Suburban Crime Jump Tied to Population Rise, Apathy

NEW YORK (AP)—Police officials say suburbia's soaring population, public apathy and small police forces contribute to the pace-setting crime rise in the suburbs, and Associated Press survey shows.

Millions of Americans have escaped to the suburbs. But criminals apparently have joined in the exodus from the cities.

The FBI said yesterday the suburbs paced a 5 per cent increase in the nation's reported crimes in 1965.

Crime in suburbia was up by 8 per cent over 1964, with 12 per cent more rape and 15 per cent more robbery.

"Certainly our crime rate is growing, but then so is our population. They follow together," says Donald Meehan, police chief of Alhambra, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles.

'USED TO BE ELSEWHERE'

"We're getting some of the crime that used to be elsewhere," said Police Chief John O. Kenyon of Overland Park, Kan., which is 12 miles from downtown Kansas City and one of the 10 fastest growing communities in the nation.

In Yonkers, just outside New York City, Safety Commissioner Daniel F. McMahon says: "We're part of the national picture—lowering of moral standards and a growing disrespect for law and authority, and we haven't been helped by court decisions."

One of the major problems facing suburban communities is that their police forces have not kept up with the population.

"We're just not able to get the personnel, and we haven't had the personnel for 10, 12, 14 years now," said Chief James F. Corr of Lexington, Mass., a suburb of Boston. He said he needs 65 policemen, but has only 34.

'TOO MANY PROFS'

"Perhaps because we're the affluent society, I don't think too many parents say to their children, 'You ought to be a policeman,'" Corr said. "There are too many professors and architects here."

Chief Meehan of Alhambra says: "We're getting calls now for things we never did 25 years ago.

"We're expected to check routine domestic squabbles.

"The citizenry is expecting and getting more services without an appreciable boost in our manpower.

"We have to get the citizens to help us if we're to make a real effort against crime."

Ford: Dem's Viet Discord Is Like a Football Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., a former football player and coach, used gridiron terminology yesterday to describe what he called "Democratic division and discord over Viet Nam."

FORD

In a speech to the League of Republican Women here, he humorously likened it to a championship game between the Democratic administration and "The Big Red Team":

"The head coach, LBJ, before the kickoff painfully is pleading for unity. In the huddle on the first play, the team's new quarterback, Hurry-up Hubert, calls the signals.

TRIPS BALL CARRIER

"If this isn't enough trouble for LBJ and Hurry-up Hubert, on almost every play the rollout left halfback, Wayne Morse, deliberately trips that flash ball carrier, whipping boy Russell Long.

"Whenever there is time out, water boy Bill Moyers dashes on the field to save the day by sticking a wet sponge in the mouths of all he can corral."

And, amid applause from the audience, Ford said:

"Just as this lack of teamwork would be disastrous in a football game, in the serious Viet Nam situation it can lead only to prolongation of the war, undermining the morale of our fighting men and encouragement of the Communist aggressor."

Mackie Considering Race for Governor

DETROIT (AP)—Democratic Congressman John C. Mackie says he'll make up his mind by the end of next week whether he'll run for governor.

Mackie, a freshman congressman and former state highway commissioner, said yesterday it's a "50-50" situation.

He said he is sounding out support in his 7th Congressional District, including Lapeer and Genesee counties.

However, he said yesterday, "I would love to take on George Romney." He said "party people are turning to me again."

The field of possible Democratic challengers of Republican Gov. Romney has narrowed.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit has said he doesn't want to run.

Heaviest U.S. Raids Pummel North Viets

4 Planes Are Lost in Devastating Attack; Ground Battle Ends

SAIGON (UPI)—A U.S. military spokesman today disclosed that Air Force and Navy planes carried out the most devastating attack of the war on Communist North Viet Nam. Four planes were lost, presumably shot down by antiaircraft fire.

The raids were flown yesterday against military and communications targets from one end of the country to the other. They came as American and South Vietnamese ground forces wound up one of the most successful campaigns of the war in the south.

The four planes lost, all from the Air Force, were two F105 Thunderchiefs and two F101 reconnaissance aircraft. All went down in the panhandle region along the southeast coast.

The U.S. spokesman under security regulations could not reveal the number of sorties flown in yesterday's raids but said the individual strikes were the most ever over the north. The previous known high was 240 sorties in a single day.

U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops ended Operation Utah which trapped the 36th North Vietnamese Regiment in a valley 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

A spokesman said about 1,100 Communist troops were estimated killed since last Friday, 556 confirmed by body count.

STRATEGIC BLOW

The massive air strike yesterday enabled U.S. pilots for the first time to hit the strategic Son La petroleum complex 60 miles south-southeast of historic Dien Bien Phu.

Dublin Blast Ruins Statue of Lord Nelson

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Police picked up six men today for questioning about the explosion that wrecked the 134-foot Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin. The six were not identified.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A mighty explosion wrecked the 134-foot Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin early today, sending England's greatest admiral sprawling in the Irish dust amid a thousand tons of stone and rubble.

Police blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which long has regarded the monument as an insult to Ireland.

The IRA has shown signs of stepping up its activity in connection with the 50th anniversary next month of the 1916 Easter uprising against the British.

The explosion at 1:30 a.m. knocked off the top two-thirds of the towering column. It blocked O'Connell Street, the city's main thoroughfare, and threw the morning rush hour into chaos.

★ ★ ★

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION

The statue was erected by public subscription in 1809 to commemorate Adm. Lord Nelson's great victory over the French at the 1805 Battle of Trafalgar.

The Irish complained about it from the moment the subscription list opened. Successive city councils voted to pull it down, but until today nothing decisive was done.

Canadians Raise Price of Newsprint

The increase to $144 a ton from $134 f.o.b., was made by Domtar Newsprint, Ltd., Bowater Paper Corp.'s North American Group, MacMillian, Bloedel & Powell River and Crown Zellerbach Corp.

Industry sources said other producers for the eastern market are likely to follow.

Warming Trend on Way

A warming trend with a chance of showers is headed this way, due to arrive sometime tonight or tomorrow.

Temperatures will fall to 28 to 35 tonight and aim for highs of 37 to 45 tomorrow. Partly cloudy with little temperature change is the outlook for Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Morning variable winds at 5 to 15 miles per hour will increase to 10 to 18 miles tonight.

Fowler, Hudson Face Fights

Twelve contestants for the April 18 general election were selected yesterday as Pontiac electors trimmed the field of aspirants for City Commission.

According to unofficial results, all six incumbents involved in primary balloting will be on the April 18 ballot.

However, two incumbents—T. Warren Fowler Sr., in District 1 and Leslie H. Hudson in District 4—may face an uphill fight for reelection.

There were 6,022 ballots, or 19.6 per cent of the 30,081 eligible, cast in yesterday's city primary elections.

The under 20 per cent turnout contrasts with the 41 per cent turnout in 1964 primary balloting. There were 10,572 votes cast in 1964.

There were two winners yesterday in each of the six district primaries.

Representing District 1 in the April 18 general election will be Charles M. Tucker Jr., 33, of 161 Earlemoor and incumbent Fowler, 59, of 59 Lake.

★ ★ ★

DOWNTOWN BUSINESSMAN

Yesterday's balloting in District 2 nominated Robert C. Irwin, associated with a real estate and insurance firm, and Kenneth H. Cumberworth, a downtown businessman.

Irwin, 36, of 345 W. Iroquois received 676 votes, while Cumberworth, 50, of 32 Newberry tallied 93 votes.

Making his second bid for a commission seat, George Grba, 35, of 28 Kimball, a county employe, outdistanced incumbent Hudson, 43, of 361 Gallogly in the District 4 primary.

Grba, who carried all five of the district's precincts, received 518 votes to Hudson's 347. Hudson is a real estate salesman and owns a hardware store.

Nominated in District 5 were John A. Dugan, 57, of 363 Nelson, a Pontiac Motor Division employe, and William B. Hine, 31, of 490 DeSota, an employe at GMC Truck & Coach Division.

See Precinct Vote Totals, Page A-3

IN SECOND PLACE

Finishing second in District 6 was Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett, 54, of 62 Mariva, a local office manager and teacher for Wayne State University, with 125 votes.

In District 7, incumbent James H. Marshall, 63, of 185 S. Jessie, a retired auto plant employe, and former Pontiac Mayor Robert A. Landry, 51, of 47 Center topped the field of five candidates.

Marshall, an incumbent by appointment, finished with 332 votes, while Landry, an auto plant worker, was close behind with 301 votes.

Since only two candidates filed, the District 3 nominees in the April 18 election will be incumbent William H. Taylor Jr., 50, of 247 Ottawa and William J. Winters, 39, of 293 Ottawa.

LARGEST NUMBER

Districts 1, 5 and 7 registered the largest number of voters yesterday. District 1 and 7 had the largest percentage of voters.

District 1 with the largest voter turnout with 1,428, also had the largest percentage with about 32 per cent of the district's 4,511 registered voters casting primary ballots.

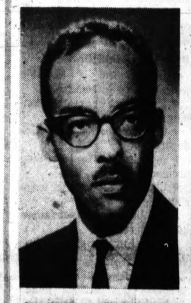

Largest single district in the city with eight voting precincts, District 5 was next in line with 1,216 voters, but this

Boat Safety Course to Be Offered

A free course in boating safety will be offered beginning tomorrow night to Pontiac area boating enthusiasts and other persons interested in water safety.

The classes will be held at the Oakland County Supervisors Auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m. and will meet on Wednesday nights for the month of March.

Joint sponsors are the State Boating Control Committee and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Local direction for the course has come from Lt. Donald K. Kratt, head of the sheriff's water safety division.

Kratt and Deputy Medward Tessier assisted in setting up the information for county residents and also obtained assistance of three degree-holding instructors with special knowledge in the field of water safety.

The course will be built around a manual just put out by the Boating Control Committee.

Classes will cover material in the booklet and participants will study the material with the assistance of a workbook corresponding to the manual.

A 25-question final examination will be given at the conclusion and all those who score 70 points or better will receive an official certificate testifying they have passed.

Suburbs Pace Rise in Crime

cers to patrol a community of 65,000 persons.

In the Atlanta, Ga., suburb of College Park crime is down 13 per cent. "This year I've had one auto stolen in two months," says Police Chief T. Owen Smith.

COOPERATION CITED

Smith said he believes the decrease stems from cooperation by Greater Atlanta authorities.

He said: "We feel that our Metropol organization has done something—the cooperation, better education, and communication."

★ ★ ★

It has no industry, no hangouts, it is dry, its population is stationary—and so is its crime rate.

BRIGHT REPORT

Winnetka has had no homicides or rapes in more than two years. Last year it had 39 burglaries and 35 major larcenies.

Chief Don Derning says residents are quick to report suspicious persons and to notify police when they are leaving town.

Many of the communities surveyed are affluent, and that means burglaries.

Waterford Council Marks Anniversary

By HUDSON WILLSE

Tomorrow marks the fifth anniversary of the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC), a group that strives to keep citizens posted on key local issues and problems.

The group, which numbers approximately 150 members, actually will celebrate its anniversary at 8 tonight during its regular monthly meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

Officers will be elected and Supt of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe will speak on the proposed $13-million bond issue to be decided at a special March 28 election.

An offspring of the Waterford Township Business and Professional Women's Club, the GWCC actually was organized Feb. 15, 1961 by a group of 29 civic-minded residents.

★ ★ ★

COMMUNITY PROJECTS

Since its inception the GWCC has undertaken several community projects, ranging from $5,100 raised for construction of two tennis courts at Waterford Township High School to the current clean-up, fix-up and beautification campaigns.

In the clean-up, fix-up campaign, the GWCC has taken measures to rid the township of junk yards, junk cars and abandoned buildings.

State legislators have been asked by GWCC members to push for legislation to enable the township to cope with these problems.

Among recommendations made by the GWCC following studies were:

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Improvement of township water and sewer facilities.
- Establishment of a planning commission.
- Civil service for the police department.
- Adoption of a food handling ordinance.
- Charterhood for the township.

All of these recommendations have been realized.

In addition, the GWCC formed the Friends of the Library group, helped get a proposed incorporation issue on the ballot and sponsors the foreign exchange student program in the township.

At each meeting, guest speakers lead discussion on current issues and problems.

Near election time, candidates of both parties are invited to speak at GWCC meetings to express their views.

Major Quake Hits East China

MOSCOW (AP) — The Central Moscow Seismograph Station recorded a major earthquake early today in the populous eastern region of Communist China, Tass reported.

The quake also was recorded in Japan and at the University of California in Berkeley.

Tass said the tremor at 12:38 a.m. Moscow time was centered in the area of Kaifeng, a large city in eastern China's Honan Province about 350 miles south of Peking.

It registered 10 on the 12-point scale used in the Soviet Union, Tass said. This equals about 8.3 on the 10-point scale used in the United States. The quake which hit Alaska on Good Friday 1964 registered 8.6 on that scale.

Japanese news correspondents in Peking said a strong earthquake shook the Chinese capital this morning, causing walls to crack and toppling furniture. They said there were no reports of casualties.

Jobless Rate Is at 3.7 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate fell last month to 3.7 per cent, the first time in nearly nine years it has been under 4 per cent, the Labor Department said today.

The sharp drop from 4 per cent in January to 3.7 per cent in February brought the jobless rate down to the lowest point since November 1953, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The total number of unemployed dropped more than 100,000 to 3,150,000. At the same time, total employment rose 300,000 to 71.6 million.

School Merger Forum Airs Brandon Opposition

A current of opposition to the proposed merger of the Brandon and Clarkston school districts was apparent last, night in a public forum of some 200 residents at Brandon High School.

Several education officials, including Roger Boline, consultant to the school reorganization and school bond loan program, Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools, and the superintendents of the respective districts, said they felt a large district could be run more efficiently than a small one.

The point was argued by numerous residents, however, who said they preferred to "retain their identity" in a small district.

"We decided to live in Ortonville because we liked the idea of a small community," said James Triplett of Hummer Lake Road.

His sentiments were echoed by several members of the audience who said they had moved from larger communities and had chosen Brandon because it is small.

One woman said she had taken her children out of a larger school because she felt they had more advantages in a small school.

ACCUSES ADULTS

Speaking on the other side of the ledger was a high school student who accused the adults of not considering their children's needs.

"Maybe we want to go to a larger school and get a better education than you did," she said. "We want to go further with our education than you did and get more out of it."

Two "newcomers" to the district said they liked the community but were disappointed with the schools.

They pointed out that the situation could be corrected by annexation or by increased taxes was only about 16 per cent of the 7,597 persons registered there.

District 7 had a 30 per cent turnout with 1,093 of its 3,613 electors voting.

★ ★ ★

Grba's showing in District 4, topping his opponents in all precincts, is a vast change from two years ago and possibly the biggest surprise of the primary.

IN 1964

In 1964, Grba was eliminated in the primary. He ran third with 517 votes, while Hudson finished on top of a four-candidate field with 811 votes.

Only 19 votes separated the second nominee, Cumberworth, with 93 and the third-place finisher, Stanley Swierczynski, 37, of 335 Dick, with 74 votes.

Precinct 3 in District 1 turned in the best voter turnout.

The 806-vote precinct had a 36 per cent turnout or 293 votes.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley said the board of canvassers would meet at 7:30 tonight to certify yesterday's results.

Marine Commander in Viet Now General

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has confirmed the promotion of Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Viet Nam, to the rank of lieutenant general.

Also confirmed yesterday was the nomination of Charles F. Baird as an assistant secretary of the Navy to succeed Victor M. Longstreet.

Police See All; Trio Charged With Robbery

Two men and a woman were to be arraigned on charges of armed robbery today after Pontiac police last night watched them execute an alleged $425 holdup.

Held at the Oakland County Jail are Melvin R. Scott, 25, of 281 Luther and Rebecca Jenkins, 19, who gave a local motel as her address.

Also in custody is Homer Crawford, 28, of 298 Howard McNeil.

Patrolmen Dallas J. Flesher and Bruce D. Jarvis said they followed Crawford in a car for about 20 minutes around 3 a.m. in the Hughes-Motor area.

PULLED GUN

Crawford allegedly pulled a gun on Glordano, and as the patrolmen watched from near-by scout cars, took $125 and a diamond ring valued at $300.

Flesher, Jarvis and patrolman Roger B. Allen then apprehended the three suspects.

Stengel Elected to Hall of Fame

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —Casey Stengel was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame today in a startling, dramatic move which took even the 75-year-old ex-manager by surprise.

Stengel's election was announced by Ford Frick, former baseball commissioner who now heads baseball's old-timer's committee, which does the voting for Hall of Fame candidates dating back before 1946.

Stengel, still using the cane which he needed following his suffering of a broken hip last July 25, was present when Frick made the announcement at Huggins-Stengel field, spring training site of the New York Mets. Casey now serves as a Mets vice president.

Elaborate NY Theater Site to Be Built

Details of the proposed development were made public Monday by Irving Felt, chairman and president of the Madison Square Garden Corp., which will own and operate the center.

The project will feature twin 39-story office towers, four motion picture theaters, two legitimate theaters and film and recording studios.

Felt said construction would begin after demolition of the 41-year-old Madison Square Garden in late 1967. A new sports and convention hall is under construction atop Pennsylvania Station, 16 blocks south of the present site.

Part of Street Vacated While Store Enlarges

BIRMINGHAM — The closing of the north half of Ann Street between Brown and Daines was approved by the City Commission last night to permit a fashion shop to enlarge its facilities.

The street is not a thoroughfare and is used by only about 300 cars daily, according to city officials.

In addition to using a portion of the vacated strip to increase the size of its building, Chudiks also plans to develop the area into a garden and pedestrian mall.

★ ★ ★

The planning board recommended that the entire section of Ann between Brown and Daines be closed, contingent upon the commission accepting one of two plans for an east-west alley in the block.

MADE OBJECTIONS

Both alley plans were rejected after property owners objected.

One of the proposals recommended that the alley run from Purdy across Ann and then dogleg to Daines on the south. This, however, would have divided the property Chudiks plans to use for parking.

The open southern section of Ann will provide an access to the parking lot and another property midway in the block.

Two other actions involving streets were taken by the commission, both stemming from the perimeter road planned to encircle the downtown business district.

LEFT TURN LANE

First, the commission authorized the widening of Maple between Chester and Bates to provide a left turn lane for east bound traffic to turn north on Bates.

The city engineering department and the city's traffic consultants, Reid and Cool, both recommended the changes.

★ ★ ★

Bates will be made one-way when the ring road is made one-way.

TRAFFIC FLOW

When this is done traffic will move counter-clockwise on Oakland, Willits, Chester, Brown and Hunter.

A public hearing on the proposed paving of Emmons between Grant and Woodward was scheduled for April 4 at 8 p.m.

Exam Asked in Teen Deaths

Mrs. Kenneth R. Ostin, 24, was arraigned in Commerce Township Court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in the Jan. 3 traffic deaths of two sisters.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ostin of 335 Main, Milford, demanded examination on the charge and was released by Justice John C. Weick on $5,000 personal bond.

Weick set examination for March 24 at the Commerce Township Hall.

The woman was released last Thursday after two months confinement in Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Ostin allegedly drove her car through a stop sign at the intersection of Carrol Lake and Wise in Commerce Township.

The car struck a school bus and then, it is charged, hit and fatally injured Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette M., 13, standing at the roadside.

MSU Prof Stays in GOP Senate Race

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein announced officially today that he will seek the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate in the August 2 primary election.

Augenstein, chairman of Michigan State University's department of biophysics, said he decided to enter the race "to give Republicans an opportunity to decide for themselves who should carry the GOP banner in this fall's election."

★ ★ ★

Speaking at a press conference at the Detroit Press Club, Augenstein said he felt "this scientific age requires more scientists in government, more government in science, and fewer politicians in either field."

'PREFERRED PICK'

Griffin was picked as the Republicans' "preferred candidate" at a party leadership meeting Feb. 19 in Lansing.

Augenstein said he questioned whether Republican leaders were wise in hanging that label on Griffin, making the primary a "cut and dried affair.

"Certainly Mr. Griffin has served the party, his state and nation well," Augenstein said. "But this does not mean that another can't serve as well or better."

