JFK Urges Reversal of Foreign Aid Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate refused today by a vote of 56 to 45 to cut back President Kennedy's borrowing authority for economic development loans from five to three years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy urged the House today to reverse itself and approve long-term authorization of foreign aid loans "in this crucial hour of the nation's history."

Kennedy said Democrats had helped former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's foreign aid program, and "it is urgent that this bipartisan principle be maintained."

A coalition of House Republicans and conservative Democrats Wednesday struck at the heart of Kennedy's foreign aid program and dealt him a severe setback by blocking the long-range development loan program from five to three years.

In the House where 55 members were unaccounted for in Wednesday's head count.

"The bill eventually will go to conference with Senate version in line with Kennedy's original plan for power to lend $8.8 billion at no or low interest to underdeveloped countries over the next five years."

In the Kennedy statement released by the White House, the President said authority to make the long-range loans "is essential to making certain that our foreign-aid program is both efficient and effective." This has been the administration position throughout this year's congressional battle over foreign aid.

UAW Wants Profit Data, Sees Strike Unless...

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers requested today for a third time basic data on the price-profit formula of General Motors Corp. and posed a threat of appealing to the National Labor Relations Board if it again is rejected.

The two now are bargaining on a new contract.

The current three-year one expires Aug. 31.

The request came after UAW Vice President Norman Matthews said there will be an auto industry strike unless there is a "radical change" in management attitude by Aug. 31.

Matthews, head of the UAW negotiating team at Chrysler, made the statement at a meeting of Chrysler Local union officials Wednesday night.

Striker votes have been authorized by the International at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford.

"Unless there is a radical change in management between now and Aug. 31, I don't see any other way than a strike in one of the Big Three," Matthews said.

Matthews, reporting on Chrysler negotiations, indicated a belief that a strike was more likely at that company than any other.

"If there will be no strike at Chrysler," he said, "But unless Chrysler management changes completely, we will have a strike."

Twice previously GM turned the union down on grounds the union bargains only for wages, hours and working conditions of its members and that prices and profits fall in management's exclusive area of operations.

In a 1946 case, the National Labor Relations Board turned down a union demand that it be allowed to look at GM's books to prove the company had "ability to pay" what the union was asking.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and its GM director, said the union's request for price-profit information had been "greatly narrowed and carefully protected."

He said the UAW now is proposing that GM "submit basic data to a firm of certified public accountants who would calculate the answers to the questions the union has raised."

Woodcock said this approach was being taken to make it "crystal clear that we are not asking the corporation to open its books."

The union claims, and GM denies, that the company has made inflation an issue in new contract negotiations. The company has said a new wage pact must not result in higher car prices.

Border Closing Called Flagrant Violation of Four-Power Agreement

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France protested to the Soviet Union today that the Communist barricade in Berlin is "illegal."

They declared they expect the Soviet government "to put an end to these illegal measures."

Identical notes were delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office by embassies of the three Western powers in Moscow this morning and then were made public in Paris, London and Washington.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, advocate of a firm Western stand against East Germany's clampdown on refugees, approved the tone of the Western protests.

In brief comment he said, "I finally the right language."

The Western powers complained that the closing of the border "is a flagrant, and particularly serious, violation" of the four-power status of Berlin. They rejected the Red argument that East Berlin is part of the territory of East Germany.

"Moreover, the United States government cannot admit the right of the East German authorities to authorize their armed forces to enter the Soviet sector of Berlin," the U.S. note said.

The other Western notes used the same language except that the British note, for instance, said "Her Majesty's government cannot admit" etc.

The wording of the text was restrained and free of any threat by the West or any phrasing designed to express anger or indignation.

GENTLE BUT STRONG

The note was drafted jointly by representatives of the three Western powers and apparently reflected a decision on their part to handle the Berlin situation at this point with a gentle touch.

The action paragraph of the note, which State Department officials said was designed as a "strong" call for removal of the Communist barricades, said:

"The United States government solemnly protests against the measures referred to above, for which it holds the Soviet government to put an end to these illegal measures. This unilateral infringement of the quadripartite status of Berlin can only increase existing tensions and dangers."

Can Manufacture Polio Deterrent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government today approved the commercial manufacturing of the Sabin polio vaccine which can be taken like a cough syrup.

The manufacturing license issued by the U.S. Public Health Service will permit production of the live, oral vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin for use in preventing one of three types of polio.

It can be taken by teaspoon. The serum will be in the form of a cherry-flavored syrup.

Weekend to See Summer's Return

Good old summertime temperatures and fair skies is the weekend forecast for Pontiac area residents. Tonight's low will dip to 62. Friday's high will hit near 86.

There's a chance of scattered thundershowers Saturday or Sunday but rainfall will register less than one-quarter inch.

Variable morning winds mostly southeast at 5 to 12 mph per hour will shift to westerly at 8 to 15 m.p.h. tomorrow.

The lowest temperature in the downtown area preceding 8 a.m. was 54. The mercury had climbed to 82 at 2 p.m.

Britain, France Bolster Forces in W. Germany

Communists to Mobilize Two Million Youths 'Voluntarily'

BERLIN (UPI) — Britain and France followed the American lead today in bolstering their military forces in Berlin and Germany.

At the same time, the East Germans disclosed that 2 million members of the Communist youth organization would be mobilized "voluntarily."

The twin military moves on either side of the sealed East-West Berlin border came as the Western Allies delivered stinging protest notes to the Soviet Union over the Communists' illegal actions in this crisis-torn city.

The notes warned the Russians that such actions can have grave consequences.

Earlier, the West Berlin police reported the detention of 18 uniformed members of the Communist East German people's police and two members of the Red workers' militia during the past two nights.

Mobilization of the Communist youth in the East Zone of Germany will reinforce the ranks of the 400,000-man "people's army," the "people's police" and the workers' militia already involved on the Red side in the cold war contest for Berlin.

Prison Rebels Demand Talk

Coleader of Uprising in Tennessee Reported to Be Insane

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A group of rebelling Tennessee penitentiary inmates seized more than 20 hostages inside the prison walls today and demanded to talk about unspecified grievances.

One of the group has been described in a psychiatric report as insane.

Asst. Deputy Warden Carl Burns said the revolt was led by Raymond Farris, native of Williamson, W. Va., serving a life sentence for robbery, and Leon and Franklin Sanders of Clarksville, Tenn., serving 25 years for armed robbery.

Farris' record shows he was described as insane.

Burns identified two of the others as Robert Bohannon of Nashville, serving 3 to 5 years for auto theft, and his brother John Dean Bohannon serving 46 years for the murder of his uncle.

afternoon to take charge of operations.

Officials said the rebellion started with arms and ammunition hidden in the barracks.

Burns, one of 19 men and women held for more than 72 hours in a similar outbreak in March 1960, said the rebels would not discuss their grievances with anyone but the governor or Commissioner Hamilton.

Robert Rivera, who helped Farra lead the 1960 revolt, was listed today as one of the leaders but Rivera said Rivera apparently was one of several prisoners held as hostages.

An hour and a half after the seizure, State Safety Commissioner Greg O'Rear said the rebellious convicts were holding five guards, three commissary clerks and two prison guards.

Warden Lynn Bonar said the revolt, begun, believed to be armed, apparently included two of the prisoners who led a day-long uprising at the same prison in March 1960.

"They have at least two guns, Bonar said, "and have demanded to talk to state authorities about some grievances."

The grievances were not spelled out, the warden said.

No one was hurt, officials said in the original outbreak in the prison.

City Police Chief Frank Mulvey said he had dispatched all available policemen to the area, equipped with riot guns and tear gas guns.

State highway patrolmen in the area also were diverted to the prison, where several disturbances have broken out in recent years.

The prison normally houses around 1,800 inmates, including many long-termers.

It is Tennessee's maximum security institution.

3 Nations Protest Berlin Barricade

U.S. government "expects" the U.S.S.R. to lift a barrier which officials have been saying persistently will undoubtedly remain in force for a long time.

White said the U.S. government's expectation was based on the "solemn obligation" of the Soviet Union to treat Berlin as a city under four-power control with free travel guaranteed within its borders.

East German authorities imposed the travel ban on the border.

It is to be noted, said the Western press, that the Warsaw Pact declaration "states that the measures taken by the East German authorities are 'in the interests of the German peoples themselves.'"

It is difficult to see any basis for this statement, or to understand why it should be for the members of the Warsaw Pact to decide what are the interests of the German people.

"It is evident that no Germans, particularly those whose freedom of movement is being forcibly restrained, think this is so. This would be absurdly clear if all Germans were allowed a free choice, and the principle of self-determination were also applied in the Soviet sector of Berlin and in East Germany."

A previous protest had been made by the Western military commandant to the Soviet commander in Berlin. Today's diplomatic operation by the three Western powers simply raised the level of protest and had gone to a dangerous limit.

Adenauer, Brandt's rival for chancellor in next month's German elections, issued a statement within hours of Brandt's speech saying, "If there were any really serious crisis, the Western powers would act with all due force."

He did not mention Brandt directly in this connection, but followed up with a brilliant counter-speech against him in which he said West Berlin expected "not merely words but political action."

Pontiac Union Argued Cause Needed in First Court Decision

WASHINGTON (U.S. Federal appeals court ruling in Cincinnati opens the way for an investigation into fund handling by the Teamsters and other labor unions, the Labor Department says.

The issue in the case was whether the Labor Department must have probable cause or merely a reasonable basis in order to subpoena union records to check on the authenticity of union fund handling reports.

Transway Local 299 of Detroit and 414 of Pontiac, Mich., argued that probable cause was needed and U.S. District Judge Fred W. Kewas at Detroit accepted this theory.

He refused in February to issue subpoenas asked by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg for records of the two Michigan Teamsters locals—of which 299 is the home local of James R. Hoffa, Teamster president.

But Wednesday the 6th U.S. Court of Appeals unanimously reversed the lower court's decision.

It ordered the records be returned to Labor Department investigators, holding that a reasonable basis for matching union accounts with union reports to the Labor Department is all that is required by law.

A similar case is pending in the U.S. District Court in Washington. This involves a Labor Department attempt to take over and investigate records of the entire Teamster Union.

A decision has been held pending the Cincinnati decision.

Duke Wins Medal to Wear on His Collar

CHICAGO (AP)—Duke, a colie, today sports a gold medal on his gold collar, symbolic of his reign as the most heroic dog of 1961.

The dog was selected from 54 canine candidates from 29 states for having helped save the life of his mistress, Penny Grant, 15, on March 15 by ripping a flaming skirt from the child.

Duke suffered severe burns on the mouth in the act. Penny, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Grant, 45, was treated for eight weeks for burns over 50 per cent of her body.

Physicians say the dog "almost certainly" saved the little girl's life.

There was no dearth of dog heroes for judges to select from.

It was a runner-up.

A boy Manchester terrier from Hallsville, Mo., was fourth for having attracted his mistress' attention when her son had an accident and was slowly strangling. Another mixed breed from Brooklyn, N.Y., won fifth for tearing into an intruder's leg after he had robbed the dog's mistress and knocked her to the floor.

In addition to his medal and collar, Duke was awarded a gold-plated leash, a dog blanket, a year's supply of dog food, and $1,000 U.S. bond in his owner's name.

Ceremonies befitting Duke's heroism marked the award presentation Wednesday.

Rocket Failure Ruins Experiment Aimed at Spotting Nuclear Blasts

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U.S. Blue Scout booster rocket blasted into a cloudy sky at 5:29 a.m. Pontiac time. All four solid-fuel stages fired in quick succession, but the Air Force reported later that radio contact was lost during fourth stage burning.

Technicians began analyzing telemetry data received from the Blue Scout in an effort to determine what went wrong.

A 27-pound payload packed in the nose of the rocket carried instruments to measure X-rays, charged particles and gamma rays during a nearly five-day trip into space.

The package was to reach its intended 100,000-mile altitude 57 hours after launch. Then it was to begin a 57-hour return journey which was to end with its fiery re-entry destruction over the South Pacific next Tuesday.

Appoint Advisory Group to Assist School Board

BIRMINGHAM—Appointment of an advisory committee to assist the Birmingham Board of Education in arriving at sound operating and building plans for the future was announced today by Mrs. Kathryn Loomis, board president.

"We have extended invitations to serve to a representative group of citizens in the school district, and our first meeting with them will be held tonight," she added.

"While the board is aware of its legal responsibility in bringing proposals to the citizens, it is also very much aware of the benefit which comes from the counsel and advice of those who most intimately determine the kind of education the community is willing to provide for its children."

Appointment of the advisory committee ends months of study of school curriculum and operating and building needs by the citizens, the board, outside groups and the school staff.

Initial reports of the Citizens Curriculum Committee and the Staff Curriculum Committee outlining the needs of the district made at a week-long planning conference held in April.

The first data on building needs was also given then by representatives of Ohio State University which conducted the building survey.

The final curriculum report was made to the board in June. This completed three years of study by committees appointed by the Birmingham PTA Council at the request of the board.

Ohio State University also has submitted its final building needs report.

All the information has been studied by the board and administration. This data and the board's recommendations have been sent to all who have indicated they would serve on the advisory committee.

We hope that a mutual exchange of ideas on our tentative recommendations will enable us to formulate the best possible proposals for a November election," the board president said.

Adam Geisel, service for former Birmingham resident Adam Geisel, 64, of Berkeley, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Bandit Smashes Car in Escape

Ex-Convict in Late 20s Is Sought by Police After Bar Holdup

Pontiac police were searching for an armed bandit who escaped on foot after smashing up his car in a chase by officers following a bar holdup early today.

The wanted man is William Steele, an ex-convict in his late 20s, who has been residing at 6 Shirley St., police said.

He is sought in connection with the $200 robbery of Henry's Bar, 313 Baldwin Ave., which occurred at 2:30 a.m.

The bartender, Henry J. Thyle, 29, of 98 Parkside Ave., said the bandit, who had been drinking in the bar for some time, asked at closing time to let him out the back door.

Steele then pulled a .32-caliber revolver from his pocket and demanded money, Thyle said.

Warren Brown, 35, of 48 Short St., sitting in his auto outside the bar, had seen Steele pull the gun on the bartender.

State Unemployment Down by 5,000 in Month

DETROIT (UPI) — Unemployment in Michigan dipped by 5,000 from June 15 to July 15, the Michigan Employment Security Commission said today.

The MESEC said July 15 unemployment in the state stood at 286,000, which included 157,000 in the Detroit area. Detroit area unemployment was reduced by 7,000 during the June 15-July 15 period.

NOTED LICENSE

He told fellow workers at the Fisher Body plant across the street to call police and noted the license number of the gunman's car.

Police spotted the car on John Ave. and chased it. But the bandit's car drove up a parked auto in front of 585 E. Manfield Ave., and rolled over.

The gunman escaped on foot. Officers traced the car to a woman friend of the wanted man.

'Chinese to Develop Own Atomic Arms'

WASHINGTON — Trevor Gardner, former defense research official, predicted today that Red China soon will develop its own atomic weapons.

"And he told a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on disarmament that the danger of overlooking all an accidental or inadvertent nuclear war now 'is a very real one.'"

Gardner was one of a group of witnesses urging prompt congressional approval of President Kennedy's request that a permanent top level disarmament agency be established.

Gardner, who testified he helped

Woolworth Will Build on Old Theater Site

MIDLAND — The F. W. Woolworth Co. announced Wednesday it will build a store here on the site of the former Prolic Theater Building.

A 15-year lease for the property was negotiated by Woolworth with Chris A. Saralis, a Grand Rapids broker. The site has been vacant since Dec. 31, 1951, when raising of the theater was completed.

Dr. Storton to Head Cultural Commission

LANSING — Appointment of Dr. William E. Storton, director of the Dearborn Center of the University of Michigan, as chairman of the Michigan Cultural Commission was announced by Gov. Swainson Wednesday.

Storton succeeds Dr. William M. Blenbaum, former assistant vice president of Wayne State University of the new Council for Social Research in New York.

A former vice president of Wayne State University, Storton became vice president of the U. of M. in 1956. Two years later his duties were expanded to include directorship of the university's Dearborn Center.

Peace Corps Faces Problem of Witch Doctors

Editor's Note: The witch doctor is still a power in the bush, and the Peace Corps faces a problem of witch doctors. What's more, the witch doctor is still a power in the bush, and the Peace Corps faces a problem of witch doctors. What's more, the witch doctor is still a power in the bush, and the Peace Corps faces a problem of witch doctors.

By LYNN HICKERLING
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — "To fight problems, not people," President Kennedy's Peace Corps could hardly find a more suitable place than Tanganyika.

The country has all the difficulties which plague Africa—disease, backwardness, poverty, a shaky economy and a colonial background. Peace and prosperity is what Tanganyika wants.

OVER 100 TRIBES
There are more than 100 tribes in Tanganyika, their past studded with bloody combat. The survivors appreciate the advantages of peace.

With 500 miles of coastline on the Indian ocean, Tanganyika has in its long history attracted Arabs and Persians, Indians and Chinese. The warlike Masai tribesmen filtered in from the north, and some of Southern Africa's aggressive Zulus settled here.

Asians, Africans, Arabs and Europeans live together in comparative calm while the winds of change sweep Africa. The 90 members of the Peace Corps due later this year will find their know-how more important than the color of their skins.

But they're likely to find physical conditions tough. Tanganyika is a country about a tenth the size of the United States. Within a few miles of the capital, Dar Es Salaam, with its modest luxuries, life can be wholly primitive among the Africans in mud or thatch huts.

