Second Pay Hike in Year Is OK'd for City Employees

Pontiac municipal employees were granted pay hikes last night totaling more than a quarter-million dollars.

The pay raises — the second within a year — were included in a salary and job reclassification study made by the Michigan Municipal League (MML) and adopted last night by the City Commission.

Designed to keep local municipal salaries competitive with industry and neighboring communities, the MML-recommended pay schedules will cost an estimated $294,777 in the next calendar year.

The cost for the balance of the current year, retroactive to Aug. 8, was estimated at $118,231, according to city officials.

While not all of the city's 750 employees will receive a heavier paycheck next pay day, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said few city workers would not have at least a modest salary hike.

Coupled with the pay adjustments granted last year, which totaled $279,000, some city salaries have been boosted substantially in the last twelve months.

ANNUAL EARNING

For example, Warren said that firemen and policemen, who were earning $6,049 annually prior to the pay hike last year, now will receive $7,069.

This is a jump of $1,010 a year, said Warren.

Similarly, a police sergeant's pay has jumped by $1,306 a year with the two pay adjustments.

Meanwhile, a fire captain's pay, through the same process, has climbed $1,257 a year.

ACCEPT PLAN

The seven-member commission accepted Warren's recommendation to fully implement the pay scales. Each of the other alternatives would have partially implemented the league's salary plan.

Warren proposed full implementation because "the purpose of the survey was to determine the proper pay range for each position."

There was, from a city employee's view, one dark spot to the commission's action last night. The MML study recommended (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

May Reject Pay Schedule for Employees

The possibility was raised today that police and firemen might reject last night by the City Commission.

Jack Douglas, president of the Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA), said that his group and members of the Pontiac Police Officers' Association (PPOA) would meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Metropolitan Club, 37 W. Yale.

Other employee groups might also attend, according to the PFA head, but The Press would be excluded.

Douglas said police and firemen would weigh whether to accept or reject the new pay plan.

"We were never consulted," said Douglas, "but they just went ahead and adopted it."

Guy White, chairman of the PPOA wage committee, said his committee "has had a meeting concerning the recent Michigan Municipal League survey. We are grossly in disagreement with it and have called a special meeting of the association to present the plan to them."

City Manager Joseph A. Warren commented, "I can't understand why they should see it first, the commission has to be in agreement before anything can be done."

Warren said that technically the plan still was not in effect until he signed the documents. He said he would welcome any employee comments.

Hope to Avert Strike

Steel Talks in Key Stage

2 Main Issues Being Argued by Negotiators

Meetings Continue With Top Officials Urging Quick Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators trying to avert a nation-wide steel strike were described today as having "reached the stage of hard and tough bargaining."

This characterization of the marathon sessions came from Bill D. Moyers, White House press secretary.

"They are having straightforward confrontations on two main issues—that is, wages and pensions," Moyers said.

The management and labor representatives were meeting, sometimes jointly and sometimes separately, in the executive office building next door to the White House.

Moyers was asked about progress in the talks.

"I have no indication of what progress is being made," he said.

NO CONTACT

In response to another question, Moyers said President Johnson, who successfully sought an eight-day postponement of the threatened steel strike to permit continued negotiations, had had no personal contact with the negotiators.

Moyers said Johnson was getting frequent reports, however, an Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor who are sitting in on the talks.

Wirtz and Connor met separately during the morning with the industry and labor negotiating teams.

Originally, a strike that would have idled 450,000 workers and shut down 30 per cent of the industry had been called for 12:01 a.m. today by the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers Union. The postponement secured by Johnson put the deadline off to Sept. 8.

DEMAND INCREASES

The union is demanding wage and fringe benefits increases amounting to about 53 cents an hour over three years. The industry's last offer was 40.8 cents.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russians said today a Soviet satellite took a "detailed picture" of the U.S. atomic explosion in space over the Pacific Ocean on July 9, 1963.

The American missile-borne thermonuclear device, reported between one and two megatons, was detonated in the upper level of the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of about 200 miles.

The Bulletin of the Soviet Academy of Sciences said the picture of the explosion was obtained by the Cosmos 3 satellite.

The test ban treaty outlawing nuclear explosions in the atmosphere was signed on Oct. 10, 1963.

Today's claim followed recent Soviet charges that American satellites were engaged in space spying missions.

"One of the basic missions of Cosmos satellites was to study and control radiation hazards to manned flights, especially after high altitude explosions," the Bulletin said.

"Using Cosmos 5 instruments, for instance, Soviet scientists have obtained a detailed picture of the results of the American atomic explosion of July 9, 1963."

The Bulletin said Cosmos 17, another satellite in the same series, also yielded what it called important information on radiation at an altitude of 372 to 496 miles.

U.S. space officials said today the Cosmos 5 presumably obtained detailed information about the artificial radiation belt created by a high altitude U.S. H-bomb test in 1962.

They made it clear, however, that the Soviet satellite was not a photographic reconnaissance spacecraft and made no pictorial record of the test.

By "picture," scientists here explained, the Academy undoubtedly meant detailed information obtained instrumentally. They said it was not surprising that Cosmos 5 did get such information.

He Got Lost on His Way to 'Shindig'

A 13-year-old Flint runaway with a vivid imagination entertained local State Police last night.

Claiming to be a "Beatle-type" bass player from Liverpool, he spun a yarn of a chauffeur who decamped with his Rolls Royce with $50,000 in the trunk — oops, bob.

His beautiful British accent disappeared at the end of the hoax at Metropolitan Airport, where he had led police to recover his luggage.

When they got there, the lockers were bare, and so was his identity as John Julius Lennon of the "Yardbirds."

He became Dennis R. Williams of Flint. His parents were informed, and the curtain came down on his performance.

Price-Fixing Assessments Cost Firms $400 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — Damages assessed in a 1960 electrical equipment price-fixing scandal have neared $400 million.

The total was increased Tuesday when a federal judge assessed General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. nearly $17 million in damages for their part in fixing prices, rigging bids and dividing equipment valued at $1.75 billion annually.

The companies had been found guilty in 1961. The ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Wilfred Feinberg was in a civil case to determine damages.

Judge Feinberg ruled that Ohio Valley Electric Corp. and its subsidiary, the Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corp., were fraudulently overcharged by $5,424,401 for 11 steam turbine generators they bought in 1952 to supply the Atomic Energy Commission plant near Portsmouth, Ohio.

He awarded triple damages of $7,424,373 for Ohio Valley Electric and $9,448,830 for Indiana-Kentucky Electric.

The conspiracy has cost General Electric more than $225 million and Westinghouse more than $110 million.

Spokesmen for the two companies said 99 per cent of the dollar claims have been settled. Most of the cases never went to court.

Group Asks Cleanup of Bagley Area

An urgent plea was made last night by Negro citizens for a physical and moral cleanup of the Bagley-Wessan area on Pontiac's near south side.

Appearing before the City Commission, Negro spokesmen petitioned for municipal help in cracking down on open prostitution and vice, public drinking, loitering, speeding and parking problems.

Also sought was a curb on nightly visits to the area by white youths and men looking for prostitutes.

The Negro spokesmen, including Clarence E. Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League, emphasized that the sort of white men could enflame racial tensions in the city.

"I have a fear of what could happen from this," commented District I-Commissioner T. Warren Fowler.

Three examples with "real serious (racial) overtones" were presented. These incidents included:

- A white male who attempted to rundown a Negro woman.
- Two Negro youths observed chasing a white male down along the Clinton River.
- An incident whereby two white youths "looking for girls" approached a respectable Negro man at his home. The man told the youths to leave and threw a brick at them when they failed to do so. The youths returned later and tossed a brick through the window of the man's house.

Haywood Gullatte, 140 Bagley, acted as spokesman for the Bagley-Wessan Club. He said the group seeks to improve both the appearance and atmosphere of the area.

Gullatte presented the commission with a petition signed by an estimated 30 residents of the area, detailing their grievances.

At-Home Popularity Seems a Bit Shaky

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Mayor Charles V. Ryan may have had some second thoughts about his at-home popularity yesterday when nine civil rights demonstrators picketed his home.

Ryan's 4-year-old son, Timmy, put on his football helmet, grabbed a plastic baseball bat and joined the picket line.

Cooler Weather Escorts Start of September

Outdoor activities scheduled for this evening call for warm jackets as the weatherman forecasts clear skies and lows falling into the 40s.

Sunny and mild, the highs near 64 to 72 in tomorrow's prediction, and fair and warmer is the outlook for Friday.

Westerly winds will continue at 3 to 15 miles per hour.

A low of 58 was recorded in downtown Pontiac at 8 a.m. today. The temperature at 2 p.m. was 74.

3-Day Review Under Way

County's '66 Budget Near Final Form

Oakland County's 1966 budget may appear in its final form tomorrow afternoon even though it has not formally been adopted by the board of supervisors until Oct. 4.

The ways and means committee of the board of supervisors began a three-day budget review yesterday and is expected to complete revisions at the end of tomorrow's session.

Chances are good, in view of past performances, that the budget as revised by the influential ways and means committee will be approved by the full board.

In its current review to establish a final budget, the ways and means committee is concerned with three prior budgets. For comparative purposes, the committee is examining the 1965 county budget, the tentative 1966 budget prepared last spring before the county's tax rate was known and a recently recommended 1966 budget prepared by the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

BUDGET FIGURE

The 1965 budget calls for expenditures of $118,971 compared to $10,428,037 in the tentative 1966 budget last spring and $18,177,155 in the budget proposed by the board of auditors.

Comments by some of the ways and means committee members at yesterday's opening session that the latter budget was "tight" indicated that the committee may have some additions along with its traditional budget cutting.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors, explained the budget had to be tight because the demand for more services annually exceeds the revenue increase.

Murphy reiterated his theory that the 15-mill limitation should be raised to 18 mills and tax rates should be frozen once and for all for the county, school districts and townships.

ADEQUATE FUNDS

This not only would provide adequate funds but also would eliminate the annual haggling before the tax allocation board over division of the present 15 mills.

Raising the limitation to 18 mills would require a referendum.

Revenue in the 1966 budget suggested by the board of auditors amounts to $12,971,130 based on the county's tax level of 5.3 mills with the balance coming from estimated receipts.

Included in the expenditures are $7,558,712 for salaries; $7,128,027 for departmental and institutional operating costs; and $3,421,416 in nondepartmental appropriations.

The major factors in the 1958-59 increase in the budget proposed by the auditors and the current one are $755,300 additional for the social welfare department and $132,600 more for salaries.

Pay Increase Gets Approval

The commission did not pass on the longevity plan, stating that it might be considered at a later date.

OTHER FUNDS

Expense of the pay hikes can be financed this year because of $103,907 appropriated in the 1965 general fund budget and the revenues from the other self-supporting funds, sewage treatment, waste collection, water and public housing.

However, the city manager said, the financial map could develop in 1966. Costs of the pay schedules next year were listed as:

General Fund, $250,241; Sewage Treatment, $7,862; Waste Collection, $9,394; Water Works, $23,797; Public Housing, $4,253.

Stating he was optimistic, Warren said, nevertheless, that the city's valuation would have to rise by $25 million to net the $250,241 needed to cover the added costs to the general fund alone.

The pay adjustments result from the $5,000 survey by the MML of one county and 11 comparable cities, taking in the pay for each municipal employee and the duties of each position.

COMPARISONS

City Commissioners had Warren compare Pontiac's new municipal wages with those of other cities.

The city manager replied that wages would rate on a par with those paid elsewhere, but that the city led in the area of fringe benefits.

He estimated that, added to the salary cost of a fireman or policeman, the city would be about $2,900 in fringe benefits.

City officials admitted that local municipal wages were substandard in the past. Warren said that apparently fringe benefits were increased in the past in lieu of salary boosts.

FRINGE BENEFITS

Speaking of fringe benefits, Warren continued, "They've skyrocketed to quite an impressive and expensive package."

As an example, the city manager pointed out that, in 1966, the costs of police and fire pensions would be more than 22 percent of the payroll for those departments.

City officials indicated that, if the 1966 budget could not be financed in the 1966 budget, the only alternative would be to trim city services.

4 India Planes Said Downed

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — The government claimed Pakistani planes shot down four Indian planes supporting retreating Indian ground forces in Kashmir today.

The official announcement said the air battle took place over the Chamb area, which is inside the Indian sector of Pakistan.

Earlier, a government spokesman said Pakistani Kashmir troops had crossed the ceasefire line in that area and had occupied two Indian posts.

The spokesman reported the action was in the Bhimbar sector of southwestern Kashmir. He identified the Indian posts as Devana and Chamb.

FIRST CROSSING

If confirmed, this would be the first crossing of the ceasefire line by Pakistani forces since the present flareup of fighting in the divided Himalayan state. India has crossed the line and occupied some Pakistani posts.

The Pakistan spokesman said the action at Bhimbar was the action of further aggression by India.

"From today onward, we're in the fighting," he added.

The spokesman said the government of Pakistan considered the present situation grave. He added that responsibility for the gravity of the situation lay squarely upon India.

PAKISTANI WAIT

Explaining why the government had waited so long to react, he said: "We have been waiting, that India would see sense. Our hopes, however, have been belied, particularly because of increased aggression during the last few days."

The spokesman acknowledged a setback on another sector of the front, Haji Pir Pass, where India is fighting inside Pakistani-held Kashmir.

"After a heroic fight, the Azad (Pakistan) Kashmir forces have evacuated the Haji Pir Pass and conceded it to the invading Indian troops because they had pushed into battle overwhelming forces," he said.

Charge Negro in Race Clash

No Incidents Mar Bogalusa Enrollment

By United Press International
Police in Plymouth, N.C., today charged a Negro with shooting a white man during racial turmoil last night, and in Natchez, Miss., riot-ready armed patrols walked the streets to control possible outbreaks of racial violence.

At Bogalusa, La., five Negro students enrolled without incident at two previously all-white schools. It was the first school integration in the Louisiana city — scene of repeated racial violence this summer.

The Negro man charged in Plymouth was identified as Albin Arrington, a pulpwood worker. Last night one white man was shot, allegedly by Arrington, and another knifed-slashed a block away.

Plymouth was quiet today, but scores of police patrolled the city. Police arrested one young white civil rights worker who attempted to lead a march. Authorities blamed the Klan for creating the atmosphere that led to the violence.

In Natchez, officers patrolled until dawn to enforce a curfew they hope will keep a shaky racial peace. A civil rights leader wired President Johnson yesterday that one more incident could possibly cause a racial uproar.

Natchez Negroes have been on edge since Friday when a local civil rights leader was injured in a booby trap bombing of his car.

On the school front, desegregation of several schools was accomplished quickly yesterday in Alabama's "black belt."

ISSUE ORDERS

Federal courts in Birmingham and Mobile issued orders yesterday restraining civil rights officers from staging demonstrations at schools and urging students to boycott classes.

Santo Domingo Crisis Ended

Rebel Leaders Hail OAS Peace Formula

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Organization of American States secured a full agreement today terminating the 4-month-old Dominican crisis.

The peace formula insured the installation of a provisional government. Friday as a first step toward general elections in nine months.

Rebel leaders cheered the peace plan. Heads of the armed forces, taking over after the rival civilian-military junta stepped aside, pledged full support to the provisional government.

The peace proposal was signed first by the insurgent regime behind rebel lines Tuesday night. Then Dominican armed forces leaders, meeting at the headquarters of the junta, signed a declaration of support for the peace plan and the provisional government.

TERMINATED EFFORTS

The government terminated nearly three months of peace efforts by the three-man OAS political committee of Ambassadors Ellsworth Bunker of the United States, Ramon de Guzman of El Salvador and Ilmar Perna of Brazil.

The formula calls for a 44-year-old lawyer, diplomat, Hector Garcia-Godoy, to become president of the interim regime. He will be installed Friday.

His provisional government will negotiate withdrawal of the OAS peace force, composed of 8,000 U.S. and 2,000 Latin-American troops, still patrolling the battle-scarred capital.

The peacekeeping troops took over after the initial U.S. intervention in the rebellion which erupted April 24 in an abortive effort to bring former President Juan Bosch back to power.

FINAL PHASE

The final phase of the agreement came in midnight in the offices of Armed Forces Secretary Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, the only member of the junta who did not resign in opposition to the peace formula. Other junta members, whose resignations prevented a serious deadlock in the peace negotiations, were absent.

Rivera Caminero, 36, the tough-talking armed forces strongman, was accompanied in the signing by the three chiefs of state. Among them were Emilio Jimenez of the navy, Gen. Jacinto Martinez Arana of the army, and Gen. Juan de los Santos Cespedes of the air force. Gen. German Desprezalde signed as commander of the national police.

68 GIs Killed in Viet Over 2-Week Period

SAIGON (UPI) — A U.S. military spokesman said today 68 Americans were killed in Viet Nam in the two-week period ending last Saturday, the heaviest losses of the war for American forces.

The spokesman reported the Viet Cong lost 500 killed and 125 captured in the week ending Aug. 25. A week before he had set Viet Cong losses at 1,010 dead — a record total of 1,500 for the two-week period.

Clark, of 664 Scottwood, said there are 25 to 30 members on his committee now, and these, as well as several expected new members, will attend the Oct. 4 hearing.

The $3,000 raise for both circuit and probate judges was recommended by the salary committee last week.

This would hike the circuit salaries to $29,000 and probate court to $26,500.

The mean temperature was 69.3 degrees this year compared with 67.4 degrees last year. It rained five days and three nights this year compared with a rainfall on seven days and five nights in 1964.

LESS SUNSHINE

The sun shined brightly during 14 days and it was partly sunny another day. This compared with 21 sunny days for August a year ago.

There were fifteen days in the month when the temperatures reached 80 degrees and over, with four days when the temperatures went above 90.

Birmingham Area News

Begin Work Tuesday on Road Improvement

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The improvement of West Long Lake Road will begin Tuesday, with not a single tree in the city destined to be cut down.

The much-protested widening of the road, at the expense of the trees, will be limited to the stretch in Bloomfield Township.

Plans of the Oakland County Road Commission had been to add two feet to the width of the road between Telegraph and Woodward.

The commission had indicated Long Lake would be a logical detour when the State Highway Department closed Square Lake Road for widening.

Thus, Long Lake was to be improved so it could handle the extra traffic burden.

TREE REMOVAL

The widening of the stretch and straightening out of a curve at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club would have necessitated the removal of trees along the shoulder.

City officials, country club representatives and homeowners protested vehemently.

Plans now call for the road to be widened to four lanes between Telegraph and Lahser, the western city limit.

The only work within the city will be an approach just east of Lahser for transition between the wider and narrower stretches and the improvement of the intersections at Lahser and Vaughan.

PLAN OUTLINE

Paul VanRoekel, county highway engineer, presented an outline of the plans in a letter to an objecting resident.

He sent a copy of the letter to City Hall.

VanRoekel noted that he had several meetings with city officials and country club spokesmen.

"Presumably, they are well aware and adequately forewarned that Long Lake Road is going to have to be improved sooner or later and that some of the trees are going to have to be removed when it is improved, and they have sufficient time to plant new trees, hedges and so forth," he commented.

A $18,500 contract for the work to be started next week was awarded to Groleau Brothers Inc. of Commerce Township.

When the road is closed for the construction, Square Lake Road will be used as a detour route.

Group Raps Pay Hikes for Judges

A proposed $3,000 raise for Oakland County judges was attacked today by a newly formed citizens group comprised mainly of retirees.

F. L. Clark, chairman of the Citizens Tax Payers Committee issued a written protest at today's meeting of the ways and means committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Clark asked to be allowed to elaborate on the citizens committee stand, but ways and means committee chairman David Levinson said that any comments on salaries would have to be made at the Oct. 4 public hearing on the proposed 1966 county budget.

The ways and means committee is in the second day of a three-day review session on the proposed budget which will be submitted to the full board on Oct. 4.

Clark said that there is no shortage of lawyers willing and able to serve as judges at the present salary level.

He also stated that tax increases resulting from salary hikes are added burdens to senior citizens and other persons with fixed incomes.

Clark pointed out that judges received a $2,000 raise two years ago and that at this time two more circuit judges were approved for the county.

Clark, of 664 Scottwood, said there are 25 to 30 members on his committee now, and these, as well as several expected new members, will attend the Oct. 4 hearing.

The $3,000 raise for both circuit and probate judges was recommended by the salary committee last week.

This would hike the circuit salaries to $29,000 and probate court to $26,500.

There were fifteen days in the month when the temperatures reached 80 degrees and over, with four days when the temperatures went above 90.

The closing days of the month foretold autumn with foggy and gloomy mornings and enough gentle rainfall to restore yellowing lawns to a rich green.

Urge Cleanup of Bagley Area

Attending the meeting from City Hall will be Taylor, Fowler, City Manager Joseph A. Warren, Police Chief William K. Hanger, the city's two municipal judges and City Attorney Philip E. Rowston.

No date was set for the meeting.

At one point in the discussion last night, Taylor warned that a cleanup of buildings in the area would affect some of the prominent people in the city who own buildings and property in the area.

Explaining some of the steps taken by the city, Taylor said that weeds have been cut and the city is taking action against some of the substandard buildings.

CONSTANTLY WORKING

The mayor said that he didn't know how to force pride, but that the city was constantly working on problems of the area.

Taylor said that police efforts would be added if "someone would sign warrants."

Commissioner Fowler echoed Taylor's point.

"To date I haven't found one person to sign a warrant," said the District I commissioner.

PATROLS IN AREA

Fowler said that police patrols have been put in the area for a few weekends and ended the open prostitution, but that the problem resumed again when the patrol was removed.

Two persons were badly burned this morning when a gas tank exploded in the Smith Motel, 2602 Commonwealth, according to Pontiac firemen.

Floyd Coulter, 39, of 2065 Commonwealth, was listed in serious condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. His wife, Sonja, 31, was listed in fair condition. Coulter suffered second-degree burns over 60 percent of his body. His wife received first and second degree burns over 33 percent of her body. The explosion occurred at about 7:15 a.m. Cause of the blast is still under investigation.

City Fireman Sues on Trading of Time

A Circuit Court suit has been filed by a Pontiac firefighter contending the fire department's new policy on the trading of time by local firemen.

The suit, filed by Ralph Demino, 128 S. Johnson, claims that the Pontiac firemen, who are paid by the hour, should be able to trade time with other firemen.

The trading of time is a system whereby firemen can exchange work days and days off. Under the old policy, short-time trading (an afternoon or a few hours) was also permitted.

Events leading up to the court action were:

• Last October Fire Chief James R. White suspended all trading time practices.

• The Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA), headed by Jack Douglas, protested White's action.

• In March, fire department and city administrators related and restored a limited trading time plan, which held a fireman's trading time to two days per month. Previously, the limit was that a fireman could owe only five trading time days at any one time.

• The PFA filed a grievance.

Increased Russian Sub Activity Noted Lately

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet submarine operations have increased in the last year, Navy sources said today.

"We've been spotting them more often," one official said. "Where one or two used to show up, we're sighting three and four."

"They seem to be operating in greater numbers and more openly."

Navy officers said the widening Soviet submarine operations reflect the larger number of long-endurance craft, including atomic-powered vessels, now in the Soviet sub flotillas.

Over-all, the Soviet submarine force numbers about 400 boats — a figure which has remained fairly constant in recent years.

LONG-RANGE CRAFT
However, longer-range craft have been taking the place of many relatively short-range coastal subs which used to make up a sizable part of the Soviet undersea fleet.

Vice Adm. Charles B. Martell, czar of the Navy antisubmarine warfare program, told newsmen Tuesday the Russians have sent to sea about 150 new, long-endurance subs in the past-five to 10 years.

This is about the size of the entire U.S. submarine force. But 51 of the U.S. boats are atomic-powered, compared with about 30 Soviet nuclear-propelled craft.