President Calls for Caution to Preserve Economic Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson called today for "appropriate caution" to keep the 5-year-old economic boom rolling and reduce unemployment below the 3.7 per cent level achieved in February.

"Yet to conclude that we must proceed cautiously does not mean that we should slam on the brakes or throw the economy into reverse," Johnson said in a special manpower report to Congress.

The President ordered new government efforts to deal with manpower shortages and directed more on-the-job training programs to help employers obtain skilled workers.

"We are determined to do whatever is necessary to keep the economy expanding and avoid inflationary bottlenecks," he said.

"To sustain high employment and continue our record of price stability, we must work harder than ever to match jobs and men."

GROWING CONCERN

The report came amid growing expressions of concern by some economists that the nation may be entering an inflationary phase because of the Viet Nam war and the continuing economic surge on the home front.

The combination is putting pressure on the President to seek new taxes to siphon off excess spending power and thus relieve some of the pressure on the economy.

However, Johnson has given no public hint that he is planning any such move.

In today's message, Johnson said the decline in the key jobless rate from 4 per cent in January to 3.7 per cent in February — the lowest level in more than 12 years — was a "triumph" for the nation's economy. But he added:

"Because it does reflect an economy operating closer to the full use of its manpower resources, our celebration must be tempered with caution."

'MUST BE ALERT'

"We must be alert to assure that the pace of our advance does not become too rapid, endangering the healthy stability and sound balance of our expansion."

The President said the labor force is expected to expand by 1.6 million workers in 1966.

This means the nation must provide about 4,500 new jobs every week — to keep the unemployment rate down.

GI Job Rights Bill Due Senate Consideration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to extend the rights of servicemen to their jobs is up for Senate consideration after passage in the House yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Under present law a serviceman can get his old job back if he has served no longer than four years. The present bill would add another year if the servicemen voluntarily extends his tour of duty.

State Planners Eye Alternate I-696 Route

LANSING (UPI)—State Highway Department planners have held their first meeting on an alternate location for I-696 through Oakland and Macomb counties.

★ ★ ★

At the meeting yesterday, Department Director Howard E. Hill said the new east-west expressway will be located somewhere between 20 Mile Road and Eight Mile Road.

Location studies, he said, will include estimates of traffic load, costs and the feelings of communities affected.

Hill said a route along 20 Mile Road appears out because an expressway is planned along 21 Mile Road.

Earlier studies, he said, indicated that Eight Mile Road would also be impractical because of light traffic volume and difficulties of interchange construction.

BACKING OFF

The department announced last Wednesday that it was backing off its original plan to locate the expressway between 10 and 11 Mile roads because of objections of communities in its path. It is the first time the department has agreed to reconsider its plans for location of an interstate highway.

I-696 is planned to hook up with I-94, I-75 and I-96.

Road Confab Will Air Safety and Beauty

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The combination of safety and beauty is a prime area of discussion beginning today in Grand Rapids at opening sessions of the 51st annual Michigan Highway Conference. The event expects approximately 1,000 visitors, including engineers and road officials, to attend the sessions on design, construction, maintenance and use of roads and streets.

Egypt has an area of 363,000 square miles and of this only a tract of about 12,000 square miles are fertile.

Cityhood Backer Offers Debate

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Annexation, consolidation, incorporation and preservation — all were discussed at last night's fifth township preincorporation committee meeting at Longacre Elementary School.

The crowd, smallest in attendance to date, heard a challenge, was given an explanation and was presented with a financial study report.

Joseph T. Brennan, chairman of the committee, hurled a direct challenge at the newly formed opposition group which was organized last week as a corporation.

"I want to publicly state that I will personally meet the opposition corporation in a face-to-face debate at any mutually convenient location," said Brennan.

★ ★ ★

The opposition to which Brennan referred is a group, headed by Farmington attorney Wendell Brown, which adopted the title, Committee for the Preservation of Farmington Township.

EVERY EFFORT

Over 50 persons who attended the opposition committee's organizational meeting were promised that every effort would be made to inform them of the issues involved in the current incorporation movement.

Brown's organization has presented no formal opposition to the preincorporation committee thus far.

"I would like to explain that I think opposition is a very good thing," said Brennan. "But I mean open opposition is good."

★ ★ ★

Brennan claims that he has not heard from the opposition and as far as he knows they have not attended any of the meetings held by his committee.

'SCARE TACTICS'

The chairman added that he welcomes the opposition but personally felt they would resort to last-minute "scare tactics" rather than open debate.

"I strongly believe that the opposition will base its arguments on emotion rather than on facts," he said.

Having issued the challenge and offered an explanation on opposition, Brennan turned the meeting over to a three-member financial subcommittee which delivered its report on the advantages and disadvantages of township and city forms of government.

Clifford B. Moorhead, chairman of the subcommittee, said the study-group could find no foundation in fact, estimates or projections, to indicate that a change to city status would increase taxes in any amount above that which would result from normal demand for increased services.

He pointed out that the cash needs of the community would be based on the level of services the residents want and for which they would be willing to pay.

The committee presented a study of one "target area" which, if it were annexed by another community or chose to incorporate separately, would pose a serious loss to the community.

★ ★ ★

The area consists of about five square miles on the southwestern fringe of the township. It presently contains the community's two largest taxpayers, Independence Green subdivision and Star Cutter Co.

ESPECIALLY VALUABLE

The committee noted that this portion of the township is considered especially vulnerable because of its attraction as a tax base.

It was further pointed out that a 560-acre section of this area had nearly been annexed last year by Farmington City. The annexation attempt was defeated by only 25 votes.

The committee members stated that they could not see how the township could continue to provide good government when it is faced with a substantial loss of tax base through annexation.

★ ★ ★

When confronted with the question of possible consolidation towards the close of the meeting, Brennan said the community could consolidate at a later date but it must become a city first, and that consolidation would require the consent of all voters after gaining cityhood.

★ ★ ★

The last of the series of six meetings staged by the committee will be held March 21 at 8 p.m. at the O. E. Dunckel Junior High School, 32800 12 Mile Road.

Science took the spotlight yesterday at Avondale High School when nearly 200 chemistry and biology students filled the gymnasium with displays for the school's second annual science fair.

Covering scientific subjects from A to Z, the students designed and built the displays to demonstrate their knowledge of topics in which they were particularly interested.

Judges representing industry, schools and the professions awarded ratings of superior, excellent, good and satisfactory.

Thirty-three students received superior ratings and 71 were judged excellent.

★ ★ ★

AT COBO HALL

Judging was based on knowledge achieved, scope of project, explanation of project and originality. To receive a superior rating the student must have received superior in knowledge achieved.

★ ★ ★

Among those providing judges were the William R. Potere Funeral Home and Parke, Davis & Co. of Rochester, Pontiac Motor Division, GMC Truck & Coach Division, and Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

DISPLAY MATERIAL

Others were Consumers Power Co., National Twist Drill & Tool Co., Northwest Chemicals, Inc., Barr & Hanna for Men of Bloomfield Hills, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park and the Michigan Conservation Department.

Material for the displays was furnished by Church's Inc. of Auburn Heights.

Dr. Willard Cheek, senior physicist for General Motors Corp., emphasized the importance of science in an address to the students at noon yesterday.

Brandon Opposition Aired at School Merger Forum

to support more programs in the schools.

'RAY OF HOPE'

"The first ray of hope was when we learned there might be a merger," said one woman.

Township Supervisor Richard Wilcox reiterated his previous objections to the merger, saying he felt the board of education had not studied the matter thoroughly and that the children could get just as good an education in a small district.

The educators pointed out that annexation would not solve all their problems but that they could be solved better by a united school district than by each one alone.

★ ★ ★

"It would be foolhardy to think that this is a panacea for all our problems," said Clarkston Schools Supt. L. F. Greene, "but we have studied this thoroughly and feel that amalgamation would be beneficial to both districts.

'WILL NEED COOPERATION'

If annexation takes place, it will take the cooperation of all involved," he said. "We must have a single purpose."

Boline, school consultant, noted that reorganization can accomplish a better educational program and assure that tax monies are better spent.

Although his county office has no legal say in the matter, Dr. Emerson said he feels that a merger of the two districts shows a lot of promise.

★ ★ ★

"It won't make all your problems go away," he said, "but it will make a stronger district then two separate districts.

'NEVER A BAD ONE'

"I have seen 60 consolidations in this area and have never seen a bad one," he said.

Several residents said they feared they would lose their identity in a large district and not be fairly represented on the board of education.

In reply, Dr. Greene pointed out that in the event of annexation, everyone would have to think of the district as a single area.

★ ★ ★

Boline eased the fears of some residents by pointing out that there is no law now which forces a school district merger.

NOTES TREND

He said, however, that there is a trend toward the merger of smaller districts and that some time in the future there may be such a law.

Burl A. Glendenning, Brandon superintendent, gave three main reasons for the proposed annexation:

- A larger district would have a better chance to qualify for federal funds.
- The larger the district, the better chance there is to hire good teachers.
- The students will benefit because the district can attract specialists and provide a broader choice of subjects.

★ ★ ★

"We have kids in school today who are forced to stay in school until they are 16 and they couldn't care less about it," he said. "We have to interest them in something and we can do this better on a larger basis.

'SAME WAY'

"We're not driving Model T's anymore. We all want nice new modern cars and it's the same way with education."

Glendenning pointed out that April 4 was set as the date for the annexation vote instead of June in order to avoid a dual election.

He said the April date was also chosen to coincide with the registration deadline in Lapeer County, which includes part of the Brandon district.

If the annexation passes, the combined districts will have a total of about 100 square miles and an enrollment of about 7,000.

ONE VACANCY

Under terms of the proposed annexation, the Brandon board would be dissolved. One vacancy on the seven-man Clarkston board would be open in June.

★ ★ ★

The natural enemies of woodlands—fire, insects, disease — destroy more wood in an average year than is consumed by all of the country's wood pulp mills.

BURL A. GLENDENNING

School Chief for Brandon Resigns Post

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—Schools Supt. Burl A. Glendenning last night resigned his position, effective June 30.

Glendenning, who has been head of the Brandon schools since 1959, plans to take a position as superintendent of the Greenville School District near Grand Rapids.

Dale Fortin, president of the board of education, said Glendenning's resignation was accepted by the board "with regret."

"This is in no way contingent to the annexation," Fortin said. "The board has been aware of this since last November."

★ ★ ★

The district is in the throes of a merger with the Clarkston School District. If the proposed annexation passes on April 4, Glendenning was to become assistant superintendent under Dr. L. F. Greene, Clarkston school head.

PRIOR SERVICE

Glendenning became head of Brandon schools seven years ago after teaching for three years in the Pontiac schools. Prior to that he taught for five years in Brandon.

He recieved his bacheler of arts degree from Albion College and his master's degree in secondary administration from the University of Michigan.

Lapeer Seeks Police Post

City Manager Arnold Whitney said a letter has been sent to the State Police commissioner offering to provide temporary quarters at City Hall until permanent quarters can be constructed.

"We're right in the middle of all the State Police posts," he said, "and we feel that a post here would secure better protection on the state trunk lines in the vicinity."

In other action last night, the City Commission authorized Whitney to seek bids on the construction of a new department of public works garage.

The bids are to be opened at 7:30 p.m. March 23.

The commission also authorized the mayor and clerk to sign an agreement with architects Nurmi, Nelson, McKinley and Associates of Flint for construction of the garage.

Pontiac Twp. Barn Damaged by Blaze

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Flames which broke out around noon yesterday inflicted an estimated $3,000 damage to a barn owned by C. W. Myers of 2810 Shimmons.

Also damaged in the blaze was an undetermined amount of farm equipment stored in the barn.

The fire was extinguished by the township fire department.

The spring program, conducted by the Northwest Branch of the YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit, will be held on Tuesdays for 10 weeks.

Tailoring and reupholstering classes will meet at 9:30 a.m. and yoga and oil painting at 1 p.m.

Troy School's New System to Be Shown

TROY — A new educational system instituted at the high school last fall will be shown to interested persons in a series of tours scheduled to begin Thursday.

Guided tours of the classrooms will begin at 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. and will take about two hours.

The tours will also be conducted on March 24, April 14 and 28 and May 12 and 26.

The new system, known as the modular plan, is designed to "introduce increased flexibility into the schedule in an attempt to achieve increased quality in learning," according to Principal Joseph E. Bechard.

★ ★ ★

Under the new program, the class size, the length of class meetings, and the number and spacing of classes varies according to the nature of the subject, the type of instruction and the level and ability of the pupils.

DAY DIVIDED

Instead of the traditional six or seven-period day, the school day is divided into 24 "modules," or periods of 16 minutes each. No class meets for less than two modules or 32 minutes.

Such a schedule frees a teacher 40 to 50 per cent of the time for individual conferences with students.

★ ★ ★

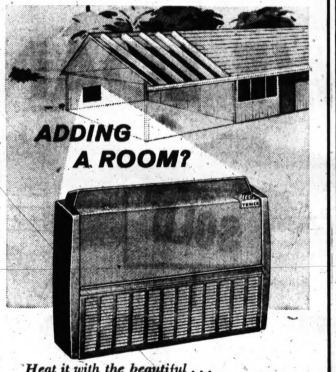

Forty-three per cent of the students' time is not scheduled but during this period he must either be in a laboratory or in study hall.

MORE SUBJECTS

The plan also allows a student to take as many as 12 subjects instead of the traditional four or five.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Trees in Hard Year

Dutch Elm Disease Up 300 Pct. in 1965

Dutch elm disease dealt Pontiac trees a severe blow last year, according to the annual report of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

The department's forestry division recorded a 300 per cent increase in 1965 over 1964 among city-owned trees.

The city removed about 300 diseased trees last year, compared to 81 in 1964, said Kenneth W. Harris, city forestry supervisor.

Harris said the disease figures for private trees are not yet complete, but a similar increase was expected.

* * *

Pontiac has about 10,000 elm trees on private and public property.

LARGE INCREASE

The annual report noted all areas of Michigan had a large increase of Dutch elm disease last year.

Most authorities agree that the weakened condition of trees due to the low water table was the main cause.

Pontiac officials are keeping close watch on experimental work being done toward control of Dutch elm disease.

SWIM PROGRAM

The center's swimming program operated 53 days out of a possible 70 days from June 29 through Labor Day. The total paid attendance was 8,492 children and 448 adults.

In 1965, Pontiac sponsored its first Amateur Athletic Union swim meet. The meet attracted nearly 1,000 spectators and 475 swimmers.

Better weather last year increased participation in the city's golf program, although the record established in 1962 of 50,035 golfers remains intact.

* * *

Some 44,810 golfers — 2,000 more than in 1964 — played nine-hole rounds on the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course in 1965.

Postmaster Nominees

Report LBJ Said 'No' to French Rule of U.S. Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post reported today that President Johnson had responded with a swift "no" to French President Charles de Gaulle's demand that U.S. troops and bases in France be put under French command and control.

Thus, Chalmers M. Roberts said in his story, the long-simmering Franco-American dispute over the future shape of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization reached a dramatic and critical point.

The Post said Johnson in effect served notice that the United States is prepared to move its military establishment out of France rather than switch it from control by NATO as a whole to that of France alone.

There were strong indications that this stand has the backing of the 13 other NATO nations, the Post said.

NO COMMENT

A spokesman at the French Foreign Ministry in Paris said he could make no comment on the Post's report.

De Gaulle's request was made in a letter to Johnson. The letter was handed to U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen by Maurice Couve de Murville.

HANDED REPLY

De Gaulle's letter reached Washington at 3 p.m. at 7:15 p.m., the Post said, French Ambassador Charles Lucet was called to the State Department and handed Johnson's reply by Undersecretary of State George W. Ball.

Johnson also was reported to have asked de Gaulle what he intended to do about French forces now under NATO command in West Germany.

* * *

The letter from the French president was received in Washington after news dispatches from Paris reported it was being sent.

SHARP COMMENT

The advance word of the message drew sharp comment from White House deputy press secretary Robert H. Fleming, who told newsmen:

"This is not the first time it (a letter) has ben leaked in Paris before it has been received by the President."

The letter was regarded as de Gaulle's opening diplomatic move in his demand for restoration of French command over French troops in NATO and foreign troops and installations on French soil.

U. S. bases in France are covered by direct Washington-Paris agreements but are part of the NATO system of support for the forward defense positions in West Germany.

Booted in Ghana, Lands in Guinea

The coup that ousted President KWAME NKRUMAH who had assumed the title for life, was long in coming. To outsiders it has been apparent that NKRUMAH lived in a dream world and an awakening was overdue.

In 1957 when he became the first prime minister of newly-independent Ghana, the former British Gold Coast colony, the nation's reserves of foreign currency and gold totaled $560 million. Today Ghana is broke.

NKrumah established one-party rule and enforced the tenets of Marxism on the organization of his country's economy. The state-owned enterprises in the once-prosperous cocoa, timber and gold producing country lost money year after year.

He spent $20 million on a conference building to house meetings of the Organization of African Unity, which he dreamed of dominating. In his dream, he was Osagyefo, or redeemer, of all black Africa.

★ ★ ★

For a few days, it appeared that NKRUMAH was a man without a country. But, reminiscent of a comic opera plot, the president of neighboring Guinea, SEKOU TOURE, obligingly relinquished his office to NKRUMAH. Since the latter has not officially surrendered his claim to the presidency of Ghana, the man without a country might not now be said to have two.

★ ★ ★

'Good! We Can Quit The War And Stuff The Ballot Box!'

William Frawley

The ranks of America's veteran entertainers suffered another loss when WILLIAM FRAWLEY died of a heart attack in Hollywood.

A character actor whose diverse career spanned vaudeville, the legitimate theater, silent and sound movies and finally television, the raspy-voiced comedian entertained millions in the TV roles he played in the LUCILLE BALL "Lucy" series and more recently in FRED MACMURRAY'S "Three Sons" episodes.

Frawley tried his hand in the clerical department of a railroad and as a bookkeeper before, in company with his brother, he scored in show business with a vaudeville act.

Over the years, the versatile performer brought heart-warming enjoyment to a multitude of admirers, and was in all ways a credit to the theatrical profession. His passing evokes feelings of sorrow among Americans of all ages.

Farm Subsidies Need Down-to-Earth Plan

Representative TEAGUE of California has something wry and telling to say about the Federal farm program: "It does not make sense to me to put cheese, boll weevils, rice crispies, chewing tobacco, cornflakes, shredded wheat biscuits, boiled peanuts, golf courses, fish ponds, bed sheets, and birth control pills all in the same (farm) subsidy bill costing taxpayers $4 billion a year."

This single sentence dramatizes a fact—that the farm program is a hodgepodge and an economic monstrosity. It has been responsible for surpluses on an almost unimaginable scale and waste whose cost can only be guessed at.

There is but one solution — the gradual reduction and withdrawal of subsidies, on an orderly step-by step scale.

No one can say that free enterprise in farming, in supply and demand markets, is an unreachable goal. One of the most important segments of agriculture operates that way, and it always has. It is livestock.

★ ★ ★

The cattle producers, in good times and bad, have been overwhelmingly opposed to government aids and the controls that are an inevitable part of them. The whole meat industry — from the ranches to the packers to the retailers—is an example of competitive free enterprise at its best. The result has been a boundless supply of top quality meat, always sufficient to meet a steadily increasing demand, at prices within the reach of the great majority of families.

★ ★ ★

Fulbright in Viet Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is a kind of classic example of all those critical about the war in Viet Nam but snagged on the dilemma of how to end it.

MARLOW

They have ideas on what to do or not to do — as some showed before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Fulbright is chairman — but are hazy on solutions.

Two speeches by Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat, one last June 15 and one March 1, and a statement Sunday night show the dilemma of the critics of the Johnson administration, which is in a bit of a dilemma itself.

President Johnson tried to get the Communists to negotiate. Having failed, he must continue the war, he feels, without stepping it up to such a degree that Red China might feel impelled to jump in.

In June, Fulbright said complete victory would be too costly but unconditional withdrawal from Viet Nam is unthinkable because of the disastrous results.

★ ★ ★

Withdrawal, he felt, would betray this country's obligations to people we have promised to defend and weaken their belief in U.S. guarantees.

