THE TEMPEST FOUR-DOOR SEDAN, PONTIAC'S NEWEST LINE

New Companion Line Has Several Firsts

Six-Passenger Models Set for Production as Sedans, Four-Door Station Wagons

By HARRY J. REED
Managing Editor, The Pontiac Press

Pontiac Motor Division rewrites the automotive history books today, revealing a companion line of smaller, family-size cars — the Tempest — which is far ahead of any other introduced to the public.

Newest of the new, the six-passenger Tempest is the first American car to achieve a front-engine, rear-transmission arrangement, and it's the first car in the world to employ an automatic transmission using this arrangement.

Offered in both four-door sedans and four-door station wagons, the Tempest is 21 inches shorter than the standard Pontiac, 1 to 2 inches lower, 6 inches narrower, and approximately 1,000 pounds lighter.

Powered by a four-cylinder engine, fuel economy of 25 miles-per-gallon is expected at 50 miles-per-hour, COMPLETELY NEW

"Years of intensive research, development and testing are behind the completely new Tempest series," says General Motors Vice President S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division. "We feel the Tempest introduces the newest engineering advances in automobile design ever to be offered by our division."

"Unique in conception and fresh in styling, the Tempest is an entirely new personality for the motoring public, yet it is unmistakably Pontiac," Knudsen said.

Chief Identification with the Pontiac is the twin grille, trademark of the 1959 model, and also the 1961 line. Twin headlights are part of the grille, which is integrated with a sweeping bumper.

The completely new Tempest has a consistent styling theme of simplicity that prevails throughout the entire car. Gracefully sculptured lines dominate the side theme, accentuated by a moderate use of chrome.

Having the engine canted at 45 degrees has allowed a lower hood line, and upper portions of the Tempest are effectively light and spacious with clean-cut lines that offer excellent visibility as well as ease of entry and exit.

Fifteen exterior colors are available, and 57 possible two-tone combinations. Sedan interiors are offered in 14 colorful combinations, and team rubber front seats are standard.

A reflection-free instrument cluster dominates the modernistic panel of the Tempest, and the automatic transmission control lever and indicator are built into the instrument panel within easy reach of the driver.

Most significant among the engineering innovations, according to Chief Engineer E. M. Estes, is the front-engine, rear-transmission arrangement.

Takes Pill Overdose on 26th Birthday, but Now 'Out of Danger'

NICE, France (UPI)—French movie star Brigitte Bardot, whose domestic difficulties have been making headlines, attempted suicide Wednesday night but now is "definitely out of danger," her doctors said today.

They said Miss Bardot took an overdose of sleeping pills but they denied reports she also had tried to slash her wrists.

They said one wrist was scratched, apparently when she fell after taking the drugs.

A doctor who had been called to her villa had said that she had cut her wrists.

She was taken to Saint-Francois clinic where doctors Pierre Naimie and Pierre Martin announced she was out of danger.

The suicide attempt came on her 26th birthday.

Henri-Georges Clouzot, director of her latest film, "The Truth," said "Brigitte tried to commit suicide last night. I believe she did it in a fit of delirium."

The proprietor of a restaurant at the Riviera resort of Cap Martin where she lunched Wednesday said she snapped "Leave me in peace. Anyway, I am going to die" when he tried to have her photographed.

Mrs. Elivora Doud Is Stricken in Her Sleep After Long Illness

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Elivora Doud 82, mother of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, died early today in her sleep at her home here. She had been ill for some time.

No closer and more public relationship between a president and his mother-in-law probably existed than that between Mrs. Doud and Eisenhower.

She lived at the White House, and was the first mother-in-law ever to accompany a presidential candidate on his campaign train.

The President referred to his mother-in-law as "Min," an expression that Mrs. Doud's youngest daughter had taken from the comic strip character "Andy Gump."

President Eisenhower is flying to Chicago to make a speech and Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him there, then fly on to Denver.

Two other daughters, who died in their teens, were born to Mrs. Doud and her husband, John Sheldon Doud, who died at the age of 80 in 1951.

Bombs Greet Fidel at Havana

12 Days to Register Here Are Places

There are only 12 days left to register for the Nov. 3 election. If you're not signed up as a voter by Oct. 10, the deadline, you won't be allowed to cast a ballot for your presidential preference.

damage. A panic was averted Castro's speech but did no when Castro had his lieutenants lead the 100,000 armed Cubans in the national anthem.

"Five persons, including a man wearing the garb of a priest, were reported arrested."

The bearded premier scoffed at the bombs, blamed them on the United States and said he was setting up big brother vigilance committees in every block of Havana to root out what he called "lackeys of imperialism and tyranny."

He said civilian militia units would be enlarged throughout Cuba "zone by zone."

The bombs exploded in Zayas Park, across the street from the palace where Castro, flanked by Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kudrnatsev and other honored guests, spoke.

Also on the stand were the Russian crewmen of the Soviet (turbojet) which flew Castro back to Havana from the United Nations General Assembly.

Castro's Cubana Airlines plane was impounded in New York by a court order.

The blasts resounded through out the nation over radio and television networks carrying Castro's speech. The bombs apparently were of the type known as "petardos"—small but noisy.

Following the first explosion, Castro told the crowd: "Everybody knows who paid for that bomb—those are the bombs of imperialism."

"Mark this well," he added, "the moment I was talking of imperialism, the bomb exploded."

The crowd responded with a thunderous chant of "to the wall, to the wall—death by firing squad."

$23 Million Post Office Dedicated in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—A "parade of postal progress" swung through downtown Detroit today preceding dedication of the city's new $23-million post office.

Top Republicans to Talk for Party in Four Michigan Cities

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower returns to the 1960 presidential campaign limelight tonight for the first time since the Republican National Convention here in July.

Eisenhower will speak via closed-circuit television to GOP fund-raising dinners in 36 cities.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, making his White House bid in the East, will join the speech-making from Boston.

In Michigan's last four of top Republicans headed for four cities to boost party candidates and raise money for the political campaign.

DEWEY IN DETROIT
Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York and twice unsuccessful GOP presidential nominee, planned to visit his home town, Owosso, before appearing in Detroit.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley of Owosso was to share the speaker's platform with Dewey.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell will speak at Grand Rapids; Leonard Hall, former GOP national chairman, at Lansing; and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Meade Akorn, another former GOP national chairman, at Flint.

All the dinners are 1100-a-plate affairs except for that at Flint which is $25.

The Republican National Committee estimates 40,000 to 50,000 of the party faithful will shell out nearly $2 million for tonight's dinners across the country.

Kennedy Draws Crowds in N.Y. GOP Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, pounding hard at his Republican opponent and drawing great crowds in areas that went to the GOP in 1952 and 1956, ranges upstate New York for votes again today.

The Democratic presidential candidate lined up another punishing day and evening of campaigning after jamming big auditoriums Wednesday night in Rochester and Buffalo.

He arrived in Albany after midnight, was greeted by thousands and made his 13th speech of a long day.

In Buffalo and Rochester he used a barrage of criticism at the Eisenhower administration generally and at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the White House, specifically.

Today's renewed quest for New York's 45 electoral votes starts with a morning rally at the state Capitol.

Then Kennedy goes off on a 175-mile motorcade to a dozen communities.

The forty will end in Syracuse close to midnight and Kennedy then will fly on to his home at Hyannis Port, Mass., for a day of rest Friday.

In remarks prepared for a rally at Amsterdam, Kennedy said the city was typical of older American communities suffering from "economic hardening of the arteries."

"For eight years, the Republicans have turned a deaf ear to the crying need to revitalize these areas," Kennedy declared in saying that President Eisenhower's vetoes of legislation in this field were responsible.

Traps Japanese Killer-Thief

by DON WHITEHEAD

The Japanese people, during the occupation hated by Gen. Douglas MacArthur were creditably submissive to orders from the Supreme Command and headquarters. Strangely enough, his attitude gave a murderer precisely the psychological situation he needed to carry out his fantastic scheme of robbery by murder.

How the Japanese police solved this case stands as one of the best examples of detective work in modern crime.

At 3:20 p.m. on Jan. 26, 1948, manager Takejiro Yoshida signaled an employee to lock the doors of the suburban Shinjima branch of Tokyo's Teikoku (Imperial) Bank.

Before the lock snapped, a visitor pushed through the door. He wore a bone-fitting white cotton coat over his brown suit. An arm band indicated that he was a Wallace Department health officer. He carried a small leather case which resembled a medical kit.

the bank of orders from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. The American, he went on, were deeply concerned over an outbreak of amebic dysentery in the vicinity of the bank.

"As you know," Dr. Yamaguchi said, "the occupation authorities are most particular when contagious diseases are concerned. It will be necessary for me to give you and all your employees a preventive vaccine."

Mr. Yoshida called his 14 employees into the office. The doctor explained the grave danger. He told them to bring their towels so that he could give them a preventive drug. At that time, the orders of the American Occupation Forces were being obeyed virtually without question and this seemed no stranger than some of the others.

The doctor said, "You must take two medicines. The second must be taken immediately after the first. This drug is very potent. Be careful not to let it touch your teeth. Just stick out your tongue a little and cover your lower teeth as you swallow."

'Best Go Home ... Leave Cuba'

State Department Tells U.S. Nationals to Send Wives, Kids Away

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — American residents in Cuba have been advised to send their wives and children to the United States in view of the "Castro regime's attitude toward this country and its record of treatment of U.S. citizens."

Disclosing this today, the State Department said there are about 4,300 Americans in Cuba other than official personnel.

U.S. Embassy officers and employees have been encouraged for some time to send their dependents home, the department said.

As to the reasons for the action, press officer Francis W. Tully declared that since last Jan. 1 more than 43 U.S. citizens have been "detained and harassed" by the Cuban police.

A spokesman said the advice was not based on any expectation of a new impending crisis in the troubled island.

This government's advice apparently did not apply to 3,751 military and civilian dependents of the big U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo. Castro twice this week has talked of taking over the base.

Travelers reaching the U.S. mainland from Havana in the past 24 hours described the internal Cuban situation as chaotic.

Conditions in some parts of the interior, especially Central Cuba, were described as virtually on a "war" footing.

U.S. officials said that, short of a threatened or actual war situation, it was a rarity for this country to advise its nationals to leave a country.

The last time such advice was given was in July when American missionaries were urged to leave the strife-torn Congo.

FINGER-POINTING EXERCISE — Fingers jab the air as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev (left) insults British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in the U. N. General Assembly today. Khrushchev started a controversy by interrupting the prime minister's speech and going into his usual table-thumping routine. All the Communist delegations, heading their master's cut, joined the fray. Macmillan was urging the use of reason.

Nikita Stays On, Full of Steam K Chats With Macmillan Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev meets today with United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld. His talk with Macmillan marks the first summit level East-West discussions since mid-May when the Paris summit party blew up.

In an angry dispute over the U2 plane incident, the assembly president gavelled him down. Khrushchev interrupted his speech and remarked coolly:

"I would like to have a translation of those (Khrushchev's) words."

Macmillan was presenting a three-stage program designed to prepare the way for political action toward an arms agreement.

The British leader, ranking western statesman on hand for the U. N. General Assembly's fateful policy debate, won an ovation with a defense of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, whose office is under Soviet attack.

And at this point Khrushchev led his bloc in the table-thumping smiling momentarily but the most part scowling angrily. A similar table-thumping demonstration had greeted a Hammarskjöld address Monday.

When Macmillan raised a point about the breakup of the Paris summit conference last May, Khrushchev wagged a finger at the speaker and shouted something in Russian. Nearby delegates were startled. Macmillan ignored this first interruption.

Macmillan received the biggest ovation thus far in this historic 1958 assembly session. Khrushchev and the Soviet bloc sat glumly and silently throughout the stormy approach, conspicuously not joining in it. Then the Soviet premier strode out of the assembly hall.

Khrushchev and Macmillan are to meet later today in a private conference.

Macmillan, in a major Western pronouncement asked the assembly to set up a board of technical experts—scientific, military and administrative—to prepare a report within a reasonable brief period to provide the basis for a calm approach to the arms problem.

"This practical procedure is not in any sense a proposal to institute control without disarmament," Macmillan said, hitting at Soviet Premier Khrushchev's principal objections to western approaches to the arms problem.

"No country would be committed to implementing any of the measures which the technical experts might suggest in the various fields until there was subsequent agreement about the disarmament measures related to the system of control."

"Of course, if confidence is to be maintained it is obvious that control must be concurrent with disarmament and that it must be effective."

While Khrushchev glowered angrily, Macmillan told the delegates, "The sponge of public opinion is almost saturated with the persistent flood of propaganda," and can tolerate little more.

"We'll have a better city if this group is willing to play an active role," said Commissioner John A. Dugan, who fathered the idea.

"Keep meeting with us, keep asking questions, learn the facts instead of rumors and then spread the news."

Subjects, projects and accomplishments are of concern to local officials across the country, but in Pontiac the citizens demonstrated that they are concerned too.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, who welcomed the group; John A. Dugan, who fathered the idea.

Miller's appointment broke a long deadlock on the State Board of Education over a successor to Dr. Paul V. Baagren who retired from the State Board last July 1. Miller will assume the $23,000-a-year post Jan. 1.

Red Interrupts With Heckling

Satellites Heed Him, Join in Demonstration Against Arms Cut Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain urged the United Nations today to make a calm, reasoned approach to disarmament. His speech was interrupted by angry heckling from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and the Communist bloc.

At one point the Soviet premier leaped to his feet, scowling, and shouted at the British leader as Macmillan was presenting a major statement of western objectives.

Khrushchev shouted Russian words at the British statesman at several points and led the Communist delegations in a new table-thumping demonstration of protest. The Soviet premier seemed irate.

When Khrushchev shouted his Russian words, the assembly president gavelled him down. Khrushchev interrupted his speech and remarked coolly:

School Board Endorses Proposed State Change

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Board of Education today strongly endorsed a proposed amendment to the State Constitution in the Nov. 8 election that would continue a successful method of financing school construction.

Noting its far-reaching financial implications for Michigan school districts and for Birmingham, Mrs. Kathryn Loomis, president of the school board, urged that all voters support the board's stand.

"The probable alternative is an unacceptably increased tax rate for future debt service for our school district," she emphasized.

She said a "yes" vote on Proposal No. 1 on the November ballot would continue financial practices in effect since 1955 when voters approved the original amendment.

Dr. Mark, who has authored numerous articles on nationalism and communism, has been on the WSU faculty since 1952. Prior to that he taught at Western Reserve University in Cleveland four years.

Dr. Mark, a native of Vienna, Austria, received his doctorate at the university there.

Titan Rocket Misses, Hits Far From Goal

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An Air Force attempt to fire a Titan missile 10,000 miles fell far short of the goal today when the second-stage engines shut down too soon.

The Air Force said the missile's dummy warhead flew more than 6,000 statute miles down the Atlantic missile range but landed far off target.

It was an attempt for a new military rocket distance record. The United States has sent two Atlas ICBMs more than 9,000 statute miles this year, but the best the Russians have managed was about 8,500 miles with their so-called "super rockets."

Independence Brings Only Misery

Congo Dream Turns Into Nightmare

By LYNN HEINZELING
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Republic of Congo at this stage is the dream that didn't come true.
Three months of independence have brought 14 million Congolese only bloodshed, misery and aching frustration.

Black men sit in the fine mansions of the old white rulers but they do not rule. Rifles and machine-guns in the hands of Congolese soldiers and United Nations troops are the scepters of power and order.

The republic, born so solemnly June 30, has never known anything but dictatorship—first by Moscovite-supported Premier Patrice Lumumba, and more recently by Col. Joseph Mobutu whose nature is idealistic but rarely practical. Arbitrary rule by the colonialist Belgians has been replaced by the arbitrary rule and decrees of the black man. There are more empty stomachs and more unemployed. Lumumba's military adventures against political opponents, together with ancient tribal conflicts, have rooted thousands of Congolese. There are 250,000 refugees in the Katanga region of Kasai province alone.

The Soviets, with their planes and trucks helped to move the Congolese army to remote parts of the country. Incredible confusion was created.

With both President Joseph Kasavubu and Lumumba claiming ultimate power, there is no government. Normal channels of commerce have been disrupted. Food staples have run short in rural areas. The United Nations is doing its best with its planes and a creaking internal transportation system.

Tons and tons of dried skin milk were contributed by the United States. But Congolese children do not like the taste. The United Nations invented a Soviet-American cocktail, 40 parts American milk to 12 parts Soviet sugar.

The prices of food and other consumer goods creep up. The Congolese franc has lost a fifth its value.

The nation's income from exports has plummeted. To get the economy moving, credit is needed, but there is no credit for a country which cannot pay its bills.

Funeral Rite Friday for Mrs. Heilmann

ROYAL OAK (UPI)—Funeral service will be held here Friday at the Shrine of the Little Flower for Mrs. Mae Maynes Heilmann, widow of former Detroit Tigers great Harry Heilmann.
Mrs. Heilmann, whose husband died several years ago, died Tuesday while visiting a daughter at Shaker Heights, Ohio.
Mrs. Heilmann was 63. Her late husband was four times the American League batting champion and one of the Tigers' greatest stars. After his playing career, Heilmann was a radio announcer, broadcasting Tiger games.

Troubled by the increasing number of motorists trying to break through the toll gate in Shiga, Japan, without paying, the police came up with the idea of putting non-paying drivers under arrest on the spot by throwing eggs containing a fluorescent substance at their cars.

International Fund Eyes Expansion

IFC Wants Permission to Invest in Firms of Underdeveloped Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Finance Corp. today asked its 58 member nations for permission to broaden significantly the scope of its assistance to private enterprise in underdeveloped areas.

