Striking Employes Return to Jobs Under Court Edict

By ED BLUNDEN

Pontiac firemen and other city employes returned to work last night under a Circuit Court order which ended, at least temporarily, a confrontation that included use of tear gas and charges of violence.

The order was issued by Judge Philip Pratt who had been conducting hearings with the three unions involved and the city almost continually since Monday morning.

The unions agreed to comply with the order which sent them back to work "in the public interest." A show-cause hearing on contempt of court charges was adjourned. The charges concern alleged improper picketing and failure on the part of firemen, to remain on the job as previously ordered by the court.

Contract bargaining resumed this morning between the city and its three unions, the Pontiac Firefighters Association, Pontiac Municipal Employes Association and the Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Association.

Garbage pickup was resumed today with residents asked to observe regular pickup days.

The notice of the court order came dramatically as the City Commission was about to begin its 8 p.m. meeting.

About 200 jeering pickets were in front of city hall. Between them and the building were about 50 policemen under the personal charge of Chief William K. Hanger.

Though police were taunted, no violence occurred as it did Monday morning. At that time the pickets, apparently attempting to block all use of City Hall, clashed with police.

A tear-gas device was used Monday and some pickets fought with police. Four pickets are facing misdemeanor disturbance charges in District Court. A fifth is accused of blocking the driveway at the public works building on Wessen.

Moments before the City Commission began its meeting, pickets were informed of the court order and told by union leaders to return to work. The group then broke up quietly.

Edwin Manley, president of the firefighters association, later spoke to the commission. He said he was speaking for all three unions and said "We are going back to work under court order and not because of gas or (city) back-to-work orders." He added that the unions were "still willing to settle the issues at the bargaining table."

At the commission meeting District 4 Commissioner Jack Douglas demanded a report on "who gave the order to gas city employes?"

'SCAPEGOAT' OBJECTION

His resolution asking for the report passed over the objection of District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, who said the demand was an attempt "to find a scapegoat."

★ ★ ★

Commissioner and Mayor Pro Tem T. Warren Fowler Sr., serving as mayor in place of the absent William H. Taylor Jr., said the report would give the police "a chance to defend themselves to the public."

W. Germany Elects Its Third President

BERLIN (AP) — Gustav Heinemann, the fiercely independent 69-year-old justice minister, was elected West Germany's third president by only six votes here today as East German harassment of West Berlin's road-links reached new intensity.

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany, with full approval of the Soviet Union, closed the main autobahn from West Berlin to the West twice today while West Germany's Federal Assembly met here to choose a new president of the Bonn Republic.

For the first time in the current war of nerves, East German troops also shut down the West Berlin entrance to a road leading to Hamburg in the north.

Voting proceeded in the East Prussian hall of the West Berlin fairgrounds, with Socialist Gustav Heinemann and Christian Democrat Gerhard Schroeder competing to succeed President Heinrich Luebke.

In the first ballot Heinemann, West Germany's 69-year-old justice minister, fell five votes short of the majority needed for election on the first two ballots.

Six electors abstained, two votes were declared invalid, and the other 15 members of the assembly stayed away because of illness or other reasons.

Two hours before more than 1,000 members of the Federal Assembly met on the West Berlin fair grounds, the East Germans closed the main autobahn between West Berlin and West Germany for the fourth time in five days. But after three hours the Communists reopened the highway from Helmstedt.

Weather Outlook Is Cloudy, Mild

Skies will be mostly cloudy tomorrow but temperatures will continue mild. The high is expected to be in the low 40s.

The golden glow of the full moon occasionally will brighten skies tonight as it peeps in and out among scattered clouds. The temperature is expected to drop to a low of 17 to 23.

Winds will continue light and variable.

Probability of precipitation in per cent is 20 tomorrow.

A frosty 17 was the low recording prior to 8 a.m. today in downtown Pontiac. The mercury climbed to 39 by 2 p.m.

Decision on ABM Due Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon plans to announce next week whether he will scuttle the Sentinel missile defense system or give a "go" signal that could put him on course for a head-on collision with the Senate.

"I will make a decision and announce a decision on the ABM at the first of next week," the President told his nationally broadcast news conference last night.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a leading critic of the $5-billion Sentinel system, said shortly before Nixon spoke that if the administration decides to go ahead there will be a showdown in the Senate by April and the administration will lose.

Nixon's brief comments in answer to a question indicated the review may be complete and ready for scrutiny by the National Security Council at a meeting today.

Parochiaid Bill Is Due Today

LANSING (UPI) — Legislation to pump $40 million in tax funds into the state's 1,000 parochial schools was scheduled for introduction in the Michigan House today.

Backed mainly by the Roman Catholic church, the controversial Parochiaid plan was announced a month ago by a Senate-House study committee on non-public school financing.

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, the chief sponsor, said it was too early to judge if the emotion-packed bill would pass, but he expressed "cautious optimism."

Traxler said the plan would require expansion of the state's tax base to pay for the aid, but not necessarily an increase in the income tax.

Related Stories, Pages A-3, D-6

CAPE had accused Traxler and other members of the Senate-House committee that recommended Parochiaid with being dupes of the Catholic Church.

House Minority Leader Robert Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, told a news conference yesterday he opposes the legislation, dimming Parochiaid forces' prospects of picking up major GOP support.

Among new bills introduced yesterday were four aimed at controlling alleged discrimination practiced by suburban real estate companies.

Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, sponsored the package to prohibit discrimination in advertising, require a salesman to swear he will not discriminate, require real estate brokers to maintain a log of clients for state inspection and set up listing agreements between brokers and sellers banning discrimination.

"While legislation cannot force a change in the hearts, minds and attitudes of white men, it can help those who are willing to accept the black man as his friend and neighbor," Bradley said.

Other bills introduced would require fingerprinting and an investigation of all candidates for the Legislature nominated at the primary, and revoke the driver's license of any person under 18 who drops out of school.

Stadium Benefits Far-Reaching

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. sees the proposed domed stadium for professional sports as having benefits reaching far beyond the city limits.

"I can't think of a single segment of our community that would not benefit," Taylor said.

"And probably benefiting most of all will be the sports fans. We'll have a truly superior facility here and I'm sure the whole area will appreciate it."

The proposed stadium would be built at I-75 and M59 and house the Lions football and Tigers baseball teams.

Delay Ordered on Pontiac Tax Case Appeals

The Pontiac City Commission last night ordered further legal appeals on the city income tax case to be delayed at least a week.

Sherwin Birnkrant, city attorney, had requested that the commission allow him to prepare further appeals in the case which could end up with a citywide vote on the issue.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, A-9

The original litigation has been sent back to the Oakland County Circuit Court by the Michigan Court of Appeals. At stake is a large share, $4.5 million out of $10.2 million, of the city's 1969 and future budgets.

The suit over legality of the income tax began before it went into operation in January 1968. Originally involved were the city and two of its employes. The employes blocked a citywide vote on the tax early in January by gaining a ruling from Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer.

THIRD PARTY IN SUIT

A third party in the suit is Cecil Mullinix, representing backers of the referendum. The Appeals Court ruling, said, in effect, that the Circuit Court must allow Mullinix to present evidence in the rehearing. Judge Beer had disallowed his testimony in the original suit contesting the legality of the referendum petitions.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners last night delayed a decision on seeking a new hearing in Appeals Court or an appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court on the basis they had not had time to study the issue.

Housing Project Upgrading OK'd

A $450,000 grant from the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for improvements to Pontiac's Lakeside Homes was announced yesterday by Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District.

The funds will be used to provide new siding on the homes for about 400 low-income families in the city's housing project on the southwest side.

Downspouts and rainwater gutters will be replaced, according to Roy MacAfee, director of the Pontiac Housing Commission.

MacAfee said the modernization program's objective is to "make life better for poor people.

"It's more than the physical surroundings, but the entire environment of the poor which we are trying to improve," he said.

The latest grant adds to $330,000 allowed by HUD last year for Lakeside. Those funds are slated for remodeling of kitchens, and retiling of kitchens, dining and living room areas.

Included is a day-care center for preschool children of working parents. Bids are now being asked on this project, MacAfee said.

★ ★ ★

News Briefs Off the Wires

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird heads for Vietnam today on a presidential mission to assess the current enemy offensive and check the Saigon army's progress toward assuming a greater fighting role.

Laird's departure, scheduled after a morning meeting with President Nixon and the National Security Council, sends him on his first trip to Vietnam since taking over the Defense Department under the new administration.

His reports following the week-long tour of the Southeast Asian country could have a strong bearing on any Nixon decisions concerning reaction to the current wave of enemy attacks and possible cutbacks in U.S. troop strength.

4 Policemen Punished

DETROIT (AP) — A police trial board yesterday fired a patrolman, demoted two sergeants and ordered another patrolman to forfeit $5,000 in pay — all as a result of the beatings of Negro youths by off-duty policemen last Nov. 2.

A fifth policeman was found innocent.

The policemen were among nine suspended last Nov. 15 as a result of the incident outside the Veterans Memorial Building in downtown Detroit. Two other policemen face criminal assault charges.

Jet Hijacked to Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A passenger wearing a Fu Manchu mustache and beard — and a hippie haircut — today hijacked a National Airlines jet to Cuba with 26 persons aboard. An airline spokesman said the Boeing 727 changed course about an hour after leaving New York's Kennedy Airport on a flight to Miami.

The plane, flight 97, carried a crew of six and 19 passengers. A supervisory employe of the airline also was aboard. The plane landed in Havana at 4:30 a.m. EST.

Ike's Pneumonia Cured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors, reporting today that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "continues to show satisfactory progress," confirmed that the pneumonia that had complicated his major abdominal surgery has been completely cured.

They also said he no longer is receiving oxygen via a nasal tube, as he was during the pneumonia bout.

Space Head Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today announced he is moving up Deputy Administrator Dr. Thomas O. Paine, 47, of Berkeley, Calif., to be the new head of the nation's space agency. He also awarded the Robert H. Goddard Memorial Trophy for space achievements to the around-the-moon Apollo 8 crew.

Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. accepted the Goddard trophy on behalf the Apollo 8 crew which also included Air Force Col. Frank Borman and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders.

Moon-Cab Engine Passes Space Test

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Russell L. Schweickart today successfully fired the big engine designed to land men on the moon after executing the first spaceship transfer by Americans.

The jarring six-minute firing came more than five hours after McDivitt and a slightly sick Schweickart moved through a connecting tunnel from the Apollo 9 command ship into a lunar module (LEM), the spidery craft being developed for a moon landing.

Schweickart overcame an early morning bout with nausea and vomiting to make the transfer. There was some concern that if the illness recurs, he might have to delay or cancel a two-hour space walk planned Thursday.

After hours of extensive evaluation that included a seven-minute telecast to earth, McDivitt and Schweickart reported all systems in the LEM functioning with only one or two minor problems. This was encouraging news for American plans to land two men on the moon in another LEM in July.

The key test came at 12:42 p.m. EST when the two spacemen triggered the big 9,000-pound thrust LEM descent engine, the powerplant that will brake a later vehicle for a lunar touchdown.

Nonchalantly, McDivitt suddenly injected: "Gee, am I hungry."

He said the engine was "doing a real good job of steering."

"Spider, that was a beautiful burn. You were right down the tube," Mission Control Center reported.

In radio conversation, Schweickart gave no hint that he had been sick.

The illness was not reported to newsmen for several hours and came to light only after the astronauts asked for a private conversation with ground controllers.

FELT FINE LATER

In an earlier private talk Schweickart had reported an upset stomach. In the second talk, he reported he was feeling fine.

Air Force Col. McDivitt followed Schweickart through the tunnel into the LEM, leaving Air Force Col. David R. Scott alone in the command module, which remained hooked nose-to-nose with the lunar vehicle.

Nixon Is Weighing Retaliation in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, reporting a doubling of the American casualty rate since the start of the current enemy offensive in Vietnam, says the attacks can not be tolerated and will bring "appropriate response" if continued.

Nixon, in an unprecedented prime-time television-radio news conference limited to foreign affairs, said last night he is weighing several possible moves against the Vietcong and North Vietnam "if those attacks continue at their present magnitude."

Room of the White House, the chief executive reported on his five-nation European tour and, in response to questions, also said:

- It is his "cautious conclusion" that the Soviet Union "will play possibly a peacemaking role in the Mideast and even possibly in Vietnam."
- He is optimistic about prospects for four-power talks on the Middle East and feels that while such conference could not impose a settlement, it is essential for the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Great Britain to guarantee an Arab-Israeli peace.
- American-Soviet summit talks at the highest level "are in the wings," pending the outcome of lower-level negotiations already under way.

Only 190 newsmen were counted in Nixon's audience—the smallest turnout for any of his three news conferences.

River Project Vexing Pontiac

A project which would cost the city of Pontiac $500,000 against its will was studied by the City Commission at last night's meeting.

The commission was informed of the formation of the Clinton Basin Drainage District, which plans a $19-million project to improve the Clinton River from Pontiac through Macomb County.

Plans are to assess municipalities along the route including Pontiac ($500,000) for their share of the cost.

The city engineering and legal staffs have opposed the inclusion of Pontiac at hearings held on the matter.

SEPARATE PLANS

The city has already spent $5 million on the river and has further plans separate from the newly proposed project to control the river in the city, it was announced.

Initiating the project were several townships in Macomb County. To be included are municipalities in 760 square miles drained by the stream to the east and south of Pontiac.

The Clinton River carries much of the storm water from the area and in the last few years flood conditions have prevailed downstream from the city during spring runoffs.

Another hearing in Mount Clemens on April 14 has been scheduled and city officials were told to attend.

Youth Is Killed in Area Mishap

Pontiac State Police said they are seeking a warrant charging a Waterford Township man with manslaughter in the traffic death late yesterday of a West Bloomfield Township youth.

Killed about 6:30 p.m. on Telegraph north of Pontiac Lake Road was Douglas R. Dooley, 17, of 1715 Mercedes, police said.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital, where his mother, Gladys, 48, and James D. Grindstaff, 22, of 5829 Southward are undergoing treatment.

Investigators said Grindstaff's car headed south on Telegraph, crossed the double yellow median line into the northbound lanes and then collided head-on with the oncoming Dooley vehicle.

IN FAIR CONDITION

Grindstaff, reported in fair condition with a lacerated eye, hasn't yet been charged because of his injury, police said.

Mrs. Dooley is reported in fair condition with a fractured hip.

Terrorists Fail in Try to Kill S. Viet Premier

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists tried unsuccessfully to assassinate South Vietnam's Premier Tran Van Huong in a daring daylight attack today, touching off a gun battle near the U. S. Embassy.

Alert Security guards foiled the assassination attempt, which Huong's chief spokesman called a "very well-planned plot." The 66-year-old premier escaped unhurt and was back at his desk a few hours later.

A spokesman for the premier said one terrorist and a suspect had been arrested. But police at the scene said four Vietcong troops wearing the uniforms of South Vietnamese rangers and a fifth man dressed in civilian clothes were captured. Police said one of the terrorists was slightly wounded in an exchange of gunfire.

There were no reports of any other casualties despite the outburst of shooting.

BOLDEST ATTACK

It was the boldest terrorist attack in Saigon since the Vietcong launched their spring offensive Feb. 23. Authorities had been on the alert since the capture of documents which said attempts to assassinate key officials would be made as part of the offensive.

PAPC Meeting Tonight on Bylaws

The Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC) will hold a special meeting on bylaws at 7:30 tonight at a new location, the third-floor auditorium in the Consumers Power Building, 28 W. Lawrence.

The only item on the agenda is consideration of proposed bylaw revisions presented to the PAPC by the Pontiac City Commission and the Pontiac Board of Education.

The two groups, which formed the PAPC to provide "citizens' participation" in planning matters, are presenting 15 amendments to the existing bylaws. The amendments have the avowed intent of increasing and tightening controls and communications among the three bodies.

The PAPC, in the opinion of city attorney Sherwin Birnkrant had been acting outside the provisions of the original bylaws in matters such as agenda items, budget and representation on the council.

Probe of 85 City Auto Thefts Nets 15 Youths, 2 Sentenced

Investigation of the thefts over the last five months of 85 automobiles valued at approximately $200,000 has led to sentencing of two youths and implication of 13 others, according to Pontiac police.

The 13 all are juveniles. Cases against eight are pending and five others apprehended have not been charged.

One of the two sentenced is a juvenile and has been sent to the county children's home. The other is Oliver Johnson, 17, of 598 Grenada, arrested in connection with the thefts but given two years' probation on a reduced charge of taking a car without the owner's permission.

The youth sent to the children's home was linked by fingerprints to the theft of an auto stolen in Pontiac. He ran away from home and was arrested several days later in Flint.

All 85 autos have been recovered, according to Detective James F. Fritz.

"Many times one or two youths would steal three cars during the night and four or five of them would take them on joyrides or race them," said Fritz.

Most of the cars were taken from parking lots at Kmart, Glenwood and N. Perry, and at Yankee Department Store, 792 N. Perry. Others were taken on fringe areas of the city.

Ignition switches were jimmied by the youths, aged 14 to 16, said Fritz.

BIG INCREASE

A big rise in auto thefts in Pontiac was reported last year. Auto thefts went from 380 in 1967 to 539 in 1968—an increase of almost 42 per cent.

School District Post Filled

BIRMINGHAM — Joseph F. Griffin has been named director of personnel relations for the Birmingham School District, the board of education announced last night.

Griffin, who will receive $18,000 a year, has been associated with the Inter-Chemical Corp. of Detroit. He served there as personnel manager, assistant manager and manager of industrial relations. Griffin has had considerable experience with union contract administration, and grievance handling.

He previously was employed by Allstate Insurance Co., General Foods Corp., Uniroyal Corp. all in Detroit, and TRW Corp. in Warren.

He succeeds Richard Zweiback who joined the National School Boards Association in Evanston, Ill.

In other business, the board approved a Birmingham school district-Michigan State University Cooperative Education project for this summer at Covington Junior High School.

The program will focus attention on personal and social values using inquiry and inductive learning processes. It is designed to involve both the student and teacher in problem solving and formulation of value judgments.

The board also approved final plans for the Baldwin Elementary School play area. In an amendment to the plan, parking space was reduced in order to provide more play space.

3 Pontiac Men Arrested at OU

Three Pontiac men were arrested at Oakland University last night during two incidents in which Oakland County sheriff's deputies were called in to assist campus police.

Deputies were first called to the campus at 11:20 p.m. when a campus police officer said he needed help to arrest Moore, who reportedly was causing a disturbance in a dormitory and allegedly assaulted a student.

SENT BACK

Two deputies were sent back to assist three campus officers in the arrest of Price and Brown at 1:04 a.m.

Three or four persons argued with campus officers over the arrest of Moore, according to campus police.

Police said Price refused to leave the public safety department parking lot and had to be handcuffed. Brown tried to interfere with the arrest, they added.

Moore and Price were released from jail on $50 bond. Their arraignment is set for Friday. Brown is being held in jail for arraignment scheduled this afternoon.

VC Warning to U. S.

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Nugyen Thi Binh, deputy leader of the National Liberation Front's delegation at the Paris peace talks, said today it would be "a big mistake" for the United States to resume the bombing of North Vietnam. "Last time the bombing was met with defeat, and if it is resumed it will meet the same fate and have no result," she said.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Bernard Girard of 1250 Vaughn, a Pontiac attorney will be the only newcomer fighting for a city commission seat at the city election April 7.

Girard filed a nominating petition at the deadline Monday to join incumbents William R. Shaw of 253 Marblehead, Louis D. Colombo Jr., 3635 Lahser and Robert D. Gargaro of 837 Selago who had previously filed.

OU Readying Summer School

Plans are nearly complete for the pioneer summer session at Oakland University, according to Lewis N. Pino, Summer school dean.

The new summer school was established this year as part of a revamping of the academic year.

In addition to being aimed at the needs of regular OU students, the summer school hopes to enroll, on a guest basis, students from other institutions who would be interested in taking a course or two at Oakland during the summer vacation, Pino said.

Application for guest admission may be made with the director of admissions, and requests for a catalog or general information may be addressed to the summer school office.

MOST FOR 4 CREDITS

Pino said that almost all of the summer classes will be for four credits.

Several courses dealing with black history and sociology will be offered.

Oakland previously has operated on a three-semester program designed to permit the student who wished to take courses year-round to receive his bachelor's degree in two and two-thirds years.

Because of diminishing enrollments in the spring semester, the University Senate voted to change the academic year into segments of fall and winter semesters, plus an abbreviated spring session and the new eight-week summer school session.

'Parochial Schools Need Federal Aid'

WASHINGTON (AP) —A Roman Catholic educator said Tuesday the church's parochial school system is in danger of collapse and needs a prompt infusion of federal financial aid.

Without such assistance, said the Very Rev. Msgr. James C. Donohue, parochial schools will be forced to close, throwing thousands of pupils on already overburdened public school systems.

Donohue urged Congress to provide a federal grant of $100 per pupil each year for the next four years for all five million students in private and public elementary and secondary schools.

* * *

Donohue, director of elementary and secondary education for the U.S. Catholic Conference, was one of eight Catholic educators who appeared before the House Education and Labor Committee to urge continuation of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA).

'NOT GET SHARE'

The Act, passed in 1965, provides federal aid for educationally disadvantaged children, whether in private or public schools. The money goes to the local public school system, which is supposed to include eligible children from private schools in the programs.

* * *

Donohue and the other witness said in most cases parochial school children are not getting their share of the money. They blamed lack of consultation and inadequate funding for the situation, not any deliberate attempt to leave them out.

* * *

The Very Rev. Msgr. Edward T. Hughes, superintendent of schools for the archdiocese of Philadelphia, said that although 35 per cent of the children in Philadelphia are educated in Catholic schools, they have received only 10 per cent of the city's ESEA funds.

Similar testimony was given by the heads of the parochial school systems in San Diego, Brooklyn, Kansas City, Kan., New Orleans, Milwaukee and Portland, Ore.

'MUST FAIL TO SURVIVE'

Donohue said that unless more federal and state aid is given to the parochial schools, "We must surely fail to survive."

Osteopathic College Adds 2 to Faculty

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM), which plans to open this fall in Pontiac, has added two faculty members. Dr. Harry A. Lichty of 1653 Cass Lake, Keego Harbor, and Dr. John L. Taylor Jr. of Detroit.

Dr. Lichty, who has been administrative assistant of the American Osteopathic Association's office of Education for eight years, will be associate professor of community medicine.

* * *

He will be working to develop a community health center intended to provide comprehensive health care for the poor of Pontiac.

The center is being planned with Harambee, Inc., a Negro community development organization, and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority, a nonprofit corporation which provides technical and professional assistance to citizen groups in community planning and renewal.

LIAISON POST

Dr. Lichty also will serve in a liaison capacity between faculty and the school's advisory committee on the integration of osteopathic principles and manipulative therapy into the MCOM curriculum.

Dr. Taylor will be associate professor of physiology and assistant to the dean.

He will have primary responsibility for neurobiology in the basic science curriculum and also will assist Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of MCOM, in faculty development and student admissions.

Dr. Taylor received his bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago and his Ph D. from the University of California, Los Angeles.

'Don't Use Schools to Protest Tax'

Huron Valley Pushes Millage

MILFORD — Dr. Theodore E. Hagadone, superintendent of the Huron Valley School District, has called for a reassessment of values in thinking about the operating millage and bond issue coming up for voter approval on March 26.

* * *

The level of quality and future course of education in the Huron Valley district is heavily dependent on the outcome of the special school election, Hagadone said.

* * *

The issues on the ballot are:

- 21 mills for operation to replace the 15 mills which have expired.
- 2 mills for expanded educational operation.
- $10.5-million bond issue for a new secondary school complex and renovations and additions to older facilities.

NOT REAL ISSUE

Dr. Hagadone believes these issues are not the real issues that are at stake. The real issue, he said, is whether the schools should be a means of protesting against higher property taxes.

Noting that school taxes are the only item of taxation left to a vote of the people, Dr. Hagadone said far too many people go to the polls and vote no on school issues, not because they are against good education and its needs, but to protest higher taxes in general.

* * *

"We should not sacrifice the education of youngsters for the sake of having an opportunity to say 'no' to taxation," Dr. Hagadone said.

The educator added that, if the voters are really protesting taxes in general and not school taxes in particular, putting students on shorter days and in crowded classrooms will not prove the point to county, state and federal governments.

EXISTING AVENUES

"It is the responsiblity of the citizen to protest through the existing avenues of legislators and government officials and to apply pressure to these bodies either in writing or personally," Dr. Hagadone said.

He cited the recent mass citizen dissent against the Wayne County Board of Supervisors on the wage issue, as a local example of effective public pressure.

* * *

Dr. Hagodone also called on Huron Valley voters to consider what the consequences would be if the millage and bond issue proposals are turned down.

* * *

The Good Neighbor League will host Lyle Tyler, Huron Valley board of education president. Dr. Philip Burgess, director of instruction and Sam Curtis, citizens' committee member, at 8:30 tonight in a public discussion of the millage and bond proposals at the White Lake Township Hall, 7525 Highland.

* * *

A "no" vote would lessen the education children need to compete with others for jobs, increase the juvenile delinquency rate because children would spend considerably less time in the classroom, and mean continued pleas for education funds, according to Dr. Hagadone.

'POSITIVE VOTERS'

He said the recent voter registration drive conducted a district citizens committee was responsible in registering about 200 more "positive voters" (people with children in school) for the election.

"We feel we can pass if 1,500 to 2,000 voters go to the polls," Dr. Hagadone cited.

* * *

He said representatives of the school board and the Citizens Advisory Committee have personally contacted about 1,400 voters thus far. The remainder will be contacted during the next three weeks.

Compromise May Be Near in Groveland Twp. Dispute

GROVELAND TOWNSHIP — A compromise solution may be in the offing for the much-disputed rezoning petition which would allow for expansion of a gravel processing operation in the southewastern part of the township.

The Township Zoning Board is expected to make a recommendation on the petition at a March 12 meeting.

* * *

J. P. Burroughs Co., Saginaw-based gravel processor, filed a petition last December to rezone a 325-acre parcel between Jossman and Dixie Highway from agricultural-residential to commercial gravel.

Action has been deferred for several weeks to permit attorneys for Burroughs, a township property-owners association and the township to confer.

HEAVY OPPOSITION

The rezoning petition met heavy opposition from the property owners association which argued that establishment of another gravel pit operation would lower the valuation of several nearby homes, lower the water table, create ground shifts harming house foundations and create additional safety hazards for children.

* * *

Robert McKenney of Holly, the Groveland Township attorney said Burroughs attorney Bushnell Trembley and property owners' association attorney Karl Karlstrom are attempting to work out a solution which would be "mutually suitable for all parties concerned."

* * *

McKenney said this would amount to a compromise whereby the zoning request would be approved with Burroughs making considerable alterations in its planned expansion in order to minimize hardships to property owners.

Final action will be up to the township board.

Suit to Focus on Handicapped

Education Inequality Hit

The alleged failure of schools to provide equal educational opportunity for handicapped children may become the subject of a lawsuit in Oakland County.

Bruce Leitman, a Pontiac attorney and president of the Association for the Betterment of the Handicapped, reports his group will file suit in Oakland County Circuit Court in April. He did not reveal which Oakland County school district will will be named in the suit.

* * *

The attorney said the courts will be asked to rule that every child, regardless of mental or physical handicap, has a constitutional right to free public education through an appropriate school program.

UP TO LEGISLATURE

He said that should the courts so rule the State Legislature would have to see that needed programs are provided.

The State Constitution currently provides for universal education, but Leitman charges that more than 10,000 mentally retarded and physically disabled children in Michigan are unschooled.

* * *

A bill introduced last year in the State Senate by Sander Levin of Berkley and Raymond Dzendzel of Detroit which would have provided such services died in the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The new organization includes parents, professionals and groups working on behalf of the handicapped. Currently based in Oakland County, Leitman said it had plans for extending into every school district in the state.

Drug Forum Tonight at Utica High School

UTICA — An informational forum on narcotics is scheduled for 8 tonight at Utica High School.

Speakers include Miss Barbara Consillo of the Mecomb County Probate Court, Ralph Wilson of Brookside Drugs, Utica; Donald Elliot of the Utica Community Schools and representatives from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Detroiter Held in Series of House Break-Ins

A suspect in a three-month string of house break-ins in the Romeo, Washington and Shelby Township areas was arrested Monday by Romeo state and Shelby Township police.

Jerry R. Fisher, 24, of Detroit, was arraigned yesterday in Macomb County District Court on charges of breaking and entering and carrying a concealed weapon. He is being held in Macomb County Jail in lieu of $3,500 bond.

* * *

State police said Fisher was apprehended Monday afternoon shortly after he was seen loading a television set into a car outside the residence of Mrs. John N. Clark, 64460 Romeo-Plank Road in Ray Township.

Fisher and an unidentified companion fled from the scene. The companion is still being sought by police.

TV SET MISSING

Mrs. Clark had notified state police her television set was missing. State police radioed Shelby police, who apprehended Fisher on Van Dyke near 23 Mile, Shelby Township, about seven miles from the Clark address.

State police said several small house burglaries in Northern Oakland County townships and parts of Macomb County have been reported in recent months. Most of the thefts have involved small amounts of cash and small appliances and personal items.

Bloomfield Twp. GOP Post Filled

Mrs. Robert J. Templin, 4359 Oakgrove, Bloomfield Township, has been appointed assistant to Robert Webster, Republican director for Bloomfield Township.

A newly-elected member of the 18th Congressional District Committee, Mrs. Templin has served five terms as an elected precinct delegate.

Oakland County Republican chairman James E. Defebaugh also announced the appointment of M. Edward Monroe of Beverly Hills to the position of Southfield Township Republican director.

County Appoints Aide for Retarded

George Boswell has been named to head Oakland County's Community Mental Health Board's services to the mentally retarded. His salary is $17,000 a year.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Lino Romero, director of the community mental health program.

Boswell previously served as director of Progressive Action for the Retarded in connection with Iowa's comprehensive state plan on mental retardation.

He will have charge of all the community mental health board's programs for the retarded including the Oakland Training Institute and Oakland Counseling Center and their branches.

Protesters Released

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Negro students who occupied the Ferris State College administration building were released after being arraigned on charges of trespassing yesterday and ordered to pay $50 bond each by Friday noon. The 263 students, 131 men and 132 women, represented the major portion of the 360 black students in the Ferris student body of 7,700.

ABM Project Hit by Hart, Conyers

From Our News Wires

Two opponents of the Sentinel antiballistic missile system — Sen. Philip A. Hart and Rep. John Conyers Jr. — continued their attacks yesterday against the projected program.

Several Oakland County locations are being considered for ABM sites, and considerable local opposition has been expressed.

Hart, D-Mich., urged persons who oppose the antiballistic missile system to speak up loud an clear.

Hart, long-time opponent of the proposed ABM defense against enemy missiles, made the recommendation in a Senate speech yesterday endorsing a letter of opposition signed by 39 members of the University of Michigan physics department.

'SUPPORT NEEDED'

"While it may be easy to fool an ABM system with decoys and clouds of metal wire to fog the system's radar, it is not so easy to cut through the decoys and fog put forth by some supporters of ABM," he said.

"Only the support of concerned citizens will ensure that logic will pierce the wall of fog and confusion now surrounding this proposal."

* * *

Hart said he shared the university faculty members' argument that it would be both feasible and inexpensive for China or Russia to develop penetration aids of missiles which would "negate" a U.S. ABM system.

"There is a military maxim that if the attacker is willing to pay the price, any defense can be beaten," he said. "In the case of the ABM system, the price to defeat the defense is miniscule in comparison to the cost of building the defense.

'LOGIC CLEAR'

"The logic is clear," Hart said. "No ABM system without more research and, probably, not even then."

Meantime, Conyers told 200 teachers and students protesting the alleged misuse of science for military purposes yesterday there is a "very good chance" the Nixon administration will not proceed with the Sentinel antiballistic missile system.

Conyers, D-Detroit, told the group at the University of Maryland, part of a nationwide protest, he is optimistic that congressional opposition to he ABM system may persuade the administration from continuing the so-called "thin" shield against any Communist Chinese nuclear attack.

House members paid little attention last year to the appropriations for the Sentinel system, he said, but became concerned after the sites for the missiles were announced.

Now, the Michigan Democrat added, even members of the House Armed Services Committee are disturbed.

Conyers said he opposes the system because it "threatens to escalate the entire arms race."

Municipal Clerks Assn. Opens 3-Day Session in Bloomfield Hills

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Michigan Municipal Clerks Association opened a three-day conference at the Kingsley Inn here today.

More than 150 municipal clerks from all areas of the state are expected to attend.

* * *

Topics of discussion include proposed legislation in the State Legislature, a presentation of new computerized voting machines and general discussions of the clerk's various functions and responsibilities.

Gov. William Milliken is a tentative speaker for the Thursday luncheon. A banquet on Friday night will close out the annual convention.

Electoral Reform Topic for Farmington Dems

FARMINGTON—Electoral reform will be discussed when the Farmington Democratic Club meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the City National Bank community room, 10 Mile and Orchard Lake Road.

Farmington Democratic Club chairman Al Sipher said that John R. Koza, cochairman of the Committee on Electoral Reform for the New Democratic Coalition of Michigan, will speak.

Ship Protection Isn't 100 Pct., Probe Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — In spite of stronger measures to protect American ships on the high seas, the Navy can't guarantee there won't be more incidents such as North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo, according to Adm. Thomas H. Moorer.

The chief of naval operations told a special House subcommittee Tuesday that since the capture of the Pueblo Jan. 23, 1968, he had ordered a reexamination of all aspects of the seaborne intelligence programs.

Moorer, lead-off witness before the panel, said these measures resulting from the study involved improved protection, better control and destruction methods for classified information and equipment, and tighter operational procedures.

But when asked if he could give assurances there won't be repeats of the Pueblo incident, Moorer replied:

"No sir," he replied. "I can't absolutely guarantee they will not occur. But we will take every possible precaution. We will make adequate provision with plans and forces to prevent such incidents.

MORE QUESTIONS

"But I can't guarantee that an enemy force won't steam out onto the high seas and seize one of our ships," he said.

Moorer, due to return today for more questioning in closed session, was to be followed by Richard Helms, head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

In opening the hearing Tuesday Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., chairman of the Special Armed Services Subcommittee, said the panel wanted to know who generated the concept of such single, unprotected, intelligence-gathering ships as the Pueblo—and when and why.

The subcommittee hearing, the first of an expected series of congressional probes into the seizure of the Pueblo and 82 of her crew, started as a Navy board of inquiry was nearing its end in Coronado, Calif.

ACT OF PIRACY

Moorer told the congressman the same thing he said before the Navy inquiry:

"The Pueblo was operating in international waters. Her seizure by the North Koreans was an act of piracy in direct violation of international law."

Moorer said the Pueblo mission was listed as low-risk because she traveled in international waters and a sister ship, USS Banner, had made 16 similar patrols in the Western Pacific including the Sea of Japan.

★ ★ ★

The admiral also told the committee protective action was attempted by several commanders after the Pueblo's first message reporting a North Korean boarding attempt.

NOT RESCUABLE

"But no force could arrive on the scene in time to prevent the North Koreans from seizing the ship," he said.

★ ★ ★

Moorer said a number of ships were deployed into the area of the Pueblo seizure and fighter aircraft were made ready to be sent there.

Firemen Back on Job

The Pontiac fire fighters had gambled long enough with the public safety of the City. Circuit Judge PHILIP PRATT'S intercession ended the threat and put the firemen and other city workers back on the job again.

During the tumultuous negotiations with the City, firemen had walked off their jobs several times, leaving the City at the mercy of any major conflagration.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps many striking firemen would have responded to a major blaze, but the valuable first few minutes would have been gone. By the time help from other cities and townships arrived, and the strikers got going, we could have lives lost, and had major property destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Such irresponsibility could not be tolerated.