WITCH DOCTORS: Despite the efforts of missionaries, the witch doctor still is an important figure in the bush, and the majority of Africans are pagans. And to the clock-conditioned Westerner, their practice of ordering their lives by the position of the sun in the sky can be exasperating.

The country's greatest asset as it moves toward independence on Dec. 9 this year is not its diamond mines or its plantations, but a slender, medicine school teacher, Julius Nyerere, now prime minister.

Head of the only effective political organization in the country, the Tanganyika African National Union (TANU), Nyerere has led Tanganyika from the smoothest passage into independence experienced by any African territory.

It was Nyerere who decided the Peace Corps could help Tanganyika and the government backed him unanimously.

The Peace Corps mission in Tanganyika—first on the African continent—will include surveyors, engineers and geologists. They will make a survey for a feeder road system throughout the country. The roads will be designed to bring crops such as cotton, coffee and sisal to market and to give African farmers a chance to exchange their labor for cash.

CALLED SPIES
The only real opposition to the Peace Corpsmen has come from the African National Congress, a political organization whose motto is "Africa for the Africans" and which often echoes the Communist line on "American imperialism." The congress has described the Peace Corpsmen as "imperialist spies."

But not one voice was raised in the National Assembly against the Peace Corps.

Malaria is prevalent throughout Tanganyika except above an altitude of 7,000 feet. The Peace Corpsmen will take preventive pills for two years.

Tanganyika children have contracted attacks of malaria in infancy and gradually acquire immunity to its most distressing effects. A malaria eradication campaign is in progress, but it has not yet licked the mosquito.

TO KILL TSETSE FLY
An effort is being made to eliminate the tsetse fly by clearing bush and spraying, but parts of five of the nine provinces are still danger spots.

Tanganyika's main export is sisal, a plant of the daffodil family, from whose fibers twine and rope are made. The country supplies about two-fifths of the world's supply.

Except for the famed Williamson Diamond Mine, now owned jointly by the Tanganyika government and De Beers Consolidated Mines Ltd., and some mining for gold and minerals, the country's economy is almost entirely agricultural.

But African farmers deep in the bush are thwarted by the absence of adequate feeder roads to get their crops to market. Heavy rains often wash out the primitive tracks which are their lifelines. It is to improve this situation that the Peace Corpsmen will apply their talents.

PLAN FEEDER ROADS
Under a three-year development plan, the government is expected to spend nearly $3 million to expand and improve feeder roads. The work of the Peace Corps will be a contribution to that program—surveying road links between small roads and main roads.

There will be very little entertainment if the Corpsmen are not entertained by the friendly Africans of the villages, the wild game and perhaps fishing. The larger towns, and they are few, usually have a movie house, cafes and a small hotel with bar and restaurant.

All the Corpsmen will take courses in Swahili before going to work. If these lessons take, their stay in Tanganyika will be more pleasant and profitable. And, indeed, if they expect to have any satisfactory contact with the Africans outside the towns, a knowledge of Swahili will be mandatory.

The country's economy has not yet developed to the point where all farmers could raise and sell cash crops profitably. Many lead a shiftless life with little thought for tomorrow. They are friendly and courteous but often prisoners to a way of life shaped by disease, undernourishment and a hot sun. Plenty of work for the Peace Corps.

Long in Discord, Kingston Trio in Harmony on Split

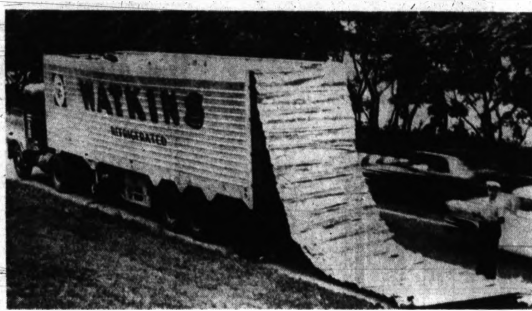

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The battling Kingston Trio have reached an agreement for a split, their attorneys said Wednesday.

Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane will continue under the Kingston name with a new partner, John Stewart, 21-year-old San Diegoan formerly with the Cumberland Three.

Dave Guard is forming a new group which he expects to debut in January.

The young folk singers, who earned a million dollars a year after soaring to fame with "Tom Dooley," split over artistic differences a few months ago.

More than one-third of the male dancers in America earn more than $20,000 a year.

Owner of Lion in NYC Gets 30-Day Sentence

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard E. Flynn, charged twice with harboring a wild animal in the city, has been sentenced to 30 days in the City Workhouse.

In pronouncing sentence on Flynn Wednesday, Magistrate Louis A. Goffi denounced him as a publicity hound.

"Since he wants publicity," said Goffi, "he'll get it, but he'll have to spend 30 days in the workhouse for it."

Flynn had pleaded guilty but contended his lion cub, 100-pound King Kady, was harmless. The lion, now in Central Park Zoo, was found first in Flynn's car in a parking lot and again in Flynn's auto-parked in a muddy garage. Flynn, 47, is from St. Louis, Mo.

U.S. Supremacy in Managerial Skill Outweighs Soviet Capabilities

During the graduating exercises at the General Motors Institute, J. R. KILLIAN Jr. developed several interesting thoughts in regard to progress today and a safe and better existence in our country.

He declared that "business must anticipate swift technological changes with the technology becoming steadily more complex." Scientific knowledge is doubling every nine years and technological efforts every ten years, and more advances have been made in the past 50 years than in all preceding history.

This places a great strain on management skills if we wish to stay ahead of Russia. "Today," he asserts, "the free world holds a position of leadership in science and technology as we possess greater managerial ability for the adaptation of the knowledge we possess now and will develop in the future." Also, this Nation has vastly more skilled and experienced workmen than the Reds.

Mr. Killian declares that there's a shortage of men who can coordinate the elements of research, developments and production as developed by these intricate systems. New factors are lost unless the managerial skill is available to let us make the greatest practical use of our new information. It is here, he feels, that we surpass the Reds.

Engineers-managers are a basic need in the world and the United States can rule if this field is successively developed and expanded; and our needs will continue to be augmented still further by the very existence of the most recent advances.

Which factors do we follow and which are relegated to the scrap heap? And which of our existing methods are made obsolete? Positive and accurate answers will be in high demand. Mr. Killian believes the free enterprise system will automatically advance this type of thinking beyond Soviet capabilities. Swift, unerring answers should give us domination in the race ahead.

This applies to the domestic scene as well as national defense.

To summarize the statements of Mr. Killian, he feels our supremacy lies in the fact our managerial skills in determining which courses to follow, which procedures to adopt and which to scrap and then our innate

Food for Peace Plan Is Most Valuable

There is always a lot of congressional as well as public unhappiness over foreign aid offered in loans and grants. But shipments abroad under our food for peace program can warm many a lawmaker's heart.

These can be of immense value to needy nations. At the same time, they also serve farm purposes, easing that growling burden a little, particularly as to storage costs.

Food for peace shipments are rising markedly. Last year just 43,763 tons went into development programs with nearly 400,000 additional tons going for famine and disaster relief.

This year, with months yet to go, development areas already have received 264,000 tons of food out of a total of 727,000 shipped. That this is, relatively, our most painless foreign aid does not in any way impair its great usefulness. Let's have more aid programs along this line.

manufacturing ability to develop them rapidly, will outweigh whatever advantages the Soviets may possess.

And certainly, as we in Pontiac know, our working men in the plants are trained and experienced beyond the skills that exist in Russia.

Large Scouting Figures on National and Home Work

Boy Scouts of America show that in its 51 years a total of 33,000 boys have been drawn to its ranks. First attracted to it by its possibilities of fun, romance and adventure, their life in it was molded in the precepts of the Boy Scout oath. This is one of the primary reasons why 99 per cent of them make good in their chosen pursuits in life.

And less than one-half of one per cent of them have ever transgressed the law to such an extent that they had to appear in court. This testifies conclusively to the manhood building abilities of Scouting. When we bring this down to a local level, we can even beat the national findings. According to Executive Secretary

Edward H. Leland of Clinton Valley Council, which comprises most of the area of Oakland and Macomb counties, a total of 88,000 boys have been members of troops here. The percentage of those boys who have made good in life even exceeds the national percentage. Personal contact with nearly all of the local judicial officers does not reveal the name of even one person who had been a Boy Scout.

Mr. Leland points out that a major portion of the local Scouts included in that 88,000 have been connected with the movement within comparatively recent years.

These actual figures and statistics show Scouting to be the greatest manhood building project in our nation. It has a priority in the training of boys in physical fitness, self-reliance and citizenship responsibility.

David Lawrence Wonders:

Will West Lead With Right or Left?

IN EUROPE—Anxiety and apprehension over the Berlin problem seem more pronounced in America, judging by press reports, than here in Europe.

Maybe they're accustomed over here to the behavior of dictators and to the blinding tactics that surround an artificially created crisis. But in a period of economic prosperity, the natural tendency of dictators to the blinding tactics that surround an artificially created crisis. But in a period of economic prosperity, the natural tendency of dictators to the blinding tactics that surround an artificially created crisis.

There is another way of saying that the United States must avoid encouragement of a revolutionary spirit inside the Communist-dominated countries for fear of disastrous consequences.

It implies that the West is really afraid to use the most powerful weapon that can be mobilized at present—the public opinion of the afflicted countries whose citizens look to the United States for inspiration.

But notwithstanding all the news articles about "timidity" and "contingency planning" in the official conferences, there seems to be as yet a lack of coordination of policy among the Western powers.

It's a sort of wall-and-see kind of approach. It isn't even clear just what the issue on which the West will risk everything, including war.

For several weeks now the United States has endeavored to impress upon Nikita Khrushchev that there is a point beyond which we will not hesitate to fight for our "rights." But, at the same time, this has been coupled with a well-publicized determination to seek "negotiations."

Legal rights of nations to Berlin have become a subtlety, therefore, in all sorts of abstract issues. The Soviet premier may think he can rely on the strategy of confusion to attain his objective while the Western Allies debate among themselves what "freedom" is made.

Broadly speaking, what is absent is a spirit of idealism and a willingness to fight, if necessary, for those ideals. There seems to be no compass to steer by—no principle that has been given paramountcy.

Instead, the word goes out, for instance, that the Western Allies are so afraid of possible revolutions in East Germany that the peoples there have been asked through official American radio broadcasts to keep calm and avoid any disturbances which could lead to the use of force.

Observers in West Germany, moreover, are dismayed by an editorial in the New York Times which was carried on the press association wires to European newspapers on Wednesday, and which reads in part as follows:

"While the Soviets seek to stir up revolution and war against us whenever they can—even in the periphery of the Hitler-Stalin pact—we must seek to discourage such."

Since doctors cannot define "chronic arthritis," they should be ashamed of themselves taking money from public credulity on the pretense of treating it.

The regimen for rheumatism which I outline in Little Lesson No. 12 is not a remedy or a cure. It is, merely prophylactic—designed to combat or correct the nutritional deficiency which is responsible for degeneration of joint tissues.

ation at least, if not direct military help.

The Western powers keep haggling among themselves about legal rights in Berlin where the basic issue is the continued enslavement of 16 million human beings in East Germany.

There is nowadays a lot in the press about the need for self-determination of half-civilized peoples in Africa, but there seems to be a tenacity about prevailing such a goal for the civilized peoples of Eastern Europe.

Already resentment is rising in West Germany, whose people are beginning to feel they are being forsaken by the West.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Don't Be Too Gullible About Having 'Arthritis'

In hope of bringing some light into the dark field of joint disability, I call No. 12 Little Lesson Chronic Joint Disability.

For short, call chronic joint disability rheumatism. In any case the condition develops insidiously, so insidiously that the victim may not quite realize he has it until he has had it for a year or longer.

It lasts indefinitely, and the nutritional deficiency which causes it is over-corrected in time. The truth is that chronic rheumatism is a degeneration of joint tissues.

Acute arthritis (joint inflammation), though relatively rare, sometimes does occur, and it is a serious illness which requires watchful attendance by the physician. It develops abruptly, all in a day or two, lasts a few weeks or sometimes a few months, and is over.

It is caused by infection of the joint joints—we need not name the specific germs here—and occurs mainly in young persons, whereas rheumatism occurs usually in persons past middle age.

When a doctor tells you your chronic joint disability is "arthritis," he is counting on your ignorance and credulity or he hopes to sell you a course of treatment with some miracle medicine that will cost you a pretty penny and do you not one bit of good.

Dr. Osler, in his famous "Practice," defined chronic rheumatism in terms that might serve to describe the pathology of degeneration of joint tissues. It is because practically nothing is known about nutrition in Osler's day.

In all my reading I have never found a straightforward definition of "chronic arthritis." This reluctance on the part of a physician of standing to commit himself on a definition of "chronic arthritis" is understandable. It is because "chronic arthritis" is as rare as rabbits in man.

Since doctors cannot define "chronic arthritis," they should be ashamed of themselves taking money from public credulity on the pretense of treating it.

The regimen for rheumatism which I outline in Little Lesson No. 12 is not a remedy or a cure. It is, merely prophylactic—designed to combat or correct the nutritional deficiency which is responsible for degeneration of joint tissues.

ly the poor soul with rheumatism follows the regimen.

However I think it is fair to mention that some readers have reported that the regimen for rheumatism brought about so much improvement in their lame joints that they were able to return to jobs they had been forced to give up.

Now if any one asks me for my cure for "arthritis," I'll call him names—and you know I'm good at that.

Agreed, not more than one copy of the words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, no disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be sent by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People:

Tells From What Funds We Meet Foreign Aid

Can we afford foreign aid? The Rank-Dillon reply is "certainly." They then trot out the old saw that foreign aid is less than 1 per cent of the Gross National Product.

As everyone knows, the GNP is not a fund but a statistic. The only fund from which foreign aid can be met is the U.S. budget and foreign aid and overseas military costs require up to $6 or $18 billion annually, or 10 per cent of the federal budget. This 10 per cent must come from the U.S. Treasury.

The treasury must raise the money by taxes—principally from the low-income people—or by printing it, which is inflationary and robs the people, or by borrowing which again must be repaid by the people.

Reader Revises 23rd Psalm

The following parody was sent from a friend and I am passing it along for The Pontiac Press readers.

The government is my shepherd, I need not work. It allows me to lie where I choose. It leads me beside still factories. It destroys my initiative. It leads me in the path of a parasite for politics sake.

Yes, though I walk through the valley of laziness, ignorance and waste, I fear no "nothing," for the government is with me. It prepares an economic strangle for me by appropriating the earnings of my grandchildren's grandchildren. It filches my life with false security; my inefficiency runs over. Surely the Kennedy family can rule the followers for the rest of the days of my life. And I can dwell in a fool's paradise forever.

The Almanac

Today is Thursday, Aug. 17, the 229th day of the year with 136 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On the day in history.

In 1786, David Crockett, famed as the "King of the Wild Frontier," was born.

In 1932, Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankee baseball team broke the record for consecutive games played by one man when he played in his 1,308th game in St. Louis.

In 1948, Wendell Willkie accepted the Republican nomination for the presidency at his farm in Elkhart, Ind.

In 1948, Alger Hiss, identified as a Communist while he was an important member of the government, condemned his accuser, Whitaker Chambers. Hiss denied emphatically he was a Communist.

Whenever I look in your eyes

My heart grows foolish in its way

And I can see the moon and stars

At even high noon in the day

Whenever I look in your eyes

I see a sea of baby-blue wings

And all my dreams in tiny boats

Lift up their sails and sail to you

Whenever I look in your eyes

A ghost of dove-gone days

And on an island I can't find I gather up

Bears Wired for Sound

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pity the poor grizzly bears in Yellowstone National Park. Soon they will be wearing miniature radio sending sets. The National Geographic Society said conservationists fear the grizzly may be on the way to extinction.

70 Guerrillas Killed in South Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — More than 70 guerrillas were killed earlier this week in a battle on the Plaine des Junces area, the government announced today. It was the South Vietnamese army's second major victory in two months against the Communist Viet Cong rebels.

Col. Huynh Van Cao, commander of the 6th Tactical Transbasac Zone, said 20 other rebels were captured in the operation that was launched last Sunday.

Except for a soldier who drowned in a river, there were no government casualties reported during the clash, he said.

Sales of property and casualty insurance last year exceeded $15 billion.

Lakes Freight Totals Down in July From '60

CLEVELAND — Combined shipments of iron ore, coal and grain in Great Lakes vessels during July totaled 17,708,008 net tons, compared with 19,169,334 during the same month in 1960.

The Lake Carriers' Association said both coal and grain shipments showed increases during July. Coal shipments were 4,907,000 tons, exceeded during only one July since 1953, and 558,730 higher than a year ago.

Grain shipments were 1,748,068 tons—or about 440,000 tons ahead of last July.

Most hulls are both male and female.

Ghana President Calls on Red Chinese Leader

TOKYO — President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana paid a courtesy call on Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung Wednesday in Hang-chow, East China, the New China News Agency reported.

The visiting African leader was accompanied by Chinese Premier Chou En-lai.

JOHN W. CLARKE

John W. Clarke, 81, of B-20 Union Court died yesterday after a long illness.

He was a retired teacher in the public school system in Mayville, Mo., and a member of the Methodist Church there.

Mr. Clarke leaves two daughters, Mrs. Milton Mathis of Pontiac and Marjorie Ann Clarke of Almont; a granddaughter; and two great grandchildren.

Mr. Clarke's body was taken to the Voorhes-Siple Funeral Home to the Pilcher Funeral Home in Mayville for service Sunday. Burial will be in the Howells Cemetery.