Robert L. Garner, IFC president, said the organization needs authority to invest in the capital stock of private firms efficiently. Final action on the proposal probably will be deferred for some months. For one thing, there would have to be advance approval by the U.S. Senate and the West German Parliament.

A ban on stock purchases by IFC was included in the charter of the four-year-old institution at the urging of former U.S. Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey. He objected to a public institution owning stock in private business.
The present Treasury chief, Robert B. Anderson, favors lifting the ban.

Jaywalkers in Philadelphia to Be Warned

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Police officials, noting a rise in pedestrian traffic deaths, launched a safety campaign aimed primarily at jaywalkers today.
Officers were instructed to stop pedestrians who cross streets haphazardly, and serve them with a safety leaflet listing 10 rules for safe walking.
Pedestrian deaths in the city this year stand at 77-25 more than for the same period last year.

Dior Announces Yves' Temporary Successor

PARIS (AP)—The Paris fashion house of Dior today announced a temporary successor to its army-drafted top designer, Yves St. Laurent. The job goes to Marc Bohan, 34, who joined Dior in 1958 to do a London collection.
Bohan is a Paris-born Frenchman. He is blond, thin and an elegant dresser. He is married and has a 6-year-old son.
Bohan opened his own small fashion house about seven years ago, but it failed after about a year. Then he became head designer for Patou for several seasons. He had previously had experience with Figueit and Malino.

Greenville Will Lose Manufacture of Gloves

GREENVILLE (AP)—Wolverine Shoe & Tanning Corp. of Rockford has announced it is moving the production of gloves from its Greenville plant which will be devoted exclusively to shoe manufacture.

Wolverine President Adolph K. Krause said glove production will be concentrated at the firm's Howard City and Reed City plants. He said the Greenville plant has been turning out 1,000 pairs of shoes a day and, with added new machinery, will step up output to 2,400 pairs a day.

Frost Damage Light So Far

Late Corn Still Needs 2 Weeks to Mature; Soil Mostly Moist

LANSING (AP) — Only scattered frost damage to crops has hit Michigan so far this fall, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

Farmers were keeping a close eye on the weather forecasts, however. The corn crop was maturing rapidly but late-planted corn still needed two more weeks without frost to mature.

About 55 per cent of the corn crop was mature compared with more than three-fourths at this time last season.

Soil moisture was reported short only in the southwestern part of the state and the southern Thumb area.

Main farm work during the past week was silo filling, the fruit harvest, digging potatoes and the planting of winter wheat. About 35 per cent of the wheat acreage has been planted.

The peach harvest was about completed in the western part of the state. The pear and apple harvests continued and grape picking was at its peak.

About 30 per cent of the potato acreage was harvested. Nearly two-thirds of the dry bean acreage was pulled. Damp weather slowed the bean harvest last week and was hurting the quality of the crop.

Pastures and the hay crop were in good condition except in the few dry areas.

The fall truck crop harvest continued. Vegetables in volume harvest included cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, late celery, dry onions, sweet corn and tomatoes.

Use of potato flakes and granules has increased from almost nothing to $35 million retail value in the last three years.

She's Out to Hold Him Says His Wife's His Aunt

LONDON (AP)—Dentist Jeffrey Gordon is seeking an annulment of his marriage, claiming his wife is also his aunt.

If he gets the divorce court action and then refuses to remarry her, Beatrice Gordon says she will sue her husband for breach of promise.

The dentist is Mrs. Gordon's second husband. Her first "was" Merryyn Slippner, the brother of her present husband's mother. That made her Gordon's aunt by marriage.

The Slippners were divorced in 1945, with Gordon named as co-respondent. Gordon and Beatrice were married at a civil ceremony the next year.

His petition for annulment points out that marriage to one's aunt was not permitted 14 years ago.

Mrs. Gordon is not defending the suit. But she wants her husband to remarry her, a recent act of Parliament having made marriage legal for persons related by ties other than blood.

Just to be sure, Mrs. Gordon has filed suit for damages from her husband, claiming breach of promise.

"If he won't remarry me, I shall proceed with my action," she said.

Pontiac Doctor Named to Blue Shield Board

A Pontiac doctor, Michael C. Kozonis, has been elected to Michigan Blue Shield's Board of Directors.

Dr. Kozonis of 167 E. Iroquois Road, was one of five Michigan physicians named to the board of representatives of the medical profession.

The election took place Tuesday at the organization's annual meeting in Detroit.

Kozonis has offices in the Pontiac State Bank Building.

Reminds W. Reich of Aid Obligations

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon told West Germany Tuesday that it has a responsibility to provide more economic aid to underdeveloped nations in view of its booming prosperity of recent years.

Even before Dillon spoke out, West German Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard acknowledged that his country, "to which foreign aid was given in the darkest hour of its history, must in turn respond to the moral command to help poorer peoples."

The two officials spoke before the 15th annual meeting of governors of the 68-nation World Bank.

Lawyers Pushing Court Revisions

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Michigan lawyers were lined up today to campaign for passage in the 1961 legislature of a complete revision of state judicial procedure and Michigan court rules.

The Michigan Conference of Bar Officers, which represents the 9,000 attorneys in the state, approved a resolution late Tuesday again to back the 68-page document proposing judicial overhauling, which failed to get through the last legislature.

The action came at the 25th annual convention of the state bar, which winds up Friday.

An Operation Reveals 'Bee Sting' Was Bullet

GENEVA, N. Y. (AP)—Linda Russell, 14, thought she had been stung by a bee last summer when she felt a sharp pain in her right foot.

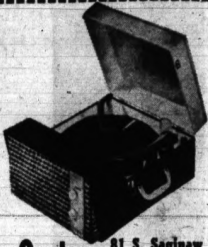

She treated the area with lotion and forgot about it.

Recently Linda jumped off a bench at school and got such a terrific pain in her foot that she had to go home.

An operation uncovered a .22 caliber bullet.

Kalamazoo Firm to Pay $2,400 Fine

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—McNamara Motor Express of Kalamazoo has been ordered to pay a total fine of $2,400 on federal charges of violating the Interstate Commerce Act.

William Dick, director of safety and personnel for the firm, appeared Monday before U.S. District Judge Raymond W. Starr to accept sentence on a plea of guilty on behalf of the firm on 16 counts of a 26-count charge.

U.S. Attorney Robert J. Danbo said the firm pleaded guilty to three counts of failing to have doctor's certificates on file, one count of permitting an underage driver to operate a truck, nine counts of failure to require drivers to submit daily logs and three counts of failure to maintain records of up-keep and inspection. Danbo said the offenses occurred between July 1959 and last March.

Our Debate Stirs British

LONDON (AP)—The Nixon-Kennedy television debate, shown to British viewers by the BBC Tuesday night, was a major topic of conversation among Londoners today.

The interest shown by Britons in a discussion of purely American domestic issues by the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates was surprising to Americans living here.

Most critics in morning newspapers said Sen. John F. Kennedy made a better showing than Vice President Richard M. Nixon. A number complained, however, that the whole thing seemed stilted.

Rebel Chief in Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—Ferhat Abbas, premier of the rebel exile government of Algeria, arrived in Moscow Tuesday. Tass news agency said he had a "warm and friendly" talk today with First Deputy Premier Alexei Kosygin in the Kremlin.

Meany Raps Nixon on Economic Word

WASHINGTON (UPI)—AFL-CIO President George Meany has attacked GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon's statements about U.S. economic progress under the Eisenhower administration.

In an editorial in an AFL-CIO publication, Meany said Nixon "could not have been referring to jobs" when he claimed on Monday night's TV "Great Debate" that administration policies had brought the greatest expansion in the economy's private sector of any eight-year period. Meany said 500,000 fewer persons held full-time jobs today than three years ago.

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Ex-King Peter of Yugoslavia is upset over use of his picture by a Perth firm advertising TV sets. "Royal entertainment fit for a king" said the ad, showing Peter seated beside one of the sets. A complaint on behalf of the former king said the commercial use of the picture was an affront to his dignity and that he hadn't authorized such use.

Then he took a large bottle from his case and carefully poured the liquid about one-third full of a glass which he mixed with a little ice. At the command "Down!" they quickly gulped the liquid.

Some gasped and began coughing.

The doctor said, "You'll feel better after the second dose." He poured more of the liquid into the cup. Again the employees drank it down.

Sumner said, "My throat is burning terribly. May we get some water?"

"Of course," the doctor said calmly.

The group hurried to a water fountain and began to drink. Suddenly Hiroshi Nakamura, an accountant, collapsed. He sprang on his back with his eyes open and glazed.

Mrs. Masako Takeuchi ran to ward the manager's office screaming in terror. She collapsed and fell headlong. Around her, others were writhing in agony.

THIRD TRY

Quickly the visitor scooped up 15,480 yen in cash and a check for 17,400 yen—the equivalent of about $600 but a substantial amount to most Japanese. Then he disappeared into the cold night.

Mrs. Takeuchi slowly fought back to consciousness and a world of fear and pain. Somehow she managed to crawl out into the dark street, crying for help. A policeman pushed his way into a scene of horror that resembled a battlefield.

Twelve men and women lay dead. Of the 15 who drank the doctor's "medicine," only Mrs. Takeuchi, the bank manager and one other were alive.

This was the most sensational bank robbery and mass murder in the history of Tokyo.

The three survivors were rushed to a hospital where their stomachs were pumped and other measures taken. Almost miraculously, they lived. Drugs in the tea cups clutched in the hands of the dead revealed traces of the deadly poison, potassium cyanide.

Inspector Otori of the Tokyo police was shocked to find that a man representing himself as a doctor had, on two previous occasions, entered suburban banks and used the same story in an effort to get employees to drink "medicine."

The first case had occurred three months before the mass murders at the Ebara branch of the Yasuda Bank. The supposed "doctor" had introduced himself to the bank manager and given him a personal card bearing the name of Dr. Shi-goro Matsui of the Japanese Welfare Ministry.

This "Dr. Matsui" had persuaded 16 bank clerks and the manager to drink the "medicine." All became ill, but none died because the mixture was too weak.

The mystery man fled without attempting robbery—but the bank manager kept his card. In the second case, "Dr. Shi-goro Matsui" handed a card to the bank manager, but the manager became suspicious, and the visitor ran away.

Otori was horrified that neither case was reported to Tokyo's central police headquarters. The police involved explained lamely that since no robbery had actually taken place, they did not think it necessary to bother headquarters.

Descriptions by witnesses left no doubt that "Dr. Matsui" and "Dr. Yamaguchi" were the same person. He was a man past middle age with a mole on his left cheek and a scar under his chin.

The card bearing the name "Dr. Shi-goro Matsui" had been printed in a small shop near the Ginza. But no one could be found with that name. As for "Dr. Matsui," an investigation disclosed there was a physician by that name who lived in Hawaii.

The real Dr. Matsui had an impeccable reputation and had been far from Tokyo at the time the killer was giving potassium cyanide to his victims.

THE TELL-TALE CARD

The most promising clue seemed to lie in the fact that the robber had used one of the real Dr. Matsui's cards.

Like all Japanese business and professional men, he was a liberal giver of personal cards. He had given 96 of a set of 100 to persons he had met, and had kept the cards of those with whom he had exchanged greetings.

Incredible as it seems, the police accounted for all 96 of the remaining cards and checked on the stories of those who held them. One by one they eliminated from their suspect list 95 of those who had received cards from Dr. Matsui.

The single name that remained on the list was that of Tadashige Hirasawa, an artist whose paintings had won favorable attention at art shows.

Dr. Matsui told police he remembered meeting Hirasawa aboard a ferry while making a trip to Hokkaido. Inspector Otori could find no police record on Hirasawa except that his home in Tokyo had caught fire twice under mysterious circumstances—and firms in film-ally built Tokyo are as divided as a plague. The cause of the fires had never been determined.

There was some truth to Hirasawa's claim to importance in the art world even though many critics thought his work second rate. He seemed an unlikely suspect, but Otori ordered a secret investigation and sent one of his men to interview Hirasawa, but Mrs. Hirasawa said her husband had gone to Otaru City because his parents were very ill.

Police found Hirasawa in Otaru City and were struck by the fact that the artist's parents, looked remarkably healthy. Hirasawa seemed quite willing to discuss his whereabouts on the day of the robbery murders.

He told them that on Jan. 26 he had gone to the Mikubishi Exhibition Grounds to meet President Oshima of the Oshima Land Company—and that in fact he had sold Mr. Oshima one of his paintings.

Asked about his meeting with Dr. Matsui, Hirasawa said, "Of course I remember Dr. Matsui. We exchanged cards while on the ferry going to Hokkaido." He recalled that the doctor had taken a fountain-pen from his pocket and written an address on the card.

A police inspector said, "Would you let me see the card?" The inspector had by this time noted that Hirasawa had a mole on his left cheek and a scar under his chin.

"I'm sorry," Hirasawa said, "but my wallet was stolen by a pickpocket soon afterward and Dr. Matsui's card was among those lost."

TWO LAW CLOSERS IN

When Hirasawa's story was checked with Dr. Matsui, the doctor commented, "I never carry a fountain pen."

Detectives assigned to watch Hirasawa's home near the scene of the bank robbery posed as deliverymen, as repairmen and bill collectors. They obtained samples of Hirasawa's handwriting from postcards and letters.

A handwriting expert compared this with the signature on the check cashed the day following the robbery. He said they were written by the same person.

The police discovered that shortly after the robbery Hirasawa had given his wife 80,000 yen, and that his bank account showed deposits of 44,500 yen although a few days earlier he and his wife had been trying to borrow from friends.

Questioned, Hirasawa said the money came from the sale of paintings and from gifts of money made to him by wealthy art patrons. But police could find no one who admitted he was a patron of Hirasawa and no evidence that he sold pictures amounting to more than 100,000 yen.

By mid-August 1948, almost eight months after the crime, Otori had no doubt that he had found the murderer. Arrested, Hirasawa protested his innocence violently and declared he was being persecuted.

People began to choose up sides, for and against Hirasawa. Some newspapers charged that police were railroad-ing him in total disregard of his civil rights.

In Hirasawa's home police found a brown suit similar to that worn by the robber, a loose-fitting white coat such as the murderer had worn, and a leather case resembling the one carried by the "doctor."

Two of the survivors of the massacre identified Hirasawa as the killer. But some employees at the other banks first identified Hirasawa—and then said they weren't sure.

Hirasawa could not explain the discrepancies in his story. Finally he shrugged and said, "You are right. I am the man."

Five months later, the artist repudiated his confession and claimed it had been extorted from him by police brutality. His trial was one of the legal sensations of postwar Japan.

Hirasawa appeared in court dressed in ceremonial Japanese robes and sat impassively until the judge sentenced him to death. Then he cried, "A great wrong has been done."

But Hirasawa still lives. His death warrant—for reasons never explained—remains unsigned by the minister of justice.

Pontiac Man Learns Costly Card Trick

Wilber Finley, 332 Colorado Ave., paid $40 for a deck of cards yesterday.

The unemployed 23-year-old Finley was the prey for two slick-talking confidence men, according to Pontiac police.

They cornered Finley as he left the Michigan Employment Security Commission office, 248 Oakland Ave., shortly after noon.

Their story, according to Finley, was that they were "afraid" to put $2,800 into a bank. They talked him into putting $40 with their "money" into a handkerchief which the trio then threw into the trunk of Finley's car.

Eventually, Finley dropped the pair off on Wexen street.

The more he thought, the more he wondered.

Finally he opened the trunk of his car. There he found a handkerchief—containing the cards.

Fuss Over No-Red Ban at WSU Grows

DETROIT (UPI) — The furor over Communist speakers at Wayne State University has picked up steam following disclosure that a Moscow University professor is slated to give a campus speech Oct. 5.

Two weeks ago WSU lifted its 10-year ban prohibiting Communist speakers from appearing on campus, but two young Detroiters immediately started a petition campaign to get 25,000 signatures since it was disclosed that O. A. Reutov, Moscow University professor of chemistry, is scheduled to speak on campus.

Reutov is in the United States under the National Academy of Sciences exchange program.

Anderson Makes Policy Speech

Recession About Licked, Claims Treasury Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was pictured Wednesday by Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson as approaching the end of an economic adjustment of the type usually associated with recessions.

In an important policy speech at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund, Anderson said:

"The adjustments that our economy has undergone this year provide the base for a long period of sustainable, noninflationary growth."

The secretary's economic forecast came as some economists pressed to see signs of an approaching recession in the spotty business record of recent months. Anderson, a conservative in money matters, is no economist. However, his stock as a business prophet rose early in 1958 when he correctly predicted the end of that year's recession.

Before venturing his latest forecast, Anderson checked signals at a top level White House meeting. He discussed his speech at length last week with President Eisenhower, Chairman William McClellan, and the Federal Reserve Board, and Raymond J. Sauter, chairman of Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisors.

Newsweek Magazine said in its current issue that during that meeting Eisenhower received a confidential report from the Commerce Department indicating the Gross National Product may fall in the third quarter to a level between $50 billion and $52 billion. The second quarter figure was $56 billion.

The Gross National Product — representing the output of the nation's factories, mills and mines — is regarded as a key indicator of economic health.

According to Newsweek, the White House conferees were disturbed by other signs of economic weakness, including a decrease in consumer plans to buy such major items as automobiles, lack of prospects for a significant pickup in steel, and a drop in profits.

In his speech to the monetary fund, Anderson said, "It is my strong view that the outlook for economic activity in this country is favorable, both for the near future and for many years ahead."

He said a sharp reduction in business spending for inventories has caused most of the recent slack in the economy. This reduction stemmed, he pointed out, from a realization that inflation has been licked and there is no need to stockpile goods as a hedge against shortages or higher prices.

Metro Still Faces
Walkout by TWU

DETROIT (UPI) — Demonstrations continued Wednesday at the American Airlines office at Detroit Metropolitan Airport by the Transport Workers Union (AFL-CIO). The union, headed by President Michael J. Quill, has announced authorization of a strike for midnight Saturday.