As Pontiac residents spent the uneasy hours dreading the wail of a siren, the eyes of the entire State and Nation were focused on Pontiac and its striking firemen. If there had been a loss of life due to fire while the stations were empty, the reputation of fire fighters here and everywhere would suffer for years.

State Hospital Neglected

ANDERSON

There, despite Governor MILLIKEN'S budgetary request for a $1-million increase over the institution's current $10.7 operating budget (now running $75,000 in the red), from 400 to 600 patients in the 91-year-old section of the hospital will still be without heat or electricity in the 200 to 300 rooms they sleep in. In many of the rooms, window caulking is missing and the openings stuffed with blankets, rags and newspapers to keep out the winter cold.

★ ★ ★

For according to hospital authorities, the requested increase in the budget would do little more than maintain the status quo after providing for vitally-needed professional and nonprofessional additions to the staff to bring programs for patient treatment up to minimal requirements, and to meet a general pay raise effective July 1.

That an institution that serves a 10-county area and treats with one of mankind's most tragic afflictions — mental illness — could in this enlightened age be found in such a state is unthinkable.

It is direful and deplorable — so deplorable, indeed, that a public-spirited Waterford Township housewife, Mrs. JAMES BOYLAN, organized a volunteer "paint-in" for last weekend to coat the peeling walls of the most shabby areas of the hospital.

Fortunately, the emergency facing Pontiac State Hospital has a staunch champion in Rep. LOREN ANDERSON, R-Waterford Township, who decries the inconsistency of the State's proposal to build a $50-million capitol complex while disregarding the urgency of institutional improvements essential to the well-being of its mental patients in several institutions.

★ ★ ★

Citing the cut in the executive budget from $8.1 million to $4.5 million for such improvements, the legislator declared: "It should be a shame on the conscience of this State that mental health patients are being forced to live in unlivable buildings."

We couldn't agree more.

Time Beckons Spacemen

The announcement by astronaut WALTER SCHIRRA that he will retire from the space corps this June reminds us how old we're getting and how fast.

★ ★ ★

It was but 10 short years ago that the seven original Mercury astronauts were selected. SCHIRRA'S retirement will leave only DONALD SLAYTON, ALAN SHEPARD and GORDON COOPER still in the space program, with only COOPER still medically eligible to fly spacecraft.

★ ★ ★

Two others, John Glenn and Scott Carpenter, have retired and one, Virgil Grissom, was killed in the Apollo capsule fire in January 1967.

It's a hackneyed phrase, but that's because there aren't any better words: "It seems like just yesterday . . ."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Two-Way Need

Port Huron Times-Herald

A police Chief in New Jersey is planning to abandon traditional police uniforms. He says that "no one has respect for the policeman's uniform anymore so we thought we'd change it."

That, in our opinion, would be a grave mistake. It would not be a reasonable adaptation to change; it would be capitulation to pressure.

What is needed is a renewed image, not only in the mind of the public, but in the attitude of the lawman. The public must respect the uniform, and the policeman must be proud to wear it.

Traditionally, the citizen is cast in a defensive role in his contacts with police. He is being stopped for a traffic violation or hauled into court for some other kind of infraction. Yet the average law-abiding citizen recognizes that the police uniform is the symbol of social order.

A society based on a philosophy of every man for himself would be unthinkable, even to the fuming motorist who is handed a ticket for speeding.

People do respect the police uniform, even though they might not particulary care for the personality within it. And they want the man wearing the uniform to respect it, too, in the fullest sense of the word.

In French

Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution

Scandinavians are said to view sex less intensely than we do in America. That may or may not be true, but certainly in Stockholm the Swedish government's attitude toward sex is worth noting.

★ ★ ★

An example that may reflect the government's broad thinking on the subject is a sex manual for immigrants. It is being published in Finnish, German, Greek, Italian, Spanish, English, Turkish, Czech and — believe it or not — French.

★ ★ ★

We understand that the French are so offended that De Gaulle is thinking about publishing in Swedish a guide on how a nation can very profitably sit out two world wars while its neighbors are being torn apart.

Hardly Improving His Position!

David Lawrence Says:

Teacher-Quota Rift Hits Cabinet

WASHINGTON — Coordination between Cabinet departments under President Nixon seems not yet to have been achieved.

LAWRENCE

In fact, the Department of Justice is on record today as favoring a quota system in the selection of teachers in the public schools, whereas the Department of Health, Education and Welfare thinks this could be damaging to the quality of education in the public schools.

The Supreme Court has just agreed to examine a test case on the subject which may not be argued before next fall.

In the case which now is up for appeal before the Supreme Court, the lower court ruled that a "good faith and effective effort" is sufficient on the part of a school board, and that mere precise proportional patterns in teaching staffs would not make for sound administration.

Both of the lower courts refused to require the faculties of newly built schools to be assigned by racial proportions.

5-TO-1 RATIO

The Court of Appeals in the Fifth Circuit designated for the current year a ratio of five white teachers to one Negro in the faculty, and rejected the three-to-two proportion demanded for the future. The Department of Justice is on record in favor of the eventual three-to-two percentage.

The latest word from the information office in the department is that the attitude taken in the brief filed under the previous administration will be maintained.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has joined with the Department of Justice in arguing that desegregation requires faculty integration.

It insists on a ratio of three white to two Negro teachers in each public school of Montgomery County, Ala., where the suit arose. This is the current racial proportion of the total number of the teachers at present in the school system in the county.

NO ARGUMENT

There is no argument about the necessity of desegregating public schools so that white and Negro children are assigned to schools and classrooms in their own district without regard to race.

The issue that has arisen now has to do with the policy of school authorities in selecting teachers.

Will they choose them because of their qualifications, or will they hire them on the basis of color?

To decide in favor of a particular race in employing members of a faculty would be racial discrimination, and the ability and capacity to teach would have to be disregarded.

★ ★ ★

So, the issue is really whether schoolchildren will be given education of the highest quality, or whether it will be impaired in those cases where less competent teachers have to be employed just because of their race.

Bob Considine Says:

Baseball Is Only Sport Which Glorifies Losers

NEW YORK — Millions of baseball fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the major league season — however diluted by the awful escalation—so that they can root for utter incompetents.

CONSIDINE

Baseball is unique in that respect. It is perhaps the only sport that glorifies losers, especially losers who are chronic failures or eccentric. In track and field, let's say, only the immediate families can remember who won the third-place bronze star in the hop, skip and jump. I've forgotten the name of every runnerup in the international telegraphic chess championship.

In other sports, failure or wretched incompetence leads to being poled out of town festooned in a coating of tar and feathers. But baseball — that's different.

One of the worst major league ball clubs I've detected in three decades and more, man and boy, is the New York Mets.

BIG LEAGUE IMPOSTERS

A quarter of a century ago and more they would have been arrested as big league impostors and all would have been brought before Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, an angry old ham who was the first and surely the last of the baseball czars.

But the fans of the Mets are the most deliriously devoted brood that can be found. The New York Yankees, who dominated the sport for the better part of three decades, have in recent years been as awful as the Mets. But for some reason the area's baseball fans have preferred the incompetence and balminess of the Mets over that of the Yankees.

The old Brooklyn Dodgers were a collection of interesting clowns, with as loyal a following as any team in history. Things happened at Ebbets Field that could happen no other place in baseballdom.

Casey Stengel, long since in the Hall of Fame for winning 10 pennants for the Yankees, once was paid $8,0000 NOT to manage the Dodgers.

UNIQUE EXCUSE

Babe Herman did indeed double into a triple play, in a mixup on the basepaths. Three Dodgers did indeed wind up on third base.

A Dodger did indeed offer an excuse to the third-base coach for not sliding into the bag on a close play. The excuse was in the form of a question: "And break my cigars?"

★ ★ ★

I once knew a fine young copy boy on the N.Y. Mirror who would husband his small earnings and depart New York, on his two-week vacation, for St. Louis. Incredibly, young Arthur Richman was a fan of the St. Louis Browns. He is now the excellent promotion director of the Mets. Naturally.

'Improvements to M59 Needed for Many Years'

Perhaps the State is correct in saying that there are presently no funds for the improvement of M59, but who is to blame for this highway not receiving attention before this time? This highway should have been widened to an adequate two-lane highway long before the days of expressways.

There are a number of State highways that have been improved in recent years that do not carry nearly the amount of traffic that M59 does. There must be some solution to the problem. Perhaps a recall of those responsible for this lack of action might get the job done.

Possible Solution to Many of Our Problems

Possibly 90 per cent of our troubles would be eliminated if every worker in every occupation at every level of our economic strata were compelled to deliver an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. This would involve a moratorium on strikes, threats of strikes and the constant inflationary pay raise without a corresponding increase in productivity.

★ ★ ★

It would also involve a halt to our government's paying our tax money to those who do not choose to work for a living.

'How Many Pay Incorrect Property Taxes?'

Did you know that unless you pay your house taxes "under protest" you cannot be refunded your money even though the assessors make an error on the addition of your points? How many are overpaying because of the assessor's error and won't be able to get credit? Taxes are high enough without being overcharged.

Questions Light at Downtown Intersection

My wife and I must go into Pontiac to work. This is the only reason we go into town, having agreed that since the City income tax went into effect, the City of Pontiac was entitled to no more of our money. ### Suggests Citizens Pray for One Another

Assuming that a high percentage of the people on both sides of the high school site question consider themselves Christians, here is a suggestion. Pray for each other. After you have prayed regularly for someone you see him in a different light. You are able to understand his viewpoint better. It is impossible to pray for someone for very long without beginning to love him — the kind of love Christ preached on earth. Of course, prayer must be accompanied by a sincere effort to work together for a compromise.

'Will We Need Council If There Is No City?'

If we vote "no" for the charter of the new city of Rochester Hills, we will still have another year in which to become fully acquainted with both the facts and the seven member council we are asked to elect. Why are we urged by proponents of the new city charter to vote for the seven councilmen even though we vote "no" for cityhood? We wonder why they will be needed if there is no city.

Letters Discuss Waterford School Taxes

I am a taxpayer interested in obtaining the most from my tax money. I have examined financial records which are open to the public at the Waterford Township Hall, Oakland County Schools and Waterford School District offices. From this I have concluded that the Waterford School district is very careful in spending my tax dollars. Mr. Eldon Rosegart, a capable and experienced school administrator, represents us in Lansing through the Oakland Schools, as a lobbyist for State financial aid. We employ a nationally recognized administrator in the person of Dr. Tatroe, who along with the school board has a problem that only we taxpayers can solve. Let's support them in the coming millage election.

GERALD A. FREDRICKSEN

The Waterford Township School Board wants another election on the nine mill tax and a bond issue when we have already taken in $1,134,364 more in tax money than two years ago. I cannot see the need for more money to be spent foolishly.

By law the Board of Education is empowered to call special elections. If residents don't want to pay for another one, they'll have to talk to Board members and convince them they shouldn't call another.

Milliken Stirs Water Cleanup

Implementation Aid Asked in Legislature

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken met with House Republicans Tuesday to seek help in passing legislation to implement the $335 million water pollution bond issue, Minority Leader Robert Waldron reported.

Meeting with reporters following the caucus, Waldron said the governor wants to move the water pollution bills "off the back burner" to avoid possible legislative entanglement with a $100 million recreation bond issue.

* * *

Milliken told the GOP members that he was still undecided as to how the $100 million should be allocated, Waldron added.

Former Gov. George Romney suggested earlier that $70 million should be spent for outdoor recreational needs, with the remaining $30 million to be used in urban areas.

* * *

There have been reports that Milliken would decline to distribute the funds under the 70-30 formula.

In other action, Waldron said the caucus supported Milliken's decision to permit State Police to remove Ferris State College students from a building they were occupying.

Hare Moves to Clear Self of 'Contempt'

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James Hare has sent a representative to try to "clear up the problem" that resulted in his being found in contempt of court by a Cadillac circuit judge.

"Apparently a misunderstanding has occurred," Hare said Tuesday.

* * *

Judge William R. Peterson found Hare and Douglas Savala, director of driver services for the secretary of state, guilty of contempt Monday and ordered them to appear March 12 for sentencing.

Peterson said they failed to appear for a hearing on why they revoked the driver's license of Albert Bandsma of Cadillac.

REPRESENTATIVE SENT

"A department representative has been dispatched to discuss the situation with (Peterson) and attempt to clear up the preblem," Hare said.

He added that the department had been represented in court Monday, "as is the practice in these cases," by Wexford County Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Tenhouten.

"As nearly as we can reconstruct the situation," Hare added, "the case hinges on application of two Michigan laws....the financial responsibility law as it applies in suspensions for convictions of drunk driving, and the implied consent law, which carries a mandatory suspension of 90 days for failure to take the sobriety test as required by law."

Both charges stem from the same arrest of Bandsma Nov. 24, Hare said.

LICENSE RESTORED

Hare said Bandsma had been convicted Nov. 26 of drunk driving and his license was suspended for 90 days under one law. Peterson restored Bandsma's license Dec. 18 following an appeal to circuit court, he said.

The Department of State ordered Bandsma's license suspended again Feb. 13 for a 90-day period in compliance with the implied consent law, because of his refusal to take the breathalyzer test when he was arrested in November, Hare said.

"Apparently Judge Peterson felt that our department disregarded his authority in the matter," the secretary of state said. "It is hoped that the matter can be cleared up without further problem."

Birmingham Man Gets 3 to 5 Years in Bar Burglary

A 28-year-old Birmingham man was sentenced yesterday to 3 to 5 years in the state prison at Jackson in connection with the burglarizing of a Pontiac bar last summer.

Apprehended inside the Avenue Bar, 137 Oakland on June 1, Anderson was allowed to plead guilty to a lesser charge of attempted breaking and entering in January.

COVERT OPERETTA—The music department of Hudson Covert Elementary School, Waterford Township, will present the operetta, "The Mysterious Forest," tomorrow and Friday nights at 7:30 at the school. White Rabbit (Deronda Cooper of 1892 Elsmere), and Brave Red Beads (Bob Goetz of 1871 Scott Lake) help to save Frisky the Squirrel (Tim Goetz of 1871 Scott Lake) from the Wicked Witch (Jennifer Lackey of 2635 Watkins Lake).

Decision Near on School Vote

The Waterford Township School Board will decide at tomorrow night's meeting whether to give township voters another chance March 26 to pass a school millage proposal.

Returns of a questionnaire mailed last month to the parents of students will be examined and the board members' evaluation of these results likely will tell the story.

School officials blame the relatively small turnout of parents — only 30 per cent of the voters — for the Dec. 7 defeat of a two-year 9-mill tax increase and a $10.8-million bond issue.

Petitions presented at a board meeting early last month boosting another try for millage prompted officials to consider a repeat election and March 26 was set as the date for a tentative ballot.

The decision tomorrow will depend on whether board members are convinced by questionnaire results that passage of any millage proposal is probable.

They also will consider whether a proposal calling for less than the original 9 mills might pass.

Other business scheduled for the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the new administrative office at 6020 Pontiac Lake includes three recommendations by Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe and a report on school vandalism.

The recommendations deal with the administration of personality tests, the purchase of printing equipment and staff appointments.

Law Labeled Illegal by Foes of I-696 Route

LANSING (UPI) — Attorneys for Pleasant Ridge, Lathrup Village and 20 property owners in Detroit's northern suburbs told the Michigan Supreme Court yesterday that proposed location of Interstate 696 in that area was unconstitutional.

★ ★

The attorneys maintained a 1967 law giving the state final authority to settle highway disputes by setting up a binding arbitration system forced cities into accepting "unacceptable decisions."

★ ★ ★

"Cities do have the absolute right to veto these decisions," said Patrick Foley, attorney for the property owners. "It's unconstitutional to take away that right."

Foley said the right was spelled out in earlier Supreme Court decisions.

RULING SOUGHT

Former Gov. George Romney asked the Supreme Court to step into the case last December while it was pending before Oakland County Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore to lay down some guidelines on the issue.

Police Investigate Gas Station Holdup

A man, brandishing a short-barrel blue-steel revolver, surprised the attendant of the Clark Oil Co., 157 Auburn, as he was counting money in a back room, according to police.

★ ★

The stickup man, described as a Negro in his mid-20s, six feet and 165 pounds and wearing a black head scarf, took the money and fled west on Auburn Avenue, according to the attendant, Ernest Rodriguez, 18.

Steinbeck Library

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — The public library now is the John Steinbeck Library. Steinbeck, a native son, won both the Pulitzer and Nobel Prizes for fiction writing. City Council renamed the library Tuesday despite one councilman's objection that Steinbeck's "life was not very exemplary for young people." Steinbeck died last year.

Satisfied Customers Endorse Ward's Income Tax Service

Clark

Bailes

Montgomery Ward's Income Tax Service Departments are open and in full swing for the 1969 income tax season.

Typical comments from satisfied customers of Ward's Tax Service include:

"Ward's did my income tax. They did it quickly and didn't charge me very much either." — B. C. Clark.

"My wife and I were really pleased with the way Ward's handled our income tax return. They sure were efficient." — Robert Bailes.

Ward's Tax Service Departments are staffed by highly-trained income tax specialists who have successfully completed a rigid course of intensive training to qualify them for the preparation of income tax returns.

Among the advantages of this unique service are: no appointment necessary; private interviews; 1-trip service; returns carefully reviewed before filing; large volume of work which means lower cost to Ward's tax customers and you can just say "Charge it!"

Prices start at only $5.00! This year join the thousands of satisfied customers and let a Montgomery Ward tax specialist prepare your income tax.

City Pressing Aid to Waterless Homes

Pontiac residents without a water supply came to the attention of the City Commission at last night's meeting.

Proceedings to bring them city water lines were put on an emergency basis.

Without water are an unknown number of homes between West Walton, Telegraph and the city limits. The residences were dependent on individual wells. However, construction of a county sewer main project in the vicinity ruined many of the wells, leaving the homes without water since last week, it was reported.

City Affairs

Cost of extending the water lines was placed at $44,000 and a public hearing was set for next Tuesday's 8 p.m. commission meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other matters, the commission:

● Approved transfer of license of Harry's Bar, 813 Baldwin, to Richard Guy and Ralph Puertas.

● Approved transfer of ownership of SDM license at Perry's Bar, 521 Whittemore, from Jerrell Rizzuto to Essie Perry.

● Rezoned four lots at the southeast corner of East Boulevard and Victory from single-family residential to commercial-office.

● Was notified that on Mayor's Exchange Day, May 19, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. would go to East Lansing and the city's mayor would come to Pontiac.

Property Tax Study Urged

The chairman of the 19th Congressional District Democratic Organization, Aldo Vagnozzi, 26193 Kiltarton, Farmington Township, has urged formation of a taxation committee in the Legislature to study constantly increasing property taxes.

Vagnozzi made the request at a House Taxation Committee hearing Saturday in Westland City Hall where two bills aimed at increasing senior-citizen exemptions were discussed.

Vagnozzi supported both bills. "This approach is needed to take care of those senior citizens who have lost their tax exemption because of assessment increases," Vagnozzi told the committee.

He said, "Even with these bills many senior citizens will be paying more in property taxes than when the exemption first went into effect. This committee should concern itself with these increasing assessments which are hurting all homeowners—young and old."

Firemen, City Employes Ordered Back to Work

Police Chief Hanger said after the meeting his report would also include information on the alleged acts of violence.

At bargaining sessions yesterday in Judge Pratt's chambers, reports of near-agreement were made. The firemen have been seeking parity with an offer reportedly made to police which would give them $10,300 per year July 1.

LONGER WEEK

The city's offer reportedly has been close to that amount but not to absolute equality. Firemen have been insisting the parity demand does not take into account a 56-hour week for firemen as opposed to 40 for police.

The two city unions, representing blue-and-white collar classifications, have been asking an average 35-cent-per-hour increase. All three unions also have substantial fringe-benefit demands pending.

Negotiations are being conducted under the direction of Leonard D. Bennett, mediator appointed by the State Labor Mediation Board.

Meanwhile, public services, including fire protection, garbage pickup, water and sewer pumping stations and other facilities, were expected to resume, it was announced.

ASSAULT CHARGES

Two officials of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, Council 23, were the latest to be arrested and charged as a result of Monday's fracas at City Hall.

Accused yesterday of assault and battery in jostling a woman employe were William E. Van Eyck, 43, and Thomas J. White, 37. Their trials are scheduled for next Wednesday before Pontiac District Judge Cecil McCallum.

★ ★ ★

Lindsay Pledges to Keep Route of St. Pat's Parade

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay pledged to 1,000 Irishmen Tuesday night that the St. Patrick's Day parade "will always be on Fifth Avenue."

The mayor addressed the installation ceremony of the grand marshals for this year's parade on March 17.

Harking to a suggestion by some residents and businessmen that parades be abolished on Fifth Avenue and moved to Central Park, Lindsay said:

"Any mayor who tried to move the St. Patrick's Day parade to Central Park would probably wind up in the pond."

Many hunters have vision defects without knowing it, says the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Young Boaters Are on Sheriff's Wanted List

Water Safety Unit Slates School Work

Certificates Needed by Children Under 12; Classes for Adults

The marine safety division of the sheriff's office is doing the searching and adults are drawing its attention, also.

* * *

The real instigator, actually, is the Department of Natural Resources who—due to the increase of water craft using the many lakes around the state — has a water safety training program which is administered through the county sheriff's departments.

Since many of the boats are occupied by youthful drivers, the program is directed through the public schools and this year's classes already have begun.

NIGHT CLASSES

There will be night classes starting soon which will be open to both young and old. All those satisfactorily completing such programs will receive a boating safety certificate.

* * *

More than 29,000 students, age 12 to 16, were taught last year. This included 34 schools and more than 2,450 hours of instructon.

Under Michigan marine law, children under 12 may only operate a motorboat—craft powered by six horsepower-or-more motors — when accompanied by at least one person 16 years or older.

ALTERNATIVE

Those between the ages of 12 and 16 must have either an older person or the boating safety certificate in their possession.

Specially trained deputies patrol both inland and the Great Lakers waters in clearly marked sheriff patrol boats. If hailed by one of these craft, all pilots are required to permit the officer(s) to check safety equipment and the certificate.

* * *

Officers may also stop boaters to warn of approaching bad weather. Last year they spent more than 4,600 hours patrolling the lakes around the county, handled 35 drowning calls and 40 accidents, plus 218 complaints were taken on the water.

Accurate Charts

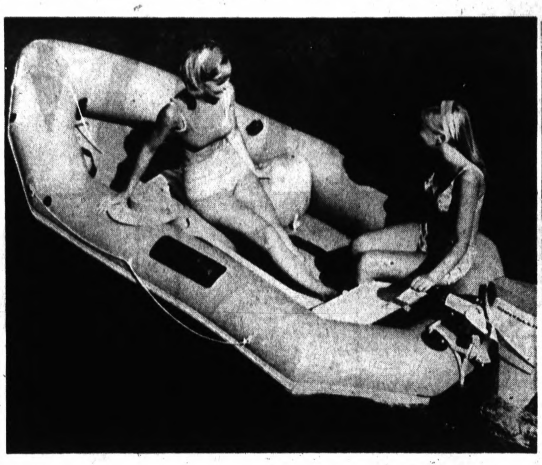
Established by an act of Congress in 1841, the Lake Survey was authorized to provide accurate charts of all the Great Lakes. Over the past several years. Outflow rivers, the New York State Barge Canal System and Minnesota-Ontario border lakes have been added to the original assignment.



RELAXED BOATING — This is the formula for a lazy, relaxing kind of ride—a sunny day, smoother water an inflatable board and a small outboard motor. And it's easy to operate, as these two shapely young boaters discovered.

Marine 'Supermarkets'

Visits Take Planning

A boat show, like many attractions offered to the public, can be confusing because of the hundreds of exhibits and the wide variety of equipment, all catching the eye of thousands of visitors.

Some people attend a boat show just to wander through the exhibits that attract them, but if you are one of the many who go to shop and compare at this marine "supermarket," you needn't fear confusion and crowds.

For enjoyment and satisfaction, the secret is to first have some idea of what you want, and secondly, to see the show systematically.

* * *

If you are interested in a new rig, start by looking at boats first. Forget the outboard motors and boat trailers for awhile. Concentrate on the exhibits featuring the type of boat that interests you.

If you're thinking about water skiing, for example, don't spend too much time gawking at sailboats and 40-foot houseboats. Walk through the entire show looking only at ski boats. When you see something you like, stop and pick up literature and talk with the people manning the exhibit.

YOUNGSTERS

If you bring the children along, they may well want to direct your course through the show by what interests them. If you explain and point out to them what you're looking for, they can join in the "hunt," making a game out of it. It will also be less tiring for them than just wandering around, trying to see absolutely everything.

Once you have looked at the boats, start walking back through the show, this time concentrating on outboard motors. Once you've decided on the type of boat, choosing an outboard motor becomes quite simple.

Since all major manufacturers offer a wide range of horsepower, your decision will probably be based on features, reputation of the manufacturer and performance characteristics of the engine.

CARRIER

As soon as he knows the boat you have selected, he will be able to recommend a specific power plant. If you plan to haul your boat, you can then select a trailer. This depends entirely on the length of the boat and the combined weight of the boat and motor.

* * *

While you're at the boat show you should also keep an eye out for any accessories you may need.

If you keep these suggestions in mind and follow systematic shopping steps, you will see more, understand it better and make the vast array of equipment much less confusing.

Boat Dealers Find Snowmobile Space

Marine dealers have increasingly found it profitable to add snowmobiles to their line of merchandise to develop winter sales, so it is only natural that the state's Marine Dealers Association and Snowmobile Dealers Association have merged.

The new Michigan Marine and Snowmobile Dealers Association is located in Huntington Woods and has more than 300 members around the state. Board chairman Earl Sack has his business in Ferndale.

Performance Key to '69 Designing

Among 58 Starcraft boats in the 1969 line, a magnificent seven emerge as exclamation points in Starcraft's new statement about boat design.

A company that has traditionally designed "what the people want" has in 1969 interpreted a new desire for modern styling and high performance.

The new fiberglass V-180 is so impatient for the getaway, the bumblebee stripe fairly ripples as the engine wrams up. Then she rides on top of the waves, throwing the spray aside and back, making it a dry, clean ride.

SISTER CRAFT

The sister to the V-180 is the V-160. This 16-footer is smaller but it has that rake on the bow, the slim nose, and the spray control that are typical of these new-generation runabouts.

And there's the S-140, a little shorter, but fast and spirited on the move. The plush interior is backed up by good solid safety features such as mechanical steering and safety grab rail. The extreme bow flare and wide waterline dimension make this 14-footer really unique among ski boats.

A "sportabout" is an all-purpose boat for the man who wants a fishing boat, whose children want a ski boat, and whose wife wants something easy to handle bobbing at the end of the pier. Sportabouts are boats with large, open interiors for maximum utilization of space.

If you haven't a recent photograph of your outboard rig, better have one taken, suggest boating authorities. In the event your boat and motor are stolen, you'll have something to show the police that will help them considerably in tracking down your rig.

Wide Selection Awaits Buyers on U. S. Market

Prospective buyers of new boats in the United States have a wide range of models, both power and sail, to select from.

Builders of recreational craft are producing around 4,000 different boats for 1969. Aming the more numerous models are runabouts and cruisers with inboard marine power and craft designed for use with outboard motors.

Also included are one-design sailboats, and small craft such as cartoppers, dinghies, canoes and inflatable boats.

There are 19,000 miles of navigable waterways in the United States maintained by the Corps of Engineesr, Department of the Army.

Power Hike for Outboards

After a year when the little motors stood pat on power — 1½ h.p. to 125 — the muscle marathon is on once more.

Before the New York Boat Show opened in mid-January, Mercury outboards still led the field with their 125-horse model, followed by Johnson and Evinrude making new standard units at 115-hp and Chrysler topping out at 105.

Then, as the doors swung wide on boating '69 displayed at Manhattan's Coliseum, Chrysler announced the Outboard Boating Club had tested and certified a jump from the 105 to 135 hp in their new racing motor. Twin-tuned exhaust stacks that stick back from the cowling identify the model.

'SUPER BP'

What seemed like moments later, manufacturer Carl Kiekhaefer whipped the wraps off a Mercury "Super BP" model of his 125-horse motor. It's rated at 140, or for 155 horsepower with tuned stacks added. Slotted vents in the black cowling tip off the extra push inside the 100-cubic-inch 140.

Outboard Marine has made no announcement as yet about its latest high performance Johnsons and Evinrudes, though European and U.S. racing drivers say they must pack almost as much punch. They're still called "115-plus" horsepower.

* * *

Meanwhile, Outboard Marine for the first time has joined Mercury and other motor makers by going inboard, too. OMC now will offer 210 and 250 inside-the-boat engines for 1969. Most new pleasure crafts turn out to look much the same for the coming season, though there is a growing boom in houseboats and rigs designed for camping.

But any skipper can play waterway Ben Hur this year with all the new herds of horses available inside what used to be that little calmp-on kicker.

Sail Racing Lecture Series on Schedule

Sailing Symposiums will hold its traveling lecture series on sailboat racing techniques Saturday and Sunday at Chicago's Lakefront Holiday Inn with morning and afternoon sessions both days.

A Saturday night banquet plus a film on the America's Cup and a question-and-answer session on 12-meter sailing are included in the series.

There are special prices for families and yacht club or class fleet groups of 20 or more. Reservations must be made with the SS office on East 40th Street in New York City.

Other seminars are planned for Washington, D.C., Mar. 28-29 and Toronto Apr. 12-13.

Boating Complex Likely

The vacating of the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station next September by the U.S. Government has developed the possibility of a giant commercial airport-boating complex along the lower end of the Detroit River.

Code Available for Boat Builders

The most comprehensive code of standards ever published for builders of small pleasure craft is now in the hands of boat manufacturers throughout the country, reports the Boating Industry Association.

The 116-page 1970 BIA Engineering Manual has been mailed to the more than 700 known builders of boats under 26 feet in length.

The new manual contains 63 recommended practices ranging from lightning protection for boats to tire inflation charts for boat trailers. Of the standards, four are new and 14 have been changed since the 1969 manual was published a year ago.

STIFFER ITEMS

Several of the changes — notably in boat fuel systems — will stiffen the requirements of the BIA Boat Safety Certification Program, which currently covers more than two-thirds of small boat production.

One new standard calls for a system of permanent hull serial numbers to aid states concerned with the problem of boat thefts. Several states are expected to pass serial numbering laws, so that stolen boat information can be entered with the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Crime Information Center.

7 COMMITTEES

The manual's standards are developed by seven BIA engineering committees composed of technical personnel from participating manufacturers.

Before promulgation, the standards are reviewed by an engineering coordination committee and an advisory committee — composed of representatives of the boating public, the U.S. Coast Guard and state boating agencies — to make sure the standards are consistent and in accord with public safety.

* * *

BIA has published the manual annually since 1957. The date on the cover is advanced one year, because the standards are intended for use on the next year's models, design work for which usually begins in late winter and early spring.

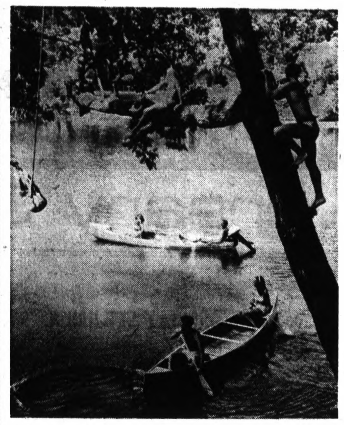
Boating and other groups will find the guide valuable in planning meetings, especially during offseason months. A description is given of each film listed, the running time and where it may be obtained. Most of the films are in color.



CANOE FUN—For relaxation, exercise and fun it's hard to beat a canoe. This scene will be repeated often around the country's watering spots this summer.

Duck Hunter Buoyed by Test

THE PROBLEM: If a duck hunter, decked out in long johns, woolen socks, flannel shirt, bulky coat and trousers, and heavy boots, falls overboard, how slim are his chances of survival?

'RED' IS GUINEA

The guinea pig: Red Russel.

The experiment got under way on the kind of cold Virginia morning that lends itself more readily to roaring fires and steaming coffee than to cold water immersion.

★ ★ ★

"Authenticity," proclaimed Russell with bravado as he warily eyed the wind-swept pool. "This weather will give the whole thing authenticity. This is a real duck-hunting day."

RED CROSS THERE

His audience, consisting of four Red Cross co-workers who had come along to record the experiment for posterity and to fish Russell out of the pool should he sink like a rock, smiled wanly.

★ ★ ★

Several sets of purple fingers gripped a small dinghy, dubbed the "Me II," and hauled it to the edge of the pool. "Get it up here in the deep end," directed Russell, blowing into his hands. "If we're going to do this thing right, the water has got to be over my head."

DEEP WATER

The boat was bobbing in eight feet of water. Russell, in full hunting gear, stepped gingerly on its near edge. "Okay, now I'm going to fall while getting in," he said.

One rubber-booted foot pushed the boat away from the side of the pool. "Red" teetered; his arms flailed the air; his mouth opened soundlessly; he pitched forward, hopelessly off balance; and, with a well-aimed splash he was in.

Miraculously, he didn't sink.

DON'T SINK

"You see," he called after bobbing to the surface, "most people think that clothes weight you down in the water. But they don't — they trap air. If you don't lose the air by thrashing around, you can float."

★ ★ ★

Dry, Russell weighs 159 pounds; in his dry hunting gear, he tipped the scales at 174 pounds. In his wet clothing and water ozzed boots, he weighs 230 pounds, some 71 pounds heavier than his normal body weight. Despite this extra poundage, he was not likely to sink if the air didn't escape from his clothing.

BOOTS AIR FILLED

Russell pulled his knees to his chest, and the rubber boots, taut with air, broke through the water like khaki-colored water wings. "I'm not doing a thing to keep myself up," he said, extending his arms. "The boots are doing all the work."

Boat Ideal for 'Pirates'

All boaters are pirates at heart, in a friendly way. They all love to prowl strange beaches, picking up "treasure" that has washed in to shore, whether it's pebbles, sea shells, driftwood or what-have-you.

★ ★ ★

This trait is heartily applauded by the boating experts at Mercury outboards, because such treasure seekers have found that the the mobility and carrying ability of a modern outboard boat and motor are ideal for this work.

The reason for such fine luck on the boater's part is that he can go directly to sand bars, points and islands he has found are natural traps for floating objects, or are the first points of land touched by incoming currents.

Most such spots are off limits to cars, so the boater has first choice on what is washed ashore. This can be anything from sea shells to fascinating bits of driftwood.

Rustic summer homes have been built from material picked up along river banks and on beaches, and many a porch and den has been artfully decorated with beach finds.

DIVIDE FAMILY

Why not divide up the family, have some walk along shore looking for treasure while the others drift silently along in the boat just off the beach, looking for goodies. After awhile, change places. Many miles can be covered in a day, and amazing "catches" the result.

To display your treasure, buy some fish net, and hang it on the porch or den wall. In it tie shells, starfish, small bits of driftwood, etc. As the collection mounts, change the drape of the net to suit the new look.

Also, try nailing molding around the edges of a panel of fir plywood of suitable size. Stain it a sea green or driftwood gray. Attach curios from the sea and hang it on the playroom wall.

★ ★ ★

The nice thing is whether you use them or not, the finding of treasure is fun, and a new way to enjoy your boat and outboard motor.

Honors Await Alert Sailors

Saving Lives at Sea Prompts Award

A new program to recognize boatmen who have used their radiotelephones to save a life at sea has been announced by Raytheon Company.

Heavy bronze plaques, approximately 3" by 5", have been designed and engraved as awards.

Beneath the French word "M'Aidez", meaning "help me" and recognized as an international radio distress call, are two lines from the Navy Hymn, "O hear us when we cry to Thee, For those in peril on the sea." The plaque notes that it is "gratefully presented to the master of this vessel for effectively using his radiotelephone to save a life."

