

Reds Need Not Register, High Court Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declared unconstitutional a requirement that members of the Communist party must register with the government.

The requirement is contained in a section of the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act.

Justice William J. Brennan delivered the 8-0 decision.

The decision held that the act's requirement conflicts with a constitutional provision that nobody can be compelled to give evidence against himself in any criminal case.

The Communist party itself now is on trial in Federal District Court here on charges of failure to register as a representative of the Soviet Union.

There was no immediate indication just how today's Supreme Court decision—based upon registration of individuals—may eventually apply to the case against the party.

However, Justice Department officials said this trial will continue while government lawyers study the high tribunal's opinion.

and Roscoe Quincy Proctor of Oakland, Calif.

The Subversive Activities Control Board in 1962 ordered Albertson to register. A similar order to Proctor was issued in 1963.

The Justice Department said Proctor was a member of the Communist party's national committee and was on the New York State governing board.

The Communist party of New York expelled Albertson on July 7, 1964, calling him a "police agent." He asked, however, that the Supreme Court rule in his case as well as that of Proctor.

Albertson and Proctor appealed to the high tribunal after the U.S. Court of Appeals upheld the board orders.

They contended the individual registration requirement violates the Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination and impinges on First Amendment rights of freedom of belief and association.

The Supreme Court was told that outcome of the case would affect board orders against 34 other persons and seven similar cases pending at the board level.

Justice Brennan said the risks of self-incrimination involved in individual registration "are obvious."

The requirement to fill out and file a specified form, he declared, "is inconsistent with the protection of the self-incrimination clause" of the Constitution.

Suspend Prof for Hypnosis

Dearborn Coed Was in Trance 16 Hours

DEARBORN (AP) — Henry Ford Community College yesterday suspended a part-time psychology instructor for placing a coed under a hypnotic trance Friday.

The instructor, Gerald G. Griffin, 32, of Nankin Township, said it was an experiment and scientific in purpose.

Cynthia Wellman, 19, of Inkster, was brought out of the trance Saturday, 16 hours after it was induced, by psychiatrists at Wayne County General Hospital. Dr. Bruce L. Danto, hospital psychiatrist said he was uncertain what after effects, if any, might result.

"Griffin is suspended pending the outcome of an investigation," said Ray Howe, dean of instruction at the college.

Griffin, former educational psychologist for Oakland County Schools, is scheduled to take oral examinations Thursday for his doctoral degree in counseling psychology.

HIRED IN FALL

He was employed this fall as a part-time instructor by the college.

Howe said he had learned that Griffin, an amateur hypnotist, had hypnotized seven students in his introductory psychology course. Griffin said he had no formal training in hypnosis.

"I met with him and told him this had no place in the college. He was teaching and that it should absolutely cease," said Howe.

He admitted he had been hypnotizing students for experimental purposes.

Griffin said he was attempting to teach his class how hypnosis could be used to accelerate learning ability by removing mental blocks.

Griffin said he decided to

Gov. Romney to Report on S. Viet Trip

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney will make a complete report tomorrow on his trip to South Viet Nam, he announced today as he returned to his desk for the first time in nearly four weeks.

Steering clear of specifics of the Oriental trip, he told a news conference "by all odds the most interesting aspect was what was seen in South Viet Nam. To make the most meaningful report, I will have two means of reporting."

He then announced a Tuesday afternoon news conference and a 7 p.m. broadcast and televised talk from the University of Detroit.

Romney said it was "good to be back. I come back with greatly increased knowledge of conditions in the Orient, especially Southeast Asia."

He said he had met at least 400 of the estimated 4,000-5,000 Michigan men stationed in South Viet Nam.

He said his two weeks in Japan showed him "one of the great economic miracles of the world."

Blackout Laid to Ontario Site

WASHINGTON (AP) — The massive power failure that blacked out most of the northeast last Tuesday was attributed to a broken relay at Sir Adam Beck Plant No. 2 at Queenston, Ont., a part of the Ontario hydro-generating system on the Niagara River.

This was reported by United States and Canadian officials after nearly a week of inquiry into the cause of the failure that rolled over New York City, much of New York State and New England.

In Toronto, Hydro chairman Ross Strike was most specific. He said the failure was caused by a broken relay at the Sir Adam Beck Plant No. 2 at Queenston, Ont.

Strike told a news conference Hydro was importing a total of 1.6 million kilowatts in power on the six lines going into the plant and the relay break caused all other relays to go out.

The 1.6 million kilowatts were thrown onto the U.S. distribution facilities, causing a very rapid increase in frequency, Strike added.

He said this tripped safety equipment but all of it didn't work and the northeastern states and New York City were most badly hit by this surge of power.

NIAGARA RIVER

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission said today that beginning of the power failure "seems to have occurred in the Ontario hydro-generating plants on the Niagara River."

He said this "resulted in a major lurch of power into the upstate New York systems."

"There followed a series of tip-sets of transmission lines and generating plants of these systems," Swidler added.

Crime Forum Apathy Is Hit

Citizens Unit Leader Cites Small Turnout

Oakland Citizens League President Dale A. Winnie, disappointed in the small turnout Saturday at a law enforcement forum, today scolded public officials and citizens for their apathy toward crime.

"Everyone complains about crime and wants to know what is being done to prevent it," said Winnie, "yet they do little or nothing about it."

Winnie's remarks came after only 60 persons showed up for a League-sponsored public conference on crime and punishment at Oakland University.

Winnie, this morning, released an open letter he is mailing to all city commissions, village councils and township boards in the county.

"I charge each and every member... with a serious dereliction of duty and blatant neglect of responsibility, as elected representatives of the people, in not attending or sending representation to the forum," wrote Winnie.

Coast Guard to Probe Loss of Cruise Ship

Will Seek Cause of Fire in Tragedy on the Yarmouth Castle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Greek captain of the Yarmouth Castle came out of seclusion today to tell the Coast Guard his story of the mystery fire that destroyed the cruise ship. Eighty-four crewmen and passengers are dead or missing.

But Capt. Byron Voutsinas, on the advice of an attorney for Yarmouth Castle Lines, Inc., refused to answer questions of newsmen when he emerged from a Coast Guard office. He declined even to tell his age.

Voutsinas was closeted for an hour and 10 minutes with a preliminary inquiry board headed by Cmdr. George Trefts, assistant chief of the 7th Coast Guard District's Merchant Marine Safety Division.

Arthur Berk, the attorney who kept Voutsinas away from newsmen, said the company might issue a statement or make the captain available for interviews.

After the Yarmouth Castle went down in flames Saturday morning, Voutsinas filed a brief report to the vessel's owners, then vanished in Nassau as newsmen and authorities sought to talk to him. He showed up suddenly in Miami today.

The list of missing and presumed dead in the deadly fire at sea rose to 84 today, including one known dead and 83 missing and presumed lost.

Yarmouth Cruises, Inc., added two more names to its roster of those who evidently failed to survive the tragedy — stewardess Phyllis Hall of Jamaica and the ship's doctor, Lisardo Diaz Torrence of Miami.

Nineteen burned survivors remained in hospitals in Nassau and Miami. Of five persons airlifted to Miami, three were reported in critical condition and the others "very ill."

The 14 still at Nassau's Princess Margaret Hospital were in serious condition but a spokesman said he had "every hope" that they would survive.

The cruise ship plunged 1,700 feet to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean in the Bahamas Saturday morning after fire swept the ship's deck.

LOOKED BACK

"We looked back," said Margaret Farrell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who was in a lifeboat. "There was a mass of red flames, then gray smoke, then nothing."

The U.S. Coast Guard sent two officers to Nassau, Bahamas, to see if they could learn what caused the holocaust aboard the vessel that left Miami Friday night for Nassau.

Four other Oakland County persons were among those rescued from the stricken ship.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Peterson of 24935 Lakeland, Farmington Township, were not listed among those missing and are apparently safe.

Mrs. Bernard M. Schimmel of 73 Amberst, Pleasant Ridge, and Edna M. Newman of 3180 Merrill, Royal Oak, reported to relatives that they escaped without injury.

TENDER CARE—One of the more badly burned survivors of the Yarmouth Castle sea disaster is given tender care as she is lifted to an ambulance for a ride to a Miami hospital.

'His Heart Was Set on Cruise'

OAK PARK (AP) — Fred R. Franc was a stubborn man when he wanted something.

He wanted his wife, Estelle, to enjoy an ocean cruise Saturday and kept trying for tickets until he got them.

The Oak Park couple was among 83 persons listed as missing from the Yarmouth Castle, which burned and sank off the Florida coast Saturday.

"Mom and Dad were in Miami for a convention and when it ended last Thursday, he decided to take a few days' vacation," said the couple's daughter, Doreen, 19.

She and her brother Kenneth, 13, are waiting for a sign of hope that their parents survived.

SOUGHT RESERVATIONS

"They had tried to get reservations on the Yarmouth Castle, but the shipping line said it was booked up for three weeks," said Doreen.

"Dad just kept calling and calling the shipping company. He's like that. He doesn't give up."

Franc, 43, is district manager for a bottling company. He was attending the national convention of the American Bottlers of Canned Beverages at Miami, Fla., last week.

Four other Oakland County persons were among those rescued from the stricken ship.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Peterson of 24935 Lakeland, Farmington Township, were not listed among those missing and are apparently safe.

Despite Opposition Cutback of Reserves On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, flying in the face of a strong congressional protest, is pushing ahead with plans for immediate dissolution of 751 Army Reserve units containing 55,000 men.

A Defense Department announcement during the weekend said the Pentagon chief and his top aides had "carefully considered" a Senate Armed Services Committee resolution asking ing him to defer action on the plan until next March.

"But, the announcement said, 'they decided that the immediate inactivation of these units, which are not required by contingency war plans, is essential.'"

Thus, the dissolution will go ahead as scheduled.

The step will leave the Army Reserves without any organizations of division size. It will accomplish one of the major purposes of McNamara's proposed merger of the Reserves and the National Guard, which Congress refused to approve.

In another weekend statement, almost as controversial, the Pentagon said McNamara had approved a trial run of his "total package" plan for ship construction.

The plan will be applied to construction and purchasing of a new fast vessel now on the drawing board. It is known as the "FDL" (Fast Deployment Logistics), which will be designed to carry helicopters and handle cargo at record speed.

Rear Adm. William A. Brockett, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Ships, and Rear Adm. Charles A. Curtze, his deputy, requested retirement recently in protest against this new procedure.

The new plan involves "a single contract for the design, construction and certain support functions of a number of ships of the same type," the Pentagon said.

Two Yank Battalions Helped by B52s in Battle With N. Viets

IN DRANG VALLEY, South hours of at times savage Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers fighting.

pounded rear positions of a North Vietnamese regiment to day as two American infantry battalions continued to slug it out with the Communist enemy in heavy fighting near the Cambodian border.

Two battalions of 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division's 7th Regiment—the original outfit followed Gen. George Custer into the Battle of the Little Big Horn—held their own through 36

At least 129 enemy bodies were counted and as many as 150 more were believed to litter the battlefield in front of the American lines.

American casualties were termed moderate, but it required more than a dozen helicopters to take out the American wounded. Most of the dead were still in the battle zone. It was too dangerous for helicopters to fly except on urgent missions.

MAIN ELEMENT

The American troops captured from 60 to 70 automatic weapons of every kind during three major assaults by members of the North Vietnamese 304th Division which infiltrated into South Viet Nam earlier this year.

The B52s hammered at an area of the more than two square miles where a main element of the North Vietnamese force was believed located. The American Cavalrymen pulled back before the air attack.

In earlier air action, North Vietnamese gunners blasted one American A1E Skyraider out of the sky, a U.S. military spokesman reported. The pilot was killed when the plane exploded near the battleground 200 miles north of Saigon in the central highlands.

Most of the U.S. force was inside a narrow, heavily wooded valley while North Vietnamese units held the high ground.

INTENSE FIRE

Sniper fire was intense during the lulls between North Vietnamese attacks. American casualties mounted by the hour. Three North Vietnamese battalions—about 2,000 men—were engaging the American troops and it was possible that others were waiting farther back.

The fighting broke out Sunday afternoon after one battalion of the 1st Cavalry's 7th Regiment was lifted in for an assault. Another battalion was thrown into the battle today.

One battalion commander, Lt. Col. Hal Moore of Bardonia, Ky., said: "We're expecting anything tonight. We definitely hurt them today. But if you go to sleep for one minute around here, you lose men."

A community mental health center on the hospital site is the preliminary planning stages, according to Dr. Martin. "Just how much land will be required for this facility is indefinite at the present time," Dr. Martin said.

Besides the children's center and mental health center, a further argument against sale of the property is that the frontage is the highest and most accessible land on the hospital site.

Job Corps Riot Is Discussed

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Top city Nine Job Corps trainees were arrested following a brawl with leaders Sunday in an effort to police. The melee broke out at a work out an agreement governing dance and spread to a downtown trainee excursions following town shopping mall. The arrested trainees face charges ranging from profanity to looting.

"We will not tolerate this sort of action by our corpsmen," said John F. Borum, director of the Fort Custer Job Corps center near Battle Creek. "We do not know what action will be taken at this time."

Two police officers and two corpsmen were injured.

SHRIVER TALK

The disturbance came only hours after R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, which administers the Job Corps, had formally dedicated the Fort Custer center.

The center opened last June and has an enrollment of about 700 youths, ages 16 to 21, who are either high school dropouts or youngsters out of work.

The Job Corps program is designed to retain the youths so that they may find suitable employment. Classes are held during the week and recreation outings, usually to Kalamazoo, are held on weekends.

"There were about 150 kids involved altogether in the incident so they couldn't have been all ours," he added.

The riot broke out at the dance in an argument about a stolen coat and erupted again after corpsmen left and were walking in the street outside. There was damage at about 20

Venezuelan Chief Talks With Rusk

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk was here today to continue preliminary talks with South American government leaders prior to a hemisphere foreign ministers' meeting in Rio de Janeiro on Wednesday.

Rusk conferred for three hours in Caracas yesterday with Venezuelan President Raul Leoni, who is not sending a delegation to the 19-nation conference.

Leoni is boycotting the meeting to protest what his government charges is a dictatorship in Brazil.

The Rusk-Leoni meeting centered on Venezuelan complaints concerning U.S. restrictions on oil imports. A Venezuelan spokesman called the talks "very fruitful."

Venezuela, the world's largest exporter of oil and chief supplier to the United States, has long opposed import restrictions imposed by the administration.

NIGHT IN RIO

Rusk spent the night in Rio before his journey to Buenos Aires. He was returning to the Brazilian capital tomorrow.

The major topic to be considered by the hemisphere foreign ministers is the creation of a permanent inter-American peacekeeping force.

The United States backs the idea, which was formally proposed by the inter-American defense board—military coordinating wing of the Organization of American States (OAS).

Venezuelan authorities mounted a heavy security guard while Rusk was in Caracas yesterday. The pro-western government has been carrying out a massive cleanup operation against pro-Communist terrorists in recent months.

HALT TRAFFIC

Traffic into the airport was halted and only the official welcoming party, headed by Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren Borge, was allowed on the airport to greet the American delegation.

In an airport statement, Rusk declared that Venezuela's decision to boycott the Rio conference was its own affair.

The Rio conference will be held at the plush Hotel Gloria, and 11-story structure overlooking Sugar Loaf Hill at the entrance of the harbor.

'The Wives Who Wait' Know That Viet Nam Is a Real War

By JAY BOWLES
FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — They call themselves "The Wives Who Wait."
For some of them the waiting is over. The husbands they waited for will never come back from the fighting in Viet Nam. They have died in action with the 101st Airborne Division, whose home base is Ft. Campbell.

For others the waiting goes on. They meet over coffee from time to time to help keep up each other's morale.

At a recent meeting, movies of the 101st Airborne in action, placed together from television film and newsreels, were shown to The Wives Who Wait.

Some members of the audience rushed out in tears when they saw pictures of their husbands flash across the screen. Some of the husbands were still alive, some were dead. Three had been killed in the preceding four days.

About 8,000 of the U.S. troops committed in Southeast Asia have been dispatched from this sprawling base on the Tennessee-Kentucky border since July.

Many of the wives remained here because this is home to the career soldiers and their families. Many own homes off the base of the "Screaming Eagles," as the division calls itself. That's one reason why Clarksville, Tenn., the nearest large Tennessee city, appears frequently in the casualty lists. The mutual interest group formed by the wives has done much to help them face the sometimes tragic problems that result from war.

A REAL WAR
"These are things we have to talk about because we know it's a real war, even though we're sitting in a nice room in pretty dresses," says Joan Rawls.

Mrs. Rawls no longer waits. Her husband, Capt. Robert

Rawls, was raked by machine gun fire and killed as he took his Charlie Company, 1st Brigade, 101st Airborne, up a hill near An Ninh Sept. 18.

Upon the advice of the chaplain, the pert, blonde mother of six continued as a member of the group.
"We don't have any officers or dues," Mrs. Rawls explains. "We just have each other — to help each other."

SEVERAL RACES
The group includes women of several races, young and old. Some of their husbands are privates, others are officers.

"Operation Cookiecaker" was one way the group found to pass the time. More than 6,500 dozen cookies were baked through the efforts of the wives themselves, area churches, scout troops, civic groups and home demonstration clubs. They were packaged by the wives and sent to Stewart Air Force Base at Dayton, Tenn., for transport to Viet Nam.

"The importance of this mutual bonding system is really seen in critical situations, when someone is killed," said Capt. Bobby Bell of Meridian, Idaho, tible, the gifts — either land or money — must go either to governmental agencies or qualified private organizations.

In addition to outright gifts of mending general at Ft. Campbell, Cohen said, deductions are permitted for the value of scenic easements given to federal, state or local governments.

Philippines to Keep Same Policies

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The victory of Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos in the Philippine presidential elections will not mean any drastic change in Philippine foreign policy.

Marcos served notice even before the election that he should win, the Philippines would remain staunchly anti-Communist and on the side of the Western camp.

Although he was accused by his rival, incumbent President Diosdado Macapagal, of being lukewarm toward friendship with the U.S. and of dragging his feet on the proposed dispatch of Filipino troops to Viet Nam, Marcos has now stated publicly that this is not the case.

He affirmed agreement with President Johnson's views that the free world should continue to use its military muscle in Viet Nam without ruling out a political solution there.

NATO WITHOUT DE GAULLE: Allied diplomats in London believe French withdrawal from NATO is becoming inevitable. Reluctantly they are readying for this emergency on the firm assumption that NATO can and must go on, even without France if it needs be.

Plans already advanced include a transfer of NATO's military and political headquarters from Paris to Germany or possibly to Britain.

