

Hurricane in Caribbean

JANET MOVES WEST — Map charts location of hurricane Janet moving between west and west northwest about 15 miles per hour, about 400 miles south southwest of San Juan, Puerto Rico. Northwest storm warnings are displayed on Aruba and the Paraguan peninsula.

25 Dead, 2,000 Homeless as Janet Whips Barbados

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (P)—Hurricane Janet's known death toll on Barbados mounted to 25 today, but additional casualties were feared as reports filtered in from the battered British West Indies in the eastern Caribbean.

Shattered communications hampered accurate estimates of the number of dead and injured.

About 150 persons were injured and 2,000 left homeless when the storm roared across this sugar island Thursday.

An earlier report reaching the outside had put the estimated death toll at about 100. Property damage was estimated at five million dollars.

Latest reports from the U. S. Weather Bureau at San Juan, P. R., put the center of the hurricane about 400 miles southwest of San Juan and about 1,300 miles southeast of Miami.

Maximum winds were estimated at 115 miles per hour over a small area near the center, with gales extending 140 miles to the north and 100 miles to the south.

FOLLOWS HAZEL
Janet has been moving between west and northwest at about 15 miles an hour. If continued, that course could take her along the path of last year's Hurricane Hazel which killed hundreds in Haiti before smashing across the northeastern United States. However, there were no predictions on her later course.

At the latest report, storm warnings were displayed on the Paraguan Peninsula in Venezuela and on Aruba, Curacao and Bonfire, islands in the Netherlands Antilles.

Janet also smashed into the spice-producing Windward Islands. Reports said an undetermined number of persons were killed on Grenada. The storm also did extensive damage on St. Vincent.

CHURCH COLLAPSES
At Christ Church on Barbados, nine persons were killed when the walls of the Pilgrim Holiness Church Lodge collapsed. A schoolboy ran screaming down the road and drowned in a lake born of the storm. Red Cross officials said 50 per cent of the homes in Christ Church were battered beyond repair.

The insular government declared a state of emergency.

John L. Lewis Rests in Capital Hospital

WASHINGTON (INS)—United Mine Workers' President John L. Lewis was in Washington's Emergency Hospital today for "rest and observation."

A spokesman said the 75-year-old labor leader is "in need of rest" and "looks worn out" but that, otherwise, he seems to be in good physical shape.

An official for the union said that Lewis is not expected to remain more than a day or two. He said "there is nothing wrong" with the union chieftain and that he was admitted "for a routine checkup."

The medical examination he will undergo, added the official, is "entirely routine."

Dynamite Truck, Train Collide in Mexico; 40 Dead

2nd Vehicle Explodes in Chain Reaction; 150 Persons Are Injured

MEXICO CITY (P)—A dynamite-loaded truck and a train collided last night near Torreon, touching off a shattering explosion that took the lives of more than 40 persons. In a chain reaction, the collision and explosion set off the cargo of a second dynamite-carrying truck.

Reports from the scene said more than 40 bodies had been recovered and the death toll might reach 70. More than 150 persons were injured.

Authorities said the two trucks, both heavily loaded with explosives, were racing without lights when the lead vehicle collided with the Torreon-Chihuahua train.

Torreon is about 200 miles west of Monterrey in north central Mexico.

The explosion hurled the boiler of the locomotive 300 yards. The engine of one truck was found 700 yards from the crash and scattered dead and injured were found over a 500-yard radius.

The blast leveled houses on nearby Rancho Gayulera, killing several workers.

The train, made up of two passenger cars, a freight car and a mail car, was destroyed. A huge crater was churned out of the railroad. Railroad officials said it would take two or three days to put the line to the United States border back in service.

Windows in the towns of Gomez Palacio, two miles from the scene, were broken. Hundreds of panic-stricken residents of the community fled from moving picture theaters.

The trucks were believed carrying dynamite to mining operations in the area.

2 Gas Stations Hit by Stickups

Night Raids Net $1,125; Pursuit by Customer Proves Fruitless

Two Oakland County gas stations were held up last night, as gunmen netted $1,125.

Ed Weber, owner of a station at West Maple and Haggerty Rds. told Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies shortly after 9 p.m. One remained in the car while the other confronted Weber with a .32-caliber revolver, and emptied the cash register of $125.

Robert Milles, 3280 Chambrone St., Walled Lake, a customer who drove in while the holdup was taking place, gave chase but could not overtake the bandits. Deputies later found an abandoned car believed to be the robbers'.

The Oakland County Gas and Oil Co.'s main service station in Royal Oak suffered a $1,000 loss. Eight attendants stood by unaware of a gunman's work.

