Tax Cut Is Possible Despite Budget Hike

Despite a proposed record city budget of $9.2 million, Pontiac property owners may receive a tax cut of 40 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation, it was indicated last night.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren forecast the tax cut last night in presenting the 1966 budget as proposed. The City Commission ordered a public hearing on the budget for Jan. 25.

The budget must be adopted before Feb. 1.

Warren presented the budget some six weeks late. A City Charter provision requires that the budget be presented to the commission one month before the end of the fiscal year, which was Dec. 31.

The proposed budget is based on an assumed $20 million increase in the city's equalized tax base, which totaled $386 million last year.

Assuming the city's total assessed valuation hits $326,458,828 and the equalization factor remains constant this year, the city would levy $17.50 per $1,000 of assessed value.

Last year's city tax rate was $17.90 per $1,000 assessed value.

★ ★ ★

Warren said it was difficult to project a tax rate and budget on figures not to be known until five months from now.

★ ★ ★

The city's assessed value is to be known about March 25, while the equalization factor won't be determined until May 23.

Warren warned that if the tax base fell short of expectations or the equalizing factor was changed, the rate could vary from his projection.

The city manager predicted the reduced tax rate on the basis that purchase of the sanitary land-fill site was the primary reason for an increase in taxes last year.

The proposed 1966 budget carries a general operating fund of $7.6 million, up $650,767 over 1965.

★ ★ ★

The budget provides for pay raises totaling $290,000 for city employes and appropriates nine new patrolmen and 13 new cars to the police department.

Employe pensions are increased $60,367 over 1965.

Most city departments maintain the same level of spending in the proposed budget as in 1965, allowing for the increased salaries.

While the hiked tax base is the main reason behind projected increased revenues, the city also anticipates an added $151,085 in increased revenue from the state.

★ ★ ★

As proposed, the 1966 budget carries a $37,014 contingency fund — an appropriation to handle emergency expenditures over and above the budget.

Hike Pleasing, Hanger Says

New Men and Cars Allocated for Police

"This is the most consideration we've gotten in the budget in some time," said Police Chief William K. Hanger.

The Pontiac police chief was commenting on nine new men and 13 new cars allocated his department in the city's proposed 1966 budget.

The police department budget will be hiked a total of $128,245 over 1965.

Hanger said the nine new men would up the force to 121. He had aimed for a total of 135 men and asked for 16 new cars in his budget request for 1966.

"However, I'm very well pleased," he said.

Hanger's department is slated to receive another benefit in the budget.

Current plans call for the 1966 capital improvement fund to provide $20,000 worth of improvements in the police pistol range.

Other added benefits of the 1966 police budget include a $5,000 increase in the uniform fund to provide short-sleeve shirts for policemen to wear in the summer.

Also, the training allowance has been hiked $9,400 to provide more training courses for policemen.

A side benefit for Hanger himself in the 1966 budget will be replacement of his 1960 auto, one of the two oldest vehicles in the police fleet.

De Gaulle Set to Visit Reds

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle will make an official visit to the Soviet Union this year, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin after he called on De Gaulle at the Elysee Palace. No date for the visit was specified.

De Gaulle has had a standing invitation to visit the Soviet Union since March 1960, when Nikita Khrushchev visited France as premier.

FATAL FIRE — With smoke rising in the background, a Waterford Township fireman helps to extinguish a fire at 4839 Cass-Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. Three-year-old Thomas Reed died in the blaze, which lifted the township's fire death toll to five this year. It equaled the total number killed in Waterford Township fires the previous three years. Fire Marshal Russell See said the rash of fires is the worst he has experienced in his 12 years with the department.

Fire Fatality Township's 6th in Two Weeks

Mother Thwarted in 2 Efforts to Save Son, 3, One of Nine Children

By HUDSON WILLSE

A 3-year-old boy perished in a $6,000 house fire at 4839 Cass-Elizabeth yesterday afternoon and became Waterford Township's sixth fire fatality in the last two weeks and the fifth this year.

Killed in the blaze was Thomas Reed, one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed. Smoke inhalation was ruled the cause of death.

★ ★ ★

Twice the mother attempted to rescue her young son but was thwarted by heat, smoke and flames.

Township Fire Marshal Russell See theorized the boy was playing with matches in an upstairs bedroom of the 1½ story log-construction home.

Several burned matches were discovered in the room.

One of the matches apparently ignited bedding, eventually spreading flames to a plaster board wall and ceiling.

The victim, reportedly not burned, was found on the opposite side of the room by fire fighters who were summoned by a neighbor at 1:47 and arrived at the scene in five minutes.

According to firemen, Mrs. Reed put Thomas and his 2-year-old sister, Nancy, to bed at 1; Thomas upstairs and the younger child in a downstairs room.

Mrs. Reed took a nap about 1:20. She was awakened by smoke at 1:42 and on two separate occasions tried to save Thomas.

In between, she carried Nancy to safety and told a neighbor to notify the fire department.

Much of the damage was confined to the large upstairs bedroom. See estimated damage to the $13,000 home at $4,500 to the building and $1,500 to the contents.

Reed, an employe of Personal Finance Corp., Lake Orion, said the home is insured.

The Reed home is located about a mile from a house at 3980 Arcadia Park where four children died in another fire last Wednesday.

The series of fire deaths started Dec. 29 when Mrs. William N. Pipe died in a blaze at her home at 2451 Voorheis.

NEW SENATE SECRETARY—Eugene B. Farnum (foreground), son of Congressman Billie S. Farnum, D-19th District, officiated for the first time in his new role as State Senate secretary today. In the background, Lt. Gov. William Milliken brings down the gavel for the opening legislative session. Young Farnum was assistant secretary for approximately a year.

