

Russian Threat 'Honeymoon' Appears Ended

Will Ignore Red Attempts to Limit Congo Authority

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Soviet attempts to limit U.N. authority in the Congo made it appear today that the Kremlin's "honeymoon" with acting Secretary General Thant is over.

Thant made it clear, however, that despite Soviet wrong on specific powers for the United Nations he plans to take whatever action is necessary to maintain order in the strife-torn jungle nation.

Thant's statement climaxed a two-week dispute in the security council over a U.S. proposal that the United Nations be empowered to deal with the whole problem of disunity in the Congo.

U.N. Is Warned About Katanga

Tshombe Tells Congo World Body He'll Meet Force With Force

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI)—President Moise Tshombe of Katanga today warned the United Nations of the Congo's position, claiming that he would "meet force with force."

This was Tshombe's reply to the U.N. Security Council resolution adopted Friday saying that Katanga secession must be ended "by force if necessary."

The president called a special news conference and said: "We are prepared for any negotiation and solution of the problem by peaceful means. However, if we are attacked we will reply with force."

"Even if the whole Katanga population—black and white—has to die and our economy has to be destroyed we will resist."

"If the United Nations forces repeat the events of Sept. 15, if they come to Katanga, I, Tshombe, will bear more responsibility for what happens than did the late Mr. (Dag) Hammarskjöld."

Court Exam Set; Accused of Attack in Man's Home

A man accused of attacking a Waterford Township father in his home Nov. 19 is to appear Wednesday for examination before Justice Patrick Daly.

Chris B. Hicks, 25, of 2838 Swain St., Waterford Township, stood mute Nov. 19 on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Ralph Savage, of 1297 Tull Road, Waterford Township, said he awoke the night of Nov. 19 to find an intruder in his bedroom.

Savage said the man said, "I must have the wrong house."

Savage replied, "Yes, I guess you have."

"The man then hit him over the head with something," Savage said. Three young boys of Savage and his wife, aroused by the father's cries, came to his aid, and Savage and his wife chased the intruder out of the house.

Police later that night arrested Hicks near 7100 Pontiac Lake Road Township, of trying to strangle her after an argument.

Stands Mute on Charge of Attempted Murder

A Pontiac man stood mute yesterday in Waterford Township Justice Court on a charge of attempted murder of a Waterford woman.

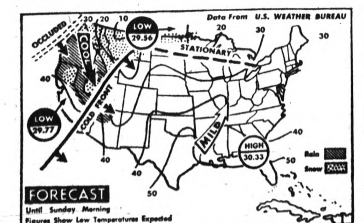

Bound over to Circuit Court by Justice Patrick Daly was Neil L. Gotting, 25, of 906 Boston St., Gotting waived examination, and is said to have been held under $100,000 bond.

He was accused by Gloria Lane of 2804 Croshawen, Waterford Township, of trying to strangle her after an argument.

Reds Hit U.S. Try Meat Bill Asked by State Solon

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists charged today that the United States illegally attempted to bring a refugee out of East Germany on a westbound military train through the West Berlin "Hohenzollern" route.

The official party newspaper "Soviet Deutschland" said the United States interfered in East Germany's internal affairs and tried to undermine its legal system.

The newspaper expressed "indignation" at such conduct on the part of a nation that is "allowed to travel through our territory."

But it made no threats against such traffic which the United States has pledged to keep going.

Proud Pop Gets First Pictures of Viscount

LONDON (AP)—Guess who got the first exclusive picture of Princess Margaret's baby?

Right—his proud papa, former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones, now Lord Snowdon.

The pictures, taken early this week as he was preparing for world distribution next Wednesday, they are of the baby and the princess.

Color pictures of the princess and her 3-week-old son, Viscount Linley, will be issued in the near future.

Tony took them too.

Mac, De Gaulle Talk 'Friendly'

Things Appear Going Well as Two Discuss Berlin, Common Mart

LONDON (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have every indication today that their talks on Berlin and the Common Market are proceeding in a warm and friendly atmosphere.

The French and British leaders posed for photographers at Birch Grove, Macmillan's Georgian style country residence 40 miles from London.

De Gaulle arrived Friday for a weekend of talks with Macmillan, particularly on what sort of approach the West should make to the Soviet Union over Berlin.

Macmillan hopes to convince De Gaulle that the time is ripe now for the Western powers to open negotiations with the Soviet Union on Berlin.

In the British and American view, Soviet Premier Khrushchev may complicate the Berlin problem and make it more difficult to solve if there is no clear prospect of getting East-West negotiations under way.

State School Accident Killed Youth

LANSING (AP)—Both the architect and the building contractors were to blame for the collapse of a section of Douglas MacArthur High School in Saginaw Township July 10, says a blue-ribbon committee of engineers.

The tragedy, which killed an 18-year-old youth and injured several other workers, was inevitable, the committee said in a report to Gov. Swanson Friday.

The committee, appointed by the governor after the accident in Saginaw Township July 10, urged amendment of workmen's compensation insurance laws to require approval of plans for all public buildings by registered professional engineers. Engineers should inspect such buildings throughout construction, they said.

Swanson endorsed the recommendations for the most part and the building contractors were to blame for the collapse of a section of Douglas MacArthur High School in Saginaw Township July 10, says a blue-ribbon committee of engineers.

'Relay' Fails to Save Boy 15

State Police Cars Race Blood Supply to Youth Shot by Accident

A relay system of State Police cars from Detroit to Romeo to Sandusky posts raced twice last night to bring blood to a 15-year-old Sandusky County boy accidentally shot by his older brother.

The boy died despite several transfusions in Mariette Hospital.

He was Douglas P. Bell of 133 High St., Williamston, who was on a Thanksgiving weekend visit to the home of his grandfather, Robert D. Bell, four miles southwest of Kingston.

The boy's mother, Ellen, said Douglas and his brother Robert, 17, went into a cornfield near dusk yesterday to hunt a deer reported there.

Robert, his mother said, thought he saw a deer, fired his 12-gauge shotgun, ran to the spot and found his brother shot through the chest. Robert ran to call an ambulance to take his brother to Mariette Hospital.

State police were unable to question Robert, who was put under sedation.

State Police from Sandusky, Romeo and Detroit participated in the blood delivery relay from Detroit to Mariette on the slight chance that many transfusions might save Douglas.

The first relay delivered blood at 8:40 p.m. A car from the second relay arrived at the hospital at 11 p.m. Douglas was dead.

Billion-Dollar Hike in Budget Urged for Army

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Wash., called for a billion-dollar increase in the Army's budget for supplies and equipment to meet standards he says are needed for units recently called for active duty.

He withdrew his demand for a congressional investigation of what he said were shortages and mismanagement at Ft. Lewis, Wash., where his state's 32nd Division is stationed. He said new troops at a $25 billion expenditure was needed for that division alone.

Arriving here late Friday, O'Konski put on an Army field uniform for a brief inspection before departing.

Later he said he found men lacking up-to-date weapons and equipment.

"There should be no call-up unless the Army is ready for the additional personnel," he insisted.

Adlai, Frondizi to Talk

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—The White House announced today that Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, would fly to Trinidad Sunday for a conference with President Arturo Frondizi of Argentina.

Say Exiled Trujillos Fled With Millions

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Reports of multi-million-dollar bank withdrawals by exiled Trujillos stirred up much controversy today.

The anti-Trujillo radio station Voz del Tropico charged that Gen. Jose Arizmede Trujillo, a brother of the late dictator, had drawn $2 million from the state-owned Bank of Reserves before fleeing to the United States Monday.

Other sources claimed he took $7 million.

The station urged that the government of President Joaquin Balaguer freeze all bank accounts of the Trujillo family members who were ordered expelled by Balaguer last Sunday.

Voz del Tropico contended that the Dominican peso—officially valued at $1—had slipped to a rate of three cents to the peso on the international market because of low foreign exchange holdings.

Jose Arizmede Trujillo and his brother Hector checked into luxury hotels at Miami Beach after their arrival Monday aboard a chartered plane. A string of other family members and servants accompanied them.

The slain dictator's son, Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr., sailed into exile aboard his luxury yacht. He is now in Paris. Rafael Jr. resigned as chief of the armed forces when the Dominican political crisis hit a new high 10 days ago.

The concert also will feature traditional and familiar carols for the choir and solo carols by Miss McKaig.

Sentence Area Man in Abduction Case

A Ferndale man was sentenced to two years in the Virginia State Penitentiary yesterday for his part in an unusual abduction case.

Eugene E. Ayotte, 34, 74 W. Maxwell St., was sentenced in Arlington, Va., Charles J. Morgan, 51, 1321 Maureen St., Madison Heights, and John P. Vais, 41, Ferndale, to be sentenced next week in the case.

The three were arrested after Arlington police said they forced Eugene E. Ayotte, 34, Toledo, O., into a car at gunpoint June 2. Worden later told the judge he was not abducted. However, a cab driver's testimony led to the conviction of the Michigan men.

Kennedy Baby, Family Apart for 1st Birthday

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr. is one year old today.

He is spending the day in the White House in Washington with his nurse, Maud Shaw, rather than with his parents and sister Caroline, who will be four on Monday.

Salinger said John Jr.'s "slight cold persists."

There will be a party for Caroline before the Kennedys return to Washington Sunday or Monday morning, but Salinger said the report on the nature of his visit time and details are indefinite.

Plans had been abandoned to bring John Jr. to Hyannis Port for a joint birthday party with Caroline, who will be four on Monday.

SEE GIFTS AT WORK — Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Simon of 111 Oneida Drive watch this $1,200 Isolette give "new life" to an infant at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. Looking on is Sister Mary Niceta, supervisor of the maternity department. It is the third Isolette, a specialized incubator for premature babies, that the Simons have donated to the hospital.