Graham Scolds Women Wearing 'Enticing Clothes'

TORONTO (P)—American evangelist Billy Graham spoke out last night against women who wear clothes that might bring impure thoughts to the minds of men.

"It is as bad as murder to entice others to sin, to entice them to immorality," he said. "You women—many of you have dressed in such a way as to bring impure thoughts to the minds of men. And you have done it deliberately. May God have mercy on your souls."

More than 6,000 persons heard the evangelist last night at the sixth in his series of meetings here.

Advisers to Ike Take Dim View of Russian Note

Claim Bulganin Either Missed or Ignored Aim of 'Open Sky' Proposal

DENVER (INS)—Premier Bulganin's declaration that the Soviet Union agrees "in principle" to President Eisenhower's plan for exchanging military blueprints was viewed at the Denver White House today as little better than no agreement at all.

The privately-expressed view of Eisenhower's advisers was that the Russian leader missed—or ignored—the most important point altogether in his eloquent appeal to the President on the disarmament issue.

Buganin asserted in his letter to Eisenhower, made public late yesterday, that the military blueprint plan could work only if hinged to a general reduction of armament and the outright prohibition of atomic weapons.

He said the President's companion proposal for aerial inspections to guard against surprise attack is impractical "under present conditions," listing several reasons why it wouldn't work.

In any event, Bulganin said, it would have to be extended to military bases in other countries and would also have to be tied to general disarmament and a ban on nuclear weapons.

The point the Soviet leader overlooked completely, according to the President's staff, was that Eisenhower's proposals were never intended to be disarmament plans.

Their purpose, the staff pointed out, was rather to set the stage for eventual disarmament by easing world tensions with a practical demonstration of peaceful intent by the two major atomic powers.

The only encouragement Bulganin's letter gave to presidential aides was in its cordial, conciliatory tone.

The Soviet premier praised Eisenhower's "sincere desire" to find a way to ease world tensions. Bulganin noted that the Soviet Union has agreed to accept a British-French proposal to put a ban on atomic weapons into effect at a future date. He also pointed out that Russia has a "common point of view" with the Western bloc three on establishing limitations on the size of the armed forces.

But he appeared from his letter to be firmly rooted to the position that there is no point in discussing the Eisenhower proposals without tying them into a comprehensive disarmament program.

Eisenhower remains just as firm in his conviction that it is pointless to discuss disarmament until the sincerity of both sides is tested by a preliminary step such as the ones he has proposed.

Lonardi Mulls Cabinet Posts

Argentina's New Chief Trying to Get Civilians Into Government

BUENOS AIRES (INS)—Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi gets down to the brass tacks of day-to-day government today when he starts considering members of Argentina's cabinet-to-be.

The man who led the successful fight to depose dictator Juan D. Peron and promised his nation a "rule by law," said yesterday that most of the members of the new cabinet would be civilians and, if possible, not politicians.

The new government, which has received the diplomatic recognition of Spain, Chile, Peru and Uruguay, still was faced with the problem of quelling the riots spearheaded by these segments still loyal to Peron.

Disorders organized in Rosario, Argentina's second largest city, were crushed when tear gas was shot into the crowd and troops seized the headquarters of the General Confederation of Labor, once part of the backbone of Peronism.

Casualties were high as armored cars fired into advancing Peronist columns. One eyewitness said the dead and wounded were piled up at street intersections.

Lesser riots broke out in Buenos Aires' outskirts and other parts of the country of Argentina's inaugural day.

President Lonardi promised in his inaugural speech, delivered from the balcony of the government house to more than a million Argentines, to restore constitutional liberties in the country.

Dodger Fan Starts Series Queue Early

NEW YORK (INS)—Patrolman Dan Ivers took a double take at 3 a.m. today when he saw John Barr, 39, an unemployed moving man, setting up a cot in the rain under the overhang at Ebbets Field.

"What goes?" he asked.

"I want to be first in line for a Dodger ticket," Barr told him.

That puzzled Ivers. The first World Series game in Brooklyn is next Friday. That's a long wait. Ivers called the station and was told to let Barr stay if he wanted to but it would be a long wait.

Barr said his wife would bring him meals. Barr added he is the father of seven children.

Kidnaped Baby Hunt Continues

Diaper Theft Reports Localize Police Search to San Jose Area

SAN FRANCISCO (P)—Hundreds of policemen, pressing a desperate search for week-old Robert Marcus, knew today only that a woman resembling the untidy, buxom blonde kidnaper:

1. Is in the San Jose area, 45 miles south of here;

2. Is stealing diapers, and

3. Does not know, apparently, much about caring for a tiny infant.

Those slight clues centered the biggest search in northern California history. The baby was stolen from Mt. Zion Hospital in San Francisco last Monday.