ROBERT E. HILL

Graveside service was held this morning at the Oxford Cemetery for Robert E. Hill, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hill of 66 Pungree St. Arrangements were by the Plummer Funeral Home of Oxford.

Surviving besides his parents are two sisters, Susan and Sheryl, both at home.

Robert who was born Tuesday at Pontiac General Hospital died five hours after birth.

MRS. E. I. CRAWFORD

OXFORD — Service for Mrs. E. I. (Harriett) Crawford, 69, of 27 Denison St., will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Plummer Funeral Home. Burial will be in Ridgeway Cemetery.

Mrs. Crawford died unexpectedly of a stroke yesterday at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Pontiac. An employee of the Community National Bank, Pontiac, she was a member of the Oxford Congregational Church, Friday Night Bridge Club and the L.S. Society.

She is survived by a brother and a sister.

Says Shelters Could Save Up to 50 Million

CHICAGO (AP) — Construction of adequate fallout shelters could save the lives of 40 to 50 million persons caught in prime target areas of nuclear attack, the director of civil and defense mobilization said Wednesday.

"Civil defense should be the Christian thing to do," said federal official, Frank C. Ellis.

He added, "It's just the same as not committing suicide."

Ellis told the 26th annual conference of the National Association of County Officials his agency is embarking on a program to survey and improve existing shelters and to build fallout shelters in every new federal building.

He also said plans call for installation of shelters in all existing federal buildings.

MRS. WARREN B. EDWARDS

NORTH BRANCH—Mrs. Warren B. (Thelma) Edwards, 37, of 5881 Cedar Creek Road, died early today at Marlette Community Hospital after a long illness.

Her body is at Blackburn Funeral Home.

Surviving besides her husband are three daughters, Joyce M., Karen A. and Onalee; and two sons, Bryan and Norman, all at home; four sisters, Mrs. Ralph Lister, Mrs. James Parry and Mrs. Arnold Beauchamp, all of Pontiac; and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Clarkson; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Crosson of Pontiac, and two brothers.

To Open Bids on Section of U.S. 23 Freeway

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department will open bids Wednesday on the final section of the 330-mile Ohio-to-Mackinaw City Freeway.

The 3.6-mile project is on the U.S. 23 Freeway east of Ann Arbor, running from 194 north to Geddes Road. Completion is set for August, 1962.

With that project, 185 miles of the Ohio-to-Mackinaw City Freeway will be under construction. Another 145 miles are now in use.

Boycott of U.S. Ships Won't Tie Up Seaway

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. says a threatened boycott by a Canadian union of American shipping on the St. Lawrence Seaway would not seriously hamper seaway operations.

A spokesman said Wednesday the corporation assumed that the boycott would be only against ships on the Great Lakes and the seaway and not against ocean-going vessels. Most of the takers, he said, are owned by Canadians.

The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers Union has called for a boycott in retaliation against an American picket line at a Canadian-managed freighter at Duluth, Minn.

American dock workers have refused to cross the picket line and the ship has been tied up since July 20.

8 East Berlin Doctors Escape to West Sector

BERLIN (AP) — A private West Berlin intelligence agency, Information Bureau West, said today eight doctors from East Berlin—four of them women—managed to flee Monday and Tuesday.

The flight of physicians has been one of the Communist area's worst problems, with those remaining badly overworked.

Posters Slap Williams

MASERU, Basutoland (AP) — Posters reading "Freedom Now" and "Beware of the Americans" greeted G. Mennen Williams, U. S. assistant secretary of state for African

Drop 8-Mile Pool Suit; Owners Sell Property

A lawsuit to stop the so-called "freedom swimmers" from using an Oak Park swimming pool was dropped today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Wants Japan to Request Zone

Nation Propose Asian Nuclear-Free Area

TOKYO (UPI) — Anastas Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, suggested today that Japan propose a nuclear-free zone in Asia.

He said such a proposal by Japan, the world's only victim of atomic warfare, would "appeal to the world."

Stating that the Soviet Union would "be glad to join," he added that Japan should insist that the United States respect the proposed zone.

The visiting Russian leader gave no details of his suggested nuclear-free zone, but it appeared similar to previous proposals of Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai. Chou's plan would include all countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean, including the United States. Mikoyan made his suggestion in a far-ranging talk with Tokyo University President Seiji Kaya and some of the university's professors.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer ordered the case discontinued on a motion for dismissal from Wendell Brown, attorney for the pool's owners, Crystal Swimming Pools, Inc., of Detroit.

The owners are suing the property to Robert D. Gargano, a part owner of Gargano Co., Inc., a Detroit contracting firm. Brown said the present owners, who had owned the property since 1936, had been trying to sell the pool for several years.

Gargano was unavailable for comment on his plans for the future of the pool. It has not been operating since Aug. 7.

Judge Beer issued a temporary injunction June 14 against members of the Detroit Brotherhood Youth Council and Detroit Youth Congress of Racial Equality from interfering with the operation of the Crystal Pool, 15450 W. Eight Mile Road.

The youths began picketing after Negroes were denied admission to the pool.

Hospital Board Meeting Canceled: No Quorum

Tonight's regular monthly meeting of the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees, at which 1961-62 officers were to be elected, was canceled today for lack of a quorum.

It is expected that a substitute date for the August meeting will be arranged soon.

Hunt for Killer Near Adrian

Youths See Man Like Mike Gisondi, Involved in Hazel Park Case

ADRIAN, Mich. (U) — State police and sheriff's deputies today called on an intensive search of a heavily wooded area in Lonsdale County for killer Mike Gisondi but they kept the area under surveillance with a patrol car.

State police and sheriff's deputies today searched a heavily wooded area in Lonsdale County for killer Mike Gisondi, who has been missing from Southern Michigan Prison for the past week.

The officers were aided by a state police plane and four dogs. Gisondi was sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1963 murder of a Hazel Park bar owner, Vidon Vinokurov, 30, and his son, Joseph, 21, in their Oak Gardens Tavern, 21530 John R.

The search for the escaped killer started yesterday after two boys reported they saw a man fitting Gisondi's description near an abandoned cemetery off M52, 10 miles south of Adrian. Gerald Robertson, 10, and George Morgert, 12, of Jasper, a crossroads community in the area, said they had been playing in the cemetery when a strange man approached them. They said the man chased them when they started to run.

Set Arraignment for Pontiac Man in Street Shooting

A Pontiac man accused of shooting his mother-in-law in the midst of a carnival crowd celebrating Pontiac's Centennial in June faces arraignment in Circuit Court Monday on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum ordered Joel Rodgers, 35, of 433 California Ave., bound over to the higher court following examination yesterday.

Rodgers was remanded to the Oakland County Jail, with bond set at $5,000.

He is accused in the shooting of Mrs. Rose Lee Jones, 41, of 189 Bassett St., the evening of June 24, when he spotted her and his father-in-law, Roosevelt Jones, in the carnival crowd on Cass Avenue.

Jones told officers that he and his son-in-law had quarreled earlier over money. Mrs. Jones was shot once in the shoulder with a .25-caliber automatic.

The Romans are believed to have been the first to use aluminum potassium sulphate for water purification.

Koney Ignored U.S. Protest Until MP Stood Up to Russ

Gen. Clark Could Teach JFK How to Deal With Reds

By BOB CONRADINE
NEW YORK — If President Kennedy wants a good run-down on Marshal I. S. Koney, the veteran Red Army officer who is cracking the whip over his own and East Germany's military in the Berlin crisis, he should ask Gen. Mark Wayne Clark (Ret.), president of The Citadel, to drop by the White House for a chat.

"I began dealing with the Russians confident that I would be able to get along with them even though others failed," Gen. Clark writes in his "From the Dambore to the Yalu" (Harper).

"In this I was not alone. From Franklin D. Roosevelt on down, each American official who dealt with the Russians was confident at the outset that he was the one who could get along with them, that he was the one who finally could bring about the understanding that was necessary to realize the dream of One World of Peace."

The general's point of view was changed in the course of his relations with Soviet High Commissioner Koney in Vienna.

HARASS TRAINS

"I was in Austria (as U.S. high commissioner) just after the war. There, as in Germany, the American, British and French forces had but a co-bold in a capital city surrounded by the Russian Red Army."

"We had to go through Russian lines to get to our sector of Vienna. We even had to go through Russian lines to get from our sector of Vienna to our airport at Tullin."

"The Russians often stopped our trains, the Moscow Express, as it went through their zone between our headquarters in Vienna and our zone in Salzburg. Russian soldiers and officers, often drunk, boarded the train, waved guns, talked tough and sometimes robbed our men and women."

"I protested repeatedly to Koney, but failed to get any satisfaction. Finally I warned him formally and in writing that I had ordered our military police to keep Russian soldiers off our trains. I told him the effective date of the order."

Nothing changed. The Russians ignored my warning, continued to harass our trains.

FORCE WITH FORCE

"One day late in the winter of 1948 several Red Army officers and enlisted men forced their way aboard the Mozart Express. A captain named Klementiev threatened Sgt. Shirley B. Dixon of our military police with a pistol. Dixon persuaded him to lower the pistol but the argument continued."

"At last Klementiev started to make a move with his pistol. Dixon shot him dead and wounded a Russian lieutenant who tried to draw his gun."

"For six weeks Koney sent me protest after protest, each couched in the most vindictive language. Koney wanted Dixon's head."

wouldn't give it to him. Finally the protests ceased—and so had the interruptions in our train service between Vienna and Salzburg."

"I had had my first demonstration of the fact that it pays to be firm with the Russians."

In her testimony before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1947, when Elser was revealed as the top Communist spy in the United States, his sister Elfride looked at him with withering hate and said, "I consider Elser the perfect terrorist type. The fact that this man is my brother has only given me a deeper insight into the technique of the NKVD and the terror system it imposes on the peoples of Europe."

"Elser is responsible for the death of German Communist Hugo Ehrlich, the leader of Elser's own caucuses, and of Nikolai Bukharin, the great Russian theorist, his one-time friend and protector."

While out on bail, and appealing his conviction for contempt of Congress, Elser was spirited aboard the Polish liner Batory and made good his escape.

to New York and work in the United Nations. He may not make it.

Arrest Sarah Churchill on Drunkenness Charge

LONDON (UPI)—Sarah Churchill was arrested and charged with drunken and disorderly conduct on the street Wednesday night. The charge was dropped today after police testified that the 46-year-old daughter of Sir Winston Churchill was out on a pass from a hospital to which a court had sent her on a previous drunk conviction.

The letter "G" occurs most frequently in the English language.

OK School Bond Issue
TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Voters of East Bay Township, 3 miles north of Traverse City, have approved a $30,000 bond issue to finance addition of seven new classrooms, a library, a gymnasium and other facilities at East Bay School. The vote was 177 to 132.

Eugene McNeely New President of AT&T System

NEW YORK — Eugene J. McNeely, who started with the Bell System as a student engineer almost 40 years ago, was named president of the American Telephone & Telegraph System today.

He succeeds Frederick H. Kappel, president for five years, who now becomes chairman of the board. Kappel will continue as chief executive officer of the world's largest utility.

The board said the change was made "to most effectively meet the increasing complexities and long-range growth of the business."

Kappel was named president of AT&T Sept. 19, 1956.

The big utility, parent company of the Bell System, has had no chairman since May 1957 when Cleo Craig resigned.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said he agrees that the Communists have been taking a propaganda beating. He also counseled patience about countermeasures. Bridges, head of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, said he feels that the Communists are not going to keep the border closed long because of the effect of their action on world opinion.

Cuban Transformers Ripped by 2 Blasts

MIAMI, Fla. (U)—The Miami News says two bomb explosions shattered power transformers in two sections of Havana today. The newspaper said a blast soon after 1 a.m., one block from Radio CMQ, interrupted electric current in a wide area of the city. A second blast damaged a transformer in the Nuevo Vedado residential section, the News said it learned, and speculated the explosions were the start of another sabotage campaign by anti-Castro Cubans.

Car, Building Safest Ports in a Storm

TRENTON, N. J. (UPI)—Head for a car or a skyscraper when a summer storm breaks. You probably won't become part of lightning's annual death toll of 300 persons in the United States. The counsel is from the Medical Society of New Jersey.

It warns that lightning's typical victim stands in wet or damp clothes on beaches or exposed hilltops, or near wire fences, other metal structures or trees. No tree is a safe refuge, the society says. The most dangerous ones, in order, are the oak, elm, pine, ash, willow, poplar, spruce and maple.

Czech 'Braintrust' Cracks Iron Curtain

VIENNA, Austria (U)—A group of Czechoslovak intellectuals used their brains to break through the Iron Curtain.

They told Austrian police today they had made a study of the frontier and, when they found the weakest spot in the barbed wire entanglements and mine-fields, they tore through it on a heavy truck reinforced by steel side plates.

The group included an engineer, a professor and a lawyer. Authorities withheld their names.

Drunken Driver Fined

Anita R. Whalen, 40, of 791 pleaded guilty to drunken driving today before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum. She was fined $75 or 10 days in the Oakland County Jail if the fine is not paid.

U.S. Recouping Lost Prestige in Uruguay

By THOMAS J. STONE
PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay
(AP)—The United States has gone a long way at the conference table here in Uruguay toward winning back prestige lost on the entire hemisphere of 200 million invasion beaches of Cuba.

It has done this by offering an people a dreamed-of opportunity for a better way of life.

It is called the Alliance for Progress, a 10-year, $20-billion aid program conceived by President Kennedy.

There is one big string attached: Latin America must do its part by breaking down age-old barriers against economic and social progress. It will not be easy.

PROGRAM MAY FLOP

Some observers at the Inter-American Economic Conference feel that the program, although off to a flying start, may drop to the ground with a sickening thud. They point to the obstacles—corrupt administrations, lecherous, greedy landowners unwilling to relinquish their favored position, and tax evaders.

But the urgency of the challenge was underlined for many by the presence of Cuba's pro-Communist economic czar, Ernesto Guevara.

His aim here was to demonstrate with a surprising display of warmth that Cuba wants to stay in the family of democratic Latin American nations, although Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime has cast its economic lot with the Communist system and the Communist bloc of nations.

COEXISTENCE PLEA

It was a plea for coexistence, and Guevara assured the delegates the Castro regime is not exporting revolution. But he said his government "cannot promise that our example is not followed elsewhere" and that the first condition for economic improvement in Latin America is to put "political power in the hands of the working class."

It was a warning that was not lost on many of the delegates.

The U.S. delegation bent over backward not to offend the sensitive Latin and won respect by offering them a chance to help themselves with dignity.

U.S. Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon unemotionally set out the objectives of the Alliance for Progress. He did not rise to his feet, raise his voice or pound the table as Guevara had done. Instead he quietly explained what the United States is willing to do.

DILLON REPLIES

Only after the work of the conference was over, the final vote for the plan of action, did Dillon reply to Guevara. He said his purpose was to set the record straight.

The American Cabinet officer said the Cuban speech was a "flood of untruths and falsehoods." He singled out one, Guevara, said

1,300 Forest Fires Spotted in Northwest

MISSEOLA, Mont. (AP)—About 1,300 forest fires—all small—have broken out in the Pacific Northwest in recent days, touched off by lightning, the Forest Service reported Wednesday.

It said there undoubtedly are additional "sleeper" fires—which cannot be detected immediately but which might take off if wind comes.

The rash of fires is the worst of the season, it reported.

Some 1,000 of the fires are in Washington, Oregon and California, the Forest Service said, while there are 300 in Idaho and Western Montana.

Dillon, said "tried to give the impression of the present regime in will do." Dillon declared, "he who are still waiting and struggling to do so would be to betraying for the freedom of their country."

cause to do so would be to betraying for the freedom of their country."

They are (from left) Mrs. F. Ray Forman, adviser; Mrs. E. A. Miller, club president; and Mrs. T. J. Curtis, show chairman. Doors will be open from 3 to 10 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

Is Wed at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Harriet Jean Newman became the bride of Philip J. Gouin in a double-ring ceremony Saturday at St. Joseph Catholic Church. Rev. Vincent R. Myrick officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Hennig of 680 Oak Hill Road, Clarkston, and William Newman of Pleasant Ridge. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Gouin of 458 S. Bellevue St.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over ivory satin fashioned with a full skirt and long, printed sleeves. Flower appliques embroidered with pearls and sequins outlined the sweetheart neckline.

Her fingertip veil was held in place by a tiara of the matching flower appliques. She carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor was Elaine Landry of Avondale. Janet Swanson and Judy Chamberlain, both of Avondale, were bridesmaids.

Teresa and Kirk Hennig, sister and brother of the bride, were

Look Over Bids for New School

Expect Contracts to Be Given Wednesday in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Architects and school administrators are reviewing the bids on construction of the new West Junior High School prior to the expected awarding of contracts next Wednesday at 7:45 p.m.

The amount budgeted for the project is $1,112,000 and bids have been submitted that total within $1,000 of that amount, according to Richard F. Huizenga, assistant superintendent in charge of administration.

Construction of the new school on Old Perch Road, halfway between Avon Road and Walton Boulevard, is due to begin immediately after the contracts are awarded, Huizenga said.

The completion date is September 1962.

There were nine bidders on the general construction work, 17 on the mechanical work and 11 on the electrical work.

From four to nine companies bid on equipment.

The new school building will contain 25 teaching stations, a library, gymnasium and cafeteria and will accommodate 600 students. It is designed by Linn Smith and Associates of Birmingham.

The board of education also has hired a Detroit firm, Construction Consultants, for one year to handle a roof management program for completed school buildings.