SAFETY AIDS

Captain Fred E. Lawton, Raytheon director of marine safety, said the awards had been created to focus attention on the importance of marine radiotelephones as safety aids and to gain recognition for their effective use.

Boat owners who have participated in a life saving rescue on the water in which they used their radiotelephones — regardless of brand — to save a life may receive one of the bronze plaques without charge by writing to Captain Lawton at Raytheon Company, Marine Products Operation, 416 Cambridge Street, Allston, Mass.

The letter should contain a brief summary of the incident stating time and place, names of the vessels and persons involved, the distance over which the radio calls were made, make and power of radiotelephone, and, if possible, copies of newspaper or other reports to substantiate the account.

Boat Safety Classes Up

Aside from boating instruction courses conducted during the winter months by United State Power Squadrons and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary units, these organizations and others are instigating an increasing number of boat safety classes during the summer months.

★ ★ ★

Banner Salmon Year Predicted

Charter Boats Hike Prices

MUSKEGON (AP) — Great Lakes salmon fishermen can expect bigger and more abundant Cohos and Chinooks in Lake Michigan this summer and can expect to pay more for charter boats to go after the lunkers.

* * *

At least this is the report from Harold "Red" Oosterbaan secretary of the Great Lakes Charter Service.

Oosterbaan, who for five months of the year runs Freshway Produce in Muskegon, reported that the new rates for his 30-foot boat, Lucky Strike, will run $30 per person for a seven hour trip, $25 per person for five hours and for a four hour trip the cost will be $20 per person. All equipment is furnished in the package deal.

* * *

According to the veteran skipper, last year's cost of $120 was for four or five people and if there was a sixth he went for free. The trip was for eight hours of fishing. A four-hour charter ran $20 per person.

WARM WATER

"I'm predicting a banner year for the sports fishermen this summer, that is if mother nature will cooperate. The unusual warm water at deep depths, along with high winds and heavy seas cost me a lot of business. I had 88 charters and could have had that many again if the weather would have been half-way decent," he reported.

* * *

"Last year from early spring until late fall my charters took over 600 salmon anywhere from two pounds to 17 with men coming from all over the United States. I even had some from British Columbia who promised me they'd be back for the bigger ones this summer," he continued.

* * *

Oosterbaan's boat is one of the most modern equipped charter boats in the Muskegon area. It has outriggers, deep stern lines, ship to shore radio, an electronic fish finding device and a water thermometer.

Working out of the Muskegon area last year, Oosterbaan and five other licensed captains, Bob Ryan, Bill Holt, Mel Wantz, Jerry Ison and Bill Albrecht, will move their base operation to the Charlevoix-Traverse Bay area, where they'll be closer to their fish camp on Hog Island.

FOUR DAYS

The camp on the island, some 40 miles off Beaver Island, will be for small mouth bass fishing only. A fisherman may make reservations for the island for a four day period where everything is furnished, including food. Since there are no telephones on Hog anyone wishing to charter a boat will have to call the Neff Brothers grocery at Round Lake.

"We'll always have one boat stationed in Muskegon while the others will be along the big lake filled with fishermen. But if there should be a big rush of salmon in any spot we'll put all the boats where the action is," Oosterbaan said.

* * *

Oosterbaan indicated that he'll fish for only one type salmon at a time, since Cohos stay in one depth and the Chinook in another.

Wrapping it all up, Oosterbaan said, "if the fishing this summer is anything like it was between Muskegon, Whitehall and Ludington it's going to be one whale of a deal."

Boaters Advised That Mid-Season Checking Helps

All shippers are urged to make a mid-season maintenance check of their craft.

The Boat Service Committee of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufactureres said that this kind of preventive maintenance can eliminate 90 per cent of late season mechanical failures and systems breakdowns. Long layups due to a shortage of replacement parts also can be avoided.

Boat owners should read the manufacturer's manual that comes with the craft and follow the recommendations provided in the service information.

Routine periodic check-ups should be made of power plants, fuel lines, steering and electrical systems, rigging and all other working parts.

Art Expert at 'M' Dies at Age of 63

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Paul Leroy Grigault, assistant director of the University of Michigan Museum of Art, died yesterday at the age of 63.

* * *

Grigaut, who was born in Paris near the start of the century and received his art curator training at the Louvre, was a widely-known authority on art.

CMU Contracts for New Building

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP)—Over $4.5 million in contracts were awarded Tuesday by the State of Michigan for construction of a one-story speech and dramatic arts building on the Central Michigan University campus at Mount Pleasant.

* * *

Total cost of the project, including furnishing of the building, is expected to reach $5.25 million. Construction is to begin within a couple weeks and be completed by the fall of 1971.

Houseboats' Popularity Booming; County Firm Prospers in Market

They are roomy.

These are just three of many factors that have caused a surge in houseboat sales in recent years. Boating experts find it difficult to pinpoint the changes in houseboat design and construction that have led to this rapid rise in interest.

H. O. Bedsole, marine sales manager of Oakland County — based Perkins Engines Inc., says: "We see a definite trend towards more people looking for boats that offer extended cruising range, operating economies and lots of human comforts.

"With more time to spend on the water, people want a craft that will be comfortable for extended periods of time."

Whatever the reason, houseboat sales accounted for about 12 per cent of the boating market in 1968, up from just 2 per cent only a few years ago, and an even larger share is predicted for 1969.

NOTICEABLE CHANGE

The new breed of houseboat is a far cry from the flat, unseaworthy barge of past years. Modern houseboats can handle rough water. They have deep-V or similar rough water hulls, and can survive a good deal of punishment.

★ ★ ★

A houseboat was actually driven across the Gulf Stream in the last Miami-Nassau race but this type of treatment is not recommended for the craft.

Houseboats are designed more for the leisurely life. A long cruise along sheltered waterways, for example, where the travelers can relax, fish, swim or just enjoy the scenery.

Some people have even retired to houseboats or moved into them to escape real estate taxes.

80 MODELS

The Boat Owners Buyers Guide lists 24 U.S. manufacturers offering 80 models of houseboats, ranging in price from $3,000 to $40,000.

★ ★ ★

Many houseboat builders offer Perkins diesel engines as standard or optional power units. Perkins markets an entire series of dieselized Stern Drives spanning 50 to 150 horsepower.

★ ★ ★

Bedsole says, "Our line of diesel outdrives, the most nearly complete in the industry, has been the biggest single factor in our ability to fulfill the power needs of the booming houseboat market."

Included in this line is the "big wheel" Perkins 91 Stern Drive that swings a 20-inch standard inboard propeller, biggest outdrive wheel on the market.

Plastic Bags Useful

Plastic bags are useful on board not only for keeping foodstuffs dry, but also for taking wet laundry or garbage ashore.

Firm Producing Gadget to Boost Communications

A multipurpose loud hailer that operates as a fog horn, signaler, intercom system, accessory alarm and high fidelity amplifier has been introduced by Raytheon Company's Marine Products Operation.

The Model 220 loud hailer provides an output of 25 watts for log-range audio communications to other vessels or dockside. The re-entry type deck speaker doubles as a listening device for monitoring distant surf, bell buoys, or ships' whistle signals.

As many as three intercom stations can be operated by the loud hailer, using re-entry loudspeakers. Intercom operation is controlled by a front panel switch.

A built-in oscillator provides the fog horn-signaler tone that also serves as the signal for bilge, gas fume alarms and other similar devices.

The Model 220 loud hailer is designed to accept and amplify the output of the ship's radiotelephone, tape recorder, AM or FM receiver, or phonograph.

The unit operates from 12 volts DC with polarity protection. Power adaptors for 24-32 volts DC or 115 volts AC operation are available.

Firm Marketing Watch for Divers or Captains

Longines has created the ULTRA-CHRON Skindiver — a timepiece that the captain of the ship can wear with authority and confidence.

It guarantees accuracy to a minute a month — ten times more precise than previous wristwatches — and he can wear it in ocean spray or rain squal because it also is a fully qualified diver's watch which has tested out in depths over 600 feet.

ULTRA-CHRON is the newest development in mechanical watch movements — the result of more than ten years and millions of dollars in research and developments.

ULTRA-CHRON also means that it is self-winding. Any movement of the wrist winds the watch and also activates the fast-beat timing mechanism.

To house this new precision equipment, and also include the exacting requirements of a superb diving watch, Longines has created a new sports style — with two-color luminescent hands, an automatic calendar, and a stainless steel case with smartly beveled corners.

The result is a rugged, handsome timepiece which can be worn on board ship and ashore, in all weather and waters, and which will always guarantee minute-a-month accuracy.

The best "sea legs" in the world won't help a boatman stay upright if he runs afoul of a slippery deck. About the only defense against taking a painfull spill on wet surfaces is to lay nonskid materials on parts of the boat that are subjected to heavy traffic.

Veteran Boat Racer Calls It Quits at 13

Beth Ann Chalk, 13, announced that she was retiring this year after three seasons of highly successful racing in both stock utility boats and hydroplanes in upper New York State.

Beth hails from Fishers Landing, N. Y., and in three years of competition leading to her 1969 "retirement" won regional championships as well as high point awards in 1965 and 1967 in regattas sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association.

★ ★ ★

When she put away her helmet and safety life preserver at the end of the 1968 season, Beth had participated in some 60 races and had walked away with an award in every event.

There's only one way to spend a lazy summer day and that's with a

Water Ski Rules Being Drawn

Competitive water skiing in the United States has taken a spectacular turn toward organized ski racing.

* * *

Popular for several years among a handful of ski clubs in Southern California, speed skiing has now spread to other areas of the country, and the American Water Ski Association, governing body for competitive skiing in the U. S. since 1939, is formulating a standard set of rules for use by its 250 affiliated clubs in both closed course and marathon racing.

* * *

In addition to races in California and adjacent Arizona and Nevada, racing competition took place during 1968 in New Jersey, Tennessee, Florida and Illinois, among other states.

In its California version, ski racing has involved primarily the use of high performance SK class boats capable of speeds approaching 100 miles an hour. However, racing competition now under study by AWSA would encourage racing by horsepower classes, as well as by age and sex.

* * *

Most ski racing involves close teamwork among driver, observer and skier. Any danger factors are minimized by strict observance and enforcement of safety rules.

* * *

The AWSA, which has its national headquarters in Winter Haven, Fla., already sanctions more than 100 water ski tournaments annually in slalom, jumping and trick riding competition. It also has set up rules for water ski kite flying contests, and is working on rules for barefoot skiing competition.

Schools Seeking Funds to Build

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) —The Grand Rapids Board of Education has voted to seek a $7 million bond issue to finance school construction through March of 1971. The bond issue, to be paid off during the next decade, will cover construction costs of the first phase of the school district's master plan.

Equipment on Market to Aid Night Sailing

Want to increase the amount of time you can spend on the water next summer?

Then plan now to equip your boat for night operation, advise the boating experts at Mercury outboards. Instead of heading for home at sunset, you can enjoy the cool of evening afloat and the fun of moonlight cruising.

Operating at night is easy if you are familiar with your local waters. Move at reduced speed at all times, and throttle down to idling speed when there's uncertainty about the water ahead. Carry a long paddle, boat hook or other pole with which to probe water depth.

REQUIRED

A legal set of navigation lights required for night boating. In most waters minimum equipment consists of a white light at the stern, visible two miles in all directions, and a combination light mounted near the bow, which shows red to port and green to starboard.

Each color must be visible from dead ahead to two points abaft the beam (the correct arc of visibility is built into light cruising.

Besides navigation lights, you should have a really good flashlight, and a spotlight for mounting on deck or on your windshield. Some spotlights are remote-controlled from the dashboard, some are swung about by hand. Some can be lifted off their rackets for hand use.

One kind sticks to the back of the windshield and shines forward when under way, but can be detached for sweeping the horizon.

DOCKING

"Docking lights," actually a marine equivalent to headlights, are extremely useful. Permanently installed in pattern-cut holes in the hull sides near the bow, they caste a broad flood of light ahead to illuminate docks, buoys and channels.

Located below the lip of the deck, they don't affect the boater's vision through glare and are useful in canal and creek navigating.

* * *

Locate all lights so they don't shine in the driver's eyes. Small metal baffles solve this problem in the case of lights on deck above and ahead of the driver.

Boating 'Homework' Ideal Winter Project

Winter presents an excellent opportunity for boaters to catch up on the "homework" that is important insurance against trouble when the summer boating season is in full swing.

If you have just bought a new boat or rig, or are planning to, don't overlook the task of reading and filling out the warranty cards.

When warranty cards have been filled out properly and mailed according to instructions, satisfactory adjustment of any eventuality becomes a routine matter.

OWNER'S PROOF

As they contain serial numbers and names of dealer and owner, they can provide proof of ownership if need be. Also, your name will go on mailing lists to receive helpful literature about your equipment.

* * *

Don't make the common mistake of neglecting to give operator manuals a good reading. A little time spent in studying a manual produces endless dividends in better service and performance.

Do you really know the recommended starting procedure for your motor? Are you familiar with all of its points of lubrication? The answers are in your manual.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Take some snapshots of your complete rig and put them in your wallet, desk, or car glove compartment for use in the event your equipment is stolen. Write down the serial numbers of boat, motor, trailer and equipment such as depth finders and radios. This information will aid police in identifying your belongings in case of thievery.

* * *

Make certain your trailer meets state laws with regard to lights, safety chains, brakes and width. See that its registration papers are in order and keep them with the car's papers.

A little care now will result in a carefree boating season!

First Model on Globe Trip

The first fiberglass sailboat to circumnavigate the globe completed its voyage in 1968. This was a 30-foot Seawind ketch, Apogee, sailed by Alan Eddy, of Scarsdale, N.Y.

* * *

It required three years for Eddy to complete his around-the-world trip. He visited over 400 anchorages, traveled 46,000 miles and was under sail for a full year of the time.

Except for a short period off Africa, Eddy sailed Apogee single handed.

Beware of Octupus

Undersea experts state that the danger of a swimmer being embraced in an octopus's arms is slight, but the creature's bite can cause painful injury.

Small Boat Depth Finder Developed

A new popularly-priced depth sounder for use in small boats; a portable five-band radio direction finder; marine radiotelephones that can be used as loud-hailer-listeners; and a multipurpose loud-hailer-listener are offered by Apelco.

The completely solid-state depth sounder, MS-110, can be powered by two six-volt batteries when used aboard a boat without electrical power or when used as a portable unit.

The sounder probes the bottom to depths of 100 feet 16 times each second and displays the depth of water on a round dial with an antiglare shield for daylight viewing.

The MS-110 is available with an optional Fisherman's Kit for portable use. The kit consists of a carrying case with compartments for indicator, transducer and cable, a pair of six-volt batteries, and telescoping holder and C-clamp. The kit includes the support column and C-clamp.

VERSATILITY

Apelco's new DRF-50, portable radio direction finder is also an FM receiver that can pick up marine VHF broadcasts, the Weather Bureau's continuous marine weather advisories on VHF. The Marine beacon band, the Marine communication band from 1.6 to 4 Megahertz, and the standard megahertz, and the standard broadcast band.

A rotating ferrite loop antenna and compass rose are used for radio direction finding. Sighting vanes mounted on the antenna can be used as a pelorus for visual sighting and RDF calibration.

The AE-101W six-channel radiotelephone is rated conservatively at 101 watts. It is designed primarily for performance within the standard marine range of 2000 to 3000 kilohertz, but the range can be expanded to cover 1605 to 6525 kilohertz in Alaska Fixed Station and Mississippi River System bands.

The completely solid-state receiver can be squelched against annoying background noise on standby without missing calls or schedules.

* * *

2 Sea-Doo Models Now Available After Testing

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Bombardier, Ltd., the company which introduced Ski-Doo snowmobiles and leads the industry with sales of more than 100,000 units a year, is unveiling two models of a playful new summer fun craft, the Sea-Doo aqua scooter.

* * *

Sea-Doos bring to water new streamlined, flat-bottomed craft which are fast and maneuverable and boast a host of safety features, highlighted by propellorless, water-jet-turbine propulsion and steering.

Sea Doos can slalom, spin, jump — and, because they draw only about 3 inches of water, can navigate shallow water areas inaccessible to propeller boats, making Sea-Doos ideal for fishing and utility uses as well as general fun.

TEST MARKETED

Bombardier test-marketed its first Sea-Doos last summer, after more than two years of research and development. The vehicles proved great fun and, based on extensive consumer usage, Bombardier is introducing two Sea-Doo models for 1969.

The 1969 Sea-Doos have received Boating Industry Association certification after undergoing thorough testing by BIA officials.

The new Sea-Doo 372 is only 58 inches wide and 97 inches long, slightly larger than the Sea-Doo 320, and has a new Rotax water-cooled 372 cc engine for speeds up to 35 miles an hour.

The engine, especially designed for the Sea-Doo, is located amidships, with easy access through the seat area, permitting a fixed back cover. All parts are within easy reach.

LOW NOISE LEVEL

The 372's high-capacity 6JA Berkley water-jet turbine is hooked directly to the engine by a flexible coupling, reducing vibration. A muffler provides low noise level. There is a ducktail baller which has been foolproof in months of testing.

Both 1969 models include such safety features as hand-squeeze throttle, rugged steering cables, specially-treated anti-spark wiring, and reinforcing foam blocks beneath footrests, providing great flotation.

There are separate ignition and starter switches, both heavy duty marine grade. Both Sea-Doo models meet U.S. Coast Guard requirements for ventilation and flame arresting devices.

Detroiters Planning June World's Race

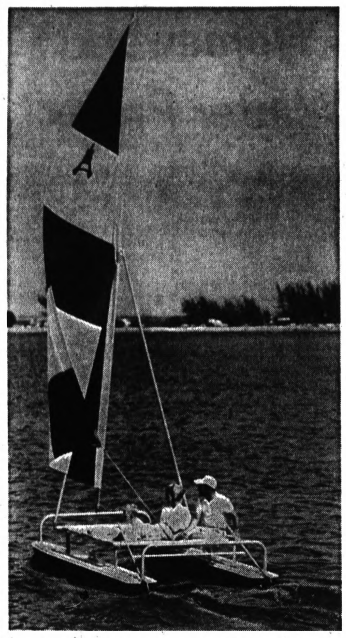
Spirit of Detroit Associaton members are busy planning for this summer's World's Championship Race June 29 on the Detroit River near Belle Isle.

* * *

Commodore Jack Love received the leadership gavel last month from outgoing bossman E. P. Marshke. Others assuming their 1969 positions were Paul Ketterman, vice commodore and treasurer; John Dubrovich, rear commodore; Ervin A. Steiner, Jr., executive chairman.

* * *

Also, Joe Schoenith, executive committee chairman; J. Lee Schoenith, American Power Boat Association liaison; Robert Staperfenne, pit chairman; and Michael Shane, course chairman.



VERSATILE CRAFT — The twin-hulled catamaran is fast gaining popularity because of its versatility. It can be powered by sail or outboard motor. Under sail, it has been clocked at more than 20 mph.

Inter-Lake YA Important Aid to Yachtsmen

Yacht clubs from Bay City to Buffalo and the adjacent waters are organized as the Inter-Lake Yachting Association in order to protect and promote the interests of boat owners and water sports fans.

* * *

Organized in 1885, the association helped stabilize racing rules and led to the formation of the North American Yacht Racing Union, now the governing body for yacht racing in North America.

* * *

In eastern Michigan, northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and New York region, ILYA is the appeals body for race protests, is a clearing house for yachting information, is a lobbying group concerning legislation affecting yachtsmen and generates junior racing extensively in the Mid-West.

* * *

An outgrowth of the Inter-Lakes Yachting Association is the Yachtmen's Fund which supports ILYA, its programs and purposes. Membership in ILYA makes a club a "recognized yacht club."

* * *

ILYA officers and committeemen are available as emergency crews to aid member clubs in legal and boating problems.

Gold Cups Presented

Quartet Earns Safety Awards

A power squadron in Louisville, a national boating magazine, the Quincy (Mass.) Department of Recreation and the State of Alabama's Water Safety Patrol are winners of the eleventh annual Gold Cup Awards for Boating Safety.

* * *

The Louisville Power Squadron was awarded a National Gold Cup for conducting an intensive program of training for the Kentucky State Police to equip them for water patrol duties.

Rudder Magazine won in the press category for continually publishing articles, stores and editorials stressing the various aspects of boating safety.

SHARE GOLD CUP

The City of Quincy's Recreation Department and the State of Alabama's Water Safety Patrol tied for the Gold Cup in the governmental category.

* * *

Quincy's Recreation Department won the award for its boating, sailing and water ski safety programs which are available each summer to all residents of that city.

Alabama's Water Safety Patrol was selected for its extensive water safety program in junior and senior high schools and also for its traveling safety exhibit that promotes boating safety throughout the state.

In addition, honorable mention certificates were awarded to the Lower Susquehanna Safe Boating Council, Lancaster, Pa.; WKRC-Radio, Cincinnati; and the State of Maryland's Department of Chesapeake Bay Affairs.

BEGAN IN 1957

The Gold Cup program was inaugurated in 1957 by Kiekhaefer Mercury, manufacturers of Mercury outboard motors and MerCruiser stern drives and inboard engines, to recognize the contribution to greater boating safety by communities, the press and governmental agencies. Engraved cups are annually presented to the winners in each category.

Members of the panel selecting the award winners were: Don Guerin, past president, American Power Boat Association; Webb Sheehy, past national commodore, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary; William D. Clifford, executive manager, American Water Ski Association; Captain Robert T. Norris, chief, Boating Safety Division, U.S. Coast Guard; and Walter J. Sutcliffe, past chief commander, United States Power Squadrons.

Owner, Driver Gain Honors

Ole Bardahl, the owner, and Bill Schumacher, the driver, received the top honors from the American Power Boat Association this winter in the unlimited class after capturing the 1968 national championship with Miss Bardahl.

Rookie of the year honors went to My Gypsy driver Tommy (Tucker) Fults, and Bill Sterett earned the sportsman's award for his performances in Miss Budweiser.

Clinton River Clean-Up Set

Again this year the Friends of the Clinton River are planning a clean-up drive to rid the meandering waterway of disruptive logs, tree branches and accumulated debris.

President Ken Fowler has already had one meeting in hopes of an earlier start on the project. At least 1,000 persons are needed to achieve the proper result, the group reports.

The Boy Scouts have been a key participant in the annual campaign. Other civic and local government agencies' help is needed, too.

The Friends of the Clinton River also have united forces with the recently created Lake St. Clair Advisory Committee.

A list of private and public schools devoted to sailboat instruction is available without charge from the American Sailing Council, 537 Steamboat Road, Greenwich, Conn., 06830.

Eleven New Models in Chrysler Outboard Lineup

Group Includes Racing Engine

Most Power Ever in Outboard Class

Chrysler Corporation has introduced 11 new models of outboards for 1969, including a sizzling 135-horsepower racing engine.

The lively new competition model, easily recognized by its two gleaming stainless steel exhaust stacks and customized blue engine cover, is the most powerful outboard ever certified by the Outboard Boating Club of America.

Also new for '69 are motors of 85, 70, 7 and 5 horsepower, with two models each. The 85 and 70-hp engines, along with three 105-hp models and the new 135, feature Maganapower — Chrysler's highly efficient, capacitor-discharge ignition system. Magnapower is also available on two new 55-hp models.

FISHING MOTORS

The all-new Chrysler 85 is the most powerful three-cylinder outboard on the market. This premium engine features a new thermostat that provides absolute cooling control, thus increasing engine life, performance and fuel economy.

It has a newly designed, more effective water-jacketed head and a longer-lasting piston pin bearing, which is also a '69 improvement in Chrysler 105 models.

The company's engineers say the new Chrysler 70 — also a three-cylinder engine — will out-run any other outboard in its class. Like the 85, its big-bore cylinders are fed by three individual carburetors, and the result is quick full-throttle response.

'MOLY' RINGS

A new standard of reliability and performance is set for the 105 and 85-horsepower models through the use of molybdenum-filled piston rings. The "moly" rings provide outstanding resistance to scuffing and improve the efficiency of the engines, especially at high speed.

The Chrysler line includes 22 models of mid-range power — from 20 to 55 horsepower. There are six models of 55-horsepower, seven of 45 hp, five of 35 hp and four of 20 hp. New silencing features.

There are 10 fishing models in the Chrysler line — eight deluxe low-profile motors and two thrifty air-cooled 3.5-hp models. The low-profile engines are of 9.9, 7 and 5 hp. The Chrysler 9.9 is the world's most powerful outboard under 10 hp.

★ ★ ★

The lightweight low-profile models feature Depth-Minder Drive, which enables them to operate safely in as little as six inches of water. The tiller on these engines folds both up and down 90 degrees, making them easy to fit into storage space. The smooth, curving leg on the low-profiles prevents snagging and dragging in weeds.

The design of these motors puts them low on the boat's transom—keeping them out of the way of fishing lines.

Phone Use Up

Use of marine radio telephones in the medium frequency band is increasing on recreational craft. Also there is greater demand for high frequency (VHF) sets and single sideband two-way radios on offshore crusing yachts.

From Fish to Bugs

Name's the Game for Boat Owners

"What's in a name? That which we call a rose, by any other name would smell as sweet," quothe Shakespeare in Romeo and Juliet almost four hundred years ago.

There's plenty in a name, apparently, because boat builders have spent many an hour searching for appropriate names for their models.

MANY NAMES

The names chosen range all the way from insects to eagles and from fish to fowl. Boat show visitors will find boats named after bugs, crawling things and little critters. There's a Scorpion, a Butterfly and a Moth, to start with.

★ ★ ★

Boats and islands go together, too. There are two different yachts named Islander, two Bahamas, a Bimini, a Islandia and, not surprisingly, there's a Tahiti. At least two bodies of water show up in the names Atlantic and Sakonnet.

FISHEY NAMES

Fish are used for names like Tarpon, Barracuda, Wahoo, Marlin, Sunfish, Sailfish, and Flying Fish. There are also boats named Shark, Coho, Whaler (with a Boston in front) and Playfish.

★ ★ ★

Animals aren't quite as nautical, but several have lent their names to boats. There's a boat named Skunk and there's Cheetah, Kitten, Seal and Bullseye.

POPULAR PLACES

It seems appropriate to apply the names of nice places to boats. Also, things that smack of fun and relaxation, of activities. Here we find show boats named Triumph, Playmate, Corinthian, Fun-Maker, Resorter, Doodle, Reveler and Surfer. The list is spiced up with Tramper and Tramp, Bumler, Holiday and Celebrity.

★ ★ ★

People liking boats usually they should relish Fighter, Valiant, Charger and Fury. Smacking of swashbuckling life on the Spanish Main are Sea Raider, Buccaneer, Pirate, Cutlass, Adventurer, Venture, Contest and Discoverer.

Incidentally, there are several different boats bearing the name Cutlass.

SAME NAMES

Two different boats named Nassau and there is at least one each of Mackinac, Riviera, Coronado, Torino, San Juan and a California Catamaran and a Maltese Magnum.

Names that are descriptive of the craft, or hopefully so, include Minor, Master, Surf Sailor and Skipjack.

★ ★ ★

SEVERAL USES

Foldferry is easy. It's a tiny folding boat that ferries you out to your yacht, then folds up and slips under your mattress.

Other descriptive names are Cushion Flite, Cartopper, Queenliner and Thrifty. As to Ocean sounding ones there is Oceanfarer, Seaport, Sea Sled and Seafarer.

Bird names come in strong, particularly for sailboats. Awning hoisters seem to be bird lovers, to wit: Kite, Puffin, Seagull, Blue Jay, Skylark, Coot, Albatross, Sunbird, Mallard, Lark, Robin, Halcyon, Kingfisher and Goldeneye.

Stars and heavenly bodies provide Nova Vega, Gemini, Galaxy and Sailstar. Winds also are utilized for Trade Wind, Hurricane and Spindrift, each used at least once, and there are two Typhoons.

First in Line for Safety

At the inception of an industry-wide safety certification program in the summer of 1968, the first boat manufacturer to request certification by the Boating Industry Association was Starcraft Corporation, Goshen, Indiana.

Announcement of the BIA inspection and approval of the new Starcraft 58-model 1969 line was made by Paul Fishbaugh, Starcraft sales manager.

A model identification plate will be placed on each Starcraft boat with a permanent serial number and a statement to the effect that the boat has met federal and BIA safe construction requirements.

COVERAGE

BIA certification means that the boat meets federal requirements for ventilation of enclosed fuel storage areas, navigation lights and backfire flame control and BIA standards controlling capacity, ventilation, steering, fuel systems and flotation.

★ ★ ★

Starcraft's flotation safety features are either air chambers or positive flotation material built into every boat. The flotation must be sufficient to float the submerged weight of the boat, engine, gas tank and all related gear, and the submerged weight of the number of passengers for which the boat is rated.

★ ★ ★

"Even after meeting rigid flotation standards set by the BIA, no boat is totally unsinkable, and we still recommend personal life preservers be aboard for every boat occupant," Fishbaugh said.

High performance outboard power — the long and the short of it.

Evinrude presents a new outboard motor — with all the power and performance of yesterday's giants — without the height, or the bulk, or the weight, or the size.

How Evinrude engineers did it is a story straight from outer space. Space age materials and methods. Space age miniaturization. Space age electronics. And fail-safe space age reliability.

They began with a built-in advantage — the low-profile V-4 — and miniaturized it into a new, smaller, stronger, lighter, more powerful second-generation V-4. It's 15 "horses" bigger, 20 lbs. lighter, and has a 37% smaller powerhood than last year's compact high performance "100".

See the motor that gives you top performance without top-heavy size . . . plus a new "85" that holds its own with a 120 hp stern drive . . . an Evinrude "55" that out-performs last year's workhorse "65" . . . a new portable Evinrude "25" you can ski with . . . a new 4 hp motor with 33% more power and no increase in size . . . and 3 new more advanced Evinrude Gull Wing boats. See tomorrow happening in the "Evinrude country" exhibit at the boat show.

Check Mooring Sites

Although most outboarders keep their boats on trailers in their backyard or garage, many moor their crafts in creeks, coves, sloughs and canals on the outskirts of waterfront communities.

Such sites are often less crowded than public launching ramps and their use permits a boatman to get under way quickly, once he gets to his mooring.

CHECK SITES

★ ★ ★

Will the water become too shallow for navigation at low tide or during dry spells? Is the access road apt to be flooded or muddy in the spring? Is there enough parking space and room to maneuver your trailer? Do police patrol the area with reasonable frequency? It it public or private property?

GOOD MOORING

Once you find a suitable location, prepare a dependable mooring. Two or three cinder blocks chained together, a common expedient, become too light underwater to be trusted.

★ ★ ★

Instead, use a "mushroom"-style anchor, or fill a cardboard box with eight to 10 inches of wet concrete and rocks, setting an eyebolt in the concrete. Use a few feet of chain between the block and mooring rope to prevent the line from chafing on the abrasive concrete.

★ ★ ★

Your boat should be outfitted with fenders and moored so that it will not swing into other boats or obstructions.

Memory of Dr. Dooley

Firm Builds Small 'Hope'

By CARMEN J. SAIA
Editor, Marine Products Magazine

A few months ago, Purcell invited the boating press down to see his new plant in Hendersonville, Tenn. The plant, like the company, is big, streamlined and efficient.

Production lines are set in contiguous succession with overhead cranes and parts at strategic locations. By the time the hull reaches the end the boat is ready for delivery.

SET ASIDE

As we walked around the plant there was one boat off to the side. It was not in one of the production lines. I asked Jack if there was something wrong with it. A big smile came to his face and he said "that is Dr. Tom's boat".

I learned that Dr. Tom was Dr. Tom Dooley. Dr. Dooley was an American doctor who went to Southeast Asia in 1956 to try alleviate some of the sickness and suffering.

In August of 1959 Dr. Dooley learned he had cancer; he continued to work and write. Dr. America, as he was called by the people, wrote three books about his work in Haiphong and other areas of Southeast Asia.

"Deliver Us From Evil" and "The Edge of Tomorrow" became best sellers and "The Night They Burned The Mountain" was made into a movie.

POCKETSIZE

Nauta-Line was picked by Dr. V. E. Chaney, president of the Dooley Foundation, which was established in September 1961 to continue the work of Dr. Dooley in Southeast Asia, to build a pocketsize ship of Hope.

Nauta-Line was to build a boat that would travel the Mekong River carrying medical supplies and personnel to deal with the sickness of these people. Using the "Showboat" theme to capture the attention and confidence of the people, the boat carries facilities for surgery, x-ray and a fully equipped medical laboratory.

★ ★ ★

The boat was donated by a Florida Foundation. Dr. Chaney has raised money for airplanes and trucks but the houseboat has been one of the most useful projects.

MERCY OF MEDICINE

Dr. Tom Dooley was a rare human being who found the single thing he wanted to do in life was to make the wretched, hungry, sick and hopeless people of Asia understand the best of America through the mercy of medicine.

The late President Kennedy said of Dr. Tom, "Those who follow Dr. Dooley are providing a great humanitarian service and making friends for America in many parts of the world."

His life and the continuing program of the Dooley Foundation stand for the best in American traditions, and the marine industry can feel it has helped a little.

Sailing Film Set for April

Photographer - lecturer John Biddle will show his "Where The Sailors Are" at Ford Auditorium in Detroit Apr. 18-19.

Reservations for either of the 8:30 p.m. showings may be made with the American Youth Hostels sponsoring agency at 14335 W. McNichols.

Newcomer Takes Place of Champ

Last year's boat-of-the-year in the Detroit Yachting Association, Flying Jenny II piloted by Don Snider of St. Clair Shores, has been replaced with Flying Jenny III.

Its predecessor last summer posted big victories in the Port Huron-to-Mackinac race and the Bayview all night race.

Anti-Pollution Tanks Required in Ontario

Holding tanks, which are slated as required anti-pollution equipment in Michigan next year, are mandatory on all pleasure craft using Ontario waters.

Adopted this year, the new Canadian regulations do provide for the possible use of previously installed devices such as mascerator-chlorinators with temporary permits until 1971.

★ ★ ★

The Ontario Water Resources Commission has announced plans to have inspectors at its major boating centers this summer to enforce the new regulations.

Dad Plays Role of Skipper

Survey Reveals Boating Finds Favor With Entire Family

Wives of boat owners like to get out on the water with their husbands and mothers, according to a recent survey conducted in a northeastern boating area of the country.

While endorsing boating as a family recreation, the women at the same time are happy to accept a secondary role to the skipper while on board, the survey also disclosed. None expressed a desire to take the family boat out on their own.

FOUR CATEGORIES

Women in the survey sampling were placed in four classifications including mothers with one or more children of various ages living at home, mothers whose children had grown up and left home; the young married and those whose husbands have retired.

★ ★ ★

Despite the fact that the major part of the recreational budget is spent on boating the replies to the key question, "Would you, if you had full say, choose boating as the major investment for family recreation?" were decisive in support of their husband's boat ownership.

COUPLES WITH CHILDREN

"We're all together and stay in one place," said a Louden-ville, N. Y. mother with family of four. "But we don't feel confined and when we're cruising each has an assigned job. There's teamwork."

VACATION HOME

★ ★ ★

A Monmouth, N. J., wife said: "On the boat father is indeed head of the family. He is relaxed in a way he isn't at home. We have fun together. He gets to know the children and they get to know him without the social and business pressures which build up at home."

PLAYING HOUSE

"I feel like a little girl playing house," said the wife of a radio announcer who owns a cruiser equipped with electric stove with oven, refrigerator, freezer, showers, and ample cabins for their family of five.

★ ★ ★

"The family has fun together on it. Or we can leave the children home and entertain adult friends aboard. Sunning on the flying bridge while the boat is underway beats lying in the sand on a beach."

YOUNG MARRIEDS

Most young wives either had grown up around boats or had "learned the ropes" while courting. In cases where husbands sailed or cruised before they married, the men had made certain their wives were able seamen before they proposed.