At the same time he was against stepping up the war, although how else the Communists can be convinced to quit fighting is difficult to imagine.

He suggested negotiations to end the war, with major concessions by both sides, although admitting Johnson's efforts to get the Communists to negotiate wound up nowhere.

Nevertheless, Fulbright envisioned a compromised peace and after that, he proposed, the United States should join with others in a large program for the social and economic development of Southeast Asia.

★ ★ ★

BENT ON DOMINATION

Almost a month before Fulbright's June 15 talk Johnson said the Red Chinese are bent on dominating all Asia, but on March 1 Fulbright came up with another speech, this one proposing how to deal with Red China.

He suggested an agreement with Red China to neutralize all of Southeast Asia although there was nothing to indicate Red China would ever consider such an agreement.

How such an agreement could be policed to prevent Red Chinese cheating would be monumental in itself.

★ ★ ★

Last Thursday, two days after Fulbright proposed his neutralization idea, Red China linked Johnson and his critics together as "fools" and said there was no fundamental difference between them about continuing the Viet Nam war.

David Lawrence Says:

Dem Split on Viet Embarrassing

WASHINGTON—A party split in the United States in the midst of a war crisis is an embarrassment in the conduct of foreign policy.

LAWRENCE

It couldn't happen in Great Britain, where dissident members of a political party might soon find themselves turned out of office in an election held immediately to decide whether a vote of confidence should be given to the incumbent party.

President Johnson's policies are largely supported by the Republican party, while his own party is divided and some members are engaged in moves that are making it difficult to carry on a war in which, it now is expected, around 400,000 Americans will ultimately be engaged.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is openly showing hostility to the administration by conducting hearings with an emphasis on pronouncements against the government's policies, is dominated by the Democratic party.

★ ★ ★

The big question for the American people to decide is whether the foreign relations committee should be used as a tool to undermine the prestige of the administration in foreign affairs.

ENOUGH REPUBLICANS

The only way the voters in America could relieve the present situation is by electing enough Republicans to the Senate next November to cause the Democratic party in the Senate to recommend changes in the personnel of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This requires a majority vote of the Senate.

Unfortunately, only a third of the Senate's members come up for election this fall, so there is no way for the voters to record themselves against those dissenters on foreign policy who happen not to be up for election this time. But if the nation elected a Republican House of Representatives, this would serve as a warning and have its effect on the Senate.

It is not unprecedented for one party to have control of either or both houses of Congress while the head of the other party is in the White House.

Lyndon Johnson, as majority leader of the Senate during six of the eight years of the Eisenhower administration when the Democrats had a majority in both houses of Congress, cooperated with the president, particularly on foreign policy.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE

The latest issue which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has decided to take up is the possibility of war with Red China.

Although the administration has consistently made clear that it has no intention of escalating the war, prominent members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee evidently believe that some such development is imminent.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has ignored the statements of administration spokesmen and instead has given widespread publicity to the specious argument that the United States has not been a friend of China and now is threatening it with war.

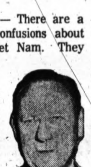

The fact is that, before mainland China became Communist, the United States again and again gave support to China in world affairs.

Bob Considine Says:

Another Arresting Figure Joins Viet Number Game

NEW YORK — There are a dozen major confusions about the war in Viet Nam. They come and go as key debates.

CONSIDINE

One week it is the use of tear gas, the next week bombing of North Viet Nam, then the moratorium on bombing, then participation of the Viet Cong in any future South Viet Nam government.

Last week it was the confusion over how long a war we are preparing to wage—six months or six years.

In his belated appearance before the Fulbright committee, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara touched on matters related to the time which must pass before the U.S. can dust off its hands, say "good luck," to the South Vietnamese and go home.

★ ★ ★

NEW FIGURE

But he did introduce an arresting new figure into the debate over the most perplexing war in which U.S. forces have ever engaged.

He said that if U.S. air attack can prevent much more than 150 tons of supplies a day from reaching Viet Cong guerrillas in the South, we could win with the 235,000 troops we soon will have on the scene.

Secretary McNamara went to some pains before the Fulbright group to state that a U.S. victory in South Viet Nam is directly tied to and influenced by the need to convince Peking that America's goals in the Vietnamese war are limited and represent no threat to China.

He implored China's leaders to believe that our objectives are strictly limited—"essentially defensive."

But elsewhere in the newspapers, fortunately, one read of B52 and fighter-bomber missions, search and kill ground assaults, and other positive action without which no armed force can hope to win between now and doomsday.

★ ★ ★

This has now become the most explained war in American history. But the more one scrutinizes it the less scrutible it looms.

In Washington:

Thailand's Hope Is U.S. Victory

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Thailand's leaders believe — and some are laying heavy stress upon the point in private—that their already troubled country would fall an easy prey to Red subversion if South Viet Nam should come under Hanoi's domination.

BIOSSAT

Their assumption is, of course, that the estimated 20,000 North Vietnamese regulars in Laos would quickly gobble up the remainder of that partitioned land and open the whole of Thailand's Mekong River border to massive infiltration.

Thai officials assume also that, on the heels of a failure in Viet Nam, U.S. forces could not act effectively to prevent that result, especially in the vulnerable distressed areas of northeast Thailand.

Despite this gloomy assessment, the Thai government continues to act on an opposite theory — that South Viet Nam and the crucial western portions of Laos will somehow be kept out of Red hands.

In the past few weeks, the government has presided over several heartening developments aimed at combating subversion and improving Thailand's position.

At Khon Kaen, a new university is rising with the financial aid of Australia, New Zealand and Canada. Education in the backward northeast will get a strong lift.

In the same sector, important progress has been noted on the Nam Pong multipurpose water project, including the Pong Neeb dam, to help provide better water supplies, economical electrical energy and flood control. The final target date is 1967.

Amid these visible changes in the vulnerable northeast, the government's mobile development units continue heightened efforts to improve health, agricultural and educational conditions there and elsewhere in the hinterland.

Meanwhile, Bangkok is turning a harder military force toward the still-mounting subversion which, in the last six months, led to the assassination of nearly 50 village chiefs, teachers and others in six northeast provinces.

A "Communist Supression Command" has been established to pool intelligence and police forces for the work of putting down roving Red guerrilla bands.

A few months ago Bangkok threw a sizable armed force into the northeast to combat rising subversive activity. The army now uses a helicopter-borne battalion of 1,500 to sweep Thai foothills in search of guerrillas.

The government's main reliance, however, is still on police and border patrols. Part of a $12 million 1965 grant from the United States is being used to bolster antisubversion police forces.

Reader Comments on Power of Our Judges

According to Chief Assistant U.S. Attorney William Merrill, we have a judge sitting on a bench who actually did not file income tax returns between 1945 and 1963. I understand that under the new Constitution only the legislature can remove a judge. The House would have to indict him and he would be tried by the Senate. Two-thirds of the Senate would have to vote for conviction to remove him.

REPLY

Probably a complaint was made. Chief Hanger says parking violations go unheeded because manpower shortage has required a shift of officers from parking detail to moving enforcement. However, complaints are promptly investigated and violators ticketed.

If the first part of your vehicle identification number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. Laborites Hit Over Platform

British Newspapers Critical of Content

LONDON (UPI) — British newspapers today were generally critical of the Labor party's election platform, and Conservative party leader Edward Heath said it was "totally out of touch" with current problems.

William Warbey, a rebel Laborite member of Parliament, charged that Prime Minister Harold Wilson had "placed the lives and deaths of the British people in the hands of the President of the United States" by supporting U.S. military policy.

The Labor platform for the March 31 general election, released yesterday, called for renationalization of the steel industry, lowering the voting age from 21 to 18, immigration controls to insure racial equality, a vast public housing program, enlargement of police forces to crack down on crime and legislation to curtail the power of the House of Lords.

Wilson told a news conference he was asking the 38 million voters "to give the Labor government now in office a mandate to continue the work they have begun and to do it with full authority in all dealings at home and abroad."

* * *

The Daily Express said the Labor manifesto "contains a great deal of familiar material, some evidence of slipshod thinking and few surprises."

'DISAPPOINTING'

The Daily Mail called it "disappointing" and said Sunday's Conservative platform was "more businesslike and convincing."

The Sun said the Labor document "reads like a half-term report telling the class they must try still harder. The class in this case is Britain."

The Guardian, however, said editorially that "apart from a few excesses, the manifesto is a sensible document."

In House of Commons debate yesterday on defense policy, Warbey declared that Britain no longer had responsibilities in the Far East.

Join Voluntary Inspection Drive, Motorists Urged

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare has urged motorists to participate in the statewide voluntary vehicle inspection program this year.

"Even if the Legislature passes a mandatory vehicle inspection program, it couldn't be started this year," Hare said. "Although this is a limited substitute, it will certainly be helpful in getting a small percentage of vehicles in need of repair in for service."

* * *

The inspection drive will last from two weeks prior to the Memorial Day holiday in late May until mid-June. The State Safety Commission is backing the program, sponsored by the automotive industry and local safety groups.

SOS Sounded on Undermanned Assessors

The help call was echoed again last night for Waterford Township's undermanned assessing department.

Trustee Loren Anderson called the problem "absolutely urgent," pointing out that the same number of assessors are handling much more now than they did a year ago.

Anderson explained that building permits were issued for construction worth $15 million last year compared with $9.8 million in 1964.

★ ★ ★

TOWNSHIP LAW

But attorney Paul Mandel said that the Charter Township Law limits a township to two assessors.

Supervisor Dorothy Olson said bids are currently being received from appraising firms. Early offers are well in excess of $150,000.

Mrs. Olson told board members she will investigate legality of the township hiring appraisers.

"We need people in the field to do the appraising," said Claude Wagner, head of the township's assessing department.

LACK OF TIME

A lack of uniformity exists in property assessments throughout the township, primarily because assessors don't have time to reevaluate older real estate.

"When we are told there is tax inequity, we are saying some people are taxed too much and others too little," said Anderson.

The problem promises to become more complex in the near future.

A new law requires that municipalities assess property at 50 per cent of market value. The township presently assesses at 25 per cent.

However, the law's effective date may be extended from Dec. 31, 1965 to Dec. 31, 1968 if a proposed bill is passed by the state legislature.

A few residents of Lakewood Farms Subdivision expressed concern because their property assessments have been readjusted.

They were told that other subdivisions also have been reevaluated to achieve uniformity.

Township assessors each presently handle about 10,000 parcels of land, according to Wagner.

The International Association of Assessing Officers places the national average at 6,000 to 8,000 parcels of land per assessor. New York State recommends a maximum ratio of 3,500 parcels per man.

THE QUESTION

Anderson posed the question: "How can we attain uniformity in the township without paying one-tenth of the township budget to do it?"

In other business, Director of Inspections E. R. Lawson recommended repeal of a section of a township ordinance dealing with inspection of carnival rides.

The law makes mandatory inspection of rides by township officials, consequently placing full responsibility on the township in event of personal injury.

A HIGH FEE

He was told that the fee would be high and that it would be difficult to hire someone because of the thoroughness and high degree of responsibility required in checking rides for safety.

It was implied that electrical inspections would still be made and precautions taken to make sure the concessionaire had proper insurance coverage and would assume responsibility for accidents.

The ordinance was referred to Mandel for further consideration.

★ ★ ★

BID OPENING

Bids will be opened at the March 21 meeting, it was disclosed. The water department recently purchased a new truck to replace the one up for sale.

Henceforth, impartial appraisals will be made on township equipment up for sale prior to advertising for bids, the board agreed.

First notice requests were submitted by R. C. Scribner and Jerry Coffel. Action is expected at next week's meeting.

★ ★ ★

Scribner seeks concourse service of alcoholic beverages at a bowling alley, while Coffel is asking for transfer of ownership of a beer and wine licensed business at 5392 M59 from Charles F. and Marjorie J. Martin.

WATER SUPPLY

February's water supply system report showed that 33,725,000 gallons of water were pumped during the month.

This is 8,270,570 gallons less than the 41,995,570 figure for the previous February.

Altogether, 75,110,000 gallons of water have been pumped through the system thus far this year.

Alternate Plans Also Nixed

Firemen's Salary Hike Bid Rejected

A request by Waterford Township firemen for pay increases totaling $12,000 was rejected yesterday by a Township Board negotiating team.

A bargaining committee representing Waterford Township Professional Fire Fighters, Local 1335, in turn rejected two alternate proposals offered by the Township Board.

The alternate proposals were:

- Reduction of the present 63-hour workweek to 56 hours; hiring of two additional men; and salary adjustments for the present 40-hour-a-week men (the fire chief and fire marshall). Under terms of this proposal, all firemen would be on call for emergencies.
- Granting of one-half of the request presented by the firemen at the Feb. 24 negotiating session or a $6,000 increase for the 18 men on the department.

Donald Somerville, president of the firemen's group, said that Township Board representatives offered no reasons for rejecting the original $12,000 request.

"It seems to be the contention of the Township Board that firemen shouldn't be paid as much as policemen," said Somerville.

Township police recently were granted across-the-board pay increase and a five-day workweek. Two additional patrolmen positions were also established.

The firemen contend that the $12,000 pay boost would elevate them to a salary scale comparable to present police wages.

A state law, which becomes effective July 1, 1967, will lower the fireman's work week to 56 hours, according to Somerville.

PUT ON AGENDA

It was requested by the firemen's committee that the issue be placed on the agenda for next Monday's Township Board meeting.

The Township Board committee agreed to present the request to other members of the board, including Supervisor Dorothy W. Olson.

Lost Plane Small Loss

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Control tower observers went into a flap at nearby Renton Municipal Airport Monday when a light plane made several unauthorized approaches.

They tried frantically to radio the pilot. No luck. A Seattle police helicopter was called. Before it arrived, a report was received that a plane had crashed in a back yard a few blocks away.

Police squad car crews found the plane had crashed all right and was light — very light. It was a radio-controlled model of a Cessna 172 with a three-foot wingspan.

Four PCH Students Win Drafting Honors

By HELEN COLLIAS

Winners in the 12th annual High School Body Drafting Contest are Pontiac Central students, Dwane Ellsworth, a second-time winner; Arthur Arellano, Kenneth Franks and William Gaddis.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers, the contest is open to all 10th, 11th and 12th grade students in the Detroit metropolitan area.

The society provided the contestants with an actual manufactured automobile part from which the boys created a usable working drawing. Entries were judged by industrial checks from local industries.

Over the past 12 years, Pontiac Central has consistently ranked high in the contest. Joseph Attwell is the drafting instructor.

★ ★ ★

FORENSICS TRYOUTS

The annual week-long forensics tryouts were held to determine representatives for the March 17 interschool Saginaw Valley League contest.

Each day the top three winners in each of the five spring forensic contests were chosen for the school team. The fourth place winners were selected as alternates.

Out of 60 students, participating in the tryouts, 19 were selected for the tournament.

★ ★ ★

Selected for the eight minute humorous reading contest were Marjy Rosner, Eileen Hatchett, Terry Long and alternate Paul Torrentine.

MORE DRAMATIC

Interpretative reading is a similar but more dramatic representation. Jan Carline, Phyllis Jackson, Marianne Rollo, and Wendy Wold will compete in this area.

They have prepared three readings. Minutes before the contest, they will draw a number determining the selection they will present.

Extemporaneous speakers in current events are Ned Barker, Carol Johnston and Thomas Hahn.

★ ★ ★

At the contest they will draw for topic areas. After a brief preparation period, they must give a concise, fluent, and informative talk on their subject.

10TH GRADERS

Sophomore declamation is open to tenth graders only. Without any aids, they must recite a timely and stirring speech from a list of given authors.

Winners will be selected on the basis of over-all speech habits, appearance and presentation.

★ ★ ★

Original oratory is a unique area of speaking in that contestants write their own speeches. The student must present a problem topic, discuss and divulge information pro and con, and offer a solution to the problem.

★ ★ ★

Roberta Wine, Valerie Bunce, Veta Smith and alternate, Lena Lewis have been selected for this contest.

Operetta Set by Glee Clubs

By CINDY GRISSOM

The Glee Club of Kingswood School joins the Glee Club of Cranbrook in the production of the annual operetta.

"Patience," by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented Thursday and Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Patience, played by Margaret Shopen, is the village milkmaid. She has captured the hearts of two poets: Bunthorne (Mark Packard) and Grosvernor (Stuart Bloomberg).

★ ★ ★

REGIMENT LEADERS

The operetta, with its sprightly songs and dialogue, gently ridicules human follies.

★ ★ ★

The show is directed by Eric Freudigman, glee club director, and Herbert Motley, head of the drama department. Walter Reid is the producer, and Peter Kerr manages scenery.

By JAMIE SCHUTT

Waterford-Kettering stagemasters are rehearsing the comedy, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," to be presented March 24, 25 and 26.

The three-act play relates the story of a French woodcutter whose wife attempts to get revenge for a beating he gave her.

Crack Trains Collide; 2 Die

CHESTER, Mont. (AP) — The Great Northern Railway's Western Star, on a makeup schedule after being stalled in North Dakota blizzards, "obviously went through red signals" before colliding head-on with the Empire Builder Monday, a GN official said.

Paul F. Cruikshank of Spokane gave this preliminary conclusion as investigators attempted to find out what caused the two crack passenger trains to collide five miles east of Chester in central Montana's wheat country.

★ ★ ★

Engineers of the two trains — Bernard L. Runyan, 67, and Eric A. Walter, 68, both of Whitefish—were killed. Thirty other crew members and passengers were admitted to four community hospitals and more were treated as outpatients.

GN President John A. Budd of Minneapolis, who was on the Empire Builder in a company car with other executives, said the Western Star apparently was going nearly 80 miles an hour.

★ ★ ★

Cruikshank said the trains met in an area under centralized traffic control, meaning they were operating entirely under signal indication.

Twister Damage in Mississippi Put at $17.9 Million

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Paul Johnson has estimated the damage done by last Thursday's tornado in central Mississippi at $17.9 million.

Johnson, who was in Florida on an industrial trip at the time the storm struck, said Monday that the figure was only a preliminary estimate.

★ ★

The highway patrol earlier had given the death toll as 61 but revised their estimate Monday to 52 saying there had been some duplication in the transfer of bodies from hospitals to funeral homes.

Johnson said losses to private property totaled $11,872,800 with public buildings sustaining $200,000 in damages and public utilities $1,296,790.

Odd Traffic Accident Puzzled Policeman

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A Pittsburgh patrolman evidently felt the need for clarification of some legal points following a traffic accident.

The unidentified officer called headquarters over his radio Monday to inquire: "If a car hits a house, does the home owner have to file an accident report?"

Although Not Opposing

Romney-Soapy Fight Looms

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer

LANSING — They'll be running for different offices, but the 1966 Michigan election could turn essentially into a contest between Republican Gov. George Romney and Democratic U. S. Senate hopeful G. Mennen Williams.

Each is regarded as his party's best vote-getter. Thus each is supposed to try to spread voting coattails for the other's opponent.

Two events must take place before the clash materializes:

MADE HIS MOVE

Williams quit the State Department for Michigan politics Monday, resigning as assistant secretary of state for African affairs and declaring for the Senate.

He refused to speculate on campaign strategy.

But one of his top aides said there was no doubt he'd wind up running against Romney in addition to his expected Republican Senate opponent, U. S. Rep. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

Romney already has indicated he'll pitch some of his campaign against the Democratic Senate candidate in an effort to help Griffin.

Both Griffin and the Democratic gubernatorial candidate—whoever he is — would be decided underdogs to Williams and Romney, respectively.

The governor, despite victories in 1962 and 1964, has yet to prove he can help bring other Republicans into office—a desirable attribute in the eyes of GOP leaders.

Democrats, meanwhile, though frequently conceding privately they have little chance to unseat Romney, are worried a Romney landslide might cost them control of the State Senate and Senate and Michigan Congressional delegations.

Williams and Romney thus could wind up fighting for psychological control of the entire election, not just their contest.

A Romney victory in such a battle could turn some offices over to Republicans, heighten his national appeal and possibly beat Williams.

The governor is expected to compare the state's fiscal crisis during Williams' last two terms with the present boom. Democrats traditionally counter that Republican legislators and national policy caused the crisis, and a national Democratic administration has brought the prosperity.

Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency says, however, if he were Williams, "I wouldn't even answer that economic issue."

Ferency, who has opposed Williams forces on some party scrapping, said Williams' "prime objective is to be U. S. senator. He should concentrate on that and confine himself largely to national issues or federal - state partnership issues like the War on Poverty."

Dear Electronically Jilted, Next Time Kick Computer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can I sue a machine for alienation of affections? I am 29, and was practically engaged to a terrific woman, when she suddenly got the crazy idea that we should go to a "testing clinic" to take "compatibility tests."

ABBY

According to the machine we were not "right" for each other. They offered us names of other men and women who would be better suited to us scientifically. I am not interested in meeting other women. I liked this one.

What do you think of choosing a marriage partner by machine?

ELECTRONICALLY JILTED

DEAR JILTED: Don't sue the machine—shake hands with it. It saved you from marrying a woman who has more faith in nuts and bolts than in people. Computers will never replace "that old feeling."

And anyone who prefers mechanical mate-selection must have a screw loose somewhere.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a woman actually hangs onto you while she brags, brags, brags about how cute and sweet and smart her grandchildren are? Every time she sees me, she keeps me standing on the street anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour just raving about her grandchildren.

I am not jealous because I have more grandchildren than she has, but I can't get a word in about mine. I would just like to tell her one of these days that ALL grandparents think a lot of their grandchildren, and hers are "special" only to HER. Or is there a better way to shut her up?

HATES BRAGGERS

DEAR HATES: You will never convince her that yours (or anybody else's grandchildren) are as cute, sweet, or smart as hers, so don't try. Besides, she doesn't want to hear about yours anymore than you want to hear about hers.

Only lockjaw or laryngitis will "shut her up," so if you see her first, RUN!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: The problem of "adoptive parents" in your column recently was one we faced many years ago.

★ ★ ★

When we brought home a beautiful little baby girl, many of our friends and neighbors were inquisitive and wanted to know the details. On the advice of our pediatrician, we stood our ground and told them nothing.

★ ★ ★

When they asked, "Where did you get her?", we looked them in the eye and replied, "She's OURS. And we have the papers to prove it."

★ ★ ★

Or when they asked, "Do you know anything about her parents?", we replied, "WE are her parents, and we know each other very well."

They may have been momentarily offended, but they understood that to question us further was useless.

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA.

Hostess Is on Scene in Lobby

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When giving a lunch party in a club or restaurant, does the hostess wait for her guests in the lobby, or does she go directly to the table she has reserved and have the headwaiter direct them to it when they arrive?

A: She waits for her guests in the lobby, entrance hall, or if there is one, the reception room. As her guests arrive, they join her and stand or sit near her.

If the room is filled with others, she herds her own group, as it were, a little apart. When all have arrived, they go into the dining room.

Q: Once a month I meet several women friends and we have dinner together in a restaurant. We usually all order dishes that are more or less about the same price and divide the bill equally among us.

Every once in a while there is something on the menu that I would especially like but which is quite a bit more expensive than what the others are ordering. Would it be wrong, since the bill is equally divided, for me to order this more expensive dish?

A: There is no reason why you should not have what you like but you should offer to pay the additional amount when the bill is presented.

If they refuse your offer, then it would be unfair to take advantage of their generosity by continuing to order more expensive dishes.

Garden Club Has Birthday

Talks on Flowers in Art

By MADELEINE DOEREN

A showing of reproduction of an Egyptian painting from a Theban tomb opened a program on "Flower Pictures Through the Ages" for Osage branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association on Monday.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Charles Howson opened her home on Twin Maples Lane for the program tea honoring the founders of the branch, observing its 10th anniversary.

★ ★ ★

The speaker, Mrs. Charles Modrack, art consultant with the Jacobson Galleries, told her audience that 'flowers have been an integral part of paintings for over 2,500 years.'

"The need for realism in portraying all subject matter became less important with the invention of the camera," she said.

EXAMPLES

She brought reproductions of Van Gogh's 'Sunflowers' and 'White Roses', also "blue Carnations" by Bernard Buffett of Paris. Water colors of Sheila Burns, Detroit artist, concluded the program.

★ ★ ★

Honored guests were Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, national president, WNFGA; Mrs. William McCallum, national extension chairman; Mrs. Clarence Maguire, Michigan Division president, and Mrs. Leroy G. Vanderveer from the sponsoring Bloomfield Hills branch.

Assisting hospitality chairman, Mrs. Edward Goralewski, were Mrs. Joseph E. Fouser, Mrs. Fred Pantillon, Mrs. Joseph Dworski and Mrs. Raymond Crawford.

PURPOSE

Highlight of the afternoon came with Mrs. McCallum repeating words spoken to Osage at its first organizational meeting:

"Woman's National Farm and Garden Association means all the name implies. Women from all over the world have joined together from their farms and gardens in an association of mutual benefit, to enrich the soil, to further beautify the land, to protect what God has so generously bestowed upon us, to be fruitful, each in her own capacity to help one another in the spirit of friendship, generosity and peace."

Osage was the 18th branch in the WNFGA Michigan Division. It seemed fitting to choose something in nature representative of its particular locality, Pine Hill, Hickory Heights and the Charnwood district.

At the Long Lake and Adams crossroads, are miles of hedges of the Osage orange, common name for Maclura Pomisera, a deciduous tree, hardy as far north as Massachusetts.

It is a member of the mulberry family and was once largely grown for its leaves which were used as a substitute of the mulberry for feeding silkworms.

★ ★ ★

The trees were introduced from a settlement of Osage Indians who prized the wood as material for bows and war clubs.

★ ★ ★

Also on the program was a talk and presentation of jewelry and sculpture by Mrs. Charles Smith.

★ ★ ★

Seek 'Mrs. Safety '66'

The Women's Division of the Michigan Safety Conference is seeking candidates in the annual competition to select Mrs. Safety 1966.

Deadline for nominations is March 31, according to Mrs. Philip McCabe of Dimondale, women's division publicity director. She said the winner will be crowned at the 36th annual Michigan Safety Conference at the Lansing Civic Center April 26-28.

While the official title is listed as "Mrs. Safety," this does not rule out single women, for the winner could be "Miss Safety." However, in all previous contests all entries have been married and thus the use of "Mrs. Safety."

Anyone can submit a nomination. Entry forms may be obtained by writing to the Michigan Safety Conference, P. O. Box 1136, Lansing, Michigan, Mrs. McCabe said.

The contest is open only to volunteers and persons whose job or profession involves safety education are not eligible. Nominees of previous years who did not win are eligible to enter again.

Judges base their decision on the persons' volunteer work in the field of safety including community activities, safety leadership, quality of achievement and project responsibility.

★ ★ ★

Their work may involve child safety, home safety, fire safety, traffic safety, farm safety, public safety, or a combination of any of these categories.

Flavor of Peanuts Is Dominant in Snacks

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Although you can buy any amount of candy, there is something special about homemade sweets. It is a compliment to your guests to take the trouble of making sweet snacks for them.

Belinda Shannon, a teenage cook has a suggestion for a snack she likes to prepare for her friends who can't eat chocolate. She calls the confection Butternut Noodles.

BUTTERNUT NOODLES
By Belinda Shannon

1 package (6-oz.) butterscotch bits
½ cup Spanish peanuts
1 can chow mein noodles

Melt butterscotch bits over low heat or in a double boiler. Stir in peanuts until they are coated. Add noodles, mix and drop from a spoon on wax paper. Makes 30 small snacks.

Mrs. Oscar Fetter makes peanut butter fudge for a snack. She adds just a bit of cocoa to the mixture before cooking it.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE
By Mrs. Oscar Fetter

2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons peanut butter
1 tablespoon cocoa
1¼ tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons white corn syrup
⅔ cup milk

Mix sugar and cocoa; add syrup and milk. Boil until mixture forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from heat and let cool about three minutes.

Add butter or margarine and peanut butter. Beat until thick. Pour in greased pan to coal. Cut into squares.

Preserve Finish

The finish of polished or glazed cotton is preserved by washing it in cold water at gentle speed from three to five minutes.

If washing by hand, use cold water and a heavy-duty detergent, but do not allow garment to lie in the water to soak. Wash as quickly as possible.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. I am writing to you because you recently had something in your column which seems to be similar to my problem. You said that teenagers wearing bangs are having skin problems but you only mentioned the forehead.

I wear some bangs because I need them. I have some dandruff and my face is broken out. Can the irritation you describe affect the rest of the face? Whenever I can I comb my bangs back. Now my forehead seems to be better than my cheeks.

This breaking out always improves when I wash my hair twice a week. It has improved a lot since your article.

A. Pimples and irritations can spread from one part of the face to the other. However, dandruff probably is the real culprit in your case. It often causes skin blemishes. That's why your face is better when you wash your hair twice a week. Get rid of the dandruff and your complexion surely will improve.

Q. I have a problem. I have long lashes and I want to use mascara but it never shows up because my lashes are very fine and not too thick. I have tried both brown and black mascara but it still doesn't make my lashes look any thicker.

A. Use an eyelash curler. Then apply the mascara. Let one coat dry and then make a couple more applications. Be sure you are using a good brush, not one which has divisions in the bristles.

Q. Can anything be done for a crooked smile? Exercise? I don't want to cause my daughter to feel self-conscious when she smiles, her eyes are so bright, her brow so smooth. Yet she has noticed in pictures that her smile is lopsided.

I told her it isn't important. Do you know of anything that may help correct it? Please put it in your column. I know she will follow your advice when she sees it.

DON'T WORRY

A. In the first place, don't let it worry you. Many people think that a crooked smile is very intriguing. It often is considered quite attractive. Then, such things show in a picture much more than they do in real life.

Perhaps she unconsciously developed this smile because of a space between her teeth on one side. At any rate don't try to change it or her smile is almost certain to look artificial or posed.

Q. I have a weight problem of late. I was married about five months ago and in the past four months I have gained 15 pounds. I don't believe that the weight gain is due to overeating. Since moving I have a job where I sit most of the time as opposed to the hectic schedule I had before.

But how can I gain so quickly and eat so little. Please offer some assistance before I go insane.

A. I can see why you would be alarmed. No doubt the decreased physical activity has something to do with it. Also you may taste much more when you cook than you realize and you also may be eating much richer foods than usual.

Many brides do this without realizing it because they are interested in planning attractive meals for the new husband. Count everything you eat carefully with a calorie chart, even the "tastes."

Popcorn Packing Protects Parcel

WASHINGTON (AP)— When packing cookies to send to campers or college students, the U.S. Department of Agriculture recommends using popcorn as packing insulation.

The popcorn not only protects the other items from crumbling, but can be buttered, salted, and included as an extra treat. A footnote from the Department adds that it also helps use up surplus grain.

Terry Takes to Dining Everywhere

Catching on with fashion-wise homemakers are the new terry tablecloths for informal dining. Popular in the west and southwest, where they have become virtually an institution, terry tops have now moved east where they are rapidly being snapped up by threes and sixes.

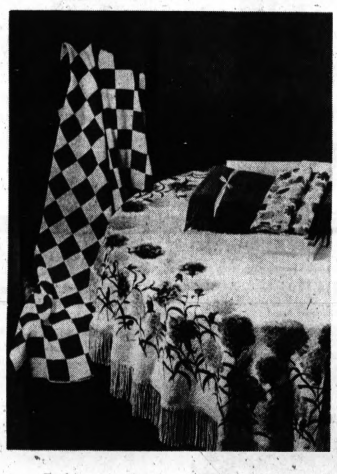

Not only are they practical, but in the excellent Wellington Sears terry used by Weil & Durrse, Inc. for their Willendure "terry tops" you'll find an array of sophisticated designs that can be mixed or matched with napkins to set a charming table, indoors or out.

Sizes run from 52 by 52 inches to 52 by 106, and there is also a 60-inch fringed round. Napkins are a generous 17x17 inches, fringed and unfringed. Terry tops come in fresh, modern, solid colors and patterns in tune with tasteful decor.

Mix and match tangerine or turquoise solids with the same or a complementary shade for a Spanish or Italian motif.

A delicate crab apple pattern will create a springtime mood, and the Victorian fruit pattern is perfect for a homey kitchen with gaslight era accessories. Roses, leaves and delightful Spanish abstracts are excellent table-brighteners, all in tubbable, no-iron terry.

Fashion-wise homemakers love mixing and matching these beautiful new terry tablecloths and napkins for informal dining. Watch for the latest designs in striking Mexican hues, with colored backgrounds of turquoise, terra cotta and pink.

Shellac, the most versatile resin known to man, is used for such purposes as the manufacture of phonograph records, as a stiffener in hat making, in sealing wax and to give a gloss to plastics.

God Helped Guide Decisions of President's Press Secretary

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 12th in a 40-part series by famous and unknown persons on how faith in God changed their lives.)

By FRED BAUER
Guideposts Managing Editor

On Black Friday, Nov. 22, 1963 — just minutes after the assassination of President Kennedy — Lyndon B. Johnson turned to an aide and said, "find Bill Moyers." Before night fell, the man the new President sought was by his side and he has not strayed far from it.

★ ★ ★

Who is Bill Moyers? Why did President Johnson summon him that afternoon in Dallas?

These are questions I was asking myself not long ago. For Bill Moyers was not well-known before he came to the White House. Even then he worked quietly behind the scenes until his assignment as press secretary to the President propelled him into the national spotlight.

MOYERS

But the intrigue I found in Moyers' story centered on two human-interest-charged facts.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

First, he was only 29 when he came to the White House as presidential assistant. Second, he is a Baptist minister.

Just five years earlier, I learned, Moyers had graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, hardly the usual door into politics.

How in the world, I wondered, did he get from there to the White House? This was my primary question when I got the opportunity to interview him in Washington.

★ ★ ★

Not once during the four hours I spent in the White House did he beg off answering a question, and we covered everything from his first summer in Washington as a 20-year-old clerk in Sen. Johnson's office, to his role in the 1960 campaign and his subsequent move to the Peace Corps, right down to the present.

POWER JOBS

One of the paradoxes about Moyers, I discovered in my research, has been his disinterest in jobs weighted with power.

A case in point is the decision he made after the 1960 presidential campaign. In telling about it, Moyers revealed a key part of his spiritual philosophy.

"When Sen. Kennedy proposed the Peace Corps during the 1960 campaign," Moyers began, "I knew right away that if he were elected and such a program came into being, I wanted to be a part of it.

★ ★ ★

"So after the election, I requested leave from the President and vice president. (I had been working as Sen. Johnson's executive assistant.) They asked me to stay, but when I told them it was something I felt I had to do they gave me their blessings.

NOT DIFFICULT

"My friends thought I was foolish but really it was not a difficult decision. In fact, it was the only decision. I have strong convictions about Christians involving themselves in active areas of service. And I felt — unquestionably — that God had directed me toward this kind of service."

I asked him to back up on that statement. "Tell me how you knew 'unquestionably' that this was God's guidance."

"Because," he explained, "all my training, all my interests, all my desire to serve human needs funneled unmistakably in this direction. I was sure. Something deep inside just clicked."

★ ★ ★

He moved from there to tell of another experience he had had in the areo of guidance. It happened following his graduation from seminary in Fort Worth.

STOPPED SHORT

"I considered beginning work on my doctorate in theology, but something stopped me short.

"I felt God was speaking to me at this juncture too. Not in any loud clear voice, but I sensed His closeness. Whenever I talked about studying for my doctorate, I was gripped by a very unnatural, uncomfortable feeling. As a result, my wife Judith and I prayed a lot about the matter.

"I was about ready to accept a teaching job at Baylor University when I got a phone call from Washington on New Year's Eve — Dec. 31, 1958. It was Sen. Johnson asking me to join his staff in Washington."

★ ★ ★

Though they had kept in touch, a gap of six years stood between Moyers' short summer stint in Johnson's office and that phone call.

"Now I had a third choice to consider," he continued. "Some of my friends, whose opinions I valued, gave me conflicting advice.

"For the most part, though, they had a jaundiced view of politics. 'If you go to Washington it will be the end of your ministry,' one said.

"Judith and I tried to determine God's will and it was only after much prayer that I decided to accept Sen. Johnson's offer."

★ ★ ★

About this time the intercom buzzed and Moyers picked up the phone. (It was Secretary of Defense McNamara.) While he talked, I spotted a framed motto directly behind his desk. It read, "The care of human life and happiness is the first and only legitimate object of good government. Thomas Jefferson."

DECISION SEALED

I asked Moyers about that quotation when he had finished his conversation. "It helped seal my decision to enter government work," he said. "My eyes were opened to the fact that my ministry and politics could be one and the same. The strong inner feeling that I had, that quotation and Judith's encouragement were probably the three major factors that brought me here."

Medical Crisis—2

Science Successes Linked to Doctor Shortage

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In many realms of U.S. medicine, acute shortages are cropping up today. In part, they're due to the very successes of medical science. This second of five articles on medicine today examines some key areas of concern.)

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK — Dozens of reasons are advanced as causes of today's shortage of doctors and health personnel.

The diagnosis includes, ironically, two elements that have made American medicine very good medicine indeed.

One is its quality, stemming partly from very high standards of medical school training, most observers point out. But this has limited the output, with only about 8,000 new doctors being graduated annually from U.S. schools.

Another is brilliant progress from research—new drugs, new surgical and medical and rehabilitation techniques, all making the physician far more effective than in the old sugar pill and sympathy days of medicine.

ENTIRE TEAM

Today's doctors can do more. But, as in open-heart surgery, a whole team of surgeons, physicians, nurses and other skilled people may become involved for one patient at a time.

A cardiologist estimates 45,000 heart attack victims, who now die soon after their attacks, could be saved each year if major hospitals all had intensive care units. But each unit requires a 24-hour staff of nurses, doctors and technicians, razor sharp in skills, ready to rush to a patient's bedside at the first signal of trouble.

No one wants to sacrifice the quality, or research boons. But medical research draws some doctors from the total, and limited, medical pool.

Too many go into research for "nice 9 to 5 jobs, leaving fewer physicians on the firing line seeing patients," says one busy New York City internist. "Lots of the research is minor."

Administrative tasks, government and military service, other jobs also employ doctors. Right now, only 63 out of every 100 U.S. doctors are engaged in private practice.

Each year, 10,000 young American men and women are turned down in their applications to enter medical schools—88 of them now. There are five schools of osteopathic medicine.

At least 13 new medical schools are being started, but it takes 10 years and $35 million or more from initial plans for a school to the first graduating class. And medical education is costly—$16,000 to $20,000 over four years—and the majority of students come from middle-class families or those higher on the economic scale.

Many rejected U.S. students have been going to foreign schools, but some of those schools are now closing their doors to them. Americans trained abroad are estimated to comprise about one-quarter of the 1,400 newly licensed doctors each year who studied outside the United States and Canada.

The rest constitute part of the "brain drain" from other countries. This "raises the moral question whether we, with all our health facilities, should be importers of doctors," says Dr. William H. Stewart, surgeon-general of the U.S. Public Health Service.

HIGH QUALITY

Spokesmen for the American Medical Association, long a leader for high quality in medicine, insist it has strongly championed more medical schools.

But critics of the AMA declare the main battle for more schools was waged by others, including the Association of American Medical Colleges.

"The AMA gradually abandoned its leadership in medicine in its fight against 'socialized medicine,' now there's a vacuum of leadership," says one prominent physician. Others accuse this main organization of doctors of being "countercultural," of denying that some social problems exist.

"Organized medicine and organizations of medical education are not facing up to the problems of the medical manpower shortage," says Dr. Eliot Corday of Los Angeles, president of the American College of Cardiology.

RESIST CHANGE

Organizations, like individuals often tend to resist change. Dr. Michael E. DeBakey of Houston, Tex. notes that professional organizations tend to become "guild-like, and rigidly and staunchly defend their health domains."

Is it still necessary to train all medical students alike, he asks? Present laws virtually require this — to obtain his license, the physician must pass examinations measuring his knowledge in many areas of medicine.

"But is it really necessary for an ophthalmologist to know how many bones there are in the foot?" he asked.