The company will conduct periodic inspections of classroom buildings with built-up flat roofs, check for deterioration and supervise work on maintenance and upkeep.

The district will pay $675 for the service.

Celebration Marks 125th Year

Davisburg Milestone Set

DAVISBURG—The 125th anniversary observance of this village is expected to draw more than 6,000 visitors to the two-day program Saturday and Sunday.

The Davisburg Area Junior Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the event, has estimated the attendance on the celebration shows, toward the celebration by neighboring communities.

The population of the unincorporated village is less than 300, but according to Jayson President Harlan Hillman, all citizens have contributed their time and talents in planning the celebration.

A 10 a.m. parade Saturday will get the festivities under way.

Entered in the parade are more than 75 units, including floats, old and new cars, old trucks, a drum and fife corps, Indian dancers and bands.

The parade will form at Tindall Road and travel west on Davisburg Road, disbanding at the top of Church Hill at the end of the village.

NORTH-SOUTH SKIRMISH

The main event of the celebration, a North-South Skirmish, will begin after the parade in the Davisburg Park. Signs along the route will direct visitors to the shooting site.

The skirmish is sponsored by

the 8th Michigan Cavalry Civil War Unit and the local Jaysons.

The 20 units of the North-South Skirmish Association will encamp at the Davisburg Park during the two-day shooting event. There will be individual and unit competition both days.

The events include musket shooting at clay pigeons, swinging canisters, dinner plates, balloons and stakes.

Replicas of Civil War cannons also will be put to the test for accuracy. Each cannon unit will fire 10 rounds at a 12-inch bulls-eye from 100 yards.

Trophies will be given to beard growers judged best in six categories. Beard growers must register to be eligible for the contest which will be held in the Park at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Awards will be presented to the men with the fullest, nicest, trimmed and most pitiful beards.

There also will be awards for the best quater, the longest beard and the best Abraham Lincoln-type beard.

Judging the beard contest will be Mary Ellen Land, Miss Davisburg, and her four maids of honor, Caroline Bumpus, Mary Ann and Barbara Rothman and Paul Volkmann.

Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Land of 8021 Dille Road, was named queen last Saturday to reign over the celebration.

Following the skirmish Saturday, a Blue and Grey Ball will be held at the Park Pavilion.

Shooters and their wives will be dressed in costumes of the Civil War era.

Visitors from Pontiac are asked to wear the costumes they wore during the recent Pontiac Centennial.

Bankruptcy Referee Named and Assigned

DETROIT — Judges of the Eastern Michigan Federal Court District today named a fourth referee in bankruptcy and assigned him to the Bay City-Flint-Saginaw area.

The appointee to the $15,000-a-year job is Harold A. Botier, 53, a Flint attorney since 1943.

Will Bring Gifts for India Mission

Church in Commerce to Observe Its Annual 'Christmas in August'

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The annual "Christmas in August" observance at the Commerce Methodist Church will be held Sunday as members bring gifts to be sent to a mission in India.

For many years the Commission on Missions at the church has collected school supplies and clothing to be mailed to the Nathaniel Jordan Hostel in Moradabad.

The items are mailed in September to assure Christmas delivery.

Rev. and Mrs. Ross Bunco, formerly of Commerce Township, direct the activities of 120 boys at the mission school.

In the absence of Rev. Floyd W. Porter, local church pastor, four businessmen, members of the Birmingham Methodist Church, will be the guest speakers at the two Sunday services.

Their subject will be "What Christ Means to Me," with special reference to the business world.

Speaking at the 8 and 11 a.m. services will be William Hillier and Peter Blom. The other two men have not yet been named.

Missionary to Speak at Church Homecoming

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Rev. Glenn Hotchkins, who recently returned from five years service in Southern Rhodesia, will be the guest speaker Saturday at the annual homecoming at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church.

His report on missionary activities in the African country will follow a noon luncheon. The Women's Society of Christian Service will serve the meal.

School Bus Fatalities Down 2 During 1960

FAST LANSING — The number of rural school-bus-related accidents and resultant deaths decreased in Michigan in 1960, but injuries increased more than 43 per cent, the state police reported today.

Three persons were killed, according to the annual report — two fewer than in 1959. None of them were children. The 558 accidents reported represented a decline of four from the previous year. Some 346 persons were injured, however—an increase of 105 over 1959 totals, the report said.

Roast Beef Dinner

FOUR TOWNS — The Naamli Circle of Four Towns Methodist Church on Cooley Lake Road will serve a roast beef dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Top Soviet Chemist on Visit in Ottawa Defects to West

OTTAWA (AP)—A prize-winning Soviet chemist, Mikhail A. Klotchko, remained in a secret hideout today after slipping away from a party of visiting Soviet scientists and taking political asylum in Canada.

Klotchko, 36, had been awarded the Stalin Prize and Order of Lenin, indicating he stood well in Soviet scientific circles. He is a specialist in inorganic chemistry.

In Moscow the Soviet Foreign Ministry declined comment on the defection, spokesmen at the Soviet Academy of Sciences claimed they had never heard of Klotchko.

Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who took Klotchko under his protection, described him as a chemist of "considerable world importance."

Harvison said Wednesday night he preferred to let Klotchko tell his own story of what motivated his defection but that the Russian wanted a good night's sleep before deciding whether to meet newsmen.

Klotchko was in a group of Soviet scientists that came to Canada early in August for the 18th International Congress on Theoretical and Applied Chemistry in Montreal and stayed on to do some sightseeing.

Klotchko did not read a paper at the conference. Canadian scientists who saw him there described him as a man of medium height, thin face, ruddy complexion, gray hair and a small mustache. He is a widower with no family in the Soviet Union, they said.

Dr. Alan D. Westland, assistant professor of chemistry at the University of Ottawa, said he had glanced over some of Klotchko's published work and on the basis of these doubted his defection would be of strategic importance to Canada.

The published work was largely concerned with electrical properties and a study of photoconductors, Westland said.

U.S. scientists said chemistry is not one of the stronger sciences in the Soviet Union and it gives a back-seat financial status to such others as space research, mathematics, physics and astronomy. There was some speculation that Klotchko was dissatisfied with conditions of his work.

The Russian's request for asylum was granted on humanitarian grounds under Canadian policy of providing a haven for anyone from behind the Iron Curtain wishing it, a government official said.

Says E. Berlin Grateful for Border Closing

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party paper claimed today that East Berliners are so grateful that the Berlin border has been closed that they are bringing flowers to border guards.

That was reported in a dispatch from Berlin by the paper's correspondent, Vladimir Kuznetsov. The article is typical of how Soviet newspapers are reporting on Berlin events.

Kuznetsov quoted an elderly woman whom he named as saying "those who have good neighbors need not surround their house with barbed wire but if wolves are wandering in the vicinity one has to erect a good fence. When West Berlin stops being a 'front-city' and is a free city then we will open our doors widely."

Brandt Letter Draws Presidential Silence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Kennedy has received but has no comment on a letter from Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin.

Brandt told a crowd of cheering Germans that he had written Kennedy saying "Berlin expects more than words, it expects political action" over the Communist blockade in the city.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said there was no comment. He would not forecast whether the President would reply to Brandt.

U.S. Deals Out $3.1 Billion for State Highways

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government today apportioned $3.1 billion to the states for highway and "road" work for the fiscal year 1963 which begins July 1, 1962.

The big allotments were made by the Commerce Department at the direction of President Kennedy.

Explaining why they were made so far in advance, the White House said in a statement: "The President's action today provides almost a full year's lead time to the states for adequate planning of the surveys, right of way acquisition, and construction to be accomplished with the federal aid funds thus assuring orderly progress in the program."

New Congo Premier Talks With Gizenga

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Cyrille Adoula today conferred for two hours with Lumumbist leader Antoine Gizenga in an effort to solidify control of the new central government over the strife-torn Congo.

The meeting took place in Gizenga's residence at Stanleyville, where Adoula Wednesday received a warm welcome from the population once hostile to the Leopoldville government.

Many Ethiopians consider their emperor, Haile Selassie, a direct descendant of the Biblical King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

School Aid Bill Revival Seen

Ribicoff and Powell Optimistic on Passage of Kennedy's Program

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Cabinet officer and the chairman of the House Education Committee predicted today that a good portion of President Kennedy's embattled education program would be revived and passed this year.

The forecast came from Abraham A. Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., of the House Education Committee after a closed meeting on a last-gasp effort to save school aid legislation.

One of the participants in the meeting was Rep. James J. Delaney, D-N. Y., whose vote on the House Rules Committee was the deciding factor that tabbed the original Kennedy school aid bill last month.

But Delaney strode out of the meeting ahead of Ribicoff and Powell and told reporters he had agreed to nothing and heard nothing to change his mind.

The development came as Democratic leaders worked on a new version of what he produced package designed to pose in different education bills.

Neither Pear Nor Apple, This Fruit's a 'Peppie'

MALMOE, Sweden (AP)—Swedish scientists announced Wednesday the crossing of a pear and an apple into a hybrid fruit said to have all the qualities of both.

Prof. Nils Nybom of the Balsaard Institute for Plant Improvement tentatively labeled the experimental fruit a "peppie."

He CAN Get the Ax

Smart Executive Knows What's What

NEW YORK (UPI)—One of the most important things for any modern executive is to be able to recognize the signs that he is in danger of being fired. That is particularly true in such volatile fields as advertising and marketing, but it's important for all executives. According to Printers' Ink, many executives who are realists about other things cherish the illusion that because firing a chap with a big head of expensive pay coming to him is expensive nowadays, he is safer than executives were in the old days.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Executives may never run up to enough money to force a firm to keep on a man who really is not wanted.

And in this era of stiff competition, mergers and necessary expense cutbacks, dismissals of capable executives may be dictated by reasons having nothing to do with their ability.

And nepotism hasn't entirely vanished as a reason for getting rid of a good but expensive man. The cardinal sin, executive recruiters say, is not getting shoved out—but not to be able to see it coming and start looking around in time. Next to that is pushing the panic button because of fancied slights and starting to look for another job too soon.

In fact, an executive should go straight to the head man and ask bluntly where he stands when, after careful observation, he decides he really is in danger.

As for the signs that the ax is being sharpened, the recruiters say the most important ones are—

1.—Are you being left out of conferences you used to attend regularly? Are you no longer cut in for carbons of correspondence that used to come to your desk every day?

2.—Are all your suggestions ignored or parried, even if you know they are good? If so, it may mean nobody wants to be under obligation to a guy who is on the way out.

3.—Have you been bypassed at a time when other executives were getting salary raises?

4.—Has your authority been questioned seriously, either from above or by chaps on your own level?

5.—Have you had some important responsibilities taken away from you without a satisfactory explanation?

6.—Does your boss show a reluctance to give you any longer assignments or real plunk?

7.—If you have a new boss and he shows a tendency not to talk to you, this could mean he is considering cutting you off or wants his own man in your place.

You're Lonely if You Tell the Truth So Read On:

By PHILIP BATTLE

NEW YORK — Are you an honest person?

Do you meet friends after 15 years and tell them they have aged badly? Do you advise mothers of newborn babies that their progeny are wise? When asked how you feel, do you really tell people?

Well then, you have integrity. Also, probably, a lonely life. Perhaps you need advice and/or diversion. So here are some thoughts about honesty—on and off the record:

"There's one way to find out if a man is honest—ask him. If he says 'You know he is crooked.' —Groucho Marx

"Before your 40th birthday keep circulating the story that you're 39. If people hear it often enough they'll believe it for years." —Jack Benny

"If you love me, as I love you, 'We'll both be friendly and untrue.' —Samuel Hoffenstein

"You are very lucky not to understand abstract art. A great deal of it—all those blobs, all that smearing—are nothing more than evidence of the artist's personality going haywire!" —Artist I. Rice Pereira

"The confidence man has honesty always on his lips." —D. D. Runes

"I would advise you, my gentlemen friends: Study woman as does an anthropologist, part by part, action by action, mood by mood, and perhaps you will eventually come up with some idea about just what makes your wife react as she does. She is superior to you in most every way except brute force and long-range thinking, more tender and yet more cruel, more yielding yet more determined, more innocent and yet more filled with guile, and firm in her belief that anything you can do, she can do better. And damn it, too often she is right." —Dr. Joseph Peck

"A person whose hair was once raven can't suddenly arrive with pure white hair or, what's even worse, with no hair at all—and say, 'You know, you haven't changed at all'—without risking the rejoinder of 'Well, Toots, you sure have!'" —Cornelia Otis Skinner

"Nine of the Ten Commandments are negative. If throughout life you abstain from murder, theft, adultery, perjury, blasphemy and disrespect toward your parents, your church and your kind, you are conventionally held to deserve moral admiration even if you have never done a single kind or generous or useful action. This very inadequate notion of virtue is an outcome of taboo morality, and has done untold harm." —Bertrand Russell

"I never give them hell. I just tell the truth, and they think it is hell." —Harry Truman

"Honesty is the best policy—next to this new, safe, sure, life-endowment policy we're offering for the first time..." —Friendly Insurance agent

"By the time you wear you're his." —Shivering and sighing.

"And he vows his passion is infinite, undying." —Infinite, undying.

"Lady, make a note of this: 'One of you is lying.'" —Dorothy Parker

"It is well known that the older a man grows, the faster he could run as a boy." —Red Smith

"No man dare write the truth about marriage while his wife lives, unless he hates her." —George Bernard Shaw

Raspberry Glaze Try Ground Lamb Dish Tops Melon Pie

A delicious, easy-to-prepare dessert that is sure to be the talk of the dinner table is this beautiful Glazed Cantaloupe Pie. Western-grown cantaloupe balls are topped with a raspberry glaze and all is served in a tempting crumb crust.

Glazed Cantaloupe Pie
1 1/2 cups vanilla wafer (about 36) crumbs
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup raspberry jam
1 can (10-oz.) frozen lemon-raspberry juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cherry or walnut, as desired
Combine crumbs, with melted butter, mix well. Pat crumb mixture into 9-inch pie plate, pressing firmly along the sides and bottom of the dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes; cool.

Spoon melon balls into prepared crust. Gradually add water in cornstarch, stirring until smooth. Add to punch and simmer, stirring constantly, until thickened and smooth. Remove from heat; add butter and cherry. Pour over melon balls. Chill several hours.

May be served plain or garnished with commercial sour cream and additional melon balls. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

Plentiful Foods for August Are Varied and Colorful

Homemakers, you won't have to worry about lagging summer-time appetites when you avail yourself of foods which will be plentiful during August.

The List of Plentiful Foods published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture includes foods which, served alone, or in combinations, are sure to please all members of the family. Not only that, but several of the foods can just as easily be cooked on the backyard grill as in the kitchen.

Heading the list are turkeys. Marketings of turkeys during August are expected to be about one-fourth larger than last year. And the good news for you consumers... and we fear that only consumers will view it as such... is that turkey prices are expected to be lowest since before World War II. There will be plenty of turkeys of all sizes, small ones for outdoor grilling and larger birds for roasting in the oven.

Shrimp are likewise in abundance, and they, too, offer some interesting possibilities for the backyard chef. For quick, easy meals, you'll find breaded shrimp a sure time-saver, and pre-cooked shrimp are cocktail ready.

Supplies of that summer-time favorite... peaches... are running about 20 per cent above average. The family will love them

Lamb ground, blended with a preheated 325 degree oven for 45 minutes. Cut into squares and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Here, the sauce for topping is made from a tomato soup mix. By mixing half of the sauce with the ground lamb, and add juices and flavor, and the other half of the sauce used for topping gives a crusty, appetizing look to the baked lamb.

It's a good main course in use for patio outdoor dining. With it you could serve creamed or scalloped potatoes, corn on the cob, raw vegetable relishes and watermelon.

Savory Baked Lamb
1 package (12 1/2 ounces) tomato soup mix
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 pound ground lamb
Place soup mix in saucepan. Gradually stir in water, bring to a boil, simmer 2 minutes, then add margarine and salt. Boil. Mix one half of the tomato sauce with the lamb.

Pat lamb evenly into a 6x10 inch greased baking pan, or a 1 quart shallow casserole. Spread remaining sauce over the top. Bake in

Put Swedish Fish Pudding on Buffet Table

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Have you ever tasted Swedish Fish Pudding — one of the most famous of Scandinavian dishes? We had always wanted to prepare this dish but the authentic recipes we came upon called for large amounts of butter and heavy

Dry Milk a Bonus in Tasty Cookies

Brown sugar gives these cookies a flavor youngsters cherish. Press them so they will be crisp, rather than hard!

Butterscotch Cookies
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot dry milk solids
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup dark brown sugar (firmly packed)
2 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg and 1 egg white
1/2 cup (about) finely chopped nuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt; stir in the dry milk. Cream butter and sugar; beat in the vanilla and whole egg. Stir in dry ingredients. Chill. Form into balls, using 1 tablespoon of the mixture for each. Place several inches apart on greased cookie sheets; press down so cookies are thin.

Brush with egg white; sprinkle with nuts. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until browned — 8 to 10 minutes. Makes about 6 dozen.

cream that are too rich for ordinary family use.

Then a friend sent us her recipe for a delicious but every day Swedish Fish Pudding. To arrive at this rule, our friend used three recipes translated from all-Swedish cook books, taking some of the features of each. We promptly tried this version and can recommend it as a delightful family supper dish. It is excellent, also, for a company luncheon or as one of the hot dishes on a supper-party smorgasbord.

You'll find that boiled new potatoes with fresh dill or parsley butter and Scandinavian-style marinated cucumbers are perfect go-alongs for this fish pudding.