Legislature Opens '66 Session Today

LANSING (UPI) — The 1966 legislature was gaveled into session at noon today. Almost immediately, bills were offered that seem likely to spark future floor fights.

Among the first bills introduced, were those to increase the expense allowances of legislative leaders by up to 80 per cent, and to prohibit antlerless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula. Both proposals are controversial.

But public debate was saved for the future, as lawmakers retired into private caucus to discuss preliminary plans for the session.

One of the first chores is to lengthen the tentative schedule for the 1966 session.

With an estimated 1,500 bills left to dispose of from the 1965 session, and with at least an equal number expected to be introduced this session, lawmakers want to extend their work timetable from April 15 to about June 1.

JOINT RESOLUTION

The session adjournment date, plus a deadline for such activities as bill introduction, committee reports, and bill passage, are to be agreed upon by lawmakers in a joint resolution to be passed before other business is conducted.

Gov. Romney delivers his State-of-the-State message to a joint session in the House tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Romney will outline the present position of the state and recommend new legislation.

★ ★ ★

One new bill, introduced by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, would boost the expense allowances of majority and minority party leaders in the House and Senate by $2,000 a year. The allowances of assistant leaders would be upped $1,000 annually.

A second bill, by Sen. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, would eliminate antlerless deer hunting for one year in the Upper Peninsula.

Hershey Views Draft Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey says the draft can't be used to deprive an individual of his liberty.

★ ★ ★

Hershey spoke out Tuesday in another phase of his war of words with Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The argument began when several University of Michigan youths were stripped of their student deferments and reclassified 1A after a sit-in at the Ann Arbor, Mich., draft board.

The demonstrators also were convicted of trespassing under an Ann Arbor ordinance.

'BOARD HAS RIGHT'

Hershey, contacted at a Ft. Stewart, Ga., meeting of Southeast states draft officials, said: "Out law provides that anyone who does something contrary to their deferement — and the state director notified the local boards of each of the students that they had interfered with the draft board — then the local board has the right to decide on their reclassification."

The Press' School for Cooks Near

The Pontiac Press seventh annual cooking school starts Jan. 24 at Pontiac Central High School and runs for four days.

Barbara Zimmerman and Harriet Cannon, home economists at Consumers Power Co., will present the demonstrations in the high school auditorium.

There will be three two-day sessions this year, two at night and one during the afternoon.

Monday and Tuesday nights' programs (Jan. 24-25) will be repeated on the evenings of Jan. 26 and 27 and the afternoons of Jan. 25 and 26.

★ ★ ★

Grand prizes will be awarded at the close of each of the three programs and daily prizes on all six days.

WILL SPEAK

During intermission Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University consumer marketing agent who works out of Oakland County, will speak on meat buying, packaging, labeling and meat carving.

★ ★ ★

Robert Lilleyman will provide organ music each day. Members of the county home extension groups will usher as they have for the past five years.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac area women may obtain one ticket for any sessions they wish to attend. Programs start at 7:30 in the evening and 1:30 in the afternoon.

Did Not Provoke Attack, Says Father of Dead Teen

The father of a teen-age youth fatally stabbed last summer today testified in Oakland County Circuit Court that he did not provoke the attack on his son.

Dr. Frank G. Talbot, 43, of 2045 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, made that statement during the first-degree murder trial of Alan Ross Pearson Jr., 17.

Pearson of 1127 Alhi, Waterford Township, is charged with the knife slaying of Jeffrey Talbot, 17, on June 27, 1965.

Defense attorney Clarence Smith has contended that Pearson was only defending himself when he was jerked out of the car by Dr. Talbot.

On cross-examination to the question Dr. Talbot emphatically stated "I did not pull Ross Pearson out of the car."

★ ★ ★

Smith concluded his questioning of Talbot by saying "Doctor, if you pulled that boy out of the car, you would have a guilty conscience wouldn't you?"

THREE TESTIFY

"You bet I would," replied Talbot.

Robert Green, 17, who accompanied Pearson to the death scene outside Talbot's home, is one of three witnesses who testified this morning.

He admitted to Ass't. Prosecutor Bernard Paige that there had been "a lot of trouble between Ross and Jeff over a girl that they both had been dating."

Green said that he knew that there was a knife in his car because Pearson told him that he had put it there. He said that Pearson had told him that the knife was in the car while they were talking about a camping trip they were going to take the following week.

Earlier in the day of the fatal stabbing, the younger Talbot accused Pearson of damaging a boat, and told him "he is going to get some boys after him," said Green.

Green said that later on in the evening they were just driving around and thought that they would go to see Jeff and talk to him about the trouble.

Dr. Talbot testified yesterday that he and his son, along with a group of about 20 young people, were playing volleyball in an empty lot two doors from their home when a car with Pearson and a companion first drove up to the scene.

"Jeff went toward the car and got about 100 feet from it when it took off. I remember Jeff yelled one profane word at the car," Talbot said.

Talbot said the car returned in a couple of minutes and this time he approached the car and asked Pearson, who was sitting on the passenger side with the door open, " 'What's this all about?' "

"I received no reply," Talbot said.

"By this time Jeff was to

LBJ Talks to Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson goes before Congress tonight with a war and peace report expected to provide for continuing his "Great Society" domestic program.

In a State of the Union address to be carried by radio and television networks at 9 p. m. EST, Johnson planned to bring members up to date on his Viet Nam peace offensive aimed at starting negotiations with the Communists to end the Southeast Asia fighting.

There was no advance indication that he would be able to announce any response from a memorandum covering U. S. peace objectives passed directly to North Vietnamese representatives.