"The whole system is archaic in many aspects of training students and in requiring traditional internships," another medical educator said.

STREAMLINE TEACHING

Numerous medical schools are in a ferment of reexamining and experimenting with their curricula, to streamline teaching, make it more effective.

A few are experimenting with compressing four years of college and four of medical school into six years total for picked students, and report this approach looks promising. Shortening the training, if quality is maintained, could add thousands of man-years of active practice to the medical pool.

The majority of doctors never go back to school for refresher courses, and are "practicing today's medicine with yesterday's tools and information," declared Dr. W. Albert Sullivan Jr., of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

While there are numerous methods for continuing education, "The guy who needs the message most doesn't come to church," said Dr. David Harken of Harvard.

The manpower shortage includes pediatricians and psychiatrists, medical school faculty—nearly 1,000 positions are listed as unfilled; nurses, technologists, medical social workers and librarians, hospital pharmacists, X-ray technicians, orderlies, and many others.

★ ★ ★

Some groups of hospital workers are notoriously underpaid, said Dr. John Knowles of Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and "you can't feed the poor sawdust and expect them to protect your birthright." And if, as applies to some big hospitals, "You have dingy, shabby surroundings for people to work in, you wind up with shabby personnel, and not many of them."

ATTITUDES

Attitudes have hurt, also, Dr. Knowles added.

"How would you like to be called 'paramedical' — usually meaning anyone without an M.D. degree? People in the health professions need to be treated as first-class citizens, with status, with respect, with pride in their jobs, with good pay and security, and a good place to work."

Some doctors, he suggests, have been guilty of perhaps unintentional snobbery.

Whoever observes a dedicated physician in his daily duties might well conclude that being a good doctor is the most demanding job in society.

Now he's being asked to do even more, as rising needs collide with tradition.

Next: Needs vs. Tradition.

By JACOBY & SON

One of the worst mistakes that any player, be he expert, good player, ordinary player or beginner, can make is to talk while a hand is being played.

JACOBY

If his words help his partner or fool his opponents he is guilty of a bad breach of ethics. If they convey no information to anyone they disrupt his own thinking and sometimes actually help his opponents.

The time was the late thirties. South was Aaron Goodman of Montreal, then and still one of Canada's top players. East and West were two more of those nameless experts. West was noted for his habit of making psychic bids at every conceivable opportunity.

Goodman did not open four-card majors. Hence his call of one club. West's double was one of those useless psychics. North's jump to six was an all-purpose gamble. He thought his partner would make six unless a spade was led and decided to bid slam and hope for the best.

East's double was sound but he hadn't counted on his partner. West opened the king of spades. North was unhappy with that lead but it certainly delighted South. He gobbled up the king with his ace and led a club to dummy's king. East probably should have ducked but instead he won with the ace and returned a spade.

When South won that trick East snarled, "What a lead. You could have opened a heart, diamond or club and beaten the hand."

This was enough for Goodman. He heard and assumed that East was void of diamonds. Hence he led a club to dummy's queen. Came back to his jack and took a first-round diamond finesse to make his contract.

♣♥CARD Sense♦♠

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♠	Pass	1 N.T.
Pass	2 ♣	Pass	2 N.T.
Pass	3 ♣	Pass	?

You, South, hold:

♠ 2 ♥ K J 5 4 ♦ Q 10 6 5 4 ♣ K J 3

What do you do?

A — Pass. Your partner is showing a hand that is entirely unsuitable for no-trump and your singleton spade is not going to help his suit.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of rebidding two spades your partner rebids two hearts over your one no-trump. What do you do now?

Friends Bless Teen Sneezer

The 17-year-old hospitalized high school sophomore receives about 80 letters a day from well-wishers, many of them offering home cures. Her father, James Clark, says about 3,500 persons had called since his daughter started sneezing.

At one time, the teen-ager was sneezing every 5 to 12 seconds. Today, she was sneezing every 2 to 3 minutes.

"This is an improvement," said her father. "We are a little optimistic now."

He said about 300 persons went to the hospital Sunday to visit June, but doctors confined her visitors to close relatives.

"She's starting to show signs of being a little tired," explained Clark. "And her nose is very sore.

The Clark family continues to receive letters and telephone calls — thousands of them.

Say Spread of Colds a Moon Hazard

By Science Service

LONDON — A warning that astronauts or cosmonauts landing on the moon may face the hazard of rapidly spreading colds has been sounded here.

Dr. D. C. Muir of the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, University of London, drew attention to this new aspect of lunar exploration in a report in the scientific journal "Nature."

He notes that particles of a size between one and eight microns "are important in the airborne spread of infection" because they include the bacteria carrying droplets produced by coughing or talking.

On earth, these invisible droplets are deposited in the upper airways due to gravity, and do not reach the lungs.

On the moon, however, such particles would settle down in a deeper region of the airways because the pull of gravity there is only one-sixth that of earth.

BE EXHALED

Dr. Muir also notes that in the absence of gravity, as for astronauts in an orbiting spacecraft, particles of this size will be exhaled without any sedimentation.

County Health Head Asks for Larger Staff

Oakland oCunty Health Director Dr. Bernard D. Berman yesterday asked for 43 additional employes for his department in 1967.

Dr. Berman was one of four county department heads who appeared before the salaries committee of the County Board of Supervisors to outline personnel needs for next year.

The salaries committee will meet with all department heads in a series of meetings this month. Then it will prepare a tentative salaries budget for 1967.

In calling for 43 new employes in addition to the present health department staff of 167, Dr. Berman said the request represents an accumulation of unmet needs of past years.

★ ★ ★

"An ever-growing demand for services has created a need for these additional staff members," Dr. Berman said.

TWO ALLOWED

In preliminary budget sessions a year ago, Dr. Berman requested 29 new people. Only two additional persons were allowed when the 1966 county budget was formally adopted last fall.

County Clerk-Register John D. Murphy yesterday asked for 10 more employes next year. He presently has a staff of 48 persons.

Murphy cited the record volume of business conducted by his office last year and prospects that the heavy workload will continue to grow.

He reminded committee members that his office spent $2,800 less than its budgeted allocation last year.

NEW CLERKS

Three of the 10 new employes would be circuit court clerks based on the assumption that the county will have three additional circuit court judges next year.

Also heard yesterday were Herman Stephens, director of the equalization department, and Dr. Frank R. Bates, dog warden.

★ ★ ★

Stephens requested three additional staff members, a personal property appraiser, real estate appraiser and an engineer. The department presently employes 18 persons.

Dr. Bates asked that his three-member animal welfare staff be doubled.

S. Dakota Eyes Flood Threat

N. Dakota Is Beset by Heavy Drifting

By United Press International

Warmer weather brought the threat of flooding today in sections of blizzard-whipped South Dakota, while in North Dakota the highway department reported heavy drifting and zero visibility in some areas.

With telephone communications still out of order for much of the area, reports were slowly coming in of heavy cattle losses.

★ ★ ★

Gov. William Guy of North Dakota, after an aerial inspection of his state yesterday, said he doubted the effects of the blizzard would be sufficient to qualify for federal aid.

SCOPE OF FROST

It was 27 degrees at Birmingham, Ala., one degree colder than Bismarck, N. D.

Choir Festival Has 8 Entries Rated Superior

Gaining top honors were host Pontiac Northern, Waterford Township, Bloomfield Hills, Birmingham Groves, Rochester, Highland Park, Southfield and Ferndale.

The occasion was the annual choir festival sponsored by the Michigan School Vocal Association.

Choirs were judged on individual merit in classifications based on the size of the high school population.

Cochairmen of district and festival directors are Robert Crumpton of Waterford Township High School and John Tousley of Pontiac Northern.

License Plate Thief Is Fined and Jailed

A 23-year-old Pontiac man was sentenced to 15 days in jail and assessed $15 costs yesterday after pleading guilty to stealing a 1966 license plate.

James Woodland of 479 Alton received the jail term from Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

The plate had been reported missing last week by Mary C. Eaton, 23, of 261 W. South Blvd.

Convicts Ask for New Trial on Slayings

Sentenced in 1952 to life terms in prison for the slaying of a Hazel Park bar owner and his son, two convicts have been returned to Oakland County in hopes of getting a new trial.

The two, Michael Grisondi and Harold Hummel, both with long criminal records, were returned to the county jail on writes of habeas corpus.

They challenge the legitimacy of a reputed confession to the slayings.

A motion for a new trial comes up for hearing March 28 in Circuit Court.

Pontiac Girl, 7, Injured by Auto

A 7-year-old Pontiac girl was struck and injured by a car last night as she crossed a street near her home.

James Oliver Jr., 43, of 365 Branch, driver of the car, told Pontiac police he didn't see the girl when she ran in front of his car on Gillespie near Branch.

Bandit Robs Gas Station

The holdup occurred between 4:15 and 4:30, according to State Police.

Antibiotic Lozenges Banned Today by FDA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Food & Drug Administration today banned scores of widely sold antibiotic lozenges from the market on grounds they're no god for sore throats.

Affected by the sweeping order are all antibiotic lozenges which are sold "over the counter" — that is, without a physician's prescription — for treatment of sore throats and other pains associated with colds.

Before 1859, a store was expected to charge as much as the traffic would bear. But then we opened the first A&P. And we promised not to charge a penny more than we had to.

A penny seemed pretty big in 1859.

The value of 1¢ has shrunk a lot since then. But we still remember our promise to your Great-Great-Grandmother.

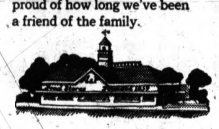

We still work for pennies.

We don't make a dime on $7 worth of groceries. 8 or 9 cents maybe, but not a dime.

If keeping a promise like that makes us seem "old-fashioned," so be it. We can't help it.

We even put "Founded 1859" on our newest stores—we're so proud of how long we've been a friend of the family.

Death Claims Scandal Figure

Viscount Astor, 59, Stricken in Bahamas

LONDON (AP) — Viscount Astor, son of the first woman member of Britain's Parliament and a central figure in the Profumo scandal, died of a heart attack Monday while vacationing in the Bahamas.

The 59-year-old member of the wealthy British-American family had gone to Nassau with his third wife, the former London model Bronwen Pugh, for a month's stay. He complained of chest pains while visiting friends and died at Princess Margaret Hospital.

Astor had suffered a heart attack in 1964 and had to take a long rest.

It was at Cliveden, the famous English estate of the Astors, that Stephen Ward, a society osteopath, artist and procurer, introduced call girl Christine Keeler to War Minister John Profumo in 1961. Profumo later admitted he lied in Parliament about his relationship with Christine. He resigned his post, touching off a scandal that rocked British society and led to Ward's sensation-packed trial.

TRIAL CLAIM

Christine testified at the trial that Lord Astor paid the rent for an apartment she shared with Mandy Rice-Davies, a teen-age prostitute who has now turned cabaret singer.

Mandy testified at the trial that she had been Lord Astor's mistress, a claim he had denied.

Lord Astor was the eldest son of William Waldorf Astor, the second viscount, and Virginia-born Nancy Langhorne, whose barbed wit made her a gadfly during her 25 years in the House of Commons. He was a great-grandson of John Jacob Astor, who founded the family fortune in the fur trade in the United States.

As William Waldorf Astor, he also was elected to the House of Commons in 1935, representing the West London district of Fulham.

Dixie Reaction Varied to Upholding of Congress Power on Literacy Tests

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Supreme Court ruling that Congress has power to suspend literacy tests used by states in voter requirements brought varied reactions from Southern officials.

Gov. Robert McNair of South Carolina, the state which originally filed the suit attacking the constitutionality of the 1965 Civil Rights Act, said it is "certainly possible" it would ask for a rehearing.

But Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia merely said, "The Supreme Court has spoken."

The high court handed down its ruling in Washington Monday. Except for a dissent by Justice Hugo L. Black on one part, the ruling was unanimous.

"Hopefully, millions of non-white Americans will now be able to participate for the first time on an equal basis in the government under which they live," Chief Justice Earl Warren said in the majority opinion.

Warren said Congress has the power under the 15th Amendment to suspend literacy tests and to order federal registrars into the South to "banish the blight of racial discrimination."

Justice Black dissented on a provision of the law that bars states covered by it from adding voting amendments to their constitutions or passing new laws without review of federal authorities.

He said that section treats states as if they were "little more than conquered provinces."

★ ★ ★

Although considering whether a rehearing might be asked, McNair said, "We are in no position at this time — until the full decision is studied — to determine whether there are points on which a request for a rehearing could be based."

Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion called the decision "another step in the total destruction of the rights of states to regulate their internal affairs. It also will undoubtedly lead to universal suffrage."

City Becomes Progressively 'Enlightened'

Come sunset, Pontiac is not as dark as it was in 1964.

This is the message contained in the annual report by Roy Hetherington, electrical department superintendent.

There were 250 new mercury - vapor street lights installed last year. Most of these were on major streets in areas that previously did not have such lights.

In addition, 234 incandescent lights were installed throughout the city on residential streets.

★ ★ ★

The electrical department last year also installed 46 new parking lot meters and 93 street parking meters. Twenty - seven meters were removed.

★ ★ ★

There were 1,493 electrical permits issued last year—about 10 per cent less than in 1964.

Groves Plays Ferndale Tonight

Cousino Holds 'Paper' Edge Over Pontiac Central

★ ★ ★

What is found on paper and what goes on during the game are two different things. Cousino and Groves are the underdogs. The two games and Friday's championship tussle start at 8 p.m.

Cousino's advantage in all phases is slight.

The patriots will have an overall height advantage of two inches per player; hold the offensive scoring edge, 70.1 to 68.8; and have a better defensive average, 53.4 to 54.7.

But the Chiefs, co-champions of the Saginaw Valley Conference, have played better over-all competition and this is what makes them the favorites.

Cousino, loser only to Rochester in 17 regular season games and the Oakland A champion, proved to critics in the district that it can't be taken lightly.

The Patriots were underdogs against Kimball and in the title game against Dondero and whipped both Royal Oak schools.

The fast moving offense is spearheaded by Paul Papak (6-2) who averaged 22.9 during the regular season. Gordie Tebo (6-0) hit at a 16.9 clip, Gene Krivik (6-3) averaged 10.8, Bob Papak (6-3) had an 11.6 mark and Randy Eckhardt (6-2) finished at 5.4.

Eckhardt and Tebo are the guards while the other three work up front.

During the second half against Kettering, the Chiefs looked like the team that earned a No. 1 rating in the state early in the season. One of the main reasons for the return to form has been the play of forward Willie Craft.

★ ★ ★

The 6-2 senior has been scoring in double figures the last three games. His driving layups have caused opponents to take some of the pressure off Jessie Evans (6-2).

Center Larry Platt (6-3) doesn't seore much, but he is the leading rebounder.

The Chiefs are just as tall up front as the Patriots and should be able to hold a rebounding edge mainly because of action against tougher SVC frontliners.

Guards Eddie Pruitt (5-7) and Jim McClendon (5-9) will give away height in the backcourt, but this is nothing new.

It will be Groves' balanced attack and rebounding against the three-prong offensive generated by Ferndale.

GUARD COMBO

The host Eagles have been paced by guards Dwight Dunlap (23.0) and Rick Bloodworth (15.6) with an assist from 6-6 center Dave Jensen (12.6).

Ferndale won the Southeastern Michigan championship and posted an 12-3 regular season mark. The Eagles polished off two foes in the district. Groves upped its mark to 18-0 with two district triumphs.

★ ★ ★

Spartans Gain 86-77 Victory in Loop Final

Cazzie Russell Hits for 34 Points Despite Michigan Setback

EAST LANSING (AP) — A runner-up spot in the Big Ten basketball standings and the solid satisfaction of beating the champ were consolation prizes for Michigan State after its 86-77 thumping of Michigan Monday night.

It was an ironic ending for the Big Ten season.

Michigan cinched the title Saturday as Russell set a personal high of 48 points when the Wolverines downed Northwestern 106-92.

Michigan State lost its chance for a tie by losing 86-76 to lowly Indiana the same day. Back to back victories could have put MSU into the NCAA playoffs instead of Michigan, which went last year.

TIGHT DEFENSE

Seniors Bill Curtis and Stan Washington, playing their last collegiate game, led the MSU attack with 26 and 23 points, respectively.

The only Michigan double figure scorers in addition to Russell were John Clawson with 15 points and Oliver Darden with 12.

"We didn't play rotten," said Michigan Coach Dave Strack. "But we certainly could have done better. We were careless and I just hope it doesn't happen again this season."

"In the second half we had a chance to get back into the game but we couldn't get a basket for two minutes. We just weren't shooting well at all," he added.

Michigan had a 39 per cent shooting average to 49 per cent for State and the Spartans outscored the visitors 35-31 in field goals.

★ ★ ★

"That was a tough game for Michigan," admitted MSU Coach John Bennington. "They were expected to win—they're expected to win every game they play, and of course they were looking forward to the NCAA tournament.

MOVED AHEAD

"The Indiana loss may have helped us. We weren't tense."

Michigan State surprised a home crowd of 12,283 by jumping ahead 6-0 before Michigan scored its first basket on a layup by Russell.

Western Kentucky to Face Wolverines

By United Press International

If the national champions won't come to Western Kentucky, the Hilltoppers will go to them.

Although the top-ranked Kentucky Wildcats are challenged every year to a "Kentucky championship" game by the unheralded Hilltoppers, the two teams have never met.

★ ★ ★

But the Hilltoppers have their golden opportunity this season, since both squads are bracketed in the NCAA tournaments' Mideast Division. Western Kentucky moved a step closer to its showdown by stunning fifth-ranked Loyola (Ill.) 105-86 Monday night in a first-round game at Kent, Ohio.

The teams will meet Saturday at Iowa City for the Mideast championship if Western Kentucky beats seventh-ranked Michigan Friday after the Wildcats whip the Dayton Flyers, who nipped Miami of Ohio, 58-51, in the opening game at Kent.

In first-round Eastern Regionals at Blacksburg, Va., St. Joseph's (Pa.) walloped Providence 65-48, and Davidson crushed Rhode Island 95-65.

The Friars now must meet second-ranked Duke and the Wildcats must tangle with Syracuse Friday at Raleigh, N.C.

At Wichita, third-ranked Texas Western advanced to the Midwest semifinals against Cincinnati at Lubbock, Tex., Friday, by belting Oklahoma City 89-74, and Houston moved to the Far West semifinals against Oregon State at Los Angeles Friday by whipping Colorado State, 82-76.

In the other Midwest semi-final Friday, Southern Methodist faces Kansas, which won the Big Eight title Monday night by blasting Colorado 85-65. Utah opposes Pacific Friday in the other Far West semifinal encounter.

KENTUCKY WINS

Western Kentucky beat the Ramblers at their own game by fast-breaking and dominating the boards behind the standout performances of Clem Haskins and 25 points and Dwight Smith, who scored 19 of his 29 points in the second half.

Towering Henry Finkel netted 25 points as Dayton overcame Miami's slowdown tactics. The Flyers, who whipped the Redskins in two previous contests, led 32-25 at halftime after failing to score a field goal until 6:01.

St. Joseph's went 2:53 without scoring but quickly tied the game at 13-13 en route to a 31-29 halftime advantage. All-American Jimmy Walker was held to 19 points by the Hawks, who were paced by Tom Duff with 19 and Billy Oakes with 18.

STOLEN PASS — Stan Washington (left) of Michigan State takes possession of the ball on a steal in the first half against Michigan last night. The ball was intended for Michigan's John Clawson (center). Steve Rymal of MSU is also in on the play. MSU won, 86-77.

One Thing in Common for Bathers, Rochester

Rochester and Mount Clemens will have one thing in common when they tangle in the Class A regional basketball tournament tomorrow night at East Detroit.

They were the only teams to defeat Utica.

Mount Clemens turned the trick during the regular season while Rochester ousted the Chieftains in the district final. The Bathers, however, have suffered through a pair of experiences that the Falcons avoided because of different schedules.

Mount Clemens lost twice to East Detroit, the state's No. 1 ranked Class A team. The Shamrocks are heavily favored to dump South Lake tonight and meet the winner of the Rochester-Mount Clemens game in Friday night's championship contest.

All games start at 7:30.

