SEES TAX CUT — Grand Rapids' Frederick H. Mueller, holds his first press conference since being confirmed by the Senate to the post of secretary of commerce. He told reporters "I would hope that we can look forward within a reasonable period to a tax cut."

Claims Payoff to UAW Official for Contracts

Rackets Probers Tell of Testimony by Firm Behind Closed Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee made public today testimony that thousands of dollars in commissions were paid by a management consultant firm to a United Automobile Workers official for aid in getting contracts.

The testimony was given at closed door meetings of the committee a week ago. It was made public today in advance of a scheduled resumption of the UAW inquiry at open sessions.

John D. Dale, principal owner of the George Elliott Co., New York, testified that the payments were made to Peter Zvara, Toledo, who was fired from his job as a UAW International representative by the union executive board last spring.

Zvara at the time was an assistant to UAW Vice President Charles T. Gosser. In testimony released today, Gosser swore that he knew nothing of the payments at the time they were made and did not receive any of the money.

Dale testified that his company secretly paid Zvara $19,666 in 1956 and $14,296 in 1957 as commissions.

He said the commissions were paid for Zvara's help in inducing industrial plants—some of which bargained with UAW—to hire the Elliott Company as an efficiency expert consultant firm.

GOT 15 PER CENT

The arrangement, Dale said, was to pay Zvara 15 per cent of the net engineering service charges collected from the clients.

Dale said he arranged to have the money forwarded to the Charles Hardy Co., of which Dale was a director and his brother president. He said the Hardy company then recorded the payments to Zvara in its ledgers.

This was done, he said because "I didn't want to show them (the payments) on the records of George Elliott Co., as having been paid to Peter Zvara."

He agreed when Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) described the arrangement as a coverup.

The Zvara story came up while Gosser was on the stand. In reply to a question from Sen. Sam Ervin (D-NC), Gosser said Zvara had admitted to UAW President Walter Reuther that he had taken money from the Charles Elliott Co., a New York management firm.

Area to Suffer Heat, Humidity Until Tuesday

Little relief is in sight from the warm, humid temperatures in the Pontiac area before Tuesday. The weatherman predicts temperatures will range in the upper 80's for the next five days.

Tonight will be generally fair and a little warmer, with a low of 68.

Precipitation will total near one-quarter of an inch in scattered afternoon and evening thunder showers Thursday through Monday.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 63 degrees. At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 87.

Pontiac to Ask Bids on Library

Plan for Civic Center Structure May Exceed $500,000 Cost

Pontiac plans to open bids in four weeks for construction of the proposed $500,000 main library in the Civic Center.

Taking an initial step to correct a marked lag in library facilities, city commissioners last night accepted plans for a one-story building of glass, brick and limestone block, drawn up by O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates of Birmingham, the architects.

The city was warned, however, that cost of the building might exceed, slightly, the price ceiling of a half-million dollars and that the building in mind would not fully meet existing library needs.

Thomas Hewlett of the architectural firm said that costs might exceed the ceiling by as much as 5 per cent, or $25,000.

Ralph A. Ulveling, a consultant on the project, said the proposed building could carry up to 100,000 volumes, about 2½ times as many as the present main library but still far below the number recommended for a city of Pontiac's size.

Hewlett and Ulveling spoke to commissioners before the formal commission meeting last night.

Miss Phyllis Pope, Pontiac city librarian, was not present at the meeting but was informed of it later.

"It is great news to learn that Pontiac is close to getting a new library," she said. "At the same time, it is too bad that more money couldn't be spent to meet

IN WAKE OF QUAKE — Yesterday's earthquake at Yellowstone cut right through this highway 13 miles north of West Yellowstone, Mont., overturned an auto and nearly dumped the tractor-scraper into the quake-caused ditch. Gaping holes and cracks were reported in many other highways in the area.

Park Rangers Nearly Trapped Repairing Roads

Earthquake Toll Now Stands at Eight; May Reach High as 13

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Efforts to clear mountainous road slides in Yellowstone National Park were delayed today after a road crew narrowly escaped being trapped by another slide.

Park rangers said no further efforts will be made to bulldoze the slides caued by a series of earthquakes Monday night and Tuesday until the threat of further tremors subsides.

Work was started today to clear a giant slide near the park headquarters at mammoth Hot Springs. The bulldozing and a slight tremor loosened a pile of rocks which cascaded onto the road, scattering workmen.

Park service officials said there had been no change in the geyser activity in the world famous park. Old Faithful is still spouting regularly every 63 minutes and no changes have been reported in other geyser activity.

Eight persons were known dead today from a wide-ranging earthquake which dealt its most devastating blows in a southwest Montana fishing area.

Officials said the toll could rise to 13.

Earth slides just west of Yellowstone National Park roared down after the quake, trapping the victims and terrifying other vacationers with a thunder of rocks, earth and trees.

Four of the known dead were from a single family. They were F. R. Bennett, 45, of Coeur D'Alene, Idaho; his two daughters, Carole, 17, and Susan, 5; and a son, Tom, 11. Bennett's wife and another son, Phillip, 15, were injured.

Survivors reported seeing a couple and a crippled boy swept away by an avalanche which struck their automobile.

At another point, parts of an automobile registered to Thomas

Franklin Estate Yields Bit of Buried Treasure – More?

By DICK SAUNDERS

Oakland County, already famous for its "lake monster" and creeping "black panther" can now also boast of a "buried treasure."

Mrs. Phyllis Bair, of 25360 Devon Lane, Franklin Village, realizes now that her late husband, Clarence W. Bair, wasn't kidding when he told her there was money buried on their estate shortly before his death in April 1958.

She has already unearthed $2,000 and is looking for more.

Detectives from Redford State Police post and Oakland County Sheriff's Department say she estimates her husband—who didn't believe in banks—buried anywhere from $12,000 to $20,000 on the spacious grounds surrounding the Bair estate.

The attractive 47-year-old widow had been harried by nocturnal prowlers since the first "strike" was made several weeks ago.

Her "money problems" began when she returned from a vacation in the East Aug. 1.

She discovered a ditch, seven feet long and two feet deep, dug behind a tool shed at the rear of her stately home.

A trail of silver dollars, halves, and quarters stretched from the small excavation to a nearby gate in a fence surrounding her back yard.

Someone had evidently taken the "talk" of buried treasure seriously.

She and her butler-chauffeur, Ernest Nichols, began trying to decipher a "code" left by her husband, supposedly telling where the money was buried.

They began digging under flagstones, trees or just about any likely looking spot.

In their first attempt at "silver mining" they uncovered a tin can

Approve 8-Mile Drain Bonds

State OKs $4 Million Issue; County Still Must Face Law Suit

Tides turned suddenly for Oakland County's blocked Eight Mile road storm drain when the Municipal Finance Commission yesterday surprisingly approved the issuance of more than $4,000,000 in bonds to build the project.

But Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry still finds himself unable to move ahead with the project.

Holding up the $4,760,000 project, which will serve mostly Southfield and some of Oak Park, is a lawsuit filed last week by an association of Southfield residents seeking to block construction of the 3.7-mile storm drain.

A hearing has been set for Sept. 9 in Oakland County Circuit Court. An injunction sought by the protesting group could hold up the project for many more months, Barry said.

Yesterday's approval of the bond issue took Barry and some other county drain officials by surprise. This was because a memorandum released last month by an assistant of Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams indicated that Adams was recommending disapproval of the bond issue. Adams is also chairman of the Finance Commission.

His office had had Barry's petition for issuance of the bonds under study since January when a group of Southfield residents traveled to Lansing to protest the project.

Then — and again in the suit — they argued that assessments for the sewer project are so high that there might be a "wholesale foreclosure" on their homes.

A secretary in Adams' office this morning said she didn't know where he was so he could not be reached for comment on the Commission's change.

Barry theorized that the mem-

1960 License Tabs to Be Green on Gold

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare said today automobile license plate tabs for 1960 will be green on a golden yellow background.

The color scheme will reverse that on the full-sized 1959 plates, which had yellow numerals.

Distribution of tabs will start Nov. 1, Hare said. Production is well under way at the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson.

Hare said the tabs, 3¼ by 1½ inches, will carry serial numbers unrelated to those on plates now in motorists' possession.

Call From England Spurs Search

City Family Near Quake

By DENNIS DINAN

Efforts to locate a Pontiac woman and her family—possibly amidst one of the worst earthquake disasters in recent American history—have been spurred by frantic telephone calls from her mother in England.

Elaine Bryant, her husband, Dennis, and their children, a boy and girl, both about 8 years old, left their home at 181 Seminole Ave., two weeks ago for a month's camping vacation in Yellowstone National Park. They haven't been heard from since.

Mrs. Bryant's mother, after viewing scenes of the earthquake disaster on London television early yesterday morning, placed an urgent long-distance call to Bryant's employer, J. C. Austerberry's Sons, Detroit.

C. R. Austerberry of 1571 Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Township, said his company has been making emergency broadcasts through local Yellowstone radio stations for the Bryants.

The description of the car and the Michigan license plate number have been given to the radio stations, but no one has spotted the Pontiac family yet, he said.

Air Force and Forestry Service helicopters are trying to evacuate those trapped below the dam which has been weakened by a crack caused by the tremors.

Three daughters of John Bugas of Bloomfield Hills, Ford Motor Co. vice president, are still at their ranch at Cody, Wyo., about 125 miles east of the shock center.

Mrs. Bugas said this morning that Patti, 20, Janie, 17, and Dynah, 14, were not injured by the quake, although the lights at the ranch blacked out for a few motremors.

ments, and they did feel the Bugas called the ranch yesterday and was told the bears in the area were suffering most from the rumbling. His wife said this morning that animals were climbing trees and crying like babies.

Former Bloomfield Township residents Mr. and Mrs. Marc Patten, presently of Gallatin-Gateway, Mont., about 12 miles from Hebgen Dam, have been out of reach since late Monday night.

Calls placed by their daughters, Mrs. Charles E. Stadler, of Urbana, Ohio, and by The Pontiac Press this morning have been unable to get through to the Pattens because of broken lines.

Mrs. Stadler felt her parents' house was too far from the tall mountains to receive the brunt of any landslide.

Discover Bones of Woman, 72

Missing Over a Year in California; Begin Hunt for Ex-Con Motherwell

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Experts are seeking the cause of the death of Pearl Ada Putney, 72, whose bones were found scattered in a wooded foothill area of the Sierras a year after she vanished.

The wealthy widow last was seen Aug. 15, 1958 in Marysville, Calif., six weeks after she left her home in Washington, D.C. with an ex-convict on what she called "a last fling." The bones, found Sunday, were identified Tuesday.

Sheriff W. D. Johnson said he understood the FBI had begun a search for the ex-convict, Larry Lord Motherwell.

Motherwell was arrested Jan. 18 in Las Vegas, Nev. for questioning in the death of his 14-months-old mentally retarded daughter in Maryland in 1954. A grand jury declined to indict him in Frederick, Md., in that death and he was released Feb. 6.

The widow's parched bones were found by Alma Freeman of Trio Oso, Calif., who was in the foothills hunting pine cones with her granddaughter.

Sees Middle-Range Cars on Sales Upswing in '60

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

DETROIT — The number of medium-priced cars sold on the American market has started to climb again after a steady drop which began at the end of 1955, Oldsmobile General Manager Jack F. Wolfram said yesterday.

Wolfram, speaking at the press preview of the 1960 Oldsmobile, noted that sales of medium-priced cars picked up for the first time since 1955 during the 1959 model year, and he predicted this numerical growth would continue into 1960 and beyond.

But he carefully avoided saying that the middle-priced car market would account for a greater percentage of the total auto industry sales.

"There's no doubt that the over-all market will continue to grow," he said. "And, as the over-all market expands, I believe the medium price class market will continue to grow numerically, too.

"I think one of the most important reasons for this is that in a rising economy, more people will buy the more comfortable, superior, full-sized automobiles."

WOLFRAM

Wolfram estimated the total auto market for 1960 at the same level that James M. Roche, general manager of another General Motors division, Cadillac, predicted on Monday—6,900,000.

Wolfram said he expected Oldsmobile to increase its percentage of the medium-priced car sales from 10 to 13 per cent during 1960.

Although specific details of the new Oldsmobile were off the record, Wolfram revealed his division will introduce a redesigned engine on its "88" series which will use regular, instead of premium, gas.

MORE ECONOMY

"This regular rocket engine will give our customers an improvement of 15 per cent in miles per dollar," he said. "This is still a high compression engine. It will be standard equipment on the dynamic '88'."

Other changes revealed by Wolfram include lower axle ratios which will give greater economy, more maneuverability because of swept-back fender design and a new and more comfortable seat.

The 1960 Oldsmobile will be a

Give Bonus Show at Drive-In

Flying Discs Seen in Area

Two yellow discs hovered over the horizon and streaked across the sky leaving a flaming trail of red and pink vapor.

Reports of sightings of the unidentified flying objects came from all over the Pontiac area. Witnesses say the objects first appeared at about 7:50 p.m. last night and continued their "eerie performance with a purpose" for about 20 minutes before vanishing.

There is no telling how many saw it, but Wanda Bierl, 405 Linda Vista Dr., was "enthralled" with all the others at the Waterford Drive-In Movie last night.

When it was over, she turned to her husband, Kenneth, and "in seriousness, because I was scared to death to mention it" asked him, "Do you think we could have seen what is termed a flying saucer?"

Here is Mrs. Bierl's account of what she saw.

"We were sitting in the car waiting for the show to begin while our three children were at the drive-in playground up front. It wasn't quite dark yet and suddenly my husband told me to look at those two things in the lower horizon.

"We saw the people in other cars watching, too, and some got out of their cars to look.

"There were two yellow discs in the sky, not in the heavens, but in our own atmosphere. The two objects faced each other, and for about eight minutes they stood perfectly still, except that when you looked at them very closely they looked like they were drifting with the wind and moving slightly.

"They moved separately and of their own accord. There wasn't a cloud in the sky and I couldn't find the moon.

"For about the next three minutes one moved higher than the other and they stood there drifting in place.

"All of a sudden the lower one took off in a straight upward movement and became a very thin disc with a long yellow tail with a bit of red in it making it look like a fire streak.

"Then, 30 seconds later, the second one moved up and over and down in a perfect arc, leaving a yellow trail behind it.

"It disappeared completely while the first disc continued to go straight up, then leveled off and began flying perfectly straight for about three minutes, trailing to the right with a stream of yellowish, reddish vapor that faded to pink as it disappeared.

"As the first one faded, the second flying object came back into view and looked like it was coming straight at us, right under the other one which reappeared again. They both arched together, like they were making a big U-turn and streaked away for the last time.

"The objects had very distinct lines, except when they moved in a blurred flight. They were very distinct in their movements, not like something just falling to earth. We were agog. It was unbelievable.

"There was a human intelligence about the whole thing . . . or superhuman!"

The pictures that played last night at the drive-in movie on Elizabeth Lake road and Scott Lake road were "Alias Jesse James" and "All Mine to Give."

Local observatories and police could give no explanation for last night's occurrence.

Earthquake's Toll 8, Could Go Up to 13

Stowe, 31, of Sandy, Utah, were found, along with Stowe's fishing tackle box and some papers.

The sheriff's office at Virginia City, Mont., reported once that bodies of Stowe and his wife had been recovered, but they could not be located at any mortuary and other sources couldn't confirm the report.

Approximately 60 persons were injured, but only 27 remained in hospitals in four Montana towns. Six were reported in critical condition.

Another large earthquake is possible within two weeks in the park area, an expert said today.

It is possible, said Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology, but not necessarily probable.

The quake first struck near midnight Monday at Hebgen Dam and farther downstream in the Madison River valley, famous trout fishing country.

There were an estimated 22,000 to 25,000 vacationers in Yellowstone Park when the quakes hit, but no one was reported hurt there. Earth slides closed some roads in the western side of the park.

Additional light tremors north of Hebgen Dam were felt Tuesday night, but caused no damage.

Although southwestern Montana got the quakes' most devastating blows, temblors were reported in British Columbia, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming and both Dakotas.

Section of West Maple Scheduled for Repaving

BIRMINGHAM — Another section of West Maple road is scheduled for repaving, but the contractor has assured the city of Birmingham that traffic will not be cut off entirely.

At least two lanes of traffic will be kept open according to the contractor, while work proceeds on a stretch of Maple road just west of the bridge crossing the Rouge River.

Construction is scheduled to begin sometime before Sept. 30. Pavement is to be replaced and drainage improved by the contractor, Edward R. White of Berkley.

The work originally was planned to be done at the same time as the paving of Maple road from Cranbrook to Westchester roads, said City Engineer Grover Serenbetz.

However, he added, high bids submitted at the time prompted the city to postpone the second part of the project. The contract was let later at half the original bid.

Cost of the project, including paving of the Maple-Bates alley, along with access drives at North Woodward avenue from Redford road south, and to Southfield at Wakefield road, is expected to be $14,600.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has announced that it will begin work this month to provide additional telephone service along Adams road.

The $13,101 project is part of the $966,000 that will be spent by the company in the Birmingham and Mayfair exchanges this year to improve and expand services, said Albert H. Warner, local Bell Telephone manager.

Underground cable will be placed along Adams from Maple to Big Beaver roads. It will enable the company to fill new orders for service in the growing residential area.

The project is scheduled for completion sometime in October, Warner said.

Finds Only $15,000 of Warrick Assets

Attorney for murdered Pontiac physician Dr. W. Carleton Warrick said he's found but $15,000 in assets in the doctor's name as he awaits court permission to admit his will to probate.

Meanwhile, investigators into the nearly month-long unsolved slaying admit they are no closer now to solving the baffling crime than when it was committed July 24.

Pontiac attorney James G. Hartrick said it will probably be a month or so before details of the doctor's will are released.

He said he is attempting to inform all surviving relatives of the doctor when the will is to be probated here. A woman, possibly a daughter of the doctor by a previous marriage, has indicated an interest in the proceedings, according to a Tampa, Fla., newspaper.

Hartrick said he had received only "evidence" that the doctor owned a great deal more than the $15,000 in stocks and bonds. Internal Revenue agents said they found three-quarters of a million dollars in stocks and bonds in the doctor's office, 24½ E. Huron St.

James F. Deane, assistant director of the Detroit district office of the Internal Revenue Service, said investigation is continuing into the possibility that the doctor was evading taxes. He would not disclose what information, if any, had been gathered.

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor who is coordinating a team of 14 detectives, said no new progress toward finding the slayer has been made.

So far, lie detector and truth serum tests have cleared five persons of any connection with the crime.

Robbery has been counted out as the motive, Taylor said, as $100 was found on the office floor and $1,400 in the doctor's trouser pockets after he was shot.

Taylor said detectives have not discounted the possibility that narcotics played a big part in the murder.

little shorter, somewhat lighter in weight. Most styling details will not be made public until shortly before the cars go on sale Oct. 1.

The redesigned engine will have an 8.75 to 1 compression ratio, instead of 9.75 to 1, and will develop 240 horsepower instead of 270 as in the series this year.

Wolfram said this is the third and by far most important move toward economy that Olds has taken since it began to de-emphasize horsepower in 1958. The others were a new carburetor and split choke system.

The 1960 Olds will have the same wheelbase as this year but will be one to two inches shorter overall. Additionally, Wolfram said, the design of the fenders and bumper will allow two or three more inches for more convenient parking.

Overall curb weight of the cars has been reduced by 15 to 30 pounds.

Olds makes three series, the Dynamic 88, the Super 88 and the 98. The first, which is least expensive, accounts for 32 to 46 per cent of total sales, Wolfram said. He did not discuss prices.

He was more optimistic than Cadillac on steel supplies, saying Olds dealers will have ample inventories to fill customer orders on announcement day "and for some time to come" even though the current steel strike is not settled.

OK $4 Million for 8-Mile Drain

orandum was "released prematurely" to the press and was "never intended to be anything more than a research memorandum for guidance" of the Commission.

However, Adams yesterday said he was conscious of the objections to the project. But he said the Commission was legally empowered to act only on the matter of credit to support the bond issue.

"We're also conscious of the constant barrage of criticism for delays in making decisions," Adams said. "Most of them are unmerited because we are shorthanded and have to study these problems. The legal issues that concern us have been considered and I think we've taken enough time."

Barry, a Republican, had branded the Democratic Commission's delay in acting on the issue a "political football."

William R. Hart, deputy auditor general and a Commission member, moved that consideration of the bond issue be delayed until the citizens' suit is decided.

"We're not in a position to act at this point," Hart said, "And I don't want to be a party to an action that could well be illegal."

"There is a good chance that some people will be deprived of their property if this thing goes through," he said. "Also, if we act now we can't accomplish anything."

Hart received no support for his motion. Hart's action seemed to stem from what his boss—Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski—said at the January protest meeting. He said he realized the Commission could block the project if it wished to.

Adams, Deputy State Treasurer Thomas J. Cleary and Myron W. Hansford, deputy superintendent of public instruction, voted for the bond issue. Hart voted against it.

Barry said he had no idea what the vote would have been had regular members of the Commission — Treasurer Sanford A. Brown, Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett and Szymanski — been present.

"However, I'm very happy the thing came out the way it did," Barry said. "At least we have approval to issue the bonds. We'll have to meet the lawsuit when we come to it."

Before the Commission yesterday was Daniel Hodgman, attorney for the protest group. "Some people who own land hardly valued at $2,000 an acre are being assessed more than that for a drain that will benefit others," Hodgman said.

Robert Hodge, Pontiac attorney, another protestor, said he questioned the financial ability of Oakland County to bear the cost of the drain. He said the county is committed to a courthouse project that will use up most of its building funds.

Barry indicated that one reason for the approval was that the Commission felt the county was financially able to pay off the bonds in case of defaults by the two communities or citizens.

In approving the bond issue, the Commission recommended the faith and credit of the county be limited only to available funds within the 15-mill taxing limitation in case of defaults.

our library needs more adequately."

Miss Pope believed that Pontiac should have two or three library books per capita for its 85,000 population — somewhere between 175,000 and 250,000 books.

At present, the city has only about 40,000 in its main library and another 25,000 in its bookmobile and two branch libraries.

The librarian stressed, however, that she favored going ahead with construction now instead of waiting until more building funds are available.

The $500,000 price ceiling was set by the Commission on recommendation of City Manager Walter K. Willman.

To finance construction on a pay-as-you-go basis, commissioners set aside $200,000 out of last year's capital improvement fund, $200,000 this year, and plan to budget $200,000 next year, $100,000 to go into library furnishings

Willman said that if bids are favorable, contracts may be awarded early next month and the building completed by fall of next year, in time for dedication during the 1961 observation of Pontiac's centennial as a city.

Hewlett and Ulveling stressed that the building was designed for easy expansion horizontally when money for added facilities is available.

Containing 27,000 square feet of floor space, the library would have seating facilities for a maximum of 200 users, a children's room with window seats, a smoking lounge, an open auditorium for public meetings and such other features as air conditioning.

Under an alternate plan which contractors will be asked to bid on, these facilities could be expanded through an additional 5,400 square feet of floor space at the rear, Ulveling added.

The larger — but more expensive — construction plan would add space for 15,000-20,000 volumes, Ulveling said, and increase seating capacity to around 270.

Ulveling is a member of the Detroit firm of Ulveling and Mohrhardt, consultants to the Detroit Public Library system.

Hewlett said that soil tests indicated a stronger foundation was necessary in the southwest corner of the building — next to the Clinton River — than was first contemplated.

The extra expense here might push the total cost over the $500,000 mark, he said.

Final plans follow closely the design contemplated when preliminary plans were announced earlier this year, he said.

One decision made since then, he said, is not to invest money in structual supports necessary to add a second story to the building.

"Since we plan on having plenty of land, it was decided to allow for horizontal expansion only," said Willman.

The only other changes affect two areas in the basement, which architects originally planned would not be finished off in order to conserve money.

"We decided it would be worthwhile to spend a little more money adding cement floors and lighting to these areas so they could be used for storage and shelter areas," said Hewlett.

Find Buried Treasure on Franklin Estate

containing $800 in coins, according to detectives. Their second "strike" paid off in another $800 can of silver.

Mrs. Bair remembered her husband mentioning a peach tree. There are many fruit trees on the 2-acre plot of land. A peach tree along side the house was dug up but failed to yeild any treasure.

"There are prowlers in the back yard every night," said the distraught widow to police. "I can't get any sleep."

Officers have been keeping an eye on the area. Meanwhile she is trying to figure out the mysterious code.

Her husband owned National Varnish Co. in Detroit.

"I don't need the money," she said. "My husband left me enough to take care of me for the rest of my life. All I want is peace and quiet. I'll give the money to some charity."

Also uncovered was an 800-gallon tank of gasoline. Police say it was buried during the war years.

Detectives suspect the money was also buried before or during World War II. They said the condition of the coins and the fact that the most recent date on coins is 1940 indicates they had been in the ground quite a few years.

Bair's distrust of banks was confirmed by a check into his accounts. He had only one sizeable account, that being in his company's name at a Detroit bank.

WORTH $103,000

The varnish company was estimated to be worth $103,000. Its net profits were $15,000 per year. Bair left half to his wife and half to a son, by a previous marriage, Robert D. Bair of Detroit.

Mrs. Bair has sold her half to the son.

So, while detectives and police keep an eye out for prowlers, the harried widow ponders over the strange "code," and Nichols digs for dimes, quarters and dollars.

Governor, Broomfield to Be There

Waterford Youth Park to Be Dedicated

Leading state, county and township officials Sunday will participate in dedication ceremonies for Waterford Township's new Youth Park.

Sponsored by the newly-organized Waterford-Lakeland Optimist Club, the ceremonies will begin at 3 p.m.

The guest list includes Governor Williams, Congressman William S. Broomfield, Lt. Gov. John Swainson, State Senator L. Harvey Lodge and Rep. Lloyd Anderson of Waterford Township

Formerly known as the old CCC Camp, the narrow strip of park land, one mile long and some 200 feet wide, is located on Elizabeth Lake road, near Crescent Lake road. It was donated to the township by the State Conservation Department two years ago.

Since that time the thickly wooded area had remained undeveloped until the Optimist Club decided to build the area into an activity center for boys in the community.

For the last two weeks bulldozers and other heavy equipment have been clearing heavy brush, filling and leveling the contour of the land for baseball and football fields.

A large identification sign, a baseball backstop and a small building to house sports equipment have been erected on the park property.

In its long-range plan, the Optimists club, under the supervision of Township Recreation Director Tom Belton, hopes to have a large community building on the property along with new types of play equipment. Tennis courts, wading ponds and ample parking space are also planned.

Preceding the dedication ceremonies, guests of the club will convene at Old Mill Tavern in Waterford for lunch. The official party will be police-escorted to the park.

Among local officials expected to attend are Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson, Clerk James Seeterlin, Treasurer Dorothy Olson and Police Chief Millard Pender. The public is invited to the dedication ceremonies, said Keith Breckenridge, Optimist Club president.

White House Prospects Look Dim

Williams Lowering Sights to Supreme Court?

GOV. WILLIAMS

This is the second of two articles tracing the political career of Gov. G. Mennen Williams from his ascendancy as six-time winner as Michigan governor to his present status as head of a debt-ridden state.

BY HOLMES ALEXANDER
The McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

LANSING—Governor G. Mennen Williams, Princeton '33 and Democratic governor of Michigan since '49, is not the worst fellow in the world—but he must be thinking that the world's against him.

As a fellow alumnus of Old Nassau, this reporter took some reflected pride in Williams' early success. Ten years ago the young governor scored favorably with an interview in this column. He seemed then a big, well-conditioned, good-natured, hard-working son of wealth who deserved credit for trying to "do something" about politics instead of becoming another rich playboy.

A decade later, in a second meeting at the Michigan State House, Williams impressed this reporter as being almost as fit and twice as busy as before—but the governor has changed. His amiability has become stamped by habitual grinning in a somewhat frozen face.

Even in his shirt sleeves Williams wears a polka dot bowtie. It has become both his yoke and his trademark as a lover of the Lower Classes and as a governor who "can't miss" becoming President.

None of this is written in ill-will or ridicule. Few enough of us in middle years still have the same bounce to the ounce or can point to fulfilled ambitions. But Mennen Williams is a national political figure. He is a postwar political revolutionist who tried to found a Demo-Laborite party in this country where we abhor class vs. mass politics.

Today the collapse of Williams and the sinking star of the Demo-Laborites rate as one of the top stories of the season. The failure of the Social Democrats of Demo-Laborites to wrench control of Congress from the Johnson-Rayburn leadership has been chronicled in other places. The same trend appears to be taking place among Democratic governors.

MODERATES GAIN

The liberals are fading and the moderates are asserting more prestige in party affairs.

As to Williams, you can travel in Michigan and hear such things as:

His backers return from trips around the country with sad information about their man's national standing. Williams has been hammered down in size by the impact of stories about Michigan's "economic climate," which is said to be driving industry away from the state.

There are still some in Michigan who say that the "lucky lightning" can hit Williams at the 1960 Democratic Convention But their tone is more wishful than convincing.

The governor is represented as lowering his ambition's sights from the White House to the Supreme Court. This story, coming from a close-to-Williams source, includes a plan by the governor to go to next year's Convention with a sackful of delegates to barter them for an appointment as attorney general. From the Justice Department to the Supreme Court is a relatively short leap.

There is spotty speculation to the effect that labor leader Walter Reuther, one of the governor's chief backers and mentors, may be "looking around for another boy." Those who believe the report point out that the United Auto Workers, which Reuther heads, is not above dumping a faithful servant who has lost favor.

The example of record is the ruthless but unsuccessful attempt of the laborite wing in 1958 to unseat Rep. John Lesinski (D-Mich). Although Lesinski and his father before him have been unfailing friends of organized labor, the young congressman was opposed in last year's primary by Carl Stellato, president of Local 600, UAW.