Simons Give 3rd Isolette to St. Joseph Hospital

The gift of life comes only from God, but Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Simon of 111 Oneida Drive are giving Him a helping hand.

Recently the couple donated their third Isolette to the maternity department at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

An Isolette is what you might call the Cadillac of the incubator industry. Retailing at about $1,200, it is an incubator with all the extras.

One of the biggest extras is that the baby never has to be removed from it. Special openings on the sides permit nurses to change and feed the infants while they remain in the unit.

SAVES LIVES
The Simons began giving the hospital Isolettes about three years ago. Supplying oxygen and heat, the completely closed units have saved the lives of several babies.

Five Asian Girls Set New Record for Global Trip

TOKYO (AP)—Five Asian girls today claimed a record for a round-the-world dash in commercial planes.

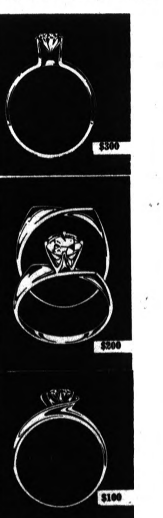

They made a global trip of 50 hours and 15 minutes actual flying time. The previous record was claimed in 1960 by Milton Reynolds with a flight totaling 51 hours, 45 minutes and 22 seconds.

The girls, including Japanese movie actress Ruriko Asakura and Cynthia Ugale, Philippine Miss Press Photography of 1961, left Tokyo Wednesday night aboard a Scandinavian jetliner via the polar route. They returned by the Southern Route.

It Seems to Me
United Nations Main Objective Is Well-Being of All Mankind

A personal visit to the United Nations throws a new light on unanswered questions. Along with half-a-hundred citizens from coast to coast, I had a look-see under the guidance of the Foreign Policy Association. The program included informal talks by several U.S. staff officers. Here are some disassociated facts gleaned from the six hour session:

Ambassador Philip Klutznick asserted that 40-45 per cent of the gross world production comes from nations with no free enterprise system. This shows graphically which plan works the best. He made the startling assertion that a collapse of the U.N. would automatically bring us to the beginning of World War III and there could be no U.N. without U.S. I challenge both statements but it's a case of the rank amateur jousting with an old pro.

Many think we pay the bulk of U.N. costs, but regular dues are met promptly. It's in the extracurricular activities that we're balked. To date we've been Santa Claus in Africa but it was a question of facing it ourselves—or having the thing blow up. That left just one answer: pay.

Red China is in serious financial trouble, compounded by a famine which emphasizes the fact we're the only country with a really big food surplus.

Klutznick described Khrushchev's amazement when the Mayor of Los Angeles became positively truculent in defying a government suggestion. "That could never happen in Russia," said he. "When I make up my mind — that's it."

The large number of new, small countries contribute to confusion and delay for they have a right to be heard. In the long run, this strengthens the U.N. but the educational process throws a series of exasperating road blocks.

For your solace and comfort, I report a 50-megaton bomb isn't 10 times as powerful as a 5-megaton bomb. It's only 2.8 as devastating for the destruction doesn't move up arithmetically. However, some scientists say a 50-megaton deal could send 125 foot waves inundating New York City and if you survived drowning, you might suffocate through a lack of oxygen or become a victim of all consuming fires. What was it Sherman said?

Russia's speeches indicate the world is split into two parts: U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. Either she lacks a perspective or she prefers to aim her withering fire at us. In playing the continuous role of an unmitigated stinker, Russia always excels. Currently she opposed certain U.N. employees from the smaller nations until she discovered certain defeat was ahead so she magnanimously switched and tried to take a few bows for "saving the day." Russia admits she's in bad shape financially and would love to get her bloody hands on the staples and commodities at Fort Knox.

A day there leaves you with a greater sense of global needs and the vexatious handicaps. There are many dedicated Americans who give themselves without reservation. One lecturer asserted that during the formative years of his children's lives, he caught the 8:53 train home daily from his U.N. assignments.

Most of us could profit through a greater indoctrination. Here is a struggling giant, shackled by the divergent views of 104 nations, each with special desires. The situation requires sympathetic understanding and some old-fashioned faith. The U.N. doesn't know its own strength — or weakness — and can't utilize its potentialities when it does. Petty jealousies are inescapable. This cumbersome titan of a hundred masters often gropes in a Stygian darkness — sometimes blindly — sometimes ineffectually — often brilliantly — but always inspired by lofty motivations.

Perhaps the United Nations is the personification of free speech or "the right to know" in an international sense. Here's a tribunal that listens to 100 tongues and attempts to adjudicate impartially, beholden to no autocratic master. There's just one ultimate objective: the well-being of all mankind.

Today I am heartened and go forward "with faith and thanksgiving."

Automobiles Safer . . .

"The Road Is Yours," says: "Even at its dangerous worst, the automobile, proportionately never was as great a killer as the horse. In 1959, 3,850 persons lost their lives in accidents involving horses and horse-drawn vehicles. The horse was not driven more than five hundred miles a year. On a mileage basis, the horse was twice as deadly as the automobile."

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter: EDWARD WEEKS, Editor of The Atlantic Monthly, says a third of our brightest high school grads can't afford college. And he quotes JFK as asserting, "We have 90,000 teachers who aren't qualified." Our MSUO is a 100% answer to both charges.

Castro's in constant terror of assassination TV's top draws at the moment stand in this order: "Wagon Train," "Perry Mason," "Bonanza," "Dr. Kildare" and "Red Skelton." The Marines are distraught. The Kennedys overlooked their famous band at a White House function in contravention of a time honored tradition. This is their worst body blow since HARRY TRUMAN called them, "the Navy's police force."

I can't prove it, but I'll bet a sugar cookie Syracuse's halfback, Davis, will be the first college draft by the professionals

Considering the state of the world, whatever the meek done to deserve to be saddled with "inheriting the earth?" An eastern lush has all "fives" in his wrist watch. He never takes a drink until — you know when Durward Kirby's going to court over the Bullwinkle show's use of "the Kildare Derby." Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young lady in our area: Janet Swenson.

Uncle MAr says an opera's the place where, when you get stabbed,

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

The short painful life of Robert Louis Stevenson is a testimony to the love of life. "For 14 years I have not had a day's real health," wrote the beloved author of Treasure Island. "I have written in bed . . . out of it, written in hemorrhages . . . torn by life . . . I bear a banner in the strife."

He manifested his faith in prayer: "We thank Thee . . . for the hope with which we expect the morrow; for the health, the food, and the bright skies . . . our friends in all parts of the earth . . . give us the strength to encounter that which is to come, that we be brave in peril . . . temperate in wrath . . . and down to the gates of death, loyal and loving one to another."

Days of All Faiths:

This Sunday Heralds Yule Season

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER
"Stir up, we beseech thee, O Lord, the wills of thy faithful people," says the English translation of the ancient prayer for this Sunday before the beginning of the Advent Season. So, naturally, in English-speaking countries this Sunday soon got to be "stir up Sunday."

The Latin word was "excelsa," which is much more vivid than "stir up." Too bad we don't speak Latin—perhaps this would be called "Excitement Sunday."

The "excitement" is, of course, about the season that is about to begin—the Advent Season, which prepares us all for Christmas and has always been observed by the Roman, the Eastern Orthodox, the Lutheran and the Anglican Churches. Increasingly nowadays it is observed by other churches.

Advent means the same in English as it does in Latin—simply "coming." Used as the name of a Christian Season, the word means a time of getting ready for the "coming" of the Lord at Christmas.

People used to be much more serious and severe in their preparation for great festivals. When Advent began, back around the end of the fourth century, it was a time much like Lent, with strict rules of fasting and somber behavior. In duration, it was exactly like Lent — 40 days long. In the year 380 a church council set up a regulation that everybody had to go to church every day from December 17 to January 6, which is the end of the Christmas Season. About all that is left of such austerity now is the general feeling that no marriages should be scheduled for Advent, but that is frequently broken through.

The last war, with its unpredictable leaves and furloughs, influenced the clergy to be lenient about Advent weddings. The merchants, with their pre-Christmas sales hoop-la, have done away with the solemnity that would normally accompany something as enormous as getting ready for God's appearance in human form. "Excelsa" is still the right word for it, but for one reason and another we have lost the real cause of the excitement.

YEARS BEGINNING
Advent is now also the beginning of the Christian year. Before the sixth century Christians began their year at Easter, but the Jewish year begins at approximately the same time (Passover) and in those days there was such intense anti-Semitism that a man on Christmas Eve would be put to death. The last year began at approximately the same time (Passover) and in those days there was such intense anti-Semitism that a man on Christmas Eve would be put to death. The last year began at approximately the same time (Passover) and in those days there was such intense anti-Semitism that a man on Christmas Eve would be put to death.

Readers Come to Defense of Books on Reading List

"The Scarlet Letter" was in the school library when I attended a one room country school. I read it several times before entering high school, where it was on a recommended reading list. No one ever mentioned that it was unfit.

Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," obscene and pornographic? She wrote realistically of a way of life in a country where such conditions existed for centuries, yes, come, before the 20th century. They still existed when she lived there and she described in beautiful, simple words, the life of the people and a country she deeply loved.

She wrote with understanding, love, and compassion of a country in which she had spent a good part of her life so that we in this land could know and understand it. . . . All the books reveal this. The voices of ignorance are roaring in this citadel of factory dust culture. What a blessing it is that the Rev. Roberts Eyes AMC Head for President in '64

Likes Romney-Griffin Ticket for '62

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.
At least one Michigan Republican has his state and national party tickets dotted out for next year and 1964.

Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, said he's in favor of running American Motors Corp. President George W. Romney for governor in 1962 and U.S. Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Traverse City, as his running mate for lieutenant governor.

Two years later Roberts would put Romney up for the presidential nomination and Griffin could move up a notch and try for governor.

"Or," Roberts quickly added, "there's always a chance Romney could run for re-election for governor in 1964 as run against Hart (Sen. Phil A. Hart, D-Mich.) that year."

The first-term senator from West Bloomfield Township said he wasn't leading any Romney-Griffin draft movement, but was putting out "feelers" in the party ranks.

Roberts, a member of a new conservative element of young senators which doesn't have the wholehearted support of the GOP, hopes to fend off a primary fight between Romney and Griffin.

"We don't want to lose Griffin," Roberts said, Griffin would lose to Romney in a primary battle, the senator predicted.

Although he was rather quiet on his ambitions during an appearance in Waterford Township recently, Griffin seemed to be "giving serious consideration" to running.

Romney's political future has everybody guessing — including Romney. He insists his only concentration today is turning in a good performance as constitutional convention delegate from Oakland County.

What sort of constitution is hammered out, what put Romney plays in it, and whether the people approve the new document, is considered to have a big bearing in shaping Romney's future.

This, Roberts believes, explains Romney's quietness.

"Romney has to know whether it is a constitution he can back as governor," Roberts said.

Republicans, who think they should put the Romney ticket in the political winds as soon as possible, see a handicap in Romney's position.

His work in Lansing probably has been a success, but he's about as the two roommates at the Jack Tar Hotel in Lansing.

PRAISE

Sincere praise is leaving in the lives of mankind.

Praise, at the right time, was the factor that pushed men to leadership. School teachers discovered that praise is far more effective than humiliation. Books, movies, TV programs, we like, are the end result of our praise. One element in the lives of happily married people is mutual praise. A child helping mother wash dishes will do a better job with a little praise.

Banking is the hard core of reality, no contests, sales or gimmicks; why do some banks grow much more rapidly than others? Most often it is a warm feeling of friendship mixed with a little praise.

At home, in the office, as a customer, on the highway, reap the present occasions when sincere praise is appreciated. You'll be surprised at the smiles you can generate with a few words of praise.

Democrats Against the Republicans

Reapportionment Job Looms Bigger and Bigger

By A. D. UNDERWOOD

LANSING (UPI) — There are about eight million people in Michigan, about 2.6 million of whom live in Wayne County.

In the 1960 election slightly more than 3.3 million votes were cast for president in Michigan, about 1.3 million of these in Wayne County.

This is what the delegates to the state's constitutional convention are faced with when talk of reapportionment starts.

Convention President Stephen S. Nisbet has made it clear that he wants the convention committee considering this key issue to have the matter out of committee by mid-January.

A number of committee hearings on the matter have already been held. More than a dozen plans are in front of the group headed by John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University.

The importance of the issue and the heat it generates are evident in the committee discussions over public hearings on the question. Democrats on the committee want hearings in Detroit. Republicans have opposed this.

HEARING IN LANSING

Last week, with several of the Democrats missing from the committee session, the group decided to hold a public hearing in Lansing next Tuesday, and that is all.

Hannah said the response to the Nov. 28 hearing would "help the committee determine how extensively future hearings will be held."

The Democrats returned to the committee room in midweek to find their case closed.

Democrats plead that many people in Wayne County and the surrounding area want to be heard on the question of representation. Republicans counter by saying that the committee is always available to hear anyone, in Lansing.

Democratic delegates Lee Walker, of Madison Heights, William Ford of Taylor, and others believe they have an answer. General Democrats are talking about "unofficial" hearings, not only in Wayne County but in Southwestern Michigan and possibly in Flint and Northwestern Michigan.

Tied closely to reapportionment is the matter of the two-house legislature.

A general compromise on apportionment seems to be in the wind among moderates of both parties which would see the house divided on population lines, the Senate on some other basis, probably geographical by county.

Some Democrats, notably Melvin Nord of Detroit and Harold Norris, Detroit, are seeking a one-house legislature.

Last week Norris was asked by a Republican member of the committee if he wasn't afraid that such a legislature would be dominated by Republicans.

Norris indicated that wasn't the issue as far as he was concerned, he was just seeking fair apportionment.

Democrat John F. Kennedy received 1,687,269 votes to Republican Richard M. Nixon's 1,630,428 in the 1960 presidential election.

If the Democrats got their one-house legislature, based on population, there is a chance that they would find themselves in the strange position of being the majority.

Their chances of success are self-admittedly slim.

London's 1962 smog was blamed for 4,000 deaths.

BIBLES FOR PATIENTS — Asking for a Bible to read is a patient at Pontiac State Hospital. Mrs. Russell V. Winger of 170 Exmoore St. who is collecting Bibles for the hospital hands him one. Area churches are assisting Mrs. Winger in the project.

State Hospital Receives Bibles

"Today we realize that real health and happiness are qualities which are physical, psychological, moral and spiritual in character. The minister is an important member of today's mental health team," said Ted A. Panaretos, director of the community relations department at Pontiac State Hospital.

In keeping with this new thinking, Pontiac State Hospital provides religious services for all patients who are interested and are able to participate.

Protestant services are held each Sunday afternoon. Roman Catholic Mass is offered each Sunday morning, and confessions are heard each Saturday.

Christian Science services are scheduled for each Wednesday afternoon, and Jewish services are conducted monthly. There also are monthly services for the deaf mute patients in the hospital.

Dr. Archibald J. Carey, former alternate delegate to the United Nations, will speak at the Freedom Dinner scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at Devon Gables.

The dinner program is under the auspices of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

A graduate of Northwestern University and Chicago-Kent College of Law, Dr. Carey received honorary degrees from Wilberforce University and John Marshall Law School.

He was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of Illinois in 1936; United States District Court of Northern Illinois in 1942 and Supreme Court of United States in 1956.

Currently Dr. Carey is the minister at Quinn Chapel in Chicago and attorney at law in Chicago since 1956.

Appointed by former President Eisenhower in 1957, he serves on the committee on government policy, the first Negro to head a White House committee.

In 1924 Dr. Carey won a $1,000 first prize in an oratorical contest sponsored by the Chicago Daily News. He was speaker in 1961 at the Youth World Methodist Conference in Oslo, Norway.

Becomes Bride of Ronald Covault

Elinor Petroff Wed at St. Benedict

Orchard Lake Country Club was the setting for a breakfast-reception following the vows of Elinor Jane Petroff to Ronald E. Covault at noon today in St. Benedict Church. Rev. John J. Hoar of St. William Church, Walled Lake, officered the nuptial Mass.

Daughter of Mrs. George N. Petroff of Cherokee Road and the late Dr. Petroff, the bride chose floor-length white Rochelle lace over tulle.

The fitted bodice featured a bateau neckline and long tapered sleeves. Silk illusion veiling fitted to a lace crown and a prayer book topped with white roses and carnations completed her ensemble.

Carol Ann Petroff, her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaid Barbara Morris of Dearborn, wearing green green pea de sole, carried rust chrysanthemums.

BROTHER IS BEST MAN

Ned Covault stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of the certain Covaults of James K. Boulevard. Donald Piche of Detroit seated the guests.

The new Mrs. Covault is a senior at University of Michigan, affiliated with Sigma Kappa Sorority.

MRS. RONALD E. COVAULT

Her husband, an alumnus of Michigan State University and University of Detroit Law School, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity. The couple will live in Dearborn.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Petroff chose coral lace and carried white shattered carnations. The mother of the bridegroom, in powder blue jersey, held pink shattered carnations.

Women's Club to Be Hosted

Mrs. Kenneth Costley will be hostess at her Grosjean Pointe home for the Dec. 1 meeting of the University of Minnesota Women's Club. The 12:15 p.m. Christmas luncheon will be followed by a demonstration of "3M Christmas Wrapping" by Madeline Clements.

In keeping with the holiday spirit, members will bring an unaddressed Christmas card with a monetary gift enclosed for distribution at Herman Kiefer Hospital.

Moved by Performance, Abby Says

Lingering Kiss, Applause Out of Place at Wedding

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Last Sunday I attended a wedding and would like to know if what happened there is customary and proper.

After the bride and groom exchanged their marriage vows, he placed the wedding ring on her finger and then came the kiss, which was held much longer than I think was necessary.

Here is what got me. After they let loose of each other, everyone started to applaud. I have never heard of such a thing in a church. What was the reason for it?

DEAR ABBY: This is an S.O.S. I am ready to blow my top. Ever since my daughter got an engagement ring, her boy friend has practically been living with us.

He comes here every morning for breakfast, and takes her to work. He calls for her at work and brings her home. Of course he stays for dinner every night. And he doesn't go home until it's light outside. He even brings me his laundry to do. I am fed up. Do I have to put up with this? Or is this the way all the young people are nowadays?

READY TO SCREAM

DEAR READY: Evidently your future son-in-law doesn't know that if a working girl (engaged or otherwise) doesn't keep sensible hours, she is asking for nervous exhaustion. Your daughter should tell him.

(1) to clear out by midnight; (2) to wait for a dinner invitation before staying; (3) to arrange his own laundry service. But he fair with him—perhaps this has been your daughter's doing. P.S. Too much togetherness is dynamite.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, The Pontiac Press.

Ellen Marie Farmer, daughter of the Charles Farmers of Fiddis Avenue, and Spec. 4 Allan W. Tillema, son of the Lee Tillemas of South Edith Street, were wed Friday in the First Church of the Brethren.

DEAR HORRIFIED: The guests were probably moved by the performance, and responded accordingly. That kiss was out of place in church, and so was the applause.