Rochester (13-5) finished third in the Oakland A League while Mount Clemens (13-6) was second to East Detroit in the Eastern Michigan circuit.

The Bathers have been paced this season by Jim Dockery (6-1) and Ben Robinson (5-9). Other starters are Bob Listenbee (6-3), Gary Pommerenck (6-7) and Jerry McCoy (5-8).

Central Michigan Wins Tourney Tilt

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Central Michigan advanced to the second round of NAIA basketball tournament play by downing Edinboro (Pa.) State yesterday, 65-53.

The Chippewas, who led 31-24 at the half and were never threatened, had Don Edwards as high scorer with 16 points. CMU's next opponent has not been determined.

Brewer Calm in Golf Win

Tournament Winner Unafraid of Big 3

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Ten per cent of the golfers on the pro tour don't run scared of the Big Three—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player—says the latest tournament winner.

The other 90 per cent quake a little and probably tense up when any of the awesome threesome is around, adds Gay Brewer Jr., who pocketed the $10,000 first prize Monday in the $65,000 Pensacola Open.

"I don't feel any different going into the Doral Open at Miami than I did here," the strapping 6-footer from Dallas said today. "When a guy gets on top of his game, he feels nobody—not Palmer, not Nicklaus, not anybody—can beat him.

In the tournament here, the field lacked not only the Big Three but also such prominent players as Tony Lema, Ken Venturi, Bill Casper and Gene Littler.

Three W-O Quintets Vie at Howell

Of the five teams in the tourney, three are W-O teams—West Bloomfield, Holly and co-champion Northville.

The other two, Holt and Portland, will square off this evening at 7:30 with the winner taking on Northville Thursday at 7:30.

Holly and West Bloomfield will take the floor Wednesday at 7:30 with the winner advancing to the finals Saturday at 7:30.

★ ★ ★

The tourney offers West Bloomfield and Holly an opportunity to settle their season series which stands at 1-1. Holly lost the first, 62-56, and won the rematch, 75-60.

Holly (12-6) was impressive Saturday night in turning back highly touted Fenton to win the district title.

★ ★ ★

West Bloomfield (9-7), which finished fifth in the W-O, showed spark in trimming Avondale in the district finale, and the Lakers will go against Holly in a game rated a tossup.

Holt (15-4) and Portland (18-0) have been impressive, but Northville (16-5) is a slim choice to beat the winner and move into the finals.

If Northville wins the first game and Holly triumphs, it would set the stage for a rubber game between the two. Northville won the first, 54-50, Holly the second 75-67.

★ ★ ★

If it's West Bloomfield against Northville, the Lakers will be looking for their first win of the season against the Mustangs. Northville was an easy 60-43 winner in their first meeting but had to rally for a 49-46 victory in the second encounter.

OTHER TOURNEY

★ ★ ★

The lineup Thursday at Seaholm will have Detroit Servite meeting Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher (7 p.m.) and Royal Oak Shrine taking on the winner of the Divine Child-Anchor Bay game at 8:30. Finals are at 8:30 Saturday.

In Class C pairings at Grand Blanc, Orchard Lake St. Mary, winner of the district at Pontiac Central over the weekend, will meet the winner of the Armada-Perry game Friday at 8:30 p.m.

Mount Clemens St. Louis and Flint Holy Redeemer open the 'C' action at Grand Blanc this evening at 8:30, with the winner moving into a 7 p.m. date against Bath on Friday.

★ ★ ★

Armada and Perry are on the Wednesday (8:30) schedule with the winner meeting OLSM for the berth in the finals which are set for 7:30 Saturday.

In Class D, also at Grand Blanc, Memphis meets Flint St. Mary Game at 7 p.m. with the winner taking on Dryden Thursday evening.

Ruth SS Peter & Paul meets Peck at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the upper bracket of the 'D' game. The winner moves to the finals set for 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Godfrey Sent to Memphis as Replacement

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings are sending Warren Godfrey back to the Memphis Wings of the Central Hockey League as replacement coach, it was announced Monday.

★ ★ ★

Godfrey, who started the season with Memphis, will fill in for Vic Stasiuk, who was injured in a game at Tulsa Friday and underwent surgery over the weekend to relieve a blood clot in the foot.

Bengal Hurler Is Helped by Tip

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — A friendly tip from roommate Fred Gladding helped solve Mickey Lolich's big problem in 1965—finishing what he started.

The Detroit Tigers' lefthander, second to Denny McLain in victories with a 15-9 record, explained he was "plain stupid" in 1965.

* * *

"A year ago (when he posted an 18-9 mark) I was getting a lot of batters out by throwing down and away and then—after getting two strikes on them—throwing up and in and getting the strike pitch by them.

"But last year, all my early pitches were up and in and when I got tired in the late innings, my curve ball—which had been nipping the plate—was coming right over. I actually moved my entire strike zone," he added.

WON FOUR

Lolich said Gladding suggested he go back to his style of the previous year after he had lost three of five games and dropped to an 11-8 record.

He did it and won four of his last five decisions, two of them by 2-0 scores.

Lolich, the Tigers' workhorse with 243 innings last season, started 37 games but completed only 7 of them. He was second in the league in strikeouts with 226.

* * *

The games started - games completed record shows Lolich once went a little more than three weeks without a decision and later another span of four weeks without gaining a victory or suffering a loss.

Partly because he faces another tour of duty with the Air National Guard in June, Lolich again feels that he "will be doing my job if I win 15 games. Anything more than that is a bonus."

Lolich, who relieved six times and gained one victory, said he hoped Manager Charlie Dressen would pick a four - man staff and keep the rotation among the four men.

"Who knows? I might wind up being the No. 1 lefthanded reliefer," he quipped. "But I think it's better for a starter to work with no more than four days rest.

DAYS' OFF

"If you go with five starters you have to figure you will have a few days off and a few postponements and it makes it hard on every starter if he has to wait a week between assignments.

"I'd even be in favor of having one guy pitch five innings and another pitch four just to keep in shape," Lolich concluded.

* * *

Lolich, who never posted a winning record in four years in the minors, is 38-27 after three seasons with the Tigers.

Dressen named him as one of three pitchers to hurl in the Tigers' Grapefruit League season opener Saturday. Dressen said Monday that Denny McLain, Lolich and Bill Monbouquette would each pitch three innings against the Minnesota Twins.

The game will be the first ever in the Tigers' new $500,000 Lakeland stadium.

The North Hill Lanes Classic has a new season high series last week when Leon Barnes of the Four-O-Six Bar team rapped out a 277-266-225—768.

His effort overshadowed another big performance by Bill Johns who had a 722 on 279-258 in helping the house team to unseat Calbi Music from its first-place seat.

Morley Drugs won three points and Hazelton Lettering four to climb into a first place tie. Morley's was led by Roy Smith who added 11 strikes to an opening spare for a 290.

There were nine games of 254 or better and 17 series of 640 or better.

Ray Giroux had an attractive 870 four-game series, including 259-244 games, in last week's Montcalm Bowling Centre Doubles Classic. Strong games were recorded by Dave Weitz, 261; Al Lucero, 247; Tom Mayes, 222-219-212; Cliff McGinnis, 225-225; and George Paulson, 211.

'Poor' Seaholm Still Top Swim Contender

Despite one of its poorest season dual records in 10 years, Birmingham Seaholm (9-5) must still be considered a strong challenger to defend its state swimming crown.

The Maples have held the crown since 1961 when they shared it with Grosse Pointe, and they have won it outright for the past three years.

Having lost two dual meets to Royal Oak Kimball this year, the Maples showed their depth over the weekend by winning the Southeast Michigan League title with 317½ points. Kimball was second with 253¼.

Likewise in the Saginaw Valley Conference, perennial power Arthur Hill, which had its 50 straight dual-meet record snapped by Pontiac Central the past season, ran away with the SVC Meet.

It was the 16th straight conference title for Arthur Hill which has 240 points, far ahead of Bay City Central with 182 points.

Seaholm has won six straight league titles, three of which go back to their affiliation in the Eastern Michigan League.

The Maples will have 15 individual swimmers and both relay teams for a total of 23 entries in the state meet, while Kimball, which could nail down as many as four firsts, will have 22 swimmers entered.

WIN BOTH RELAYS

In the SEM meet, Seaholm took both relay events and received individual triumphs from Bob Kircher in the 50 and 100 freestyle events.

Kimball's Doug Webster set a pool and league record in the 200 freestyle in 1:48.6, the best time in the state this year, and he also won the backstroke in 57.4.

In the SVC meet in Arthur Hill's pool, the Lumberjacks took five individual events and the 200 medley relay.

In comparative times between the SEM and SVC, the Oakland County swimmers from Kimball and Seaholm came up with better times in all events except two.

Scientist Urges Asteroid Trip

Says 6 Men Could Make Voyage in '74

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— A space scientist said today six astronauts could be rocketed to the asteroid Eros when it passes within 14 million miles of earth in early 1975 in what could be man's first interplanetary space venture.

Eugene A. Smith, a scientist at the Northrop Space Laboratories in Hawthorne, Calif., outlined a 527-day round trip to the 15-mile long asteroid that would start with a launch from Cape Kennedy on May 3, 1974.

In a paper presented to the Third Space Congress here, Smith proposed that the six-man spaceship fly within 50 miles of the miniature planet on Jan. 28, 1975, launch a 200-pound scientific probe to study its surface and then return to earth with a landing on Oct. 12, 1975.

Smith said that the mission could be made with a Saturn 5 rocket using solid - fueled rockets to give it an extra blast-off punch and with an enlarged version of the Apollo spacecraft that would be capable of keeping six men alive in space for 1½ years.

★ ★ ★

He said such a mission could help man unlock "the vast storehouse of solar system knowledge" as well as provide invaluable experience for more difficult flights to Venus and Mars.

NEED ANSWERS

Smith said certain questions such as crew performance, weightlessness, and equipment lifetime need to be answered before such a flight could be undertaken.

★ ★ ★

"But answers to such questions are expected in the immediate future from programs already being implemented — and no unsolvable problems are foreseen," he said.

Dum-De-Dum-Dum Returning

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Dum-de-dum-dum is back.

If you don't know what dum-de-dum-dum is, you must be terribly young. That was the opening theme of "Dragnet," which was one of television's most notable series in the years from 1952 to 1959.

THOMAS

The saga of Los Angeles police operations made a millionaire of Jack Webb, who produced, directed and starred as Sgt. Joe Friday. Webb moved on to other enterprises including television series and most recently, a post as head of Warner Bros. Television.

He is now in the midst of filming "Dragnet 1966," an up-to-date, two-hour version of the show for broadcast by NBC. I dropped out to see the filming and it appeared that time had stood still for Joe Friday. He has the same stolid face, the same emotionless voice, and he's still a sergeant.

ADDED POUNDS

"But I'm exactly 10 pounds heavier than when I finished the series," confessed Webb. "Old whale-face they call me."

The poundage was not noticeable. It no doubt came from his tour of executive duty, a role in which he considered himself miscast.

"A lot of my friends were upset when I was fired from Warners — much more upset than I was," said Webb, who enjoyed the balm of $3,000 weekly severance pay for a couple of years.

"I wasn't happy behind a desk. I'm much more in my element out here on the floor with the others."

Sgt. Friday has a new sidekick in the two-hour drama, which comprises three actual cases from Los Angeles police department films. The fresh partner is veteran character comedian Harry Morgan. He replaces Ben Alexander, the longtime Frank Smith of "Dragnet."

"We wanted Ben back," explained Webb, "but he had already signed for a pilot film at Fox. They wouldn't let him loose for ours."

"Dragnet 1966" is another of a series of feature-length films made especially for television with the added potential of a release in theaters overseas. It is a forerunner of the operation which the networks may need to face when they run out of old movies.

The show has another purpose: as a pilot for the return of the half-hour "Dragnet" to television.

"I'm definitely aiming at a return," Webb emphasized. "NBC has first option on a new series; if they don't exercise it, we'll go to CBS and ABC."

Film Producer and Actress Sued for Rent

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A suit was filed in Superior Court yesterday against actress Rhonda Fleming and film producer Hall Bartlett charging delinquent rent payment amounting to $5,000.

Miss Fleming was named co-respondent and accused with Bartlett of adultery in a divorce suit brought by Bartlett's wife, Ana Maria Marinez Bartlett, last month.

However the accusations were dismissed by a judge who granted Bartlett and his estranged wife divorce decrees.

Miss Fleming denied charges.

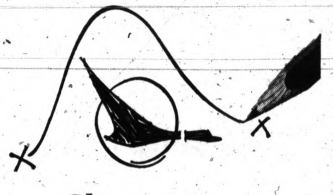

The petition filed for back rent alleged the actress and Bartlett had failed to meet two months rent due from Jan. 15 through March 14 at $2,500 per month.

After Big Sell-Off

Mart in Moderate Comeback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a moderate recovery in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Following yesterday's sell-off, the worst since President Kennedy's assassination in 1963, many of the worst battered stocks snapped back a number of points.

* * *

Zenith won back half a dozen points of its 12⅝-point drop of yesterday. Fairchild Camera recovered 3 points or so of the 11½ points it lost Monday.

Blue chips shared in the rebound well enough so that the Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 5.95 to 923.71. It fell 14.58 yesterday.

NO CONNECTION

Brokers attributed the rise to "bargain hunting" by traders and investors, with no particular connection with the news background, which has remained fundamentally the same.

Airlines, motors, electronics and electrical equipments were higher, steels barely changed, aerospace issues and rails lower.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 344.7 with industrials up 1.5, rails off .7 and utilities up .2.

General Motors came back about 1½ and Chrysler was up a full point while Ford and American Motors were fractional gainers.

Prices were mixed in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Syntex recovered more than 2 and Valley Metallurgical nearly 2.

Ford: Spring Fever Grips GOP Ranks

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON — Spring is coming up bright for Republicans, said House Republican leader Gerald Ford, R-Grand Rapids, at a news conference yesterday.

He's changing his speeches around the country to reflect the signs of optimism pushing up through the aftermath of defeatism following the last presidential election.

Even Ford is different. More confident, more hopeful and cheered by "the large crowds turning out at Republican meetings" such as he enjoyed recently in Erie, Pa. and Brigham City, Utah.

He has changed the thrust of his remarks away from the general appeal to "Let's keep the two-party system" to specific anti-administration attacks.

★ ★ ★

Three of these cited to Michigan - in - Washington reporters were: inflation, mismanagement of the poverty program, and growing centralization of power in the executive branch of the government.

VIET AVOIDED

Pointedly left out was opposition to President Johnson's Viet Nam policy because "such lack of support is not in the national interest and besides it's not good politics."

In his speeches his reasons for optimism include: more GOP unity as contrasted with Democratic disunity in the Senate; disappointment some older citizens will have as the Medicare program experiences launching difficulties; and 'if the President's budget is enacted it may mean higher prices, higher taxes and perhaps control of prices and wages."

Spring GOP fever extended to Michigan politics, with Ford even predicting that Congressman Robert Griffin, the GOP-preferred candidate for the Senate will be helped not hurt by the Landrum-Griffin bill he coauthorized.

★ ★ ★

He sees a Republican victory against Democratic incumbents Billie Farnum of Pontiac, John Mackie of Flint and Clarence Clevenger of Sault Ste. Marie "and of course a good chance in the traditional Republican second and third districts," now represented by Weston Vivan of Ann Arbor and Paul Todd of Kalamazoo.

40 GOP SEATS

Ford has upped his forecast to "over 40" seats the Republicans will capture in the House in the congressional election.

★ ★ ★

Last year he made 172 talks in 47 states and so far this year has appeared in 14 states.

By flying nights, he has managed to keep his attendance record this session at 85.3 per cent. He left the conference for a luncheon talk to Republican Women in Washington and then was off for one of those overnight jaunts to Los Angeles.

Quitting Klan for Sheriff Bid

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — E. H. Hennis said he was quitting the Ku Klux Klan as he filed for the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Guilford County.

Hennis, who said he was the exalted cyclops of the Greensboro Klavern of the United Klans of America, said Monday he was closing his demolition, welldrilling and lumber businesses to devote full time to the campaign. He will run in the May 28 Democratic primary.

Hennis arrived at the elections office dressed in a red satin robe and tall, red-tasseled cap. He paid the $112.50 filing fee and told newsmen he was quitting the Klan.

He then removed his robe and hood, which, he said, "go back to the Klan. The Klan owns them. I'm being replaced by my assistant."

'FULL TIME'

Hennis said he "had to give up Klan membership, because I intend to devote full time to running for sheriff. If I win," he said, "I will continue to be just a plain citizen, but if I lose, I would expect the Klan to reinstate me."

Junior Editors Quiz on TYPEWRITERS

QUESTION: Why aren't the letters on a typewriter in order?

ANSWER: The first typewriter that really worked was invented in 1867 by Christopher Lathrop Shole, assisted by Carlos S. Glidden and Samuel W. Soule.

It was a crude machine, but the three men worked hard to perfect it and it was put on the market in 1874 as the Remington typewriter.

The inventors realized that the typewriter keys should be arranged to make it as easy as possible for the typist to operate them.

Certain letters and words are used a great deal more than others; certain fingers are naturally stronger than others.

The inventors experimented a long time and finally came up with what seemed to them the best arrangement. This system proved to be practical, for it is almost exactly the same as that now used everywhere.

Recently, careful studies have been made to find out if it really is a perfect system. Some have felt an arrangement such as shown beneath the hands would be better.

But so many typists have been trained to use this system, and so many typewriters built with it, that is seems doubtful if it will ever be changed.

FOR YOU TO DO: We show a keyboard with alphabetical arrangement. Trace the word "the" on this and compare with the same word made by Soule's arrangement of letters on the hands.

To find your strongest fingers, put your hand down and lift each finger without moving the others. You'll find how strong the index fingers are and why they are given so many letters to handle.

Man Who Left $1,000 Tip Has Mis-givings

Waitress Carol Poiel, 18, said she had planned to cash the check and "hold the money to see what happens."

Prized Dog to Be Prize for Best 'Care' Letter

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Beautiful blonde Shirley Knight, the shapely Kansas-born actress twice nominated for an Oscar, is going to give away her 3-year-old purebred Welsh terrier, Fern, a sister of Jackie Kennedy's terrier Charlie, to the reader of this column who writes the best dog-lover's letter promising good care to Fern.

WILSON

"I'm going to England at the end of April for 6 months," explains Miss Knight, "and can't take Fern because of the immigration laws. I want her to have a wonderful home."

Miss Knight, one of the outstanding dazzlers in "The Group," the new film, says "I'd prefer that the new owner live in the country." However, Miss Knight will read all the letters herself, and anybody could win.

The writer of the best letters gets only Fern, of course. Miss Knight does not go with the offer. She's the wife of Producer Gene Persson, and she's going to appear in some of his productions in England. Both he and Fern, it would seem, are lucky dogs.

"Where's the charlie" is current for "Where's the action?" Stanley Garfinkel was saying that "Anita Louise is always looking for Charlie, not realizing she is Charlie."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Judy Garland & Liza Minnelli are trying not to appear together on programs or at benefits lest people make comparisons and turn them into competitors. Already, Judy's being introduced jokingly as "Liza Minnelli's mother" . . . Battle-scarred Otto Preminger had supper at 21 with 5 people, one of whom was Irving Lazar.

The Vic Damones, parents for 5 months, are expecting again . . . Marty Allen & Steve Rossi flew in for their Copa opening. Marty says they're on the road so much that Steve's kids call him "Uncle Daddy." Reminiscent of the old, old tale of Bob Hope returning from many trips and one of his brood saying, "Look, mommy, isn't that Bob Hope!"

EARL'S PEARLS: The Beverly Hills Set is divided into two groups—the Haves, and the Have-Mores.

Collegiate Press Days Proclaimed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed April 15-16 as Collegiate Press Days in Michigan.

Romney noted since the Michigan Collegiate Press Association was founded in 1961 with a membership of 25 yearbooks, newspapers and magazines at 20 schools, it has grown to take in 45 publications at 29 schools.

* * *

The association will hold its sixth annual convention April 15 and 16 at Michigan State University.

Colombian Stakes High

Congress Vote Could Sway Later Race

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombian voters elect a new Congress March 20 with much more than 288 parliamentary seats riding on the outcome. The results could affect the presidential elections six weeks later.