It is a situation that no one in the alliance wants but, say high-level diplomats, de Gaulle seems determined to whittle down his participation in the defense alliance to the point where it will be nonexistent.

FRANCE VS. MOROCCO: French-Moroccan relations, excellent in recent years, could be seriously strained by the recent kidnapping and disappearance in France of former Moroccan leftist opposition leader Mehdi Ben Barka.

The French are convinced that the whole thing was engineered by the Moroccan interior ministry to prevent a deal by which King Hassan II would permit Ben Barka to return from exile to Morocco.

President de Gaulle is said to be boiling that the kidnapping took place on French territory.

KOREAN POLITICS: Factional disputes among Korean opposition politicians are delaying formation of a united front against President Park Chung Hee's ruling Democratic Republic party.

The new body was to have been formed last week but President Posun Yun and influential ideologist Suh Min-ho tangled in a dispute over whether the party should subscribe to socialist ideas.

It Seems to Me....

Voters Asserting a Greater Independence in Late Issues

Political repercussions and interpretations of current elections still echo around the Nation. There are as many opinions as there are voteable citizens who can hook a foot over one edge of the dais.

One very definite fact seems to stand out: voters are more apt to disregard party lines. This suggests a healthy independence of thought. Party bosses and big group leaders are discovering to their dismay that "the faithful" aren't as subservient to whispered commands from inner sanctums as they were once. Some think this is due to greater mass education. These pundits believe more voters feel qualified to pass judgment themselves and are perceptibly less inclined to lean on the "word from above," or the dictates of local and regional bosses. Professionals will not greet this with enthusiasm but they may have to face it as a part of "this changing world."

Some civil rights groups interpret the LINDSAY vote in New York as a sign that the old line, rock-ribbed Democrats can't bank blindly on an obedient Negro vote as they have for many years. LINDSAY drew 40% of the Negro ballots. In Alabama, Senator JOHN SPARKMAN has always predicated his own election on a blanket Negro vote while he openly flaunted their cause. The Alabamian will have to hasten into the hustings and shatter tradition by doing something in Congress for the Negroes.

Some GOP prognosticators assert their nomination lies between JOHN LINDSAY and Michigan's GEORGE ROMNEY, but this ignores a whole host of hurdles that still lie patiently in the paths of each man.

The Chicago Tribune wonders whether the LINDSAY victory in New York presages "two parties to the left with almost no difference between them." This would be a misfortune for all concerned.

The current returns seem to show a disenchantment with party bosses. The GOP victory in Philadelphia was a distinct surprise. And further, a Negro Democrat in Cleveland ran as an independent and almost unseated the Democratic mayor of the Ohio metropolis.

Voters aren't as predictable. Their ways are more devious. GOP leaders should stop worrying about GOLDWATER and others and awaken to the new challenge and the current attitude of more independents who are currently mouthing Missouri's "show me."

Independence is awakening. At least, voters "look around." Perhaps the safest conclusion from the most recent elections lies in the idea that things are changing—and no one knows just how, why or where at the moment.

Hard Fighter....

Unhappily for the taxpayers, Senator HARRY F. BYRD has resigned. Poor health dictated this step and the good people of the United States lose their staunchest and most vigorous champion in the fight against excessive expenditures.

The Virginian was an unremitting foe of Congressional waste. He championed the cause of economy in government and gave his own party and the GOP fits and starts throughout his long and honorable term in Washington.

However, national cheering can reverberate again. His son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., has been named in his place. I hasten to endorse this nomination with hearty and vociferous enthusiasm. He echoes his father's unremitting fight in behalf of financial solvency and he is an exceptionally capable, conscientious and hardheaded individual in his own right on all other matters.

The public still possesses an outspoken champion. Long may the Byrds wave.

While They Stand....

"Hello Dolly," U.S. stage hit, has appeared in many places and under our "cultural exchange agreement" with Russia, it was scheduled for Moscow. Then Russian authorities arbitrarily said "no." A ROGER WAGNER Chorale was substituted and now they've tunked on that.

Why continue?

The United States should suddenly display at least a modicum of international backbone and call off the whole deal. Why should we struggle to be "friendly" with ruthless and high-handed nincompoops who delight in seeing us rejected and embarrassed just to flaunt their own powers.

Russia isn't worth it. Give 'em the pitch.

And in Conclusion....

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

They propose buttons for cars: push one and you go 35 miles an hour, another 45, etc. Different colored lights flash on the back to show your speed. How'd you ever talk a traffic officer out 45 miles in a 35 mile zone?..... Americans averaged 243 bottles of soft drinks apiece last year. Personally I was 1.45 over the average. Anti-Viet Nam students on campuses are less than one per cent but they make enough noise for 25%.

Golf Digest nominates Laura MacIver, Florida, as the most attractive girl golfer of the year. Coca inventories have arisen to the point one big candy company increases the nickel bar to a full ounce and the dime attraction from 1 1/4 ounces to two. Gotham garment district bookies were $40,000 short in paying election bets and blithely skipped out.

GEORGE JESSUP says the greatest after dinner speech of all time is only five words long: "Give the check to me."..... SANDY KOUFAX will net more than half a million dollars from commercial endorsements in the next two years. CARL BARTON has the finest African pictures I ever saw. Michigan Out-of-Doors says well over half a million hunters are in Michigan woods and they'll bag 75,000 bucks and 63,000 antlered deer. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—the HARRY F. BYRDS (Senior and Junior); the J's—BOBBY KENNEDY for announcing he's willing to give blood to the Communist enemy in Viet Nam.

—HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

An Inside Job!

David Lawrence Says:

Sen. Byrd's Lesson Will Endure

WASHINGTON — Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is gone from the Senate of the United States, but the lesson which his career teaches has an enduring significance.

For he has manifested courage and integrity amid the hypocrisies of political life today. There are all sorts of definitions of "conservatism" being publicized nowadays, but most of them do not fit Harry Byrd.

Now he can be described by many of the other "isms" and phrases which are being currently used to describe people who do not believe in misapplying other people's money to gain even temporarily the voting support of selfish groups.

Simply stated, the outgoing senator has been unequivocally the champion of common honesty in government and of a public servant's obligation to spend taxpayers' money and borrow funds with the same frugality as if it were his own private income.

Byrd came to the United States Senate from the governor's mansion on March 4, 1933—the dismal day when all the banks throughout the country were ordered closed indefinitely.

SUPPORTED PLEDGE

He had supported Franklin D. Roosevelt because of the pledge in the Democratic party's 1932 platform that federal expenditures would be cut at least 25 per cent.

It was over this issue that he later had differences with the administration, but he always felt he was one of the original "New Dealers" and that it was not he but others who had strayed from the party platform.

Above all, Harry Byrd followed the commands of an ever-present conscience, irrespective of the temptations of politics. He never voted on any bill that could affect his own property.

He didn't accept a cent of federal money for his farming operations and once had a technical amendment inserted in a law that would disqualify him from benefiting from a measure affecting certain types of securities he held.

He regarded public office as a sacred responsibility—a trusteeship which required an unwavering fidelity to the cause of fiscal as well as social responsibility.

Sen. Byrd thought of public funds in the same way, because he never forgot that individual citizens struggling for a livelihood paid out their hard-earned money in taxes every year with a blind faith that the governmental authorities would deal honestly with the citizens' earnings.

Harry Byrd was brought up in the school of practical experience—not just theory. He has always had the ideals of a progressive but the common sense of a conservative who knew that, however honestly a man may operate his business, he is no less a bankrupt if he fails to pay back what he owes.

The same concept was applied by Sen. Byrd to the fundamentals of government finance.

The speeches of Sen. Byrd will long be remembered as a series of warnings on the biggest single issue that faces the American people today—how to keep the government from going "bankrupt."

Bob Considine Says:

Humanitarian Overcame Bigotry of His Early Life

NEW YORK—There was little in the early life of Dr. Sterling Wade Brown to hint that on Sunday, Nov. 14, 1965, some of the nation's foremost humanitarians would give him a standing ovation in a New York Hilton banquet room on the occasion of his installation as president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"I was a sophomore at Texas Christian University before I ever heard it seriously proposed that Negroes were anything but inferior persons," the new chief executive of the vigorous brotherhood organization told us yesterday.

"I was stunned when a professor suggested to the class that Negroes were as good as we and asked for comment," the slender educator, minister and government consultant said with a reminiscent chuckle. "I stood up in rebuttal and found myself trying desperately to remember some passage in the Bible that would destroy this heretic."

"He waited patiently for me while I blustered and then coolly asked me on what I based my statement that Negroes were, indeed, inferior."

"After a long time I said, 'My mother told me.'"

"From that day, I became convinced that I had been intellectually and morally wrong about this all my life, and I set out to make amends in such a way that I soon was being called 'nigger lover.'"

"Believe me, it wasn't an easy matter to change the habits and bigotries you could pick up in those days in a town the size of Cookeville in east Texas. There were only two Catholic families in town, and one Jewish storekeeper. The rest was Protestant like myself, and what we called the niggers."

"Several years after the incident at TCU, and just after entering the University of Chicago, I rode the elevated down to the Loop one day to see the sights. A Negro woman, a fine-looking woman, got on at one of the stops and sat down next to me."

"I can't tell you what an effect that had on me. All I want to do was to get off as quickly as I could."

"I knew then that a commitment to brotherly respect was not enough. There must be emotional change. I found it finally at what we used to call a 'mix' at Chicago, a get-together of students from all over the country, and the world, for that matter."

"At one of them, my partner turned out to be a Negro girl taking postgraduate work at the university. She was a wonderful dancer."

"I never met a priest until reaching Chicago and then I was amazed to discover that he, too, was in school. I had never related priests with postgraduate work!"

Reader Comments on Recent Press Editorial

Your editorial "Decline of Good Taste Leaves Own Bad Taste" surprised me very much in that it missed the whole value of the recent Town Meeting of the World television program. I personally think the program did an excellent job in showing millions of viewers the type of characters who claim to be the spokesmen for the "liberals" in our colleges.

The program should certainly have provided enough incentive for clear-thinking conservatives to make themselves heard. In this way viewers would have a chance to compare — and the conclusion would come through loud and clear.

'Change of Spelling Is Just a Passing Phase'

In your "And In Conclusion" section of Monday's editorial page you state that no one but Luci Johnson would change the normal "y" to an "i" and that you were surprised that she didn't capitalize the "i". Only a man could make such a statement. A woman would remember the time when she was young and took the harmless liberty of altering the spelling of her name.

The only harm I can see in this practice is that some girls marry and bear children before they have outgrown this spelling change phase. Therefore, some children are saddled permanently with such names as Terri, Kathi and the like.

Insurance Canceled for Soldier in Viet Nam

A soldier fights, although he does not like fighting. He would prefer to be home but he will go where he is needed. He is capable of killing and loving, being mean and being gentle. Most of all, he knows when to fight and when to be a gentleman.

Soldiering is not a skin-deep occupation. Its practitioners must be round-the-clock professional individuals, keenly aware of their mission and the public trust which they must bear. It is no small responsibility. Ironically, what seem to be insignificant instances of neglecting that responsibility—short moments of forgetfulness—often lead to the sharpest criticism and downgrading of the soldier's image.

Today I received a letter from Life of Virginia canceling my policy after my paying two months premiums in advance. I now have a wife and four children residing in Pontiac with a minimum of insurance. I hope that the Life of Virginia and the college demonstrators do not represent the City of Pontiac. I'm writing this letter by candlelight, waiting for the Viet Cong, but I'll be back soon and I won't be looking for insurance.

We often hear the warning given to drivers: Always look out for the other fellow.

As important as this is, a new study by the Highway Research Board indicates that most of the time the driver of a disaster-bound automobile evidently had his eye on the wrong culprit: More than half the fatalities last year (over 20,000) didn't involve the "other fellow."

They were single car accidents.

Jobs Lost

The Chicago Tribune

When a steel manufacturer talks about the effect of rising wages on prices and profits, the steelworker is too likely to shrug this off as somebody else's worry, not his. President Roger M. Blough of the United States Steel corporation put matters in plainer terms when he pointed out that if the 16 million tons of steel imported this year were produced in the United States instead, it would provide jobs for 70,000 more steelworkers.

Why are we importing so much when we need to be the world's top supplier? Chiefly, as Mr. Blough said, because of the great and growing de-parity between wages here and abroad.

"When a ton of American steel with a $36-a-ton employment cost," he said, "meets in the market place a ton of foreign steel produced at an estimated $14-a-ton employment cost, or a much lower cost in Japan, something is bound to happen. And that something is not to the advantage of American steelworkers."

There is little to be gained by being the highest hourly-paid but the most unemployed steelworker in the world.

Declining membership has been a recurring problem in the steelworkers' union. Since 1952, hourly employment in steel has never come near the figure of $44,000 that was reached that year. But the union has preferred to blame the loss on automation. Several years ago the union, now president of the Amel, made the gloomy prediction that 100,000 steelworkers would never win back the jobs they had in 1953. At the time he spoke, hourly employment was barely 400,000 and production was running at a rate of less than 100 million tons a year.

Last year's production was a record 127 million tons and, despite automation, hourly employment has risen to about 475,000. If it hadn't been for the loss of sales and jobs to foreign countries, there would be more jobs in the steel industry today than ever, even though the process of automation and modernization has continued.

Automation would have permitted substantial increases in wages and benefits without forcing prices up sharply. Had the union been willing to confine its appetite to increases thus earned rather than to increases in the price of automation, and modernization has continued.

King delivered the sermon before 5,000 Negroes in Powell's Abyssinian Baptist church. During the service, Powell embraced King.

Powell reportedly had advised King last summer to "keep out of Harlem."

Dean D. Mack Easton of the extension division, University of Colorado, noted that "community problems are complex. City planning involves engineering, sociology, education, law, and so forth. The dropout problem in the schools may turn out to be educational, social, ethnic, health, nutritional, or all of these combined, plus others."

King, Nobel Peace prize winner and head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was referred to by Powell as "the greatest living American, black or white."

King said Howell, a Democrat, was a man "tall physically, tall in influence, tall in stature and tall in commitment."

After the service they told a news conference that the United States should support the African members of the United Nations in their call for a complete cutoff of commerce and communications with Rhodesia.

They said they also favored economic sanctions against the white minority government which has declared independence from Great Britain.

King repeated his call for a negotiated settlement in Vietnam.

Obstacles are those things you see when you take your eyes off the goal. — Hannah More, 18th century English writer.

Kasavubu's Premier Is Out; Future Looks Bright for Tshombe

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo — It is not yet certain that (AP) — Moise Tshombe's Tshombe will be a candidate. chances of ousting Congo Presi-He told his Conaco party last night Joseph Kasavubu next month he would run, but recent-year were on the rise today after there has been speculation he er Parliament overthrew the world put up Jean Bolikango. If premier Kasavubu named to Bolikango was elected, Tshombe-replace Tshombe.

The month-old government of Premier Evariste Kimba was The Tshombe-Kasavubu split declared dismissed Sunday after the president's ap-er Tshombe's forces defeated a pointment of Victor Nendaka confidence motion during a joint last July as interior minister in session of the Senate and the Tshombe's Cabinet, despite Chamber of Deputies. The vote Tshombe's objections, was 121 for Kimba, 134 against and 7 abstentions.

Kasavubu — kicked out Tshombe Oct. 13 after 15 months as premier and replaced him five days later with Kimba.

In Sunday's vote the biggest surprise came from the senators, who voted against Kimba 58-49 with 5 abstentions. Six weeks ago the Senate elected a pro-Kimba president, 57-54.

LOST STRENGTH

Tshombe's supporters carried the Chamber of Deputies 76-72, off somewhat from their earlier strength of 85-79 six weeks ago when the deputies elected a pro-Tshombe president.

Kasavubu had been scheduled to read the motion for parliamentary approval of his premier, but he did not appear at the two-hour meeting. The motion for approval came only three days inside the 30-day legal limit.

Kasavubu now must name a new premier-designate who must present a Cabinet to Parliament within 30 days. Nominations for the presidency open Friday. Kasavubu already has declared he will seek another five-year term, which would begin March 21.

TWO ISSUES

The election, to be held between Jan. 20 and Feb. 19, will include voting for the national parliament and provincial assemblies.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If it is impossible to help everyone, you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss... and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss... but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself.

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

Winning Hand for Las Vegas

Deals Control to City

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — America's gambling capital, the place where you can either shoot craps, or get a shoeshine, or buy a can of prunes at 4 a.m., finds itself a political heavyweight today.

For, if present population trends continue, by 1970 the booming southern Nevada city will completely dominate both houses of the legislature.

The door to domination was opened this weekend when legislators, in special session, agreed on a reapportionment plan they say meets the requirements of the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" decision.

As it stands, Las Vegas will gain nearly half the legislative seats right away.

A LONG HAUL

It was a long haul for the gleaming new city in the harsh brown southern Nevada desert. The political maturity of Las Vegas compares with the saga of Los Angeles and Southern California. They were second fiddlers to Reno and San Francisco, but have hung on to lead the band.

Reno grew up early, playing gai Friday to the railroad and the fabulous gold and silver miners of nearby Virginia City's "Big Bonanza."

Las Vegas was a quiet Mormon farming community which got its first break serving as a watering hole for the Union Pacific's thirsty steam locomotives.

HOOVER DAM

Until the early 1940s, Las Vegas billed itself as "Gateway to Hoover Dam." At the time, 8,000 called Las Vegas home, and 8,000 others lived throughout Massachusetts-sized Clark County.

Bugsy Siegel changed all this. In 1946, the underworld figure eyed Nevada's legalized gambling and built a luxurious hotel. Until the night Bud Abbott and Lou Costello opened Siegel's spa, the gambling atmosphere had been more den than casino.

High-rise casino followed luxurious casino, until the Las Vegas "Strip" resembled the rocket gantries along Cape Kennedy. Banking, services, atomic testing, the military and light industry moved in to flesh out the boom now sparked by 20 million tourists each year.

Clark County today has grown to 264,000, compared with the 1960 census of 127,000. For the 1964 general election, Clark had 80,000 registered voters, half the state total.

Under the reapportionment proposal, Clark was awarded 8 of 20 senators and 16 of 40 assemblymen.

The plan ends 50 years of the majority legislative rule by the rural counties.

Gov. Grant Sawyer is expected to sign the reapportionment bill into law and submit it to the federal court for final approval.

ASKED TO MOVE — Robert Brown (left), 67, of Greenville, Ala., who is blind, said he has decided to move out of home yesterday after allowing Negro civil rights marchers to meet in his front yard. He said his white landlady had warned him he would have to move if he did not halt the meetings.