★ ★ ★

In one Pennsylvania family where the wife was about to have her first child, the husband had owned a day sailer. For two years before they married, he had taught her to crew and together they had won many races.

'MAYBE NOT'

When asked if he would have married her if she hadn't developed into a good crew, his reply stated, "I would never have known her well enough to propose if she hadn't sailed with me because this is how I spent most of my time and money away from my engineering job."

★ ★ ★

A young wife, the survey indicated, is usually flexible enough and willing to adapt to a husband's interest to give boat-owning a try. She knows she'll be included in on most of his time away from his job which is what most young marrieds desire.

IDEAL

"Boating with small children is ideal," young parents claim . . . "It's the easiest way to take care of children when they are babies" . . . "Movement of the boat and a not too heavy sea soothes most children" . . . "No expense of baby-sitters while my husband and I are having fun alone or with friends who also have boats," explained one wife.

★ ★ ★

In one family where the couple had raced together in a day sailer, while the wife was in the hospital having her first baby, the husband bought a cabin sailboat. They were renting a small house so the boat became their first home and the new daughter had her first sail when she was six weeks old.

PARENTS WITH GROWN CHILDREN

Mothers whose children had grown up and left home viewed the family boat as an opportunity to spend more time with husbands. One Branford, Conn., wife, wrote: "We can move when and where we want; no crowded highways and no worry about restaurant, hotel or motel reservations. It's the cheapest, pleasantest way to travel, go sightseeing."

★ ★ ★

Said a Larchmont, N.Y., wife, "It stretches out vacation time. We can escape for week-ends, short holidays, long vacations."

DAD RELAXES

Another wife said, "My husband relaxes at the helm of a boat. Whereas, bucking traffic at the wheel of a car to get to a recreation or vacation spot only adds to his fatigue and tension . . . also mine."

★ ★ ★

A wife of a busy executive whose family had owned only small boats while the children were growing up discovered the larger boat her husband had bought was not an "expensive luxury," but "excellent therapy."

EASES PRESSURE

"He works long hours under such pressure, that the quickest way he seems to be able to relax is on the water. His tensions seem to slide into the water once we're on the boat.

★ ★ ★

Wives of husbands who have retired find a boat helps to keep the men physically fit and busy instead of just "sitting around the house," feeling left out of the hectic pace of office and business.

★ ★ ★

A Boylston, Mass., couple bought their first boat, an ancient sailboat and spent two years before retirement, rebuilding it. "Once it was launched and my husband retired we started on a whole new life of adventure," wrote the wife.

MOVE AROUND

Other retired couples in the area use their boats in northern water during the summer, move south to warmer climates in winter. "This way we keep in touch with family and friends. And our retirement budget stretches farther, allows us to live at a leisurely pace yet have a constant change of scene," enumerated one wife.

"It's the dessert we've earned," said another.

Boating wives in the "elder" category find the common interest and adventure it offers an opportunity to more fully share years of retirement, "It's like a second honeymoon," explained one wife who likes the sea.

BOATS AS SUMMER HOMES

Two wives questioned, who had youngsters under twelve, preferred to live aboard the family boat at a marina despite the fact that their homes were less than 50 miles away. Fathers commuted to work each day, returned for dinner, and, when the weather was favorable, took the family for an evening cruise.

In each case the marinas were equipped with dock electricity, washers, dryers, shower facilities and a swimming pool.

A New Jersey family closed their home and used the boat for the entire summer as headquarters. The youngsters learned to swim in the pool, to row and sail in the family dinghy.

Santa's for Sale

SANTA CLAUSE VILLAGE, Calif. (AP) — Santa Claus goes on the auction block today. Mrs. John Young of nearby Carpinteria, the owner, put up for sale the restaurant, gift shops and bar on U.S. 101. The announced reason: too few visitors.

Results of Poll

Public Responds to Resources

Three out of four Americans are willing to pay more taxes earmarked to fight deterioration of their natural surroundings, according to a national public opinion poll conducted for the National Wildlife Federation by Gallup pollsters.

George H. Gallup, Jr., speaking to the Federation's 33rd annual meeting in Washington, D.C., Saturday, said those willing to pay more taxes to improve their natural surroundings represented all income groups, including 63 per cent of families earning under $5,000 per year!

These findings were part of what is thought to be the first independent public opinion poll on the sometimes weighty subject of environmental conservation.

According to Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the two million member conservation group, the federation sponsored the Gallup survey in the face of increasing criticism from some people, including members of Congress, that organized conservation groups don't truly represent the general public's thinking.

DEEP CONCERN

More than 85 per cent of the people Gallup surveyed, however, said they are concerned about the state of the environment, and 51 per cent expressed "deep concern" about the effects of air pollution, water pollution, soil erosion and wildlife destruction.

Air and water pollution, in that order, were ranked as the most pressing environmental problems facing the Nation, with auto exhaust and industrial waste taking most of the blame.

Gallup said the Federation-sponsored survey indicated half the American public thinks future population controls will be necessary to maintain a high standard of living in the United States.

Although the majority of the U.S. populatin is composed of city dwellers, only six per cent of those surveyed said they actually preferer to live in a large city. On the other hand, an overwhelming three out of four said they think more lands should be set aside for conservation purposes.

MORE AWARE

"It is abundantly clear the American public is becoming more and more aware of the forces at work to rob America of its livibility," Kimball said. "But it's equally clear the conservation battle has just begun."

"Stripped of all the political eyewash, false promises and mimeographed press releases, this country is fighting for its very survival," he emphasized.

"Scores of Americanns die every year from air pollution, and the health of millions more is jeopardized. Flagrant pork barrel projects are funded while in the same breath Congress reneges on its promise to help finance human waste treatment facilities. Our cities seethe with tension, yet few urban parks or open spaces are really safe from the freeway and parking lot mania."

★ ★ ★

"Our Gallup survey confirms most Americans are concerned and willing to join the fight against environmental mismanagement," he continued, "and beginning immediately, the National Wildlife Federation will greatly accelerate its educational efforts to provide the necessary ammunition."

Opening lead—♥J

BY OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

The late Walter Beinecke of New York was one of the great gentlemen of bridge. His good friend Ely Culbertson persuaded him to write an article for the second issue of his Bridge World magazine. The title was "Contract Bridge Harmony" and a quotation from that article might serve as a precept for all bridge players today.

He said, "To my mind the real crux of winning contract, which is what we are all striving for, is proper coordination and harmony between partners."

He follows with a couple of grand slam hands and we wonder just how many modern experts would reach the sure thing seven no-trump contract that Walter and his partner, the late Charles Stevenson, reached easily with 1929 bidding.

There was no problem in the play except that Walter, who was also a fine card player, led a diamond to dummy's king at trick two to guard against a 4-0 diamond break and then spread his hand.

His analysis was, "South's opening bid of two spades showed at least 4½ honor tricks and North's three-diamond response showed at least 1½ honor tricks and a five-card suit. South's jump to six no-trump was a mild overbid but he had one ace and one jack above the minimum strength his opening bid of two had guaranteed.

North's seven no-trump call was based on his queen of spades that was not only an extra value, but most important in view of the two-spade opening bid."

It is interesting to note that if North's side king had been in clubs instead of hearts, the grand slam would depend on a some modern experts will have specialized ways of finding that but we feel that this 1929 bidding was not only successful, but mighty good for any day.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Permit mate, partner to have spotlight. Best for you to respond rather than take lead. Get expert advice on legal affairs. Wait, observe — news is on the way. Approval indicated.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be diplomatic, especially in relations with coworkers. One who strives to irritate will fire. Maintain poise. Accent on health, well-being, ability to make do with tools at hand.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Great opportunity for self-expression. Charm shines through; you get what you want. If single, romance dominates. If married, you gain renewed understanding of mate.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Dialog necessary between family members. Don't forget promise made to parent. Spotlight on basic issues, home repairs, security. Hunch should be followed . . . pays off.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Some who offer advice are confused — includes close relatives. Best to spread horizons; accept social invitations. Relax. You can't force issues today. Keep in touch with one at distance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Please family member with gift. Display affection. Recent disputes can be settled. Take initiative along this line. You'll be happier as a result. Keynote is harmony.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You get answers to queries. Those who had been less than enthusiastic warm up. Make contacts. Be confident. Sales ability is high. Personality is dynamic. Get going.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Excellent for attending theater, participating in charity project. You have air of mystery. Others are intrigued. You can gain cooperation of club, group, organization.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Wishes can be fulfilled. Key is to be alert. Friendly contacts pay dividends. Be gracious. One who pays compliment is likely to mean it. But be practical in demands.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Study SAGITTARIUS message. You get special honor. Evaluate it. Don't think it can get you more than it's worth. Means realistic appraisal is essential. Day features gain.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Accent on ability to understand problems of others. Natural humanitarian qualities come to fore. Adhere to golden rule. Your influence today is far-reaching. You will be rewarded.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Interest centers around the hidden. Puzzle pieces can fall into place — for fun and profit. Know this and be enthusiastic. Welcome aid of one who proposes new methods.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY don't be deceived by individual who talks big but has small bank account. You tend to be generous, artistic. You are undergoing period of preparation. Avoid premature action.

County Board OK's New Jail at Kalamazoo

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The Kalamazoo County Board of Supervisors has voted to build a new county jail-sheriff's department facility.

Past board members have estimated the cost of a new jail will be over $2 million.

In passing a resolution outlining committee responsibilities on the project, the board Tuesday bowed to a Feb. 24 threat from state jail inspector Robert J. Russell.

Russell told the board it must commit itself to building a new jail or the Michigan Department of Corrections would seek a court closing order.

The jail was the scene of several severe beatings and homosexual assaults in late 1967.

TAKE YOUR PICK—The fisherman who likes a boat will have plenty of models from which to choose this year.

New Sport Fisherman Derived From Rogue

The Sport Fisherman, a special version of the 19-foot designed for the sportsman, is the newest in the Evinrude line of Gull Wing hulls for 1969.

The hulls of Evinrude's 16-foot Sportsman models have also been re-designed to give greater forward lift for softer entry, a drier ride, and slightly higher top speed.

The 19-foot Rouge II is the highly styled leader of the Evinrude line. Joining the Rougue II and the Sport Fisherman to complete the line are two versions of the pupular open foredeck Sportsman, the Sportsman 120 and the Sportsman 155.

The Sport Fisherman has an open cockpit, except for two bucket seats forward, giving a fishing space of almost 50 square feet. It has a fold-down ventilated windshield. Stern drive power is provided by a lightweight, economical four-cycle, 120 h.p. four-in-line engine.

The roomy Rouge II has a split windshield and sliding hatch that allows easy access to the foredeck. It is powered by a smooth, quiet 210-horsepower V-8 motor that gives increased low-end torque as the result of a slight increase in displacement. Evinrude's 19-footers have a capacity of nine persons or a 2000-pound load.

DEEPER V

The new Sportsman hulls have a deeper V forward to give increased lift in rought seas. The flow of the water is dispersed by longitudinal adhesional breakers that allow slightly higher speeds.

The forward cockpit contains two side seat cushions with storage space under each and walking space up to the bow in the center. Wrap-around handrails enclose all but the center portion of the forward cockpit. The Sportsman is available with a 155 h.p. V-6 or the same economical 120 as the Sport Fisherman.

Seating in the Rouge II, Sportsman 120, and Sportsman 155 is furnished by two 3-position back-to-back seats that converts into the sun lounges. The Sportsman 155 has optional seating of two bucket seats with a full width rear seat.

★ ★ ★

All Evinrude boats have fiber glass reinforced plastic hulls with closed cell floatation foamed in place in the sealed double bottom. All models have white hulls with blue interiors. The Sport Fisherman has a blue deck; the Rouge II a white deck. The Rouge II and the Sportsman have red and blue exterior trim.

CARPETING

The wall-to-wall carpeting on all models is impervious to dirt. Convertible tops are standard on all but the Sport Fisherman. All models have bilge pump and blower, electric power motor tilt, electric push button gear shifting, built-in side storage racks, deck hardware and lighting.

Standard on all models is an illuminated instrument panel with complete instrumentation. All have built-in fuel tanks (18 gallons in the Sportsman and 24 gallons in the Rouge II and Sport Fisherman), and power pointer steering.

Optional equipment includes side and rear curtains, mooring covers, boarding ladder, and windshield wipers. Optional on the Rouge II and Sport Fisherman is a bench rear seat with built-in fish box and ice box.

Custom matched trailers, with automatic hydraulic surge-type brakes and screw-jack tilt bed, are available for all Evinrude boats. The trailers have heavy duty two-speed winches with winch brake and all lights.

Minifleet Numerous, Varied This Year

The small boat fleet for 1969 is a large one and includes craft that may be rowed, paddled, sailed, surfed and motored. The small fry steal a lot of thunder from the shiny, handsome yachts peering down on them from on high. There are hundreds of boats in the seven to fourteen foot range. Most cost less than $500. One costs only $50.

Prams, dinks, canoes, inflatables, sailboards, car-toppers and even a folding boat that stores under your mattress — all are readily available on the market. A majority are fiberglass. Wood, canvas, rubberized cloth and clear plastic are also used in the lilliputian fleet. And there are miniatures made of plastic foam.

Short length alone does not a mini-boat make. After all, there are fourteen foot keel sailboat weights weighing a ton. To qualify as genuine small fry, the candidate must be car-toppable, pickupable and kid-usable.

The new popularity of tiny boats is well recognized by big manufacturers. For example, to provide pint sized power for prams, dinks and the smallest sailboats, Evinrude and Johnson are marketing 1.5 h.p. outboard motors. Mercury has a 4.0 h.p. Chrysler offer a 3.5 h.p., weighing only 29 pounds and aimed at canoes, cartoppers, and dinghies.

The market for the mini boats is expanding. In addition to youngsters and their parents, there are camps and a growing number of small craft handling and instruction classes, clubs, racing groups and resort hotels and motels that buy fleets of Butterfly's, Aqua Cat's, Doodle's or Sunfish. The mini-boats are rented out and provide a resort attraction.

Materials Vary With Builders

Many Firms Using More Than One Type

Boat builders in the United States use a variety of materials in constructing their craft as well as turning out more than one type.

The 1968 survey of the National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers covered 704 builders producing boats in 17 different categories and made of aluminum, fiberglass, plywood, rubberized fabric, steel and wood. The boats types ranged from dinghies and prams to houseboats, inboard cruisers, outboards and sailboats.

DOUBLE PRODUCTION

While some plants produce boats made of a single material, there are those that produce both wood and fiberfliss hulls; others plywood and aluminum. This duplication is brought out by a breakdown of the manufacturers which showed:

537 build fiberglass hulls
161 use wood
137 build of plywood
91 fabricate aluminum
54 build steel hulls
29 use rubberized fabric

These figures total 1,009 which indicates that some 40 per cent of the builders must use more than one kind of material.

If your boat trailer sways when you're under way, it is probably tail-heavy, or tire pressure is too low. Move the boat forward on the trailer, or shift equipment forward in the boat.

Oilmen Study Boating Safety

Texas Site Becoming Man-Made Lake

Oil field hands up Robert Lee way in the state of Texas must now add another skill to their repertoire. That is safe boat handling.

Part of the I. A. Bird oil field near the village of Robert Lee is being inundated by a dam across the Colorado River (Texas) which will cover some 17 producing wells with water up to a depth of 50 feet.

OILS ELEVATED

The oil wells to be covered have been elevated by man-made mounds which will become islands when the impounded water rise.

These "heads" will continue to produce oil and the pumpers who check their operation daily will be forced to give up their trucks and take to boats for their inspection tours. Vehicles required for well servicing must be barged to the islands and landed on specially constructed ramps.

BIG RESERVOIR

The Robert Lee dam eventually will create a reservoir 18 miles long with a width of four miles. Aside from providing 50 millions of gallons of water daily for municipal and industrial use, the lake will also become a water sports recreational area with the creation of picnic and camping areas plus a 200-acre park.

Northwest Montana Site of New Lake

A new lake will start forming in northwestern Montana near Libby next year when a 420-foot high dam starts backing up the waters of the Kootenai river.

By 1974 the Libby reservoir will be some 90 miles long extending 40 miles into Canada. Major highway and railroad relocation projects are involved, including the construction of 60 miles of new roadbed for the Great Northern plus a seven-mile tunnel for the tracks under the Elk mountain in the Flathead range.

New Chairman

Capt. R. T. Norris, United States Coast Guard, is the new chairman of the National Safe Boating Committee, a non-profit organization of 19 members which coordinates sponsorship of National Safe Boat Week and advocates year-around observance of boating safety.

There are 5,800 marinas, boat yards, yacht clubs and other waterfront boating outlets throughout the country.

Shakedown Cruise Listed

Pinter's Club Active

A shakedown cruise May 4 is planned to highlight the start of the sixth outdoor season for the Pinter's Boat Club.

Members meet at 8 p.m. the first Tuesday of each month at Pinter's Marine Sales, 1370 Opdyke. Movies of past seasons, safety lectures and similar programs are scheduled during the off season.

The shakedown cruise will have Dresden, Ont., for its destination. Later this summer overnight cruises are planned to Indian River, Torch Lake and Chatham (Ont.).

Chairman of the membership committee is Mike Strong of Orchard Lake. Handling the programs is Verlin Haywold of Waterford.

Upcoming programs will include films of the Bahamas and other Caribbean areas.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My daughter who is 21 years old is living with a young man of 28, and they aren't married.

They say they are living together to see if it will work out, and if it does they will eventually get married. What kind of an engagement is this?

She says she loves him and he loves her. I told her that if they "love" each other they should get married. They have been together for over three months now.

He is a business man, quite wealthy, and takes her out in style. She feels what she is doing is all right. Is it?

MRS. PERPLEXITY

DEAR MRS. PERPLEXITY: Everyone must decide for himself what is "all right." However, socially acceptable folks still get married first, and THEN live together.

If your daughter wants to put the cart before the horse and horse around a little, she may be in for a rude awakening.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are having an argument and have decided to let you settle it.

I say when company drops in on you, you are supposed to ask them if they care for any refreshments. My husband says you are supposed to get off your duff and fix something, and then offer it to them. Who is right?

THE B's

DEAR B's: The gracious hostess offers her guests refreshments, and nine times out of ten they will disappear like magic. (The refreshments — not the guests.)

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the 15-year-old unwed mother who refused to give up her child. I beg you to send her this warning: Unwed teen-agers who want to amuse themselves with "cute" babies must be made to realize that babies grow up sure as cuddly kittens become tough cats.

My sister kept her illegimate baby, and she adored him. He is now 20. Recently he broke one of her ribs and put a scar on her chin in various "requests" for money. He seldom works, pays nothing, but camps in her two-room apartment, demanding fine meals at his convenience.

Sure, my sister is "sick in the head" to permit it, but she shuts her ears to any advice and glosses over her selfishness by calling it "mother love." She has twisted his life and ruined her own. And so will anyone who tries to own a living human plaything.

A mother who truly loves her child will want it to have a family where it can grow unscarred and unashamed. The child who is smothered by this kind of insatiable "love" learns only to hate.

Please, Abby, tell mothers of unwise teen-agers to persuade them if they can, force them if they must, but be sure they give up the baby.

SORRY AUNT

DEAR ABBY: I think that BACHEOLOR CONSIDERING MARRIAGE has a lot of nerve. Any woman who'd marry him must be as crazy as he is.

Imagine a 70-year-old man who has never been married, saying he's "through with sex" and wanting a woman who isn't looking for a meal ticket. What else does he think he's good for?

So he raises roses. Big deal! I'll buy mine.

BEA

DEAR ABBY: I was glad to see that you told those eighth graders that "popularity" wasn't everything. I wish I had learned that earlier.

★ ★ ★

I started out as a homely wallflower who thought being "popular" was the most wonderful thing a girl could be. I started to smoke at 14 to prove I was "grown up." By 16 I had a reputation for being "easy" — and I earned it.

★ ★ ★

I quit school at 17, and married a guy I had known four days. By 18 I was divorced, had a child, and was having affairs with married men. Wow, was I popular!

Abby, just keep telling girls to be GOOD. Popularity isn't all it's cracked up to be. Don't use my name. I'm trying to straigthen myself out.

Festival Calls Upon Talents of Volunteers

By JANET ODELL
Women's Editor, The Pontiac Press

What more do you need for a successful concert season at Meadow Brook than an orchestra, a director, a place to play and an audience?

★ ★ ★

You need volunteers. There isn't money enough to hire the kind of work thousands of dedicated men and women do for Meadow Brook Festival. It has been that way since the beginning of the summer festival on Oakland University's campus.

VOLUNTEERS

Although the Festival business office does the mechanics of arranging programs, printing tickets, brochures and posters and mailing thousands of items, it remains for the volunteers to carry the load.

A dozen chairmen from the Pontiac area — all women — met Tuesday at the Village Woman's Club for a work session and luncheon. With them were Mrs. Marvin Katke, cochairman of this year's Festival, and Mrs. Donald Dawson, Area II chairman.

They shared with one another procedures they had used in the past and what they hoped to do this year to encourage more people to attend Meadow Brook.

They go out to various groups and speak; they arrange for someone from the Festival office to present a slide program. They distribute posters. They hand out brochures any place they encounter a crowd — or so it seems.

The nine-week season opens July 3. Detailed announcements of the season's program will be made by the end of April.

Rewards Make the Trials Worth While

Editor's Note: This is the last of a three-part series on adoption.

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

A house, one stilled by years of disappointment and heartache, is now a home, to Marlene Crawford's joy, filled with baby sounds.

Five-month-old Sheila Frances, a charming mixture of chubby cheeks, brown hair and eyes, has made it so.

As one 'selected,' rather than 'expected,' Sheila's arrival last October at the Troy home of the Jack Crawfords was a labor of love.

The Crawfords, like many a childless couple, have revealed that their biggest test came in reaching a mutual acceptance of the fact that they would never have a family unless they adopted.

In 13 years of marriage, she has lost three children by miscarriage and her last child, a boy, lived only 27 hours.

ADJUSTMENT

"It wasn't until I could admit to myself that I would never be able to carry my own child that I could even begin to think about taking someone else's baby," said Marlene.

"Jack, on the other hand, was ready to start applying through the adoption services a year ago last summer, but we waited because of me."

Once over the first barrier, the Crawfords found themselves again blocked by what they felt was an unnecessary amount of red tape during their first efforts to apply.

Both devoted Catholics, the Crawfords initially sought the aid of their local church-sponsored agency, the Catholic Social Services.

But here they found a 'lack of encouragement on their chances of ever getting a baby' and the detailed research on their socio-economic and physical status dampened their enthusiasm.

The tide turned in February of '68 with the help of a physician, who, aware of their disappointment, directed them to a Detroit agency.

Within two months, a case worker had seen the Crawfords for the usual home visit and all the other necessary procedures, as required by state law, were going smoothly.

Time stretched into months, however, when Marlene found herself faced with surgery that summer and a period of recuperation at home.

SECOND VISIT

By October the Crawfords were scheduled for another home visit, the outcome of which, Marlene admitted, she was somewhat pessimistic about.

"When the case worker arrived, the first thing she remarked on was the fact that I didn't have a bed for the baby. I quickly assured her we would get one, come the time," said Marlene.

"But Mrs. Crawford," she remarked, "Your baby was born last week."

The next day, seven-pound Sheila Frances was placed in Jack's arms for the first time.

First reactions and feelings?

"Jack was petrified when the caseworker gave the baby to him," said Marlene. "Of course he came equipped with cigars."

★ ★ ★

With a laugh she recalled how, like a typical mother, she immediately lifted the blanket to make sure "everything was there."

★ ★ ★

"To be perfectly honest, I can't really say how I felt at that moment," she observed. "But once I was holding her as we drove home, I knew she was ours and there was no greater love for Sheila than if I'd given birth to her myself."

★ ★ ★

Admittedly, starting a family at age 31 has not been without its rough moments; "We've had to change a way of life established over a period of some 13 years.

DOUBTS

"And there've been days when I wonder if we did the right thing," she remarked, quickly adding, "She can be quite a handful at times."

★ ★ ★

"But you look at her," Marlene said, eyes bent on the pink frocked bundle snuggled in her arms, "And you just know she's all you ever wanted and hoped for."

Sweden Investigates Safety of 'The Pill'

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Health authorities announced today they will investigate more than 100 Swedish women who became pregnant despite using the pill.

A spokesman for the government pharmaceutical laboratory said the investigation was designed to find out if any special brand of birth-control pills was less "safe" than others.

"It is obvious that some of these women might have forgotten to take their pills," the spokesman said. "But it is also clear that in most reported cases the women who became pregnant used pills of the so-called sequence type."

Area GOP Women to Discuss Township

The West Bloomfield Republican Women's Club will meet for a mini-lunch Tuesday at the Porter Lane home of Mrs. Farrell Roberts. Mrs. Gilbert O'Gawa will lead a discussion on township government and problems.

Men's New Knits in Print Designs

The knit sport shirt has eclipsed the woven broadcloth in recent years, partly because of the stretch comfort of knits, partly due to their easy washability, partly because of the great turtleneck craze.

* * *

Most knits have been solid in color, some with piped edges, others in stripes and checks. The newest look in knits, reports "Gentlemen's Quarterly," is the printed knit shirt. Samples: an enlarged hound's-tooth and paisley medallion.

You hear people say they're made to feel as though they're imposing when they go to buy something.

They say no one will take the time to help them, and they get the feeling that the people who work in the store would be happier if there weren't any customers to bother them.

We suppose some of this is exaggeration.

We're afraid, though, that a lot of it is true.

The only thing we know for sure is that in our 38 years in the men's wear business we've been telling our employes that Osmun's has to have something to offer besides clothing.

You can get clothing anywhere.

Even the great selection of famous brands that we boast about can be duplicated by anyone who wants to go to the effort.

We have no control over that.

What we do have control over is how you're treated when you're in an Osmun's store. And whether or not you wind up punchy from trying to get help.

Do we have time to wait on you?

That's our only excuse for being here.

we know there are other men's stores in town

Three of our stores are open evenings 'til 9: Tel-Twelve Mall (Telegraph and 12 Mile in Southfield), Tech-Plaza Center (12 Mile and Van Dyke in Warren), and Tel Huron Center (Telegraph and Huron in Pontiac). Our downtown Pontiac store is open Friday evenings 'til 9. Look around. Bring your Osmun's or Security Chargecard, your Michigan or Midwest Bankard, or money, if you like. Osmun's

Proceeds from Saturday's fashion show and luncheon at Spring Lake Country Club, sponsored by Psi chapter, Sigma Beta sorority, will be donated to research into the cause, control and cure of cystic fibrosis. This local six-year-old sleeps in a dense mist of water mixed with a solution of propylene glycol. The equipment is on loan from the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Sorority Luncheon Will Help Research

A benefit luncheon and fashion show at Spring Lake Country Club Saturday at 12:30 p.m. will raise funds for research into the crippling childhood disease, cystic fibrosis.

Sponsored by Psi chapter, Sigma Beta Sorority, the fashions will be from Lisbeth's of Birmingham.

The National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation was formed in 1955 with the goal of broadening the scope of public education and information and to stimulate local programs of care and service for families of affected children, plus research studies.

In 1961 the Foundation instituted a network of regional centers for care, research and teaching. There are now 40 such centers in teaching hospitals of leading medical schools.

The basic research program which was initiated four years later, is seeking the cause of the disease.

SOME LACK

It has been thought that children with cystic fibrosis may lack a key chemical in their makeup. Their organs secrete a thick, gluey mucus which clogs bronchial tubes, blocks the lungs and plugs the pancreatic ducts.

They have trouble breathing and in digesting food. They are dangerously susceptible to respiratory disease, bronchitis and pneumonia.

There are over 150 chapters of the foundation nationwide. Edward Knapp of Priory Lane, Birmingham is chairman of the Pontiac unit which meets every third Friday evening.

★ ★ ★

Tickets for the show may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Jerry McKay of Edgefield Drive or Mrs. Michael Clever of Rochester.

Oakland Choir Returns

The Oakland Singers of Oakland University will present a free public concert in Dodge Hall auditorium on campus at 8:15 p.m. Saturday to wind up their first out-of-state tour.

The select mixed concert choir of 32 voices presents works emphasizing chamber choral literature taken from the various periods of composition. All members are students at the University.

In their first tour beyond state lines, the group is presenting a series of 12 concerts throughout Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and southern Michigan. The major work on the program is Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms."

OTHER WORKS

Other works being performed on the March 2-8 tour include "Super Flumina Babylonis" by Palestrina, "O Freude uber Freud" by Eccard, "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs" by Graun, "Hospodi Pomilui" by von Lvov, "Reincarnation" by Barber, Sonata No. 1 in E minor by Handel, and Ballads for Soprano and Guitar.

The tour itinerary includes concerts in Portland, Greenville, and Three Oaks; Michigan City, Manchester College, and Fort Wayne, Ind.; Oak Park and Riverside, Ill.; and Definance, Ohio.

Try Elastic Strip

DEAR POLLY — Doris can fix those sweaters that are too large around the bottom by threading a darning needle with thread-sized elastic, then sewing through the bottom band of the sweater. Try the sweater on and tie the elastic so the sweater is comfortable yet tighter around the lower edge.

If she wants to draw it in still more, she can run another thread of elastic up about an inch from the first one. This also works for wrist bands.— S. D.

DEAR POLLY — I do not know how Doris can shrink her sweater to make it fit better around the waist but I do know something that will work even better. Sew up the side seams. Pin up the sides as much as you want to sew them. Stretch the fabric as you sew and use longer stitches than usual.

When finished the stitches will contract and you will have a nice-fitting sweater. Be sure to finish the cut-off seams of the sweater with the zigzag stitch on your machine so they will not ravel. — JEANNIE

Drama Next at Avon Playhouse

An original television drama by Rod Serling is the next offering of Avon Players, scheduled to open at the Playhouse on Washington Road on March 13.

As usual, the first-nighter audience is invited to an on-stage afterglow following the performance. Jan and Jack Lawson of Rochester will host this party.

"Patterns" depicts the struggle of an idealistic young executive to maintain his integrity in the mahogany - paneled jungle of a large corporation.

Presented first in January, 1955, it was repeated, due to popular demand, in February of the same year. Later, Serling adapted it for the movies. Van Heflin and Ed Begley played the leading roles.

In the Avon production, Dave Holderness will play the Heflin role of Fred Staples, Vic Zink is Ramsey and Jim McCarthy plays Sloan.

PRODUCTION STAFF

Dick McGowan, who directed the first Players production in 1947, (The Male Animal) is directing the show. Nancy McCully is producer; Beth Hoheisel, set design, Bill Whitaker, stage manager; Clark Quinn, sound; Skip McCully, lighting; Virginia Miller, costumes; Joyce Capona, props; and Pat Puchalla, makeup.

Doris Zink of Kingstree Court is ticket chairman. The box office at 100 East University Drive will be open each Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mail orders may be addressed to Avon Players, P. O. Box 332, Rochester, Mich. 48063.

Additional performances are scheduled March 14, 15, 16, 20, 21 and 22. Curtain times are 8:30 p.m. week nights; 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Spoke Vows Saturday

Crippen-Zimmerman

Former Pontiac Consumers Power home economist, Barbara Doris Zimmerman, was wed Saturday to Donald J. Crippen in Puritan Heights Evangelical Lutheran Church. She is the daughter of Mrs. Doris E. Zimmerman.

The couple will live in Troy.

Van Strien-Holt

Battle Creek's First Baptist Church was the setting for Saturday vows uniting Virginia Holt of Williams Street and Paul Van Strien of Battle Creek.

A grey two piece ensemble was chosen by the bride who asked her sister, Mrs. Raymond Leach to be her attendant. Mr. Leach was best man for the bridegroom. A trip to the west coast is planned by the bride, daughter of Mrs. Estella Wood of Farmington, and her husband.

Stokes-Sherk

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Sherk of West Colgate Avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Charles G. Stokes, Saturday. He is the son of Jesse Stokes of Norfolk, Va.

Meeting Tonight

Slides on Mammoth Cave and information on rock collecting in the south will highlight tonight's meeting of the Petoskey Stone Club. The event takes place at 7:30 p.m. in the CAI building.

Fancy Fixtures Gain Popularity

★ ★ ★

Colored fixtures are still popular and many homes have one white bathroom and others in color. Also, decorated fixtures with flowers, fruits, etc., are gaining fans. Shades of great-grandmother!

General purpose cleaners are fine for most jobs. But not for cleaning toilet bowls. They don't deodorize, sanitize, and remove rust stains like Sno-Bol.

Liquid Sno-Bol cleans in seconds while it deodorizes and sanitizes. It's faster and more efficient than any dry bowl cleaner. You can pour Sno-Bol full strength to remove rust stains and calcium deposits. And it works better and costs less than other leading bowl cleaners.

U.S. Debut for Music of Hans Henze

Hans Werner Henze will conduct the first U.S. performances of his own "Ariosi for Mezzo Soprano, Violin, and Orchestra" at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra concerts Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Both concerts will be given in Ford Auditorium beginning at 8:30 p.m.

The noted composer-conductor will be making his first appearances as a guest conductor with the Symphony.

DEBUT

Ivanka Myhal also will make her debut with the Symphony as the vocal soloist in the "Ariosi." The violin solo line of the same work will be performed by Symphony concertmaster Gordon Staples.

Henze's program, which will be the same on both evenings, also will include the first Detroit performances of his own "Telemanniana." The work, written in 1967 for the Berlin Philharmonic, was given a U.S. premiere by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Henze's direction last month.

* * *

The Brahms Symphony No. 4 will be the concluding work of the program.

Henze is one of the most performed and highly regarded of German composers to emerge since World War II. Several of his operas are in the current repertory of major European opera houses.

Ivanka Myhal, who is a mezzo-soprano, toured the United States last year as a member of the Metropolitan Opera Studio Ensemble. She has performed with the Canadian Opera Company, the Stratford (Ontario) Shakespearean Company, and in CBC-TV opera productions. Though born in the Ukraine, she has lived most of her life in Fort William, Ont.

Rochester Pair Speaks Vows at St. Philip's

Rochester's St. Philip's Episcopal Church was the setting for recent vows exchanged by Patricia Lynn Schwartz and Randy Floyd Hines.

Parents of the couple, later feted at a reception in the VFW Hall, are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Schwartz of Rochester and the Floyd J. Hineses of Michaelson Street, Avon Township.

The couple honeymooned in northern Michigan.

Add a few drops of olive oil to the water when washing chamois gloves, also add it to each rinse water you take the gloves through. It prevents them from becoming hard and stiff and prolongs their beauty and wearability.

Flower Talk

The Butterfly Weed

Have you ever been walking in a meadow and noticed a bunch of lovely flowers which were very beautiful. More than likely you saw the lovely butterfly weed. It is the handsomest member of the Milkweed family with brilliant light orange or orange-yellow flowers, in erect flat-topped clusters at the termination of the branches.

The juice from this milkweed is not milky, however, it is the only flower of its family that is not like this. It is a very common flower of the south and grows in dry fields everywhere.

Nixon Sees Cool-Down as Soviets Avoid Showdown

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — President Nixon is placing broad hopes for a cooling off of international crises on Soviet interest in avoiding a nuclear showdown with the United States.

Vietnam, Berlin and the Middle East are potential flashpoints where the Kremlin may likely to be followed by an East-West summit.

On Berlin, he said "the Soviet Union will use its influence to cool off the situation rather than heat it up" because Moscow does not want to jeopardize U.S.-Soviet progress on other items.

On Vietnam, he contended the Kremlin was under pressure to aid Hanoi because of Moscow's rivalry with Peking. But the Soviets helped on Paris peace talks arrangements and would like to use their influence to end the war, he said.

And on the Middle East, he reported encouraging talks with the Soviets looking toward a Big Four parley.

"Let's face it," he added, "without the Soviet Union's cooperation the Mideast is going to continue to be a terribly dangerous area."