The hunt continued at other California points also with tips coming from as far east as Sacramento and as far north as Marin County. Police vainly tracked down another from Atlantic City, N.J.

FURTHE WOMAN

Two women told San Jose police of a turtleneck woman who stole diapers. The latest of those accounts came from Mrs. Lois Freeman who saw a woman "shuffling away from the back of the house" just before she missed several diapers and two baby gowns from a clothes line.

The baby's father, Dr. Sanford Marcus, sleeplessly worried both about his new son and about the mother, Hanna, 29.

"I just want my baby," is all the mother murmured from her hospital bed. Mrs. Marcus' parents and her brother were killed in Nazi concentration camps and she was smuggled out of Germany.

'It's Shameful' Shouts NAACP About Acquittal

Brothers Jailed to Wait Kidnap Charge; Jurors Took but 67 Minutes

SUMNER, Miss. (P)—An all white jury, composed mainly of Delta cotton farmers, acquitted two white storekeepers of the murder of a 14-year-old Chicago Negro boy yesterday, but the half-brothers spent the night in a neighboring county jail.

Roy Bryant, 24, and John Milam, 36, still face charges of kidnaping Emmett Louis Till from the sharecropper shack in Leflore County where he was vacationing with his uncle, Mose Wright.

The two men were tried in Tallahatchie County because a battered, bullet pierced body—buried as Till's, but later rejected by the jury—was fished from the muddy Tallahatchie River inside the county line.

Jury Foreman J. A. Shaw said identification of the body was the deciding factor in the one hour seven minute deliberation that resulted in an innocent verdict on the third ballot.

"The verdict is as shameful as it is shocking," said the National A.A.P.C. for the Advancement of Colored People in a statement from its New York headquarters. "The jurors who returned it deserve a medal from the Kremlin for meritorious service in communism's war against democracy."

Bryant and Milam spent the night in the Leflore County Jail in Greenwood when their attorneys differed with state officers over the amount of bond needed for their release under the kidnap charges.

Defendants Face NAACP $100,000 Damage Suits

CHICAGO (INS)—An attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has reiterated that four white principals in the Emmett Louis Till murder case would be sued for $100,000 each.

William Henry Huff, a lawyer representing the Chicago branch of the NAACP, said the suits would name Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam, who were acquitted yesterday of murder by an all-white jury at Sumner, Miss., Mrs. Roy Bryant, and Leslie Milam, brother of J. W. Milam.

The attorney explained that the basis of the suits would be damage done to Mrs. Mamie Bradley by the "kidnap-murder" of her son, Emmett.

Mrs. Bryant, the pretty mother of two boys, who testified a Negro man molested her Aug. 24, said with a pained smile: "I'm (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Fuel Oil Flood Clogs Up M24

Overtured Trailers Dump 5,000 Gallons; Driver Hurts Ankle

Two loaded trailers of a fuel oil tanker truck overturned yesterday south of Lake Orion on M24, spilling 5,000 gallons into the road and ditch and blocking traffic for four hours.

The driver received a sprained ankle.

The diesel-powered tanker, loaded with 8,300 gallons of oil, was headed south at about 35 miles per hour when a mechanical failure caused the tractor to speed up, Oakland County Sheriff's deputies reported.

Driver Edward H. Sadach, 33, of Clawson said the truck wheels began spinning on the upgrade, and the vehicle jackknifed and overturned.

Trucks from Orion Township fire department stood by to prevent a fire, and Lake Orion police and sheriff's deputies re-routed traffic.

Safety Council Commends Accident Record of City

Commendations for past achievements in traffic safety and recommendations for further improving the record were given to the city of Pontiac by the National Safety Council Friday.

In its analysis of the city's 1954 report on traffic safety activities, the council commended the decrease in the death rate. Where 16 persons had died in traffic in 1951 and 8 each in 1952 and 1953, only 5 died in 1954, for a decrease of 53 per cent from the 3-year average.

The analysis, presented by Cpl. Hubert L. Potter, of the Michigan State Police, also noted that 400 persons were injured in 1954, less than the average of 402 for the three preceding years.

"The city is commended for having reduced both traffic deaths and injuries during 1954," the analysis said, "but at least 38 of the 100 cities in the group (in which Pontiac is placed) had fewer traffic deaths last year than Pontiac."