If Swedish anchovies (different from those usually used in our country) are available, you can follow Scandinavian tradition and add one to the fish pudding, putting the anchovy through the food chopper with the fat.

The sauce accompanying this pudding includes shrimp, but it is entirely appropriate to substitute cooked lobster or sautéed mushrooms for the shrimp.

Swedish Fish Pudding
1/2 cup sifted fine dry bread crumbs
1/2 pound fish fillets (fresh or frozen)
1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup light cream

Butter a loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches); sprinkle bread crumbs evenly over bottom and sides. Pull raw fish fillets through coarse blade of food chopper twice; now put through fine blade twice, adding butter with fish the last time. Mix in flour, salt and pepper.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; stir into fish mixture. Gradually beat in cream with rotary beater (hand or electric).

With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into fish mixture.

Turn into prepared pan; cover tightly with foil. Place pan in another larger pan; pour boiling water into outer pan so it comes 1/2 way up pan holding fish mixture. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out and serve at once with Shrimp Sauce.

NOTE: If you have a 5-cup fish-shaped ceramic mold, you may use it instead of the loaf pan suggested for baking the pudding. Use directions for preparing loaf pan for the mold.

Shrimp Sauce
1 package (1 to 10 ounces) frozen raw shrimp
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup light cream

Simmer shrimp in Court Bouillon until pink and firm — 3 to 5 minutes. Drain, reserving stock.

If necessary, shell and devein shrimp; chop. In a 1-quart saucepan melt butter over low heat; stir in flour. Add 1 cup of the reserved stock and the milk; cook ened. Add salt and pepper to taste and chopped shrimp; reheat. Serve with Swedish Fish Pudding.

COURT BOUILLON: Bring to a boil in a saucepan 1/2 cup sliced celery, 2 cups water, 2 slices lemon, 1 teaspoon salt, 5 peppercorns, 1 bay leaf, simmer 5 minutes. Use as directed in Shrimp Sauce recipe.

Summer Luncheon
Toss together 2 cups cubed, cooked ham, 2 cups cubed, cooked turkey, 4 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 2 chopped tomatoes. Mix 1 cup mayonnaise with 2 tablespoons prepared mustard and 1 teaspoon curry powder. Spoon dressing over salad; arrange on bed of lettuce. Serve with satiny crackers. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Should a recipe call for a pound of ground cooked meat, you'll need about four cups.

Golden Dessert Looks Cooling

This gelatin dessert is such a pretty clear color, you'll enjoy serving it.

Bonnie's Golden Glim
1 box (11 ounces) unflavored orange gelatin (13 ounces) peach-flavored gelatin
Drain oranges thoroughly; add enough water to the syrup to make 2 cups; heat until almost boiling.

Add hot syrup mixture to gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved; cool. Add drained oranges; turn into a 2-cup bowl or similar container; chill until set. Loosen sides of gelatin from bowl; dip bowl in hot water; unmold. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Should a recipe call for a pound of ground cooked meat, you'll need about four cups.

Takes Very Little Time to Make Creole Shrimp

Shrimp Creole makes a simple but elegant patio dish. Sauté ½ cup finely chopped green pepper, ¼ cup chopped celery, 1 medium sized onion, chopped, in 1 stick butter in blazer pan of chafing dish. When vegetables are tender, add 1 can condensed tomato soup, 1 teaspoon vinegar. Simmer 10 minutes.

Add 2 cups canned or fresh shrimp, season to taste and heat thoroughly. Serve over beds of fluffy buttered rice, 6 servings.

De Gaulle Talks Tough About Nikita and Berlin

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
 PARIS (UPI) — If there's one Western leader who can be counted on to play it tough in the Berlin crisis, it's President Charles de Gaulle of France.

De Gaulle has taken the line that the West should in no circumstances make the first move to negotiate with Khrushchev on Berlin.

When U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk called on De Gaulle

after the Paris foreign ministers' talks 10 days ago he found him in no mood to budge under to Nikita Khrushchev.

The Western Allies are in Berlin by right of international agreements with the Russians, he argued, and an offer to negotiate would merely be taken as a sign of weakness.

In any case, according to De Gaulle's reasoning, negotiation could not improve the Western position in Berlin and might very seriously weaken it.

Let Khrushchev make the first move to De Gaulle's argument.

The clanking down of the Iron Curtain through the heart of Berlin by the Reds on Sunday merely firmed up De Gaulle's determination to give nothing away.

Whether De Gaulle's France has the strength to back up his tough stand, of course, is a question.

Right now France has only two divisions committed to NATO. The flower of her army still is tied up in Algeria.

France is embroiled with Tunisia in a dispute over her big atom-proof naval base at Bizerte with another punishing U.N. General Assembly debate on the conflict set for next week.

At home there have been repeated threats of a new "putch" attempt by extreme rightists to oust De Gaulle.

FARMERS SEETHING
 French police are powerless to stop the rash of "plastic bomb" explosions nightly in Paris and other French cities.

French farmers are seething with revolt.

But De Gaulle is not a man to be deterred easily by trouble or apparent long odds against him.

He proved that first when he raised the Free French Banner in June, 1940.

He proved it again when he defied the disapproval of his allies by exploding France's first atom-bomb, when he refused to let nuclear weapons be stockpiled in France and when he publicly denounced both NATO and the United Nations.

Sales to Reduce Car Stockpile

Expect Cut in Inventory to Affect UAW Decision to Strike

DETROIT (U) — An upsurge of sales is expected to reduce the stockpile of new cars to a 18-month low of approximately 635,000 by the end of this month, Ward's Automotive Reports said Wednesday.

A year ago on Aug. 21 the new car inventory totalled 890,000.

The size of the stockpile may be a factor in whether or not the United Auto Workers Union will decide on strike action in its current negotiations with the car makers on new labor contracts. Present contracts expire Aug. 31.

In negotiations three years ago the auto workers decided against strike action when there was a backlog of nearly 1 million new cars.

Ward's said the new car stockpile on Aug. 10 dropped to an estimated 755,000 units from 890,000 on July 31.

"The bright August sales pace," Ward's said, "is expected to send the '62 model inventory plummeting to 565,000 and the combined '61 and '62 stocks to a 18-month low of approximately 635,000 by the end of this month."

The statistical service said Aug. 1-10 new car sales totaled 141,486 units for a daily rate of 15,723. It added, "This figured to 91 per cent of the 17,323 daily average a year ago when 155,990 were sold. July sales were 420,025, or 18,801 daily."

Polio Cases Down 95%

NEW YORK (UPI) — Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, said that paralytic polio cases for 1961 will be 95 per cent below the 1954 pre-Salk vaccine figure.

The Roads Look Better

U.S. on Wheels: Sloppy Pack Rats

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Well, I'll tell you, few of us heading for the open road ever would make one of those best dressed lists.

Let's face it. We of the motorizing people are something less than chic. Comfortable maybe, if comfort and sloppiness are synonymous.

But observing what is de rigueur for the highway during a trip through the Middle Atlantic states leads me to conclude the fashion industry is missing a massive opportunity.

In recent years, stylists have turned their talents to clothes for boating, skiing, golfing, bowling and other leisure time activities. Now, how about fashions for the road to make us look like the 1930s instead of the Okies of the 1930s.

For after 1,700 miles, and it seemed just as many Howard Johnson's, I wearied terribly of my Bermuda shorts and sleeveless blouses and finally switched to shirtmaker dresses. I wearied also of my thousands of slaters in similar Bermudas or tendor trousers. Don't argue with me either that those trousers which fit like a sausage casing are more comfortable than the shirt-waister.

NO BEAU BRUMMELS
Any why is it, I found myself asking, that the heavier the woman, the noisier the pattern of her slacks or slacks. The men don't come off exactly as Beau Brummels either. No one is going to argue the cause of a necktie when it's 85 degrees on the road. But isn't there some way to discard the tie without looking seedy?

So fashion leaders, get busy. The challenge is there. The time has come to put some starch back into the drip-dry era.

No More Cherry Pie Contest

GRAND RAPIDS UP — A 27-year-old Michigan competition for girls ended with announcement Wednesday by the National Red Cherry Institute that it is discontinuing its cherry pie baking contest.

The contest each year had drawn state winners to Chicago for a banquet to determine a national champion. Bonnie Brumley of Bear Lake won the Michigan title last winter, the 27th annual competition sponsored by the Michigan Canner's & Freezers Association, the Michigan Cherry Producers Association and the Michigan Cherry Commission.

Reed M. Roberts, Michigan sponsors' spokesman, said the pie baking contest is being replaced by a new promotional program.

The National Institute, Roberts explained, is developing a nationwide cherry dessert recipe contest. Details are being mailed to high school home economics teachers. Any girl in any high school, said Roberts, will be eligible to submit a recipe directly to the National Red Cherry Institute at Chicago, which will select a winner.

Some other thoughts from a touring notebook.
—We've turned into a nation of pack rats on the road. What families can't crowd into trunk and rear-view window space goes out on top of the car—baby carriages, tricycles, cooking utensils and the tent for the night. It used to be that these "trunks" on top were wrapped securely in heavy canvas. Now, the families use plastic which, caught in a breeze at 70 miles an hour, becomes a tattered banner waving a defiant salute to togetherness and posing a hazard to the motorist behind should the covering whip loose.

—Our national dishes are ketchup, French fries and cole slaw, in that order of popularity.

ity. Runners-up are hamburgers and park barbecues.
—All of the keep-America and keep-your-state-clean campaigns seem to be paying off. Littering was rare both on the main highways and the less traveled roads than in previous motor trips. Most states support their clean-up campaigns with plenty of litter barrels spaced regularly and fines for the litterbug.

—Some filling stations could adopt a clean-up campaign of their own for rest rooms. Many service stations live up to their "clean" label, but suffer from the others which leave rest rooms looking as if this country had a shortage of soap.
—A how to filling station attendant, however. They con-time to serve the motoring public with all the extras like cleaned windshields and travel advice without ever extending the hand for a tip.

—A word of appreciation also for the courteous men who patrol the highways to help make those "drive safely" slogans pay off.

—I'll miss those you-know-what shave signs on the highways. They were as much a part of my growing up as the white horses and tobacco sign-painted barns we children counted on a trip. But the company says it will use other means of selling its products, depriving us of such gems as the warning: Drive safely, pard; that marble slab is awfully hard."

New patio furniture presented to Pontiac State Hospital by the Waterford Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association, is admired by Mrs. Fred Bohlman, president, at left;

Mrs. Lester Enos, new volunteer; Mrs. Garrett Prible, hortotherapy co-chairman and Mrs. Cecil Dumbriege, staff occupational therapist.

Garden Therapy Efforts Rewarded

By MADELEINE DOKEREN
The old Spanish proverb "More grows in the garden than the gardener has sown" certainly is reflected in the attitude of most of the patients on the occupational therapy rolls at Pontiac State Hospital. Eight area garden clubs participate in the horticultural therapy program inaugurated at the hospital by Alice Wesels Buringame, noted garden expert, writer and lecturer.

The Waterford Branch Women's National Farm and Garden Association has sponsored the fourth therapy unit directed by Mrs. Cecil Dumbriege, staff occupational therapist in February 1 and 2.

Mrs. Garrett Prible of the Waterford WNF&GA designed the long crescent-shaped flower bed and purchased the original plant material. The group is building a colored, flagstone patio in a secluded corner near the garden plot and has purchased outdoor tables, chairs and lounges for the use of the patients.

Each Wednesday morning, weather permitting, infirm patients follow a program planned by the volunteer group: planting, cultivating and pruning the flower bed. In cold weather, they study bird life indoors and learn to make corsages and flower arrangements.

The patients receive refreshments at each session and birthdays of the patients are honored as they occur. Holidays that fall within the week are observed at a small party.

Nursery School Opens Sept. 18

Fixing Up for the Tots

Teachers, parents and enrollment chairman at the Pontiac Cooperative Nursery School are preparing for the fall term which will begin Sept. 18.

Several openings still are available for the session. Interested parents whose child's third birthday occurred by December 1960 may call enrollment chairman—Mrs. Frank Sias of Dellwood Street, Drayton Plains. Mrs. Harold Jacobson of Interlaken Road may be phoned by mothers of youngsters whose fourth birthday was by December 1960.

The school is conducted in two spacious and attractively decorated rooms at the First Free Methodist Church on Mt. Clemens Street near East Boulevard.

Classes for three-year-olds are two hours long on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Four-year-olds meet Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at the same time.

Each morning the children are served juice and crackers or cookies and spend a quiet time for a brief period of conversation.

The shy child gains confidence quickly at Pontiac Cooperative Nursery School with the understanding of attentive and patient teachers. Introducing herself to Mike Martin, 4, of Oakshire Avenue, at a get-acquainted meeting, Mrs. Joseph Anderson of West Iroquois Road proceeds to share an animal story.

His Wires Are Crossed—Abby

Call Better Business Bureau

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My TV set started to act up, and I couldn't get the channel I had the most use for, so I called a TV repair man who lives near me. I thought he was a good family man.

He looked at the set and I told him, before he started to fix anything, I had to know how much it was going to cost me.

He said that all depended on how nice I was to him. I thought he was kidding, so I let him take the set to his shop.

I called him five times in two weeks and asked him when he was bringing my set back. He said, "When you tell me your husband isn't home."

I told him it was strictly business, but he hasn't returned my set yet. Should I call his wife or tell my husband? What does a respectable woman do in a case like that?

NO CHANNELS
DEAR NO: Call the Better Business Bureau and report this chisel. His mind is running in channels for which you have no use.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a son who goes away to the Army and leaves his automobile for his girl friend to drive, while his own father takes the bus to work?

Not only that, but this young man sends his Army pay check to this girl to save for him. He writes to her every day, and the only way his parents know he is living is when she rings up and gives us his regards.

ONLY HIS PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Your son felt pretty hard, but there is no excuse for ignoring his parents. Pray that he will soon realize that a big man has love enough for his girl and his parents.

DEAR ABBY: This year we are having our first taste of barbecue dinners. I ask you, is there a host or hostess who knows how to barbecue? We're sick and tired of eating raw, charred meat and chicken. I enjoy eating outdoors, but who can eat food that is burned on the outside and raw on the inside? And that horrible sauce they paint everything with is murder!

I'll stick to my old reliable controlled-heat oven. Thank you.

PEGGY

DEAR PEGGY: When you accept a dinner invitation for food prepared outdoors, you get no guaranty that the food will be properly cooked and seasoned. If you like the company, go or take your chances, indoors or out.

Invitation Depends on Work Day

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: Our office is planning an outing which will take place fairly early in the morning by bus and travel to a distant spot where a picnic type lunch will be served. There will be a baseball game in the afternoon and we will return home about seven or eight in the evening.

None of the wives or husbands of the married employees are invited. I think it is improper to omit them and that they should definitely be invited to come along. What is your opinion?

A: If the outing is to be held on a work day, it is not necessary to invite the wives and husbands of the employees. But if it is to take place on a Saturday or Sunday, it is not fair to the wives or husbands to be left home alone all day and they should be invited to go along.

Q: I am going to be married in a few months and have run into a problem concerning the wedding of my wedding invitations. My father and mother live approximately one thousand miles away from here and will not be able to attend my wedding because of ill health.

I would like to know if it would be proper to have their names on the invitations even though they will not be present or should my fiancé and I send out our own invitations? A: Your parents can hardly invite people to a wedding at which they themselves will not be present, and in this case you and your fiancé would send your own invitations.

Q: Is it a breach of etiquette not to say "God bless you" when a person sneezes? There have been many pros and cons regarding this matter and we would appreciate your opinion. A: Although many, perhaps even most people, do say "God bless you" to a person who sneezes, it is certainly not a breach of etiquette not to say it.

Unit Plays Games

Shuffleboard and other games were played when The Reliable Twelve Club met at Oakland Park Tuesday for its annual picnic.

Four guests were present for the cooperative luncheon.

Emma Elaine Eubanks Weds Vernon T. Hossack

Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian was the setting for Friday evening vows of Emma Elaine Eubanks to Vernon T. Hossack, pledged before Rev. Edward D. Auchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eubanks were hosts at their daughter's reception in West Acres Club House following the ceremony. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clark W. McFee of Hessel and the late Vernon Hossack.

Abscon lace applique enhanced the bridal gown of white silk taffeta styled with bell skirt and chapel train. Pale pink carnations centered the bridal cascade of white gladioli and greens. A lace and taffeta headpiece caught the fingertip veil of silk illusion.

Maid of honor Peggy Luke of Rochester and bridesmaid Sue Goodrich of New Hudson wore identical dresses of aqua taffeta with bouffant overskirts. They held cascade bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Lori Eubanks, flower girl for her aunt, wore white embroidered organza sashed in aqua taffeta and carried a nosegay of pink gladioli and carnations.

On the esquire side were Glenn Ehle of Hessel with ushers Ronald Pearson and Ronald Drake of Pontiac and the bride's brother Earl Eubanks of Rochester.

After a Canadian honeymoon, the couple will live on Charbone Road at Cooley Lake.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Eubanks chose cotton blue silk organza with matching hat and shoes. White cymbidium orchids rested on her beaded purse. The mother of the bridegroom, at-tired in beige lace with matching hat, gloves and shoes, wore green cymbidium orchids.

Host Miss Smith at 3 Showers; to Wed Sept. 2

Janice Lynn Smith, who will become the bride of Charles R. Green Sept. 2 in All Saints Episcopal Church, has been feted at three recent showers.