But while Radio Hanoi continued to berate the President's call for unconditional discussions, the absence of any formal public rejection of the memorandum stirred some hopes in Congress that there may be grounds for believing they might yet materialize.

A presidential pledge to continue the search for peace was expected to soften the grim possibility that the war may have

Temperatures of 30 to 36 tonight will average about the same during the day tomorrow. Snow flurries and colder is Friday's outlook.

The thermometer hit a low of zero at 4 a.m. today. The mercury had edged up to 12 by 2 p.m.

ROBERT L. TEMPLIN

Ex-Official Is Candidate for Judgeship

Robert L. Templin, Birmingham attorney and former senior assistant prosecutor, today announced that he will be a candidate for Oakland County Circuit judge in the August primary election.

Templin, 44, of 3199 Pebble Lane, Bloomfield Township, was the Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney in 1964.

Long active in GOP politics, Templin is currently president of the Lincoln Republican Club, a member of the Republican executive and county committees and the County Government Study Committee, and a delegate and alternate to the GOP county and state conventions.

A member of the law firm of Wilson, Templin, Basso & Basso with offices in Birmingham and Detroit, Templin received a degree in economics from the University of Michigan in 1943, and his law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1954.

★ ★ ★

He graduated from Northwestern University School of Law Courses in Criminal Jurisprudence in 1963.

A past chairman of public relations for the county bar association and a member of the National District Attorneys Association, Templin has lectured extensively on criminal jurisprudence throughout the state.

Power Plants in Italy Are Hit by New Strike

ROME (AP) — A new power strike began throughout Italy today, but soldiers and management personnel manned installations to keep electricity flowing.

The country's 100,000 electric workers started walking out shortly before midnight in support of demands for higher wages and contract improvements.

City Gets Report on Sewer Separation

City officials have been handed a supplementary report that provides a master plan for separating the city's combined storm and sanitary sewer systems at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Presented to the City Commission by City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling last night, the report was prepared by Jones, Henry & Williams, the city's consulting engineers.

The report immediately provoked comments from the commission.

Generally, commissioners indicated the city should look for state aid to help finance the sewer work.

★ ★ ★

The $3-million cost estimate represents new work added to a previous master plan figured to cost $19.5 million.

SCALED UPWARD

City commissioners were also told that because of increased construction costs, the previous $19.5-million estimate has been scaled upward to $24 million.

Thus, the total outlay with the work added with last night's report, would reach $27 million.

The supplementary report amends the earlier four-volume master plan designed to detail the city's total sewer needs.

★ ★ ★

Neipling said this would provide separation of the combined sewer systems and construct the necessary trunklines.

FURTHER EXPENDITURES

However, even the $27 million does not cover all of the cost, according to Neipling.

He said further expenditures would be necessary to extend sanitary and storm sewer laterals into unimproved areas of Pontiac.

The city's share of the cost in only one such area — the watershed area of the Galloway Creek — would total some $4 million.

★ ★ ★

Separation of the storm and sanitary sewer systems has been advised by the State Water Resources Commission to eliminate pollution of three small north side lakes.

NEW STORM DRAINS

Neipling said that generally new storm drains would have to be constructed. New sanitary sewer trunk lines would be constructed parallel to existing combined sewer lines.

The existing trunk lines generally were designed for storm water flow and were constructed larger than sanitary sewer truck lines, said the city engineer.

The supplementary report minimizes the disruptions to existing streets and to individual homes in proposing the new sewer construction, he added.

Noting the rise in construction costs since 1962, Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said some consideration ought to be given to a bonding program to do the work now.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said since part of the work is being pushed by a state agency, the state should furnish some financial aid.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a variety of ways would probably be employed to finance the sewer work. Federal aid might be a possibility, he said.

★ ★ ★

The report is to be further studied by the manager and the commission.

Heavy Rains Diminish; Rio Death Toll at 131

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Torrential rains diminished in Rio de Janeiro today after two days of landslides and floods caused 131 known deaths.

But ambulance sirens still screamed in the streets. Authorities said the death toll might surpass 150.

★ ★ ★

The weather service reported a cold front had passed over the city and the barometer was rising, but weathermen were unable to predict a change in the weather because of a cutoff of information from data-gathering stations.

Nearly a foot of rain fell in a 24-hour period — the worst downpour in Rio's history — and new landslides had been feared.

Forty deaths in floods were reported in nearby Niteroi. There also were reports of casualties in the mountain resorts of Petropolis, Teresopolis and Cachoeira de Macacu.

The Rio morgue held the bodies of 122 victims.

Authorities were unable to give an accurate estimate of the number of injured who jammed the city's hospitals or flocked to improvised dispensaries for first aid.

Many persons were feared still buried beneath 30 major land and mudslides which began Monday as driving rains weakened the moutainsides.

In an effort to avert epidemics, police and firemen worked feverishly to uncover the victims.

Thousands of homeless and hungry jammed schools and other public buildings. Thousands more huddled in the rain waiting for emergency shelter and transport.

Federal and state authorities made nearly $2 million available in emergency aid.

Hardest hit so far have been the squatters whose flimsy shacks perch on hillsides overlooking the fashionable Copacabana district. Flood waters began surging into sea-level districts.

Pick Director of Cranbrook Foundation

Edward H. Lerchen, long active in Detroit area banking, business, industry and civic affairs, has been appointed executive director of the Cranbrook Foundation in Bloomfield Hills.

He will be responsible for management and operation of the services which the foundation furnishes to the institutions.

Henry S. Booth, chairman of the board of trustees of the foundation, was executive director until the positions were separated.

