Idea of a Junior College for Pontiac Wins Approval in Press Street Interviews

A junior college built in the city would receive a warm reception. That's the general consensus of persons interviewed in downtown Pontiac recently.

The Pontiac Board of Education sibility of a two-year terminal course, equivalent to a junior college, equivalent to a two-year terminal course, equivalent to a junior college, and a new senior high school to be constructed in the spring of next year.

Of the persons questioned in the interview, seven said they were in favor of a junior college being built here. One woman was also in favor of the proposal but believed a second senior high should be constructed first.

The following opinions were presented:

Miss Carol Akery, West Bloomfield: "Yes, I certainly would be in favor of a junior college. It would be nice because it would be close to home and there would be a lot of other areas outside Pontiac that could use the school."

Mrs. Eugene Ellis, 615 Lenox Ave.: "I would be in favor of a junior college as it would enable kids to live at home and go to college. Many can't afford to go away to school because of expense of board, etc."

Miss Shirley Cox, Ortonville: "I most certainly would like to see a junior college in Pontiac. I would attend if there was one. Pontiac needs on to continue its chain of education beyond the high school level."

Alex Pappas, 64 Hill St.: "I'm in favor of the college and there are lots of others in Pontiac that would like to go to a junior college. I would like to attend one right here and not have to go to Detroit or Highland Park."

Mrs. H. T. Allen, 97 N. Rose-lawn Dr.: "Yes, I am in favor of a college here. There are a lot of children in town that can't afford to go away to college but yet want a college education. The junior college would be the answer. I have a grandson that would be interested."

Robert Featherston, Drayton Plains: "I would attend one two years ago if there had been one. I'm in favor of one. I attended the business institute because no junior college was available."

Mrs. Bert Sel-fer, Waterford Township: "I'm in favor of one but not at this time. Pontiac Senior High is so crowded that I think the city could stand to build another high school first. Then the college could follow."

Rodger Curtis, 37 N. Edith St.: "Yes, I am in favor of the junior college idea. It would save a lot of running around Detroit or Highland Park and would be very economical for the students here. I would like to attend one this fall."

President Asks for Educational Centers Abroad

Urges U. S. Foundations and Universities to Study His Proposal

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower looked to the nation's universities and wealthy private foundations today to take up his challenge to establish educational centers in lands which lack adequate school facilities.

Eisenhower advanced the proposal in a speech yesterday at Baylor University in Waco, Tex.

He said that if it was carried out "the prospects for a peaceful and prosperous world would be mightily enhanced."

Eisenhower did not spell out details of his proposal, but administration circles viewed it as a private educational assistance program paralleling the government's own technical aid plan developed under former President Truman and continued under Eisenhower.

The Ford and Carnegie Foundations, the nation's two wealthiest, commented that they already are active in the field of international education. Between them they control more than two-thirds of a billion dollars in assets.

Eisenhower emphasized that he was not thinking of American schools abroad which would have the primary task of exporting the culture of the United States to other nations. He declared that the staffs, the courses of study and the conduct of each school "would be the responsibility of the people" among whom it was established.

Its purpose, he said, would be to help the country in which it was set up "develop its human and natural resources" and at the same time to channel back to the United States "new knowledge and wisdom out of the priceless values of another people's traditions and proud heritage."

Eisenhower did not suggest what if any role the government might play in bringing about the massive cooperative effort of universities and private funds which he projected.

There was speculation that he might call a meeting of top leaders in educational fields and in the management of the funds to stimulate their interest and seek practical ideas for the achievement of the goal he set.

Waterford Teachers Meet Monday

Discuss Merit Pay Raises

The controversial topic of merit pay-increases for teachers will be discussed again Monday afternoon by Waterford teachers, when they meet at 4:30 in the Cray Junior High School.

Members of the Waterford District MEA will hear William A. Shunk, superintendent of schools, present his views on the subject. Waterford teachers have held previous meetings in their schools to become acquainted with the system.

Teachers in many areas have been studying the plan to determine whether or not to seek its adoption.

Committee for the White House Conference on Education last year recommended that careful study be given the merit pay plan, urging "objective investigation and experimentation on a local basis in order to bring teachers' salaries into true competition with those of other occupations and professions."

In explaining the merit-pay system, Shunk said that at the present time teachers' salaries throughout the country are computed on years of college training and experience.

"This is a merit system in some sense," Shunk said, "if you agree that years of training and experience make up the criteria for good teachers."

In such a program the problem would be in determining other ways to judge teacher's abilities than only training and experience, he continued.

"Teachers are greatly concerned about merit pay because the awards might stem from 'apple polishing success.' The problem is what kind of procedure can you set up to protect the teacher as well as help him."

E. L. Windler, president of the School Board of Waterford Township, said that how the plan was approached would make a difference to him. "I feel I have to get more information regarding such a program before I could make a statement for or against."

Senators At Odds on Plan to Invite Reds for Visit

WASHINGTON (P)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today he is willing to leave it up to President Eisenhower's "own good judgment" whether to invite Russian leaders to visit the United States.

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, made the observation in an interview after Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) told the Senate:

"I do not believe that any American president would extend such an invitation or that the American people or the American Congress would approve if it were extended."

In his floor speech yesterday, Knowland said the suggestion has recently been made by "columnists and commentators" that invitations be extended to Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin and others to visit this country.

Saying he opposed an invitation to these or any of a number of other Russian leaders included.

Car Crash Kills Pontiac Man

James Powers Crushed Under Wheels After Collision in City

Returning home last night, a 23-year-old Pontiac man was killed when he was thrown out of a car in a two-car collision and was crushed under the wheels of the other car.

James E. Powers, of 314 Nelson St. was a passenger with Gerald A. Rose, 23, of 4406 Rohr Rd. when the accident occurred at 3:10 a.m. at S. Jessie street and Ferry avenue, police said.

He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital of skull and neck injuries.

Rose and the other driver, Miles W. Childers, 25, of 25 Monroe St. were cleared in the death after statements were taken at police headquarters by Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Walter Dennison.

Rose said he and Powers were returning from double dates and proceeding about 30 miles an hour west on Ferry when Childers' car entered the intersection at about the same speed, going north on Jessie.

Both drivers said they didn't see each other in time, police said.

Rose's car was spun around by the curb by the impact, police said, when Powers was thrown out the side door.

Biggest 'Crack' of the Year Has Bird Fans Worring

NEW ORLEANS (P)—"Crack!" Bird fans start biting their nails tomorrow and listening for that sound. When it comes, an egg will pop and out may whoop a new member of an exclusive club.

The club is: Whooping Cranes of North America and junior, if he shows, will get card No. 31.

Josephine and Crip, the prospective parents, are hovering over two eggs in Audubon Park Zoo here. The eggs may hold two little cranes, but they also may hold nothing. That's why bird fans are biting their nails.

