Space Twins Use Chutes

Float Down From Sky

MOSCOW UP — The Soviet space twins said today they parachuted to earth 125 miles apart last Wednesday after a team flight in which their space ships once were separated by only about three miles. There was no physical contact in orbit.

Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich, scotchd

Western speculation about a rendezvous and disclosed some other details of their orbital experiences at a news conference.

The official announcement last Wednesday of the end of the flights, reported to have covered a total of 2.8 million miles, said the two on the Vostok III and Vostok IV landed normally.

Nikolayev and Popovich said, however, they ejected themselves and came down by parachute while the two ships settled to earth with their own lowering systems.

One of Russia's two earlier astronauts landed similarly. The other said he stayed with his ship. Nikolayev said he did special physical exercises on the next to last of his 64 orbits to prepare his body for the pull of gravity.

On the last circuit, he said, all lowering instruments and systems were switched on.

"I thought that I shall soon be on earth," Nikolayev said. "I told this to Popovich and he communicated within six minutes that the lowering system had also been switched on in his spacecraft."

The retro-rockets then began operating, braking down speeds of about 17,500 miles an hour, and the spaceships dropped gradually into the denser atmosphere of the earth.

"After the deceleration forces had decreased," Nikolayev said, "there was for a moment a sensation as if the ship were a cart on a bad road. One felt the bumps in the road."

"Then gradually, as the deceleration forces diminished further to 1½ times normal gravity, this sensation passed. After a certain time I separated from the ship and made my landing by parachute."

U.S. Pushing Bigger Booster

$800 Million Will Be Spent on Titan, Says Secretary McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today that "I think we will not be able to match" the Soviet twin orbiting of comanets until the United States has bigger boosters.

But he told newsmen that the new, Titan III booster, for which a contract was awarded Monday, would have two to three times—closer to three—the thrust of the launching boosters used now by the Soviet Union.

About $800 million will be spent for development of the Titan booster, he said.

In reply to questions by the newsmen, McNamara said:

1. He talked to Air Force experts this morning about a report that the two Russian space vehicles joined together at one point in their flight and the answer of the Air Force experts "was definitely no."

He said that data is not yet available to show conclusively how close they came to one another. In a Moscow news conference, today the Soviet comanets said their closest approach to each other was about three miles.

U.S. to Act on Berlin Tension

'62 Output 2nd Highest for Pontiac

Turning out the second highest model run in its history in 1962, Pontiac Motor Division was the third best-selling automotive unit in the country during the model year just concluded.

Off Pontiac assembly lines rolled 378,740 Pontiacs and 143,193 Tempests—a total of 521,933 which put the division right behind Chevrolet and Ford in the entire industry.

The 1962 run of Pontiacs has been surpassed only by 1955's model year production of 545,291. The third best year was 1950, with 477,780.

In February, Pontiac was honored for capturing third place in the industry for the 1961 calendar year production. It was the first time a medium-priced car had taken the post.

The local division edged out Rambler for the calendar year by some 2,000 units.

In the 1962 model run, Pontiac rolled up 521,933 units, and Rambler produced 442,226.

Chevrolet was first, with 2,071,241 units, including Chevrolet, Chevy II, and Corvair.

Ford was second with 1,495,169 rung up by Galaxies, Fairlanes, Falcons and Thunderbirds.

The 1961 model run saw 540,622 units credited to Pontiac—including 100,783 Tempests, other model year runs were: 396,716 in 1960; 383,529 in 1959; 317,503 in 1958; and 334,041 in 1957.

Romney Warns Durant Attacks Extremism

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Romney says he will ask the Republican State Convention to deal with what he calls right wing extremism in the 14th Congressional GOP Committee if he finds that Richard Durant still supports the John Birch Society.

The issue was restored to life, a week after Durant publicly resigned from the ultra-conservative group, when Mrs. James H. Hodge, a precinct delegate in Detroit's 21st Ward, wrote to Romney claiming Durant had given her Birchist literature.

The GOP gubernatorial candidate said "if it is true that Richard Durant continues to support that organization, I repeat what I have publicly said before:

"He should resign his position as vice-chairman of the 14th District Republican Committee."

"I want to support from any part of the John Birch Society and I shall do everything within my power and ability to make certain that no taint of Birchism—or any other similar ism—finds a foothold or even a toe-hold in any sector of the Republican Party of Michigan."

Mrs. Hodge told Romney that Durant visited her last Tuesday, swimming.

only 24 hours after mailing his resignation from the society.

She denied Durant's claim that "I didn't come to sell her on the Birch Society. She asked me for the material and I gave it to her."

Romney's reply came from Kalamazoo, where he was campaigning. Referring to a statement by Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski that "Romney couldn't beat Durant so he took him to his bosom," Romney said such claims were "Wild, wild, wild."

West to Set Ambulance at Red Wall

BERLIN (AP) — U. S., British and French commanders in Berlin announced today they will station an ambulance at Checkpoint Charlie in an attempt to aid any future victims of Communist bullets on the eastern side of the wall.

Checkpoint Charlie is the crossing point of the wall in the U. S. sector where East German guards mortally wounded a fleeing East German, touching off a series of disorders in West Berlin. West Berliners even attacked West Berlin police, stoned U. S. positions and attacked Soviet buses entering West Berlin.

The three Western commandants and Mayor Willy Brandt announced rioters who attacked West Berlin police.

"The maintenance of law and order must not be jeopardized," their joint statement said, "by the irresponsible actions of a small minority including Communist agents provocateur."

These are agents sent by our political group to provoke disorders by an opposing group.

Heavy precautions were taken along streets near Checkpoint Charlie this afternoon to prevent another stoning of the Soviet bus that comes every day with guards for the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin.

Barbed wire was strung along half a mile of the route of the bus to keep demonstrators away.

In the West German capital of Bonn, authoritative sources said the West German embassy in Washington has been instructed to ask the Western allies to ask the international Red Cross to intervene with the Communists to stop the shooting and request the Russians to allow West Berliners to visit relatives in East Berlin.

Wants Meeting of Allied, Red Commandants

Washington Has OK'd GIs to Supply Medical Aid to Escapees

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin today to press for a meeting of Allied and Soviet commandants in Berlin.

U. S. sources said Washington has given clearance for U. S. soldiers in West Berlin to supply medical assistance to East German wounded on the Communist side of the Berlin wall.

They said that what actually will be done in the tense situation will be determined by the Western commandants on the scene.

U. S. sources stated also that the law given U. S. troops in Berlin does not include permission to help East Germans in their attempts to escape to the West. Any assistance, it was said, would be confined to medical aid.

The Western commandants—the Berlin military chiefs for the United States, Britain and France—were said to be meeting in West Berlin to thrash out what specific rules of action should be laid down.

Rusk called in Dobrynin on short notice after the Western Allies had discussed what to do about mounting tensions in the wake of last Friday's slow death of a wounded East German lying on the Communist side of the wall. Angry West Berliners have been confronting with such ease stone throwing at Soviet vehicles entering West Berlin.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said Rusk and Dobrynin met for 20 minutes and discussed the events of the last few days in Berlin.

'UNDERLINED NEED'

"The secretary underlined the need for the four commandants to get together to find ways to reduce tensions in the city," Reap said.

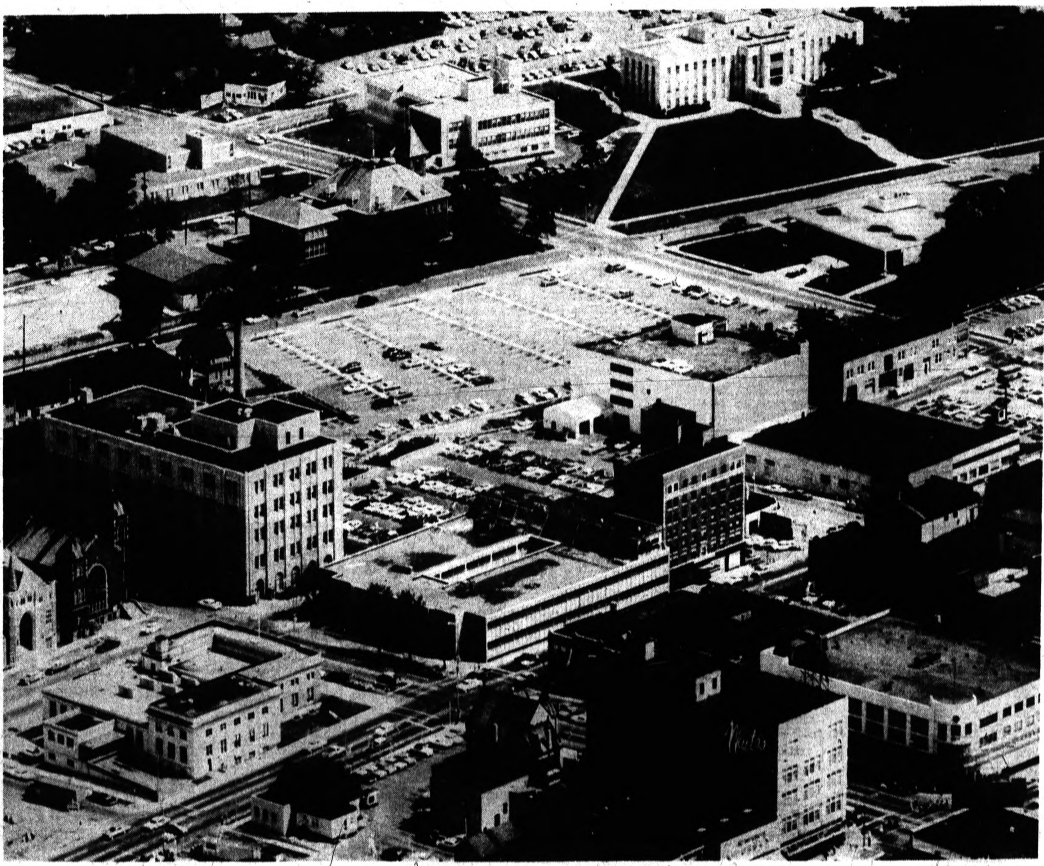

"It is and has been our position that the situation can best be dealt with by those on the scene."

The Soviets have rejected similar Western pleas, dating back to June 25, for a get-together by the three Western and the Soviet representatives on the scene.

The Soviet envoy declined comment afterward except to say "We discussed the situation in Berlin."

Asked for the Soviet stand on the Western idea of placing an ambulance on the Communist side of the Berlin wall to aid wounded East German escapees, Dobrynin said only:

"The position of my government is perfectly clear."

PARKING SPACE — Aerial photos of Pontiac's central business district, taken for The Pontiac Press by pilot-photographer Homer Timney, show parking lots dominate the area between the new wing of Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital (center) and City Hall (upper right). There's more parking behind City Hall and the Public Safety Building to its left. Smaller lots are evident in the foreground and on the site of the old fire station (far right), Michigan Bell Telephone Co. is the large building at the left. Also significant is the availability of fallout shelters in this small area. Federal surveys showed "perfect" shelter areas available for immediate use in Wail's and S. S. Kresge Co. Stores (right-foreground), the hospital and the two municipal buildings at the top. With minor modifications, another could be made available in the basement of the new fire station (upper left).

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A Brazilian jetliner with 104 persons aboard skidded off the runway on takeoff last night, plowed through a thick concrete seawall and dived in flames into Guanabara Bay. Most of the passengers were rescued or scrambled to safety. Officials said at least 12 persons were killed and 21 hospitalized with shock, burns and other injuries.

Kefauver Hits 4 Steel Firms for 'Contempt'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., said today he will ask the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee this week to vote against four steel companies. He has identified the steel firms as Bethlehem, National, Republic and Aramco.

Kefauver, the subcommittee's chairman, said he will call the meeting as soon as he can muster five members of his eight-man subcommittee—a quorum—to start wheels turning for a court showdown with the four companies. He has identified the steel firms as Bethlehem, National, Republic and Aramco.

He has accused them of refusing to comply with a subpoena, voted 5-3 by the subcommittee, which demands details of their pricing practices. The companies have argued that disclosure of the information would comply with the subpoena, but the subcommittee is going beyond its authority.

Miss Betts attempting to turn onto Josephine St. while heading west on Huron said she thought she had time to make the turn.

City Sends Out Shelter Forms

Owners of Some 136 Potential Areas to Be Asked for OK of Use

City officials today began mailing fallout shelter licenses and privilege forms to the owners of some 136 buildings in Pontiac, which, according to the recent Federal Defense Shelter Survey, house potential fallout shelter areas.

A signed form merely makes a building area available for use if the federal government desires to equip it as a shelter area.

The degree of cooperation from owners will indicate how much money must be spent to set up shelter areas in Pontiac.

Final results of the survey show that new trends in building construction and design are not conducive to adequate shelter from radioactive fallout.

"This was apparent in schools, especially," said David S. Teel, assistant city manager. "The new schools are, by and large, no good as shelters because they have too much glass and not enough mass."

"In addition, most of them are built above ground." Of all Pontiac's schools, only four contain areas that meet all minimum federal requirements, the survey showed.

These are Longfellow and Whitler elementary schools and Jefferson and Washington junior high schools.

Potential shelter areas were found in 14 Pontiac Schools. Of the 136 buildings where potential shelters were found, 32 meet all requirements and could be used immediately. There are 63 buildings with areas meeting the minimum federal protection factor.

Most of the 63 fall short of perfect in requirements such as adequate ventilation and other minor factors. The 23 "perfect" areas could house 4,800 people.

The potential in all 136 structures is from 16,000 to 20,000 capacity. A total of 378 buildings were surveyed.

If Tshombe rejects the overture, Thant announced Monday night, he will ask all U.N. members to turn the economic sanctions on Katanga and quit buying Katanga copper and cobalt.

There is considerable doubt that Belgium and Britain, two of Katanga's chief customers, would comply.

Thant's program calls for adoption of a federal constitution to be drafted in the next 30 days, agreement to share the royalties from Katanga's rich mines with the impoverished central government, currency unification, and integration of Katanga forces into the Congolese army in 90 days.

SEN UP BARS Thant called for member governments to bar all unauthorized movements of mercenaries or any military material to the Congo.

He said Robert Gardiner, his chief representative in the Congo, has been instructed to present the program to Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula and to Tshombe.

The Day in Birmingham Commission Sets Hearing on Relief Sewer Proposal

BIRMINGHAM—City Commissioners last night set Sept. 10 as the date for a public hearing on the proposed South Elton Relief Sewer.

The hearing will concern the necessity of the sewers, which are proposed for both sides of Elton Road between Lincoln Avenue and 14 Mile Road.

Preliminary estimates by City Engineer William T. Killen have put the cost at approximately $145,000.

A postcard survey of the area showed about 45 per cent of the homes concerned reporting either major or minor basement flooding caused by backing up of street sewers. A total of 426 postcards was sent out, and 346 were returned.

If the sewers are determined to be necessary at the hearing, the city engineering department will proceed with construction drawings and final cost estimates.

A hearing on the special assessment roll to finance the project would be scheduled at a later date when permission to proceed with construction is given by the State Health Department.

The health department has informed the city that construction of the sewers, which would comprise a tributary to the Twelve-Town Relief Drains serving southern Oakland County, cannot begin until the Dequindre Sanitary Interceptor and the Red Run Enclosure are placed under construction and an outlet is provided to the Twelve-Towns.

In other action, the commission awarded a contract for installation of acoustic tile in the auditorium of the Baldwin Public Library to The Nichols Co. of Detroit.

Assistant City Manager R. S. Kenning recommended awarding the contract to Nichols because the firm had previously performed satisfactory work at the library and Metropolitan was a relatively new company with some current financial difficulties.

County College Facing Delay

Change in State Law to Be Attempted in '63 on Boundary Lines

Oakland County may have to wait until a special summer 1963 vote to decide if it wants a county-wide community college system.

This was the immediate reaction this morning from a college planner following Atty. General Frank Kelley's decision that the college cannot be organized under present state laws.

Dr. Gerald W. Bolcourt, director of a county planning study, said an amendment to existing laws would be sought from the legislature in early 1963.

Hopefully, he said, the amendment would be passed to allow two months' time for circulating petitions for a summer special ballot.

Previously gathering of petitions seeking a November 1962 ballot had been postponed until April 1963 to await Kelley's opinion.

The county college has been under study for over six months by a group of citizens — the Oakland County Community College Advisory Council.

The group asked the attorney general whether a portion of the Clarencville School District, which overlaps Wayne and Oakland counties, could be excluded from the Oakland vote.

Kelley said, "No." Clarencville already is a member of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District.

Kelley said that present statute prohibited inclusion of the same area within two college districts and also without authority to exclude a portion of a county and approve the remainder.

Therefore, he said Clarencville's membership in the Wayne District precludes possible membership in an Oakland County District and the Oakland county-wide district cannot be formed without it.

Only 1 1/2 square miles of Clarencville dip into Oakland County. However voters in this small area would be subjected to double taxation if included in both counties' community college districts.

Sanctions Threatened Katanga Is Warned

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant has given Katanga President Moise Tshombe a week to 10 days to accept a new U.N. program to unify the Congo peacefully.

If Tshombe rejects the overture, Thant announced Monday night, he will ask all U.N. members to turn the economic sanctions on Katanga and quit buying Katanga copper and cobalt.

There is considerable doubt that Belgium and Britain, two of Katanga's chief customers, would comply.

Thant's program calls for adoption of a federal constitution to be drafted in the next 30 days, agreement to share the royalties from Katanga's rich mines with the impoverished central government, currency unification, and integration of Katanga forces into the Congolese army in 90 days.

SEN UP BARS Thant called for member governments to bar all unauthorized movements of mercenaries or any military material to the Congo.

He said Robert Gardiner, his chief representative in the Congo, has been instructed to present the program to Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula and to Tshombe.

Thant's statement said Tshombe "should be able to indicate his acceptance promptly" in a brief period. An authorized U.N. source said the secretary-general meant a week or 10 days.

Thant threatened last July 31 to impose economic sanctions on Katanga and then drew up his program, which he discussed with a number of delegates.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk was among those who conferred with Thant here last week on the details.