Martell, while acknowledging that the Russians "are certainly working to get a Polaris capability," indicated he doubts the Soviet Union yet has managed to pull abreast of the U.S. Navy's ability to fire missiles from below the surface of the seas.

GROWING FORCE

The Soviets do have a growing force of subs which can unleash missiles from the surface — where the craft are vulnerable to attack — but Martell claimed the range of the Red sea-launched missiles is far short of the Polaris, whose most advanced model can reach nearly 2,900 miles with an atomic warhead.

Soviet subs normally enter the Atlantic either by sailing from far northern ports and around the top of Scandinavia, or out of the Baltic. Some come into the Mediterranean from the Black Sea. Others operate into the Pacific from such ports as Vladivostok.

There have been no reports of Soviet submarines in waters off Southeast Asia, Martell said.

The U.S. Navy checks on Soviet submarine activity very closely. It has given antisubmarine warfare readiness a priority second only to the Polaris program.

FAR BEHIND

Martell said the Russians have been putting on a big drive of their own in the antisubmarine warfare field. He said they have been "terribly far behind" this country in this area.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union are spending about $3 billion a year to build submarines and perfect the means to counter enemy subs, he said.

MAIDEN FLIGHT — The Super Guppy, whose cargo capacity of nearly 50,000 cubic feet makes it the biggest airplane in the world, left Van Nuys, Calif., airport yesterday on its first flight. The rebuilt Boeing Stratocruiser was flown to Palmdale, Calif., where it will be put into service ferrying rocket boosters and other cargo too large for conventional planes.

Booze Border Being Barred

KIRKENES, Norway (AP) — Troubled by tipplers returning from bar tours across the Soviet border, the Norwegian government has decided to shut off access to the neighboring vodka shops.

The government has sent the Kremlin a note saying it is canceling an agreement that permitted Norwegian visa-free passage to Boris Gieb, a north Russian town packed with bars and only 10 minutes from the frontier.

Ever since the Soviet Union opened a one-acre play area in Boris Gieb to Nordic fun seekers last June, Norwegian newspapers have told numerous stories of visitors returning drunk and tangleing with local police.

The Norwegian Foreign Ministry said the crossing will be closed by Oct. 1 "as the tourist season is now almost ended."

DID NOT SAY

The Foreign Ministry's note did not say that free access to Boris Gieb had caused headaches for Norwegian authorities but it made it clear that Oslo was not happy over the arrangement.

"If the Soviet Union wants a similar visa-free arrangement also next year," the note said, "the Foreign Ministry will propose that talks with the Norwegian authorities about this should be scheduled well in advance."

Thousands of thirsty Norwegians have crossed into Boris Gieb over the past three months to drink and buy for home consumption vodka and other hard liquor.

Kirkenes has no sale of hard liquor and the nearest Norwegian oasis is in Hammerfest — 350 miles to the west.

Continued Rise in Michigan Sales, Use Tax Receipts

LANSING (AP) — Michigan sales and use tax receipts continued to increase through August as double-digit growth in the July improvement first in the 1965-66 fiscal year—had been more than 11 per cent.

In May the governor predicted a 5 per cent growth through the entire fiscal year. Romney has been seeking support for a tax program because, he says, rising costs will erode the present estimated $126 million treasury surplus by mid-1967.

COLLECTIONS INCREASED
Lock said August, was the 3rd consecutive month in which collections had increased over the same month of the previous year. In the past 12 months the improvement has never been less than seven per cent.

"The most encouraging feature," said Lock, "is the fact that the increase this month only about a half million dollars is due to auto sales, indicating higher retail sales in virtually all lines of business."

A whale's brain may weigh five times as much as that of a human being.

Those Achin' Backs

Hypnotizer, Pickers Team Up

IMLAY CITY (AP) — Hypnotism may be an answer to back aches and sore muscles of Michigan's novice cucumber pickers, believes Felix Ricardo Gomez.

Gomez, a Michigan State University student majoring in psychology, has practiced hypnosis to improve the work performance of a group of Lansing boys picking cucumbers near Imlay City.

Gomez is a counselor for the group. The youthful cucumber pickers, replacing Mexican braceros barred by the federal government, are part of "Project Growth" sponsored by the Michigan Catholic Conference.

"At first," says Gomez, "I used hypnosis to entertain the boys at night. Many couldn't sleep because of the strange sounds of things like crickets and bullfrogs, and I hypnotized them."

When the boys complained of sore backs, Gomez began hypnosis in the field. "Now you feel strength surging back into your body... you feel strong... your back doesn't ache."

After that treatment, at one point the teen-agers topped the braceros' record of 1.2 bushels of cucumbers per hour.

Judge to Head Ticket Probe

Wayne County Study Slated to Open Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward S. Piggins said Tuesday he expects to have his one-man grand jury investigation of alleged wholesale ticket fixing and "other irregularities" underway by "the first of next week."

Piggins was appointed by fellow judges after Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley requested the action Tuesday. Kelley earlier conferred with Gov. George Romney. He said Romney agreed with the action.

"We'll start immediately if we can," said Piggins, a former Detroit police commissioner. "We'll start setting up the mechanics, and I hope we'll be ready to go the first of next week."

SERIOUS TASK

"I recognize this is a serious responsibility and I appreciate the confidence of the bench."

Kelley declined to specify what "other irregularities" would be included in the probe, but they reportedly were allegations of gambling, abortion, liquor law violations and prostitution in Wayne County.

The probe was prompted by charges of three Wayne County sheriff's deputies and a former deputy who claimed tickets issued to motorists were not settled by fine payments.

Wayne County Sheriff Peter Buback has suspended road patrol Sgt. Paul Paciorek and Inspector Dan Martin. Paciorek told newsmen he fixed thousands of tickets and said Martin ordered him to do so in "95 to 98 per cent" of the cases. Martin denied the charge.

Buback said the charges of ticket fixing had not been brought to his attention prior to disclosure of the charges in The Detroit News.

Ferris Wheel Wedding

A Recollection of Pleasant Thought's in Life's Midst

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A few things to be grateful for in a troubled time:

The sight of sailboats racing on a wind-grooved sea. The sound of church bells at twilight. The purring contentment of cats and the eager inquisitiveness of puppies. Hearing two children doing their homework together.

Waiting in the dark for someone you love to arrive. Watching the happy faces of people greeting each other at air terminals. Reading a good novel that leaves you feeling that life is important and the human race worthwhile. Opening a package sent by a distant friend. Finding more money in your wallet than you had thought was there.

Looking down on the peaceful face of a sleeping child. Lying awake in a railway bunk as the train roars through moonlit valleys and dotted towns. Seeing the wonderful patterns made by lightning during a night summer storm in the Midwest — as if heaven were putting on a Fourth of July fireworks show just for you.

PLAYING CATCH

Playing catch with the kids down the street and showing them you can still whip over a few fast ones. Waking up on Saturday morning and knowing Monday is still two full days away. Picking up a good luck penny from the sidewalk. Finding an ideal parking place after driving around the block only twice.

Walking in the woods and spring an ant on a deer and her fawn into graceful escape. Helping children build a tree house during long summer afternoons. Telling stories around a campfire later and counting falling stars and giving a dime to the one that sees the most. Listening to insects gossip in the blackness. "Katy did." "No, she didn't!"

Getting a pay raise when you were sure you'd been passed by for another year. Going to the dentist and being told he has hope of saving the tooth after all. Learning that someone you hold dear has recovered from a dangerous illness. Overhearing a young couple on the bus discussing whether they should spend their savings on a honeymoon or invest in a more expensive rug.

Kissing the honest wrinkles on the cheeks of an old lady you admire. Shaking hands with a retired man who earned his callouses from life the hard way. Clearing your conscience by paying a bill you've put off for too long. Dreaming a pleasant dream of someone you were fond of when young and who isn't around anymore.

BUY IT ANYWAY

The delightful terror of buying something you can't afford but don't want to do without. Listening to a carnival fortune-teller stage-whisper fabulous lies about your fabulous future. Doing a kind deed for a stranger and seeing the surprised gratitude in his eyes.

The ineffable pleasure of taking your shoes off after a tiring day. Eating something you're not supposed to and finding this taste of denied joy doesn't upset you afterward. Finding your television set will bring in baseball and football games but breaks down when anyone in the family tries to tune in medical dramas or soap operas.

Wondering at this world's strange blend of beauty and noise and suffering, but believing that something better is always on the way, heralded by bugles in the heart's ear of hope.

More than 35,000 manufacturing establishments with a $4 billion-plus annual payroll are situated in New York City.

Copter Downed in S. Viet., Four Yanks Among Dead

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four Americans and one Vietnamese were killed today in the crash of a helicopter believed downed by Red gunners 25 miles northwest of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said.

The aircraft went down in Binh Duong Province, a half-mile south of Ben Cat. The spokesman said it apparently came under heavy ground fire.

A Vietnamese army unit found the bodies of the occupants.

In another development, U.S. rescue crews ended a week-long search without success for a U.S. Navy pilot whose plane caught fire Aug. 24 during a bombing mission in North Viet Nam. The pilot was seen to have parachuted from the disabled A4 Skyhawk about 40 miles south of Thanh Hoa.

RESCUE PILOT

Earlier, military authorities said a U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchief was shot down Tuesday but the pilot ejected and was picked up safely.

U.S. spokesmen reported these other raids over North Viet Nam Tuesday:

Two missions of 13 planes from the carrier Independence sank one PT boat and damaged another about 160 miles south of Hanoi.

An attack on the Ban Lau storage area 125 miles west of Hanoi by four Air Force Thunderchiefs with pilots, reporting 14 buildings damaged.

A raid on the Ban Non Luc barracks and supply area 60 miles east of Dien Bien Phu by eight F105s. Pilots said the barracks area was left in flames.

SEVEN MISSIONS

Seven missions by 15 Navy A1 Skyhawks and four Skyraiders over targets ranging from 55 miles north of the frontier to 110 miles south of Hanoi. Highways were reported to have been cratered and buildings, bridges, barges and vehicles damaged.

All planes were said to have returned safely.

Year-Around Resort Planned at Mancelona

MANCELONA (AP)—Developer Daniel Innotti of Chicago announced plans Tuesday for a $14 million year-around resort at this northern Lower Michigan community.

To be named "Schuss Mountain," the resort will include eight ski trails, six two-chair lifts, a nine-hole golf course, an all weather swimming pool and skeet and trapshooting layouts.

Killed by Automobile

DETROIT (AP)—Linda Wisley, 11, of Belleville, was killed Tuesday and her sister, Beverly, 13, was seriously injured when they were struck by a car in western Wayne County near Detroit, police said. The driver was not held.

Economy Boost Is Irony of War

Climate for Business Better Than Hoped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the ironies of the war in Viet Nam is how it's helping the U.S. economy.

President Johnson demonstrated that twice this week:

- When he invoked the war to help head off a nationwide steel strike due to begin last midnight.
- When he had his budget director, Charles L. Schultze, announce that the war was going to push the federal budget above the $100 billion mark.

This is not meant to suggest that Johnson likes the war. No one has spoken more eloquently than he about the agony of sending American servicemen to Viet Nam.

But as one Johnson aide put it, "With all the trouble the war's giving him, he deserves to get something in return." That "something" is a healthier business climate than Johnson's top economic advisers dared predict a few months ago.

Until recently, administration economists were predicting a business slowdown once the steel union and the companies agreed on a new contract.

The settlement would be the signal for steel users to cut back on their orders and start living off their "hump," the stockpiles they had carefully accumulated as a hedge against a possible strike.

KEEP STOCKPILE
But the Viet Nam buildup that Johnson announced late in July has changed that thinking. Officials now believe most steel users will want to keep a good deal of steel on hand as a hedge against war shortages.

Thus the inventory adjustment following any steel settlement will be a small one.

Talk of a slowdown in the second half has been heard less and less since Johnson notified Congress that the government will need to spend an additional $1.7 billion on Viet Nam, just as a starter.

Of course, the more money the government spends on the war, the greater the danger of inflation.

NO SIGNS SEEN
But even Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr., who says it's his job to worry about things like inflation, saw no signs of it this week.

The outlook for the economy was significantly improved when Johnson got the threatened steel strike postponed at least eight days.

It's hard to believe that either the union or the companies had much choice in the matter once Johnson reminded them that "our boys are still fighting in South Viet Nam" — our economic strength is the key-stone of free world peace.

On Monday, Johnson came up with a report from the Army Materiel Command claiming that loss of a single day's steel production would deprive it of certain types of ammunition.

BUDGET HIKE
Finally, the President let it be known that the war in Viet Nam is going to push the federal budget over the $100 billion mark, either this fiscal year or next.

Administration budgetmakers did handstands last year to keep federal spending at $99.7 billion in the fiscal year that began July 1.

While this fiscal restraint may have been gratifying to economy-minded congressmen, it was less welcome to those who want to use federal spending — as well as tax cuts — as a means of stimulating the economy.

With the $100 billion breakthrough seemingly assured, the government will have a freer hand in adjusting its spending and taxing policies to fit the needs of the economy.

Brewery Exec Dies

OLD-LYME, Conn. (AP) — James R. Nicholson, 67, a former brewery executive and grand exalted ruler of the Elks in 1915 died Tuesday. He was vice president of Blatz Brewing Co., Milwaukee, Wis., and general sales manager of Boston's Croft Brewing Co.

Marine, Proud to Serve in Viet Nam, Stirs Johnson With Thankful Letter

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Marine Cpl. Dennis Stefanacci served 14 months on Okinawa and was unhappy about being sent to Viet Nam.

Today, President Johnson has a letter from the 21-year-old Marine from nearby Ambridge thanking him "for giving me the opportunity to serve my country."

The President was so moved he had the letter read to the House of Representatives Tuesday.

Geraldine Stefanacci, one of

Dennis' nine half-brothers and half-sisters, said Tuesday night when informed of his letter to the President:

UPSET AT FIRST.
"He was quite upset about going overseas again. At first he wrote 'discouraging letters.'"

But, she added, when he saw what the situation was he changed. "He's a very compassionate person."

Stefanacci wrote to Johnson: "Every one of us is fighting for one thing—freedom. Some will never see home again, but they will not have died in vain. They will have died for a reason—one that is worth every man that is lost."

He also told the President he wished "there were no war and no killing" but that he was very proud to be fighting "because it gives me a feeling of repayment."

IT'S HIS TURN
"Repayment to what? To you, Mr. President, and to the great free country I was reared in. Many people—both men and women—have risked, and in many instances died, to keep our country free from communism. Now it is my turn and I have pledged my life to defend our country."

Mrs. Joseph Stefanacci said, "I feel kind of proud" when told of her son's letter.

Exceptional Childrens' Camp

They're Not Exceptions Now

In the past, there have been day camps for everyone — except children with mental handicaps. These exceptional youngsters have been denied the opportunity given their normal contemporaries.

Last year, Mrs. Charles Hunt of 2073 East Buno Road, Milford, directed an outdoor week for several special education children in the Walled Lake

SECOND CAMP

With this as background knowledge, the North Oakland County Girl Scout Council sponsored a second five-day camp at Proud Lake Recreation area this year.

Cosponsor with the Girl Scouts was SPUR, Special Education Parents' Unit for Retarded Children. This group — furnished the adult staff.

Thirty-two children from Pontiac, Milford, South Lyon, Walled Lake, Union Lake, Clarkston and Davisburg participated in day camp activities last week.

plaster of paris. Seated at the left are Wayne Melchert of Walled Lake and Alberta Connell, Elmhurst Street, a third aide. In many activities, there was a one-to-one relationship between leader and child.

Women's Section

Whittaker and Mrs. John Os-

lin. Others were Mrs. Albert Melchert, Mrs. Francis McRae, Mrs. Robert Conway and Mrs. Edward Wolfe.

SENIOR SCOUT AID

Eight senior Girl Scouts acted as program aides. All have participated previously in day camps and most have had experience as program aides. All leaders attended pre-camp training courses.

Girls participating were Diana Greaves, Pat Greaves, Susan Collins, Beverly Bacak, Carol Bacak and Jody Miller of Pontiac.

Lynn Aro of Wixom and Marion Wolfe, Milford, also helped in the same capacity.

NORMAL PROGRAM

The youngsters followed a regular program of campcraft skills, nature lore, outdoor cooking and overnight camping (for the two educable units).

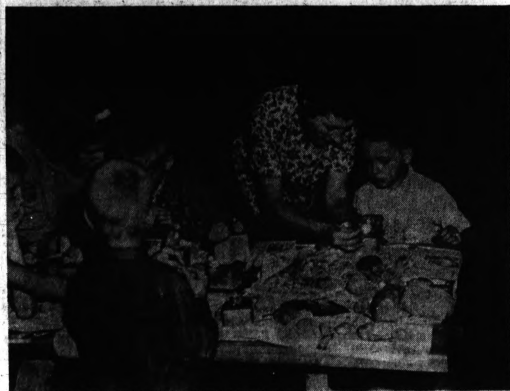

Jean E. Wilcox, district adviser of the local Girl Scout office, directed the camp.

Claudia Copenhaver, (left) and Denise Zaffer, both of Walled Lake, take the pre-lunch washing up as a serious job. Facilities are primitive, but efficient.

Everyone loves to sing and group singing is an important part of any camp program. Carol Bacak, Cortright Street, plays her guitar for this group of boys at the recent

The sky's the limit when you create stone sculptures. Mrs. H. F. Behlke, Benstein Road, Commerce Township (standing right), an adult leader, shows one of her charges how to make the stones stick together.

Customer Is at Fault

Paper Carrier Is Worried

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a newspaper carrier. My problem is that one of my customers went away on vacation without telling me so I kept right on delivering the newspaper.

When they came back home and saw all the papers piled up on their porch, they were very angry with me. I told them the man that since I had no orders, I thought the best thing to do was to keep on leaving the paper. He called me a "dummy" and threatened to quit the paper. My route is small because of summer anyway, and if this customer quits me I'll be in trouble with my district manager. What should I do?

WORRIED CARRIER

DEAR WORRIED: Tell your district manager what happened and ask him what the policy of the newspaper is when customers leave town and papers pile up.

A collection of newspapers on a porch is an announcement that no one is home. This is more helpful to burglars than a key to the front door. If the customer quits (and I doubt that he will), you are blameless.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a couple who have been married for six years, have five children and have their marriage certificate FRAMED and hanging in their living room?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: Framing a marriage certificate is pretty square. Maybe they want the world to know that they are not practicing without a license.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has just come home from a 22-day stay at a hospital, following extensive surgery. Since he has been home, friends come here at all hours to visit him. One couple arrived at 4 p.m. and stayed until 7:30. Since we were not prepared for dinner guests, we just sat through the dinner hour and nobody ate.

This was especially hard on my husband. How can people be taught to be more considerate at a time like this?

EXHAUSTED

DEAR EXHAUSTED: I would be more concerned about my husband's health than teaching insensitive clods "consideration."

Visitors who don't know when to go home should be politely told. Your timidity under the circumstances is as inexcusable as your friends' temerity.

DEAR ABBY: I am an amateur orchid grower and I enjoy sharing my flowers with friends, usually as coronas for gala occasions. Could you please instruct women in the proper treating of an orchid, or any flower for that matter?

Everywhere, I see orchids worn UPSIDE DOWN!

When one has worked over a plant and watched its development for anywhere from four to seven years, it is more than a shock to see the flower worn incorrectly.

All flowers should be worn as they grow. Orchids grow with the large, frilled lip positioned at the BOTTOM, and should be worn that way. Thank you.

DEAR ORCHIDIST: Or to put it more simply—a flower should always look UP at its wearer.

Problems? Write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MRS. JAMES ROY TURNER

Under supervision, this group of girls cooked their lunch on an open fire each noon. Going counterclockwise, they are: Claudia Copenhaver, Walled Lake; Paula Dalrymple, Melrose Street; (Denise Zaffer, Walled Lake — she's half hidden) and Sherie Heastip, Milford.

Karen Ann Sage Speaks Vows With Mr. Turner

The Christ Lutheran Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Karen Ann Sage to James Roy Turner, son of the John H. Turners of Fraser.

A gown and chapel train of white silk organza over taffeta for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Sage of Oregon Road was styled with bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and dome skirt.

Completing her ensemble were a nylon illusion veil and a Bible cascade of white gladiolus, ivy and Stephanotis.

Attendants at the rite performed by Rev. Wayne E. Peterson were Patricia Turner, maid of honor, with Marjorie Workman and Karen Turner as bridesmaids.

On the esquire side were James Reno, best man, with ushers Robert Boroughs, Steven Sage, Lee Burkel and Dale Dolland.

After the reception in the Cal Building, the couple left for a northern honeymoon.

Margaret Mines Becomes Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Mines of Hagerly Road, Farmington Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Evelyn, to William Norman Gausden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gausden of Detroit.

A Nov. 6 wedding in the Central Northwest Presbyterian Church in Detroit is planned.

Pair Speaks Vows With Two Rings

A recent double-ring ceremony at Our Lady of Refuge Church united Lynn France Couture and Robert Kenneth Brown.

Rev. Donald Kresmer officiated at the nuptial Mass attended by the couple's immediate families.

Daughter of the Ernest H. Coutures, West Acres Street, West Bloomfield Township, the bride wore a two-piece ensemble of pink taffeta with white lace overlay and a pink net headpiece.

She held white carnations centered with cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Roger VanAlstine, Keego Harbor, was honor matron.

The bridegroom, son of the William Browns of Walled Lake, asked Michael Couture to attend as best man.

Following a dinner at Rotunda Inn, the newlyweds left for a northern Michigan honeymoon. They will reside in Birmingham.

Before her wedding the bride was honored at two recent showers, hosted by Mrs. VanAlstine and Mrs. Morrell Gault, assisted by her daughters Mrs. Lee Thompson of Orionville and Mrs. George Acre.

Prexy Hosts Council

Mrs. Russell Perkins of Sharon Street, new president of Pontiac Beta Sigma Phi

City Council, was hostess to council members recently.

Guest List for Nuptials Is Equal

By The Emily Post Institute

A question frequently asked in connection with a wedding, is how the guest list should be divided between the families.

In answer: If the families have a long been friends and live in the same community, the invitations should be divided more or less equally between them.

If it is decided that one hundred may be included at the reception this would suggest that some 70 names would probably be the same and would mean that each would be able to add 15 of their own to the 70 already on their shared list.

But if they have never known each other well and their friends are unknown to each other, each would have to limit their list to 50.

On the other hand, if the groom's people live in another place, this may mean that not more than 20 will be able to come, the bride's mother will be able to invite as many as will result in 80 acceptances.

Both mothers may risk being a little overliberal because there are always a few who, having accepted, are then prevented for one reason or another from coming.

COCKTAIL PARTY

Q: Next month my hairdresser is giving a cocktail party for her customers to celebrate her tenth anniversary in business.

I would like to know if the bringing of a gift is necessary on an occasion such as this.

A: No, but if you would like to send her some flowers to celebrate her birthday, it will surely be appreciated.

CLOTHES AT FUNERAL

Q: Will you please tell me the proper clothes for half-grown children to wear at the funeral of a parent?

A: They wear their best church clothes to the funeral. On no account should a child be put into black.

COLLECTING MITTENS

Plans were made to collect mittens for a state wide drawing at the convention Nov. 5-7 at Jackson.

Xi Alpha Gamma was the hostess group at the recent meeting.

The next meeting will be on Sept. 27 in the Chamber of Commerce board room, Riker Building.

Bride-Elect Is Honored at Shower

Bride-elect Mariann Christine Engelhard was honored at a recent shower in the home of Mrs. Clifford A. Husserau on Auburn Avenue. Costesses were Mrs. Charles Hopstess and Mrs. Glenn Vermilye.