The council termed "well qualified and effective" the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce for its work in public safety education programs. Business and civic organizations which conduct traffic safety projects last year also were commended.

Chief Herbert W. Straley, who heard the analysis presentation along with other police and city officials and representatives of other organizations interested in traffic safety, said:

"Our success has been due to increased manpower in the Traffic and Safety Bureau. We plan to put more men into the bureau."

The latter plan will follow one of the council's suggestions which calls for adding 17 men to the police force, 10 of them to this bureau.

Other recommendations under the traffic supervision category were:

That the low arrest rates in hit-and-run cases be examined as to cause, and improved.

That pedestrians be held accountable for dangerous acts just as motorists are, by arrest and conviction for traffic law violations.

That more effort be made to apprehend drinking drivers and convict them on specific driver intoxication charges.

That chemical tests for intoxication be expanded to cover all driver-intoxication suspects.

That traffic activity by general duty uniformed officers not assigned regularly to traffic be increased.

Traffic law violation investigations resulted in arrests in only 23 per cent of the cases, the council said. "Fifty-five per cent or more of at-the-scene investigations should produce evidence to warrant arrest of one or more drivers," it stated.

Straley agreed with another phase of the analysis which suggested that juvenile violators should be handled in the same

YMCA Adult Campaign Produces 237 Enrollees During First Week

The YMCA's adult membership enrollment campaign, which got started this morning, rolled, according to general secretary, John Hirtlinger, general chairman of the adult drive, heads four "football team" divisions, who are competing in the drive to sign up new members.

James Jenkins is captain of the 17-man "All Americans." Arnold Whittaker is leading the "All Stars," Robert Sutton, the "Pros," and Richard Fisher, the "Alumni."

Teams receive bonus money for points acquired by signing up members. A dinner Sept. 29 will end the adult phase of the drive. At that time, campaign workers will exchange their fake money for gifts, donated by Y members, which will be auctioned off at the dinner.

Not Guilty Verdict Given in Till Trial

very happy. I feel a lot better than I did yesterday on the witness stand."

Before the trial, officers said the 21-year-old woman was the object of Till's wolf whistle. But on the stand, as a defense witness, she mentioned no names in relating the episode at the store. Her husband's attorneys used this lack of identification to demand of the state: "Where's the motive?"

TESTIMONY WITHHELD

Part of her testimony was withheld from the jury and she was never cross examined.

Two officers corroborated Wright's testimony that Bryant and Milam abducted Till from the sharecropper shack near the little town of Money where Bryant runs a general store. The officers said the men admitted it in pretrial questioning.

The storekeepers did not testify in their defense, but before the trial they claimed to have released Till unharmed because Mrs. Bryant said he was not the Negro who grabbed her around the waist and made an indecent proposal.

The state built its case around eye witnesses, like the 64-year-old Wright, to the pre-dawn abduction and around the testimony of a 17-year-old Negro boy who said he heard "ticks and hollering" coming from a barn owned by Milam's brother in Sunflower County.

Shaw said the jury ignored the boy's testimony and was unimpressed with the appearance of Mrs. Mamie Bradley, Till's widowed mother, who came down from Chicago and tearfully insisted the body was her son's.

"There was a reasonable doubt," said the jury foreman about the identification of the body.

Shaw said three ballots were taken before the jury reached its verdict. He said the first ballot showed 9 of the 12 for acquittal, with 3 undecided; the second ballot 10 for acquittal with 2 still undecided; and that the third ballot was unanimous for acquittal.

Negatives are eligible for jury duty in Mississippi if they are registered voters but there are none in Tallahatchie County. Women do not serve on a jury.

Dist. Atty. Gerald Chatham had no quarrel with the verdict. "The right of trial by jury," he said, "is a sacred guarantee of the U. S. Constitution. I accept it and abide by it." He did not elaborate.

At the all-Negro town of Mound Bayou, Miss., Mrs. Bradley said she left before the jury came in. "I was expecting an acquittal and it didn't want to be there when it happened."

She was accompanied by Rep. Charles Diggs, a Negro congressman from Michigan who attended the trial. Like the NAACP, Diggs praised the judge and prosecution but sharply criticized defense witnesses and the jury.

Hawaii House Made From PAGES

Nature's pages bring about the most beautiful results, for she can create in color and composition. Her palette has inspired costume couturiers, interior decorators, and, perhaps most of all—architects.

Furthermore, nature's components achieve character and charm with age, much like a beautiful woman, growing lovelier with maturity.