Road Barricade Marks Lot Line

By JOE MULLEN
Willard E. Cook of Waterford Township, unhappy because car and truck traffic has been encroaching on what he asserts is the fringe of his property, took steps to remedy the situation.

Cook, 74, Hillcliffe Lane, and his three sons erected a makeshift fence extending about 10 feet into the road which curves sharply in front of the acre parcel where Hillcliffe and Shadlock streets meet.

"Our lot now extends that far out into the street," Cook said. "Every year the road area gets bigger because cars round the turn make a path on my land," he explained.

The Cook property is on the low side of the banked turn. "Traffic from either direction seems to drive over the edge of my property," Cook added.

"We had a survey made last fall and learned that the property line was 10 feet into the road then. It's probably even more than that now but we put the outer fence stake where our property ended, according to the survey," Cook said.

The problem was presented to the Oakland County Road Commission following the survey.

"First they said they would do something about it," Cook explained, "but they sent a letter later on stating that we could put a fence up adjacent to our property line if we wanted."

Cook said he had offered to sell a right of way to the county so the 25-foot road could be expanded but no offer was forthcoming.

"It looked as though the county wasn't going to do anything about it so with traffic getting heavier and with winter coming on, we decided to do something ourselves right now," Cook explained.

The road block consists of three metal stakes with a length of rope extending from one to the others. Outdoor Christmas tree lights and red reflectors are attached for illumination at night as suggested by the Waterford Township police department.

Cook and his sons, George, Willard Jr. and Gerald, finished the job Sunday night after deciding earlier in the day that such a measure was necessary.

Warn Patrons Who Rode Train of Smallpox Boy

Area residents who may have boarded the Canadian National Railway's Train No. 41 — the Supercontinental — at Toronto on the evening of Aug. 11 are being asked to contact their physicians immediately.

The request was relayed locally from CNR officials in Detroit. The train was used by the family of smallpox victim James Orr for a trip to Three Hills, Alberta.

The crew of the train since then has been vaccinated against the disease.

The train was heading for Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Jasper, Vancouver and intermediate points, the CNR announced.

POINT OF CONTROVERSY—This make-shift fence designed to keep traffic off his property was erected by Willard E. Cook of 741 Hillcliffe Lane, Waterford Township. Steady traffic over the years, Cook said, has gradually resulted in an encroachment of 10 feet onto his land fronting the banked curve where Hillcliffe and Shadlock Street meet.

Unit to Battle Discrimination

Swainson Names 24 to Fight Any Bias in Employing Women

LANSING (AP) — A 24-member commission on the status of women has been named by Gov. Swainson to aid in overcoming discrimination in public and private employment on the basis of sex.

"It is my belief that we should make every effort to erase whatever traces of discrimination on the basis of sex may exist within this state," said Swainson.

The commission has been asked to develop recommendations for services which will enable women to continue their private lives while making a maximum contribution to their communities and the nation, he added.

Employment practices throughout the state will be reviewed to determine whether discrimination on the basis of sex is present.

In addition, the commission will investigate the differences in legal treatment of men and women regarding political and civil rights, property rights and family relations.

Mrs. Dorothy McAllister of Grand Rapids, a member of the state board for libraries, was named chairman of the commission.

Other officers were Allan Sorenson, Midland, University of Michigan regent, vice-chairman; Sara Stewart, Detroit, associate director of the Metropolitan YWCA, secretary; Mrs. Mary Leonard, Lansing, aide to the state labor commissioner, executive secretary.

Youngster Hurt When F86 Jet Top Blows Off

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The canopy of an F86 jet fighter blew off Monday while two youngsters were playing on the display aircraft at the Air Force Academy.

James Gillen, 14, was sitting atop the Plexiglass canopy when a companion accidentally fired a detonating device in the cockpit.

The explosion hurled Gillen against the aircraft. He suffered a skull fracture and was in critical condition at a hospital here.

Robert L. Freeman, 14, escaped harm.

Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, academy superintendent, ordered an investigation to determine why the canopy device had not been removed or disarmed.

Red Soldiers, Five Ships 'Now in Cuba'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cuban Revolutionary Council claimed knowledge of the arrival in Cuba of 5,000 Communist soldiers and five Soviet ships loaded with modern armaments.

The council, an anti-Castro organization, did not cite any source for its information. The council's statement was issued Monday by a New York City publicity firm.

Council President Jose Miro Cardena said the purported arrival of the troops and armaments "constitutes a positive Soviet invasion of the island."

Strange Fish Only Ordinary Sea Sturgeon

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials at the Aquarium say there is nothing fishy about that strange creature washed up on the shore near Freeport, on Long Island—or, rather, there is everything fishy about it. It's just a plain sea sturgeon.

The creature's partly decomposed, furry, seven-foot carcass was found on the Atlantic beach over the weekend. The Aquarium at Coney Island was at first puzzled by the strange anatomy.

But Aquarium director Christopher Coates said Monday that "from what remains of it, we've determined that it was a sea sturgeon."

"It was a fairly large one," Coates added, "but they're common enough around here not to be considered rare."

Since the Lincoln Memorial in Washington opened in 1922, more than 58 million persons have visited it. Attendance now is about 2.5 million a year.

Kelley Seeks Voice in Merger Hearings

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley asked the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday for permission to intervene in hearings regarding a proposed merger of two of the nation's largest railroads.

Kelley filed a petition in Washington in behalf of Michigan Public Service Commission.

The proposed merger of the York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads raises questions of great public interest to the people of Michigan, the petition said.

It explained that Michigan is dependent upon two carriers for adequate passenger and freight service.

The state also benefits from the employment and tax revenue furnished by the railroads, it added.

Humphrey, Ike Have Father Image but Not JFK, Bobby

BY RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—The angry bang of the gavel as Chairman Stuart Symington abruptly recessed the Senate stockpile hearings could not drown out the nostalgia that invaded the jam-packed chamber. George M. Humphrey was there to tell us, just as he himself so often did during those lulling years between the Korean War and the New Frontier, that everything was all right.

Watching the crinkling blue eyes and the warm, flashing grin of the former Treasury secretary, it was easy to understand why he had been the "strong man" of the first Eisenhower cabinet.

The multimillionaire industrialist speaks positively, with a voice of convincing authority. There are no hints or ifs. He tells you the "facts," and if any man is foolish enough to question them after he has spoken, he is merely demonstrating his ignorance.

JUST LIKE IKE

It was typical of Humphrey to assert that election-minded Democrats were trying to hit at Ike through him, just as it was typical of the former president to say that "if George Humphrey ever did a dishonest thing, then I am to mount the cross and you can put in the nails and spear."

Their backgrounds were remarkably dissimilar. Ike was a poor farm boy who gradually worked his way up in the Army chain of command from cadet to general, while Humphrey was a successful lawyer's son who at an early age became the enormously wealthy head of a vast mining empire.

Nevertheless, the two men are like Gold Dust twins in the similarity of their enjoyments, reactions and basic philosophy.

Conversely, they are different

Humphrey, like Ike, seems the prototype of the good, gray, sometimes dogmatic but all-knowing "father."

This is an image, let's face it, that has sometimes been sorely missed in the worrisome days between the Cuban invasion debacle and the latest Soviet space triumph.

Regardless of their capabilities, it is more natural to turn to a father than a brother in time of trouble. This is one phenomenon for which politics has no ready cure.

JUST LIKE A DAD

As Humphrey opened his testimony, a listener had but to close his eyes to recall how similarly his own dad might have solved a problem affecting the family. No one exactly asked him why he decided to join the Eisenhower cabinet, but he told them anyway, like this:

"I never had seen Mr. Eisenhower before I was invited . . . I was approached by others. I never dreamed of it . . . I had never wanted a government connection, and Mrs. Humphrey and I debated whether we should undertake it."

"We were in the South at the time. I said let's take a picnic lunch and go off somewhere, and decide whether we would be happy. . . We decided we couldn't be happy if we didn't do it."

TALKING IT OVER

It was easy to picture the middle-aged couple resting under a shade tree, discussing the pros and cons of it; wondering how it might affect their children's lives, and their grandchildren.

It was the way Ike might have talked over his own decision with Mamie, before gutting the Army to become a college president.

It was certainly not the way John F. Kennedy would have done it.

A bachelor until after his election to the Senate, he had formed the habit of consulting first with his father, and then with his politically astute young er brother Bobby about decisions affecting his career. His wife Jackie accepts that fact of life.

The difference is more of age than of generation. It is insignificant, really. It was nevertheless nostalgic to hear the 72-year-old man recall, with something like wonder in his voice: "The last place on earth I thought I would ever be was in Washington."

Ten years after that remarkable event, it was plain to see that he wondered equally what in the world he was doing here now, listening to Democratic senators question his ethics and patriotism.

Teachers' Leader Calls for Bargaining Rights

DETROIT (UPI)—The present growth of the AFT this year because "the NEA offers no viable procedure for teacher welfare."

He said he would ask the AFT's postconvention executive council to start a bargaining fund to aid local bargaining drives at $20,000, and give him authority to ask internationalists of the AFL-CIO for added amounts.

Megel also defended the right of teachers to strike if bargaining fails.

"The American labor movement has long maintained that the strike is an inherent right of all workers," he said. "I subscribe fully and completely to this declaration."

Launch Second Phase of Offensive Against Red Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Government troops backed by fighter planes, U.S. helicopters, and armored river boats launched today the second major attack in a week against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam's rebel-infested southland.

Megel said in his presidential address to the AFT's 46th annual convention that formal collective bargaining is preferable for teachers to the "professional negotiations" proposed by the "company union," National Education Association (NEA).

Megel said collective bargaining would provide teachers with needed control over their profession. He said the issue in teacher organization is not "unionism vs. professionalism," but "unionism vs. NEA-ism."

He predicted that formal bargaining for teachers will "sweep the nation."

Mickey Burns of Waterford also placed first in style in her division.

The Pontiac Skyliners captured first place in the open competition for junior corps, with the Pontiac Land 'O Lakes Commandeurs placing second.

In senior open competition, the Land 'O Lakes Star Chiefs took top honors over the Lapeer Golden Warriors by one point.

The Lapeer team came back to top the Star Chiefs in the Michigan contest met by nine tenths of a point.

What If Russia Does Get to Moon First!

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—People . . . places . . . things . . . it seems so fat-headed for our National Aeronautics and Space Administration nabobs to rush to the TV cameras in the wake of every Soviet space conquest and fatuously assure the taxpayers that we'll still beat them to the moon.

There are several good reasons to believe that we'll not beat them to the moon.

What the NASA officials should tell the people, it seems to me, is that if the Russians get there tomorrow we'll still have to plug in there at the end of the century and figure out how to get there ourselves.

The maritime nations of Europe did not throw in the towel when Columbus made it to the New World in the name Ferdinand and Isabella. Where's Spain today?

Over the decades this country has done quite well with ideas and products not of our invention.

We didn't get there first with the must in a number of callings at which we eventually excelled.

An Italian fathered the wireless; a German piloted the atom; an Englishman found penicillin; a German gave us the sulfa; a Swede showed us how to build a log cabin.

MOON IS THERE

We'll get to the moon first, but if not first then second, and if not second then third. Because it's there, and the power that does not try for it knows its days of greatness are sternly numbered.

All we seem to need, aside from the $20 billion, is the consent of the AFL-CIO Electrical Workers' Brotherhood.

Students of the Brink's robbery of a dozen years ago find the recent heist of $1.5-million from a mail truck as absorbing a crime as the one which catapulted Specs O'Keefe, Tony Pino, etc. etc., to notoriety.

They see parallels, too: The presence of a "Tony" at the stick-up, the use of multiple cars, the timing and efficiency of the robbers, and a burned getaway car.

Unquestionably, the FBI and that much-older investigative service, the Post Office Department's sleuthing division, have dropped in to see the surviving members of the Brink's robbery gang.

Seven of them, all serving life sentences, are confined at the Massachusetts Correctional Institution at Walpole.

O'KEEFE TALKED

O'Keefe, who was gyped out of his share and survived two bludgeoning efforts by paid-killer Trigger Burke to liquidate him, turned state's evidence and now is living in his self-imposed shadows.

All Brinksmen probably have pretty firm ideas on who could have pulled the latest blast.

Whether they'll talk, of course, is something else.

The $1.5-million in cash taken from the mail truck tops the $1,318,211.29 stolen from Brink's. But the Brink's robbers also grabbed $1,557,183.83 in checks and money orders, which they destroyed as too hot to handle.

Another $100,000 in bills numerically arranged was supposed to have been destroyed by one of the robbers; Joe McGinnis, but apparently he suffered from a lapse of memory. In their hurry to leave Brink's that night of Jan. 17, 1950, the men also left behind a hamper they later learned contained a $500,000 General Electric payroll.

That still distresses them.

State Shrine Sees Increase in Tourism

INDIAN RIVER—Industry analysts might well look at the Indian River Catholic shrine as a barometer of Michigan's increasing popularity with tourists.

Rev. James L. Jendrasiak, the shrine's pastor, discloses that an estimated 45,000 tourists visited the site of the world's largest wooden cross last July alone.

It indicates the fast-growing attraction of the shrine which regarded as exceptional a season-long attendance of 30,000 persons as recently as 1955.

"If present increases continued," says Fr. Jendrasiak, "the 30,000 persons who visited in 1955 should become normal traffic for us during our off months."

His little parish has a full-time membership of 35 families.

Summer visitors engulf them. Even the comparative solitude of worship in winter is giving way to increasing numbers of skiing parties and hunters who fulfill their religious obligations at the small church which now is being enlarged.

Father Jendrasiak and two full-time assistant priests are on 15-hour duty every day in summer. Besides celebrating Mass, they answer visitors' questions about the shrine, bless religious articles and even give directions to travelers who ask.

Hundreds of persons attend daily religious devotions, many undertaking the climb of the holy stairs on their knees to reach the crucifix.

Upwards of 400 to 500 worshippers attend each of the five outdoor masses observed at the shrine each Sunday. Their attendance hard puts state police of the Cheboygan post to keep traffic moving in the area of M-68 and 1-75.

She was convicted of obtaining narcotics fraudulently, allegedly having written a prescription for a tranquilizer and using the drug herself.

Dr. Covell, who lives with her parents, is now on a year's probation for drug addiction and unlawful use of narcotics. She was fired June 27 from Children's Hospital following her recent arrest.

Reservists Complete Active Duty Stretch

Not many bands are playing, and the crowds are small for the 156,000 reservists being mustered out of active service.

These are the nearly forgotten men who were called up last fall—in the President's words — "to prevent a war, not to fight a war." Theirs was the "heavy sacrifice" the President reluctantly required as a part of the military buildup he ordered when Soviet Premier KHRUSHCHEV made threatening moves on West Berlin.

Everyone knows that the Pentagon's mobilization planning left something to be desired. Reservists, roused by the call to arms, arrived at windy, desolate camps to find equipment and housing inadequate, even shortages of clothing.

Individual reservists with long periods of active service were recalled while reservists with shorter periods of active duty were not. There was a great deal that undoubtedly was not fair. Many young boys were escaping the draft one way or another.

The result—morale fell. Demonstrations ensued and, depending on one's point of view, the Defense Department was guilty of "criminal negligence" (Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Ariz.) or the reservists were "just a bunch of beefing freeloaders" (Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.).

Some of the bad taste still lingers. Secretary of Defense McNAMARA's reorganization plan designed to lop off outmoded units and increase Reserve readiness met hostile reception in a Congress which jealously guards state control of National Guard units and payrolls.

Most of the men stuck doggedly to their tasks, complaining little, and generally doing as they were supposed to. For these men, the counsel given to the cadets at West Point this spring by Gen. Douglas MacArthur has applied: "Others will debate the controversial issues, national and international which divide men's minds. But serene, calm, aloof, you stand as the Nation's war guardians."

Spy's Health Shouldn't Influence His Sentence

"A spy is a spy, no matter what his health may be," ROBERT A. SOBLEN should not be allowed to beat the crime he committed.

The quote was spoken by Judge WILLIAM B. HERLANDS as he sentenced DR. SOBLEN to life in prison. It might well be remembered in the light of the unnatural sympathy which has arisen in Britain and perhaps in this country over his plight.

Soblen is a victim of leukemia, incurable cancer of the blood. At the time he was sentenced, Aug. 7, 1961, he was given less than a year to live.

"The severity of the defendant's sentence," Judge HERLANDS asserted, "must be consonant with the obvious character of the defendant's crime." And what was SOBLEN's crime?

The first count in the indictment alleged that he had gathered information during the war years on government officials, principally the Office of Strategic Services, in the United States and Germany, and passed this on to the Soviet embassy officials.

The second count charged that SOBLEN had turned over to the Russians vital information on the Albuquerque, N.M., atomic weapon center.

He was convicted on July 13, 1961. Judge Herlands said he wanted medical advice as to what institution was "able to afford humane and decent medical facilities" for Soblen. When sentence was pronounced, the judge recommended the Federal penitentiary at Springfield, Mo., "where there are medical and hospital facilities appropriate to the defendant's condition."

We go along with the judge and feel that SOBLEN's illness is totally irrelevant to the case at hand.

Hey! Feverers

If Ragweed's Nearby Get It Out on the Fly

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

An idea about ragweed that was good (it was the idea that was good, not the ragweed) comes from Mrs. H. McNichol of 1294 Maurer. Now, as every sufferer will confirm, it is the opening of the hay fever season. It is one Opening never marked by gala ceremonies, unless you can make a gala ceremony out of stockpiling tissues by direct factory shipments.

One of the worst offenders in the hay fever production department is the ragweed, according to the MAT's informant. Though obviously little can be done by individuals about the weed growing in rural areas and along highways, it can be uprooted when found in gardens and near houses and a few million particles of pollen thereby scratched — IF you know what you're looking for.

Our lady thinks many wouldn't know a ragweed from an A. elator (Editor's note—Just another name for ragweed...)

he's only showing off. A picture of Plantlife Enemy No. 1 is printed for identification.

So, here 'tis, a pretty good one considering that our photographer had to give it a sneezing exposure.