Among some 30 guests were the bride's mother, Mrs. Ludwig Engelhard of Whitmore Street and Mrs. William Lovell of Southfield, whose son Lt. Ernest Thomas Lovell, USAF is the bridegroom-elect.

Miss Engelhard was also honored with a kitchen shower in New York City where she has been working as a pediatric nurse at the Columbia University Medical Center.

Her former roommates at the University of Michigan, Mrs. Robert B. Thomas and Virginia Hartley were the hostesses.

St. Vincent de Paul Church has been reserved for the noon ceremony on Sept. 11.

What Mother Should Tell You If You're Getting Married

Don't risk disappointment by having a friend attempt to photograph your wedding. Photographs can't be taken over again. In years to come, your wedding picture story will recall the happy moments. Don't trust it to an amateur.

Professional portraits are not as expensive as most brides think. Per spective cost is about the same as paying for your own film, flash bulbs and having prints made.

Visit two studios before you decide on a photographer—compare quality and price but don't be talked into black and white. It's obsolete. Look into a mirror. Much of your beauty is color.

If your wedding is within a month make your appointment soon as professionals take only one wedding a day and most are already booked for months. Kendal Studios, who have been photographing weddings for 30 years, has a complete 5 x 7 four extra—$65 newspaper glossy, car wedding sign, album and information sheet for newspaper.

Nap Does Trick

Do you know what makes a blanket warm? It has nothing to do with the weight. The nap does the trick — the thicker the nap, the warmer blanket. Nap also contributes to the long wear of a blanket.

Last 10 Years Filled Her Life With Beauty

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — After 10 years as Miss America's chaperone, Margaret O'Neill finds that misplaced luggage and the common cold are the major hazards of the traveling job.

Wolves along the way. After all, that is Miss America in town.

"Far less trouble with them than people think," said Mrs. O'Neill. "Respect for the title is a factor. And let's face it, with the schedule a Miss America keeps, she doesn't have time for much else."

24-HOUR DAY

Miss America and her road manager, the term Mrs. O'Neill prefers to chaperone, average 200,000 miles, most of it by air, each year as the beauty queen fulfills engagements at industrial events, sales meetings, conventions, state pageants and on television.

"Sometimes ours is a 27-hour day," said Mrs. O'Neill. "The 24 on New York time, and another three added by the time we're in Yakima, Wash."

LAUGHS

But Mrs. O'Neill laughs off anyone offering sympathy for her charge.

"People say, 'poor Miss America,'" said Mrs. O'Neill. "Don't feel sorry for her. With her fees, she earns as much as $80,000 a year."

"What other girl, no matter how beautiful she is, is earning that much. And she's also getting a million dollar education from travel. She finishes the year a more mature, brider person."

HAD BEEN TEACHER

I talked with Mrs. O'Neill as she rounded out 200,000 miles with Vonda Kay Van Dyke, of Phoenix, Ariz., the 1965 Queen, and as both made their way to Atlantic City, N.J. for the naming of Miss Van Dyke's successor.

The finals will be held Sept. 11, and a good chunk of the nation will watch the telecast of the event by the Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS).

Mrs. O'Neill, a tiny and trim woman, is a native of Atlantic City, a graduate of Trenton, N.J. Teachers College, and was teaching high school history before she became involved with the pageant.

Can Sometimes Give You More Pain Than Relief

NEW YORK (UPI) — Self-medication with milk and antacids for peptic ulcer can create more problems than the relief they give, according to Dr. Donald Berkowitz.

Reporting in "GP," journal of the American Academy of General Practice, the Hahnemann Medical College professor noted that overdoing carries hazards of calcium deposits in kidneys, corneas and joints.

To avoid the complications, such therapy always should be supervised by a physician, he said.

Campbell-Pipper

Reception in the Middle Straits Community Center followed the recent vows of Judith Ann Pipper to John Henry Campbell in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Milford.

Parents of the couple who departed on a Florida honeymoon are the Andrew H. Pipers of Capri Drive, White Lake Township and the James L. Campbells of Highland.

The bride's gown and train of white silk bombazine was styled with a bodice of Rochelle lace, matching a headpiece for her illusion veil.

ORCHID CENTER

During the nuptial Mass offered by Rev. Elmer Mahoney, the bride held a bouquet of white carnations surrounding a white orchid.

With Patricia Pipper, her sister's honor attendant, were the bridesmaids Bonnie Peter, Karen Colley and Mrs. Robert Bedford.

Jerry Campbell was his brother's best man. Seating guests were Wilson Combs, Edward Krajenc and Robert Bedford. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan State University. The couple will live at Pontiac Lake.

Hiscock-Gaddes

New residents of Clarkston will be the James Richard Hiscocks (Nancy Kaye Gaddes) who were wed Sunday afternoon in the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Rev. Dwight E. Reibling performed the single-ring candlelight ceremony followed by reception in the church parlors.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gaddes of Baldwin Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert T. Hiscock Jr. of North Lake Drive.

The bridal gown of white silk organza over tulle featured a bodice of French lace, worn with Swedish tiara and illusion veil.

White orchids, Stephanotis and Naggi leaves rested on the bride's lace-covered Bible, a gift from her paternal grandmother.

Carolyn Gaddes attended her sister as honor maid with bridesmaids Mrs. Donald Pearson and Carol Dooley.

With William Serrin, best man, were ushers, Bruce W. Gaddes and William R. Gaddes Jr.

Heady-Mercer

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Paul Douglas Heady Jr. (Mary Jane Mercer) left for a southern honeymoon after their vows and reception Tuesday in the First Baptist Church.

Their parents are Dr. and Mrs. James W. Mercer, Elizabeth Lake Road, and the senior Mr. and Mrs. Heady of Lincoln Park.

James W. Mercer Jr. escorted his sister who chose a gown of lace-appliqued white silk organza over tulle, worn with pearl tiara and illusion veil.

A white orchid and Stephanotis rested on her small white Bible, gift of the bridegroom.

Martha Jo Mercer was honor maid for her twin, Sue and Janice Heady, Carol Dudley and Mrs. Daniel Rushing were bridesmaids at the candlelight rite performed by the bride's father.

Douglas Heady was his brother's best man. Guests were seated by John Mercer, Robert Harris, Dick Jones and Daniel Rushing.

Don't Give Up Make-Up With Age; Just Subdue

Women who are 50 plus, belong to an age group whose beauty may be maintained for years, when specific make-up rules are faithfully obeyed, says beauty authority, Max Factor.

Here are the important do's and don'ts that should be carefully followed.

CHECK ROUGE

● Don't use bright rouge applications in an attempt to look younger. Some women discard many of their beauty requisites, and then, in trying to look younger, apply an abundance of rouge. This creates an artificial, painted effect that only augments age.

● Take great care in the application of lipstick. Make sure the lip line has the sharp, clean look of youth by applying color with a brush or with a fine line lipstick. Wear only the soft, youthful pastel shades.

● Don't use foundation make-up or powder that is overly light or dark for your own skin. Do select colors that harmonize with your own complexion tones.

● If your eyebrows and eyelashes are turning white, delicately tint with make-up and mascara.

● Cover veined eyelids with misty shades of eye shadow and lightly dust with powder.

● Don't give up any of your make-up requisites. Instead, use them with less drama as you grow older, but use them with all the skill you have learned over the years.

Polly's Pointers

Readers: Here's Tip

DEAR POLLY — Autograph portraits or pictures of any kind easily. If the ink will not stay on or the writing is not very clear, just rub the area with an eraser before writing. This solves the problem quite well.

— ELLA

DEAR POLLY — I have found a wonderful use for the cushion seats of old overstuffed chairs and divans no longer of any use.

I made easy-to-wash slip covers for the cushions and sewed handles on each. When my nieces and nephews come to visit and want to watch television, they each grab a cushion and put it on the floor to sit on. The children love them. — TONI

DEAR POLLY — My eight-year-old daughter is quite a "bookworm" and is seldom without a book nearby. She reads at all odd moments, even waiting for the tub to fill for her bath.

She has been taught to be very careful with library books. This meant a continual search for a bookmark. She discovered that a stretch headband (so popular with the school girls now) makes a perfect bookmark.

She slides it over the back cover of the book and the page she is reading. She, too, is a faithful reader of the column and tells me the Pointers I should try. — MRS. L. C.

There are nine informative chapters on such topics as laundry, cleaning and cooking in Polly Cramer's helpful booklet. To order send your name, address with zip code and 50 cents to: Polly's Pointers, in care of The Pontiac Press, P.O. Box 409, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, New York.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I've heard and read so much about clothes being made out of those beautiful towels, but not one word has been mentioned about finishing the seams. Please tell us how they should be finished.

Mrs. G. Z.

Dear Mrs. G. Z.: The best seam finishing for terry cloth (towel) is a flat-fold seam. It provides a neat finish and prevents raveling and flaking. It often is easier to make this type of seam if you allow an extra 1/4 inch to the width of the seam when cutting. In other words, the seams would be 1/2 inch wide. However, this is not necessary.

Sew a plain seam, right sides together. Press the seams to one side. The side seams should be pressed toward the back, the armhole seams toward the neck. After pressing, trim the under seam allowance to about 1/4 inch. Turn under the upper seam edge and baste over the trimmed seam edge.

Top stitch on the sewing machine, close to the upper seam edge. However, this should be the same distance from the original seam so that the two rows of stitching will look even. Press when stitching is completed.

* * *

Dear Eunice:

When I made a silk print, lined dress for myself, I found the jewel neckline didn't hold its shape, even though I made it just like the pattern told me to. Does it need interfacing? If so, do I have to rip the entire neckline open to put this in?

Mrs. G. G. H.

Dear Mrs. G. G. H.: To fix it properly, you would have to rip the lining off. The patterns must generalize to apply to any fabric you might use. I always have my students cut interfacing for the neckline immediately and baste it to the wrong side of their material before applying the facing. The average woman is not proficient enough to handle the cut garment without stretching it out of shape. Interfacing always will make a professional finish with no danger of stretching.

SOMETHING UP YOUR SLEEVE

Add an extra season's wear to your daughter's summer dresses by putting sleeves on them. Remove the facings of the armholes, cut sleeves of the same fabric and stitch them in. In a couple of hours you will have salvaged a good dress that would be too small by the next summer. It's these little savings that make sewing so rewarding!

Mrs. W. W. Clark, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. A. S. says: Often your children's coats and jackets from last year will fit except for the sleeve length. If the sleeves are too short, you can buy knitted cuffs in a matching or contrasting color. They give a snug fit at the wrist—often making them more satisfactory than the original sleeve.

* * *

Dear Eunice:

Can an A-line skirt be cut from the pattern of a straight skirt? If so, how? I have enjoyed the drafting tips you have shown us.

Mrs. F. K.

Dear Mrs. F. K.: This is a rather simple change. With a yard stick, mark a line parallel with the center front and back from the end of the dart to the hem of the pattern. Cut the pattern on this line. Also cut out the dart. Bring the two edges of the dart together so they just meet and fasten with pressure tape. You will notice that the pattern below the dart is now separated. This will give you the A-line you are looking for.

This pattern will fit smoothly over the hips. If you are hippy and desire more flare, this will be added to the center front and back by extending a mark 2 inches wide at the hem and decreasing to nothing at the waistline. (See sketch).

Sleeves seem to be a major sewing bugaboo and yet, you need a well-set sleeve for a truly professional look. Perfect sleeves are guaranteed every time if you follow the step-by-step instructions in my leaflet, "All About Sleeves." For a copy, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Alternate Girl Scout Round-Up

Visit Capital City in Final Week

By KATHIE DERYCKE

We started our second week of Alternate Girl Scout Regional Round-Up Aug. 23 at Greenville, Michigan with a visit to Lansing.

— Christmas morning, we sat under our aluminum tree (brought up by Mrs. Riley) and opened up our stockings. Santa (Cherie Kelley) had made them from fruit, candy canes, cookies, and other goodies which our parents had brought up during visiting. We also had presents such as balloons and whistles from Mrs. Grogg.

Edmund Alchin from the Institute for Community Development at Michigan State University was adviser and moderator on Wednesday afternoon for a panel discussion on "Community Needs and How Youth Can Help."

Nancy Grogg from Pontiac was one of the six panel members who discussed general community problems. Later, in smaller discussion groups, each girl was able to bring out particular problems concerning youth action in her town. Another Wednesday activity was a showing of slides taken at the National Round-Up in Idaho.

WATER SHOW A water show, which included synchronized swimming and races, comprised our Thursday morning activities.

Gathered 84 at One Time

SANIBEL ISLAND, Fla. — Though the Junonia is the scarcest shell to be found on a Gulf Beach, Mr. and Mrs. David Baird and children gathered 84 at one time.

The family credits their find to a dredge, which was filling land for a development on the Sanibel end of the causeway. Junonias, along with eels, and catfish, were spewing out of the dredge.

After singing a few songs to the accompaniment of Martha Foreman's uke, we finished our hike around the camp. We found that it was very similar to our own Camp Sherwood in Lapeer.

AUGUST YULE We sang Christmas carols to the Alternate patrols on Our troop of three patrols took third place in the event.

In the afternoon, we took down our tents and packed our equipment. Then we attended a Scout's Own and all-camp campfire.

Konnie Parks from Milford won our troop flag for being the best camper in our troop of girls from Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana.

We left Hunter Lake on Aug. 27, with the feeling that our winter of preparation and training, under the supervision of Mrs. John McNeely, in addition to the actual ten-day Alternate Round-Up, had proved to be a worthwhile venture.

Living Costs Rely on Personal Demands

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
On the recommendation of a cousin in Boothby, Me., I am writing to ask if you would tell me something of the cost of living in Hollywood, Calif.

What would two people, living quietly, in an apartment with living room and two bedrooms, and with car, expect to spend per year?

Thank you for any help you can give me.

L. S., East Grinstead,
Sussex, England

Dear L. S.:

Your question leads right into a subject that concerns an increasing number of people these days: What does it cost for a couple to live "quietly"—the word quietly often meaning "on a retirement income."

As for cost-of-living figures in the particular locale you mention, I can cite estimates based on the Bureau of Labor statistics—adjusted for the increase in our consumer price index to bring them up-to-date.

However, it is important to remember that your level of living is based on the amount of money you spend—whereas your standard of living is the way you feel you must live!

They can add up to two entirely different sums.

The following estimates simply indicate what can be done in the Greater Los Angeles area. These costs assume that the couple lives in a two-or-three-room rental, and provides their own furnishings. Also, that the wife will do most of the housework, and that food allowances are based on an average of the low and moderate food cost plans estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Car transportation is included.

Round figures	Yearly	Monthly
Housing	$100	$8.33
Household Operating	375	31.25
Food	1000	83.33
Clothing	240	20.00
Personal Allowance	120	10.00
Contributions, Gifts, etc.	168	14.00
Medical	48	4.00
Recreation	120	10.00
Transportation, Car cost	480	40.00
Total	$3240	$270.00

Keep in mind that spending is influenced greatly by the local conditions and customs, wherever you live. In some cities, transportation includes major use of public facilities. In others, you hop in the car just to go round the corner.

The West, in particular, is a "country on wheels," with car a substantial item. Somewhere you fall into the pattern of the particular area in which you live, either through necessity or choice. And this can drastically rearrange your budget.

For the benefit of you other couples who are thinking about settling down in a new part of the country: remember that the cost of goods and services varies from city to city; just as transportation costs do.

The climate and type of clothes your new neighbors wear can affect your spending. Eating habits often change, too, with a change of locale. You discover local recipes along with the more easily available types of foods. Cost of utilities can vary as much as $5 or $6 a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Dancy of Nichols Drive Pontiac Township announce the engagement of their daughter Charlotte Ann to Lynn Wesley Arthurton, son of the Arnold V. Arthurtons of Brookfield Court, Shelby Township.

Availability of low-cost or free medical services can mean a lot in estimating your expenses. And the cost of housing, of course, runs up and down the scale, depending not only on the part of the country you choose to live in, but the specific neighborhood.

It sometimes happens that a couple will actually have more to live on in retirement than they have been accustomed to. This increase may be due to an inheritance or to the conversion of holdings into cash.

It's well to remember that as income rises, the proportion of total expenditures spent for food and clothing usually declines. But the total amount allocated for other goods and services can continue to rise.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions of general interest will be answered in her column.)

Wishes Marriage Was Intact

Divorced Wife Regrets It

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE W-409: Miriam B., aged 35, is the young wife who divorced her mate 5 years ago, though she had two young sons.

"Dr. Crane," she wept, "I made a tragic mistake. After hearing your lectures and having read your column the past year, I see where I was largely at fault."

"You are correct in saying 'divorce starts in the bedroom, for I now can look back and see that such was the case in my marriage."

"For I felt that my husband was too demanding. So I tried to ration him as regards what you call 'erotic calories' and make him subsist on my quota."

"As I look back, I remember how angry and caustic he finally became."

"But I hadn't thought of your comparison between a man's greater gastric appetite and also his natural endowment of a much larger erotic hunger."

"I see now that if I had tried to ration him at the dinner table to my own 2,000 calorie intake, he would soon have broken away and dined at a downtown restaurant to make up for my starvation table menu."

"But I did that very same thing in the erotic realm and when I found that he was dating an office secretary, I was so jealous and hurt and angry, I insisted on an immediate divorce."

"Now I wish I hadn't! He was really a wonderful man. But I just was plain ignorant of the vast sexual differences between male and female."

"Dr. Crane, please tell other angry wives to wake up before it is too late. I'd have a devoted husband today and my sons would have their daddy home with them every night if I hadn't been so headstrong and insistent that I was right and he was 100 per cent wrong!"

Many men are immature and very poor marriage risks, even at the outset.

But millions of potentially good husbands are driven into divorce courts by wives who simply have the wrong idea about sex.

In their self-righteous belief that "What pleases me should be ample for my husband," they short-ration their mates as regards erotic calories.

And that is courting danger! For when you starve a human male in either his gastric or his erotic intake, you are simply setting the stage for his violation of one of the Ten Commandments.

For a hungry man will finally resort to stealing.

And an erotically ascetic husband will often kick over the traces, albeit furtively and unobtrusively.

If you frigid wives with a mania to short ration your mates in the erotic realm would take the proper view, you'd be grateful to your husbands when they enter into clandestine affairs.

For at least the men are trying to protect your pride and save your ego the deflation that would come if they flaunted their unfaithfulness!

You ungrateful wives not only drive your mates away from you but then you haven't the courtesy to thank them for protecting your ego by their secret affairs!

The Old Out Islands Are Strictly 'In' Now

SPANISH WELLS, Bahamas (NEA) — They call them the Out Islands because they're supposed to be so far away from Nassau, the hub of Bahamian civilization.

But airplanes, fast boats and tourists trying to get away from it all have made the Out Islands very "in" this season and, if the Bahamian government has its way, "in" for many seasons to come.

With New Providence, on which Nassau is located, bristling with hotels and thousands of tourists, investors and speculators — mostly from the United States — are transforming many of the 700 or so Out Islands into attractive havens.

Residents of the tiny island of Spanish Wells, which is minutes by boat off the coast of Eleuthera (45 minutes by DC-3 from Nassau) aren't quite sure what to make of the new and sun-burned faces seen among them these days, but they aren't really welcoming them.

Spanish Wells is unique. For one thing, no Negro is among the 900 residents — unusual when you know that nearly 90 per cent of the Bahamian population is black. And most Spanish Wellians are related to each other.

FOUR FAMILIES

No more than four families — disenchanted royalists — who wanted no part of the American Revolution — arrived on the island in the late 18th century to establish themselves as very independent farmers and fishermen who simply wanted to be left alone. And, until recently, they succeeded.

Generations of inbreeding have created a culture and a physical type which would astound even Margaret Mead.

Most Spanish Wellians are blond with fair skin which, surprisingly, appears unaffected by the hot Caribbean sun, and light blue eyes. Bahamian officials who know the people say they are troubled with bad teeth and vision.

The islanders are not, however, isolated from the world. Even before two small resorts were built and the tourists started to arrive, Spanish Wells had electricity and atop more than a few roofs antennas were pointed toward Miami television stations.

MAIL REGULAR

The mail boat from Nassau makes three trips weekly, a government nurse is permanently stationed on the island and on Thursdays a local representative from the Royal Bank of Canada holds a two-hour session in a small frame dwelling built especially for the purpose.

Spanish Wellians have established a tradition of independence. The editor of one of Nassau's two daily newspapers said that during World War II when Prime Minister Churchill asked Commissioners to rally 'round the flag, the islanders promptly pointed out that they intended to remain neutral. And they did.

Their social life isn't exactly what you'd call swinging. Strict Methodists, Sundays are spent in the People's Church.

One resident mildly stated that some occasionally get together for a game of baseball, some are interested in spearfishing, others read or watch television or drop by the island's only restaurant. Community sings and sunset-watching are also popular.

SEEN BOTH

I asked one native if he was ever bored with this routine. "No," he replied in his lilting, Bahamian-accented English. "I've seen what they do in Nassau and Miami and I like what we do much better."

What the influx of pleasure-hunting tourists will do to this placid island is anybody's guess.

According to Bill Bigelow, manager of Lloyds, a hotel catering to skindivers and pilots, Spanish Wellians have been polite but withdrawn.

"Aside from the few we've been able to hire," he says, "they generally like to avoid our guests."

Chances are, however, the natives won't be able to do to these new interlopers what they did to the early Spaniards and Negroes who came poking around Spanish Wells; they threw them off.

Free Mail Service OK'd for GIs in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning today American servicemen in Viet Nam don't have to pay postage on letters and postcards.

The mail will be delivered by air to any place in the United States or to any military post office in the world if the serviceman writes "free" in the corner where a stamp usually goes.

The free mailing privilege was authorized by Congress in a bill to raise military pay.

NATO Under More Strain

By K. C. THALER
United Press International

LONDON — The Western Alliance, already badly shaken by France's go-it-alone policy in Europe, has come under severe pressure from yet another key ally, West Germany.

The bone of contention is the project inter-Allied nuclear force which, if established, would give the federal government a say in nuclear strategy. But agreement on such a force seems a long way off.

West Germany feels frustrated by Anglo-American indecision on this score and is also becoming suspicious of alleged British moves towards unilateral nuclear disarmament in Europe.

The forthcoming West German general election Sept. 19 is a major factor behind the stepped up campaign in Bonn against Anglo-American nuclear policy.

The campaign coincides with current United States and British efforts to get a nuclear non-proliferation agreement with Russia.

The Russians have said all along that conclusion of such an agreement is conditional on the scrapping of all plans for a NATO nuclear force.

BACK UP DEMAND

The Russians back their demand with the argument that West Germany is itching to get its fingers on the nuclear trigger. The latest claim in Bonn for German participation in Allied nuclear strategy has tended to toughen Moscow's stand.

The fact is that the United States and Britain have so far been unable to agree between themselves on how to settle the problem.

The two Western nuclear nations are agreed that West Germany and other NATO Allies should be given some degree of responsibility in NATO nuclear policy.

But they differ on just how this can be done without giving West Germany a finger on the trigger. They just want Bonn to have a finger on the "safety catch."

Britain has late made it clear it wants to retain a veto in any NATO nuclear force, and so does the United States in principle.

At least some of Germany's influential politicians oppose an Anglo-American veto and want majority rule in any inter-Allied nuclear force.

The United States recently put a plan to the Russians in Geneva for a nuclear non-proliferation treaty which, it felt, left the door open for an eventual inclusion of West Germany and other Allies in some form of NATO nuclear force. The Russians rejected it.

'BETRAYED'

Former Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer — who still leads the ruling Christian Democratic party in Bonn — was outraged by the American plan's alleged vagueness and termed it an outright betrayal on the part of the United States.

Since then, the former federal defense minister forced-ful Franz-Josef Strauss, has added his sharp criticism of alleged Allied duplicity and feet dragging.