Kristine Hartman at Watkins Lake gave a recent miscellaneous shower and Lucretia Creighton entertained for the bride-elect in the home of Mrs. William Stults on Overridge Drive, Watford Township.

Parents of the engaged couple are Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Smith of Terrell Street, Watford, and the Charles F. Greens of Upper Long Lake, Bloomfield Township.

First color photographs were made by James Maxwell, a Scotch physicist, in about the year 1861.

What Young People Think:

Wheel, Bible and Phone Rated as 'Musts'

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research Inc.

Let's play a game of "just pretend." Suppose you know civilization is to be destroyed, but there is a ponsibility that after many years a new civilization will evolve. And suppose that somehow you can preserve one article to help that new civilization's people build a new life.

What one item would you choose?

The wheel?
Dried seeds to plant?
The Bible?
A history book?
The telephone?

Those items, in that order, are the ones chosen by a thousand of your fellow teenagers when we asked them to play the game in one of our recent nationwide surveys.

If the item they could save were limited to a book, they decided their first choice would be the Bible, second choice a history book and third the dictionary.

We also asked these young people to name the books which have been most helpful to them, the books they like best, and the books they dislike most.

PLAY THE GAME

If you would like to play the game too, write down the names of the three books that have been most helpful to you, the three you like best and the three you most dislike. Then you can compare them with the answers which will appear later in this story.

Now, let's go back to "just pretend."

In choosing an item, 13 per cent of the youngsters named the wheel as the one they would save—14 per cent of the boys and 12 per cent of the girls.

Why?

"Civilization has rolled along on the wheel," explains 17-year-old Daniel A. Nassbaum of Island Park, N.Y.

It would be "the basis for all types of tools and machinery and would give civilization a tremendous head start," says Harriet Goldman, 15, of Philadelphia.

But 12 per cent—18 per cent of the boys and 7 per cent of the girls—named seeds. Obviously to provide food. Another 12 per cent—this time 14 per cent of the girls and 10 per cent of the boys—named a history book because, in the words of Gail Rothchild, 14, of Cresskill, N.J., "It would provide them with a record of our civilization and show them what pitfalls to avoid."

Nine per cent chose the Bible. "It contains the guide to the correct way of life," explains Ruth Bloom, 19, of Seattle.

And 4 per cent named the telephone for communication, possibly thinking of it as a necessary ingredient of teenage romance.

ELECTRONIC BRAIN

Some other notable suggestions were:

An electronic brain. "Directions for producing all other machines and developments could be recorded in the computer," says 17-year-old Florence Evans of Philadelphia.

A copy of the Constitution. "Then the roots of new government would be directed properly for future generations," says Dennis Becker, 14, of Kansas City, Mo.

An intelligent human being. "Who could give them more information about us than one of us?" asks Ann Blackman, 15, of Tenafly, N.J.

What if it were only a book that could be saved?

Almost half—49 per cent—named the Bible. Twelve per cent chose a history book, 3 per cent a dictionary—"It would help establish a language," says Pat Alver, 17, of Brooklyn—and 30 per cent named other volumes.

One of 10 agents from Puerto Rico visiting Michigan, Rosa Sanchez discusses service training for food-marketing ideas in mass media communication with Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information agent of Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University. The group's orientation includes a workshop at MSU and traveling around the state with various marketing agents. Among those first sponsored by the University of Puerto Rico, Miss Sanchez plans to work at Rio Piedras starting in September.

Among the others were: "The Sayings of Confucius," an encyclopedia; "Battle Cry"; "A Tale of Two Cities"; "The Bible"; "David Copperfield"; "Pride and Prejudice"; and "Kon Tiki."

BIBLE IS TOPS

Now let's look at the book lists. Among the ones which have been most helpful, our 942 teenagers named (1) the Bible, (2) "David Copperfield" and the dictionary, (3) "A Tale of Two Cities" and "Arrowsmith."

The favorite book list shows: (1) "Come With the Wind," (2) "Arrowsmith" and the Bible.

(3) "The Good Earth," (4) "The Bible," (5) "Battle Cry," (6) "A Tale of Two Cities," (7) "The Bible," (8) "David Copperfield" and "The Diary of Anne Frank." The list of most disliked books follows:

(1) "A Tale of Two Cities," (2) "Ivanhoe" and the plays of Shakespeare, (3) "Peyton Place," (4) "David Copperfield" and "Pride and Prejudice," and (5) "Silas Marner" and "Kon Tiki."

Charles Dickens apparently appeals to the girls, but not the boys. Two of his books, "A Tale of Two Cities" and "David Copperfield," appeared on the most liked list through the support of the girls and on the most disliked list because of opposition from the boys.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind of South Johnson Avenue opened their home on Tuesday to Unit 2, MOMS of America, Inc., for a cooperative picnic.

Mrs. Clarence E. Hickmott, nominating chairman, reported on the following slate of officers for 1961-62: Mrs. Duncan McVean, president; Mrs. Edgar Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. Vanderlind, second vice president; Mrs. John Brewer, recording secretary; Mrs. Arno Hulet, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. G. VanHorn, treasurer; Mrs. David Edwards, chaplain and Mrs. Carl Cox, historian.

They will be installed Sept. 5 at the Center Street home of Mrs. Thomas following a 12:30 cooperative luncheon.

Serving on the board of directors will be Mrs. Maude Place, Mrs. Harry Sibley and Mrs. Hickmott. Invitations were read for the Unit 19 Auburn Heights installation Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Fire Hall Recreation Center on Auburn Avenue and the Ferndale Unit 23, Aug. 28, at the Ferndale Community Building, at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Thomas was elected delegate to the Michigan State Board convention Sept. 27-29 at the Hart Hotel, Battle Creek. Mrs. McVean will be the alternate.

Guests were Mrs. John Wardell, John Walls, Clarence E. Hickmott, John Brewer and Duncan McVean.

Rae-Vens Head to Florida for VFW Event

The Rae-Vens, a drill team of some 22 teenage girls from Pontiac, is Florida-bound today for competition with similar units throughout the country at the national Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Miami.

Prior to boarding a chartered bus yesterday, the girls were presented with a City of Pontiac flag by City Manager Walter K. Williams to carry in the event.

The contingent will participate in color guard and drill team events Monday and Tuesday. The Rae-Vens took second-place honors among 16 teams at the VFW's 1961 national convention held in Detroit.

Named after their coach, Jackie Rae Voorhees, the Rae-Vens will represent Pontiac Post No. 1170 of the VFW.

Count Your Blessings While You Are 'Miss'

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
"There's no reason why unmarried women can't count their blessings the way married women count theirs," says one of my married readers.
"We may be missing a lot, but we do have some things to be thankful for."

"When I put a dot in the leader of my car, I don't have to worry about what George will say, the way my married friends do."

"When I am extravagant, I don't have to try to justify it to George or explain how I just couldn't resist the thing in spite of the price tag."

"When I accept an invitation that sounds like fun, I don't have to worry about whether George will go willingly or have to be dragged."

"When I want to change my hair style or even the color, I don't have to worry for fear George won't like it."

"When I'm not in the mood for Radio City Station, New York 19, cooking I can eat out or make do N.Y."

with a sandwich. There's never that nagging worry. "What am I going to give George for dinner tonight?" And, when I go on a diet, I don't have to sit and watch George eat a steak with French fries.

"Not being married to the mythical George, I don't have any in-law problems, which is as big a headache as many of my married friends claim they are."

"I spend my holidays the way I want to spend them instead of having to go where George wants to go."

"To be quite honest, I can think of more disadvantages than advantages to being Miss instead of counting the advantages."

'Red' Christians in Quandary

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK — Christians of Communist East Germany are struggling today with a tough issue of theology: Should they resist the government, or obey?

Some church leaders have advocated defiance.

Others have counseled obedience, to a point.

The question has been smoldering in German church life for two years, and with tensions mounting over Berlin, it has become a blazing, incendiary, recent events show.

Also at issue is whether the East Germans should stick to their homes and churches, or try to flee.

Seeking to allay the doubts, Germany's United Lutheran Church has issued an advisory, saying East German Christians should stay where they are, avoid open political resistance, but not to support the regime.

The church includes congregations on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

Romans 13:1, of St. Paul's Epistles, was cited as prescribing civil law-abiding, even in a police state. The verse says:

APPOINTED BY GOD

"Let every person be subject to the governing authorities. For there is no authority except from God, and those that exist have been instituted by God. Therefore he who resists the authorities resists what God has appointed."

It is this passage that has stirred the theological soul-searching, as well as some sharp conflicts among German Christian leaders.

Bishop Otto Dibelius of Berlin, the doyen of 81-year-old Christian warrior who retired last spring as head of the Evangelical Church in Germany, previously ignored the issue by saying the East German regime didn't qualify as a God-ordained authority.

It is "blasphemy to regard the rulers of a totalitarian state as powers" in a Biblical sense, he said. "Paul's words are not said."

Even an East German traffic sign has "no binding power for Christians," said the bishop, who had hauled similar challenges at Nazism. To him, such regimes are in the class of the "beast" government of Revelations 13.

A church furor erupted about the matter.

The bishop, since barred from the Communist Eastern Sector of his Berlin diocese, was designated even by the managing board of his own church, which said:

"The obedience required of us by Holy writ in respect to governmental authority applies also to the governments presently existing today."

Dr. Kurt Scharf, an East Berlin theologian who succeeded Bishop Dibelius as head of the Evangelical

Council, has taken a similar approach, but says the church faces a cynical situation, which must be solved.

PUT UP WITH IT

Germany's United Lutheran Church, in trying to give some starting guidance, said the Eastern Christian "can only accept the fact that he lives in an atheistic state and put up with it; but he must never approve or support it."

"He should not show political resistance, nor leave," he said. "He should go on living and working in Christian faith and patience in the position in which God has placed him."

Eastern Christians can abide by the state's economic and social policies without compromising their faith, the statement said, but they must reject its atheistic ideology "even if this leads to distress or death."

"In all cases of conflict between the state's demands and God's orders, God's word remains valid; that one must obey God rather than men."

OBEY GOD

This mandate, to "obey God rather than men," was St. Peter's reply when hailed before the Sanhedrin and ordered to quit preaching about Jesus Christ.

Bishop Hanna Lilje of Hannover, in the church that their courage held the United Lutheran may not fail.

Church, at first took a more moderate position than Bishop Dibelius, but recently has indicated he sees no room for getting along with the East regime.

Based on a recent television show of Christians in the East Zone of his church should actively oppose their government, he said.

"I do not wish to endanger my brothers over there by simply saying 'yes.' But that is what I think," he emphasized, however, that he did not favor use of force, but simply that the chasm between Christianity and Communism was too wide in his bridged.

"Christians will not jump to the conclusion that they should engage in bloodshed and massive resistance," he said. "On the contrary, Christians will hold to their faith while standing firm... I would not advise anyone rashly to seize a rifle. That would certainly not be a wise or realistic decision."

Bishop Dibelius, expected to retire from his diocesan post this fall and whose departure from his church-wide leadership apparently was hastened by the clash over Christian conduct under Communism, said as he stepped down, "I beg the church never to surrender to the powers of this world."

I pray for all who hold office. Bishop Hanna Lilje of Hannover, in the church that their courage held the United Lutheran may not fail.

Umbrella New Symbol for 'U.S. Appeasement'

(Editor's Note: In this dispatch, the United Press International Europe's general news manager reports from London on West German reaction to Allied moves in the present Berlin crisis.)

By HARRY FERGUSON

United Press International

Rain or shine, don't get caught carrying an umbrella today. Your picture might appear in a European newspaper above this complimentary caption: "American Appeasement."

The umbrella has been a symbol of appeasement ever since Neville Chamberlain returned from a talk with Adolf Hitler in Munich and announced he had brought back "peace for our time."

UMBRELLA SYMBOL

Not long after that World War II broadcast, Chamberlain was photographed at the London Airport with an umbrella hooked over his arm, and the cartoonists and commentators took it from there.

A sudden fear has developed in West Germany that President Kennedy has gone soft on the Berlin issue and that Nikita Khrushchev is about to go away with the same sort of deal that Hitler put over on Neville Chamberlain.

It is being whispered in some other places in Europe but in West Germany it is being shouted to the rooftops.

Twenty students in the West German capital of Bonn mailed an umbrella to Kennedy Wednesday.

CASE OF NERVES

So far nothing has happened that justifies any such fears and accusations about Kennedy.

In West Germany it seems to be a case of nerves having been rubbed raw by living for five days with a power keg in the living room.

There is a tendency to confuse careful planning with procrastination; caution with cowardice.

Conceded Challenge to Surprise U.S.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Mexican tennis team that almost certainly will be defeated by the U.S. team in the Davis Cup final today conceded a challenge to surprise the Americans.

upset the American Davis squad last year is given a chance to win the American finals which starts Friday.

Observers watching the Mexican players practice here since Tuesday say they appear to have fine edge. But they quickly turn out the American team, slightly erratic earlier in the week, much sharper now.

At noon today American Captain David Freed and his Mexican counterpart, Francisco (Pancho) Contreras, hold the official draw to decide opponents in the six-day play on the clay courts at the Cleveland Skating Club.

5 Ex-Champs in Michigan Open Field

By R.H. CORNWELL

Five former champions will go to the firing line Friday morning when the 41st Michigan Open Golf Championship gets under way at Farmington Country Club.

Defending champion John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Wis., in 1956 and 1958.

Big John, veteran Blythe C.C. pro, won last year's tourney at Lakeview and also captured top prize in 1956 and 1958.

Burnum also owns three titles. His last crown came in 1957 at Edgewood and this was preceded by triumphs in 1955 and 1956.

The most illustrious member of the ex-champion corps is Watrous, the ageless Oakland Hills professional who has won six championships. Watrous first won the title in 1926 and claimed his 5th one in '61.

Smith, the famed "Joplin Ghost" and twice winner of the Masters tournament, took the Michigan Open in '54. He is a member of a famous golfing family, claimed the crown in 1958.

Barnum and Burnum have dominated the event during the last decade, winning six titles between them. Two other winners during that stretch, Pete Cooper and Jackson's Dave Hill, are now on the pro tour and no longer in Michigan.

A mammoth field is entered in the tourney at Farmington, located on the corner of Haggerty and 12-Mile Road.

There are 170 golfers scheduled to tee off tomorrow, including 60 amateurs. Starting time is 7 a.m. and it's a clinch that darlings will be rapidly closing in by time everyone has finished his round.

Eighteen holes are slated to tomorrow and another 18 Saturday, then the field will be cut for Sunday's grueling 36-hole finale.

The Farmington course measures 6,804 yards and par is 73-5-72. Preston Meisel will be host pro. This marks the 3rd straight year that Farmington has played host to a major state tournament. The Michigan Pro-Am was held there two years ago and the State PGA stopped there last year.

Lopez Rejects Contract Offer by White Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox is sure of his future that he recently turned down an offer to extend his contract for two more years.

Hank Greenberg (general manager) asked me if I worried about the future and did I want to sign up for a year or even two years," Lopez said today. "I told Hank I wasn't a bit worried about the future and preferred to wait and see what transpires in the front office."

Oppose 'Need' Removal

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Big Ten Conference delegates attending the 11th annual student body president's meeting voiced strong opposition Wednesday to elimination of the financial need factor in granting athletic scholarships.

Conference coaches approved the elimination, coupled with a stiffening of grade requirements, in a preliminary vote this spring.

2 Perfect Golf Shots

Two holes-in-one were fired Wednesday at area golf courses.

Norm Berg Jr. of Detroit used a 4-iron to ace the 118-yard 3rd hole at Oakland Hills Country Club. He shot 43. Dick Fynke, a Knollwood C.C. member, aced Grose Hill's 150-yard 13th hole with a 7-iron and posted 77.

Wightman Selectors Blasted by Darlene

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Darlene Hard, 25-year-old blonde tennis star from Long Beach, Calif., lashed out at Wightman Cup selectors for leaving her off the U.S. team that faces Great Britain in Chicago Saturday and Sunday.

"It was political crowd pulling," she charged, "and really stuns me after the way I practically killed myself in the Wightman matches last year."

Miss Hard was responsible for three points in a 4-3 loss to the Brits.

She also charged that "maybe Mrs. (Margaret) DuPont, the captain, tried to keep me off so that she could play doubles instead of me."

In Chicago, Mrs. DuPont said the Wightman selectors decided against taking Darlene because she had been seriously ill and "had not demonstrated that she was fit again for such a strenuous match."

Ketafuer in Favor of TV Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Estes Ketafuer, D-Tenn., proposed legislation Wednesday to permit major leagues in four sports to negotiate for network television.

Ketafuer, who heads the Senate Monopoly Subcommittee, said in a statement he was offering the bill because Judge Allan K. Grim in Federal Court in Philadelphia had held illegal a contract between the National Football League and CBS-TV.

The bill would cover leagues in baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

Ketafuer said the bill includes specific protections for minor league baseball and college football, which might otherwise suffer serious damage because of telecasting of major league games into their territory when they were playing home games.

Find Olympian's Body

VEJLE, Denmark (AP)—The body of Thorvald Warrner, 52-year-old captain of the 1960 Danish Olympic yachting team, was found floating in the inlet near his home Wednesday. Warrner had set out in a small row boat Tuesday evening and his failure to return at nightfall had brought about a search.

Grain Trade Slow, Little Price Change

CHICAGO (U) — Trade in grain futures was sluggish again today with most contracts showing little price change in early transactions on the board of trade.

Wheat, the weakest grain during the first several minutes, was under moderate pressure. Hedging, profit taking and some short selling, which brokers said may have signaled an end of the recent firm trend, were factors.