Enjoyed self recently at a luncheon-meeting of the Holy Kwanis Club. Also picked up a couple of PERSONAL GRIPES from club president William Fagan. He can't understand why Michigan's beautiful freeway system, unlike other similar ones across the country, does not provide regularly-spaced areas providing food and comfort facilities instead of obliging motorists to leave highway for such conveniences. The other P.G. is the disregard of tidiness shown by campers using a state park near his residence. Says that every morning, a conservation department truck is engaged in gathering up discarded beer cans throughout the park and at the approaches to it. Some states, he added, ban liquor from their parks, and wondered whether it might not be to the advantage of our state to do likewise.

'Go 'Way, y'Hear!'

David Lawrence Says:

Tax Reform Calls for Long View

WASHINGTON — Two phrases have appeared conspicuously in the press in recent weeks. One is "tax reduction" and the other is "tax reform."

The first is easily understood, widely known, and popular. The second is relatively unknown, misunderstood, and unpopular depending on how it is applied.

The purpose of both tax reduction and tax reform nowadays is supposed to be "to get the economy going again" — to cause money to be spent by consumers and funds to be made available for business expansion and modernization so that costs can be lowered.

Something very positive, however, will have to be done to bring about a change of thinking among those bureaucrats in the Treasury Department who write the technical regulations and submit them to a bewildered Congress, most of whose members are uninformed on the meaning of these technical questions. Only a few committee members in Congress have studied the subject at all.

A man of small means who gets a few extra dollars a year from a tax cut might spend it for necessities, and it can amount to a great deal for him.

But very little is heard of what would happen if the top tax rate were cut, for instance, from 91 percent down to 45 percent.

People of means already have the necessities of life. If they have surplus funds due to savings on tax rates, they would be the first to invest that surplus in business expansion.

HAS EVERYTHING They can hardly find things to buy for themselves, for here indeed is to be found "the man who has everything."

Many such persons just give away all they can. Private philanthropy in America has for a long time been the chief support of human welfare and of achievements in the field of education.

Charitable work would be one of the biggest single beneficiaries if citizens of high incomes had their tax rate reduced.

The people with large earnings are the ones who were successful by use either of their energies over the years or their skills or their inventive talents.

But these abilities are frequently stunted nowadays by the feeling that there's little use in trying to increase earnings "because the government will take it, anyway."

SHORT-RANGE VIEW

The administration itself is prejudiced because it sees only the short-range political aspects. It professes to be interested in a balanced budget, but it continues to spend money on "give-away" programs and so-called "human welfare" measures which keep on producing deficits.

The administration refuses, for example, to approve a direct appropriation for the aged who need medical care, and wants to force an increase in Social Security taxes to pay for this.

Such a plan involves a decrease in "take-home" pay, which only means that labor unions will immediately demand an offsetting increase in wages, thus affecting adversely the whole wage-price spiral.

What is needed today is a selection by the President of a national commission of outstanding citizens already familiar with taxation in theory and in practice who could make a nonpolitical report to congressional committees by next January or February.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Get Plenty of Calcium You Won't Need 'Dope'

Persons under the influence of the narcotic (alcohol) too often behave as though it were an offense when one refuses a drink with them. If they have had several drinks they sometimes do try to "strong-arm" the timid soul into a drinking bout.

This is precisely the way a great many persons behave who are addicted to alcohol — alcohol is a narcotic.

And so I say, to all addicts, see to it that you get your calcium and you won't need so much dope — aspirin, heroin, alcohol.

Signed letters, more than one page or 100 words long containing personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan. (Copyright 1962)

Darling, we decry and deplore the peddling and use of opiates, heroin, morphine, cocaine and marijuana. Sometimes in carefully chosen words we express the fear that Americans today may be too fond of analgesics (pain-killers), sense-densers, such as aspirin, acetaminide, phenacetin, tranquilizers and barbiturates.

MOST HARMFUL Yet we are remarkably silent in reference to the most harmful narcotic of them all. The one that constitutes big business and pays, in taxes, an appreciable part of the cost of the courts, police, jails, prisons, welfare institutions and social services we have to maintain to take care of its victims.

Narcotic addicts are generally inclined to think that anyone who dares choose to use dope who disapproves the habit is preaching. They respect anyone who holds that moderate use of this or that narcotic is harmless or even good for some persons.

But they revile anyone who holds that total abstinence is the best way to achieve health and happiness.

Now just between ourselves tell me, are you a drug or narcotic addict?

Do you frequently feel the need of an aspirin, a tranquilizer, or a mid-afternoon or mid-afternoon breather (such as a cocktail) or a highball or two to "relax" you before dinner?

If you cultivate such a habit you're an addict. What else?

ASK WHY Doesn't it ever occur to you to ask why you have to resort to dope where a normal, healthy individual doesn't feel the need of it?

A person who has good nutrition and good health feels just fine and doesn't need a cocktail or a highball or two to "relax" you before dinner?

If the President is in town and free, he'll drop around to show his interest in this youth project.

On the other hand, one whose nutrition is faulty and whose health is not good cannot help being aware of his or her deficiencies and of physical, mental, social or other inferiority to his associates, and therefore readily resorts to alcohol or other narcotic to forget for an hour or two his inferiority and feel equal to or a cut above everybody else.

And so I say, to all addicts, see to it that you get your calcium and you won't need so much dope — aspirin, heroin, alcohol.

In Washington: Apprenticeship Training Needed

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The need for more and better apprenticeship training is one of the few subjects on which the United States Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO can agree and cooperate.

They got together on it to the extent of sending a joint invitation to President Kennedy to discuss the subject with them at a dinner today. After an all-day conference of 800 employer and union leaders, Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg will be host at the banquet.

It will mark the 25th anniversary of signing the Fitzgerald Act of 1937, which created the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training in the Department of Labor.

Over half a million apprentices have received surfeited certificates under this program.

The letter to the President was signed, "With deep admiration," by Charles C. Commerce President Ladd Plunney; Associated General Contractors of America, President Frank F. Harrows; AFL-CIO President George Meany.

The White House has formally declined the invitation for the President to speak at the dinner because of a "heavy schedule" and "the number of speaking engagements to which he is committed for the remainder of the year."

But the understanding is that if the President is in town and free, he'll drop around to show his interest in this youth project.

The apprenticeship system of today is a vast improvement over the long periods of indenture common in colonial days. But the modern system is in need for the issuance of journeyman cards.

Apprenticeship training is most developed in the building trades and the old-time craft unions which require one mechanic to X-ray equipment and zinc either in which skilled training on the job and for pay is now available.

There are over 7,000 local apprenticeship joint committees of employers and labor representatives that run the training programs in their areas. The number of apprentices now under training is estimated at close to 35,000, with a fourth of that number completing training each year.

'Many Would Take Part-Time Jobs'

Many workers steadily employed on a 40-hour schedule seek further hours of labor. If the work schedule was reduced to 35 hours, it is quite likely that many more steadily employed workers would take extra work and take jobs away from others who have to work. Instead of a sharing of work as is being advocated, the result would be increased unemployment instead of a reduction.

This heading appeared in Wednesday's Press: "Russians Sing: 'Anything You Can Do, We Can Do Better.'"

That's quite a challenge. Let's run a contest in the following areas and see who does do 'em better: personal liberty; enhancing the dignity of man; religious freedom; international cooperation; elimination of walls, curtains (iron or otherwise), barbed wire, armed guards, etc.; unsecured sightseeing tours; government of the people, for the people and by the people; elimination of slave camps and prisons; and many many others.

Express Views on Crime Rate

Hallie Robinson says in a letter that the "well-paid" policemen are to blame for the crimes in Pontiac. The police force in any city is only as strong as the people behind it. As long as there are non-Christian people there will be crime. If you found one or more rotten eggs in a carton, would this be cause to discard the rest of the carton without checking for them?

Policeman's Daughter 1421 Franklin Rd. Bloomfield Twp.

I agree with "C.J.M." that crime is alarming and all crime should be punished but crime is not associated with just special groups and races. Right and wrong are individual matters, not racial ones. Sin breeds crime, regardless of race, creed, color, age or sex. As long as there are non-Christian people there will be crime. If you found one or more rotten eggs in a carton, would this be cause to discard the rest of the carton without checking for them?

I guess that I shall never find... The peacocks that come to one... Who after many trying years... I do not think that I shall be... The one completely satisfied... Some evening forevermore... To lay his work aside... I fear that I shall waste my life... With many things each day to do... And opportunities for rest... Will probably be few... As things look now the chances are... That at my desk I'll have one... Perhaps for many years to come... But after all is said and done... It really is the sort of work... That in my heart for love of it... I simply could not shrink.

'Inadequates' Seen Best in Marriage

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Husbands and wives who feel they are inadequate as marriage partners stand the best chance of having a successful domestic life.

That, at least, is what a University of Michigan sociologist found while delving into the subject for a book on marriage.

Sociologist Robert O. Blood Jr., writing in his latest book, "Marriage," said husbands and wives who feel they are poor spouses make the best marriage partners.

He said research shows that young college-educated husbands and wives show a strong feeling of inadequacy as marriage partners.

BEST PERFORMERS
Yet, he said, they are the best performers of marriage roles according to his 1960 study of marriages based on interviews with 731 wives.

Dann Returns From Self-Exile

Detroit Attorney Says His Wife Is Allergic to the Desert Sun

DETROIT (AP)—Attorney Sol A. Dann, who has participated in several auto industry stockholder and management battles, has ended his self-styled exile in Israel after two months.

Dann said yesterday he has returned to Detroit because his wife is allergic to desert sun.

He said he has no plans to return to Israel although he plans to maintain an apartment he purchased "for visitation purposes."

Dann left the U.S. in June with his wife and daughters in what he said was a protest over the government's failure to seek peace in the Middle East.

In ending his exile, Dann said: "There seems to be a greater public awareness of President Kennedy's policies in the Middle East. Also my wife was anxious to return to the United States because she is allergic to the sun and it didn't help being in Israel."

Dann said two of his daughters remained behind in Israel.

'Legislation Needed'

Urges New Session

LANSING (UPI)—Senate Minority Leader Sen. Raymond D. Dzendzel, D-Detroit, has joined Gov. John B. Swainson in asking for the Michigan Legislature to reconvene at once.

Dzendzel said he and the four majority leaders who can call the legislature back into session from the present recess asking that they give immediate consideration to the governor's request to return.

Swainson sent a letter to the four leaders two weeks ago asking that they call lawmakers back to deal with the matter of the state's lack of qualification for participation in the federal program for aid to the children of unemployed workers.

The legislature has twice refused to act on the matter and the governor's request has been largely ignored. House Speaker Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, said that he saw no reason to return.

SEES LITTLE CHANCE.
Other leaders including Sen. Lynn O. Francis, R-Midland, said that in view of the failure to act previously on the matter there was little chance that anything could come out of a special session.

Many bills remain tied up in conference committees which will die unless the legislature returns to end the "recess."

Laws passed and approved by the governor do not take effect until after adjournment and appointments of the governor are stalled because the legislature is not available to act on them, said Dzendzel.

The legislature engineered the recess resolution to avoid such a special call on the part of the governor. The present date set for adjournment is Dec. 27.

Man Pleads Guilty in Slaying of Son

ALLEGAN (AP)—Ernest Sandefur, 44, of Allegan pleaded guilty to an open charge of homicide in Circuit Court yesterday in the fatal shooting of his son, Gaylon, 21.

The victim died June 3 of gunshot wounds suffered in a family quarrel. Authorities said the older man admitted the shooting.

Sandefur sought to enter a guilty plea on arraignment last June but it was rejected by Judge Raymond L. Smith until the respondent could obtain the services of counsel.

AUTOGRAPH SESSION. Anita Bryant, TV's "Coke girl" and recording star, will appear at the Montgomery Ward Store in the Pontiac Mall 1:30 p.m. tomorrow to sign autographs.

After 2 Months in Hospital

Invincible Winnie Goes Home

LONDON (AP)—The amazing Sir Winston Churchill goes home today after two months in Middlesex Hospital with a broken thigh.

There was a rush for window seats in the tall Victorian houses adjoining the hospital to see the 87-year-old war leader rolled from the hospital in a wheelchair to an ambulance.

At the Churchill residence in Hyde Park Gate a ground floor suite was fitted out for Britain's elder statesman. Into it went a set of parallel bars on which Sir Winston will practice walking.

The household staff prepared a quiet lunch for Churchill and his wife.

EYES RIVIERA
Friends said Sir Winston is anxious to return as soon as possible to the Riviera, where he was vacationing June 28 when he fell in his Monte Carlo hotel room and broke his left thigh.

Churchill was flown to London the day after his fall, and surgeons pinned together the ends of the fractured bone. During his hospital stay he developed phlebitis, a bronchial condition and jaundice but weathered all of them.

Since his premature birth in Nov. 30, 1874, he has survived numerous illnesses and accidents.

When he was 7, a brutal schoolmaster beat him badly. He developed double pneumonia and nearly died. The illness left him with weak lungs.

As a youth of 19 he fell from a tree, ruptured a kidney and was unconscious for three days. He escaped from a plane crash in 1919 with bruises. In 1932 a fall knocked him down on a New York street and broke several bones.

He also survived a hernia operation in 1946, strokes in 1953 and 1954, a prolonged bout with pleurisy and pneumonia in 1958 and a fall at his London home in 1960 in which he broke a small bone in his back.

To Open Trans-Canada Highway

OTTAWA, Ont. (P) — The newly completed Trans-Canada Highway, stretching 5,000 miles from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, will be opened officially by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker Sept. 3. The ceremony at Rogers Pass, high in the Glacier National Park section of British Columbia, will mark the fulfillment of a national dream held since the country was first spanned by the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1885.

For decades, Canadians who wanted to motor coast to coast traveled part of the way through the United States.

The final sector of the billion-dollar road has been marked as completed, but improvement of certain parts continues.

The most difficult part of the construction project was the 27 miles through Rogers Pass. This cuts 100 miles off the previous route around the big bend of the Columbia River, ending what was known as the world's longest detour.

Stilwell Jr. Named to S. Viet Nam Post

SAIGON, Viet Nam (P) — Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr., son of the late Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell has been named to assume command of the U.S. Army support group in South Viet Nam.

He will arrive in Saigon late this week, an American military spokesman said. To succeed Col. Pat M. Stevens III, who has commanded the U.S. Army support group here since June 11.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed.

New York, N.Y. (Special) — A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast.

Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calm anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma — the straining for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of asphyxiation.

Without vaccines, painful shots or narcotic drugs, this formula is as safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription, in tiny tablets called BRONITIN.

Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and low and low oxygen can enter. New BRONITIN, with two asthma-relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs.

The result is free breathing is restored, tension eased and no fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to peaceful sleep.

Get BRONITIN — available at all drug stores without prescription.

TO BE OPENED SEPT. 3. — Heavy black line traces the route of the newly completed highway across Canada, to be opened officially by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker Sept. 3. The 5,000-mile road, longest national highway in the world, stretches from Newfoundland in the east, and then to the Pacific Ocean in the west. Toll-free road links all 10 provinces for the first time by a paved route open all year.

Some parts of the Rogers Pass construction cost $2 million a mile, partly because of the elaborate avalanche control devices necessary to keep the road open in winter. In Glacier National Park, the average snowfall is more than 28 feet a year.

Steel shelters cover some parts of the road. Howitzer emplacements stand ready to avert big slides by triggering small, controlled avalanches. The preplanting of explosives to be set off by remote control also is used, but has not worked out too well because grizzly bears in the area have developed an appetite for the explosion charges.

LONGEST IN WORLD

The Trans-Canada Highway is the longest national highway in the world.

To traverse its full length, however, a driver must use ferries at each end — on the eastern end to reach Newfoundland and on the western end to reach Victoria, B. C.

The smallest province, Prince Edward Island, also is reached by ferry but an alternate bypass continues by land through Nova Scotia.

The highway is toll free except for ferry charges.

It was financed jointly by the federal government and the provinces. The expensive Rogers Pass section, which cost $24 million was paid for by the federal government.

Arguments Set on Extradition of Torture Suspect

ANN ARBOR (P) — Arguments will be heard here Sept. 7 on an extradition warrant against Nick Guido, wanted in Illinois on robbery and murder charges, Guido's attorney said.

Gov. Sullivan granted the request for a hearing yesterday, said John W. Rae, appointed by Washington County Circuit Judge James R. Broeky to defend Guido. Guido was arrested here Aug. 4 for a traffic violation.

Cook County, Ill., authorities said Guido is the leader of a robbery-torture gang that has staged a series of crimes in Chicago.

Frank Yonder, 23, arrested with Guido, 41, was returned to Illinois Saturday where he was identified by victims as a member of the gang.

Rae said he would contest the warrant on the basis of Guido's claim that his rights were being violated as a matter of personal persecution. He also will contest the use of testimony by Guido's wife as a basis for the warrant, he said.

Kent County Studies Medical Care Funds

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Kent County welfare leaders yesterday voted to ask $25,000 in county funds to insure receipt of $110,000 from the state for continued operation of the county medical care facility.

County funds are required to fill vacancies which exist on the facility staff. The Michigan Department of Social Welfare says the posts must be filled if state assistance is to continue.

Rupert Kettle, Kent County welfare director, said the medical care facility is short two orderlies, one nurse aid, two licensed practical nurses and one registered nurse. Kettle also expects two clerical and two food service worker vacancies this month.

The $25,000 appropriation would permit the county to fill the vacancies for the balance of the year.

SOME PEOPLE JUST DON'T NEED WANT ADS

You don't see many of them around, because they are the ones who have more money than they know how to spend.

They don't worry about things like a strained family budget, the cost of new school clothes for the kids, replacing a washing machine which suddenly goes to pieces, losing ten bucks in a poker game, a brake job on the family car, or kids who throw baseballs through the neighbor's double picture window.

The rest of us are different. If we are fairly average, there are about five times a year when we could profitably use a Want Ad, either to sell something or buy something. We can even use them to find jobs, find lost articles, rent extra rooms, and locate hard to find items we need.

If you are not in the habit of using five dollar bills to light one dollar cigars, Pontiac Press Want Ads are great for you. If you want to know more about how to use Want Ads and how little they cost, a friendly Pontiac Press Want Ad-Viser will help you write your Want Ad.

