chairman. Headquarters for the test will be in Oakland County Nurses' Home at 1025 N. Telegraph Rd.

Appointment of the two women was approved by the County Board of Health, county supervisors' health committee, and representatives of the county medical society and National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which paid for the research for the vaccine.

Parents of the 32,000 children in first, second and third grades of the county's schools will be asked to let their youngsters take part in the test this April. Half the test group will get the new vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of University of Pittsburgh; the others will get a powerless liquid.

Similar tests will be run in 11 other Michigan counties and scores of other places across the nation.

Authorities will keep track of how many vaccinated youngsters get polio, compared to the number of cases among those who get the other liquid. Doctors hope the new vaccine will give life-long immunity from polio.

Why Do Men Join Unions? U-M Studies This Subject

ANN ARBOR—Why do workers join labor unions? Once members, why are they active? What goes on inside a union—how are decisions made, goals set? How do union members see the company for which they work?

These are some of the broad questions involved in a study of labor unions now under way at the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan.

The study, being financed by the Rockefeller Foundation, is part of an over-all plan to increase knowledge of big organizations generally—to find out the principles guiding them.

The center, during the past seven years, has made studies of industrial, government and professional organizations. This is the center's first study of labor unions and probably the first study of its kind.

"Unions are a new field for psychological research," Robert L. Kahn, director of the center's human relations program, points out.

"In a civilization made of big organizations, we have studied industrial and government organizations a good deal, professional groups a little, but unions almost not at all. We know very little about unions, actually.

"We know a great deal about their concern with wages and hours, their contracts and general negotiations with management.

"But how much do we know about the members' involvement, their motivations in joining and participating, their satisfactions of psychological return, their perception of the company? It's time that social scientists went to work on these questions."

Four local unions of the industrial type, varying in size from 350 to 900 members, belonging to two different internationals, are being studied.

These four locals, situated in Michigan industrial centers, are similar in size, age and general stability, but offer contrast in the extent of participation by members.

Approximately 200 persons in each local have been interviewed personally or have answered questionnaires.

An unusually good return of about 90 per cent has been made, due to the fact that both unions and management agreed to the study, are interested in its findings and have cooperated fully.

Among the areas of questioning are the following:

Who makes decisions—officers or members or both?

How many members actively participate and in what ways?

What goals do members want a union to have—immediate and long-range, practical and idealistic?

How do union members see the company—as giving as much as it can to the workers, or as making as much profit as possible at their expense?

How are grievances handled—through the company foreman or the union steward?

What other affiliations or involvements do union members have, and how do these affect their attitude toward the union?

Findings of this study will be analyzed and released late this spring for the use of unions, management and the general public.

Some Job Areas in East Worry, Others Ride High

By SAM DAWSON

BOSTON (AP)—Your New England cousin can explain a "rolling adjustment" to you if you're wondering what this business jargon is all about. He's already had one.

In three years, employment in the soft goods industries (largely textiles) dropped 70,000 in this area. Large numbers of these workers are still out of jobs.

And Yankees just now seem to be rolling with another one.

The hard goods industries, which grew rapidly in New England—adding 72,000 jobs in the same three years, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston reports—now hire a few less workers than a year ago.

Work weeks are tending to shrink a little in almost all industries around here, the regional office of the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports.

But the drop in industrial output in the area seems to be just about the same 10 per cent it is for the nation as a whole.

And March is shyly bringing some slight seasonal gains in employment, although the BLS says not enough to hoist factory workrolls back to last year's level.

New Englanders tell you that national conditions will call the tune for many of their new metal-working factories henceforth, because most of them make parts or supplies for others elsewhere. If these outsiders slow down consumer goods production, New England will find orders scarcer. And many here have been doing subcontracts for defense programs whose days numbered.

Retail trade, however, remains almost as good as a year ago, although the buyer is the unchallenged king. Total savings in the area continue high.

The New England Road Builders Assn. is crowing because the six states have authorized spending of 825 million dollars for new road projects in the next three years—2½ times the amount spent in the last three.

Home building continues around the newer electronics or metal-working centers and in some metropolitan suburbs.

New Machine Takes Work From Exercise

A machine that takes the work out of exercise will be offered to the public in about two months, according to Albert Hemming of Ortonville, the inventor.

Hemming, who has secured a patent on the invention, says the electrically-operated machine exercises the user without manual work.