Drive for New Rights Legislation Starts

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — A civil rights campaign, organized to bring about new federal legislation, has returned to Selma — the center of an earlier drive that led to the 1965 voting rights law.

A march was planned today in Selma as part of the move to get congressional action covering crimes of violence against civil rights workers following four racially related slayings in Alabama this year.

"It was unanimously agreed to start demonstrations again," said the Rev. P. H. Lewis, a Selma Negro leader. Several hundred Negroes voted to join the drive at a mass meeting Sunday night.

Demonstrations also were scheduled today at Greenville, where marchers have been clashing with police for several days, and at Eutaw, the small west Alabama town where the new campaign began last Wednesday.

COURT HEARING
In Montgomery, a federal court hearing was set on a suit by Greenville Negroes seeking an order barring police interference with marches and requiring protection for demonstrators.

A Negro boycott of white businesses in the Selma area has begun, the Rev. Mr. Lewis said. The purpose of new activity is "to have equal justice," he said.

Trials are scheduled in mid-December for three white men indicted for murder in the bludgeon slaying last March of the Rev. James Reeb, a white Unitarian minister from Boston. Reeb was clubbed to the pavement here after taking part in a civil rights march.

In neighboring Lowndes County, juries recently acquitted two white men, one a Ku Klux Klansman, in separate murder trials for the slaying of white civil rights workers.

SCHOOL BOYCOTT

At Greenville, Negro leaders called for a boycott of the Negro school, and at Eutaw parents were urged to keep their children out of class.

The Rev. Samuel Wells of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which has directed the campaign, indicated there would be a street vigil in Greenville if police halted marchers again. He told his followers at a church meeting Sunday to abstain from food and drink and to bring their overcoats or blankets for the demonstration.

Found Shot to Death
DETROIT (AP) — John Moseley, 41, of suburban Romulus Township was found shot to death Sunday along a roadside. Wayne County sheriff's detectives were investigating.

Churchwomen Turning Cooks This Week

Two local groups of churchwomen are busy this week with preparations for serving meals. The public can sample the best in Greek cooking most of the day Wednesday.

The Philotokos Society of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church — some 60 women — will serve luncheon, dinner and sell pastries at First Federal Savings of Oakland.

They're planning to cook chicken and pilaf, Athenian style; stuffed grape leaves; moussaka; Greek meat balls and many other Hellenic foods. Luncheon hours are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and dinner will be served from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Those attending will hear Greek music and be able to buy a Hellenic cookbook.

Proceeds will help purchase robes and vestments for the new church being built on Woodward Avenue. Tickets are available at the door.

Mrs. George Mitchell is coordinating plans. Her committee consists of Mrs. Demetris Papanichola, Mrs. Chris Antas, Mrs. Chris Stevens and Mrs. Spyro Kentros.

Others are Mrs. Nick Williams, Mrs. Nicholas Assam, Mrs. Eftim Gabriel, Mrs. Thomas Nicholas, Mrs. Abraham Ryson and Mrs. Paul Mitchell.

First Presbyterian

The Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will hold its annual salad luncheon on Friday.

Luncheon will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. in the church social hall.

Mrs. Robert Anderson will direct the Thanksgiving play, "A Note to Myself."

CAST

The cast consists of Mrs. Robert C. Irwin, Mrs. George Beauchamp, Mrs. Gordon Cox, Mrs. Guy Duffield, Mrs. Robert Overcashier and Mrs. John Gibson.

Tickets for the event will be available through association members, the church office, and at the door.

Different Customs in Europe

By the Emily Post Institute
In Europe a gentleman bows to a lady first; in the United States a lady is supposed to greet a gentleman first, but today few people observe this formality.

Because the custom of "bowling" has long since become a tipping, or slight raising, of the hat on the part of the man, and a nod and smile on the part of the woman, nothing more is necessary when one passes a casual acquaintance.

In theaters, restaurants, shops, and almost any place in public, people speak to acquaintances as long as the greeting does not create a situation that may disturb others around them, as it would be in the middle of a movie.

If they are too far apart to speak without shouting, they simply smile and wave.

Unless one has a good memory for people, it is always better to nod to someone whose face is familiar than to run the risk of giving an acquaintance. It is often difficult to recognize people whom one has met when they are wearing a different type of dress or hat—sports clothes or evening dress, for instance.

Except at a wedding, people do not greet each other in church. At weddings, people do speak softly to friends sitting near them.

It would be shocking, however, to enter a church and hear an undignified and unceremonious babel of voices. Ordinarily, if a friend happens to catch your eye, you may perhaps smile, but never actually nod or speak. You do not greet anyone until you are out in the vestibule or on the church steps when you naturally speak to your friends as you encounter them.

SEATING GRANDPARENTS

Q: Will you please tell me where the grandparents of the bride and groom are seated in the church?

A: They are either seated in the first pew with the parents of their respective grandchild, or directly behind them in the second pew.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Mrs. Demetris Papanichola, Dwight Street (left), and Mrs. George Mitchell, Cass Elizabeth Road, have Greek food on their minds as they leaf through a cookbook. Mrs. Mitchell is chairman for the all-day "Dining in Athens" at First Federal Savings of Oakland building on Wednesday. Mrs. Papanichola is president of the sponsoring group, the Philotokos Society of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church. Luncheon hours are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and dinner from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m.

To Analyze Handwriting of Husbands

Husbands whose wives attend the Wednesday luncheon of Oakland Hills Country Club at 1 p.m. will have a right to feel apprehensive. The wives may well learn some of the character traits hubby has managed to conceal all these years.

Mrs. Richard A. Bruce of Battle Creek, an authority on handwriting analysis, will deliver a report to the women on what handwriting reveals about character.

Mrs. Patrick J. Andres is chairman of the day and her assisting committee includes Mrs. George Billinger Jr., Mrs. George M. Caruana, Mrs. Karl R. Crawford, Mrs. William J. DeVault and Mrs. Harvey W. Ewald.

Others are Mrs. Charles S. Garretson, Mrs. Marvin Kalka, Mrs. Herbert H. Kietzer, Mrs. Robert L. Morrison and Mrs. A. Russell Waters.

Mrs. John L. Denman is the social chairman.

Wasn't Abby's Advice

By ARIGAL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I recently read some advice in your column which just didn't sound like you, and its bothered me ever since.

A mother who signed "OUT-MA-NE UNCOVERED" asked what to do about her two little boys, ages four and five, who'd sneak out of their beds in search of "goodies" after the family had retired.

They'd get into the cupboards and refrigerator and help themselves to whatever was available. YOU told that mother to take the door off the boys' room and install a METAL GATE, which could be opened only from the outside!

Abby, I'm surprised at you. You should have told her it was time she started to discipline her boys. A mother can't lock up her kids until they leave for college.

DISAPPOINTED IN YOU
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: That advice didn't "sound like me," because I didn't write it. (It must have appeared in another column.)

I wouldn't have told a mother to LOCK UP her kids because, if a fire should break out, it could be disastrous.

There are some crimes for which people are sentenced to "burn"—but raiding the refrigerator is not one of them.

Announce Arrival of New Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. English (Ellen Wood), of Ogemaw Road, announce the birth of a daughter, Kristine Ellen, on Nov. 9.

Grandparents are City Commissioner and Mrs. Wesley J. Wood of North Sanford Street and Mrs. Ruth Engel and Lester L. English, both of South East Boulevard.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something to those merchants who start in with Christmas the day after Halloween.

Richters Say Recent Vows

Carol Ann Bruzewski and Milton Robert Richter II were wed Saturday in All Saints Church, Flint.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bruzewski of Flint and the Henry Lightfoots also of Flint, formerly of Pontiac.

Tree Takes a Little Yarn, Lots of Imagination

"What will this one be?" says Mrs. Howard Stanley of Wenonah Drive, a former crafts teacher who enjoys her hobby of making table trees for Christmas. She saturates the white rug yarn with wallpaper paste and creates her own design on the paper cone, as she works.

By MADELEINE DOEREN

Shell macaroni, egg cartons, even empty detergent bottles come out of the kitchen to be made into attractive holiday table decorations at very little cost.

We thought we had seen them all until Mrs. Howard Stanley of Wenonah Drive, a former craft teacher, showed us her table trees made of white rug yarn.

The Stanleys came to Pontiac from Cleveland a little over a year ago. Mrs. Stanley majored in music at Kent State University in Ohio and taught crafts in Kent for five years.

Together with her sister, who is associate professor of art at the University of Akron, Mrs. Stanley has worked out a simple method for the yarn trees.

They last for many years if carefully stored.

The materials needed are wall paper paste, white rug yarn, a dowel, material for base, Oaktag or heavy paper, waxed paper, and small tree ornaments.

"No special talent is needed," says Mrs. Stanley. "The design seems to develop as you work. It is surprising what some Cub Scout and Girl Scout troops have done with this project."

Here are her instructions: mix wall paper paste in warm water to the consistency of thin cream. Add water as you work to maintain the density for easy handling.

PAPER CONE

Form a cone of the heavy paper the size of the finished tree, allowing an inch or more on the lower edge. Fasten with pins, staples or paper clips.

Then cover the cone completely with wax paper.

Cut convenient lengths of yarn (15 to 25 inches). Dip one length into paste mixture saturating it well. Remove excess paste to prevent dripping.

Begin the design by placing one end over the top of the cone and work the pattern on the cone. The design may be simple or involved. More pattern is added as you progress.

After one length is used, join another, pressing ends together as firmly and neatly as possible. Let a few strands run from top to bottom, leave a fairly solid border at the base.

Some lines should cross to add stability. Press all intersections firmly together. Let dry thoroughly and then gently remove from cone.

BASE

In the meantime, prepare the base and trunk. Place a dowel painted white into the base using wood styrofoam, an inverted flower-pot or anything that will hold the dowel upright. Paint or decorate as desired.

Mrs. Stanley makes a "kissing ball" by using an inflated balloon for a foundation on which to work. No wax paper is needed. "When dry, puncture the balloon to remove," she says. "Then, gently insert a small sprig of mistletoe and suspend in an arch or doorway, using white ribbon."

The Stanleys have 10 grandchildren, six girls and four boys. Mrs. Stanley has been active in women's church work and Sunday School, for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Dale Dodd of Ortonville Road, Independence Township, announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Ann to Airman 3.C. William Nienstedt, son of the Gerald Nienstedts of South Johnson Avenue. Her fiancé is presently stationed in Anchorage, Alaska.

Stamp Savers Abound in U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Trading stamps are saved by more than four out of five home-makers.

The Trading Stamp Institute of America says stamps are saved by 88 per cent of families with five or more members and decrease to 80 per cent with families of one or two persons. Leading stamp savers include Americans whose income is $5,000 or more per year, persons having at least a high school education, sales personnel, and city dwellers.

The grand cure for all maladies of mankind is work. — Thomas Carlyle, English essayist.

Make the Most of Design

Elegant embroidered cottons are now available in a wide range of beautiful designs and colors in piece goods departments.

Like all cottons, these stylish fabrics are easy to sew. However, in order to make the most of an embroidered design, you should consider its placement when cutting out the fabric.

The National Cotton Council suggests that you lay out pattern pieces carefully, making sure the embroidered motif will not run into a seam or dart. If it does, you might remove the embroidery by ripping out threads.

If the embroidered fabric has an evenly repeated motif, make sure it's centered on bodice and skirt, both in front and back.

Drift Widened by JFK Death?

Goldberg Strong in U.N.—Reds Resent It

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg is reported to have the Russians worried.

The former Supreme Court Justice and Secretary of Labor making a name for himself in the U.N., and well-informed diplomatic sources say the Soviets don't like it.

Observers here have noted the Kremlin envoys are taking advantage of every opportunity to undercut Goldberg's remarks and frequently attempt to ball him into a personality tag-war.

Those diplomats keeping an eye on the situation say the Soviet attacks on Goldberg are above and beyond the usual East-West polemics.

Mindful of a somewhat remarkable record set by Goldberg during his month as president of the Security Council, the Soviet diplomats are fearful that there may be a feeling engendered among diplomats that when Goldberg speaks, he speaks for a majority of the members of the Security Council.

TRYING HARD

Leading the attack for Moscow is Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko.

Although it was the coincidence of alphabetical rotation that put Goldberg in charge of the Security Council in September, the council did manage to pass four resolutions on Kashmir — all of them unanimously approved by the big powers.

The action won Goldberg new esteem and prestige.

Despite some pretty harsh words said about him in public recently by Fedorenko, Goldberg has avoided engaging in personality battles.

LOUD TALKING

At one time, Fedorenko accused Goldberg in the Security Council of "talking too loud." And on another occasion in front of the same body Fedorenko practically called Goldberg a liar.

However, Fedorenko used diplomatic language, saying that some of Goldberg's remarks had been at "variance with the truth."

But Fedorenko carried out another bitter personal attack on Goldberg even before the 117-member General Assembly.

During the debate on seating Communist China, Goldberg devoted the major part of his remarks to the long-held U.S. positions on why the Peking

PERSONAL REMARKS

Fedorenko followed Goldberg to the rostrum that day and devoted a great deal of this time in berating Goldberg's logic and personal speaking habits rather than hitting back at the U.S. stand.

The Soviet diplomat, speaking slowly, quietly and without gestures — in sharp contrast to Goldberg's explosive delivery and finger pointing — dismissed Goldberg's remarks as a "choleric" outburst and a "polemical monologue."

He also charged that Goldberg's argument for denying Communist China a seat was "deprived of any element of common sense."

Whether Fedorenko is succeeding in doing what he set out to do is a moot question.

Indonesians Ask Abolition of Red Party

SINGAPORE (UPI) — The Indonesian Peoples Parliament today passed a resolution demanding abolition of the Indonesian Communist party (PKI) and its affiliates, Radio Jakarta reported.

A broadcast from the Indonesian capital heard here said the action was taken as the second plenary session of the Parliament opened after a one-month recess.

The opening speaker was Chairman Ariefi Kartawinata. He was quoted as saying that the Communist-backed coup attempt of Oct. 1 "has formed a black page which could not be erased from the history of the Indonesian revolution."

The resolution asked President Sukarno to act quickly against the PKI "in accordance with the demands of the Indonesian people."

Dispatches from Jakarta reported these other developments:

5,000 ARRESTED

• Some 5,000 Communists have been taken prisoner since the coup attempt in the army mop-up of central and western Java, according to the official news agency Antara.

• Information Minister Achmadi said 7,000 more rebels were still at large throughout the country.

• Officials of President Sukarno's inner cabinet raided the parliamentary office of a top Indonesian Communist and discovered a jungle uniform and a weapon.

Role of Church Is Up for Vote

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Catholic bishops formulating new doctrines at the Ecumenical Council faced a series of votes today on a key document charting the role of the church in the modern, changing world.

The most controversial vote concerned a revised statement indirectly denouncing communism as an atheistic ideology.

The statement is only one part of the lengthy modern world decree, one of four the council is polishing into final form in the closing weeks of the session.

Two other decrees, on the role of laymen in the church and the question of divine revelation, will be promulgated by Pope Paul VI on Thursday.

Red Eyes Can Mean Danger

Let Specialist Treat Uveitis, Glaucoma

By Science Service
NEW YORK—If you wake up some morning with red eyes, you don't ignore them: they may not go away.

Red eyes can often be safely treated by the family doctor, but he must be sure of the diagnosis, an ophthalmologist warns.

Red eyes could mask dangerous glaucoma, an acute uveitis, which means inflammation of the uvea, the part of the eye containing the iris and blood vessels.

Conjunctivitis, an inflammation of the eye's covering membrane, probably can be treated by the practicing physician, but both uveitis and glaucoma cases should be treated by an eye specialist.

Whether or not a person should be referred to an ophthalmologist is a decision requiring great care by the family doctor.

CAUSE INFECTION

A doctor should not put a patch on the eye of a patient found to have acute conjunctivitis, as the patch will make the bacteria flourish more and can cause infection in the cornea (membrane on the front of the eyeball in which the pupil is centered).

Dark glasses, however, may be worn after drops or ointment are used as treatment.

An antibiotic that is not ordinarily used "systemically" is advised, such as neomycin, bacitracin and polymyxin B, after a bacteriological study is first made.

Dr. Ellis Gruber, clinical instructor in ophthalmology, University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y., reports details of diagnosis and treatment of various eye diseases that can be hidden by red eye symptoms.

MOST ALARMING

"Subconjunctival hemorrhages are one of the commonest causes of red eyes," he explains, adding that although they are often the most alarming to a patient, they usually clear up in about two weeks without special treatment.

Cold compresses may be applied at first to prevent further bleeding, followed by hot compresses after two days to help the blood be absorbed.

These harmless hemorrhages often follow sneezing, coughing, rubbing the eyes, or they may occur spontaneously in a person who has hardening of the arteries.

Keratitis, which means inflammation of the cornea, often causes a red eye by producing a secondary conjunctivitis. The normal clear corneal surface may look irregular in the area, and the light reflexes from it are irregular.

Canner Hits Sen. Hart Bill on Packaging

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — A National Canners Association official said today packaging and labeling legislation likely to be considered by Congress next year could place shopping decisions in the hands of a few officials.

The warning was issued by Milan D. Smith, executive vice president of the association, in his prepared remarks at the 25th annual convention of the Georgia Canners Association.

Smith said he was referring to the so-called "fair packaging and labeling" bill introduced this year by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich. The measure had not been reported out of the Senate Commerce Committee when Congress adjourned last month.

Smith said he believes the average housewife would resent government control of her shopping decisions, saying her protection is adequately assured under present law.

Referring to assertions by some persons that consumer complaints are increasing in volume, Smith said he could not find these persons. "They were not apparent, to any significant extent, when consumer conferences were held in four important areas of the country in 1963 and 1964," he said.

Wants to Dim Damaged 'Image' Usage

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The word "image," which started out as a synonym for "likeness," has in recent years taken on another meaning.

As the term generally is used today, it doesn't necessarily mean what you are like, but what people think you are like.

This change was largely brought about by public relations consultants, who make their living creating new images for persons, place and things.

They have made the whole world image-conscious. Some public figures now change images almost as often as they change underwear. It's getting so even their images have images.

Image-makers also are active in advertising. Often, a product's image is more important than what's inside the can.

Considering their vested interest in this field, I was somewhat surprised to learn that one public relations firm has undertaken a campaign to stamp out images.

Boldly asserting that "image" has become "one of the most overused, abused and misused words in our current vernacular," it is sponsoring a contest to find a substitute.

CASE OF SCOTCH

A case of scotch is being offered as a prize for the person who comes up with the best term conveying the meaning now associated with image.