Michigan political seers who don't believe the dump-Williams report say that the governor is still too strong, and his Democratic triumphs in a Republican state too well remembered, for any such shabby treatment by Reuther.

COULD RECOVER

The governor's future could still be salvaged by an upswing in Michigan prosperity. There is a running dispute between the interested parties as to how bad Michigan's plight really is.

In an artillery duel of statistics, the governor and his supporters contend that state finances will be all right as soon as the Legislature passes a new tax program. They say Michigan industry is holding its own with millions of dollars in new construction and thousands of new jobs in the offing.

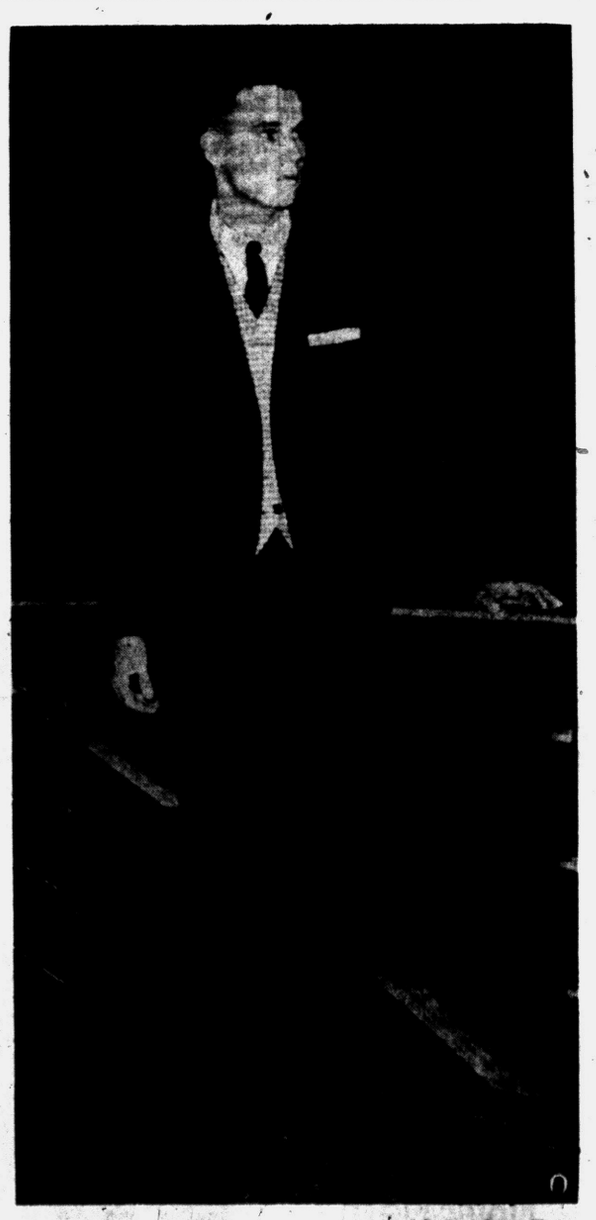

But the losses of industry reported in the newspapers, and the trends cited in national surveys, contradict the optimists in no uncertain terms. Michigan job opportunities are running far behind the population growth. The state's plight doesn't have to be as bad as the governor's enemies are claiming. If it is only as bad as the cold facts, that would place Michigan on the critical list for some years to come.

Other Democratic governors, both directly and by broad inference, have thrown harpoons into the quivering flank of the floundering Williams "Michigan is completely broke," says Gov. George Docking (D-Kans), "because bureaucracy has run wild . . ."

Gov. Orville Freeman (D-Minn) took issue with a Williams soak-the-rich-and-spare-the-poor tax program. "We want a tax to reach everyone . . ." says Freeman. "It is the low-income families who want and need state services . . . I want everyone . . . to have a part in paying (for) them."

Mennen Williams, like some Demo-Laborites in Washington, is becoming a has-been. The party is outgrowing that foolish phase of its postwar folly. The do-gooders and bleeding hearts have had their day.

WORLDLY VIEW — Pacing the trend with his stylish, worldly, continental suit, Jim Devereaux, of 2976 Old Orchard Dr., is set for the more formal and the more informal. The reason: a reversible vest which brings us in full stride back to the vest wearing days. His suit as shown by Dickinson's Men's Wear, 31 N. Saginaw St., features trim squared shoulders, semi-peak lapels, and a moderately cut-away two-button front. The vest is reversed to show the tattersall side. The pants are worn without cuffs as the fashion dictates. Jim's shirt, which lends finishing touches to the new look, is a pin collar of basket weave madras.

Ike to Proclaim Hawaii as 50th State on Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will formally proclaim Hawaii as the 50th state at 4 p.m. Friday.

The proclamation ceremony will be held at the White House. Eisenhower will return here from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to sign the proclamation.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President also will issue an order on a design for a new 50-star flag to become officially effect next July 4. A 49-star flag was ordered after Alaska became a state last Jan. 3.

The proclamation Friday will permit the new state's delegation in Congress to take their oaths before Congress adjourns. In an election, July 29 Hawaiian voters chose one Republican and one Democratic senator and a Democratic representative.

They also elected William F. Quinn, a Republican, as governor.

Hagerty said the islands are planning a celebration at 10 a.m., Hawaiian time, Friday to coincide with the proclamation signing.

Javits Says Rocky Debating Candidacy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot of people may be skeptical, but Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) says he's convinced Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller hasn't made up his mind about 1960.

Javits said Rockefeller's flying trip to Washington Tuesday was a mere scratch-the-surface affair without too much political significance.

In the course of the day, Rockefeller talked with President Eisenhower and other government officials on civil defense matters, and met with GOP office holders both in Congress and in the administration.

Some supporters of Vice President Richard M. Nixon thought the interest Rockefeller showed in primaries confirmed their belief that he already is a candidate—though unannounced—for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination Nixon wants.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), with whom Rockefeller talked about next March's New Hampshire primary, left no doubt he thinks the governor is headed for a contest with Nixon in that state.

Rhinoceroses breed only once every two or three years.

CAROLE TREGOFF

Other Woman to Stand Trial

Carole Tregoff Charged With Doctor in Slaying of His Wife

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP) — The shapely sweetheart of Dr. R. Bernard Finch must stand trial with Finch in the gun slaying of his socialite wife.

Carole Tregoff, 22-year-old ex-model, shook with sobs Tuesday when Municipal Judge William M. Martin ordered her held for trial with her 41-year-old lover. They are accused of the July 18 fatal shooting of Barbara Jean Finch, 33.

Miss Tregoff's attorney said he will file a writ seeking the girl's freedom. He said she is being held illegally on insufficient evidence. He also contended her constitutional rights were violated when she testified at Finch's preliminary hearing without being warned her statements could be used against her.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred Wichello replied that Miss Tregoff "took the position of voluntarily testifying against herself." He noted that she originally was summoned as a prosecution witness.

In ordering Miss Tregoff held for trial, Judge Martin referred to a dispatch case which the prosecution termed a "do-it-yourself murder kit." The case, belonging to Dr. Finch, was found near the scene of the slaying.

The judge said there was strong substantial evidence linking Miss Tregoff to the slaying because she carried the case to the scene.

The case contained bullets, a knife, sleeping potions, rope and a hypodermic needle.

Plan New Detroit Motel

DETROIT (AP)—A new 120-unit motel will be erected near downtown Detroit (at Woodward and Winder), it was announced by Albert Broder of Broder Realty. The site was purchased by Jack Gorelick of Downtown Motel, Inc. He estimated cost of the project at $1,200,000.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower in Mexico Now

Brother Is Ike's Eyes and Ears

By United Press International

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, who according to his brother has the brains in the family, also provides the eyes and ears to serve President Eisenhower on special fact-finding and pulse-feeling missions abroad.

In fact, Milton spends almost as much time helping Dwight as he does on his main job of running Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore.

Dr. Eisenhower now is in Mexico on his fourth trip to Latin America for Ike in the past two years. He just returned with Vice President Richard M. Nixon from a trip to the Soviet Union and Poland.

If past practice is any indication, the president will lean heavily in the coming months on what Milton tells him of the attitudes and words of Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

A varied career with heavy emphasis on education marks the life of Dr. Eisenhower, who will be 60 on September 15, the day Khrushchev arrives in the United States.

He has been a grocery store clerk, reporter, vice consul in the foreign service, assistant to the secretary of agriculture, director of information for the U.S. Department of Agriculture for 12 years, associate director of the Office of War Information, president of three universities, a presidential campaign issue and even a potential candidate for a spell.

MILTON EISENHOWER

He became a campaign issue in 1956 when Adlai Stevenson charged that Milton had assumed responsibility for U.S. relations with Argentina when Juan Peron was strongman in the South American nation.

This charge was publicly and vigorously denied by the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Dulles said Milton had made valuable contributions to U. S. - Latin American relations but had never taken over department functions.

When the President suffered his heart attack four years ago, some Republicans suggested that Milton lead the GOP ticket the next year. However, the plan got absolutely no support from the educator and fizzled out when the President recovered.

Only last week, the President firmly voiced his opposition to any Milton-for-president idea and said his brother was even more against it than he was.

The president and Milton, who was the youngest of the seven Eisenhower brothers and nine years behind Dwight David, have been particularly close since boyhood.

When Milton — weakened by a bout with scarlet fever — was threatened in any way, brother Ike was there with ready fists to defend him.

Dr. Eisenhower was president of his alma mater of Kansas State College for seven years and Penn State for six before moving to Johns Hopkins in 1956. His wife of 27 years died in 1954. He has two children.

Ex-Michigan Farmer Confident in Australia

Yankus 'Not Hurt' Starting at the Bottom

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Five days a week a bespectacled American, slightly balding, leaves his house in the Kircaldy suburb of Adelaide, gets to work at 8:30 a.m. and leaves at 5 p.m. for his work as a clerk he is paid 16 Australian pounds—the equivalent of $36—each week.

The clerk is Stanley Yankus, 40, who sold his Dowagiac, Mich., farm for $30,000 dollars and came to Australia.

The U.S. government had fined Yankus $5,072 for planting 35 acres of wheat on his farm instead of the 15 acres he was allowed under his acreage allotment.

Yankus, who fed the extra wheat to his chickens, contended it was wrong to prevent a man from earning his living, and in violation of the Constitution of the United States. So he quit the country last May.

Now, with Mrs. Yankus, Russell, 13, Dennis, 12, and Karen, 3, he is in Adelaide. He works as a clerk in the suburban factory of Pope Products Ltd.

The firm makes television sets, motorized lawn mowers, household appliances and garden tools. Yankus says he knows it is not a highly paid job.

"But it's legitimate, honest and it is a beginning," he adds.

He has a desk in a small office in the corner of one of the sprawling factory buildings. He is one of 1,600 on the payroll.

"I don't feel in the least hurt that I'm starting where I am," he said. "I work in the purchasing department, writing out the 'goods inward' receipts. It is nothing complicated. No skill, but accuracy, is required.

"It gives a chance to begin slowly in Australia. But I've been given to understand that there may be some more interesting work for me later in the air-condition section."

Yankus turned down offers to manage chicken farms, as well as a host of jobs as a salesman.

HOPES TO CLIMB

Asked about his plans for the future, he sat back at his desk and said:

"I like this job. I am starting at the bottom. I hope to climb to the top. If I am given the opportunity to show my ability, then I feel my prospects of staying permanently with this firm are bright."

The first few weeks in the job produced some minor complications for a man used to the American way of weighting materials and writing receipts.

"In America we wrote month, day, year on a receipt," he said. "Here it's a day, month and year.

"In the U.S. a hundredweight is 100 lbs.—here it is 112 lbs. A ton in the U.S. is 2,000 lbs.—here it is 2,240 lbs. Of course, there is the question of spelling, too.

"We write 'center' in America and here it is 'centre.' But I'm learning the Australian way of writing English very quickly."

Yankus is happy with his workmates.

"No hostility because I'm a Yank and they're always ready to explain things to me."

WEEKENDS FREE

Yankus said the five-day-week job leaves him weekends free to explore Adelaide (population 600,000) and the countryside with his family. He travels to and from work in a suburban train.

Other things are beginning to work out, too, for the Yankus family.

Mrs. Mildred Yankus was not too happy when she arrived in Adelaide and realized her husband would have to start from scratch again.

But now she is settling down, chatting with the neighbors, visiting for morning and afternoon teas, and running the home.

"The children are doing fine. Both Russell and Dennis are getting along well at school. Russell topped his class twice—in history and algebra. He never learned algebra until he came to Australia."

Find No Delinquents Among 4-H Ranks

Oakland County's recent 4-H Club Fair furnishes undisputable proof that our young people are among our best citizens.

The thousands who participated simply had a task to do—and they did it.

Perhaps it should not be called a task, as they all secured much enjoyment from the projects with which they were connected.

They glorified in the growth and fruits of their labors.

The monetary prize which they sought was a secondary issue.

You never hear of any juvenile delinquency in the 4-H ranks.

Their receptive minds are unconsciously trained not to be receptive to anything outside of the 4-H motto.

It is one of our greatest manhood and womanhood builders.

Regardless of how good you may think your home surroundings and environment may be, past results behoove you to get your children connected with the 4-H program.

The tragic news we often are obliged to print about some juvenile always makes us wonder if it were not brought about because that unfortunate youngster's most unfortunate circumstance was that nobody thought enough of him or her to get them connected with 4-H or something akin to it.

Admiral W. F. Halsey

One of our greatest naval heroes has completed his tour of duty. Admiral WILLIAM F. HALSEY JR., will be remembered as a fighting commander and a regular sailor.

Bull Halsey was not one to direct operations from behind a desk. When the going was toughest right after the disaster of Pearl Harbor, Admiral Halsey was out front with his men.

At a time when our country's morale was low following the Jap sneak attack, it was HALSEY'S colorful leadership which came to the rescue of a grateful nation.

We needed an early hero, someone to rally around and catch our breath. BULL HALSEY filled this role to a T.

He not only was colorful, but an extremely competent fighting naval tactician. One of the first to use air and sea power together, he forged ahead slowly to win success after success in pushing the Japs back.

His record shows how effective he was. This valiant naval leader's career ended Sunday, but will long be remembered by a grateful nation.

States Do Not Want U. S. to Return Rights

Two years ago President EISENHOWER proposed that state governments take back some of the states' rights claimed to have been preempted by the Federal government.

In his message to the Governors' Conference at Puerto Rico, the President repeated the offer. The fact is that no Governor of any state has made a move to recover a single function now vested in Washington. Yet the complaint is that the Federal Government is constantly increasing its power and the states are losing theirs.

One reason for this is that the Governors feel they have enough on their hands and have no wish to take back any "rights" accompanied by responsibilities involving increased state taxes.

Another and more basic reason is that most state legislatures are stacked in favor of rural representation, as is Michigan. Cities and local communities know that appeals to their states for help will go unheeded so the only recourse is to turn to the Federal Government. From Washington comes highway aid, school aid, public works, unemployment funds etc. out of taxes paid by the states to the Federal Government.

The truth is that until redistricting is undertaken in every state of the Union the states rights issue is merely something for Governors and others to talk about.

ABOUT all many a person has saved for a rainy day is a stolen umbrella.

The Man About Town

Money Is Needed

For Further Improvement of Parks in Pontiac Area

Modern art: What's displayed in the crazy pictures in most hotel rooms.

The two biggest appropriations in this area among the 38 made in the entire state for the current year by the Michigan Department of Conservation is $130,000 for Cass Lake State park, where is manager, and $65,000 for the Holly Recreation Area, where

is manager. These are the first such appropriations in three years, and both are badly needed.

However, there's a big fly in the ointment, as Governor has vetoed the bill for the park use tax, from which the department expected to get most of the funds.

G. Mennen Williams

All this goes back to the theories of the late

of Orchard Lake, father of the state park idea. He wanted these parks to always be free to the public, and the governor feels that the required appropriations should come from taxation on everybody.

Drawing the largest crowds of any inland state park in Michigan, Cass Lake surely is entitled to all the improvements that would come from this $130,000. Its crowds are passing all records.

The location of the Holly Area, with the largest acreage of any public park in our county, is making it a magnet for crowds that practically double with each year. Midway between Pontiac and Flint, bisected by the four-lane Dixie Highway, and with an all-year program, its many lakes and beautiful vistas provide a challenge for most any other area in the entire nation.

Perhaps there's something to seriously cogitate upon in a letter from

"Always a Tiger Fan,"

who asserts that Detroit's greatest need is for the spectacular

as manager in next year's pennant chase.

The first 1959 Christmas card has arrived, coming from

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Plaintiff

of Birmingham, who are leaving on a world tour, and will not be back until early in 1960.

An apricot tree, brought from Florida eight years ago as a mere twig, by

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Alanson

of Waterford, is bearing its first fruit, over 50 full sized apricots.

A letter from my good friend,

Dwight Dickinson

of Flint, says: "Wish our city commission could be inoculated with a serum that would make them want to install some street lights like Pontiac's."

One of Those Overly Helpful Neighbors

David Lawrence Says:

Nikita Should See Newspaper Ads

WASHINGTON — There's beginning to be a bit of sensitivity about what Nikita Khrushchev should hear or see or read while he is in the United States.

LAWRENCE

But if he is well advised and really wants to know how the capitalistic system functions, there are two advertisements published in the newspapers in the last few days which will tell him things that may surprise him. They constitute a dramatic lesson in economics.

Pronouncement No. 1 is on the subject of inflation and shows that in America everybody has a right to speak out in the hope of influencing public opinion so as to bring about self-restraint among organized groups.

Remedies that in the Soviet Union would be applied by police or military force are left to the people of America themselves to work out through appeals to reason.

Pronouncement No. 2 gives the viewpoint of the steel companies in answer to a previous advertisement by the Steelworkers Union which had pointed to the profits of the employer companies as "fantastic," and had argued that these provide money enough to pay increased wages without a price rise.

The steel companies reply that this year the "steelworkers' increased pay outstripped the owners' dividend increase by 86 to 1."

But more important than the debate over whether the profits were large enough to pay more wage increases is the news contained in the statement by the steel companies as to what they did with their profits.

The explanation was as follows: "Roughly one-third of the profit was 'phantom profit' which had to be used to cover the inflated cost of replacing worn-out tools and facilities. This one-third provided nothing for the owners—nothing for expansion. It had to be used just to stand still.

"Otherwise the steel industry would die a little each year as its plants wore out. And so would the jobs of its over 600,000 employes and the invested savings of its more than one million shareowners.

"Another third or so of the profit went to meet the continuing need for improved or enlarged plants and equipment, necessary working capital, new sources of raw materials, new research facilities, and to improve productive efficiency generally.

"This was the 'reinvested profit' that provides for America's industrial growth, sustains job security and steadily raises the standard of living of the American people.

"What was left of the profit—$268 million—went to the owners of the steel companies in the form of dividends. This was the only payment they received from their companies for the use of all the tools that their savings have provided; and it represented an annual return of about 3 per cent on the present market value of their investment.

"That is about the same return you get on your savings account at the bank—less than on a government bond."

This debate, revealing how the capitalistic system works, goes on in the midst of a strike that has tied up the entire steel industry and is an example of the free interplay of the forces of public opinion which will eventually influence a settlement of the dispute.

Pronouncement No. 1 was presented more graphically in an advertisement from another quarter. A big photograph of a pistol, with a lot of bullets beside it, carried the heading: "The Biggest Robbery This Country Has Ever Known."

This was published by Young & Rubicam, an advertising agency in the famous Madison avenue district in New York. It said:

"Last year, a thief stole money from 160 million people—including you. He stole some of your food money, some of your savings, some of all the money you earned.

"Who is the thief? The name isn't important—call him 'inflation,' 'high cost of living,' 'the shrinking dollar,' anything you like."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Moderate Exercise Good for Coronary Diseases

The nineteenth century notion that absolute rest was necessary for any one with a "weak" heart ruled even the medical mind in the early decades of the twentieth century and some doctors today advise patients with angina pectoris, coronary diseases or other heart trouble that they must walk on eggs if at all.

DR. BRADY

Only the physician who knows the patient's history and examines the heart at reasonable intervals is competent to judge whether the patient should play this or that game, do this or that kind of exercise or work, and if so, how much, how often. In other words exercise is good for heart trouble if taken regularly and in the proper dose.

According to carefully compiled statistics, as I have reported here more than once, coronary occlusion or thrombosis occurs in most cases when the man (women are less likely to have the disease) is at rest than when the victim is moderately active. Moderately active means, say, walking to and from work instead of riding, gardening instead of hiring it done, fishing, skating, swimming, bowling, golfing or any other physical activity one enjoys, except tests of endurance or contests involving tension or anxiety.

For example, my favorite diversion is lawn bowling, which is more fun than a barrel of monkeys, but I shun championship contests and tournament play because I found it practically impossible to play in such circumstances without anxiety or tension. I bowl for diversion.

A reasonable amount of general exercise every day, such as a mile or two of oxygen on the hoof, not only prevents coronary occlusion or thrombosis, but, in my opinion, makes one less susceptable to any kind of cardiovascular degeneration—heart or artery trouble.

An extensive survey in England, Scotland and Wales showed that men in physically active jobs have less coronary heart disease during middle age, what disease they have is less severe, and they develop it later than men in physically inactive jobs.

From the information gained in the survey Drs. J. N. Morris and and M. D. Crawford observed, in the British Medical Journal, Dec. 20, '58, that the physical activity of work is a protection against coronary heart disease and the habitual physical activity is a general factor of cardiovascular (heart and artery) health in middle age.

So, Mister, if your "bad heart" is not make-believe, don't just sit there—Do Something.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"Little sins, like little weeds, don't seem to cause much trouble—but they don't stay little."

Voice of the People

'Higher Wages and Prices Lead Us Only to Dead End'

Where in the world are we headed with this silly rat-race of higher wages and prices? Aren't we on the march to an economic deadend road? Hasn't big business finally found in the steel strike that both it and big labor have been selfishly blind to the fact we've finally priced ourselves out of the world market?

Higher wages and prices don't give us a better living standard, but the reverse. Our armed forces and all governmental bodies have no materials and must buy everything they need. The higher price they must pay, the higher taxes. The President has finally asked all to hold the line and stop some of big labor's abuses. Big business is just as much to blame by its blindness in permitting wage increases beyond greater productivity. In the past business has felt it can add wage increases to product cost. This is crushing small and medium size businesses.

Regardless of what anybody says, labor is still the dominating factor in the cost of any article. Better and higher standards of living come from improved productivity by making more and better things.

'Parents Should Become Concerned'

In answer to Fearful Parents, I feel communism and the unions are just forerunners of things that shall come to pass as we read in Revelations. But thank God our children aren't old enough to be accountable and those who are born again will not have to go through those terrible days.

It's good you are concerned parents. As a Sunday School teacher, I visit homes that aren't concerned and they give the silly excuse they don't want to force their children to go to Sunday School. They force them to take medicine when they're sick, to take a bath when they're dirty, to eat proper foods, to go to educational school but they don't want to force them to God's house and learn about God.

So we see children when they are grown, forced to spend life or some of it in prison and some being forced into the electric chair.

Born Again Christian

'Is Pontiac Safe for Raising Kids?'

What is Pontiac's motto concerning mixed up youngsters these days — "If you can't cure them, lock them up. If you can't catch them, kill them?" I'm referring to the slaying of the 15-year-old runaway from the Children's Home. The time for action was earlier when he could have been helped by a little, old-fashioned understanding. Isn't it better to put good thoughts than bullets in a child's mind?

I think I know how the kid felt, because I lived a hard life, too, and was pretty rebellious at that age. It took a couple years in service to straighten me out. Now I'll soon be out of service and bringing my family back home again, but I question Pontiac as a decent place to raise kids.

Suppose my kids make a mistake before they're old enough to know better. Will I find my son in a swamp with a bullet in his head? Get off your belly, Pontiac. What happened to the old Pontiac I grew up in and left behind?

Robert Magerman

'Stick to Pitching and We Can Win'

It's hard to believe Tiger managers have allowed pitchers to throw over to first base to pick off a runner. I can recall no time for years, a runner has been out on a throw.

Foytack has been the victim of this futility in most of his losses and other Tiger pitchers have also lost many games. The Tigers have had good success by the catcher throwing out runners to second.

If our pitchers would concentrate on the batters and stop this swivel neck business of throwing to first base, many more games would be won. Baseball as played by the Tigers has been a drab affair for years on many occasions.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Knowledge Reduces Discomfort

Freddy's case brings out a very profound rule of psychology. It is being used widely by our modern physicians. And even our most progressive hospitals are getting wise to its value. Put the tools (or facts) in the hands of people and they are happier as well as far more cooperative. Apply this rule to your children, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-421: Freddy J., aged 7, got a drum on a recent birthday.

Dr. Crane," his mother began. "Freddy almost drove his daddy and me crazy with that drum.

DR. CRANE

"In fact, his father whispered to me on the side that an 'accident' would have to happen to the drum, for he couldn't stand it much longer.

"But then a very interesting thing occurred. Freddy left his drum and went outside to join his pals.

"Then my husband picked up the drum sticks and he played with the drum for 15 minutes.

"It still drove me nearly crazy but my husband no longer seemed to mind the noise as long as he was making it.

"How do you explain the curious fact that my husband couldn't take it while Freddy made the noise, but he enjoyed the same amount of noise when he was producing all that racket?"

IGNORANCE AND PAIN

Before answering Freddy's mother, let me ask you readers why an uninformed pregnant wife used to suffer so much pain in childbirth, though modern enlightened mothers suffer comparatively little pain?

Because ignorance is NOT bliss:

When Freddy's father listened to his son's drum beating, he never exactly knew what was coming when. So he reacted to the irregular sounds as "noise" and said he couldn't stand such a racket.

But when he himself picked up the drumsticks and beat on the drum, he now relished the sounds and didn't consider them as irritating "noise," for he knew what was coming at every given instant, even though his helpless wife still suffered just as much from his racket as from Freddy's.

Nowadays, doctors are consequently teaching their patients what to expect during a hospital stay or the birth of a baby.

Pregnant wives thus are no longer helpless victims of unexpected pains, but are intelligent partners in the process of birth.

They can thus visualize what is occurring at every given moment so they take a keen interest in delivering the baby and the process is no longer the painful event of a generation ago.

The modern pregnant wife is thus a twin for Freddy's father when the latter picked up the drumsticks and started beating on the drum:

PSYCHOLOGY IN MEDICINE

Modern medics have thus injected much psychology strategy into medical practice.

For instance, Nathan W. Helman director of Mt. Sinai Hospital in Chicago, recently outlined a plan before his hospital board by which patients can help themselves.

Such "self-help" hospital units will become increasingly popular for they reduce costs, free nurses for more critical duties, and also divert the patient's mind by giving him something to do.

It is even wise to let one patient help another, for this extroverts the first and promotes a happier morale.

Obstetricians are now inviting a dozen or more patients into a little classroom session at intervals just to teach these pregnant wives what to expect.

Childbirth is thus becoming much easier. And the duration of labor is actually growing shorter.

Send for the booklet "Facts About Pregnancy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It will offer more hints for expectant mothers.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Have a Kindergartner? Here's What to Do

With back-to-school-days drawing near, parents who failed to attend Pontiac's "Kindergarten Roundups" held in May and June will have another chance to take care of preliminary registration requirements on Sept. 10 and 11.

Although most of the kindergarten age children have already been enrolled in Pontiac's schools according to Gerald E. White, coordinator of elementary education, late-comers and people who have recently moved into the district will be able to take advantage of the two days in September.

When enrolling their children, parents are asked to present these three requirements:

1. A birth certificate showing that the child is or will be five years of age on or before the first day of December. The hospital certificate is not acceptable.

2. The immunization record of all shots given, including the dates and the doctor's name.

3. A complete physical and dental examination for the child and an effort to correct any existing physical defects.

On or just after the first day of classes, Sept. 14, parents will receive a brochure published by the Pontiac Board of Education outlining the kindergarten program and objectives. It is designed to help parents with their children's school needs and problems. The booklet is "very attractive and helpful," said White.

For the first week of school, from Sept. 14 to 18, kindergarten sessions will only be an hour and a half long. Thereafter they will be 2½ hours long with milk served midway through the period. No lunch will be served to the kindergarten children.

Half-day sessions are held in the morning and afternoon, usually starting at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., and parents are to determine which session their child will attend when he is enrolled. If, however, he must ride a school bus, the child will attend the session which the majority of children in his neighborhood attend.

White said the new student is expected to know his own name and address when he first attends school. Some teachers expect the child to bring his own box of tissues and in some cases the teachers may require other materials.

White felt that simple, sturdy, clearly labeled clothing was a necessity.

"If the children have had practice in staying away from their parents and are able to follow simple directions, they shouldn't have any serious emotional problems," he said.

Check Lights in Child's Room to Ease Eyes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Before your child starts back to school, check the lighting in the room in which he will do his homework.

The main problem is glare, says the American Home Lighting Institute. Over a period of time, the difference in lighting levels and quality can contribute to eye-strain with resulting headaches and dizziness, the institute said.

To correct the situation, the institute offers this guide to lighting an average-sized room (125 to 225 square feet) used for study and recreational purposes:

Have at least one ceiling fixture 15 to 17 inches in diameter, accommodating either five 40-watt bulbs or four 50-watt bulbs.

Put a hanging fixture that can be moved up or down over the child's work desk or table. This fixture should have 100 watts in incandescent bulbs.

Install a cornice or valance shielding fluorescent tubes on the wall near the ceiling, behind the desk. The installation should be 8 to 12 feet in length.

To minimize glare, be sure a good diffusing material shields incandescent bulbs in the fixtures. In addition, check the reflection. Desk tops that reflect light into the child's eyes should be dulled, or covered with a blotter.

If She Had Her 'Druthers'

Pat Honest About Dislike of Politics

(This is the last of a series of articles providing an intimate closeup of America's "second lady," Mrs. Richard Nixon.)