Oats and soybeans moved up on nearly all deliveries. The buying appeared to be largely representative of long positions.

NEGRO, 15, SENTENCED TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

MONTICELLO, CALIF. (AP) — A teen-ager, Georgia Nunez, sentenced to die in the electric chair Sept. 27 for murdering an aged white farmer.

An all-white, all-male jury deliberated only 45 minutes Wednesday before finding Prendergast Cobb Jr., 15, guilty, and failing to recommend mercy. That made it mandatory for Judge George S. Carpenter to pronounce the death sentence.

Cobb accepted the sentence calmly and declined to make a statement. His court-appointed attorney said as far as he knew there would be no appeal.

ADDRESSER PROTEST RALLY — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt gestures as he speaks at a protest rally of 200,000 West Berliners Wednesday. Brandt told the large throng, gathered to protest the Communist blockade of the border between East and West Berlin, to demand Allied action against the closing of the border. He said the Allies were giving favorable consideration to his plan to seize Communist-run elevated railway lines in West Berlin despite another Red threat to blockade the city in retaliation.

Big 3 Send Protests to Reds Over Berlin

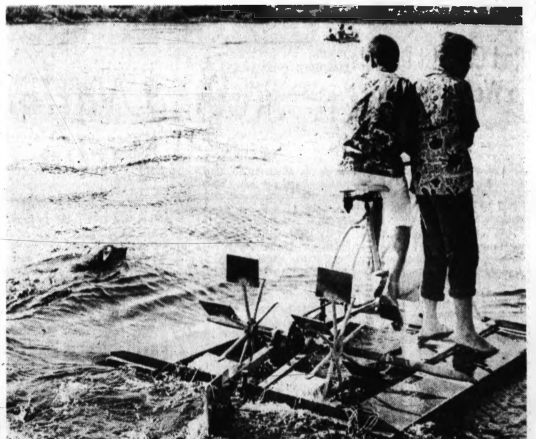

Notes Say We 'Expect' an End to Illegal Acts

By JOHN M. BRIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France protested to the Soviet Union today that the Communist blockade in Berlin is "illegal." They declared they expect the Soviet government to "put an end to these illegal measures."

Identical notes were delivered to the Soviet Foreign Office by embassies of the three Western powers in Moscow this morning and then were made public in Paris, London and Washington.

The Western powers complained that the closing of the border "is a flagrant, and particularly serious, violation" of the four-power status of Berlin. They rejected the Red argument that East Berlin is part of the territory of East Germany.

No Stopping Strong 'Ginny'

DETERMINED SWIMMER — After a rest, "Ginny," the devoted shepherd-collie dog owned by Billy Donnelly (right) of Waterford Township, was still strong enough to put on a demonstration after swimming the width of Gerundegut Bay yesterday. Bob Konzen, left, is paddling the bicycle-pontoon. The dog miraculously escaped being hit by several power boats as she strove to reach the other side—and her master.

JFK Urges Reversal of Foreign Aid Setback

By HARRY SCHWED
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged the House today to reverse itself and approve long-term authorization of foreign aid loans "in this crucial hour of the nation's history."

Kennedy said Democrats had helped former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's foreign aid program, and it is urgent that this bipartisan principle be maintained.

A coalition of House Republicans and conservative Democrats Wednesday struck at the heart of Kennedy's foreign aid program—and dealt him a severe rebuff—by slashing the long-range development loan feature from the House bill.

Helping to make the day a gloomy one for the White House, the Senate whittled more than $1 billion from the overall program.

But the House has the bill. The White House hardest. Without mentioning the Senate action, Kennedy asked a House reversal as a demonstration "that this nation is still united in its determination to meet its responsibilities and halt the spread of communism and Gertrudism by every available means."

From Our News Wire
BERLIN — East German Communist leaders launched a gigantic military recruiting drive today.

They called on the 1.7 million members of their youth organization to volunteer for the army.

The effort to swell the ranks of the troops — now estimated by Western authorities to number 110,000 — came as the Western Allies protested to the Soviet Union against the Red harassment and taking political asylum in East Germany.

West German police reported that nine members of the Communist East German People's Police and a member of the Red Workers' militia defected to the West during the night.

The previous night, the police reported, another armed and uniformed East German guard leaped over a barbed wire barricade to freedom. Another member of the Workers' militia defected about the same time.

Five of the People's police or "Vopos" — defected in a group, carrying their pistols and submachine guns with them, West Berlin police said.

The others apparently defected singly, but no details were issued as to how or where they crossed the border.

All members of the Red youth organization were called to special meetings Friday at dawn in schools, factories and collective farms to hear the appeal to volunteer.

'Change or We'll Strike,' Predicts UAW Official

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Norman Matthews of the United Auto Workers says there will be an auto industry strike unless there is a "radical change" in management attitude by Aug. 31.

Matthews, head of the UAW negotiating team at Chrysler, made the statement at a meeting of Chrysler Local union officials Wednesday night.

"The UAW's contracts expire Aug. 31. Strike votes have been authorized by the International at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford."

"Unless there is a radical change in management between now and Aug. 31, I don't see any other way than a strike in one of the Big Three," Matthews said.

Matthews, reporting on Chrysler negotiations, indicated a belief that a strike was more likely at that company than any other.

"I pray there will be no strike."

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union today made its third request to General Motors or a look at the firm's formula on price and profit and threatened to seek government help if the appeal is again denied.

Credit C. Mullinix, local president, said voting booths will remain open for 36 straight hours to encourage a big turnout.

The GMC Truck & Coach Local 584 vote is scheduled from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday at the local hall.

The Pontiac Motor Local 633 vote is scheduled from 5 a.m. Thursday through 5 p.m. Friday at the local hall and the Highland Avenue trailer.

Results of the votes could affect both national negotiations and settlement of local issues afterward.

note, which State Department officials said was designed as a "strong" call for removal of the Communist barricades, said:

"The United States government solemnly protests against the measures referred to above, for which it holds the Soviet government to put an end to these illegal measures. This unilateral infringement of the quadripartite status of Berlin can only increase existing tensions and dangers."

State Department press officer Lincoln White was asked why the U.S. government "expels" the U.S.A.R. to lift a barrier which officials have been saying probably will undoubtedly remain in force for a long time.

White said the U.S. government's expectation was based on the "solemn obligation" of the Soviet Union to treat Berlin as a city under four-power control with free travel guaranteed within its borders.

Soviet Chemist Faithful Dog Swims Gerundegut Bay

Leaves Red Delegation at Ottawa Conference; Whereabouts Secret
OTTAWA (AP)—A prize-winning Soviet chemist, Mikhail A. Klotchko, remained in a secret hideout today after slipping away from a party of visiting Soviet scientists and taking political asylum in Canada.

Klotchko, 39, had been awarded the Stalin Prize and Order of Lenin, indicating he stood well in Soviet scientific circles. He is a specialist in inorganic chemistry.

In Moscow the Soviet Foreign Ministry declined comment on the defection. Spokesmen at the Soviet Academy of Science claimed they had never heard of Klotchko.

Commissioner C. W. Harverson of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who took Klotchko under his protection, described him as a chemist of "considerable world importance."

Harverson said Wednesday night he preferred to let Klotchko tell his own story of what motivated his defection but that the Russian wanted a good night's sleep before deciding whether to meet newsmen.

Klotchko was in a group of 10 scientists that came to Canada early in August for the 10th International Congress on Theoretical and Applied Chemistry in Montreal and stayed on to do some sightseeing.

Klotchko did not read a paper at the conference. Canadian scientists who saw him there described him as a man of medium height, thin face, ruddy complexion, gray hair and a small mustache. He is a widower with no family in the Soviet Union, they said.

UAW Schedules Strike Votes in Pontiac Locals

Following a national pattern, Pontiac's three big United Auto Workers locals have scheduled strike votes this weekend and next week on national and local issues involved in negotiations for new contracts with the automobile companies.

Can Manufacture Polio Deterrent

U.S. Okays Sabin Vaccine
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Health Service will permit production of the live, oral vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin for use in preventing one of three types of polio.

The serum will be in the form of a cherry-flavored syrup.

Surgeon General Luther L. Terry emphasized that the vaccine being licensed today provides immunity only against Type 1 polio.

"Therefore," he said, "it is of the highest importance that vaccinations continue with the Sabin vaccine which is the only weapon we have today to provide protection against all three types of polio."

The manufacturing license was issued to Pfizer, Ltd., Sandwich, England. The vaccine will be marketed in this country by Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., of New York.

Type 1 polio has been responsible in recent years for between 60 and 70 per cent of all paralytic cases in the United States, Dr. Terry said.

He said he expected that a license for production of Type 2 Sabin vaccine would be issued in the near future but that it would be several months before a Type 3 license would be forthcoming.

De Gaulle to Build Forces Because of East Berlin

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today announced a land and airpower buildup because of the seating of East Berlin by the East German Communists.

De Gaulle's announcement, after a meeting with top defense advisors, said French forces both in Germany and in France will be reinforced.

His statement said the buildup is the result of tensions created by the East German Communists. De Gaulle broke his country's tradition to go to Paris for the meeting with Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Defense Minister Pierre Messmer and Gen. Jean Crepin, commander of the French forces in Germany.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Explorer XII completed its first wide-loop orbit of the earth early today and was zooming off again into space.

The 83-pound instrument package swung about 54,000 miles out from the earth on its orbit to measure magnetic fields and radiation in space.

It came within an estimated 170 miles of the earth at 3:20 a.m. (Poodle time) today on its first time around, 31 hours after its launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Tuesday night.

Peace Corps Faces Problem of Witch Doctors

THE PONTIAC PRESS THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1961

Editor's Note: The witch doctor is a subject of much interest to the Peace Corps. This is the first of a series of articles on the subject. The second article will appear in the next issue.

By LYNN WEINERLING
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — "To fight problems, not people," President Kennedy's Peace Corps could hardly find a more suitable place than Tanganyika.

The country has all the difficulties which plague Africa—disease, backwardness, poverty, a shaky economy and a colonial background. Peace and prosperity is what Tanganyika wants.

OVER 100 TRIBES
There are more than 100 tribes in Tanganyika, their past studied with blood combat. The survivors appreciate the advantages of peace.

With 500 miles of coastline on the Indian ocean, Tanganyika has in its long history attracted Arabs and Persians, Indians and Chinese. The warlike Masai tribesmen filtered in from the north, and some of Southern Africa's aggressive Zulus settled here.

Asians, Africans, Arabs and Europeans live together in comparative calm while the winds of change sweep Africa. The 30 members of the Peace Corps due later this year will find their know-how more important than the color of their skins.

But they're likely to find physical conditions tough. Tanganyika is a country about a tenth the size of the United States. Within a few miles of the capital, Dar Es Salaam, with its modern luxuries, life can be wholly primitive among the Africans in mud or thatch huts.

WITCH DOCTORS:
Despite the efforts of missionaries, the witch doctor still is an important figure in the bush, and the majority of Africans are pagan. And to the clock-conditioned Westerner, their practice of ordering their lives by the position of the sun in the sky can be exasperating.

The country's greatest asset as it moves toward independence on Dec. 9 this year is not its diamond mines or its plantations, but a slender, untiring school teacher, Julius Nyerere, now prime minister.

Head of the only effective political organization in the country, the Tanganyika African National Union (TANU), Nyerere has led Tanganyika in the smoothest passage into independence experienced by any African territory.

Called SPIES
The only real opposition to the Peace Corpsmen has come from the African National Congress, a political organization whose motto is "Africans for the Africans" and which often echoes the Communist line on "American imperialism."

The congress has described the Peace Corpsmen as "imperialist spies."

But not one voice was raised in the National Assembly against the Peace Corps.

Malaria is prevalent throughout Tanganyika except above an altitude of 7,000 feet. The Peace Corpsmen will take preventive pills for two years.

Tanganyika children have continual attacks of malaria in infancy and gradually acquire immunity to its most distressing effects. A malaria eradication campaign is in progress, but it has not yet licked the mosquito.

TO KILL TSETSE FLY
An effort is being made to eliminate the tsetse fly by clearing bush and spraying, but parts of five of the nine provinces are still danger spots.

Tanganyika's main export is sisal, a plant of the daffodil family, from whose fibers twine and rope are made. The country supplies about two-fifths of the world's supply.

Except for the famed Williamson Diamond Mine, now owned jointly by the Tanganyika government and De Beers Consolidated Mines Ltd., and some mining for gold and minerals, the country's economy is almost entirely agricultural.

But African farmers deep in the bush are thwarted by the absence of adequate feeder roads to get their crops to market. Heavy rains often wash out the primitive tracks which are their lifelines. It is to improve this situation that the Peace Corpsmen will apply their talents.

PLAN FEEDER ROADS
Under a three-year development plan, the government is expected to spend nearly $3 million to expand and improve feeder roads. The work of the Peace Corps will be a contribution to that program—surveying road links between small roads and main roads.

There will be very little entertainment if the Corpsmen are not entertained by the friendly Africans of the villages, the wild game and perhaps fishing. The larger towns, and they are few, usually have a movie house, cafes and a small hotel with bar and restaurant.

All the Corpsmen will take courses in Swahili before going to work. If these lessons take, their stay in Tanganyika will be more pleasant and profitable. And, indeed, if they expect to have any satisfactory contact with the Africans outside the towns, a knowledge of Swahili will be a must.

The country's economy has not yet developed to the point where all farmers could raise and sell a cash crop profitably. Many lead a shiftless life with little thought for tomorrow. They are friendly and courteous but often prisoners to a way of life shaped by disease, undernourishment and a hot sun. Plenty of work for the Peace Corps.

U.S. Supremacy in Managerial Skill Outweighs Soviet Capabilities

During the graduating exercises at the General Motors Institute, J. R. KILLIAN Jr. developed several interesting thoughts in regard to progress today and a safe and better existence in our country.

He declared that "business must anticipate swift technological changes with the technology becoming steadily more complex." Scientific knowledge is doubling every nine years and technological efforts every ten years, and more advances have been made in the past 50 years than in all preceding history.

This places a great strain on management skills if we wish to stay ahead of Russia. "Today," he asserts, "the free world holds a position of leadership in science and technology as we possess greater managerial ability for the adaptation of the knowledge we possess now and will develop in the future." Also, this Nation has vastly more skilled and experienced workmen than the Reds.

Mr. Killian declares that there's a shortage of men who can coordinate the elements of research, developments and production as developed by these intricate systems. New factors are lost unless the managerial skill is available to let us make the greatest practical use of our new information. It is here, he feels, that we surpass the Reds.

Engineers-managers are a basic need in the world and the United States can rule if this field is successively developed and expanded; and our needs will continue to be augmented still further by the very existence of the most recent advances.

Which factors do we follow and which are relegated to the scrap heap? And which of our existing methods are made obsolete? Positive and accurate answers? Mr. Killian believes the free enterprise system will automatically advance this type of thinking beyond Soviet capabilities. Swift, unerring answers should give us domination in the race ahead.

This applies to the domestic scene as well as national defense.

To summarize the statements of Mr. KILLIAN, he feels our supremacy lies in the fact our managerial skills in determining which courses to follow, which procedures to adopt and which to scrap and then our innate

Food for Peace Plan Is Most Valuable

There is always a lot of congressional as well as public unhappiness over foreign aid offered in loans and grants. But shipments abroad under our food for peace program can warm many a lawmaker's heart.

These can be of immense value to needy nations. At the same time, they slice into farm surpluses, easing that groaning burden a little, particularly as to storage costs.

Food for peace shipments are rising markedly. Last year 43,763 tons went into development programs with nearly 400,000 additional tons going for famine and disaster relief.

This year, with months yet to go, development areas already have received 264,000 tons of food, out of a total of 727,000 shipped. That this is, relatively, our most painless foreign aid does not in any way impair its great usefulness. Let's have more aid programs along this line.

manufacturing ability to develop them rapidly, will outweigh whatever advantages the Soviets may possess.

And certainly, as we in Pontiac know, our working men in the plants are trained and experienced beyond the skills that exist in Russia.

Large Scouting Figures on National and Home Work

Boy Scouts of America show that in its 51 years a total of 33,000,000 boys have been drawn to its ranks. First attracted to it by its possibilities of fun, romance and adventure, their life in it was molded in the precepts of the Boy Scout oath. This is one of the primary reasons why 99 per cent of them make good in their chosen pursuits in life.

And less than one-half of one per cent of them have ever transgressed the law to such an extent that they had to appear in court. This testifies conclusively to the manhood building abilities of Scouting. When we bring this down to a local level, we can even beat the national findings. According to Executive Secretary

Edward H. Leland of Clinton Valley Council, which comprises most of the area of Oakland and Macomb counties, a total of 88,000 boys have been members of troops here. The percentage of those boys who have made good in life even exceeds the national percentage. Personal contact with nearly all of the local judicial officers does not reveal the name of even one person who had been a Boy Scout. Mr. Leland points out that a major portion of the local Scouts included in that 88,000 have been connected with the movement within comparatively recent years.

These actual figures and statistics show Scouting to be the greatest manhood building project in our nation. It has a priority in the training of boys in physical fitness, self-reliance and citizenship responsibility.

David Lawrence Wonders:

Will West Lead With Right or Left?

LAWRENCE

IN EUROPE—Anxiety and apprehension over the Berlin problem seem more pronounced in America, judged by press reports, than here in Europe.

Maybe they're accustomed over here to the technique of disfigurement and to the bluffing tactics that surround an artificially created crisis. But in a period of economic prosperity, the natural tendency also is to indulge in some wishful thinking and to hope the storm clouds will blow over.