It is equipped for arm, foot, head and hip exercises. Called "Hemmings Last Chance Exercise," the machine was designed mainly for use by athletes, Hemming said.

Hal Boyle Says:

Just Relax and Have Fun Aboard Any Cruise Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—Taking a pleasure cruise is to many people almost as much of a mental hazard as learning to dance.

They like the idea, they think it would be fun, but they are a bit afraid of it, for fear they will do something that will make them look foolish.

It is amazing in a supposedly brash country like America how many shy people duck new social adventures for fear they'll break an unknown etiquette rule.

On one recent cruise a bashful girl had her meals alone in her cabin for several days because she was terrified at the thought she might use the wrong fork or spoon in the public dining room and be secretly ridiculed. An older woman passenger, sensing the situation, gradually drew her out of her shell and the girl ended up by having, as they say, a wonderful time.

A ship is a strange new world, but the rules of life aboard it are the same as those in ordinary use ashore.

After returning from an 18-day cruise to the West Indies I'm convinced the only two mistakes you can make on such a trip are:

(1) To fail to have fun, or (2) to jump overboard.

The first rule on a cruise is—relax. Nobody is scoring your errors. The chances are 150,000,000 to one that Emily Post isn't aboard. But suppose you do find yourself with a poised fork in your fist just as everybody else attacks the course at hand with a spoon. There are at least four genteel ways to solve the crisis:

1. Claim you are near-sighted.

2. If you are a lady, unobrusively drop the fork—handle end first—down the bosom of your gown.

3. Call the waiter over and say your cousin asked you to bring back a fork as a souvenir, and please will he wrap this one up.

4. Stab with the fork whoever is sitting at your left and ask in chill tones of reproach, "pray now, sir (or lady, as the case may be), will you cease pinching me beneath the table?" This will not only get you sympathy—it may win you applause that'll give you time to pick up the right spoon.

Here are a few other general tips, more or less serious, for those planning to take their first cruise:

Q. My husband would like to go on a cruise, but hates to dress up. What should I tell him?

A. Tell him to shut up—and dress up. He should wear a tux every evening except the first and last nights out and nights the ship is in port. But after lying out on deck all day under the warm sun, he'll really feel like sprucing up.

Q. Should a man wear a white tropical tux or a gray one?

A. Any color will do. If it is white when he starts, it will probably be battleship gray when he gets back. Tell him not to bother about stiff shirts. Plain white shirts with a clip-on bowtie will get him by.

Q. My wife is afraid she will get bored on a cruise. Will she?

A. Any woman who can't keep herself entertained on a cruise probably needs an undertaker, and most ships have a qualified one among the crew. If your wife gets bored, you can always have her embalmed.

Q. I know you can get married at sea, but can a cruise captain give me a divorce?

A. Not until they put a keel under Las Vegas, and float it out to sea.

Q. Can I go into the ship lounge in my bathing suit?

A. Sure. Once.

Q. Can a cruise passenger win enough at cards to pay for his trip?

A. Passengers generally are expected to play with a fresh deck.

Q. Am I likely to find a husband on a cruise?

A. Yes. But the problem is whose.

Q. I hear you have to tip everybody on a cruise. How much do you tip the captain?

A. Nothing. Just drop him a postcard after you get home telling him how much you appreciate the swell way he drove the ship.

$80,000 Youth Building Result of 12 Years Work

BERRIEN SPRINGS (AP)—Twelve years of dreaming backed by some hard work was climaxed by dedication of an $80,000 Youth Memorial Building at Berrien County youth fair grounds.

Projects and campaigns conducted by the Berrien County Junior Farm Bureau paid for more than half the cost of the structure.

Mail Easter Seals in Annual Campaign

Community chairmen for the 1954 Easter Seal campaign to aid crippled children and adults were announced today as delivery of seals to residents began.

The campaign's goal in this county is $30,000 (about $2,000 more than was received last year) according to Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkby, executive secretary of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Mrs. Kirkby said approximately half the receipts will be used to provide training, braces and appliances, treatments, case work and instruction for crippled and blind county residents.

Forty-two per cent goes to the state society in counties where there are no local chapters, and 8 per cent to the national society for education, research and direct service.