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Pat Nixon says she has no desire to live in the White House. If she had her "druthers," Vice President Nixon would not even be in politics.

This is the simple truth, although America's second lady has probably given less thought to her own preferences than any similarly endowed woman in the land.

Pressed to analyze her own feelings about her husband's upcoming candidacy for the presidency, the 46-year-old miner's daughter said frankly:

LIVES DAY TO DAY

"I just never think ahead. I'm so busy now that I almost live from day to day. If I looked ahead at my schedule, I would feel unable to meet it. I try to do the job I'm doing well, and let the future take care of itself."

Pat would never have chosen the role of politician's wife for herself, but she thought so little about the problem that she raised no objection when Nixon decided to run for Congress shortly after the war.

Always eager to share "whatever Dick wants," she threw herself wholeheartedly into his underfinanced campaign, and adjusted easily to the frenzied Washington scene, while her husband served first as a representative and then a senator.

SHE WAS NUMB

There is little question but that she gently tried to dissuade her spouse from becoming a vice presidential candidate, but not until the now famed "Nixon fund" stories captured the nation's headlines in 1952 did she develop a real distaste for politics.

Mrs. Richard M. Nixon

Her numbed appearance as television cameras picked her up during Nixon's "Checkers" speech mutely bespoke her antipathy for the ordeal to which the family was being subjected in the name of politics.

In 1956, Nixon promised Pat to retire from politics at the end of his first vice presidential term. It is history that—perhaps partly goaded by Harold Stassen's "Dump Nixon" drive—he ran again, and won.

It is exceedingly doubtful that he will be willing to bow out of next year's presidential race, at least until the last convention votes are counted, but Pat would be happy if he did.

She cherishes the opportunities that the vice presidency has brought them to spread goodwill throughout the world, but she wishes that all Americans would consider themselves "ambassadors" on their trips abroad.

"All of us who travel are ambassadors, and we should never brag, or make comparisons to our hosts," she said. "We should always act like ladies and gentlemen. I'm so ashamed of some of the things I've heard about Americans abroad! They complain about the hotels, the food and the trains—yet the reason they go is because it's all different. They should appreciate the culture of the countries they visit, and reserve their opinions for home consumption."

Pat is frankly worried about some of the things she saw in the Soviet Union. Calling attention to the unvarying signs, "Work for the Victory of Communism," which top glittering new buildings throughout Russia and Siberia, she told this correspondent:

"We in America must work for a revival of patriotism. It would not hurt us to adopt some such slogan as 'Work for the Victory of Freedom.' We must do more than we are doing in the field of languages. Children should begin to learn two or three foreign languages in grammar school. We start too late in this field."

The one-time commercial teacher paused a moment, and then continued feelingly:

"Our schools must do more to make children proud of their country, and willing to sacrifice and work for the political party of their choice. We must take a more active part in our country's welfare."

"Otherwise," she added somberly, "we are not going to survive."

House Bill Hits Equal-Time Act

OKs Measure to Cut Radio, TV Restrictions on Political Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill to end the equal time requirement for radio and television stations in news broadcasts about political candidates.

Under existing law, broadcasters who display a political candidate in the course of a newscast must give equal free time to any other bona fide candidate for that office, no matter how tiny his party or how odd his platform.

The House bill, passed by a one-sided voice vote Tuesday, would exempt from the equal time requirement any appearance of a candidate on a bona fide newscast or on-the-spot coverage of a news event, if the candidate's appearance was incidental to presenting the news.

The House bill has one major difference fom a similar bill passed by the Senate. Its sponsors said it was intended to include panel shows, such as NBC's "Meet the Press" or CBS' "Face the Nation," in the category of programs on which equal time is not required.

The Senate bill, however, specifically excluded panel shows from the exemption. A Senate-House Conference Committee will have to iron out the differences.

Segni, Adenauer to Meet Prior to Ike Conference

CADENABBIA, Italy (AP)—Italian Premier Antonio Segni will meet vacationing West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at this north Italian lake resort Saturday, a spokesman for the chancellor announced.

They will discuss matters to be mentioned during Adenauer's talks with President Eisenhower in Bonn on Aug. 27—previous to Eisenhower's meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Boy Exhibits Typewriter That Writes in Braille

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A computer designed and built by a 16-year-old boy which automatically translates typewriter strokes into braille is on exhibit at the electronics convention here.

David E. Milne, San Diego, Calif., said he built the device from surplus parts and hardware store items in 2½ years. He conceived it for his younger brother, Steve, "who can't see too well."

The young scientist is one of 37 future engineers showing projects at the Western Electronics Show ad Convention (WESCON) at the Cow Palace.

His "brain" consists of an ancient portable typewriter, a homemade computer and a translator he made by adapting a punch system to an electric feeder. Engineers said it was the only automatic brailler known.

Vet Pension Bill Awaits Ike's Pen

Would Raise Stipends $10 Billion Over Next 40 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has before him today a bill that raises veterans pension benefits by 10 billion dollars over the next 40 years.

The Senate completed action on it Tuesday by withdrawing a Senate amendment to which the House objected. That would have given veterans of World War II and later another year to take out National Service life insurance.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed the bill strongly in its present form but there was considerable doubt the President would veto it.

The Senate passed the bill last Thursday by a vote of 86-6 and the House by 226-34 on June 15. Both votes are well over the two-thirds margin needed to pass a law over the President's veto.

The bill concerns only pensions for veterans with nonservice-connected disabilities and their dependents.

It puts future pensions on a sliding scale based on actual need of the recipient, which is estimated to save about 12 billion dollars by the year 2000 as compared with present law.

But it also brings into the system widows of World War II and Korean War veterans, a provision estimated to cost 22 billions over 40 years.

No veteran now on the rolls will have his pension cut. In fact, about 65 per cent of these will get increases under the bill. The sliding scale feature applies only to those receiving pensions in the future.

Chrysler Built 58 Test Engines of New Valiant

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. said today it built 58 versions of an engine before settling on the one to be used on its new small Valiant.

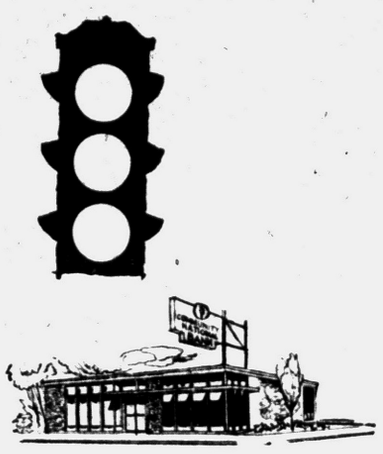

The engine itself still is "hush-hush" although some sources have reported that it will be used, in larger versions, on the 1960 Plymouth and the new Dodge Dart, as well as the Valiant. It also has been speculated that the six-cylinder power plant is designed to be produced in aluminum sometime in the future.

The Valiant, which will show up at dealers sometime in late November, evolved from a special committee set up in 1957 by Chrysler President L. L. Colbert and headed by Harry E. Chesebrough, general manager of what is now the Plymouth-DeSoto-Valiant division.

Of all the radio hams known in the world, only one of 50 is a woman.

In 1946 Russian forces seized much industrial equipment in Manchuria. The United States protested, but Russia's defense was that it was "war booty."

Horse Wins 15 Times

NEW YORK (UPI) — A horse named Colin set the American record for races won without defeat during 1907-08 when he finished first 15 straight times.

Evidence Was Rare

DAVENTRY, England (UPI) —Everybody in the court was relieved when the evidence was hustled out of the room yesterday. Three boys were fined costs of $7 for breaking the eggs of a great crested Grebe, a government-protected bird. The broken eggs submitted in evidence were two months old.

Soviet Surgeon Gives Dog Extra Heart

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet surgeon V. P. Demikhov said Tuesday he transplanted an extra heart into a dog and kept the two-hearted animal alive for a month. Then it died of pneumonia.

Soviet scientists reported earlier this year they had kept a dog alive for weeks after grafting an extra head on its neck.

Dr. Demikhov suggested that heart grafting operations might eventually save or prolong the lives of people suffering from serious heart ailments.

Writing in the scientific journal Science and Life, he said the dog's own heart took care of the circulation of the blood in the upper part of the body while the grafted heart handled the blood supply in the lower part.

The name of the two-hearted dog was Toshchii (Skinny).

Dr. Demiknov heads a Moscow laboratory officially known as "The Scientific Research Laboratory for Transplantation of Organs of the First Moscow Medical Institute.

His article was illustrated with electrocarddiograms of the two hearts at work. Speaking of the dog's death on the 30th day after the operation, he said "the grafted heart was the last to stop."

The surgeon said heart experiments had been conducted for two years, with dogs dying after a couple of hours, until the team switched to grafting a lung together with the heart.

"The results then exceeded our expectations," he said.

Supervisors Add to Heat of Sun

Tempers Erupt at County Budget Talks

Tempers flared as hot as the weather outside as hearings began today on how the Oakland County Board of Supervisors can trim its preliminary 1960 budget of $13,997,018 to meet anticipated income.

Freshman Supervisor Robert J. Huber of Troy exchanged heated words and angry stares with four-year veteran John L. Carey, Springfield Township supervisor, when Carey insinuated Huber was calling the Board's Ways and Means Committee "dishonest."

The short furor erupted after Huber, who has raised many critical questions in past supervisors' meetings, promised he would lead the opposition if the county didn't do something about continually increasing budgets each year.

"You must hold the line and live within the country's means," Huber said.

'STOP INTERRUPTING'

Carey pounded his fist on the table when Huber kept repeating, "I believe I have the floor so stop interrupting me."

"I will because you are accusing us of dishonesty," Carey stormed back.

"I said no such thing," Huber retorted.

This uproar was tempered slightly when another Troy supervisor, Roy L. Duncan, rose and praised the budget-preparing supervisors and auditors by saying, "I don't think you can criticize anybody unless you have something better to offer."

Earlier, George W. Kuhn, mayor of Berkley, renewed an old county sore spot when he appeared to carry out his city's request that the county trim the 1960 budget—up $1,711,295 over the current operating budget.

He criticized the county's "unethical policy of creating surpluses by grossly underestimating its revenue accounts in order to stockpile more than $2 million for its courthouse building fund."

To cut costs, he suggested new county employes not be hired, creation of a cost of savings committee, an investigation of a large social welfare load, and reduction in payments to the county's pension fund.

Besides Huber, Kuhn and Duncan, Sylvan Lake Supervisor Don R. MacDonald and Mayor-pro-tem Anthony Kreps appeared before the Ways and Means Committee. Sylvan Lake, like Berkley, had asked the county to cut spending.

After their appearances, supervisors plunged into analyzing of a detailed breakdown of cuts recommended by the Board of Auditors.

From an earlier reported necessity cut of $1,460,800, the auditors had found spots to cut $1,334,019.

Feeling the pinch of the trimming—which must be finally approved by the Board of Supervisors next month — will be the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic and the Social Welfare Dept.

Auditors recommend taking all of the $35,000 1960 appropriation from the Clinic, and $533,700 from the social wefare. They recommended welfare hospitalization costs are recommended to be trimmed $112,040.

Auditors set out in search of items to decrease as the county realized that new sources of income pushed for by the county in Lansing were falling by the wayside as the State Legislature continued to have money problems of its own.

All of the county's 24 departments stand to be trimmed from their 1960 wants under the auditors' recommendation. Decreases range all the way from $200 (Veterans Council) to $11,410 for operation of county buildings.

The Ways and Means Committee will continue its series of hearings tomorrow. It can either approve or disapprove of the auditors recommendations.

"But one thing is sure," one supervisor said, "We have to cut some place."

Prunes Satisfy Sweet Tooth

Just Like Candy When Eaten From Box; Hold Much Vitamin A

High school years are often marred for boys and girls by complexion problems. These usually are aggravaged by the teen-age tendency to overindulge in rich sweets.

While most young people are eager to clear up the situation, there's always the problem of the ever-nagging "sweet tooth."

The sweet tooth can be satisfied. It all has to do with the selection of foods that furnish the essentials to a beauty treatment.

High on the list of sweets that meet this requirement are moisture-packed California prunes. Prunes can be served in interesting ways. They become a confection when eaten right from the box and a fine dish for any meal when plumped to firm fleshiness and served in their own juice.

Their vitamin A content plays an important part in skin health as do their abundant supplies of other vitamins and minerals.

Prunes eaten out of the package are nutritious after-school snacks as well as fine complements to the lunch box. Stick on toothpicks in approved canape fashion and lightly dip in honey and flaked coconut for a party snack.

Doctor for Pilgrims to Be Awarded Title

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI)—Dr. Samuel Fuller, whose patients were the Pilgrims who landed here from the Mayflower in 1620, is to be honored as America's first physician.

The one-room, slab-sided Fuller house is among the 19 dwellings at the replica of the original "Plimoth Plantation" along the Eel River two miles south of here.

NEW LOOK — Just in time to return to Ferris Institute, Mike Moloney, of 824 W. Huron St., sports the new look of the Ivy Leaguers, the continental suit. The suit, an all wool worsted Hopsac with a reversible vest of matching combination paisley lining, is featured at Osmun's Downtown store. The three button Continental Ivyaire coat has side vents and peak lapels according to the new trend, and it comes in charcoal gray and brown. Mike's hat is the new Sporting Game Bird available in bronze, oxford and rustic colors.

'Babble' to Be Foreign

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. (AP) — The babble coming out of first grade classrooms here in future years won't be the usual children's noises. It will be in French and Spanish, the result of a new course established in cooperation with Jacksonville State College.

Says Children Dying of 'Mental Anemia'

By GEORGE C. HARLAN
United Press International

Miss Mae Carden, a lonely but uncompromising rebel in the world of education, is convinced that "vested interests" are depriving your child of a proper basic schooling.

Hardly the image of a revolutionary with her slightly askew pince-nez, Miss Carden said "children are dying of mental anemia" because of "too much sugar coating" of education.

"There's too much emphasis on entertainment and not enough on the thrill of learning," she added.

The educator from Glen Rock, N. J., who has taught since 1929, advocates the phonetic method of reading and writing instead of the sight method.

Under the sight method, words are associated with pictures and pupils are drilled repetitiously.

The Carden method does away with the "see the ball. The ball is red," type of instruction. Through understanding the relationship between a word and its sound and function in a sentence, a pupil is equipped with basic tools to "teach himself."

The average pupil taught by her "language-arts" system is capable of reading anything by the fourth grade and should have all the practical education a child needs by the sixth grade, Miss Carden said.

Despite opposition from "entrenched elements of prestige and money," Miss Carden's primary grades program is used in 105 public and private schools in seven states. The most effective promoters of her system have been parents of children taught by the system.

Miss Carden is sharply critical of the "stuffing" of progressive education — too many books about books and not enough straight classics.

"Learning is not an end in itself," Miss Carden said, "but a tool for a more enjoyable life."

The Little Red School House may have had architectural shortcomings, but its basic curriculum of readin' writin' and 'rithmatic has yet to be improved on, she said.

Japan Helps Campaign

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Phoenix Chamber of Commerce started a campaign to "Sell Phoenix—Year 'Round."

Invitations in the form of little Indian drums were sent out to boost the campaign. An inscription on the drums read, "Made in Japan."

Lemon Bits Cookies Go in Picnic Basket

Crisp cookies easy to pack.

Lemon Candy Cookies

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 package (6 ounces) lemon-flavored candy pieces
½ cup chopped walnuts

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening and sugar; beat in egg well, then lemon juice. Stir sifted dry ingredients into creamed mixture. Mix in candy pieces and nuts.

Drop heaping teaspoons of the mixture onto a lightly greased cookie sheet, about 1 inch apart. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 12 minutes — bottoms of cookies should be lightly browned. Cool about 1 minute before removing with wide spatula. Makes 4 to 5 dozen.

Note: The lemon-flavored candy pieces are a new product; they are the same shape as semi-sweet chocolate pieces and come packaged in a similar way.

Brown Eggs—White Eggs One as Good as Other

Which is better? A white shelled egg or a brown one? Stop before you answer, advised the MSU Marketing Agent. If they are of the same grade, one is as good as the other.

The egg shell is determined by the breed of chicken. Some chickens lay white eggs, others lay brown eggs. When you find a price difference in white and brown eggs of the same grade and size, those at the lower price are the best egg value.

A cup of whole milk can be replaced by 1 cup of skim or buttermilk plus 1 medium-size pat of butter.

It's Low Caloried and Oh So Good

Refreshing low-calorie dessert.

Orange Gelatin

2 cups orange juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 oranges

Use frozen orange concentrate and dilute according to directions on can. Pour 1 cup of the orange juice into a measure; sprinkle with gelatin to soften. Heat remaining 1 cup orange juice until very hot — bubbles will appear around edge. Pour hot juice into gelatin mixture; stir to dissolve.

Pare oranges so they are membrane-free; cut sections away from dividing mebrane. (Add any juice from oranges to gelatin mixture but no more than ¼ cup). Put orange sections into 5 individual molds (about ½-cup size). Add gelatin mixture; chill. Unmold at serving time. Makes 5 servings.

A smoked tongue should be placed with the rounded side away from the carver and the tip at the right.

School Chief Shunck Maps Initial Schedule for 12,200 Students

A report on scheduling of an estimated 12,200 Waterford Township school children Sept. 7-11 was released today by Superintendent William Shunck.

On the Tuesday after Labor Day, 425 teachers will hold an all-day orientation program beginning at 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Although there will be no bus transportation, children in the kindergarten through the sixth grade with last names beginning with "A" through "K" will register Wednesday, Sept. 3, at their respective elementary schools.

Pupils attending Waterford Township Senior High School have been scheduled on an extended-day program, and will begin regular class sessions at 7:40 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Sept. 9.

Some of the senior pupils will attend classes at noon and finish at 4:30 p.m.

Both the Isaac Crary and John Pierce junior high schools will hold regular class sessions from 8:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. beginning Sept. 9.

Elementary school children in the kindergarten through the sixth grade with last names beginning with "L" through "Z" will register all day Thursday, Sept. 10, at their respective schools.

Friday there will be regular school sessions for all grades.

During the week of Sept. 14 through 18, there will be regular class sessions for all grades with the exception of Friday, Sept. 18.

A complete bus transportation schedule will be released at a later date along with information regarding enrollment of pupils in various elementary schools due to opening of new school buildings, Shunck said.

Parley in Korea Set

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — The United Nations command today called for a meeting at the Korean Military Armistice Commission Thursday at Panmunjom. The subject to be discussed at the meeting with Communist officers was not disclosed.

FOR THE YOUNGER SET—Jennie Dungel (left), of 577 Lowell St. looks very smart in this washable Penlon sweater, washable pleated wool skirt and wash-and-wear blouse. Her fur collared coat is the very latest thing for the junior high school crowd. Eddie Eastridge of 2680 Garland Ave., Sylvan Lake, is very sporty in his wash and wear Orlon sweater, knit shirt and Bedford Slacks, also washable. Debra Clark of 1634 Inverness, Sylvan Lake, is bound to be a real heartbreaker when she comes to classes in this pleated tartan wool, wash and wear skirt with washable orlon sweater. The blouse features a removable jabot. All these outfits come from J. C. Penney's.

Cerebral Palsy Chapter of Pontiac Holds Outing

The United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Pontiac wound up its third annual handicapped children's summer recreation session yesterday with an outing at Cass-Dodge Park.

According to Howard Palmer, president of the Pontiac chapter, 25 children were enrolled in the six-week program which is a slight increase over the first two years.

Palmer said the United Cerebral Palsy Assn. of Michigan spent nearly $2,100 on the program operated by the Pontiac Board of Education and located at Mark Twain school.

Pontiac High Schoolers to Get Calculus and Differential Equations

In a couple years, they'll probably be teaching calculus and differential equations to seniors in Pontiac's high schools.

The equivalent of a year of college math should be under the belts of the brighter high schoolers by the time they leave the 12th grade, according to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

Advanced learning already is resulting from experimentation in teaching materials and instruction, he said.

Among the educational aims cherished in the local school system are these:

1. More effective teaching of mathematics.

2. Instruction geared to meet the greater abilities of the smarter students, the so-called rapid learners.

These aims were combined last year in a new experimental program for about 150 seventh graders in the city's junior high schools.

The experiment will be continued this year in the seventh grade and introduced in the eighth.

In five years, if the program continues to get succesful results, there should be rapid learner sections all the way through the 12th grade, he stated.

In an age of technology, good grounding in basic mathematics is especially important.

Rapid learners in the seventh and eighth grades this year will be given all the mathematics they can handle, including some they ordinarily wouldn't meet until a year from now.

But the school administration feels that just plain drilling and problem solving is old fashioned.

As they tackle harder problems, rapid learners are being introduced to the philosophy of mathematics, too.

"An understanding of the theories behind mathematics helps the pupil grasp the subject better than simple 'busy work' does." Dr. Whitmer observed.

Local educators are developing a six-year mathematics curriculum for grades seven through 12. The new curriculum is tied in with the rapid learning project but is not restricted to it.

All students from seventh grade on are to benefit eventually from new methods in teaching and learning mathematics, Dr. Whitmer said.

On an experimental basis, new materials will be introduced next month in all seventh grade classes. Souped-up instruction will be given the rapid-learners, while other classes will be aimed at average or slower students, explained Dr. Whitmer.

"Eventually we hope to have separate levels of mathematics instruction throughout the higher grades that will utilize fully the abilities of all students — rapid, average or slow.

Although traditional text books will continue to be used to some extent in seventh grade arithmatic, most of the written materials have been authorized and printed locally.

The new texts have been prepared by local teachers under the supervision of Russell W. Curtis, coordinator of secondary education.

Queen Wins Tiff Over Charles' Future School

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth has won a family argument and young Prince Charles will be sent to Eton after finishing grammar school, a newspaper reported today.

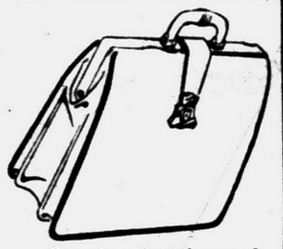

The Daily Mail said the 10-year-old prince, now a student at Cheam School, wanted to attend Charterhouse, another old-school-tie institution. His father, the Duke of Edinburgh, wanted him to go to his old school, Gordonstoun.

But the Queen held out for Eton and that's where Charles will go in 1961, provided he can pass stiff entrance examinations, the Daily Mail said.

Backs Expansion Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Basil L. Whitener (D-NC) introduced a bill to increase the official size of the House from 435 to 438 members otherwise, he said, some states, after the 1960 census, would lose seats because of the two new representatives from Hawaii and the one new representative from Alaska.

NEW TWIST FOR OLD STANDARD — Hopsacking, an old friend for many years, now has a new look: blazers. Dennis Huff, of 1191 Bamford Dr., Waterford Township, a student at the Pontiac Business Institute, models the new coat for McNally's Men's Wear, at 106 N. Saginaw St. Cricketeer tailors the worsted in antiqued compound colors, which give the impression of a one-color solid but that might be as many as nine colors. McNally's has just received a large collection of the versatile Cricketeer clothes.

1953-54 Autos Leading Parade on Trade-In List

DETROIT (AP)—A sharp increase in trading by owners of cars five and six years old has contributed to new car sales this year, a leading research organization reported today.

R. L. Polk & Co. said a survey of the first eight months of 1959 showed six-year-old trade-ins are running 62.8 per cent ahead of 1958. The five-year-old trade-in rate is 62.4 per cent ahead.

Both are hopeful signs to new car dealers who are aware that in times of recession owners tend to hang onto their cars for another year or so.

The Polk survey gave these other increases: One-year-old models have been traded in at 24.2 per cent greater rate this year than last; two-year-old trades are 34 per cent ahead; three-year-old trades are 32.9 per cent greater, and four-year-olds are 44.2 per cent greater.

Of those who wear glasses in the United States, one-half wear them regularly.

Waterford High Schools Start Enrollment Tuesday

Registration of Waterford Township's junior and senior high school pupils is scheduled to begin Aug. 25, through Sept. 2, according to superintendent William Shunck. School will open Sept. 9.

Enrollment for 11th and 12th grade pupils will be taken at Waterford High School from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 to 2 p.m. Aug. 25, 26 and 27.

Tenth grade registrations will be accepted from 8 to 11:30 a.m. and from 12:30 to 2 p.m. Sept. 1, 2, and 3. Registrations will also be taken from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 2.

Registration for the junior high school pupils in grades 7, 8 and 9 will get under way at the Isaac Crary and John Pierce Schools from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2. A special evening registration has been set up from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 2 for those unable to register during the day.

During the registration period, pupils' schedules and textbooks will be issued. Laboratory fees and book deposits are to be paid at this time, with the following list of fees to be charged both junior and high school pupils.

Book deposit, $2; art, $5; crafts $5; auto mechanics, $2; drafting, $2.50; metal working, $5; woodworking, $3.50; vocal music, $1; office machines, $1; Biology, $1; chemistry, $2; and towel fee of $3.50.

There also will be an arts and crafts fee of $3.50 and a $2.50 towel fee for each semester of junior high school pupils, only.

All Waterford Township pupils have been urged to register at the scheduled time, as failure to do so will cause the pupil's delay in starting school, Shunck said.

A United States passport is valid for a term of two years.

U.S. transportation ships returning from the Persian Gulf in World War II found bales of valuable Oriental rugs excellent for ballast for the empty ships.

Open Shoppers' Mall Today

Holiday Atmosphere Surrounds Dedication of Kalamazoo Project

KALAMAZOO (UPI)—A holiday atmosphere prevailed today at the opening of the nation's first downtown shopper's mall.

Dedication ceremonies were scheduled this morning. Mrs. Glenn S. Allen Jr., wife of the Kalamazoo mayor, will cut the opening ribbon.

Concerts by the Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra, fashion shows, luncheons, displays and special festivities for kiddies and out-of-towners highlight the four days devoted to opening the first auto-less shopping area of this kind to become a reality.

Cars will be banned from the four block square mall in the center of Kalamazoo, and city officials report no traffic problems have arisen from re-routing vehicles around the district.

The grass and concrete block surfaces, trees, pools and fountains on the mall itself cost $60,000 to construct.

Half the money came from the city's general tax fund and the other half was raised by special assessments on merchants whose stores front on the unique area.

But new investments, including the $600,000 Jacobson Store and face-lifting on existing establishments, were expected to spark growth in Kalamazoo industry as well as the downtown area by providing a more favorable tax climate.

In a 1956 citywide reassessment, property valuations in the area that is now the mall dropped by more than one million dollars.

Besides curiosity seekers and proud residents of Kalamazoo, officials from other cities with proposed downtown mall-type areas were on hand to see how the experiment works out.

Planners from Toledo, Ohio, where a mall is being tried on a temporary basis, will use the Michigan project in part to decide whether to continue with their plan or abandon it.

GM Employe Must Split Essay Winnings

DETROIT (AP) — A General Motors Corp. employe has been ordered to divide $13,350 he won for an essay in a company-sponsored contest with a sister-in-law who said she helped him prepare the manuscript.

A circuit court jury yesterday directed Keneith Murry to split the money which he won as a third place finisher last year with Mrs. Elsie Faulkner of Waynesburg, Ky.

Mrs. Faulkner, a school teacher, filed suit in circuit court seeking a split of the prize contending she wrote the essay and that Murry submitted it under his name.

Murry won 282 shares of GM common stock valued at $10,000 and $3,350 in cash to cover expenses and tax on the stock for his essay on "The golden milestone and what it means to me, my family and my community."

2 Oakland Boys Suffer Head Injuries in Falls

Two 9-year-old Oakland County boys suffered head injuries in separate accidents Tuesday, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

George E. Kreuzer of 371 Ortonville Rd., Ortonville, and John R. Gardner of 3225 Granda Vista Dr., Milford, were taken to Pontiac General Hospital.

The Kreuzer boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Kreuzer, was riding his bicycle along M15 near Grange Hall Rd., Brandon Township, when he turned into the side of a passing car driven by John B. Auten, 71, of 525 Brandt Rd., Ortonville, deputies said.

He was admitted to the hospital with a possible fractured skull and was in satisfactory condition today.

Gardner was playing in a wooded area behind his home when he tripped and fell into a ditch five feet deep, according to his mother Mrs. Virginia Gardner.

The boy struck his head on a log. He was released after doctors closed a gash inflicted by the blow.

ITU to Move Main Offices to Colorado

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The International Typographical Union (ITU) has decided to move its main offices from Indianapolis to Colorado Springs, Colo., for economy reasons, a spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the plans are subject to ratification by the union membership.

The union, which has been headquartered here for 71 years, represents 105,000 mailers and printers throughout the United States.

Trey New Multicolor

Brighten Child's Room With Paint

Last year's wear and tear may have left the chairs beaten and desks battered. And this year's purchases of clothes and school supplies dented the billfold properly.

However, a new coat of paint or varnish here and there will brighten a child's room in a jiffy. And the school year will be off to a fresh and clean start.

A practical paint for a young child's room is the new multi-color paint. This gives a textured finish and two or more colors can be applied at the same time. The end result is a mottled, polka dot or spatter-type effect.

It is tough and can be scrubbed often. Multi-color paint is usually sprayed on, but, before you begin, clean the furniture of dirt and grease. Sand any glossy spots.

If you are going to give the furniture a coat of enamel, keep in mind that children love bright colors. Before painting, remove all hardware and any traces of dirt or wax. Sand glossy spots and remove any cracked or chipped finish. If you are re-doing a desk, best give it one coat of a clear finish as extra protection.

A natural look wood is always good in youths' rooms. Use a fresh coat of varnish for protection. It also increases the warm color of each piece. Before applying varnish, sand all pieces lightly with the grain of the wood. After sanding, wipe off any remaining dust with turpentine or a paint thinner.

Do not apply a thick coat of varnish—a thin application is just as practical and will insure a more even surface. If you prefer spraying to using a brush, you can obtain varnish in an aerosol can.

