ACCOLADES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Dan Quinn Elected to Association Council of MWERA

Dan Quinn was recently elected as an Association Council Member of the Mid-Western Education Research Association for 2017-18. He will begin serving on the council this October, following the annual conference.

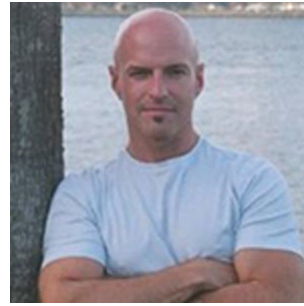

Congratulations to Dan!

Michael Chaney Speaks at "Time to Thrive" Conference

Michael Chaney was recently selected to represent the American Counseling Association as a speaker at the Human Rights Campaign Foundation's "Time To Thrive" Conference in Washington, D.C. from April 28-30.

The purpose of this annual national conference is to promote safety, inclusion, and well-being for LGBTQ youth. His collaborative workshop, The Paradox of Equality and The Journey Toward Equity, focused on bridging the gap between queer adults and queer youth to build stronger and more cohesive queer communities. In partnership with the Human Rights Campaign Foundation, National Education Association, and American Counseling Association, "Time to Thrive" engages LGBTQ youth and youth-serving professionals to create a thriving LGBTQ youth population.

Other notable speakers included Katie Couric, Senator Al Franken, Jazz Jennings, Dennis and Judy Shepard, Lily Eskelsen Garcia, and Charles Blow.

Congratulations to Michael!

IN THE NEWS

Saudi Project Featured in the Grosse Pointe News

Last week, participants of the Galileo-Saudi Arabia Immersion Project visited Grosse Pointe Public Schools to learn more about teacher leadership and transformations that can be taken back with the leaders as part of Saudi Vision 2030. Grosse Pointe is among the districts chosen due to their quality standards and educational innovation.

OU Represents at the Michigan Division for Early Childhood Conference

Oakland University was well-represented at the Michigan Division for Early Childhood (DEC) Conference on Friday, April 28. Jessica Korneder and Julie Ricks-Doneen, HDCS, presented their research, A Collaboration in Progress: Different Perspectives on Including Children Receiving ABA in Inclusive Preschool Settings. Also participating in the presentation were Lowry Teacher, Jennifer Harp along with James Blevins and Audrey Wallington, both from the ABA Clinic.

Additionally, Sarah Elriachi and Angel Gehle, graduate students in the ABA program, and Sarah Grix and Stephanie Caughel, graduate students in the Early Education and Intervention Education Specialist program, presented their research posters at the Poster Session during the conference:

Sarah Elriachi: Scripts and Scripts Fading on Echolalia

Angel Gehle: Modifying a Functional Analysis When Inconclusive Results are Present

Sara Grix: General Education Teachers' Perspectives Regarding Children with Special Needs in their Classrooms

Stephanie Caughel: Not Just Academics: Defining Kindergarten Readiness in an Inner-City School