Gar A. Sweezey of Royal Oak, county drive chairman, announced local leaders are: Berkley, Bernard Victor Birmingham, Matthew Cammareri; Clarkston, William Burns; Ferndale, John S. Black; Lake Orion; Wesley B. Allen; Milford, Russell Thompson; Oak Park, John Dinen; Ortonville, Dr. Lawrence Duncan! Oxford, Norman Geisler; Pontiac, Dr. Robert J. Bannow; Royal Oak, Phillip C. Baker; Walled Lake, Frank Herveou, and Waterford, Jerry Monroe.

Magnets Devised to Hold False Teeth in Place

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—False teeth can now be held in place by tiny magnetx concealed in the back teeth, Dr. Bruno B. Kielich, Jr.of the Erie County Dental Society, explained here.

Dr.Keilich said four magnets, measuring about one-quarter by one inch, are divided two in the uppers and two in the lowers. He said the devices, developed by the General Electric Co., ar arranged so as to repel each other and will prevent loose movement of the dental plates.

About 29 per cent of all deaths from fires in the United States occur in the rural or farming areas.

Experts to Treat Bomb Victims

U.S. and Japanese Men to Observe Fishermen; Public Scared of Tuna

TOKYO (INS) — An American-led team of atomic-medical experts arrived in Tokyo from Hiroshima today to treat and observe 23 Japanese fishermen seared by radioactive particles from the recent U. S. hydrogen test blast in the mid-Pacific.

Meanwhile, mountains of unsold deep sea tuna were piling up in Japanese fishing ports because of a spreading public "scare."

Scientists were virtually unanimous in branding as groundless the fears that the fish might be contaminated with lethal portions of radioactivity.

The Japanese government reportedly considered issuing a statement designed to check panic as Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida and his cabinet devoted an entire meeting this morning to the whole affair.

Nevertheless, tuna prices took a nosedive to more than 50 per cent below their levels of two days ago.

And another eight Japanese fishing vessels returning to the port of Misaki from the Central Pacific were found to be slightly radioactive around their hulls, though the crews and fish cargoes were pronounced uncontaminated.

These boats were reportedly operating fully 800 miles away from the scene of the March 1 hydrogen bomb test.

From Hiroshima, history's first inhabited target of an atomic bomb, a six-man team of American and Japanese experts on the human effects of nuclear radiation arrived in Tokyo this afternoon.

The group was led by Dr. John J. Morton, director of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission which is a Japan-stationed agency of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Fifth Graders Due to Receive Teeth Treatment

Pontiac Public Schools' fluoride treatment center will move to Whittier School about March 31 to treat teeth of fifth grade students at Whittier and Bagley Schools.

Miss Josephine Seeley, the school system's health coordinator, said parents of fifth graders at the two schools who want their youngsters to have the treatment should send $4 and their written consent for each child to the school he attends by March 29.

The fluoride treatments to fight tooth decay are endorsed by the Pontiac and Oakland County health departments and the county medical society.

Religion Enters McCarthy Row

Mitchell Says Senator Giving Bad Impression of Catholics

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, says "a group of political extremists" in the United States is deliberately overemphasizing the internal menace of communism to gain political and business advantage.

"What these extremists are trying to do," Mitchell said last night, "is to convert the fear and hatred that Americans feel for communism into fear and hatred of other Americans."

Without naming him, Mitchell referred obviously and repeatedly to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and to his supporters, particularly with reference to what Mitchell called a "revival of religious prejudice" against the Roman Catholic Church.

Mitchell, identifying himself as a Roman Catholic, said he regretted "that many non-Catholics have come to feel that my co-religionists are in the forefront of those who would sacrifice methods to objectives."

The Democratic leader declared that the Rev. Robert J. McCracken, speaking at Riverside (Protestant) Church in New York City, "reminded us that the most noted among our anti-Communist crusaders is a 'member of a church that has never disavowed the inquisition, that makes a policy of censorship, that insists on conformity'."

"I am sure you can identify the crusader," Mitchell asserted, adding, "and may I say that I personally resent the transfer of his reputation to that of my church."

McCarthy is a Roman Catholic.

Citing reports by Atty. Gen. Brownell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, the Democratic leader submitted that "the penetration in this country's government and other institutions . . . is not now . . . either deep or serious."

Pontiac JA Firm to Sell Product at Detroit Store

The Junior Achievement company sponsored in Pontiac by General Motors Truck & Coach Division has been chosen to display and sell its product Saturday and Monday at a Detroit department store.