ACTIVE ROLE

Booth will continue to concern himself actively with foundation affairs and with the preservation and development of Cranbrook, giving counsel in regard to landcsape and architecture.

★ ★ ★

BECAME CHAIRMAN

Lerchen, 45, of 180 Lowell, Bloomfield Hills, graduated in 1938 from Cranbrook School for Boys and later became chairman of the board of directors of the school.

He graduated from Amherst College in 1942 and, after serving as a Navy officer in World War II, obtained a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan.

For four years until last October he was a vice president of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.

★ ★ ★

In 1962 he was named a member of the board of trustees of the foundation. He has also been a security analyst for Watling, Lerchen & Co.

Poverty Center Director Picked

The assistant director of Pontiac's urban renewal program, George H. Wilhelmi, today was named director of the South Oakland Community Action Center of the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

His appointment was one of several administrative staff changes and additions authorized by the OEO commisson.

However, Wilhemimi, 39, who has been in Pontiac's Urban Renewal Department since April 1963 and assistant director since Jan. 20, 1964, said he was reserving a decision on whether to accept the OEO post.

"This comes as news to me," he commented.

★ ★ ★

The city official said he had talked to OEO administrators about another post, but had not received any firm offer.

Wilhelmi would succeed Luther Flanagan, who was elevated to deputy director-action centers, and will coordinate activities at both centers.

★ ★ ★

Alvin Davis, formerly acting director of the Pontiac center, was named its director.

★ ★ ★

Other appointments included Doris Storer, deputy director of education programs; James Westmoreland, assistant area center director; and Charles Holmes, program coordinator.

Poverty Unit Charge Probed

Study Is Authorized for County Program

Oakland County's Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) Commission today authorized a study of allegations that the county antipoverty program overlaps other public social agency services.

A federal grant of $107,983 for expansion of the OEO central administrative office function also was announced at today's commission meeting.

The study authorized by the commission was the result of recent statements by Clarence Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League.

Barnes said that the antipoverty program overlapped many services already available to the community through existing agencies.

★ ★ ★

Barnes, who submitted his resignation from the OEO commision a month ago, said at the time it was mainly due to his basic disagreement with the course of action taken by the OEO.

ACTION WITHHELD

The OEO executive committee had withheld action on the resignation until last week because Barnes gave no reason, according to Carl F. Ingraham, OEO commission chairman.

At a meeting last Wednesday the executive committee agreed to recommend acceptance of the resignation and it was accepted today by the full commission.

In calling for the study, most commission members indicated that overlapping was not a problem. However, if it did exist it should be brought to light.

★ ★ ★

The study will be conducted by the 35-member technical advisory committee to the OEO executive director. The committee is comprised of executives of public and private agencies.

Ingraham said that he tried without success to learn why Barnes was resigning after Barnes submitted his resignation.

Nationwide Talk Slated by President

OVER-ALL TOTAL

Aides indicated Johnson may come up with some over-all total, ranging between $110 billion and $115 billion, for a new budget.

Any such total, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, would not include the $12 billion to $13 billion in additional funds administration officials have been talking about to finance the war.

Johnson said in a letter from which AFL-CIO President George Meany quoted Tuesday that he is "determined to press ahead in building the Great Society."

Meany had expressed fears in a letter to the President that mounting war costs might force a cutback in domestic programs, such as the war on poverty.

"I saw Ross bolt out of the car," said Schlaff. "I heard someone say 'Come on, Jeff' and Jeff said 'I can't, I've been stabbed'."

The youth died at Pontiac General Hospital about four hours after the stabbing.

Second Meeting Slated on Housing Integration

The two-month-old local campaign for integrated housing will be reviewed at the second meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy Sunday night.

Leaders of the group will discuss their initial contact with the Birmingham Board of Realtors and steps they hope to take in the future.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at Northminster United Presbyterian Church on Big Beaver, east of Adams, Troy.

Organizers of the committee held their first public meeting Nov. 11 and described as "overwhelming" the support received from 250 persons who attended.

Sunday's program not only will include the report of those who met with realtors but will give interested persons a chance to participate in the movement, chairman John C. Palms said.

"Now is the time to extend our group into all levels of Birmingham-Bloomfield society," he said in a letter to some 500 potential committee members.

Among the subcommittees to be formed is one which will direct its efforts toward attracting clergymen to the campaign.

"We also hope to have an academic committee to contact groups at universities," Palms said today.

Another committee will encourage businessmen and government officials to support the drive.

"The idea is to find those people who are in favor but may not be voicing their opinions at this time," he said. "We really don't know how much support we have."

Also to be discussed Sunday is a plan for direct action in observance of Lincoln's birthday Feb. 12.

On or near that date, "we would like to have some kind of rally or series of meetings with speakers," Palms said.

GIs Kill 23 Cong, Destroy Tunnel Network

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. troops killed 23 Viet Cong and uncovered and destroyed a network of tunnels more than a mile square today as they continued their biggest push of the war to drive the guerrillas from the edge of the Iron Triangle.

★ ★ ★

The day's report raised the Communist toll in five days of Operation Crimp to 107 insurgents killed and 80 captured. Weapons and supplies seized included 122 personal guns, 20 automatic weapons, a mortar, a recoilless rifle, 25,000 rounds of ammunition and 71 tons of rice.

★ ★ ★

As the Americans kept up their destructive blows on the edge of the Saigon River 25 miles northwest of the capital, U.S. and Vietnamese spokesman reported 236 American and Vietnamese soldiers killed or missing last week compared with 714 Viet Cong killed or captured.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. military spokesman said American casualties for the week were 43 killed, 202 wounded and two missing or captured. The week before, American casualties were 34 dead, 116 wounded and five missing or captured.