At dawn tomorrow, zookeepers begin a daily watch. An observer with binoculars, 30 feet away on a six-foot stand, will peek at the eggs every day from dawn to dusk until he hears "crack!"

Then he will wait until he hears a second "crack!" The cracks may mean the world has more whooping cranes. They also may mean Crip and Josephine, tired of

Station Employee Says Man Drew Knife in Attempt

Would-Be Thief Critical After Capture by Police Near Shooting Scene

An Oakdale Gardens man was critically wounded in an alleged holdup attempt at a Ferndale gas station last night.

James E. Taylor, 45, of 20790 Mitchelldale Rd., remained unconscious today in William Beaumont Hospital. Surgeons have removed a .22 caliber bullet from his abdomen, fired near closing time by a part-time attendant.

Taylor had entered the station at 530 W. Eight Mile Rd. about 11:45 p.m., according to Ferndale police.

The attendant, Sharon Allison, 25, told them that Taylor drew out an eight-inch butcher knife and announced the stickup.

Allison said he secretly drew the automatic from his pocket and fired pointblank when Taylor saw it and lunged at him with the knife.

The would-be robber fled, clutching his stomach amid a volley of three shots, Officer Fred Kellogg said.

Leaving a trail of blood behind him, Taylor struggled into a field 300 feet away and then collapsed, Kellogg said.

There was about $65 in the cash register, police said. Allison, of 524 Academy St., Ferndale, told them he was alone and about to lock up when Taylor came in and asked change for a quarter.

When Taylor drew the knife and demanded money, police were told, Allison said he would have to unlock the cash register with keys from his rear pocket.

He unlocked it, Allison said, moved to one side and put the keys back in his pocket, drawing the gun as Taylor reached for the money.

Taylor lunged toward him, Allison said, so he turned and fired. Detectives were checking this morning, Kellogg said, to determine whether Taylor has a police record.

Lodge Will Request U.N. to Okay Asylum Principle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—A U. S. spokesman said today Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will call on the U. N. Assembly to endorse unconditionally, the principle that every Iron Curtain refugee has the right to seek safe asylum in free countries.

The American spokesman made the statement in the wake of mounting evidence that Soviet and Iron Curtain diplomats are engaged in an intensive offensive in the United States and elsewhere to "pressure" refugees into going back to their homelands.

At the same time, several key U. N. diplomats privately were of the opinion that Soviet delegate A. A. Sobolev has fallen under such a cloud for "forcing" five Russian sailors—and perhaps other Iron Curtain refugees—to go home that Moscow may soon have to recall him.

Most diplomats questioned on Sobolev privately said that his recall by the Kremlin would be "the simplest way" to end the episode. It was pointed out that a second to be desired would promptly bring U. S. State Department to brand him "persona non-grata" which in fact would leave Sobolev no alternative but to pack up and go.

Ambassador Lodge already has made a stiff protest to U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld in charging Sobolev with "abusing his U. N. post and diplomatic privileges granted him under the U. N. S. headquarters agreement."

It is a firm conviction at U. N. that disclosure of any further or additional connection by Sobolev with other cases where coercion "seems to have been used for the simplest way" to end the episode. It was pointed out that a second to be desired would promptly bring U. S. State Department to brand

Clinton Council Gets Major Honors

Quest for Leaders Big Topic at Scout Parley

By JOE HASS
CINCINNATI, Ohio — Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters at Pontiac, came in for a number of honors at the annual meeting of the National Council, which closed here at noon today.

In percentage of gain in membership during the past year our council was close to the top. In its outdoor activities it is out-distanced principally by councils located in states that do not have so much winter.

Despite this fact, it is one of the few councils in the northern states that is endeavoring to put its camping facilities on a year-around basis.

Since the Boy Scout program was started in this nation 46 years ago, it is estimated that nearly 35 million people have come in direct contact with it, either as boys or as leaders in the movement, or both.

Figured on the same basis, it is conservatively estimated that in excess of 35,000 people have had contact on the same basis in the Clinton Valley Council since its organization.

In the Cub Scout movement which has had such an upsurge in the nation during the past couple of years that national leaders are worried about how to accommodate them when the Cubs become Scouts, Clinton Valley Council has one of the highest percentage of gain in the Region Seven, comprising Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin.

In the nation there now are more than one and one-half million Clubs, scattered through nearly 50,000 packs, in which our nation's women are playing a major part.

As every old scouter has learned the key to the local Scout troop is the scoutmaster. The success or failure of the troop largely depends on him.

At this national meeting, the same as in other such gatherings for many years past, the question of getting good scoutmasters is the major problem.

In quest of such a man, the committees formerly looked for a man who "had the time" to devote to such a project. But it now generally conceded that the best scoutmasters come from among the busiest men in their communities.

Again this year the national Scouting program includes a "get out the vote campaign" that will blanket the nation. As it did in 1952, Clinton Valley Council will go after this 100 per cent among the 75,000 homes within its area. In 1952 it won national honors in this respect.

Arrangements already are under way so that every home within its jurisdiction in Oakland and Macomb counties will have a door knob notice on election morning, urging every occupant of the house to vote.

Cincinnati's magnificent new Music Hall, claimed to be one of the largest and finest public halls in the nation, furnishes the setting for the various overall meetings of the convention.

This convention has grown through the years to be one of the largest held annually in the United States. Last year's was first scheduled for Detroit but was changed to St. Louis, because Detroit does not have a hall large enough to accommodate it.

That city's emissaries are now pulling over the 1956 convention, when that city's magnificent new river front development will be completed. When that time comes, Clinton Valley Council will be in the front seat in exemplifying the good neighbor policy.

Cancer Month Reports Made

Film Seen by 2,000; Funds to Supplement Budget Are Raised

Reports of anti-cancer activities in this area during the special effort expended during April, Cancer Crusade Month, were given at the recent meeting of the board.

Activities in this area are carried on by the North Oakland County Unit, Southeastern Division, American Cancer Society. Twenty-five directors attended the meeting, at which Dr. John Marra, unit president, presided.

While the program in Pontiac is largely educational, funds also were raised, especially in areas not served by the United Fund. Gifts amounted to $23,159.

Approximately 2,000 women saw the film on breast self-examination during the month. Physicians report an increased interest in preventive medical examinations as a result of the film showings.

During the month the film was shown 38 times, and some 50 physicians have cooperated in the educational campaign. During April the cancer office at 66 W. Lawrence St., dispensed 9,000 cancer dressings.

Judge H. Russell Holland was chairman of the April crusade with Mrs. Edward Williams, of Rochester, as co-chairman.

Sunday morning directors of the society will be guests of Dr. and Mrs. Marra at their home for a victory breakfast.