A case in point is a 20-year-old vacation house on the beach of Oahu in Hawaii. This comfortable and attractive structure, built of unfinished fir lumber, has withstood incessant rainstorms and tropical weather freakishness for nearly a quarter of a century, weathering gracefully to a soft driftwood gray.

This house, owned by friends of vacationing George Whittier, A.I. A., so impressed the prominent northwest architect that wood has become one of his prime construction materials in western residential design.

SINGLE WALL

Whittier points out that the Oahu house, built of vertical for siding has only a single wall with exposed studs on the inside. The rough fir floors have been polished by surf bathers' bare feet for a generation and have taken on a smooth patina almost impossible to attain with sanding and finishing.

"And the house fits so comfortably into the site," Whittier says, "The weathered gray rough siding blends with the foliage, the sea, and looks as though it might have been planted there along with the vegetation."

Whittier notes that the fir construction of the cottage gives the occupant a feeling of complete casualness, so necessary in a vacation spot, and increasingly desirable in all of today's informal living.

Traditional Furniture Also Saves Space

NEW YORK (INS)—Modern furniture doesn't have a monopoly on space-saving features—some traditional pieces fit this category, too.

The dining room table is one case in point, a particularly useful one because dining-living areas are so popular today.

There's a combination drop-leaf and extension model which can "grow" from a rectangular side table to a card or small family dining table by pulling up the sides. It can be enlarged to formal dining size by adding leaves.

Not only does this come in fruitwood with brass ferrules for the modern look, but it is available in English, 18th Century English and French provincial styles, with prices ranging from $200 to $300.

The English model is mahogany with round, tapered and fluted legs. The French provincial version is made of fruitwood with cabriole legs, lyre pedestal and shaped top. The 18th Century English table has an English yew top, Honduras mahogany legs and square, tapered, fluted legs.

Wash Chenille Spreads Separately in Machine

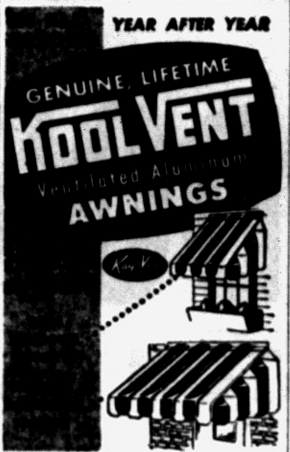

If you have chenille bedspreads, the special care to wash them separately in the machine because they have a tendency to lint. Use warm water; and remember that a combination of soaking and agitation is better than prolonged agitation since less tufting will be lost.

If you soak your chenille spreads for 15 minutes in a detergent solution, then 2 to 3 minutes washing should be adequate. When line drying, hang right sides together. This helps fluff the spread. Then shake frequently to restore the fluffiness and brush when the spread is dry.

If you're lucky enough to own an automatic clothes dryer, the machine will restore the original fluffiness without brushing or shaking, but be sure to tumble the spread in the dryer until it is completely dry.

Let Professional Work

Your piano should be cleaned professionally once a year, according to an authority on the care of musical instruments. The expert should remove the "action," meaning the piano's hammers and escapement mechanism, "using a good vacuum cleaner to pick up dust that is bound to settle on all flat surfaces. More than one fastidious homemaker has been amazed at the amount of dust found in her piano."

Year 'round comfort, all-weather protection, colorful beauty for the life of your home!

Plate Glass Mirrors Suitable in Offices

Polished plate glass mirrors are especially suitable to modern offices. They can range from a single framed mirror highlighting the room to an entire wall of mirror panels. In either case, the room will take on an appearance of added spaciousness, its general lighting level will be effectively raised and the decorative value of furniture, draperies and carpeting elsewhere in the room will be literally doubled.

Mirror designers have announced new styles in framing. Among them: Frames of hand-wrought iron which encircle the mirror in broad rectangles, a succession of large scallops or a tight iron mesh in a heavier iron border; frames of highly polished woods fitted with brass or silver ferrules in the manner of contemporary furniture; a thin frame of wood around a mirror etched with acid in modern leaf and stalk designs; frames of translucent plastic containing delicate sprigs of sea fern and heather.

Canadian asbestos shipments totaled 924,116 tons in 1954, an increase of 1.4 per cent over the 1953 figure.

Overworking Concrete Ruins Wearing Quality

Overworking wet concrete is the major cause of trouble in home installation and the easiest to avoid. You want just enough of the finer particles brought to the surface to promote a long wearing finish. Overworking brings too much water and concrete paste to the surface, resulting in "soft" concrete with a network of fine cracks, scaling, and dusting.