S. VIET LOSSES

The South Vietnamese reported 118 of their men killed and 73 missing last week but refused to give the number of wounded.

★ ★ ★

With the steady rise of Communist casualties and materiel losses in Operation Crimp, initial disappointment among U.S. officers gradually yielded to some measure of satisfaction, although the big sweep still had not resulted in a major battle with the guerrillas.

★ ★ ★

There was no indication of any letup in the operation, which involves more than 8,000 troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Royal Australian Regiment.

"When you're on to a good thing, you stay with it," an Army spokesman said.

The drive began at dawn Saturday when helicopters and armored columns drove to the edge of the Iron Triangle, a Communist stronghold since the French tried to quell the insurgents. Its objective was to cut off a Communist regiment in the area along the Saigon River and to destroy anything useful to the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

Although the main enemy force evaporated before the allied drive, Communist rear guard elements made their presence felt.

★ ★ ★

A furious barrage of heavy 120mm mortars from North Vietnamese regulars hit a company of infantrymen Tuesday, but U.S. spokesmen reported only light casualties. A track was blown off an armored personnel carrier when an unknown number of Communists exchanged fire with infantrymen for two hours at a likely ambush site.

The evangelist St. Mark, who preached the Gospel at Alexandria, was the first head of the Coptic (Christian) Church in Egypt.

School Board Gets Annexation Request From North Oxford

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — Residents of the North Oxford school district will be asked sometime next spring to do away with their one-room schoolhouse type of education and become part of their larger neighbor, the Oxford school district.

After receiving a request for annexation from the North Oxford board of education last night, the Oxford board passed a resolution to annex the district.

Oxford Schools Supt. Roger Oberg said the resolution will now be sent to the State Department of Education for approval.

He said a vote will be held sometime in the spring, within 120 days, by voters in the North Oxford district.

★ ★ ★

North Oxford is one of three districts in Oakland County without a high school program. A new state ruling makes it mandatory for each school district to have a high school.

TINY DISTRICT

The tiny district has 15 pupils in grades kindergarten through eight in a little one-room schoolhouse. It sends its six high school students to Dryden High School.

Oberg said if the students from North Oxford who are presently attending Dryden High School wish to remain there, they may do so.

If the annexation is approved, residents of the North Oxford district will take on Oxford's operating levy of 17.59 mills. Oberg said the taxpayers would not immediately have to assume the building indebtedness of 4.80 mills. North Oxford only levies the 8.17 mills allocated by the county.

North Oxford has a valuation of about $800,000 which would increase Oxford's per-pupil valuation from $8,500 to $8,900 and produce about $12,000 in taxes.

HONORED QUEEN — Sally Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wood of 1040 W. Buell, Oakland Township, will be installed Saturday as honored queen of Rochester Bethel No. 51, International Order of Job's Daughters. The public ceremony will be held at 8 p.m. at the Rochester Masonic Temple.

Residents to Get Annexation Poll

AREA NEWS

HOLLY — The Village Council wants to know how small property owners in the Booth Corner area feel about the campaign their neighbors started to annex that portion of Holly Township to the village.

The drive to annex some 540 acres of property to the village was initiated in November by the owners of large parcels, notably industrialist Fred D. Barton.

While some 140 acres of the property under consideration lies southwest of the village in Rose Township, most of it is north of the village near the intersection of Saginaw and Grange Hall Road.

The property now is being surveyed in preparation for a Village Council decision on whether the annexation request should be forwarded to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

★ ★ ★

The Village Council last night authorized distribution of a questionnaire to the approximately 30 families whose homes would be land-locked if the annexation is approved as the request now stands.

GIVEN CHOICE

They will be asked if they want to be included in the move or stand the chance of living on a Holly Township "island" surrounded by village property.

The two-page letter to be distributed this week lists advantages of village government over that of a township, emphasizing local police protection.

The letter also notes that "villages have a better financial capacity and better legal power to authorize and finance the construction of water and sewer improvements."

★ ★ ★

Streets and highways are maintained and improved by a village, while a township must rely on the county, the letter said.

★ ★ ★

The letter was prepared by City Attorney Robert A. McKenney and Jacob Driker, village planning consultant with Johnson and Anderson, Inc., of Waterford Township.

Election Win Narrow for Teachers' Group

The Avondale Education Association yesterday narrowly won the right to act as sole bargaining agent for the district's teachers.

★ ★ ★

'Hard' Questionnaire

Flow of Answers Gushes In

MILFORD — Village residents are interested in Milford's water problems.

That was made clear by the response to a questionnaire circulated by the 16-member citizens committee studying Milford's hard-water problem.

"The response was tremendous," chairman Archie J. Noon said, noting that the job of tabulating the answers would be started tonight.

The questionnaires were sent to 1,200 residents Jan. 3, with Monday set as the deadline for returning them.

★ ★ ★

Some 762 replies were received.

"That's more than 50 per cent. This is most gratifying."

Noon said committee members had scanned the responses at their meeting last night but that he could report no clear-cut trend.

Information received in the survey will range from types of complaints, their frequency and location to the methods residents would like to see used to correct the situation, if they feel it should be corrected.

★ ★ ★

A $415,000 price tag has been attached to a water softening unit for the village.

Trustee Resigns From Farmington School Board

FARMINGTON—School Board Trustee Vernon P. Fisher has resigned his office and William B. Smolek has been appointed to replace him for six months.

A Farmington School Board member for 10 years, Fisher said he was leaving office because of the press of business obligations. He is an engineer with Bass Construction Co. of Troy.