Families in the process of a changeover from nursery to a child's bedroom furniture may find it wise to purchase furniture that will grow with the child. Select tables and chairs with adjustable heights and chests.

Many more are designed to be combined one atop the other as the child grows taller. The more simple the furniture design the better, but if modern just doesn't appeal to you, Early American maple or pine is particularly suited to a child's room and holds up well over the years.

Kin to Dalai Lama Tells of Tibet Fight

BERLIN (AP) — Thubten Jigme Norbu, brother of Tibet's exiled Dalai Lama, said today his countrymen are still fighting against the Red Chinese.

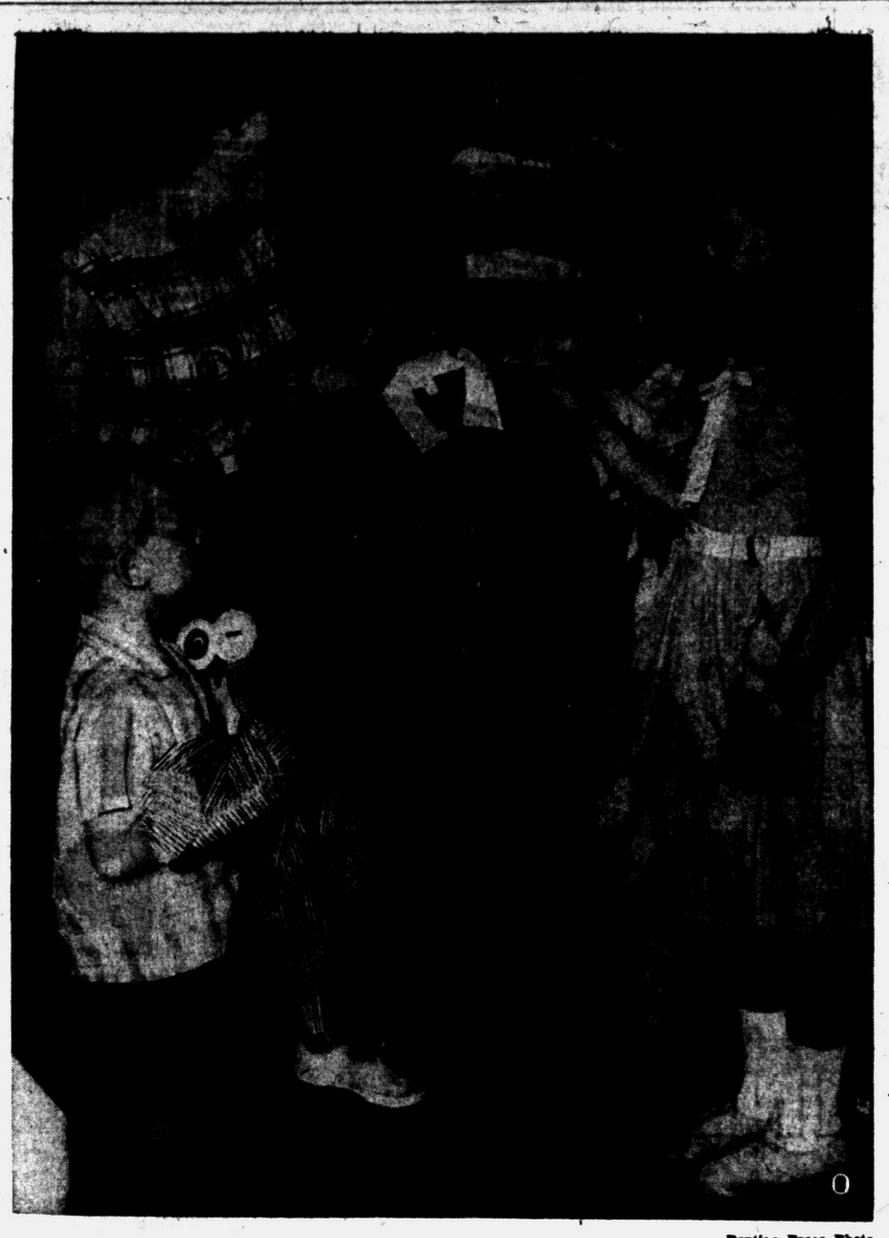

Speaking at a West Berlin news conference, Norbu gave no figures on how many are still fighting.

Norbu, a resident of New York City, is making a tour of Europe, in an effort to enlist sympathy for his people.

City Schools to Welcome 62 New Teachers Sept. 4

The estimated 19,890 students that will attend Pontiac schools this fall will be met by a corps of teachers 790 strong and bolstered by 62 new instructors.

The new teachers with a combined teaching experience of 135 years will help replace the large number of those who have either resigned or who have been granted a leave of absence for the coming year.

According to Otto C. Hufziger, Pontiac's assistant superintendent of schools, few of the teachers were hired to offset the estimated enrollment increase of 475 students.

Most of the new personnel are tentatively assigned to fill positions in the city's elementary and junior high schools. Pontiac Northern and Central high schools will receive only two new teachers each.

Among the 62 are a dental hygienist, an occupational therapist, a diagnostician and an orthopedist.

Hufziger said that the new teachers will bring the ratio of student to teacher to approximately 30 to 1. He explained that the ratio was an average for all Pontiac schools, and that the number is considerably lower at Central and Northern.

"Most of the larger classes are in the elementary schools," Hufziger said. "When you consider the small number of students to teachers in high school language classes the ratio must be considered as an average."

The monthly salary total for the 62 new teachers will run close to $300,000, based on the new wage scale.

Most of the new instructors with bachelor of science degrees and no previous experience will receive $435 a month.

Orientation for the new personnel will begin Sept. 4, with a coffee hour in Central High School's cafeteria. The same morning the new instructors will meet Mayor Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce Manager John Hirlinger and Mrs. Arnold Hillerman, PTA president.

On Sept. 8, they will hear an address by Loren Pope, assistant to Michigan State University Oakland chancellor and former education editor of the New York Times.

Report Potato Harvest Advanced in Bay County

LANSING (UPI)—Potato harvest is "well advanced" in the Bay County area, the Michigan Cooperative Crop Reporting Service said today, and estimated the late summer crop would be about 840,000 hundredweight.

This estimate would be the same as last year's production despite the fact the 1959 acreage for harvest is about 1,000 acres more than in 1958.

The fall potato crop is predicted at 6,580,000 hundredweight.

City Schools Erase Fire Hazards

When school doors open next month, Pontiac's long-range program to rehabilitate older schools for maximum fire prevention will have been completed.

All the main stairwells in all the city's schools will have been fireproofed, according to Dr. Otto C. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools.

For the last half-dozen years, the Board of Education has been replacing the wooden stairwells in the older schools with stairs of steel and reinforced concrete.

All of the schools have had at least two fireproof stairwells in compliance with state requirements. School officials here decided to fireproof all the main stairwells in each school—there's usually four in a two-story elementary school.

This summer, construction crews have been replacing two main stairwells at McConnell School, two at Wilson and one at Baldwin—the last schools in the city with wooden stairwells. The main entrance at Wilson has also been converted.

"The Board has now done everything reasonable to make our 40 to 50-year-old schools safe structures," said Hufziger.

This year's rehabilitation program—costing $52,800—was carried on in the wake of the tragic fire that struck Our Lady of the Angels School in Chicago.

Ninety-five children and nuns died after fire leaped up wooden stairwells, trapping many on the second floor and forcing some to leap for their lives from second-story windows.

It was to prevent this kind of disaster here that the stairwell replacement program was undertaken, Hufziger said.

Fireproof stairwells prevent or slow the speed of fire from one floor to another and allow children to evacuate in safety in event of fire, he explained.

The only wooden stairwells left in the school system are minor ones which the children customarily do not use, he stated.

Nearly all the old schools (and all the new ones) have fireproof doors between stairs and halls, which act as another device to prevent spread of flames and smoke, Hufziger said.

One exception is Pontiac Central High School, where the design of the stairwells makes it impossible to install doors, he noted.

But Pontiac Central is one of the safest schools, Hufziger added, because almost no inflammable materials went into its construction.

A less dramatic feature of the fire-prevention program concerns air ducts in the ceilings of the older classrooms.

Hufziger explained that these ducts cause a natural flow of air upwards into the attic of the older schools.

"In time of fire these ducts would create a draft, aiding the spread of fire," he pointed out.

As a remedy, the School Board has had thermostats installed to close the ducts automatically when the temperature rises.

Pontiac's newer schools are virtually 100 per cent fireproof, Hufziger said.

"But the older ones which have wood in their construction will never be completely fireproof," he pointed out. "After all, where there are inflamable materials there exists the possibility of a fire."

Water Resources Group Meets October in Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special Senate committee on national water resources decided Tuesday to hold hearings in various parts of the country.

The committee will tap public opinion on water resource problems and recommendations.

The tentative schedule includes: Oct. 29, Detroit.

American pioneers believed a country which could not grow trees was worthless and for years avoided settling on the prairies, among the most fertile of all farm soils.

The nation's supermarket industry, which is less than 30 years old, is estimated to have accounted for 31 billion dollars of the 45 billions which Americans spent on groceries in 1958.

Rickrack, Tape Makes Jacket

Glamorize Sweat Shirts

To decorate a sweat shirt, sewing center experts suggest you start with a shirt which fits comfortably from the shoulders to the top of the hipline ribbing. Sleeves may be the set-in or the raglan style.

Whether the sweat shirt is cut down the front to form a jacket or the neckline is slashed to form a V-neck, the first sewing step is to face all cut edges with Wright's bias tape. If the ribbing is removed, this lower cut edge should be faced.

To make a glamor jacket, you'll need one slip-over sweat shirt, 2½ yards of matching bias tape, 8 yards of rickrack and 4 yards each of baby rickrack and metallic woven tape.

Slit shirt down center front and cut off ribbing. Then face cut edges with bias tape.

To apply border design, stitch first row close to edge. Start at side seam, stitch across lower edge, up front opening around neckline down front opening, around across lower edge to starting point. Repeat for each row.

For cuffs, measure trim to fit arm. Apply half of border to inside edge by stretching ribbing. Wear cuff turned back.

Junior Likes Going Back to School . . . but With Some Misgivings

How do the kids feel about all this back-to-school talk? Is it like when you were young, or is today's younger set eager to return to the classroom routine.

Four area students supplied the answers—and led us to believe that kids haven't changed much.

Two Webster Elementary School pupils and one pupil-to-be, all from the same family, showed varying reactions. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Hillman, 87 Newberry St.

Teddy, 7, the oldest, will be going into the second grade. Guarding his statements with the gravity of a politician he said he was "a little bit excited" about getting back to school.

"I'm looking forward to having a new table and chair and things like that. I looked through the window and saw 'em in my classroom a few weeks ago," he admitted.

His mother brought out the real truth, however, when she mentioned he'd be in school a little longer the coming semester. "He used to get out (for lunch) at 11:30. Now he'll stay until 12," she intoned.

Teddy's ears perked up, his eyes bugged out unbelievingly and he exclaimed in a terrified tone, "Twelve o'clock at night?"

With the ice broken, he then admitted he would rather have "a little more vacation."

His sister, Diane, 6, thought about her impending return to school and carefully said, "I'm not especially fond of the idea."

But she added, "I'll be going into the first grade. I kinda want to see what it'll be like to be in class all day long."

"I hope we do a lot of coloring." This is her favorite "subject."

The small fry of the family, Ralph, 5, is another story. He is really eager to go to school.

He's starting kindergarten and he's real excited.

"Now I won't have to come back home anymore," he said. Ralph had frequently walked to the school two blocks away with his brother and sister, but wasn't "of age" to enter.

"Think I'll like music most," he said with a semi-toothless grin.

In another age group is Mike Garrels, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Garrels, of 7648 Sweetbriar Rd., West Bloomfield Township.

"Yep, I think I'll really enjoy getting back this year," said Mike. "Really, I'm starting something new, not just getting back to something old."

Mike will go to the new Clifford H. Smart Junior High School at 8500 Commerce Rd. Construction of the school has just recently been completed.

"I'll be in the first class to go all the way through the school," he beamed. Mike is entering the 7th grade. He formerly went to Union Lake Elementary School.

"And, anyway, I guess even vacation gets a little boring after awhile. It's great for the first month or so, but now I'm getting a little tired of it," he explained.

So, the five-year-olds just entering kindergarten and the "veteran students" entering junior high have something in common— a new experience.

Johnny Eats Well at School

More than 800,000 lunches were served in Pontiac school cafeterias during 1958-59 and mother can be well assured that Johnny ate well . . . and at Bowery prices, too.

Of the some 20,000 pupils in the school system, an average of 4,300 bought their lunches in the cafeterias at a flat price of 25 cents a plate. The cost is the same for elementary and high school students.

There are 23 cafeterias in the school system, 16 elementary, 5 junior high and 2 in high schools. The food service program is self-supporting. Gross receipts from cafeterias in the last school year totaled $419,088.

"The elementary schools stick pretty close to the plate, itself," says Vernon Schiller, treasurer of the Board of Education. "The junior high and high schools can serve extras on the ala carte menu such as desserts and salads."

Principals and cafeteria managers usually follow menus provided by the state.

They specify that each plate should have at least two ounces of high protein food (lean meat, poultry, fish or cheese), two vegetables or fruit or a combination of both, bread or rolls, butter and a half pint bottle of milk.

Various subsidies enable the price of the lunch to be as low as it is and enable the food service program to be self supporting.

According to Schiller, the school district receives a direct federal subsidy administered through the state of six and a half cents for each plate.

"In addition," he says, "the schools receive surplus commodities purchased by the government under its price support programs. These commodities include such items as butter, cheese, fruit, meat and poultry from direct subsidy."

Cooks, managers and helpers make up the approximately 60 employes in the Pontiac school system's food service program. They work from six to eight hours per day. Some of the schools do their own baking.

Because the food service operation "has become significant in size," the Board of Education has decided it should have "professional guidance." The Board currently is seeking a person qualified to fill a $6,000 to $7,000 new position of "coordinator of food service operations" for the coming school year.

AFTER HOURS — Wearing a new Edwardian three piece suit with a reversible vest that matches the foulard lining in the jacket, Charles Heathcott, of 6673 Windiate Dr., Waterford, is set for most formal occasions. The suit features a four button coat, natural shoulders, lap seams, cuffed sleeves and hacking pockets. Available at Monarch's Men's and Boys' Wear in the Miracle Mile Center, the coat comes in olive and midnight blue. Charles' wash 'n' wear raincoat in the latest "haze" shade and continental styled "Schoble" hat are also part of Monarch's fashions.

Mamie Returns Home After Visit With Mother

DENVER (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower ended a six-day visit with her ailing mother, Elivera Doud, Tuesday night and headed back to Washington.

The first lady left aboard a Burlington train. She was to change trains in Chicago and will arrive in Washington Thursday morning.

She said that her trip to Denver was not prompted by any worsening of her mother's condition. Mrs. Doud is 81. She has been in failing health for two years.

Then Freeze That Sandwich

You Tote a Lunch Box?

A school child need not miss out on a well-balanced, tasty noontime meal even though he must tote a daily lunch box.

With a little advance planning and preparation, each box lunch can offer variety and nourishment.

An efficient way to do this is to make a week's supply of sandwiches, package them in moisture-proof vapo-plastic bags and place in the freezer.

A half-hour session of creating the week's menu and executing it saves time in the long run and helps guard against a hastily thrown together meal on a busy morning.

Meat and fish spreads, cheese, and peanut butter are among the sandwich fillings that freeze well. And, there are innumerable possibilities for interesting combinations.

For example, a blend of peanut butter, butter, chili sauce and crisp bacon crumbles is an imaginative spread. It also contains a high protein count as well.

Chopped chicken and orange marmalade is another tasty duet. Besides it helps you make good use of a left-over roast.

A frankfurter roll filled with mashed liverwurst, sweet pickle relish and mustard freezes well too and adds a picnic flavor to a school lunch.

Place esandwiches in vapo-plastic bags, tie the ends. The pint-size bag is just right for an average sandwich.

Before placing in the freezer, label each with the contents and the day you are planning to use the sandwich.

To round out a box lunch fill a thermos bottle with hot soup. Or, include a small plastic bag of crisp lettuce, carrot sticks and celery.

Hare Assails Branch System

Secretary of State Says Fees Breed Corruption, Urges Salary Plan

LANSING (UPI) — Secretary of State James M. Hare said Tuesday alleged irregularities in one of his Saginaw branch offices point up a need for abolishment of the branch fee system.

"To give status and security (to branch managers) we should put them on salary," Hare said.

Assistant Secretary of State John Dodge was to confer with the Saginaw County prosecutor about a shortage in the branch account of Mrs. Anne La Belle.

Mrs. La Belle was dismissed Aug. 7.

Hare said more than 50 branch managers have been removed in the last four years.

"The system is bad from end to end," Hare said.

Hare has asked the Civil Service Commission to put all branch managers under civil service.

La Roy Froh, chief of research for the commission, said 12 are under civil service now and the commission would put 30 more under.

But he said Hare didn't want the 30 unless "the whole lot" were included.

Square Lake School to Open

Two major construction projects totaling more than $200,000 will be ready for use when Pontiac youngsters return to school this fall.

The new Square Lake Elementary School, built at a cost of $183,185, will open its doors for the first time to 165 pupils.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENT—The new "School Tog" department at Barnett's Clothes Shop, 150 N. Saginaw St., is equipped to furnish complete wardrobes for boys ages 12 to 20. The department features famous branded lines and offers a wide selection of the latest styles in slacks, sweaters, shirts, jackets, sportcoats and suits. The stock is specifically suited for school wear. Modeling examples of new styles this year are (left) Robert Flury, 95 W. Fairmont, and Ronald Barnett, 240 Cherokee.

The eight-classroom school, located on Square Lake road between Telegraph and Middle Belt roads, was built to relieve the over-crowding at the Whitfield Elementary School about a mile away, according to Dr. Otto Hufziger, assistant superintendent of schools.

A staff of nine with Wilma Muldowney as the administrative assistant will handle kindergarden classes through the sixth grade.

The school is on a 10-acre site because we expect it will grow to be a full elementary school," says Hufziger.

A "full elementary school" has 18 classrooms, two kindergartens, a multipurpose room and accomdates approximately 660 pupils.

NAME TEMPORARY

The present name, Square Lake Elementary School, is only temporary, Hufziger says. The school's first students will pick a name for the school which will be announced at dedication ceremonies before Christmas.

Hufziger said he did not know when the present eight-room building would achieve "full" status or how much the finished project would cost because of variable changes.

"We build additions as the need arises and as we can afford it," he said. "We do not know what it will look like when it is finished."

Four new schools, three elementary and one high school, have been opened in Pontiac since 1957.

The second project completed over the summer was the construction of a stage at the Bagley Elementary School, thus making a combination gymnasium, cafeteria and auditorium. Construction cost was $20,000.

Among major rehabilitation jobs in maintenance improvements were conversion of wood stairwells to concrete and steel at the Wilson, Baldwin and McConnell schools at a cost of $52,800; and the accoustical (sound proofing) treatment of classroom walls at the Longfellow School and the corridors at Washington Junior High School.

"The citizens of Pontiac are very fortunate that the Board of Education, through its planning, has been able to provide school facilities as enrollment demands occur," says Hufziger. "There are no children on double sessions, nor is there any overcrowding.

"This is a unique position. There are many school systems in the state and in the county that aren't able to meet enrollment needs."

Herd of Cattle Guards Lumber Mill From Fire

CAYUTA, N. Y. (AP)—One hundred beef cattle are guarding the giant Cotton-Hanlon Lumber Mill from fire.

Their job is to keep down grass in pastures that otherwise would turn tinder-dry in late summer. The herd has grown from 20 in 1943.

Highlight Room With Them

Use Your Snapshots

Clicking the shutter is only part of the fun of photography. Real picture pleasure lies in the use you make of snapshots after they're taken.

With camera at school, students record now-or-never scenes of classmates, the big dance, the game and fun times. A wise miss uses these treasured mementoes in albums, gift books or as greeting cards. Another clever method is to highlight her room with them.

Fashion a memento board, for example, of poster board, plastic tape and snapshots. Brighten an ordinary piece of poster board by trimming the edges with two colors of plastic tape in school colors. Include snapshots not only of school friends and scenes, but pictures of family, home and pets as well.

The actual arrangement is largely a matter of personal taste. But it is well to place pictures so the subject-matter faces towards the center of the board. A few enlargements here and there will serve as eye-catchers. Snapshots cut-outs also lend variety and interest. And all may be mounted quickly and easily with clear double-faced tape.

Intersperse snapshots with special class play programs, tickets to football games and dance cards for a real conversation piece.

As functional as it is decorative is a snapshot paperweight. Simply fill a 3½-inch square box with sand or clay. Seal all edges with strips of masking tape. Cut six 3-inch squares of bright colored paper and cover each surface, using double-faced tape to hold the paper in place.

For contrast and durability, work a strip of colored plastic tape around each edge. Selecting from around each edge. Selecting from your favorite large-sized snapshots of people, cut six faces. Fix one in the center of each square with double-faced tape. To protect these apply two or three coats of clear lacquer, allowing each coat to dry before applying

Expect Ike OK on Public Works

Bill Ignores President's Policy, but Veto Action Believed Fruitless

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Lawmakers expect President Eisenhower to sign into law with reluctance a compromise $1,206,748,549 public works money bill which ignores his policy against new project starts.

The Senate approved the measure late Monday by an 82 to 9 roll call vote. The bill earlier had passed the House.

Michigan's Democratic Sens. Philip A. Hart and Patrick V. McNamara voted with the majority.

The bill breached Eisenhower's budget by 30 million dollars.

The bill carries funds for planning or starting construction of 90 new flood control, navigation and reclamation projects. The President had proposed a $1,176,677,000 total which contemplated no new public works projects in the year which started July 1.

Lawmakers said the margin of victory for the bill indicated they could override any veto. The President's objection to the new starts stems from the fact heavy outlays of money will be needed in the future to complete the started projects.

The compromise was developed from a $1,177,177,000 House-approved bill and a $1,256,836,300 Senate version. The funds will finance work done for the project part under the supervision of the Army's Corps of Engineers and the Interior Department's Reclamation Bureau.

McElroy Will Attend Dedication of Lear, Inc.

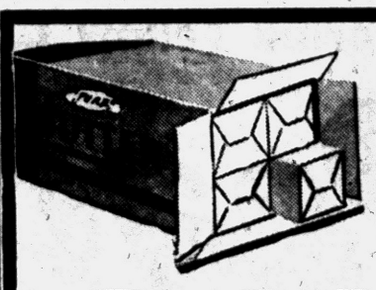

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Formal dedication of the new Lear, Inc., Instrument Division Plant Sept. 25 at Grand Rapids will be attended by Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Roy W. Johnson, director of the Pentagon's advanced research projects agency.

Johnson is scheduled as principal speaker. He heads an activity specializing in development and evaluation of advanced weapons systems and military projects in space science.

Lear vice president R. J. Benecchi today said the new five million dollar plant adjacent to the Kent County Airport employs 2,200 persons in production of precision components and systems for aircraft and missiles. It was started in May 1958.

Sale of golf balls in the U.S. has rocketed from about 16 million in 1940 to more than 34 million today.

Hal Boyle Says:

New York Friendly in a Crisis

NEW YORK (AP)—The world's greatest city prides itself on its hospitality, but outsiders sometimes call it a cold hard city, a city of eight million strangers.

"You could commit a murder in the middle of the street," they say, "and nobody would interfere. Nobody would want to get involved."

BOYLE

It is true New York is pretty much a let-you-alone city. It is teeming with eight million people pursuing almost as many separate dreams.

A city so crowded has to have a leave-you-alone philosophy. Otherwise they'd all be rubbing each other raw, hating each other's nearness.

But let trouble strike and the world's biggest city immediately becomes the world's biggest town, populated not by eight million strangers but by eight million buddies.

A sudden major trouble turns New York into one gigantic neighborhood with everyone trying to help the other fellow out. Broadway is then just like Main St.

This happened during the famous blizzard of 1888, as the survivors have been loquaciously telling us for 71 years.

It happened again during the famous 25-inch snowfall of 1947. Then cheery bus drivers even drove their lumbering vehicles down side streets to let passengers off in front of their dwellings so they wouldn't have to wade through sidewalk drifts.

It happened again this week when a massive power failure for a few hours left 500,000 people in upper Manhattan iceless, lightless, televisionless — and dependent on each other for company.

They shared meals, candles, small talk.

"Everybody was suddenly friendly," said one man wonderingly. "I never saw anything like it in the three years I've lived here.

"I got acquainted with the fellow who lives in the apartment adjoining mine. Nice guy.

"I went to a bar and sat next to a man I'd seen there a hundred times. All he'd ever say before was, 'pass the pretzles.' This time he was bubbling over with conversation, and we took turns buying the beers.

"It was a wonderful feeling. Now I think it might be a good idea if they turned off the electricity all over the city one night a month, so people would have to sit down and talk together and get to know each other."

Educator Quits in Disgust at Pay

Massachusetts U. Head Decries Senate Failure to Approve Hike

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI)—Dr. Jean Paul Mather, University of Massachusetts president for the past five years, Tuesday resigned in disgust over the legislature's failure to approve a faculty pay raise.

The move stunned educators who have watched Mather personally build the university into a first class educational institute during his tenure.

The resignation, not effective until June 30, 1960, brought renewed criticism of the state senate which last Friday rejected a bill calling for pay raises for the university's faculty members.

State education commissioner Owen B. Kiernan said he received the news of Mather's resignation with "profound shock."

Kiernan said he feared "many others" would follow Dr. Mather's example and the university would lose most of its top flight teachers.

Mather himself termed the senate's action "a doublecross of the first order.

The university's tuition fees were raised last year from $100 to $200 and Mather had expected the money would be used for the salary hikes. It would have more than covered the pay boosts, but the legislature dumped the cash into the general fund.

Gov. Foster Furcolo said Mather was "absolutely right in being disgusted. I hope his action will wake up the people."

4 Mountain Climbers Found Dead, 3 Rescued

SALSBURG, Austria (AP) — Four young European mountain climbers were found dead and three were rescued on the icy slopes of the 10,600 foot Wiesbachhorn near Salzburg Tuesday.

The survivors were frost-bitten and completely exhausted. Two of the dead were 19-year-old Austrian girls. Still missing were two climbers trapped by blizzards on the Tauern Mountains Sunday. Ground parties and helicopters took part in the hunt.

Teens Take Plunge . . . Find the Water Great

Hoisting the sails for a leisurely cruise is tricky business for this crew of young ladies, but they seem to know what they're doing. From left are Connie Olive, Diana Irish, Jeanette St. Louis and Carole McIntosh, and they all agree there's nothing more graceful than a trim sailing boat gently cutting the waves.

Pontiac Press Photos

Teenagers living in our Michigan Water Wonderland never want for exciting and invigorating summer activities. A favorite sport among outdoor enthusiasts is water skiing, and a surprising number of area young people have become quite proficient in this art. Here, from left, Butch Almas, Paula Shingledecker and Greg Leach form a nifty looking trio as they skim across Sylvan Lake.

Tutu, the poodle, even enjoys an occasional dip on muggy summer afternoons. Kris VandenBerg, left, and Carol Howerth have spent most of this sunny season at the beach developing their swimming skills. They've managed to acquire striking tans in the process, too.

Your Case Justifies an Excuse

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and as my fiancee's family is not too well off financially, the wedding reception is to be limited to members of both families. I am a member of a small club, and therefore whenever any of the members were married, the whole group received invitations to the wedding and reception and I am sure they are expecting the same from me. Since I will not be able to follow this practice, would it be in good taste to write a personal note to each one explaining the circumstances, and enclose it with the church invitation.

Answer: Although it is usually best not to make excuses, I think under the circumstances you describe, informal notes of explanation will be quite proper.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am in the midst of addressing my wedding invitations and there seems to be a difference of opinion as to the correct way of folding the invitations and inserting them into the envelope. Will you please straighten us out on this detail?

Answer: If the invitation fits into the envelope without folding, it is inserted with the engraved side toward you. A large invitation is folded in half with the engraving inside, and inserted folded edge into envelope first.

Dear Mrs. Post: I plan to be married at a seven o'clock evening wedding. It will be a simple wedding. Someone told me that a wedding after six o'clock requires guests to wear evening clothes. I definitely don't want this. Will you please tell me how I can make this fact known to my wedding guests?

Answer: Add at the bottom of your invitation, "Day Dress."

And as for the rules of water safety, the teeners we picture here seemed especially concerned about cautious boating. Hospital Club Elects President

E. K. Vanderlind was elected president of the Pontiac State Hospital Employes Club when the group held its reunion for retired and present employes Saturday at the Employes Park.

Other officers for the coming year are Clarence E. Hickmott, vice president; Newman Heatherington, recording secretary, and David DuVall, treasurer.

A cooperative luncheon was given at noon, after which Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind, outgoing president, introduced the new medical superintendent, Dr. Walter H. Obenauf, who spoke on the old and new treatment used to cure mental illness.

Committee in charge of the affair were former officers, Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind, Mrs. Newman Heatherington, Ida M. Ross, Mrs. Clarence E. Hickmott, and Mrs. Roy McKerricher.

Those present included Grace A. Miller and Hazel Shearer of Lapeer, Mrs. J. A. Hoffman and Mrs. W. E. Wightman of Metamora, Katharine Dwyer of Detroit, Agnes Lynch of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rubel of Utica, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clemens of Union Lake, and Minnie M. See, Irma Rutherford, Anna Creagor, Ethel M. Jones, Mrs. Glenn Burgess, Cora M. Harrington, Julia Fitzgibbon, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hickmott, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McKerricher and Mr. and Mrs. Newman Heatherington, all of Pontiac.