Nixon used his broadest brush at the end of his 56-minute account in portraying a tie-in between progress on international political issues and progress on missile talks between the superpowers.

★ ★ ★

"I think their interests and ours would not be served by simply going down the road on strategic arms talks without, at the same time, making progress on resolving these political differences that could explode," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Even assuming our strategic arms talks were successful, freezing arms at their present level, we would have a very devastating war . . .

★ ★ ★

"Our attitude is very conciliatory, and I must say that in our talks with the Soviet Ambassador, I think that they are thinking along this line now, too."

News Analysis

prefer a peacemaking role, Nixon said in voicing "cautious conclusions" at a Tuesday night news conference devoted entirely to foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

"The Soviet Union recognizes that if these peripheral areas get out of control, that the result could be a confrontation with the United States," he said.

★ ★ ★

"And the Soviet Union does not want a confrontation with the United States, anymore than we want one with them, because each of us knows what a confrontation would mean."

SOVIETS AMBIVALENT

There is room for plenty of argument about the Kremlin-peacemaking theory, as Nixon himself acknowledged in saying Soviet policy is ambivalent on Vietnam and the Middle East. He noted the billions of dollars worth of Soviet arms supplied to Hanoi and Arab states.

★ ★ ★

Some U.S. diplomats maintain Moscow is pushing harder than it has to on Berlin. They see the Kremlin leadership as divided between hard and soft-liners with unpredictable and thus dangerous results. They rate Anatoly F. Dobrynin, the Soviet Ambassador to Washington who has been the main Soviet contact so far with the new President and Secretary of State, as likely to stress the Kremlin's more pleasing face to Washington.

★ ★ ★

Nonetheless Nixon sounded an optimistic theme about the Russians throughout news conference questions ranging around the globe and into nuclear disarmament.

★ ★ ★

Court Hears Testimony on Proposals for State Bar Reform

LANSING (AP) — The legal profession in Michigan — under recent attack for alleged misconduct in some areas—began taking a look Tuesday at the cause for alarm.

The Supreme Court heard testimony in a hearing on proposals to reform grievance and disciplinary measures of the Michigan Bar Association.

* * *

Rep. Thomas G. Sharpe, R-Howell, presented the court a copy of what he said was one of the many letters he received from citizens concerned about legal practices. He said a practice by the bar of classifying such letters confidential tends to scare off complaints.

Many of those letters, Sharpe said, were imprinted with the legend: "Confidential: "This communication and the file concerned must be kept strictly confidential under penalty of contempt under the rules of the Supreme Court governing the State Bar."

'FRIGHTENS COMPLAINANTS'

Sharpe told the six justices present that the notation on letters written to the state bar tended to frighten complaining citizens.

"People believe they can't tell because they'd put them in jail," said Sharpe.

* * *

"It was in Sharpe's district—Howell and Livingston County—that a case arose to give impetus to the current probe.

Articles written by James Turner, publisher of "Today" magazine, attacked the proceedings of the Livingston County Probate Court. Turner was charged with contempt of court and tried before visiting Washtenaw County Circuit Court Justice James Breakey.

UNDER INVESTIGATION

Subsequently, a Livingston lawyer, Martin Lavan, came under investigation for his part in at least one probate court case. Lavan, however, offered medical testimony that he was too ill to appear in court. Meanwhile, he continued to practice law, Sharpe said.

* * *

The legal profession in Livingston County, said Sharpe, has since been under a "black cloud" because of what he called "grave injustice by the state bar" and an outbreak of "Blackstone flu," apparently a relative of blue flu which sometimes afflicts policemen.

* * *

Other testimony by representatives and officers of state and local bar groups considered two amendments the high court is asked to make in the rules of the bar association.

Gilbert H. Davis, state bar president, said the association is concerned that the legal profession "could so strangle itself" by allowing a member to evade investigation through illness.

QUESTION AT ISSUE

At issue, in questions raised by members of the court, was whether the question of legal misconduct should have public or private hearing.

Justice Paul L. Adams questioned whether "we aren't using a 16-inch rifle to shoot a mouse." He said relatively few instances of misconduct by lawyers arise.

Meanwhile, Stanley Beattie, chairman of the Detroit bar's grievance committee, told the court there were 3,737 grievance requests filed with the bar association in a recent five-year period. He said only 188 — some 5 per cent — ended in a court hearing, 658 were handled by the grievance committee and 470 of those were dismissed or resulted in a "private reprimand." The disposition of the remaining cases — more than 2,000 — was not reported.

A second amendment sought by the bar association, would establish three stages of review:

- An informal investigation by a bar committee.
- A formal, public hearing.
- A final review by a panel of three judges, appointed by the Supreme Court, to decide guilt and appropriate punishment based on evidence from the formal hearing.

* * *

The intent of the amendment was to prevent "administrative bogging down" of an investigation.

A lawyer who pleaded illness when ordered to appear before a bar committee should face suspension of his license to practice during his illness, said Charles Joiner, dean of the Wayne State University Law School.

Chief Justice Thomas E. Brennan asked lawyers at one point if the court might not establish its own investigative procedure. Several replied they hoped such a move was not necessary.

Jailing Cost Shift Asked

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) —Kent County Controller Leonard Andrus recommends that Kent County require cities and villages to pay the full cost of keeping prisoners in the county jail.

Citing an opinion from the attorney general, Andrus said state law requires cities and villages to pay the full cost of boarding prisoners being detailed for violating local ordinances.

* * *

Andrus had reported earlier it costs $4.11 a day for each prisoner, but villages and cities within Kent County are paying about 34 cents per prisoner.

LANSING (AP) — B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, has been elected president of the Midwest Association of State Departments of Agriculture. He succeeds Russel Schwandt, former commissioner of the Minnesota Agriculture Department.

Fate of Spain's Education Reform Plan Is in Doubt

MADRID (AP) — Spain's bright new dream plan of educational reform, first in more than a century, may be too little, too late and too slow.

"The kids are politically oriented," said one source close to student movements and feeling. "They want nothing less than the overthrow of Gen. Francisco Franco's regime. More than that, the hard core wants the overthrow of capitalism. They will be satisfied with nothing less."

★ ★ ★

"I think it might have worked as late as 18 months ago," said another authority who can talk to students without shouting across a generation gap. "Now it's too late."

The plan may be too slow because the Spanish economy will not be able to afford all phases for many years.

BEHIND BARS

The Spanish government is hoping that with several hundred Spanish student activists behind bars as a result of the state of emergency Franco decreed Jan. 24, the nonactivist mass will be pacified.

By the best sources available, prior to the January arrests there were about 720 hard-core university activists, most of them in the Universities of Madrid, Barcelona and Valencia.

By the definition of this estimate, a student activist is willing to risk expulsion or prison. A knowledgeable source calculates there were 350 at the University of Madrid before Jan. 24. They had about 700 followers, sympathizers who were not willing to risk so much. Enrollment at Madrid is 35,975.

About 9,000 of the rest of the students are comparatively disengaged, most of them dedicated to one or another of the sciences. Off-campus students, those who study at home and appear only for examinations, number about 8,700. They, too, are to a great extent removed from the campus hubbub.

RANK AND FILE

This leaves about 17,300 of the rank and file. A student observer of competence said these youths disliked the government, particularly its police, somewhat more than they distrusted the activist fringe.

The picture is much the same at the University of Barcelona, which has an enrollment of 13,665. The activists number 175 and their followers 350. At Valencia, with a 5,967 enrollment, activists are estimated at 50 and the followers at around 100.

★ ★ ★

The rallying cry for the student rebellion used to be student unions free of government interference. When Jose Luis Villar Palasi became minister of education, he granted freedom to organize student associations registered. Of them 20 were sports associations and the rest mostly for foreign students.

★ ★ ★

Force and pressure have not worked. A student authority said that at one time Spain used its compulsory military service to discipline student activists. He estimates that from 500 to 1,000 were suddenly drafted and sent off to service in Africa or the Canary Islands.

★ ★ ★

The question remains now, will the arrest of 600 student leaders calm the campuses? Will reform plans work? Many observers think they will not.

Painting Bought in Junk Shop Said to Be Van Gogh

LONDON (AP) — A painting bought by an Italian journalist for $108 in a London junk shop was tentatively identified Tuesday as a Van Gogh.

But before it's official, said one art expert, the identification will have to be approved by the Dutch Office for Historical Art Works in The Hague which is compiling the definitive Van Gogh catalogue.

Grosso bought the painting because he noticed it was signed Vincent, Van Gogh's first name. It shows a peasant woman stooping in front of a cottage. Art experts said it was painted about 1884 when Van Gogh was still in Holland.

Biafran Tribe Follows Its Moses Away From Promised Land

Each step took them farther away from their promised land — their own homes.

* * *

"We are tired of moving now," said the leader of the group, a handsome, bearded man of 30 named Moses T. Gbaranwi.

Gbaranwi and his people are Riverines, a Biafran tribe historically related to the predominant Ibos. They live in a refugee camp in this dusty village north of the front lines at Owerri. Their food comes from international relief agencies and from what their men can earn working at odd jobs.

Their plight is that of hundreds of thousands of refugees.

Sixty thousand Riverines fled from the town of Ogoni to Port Harcourt, 35 miles away, when fighting between the Nigerians and the rebellious Biafrans came dangerously close last April. When the federal Nigerians forces moved into Port Harcourt, the Riverines wanted to move again, and those with Moses chose him as their leader and spiritual guide. Moses, an elementary schoolteacher, led them from Port Harcourt 25 miles to Etche. The fighting moved close again and he took them 40 miles to Eberi.

* * *

Then Owerri became a battleground. Late last September the Riverines made their two-day march to Egbelu.

Five people died, bringing the number who had perished since Port Harcourt to more than 100. They succumbed to malnutrition, disease and to the crossfires of battle.

BIBLE READINGS

During the journey, Moses read to his people from a Bible.

"I even performed two marriages," he said. Most of the wanderers were baptised on the way whenever they passed missionaries.'

They slept where they could.

"When we came across a big, shaded tree, we would be as happy as if we had found a nice building," said Moses.

The group is relatively well off now, with the relief food reducing malnutrition.

* * *

The camp has a school building for feeding and medical care. The people still live mainly under the trees but have some palm and thatch huts and even a few tents built.

The group is donated by the Caritas relief agency.

* * *

The tents were rushed in recently when the Riverines had yet another stroke of ill luck. A careless cook let a fire get out of control, and it destroyed the first set of huts the people had built.

Europeans Up U.S. Purchases

Americans Buy Less Abroad Due to Limits

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP) — Americans are not buying up quite so much of Europe these days. Europeans are buying up more of the United States.

This trend has emerged from the limits the United States has imposed on foreign investment by U.S. firms, and from an extended burst of interest on the part of moneyed Europeans in buying American securities.

* * *

Europeans worried about the "American challenge" often point out that Americans control half of Britain's auto industry and two-fifths of the farm machinery production in France. They may be less aware of the huge orders for American stocks Europeans have been placing with American brokers.

On balance, Europeans own more of America than Americans own of Europe. Figures of the U.S. Commerce Department, covering the year 1967, but total American assets and investments in Western Europe at $35 billion. West European assets and investments in the United States came to $41 billion.

DIFFERENT STYLES

Europeans and Americans have different styles of investing. Americans prefer direct investment, doing business themselves. Europeans like indirect investment, buying stocks and bonds.

* * *

When U.S. citizens buy up European assets, it is usually done by a big American firm taking over a majority interest in an existing European firm. For example, General Motors has long owned one of the big German auto manufacturers, Opel. In more recent years, General Electric has taken over the one big French computer firm, Bull.

* * *

Other U.S. enterprises have just plunged directly into European business by building their own plants or buying into those of others. This has been done—for example—by Continental Oil Co., the Joseph Schlitz breweries and J. C. Penney.

This movement appears to be slowing down. Thirteen months ago President Lyndon B. Johnson sharply cut the amount of money Americans could take out of their country for investment abroad. Another regulation required that most of the money earned in foreign countries by American firms be brought home.

'NOT GROWING'

Figures for 1968 are not yet available, but U.S. officials are convinced that new American investments in Western Europe, while still large, are no longer growing. The money needed now must be taken largely from earnings that can be kept in Europe, and new funds that can be borrowed there.

Europeans, on the other hand, are starting to take more interest in going directly into business in the United States, despite the American business community's reputation for efficiency and ferocity in competition. In 1967 new direct investment in the United States rose more than $1 billion to nearly $10 billion. About one-quarter of the total is Canadian, but the rest comes almost entirely from Europe.

U. of Mississippi Growing Marijuana for Research

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi has a unique agricultural enterprise — marijuana farming.

University of Mississippi scientists call their crop the first step of a complex research project financed by the National Institute of Mental Health of Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Norman J. Doorenbos, chairman of the Department of Pharmacognosy, said the need for marijuana research was vital.

He said, "Up until now, all we've had is contraband material confiscated by Bureau of Customs and Bureau of Narcotics people. This material has had an uncertain history as to its age, origin and the variety of plant from which it came.

'DOESN'T MEAN MUCH'

"A lot of information has been published on the subject of marijuana, but it doesn't mean a whole lot because the chemical composition of the plant is not known."

The work was launched last June under a $99,800 grant.

The plant will be grown on government land in several locations, all but one secret. The exception is a small plot on the university campus.

"We realized when word of our work got out," Doorenbos said, "there would be no way to keep that one a secret. We've got it surrounded by a 10-foot supposedly unclimbable fence and we're having to keep it under constant surveillance."

UNDER SURVEILLANCE

★ ★ ★

"We're trying to get seeds from various parts of the world, not only for drug usage but fiber usage too. We want to know about varying types, growing habits and yield of all hucinogenic substances," Doorenbos said.

★ ★ ★

"We have found that the length of day enters into the type of plant produced. We've discovered that a plant sown in August is quite different from one planted in June."

Most of the work thus far has been preliminary with little planting done, because funding did not begin until last June 29.

TO SUPPLY EXTRACT

"The real work will come this spring," said Doorenbos.

The NIMH grant was made to the University's Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, which will supply extract from mature plants to three other research institutes under contract to take up the next phases of the work.

They will study how to produce synthetic marijuana, analyze smoke and similar projects.

Although the Mississippi project is unique, Doorenbos said, it is not the first legally grown marijuana in this country. During World War II some midwestern farmers grew marijuana for the fiber value under government supervision, and the agriculture department has grown modest quantities for its studies.

'Sino-Soviet Friendship Fails to Last'

By CHARLES R. SMITH

HONG KONG (UPI) — Nineteen years ago last month, Mao Tse-tung stood in the freezing air at Moscow's railway station and spoke of warm Sino-Soviet friendship.

"It will be clear to everybody that the solidarity between the Soviet and the Chinese people, consolidated by a treaty, will be everlasting, indestructible and inalienable," he said.

News Analysis

That's one remark by the Chinese Communist party chairman you won't find among all the quotations of his that are flooding China today.

When Mao spoke those friendly words, he was on a two-month visit to Moscow as guest of the late Soviet dictator, Josef Stalin.

MUTUAL DEFENSE PACT

During that visit, he and then Foreign Minister Chou En-lai negotiated a mutual defense pact, a $300-million loan since repaid and other agreements, some involving long-disputed territorial claims.

On Feb. 17, 1950, three days after signing a 30-year treaty of "friendship, alliance and mutual aid," Mao ended his first trip outside China with those warm words of friendship.

In less than 10 years, the "indestructible" friendship of which Mao spoke began to turn sour.

At first, both Mao and Stalin's successor, former Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khruschev, tried to keep the steadily souring relations a quiet, private affair.

RIFT TOO WIDE

But the rift grew too wide. It broke into the open at the start of the 1960s. Today, China ranks the Soviet Union alongside the United States as one of her main antagonists.

The battle that erupted between Russian and Red Chinese troops last Sunday over a disputed river island on the Sino-Siberian border shows how deep the differences between the two countries have become.

Milliken Names 2 to Crime Staff

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has announced the appointment of Michigan State Police Capt. Raymond H. McConnell and former Detroit police inspector Bernard G. Winckoski to major staff positions on the Michigan Commission on Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice.

★ ★ ★

McConnell was named program manager for organized crime control and Winckoski was appointed program manager for the police services and public protection.

Big Canada Hydroelectric Project Progressing

CHURCHILL FALLS, Nfld. (AP) — Construction men call it "turning off the faucet." Prime Minister Pierre Elliot Trudeau says it is "like the catacombs, only a lot more useful."

The company in charge of Canad's $950 million Churchill Falls hydroelectric project calls it "the engineering feat of the century."

Begun in 1967 and scheduled for completion in 1972, the project costs twice as much as the St. Lawrence Seaway. It will result in more than 90 dams forming a reservoir on the Labrador Plateau half the size of Lake Ontario and 1,008 feet deep, spinning 11 giant turbines in the largest underground powerhouse in the world.

The turbines will churn out 6.6 million horsepower, equal to 30 per cent of Canada's total hydroelectric generation in 1965. Most of this output already has been contracted for by Quebec and Newfoundland.

SPELLS DOOM

The project also spells doom for scenic Churchill Falls in Bowdoin Canyon.

"Every gallon of water that goes over the falls is power and money lost. I'd say there will be no water going over the falls," said Bill Therriault of Montreal, one of the senior engineers.

Therriault and others in charge of the project are veterans of resource developments in Australia, South America, Africa and the United States. They're in the big league of heavy construction, not easily impressed, but all are excited about 1969. They call it the "year of the big push."

This year they hope to complete the underground turbine room, 1,000 feet below the earth's surface with a floor area equal to New York's Grand Central Station—1,000 feet long, 76 feet wide and 150 feet high. Also slated for completion are the huge tailrace tunnels, 45 by 60 feet and a mile long.

Already completed is a mile-long, 27-foot subterranean roadway. It was blown out of sheer granite to handle the flow of men and excavating materials from the earth's surface to the cavern areas.

Also finished is an elevator shaft for a double-deck hoist that will be able to carry 60 persons or 12,000 pounds of equipment up the equivalent of 94 stories to the surface in 60 seconds.

Instead of one dam on the Churchill River there will be 90, each plugging a "crack" in the huge saucer of water to be stored. The main plugs will be a $7-million concrete dam on Lobstick Lake, 70 miles north of the powerhouse, and a water diversion structure at Jacopie Lake near the falls. The main dam and a small coffer dam will be completed this year.

Churchill Falls Labrador Corp. Ltd. is in charge of the all-Canadian project. There are 30 contractors currently on site, all of them Canadian firms or Canadian subsidiaries. There are expected to be 60 contractors by the end of this year, swelling the work force with dependents from 3,000 to 7,000 persons.

About half of the world's people live in Asia including some 720 million in China.

Lady Bird's Influence on LBJ Is Noted

NEW YORK (AP)—A former White House aide says Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson exercised a powerful influence on her husband's judgments and "might well turn out to be the most influential First Lady in American history."

This assessment is made by Eric F. Goldman, a Princeton University historian, in a book, "The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson." It is being published Monday by Alfred E. Knopf, Inc.

"She rarely took rigid positions or argued; as she once said in a phrase that was only half-joking, 'I infiltrate.'

'CROWNING VIRTUE'

"The infiltration was the deeper because to a man of the President's serpentine mind, nurtured in the webs of Texas politics, the crowning virtue was loyalty.

"He spoke magniloquently of the great loyalty of particular associates and he believed it, more or less. There was only one human being whose loyalty he questioned not at all."

Goldman served as special consultant to the President from December 1963, until September 1966. He says he decided to resign his White House post after a conversation in which Johnson described critics of his Vietnam policy as "knee-jerk liberals" and "crackpots." Goldman opposed the administration's Vietnam policy.

He writes that the Johnson administration was shadowed throughout by the refusal of writers and academic thinkers to regard him as a worthy successor to John F. Kennedy.

HIGH INTELLIGENCE

Goldman says Johnson was a man of the highest intelligence, but deprived of intellectual depth by inadequate schooling of his Texas youth.

"After years of meeting first-rate minds in and out of universities," Goldman says, "I am sure I have never met a more intelligent person than Lyndon Johnson—intelligent in terms of sheer IQ, a clear, swift, penetrating mind, with an abundance of its own type of imagination and subtleties.

"The point is that little had happened to fill or to stretch this mind.

"The high school Lyndon Johnson attended, Johnson City High School, was so bad it lacked accreditation even by the lax standards of its region.

'WATERY PEDANTRY'

"Southwest Texas State Teachers College taught a watery pedantry...

"Little in this education suggested to Lyndon Johnson that once out of college, he ought to read books, travel, seek out interesting minds, try to keep up with new trends, shake himself out of Johnson City and into the later 20th century.

"Uncomfortable in the bigger world, engrossed in his political career, he had no personal urge to do these things.

"The powerful minds was feeding on small fare. The grown man came to the White House with a grab bag of facts and nonfacts, conceptions and misconceptions, ways of thinking and ways to avoid thought which had been gathered largely from his early . . . environment."

Tigers' Gator—Majors' Pinch Hitter Deluxe

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla. — Crackers and gatorade has been the diet for Gates Brown since he reported to Lakeland a week ago and his weight has dropped from 242 to 230.

"Need to get to about 225, then I'll be ready," said the Gator, who last year became the most prolific pinch hitter in Detroit Tiger history.

Brown, who often commented last season that he hoped he would get picked in the expansion draft so that he could earn a regular position with another club, admitted he was upset in the late stages of 1968 after the Tigers had clinched the pennant.

★ ★ ★

"Sure I was mad," he said. "We had the big lead, we had the pennant clinched and I still wasn't getting to play."

MEMORABLE AT BAT

In his first pinch hitting assignment last April 11 against Boston, he slugged a home run off John Wyatt to give the Tigers a 4-3 victory in the bottom of the ninth.

His final pinch hitting role, the 49th of the season, came Spetember 28th against Washington when he was walked intentionally.

When he finished with 38 official at bats as a pinch hitter for a .412 average, his hits included three homers, six doubles and a triple.

ROOMIE ON WAY

"I hear Willie (Horton) is on his way down," he said at the batting cage yesterday. "Here he is my roommate, holding out for $100,000 and I'm happy to get my salary doubled to $22,000," he laughed.

Asked if he thought he could take the left field job away from Horton if the Tiger slugger continued his holdout, Gates said, "Well, Willie and me are good friends and roommates on the road . . . but one slip and the Gator's gonna be nippin."

LIKES NEW RULE

Naturally, as the deluxe pinch hitter of baseball in 1968, Brown likes the experimental rule which will be used in exhibition games, one that will have the same pinch hitter coming to bat for the pitcher each time during the game.

"Sure, for someone like me that's a good rule," he said, "but they're not going to use it during the season. I'd rather be playing regular. With my record I think I could be playing regular somewhere."

BRIEF JOB

Brown did hold down the regular left field spot in 1964 when he batted .272, had 15 homers and 54 rbi's plus 22 doubles.

★ ★ ★

The following year he was moved into a pinch role and has stayed there since as his roommate proceeded to win and hold the position.

DIET TORTUROUS

Brown said his diet is torture and that his roommate, rookie Ron Woods, a slender 5-foot-10 170-pounder, is no help.

★ ★ ★

"That Woods, he just eats and eats and eats. Hamburgers, french fries and milkshakes all the time, and he doesn't gain a pound. He's killin' me. When I get down to 225, I'm gonna spend one whole day just eatin," Brown laughed.

FIRST GAME

★ ★ ★

The batters pounded the hurlers, starting with Joe Sparma, who gave up two singles, a double, a triple and a walk to the first seven batters.

MATCHICK SHARP

★ ★ ★

"Oh boy, he's got power," Sparma said of Derrick. "He sure connects solid."

Another intra-squad game is planned for today with each of the remaining pitchers going 15 minutes.

Manager Mayo Smith will then pick his three pitchers who will share the assignment Friday afternoon in the exhibition opener against the Pirates in Bradenton.

Chiefs Scuttle Kettering in Area Tourney Debut

By JERE CRAIG

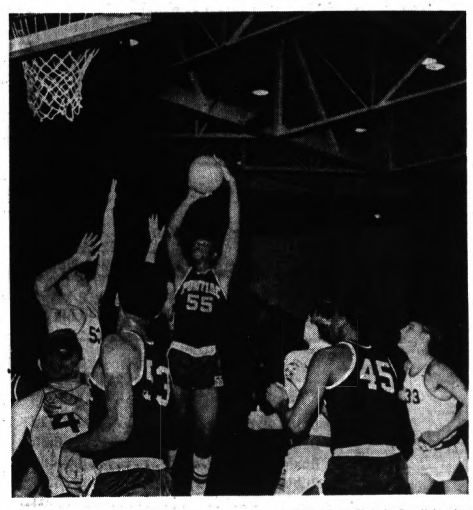
Northern's host Huskies and WTHS meet for the right to face Pontiac Central's Chiefs in Friday night's championship contest and it isn't an enviable goal.

PCH Tuesday night erupted for one of its most decisive tournament victories in the school's bright cage history, belting Waterford Kettering, 92-55, to equal the highest output by any Central tournament team.

The 37-point victory margin is only exceeded by a 48-point edge against Birmingham Groves and a 42-point spread over Southfield in the first district game ever played by PCH.



Pontiac Press Photo by Ron Unternahrer

MISSES EASY ONE — Monte Herring (55) of Pontiac Central goes high to send a shot toward the basket early in the second half last night against Kettering in the Pontiac Northern Class A district tournament. It was off target, however. His teammates Campy Russell (45), Anthony Styles (13) and Jerry Ratliff (53) scramble to get in position for the rebound. WKHS players are Bob Gratz (jumping under the basket) Ross Evans (behind Herring), Terry Weiss (33), Jack Powell (blocking out Ratliff) and Bob Spraker in front of Russell).

FOUR IN ROW

It is the fourth straight winter that the Chiefs have ousted WKHS in district play, the preceding three all coming in title games. Last March PCH won by only 68-62.

But no such thriller was in store for the fans last night.

While both clubs shot at near the 50 per cent level in the opening half and Kettering actually had a slight rebounding edge on the taller, more aggressive Chiefs, the Captains' turnovers soon put them out of contention.

After Dave Powell's layup earned Kettering a 2-2 tie, the Chiefs ran off eight straight points and never were challenged. WKHS reduced the gap to 10-6, but nine misplays by the Captains' prevented them from keeping up to the Chiefs' scoring pace.

BIG SPREE

It was 21-12 at the buzzer, and Central promptly hit the first nine points of the second quarter and an 8-for-11 shooting spree during the first 3:45 of the period made it 38-14 as the reserves came off the bench.

By the intermission, when PCH led 49-30, Kettering had given up the basketball 14 times without a shot while PCH had 7 turnovers at that point. This difference accounted for most of the winners' 16 more shots and 8 more buckets in the opening half.

In the last half both coaches substituted often after PCH sprinted to a 62-34 bulge. The lead reached 40 points at least twice.

Central outshot the losers, 17-9, from the field and managed a 33-26 rebounding edge in the final 16 minutes. Campy Russell pulled down 9 of his 13 retrieves in the third quarter. He also had 9 of his points during that span.

EARLY SCORING

Monte Herring's 11 markers and substitute Larry Walker's 9 highlighted the PCH attack in the first two quarters. Herring notched his other 7 in the final quarter. He led the Chiefs with 18, and also had 8 rebounds.

The winners (14-3) again showed strong depth in topping the 90 mark for the fifth time. Five players were in double figures and nine figured in the scoring.

Central has only been held under the 75 mark three times all year. The win was the Chiefs' 11th straight in district tournament play since their lone loss in 22 district tournament games. That happened in 1963 at the hands of host PNH, the only time the Chiefs have ever played three games in district competition.

Kettering had two performers net 15 points for it in concluding a dismal 4-13 season. Senior Dave Powell and Mark Goodman each scored five baskets and five free throws.

Powell also pulled down eight rebounds and Rick Colonna had nine as they battled hard against the high-leaping Chiefs. The Captains totaled 26 turnovers to Central's 14.

BLOWS LAYUP — Kettering's Rick Colonna (55) has too much muscle on his bid for a breakaway layup in the first half and he misses the easy two-pointer. Pontiac Central's Clayton Burch (21), Waverly Jones (43) and Larry Walker trail the shooter.

Brother Rice Squeaks Past Fired-Up Seaholm Quintet

Birmingham Seaholm's underdog Maples charged at Birmingham Brother Rice six times in the second half Tuesday night but could never clear the big hurdle and dropped a 69-64 Class A Tournament decision to the Warriors.

Brother Rice (13-5), who posted its first district tournament win in its history last March and drove all the way to the state quarter-finals, thus qualifies to meet Clawson (6-11) in the district semifinal twin bill Thursday night at Seaholm.

Bloomfield Hills Andover (13-3) will clash with Birmingham Groves (4-12) in the other pairing.

The Warriors built a 13-9 lead in the first eight minutes of action last night. Star guard Don MacAloon reeled off six straight points to start the second period and they led, 19-9.

With Mike Biallas contributing some key points and teaming with Mike McGill to control the backboards, Brother Rice upped its advantage to 33-16 before Seaholm scored the final eight points in the opening half.

After the intermission, the Maples (5-10) reduced the lead to two points six times, the last coming at 54-52 with 6:05 left on the clock. Jim Hagen hit 15 of his high-game 28 points after the rest break.

STAYS IN FRONT

However, Brother Rice's backboard strength—it had a 45-27 edge in rebounds as Biallas nabbed 11 and McGill 9—and superior shooting—hitting 25 baskets at a 40 per cent clip to the losers' 32 per cent for 20 buckets—enabled it to remain in front.

MacAloon's 17 markers paced the winners who had all five starters score in double figures.

Late Surges Aid Romeo, Lake Orion

Utica, Mott on Sidelines in Tourney

Lake Orion and Romeo, two high-ranking Oakland A League finishers who perhaps benefitted from title-winning Rochester's Monday lesson, survived scares last night in district cage action.

Orion's Dragons, runners-up to Rochester, pulled away from Utica in the late going for a 63-51 triumph in the Class A eliminations at Utica Stevenson.

Class B Romeo spurted in the closing minutes to oust upset-minded Waterford Mott, 59-51, at Rochester. The Bulldogs (12-6 now) tied for third in the O-A race while independent Mott ends with a 5-12 log.

Utica (2-15) tried to emulate cross-town rival Stevenson (3-14) who eliminated Rochester's Falcons in the "A" opener by handing them only their second defeat of the season.

HEAVILY FAVORED

Lake Orion's 13-2 record and four wins in a row over Utica's Chieftains in the past two campaigns made it a heavy favorite. But the taller Dragons could only manage a 41-40 margin after three periods.

However, 6-foot-5 Paul Bailey and 6-foot-7 Gary Mize combined for 12 points in the final period and the Dragons broke loose for a 22-11 advantage.

Mize scored 14 in the game and Bailey hit 13. Front court running mate Don Upton led the victors with 18. Robin Dilday wrapped up his bright Utica career with 23 points. Orion had a 27-17 superiority from the floor.

It advances to Saturday's district final against Troy-Stevenson winner tomorrow night. Romeo, meanwhile, will meet the West Bloomfield-Oxford survivor in Saturday's Rochester "B" finale.

The Bulldogs opened with a 12-6 lead over Mott who retaliated by outscoring them, 33-28, in the middle sessions.

HOSPITAL PALS — Detroit Lions football star Earl McCullouch autographs a football for a fellow patient, Douglas Hurley, 14, at Orthopedic Hospital in Los Angeles where the Detroit ace recently had his broken wrist repaired. McCullouch, NFL rookie of the year in 1968, injured his wrist in an exhibition game and played the entire season unaware it was broken. The wrist is expected to take a couple of months to mend.

Purdue Wins, 116-87

Mount Wrecks U-M

CHICAGO (AP)—Rick Mount matched his all-time high at Purdue with a 45-point outburst Tuesday night to lead the Big Ten champion Boilermakers to a 116-87 swamping of Michigan.

Purdue, ranked sixth in the final Associated Press poll, takes a 19-4 over-all record and 12-1 conference mark into Saturday's windup of the regular season against invading Indiana (4-9).

* * *

Mount needs to score 22 points in the finale to total 475 in Big Ten play and beat the conference record for a 14-game schedule of 474 set by Ohio State's Gary Bradds in 1964.

Purdue's 19-4 record is the most victories for a Boilermaker team in history. The 116 points run up against Michigan equaled the school and arena records.

HIGHEST AVERAGE

* * *

In the battle for second place in the Big Ten race, Illinois and Ohio State remained locked with 8-5 marks. Northwestern (6-7) is at Illinois and Michigan (7-6) is at Minnesota (5-8) to complete the slate.

Dave Scholz tallied 26 points in leading Illinois over Michigan State 71-57. Scholze has totaled 1,451 points for a school career record, topping the 1,449 set by Don Freeman in 1966.

Jim Cleamons netted 37 points and Dave Sorenson added 29 as Ohio State overpowered Indiana 108-86.

GREATEST NIGHT

Northwestern's 15-foot shot in the last four seconds was good for a 72-70 triumph over Wisconsin. Dale Kelley was high for the Wildcats with 25 points while Jim Johnson led the Badgers with 28.

Almont Posts Tourney Win

Raiders Now Await Date With Dryden

Almont earned a shot at avenging its surprise defeat by arch-rival Dryden when it upended Memphis Tuesday night, 71-63, in the opening games of the Class D district at Port Huron High School.

The win was the Raiders' third straight this winter over Memphis, a Southern Thumb League rival, in an 8-9 campaign to date. Memphis finishes at 5-14.

Dryden, who handed Almont a 77-65 beating last Friday, will take a 2-12 into their district semifinal rematch. Earlier, the Raiders dropped the Cardinals, 93-75.

Peck defeated Anchor Bay Catholic, 65-44, last night for its 16th win and will meet Marine City Holy Cross in Thursday's other semifinal encounter.

John Bacholzky dropped in 23 points and Carmen Alampi 15 to pace Almont's successful outing last night. Memphis was down by only one entering the last quarter, but Almont held the Yellow Jackets to only 11 markers in the fourth session.

The winner's managed a 28-25 edge in field goals and outgunned the Memphis quintet by two at the charity stripe. Bob Thornsberry hit 18 points in a losing cause.

Kimball Halts Madison

Senior forward Jay Brown controlled the backboards and had scoring help from Fred Shellnut and Ed Peltz to send Royal Oak Kimball to an 82-68 Class A district victory over Madison Heights Lamphere Tuesday night.

Brown pulled down a school record 26 rebounds for the winning Knights (13-4) and scored 22 points while Shellnut and Peltz each netted 21 tallies as they posted their ninth straight victory on the ROK court. The 82 points is their best output since mid-December.

* * *

Brown scored eight points, Peltz seven and Shellnut six to account for all of Kimball's points in a decisive 21-11 opening period outburst. Lamphere's Rams (9-8) could never catch up.

Dan Maluzhinsky scored 10 points in the second period as they cut their deficit to 40-32, and he led all scorers with 23 markers. Teammate Bill Watson had 16.

* * *

Kimball hit 49 per cent of its shots in posting a 33-21 edge in baskets. The Knights will meet Warren Mott — an eight-point loser at ROK earlier this season — in one of Thursday's Class A semifinal games.

NEW BLOCKING TECHNIQUE — Pontiac Central's Larry Walker seems to be using his uplifted leg to keep Kettering's Rick Colonna from recovering the loose basketball Tuesday night. Jerry Ratliff (right) of PCH made the pickup before WKHS' Dave Arsen or Dave Powell (11) could move in. Clayton Burch of PCH watches at the left. Walker had his best varsity game for Central, scoring 15 points, and Ratliff finished with 14 in the Chiefs' easy victory.

Top Players Out, H. Park Easy Victim

The 6-foot-6 DeCosta missed Hazel Park's last two games with a broken finger, while the elusive star guard Merchel broke his wrist in last Friday's 78-50 loss at Southfield.