Finishing is better and more easily done during moderate weather conditions. Freezing temperatures cause powdering; heat, dryness, and windiness bring about premature set. Experts work only during the cool of the morning or evening on hot summer days.

No Time at All

It takes only about four hours to replace your worn-out wood hatchway with a modern steel basement door. Any handyman can install a steel door. Placed over the steps leading to your basement, it will provide permanent protection against snow and ice.

By 1874, one large New York manufacturer was turning out bathtubs at the rate of four or five a day.

Use Paper Plate

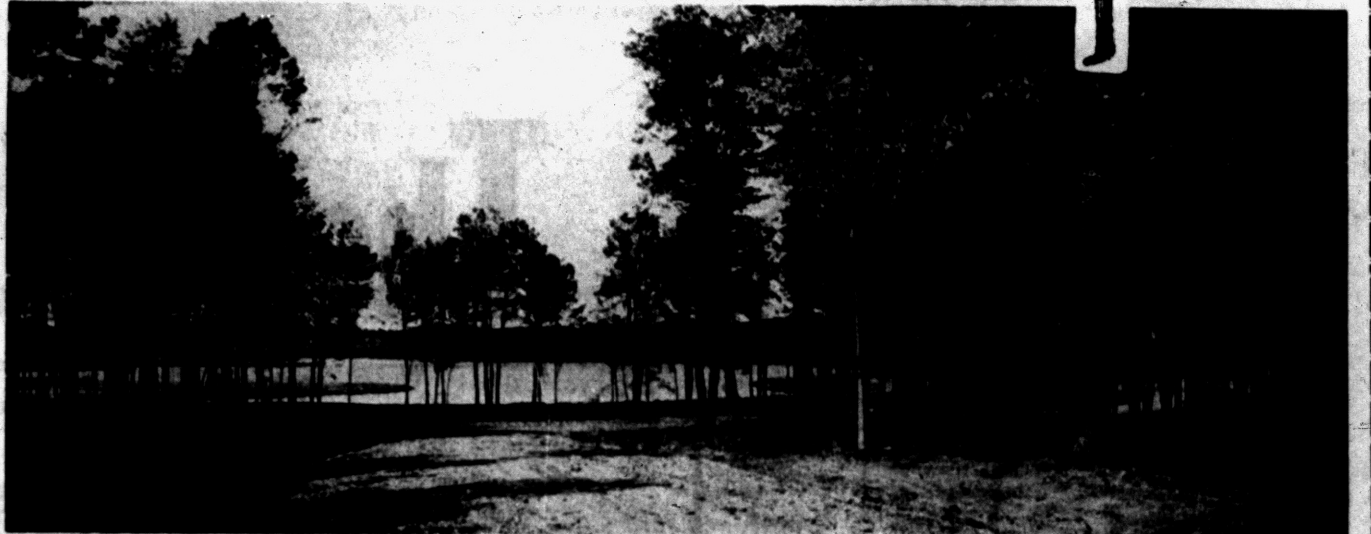

A paper plate under a paint can will adhere to the can preventing paint rings from getting on floors and furniture and afford a handy place to lay a paint brush.

Little Chair-Stools Delight Children

By STEVE ELLINGSON
VAN NUYS, Calif. — It's hard to remember, but I'm sure infancy never was what it's cracked up to be. Children, not knowing that they are having an easy time, have a good many hard times. Growing and learning and obeying the rules of their elders, are not easy things to do. As a matter of fact, most children have to raise their parents and that's a very difficult thing to do.

Actually, I believe there's another reason for children, other than keeping up the human race.
They have a way of enlarging the hearts of adults.

Think of the selfish and unsympathetic people who have learned to be unselfish and tender because of children. It's children who give adults higher aims. Without kids, half of our facilities and energies would never be used. But most of all, they bring to our dinner table bright faces, happy smiles, and loving tender hearts. They are agents of God, sent here every day to teach love, and hope and peace.

The first duty to children is to make them happy. If you have wronged them, no other good they may get can make up for that.
The second duty to children is to teach them to take care of themselves. You can never do this unless you let them try to take care of themselves. They will make mistakes, but out of these mistakes will come wisdom.

TAKE LITTLE BOBBY

Now you take young Bobby Muswick who is going to be an N B C television actor some day and who is pictured here with his young sister. He's a happy boy.
He's made a few mistakes, but he knows how to take care of himself.
He looks after his sister too.

Bobby has a fine father and they do almost everything together, like making the little step chairs you see in the picture.