My faith in the sincerity of the campaign was shaken a bit by the fact that one of this firm's clients is a certain brand of Scotch. It could be that the whole thing is aimed primarily at improving the client's image.

Nevertheless, I hope the anti-image campaign succeeds. For a little variety, I personally would welcome an aardvark in the evaluation of tigers. To say that I am tired of tigers, tigers is understating my condition considerably. I am sick of them right unto death.

TIGERS EVERYWHERE

Tigers in the gas tank. Tigers in the hair cream. Tigers in the tire treads. To mention just a few that regularly show up on my television set.

What is so great about tigers anyway. Nothing much, really. And one that's unfair to other animals.

Put a tiger in your tank and you break a lion's heart.

If there must be images in advertising, let's at least have a little variety. I personally would welcome an aardvark in my tank. Anything to get rid of

Old-Line Soviet Officials Said Hindering Farm Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — The new Soviet leaders more than a year ago ordered a change designed to give farmers a break and to put more food on the tables of Russian homes.

That decision is still being sabotaged by old-line local officials, the magazine Kommunist reports.

Nikita Khrushchev's successors ordered that farmers once more be allowed to work their own small private plots of land after finishing their chores on the state's large collective farms.

The idea was to encourage the farmer to produce more food on his own to add to that raised on the state's farms. The more the farmer could raise and sell from his private plot, the more he would profit.

FILTERS DOWN

The Kommunist article showed how difficult it has been to put this little bit of private enterprise across. It also showed how long it can take for an order from top Soviet leaders to filter down to everyday practice.

The magazine cited these examples of "gross violations" of party and government orders:

Farmers who legally sell produce from their private plots have been denounced in local papers as economic speculators.

Local officials have illegally restricted farmers from obtaining the fodder they need for livestock raised on their private plots.

Local officials have illegally forced farmers to sell produce from their private plots according to a plan of fixed sales targets.

TOP-LEVEL CONCERN

Publication of the article in Kommunist indicated official concern at the highest level with these practices. The magazine is the journal of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

Kommunist said it based its article on numerous complaints from farmers.

Peasant resistance to Stalin's forced collectivization of agriculture originally won farmers the right to work private plots in 1939. The private plots produced more food per acre than the collective farms, a result embarrassing to Communist officials who praise the merits of socialist agriculture.

Although the Soviet economy badly needed the food produced on private plots, Khrushchev imposed restrictions on such land.

Farmers were not permitted to buy fodder for livestock they owned. There were cases of desperate farmers buying bread and grains milled for human consumption and feeding it to animals.

Farmers were given quotas to fill from their private plots. Although they could not feed their cows fodder, for example, they still had to deliver so much butter to the state.

All this was supposed to be changed by the order of the new Kremlin leaders last October. The Kommunist article indicated it hadn't been.

Briefings Will Cover New Education Acts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Office of Education is holding regional briefings on the new $2.6 billion Higher Education Act this week and next in nine cities.

The new law provides for college scholarships and loans, library assistance, the beginnings of a "National Teacher Corps," and community service programs.

SHE SURVIVED—Nurses help Mrs. Wilhelmina Apuzzo as she looks down to make sure of her footing following her arrival yesterday in Miami by plane from Nassau, The Bahamas. She and her husband, from Coral Gables, Fla., were among survivors of the burning and sinking of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle in the Atlantic early Saturday.

There were no reports of death or serious injury, but officials said damage was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Memories of Sinking Still Vivid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Survivors of the Yarmouth Castle are still vividly remembering the sinking of the ship. "We were wearing our nightgowns. Some people jumped in without clothes," Miss Eliseunson said. "It was awful — you just can't imagine."

FULL OF SMOKE — Terry Eliseunson, 22, a St. Paul, Minn., secretary, said she and a girlfriend opened their stateroom doors to find the corridor so full of smoke that they despaired of leaving that way.

"I smashed the porthole with my fist," she said. "One crew member said we might as well jump, as the ship was sinking. We were told to jump overboard. We were told to jump overboard. We were told to jump overboard."

An East Cleveland, Ohio, couple, who lost their eyeglasses as the ship sank, said finding a lifeboat wasn't that easy.

"We asked several passing minutes before being picked up by crewmen, who wore lifejackets, by a lifeboat from the Bahama where is a lifeboat," said Dale Star.

Many Streets Flooded

Hawaiians Hope for End to 5-Day Rain

HONOLULU (UPI) — Flood-weary residents held cautious hope today for relief from a torrential storm which drenched Hawaii with nearly 12 inches of rain since Thursday and forced more than 200 families to flee their homes.

The Weather Bureau predicted that the five-day storm would ease later today.

"That's what it said yesterday, too," one resident said, "and the rain's still coming down in bucketsful."

The rain created flood situations throughout the island of Oahu and its principal city, Honolulu. Muddy water surged through the streets at depths as high as three feet, causing landslides, which stranded residents, and grounding out telephone and power lines.

There were no reports of death or serious injury, but officials said damage was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

FAMILIES FLEE

The Red Cross reported that about 200 families had sought shelter in six emergency centers set up in schools throughout Oahu.

Police and firemen drove high-wheeled trucks into the hardest hit areas to rescue families unable to drive their cars through the flooded streets.

As workmen attempted to clear 15 feet of mud and boulders which crashed onto Pali Pass, the principal link between Honolulu and suburban windward Oahu, another landslide nearly trapped a man in his earth-removal truck. He apparently had been brought escaped with minor injuries.

The storm struck Thursday and continued through Friday with gale-force winds which caused school officials to halt classes for the day.

KEPT RAINING

As the downpour persisted through Sunday, overworked storm drains and canals began to back up and the streets started to flood. It was not uncommon to see dozens of cars stranded on a single street, abandoned by drivers who waded to higher ground.

The resort hotels in Waikiki used sandbags to keep the floodwaters from surging through lobbies.

A Quiet Village... Then Reality

BIEN CAT, Viet Nam — Young Tom Marchesello felt like an oven on legs. The sun sickened him and with a full pack and rifle to carry, he was being marinated in his own sweat.

"It's hot," he cursed to no one in particular.

"Yeah?" a guy answered, "I hadn't noticed."

"You don't feel the heat?"

"Man, I don't feel anything... I'm just too scared." And then no one spoke again. All that needed saying had been said.

ALL SCARED

Scared? They all were. Each in this dusty troop was lugging a shot put in his stomach.

Few had slept the night before; most wrote home not knowing what to say; others stood for hours over open trenches, ill from terror.

This was the first action of the war for many. And there was no gallantry.

Some of them — most of them — were 18, 19, 20 years old and here just a month or so. These were not heroes, just ordinary men.

RED FRECKLES

Like Spec. 4 Marchesello, 19, 215 pounds, "the only Italian in the world with red freckles."

He had come into khaki off the streets of New York City. He went to school in the Bronx. He had a sister, Anna, and a brother, Robert.

A few doors from his family's apartment was a market where, after school, he worked in a butcher shop.

On Saturday, he would date, hop a subway to Manhattan, watch a show, dance or walk along Riverside Drive overlooking the Hudson River.

NEVER EXISTED?

He liked that life but it wasn't real any more. Perhaps, even, it never existed.

"O.K., heads up," somebody snapped. "We're coming into a village."

The foot soldiers of Bravo

Company, 116th Infantry felt their perspiration chill.

A village would mean dark faces peering out of doorways, absolute silence, the impassionate look of children, the complete absence of all young men.

FRIENDLY?

Friendly? or unfriendly? If they opened fire, you knew for sure.

But this place seemed quiet. The people here, one or two, even waved; the old women laughed and the young women giggled.

The column passed on through and began to look back.

BLAST OF FLAME

It was then Tom Marchesello was hit with a blast of flame... erupting from the ground, knocking men up and back into other men. It was absurd horror. It slapped the earth and then it was over.

One of the villagers had detonated a road mine. Eleven GIs blew up.

"I didn't even get knocked out," Marchesello said later.

"I remember everything... especially the pain, the terrible pain. I could see some guys get it. One guy lost an eye."

"It hit me all over. My left arm, both my legs, my stomach... they say 30, make it 40 wounds in all. But some of the others got it worse; Dick Van Gao Phana, 65, former Bernier, Sgt. Cruz' and old head of the Imperial Vietnam Pops Taylor. They were all bleeding so bad. I looked around and figured we were bleeding to death."

"And the moaning and noise... everybody suffering. I guess we all cried. Yeah, I guess we all cried."

They lay there twisting in under his command.

FLANKED BY VIET VETERANS — President Johnson eats breakfast from a tray at the LBJ Ranch yesterday, flanked by two Viet Nam veterans — Sgt. I.C. Robert S. Vandiver (left) of Shreveport, La., and Spec. S. Robert G. Sullivan of Norwich, Conn. The two Army men, both honor soldiers of the Fourth Army, were the President's guests.

LBJ Back at White House, Not Yet Feeling Up to Par

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, looking well after a recuperative stay of more than three weeks at his Texas ranch, is back at the White House today and plans to stay there at least until Thursday.

But despite a favorable medical report over the weekend, Johnson has told friends he still doesn't feel as well as he did before his Oct. 8 gallbladder-kidney stone operation and has some pain from the operation.

In the final day of his Texas stay Sunday, Johnson was visited at the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City by two Army enlisted men, both veterans of Viet Nam. They accepted Johnson's invitation to accompany the first family to church services in St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg.

"Come on, we've got a lot to pray for — particularly for our men in Viet Nam," Johnson told Sgt. I.C. Robert S. Vandiver of New Orleans and Spec. S. Robert G. Sullivan of San Antonio, Tex. MADE KNOWN

Vandiver and Sullivan showed up at the ranch at 8 a.m. and made their wish to see the President's home place. Johnson made no advance commitment to see them, but had coffee ready when they arrived. Vandiver and Sullivan told the President about their experiences in Viet Nam.

Next he drove them 5 miles to communion services at St. Barnabas.

The car was jam-packed. In addition to Johnson there was his wife and daughter Lynda Bird, Vandiver and Sullivan, Sullivan's wife, Maryellen, Vandiver's wife, Patricia and the two Vandiver daughters, Cynthia Ann, 7, and Kathleen, 5.

PRAYER FOR SOLDIERS They heard a prayer by the rector, the Rev. Jack Langford, for all veterans and particularly those in Viet Nam.

After the services, Johnson again piled all kind of gifts and guests into a white station wagon for the trip back to the ranch. Trailing newsmen and photographers were invited in for coffee and cookies.

Johnson's White House schedule includes a reception tonight for John A. Gronouski, former postmaster general who is leaving soon to take up his new post as ambassador to Poland.

Wednesday night the Johnsons will give a dinner dance for Britain's Princess Margaret and

GI Families May Record

To bring home closer to servicemen away at Christmas, the American Red Cross will enter the recording business for the fifth consecutive year.

Families of servicemen may cut a record at Red Cross regional headquarters, 118 Franklin, from Nov. 29 to Dec. 11.

Also eligible to record are families of Peace Corps members and foreign students.

The 12½-minute record will be sent anywhere in the world free of charge.

Appointments may be made by calling "Voices from Home" at the Red Cross headquarters, according to project chairman Mrs. Paul Crider of 400 N. Cranbrook, Bloomfield Township.

Caravans Aid in Rights Fight

Housing Bias Target of Illinois Motorcades

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Motorcades are making Sunday afternoon calls on Illinois towns and villages to promote housing integration.

Since May, the interracial motorcades have called on mayors, civic leaders and citizens in 60 of Illinois' 101 counties under the banner of the Citizens Committee for Freedom of Residence.

Dozens of white Chicago suburbs have received the caravans.

The founder of the group is Donald S. Frey, 50, an Evanston attorney. Frey says he dedicated himself to what he calls "equal opportunity housing" 10 years ago because of an incident in Evanston.

"A Negro family was unjustly refused a permit to install a bathroom," he said. "Since then, I just got involved."

30,000 SIGNATURES

In Illinois, his 5-year-old committee has signatures of 30,000 persons willing to have as a next-door neighbor someone of another race or color, Frey said.

The motorcade calls on mayors and public officials in a community, and on builders, bankers and real estate men, Frey said.

The question asked city officials is: "What are you doing to achieve 100 per cent equal opportunity housing?"

"Most say they're not doing one thing," Frey said.

RESULTS VARY Results of the interracial housing promotion vary. Mrs. Joseph Moore, a committee worker from Evanston, described the attitude of town and village officials.

"The over-all reaction borders somewhere between collective, guarded acceptance to hostile indifference," Mrs. Moore said. "This issue of a minority race in their communities is something they don't want rammed down their throats."

But, she said, most officials showed an awareness of a need to change status quo residential patterns in their towns.

On several occasions, town officials who said they would meet a caravan were not on hand when the cars arrived.

One Illinois town, Waukegan, has refused to extend an invitation to a caravan. Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabojan, who lives in a mixed neighborhood, says he would rather Waukegan took care of its own integrating process.

'Russian-U.S. N-War Is Out'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Theodore C. Sorensen, special counsel to the late President John F. Kennedy, believes the prospect of nuclear war between America and Russia "is virtually gone now as it never was before."

Sorensen attributed the present state of affairs to Kennedy's handling of the 1962 Cuba missile crisis.

He said Kennedy "combined just the right amount of defense and diplomacy and dialogue to persuade the Soviets that nuclear war would be suicidal and nuclear blackmail would be fatal."

The crisis "led to a complete turning point in the cold war so that the prospect of nuclear war between the United States and the Soviet Union is virtually gone now as it never was before," Sorensen said in a teleweekend.

Defense Systems Recheck Is Ordered After Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has ordered a meticulous recheck of all the military communications and power systems to make certain they cannot be knocked out by the kind of power breakdown which darkened much of the U.S. Northeast last week.

FPC Asks Power Firms: What Now?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal power investigators want major Eastern power companies to supply them with "complete and specific information on what steps have been — and will be — taken to prevent another big blackout in the Northeast."

Federal Power Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler, named by President Johnson to head the inquiry into the massive Northeast power failure, dispatched telegrams to all utilities serving the area during the weekend.

Swidler and other FPC investigators worked through the weekend attempting to piece together the reasons why the power failed.

Yesterday they examined photographs of electrical disturbances, called oscillograms.

In the telegrams to the utilities, the federal experts also asked for any recommendations the companies may have to avoid a repeat of last Tuesday's disaster.

STUDIES SOUGHT

Also sought were all technical computer and control board studies and internal memoranda related to the stability of the complex Northeast electrical system.

Human error has not been ruled out as the cause of the power failure, and Swidler asked the companies to provide investigators with the standing instructions issued to power dispatchers for severance of ties with other utilities when disturbances occur.

Latin Tour Cut Short by Belgian Royalty

BRUSSELS (AP) — Because of the health of 89-year-old Queen Elisabeth who suffered a heart attack 11 days ago, King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola are returning from Latin America Tuesday, three days ahead of schedule, the royal palace announced today.

The Belgian royal couple leave Rio de Janeiro today after a five-day official visit to Brazil. They have been in Latin America almost a month, visiting Mexico, Chile, Argentina and Brazil.

The last medical bulletin on Queen Elisabeth's health, Thursday, said she was improving but needed a long rest. Baudouin's brother, Prince Albert, and his wife Princess Paola, are flying back from Peru today.

Sen. Harry Byrd Jr. to Follow Father's Conservatism

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. is demanding the same kind of fiscal responsibility his father advocated as the price of cooperation with President Johnson.

Congratulating the 50-year-old Virginia Democrat on his appointment to fill the seat Sen. Harry F. Byrd, 78, resigned last Thursday, Johnson said in a telegram he wants to work closely with the new senator.

On this score, Byrd made it plain he will apply as his father did before him the yardstick of how much Johnson's programs will cost and how they will be paid for.

The younger Byrd said Johnson has his support in the course the President is pursuing in the Viet Nam war. But on the domestic front, the new senator said he will examine each White House legislative proposal on its merits but will not be committed in advance to blanket opposition to the "Great Society" programs.

OPPOSITION

The elder Byrd, who sat beaming as his senatorial successor son was interviewed Sunday at Rosemont, the family home in Berryville, Va., has gone down the line in opposition to practically all of the social welfare legislation Johnson has sponsored.

The junior Byrd made it clear that while he expects to follow the course hewed out by his father in 32 years in the Senate, he regards himself as a forward-looking conservative in tune with the changing times and conditions.

Byrd will be running in the Virginia primary next July not only on the Byrd name but on the record he hopes to make in six months as a senator.

"My father has made his record; now I must make mine," he said.

CONTINUOUS LOOK

"I feel that legislators, like businessmen and individual citizens, must continuously look forward — as times and conditions change. I would like to consider myself as a progressive in the sense that it is important to continue to look forward in order to serve the best interests of all the people. There are certain fundamentals that don't change — the constitutional concepts of government, and I feel that true progress can only be made through fiscal responsibility."

In other weekend political developments:

—Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana said he had heard nothing of any move to force him to give up his post as assistant Senate Democratic leader when he succeeds the elder Byrd as Senate Finance Committee chairman in January. He said he sees little prospect for a tax cut in the next year or so.

—Barry Goldwater said he doesn't think John V. Lindsay's victory in the New York City mayor's race is causing any great furor in the Republican party. The 1964 GOP presidential nominee added, "I think there's an attitude of let's wait and see what kind of job he does."

FULL STUDY

—A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said Republicans will soon start a full study of national nominating conventions that could lead to revamping the 1968 session. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had proposed such a move aimed at cutting down convention confusion and noise.

In his interview, Byrd aired his views on a number of issues that seem likely to come before the Senate in the session beginning in January.

He said he does not believe any additional civil rights legislation is needed. It would be a mistake, he said, for Congress to repeal a section of the Taft-Hartley Act which permits states to ban the union shop.

The new senator said he favors and would vote for a proposed constitutional amendment to permit state voters to apportion one house of their legislature on other than a population basis as the Supreme Court has decreed.

BALANCE BUDGET

On budget balancing, the new senator said, "I feel that sooner or later we'll need to put our fiscal house in a little better order and I hope that a start will be made toward bringing of the wage earner's dollar."

Byrd, who became a senator clear he shares with his father with his appointment Friday by opposition to tax cuts when the Virginia Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr., expects to complete deficit financing. He said the formalities of his appointment of additional deficits in the next day or two. He may lead to "inflation which cannot be sworn in as a senator."

Over 85 Nationalist Chinese Are Feared Lost in Sea Battle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — More than 85 Nationalist Chinese Navy men are feared lost in the sinking of a minesweeper in a weekend battle with Communist gunboats off the Chinese mainland.

Navy headquarters said 15 crewmen of the 180-foot minesweeper had been rescued. One of them was the ship's skipper, Chen Teh-kuei, who was seriously wounded.