Fisher's resignation was effective Monday.

His successor will fill the remaining portion of the four-year term which expires in June.

★ ★ ★

Smolek, president of Air-Matic Products Co., Inc. of Southfield, lives at 28900 Wellington, Wood Creek Farms.

Walled Lake Board Seeks Another Elementary School Site

WALLED LAKE — The board of education, anticipating a population boom in the Wixom area, is seeking another elementary school site there.

Development in the area is expected to be spurred by the installation of sanitary sewer lines.

The school board has authorized school administrators to attempt to secure an option on a potential site there, not necessarily within the Wixom city limits.

Schools Supt. George Gaver noted the board has no plans to build another elementary unit in the area but wants to have a site available for future use.

In other action Monday night, the board recognized the Walled Lake School Secretaries Association as the sole bargaining agent for the system's approximately 30 secretaries and clerical employes.

Cards requesting the recognition were signed by 85 per cent of those affected, Garver said.

Construction of Water System OK'd

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Construction of a $2.35-million water system to serve the northeast portion of the township has been authorized by the Township Board.

★ ★ ★

The board approved a contract with the Oakland County Department of Public Works to provide for the construction, operation and maintenance of the North Farmington Water System.

The system will service the area north of I-696 to 14 Mile, from Inkster Road to halfway between Farmington and Drake roads.

Also included is a small area below the expressway on Farmington Road and the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College.

★ ★ ★

Detroit water will be piped to the area in 12 to 18 months, according to Township Supervisor Curtis Hall.

UNDEVELOPED AREA

He said much of the property is yet undeveloped and that 1,500 homes will be serviced initially.

The transmission system for the nine-square-mile area will be financed with revenue bonds.

Hall noted three public information meetings have been held on the project and that in straw votes residents favored the project.

★ ★ ★

In other action Monday night, the Township Board approved a pension plan for the township's 44 employes. The program will cost the township about $14,000 the first year it is in effect, Hall said.

Church Slates Conference

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Mandon Lake Community Church's fourth annual missionary conference is being planned for Feb. 13-20.

Missionary intern Paul Hiestand is director of the conference, in which some 25 churches will participate.

The speakers' list includes 11 missionaries representing every continent.

Besides speaking at the regular Sunday morning services, the missionaries will conduct programs at 7 p.m. during the week. There also will be a special service for young people at 6 p.m. Feb. 13.

Elected to Parks Post

MILFORD TOWNSHIP—David O. Laidlaw of 2130 W. Buno, Kensington Metropolitan Park superintendent, has been elected second vice president of the Michigan Parks and Recreation Association for 1966.

Monday Meeting Set by Home Economists

ROCHESTER—The Rochester branch of Home Economists in Homemaking will meet Monday to hear Rev. Wayne Brookshear of St. Luke's Methodist Church speak on "Two Persons Make a Marriage."

The meeting will be held in the Williamburg Room of the Big Boy Restaurant at 7:30 p.m.

School Bus Drivers Get Pay Increase

CLARKSTON — Wage increases to $2 an hour have been granted to the Clarkston Community School system's 25 bus drivers by the board of education. The ceiling was set at $2.50.

The previous rates were $1.75 and $2. It was the first pay boost for bus drivers here in about 10 years, according to Dr. L. F. Greene, superintendent.

In other business Monday night, preliminary drawings were approved for the proposed new elementary school building at Maybee and Pine Knob.

The architect is Richard Prince of Kalamazoo. No construction cost estimate has been made.

★ ★ ★

The board gave the administration permission to buy four new 72-passenger school buses for $44,116. Low bidders were GMC Truck and Coach Division for chassis and Carpenter Body Works of Mitchell, Ind., for the bodies.

BARGAINING AGENT

The board officially recognized cafeteria employes of the school system as bargaining agent for their group. The workers had indicated in a petition they favored the move.

A request of the Clarkston Education Association (CEA) to begin initial negotiations for a 1966-67 contract by Jan. 24 was approved by the board.

The CEA was recently recognized by the board as the sole bargaining agent for teachers of the school system.

Annual Meeting Slated by White Lake Church

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The annual meeting of Mandon Lake Community Church, 915 Round Lake, is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The meeting, at which officers and directors of the various church organizations will be elected, will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. dinner.

Church Plans Dinner

LAKE ORION — The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will hold a baked ham family-style dinner tomorrow at the church, 531 E. Flint. Dinner will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

Rochester High Project

Students Go Into Business to Build Math Know-How

ROCHESTER — A new group known as STATIC has come to Rochester High School.

It is not a protest group. The only thing its members are fighting is a lack of knowledge in mathematics.

STATIC stand for Students Textbook and Trust Insurance Co. It was formed as a unit in a basic mathematics course to give students less proficient in math a more practical application to the subject.

STATIC is an insurance company which insures the members' textbooks.

★ ★ ★

To get the company off the ground last fall, the members affiliated with Junior Achievement and sold one share of stock to each of the 100 students in three basic math classes.

SELLS SERVICE

According to math teacher Howard Minke, it is the only Junior Achievement company which sells a service rather than a product.

The students, after studying insurance and determining how much of a premium to charge, made up their own insurance policies.

The rate is one cent for every 25 cents valuation on a taxtbook. If a book is valued at $5, the insured pays a 20-cent premium.

★ ★ ★

Students who are "bad risks" have to pay an extra premium. They are "bad risks" if they are in the band or are taking a gym course because this necessitates leaving the books unattended with the accompanying chance of loss or theft.

BRANCHING OUT

The members are now branching out and going into the "import" business.

With the money they earned from selling stock and from the premiums, they plan to buy slide rules and abacuses from a company in a foreign country.