Model of Bobby's Dog

Red Turns Down Prize

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — A furry toy model of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's dog, Brumma, won't be a Soviet political attaché Valeri Kravchenko's suitcase when he goes home to the Soviet Union next month.

Although Kravchenko has a young son and daughter back home, he gave back the toy he won Monday night at a cocktail party sponsored by Republican congressmen.

LAUGHED IT OFF

The Russian at first laughingly fended off reporters who tried to pin him down as to his reasons. "Excuse me, gentlemen," he said, and walked off.

Later he said he didn't want to get involved in American politics. "This is some kind of Republican party," he laughed.

He was dead right—it was a party thrown by Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, the GOP publicity chairman, to make fun of Brumma's recent trips to the Justice Department with the attorney general while Kennedy's family was out of town on vacation.

DOGS ATTENDED

The theme of the party at a private residence on Capitol Hill was "The Dog Days on the New Frontier."

Several hundred guests, most of the Washington news corps, several dogs attended. Brumma was not among them.

"Refreshments" included liberal portions of "the hair of the dog," and plates of cold hot dogs.

Kravchenko smiled through a series of jokes, the singing of such songs as "How Much Is That Doggie in the Justice Department?" and the crush of questioning newsmen.

The Russian laughed when Ayres handed him one of the four toy dogs distributed as door prizes and jestingly suggested Kravchenko "would like to defect."

Kravchenko later said he did not understand what Ayres was saying.

House Leaders Seeking Vote on Poll Tax Motion

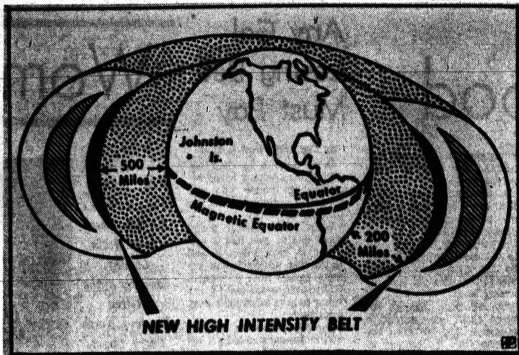

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House leadership will try next Monday for a vote on a proposed amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections.

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said Monday the proposed amendment will be called up under a procedure requiring a favorable vote of two-thirds of the House members present.

The bill has been lodged in the House Rules Committee since the Senate passed it March 27.

Five states now impose taxes on registered voters. They are Virginia, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi and Texas. If passed by Congress the amendment would have to be ratified by 28 of the 50 states to become effective.

Montana are generally ranked the most important copper-mining states.

UP 200 MILES—This cross-cut diagram is an artist's conception of how a band of high-energy electrons (black area) follows the earth's magnetic equator, forming a new high-intensity radiation belt around the globe. The new belt is the result of the high-altitude nuclear device set off by the United States in the mid-Pacific July 9. The new belt merges in its upper reaches with the Van Allen belt of natural radiation (shaded areas). From 200 to 500 miles high, the atomic particles could be a menace to any spacecraft unless they were protected.

Formed by U.S. N-Test

Radiation Belt Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is studying a new man-made radiation belt to learn whether it may force a change in the astronaut program schedule.

Present evidence indicates it will not, according to a statement Monday from the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

ABOVE PATH — The "new radiation belt" is primarily above the path of current manned flights, the statement said.

The belt—produced by the U.S. high altitude nuclear test over the Pacific July 9—varies in height from 100 to 150 miles above the earth, the Soviets' from 100 to 145 miles.

The belt rimmed the earth at the time of the recent twin flights by Soviet cosmonauts Andrian G. Nikolayev and Pavel R. Popovich.

The highest either reached was Popovich's top altitude of 145 miles.

NO DELAY

The belt's relatively high altitude, plus indications that its radiation—principally high energy electrons—is rapidly losing potency, gave hope there would be no delay in U.S. space flight plans.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, cooperating in the study, said it is proceeding with its schedule to launch Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra into a six-orbit flight late in September or early in October.

However, informed source said the plans would be changed if the studies reveal unacceptable hazards.

The new belt merged in its upper reaches with the Van Allen belt of natural radiation.

SO POWERFUL — The official statement said that the new radiation was so powerful immediately after the July 9 blast that it damaged solar cells in three U.S. satellites.

The cells were designed to capture the sun's energy and convert it into power for the satellites' equipment.

The statement said it was generally expected that the blast would produce the radiation belt and that "the phenomenon entails no hazard to the earth or its atmosphere."

In London, Britain's leading space authority, Prof. Sir Bernard Lovell, had an "I told you so" reaction to reports of the new radiation belt. Lovell said vigorous protests against the U.S. high altitude blast had gone unheeded "and obviously we are suffering the consequences which we in fact foretold."

Wants Permit to Enter Cuba

Lawyer Asks to Talk for Release of 1,000 Invasion Prisoners

HAVANA (AP) — Attorney James B. Donovan, who arranged the release of 12 pilot Francis Gary Powers from the Soviet Union, has asked permission to enter Cuba to negotiate for the release of more than 1,000 Cuban exiles captured in last year's invasion.

This was reported today by responsible sources of the Prisoners of War Freedom Committee. They said that if Donovan gets an entry visa, he will arrive in Havana before this weekend.

Donovan is the legal counsel for the rescue organization.

The Cuban government has demanded a $50-million ransom for the prisoners, taken in April of last year. If the money is not deposited in Canadian banks, the captives will have to serve prison terms up to 30 years.

So far, 65 of the prisoners have been released. Sixty of these wounded and ailing, left on "credit parole." They are now touring the United States to help with the fund raising.

Brooklyn Power Flop Affects 30,000 Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — A massive power failure in a three-square-mile area of Brooklyn Monday night left more than 30,000 homes without lights or air conditioning on a hot, muggy evening. It took more than three hours for full service to be restored.

Police blamed widespread use of air conditioners for the black-out. The Consolidated Edison Co., which is investigating, gave no immediate cause.

Longest irrigation tunnel may be the Alva Adams project built into the Rocky mountains.

Mrs. Elliott on Opdyke

Loves Hunk o' Wood

"The only thing I can't do is cook a fried egg," explained Mrs. M. G. Elliott, who has helped build and decorate her Opdyke Road home in Pontiac Township.

Any sort of work with wood comes naturally to her. But then, since her ancestors for many generations have been carpenters, "it runs in the family."

Mrs. Elliott often feels that it's a shame she wasn't born a boy, then she could fully expand her love for any and all kinds of new wood.

For Mrs. Elliott, a piece of wood is a temptation... she has to create something from it.

A jigsaw (the tool, not the puzzle) is her pride and joy. Keys of all sizes and shapes are fashioned out in her garage-workshop for friends. The decorative keys hang either on the wall or are placed on a table.

They are in such demand that she hasn't had time to make one for her own home, which, by the way, is made of prefabricated panels, both inside and out.

HAS A PASSION
As well as a passion for new wood, Mrs. Elliott loves old things. Mirrors seem to be her specialty. She owns many an article that, days later, is re-finished to a carelessly textured appearance and touch.

The Salvation Army Store and antique sales intrigue her, for here she can browse and plan what she could do with each seemingly unpromising item. A dollar or so buys an article that, days later, is re-finished to a carelessly textured appearance and touch.

Her home has a comfortable, relaxed atmosphere. Practically everything there, she has had some hand in making or refinishing.

Some old desks (the little red school house variety) are her specialty. They are in a better condition now than they were when new.

HANDY BLACKBOARD
Also carrying out the school-house theme is a small slate blackboard outside her garage. Friends leave messages when she is not at home.

In the kitchen-dining area a beautiful antique clock adorns the mantelpiece. She bought it at an auction. It gives perfect time and the cherry wood gleams with new varnish, yet still retains the antique look.

Sometimes Mrs. Elliott, in her craving for old furniture, will manufacture her own brand of antiquity. For instance, a piece of wood was patterned for a small shelf and drawer ensemble. Then she took a pair of scissors and denied the smooth finish, just here and there and not very much, but enough so that when the product was varnished, it appeared to have existed for a hundred years. In this way she combines two loves—wood and antiques.

Aside from the marvelous woodwork and refinishing, Mrs. Elliott sews with ease. She made many of the curtains in her home as well as painting frames and other objects.

SOMETIME
Sometime in the future she plans to enroll in the jewelry-making class at Cranbrook Art Institute. The type of rocks used fascinates her.

An amazing woman, Mrs. Elliott has a hard time finding time to do all that she is planning. Her work at a local bank keeps her occupied during the day, but that doesn't stop her from accomplishing wonderful results in her remaining hours.

With all Mrs. Elliott's re-licence about her work, it is impressive, and we even bet that she CAN fry an egg to perfection.

Working her jigsaw, Mrs. M. G. Elliott of Pontiac Township makes many keys similar to the one pictured here for friends and relatives. She has a hard time keeping them in stock since the demand for them is great. Keys are just part of the wonderful variety of things, Mrs. Elliott does with wood and varnish.

Any Gal Losing Bet Must Pay

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I made a baseball bet with a young woman friend recently. The wager was five dollars. I won the bet and she paid me the money.

When I told another friend about this he said that I was wrong to have taken it and added that no gentleman accepts money from a woman. Will you please tell me if I was wrong to have taken the money from her?

A: No, you were entirely right. Anyone who loses a bet must pay it and any man who stops her from accepting money from a woman accepts her payment without question.

Q: Is it necessary (according to good taste) to send a wedding present when one does not accept the invitation to the reception?

I never thought it was, but recently I was criticized for not doing so. Will you please tell me what is correct?

A: The obligation to send a wedding present depends upon your closeness or relationship to the bride or groom or their families.

If they are very intimate friends, or relatives, and you are obliged to decline because you will be away from home (or other unavoidable reason) then it would be rather expected of you to send a present. But if you are not an intimate friend or relative, a present could not possibly be expected.

Q: A friend of mine tells me that an unmarried woman always has the privilege of taking a man of her own choosing to parties even though he is not invited, and very definitely this is true when the man is her fiance.

I have never heard of this before and would like to know what your opinion is.

A: She may assume that the hostess of a big dance will welcome an extra dancing man and may take an uninvited man with her, but she may not do so to any other party unless explicitly told that she may do so, or at least having telephoned and asked if he might.

If her engagement has been announced, no hostess should invite her without her fiance.

Q: At a civil ceremony, may the bride wear a white dress and veil (both on the simple side)? I would very much appreciate your answering this question for me.

A: A bridal dress and veil are entirely out of keeping at a civil ceremony.

Wed in Evening

A poolside reception at the home of the Robert P. Grants on Gallory Road followed the evening vows of their daughter Penelope Jane to Michael C. Nyberg Saturday in the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. Rev. Charles A. Colberg performed the ceremony.

Alencon lace enhanced the house bodice and skirt panels of the white nylon sheer bridal gown, styled with chapel sweep. A double lace crown secured her veil of silk illusion.

The bride carried orchids, carnations and Stephanotis.

BRIDES ATTENDANTS
Judy Lemke who was maid of honor and Pamela and Shari Connor, their cousin's bridesmaids, appeared in powder blue georgette with satin carnations and ivy, with yellow

Chris Carlson, the bridegroom's nephew and Kevin Curran, were ring-bearers and another cousin, Richard Curran lit the candles.

After a trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside in Pontiac. Mr. Nyberg is an engineering senior at Michigan State University Okland.

White Cymbidium orchids accented Mrs. Grant's willow green satin sheath dress with overskirt. The mother of the bridegroom wore pink orchids and champagne lace.

Wanda Lee Mullins and Jerry L. Waltman exchanged vows Saturday in Five Points Community Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Mullins of Nelson Street and the Charles B. Waltmans of East Walton Boulevard.

Cold Water Chilly, Find Another Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been with the fire department less than a year, and the girl I am going with has told me if I want to marry her I had better find something else to do for a living because she refuses to put up with those crazy hours.

Should I try to talk her into marrying me anyway, or should I find another job? ROOKIE

DEAR ROOKIE: Better find another girl. If she's burning to marry you, she won't throw cold water on you, eh?

DEAR ABBY: Do you recall your answer to a young girl (or maybe it was to her mother) when you were asked to settle the question of when a girl is "her own boss"? MRS. A. C. DEAR MRS. A. C.: It may not be verbatim, but this is close: "When a girl leaves her parent's home, pays her own room and board, buys her own clothes, pays for her own dental and medical care, finances her own education and pays for her own entertainment, then she has the privilege of choosing her own company, making all her own decisions and being her own boss."

DEAR ABBY: Not too long ago I redecorated my living room. It took a lot of time and effort, but when I got through it looked very nice. Now both my neighbors on either side of me have put up wallpaper and draperies exactly like mine!

One even asked me where I bought my lamps, and she went down and bought a pair just like them for herself. My husband said I should be flattered. Tell me, honestly, wouldn't you be annoyed if this happened to you? ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: It has happened to me, and I was annoyed at first. But after thinking it over, I was flattered.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Pierced Ears

If you have pierced ears, be sure to keep the channels "surgically" clean.

To wash them, first coat the ear wires of your earrings with soap, and moisten the lobes. Then gently rotate the wires back and forth in the channels to wash away perspiration and grime. To rinse, squeeze clean water around the lobes with a washcloth or a sponge.

Astronauts Provide Real, Live Heroes

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When America's astronauts recently moved to Houston, Tex., the city turned out to give the men and their families a real old-fashioned welcome.

As the astronauts rode by in parade formation, men, women and children stood three deep on the streets, waving the American flag and holding up six fingers in a space victory sign signifying the six orbits that Cmdr. Walter M. Shriver Jr. will attempt.

No wonder Houston turned out in full force to cheer the astronauts and to welcome them to their city. Any city would be lucky to have these men and their families move in.

In the last few years our young people have had so few real heroes publicized enough to focus attention on them.

Instead, they've been offered paper heroes made up by press agents from young singers who can't sing, from method actors who make a fetish of sloppiness, from coached "geniuses" on rigged television quiz shows.

Our young people have had so much of the phony, the cheap, the showbiz, the superficial handed to them in the guise of something big and great that it is truly wonderful they now have the quiet, unassuming courage of the astronauts and their loyal families to give them something real to admire.

Any city is lucky indeed, to have for their "first families" — at least in the admiration of its citizens — families headed by our space pioneers.

The Fair Way

Cannot Disregard Any Rule of Golf

By SANDRA HAYNE

There is small satisfaction in winning if you don't adhere strictly to the rules.

The rules were not arbitrarily laid down in a hurry by some martinet, but evolved to serve definite purposes through the more than 500 years that golf has been developing.

Players cannot agree to disregard any rule, either local or of the United States Golf Association. The penalty in match play is disqualification.

on asking advice from anyone except your caddy, partner or partner's caddy. Improving the lie, except where local rules permit, calls for same penalties.

Where no specific penalty is provided for infractions of a USGA or local rule a loss of hole in match play and two strokes in medal play are imposed automatically.

Study the rules. You'll be surprised how many times you can use them to your advantage.

They're as fair as man can make them.

A player may be penalized a hole in match play or two strokes in medal play for a number of infractions, such as having someone mark the line of play except on the green or taking a practice shot during the playing of a hole.

The same penalties apply to taking a practice shot between holes from any hazard or green that hasn't already been played on the round or giving

Home Mishaps Still No. 1

U.S. Householders Are All Feet

By GAY FAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK — There's no place like home—for landing in the hospital.
Statistically, accidents in the home outnumber any other types of nonfatal mishaps, reports the National Safety Council. The number has shown a gradual decline through the years. But one insurance company study indicates the American householder is still a clumsy cat, safety campaigns notwithstanding.

More women than ever before are taking tumbles over rugs and on floors, steering into the furniture and the wall-mounted can opener, falling down stairs, walking through glass doors.

"The causes of accidental injuries of today as compared with 20 years ago indicate that the space age American is becoming a pathetic tanglefoot," said researchers for the Travelers Insurance Company.

PERCENTAGE JUMPS

Travelers took the years 1951 and 1961 for comparative purposes. It said that in '51, 30 percent of all its policyholders who collected for mishaps were victims of home accidents. By 1961, the percentage had jumped to 44.

(The National Safety Council reported that residential home accidents seriously injured 4.2 million persons in 1961, 4 million in 1961. Fatalities in 1961 totaled 29,600; 26,500 in 1961.)

The insurance company researchers found that 16 times as many of its policyholders fell on floors and rugs in their homes last year as did in 1951, most of them female. Spike heels maybe?

Inanimate objects appear to be fighting back. Six times as many policyholders collided with furniture, television sets, wall-mounted can openers and the like.

Twice as many fell down stairs.

Entering and exiting seems to present problems too, for twice as many managed to get caught in doors and windows in 1961 as in 1951. One woman policyholder moved into a new house with a glass wall opening onto a patio. She walked out to the patio one day — right through the glass. Bills for medical care ran to $2,785, said the insurance firm.

YARD LESS SAFE

Travelers said the yard also appears less safe today. Twice as many persons bit the dust on uneven home ground in 1961 as in '51, including one woman who tumbled into her ily pond. More than twice as many fell on paved surfaces. The survey showed slight increases, too, in collisions with other people, as well as falls on steps and over objects.

The company said Americans seem to be learning better to cope with the automobile — at least when it's not in motion. They're getting in and out more safely — only half as many fell during these maneuvers. But windows and doors still give trouble. Seven times as many policyholders got caught in doors and windows last year as did in 1951. Frequent accidents show throughout the records on home mishaps. One householder, a Houston consulting geologist, kicked at a cockroach, wrenched his knee and required a doctor's care. A Worcester, Mass., housewife, hemming a dress, was injured when the dressmaker dummy toppled and hit her on the head.

And one policyholder complained that his false teeth bit him. He'd taken them out of his mouth because they were uncomfortable, tucked them into a rear pocket, and forgot about them until he sat down.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Sudden rebellion in the ranks? Even the best-behaved baby feels the need to rebel from time to time. And why not? A baby is a human being, entitled to a few human quirks. (Besides, this show of spirit means he's growing up.) So when your baby occasionally refuses to go along with his regular bedtime or naptime schedule, try to relax and let him relax before you feed or bed him down. If you don't force the issue, it will be easier to get baby back on schedule the next time around.