Also at stake:

Endorsement of the Conservative-Liberal coalition which has shared power since Rojas was kicked out.

BIG FAVORITE

Whether Liberal Sen. Carlos Lleras Resrepo, heavily favored to win the May 5 presidential election because of the Liberal-Conservative rotation agreement, will have a friendly Congress or will have to struggle along governing by decree as the current president has.

There is even an outside chance that adverse results could hurt Lleras' presidential chances.

* * *

Rojas, now 65 and diabetic, is trying to drive a legislative wedge deeper into the coalition so he can try for the presidency. He has been hammering away at the ruling National Front with claims people were better off under his dictatorship before the army overthrew him in 1957.

Clutching a banana in one hand and yucca root, the peasant's staple food, in the other, he compares prices with those 10 years ago, a point that seems to be making some headway.

LOOKS FOR GAIN

His hope is that his Poplar National Alliance party, formed after he returned from exile and was convicted of corruption, will add to the 27 seats it now holds in the 186-member House. Also to be elected is a 102-seat Senate.

Rojas has indicated he will run if his party does well, despite rumored army threats to keep him from office and the fact that his conviction in a congressional trial deprives him of political rights.

The ex-army general, some of whose supporters carry black banners with white skulls, promises he will force the government to acknowledge a victory by using something he calls the "dialectix of the knives."

The overwhelming presidential favorite, however, remains Sen. Lleras, 57, a bald, stocky man whose press relations are so shaky that professional advertising men are in the forefront of his campaign. He has pledged needed social reform.

STAKES PRESTIGE

Realizing he has staked his personal prestige on the congressional results, the Liberal senator has campaigned tirelessly for a Congress that will give him a clear road to accomplish a "bloodless social revolution."

* * *

Lleras' problem is the House, where the opposition now holds 89 seats, more than enough to block the two-thirds approval required for all legislation.

* * *

Conservative President Guillermo Leon Valencia has had to resort to emergency powers to put through laws, despite a comfortable majority in the Senate. Lleras says he would be terribly disappointed if he had to do the same.

The two-thirds rule, effected in 1958 to prevent dictatorial rule and as a truce between the warring Conservatives and Liberals, has produced some strange opposition coalitions, such as the present one in the House made up of Rojas' party, Conservatives led by Sen. Alvar Gomez and leftists and Communists.

The muddled situation is also the result of laws which allow candidates to run only as Conservatives and Liberals although they are members of other parties. Communists, legal here, have been elected under both Conservative and Liberal labels.

'Dem Rift Like Football Game'

FORD

In a speech to the League of Republican Women here, he humorously likened it to a championship game between the Democratic administration and "The Big Red Team":

"The head coach, LBJ, before the kickoff painfully is pleading for unity. In the huddle on the first play, the team's new quarterback, Hurry-up Hubert, calls the signals.

TRIPS BALL CARRIER

"If this isn't enough trouble for LBJ and Hurry-up Hubert, on almost every play the rollout left halfback, Wayne Morse, deliberately trips that flash ball carrier, whipping boy Russell Long.

"Whenever there is time out, water boy Bill Moyers dashes on the field to save the day by sticking a wet sponge in the mouths of all he can corral."

And, amid applause from the audience, Ford said:

"Just as this lack of teamwork would be disastrous in a football game, in the serious Viet Nam situation it can lead only to prolongation of the war, undermining the morale of our fighting men and encouragement of the Communist aggressor."

Suburbs Pace Crime Rise

All Incumbents Will Be on Ballot

By L. GARY THORNE

Twelve contestants for the April 18 general election were selected yesterday as Pontiac electors trimmed the field of aspirants for City Commission.

According to unofficial results, all six incumbents involved in primary balloting will be on the April 18 ballot.

However, two incumbents—T. Warren Fowler Sr., in District 1 and Leslie H. Hudson in District 4—may face an uphill fight for reelection.

There were 6,022 ballots, or 19.6 per cent of the 30,081 eligible, cast in yesterday's city primary elections.

The under 20 per cent turnout contrasts with the 41 per cent turnout in 1964 primary balloting. There were 10,572 votes cast in 1964.

There were two winners yesterday in each of the six district primaries.

Representing District 1 in the April 18 general election will be Charles M. Tucker Jr., 33, of 161 Earlemoor and incumbent Fowler, 59, of 59 Lake.

★ ★ ★

DOWNTOWN BUSINESSMAN

Yesterday's balloting in District 2 nominated Robert C. Irwin, associated with a real estate and insurance firm, and Kenneth H. Cumberworth, a downtown businessman.

Irwin, 36, of 345 W. Iroquois received 676 votes, while Cumberworth, 50, of 32 Newberry tallied 93 votes.

Making his second bid for a commission seat, George Grba, 35, of 28 Kimball, a county employe, outdistanced incumbent Hudson, 43, of 361 Gallogly in the District 4 primary.

★ ★ ★

GM EMPLOYES

Nominated in District 5 were John A. Dugan, 57, of 363 Nelson, a Pontiac Motor Division employe, and William B. Hine, 31, of 490 DeSota, an employe at GMC Truck & Coach Division.

Dugan received 717 votes, while Hine tallied 187 votes.

Boost Blamed on Population Boom, Apathy

Small Police Forces Cited as Factor in 8 Pct. Jump From '64

NEW YORK (AP) — Police officials say suburbia's soaring population, public apathy and small police forces contribute to the pace-setting crime rise in the suburbs, an Associated Press survey shows.

Millions of Americans have escaped to the suburbs. But criminals apparently have joined in the exodus from the cities.

The FBI said yesterday the suburbs paced a 5 per cent increase in the nation's reported crimes in 1965.

Crime in suburbia was up by 8 per cent over 1964, with 12 per cent more rape and 15 per cent more robbery.

"Certainly our crime rate is growing, but then so is our population. They follow together," says Donald Meehan, police chief of Alhambra, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles.

'USED TO BE ELSEWHERE'

"We're getting some of the crime that used to be elsewhere," said Police Chief John O. Kenyon of Overland Park, Kan., which is 12 miles from downtown Kansas City and one of the 10 fastest growing communities in the nation.

In Yonkers, just outside New York City, Safety Commissioner Daniel F. McMahon says: "We're part of the national picture—lowering of moral standards and a growing disrespect for law and authority, and we haven't been helped by court decisions."

Brandon Opposition Aired at School Merger Forum

A current of opposition to the proposed merger of the Brandon and Clarkston school districts was apparent last night in a public forum of some 200 residents at Brandon High School.

Several education officials, including Roger Boline, consultant to the school reorganization and school bond loan program, Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools, and the superintendents of the respective districts, said they felt a large district could be run more efficiently than a small one.

The point was argued by numerous residents, however, who said they preferred to "retain their identity" in a small district.

"We decided to live in Ortonville because we liked the idea of a small community," said James Triplett of Hummer Lake Road.

His sentiments were echoed by several members of the audience who said they had moved from larger communities and had chosen Brandon because it is small.

One woman said she had taken her children out of a larger school because she felt they had more advantages in a small school.

ACCUSES ADULTS

Speaking on the other side of the ledger was a high school student who accused the adults of not considering their children's needs.

"Maybe we want to go to a larger school and get a better education than you did," she said. "We want to go further with our education than you did and get more out of it."

Two "newcomers" to the district said they liked the community but were disappointed with the schools.

They pointed out that the situation could be corrected by annexation or by increased taxes

Mackie Eying Governor Race

'Will Make Decision by End of Next Week'

DETROIT (AP) — Democratic Congressman John C. Mackie says he'll make up his mind by the end of next week whether he'll run for governor.

Mackie, a freshman congressman and former state highway commissioner, said yesterday it's a "50-50" situation.

He said he is sounding out support in his 7th Congressional District, including Lapeer and Genesee counties.

However, he said yesterday, "I would love to take on George Romney." He said "party people are turning to me again."

FIELD NARROWED

The field of possible Democratic challengers of Republican Gov. Romney has narrowed.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh of Detroit has said he doesn't want to run.

★ ★ ★

Boat Safety Course to Be Offered

A free course in boating safety will be offered beginning tomorrow night to Pontiac area boating enthusiasts and other persons interested in water safety.

The classes will be held at the Oakland County Supervisors Auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m. and will meet on Wednesday nights for the month of March.

Joint sponsors are the State Boating Control Committee and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Local director for the course has come from Lt. Donald K. Kratt, head of the sheriff's water safety division.

BOATING MANUAL

The course will be built around a manual just put out by the Boating Control Committee.

Classes will cover material in the booklet and participants will study the material with the assistance of a workbook corresponding to the manual.

★ ★ ★

A 25-question final examination will be given at the conclusion and all those who score 70 points or better will receive an official certificate testifying they have passed.

Dublin Blast Ruins Statue of Lord Nelson

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — A mighty explosion wrecked the 134-foot Nelson Monument in the heart of Dublin early today, sending England's greatest admiral sprawling in the Irish dust amid a thousand tons of stone and rubble.

Police blamed the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which long has regarded the monument as an insult to Ireland.

The IRA has shown signs of stepping up its activity in connection with the 50th anniversary next month of the 1916 Easter uprising against the British.

The explosion at 1:30 a.m. knocked off the top two-thirds of the towering column. It blocked O'Connell Street, the city's main thoroughfare, and threw the morning rush hour into chaos.

★ ★ ★

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION

The statue was erected by public subscription in 1809 to commemorate Adm. Lord Nelson's great victory over the French at the 1805 Battle of Trafalgar.

The Irish complained about it from the moment the subscription list opened. Successive city councils voted to pull it down, but until today nothing decisive was done.

Brenda said: "We had just walked away when we heard this terrible explosion. It shook the whole street. We looked back and the pillar was gone. The place was littered with rocks."

Cab driver Stephen Maugham was waiting at a red light by the monument. Just as he got the green he heard the explosion.

Heaviest U.S. Raids Pummel North Viets

SAIGON (UPI) — A U. S. military spokesman today disclosed that Air Force and Navy planes carried out the most devastating attack of the war on Communist North Viet Nam. Four planes were lost, presumably shot down by antiaircraft fire.

The raids were flown yesterday against military and communications targets from one end of the country to the other. They came as American and South Vietnamese ground forces wound up one of the most successful campaigns of the war in the south.

The four planes lost, all from the Air Force, were two F105 Thunderchiefs and two F101 reconnaissance aircraft. All went down in the panhandle region along the southeast coast.

The U.S. spokesman under security regulations could not reveal the number of sorties flown in yesterday's raids but said the individual strikes were the most ever over the north. The previous known high was 240 sorties in a single day.

STRATEGIC BLOW

The massive air strike yesterday enabled U.S. pilots for the first time to hit the strategic Son La petroleum complex 60 miles south-southeast of historic Dien Bien Phu.

Critics of LBJ Losing in Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's critics are doing the most talking, but his supporters are rolling up the most votes against challenges to his conduct of the Viet Nam war.

However, Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated he is not going to be swayed from the critical course he has been pursuing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's 13-6 rejection yesterday of a restrictive amendment he proposed to a $415-million Asia aid bill.

The committee was to hear Prof. A. Doak Barnett of Columbia University on his views regarding the possibilities of Chinese intervention in the Viet Nam war.

Barnett told a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee Jan. 26 that while the Chinese leaders have shown "a fairly high degree of realism" thus far about the Viet Nam war they cannot be expected to avoid conflict at all costs.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaving the theater, the couple walks to its car and finds a camera has been taken from the back seat.

This pessimistic crime victim and thousands like him are about to become targets of an unprecedented national survey aimed at coming up with the best estimate yet of the nation's crime burden.

SCIENTIFIC SURVEY

The President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice — the National Crime Commission — will launch a scientific survey this spring into what it calls the "dark figure" problem.

The term doesn't mean the shadowy form of the mugger lurking in an alley, but the untold number of crimes against person or property which never find their way into police logs—and consequently never turn up in the FBI's annual and quarterly reports on the national crime rate.

"We know that criminal events recorded in official records represent only a portion of the crimes actually committed," Loyd Oblin, professor of sociology at Columbia University and staff director of the crime commission's task force on "Assessment of the Crime Problem," said in an interview.

Canadians Raise Price of Newsprint

The increase to $144 a ton from $134 f.o.b., was made by Domtar Newsprint, Ltd., Bowater Paper Corp.'s North American Group, MacMillian, Bloedel & Powell River and Crown Zellerbach Corp.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Thieves who apparently had keys to a room and a closet at the Doral Country Club Hotel took more than $100,000 in jewelry, the Sheriff's Department said today.

"We're just not able to get the personnel, and we haven't had the personnel for 10, 12, 14 years now," said Chief James F. Corr of Lexington, Mass., a suburb of Boston. He said he needs 65 policemen, but has only 34.

'TOO MANY PROFS'

"Perhaps because we're the affluent society, I don't think too many parents say to their children, 'You ought to be a policeman,'" Corr said. "There are too many professors and architects here."

Chief Meehan of Alhambra says: "We're getting calls now for things we never did 25 years ago.

'NEED HELP'

"We have to get the citizens to help us if we're to make a real effort against crime."

In the Atlanta, Ga., suburb of College Park crime is down 13 per cent. "This year I've had one auto stolen in two months," says Police Chief T. Owen Smith.

COOPERATION CITED

Smith said he believes the decrease stems from cooperation by Greater Atlanta authorities.

He said: "We feel that our Metropol organization has done something—the cooperation, better education, and communication."

It has no industry, no hangouts, it is dry, its population is stationary—and so is its crime rate.

BRIGHT REPORT

Winnetka has had no homicides or rapes in more than two years. Last year it had 39 burglaries and 35 major larcenies.

Chief Don Derning says residents are quick to report suspicious persons and to notify police when they are leaving town.

Many of the communities surveyed are affluent, and that means burglaries.

BLIGHTED BUILDING — Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC) members Mrs. Edmund L. Celebrating its fifth anniversary tonight, the GWCC is currently in the midst of a beautification campaign.

Waterford Council Marks Anniversary

By HUDSON WILLSE

Tomorrow marks the fifth anniversary of the Greater Waterford Community Council (GWCC), a group that strives to keep citizens posted on key local issues and problems.

The group, which numbers approximately 150 members, actually will celebrate its anniversary at 8 tonight during its regular monthly meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

Officers will be elected and Supt of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatrow will speak on the proposed $13-million bond issue to be decided at a special March 28 election.

An offspring of the Waterford Township Business and Professional Women's Club, the GWCC actually was organized Feb. 15, 1961 by a group of 29 civic-minded residents.

COMMUNITY PROJECTS

Since its inception the GWCC has undertaken several community projects, ranging from $5,100 raised for construction of two tennis courts at Waterford Township High School to the current clean-up, fix-up and beautification campaigns.

In the clean-up, fix-up campaign, the GWCC has taken measures to rid the township of junk yards, junk cars and abandoned buildings.

State legislators have been asked by GWCC members to push for legislation to enable the township to cope with these problems.

Among recommendations made by the GWCC following studies were:

RECOMMENDATIONS

- Improvement of township water and sewer facilities.
- Establishment of a planning commission.
- Civil service for the police department.
- Adoption of a food handling ordinance.
- Charterhood for the township.

All of these recommendations have been realized.

In addition, the GWCC formed the Friends of the Library group, helped get a proposed incorporation issue on the ballot and sponsors the foreign exchange student program in the township.

At each meeting, guest speakers lead discussion on current issues and problems.

Near election time, candidates of both parties are invited to speak at GWCC meetings to express their views.

Major Quake Hits East China

The quake also was recorded in Japan and at the University of California in Berkeley.

Tass said the tremor at 12:38 a.m. Moscow time was centered in the area of Kaifeng, a large city in eastern China's Honan Province about 350 miles south of Peking.

It registered 10 on the 12-point scale used in the Soviet Union, Tass said. This equals about 8.3 on the 10-point scale used in the United States. The quake which hit Alaska on Good Friday 1964 registered 8.6 on that scale.

★ ★ ★

Japanese news correspondents in Peking said a strong earthquake shook the Chinese capital this morning, causing walls to crack and toppling furniture. They said there were no reports of casualties.

Senator Planning 2nd Auto Hearing

LANSING (UPI) — State Sen. Roger E. Craig, D-Dearborn, has revealed plans for a second public conference on minimum new car safety standards.

In remarks prepared for delivery in the state Senate, Craig said he will ask state legislators from "throughout the country" to testify on various bills that would require built-in auto safety features.

Craig said the conference will give the public a chance to "hear the other side of the story" about proposed safety bills he has introduced.

Jakarta Scene of Two Riots

Foreign Ministry and U. S. Embassy Are Hit

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Thousands of anti-Communist Indonesians stormed and ransacked the Foreign Ministry in Jakarta, Indonesia, today, bringing a charge from President Sukarno that they were trying to overthrow him, radio reports said.

Pro-Communist demonstrators in Jakarta attacked the U.S. Embassy and managed to burn several cars, Radio Malaysia reported.

The radio said the anti-Communist students at the Foreign Ministry "took out practically everything, including chairs, desks and files and destroyed them in a bonfire."

"These wild students do not understand what they are doing," Radio Jakarta quoted Sukarno as telling a rally. "They are trying to overthrow me. I do not want to be overthrown. I will fight and crush any attempts to topple me."

ALMOST DAILY

The students have been demonstrating almost daily since Sukarno fired Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, Indonesia's anti-Communist defense minister, last month.

★ ★ ★

After ransacking the Foreign Ministry, the students moved off toward the office of First Deputy Premier Subandrio, who has been the chief target of student demonstrations because of his sympathies for Red China, Radio Malaysia declared.

Radio Malaysia said the Communist Chinese Embassy might also be a target for the students.

ENTER COURTYARD

About the same time, Radio Malaysia continued, truckloads of Communist youths pulled up at the U.S. Embassy and "some managed to enter the courtyard and set fire to several cars."

The broadcast said the Communists also threw stones at the embassy and broke several windows before troops dispersed them.

Radio Jakarta announced that President Sukarno has said he will not attend summit talks with Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman "as long as Malaysia exists."

The statement, made at an International Women's Day rally in Jakarta, reversed earlier government statements that Sukarno was ready to meet in Manila with Abdul Rahman and President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines.

SWITCHED POSITIONS

Jakarta, the Indonesian capital, has been the scene of hostile student demonstrations and other disorders since Sukarno ousted his anti-Communist defense chief, Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, last month.

Housing Law Change Likely to Get City OK

The commission is expected to approve an amendment to permit public housing designed for the elderly.

The amendment to ordinance 1270 was introduced last week.

Basic rate will be hiked from 35 cents to 40 cents.

OTHER BUSINESS

Still other scheduled business tonight will see presentation of a report on six possible construction projects to eliminate dead ends in the city's water system.

A proposal to submit a preliminary application for federal funds to construct intern housing for Pontiac General Hospital will also be considered.

Several rezoning proposals will also be taken up by the commission.

Cuban Says 'Kill Me' at Trial for Treason

HAVANA (AP) — A former Cuban army major has asked a revolutionary tribunal to sentence him to death because he agreed to shoot Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"To the wall. To be executed, that is what I want," Rolando Cubelas told the tribunal Monday.

He and six other Cubans are on trial for plotting to assassinate Castro with the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency and Cuban exile leader Manuel Artime.

"I was the victim of my weaknesses and contradictions," Cubelas said. "I simply fell into the hands of the enemy.

EXIT YELLING

"If I have to die, I will do it yelling 'Viva la revolucion, fatherland or death, we will win.'"

At the opening of the trial in La Cabana prison fortress, Prosecutor Jorge Segura asked the death penalty for Cubelas, former army Maj. Ramon Guin, Jose Gonzalez Gallaretta and Alberto Blanco Romariz.

He asked 30-year prison terms for Juan Alsina Navarro, Guillermo Cunil Alvarez and Angel Herrero Veliz.

Guin is charged with knowing about the plot, concealing it and spying for the CIA.

Cubelas testified that Artime persuaded him to join the plot during a meeting in Madrid on Christmas Day 1964. He said Artime in February 1965 gave him a high-powered telescope and a silencer for his rifle, and he agreed to shoot Castro from a distance of about 800 yards.