German suspicion has been heightened by Britain's latest decision to replace some of its nuclear artillery with the British army of the Rhine with conventional weapons. This has led to charges Britain is engaged in some form of unilateral nuclear disarmament in Europe that will leave West Germany dangerously exposed to Soviet missile power.

Vigorous assertions are being made in Bonn that German interests are being neglected by wavering Allies. And Allied diplomats think that something will have to be done pretty soon if the process of erosion in NATO is to be halted.

DETROIT (AP) — Two complaints were filed Tuesday with the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, alleging discrimination in hiring policies of the Romulus Township School District in Wayne County.

The complaints were filed by Thomas Peloso, director of compliance for the commission. They involve two Negro teachers, James A. Key and Martha Nettles, who have substituted in Romulus schools. Peloso charges the school district has failed to give a "reasonable response" to questions of why the two have not been hired on a full-time basis.

In other action, the commission ordered Cutler-Hubble Co. of Detroit to take court action to force compliance if justified.

Fight Against Cong Makes Allies of GIs, Viet Warlord-Bandit

LAP VO, South Viet Nam (AP)—A war sends the soldier to strange places and puts him among strange bedfellows.

Capt. Ed. Murphy of Baltimore, Md., and Sgt. Glen Pike of Denver, Colo., live in a pagoda with a long-haired Buddhist warlord.

By day the scorching delta sun beats down on the slate roof and the heat rises in shimmering waves against the gold-leafed pillars and peacock-colored walls of the temple. At night the bats fly in and long hairy spiders drop from the ceiling.

"But it's not so bad," said Murphy, after three weeks of sleeping on the tile floor.

TWO RULES

"Sgt. Pike and I have two rules: 'We never talk about women, and we never, never talk about food. That's even worse. He used to drive me crazy describing the big sandwiches he ate before going to sleep back in Colorado.'"

Murphy and Pike, the only two Americans at this delta outpost deep in Viet Cong territory, serve as advisers to the "Hieu Battalion," one of the most bizarre and battle-ready units in all South Viet Nam.

Named for their leader, Huynh Trung Hieu, the battalion last February abandoned its bandit activities and signed up to fight on the side of the government. Warlord Hieu and his men belong to a sect of Buddhists called the Hoa Hao, pronounced wah-haw. They wear their hair long. Their hatred for the Viet Cong dates back to 1947 when the Communists killed Kuynh Phu Sao, their sainted leader, on the way to a peace palaver.

NO LOVE

Having no particular love for the government, whom they regard as a rival in collecting taxes and plundering the population, the Hieu bandits refused to pledge loyalty to Saigon.

Instead, in coming over to join the Americans in the fight against the Viet Cong, warlord Hieu knelt in his village square and pledged allegiance to "the great military fraternity, everywhere, in all ages." He was given the rank of major.

"They were the toughest outfit ever to go through the government training camp," said Murphy. "They only had one AWOL out of 528 men. Maj. Hieu really rules them with an iron hand. They don't drink, they don't smoke and they are one of the few Vietnamese outfits that cannot bring their wives to camp."

The Hieu Battalion is engaged in protecting an engineering company rebuilding a canal bridge on a key road. Although a Viet Cong unit is believed to be hiding out nearby, Murphy and Pike consider themselves to be in one of the safest places in Viet Nam.

LOVING EYE

"The black pajamas don't want to tangle with Maj. Hieu's men," said Pike, "and the major keeps a loving eye on his two American friends, as he call us. We can't even go out in the bushes without having two of his bodyguards with sub-machine guns standing by. Every morning I take a bath in that muddy puddle over there, five of his boys are watching to be sure I wash behind the ears."

Murphy told what it was like to advise a reformed bandit chief in the ways of modern warfare.

"Actually he's not too reformed," said the captain, plainly pleased that sin had not been fully conquered.

"He still doesn't see why he has to go to all the trouble of requisitioning supplies when he can go out and steal them. Radios fascinate him and he still hasn't got the hang of artillery support and air strikes, but his men are terrific fighters and very well-disciplined. Of course, every now and then, the boys will backslide a bit and begin collecting some taxes in the neighborhood, but by and large they stick pretty much to the business of fighting the VC's."

It's Now Federal Crime to Destroy Draft Card

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is now a federal crime to tear up or mutilate a draft card. The punishment: five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The new law, signed by President Johnson, grows out of destruction of draft cards by some pacifists.

Junior Editors Quiz on MOBY DICK

QUESTION: Was there really a Moby Dick?

ANSWER: Moby Dick was the name of a vicious white whale who is the villain of Herman Melville's famous novel, Moby Dick, published in 1851 and regarded as one of the greatest books written in America.

In the book, Capt. Ahab of the whaleship Pequod roams the seas in search of this one particular whale, which once had bitten off one of his legs.

Ahab is determined to kill Moby Dick as a matter of personal revenge. His fierce chase after the whale makes thrilling reading.

This story sounds fantastic, but it had much foundation in fact. When a particularly savage whale had been attacked several times and escaped, usually with a number of harpoons still attached it might become a "rogue" and attempt to kill men and smash boats and ships.

Such a whale would become known across the oceans, and sailors would call him by a certain name. Melville had been a whaler himself, and had heard a famous rogue whale, Moby Dick, spoken of.

So the reply to our questioner is that there really was a Moby Dick. Melville's story, Moby Dick, however, should be taken as fictional, even if there is much truth about the thrilling occupation of whaling as practiced many years ago.

FOR YOU TO DO: Read Moby Dick to find whether Capt. Ahab caught up with the whale. You'll find it a fascinating story.

NEW PHOTO TOOLS — A tiny electronic sensor cell (arrow) in this new Auto-Strobonar flash unit reads its own light and turns itself off when proper exposure level is reached. At right is the new vertical format of the Rondelle 100 magnetic slide projector. It focuses itself automatically with an infrared tracking system.

New Tools 'Space-Age'

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newfeatures

Having just returned from a three week photographic bus tour of Europe, this was to have started a vacation series based on my experiences but a couple of important new photo developments take precedence.

They are revolutionary innovations in an electronic flash unit and a 2"x2" slide projector.

The new photographic tools, unveiled by Honeywell Inc. at a New York press conference, reveal that space-age electronics have been incorporated in these machines, so that they accomplish little miracles automatically.

The Auto-Strobonar 660 is a flash unit that electronically measures its own light as reflected by the subject matter and turns itself off when proper exposure has been achieved.

It can do so in as little as 1-50,000 of a second when the subject is 2 feet away and requires a minimum of light.

RANGE EXTENDS

Its range extends to 23 feet when used at an exposure of 1-1000.

In other words, its light varies according to the distance of the subject whereas all other flash units deliver a precise, equal amount of light each time.

With present flash outfits, the photographer works with a guide number and changes his lens diaphragm opening for different distances.

With the new Auto-Strobonar 660, he consults a dial for the film being used, then sets one lens stop which remains unchanged for all flash pictures with the subject from 2 to 23 feet away.

SLIDE PROJECTOR

The Rondelle 100 is a 2"x2" slide projector in a unique vertical design format which, automatically and electronically, focuses its slides after the first one sets the pace by manual operation.

The precise focus throughout the 100-slide trays is maintained by an infrared "tracking system" which is said to be twice as accurate as by human operation.

No matter how the slides pop or buckle, a sensitive photo cell automatically corrects for any deviation in slide position.

The vertical design of the projector puts the lens up high for better screen viewing. Its 100-slide trays are far smaller than all other circular units and each is mounted inside, rather than on the machine.

STORAGE SPACE

A Rondelle, therefore, can store and carry a tray and is ready for instant use.

A metal clip must be attached to each slide in the rotary tray because the projector uses magnetic attraction to lift each slide into position for viewing after which they fall back into the tray by gravity.

This method eliminates any possibility of ever damaging any slide by force, according to a Honeywell spokesman.

The tray, however, will not accept any glass mounted slides, only those in cardboard or plastic mounts.

EDITING GATE

The projector has an editing gate above the tray to adjust or replace individual slides or to view new ones for loading into an empty tray. It's a convenient feature for camera clubs or competitions.

To get back to item one, the Auto-Strobonar 660 resembles the 65C model in looks and performance when its battery-operated automatic feature is turned off, as it can be.

Then it has a Kodachrome II guide number of 80. It's in a plastic housing, weighs about two pounds and is 9 1/2 inches high.

It holds four Permacord Sub-C batteries in a sliding tray behind the reflector. Recycling time is 8 to 12 seconds and the ready light comes on only when a 100 per cent full charge is available.

ELECTRIC OUTLET

For conventional electronic flash, the unit can be plugged into an electric outlet for AC or used on the battery for shooting.

For use as an automatic unit, the 660 must be set on "battery" and the small knob to "on."

Since the maximum energy or light is not used at closer distances, the excess amount is diverted electronically into a second, low-resistance tube within the flash head.

This is done by the tiny sensor which "reads" the light bounced back by the subject and determines when enough has been received for proper exposure.

BREAKTHROUGH

The ability to determine and cut off the light when it reaches the correct level in a fraction of an instant is a scientific breakthrough in lighting technology.

It gives amateur photographers a tool by which they can record high-speed photographic effects which have been limited heretofore to professionals using expensive equipment.

Police Dog Finds Escaped Prisoner

NEWBERRY (AP)—Buck, a husky State Police German shepherd, and his handler-Trooper Richard Schave Tuesday captured Eugene Worden, 22, of Bay City, who walked off the Cusino Prison Camp near Singleton a few hours earlier.

Another walkaway, Ken Alexander, 22, of Newberry, was still at large.

U.N. Expected to OK Move to End U.S.-Soviet Dispute on Dues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly was expected to finish its paralyzed 19th session today by ratifying an agreement to bury the U.S.-Soviet dispute over voting rights.

Endorsement of the agreement adopted Tuesday by a special committee on U.N. peacekeeping operations will clear the way for the assembly to return to a normal footing at its 20th session starting Sept. 21.

Main point of the agreement was "that the question of the applicability of Article 19 of the charter will not be raised with regard to the United Nations (Middle East) Emergency Force and the United Nations operation in the Congo."

Article 19 provides that any country two years behind in its U.N. dues shall have no assembly vote. The Soviet Union, France and 10 other nations are that far behind because they have refused to pay assembly assessments for peacekeeping expenses. The United States had insisted that they should not be allowed to vote.

To avoid a big-power clash, the assembly steered clear of voting and never got down to business.

The United States announced Aug. 26 it was abandoning its stand that the voting penalty should be applied. This enabled Asian-African delegates to work out a formula to break the impasse.

The deadlock had prevented the assembly from even adopting an agenda for the 19th session.

You Saved the Day With Can of Spray

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The letter reproduced below is an unsolicited testimonial I have just dispatched to a leading manufacturer of men's toilet articles.

I expect you will soon be hearing portions of it quoted in television commercials.

WEST

"Dear Sirs:

"Not long ago I purchased some of your push-button spray deodorant that comes in the handy aerosol can. It was my first experience with this type of antiperspirant. Previously, I had been a devotee of messy creams, gooey sticks and gum-my roll-ons.

"The first few times that I used the aerosol applicator, I had a little trouble aiming it properly. Zeroing in on one's own underarms is not as easy as it looks on television.

"Being right-handed, I did fairly well when spraying to port. I used the saturation technique, starting at the bicep and working down to the lower ribs.

"But when spraying with my left hand, my marksmanship was erratic at best. A couple of times I missed my armpit entirely. On one such occasion, hit my right eye instead. That was when I made a valuable discovery.

PERFUMED EYES

"I am pleased to inform you that my product gave me 24-hour protection against eyelid perspiration odor.

"It is true that I couldn't see very well. But I didn't have to worry about sweaty eyelids. 'This better to be half blind than half safe.

"And now I would like to tell you how I accidentally discovered another new use for your product. It happened during my recent vacation.

"I traveled about 7,000 miles with my wife and three children, two of whom didn't get along very well and the other one of whom was prone to car-sickness.

HEADING EAST

"One morning as we were heading east out of Electric, Ala., along a narrow, winding, bumpy road, the kid with the trick stomach redistributed his breakfast all over the front and back seats.

"I slammed on the brakes and we all evacuated the auto.

"The children declared it a disaster area and refused to get back inside. There was some talk of abandoning the car and riding a bus the rest of the way home.

"Then I suddenly had a bright idea. I opened the trunk, unzipped my toilet kit, took out the underarm-eyelid deodorant and sprayed it inside the car.

"It saved the day."

Lack of Coverage to Cost Extra Next Year

LANSING (AP)—Some Michigan motorists may discover they have no liability insurance when it comes time to purchase their 1966 license plates, says secretary of State James Hare.

Proof of liability insurance will be needed at that time to avoid paying the $25 fee charged uninsured drivers.

The charge is to finance the new State Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund designed to protect innocent victims of uninsured or unidentified motorists. Drivers carrying their own liability insurance will be charged $1.

If a bank or finance company is carrying the insurance on an automobile it may not be covered for liability, Hare said.

INSTALLMENT FIRM

In some cases the installment company provides insurance to protect its interest in the event of a collision or fire but does not cover injury. In fact, he added, most such companies are not licensed to sell any other type of insurance.

Hare estimated that 75 percent of Michigan motorists will receive a simple certificate of insurance from their companies before Nov. 1—the day 1966 plates go on sale.

Others, he said, can prove they are insured by showing their policy or an insurance policy from their companies before Nov. 1—the day 1966 plates go on sale.

Others, he said, can prove they are insured by showing their policy or an insurance identification card containing such information as the automobile identification, policy number and expiration date.

FIRST MAILING — A portion of the first mailing of 2.5 million kits to persons over 65 explaining the new Medicare program is processed yesterday at the Social Security's complex near Baltimore. Similar quantities are scheduled for mailing each week until

Retirees Given Word on Medical Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Beginning today, 2.5 million retired Americans are getting word from the government on two new medical programs available to them under the expanded Social Security System.

The information includes an application card for the voluntary program — the medical plan which provides protection against most doctor bills.

The first of the kits were sent out Tuesday night. No action is required for the hospitalization and nursing care program. Inclusion is automatic for anyone on the Social Security rolls.

MAILING RATE

Mailing will continue at the rate of 2.5 million a week until the government reaches the 15.5 million Americans now under Social Security or railroad retirement.

Today also is the first day those 65 or older who are not on the benefit rolls may qualify for the hospital plan and enroll in the medical program at their local Social Security office.

The two programs become effective July 1, 1966.

Another mass mailing to carry out provisions of the new Social Security amendments will begin Sept. 15 and take about a week. This will include checks totaling $885 million to cover the 7 per cent increase in Social Security cash benefits retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

VOLUNTARY PLAN

The application card for the voluntary medical plan should be returned to the Social Security Administration in the postage-free envelope included in the kit.

This option must be exercised by March 31, 1966, to qualify. Cost will be $3 a month. The payment may be deducted from the monthly Social Security benefit check beginning next July or paid in cash. The government will match the payment.

An estimated 90 per cent of Americans 65 and older will be mailed kits. More than half of the remaining 10 per cent receive old-age assistance and will hear from state agencies.

The remaining 5 per cent will be informed of their rights through organizations in touch with older people and through other publicity.

It's the Greatest, Man

C'mon, All You Hodaddies---Let's Get Stoked in Surf

By JOY MILLER

NEW-YORK (AP) — Like man, you hodaddies don't know how real stoked a surfer can feel about riding those keeno-jet big waves.

But stick around and maybe you'll run into Phil Sauers.

He's the young, brogan president of the International Surfing Association who is spending the better part of a year traveling around the country in a specially outfitted truck to tell all you hodods or hodaddies—squares who don't get any kicks out of life—about the thrills of the big new sport cult, surfing.

The surf-worshippers who are really stoked—dedicated—are sort of waterlogged first cousins to the black leather-jacketed roving motorcycle club members, with their own traditions, jargon and mores. They surf all day in the sunlight, all night in the glare of headlights of cars driven onto the beach and all winter in rubber exposure suits.

SURFING CLUBS

Enthusiastic but not really stoked are masses of teen-agers who may or may not be organized into the thousand miscellaneous little surfing clubs around the country, and who spend an hour or two a day at the sport in good weather.

"And an awful lot of surfboards are being sold to girls who carry them around on their cars to attract boys, and neither their boards nor their bikinis get in the water," says Sauers, who isn't objecting.

At 28, Sauers has a well-tanned finger in every enterprise involving surfing. In the surfing movies that are packing in the teen-agers these days, he acts as consultant and occasional double. That's Sauers, not a teen idol, who frequently see sliding diagonally through the curl of the wave in the distance. He also owns most of the 35mm surfing films used on television and in motion pictures.

A surfer since he was 10, Sauers is chiefly interested in besides making money — promoting surfing as a sport.

ARGUES CASE

On his trips around the country he has argued, often successfully, with city fathers dead and let them have the authority to call the police."

Right now Southern California is the chief playground, but surfers on the Texas Gulf Coast and Eastern seaboard will more than triple in number in two years, Sauers predicts.

RIDE THE WAKE

Inland, any body of water that can take a boat, is fair game for a variation that's spurring into great popularity—boat wake surfing.

"It's much easier," says Sauers, "because you aren't riding the waves in the ocean, and you can go as long as the boat goes."

set on closing their beaches to surfers. They litter, loiter, blow up lifeguard towers and ruin things for swimmers," the official complain.

Sauers has talked with city officials, civic clubs and groups of teen-agers in organized or impromptu sessions, urging:

"Now is the time to set up surfing clubs with teams and competitions. Let the kids take responsibility for policing the beaches. Let a club of say 50 kids appoint 10 as a surf patrol to keep the beaches clean and the surfers in order. Give them sweaters that lend a kind of dis-

Johnson and the Presidency—II

Congress: LBJ's Factory

EDITOR'S NOTE — Getting along with Congress has been developed to a fine art by President Johnson, and the legislative assembly line is producing at a remarkable clip. This second of four articles on LBJ in action focuses on his winning ways with lawmakers.

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is responding like a giant computer to President Johnson's touch, rolling out in record-breaking volume legislation aimed at altering the course of American life.

By the time it adjourns in the year, probably in September, the administration-controlled Congress will have produced an astounding compilation of measures, aimed at bolstering the economy and lifting the poor and oppressed to higher social and economic levels.

While this was going on, the President succeeded in smothering all but a recalcitrant few voices of opposition among the legislators to his course in Vietnam. His judgment that there is no substantial dissent to the policies he is pursuing is generally accepted as accurate.

In his 21 months as president, Johnson has gone far beyond the New Deal of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the predecessor he reveres, to push the federal government into areas FDR never dared invade.

'QUALITY' NEXT
Now his task, as the President sees it, is to turn from the field of what Richard Goodwin, a presidential aide, called "material want" toward the improvement of "the quality of human life."

Translated, this means highway beautification, rebuilding of the nation's slum-scarred cities, elimination of water and air pollution, and expansion of recreation facilities.

If all of this sounds ambitious, Johnson has never lacked ambition.

While Cabinet members and experts are busy shaping up legislation for the 1966 session of this Congress, the President has started studies for programs to lay before the 90th Congress.

NEARLY EVERYTHING
Perhaps Congress will not be so docile in the future, but for practical purposes, Johnson has got just about everything he asked for out of a body in which the Democrats outnumber the Republicans 2 to 1.

Major examples of his accomplishments include the Negro voting rights bill, health care for the elderly, aid to secondary education, a $7-billion housing program, establishment of a housing and urban affairs department, a $4.6-billion excise tax cut, mental health grants, military pay increases and a proposed constitutional amendment on presidential disability.

Also Congress has given Johnson most of what he asked for foreign aid.

In the mill are measures for aid to higher education, abolition of the immigration quota system, repeal of the Taft-Hartley right to work provision, doubling of the anti-poverty program, expansion of minimum wage coverage and a new program of farm price supports.

DETRACT LITTLE

One or two of these might not reach final enactment before Congress closes. But it is obvious that any leftovers will detract little from the record-breaking output already in hand.

To accomplish these results, Johnson has done about everything but walk on water. He has pleaded, cajoled, flattered and persuaded with round-the-clock persistence probably never equaled in White House-Congress relations.

On occasion he has twisted a reluctant arm and has knocked a few heads together. He has rewarded his friends and, in most instances, has placated his critics.

Because he was a member of the inner circle in the House and Senate for many years, Johnson reads the lawmakers as though he were checking their diaries. He knows the ambitions, the strength and weaknesses of the men with whom he deals.

Beyond that, Johnson knows that the craving for presidential recognition is universal. He gives of it liberally, passing out pens at bill signings, posing for photos with Senate and House members, calling up members on their birthdays inviting them to the White House and paying little informal calls on them that will be duly recorded in the press.

All of this might not have been enough, however, if Johnson had not suppressed his natural partisanship most of the time to build consensus support in Congress. With some exceptions he has been as kind to Republicans as to Democrats. Only last week, the President turned aside with soft words an assault by House Republicans on the administration's Viet Nam war policies.

All this has paid off. He might never have been able to get a voting rights bill passed, for example, if he had not given Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois a virtually free hand in hammering out its terms.

SELECTION YEAR

But a congressional election year lies ahead in 1966. Things may turn a bit more partisan then, and there may be a few political weeds among the presidential roses.

Hospital List Grows, but Tigers Topple Twins on Freehan Homer

CAGE COACHING CREW — The Oakland County area high school basketball coaches last night met the Michigan State mentor John Benington (second from left) at the Pontiac Elks Temple dinner sponsored by The Press for the sport football, wrestling, swimming and basketball coaches as well as athletic directors. Also included among the more than 100 guests were Benington's No. 1 assistant Sonny Means (left), Pontiac Central's Art Van Ryzin (next to Benington) and Fred Zittel (second from right), and Oakland University's Dick Robinson.

Ex-Viking May Trade Maize-Blue for Red

Former Walled Lake High School All-State quarterback John Thomas may be redshirted this year by the University of Michigan.

"Thomas has an injured knee, but we don't know if surgery is indicated," Bob Holloway, assistant coach at U-M, told a gathering of over 100 coaches at the Elks last night.

The dinner was sponsored by the Pontiac Press and drew football, basketball, swimming and wrestling coaches and athletic directors from area college and prep ranks.

"The injury to Thomas may be a break for both the team and John," Holloway continued. "If he can't play, it will mean that he will have three years of eligibility left."

"The way Dick Vidmer and Wally Gabler have been playing we no longer are as concerned about the quarterback slot left vacant when Bob Timberlake was graduated."

Vidmer was pushing Timberlake for the starting job last fall when he suffered a fractured leg. Although he is listed as a junior on the school record, he still has three years of eligibility left. Gabler is a senior from Royal Oak.

With Vidmer still having three years to play and almost a certain regular during that year, he says after the first one, he would be forced to sit in reserve.

FOUR YEARS — "If Thomas is held out this year and its a little too early to tell yet because treatment on his knee is still in the preliminary stage—we would be pretty well set at quarterback for the next four years," said Holloway.

Grid Tragedy Hits Ole Miss, Again

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi opened its 1964 football practice a year ago today and before the day ended a sophomore halfback collapsed and died. The Rebels lost another player Tuesday — 364 days after the first one.

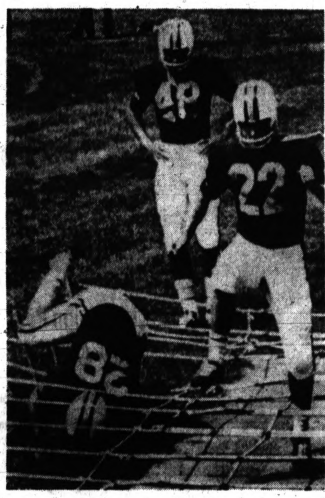

Sophomore end Bob Priestler, ticketed to be an alternate starter on defense, collapsed and died while running unsupervised laps with fellow team members at Ole Miss Tuesday.