Others were Mrs. Ella Suppy, Lenore Leach, Jennie Cohassey, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Frasa, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan McVean, Rachel McKibben, Ida M. Ross, Mrs. Davy Gilpin, Barlett Wager, Mr. and Mrs. David DuVall and daughter, Janet.

Luncheon Fetes Miss Calhoun

Barbara Calhoun, bride-elect of Thomas Cross, was honored at a luncheon and bridal shower Tuesday afternoon by members of Mrs. Milo J. Cross' bridge club. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Robert J. Bannow of Bloomfield Hills.

Club members besides Mrs. Cross are Mrs. Vernon C. Abbott, Mrs. Bannow, Mrs. Glenn R. Brooks, Mrs. James A. Corwin, Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer, Mrs. Norman Kuijala and Mrs. Cecil McCallum. The bride's mother, Mrs. Eugene Calhoun, also was a guest.

Speaks Vows at Waterford

Janice Buttrey Married

Janice Marie Buttrey and James Seifert were married Saturday evening at United Presbyterian Church of Atonement in Waterford Township.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Buttrey of Waterford Township and Mr. and Mrs. John Seifert of West Bloomfield Township.

The bride was dressed in a floor-length gown of silk taffeta and Chantilly lace. The deep Sabrina neckline was outlined with scalloped lace, seed pearls and sequins and the full skirt, accented with lace panels formed a chapel train. A cap of sequins and seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white carnations and wore cameo earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Elizabeth Showers was maid of honor. Her dress was of yellow lace over taffeta and she carried a matching bouquet of feathered carnations.

Bridesmaids were Bonnie James of Waterford, Carol Heffner of Fenton and Sharon Spurlock. Their dresses were like the maid of honors' but in pink, and they carried cascade bouquets of feathered carnations to match the gowns. All wore picture hats.

Jennifer Gillson was flower girl. She wore a yellow organdy dress and carried a bouquet of matching carnations.

Danny Morris was ring bearer.

MRS. JAMES SEIFERT

Jack Seifert was his brother's best man. Ushers were Roger Gillson, Joseph Cronan, and Donald Higgins.

A lawn reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Seifert wore a two-piece white and tan dress with white accessories for traveling to Niagara Falls and the East Coast. The couple will live on Princeton avenue.

Same Way Girl Does . . . Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I would like to ask you if the man ever breaks the engagement? I am a man who is engaged to a girl I thought I loved. But I am finding out that she is very selfish, childish and extremely demanding in small matters.

ABBY

I am beginning to wonder what our marriage would be like.

I know I am not perfect, but her faults are becoming more and more evident as time goes on. She is talking about being married at Christmas.

I'd like to get out of it. But how? "JOHN DOE"

DEAR JOHN: A man breaks an engagement exactly the way a woman does. He simply finds the most tactful way of telling his intended that he's turning in the orange blossoms for a bachelor button. Far better to have a broken engagement than a broken home.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in defense of the "poorly dressed" minister. May I suggest that those in his congregation who are displeased with his shabby attire buy him a new suit? I am sure this minister would like to dress better but can't do it on his meager salary.

The prayer of many churches is: "Lord, keep our minister humble and we'll keep him broke."

If a pastor buys a new car or dares to live in a nice home, he is too "extravagant." If he doesn't, he's sloppy."

Perhaps another minister knows the answer to this. I do not.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going steady with this fellow for five months. I am 16 and he is 17. We get along very well—except for one thing. About three weeks ago he got fresh with me in a Drive-in. I immediately put a stop to it and bawled him out. He behaved himself for a little while, but a little later on he started the same thing again. I stopped him once more and told him he had the wrong girl. I like this boy, Abby, and don't want to lose him. What do I do if he tries it again?

GOOD GIRL

DEAR GOOD: (and if you want to stay that way, listen carefully): If he tries it again—you've got the wrong fellow. Three strikes and he deserves to be OUT! And I mean OUT of your life.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a husband, 60 years of age, who flirts with any woman or girl who looks at him? It is so embarrassing I hate to be seen with him.

Wherever we go he winks at the wives and guests and even the waitresses. At card parties, he stands up and walks through the crowd looking and winking.

I am tempted to leave him because his flirting is getting me down. He was never like this in our younger days. We've been married 40 years. Please give me some advice.

OLD FAITHFUL

DEAR FAITHFUL: After investing forty years in a marriage you certainly aren't going to leave a man because of a little winking and flirting! The old buck wants to prove to himself that he is still attractive. Bolster his ego a little and remember, if you feed a man well at home, he won't wind up in a restaurant.

Restoring Self-Confidence Is Slow Work

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Paul R. lives in a big city. Shortly before school closed, he was accosted on his way home by three big boys he'd never seen before. They roughed him up, broke his glasses, tore his shirt.

Until term's end, his father took him to school every day and his mother brought him home. Now, weeks after the attack, Paul's afraid to go to the corner alone. His mother writes, "Isn't it about time he was standing on his own feet again?"

Did you ever fracture a leg, Mrs. R.?

If so, you'll remember how gradually your doctor reduced its supports. First, there was the plaster cast. When your bone had sufficiently strengthened, he removed the cast and gave you crutches to hobble about on. After outgrowing the crutches, you used a cane for a while.

If your doctor had told you to walk before you had gained the assurance provided by the cast, the crutches and cane, you'd have felt as scared as Paul feels when you tell him to go to the corner alone.

When a child's self-confidence is fractured by a frightening experience, we remove our supports as gradually as doctors remove the supports of broken bones. But because the broken self-confidence is emotional instead of physical, we tend to see our support as "pampering." We wonder if we're right to hold him up instead of making him "stand on his own feet."

This is not reasonable. So I suggest that you make a plan to remove your support from Paul gradually.

When you want him to go to the corner, walk there halfway with him. Then wait until he returns to you. Next time he goes to the corner, let him walk the whole way alone — but wait on the sidewalk before your house so that he can turn around and see you there if he needs to.

If he has to go farther than the corner, go with him until his certainty that he can make the corner by himself is so firmly set that he can trust it beyond the corner.

Giving this support will only irk you if you doubt its wisdom.

So, if you're still unsure it's wise to give it, it might be a good idea to consult a psychiatrist. Like Paul, you may need support for your self-confidence — his assurance that premature demands on your child's fractured trust of himself are as foolish as premature demands on broken legs.

Plan New Pattern for Life in Midyears

RUTH MILLETT

"Grow old along with me . . ." says the poem.

Any wife who wants to do all in her power to make sure that her husband lives long enough to grow old along with her, ought to see that the two of them form a new pattern of living once they reach middle age and their children leave home.

First of all, she should try to ease her husband's financial burden if he still has his nose to the grindstone.

Trading a big house in on a small one could make it possible for them to lessen their house payments, taxes, heating bills, insurance, the cost of a cleaning woman, etc. Maybe can get by with one car, instead of two. Maybe the wife can get a job.

The wife should also figure out where her husband's energy is being wasted. Is he working long hours that are no longer necessary? Are they keeping up a social life that is more of a burden than pleasure or more from habit than anything else?

Is she expecting her husband to do things she could be doing, such as running errands for her, doing the family bookkeeping at night, looking after family business matters?

The jobs that a man assumes when his wife is busy with small children should be lifted from his shoulders when the children get older.

Then, too, a wife ought to encourage her husband to take brief vacations whenever he can. She shouldn't forget that her life has been made easier, automatically, by her children growing up. But her husband's life has to be made easier by conscious effort.

Still another thing a wife can do is to make sure that her husband gets enough sleep. If he comes home looking tired, she ought to put his health above other pleasures or conveniences.

There is a lot a wife can do to make life easier for her husband at the same time that life becomes easier for her, if she cares enough about him to plan a new way of life for the middle years.

Yes, you can increase the bust measurement with exercise. This exercise, slowly raising and lowering the arms with a weight in each hand, is from Josephine Lowman's leaflet No. 7. If you would like to have the leaflet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

Not Bust Itself

Measurement Increases

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Periodically I write about bust development and try to clarify the confusion in the minds of many women concerning this. A woman's physician may say, "You cannot develop the bust with exercise." I say, "You can increase the bust measurement with exercise." Both of these statements are true.

It is impossible to increase the size of the bust itself with exercise because there are no muscles in the bust. However, you can enlarge with the pectoral muscles which lie underneath the bust and this of course makes more prominent and increases the bust measurement. It is rather like wearing falsies under rather than on top of the bust.

CONTRACTION DOES IT

Another thing which is difficult to believe is that exercise can reduce or increase measurements. As a general rule, the contraction of a muscle, if done often enough, increases its size. It is the stretch of an exercise which is reducing. That is why I often advise you to be relaxed in executing some motion and ten tell you to reach and stretch when doing a second part of the exercise.

I want to remind you again that your posture has a dramatic effect on your figure and especially your bustline. Stand with one side toward a mirror. Slump forward, letting your bust more or less rest on your ribs. Now straighten your back and lift your rib cage. See the difference? Many an adequate bustline is lost in poor posture!

Regular special exercises can increase your bust measurements. I have seen this happen over and over again in my classes.

It's Rough for Feet Nowadays

By VIVIAN BROWN

When Mother Nature designed our feet, she obviously expected they could weather grass, earth and sand, but modern civilization has created a good crop of foot-resisting surfaces such as concrete, asphalt tile and hard wood.

Dr. Sidney Hirschberg, president of the Foot Health Foundation, explains:

"If you must stand all day as most women do for housework, marketing, picking up children, washing dishes at the sink and preparing meal, then you must observe the rules of good footing."

These are his timely tips to relieve foot ills:

1. Bathe feet daily. Dry them carefully and keep them dry.
2. Prevent athlete's foot by using a good powder between your toes and dust the inside of your shoes.
3. Cut the nails almost straight. Do not round the nails or cut them shorter than the flesh area.
4. Give immediate attention to wounds, blisters, skin eruptions.
5. Exercise the feet. It's a good idea to walk each day in good shoes, properly fitted.
6. Change shoes and hose daily to help relieve fatigue and excessive perspiration.
7. Avoid run-over heels, wrinkles in hose or shoe linings and other creases which may cause friction or pressure.
8. Children's feet should be examined regularly by a foot doctor.
9. Wear the right shoe for the right occasion. Foot trouble may occur when this is not done.
10. Foot health depends upon proper care of feet every day. At the first sign of foot disorders, don't do it yourself, see a foot doctor. If you work fast small corns and other foot blemishes may be corrected.

Gem Color Varies

Did you know that some garnets are green? And that others are violet and still others the yellow of topaz gems? It's quite true. The green garnets bring the highest price of all garnet types.

When They Start School

Change Kids' Rooms

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

When a youngster leaves the nursery behind and marches off to school, his room usually benefits from some "growing up" changes, too. He may need more light and space to practice "homework" and to entertain his friends. More grown-up furniture and a bright color scheme may be in order.

He's also ready, I think, to take over part of the responsibility of keeping his room in order. An attractive room with smooth, easily cleaned surfaces, a minimum of clutter and as much planned storage as space permits will encourage neater habits.

USE WALL SPACE

Skillful use of wall space can relieve pressure on the limited floor area most children's rooms have. For example, toy storage chests mounted on the walls free the space beneath for play. Desks, homemade or bought, can be bracketed to the wall.

New lighting fixtures which swing out from the wall and can be raised or lowered to put light where it's needed leaves chest and play surfaces unencumbered by perishable lamps. These come in many plain and fancy styles. Those with unbreakable metal shades are often favored for children's rooms.

If you plan to buy or make new furnishings, combine practicality with charm. This would seem the obvious course, but we've all seen some child's room weighted down with overscaled hand-me-downs or rickety chairs or fragile fabrics that show soil too quickly.

CAUTION CHILD

When a child has to be cautioned continually to be careful of things in his own room, the fault may lie in the furnishings. You can refurbish hand-me-downs with washable paints. You can rescale them by trimming off legs and mounting on flush bases. Or strip off excess trim and change fancy drawer pulls for simpler ones.

Light-scaled contemporary furniture can be adult-sized and still not overcrowd a small room. And you can expect it to last for years.

The value of washable furniture finishes, an absence of dust-catching areas and sturdy, colorfast machine-washable fabrics will not be as fully appreciated by the young occupant as by his mother. What he will appreciate are some of the simple changes that will speed him through the picking-up chores with fewer frustrations.

Fix his bed so that it is easy to make. You can take guardrails off a child's bed; mount a frame on free-wheeling casters so that it swings out easily from the wall; invest in a couple of contour sheets or remodel old straight ones so corners fit snugly. A tailored, boxed spread is usually easier for young hands to put in position than one that must be centered.

Arrange clothes closet so that he can reach and hang up his own things. In our case this meant lowering the rod and buying a few small-sized plastic hangers that fit small jackets and dresses better than slippery wire ones.

Eliminate outgrown or outworn clothes so that these don't take up valuable space in closet or drawers. I learned from my youngster that the reason he was reluctant to put clean clothes away was that the drawers were overcrowded. If he pulled hard to open them, they were apt to fall out.

Until we can buy him a bigger and better built chest, we fixed the old one by emptying the drawers of clothes he doesn't wear often to make room for those he does. We waxed the runners for smoother opening and closing.

This "Girl with the Gray Flannel" look is wearing a two piece outfit of cotton knit. The skirt is slim and tapering, the top is bound with white and has push up sleeves. May be purchased locally.

Time Is on Hands, Neck, Lapel, Etc.

Time gets a new dimension in the latest jewelry. One firm has come out with a collection of watches set in bracelets, fobs, necklaces, pins and cufflinks. Pins are shaped like roses, carnations, sunflowers, and peonies.

All snap open to reveal a watch. Timepiece, bracelets come in gold, trimmed with pearls, aurora stones, and charms.

Taking Troubles to Bed Nights?

As women mature, the lines around the eyes seem to multiply. Quite often it is because we take our troubles to bed with us and a sleepless night does little to clear away facial lines.

So, the first thing to practice is dismissing worries as much as possible. And during the day rest the eyes by looking out a window into the distance.

Aren't We Fortunate?

In the good old by-gone days, every homemaker dutifully set aside a day now and then for soap-making.

This operation was so important the first edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica — published in 1771 — carefully outlined the procedure for making olive oil soap. This was apparently the best quality known then. But after all the time and effort spent on this dismal chore, the best the Encyclopaedia could say about the results was that it "hath not a disagreeable smell!"

Well, aren't we lucky! We buy our soaps — and we can buy detergents, too! And we have a great variety to choose from, depending on what we want to wash. Finally, each of these products has a pleasant smell! Definitely, these are the good days right now for homemakers!

Pass These By

Some colors are difficult to wear in any season. Deep purple. Dark green. Very bright red. Electric blue. Deep pink. These are the ones to pass by no matter how much they may tempt you as bargains. They're baragins because other women find them hard to wear, too.

Looks Like Comeback for Vests

NEW YORK — East is east and vest is vest, and all around the country it looks like a big comeback for the good old vest.

In the last few years, about the only people who've worn vests are those with abnormally chilly stomachs and a few old timers with vest pocket watches. But, here we go again.

Vests that match suits are slowly drifting back. You'll see more this year than in the past few years and the expectation is that they'll be very popular within five years.

But it is in the realm of colorful, nonmatching vests that the fastest progress is to be seen. The vest (or, if you'd rather, the weskit) is a handy item and there's no question it's a handsome one, too.

Vests — to be attractive, must fit in nicely with both the slacks and the jacket. Coordinated outfits aren't merely sales gimmicks, they are definite styling musts.

FAD and FASHION

Good fashion sense doesn't just happen, it takes some careful planning.

Each year fashion introduces some new fad that (it is hoped) will become "all the rage."

Beware of these quickly dated fashion fads! Use them only in some small touches to keep abreast of time. Build your wardrobe of basic good looks as a lasting investment.

When the fad dies, replace it at once. How pleased you'll be to realize that your investment in it was small, that your wardrobe has not shrunk or become completely passe.

Chocolate Dessert Idea Shared by Teen Cook

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Betsy Winborn is a young lady of 14 years who has already learned a lot about cooking. She is interested in clothes, naturally. She loves to swim. Betsy lives in Romeo.

This recipe makes a pudding that everyone in Betsy's family likes. It will keep in the refrigerator in case you have any left after the first serving.

CHOCOLATE ICE BOX PUDDING
By Betsy Winborn

6 eggs
1½ cups sugar
3 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
3 squares chocolate
9 tablespoons cold water
9 tablespoons boiling water
¾ teaspoon vanilla
1 package lady fingers

Melt chocolate over hot water and let cool. Dissolve gelatin in cold water, then add to boiling water.

Beat egg yolks until thick and yellow. Beat in sugar. Add chocolate and gelatin to egg mixtue. Beat egg whites stiff and fold in.

Arrange in layers with lady fingers, using a square pan or a spring form. Chill until set. Serves 12.

Wedge Shape Needed

Today's make-up fashions call for vivid, well defined eyes and the shape and coloring of your eyebrows play an important part in creating this exciting new high-fashion effect, says a make-up authority.

Glamorous-looking eyebrows can be achieved with a professional touch if you make sure that the end of your eyebrow pencil is sharpened to a chisel or wedge shape instead of a point.

With a single-edged razor blade, make a flat, broad edge on two sides. Use the flat edges for over-all shaping and for filling in. To sketch in the individual hairs, use the sharp, narrow edges.

Groceries Come by Helicopter

Life Excitingly Different on Nike Island in Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—What's it like for a housewife to live on an island with a Nike missile in her backyard, her groceries delivered twice a week by helicopter and her children taken to school each day by launch?

"It's marvelous," Mrs. James Barnes, pretty young mother of four, told visitors to Angel Island in San Francisco Bay.

Her husband is a captain in charge of the Army's Nike site, one of 17 missile men living with their families on the 640-acre island. Some 100 unmarried servicemen also are stationed there.

Her house has eight bedrooms, five baths and one of the world's better views from the living room window.

Like other houses occupied by married members of the 2nd Missile Battalion of the 51st Artillery, it was built for officers of crumbling Ft. McDowell, whose 100-year-old buildings were once a teeming center of activity. The island has been declared surplus as a major Army base, but the Nike battalion occupies part of the old fort.

There are no private automobiles, schools, medical or shopping facilities on the island.

There is only one small well on the island and most of the water for drinking and other purposes has to be brought in by barge.

Ft. Baker is a choppy half hour's distance by launch.

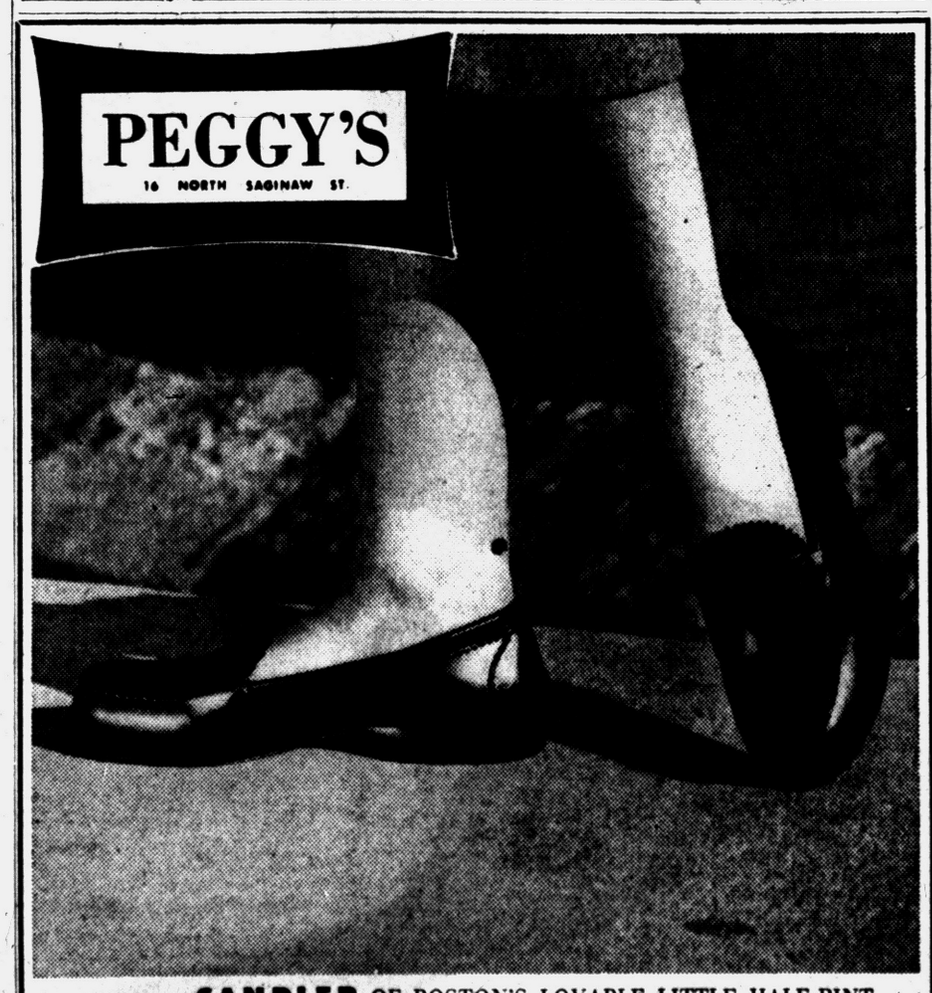

But deer roam the wooded island, wild flowers cover hills, and weekends and summer vacations are perpetual picnics for the 40 island children.

They can explore at will, and the swimming, fishing, boating and water skiing are excellent.

Their isolated Shangri La lies only a short way from another even more isolated San Francisco Bay island—Alcatraz, maximum security federal prison.

Medical science reports new success in inhibiting clogging of arteries with fatty-cholesterol deposits . . . in helping
PROTECT YOUR HEART
Fat-emulsifying properties of remarkable new LECITABS proven in dramatic laboratory tests*

Not a medicine, not a drug . . . but a sensational dietary discovery . . . safe LECITABS* may add years to your life by helping you protect your heart against strain in a scientific new way.

Although there is divided opinion among some Medical men, many specialists believe that the excess Cholesterol your body obtains from food may be a major factor in hardening of the arteries, in their premature and degenerative aging, in placing a dangerous strain on the heart.

Repeated laboratory tests prove that the remarkable new LECITABS* have important fat-emulsifying properties. Thousands of men and women take the LECITABS*-type of dietary supplement (after fat-rich meals) because they believe it helps control excess fatty-cholesterol in the blood stream. The LECITABS* plan offers these important advantages:

(1) Helps keep fatty cholesterol globules in suspension in the blood stream . . . giving the body a better opportunity to discard any unneeded excess;
(2) Has vital fat-emulsifying properties, serves an essential function in helping body to absorb, distribute and use fats;
(3) Inhibits deposit of fatty molecules on artery walls . . . to minimize choking of arteries with fat accumulation, a process which narrows their diameter so heart is placed under greater and continuing strain.

If your diet is lacking in Lecithin, if your blood stream is loaded with excess cholesterol as a result of fat-rich meals, if you want to keep your arteries young and flexible longer . . . try taking safe, tiny LECITABS* after every meal. LECITABS* are formulated from specially processed, highly concentrated, low-calorie, oil-free natural Soya Lecithin. Only $1.50 for a 15-day supply. Ask your DOCTOR about LECITABS* as an aid in lowering blood cholesterol levels.

Allowance Gives Child Experience With Money

By FAYE HENLE

How did Betsy get her hula hoop? How did Tommy get his?

I've made a survey in my neighborhood and in only a single instance did I discover that a small chap — a 5-year-old — bought his hula hoop out of the pennies he earned making his bed, three pennies a day.

Hula hoops become a fad. Our kids want 'em. We buy 'em.

Shouldn't children become conscious of the value of dollars and cents? At what age does this happen?

This is what I asked Allen M. Thomas, for the past 12 years director of the Graham School, Hastings-on-the-Hudson, one of this country's oldest orphanages.

Since the Graham School's aim is to simulate home life as closely as possible and since Thomas has used his money-handling philosophy with his own four children, I'm passing his tips on to you with the promise that this is the way I intend to rule my roost.

There is no pat answer as to when children are ready to understand the value of money and how to handle it. Yet the desire to own things, more things and better things develops early.

GIVE ALLOWANCE

Preschool years appear none too early to allow a child to share in the family's wealth by offering a token allowance that becomes the child's very own to do with as he chooses. However, at this time you begin to teach a child to save for something. Without a goal warns Thomas, saving becomes meaningless.

The day will dawn, he promises, when your youngster will have spent his pennies and will want more — more even than the amount he can and should be earning additional to his allowance. If he's old enough to understand, here is where you begin teaching him to use credit!

"If you are convinced his need is urgent and he can give you a repayment plan," Thomas says, "advance the money."

Our economy is largely based on credit. The earlier we teach our children to use credit intelligently the better, he insists.

How do you decide how much money a child should have? Age is a determining factor ruling the allowance. In senior high, you need more than you do in junior high.

HOW TO EARN?

How should the child earn additional money? Thomas doesn't believe that making beds or washing dishes should count. These are tasks children should be expected to perform, like brushing their teeth, h says. The amount of responsibility a child is able to assume should also determine what he earns.

At this point I can hear the hue and cry of "I don't want to raise my children the way they do in an orphanage."

I wholeheartedly agree. Yet there is nothing smacking of an orphanage in Allen Thomas' philosophy of teaching children, when they are ready and able, how to handle money. By adopting his thinking, you will be laying the groundwork for happier living in the future.

How have the Thomas children fared? Same as any other children would.

Elegance Is Easy

Cecil Beaton, England's famed photographer and stage designer, who is given much of the credit for the "return of elegance" in fashions and home furnishings, gave a provocative definition of elegance recently. "What is elegance?" he said. "Soap and water!"

This off-white three-piece outfit features a fitted suit and raccoon collared 7/8 length coat. The diagonal weave of the fabric creates texture interest. May be purchased locally.

Bloomfield Fashion Shop is a favorite with those who favor sports clothes. Arlene Dreyer of 3717 Wards Point Dr., Orchard Lake, has selected this sportswear coordinated by Country Set for her first days back at school. The gray, red and gold plaid sleeveless jerkin is trimmed with a fringe and the skirt is all-around pleated style. Her blouse is red cotton.

With Mascara

Encircle Your Eyelashes

Making up your eyelashes is an art which may be easily perfected, says a world-famed Hollywood master of make-up artistry. One of the secrets of this perfection, lies in encircling each lash with make-up.

Most women forget that eyelashes have two distinct surfaces — a top side and a bottom side. Therefore, they stroke the make-up upward on the upper lashes only, thereby missing the top of the lashes altogether.

Give your lashes that luxurious look by applying make-up to the top of the lashes as well. Then, as you separate them, the make-up will naturally flow around the sides of each eyelash. Finish, however, with the usual upward stroke, so the entire fringe will acquire the upward sweep. Encircle the bottom lashes, too.

Press as You Sew

Set up the ironing board when you uncover your sewing machine, advise clothing specialists. That will remind you to press as you sew. Each seam you stitch should be pressed before it is crossed with another seam, if you want a professional look for your finished garment.

Prosecutor Ziem Faces Huge Fall Docket

Big Criminal Case Load Looms

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said his staff is faced with one of the largest number of criminal trials to be seen in many years of fall jury terms in Oakland County.

"It will be a heavy load." Ziem said. He thumbed through a listing of pending criminal cases and came up with roughly 150.

His chief assistant, George F. Taylor, said, "At the rate were going we'll have 200 cases to dispose of when the jury starts." This will be Sept. 22.

Among the cases to be tried will be the conspiracy case against ex-convict Basil W. Burke and three others arrested a year ago accused of operating a large horse bet bookmaking ring in the Pontiac area.

Then there are the cases of Bruce M. Taylor, Pontiac butcher charged with assault with intent to murder an 18-year-old baby sitter he thought was his wife; Mrs. Edna L. Millican, Brandon Township housewife charged with manslaughter in the death of her husband; Harold E. Martin, accused of kidnaping and raping a 17-year-old girl; and Elmo Marshall, Commerce Township man held for manslaughter in the February shooting of his wife.

Ziem said Circuit Judges Frank L. Doty and William J. Beer will probably be assigned all criminal cases during the fall terms. Because Ziem does not have more than 12 assistants, and because the other three judges will be busy with many civil cases, only Judges Doty and Beer will handle criminal cases.

Leafing through these cases, Ziem found, as has been the case in past years, a predominance of sex crimes to be tried. Others involve checks, assaults, burglary, larcenies, arson, robberies, narcotics, bribery, gambling, carrying concealed weapons, appeals of lower court convictions, those involving auto accidents, negligence in boat operations and numerous miscellaneous charges.

Sends Huge Machine

DETROIT (AP)—A 20-ton broaching machine, believed one of the largest of its type in the world, is on its way to Germany from the builder, Detroit Broach and Machine Co. The $100,000 machine will be used on precision engine parts for a European auto manufacturer. It is being shipped by way of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Force Brando to Make Appointment to See Son

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—From now on, if Marlon Brando wants to see his baby son he'll have to notify his ex - wife in advance, says actress Anna Kashfi.

Miss Kashfi said Brando has been showing up unannounced at her home and "causing trouble generally." She will seek a court order to prevent the actor from visiting at unscheduled hours. The divorce settlement requires the actor to make advance arrangements before coming to Miss Kashfi's home to visit the baby.

Brando, 35, has agreed to pay his 24-year-old ex-wife more than half a million dollars in future earnings under terms of the settlement. He also is paying $1,000 monthly support for their son, Christian, who was a year old in May.

Polio deaths in the U.S. in 1954 were about the same number as in 1953.

Wants to Stop Nudist Traits of Mannequins

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Councilman Frank Addonizio has launched a campaign to improve the moral climate around unclothed female mannequins in store windows.

Addonizio said Tuesday he was preparing an ordinance that would make it a misdemeanor for shopkeepers to leave female dummies unattired in store windows.

There are certain people, Addonizio said, "whose minds can't handle the sight" of undressed plaster figures. He singled out boys 11 and 14 years old.