"This was a cowardly act," he said. "I fell in the hands of the enemy."

Cubelas said the meeting was arranged by a Cuban resident of Madrid and by Odon Alvarez de la Campa, a former counselor to the Cuban Embassy in the Spanish capital who defected in March 1965.

IN SECOND PLACE

Finishing second in District 6 was Mrs. Charles W. Neldrett, 54, of 62 Mariva, a local office manager and teacher for Wayne State University, with 125 votes.

In District 7, incumbent James H. Marshall, 63, of 185 S. Jessie, a retired auto plant employe, and former Pontiac Mayor Robert A. Landry, 51, of 47 Center topped the field of five candidates.

Marshall, an incumbent by appointment, finished with 332 votes, while Landry, an auto plant worker, was close behind with 301 votes.

Since only two candidates filed, the District 3 nominees in the April 18 election will be incumbent William H. Taylor Jr., 50, of 247 Ottawa and William J. Winters, 39, of 293 Ottawa.

LARGEST NUMBER

Districts 1, 5 and 7 registered the largest number of voters yesterday. District 1 and 7 had the largest percentage of voters.

District 1 with the largest voter turnout with 1,428, also had the largest percentage with about 32 per cent of the district's 4,511 registered voters casting primary ballots.

Largest single district in the city with eight voting precincts, District 5 was next in line with 1,216 voters, but this was only about 16 per cent of the 7,597 persons registered there.

District 7 had a 30 per cent turnout with 1,093 of its 3,613 electors voting.

Of those not nominated, Joseph Singleton, 30, of 365 S. Marshall, in District 7; Roland Folk, 36, of 628 Joslyn, in District 5; and Samuel J. Whiters, 53, of 453 Harvey, in District 1, recorded the best third-place vote totals.

LOSING TOTALS

Only 19 votes separated the second nominee, Cumberworth, with 93 and the third-place finisher, Stanley Swierczynski, 37, of 335 Dick, with 74 votes.

Precinct 3 in District 1 turned in the best voter turnout.

The 806-vote precinct had a 36 per cent turnout or 293 votes.

City Clerk Mrs. Olga Barkeley said the board of canvassers would meet at 7:30 tonight to certify yesterday's results.

Police See All; Trio Charged With Robbery

Two men and a woman were to be arraigned on charges of armed robbery today after Pontiac police last night watched them execute an alleged $425 holdup.

Held at the Oakland County Jail are Melvin R. Scott, 25, of 281 Luther and Rebecca Jenkins, 19, who gave a local motel as her address.

Also in custody is Homer Crawford, 28, of 296 Howard McNeil.

Patrolmen Dallas J. Flesher and Bruce D. Jarvis said they followed Crawford in a car for about 20 minutes around 3 a.m. in the Hughes-Motor area.

★ ★ ★

PULLED GUN

Crawford allegedly pulled a gun on Glordano, and as the patrolmen watched from nearby scout cars, took $125 and a diamond ring valued at $300.

Birmingham Area News

Part of Street Vacated While Store Enlarges

BIRMINGHAM — The closing of the north half of Ann Street between Brown and Daines was approved by the City Commission last night to permit a fashion shop to enlarge its facilities.

The street is not a thoroughfare and is used by only about 300 cars daily, according to city officials.

In addition to using a portion of the vacated strip to increase the size of its building, Chudiks also plans to develop the area into a garden and pedestrian mall.

★ ★ ★

The planning board recommended that the entire section of Ann between Brown and Daines be closed, contingent upon the commission accepting one of two plans for an east-west alley in the block.

MADE OBJECTIONS

Both alley plans were rejected after property owners objected.

One of the proposals recommended that the alley run from Purdy across Ann and then dogleg to Daines on the south. This, however, would have divided the property Chudiks plans to use for parking.

The open southern section of Ann will provide an access to the parking lot and another property midway in the block.

Two other actions involving streets were taken by the commission, both stemming from the perimeter road planned to encircle the downtown business district.

LEFT TURN LANE

First, the commission authorized the widening of Maple between Chester and Bates to provide a left turn lane for east bound traffic to turn north on Bates.

The city engineering department and the city's traffic consultants, Reid and Cool, both recommended the changes.

★ ★ ★

Bates will be made one-way when the ring road is made one-way.

TRAFFIC FLOW

When this is done traffic will move counter-clockwise on Oakland, Willits, Chester, Brown and Hunter.

A public hearing on the proposed paving of Emmons between Grant and Woodward was scheduled for April 4 at 8 p.m.

MSU Prof Stays in GOP Senate Race

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein announced officially today that he will seek the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate in the August 2 primary election.

Augenstein, chairman of Michigan State University's department of biophysics, said he decided to enter the race "to give Republicans an opportunity to decide for themselves who should carry the GOP banner in this fall's election."

★ ★ ★

Speaking at a press conference at the Detroit Press Club, Augenstein said he felt "this scientific age requires more scientists in government, more government in science, and fewer politicians in either field."

Augenstein is expected to face Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., of Traverse City, and Deane Baker, a Grand Rapids businessman.

'PREFERRED PICK'

Griffin was picked as the Republicans' "preferred candidate" at a party leadership meeting Feb. 19 in Lansing.

Augenstein said he questioned whether Republican leaders were wise in hanging that label on Griffin, making the primary a "cut and dried affair.

"Certainly Mr. Griffin has served the party, his state and nation well," Augenstein said. "But this does not mean that another can't serve as well or better."

Exam Asked in Teen Deaths

Mrs. Kenneth R. Ostin, 24, was arraigned in Commerce Township Court yesterday on a charge of manslaughter in the Jan. 3 traffic deaths of two sisters.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ostin of 335 Main, Milford, demanded examination on the charge and was released by Justice John C. Weick on $5,000 personal bond.

Weick set examination for March 24 at the Commerce Township Hall.

The woman was released last Thursday after two months confinement in Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Ostin allegedly drove her car through a stop sign at the intersection of Carrol Lake and Wise in Commerce Township.

The car struck a school bus and then, it is charged, hit and fatally injured Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette M., 13, standing at the roadside.

President Calls for Caution to Preserve Economic Boom

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson called today for "appropriate caution" to keep the 5-year-old economic boom rolling and reduce unemployment below the 3.7 per cent level achieved in February.

"Yet to conclude that we must proceed cautiously does not mean that we should slam on the brakes or throw the economy into reverse," Johnson said in a special manpower report to Congress.

The President ordered new government efforts to deal with manpower shortages and directed more on-the-job training programs to help employers obtain skilled workers.

"We are determined to do whatever is necessary to keep the economy expanding and avoid inflationary bottlenecks," he said.

"To sustain high employment and continue our record of price stability, we must work harder than ever to match jobs and men."

GROWING CONCERN

The report came amid growing expressions of concern by some economists that the nation may be entering an inflationary phase because of the Viet Nam war and the continuing economic surge on the home front.

The combination is putting pressure on the President to seek new taxes to siphon off excess spending power and thus relieve some of the pressure on the economy.

However, Johnson has given no public hint that he is planning any such move.

In today's message, Johnson said the decline in the key jobless rate from 4 per cent in January to 3.7 per cent in February — the lowest level in more than 12 years — was a "triumph" for the nation's economy. But he added:

"Because it does reflect an economy operating closer to the full use of its manpower resources, our celebration must be tempered with caution."

'MUST BE ALERT'

"We must be alert to assure that the pace of our advance does not become too rapid, endangering the healthy stability and sound balance of our expansion."

The President said the labor force is expected to expand by 1.6 million workers in 1966.

This means the nation must provide about 4,500 new jobs every week — to keep the unemployment rate down.

Topics Run Gamut in Farmington Twp.

Cityhood Backer Offers Debate

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Annexation, consolidation, incorporation and preservation — all were discussed at last night's fifth township preincorporation committee meeting at Longacre Elementary School.

The crowd, smallest in attendance to date, heard a challenge was given an explanation and was presented with a financial study report.

Joseph T. Brennan, chairman of the committee, hurled a direct challenge at the newly formed opposition group which was organized last week as a corporation.

"I want to publicly state that I will personally meet the opposition corporation in a face-to-face debate at any mutually convenient location," said Brennan.

★ ★ ★

The opposition to which Brennan referred is a group, headed by Farmington attorney Wendell Brown, which adopted the title, Committee for the Preservation of Farmington Township.

EVERY EFFORT

Over 50 persons who attended the opposition committee's organizational meeting were promised that every effort would be made to inform them of the issues involved in the current incorporation movement.

Brown's organization has presented no formal opposition to the preincorporation committee thus far.

"I would like to explain that I think opposition is a very good thing," said Brennan. "But I mean open opposition is good."

★ ★ ★

Brennan claims that he has not heard from the opposition and as far as he knows they have not attended any of the meetings held by his committee.

'SCARE TACTICS'

The chairman added that he welcomes the opposition but personally felt they would resort to last-minute "scare tactics" rather than open debate.

"I strongly believe that the opposition will base its arguments on emotion rather than on facts," he said.

Having issued the challenge and offered an explanation to opposition, Brennan turned the meeting over to a three-member financial subcommittee which delivered its report on the advantages and disadvantages of township and city forms of government.

Clifford B. Moorhead, chairman of the subcommittee, said the study-group could find no foundation in fact, estimates or projections, to indicate that a change to city status would increase taxes in any amount above that which would result from normal demand for increased services.

He pointed out that the cash needs of the community would be based on the level of services the residents want and for which they would be willing to pay.

The committee presented a study of one "target area" which, if it were annexed by another community or chose to incorporate separately, would pose a serious loss to the community.

★ ★ ★

The area consists of about five square miles on the southwestern fringe of the township. It presently contains the community's two largest taxpayers, Independence Green subdivision and Star Cutter Co.

ESPECIALLY VALUABLE

The committee noted that this portion of the township is considered especially vulnerable because of its attraction as a tax base.

It was further pointed out that a 560-acre section of this area had nearly been annexed last year by Farmington City. The annexation attempt was defeated by only 25 votes.

The committee members stated that they could not see how the township could continue to provide good government when it is faced with a substantial loss of tax base through annexation.

★ ★ ★

When confronted with the question of possible consolidation towards the close of the meeting, Brennan said the community could consolidate at a later date but it must become a city first, and that consolidation would require the consent of all voters after gaining cityhood.

★ ★ ★

The last of the series of six meetings staged by the committee will be held March 21 at 8 p.m. at the O. E. Dunckel Junior High School, 32800 12 Mile Road.

Top Science Fair Honors to 33

Science took the spotlight yesterday at Avondale High School when nearly 200 chemistry and biology students filled the gymnasium with displays for the school's second annual science fair.

Covering scientific subjects from A to Z, the students designed and built the displays to demonstrate their knowledge of topics in which they were particularly interested.

Judges representing industry, schools and the professions awarded ratings of superior, excellent, good and satisfactory.

Thirty-three students received superior ratings and 71 were judged excellent.

★ ★ ★

AT COBO HALL

Judging was based on knowledge achieved, scope of project, explanation of project and originality. To receive a superior rating the student must have received superior in knowledge achieved.

★ ★ ★

Among those providing judges were the William R. Potere Funeral Home and Parke, Davis & Co. of Rochester, Pontiac Motor Division, GMC Truck & Coach Division, and Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

DISPLAY MATERIAL

Others were Consumers Power Co., National Twist Drill & Tool Co., Northwest Chemicals, Inc., Barr & Hanna for Men of Bloomfield Hills, Stony Creek Metropolitan Park and the Michigan Conservation Department.

Material for the displays was furnished by Church's Inc. of Auburn Heights.

Dr. Willard Cheek, senior physicist for General Motors Corp., emphasized the importance of science in an address to the students at noon yesterday.

to support more programs in the schools.

'RAY OF HOPE'

"The first ray of hope was when we learned there might be a merger," said one woman.

Township Supervisor Richard Wilcox reiterated his previous objections to the merger, saying he felt the board of education had not studied the matter thoroughly and that the children could get just as good an education in a small district.

The educators pointed out that annexation would not solve all their problems but that they could be solved better by a united school district than by each one alone.

★ ★ ★

"It would be foolhardy to think that this is a panacea for all our problems," said Clarkston Schools Supt. L. F. Greene, "but we have studied this thoroughly and feel that amalgamation would be beneficial to both districts.

'WILL NEED COOPERATION'

If annexation takes place, it will take the cooperation of all involved," he said. "We must have a single purpose."

Boline, school consultant, noted that reorganization can accomplish a better educational program and assure that tax monies are better spent.

Although his county office has no legal say in the matter, Dr. Emerson said he feels that a merger of the two districts shows a lot of promise.

★ ★ ★

"It won't make all your problems go away," he said, "but it will make a stronger district then two separate districts.

'NEVER A BAD ONE'

"I have seen 60 consolidations in this area and have never seen a bad one," he said.

Several residents said they feared they would lose their identity in a large district and not be fairly represented on the board of education.

In reply, Dr. Greene pointed out that in the event of annexation, everyone would have to think of the district as a single area.

★ ★ ★

Boline eased the fears of some residents by pointing out that there is no law now which forces a school district merger.

NOTES TREND

He said, however, that there is a trend toward the merger of smaller districts and that some time in the future there may be such a law.

Burl A. Glendenning, Brandon superintendent, gave three main reasons for the proposed annexation:

- A larger district would have a better chance to qualify for federal funds.
- The larger the district, the better chance there is to hire good teachers.
- The students will benefit because the district can attract specialists and provide a broader choice of subjects.

★ ★ ★

"We have kids in school today who are forced to stay in school until they are 16 and they couldn't care less about it," he said. "We have to interest them in something and we can do this better on a larger basis.

'SAME WAY'

"We're not driving Model T's anymore. We all want nice new modern cars and it's the same way with education."

Glendenning pointed out that April 4 was set as the date for the annexation vote instead of June in order to avoid a dual election.

He said the April date was also chosen to coincide with the registration deadline in Lapeer County, which includes part of the Brandon district.

If the annexation passes, the combined districts will have a total of about 100 square miles and an enrollment of about 7,000.

ONE VACANCY

Under terms of the proposed annexation, the Brandon board would be dissolved. One vacancy on the seven-man Clarkston board would be open in June.

★ ★ ★

BURL A. GLENDENNING

School Chief for Brandon Resigns Post

Glendenning, who has been head of the Brandon schools since 1959, plans to take a position as superintendent of the Greenville School District near Grand Rapids.

Dale Fortin, president of the board of education, said Glendenning's resignation was accepted by the board "with regret."

"This is in no way contingent to the annexation," Fortin said. "The board has been aware of this since last November."

★ ★ ★

The district is in the throes of a merger with the Clarkston School District. If the proposed annexation passes on April 4, Glendenning was to become assistant superintendent under Dr. L. F. Greene, Clarkston school head.

PRIOR SERVICE

Glendenning became head of Brandon schools seven years ago after teaching for three years in the Pontiac schools. Prior to that he taught for five years in Brandon.

He recieved his bachelor of arts degree from Albion College and his master's degree in secondary administration from the University of Michigan.

Lapeer Seeks Police Post

City Manager Arnold Whitney said a letter has been sent to the State Police commissioner offering to provide temporary quarters at City Hall until permanent quarters can be constructed.

"We're right in the middle of all the State Police posts," he said, "and we feel that a post here would secure better protection on the state trunk lines in the vicinity."

In other action last night, the City Commission authorized Whitney to seek bids on the construction of a new department of public works garage.

The bids are to be opened at 7:30 p.m. March 23.

The commission also authorized the mayor and clerk to sign an agreement with architects Nurmi, Nelson, McKinley and Associates of Flint for construction of the garage.

Pontiac Twp. Barn Damaged by Blaze

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Flames which broke out around noon yesterday inflicted an estimated $3,000 damage to a barn owned by C. W. Myers of 2810 Shimmons.

Also damaged in the blaze was an undetermined amount of farm equipment stored in the barn.

Milford YWCA's Spring Sign-Up Slated March 15

MILFORD — Registration for the YWCA's four spring classes in Milford will be conducted March 15, with the program scheduled to begin a week later.

Enrollments will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the civic room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Oakland, 350 N. Main.

The spring program, conducted by the Northwest Branch of the YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit, will be held on Tuesdays for 10 weeks.

Tailoring and reupholstering classes will meet at 9:30 a.m. and yoga and oil painting at 1 p.m.

Troy School's New System to Be Shown

TROY — A new educational system instituted at the high school last fall will be shown to interested persons in a series of tours scheduled to begin Thursday.

Guided tours of the classrooms will begin at 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. and will take about two hours.

The tours will also be conducted on March 24, April 14 and 28 and May 12 and 26.

The new system, known as the modular plan, is designed to "introduce increased flexibility into the schedule in an attempt to achieve increased quality in learning," according to Principal Joseph E. Bechard.

★ ★ ★

Under the new program, the class size, the length of class meetings, and the number and spacing of classes varies according to the nature of the subject, the type of instruction and the level and ability of the pupils.

DAY DIVIDED

Instead of the traditional six or seven-period day, the school day is divided into 24 "modules," or periods of 16 minutes each. No class meets for less than two modules or 32 minutes.

Such a schedule frees a teacher 40 to 50 per cent of the time for individual conferences with students.

★ ★ ★

Forty-three per cent of the students' time is not scheduled but during this period he must either be in a laboratory or in study hall.

MORE SUBJECTS

The plan also allows a student to take as many as 12 subjects instead of the traditional four or five.

★ ★ ★

Family Dinner to Aid Church Building Fund

LAKE ORION — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will serve a family-style baked ham dinner from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday at the church, 531 E. Flint.

Colombian Stakes High

Congress Vote Could Sway Later Race

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombian voters elect a new Congress March 20 with much more than 288 parliamentary seats riding on the outcome. The results could affect the presidential elections six weeks later.

Also at stake:

Endorsement of the Conservative-Liberal coalition which has shared power since Rojas was kicked out.

BIG FAVORITE

Whether Liberal Sen. Carlos Lleras Resrepo, heavily favored to win the May 5 presidential election because of the Liberal-Conservative rotation agreement, will have a friendly Congress or will have to struggle along governing by decree as the current president has.

There is even an outside chance that adverse results could hurt Lleras' presidential chances.

* * *

Rojas, now 65 and diabetic, is trying to drive a legislative wedge deeper into the coalition so he can try for the presidency. He has been hammering away at the ruling National Front with claims people were better off under his dictatorship before the army overthrew him in 1957.

Clutching a banana in one hand and yucca root, the peasant's staple food, in the other, he compares prices with those 10 years ago, a point that seems to be making some headway.

LOOKS FOR GAIN

His hope is that his Poplar National Alliance party, formed after he returned from exile and was convicted of corruption, will add to the 27 seats it now holds in the 186-member House. Also to be elected is a 102-seat Senate.

Rojas has indicated he will run if his party does well, despite rumored army threats to keep him from office and the fact that his conviction in a congressional trial deprives him of political rights.

The ex-army general, some of whose supporters carry black banners with white skulls, promises he will force the government to acknowledge a victory by using something he calls the "dialectix of the knives."

The overwhelming presidential favorite, however, remains Sen. Lleras, 57, a bald, stocky man whose press relations are so shaky that professional advertising men are in the forefront of his campaign. He has pledged needed social reform.

STAKES PRESTIGE

Realizing he has staked his personal prestige on the congressional results, the Liberal senator has campaigned tirelessly for a Congress that will give him a clear road to accomplish a "bloodless social revolution."

Lleras' problem is the House, where the opposition now holds 89 seats, more than enough to block the two-thirds approval required for all legislation.

* * *

Conservative President Guillermo Leon Valencia has had to resort to emergency powers to put through laws, despite a comfortable majority in the Senate. Lleras says he would be terribly disappointed if he had to do the same.

The two-thirds rule, effected in 1958 to prevent dictatorial rule and as a truce between the warring Conservatives and Liberals, has produced some strange opposition coalitions, such as the present one in the House made up of Rojas' party, Conservatives led by Sen. Alvar Gomez and leftists and Communists.

The muddled situation is also the result of laws which allow candidates to run only as Conservatives and Liberals although they are members of other parties. Communists, legal here, have been elected under both Conservative and Liberal labels.