QUICK LEAD

Southfield jumped into a 21-10 lead as Dave Wieland registered 28 of his 15 points in the initial period. The losers reduced the margin to 33-26 by the intermission, and only trailed 37-33 midway through the third quarter.

But the Blue Jays then went on a 13-6 spree to insure themselves of their third victory over Hazel Park in the last five weeks.

Tribe Looks for Runmaker

By the Associated Press

Sam McDowell, who happens to be a pitcher, has a theory about why the Cleveland Indians didn't finish higher in the American League standings last year. It was not the fault of the pitchers, says pitcher McDowell.

Alvin Dark, who manages the Indians, has a hunch that Sudden Sam is right and that's why Dark's eyes—and McDowell's too—lit up Tuesday over the training camp slugging of rookie Richie Scheinblum.

Scheinblum, a perennial training camp dropout, boomed several long shots. "He looks real good," said Dark. "I'm going to play him a while and see if he can keep it up."

If he can it would certainly help McDowell's outlook. "I lost three games without an earned run being scored off me last year," said the big left-hander, who was 15-14 in 1968.

NEED RUNS

"I'm no expert," McDowell continued, "but I say what this team needs is a fellow who might hit only .120 but can get a hit with men on base to score some runs."

Scheinblum hopes he can hit more than that and provide McDowell and the other Indian hurlers with the runs they lacked last year.

★ ★ ★

Ted Williams learned a little bit Tuesday about how baseball has changed in the eight years that he's been out of the game. The new manager of the Washington Senators sat through his first intrasquad game with 14 bases on balls being issued.

"Walks always worry you," said Williams, who didn't bat .400 by waiting for four balls. "I hope it registered on our players that the walks led to runs."

Williams, who later announced the hiring of Joe Comancho as a coach, mellowed a bit later. "We're getting in shape and having fun doing it and that's what we're here for," he said.

It has been anything but fun for Baltimore's Brooks Robinson so far. Robinson was struck twice in the back by thrown balls Monday and then stopped a pitch just below his left knee in Tuesday's intrasquad game. Three other Orioles, Paul Blair, Dave Johnson and Terry Crowley, also came up with minor bumps and bruises.

"That's what we like to see," said Alston, "a daring runner."

Jerry Grote rapped two homers and a double and drove in tract signees. Alou was the last five runs in the New York Mets' Pirate to come to terms. intrasquad opener while Ed Kirkpatrick tagged a triple and a double and drove in five runs in Kansas City's final intrasquad game.

Pittsburgh's Matty Alou, the No. 2 hitter in the National League last year, led the conLouis Cardinals and catcher Bob Barton of the San Francisco Giants.

Northville '5' in 80-74 Win

Holly Applies Brakes to Losing Streak

Northville took the first step toward a possible Class B District title trophy on its home floor with an 80-74 decision over weak Dearborn Annapolis (4-13) Tuesday night.

The Mustangs raised their record to 10-8, the best among the six teams in their district, behind the strong one-two scoring of Jeff Taylor (24 points) and Ron Hubbard (22).

Down by a point at the half, Northville received 16 tallies from Hubbard and 13 from Taylor in the final half as they ran up 44 points after the rest break. It amassed a 14-point lead midway through the final quarter.

Sophomore Kerry Cushing, whose 6-foot-4 frame gives the Mustangs a much-needed height factor, came off the bench to score eight points and grab six rebounds in his varsity debut.

REBOUNDING

Taylor had 11 rebounds to pace the winners in that phase of play. LJeff Korte of Annapolis led all the scorers with 27 points, 13 of them coming in the fourth quarter.

Northville will meet Clarenceville (5-11) in Thursday's semifinal doubleheader. The other game will have Dearborn Riverside playing Lutheran West. Riverside routed Livonia Churchill last night, 99-67.

Holly shook off a three-game losing skid and posted its fifth victory in 18 starts with a lopsided 85-62 rout of Flint Atherton in other Class B tournament activity last night.

In Class C, Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows was a 59-50 loser to Dearborn St. Alphonsus.

Big 'D' Spurs Knicks Past Pistons, 102-99

By The Associated Press

Dave DeBusschere had a king-sized lump on his left temple but he was otherwise levelheaded and sound of mind when he made that statement Tuesday night in New York.

The big forward of the New York Knicks had just ruined his former Detroit teammates with 21 points in a bruising performance that enabled the Knicks to nip the Pistons 102-99 and set a club season record of 48 National Basketball Association victories.

But late in the third period he was knocked silly when he ran into an elbow tossed by Moore, Detroit's skinny 6-foot-11, 205-pound rookie. Chamberlain, the 275-pound monster of the Los Angeles Lakers, eats Moores for breakfast.

In other NBA games, Baltimore stopped Los Angeles 116-108. Chicago nipped Philadelphia 114-113; Seattle knocked off San Diego 130-116 San Francisco downed Boston 99-95, and Cincinnati blasted Phoenix 141-122.

HIT BY HAMMER

"He's really got bony elbows, doesn't he?" DeBusschere wailed after the collision that had him seeing stars for several minutes. "It was like getting hit by a hammer. At least guys like Chamberlain have some meat on them."

After time out for repairs, DeBusschere walked to the foul line, grinned at Moore and said, "Why don't you get some meat on your elbows."

It wasn't one of the Knicks' better performances of late. But they still ran their record to 30-7 since acquiring DeBusschere last December and enabled them to climb within one game of second-place Philadelphia in the NBA's Eastern Division. The 76ers lost to Chicago.

Move Near in Grid Feud

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — University of Maryland officials were expected to take a stand today in the growing controversy between Coach Bob Ward and the Terp football players who seek his ouster.

Jim Kehoe, cast in the role of mediator in a tense struggle even before he officially takes over as athletic director, called a news conference for today.

ED McMAHON says . . . Pick a Pair

Cage Honors for UCLA Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Wooden, whose mighty UCLA Bruins have won 87 of their last 88 games, today was named the college basketball Coach of the Year for 1969 by The Associated Press.

* * *

The 59-year-old Wooden thus regained the honor he lost last season to Guy Lewis of Houston after Houston had snapped UCLA's 47-game winning streak.

* * *

The defeat did not keep UCLA from going on to win the national collegiate championship, a feat which the Wooden Wonders are expected to accomplish this season for an unprecedented third straight time as a grand climax to the Lew Alcindor era.

Wooden, a native of Martinsville, Ind. and a Purdue basketball star in the early 1930s, won by a wide margin over Lou Carnesecca of St. John's of New York in the annual voting by 329 sports writers and broadcasters.

SCHMIDT THIRD

Wooden polled 113 votes to 37 for Carnesecca. Harv Schmidt of Illinois was third with 30 followed by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky with 23 and Dean Smith of North Carolina with 22.

* * *

Rounding out the top 10 were Dick Garibaldi of Santa Clara with 18, Ken Hayes of Tulsa with 16, Fred Taylor of Ohio State with nine, Frank McGuire of South Carolina with eight and Tom Gola of LaSalle with seven.

* * *

After them came Lou Henson of New Mexico State with six, Lefty Driesell of Davidson and Maurice John of Drake, five each, Russ Walseth of Colorado and Johnny Dee of Notre Dame, four each, George King of Purdue and Ted Owens of Kansas, three each.

Tied at two each were Tex Winter of Washington, Norm Stewart of Missou, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, Al McGuire of Marquette and Roy Skinner of Vanderbilt.

* * *

ONLY UNBEATEN

Wooden's UCLA team is the only major unbeaten team in the country this year with a 24-0 mark and a current winning streak of 40, including the 16 games last season after the defeat by Houston.

* * *

The Bruins have won 44 straight league games in the Pacific-8 conference and have never been beaten on their home court at Pauley Pavilion, which opened three years ago.

Denver Plays Defender Role

Hockey Playoffs Set at Two Ice Sites

DENVER (AP)— Denver University, defending NCAA hockey champions, puts its title on the line Thursday as the annual Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs get under way.

One set of playoffs will be held here with Minnesota-Duluth, Denver, North Dakota and Colorado College taking part. The other will begin Friday at Ann Arbor, Mich., with Michigan State, Michigan Tech, the regular season WCHA winner, Minnesota and Michigan competing.

* * *

Winners of the two playoffs will be probable picks for the NCAA Hockey Championships, scheduled at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 13-15.

Last year, the Pioneers won the WCHA playoffs and went on to sweep the NCAA. It's a different story this year as Michigan Tech finished on top in the WCHA with DU a close second.

"Anyone of the four teams is capable of winning our playoff," said Denver coach Murry Armstrong. "Duluth and Colorado College have the type of goaltenders who can help their teammates beat any team in the WCHA with a hot night."

EMU Advances With 99-87 Win Over Lutheran '5'

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan defeated Michigan Lutheran for the second night in a row Wednesday winning a berth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball playoffs at Kansas City next week.

* * *

EMU captain Harvey Marlatt led the Hurons to their 99 - 87 victory with 26 points, giving him a total of 53 in the two games of the District 23 NAIA playoff.

* * *

* * *

Central Wins Skiing Crown

Chiefs' Boys, Girls Teams Victorious

* * *

Both the girls and boys teams emerged with wins for the Chiefs. PCH's girls totaled 287.6 with Pontiac Catholic second at 316.7.

In the boys division, PCH set the pace with 323.1, followed by Pontiac Northern (359.7) and Pontiac Catholic (425.6).

LEADS GIRLS

Phyllis McMillen posted a time of 93.6 seconds to lead the girls. Trailing her were Ann Marie Sabato (Catholic), Connie Cuthrell (PCH), Pat Lewis (PCH), Joan Hartley (Cath) and Linda Guzman (Cath).

* * *

Bruce Clark won both slalom events and posted a time of 71.7 second to lead the boys division. Teammates Roger Bergo placed third and Doug Senpere fifth.

* * *

Cards' Unsigned List Down to 1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Julian Javier might like to make the St. Louis Cardinals a million dollar ball club, but General Manager Bing Devine would just as soon be spared the honor.

* * *

Javier, the wide-ranging second baseman, is the last player unsigned. He is due at the Cards' training camp today and is expected to quickly agree to terms, club sources indicated.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
By John Carter

What was the worst player deal ever made in the history of baseball? . . . How about this one . . . In 1920 the Boston Red Sox sent a young player to the Yankees by the name of Babe Ruth . . . Many experts agree that was the most foolish deal of all-time.

* * *

Here are amazing similarities in the five games played in college basketball by two of the greatest players of all-time, Lew Alcindor and Wilt Chamberlain . . . Chamberlain played his first varsity college game Dec. 8, 1956 and Alcindor played his first college varsity game EXACTLY 10 years later to the day — Dec. 3, 1966 . . . In their college debuts, Chamberlain and Alcindor each scored in the 50s, each missed exactly nine field goal attempts and each set a new school single - game scoring record in their first games.

* * *

INSPECT YOUR DRINKING WATER
You probably have not! Like most people we take water for granted. It's always available and as much as we want, and assume it is clean and pure. BUT . . . if you were to inspect your water very closely you would probably find SILT, RUST, SEDIMENT, SCALE PARTICLES, SAND, ALGAE, DIRT, CLOUDINESS, MOST OTHER SUSPENDED MATTER and above all . . . WORMS!
SURPRISED?? Most people would be, but it's true. They are very common in water and you drink them without knowing it. These creatures are called "nematodes" which are small and threadlike. This is not a "scare message" but DON'T settle for these water conditions. Like MAGIC, you can turn your present water supply into CLEAN, CRYSTAL-CLEAR water with "Guardian" the amazing water filter with throw-away sediment S-1 cartridges. For just pennies a day, this hard working "GUARDIAN" operates efficiently and out-performs any other filter. (It does not soften water.)

ONCE ENOUGH — Perry Lantham, 125 Lawrence, went deep sea fishing just once during a recent trip to Acapulco, Mexico. But it proved successful as he landed this 128-pound sailfish after a half hour battle.

Grass Fire Season Picking Up Steam

Building fires leave scars that can be repaired; a few weeks after a grass or brush blaze, the area is covered with a lush green carpet of new growth.

★ ★ ★

However pretty this may look doesn't make up for the game habitat and bushes — even trees — destroyed that took years to grow. Nor will it reimburse fire departments for the wear and tear on equipment.

★ ★ ★

The grass fire season in Southern Michigan started earlier than usual this year, mainly because of a lack of snow. City and rural firemen have been hustling with increasing fequency.

So far, they have been able to keep ahead of the game and no major burns have been reported in the Oakland County area. But it is early yet. Unless the weather suddenly turns wet, the situation could get out of hand at any time. It happened last spring.

HOT AREAS

"We have had some 40 and 50-acre burns," said C. G. McLarty, Pontiac Lake district fire supervisor for the Department of Natural Resources, "but nothing like they are experiencing in the Jackson and Brighton areas.

"It could become just as bad here if we don't get some moisture."

McLarty also pointed out that power wagons and trucks are beginning to encounter some mud problems in the afternoon as the frost works out of the ground during the sunny days.

There is no fire danger in Northern Michigan. It is burried under one to three feet of snow.

BIG FAMILY — A busy mother these days is this Irish Setter, Kerri, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dave Goniea of 4794 Sundew in Commerce Township. While a litter of seven or eight is normal, this proud mamma gave birth to 14. One later died, but the other 13 are hearty enough to scrap for their mother's attention.

Special Trout Regulation Hearing Set for Grayling

Proposed changes in special trout fishing regulations covering 77 miles of the Au Sable, Little Manistee and Manistee river systems will be open to discussion March 19 at Grayling.

The public hearing is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium of the Grayling elementary school. On the evening's agenda will be planned adjustments by the Department of Natural Resources in special trout fishing rules to promote quality fishing.

Included are proposals to raise the legal size limit on brown trout from 9 to 10 inches and lower the size limit on brook trout from 9 to 8 inches in two areas on the North Branch of the Au Sable River.

Also to be aired are the DNR's plans to reduce the brook trout size limit from 10 to 8 inches on the South Branch of the Au Sable River and from Burton's Landing to Wakeley Bridge on the Au Sable.

Another change under consideration calls for removing a stretch of the Little Manistee River between Bear Track Campground and Nine Mile Bridge as a quality trout fishing area.

★ ★ ★

The DNR also would like to add a new quality area on the Manistee River, spanning about 12 miles from the Old Riverview Bridge to CCC Bridge in Kalkaska County.

The recommendation to raise the brown trout size limit from 9 to 10 inches on the two North Branch areas of the Au Sable River is aimed at making the regulation on those waters consistent with the statewide rule.

Under Michigan's general trout fishing regulations, that size limit has been upped to 10 inches, and DNR fisheries men say it would be out of line to have a lower limit on waters where the emphasis is on quality fishing.

Plans to lower the brook trout size limit on those same waters from 9 to 8 inches reflects the biological fact that most of these fish rarely reach 9 inches and, consequently, are being wasted instead of creeled.

★ ★ ★

Confusion among fishermen and local opposition underscore the DNR's proposal to lift special trout fishing regulations on the Little Manistee River from Bear Track Campground to Nine Mile Bridge. That stretch of the stream is an important steelhead fishing area in the spring and fall, and its special restrictions conflict with this sport to create law enforcement problems.

Canine 4-H Club Sets New Series of Dog Classes

The Canine 4-H Club of Oakland County is planning a new series of classes in dog obedience.

★ ★ ★

A demonstration is scheduled for 7 p.m. next Tuesday in the block building on the 4-H fairgrounds. Interested boys and girls are requested to leave their dogs home that night. Classes will start the following week.

★ ★ ★

The sessions are open to youngsters 10 through 18 years old. They must be a 4-H member or join the organization. A health certificate is required for the dog.

★ ★ ★

Additional information can be obtained by phoning FE 5-7296. Registrations will be taken after the demonstration.

Sleeping Bear Awakens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another intramural tug-of-war among the Michigan congressional delegation is prospect over renewed efforts to establish a federal park at Sleeping Bear Dunes on Lake Michigan.

Twice the Senate has approved a plan sponsored by Sen. Philip A. Hart, a Democrat, to establish a national lakeshore in the area.

★ ★ ★

Each time, the Senate-passed bills died in the House Interior Committee.

Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, a Republican whose district includes the dunes, has fought the Hart plan and urged adoption of an alternative he is sponsoring.

The Hart proposal, co-sponsored in the House by Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich., has been introduced again.

Vander Jagt also has his bill ready, though he concedes he is not optimistic about its chances for passage.

The Hart-O'Hara plan would establish a 61,000-acrre Sleeping Bear Dunes national lakeshore modeled on the national lakeshores and seashores already under development at Cape Cod, Mass.; Cape Hatteras, N.C. Point Reyes, Calif.; and Indiana Dunes, Ind.

The federal government would eventually acquire most if not all of the land within a designated area and it would be administered as a unit of the National Park Service.

Vander Jagt's proposal would create what he calls Sleeping Bear Dunes-U.S.A., to be administered jointly by representatives of the federal, state and local governments, with the primary responsibility at the state level.

Derby Stock Jumps for Hialeah Winner

With the cagey Manuel Ycaza in the saddle, Top Knight ran the 1⅛ miles in 1:47 4-5 on a fast track, equalling the time of Northern Dancer in 1964.

Top Knight was 7-5 favorite with the closing day crowd of 29,014 and earned $95,160 to boost his total winnings in 12 races to $430,121.

Justice Clarifies Stream Ruling

LANSING (UPI) — The state Supreme Court justice who authored the controversial Martiny Lake case said Tuesday a report the decision could close Michigan streams to fishing was "dead wrong."

Justice Eugene F. Black of Port Huron issued the rare clarification of the tribunals's ruling in a letter to Director Ralph A. MacMullan of the state Natural Resources Department.

MacMullan said last week the court decision could place up to 95 per cent of the state's trout and salmon streams off limits to public fishing.

Black sternly chided MacMullan for "jumping to false conclusions" and issuing "scare statements." He said at no time did the court say what MacMullan said it did.

NO NEW RIGHTS

Concern stemmed from the court's definition of a navigable stream open to public fishing in a case involving state efforts to manage the water level of a lake created by the Martiny Lakes Dam in Mecosta County.

MacMullan claimed the ruling threw out the old criteria that a navigable stream was any body of water that could float logs. He called for and got legislation before the Senate and House to broaden the definition.

Black said if MacMullan was right, then "all of the participating justices, except the dissenter, should be immediate peached as an immediate first order of legislative business . . . such is my complete confidence in that fact that you are dead wrong."

MacMullan said he was "grateful" Black issued his statement and conceded department was wrong.

Who Should Foot Bill in Nonpublic School Financial Crisis?

(Editor's Note — This is the third of four articles on the — a proposal now known as sistance to nonpublic schools question of state financial as "parochiaid."

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

LANSING — No one ques tions the claim of nonpublic schools they are suffering a financial pinch.

It is over whose pocketbook should be tapped to relieve the pinch that differences occur.

Nonpublic school authorities say they need upwards of $40 million in state assistance, and point out their constituents pay public school taxes, as well as tuition to the schools to which they send their children.

The Michigan Legislature is being called upon to decide this year whether state aid shall be given nonpublic schools. It thereby will become embroiled in a dispute which the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals says "could shake this nation to its very roots."

WORD COINED

A word has been coined for the proposal. It is "parochiaid."

In going on record against it, the association of elementary principals said that "although there has been a steady erosion of America's classic separation of church and state . . . there still exists . . . the concept that the United States . . . must continue to exist on a nonsectarian basis."

Supporters of "parochiaid" argue they are asking only for the right to send their children to schools of their choice and to recover part of the costs of teaching such public school subjects as math and science, which have no religious relation.

* * *

The latest count available from the Michigan Association of Non-Public Schools shows the Roman Catholic Church operating 647, including 138 high schools; the Lutheran—Missouri Synod, 118; Lutheran — Wisconsin Synod, 30; other Lutherans 3; Seventh Day Adventists, 56; the National Union of Christian Schools (Calvinists), 61; Jewish, 3; independent, 16.

ENROLLMENT ON DECLINE

Current enrollment in nonpublic schools is approximately 315,000, which authorities estimate is about 18,000 fewer than in 1967-68. A top enrollment of 361,000 was hit in 1964-65. There has been a decline every year since.

Public school enrollment i estimated at 2,124,000 this year, compared with 2,079,704 in 1967-68, by the Michigan Department of Education. Gov. William Milliken has recommended $844.6 million, an increase of almost $85 million, for public schools in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

* * *

A joint House-Senate Legislative Committee on Non-Public Schools reported in January that pupil switches from parochial to public schools had added an estimated load of $30 million to state and local taxes through rising public school enrollments.

The committee estimated the cost rise will be $100 million annually by 1971, and "parochiaid advocates say if all 315,000 nonpublic school children suddenly switched that public school operating costs would jump upward $220 million a year.

REPLY TO THESIS

Those backing state assistance also insist it would cost $1 billion to acquire sufficient land and coinstruct sufficient buildings to house the new load.

To this thesis, the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals replied:

"Better many children in a classroom than the prospect of limited public funds being diluted among conflicting educational systems that would inevitably change the democratic nature of this nation of ours."

Conceding that parents of nonpublic school children face both rising tuitions and public taxes, the association said it can sympathize, but adds: "The choice is theirs. There is nothing which prevents them from decreasing this financial burden to themselves except their own free will to choose among alternatives."

Speaker William Ryan of the Michigan House of Representatives, a Detroit Democrat and Catholic supporter of parochiaid, says the question is "an issue of individual liberties which affects the rights of citizens to choose their schools."

DENIES CHARGE

Ryan figured in the first "separation of church and state" debate in the Legislature this year. Foes charged he stacked the House Appropriations Committee to assure the reporting out of a "parochiaid" bill. Ryan heatedly denied it.

Despite his argument that such action would strike at "a basic right . . . the right to choose one's school," Ryan lost a recent tiff within his own party.

* * *

The Democratic State Central Committee, the party's governing body, got itself involved in late February by voting 53 - 17 against "legislation to provide direct and indirect state financial aid to nonpublic schools."

Despite this, State Sen. Coleman Young, a Detroit Negro Democrat who opposes the measure, said he expects parochiaid to pass "unless there is a groundswell of opposition."

GOP EMBROILED

Republicans have become embroiled, too. The Livonia Federation of Republican Women has unanimously disapproved parochiaid.

The State Board of Education thus far has avoided a commitment, but four Catholics and a member of the Christian Reformed Church combined their votes to take over all board offices last month.

Some commentators viewed this is a victory for advocates of state aid to nonpublic schools, since both churches have joined in pressing for state aid for their parochial schools.

* * *

Gainers Hold Wide Edge

Mart Continues to Hold Lead

The advances held an 839 to 454 advantage over declines.

The Dow Jones industrial average, ahead from the start, stood at 923.30 at noon, a gain of 3.79 points or 0.41 per cent. The Dow had been ahead 5.65 points at 11 a.m.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange after two hours of trading was 6.52 million, compared with 5.2 million in the same time Tuesday.

ADVANCE 'TECHNICAL'

Brokers said they regarded the advance, which got under way Monday after a previous sharp decline, as largely technical. They said that during the decline the market had been oversold and money now was moving back in in search of bargains.

President Nixon's Tuesday night news conference also was credited with "bolstering market enthusiasm" by one broker. He said the president's remarks that the Soviet Union might play a peace-making role in the Mideast and possibly Vietnam "encouraged the market."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .9 at 340.0, with industrials up 2.2, rails up .1, and utilities up .2.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange, with 9 of the 20 most-active up, 9 down and 2 unchanged.

Price of Gold Spurts in Europe

Rise to Peak Levels Tied to French Jitters

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — A compilation by Lloyds Register of shipping that shows Japan floated 50 per cent of all new shipping tonnage in 1968 points up the nearly incredible post-war comeback of that country.

CUNNIFF

It was only a century ago that Japan emerged from isolation, only 25 years since its economy was wrecked by war, 15 years since it was an occupied nation.

Last year it launched 8,572,970 tons of shipping, including 19 of 23 ships whose weight exceeded 100,000 tons. Its tonnage production was, in fact, 20 times that of the United States. It has now become the second largest manufacturer of television receivers, the world's foremost producer of radios, the third largest maker of steel products and the second largest auto maker.

While some of the world's oldest industrialized nations are fighting to maintain their export markets, Japan continues to enlarge its share of trade. Last year it had a trade surplus of $2.5 billion.

By contrast, the United States surplus of goods exported compared with imports fell sharply to $725 million from more than $4 billion a year earlier.

The island nation's Gross National Product is the swiftest growing of any industrialized nation. With a GNP now well over $100 billion, Japan's economy is the second largest of the non-Communist nations and is growing at 11 or 12 per cent a year.

Startling evidence of Japan's economic strength is seen in the shops of the United States. Transistor radios carrying American trademarks often are made in Japan. Its camera and optical products have won a name for high quality.

AUTOMOTIVE RISE

The emergence of the country as a manufacturer and exporter of automotive vehicles has been startling. In 1960 it made less than 500,000 vehicles. Last year the total was about eight times that figure, and many thousands were exported.

In 1968 nearly twice as many Toyota automobiles were sold in the United States as in the year before, a total of close to 69,000. Datsun also increased its sales strongly to more than 40,000 vehicles.

Japan's 100 million people do have problems, but many of them also are the result of economic vigor rather than weakness. Inflation is even greater in Japan than in the United States.

No number of problems, however, can hide the achievements. Japan has, in fact, achieved through ingenuity and trade what it failed to win 25 years earlier by military conquest. It now has its raw materials and markets.

REASONS FOR CHANGE

Various reasons are given for the transformation. Japan's people seemingly have the intelligence, spirit and the competitive desire to excel. But several other reasons also stand out.

Japan's renunciation of violence, for example, means that national defense costs less than in other nations. It has modernized its economic system. And it has benefited greatly from American spending.

There is irony in this American-Japanese trade relationship, for while the United States has, in the eyes of some critics, weakened its economy through military expenditures, these same expenditures have strengthened Japan.

During the Korean war, for example, Japan received a huge boost to its exports. And the present U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia has resulted, directly or indirectly, in many millions of dollars of exports.

The Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. estimated recently that Japanese exports to the U.S. market, and Japanese exports to various Asian countries, in part a by-product of U. S. military presence, account for up to 45 per cent of all its exports.

Nobody can say with certainty what chapters remain to be written in this amazing story of industrial expansion, but almost all forecasts for 1969 indicate more of the same.

Club Is Ordered to Pay for Barring Negro Boy, 5

NEW YORK (AP) — A "private" club in Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., has been ordered by the New York State division of Human Rights agency to pay $100 to a 5-year-old Negro boy for having barred him from the club swimming pool.

The Division further ordered that the club invite the boy's family to use the pool for a day during the 1969 season with the right to join the club if the family so desires.

Robert J. Mangum, Human Rights Commissioner, said Tuesday that so-called country clubs and "private" swimming pools have a policy of excluding Negroes although such facilities actually are public accommodations.

The agency said the boy went to the suburban Westchester County club with a white woman and her two daughters but was ordered by the manager to leave the pool area after being identified as a Negro.

Formal Action on School Site Proposal Due

The Pontiac Board of Education is to formally act tomorrow night to adopt a plan calling for a 90-day cooling-off period on the proposed west side high school site.

During this period, the board will study alternate sites and plans for high school facilities; suspend architectural developments on the Pontiac State Hospital site; and hold off the introduction of bills to the State Legislature concerning the sale of state-owned hospital land to the school district.

Also on tomorrow night's agenda is the awarding of contracts for construction of the Northeast Oakland Vocational - Technical Center, on Perry near Madison Junior High.

Contracts for architectural, mechanical and electrical trades and food service equipment will be awarded.

SITE ACQUISITIONS

A report on site acquisition for the planned Human Resource Center will be presented and recommendations will be made.

Information concerning progress with the application to the department of Housing and Urban Development for a grant under the Neighborhood Facilities Program for the Center will be reviewed by Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

The board also will vote on recommendations on advance purchase of three school buses; on developing a proposal under the National Defense Education Act, Title III for 1968-69; and a protective service program for the school district.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the school district offices, 350 E. Wide Track.

In Clash With Chinese Soviet Border Official Killed

MOSCOW (AP) — The commander of a Soviet border post was killed when 200 screaming Chinese soldiers stormed onto Soviet territory Sunday, the Soviet Pacific Border Command reported today.

The report in the trade union newspaper Trud said the commander and "some of his comrades" were shot down by Communist Chinese soldiers dressed in winter camouflage capes who surged toward Damansky Island in the Usuri River shouting anti-Soviet slogans.

The Soviets and the Chinese have blamed each other for the border clash, which touched off a wave of anti-Soviet demonstrations in Red China. The Chinese also claim the island, which they call Chenpao. It is on the border between Manchurai and the Maritime Provinces of the Soviet Far East.

MACHINE GUNS

The Soviet command said the Chinese invaders were backed by machine-gun fire from the Chinese side of the river.

The Soviet soldiers' sub-machine guns "were not in a combat position but, as is customary in these cases, were slung across their chests," the statement said.

★ ★ ★

However, "Soviet frontier guards took resolute measures, and the violators of the border were driven off Soviet territory," the report said.

A Trud correspondent reported the border area was quiet Tuesday.

'BRAND OF INFAMY'

"But the hearts of the Far Eastern frontier guards and of the inhabitants of the Maritime Territory and the Amur Valley are filled with wrath and indignation," he said. "A wave of meetings has swept the frontier posts of the Ussuri. The frontier guards brand with infamy the brazen Maoists."

Trud was the only newspaper carrying the report on the attack. Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, published only a brief story from the official news agency Tass referring to "anti-Soviet hysteria" in Peking after the incident.

There were no reports of demonstrations in China today, after broadcasts from Peking said tens of millions of Chinese demonstrated and met throughout the country Monday and Tuesday "to protest vehemently and denounce the rebel Soviet revisionist group's military provocation."

4 More Firms Raise Prices for Gasoline

DETROIT (AP) — Four more oil companies serving the Detroit area have raised their gasoline prices to dealers, claiming the price hike results from recent strike settlements with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union.

★ ★ ★

Spokesmen from Gulf, Marathon, Mobil and Sunoco Tuesday confirmed price increases ranging from six-tenths of a cent to 1.5 cents per gallon.

★ ★ ★

Five other firms — Standard, Pure, Phillips, Texaco and Cities Service—had announced similar price increases earlier this week.

★ ★ ★

The increases probably will mean motorists will pay one to two cents more per gallon of gasoline.

★ ★ ★

Man Sentenced to Gas Chamber

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Lester Morford III, convicted slayer of a bartender, was sentenced by a judge Tuesday to die in the gas chamber April 1.

If the sentence is carried out, Morford, already refused clemency by the state board of pardons, will be the first person legally executed in the United States since June 2, 1967.

Man Found Dead

WILLIAM A. ENGELHART II

2 Area Youths Killed in Crash

Funeral Service for 1 to Be Held on Friday

Two area youths were killed Monday morning when their pickup truck collided with a tractor-trailer on M57 near M13 in Genesee County.

State police from the Flint post said William A. Engelhart II, 20, of 733 Westview, Bloomfield Hills, was driving the pickup west on M57 when the accident occurred. Engelhart and a passenger, Glenn A. Watson, 20, of 2789 Hunt, Troy, were taken to Flint's Hurley Hospital, where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

★ ★ ★

Service for Engelhart, a partner in Headwest Men's Shop, Birmingham, will be 11 a.m. Friday at St. Hugo of the Hills Catholic Church, Bloomfield Hills, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

★ ★ ★

The Rosary will be said tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home, Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Engelhart, at home; his grandmother, Mrs. Paul Riemenschneider of Bloomfield Hills; a sister, Lisa at home, and two brothers, Mark and Steven, both at home.

Services for Watson have not been announced.

That's Whiskey's Double Trouble

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Robert W. Spruill says whoever broke into his car and took a bottle with a Canadian whiskey label will be in real trouble if he drinks from it.

★ ★ ★

Spruill told police the bottle actually contained rat poison. He told authorities he also lost a $90 stereo tape player, $60 worth of tapes and a carrying case in addition to the rat poison.

A Look at TV

Nixon Format Effective

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — President Richard M. Nixon's press conference format continues to work effectively for the President and helpfully for the television audiences.

The President in his Tuesday night report on his recent European tour stood as usual before a microphone on an unadorned platform and spoke directly to the reporters and cameras in front of him. The session lasted just under an hour.

The President opened with a brief statement, expressing hopes for a new international atmosphere of confidence and trust and then laid down the ground rules—any area of foreign policy could be covered but he would reveal none of the confidential and personal conversations with European leaders.

Then, in response to questions, he covered subjects ranging from our response to attacks from Hanoi, the West Berlin situation, Arab-Israeli relations and our relationship to France. He answered frankly, carefully and briefly. He seemed completely at ease, seemed fresh and untired and at his best.

Earlier, Jacques Yves Cousteau and his intrepid divers took viewers undersea on a very modern treasure hunt. The hourlong ABC program was one of the most fascinating in the thoroughly delightful series.

Cousteau and company located the skelton of an old sailing ship that long ago sank on a shallow coral reef off Puerto Rico. Since a Spanish galleon, a treasure ship, was known to have broken up and sunk in that vicinity, the crew of that floating laboratory, the Calypso, turned gold-seekers.

As usual, the undersea photography was the most interesting part of the program, but this time there was, for added interest, the sight of the equipment used by 20th century treasure hunters.

Bennett and Basie Muzzle Heckler Leonard at Copa

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tony Bennett and Count Basie opened at the Copacabana and were so overwhelmingly good that they almost completely silenced ringsider Jack E. Leonard, which heretofore was considered an impossible feat. Normally he would be barking funnies at the star from his table. He apologized for having nothing demolishing to say. "What can you say about a guy that sings ballads?" he said. "The worst thing you can say is that he sings ballads."

Senator Raps TV Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., says violence on television has "gotten completely out of hand" and the industry has failed to live up to its promises to do something about it.

Pastore, chairman of the Senate communications subcommittee, said Tuesday he was grieved by what he termed "the recklessness on the part of the networks—and it is fundamentally the networks."

"The industry ought to get on their toes and do something about this," he said, adding that otherwise "something drastic is going to happen." He said the American people are disturbed. Pastore spoke out at a subcommittee hearing at which the Federal Communications Commission gave a review of the entire gamut of problems in the broadcasting industry.

FCC Chairman Rosel H. Hyde said the depiction of violence in TV programming, as well as in other media, and the effect it has on viewers is a national problem.

SERIOUS QUESTIONS

But he said any sanction imposed by the FCC on program content raised serious constitutional questions about censorship.

Pastore agreed but said "it's gone too far" and declared "I think the networks and the broadcasters can do something about it."

Pastore indicated he felt the trouble lay in what he termed "the rivalry, the money, in this big money-making industry."

He said its profits are "astronomical."

He said two things are going to have to be done. "One, we've got to keep TV free, and No. 2, we've got to clean it up."

Junior Editors Quiz on RELIGION

QUESTION: What is contained in the Koran and who originated it?

ANSWER: In 570 A.D. a child named Mohammed was born in the city of Mecca, in southwestern Arabia. Mohammed built a reputation for justice and honesty, and for wanting to help the oppressed.

According to the belief of his later followers, called Moslems, Mohammed was meditating alone when the Angel Gabriel appeared and instructed him to proclaim the will of God.

From about 610 to 632, the Moslems believe, Gabriel revealed God's will to Mohammed, who passed on these teachings to his followers. He called the teachings Islam, which became the name of a great new religion that spread over the Middle East and beyond, until it now has some 400 million followers.

After Mohammed died, the Moslems gathered his revelations together into a book called the Koran. This teaches that God is the creator of the universe, is just and good and desires men to repent so they may enter Heaven after death. Jesus is regarded by the Moslems as only one of the prophets, with Mohammed the final one.

Among other teachings, the Koran denounces lying, stealing and murder, forbids the use of alcohol and stresses the importance of prayer.

Famed Organ for Sale; Once Wonder of London

LONDON (AP) — The great organ of Alexandra Palace is up for sale. Whoever buys it will need $168,000 more for repairs.