The company produces plastic cribbage boards.

The average American ate about 100 pounds more food in 1953 than he did in the late years of the '30s, but consumed no more calories.

Nuclear Power Races Forward

Rep. Van Zandt Says Science Has Overcome Difficulties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa) said today American scientists have broken through a logjam in the development of hydrogen and atomic power, and that the achievement points to accelerated development of both weapons and civilian power.

He gave no details. His prediction followed these disclosures:

1. Members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee confirmed that a preliminary hydrogen explosion March 1 in the Pacific was three or four times heavier than scientists expected. Van Zandt estimated its power at 600 times that of the Hiroshima atom bomb, the first one used in warfare.

* * *

2. Informed sources who declined to be named said the United States now is stockpiling hydrogen bombs that could be delivered anywhere in the world. This followed a statement by Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) Tuesday night that this country has a deliverable hydrogen bomb. President Eisenhower asked at his news conference about Cole's statement, reserved comment until next week. Cole is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Van Zandt is a member.

3. Military officials gave an Atomic Energy subcommittee yesterday what members called a "highly optimistic" review of developments in atomic eerngy for such nonweapons purposes as propelling ships and aircraft.

It was after this meeting that Van Zandt said in an interview that an unspecified logjam has been broken and rapid progress is prospective.

"I am more enthusiastic now than ever before about the possibilities," he said.

Meanwhile, two other committee members, Representatives Durham (D-NC) and Price (D-Ill) called upon the Atomic Energy Commission to tell the public all it can about the Pacific hydrogen blast.

A Clarkston woman driver and her 6-year-old passenger were injured Wednesday afternoon when she tried to keep her year-old son from slipping off the seat, lost control of the car and hit a tree, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Betty Quick, 17, of 8066 Reese Rd., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital. Diana K. Brown, daughter of Mrs. Nina Root, of 8066 Reese Rd., suffered a fractured right leg. Mrs. Quick's son, Jack was not injured.

Israel Files Complaint With U.N. Commission Over Massacre

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Israeli investigators and U. N. observers today probed the reported Negev Desert massacre of 11 Jews by a gang of Arabs yesterday on the road to Beersheba.

An Israeli army spokesman said investigation showed the unidentified attackers came from the direction of the Jordan border 12 miles to the east.

The Israel government filed an official complaint to the U. N.-sponsored Israel-Jordan Mixed Armistice Commission set up to supervise the cease-fire line between this country and her Arab neighbor.

The government denounced the attack as a "warlike act" and a "massacre." Only four persons on the bus survived, including a woman and child who "played dead" to escape close-range machine-gun fire from the attackers. The two other survivors were part of the four-man soldier escort traveling on the bus to protect the passengers.

One survivor said the attacking band numbered about 10 men.

Deadpan Comic Able, Not Dumb

Is Fine Foil for Show With Betty White, New on the Air

NEW YORK—Frank DeVol, who conducts the orchestra on the new TV program the "Betty White Show," is probably on of the most popular, as well as ambitious arranger-conductors in the business.

Although his droll delivery of comic lines would lead you to believe that would lead you to be of the first water and none too bright at that, nothing could be further from the truth.

He has conducted outstanding background music for recording stars such as King Cole, Peggy Lee, Margaret Whiting, Mel Torme, Kay Starr and others and currently conducts the music for Dinah Shore's radio shows.

His first complete scores were done at the age of 16 and the talented conductor is a graduate of Miami Univeristy in Oxford, Ohio.

De Vol was also bright enough to see that his life's work should be music although his father was most anxious to see him become a lawyer. Obviously the act De-Vol puts on is just that—an act.

Frank DeVol was born in Moundsville, West Va., on Sept. 20, 1911, the son of a violinist and composer-arranger.

After several moves during his early childhood, the family settled in Canton, Ohio, where Frank's father conducted the pit band at the Grand Opera House.

After graduation from Miami University, Frank rejoined his father in Canton and learned how to conduct a pit band. In 1931 he joined the Emerson Gill orchestra as the arranger and baritone soloist.

Frank left the Gill organization in 1934 to become a staff musician with Merle Jacobs' band at WTAM in Cleveland and also did arrangements for Ben Bernie's band.

In 1935 he joined the George Olsen-Ethel Shutta troupe, in 1936 the Horace Heidt organization and later went with station KHJ in Los Angeles as musical director.