These little chairs are mighty handy for youngsters. Place one in front of the wash basin, then he can step up and be tall enough to wash his hands or brush his teeth. It also may be used on a regular dining room chair, where it will serve as a high chair. As you can see it has a back that moves up for sitting or serves as a step when it's down. A child can sit low enough and not disturb the vision of those behind him.
The fact that it has moving parts and is as much a toy as furniture, pleases all kids.

EASY TO BUILD

This step chair is very easy to build with a full size pattern. All you need are a few scraps of wood, saw it out and finally put it together. The pattern tells you everything you need to know. Because it's an easy project, it's suitable for beginners.

Aussies Argue 'Bard' Not for School Kids

SYDNEY, Australia—A suggestion that Shakespeare's plays and Dickens' novels should not be taught in Australian schools has started a controversy here.

Dr. Colin Roderick, an educator, said: "The way Shakespeare is taught now condemns him in the minds of children for all time."

Katherine Hepburn, recently appearing with the Old Vic company in Australia, agreed. The bard wrote his plays for actors and they belong on the stage, she said.

Of Dickens, Dr. Roderick said that such rambling chronicles as "Pickwick Papers" are for seasoned readers and should not be "rammed down youngsters' throats."

Colonists Encouraged

To encourage colonization, settlers in Canada and in some of the American colonies were given by their government four small lights of glass to make a single window in a log cabin.

Home ownership, which was once considered a luxury limited to the wealthy, is now enjoyed by 47 per cent of the nation's families.

NEW DISTRICT OFFICE — The Life Insurance Company of Virginia officially opened its new district offices this week. The one-story brick building contains a manager's office, conference room, large general office and space for the clerical staff. The structure was built by Robert Bruce to the company's specifications.

Insurance Firm Opens Building

The Life Insurance Co. of Virginia's new district office building at 1080 West Huron Street was officially opened on Friday.

Top-ranking officials of the firm came from the company's home office in Richmond to attend the opening.

The new building, one-story brick structure of modern design was planned to fit local needs and was erected to the insurance company's specifications. It is being occupied under a long term lease.

The building, which is completely air-conditioned, has a large and attractive lobby; a conference room for the convenience of policyowners and the public; a private office for the manager; a large area which provides individual desk space for the four associate managers and the 24 full-time agents who comprise the district's sales and service staff; and a space for the clerical staff, composed of a cashier and two clerks.

The landscaped lot on which the building is located provides parking space for the convenience of policyowners.

Established in 1871, Life of Virginia today has almost two billion dollars life insurance in force. It's Pontiac district office which was opened December 31, 1928, now provides more than $19,500,000 in life insurance protection and a large volume of hospital and surgical protection for families of this community.

Louis Pohl has been manager of the local office since September, 1945.

Army Vehicles Readied for Standardized Parts

NEW YORK (INS) — The U.S. Army has developed standardized, interchangeable engines and parts for tanks and wheeled transport that increase combat efficiency and will save an estimated $360,000,000 during the next ten years. Steelways, publication of The American Iron and Steel Institute, said the new development is seen as giving the infantry about 80 per cent more fire power.

Irish in 1st U.S. Army

WASHINGTON—The muster rolls of Washington's Continental Army, which never numbered more than 25,000 names, contained more than 4,000 Irish names with the Kellys alone totaling 695.

Gotland Served Bronze Age as Trade Center

STOCKHOLM — On the Baltic island of Gotland many graves from the Bronze Age (1500 to 500 B. C.) have been found. One parish on the island can boast more Anglo-Saxon coins from the years 950 to 1050 A. D. than there are in Great Britain. At one time during the Middle Ages the Gotlanders were "special purveyors" to the British kings.

The Gotlanders were mighty seafarers and traders more than 1,000 years before the birth of Christ. Once Gotland was the most important trading center in northern Europe.

In all Scandinavia there are about 8,000 silver coins from the first two centuries A. D. Of these, 6,000 were found on Gotland.

Special Service Bureau Set Up for Old Items

NEW YORK — Special service bureaus have been set up in the New York Sanitation Department for disposal of bulky litter, like old furniture and bedsprings that is too big for the department's regular collection trucks.

Under the program, an individual calls the bureau in his borough and arranges a time for a special open truck to call at his home and remove the bulky junk.

Arson Arrests in U.S. Increase 2 Per Cent

NEW YORK — Two per cent more arson arrests were made in the United States in 1954 than the year before and convictions climbed about one per cent.

The number of arson investigations made by special agents of the National Board of Fire Underwriters during the year totaled 3,513—an increase of 46 over 1953. Arrests totaled 619, a rise of 15 over 1953; convictions numbered 339, five over 1953.

They're available from electrical supply houses, kitchen distributors and electrical contractors.