Baby will relish regular meal-times if they're kept "looking-forward-to" times. The needed ingredients? A smiling atmosphere. A goodly variety of Gerber Strained Foods. There are more than enough to keep baby's meal-times zesty.

Variety review with a delicious point of view. Gerber Strained Foods offer plenty of range for menu change. 10 luscious fruits, 9 garden-good vegetables, 9 savery meats. 5 extra flavor-y high in the ranks? 4 scrumptious desserts. 7 fruit-luscious juice delights. Each one designed with a specific nutritional need in mind.

Four tips to tame a rock-a-bye rebel. (1) Nothing quite so relaxing as a rocking chair session. (2) A lullaby, sweet and low, still "hush charms to soothe." (3) A favorite cuddle toy somehow makes a crib seem cozier. (4) Grandmother offered a drop of warm milk to encourage drowsiness. Works today, too.

Specialties of the house. Don't forget these special foods for your baby: Gerber Strained Egg Yolk—delicate in texture, high in iron and vitamin A. Gerber Teething Biscuits—extra-hard to ease tender gums, specially shaped for easy grasping. Gerber Cookies for toddlers—animal-shaped for fun, twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus 8 vitamins in the icing. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

But Try Patience First

Paddling May Be Needed

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE N-42: Lana B., aged 4, is a smart little girl. "But she is badly spoiled," her grandmother informed me. "She throws a temper tantrum whenever her wishes are crossed. Although her mother says she doesn't give in to her, I am sure Lana rules the roost."

DR. CRANE

"For example, recently my husband and I visited our daughter and her family in California. "One evening I stayed home as baby-sitter so my daughter and her husband could go to a party."

"At bedtime, Lana and her 7-year-old brother Billy decided they were hungry. Lana wanted some ice cream and a cookie, so I agreed."

"But when I put them to bed, Lana then decided she needed a glass of milk. But I told her she had had enough to eat."

"So Lana started kicking and screaming, but I told her she was just wasting her time, for she'd get no milk till morning. "After she had exhausted herself, Billy then asked, 'Grandma, aren't you going to give her the milk now?' "Well," that showed me Lana's mother had been giving in to her. How do you suggest we treat a tantrum child?"

EMITATE TRAINERS
If you parents would just take a course from animal trainers, you'd rate much higher on my "Tests for Good Parents" that are mentioned below.

For animal trainers use superb psychology. They always reward the good and always penalize the bad and never permit any exceptions.

For parents can obtain good results by always rewarding the good, even if you ignore the bad, but that is not the most efficient plan.

About 25 years ago, one of the Dionne quintuplets was described by her private nursemaid in a magazine article.

This nurse had tucked the toddler into bed, but when the nurse reached the living room, there stood the child.

"I just smiled, and put her back into bed," the nurse wrote.

But when the nurse reached the living room, there was the child again.

So the nurse smiled and once more tucked the youngster into bed. This went on for about 56 times before the little girl was probably too exhausted to get out of bed.

The next night it, required only 45 tuckings to make her stay abed, and after about 10 more nights, the child remained in bed on the first tucking.

"See," exulted the nurse, "you don't need corporal punishment to teach a child."

But the average mother hasn't the time to play "tag" all evening with each child, nor can she afford to hire a special nursemaid for each youngster.

So good child psychology requires that you obtain the proper results most efficiently.

So tuck them once and warn them. Tuck them twice. On the third violation of your rules, paddle their piazza.

This will do in just one night what it took the Dionne nursemaid 10 nights to accomplish.

Send for my 200-point "Tests for Good Parents," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use these rating scales on yourselves and let your older children rate you, too.

Oh, You Dear Ball, Yells Champion Salvino

That's It, Hit That, Head Pin

Fall, Fall, Oh Please C'mon Fall

Shake, Swing Then Roll

The happiest moments in sports often bring about the most painful, most humorous and most serious expressions on the faces of the participants when caught by the camera.

Closest thing to variety of dance steps which have come and gone are the arm and leg motions of the bowlers as they try to direct the ball with body English.

The Pontiac PBA Open over the weekend at the 300 Bowl produced an interesting array of expressions and motion as caught by the lens of Press photographer Phil Webb.

Earl Johnson of Minneapolis had the hip movements to put English on his ball (Johnson Drag) and Bob Strampe (Strampe Step) of Washington did the slow shuffle in delivering his ball.

Little Billy "G" Golembiewski of Detroit had the band leader's swing in guiding his shot down the alley, while Joe "Donuts" Donato of Schenectady, N.Y. did a fast twirl with each ball he rolled.

Mike Totsky did the bowling twist and shimmied down to the floor to get the sound of the ball knocking down wood.

The largest field of professional bowlers ever to assemble in Pontiac and Michigan took part in the Pontiac Open in the battle for $23,000 in prize money.

The pros will return to Pontiac next year, it was announced after Sunday's finals.

300 Bowl will host another next week will conclude the summer Professional Bowlers Association tour. The winter spree will tournament in 1963, it was an begin in November.

"We hope to have a bigger and better one next spring," said Joe while trying to get things back to normal after four days of heated action at his 40-alley establishment.

Joe will be at another PBA 1193-1174 combination dropped event this week—as a contestant, him out of the title running the He will be among five local men next day. His best Saturday competing at the next stop on the scores were 221, 217, 212, and 211 tour at Niagara Falls this week, and two 202.

Puertas dropped out of his own meet due to the press of keeping things going well.

ALBANY LAST STOP

A tournament at Albany, N. Y.

Puertas got in some practice Sunday between PBA sessions and hopes to do considerably more this week.

Moore hopes to regain the form he showed last Friday when he had six-game blocks of 1,308 and 1,222 to rank in the top ten. A Bonfiglio and Carmichael never got going. Joe had 214-204 and Dick a 213 among their Saturday efforts.

Lowry did well in his pro debut despite a 1000 block Saturday. He followed with 1,133, included were a 228 and 202 twice.

Paul George had little success after rebounding from a dismal start. His best singles were 211-208. Al Pietz saved his best bowling for last when he hit 1,120 featuring 207-202. Tour vet Mike Samardzija also saved his best rolls for the end while staying above 1,100. He hit 211, 202 twice and 200 in a 1,191 after a 213-202 combination earlier.

Syl Thiel of Royal Oak, former Airway Lanes staffer, had 211-203 in faltering the final day. Lapeer's Bob Walter opened with a 221 and closed with 278 but had troubles in between his last block. Jim Rutkowski, Southfield, was 1,183-1,219 Saturday with games of 234, 227, 226, 208, 202. Chico Chicowsky was impressive. He had 1,225 six-game set with a spree of 206-202-225-219.

Paul Miller fired 203 in 1,163. Union Lake man Sol Morys hit 234, 206 and 214.

Among the amateurs who made the meet in qualifying at 300, Dick Preston was the big hero by leading all the pros for three of four rounds. He had 225-215-227-243 as a windup. Jim Pantazides also was in the money despite a poor finish. The Detroit had made 2nd place with 244-235-242-218 in 1,302. Bill Hazlett, Grand Rapids, hit 206, 211 and 212.

Moss Ready to Try Car

Secret Practices Set in England; Comeback After Accident

DETROIT (UPI)—Stirling Moss, nearly killed in an accident four months ago, is ready to try his hand again behind the wheel of a race car.

Moss nearly lost his life while driving in the Grand Prix at Goodwood, Eng., last April. His car spun out of control at St. Mary's corner and wound up wrecked in a field.

The 32-year-old British driver was pinned in the wreckage for a half hour. He suffered a concussion and brain damage which left part of his left side almost paralyzed.

After leaving the hospital, he vowed to continue racing if he recovered fully from the accident. Now, Carroll Shelby says Moss is ready to make a run in a Lotus XXV racing car at Silverstone Raceway in England to see if he is well enough to race.

Shelby is a friend of Moss and saw him in Los Angeles recently. He says Moss shows no outward effects of the accident but he doesn't believe he will race again "unless he feels he can still be the best driver around."

LION BOOTE—A big responsibility rests on the toe of Wayne Walker with the Detroit Lions this year. With the retirement of Jim Martin after last season, Walker must take over the duties of place kicking and field goal booting. Three victories were personally attributed to Martin's field goals last year.

Lions Still Need Big 'Boot'

Walker Seeks 1st Field Goal With Detroit

Big Linebacker Holds Kicking Responsibilities With Martin Gone

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The time has come for the Detroit Lions to get a good boot on the football field. The one player who has to supply that boot is Wayne Walker, who has been warming up since 1958 but as yet has not delivered the big toe.

With the retirement of Jim Martin at the age of 37, after the 1961 season, the responsibilities for kickoffs, extra points and field goals have been vested with Walker.

The 6-foot-2 and 239 pound linebacker from Idaho started working on his toe talents two years ago. He even took a few pointers from Lou Groza, the greatest kicking specialist in history of the NFL, who is still working the toes for the Cleveland Browns.

In two games thus far, Walker's kickoffs have been yards short of those Martin used to boom into and out of the end zone.

Last Saturday night against the Dallas Cowboys the best of Walker's six kickoffs was the two yard line and the Cowboys made returns totalling 154 yards.

COWBOYS GET YARDAGE
On the average this gave the Cowboys the ball closer to the 30 yard line, while the Lions failed to make any returns of Sam Baker's booming kicks.

Walker is still looking for his first regular season field goal. His 32-yard attempt Saturday went wide. Baker meanwhile connected on a 45-yarder to give the Cowboys a 17-14 lead at one time.

Walker has proven he has the distance in his toe. In the field goal contest of the Blue-White scrimmage at Verner Stadium three weeks ago, he won the event with three straight from the 45 and 50 yard lines after missing his first try, when he booted 13 yards at with a 27 yarder against Baltimore taking distance honors for the season.

Last year in 30 attempts he made 15 and won the game in Baltimore 16-15 with a 53 yarder.

The Steelers, who visit Tiger Stadium for an exhibition game next Monday night, were Martin's victims in pre-season last year as his field goal provided the 17-14 margin of victory in Pittsburgh. Martin ended his career with 56 field goals in 125 attempts.

Miss Revel Eyes Channel Says Women Superior Swimming for Distance

LONDON (AP)—A 25-year-old American girl convinced of the superiority of women over men in endurance arrived here today to try a two-way, non-stop swim of the English Channel.

Mary Margaret Revel of Detroit, arrived from Gibraltar where she has been tuning up with marathon swims in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic.

"I'm sure women have a greater capacity for endurance than men," she said. "They've also got more resistance against cold than men. That's why I'm hopeful about becoming the first woman to swim the Channel both ways without a stop."

Los Angeles Faces Yankees In 'Must Win' Series

Indians Trying to Get Back on War Path

Tigers Play Tribe

From Our News Wire
DETROIT The Detroit Tigers meet the Cleveland Indians to-night after observing Baseball Brotherhood Night in pre-game ceremonies.

Last time the Tigers met Cleveland, the Indians swept the two game set. The Tigers hope to reciprocate in kind.

Going into that series, the once pennant-contending Indians had lost 21 of 27 games.

After being buoyed briefly by the Bengalis, the Indians went on to lose 10 more and now have won only 12 of their last 45 games.

Manager Bob Scheffing has no intention of easing Cleveland's plight. He'll send right-handed Jim Bunning (12-8) against Jim Perry (9-9).

Billy Bruton, Al Kaline and Hank Aguirre were selected by Detroit sportswriters to be honored before the game with awards from the Detroit Round Table of Christians and Jews.

TRAIL CHIX
The Tigers, their hopes for a step up the ladder in American League standings shattered, have won 61 and lost 62, one game below the statistically solvent, but mediocre, 500 mark. They are 2 1/2 games behind the Chicago White Sox who hold the fourth spot in the league standings.

There is little mystery to the plight of this year's Tigers. They don't hit consistently with authority. Al Kaline, who was out of action two months, is the only regular hitting over .300 and his mark going into tonight's game is .301.

Norm Cash, although hitting a weak .236, has remained close to the top in the home run derby with 32 round-trippers. Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins banged his 33rd homer yesterday to take the lead.

Rocky Colavito, hitting a fairly respectable .276, has pounded out 38 home runs.

But when you get away from the big three, the rest of the squad is nothing to write home about.

No matter how poorly the Tigers are showing this year, the fans still love them. Or at least still go to the games. With an attendance mark of 10,916, the Tiger management hoped the team would pass the one-million mark in attendance on the current home stand.

The home folks have had at least something to cheer about. They didn't have to watch them on the road. The Tigers have managed a record of 36-22 at home but have lost 40 while winning only 25 on the road.

There is little mystery to the plight of this year's Tigers. They don't hit consistently with authority. Al Kaline, who was out of action two months, is the only regular hitting over .300 and his mark going into tonight's game is .301.

Angels Trail by 4 Games in Flag Race

Rigney Leaves Hospital After Ulcer Trouble; Three-Game Set

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The series between the Los Angeles Angels must win to stay in contention for the American League pennant starts tonight against the New York Yankees in Chavez Ravine.

"We really need three straight, but if we can win two of these three games we'll get one more crack at the Yanks in New York next month," says outfielder Albie Pearson, leadoff man and sparkplug of the second place Angels.

"If we blow this series I'm afraid we've had it. If you're going to win a pennant you must beat the team immediately ahead of you and behind you."

FOUR AHEAD
The Yanks are four games in front of the Angels. Bill Stafford (10-7) starts tonight for New York against Angel southpaw Bo Belinsky (8-6).

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees intends to use Whitey Ford Wednesday night and Ralph Terry Thursday afternoon. Bill Rigney, boss of the Angels who was released from a hospital Monday after an ulcer attack, will choose between Ted Bowsfield and Don Lee Wednesday night and will go to Dean Chance in the final game.

The Angels, playing their second year of major league baseball, have drawn 869,542 fans so far this season. After the series with the Yankees they will be close to the one million mark. But for the Thursday game being in the afternoon, this three-game series would be close to a sellout. The Yankees' travel requirements necessitated the daylight hour.

The Angels are in second place chiefly because they have a big bulge on the weaker teams. They are 11-3 against Kansas City, 12-6 against Boston and 9-5 against Washington in the East. The Angels have the advantage over all second division teams. The Yankees shade the Angels in their series.

6-5 Minnesota is the only team with a two-game spread on Los Angeles.

The ace of the Angel mound is Steve Kline, who won 11-4 when Ken Kierstead was hit by a broken bat, plans to take his first workout tonight but he will see no service in this series.

World Boxing Group Formed Out of NBA
TACOMA, Wash. (UPI)—The brand new "National Boxing Association of the World," which suddenly blossomed out of the 22-year-old National Boxing Association, today was planning its first fight for local effectiveness.

Dr. Charles P. Larson of Tacoma, president of the new NBAOW, said he would call an executive session as soon as the convention opens at Chicago, Sept. 24, the eve of the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title bout.

Amendments to the constitution and by-laws of the original NBA were passed by a unanimous vote at yesterday's first session of the NBA convention and gave birth to the new NBAOW and its four official "regions" for North America, South America, the Orient and Europe.

Young Justiniano N. Montano Jr. of the Philippines, author of the NBAOW Amendment, declared: "I am delighted that the convention adopted our proposal unanimously because the proposal represented the wishes of the oriental boxing federation."

Halbach Field will be the scene of the second in a series of Bloopers Ball games in which the Rochester Red Wings are playing catchers. Lodges for the Benefit of Handicapped Children attend Yermale Elks at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Wives of the two lodges will play 2 innings, the balance will be handled by the men.

Tickets will be available at the gate. The public is invited.

Votes for New Orleans
BOSTON (AP)—President Bill Sullivan of the Boston Patriots has dispatched telegrams to other club heads, recommending an American Football League franchise for New Orleans.

Triple Crown Prospects Missing From AL Scene

CAN'T GET AWAY — Vic Power of the Minnesota Twins is caught in a rundown between home and third in yesterday's game against Boston. Catcher Jim Pagliarini throws to Frank Malzone (20) and Malzone gets ready to flip the ball to pitcher Don Swarth (37) to complete a double play. Power tried to score on a force out at second.

The way the top sluggers in the American League are hitting, whoever casts the golden heads, places for triple crown winners had better try making batting helmets.

There hasn't been a triple crown winner-leader in homers, runs batted in and batting average since Mickey Vernon of the New York Yankees in 1936. And with the AL's most potent swingers averaging one hit every four at bats, there isn't going to be one this season.

The Minnesota Twins' Harmon Killebrew leads the AL with 33 homers and 95 runs batted in, but has only a .245 batting mark.

Last year's HR-RBI champ, Roger Maris of the Yankees, is hitting only .227, with 23 homers and 77 runs batted in.

LOW AVERAGES
The rest of the league leaders are in the batting department, too.

Maris led the homer hitters with 61 last year and was the leader in RBI with 142. Cash was the batting crown with a .361 average. Cash is almost 130 points lower this season while slug-hitter Pete Runnels of Boston holds the batting lead with a .333 average.

Killebrew took over the lead in the homer department Monday with a two-run shot in the sixth inning that powered third-place Minnesota to a 6-4 victory over Boston. Maris hit a three-run homer for the American League leading New York Yankees, who lost to Kansas City 7-3 in the only other game scheduled.

The victory pulled the Twins to within five games of the Yankees and left the leaders four games in front of the second-place Los Angeles Angels, leading into their three-game series opening at Los Angeles tonight.

UNEARNED RUNS
The Twins scored three unearned runs off Red Sox starter Don Schwall (6-14) in the first with Bob Allison stroking a run-producing double and Earl Battey hitting a home run.

The Red Sox moved ahead 4-3 in the top of the sixth on Al Clinton's two-run homer. Then Rich Rollins singled in the bottom four games and Killebrew wrapped it up. The victory went to Dick Stigman (8-3), who needed Frank Sullivan's relief help over the final two innings.

Maris tagged his three-run homer in the first inning and that was the Yankees got against Earl Battey (12-13) and John Wyatt. The A's scored twice in the fourth before breaking it open with a four-run fifth inning explosion against Rolfe Sheldon (6-8).

Cinci's Old Pros Trigger Flag Move

By The Associated Press
Those two old pros of Cincinnati, the Reds' 73, 10-inning victory over the Dodgers.