Senators at Odds on Inviting Soviets

ing Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, known as:

"I am greatly shocked that even some of our good citizens should be taken in by such a proposal."

Talk of possible visits by the Russian leaders has been revived by Russia's informal invitation this week to have several high U.S. Air Force officers attend Soviet Aviation Day ceremonies in Moscow June 24, and U.S. hints it might welcome a broader invitation to include all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Nothing further on either possibility has been heard from the Russians.

Washington apparently is holding out for a formal invitation that would permit the top men to go to Moscow and talk as equals to their opposite numbers of the Red military forces—not just witness an air show.

But balanced against that is the fear of some diplomatic policy makers that an exchange of military visits might cause Allied and neutral nations to decide this country was becoming more friendly to Russia while counseling other nations to beware of the Soviet.

Fidelitas Medal Given to Priest

Award to Be Presented at Orchard Lake School During Commencement

The Very Reverend Justin Figas, O.F.M. Conv., pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Buffalo, N. Y., and national director of the "Rosary Hour," has been named the 1956 recipient of the Fidelitas Medal awarded annually by SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary at Orchard Lake.

The medal will be conferred by His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney on June third during the Orchard Lake Schools' 67th Annual Commencement Exercises.

"Because in Father Justin there is a harmonious fusion of the Pauline spirit to teach the just and the wayward, and the Franciscan spirit to serve the poor, the simple, and the exploited, we deem him worthy of this award," said Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Szumal, rector.

Father Figas was born in McClure, Pa., in 1886. He was graduated from St. Francis College, Trenton, N. J., and, after completing his novitiate at the Assumption Monastery in Syracuse, N. Y., he was sent to the Gregorian Institute in Rome where he received his Doctorate in Sacred Theology.

Father Justin was ordained in Rome on July 17, 1910. He served as Provincial of the St. Anthony Province for 17 years. In 1931 he began the now-famous radio "Rosary Hour," which today has a network of 57 stations.

The Fidelitas Medal is awarded annually for "fidelity in serving God and country through the realization of the religious and cultural ideals of our forefathers." Father Justin is the eighth outstanding Polish-American to receive this honor.

Teachers to Discuss Merit Pay Raises

said he favors such a merit system in theory, "but it would be something that could not be thrown together in a hurry. I realize there are many difficulties involved."

Arthur Lake, president of the Waterford District MEA, says that he believes that "the idea as a basic philosophy is a good one. The difficulty would come in the way the selection would be made," he said. "How could it be made acceptable to all teachers."

"The teachers just can't see how a reasonable and fair means could be set up to define the superior from the good."

Mrs. Emily Hicks, principal of Stringham School, said a merit pay system would depend on who does the evaluating and how they would do it.

"I would hope that if it were worked out, it would be done on a very high professional basis on which all teachers would have a part in choosing the person to be awarded in this way instead of the administration alone."

A Waterford Center School teacher, Mrs. Dora Brustle, said "I don't think it would work. We've had a lot of discussion here at the school and the teachers seem very much opposed to such a program."

"It would be very hard to find a standard to judge the teachers and would cause hard feelings all around. That's how I feel until I hear more about it."

Fisher Cancels Work as Police Probe Riot

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—No work was scheduled today at the big General Motors' Fisher body plant in suburban Grand Blanc, but deputies and state police stood guard against a repetition of a riot in which 11 men were hospitalized yesterday.

Two of the 11 injured still were reported in critical condition. But Sheriff Don H. Carmichael had made no arrests and deputies said they didn't know whether any would be made.

Involved in the rioting were members of the millwrights, steamfitters and riggers unions. All one-time AFL affiliates.

City Goes Ahead With Park Areas

May Condemn Several Lots to Make Way for Program

Condemnation action probably will be necessary to acquire five lots in the city to complete the purchase of 27 parcels for use in the $600,000 municipal parking lot project, City Manager W. K. Willman reported yesterday.

Willman added that any delay in this action will not block the progress of construction of the three lots as the city intends "to build around" the five lots in question.

The $600,000 worth of revenue bonds are now being printed, he said, and the city expects the money in its treasury sometime next week.

The goal in the voter-approved project is Sept. 1, as the city established a schedule that all four lots would be in operation by the last four months of 1956.

The fourth lot, located off Auburn avenue east of Saginaw, is being financed under a separate financial program. The land was leased from the State Highway Dept.

Pontiac voters approved the issuance of the bonds March 3 by nearly a 3 to 1 ratio.

To date the city has purchased or has under option 17 of the 27 land parcels in four city plots. Three lots needed in the Lafayette-Jacques proposed lot possibly will be condemned, according to Willman. Another is needed for W. Lawrence-Pike parking lot.

The remaining six lots are being negotiated for and are expected to be purchased.

Summertield, U.S. Officials May See Office Dedication

Orchard Lake's new post office—small in size, but rich in tradition—will be dedicated next Saturday.

And, if committee members' efforts are successful, Postmaster General Arthur Summertield will travel from the nation's capital to give the dedicatory address at the 3 p.m., June 2, ceremony.

R. H. McManus, co-chairman of the program committee, said today Summertield had indicated he hoped to be present, but final word had not yet come from Washington.

Others invited to attend are U.S. Congressmen George Dondero and John Lesinski and Sen. Patrick McNamara, as well as top area government officials and leading clergy from St. Mary College and St. Cyril and Methodius Seminary.

Dedication of the new building for the post office, said to be the oldest in West Bloomfield Township, will take place outdoors if weather permits, according to Postmaster Mrs. Mary Hawkes.

Music will include vocal selections by "Schola Cantorum," a choral society of St. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, nationally famous for its Polish carols, and music

Hunt Bartender as Killer Suspect

Coast-to-Coast Alarm Out as Philly Heiress Is Found Garrotted

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Police hunted from New York to California today for a Nevada bartender charged with strangling a pretty blonde Philadelphia heiress.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Anne Harris Van Ryne, 22. Her body was found Thursday night in the apartment of bartender William E. Boswell, 33.

Officers said she apparently had been garrotted with a housecoat belt found under the body in a closet.

In Kansas City, police said Boswell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Boswell Sr., told them he was there Wednesday and had left Thursday in a green 1953 station wagon, saying he was going to New York for a bartending job there.

The sheriff said the body apparently had been in the closet since Sunday or Monday night.

Mrs. Van Ryne was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Flagler Harris of the Chestnut Hill section of Philadelphia, and of J. Andrew Harris, 3rd, a retired aircraft executive.

Mrs. Van Ryne divorced J. Francis DeVinney of Philadelphia at Reno in the fall of 1954. She was married early this year to Thomas W. Van Ryne, 39, a toxicologist later sentenced to jail in Los Angeles on a bad check conviction.