"Boys are most impressionable at that age," Addonizio said.

Senate Passes Housing Bill by Overwhelming Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—A thumping 71-24 Senate vote for a new $1,050,000,000 housing bill gave its sponsors encouragement today that the legislation finally would become law.

Both the final passage tally and the 68-27 margin by which the Senate refused to send the measure back to its Banking Committee were well beyond the two-thirds needed to beat another housing veto.

Indications were, however, that final congressional action on the bill would not come promptly.

The measure now goes to the House. Congressmen there who handle housing said privately it had been decided to steer the bill into the usual committee channels. Leaders have dropped an earlier plan to take the bill up quickly without sending it to committee.

There was speculation the measure might be sent to President Eisenhower in the closing days of the session on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), floor manager for the bill, said the President could not expect to get a measure that "meets his approval 100 per cent."

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind), senior Republican on the Banking Committee, declared: "If we want a housing bill, this is as good as we can get." He predicted any new veto would be overriden.

The bill carries authorizations for some new government-financed housing programs as well as for others which are out of funds. It also includes various liberalizations of the FHA mortgage insurance program designed to help private industry.

Can't Sell Ties Made of Kim Novak's Sheets

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Neckties made out of Kim Novak's lavender bed sheets are not selling very well, a neckwear manufacturer reported today.

Manufacturer Beall Ernst of San Francisco, who obtained the frilly bedclothes in an auction, said he is stuck with about half of the 200 ties he fashioned from them.

"We used to sell them for $10 apiece," he lamented to United Press International, "But now we've dropped them into our $3.50 class."

Plans Proceed for New Pro Baseball, Football League

Branch Rickey 1st President of Continental

New Prexy to Select Three More Cities to Third Circuit

NEW YORK (UPI) — The newly-formed Continental League, bursting with increased confidence as a result of president Branch Rickey's first meeting with baseball's top brass, turned today to its next big job, the selection of three more cities to complete the eight-team loop.

"All eight clubs will have a team on the field in 1961 without any question," said the 77-year-old Rickey, who was named yesterday as first president of the proposed third Major League.

The beetle-browed, cigar-smoking Rickey declared that his confidence in the new league's future was boosted by his meeting with commissioner Ford Frick and other top officials of organized baseball yesterday because "all my anticipations were fully realized as to their cooperation."

William A. Shea, the dynamic New York attorney who sparked the new leaguue as chairman of the founders' group, pin-pointed Rickey's first major task as league head when he disclosed that picking three more francise cities is "our very next project."

Five cities already are in the continental loop as "founding cities"—New York, Denver, Houston, Toronto, and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The three additions, which will be picked "on the basis of applications and further analysis" according to Shea, are expected to come from among Buffalo, N.Y., Atlanta, Miami, Seattle, San Diego, Montreal, Dallas-Fort Worth and San Juan, P.R.

A three-man group representing Atlanta was scheduled to discuss its case with Shea today. The group, composed of Chicago attorneys Robert Chatz and Jack Shaffer and investor Lee Stern, holds an option on the Atlanta franchise of the Southern Association for which present owner Earl Mann is asking $1,200,000.

"If the Continental League will operate by 1961—and it certainly looks as if it will—we want to make sure that Atlanta interests are represented," said Shaffer.

Even before the league's lineup is set, however, Rickey is moving on toward the solution of what has been called the new loop's biggest problem—where it will get the approximately 200 players it needs.

Rickey, president Warren Giles of the National League, and president Joe Cronin of the American League were appointed by Frick yesterday as a special committee to investigate this problem. Rickey lost no time in buttonholing Giles and Cronin and making a date for the committee's first meeting. (The date was not revealed).

Asked how long it will take the new league to have players on a par with the present major leagues, Rickey cited his personal theories that it takes "about 200 innings" to develop a pitcher to big-league grade and "about two years" for other players, and said the Continental League could be "entitled to an invitation to play in the world series," by 1963.

Rickey, Shea, and other backers of the new loop met with Frick, Giles, Cronin and club owners Tom Yawkey of Boston, Lou Perini of Milwaukee, Arnold Johnson of Kansas City, and Bob Carpenter of Philadelphia for seven hours yesterday.

BASEBALL HUDDLE — Representatives of the two Major Leagues huddle at a meeting with the new Continental League which yesterday selected Branch Rickey as its new president. Baseball commissioner Ford Frick and Bill Shea, of New York, the chairman of the new league's founding group are seated with Rickey. Standing are Gerald Moore of the Minneapolis-St. Paul franchise; Jack Kent Cooke of Toronto; Craig Cullinan of Houston; Walter Orr, New York attorney; Bob Howsam of Denver along with National League president Warren Giles and American League president Joe Cronin and Dwight Davis of the new league. The new circuit expects to be in operation by 1961.

Rivals of NFL Expect Price War in Drafting College Players

DALLAS (AP)—Lamar Hunt, the oil millionaire who's promoting the new professional football league, admits there could be a price war with the National Football League.

But he doesn't think it will happen.

"I think there will be reasonable men directing the clubs and that they'll not get into a price fight," said Hunt today in announcing that the new American Football League would hold a meeting here next Saturday and Sunday.

"The NFL got burned once when it had its war with the All-America Conference and it won't do it again," he said.

Competition will come in the drafting of college players. "There will be instances where both leagues will draft the same player," Hunt said. "Then it will become a matter of price as to who gets the player."

Attending the American League meeting will be Barron Milton, Los Angeles; Bob Howsam, Denver; Max Winter and Bill Boyer, Minneapolis-St. Paul; Bud Adams, Houston; Harry Wismer, New York, and Hunt, who will own the Dallas franchise.

Hunt said two more clubs might be taken in—Seattle for one if it gets a suitable stadium.

If Seattle gets into the league, another member will be picked from among Buffalo, Louisville, Kansas City, Boston and St. Louis, Hunt said.

Business to be transacted at the meeting will include drafting a constitution and by-laws, working out the first draft, scheduling and talking about who is going to be the commissioner. That person, said Hunt, will be an outsider.

Mossi Losing Mastery Over Yankees

New York KO's Tiger Southpaw in 3rd Inning

Yanks Conquer Him 2nd Straight Time; Detroit Bows to Ditmar, 5-3

DETROIT (AP)—The New York Yankees looked like the Yankees of old.

The Detroit Tigers — well, they looked like the Tigers.

Result last night at Briggs Stadium: New York 5, Detroit 3.

But the Tigers get a chance to redeem themselves tonight, and they have the greatest Yankee-killer of them all, Frank Lary, going against the New Yorkers.

Another reputed Yankee-killer, Don Mossi, lasted only three innings last night. He was pounded for all the Yankee runs and nine hits. After that, the defending world champions mustered only one hit, a fifth inning single by Tony Kubek off Dave Sisler.

Ray Narleski retired nine batters in succession and Tom Morgan got the side out in order in the ninth.

But the Yankees had already done the damage in the early innings against Mossi, who entered the game with a 5-1 record against the bombers this year. A single, a triple by Kubek and a double by winning pitcher Art Ditmar produced two runs in the second. Yogi Berra slammed a two-run home run, his 17th, and Hector Lopez hit his 16th with the bases empty in the third.

Ditmar needed no more support. He did need relief help in the eighth when the Tigers ruined his shutout. A single by Frank Bolling and another by Al Kaline behind Harvey Kuenn's double got two runs across.

Whitey Ford came in and retired Charlie Maxwell for the third out, then was damaged by Lou Berberet's 11th home run in the ninth inning.

Tonight at the stadium, Lary will face rookie Eli Grba and the Tigers expect anther crowd in excess of 30,000. Last night's turnout of 37,353 put the club over the million mark in home attendance for the 14th time in 15 seasons.

A total of 1,035,917 fans have witnessed the Tigers at home this season.

Moore Favored to Keep 'Feather' Title Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore risks his title tonight against the man he dethroned five months ago, Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria.

The 15-round, nationally televised scrap is scheduled to go on at the Olympic Auditorium, scene of the last encounter, at 9 p.m., EST.

It will be televised nationally via ABC, with this area for a 250-mile radius blacked out.

The 25-year-old champion from Springfield, Ohio, remained a 3-1 betting favorite to keep the rule of the world's 126-pounders in the United States.

Soft - speaking, hard - hitting Davey overpowered his 27-year-old rival and stopped him in 13 rounds in a brawl last March 18 that was a sizzler all the way.

Moore, with a record of 13 knockouts in his 36 wins in 42 fights, is rated the harder puncher. But the "king," as Bassey's countrymen named him, has stopped 20 foes in 67 bouts.

Bassey won the vacant featherweight title in 1956 when he stopped Cherif Hamia of France in 10 rounds. He successfully defended it when he knocked out Pajarito (Little Bird) Moreno of Mexico in three rounds.

Moore required only one round to shoot down Moreno and earn his shot at the title.

In their first fight Bassey held an edge until Moore started Bassey bleeding from cuts over the eyes and went on to win.

Moore was ahead on the officials' scorecards when Bassey's manager, George Biddles, had the contest stopped midway between the 13th and 14th rounds.

Inside the ring, the two are rugged gladiators. Outside, both are true gentlemen. Neither drinks nor smokes and both are proud papas — Davey of four, Hogan of two.

Davey's father, a brother and a brother-in-law are ministers in Ohio.

Observed Bassey, on hearing this: "I can understand the father praying for his son. But if he is a minister, perhaps he will say a prayer for me, too."

Of tonight's engagement, the deeply religious Bassey said simply:

"I take nothing away from Davey Moore. He is a very good, strong boy.

"But God willing, I hope to win the title again."

"I know Bassey will go all out," said Moore. "This might be his last chance at the title. But I hope to keep it over here a while longer."

The match will be scored on the 10 point "must" system — 10 a round to the winner, nine or less to the loser.

There is no return match agreement. Each fighter gets 30 per cent of the gate and television receipts.

Paycheck Comes From Reds, but He's Still Aiding Dodgers

Newcombe Back in Business

By The Associated Press

Don Newcombe is back in business helping the Dodgers along in a National League pennant scrap, even though his paycheck now comes from the Cincinnati Reds.

Big Newk, the big guy of the Dodgers' staff before he was "washed up" because of arm and back trouble, pitched an eight-hit shutout for the Reds last night, whipping San Francisco 7-0 and trimming the Giants' lead over second-place Los Angeles to two games.

The Dodgers, winning two in a row for the first time in more than two weeks, closed in with a 7-6 victory over third-place Milwaukee in 13 innings, beating southpaw ace Warren Spahn, the Braves seventh pitcher, for the fifth time this season.

That left the Braves four games behind the Giants, who open a two-game series in Milwaukee tonight while the Dodgers start a two-game set at Cincinnati against the sixth-place Reds.

Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 2-1 in the only other NL game scheduled.

Newcombe (11-6), winless for almost a month, walked none and struck out four while beating the Giants for the fifth time in six decisions this season.

The Reds won it quick, skidding the Giants to their fourth defeat in the last six games by scoring six runs in the first three innings. Gus Bell drove in half of them with a double and home run, his 19th, off loser Ed Fisher (2-4).

The Dodgers, booting away what was left of a 5-1 lead when the Braves scored an unearned run in the ninth, put it away when Wally Moon tripled and Rip Repulski singled off Spahn (16-12). It was Spahn's third relief chore of the year—and he's lost 'em all, dropping two to the Dodgers, who have a 30-14 edge over the lefty veteran.

Rookie Norm Sherry (4-2) won it, blanking the Braves without a hit for 2 2/3 innings in relief of Don Drysdale after Hank Aaron's second home run of the game, his 33rd deadlocked it 6-6 in the 11th. The Dodgers had scored off Spahn in the 11th on a walk, Repulski's pinch single and a sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Gil Hodges.

Duke Snider hit a two - run homer for the Dodgers, his 20th, and tied Ralph Kiner for third on the all-time NL list with 351 behind Mel Ott (511) and Stan Musial (409). Wes Covington also homered for the Braves, who caught the Dodgers in the ninth when Billy Bruton scampered home from first as Don Demeter dropped Aaron's fly to short center with two out.

The Phillies won it on Richie Ashburn's two-out single in the seventh, breaking a 1-1 tie and beating rookie Bob Miller (1-2). Jim Owens (9-10) went all the way for the Phils, allowing 10 hits but leaving nine on base, walking none and striking out seven.

Amateur Hockey Returns to Olympia Next Season

After an absence of nine years, Monday night amateur hockey is returning to Olympia Stadium this fall and winter.

All home games of the Detroit Junior Wings, the local entry in the Junior "B" group of the Ontario Hockey Association, will be held on selected Monday nights at the Grand River stadium.

A team to be composed of American boys only, the Junior Wings will be coached by Jimmy Peters, former Red Wing star and long-time National League performer with Montreal, Boston and Chicago.

Called the Border Cities League, the Junior "B" group is set up for four teams, and possibly five. Besides Detroit, cities represented are Windsor, Riverside and Leamington, all in Ontario. A possible entrant is Chatham, Ontario.

The opening game in Detroit will be Monday, Oct. 26. In addition to the Junior Wings' contests throughout the winter at Olympia, there will be other attractions as both doubleheaders and tripleheaders are planned.

A 30 or 32-game schedule will be played, depending on the number of teams in the league. This will extend through February when post-season playoff rounds are to be conducted.

Tryouts for the Junior Wings roster, limited by the OHA to 15 players 20 years of age or younger, will be held at Olympia this fall. Dates and times will be announced later.

Lotus 9 Unbeaten, Walls Forfeits Out

Hubert Walls Service forfeited for the 2nd straight night to be eliminated and Lotus Lake stayed unbeaten with a 5-3 victory over the Eagles in the Waterford National League lower bracket softball tourney last night at Drayton Plains.

Frank Emerson's double and Al Cuthrell's single broke a 3-3 tie in the 6th inning and gave the Lakers their winning margin. Bob Almas was the winning pitcher on a six-hitter, three by losing hurler Jerry Redman. Emerson made three of the winner's nine safeties.

Walls couldn't field a team and forfeited to the Waterford Merchants. The Merchants meet the Eagles tonight at 7 o'clock with the winner facing Lotus tomorrow evening at the same time for the consolation title.

Breaks Losing Streak

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Beecham of Miami, beaten his last four times out, scored an eighth-round technical knockout over less-experienced Leon Stewart of Atlanta last night.

Beecham weighed 157¾, Stewart 161½.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Tensed up swing!

DIAGNOSIS: Death grip!

TREATMENT: As I've often pointed out, the golfer who death-grips his club, like the baseball player trying to squeeze sawdust out of the bat, can hardly have the smooth type of stroke that golf demands.

The reason is that this death-gripping sets up muscle tension all over the body.

Conversely, the golfer must have a firm grip on his clubs; otherwise he can hardly hope for power and accuracy. So, the question comes up again of how hard to hold on to the club. I've often tried to come up with the right words to describe the amount of pressure you should apply in your grip. Maybe this is the answer:

Hold the club as you would a bird—hard enough to keep it from flying away, but not so hard as to crush it."

(The quotation is borrowed from a fencing master in a television play I recently saw, and I give him proper credit. But the description seemed so apt for golf that I wanted to pass it on.)

Lions to Face All-Stars' MVP Saturday

Browns to Use Bob Ptacek in Defensive Role

Ex-Michigan Grid Star Nosed Out Pietrosante for Honors

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Bob Ptacek, former University of Michigan gridder who received Most Valuable Player honors in the All Star game last week, and Nick Pietrosante, whom the Detroit Lions thought should have received the award, will meet as opponents Saturday night.

Ptacek was named the game's outstanding player in the Baltimore Colts' 29-0 rout of the All-Stars and he is now working in the camp of the Cleveland Browns.

Coach Paul Brown of Cleveland plans to use Ptacek frequently against the Lions in their exhibition meeting in Akron Saturday night.

Detroit, meanwhile will get its first look of the ex-Notre Dame fullback in a pro exhibition game, and coach George Wilson feels that Pietrosante could be the key to the Lions' offensive attack this year.

Brown will use Ptacek on the defensive unit which could bring about a head to head collision between the two highly rated All-Stars.

In Detroit's two pre-season games, Ken Webb and Danny Lewis have been the most productive gainers on the team.

Webb, a 205 pounder from Presbyterian College, is the team's top pass receiver and Lewis, from Wisconsin, is the top runner.

As the Lions prepare for their meeting with the Browns, other sophomores appear ready for vital roles. Among them are Alex Karras, Iowa All-America who is fast becoming one of the top defensive linesmen on the team, and Jim Gibbons, also from Iowa.

Gibbons was obtained from the Browns and was outstanding at the end spot during the later half of the season last year.

Another sophomore, defensive back Dave Whitsell from Indiana, has been groomed for steady employment. Along with Pietrosante, coach Wilson has high hopes for guard Mike Rabold and center Dan McGrew among the new crop of players.

The Browns are looking for ex-All-Stars tackle Francis O'Brien of Michigan State, guard John Wooten and end Rich Kreitling to give them a lot of help this year.

Tie for Low Net

Silver Lake Women's Golf league seldom escapes ties in some department of play in its weekly round, and Tuesday was no exception.

Mrs. Ed. Dalton and Mrs. Roland Gegoux tied for low net with 36. Mrs. Robert Gibson had 37. Mrs. Elbert Looney's 14 putts were low and she also won the blind hole (No. 3) with a five.

Redskins to Start Newcomers Against Rams

Rookies Shine in NFL Camps

From Our Wire Services

Rookies began dislodging some of the veterans around some of the National Football League camps.

In the Washington camp, coach Mike Nixon promoted tackle Don Lawrence of Notre Dame and linebacker Art Gob of Pittsburgh to the first team.

George Halas of the Chicago Bears praised rookies Gerald DeLucca, a tackle and linebacker Rommie Loudd.

Nixon also selected speedy Dick James to start at left half against the Rams this week and Bill Renfro was moved from defense to offense at left tackle while Jim Weatherall was shifted from offense to defense at the same position.

Bill Wade will open for the Los Angeles Rams at quarterback Friday night against the Redskins.

Wade, who led the passers in the National Football League last year with 2,975 yards, is said by Coach Sid Gillman to be a much improved player this year.

"He's 50 per cent better now than he was in 1958," says Gillman.

Also greatly improved is the Rams' No. 2 quarterback Frank Ryan. The former Rice quarterback saw little service last year as Wade fell only 63 yards short of Sammy Baugh's all-time season passing yardage. Ryan figures to throw many more passes than the 14 he threw in 1958.

There are 51 Pittsburgh Steelers hunting 35 jobs and the competition is getting hotter and hotter.

Coach Buddy Parker plans to use all his 51 candidates in Saturday's exhibition football game with the Chicago Cardinals in Austin, Tex., and in the Chicago Bears game in Houston, Aug. 29.

After those games major personnel trimming is expected in preparation for the start of the National Football League schedule.

Drills this week in preparation for the Cardinal game emphasized tackling on punts and kickoffs—weaknesses shown up in Pittsburgh's game last week against Cleveland. Pittsburgh won but Cleveland ran back punts and kickoffs nearly twice the distance of the Steelers.

The Steelers will work out Friday morning before flying to Austin.

Hugh McElhenny, San Francisco 49er mainstay for seven seasons, was moved Tuesday from his running halfback spot to flanker back.

Red Hickey, coach of the National Football League club, said he wanted to take advantage of McElhenny's ability as a receiver.

Hickey indicated strongly that Hurryin' Hugh actually will become a third running back. He played left end in five games in 1957 and was used sparingly last season as a flanker.

Hickey said Jim Pace, sophomore speedster, would replace McElhenny at left half if a knee injury is completely healed. Rookies Leon Burton from Arizona State at Tempe and Luther Carr from Washington will spell Pace.

The 49ers held a light workout Tuesday then later watched movies of Saturday night's Green Bay-Chicago Bear exhibition. Green Bay plays here Sunday.

K. C. Loses Playoff Opener to Bucs, 6-4

The Knights of Columbus, who ran away from all contenders during the regular season race in the Class A City Baseball League, find themselves backed up against the wall in their best-of-three playoff with the Pirates for the city championship.

After spotting the Knights a 1-0 lead in the 1st inning, the Pirates came on strong to take a 6-4 triumph yesterday at Wisner Field in the 1st game of their two-of-three tourney. To the winner goes the city Class A crown and a berth in the state tourney at Battle Creek over Labor Day weekend.

Perhaps idleness has hurt the K. of C. squad. The Knights sat on the sidelines waiting to meet the winner of the Pirates-Jets semi-final series and did not play a contest during that stretch, then Monday's scheduled opener was rained out.

At any rate, the Knights must rebound and beat the youthful Pirates in today's 5:30 p.m. game on the Wisner diamond or their easy romp to the regular season title will have been wasted.

The Pirates jumped on starting pitcher Don Picman for two runs in the 3rd inning, nicked him for another one in the 4th, then tallied twice in the 6th off Marv Caswell and once in the 7th against Terry Hoy. Picman was tagged with the defeat.

Following their 1st-inning tally, the Knights couldn't do a thing with Pirate hurler Larry Demrick until the 7th stanza when they staged a three-run uprising which was too little and too late.

Demrick allowed only four hits, two by Tom McCormick. The Pirates collected 10 safeties, two apiece by Bob Pearson, John Lucadam and Ed Estes.

One Local Softball Team Ousted, Others on Rocks

Pontiac and Waterford teams competing in the district softball tourneys are really having a rough time. After two nights of competition, no local club has yet to win a ball game.

Sno-Bol of the City League was eliminated by a strong Southfield squad last night in the Class AA district tournament at Beaudette Park. Southfield conquered Sno-Bol for the 2nd consecutive night, 3-2.

In the Class A district, also on the Beaudette diamond, Mt. Clemens handed Stadium Inn a 2-1 setback. Mt. Clemens got its crack at Stadium after Monday's loss to Southfield was turned into victory by the disqualification of Southfield.

Southfield was ordered to forfeit the decision for using seven ineligible players. The Southfield team will not compete in the tourney now because of lack of players, thus reducing the "A" event to a two-team bracket.

Buttercup Drive-In of the City League and Lakeland Pharmacy of the Waterford loop suffered defeats last night in the Class D district at Howell. One local team is assured winning at least one tourney start since Lakeland and Buttercup face each other this evening at 7:30.

Paul Davis made three hits and Noble Lee added two, but they weren't enough to keep Buttercup from dropping a 4-3 decision to host Howell. Martin was the starting and losing pitcher with Mondy working in relief. Lakeland was bombed by Southfield's representative, 18-2.

Danny Thomas was the winning hurler over Sno-Bol for the 2nd straight night, this time in a relief role, and he aided his own cause by socking a homer in the 4th inning to tie the score at 2-2. Southfield punched the winning tally across the plate in the 5th with Doug Hall absorbing the loss.

Gene Shell picked up two of Sno-Bol's five hits while Hall allowed six.

Mt. Clemens overcame a 1-0 deficit with single runs in the 6th and 7th frames as Jake Mazur, Stadium's top hurler, suffered a hard-luck defeat. Stadium made only two hits while the winners had five.

Stadium, with its back to the wall in the double elimination tournament, plays Mt. Clemens tonight at 7 o'clock at Beaudette. Once-beaten Casa Mia returns to action in the "B" district at Southfield at 6:30 p.m. while Spencer Floor Covering and Harrison's Grill make their district debuts in Class C at Mt. Clemens.

No-Hitter for Series

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — The Colt League World Series has produced a 16-year-old pitching sensation in Pittsburgh's Sam McDowell.

He pitched a no-hitter last night against Ontario, Calif., as Pittsburgh won 3-0. McDowell beat San Antonio, Tex., in the first round 1-0 with a one-hitter.

La Mesa, Calif., won the other game last night from Pensacola, Fla., 4-3.

Mrs. Hume Wins WDGA Tourney

Mrs. John Hume shot a three-over-par 82 yesterday for a three-stroke victory in the weekly Women's District Golf Association tournament at Plum Hollow.

Winner of many women's titles as Marjorie Row, Mrs. Hume put a pair of 41's together to pace the field of 62 players. Margaret Watkins took 2nd place with 44-41—85.

Only five other golfers managed to break 90. They included Mrs. F. L. Thompson 87, Mrs. Earl Heenan, Mrs. J. G. Israel and Mrs. Victor Ryden, all at 88, and Mrs. John LaBoskey 89.

Moyer Jabs Fullmer Into Submission

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Phil Moyer jabbed and hooked adeptly as he won a unanimous decision over Don Fullmer in a 10-round middleweight bout last night.

Moyer, Portland, Ore., weighed 158. His West Jordan, Utah, opponent came in at 157.

It was Moyer's 18th victory in 20 fights. He is the elder brother of Denny Moyer, who was beaten by Don Jordan in a welterweight title fight here earlier this summer.

It was the third loss in 25 fights for Fullmer, a younger brother of middleweight contender Gene Fullmer.

Top-Seeded Netter Goes to 3rd Round

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top-seeded Allen Tong of Los Angeles defeated Bill Reese of Pittsburgh 6-1, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4, Tuesday in a second round men's singles match of the 33rd National Public Parks Tennis Championships.

George MacCall of Los Angeles upset seventh-seeded John Bowers of Pittsburgh 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

Other men's singles results:

Lt. Bill Scarett, fifth-seeded, of the Indiana team, defeated Elam Huddleston, Louisville, 6-0, 3-6, 7-5 6-3; George Stewart, fourth-seeded, Washington, defeated Charles Karabell, Indiana, 6-4, 6-0, 6-0; Richard Potter, sixth-seeded, Detroit, defeated Billy Colbert, Pittsburgh, 7-5, 6-1, 6-3; Marsh Miller, third-seeded, Los Angeles, defeated Jerry Johnson, St. Louis, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1.

The Man Who FORGOT*

He was very careful about his health.

He brushed his teeth twice a day. The doctors examined him twice a year. He slept with the windows open. He ate plenty of fresh vegetables. He took brisk walks. He never smoked or drank. He did his daily dozen daily. He had eight hours sleep nightly. The funeral will be next Wednesday.

He is survived by 18 specialists, four health institutes, six gymnasiums, and numerous manufacturers of health foods and antiseptics.

HE DROVE AN AUTOMOBILE AND FORGOT TO TAKE IT EASY... INSTEAD HE TOOK A CHANCE.

*But he did belong to the Automobile Club, and the Club did not forget. His wife was paid his funeral expenses and his remaining medical bills.

Sports Talk Plentiful on 'Campus' of Baldwin

There must be plenty of sports talk during lunch periods on the Baldwin Rubber plant "campus" during these summer days.

The reason is that the South Boulevard firm has been employing several area coaches and former star prep athletes during the "vacation" period.

Personnel Director John Benaglio, a former teacher himself, says some 40 faculty members and students were hired for the warm months and the company has been pleased with the results.

Dick Whitmer, the former football and basketball star at Pontiac Central, has become a laboratory technician for the company. The others have jobs of a more routine nature in keeping production.

Little All-American Tom Taylor of Albion and PCH mat boss Steve Szabo are among the coaches on the payroll. Taylor will be taking over the grid reins at Clarkston soon. Waterford football aide Jack Fear worked a short time at Baldwin after school closed.

All-State quarterback John Lucadam, a four-sport athlete at West Bloomfield High, ex-Waterford cager Chuck Gillis, Ron Elmy, who played at St. Michael and later for Avondale, Lake Orion's Orville Cromwell, and former Avondale star Jerry Hill are some of the familiar names among Baldwin employes.

Lucadam will enter Michigan this fall. Cromwell will begin his 2nd year at Central Michigan.

Gary Acker, another boy who sparked Avon teams, worked most of the summer and is taking a vacation now before starting college at MSUO. Jerry Taylor, a former Walled Lake athlete now at Hillsdale, also worked there during the summer.

Older fans will remember Sam Minard as a coach at West Bloomfield High. He no longer coaches but will resume teaching following a summer at Baldwin Rubber.

U.S. Davis Cup Team Is Named

Bartzen New Member of American Net Squad to Meet Aussies

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — U. S. Davis Cup Captain Perry Jones will not name his doubles team for the Challenge Round until the day the team is to take on Australia.

"It will be a last-minute thing, probably just about an hour before the match," the 71-year-old nonplaying captain said yesterday after naming the four men who will defend U. S. possession of the coveted cup at Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 28-30.

Jones selected reliable Bernard (Tut) Bartzen, of Dallas, to replace Ham Richardson, who has withdrawn. Three other members—Alex Olmedo, Earl Buchholz and Barry MacKay—were on the team which last year upset Australia in the Challenge Round.

Australian Captain Harry Hopman named Neale Fraser, Roy Emerson, Bob Mark and Rod Laver.

Jones said he may use the doubles team of Olmedo and Buchholz, currently top-seeded in the National Doubles Tournament for the Davis Cup doubles.

Huron Classic to Form Friday

Huron Bowl Classic will hold its organizational meeting for the 1959-1960 bowling season this Friday evening at 9 at Huron Bowl's new location, 2525 Elizabeth Lake Road.

Captains of present teams, as well as those representing new teams applying for a franchise, are invited to attend.

Unattached bowlers with averages upwards of 180 who seek a team affiliation should contact Clark Balch, league secretary, at FE 2-0833.

Minor Leaguers Investigated About Gambling

OMAHA (AP) — Members of the Houston and Dallas teams of the American Assn. were quizzed during a 1½ day hearing here in connection with allegations of baseball gambling.

Philip Piton, assistant to Minor League President George Trautman, said Trautman had ordered a "full dress" investigation of reports which last month led to the life banning of one Chattanooga player and a year's suspension for another.

Piton and President Ed Doherty of the American Assn., questioned all members of the Houston and Dallas clubs while a court reporter took down testimony at the closed hearing which ended this afternoon.

That's Gerry Staley Who Locks 'Em Up for Chisox

From Starter to Relief Star

By The Associated Press

Time was when folks knew Gerry Staley as the starting pitcher who always just missed being a 20-game winner in the National League.