The governments themselves, however, are worried. Foreign ministers and ambassadors in all the capitals are busy talking a lot to each other, and the telephone lines are crowded with official business.

But notwithstanding all the news articles about "timidities" and "continuity planning" in the official conferences, there seems to be an yet a lack of coordinated policy among the Western powers.

It's a sort of wait-and-see kind of approach. It isn't even clear just what the issue on which the West will risk everything, including war.

For several weeks now the United States has endeavored to impress upon Nikita Khrushchev that there is a point beyond which we will not hesitate to fight for our "rights." But, at the same time, has been coupled with a well-publicized determination to seek "negotiations."

Legal rights of access to Berlin have become entangled, therefore, in all sorts of abstract issues. The Soviet premier may think he can rely on the strategy of confusion to attain his objectives while the Western Allies debate among themselves what "concessions" to make.

Broadly speaking, what is absent is a spirit of idealism and the willingness to fight, if necessary, for free speech. There seems to be no impetus to steer by—no principle that has been given paramountcy.

Instead, the word goes out, for instance, that the Western Allies are so afraid of possible revolutions in East Germany that the peoples there have been asked through official American radio broadcasts to keep calm and avoid any disturbances which could lead to the use of force.

Observers in West Germany, moreover, are dismayed by an editorial in the New York Times which was carried on the press association wires to European newspapers on Wednesday, and which reads in part as follows:

"While the Soviets seek to stir up revolution and war against us wherever they can—ever to the peril of the Hitler-Stalin pact—we must seek to discourage anti-communism in man."

Since doctors cannot deliver "chronic arthritis," they should be ashamed of themselves taking money from glib customers on the pretense of treating it.

The regimen for rheumatism which I outline in Little Lesson No. 12 is not a remedy or a cure. It is merely prophylactic—designed to combat or correct the nutritional deficiency which is responsible for degeneration of joint tissues.

"Happiness, like a conversation, is pretty hard to have alone."

I promise nothing. The effect depends altogether on how faithfully

Communists revolve in order to avert bloodshed and war. We must, under our own principles, live with evil even if by doing so we help to stabilize tottering Communist regimes, as in East Germany, and perhaps even even worse, chaotic of freedom, like West Berlin, to slow death by strangulation."

This is but another way of saying that the United States must avoid encouragement of a revolutionary spirit inside the Communist-dominated countries for fear of distant complications.

It implies that the West is really afraid to use the most powerful weapon that can be mobilized at present—the public opinion of the affected countries whose citizens look to the United States for inspiration at least, if not direct military help.

The Western powers keep haggling among themselves about legal rights in Berlin when the basic issue is the continued enslavement of 16 million human beings in East Germany.

There is nowadays a lot in the press about the need for self-determination of half-civilized peoples in Africa, but there seems to be a tendency about proclaiming such a goal for the civilized peoples of Eastern Europe.

Already resentment is rising in West Germany, whose people are beginning to feel they are being forsaken by the West.

Don't Be Too Gullible About Having 'Arthritis'

In his poor soul with rheumatism follows the regimen.

However I think it is fair to mention that some readers have reported that the regimen for rheumatism brought about so much improvement in their ailing joints that they were able to return to jobs they had been forced to give up.

"Now if any one asks me for my cure for 'arthritis,' I'll call him names—and you know I'm good at that."

Spaced letters, more than one on a line, and a few extra lines of personal health and system, not distributed in a regular manner, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Acute arthritis (joint inflammation), which sometimes occurs, and it is a serious illness which requires weekly attendance by the physician. In two, lasts a few weeks or sometimes a few months, and is over.

It is caused by infection of the joint or joints, and we need not name the specific germs which occur mainly in young persons, whereas rheumatism occurs usually in persons past middle age.

When a doctor tells you your chronic joint disability is "arthritis," he is counting on your ignorance and credulity or he hopes to sell you a course of treatment with some miracle medicine that will cost you a pretty penny and do you no one—bit of good.

Dr. Osler, in his famous "Practice," defined chronic rheumatism as a disease that might arise and describe the pathology of degeneration of joint tissues, but of course practically nothing was known about nutrition in the early days.

In all my reading I have never found a straightforward definition of "chronic arthritis." This reluctance on the part of a physician of standing to commit himself to a definition of "chronic arthritis" is understandable. It is because "chronic arthritis" is as rare as rabbits in man.

The old-fashioned prayer meetings served this purpose fairly well in past generations, but it has largely gone out of style.

So medicines are now falling heir to these 10,000,000 neurotics who could usually avoid a medical office if each church would run a public "Talk Clinic" for fearful folk.

NEGATIVE THINKING

ple, at least, if not direct military help.

Battled Ohio Over Boundary

Michigan Fought 1st Civil War

DETROIT (UPI) — Pioneer settlers along the Michigan-Ohio boundary were old hands at "civil war" a good 25 years before the first guns were fired at Ft. Sumter. The nation began its four-year centennial commemoration of the War Between the States in January.

The first "civil war," however, lasted only a matter of days, and more whiskey was spilled than blood, according to historians.

The dispute arose between Michigan and Ohio in 1835 over the boundary line between the two states.

Michigan, referring to a 1787 ordinance, said the line should extend due east from the southern extremity of Lake Michigan, passing near the town of Perryburg, (Ohio), south of Toledo.

Ohio said ordinance be damned, she wanted Toledo.

The issue came to a head when Ohio Gov. Robert Lucas decided to organize the northern portion of his state into Lucas County, with the seat at Toledo.

He set Sept. 7, 1835, for convening the first circuit court in the new county, an act which he thought would settle the matter once and for all.

Michigan's territorial governor, youthful Stevens T. Mason, was not to be intimidated.

He called up 1,000 state militia men, marched some of them aboard a troopship at Detroit and dispatched the rest on foot toward the Ohio border.

Lucas heard the Michigan troops were on the way, and sent 800 of his own men to the south shore of the Maumee River to await Mason's forces.

NO BATTLE

On the evening of Sept. 6, Mason and his men moved into the city of Toledo, keyed for a pitched battle with the Ohio militia. But nothing happened.

Sometimes during the night the Ohio circuit court judges, escorted by a troop of soldiers, stole into the city, broke into a schoolhouse, declared the court in session, adjourned rapidly and high-tailed it back to the Ohio lines.

When Mason heard the next day that court had been held, he remonstrated and proceeded to demolish his force.

Before he could leave Toledo, however, he received word from President Andrew Jackson that he had been relieved of his command as territorial governor.

In 1836, the federal government suggested that it would consider Michigan for statehood if the state agreed to give up its claim to the Ohio property.

UP IS CONSOLATION

As a consolation prize, Michigan was offered the vast upper peninsula, then an unexplored arm of the territory of Wisconsin.

He called up 1,000 state militia men, marched some of them was admitted to the union in 1875, her "war hero," Stevens T. Mason was returned as the state's first governor.

The state line question remained a touchy issue in Michigan and Ohio border towns for some time, historians report, and many a bar room brawl broke out over which state was entitled to what.

In southern Hilldale County near the village of Waldron (Mich.), militiamen reportedly dug trenches at a spot that is still known as "Dog Corners." It isn't certain whether the militiamen were from Ohio or Michigan, however.

And 26 years later, when North and South went to war, the "first civil war" really didn't matter.

Driver Pleads Guilty on Manslaughter Charge

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—John Paul Jones, 28, of Grand Rapids, pleaded guilty Wednesday at Superior Court to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the traffic death last Friday of 11-year-old Andrew Wobbenba.

He was remanded to jail to wait a sentence date. Jones was arrested last Saturday after he fled on foot from an intersection where his car ran a stop sign, collided with another auto and struck the bicycling Wobbenba boy.

Asks Freight Rates to UP Be Reduced

LANSING (UPI)—Gov. Swainson today asked the Western Traffic Association to reduce freight rates on feed and grain shipped into 13 Upper Peninsula counties which have been declared disaster areas.

The counties received the designation last month from the federal government as a result of shortages of hay and pasture for livestock.

Railroads have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce rates under a drought order issued by Agriculture Secretary Freeman.

Counties affected are Dickinson, Iron, Ontonagon, Gogebic, Houghton, Baraga, Alger, Chippewa, Luce, Marquette, Menominee, Schoolcraft and Mackinac.

Neither Pear Nor Apple, This Fruit's a 'Peppie'

MALMOE, Sweden (UPI)—Swedish scientists announced Wednesday the crossing of a pear and an apple into a hybrid fruit said to have all the qualities of both.

Prof. Nils Nyblom of the Balgaard Institute for Plant Improvement tentatively labeled the experimental fruit a "peppie."

1,200 City Youngsters Whoop It Up at Fun Day

BULSEYE — An Earl Morral of the future, Dennis Crawley, 1008 Kettering St., throws a perfect football through a tire suspended from a tree limb in a contest that build skills as well as enjoyment.

CAREFUL — The object is to drop the washer into the buried cup. Nancy Sumpter, 1273 Du-Frain St., concentrates on her toss. You may wonder if she made it this time — she didn't, but she kept on trying until she did.

More than 1,200 Pontiac youngsters yesterday set a new record for hi-jinks and hilarity at Oakland Park.

The second annual Parks & Recreation Fun Day, climaxing the summer playground program, saw squealing youngsters toppled into mud holes, dragging Ben-Hur chariots and busting balloons.

It was all part of a three-hour outing that began with picnic lunches and ended with the awarding of about 90 homemade prizes to the winners of various competitions, both serious and comic.

The youngsters fashioned the prizes themselves earlier this month at the 22 neighborhood playgrounds, where some 1,500 children, ages 5 to 15, have participated weekly this summer in outdoor activities under the direction of city recreation leaders.

Highly coveted were the gleaming trophies contrived from tin cans mounted on wooden buses with inscriptions carefully etched by wood-burners.

'BIG SUCCESS'

City leaders, noting that yesterday's participation topped last year's figure of 1,000, called the program a big success.

The playground programs will end tomorrow noon. The city day camp activities ended last week and swimming sessions at Pontiac Northern High School will be wrapped up Saturday.

Outdoor movies and teen dances will continue through Sept. 1. Recreation leaders will remain on duty in various city parks through the Labor Day weekend for the benefit of picnicking groups.

The Parks and Recreation Department's schedule of fall and winter activities will be announced shortly.

Blast Felt Miles Away

PITTSBURG, Calif. (UPI) — An explosion, felt and heard at least 2 miles away, rocked the ammonia plant at the Dow Chemical Company here Wednesday night — but apparently there were no serious injuries.

THE PRIZES — Mary Ann Smothers, 195 W. Cornell St., and Gerald Allen, 87 Wall St., gaze longingly at the trophies the kids made themselves.

8 State GOP Moderates Holding Strategy Session

State Sen. Farrell E. Roberts of Pontiac was one of a group of eight Republican moderates meeting in Traverse City today to draft reforms aimed at bolstering the party.

"We intend to be men of force within the party," said Sen. William G. Milliken, host of the three-day strategy conference with seven of his Senate colleagues.

Milliken noted the right held the balance of power in the Senate, the sole Republican stronghold in the state, and deserved a stronger voice in party decision.

One of the senators said he was "personally convinced something is drastically wrong" with the party in the state.

But Milliken indicated the moderates will soft-pedal criticism, working instead for reforms with in the party organization.

Others in the group were Sen. John H. Stahl of Belding, Harry Litwisch of Benton Harbor, John F. Fitzgerald of Grand Ledge, Stanley G. Thayer of Ann Arbor and Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey.

In addition to reform, the moderates will insist on action to break legislative deadlocks and a role in selection of a 1962 Republican candidate for governor.

A conference spokesman said American Motors President George Romney "comes closer to war way of thinking than anyone else" as a possible 1962 GOP gubernatorial nominee.

But the moderates do not view Romney as the only potential candidate.

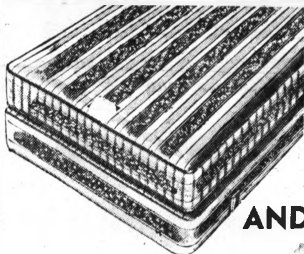

The name of Michigan State University President John A. Hannah was mentioned by one, although he said it was doubtful Hannah would seek the nomination.

Milliken, a merchant whose father and grandfather served in the legislature before him, will urge the conference to consider Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., as a possible gubernatorial candidate.

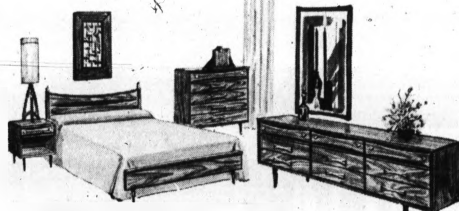

Griffin, a Traverse City lawyer who cosponsored the Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill, was among those invited to the conference. Milliken is anxious to have Griffin stay in closer contact with state issues.

GOP State Chairman George M. Van Pelt also is scheduled to attend some social functions connected with the conference, but is not expected to sit in on the sessions.

Milliken, a freshman senator, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for statewide office. He dismisses such talk as "definitely premature."

Diseases Fall in City, County

Whooping Cough Only Illness to Increase in One Week

Communicable diseases showed marked decline in Pontiac and Oakland County last week, according to the County Health Department.

The only notable exception was whooping cough. There were six new cases reported in the county and one in Pontiac last week.

The previous week, only one case was recorded in the county and none in the city.

Two cases of hepatitis were reported in Pontiac last week, as compared to three the preceding week.

Measles showed the biggest decrease. Nine cases were recorded in the county, while 17 had been the week before.

Look Over Bids for New School

Expect Contracts to Be Given Wednesday in Rochester

ROCHESTER — Architects and school administrators are reviewing the bids on construction of the new West Junior High School prior to the expected awarding of contracts next Wednesday at 7:15 p.m.

The amount budgeted for the project is $1,112,000 and bids have been submitted that total within $1,000 of that amount, according to Richard F. Hultzen, assistant superintendent in charge of administration.

Construction of the new school on Old Perch Road, halfway between Avon Road and Walton Boulevard, is due to begin immediately after the contracts are awarded, Hultzen said.

The completion date is September 1962.

There were nine bidders on the general construction work, 17 on the mechanical work and 11 on the electrical work.

From four to nine companies bid on equipment.

The new school building will contain 25 teaching stations, a library, gymnasium and cafeteria and will accommodate 600 students. It is designed by Linn Smith and Associates of Birmingham.

The board of education also has hired a Detroit firm, Construction Consultants, for one year to handle a roof management program for completed school buildings.

The company will conduct periodic inspections of classroom buildings with built-up flat roofs, check for deterioration and supervise work on maintenance and upkeep.

The district will pay $675 for the service.

Looks Like Liz and Grace? ---That's Bad Says Actress

DOLORES FAITH

By ROB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLY WOOD—Supposing a girl reminds producers of a combination Liz Taylor-Grace Kelly. Is that Dolores Faith
shakes her lovely head.
You might take a look at her and disagree. In fact you'll probably take a second look. Most people do.
"I suppose it's only natural to be compared," says Dolores. "People need a point of reference.
But I still want to make it on my own."

She's making it. The doll has been jumping up the scale from bit to a lead in "Wild Harvest."

taken from Stephen Longstreet's novel. But she admitted that resemblance has sometimes held her back.
"There was the time I tried out for a contract at Warner's Bros.," she recalled. "They told me I was a combination of Elizabeth Taylor and Grace Kelly and they wouldn't know what to do with me."
The Taylor look is obvious: the black hair, the doll-like face, the dark eyebrows accenting the soulful blue eyes. Kelly?
"They thought I acted like her;
they claimed I was aloof. Aloof?
I was scared to death, that's all."

UNEASY CHILDHOOD
Still, she shows remarkable composure for a girl of 19. You get a notion why when you view her childhood.
She was born Dolores Faith
Jediges in Cleveland, Ohio. Her father was of Hungarian descent, and her mother was Italian, which is quite a combination. At 4, Dolores was stricken totally deaf.

"My eardrums burst while I was playing one day," she said.
The doctors couldn't really account for it. For six months I could hear absolutely nothing.

Then I could hear a little as the eardrums began to heal. But my hearing never returned completely until I was 9.
"At first I had a private teacher. Then I was able to go to public school, sitting in the front seat so I could hear the teacher. I suppose those years had something to do with my wanting to be an actress. I withdrew into myself. It's not easy for a child to be different from the other kids; they called me 'dummy' and made fun of me."
The years of deafness also left her with a lip. She rid herself of it only a year ago with such exercises as talking with a pencil in her teeth.

SHADES OF SM
There's a little Marilyn Monroe in the Faith story, too. Her parents were divorced and after moving to California, Dolores and her sister were placed for a time in an orphanage. Their mother had to work and couldn't care for them.
"I never really felt like an orphan, because I knew I had two parents," she said. "There was just one time—at Easter. Some rich people volunteered to take the children home with them.
That felt strange—spending the holiday in someone else's home—"

many newcomers do nowadays—as a witness on the court show
"Adultery," youth, traffic, etc.)
which aired on local TV. Now she's on her way and looks hopefully to the time when newcomers will be called "another Dolores Faith."

Grain Trade Slow, Little Price Change

CHICAGO — Trade in grain futures was drab, again today with most contracts showing little price change in early transactions on the board of trade.

Wheat, the weakest grain during the first several minutes, was under moderate pressure of bidding, profit taking and some short selling which brokers said may have signaled an end of the recent firm trend.

Oats and soybeans moved up on nearly all deliveries. The buying appeared to be largely reinstatement of long positions.