So far, they have written to firms in Sweden, Germany, Taiwan, Japan and Hong Kong and are now waiting for replies.

The instruments will be bought in the name of the insurance company and sold to the students at a profit.

★ ★ ★

At the end of the year, after all bills are paid, the profits will be divided among the students.

MATH APPLICATION

"All of this is simply to give the students a more practical application in math for now and for the future," said Minke.

"Actually this is only one of many units in the basic math course, but we try to link as many topics with this as we can."

Wayne Case, also a math teacher, said the idea of the company is not to make money but to show how a business is organized.

★ ★ ★

"Of course, we hope to show a profit," he said, "but it will all go back to the students."

"The only way we could lose money would be if a lot of students lost their books."

Both teachers and math coordinator Robert McKinney feel that the students in this class are showing more of an interest in math than have those in past basic math classes.

Junior Editors Quiz on MINOTAURS

QUESTION: Why did the ancients dream up such monsters as minotaurs?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The storytellers of the ancient days of Greece and Rome seemed to enjoy stretching their imaginations and creating mythical gods, goddesses and animals.

They would frequently take the qualities of two creatures and join them, making such colorful new creations as Pegasus, the beautiful horse with enormous white wings.

Such imaginary animals were part of ancient mythology, which was probably created as an attempt to explain the wonders of life without a knowledge of scientific fact such as we possess today.

The minotaur was such a mythical monster, having the head of a bull and the body of a man.

He was supposed to have been kept by King Minos of Crete inside a maze or labyrinth, from which it was thought impossible to escape.

Then Theseus, son of the king of Athens, penetrated the labyrinth and slew the minotaur, finding his way out again by the use of a string he had laid down as he worked his way in.

The ball of string had been given to him by Ariadne, a Cretan princess. Together with Ariadne, Theseus escaped from Crete.

Support Grows for Plan to Return Taxes to States

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Bipartisan sentiment is growing to funnel a portion of the federal income tax revenue back into the economy of the states.

The biggest obstacle is not setting a precedent, but the mounting cost of the Viet Nam crisis.

The impetus for tax-shaving is credited to Dr. Walter Heller when he was the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Later a presidential task force under direction of Dr. Joseph Peckman of Brookings Institute approved the Heller plan and recommended that 1 per cent of all federal income tax revenues be returned to the states.

★ ★ ★

This would amount to $2.5 billion this year and probably $3.5 billion by 1970.

IN TRUST FUND

The funds would be deposited in a trust fund and given to the states in unconditional grants, largely on basis of population.

Both candidates in the last presidential campaign endorsed the idea of such tax-sharing.

Republican leader of the House Gerald Ford, R-Mich., says, "I fully support the proposal for the sharing of federal revenue with the states. It is a sound and constructive means of preserving and strengthening our federal system in the 20th century.

★ ★ ★

Ford emphasizes the great and increasing demand placed in the states and local governments with the rapid growth of population, the requirement for more and better education and the concentration of people in urban areas.

ENDORSED PLAN

The Republican Governors Association has endorsed the Heller plan.

★ ★ ★

Truck & Coach Builds Sales Record in 1965

Things never looked better at 660 E. South Boulevard.

That just happens to be the address of GMC Truck & Coach Division where production and sales records have been falling with routine regularity.

Latest of such gee whizzers is the Division's 1965 sales volume that set a new high of 123,925 truck and coach deliveries. The gain over 1964 was a robust 17.8 per cent. In the truck field, the gain was 4 per cent greater than the industrywide rate of increase.

★ ★ ★

Moreover, indications are that 1966 will keep the sales ball rolling at record speed. With a new line of 116 basic truck models and an intercity bus offering many innovations, production schedules should give little rest to General Manager Calvin Werner, General Sales Manager Richard Woodhouse, the executive staff and the force of 13,000 plant personnel.

★ ★ ★

The PRESS roundly applauds the expanding activity of the Truck & Coach Division whose fortunes so directly affect the state of the area economy.

Keego Harbor Officer Plays a Heroic Role

Probably Sgt. WILLIAM HOLLOWAY would be the last to call himself a hero. Men whose calling exposes them to danger and the need to act on behalf of others in emergencies are like that.

HOLLOWAY

But the couple he saved from probable death in an early-morning fire recently would be hard to convince that the Keego Harbor policeman was cast in a mold other than heroic.

★ ★ ★

Still deeply concerned over the tragic death of four children in a Waterford Township fire the day before, the 33-year-old father of three was keenly alert when he detected fire in a ground-floor apartment on Orchard Lake Road.

HOLLOWAY put forth strenuous efforts to arouse the sleeping occupants, Mr. and Mrs. WILLIAM BAXTER. Then after Mrs. BAXTER had escaped through a window, he entered the apartment and carried her infirm husband to safety.

The sergeant was assisted in hospitalizing them by Sylvan Lake Patrolman DAVID DEGROOT whom he had summoned by radio on discovery of the blaze.

★ ★ ★

The Press warmly acclaims Sgt. Holloway on his resourcefulness and bravery. The community is indeed well served by this exemplary officer.

Specter of Inflation Rears Its Ugly Head

Washington has become conscious of the threat of inflation — and it's about time. Most prices are up, some sharply. The commodity-price index is up 2.3 per cent over a year ago after many years of relative stability.

An item in National Review observes that there seems to be little inclination in top government circles to stabilize the economy by stopping the multibillion programs which are the root cause of inflation. So, it concludes, the intention is to blame . . . "every price increase and every jump in the cost of living index on business. Now and then, labor will be slapped gently on the wrist —but not often."