A Fool and His Money Are Soon Parted—When He Takes Part in Christmas Schemes!

With the advent of the Christmas Season, both businessmen and men of the public will be solicited on every hand both directly and by mail to help the "unfortunate" have a happy Christmas. Those of us who are able, would be derelict in our duty if we did not endeavor to help the needy have at least one day of happiness during the year.

But, let's don't be a Santa Claus to the promoters. They are master psychologists and always attempt to prey on the "milk" of human kindness and our generosity during the Christmas season.

Based on past performances the following are some of the Christmas schemes you may expect:

1. Solicitations by mail to help some underprivileged charitable or patriotic group in which the promoter gets the "lion's share" of the proceeds.
2. The same kind of scheme, based on the shipment of unordered merchandise, such as greeting cards, neckties, handkerchiefs, aprons, pencils, etc.
3. Attempts to sell advertising space in holiday issues of publications that have no established circulation and which is sold on the basis of helping some cause.
4. Sale by sidewalk hawkers of gift merchandise which can be purchased at local stores at much lower prices.
5. Solicitations for donations and prizes for hazards by unknown religious groups to help the needy.

Yule Clearing House Will Open on Monday

Salvation Army Christmas clearing house service will open Monday to receive applications for holiday baskets and for clearing with other groups.

Applicants for Christmas aid must apply in person at the clearing house office in the basement area of the organization's headquarters, 29 W. Lawrence St. Telephone requests cannot be accepted. Registration cards from the Michigan Employment Security Commission office must be available from all unemployed, while Social Security cards or other positive identification must be shown by all other applicants.

The office will be open 9 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday, up to Dec. 35. No applications will be taken after this date unless submitted by some cooperating agency or group. This is necessary so all names may be processed and food orders in the mail to assure delivery by Christmas.

All groups or individuals giving Christmas aid of any kind have been requested to call the clearing house. Drawing families' names from the pool, or clearing names already decided upon, will assure each donor an unduplicated family.

Should You Use Regular, Premium?

Gas Sometimes Confuses Drivers

By BEN PHILGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — A few years back the owner's manual in one of the new cars carried the line, "Congratulations! You are now able to use premium gas."

And the reaction of many of the new owners, who knew premium was going to cost them four or five cents a gallon more than regular, was "Thanks for nothing."

In this case what had happened was that the car had added a higher compression engine. And generally, the higher the compression ratio, the higher the octane required.

The octane rating is a measure of the anti-knock quality of gasoline. The lower the octane the more readily the fuel tends to explode under pressure and high temperatures. This explosion is the knock you hear in your engine if the gas you are using is below your requirements.

COMPRESSION RATIO VARIES
Engines in 1962 model cars range from an 8-to-1 compression ratio to 11.5-to-1. This means the combustion chamber in one cylinder is 8 to 11.5 times smaller than the fuel mixture is ignited at its lowest point.

The fuel, mixed with air, comes into the cylinder and is compressed by the piston, then ignited under pressure by a spark. With higher compression, more of the energy in the gasoline is put to useful work.

If compression is doubled, say from 5-to-1 to 10-to-1, power and economy of the engine can be increased 25 to 53 per cent without increasing fuel consumption.

This is the main argument for premium fuel engines — that while the cost per gallon of premium fuel is more, the cost per mile may well be less.

The question of whether regular or premium gas is better for your particular car often is a baffling one, especially if the car is one of the popular price makes. Foreign economy cars definitely are in the "regular" ranks, while the upper medium price and luxury brackets automatically require premium.

All of the American compact and low price standard cars recommend regular for their standard engines. And most of the medium price lines offer at least one "regular gas" engine.

DIFFERENCE IN STANDARDS
However, a recent survey by the petroleum chemicals division of DuPont showed the national average of regular grade gasoline would satisfy only about 40 per cent of the 1961 model cars for which manufacturers had specified regular gas.

One of the problems is the variation in the octane. A survey by Ethyl Corp. showed the national average research octane number of regular gas last month was 92.9. But in Los Angeles the 12 brands generally sold averaged only 91 octane and one brand was down to 90.3. In Boston 12 brands averaged 94.4 octane and one was as high as 95.4.

In the last four years the national octane average of regular gas has moved up two numbers, from 90.9 in October, 1957, to 92.9 last month. Premium has risen from 98.1 to 99.3.

Ethyl, a major supplier of antiknock compounds, forecasts a continued rise with regular improving one octane number every two years and premium showing a total increase of about 25 octane numbers by 1966.

Ethyl said one reason is the apparent renewed demand for high performance, even in compact size cars. For example, the Chevrolet Corvair Monza with automatic transmission needs premium gas.

DuPont calculates about 65 per cent of all cars now on the road can use regular grade gasoline. Premium is required by 34 per cent while the remaining one per cent should use the super premium grades of more than 100 octane.

Junta Chairman Park Returning to S. Korea
SEOUL (AP)—Gen. Chung Hee Park, chairman of South Korea's revolutionary junta, returned home today from a 14-day visit to the United States where he conferred with President Kennedy.

More than 200,000 people lined an eight-mile route from junta headquarters as far as the city limits to greet Park with numerous shouts of "munsei" (long live).

The American people showed "a deep understanding towards what the revolutionary government is doing," Park said.

Yanks' Conduct Hit By Guinea

State Dept. Denies Claims U.S. Sailors Misbehaved on Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government of Guinea says American sailors misbehaved on a recent goodwill visit but the State Department emphatically denies it.

The leftist government of Marx ist-trained Sekou Toure said that crew members of two Navy vessels "disrupted" the people of Conakry, capital of Guinea.

But State Department press officer Lincoln White said Friday: "We deny categorically that there was misconduct of American sailors in Conakry in connection with the visit."

The USS Donner and USS Safford, floating drydock ships that have been making a goodwill tour of the Atlantic coast of Africa, arrived in Conakry Nov. 17.

White said embassy officials in Conakry "carefully investigated three alleged incidents and found no evidence of their having taken place."

News dispatches from Conakry said the sailors were accused of stabbings, of taking photographs in restricted areas and of having "mocked" residents.

Von Brentano Elected Leader in Bundestag

BONN, Germany (AP)—Heinrich von Brentano, West Germany's former foreign minister, Friday was elected Bundestag (parliament) leader of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party.

This is the position Brentano held until he was made foreign minister in 1955. His resignation was forced last month by the Free Democratic party in a coalition for its junior in coalition government under Adenauer.

State Auditors Running a Check of County Books

State auditors currently are poring over Oakland County's 1960 accounts books and records here in a routine check that is expected to take three months to complete.

Billie S. Farnum, state auditor general, said today "that this is a regular audit" which his department is required by law to conduct in each county.

State auditors are "conducted to ascertain if the county's accounting systems and records conform to and are consistent with proper governmental accounting standards," he said.

Your Neighbor's House

Angus Campbells Add Two Rooms

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From the front the Angus Campbell house looks like a smallish ranch home. It was just that until this past year. But after a third bedroom, second bathroom, new kitchen and rear deck were added, the house opened up. The lower level had its face lifted too to make a new recreation room with large windows.

The Campbells' home, built on a hilltop, is on a lot that is almost an acre in size. Their backyard stretches down into a shallow valley, joining other back yards, so that the view is a pleasant one of lawns and trees and flowers.

Dezur and Reese of Bloomfield Hills were the architects for the remodeling job with Amos Priests, also of Bloomfield Hills, doing the construction work.

Grace Mitchell, of Pontiac worked with Mrs. Campbell to redecorate the house in Siamese cat colors.

That's no joke. The Campbells have a pair of Siamese cats, Sneakers and Burma. The fawn of their coats and the turquoise of their eyes have been used as the main colors in the house.

Dusty (Angus Jr.) lives there too, but the house wasn't decorated around his coloring. He's a 3-year-old.

There's bubble glass on either side of the front door. Walls in the vestibule are covered with grass cloth.

In the living room the walls are what Mrs. Campbell calls

"French vanilla." Two are painted, one is grass cloth and the fireplace wall is paneled. The matching carpeting has a textured pattern.

Floor-to-ceiling fawn colored draperies hang below a cornice that conceals the lighting. There are no standing lamps.

The fireplace is white brick with a plain wooden mantel extending across the book cases on either side. These have mesh in the doors. Among the art objects on the mantel are a tall green bottle and an amusing Venetian glass cat.

TURQUOISE SOFA

The curved turquoise sectional sofa makes a vivid spot of color in one corner. Three white chairs with gold trim and gold and cream upholstery are placed around a pedestal coffee table in front of the fireplace.

This table has gold leaf on the pedestal and on the top around the white marble. On it is a beautiful bowl of jade fruit brought from the Orient by Mrs. Mitchell, the decorator.

In what was once the dining area there is now a small black organ. Above it are two Chinese pictures painted on silk, then embroidered. In front of the picture window is a black cane settee. The pad on the settee, the one on the organ bench and two tiny round bolsters on the settee are all made from a broad material in the French vanilla shade.

A folding shoji screen mounted on a ceiling track closes off the dining room. This was the kitchen in the original house and is now an inside room.

The screen is made of squares of white translucent plastic set in a black frame. There are occasional squares of blue and green.

The table in the dining room is antique white but has a fruitwood top. The chairs have white antiqued frames with upholstery of either turquoise stripes or celadon green. A celadon green lacquered buffet is on order. The ceiling light fixture is white metal in a leafy design.

CAT PICTURE

In the den hangs the cat picture that started the decorating scheme — that is, in addition to the live cats. On the back a note says it is a "serigraph, a new art form." We looked up the word in the dictionary, but it does not have that meaning.

The picture itself, framed in walnut, shows three Siamese cats. "It's titled, 'Early Risers'."