Quill said the union is seeking a 30 per cent wage increase and a work reduction from 37½ to 30 hours a week. Wages range from $2.25 to $3.14 an hour, he said.

About 8,000 nonflying employees — mechanics, maintenance men and others — would be affected by a walkout. More than 40 union pickets demonstrated in front of the airline's office as part of a series of actions by workers in 27 major American cities.

A two-year contract will expire Friday. A National Mediation Board representative is attending current negotiations in New York. The airline said the protests would not interfere with flight schedules.

Churchills Vacation

NICE, France (AP) — Sir Winston and Lady Churchill have arrived for a fall vacation in nearby Monte Carlo. The British statesman, also accompanied by his daughter, actress Sarah Churchill, will be the guest of Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping magnate.

Tempest Station Wagons, Sedans Introduced

to the transaxle by a newly-developed drive shaft that virtually eliminates the floor tunnel."

The four-cylinder Tempest engine is adapted from Pontiac's big V8, and is standard with either a synchromesh or an automatic transmission.

The unique Tempest series combines the famous Pontiac wide track concept with independent suspension at all four wheels, and equal weight distribution through the front-engine, rear-transmission setup.

Economy operation becomes reality with a wide selection of 155-cubic-inch engines. The short stroke four is available in five different versions, ranging from a one-barrel, regular fuel engine developing 110 horsepower with straight stick transmission, to a four-barrel, premium fuel engine rated at 155 horsepower for either straight or automatic transmission.

Also available in the Tempest is a 215-cubic-inch, regular fuel aluminum V8 engine, for use with both straight or automatic transmissions. This engine has a two-barrel carburetor, and develops the same amount of horsepower as the top rated four.

Compression ratios are 10.25 to 1 for premium fuel and 8.8 to 1 for regular fuel engines.

The standard Tempest transmission is a manual shift, three-speed conventional synchromesh, while an automatic transmission is offered as an option. Both are mounted at the rear wheels with the differential carrier to give perfect balance to the entire car.

This new concept results in excellent riding and handling characteristics, and a flatter floor for greater passenger room and comfort.

Joining the engine to the transmission is a curved torque tube that houses the flexible drive shaft. The 3/4-inch diameter shaft is made of high-grade alloy steel and is specially manufactured for high fatigue life.

Tempest bodies are of integral construction, with an over-all height of 33.5 inches for the sedan, and 54.2 inches for the station wagon. From bumper to bumper, both models measure 189.3 inches.

Comparable figures for the standard size Pontiacs are: 54.9 inches on convertibles to 58.9 on station wagons; 210 inches in length for Star Chiefs; Bonneville, 217; with Safaris at 209.7.

Tempest width is 72 inches, compared to 78.2 in the standard Pontiacs, and the new smaller car carries a 57-inch tread, in the wide track tradition.

Tempest accessories include windshield washers, dual speed wiper blades, air conditioning, power steering, radio, heater, back-up lights, and a luggage carrier for station wagons.

Power brakes are not offered, and Knudsen said they are not necessary. Axle ratios available are standard, 3.55:1; economy, 3.31:1; and performance, 3.73:1.

Pontiac Sales Manager Frank V. Bridge, said, "The Tempest rides and handles like a big car. The entire Tempest concept has been thoroughly tested and proven throughout 2 million miles of hard driving under all conditions."

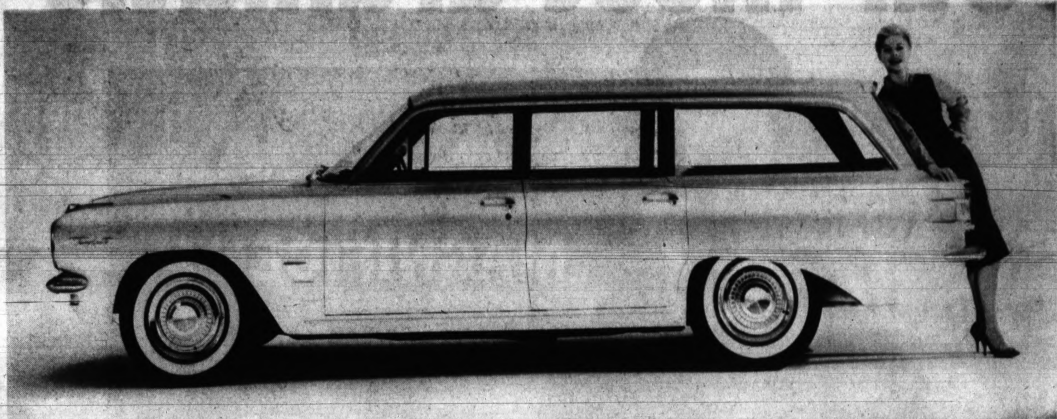

"We believe its thoroughly tested and proven new engineering features, which combine plenty of power with economy, front-mounted engine with rear-mounted transmission, six-passenger comfort with large rear trunk, and near equal weight distribution front and rear, make it the ideal family car to sell as a companion to our regular Pontiac line," Bridge added.

FACTORY PRICES

Tempest factory list price, as announced yesterday, are $1,975 for the sedan, and $2,225 for the station wagon. The sedan price is $415 below the most inexpensive Pontiac Catalina at $2,390.

Questioned at the press preview to how many Tempests he expected to sell, Knudsen said he had no figure in mind, but that he expected to sell as many 1961 standard size Pontiacs as the firm sold 1960 models, and that the Tempest would be 'plus' business.

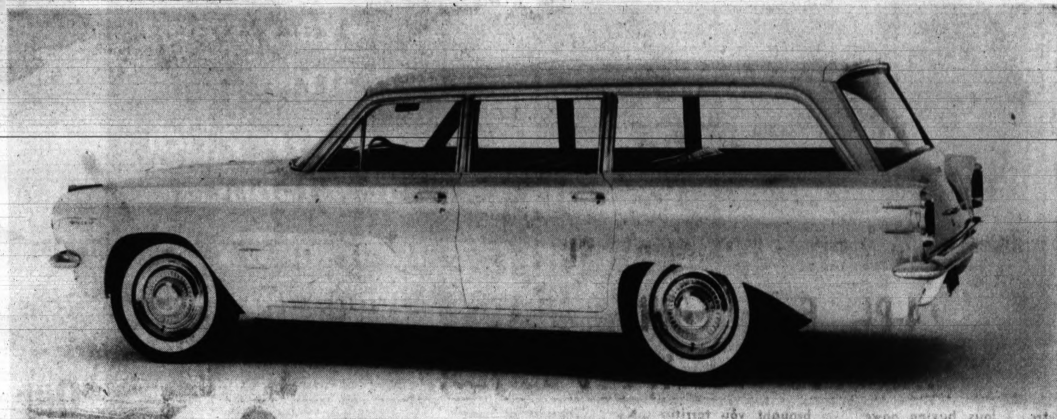

Last year Pontiac sold 383,320 units, a 3 1/2 per cent increase over the preceding year.

STATION WAGON FEATURES — Pontiac's Tempest station wagon is designed for comfort, economy and performance. Along with unit body construction and independent four-wheel suspension, the Tempest features a four-cylinder, front-mounted engine and transmission in the rear. Standard tire size for the station wagon is 8.59 by 15. The picture above shows the identifying twin grille

below shows the clean styling of the rear of Pontiac's Tempest four-door sedan model. The sloping trunk lid flows to the tail lights, while a wrap-around bumper protects back-up lights and license bracket beneath it. Canting the four-cylinder engine at 45 degrees allowed a lower hood line, and easy access to motor accessories. In addition to the regular fuel, four-cylinder engine, an aluminum V8 is available for both synchromesh and automatic transmissions, which also uses regular fuel. Pontiac's Tempest offers the first four-cylinder American car since the postwar Henry J.

Hotel Has Enough of Castro
After Seeing Mess He Left

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fidel Castro moved out of the Hotel Theresa Wednesday with 300 pieces of luggage, part of a case of whiskey and two containers of white rice.

After surveying what Castro had left behind, the manager said he would not voluntarily accept him as a guest again.

Castro and his party occupied 40 of the hotel's 300 rooms. They spent much of their time beating on the walls to the time of Latin rhythms and drinking coffee, according to hotel employees.

The Theresa, in the heart of Harlem, caters almost entirely to a Negro clientele. Castro moved there last week and hot plate from the hotel's kitchen in midtown Manhattan in a pipe over arrangements made for him there.

The Castroites did not leave the Theresa in as much of a mess as they did the Shelburne, where feathers strewn on the floor indicated they had plucked their own chickens for dinner.

They also left a clutter of cigar butts and empty bottles at the Shelburne.

COOKED ON PLATE

Nearly all the 64 persons with Castro ate their meals out or had Spanish food sent in. But Castro brought two chefs with him from Cuba, one said to be from the Havana Hilton Hotel, and they prepared the chief's meals on a two-burner hot plate on a dresser.

The cooks left behind a bowl of rice, potatoes, onions and part of a pumpkin. Rice and potatoes appeared to be the mainstays of Castro's diet. The ingredients for his meals were sent from Cuba and carefully inspected.

Castro's room was small and contained a lumpy double bed. There was a television set, a small desk and a dresser, but no closet. The room contained three chairs and a black shade, which was torn so badly it could not be raised.

On one occasion, Castro was unable to open his window when he tried to look out on crowds gathered on the street, so he went upstairs to the room of a Negro woman, who let him look out her window. In appreciation, he gave her a wallet with his autograph on it.

A handyman said that Castro's room was not in "too bad" condition, "but most of the other rooms were pretty dirty," when the party moved out.

In a wastebasket in Castro's room were found a Spanish language magazine named "Bohemia," a bunch of wilted daisies and an empty Spanish coffee can.

A security guard said that for several days at a time, chambermaids were not allowed in the rooms to change the beds.

Castro remained aloof from the rest of the party most of the time and was so carefully guarded that when Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru called on him Tuesday night, he had to wait in the hall for Castro to return to the hotel and precede him into the room.

Love B. Wood, owner-manager of the hotel, said the Cuban guests paid their bill promptly at 4 p.m. every day, but that he would not have Castro back except by State Department request.

"Voluntarily, no," said Wood. "Compulsory, yes. This is the greatest country in the world and I don't agree with any guests who lambaste our country."

In addition to other items, the departing Castroites took with them the premier's personal refrigerator, several slide projectors and screens, radios and tape recorders and a supply of loud new sports jackets.

Women in the party, who work as secretaries for members of the entourage, took back boxes of toys from New York department stores, including several three-foot high Teddy Bears, one of them a pink model named "Theresa" in honor of the hotel.

Included in the 27,000 left-over World War II ammunition and other explosive mementos recovered last year from the Australian public were 25,811 "live" items that could have killed or severely maimed any unsuspecting person handling them.

Probe Errant Launch of Pershing Missile

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Technicians studied telemetry data today in an effort to learn what went wrong in the first two-stage Pershing missile off course.

The rocket corkscrewed out of control an instant after its second stage ignited Wednesday and was destroyed by the range safety officer. Planning pieces of the broken missile plummeted into the Atlantic several miles offshore.

The Army said there was a malfunction in the second stage. Officials were pleased that the first two goals—separation and ignition of the upper stage—were achieved.

Six previous Pershing launches, all involving only the first stage, were successful.

The 34-foot, solid-fuel missile is being developed as a mobile weapon for troops in the field. It is scheduled to be operational in mid-1962 with a range of up to 700 miles.

Bay City Man to Head Jewelers Association

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Jewelers Association has elected a Bay City jeweler as its president for 1960-61.

Robert Heglund was named president at the annual convention and jewelry show in Grand Rapids.

Others elected were Howard Morrison of Kalamazoo, vice president, and Pat Hodges of Hastings, treasurer.

Missile Flops for Maker

CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)—It's an inch off the launching pad. Kriesel, who had worked five years on the missile, rested his head on his arms for a few seconds. Then he looked up, swallowed hard, and said: "Well, that's the rocket business. I'll try again on my Christmas vacation."

Kriesel's post-mortem disclosed that a 10-cent fuel-line coupling had sprung a leak.

The Owatonna, Mich. youth, a student at the University of Minnesota, said he'd work out plans for a new engine.

Fairbanks-Morse President Resigns

CHICAGO (AP)—Robert W. Kerr, 55, president of Fairbanks-Morse & Co. for 14 months, has resigned.

Kerr's resignation became effective Aug. 31. He now is president of Fluor Products Co., Los Angeles.

Alfonso Landi, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Fairbanks-Morse, said today Kerr's resignation resulted from a disagreement over company policy.

Another company source said the disagreement had to do with plans for reorganizing the company, which manufactures industrial equipment. This source said the board of directors thought Kerr was moving much too slowly.

Will Need License to Sell Money Order

LANSING (UPI)—State Banking Commissioner Jerome J. Zaitchik has reminded people who sell money orders to the public they must buy a license and be investigated under a law which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1961.

Banks, savings and loan associations and credit unions are exempted from the provisions.

A license for persons selling "money orders, drafts or checks, as a service or for a fee," costs $150 yearly and there is a $100 investigation fee at the time of application for the license.

The law requires check sellers to post bond or at least $25,000 and give proof of financial responsibility to the banking commissioner.

Periodic examinations of records are called for by law, and any violations would be punishable by fines and other penalties.

Pan American Signs for Space in Skyscraper

NEW YORK (AP)—A lease involving 613,000 square feet and a total rental of $113.5 million over a 25-year period has been written here.

Pan American World Airways has leased the space in the new skyscraper to be built over Grand Central Terminal. The structure, which was to have been named Grand Central City, has been renamed the Pan Am Building for its principal tenant.

The company plans to move to post head of at least $25,000 for occupancy in December 1962. The structure is expected to be ready for occupancy in December 1962.

The highest elevation in the Maldives Islands, a chain of coral islets in the Indian Ocean, is 20 feet.

PICTURE MARYEL—This electron tube is a new device that can print pictures in a third of a second. The tube can produce high quality photographs from electronic signals like those now used to send news photos. Current news service machines require about seven minutes to produce a picture. At present, the range of the new tube's transmission is limited, but its producer, Raytheon, suggests such usage as in-plant transmission of drawings, records and photos at high speeds.

Madison Heights Club to Take Registrations

An injunction was refused yesterday by Circuit Judge William J. Beer which would have discontinued voter registrations by members of the Madison Heights Democratic Club.

It had been requested last week by Joseph A. Rice, an interested citizen and resident of the city, who alleged the practice "leads itself to fraudulent registration on a wholesale scale."

The judge said in his ruling that registrations should be conducted on a nonpartisan basis and under City Clerk Myrtle Chamberlain's supervision.

Judge Beer ruled, after questioning Mrs. Chamberlain, that "at no time" was she constrained by a Sept. 12 resolution of the City Council to carry out its authorization to deputize qualified members of the club as registrars.

Deputies were recruited, however, but only after the clerk chose the persons on their merits and after she conducted a school of instruction for them, the judge said.

"At no time did she try to pick Democrats in predominance," Judge Beer ruled. Theodore Sachs, Detroit attorney for the state AFL-CIO, intervened in the suit on behalf of John Archaebault, president of the club.

Rice, 31221 Kenwood Dr., charged the special registration plan was illegal by the union.

Sachs said the plan violated no

Mistrial Declared in Child Drugging

CLEVELAND (AP)—Juvenile Court Judge Albert Woldman Wednesday declared a mistrial in the "sleeping beauty" case involving Mrs. Lillian Frattantoni. She is accused of drugging her two daughters with barbiturates, putting them into a coma for prolonged periods.

The trial of the 29-year-old mother had been interrupted Monday because of the illness of Juvenile Court Judge Margaret J. Spellacy, who was hearing the case.

An aide to Judge Spellacy said he did not know how long the judge may be out. She went to Lakewood Hospital Sunday suffering from a severe case of pleurisy, which followed a bout with pneumonia a few weeks ago.

Judge Woldman discharged the jury. No new date was set for the retrial.

Bit of Good News Could Spur Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. feels that if the market is given a bit of heartening news, it would stimulate buying.

The analyst points to the Tuesday performance of American Can Co., which bounded upward on what was considered a good news item—the maintenance of its dividend rate.

Interest in Seagrave Corp. reflects a recent announcement that the company plans to enter the auto manufacturing field with a custom-built compact car not intended for the mass market. Reynolds & Co. says it is not impressed with the move and would avoid the stock.

Stocks showing strong counter-trend action pointing to higher levels, according to Hayden, Stone & Co., are: Korvette, New York Air Brake, Spiegel, Warner Pictures, Decca Records, Garrett, Peabody Coal, Lorillard, Richfield Oil, Ronson and Pacific Lighting.

Thompson & McKinnon has a list of "buy-worthy" stocks for long term investment of which the highest yielding are: Allied Mills (5.7), Cities Service (5.8), Columbia Gas (5.9), Laggett & Myers (6.0), Northern Pacific (5.8), Pullman (6.3), Southern Natural Gas (5.3), Southern Railway (4.7), Jersey Standard (3.6) and U.S. Rubber (5.0).

Syntax Corp. has the "chart of the week," according to Chartcraft, a bearish-looking chart prompts the service to advise selling this issue short on any rally.

130-Man MSU Band Ready for Saturday

LANSING (AP)—Michigan State University's 130-man marching band, larger than ever, makes its debut Saturday at the MSU University of Michigan football game.

The band, larger than last year's by 10 men, will present a new concept in formations at half-time, said Director Leonard Falcone.

Township Counts 20,500 Voters

1,200 Register in Waterford

More than 1,200 new voters have been registered since August in Waterford Township, according to Township Clerk James E. Seeterlin.

The new registrations have raised the township voter total to 20,500.