In the years that followed he worked with Rudy Vallee, Ginny Simms, Jack Carson and other stars. It was while with Carson that he began supplying laughs as well as music by his unique delivery of lines.

Frank's greatest ability lies in his versatility. He can arrange both for dance orchestras and modern concert music, writes novelty tunes at the drop of a note, makes recordings, and acts as a comic for Betty White.

Michigan Flier Dies in Mississippi Crash

CLARKSDALE, Miss. (AP)—A 38-year-old Rockford, Mich., flier was killed Wednesday when an experimental crop-dusting plane crashed near Clarksdale.

Carl Young, a World War II Ferry Command pilot, plunged to his death at Fletcher's Air Field. Witnesses said the engine apparently stalled.

Young and the Mississippi Valley Aircraft Service has converted the low-wing, open cockpit monoplane from a cabin plane of the type used by northern bush pilots.

The cockpit was located directly behind the radial engine to give the pilot greater ground visibility during low flying necessary for crop dusting.

Name UM's Dr. Hatcher to Naval Academy Board

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, has been named by President Eisenhower to the board of visitors to the U. S. Naval Academy.

The board operates in a supervisory capacity and recommends on policy regarding operation of the academy.

Detroiter Wins Parole After 22 Prison Years

LANSING (AP) — The State Parole Board today ordered the parole of Herman Duncan, 56, formerly of Detroit, sentenced from Wayne County in 1931 to a life term for rape.

The board said Duncan had an excellent record during his more than 22 years in prison. He will be paroled to Detroit.

The board said Duncan was a third felony offender and was found guilty by a jury of raping a 25-year-old visiting nurse.

MY PAL — Lloyd Stevens, 4, of Minneapolis, Minn., is very fond of his dog, "Shep," and he should be. Recently when an angry cow butted the child to the ground, barking, snarling Shep came to his master's rescue by making the cow back away. A farmhand working on the Stevens farm saved the boy before he was seriously harmed.

Wants U.S. Aid to Buy Off China

France Needs Support to Make Deal Ending Indochinese War

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—Despite the stern words coming from Washington, France hopes and expects that at the Geneva conference next month the United States will help buy Chinese Communist support to end the Indochinese war.

If that U.S. help isn't forthcoming, some French officials say, the result might well be a new French government that would turn its back on American plans for defending Europe—particularly the proposed European army.

The French know they have nothing to offer that China wants seriously. French recognition of Peiping wouldn't ripple a Communist hair. What China will want, France expects, is some inducement that will justify Peiping's joining in a five-power pact to bring peace in Indochina.

Just any sort of end of the war won't do. In French eyes, a deal must be worked out which will permit France to stay in Indochina long enough to assure that the French-sponsored governments of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia won't collapse or be taken over by the Communists.

Any concessions made by the United States to China would have to be balanced by a Chinese concession to the West, the French say. Merely stopping the Indochinese war won't be enough. If Geneva brings Ho Chi Minh into dominance in Indochina, France will see it as a failure because that kind of settlement can be worked out for nothing, with no concessions to anybody.

Girl Survives 175-Foot Plunge Onto Ice Mound

MT. RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash. (AP)—A schoolgirl walking along a parapet overlooking a waterfall slipped and fell 175 feet onto an icy mound here yesterday but survived and is expected to recover.

Dolores Van Parys, 17, of Seattle and another girl were returning from viewing Narada Falls when she slipped on the icy pathway, slid 20 feet down the parapet side and plunged to the stream bank below.

Frank T. Hirst, assistant chief ranger who aided in the hour-long rescue effort which brought the girl to a waiting ambulance, said she struck the ice mound a glancing blow, sliding down its sides into ice and snow in the creek bed. Her clothing was torn to shreds.

She was still conscious when rescuers reached her but could only mumble "Pick me up, pick me up," and "Please get me out of here."

She was taken to a hospital at Morton, where a doctor said she is suffering from a brain concussion, a fractured neck vertebrae and internal injuries.

Leaders Jangle Over State Pay

Legislators See Budget Wrong, Doesn't Include Civil Service Raises

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams, who has submitted his first balanced budget to the legislature in five years, today heard a legislative demand that he revise his 1954-55 budget request upward to provide for state employes' pay raise variously estimated at $6 million to $10 million a year.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), the Senate majority leader, filed a resolution demanding that Williams submit a "correct, balanced and detailed budget" to the Legislature.