There was once a barbecue fireplace in this room. It wasn't being used so the Campbells had it bricked up and the bricks painted white. They did leave an opening for a planter.

Walls are paneled in walnut. The carpeting is beige. Draperies are fawn color.

A long sectional sofa takes up the entire space on the front window wall and half of the space on the side wall. This is upholstered in rough textured turquoise material. Little Fomica topped tables, edged in brass, are used in front of the sofa.

Vertical Wall Paneling Adds Weight to Room

When planning to redecorate a room that seems too low, you can "raise" the ceiling by installing wood paneled walls with the boards running vertically. This gives a feeling of increased height, just as installing panel boards horizontally in a room gives a feeling of greater width. You can get either Douglas fir or west coast hemlock in a variety of panel patterns for both vertical and horizontal use.

Above it is a pair of interesting globe lamps. Topaz "jewels" are set into the white plastic wedges that form the globes. Light, of course, shines through both materials.

In the rear part of the room there are floor-to-ceiling bookcases. The window back here overlooks the ravine. A walnut folding game table is kept set up. The chairs have striped turquoise and green cushions.

The kitchen is completely new. At the rear sliding glass doors open onto a wide deck. Wallpaper around the window wall is white with gold and silver designs. Other walls are mahogany paneled.

The tile floor is the Tessera pattern in grays. Cupboards are walnut with silver color hardware. All appliances and the sink are monel metal. Counter tops are white with silver pin dots.

DESK

In one cupboard there is a fold-down shelf, often used to hold a mixer. Mrs. Campbell has a typewriter mounted on hers and uses this cupboard as a desk.

In one paneled wall the refrigerator is built in, also a shallow pantry. On one side of the counter opposite the range there are tall black stools with turquoise cushions.

The Campbells keep gold fish in a huge brandy snifter on the sink counter.

The new wing includes a master bedroom. This has gray carpeting and pale blue walls with matching blue draperies. This room also opens onto the deck.

The bed is painted black. Blue, aqua and green striped material, partially quilted, is used for a spread. The three throw pillows are black, white and iridescent cranberry red.

Furniture is French vanilla shade. One chest has cane-fronted doors in the top. Lamps on either side of the bed have purple-blue bases set on brass with white shades trimmed in purple.

In the attached bath there is a turquoise rug. The vanity is walnut with a white marble top veined in green. Twin oval basins are turquoise. Fixtures are the same color. Wallpaper has a mottled design of violet and turquoise on white.

Dusty's room is green with maple furniture. The curtains are white with aqua fringe trim.

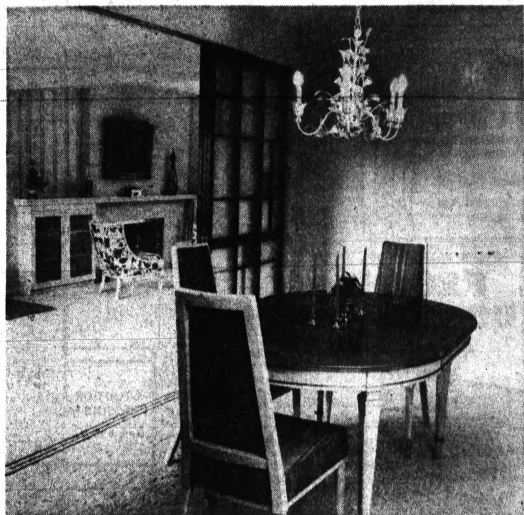

The main bathroom is pink and white. Wallpaper is white with a silver and pink design. A Venetian shade is used in place of curtains. This is white with pink trim.

The guest room is at the front of the house. This has light beige walls and gray carpeting. Furniture is walnut. Beige draperies are shot with gold threads.

In contrast to this neutral background pumpkin color cushions on the chair and the pumpkin and brown plaid bed spreads stand out. Light fixtures are the Oriental type, are made of walnut slats.

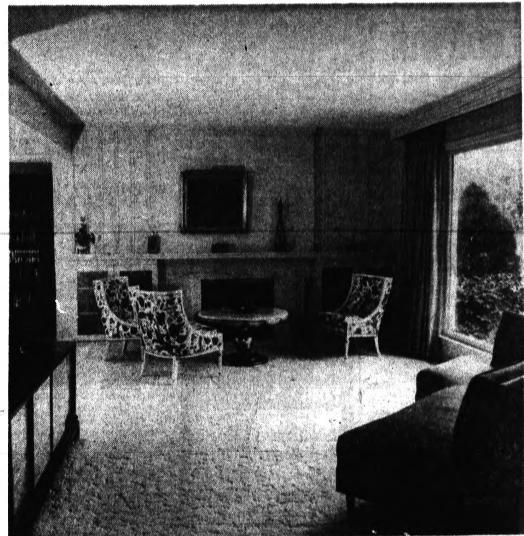

The Campbells lived in their house long enough before remodeling to know exactly what they wanted to change. The result is striking.

Background for LIVING

INSIDE ROOM — With the addition of new rooms the new dining room became an inside room. It is separated from the living room by a plastic shoji screen set in a black folding frame.

The table is antique white, has a fruitwood top. Matching chairs have green or turquoise upholstery. The white metal light fixture gives a physical feeling of lightness to the room.

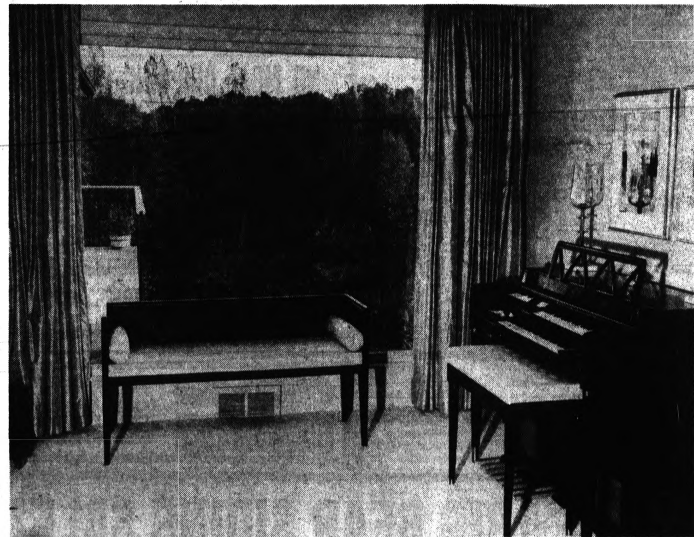

GOLD AND WHITE — The three chairs grouped around the fireplace are white with gold and white upholstery. The pedestal table in front of the fireplace has a gold base with a white marble top. Carpeting, walls and draperies are all French vanilla or Siamese cat fawn shade. The curved sectional sofa is turquoise. At the left is a black chest with gold painted doors. Mesh is used in the doors of the cupboards on either side of the fireplace.

NEW BEDROOM — This should be a color photo to do justice to the room. Walls and draperies are pale blue. Furniture is light. The little occasional table at the left has a marble top. The bed is black. There were two cats on the bed when the photographer started his work. Burma, the male was unperturbed, but Sneakers is hiding behind the bed. You can see the attached bath through the open door.

MUSIC CORNER — In what was once the dining area there is now a black organ and a black settee with cane back and sides. The broadened cushions and little bolsters are the same Siamese cat fawn shade as the carpeting, walls and draperies. This is a true picture window that actually frames a view.

REAR VIEW — To show the extensive remodeling done by the Angus Campbells, the photographer shot his exterior picture from the rear of the property. The lower level was opened up to make a recreation room. On the upper level a large kitchen, bedroom and bath were added, along with a wide deck. The work was done by Dezur and Reese of Bloomfield Hills from plans drawn by Amos Priests, also of the Hills. The Campbells live on Keithdale.

JEWELLED LIGHTS — These two hanging globe fixtures have topaz jewels set in the sides. They hang above a deep turquoise sectional sofa. At the right you can see the plaster that takes the place of an unused grill. The Campbells had the chimney bricked up and painted white.

FLOOR PLANS: Outdoor living area in this house contains 316 square feet, more than the living room and foyer combined. Second floor expansion could be added a portion at a time, as needed. House contains 1,257 square feet of living area on first floor, 743 square feet on second floor.

SECOND FLOOR EXPANSION

DECEPTIVELY MODEST — A breezeway between the house and garage, disguised by a matching window in front as well as a continuous roof, provides an extremely well integrated outdoor living area for this modest 1 1/2 story house. The house contains two bedrooms on the first floor with a second floor expansion providing for two more.

Winter GARDEN NOTES

Mrs. Richard Meade, 736 Stanley Avenue, called in to report a deep purple iris blooming at her house. One blossom is completely out and there are 3 other buds that may make it.

Almost any kind of mulch will do as long as it covers not areas. You can tell a mulch by its cover, since almost any vegetable material available in your community is suitable. The list is long: salt hay, wheat straw, rice straw, tobacco stems, buckwheat hulls, peanut shells, peat moss, sawdust, wood chips, corn cobs, shavings, bark, oak leaves and almost anything else that doesn't compact quickly.

Grass clippings and other materials that soon become too solid and shut off air and moisture are the poorest covering. Best are those of loose texture that don't require frequent raking. Organic mulches may deplete some of the nitrogen in the soil. Addition of nitrogen bearing fertilizers usually takes care of this problem.

This may seem late in the season to garb the home grounds security in its Winter duds. However, there's time to extend protection since Summer's heat is still retained in the soil. By all means, place transplants on the top of the list for overcoating. Such trees have restricted root systems and can freeze to death in the colder sections.