Seeterlin urged residents who have moved into the township since the last election to register as soon as possible, because a person's registration cannot be transferred from another community to Waterford Township.

If a resident within the township transfers from one precinct to another, he must call the clerk's office in order to be transferred and will receive a new card.

NEEDN'T REREISTER

Any person who has voted in the township within the last four years does not have to reregister.

New registration times a and places have been scheduled, Monday through Saturday, people may register at the Township

Hall from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Present daily hours are from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.)

Beginning Thursday, Oct. 6, through the following Monday, registrations will be taken from noon to 8 p.m. at Fire Station No. 2 at 436 Walton Blvd. and at Fire Station No. 3 at 3435 Elizabeth Lake Road.

Deadline date for registration is Monday, Oct. 10.

Castro Speech Given Little Space in Pravda

MOSCOW (AP)—Fidel Castro's four-hour speech to the United Nations earned him little more than a half column in Pravda.

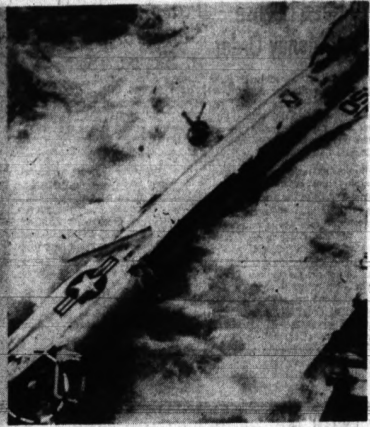

He fared better in the armed services newspaper Red Star and in the regional paper called Soviet Russia. They gave Castro about three columns—generous space for a foreign speaker.

ing. The incident took place during NATO maneuvers in the Norwegian Sea 350 miles off Trondheim last Thursday. At center, the plane bobbles off gun turrets on the side of the carrier, and at right, the pilot, Cmdr. J. E. Davis of New Orleans, (see circle) escapes through the open canopy as the plane sinks. He is shown in the inset (far left) after being rescued 10 minutes later by a helicopter. Davis was only slightly hurt.

Both Ships Damaged
in Predawn Crash

PORT HURON — A big Great Lakes freighter and another less than half its size collided in the St. Clair River in a predawn fog today.

The U.S. Coast Guard reported that no one was injured although both vessels suffered considerable damage.

The 600-ton Shenango II of Pittsburgh and the 335-ton Chicago Tribune, a Canadian vessel, bumped together near the Lake St. Clair mouth of the river.

The collision took place shortly before 3 a.m. There were reports of a light fog at the time.

The Shenango II, owned by the Shenango Furnace Co. of Pittsburgh, ran aground. The tug Maryland went to the aid of the Shenango II, a vessel of 19,500 tons capacity.

Hitler's Deputy
Martin Borman

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — A one-armed man suspected of being Martin Borman, Hitler's long missing deputy, was being grilled by Argentine police today. The suspect gave the name of Walter Fiegl.

Interior Minister Alfredo Viala told a TV audience Wednesday night the suspect was obviously a German and had most of the missing Nazi's physical characteristics, including an arm amputation.

There was one big difference. The captured man appeared to be about 40 years old; Borman, if alive, would be 60.

Novice Pell Trounces Vels
in Bid for Green's Seat

By WALTER R. MEARS

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Socialite-businessman Claiborne de Borda Pell of Newport bowed into Rhode Island politics with a bang Wednesday night, trouncing two seasoned campaigners to win the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

In his first bid for elective office, Pell, 41, was nominated to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 92, who is not seeking re-election.

He upset two former governors driving for political comebacks. Pell polled 83,184 votes to 63,198 for four-time Gov. Dennis J. Roberts, who had the backing of the Democratic State Committee. J. Howard McGrath, who served as governor, 1958-1960, was also defeated. McGrath got only 7,525 votes. In the 1st District State Rep. votes, despite a television radio address by former President Harry S. Truman in his behalf.

Lt. Gov. John A. Notte Jr. defeated former Lt. Gov. Arnold H. Cole for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Fernand J. St. Germain easily ousted four other candidates for the nomination to succeed U.S. Rep. Aime J. Forand, sponsor of a controversial Democratic plan for medical care for the aged, who did not seek re-election.

U.S. Rep. John E. Francis was unopposed for Democratic re-election in the 3rd District. A record 135,000 Democrats turned out for the rainy-day balloting. That vote was more than 40,000 over the previous high of two years ago.

Pell who loved his campaign to the youth and new ideas there of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has held minor posts in the Foreign Service. His father was a diplomat under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. took the stump for Pell last week.

Christopher Del Sesto, first GOP Governor in nearly 20 years, is seeking re-election. Raoul Archambault Jr., former assistant director of the U. S. budget, is the Republican candidate for the Senate, and Thelma Martin is GOP nominee for the 1st District seat. The Republican held their primary Sept. 19.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog rubs it's eyes with it's paws quite a bit. Does this mean there is eye trouble of some kind?

A. A dog rubs his eyes for a simple reason, they are irritated. Your pet's eyes pick up foreign objects more easily than ours. His proximity to the ground makes the eyes vulnerable to grass seeds, pollen, dust, etc.

Wash his eyes with boric acid solution (one-half teaspoon to one cup water); then gently lift the upper and lower eyelids for examination. Foreign objects should be gently grasped and removed, but if you meet with resistance, consult a veterinarian. A scratched or discolored eyeball should not be treated by the layman either.

Your pet's eyelids can also be infected from certain types of mange and other parasites, but this requires microscopic diagnosis. A scratched or discolored eyeball should not be treated by the layman either.

Firm Convicted of Fraud

Responsible for Member, Admits Stock Exchange

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange, in a revolutionary move for a stock or commodity market, Wednesday acknowledged it had moral responsibilities to investors who lose money because of fraudulent acts of members.

Keith Funston, president, announced the exchange attitude in a statement accompanying expulsion of Anton E. Homsey.

Homsey, a member since 1949, is a partner in De Paul, Homsey & Co., of Boston. The exchange alleges he was guilty of various "fraudulent acts." A court-appointed receiver is determining the financial position of the firm.

Funston said Homsey's expulsion was the first in 22 years because of "fraudulent acts which endangered a member firm's financial position." There have been other expulsions for fraud where the firm's financial position was not endangered.

Customers do not lose money, however, unless the firm through which they are dealing has its financial position impaired.

Twenty-two years ago Richard Whitney, head of Richard Whitney & Co., was expelled from the exchange. Whitney had been exchange president and his expulsion, coming in the new deal era of Franklin Roosevelt, hastened reforms in the securities business.

Whitney's firm failed and Whitney was sent to Sing Sing Prison. But the exchange did not acknowledge it had any responsibility for losses of Whitney's customers totaling $5,662,000.

Homsey was a relatively obscure member compared with Whitney, but if the exchange assumes responsibility the Homsey case could become of much greater historical significance than the Whitney scandal.

CHANGE IN POLICY

Henceforth, member firms of all exchanges have borne the complete responsibility for their obligations to customers.

Funston's statement did not define the area of the exchange's responsibility. He said the expulsion of Homsey did not solve the problem of protecting the interests of investors who dealt in good faith with the firm.

"More than that, the New York Stock Exchange feels that its moral responsibilities to these investors are not ended with the act of expulsion," Funston said.

Currently, the exchange is awaiting a final audit on the firm and, according to Funston, "is studying ways of assisting the receiver in order to help protect the interests of the firm's customer."

Funston refused to go beyond the wording of his statement.

He did not specifically say the exchange would make up financial losses of some of the Boston firm's customers. Homsey is alleged to have pledged securities of three customers as collateral for loans without the knowledge of these customers. The market value was about $503,000.

Homsey also allegedly removed two 100-share stock certificates from the firm's security box and pledged them as collateral for loans. None of the loans was made in the name of the firm or customers.

As a result of Homsey's expulsion, the firm is no longer a member of the exchange.

Homsey was released on $10,000 bail on Sept. 16 before a U.S. commissioner. A group of Boston businessmen has offered to buy the firm.

10 ICBM Bases Aimed at U.S.?

America, Red China, Russ Rocket Targets, Reich Magazine Says

BONN, Germany (UPI)—The Soviet Union has 10 permanent bases from which intercontinental missiles with 5,000-mile ranges can be launched against the United States, the semiofficial magazine Bundeswehr says.

Thirty other permanent launching bases armed with missiles with ranges of about 1,500 miles are placed to cover targets in Britain, West Europe, North Africa, the Middle East, Alaska, Japan, Okinawa, Formosa and Communist China, the magazine quoted Western intelligence organizations as reporting.

The missile aimed at targets in Red China, the magazine said, are located in Magnitogorsk, just east of the Ural, in the Amur Valley and on the Kamachka Peninsula.

"Western intelligence services," the magazine said, "discovered a missile base between two almost inaccessible mountain plateaus in Kamachka, with rockets which have ranges of 3,000 miles and which appear to be directed only against Red China."

Bundeswehr is published by the German Soldiers Association, but is subsidized by the defense ministry and is considered to have a quasi-official status.

Peanut Butter Ever in Style

You've probably bought special toys for the tots. Mrs. Housewife only to have them cast aside in favor of some good old standby toy they like much better.

Sometimes it gets to be pretty much the same thing with food, and not just on the part of the tots. You go to the expense of buying special foods for a real treat. You think, only to have them passed up in favor of some ever popular inexpensive one like peanut butter.

Really, though, that shouldn't be too surprising, considering that peanut butter's a food most folks never stop liking and many give it the number one spot as their refreshment list.

So, you might well keep this in mind when you're planning refreshments for your guests, especially those end-of-the-evening ones.

And if you make it peanut-butter sandwiches, remember they'll taste best when the spread is combined with something crisp—or something sweet—or something sour. A chopped carrot or chopped onion, for example, will give a crisp texture to the sandwich.

Chopped dried fruits such as raisins, dates or prunes blend well with peanut butter too. So do jelly, jam and honey.

One of the nicest things about peanut butter right now, in addition to its goodness, is its abundance and its economy. A jar goes a long way, and you'll find lots of jars stacked high on grocery shelves these days—jars of both the creamy smooth and the crunchy types of peanut butter.

Eggs Must Be Kept Cool Says New State Law

Because refrigeration is so important in maintaining quality in eggs, a new regulation of the Michigan Department of Agriculture became effective July 1, requiring refrigeration on all eggs except those of a producer from his own production.

The new regulation makes it mandatory for all persons handling, selling, or storing eggs for human consumption to maintain such eggs under adequate refrigeration at all times.

The temperature must not exceed 60 degrees F. except when they are being candled, graded, sorted or packaged. At such times the atmospheric temperature in the working area as measured five feet above the floor shall not exceed 75 degrees.

In announcing the new regulation, Chief J. L. Littlefield of the Department's foods and standards division, says he feels that compliance will help egg producers receive greater returns for their eggs and at the same time assure the consumer a better product.

"When everyone responsible for egg quality does his job," said Mr. Littlefield, "quality follows through from producer to wholesaler to the retailer until purchased by the consumer. Refrigeration is vital in holding the quality of fresh laid eggs. When someone fails, quality goes down to a lower grade. Profits are needlessly lost for the producer and the lowering of quality does not encourage the housewife and her family to increase egg purchases."

Cheaper Cuts of Beef Have Many Uses

How do you serve blade chuck of beef or round steak? Do you think of pot roast or Swiss steak when these beef cuts are mentioned? Here are suggestions from the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, on using blade chuck and round steak.

If the beef grades U. S. Choice, blade chuck can be cut into 1 to 1½ inch thick steaks tender enough to broil or grill. The top muscle of the round steak can also be used in this way. If you don't want steak, cut the meat into 1½ inch cubes for kabobs.

For added flavor, marinate blade chuck or top round overnight in the refrigerator. Your favorite beef barbecue sauce makes a fine marinade.

Heat a Tile

While baking rolls or heating bread to serve for dinner, place a small tile in oven to heat. Then put the tile inside the napkin in the bottom of the bread basket. It will help to keep bread and toast invitingly warm.

Melon Boat Salad

Here's a suggestion for a Melon Boat Salad that will really delight your family: Place boat-shaped sections of cantaloupe with rind removed, on a bed of salad greens, strips of peaches, grapes, watermelon or Honeydew or Persian melon balls. Then garnish the end of the boat with tiny garden flowers or parsley and serve with one of the sweet French dressings.

Fall Vegetables Tempt Eye Too

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Color spills out over the produce counters at this time of year — deep golden or hunter's green squash — rich ruby beets — snow white cauliflower — shiny green cabbage — polished purple eggplants. Fall vegetables are strong in color, high in vitamin content and low in price.

Now is the time to have vegetable plates. This is the season to stuff squash, eggplant and peppers. Salads take on new interest with flowerets of cauliflower, shreds of red or green cabbage or cubes of crisp turnip.

You'll get all the vitamin A you need for the day if you serve a pretty carrot ring for dinner. Fill it with buttered green beans, maybe the new frozen Italian ones.

Carrot Ring

2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
1 pint mashed, cooked carrots
1 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped, toasted, buttermilk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 pint hot, buttered cut green beans

Combine soft bread crumbs, milk, beaten eggs, carrots, onion, almonds, salt, pepper, and margarine. Pour into a well-greased (1-quart) ring mold and set into a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for one hour. Let stand five minutes before loosening around the edges.

Unmold onto a warm serving platter. Fill center of ring with hot, buttered cut green beans. Yield: 6-8 servings. If casserole dishes are your specialty, here is a new one using pork sausage and eggplant. The recipe calls for canned tomatoes, but you may substitute fresh ones. Two cups will be just right.

Sausage-Eggplant Casserole

1 pound pork sausage links
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup green pepper
1 medium eggplant (about 1 1/2 pounds)
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup tomato paste
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup oil
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes OR 2 cups fresh tomatoes
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup tomato paste
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup oil

Place sausage links and 2 tablespoons water in cold fryingpan. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 3 minutes. Peel eggplant and cut into 1/2-inch cubes. Cook for 10 minutes in 1 cup water seasoned with 1 teaspoon salt. Drain. Brown onion lightly in butter or margarine.

Combine eggplant, onion, 1 cup crumbs, tomatoes and pepper. Place in bottom of a greased 1 1/2-quart casserole. Combine 1/2 cup crumbs and Parmesan cheese and sprinkle over top. Arrange sausage links on top.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 35 minutes or until sausage links are browned. Yield: 4 servings.

Brussels sprouts are too often served overcooked and flabby. The following recipe produces a more palatable dish and will be a real conversation piece at your next cocktail party.

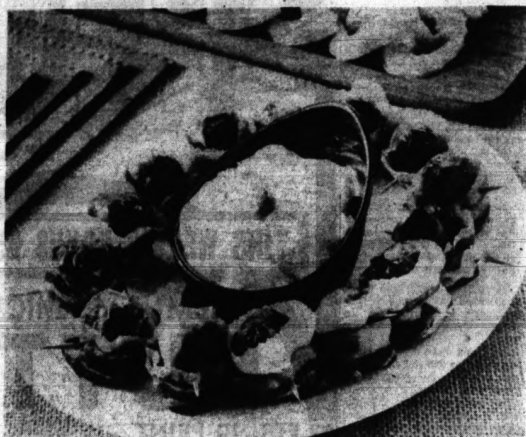

Brussels Sprouts in Cloaks

2 slices bacon, cut to half
15 Brussels sprouts
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup onion
1/2 cup green pepper
1/2 cup tomato sauce
1/2 cup tomato paste
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup oil

Wrap bacon around sprouts. Fasten with food picks. Arrange in shallow baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes, or until bacon is crisp.

Anchovy Dip

1/2 ounce package cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 anchovies, drained and chopped
Combine ingredients; mix well. Serve dip with sprouts.

PARTYGOING SPROUTS—One of the autumn vegetables presenting a challenge is the brussels sprout. Wrap half a sprout in bacon and bake until meat is crisp. These may be eaten as-is or dunked in an anchovy dip. Experiment with other ways of cooking fresh vegetables at this time of year.

Herb Loaf Wins Bake-Off Prize

Mrs. Frank H. Schuette of Crab Orchard, Neb., was the $25,000 winner in the 12th Annual Bake-Off contest on Tuesday. The Bake-Off, held this year in Washington, D.C., is sponsored by the Pillsbury Company.

Mrs. Schuette's recipe for an herb-flavored casserole bread is given here:

Dilly Casserole Bread

1 packet active dry yeast OR 1 cake compressed yeast
1/2 cup warm water
1 cup creamed cottage cheese, heated to lukewarm
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon oil
1/2 to 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Soften yeast in water. Combine in mixing bowl cottage cheese, sugar, onion, butter, oil seed, salt, soda, egg and softened yeast. Add flour to form a stiff dough, beating well after each addition. Cover.

Let rise in warm place—85 to 90 degrees F.—until light and doubled in size, 30 to 40 minutes.

Stir dough down. Turn into well-greased 8-inch round—1 1/2 or 2 qts. casserole. Let rise in warm place until light, 30 to 40 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes until golden brown. Brush with soft butter and sprinkle with salt. Makes one round loaf.

Hot Dessert for Fall

Raisin apple crisp served warm makes a good fall dessert. Place 1 cup raisins and 1 quart sliced apples in a shallow greased baking dish. Combine until crumbly 1/2 cup each rolled oats, flour and butter. Mix in 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 cup brown sugar. Sprinkle over apples and raisins. Bake in 375 degrees oven 30 minutes or until apples are tender.

Green Salad Gets Change With Corn

An extra addition to a green salad usually pleases men.

Green Salad Plus

2 cups torn salad greens
1/2 cup green pepper, cut into thin strips
1/2 cup corn and corn, cut from cob in whole kernels
Oil
Vinegar
Salt
Pepper
Turn salad greens into serving bowl. Clean scallion and cut into thin, crosswise slices, including most of the green leafy part. Sprinkle scallion, green pepper and corn over greens.
Cover tightly and refrigerate until serving time, then mix with oil, vinegar, salt and pepper to suit taste. Makes 2 servings.