Frank Robinson and Gene Freese, who has been out with a broken ankle since spring training, drew a head on the league-leading Los Angeles Dodgers Monday night, and it was almost unbelievable what these two did to get together.

But there's no denying the events of the Reds' 73, 10-inning victory over the Dodgers.

'Little' Shooters Have Grand Day

By The Associated Press
VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The little fellows go for the golden goal at the 63rd Grand American Trapshoot. This is the one day in the week-long target carnival the novices do not fear the hotshots.

Glass championships make up the program to be decided over 200 targets at 16 yards. Each shooter competes only against those of comparable ability in a wide open free-for-all field.

The Class D scattergun guy who can break 188 of 200 will win much cash and acclaim as the Class AA expert who cracks 200 in a row.

TEAM RACE
Also, on the agenda are a state five-man team race to be decided during the 200-target program and a special 100 clay race for zone champions.

In Monday's inaugural contest, also over the 200-target, 16-yard course, a host of minor championships were decided.

In a special 100-target race between state champions, six sharpshooters broke the entire string and were to decide the title in today's race.

Championships decided were: Women's—Mrs. Frances King of Atlanta, Ga., 49 of 100 in a shootoff after tying at 96 of 100 with Mrs. Jeanette Rudy of Nashville, Tenn.; Carl Peterson of Northchase, La., and Mrs. Jon Frieberg of Waterloo, Iowa.

Junior—Kenneth Robertson, 15, of Montebello, Calif., who broke 100 of 100.

SIX-WAY TIE
Men—Six-way tie with perfect 100 scores: Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev.; Edgar Kyle of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Frank Little of Johnson City, N.Y.; C. E. Barnhart of Kansas City, Mo.; Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, Ohio, and Ira E. Eyer Sr. of Martinsburg, W.Va.

In the 200-target contests, the winners were: Father-son—Gene and Kenneth Robertson of Montebello, Calif., 394 of 400.

Huband-wife—Bard and Edna Higgins of Duluth, Minn., who finished W. T. and Marian Harrison of Los Angeles 47-44 in a shootoff after they tied at 389 of 400.

Brother-brother—E. A. and James Ross of Uniontown, Pa., 355 of 400.

his first start since he fractured his right ankle in a spring training accident, the hard-hitting third baseman raced home on the still weak leg with a key run in the seventh inning and drove in the tying run with a ninth inning blood single to center.

Then, there was Robinson. Continuing his torrid hitting, last year's Most Valuable Player cracked a bases loaded homer in the 10th inning for the game winner.

For the remarkable Mr. Robinson it was his 17th homer in the last 25 games dating back to July 27. Since then he has hit two homers in one game four times.

Clark Sr. of Alton, Ill., 100 of 100. Veterans (Women over 50)—Mrs. Lewis R. Wolf of Philadelphia, 97 of 100, for her third veteran's title.

Also finishing with 200 straight but ousted in the shootoff were Bernard Kalspach of Highland, Ind.; Forest C. Woods Sr. of Leroy, Ind., and John V. Voss of Omaha, Neb.

Mauch Looks to '63 With New Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With the ink on his 1963 contract hardly dry and the current season a long way from over, Manager Gene Mauch of the seventh-place Philadelphia Phillies was looking to today's next year.

"I think we have a club that is coming and I am glad to be coming back next year," Mauch said after the team announced his signing to a 1963 contract Monday.

The club called the contract an extension of the old one. Terms were not disclosed.

Mauch, 51, is now in his third season with the Phils. A onetime infidel with the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Red Sox, he took over after the third game of the 1960 season when Eddie Sawyer resigned suddenly.

Maguire, Youngster Win Best Ball Title

Twelve year old Bob Larkin of Birmingham found himself a real golf partner for future best ball tournaments. Larkin teamed with host pro Ray Maguire and won the 12-and-under division of the annual Pro-Junior golf tournament at Birmingham Country Club yesterday.

They posted a best ball score of 343-67.

In the 25-35 age group, Tom Wallington and Bruce Loprock of Washington Country Club took honors with a 64, while a tie resulted in the 15-17 year old bracket.

Barry Lauer and Chuck McGilgurry of Altus Valley and Don Jarford and Bob Bernstein of Willowood in Flint tied at 64.

The Cardinals, darkhorse choice to cop the Eastern Conference title this year, remember all too vividly how a broken ankle suffered by Crow in a pre-season game a year ago, and then an inordinate push of other injuries, cost them a shot at the 1961 title.

Crow, offensive guard Mike McGee and rookie tackle Bill Wilson all were injured in last Saturday night's 43-14 whipping by Green Bay. McGee is also out for three weeks and Wilson will be lost for six.

SAME PROBLEM
The New York Giants were in the same predicament today, with three more casualties to an attempted three grand slams and accounted for 35 runs tied in the victory. The victory moved the Reds back to within 5 1/2 games of the Dodgers, who maintained a 3 1/2 game edge over second-place San Francisco. Milwaukee's walloped the Giants 9-4.

THEY LOSE TWO
In the only other games, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets, 2-0 and 6-3, and Philadelphia whipped Houston 7-1 in the first game of a scheduled two-nighter. The second game was postponed due to rain.

St. Louis and Chicago were tied in the last 25 games dating back to July 27. Since then he has hit two homers in one game four times.

Twelve year old Bob Larkin of Birmingham found himself a real golf partner for future best ball tournaments. Larkin teamed with host pro Ray Maguire and won the 12-and-under division of the annual Pro-Junior golf tournament at Birmingham Country Club yesterday.

They posted a best ball score of 343-67.

In the 25-35 age group, Tom Wallington and Bruce Loprock of Washington Country Club took honors with a 64, while a tie resulted in the 15-17 year old bracket.

Barry Lauer and Chuck McGilgurry of Altus Valley and Don Jarford and Bob Bernstein of Willowood in Flint tied at 64.

ready crowded hospital brigade. Last year, the defending Eastern Conference champions, where mostly injury immune, a factor that must favor any contending club.

The Cardinals, darkhorse choice to cop the Eastern Conference title this year, remember all too vividly how a broken ankle suffered by Crow in a pre-season game a year ago, and then an inordinate push of other injuries, cost them a shot at the 1961 title.

Crow, offensive guard Mike McGee and rookie tackle Bill Wilson all were injured in last Saturday night's 43-14 whipping by Green Bay. McGee is also out for three weeks and Wilson will be lost for six.

SAME PROBLEM
The New York Giants were in the same predicament today, with three more casualties to an attempted three grand slams and accounted for 35 runs tied in the victory. The victory moved the Reds back to within 5 1/2 games of the Dodgers, who maintained a 3 1/2 game edge over second-place San Francisco. Milwaukee's walloped the Giants 9-4.

THEY LOSE TWO
In the only other games, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets, 2-0 and 6-3, and Philadelphia whipped Houston 7-1 in the first game of a scheduled two-nighter. The second game was postponed due to rain.

St. Louis and Chicago were tied in the last 25 games dating back to July 27. Since then he has hit two homers in one game four times.

Clark Sr. of Alton, Ill., 100 of 100. Veterans (Women over 50)—Mrs. Lewis R. Wolf of Philadelphia, 97 of 100, for her third veteran's title.

200-target introductory—Omer Webb Sr. of Washington, D.C., and Buford Bailey of Big Springs, Tex., tied after a perfect 200 and 125 rounds in a shootoff without a miss. Also finishing with 200 straight but ousted in the shootoff were Bernard Kalspach of Highland, Ind.; Forest C. Woods Sr. of Leroy, Ind., and John V. Voss of Omaha, Neb.

Mauch Looks to '63 With New Contract

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With the ink on his 1963 contract hardly dry and the current season a long way from over, Manager Gene Mauch of the seventh-place Philadelphia Phillies was looking to today's next year.

"I think we have a club that is coming and I am glad to be coming back next year," Mauch said after the team announced his signing to a 1963 contract Monday.

The club called the contract an extension of the old one. Terms were not disclosed.

Mauch, 51, is now in his third season with the Phils. A onetime infidel with the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Red Sox, he took over after the third game of the 1960 season when Eddie Sawyer resigned suddenly.

"FORTUNATE" PAIR — John and Jane Weber of Troy believe they have a wonderful life despite the fact that both are handicapped. The couple, who met at a convention for the handicapped, was married in 1951. They have a healthy, normal daughter, Theresa Lynn. He works for Pontiac Goodwill Industries, and Mrs. Weber does a thriving business as a bookkeeper for six area firms.

Troy Couple Enjoys Life

Handicapped but Happy

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

TROY — As John and Jane Weber pulled into the driveway of their new home here recently, they heaved a sigh of relief. After a 2,100-mile trip through Wisconsin and Upper Michigan it was nice to get back to the daily routine.

For this couple, routine living means moving about in a wheel chair for the 38-year-old Mrs. Weber, who was stricken with polio when she was 3 years old, and a slow, shuffling walk for her husband.

Weber, 41, was born with congenital joint disability that prevents flexing of the arms and legs.

Theresa Lynn, a fine, healthy child who is spending the summer at a Graying camp, is the shining light of the couple's lives.

Do the Webers mean about their predicament? Far from it. They seem to be the happiest pair in the state of Michigan.

Weber is a high school graduate and works at the new Pontiac Goodwill Industries store, he is also an exceptionally active president of the Metro-Politan Activities Club for the handicapped — an organization with members in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

After Mrs. Weber graduated from Franklin College, Franklin, Ind., she worked as a laboratory technician for the board of health in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

She is now employed by six area firms as an at-home bookkeeper and the Webers' two telephones ring constantly.

For fun, they join with club members every second Sunday at the Birmingham Young Men's Christian Association. Under Weber's guidance, there are planned field trips, picnics, hayrides, football games, arts and crafts, and club parties.

His wife's favorite is the wheelchair.

Homecoming Afoot in Holly

Two Baseball Games, Parade Set as Village Plans Ford Outing

HOLLY — A gala parade, two baseball games and a fire department watercraft contest will highlight the Holly Homecoming celebration here Saturday as the village hosts an outing of some 2,000 Ford Motor Co. employees and their families.

Announcement of plans for the homecoming were announced today by Les Klingner, commander of the Hulet-Bravender Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsor of the event. Klingner is also homecoming chairman.

To include entries by VFW posts throughout the state and floats by other organizations, the parade will step off from the VFW Hall at 9 a.m., follow Main Street to Maple Street and move eastward on Maple Street to the end of its route at Bennett Junior High School.

A big attraction is expected to be a watercraft contest between the Holly and Fenton fire departments. Competing firemen will throw streams of water at a rubber ball strung to an overhead wire. The winning department will be the one that drives the ball across the other's "goal line" on the wire.

The Moose Lodge and the Jaycees will meet in a baseball game at 3 p.m. following a Little League game at 7 p.m.

Other features of the festivities will be an amateur talent show with prizes, a square dance for which Main Street will be roped off and a disc jockey dance for teen-agers.

Information about the village and its history will be available at a special information booth.

Voters Reverse Three Previous Defeats and Pass Operating Tax

SOUTH LYON — Following yesterday's approval by voters of a five-mill special operating tax proposal by a 21 margin, the Lyon Township Board of Education last night restored to the 1962-63 budget the $75,000 in cuts it made July 24.

In a dramatic reversal of three previous defeats of millage proposals since May, school district voters approved the five mills for fiscal year, 1192 to 564.

The school board had placed the issue on the ballot after receiving a petition signed by more than 400 residents requesting the vote.

Another special election, to consider a proposal to transfer $355,000 from building and site funds to operating accounts, will take place as scheduled next Monday, but has lost its importance with the success of the millage.

AS SAFETY VALVE

The board had ordered the vote on the transfer in case the millage failed a fourth time.

Budget cuts restored by the board concerned closing of the Sayre School and elimination of the school district's athletic program. Board members voted to open the Sayre School, which had been closed, and to restore the athletic program.

The task of trimming another $35,000 from the budget also was avoided.

Voters had defeated a 6.5-mill operating tax proposal in May and again in June.

They turned down two proposals July 16, one for four mills and one for five mills.

The current four-mill special operating levy is due to expire in December. A 2.5-mill building and site levy also is expiring.

Board members also had reduced the debt retirement levy from eight mills to four mills.

The result was lowering the tax rate by a total of 10½ mills, thus restoring five mills which voters had rejected by a 2-1 vote in June. He also operates a special lawn mower, and the big yard reflects careful manuring.

Two near tragedies were encountered during the Webers' vacation trip. They were almost hit by a large ferry boat when they took a cruise up the Wisconsin Dells in a smaller boat.

"That was the most helpless feeling I ever had, even though we both know how to swim," said Mrs. Weber.

Another time they decided to get off the beaten track and drove down a lonely Wisconsin side road. As they slowed down near a bend, their car sank into deep sand.

Mrs. Weber was out of the car, into her wheel chair and starting to "dig out" when they were rescued by another couple who happened to be "exploring" too.

The Webers feel they are fortunate, and firmly believe they have a wonderful life together. "A lot better than most people," they agree.

Plane Clue Spurs Hunt for Craft

SAGINAW (UPI) — New information about a missing light airplane spurred on a search today after hope of finding the craft had all but been abandoned.

State police said a vacationer at White Beach on Saginaw Bay near here reported seeing the plane shortly after noon Aug. 16, the day the small craft disappeared.

Authorities said the witness told them he saw a "small green plane with a light trim." They said they were told the engine of the plane seemed to be laboring.

The story of the witness was confirmed by his wife and children, who were also outside their vacation cabin.

A short time after hearing the plane, the witness told police, a noise was heard. Authorities theorized that the noise might have been the plane crashing.

A massive search put on by the Civil Air Patrol turned up a brief case Sunday which belonged to Albert W. Copeland, 44, proprietor of a Capac Ford agency. The case was found by a private boat where the Riffle River flows into Saginaw Bay.

Log books of the aircraft in which Copeland and his companion, Lawrence Bode, 50, chief pilot, were also found.

Both Sides of Recall Question Aired at Avondale Meeting

By JIM DYBERT

Opposing sides in the Avondale School District recall controversy clashed head-on for the first time last night as the board of education met before a standing-room-only crowd of some 100 residents.

Newly appointed School Superintendent George E. Shackelford urged peace.

Earl Wilson, who resigned Aug. 6 from the school board because he was moving his residence to New Jersey, urged war.

School Board President Floyd Cobb Jr. told visitors that a petition signed by 900 urging renewal of the contract of former Superintendent L. E. Watt, who also resigned Aug. 6, was not a legal petition.

Herbert E. Mills, a candidate for appointment to the board post left vacant by Wilson — a post to which James A. Laughlin was appointed Aug. 9 — told the packed meeting room the chief aim of the group urging recall of the board's four officers was constructive.

A number of residents stated their support of the four—David W. Hackett, vice president; Raymond N. Baker, secretary; and Mrs. Genevieve Porter, treasurer.

Supporters of the four appeared to be in the majority at last night's meeting.

McAllister Stock, chairman of the recent Citizens' School Study Committee, repeated the recall group's charge that the four still had not given a reason for refusing to renew Watt's contract.

NOT IN ACCORD

In an interview after the meeting, Cobb said Watt's contract was not renewed because the former superintendent's methods of administration were not in accord with the board's wishes.

In a brief speech at the beginning of the meeting, Shackelford, who was appointed Aug. 9, called for both sides of the controversy to "put your strong feelings aside, and in the interest of your children's school, in a united effort, to make our school conditions for the good things we are accomplishing."

Wilson, who plans to move his residence to New Jersey, said he had resigned from the board after arbitrarily changing a packed meeting approved in the June 11 election.

"I abhor recalls," Wilson said, "but I see no other recourse."

He said that backers of the $12.9-million bond issue and five-mill tax increase approved June 11 considered the retention of Watt to implement the bond issue and the millage hike as part of an agreed-on package.

He said he appeared to make his statement in answer to rumors that he had resigned from the board in order to avoid a fight. "Anyone who knows me knows that's ridiculous," he said, "enjoy fights."

Mrs. Porter backed up Cobb's point about the petition urging renewal of Watt's contract with figures.

Two Utica Men Are on Socialist Labor Ticket

Two Utica men are among those nominated by the Socialist Labor party for state offices at the party's 1962 statutory convention.

They are Theos A. Grove, doctor of chiropractic, 8855 Sunset St., Utica, and Albert Miller, 47600 Harry St., candidate for auditor general.

Others nominated were James Sims of Detroit, governor; James Harvath of Warren, lieutenant governor; W. Clifford Bentley of Pleasant Ridge, secretary of state; and Charles Fraser of Detroit, state treasurer.

The nominations were the same as those made at the party's spring convention in April.

Lake Orion Study Club Plans Evening Benefit

LAKE ORION — St. Francis Study Club of Lake Orion is planning a benefit card party for 8 p.m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's Parish Hall.

Mrs. Charles Sweeney is chairman of the affair which is open to the public. Prizes will be offered and refreshments served.

ures showing that 61 per cent of the signers had voted in the June 11 election, but 49 per cent were not even registered voters.

WANTED PROTEST

In an interview, Thomas B. Rocker, president of the Avondale School District Improvement Association (ASDIA), which instituted the recall move, said the petition was not intended to be a legal paper, but only an expression of opinion by residents.

Cobb pointed out that the petition also urged the retention of Amst. Supt. Arnold Ojala, who has remained in that position.

The ASDIA has charged that the four board officers have been influenced more by teachers and administrators than by the wishes of voters.

Cobb said, after the meeting, that the board had not approved of Watt's methods, especially in regard to handling of professional people in the school system.

Rocker said the ASDIA recall petition drive will be started tomorrow night.

Protests Disrupt Zoning Hearing

SOUTHFIELD — Loud and disorderly outbursts from among some 200 residents attending a public hearing here last night were finally quelled by the arrival of two policemen as the hearing was adjourned until Sept. 12.

Main protest from the crowd that jammed the small room at Southfield School No. 10 was lack of sufficient copies of proposed emergency revisions in the city's zoning ordinance which the hearing was called to consider.

Residents angrily demanded the hearing be postponed until enough copies became available and sufficient time for studying the proposed changes had elapsed.

Two copies of the proposed changes had been on file for residents to read at the city clerk's office.