Mississippi starts its 1965 practice sessions today.

U-M 11 to Scrimmage

well as athletic directors. Also included among the more than 100 guests were Benington's No. 1 assistant Sonny Means (left), Pontiac Central's Art Van Ryzin (next to Benington) and Fred Zittel (second from right), and Oakland University's Dick Robinson.

STOPPED SHORT — University of Minnesota halfback Mike Schmidt didn't have to participate in a scrimmage to get upended. He tripped while running through a rope maze for the benefit of photographers as the Gophers opened practice yesterday. Stewart Maples (22) is still upright and Charles Sanders (27) is waiting his turn.

Maccabiah Games Over

U.S. Makes Big Haul in Medals

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The United States hauled in another top batch of medals in the seventh World Maccabiah Games and left behind another vast store of equipment to help Israel develop its promising sports program.

"We wanted to win as many medals as we could, but it was equally important for us to promote good will and physical fitness," said Haskell Cohen of New York, the head of the American team. "I feel con-dent we have succeeded in all respects."

The Americans wound up the nine-day Jewish Olympics with 75 gold medals, 12 more than they did four years ago. Israel, with a flock of teen-age prospect in swimming, track and field and gymnastics was second with 31, compared to 26 in 1961.

In the last three finals, held during the closing ceremonies Tuesday before about 50,000 at Ramat Gan Stadium, the Yankees won both the 400 and 1,600-meter relays, and Britain's Ray Roseman captured the 1,500-meter run in 3:51.2. Maccabiah records were set in all three races.

On Monday night and early Tuesday morning, the American gymnasts completed a grand sweep of 13 of the 14 men's championships and one of the four women's golds — Marianne Woolner of New Orleans, La. Israel took the other golds.

Because several ties for first and second in which duplicate were awarded, the U.S. men actually wound up with 21 golds, 14 silvers and 12 bronze medals — 47 in all.

Smoke Signals Say, 'Thomas'

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves must have had their smoke signals crossed when they called Frank Thomas back to the reservation. All they really needed was an umbrella.

The Braves made the only headway in the National League pennant race Tuesday night but it took them almost eight hours in stormy Cincinnati to do it. After beating the Reds 5-3 in the rain-prolonged opener of a doubleheader, the Braves weathered another long delay before Cincinnati's 4-1 lead was washed out in the fourth inning of the second game.

The victory ended a six-game losing streak for the Braves and moved them into a third-place tie with Cincinnati, two games behind league-leading Los Angeles. The Dodgers were rained out at Pittsburgh while two other contenders, San Francisco and Philadelphia, were dividing a doubleheader.

Thomas, meanwhile, cracked two homers and drove in five runs as Houston swept a twonight from the New York Mets 4-3 and 3-2, then packed his bag for a return trip to Milwaukee and another shot at the World Series share that has eluded him in seven previous stops in 14 seasons.

EIGHTH TRY

The 36-year-old slugger has played for the Pirates, Braves, Reds, Cubs, Mets, Phillies and Astros — but never with a pennant winner.

The Braves acquired Thomas, whose two homers against New York lifted his career total to 286, from Houston to bolster their bench. They'll send the Astros a player in return at a later date.

A couple of other former Milwaukee players, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette, hooked up in pitching dual at Philadelphia, the Phillies' Burdette topping his former roommate 2-0 in the second game. The Giants won the first game 2-1 in 11 innings.

The St. Louis Cardinals blanked Chicago 3-0 behind right-hander Bob Gibson in an afternoon game.

Home runs by Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron and Gene Oliver powered Milwaukee past the Reds in a game delayed 24 minutes at the start and held up for more than two hours in the fifth inning. Mathews' 30th homer capped the Braves' attack and tied him with Stan Musial for seventh place on the all-time homer list, with 475.

RELIEF HELP

Tony Cloninger posted his 18th victory against nine defeats with relief help from Bob Sadowski after the two-hour downpour.

The umpires waited 45 minutes before calling the second game in the fourth. It was rescheduled as part of a two-night doubleheader tonight.

Spain gave up only three hits in the Giants-Phillies nightcap but two were homers — by Alex Johnson in the seventh and Bob by Wine in the eighth — and they pinned loss No. 16 on the 44-year-old southpaw.

Burdette, 38, scattered six hits for his third victory, getting pinch hitter Orlando Cepeda to hit into a game-ending double play after giving up two singles in the ninth.

Willie Mays doubled in the 11th inning of the opener, reached third on a passed ball while Willie McCovey was being issued an intentional walk and scored the winning run as Jim Hart tapped into a force play.

Thomas drove in all the Astro runs in the opener at New York with his third and fourth home runs of the year.

'Most Difficult' Slate Facing MSU Grid Team

EAST LANSING (AP) — Coach Duffy Daugherty says his Michigan state football players have "the most difficult schedule of any team in the conference, if not the country."

Daugherty agrees with most of the forecasters in seeing Michigan, Ohio State and Purdue as the teams to beat in the Big Ten this season. He notes Michigan State plays the three in a row, in that order.

MSU had a 4-5 season last year and was sixth in the conference on 3-0 record.

Daugherty had 80 prospective players out for the picture-taking session in Spartan Stadium Tuesday. Two-day drills got underway today.

Mike Bradley, a sophomore backer from Ypsilanti, was missing due to a foot injury.

TWO UNITS

"Our problem is to get one good offensive unit and one good defensive unit together," Daugherty said. "We won't have the luxury of depth and we can't afford any injuries."

There are 23 lettermen returning, with fine strength in the defensive line. The offensive line needs beefing-up as does the defensive backfield, where coachpin Dan Japings will need some support.

CHARLES KOSCI

Charles Kosci of Royal Oak was runner-up with 70-73-143, followed by Earl Burt of Ypsilanti who shot 73-72-145.

AREA QUALIFIERS

Peter Green of Orchard Lake and Dave Cameron of Birmingham won fourth and fifth places with rounds of 70-75-145 and 77-68-146, respectively.

Tom Draper of Royal Oak, David Reniger of Lansing and John French of Bloomfield Hills, were tied for sixth place. French lost on the second hole in a playoff but Draper and Reniger remained tied until the sixth hole where darkness stopped the duel.

Draper and Reniger were to resume their match today.

With the 10-game schedule, the opener comes early this fall at UCLA Sept. 18 at East Lansing.

3 More Bengals Out of Lineup With Ailments

Minnesota Defeated on 2-Out Home Run in 9th Inning, 7-6

MINNEAPOLIS, ST. PAUL, (AP) — Detroit baseball fans no longer ask where the Tigers will finish but whether they will finish at all.

Two more players have been added to the long list of the bed-ridden and walking wounded, but the Bengals still managed to edge the league-leading Minnesota Twins 7-6 Tuesday night.

Denny McLain and Ray Oyler joined Al Kaline (ribs), Don Demeter (wrist), Dick McAuliffe (hand) and Gates Brown (pulled muscle) on the sidelines. McLain developed a 102 degree temperature and was dispatched to a hospital with a virus.

His starting rotation assignment for tonight was given to Dave Wickham.

CANT FIELD

Oyler injured a finger on his throwing hand and is useless after a few days. Don Wert took his place at shortstop Tuesday night while Jake Wood filled in at third.

Oyler is well enough to bat and walked in a pinch-hitting role Tuesday.

General Manager James Campbell can increase his roster to 40 men today as most minor league seasons ended.

But that won't help much. The Tigers beat the Twins with two runs in the ninth when Bill Freehan crashed a two-run homer over the right wall. Don Mincher bobbled Norm Casanova's grounder to set the stage.

The Twins had taken a 6-5 lead in the see-saw affair when Bob Allison homered in the seventh.

With two men on, give Detroit a 4-2 lead in the fifth and Jerry Lumpe's run-scoring single in the sixth tied the score at 5-5.

FIRST WIN

Ron Nischwitz picked up his first victory in relief.

Jim Grant had started on the mound for the Twins in quest of his 18th win of the year but was routed in the fifth inning.

Orlando Pena relieved Detroit starter Mickey Lolich in the bottom of the fifth inning with the bases loaded. The Twins managed to score three times in the sixth inning, with Mincher providing the big blow, a triple off Pena.

White Sox Dumped Twice

Yanks Take 'Chance'—Lose

By The Associated Press
There's nothing different about Dean Chance and the New York Yankees this season.

They're doing the same thing they did last year when Chance won the Cy Young award and the Yankees won their 11th straight American League pennant — when they get together, Chance wins and the Yankees lose.

The Los Angeles right-hander extended his amazing mastery over the Yankees Tuesday night as the Angels squeezed out a 1-0 decision.

The victory was Chance's fourth straight, bringing his record to 12-9 in a season in which he has been noted for his failure to meet his 1964 standard of baseball living.

TOO EXPENSIVE

But to the Yankees, the cost of living with the 24-year-old hurler has been just as expensive.

Chance's latest triumph was his seventh over New York without a defeat in the past two seasons. Three of the victories have come this year while he has compiled a 1.89 earned run average against the sixth-place team.

In other AL games Tuesday night, Detroit edged Minnesota 7-6, Baltimore swept Chicago 4-0 and 7-4, Cleveland trounced Kansas City 8-1 before losing 3-2 in 11 innings and Boston took Washington 4-0 and 8-5 in 10.

Teammate Albie Pearson got in on Chance's act against New York, hitting a first-inning home run off Bill Stafford for the only run. The homer was the 26th of Pearson's career, nine of them coming against the Yankees.

Brooks Robinson hit a homer and drove across two runs in each game against Chicago. John Miller and Stu Miller combined for the first-game shutout while Steve Barber scattered eight hits in the nightcap.

J. C. Martin's passed ball and a throwing error by pitcher Joe Horien helped Baltimore score two runs in the opener while Ron Hansen's boot sent another pair across in the second contest.

Sports Bill Will Limit Exemptions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Limited exemption from antitrust law restrictions would be granted to professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey under a bill passed by the Senate.

The Senate's voice vote approval Tuesday sent the measure to the House, where it faces a less than bright future. House members have shown no great interest in similar legislation introduced there.

The bill was described by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., its floor manager, as designed to grant equal treatment to the four team sports.

Baseball has enjoyed complete exemption from antitrust actions under a 1922 Supreme Court decision, but a more recent decision cast some doubt whether the court would allow that status to continue.

FOUR SPORTS

The bill as passed would place the business aspects of the four professional sports under antitrust jurisdiction, but would exempt their purely sports activities. Baseball thus would lose some of its questioned exemption, but the others would benefit.

The exemptions would apply to:

— The player draft and other steps to equalize the playing strength of league teams.

— League franchise agreements guaranteeing teams exclusive territorial rights in their areas.

Arrangements to police the conduct of teams, players and officials through the employment of commissioners with broad disciplinary powers.

Such business affairs as ownership deals and the awarding of service contracts would be subject to antitrust challenge.

Pistons Sign Pair to New Contracts

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons announced Tuesday that veteran forwards Ray Scott and Jackie Moreland have signed one-year contracts, bringing to eight the total signed for the 1965-66 season.

Scott has averaged 15.7 points and 12 rebounds per game in his four years with the Pistons, and is reported recovered from a foot injury which idled him for 16 games last season.

Moreland will be beginning his sixth season in the Piston camp. He has compiled an overall 7.7 points per game average since entering the National Basketball Association.

Amateur Groups Review Efforts Before Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association take their feud back to Congress today with no indications it is any closer to a settlement.

At the direction of the Senate Commerce Committee, top officials of the two amateur sports groups sought to settle their jurisdictional dispute for six hours Tuesday in a downtown hotel room.

They adjourned the talks without issuing any statement and were scheduled to make a progress report to an executive session of the committee today.

TIRE TALK
In just a few days we'll be into the long Labor Day weekend. If you go north, you'll probably be impressed, as we were recently, with the large number of badly overloaded cars on the road. They go sailing along at 70 m.p.h., rear ends dragging, piled as high as gear can be lashed on car-top, oblivious to the real breach of safety being committed.

If the car's springs are so overloaded as to force it badly off level, chances are high that the tires, too, are overloaded. Just for the record, take a look at the maximum rated loads of a few sizes of original equipment tires:

700/14 or 725/14	975 pounds
750/14 or 775/14	1,085 pounds
800/14 or 825/14	1,175 pounds

If a car weighs 3,300 lbs.—you can almost count on at least 800 lbs. of load per wheel. Now start adding luggage, passengers and other gear. Before long that family of yours and you can be cruising on trouble!

This is no spot for the cheapest tire you can find, or some loudly advertised, fly-weight 3rd or 4th line fire-cracker.

That's what we've been trying to say these past weeks—adequate tires are trouble, no matter whose brand name they carry. And if you want to talk about tires, good tires, to men who really know tires, drop in.

Pro Grid Knife Pares AFL Rookies and NFL Veterans

By The Associated Press
Professional football's revolving doors were in full operation today as American and National League teams pared their rosters.

AFL clubs, trimming to 43 players plus All Stars who don't count against the limit, cut a flock of rookies to reach the quota while some veterans popped up among the NFL cut-downs which reduced rosters to 47 players.

Top names among those cut were 10-year veteran Dick James, sliced by the New York Giants, and defensive back Dick Pessone dropped by the Washington Redskins.

James, the smallest running back, who came to the Giants from Washington in the Sam Huff deal last year, had been hampered by injuries and sat out all the exhibition games while Giant Coach Albie Sherman relied on his rookie back.

SECOND TRY

Pessone had been cut earlier by New York and was trying to catch on with the Redskins. He was one of six pared by Washington — the others were rookies.

Baltimore placed veteran center Dick Scymanski on the injured reserve list and cut two rookies, quarterback Tim Murphy of the Air Force Academy and punter Ron Perez from the University of Tampa.

Top casualties of the AFL cut-down were pass catcher Bake Turner of New York and full-back Larry Garrison of Boston. Both were placed on the injured reserve list and must sit out at least the first two games of the regular season.

The Jets also asked waivers on injured guard Pete Perreault and sent defensive tackle Bob Medadams to Kansas City for rookie defensive end Charles Ragus of Northwestern Louisiana.

ROOKIES LEAVE

The Chiefs cut three rookies, flanker back Clotter Richardson of Jackson State, Miss., defensive halfback Mickey Sutton of Auburn and punter Danny Thomas of Southern Methodist. In addition to shelving Garrison, the Patriots trimmed offensive guard Dave Watson, defensive back Dave Cloutier and rookie defensive end Tony Gibbons of John Carroll.

San Diego dropped three rookies, offensive end Don

Floyd and place kicker Les Murdock, both of Florida State and defensive back Kern Carson of San Diego State. Oakland dropped veteran line-backer Clancy Osborne and tackle Pat Russ. Osborne had been a starter for the past two seasons but was hampered with a bruised knee this year. Russ was a free agent.

In the NFL, Los Angeles traded two rookies to Pittsburgh and placed two other players on waivers. Center Ken Henson of Texas Christian and defensive back Bobby Hohn of Nebraska went to the Steelers for Frank Mokea, a defensive lineman from Jackson, Miss. State College.

on second-year linebacker Andy Von Son and rookie defensive end Jim Griffin of Grambling.

Dallas signed defensive end Don Thompson, who had been cut by Philadelphia. The Cowboys also dropped Jim Zanias, a running back from Texas Tech and Bill Van Bockle, a defensive halfback from Tulsa.

RedBob Holds Yearling Show

The third annual Yearling Preview held last Sunday at Red-Bob Farms in Oxford drew 200 interested people to see the show of Thoroughbreds.

RedBob also unveiled its new show arena and announced the building of a new modern veterinary clinic especially designed for large animal practice.

Five new stables are also being built to house the horses.

On September 9-10, the Michigan Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association will hold its 4th annual auction at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club with 131 horses going to the highest bidders.

Austin Officials Will Abide by League Decision

DETROIT (AP) — A spokesman for Catholic Austin High School said Tuesday the school will abide by the ban against the school's football team regardless of the outcome of a court test.

Four parents have filed an injunction in Circuit Court asking the Catholic League to show cause why the suspensions should not be lifted. The case will be heard Thursday.

The Rev. Fr. Leo Burke, superior of the Austin community said: "As far as I am concerned we are prepared to abide by the decision of the Catholic High School Athletic League on this matter. As far as we are concerned the matter is closed."

Austin was suspended for one season last week by the league when three coaches and about 20 players were observed practicing in Canada in violation of the pre-season practice rule.

Head coach Mike Rhodes was fired by the school.

Miss Chandler Bidding to End Runner-Up Role

For the past two years, Phyllis Chandler of Hamtramck has found herself in the runner-up position in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association match play tournament.

She finished second in 1963 to Mrs. Douglas Graham of Detroit, and last year, she lost in the finals to Mrs. C. J. Miller of Novi.

This could be the year she winds up with the title.

She posted two easy victories in the first two rounds of this year's event at Bald Mountain Golf Club Monday and Tuesday, and she was scheduled to take on Mrs. Nick Panasuk of To-

Regional Softball Tourney Delayed

Rain delayed the state softball association Class A regional finals at Beaudette Park Tuesday for the second straight night.

Port Huron Bowldrome will now attempt to hold the six-inning 6-1 lead it built Monday over Flint Top Hat Bar for three more outs at 7 p.m. today, and then the two finalists will meet in the deciding tilt immediately afterward.

Flint hasn't lost in the regional and needs only one victory to win the title. Port Huron, which has lost once, must win two tilts.

Noble Victory Trot Favorite

Hambletonian Draws 10 Prize Colts, Filly

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Noble Victory was a marked horse today as he led 10 other 3-year-old trotters postward in the $122,245 Hambletonian, trotting's glamor race.

Driven by Stanley Dancer, seeking his first triumph after five misses in the premier state of harness racing, Noble Victory was an overwhelming choice to win the $59,900 first prize and soar his earnings to $349,466.

The chocolate-colored colt, bought two years ago for $32,000 by K. D. Owen of Houston, Tex., is unbeaten in his last 22 starts and owns the best time of the season in his division, a 1:59 3/4.

After rain washed out Tuesday's Grand Circuit card and prevented the 10 colts and the filly Armbr Flight from final workouts, today's forecast was for clear skies and cool temperatures.

Under the sun, the mile clay oval was expected to dry rapidly and be classed as good by the opening first heat at 1:55 p.m. EST.

Lion Drafted Among 68 in Hillsdale Grid Camp

Among 30 lettermen was 22 senior halfback Bruce McLenna a 6-foot-3, 215-pound Little All-America last year who was a Detroit Lions No. 9 draft choice.

Elk Hunt Applications Well Over '64 Figure

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's elk lottery has attracted a record number of hunter hopefuls this year.

Last year, more than 23,000 hunters applied for special permits in hopes they would get a shot at an elk.

As of last Friday, the deadline, more than 27,000 applications had been received for the elk hunt this year.

Letters postmarked by Aug. 27 were still coming in the first of this week.

Henry Nichols, handling the drawing for the State Conservation Department, estimated the number of legal applications would hit close to 35,000.

WELL PUBLICIZED

"The success of the hunt last year and all the publicity given to it were contributing factors," said Nichols.

The conservation department simplified the procedure of applying for an elk license this year.

Nichols reported that hunters were very careful about following instructions. He estimated that only about 25 applications had to be returned because the hunters erred in making their applications.

In addition, he couldn't recall receiving a single request from outside of Michigan, showing hunters realized only Michigan residents would be eligible for a permit.

As was the case last year, there will be only 300 special elk licenses allowed. There were 286 of the license-holders participating in the shoot last year and 289 of these bagged their elk.

A computer borrowed from the State Highway Department will do the drawing. Once the machine has been given its instructions, the actual work of selection is expected to take less than an hour.

CHECKS RETURNED

Drawing day is set for Sept. 8. The Conservation Department expects to start returning checks to the losers the same day.

The elk hunt, centered around the Pigeon River State Forest area, will be conducted Dec. 8-16, after the end of the regular deer season.

Last Friday also was the deadline for hunters eager to take part in Michigan's first turkey shoot since before the turn of the century.

Pontiac Resident Sails to Share of National Title

A veteran Pontiac sailor whose "half" of the boat stays at East Tawas recently found the waters of Tawas Bay particularly to his liking.

Bob (Barney) Dillon of 2786 Buick and his brother-in-law partner Matt Haglund of East Tawas were declared National One-Design Sailing champions Aug. 22, after seven varied weather races on the bay.

The 38-year-old Dillon, a General Motors Truck and Coach Division worker, and Haglund have sailed together for several years.

Their success was nominal until this year. They bought their 17-foot championship craft three years ago, and finished fourth with it at the Great Lakes One-Design races last spring.

In the national competition, Dillon was the mate as they took two firsts, three seconds, a third and a ninth in the seven heats sailed by the 29 entries from five states.

Nick Korbaw Chosen

DETROIT (AP)—Nick Korbaw of Bloomfield Hills, Tuesday was selected commissioner of the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame.

can have multiplied so that the conservation department is letting hunters harvest the surplus.

There will be 400 turkey permits allowed for the Nov. 8-14 season in sections of Allegan County.

More than 12,000 applications for the turkey shoot were received by Friday. Several thousand more are expected to arrive carrying before deadline postmarks.

No deposit was required with the turkey application but hunters will have to purchase the usual small game license.

Once the computer selects the lucky holders of elk license it will be given a new set of instructions and also will pull the names of the winners in the turkey shoot.

Top Bill(ing) for Area Angler

This Fish Proved a Point

Is the bill on a sailfish sharp? Ask this question to Jim Cavanaugh, 303 Fairfax, Birmingham, and he will answer with an emphatic, "Yes."

The 30-year-old angler may have taken over the lead in the Club de Pesca de Panama fishing tournament, but he didn't do it without shedding some blood.

Cavanaugh caught 24 sails on his recent excursion to Pinar Bay on the Pacific side of Panama. The one he remembers most is the fish that lived up to its name by sailing aboard.

"I had worked the fish alongside the boat," related Cavanaugh, "and the mate asked me if I wanted to keep it for mounting. I moved over to the rail and just as I started to look over, the fish jumped in the boat."

On the way down to the deck, the sail's bill cut Cavanaugh on the face, shoulder and chest.

Bay costs about $460 per person. The club charges $25 per day and the boats are $15 a day per party.

WRAPPED UP

"I also had another unusual experience," he reported. "I only caught one marlin, but that one wasn't hooked. The line was wrapped around its bill."

"This rarely happens, and when it does, the fish usually gets a way." The marlin weighed about 300 pounds.

Cavanaugh also battled a small sail 45 minutes. When brought alongside, it was discovered that the fish was hooked in the tail.

Cavanaugh released 22 of the sails. He also caught a 48-pound dolphin that ties him for first place in that class.

His combined catch totaled 3,726 points which put him 1,000 points ahead of his nearest competitor for top position in the tournament which ends Sept. 18.

Barrett Woodsmall of Grosse Pointe, Cavanaugh's fishing partner, tops the red snapper division with a 38½-pounder.

Although Cavanaugh's catch was impressive, he said it was "the worst time of the year to fish there."

"At one time, we were the only two people at the club," said Cavanaugh.

Air travel to and from Pinar Bay costs about $460 per person. The club charges $25 per day and the boats are $15 a day per party.

Steelworkers End Walkout in Warren

WARREN (AP) — A one-day walkout by Local 1279 of the United Steelworkers Union ended last night when the workers accepted a three-year contract offer from the R. C. Mahon Co. The new package, worth $4.3 cents over the life of the contract, was approved by a 240-165 secret ballot after a stormy membership meeting. Some 900 men had walked off their jobs at midnight Monday after rejecting the same contract.