Note: 1 tablespoon minced onion may be used instead of scallion. Drained canned whole-kernel corn may be substituted for left-over cooked corn cut from cob.

You've probably made a milk shake with mashed banana and homogenized milk. But to make this drink extra super, add honey to taste and a dash of nutmeg.

Readers Rate Newspapers --and Find Them Satisfying

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—A study conducted by the University of Michigan showed today people evaluate newspapers primarily in terms of their news content.

The study involved some 500 residents in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties.

More than half of those questioned felt newspapers were "good" because they offer more complete news coverage, the University Survey Research Center said.

Less than two per cent of those interviewed mentioned any specific item such as pictures, comics or features when discussing the good points of newspapers.

ADVANTAGES CITED

One in five answered in terms of the reading situation and about half in that group said they preferred reading to listening, indicating it was more relaxing, leisurely and enjoyable.

Others said they appreciated having the news available when they wanted it.

One out of three persons interviewed could think of no bad points about newspapers.

Those with criticisms focused on the news offering — 14 per cent criticizing insufficient coverage, 9 per cent noting biased presentation, and 3 per cent assailing sloppy and superficial reporting.

Five per cent criticized advertising. They said it was either dull or excessive.

Stephen Withey and Jack McLeod of the Survey Research Center said "The major motivation on which newspaper reading undoubtedly is based is the need to know. Few of us need to know very much. But if something is happening and it is nearby, then ignorance is almost intolerable."

"The newspaper offers just such a situation. Events are going on in the newspaper. What's happening? All we need to do is look and we immediately become a reader, or, at minimum, a headline scanner."

Reasons which were cited for not reading a paper were lack of time and cost of newspapers.

Those interviewed said the best sources for the following were:

Big news of day: newspapers 34 per cent; television 36 per cent; radio 23 per cent; news magazines 12 per cent.

National, world news: newspapers 53 per cent; television 32 per cent; radio 11 per cent.

Explaining events: newspapers 84 per cent; television 18 per cent; radio 5 per cent; news magazines 17 per cent.

Reporting local events: newspapers 62 per cent; television 18 per cent; radio 14 per cent.

Sports: newspapers 68 per cent; television 26 per cent; radio 6 per cent.

Details of news: newspapers 69 per cent; television 9 per cent; radio 4 per cent; news magazines 14 per cent.

General shopping information: newspapers 86 per cent; television 3 per cent; radio 1 per cent.

Rich Simplicity for Evening!

Fashions designed to light up an autumn evening are executed in rich glowing fabrics and colors. An American favorite, the ensemble (at left) is red silk satin. The sheath dress has a wide set-in band at the waistline and is topped by a full coat lined in a harmonizing print. Another sheath (at right) is easy and elegant in brocaded silk lame. The three-tier sash belt, deep V neckline and wing cuffs are distinctive to the Raffaele design.

A demure party dress nonetheless has its full share of sophistication. In bright red silk satin, it has a full stiff skirt, short bell sleeves and simple portrait neckline.

Your PTA in Action

A series of cooperative dinners is planned by Cora Bailey School Parent-Teacher Association. Designed to acquaint parents with the school and to outline objectives for the school year, the dinners will begin this evening with a gathering of third-graders' parents in the class room of Mrs. Arthur Hodges. Movies will be shown for the children during PTA discussion.

Mrs. Lorain Davis is chairman of the dinners, assisted by Mrs. John Fox.

The remaining two dinners are slated Oct. 6, second graders, in the class room of Mrs. Walter Sheffield; and Oct. 13, first graders, in Mrs. Gladys Hocking's class room.

AT EASTERN JUNIOR HIGH

"Harvest of Information" will be the theme of the annual fall school instruction held in connection with the regular Pontiac Council of PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Members will meet at Eastern Junior High School.

MARGARET DELORES MARTIN

Make Sister Warn Farmers, Says Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just received a letter from my sister telling me her son is marrying a high-class girl in November and a formal wedding invitation will follow.

We have a brother Charlie who lives on a farm. Charlie's wife works the soil and it runs the tractor like a man. She is a good woman but she doesn't go to beauty parlors and keep herself up like some women who have more time.

My sister said she was counting on me to see to it that Charlie gets a haircut for the wedding and his wife washes herself up real good and dresses right. I am so good at getting so personal with people. How can I handle this?

CITY SISTER: Write your sister and tell her if she wants to be sure all the relatives clean up for her wedding she should do her own dirty work.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went to a dance with a girl friend, but they didn't come home together. They each met a boy at the dance and hooked rides home that way. My daughter got home at 1:30 a.m. as she said she would. Her girl friend got home at 5:30 a.m. She lied to her mother and said she was with my daughter all that time. Should I tell the girl's mother? My daughter is 19, and her girl friend is 18.

BPW Club Hears Talk at Dinner

Twenty-six members of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club attended a dinner program Tuesday in the Hotel Waldron.

Under the topic, "Philadelphia Memories," Mrs. Norman Dyer, Vera Bassett, Mrs. Stapp and Rosemary Hawley, delegates to the national convention in July, illustrated their reports with colored slides.

Mrs. Cynthia Woyoff and Helen Wordelman were guests.

Local Chapter Will Be Host to State Group

Pontiac Chapter of Hadassah will be host at a statewide sectional meeting Monday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Temple Beth Jacob.

Guest speakers will be Mrs. Max Frank and Mrs. Max Adler of Detroit.

NEW YORK (NEA)—American women, out on a shopping tour for an evening dress, are prone to be practical.

It's true that they're shopping for beautiful color and fabric. But they also want a dress that will go places with ease.

The sweeping ball gown belongs only to a very grand way of living. It's not for the average woman. She wants rich fabric and glowing color cut into a dress that's timeless to some degree. It should be good this season and next, too.

Most often, she'll look for a theater, dinner or evening gown in a day length, which is most practical for the American way of living. She likes to see her favorite sheath done up in a gorgeous fabric. She favors the ensemble because the matching coat takes care of the wrap problem. And it can be worn with other dresses, too.

She looks for her favorite shirtwaist style given a new sophistication. And she finds it, this fall, out from gleaming satin with a full, stiffened skirt.

Both fabrics and colors are combined effectively for evening this autumn. Taffeta and chiffon team up; so do chiffon and satin. Or a dark skirt is used with a light bodice to make the most of differing shades of a single color. Black lace sometimes veils satin or a silk print is combined with velvet.

In the last 15 years, a way of dressing has evolved which can be called distinctly American. It is casual but never sloppy.

It depends on clean lines, meticulous tailoring, fine fabrics and lovely colors.

Women who like this simple and beautiful way of dressing do not readily take to fluffy ruffles for evening. This year, they'll find that simple lines have been made ready for evening, too.

Liliane Digs Archaeology

By JOY MILLER

AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (W)—The causes are softening on Liliane Huval's small, sturdy hands, and the muscles in her right forearm—the trowel muscles, she calls them—are returning to normal.

But even so, Liliane will never be quite the same; she has been on a dig.

Liliane's an anthropologist, studying at Columbia University for her doctor's degree in the culture and personality field. And for six weeks this summer she left husband and small daughter in Brooklyn to become the only girl graduate among 16 women students and a handful of male graduate assistants on a remote 600-year-old archaeological excavation in Northern New Mexico.

"It was like being on a submarine," recalls Liliane, small, dark-haired, bespectacled, 26 and pretty.

"We lived and worked and ate together, practically in one another's habitats. At first we got terribly irritated with each other's habits. Fur flew every so often. But as time went on, we became a family. We shared things, and cried on each other's shoulders."

The girls commuted by bus from a dormitory of Northern New Mexico College at El Rito, N. M., carrying their lunches in paper bags. Water was provided by the San Juan Indians, whose tribal council gave permission for the excavation.

"ATE EVERYTHING" "You worked so hard you ate everything you could lay your hands on. I gained eight pounds," she says.

A workday consisted of digging with shovel and garden trowel from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. In temperatures well over 100 degrees. Then you had to wash and classify your finds. Lectures came at night.

"We were careful—taking salt pills, keeping hats on all day. And Indian workers helped us. But when you were digging through dirt hard as cement, you'd think: 'One more shovel and I'll drop.' But you'd take one more shovel, then another, and suddenly you'd shovel would turn up something. You'd forget how tired you were and dig like a house afire.

"The most wonderful part, though, was when the myriads of little artifacts and potsherds suddenly fell into place for you, and made sense."

Dr. Florence Ellis of the University of New Mexico was in charge of the excavation. It was the first white settlement north of Mexico, built by Don Juan de Onate in 1598 on top of a Teusa pueblo dating back to 1300 A.D. Don Juan, son of one of Mexico's conquerors, beat out the famed Ponce de Leon to get the Spanish king's permission to establish the settlement. But he stopped being a fair-haired boy when the colony buckled in 1610.

When Liliane wasn't digging she was making friends with the San Juan Indians, whose ancestors were living in the area in Don Juan's days. She studied their child-rearing practices and wants to go on with it next summer.

EVEN A BURIAL MOUND Part of the time Liliane helped excavate an Indian burial mound, with small tools and camel's hair brushes. Bones were turned over to the Indians for Christian burial.

"Every time we dug up a skeleton, we had a sandstorm," she says. The worst storm came up right after we found an important ceremonial burial mound, with small tools and camel's hair brushes. Bones were turned over to the Indians for Christian burial.

Liliane loves her chosen field of study because "It's tied up with scholarly world, but it's still full of adventure." To expand her techniques for exploring other cultures, she plans to study photography, ham radio and skin diving. Says her admiring husband Howard, who's working on his doctorate in romance languages: "And on top of all this, she stays so feminine."

Liliane, who can't see any conflict in being both student and spouse, just grins.

Party Giver Has Right of Invitation

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Last year my husband's employers (three of them) had an outing for all of the employees. It was such a success that they plan to have another one again this year. The outing last year included no outsiders—just the office group.

I understand this year that the wives of the employers are going, but none of the other wives (or husbands).

I do not think this is right and that if the officers are going to bring their wives, the wives and husbands of the employees should also be privileged to bring their spouses along. I would like your opinion on this.

Answer: The employees probably feel that to invite all the wives and husbands of the employees would make the outing too big, and as they are giving the party it is their privilege to decide whom they wish to invite.

Dear Mrs. Post: How do we go about inviting a strange young woman to spend the weekend with us? She is a particular friend of a young man who often stays with us and we want to ask her because he would like us to.

They can come together on the train. Is our invitation through him sufficient? If not, how do we word this note to someone we don't know?

Answer: You should write to her. You might word your note: "Dear Miss Brown, Jim Smith has spoken about you so often that we feel we must meet you. Will you come with him to spend this weekend with us? We hope you will say yes."

Dear Mrs. Post: In the near future I plan to spend a week with a close friend and her husband in a distant city. I am single. During my visit we will most likely have dinner in a restaurant a few times.

Would it be proper for me to try to pay my share of the meal? Also, if we go to a play should I pay for my own ticket?

Answer: You should offer to do both, but if they refuse to let you, don't insist and embarrass them by trying to make them accept your money.

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married at a morning wedding. All the men in the wedding party, including the bride's father, are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats.

My husband had planned on wearing a dark blue business suit but my son has told him that he has to dress the same as the bride's father.

My husband is very upset over this and we would like to know if my son is right?

Answer: No, your son is not right. As his father takes no part in the ceremony, his dark blue suit will be entirely proper.

Pull Up at Waist

(NEA) — If you want to improve your posture, always remember to carry the top part of your body as high as you can. Pull your waist up from your hips. Don't strain, but make a conscious effort. Keep at it, even though you may feel stiff and rigid at first. Soon it will seem a natural and relaxed position.

Wife Tells Her Story About Mother-in-Law

By RUTH MILLETT

Some mothers-in-law just won't let a daughter-in-law love them.

by Laura Wheeler

Here's an example that is typical of many letters that come to this column:

"After ten years of marriage I don't feel a bit closer to my mother-in-law than I did the day my husband and I were married. I can truthfully say this is not my fault, for I was prepared to love her."

"All she had to do was give me half a chance by showing me a little warmth and real affection, by just once in a while building me up to my husband instead of constantly, subtly, tearing me down."

"But never have I found any warmth in her toward me as her son's wife. Her son she praises to the skies. She hangs on his every word and anything that he does is beyond reproach."

"But while building him up she is forever tearing me down. And she does it in such a way that I can't even defend myself."

"The disparities I selected are pretty, but she is so terribly afraid that they aren't very practical."

"The broiled steaks I served as a special treat for her were good but no more so than a cheaper cut would have been if properly cooked. She doesn't like to criticize the friends I have made but she wonders if they are the right crowd for us."

"She's oh, so sweet when she makes these little observations, so that my husband thinks she is just trying to be helpful."

"We've never had a quarrel and I don't expect we ever will."

"But I've learned my lesson. I've quit trying to be a daughter to her and no longer do any more for her than any daughter-in-law would."

"The pity is, it could have been such a different relationship. I really wanted it to be different but I guess she didn't."

"I guess she gets more pleasure out of undermining me than she would have gotten from being my friend and like a second mother."

"I'm sure now she must tell her friends that I neglect her."

"Like the mothers-in-law who frequently write to you. But I know she wouldn't let me love her. And I wonder how often that is the trouble when a mother-in-law and daughter-in-law aren't close."

Half of Teens Not Serious About World Series

By EUGENE GIBERT

The 1960 major league baseball season has run its course. It's the time of the grand climax, the World Series. But only about half of the country's teen-agers seem much interested.

For only a little more than half of them — 56 per cent — still consider "the national pastime" to be America's No. 1 sport.

Forty per cent feel football or basketball have replaced, or at least rivaled, baseball in popularity while 4 per cent have no opinion.

The results of our poll of 865 teen-agers across the country shows a definite change in the attitude toward baseball from the time when every town of more than 30 people had a sandlot team and the telephone poles outside ballparks sprouted kids at game time.

This is today's picture: The sentiment of that grand old tune, "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," appeals to a definite minority of the youngsters. Most would rather watch the games on television. Few play the game and fewer still play it in any organized league.

But almost all of them approve of the Little League for their younger brothers.

"NONE TO AWARD"

Only 24 per cent of the teen-agers say they attend games regularly — 34 per cent of the boys and 25 per cent of the girls. In some cases there is a very good reason for not attending.

"There's none to go to," says 16-year-old Richard Pierpont of Charleston, S. C.

But others simply show a lack of interest. "I do not enjoy watching a losing team," says Melvyn Friedman, 17, of Detroit, whose Tigers are mired in the American League's second division.

"Since the Dodgers moved away have given up baseball," says Allan Asher, 18, of Brooklyn, N.Y. And 16-year-old Michael Davis of Nashville, Tenn., says he has "no particular desire" to attend a baseball game.

Fifty-two per cent of the youngsters say they watch baseball on television, and 49 per cent say they enjoy it just as much as going out to the ball park.

"You see the same thing on television," says Marvin George, 17, of Brooklyn, and Theodore E. Engasma, 18, of Charleston, S. C., says "we're more comfortable" to stay home.

But 17-year-old Sandra Speth of St. Louis disagrees. "There is more atmosphere and excitement when you are at the game," she says. "I get a thrill out of yelling and wisecracking and being in a box seat," says Dennis Turner, 16, of Los Angeles.

Baseball is played by 24 per cent of the teen-agers we questioned — 39 per cent of the boys and 9 per cent of the girls. Of the boys, 18 per cent never play it and 40 per cent say they play it very little.

Charles Ungersfelder, 17, of Miami Beach, says, "I'd rather play basketball or football."

Liam F. Layne, 14, of Claremont, Calif., says he plays occasionally because "I am forced to at school."

Of the youngsters who play, 23 per cent of the boys and 6 per cent of the girls participate in regular league games.

Only 2 per cent disapprove of the Little League, while 56 per cent favor it. The remainder have no opinion.

But some regard it with reservations.

"It's a good thing," says 14-year-old Murray Ehrleppel of Detroit, Mich., "if fathers would keep out of it more."

"Yes," says 18-year-old Gene Paul of Miami Beach, "provided it is kept a simple game and not a point for boasting on the parents' part."

The youngsters who regard it favorably agree with Donald J. Boatright, 16, of Nashville, Tenn., that "it helps develop tomorrow's players." "It is an organized start to appreciating sports," says

Sheryl Cummings, 15, of Vermont, S. D.

Those who disapprove feel parents put too much emphasis on it or, as 17-year-old Larry Fisher of Brooklyn says, "the tension is too great for the kids."

Keen for Teens

(UPI) — The class are on the march. Plaids in infinite variety run through fall sports collections, from jumper dresses to pedal pushers. It's a practical idea for the teenager to choose a plaid—it doesn't need to be authentic—and feature it in several pieces in a school wardrobe.

The best beauty treatment is a well-lathered face cloth or brush applied with a firm touch.

A Perfect Match

(NEA) — The old idea of the classic sweater set has been turned into something new for fall. A third piece has been added to the set: a matching skirt.

Paris Introduces Bell-Bottom Skirt

(UPI) — This fall, she's got bells on her bellies instead of on her toes. Designer Jules Chabray at the Paris firm of Nina Ricci stitched as many as 120 tiny bells into the flared skirts of boots and dresses. As models strutted their way through showrooms, a spokesman explained the source of the bells—the dog apparel department of a Paris store.

Reflects Victory Over Diseases

Life Great, Much Longer

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
Wouldn't it be terrible to realize as a baby that your life expectancy is only 18 years? That's what it was in ancient times.

The only consolation would be that at such a tender age you would not know what you were going to miss!