Now, as a reliever, he's become the Chicago White Sox' lock-up guy in their run for the American League pennant.

The 6-foot right-hander, two days shy of 39, helped push the White Sox into the largest lead of the year in the tight AL race last night, giving up just one hit in three shutout innings of relief for a 6-4 comeback victory over Baltimore and a 4½-game bulge over runner-up Cleveland.

Staley scored the winning run for the White Sox, breaking a 4-all tie in Nellie Fox's two-out double in the eighth inning. That hoisted the White Sox six games ahead of Cleveland in the lost column after the Indians had been clubbed to their fourth straight defeat, 11-4, by Washington.

The New York Yankees, 12½ games behind, broke a tie for third with Baltimore by beating Detroit 5-3. Boston tied Kansas City for sixth by defeating the A's 5-4.

Staley, who won 19 for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1951, 17 in '52 and 18 in '53 before being peddled first to Cincinnati, then the Yankees and finally the White Sox, now has a 6-3 record with a 1.48 earned run average for his 85 innings in 49 games.

And while he's paired with Turk Lown as a two-man relief crew that hasn't been beaten in two months, Staley's become the No. 1 clutch guy of late. He's put away a 4-0 record, plus four saves, and allowed only two earned runs during a 28-10 drive by the White Sox that began July 5, when they were second, two games behind the Indians.

Staley came on in the seventh last night with the White Sox, who had blown a 2-0 lead behind Early Wynn, trailing 4-3. A single by Luis Aparicio, Jim Landis' double and a sacrifice fly by Sherm Lollar squared it 4-all in the seventh against losing reliever Jack Fisher (4-0).

Then the Sox put it away when Staley walked with two out in the eighth, Aparicio singled for his third hit and Fox smacked the double.

Wynn, who had pitched two consecutive three-hit shutouts, gave up six hits and all four Oriole runs in four-plus innings. Rookie Ken McBride and Staley then combined for a two-hit relief job with Staley walking one, striking out four.

Jim Baxes' 13th home run gave Cleveland a 3-1 lead in the fourth inning, but the Senators then walloped across six runs in the sixth against loser Jim Perry (8-5). Lennie Green counted three with his second home run and Roy Sievers scoring two with his 17th.

The Senators finished with 17 hits while Russ Kemmerer (7-12), winning his second straight after dropping six in a row, gave up nine hits for his first complete game since June 28.

Gene Stephens' sacrifice fly did it for Boston in the ninth after the Red Sox had blown a 4-0 lead. Mike Fornieles (3-2) won with Ray Herbert (10-9) the loser, both in relief.

To Promote Return Match

Dempsey Enters Ring Scene

NEW YORK (AP)—An old-time promoter was back in the fight game today to help solve some of the confusion surrounding the heavyweight championship.

You may remember the name—Jack Dempsey.

The Manassa Mauler, now 64, was hired yesterday as promotional director and adviser to the embattled Rosensohn Enterprises which still hopes to stage a return world heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson Sept. 22. Johansson won the title from Patterson June 26.

Dempsey has been out of the promoting dodge for a long time but he had a couple of good ones in his day. His last one was the Max Baer-Max Schmeling bout in 1933. A couple of years before that he handled the Baer-Paulino Uzcudun battle in Reno.

When Tex Rickard died suddenly in 1929, Dempsey took over the job of running the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling fight in Miami.

And, of corse, Dempsey had some experience in the ring. This new job is a salaried post for the ex-heavyweight champion and he emphasized that he has no stock in the corporation.

"I have accepted this job because I believe somebody has to do something to restore the public confidence in what I believe is the greatest of all sports," he said.

"I did not take the job until my legal advisers assured me the men running the organization were upright characters, men of integrity with whom I could be properly associated."

He was referring to Vincent Velella, president of Rosensohn Enterprises and Irving Kahn, head of TelePrompTer, which holds the rado, television and movie rights to the fight.

Right now Velella and Kahn could use some help. They want to stage the fight in exactly four weeks and six days. But they have:

1. No site.
2. No champion.

The company has had its promoter's license suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission because of "statements" made by Bill Rosensohn, ex-head of Rosensohn Enterprises in a magazine article.

As for Johansson, he said in another magazine article that there probably wouldn't be a fight because "I can't fight Patterson and the mob, too." He didn't explain the mob. Furthermore, he said, he hasn't collected for the first fight yet.

Along the Outdoor Trail

With H. GUY MOATS

Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

HANDY LADDER — For the fair-sized motorboat, here's an invaluable piece of equipment, for emergency use, as well as for use in permitting swimmers to enter and leave the water, from the boat. The aluminum ladder hooks over the coaming, can be stowed easily on hooks under the side deck.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN
Syndicaeted Boating Writer

Some time you may find yourself in the water intentionally or not, and faced with the problem of climbing back aboard. Where the freeboard is low, it's not much of a trick to grab the rail with both hands, pull yourself up with a husky heave augmented by a flutter kick with your feet, then straight-arm yourself over the rail, bending at the waist and throwing your weight inboard.

Now hunch yourself inboard if it's a flat deck, or get a leg over the gunwale if it's an open boat.

When the freeboard is so high you can't reach the rail, the problem is more difficult, although big sailboats with bowsprits can be boarded easily by getting a foothold on the bobstay where it is shackled to the stem and hoisting yourself up on the bowsprit.

All this stresses the importance of having a boarding ladder rigged before you go swimming, or of having someone aboard who can put the ladder over for you when you need it.

The older style rope ladders with wooden steps had the advantage of stowing easily, but they had a tendency to swing under the hull when you put your weight on the steps to climb.

The new lightweight aluminum alloy ladders which hook over the rail have stand-off feet with rubber cups at the ends for keeping the ladders vertical when in use. They can be had in a choice of lengths.

I have one of these and keep it hanging on a pair of hook holders in the cockpit, under the deck on the port side. It's out of the way, yet ready for use.

Large power boats can use the familiar handsome mahogany transom ladders kept folded in place, and lowered when needed by disengaging two hooks.

For those who don't want the transom cluttered up with this much gear, simple steps of small size can be obtained for attaching to the transom. These are castings with slots so they can double as hand holds. Several are placed in a vertical row to offer a permanent and inconspicuous means of boarding.

Still another idea I have seen used to advantage is to provide a curved platform just above the water line on the transom. This serves as a permanent boarding stage and a handy base of operation for the job of freeing the propeller and rudder from fish nets should this be required.

Short Duck Crop Brings Shorter Season in Michigan

Just as most observers of waterfowl shooting in this state had feared, following a bad nesting season in the Canadian waterlands, this fall's duck season has been shortened, in line with federal recommendations.

A poll of a majority of the State Conservation Commission, made first of the week by commissioner Gerald B. Eddy indicated the state would have a 40-day season on ducks, starting on the federal-set Oct. 7 date and running to Nov. 15.

General leaning towards the 40-day season, instead of a 50-day period, with a slimmer bag, as an option, means the shorter season will permit a larger daily bag of four ducks instead of three under the option.

The Interior Department said at Washington that the rules this year are the most restrictive for duck hunters since 1947.

Basic regulations are unchanged for taking geese or coots.

Only one canvas-back, or one redhead, or one ruddy duck may be included in the bag or in possession. One of these three may not be included in a subsequent bag as long as the hunter has one of them in possession. Last year the limit on "cans" and "reds" only was two per day and four in possession.

BITE SIZE — Seven-year-old Phillip Schultz waits hopefully for a nibble while competing in a junior fishing contest in the lake in New York's Central Park. Boys and girls between 6 and 15 are eligible.

Cloudy Waters Hold Up Hunt for Derelicts

Heavy rainfall last weekend proved a solid barrier for Jack MacKay and his scuba-diving teammate, Barry Tuttle, in their search for the mysterious "one-only" Gar Wood speedboat that reputedly lies somewhere on the bottom of Deer Lake.

The pair recently recovered a slim craft once owned by the Ed Miller family (long ago residents of the lake area). They were disappointed when it proved to be other than the Gar Wood creation, which belonged, so the story goes, to a man named Noble.

So, with good conditions this weekend, MacKay and Tuttle will begin their intensive search along the northeast "deeps" of the lake.

Maurice Miller, 46 East Longfellow, whose brother Harris Loren Miller and a friend, Don Beamer (both now in California), bought the unfinished hull (of the recovered boat), hauled it from Loon lake, and completed it, got a kick from the story about the craft.

"That was all true what you said about it," Miller commented. "It was really a fast boat with that big Kissel motor, but the engine nearly shook it to pieces, and my father was smart to cut it loose and let it sink. Every time it ran we were afraid it would run right down to the bottom. It was only out of water about six inches at the sides."

Busy Season Ahead for Bear Hunters

BRIMLEY — The Bimley Commerce Club and officials of this picturesque village in the heart of the Upper Peninsula bear country are making plans for a record turnout of hunters for the special U.P. bear hunting season, Sept. 1-15.

The first hunt under the sponsorship of the Michigan Bear Hunters Association will be held Sept. 5-6-7. Alex Van Luven, the famous bear hunting guide after whom the hunt is named reports more bear in the area than at any time in his memory.

Boston Terrier Match Set for This Weekend

The public is invited, particularly dog fanciers who have already garnered points towards yearly trophies for Boston terriers, for the weekend match at VFW Hall, Ferndale. The match is under auspices of the Boston Terrier Club of Detroit, and doors will be open at 1 p. m.

Trophies will be on display at this event, for puppies 8 weeks to 12 months old. It is an AKC sanctioned affair, with trophies for the usual classes, ribbons for best-in-match and best-of-opposite-sex.

Mrs. Lavinea Hamacher of Detroit is the judge and judging begins at 2:30 p. m.

What Happened to Land Deal With Air Force?

LANSING — The Conservation Department is attempting to iron out a proposed exchange of state and federal lands which was recently shelved by the U.S. Air Force.

Department Director Gerald E. Eddy telegraphed Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker last week to determine why Michigan's request for 55 acres of surplus Coast Guard property at Sturgeon Point had fallen by the wayside.

The proposed exchange dates back to a year ago when the state became interested in the federal lands. This 55-acre tract features 900 feet of frontage on Lake Huron and wooded lands suitable for a state park.

Widing Team Takes Au Sable 'Dry Run'

Getting the final "bugs" out of their new racing canoe, Holly's nationally known brother team of Albert and LeRoy Widing, Tuesday made a "dry run" on the Au Sable river. The run was a sort of preliminary for the big race, from Mio to Oscoda, Sept. 5-6.

The Holly paddlers were 3rd in the marathon, last fall, are optimistic over their chances this time, particularly because the new craft appears much faster, easier to handle, than the canoe used in 1958. They raced it for the first time in last weekend's Caseville run. They were delighted with it's performance and said it needed only a little work to make it "perfect."

Visiting Angler Shows How to Land Big Ones

By The Press Outdoors Editor

A visiting fisherman from Tennessee this week gave the Oakland county Waltons something to think about, when he dragged a near-seven-pound large mouth bass from an area lake.

Former Pontiac resident John Daniels, now living in Johnson City, Tenn., where he says the bass—and trout—really assume huge proportions, captured the biggest bass to be reported in the area this summer. But, because he is not an Oakland resident, his lunker did not qualify for The Press Big Fish Derby.

SIX-POUNDER STILL TOPS DERBY

A six-pounder is the current derby leader in the bass division. The derby is now bearing into the final three weeks, with still plenty time to enter one of those lunkers, like that one Daniels took at White Lake. Incidentally, last year's champion bass also came from White Lake.

Daniels' fish was 21½-inches long, went 6-pounds, 12-ounces. It fell for a deep-running, noisy lazy-dazey lure. When it hit, Daniels said the lunker shot to the surface, erupted in a big froth, and then hustled for the bottom. It is his biggest bass, said the Tennessee state employe, a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daniels, 3302 Highland Ct., Highland.

County anglers are reminded there are some gilt-edge $50 U.S. Savings Bonds, waiting for the one who enters the heaviest bass, either large or smallmouth, the heaviest bluegill (tops is now a one-pound, 4-ouncer) and the heftiest northern pike (leader is 9¼ pounds).

Full time county residents only are eligible and all fish must be taken by hook and line, from county waters. Contest ends Labor Day, Sept. 7.

GOTTA TEASE FISH DURING DOG DAYS

Wise fishermen say that fish are hard to fool, or just don't want to cooperate during the August dog days. One veteran suggests a few ways in which fish may be teased into hitting your lures.

Use noisy surface plugs of comparatively small sizes in or near weed areas in early mornings, or at dusk or later. Seek "cool spots", areas of floating vegetation (duckwort, or lily pads). Bass like to lie under such areas, and often will give surprising action when a lure is dragged slowly across the surface of the area.

Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn. has lost one of its valued and long-time officials. Herb Harvey, former Pontiac resident and secretary for M-L since 1954 has resigned. Herb, after retiring from Pontiac Motors this summer, has moved to North Carolina.

The Multi-Lakers have set Oct. 11, as date for their annual fall stag day gathering, known colloquially as "the hunters brawl." It will be held at the clubhouse, with Stan Tusan the chairman.

RATTLERS FOLLOW FOOD SUPPLY

Apparent unusual prevalence of rattlesnakes in many Michigan areas, says the MSU zoologist, Phil Clark, probably stems this fall from the recent "explosion" of frog populations from swamp sections. The only poisonous Michigan reptile ordinarily hides in the swampy areas where the frog is its main food supply.

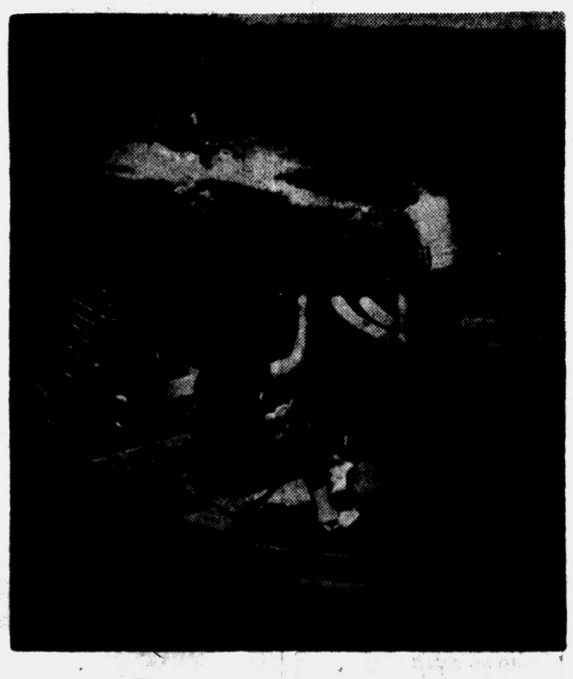

Recent heavy rains sent the frogs to higher land, and the rattlers simply followed, if they wanted to eat. The state, Clark says, has more of the reptiles than most persons realize. Oakland county has its share, but only the normal reports of occasional snakes have been heard this fall.

More than 400 police and sheriff's officers are expected to shoot in the Sept. 10 annual state pistol tourney in Jackson. Pontiac and Oakland county has usually been represented at this event.

Hunter safety classes will be held under MUCC auspices during September, according to plans announced this week. The conservation group has asked Governor Williams to proclaim a gun safety week during the month. There never can be too many opportunities to stress the safety factor in handling firearms.

DANGEROUS — The situation illustrated above may seem cute, or daring to the waterways "whiz" and his companions, but it is actually a dangerous and unnecessary stunt, one that has been too often reported on Oakland county's myriad lakes. The "water cowboys" not only spoil the fun of others, but what is more important, they invite accidents. Boaters and water skiers should always keep a safe distance from swimmers, fishermen, and other boats. The county's sheriff water patrol, and other safety agencies are doing a good job checking such tendencies. Most motorboaters are careful, but there are still some "hot rodders" who need checking up.

U. S. RIFLE CHAMPS — A blonde, 18-year-old Allen Park, Mich. model and MSU coed, Lenore Jensen favored marine sergeant Walter Kamila, 22, of W. Los Angeles, with an engaging smile after they emerged as U. S. smallbore rifle champions at the big shoot at Ohio's Camp Perry. They competed in a field of some 600 in the recent 4-day event. The sergeant is the 1st serviceman in 40 years to win the event.

Scientists Study Fatal Duck Disease

PELLSTON — Two scientists at the University of Michiga Biological Station near here are working on a "fowl" disease, frequently fatal to ducks.

They are James H. Barrow Jr. (Ph.D.), who during the academic year teaches biology at Hiram (Ohio) College near Cleveland and Jack Stockton (D.V.M.), associate professor of microbiology and public health, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The malaria-like disease they are studying is caused by a protozoan organism named Leucocytozoon.

Ultimately their research may lead to ways of helping to protect the economically important ducks from the infection. At present, the researchers feel the disease is one of the major limiting factors on both domestic and wild duck populations in the general region of the biological station.

The disease has an unusual mortality rate of over 50 per cent. Professor Barrow says that Emmet and Cheboygan counties have been particularly hard hit.

Direct transmission of the disease from duck to duck does not occur," Professor Barrow continues, "As in malaria, an insect intermediate host is required. Current evidence indicates that black flies are primarily, if not entirely, responsible for the spread of the disease."

At the station, ducks acquire the disease by natural means. They are placed outdoors in cages and become infected.

Since Professor Barrow's work on the disease began three years ago, about 100 ducks, 35 geese, 65 pigeons, 35 chickens and six turkeys have been exposed to the disease. Of these, only the ducks have shown evidence of being infected — and all of them have been afflicted.

Geese examined at Seney National Refuge, about 150 miles north of the station, are known to be infected, however, and natural infections with Leucocytozoon in turkeys, chickens, and certain other birds have been reported in various parts of the country.

Infected ducks that die usually do so within 10 days to two weeks after infection. Those ducks that recover are slower in developing than non-infected ducks, Professor Barrow notes.

The two biologists are trying to find whether the same species of Leucocytozoon infects all known infected species of birds. So far, there is evidence which leads them to believe that different species are involved.

Slingshot Experts Demonstrate at M-L

Members of Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn., have arranged for an interesting demonstration of slingshot marksmanship, at tonight's meeting at the Reed's Lake clubhouse.

Roy (Red) Ollis and Don Moyer of Western Wayne Sportsmen's Club, will present the demonstration as a feature the M-L father and son night. Both "slingers" are members of what is said to be the only state sports group sponsoring a slingshot team.

Announce Winners of Bow Carp Test

Michigan Bow Hunters Assn. has just announced the winners of its recent archery carp shooting contest, in which the top award went to James K. Bell of Schoolcraft, Mich. for a 36-pound, 13-ounce entry.

Other winners were: women, Ronna Vezane, Inkster, 13-pound, 10-ounce fish; boys, Ricki Vezane, 16-pound, 2-ounce; girls, Sandra Linde, Detroit, 28-pound, 8-ounce.

The MBHA is now planning its deer silhouette shoot, for Midland, on Sept. 26-27.

300 Citizens Urge Rezoning in Addison Twp.

Want Industrial Plant on Pelizzari Property

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Petitions signed by some 300 township residents asking that favorable consideration be given to the request for rezoning of 40 acres of the Charles A. Pelizzari property were presented at last night's Zoning Board meeting.

The Ferndale manufacturer had previously withdrawn his application for permission to build a small industrial plant in Addison Township because of the "antagonistic attitude of several people at two public hearings on the matter.

He wanted the parcel rezoned from agricultural to light manufacturing.

The petitions presented last night cited the fact that the signers "wish to see the township grow industrially and residentially" and that they favor industry coming in.

"Only a small minority were opposed to putting the factory on the Lake George road site," spokesman Hiram Terry said. "These petitions tonight represent a majority."

Pelizzarri, head of R. O. W. Sales Co., manufacturer of windows for national distribution, was asked if he would reconsider his withdrawal.

He said he appreciated the petitions but couldn't say that it would change his company's decision.

"I'm pleased to see how many would like to have industry here," he said, adding that in view of the signatures, he would talk it over with his associates.

"We may have information on our next move in the next week or so," Pelizzarri said.

TABLE REQUEST

The Zoning Board had tabled action on the rezoning request until it could incorporate proposed changes in the building code or zoning ordinance.

Last night Board members unanimously approved revisions of the zoning laws as they apply to industrial districts. The revisions are:

Under Industrial I Districts classification, light manufacturing will be permitted if the trade, industry or activity is "not injurious, noxious, offensive, or hazardous by reason of odor, dust, fumes, smoke, noise, fire or explosive danger or because of being unsightly."

There will be no foundries, boiler works, hot forging presses or machines causing vibration displacement exceeding .003 of one inch as measured at the property line, the ordinance provides.

Also, that measurable noise from regular operation shall not exceed 70 decibles at the property line.

Prohibitive uses listed include tanneries, slaughterhouses, stock yards, junk yards and refuse dumps.

SET REQUIREMENTS

The same uses will be permitted in Industrial II Districts with limitations of vibration displacement of .008 inch and operational noise not to exceed 80 decibles at the property line.

Buildings in both districts "shall be of permanent and fireproof construction not more than 35 feet high and shall comply with all applicable laws relating to health, sanitation and safety."

A parking area must be provided and green belts will be required. These green belts or buffer zones "shall parallel all public roads to the width of the industrial property and must consist of evergreen trees and shrubs to be maintained in a healthy condition to a width of not less than eight feet."

Plants or industrial buildings may not be located closer than 200 feet from the center of previously existing roadways and shall not be closer than 300 feet from any previously existing residence unless the owners of the home write to the Board of Appeals for a waiver of this set-back provision.

Zoning Board Chairman Richard A. Young said, "I think these revisions are reasonably complete. The next move now is to have a public hearing. Then we will present our recommendations to the County Planning Commission which in turn will give them back to the Township Board for final approval."

When several spectators asked if the Zoning Board could pave the way for further consideration of the Pelizzari request, the chairman explained that the Board had not acted on the request originally and that as long as it had been withdrawn, the next move was up to the manufacturer.

PLANS TO CONSOLIDATE

Pelizzari had told residents and the Board in previous sessions that he planned to consolidate three Detroit area corporations under one roof on the Addison Township property.

He said a buffer zone was included in his specifications and that the building would be of cement block, brick and steel construction.

"Altogether," he said, "the plant would have involved expenditures upward of one half million dollars in Addison Township."

Residents at previous hearings had protested the "spot rezoning" saying they were concerned about noise, traffic, vibrations and other factors as they affect the safety, health and well-being of the whole community.

Action on another request, presented by Richard H. Wingett for a zoning change to permit him to process used cars for parts and scrap was tabled pending passage of the new industrial revisions in the zoning law.

Oak Park Twirler Is International Baton Winner

An Oakland County drum majorette won first prize yesterday in international baton twirling competition at Russells Point, Ohio.

Sharon Shutty, 16, of Oak Park, won the senior championship (age 15-22) as the best in a field of 32 contestants entered in the ninth International Majorette Contest.

Runnerup in the senior division was Joyce Burns, 18, of Lincoln, Neb., while "Miss Majorette of Canada," Joan Lounsbury of St. Catherines, Ont., was third.

Betty Jo Noble, 12, of Albuquerque, N.M., topped 50 competitors to win the junior class (age 12-14).

The contest will continue through Saturday with team championships to be decided Thursday. Selection of the Majorette Queen and Princess of America Saturday will conclude festivities.

SUSAN FAYE AEMISEGGER

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad C. Aemisegger of 435 Hillview Lane, Oakland Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Faye, to Michael A. Savino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Savino of 1243 Christian Hills Dr., Avon Township. An Oct. 24 wedding is planned.

White Elephant Sale Set Friday at Rochester

ROCHESTER — The Men's Club of St. Paul Methodist Church will sponsor a white elephant sale Friday, beginning at 7 p.m., at Houghten's used car lot, 528 N. Main St.

Articles to be offered for sale will include clothes, toys, furniture and antiques. Persons who have serviceable items to contribute are asked to call or bring them to the church office.

Sandwiches, hamburgers, goodies, soft drinks and coffee will be available at the snack bar set up on the lot.

Witness Tells of Phone Threat

Youth Saw Fatal Crash on Woodward, Says He Feared to Report

ROYAL OAK — A Berkley teenager who has been sought as a witness by Royal Oak police has admitted that he saw the fatal accident on Woodward avenue last Friday night but said he had not come forward before because of two anonymous telephone calls he had received warning him to "keep your mouth shut."

The 16-year-old youth said he witnessed the three-car collision on Woodward at Warick avenue from which Nicolas Stoffel, 79, of 103 W. Farnum St., died of burns and head injuries two hours later at William Beaumont Hospital.

John F. Bulloch, 21, of 30445 Townley Rd., Madison Heights, driver of the car which rammed Stoffel's vehicle from behind, was treated at William Beaumont Hospital and released Saturday. He has not yet made a statement to police.

Statements have been taken from seven witnesses, said Assistant Prosecutor Donald A. Brown, who said he expects the investigation to continue for the rest of the week.

Berkley Police report that Bulloch was ticketed June 30 for reckless driving while allegedly racing on Woodward near 11-Mile road and is to appear before Justice Ralph F. Finley of Berkley at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Capitalists on Display at Moscow

Introduced to crowds of Russian visitors were Lynn L. Bollinger of Norwood, Mass., E. M. Black of New York and Richard Karasik of New York.

Bollinger spent two sessions of 20 minutes each in the aluminum-domed main building answering questions from Russians about how he treats his 180 workers in the Hello Aircraft Corp.

The questions were put in friendly humor and Bollinger's responses were in the same vein.

Vladimir Shavrid of the U.S. Department of Labor served as interpreter. With several hundred persons crowding around, the atmosphere became close and Shavrid was bathed in perspiration as he fielded inquiries and answers.

Black was introduced as the head of the American Sealkap Corp., which operates seven plants over the United States.

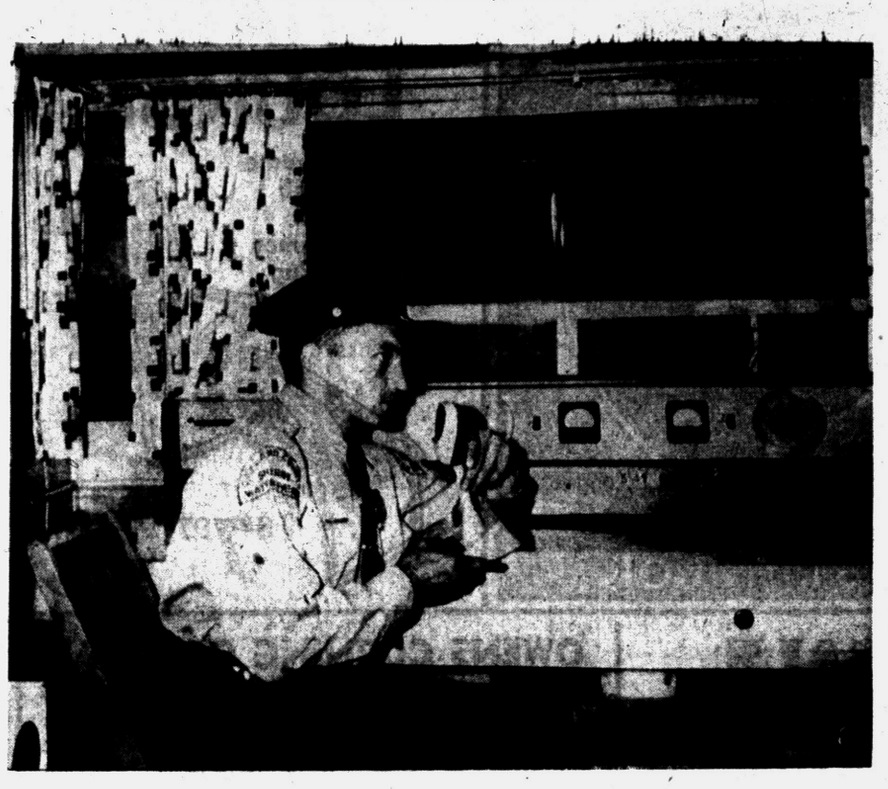

Karasik heads the Jaclin Stationery Co.

All three are members of the Young Presidents Organization that arrived in the Soviet Union 67 strong Monday for a 20-day tour that is to include Moscow, Kiev, Kharkov, Stalingrad, Sochi and Leningrad.

Nike-ASP Fails Again in Glowing Cloud Shot

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A malfunction in the second stage of a Nike-ASP Rocket was blamed today for failure of an attempt to place a second glowing artificial cloud into the skies above the East coast.

The two-stage rocket used for the experiment designed to test wind velocities in the near vacuum of space was launched last night from Wallops Island, Va.

CALLING ALL CARS — A new piece of emergency equipment has been added to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. It is a mobile disaster unit, housed in a $10,000 trailer, which was open to the public during last night's firefighters' exhibition in Leonard. Showing how the radio will operate to any emergency unit throughout the state is Officer Melvin Pierce. Also on hand at the mock alert was Sheriff Frank W. Irons, other sheriff's department officials and equipment plus fire trucks from member departments of the Northeastern Oakland County Firemen's Assn.

9 Youths Jailed for Gang Battle

Sentenced Three Days After Monday Night Brawl in Auburn

Nine youths arrested Monday night in an Auburn Heights gang fight were given straight jail sentences yesterday by Pontiac Township Justice A. Grant Graham.

The young men, most of them teenagers, were sentenced to serve three days in the Oakland County Jail after pleading guilty to a charge of creating a disturbance.

Four carloads of Oakland County sheriff's deputies converged on the battle at the Auburn Heights Elementary School, 260 S. Squirrel Rd., where an estimated 30 youths were squaring off.

As the youths scattered, officers were able to grab only nine.

Sent to jail were Jimmie A. Robtoy, 24, 3429 Bendelow St., Richard D. Sylvain, 18, 3525 Bendelow St., and James E. Cooper, 17, 326 Baldwin Rd., all of Rochester; and Robert A. Griffin, 22, 108 South Blvd., Avon Township.