Power Play Seen Over Immigration, Reapportionment Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's immigration bill and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen's reapportionment amendment were caught up today in a legislative power play. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., said that "some liberal Democrats would rather have a tactical victory over Dirksen" than to win passage of the immigration measure at this session of Congress. But Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., another member of the Senate Judiciary Committee where the opposing forces met head-on Tuesday, said in a separate interview he does not expect the immigration bill to be killed. Dirksen blocked committee action on the immigration measure after an 8-8 tie vote stymied his proposed constitutional amendment on redistricting of state legislatures. AIMED AT RULING The proposal is intended to overcome the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling last year requiring both houses of state legislatures to be apportioned on the basis of population. Dirksen proposes to permit consideration of geography and political subdivisions as well as population in apportioning one house of a state legislature if the people approve in a referendum. Defeated once, Dirksen is trying again with a revised version containing more safeguards. Administration leaders, anticipating committee approval of the bill to abolish immigration quotas based on national origins, had planned to bring it up for Senate action later this week. Dirksen blocked action on it under a committee rule that any member may ask and obtain a one-week delay in action on a bill. Dirksen indicated the administration can expect the immigration bill to remain bottled up in committee unless it helps shake loose his constitutional amendment. Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., who voted against Dirksen's amendment in committee, may hold the key to breaking the impasse. He told newsmen that if he has "to pay the price" of voting to report Dirksen's amendment out of the Judiciary Committee in order to get the immigration bill passed, he would be inclined to do so. The next meeting of the committee is scheduled for a week from today.

Convertible Flips, 3 Persons Killed

FLINT (AP) — Three persons were killed near here Tuesday night when their convertible went out of control, hit a pole and overturned, Genesee County Sheriff's deputies said. The victims were identified as Roger D. Bourdage, 13, John L. Knowles, 15, and James R. Dyer, 38, the driver, all of Flint. A 16-year-old girl in the car, Venia Yoder, of Flint, suffered a fractured pelvis. She was reported in fair condition in a Flint hospital, sheriff's officers said.

New Voting Law Alters Literacy Rules North and South

CHICAGO (AP) — The new federal voting rights law strikes at literacy requirements for voters in the North as well as the South. But its impact on Northern states is limited.

A survey showed today that 15 states, North and South, have legal requirements that voters demonstrate reading or writing ability.

The new law automatically suspends these and other voter qualification tests in states and counties where they were in use last November and where less than 50 per cent of the voting-age population voted in last year's presidential election.

In this category in the South are Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and 34 counties in North Carolina.

OTHER COUNTIES

In this category in the North are Alaska, Elmore County in Idaho and Aroostook County in Maine. Also covered is Apache County in Arizona.

However, in states and counties that don't fall automatically under the bill's formula, literacy tests may be suspended and federal examiners appointed to register voters upon a count finding of violations of the 15th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution — which bans denial of voting rights on account of race or color.

Several of the states that have literacy tests call for having the questioned voter read from the state's constitution.

In California, the federal Constitution was the required reading matter.

ABILITY ASSUMED

Such tests, however, were administered infrequently. If a voter could sign his name as required, or correctly fill out ballot forms, usually it was assumed that he was literate.

Literacy requirements were on the books of Arizona, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire,

New York, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, Virginia, and Washington. However, voting procedure in Delaware would have turned away unlettered citizens younger than 85 — those who were not already 21 in the year 1900.

Idaho won't let a prostitute vote or a keeper of a house of ill fame.

Many states without literacy tests require voter "signatures," but a personally applied mark, such as an "X," passes in most of these cases.

STILL OBSTACLES

Despite the federal voting rights law, there are still obstacles in some states that would appear to block many illiterates.

One is the do-it-yourself requirement which, while not applying to blind or infirm persons, makes no provision for the voter who can't read his candidate's names.

Ohio gives no aid in the voting booth, nor does Pennsylvania, Kansas, Virginia, Connecticut or South Carolina. Louisiana, while barring such help in special or primary elections, makes provisions for it in general elections.

Most other states allow help under a variety of formulae. The most common is assistance by two judges — one of each party.

SLOW VOTERS

The other remaining barrier applies to the slow voter — illiterate or not. In practice, however, time limits for voting are seldom enforced.

Connecticut wants its voters to do it snappily. The time limit there is one minute. That applies in Indiana, if a machine is used, although a paper ballot marker can stay in the booth up to three minutes.

The number of road deaths in West Germany has dropped since the introduction of new traffic law in January.

Urban Affairs Department Step Away From Reality

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a dramatic acknowledgment of the urban age, Congress has reshaped the upper echelon of government to add a Cabinet department aimed at the city-dweller.

Final congressional approval came yesterday for legislation establishing the new "Department of Housing and Urban Development." All that is needed now is President Johnson's signature.

The new agency was conceived in controversy and chances are it will continue that way in years to come.

The Urban Department will be the first Cabinet agency created since the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) was set up 12 years ago.

It will be the 11th federal department and, at the beginning anyway, one of the smallest. The agency's future growth could be as phenomenal as the metropolitan explosion that spawned it.

SIGN CHANGE
Initially, the Department of Housing and Urban Development will be created merely by taking down one government sign and putting up another.

The present Housing and Home Finance Agency — an independent federal agency — will become the new Urban Department.

The result will be creation of a new agency with about 14,000 employees, supervising government programs totaling about $4.3 billion a year.

In terms of work force, urban affairs will be the second smallest department in the federal government. Only the Labor Department has fewer employees (about 9,000).

CAUSES A STIR
The birth of a federal department is a rare enough event in Washington to cause considerable excitement. The urban affairs department is no exception.

Right now, the most important question being asked is: "Who will run the department?"

Municipal leaders who lobbied the law into existence and the congressmen and senators who voted for it are convinced the appointment will be the single most important factor in the agency's early stages of development.

The reason is that the law gives the new urban secretary authority to set up the administrative structure, including the parcelling out of responsibilities to an undersecretary and four assistant secretaries.

PRIMARY TASK
How he divides these functions will determine the emphasis and direction of the department's program, at least in its infant years.

The importance of the pending appointment to the new cabinet post was evident in current behind-the-scenes debate about one of the hottest candidates — HHFA administrator Robert C. Weaver, a Negro.

Weaver is universally respected among city leaders but he is not their unanimous choice. His critics are suspicious of what they consider a disproportionate emphasis on the sociological factors in urban planning.

Regardless of the personality of its secretary, creation of the new department is bound to have two immediate results.

One will be in the high councils of government where the voice of the city will be given full representation for the first time in U.S. history.

The second immediate effect of the new department was expected to be psychological. Urban leaders say it will focus increased national attention on the problems of the city.

Rival Rail Merger Is Proposed

NEW YORK (AP) — A proposed Chesapeake & Ohio and Norfolk & Western railroad merger would include five other railroads and rival the pending Pennsylvania-New York Central combine.

It would result in a system covering 20 states and two Canadian provinces.

More competition, better service and "probably lower rates" are expected through the merger, the chief executives of the two roads said Tuesday night.

Directors of the carrier announced their approval of the merger Tuesday. They also offered to include in their system five other Eastern railroads — Erie Lackawanna, Delaware & Hudson, Boston & Maine, Reading, and Central of New Jersey.

SEE SAVINGS
Presidents Walter J. Tuohy of the C&O and Herman H. Pevler of the N&W said the overriding reason for the merger proposal was an expected saving of $50 million annually, which would come about between 3 and 10 years after the union.

Tuohy and Pevler told a news conference that they expected approval within two years from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Asked if the federal government had been notified, they said a single telephone call had been made to Washington after the directors unanimously approved the idea.

There had been no formal merger discussion with the six or five roads involved.

SENSE APPROVAL
"I can't say for sure," Pevler replied when asked if the other lines would agree to the merger proposal. "I should think they would."

The increased strength of sev-on lines against the combined Pennsy-Central would be "all to the public good," the two presidents said.

"Two great systems competing with each other and with other modes of transportation would result in better service and probably lower rates," they said.

The proposed rail system would stretch from Portland, Maine, to Omaha, Neb., and from Montreal to Winston-Salem, N.C.

BETTER SERVICE
Tuohy said there would be "tremendous advantages of most, if not all, of the large cities to be served" by the two giant rail systems.

Pevler predicted "better and more frequent service to the southeast from Chicago."

The C&O-N&W merger

comes off, it would be comparable in mileage, gross revenues and total assets with the Pennsy-Central system.

The Pennsy-Central merger has been recommended by an ICC examiner and is before the full commission. A decision is expected in a few months.

The C&O-N&W system would establish a complex that, based on 1964 figures, would operate 28,400 miles of road, with gross revenues of $1.82 billion and total assets of $3.9 billion.

OTHER COMBINE
The Pennsy-Central combine would operate 23,271 miles of road, with gross revenues of $1.81 billion and total assets of $3.04 billion.

The C&O and the N&W said they would file their application with the ICC on or before Nov. 1.

TWO COOL, COFFEE SPECIALTIES — The ingredients for fun and refreshment — a banana split featuring Coffee-Caramel and Mocha Sauces, sharing the spotlight with a cool Coffee Ice Cream Soda.

These Ice Cream Concoctions Flavored With Coffee Sauces

If there is a teenager who doesn't love ice cream concoctions, we have yet to meet him or her. In fact, we know very few people who can't be tempted by the likes of sweetly-sauced banana splits or cool coffee sodas, especially on a hot summer afternoon.

The fact of the matter is that ice cream, with all its various embellishments, is a favorite dessert with just about everybody. One of the reasons, besides its flavor and soothing smoothness, is the infinite variety of specialties that can be fashioned with it.

Here are two beautiful examples both using the popular flavor of coffee.

One is a banana split over which we've spooned Coffee-Caramel Sauce and Mocha Sauce, then added whipped cream and chopped nuts. For those who like to get their fix, there are fresh or frozen crushed raspberries and maraschino cherries, too.

Next to the banana split is a frosty Coffee Ice Cream Soda, easy to make at home. Both treats are fun to whip up for parties, or for any informal gathering afternoon or evening.

Coffee-Caramel Sauce

- 1 cup sugar
- 1½ cups strong coffee beverage
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¾ cup cold water
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Preparation: 1. Pour sugar into heavy skillet. Place over low heat. Stir occasionally until sugar begins to melt, then constantly until sugar becomes a golden syrup. Remove from heat.

2. Add coffee slowly and carefully, while stirring. Blend cornstarch and cold water. Stir into coffee mixture. Cook, stirring until sauce thickens and clears. Remove from heat.

3. Stir in butter, salt and vanilla. Serve warm over ice cream. Makes about 1½ cups.

Mocha Sauce

- 2 cups sugar
- 2 envelopes (2 oz.) no-melt unsweetened chocolate ingredient
- 1 cup strong coffee beverage
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, salt, chocolate and coffee. Heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Boil, covered, 2 minutes. Boil uncovered, without stirring, until soft ball forms in cold water (236 degrees). Remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla. Beat slightly. Serve warm over ice cream. Makes about 2 cups.

Coffee Ice Cream Soda

- ½ cup strong cold coffee
- 1 teaspoon fine granulated (instant) sugar
- ¾ cup heavy cream
- 1 scoop coffee ice cream
- Ice cold club soda

Blend coffee and sugar in tall glass. Stir in cream. Add ice cream. Fill glass with club soda. Stir gently to mix. Serves 1.

Much Flavor, Few Calories

If calorie counting is on your summer fitness program, you'll really appreciate this flavor-bright salad dressing, so good on crisp greens.

- Combine 1 cup tomato juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 small clove garlic (minced), ½ teaspoon grated onion, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire, ½ teaspoon paprika, ½ teaspoon sugar, and generous dash pepper in a covered container. Shake to blend.

Store in refrigerator. Makes about 1 cup dressing, 3 calories per tablespoon.

Seedless Grapes Are Plentiful

By JANET ODELL,
Pontiac Press Food Editor

The growers must have done something to Thompson seedless grapes. They're so big this year.

But our trusted reference, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, says the weather is responsible. It's been just hot enough in California.

Thompson seedless grapes are grown for the table, for wine making and for raisins. Ninety-five per cent of all seedless raisins are made from this variety.

Take advantage of the record-breaking crop and keep these seedless green grapes on hand all during their season. Include them in some of these special recipes.

First there's a salad recipe with some unusual ingredients.

- Ham and Grape Salad
- 2 cups cooked ham, diced
- 2 cups diced fresh pineapple
- 1 cup halved seedless grapes
- 1 five-ounce can water chestnuts, sliced
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

Combine pie spice and mayonnaise. Mix remaining ingredients in large salad bowl and then stir in mayonnaise mixture. Toss lightly. Chill 30 minutes before serving.

Grapes for dessert can be prepared in a different manner.

Frosty White Grapes

- 1 quart seedless grapes, washed stemmed and chilled
- 1 pint sour cream
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- ½ cup butter
- 1 cup brown sugar

Combine sour cream, granulated sugar and vanilla. Add chilled grapes. Pour into serving dishes. In saucepan melt butter and stir in brown sugar, stirring until mixture is syrupy. Drizzle syrup over grapes, chill and serve with butter cookies.

Seedless grapes also make fine relishes.

Thompson Seedless Grape Relish

- 2 cups Thompson seedless grapes

Wash, stem and chop grapes. Combine with 1 cup sugar and 1 cup vinegar. Cook 10 minutes. Cool and serve.

Delight Your Child With Candy Balls

Candy Balls are an old favorite... try them!

Heat 6 cups puffed rice in shallow pan to preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes; pour into large greased bowl. Combine ½ cup light corn syrup, ¼ cup light molasses, ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon vinegar in saucepan; cook, stirring frequently until a few drops in cold water form a hard ball (250 degrees).

Remove from heat; add 3 tablespoons butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla, stirring only enough to mix.

Mixing quickly, gradually pour cooked syrup over puffed rice. With greased hands, shape to form 10 to 12 balls.

A main-course dish is good enough for company.

Creamed Chicken

- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup chicken stock
- 1 cup milk
- 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- ½ cup medium sherry
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cups diced cooked chicken
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento

In a heavy saucepan over low heat, melt the butter. Add green pepper; cook gently about 5 minutes. Stir in flour; add chicken stock and milk; cook and stir constantly until boiling and thickened.

Remove from heat. Mix a little of the sauce with the egg yolks; stir back into remaining sauce. Stir in sherry, nutmeg, salt and pepper; return to low heat and cook and stir for a few minutes.

Add chicken and pimiento; reheat gently. Serve in tart or patty shells; sprinkle with paprika.

These 'Oysters' Are Natives of the Land

These delicious little morsels are sometimes called corn oysters.

Fresh Corn Cakes

- 2 large eggs
- 2 cups firmly packed fresh corn, cut from cobs
- 2 tablespoons instant flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 6 tablespoons butter

In a medium mixing bowl beat eggs until thick and ivory color. Dump in corn, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Mix well with a spoon so that ingredients are evenly distributed.

In a large skillet over a little less than moderate heat, melt about 1½ tablespoons of the butter for each batch of cakes.

Drop generous tablespoons of the mixture into the hot butter, leaving ample space between them — in a 10-inch skillet 6 cakes can be fried at one time.

Cook until bottoms are browned and top edges are dry; turn carefully and brown other side. Makes about 24.

Note: You'll need 4 good-size cobs of corn; cut kernels away from cobs with dull side of knife, scrape down pulp.

Mouth-Watering Peach Pie Recipe for Two People

Nothing is quite as all-American as pie. One bite of tender, flaky pastry surrounding succulent fresh fruit and it's easy to taste why.

Today, families of one or two can enjoy this "mouth-watering" dessert too, and without the tedious task of making individual tarts.

Just bake half a pie! Form one layer of pie dough into a pie pan, spread halfway with fresh fruit, fold the uncovered pie dough over the filling, flute, and bake.

Sound simple? It is.

So whether it's a whole or half pie, wait no longer. Right now the bloom is on the peach and it's time you treated yourself to a delicious mouth-watering piece of peach pie. Don't you think so too?

Peach Pie for Two
½ cup shortening

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons water
1½ cups sliced fresh peaches
½ to ½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
Butter

Sift flour with salt into a bowl. Cut in shortening, using a pastry blender or fork, until mixture is consistency of cornmeal. Sprinkle with cold water, a little at a time, over different parts of flour mixture. Toss together lightly with a fork. Use as little water as possible, just enough to moisten dough. Place dough on waxed paper. Knead 3 times. Press gently with paper into a ball. Let stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes. Lightly flour pastry cloth or board and covered rolling pin. Roll dough into 18 inch circle ¼ inch thick. Fold pastry in half, place in pan, and unfold. Fill with fruit filling. Fold uncovered pie dough over filling. Seal edges together with water. Form rim and flute the edge. Cut 3 slits in top crust for vents. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on a cake rack. Makes half a 9-inch pie.

Home Baked Oatmeal Bread Is So Good That It Can Take the Place of Dessert

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor.
Nothing, but nothing succeeds around our house like home-baked loaves of bread.
Just let the old fashioned fragrance of yeast baking come from our kitchen and our family is overjoyed. Home-baked bread, served fresh and hot from the oven, even takes the place of dessert.

One of the good loaves you can make is American Oatmeal Bread, and here's the recipe.

We call this bread "American" because it is richer and softer than the Canadian oatmeal bread we grew up on.

The richness happens because there's more sugar, shortening and milk in this bread than our mother used to use. These ingredients give the bread a soft texture and help to retard staling.

American Oatmeal Bread
1 cake compressed or 1 package dry yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 cup milk, scalded
1 cup boiling water
¼ cup shortening
¼ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar

2 teaspoons salt
2 cups old fashioned rolled oats
3½ to 4 cups all-purpose flour
Softened yeast in lukewarm water or dry yeast in warm water.
Pour scalded milk and boiling water over shortening, brown sugar, salt and oats; cool to lukewarm. Stir in 1 cup flour.

Add softened yeast. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough.
Turn dough out on floured board or canvas; knead until smooth and satiny, about 10 minutes. Round dough into ball; place in greased bowl; brush lightly with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until nearly double in bulk, about 1½ hours.

Punch down dough; cover; let rest 10 minutes. Divide in half and form into loaves. Place in two greased 8½ by 4½ by 2½-inch loaf pans. Brush tops with melted shortening.

Cover; let rise until nearly double in bulk, about 45 minutes. Remove from pans; brush lightly with melted butter or margarine.

Steve Allen Stricken by Political Fever

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Stepping out of the spotlight and into the political limelight—as have Republicans George Murphy and Ronald Reagan—may provide a cue for Democrat Steve Allen.

Allen, actor, composer and pianist, said yesterday he's considering running for Congress in Los Angeles' 26th district, where Democratic Rep. James Roosevelt will resign to take a United Nations post.

Murphy won election to the U.S. Senate last November. Reagan is considered a leading candidate for governor.

Allen lives outside the 26th congressional district, but candidates are not required by law to reside in the district.

Enrico Fermi Atomic Plant Can Be Operated Safely, AEC Licensing Board Is Told

DETROIT (AP)—The Enrico Fermi Atomic Power Plant near Monroe can be operated at full power without hazard to the public, a three-man Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) safety and licensing board was told Tuesday.

"I am confident that the Fermi plant can be operated safely and will give satisfactory results," said Dr. Hans Bethe, internationally known nuclear physicist and Cornell University physics professor.

A favorable ruling by the board would result in issuance of a provisional license to the Power Reactor Development Co., owner of the nuclear reactor plant. The company seeks to operate the plant at its full power, of 300 thermal megawatts.

At full power the plant would generate approximately 65,000 kilowatts of electricity to be distributed by Detroit Edison Co.

At present the plant is licensed to use only enough uranium to operate its reactor at a power level of one thermal megawatt, or 1,000 kilowatts. Experts say this is not enough power to produce electricity.

Four unions, headed by the United Auto Workers Union, have fought construction of the plant, contending it has not been clearly shown that its operations will not endanger the lives of union members living in the area.

Attorney Leo Goodman, representing the unions at the hearings, has declined comment on the unions' attitude toward new licensing of the plant.

Also attending the hearings is Adolph J. Ackerman, an independent consulting engineer from Madison, Wis., who told the board that fast breeder installations, like the Fermi plant, provide insufficient protection for the public.

CALLED UNSAFE

Ackerman said the AEC's Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards advised in January 1966, against issuing a construction permit for the plant but it was issued anyway.

He said the AEC produced a hypothetical study on a plant similar to the Fermi plant in size and setting. Ackerman said the study indicated that "in the case of a major disaster the physical damage could run into billions of dollars and the human casualties into many thousands."

"The main issue is the fact that in the event of a major accident or sabotage the human casualties and injuries could far outnumber the losses from any previous industrial accident," Ackerman said.

Ackerman recalled the sinking of the nuclear submarine

"Thresher" and the recent disastrous fire in an Air Force missile silo.

RECALLS ACCIDENT

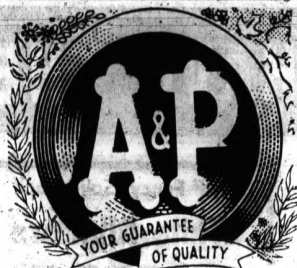

"History has repeatedly shown . . . serious accidents have been caused by a combination of circumstances previously considered incredible," Ackerman declared.

He quoted an unnamed Air Force officer who allegedly said after the missile silo fire "These things are not supposed to happen. We have many, many safety features. But the fact that it did happen contradicts these safety features."

"In the case of the Enrico Fermi Reactor the perils are equally unpredictable and unknowable, but the damage potential is hundreds of times greater," Ackerman said.

In 1960, the unions won a ruling in the U.S. Court of Appeals which halted construction of the plant. The ruling was overturned by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Soviets Rap Japan's 'Role' in Viet Strife

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged today that the United States is using Japanese territory to launch "aggressive actions" in Viet Nam.

The charge was contained in an aide memoire delivered to the Japanese embassy here.

The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said the document called on Japan to stop use of its bases for U.S. "aggression."

The Soviets accused Japan of being "an accomplice in U.S.

military ventures in Southeast Asia."

The aide memoire added: "Contrary to earlier Japanese government statements, it is now actually taking the path of assisting U.S. actions towards extending the war in Viet Nam."

URGES ACTION

"The Soviet government again expresses the hope that the government of Japan will take appropriate steps to prevent its territory, industry and manpower from being used any longer by the United States for aggressive purposes and will exert all its influence and authority to bring to a halt the American aggression against the Vietnamese people."

Japanese officials here had no comment.

Woman Dies in Hotel Fire

LONG BEACH, N.Y. (AP) — Fire destroyed a Long Island boardwalk hotel Tuesday and killed a 65-year-old woman. About 400 persons, most of them elderly, escaped.

Deputy Fire Commissioner Martin Heald said the dead woman was Dorothy Gollubier, 65, of the Bronx. Her body was found Tuesday night, five hours after the blaze began.

Long Beach Fire Chief Edward Wagener said firemen evacuated 200 persons from the six-story hotel.

Singapore Spy Tale Is Denied

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — Ambassador James D. Bell today categorically denied charges by Singapore Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew that the United States tried to spy on his government, and then offered $3.3 million for the release of a captured CIA agent.

Lee made the charge last night in a television interview with British and Australian newsmen in Singapore.

Bell's statement of denial was issued here by the U.S.

embassy. The statement did not elaborate.

Lee said a CIA agent from Bangkok tried to bribe a Singapore officer dealing with subversive activity to make regular reports to the United States. Lee said the bribe was offered in 1960.

Lee said Singapore officials laid a trap for the agent and caught him with "enough evidence to send him to jail for anything up to 12 years." Lee said the American consul general was "shaking at his knees."

CONTRIBUTION? Lee said the American government was told the matter would be "hushed up" if the United States contributed $33 million to Singapore's development program.

"But through an intermediary, they offered me and my party $3.3 million," Lee said. "The insult!" Lee said the CIA agent was released because, if the matter had come up in court, the United States would have put pressure on the Malaysian government to stop the proposed merger with Singapore.