The navy said eight Communist gunboats attacked the minesweeper and a Nationalist gunboat Saturday night in the Formosa Strait.

The Nationalists claimed that four of the Communist boats were sunk and a fifth damaged. Red China's New China News Agency said the Nationalist gunboat also was badly damaged. The Nationalist navy said the boat returned to its base safely.

NEW DELHI — Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told parliament today India must presume "the possibility of joint Pakistan-Chinese action and prepare for it."

Answering questions about Saturday's border incident, in which India says Communist Chinese soldiers opened fire on Indian soldiers, Chavan said: "One can intelligently assume that the Chinese and Pakistanis might presumably plan joint action, and it's much better and wiser for us to presume the worst and be prepared for it."

Chavan said the Chinese have become strongly entrenched in the Chumbi Valley since September, when India-Pakistan fighting broke out, and since then have committed seven intrusions including three in the Dongchui

La Pass in the Indian protectorate of Sikkim.

The defense ministry said 70 to 100 Chinese soldiers invaded Sikkim Saturday and clashed with Indian troops near two Indian observation posts in the Dongchui La Pass. It was the first clash reported between Indian and Chinese troops since Sept. 6.

took the bodies of two Chinese and one Indian soldier with them when they withdrew. India protested to the Chinese government, accusing it of grave provocations.

MOSCOW — The head of the Soviet Secret Police has awarded a medal to a shepherd for protecting the nation's border against unidentified violators, the ministry said the Chinese apparently Chinese.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said Rasul Ogli Hasretina was watching his cattle when three persons crossed the Soviet border, threatened him with weapons and tried to kidnap him. Hasretina, although unarmed, managed to capture one and drive off the other two.

Gen. Vladimir Y. Semichastny, chairman of the government's Committee for State Security, awarded the medal to Hasretina.

Pravda did not say where or when the incident occurred. But the shepherd's name is central Asian, indicating he was on the border with Iran, Afghanistan or China.

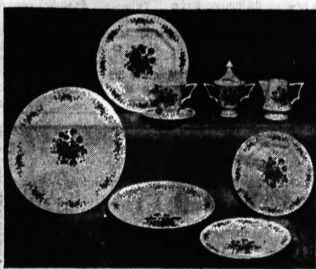

Tourists in the U. S. showed an increase of 20 per cent in the fiscal year ending June 30.

A Junior Editors Quiz About COINS

QUESTION: Why are our coins have raised edges, some with little ridges on the outside?

ANSWER: About 700 B.C., the ancient Greeks began to use coins as a medium of exchange. In (A) we see one of these first coins, made of a mixture of silver and gold. Soon the Greeks began to make very artistic designs on their coins, as in (B).

As more were used, it became natural to stock them up in piles for easy handling and counting, as we see our young friend doing.

The first coins, however, which often have raised designs, would slip and slide around when they were stacked. Coin (B) shows the Greeks' answer to this.

They placed a little raised edge all around to make it possible to pile a stack of coins very neatly. This also prevents wear on the raised part. Not all of the old coins had these raised edges.

Coins in (B) and (C) also show the ridged edges, such as our dimes and other silver coins have today, called "milled edges." Dishonest people used to scrape some of the silver or gold from the edge of a coin and keep the scrapings, while using the coins as well.

The milled edge makes it easier to find out if this illegal practice is going on and track down the people who are doing it.

FOR YOU TO DO: Coin collecting is a wonderful hobby. We illustrate the first U.S. coins ever issued (C). You may be able to spot coins in ordinary change which have more than their face value. Get a coin catalogue to find out which ones to look for.

Penicillin G Preferred for Child Illnesses

By Science Service
CHICAGO — Penicillin G is the "drug of choice" for treating central nervous system infections in children under 15 years old, the American Academy of Pediatrics meeting here was told.

More than 70 per cent of patients with such diseases as meningitis and pneumonia at the Los Angeles General Hospital are children between the ages of two months and 15 years. Dr. Paul F. Wehrle of the University of California, at Los Angeles, said.

Deafness can result if antibiotics are given that are toxic to the ear, and this is a particularly serious problem when deafness develops before a child learns to talk.

Six amino penicillin derivatives were carefully reviewed, Dr. Wehrle reported, and sodium ampicillin, a newer derivative very similar in structure to benzyl penicillin G, was of special interest.

It was particularly effective against several Gram negative bacteria, including strains of H influenzae isolated from spinal fluid. Gram negative is a term applied to bacteria decolorized by Gram's solution.

For penicillin-G-resistant staphylococcal meningitis, the drug methicillin is preferred, the drug

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a two-part report on a study of water pollution in northern Michigan.)

By MARGUERITE DAVIS
United Press International

WASHINGTON — At a time when water pollution is reaching crisis proportions in some parts of the country, northern Michigan holds an enviable position, according to Rep. Raymond F. Cleveland.

The Michigan Democrat said more clean, unused water is found in Michigan's Upper and Lower peninsulas than in any other comparable area in the continental United States.

He based that claim on a report of his 22-county congressional district compiled at his request by the Department of Health, Education, & Welfare (HEW).

The HEW report was put together from information available here, from its Chicago district office, and in large part from Michigan state government sources, a spokesman said. He conceded it indicates the area is freer from pollution than many, if not most, but warned against complacency.

"Michigan is pretty well up on what its problems are, they've been making improvements and are pollution-conscious," he said. "But we'd like to see it 100 per cent."

The report showed that of 61 industrial plants in the area, only two failed to provide adequate pollution controls. These were identified as Mead Paper Corp., Escanaba, and the Petoskey Paving Co., where studies were said to be under way.

Controls at four others were said to provide "unreliable protection." These were identified as Celotex Corp., L'Anse au Loup, and the Petoskey Paving Co., and East Jordan Cement Co., and L'Anse au Loup Automatic Laundry, Cedarville. Studies are under way and plans being prepared for the Celotex and Manistique plants, it was said.

Need for antipollution controls has not been established at two plants—Bancroft Dairy, Inc., Marquette, and the John Zeller automatic laundry, Germantown, the report said.

It listed 39 industries as having adequate controls, and another 14 at which the adequacy of controls has not been determined.

CONTROL DEVICES

Cleveland, who is hopeful that more industries will be attracted to his district, said modern control devices can protect the purity of the area's water.

"Industry doesn't have to pollute," he said.

The HEW report also inventoried the municipal sewage collection and treatment systems of 65 communities. Four were said to need improvement—Charlevoix, Boyne City, Harbor Springs, and Wakefield, as communities. Four were said to need improvement—Charlevoix, Boyne City, Harbor Springs, and Wakefield.

On the basis of the 1960 estimated population, the report showed 40,000 persons are served by no sewage treatment plant, 130,000 by primary treatment plants, 60,000 by the more adequate secondary treatment plants, and none by the sophisticated "tertiary" facilities.

Genesee, and Crystal Falls, which now has no such works.

On the basis of the 1960 estimated population, the report showed 40,000 persons are served by no sewage treatment plant, 130,000 by primary treatment plants, 60,000 by the more adequate secondary treatment plants, and none by the sophisticated "tertiary" facilities.

According to HEW's five-year-old estimates, it would cost $2.1 million to provide secondary treatment plants for all communities in the 22-county area, and $4 million for the tertiary variety.

On the basis of the basis of the national average, increase about 7 per cent in such costs, the figures now would total $2.2 million and $4.4 million.

HEW records showed 19 grants totaling $3,462,476 made to sewage treatment works projects in the area, ranging from $4,391 to Cheboygan to $500,000 to the Portage Lake Sewage Authority and including $1,160,000 for facilities still under construction.

14 New Med Schools Will Be Ready by '70

By Science Service
CHICAGO — An era of "major expansion" will bring 14 new medical schools to completion by 1970, making a total of 101 in the United States.

Some very interesting experiments in medical education are expected, says the 66th annual report on medical education by the American Medical Association's Council on Education.

Although the new schools will be competing for faculty members with existing schools, they will open up new opportunities for leadership to young, vigorous medical scientists, the report said.

From 800 to 1,000 new positions will be available to qualified applicants.

Besides the 14 schools, at least 10 other institutions probably will follow through with other new medical schools. Eight of the 14 planned will provide full four-year programs leading to the M.D. degree.

The other six are expected to be two-year schools covering basic medical sciences, several of which may ultimately become four-year institutions when they have become established.

Traffic Row Leads to Fatal Shooting

DETROIT (AP)—An unidentified motorist shot and killed another motorist at a city street intersection Saturday night in a traffic argument. Police are seeking him.

Robert B. Barnes, 32, of Carleton in Monroe County was the victim.

Police said witnesses reported the other driver shot Barnes and drove away after Barnes came to his car with a tire wrench in his hand, Barnes accused the other driver of blocking the intersection, the witnesses said.

State Girl, 10, Killed While Handling Gun

NEWAYGO (AP)—Ten-year-old County Sheriff's Department new Marguerite McKenzie was a said Marguerite, and another shot to death accidentally at her child were playing with a shotgun in Croton Township near gun. The gun discharged and Newaygo Sunday. The Neway Marguerite was shot in the head.

Weather Is Wintry in Europe

LONDON (UPI) — Wintry weather swept across much of Europe today. Heavy snow fell in many areas.

Moscow registered a temperature of two degrees below zero, the lowest for this time of year in four decades. An inch of snow fell on the Soviet capital.

More than two feet of snow fell on the southern coast of the island of Lolland, and road salvage teams struggling through deep drifts gave up attempts to clear rural roads. Below-zero temperatures and icy roads afflicted most of Sweden.

Rivers began freezing in Norway. Cheerful ski enthusiasts queued up overnight in Oslo to buy tickets for the world ski championships to be held in February.

Snow blanketed Lapland, and in Switzerland skiers appeared on the slopes as heavy snows closed down some mountain passes for the winter.

MOUNTAIN SNOW

Vienna reported temperatures at the freezing point, with below zero registered in the Austrian Alps. In Italy, snow fell steadily on peaks of the Apennines and on Sicily's Etna volcano.

Northern Italian cities had temperatures around the freezing point. Rome was cold but not freezing, with intermittent rain.

Dutch newspapers ran front-page photographs of people skating in a blanket of snow in the southeast of the country.

Both West and East Germany reported snow, ice and fog.

PARIS CLOUDY

The Paris area was cold and with temperatures around the freezing mark. A light snow fell in the Jura Mountain area near the Swiss border. Scattered rain was reported in the northeast.

Forty-seven counties in Britain were reported affected by snow, ice or fog.

Heart Attacks Kill 5 Hunters

No Gun Deaths in 1st
U.P. Season Weekend

By United Press International
Five elderly hunters suffered fatal heart attacks during the first weekend of the Upper Peninsula hunting season.

No shooting fatalities had been reported but there have been several injuries from rifle shots, State Police said.

Janice Edmark, 52, Wakefield, was shot in both legs by a hunter and was reported in serious condition.

The girl was riding in a sleigh with her brother when she stood up and the hunter, Allen Wipburn, 29, West Allis, Wis., fired at what he thought was a deer.

PUSH SEARCH

George Lukka, 46, Bergland, was reported missing, and State Police and volunteers today still were searching for him in woods around Marinette Township in Gogebic County.

Those suffering fatal heart attacks while hunting in the U.P. included:

Raymond Hermanson, 51, Mass, last night in Greenland Township, Ontonagon County.

Milford Steele, 57, Watersmeet, Saturday in McMillan Township, Ontonagon County.

Clare Foster, 58, Lansing, Saturday in Newton Township, Mackinac County.

Lyle Farrow, 68, Farwell, Saturday in Baraga Township, Baraga County.

Wendell Gamble, 73, rural Hart, Saturday in Bates Township, Iron County.

Storm Signals Raised Again on Cyprus

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (U)—Storm signals are again flying over the eastern Mediterranean land.

The Turkish army has been alerted once more amid talk of a possible invasion if there is renewed blood-letting between the Turkish and Greek Cypriots.

The newest war scare was triggered by recent outbursts of violence between the island's Greeks and Turks living in this ancient, walled and moated city.

One Turkish Cypriot was killed and a half-dozen others from both sides were wounded. The U.N. Security Council urged all parties to refrain from further provocations.

TENSE SITUATION

The situation in Famagusta is tense, with both sides glaring across mountains of sandbags.

The United Nations peacekeepers are desperately trying to defuse the bomb by seeking agreement from both sides to demilitarize new fortifications — the same fortifications that led to the latest shooting incidents.

If Famagusta or any other island city explodes again, it could prod Turkey and Greece into open war. This is something their NATO partners fear the most.

Trouble erupted between the two communities at Christmas time 1963 because of the island's constitution.

LARGE CONTROL

President Archbishop Makarios said it gave too much control to Cyprus' 100,000 Turkish Cypriots. The Turks replied that the constitution was a legal document established to protect them from the half-million Greek majority.

As the fighting escalated, Turkey threatened to land troops on the island to protect the Turkish community. This right of intervention is claimed under treaties setting up the island republic in 1960.

The Turkish army never came. In August 1964, however, Turkish jet fighter bombers strafed and bombed Greek Cypriot locations in northern and western Cyprus.

War was barely averted.

MAJORITY RULE

Makarios wants unfettered independence, with majority rule. The Turkish Cypriots say the Greek Cypriots really want to join the island to Greece.

The Turks seek separate but equal rule under some kind of federal or cantonal system.

As the "Cyprus problem" drags on, there is growing dissatisfaction here with both Turkey and Greece.

Many Greek Cypriots feel Athens is too preoccupied with its own politics and is not giving Makarios enough support.

GREEK BACKING

On the whole, they backed former Greek Premier George Papandreu rather than his successor Stephan Stephanopoulos in the recent government crisis in Athens.

They resented King Constantine's actions in ousting Papandreu, calling it interference.

Turkish Cypriots had hoped that Turkey's new prime minister, Suleyman Demirel, would implement his "dynamic Cyprus policy" as promised prior to his election.

But the Famagusta shooting prompted Turkey to appeal to the United Nations. No Turkish troops landed on the island, although they were placed on alert.

TURKISH PAPER

One Turkish Cypriot newspaper commented: "Judging from previous experience, it's a foregone conclusion that the Greeks will never heed the Security Council recommendations.

"It is therefore difficult to understand Turkey's attitude."

And in Famagusta, a Turkish Cypriot throws a rock at a Greek Cypriot policeman standing under one of the ancient walls. A Greek Cypriot screams an epithet at a Turk entrenched behind bags of sand.

U. N. forces move in to soothe edgy tempers. Fresh violence is averted by only the thinness of a bayonet blade.

Hal Boyle's Mailbag Speaks:

Accidents Are Costly to Americans; 50 Million Hurt in '64

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Accidents now cost America over $15 billion a year. Last year, accidents killed 104,000 people, hurt about 50 million — roughly one out of every four persons in the nation.

Kids are getting bigger. In the last four decades, 15-year-old boys have gained four inches in height and 20 pounds

Tell your wife not to hurry through a supermarket. A University of Missouri survey found that 15 extra minutes of comparative food shopping could result in saving 5 per cent on a $20 purchase.

New Discovery Now Makes It Possible to Shrink And Heal Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain In Minutes

New York, N. Y. (Special): A world-famous institute has discovered a new substance which has the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. The sufferer first notices almost unbelievable relief in minutes from itching, burning and pain. Then this substance speeds up healing of the injured tissues all while it quickly reduces painful swelling.

Tests conducted under a doctor's observations proved this so—even in cases of 10 to 20 years' standing. The secret is the new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—now offered in both ointment or suppository form called Preparation H®. In addition to actually shrinking piles—Preparation H lubricates and makes bowel movements less painful. It helps to prevent infection (a principal cause of hemorrhoids).

Only Preparation H contains this magic new substance which quickly helps heal injured cells back to normal and stimulates regrowth of healthy tissue again. Just ask for Preparation H Ointment or Preparation H Suppositories (easier to use away from home). Available at all drug counters.

world's oldest occupations. Egyptian relics indicate the nobility and priesthood patronized barbers 6,000 years ago. There are more than 20 mentions of barbering in the Bible.

Quotable notables: "If you practice an art, be proud of it. It may break your heart, but it will fill your heart before it breaks it; it will make you a person in your own right!" — Maxwell Anderson.

TURN TO CUP
Women are turning more often to the cup that cheers. Six out of 10 women now indulge at least occasionally in alcoholic beverages compared with eight out of 10 men. But the bad news is that one out of every 13 so-called social drinkers in America is an alcoholic.

History lesson: The custom of holding egg rollings at Easter on the White House lawn began during the administration of Andrew Jackson, who loved children but was childless himself. Five other presidents had no children. They were George Washington, James Madison, James Knox Polk, Warren G. Harding, and, of course, our only bachelor president—James Buchanan.

A leaflet prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service gives this warning: "The risk of death from all causes is 70 per cent higher for cigarette smokers than for nonsmokers."

It pays to take a business prospect to lunch. One firm found that its salesmen who never entertained customers averaged only $330,000 in annual orders, but those who took potential buyers to lunch three or four days a week averaged $725,000.

AUTO OWNERS
Prosperity note: Better than three out of every four American families own automobiles; more than eight million families have two or more cars.

Folklore: If a bird flies into a house, someone who lives there soon will die. It will spoil your luck if you kill a spider. When a sick person stretches, that's a sign he's getting well. You can get rid of a sty on your eyelid by touching it with the tail of a black cat.

Quickies: Most laundry at the Vatican still is done by hand. Doctors now can predict a child's future height by studying X rays of his hand and wrist bones. A $10,000 investment in a college education pays off the average graduate with $140,000 added earnings later in life. The carrier crow and the cockatoo are the only birds known to have lived over 100 years.

It was actress Judith Anderson who observed, "There is nothing enduring in life for a woman except what she builds in a man's heart."

Crash Version Given by Pilot

Some Eyewitnesses
Told of Steep Descent

SALT LAKE CITY (U) — The pilot's version of what happened when a jet airliner crashed and burned, killing 41 of 91 persons aboard, last Thursday night, was given to investigators behind closed doors yesterday.

A spokesman for the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) said the information from Capt. G. C. Kehmeler, 48, of Denver would probably be made public at a hearing in a month or two.

The CAB began taking sworn testimony last Saturday. Some eye-witnesses said they thought the United Air Lines jet, a Boeing 727, made a rather rapid approach, steep descent and landed hard at the Salt Lake City airport.

The plane burst into flames. Airport Manager Joe Pergin said it hit 300-400 feet short of the runway, on an asphalt apron.

The main gear collapsed. The plane skidded down the runway and swerved off to the right.

THIRD CRASH

It was the third crash of a Boeing 727 since last August and the second within a week.