Deputy Sheriff Erwin K. Butler said the victim told friends when she left her motel room Sunday that she planned to sell one of her three cars to Boswell and was going to turn over the title to him. The car, Butler added, was in Boswell's possession.

The Day in Birmingham

Taxable Land Is Goal of Ballot, Officials Say

BIRMINGHAM — If voters approve annexation of the "Twining Property" and the "Lambert Property" from Troy Township to Birmingham, in the June 5 election, it will add taxable value to Birmingham, according to city officials.

The two small properties are subject of a special election. City officials point out that there will be little left of Troy Township following annexations expected in votes in Troy Township, Troy City and Birmingham, all on June 5.

The Twining property is a parcel on Adams road south of Villa street, which is completely surrounded by Birmingham. The Lambert property is on the north side of 14 Mile road east of Woodward avenue, and contains two dwellings and a portion of the Socony Mobil Oil Co. property.

Both are isolated from Troy Township, from which they would expect to receive governmental services.

It would be extremely difficult for the small remaining part of Troy Township to provide local government and offer normal local services, Birmingham officials say.

Annexation of the two parcels to Birmingham has been requested by the two owners. It would give the two parcels benefits of fire and police protection, water, sewerage, garbage and rubbish collection services and other municipal services.

The board of education will meet at Hill School Tuesday at 8 p.m. to receive bids on library, office and cafeteria furniture for Derby

Minnesota Group Will Give Sacred Concert Sunday

The Rev. G. J. Bersche announces a sacred concert will be presented at 7:30 Sunday evening in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 178 Green St.

A musical group from St. Paul Bible Institute in Minnesota will give a sacred program, consisting of mixed and ladies' duos, duets and solos. Trombone solos will also be played.

Included in the group will be Julie Welsh, pianist, of Durham, N.C.; Bether Cottrell, alto of Stuartville, Minn.; Shirley Spencer, soprano of McCordville, Ind.; Thomas Walker, tenor, and trombone soloist, Rochester, Minn.

The Rev. George A. French, dean of men, instructor, counselor and director of the Christian Service Department, is director of the group.

The Rev. Carl Messel, of Fresno, Calif., will be guest speaker Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He is a member of the local church and is considered one of the Home Field Workers.

53 Cities in State Now Use Fluorides

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department says nearly one million Michigan residents are now drinking fluoridated water.

The department reported 53 communities are now adding fluoride to their water to bring the fluoride content up to the recommended level of one part to one million parts of water.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said use of fluorides in Grand Rapids water has proved the chemical will reduce tooth decay by two-thirds.

"Our experience shows conclusively that fluoridation does just one thing: It reduces tooth decay and leads to bright smiles," Dr. Heustis said.

Student Lay Groups to Discuss Unification

Leaders of college student organizations representing a total of 300,000 students of four Protestant denominations have drawn up a tentative basis for union. They are the Congregational Christian Churches, Evangelical and Reformed Church, Disciples of Christ and Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The first two are already merged as the United Student Fellowship. The basis of union will be studied by local campus associations during the 1956-57 academic year and submitted to official boards of the respective denominations about 1958.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SATURDAY, MAY 26, 1956

Murphy a Good Choice for Register of Deeds

In choosing DANIEL T. MURPHY JR. from a list of 21 aspirants, to be Register of Deeds, a committee of Oakland County officials has made a good appointment.

It is the opinion of Probate Judge MOORE, County Clerk ALLEN and Prosecutor ZIEM that the appointee is well qualified by training, experience and personality to carry on the excellent work of his predecessor. On these three men fell the responsibility of filling the post made vacant by the untimely death of ORRIN McQUAID.

A resident of Oakland County for 23 years and active in the Republican party, Mr. MURPHY is a veteran of World War II. His formal education was completed in liberal arts and law at Wayne University. In his new post he will have the advantage of administrative experience gained in his work as customer relations executive for a contracting firm.

Besides his business interests, the new Register always has taken an active interest in community and civic affairs. A past commander of the Amvets and a Kiwanian, he has contributed notably to the work of the City's youth organizations.

We congratulate Mr. MURPHY on his appointment and wish him success in his important new post.

Ike Right in Opposing U. S. Tax Cut This Year

In his press conference President EISENHOWER wisely reiterated his opposition to any U. S. tax cut on the basis of an estimated $1.8 billion surplus by June 30.

As he did late in April when there was some talk in Congress of tax cut legislation, Mr. EISENHOWER said "no." Instead of a tax cut, he said the modest Treasury surplus should be used for the first payment in five years on the Nation's gigantic debt of $274.3 billion. In this stand he had the unqualified support of Treasury Secretary HUMPHREY and a large percentage of the American people.

The President, of course, deserves great credit for his resistance to steady pressure for election year tax relief. But his good sense in this matter should not be allowed to dim the luster of his Administration's achievement of balancing the budget for the first time since 1951.

In Mr. EISENHOWER'S January budget message he estimated Federal income at $64.5 billion and expenditures at $64.3 billion. It now has been revealed officially that income would reach $67.7 billion and expenditures $65.9 billion.

Balancing of the budget was no easy task. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that the increased Federal revenue which made it possible was a result of the country's prosperity in the Eisenhower Administration.

Enact Ambulance Law

There should be general satisfaction over the action of our City Commission in adopting Pontiac's new ambulance ordinance.

Aim of this legislation is to insure that injured persons will be skillfully handled by ambulance attendants. In its progress toward final enactment, the ordinance had the benefit of constructive criticism from owners and operators of emergency vehicles.

Besides giving affected persons 90 days in which to comply, it contains two other major provisions. Every emergency vehicle must be manned by at least one attendant who has completed an advanced Red Cross first aid course. Also such vehicles must be supplied with first aid equipment approved by the City Director of Health.

The Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for sponsoring this common sense ordinance and the City Commission for enacting it. Originally aimed to safeguard persons injured on the streets, it should result in safer and more comfortable transportation for everyone hurt anywhere in Pontiac.

$26,000,000 for Ex-GIs

Believe it or not Uncle Sam is looking for 130,000 World War II veterans so he can pay them a total of $26,000,000.

These ex-GIs are holders of Armed Forces Leave Bonds which haven't drawn any interest since 1951. This $26,000,000 is all that is left of more than $2 billion paid as reimbursement for unused leave between April 1, 1943 and October 1, 1946.

Now the Treasury would like to clear its books of this bond issue. It is calling on all veterans' organizations to help locate the 130,000 bond owners, who have an average holding of $200.

Since the veterans have given no indication of needing this money, it is suggested that they reinvest it in U. S. Series E Savings Bonds.

They couldn't find a safer place for it.

The People's Business: Nonpartisan Cobo

GOP Hopeful Aims Smile at Democrats, Too

By ROGER LANE
LANSING—At Albion, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo asked Republicans to elect him a kind of nonpartisan governor.