Two new waterfalls for which patent has been applied, will be offered in the spring of 1962 by Three Springs Fisheries, Lilpoos, Maryland. Each were developed by Charles Brosius Thomas, 57

New Finishes Possible With Synthetic Resins

Planning to refinish a table top or bar? Then consider using one of the relatively new varnishes now on the market, either an epoxy or a polyurethane varnish. These two synthetic resins form an especially tough film highly resistant to abrasion and most chemicals which are likely to come into contact with them.

Like the more familiar varnishes, these new comers should not be stirred before use and should be flowed on with a minimum of brushing. These two precautions will minimize the formation of bubbles.

Breezeway Gives House That Bigger Look

By JULES LOH
From the curb, this house looks like the type complex on a tight home buying budget are forced to pass by with a sigh. But take another look.
A covered breezeway, cleverly and inexpensively constructed, makes the house appear much larger than its 1,257 square feet of living area actually permits—besides giving the home one of the best integrated outdoor play

B-94 STATISTICS
A 1 1/2-story, two or four-bedroom, 1 1/2 or 2 1/2 bath, early American styled home with full basement. Breezeway, including L-shaped portion in rear, occupies 316 square feet. House contains 1,257 square feet on first floor, not including breezeway, garage and porches; 743 square feet in second floor expansion.
Dimensions are 27'6" deep with overall width of 71'1" including breezeway and garage. House proper is 48'7" wide and breezeway-garage 22'6" wide.
Areas ever to appear in the House of the Week series.
It is design B-94 by architect Rudolph A. Matern.

A window on the closed face of the breezeway, matching the other two front windows makes the breezeway appear from the outside to be part of the house proper, and the roof over the breezeway makes it look as though the house adjoins the garage.
In addition, the house has an expansion plan for two more large bedrooms upstairs, plus a full bath and a study—a total of 743 additional square feet.

The basic house has two bedrooms and 1 1/2 baths on the first floor, plus a large living room with a log burning fireplace, separate dining room, a family room which also could serve as a breakfast room, a well designed kitchen and a convenient laundry room.
Wood shingles are specified for the exterior of the house, with brick veneer around the living room. Architect Matern also suggests a fence and planter boxes to accentuate the width of the house, and a driveway lamp and weathervane to add to its early American flavor.

Another unusual feature of this house is the location of the kitchen—at the front of the house. From its U-shaped work area, mother can supervise activities in the family room, breezeway and front yard.

WELL PLACED
The lavatory likewise is well placed, accessible to the informal indoor areas as well as the outdoor play areas. The main bath (note the double sink and the corner planter) is equally accessible to the formal entertaining areas as well as the two bedrooms.

The upstairs bathroom is just as luxurious, with double sink and both tub and stall shower; and the closet space upstairs is exceptional. The 8'4" by 10' study, or dressing room, is another noteworthy feature in the second floor expansion.

A large reception foyer assures good traffic circulation, eliminating the nuisance of persons passing through the living room to get in and out of the house. Two other outside entrances—one at the family room and a service entrance next to the kitchen—further

In Fixtures Now Old Is New

About 20 years ago, it was fashionable to remove fixtures from rooms and cap up the outlet. Now, according to the American Home Lighting Institute, the trend has been reversed, and new fixtures are going up where the old ones used to be.

There are several reasons for the trend toward replacing ceiling fixtures. The most important is that fixtures have taken on a new look and are now a major part of home decorating. No longer is the fixture an unglamorous utilitarian device. It's a decorative accent.

Another reason is safety. Lighting controlled by a wall switch at the entrance to the living room eliminates the danger of stumbling over furniture to turn on a portable lamp halfway across a darkened room.

Then there's the matter of convenience. A ceiling fixture provides a single room illumination and functional area lighting.

"Impulse" living room activities such as playing cards. If you and your friends are bridge players, here is a typical example of what can happen. You set up a card table, only to be plagued by a lack of adequate light. So you drag over a floor lamp, immediately creating the danger of tripping over the cord and the annoyance of casting shadows on the table.

The solution to this problem is obvious. Use that capped-up outlet to advantage by installing a new fixture.

Since the necessary wiring is present, you can do this yourself. All that's needed is the fixture and a careful reading of the instructions that come with it. Just make sure the main fuse is removed when this is attempted. The wires in the outlet and fixture are colored to help prevent mistakes.

Sturdy Hardboard OK for Workbench

The starting point of any home workshop is a workbench. One that will last a lifetime can be built at small cost by even the amateur craftsman.

To build a common, sturdy workbench, the materials needed are 2 by 4-inch lumber, 2 by 10-inch studs for the top, and a 4 by 6 panel of Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood for a working surface and storage shelf.

The Tempered Presdwood is the same material used in hundreds of industrial plant workshops. It can take a terrific beating. Its splinter-free, smooth surface is a boon to the handyman. When it finally comes too battered, the panel may easily be replaced at minor cost. Masonite Corporation has a free plan which shows in an exploded view, how to make this bench. It includes a list of materials. For a copy, write the Farm Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., requesting free plan No. AE311.

Gadgets Seen for House of Future

The research and development labs keep coming up with more and more predictions on what the home of the future will be like. Some of their forecasts are a little way out, but no more than past crystal-gazing efforts which sounded fantastic at the time but proved reasonably accurate.

One of the latest predictions is that the lady of the house will be able to place her husband's suit in the clothes closet at night and take it out cleaned, pressed and ready to wear in the morning.

Credit that to Chris J. Wittig, the vice president in charge of the consumer products group of one of the country's largest corporations.

What else does he foresee? Such things as houses that never need repainting, grass that stops growing at a predetermined height, mats with air streams that remove dirt at the doorstep, dishes that will be cleaned on their storage shelves and radios no larger than match boxes. Actually, some of these things already have been tested, but Wittig is talking about them as routine conveniences of the future.

Another vice president — this one in charge of research and development at another large company — thinks the conveyor belt used by many commercial establishments will invade private homes before very long. The vice president, Marvin Kahn, puts it this way:

"Such a conveyor belt could be a big labor-saver in the home."

Imagine a conveyor belt from the garage to the kitchen, tucked away in a niche in the wall. You drive in, unload groceries directly onto the belt, and a flick of the switch later they're waiting for you in the kitchen. No more carrying heavy bundles up steps or across the lawn.

The system will work in reverse, too, in case you want to take out boxes of trash or suitcases or any other heavy bulky packages. This is only one of the ways belt conveyors will save time and work in the years ahead."

Exterior Metal on House Needs Painting Too

If you want your new outside paint job to continue to look good, be sure that any adjacent metal is also protected; otherwise, rust or corrosion can stain the body of the house. This is true even of non-rusting metals such as copper, bronze and brass.

If you want to keep the metallic color, coat such gutters and pipes with spar varnish or exterior lacquer. If you prefer to paint them the color of the house, use a primer such as zinc chromate, and then brush on the house paint after the primer has dried hard.

Easier Cleaning With Low Stool

An easily made and inexpensive household item that the lady of the house will really appreciate can be made by the home handyman in an evening or two. It's a lightweight cleaning stool on casters, made from a panel of sanded plywood.

By putting in compartments on both sides for storage of often-used cleaning supplies, the portable unit will come in handy either for sitting-down cleaning chores or as a knee protector.

It can serve both purposes merely by placing a latex foam rubber pad on the seat of the stool. The rubber should be an inch and one-half thick and be covered with a vinyl fabric. For floor-cleaning tasks, the pad is slipped off the stool and used on the floor.

Free Plan Available

The home handyman can build a combination 12"x20", pole-type carport and garden tool house for less than $600, using lumber and Masonite tempered hardboard. The carport section can be extended for a large car or boat. For a free copy of the plan showing its construction, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill.

WILLIE DALE, Ferndale . . . tackle . . . 6-1 . . . 195 . . . senior . . . the Dales were expected to have problems up front in 1961, but this stalwart lineman kept their troubles at a minimum . . . opened many of the holes that sprung Doris Reid loose for long touchdown runs . . . rates as a first-class tackle.

DICK RIES, Royal Oak Kimball . . . guard . . . 6-1 . . . 180 . . . senior . . . regarded by coach Pin Ryan as his best all-around player . . . the pulling guard in the Knights' versatile attack and a real "tiger" defensively . . . considered an excellent All-State candidate . . . if any member of the Kimball squad can be labeled a hero, this youngster draws top billing.

JIM LETO, Berkley . . . guard . . . 5-10 . . . 170 . . . senior . . . coach Ivy Wilson was blessed with a handful of talented linemen this fall, but he ranked Leto No. 1 in the forward wall . . . the offensive and defensive leader of a team which rebounded from losing years to post a respectable 6-2 record and finish second in the Inter-Lakes race.

CLAY OVENSEN, Rochester . . . center . . . 5-11 . . . 218 . . . senior . . . named to The Pontiac Press All-Oakland County team for the second consecutive year and the honor squad's only repeter . . . snapped the ball accurately and blocked like a demon on offense, then switched to tackle on defense and smothered everything that came his way . . . the Falcons' top lineman.

STEVE JUDAY, Northville . . . quarterback . . . 5-11 . . . 175 . . . senior . . . perhaps the best all-around grinder in Oakland County circles this fall . . . steered the Mustangs to a spotless 9-0 record and an undisputed Wayne-Oakland crown . . . smart field general who passed for more than 1,100 yards while averaging six yards per carry on foot and scoring 13 TDs . . . also brilliant performer defensively . . . averaged 41 yards with his punts.

DORIS REID, Ferndale . . . halfback . . . 5-8 . . . 155 . . . senior . . . he didn't play defense, but his work as an attacker was largely responsible for the Dales' excellent 7-1 season . . . defending state sprint champion, whose blinding speed left tacklers in the dust . . . tallied 18 TDs and a threat to go all the way at any time from any place on the field . . . once he passed the line of scrimmage, the enemy was due for trouble . . . very elusive.