In Washington, the CAB issued a statement saying it had no reason to believe the three crashes were related.

The CAB said, "No information has been disclosed indicating that the three-engine jet is not airworthy."

Additional depositions were to be taken by the CAB's investigating team in Salt Lake City today and tomorrow.

TOOK DEPOSITION

The pilot and first officer, Phillip E. Spicer, also of Denver, remain hospitalized. UAL's medical director, Dr. George Kidera, said they probably would be unable to testify very soon.

The CAB team took a deposition from Kehmeler at the hospital and also from the plane's second officer, Donald Christensen, who was not hospitalized.

Spicer's deposition will be taken later when his doctor approves.

Of the 50 survivors, 28 remain in hospital. The charred wreckage was being dismantled and removed from the airport.

Ground Test for Moon Ship Is Wednesday

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The first ground test firing of the new Apollo moon ship, delayed three times last week by minor "bugs," is now set for Wednesday.

The Apollo's propulsion unit, called the service module, will be fired for 15 seconds while anchored to a former Titan 2 rocket launch stand.

The test must be passed before the fully equipped spacecraft can make its initial unmanned flight. The shot, now set for January, will be a sub-orbital hop to a South Atlantic recovery fleet.

The firing was set for today, but was postponed Saturday when engineers discovered some contamination in a ground fueling system being readied to load propellants into the 21,900-pound thrust rocket.

Scientists had hoped earlier to test the unit last Friday and Saturday, but those dates were missed.

Jacoby on Bridge

By JACOBY & SON

Italy won the European bridge championship again, with The Netherlands finishing a close second. The bulletins from that tournament show many hands that are worthy of study. Here is one played by the late Johannes Brun of Norway in the 1933 Championships.

North's opening club bid would meet with full approval of many modern players. After South responded with one heart and We overcalled with two diamonds, it was hard to stop short of game.

West opened the king of diamonds and shifted to a trump. If he had continued diamonds Brun would have had no trouble with the hand, but the trump lead, plus a trump return by East, left Brun with only nine apparent tricks.

He needed to set up a long suit trick in clubs or spades. He could do that easily enough but would then have no entry to make that last card. Nevertheless less Brun managed to work out a winning play.

He assumed that East's diamond queen had been a singleton, so that East would have started with nine black cards. Then he arbitrarily decided that they would consist of four spades and five clubs.

He pulled East's last trump and discarded club from dummy's ace and discarded a diamond on the king. He ruffed a third spade, entered dummy with the ace of clubs, led out a fourth spade and discarded a Q—The bidding has been: West North East South ?

You, South, hold: $\spadesuit A Q J 10 6 5 4 \heartsuit A 3 2 \diamondsuit 5 3 \clubsuit A 7$

What do you do as dealer?

A—Did three spades if vulnerable; four spades if not vulnerable. You should take seven tricks by yourself with spades as trumps.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You are vulnerable and do bid three spades. Your partner jumps to five spades. What do you do now?

Markets Business and Finance

Average Advance Limited

'Science' Issues Lead Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Aero-oils were down rather sharply, space issues, electronics and others showed scant change. Other "science" issues were at the forefront as the stock market advanced early this afternoon.

Motors, chemicals and nonferrous metals joined in the rise.

The performance of many other major groups was spotty, as the advance on average was limited.

Steels were unchanged to a half lower. Ralls, utilities and drugs were mixed. Some key changes.

Studebaker spurted 2, du Pont 2.

General Motors rose 1, du Pont 2.

Prices advanced in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. National Video and National Casket were up nearly 2 each. Up a point or better were a wide range of issues, including Northeast Airlines, Pyle-National, Syntex, Williams Brothers, Automatic Radio, Conductron, Electro-Voice, Esquire and GCA Corp.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds advanced.

Nankin Youth Jailed in Threat

Not in Connection With Assault Cases

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County sheriff's detectives said they would seek a warrant to charge a youth with threatening a woman in a suburban Nankin Township parking lot.

The arrest was made Sunday, but detectives emphasized that the youth was not involved in a string of seven assaults on women which have left the community in panic for the past month.

"These kids have been making telephone calls, threatening women and laughing over the phone as a joke," explained a detective. "It's hurting our investigation and causing great harm to women already in a state of fear."

"We finally caught one of them and we plan to make an example of him."

NAME NOT GIVEN

The detective declined to name the youth pending a conference with the Wayne County prosecutor's office today. They said he was arrested in a suburban parking lot after he jokingly threatened a woman as a prank.

Meanwhile, detectives continued to check out more than 260 tips received since a series of three attacks within two days last week. Officers said 150 persons have been checked but no arrests made.

The knife-wielding attacker, described as a giggling blond male in his late twenties, has not made an attack since last Thursday.

Mrs. Geraldine Jones reported to Pontiac police yesterday that two officers said 150 persons have been checked but no arrests made.

Clyde House of a Liberty Manor reported to Waterford Township police yesterday that a $125 topcoat from Central Methodist Church, 3882 M59.

Pontiac police are investigating the weekend theft of $106 and miscellaneous belongings from five occupants of the Waldron Hotel at 36 E. Pike.

Waterford Township police are investigating theft of a $225 banjo from a car owned by Mrs. Robert Butts of Detroit. The car was parked at the Sandbar, 3270 M59.

Desegregation Hurts Negro Businessmen

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Segregation has provided a "protective tariff" beneficial to most Negro professionals and businessmen, and the process of desegregation "is already affecting adversely some of the key segments of the Negro middle class."

This statement is surprising because it comes from Dr. Andrew P. Brimmer, a Negro and top-ranking economist in the Commerce Department.

Dr. Brimmer, whose title is assistant secretary for economic affairs, offers statistics which indicate that Negro businessmen may have to work harder and compete for business from both the white and nonwhite communities in order to survive.

"Obviously, I am by no means suggesting that the process of desegregation should be slowed down in order to lessen the effects on the Negro middle class," Brimmer said in a recent speech.

"Rather, I do want to emphasize that — while it may be embarrassing to view our own image in the mirror of change — we should look critically at ourselves and be instructed by what we see."

Brimmer said Negro businessmen who have been successful in the past have done so because of segregation, which, because of segregation, are not readily available to the Negro consumer in the community as a whole. Examples are Negro-owned restaurants, bars, shops, hotels and mortuaries.

Negro businessmen, Brimmer added, have made little headway in those fields where Negro consumers have free access to retail outlets — department stores, hardware, furnishings.

There are few Negro-owned enterprises in manufacturing, which requires large capital outlays and broad markets.

FARED BETTER

The statistics showed that Negroes fared far better in the professions serving only the Negro community — teachers, ministers, etc.

A concrete example of the effect of desegregation on Negro professionals is the dismissal of some Negro teachers after a community's schools have been integrated. Brimmer said this trend has been reported in Texas, North Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Florida and Oklahoma.

For the Negro businessman, Brimmer recommends joint ventures with white-dominated corporations. The Commerce Department has developed a sizable list of companies which are willing to grant franchises for sale of their products without selling the business.

The Small Business Administration has made numerous loans to Negroes under a new program especially designed for businessmen with very limited capital.

SUCCESSFUL BANK

As an example of a successful joint venture, Brimmer cited the Freedom National Bank of Harlem, which was organized by Negroes and whites and has seven Negroes on its 10-man board of directors.

The Negro middle class must specialize in the drive for economic and social development, Brimmer said.

"It is the members of this Negro middle class who, if they could only assume the burden, can provide the stimulus to rising expectations and the investment in time and effort so necessary to equip the less advantaged members among us to compete for the expanding opportunities in the economy as a whole."

McNamara Blamed

'Viet Truce Nixed---Adlai'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The late United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson was quoted today as having said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara turned over a proposal to the United Nations Security Council for a cease-fire in Vietnam.

This account was written by Eric Sevareid, radio and TV news commentator, for Look magazine.

Sevareid reports a lengthy talk he had with Stevenson shortly before the ambassador died suddenly in London.

Sevareid writes that during his talk with Stevenson, the ambassador told him:

"In the early autumn of 1964, (Stevenson) went on, U. Thant, the U. N. Secretary General, had privately obtained agreement from authorities in North Vietnam that they would send an emissary to talk with an American emissary, in Rang Gien, Burma."

Someone in Washington insisted that this attempt be postponed until after the presidential election. When the election was over, U. Thant again pushed the matter; Hanoi was still willing to send its man.

But Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, Adlai went on, flatly opposed the attempt. He said the South Vietnamese government would have to be informed and that this would have a demoralizing effect on them; that government was shaky enough, as it was.

"Stevenson told me that U. Thant was furious over this failure of his patient efforts, but said nothing publicly."

"Time was passing, the war expanding. The pressures on U. Thant, supposedly the No. 1 peacemaker of the globe, were mounting from all sides within the U. N."

"So he proposed an outright cease-fire, with a truce line to be drawn across not only Viet Nam but neighboring Laos, U. Thant then made a remarkable suggestion: United States officials could write the terms of the cease-fire line, he, U. Thant, would announce it exactly in those words."

"Again, so Stevenson said to me, McNamara turned this down and from Secretary of State (Rusk) there was no response, to Stevenson's knowledge."

Watkins had headed the township's driver license bureau until July when the department was eliminated.

On the second count, Watkins is accused of conspiring with Homer and Audrey Barton in requesting or accepting $150 in return for issuing an operator's license to Audrey Barton.

The warrant for Watkins' arrest was ordered by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt, the one-man grand jury.

Erhard's Visit Is Moved Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced today that West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's state visit to this country has been moved to Dec. 3 and 4 at the request of the German government.

Erhard had been scheduled to meet with President Johnson for three days, Dec. 6-8.

It was understood the Bonn government asked that the date be pushed up because of parliamentary problems in Germany.

The White House has not announced the date of the meeting. There is a good chance that it will be held in Washington instead of Johnson's Texas ranch.

The meeting is expected to cover the range of world problems.

Class of '65 Made Grade as Active First-Termers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Congress recently completed its most productive session in years. In addition to its legislative accomplishments, it served as a testing ground for a promising crop of nine new senators. This, the first of 10 articles, the chief of the U.S. Senate staff reports on what Senate leaders think of their new colleagues.)

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International
WASHINGTON—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, who once graded freshmen as a college professor, gives a passing mark to all of the newcomers in the U.S. Senate's class of 1965.

"It's an extremely capable group," says Mansfield, who is particularly pleased with the seven young Democrats in the class.

"I'm glad to see them stepping out, expressing themselves and assuming positions of responsibility."

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, with only two from his party among the nine first-year senators, is satisfied with their pace of participation.

What ever happened to the "be-seen-a-d-not-heard" rule for freshman senators? Who are these latest neophytes and how did they show up in this whirlwind first session of the 89th Congress?

THE FRESHMEN
The nine are Democratic Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, N.Y.; Ross Bass, Tenn.; Fred R. Harris, Okla.; Walter F. Mondale, Minn.; Joseph M. Montoya, N.M.; Donald S. Russell, S.C.; and Joseph D. Tydings, Md., and Republican Sens. Paul J. Fannin, Ariz., and George Murphy, Calif.

Their average age is 47, but the average age of the Democrats is only 43-plus. Four of the Democrats — Kennedy, Harris, Mondale and Tydings — are under 40. These men are among the Senate's new breed of activist first-termers.

Kennedy, 39, is the best known of the Democrats. But, for both personal and political reasons, he has not been the most active in a legislative sense.

A brother of the late president and of the junior senator from Massachusetts, Bobby Kennedy also is a former attorney general and a one-time Senate investigating counsel.

SHREWED, SECURE
He has impressed his colleagues as one who is shrewd and, at long last, secure in his own right. But he has taken his time in the Senate.

Much of his 1965 interest has been claimed by problems of New York State. One of his first legislative accomplishments was getting 13 New York counties covered by the Appalachia aid bill — if they chose to take advantage of it.

Another was his work in amending the voting rights bill so Puerto Ricans in New York could escape an English literacy test requirement. His support of education legislation was regarded as important.

Tydings, 37, foster-son of the late Sen. Millard E. Tydings, was one of the first 1965 freshmen to brush aside the tradition that a first-year senator keeps silent.

As a member of the judiciary and District of Columbia committees, he jumped quickly into the battles over voting rights, reapportionment, immigration, presidential disability and D.C. home rule.

All five were high points of this year's session. Young Tydings, lacking Bob Kennedy's basic shyness, came out talking.

If some opponents thought he pressed his arguments a little strongly for a freshman, they had to concede that he had done his homework. This new trend has not bothered Mansfield, who says:

"It's a good thing that the idea that you must remain in your seat for two or four years is gradually breaking down. I'm happy when young senators have something to say and ideas to advance."

NAMED TO SEAT
Russell, 50, is an old Washington hand who resigned as Governor of South Carolina so he could be named to the seat of the late Sen. Olin D. Johnston.

An intellectual and a southern moderate, he is highly regarded on both sides of the aisle.

Russell learned Washington from the inside as a wartime economic and mobilization official and later as an assistant secretary of state before becoming president of the University of South Carolina. He is on the committees of agriculture and banking.

Montoya, 50, served seven years in the House before his

STATE SOLO
He was four times New Mexico's lieutenant governor and sat for years in the state legislature.

He has concentrated on state affairs and has been one of the least active of the first-year senators on the national scene. He sits on the agriculture, government operations and public works committees.

Bass, 47, spent 10 years as a House member before winning the Senate seat of the late Estes Kefauver last fall.

An adept parliamentarian, he has been anything but backward in joining floor debate. He serves on the agriculture and commerce committees.

LEARNING RULES
Like Bass, Oklahoman Harris, 34, has devoted himself to learning Senate rules and how to use them to advantage.

"Democratic colleagues think he is one of their finest prospects for long-term service. They credit him with good political intuition and legislative astuteness."

Mondale, 37, falls into somewhat the same category. He is a former attorney general of Minnesota and a protégé of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, whose Senate seat he won by appointment.

Mondale has a wide range of legislative interests. He is on the agriculture, space and banking committees.

QUIETER OF TWO

A former governor who helped lead the Goldwater-for-president effort last year, Fannin has been content to proceed quietly in the Senate.

Dirksen views his background as a governor and an "independent thinker" as valuable to the Senate minority.

Fannin is a consistent conservative in his voting. He serves on the interior and labor-public welfare committees.

Murphy, 63, who came into politics after a successful career on the stage and in the movies, assumed on his Senate role with what one colleague defined as "commendable restraint" and deep interest.

His chief floor activity this year centered on efforts to provide Mexican farm workers for California growers.

Republicans have used him extensively as a speaker for party functions around the country and are grateful for his help. He serves on the labor and public works committees.

Cranes Close Soccer Slate

Cranbrook's soccer team closed the season Saturday by retaining the Houston Cup with a 5-1 decision over Chatham Kent.

Mark Packard's three goals sparked the winner's offense. He had third-period help from Larry Olson and Rick Bosley as the Cranes broke a 1-1 tie with three goals.

This was the 10th straight time Cranbrook had beaten Chatham Kent in the annual battle for the cup. Cranbrook finished with a 7-3 over-all mark, all the losses coming in Inter-State Prep League play.

'Be Kind to Wives' Week

Brings Husband Backlash

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "National-Be-Kind-To-Your-Wife Week," the greatest boon to woman since peroxide and falsies, is now being observed in thousands of homes where husbands are asking, "What kind of a wife is this?"

At a recent meeting of the founder (me) and the national chairman, Playwright Howard M. Teichman, we chose the winners who get theater tickets for proposing the most interesting kindnesses.

Next year, "National-Be-Kind-To-Your-Wife Week" will be bigger than Mother's Day. Anyway, here they are, with only initials used where husbands might be embarrassed. And thank you, all you losers, for your witty suggestions, too!

"My husband could be kinder if he would stop saying to our friends, 'When I die, I want her to marry me. I want to be sure someone regrets my passing!'" —Mrs. H.E.L., Mt. Prospect Ave., Newark.

"I would really flip for just a pat on the hip and a kiss on the lip." —Mrs. F.C. Durling, Dallas.

"He could hold the ladder while I paint—open the door while I carry out the trash—hand me the can as I hammer, and stop writing 'I love you' in the dust on the furniture." —Mrs. Arnold Rago, Kenilworth, N.J.

"My husband is always telling my friends that our kitchen is the only place flies visit to commit suicide." —S.G., New Hyde Park.

"There's only one kindness I care to repeat: To himself he should keep his cold, cold feet." —Edna Heins, Whitehouse, N.Y.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

It was Pastram-by-Candlelight at the Stage Deli during the power failure, and one customer said, "It still ain't romantic." The plush Colony was lit by candles brought out "95 black-out," at Sardi's they filled cups with cooking oil, dipped wicks in them, like ancient lamps. The Monogram's manager searched the stores, used the only thing he could find—mimic candles. Discotheques shuttered—no power for electric guitars and stereo sets.

Morey Amsterdam's the proudest guy in H'wood—Princess Margaret told him, "I've seen you on the telly." Christine Paolozzi's giving a party for the Rolling Stones at Steve Paul's. The Scene: "Dress optional—Pajamas, granny, or even black tie."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Joe E. Lewis consulted a palmet, but all she found in his palm was a highball glass. Henny Youngman claims that during New York's recent Big Blackout, Mayor Wagner wired Pres. Johnson: "I know you like to economize by turning off lights—but this is ridiculous!" . . . That's earl, brother.

Romney to Tell of S. Viet Trip

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney will make a complete report tomorrow on his trip to South Viet Nam, he announced today as he returned to his desk for the first time in nearly four weeks.

Steering clear of specifics of the Oriental trip, he told a news conference "by all odds the most interesting aspect was what was seen in South Viet Nam. To make the most meaningful report, I will have two means of reporting."

He then announced a Tuesday afternoon news conference and a 7 p.m. broadcast and televised talk from the University of Detroit.

Romney said it was "good to be back... come back with a greatly increased knowledge of conditions in the Orient, especially Southeast Asia."

He said he had met at least 400 of the estimated 4,000-5,000 Michigan men stationed in South Viet Nam.

ECONOMIC MIRACLE

He said his two weeks in Japan showed him "one of the great economic miracles of the world."

DEARBORN (AP) — Henry Ford Community College yesterday suspended a part-time psychology instructor for placing a coed under a hypnotic trance Friday.

The instructor, Gerald G. Griffin, 32, of Nankin Township, said he was an experiment and scientific in purpose.

Cynthia Weisman, 18, of Dearborn, was brought out of the trance Saturday, 16 hours after it was induced, by psychiatrists at Wayne County General Hospital. Dr. Bruce L. Danto, hospital psychiatrist said he was uncertain what after effects, if any, might result.