Horrible thought! I am holding onto my consecutive fuses, hoping they will make it for me!

Life expectancy at birth in the United States at the time of the Revolution was only 36 years. Today, based on current mortality figures, it is 73.7 for females and 67.2 for males.

JUST KEEPS GOING.
Today's young men in the United States at the age of 18 has a life expectancy of 51.6 more years; and a young woman an expectancy of 51 more years. At 30 years of age he has an expectancy of 40.3, and she of 46.2 years.

At 60 the figure is 18.3 years for the man, and 19 years for the woman. It seems that the longer you can take it the more you get!

Reflected in these statistics is the tremendous victory of medicine over infant mortality and many diseases such as small pox and diphtheria.

Much more is now known about nutrition and the effect of emotions on the body. Polio has been conquered and sooner or later cancer and heart disease and all of the vascular troubles will fall under the ax of medical research.

This is such an exciting time in which to be living. So many wonderful things have happened in just the last few years and so many more miracles are just over the horizon. Of course, to me, radio and television still are miracles.

AP NEWSFEATURES
Fashion is getting around to acknowledging the existence of mature women.

And with recognition has come an appreciation of their good taste, their varied interests and their concern for a flattering fit even though they may have outgrown the encausted model silhouette.

Women who are busy with home, community and perhaps a profession, need attractive, serviceable fashions that will take them from daytime through dinner, from winter through fall. That may be one reason for the tremendous popularity of knits these days. They hold their shape, they can be dressed up or down with the right kind of jewelry and accessories, and they adapt themselves for comfort whatever the temperature.

Convert Bedroom to Flower Garden

Is your bedroom tiny? Try this trick "invented" by the designers of a swank New York apartment. Repeat a delicate floral pattern over and over on walls, ceiling, upholstered pieces, and bed covering. This will turn even a "cell" into a charming little bower of flowers.

For convenience and economy, choose either washable plastic or treated paper for the walls and ceiling, and a matching fabric that is sensibly drapery.

The acoustics of a 2,300-year-old outdoor theater at Epidaurus, Greece, are so good that an actor's whisper can be heard in the last row.

I myself would settle for living on this little old earth about a thousand years and never visiting the moon, because I have not had nearly enough time to explore all of the wonders of this small orb or the people who live on it.

Why not take advantage of all the knowledge now available about longevity and especially about prolonging the youthful years of life? And why not enjoy every day as it comes up with the sun?

Singing by Groups Featured

Group singing was on the evening's program when the Fashionette Club met Tuesday at Adah Shelly Library.

Mrs. David Cowan, program chairman, introduced the First Methodist Church Sextet comprised of Mrs. Lloyd Dawson, Mrs. Leona Butler, Mrs. Merlin Asplin, Mrs. Norman Legge, Mrs. Paul Kraft and Mrs. Cowan. Mrs. Robert J. Murphy accompanied at the piano.

Phyllis Augaberger gave several readings.

After election of Mrs. Frederick Root as recording secretary, filling a vacancy, Mrs. Fred Harbottle was welcomed as a new member Mrs. Elbert Proffitt was a visitor.

Mrs. Edward Altek, chairman for the group's Nov. 1 annual banquet, announced her committee workers will be Mrs. Bert Hillock, Mrs. Martinus Hanson and Mrs. William Woodruff.

Last week members took a guided tour of the Pontiac General Hospital.

A make-up demonstration will be featured at next Tuesday's meeting.

Body Motions Give Away Our Physical State

(NEA)—If you are unaccustomed to taking exercise of any kind, your body shows it. Your movements are stiff and jerky, your walk most likely is awkward. For muscles respond to exercise, be it a daily walk, tennis, swimming or spot exercises.

The woman who gets some exercise every day is the one who swings along looking liss and limber. She doesn't, of course, think up excuses for taking the car when she has an errand to run. She doesn't think that housework is the sole answer to exercise despite all those impressive figures about how much mileage the housewife racks up in one day. She doesn't glue herself to the TV set the year around. She does make exercise a daily part of her total program for lasting good looks.

NEW YORK (AP)—Some foreign leaders may not like the way New York police are handling security arrangements during the United Nations General Assembly session, but President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter do.

In separate letters to Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, Eisenhower and Herter praised the police for doing a good job.

The letters were in marked contrast to complaints from some of the visiting world leaders, mainly from Communist countries and Cuba.

Shorter Hurt for U-D Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Shorter, a crowd-pleasing kick return specialist, will be out of the lineup in Detroit's Saturday game with Xavier at Cincinnati. The 172 pound speedster from Pontiac sprained his knee in practice.

U. of D. will be seeking its first win of the young 1960 football season. Xavier played two starts to date.

Iowa State caught fire in the fourth period last Friday night to hand Detroit a 44-21 setback in the season-opener for the Titans.

Xavier posted a 21-6 decision over Miami (Ohio) in its opener but was dealt a 20-13 setback last weekend by Wichita.

Detroit's chief concern will be stopping the passing of Ron Costello, who completed 93 of 151 passes for 1,062 yards and six touchdowns as a junior last season.

Costello has taken up this year right where he left off in 1959.

He has hit on 15 of 35 passes for 186 yards and two of Xavier's four touchdowns.

Wings Drop McCarthy

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — Left wing Tom McCarthy was dropped Wednesday by the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League.

LOOKING AT THE FUTURE — Detroit Tiger president Bill DeWitt (right) held a conference of his minor league managers yesterday at Briggs Stadium and afterward the gathering toured the stadium. The managers present were Frank Carrawell, Duluth, Class C (2nd); De Skaff, Knoxville, Class A (4th); Al Federoff, Decatur, Class D (8th); Al Lakeman, Montgomery, Class D (6th); Johnny Pesky, Victoria, Class AA (4th); Charley Metro, Denver, Class AAA (1st); Stubby Overmire, Durham, Class B (5th). The name "Tiger Stadium" will be placed on the structure.

Overall Defense Favors Buccos

(Last of a two-part series on batting and fielding.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel was talking to reporters about the world series the other day.

"Let's see," mused the New York Yankees skipper. "If I wanted to put in my best defensive team I would start Joe Demarest at shortstop and Tony Kubek in left field."

Stengel's comments were not taken too seriously. Demarest rarely has been used as a starter during the regular season while Kubek was shifted from shortstop to left field only in the late innings of close games.

However, Casey's reflections indicated the respect he has for the defensive excellence of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Yankees can't match it. The Pirates stumbled to the National League pennant largely on the strength of their fine fielding. — The Yankees slugged their way to the American League title.

It's at second base with Bill Mazeroski, at third with Dick Hoak and at shortstop with Don Groat that the Pirates really sparkle defensively. Groat, who has been out with a fractured left wrist since Sept. 7, is expected to be ready for next Wednesday's opener in Forbes Field.

At the plate, Mazeroski, Hoak and Groat also rate an edge over their Yankee counterparts, second baseman Bobby Richardson, Kubek at short and Gil McDougald or Clete Boyer at third.

Only first baseman Dick Stuart among the Pittsburgh fielders leave something to be desired as a fielder. Bill Hawron of the Yankees is also a more consistent batter than Stuart.

The Yankees have a slight overall edge in the outfield. Mickey Mantle of New York, with his fine speed, power and throwing arm, gets the nod over Bill Virdon, Pittsburgh's centerfielder. Roger Maris of the Yankees is among the American League leaders in home runs and runs batted in. But Roberto Clemente, the Pirate right fielder, is faster and is out-bitting Maris by 34 points. In left field, it's a toss-up between Hector Lopez of New York and Bob Skinner of the National League champs.

Gino Cimoli, a right-handed batsman, will likely replace Virdon in center against Yankee left-handed pitchers while Bob Cerv will probably spell Lopez in a game or two for New York. The catching staffs are about equal strength. Yogi Berra of the Yankees can out-hit and out-field Smoky Burgess, Pittsburgh's

No. 1 receiver. But Hal Smith, who divided the catching chores with Burgess, is batting 46 points higher than Elston Howard, Berra's replacement. Howard may be hampered by a hand injury sustained last night.

Each club has a crack lefty pinch-hitter. Dale Long is hitting .389 since joining the Yankees from San Francisco while veteran Rocky Nelson has a .290 average as a spot starter and pinch-hitter.

The other Pirate reserves are infielders Dick Schofield and Gene Baker, outfielder Joe Christopher and catcher Bob Oltis. Schofield has filled in brilliantly for Groat. The Yankee alternates also include Demarest and catcher John Blanchard.

As a unit, the Pirates are batting .276. This is 16 points higher than New York. However, the Larks have hit 190 homers to Pittsburgh's 119. Each team has a fielding average of .979.

Phil Pitcher Chlobbered

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — X-rays Wednesday showed that rookie pitcher Art Mahaffey of the Philadelphia Phillies suffered a minimal fracture of the nasal bone when he was hit by a thrown ball during pre-game warmup Tuesday night. He is unlikely to see action the rest of this year.

This Guy Runs Wild

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ron Barker of Doane (Neb.) College scored five touchdowns in his team's 66-0 rout of Nebraska Wesleyan last week to bring his total to nine touchdowns for 54 points — top figure for a college player in the nation.

Hoople Sees Michigan
Upset Over SpartansBy MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Pittsburgh CourierEgad—Hak-katt! Har-rumph!
Have you noticed, dear reader, how many obnoxious collegiate elms have suddenly seized what is vulgarly known as the dope bucket and sloshed it willy-nilly over the autumnal landscape these beautiful weekends?Indeed, their actions, which seemingly defy explanation, have driven many football forecasters to cover. But have no fear, your perplexed prognosticator will continue an undeviating search for the cause of this phenomenon.Why, in the battle of the Hooples, the recounting of that famous episode in the Hoople history must wait till I've discharged my obligations to my loyal football fans.As a special treat this week
I am featuring two sets of games the results of which will startle even you faithful followers of the Hoople System.

A trio of outstanding intersectional contests will find the invaders denied a single scalp. It will be a long drive home for a sorrowful Syracuse team following its ill-starred venture in the Sun Flower state. My calculations indicate a 35-16 upset win for Kansas. In the above games Washington will conquer Navy, and Oklahoma will subdue the Pitt Panthers.The second set featured in the Hoople spotlight are clashes which might well decide mythical state events. I predict that Notre Dame will vanquish Purdue, Marquette will upset Wisconsin, and Michigan will record a smashing triumph over Michigan State.Egad! What an interesting Saturday this promises to be! Now go on with the forecast.AL—Pittsburgh 18, Stanford 9

ANN ARBOR — Regardless of how the game progresses, there won't be any Michigan football players riding the bench through-out Saturday's rumble at East Lansing.

U.S. Skating Great Dies in Car Collision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United States' fastest distance skater in the 1960 Winter Olympics and another man were fatally injured Wednesday when a teen-aged drag racer collided with them, sheriff's deputies said.

No More Unsightly Blisters!

when you paint your home with wonderful, NEW

PITTSBURGH LATEX HOUSE PAINT

LATEX House Paint greatly reduces danger of blistering of wood siding. Ordinary paint traps moisture vapors from bathroom, kitchen and laundry, creating unsightly blisters. LATEX is porous enough to allow such moisture to escape, without breaking the paint film.

LATEX is flame-resistant — will not stain or discolor from exhaust or fuel fumes, smog and industrial gases. Because it doesn't chalk as readily as other types, its colors are exceptionally fade-resistant.

Comes in for free folder of revolutionary new LATEX, showing its range of beautiful colors.

Because Big Ten rules restrict the traveling squad to 25 coaches, Elliott admits he may have "a bit of a problem" in picking the right ones.

After all, he is accustomed to using no less than five platoons in a ball game—he used exactly that against Oregon—and the rules will limit him to only 25 players.

Against that sparse group, MSU coach Duffy Daugherty can amass a full complement of more than 70 troops.

Picking the first 30 or so won't be hard for Elliott, who already knows who they will be.

But against Oregon, there was any number of low men on totem-poles who distinguished themselves, however brief their appearances.

For example there was George Manta, 208-pound junior end from Trenton, who filled in for the injured Bob Johnson and caught a touchdown pass and three others for 65 yards.

After surprise performances like that, no amount of editing should keep them off the list of the favored 38.

Deputies said a car driven by Russell W. Rose, 16, of Downey, went through a red light and struck Pellegrino's car. Rose was critically injured. Zucco and Pellegrino were thrown from the car.

The Edwin P. Lawrence Memorial Trophy race for modified cars and for production cars concluded the two-day sports car races at the Oakland County Sportsman's Race Racing Club's final event and the year on their Waterford Hills Road Course last weekend.

William Bradley, of Detroit won the Lawrence trophy with an English Cooper Climax.

N. Michigan Leads State Small Teams

By United Press International

Victing victories over Hillsdale and Central Michigan in their first two starts and are favored over the Owls, Youngstown, dumped Eastern Michigan last week.

The Northern — Youngstown clash is the only game tonight while most of Michigan's small colleges launch into league competition on Saturday.

Hillsdale opens defense of its Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association title by entertaining Adrian in one of three MIAA games. The Dales are 1-1 in non-league action. Adrian has a victory and a tie to show for its first two efforts.

Hope College, runner-up to Hillsdale in 1959, plays at Albion. Hope is also 1-1 while Albion was victorious in its only start. And Kalamazoo plays host to Olivet in the other league game. Unbeaten Alma, the other MIAA school, will meet undefeated Ferris in a non-league tussle at Saginaw.

Michigan, the state's representative in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, also enters into league competition Saturday. The Chippewas invade the realm of defending champion Western Illinois and Eastern plays at Illinois State.

Duffy Doesn't Want Any More Tied Contests

Field Goal Kicking Specialist Works Hard for Saturday

EAST LANSING — Coach Duffy Daugherty is going for broke this Saturday.

He has settled for only two ties in 56 games as football boss at Michigan State.

On all week's 27 dead lock in the opener against Pittsburgh. The other was a 12-12 stalemate with Michigan in 1958.

Daugherty refused to accept congratulations and was in a moody mood after the split with the Panthers.

"A tie doesn't write anything or satisfy anyone," he said.

Daugherty always has considered the Michigan game the most important of any season.

"This is the game as far as we are concerned," he has said.

End Art Brandstatter has been working at his field goal kicking all week.

Brandstatter also was learning defensive assignments and end Wayne Potes has been running more with the first offense.

The line, beefed up by some big sophomores this year, got some heavy head-knocking in workout — unusual after the start of the playing schedule.

"This Michigan line is a hard-charging outfit," Daugherty said.

"No wonder Oregon couldn't move the ball more than 10 yards in length on any play. Those Michigan linemen tore up the Oregon backfield all week."

The game in Spartan Stadium Saturday, the best of seven series, June except for the seats reserved for students. Attendance is expected to top the previous stadium record, 76,434 for the 1958 Michigan game.

AP Lineman of Week Wants to Be Doctor

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Claude (Tee) Moorman, rangy Duke University end, who is the collegiate lineman of the week, would play professional football provided it doesn't interfere with other plans.

"I'd like to be a doctor, some day. That's my ambition," said Moorman. He is a green-eyed student and president of the senior class.

Moorman, 6-foot, 240-pounder from Miami, Fla., caught 11 passes for a new Atlantic Coast Conference single game record in Duke's 31-0 victory over South Carolina last Saturday night. He gained 122 yards and scored a touchdown.

Colonels Take Opener of Little World Series

TORONTO (AP)—The opener of the Little World Series, touted as a pitchers' battle, was won by the big bat of Louisville's Mack Jones.

'Oldster' Club Champ at Hills Age No Obstacle in Golf

To prove this, you need look no further than Bloomfield Hills Country Club where 56-year-old George Haggarty won the 1959 club crown.

It was the 1st success for Haggarty, who defeated Chas. Marney Jr., 43, in their 36-hole match play.

Mrs. Sam (Sue) Gagne won the women's crown at the Hills for the 2nd straight year with a 4-3 victory over Mrs. Hanley Dawson Jr. in an 18-hole match.

Jack Bladell won the men's club crown at Pine Lake with a 54-hole medal play total of 222 on rounds of 76-78-78. Mrs. C. P. (Phyllis) Mestas repeated as Pine Lake's feminine champ with scores of 85-87-88-79.

Men's honors at Tam O'Shanter went to Seymour Winkler and Mrs. Albert Carmel took the women's title. Mrs. F. L. Thompson won the women's title at Oak Hills for the 2nd year in a row.

Left-handed champs at Orchard Lake are Gordon Walker and Charles E. Baer. Walker was the low net winner with a 71 while Baer's 73 placed 1st in the low gross division.

Karl Grevin won Pine Lake's junior boys title for the 2nd straight time. Deanne Park is the new junior girls champ at Pine Lake by virtue of her victory over defending champ Barbara French.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Hank Casey boxes in his hometown for the first time tonight, aiming once again to surprise Detroit's Henry Hank.

Both are ranking middleweights now, but Casey wasn't on May 16 when his manager, Billy Newsum, matched him against the Detroit slugger.

After 10 rounds at New Orleans, however, it was Casey the winner and Hank the surprised. Henry evened things in a rematch by taking a controversial decision July 12 and he declares flatly, "I'll knock him out this time."

The winner may get a shot at NBA world middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

GM Pays Thousands for Driver Education

More than $400,000 was contributed by General Motors toward the driver education program in the nation's schools during the 1959-60 school year, GM President John F. Gordon announced today.

Under GM's driver training assistance plan, dealers are given an allowance for each new automobile loaned to schools for driver training. This allowance helps dealers defray vehicle maintenance and reconditioning costs.

GM dealers representing Pontiac, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Buick divisions loaned 1,800 new cars to high schools over the country during the 1959-60 school year, Gordon said.

Since GM pioneered the allowance plan in 1953, the company's contributions to dealers to loan cars to schools for driver education have totaled more than $2,700,000. Some 21,500 cars have been made available for driver education.