TOM MITZELFELD, Rochester . . . halfback . . . 5-9 . . . 170 . . . junior . . . an elusive, feet-footed runner who scored 16 touchdowns on runs ranging from 76 yards to a single yard . . . good breakaway threat who scored mostly on long jaunts . . . also tossed two TD passes, the only aerials he threw . . . played corner linebacker on defense and made 20 per cent of his team's tackles while intercepting six passes.

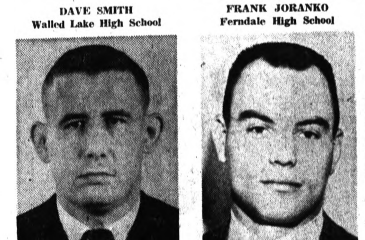

FRANK STAGG, Hazel Park . . . fullback . . . 6-1 . . . 220 . . . senior . . . the heart of the Parker offense and a real "horse" on the attack . . . powerful runner with good speed for his size . . . tallied 10 touchdowns and kicked 19 extra points . . . also a strong forerunner in the defensive secondary.

JACK DOWD, Northville . . . defensive lineman . . . 6-4 . . . 230 . . . senior . . . the behemoth of this year's all-star team . . . played center offensively, then moved to middle guard on defense . . . a tower of strength in the middle of the line who rarely was bugged out of the play . . . tackled with crunching authority.

MIKE MARCUM, Pontiac Northern . . . defensive back . . . 5-5 . . . 145 . . . junior . . . the smallest player in physical stature on this elite unit, but taking a back seat to no one on the playing field . . . an alert pass defender and a crisp, sure tackler . . . one of the leading vote-getters.

PRENTICE (PIN) RYAN, Royal Oak Kimball . . . Oakland County Coach of the Year . . . the voting was extremely close for this award before "Pin" finally triumphed . . . guided the Knights to an undefeated 8-0 campaign and their first Eastern Michigan championship in the school's fourth year of varsity competition . . . only lost on the slate was a 7-7 tie with Ferndale . . . Ryan's stiffest opposition for coaching honors came from Walled Lake's Dave Smith, Ivy Wilson of Berkley, Ferndale's Frank Joranko and Chuck Skinner of Hazel Park.

STEPS DOWN — Dan Ferris, 72, poses with a few of his hundreds of trophies, banners and plaques in his New York office last night after announcing that he is retiring from his post as honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union. Ferris has been with the AAU 54 years and has been the center of many controversies as well as the target of critics who contend that the AAU is bureaucratic.

Giants, Browns Set to Clash

Happy 'Homecoming' for Pistons, 142-35

Host Cleveland Slight Favorite in Pro Feature

New York Could Clinch NFL East Title Aided by Dallas Sunday

By The Associated Press

The New York Giants have a chance virtually to eliminate one of the two biggest threats to their bid for National Football League Eastern Conference supremacy Sunday when the boys from the Bronx battle the Browns in Cleveland.

A Giants' victory over the NFL's rushing leaders would drop the Browns two games off the pace being set by the New Yorkers and leave the Philadelphia Eagles—if they beat the Dallas Cowboys as expected—one of the only remaining serious challengers.

In fact, if the passers for the Giants walk off the field with the Eastern title all but tucked away, this would happen if New York beats the sagging Eagles in Philadelphia.

The slightly-averaged Browns and the Eagles both have 7-2 records and are tied for second behind the Giants, who are 8-2.

The Green Bay Packers have already assumed a commanding lead in the Western Conference. They stretched their advantage to 7½ games over Detroit Thanksgiving Day by silencing the aroused Lions 17-9 in a muddy clash in Detroit. Green Bay is now 9-2 and Detroit 6-4-1.

The Packers need only win one of their remaining three games to remove all doubt. Even if they lose all three, either Detroit or the San Francisco 49ers would have to take all of their remaining games to knock Green Bay out of its second straight Western championship.

With the Packers and Lions still in the hunt, the 49ers hope to keep their flickering hopes alive in a game against the Minnesota Vikings 2-8 in San Francisco. The Vikings have a 5-4 record and are 1½ games out of the lead.

Sunday's other games send the Los Angeles Rams (5-7) to Chicago 5-5, the St. Louis Cardinals (4-6) to Pittsburgh (4-6) and the Baltimore Colts (5-5) to Washington (6-3-1).

Both Cleveland Coach Paul Brown and New York Coach Alie Sherman agree on one thing about Sunday's collision: The team that wins will know it has been in a hard game.

Cleveland and New York both are at their peak offensively and defensively. The Browns slaughtered the Eagles 45-14 last week-end.

Phil Frelk poured in 22 points for the Rams. Russ Routsong added 12 and Alex Cadornowski pumped in 10. Russ Bitter topped Groves after New York had clobbered Philadelphia 38-21.

The Giants, the league's No. 1 club in team defense, have piled up 133 points in their last three games.

Philadelphia will face the Cowboys with a juggled lineup. Coach Nick Skorch, aware the Eagles must win this one, will use the linebacker Chuck Bednarik to middle linebacker and replace him with Howard Keys at center.

Sets Record

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Bluth of St. Louis and Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., held commanding leads today after 10 rounds of the fifth annual World's Invitational Bowling Tournament.

Bluth, the national doubles champion, lost his 10th round match Friday night to Billy Golembiewski of Detroit, 933-867, as they split four games. But he maintained his lead by winning five of eight games in the previous two rounds.

With five matches remaining in the $48,000 tournament, Bluth has a Petersen point total of 205-34. George Howard of Detroit is in second place with 201-18. Don Carter of St. Louis, the defending champion, is third with 199-12 Petersen points.

Although Mrs. Ladewig lost all three of her matches Friday, she finished 10 rounds with 138-37. She is followed by Harry Smith of St. Louis. Carter rolled games of 236, 278, 257 and 239.

Dick Hoover of St. Louis fired a 300 game in the ninth round, posting the fourth perfect game of the tournament. He set his 12-strike record in the fourth game of a match with Ralph Engen of Yonkers, N. Y. Hoover, who won the match with 975 pins, is in fourth place with 195-48 Petersen points.

All competitors leaving Sunday are members of the Michigan Mid-Get Racing Association. The organization's office and track facilities are at the Oakland County Sportsman Club grounds in Waterford.

The cars were flown to Miami earlier this week and then shipped to Nassau by boat.

Jim Owens, $20,000-a-year athletic director and head football coach at the University of Washington, denied today he had been offered a similar job at Texas A & M although a representative of the Southwest school is reportedly in Seattle to contact him.

The Detroit Thunderbirds opened a three-game National Bowling League series with a 16-11 conquest of Fresno Friday night. Tom Harnisch was responsible for eight of the 16 points with a 268-212 combination. Al Thompson fired 248 and Russ Pado 245 to pace Omaha to a rally which produced a 17-10 win over Fort Worth. Dallas nipped Kansas City on a final 266 by Don Bickford.

Gay Brewer turned in a 6-under-par 54 Friday to give him a commanding four-stroke lead at 115 at the Mohale, Ala., Open.

Dan Ferris is stepping down after 54 years as the power of the Amateur Athletic Union. The honorary secretary, 72, announced his complete retirement yesterday.

M-M Boys Pace Miami Victory Over Wildcats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Miami's dangerous M-M combination, George Mira and Bill Miller, was too hot for Northwestern to handle Friday night as the Hurricanes won a bruising football battle 10-6 and may have bolstered their bowl hopes.

Two Liberty Bowl representatives who scouted the game had to be impressed by the rifle shots of Mira, Miami's sophomore quarterback, and the fabulous catches and running of Miller, the Hurricane All-America end candidate.

Mira completed 17 passes for 165 yards, of them nailing John Babin in the end zone for a first-quarter touchdown. With Bobby Wilson's extra point kick, Miami had all the necessary points.

Miller hauled in nine passes for 94 yards. His catches set up the touchdown and a later field goal late in the game. With Northwestern at the Miami 4-yard line with a chance to pull it out, Miller stopped Bob Eickhoff cold on a fourth down run.

College scholarships await the top drivers in the races.

Russian Gets An Exclusive

JFK Interview Is a First

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy today became the first U.S. President to grant an exclusive interview to a Russian journalist, Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's son-in-law.

Kennedy will receive Aleksis T. Adzhubel, editor of Izvestia, the Soviet government's official newspaper, in the living room of his summer home.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that to his knowledge no other American President had ever given an interview to a Russian newsmen.

In advance of the interview, Adzhubel, speaking through an interpreter, said he hoped it would help improve U.S.-Russian relations.

Kennedy's primary motive in granting the interview is to give him a chance to get his views directly to the Russian people.

Adzhubel, by virtue of his editorship of the Soviet Union's official organ and his marriage to Khrushchev's daughter, is regarded as his country's foremost journalist.

HAD INTERPRETER

Adzhubel, although he speaks some English and appears to understand it without difficulty, answered reporters' questions through Georgi Boldshikov, editor of Russia's English language magazine, U.S.S.R., published in this country.

Asked what he hoped to accomplish by the interview, Adzhubel said:

"As a newspaperman, as a journalist, as a Soviet citizen, I would like very much that this interview facilitate improvement of our relations because the destiny of the world depends upon relations between our nations."

He added that he hoped to publish the entire text of the interview but said this was up to the President to decide.

Salinger made it clear that he not only had no objection to publication of the full text, but would welcome it.

Salinger said Kennedy had fixed no time limit on the length of the interview.

IZVESTIA FIRST

American journalists not get to know what Kennedy said until Izvestia — News — has published it.