The first steam-powered water pump designed to fight fires operated in England in 1829. Its debut was met with laughter from onlookers who called it the "steam squirt." Sparks from the smoke stacks of these early horse-drawn fire engines were a fire hazard themselves.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Is in Rome for Talks

Calls Council

MANILA (AP) — Search planes combed the China Sea off northern Luzon today seeking a United States military transport plane, missing with nine men aboard.

The missing plane took off from Nha Trang, South Viet Nam, Tuesday with 11 hours fuel aboard. It was last heard from somewhere off the west coast of northern Luzon.

ROME (AP) — Fresh from talks in Paris, U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler planned consultations today with Italian government leaders on monetary problems.

Fowler flew in Tuesday night, followed by U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, on their European tour to gain support for an international monetary reform conference.

MOSCOW (AP) — Heavy floods have struck in the area of two of the Soviet Union's major ports, the Soviet news agency Tass said today.

Tass did not say whether the two Far Eastern port cities — Vladivostok and Nakhodka — were affected.

The report gave no figures on the number of persons affected, the damage or casualties.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Polish consul in Sweden, Edmund Michalski, has defected and been granted political asylum in Stockholm, the Foreign Ministry said today.

Swedish officials and the Polish Embassy here declined to disclose his whereabouts.

According to unofficial reports, Michalski asked for asylum early in July and hid in a Norwegian resort until his request was granted Aug. 18.

SANTA, Yemen (AP) — Egyptian troop rotations will continue and forces will not be withdrawn from Yemen before the Nov. 23 date set by the Jidda agreement, their commander has said.

The withdrawal of troops from Yemen's border with Saudi Arabia was a gesture of good will toward Saudi Arabia, said Maj. Gen. Aly Abdel Kader, commander in chief of the expeditionary force.

The Jidda agreement, signed last week by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Saudi Arabia's King Faisal, listed Egyptian troop withdrawal as one step toward ending the three-year civil war.

PARIS (AP) — A two-day strike by some Air France pilots began today and brought cancellation of some flights of the nationalized airline.

The strike is over the pilots' demands that changes be made in training procedure for co-pilots. Air France has said present practices fully meet safety requirements.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — King Constantine summoned Greek political leaders to a crown council tonight to try to untangle the country's 7-week-old crisis.

Political experts expressed doubt, however, that the party would produce any immediate solution.

Ex-Premier George Papandreu, whose dismissal by the king July 15 triggered the crisis, was among those invited.

Pedestrian Mall Ends Downtown Decay in Fresno

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — One year ago the City of Fresno, in a spectacular reply to the lure of suburban shopping centers, ripped out 10 blocks of its main downtown business street and put in a pedestrian mall.

People wondered — will it work? Today, busily waiting on customers who stroll in from the flower, tree-shaded mall, storekeepers are almost unanimous in answering that, yes it is working, fabulously well.

About the only opposition has come from one shoe store owner who declines to give his reasons. He planted onions in one of the flowerbeds as a form of protest.

Downtown Fulton Street was noisy, dirty, clogged with cars, and parking was a long-shoot gamble.

SPRIGHTLY PLACE

Today the $1.5-million, 10-block mall, financed by urban renewal and local funds, is a sprightly place. It invites strollers to relax and seems to put them in a buying mood.

Splashing fountains, small watercourses, shaded benches and small protected play areas for the kids-dot the entire stretch.

— Beds of flowers are kept in bloom, and $150,000 worth of modern statuary adds to the atmosphere.

For those who tire of walking, there are pleasant, quiet electric carts, chauffeur-driven at 10 cents a ride.

CHEAP PARKING

Nearby parking is cheap, or free, but still not entirely adequate.

Sample comments from officials of larger stores on the mall include:

"We invested on the basis the mall would get it back for us. Our business has increased substantially. We are delighted."

"The only guy who would be against this would be against motherhood."

"Our gross profits are up 18 per cent during the year. We spend a lot on advertising, and we consider the mall in the same category. It attracts customers."

"It's more convenient now for shoppers to get in and out. Our business is up 30 per cent."

MORE COMMENTS

Small-businessmen's representative comments include:

"I'm pleased. Customers enjoy the quiet atmosphere. It's convenient to park. Business has improved. The general atmosphere puts the customer in a buying mood."

"When the mall is busy it has a carnival air and is fun," said the manager of a clothing shop for women. "Small stores profit because customers who have to fight traffic will not go out of their way to find a small shop."

"My business is up 15 per cent," said the owner of a small jewelry store, "because the mall lends itself to leisurely shopping."

BEAUTY, UTILITY

Tom Hoxie, executive director of the Downtown Association, a merchants group which cooperated closely in the planning, said, "The mall is fabulous; it has beauty and utility."

Some skeptics say it came too late to reverse the trend of a dying downtown, but concede it has at least halted the decay.

There still are complaints about parking being insufficient.

Donald Pollard, deputy city manager, says the city recognizes the need and eight large parking garages are being built or planned, plus designs for a new freeway with easy access.

CONDUCTED TOURS

Pollard estimates he has conducted tours for 85 groups from other cities interested in similar projects.

He said the mall has been a big factor in a record $42 million invested downtown in the past two years — more than during the previous 40 years.

The mall merchants treasure the words of a housewife who said, "It makes me want to come downtown to shop."

Asian Results Few From U.S. Dollars

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — America's stance in this part of the world is being questioned by many U.S. officials and some wonder if the tasks ahead are too big, even for America.

This is an over-all impression gained in a reporter's talks with American officials in India, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Nepal and Ceylon during visits to each country.

Two major questions are being asked:

Is what we have been doing paying off?

If not, is there any sense in continuing?

BIGGEST EXPENSE

In a sense, South Asia could be regarded as one of America's biggest foreign policy expenses. More than $11.5 billion in economic and military aid has been poured into the five nations since 1951 in an ambitious effort to influence the lives of 622 million Asians.

This followed an initial policy decision that the five strategically located nations and their huge populations simply could not be permitted to slide into the Communist orbit or disintegrate into economic and political chaos that might bring the same result.

Washington's first goal was to pull Pakistan and, hopefully, Afghanistan into U.S.-backed, anti-Communist military alliances, and somehow interest India in "joint defense" of the Indian subcontinent against neighboring Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Afghanistan never did join. Pakistan is growing closer to Red China. India sees Pakistan, not Peking, as its major foe.

JOINT DEFENSE

Constant bickering among the five nations made any joint defense a joke.

American diplomats then began talking about a policy to enable South Asians to "choose their own destiny." U.S. aid and protection were to keep the Communists away and build local economies, thus buying time for the democratic process to prosper.

The formula was healthy transfusions of dollars and hardworking American economists and technicians to illustrate the American way.

The wisdom of this immense undertaking and its chances for success are being doubted today by some of the men who must carry the policy forward.

STILL A PROBLEM

American officials have seen $6 billion drop into the Indian crucible of overpopulation and underproduction. But India is far from the "takeoff stage," and keeping the nation from starving is a major economic problem today — as it was 14 years ago when the big U.S. effort started.

Untold billions will be required in the future, and some American officials fear the single-handed salvation of an impoverished nation of 480 million is too much.

Pakistan is South Asia's most discouraging example of how a massive — more than $5 billion — American effort can run into the realities of Asian politics.

The United States is on the other side of the world but Communist China and the Soviet Union are next door. Pakistanis say they are going to settle up with their neighbors — U.S. aid or no aid.

RED INFLUENCE

In Afghanistan — $300 million — it is clear the Russians, just over the next mountain range, will have a big say about the nation's future.

Americans in the land-locked nation of 13 million say there is no question of any U.S. military effort there — hundreds of miles from the sea and thousands from the source of U.S. power.

Perhaps friendliest to Washington these days are Nepal, a nation of 10 million tucked away in the Himalayan Mountains; and Ceylon, another 10 million on an island in the Indian Ocean. Neither obviously can be a kingdom of American policy.

What, then, is U.S. policy toward this area? Is South Asia to be treated as a unit? Is Washington planning further huge expenditures in India?

The men on the spot say they don't know. They are waiting for President Johnson to tip his hand.

Washington's first goal was to pull Pakistan and, hopefully, Afghanistan into U.S.-backed, anti-Communist military alliances, and somehow interest India in "joint defense" of the Indian subcontinent against neighboring Communist China and the Soviet Union.

Building Resumes at Huge Subdivision in Orion Township

ORION TOWNSHIP — After a delay of several months, work has resumed on construction of Keating, a new $250-million community to be located 1½ miles north of I-75 and Baldwin.

The development is planned for the vast 3,300-acre Scripps

30 days at Baldwin and Walden roads.

TO BE FIRST

These will be the first of more than 25,000 residences to be built within the next 15 years.

Also planned for the new community are stores, an apartment complex of high-rise and town-houses, office buildings, possibly one or more research centers, a private country club and golf course for residents, a number of marinas, private beaches, schools and churches.

Donald S. Condon, vice president of the Keating company and general manager of the project said "this will be the kind of new town the next generation will want to live in."

"Woods, streams and lakes will be kept intact and will be developed for maximum enjoyment of the residents," he said. "Out-of-doors will be an integral part of community and home life."

He said that Keating plans are in line with most forward-planning developers, with sweeping curves of the roadways, carefully laid out residential and commercial areas and greenbelts of undisturbed land for recreation and enjoyment.

WILL IT BE READY?—Dr. William Early, Rochester schools superintendent, checks the progress of a 12-room addition to West Junior High School. Built to take advantage of the rolling site, the addition is scheduled for completion by the opening of school. The upper floor is an extension of the present main floor. The addition is one of six being constructed this year with funds from a $1.5-million bond issue passed in 1964.

Builders Win Zone Appeal

TROY — The zoning board of appeals last night approved a request from the Biltmore Development Co. for a reduced rear-yard setback at a proposed commercial center on the northeast corner of Maple and Coolidge.

City Clerk J. Lawson Lockhart said the developers want the reduced setback to provide more parking space in front of the stores and to reserve the rear area for deliveries only.

The setback will be reduced from the original 75 feet to 35 or 40 feet.

The complex will consist of a shopping area, a theater and an office building which is expected to be under construction in about six months, according to Lockhart.

Lockhart said there will be a 90-foot strip between the commercial buildings and the residences with a wall to act as a buffer.

Birmingham City Commissioners objected to the reduced setback Monday claiming it would not provide "adequate insulation" to the adjacent residential properties which are in Birmingham.

Attendance Down at Fair

DETROIT (AP) — Cool and rainy weather cut down the number of visitors at the Michigan State Fair Tuesday.

Fair officials said 6,822 persons visited the fairgrounds, compared with 72,821 on the same day a year ago. This year's total attendance until Tuesday was 209,218 compared with 422,014 last year.

Highlight of today's events will be judging in the Michigan State Fair Queen contest.

The United States is the world's largest importer of coffee, receiving about 3 billion pounds a year. This is more than 50 per cent of the total exported.

School to Get Less

High Bids Cause Cut in Funds

HOLLY — Davisburg Elementary School has been caught in the middle of the high construction bid cycle.

After awarding contracts for an addition to Patterson Elementary School, the board of education found itself $48,000 shy of the amount it had planned to spend at Davisburg.

That leaves it with $81,000 to use at the school.

7 More Counties to Receive Aid From Drought

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney's office yesterday reported that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has approved emergency status for another seven Michigan counties hit by the summer drought. Farmers in Gladwin, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Oscoda, Sanilac, St. Clair and Tuscola counties will be permitted to graze stock and harvest hay on soil bank, feed grain and wheat diversion area.

The permission will be granted only to those farmers who agree to give up or refund payments otherwise earned by retiring such land under Department of Agriculture programs. The department previously approved such emergency measures for 21 other Michigan counties, including Oakland.

A similar request also was made for Menominee County. The department said it is being given further consideration.

Public Hearing Tonight

WHITE LAKE — Whether the township should start planning water and sewer systems will be discussed at a public hearing tonight.

The 8 p.m. meeting at the Township Hall has been called to give township officials the opportunity to collect opinions on the proposed water and sewer master plan.

They are considering applying for federal funds for the planning of the systems.

An interest-free planning loan could be repaid when the township actually starts construction of the projects.

Ask $190,000 Yearly for Johnson Library

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government would spend $190,000 a year on the library for President Johnson's papers at the University of Texas under terms of a bill approved Tuesday by the House.

The university is building a $3-million library for the papers. The annual federal expense would be to maintain the building, although the university will retain title. The government also would maintain a research center for scholars.

BACK WITH FAMILY — Robert Manry, 47, the man who sailed the Atlantic alone in his 13½-foot boat, the Tinkerbell, arrived in New York yesterday with his family. He was to get a hero's welcome in his home town of Cleveland, Ohio, today. With him are his son, Douglas, 11, daughter, Robin, 14, and Mrs. Manry.

Cleveland Hails Sailing Newspaperman

CLEVELAND, Ohio, (AP) — Today is "Robert Manry Day" in Cleveland.

The 47-year-old skipper of the red-sailed Tinkerbell comes back to his newspaper job and the quiet suburban life he left three months ago to cross the Atlantic in a 13½-foot boat.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, Mayor Ralph S. Locher and publisher Thomas Vail of the Plain Dealer, where Manry is a copy editor, head the welcome-home speakers.

The program starts with an official greeting of Manry on his arrival from New York City at Hopkins International Airport and includes a parade to public square, a ceremony there, and a civic luncheon.

STURDY BOAT

Sharing the limelight with the mustache Manry will be his boat, the sturdy, 37-year-old Tinkerbell, air-freighted into Cleveland Tuesday night. It will be towed in the parade by the lead car, which will carry Manry and his family.

During the luncheon the Tinkerbell will be on display in the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel ball room. The last three days of this week it will be exhibited in the lobby of Cleveland's new Convention Center.

Manry sailed alone from Falmouth, Mass., to Falmouth, England, arriving Aug. 17 after 78 days at sea.

His wife, Virginia, daughter, Robin, 14, and son, Douglas, 11, met him in England. The family returned to the United States Tuesday aboard the Queen Mary. So did the Tinkerbell, lashed to the liner's promenade square.

JOINING FAMILY

Joining the Manry family in New York for the flight home were his mother, Margaret Manry of Warner, N.H., and his sister, Louise, of New York City.

Wednesday Manry will fly to the Ohio State Fair at Columbus in the governor's plane, returning late in the day to attend a reception given by the acting British consul here, Redmond C. Carroll.

The Tinkerbell may wind up in the Smithsonian Institution, although Robin wants it to sail on Lake Erie.

In New York, Manry made it plain that the Atlantic voyage was not his last.

FUTURE PLANS

"I'd like to go down the Mississippi — that'd be in a houseboat," he told newsmen.

"I'd like to sail the Atlantic again, but in a larger boat. And I'd like to sail the Pacific to Tahiti."

The postmen will cover nine miles, wear their uniforms and carry satchels.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, 76, was reported resting comfortably today at New England Baptist Hospital.

The father of the late President John F. Kennedy entered the hospital yesterday for what his doctors called a general checkup.

"There are a lot of things bothering him, none of them serious," said Dr. Russell S. Boles, a gastro-intestinal specialist. "We hope to get him feeling stronger than he has been."

Kennedy suffered a stroke in December 1961 and has been partially paralyzed since.

Fleming Likes Clean-Cut Role

Ex-'Rawhide' Star in Comedy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD—Viewers of the long-run Western "Rawhide" will be wondering why costar Eric Fleming went thataway. Like most matters in television, it was a question of money. The ruggedly handsome actor can be found these days at MGM, without the side-burns and shaggy hair he sported in "Rawhide." He is well clipped and tailored for his role in the new Doris Day comedy, "Glass Bottom Boat."

THOMAS

"You can't imagine how pleasant it is to work with a washed face and have a rug under your feet," he said. "And with girls. There is something deadly about working for seven years with a male cast." Don't get the idea that Fleming is complaining. He seems to be one of the best-adjusted actors around. He didn't even mind being dropped from "Rawhide," although it meant the loss of a tidy fortune.

ENTERED HAPHAZARDLY Fleming admitted that he entered the series haphazardly. After years of medium success on Broadway, he decided to chuck the works and head for the Pacific Isles he had known during the war. But Hollywood kept delaying his departure with acting jobs. One was in the pilot of a Western series.

"I figured nothing would come of it," he recalled. "The first script was aimed at the guest stars, and I was only one of eight regulars. I was astounded to see the final version and find Clint Eastwood and I were the stars."

"Still, I never thought it would sell. CBS couldn't give the show away, finally put it on the air in midseason with half-sponsorship. Within a month sponsors were in line to sign up."

Six and a half years later, it looked as if "Rawhide" had come to the end of its dusty trail. CBS announced the series was being dropped, then a change of management reversed the decision.

WOULDN'T CONTINUE

"At first I decided I wouldn't continue with the show for a million dollars," said Fleming. "But then they came up with a deal that virtually amounted to a million dollars! I had to reconsider."

Fleming told the network he would be willing to continue, but then the bosses apparently had second thoughts. It was decided to continue "Rawhide" with Clint as solo star.

"That's perfectly understandable," said the understanding Eric. It's the natural progression of a television series to save money.

"I'm learning to live again," he said. "I'm getting back to the things that interest me—art, writing, oceanography, fishing. This picture came along, and I might do one in Europe, where 'Rawhide' was even more popular."

BACK TO ISLANDS

"But most of all, I want to get back to those islands. But when I go this time, I will go to stay."

Actor Facing Tax Charge

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor George Raft, 69, faces arraignment Sept. 7 before U.S. Dist. Judge Pierson M. Hall on charges he evaded paying income taxes on about $85,000 in earnings for the years 1958-63.

Raft was indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on five counts of evading taxes and one of making a false statement. Authorities claimed Raft evaded payment of income taxes by understating his income in the amount of about $85,000 and falsely claimed a capital loss of $25,000 on stock in a Cuba gambling operation which partially offset a capital gain of $137,723 on sale of stock in Hotel Flamingo Inc., in Las Vegas, Nev.

Raft, who rose to movie stardom in gangster roles, surrendered yesterday and was released on $100 bond pending his arraignment. If convicted, Raft could face a maximum penalty of a $4,000 fine and or three years imprisonment on each count.

City Pay Hike Is OK'd

Pontiac municipal employees were granted pay hikes last night totaling more than a quarter-million dollars.

The pay raises — the second within a year — were included in a salary and job reclassification study made by the Michigan Municipal League (MML) and adopted last night by the City Commission.

Designed to keep local municipal salaries competitive with industry and neighboring communities, the MML-recommended pay schedules will cost an estimated $294,777 in the next calendar year.

The cost for the balance of the current year, retroactive to Aug. 8, was estimated at $118,231, according to city officials.

While not all of the city's 750 employees will receive a heavier paycheck next pay day, City Manager Joseph A. Warren said few city workers would not have at least a modest salary hike.

Coupled with the pay adjustments granted last year, which totaled $279,000, some city salaries have been boosted substantially in the last twelve months.

ANNUAL EARNING

For example, Warren said that firemen and policemen, who were earning $6,049 annually prior to the pay hike last year, now will receive $7,059.

This is a jump of $1,010 a year, said Warren.

Similarly, a police sergeant's pay has jumped by $1,306 a year with the two pay adjustments.

The possibility was raised today that police and firemen might reject new pay schedules adopted last night by the City Commission. Jack Douglas, president of the Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA), said members of the PFA and Pontiac Police Officers' Assn. would hold a closed meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Metropolitan Club, 37 W. Yale, to weigh whether to accept or reject the new pay plan.

Meanwhile, a fire captain's pay, through the same process, has climbed $1,257 a year.

ACCEPT PLAN

The seven-member commission accepted Warren's recommendation to fully implement the pay scales. Each of the other alternatives would have partially implemented the league's salary plan.

Warren proposed full implementation because "the purpose of the survey was to determine the proper pay range for each position."

There was, from a city employee's view, one dark spot to the commission's action last night. The MML study recommended that the city institute a longevity plan, which would compensate an employee for his years of service.

EXAMPLES CITED

Three examples with "real serious (racial) overtones" were presented. These incidents included:

• A white male who attempted to rundown a Negro woman.

• Two Negro youths observed chasing a white male down along the Clinton River.

• And incident whereby two white youths "looking for girls" approached a respectable Negro man at his home. The man told the youths to leave and threw a brick at them when they failed to do so. The youths returned later and tossed a brick through the window of the man's house.

Haywood Gullatte, 140 Bagley, acted as spokesman for the Bagley-Wessen Block Club. He said the group seeks to improve both the appearance and atmosphere of the area.

Gullatte presented the commission with a petition signed by an estimated 90 residents of the area, detailing their grievances.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Russians said today a Soviet satellite took a "detailed picture" of the U.S. atomic explosion in space over the Pacific Ocean on July 9, 1963.

The American missile-borne thermonuclear device, reported between one and two megatons, was detonated in the upper level of the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of about 200 miles.

The Bulletin of the Soviet Academy of Sciences said the picture of the explosion was obtained by the Cosmos 5 satellite.

The Test Ban Treaty outlawing nuclear explosions in the atmosphere was signed on Oct. 10, 1963.

Today's claim followed recent Soviet charges that American satellites were engaged in space spying missions.

"One of the basic missions of Cosmos satellites was to study and control radiation hazards to manned flights, especially after high altitude explosions," the Bulletin said.

"Using Cosmos 5 instruments, for instance, Soviet scientists have obtained a detailed picture of the results of the American atomic explosion of July 9, 1963."

The Bulletin said Cosmos 17, another satellite in the same series, also yielded what it called important information on radiation at an altitude of 372 to 496 miles.

U.S. space officials said today the Cosmos 5 presumably obtained detailed information about the artificial radiation belt created by a high altitude U.S. H-bomb test in 1962.

They made it clear, however, that the Soviet satellite was not a photographic reconnaissance spacecraft and made no pictorial record of the test.

By "picture," scientists here explained, the Academy undoubtedly meant detailed information obtained instrumentally. They said it was not surprising that Cosmos 5 did get such information.

Bidder Can Bail Sam Out

SAM

Out of the cell block and onto the auction block will go Sam, the renegade monkey.

Once tagged as an outlaw, Sam now has so many friends that the animal shelter people don't know what to do.

His name is arbitrary, his keepers claim — but anyone who's as popular as all that should have a proper moniker.

Dr. Frank R. Bates, Oakland County Animal Welfare Division director, reports that at least five families called to claim Sam after his story appeared in The Pontiac Press.

So he will be sold at auction at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Oakland County Animal Shelter, 1200 N. Telegraph.

FAIR METHOD

"That's the only thing you can do to be fair when more than one party wants him," Dr. Bates said, noting that none of the callers appeared to be the legitimate owner.

After romping around Commerce Township for two or three weeks, the little squirrel monkey was put under lock and key Thursday when he bit a boy.

So Sam now is sulking in a doubly fortified cage, waiting for another chance to go straight.

Pressure On as Emergency Talks Continue

Political Chiefs Warn of Strike Danger to Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emergency steel talks, under heavy presidential and congressional pressure, enter the third day today with union negotiators reportedly arguing that White House wage guidelines are too low.

President Johnson, continuing to urge a noninflammatory settlement, was joined by House and Senate Democratic leaders in warning that a strike would hurt the nation's economy and security.

A strike deadline scheduled at 12:01 a.m. today was postponed until 12:01 a.m. Sept. 9 at Johnson's request.

A strike would idle 450,000 steelworkers and shutdown about 40 per cent of the nation's steel industry.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor continued efforts to compromise the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers' demand for a wage and fringe benefits increase of 53 cents an hour over three years and the industry's last offer of 40.8 cents.

Unverified reports that the 10 major steel companies had offered to raise the ante for a settlement were denied by a white administration source.