It was his formal outstate debut in the campaign, and may foreshadow the type of appeal he has in mind for state voters at large this fall.

Many of his Republican listeners must have noticed that in a 45-minute talk Cobo did not mention by name President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon or any of the Republican Party leaders in the state.

And certainly they heard him bring in former Democratic President Truman's name in a complimentary way as a benefactor to Detroit and its unemployed four years ago.

Cobo stressed the success he has had over the years in cooperating "inside government" with Democrats as well as Republicans.

ROLE PLAYED DOWN
And he played down the policy-making function of a chief administrative officer, such as a mayor or governor, saying "the legislative body makes the laws."

It's not our job as administrators to question the law. It's up to us to carry it out. If it's wrong the people will change it."

However, at another stage Cobo remarked, seemingly with pride, that the Common Council in Detroit had accepted over 61 years every one of his recommendations involving public works expenditures totaling 633 million dollars.

Returning to the theme of inter-party cooperation, Cobo declared emphatically that if elected he intended to get along with all other elected state officials, regardless of party.

And at another point:
"For 23 years, I have worked with all public officials, regardless of party."

HITS AT WILLIAMS
Cobo acknowledged that in a political campaign his basic philosophy of "co-operative government" had to be set aside.

He underscored this part of his belief with a liberal helping of criticism against Democratic Gov. Williams, and the promise of more to come.

Unending Rings of Influence

Days of All Faiths

Trinity Sunday Dedicated to Theology; No Saint or Historic Event Involved

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Big days in the Christian calendar are commonly connected with some saint or historic event. Sunday, Trinity Sunday, is the single exception in the whole year. A day in honor of a purely theological concept.

Beginning with the season of Advent the Church, in a sequence of observances, runs through the Lord's life, His birth, baptism, ministry, passion, death, resurrection, ascension, and finally, at Pentecost, the coming of the Holy Spirit.

All these are celebrated as ways in which God has revealed Himself, and His purposes and nature, in actual historic happenings. Now the sequence is brought to a conclusion with a day of summing-up, a statement of what He is not only in history but through all eternity: Three Persons in One God, a Trinity.

The idea of observing a Trinity Sunday was started by Stephen, Bishop of Liege, in the tenth century, and spread quickly to Germany and England, but not so quickly in the Latin countries. Popes, one after another, resisted the idea of an entirely theological festival, saying every Mass was a celebration in honor of the Trinity and nothing further was needed or appropriate. It was not until 1334, under John XXII, that Trinity Sunday was officially proclaimed.

Trinity is an exclusively Western feast. The Eastern Church does not observe it.

ST. JOAN OF ARC
The usual story of a martyred saint is that of the faithful Christian burned or otherwise put to death by heretics. In the case of Joan of Arc it was just the opposite—she was burned as a heretic by order of a church court.

This peasant girl, Joan La Pucelle, from the village of Domremy, must have been a very strange child. Depending on your point of view it probably would have been very easy to see her as either saint or witch, for it was obvious that some sort of spiritual forces were at work within her.

When she was only 14 she began to hear voices that told her of the mission to save France from the English, who had invaded her country under Henry V. and were meeting with only the most indifferent opposition. The voices, she later testified, were those of St. Michael, St. Catherine and St. Margaret.

By the time she was 18 she had led the armies of France to many victories. Captured by the Burgundians who had joined with the English, Joan was tried by an ecclesiastical court headed by the Bishop of Beauvais, and on May 24, 1431, she was burned as a heretic and her ashes were thrown in the river Seine.

Perhaps it is only legend that there were some standing by who said, "We are lost. We have burned a saint." But it is certain there were many who were not satisfied that justice had been done. Twenty-five years later her case was tried again, and this time Joan was vindicated. It was this trial that opened the way for her canonization in 1920, five centuries after her death.

It would not be too far wrong to say that Joan of Arc is the best known of all the saints. More than 2000 plays, biographies and articles have been written about her.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

Wednesday is, of course, Memorial Day in a majority of the states. Some Protestant churches, however, are calling it Remembrance Day, hoping to enlarge the day's scope beyond traditional military emphasis.

Among members of the National Council of Churches, several denominations will today launch a year's program of stress on the fact that a Christian should not forget his church when he makes his will.

"Remember the Church in your will," will be the theme of the Council's 1956-57 effort to hold before Protestants the possibility of continuing their support of their churches even after death.

Dr. Brady's Mailbag:

Calcicaps and Iodin Relieve Cramps; Assurance Aids in Removing Wens

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

A brief paragraph in your column gave me the assurance I needed—I had had two ugly wens for years and was afraid... while the doctor was removing them I was whistling... (M. S.)

Answer—Why not? Under local anesthesia the removal of wens, sac and all, through a wee skin incision, is perfectly painless. Keeping such an unsightly blemish intact is not merely a question of personal appearance, it implies a low I. Q.

Have taken calcicaps and iodine for years now, and they have certainly taken the cramps and stiffness out of my feet, toes, hands and fingers. It is great to be able to be active again and move around "natural"... 55 years of age. (Mrs. H. M. A.)

Answer—Thank you Ma'am. You do not name your trouble, but no matter. Anyone with cramps and stiffness may send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for booklet THE CALCICAP SHORTAGE and the pamphlet ADULT TETANY.

Son, born at home, weighed only 4 1/2 pounds, breast fed for 7 months, today, age 14 years old, healthy, strong. He has never brushed his teeth, never had a cavity. Our family is 100 per cent for Dr. Brady's teachings... (L. R. A.)

Answer—So far, fine and dandy, but I can't stamp the boy APPROVED until I have his parents or guardian's assurance that he is free at all times to wear or leave off whatever he likes.

For the past two winters (and summers too) our children have been wearing as much or as little clothing as they wish, indoors or out, as you teach in the CRI book. They have had less CRI than any of the neighbors' children. The neighbors think we are irresponsible... (R. A. F.)

Answer—Your children are lucky. Years from now they'll remember with affection how sensible mother and father were about it. For the booklet CALL IT CRI, send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. It deals with the illnesses which give doctors most of their work, teaches how to prevent such illnesses and why you need never worry about wet feet, drafts, insufficient clothing, dampness, change of weather or any other kind of everyday "exposure."

Years ago you told about a preparation to be used to immunize one self against my poisoning. In camp I'll probably come in contact... (C. W.)

Answer—Recipe for preparing the solution and instructions for taking it in the pamphlet, IVY POISONING, available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This is a long overdue letter of thanks for your dandruff remedy, which I and many of my friends have been using for the past 15 years, with great satisfaction. Nowadays I use it occasionally if I begin to get some dandruff... (S. R. A.)