"Griffin is suspended pending the outcome of an investigation," said Ray Howe, dean of instruction at the college.

Griffin, former educational psychologist for Oakland County Schools, is scheduled to take oral examinations Thursday for his doctoral degree in counseling psychology.

He was employed this fall as a part-time instructor by the college.

Howe said he had learned that Griffin, an amateur hypnotist, had hypnotized seven students in his introductory psychology course. Griffin said he had no formal training in hypnosis.

"I met with him and told him this had no place in the course he was teaching and that it should absolutely cease," said Howe. "He admitted he had been hypnotizing students for experimental purposes."

Griffin said he was attempting to teach his class how hypnosis could be used to accelerate learning ability by removing mental blocks.

STUDENTS ASKED
Griffin said he decided to carry on the experiments off campus when some of his students asked him to.

Turnout Small Crime Forum Apathy Hit

Oakland Citizens League President Dale A. Winnie, disappointed in the small turnout Saturday at a law enforcement forum, today scolded public officials and citizens for their apathy toward crime.

"Everyone complains about crime and wants to know what is being done to prevent it," said Winnie. "yet they do little or nothing about it."

Winnie's remarks came after only 60 persons showed up for a League-sponsored public conference on crime and punishment at Oakland University.

Winnie, this morning, released an open letter he is mailing to all city commissions, village councils and township boards in the county.

"I charge each and every member... with a serious dereliction of duty and blatant neglect of responsibility, as elected representatives of the people, in not attending or sending representation to the forum," wrote Winnie.

"Two separate panels and distinguished luncheon speaker State Supreme Court Justice

He proposed that similar conference be held in areas where the crime rate is highest.

In Pontiac, for example, he said, panels could discuss the problem with leaders in the Negro community.

Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger said that arrangements are now being made for a program, where police officers could meet informally with Negro leaders so they can get to know each other on a "first name basis."

Winnie said that he will attempt to achieve better police protection at a lower cost if police officers were based on a county-wide structure or, better yet, on a metropolitanwide structure which would transcend county lines.

During his talk on recent court decisions and their effect on law enforcement, Justice Souris proposed that officials give consideration to consolidating police departments in the metropolitan area to combat crime.

"Would not be possible to achieve better police protection at a lower cost if police officers were based on a county-wide structure or, better yet, on a metropolitanwide structure which would transcend county lines."

List of Victims Grows to 84 in Sea Disaster

Coast Guard Seeking Cause of Tragedy on the Yarmouth Castle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Coast Guard investigators probed today into the deadly fire at sea that sent the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle to the bottom while the list of missing and presumed dead soared to 83.

One person died of burns in a Nassau hospital bringing the toll of the disaster to 84.

Yarmouth Cruises, Inc., added two more names to its roster of those who evidently failed to survive the tragedy — stewardess Phyllis Hall of Jamaica and the ship's doctor, Lisardo Diaz Torrence of Miami.

Nineteen burned survivors remained in hospitals in Nassau and Miami. Of five persons airlifted to Miami, three were reported in critical condition and the others "very ill."

The 14 still at Nassau's Princess Margaret Hospital were in serious condition but a spokesman said he had "every hope" that they would survive.

The cruise ship plunged 1,700 feet to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean in the Bahamas Saturday morning after fire swept her so suddenly no distress call was heard.

LOOKED BACK
"We looked back," said Margaret Farrell of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who was in a lifeboat. "There was a mass of red flames, then gray smoke, then nothing."

The U.S. Coast Guard sent two officers to Nassau, Bahamas, to see if they could learn what caused the holocaust aboard the vessel that left Miami Friday night for Nassau with 376 passengers and a crew of 174.

The Coast Guard investigators also are interested in learning what steps were taken to fight the fire and preserve life. Only four of her lifeboats were launched and some passengers complained of inadequate safety measures.

The Bahamas government also was considering probing the fate of the white-hulled steamer that had brought thousands of vacationers to the picturesque island capital.

It was to Nassau that rescue vessels brought survivors, some of them in lifeboats. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

SCHOOL DISTRICT VOTE
in Farmington Today

In a special election today, Farmington School District will decide three ballot proposals: a $6.1-million building program and two millage programs.

One of the operating fund requests is for renewal of a three-mill levy due to expire next year and the other is for a new four-mill levy. Both would be in effect for 10 years.

Franc, 43, is district manager for a bottling company. He was attending the national convention of the American Bottlers of Canned Beverages at Miami, Fla., last week.

Four other Oakland County persons were among those rescued from the stricken ship. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Peterson of 24935 Lakeland, Farmington Township, were not listed among those missing and are apparently safe.

Mrs. Bernard M. Schimmel of 73 Amberst, Pleasant Ridge, and Edna M. Newman of 3180 Merrill, Royal Oak, reported to relatives that they escaped without injury.

A Highland Park couple, honeymooning aboard the Bahama Star, which picked up survivors, witnessed the tragedy.

"It was a terrible thing to see the flames everywhere," said Mrs. John Gallagher. She talked with relatives in the Detroit suburb Saturday.

"We saw people trying to get into lifeboats that were already burning."

Mrs. Gallagher, the former Judy Garver, was accompanied by her husband, a collections supervisor at Highland Park Hospital.

Two Tank Battalions Helped by B52s in Battle With N. Viets outviet Nam (AP) B52 bomb hours of at times savage pounded rear positions of a fighting.

North Vietnamese regiment today as two American infantry battalions continued to slug it out with the Communist enemy in heavy fighting near the Cambodian border.

Two battalions of 1st Cavalry, Airborne Division's 7th Regiment—the original outfit followed Gen. George Oster into the Battle of the Little Big Horn—held their own through 36

At least 129 enemy bodies were counted and as many as 150 more were believed to litter the battlefield in front of the American lines.

American casualties were termed moderate, but it required more than a dozen helicopters to take out the American wounded. Most of the dead were still in the battle zone. There was too dangerous for helicopters to fly except on urgent missions.

MAIN ELEMENT

The American troops captured from 60 to 7 automatic weapons of every kind during three major assaults by members of the North Vietnamese 304th Division which infiltrated into South Viet Nam earlier this year.

The B52s hammered at an area of the more than two square miles where a main element of the North Vietnamese force was believed located. The American cavalrymen pulled back after the air attack.

In earlier air action, North Vietnamese gunners blasted one American A1E Skyra de out of the sky. A U.S. military spokesman reported. The pilot was killed when the plane exploded near the battleground 200 miles north of Saigon in the central highlands.

Most of the U.S. force was inside a narrow, heavily wooded valley while North Vietnamese units held the high ground.

INTENSE FIRE

Sniper fire was intense during the lulls between North Vietnamese attacks. American casualties mounted by the hour.

Three North Vietnamese battalions—about 2,000 men—were engaging the American troops and it was possible that others were waiting farther back.

The fighting broke out Sunday afternoon after one battalion of the 1st Cavalry's 7th Regiment was lifted in for an assault. Another battalion was thrown into the battle commander.

One battalion commander, Lt. Col. Hal Moore of Bardonia, Ky., said: "We're expecting anything today. We definitely hurt them today. But if you go to sleep for one minute around here, you lose men."

One American company took very heavy casualties when it was the brunt of one of the Communist's main thrusts.

"As far as I know there is no late regulating the use of hypnosis," said Inkster Police Officer Chief Robert C. Henry, "and when it was cut off from the we have no evidence he used main unit for 36 hours. In each hypnosis for improper purposes."

Americans escaped unscathed.

NEVER LOST HOPE—Swedish engineer Kjell Nilsson waves after he was rescued yesterday from a flooded tunnel below the streets in Stockholm where he and another worker had been trapped for five days after a landslide last Tuesday. Both men appeared in good condition but were rushed to a hospital for a checkup. Nilsson said, "We never lost hope."

deuts, including Cynthia, asked him to continue.

Griffin said he met Cynthia in the parking lot near the college Friday evening and placed her in a trance while they sat in a car.

When Griffin tried to wake her, "she did not respond at all," he said. "So I went through the technique from the beginning. When she didn't respond I got panicky."

He said he spent several hours trying to bring her out of the trance and then took her to his home where he and his wife put her to rest on a couch.

DIDN'T RESPOND

"I thought if I let her sleep, she would come out of it naturally," he said. "But she didn't."

Cynthia was then taken to the hospital.

Dr. Danto said he used the drug sodium amylal (truth serum) to help bring Cynthia out of the trance. Then Griffin, using the power of suggestion, helped transfer his control over the girl to Dr. Danto, who was able to awaken Cynthia by midmorning.

"It was just one of those rare things," said Griffin. "I don't think anyone is more upset than I. I never use hypnosis at parties or for sensational purposes. I'm a scientist."

NO CHARGES

Inkster police questioned Griffin at length but did not prefer charges.

As far as I know there is no late regulating the use of hypnosis," said Inkster Police Officer Chief Robert C. Henry, "and when it was cut off from the we have no evidence he used main unit for 36 hours. In each hypnosis for improper purposes."

Hospital Land Sale Is Opposed

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, today voiced opposition to the proposed sale of state hospital property on Telegraph.

Dr. Martin based his objection on the possibility that the Telegraph frontage will be required in the hospital's future expansion plans.

Several private developers reportedly are interested in the 2,600 feet of frontage north from Elizabeth Lake and Oakland lands has acquired legal rights to buy a 600-foot parcel adjoining this to the north.

The hospital official said that sale of any of this frontage determines exactly how much land it will require for expansion.

An 80-bed children's center already is planned for the hospital complex and a strong possibility exists that this will be enlarged later Dr. Martin said.

MENTAL HEALTH CENTER

A community mental health center on the hospital site is in the preliminary planning stages, according to Dr. Martin.

"Just how much land will be required for this facility is definite at the present time," Dr. Martin said.

Besides the children's center and mental health center, a further argument against sale of the property is that the frontage is the highest and most accessible land on the hospital site.

Last Friday, the Foundation for Mentally III Children Inc. of Southfield, a countywide organization, went on record as opposing sale of any of the Telegraph frontage.

The group's basis of objection was essentially the same as Dr. Martin's.

"Negative sightings," a Coast guard cutter reported finally on Sunday.

PRESUMED LOST

g' all the missing persons are presumed lost—drowned, burned or trapped on the ship when she went down," said Lt. William Wilson, Coast Guard search and rescue coordinator in Miami.

The steamer Yarmouth, sister ship to the Yarmouth Castle, made ready to leave Miami at 4:45 p.m. today on its regular four-day cruise to the Bahamas.

"A lot of people got sore Saturday when we canceled the cruise," said Leo Rosen, a spokesman for Yarmouth Cruises Inc. He said advance bookings made for Yarmouth Castle cruises would be honored.

Swedes, Canadian Saved in Underground Rescues

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Two Swedes and a Canadian girl were saved in underground rescue in Sweden and Britain over the weekend, while three Italians fell to their death in a cave.

The two Swedes—electrician Soeren Jansson, 26, and engineer Kjell Nilsson, 30—were in good condition when they emerged from a flooded tunnel in which they spent more than 107 hours 142 feet below a busy Stockholm street.

The construction workers had been trapped by water and mud—last Tuesday, but "we never lost hope," Nilsson told newsmen.

Rescue workers drilled a hole to them and used it to send food and communicate. The first note from the men said: "Everything all right but send us some grub."

FROGMEN HELP

While the nation followed the story over radio and television, navy frogmen aided by powerful pumps worked through mud inch by inch. The trapped men sang and played cards as they waited. Using a microphone lowered to his wife and Nilsson to his girlfriend.

Thousands cheered when they were brought out. The two were taken to a hospital for a check-up.

In Peak Forest, England, Donna Carr, 23, of Calgary, Alta., was rescued from a flooded cave after she fell 400 feet Saturday night while exploring a cavern.

Rescuers struggled for 20 hours in freezing weather, carrying the semiconscious student more than a mile strapped to a stretcher. They sloped through water and mud in cramped, winding passageways back to the surface.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Donna was rushed to a Sheffield hospital. It was feared she suffered slight skull and leg fractures. The hospital said she was "ill, but improving."

"She is now fully conscious and reasonably cheerful," said Dr. Hugh Kidd, who led the rescue operation and attended her.

Near Trieste, three amateur cave explorers fell 150 feet to their deaths while climbing out of a grotto.

Police said Virgilio Ertisi, 28, Bruno Boschi, 23, and Valentino Brungali, 25, were thrown off balance and fell when one side of their rope ladder apparently came apart.

Birmingham Area News

Start Open Occupancy Drive

The Birmingham—Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy last night launched its campaign for integrated housing in the area.

Its initial appeal for mobilization of sympathetic forces was made at an organizational meeting at the Birmingham Unitarian Church, attended by some 250 persons.

Organizers of the group indicated they were pleased at the turnout.

Their aim is twofold, they said: to form a committee which will meet with local realtors and to enlist persons who will "appeal to the conscience" of their neighbors.

Members reported there now are about 20 Negro families actively seeking homes in the Bloomfield Hills area, none having any luck.

RANGING RESULTS

They said that at least eight Negro families have moved into homes here, with results ranging from continual harassment to warm welcomes.

Mrs. Robert Grove, 1941 Beverly, Beverly Hills, is one of the committee members who have been working on the problem through the Birmingham-Bloomfield Human Relations Council.

"You hear talk of how realtors discriminate, but you don't really know until you've seen someone turned down in front of you," she said.

She listed several techniques used in the "ring-around-the-rosy game" between Negroes and real estate salesmen.

High Court Will Rule on Sheppard

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed today to review the 1954 conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath found guilty at a sensational trial of having bludgeoned his wife to death.

Federal District Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton ordered Sheppard's release from the Ohio Penitentiary on July 15, 1964. But the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati overruled Weinman on May 5, 1965, and ordered him back to jail.

Meantime the 41-year-old doctor has been free on bond. He lives in the Cleveland suburb of Rocky River with his second wife, the former Arizane Tebbenjohans, with whom he corresponded while in jail.

Numerous efforts to free Sheppard have been made since his sentence began. Today's appeal focused largely on coverage of the bizarre case by the news papers.

The doctor always has denied he committed the crime. He told police it was perpetrated by a "bushy-haired intruder," with whom he grappled in his home after he heard his wife cry out in the night.

A jury convicted Sheppard of second-degree murder. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

His petition to the Supreme Court said prejudice created by pretrial publicity was such that no fair and impartial jury could have been impaneled.

He also claimed that the trial judge failed to protect the jurors from outside influences during the nine-week trial and assigned nearly all the seats in the courtroom to newspaper reporters.

The American Civil Liberties Union urged the court to examine the case and "provide working solutions for some of the difficult news media problems of free press and fair trial which currently beset the administration of justice."

The sixth circuit went into this subject but found nothing in the publicity at the trial which have interfered with Sheppard's rights.

Pakistanis Report

Slaying Eight Indians

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Eight Indian soldiers were killed in new clashes along the cease-fire line, a Pakistani spokesman said today.

Heading the list is the sales person's telling the Negro that the price of the house is much higher than it really is, she said.

"One was told there were no more lots in the subdivision when there were," she related. Others have been told a house is temporarily off the market or that a home owner has decided not to sell.

"People have requested that their homes be sold on the open market and the realtors have flatly refused," Mrs. Grove said.

It was noted that the real estate firms do not want to be pioneers at the risk of losing their businesses.

ORGANIZERS

Committee members, therefore, said they would attempt to get the realtors to act in unison.

All of those who organized the group are residents of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Beverly Hills or Bloomfield Township.

"There are all sorts of rationalizations about why there really isn't a problem here," Stanley Ovshinsky, 2700 Squirrel, Bloomfield Township, said. "But the Negroes aren't going to move in here by themselves."

Ovshinsky referred to the "fear in this community."

"What we should be afraid of is becoming part of the apathetic throng," he said. "All of us have permitted ourselves to become party to immoral, unethical and illegal actions."

'NOT VERBIAGE'

Ovshinsky said the group should seek a "verifiable program of change and not verbiage."

"We should end up with a mobilizing process that won't stop," he said.

Birmingham City Commissioner Carl F. Ingraham said he saw nothing wrong with formation of a committee but that he felt a more effective way of handling the problem would be through specific cases taken to the State Civil Rights Commission.

Others urged the group to enlist the support of the "white power structure" before going to realtors.

One of the organizers commented that "a small and practical list of demands" would be prepared for the initial meeting with realtors.

'Increase J. S. Rights Agents'

Federal Unit Reports on Law in the South

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U. S. Civil Rights Commission wants President Johnson to assign more FBI agents and federal marshals to racially tense areas with power to make spot arrests in case of trouble.

The recommendation was one of three major proposals included in the commission's 118-page report to the President and Congress on the law enforcement in the South. The report was made public during the weekend.

It would involve a major change of policy on the part of the government. At present, federal officers are used to curb racial violence only in situations involving a federal court order.

In addition, the commission urged that federal courts in given power to take over in cases of racial violence where local prejudice makes a fair trial unlikely in state courts.

The commission also called for enactment of a broad new law, based on Congress' power to regulate interstate commerce, making it a federal crime to threaten, intimidate, or punish civil rights workers.

JURISDICTION

Under the proposed law, federal courts could assume jurisdiction in cases already tried or pending in state courts and incidents which have resulted in no state prosecution.

The commission suggested that a three-judge federal panel could determine which matters warrant federal prosecution.

Federal prosecution would be in order "where the failure of local officials to act, or the nature of their action constitute a denial of equal protection in the administration of justice or where it is determined that justice is administered in the courts in a manner so as to deny equal protection of the laws," the commission said.

William L. Taylor, director of the commission's staff, said such a law would permit federal prosecution of Thomas L. Coleman, who was acquitted at Hayneville, Ala., in the shotgun slaying of Jonathan Daniels, a Keene, N. H., civil rights worker.

The commission took issue with the Justice Department's "reluctance" to protect civil rights workers against violence. It disputed the department's view that increasing federal protection would raise serious constitutional questions.

Radio Figure Dead

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Gil Newsome, 46, nationally known radio announcer during the 1940s, died Saturday after a long illness. Newsome was announcer for the "Chesterfield Supper Club" show which featured the band of the late Glen Miller and the "Coca-Cola" Spotlight Bands' show.

Program Is Offered on Land-Use Laws

An all-day program featuring discussion on Michigan zoning and public control of land use is scheduled at 9 a. m. tomorrow at the Oakland County Courthouse Auditorium.

The program is sponsored by the Institute of Continuing Legal Education of the University of Michigan Law School, Wayne State University Law School and the State Bar of Michigan.

Two University of Michigan Law School professors and an Ann Arbor attorney will conduct the program.

Similar programs are scheduled in eight other state locations during Zoning Week in Michigan, Nov. 15-20.