Center of the controversy is a proposed zoning ordinance revision to permit construction of high-rise multi-family dwellings in a new zoning classification for that purpose. The present ordinance contains no provisions for such use.

Low demands for postponement began after an outline of proposed changes was presented by city planner Ken Clark.

City Council President C. Hugh Dobay summoned police after a few residents at the meeting ignored his rulings that they were out of order. When police arrived, two of the more vocal residents departed and the meeting quelled to some extent.

The change pertaining to high-rise apartments would require a development area of at least five acres and provisions for parking five cars for every two apartments.

Representatives of utility companies, and civic and building associations also requested postponement of the hearing to permit further study of the proposed changes.

Novi Working on Water Plan

Council Agrees to Talk to Detroit, Hoping to Combine Facilities

NOVI — The Novi Village Council last night agreed to send the city of Detroit a water resolution, showing its willingness to go into the water business.

The resolution gave evidence that the council was making attempts to gain ownership of Willowbrook Water system, presently owned by Paul LeBat, developer of the system and provide a water system for the entire village. The Willowbrook system would be used as the nucleus of Novi's water system.

Owning its own water system will allow the Novi Council to negotiate for the use of Detroit water.

Detroit, upon receiving the resolution, will proceed to draw up an agreement with Novi.

This agreement will then be submitted to the village's attorneys, Bond and Dillon of Keego Harbor, for recommendations.

Before contracts with Detroit can be signed, the village must obtain and put a water system into operation. Upon obtaining the use of Detroit water, the wells will be abandoned, but the water lines of the Novi system will continue to carry the water.

The Willowbrook system provides water for 300 homes in the 10-Mile and Meadowbrook roads area, and would be supplemented by putting the 2,800 village sewer taps to use, for water.

The council has also directed the attorneys to draw up a combined water and sewage ordinance, consolidating the present department of sewers with the anticipated water department.

'Retired Persons' to Picnic at Park

Chapter Seven of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold a picnic at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow in Hawthorne Park on Walton boulevard, a half mile west of Baldwin Road.

In case of rain, the event will be staged in the Pontiac United Hall on E. Kennett Street.

Members are asked to bring a dish to pass and their own coffee. Plans for the chapter's visit to the state fair will be discussed.

LEARN ABOUT JETS — Civil Air Patrol Cadet Lieut. Ruth Posey (left) and Janet Murray learned first hand about jets by taking a ride in one recently at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala. The girls spent a week at the base on Aerospace Age Orientation scholarships given annually by the CAP. They are members of the Inter-Lakes Group 619 of the CAP at Walled Lake.

An aerial survey of Jordan will be made by an American firm.

Train Hits Car in Night; 7 Die

Family of Four Among Victims in California Mishap; No Derailment

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP)—A crack passenger train whipping through the darkness Monday night plowed into a car killing seven persons including a family of four, sheriff's deputies reported.

The train, Southern Pacific's Sunset bound for New Orleans, ground on for nine city blocks before it came to a halt. The auto was lodged partly under it, compressed nearly flat.

None of the train's 29 cars or three locomotive units were derailed.

All the dead were traveling in the auto. The body of one man was thrown clear. The others had to be cut from the wreckage with torches.

Engineer E. F. Knoff said he didn't see the car coming "but I felt it hit and saw sparks flying from the front of the train engine."

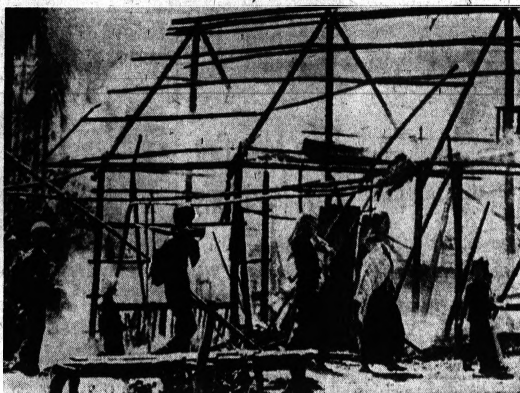

He said he was traveling 40 to 45 miles per hour.

The victims were identified tentatively from papers found on them and in the car as all from California:

Joe Kendall, 22, his wife, Dixie Lee, 19, and their children, Kathleen, 2, and Kendall, 1, of La Puente; Stanley Earl Peacock, 19, and Medona L. Finlay, 18, both also from La Puente; and Wanda Carol Boatwright, 18, of Rio Linda, Sacramento County.

Actor Dennis Weaver Proud of House 'Gunsmoke' Built

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Isn't it amazing what an Ozark accent and a fake limp can do? commented Dennis Weaver as he showed the visitor around his sprawling new house on a San Fernando Valley hilltop.

This is the house that "Gunsmoke" built. It is a large 5,200 square foot to accommodate the Weavers and their three growing sons. Swimming pool, tennis court, you name it — you name it — Dennis' particular pride is the master bathroom with a large sunken tub adjoining a green dell and overlooking the whole outdoors.

He planned the layout and remarked as he studied the lush surroundings: "I feel like an anti-septic Tarzan."

Mrs. Weaver declined to play Jane, however. She forsakes the tub for the privacy of a shower.

TURNS OF FORTUNE
After the tour, Dennis sat near the pool and contemplated the turns of his fortune.

"It's amazing what can happen in eight years," he reflected. "When I got word that I was getting the role of Chester, they had to reach me through flowers. Even so, I had the nerve to hold out for an extra $100. I might add that was one-quarter of what was to be my weekly salary."

"I wasn't as brave as I might seem. I knew that Guy Williams was up for the same role—it's hard to imagine Zorro playing Chester now. He told me they had offered as high as $400, so I thought I was safe in holding out."

Weaver's career with "Gunsmoke" almost ended earlier this year when he served notice that he was heading over the hill. His destination: A highly-touted variety hour which he was to emcee—"TV Tonight."

What happened to it? "We made a pilot and it was lousy," he said frankly. "It was done in too much of a hurry—just two weeks after we got the go-ahead. In our desperation, we hit on a device that simply wouldn't work. But we were stuck with it."

TAKEN BACK GLADLY
When the deal fizzled, "Gun-smoke" gladly took Chester back into the fold for 15 shows this season. He has no regrets over the move.

"I'll earn less by making 15 'Gunsmokes' instead of 36," he admitted. "But my salary is higher for those 15 this year, and I am free to do outside jobs. So I will be making just as much money and I won't have the boredom of doing little things in the 'Gunsmokes' in which I'm not featured."

Larick said yesterday he suspected the mother was one of 207 pregnant women known to have been given the American-produced drug for test purposes.

Larick declined to identify the mother or even say where the baby was born. "It looks rather serious but we haven't nailed it down yet," he said.

His disclosure came as the House Commerce Committee continued hearings on a new drug control bill.

The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday approved a measure giving President Kennedy virtually all the authority he asked to protect Americans from unsafe drugs.

U.S. AHEAD
At a session last night, the House group was told that the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union in producing needed drugs; and Congress should be careful about tampering with the U.S. system.

Raymond A. Bauer, a Harvard professor, testified that Russia's socialist system of producing drugs "is functioning worse for them than ours is for us."

He urged the committee to consider the advantages of U.S. drug manufacturing before imposing additional regulations.

The new case disclosed by Larick was the first linked to the use of U.S.-produced thalidomide. However, five deformed babies have been born to American mothers who said they obtained the drug abroad.

They are counting on a debate-limiting agreement as the key to their planning. Assistant Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said he was sure a voluntary time limit on debate could be worked out.

Sen. Karl Mundt, S.D., leader of the GOP move, claimed considerable support. Humphrey, however, predicted the Mundt amendment would be rejected.

The pending bill contains only part of what President Kennedy asked. A more far-reaching proposal was approved by the Senate but defeated in the House.

The stiffest fight now shaped up over a Republican effort to let wheat growers choose between the present program of voluntary controls with high price supports and the tougher administration "certificate" plan.

'Junk Mail' Comes High These Days

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A colleague of mine who keeps an eye on economic trends has called my attention to a new manifestation of our affluent society. He has received a piece of "junk mail" carrying 64 cents worth of postage.

In the absence of claims to the contrary, he thinks this may be an international record for wasted stamps.

Asked by me to pinpoint the circumstances, my friend reports that an evening or two ago he found in his mailbox a notice that the postman had called during the day with a registered letter.

Finding no one at home, the postman returned the mislaid to the post office where, the notice advised, it could be picked up by the addressee. Early the next morning my friend drove five miles to the post office to retrieve what he assumed was an important communication, like maybe a government check.

It turned out to be a form letter from a magazine bearing the signature of the circulation manager, a man named Wilson. The letter pointed out that my friend had neglected to renew his subscription and recommended that he rectify this error at once. It even gave instructions on how to do so. He was told to write "OK, Wilson—continue my subscription—I'm attaching my check" across the bottom of the letter and return it in the enclosed envelope, the message said. As previously noted, it cost the magazine 64 cents to send the letter. In addition, the enclosed envelope bore a four-cent stamp. Figuring his travel expenses, at 10 cents a mile, the trip to the post office cost my friend a dollar.

Thus the solicitation involved a joint expenditure of $1.68, which would pay for about five and a half copies of the magazine.

My friend had intended to let the subscription lapse quietly, but now he feels an incumbency to send a reply. He does not, however, plan to use the enclosed envelope.

Instead, he plans to send it by registered mail to Wilson's home address in the hope that it will be delivered at an hour when Wilson is away from home.

Illiterate Sentenced on Forgery Charge

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A man who can't read or write has been sentenced to two years in prison for forgery.

Judge Jack A. Falk sentenced Willie Robinson, 39, Monday after hearing testimony from Lennie Armstrong, 37, who said Robinson talked him into drawing up a few checks just to see how it was done. Armstrong said he thought all the practice checks were destroyed, but Robinson apparently held out a few, endorsed them with an "X" and cashed them. Armstrong was sentenced to two years on probation.

Both East and South were wrong. North won West's lack of hearts with the ace and led the king of spade which was allowed to hold the trick. His next play was the ten of hearts, won by West's king. Three club tricks led to the defense and East led the ten of diamonds.

Dummy's ace won the trick and a diamond was discarded on the queen of hearts. East ruffed, led a diamond to his partner's king, ruffed a diamond, and still had his ace of spade. Down three.

British Offer Compromise on 'Inspection'

GENEVA (AP)—Every time the West talks about inspection in a nuclear test ban treaty the Russians say the United States and Britain want to turn loose a flock of spies in the Soviet Union.

So today at the disarmament conference Sir Michael Wright of Britain came up with this: "Inspectors could be transported blindfolded in Soviet aircraft with a Soviet pilot and surrounded by as many Soviet observers as the Soviet Union wants."

'Twins' Didn't Attempt to Touch During Flight

MOSCOW (AP)—The two Soviet cosmonauts who circled the earth as space twins last week came within about three miles of each other at one time but did not touch, they told a news conference today.

Maj. Andrian Nikolayev, said that at the outset Aug. 19, "We were ready to shake each other's hand and to congratulate each other on the initial successes."

His partner in space was Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich.

"The spaceships Vostok III and Vostok IV were put into predetermined orbit with exceptional accuracy as regards both time and place," Nikolayev said.

"We immediately established two-way radio communications, learned how each other felt and wished each other a happy journey."

DRIFTED APART

His reference to the proximity of the spaceships at the start of the reputed group flight followed speculation of some sources in the West as to a rendezvous. Western spotters noted they were several hundred miles apart when the flight ended last Wednesday.

The U.S. magazine Aviation Week said the United States has strong evidence that the space twins brought the two craft together.

It said the evidence is forcing the United States "to make an extensive re-evaluation of military and civilian roles in the space program." The U.S. Defense Department refused to comment.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said available tracking station information indicates the two vehicles never came closer together than 100 miles.

Candidates Promises New Fight if Durant Still Backs Birchers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

George Romney says he will ask the Republican State Convention to deal with what he calls right wing extremism in the 14th Congressional GOP Committee if he finds that Richard Durant still supports the John Birch Society.

The issue was returned to life a week after Durant publicly resigned from the ultra-conservative group, when Mrs. James H. Hodge, a precinct delegate in Detroit's 21st Ward, wrote to Romney claiming Durant had given her Birchist literature.

The GOP gubernatorial candidate said "if it is true that Richard Durant continues to support that organization, I repeat what I have publicly said before:

"He should resign his position as vice-chairman of the 14th District Republican Committee."

"I want no support from any part of the John Birch Society and I shall do everything within my power and ability to make certain that no taint of Birchism—or any (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

U Thant of U.N. Offers Katanga New Program

Gives Tshombe Week to Accept Provisions or Face Sanctions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U Thant has given Katanga President Moise Tshombe a week to 10 days to accept a new U.N. program to unify the Congo peacefully.

If Tshombe rejects the overture, Thant announced Monday night, he will ask all U.N. members to turn the economic screws on Katanga and quit buying Katangan copper and cobalt.

There is considerable doubt that Belgium and Britain, two of Katanga's chief customers, would comply.

Thant's program calls for adoption of a federal constitution to be drafted in the next 30 days, agreement to share the royalties from Katanga's rich mines with the impoverished central government, currency unification, and integration of Katanga forces into the Congolese army in 90 days.

SETS UP BARS

Thant called for member governments to bar all unauthorized movements of mercenaries or any military material to the Congo.

He said Robert Gardiner, his chief representative in the Congo, has been instructed to present the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Try to Protest Stoning of Buses Reds Get Brush-Off in Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — U. S., British and French commandants in Berlin announced today they will station an ambulance at Checkpoint Charlie in an attempt to aid any future victims of Communist bullets on the eastern side of the wall.

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians tried twice to protest stoning their military buses by West Berliners and were brushed off by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, the U.S. commandant in Berlin, a spokesman for the U.S. mission said today.

"On his second call, the Soviet officer was told that Gen. Watson was not available to meet him," the spokesman said.

called on the mission headquarters Sunday and Monday night to guard the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin, have been attacked with rocks by West Berlin youths four times since Aug. 13, the day of the first anniversary of the Red wall dividing Berlin.

The Soviet officer appeared at the mission after 9 p.m. Monday on his second attempt to see Watson.

He was told, the spokesman said, that Watson has invited the acting Soviet commandant, Col. P. V. Sigarov, on Sunday to discuss with him and the British and French commandants the situation in Berlin. Sigarov rejected the invitation.

Watson wrote Sigarov on Sunday that the rapidly developing Berlin situation could have grave consequences extending far beyond the city itself.

He asked Sigarov to meet him and the British and French commandants Monday.

Sigarov returned Watson's letter with the statement that he did not wish to discuss its contents.

Sunday night, Tarasov made his first call on the mission. A guard there was understood to have told him that because of Sunday, nobody was available.

When he called again Monday night, Tarasov was referred to Watson's invitation to Sigarov.

Tarasov was also told that the matter was of concern to all four commandants in Berlin and that Watson was still prepared to meet Sigarov together with the French and British commandants at any time.

Watson today received West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt. They were understood to have discussed the demonstrations on the Wall by West Berliners which have grown more violent every day.

Most Scramble to Safety as Craft Hits Bay

Officials Report 12 Dead, 11 Missing and 21 Hospitalized

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A Brazilian jetliner with 104 persons aboard skidded off the runway on takeoff last night, plowed through a thick concrete seawall and dived in flames into Guanabara Bay. Most of the passengers were rescued or scrambled to safety.

Officials said at least 12 persons were killed and 21 hospitalized with shock, burns and other injuries in Brazil's fourth major air disaster in 10 months.

The DC8 stayed aloft for 15 minutes after hitting the water and then sank to the muddy bottom in 15 feet of water.

"We think some bodies may still be in the plane," a fire department official said.

Officials said 11 passengers were missing but some were known to have survived and left the airport in the confusion without notifying anyone.

MADE STOPOVER

The Panair Do Brasil airliner carrying 93 passengers and crew of 11 stopped over here on a flight from Buenos Aires, Argentina, to Lisbon, Portugal.

A stewardess, Fernanda Fortunato, was the only crew member reported killed.

It was not determined immediately whether any Americans were aboard.

The plane was taking off from Galeao Airport on Governor's Island near Rio when it went out of control.

An airline official said the pilot, Renato Cesar, reported that when he tried to lift the DC8 off the runway, it failed to respond normally.

The aircraft's radio operator, Osmar Antonio Ferreira, said one engine began shaking as the plane approached the takeoff point.

"The pilot tried to stop the plane," he said, "but it was going too fast and we skidded off the end of the runway and crashed into the water."

CRASHED WALL

Witnesses said the plane sped off the runway at a 30-degree angle, plowed through a thick, 4-foot-high reinforced concrete wall and across a road, and plunged into the bay.

Selim Nair, one of the passengers, said the plane's right wing was on fire then the aircraft hit the water.

1962 Model Production 2nd Highest for Pontiac

Turning out the second highest model run in its history in 1962, Pontiac Motor Division was the third best-selling automotive unit in the country during the model year just concluded.

Off Pontiac assembly lines rolled 378,740 Pontiacs and 143,193 Tempests — a total of 521,933 which put the division right behind Chevrolet and Ford in the entire industry.

The 1962 run of Pontiacs has been surpassed only by 1955's model year production of 545,291. The third best year was 1950, with 477,780.

In February, Pontiac was honored for capturing third place in the industry for the 1961 calendar year production. It was (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Youth's Recovery Eases Smallpox Epidemic Fear

TORONTO (UPI) — James William Orr, 14, was called "well on the road to recovery" today from his bout with smallpox.

Canadian health officials were confident that the danger of an epidemic had passed.

The small dark-haired boy, who apparently contracted the disease in the interior of Brazil, was in isolation at Riverdale Hospital here.

DETROIT (AP) — A railroad coach which had carried a Canadian youth, James William Orr, 14, suffering from smallpox, was sealed off with clouds of cyanide gas by New York Central officials Monday.

Yesterday he was reported sitting up in bed, eating well and reading comic books.

Ontario's minister of health, Dr. Matthew Dymond, said James should "regain full health in about three weeks." The boy's missionary father, James Orr, said his son was doing well and was "unaware of the excitement he has caused."