Answer—Thank you. Recipe and detailed instructions for use of the remedy in Little Lesson 24 THE HAIR AND SCALP, for which send 35c and stamped self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Why. Should Schools Pay for Physical Examination?'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It's about time people started to take care of their own families. Why should we all pay for every child to have an examination before gymnasium? If your child has heart trouble or seems unfit, take him or her to a doctor yourself.

Why should the school have to watch him for you?

Also, if people want their children and families to have fluorides, let them have some kind of mixture in drug stores and not always be yelling for help.

Too many of you young parents nowadays want teachers, PTA, police and neighbors to raise you families for you and take care of your dogs and cats.

U. S., Soviets Maneuvering Like Foxes for Invitation

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—You need more than a scorecard to follow the players in this one. What happened may be high diplomacy. It looks more like a poker game.

Did the United States try to maneuver the Russians into inviting the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Moscow? Or did the Russians try to maneuver the United States into saying whether they'd accept before they were invited?

If the Russians invite the Joint Chiefs, and they go, the way has been cleared for President Eisenhower to ask his old World War II friend Marshal Georgi Zhukov to Washington. It's been rumored Eisenhower wanted to do that.

After such an exchange of visits the door naturally would be open to invite Russia's Premier Bulganin and Communist party boss Khrushchev here. The two Soviet leaders reportedly have been hinting they'd like to come.

As this story unfolds there are two points to keep in mind: (1) some unnamed person who gave a story to the New York Daily News and (2) American officials' statements that the Russians have not yet invited the Joint Chiefs.

This is what happened:
Last Monday the Russians, say they suggested to the U. S. Air Force that it send two or three high-ranking Air Force officers to see Russia's celebration of Aviation Day in Moscow June 24. This would not be the Joint Chiefs.

Yesterday morning the New York Daily News said it had learned from a source at the United Nations that Russia had sent word to Washington it would welcome a visit by the U. S. military command—the Joint Chiefs—for inspection of Soviet services. "A few hours later Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, Murray Snyder, said he 'wouldn't be surprised' if the Joint Chiefs accepted such an invitation if it arrived. A spokesman for the Joint Chiefs said they would give 'serious consideration' to an invitation."

The fact that Snyder and the Joint Chiefs' spokesman made any comment at all was pretty good evidence this country would welcome such an invitation. It was like saying, go ahead.

If the New York Daily News' unnamed source at the United Nations was a Russian, you could draw this conclusion:

By leaking on an invitation not yet extended, the Russians could learn whether such an invitation would be rebuffed or accepted.

If the reaction was bad they could get some propaganda out of it, claiming that a simple, friendly gesture they had in mind was dismissed by the Americans even before it was made.

If the source was an American, you could draw this conclusion: Knowing the Russians had invited a couple of lower ranking air officers, the United States could nudge the Russians publicly—through such comment as Snyder gave—into inviting the Joint Chiefs.

If the Russians took the hint, but put heavy restrictions on what the Americans could see in Russia, this country then could refuse to let them go and at the same time make propaganda about the Soviets' continued secrecy.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Being 'Strong, Silent' Type Is Mark of Juvenility, Doctor Crane Claims

smart creatures. They often have much better judgment on many things than do their husbands. And even if they don't offer any superior ideas, it is always good husbandly strategy to invite their help. For this inflates their ego and cements their devotion to their mates.

A husband may not always act upon the advice of his wife. Maybe he holds some extra evidence which proves superior to that offered by his spouse.

"But every husband should learn to seek the advice of his wife and invite her suggestions on his contemplated action, whether it be the building of a garage or the buying of a necktie."

"But doesn't it prove a delightful surprise to have the husband plan things?" asked Larry when I interviewed him.

Yes, to a certain degree it does. So surprise her with an unexpected movie date. But as a general rule, invite her suggestions on future plans.

COLLEGE YOUTH, TAKE HEED

Many high school and college youth make this same mistake of being too secretive about their plans.

That's one reason why they often get into trouble, for their parents and friends may possess knowledge which they lack but which would obviously show the folly of their proposed action.

So make it a rule in life, if you wish to be popular and a good leader, to invite help.

Don't think it indicates weakness or juvenility. Instead, it is a mark of a topnotch executive to throw your ideas on the table and then let your friends or family thresh out the issue.

They will often sport some wonderful improvements that you never had thought about.

And they become much more devoted to you and far more interested in your future by having invested some advice in you.

Indeed, one of the very best ways to win a sweetheart is to ask her advice and thus let her invest her suggestions in you.

"Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also," says the Bible and that is an effective method in romance when you want to win a mate against stiff competition.

Moreover, asking advice is the most deft form of compliment.

So send for my booklet "The Compliment Club," enclosing a stamped return envelope plus 20 cents in coin.

It gives the various laws for complimenting and can set you on the quick road to popularity, as well as success in love and business.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane, care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 35c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORSJUNIOR EDITORS ORCHESTRA — 6
THE CYMBALS

Since at least one thousand years before the birth of Christ cymbals have been used as musical instruments.

Modern cymbals are made of two big round pieces of brass, slightly hollowed on the inside, and fitted with leather handles outside. Many different sound effects can be obtained by striking the cymbals together, sliding them against one another, or beating one with a drumstick.

Johnnie plays the cymbals in the Junior Editors' Orchestra. He can also play the gong, which is shown on the ground beside him. This is of oriental origin, and is used in Chinese and Japanese temples. It is of hammered bronze and is struck with a padded drumstick.

Color this picture with your crayons, and paste down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully, and attach his arms to the correct shoulders with brass fasteners or bent pins through the holes indicated. Johnnie can then clash his cymbals up and down. Fold the ends of the base back and he will stand up.

Now you should have six cutouts for a table-top orchestra.

(Mary Churner, Madera, Pa., first submitted this idea. If you send in a useable idea for Junior Editors care of this newspaper it may win you $10. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

EFFINGHAM, Ill. — A crippled woman who admitted killing her husband, saying he came drunk from a round of tavern visits and threatened her, filed suit yesterday for $360,000.

Mrs. Naomi Larimer, 33, free under $10,000 bond in the shotgun slaying May 13, said in two Circuit Court suits she and her two small children were deprived of the support of Noble Larimer as a result of his drinking.

The suits were filed under the Illinois Dram Shop Act which makes tavern operators liable for bodily harm resulting from drinking in their establishments.

Mrs. Larimer uses two canes to get about as a result of a polo attack.

In an average year, one of every four American families moves.

Brown took the car from his driveway last Sunday without telling his wife. She noticed it gone and reported it stolen. Later he came home, and they forgot about it.

Yesterday police spotted the car, still on their "hot" sheet. They chased. When Brown drove on, a fusillade riddled the car, but amazingly didn't touch the puzzled Browns.

Brown stopped, explained, and commented: "Man, look what you've done to my car!"

The officers agreed it was shot.