Pontiac youths jailed were Everette E. Griffin Jr., 24, 322 E. Third St.; David A. Groves, 17, 91 N. Astor St.; Dennis C. Bush, 19, 98 S. Roselawn St.; Miles J. Navarre, 18, 369 S. Anderson St.; and Granville C. Crawford, 18, 26 N. Midland St.

Blast Kills 2 Aboard Carrier

20 Injured as Copter Overspeeds in Test Just Below Flight Deck

QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP)—The aircraft carrier USS Wasp — a hangar compartment blackened by an explosion — brought two dead and some 20 injured crewmen into port at the naval air station here today.

The big ship was participating in antisubmarine maneuvers about 250 miles off the Virginia coast yesterday afternoon when she was shaken by an explosion. The Navy set the time at 4 p.m.

The blast occurred when a helicopter engine "overspeeded" during a routine test in the hangar area just below the carrier's flight deck.

The copter's pilot, Lt. (J.G.) Jim Frank Hagan of Marianna, Fla., was killed. He was working on the helicopter when the explosion occurred.

Aviation apprentice Donald Howard Trask of Keene, N. H., drowned in an elevator pit while fighting the resultant fire.

Four destroyers, taking part in the maneuvers, helped fight the fire. It was brought under control in 50 minutes but flared up again. It was finally extinguished in another 20 minutes.

Names of the injured were not immediately available.

The Navy said one of the injured is from Michigan. It listed him as C. G. Clark but gave no hometown.

The Wasp lost 103 men in the Pacific during World War II. She was placed in mothballs and reactivated in 1951.

Couple on Honeymoon After Milford Nuptials

MILFORD — Honeymooning in Northern Michigan this week are newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Nelson D. Watson.

The bride, the former June Lynne Peterson, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stacy E. Peterson of 1015 Pleasure St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. David O. Watson of 1100 E. Commerce St.

The couple was joined in marriage Saturday at Christ Lutheran Church here by the Rev. Donald E. Simon.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length silk organza gown with a princess-style waistline and empire effect.

Alencon lace formed the top of the bodice and the sleeves tapered at the wrists. The bateau neckline was edged with seed pearls and iridescent sequins trimmed the front of the dress. A bow at the back ended in an appliqued hem-length sash.

The bride's tiara styled headpiece of iridescent cord with seed pearls and rhinestones held her shoulder length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and gladioli.

ATTEND BRIDE

Mrs. Wayne Chenoweth was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Judy Engel of Ann Arbor and a cousin of the bride, Carolyn Baker of Kiester, Minn.

Nancy Englund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Englund of Milford, was flower girl. Ringbearer was Jackie Stuhrberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stuhrberg of Brighton and a cousin of the bride.

Duties as best man were performed by Wayne Chenoweth. Seating the guests were the bridegroom's brother, Mark, and the bride's brother, Stacy.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the double-ring ceremony.

Following their honeymoon the newlyweds will reside at 426 McPherson road, Highland Township.

Included in six state projects added to the Highway Department's Sept. 2 letting is one for repairs on the old U.S. 16 bridge across the C & O tracks at Novi. Completion date on this project is Nov. 15.

Report Acid Tossed at Solon

Claim Rep. Thompson, Labor Bill Backer, Got Burn on Arm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional associates quoted Rep. Frank Thompson (D-NJ) today as reporting acid was thrown on him from a passing automobile Tuesday as he drove to his office.

Thompson himself was not immediately reachable for details.

Rep. Stewart L. Udall (D-Ariz), a close friend of Thompson, said the New Jersey representative told him and a few others about the incident.

Udall said there was an acid hole through Thompson's clothing and a burn on his arm, about the size of a dime.

Thompson was quoted as saying he threw up an arm when he saw the fluid being squirted at him from a syringe, and thereby protected his face.

The Washington Post quoted a source close to Thompson as saying he had been receiving anonymous telephone threats for about two weeks in connection with his activities as a leading backer of the "middle-of-the-road" labor control bill in the House. The House finally dropped that bill in favor of a broader measure, after turning down a still less stringent one.

Southfield Patrolman Promoted to Sergeant

SOUTHFIELD — Another promotion was added to Southfield's fast-growing police force by the Civil Service last night.

Promoted to sergeant was Patrolman Richard Voorhies. The force now numbers 21. Three more patrolmen will be added in September, Capt. Milton Sackett said.

Last Confederate Still Weak After 2 Weeks

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Walter W. Williams, 116, a former Confederate and last surviving veteran of the Civil War, awoke once Tuesday but his condition of extreme weakness continued.

Doctors said he was resting comfortably. Williams has been ill for nearly two weeks.

Hear Director of Civil Defense

Downtown Kiwanis Is Told Readiness of the Individual Necessary

The Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis Club had Ralph M. Sheehan, director of the Michigan office of Civil Defense, as guest speaker Tuesday.

Sheehan told the luncheon group that the success of civil defense lies in its concept as a government function and in the readiness of the individual citizen.

"Civil defense direction, planning and execution with necessity must be part of the local governmental strucure," Sheehan emphasized.

"After all, people look to local governemnt for leadership. It is your local government that has the facilities available in case of disaster. Thus, the two should work together."

He said civil defense planning throughout the state and country is progressing with this in mind.

STUDY IMMEDIATE STEPS

"In recent years," he explained, "much study has been made of what immediate steps would be taken and what part played by various municipal departments in the event of man-made or natural disaster."

He also emphasized that the individual citizens must do some planning for their families.

"In a disaster, municipal resources available will be much less than in every day life.

We must realze that we will not have time to prepare for disaster as in previous wars. If there is a war, it will happen very quickly."

Batista Can't Come to U.S.

State Dept. Claims Ex-Cuban Boss' Entry 'a Dead Issue'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said Tuesday the question of admitting ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista of Cuba into the U.S. "is a dead issue."

Press Officer Lincoln White told a news conference that he would make no comment beyond saying Batista's petition to enter this country "is a dead issue."

The former president of Cuba fled into exile in the Dominican Republic last Jan. 1 and has applied for admission into the United States as a political exile.

The request presented the Washington government with a thorny problem.

Various Latin American countries, and Cuba particularly, have been criticizing the United States for giving asylum to other officials of the Batista regime.

The government of Cuban Rebel Leader Fidel Castro has repeatedly demanded that Batista not be admitted to the United States and asked that other political exiles whom it terms "war criminals" be deported from the United States.

Report Duke of Bedford Critically Injured in Auto

LONDON (AP)—The 42-year-old Duke of Bedford was critically injured in an automobile accident in the south of France today, his secretary said.

The secretary said a telegram had been received at Woburn Abbey, the duke's huge estate, saying he had suffered a severe concussion. The accident was reported to have happened near Calloires in the Haute Savoie.

The tall, bespectacled duke has been planning to visit the United States in October to appear on television and lecture on the British aristocracy.

On West Bloomfield Library

Set Public Tax Hearing

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on a proposed one mill tax hike for a new township library has been scheduled by the League of Women Voters of West Bloomfield Township for 8 p.m. Aug. 27 in the township hall.

The league is urging the public to turn out and hear the Library Board explain why voters should approve the tax in a special election Sept. 1.

Joining in panel discussion will be Mrs. Joel Warren, community information chairman of the library board, and Robert Orr, library consultant and head librarian of the Grosse Pointe Library.

Also, Henry Moses, chairman of the citizens advisory committee of the library board, and Mark T. Jaroszewicz of the architectural firm of Stickel, Jaroszewicz and Moody, who will have with him preliminary plans, photographs and a model of the proposed building.

A question and answer period will follow the panel discussion.

Charges Dropped Against Ohio Reds

CLEVELAND (AP) — The government today dropped conspiracy charges against six Ohioans, convicted three years ago of Smith Act violations.

Their conviction after a lengthy trial in Cleveland was reversed by the U. S. District Court of Appeals and a retrial was ordered. The government identified all of them as members of the Communist party.

They were Frank Hashmall, 39, former youth director of the Ohio section of the party; Anthony Krchmarek, 61, former Ohio party chief; George Watt, 49, once the party's national labor secretary; Mrs. Lucille Bethencourt, 31, former Lorain, Ohio, party leader; and Joseph Brandt, 49, and Martin Chancey, 51.

Charges against the six were "reluctantly dropped," said Russell E. Ake, district attorney, because "we can't meet the requirements set down by the Supreme Court in the Yates case."

The Supreme Court held that the government, in prosecuting under the Smith Act, must show that persons were inciting immediate action to overthrow the government.

Appeals Court Rules in Favor of Cross Co.

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board must answer the contention of the strike-hit Cross Co. that a collective bargaining election last Nov. 12 should be thrown out.

That's the ruling yesterday of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, in Cincinnati.

Officials of the automation machinery firm had asked for a court writ, contending the right of the United Auto Workers to bargain for its employes should be set aside until a new election is held.

The court ordered oral arguments for Oct. 5. The appeals court also told the NLRB not to consider any charges against the firm until the matter is settled in court.

The NLRB had scheduled a hearing for Aug. 31 on a UAW charge the company engaged in unfair labor practices.

The dispute over certification of the UAW began last September when the company claimed 30 per cent of the firm's employes filed a petition for a decertification election.

Results showed 150 employes in favor of the UAW and 134 against.

Death Tolls Higher Elsewhere

U. S. Lucky in Quakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Earthquakes have taken a considerable toll of life and property in the United States, but other regions of the world have suffered to a far greater extent.

One reference works lists a death count of 141,720 as the result of a 1923 quake in Japan. A figure of 180,000 was reported from Kansu Province of China in 1920. In many other instances the toll was listed in the tens of thousands.

The worst quake in U. S. history was that which hit San Francisco in 1906. There the death list was put at 452 and property damage at 350 million dollars.

Another recorded at Charleston, S.C., on Aug. 31, 1886, killed 27 and left property damage of five million dollars. It was felt as far away as Boston, Cuba and Bermuda, according to a seismologist with Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory.

The seismologist, Dr. Jack E. Oliver, said a series of temblors in 1811 and 1812 in the region of New Madrid, Mo., caused an area of many square miles to sink as much as 3 to 10 feet. In addition, he said, many new lakes, swamps and bayous were created by water from the Mississippi River.

About 33 million American families have every one of their members covered by some form of health insurance.

Governments to Ask $4,300,000

U.N. Medical Squads Treat Asians

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Medical squads from the United Nations Children's Fund, working in dusty villages and trekking through jungles by jeep, have tested more than 221 million Asians for tuberculosis.

Two and a half million mothers and children have been given a free glass of milk a day in the first six months of this year under UNICEF-assisted programs, according to a midyear survey by its Asian headquarters here.

A spokesman said Asian governments will ask $4,300,000 from the next executive board meeting of the U.N. agency in September, to battle disease and care for children from the mountains of Afghanistan across the Orient to the Pacific islands.

The amount would bring this year's Asian allocations to about 10 million dollars, about 40 per cent of the world's total UNICEF allotments, for an area containing half the world's children.

Queried on the apparent smallness of the budget, UNICEF's Asian chief, Spurgeon M. Kenny, said: "We take on simple projects. There's no use talking about complicated, expensive programs —the expensive diseases aren't what's doing the killing out here."

Close to 10 million persons have been protected from malaria this year by DDT, Kenny said. Ten million more have been examined for the disfiguring yaws disease. Seventy thousand leprosy patients are now under treatment in Burma and Thailand. In Formosa, all children entering and leaving school are treated for the eye affliction of trachoma.

UNICEF says a dollar buys enough penicillin to treat 20 children who have yaws, enough vaccine to protect 100 children from TB, enough DDT to protect eight persons from malaria for a year. It buys 500 glasses of milk, or sulfone tablets for a leprosy-stricken child.

Each country where UNICEF operates is pledged to contribute an amount equal to the local U.N. allocation. Most, instead, have contributed an average of 2½ times that, UNICEF reports.

Kenny, of York County, Pennsylvania, will present the latest projects at the U.N. September session. He speaks excitedly of a "revolutionary milk sterilization process in India. You can keep bottled milk fresh for months in the tropics."

Intestinal diseases, an almost universal affliction in Asia, have not yet been probed by UNICEF.

"This is mostly a water problem," says Kenny. "Out here, the attitude is 'If the water looks clean, it is clean', and they drink it."

UNICEF operates in every country in Asia except the Communist nations and Laos, which has not asked for help.

"We would go into the Communist countries if we were asked," Kenny said. "The fact that they're Communist would not change anything. Participation would expand on the soundness of the projects suggested. The requests would be considered with the same objectivity as any other."

He noted that although the Soviet Union is a UNICEF member, allocations are made regularly to Nationalist China without much Soviet protest.

Flood Aid Set by Two Nations

Formosa Will Spend $22.5 Million; Japan Earmarks $20 Million

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalist Chinese government Tuesday launched a 22½-million-dollar flood recovery program.

Premier Chen Cheng said 100,000 soldiers would be used in the program. The floods over the weekend of Aug. 7-9 destroyed 49,000 homes, devastated large areas of farmland and wrecked numerous roads and bridges. The official death toll was 649.

TOKYO (AP)—The government Tuesday appropriated nearly 20 million dollars to repair damage left by Typhoon Georgia.

After the storm last Thursday night, 137 Japanese were dead, 108 were missing, 712 injured and 10,028 homeless, mostly in central Honshu.

Stock Prices Retreat Some

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices retreated under mild selling pressure early today. Trading was relaxed.

Pivotal issues were whittled fractions to around a point.

Minus signs spread through all sections of the list. Most steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, electronics, metals, chemicals, oils, rails and tobaccos slipped.

The slump extended the price declines suffered yesterday when a late selling wave threw the market for a sharp loss.

Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel fell close to a point. U.S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube each dipped a shade.

Chrysler dropped around a point while Ford, General Motors and American Motors took fractional losses.

DuPont, Texas Instruments and Carter Products skidded around 3.

Declines of around a point were suffered by Goodyear, Raytheon, General Electric, Texaco and U.S. Gypsum.

Steel Report Due Tonight

U.S. Hopes Facts Will Spur Negotiators to Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A collection of facts about the steel strike will be released by the government tonight in the hope of budging the deadlocked negotiations out of their rut.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said he would make public statistics his staff has gathered about wages, profits, productivity, prices and related aspects of the industry.

The document Mitchell has ready reportedly totals about 1,000 words, and is accompanied by a series of charts showing various statistics in graphic form.

Mitchell, who announced his decision to release the report after conferring for 45 minutes with President Eisenhower, said he hoped the information would cause both sides to "bargain a little harder and reach a settlement."

But in New York, chief federal mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said Mitchell's announcement had no effect whatsoever on negotiations Tuesday.

"The situation doesn't look any better now than it did two and a half weeks ago," Finnegan added. "I must say the picture at present is distinctly gloomy. There has been no movement that would indicate the parties are moving to any area of agreement in the economic situation."

Barnett's Prep Shop for Students to Open

The oldest locally owned store in downtown Pontiac, Barnett's Clothes Shop, 150 N. Saginaw St., has announced the opening of a new Students' Prep Shop.

The new section of the store, located on Pontiac's main street since 1895, will feature nationally known brands for boys ages 12 to 20.

"The Prep Shop is located as you enter the store on the south side in a modern arrangement that makes it easy for the customer to shop and choose what he wants with utmost ease," says the owner, Sidney Barnett.

"I opened the department in response from so many customers who desired a place where they could purchase quality clothes in downtown Pontiac."

The Prep Shop carries a complete selection of apparel directed to suit the needs of the high school and college student, including such items as sport coats, suits, jackets, slacks, shirts, pajamas, underwear, hosiery and accessories.

Barnett expressed his faith in the renovation and the potential of the downtown business district.

"Downtown and Barnett's go together like bread and butter," he says. "There will always be a downtown Pontiac and there will always be a Barnett store in it."

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF HOWard C. Harroun, who passed away August 19, 1955.
We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye,
Before you closed your eyes;
We tried so hard to save you,
Our prayers were all in vain,
This world would seem like heaven,
If we could have you back again.
Sadly missed by Rose, son Don and step children.

Nikita May Visit Red Chinese

Would Fly to Peiping Via Alaska for Tenth Anniversary Fete

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials indicated Tuesday there is a strong possibility Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may end his American tour next month with a jet flight to Communist China by way of Alaska.

The propaganda effect on Asians of a sudden Khrushchev appearance at Peiping's 10th anniversary celebration starting Oct. 1 is not being overlooked here.

Final arrangements have not been completed yet for Khrushchev's 14-day itinerary in this country or his point of departure about Sept. 29. Among hundreds of invitations is one from Sen. Ernest Gruening (D-Ala) to visit America's 49th state.

In a telegram to President Eisenhower suggesting the Alaskan visit, Gruening said in part: "It might be useful for him (Khrushchev) to be able to see the contrast between what was once Russian America and what Alaska has become under our free society as a sovereign state of the union."

Officials said plans now call for Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit six cities and an Iowa corn farm on his U.S. tour beginning Sept. 15 and lasting until Sept. 27.

The cities now on the list are Washington, New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and Des Moines, Iowa.

Ike and Macmillan to Make TV Broadcast

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will appear together on a radio-TV broadcast the evening of Aug. 31, the White House announced today.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the broadcast will originate from No. 10 Downing St., the London home of Macmillan.

2 Killed, 100 Injured in Kansas Gas Blast

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A 20,000-gallon gasoline tank exploded and hurtled forward like a giant flame-thrower, engulfing firemen in a blast of fire.

That's how Tuesday's gasoline bulk station holocaust took its toll.

Two firemen died. They were Virgil L. Sams, 28, and Neal K. Owen, 28. Seventeen others, four of them in critical condition, remained in hospitals today.

More than 100 persons suffered burns, other injuries and exhaustion. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

A Continental Oil Co. bulk station of four big horizontal tanks, located behind a filling station at the state line between the two Kansas Citys, was the scene.

The blaze erupted while two men were filling a tank truck. The cause wasn't known.

Firemen formed a cordon along Southwest Boulevard, pouring 12 streams of water on the burning tanks and cooling five 12,000-gallon tanks nearby.

First one, then another of the bigger tanks exploded toward the Frisco Railroad yards, away from the firemen.

Then a third took off like an abortive rocket squarely at the firemen. Crunching through a corner of the filling station, it blew off both ends and flame rolled in a 40-foot-wide path south across the boulevard and north across the railroad yards.

Firemen in its path didn't have a chance. As they turned to run, fire boiled around them.

Burning gasoline cascaded down the street's gutters. It ignited fire trucks, parked cars and utility poles. Spectators, police and firemen stampeded.

Bullets Fly as Police Nab Detroit Escapee

DETROIT (UPI)—A 16-year-old escapee from the Detroit juvenile detention home was recaptured today in a bullet-punctured chase on Detroit's Southwest Side.

The youth, James Cicotte, slashed at two persons with a six-inch dagger during the chase but they were not cut.

Four officers chased Cicotte more than a mile before he finally threw down his knife and surrendered.

The chase started when two patrolmen from the Fort-Green precinct investigated an attempted break-in and spotted Cicotte running in an alley.

Gia Scala to Marry TV Actor Don Burnett

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Gia Scala of the movies and actor Don Burnett of TV plan to apply for a wedding license today and marry Thursday.

It will be thet first marriage for each. The couple said they will honeymoon in New York.

Miss Scala, an Irish-Italian beauty, had just finished the movie "Battle of the Coral Sea." Burnett appears in "Northwest Passage," a TV series.

Two Grosse Ile Girls Die in Flaming Car

DETROIT (AP) — Two teenage girls died in the burning wreckage of a small foreign car last night after it skidded at a railroad crossing in suburban Trenton and overturned.

Dead are Gale Hamilton, 18, and Ann Powers, 17, both of Grosse Ile.

Officers said the car's driver, Frederick Seewald, 20, of Grosse Ile, was trying to get the girls out when police arrived. He and another passenger, Lynn O'Brien, 18, also of Grosse Ile, were reported in satisfactory condition.

Martha Raye Parts With Sixth Husband

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedienne Martha Raye and her sixth husband, former policeman Robert O'Shea, have parted after nine months of marriage, the New York Post said today.

It quoted Miss Raye's manager, Nick Condos, one of her former husbands, as saying: "It's all over between them. They have separated with the intention of divorcing."

Hollywood Headlines:

Dick Clark Making His First Movie

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie—TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Take me to your leader," I said to the teenager, and there I was, talking to Dick Clark.

THOMAS

The Clark cult is something un-paralleled in entertainment history. Seldom has any one person wielded so much power over a segment of the population. Since teenagers practically support the pop record field, Clark exercises vast influence over it through his TV shows.

Obviously, this is a man to be reckoned with. Clark is here to make his first movie, "Because They're Young," and I found him to be a smooth, no-nonsense 28-year-old who knows his field.

But doesn't it bug him to be around teenagers so much?

"Not at all," he replied calmly. "I get more put out with older people who try to act young. I like kids because they act their age."

" He doesn't take his expertmanship in teenage matters lightly.

"I'm with teenagers on the average of five and six hours every day," he explained.

"It's like working in a bakery; if you're around it long enough, you'll learn how to bake. I've learned how teenagers act. And I know that most pictures about teenagers are wrong. They are older people's concept of how teens act.

Clark said he will try to avoid such pitfalls in his film. He is a partner with Columbia in it, so he has plenty of say. But he admitted that it won't be a completely accurate depiction.

"I doubt if there ever can be a truly honest portrayal in films," he explained. "Not all girls are beautiful and all boys handsome, as they are in films. Not all of them have good-looking clothing. Not all schools are freshly painted and whitewashed."

Clark plays a school teacher and he has a romance with the principal's secretary, lovely Victoria Shaw.

The teenagers in the film will all be normal types, except for two that have a scrape with the police. "The script is fairly true to life," he said. "Most teenagers are normal."

Pontiac City Affairs

Zip Through Meeting

It was the shortest night of the year for the Pontiac City Commission.

Last night's meeting lasted only 20 minutes—no debates, no long speeches, no arguments and only routine items of business.

No objections were raised at a hearing on the special assessment roll for a water main on Palmer drive, south of Mt. Clemens street.

A hearing was scheduled next Tuesday on plans to install sidewalks on Pearsall and Motor streets, next to the new Macedonia Baptist Church. It was estimated that the church would have to pay $424 in special assessments and the city $677.

The engineering department was asked to estimate the cost of running 360 feet of water main in front of eight lots on Fern street, between Highland and Bloomfield. Owner of the lots, Jack J. Humphry, 670 Bloomfield Ave., petitioned for the water.

Returned to petitioners for more signatures was a request for curbs and gutters on Cameron avenue, Baltimore to Mt. Clemens. Only 36 per cent of the affected property owners had signed the petition.

Six assessment rolls were confirmed, covering projects completed this summer. Involved were sidewalks on both sides of California avenue, Howland to Franklin, Baldwin to Walton, and blacktopping of four streets, LeGrande avenue, Baldwin to Euclid; Pensacola avenue, Oakland to Monticello; Adelaide street, between Oakland and Baldwin, and Harriett street, Cadillac to Adelaide.

Three liquor license transfers were approved. They were transfer of the SDM license at 856 Oakland Ave. from Antonio Craparotta to John Tenjeras Jr.; the SDM license at 588 Franklin Rd. from the name of the late Thomas Mina to Evelyn Mina, and the tavern license at 404 Orchard Lake Ave. from Jennie Barkholz to Ralph and Betty Duerden.

Ike Signs Defense Money Bill Into Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has signed into law a $39,228,239,000 defense money bill — half the nation's budget — revising some military programs and providing $35,000,000 to start a second atomic-powered aircraft carrier.

The bill, by far the largest appropriation of the year, gives the President almost all the funds he requested to run the armed services in the current fiscal year that started July 1. It will finance a fighting force of 2,545,000 men.

But Congress drastically revised some of the administration's original plans for the military. It put more emphasis on developing long-range missiles and defenses against enemy submarines and intercontinental rockets. Eisenhower signed the measure late yesterday.

Tax Cheating Charged to Kirk Douglas, Wife

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government has filed a tax claim against actor Kirk Douglas and his wife, charging they owe $149,519.99 on their 1955 tax bill, it was disclosed today.

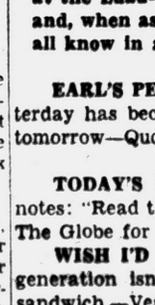

An appeal by Douglas filed with the U.S. Tax Court revealed the Internal Revenue Service has accused the movie star of deducting $203,794.54 too much on his tax return.

Jet Crisis Primes Otto for a Really Big Plunge

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — EXTRA! Otto Preminger and Hope Bryce survived a crisis in a jet, so now they're going to try something really dangerous—marriage.

The movie director and the pretty young fashion expert will slip on their permanent matrimonial life belts sometime before Aug. 22 (Saturday) in Mexico, and will honeymoon in London, Venice and Israel, where he'll be shooting "Exodus."

They were together in the jet with the landing-gear trouble at takeoff here recently. When Miss Bryce was described then as his fiancee, Preminger said, "How can I have a fiancee when my divorce has not come through?" Evidently the answer is: "Easy! Go to Mexico." Would it be tactful to wish them "Happy landings"?

Billy Rose, the quiet Casanova, is miles ahead of all our young Romeos who should study his technique. Midnight finds him very much the stag, with several male friends, in the celebrity swirl at Sardi's and El Morocco. "Billy looks so lonely," a woman sighs. But at dinner he's been in the House of Chan with a tall, pretty, willowy, shimmery bleached blonde, whom he's keeping away from the midnight wolf pack. They have had a non-alcoholic ball swilling flamingoes (a fruit drink mixture) at 60 cents a throw!

HOPE

Gisele MacKenzie, who lost her baby last year via miscarriage, made a wish at the Luau-400's fountain and, when asked what she'd wished, she answered: "You'll all know in a few months when it comes true."

Reuther Plans Meeting With K

Wants to 'Straight-Talk' Soviet Premier; Meany Intends Boycott

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP) — Some American labor union leaders are hoping to meet with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev next month despite official AFL-CIO disapproval.

Walter Reuther, head of the Auto Workers Union, said he felt spokesmen for American labor should tell the Soviet leader "straight from the shoulder that they are irrevocably dedicated to human freedom and opposed to Communist slavery."

George Harrison, chairman of an dent and the bulk of the federation's high command were known, however, to intend to boycott the Khrushchev visit to the United States. They feel they should have nothing to do with a dictator who they say bars freedom of labor in his own country.

George Harrison, chairman of an AFL-CIO international committee and a member of this country's U.N. delegation, shared Meany's feelings and a view that little good will come from Khrushchev's visit. Harrison heads the Railways' Clerk's Union.

Reuther and some other union chiefs, including James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers, ignored an official AFL-CIO policy and met with Deputy Soviet Premier Anastas Mikoyan during his January visit to the United States.

Mikoyan later was quoted as saying the union leaders gave him the roughest going over of any group he met in America.

Agree to Disagree on State School Aid

LANSING (UPI) — A Senate-House Conference Committee gave up trying to agree on a school aid formula today and issued a report that it had agreed to disagree.

A news conference committee was expected to be named.

Rep. Raymond Wurzel (R-Port Huron) said the House was unable to get the Senate to "split the difference" in the dispute.

The House passed a bill hiking the present $190 per-pupil aid to $210 and the deductible millage from 2.75 to 3.5. The Senate passed one for $200 and 3.

Sleeping Sickness Kills 9 in Month in Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UPI) — Health authorities reported today that nine persons had died of sleeping sickness in the Republic of Korea so far this month.

The health and Social Affairs Ministry said a total of 34 cases of the disease had been reported since the beginning of the month.

City Woman Burned Trying to Bake a Cake

A young Pontiac mother who started to bake a cake yesterday afternoon ended up in Pontiac General Hospital with first and second degree burns on her face and forearms.

Mrs. Eugenia L. Oates, 19, was in satisfactory condition. Her eyebrows, lashes and part of her hair were burnt off, police said, when the gas stove exploded in the kitchen of her home, 30 Spokane St.

The explosion occurred as Mrs. Oates bent forward over the oven, attempting to light it.

Apparently, too much gas had been released into the oven by the time she touched a match to it, officers said.

Alone in the house, except for her two-month-old son David, Mrs. Oates telephoned for help first from a neighbor, then from her husband, Olin, who was on the job at Pontiac Motor Division.

Judge Orders 4 Boys Sent Back to Russia

CHICAGO (UPI) — A judge ruled today that four brothers who were kept in the United States by court order when their parents went home to Russia shall be returned to their parents behind the Iron Curtain by Oct. 1.

Chief Justice Thomas E. Kluczynski ruled that the State of Illinois did not show "just cause" why the four sons of Georgi and Madazhda Kozmin should not be returned to the custody of their parents, displaced persons who returned to their native land in June, 1957.

Kluczynski said the three older brothers had "expressed a feeling of wanting to belong to someone" and know that they have natural parents.

Expect 1,000 at Greek Orthodox Youth Confab

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Nearly 1,000 members of the Greek Orthodox Youth of America will attend the organization's eighth international conference here Aug. 23-29, it was announced today.

Archbishop Iakovos, spiritual leader of the Greek Orthodox archdioces of North and South America, and many other Greek Orthodox clergy from communities throughout the United States and Canada also will attend the week-long convention.

In 140 years the Senate has sat as a court of impeachment only 12 times and has removed four men from holding federal offices.

His Son's Suggestion Leads to Collection

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — In 1942 Professor Samuel C. Williams Sr. received a letter from his son in the Navy suggesting that his dad save a few newspaper clippings on the war.

Last month Williams, a museum curator at the Stevens Institute of Technology, presented the Stevens Museum with 50 scrapbooks containing 4,000 pages of newspaper clippings on World War II.

Washington fisheries produce about five-ninths of the total supply of salmon for U. S. consumer markets.

Can Supply Own Food

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A thief who raided the Alvin E. Michael farm near Phoenix may have been trying to beat the high cost of food.

He stole four goats, a dairy cow and 15 laying hens.