Seismograph Records 'Fairly Strong' Quake

NEW YORK (AP) — A "fairly strong" earthquake 4,400 miles from here — probably in northern Chile — was recorded today on the Coccato-Spotlight Bands' show.

The Rev. Joseph Lynch, director of the university's seismic observatory, said the first shock was picked up at 6:29 a. m. EST, and the second at 6:38 a. m. EST. The distance was 4,400 miles from here, he reported.

$50,000 Fire Destroys Indian Lake Restaurant

DOWAGIAC (UPI) — Timberline Inn restaurant and lounge was destroyed by fire early today at Indian Lake, causing damage estimated at about $50,000.

Fire departments from Indian Lake and Sister Lakes battled the flames but were unable to prevent destruction of the building. The origin of the fire was not immediately determined.

Ex-Commander Dies

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Allan Philip Calvert, 64, a retired rear admiral, whose record during World War II won him distinction, died Saturday after a long illness. He was commander of the fleet of PT-boats in the Solomon Islands in which John F. Kennedy served as an officer. Calvert's work on the staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff during the battle for Guadalcanal won him the Distinguished Service Medal.

Voters Keep Government in Ryukyus

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Ryukyuan chief executive Sato Matsuoka's Democratic party today held its 32-man majority in the Ryukyuan Legislature by winning 19 seats in yesterday's election.

The election resulted in a 59-year-old Matsuoka would be reappointed high commissioner when his term expires this month.

Despite Sunday's day-long downpours, 84 per cent of the eligible voters turned out in 25 districts throughout the Ryukyus. Seven unopposed districts were awarded last week.

The Socialist Masses and Socialist party bloc maintained the major opposition status, claiming nine districts, with three independents, reflecting varying sympathies, taking three seats.

The Communist Okinawa Peoples party incumbent, Sanevoshi Frugen, was reelected to the party's single seat from Naha City district.

CANDIDATE BARRED

Two Communists, including party leader Makeloro Senaga, onetime impeached Naha mayor, were barred from candidacy by the government election committee minutes before the balloting started.

All barred were the Socialist Masses and Nationalist party candidates. All had previous felony convictions.

$5,000 Blaze Hits Home in Waterford

A fire at the home of Anthony Oliver, 3720 Chetland, Waterford Township, yesterday caused damages estimated at $5,000, according to Waterford Township firemen.

The blaze was caused by a lighted cigarette and started in a sofa in the living room of the one-story frame and brick dwelling, according to firemen.

No one was home at the time. Fire fighters listed damage at $3,000 to the building and $2,000 to the contents. They battled the fire — reported at 1:15 — for approximately 45 minutes.

Ikeya-Seki Comet Splits Into 2 Parts

TOKYO (AP) — The Ikeya-Seki comet has split into two parts, the Tokyo Astronomical Observatory reported today.

Apparently the comet split after its close approach to the sun recently, but the observatory did not say this.

A spokesman said the comet's path photographed Saturday at the Kodak Observatory station 30 miles north of Tokyo and the split was discovered. The comet, found by two Japanese amateur astronomers, is now some 70 million miles away from the sun the observatory added.

'Heredity Big Factor in Social Ills'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Nobel Prize-winning scientist said today he believes heredity rather than environment may be a major factor in such problems as crime, delinquency and public relief.

William Shockley of Stanford University, a co-winner of the Nobel Prize for physics in 1956, urged an immediate and thorough inquiry into the problem.

In a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report" magazine, Shockley said:

"My great worry is that, if adequate research along this line were carried out, we might find that there is a strong genetic factor at work, and that heredity very much limits the improvement we can expect in such cases

"We may find that a dismal possibility turns out to be a fact: Many of the large impoverished families with social problems simply have constitutional deficiencies in those parts of the brain which enable a person to plan and carry out plans. "And I also suggest that this characteristic, especially if found in both parents, can be passed from one generation to another."

Veep Too Fast With Answer?

Said Russia, China Traded Border Shots

CHICAGO (UPI) — Aides to Vice President Hubert Humphrey yesterday said Humphrey did not mean to imply in an interview that Soviets and Red Chinese had exchanged gunfire across their common boundary.

The controversy stemmed from an unfinished question and a quick answer.

Humphrey, who gave the answer, did not mean to make that implication, his aides said.

Television interviewer Irv Kupcinet, who didn't get to finish his question, said that's what he thought the vice president meant.

A tape of the show yesterday revealed this exchange:

"I don't think Americans know that China today, in preparing maps for its schoolchildren, claims an area in the Soviet Union that's half the size of the United States," Humphrey said.

Kupcinet asked: "And is it not true, although not published, that there's been some firing between the Red Chinese on the border"

Humphrey broke in with an answer before Kupcinet completed his question:

"Oh, yes, on the border, a fact which is quite common knowledge."

Humphrey's aides said the vice president meant to imply that the Soviets and Red Chinese are massing troops on the border in an area that has been claimed by both countries.

The aide was asked by United Press International if the Vice President then had no knowledge of any gunfire across the Sino-Soviet border.

"The vice president didn't comment on that," the aide said. "Such a question falls in areas which may or may not be for public consumption."

Kupcinet, a newspaper columnist and moderator of the television show which was taped Saturday for viewing yesterday, said yesterday he felt Humphrey understood the question.

He said he had not restated or rephrased the question because he felt Humphrey had replied to the question, which Kupcinet said was prompted by repeated rumors of trouble on the Sino-Soviet border.

End of Line for Sanford Brown

New Treasury Dept. Created

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney signaled the end of Sanford Brown's career as state treasurer today by signing the executive order creating the State Treasury Department.

It marked the beginning of a new career for Acting Auditor Brown, and former House Speaker Allison Green.

Romney announced several months ago Green would head the State Treasury Department. Brown, a Democrat, who has held the treasurer's post since 1954, has been mentioned as a possible director of the State Labor Department.

Romney said he had not talked to Brown. Asked whether he was considering Brown for another job, he said, "I haven't stopped considering the department will employ some 940 workers.

Brown had been on borrowed time since Jan. 1, when his statutory term as elected treasurer expired. But Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled he was entitled to continue on the job until the new department, with an appointed head, was established by the legislature.

DEFENSES VETO

In a news conference Romney defended Lt. Gov. William Milliken's vote of three money bills during Romney's trip to the Orient.

"This was sound action—particularly in light of the state's financial picture," he said.

The new department, Romney said, is essentially a combination of part of the Auditor General Department, the Treasury Department, the Department of Revenue, the Corporation Finance Fee Appeal Board, the Municipal Finance Commission and the State Board of Tax Appeals.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The Treasury Department, which becomes effective Nov. 28, is the 11th of the 19 established by the Executive Reorganization Act of 1965.

The new department, Romney said, is essentially a combination of part of the Auditor General Department, the Treasury Department, the Department of Revenue, the Corporation Finance Fee Appeal Board, the Municipal Finance Commission and the State Board of Tax Appeals.

Jailed in Threat

Not in Connection With Assault Cases

DETROIT (AP)—Wayne County sheriff's detectives said they would seek a warrant to have charged a youth with threatening a woman in a suburban Nankin Township parking lot.

The arrest was made Sunday, but detectives emphasized that the youth was not involved in a string of seven assaults on women which have left the community in panic for the past month.

"These kids have been making telephone calls, threatening women and laughing over the phone as a joke," exploded a detective. "It's hurting our investigation and causing great harm to women already in a state of fear."

"We finally caught one of them and we plan to make an example of him."

NAME NOT GIVEN

The detective declined to name the youth pending a conference with the Wayne County prosecutor's office today. They said he was arrested in a supermarket parking lot after he jokingly threatened a woman as a prank.

Meanwhile, detectives continued to check out more than 260 tips received since a series of nine attacks within two days last week. Officers said 150 persons have been checked but no arrests made.

The knife-wielding attacker, described as a giggling blond male in his late twenties, has not been in attack since last Thursday.

Davis said Romney was photographed in Viet Nam holding a Vietnamese child and that the association statement refers to this, saying, "We feel deeply that it is time to offer direct help not only to the children of Viet Nam but to the children of Michigan."

Davis said Romney and Dr. Kimmich are charged with failing to make good on promises to remodel the children's building at Northville and to secure appropriations for more personnel.

Dr. Kimmich said Romney and Kimmich had pledged an immediate solution to these and other problems.

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Protective tariff" beneficial to most Negro professionals and businessmen, and the process of desegregation is already affecting adversely some of the key segments of the Negro middle class."

This statement is surprising because it comes from Dr. Andrew F. Brimmer, a Negro and a prominent economist in the Commerce Department.

Dr. Brimmer, whose title is assistant secretary for economic affairs, offers statistics which indicate that Negro businessmen may have to work harder and compete for business from both the white and nonwhite communities in order to survive.

"Obviously, I am by no means suggesting that the process of desegregation should be slowed down in order to lessen the effects, on the Negro middle class," Brimmer said in a recent speech.

FARED BETTER

The statistics showed that Negroes fared far better in the professions serving only the Negro community — teachers, ministers, etc.

A concrete example of the effect of desegregation on Negro professionals is the dismissal of some Negro teachers after a community's schools have been integrated. Brimmer said there has been reported in Texas, North Carolina, Georgia, and Florida, and Oklahoma.

For the Negro businessman, Brimmer recommends joint ventures with white-dominated corporations. The Commerce Department has developed a sizable list of companies which are willing to grant franchises for sale of their products without regard to race.

The Small Business Administration has made numerous loans to Negroes under a new program especially designed for businessmen with very limited capital.

Northwestern Rips Michigan Defense

Cats Hand Wolverines 34-22 Loss

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Northwestern showed Michigan Saturday what a lot of determination — and taking advantage of the elements — can do for a football team.

The Wildcats, one of three other teams tied for fifth place in the Big Ten with the Wolverines entering the game, played havoc with the Michigan defense and romped to a 34-22 victory.

Northwestern scored a 53-24 victory the last time Michigan visited Dwyer Stadium, so Wolverine officials must be just as happy not to have to send their gridgers back for another three years.

"We were just out-hit," Michigan coach Elliott said. "They didn't do anything we didn't expect. They just did it better."

UNPREPARED

Wolverine defenders, who turned in a fine job in containing Illinois' Jim Grabowski two weeks ago, appeared unprepared for the running of Wildcat fullback Bob McKeelvey.

Michigan, which held eight previous opponents to an average of 136 yards gained on the ground, surrendered 244 to Northwestern. McKeelvey picked up 136 yards of it in a school record-setting 55 rushes.

He also scored twice on two-point plays as the Wildcats completely dominated play after spotting Michigan 7-0 and 10-7 leads.

"We felt we had to make Michigan bend in the middle if we were to win," Northwestern coach Alex Agase said.

Michigan marched 88 yards the first time it had the ball—following a fumble recovery by Rocky Rosema — with Wally Gable going in for the touchdown from three yards out.

Rick Sygar's 21-yard field goal was the only other scoring by Michigan in the first half.

Elliott said he expected no trouble in getting the Wolverines ready for their season-ending encounter with Ohio State Saturday.

The Wolverines must win that one to finish at 5-5 for the season.

Australian Golfer Wins in Melbourne

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Australian Bruce Devlin birdied three of the last four holes and won the Dunlop International Golf Tournament Sunday after American Doug Sander blew a lead in the final round.

Devlin, a regular on the U. S. pro tour, played the 6,547-yard, par 73 Yarra Yarra course in 71 and 70 for the final two rounds and an aggregate score of 285. British Open champion Peter Thomson of Australia finished one stroke behind with 71-74-71-70-286.

Devlin collected $2,240. Thomson $1,120.

Bowling Kings Survive Foes' Strong Finishes

Ann Setlock of Detroit and into the top five by beating Bob Gordy Slaughter of Grand Rapids in his final match, 225 each weathered trouble in the 17th. Other Pontiac bowlers in late going Sunday to win the top 10 were Joe Foster, prizes in the first State Invitational (eighth) and Dwight Pugh, National Singles championships at (tenth).

George Howard, Detroit, made a late rush at Slaughter that left just one mark shy in their final head-to-head match for the men's title. Slaughter won, 396-398.

Howard needed a strike in the 10th frame but his solid hit left the 10-pin standing. Slaughter had 11 victories in the two-day, 16 head-to-head matches among the male qualifiers.

Howard, whose 348 pinfall actually was the weekend's best, won one less game and thus had 50 fewer bonus pins.

Attack Fells Rickey; in Critical Condition

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Branch Rickey, a monumental figure in baseball, remained unconscious and in critical condition today following a heart attack.

The 84-year-old Rickey collapsed Saturday night while making a speech during his induction into the Missouri sports hall of fame.

He has received oxygen continuously since he was brought to Boone County Hospital. Rickey had been hospitalized in St. Louis for weeks because of temperatures as high as 105 degrees.

He was released Saturday morning so he could make the acceptance speech. After the ceremonies he was to have returned to the hospital.

Rickey's greatest contribution to baseball was the development of the farm system and breaking the unwritten color barrier in Major League baseball by bringing Jackie Robinson up to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

As a catcher, Rickey broke into the major leagues with the old St. Louis Browns in 1905 and finished his playing career with the New York Yankees in 1907.

He earned a law degree at Michigan and returned to baseball as manager of the Browns in 1913. He held the job for two years.

CARDS MANAGER

From 1915-1925 he managed the St. Louis Cardinals. During that time he introduced the farm system which enabled the Cardinals to become a National League power.

The farm system allowed Rickey to become a "star trader," swapping name stars and bringing up promising youngsters from the minor leagues.

Rickey became general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1942 and quickly pumped life into the team. He put Robinson in a Dodger uniform in 1947 and made him the first Negro to play in the big leagues.

Rickey left Brooklyn in 1950 and became general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Ten years later the Pirates won their first pennant in 33 years with two contracts — one with the Detroit Lions of the National League. He eventually was awarded to the AFL but found his path to a first-string job blocked by Abner Haynes and Jack Spikes.

Facing that situation, Robinson was made into a defensive corner back, Robinson wasted no time Sunday by intercepting two passes in crucial first-half situations as the defense-minded Chiefs rolled to a 31-7 American Football League victory over Western Division leading San Diego.

It was another typical performance for the 26-year-old former Louisiana State star who started his career on the wrong foot and then had to learn how to run backward instead of forward.

Big-10 Chief Cracks Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed has ordered member schools not to cooperate with the American Football League's plan for an early draft of college players.

Reed said Friday the AFL was violating an earlier agreement when it announced last week it would draft players Nov. 20 before the last major Saturday of the college season.

He said he doubted the league would hold to the date in face of Big Ten members' pressure.

The Big Ten has no power to prevent the AFL or its representatives from contacting players, he said, but by refusing to cooperate the AFL would be denied any opinions from coaches or coaching staffs.

Baltimore had come to Los Angeles straight from a 135-132 loss to the Royals in Cincinnati Saturday.

In other NBA action Saturday, the Celtics downed the Detroit Pistons in Boston, 122-89, the Hawks outscored the San Francisco Warriors 138-113 in St. Louis, and in New York the Knicks and the New York Nets bowled to the Philadelphia 76ers, 127-119.

KC Defender Stars as Chiefs Roll, 31-7

Kansas City's Johnny Robinson, who started his pro football career by signing with two teams, has developed one theory that would shock most players.

Robinson thinks playing offense is a waste of time.

An offensive player turned corner back, Robinson wasted no time Sunday by intercepting two passes in crucial first-half situations as the defense-minded Chiefs rolled to a 31-7 American Football League victory over Western Division leading San Diego.

les — an unusually high number for a defensive back — and blocked one pass as the Chiefs moved into a tie for second place in the West with a 5-4-1 record to San Diego's 6-2-2.

Buffalo, meanwhile, moved to within one victory of clinching the Eastern Division title by edging Oakland 17-14 on Billy Joe's one-yard smash with seven seconds to go, Denver whipped Houston 31-21 and New York defeated Boston 30-20.

The Chiefs completely missed Hadl, stealing four passes from the league's No. 1 passer, Fred Williamson also intercepted two passes for Kansas City while linebacker Bobby Bell and tackle Buck Buchanan each made 10 tackles.

Len Dawson was the key to the offense, hitting for three touchdowns passes — 20 yards to Chris Burford, seven to Curt McClintock and eight to Mack Hill.

Clem Daniels scored on a 41-yard run and a 25-yard pass from Dick Wood as the Raiders, tied with Kansas City, built a 14-7 lead in the fourth quarter.

But Pete Cogoli's 38-yard field goal and a 62-yard kicking drive engineered by Jack Kemp and climaxed by Joe pulled it out for the Bills, now 8-2.

Abner Haynes pulled Denver into a 14-14 tie with Houston in the third period by racing three yards for a touchdown, then the Broncos ahead to stay in the fourth quarter by returning a punt 57 yards for another touchdown.

Pontiac Team Ends Season

Sweeten's Conversion Margin of Victory

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The initial season for Pontiac's entry in the Midwest Football League ended on a successful but blizzardy note Saturday night when the MFL champion Arrows edged the 7-6 win over the beefy MFL All-Stars.

A frozen crowd of 1,200 sat in strong winds and snow at Winner Stadium to watch the Arrows score early in the second quarter and then stave off the All-Stars until the opening minute of the 4th quarter.

The missed placement by Glen Hobbs, Dayton kicker who had missed only two placements all season, was the margin of victory.

The All-Stars scored on a break. In the final seconds of the third quarter Ron Ellison of Lansing pulled on his own 49. The ball bounced on 10 then hit a Pontiac player in the back of the foot and the Stars recovered on the 12.

Two plays later starting the 4th quarter, Jim Overman, Dayton fullback, went four yards for a touchdown.

START MARCH The Arrows started to march from their own 39 in the first quarter and after three plays of the second period, quarterback Karl Sweeten went to his right on a bootleg play and eluded tacklers along the way as he scampered to the one yard line.

From there, former Hillsdale fullback Willie Jones went over and Sweeten added the important point.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Pete Mikolajewski's pass was intercepted by Irv Radvitz of the Pontiac 34.

Sweeten hit big end Frank Goldberg with a 37 yard aerial to the Stars' 24, but when three plays failed, Sweeten's try for a 38 yard field goal fell short.

Another All-Star drive was stopped when Gene Lupino intercepted a pass and the Arrows took over at midfield. Sweeten passed 24 yards to Bill Leonard, and after another pass was dropped in the end zone, the MFL Stars took over on the 27.

A play later, Flint's Jim Long playing for the All-Stars was hit hard by corner linebacker Walt Kowalczyk and when he fumbled Steve Szabo recovered and the Arrows again had another chance on the Stars' 28.