Man Wants Phone Book to List Wife

Friends Say This Would Imply She's Head of the House

By EMILY POST

The following letter comes from a man: "Would it be proper to have our home telephone listed in my wife's name instead of my name, as she uses it almost exclusively?"

"Friends tell me that it would be wrong to do this and would imply that she is either a widow or that she is head of the house and paying the bills. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: Although the telephone is more often listed in the husband's name than the wife's, it is in no way unusual, and certainly not belittling to him, to have it listed in the name of Mrs. John Smith. To have it listed in the name of Mrs. Mary Smith would be in very bad taste.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I are both in our early 40s. He has a brother in the early 20s who is going to be married soon and my husband has been asked to be his best man. His bride-to-be has asked me to be a bridesmaid.

"I appreciate her asking, but I feel the age difference between me and her young friends who will be bridesmaids is too great and I will certainly feel out of place. Could I possibly refuse to take part without hurting her feelings?"

Answer: I understand your feelings perfectly and it would not be wrong to explain to the bride-to-be that you appreciate her wanting you as one of her attendants but that you would feel very much out of place with her young friends.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to know if it would be proper for a daughter to give her mother and father each a gold wedding band as a gift on their birthdays. My father never had one and my mother's is pretty well worn out. I would very much appreciate your advice."

Answer: Find out first of all

how they would feel if you did this, and if it would please them, by all means do so.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORSJUNIOR EDITORS ORCHESTRA — 6 THE CYMBALS

Since at least one thousand years before the birth of Christ cymbals have been used as musical instruments.

Modern cymbals are made of two big round pieces of brass, slightly hollowed on the inside, and fitted with leather handles outside. Many different sound effects can be obtained by striking the cymbals together, sliding them against one another, or beating one with a drumstick.

Johnnie plays the cymbals in the Junior Editors' Orchestra. He can also play the gong, which is shown on the ground beside him. This is of oriental origin, and is used in Chinese and Japanese temples. It is of hammered bronze and is struck with a padded drumstick.

Color this picture with your crayons, and paste down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully, and attach his arms to the correct shoulders with brass fasteners or bent pins through the holes indicated. Johnnie can then clash his cymbals up and down. Fold the ends of the base back and he will stand up.

Now you should have six cutouts for a table-top orchestra. (Mary Churner, Madera, Pa., first submitted this idea. If you send in a useable idea for Junior Editors care of this newspaper it may win you $10. Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Kills Drunk Hubby, Now Sues Bar Owner

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (P) — A crippled woman who admitted killing her husband, saying he came home drunk from a round of tavern visits and threatened her, filed suit yesterday for $360,000.

Mrs. Naomi Larimer, 33, free under $10,000 bond in the shotgun slaying May 13, said in two Circuit Court suits she and her two small children were deprived of the support of Noble Larimer as a result of his drinking.

The suits were filed under the Illinois Dram Shop Act which makes tavern operators liable for bodily harm resulting from drinking in their establishments.

Mrs. Larimer uses two canes to get about as a result of a polo attack.

Special Election Details Posted

Huron Valley District
Voting on $1,200,000
Bond Issue Monday

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent
MILFORD—Last minute details and explanations are being ironed out concerning the special election to be held Monday in the Huron Valley school district.

Voters will be asked to approve a new $1,200,000 bond issue to complete an extended building program which began last year. A $1,250,000 school bond issue was approved at that time but due to the sharp increase in population and building costs, proved inadequate.

School board members, principals and Superintendent Harold Hansen have attended various club meetings during the past months, in an effort to explain and clarify controversial issues that have arisen.

Hansen, in a special interview with the Press, explained that taxes would decrease instead of increasing in the Highland, Milford and Commerce townships.

Due to the increase in State Equalization Aid in White Lake Township, there will be a slight increase in taxes there, even though the debt retirement millage for the schools is lower.

Under the proposed bond issue, the millage for debt retirement purposes, will be further lowered by 2 mills for the 1957-58 school year according to Hansen. This includes all properties in the 100 square mile school district.

With Huron Valley District valuation now at the $25,920,177 mark, school board members only need to ask for 10.5 mills for the 1956 debt retirement.

The new bond issue will include a multi-purpose room addition to the Brooks School, construction of two new elementary units and completion of the new high school which is now under construction.

SEMI-SITUATION
School board secretary, Larry Brandenburg, summed up the situation with "If the new bond issue is defeated, the school district will face an increase cost for the same program at a later date as all building costs are on the upgrade."

The three precincts for Huron Valley voters will be at the Baker School in Milford, Highland Elementary and at the White Lake Township Hall. The polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

King Tut's Tomb Sealed With Glue Wood Panels

The longevity of wood must be measured in thousands of years, reports the National Lumber Manufacturers Assn. Wood models and figurines 6,000 years old have been found by archeologists in the tombs of ancient Egypt.

In fact, glued wood panels were interred with the body of King Tut, according to archeological discoveries. Most historians agree that the oldest wooden building in the world today is the 1,349-year-old Horyuji Temple at Kyoto, Japan.

Exceptions to the Rule

Strangely enough, the famous mahogany crotch is available in merchantable quantities only in African mahogany. To be acceptable, tree trunks producing crotches must divide into two limbs of about equal size. Trees that fork into two limbs of almost the same size are the exception rather than the rule.

Typical Clapboard House Constantly Needs Repairs

There are a few structures that show as sharp a "before-and-after" contrast as the typical clapboard house which is painted after long neglect. When this type of structure has been neglected far beyond repaint time, a number of things happen that suggest a worse physical condition than is the case.

When paint has peeled badly, the underlying board surfaces undergo the repeated process of absorbing water and giving it up in evaporation. The result is a pattern of weather streaks ranging through several tones of black grey and brown that contrasts with the original paint. Where the paint has flaked off a nail head, the nail rusts, often creating a dark ring around it.

Study the ring closely and you will see the red of rust plus the dark blacks or greys of oxidation that have penetrated into the wood. When rain washes down the side of a clapboard house that shows exposed raw wood patches, it works under the old paint and causes blisters. These blisters break and collect wind-borne dirt which adds still more unwanted dark colors to the unpleasant rainbow. The whole blotchy appearance reflects a seemingly worse condition than is the case and the whole thing can be restored to a smooth mono-color.

Most instructions for the preliminary touch-up before painting a house sound like a lot of items. Actually, if you were to describe each separate operation that a woman goes through in cleaning up a living room, it might fill a page, yet everybody knows that the chores can be done quickly. There are old perennial chores to perform before painting the clapboard house, whether in the ever popular white or any other color.

SAND ALL SURFACES

Sand all rough surfaces. On any surface where paint has lifted up, whether blistered, checked or rising up in curls, a few strokes of the sandpaper block will remove the stuff that should come off and leave whatever old film still has good bonding qualities.