Gordon praised the GM dealers participating in the training program. "We are pleased to share with them the cost of this activity," he said. "Their support of the high school driver education program through loaning training cars reflects a sincere and constructive community interest."

GM conducts many other activities in support of high school driver education. These include broad distribution of films, booklets, charts and other training aids.

Early this year a new magazine, "American Youth," edited especially for teenagers with particular emphasis on safe driving practices, was introduced by General Motors. It is being sent free every other month to newly-licensed young drivers at their homes.

K Edges Away From U.N. Revision Toward Meetings on Disarmament

By STEWART HENSLY
 UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The emphasis here appears to be shifting to disarmament after a week of wrangling over Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's demands for revision of the U. N. executive setup.
 The Soviet leader seems to feel that the moment he has got about as much mileage as he can out of his demands for the ouster of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and his replacement by a three-nation council representing East, West and neutral nations.
 The Western powers, after President Eisenhower's circumlocutory work among the Africans and other neutrals, are confident Khrushchev will take a beating if he insists on pushing this one.
 Diplomats expect no great progress here on the disarmament problem, which has defied solution despite repeated approaches. But they want the big powers to give it another try.
 The shift of emphasis toward disarmament came Tuesday when President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called on the assembly to forget its "stormy start" and "concentrate on serious, sober and constructive work, notably in the field of disarmament."
 Khrushchev followed by proposing the addition of five neutral nations — India, Indonesia, Mexico, Ghana and the United Arab Republic — to the ten-member East-West committee which tried and failed at Geneva last summer.
 Then came U. A. R. president Gamal Abdel Nasser with his bid for recognition as a neutral leader. He proposed that the assembly urge Eisenhower and Khrushchev to meet on the problem of ending the global arms race.
GRANDSTAND PLAY
 Nasser's suggestion didn't appear to have the chance of a football in the Sahara. American officials dismissed it as a grandstand play. They recalled that Eisenhower has said he would not meet Khrushchev until Russia released the RB47 fliers and the Russian premier retracted some of his worst attacks on the United States.
 The United States was not ready to reject out of hand Khrushchev's proposal for expansion of the ten-nation commission which broke down when the Russians walked out on it in Geneva last June 27.
 But American officials described it as a phoney propaganda play for neutralist sympathy. The U. S. attitude was that addition of the neutrals would not help the big powers reach agreement, would only make negotiations more cumbersome.
 Any device suggested for approaching anew the question of disarmament appeared ineffectual against the basic disagreements between Russia and the West on the subject.
 Very simply, the Russians want total disarmament first and then the creation of inspection and control system. The United States insists on the inspection and control system first, then disarmament.

NATO, France Compromise European Air Defense Unification Broadened to Please De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — NATO's permanent council Wednesday broadened unification of European defense in a compromise to meet President Charles de Gaulle's objections to giving up control over the French air force.
 Under the compromise, French air units in West Germany and near the German border will be placed under Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe.
 A spokesman for the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization described the agreement as a good working arrangement which represents a considerable measure of progress.
ALL EXCEPT FRANCE
 In brief, the move puts European air defense responsibility under Norstad, except for the major part of France itself.
 The agreement also provides for the air defense system to be beefed up with ground-to-air rockets, anti-aircraft rockets and early warning radar.
 De Gaulle vigorously opposed general unification, holding to his conviction that the French should control their own national defense forces.

Called Himself African Prince — Now a Jailbird

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — An American who posed as an African prince wound up with a jail cell for his kingdom today.
 The man, Edward Lee Woods, 26, started serving a nine-month sentence after pleading guilty to charges of obtaining money and property by false representations. The Norwalk hospital said he owed it more than $350 for medical services.
 Woods, who gave an Albuquerque, N. M., address when arrested in Norwalk last June, has been in trouble in other parts of the country for similar activities.
 Woods represented himself as "Prince Oretway of Upper Volta, West Africa." There is such a place, but it doesn't have any such prince as Woods.

Local Reserve Unit Uses Store Window

Sets Up Polaris Display

If the Communists had Polaris, they would become immediately vulnerable to direct bombardment by this submarine-fired missile.

This is the point being driven home by a display set up by the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center in a downtown store window.

This city could be obliterated by a barrage of three nuclear submarines fired from almost any point off the East Coast or from the Gulf of Mexico or from Hudson Bay.

They could be fired from a still submerged submarine that could be gone from the spot before the missiles hit their target in 15 minutes or less.

It could happen if the Communists had Polaris.

The U.S. Navy, presently in the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center to help make our citizens aware of the importance of this and other Naval projects underway and in the offing, according to Lt. Cmdr. William C. Remick, head of the reserve center here.

"By the use of an outline map of the North American continent and a 30-inch scale model of the ballistic submarine George Washington, the display attempts to portray what could happen to Pontiac, if the Communists had a missile system similar to Polaris," he explained.

"It shows that the Pontiac area would be vulnerable to nuclear attack from submarines in any spot on an arc having a 1,200-mile radius.

The USS George Washington is the Navy's first Polaris-firing nuclear-powered submarine. Sometime this fall, 16 Polaris missiles will be loaded aboard the George Washington, each stored in its own launching tube ready for firing at the push of a button. Then the sub will slip quietly out to sea and submerge.

From that moment on, would-be aggressors can only guess at its whereabouts.

Somehow, anywhere it will be moving stealthily beneath the 140 million square miles of water which cover three-fourths of the earth's surface, its whereabouts known only to the Navy and Defense departments, and the President.

Pontiac's Tempest Makes Its Bow

New Companion Line Has Several Firsts

Six-Passenger Models Set for Production as Sedans, Four-Door Station Wagons

By HARRY J. REED

Managing Editor, The Pontiac Press
Pontiac Motor Division reverts the automotive history books today, revealing a companion line of smaller, family-size cars — the Tempest — which is far ahead of any other introduced to the public.

Newest of the new, the six-passenger Tempest is the first American car to achieve a front-engine, rear-transmission arrangement, and it's the first car in the world to employ an automatic transmission using this arrangement.

Offered in both four-door sedan and four-door station wagon, the Tempest is 21 inches shorter than the standard Pontiac, 1 to 2 inches lower, 6 inches narrower, and approximately 1,000 pounds lighter.

Powered by a four-cylinder engine, fuel economy of 25 miles-per-gallon is expected at 50 miles-per-hour.

COMPLETELY NEW
"Years of intensive research, development and testing are behind the completely new Tempest series," says General Motors Vice President S. E. Knudsen, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division. "We feel the Tempest introduces the newest engineering advances in automobile design ever to be offered by our division."

"Unique in conception and fresh in styling, the Tempest is an entirely new personality for the motoring public, yet it is unmistakably Pontiac," Knudsen said.

Chief identification with the Pontiac is the twin grille, trademark of the 1959 model, and also the 1961 line. Twin headlights are part of the grille, which is integrated with a sweeping bumper.

The completely new Tempest has a consistent styling theme of simplicity that prevails throughout the entire car. Gracefully sculptured lines dominate the side theme, accentuated by a moderate use of chrome.

Having the engine canted at 45 degrees has allowed a lower hood line, and upper portions of the Tempest are effectively light and spacious with clean-cut lines that offer excellent visibility as well as ease of entry and exit.

Fifteen exterior colors are available, and 57 possible two-tone combinations. Sedan interiors are offered in 14 color combinations, and foam rubber front seats are standard.

A reflection-free instrument cluster dominates the modernistic panel of the Tempest, and the automatic transmission control lever and indicator are built into the instrument panel within easy reach of the driver.

Most significant among the engineering innovations, according to Chief Engineer E. M. Bates, is the front-engine, rear-transmission arrangement.

Takes Pill Overdose on 26th Birthday, but Now 'Out of Danger'

NICE, France (UPI)—French movie star Brigitte Bardot, whose domestic difficulties have been making headlines, attempted suicide Wednesday night but now is "definitely out of danger," her doctors said today.

They said Miss Bardot took an overdose of sleeping pills but they denied reports she also had tried to slash her wrists.

A doctor who had been called to her villa had said that she had cut her wrists.

She was taken to Saint Francis clinic where doctors Pierre Marnie and Pierre Martin announced she was out of danger.

The suicide attempt came on her 26th birthday.

Her husband, Georges, director of her latest film, "The Truth," said "Brigitte tried to commit suicide last night. I believe she did it in a fit of depression."

The proprietor of a restaurant at the Riviera resort of Cap Martin where she lunched Wednesday said she snapped "Leave me in peace. Anyway, I am going to die" when he tried to have her photographed.

Stricken in Her Sleep
After Long Illness

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Elivora Doud, 82, mother of Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, died early today in her sleep at her home here. She had been ill for some time.

No closer and more public relationship between a president and his mother-in-law probably existed than that between Mrs. Doud and Eisenhower.

She lived at the White House and was the first mother-in-law to accompany a presidential candidate on his campaign train. The President referred to his mother-in-law as "Min," an expression that Mrs. Doud's youngest daughter had taken from the comic strip character "Andy Gump."

President Eisenhower is flying to Chicago to make a speech and Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany him there, then fly on to Denver. Two other daughters, who died in their teens, were born to Mrs. Doud and her husband, John Sheldon Doud, who died at the age of 80 in 1951.

Bombs Greet Fidel at Havana

HAVANA (UPI)—Two bomb explosions at a giant welcome home rally Wednesday night brought a storm of fury against the United States from Premier Fidel Castro.

He also announced he was setting up a neighborhood spy system to catch "lackeys of imperialism."

—Here Are Places

There are only 12 days left to register for the Nov. 8 election. If you're not signed up as a voter by Oct. 10, the deadline, you won't be allowed to cast a ballot for your presidential preference.

This is where you can register in Pontiac tomorrow:
City Hall, 35 E. Pike St., 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.
Saginaw-Huron Street booth, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. damage. A pair was averted Castro's speech but did not when Castro had his lieutenants lead the 100,000 massed Cubans in the national anthem.

The bearded premier scoffed at the bombs, blamed them on the United States and said he was setting up his brother vigilance committees in every block of Havana to root out what he called "lackeys of imperialism and tyranny."

He said civilian militia units would be enlarged throughout Cuba "some by some."

The bombs exploded in Zayas Park, across the street from the palace where Castro, flanked by Soviet Ambassador Sergei Kudrjavtsev and other honored guests, spoke.

Also on the stand were the Russian crewmen of the Soviet turbojet which flew Castro back to Havana from the United Nations General Assembly.

Castro's Cubana Airlines plane was impounded in New York by the U.S. Coast Guard.

The blasts resounded through out the nation over radio and television networks, carrying Castro's speech. The bombs apparently were of the type known as "petardos"—small but noisy.

Following the first explosion, Castro told the crowd: "Every body knows who paid for that bomb—those are the bombs of imperialism."

"Mark this well," he added, "the moment I was talking of imperialism, the bomb exploded."

$23 Million Post Office Dedicated in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI)—A "parade of postal ploggers" swung through downtown Detroit today preceding dedication of the city's new $23-million post office.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, who, dedicated the building, led the parade which featured the many vehicles used to move the mail. Included were several Alaskan huskies pulling a sled, and early model airplanes.

Talk for Party in Four Michigan Cities

CHICAGO (AP)—President Eisenhower returns to the 1960 presidential campaign limelight tonight for the first time since the Republican National Convention here in July.

Eisenhower will speak via closed-circuit television to GOP fund-raising dinners in 36 cities.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, making his White House bid in the East, will join the speech-making from Boston.

In Michigan a task force of top Republicans headed for four cities to boost party candidates and raise money for the political campaign.

DEWEY IN DETROIT
Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York and twice unsuccessful GOP presidential nominee, planned to visit his home town, Oswego, before appearing in Detroit.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley of Oswego was to share the speaker's platform with Dewey.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell will speak at Grand Rapids; Leonard Hall, former GOP national chairman at Lansing; and Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Meade Aikman, another former GOP national chairman, at Flint.

All the dinners are $100-a-plate affairs except for that at Flint which is $25.

The Republican National Committee estimates $2,000 to $3,000 of the party faithful will shell out nearly $2 million for tonight's dinners across the country.

Kennedy Draws Crowds in N.Y. GOP Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy, pounding hard at his Republican opponent and drawing great crowds in areas that went to the GOP in 1952 and 1956, ranges upstate New York for votes again today.

The Democratic presidential candidate lined up another punishing day and evening of campaigning after jamming big auditoriums Wednesday night in Rochester and Buffalo.

He arrived in Albany after midnight, was greeted by thousands and made his 13th speech of a long day.

In Buffalo and Rochester he fired a barrage of criticism at the Eisenhower administration generally and at Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Republican candidate for the White House, specifically.

Today's renewed quest for New York's 45 electoral votes starts with a morning rally at the state Capitol.

Traps Japanese Killer-Thief

Calling Card Ends Villainy

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth installment of a 10-part series on the Japanese crime wave in Pontiac.)

By DON WHITEHEAD

The Japanese people, during the occupation headed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, were incredibly submissive to orders from the Supreme Commander's headquarters. How the Japanese police solved this case stands as one of the best examples of detective work in modern crime.

At 3:20 p. m. on Jan. 26, 1948, manager Takichiro Yoshida signaled an employee to lock the doors of the suburban Shitamachi branch of Tokyo's Teikoku (Imperial) Bank.

Before the lock snapped, a visitor pushed through the door. He wore a knee-length white cotton coat over his brown suit. An arrow band indicated that he was a Wolfford Department mail carrier. He carried a small wooden box which resembled a money bag.

The visitor bowed politely to himself as Dr. Jiro Yamaguchi, manager Yoshida, introduced and explained he had come to the bank on orders from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters. The Americans, he went on, were deeply concerned over an outbreak of amebic dysentery in the vicinity of the bank.

"As you know," Dr. Yamaguchi said, "the occupation authorities are most particular when contagious diseases are concerned. It will be necessary for me to give you and all your employees a preventive medicine."

Mr. Yoshida called his 15 employees into the office. The doctor explained the grave danger. He told them to bring their telescopes so that he could give them a preventive drug.

At that time the orders of the American Occupation Forces were being obeyed virtually without question and this one seemed no stranger than most of the others.

The doctor said, "You must take two medicines. The second must be taken immediately after the first. This drug is very potent. Be careful not to let it touch your teeth. Just stick out your tongue a little and cover your lower teeth as you swallow." (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1)

Nixon Hits Trail in Boston After Cheers From 9,000

ON ROUTE WITH NIXON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, cheered by big receptions in New York's Nassau and Suffolk counties, carried his campaign today into his opponent's New England home territory.

Speeches in Burlington, Vt., and in Manchester, N.H., were to precede a major address tonight at the life of the bond issue or until top-heavy reserves were established, and forced calling in of bonds before the due date, and in many instances, charging the district a premium to call them in early.

Want Libraries, Survey Shows

64 Per Cent of County Taxpayers Willing to Finance More—Report

Oakland County wants more libraries and is willing to pay for them, according to a survey released today on a four-year study by the State Board of Libraries.

A sampling of opinion indicates 65 per cent of the county residents want more library service and 64 per cent of the taxpayers would be glad to pay for it, said Mrs. Lela D. Fyfe, state librarian, in a summary of the findings.

These she said, are "the two outstanding facts" that have come out of the study, authorized by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors in 1956.

Completion of the study was held up last year because of the state's financial difficulties, but its conclusions are up to date, said Mrs. Fyfe.

The 44-page report devoted seven pages to a discussion of methods by which Oakland County communities could increase local library services.

"The suggestions can be summed up in the one word—cooperation," said Mrs. Fyfe.

"We believe that it is only through such cooperative efforts that total library service can be provided for all and local autonomy preserved."

High education and economic levels in the county were cited as the probable reason for the high interest in library facilities.

The report is to be made available to all communities. "We hope it will lead to action by the citizens and the board of supervisors to provide this needed public service," said Mrs. Fyfe.

The report was prepared by Alice E. McKinley, a public library consultant, with the help of the University of Michigan Survey Research Center and its Institute for Social Research.

L. I. Colbert, Poole Re-Elected at Hills

L. I. Colbert and J. B. Poole were returned to the board of supervisors of the Bloomfield Hills Township at the annual meeting Wednesday.

James E. Goodman was added to replace Louis J. Colombo, retiring president. Around 175 members played golf during the day and the vote cast was the highest in club history.

James W. Miller President of WMU

LANSING (UPI) — James W. Miller, former state controller and now secretary of Michigan State University, has been named president of Western Michigan University. It was announced today.

Miller's appointment broke a long deadlock on the State Board of Education over a successor to Dr. Paul V. Sangrey who retired from the Kalamazoo Institution presidency last July 1. Miller will assume the $25,000-a-year post Jan. 1.

Mackie Halts Road Jobs in Tiff With Muskegon

LANSING (UPI) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has ordered all work on future highway projects in Muskegon halted until city officials "live up to their previous commitments on a parking ban."

Mackie sent a telegram Wednesday to Muskegon Mayor Don F. Seydigh saying he was "shocked" by the city's refusal to amend a city ordinance and include a parking ban on Michigan 66 in the city.

to the transaxle by a newly-developed drive shaft that virtually eliminates the floor tunnel."

The four-cylinder Tempest engine is adapted from Pontiac's big V8, and is standard with either a synchromesh or an automatic transmission.

The unique Tempest series combines the famous Pontiac wide track concept with independent suspension at all four wheels, and equal weight distribution through the front-engine, rear-transmission setup.

Economy operation becomes reality with a wide selection of 186-cubic-inch engines. The short stroke four is available in five different versions, ranging from a one-barrel, regular fuel engine developing 110 horsepower with straight stick transmission, to a four-barrel, premium fuel engine rated at 155 horsepower for either straight or automatic transmission.