Waterford Hill Homes Planned

The orchard-covered slopes and evergreen-encrusted top of Waterford Hill are about to have changes made. Announcement has been made of a new subdivision, Waterford Hill Manor, to be developed in the area by White Brothers.

Winding roads are already in, and lots ranging from 100 to 150 in width and from half to three-quarters of an acre deep are now available. Their price range is from $3200 to $19,000. It is expected that homes built in this new subdivision will be in the $30,000 to $50,000 class.

Because of the difficulties of breaking into Dixie Highway traffic, it is expected that the principal entrance to Waterford Hill Manor will be from Andersonville road. A second minor entrance may open from the Dixie, south side of the hill.

A recreation area and community building are in the plans, as well as a bridge, toboggan slides, ski runs and picnic sites. There are no plans at present for making home sites out of the crest of the hill, long a landmark in the county.

LAKE ON BORDER

Van Norman Lake borders the new subdivision. There is a possibility of providing more lakefront lots by dredging out swamps and creating additional lakes.

Most of the roads already constructed on Waterford Hill follow the loop pattern. There are no dead end streets that may be continued some time in the future; there are only a few courts opening off main streets.

Use Pipe Clamp to Tighten That Stubborn Door

Exterior doors can and do stick for a lot of reasons and one of these is that the doors are coming apart at the seams. They come apart at the seams because they are not kept painted and water gets into the joints and softens up the glue that holds the pieces together.

Pretty soon the joint starts to come apart and that means the door will stick. The most common spot to find this trouble is on the lower outside corner of an outside door for this is the spot that gets a good deal of snow and rain.

The sides, top and bottom of a panel door are put together with a mortise and tenon joint. The joint is made up with glue. In this day and age it's possible to use glue for work of this sort that aren't bothered by moisture but this was not the case just a few years back.

With older doors as soon as water got into the joint, the joint started to come apart. The only way to prevent this occurring is to keep the edges of the door well coated with paint.

When the frame of a door starts to pull apart, the first thing is to get it back together. For this you need a good side clamp—a bar or pipe clamp.

Put the clamp near the base of the door and tighten up to pull the frame together. Once the frame is tight again, the problem is how to keep it like that. Glue can't very well be used because it can't be worked into the joint very easily.

A metal mending plate set into the wood is good but a better method is to drill a 1/2" hole right through the joint and insert a 1/2" glued dowel. This should be as long as the door is thick and should hold things from coming apart for a good time to come.

Clothes Driers Rise

NEW YORK — There were 898,000 automatic home clothes driers produced in the United States in 1954, a 29 per cent increase over 1953. One gas drier was sold for every three electric units, according to the American Home Laundry Manufacturers Association.

Greater Return for 'Nest Eggs'

Long-Term Thrift Pays Greater Dollar Returns
as Investments Boom

NEW YORK — The average American's "nest egg" is steadily growing and the long-term thrift and investment programs which have been built up over the years are bringing to the saver a greater dollar return in the aggregate than ever before.

At the same time the American people have made a record provision for the future to protect the individual and family, not only in accumulated savings and investments but also in life insurance and pension and retirement programs.

Figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce show that the aggregate return on accumulated personal savings and investments crossed the $35 billion mark for the first time last year.

This sum represents the combination of personal interest income, dividends and rental income tabulated by the Department of Commerce in its compilation of the sources of personal income.

It does not include any return of principal such as occurs in withdrawals from savings accounts, sale of real estate or securities, etc.

The aggregate return on personal savings and investments in 1954 was up nearly $2 billions over the year before, and added up to two and three-quarters times the comparable figure in 1940.

It also contributed approximately $1 out of every $8 in all personal income before taxes last year, indicating the magnitude that the people's savings and investment programs have attained as a result of their persistent thrift.

Damage Suit Brought Against Habel Company

The U. S. District Attorney's office yesterday filed a $8,566 damage suit in Detroit Federal Court against the former Jack Habel Chevrolet Co., of Pontiac.

The government claim results from alleged loss or damaging of 23 post office vehicles stored in the Habel garage when it burned here March 3, 1954.

U. S. District Attorney Rodney C. Kropf said the suit claims negligence on the part of employees at the garage.

Navy Specifies Plastic for Electrical Fittings

WASHINGTON — The Navy has specified the use of nylon plastic for one type of electrical fitting in all new ship construction. Use of the plastic fitting makes possible a reduction of 30 to 45 tons in the weight of large aircraft carriers. The plastic "stuffing tube" is used to form a watertight seal where an electrical cable enters a fixture or terminal box.