While sanding, catch up on the little repairs. Any nail heads that protrude should be driven in. Those that are counter-sunk should be covered with putty before getting a touch of primer.

Don't paint over any kind of dirt. Areas that don't need sanding may need only to be cleaned of dust. Be careful of grease spots. Wash them off with a solvent or soap and water and be sure the spot has dried out before painting.

MAY NEED CAULKING

Generally, the house that has suffered long neglect in painting also needs some caulking. Today's new caulking compounds are better than ever, are sold in all sorts of dispensers that make it easy to force this sealer into cracks. Ex-done a little at a time. Don't be

KARPET SQUARES — Introduced a short time ago, Karpet-Squares are now found in use in practically every room. They fit in remarkably well with any decor, including Early American, Modern and Traditional. Karpet-Squares are 18-inch square of cotton carpet with built-in cushion and adhesive backing. They are available in 12 colors and are self-sticking on any clean surface, including primed cement.

Older Houses Lack Closets

Although many older homes are spacious, it's a rare one which has enough closet space. Quite a few, however, have window seats with hinged lids which can easily be converted into a moth-free storage space for furs and woollens.

When lined with aromatic red cedar closet lining, the window seats make deep, dry storage spaces which are readily accessible, yet out of the sight of visitors.

Lining the window seats with red cedar is a job any home handyman can do in a few hours of spare time.

Aromatic red cedar closet lining is available in handy packages at most lumber dealers. Each package contains enough of the pieces to cover at least 32 square feet of area. The cedar strips are tongued and grooved for close fit and easy installation.

When lining the window seats, cover the floor or bottom first, then the sides and finally the lid. Place the grooved edge of the first piece of cedar against one of the sides and the grooved end against the adjoining side. This will make it easier to fit other pieces to the first strip. The lid also should be lined for complete moth protection.

Elasticity of the Wood Saves Many a House

Wood frame homes and schools have an extraordinarily high safety factor in saving human life under severe conditions, a national research expert declares. F. J. Champion, of the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, says, "Under the loads imposed by severe winds or by the shock loads in earthquakes, it is the elasticity of wood that permits it to roll with the punch, to bend and spring back without shattering."

Ranch Style Is Big Influence in Home Building

One of the most powerful influences on modern home building is the ranch-style house.

Basically, it's a simple, economical plan, ideally suited for today's informal family living. Areas flow one into the other. Stairs do not waste space. The design is rational and humane, and structural lines are not hidden by phony, useless ornamentation.

The ranch-style is typically American. It's honest, efficient and straight-forward. It was the ranch-style which made possible the modern family room, and for any number of activities and recreations. Increased living-room space has resulted from the versatile ranch design. And it was the ranch house, originally, which brought the outdoors inside; large window areas esthetically "fit" in the one-story design.

The design has influenced the psychology of family living. Open areas and the basic simplicity of room interiors have helped create a feeling of warmth and informality.

It is probably one of the most economical of modern homes to build because space is used so efficiently. Nothing is wasted. Built-ins are everywhere. With its efficiency, friendly comfort and economy, the ranch-style house will long have its influence on the American scene.

A new Tehran company will manufacture fiber hardboard in Iran.

tempted to bypass them in your eagerness to get to your brush swinging. The importance of proper surface preparation can't be exaggerated.

The tools and accessories needed for surface preparation include sandpaper, steel wool or a wire brush, hammer, cleaning rags and dusting brushes, putty and a putty knife, caulking material, necessary primers and brushes. For the actual painting you'll need extra cans for mixing the paint and paddles for stirring. You'll need strainers for removing the lumps that mar the smooth finish and rags for mopping spatters. You'll also need drop cloths for protecting porch roofs, floor and steps, shrubbery and plants.

For applying paint to flat surfaces, you'll need a 4" or 5" brush, for trim and window frames, a 1" or 1½" brush. There are specially designed brushes for window sashes that ease the job. You'll also need solvent for cleaning your brushes.

When you're ready to begin painting, start at the highest point and apply paint in horizontal strips about three feet wide, working from left to right. When possible, paint above the top of the ladder. This allows you to reach a wider area. Try to avoid stopping in the middle of a strip for any great length of time. If you do, your lunch hour may show up in the finished job.

The best stopping place is at the end of a strip—or at a window or door. For safety and working ease, the distance between the house and the base of your ladder should be about 1/4 to 1/3 of the length of the ladder.

County Planner Reports on Two Parking Studies

Two studies of parking problems the county. In addition, the survey in Union Lake and Farmington are expected to answer broad, general questions concerning the Plan Commission director George N. Skrubbs said yesterday, and the Commission's Retail Trade Study should be released in the near future.

University of Michigan facilities now are being used to tabulate the Commission's county Industrial Survey, Skrubbs added.

The Retail Trade Survey, which has been in progress for over a year, is being conducted by the University of Michigan's Bureau of Business Research, financed by the Plan Commission.

It is intended to answer six major questions and provide a comprehensive picture of the successes and failures of retailers in the area.

The survey was taken, Skrubbs said, by passing out questionnaires through local elementary schools. Results are now being tabulated in Ann Arbor for the county as a whole and for localized districts.

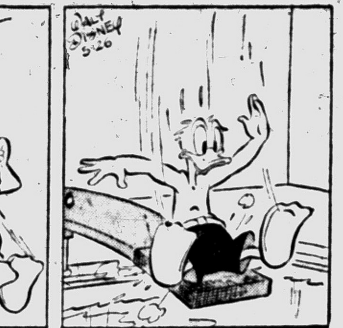

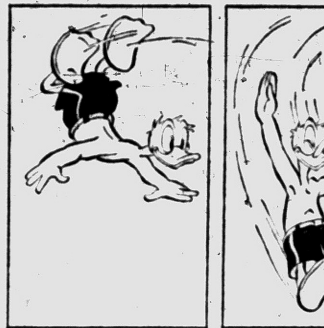

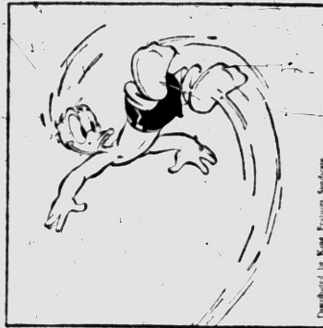

Heroic Lifesaver, 15, Has Favor Returned

ELIZABETH CITY, N.C. (AP) — Richard Walter, 15, helped rescue two persons from drowning last August. The favor was returned in good measure yesterday.

Walter was rescued from the Pasquotank River by the Coast Guard after his sailboat overturned in a stiff wind.

Dr. John Weeks, Pasquotank County coroner who lives nearby, saw Walter clinging to an inflated inner tube. He called Coast Guard headquarters, which dispatched a rescue helicopter.