The organ, built 94 years ago, was one of the wonders of Edwardian London. In its heyday it drew crowds of 12,000 and more to Alexandra Palace, a huge brick pile built as a North London rival to the Crystal Palace, the glass structure which dominated South London until fire destroyed it in 1936.

Alexandra Palace survives despite bombing in both world wars, but the organ is in a sorry state. In 1947 it was covered by six inches of snow. The palace roof had been removed by a flying bomb in World War II.

★ ★ ★

The Greater London Council, controllers of the palace, hopes for an American bid and is placing advertisements in the United States.

The palace itself is to be revived as a recreation center.

U.S. to Share Lunar Material

TORONTO (AP) — The United States is going to share the material its astronauts bring back from the moon with about 120 scientists in several countries, a Canadian physicist says.

Prof. David Strangway of the University of Toronto said the astronauts hope to bring back about 50 pounds of lunar material, including rocks.

He said the material will be examined first in a special laboratory in Houston, Tex., and then distributed internationally for physical and chemical analysis.

Strangway said he would measure his share of magnetic properties that might help explain the origin of the moon.

MEXICALI BEEF

Beef Chuck Is Tender When Cooked Right

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

This week, we're going to get down to basics and talk about meat and potatoes. We're well aware that food prices are climbing and that many homemakers have to shop for food more carefully than ever.

Let's talk about beef today. Not steaks or standing rib roasts or even hamburger, for once. Today, we'll concentrate on beef chuck.

★ ★ ★

Chuck, which comes from the fore quarter, is less tender than cuts from parts of the steer that are less exercised. But chuck is good tasting and has as much needed protein as any other kind of beef.

The only thing you must remember is that you either tenderize the meat before cooking or you cook it by moist heat.

STEW MEAT

When you buy a package of stew meat, you are probably buying chuck. Sometimes you can find a chuck roast on sale for less than the price of stew meat. Sharpen a knife and cut your own cubes or strips.

Just remember you pay for the bone in a roast and do a little arithmetic before you make the choice.

Dishes of this kind are often better the second day. You can cook meat, refrigerate it in the gravy and reheat with the vegetables the next day.

BEEF BOURGUIGNONNE

½ cup flour
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 pounds boneless beef chuck or round, cut into 1½ inch cubes
4 slices bacon, cut in 1-inch lengths
1 cup thinly sliced onion
½ cup thinly sliced carrot
1 clove garlic, minced
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup burgundy (or beef bouillon)
¼ teaspoon leaf thyme
¼ teaspoon leaf marjoram
1 beef bouillon cube
½ cup hot water
8 small whole onions
½ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
6 servings hot cooked seasoned rice

Combine flour, salt and pepper; mix. Coat beef cubes well with flour mixture. Save leftover flour.

Pan fry bacon in heavy skillet over moderate heat until crisp and lightly browned. Transfer bacon to large chicken fryer or Dutch oven with heatproof handle. Add onion, carrot and garlic to drippings; cook slowly until vegetables are tender, stirring often. Add drained vegetables to Dutch oven.

BROWN MEAT

Add butter or margarine to bacon drippings; add meat cubes; brown over moderate heat, turning pieces as needed to brown evenly on all sides. Add meat to Dutch oven.

Combine burgundy, spices and remaining flour mixture; mix and pour over beef. Add bouillon cube and water. Cover; cook over very low heat or in a slow oven (300 degrees) until eat is fork tender, 2 to 2½ hours.

★ ★ ★

Beef stew makes fine eating. If you want to please male guests the next time you entertain, serve a big bowl of beef stew and hot biscuits. Who needs filet mignon?

BEEF STEW WITH WHEAT GERM BISCUITS

3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 lbs. boneless beef (chuck, round or stew meat), cut into 1-inch cubes.
½ cup coarsely chopped onion
2 tablespoons cooking oil or shortening.
1 cup water
1 beef bouillion cube
1 can (1 lb.) small white potatoes, drained, or 2 cups small or diced potatoes
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen mixed vegetables
Wheat germ biscuits

Combine flour, salts and pepper. Dredge meat in flour mixture. Brown meat and onion in hot oil or shortening, turning as needed to brown well. Add water and bouillon cube.

★ ★ ★

Cover; cook slowly until meat is about tender, 1½ to 2 hours. Add potatoes and vegetables; cook 30 minutes longer. Serve in casserole topped with biscuits. Yield: 6 servings.

Wheat Germ Biscuits

2 cups flour
½ cup wheat germ
3 tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup milk

Combine flour, wheat germ, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add milk; stir just until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn onto a lightly floured board; knead gently 10 to 12 strokes.

★ ★ ★

Roll or pat to ½-inch thickness. Cut with 2-inch biscuit cutter. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) until done and lightly browned, 10 to 12 minutes.

With canned beef gravy on your shelf, you're prepared for lots of emergencies. In the following recipe, it's used with beef cubes to make an interesting Mexican-style beef dish.

MEXICALI BEEF

6 bacon slices
1½ pounds beef cubes (1½-inch)
2 teaspoons chili powder
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 can (10½ ounces) mushroom gravy
1 cup sliced onion
½ cup chopped canned tomatoes
1 can (20 ounces) chick peas, drained

In large heavy pan, cook bacon; remove and crumble. In 2 tablespoons drippings, brown meat with chili and garlic. Add bacon and remaining ingredients except peas. Cover; cook over low heat 2 hours 15 minutes. Stir now and then. Add peas; cook 15 minutes more. Stir now and then. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

The quickest recipe of all is for Shortcut Sauerbraten. Strips of beef chuck are simmered in a sauce made with gravy mix. Crumbled gingersnaps add an authentic German touch as they thicken the gravy. Serve with broad noodles.

SHORTCUT SAUERBRATEN

3 to 3½ pound boneless chuck roast, 1½ to 2 inches thick
2 tablespoons oil
1 envelope (¾-oz.) Au Jus gravy mix
1½ cups water
½ cup vinegar
¾ cup crushed gingersnaps
Cooked noodles

Cut meat into ½-inch thick strips. In a large skillet brown meat in hot oil. Combine contents of gravy mix envelope, water and vinegar. Pour over meat, cover and simmer 1 hour. Remove meat from pan.

★ ★ ★

Add crushed gingersnaps to gravy and continue cooking until gravy thickens, stirring constantly. Remove meat to pan to heat through. Serve meat and gravy over noodles. 6 servings.

Fill Mushrooms With Ham, Nuts

Brush 2 dozen large, fresh mushroom caps with melted butter. Combine one 6-ounce can deviled ham, ½ cup finely chopped California walnuts, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon each grated onion, chopped parsley and chives. Spoon into mushroom caps.

Broil in shallow pan, 4 inches from heat, about 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Macaroni and Eggs Mix in Casserole

This colorful casserole is meatless yet oh-so-nourishing. Cook 1 medium onion, chopped, in 2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil until tender. Stir in 2 cans (15 ounces each) macaroni and cheese.

In a 1½-quart casserole place half the macaroni mixture; cover with 3 hard-cooked eggs, halved, and ½ can (8-ounce can) tomato sauce.

Repeat layers using remaining macaroni mixture; 3 more hard-cooked eggs, halved; and remaining ½ can tomato sauce. Sprinkle with ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes 6 servings.

Rice Mixture Is Good With Broiled Fillets

May we suggest this truly different and delicious pilaf to serve with broiled fillets—fresh or frozen—of your favorite kind of fish? Fresh pineapple chunks give this rice dish its zing. You could use canned pineapple, of course, but the fresh is simply superb. Try it and see!

There are water chestnuts, plus flecks of spring garden onion for color and pungent flavor. It's a pilaf you'll enjoy with many other seafoods as well as the fillets.

Before you broil them to complete the menu, remember that fish cookery has one basic rule: don't overcook! Accustomed as we are to the timetables for meat cookery, there is a tendency not to believe fish will cook in so little time. But it does.

There is no connective tissue that needs tenderizing. In seafood cookery, heat simply coagulates the protein and brings out the flavor.

FLAKING TEST

The classic test for "doneness" when cooking fish is to prick the thickest part of the flesh. When it flakes, your fish is ready to strve. It is wise to test halfway through the suggested cooking time in your cookbook or on the package—then you won't make the mistake of overcooking and losing any of the delicate flavor.

FISH FILLETS WITH PINEAPPLE PILAF

1 cup chopped fresh pineapple
2 tablespoons chopped green onion
6 tablespoons butter
1 cup rice
2 cups hot water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 can (5-ounce) water chestnuts, sliced
6 fish fillets, fresh or frozen; broiled

In a skillet, cook pineapple and onion in butter until tender. Add rice and heat until grains are lightly browned. Add water and bouillon cubes, salt and pepper. Boil, covered, for 20 to 25 minutes or until rice is tender. Add water chestnuts to rice mixture and serve with broiled fish fillets. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Canned Pudding Makes a Sauce

Dress up bread pudding, cake squares or baked custard with this spicy walnut sauce. Combine 1 can butterscotch pudding, 1 tablespoon butter and ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon. Heat. When hot, thin to desired consistency with undiluted evaporated milk.

Quick Deep Dish Salmon Pie
Preparation Time: 33 Minutes

2 10½-ounce cans pea or asparagus soup
1 lb. can salmon (or two ½ lb.)
½ cup milk or cream
1 pound can small potatoes, drained
1 pound can small onions, drained
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon sweet basil
1 package refrigerator buttermilk biscuits

In saucepan combine soup, liquid from can of salmon and the milk or cream. Stir in salmon, potatoes, onions and seasonings. Heat until sauce begins to simmer, stirring occasionally. Empty into a 2-quart casserole or baking dish. Top with biscuits. Bake in preheated 400° F. oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until biscuits are brown. Garnish with watercress. Serves 4.

Frozen Beans Are Salad Material

Frozen green beans are the basis for an unusual relish. Cook 1 (9-ounce) package of frozen french-style green beans with toasted almonds as directed on package, reserving almonds. Do not drain.

* * *

Cool; then stir in 1 cup of dairy sour cream, ½ teaspoon of salt, and ⅛ teaspoon of dried dill weed. Sprinkle with almonds before serving. Makes 2 cups or 6 relish servings.

Bake Low-Calorie Treat for Coffee Break

If you're going to be a weight-watcher for awhile, it's comforting to know that a satisfying cup of coffee has so little caloric value it can hardly be measured.

* * *

LOW-CALORIE PEAR COFFEECAKE

1 pound can low-calorie pears
1 egg
1 package (13¾-oz.) hot roll mix
Grated peel of 1 lemon
¼ cup low-calorie raspberry jam

* * *

Drain pears. Reserve ¾ cup of syrup. Beat egg; remove 1 tablespoon for glazing top of cake. Heat pear syrup to lukewarm. Add yeast from package of mix. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lemon peel and remaining beaten egg. Beat in flour from package of mix.

Turn out dough on lightly floured cutting board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl; cover; let rise in warm place until double in bulk. Punch down dough; knead again; cut into 16 pieces.

* * *

Flatten each piece of dough into a 3-inch round. Spread rounds thinly with some jam. Top with piece of pear. Wrap dough around pear enclosing it completely; pinch edges together. Place seam side down in lightly greased 9-inch square pan.

LET RISE

Place balls of dough close together in pan. Let rise until double in bulk. Gently brush top with reserved egg which has been mixed with 1 tablespoon of water.

* * *

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes or until richly browned on top. Cool in pan 5 minutes; unmold. Turn right side up; serve warm. Makes 16 servings.

LOW-CALORIE PEAR COFFEECAKE

Lemon Juice Is Good in Dressing

A clear lemon dessert sauce can be made without lumps if 1 tablespoon of cornstarch is first thoroughly mixed with ½ cup sugar. The starch particles then will not cling together when 1 cup boiling water is stirred in and the mixture cooked 3 to 4 minutes to thicken.

* * *

Remove from heat; stir in grated peel of 1 lemon, 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, and 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Makes 1⅓ cups.

That's the number
we'd like you to remember the next time you buy a Pork Loin Rib Portion.
Why?
Because that's how many ribs you'll get if you buy a
"SUPER-RIGHT" Pork Loin Rib Portion at A&P.
When you pick up the package,
you can feel and count the rib bones with your fingers.
If you don't shop A&P, try counting the ribs.
If there aren't seven, you're missing select meat.
You're not getting the best value.
Because of fair practices like this,
because WE CARE ... about you, shouldn't A&P be your store?

Baked Eggplant Is Start of Zesty Dip

Tired of the same old dips that you've used before? Don't just sit there grumbling; try this new one made with eggplant.

DELECTABLE EGGPLANT DIP

1 large eggplant
¼ cup salad oil
¼ cup olive oil
1 clove garlic, peeled
1 large onion, finely chopped
1 green pepper, finely chopped
2 medium tomatoes, peeled and chopped
2 tablespoons dry sherry
1½ to 2 teaspoons seasoned salt
¼ teaspoon seasoned pepper

Bake eggplant in 400 degree oven about 1 hour or until soft. Remove skin; chop pulp. Heat salad and olive oil with garlic.

* * *

Saute onion and green pepper. Remove garlic. Add eggplant, tomatoes, sherry, seasoned salt and seasoned pepper. Cook until thickened, about 15 minutes.

Chill thoroughly. Serve with corn or tortilla chips. Makes about 4 cups.

Note: This dip may also be served as a hot or cold relish for meats.

Dip 'Burgers in Beer Batter, Then Fry

Can there possibly be another way to fix hamburgers? is a plaint heard every day in these days of galloping meat prices.

Take cheer. There is. It's a way to embellish good hamburgers, not to disguise them. It's a way of serving which can be adapted to lunch, supper, dinner or company. And once you've tasted them, you'd never hesitate serving them anytime.

* * *

The hamburgers are delicately seasoned and broiled. Then comes the difference. The sandwich is carefully dipped in a beer and egg mixture and fried on both sides to a crisp, puffy, golden goodness.

* * *

BEER BATTER HAMBURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2 tablespoons pickle relish
12 slices white bread (preferably round)
¾ cup catsup
3 eggs
½ cup beer
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup flour
⅛ cup butter or margarine (about)

Combine ground beef with salt, pepper, onion and relish. Toss lightly and shape into 6 thick patties the same diameter as the bread slices. Broil to desired doneness; drain well.

Spread one side of each slice of bread with catsup. Place hamburgers between 2 slices, catsup side next to hamburger.

BATTER

Beat eggs with beer, salt and flour until mixture is smooth and the consistency of heavy cream. Carefully dip each sandwich in the batter to coat all over.

* * *

Heat butter or margarine in a large skillet and fry sandwiches until golden brown, turning once. If necessary, add a little more butter to the pan when sandwiches are turned. Serve hot. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

'Mother of the Year' a Mother to Hundreds of Apache Indians

By ARTHUR A. GUENTHER
Clergyman, Whiteriver, Ariz.

This is the story of Minnie Guenther, named American Mother of the Year for 1967. She's my own mother.

MRS. GUENTHER

How do I remember her, the "90-pound weakling" who not only reared nine children of her own but who has cared for hundreds more since 1911 on the Ft. Apache Indian Reservation in Arizona?

The story really begins over 50 years ago before I was born. Mother met my father, Edgar Guenther, at choir practice one night in 1907 when they lived in Milwaukee. He was in a Lutheran Seminary. Mom was a secretary.

★ ★ ★

It took Dad four years to get around to a proposal. Mother was on her way out one day when he came dashing up to the house and blurted out, "I've just accepted a call as a missionary to the Apache Indians in Arizona. Will you go with me?"

They left for Arizona the day after they were married, carting all their worldly goods with them: a cookstove, some clothes, their Bible, a few other volumes and a mail order medical book.

Their first home consisted of two drab rooms of a four-room frame building on the east fork of the White River, the fledgling mission of the Wisconsin Lutheran Synod. Back in 1911 Arizona was not yet a state, only a territory. Mother went to work.

She learned to ride a horse so she could accompany her husband on his camp visits up and down the valleys and mountains of the 1,666,000-acre reservation.

They both learned the Apache language and Mother taught herself to play the piano and a small portable organ for church services.

LEARNED TO NURSE

During the epidemic that took a terrible toll of life, especially among the children, she learned how to nurse.

"It's remarkable," she says, "how much therapy there is in castor oil, epsom salts, skunk oil, axle grease, honey and water, flannel blankets, bed sheets torn into bandages, a pat on the head or behind — and love."

My parents were horrified to discover that the indians considered it an evil omen when twins or a deformed child were born. The practice was to kill one of the twins and all the cripples.

Mother took many such children into her home. The first child was bedded in an apple box in a corner of one of their two rooms.

From this humble beginning an orphanage was established which is now an institution caring for 37 children from broken homes and poor families. In the past 25 years 980 babies have been provided for.

Six months after they arrived Father built some desks and benches; Mother typed copy after copy of "textbooks" for reading, writing, arithmetic and religion; then she started a school in her house with 16 children. She fed them a hot meal at noon and also taught the girls how to sew, bake bread and raise vegetables.

Mother did all these things while she raised her own family. She had nine children, all born without benefit of doctor or hospital.

FATHER A MIDWIFE

When the first baby was arriving, Father reached for the home medical book and yelled, "Quick, Minnie. Read what I have to do." Mother couldn't find the place, so Father grabbed a passing cowboy, who officiated. After that Father was the midwife.

How she ever managed to stretch my father's $60 a month to feed and clothe us all still escapes me. But there was always enough food and we had a large garden.

With Mother's help Father built four churches around Whiteriver. Once he was offered a language professorship at a college. He preferred to remain on the reservation, despite the hardships. Seven years ago my father's tired body gave out.

My parents did their work well. All my sisters are housewives and mothers; one is a nurse; and two are teachers. Of my brothers, Edgar is an Army colonel, Roland is a sales and service manager, Jonathan is an engineer, and I'm a pastor on the reservation, trying to follow in my father's way — and my mother's.

Mother at 78 is still working. Every week she visits the hospital and daily holds open house for a stream of Indians who look to her to resolve all their heartaches: a quarreling couple; a drunken husband; a hungry family a child who needs help to go to school.

For her last birthday she wanted, of all things, a jungle gym. She put it in the playground across the street from my church.

At the last count, Mother had four great-grandchildren and 22 grandchildren. She and Father sent all their children to college. Ask her how she managed her brood and her answer is a message for today and for all time:

"Feed them, love them, give them a good Christian foundation, mix it all with discipline and you can bet they'll build well on that."

Striking Employes Return to Jobs Under Court Edict

By ED BLUNDEN

Pontiac firemen and other city employes returned to work last night under a Circuit Court order which ended, at least temporarily, a confrontation that included use of tear gas and charges of violence.

The order was issued by Judge Philip Pratt who had been conducting hearings with the three unions involved and the city almost continually since Monday morning.

The unions agreed to comply with the order which sent them back to work "in the public interest." A show-cause hearing on contempt of court charges was adjourned. The charges concern alleged improper picketing and failure on the part of firemen, to remain on the job as previously ordered by the court.

Contract bargaining resumed this morning between the city and its three unions, the Pontiac Firefighters Association, Pontiac Municipal Employes Association and the Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes Association.

The notice of the court order came dramatically as the City Commission was about to begin its 8 p.m. meeting.

About 200 jeering pickets were in front of city hall. Between them and the building were about 50 policemen under the personal charge of Chief William K. Hanger.

Though police were taunted, no violence occurred as it did Monday morning. At that time the pickets, apparently attempting to block all use of City Hall, clashed with police.

A tear-gas device was used Monday Four pickets are facing misdemeanor and some pickets fought with police. Four pickets are facing misdemeanor disturbance charges in District Court. A fifth is accused of blocking the driveway at the public works building on Wessen.

★ ★ ★

Moments before the City Commission began its meeting, pickets were informed of the court order and told by union leaders to return to work. The group then broke up quietly.

Edwin Manley, president of the firefighters association, later spoke to the commission. He said he was speaking for all three unions and said "We are going back to work under court order and not because of gas or (city) back-to-work orders." He added that the unions were "still willing to settle the issues at the bargaining table."

At the commission meeting District 4 Commissioner Jack Douglas demanded a report on "who gave the order to gas city employes?"

'SCAPEGOAT' OBJECTION

His resolution asking for the report passed over the objection of District 2 Commissioner Robert C. Irwin, who said the demand was an attempt "to find a scapegoat."

★ ★ ★

Commissioner and May Pro Tem T. Warren Folwer Sr., serving as mayor in place of the absent William H. Taylor Jr., said the report would give the police "a chance to defend themselves to the public."

Reds Curtail Travel to Berlin; Voting On

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany, with full approval of the Soviet Union, closed the main autobahn from West Berlin to the West twice today while West Germany's Federal Assembly met here to chose a new president of the Bonn Republic.

For the first time in the current war of nerves, East German troops also shut down the West Berlin entrance to a road leading to Hamburg in the north.

Voting proceeded in the East Prussian hall of the West Berlin fairgrounds, with Socialist Gustav Heinemann and Christian Democrat Gerhard Schroeder competing to succeed President Heinrich Luebke.

In the first ballot Heineman, West Germany's 69-year-old justice minister, fell five votes short of the majority needed for election on the first two ballots.

Six electors abstained, two votes were declared invalid, and the other 15 members of the assembly stayed away because of illness or other reasons.

★ ★ ★

Two hours before more than 1,000 members of the Federal Assembly met on the West Berlin fair grounds, the East Germans closed the main autobahn between West Berlin and West Germany for the fourth time in five days. But after three hours the Communists reopened the highway from Helmstedt.

Weather Outlook Is Cloudy, Mild

Skies will be mostly cloudy tomorrow but temperatures will continue mild. The high is expected to be in the low 40s.

The golden glow of the full moon occasionally will brighten skies tonight as it peeps in and out among scattered clouds. The temperature is expected to drop to a low of 17 to 23.

★ ★ ★

Winds will continue light and variable.

Probability of precipitation in per cent is 20 tomorrow.

A frosty 17 was the low recording prior to 8 a.m. today in downtown Pontiac. The mercury climbed to 36 by 12:30 p.m.

Decision on ABM Due Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon plans to announce next week whether he will scuttle the Sentinel missile defense system or give a "go" signal that could put him on course for a head-on collision with the Senate.

"I will make a decision and announce a decision on the ABM at the first of next week," the President told his nationally broadcast news conference last night.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a leading critic of the $5-billion Sentinel system, said shortly before Nixon spoke that if the administration decides to go ahead there will be a showdown in the Senate by April and the administration will lose.

Nixon's brief comments in answer to a question indicated the review may be complete and ready for scrutiny by the National Security Council at a meeting today.

Parochiaid Bill Is Due Today

LANSING (UPI) — Legislation to pump $40 million in tax funds into the state's 1,000 parochial schools was scheduled for introduction in the Michigan House today.

Backed mainly by the Roman Catholic church, the controversial Parochiaid plan was announced a month ago by a Senate-House study committee on nonpublic school financing.

★ ★ ★

Rep. J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, the chief sponsor, said it was too early to judge if the emotion-packed bill would pass, but he expressed "cautious optimism."

★ ★ ★

Related Stories, Pages A-3, D-6

OPPOSES DIRECT AID

"I don't think the state should support nonpublic schools by direct aid," Waldron said.

★ ★ ★

The strongest support for Parochiaid in the House is expected from the Democratic side of the aisle, though the Democratic State Central Committee has taken an official position against the plan.

★ ★ ★

Among new bills introduced yesterday were four aimed at controlling alleged discrimination practiced by suburban real estate companies.

★ ★ ★

Rep. James Bradley, D-Detroit, sponsored the package to prohibit discrimination in advertising, require a salesman to swear he will not discriminate, require real estate brokers to maintain a log of clients for state inspection and set up listing agreements between brokers and sellers banning discrimination.

★ ★ ★

"While legislation cannot force a change in the hearts, minds and attitudes of white men, it can help those who are willing to accept the black man as his friend and neighbor," Bradley said.

★ ★ ★

Other bills introduced would require fingerprinting and an investigation of all candidates for the Legislature nominated at the primary, and revoke the driver's license of any person under 18 who drops out of school.

Delay Ordered on Pontiac Tax Case Appeals

The Pontiac City Commission last night ordered further legal appeals on the city income tax case to be delayed at least a week.

Sherwin Birnkrant, city attorney, had requested that the commission allow him to prepare further appeals in the case which could end up with a citywide vote on the issue.

The original litigation has been sent back to the Oakland County Circuit Court by the Michigan Court of Appeals. At stake is a large share, $4.5 million out of $10.2 million, of the city's 1969 and future budgets.

The suit over legality of the income tax began before it went into operation in January 1968. Originally involved were the city and two of its employes. The employes blocked a citywide vote on the tax early in January by gaining a ruling from Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer.

THIRD PARTY IN SUIT

A third party in the suit is Cecil Mullinix, representing backers of the referendum. The Appeals Court ruling, said, in effect, that the Circuit Court must allow Mullinix to present evidence in the rehearing. Judge Beer had disallowed his testimony in the original suit contesting the legality of the referendum petitions.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners last night delayed a decision on seeking a new hearing in Appeals Court or an appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court on the basis they had not had time to study the issue.

The city collects 1 per cent of taxable income from residents of the city and one-half per cent from those working in the city limits but living outside.

Stadium Benefits Far-Reaching

Pontiac Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. sees the proposed domed stadium for professional sports as having benefits reaching far beyond the city limits.

"I can't think of a single segment of our community that would not benefit," Taylor said.

"And probably benefiting most of all will be the sports fans. We'll have a truly superior facility here and I'm sure the whole area will appreciate it."

The proposed stadium would be built at I-75 and M59 and house the Lions football and Tigers baseball teams.

Housing Project Upgrading OK'd

A $450,000 grant from the office of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for improvements to Pontiac's Lakeside Homes was announced yesterday by Rep. Jack McDonald, R-19th District.

The funds will be used to provide new siding on the homes for about 400 low-income families in the city's housing project on the southwest side.

Downspouts and rainwater gutters will be replaced, according to Roy MacAfee, director of the Pontiac Housing Commission.

MacAfee said the modernization program's objective is to "make life better for poor people.

"It's more than the physical surroundings, but the entire environment of the poor which we are trying to improve," he said.

The latest grant adds to $330,000 allowed by HUD last year for Lakeside. Those funds are slated for remodeling of kitchens, and retiling of kitchens, dining and living room areas.

★ ★ ★

Included is a day-care center for preschool children of working parents. Bids are now being asked on this project, MacAfee said.

★ ★ ★

The Lakside Homes project was built by the city in 1952. The city owns and operates the project for families meeting low-income requirements.

News Briefs Off the Wires

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird heads for Vietnam today on a presidential mission to assess the current enemy offensive and check the Saigon army's progress toward assuming a greater fighting role.

Laird's departure, scheduled after a morning meeting with President Nixon and the National Security Council, sends him on his first trip to Vietnam since taking over the Defense Department under the new administration.

His reports following the week-long tour of the Southeast Asian country could have a strong bearing on any Nixon decisions concerning reaction to the current wave of enemy attacks and possible cutbacks in U.S. troop strength.

4 Policemen Punished

DETROIT (AP) — A police trial board yesterday fired a patrolman, demoted two sergeants and ordered another patrolman to forfeit $5,000 in pay — all as a result of the beatings of Negro youths by off-duty policemen last Nov. 2.

A fifth policeman was found innocent.

The policemen were among nine suspended last Nov. 15 as a result of the incident outside the Veterans Memorial Building in downtown Detroit. Two other policemen face criminal assault charges.

Patrolman Richard Cooney Jr., 29, of the 12th Precinct, was fired. Reduced from sergeant to patrolman were Gerald Biscup, 38, of the Communications Bureau, and Thomas Myers, 40, of the Motor Traffic Bureau. They also were ordered to forfeit pay since their suspension.

Two other policemen previously were penalized 15 leave days at a commissioners hearing.

Jet Hijacked to Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A passenger wearing a Fu Manchu mustache and beard — and a hippie haircut — today hijacked a National Airlines jet to Cuba with 26 persons aboard. An airline spokesman said the Boeing 727 changed course about an hour after leaving New York's Kennedy Airport on a flight to Miami.

The plane, flight 97, carried a crew of six and 19 passengers. A supervisory employe of the airline also was aboard. The plane landed in Havana at 4:30 a.m. EST.

Entombed Miner Alive

LARK, Utah (AP) — A rescue team made voice contact today with a 61-year-old miner entombed by a rock fall in the Lark lead, zinc and silver mine four days ago. He amazed them by reporting that he was in good condition. The miner, William Jones, spoke to the team through a small air passage. Little hope had been held that Jones, father of 11 children, was still alive after being trapped in a tiny dead-end tunnel at 11 a.m. last Saturday.

1st U.S. Ship Swap in Space Completed

They reported all systems working well, an encouragement to American plans to land two men on the moon in a similar LEM next July.

The illness was not reported to newsmen for several hours and came to light only after the astronauts asked for a private conversation with ground controllers.

FELT FINE LATER

In an earlier private talk Schweickart had reported an upset stomach. In the second talk, he reported he was feeling fine.

Air Force Col. McDivitt followed Schweickart through the tunnel into the LEM, leaving Air Force Col. David R. Scott alone in the command module, which remained hooked nose-to-nose with the lunar vehicle.

McDivitt and Schweickart mounted a television camera in the rear of the LEM cabin and sent a seven-minute telecast to earth.

AUDIO PROBLEM

Initially there was problem with communications, but it was solved about halfway through the telecast.

The transfer tunnel was formed when Apollo 9 linked up with the LEM shortly after launching from Cape Kennedy Monday on a planned 10-day earth orbit mission.

Schweickart made the switch about 6:30 a.m. EST and was followed 30 minutes later by Apollo 9 commander McDivitt.

The transfer marked the first of three days in which the LEM is to be subjected to a rigorous series of tests. The astronauts today were to verify the craft ready to support a space walk by Schweickart tomorrow and a complex separation, rendezvous and docking exercise Friday.

EAGLE SCOUTS HONORED — Randall K. Hotz (right), 15, of 21500 Orchard Lake, Farmington Township, received a special honor at yesterday's Eagle Scout Recognition Day observed by the Clinton Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America. Hotz, a member of Troop 109 of Farmington, last year became the council's 1,000th Eagle. He is congratulated by Stanley L. Sowerwine, council scout executive. The council, now in its 51st year, honored 89 Eagles.

Nixon Is Weighing Retaliation in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, reporting a doubling of the American casualty rate since the start of the current enemy offensive in Vietnam, says the attacks can not be tolerated and will bring "appropriate response" if continued.

Nixon, in an unprecedented prime-time television-radio news conference limited to foreign affairs, said last night he is weighing several possible moves against the Vietcong and North Vietnam "if those attacks continue at their present magnitude."

REPORTS ON TOUR

Standing without notes before a bare double microphone stand in the East Room of the White House, the chief executive reported on his five-nation European tour and, in response to questions, also said:

● It is his "cautious conclusion" that the Soviet Union "will play possibly a peacemaking role in the Mideast and even possibly in Vietnam."

● He is optimistic about prospects for four-power talks on the Middle East and feels that while such conference could not impose a settlement, it is essential for the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Great Britain to guarantee an Arab-Israeli peace.

● American-Soviet summit talks at the highest level "are in the wings," pending the outcome of lower-level negotiations already under way.

Only 190 newsmen were counted in Nixon's audience—the smallest turnout for any of his three news conferences.

River Project Vexing Pontiac

A project which would cost the city of Pontiac $500,000 against its will was studied by the City Commission at last night's meeting.

The commission was informed of the formation of the Clinton Basin Drainage District, which plans a $19-million project to improve the Clinton River from Pontiac through Macomb County.

Plans are to assess municipalities along the route including Pontiac ($500,000) for their share of the cost.

The city engineering and legal staffs have opposed the inclusion of Pontiac at hearings held on the matter.

SEPARATE PLANS

The city has already spent $5 million on the river and has further plans separate from the newly proposed project to control the river in the city, it was announced.

Initiating the project were several townships in Macomb County. To be included are municipalities in 760 square miles drained by the stream to the east and south of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The Clinton River carries much of the storm water from the area and in the last few years flood conditions have prevailed downstream from the city during spring runoffs.

Another hearing in Mount Clemens on April 14 has been scheduled and city officials were told to attend.

Killed about 6:30 p.m. on Telegraph north of Pontiac Lake Road was Douglas R. Dooley, 17, of 1715 Mercedes, police said.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital, where his mother, Gladys, 48, and James D. Grindstaff, 22, of 5829 Southward are undergoing treatment.

Ingestigators said Grindstaff's car, headed south on Telegraph, crossed the double yellow median line into the northbound lanes and then collided head-on with the oncoming Dooley vehicle.

IN FAIR CONDITION

Grindstaff, reported in fair condition with a lacerated eye, hasn't yet been charged because of his injury, police said.

Terrorists Fail in Try to Kill S. Viet Premier

TRAN VAN HUONG

SAIGON (AP) — Terrorists tried unsuccessfully to assassinate South Vietnam's Premier Tran Van Huong in a daring daylight attack today, touching off a gun battle near the U. S. Embassy.

Alert Security guards foiled the assassination attempt, which Huong's chief spokesman called a "very well-planned plot." The 66-year-old premier escaped unhurt and was back at his desk a few hours later.

A spokesman for the premier said one terrorist and a suspect had been arrested. But police at the scene said four Vietcong troops wearing the uniforms of South Vietnamese rangers and a fifth man dressed in civilian clothes were captured. Police said one of the terrorists was slightly wounded in an exchange of gunfire.

There were no reports of any other casualties despite the outburst of shooting.

BOLDEST ATTACK

It was the boldest terrorist attack in Saigon since the Vietcong launched their spring offensive Feb. 23. Authorities had been on the alert since the capture of documents which said attempts to assassinate key officials would be made as part of the offensive.

PAPC Meeting Tonight on Bylaws

The Pontiac Area Planning Council (PAPC) will hold a special meeting on bylaws at 7:30 tonight at a new location, the third-floor auditorium in the Consumers Power Building, 28 W. Lawrence.

The only item on the agenda is consideration of proposed bylaw revisions presented to the PAPC by the Pontiac City Commission and the Pontiac Board of Education.

The two groups, which formed the PAPC to provide "citizens' participation" in planning matters, are presenting 15 amendments to the existing bylaws. The amendments have the avowed intent of increasing and tightening controls and communications among the three bodies.

The PAPC, in the opinion of city attorney Sherwin Birnkrant had been acting outside the provisions of the original bylaws in matters such as agenda items, budget and representation on the council.

Probe of 85 City Auto Thefts Nets 15 Youths, 2 Sentenced

Investigation of the thefts over the last five months of 85 automobiles valued at approximately $200,000 has led to sentencing of two youths and implication of 13 others, according to Pontiac police.

The 13 all are juveniles. Cases against eight are pending and five others apprehended have not been charged.

One of the two sentenced is a juvenile and has been sent to the county children's home. The other is Oliver Johnson, 17, of 598 Grenada, arrested in connection with the thefts but given two years' probation on a reduced charge of taking a car without the owner's permission.

The youth sent to the children's home was linked by fingerprints to the theft of an auto stolen in Pontiac. He ran away from home and was arrested several days later in Flint.

All 85 autos have been recovered, according to Detective James F. Fritz.

"Many times one or two youths would steal three cars during the night and four or five of them would take them on joyrides or race them," said Fritz.

Most of the cars were taken from parking lots at Kmart, Glenwood and N. Perry, and at Yankee Department Store, 792 N. Perry. Others were taken on fringe areas of the city.

Ignition switches were jimmied by the youths, aged 14 to 16, said Fritz.

BIG INCREASE

A big rise in auto thefts in Pontiac was reported last year. Auto thefts went from 380 in 1967 to 539 in 1968—an increase of almost 42 per cent.

School District Post Filled

BIRMINGHAM — Joseph F. Griffin has been named director of personnel relations for the Birmingham School District, the board of education announced last night.