Also available in the Tempest is a 215-cubic-inch, regular fuel aluminum V8 engine, for use with both straight or automatic transmissions. This engine has a two-barrel carburetor, and develops the same amount of horsepower as the top rated four.

Compression ratios are 10.25 to 1 for premium fuel and 8.8 to 1 for regular fuel engines.

The standard Tempest transmission is a manual shift, three-speed conventional synchromesh, while an automatic transmission is offered as an option. Both are mounted at the rear wheels with the differential carrier to give perfect balance to the entire car.

This new concept results in excellent riding and handling characteristics, and a flatter floor for greater passenger room and comfort.

Joining the engine to the transmission is a curved torque tube that houses the flexible drive shaft. The 3/4-inch diameter shaft is made of high-grade alloy steel and is specially manufactured for high fatigue life.

Tempest bodies are of integral construction, with an over-all height of 53.5 inches for the sedan, and 54.3 inches for the station wagon. From bumper to bumper, both models measure 189.3 inches.

Comparable figures for the standard size Pontiacs are: 54.9 inches on convertibles to 56.9 on station wagons; 210 inches in length for Star Chiefs, Bonneville's, 217; with Safaris at 209.7.

Tempest width is 72 inches, compared to 78.2 in the standard Pontiacs, and the new smaller car carries a 57-inch tread, in the wide track tradition.

Tempest accessories include windshield washers, dual speed wiper blades, air conditioning, power steering, radio, heater, back-up lights, and a luggage carrier for station wagons.

Power brakes are not offered, and Knudsen said they are not necessary. Axle ratios available are standard, 3.55:1; economy, 3.31:1; and performance, 3.73:1.

Pontiac Sales Manager Frank V. Bridge, said, "The Tempest rides and handles like a big car. The entire Tempest concept has been thoroughly tested and proven throughout 2 million miles of hard driving under all conditions.

"We believe its thoroughly tested and proven new engineering features, which combine plenty of power with economy, front-mounted engine, with rear-mounted transmission, six-passenger comfort with large rear trunk, and near equal weight distribution front and rear, make it the ideal family car to sell as a companion to our regular Pontiac line," Bridge added.

FACTORY PRICES

Tempest factory list price, as announced yesterday, are $1,975 for the sedan, and $2,225 for the station wagon. The sedan price is $415 below the most inexpensive Pontiac Catalina at $2,390.

Questioned at the press preview to how many Tempests he expected to sell, Knudsen said he had no figure in mind, but that he expected to sell as many 1961 standard size Pontiacs as the firm sold 1960 models, and that the Tempest would be plus business.

Last year Pontiac sold 363,320 units, a 3 1/2 per cent increase over the preceding year.

STATION WAGON FEATURES — Pontiac's Tempest station wagon is designed for comfort, economy and performance. Along with unit body construction and independent four-wheel suspension,

the Tempest features a four-cylinder, front-mounted engine and transmission in the rear. Standard tire size for the station wagon is 6.50 by 15. The picture above shows the identifying twin grille and the sculptured side styling. Below, details of the rear design are revealed.

REAR STYLING

The photo below shows the clean styling of the rear of Pontiac's Tempest four-door sedan model. The sloping trunk lid flows to the tail lights, while a wrap-around bumper protects back-up lights and license bracket beneath it. Canting the four-cylinder engine at 45 degrees allowed a lower hood line, and easy access to motor accessories. In addition to the regular fuel, four-cylinder engine, an aluminum V8 is available for both synchromesh and automatic transmission, which also uses regular fuel. Pontiac's Tempest offers the first four-cylinder American car since the postwar Henry J.

IT'S A GIRL! — Bold letters reaching half way across an Omaha street mark the spot where a rescue squad ambulance hurrying Mrs. George Riza to a hospital Tuesday night screeched to a sudden halt. A few moments later, Capt. Earl Graham of the rescue squad stepped

Novice Pell Trounces Vets in Bid for Green's Seat

By WALTER R. MEARS
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—So-called-businessman Claiborne B. Borda Pell of Newport bowed into Rhode Island politics with a bang Wednesday night, trouncing two seasoned campaigners to win the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senate.

In his first bid for elective office, Pell, 41, was nominated to succeed Sen. Theodore Francis Green, 72, who is not seeking re-election.

40,000 over the previous high of two years ago.

Pell, who keyed his campaign to the youth and new ideas theme of Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has held minor posts in the Foreign Service. His father was a diplomat under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. took the stump for Pell last week.

Christopher Del Sesto, first GOP Governor in nearly 20 years, is seeking re-election.

Raoul Archambault Jr., former assistant director of the U. S. budget, is the Republican candidate for the Senate; and Theodore Martin Jr. GOP nominee for the 1st District seat. The Republican held their primary Sept. 19.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Our dog rubs its eyes with its paws quite a bit. Does this mean there is eye trouble of some kind? Johnny Ferreira of Newport, R.I.

A. A dog rubs its eyes for a simple reason; they are irritated. Your pet's eyes pick up foreign objects more easily than ours. His proximity to the ground leaves the orbs vulnerable to grass seed, pollen, dust, etc.

Wash his eyes with boric acid solution (one half teaspoon to one cup water), then gently lift the upper and lower eyelids for examination. Foreign objects should be gently grasped and removed, but if you meet with resistance, professional aid may be necessary.

If you find no tangible cause for the irritation, boric acid eye ointment applied twice daily usually gives relief within 72 hours.

Your pet's eyelids can also be infected from certain types of mange and other parasites, but this requires microscopic diagnosis. A scratched or discolored eyeball should not be treated by the layman either.

Rape Attempt Reported
by Drayton Plains Wife

An 18-year-old Drayton Plains housewife reported to sheriff's deputies Wednesday that a man attempted to rape her in his car while her husband's 3-year-old sister sat on the back seat.

She said her assailant offered to drive them to a service station after her car ran out of gas on Clarkston Road in Orion Township Wednesday afternoon.

She described her assailant as about 34 years old, 5 feet 10, and weighing approximately 130 pounds, with blond hair and brown eyes. He was driving a two-tone pink and white car, she said.

For the first time in many years, forests in the United States are growing more wood than is being removed by harvest, or lost to fires, insects and disease.

Rich Simplicity for Evening!

Fashions designed to light up an autumn evening are executed in rich glowing fabrics and colors. An American favorite, the ensemble (at left) is red silk satin. The sheath dress has a wide set-in band at the waistline and is topped by a full coat lined in a harmonizing print. Another sheath (at right) is easy and elegant in brocaded silk lame. The three-tier sash belt, deep V neckline and wing cuffs are distinctive to the Raffaele design.

A demure party dress nonetheless has its full share of sophistication. In bright red silk satin, it has a full stiff skirt, short bell sleeves and simple portrait neckline.

Your PTA in Action

A series of cooperative dinners is planned by Cora Bailey School Parent-Teacher Association. Designed to acquaint parents with the school and to outline objectives for the school year, the dinners will begin this evening with a gathering of third-graders' parents in the classroom of Mrs. Arthur Hodges. Movies will be shown for the children during PTA discussion.

Mrs. Lora Davis is chairman of the dinners, assisted by Mrs. John Fox.

The remaining two dinners are slated Oct. 6, second graders, in the classroom of Mrs. Walter Sheffield, and Oct. 13, first graders, in Mrs. Gladys Hocking's classroom.

AT EASTERN JUNIOR HIGH
"Harvest of Information" will be the theme of the annual fall school of instruction held in connection with the regular Pontiac Council of PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Members will meet at Eastern Junior High School.

Make Sister Warn Farmers, Says Abby

Don't Let Her Palm Off the Dirty Work

By ANGELO VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I just received a letter from my sister telling me her son is marrying a high-class girl in November and a formal wedding invitation will follow.

We have a brother Charlie who lives on a farm. Charlie's wife works the soil and runs the tractor like a man. She is a good woman but she doesn't go to beauty parlors and keep herself up like some women who have money.

My sister said she was coming on me to see to it that Charlie gets a haircut for the wedding and his wife washes herself up and goes to dress right. I am not good at getting so personal with people. How can I handle this?

DEAR CITY SISTER: Write your sister and tell her if she wants to be sure all the relatives clean up for her wedding she should do her own dirty work.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went to a dance with a girl friend, but they didn't come home together. They each met a boy at the dance and hooked rides home that way. My daughter got home at 1:30 a.m. as she said she would. Her girl friend got home at 5:30 a.m. She fled to her mother and said she was with my daughter all that time. Should I tell the girl's mother? My daughter is 19 and her girl friend is 18.

DEAR CONCERNED: If your daughter had stayed out until 5:30 a.m. with a fellow she met at a dance, wouldn't you want to know? "Do unto others..."

DEAR ABBY: Before my wife and I were married she was the most affectionate little thing in the world. We have been married only two years and now every time I go to kiss her she tells me I need a shave. What do you think is the matter with her?

NEEDS LOVE
DEAR NEEDS: The matter with her? Maybe you just need a shave.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter in your column from the mother who was tired of picking up after her 18-year-old daughter who kept her room a mess.

You told her to quit nagging the girl about it, to close the door to her bedroom and let her waste around in the mess until it became so hopelessly inconvenient that the girl would decide to clean it up herself. Having the "identical problem myself," I followed your advice.

Abby, I could kiss you! After living in complete disorder for six weeks, my daughter "lost" two shoes (unrelated), four belts, three sweaters, a book and her good evening purse.

I went into my room and laughed until I cried because she spent all day Saturday cleaning up her room. Thanks a million.

GRATEFUL MOTHER:

For Abby's pamphlet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send 25 cents and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope in care of The Pontiac Press.

Whitfield of Cherokee Road.

Five Pages Today in Women's Section

NEW YORK (NEA)—American women, out on a shopping tour for an evening dress, are prone to be practical.

It's true that they're shopping for beautiful color and fabric. But they also want a dress that will go places with ease.

The sweeping ball gown belongs only to a very grand way of living. It's not for the average woman. She wants rich fabric and glowing color cut into a dress that's timeless to some degree. It should be good this season and next, too.

Most often, she'll look for a theater, dinner or evening gown in a day length, which is most practical for the American way of living. She likes to see her favorite ahead done up in a gorgeous fabric. She favors the ensemble because the matching coat takes care of the wrap problem. And it can be worn with other dresses, too.

She looks for her favorite shirtwaist style given a new sophistication. And she finds it, this fall, cut from gleaming satin with a full, stiffened skirt.

Both fabrics and colors are combined effectively for evening this autumn. Taffeta and chiffon team up; so do chiffon and satin. Or a dark skirt is used with a light bodice to make the most of differing shades of a single color. Black lace sometimes veils satin or a silk print is combined with velvet.

In the last 15 years, a way of dressing has evolved which can be called distinctly American. It is casual but never sloppy.

It depends on clean lines, meticulous tailoring, fine fabrics and lovely colors.

Women who like this simple and beautiful way of dressing do not readily take to fluffy ruffles for evening. This year, they'll find that simple lines have been made ready for evening, too.

Club Cuts Cake

The annual birthday party and election of officers were combined at Country-side Improvement Association's final meeting of the season Wednesday.

Mrs. Webster Francis of Pine Lake was hostess, assisted by Augusta Meiser, Mrs. Lynn Johnson and Mrs. E. D. Foley.

Enjoys Mucking About

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—The causes are softening on Liliane Huval's small, sturdy hands, and the muscles in her right forearm—the trowel muscles, she calls them—are returning to normal.

But even so, Liliane will never be quite the same: she has been on a dig.

Liliane's an anthropologist, studying at Columbia University for her doctor's degree in the culture and personality field. And for six weeks this summer she left husband and small daughter in Brooklyn to become the only girl graduate among 16 women students and a handful of male graduate assistants on a remote 600-year-old archaeological excavation in Northern New Mexico.

"It was like being on a submarine," recalls Liliane, small, dark-haired, bespectacled, 26 and pretty.

"We lived and worked and ate together, practically in one another's plates. At first we got terribly irritated with each other's habits. Fur flew every so often. But as time went on, we became a family. We shared things, and cried on each other's shoulders."

The girls commuted by bus from a dormitory of Northern New Mexico College at El Rito, N. M., carrying their lunches in paper bags. Water was provided by the San Juan Indians, whose tribal council gave permission for the excavation.

'ATE EVERYTHING'

"You worked so hard you ate everything you could lay your hands on. I gained eight pounds," she says.

A workday consisted of digging with shovel and garden trowel from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in temperatures well over 100 degrees. Then you had to wash and classify your finds. Lectures came at night.

"We were careful—taking salt pills, keeping hats on all day. And Indian workers helped us. But when you were digging through dirt hard as cement, you'd think: 'One more shovel and I'll drop.' But you'd take one more shovel, then another, and suddenly your shovel would turn up something. You'd forget how tired you were and dig like a house afire.

"The most wonderful part, though, was when the myriads of little artifacts and potsherds suddenly fell into place for you, and made sense."

Dr. Florence Ellis of the University of New Mexico was in charge of the excavation. It was the first white settlement north of Mexico, built by Don Juan de Onate in 1598, on top of a Teva pueblo dating back to 1300 A.D. Don Juan, son of one of Mexico's conquerors, bested the famed Ponce de Leon to get the Spanish king's permission to establish the settlement. But he stopped being a filibustered boy when the colony buckled in 1610.

When Liliane wasn't digging she was making friends with the San Juan Indians, whose ancestors were living in the area in Don Juan's days. She studied their child-rearing practices and wants to go on with it next summer.

EVEN A BURIAL MOUND

Part of the time Liliane helped excavate an Indian burial mound, with small tools and camel's hair brushes. Bones were turned over to the Indians for Christian burial.

"Every time we dug up a skeleton, we had a sandstorm," she says. The worst storm came up right after we found an important ceremonial burial. The Indians were sure all along, of course, it was because we had angered the spirits for tampering with the dead."

Liliane loves her chosen field of study because "it's tied up with scholarly world, but it's still full of adventure." To expand her techniques for exploring other cultures, she plans to study photography, ham radio and skin diving.

Liliane, who can't see any conflict in being both student and spouse, just grins.

Candidate Urges Caution at Carver

Tells of Concern in Letter to County School Chief

The Republican candidate for the Fourth District seat in the State Legislature urges "caution" in attaching Royal Oak Township's Carver School District to a neighboring community.

Raymond L. Baker of 3944 Cumberland Road, Berkeley, who seeks the post in the Nov. 8 election, said he has become "increasingly concerned" over the situation in a letter to Dr. William J. Emerson, superintendent of Oakland County schools.

Youth Guilty of Burning Petitions

OAK PARK — A Detroit youth was found guilty here yesterday of stealing and burning petitions opposed to the annexation of Royal Oak Township's Carver School District to Oak Park.

Allen E. Abrams, 19, of 3253 Richton St., Detroit, was fined $15 and told to pay $5 in court costs by Municipal Judge Burton R. Sherman.

Abrams was charged with malicious destruction of property, a misdemeanor.

Mrs. Ruth Salan, 40, of 2340 Cloverly Ave., reported that she was circulating the petitions to residents Sept. 19 when Abrams took them from her and burned them.

Signers of the petitions had objected to the possible annexation of the all-Negro school district by Oak Park.

"Many of my friends are Negroes," Abrams said when arrested. "I saw red when I heard about these petitions." Abrams said he had written articles for several Negro publications.

"Perhaps the eventual solution will be to attach the Carver School District to a neighboring school district; perhaps not."

"But I feel nothing is to be gained by precipitous action—especially in the heat of a political campaign, when actions are frequently subject to misinterpretation."

"Any decision in this matter should protect the autonomy of all parties involved," Baker said. "The decision should not be rushed into, but arrived at only after considerable study and planning."

Copies of Baker's letter were sent to Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of the state department of public instruction, and authorities in the Carver School District.

The burglar took place while the lumber company was closed for the weekend. Ulica police reported. The checks were found in a field behind the building.

Burglars gained entry to the office by sawing a hole in the frame building and by knocking down a section of the brick vault which contained the safe.

An estimate of the amount of money taken cannot be made until an audit of the company's books is completed, police said.

Injured was Mrs. George L. Pah of 9165 Steep Hollow Drive. She is in Palmer Osteopathic Hospital, Detroit.

The driver of the gravel truck, Robert L. Osborne, 30, of 270 School St., Clawson, told Troy police that Mrs. Pah drove in front of him as he was traveling north on Livernois Road.

Mrs. Pah, who was driving east, was bound on Square Lake Road, unable to make a statement at the accident scene, police said.

An estimate of the amount of money taken cannot be made until an audit of the company's books is completed, police said.

Recover Checks Taken From Safe of Lumber Firm

Police last night found checks stolen from a safe at the Church and Church Lumber Co., 44805 Ulica Road, Ulica. An undetermined amount of cash still is missing.

The burglar took place while the lumber company was closed for the weekend. Ulica police reported. The checks were found in a field behind the building.

Burglars gained entry to the office by sawing a hole in the frame building and by knocking down a section of the brick vault which contained the safe.

LOOK WHAT DODGE HAS DONE FOR COMPACTS

The name, Lancer: one hardtop; one 2-door sedan; two 4-door sedans; two wagons. What kind of cars are they? This kind: two feet shorter; many pounds leaner; a couple of hundred dollars less in cost than usual automobiles. Lancer welcomes a family of six lavishly. Has plenty of trunk. Its fully-united body is very quiet, very tough. Lancer is also mannerly. It corners decisively, takes a well scarred road with aplomb. Parks obediently. More reasons to buy? Read on. The interiors are rich, but simple: Shed soil, wear well, feel good. The engine is highly spirited, but extremely light on regular gasoline. One more thing, Lancer is built by Dodge. Our name is on it. This means Lancer will stay nice and shiny. How so? The body is rustproofed by an exclusive Chrysler Corporation process. Enough talk. Meet Lancer at your Dodge Dealer. Now.