ANOTHER REPORT

However, another reliable source said the industry had been ready to boost its offer slightly at the time the talks were moved here from Pittsburgh Monday. The union reportedly also was prepared to make concessions, dropping its demand to 48.9 cents.

The union reportedly was citing new Commerce Department figures in arguing that White House wage guidelines of 4.2 per cent should be boosted to at least 3.4 per cent.

A White House source indicated the union would get nowhere with the argument.

"It's not at all that simple," the source said in conceding that new government figures showed a higher gross national product in recent years than previously reported.

Scandal Costs Two Firms Nearly $400 Million So Far

NEW YORK (AP) — Damages assessed in a 1960 electrical equipment price-fixing scandal have neared $400 million.

The total was increased Tuesday when a federal judge assessed General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric Corp. nearly $17 million in damages for their part in fixing prices, rigging bids and dividing equipment valued at $1.75 billion annually.

The companies had been found guilty in 1961. The ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge Wilfred Feinberg was in a civil case to determine damages.

Judge Feinberg ruled that Ohio Valley Electric Corp. and its subsidiary, the Indiana-Kentucky Electric Corp., were fraudulently overcharged by $5,524,491 for 11 steam turbine generators they bought in 1952 to supply the Atomic Energy Commission plant near Portsmouth, Ohio.

He awarded triple damages of $7,424,373 for Ohio Valley Electric and $9,448,830 for Indiana-Kentucky Electric.

The conspiracy has cost General Electric more than $225 million and Westinghouse more than $100 million.

Spokesmen for the two companies said 99 per cent of the dollar claims have been settled. Most of the cases never went to court.

DR. ALBERT SCHWEITZER

Humanitarian Seriously Ill

Refuse to Disclose Nature of Sickness

LAMBARENE, Gabon (UPI) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer, 90, is seriously ill, a spokesman at the Nobel prize winner's hospital here said today.

The spokesman said Schweitzer had been confined to bed for about a week. He refused to disclose the nature of the illness.

"All I can tell you is that the great doctor is very, very ill," the spokesman said.

Schweitzer celebrated his 90th birthday on Jan. 14. He has been known to be in failing health for some months. He took little active participation in the birthday celebrations.

The famed humanitarian, the son of a Protestant minister, was born in Kayserberg, in Alsace, which at the time belonged to Germany, in 1875.

LEPER COLONY

In 1913, he turned his back on a career as a theologian, musician and philosopher to begin work with his young wife in a steamy leper colony in French Equatorial Africa.

His wife, Helene, died in 1957 when she was 73.

With his own hands, he built a medical compound and later founded a hospital that has been in operation ever since.

"I have saved an awful lot of human beings," he once said.

In 1950, leading artists, writers and musicians of 17 countries acclaimed Schweitzer as "the man of the century."

He continued to work hard. A normal day began for him at 6 a.m. and frequently did not end until midnight.

In 1952, he won the Nobel prize for peace but was too busy to accept it. He once told a friend that he didn't have time for the trappings of civilization — there was too much work to be done at his beloved hospital.

Hotel Employees Strike; Waldron Closes Its Doors

Picket lines formed at 12:01 a.m. today at the Waldron Hotel as 50 employees went on strike.

The hotel at 36 E. Pike has discontinued taking room reservations, according to manager Harold J. Brown.

Robert Teays, secretary-treasurer of Local 794, Hotel, Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union said workers turned down a management request for a six-month contract extension for "economic reasons."

The two-year contract expired in July.

Teays said the employees' 25 per cent across-the-board pay increase, clarification of some job assignments and a 40 hour work week for all employees.

Only the permanent residents remain at the hotel, according to Brown, and will have to perform their own housekeeping chores.

3-Day Review Under Way

County's '66 Budget Near Final Form

Oakland County's 1966 budget may appear in its final form tomorrow afternoon even though it won't formally be adopted by the board of supervisors until Oct. 4.

The ways and means committee of the board of supervisors began a three-day budget review yesterday and is expected to complete revisions at the end of tomorrow's session.

Chances are good, in view of past performances, that the budget as revised by the legislative ways and means committee will be approved by the full board.

In its current review to establish a final budget, the ways and means committee is concerned with three prior budgets. For comparative purposes, the committee is examining the 1965 county budget, the tentative 1966 budget prepared last spring before the county's tax rate was known and a recently recommended 1966 budget prepared by the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

BUDGET FIGURE

The 1965 budget calls for expenditures of $7,218,878 compared to $19,423,037 in the tentative 1966 budget last spring and $18,177,155 in the budget proposed by the board of auditors.

Comments by some of the ways and means committee

City Fireman Sues on Trading of Time

A Circuit Court suit has been filed by a Pontiac firefighter contesting the fire department's new policy on the trading of time by local firemen.

The suit, filed by Ralph Demino, 128 S. Johnson, claims that the present policy that the fire department has adopted to void a former trading time plan should be nullified.

The trading of time is a system whereby firemen can exchange work days and days off. Under the old policy, four-day trading (in afternoon or a few hours) was also permitted.

Events leading up to the court action were:

- Last October Fire Chief James R. White suspended all trading time practices.
- The Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA), headed by Jack Douglas, protested White's action.
- In March, fire department and city administration reached an agreement, which limited trading time plan, which had a fireman's trading time to two days per month. Previously, the limit was that a fireman could rule only five trading time days at any one time.
- The PFA filed a grievance members at yesterday's opening session that the latter budget was "right" indicated that the committee may authorize some additions along with its traditional budget cutting.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors, explained the budget had to be tight because the demand for more services annually exceeds the revenue increase.

Murphy reiterated his theory that the 15-mill limitation should be raised to 18 mills and tax rates should be frozen once and for all for the county, school districts and townships.

ADEQUATE FUNDS

This not only would provide adequate funds but also would eliminate the annual haggling before the tax allocation board over division of the present 15 mills.

Raising the limitation to 18 mills would require a referendum.

Revenue in the 1966 budget suggested by the board of auditors amounts to $12,971,130 based on the county's tax level of 5.3 mills with the balance coming from estimated receipts.

Included in the expenditures are $7,558,712 for salaries; $7,176,027 for departmental and institutional operating costs; and $3,442,416 in nondepartmental appropriations.

The major factors in the 1958-59 increase in the budget were the increase in the number of firefighters by the auditors and the current one of $755,300 additional for the social welfare department and $132,600 more for salaries.

Pay Increase Gets Approval

OTHER FUNDS

Expense of the pay hikes can be financed this year because of the $250,000 appropriated in the 1965 general fund budget and the revenues from the other self-supporting funds — sewage treatment, waste collection, water and public housing.

However, the city manager said the financial sag could develop in 1966. Costs of the pay schedules next year were listed as:

- General Fund, $250,241; Sewage Treatment, $7,962; Waste Collection, $8,294; Water Works, $22,707; Public Housing, $4,543.

Sating he was optimistic, Warren said, nevertheless, that the city's valuation would have to rise by $25 million to net the $250,000 needed to cover the added costs to the general fund alone.

The pay adjustments result from the $5,000 survey by the MML of one county and 11 comparable cities, taking in the pay for each municipal employee and the duties of each position.

COMPARISONS

City Commissioners had Warren compare Pontiac's new municipal wages with those of other cities.

The city manager replied that wages would rate a par with those paid elsewhere, but that the city led in the area of fringe benefits.

He estimated that, added to the salary cost of a fireman or policeman, would be about $2,000 in fringe benefits.

City officials admitted that local municipal wages were substandard in the past, Warren said that apparently fringe benefits were increased in the past in lieu of salary boosts.

Patrol Car Hits Truck in Rochester Chase

ROCHESTER — A patrol car was involved in an accident last night while chasing a speeding pickup truck on Rochester Road. There were no injuries.

Patrolmen Dale J. Marsh and Thomas B. Noyes were attempting to apprehend Ian Fyfe of 1820 Livernois, for speeding when he stopped suddenly. The police car hit the truck from behind.

Patrols Check Race Violence

The premier said his regime understands "the justifiable concern" of many people at the continuation of the war but he gave no sign that Hanoi is ready to negotiate with the West.

The broadcast said Pham spoke Tuesday at a meeting marking the 20th anniversary of the founding of North Viet Nam.

GRENADE BLAST

In Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman said three U.S. servicemen and a Vietnamese woman were wounded "very slightly" Tuesday night by a grenade explosion.

The man who threw the grenade, presumably a Viet Cong terrorist, escaped after hurling it from inside a courtyard to the street, the spokesman said.

The Americans were waiting for transportation and the woman was passing by, he said. The area is 50 yards from a housing sector for U.S. military personnel.

In another Hanoi broadcast, North Viet Nam's news agency denied a 6-month-old U.S. claim that a North Vietnamese army division is in South Viet Nam.

Mariner 4 Pictures Checked for Accuracy

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Photographs have been relayed by U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 for scientists checking the accuracy of pictures taken July 14 of Mars.

A Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman said Tuesday the photographs taken Monday will be checked to see if smudges recorded on the Mars pictures appear at the same places on the new exposures. He said if they do, it will be evidence of a flaw in the camera system.

Santo Domingo Crisis Ended

Rebel Leaders Hail OAS Peace Formula

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Organization of American States secured a full agreement today terminating the 4-month-old Dominican crisis.

The peace formula insured the installation of a provisional government Friday as a first step toward general elections in nine months.

Rebel leaders cheered the peace plan. Heads of the armed forces, taking over after the rival civilian-military junta stepped aside, pledged full support to the provisional government.

The peace proposal was signed first by the insurgent regime behind rebel lines Tuesday night. Then Dominican armed forces leaders, meeting at the headquarters of the junta, signed a declaration of support for the peace plan and the provisional government.

TERMINATED EFFORTS

The government terminated nearly three months of peace efforts by the three-man OAS political committee of Ambassadors Ellsworth Bunker of the United States, Ramon de Clairmont Duenas of El Salvador and Ilmar Ferra Marinho of Brazil.

The formula calls for a 34-year-old lawyer, diplomat, Hector Garcia-Godoy, to become president of the interim regime. He will be installed Friday.

His provisional government will negotiate withdrawal of the OAS peace force, composed of 600 U.S. and 2,000 Latin-American troops, still patrolling the battle-scarred capital.

The peacekeeping troops took over after the initial U.S. intervention in the rebellion which erupted April 24 in an abortive effort to bring former President Juan Bosch back to power.

FINAL PHASE

The final phase of the agreement was signed at midnight in the offices of Armed Forces Secretary Francisco J. Rivera Caminero, the only member of the junta who did not resign in opposition to the peace formula.

Other junta members, whose resignations prevented a serious deadlock in the peace negotiations, were absent.

Begin Work Tuesday on Road Improvement

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The improvement of West Long Lake Road will begin Tuesday, without a single tree in the city destined to be cut down.

The much-protested widening of the road, at the expense of the trees, will be limited to the stretch in Bloomfield Township.

Plans of the Oakland County Road Commission had been to add two feet to the width of the road between Telegraph and Woodward.

The commission had indicated Long Lake would be a logical detour when the State Highway Department closed Square Lake Road for widening.

Thus, Long Lake was to be improved so it could handle the extra traffic burden.

TREE REMOVAL

The widening of the stretch and straightening out of a curve at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club would have necessitated the removal of trees along the shoulder.

City officials, country club representatives and homeowners protested vehemently.

Plans now call for the road to be widened to four lanes between Telegraph and Lahser, the western city limit.

The only work within the city will be an approach just east of Lahser for transition between

Blast Burns 2 at City Motel

Two persons were badly burned this morning when a gasoline tank exploded at the Smith Motel, 2065 Commonwealth, according to Pontiac firemen.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coulter, of 2065 Commonwealth, are listed in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Coulter suffered second degree burns over 60 per cent of his body. His wife Sonna, received first and second degree burns over 33 per cent of her body.

The explosion occurred about 7:15 a.m. Cause of the blast is still under investigation.

Ask Cleanup Action in South Side Area

City Hall will be Taylor, Fowler, City Manager Joseph A. Warren, Police Chief William K. Hanger, the city's two municipal judges and City Attorney Philip E. Rowston.

No date was set for the meeting.

At one point in the discussion last night, Taylor warned that a cleanup of buildings in the area would affect some of the prominent people in the city who own buildings and property in the area.

Explaining some of the steps taken by the city, Taylor said that needs have been cut and the city is taking action against some of the substandard building cities.

CITY CONSTANTLY WORKING

The mayor said that he didn't know how to force pride, but that the city was constantly working on problems of the area.

Taylor said that police efforts would be aided if "someone could sign warrants."

Commissioner Fowler echoed Taylor's point.

Police Patrols in Area

Fowler said that police patrols have been put in the area for a few weeks and ended the open prostitution, but that the problem resumed again when the patrol was removed.

The commissioner said that there should be some way to prosecute men who come into the area.

"They spend their money and then claim they've been robbed," said Fowler.

He said Hughes street should be added to the area to be cleaned up.

DEAR POLLY — I have found a wonderful use for the cushion seats of old overstuffed chairs and divans no longer of any use.

I made easy-to-wash slip covers for the cushions and sewed handles on each. When my nieces and nephews come to visit

DEAR POLLY — My eight-year-old daughter is quite a "bookworm" and is seldom without a book nearby. She reads at all odd moments, even waiting for the tub to fill for her bath.

She has been taught to be very careful with library books. This meant a continual search for a bookmark. She discovered that a stretch headband (so popular with the school girls now) makes a perfect bookmark.

She slides it over the back cover of the book and the page she is reading. She, too, is a faithful reader of the column and tells me the Pointers I should try. — MRS. L. C.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I've heard and read so much about clothes being made out of those beautiful towels, but not one word has been mentioned about finishing the seams. Please tell us how they should be finished. Mrs. G. Z.

Dear Mrs. G. Z.:

The best seam finishing for terry cloth (towel) is a flat-feld seam. It provides a neat finish and prevents raveling and flaking. It often is easier to make this type of seam if you allow an extra 1/4 inch to the width of the seam when cutting. In other words, the seams would be 3/4 inch wide. However, this is not necessary.

Sew a plain seam, right sides together. Press the seams to one side. The side seams should be pressed toward the back, the armhole seams toward the neck. After pressing, trim the under seam allowance to about 1/4 inch. Turn under the upper seam edge and baste over the trimmed seam edge.

Top stitch on the sewing machine, close to the upper seam edge. However, this should be the same distance from the original seam so that the two rows of stitching will look even. Press when stitching is completed.

Dear Eunice:

When I made a silk print, lined dress for myself, I found the jewel neckline didn't hold its shape, even though I made it just like the pattern told me to. Does it need interfacing? If so, do I have to rip the entire neckline out to put this in?

Mrs. G. G. H.

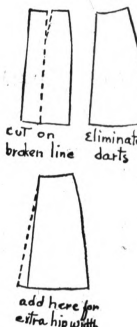

Dear Mrs. G. G. H.:

To fix it properly, you would have to rip the lining off. The patterns must generalize to apply to any fabric you might use. Always have my students cut interfacing for the neckline immediately and baste it to the wrong side of their material before applying the facing. The average woman is not proficient enough to handle the cut garment without stretching it out of shape. Interfacing always will make a professional finish with no danger of stretching.

SOMETHING UP YOUR SLEEVE

Add an extra season's wear to your daughter's summer dresses by putting sleeves on them. Remove the facings of the armholes, cut sleeves of the same fabric and stitch them in. In a couple of hours you will have salvaged a good dress that would be too small by the next summer. It's these little savings that make sewing so rewarding! Mrs. W. W. Clark, St. Louis, Mo.

Mrs. A. S. says: Often your children's coats and jackets from last year will fit except for the sleeve length. If the sleeves are too short, you can buy knitted cuffs in a matching or contrasting color. They give a snug fit at the wrist—often making them more satisfactory than the original sleeve.

Dear Eunice: Can an A-line skirt be cut from the pattern of a straight skirt? If so, how? I have enjoyed the drafting tips you have shown us.

Mrs. F. K.

Dear Mrs. F. K.:

This is a rather simple change. With a yard stick, mark a line parallel with the center front and back from the end of the dart to the hem of the pattern. Cut out the dart. Bring the two edges of the dart together so they just meet and fasten with pressure tape. You will notice that the pattern below the dart is now separated. This will give you the A-line you are looking for.

This pattern will fit smoothly over the hips. If you are hippy and desire more flare, this will be added to the center front and back by extending a mark 2 inches wide at the hem and decreasing to nothing at the waistline. (See sketch).

Sleeves seem to be a major sewing bugaboo and yet, you need a well-set sleeve for a truly professional look. Perfect sleeves are guaranteed every time if you follow the step-by-step instructions in my leaflet, "All About Sleeves." For a copy, send 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Alternate Girl Scout Round-Up

Visit Capital City in Final Week

By KATHIE DERYCKE

We started our second week of Alternate Girl Scout Regional Round-Up Aug. 23 at Greenville, Michigan with a visit to Lansing.

Northern Oakland Council was represented by Nancy Grogg, Martha Foreman, and Jenny Riley from Pontiac, Linda Wright and Joyce Scafe from Waterford, Connie Parks from Milford, and Cherie Kelley and Kathie Derycke from Lake Orion.

Chartered buses drove the two hundred girls around the city as our Girl Scout hostesses pointed out various sites of interest.

Stopping at the East Lansing Planetarium, we viewed an hour-long presentation of the constellations and what the ancient civilizations believed them to be.

We also saw the annual progress of Mars and took an imaginary trip to that planet.

LUNCH ON PRAIRIE

Next, we joined the Lansing Girl Scouts at Fenner Arboretum for lunch. One of the most interesting spots, here, was called "The Prairie Scene." This plan, set up to represent a real prairie had the attraction of live buffalo.

Tuesday, the Pontiac patrol took a six-mile hike to Camp Anna Berran (Grand Rapids' Girl Scout camp).

Encountering a troop of fifth, sixth, and seventh graders, we were invited to stay for some cupcakes and milk.

This gave us an opportunity to answer their questions about Senior scouting and to explain about the Girl Scout Round-Up.

After singing a few songs to the accompaniment of Martha Foreman's uke, we finished our hike around the camp. We found that it was very similar to our own Camp Sherwood in Lapeer.

AUGUST YULE

We sang Christmas carols to the Alternate patrols on Tuesday night, reasoning that since we wouldn't be together during December, we could celebrate on the twenty-fifth of August!

Christmas morning, we sat under our aluminum tree (brought up by Mrs. Riley) and opened up our stockings.

Santa (Cherie Kelley) had made them from fruit, candy canes, cookies, and other goodies which our parents had brought up during visiting. We also had presents such as balloons and whistles from Mrs. Grogg.

Edmund Alchin from the Institute for Community Development at Michigan State University was adviser and moderator on Wednesday afternoon for a panel discussion on "Community Needs and How Youth Can Help."

Nancy Grogg from Pontiac was one of the six panel members who discussed general community problems.

Later, in smaller discussion groups, each girl was able to bring out particular problems concerning youth action in her town.

Another Wednesday activity was a showing of slides taken at the National Round-Up in Idaho.

WATER SHOW

A water show, which included synchronized swimming and races, comprised our Thursday morning activities.

Machine Spree Fast Removing Cotton Pickers

By BILL SIMMONS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., (AP)— In the past four years, mechanical cotton pickers have replaced 250,000 seasonal farm laborers in the nation's 10 major cotton producing states.

The total number of seasonal laborers used on the cotton farms in these states has dropped from 500,000 in 1961 to half that number.

The percentage of the cotton crop harvested mechanically has increased at a fantastic rate in nine of the states. The exception—California—had already achieved a high level of mechanization by 1961.

Partners have gone to the machines because they are faster and more economical than employing thousands of extra field hands.

20,000 LABORERS
California this year will employ about 20,000 seasonal laborers in the harvest of 742,000 acres of cotton land.

The other nine top cotton growing states now are approaching the high level of mechanization California has reached four years ago.

In 1961, the Texas cotton crop was worked by 182,000 seasonal laborers. Last year, the total was down to 53,000. Totals in Arkansas for the same years were 88,000 and 42,000.

The same trend is reflected in other states: Alabama 25,000 and 19,000; Georgia 40,000 and 27,000; South Carolina 25,000 and 17,000; Oklahoma 25,000 and 20,000; Louisiana 25,000 and 12,000; Tennessee 35,000 and 27,000; and Mississippi 31,000 and 26,000.

FOUR YEARS AGO
Four years ago, only five of the 10 most productive cotton states harvested more than half the crop mechanically. Three of the states—Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas—were barely past the halfway mark.

Last year, each of the 10 states harvested at least half of the cotton crop mechanically, and eight of them had a machine harvest of 60 per cent or more of the crop.

This year, about 230,000 seasonal workers will be used in the harvest of almost 13 million acres of cotton land in the 10 states.

State farm labor agencies, which supplied the breakdown on the harvest figures for each state, have similar opinions about what has happened to the 250,000 seasonal laborers who worked the cotton crop four years ago.

LOW-SKILL WORK
Most of them, the agencies reported, have been absorbed by low-skill industries, some have taken jobs in the cultivation and harvest of other crops, and the older ones have gone on to the welfare rolls.

The agencies also report that few young people become seasonal laborers these days, indicating that the itinerant field hand is becoming farm history.

Talks Continue for Astronauts

Specialists Say Both Are Medically Sound

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)— The medically sound Gemini 5 astronauts today continue the tedious task of reliving their historic eight-day space flight for technical and medical experts.

Hour after hour, L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. talk into tape recorders. The recordings and other notes are rushed daily to the Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston, Tex. There, specialists combine the information with telemetry data radioed during the flight.

The specialists are preparing for more detailed talks about the performance of various spacecraft systems. They will start Thursday when Cooper and Conrad return to Houston for brief interviews with their families and then seven more days of seclusion.

In Washington, the White House announced that "each military astronaut will receive a promotion of one grade as a direct result of his first successful space flight." This means that Conrad, a Navy lieutenant commander, will be promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Air Force after his earlier Mercury flight.

SPECIAL INTEREST
Of special interest is the equipment which caused trouble during the flight, which ended Sunday. Included are the fuel cell pressurization and water storage systems, jet control thrusters, and an apparent ground error which misformed the computer, causing Gemini 5 to land 103 miles short of its target.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, said two days of exhaustive medical tests showed Cooper and Conrad were in excellent condition.

The flight proved that man, physically, is ready to travel to the moon, he said Tuesday. "At the moment," Dr. Berry said, "I can say that Cooper and Conrad appear to be certain of no worse off than the Gemini 4 crew, and in many respects they look somewhat better."

Rail Issues Involved

Merger Plans Spur Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP)— Merger-related rail issues were in the spotlight today as the stock market pursued an irregular course.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional. Chesapeake & Ohio opened with a gain of 6 1/2 at 76 1/2 on 15,000 shares following news that C&O and Norfolk & Western had agreed to merge.

N&W was down 2 1/2 to 127 1/2 in early trading.

STOCK SWAP
The diverse actions followed news of the proposed stock swap if the merger is consummated.

725 of an N&W share for each share of C&O.

Word that the two roads offered to include five other eastern carriers in their projected merger caused the stocks of those railroads to slide. Delaware & Hudson fell more than 2 points, Reading more than 4.

General Electric was up a fraction and Westinghouse Electric was unchanged as the stocks steadied after their sharp fall Tuesday on news of anti-trust damages assessed against them.

Little change, if any, was shown by most of the major

DOWN A POINT
Du Pont was off nearly a point, Chrysler up a fraction.

Opening ticks included: Commonwealth Oil, unchanged at 11 1/4 on 20,000 shares; Westinghouse Electric, off 1/2 at 52 1/2 on 10,000; Reading, off 4 1/2 at 20,000; and Pennsylvania Railroad, up 1/4 at 48 on 4,900.

Tuesday, the Associated Press Average of 60 stocks dipped 8 to 332.8.

Prices were narrowly mixed on the American Stock Exchange.