Griffin, who will receive $18,000 a year, has been associated with the Inter-Chemical Corp. of Detroit. He served there as personnel manager, assistant manager and manager of industrial realtions. Griffin has had considerable experience with union contract administration, and grievance handling.

★ ★ ★

He previously was employed by Allstate Insurance Co., General Foods Corp., Uniroyal Corp. all in Detroit, and TRW Corp. in Warren.

3 Pontiac Men Arrested at OU

Three Pontiac men were arrested at Oakland University last night during two incidents in which Oakland County sheriff's deputies were called in to assist campus police.

Deputies were first called to the campus at 11:20 p.m. when a campus police officer said he needed help to arrest Moore, who reportedly was causing a disturbance in a dormitory and allegedly assaulted a student.

SENT BACK

Two deputies were sent back to asist three campus officers in the arrest of Price and Brown at 1:04 a.m.

Three or four persons argued with campus officers over the arrest of Moore, according to campus police.

Police said Price refused to leave the public safety department parking lot and had to be handcuffed. Brown tried to interfere with the arrest, they added.

Moore and Price were released from jail on $50 bond. Their arraignment is set for Friday. Brown is being held in jail for arraignment scheduled this afternoon.

In other business, the board approved a Birmingham school district-Michigan State University Cooperative Education project for this summer at Covington Junior High School.

The program will focus attention on personal and social values using inquiry and inductive learning processes. It is designed to involve both the student and teacher in problem solving and formulation of value judgments.

The board also approved final plans for the Baldwin Elementary School play area. In an amendment to the plan, parking space was reduced in order to provide more play space.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Bernard Girard of 1250 Vaughn, a Pontiac attorney will be the only newcomer fighting for a city commission seat at the city election April 7.

OU Readying Summer School

Plans are nearly complete for the pioneer summer session at Oakland University, according to Lewis N. Pino, Summer school dean.

In addition to being aimed at the needs of regular OU students, the summer school hopes to enroll, on a guest basis, students from other institutions who would be interested in taking a course or two at Oakland during the summer vacation, Pino said.

Application for guest admission may be made with the director of admissions, and requests for a catalog or general information may be addressed to the summer school office.

MOST FOR 4 CREDITS

Pino said that almost all of the summer classes will be for four credits.

Several courses dealing with black history and sociology will be offered.

Oakland previously has operated on a three-semester program designed to permit the student who wished to take courses year-round to receive his bachelor's degree in two and two-thirds years.

Because of diminishing enrollments in the spring semester, the University Senate voted to change the academic year into segments of fall and winter semesters, plus an abbreviated spring session and the new eight-week summer school session.

VC Warning to U. S.

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Nugyen Thi Binh, deputy leader of the National Liberation Front's delegation at the Paris peace talks, said today it would be "a big mistake" for the United States to resume the bombing of North Vietnam. "Last time the bombing was met with defeat, and if it is resumed it will meet the same fate and have no result," she said.

'Parochial Schools Need Federal Aid'

WASHINGTON (AP) —A Roman Catholic educator said Tuesday the church's parochial school system is in danger of collapse and needs a prompt infusion of federal financial aid.

Without such assistance, said the Very Rev. Msgr. James C. Donohue, parochial schools will be forced to close, throwing thousands of pupils on already overburdened public school systems.

Donohue urged Congress to provide a federal grant of $100 per pupil each year for the next four years for all five million students in private and public elementary and secondary schools.

* * *

Donohue, director of elementary and secondary education for the U.S. Catholic Conference, was one of eight Catholic educators who appeared before the House Education and Labor Committee to urge continuation of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA).

'NOT GETTING SHARE'

The Act, passed in 1965, provides federal aid for educationally disadvantaged children, whether in private or public schools. The money goes to the local public school system, which is supposed to include eligible children from private schools in the programs.

* * *

Donohue and the other witness said in most cases parochial school children are not getting their share of the money. They blamed lack of consultation and inadequate funding for the situation, not any deliberate attempt to leave them out.

* * *

The Very Rev. Msgr. Edward T. Hughes, superintendent of schools for the archdiocese of Philadelphia, said that although 35 per cent of the children in Philadelphia are educated in Catholic schools, they have received only 10 per cent of the city's ESEA funds.

Similar testimony was given by the heads of the parochial school systems in San Diego, Brooklyn, Kansas City, Kan., New Orleans, Milwaukee and Portland, Ore.

'MUST FAIL TO SURVIVE'

Donohue said that unless more federal and state aid is given to the parochial schools, "We must surely fail to survive."

Osteopathic College Adds 2 to Faculty

The Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine (MCOM), which plans to open this fall in Pontiac, has added two faculty members. Dr. Harry A. Lichty of 1653 Cass Lake, Keego Harbor, and Dr. John L. Taylor Jr. of Detroit.

Dr. Lichty, who has been administrative assistant of the American Osteopathic Association's office of Education for eight years, will be associate professor of community medicine.

* * *

He will be working to develop a community health center intended to provide comprehensive health care for the poor of Pontiac.

The center is being planned with Harambee, Inc., a Negro community development organization, and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority, a nonprofit corporation which provides technical and professional assistance to citizen groups in community planning and renewal.

LIAISON POST

Dr. Lichty also will serve in a liaison capacity between faculty and the school's advisory committee on the integration of osteopathic principles and manipulative therapy into the MCOM curriculum.

Dr. Taylor will be associate professor of physiology and assistant to the dean.

He will have primary responsibility for neurobiology in the basic science curriculum and also will assist Dr. Myron S. Magen, dean of MCOM, in faculty development and student admissions.

Dr. Taylor received his bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago and his Ph D. from the University of California, Los Angeles.

THE PONTIAC PRESS

48 West Huron Street — Pontiac, Michigan 48056

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1969

Firemen Back on Job

The Pontiac fire fighters had gambled long enough with the public safety of the City. Circuit Judge PHILIP PRATT'S intercession ended the threat and put the firemen and other city workers back on the job again.

During the tumultuous negotiations with the City, firemen had walked off their jobs several times, leaving the City at the mercy of any major conflagration.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps many striking firemen would have responded to a major blaze, but the valuable first few minutes would have been gone. By the time help from other cities and townships arrived, and the strikers got going, we could have lives lost, and had major property destroyed.

★ ★ ★

Such irresponsibility could not be tolerated.

As Pontiac residents spent the uneasy hours dreading the wail of a siren, the eyes of the entire State and Nation were focused on Pontiac and its striking firemen. If there had been a loss of life due to fire while the stations were empty, the reputation of fire fighters here and everywhere would suffer for years.

Hardly Improving His Position!

State Hospital Neglected

ANDERSON

There, despite Governor MILLIKEN'S budgetary request for a $1-million increase over the institution's current $10.7 operating budget (now running $75,000 in the red), from 400 to 600 patients in the 91-year-old section of the hospital will still be without heat or electricity in the 200 to 300 rooms they sleep in. In many of the rooms, window panes are broken, and the openings stuffed with blankets, rags and newspapers to keep out the winter cold.

★ ★ ★

For according to hospital authorities, the requested increase in the budget would do little more than maintain the status quo after providing for vitally-needed professional and nonprofessional additions to the staff to bring programs for patient treatment up to minimal requirements, and to meet a general pay raise effective July 1.

That an institution that serves a 10-county area and treats with one of mankind's most tragic afflictions — mental illness — could in this enlightened age be found in such a state is unthinkable.

It is direful and deplorable — so deplorable, indeed, that a public-spirited Waterford Township housewife, Mrs. JAMES BOYLAN, organized a volunteer "paint-in" for last weekend to coat the peeling walls of the most shabby areas of the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Fortunately, the emergency facing Pontiac State Hospital has a staunch champion in Rep. LOREN ANDERSON, R-Waterford Township, who decries the inconsistency of the State's proposal to build a $50-million capitol complex while disregarding the urgency of institutional improvements essential to the well-being of its mental patients in several institutions.

★ ★ ★

Citing the cut in the executive budget from $8.1 million to $4.5 million for such improvements, the legislator declared: "It should be a shame on the conscience of this State that mental health patients are being forced to live in unlivable buildings."

We couldn't agree more.

Time Beckons Spacemen

The announcement by astronaut WALTER SCHIRRA that he will retire from the space corps this June reminds us how old we're getting and how fast.

★ ★ ★

It was but 10 short years ago that the seven original Mercury astronauts were selected. SCHIRRA'S retirement will leave only DONALD SLAYTON, ALAN SHEPARD and GORDON COOPER still in the space program, with only COOPER still medically eligible to fly spacecraft.

★ ★ ★

Two others, John Glenn and Scott Carpenter, have retired and one, Virgil Grissom, was killed in the Apollo capsule fire in January 1967.

It's a hackneyed phrase, but that's because there aren't any better words: "It seems like just yesterday . . ."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Two-Way Need

Port Huron Times-Herald

A police Chief in New Jersey is planning to abandon traditional police uniforms. He says that "no one has respect for the policeman's uniform anymore so we thought we'd change it."

That, in our opinion, would be a grave mistake. It would not be a reasonable adaptation to change; it would be capitulation to pressure.

What is needed is a renewed image, not only in the mind of the public, but in the attitude of the lawman. The public must respect the uniform, and the policeman must be proud to wear it.

Traditionally, the citizen is cast in a defensive role in his contacts with police. He is being stopped for a traffic violation or hauled into court for some other kind of infraction. Yet the average law-abiding citizen recognizes that the police uniform is the symbol of social order.

A society based on a philosophy of every man for himself would be unthinkable, even to the fuming motorist who is handed a ticket for speeding.

People do respect the police uniform, even though they might not particulary care for the personality within it. And they want the man wearing the uniform to respect it, too, in the fullest sense of the word.

In French

Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution

Scandinavians are said to view sex less intensely than we do in America. That may or may not be true, but certainly in Stockholm the Swedish government's attitude toward sex is worth noting.

★ ★ ★

An example that may reflect the government's broad thinking on the subject is a sex manual for immigrants. It is being published in Finnish, German, Greek, Italian, Spanish, English, Turkish, Czech and — believe it or not — French.

★ ★ ★

We understand that the French are so offended that De Gaulle is thinking about publishing in Swedish a guide on how a nation can very profitably sit out two world wars while its neighbors are being torn apart.

David Lawrence Says:

Teacher-Quota Rift Hits Cabinet

WASHINGTON — Coordination between Cabinet departments under President Nixon seems not yet to have been achieved.

LAWRENCE

In fact, the Department of Justice is on record today as favoring a quota system in the selection of teachers in the public schools, whereas the Department of Health, Education and Welfare thinks this could be damaging to the quality of education in the public schools.

The Supreme Court has just agreed to examine a test case on the subject which may not be argued before next fall.

In the case which now is up for appeal before the Supreme Court, the lower court ruled that a "good faith and effective effort" is sufficient on the part of a school board, and that mere precise proportional patterns in teaching staffs would not make for sound administration.

Both of the lower courts refused to require the faculties of newly built schools to be assigned by racial proportions.

5-TO-1 RATIO

The Court of Appeals in the Fifth Circuit designated for the current year a ratio of five white teachers to one Negro in the faculty, and rejected the three-to-two proportion demanded for the future. The Department of Justice is on record in favor of the eventual three-to-two percentage.

The latest word from the information office in the department is that the attitude taken in the brief filed under the previous administration will be maintained.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has joined with the Department of Justice in arguing that desegregation requires faculty integration.

It insists on a ratio of three white to two Negro teachers in each public school of Montgomery County, Ala., where the suit arose. This is the current racial proportion of the total number of the teachers at present in the school system in the county.

NO ARGUMENT

There is no argument about the necessity of desegregating public schools so that white and Negro children are assigned to schools and classrooms in their own district without regard to race.

The issue that has arisen now has to do with the policy of school authorities in selecting teachers.

Will they choose them because of their qualifications, or will they hire them on the basis of color?

To decide in favor of a particular race in employing members of a faculty would be racial discrimination, and the ability and capacity to teach would have to be disregarded.

★ ★ ★

So, the issue is really whether schoolchildren will be given education of the highest quality, or whether it will be impaired in those cases where less competent teachers have to be employed just because of their race.

Bob Considine Says:

Baseball Is Only Sport Which Glorifies Losers

NEW YORK — Millions of baseball fans are eagerly awaiting the opening of the major league season — however diluted by the awful escalation—so that they can root for utter incompetents.

CONSIDINE

Baseball is unique in that respect. It is perhaps the only sport that glorifies losers, especially losers who are chronic failures or eccentric. In track and field, let's say, only the immediate families can remember who won the third-place bronze star in the hop, skip and jump. I've forgotten the name of every runnerup in the international telegraphic chess championship.

In other sports, failure or wretched incompetence leads to being poled out of town festooned in a coating of tar and feathers. But baseball — that's different.

One of the worst major league ball clubs I've detected in three decades and more, man and boy, is the New York Mets.

BIG LEAGUE IMPOSTERS

A quarter of a century ago and more they would have been arrested as big league impostors and all would have been brought before Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, an angry old ham who was the first and surely the last of the baseball czars.

But the fans of the Mets are the most deliriously devoted brood that can be found. The New York Yankees, who dominated the sport for the better part of three decades, have in recent years been as awful as the Mets. But for some reason the area's baseball fans have preferred the incompetence and balminess of the Mets over that of the Yankees.

The old Brooklyn Dodgers were a collection of interesting clowns, with as loyal a following as any team in history. Things happened at Ebbets Field that could happen no other place in baseballdom.

Casey Stengel, long since in the Hall of Fame for winning 10 pennants for the Yankees, once was paid $8,0000 NOT to manage the Dodgers.

UNIQUE EXCUSE

Babe Herman did indeed double into a triple play, in a mixup on the basepaths. Three Dodgers did indeed wind up on third base.

A Dodger did indeed offer an excuse to the third-base coach for not sliding into the bag on a close play. The excuse was in the form of a question: "And break my cigars?"

★ ★ ★

I once knew a fine young copy boy on the N.Y. Mirror who would husband his small earnings and depart New York, on his two-week vacation, for St. Louis. Incredibly, young Arthur Richman was a fan of the St. Louis Browns. He is now the excellent promotion director of the Mets. Naturally.

Voice of the People:

'Improvements to M59 Needed for Many Years'

Perhaps the State is correct in saying that there are presently no funds for the improvement of M59, but who is to blame for this highway not receiving attention before this time? This highway should have been widened to an adequate two-lane highway long before the days of expressways.

★ ★ ★

There are a number of State highways that have been improved in recent years that do not carry nearly the amount of traffic that M59 does. There must be some solution to the problem. Perhaps a recall of those responsible for this lack of action might get the job done.

Possible Solution to Many of Our Problems

Possibly 90 per cent of our troubles would be eliminated if every worker in every occupation at every level of our economic strata were compelled to deliver an honest day's work for an honest day's pay. This would involve a moratorium on strikes, threats of strikes and the constant inflationary pay raise without a corresponding increase in productivity.

★ ★ ★

It would also involve a halt to our government's paying our tax money to those who do not choose to work for a living.

R. F. DOHNER

'How Many Pay Incorrect Property Taxes?'

Did you know that unless you pay your house taxes "under protest" you cannot be refunded your money even though the assessors make an error on the addition of your points? How many are overpaying because of the assessor's error and won't be able to get credit? Taxes are high enough without being overcharged.

GERALD L. ALLEN

Questions Light at Downtown Intersection

My wife and I must go into Pontiac to work. This is the only reason we go into town, having agreed that since the City income tax went into effect, the City of Pontiac was entitled to no more of our money. Could someone explain why the traffic signal at the Saginaw-Huron intersection flashes all three colors on Huron, and only red coming out of the parking malls?

MICHAEL PATRIX

Suggests Citizens Pray for One Another

Assuming that a high percentage of the people on both sides of the high school site question consider themselves Christians, here is a suggestion. Pray for each other. After you have prayed regularly for someone you see him in a different light. You are able to understand his viewpoint better. It is impossible to pray for someone for very long without beginning to love him — the kind of love Christ preached on earth. Of course, prayer must be accompanied by a sincere effort to work together for a compromise.

'Will We Need Council If There Is No City?'

If we vote "no" for the charter of the new city of Rochester Hills, we will still have another year in which to become fully acquainted with both the facts and the seven member council we are asked to elect. Why are we urged by proponents of the new city charter to vote for the seven councilmen even though we vote "no" for cityhood? We wonder why they will be needed if there is no city.

PAUL LESTERMAN

Letters Discuss Waterford School Taxes

I am a taxpayer interested in obtaining the most from my tax money. I have examined financial records which are open to the public at the Waterford Township Hall, Oakland County Schools and Waterford School District offices. From this I have concluded that the Waterford School district is very careful in spending my tax dollars. Mr. Eldon Rosegart, a capable and experienced school administrator, represents us in Lansing through the Oakland Schools, as a lobbyist for State financial aid. We employ a nationally recognized administrator in the person of Dr. Tatroe, who along with the school board has a problem that only we taxpayers can solve. Let's support them in the coming millage election.

GERALD A. BREDRICKSEN

The Waterford Township School Board wants another election on the nine mill tax and a bond issue when we have already taken in $1,134,364 more in tax money than two years ago. I cannot see the need for more money to be spent foolishly.

Question and Answer

When a millage election loses, such as in two previous Waterford elections, how can taxpayers be forced to pay for another one?

REPLY

By law the Board of Education is empowered to call special elections. If residents don't want to pay for another one, they'll have to talk to Board members and convince them they shouldn't call another.

NEW BLOCKING TECHNIQUE — Pontiac Central's Larry Walker seems to be using his uplifted leg to keep Kettering's Rick Colonna from recovering the loose basketball Tuesday night. Jerry Ratliff (right) of PCH made the pickup before WKHS' Dave Arsen or Dave Powell (11) could move in. Clayton Burch of PCH watches at the left. Walker had his best varsity game for Central, scoring 15 points, and Ratliff finished with 14 in the Chiefs' easy victory.

Top Players Out, H. Park Easy Victim

Ambitious Southfield, cochampion of the Southeastern Michigan Association, put an end to battered and broken Hazel Park's misery with a 68-54 Class A district conquest last night at Ferndale.

The 6-foot-6 DeCosta missed Hazel Park's last two games with a broken finger, while the elusive star guard Merchel broke his wrist in last Friday's 78-50 loss at Southfield.

QUICK LEAD

Southfield jumped into a 21-10 lead as Dave Wieland registered 28 of his 15 points in the initial period. The losers reduced the margin to 33-26 by the intermission, and only trailed 37-33 midway through the third quarter.

But the Blue Jays then went on a 13-6 spree to insure themselves of their third victory over Hazel Park in the last five weeks.

Tribe Looks for Runmaker

By the Asosciated Press

Sam McDowell, who happens to be a pitcher, has a theory about why the Cleveland Indians didn't finish higher in the American League standings last year. It was not the fault of the pitchers, says pitcher McDowell.

Alvin Dark, who manages the Indians, has a hunch that Sudden Sam is right and that's why Dark's eyes—and McDowell's too—lit up Tuesday over the training camp slugging of rookie Richie Scheinblum.

* * *

Scheinblum, a perennial training camp dropout, boomed several long shots. "He looks real good," said Dark. "I'm going to play him a while and see if he can keep it up."

If he can it would certainly help McDowell's outlook. "I lost three games without an earned run being scored off me last year," said the big left-hander, who was 15-14 in 1968.

NEED RUNS

"I'm no expert," McDowell continued, "but I say what this team needs is a fellow who might hit only .120 but can get a hit with men on base to score some runs."

Scheinblum hopes he can hit more than that and provide McDowell and the other Indian hurlers with the runs they lacked last year.

* * *

Ted Williams learned a little bit Tuesday about how baseball has changed in the eight years that he's been out of the game.

"Walks always worry you," said Williams, who didn't bat .400 by waiting for four balls. "I hope it registered on our players that the walks led to runs."

Williams, who later announced the hiring of Joe Comancho as a coach, mellowed a bit later. "We're getting in shape and having fun doing it and that's what we're here for," he said.

It has been anything but fun for Baltimore's Brooks Robinson so far. Robinson was struck twice in the back by thrown balls Monday and then stopped a pitch just below his left knee in Tuesday's intrasquad game. Three other Orioles, Paul Blair, Dave Johnson and Terry Crowley, also came up with minor bumps and bruises.

"That's what we like to see," said Alston, "a daring runner."

Jerry Grote rapped two homers and a double and drove in five runs in the New York Mets' intrasquad opener while Ed Kirkpatrick tagged a triple and a double and drove in five runs in Kansas City's final intrasquad game.

Others players who signed Tuesday included Rod Carew, Minnesota's second baseman, shortstop Dal Maxvill of the St. Louis Cardinals and catcher Bob Barton of the San Francisco Pirate to come to terms.

Northville '5' in 80-74 Win

Holly Applies Brakes to Losing Streak

Northville took the first step toward a possible Class B District title trophy on its home floor with an 80-74 decision over weak Dearborn Annapolis (4-13) Tuesday night.

The Mustangs raised their record to 10-8, the best among the six teams in their district, behind the strong one-two scoring of Jeff Taylor (24 points) and Ron Hubbard (22).

Down by a point at the half, Northville received 16 tallies from Hubbard and 13 from Taylor in the final half as they ran up 44 points after the rest break. It amassed a 14-point lead midway through the final quarter.

Sophomore Kerry Cushing, whose 6-foot-4 frame gives the Mustangs a much-needed height factor, came off the bench to score eight points and grab six rebounds in his varsity debut.

REBOUNDING

Taylor had 11 rebounds to pace the winners in that phase of play. LJeff Korte of Annapolis led all the scorers with 27 points, 13 of them coming in the fourth quarter.

Northville will meet Clarenceville (5-11) in Thursday's semifinal doubleheader. The other game will have Dearborn Riverside playing Lutheran West. Riverside routed Livonia Churchill last night, 99-67.

Holly shook off a three-game losing skid and posted its fifth victory in 18 starts with a lopsided 85-62 rout of Flint Atherton in other Class B tournament activity last night.

In Class C, Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows was a 59-50 loser to Dearborn St. Alphonsus.

Big 'D' Spurs Knicks Past Pistons, 102-99

By The Associated Press

Dave DeBusschere had a king-sized lump on his left temple but he was otherwise level-headed and sound of mind when he made that statement Tuesday night in New York.

The big forward of the New York Knicks had just ruined his former Detroit teammates with 21 points in a bruising performance that enabled the Knicks to nip the Pistons 102-99 and set a club season record of 48 National Basketball Association victories.

* * *

But late in the third period he was knocked silly when he ran into an elbow tossed by Moore, Detroit's skinny 6-foot-11, 205-pound rookie. Chamberlain, the 7-1, 275-pound monster of the Los Angeles Lakers, eats Moores for breakfast.

In other NBA games, Baltimore stopped Los Angeles 116-108- Chicago nipped Philadelphia 114-113; Seattle knocked off San Diego 130-116 San Francisco downed Boston 99-95, and Cincinnati blasted Phoenix 141-122.

HIT BY HAMMER

"He's really got bony elbows, doesn't he?" DeBusschere wailed after the collision that had him seeing stars for several minutes. "It was like getting hit by a hammer. At least guys like Chamberlain have some meat on them."

After time out for repairs, DeBusschere walked to the foul line, grinned at Moore and said, "Why don't you get some meat on your elbows."

* * *

It wasn't one of the Knicks' better performances of late. But they still ran their record to 30-7 since acquiring DeBusschere last December and enabled them to climb within one game of second-place Philadelphia in the NBA's Eastern Division. The 76ers lost to Chicago.

Denver Plays Defender Role

Hockey Playoffs Set at Two Ice Sites

DENVER (AP)— Denver University, defending NCAA hockey champions, puts its title on the line Thursday as the annual Western Collegiate Hockey Association playoffs get under way.

One set of playoffs will be held here with Minnesota-Duluth, Denver, North Dakota and Colorado College taking part. The other will begin Friday at Ann Arbor, Mich., with Michigan State, Michigan Tech, the regular season WCHA winner, Minnesota and Michigan competing.

* * *

Winners of the two playoffs will be probable picks for the NCAA Hockey Championships, scheduled at Colorado Springs, Colo., March 13-15.

Last year, the Pioneers won the WCHA playoffs and went on to sweep the NCAA. It's a different story this year as Michigan Tech finished on top in the WCHA with DU a close second.

"Anyone of the four teams is capable of winning our playoff," said Denver coach Murry Armstrong. "Duluth and Colorado College have the type of goaltenders who can help their teammates beat any team in the WCHA with a hot night."

Wooden Regains Award

Cage Honors for UCLA Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Wooden, whose mighty UCLA Bruins have won 87 of their last 88 games, today was named the college basketball Coach of the Year for 1969 by The Associated Press.

* * *

The 59-year-old Wooden thus regained the honor he lost last season to Guy Lewis of Houston after Houston had snapped UCLA's 47-game winning streak.

* * *

The defeat did not keep UCLA from going on to win the national collegiate championship, a feat which the Wooden Wonders are expected to accomplish this season for an unprecedented third straight time as a grand climax to the Lew Alcindor era.

Wooden, a native of Martinsville, Ind. and a Purdue basketball star in the early 1930s, won by a wide margin over Lou Carnesecca of St. John's of New York in the annual voting by 329 sports writers and broadcasters.

SCHMIDT THIRD

Wooden polled 113 votes to 37 for Carnesecca. Harv Schmidt of Illinois was third with 30 followed by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky with 23 and Dean Smith of North Carolina with 22.

* * *

* * *

After them came Lou Henson of New Mexico State with six, Lefty Driesell of Davidson and Maurice John of Drake, five each, Russ Walseth of Colorado and Johnny Dee of Notre Dame, four each, George King of Purdue and Ted Owens of Kansas, three each.

Tied at two each were Tex Winter of Washington, Norm Stewart of Missou, Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, Al McGuire of Marquette and Roy Skinner of Vanderbilt.

* * *

JOHN WOODEN

ONLY UNBEATEN

Wooden's UCLA team is the only major unbeaten team in the country this year with a 24-0 mark and a current winning streak of 40, including the 16 games last season after the defeat by Houston.

* * *

The Bruins have won 44 straight league games in the Pacific-8 conference and have never been beaten on their home court at Pauley Pavilion, which opened three years ago.

Cards' Unsigned List Down to 1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Julian Javier might like to make the St. Louis Cardinals a million dollar ball club, but General Manager Bing Devine would just as soon be spared the honor.

* * *

Javier, the wide-ranging second baseman, is the last player unsigned. He is due at the Cards' training camp today and is expected to quickly agree to terms, club sources indicated.

EMU Advances With 99-87 Win Over Lutheran '5'

YPSILANTI (AP) — Eastern Michigan defeated Michigan Lutheran for the second night in a row Wednesday winning a berth in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics basketball playoffs at Kansas City next week.

* * *

EMU captain Harvey Marlatt led the Hurons to their 99 - 87 victory with 26 points, giving him a total of 53 in the two games of the District 23 NAIA playoff.

* * *

* * *

Central Wins Skiing Crown

Chiefs' Boys, Girls Teams Victorious

* * *

Both the girls and boys teams emerged with wins for the Chiefs. PCH's girls totaled 287.6 with Pontiac Catholic second at 316.7.

In the boys division, PCH set the pace with 323.1, followed by Pontiac Northern (359.7) and Pontiac Catholic (425.6).

LEADS GIRLS

Phyllis McMillen posted a time of 93.6 seconds to lead the girls. Trailing her were Ann Marie Sabato (Catholic), Connie Cuthrell (PCH), Pat Lewis (PCH), Joan Hartley (Cath) and Linda Guzman (Cath).

* * *

Bruce Clark won both slalom events and posted a time of 71.7 second to lead the boys division. Teammates Roger Bergo placed third and Doug Senpere fifth.

* * *

NBA Job Offer for Boxer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Former middleweight contender Gypsy Joe Harris has been offered a job with the Pennsylvania government in the area of rehabilitating youth.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Carfer

What was the worst player deal ever made in the history of baseball? . . . How about this one . . . In 1920 the Boston Red Sox sent a young player to the Yankees by the name of Babe Ruth . . . Many experts agree that was the most foolish deal of all-time.

* * *

Here are amazing similarities in the first games played in college basketball by two of the greatest players of all-time, Lew Alcindor and Wilt Chamberlain . . . Chamberlain played his first varsity college game Dec. 3, 1956 and Alcindor played his first college varsity game EXACTLY 10 years later to the day — Dec. 3, 1966 . . . In their college debuts, Chamberlain and Alcindor each scored 56 in the 5th, each missed exactly nine field goal attempts and each set a new school single - game scoring record in their first games.

* * *

Do you know there's a big league sports team on which the coach is younger than almost half his players! . . . It's St. Louis of the National Hockey League whose coach, Scotty Bowman, is 35 years old . . . Some of the stars on the team are Jacques Plante who's 39, Glenn Hall, 37, Doug Harvey, 44, Al Arbour, 36 and Camille Henry, 36 . . . The Blues are interesting to follow because they have the oldest players of any team in the history of professional sports.

I bet you didn't know . . . that if your tires aren't giving you the smooth comfortable ride you expect — one say we can true and balance them for top performance on our Anermac tire truer.

INSPECT YOUR DRINKING WATER
You probably have not! Like most people we take water for granted. It's always available and as much as we want, and assume it is clean and pure. BUT . . . if you were to inspect your water very closely you would probably find SILT, RUST, SEDIMENT, SCALE PARTICLES, SAND, ALGAE, DIRT, CLOUDINESS, MOST OTHER SUSPENDED MATTER and above all . . . WORMS!
SURPRISED?? Most people would be, but it's true. They are very common in water and you drink them without knowing it. These creatures are called "nematodes" which are small and threadlike. This is not a "scare message" but DON'T settle for these water conditions. Like MAGIC, you can turn your present water supply into CLEAN, CRYSTAL-CLEAR water with "Guardian" the amazing water filter with throw-away sediment S-1 cartridges. For just pennies a day, this hard working "GUARDIAN" operates efficiently and out-performs any other filter. (It does not soften water.)

Trade Fairly Active

Stock Market Opens Higher

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened higher today in fairly active trading.

There is some belief that a continuation of yesterday's rally may be in the cards, particularly since it followed a prolonged decline which sent many issues to their worst levels in more than a year.

Record automobile sale in late February were likely to be a bolstering factor along with President Nixon's belief Russia will reduce the tension in the Berlin situation. Still, concern over tight money and the stalemate at the Vietnam peace conference may limit interest of traders.

Shortly after the opening, the UPI stock market indicator showed a gain of 0.50 per cent on 340 issues on the tape. There were 187 advances and 75 declines.

STEELS ADVANCE

Steels moved forward, chemicals showed scattered strength and electronics moved in both directions.

U.S. Steel rose ½, while Republic gained ¼. Armco picked up ½, but Jones & Laughlin was unchanged.

Penzoil added ⅜ in the oils. Occidental picked up ⅛ Mobil 1. Cities Service dropped ¾. Standard of California was unchanged.

Control Data gained ⅛ in the electronics, with General Electric and Westinghouse rising ¼ and ⅜ in that order. Scientific Data fell.

Ford lost ⅛ in the mixed motors, but General Motors, which paced the industry to record sales in late February, rose ¾. American Motors was unchanged.

A Look at TV

Nixon Format Effective

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — President Richard M. Nixon's press conference format continues to work effectively for the President and helpfully for the television audiences.

The President in his Tuesday night report on his recent European tour stood as usual before a microphone on an unadorned platform and spoke directly to the reporters and cameras in front of him. The session lasted just under an hour.

The President opened with a brief statement, expressing hopes for a new international atmosphere of confidence and trust and then laid down the ground rules—any area of foreign policy could be covered but he would reveal none of the confidential and personal conversations with European leaders.

Then, in response to questions, he covered subjects ranging from our response to attacks from Hanoi, the West Berlin situation, Arab-Israeli relations and our relationship to France. He answered frankly, carefully and briefly. He seemed completely at ease, seemed fresh and untired and at his best.

Earlier, Jacques Yves Cousteau and his intrepid divers took viewers undersea on a very modern treasure hunt. The hourlong ABC program was one of the most fascinating in the thoroughly delightful series.

Cousteau and company located the skelton of an old sailing ship that long ago sank on a shallow coral reef off Puerto Rico. Since a Spanish galleon, a treasure ship, was known to have broken up and sunk in that vicinity, the crew of that floating laboratory, the Calypso, turned gold-seekers.

As usual, the undersea photography was the most interesting part of the program, but this time there was, for added interest, the sight of the equipment used by 20th century treasure hunters.

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Tony Bennett and Count Basie opened at the Copacabana and were so overwhelmingly good that they almost completely silenced ringsider Jack E. Leonard, which heretofore was considered an impossible feat. Normally he would be barking funnies at the star from his table. He apologized for having nothing demolishing to say. "What can you say about a guy that sings ballads?" he said. "The worst thing you can say is that he sings ballads."

YOUNG

When Aristotle Onassis is asked whether Jackie Onassis is expecting, he doesn't really say yes or no and leaves the questien-asker more puzzled than when he inquired.

Eddie Fisher and Connie Stevens straightened out any differences they had and are very happy together, Eddie proud of his two babies by Connie . . . Jane Morgan showed the crowd at Danny's a 52-carat star sapphire her husband Jerry Weintraub gave her celebrating her appearance in "Mame." (She'll be leaving in May.)

★ ★ ★

The new thing in shapes may be Jean Norman, a bustaceous beauty from Anderson, S.C., and Atlanta, with a size 40 bosom, who resembles Jayne Mansfield, and is pushed for movies and TV by a top agency. Jean's craziest experience here was calling for help and being rescued by a cop—who then insisted on taking her home, all the way up to her room. When the cop became insistent, she says she told him "I don't think I need any more security."

(I don't believe that about our Finest—do you?)

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Richard Burton took daughter Kate to see Liz Taylor emote on the set of "Only Game in Town"; later Sybil Burton took her to watch Jordan Christopher act in "Angel, Angel Down You Go" . . . Warren Beatty'll write a book for the New American Library—not about girls, but about film directors . . . MGM will star Jack Wild (who has an Oscar nomination for "Oliver") in a remake of "Captains Courageous" (in Freddy Bartholomew's role).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jim Mulholland says sadly his girl friend is a terrible cook: "She had to register her stove with the police as a deadly weapon."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Fannie Flagg claims New York is the only city where mothers call their children indoors to play in the fresh air.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "March is the perfect month—time to put away the snow shovel, but not yet time to get out the lawn mower.

EARL'S PEARLS: Rodney Dangerfield describes willpower: "That's when the condemned man is asked what he wants for his last meal—and he sticks to Metrecal."

E. G. Rosenblatt applauds President Nixon for saving money: "For instance, he toured Europe during the off-season." . . . That's earl, brother.

Senator Raps TV Violence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., says violence on television has "gotten completely out of hand" and the industry has failed to live up to its promises to do something about it.

Pastore, chairman of the Senate communications subcommittee, said Tuesday he was grieved by what he termed "the recklessness on the part of the networks—and it is fundamentally the networks."

"The industry ought to get on their toes and do something about this," he said, adding that otherwise "something drastic is going to happen." He said the American people are disturbed. Pastore spoke out at a subcommittee hearing at which the Federal Communications Commission gave a review of the entire gamut of problems in the broadcasting industry.

FCC Chairman Rosel H. Hyde said the depiction of violence in TV programming, as well as in other media, and the effect it has on viewers is a national problem.

SERIOUS QUESTIONS

But he said any sanction imposed by the FCC on program content raised serious constitutional questions about censorship.

Pastore agreed but said "it's gone too far" and declared "I think the networks and the broadcasters can do something about it."

Pastore indicated he felt the trouble lay in what he termed "the rivalry, the money, in this big money-making industry."

He said its profits are "astronomical."

He said two things are going to have to be done. "One, we've got to keep TV free, and No. 2, we've got to clean it up."