The boy's father was quarantined on Saturday, when the nature of James' ailment was discovered.

The elder Orr, who has been a Baptist missionary in South America for more than 25 years, was at an east end Toronto home. The mother, Mrs. Mary Orr, and two other children—Joseph, 13, and Dorothy, 9—were quarantined at the Orr home in Three Hills, Alberta.

CLOSE CONTACTS

Dymond said that if anyone was going to contract the disease from James, it would first be the boy's family. If the family was not affected, he said, the chances of others getting it "are extremely remote."

Dymond said the threat of a smallpox epidemic was probably due to the Brazilian physician who apparently issued improper vaccination certificates to the Orr family.

This, he said, the boy was permitted to carry the disease from Brazil to New York and Canada without being challenged by health officials.

An international agreement, to which Brazil is a party, prohibits giving the certificates to anyone who has not been immunized within the last three years.

But Dymond said that due to rapid action by Canadian health officials, the threat of an epidemic had probably been averted.

'Little Fellow' Hurt—Swainson

GOP Business' Puppet

DETROIT (UPI) — Gov. John Swainson is to aid Swainson in his bid for re-election Nov. 6.

Swainson said the business activities tax was written by a lobbyist for one of the big automobile firms and passed by the Michigan legislature. He said the tax "has been a millstone weighing down Michigan business for years."

Swainson said he called for "tax justice" in the last two sessions of the legislature, but was turned down by the Republican majority.

"In addition," he said, "the Republicans this year enacted a $16-million increase in the corporation franchise fee which also falls most heavily on small business."

"The cynical Republican attitude is best illustrated by the remarks of one of Michigan's lobbyists — 'Why should we subsidize small business — we aren't worried about the business men's activities tax.'"

Swainson said the tax program he proposed would have a net tax relief of more than $100 million to all business and industry.

"The Republicans had a clear choice," he said. "They could have offered small business and the people of Michigan tax justice. Instead, they chose to load more unfair taxes onto the backs of our low income families, and refused to discard business taxes — Republican-made monsters that have strangled the small businessman."

City Sends Out Shelter Forms

Owners of Some 136 Potential Areas to Be Asked for OK of Use

City officials today began mailing out shelter licenses and privilege forms to the owners of some 136 buildings in Pontiac, which, according to the recent Federal Defense Shelter Survey, house potential fallout shelter areas.

The forms don't require owners to initiate renovation of building areas earmarked as possible shelters.

A signed form merely makes a building area available for use if the federal government desires to equip it as a shelter area.

The degree of cooperation from owners will indicate how much money must be spent to set up shelter areas in Pontiac.

Final results of the survey show that new trends in building construction and design are not conducive to adequate shelter from radioactive fallout.

"This was apparent in schools, especially," said David S. Teel, assistant city manager. "The new schools are, by and large, no good as shelters because they have too much glass and not enough mass."

"In addition, most of them are built above ground."

Of all Pontiac's schools, only four contain areas that meet all minimum federal requirements, the survey showed.

Potential shelter areas were found in 14 Pontiac schools.

Of the 136 buildings where potential shelters were found, 23 meet all requirements and could be used immediately. There are 65 buildings with areas needing the minimum federal protection factor.

Most of the 65 fall short of perfect in requirements such as adequate ventilation and other minor factors. The 23 "perfect" areas could house 4,800 people.

The potential in all 136 structures is from 16,000 to 20,000 capacity. A total of 33 buildings were surveyed.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Sets Hearing on Relief Sewer Proposal

BIRMINGHAM — City Commission last night set Sept. 10 as the date for a public hearing on the proposed South Eton Relief Sewers.

The hearing will concern the necessity of the sewers, which are proposed for both sides of Eton Road between Lincoln Avenue and 14 Mile Road.

Preliminary estimates by City Engineer William T. Killen have put the cost at approximately $145,000.

A postcard survey of the area showed about 45 per cent of the houses reporting debris or major or minor basement flooding caused by backing up of street sewers. A total of 426 postcards was sent out, and 246 were returned.

If the sewers are determined to be necessary at the hearing, the city engineering department will proceed with construction drawings and final cost estimates.

A hearing on the special assessment roll to finance the project would be scheduled at a later date when permission to proceed with construction is given by the State Health Department.

The health department has informed the city that construction of the sewers, which would comprise a tributary to the Twelve-Township Relief Sewers serving southern Oakland County, cannot begin until the Dequindre Sanitary Interceptor and the Red Run Sewer are placed under construction and an outlet is provided to the Twelve-Township.

In other action, the commission awarded a contract for installation of a concrete tile in the auditorium of the Baldwin Public Library to The Nichols Co. of Detroit.

Blid of the Nichols Co. was $683, which was $23 higher than the lowest bid by Metropolitan Contractors, Inc., of Warren.

Romney Again Hits Possible Extremism

Other similar item—finds a foothold or even a toe-hold in any sector of the Republican Party of Michigan.

Mrs. Hodge told Romney that Durant visited her last Tuesday night 24 hours after mailing his resignation from the society.

She decried Durant's claim that "I didn't come to sell her on the Birch Society. She asked me for the material and I gave it to her."

Mrs. Hodge said, "I didn't ask for that literature. I didn't even want it."

Romney's reply came from Kalamazoo, where he was campaigning. Referring to a statement by Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski that "Romney couldn't beat Durant so he took him to his bosom," Romney said such claims were "wild, wild, wild."

He said they were an "indication of the desperation of my opponents to find any real issues."

Lesinski's charge referred to Romney's statement that Durant had resolved "the issue I raised for questioning his party leadership qualification" by leaving the Birch Society.

County College Facing Delay

Change in State Law to Be Attempted in '63 on Boundary Lines

Oakland County may have to wait until a special session in 1963 to decide if it wants a county-wide community college system.

This was the immediate reaction this morning on a college planner following Atty. General Frank Kelley's decision that the college cannot be organized under present state law.

Dr. Gerald W. Belmont, director of a county planning study, said an amendment to existing laws would be sought from the legislature in early 1963.

Hopely, he said, the amendment would be passed in two months' time for circulating petitions for a summer special ballot.

Previously gathering of petitions seeking a November 1962 ballot had been postponed until April 1963 to await Kelley's opinion.

The county college has been under study for over six months by a group of citizens — the Oakland County Community College Advisory Council.

The group asked the attorney general whether a portion of the Clarensville School district, which overlaps Wayne and Oakland counties, could be excluded from the Oakland vote.

Kelley said, "No."

Clarensville already is a member of the Northwest Wayne County Community College District.

Kelley said that present statute prohibited inclusion of the same area within two college districts and also withheld authority to exclude a portion of a county and approve the remainder.

Therefore, he said Clarensville's membership in the Wayne District precludes possible membership in an Oakland County District and the Oakland county-wide district cannot be formed without it.

Only 1 1/2 square miles of Clarensville did not include Oakland County. However voters in this small area would be subjected to double taxation if included in both counties' community college districts.

Fear Girls Victims of Maniac

Narrow Hunt for 2

Hundreds of policemen, firemen, area residents, Marines and soldiers crisscrossed the Brookline residential area of this suburb of Washington, D.C., Monday, looking for Rita Ohlgren and Maria Theresa Morley. They found neither children nor clues.

The FBI joined the case late Monday, 24 hours after the girls were reported missing. They were last seen playing in front of their adjoining apartment houses Sunday evening.

Maj. Russell A. Hawes, Alexandria chief of police, said Monday night, "We must assume for the purpose of starting an investigation that the girls were probably induced to get into an automobile by a sex maniac and that they are either captive or dead — we might as well face that unless a very unusual set of circumstances is involved."

The search began Sunday night after William Morley, father of one of the girls, notified police they were missing.

Searchers canvassed all homes in the area and combed a nearby woods and creek section. A hundred Marines from Henderson Barracks and 325 soldiers from the 1st Cavalry Division, who were on duty at the time, joined the search. Police dogs were sent through storm sewers. A nearby gravel pit was checked five times.

The search continued in places of cardboard was found on a parkway.

Police said that the girls were last seen at the property line of the acre parcel where Hillcliffe and Shaddick streets meet.

"Our lot now extends that far out into the street," Cook said. "Every year the road area gets bigger because cars rounding the turn make a path on my land," he explained.

The Cook property is on the low side of the banked turn. "Traffic from either direction seems to drive over the edge of my property," Cook added.

It looked as though the county wasn't going to do anything about it with traffic getting heavier and with winter coming on, we decided to do something ourselves right now," Cook explained.

The road block consists of three metal stakes with a length of rope extending from one to the other. Outdoor Christmas tree lights and red reflectors are attached for illumination at night as suggested by the Waterford Township police department.

Cook and his sons, George, William and Gerald, finished the job Sunday night after deciding earlier in the day that such a measure was necessary.

Road Barricade Marks Lot Line

BY JOE MULLEN

Willard E. Cook of Waterford Township, unhappy because car and truck traffic has been encroaching on what he asserts is the fringe of his property, took steps to remedy the situation.

Cook, 74, Hillcliffe Lane, and his three sons erected a makeshift fence extending about 10 feet into the road which curves sharply in front of the acre parcel where Hillcliffe and Shaddick streets meet.

"Our lot now extends that far out into the street," Cook said. "Every year the road area gets bigger because cars rounding the turn make a path on my land," he explained.

The Cook property is on the low side of the banked turn. "Traffic from either direction seems to drive over the edge of my property," Cook added.

Marlene Joyce Lazenby, daughter of the Royce Lazenbys of Rowley Street, Drayton Plains, and David J. Struble, son of the Milo L. Strubels of Woodbine Drive, Waterford Township, were wed Saturday in Christ Lutheran Church at Waterford.

MRS. DAVID J. STRUBLE

Newlyweds in Nassau After Waterford Rites

The David J. Strubels, who spoke candlelight vows before Rev. Wayne Peterson Saturday afternoon in Christ Lutheran Church at Waterford, left for Florida and Nassau after the reception in the Coral Reef Room of Airway Lounge. They will live in Waterford.

Rubrum lilies and ivy formed a crescent bouquet for Mrs. Thomas Stult of Waterford Township, her sister's matron of honor, and a cascade for bridesmaids Judy Kruger of Sturgis, and Mrs. Alan Padbury, Ann Arbor. Their dresses were candy pink tulle.

Roger Asbury was best man. Ushers included Lyndon Salathiel; Alan Padbury, Rick Forshae, Flint; and the bride's brother Larry.

The Milo L. Strubels of Woodbine Drive, Waterford Township, parents of the bridegroom, gave the rehearsal dinner at Kingsley Inn.

For the wedding, Mrs. Lazenby chose aquamarine silk crepe and Mrs. Struble appeared in pink silk organza. Both wore Cymbidium orchids.

Astronauts Provide Real, Live Heroes

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When America's astronauts recently moved to Houston, Tex., the city turned out to give them and their families a real old-fashioned welcome.

As the astronauts rode by in parade formation, men, women and children stood three deep on the streets, waving the American flag and holding up six fingers in a space victory sign signifying the six orbits that Cmdr. Walter M. Shriver Jr. will attempt.

No wonder Houston turned out in full force to cheer the astronauts and to welcome them to their city. Any city would be lucky to have those men and their families move in.

In the last few years our young people have had so few real heroes publicized enough to focus attention on them.

Instead they've been offered paper heroes made up by press agents from young singers who can't sing, from method actors who make a fetish of sloppiness, from coached "geniuses" on rigged television quiz shows.

Our young people have had so much of the phony, the cheap, the shoddy, the superficial handed to them in the guise of something big and great that it is truly wonderful they now have the quiet, unassuming courage of the astronauts and their loyal families to give them something real to admire.

Any city is lucky indeed, to have for their "first families" at least in the admiration of its citizens — families headed by our space pioneers.

No wonder Houston is proud to have the astronauts move in.

The Fair Way

Cannot Disregard Any Rule of Golf

By SANDRA HAYNE

There is small satisfaction in winning if you don't adhere strictly to the rules.

The rules were not arbitrarily laid down in a hurry by some martinet, but evolved to serve definite purposes through the more than 500 years that gold has been developing.

Players cannot agree to disregard any rule, either local or of the United States Golf Association. The penalty in match play is disqualification.

Home Mishaps Still No. 1

U.S. Household Are All Feet

By GAY PAULEY
 UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — There's no place like home—for landing in the hospital.

Statistically, accidents in the home outnumber any other types of nonfatal mishaps, reports the National Safety Council. The number has shown a gradual decline through the years. But one insurance company study indicates the American household is still a clumsy one, safety campaigns notwithstanding.

More women than ever before are taking tumble over rugs and on floors, steering into the furniture and the wall-mounted can opener, falling down stairs, walking through glass doors.

"The causes of accidental injuries of today as compared with 30 years ago indicate that the space age American is becoming a pathetic tanglefoot," said researchers for the Travelers Insurance Company.

PERCENTAGE JUMPS

Travelers took the years 1951 and 1961 for comparative purposes. It said that in '31, 30 per cent of all its policyholders who collected for mishaps were victims of home accidents. By 1961, the percentage had jumped to 46.

(The National Safety Council reported that nonfatal home accidents seriously injured 42 million persons in 1961, 4 million in 1961. Fatalities in 1961 totaled 29,600; 26,500 in 1961.)

The insurance company researchers found that 16 times as many of its policyholders fell on floors and rugs as did in 1931, most of them female. Spike heels may be?

Inanimate objects appear to be fighting back. Six times as many policyholders collided with furniture, television sets, wall-mounted can openers and the like.

Twice as many fell down stairs.

Eating and exiting seems to present problems too, for twice as many managed to get caught in doors and windows in 1961 as in 1931. One woman policyholder moved into a new house with a glass wall opening onto a patio. She walked out to the patio one day — right through the glass. Bills for medical care ran to $2,785, said the insurance firm.

YARD LESS SAFE

Travelers said the yard also appears less safe today. Twice as many persons bit the dust on uneven home ground in 1961 as in '31, including one woman who tumbled into her lawn.

pond. More than twice as many fell on paved surfaces. The survey showed slight increases, too, in collisions with other people, as well as falls on steps and over objects.

The company said Americans seem to be learning better to cope with the automobile — at least when it's not in motion. They're getting in and out more safely — only half as many fell during these maneuvers. But windows and doors still give trouble. Seven times as many policyholders got caught in doors and windows last year as did in 1931.

Free — accidents show throughout the records on home mishaps. One household, a Houston consulting geologist, kicked at a cockroach, wrenched his knee and required a doctor's care. A Worcester, Mass., housewife, hemming a dress, was injured when the dressmaker dummy toppled and hit her on the head.

And one policyholder complained that his false teeth bit him. He'd taken them out of his mouth because they were uncomfortable, tucked them into a rear pocket, and forgot about them until he sat down.

Train Hits Car in Night; 7 Die

Family of Four Among Victims in California Mishap; No Derailment

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (AP)—A crack passenger train whipping through the darkness Monday night plowed into a car killing seven persons including a family of four, sheriff's deputies reported.

The train, Southern Pacific's Sunset bound for New Orleans, ground on for nine city blocks before it came to a halt. The auto was lodged partly under it, compressed nearly flat.

None of the train's 20 cars or three locomotive units were derailed.

All the dead were traveling in the auto. The body of one man was thrown clear. The others had to be cut from the wreckage with torches.

Engineer E. F. Knoff said he didn't see the car coming, "but I felt it hit and saw sparks flying from the front of the (train) engine."

He said he was traveling 40 to 45 miles per hour.

PAPERS IDENTIFY
The victims were identified tentatively from papers found on them and in the car as all from California.

Joe Kendall Donnell, 22, his wife, Dixie Lee, 19, and their children, Kathleen, 2, and Kendall, 1, of La Puente; Stanley Earl Penick, 19, and Madama L. Finlay, 18, both also from La Puente, and Wanda Carol Boatwright, 18, of Rio Linda, Sacramento County.

Actor Dennis Weaver Proud of House 'Gunsmoke' Built

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — I can't tell you how much I am enjoying this season. He has no regrets over the move.

"I'll earn less by making 15 'Gunsmokes' instead of 32," he admitted. "But my salary is higher for those 15 years, and I am free to do outside jobs. So I will be making just as much money and I won't have the boredom of doing little things in the 'Gunsmokes' in which I'm not featured."

The variety show produced three dates that gave me a change of pace—one that I did on the Perry Como Show and two coming up this fall with Garry Moore. CBS is talking about three ideas for series for which I would make a pilot this fall. And if those don't jell, the network has told me I'll probably go on with a variety show in 1963."

So he has no concerns about keeping up the payments on his hilltop hacienda.

Larick declined to identify the mother or even say where the baby was born. "It looks rather serious but we haven't nailed it down yet," he said.

His disclosure came as the House Commerce Committee continued hearings on a new drug control bill.

The Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday approved a measure giving President Kennedy virtually all the authority he asked to protect Americans from unsafe drugs.

U.S. AHEAD
At a session last night, the House group was told that the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union in producing needed drugs and Congress should be careful about tampering with the U.S. system.

Raymond A. Bauer, a Harvard professor, testified that Russia's socialist system of producing drugs "is functioning worse for them than ours is for us."

He urged the committee to consider the advantages of U.S. drug manufacturing before imposing additional regulations.

The new case disclosed by Larick was the first linked to the use of U.S.-produced thalidomide. However, five deformed babies have been born to American mothers who said they obtained the drug abroad.

In the past Margaret has spent her summer holiday — and her birthday — with the rest of the royal family at Balmoral Castle in Scotland.

Farm Bill Okay Seen by Night

Senate Leaders Press for Approval With Aid of Limited Debate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate leaders pinned their hopes today on passing the farm bill by nightfall.

They are counting on a debating agreement as the key to their planning. Assistant Democratic leader Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., said he was sure a voluntary time limit on debate could be worked out.

The pending bill contains only part of what President Kennedy asked. A more far-reaching proposal was approved by the Senate but defeated in the House.

The stiffest fight now shaped up over a Republican effort to let wheat growers choose between the present program of voluntary controls with high price supports and the tougher administration "certification" plan.

Sen. Karl Mundt, S.D., leader of the GOP move, claimed considerable support. Humphrey, however, predicted the Mundt amendment would be rejected.