Coleman's resolution declared that in 1953 Williams ignored the demands of the State Civil Service Commission for more money to raise state employe salaries and so far this year has failed to take account of the State Civil Service Commission's decision to boost salaries starting July 1.

The commission estimated its increase at $6 million a year but said it would not be able to supply a detail of the pay raise schedule until an April 8-9 meeting in Detroit. The legislature will adjourn April 9.

Republican legislative leaders, who have worked for weeks to meet Williams' request for a balanced budget, have been incensed at the commission's decision last week to boost salaries, and the commission's inability to provide a definite schedule of how the increase would hit various types of employes.

A spokesman for the appropriations committees said informally that the legislature would not this year pursue its 1953 policy of providing a lump sum from which last-minute civil service pay raises could be paid.

Two Bus Drivers Lose Day's Pay Over Green Ties

DETROIT (INS)—Two veteran Detroit bus drivers who forfeited a day's pay rather than give up the wearing of the green were back at the wheel today awaiting possible disciplinary action.

Patrick J. McMahon, 55, and William McEvoy, 39, showed up for work yesterday wearing green ties in honor of their patron saint. They were told to obey regulations and change to the customary blue ties of the uniform or go home. Said Pat:

"Now has anybody ever heard of an Irishman who wore a blue tie on St. Patrick's Day? I went home."

So did McEvoy. Officials said a number of other drivers were less adamant and agreed to make the switch. Said station superintendent Alvin Hurlich:

"There is, no special order against St. Patrick's Day ties, but the regulation tie is blue."

Estimated $250,000 Warehouse Damage

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Damage from a fire which swept through the Michigan Fruit Canners Warehouse Wednesday was estimated today at $250,000.

Two firemen, Herman Hinz and Harold Lemieux, were overcome by smoke and required hospitalization.

The blaze was believed to have been started by an overheated gluepot. It destroyed large stocks of canned goods in storage for labeling.

Bentley Anxious to Get Discharge From Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Alvin Bentley (R-Mich), seriously wounded in a Puerto Rican shooting attack on the House March 1, said Wednesday night that he bears "no malice" towards his attackers.

Bentley, propped up on his bed at Casualty Hospital made the comment on a filmed television program.

The Owosso Congressman said he was looking forward to getting out of the hospital, but had no idea when that might be. He said:

"I get smiles from the doctors, but no information. If you find out when I can leave let me know. I am feeling very well although I got the works here."

Asked about the Puerto Ricans who did the shooting, Bentley said:

"I hold no malice toward those poor people. I have nothing but sympathy for them."

His doctor said that he could have the interview this afternoon. Earlier the hospital had said, Bentley would be off the serious list in a day or two, if he continues to improve.

Mayor of Atlanta Dances to Irish Tune at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The mayor of Atlanta, Ga., was an unscheduled performer at an impromptu St. Patrick's day celebration in Detroit's City Hall.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield as calling on Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo when 20 green-hatted celebrators dropped by.

Drop Personal Tax on Dealers' Autos

DETROIT (AP) — A controversial proposal to tax plentiful dealer stocks of new automobiles has been spiked by common council.

The corporation counsel's (city attorney's) office had given an opinion that the new cars were subject to personal property taxes.

About $19 million worth of autos on hand Jan. 1, the assessing day, was involved. The assessment would have amounted to some $700,000.

Council, sitting as a board of review on tax assessments, voted 7 to 1 yesterday to exempt the cars from taxation.

The dealers had claimed that once they had purchased a certificate of title and obtained a dealer's license for a car it was no longer subject to taxation by local governments.

Rushes Wife to Hospital Winds Up in Bed Himself

Psychiatric Exam Seen for Runaway

A psychiatric examination is "quite probably" in store for Joe Pelat, the 13-year-old Brown City schoolboy, who left his guardians' home and holed up in a nearby barn early Monday morning.

Clare Golden, of the Michigan Children's Institute in Ann Arbor, said today it was likely the youngster will be examined by staff psychologists and psychiatrists when he arrives in Ann Arbor. For the present, he is being kept at the Flint Juvenile Home.

Miss Golden said a case worker interviewed the boy Friday, three days before he armed himself with a shotgun and fled to the barn. The children's institute is a branch of the Michigan Social Welfare Department.