17 Girls Hunted After Escape

Nab 6 Others in Break From State Training School Friday Night

TAPT, Okla. (AP) — Eight incorrigible inmates of the state training school for Negro girls, rounded up after a mass escape Friday night, fled a second time today as they were being returned by officers.

TAPT, Okla. (UPI) — A wide-spread search was under way today in Eastern Oklahoma for 17 escapees from the State Training School for Negro Girls armed with knives and ice picks.

Highway patrolman W. J. Edge, late Friday night, captured six of the 23 escapees in a deserted school. Edge warned that the girls considered to be most dangerous were still at large.

The girls overpowered guards at the 53-inmate institution Friday night and escaped through a first floor kitchen window.

Mrs. Ruby Stambach, superintendent, said the escape followed rioting in the living second floor quarters. She said the girls took the keys from the matrons and turned off the lights to the institution and the grounds. She said they crawled through the window and escaped through the front gate.

Mrs. Stambach said the girls are from 11 to 17 years old. She said most of them live in Oklahoma City.

She told UPI today that she believed most of the 17 probably had returned to Oklahoma City, some 135 miles away.

MOST DANGEROUS

The school, which is on grounds with a Negro state mental institution, is a penal institution. Mrs. Stambach called the escapees the "most dangerous" — trouble-makers.

She said the break probably had been planned earlier. The keys, she said, had been missing two days.

Most of the other girls were watching television when the rioting started. Kitchen knives and ice picks were gathered by the girls.

Windows were shattered during the battle between the inmates and matrons. No injuries were reported.

Santa Goes Modern

WELCOME VISITOR — Giving his reindeer a rest after the long haul from the North Pole, Santa Claus arrived at the Miracle Mile Shopping Center yesterday by helicopter. He took up residence to hear the wishes of good boys and girls. Two of his reindeer were on hand to lend atmosphere to the visit, however.

Used by Rockefeller? Find Gas Tank Off N. Guinea

From Our News Wires

MERAUKE, New Guinea — A Dutch naval vessel found a "numbered gas tank" today 20 miles off the New Guinea coast, it was reported. It was not immediately certain whether the tank was one of the gasoline cans Gov. Melvin A. Rockefeller's missing son used to swim toward shore from a capsized native boat Sunday.

The gas tank was spotted on the north coast of Hendrik Fredrik Island, the Dutch ship reported.

The search for Michael Rockefeller had focused on efforts to locate his two gasoline cans on the theory that their whereabouts would indicate whether he reached land.

Dutch District Commissioner Eilbink Jansen said the red-painted cans probably would be found on the mudflat shore of Flamingo Bay if Michael made it, and on Hendrik Fredrik Island if he didn't.

HOPES WANE

The Dutch official said the currents along the shore almost certainly would have carried the cans to Hendrik Fredrik, about 120 miles down the coast, if the 23-year-old American failed to reach land.

The search went into its seventh day today, and hope of finding Michael alive was beginning to wane.

The governor left instructions when he went to bed Friday night that he was to be awakened at any hour if the slightest clue turned up.

Today's development prompted the governor, who flew to New Guinea to help in the search, to cancel plans to fly home Sunday. He will continue to stay in the area where his son vanished for an undisclosed period.

Jansen still said there was an even chance that young Rockefeller would be found alive.

"If he succeeded in reaching the shore and making his way to a remote village," Jansen said, "it could take 10 days before news of his whereabouts was received by the authorities."

Gov. Rockefeller was joined in Southern New Guinea today by the governor of the territory, Piet Platel, who flew in from Hollandia.

Family Fight Ends in Death for Man, Wife at Northland

Two violent deaths on a crowded plaza at the Northland Shopping Center marked an end to a bitter family quarrel yesterday afternoon.

An Oak Park man, enraged over his wife's plans to divorce him, killed her and then shot himself as their 10-year-old daughter and hundreds of holiday shoppers looked on.

Bone Fragments Locked in Safe

Southfield police said Sander Mendelsohn, 41, fired two shots at his wife Amelia, 37, and then took his own life with a 38-caliber revolver he had bought less than an hour earlier.

Mendelsohn, owner of a Detroit tavern, hastily returned from Israel three weeks ago when he learned that his wife had fled for divorce, according to family friends.

Mrs. Mendelsohn and her daughter Susan had moved from the family apartment at 2138 Stratford Court, Oak Park, this month. They moved again when Mendelsohn found where they were living, friends said.

Neighbors of the Mendelsohns on Stratford Court said they heard them quarreling loudly several times.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Perstein, owners of a bar located near Mendelsohn's tavern in Detroit explained some of the details leading up to the shootings.

Mendelsohn went to Israel two months ago to work with his wife's sister and brother-in-law in a face-lift and brother-in-law in a face-lift and brother-in-law in a face-lift.

His wife was supposed to sell the bar and join him later with their daughter, Pearlstein said.

Mendelsohn was in Israel about five weeks when he got a letter from his wife saying she planned to divorce him, Pearlstein said, and he immediately returned to this country.

Mrs. Pearlstein said Mendelsohn met his wife and daughter in a restaurant near his bar earlier this week.

"She told me she threatened her and grabbed the girl and stuck his hands in his pocket as if he had a gun," Mrs. Pearlstein recalled.

Although he already owned a gun, Mendelsohn purchased the 38-caliber revolver about 3 p.m. yesterday from Dunham Sport Shop in Northland.

At about 3:50 p.m. Mendelsohn approached his wife in front of the Hughes-Hatcher-Sutphin clothing store on the east concourse of the Southfield shopping center. His first two shots, one hitting her in the back and the other in the forehead.

Witnesses said he then put the pistol to his head and fired again. Both Mendelsohn and his wife died instantly, police said.

Their daughter ran screaming down the walk. Onlookers held her back when she tried to return to the spot where the bodies were located.

Her parents were located.

The remains were treated as "valuable cargo" in the same manner as gold or precious jewelry. That meant they were checked in and out of the plane at each stop and kept in a safe while the plane was on the ground.

An airline spokesman said it would be kept in a company safe until picked up tomorrow by University of California anthropologist Prof. Theodore McCown, who will examine the contents in hopes of determining whether they are the remains of the fliers.

The national pageant will be held March 24, 1962.

The state search is being made with the cooperation of Jaycee groups throughout Michigan. However, all applicants are urged to send their applications now to: Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Headquarters, 2215 Avondale, Pontiac, Michigan.

Deadline for applications is Jan. 1. Rahl, however, said they should be submitted as soon as possible to enable regional Jaycees to organize semifinals in their area.

Giant White Spruce

ABLAZE WITH LIGHTS — This 40-foot white spruce from Union Lake came to the city's Christmas tree donors after Mr. and Mrs. Lewis De Yonge, of 3300 Fox Drive, who also gave the city a similar tree in 1958.

City Using 'Sister' of 1959 Yule Tree

Down town Pontiac's big 40-foot Christmas tree, which blazed forth with gay colors last night, is a "sister" to the tree of two years ago.

More than 1,000 multicolored lights on the 1961 Christmas tree were turned on at 5 p.m. Friday. The tree will inhabit its usual spot in front of First Baptist Church at Saginaw Street and Oakland Avenue until Dec. 25.

It was donated to the Downtown Merchants Association by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis DeYonge of 3300 Fox Drive, Union Lake Village.

In 1959, the DeYonges had two gigantic white spruce trees in their yard. That year they donated one to Pontiac.

This year's Christmas tree is the other half of the pair. Merchants estimate it would have cost about $200 to buy the same tree from a retailer and have it trucked from Northern Michigan to Pontiac.

Local Jaycees Seek Jr. Miss Candidates

The search is on for the ideal high school senior in the state. A girl, of course.

For the fourth straight year, the Pontiac Jaycees are launching this statewide search for a state representative to the national American Junior Miss Pageant.

"This is a pageant to select the outstanding Junior Miss in terms of talent, personality, poise, sportswear appearance and formal dress appearance — not a bathing beauty contest," said Michigan Pageant Director James Rahl, member of the Pontiac Jaycees.

Thirty state finalists will be selected by regions throughout the state. Jaycee groups who will do the selecting are yet to be announced.

From the 30 contestants one will be selected Feb. 3 at Pontiac Northern High School to represent Michigan at Mobile, Ala.

Soviets Yield to Finn Plea, Delay Talks

Military Confab Put Off as Nikita, Kekkonen End Conference

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has acceded to Finnish President Urho Kekkonen's request to postpone military talks which the Soviets had suggested to deal with what the Kremlin called a war danger in the Baltic. Finnish sources said today.

"The Soviet government has found it possible to put off, for the time being, the military consultations with Finland it had suggested," the news agency Tass reported today.

Kekkonen returned to Moscow today after a conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in the Siberian city of Novosibirsk.

The Finnish president had gone to the Soviet Union to see Khrushchev after Moscow proposed the military talks Oct. 30.

A Finnish official said Kekkonen told Khrushchev at their meeting Friday that such consultations would provoke greater tension in the Baltic at this time.

Kekkonen agreed, at Khrushchev's request, to keep a watchful eye on developments in the Baltic with a view to joint consultations with the Soviets at any alarming development.

The Soviets in their note to the Finns said there was danger that war would develop from West Germany's rearming, and consultations were required under the Friendship and Mutual Assistance Treaty negotiated in 1948.

The agreement to postpone consultations was reached after long talks in a forest cabin outside Novosibirsk where Khrushchev, on a visit to try to speed up agricultural production in the Siberian region.

Khrushchev declared in a speech at lunch there that he was concerned about right-wing developments in Finland that appeared to lead in the direction of a greater separation of that country from the close friendship it has had with the Soviet Union in recent years.