★ ★ ★

If this turns out to be the case, one of the businesses that will be on the firing line is retailing. The reason is obvious. It is in the retail store that the consumer buys his merchandise, and it is in the retail store he sees the price tags boosted. So the retailer is the easiest and most accessible of targets.

But this situation represents a gross injustice. The retailer is a victim of inflation, not a cause of it.

American mass merchandising is one of the most efficient and cost-conscious of all enterprises. It operates on almost unbelievably low profit margins. The food chains, for instance, commonly earn, as net profit, as little as a cent or a cent and a fraction on each dollar of sales. Margins like these provide no room for absorbing price increases which are totally beyond the sellers' control.

★ ★ ★

Unbridled government spending, continued deficits, excessive wage costs, the cult of welfare statism and the countless giveaway programs here and abroad are forces that degrade the dollar. And every citizen, looking nervously toward an uncertain future, should know that.

Nanda Inherits a United India

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Lal Bahadur Shastri's successor has one advantage Shastri lacked when he became prime minister of India. The country is united as never before in recent years.

The war with Pakistan and the constant battle against economic misery has given India a new spirit that should help smooth the way for the country's new leader, Gulzarilal Nanda.

When Shastri succeeded Jawaharlal Nehru in June 1964, trouble was breaking out everywhere.

Language riots swept the south. Separatist tendencies flamed in other sections. The nation's chief unifying force, the ruling Congress party, was splitting into factions.

★ ★ ★

Because he belonged to no faction, Shastri was acceptable to all. A middle-roader, he had gained a reputation for mildness and conciliation in years of quiet but solid party work.

HAD TOUGH TIME

Shastri had a tough time at first, barely putting down one trouble before another flared up. But gradually he gained real, as well as paper, power and led India with firmness.

It was not until he showed steel as a leader in war, however, that Shastri was accepted by the general public. And not until India's war with Pakistan in September did he pull India together.

After the September war, it was said in New Delhi: "He will be prime minister as long as he lives."

★ ★ ★

His successor, Nanda, probably will submit to a party election soon to determine if he is to continue as prime minister. In India's parliamentary democracy, the ruling party's members of Parliament elect a leader who then is asked by the president to form a new government.

STERN, ASCETIC MAN

Nanda, home minister in Shastri's cabinet, is a stern, ascetic man who has characteristics that have made him unpopular in some sections of his party.

Like many Indians, he regularly consults astrologers.

He has led anticorruption campaigns which have not ended corruption but have made many enemies for him.

★ ★ ★

As home minister, Nanda was Shastri's No. 1 "Communist watcher." He ordered more than 1,000 jailed last year, charging that they were plotting revolt.

★ ★ ★

Except for those who publicly renounced their ideology, most of the Communists still are behind bars.

'Remember, I've Just Had An Operation!'

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Not Fighting to Win in Viet

WASHINGTON—Nobody likes to see his country engaged in a war. As the lives of young men are sacrificed daily, the questions asked again and again are whether the Viet Nam war is really necessary, whether it is America's responsibility alone, and whether the shedding of blood in defense of idealism — often vaguely expressed — is truly worthwhile.

LAWRENCE

Today in the national capital, as members of Congress who have been to Viet Nam bring back discouraging descriptions of the jungle warfare and how hard it will be to win a victory, a certain skepticism concerning America's mission emerges.

The people of the United States also may well express doubts, because neither the underlying issues nor the policy being followed by the President in limiting military operations has been fully explained.

It's one thing to fight a war with maximum power, and it is another to carry on a war with limitations placed on the use of full military force.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the best explanation of what is really going on came in a little-noticed speech delivered in Detroit on Dec. 6 by Gen. John P. McConnell, chief of staff of the Air Force, after a trip to Viet Nam.

'TOO COSTLY'

He said air strikes are designed to impede the flow of supplies and reinforcements being sent into South Viet Nam from the north, and to make it "too costly" for the North Vietnamese to continue this support. He added:

"This strategy, which is best described as 'strategic persuasion,' gives the President a highly flexible tool in inducing North Viet Nam eventually to accept his offer of unconditional discussions.

"It is true that we could achieve this objective, virtually overnight, by destroying North Viet Nam and forcing its surrender. We certainly have the military capability to do so. But President Johnson has emphasized that it is our national policy to keep this conflict at the lowest possible level of intensity, for humanitarian as well as for political reasons."

★ ★ ★

These words, carefully chosen, say, in effect, that the United States at present isn't fighting the war to win. This means that American boys are losing their lives in a strategic game which may or may not prevent a larger war.

ONLY ONE REASON

But will temporizing with the enemy achieve peace, or will it bring on the big war anyway?

There is only one valid reason for the sacrifice of American lives in Viet Nam today. It is to save millions of Americans from being killed or wounded later in the enlarged war that can come if the Communist governments in Moscow and Peking are not thwarted in their ambition to take over control of small as well as large nations in Asia, Africa and the Western Hemisphere.

The realistic truth is that the United States is powerful enough today to win in Viet Nam.

It can demonstrate by a single example of unlimited bombing that any risk necessary will be taken. This would simply be a recognition that the war of aggression in Southeast Asia could be the forerunner of a direct attack someday on the American people by an irresponsible government possessing nuclear weapons.

Here are some simple points involved: Is anything ever accomplished by procrastination in a military dilemma? If the United States gives the impression it is afraid to risk maximum force, doesn't this tell the enemy that it can continue the war indefinitely?

★ ★ ★

Maybe what is needed is a single example of heavy bombardment of North Viet Nam and a threat to inflict similar blows unless the enemy agrees to go to the conference table to discuss a settlement.

★ ★ ★

Certainly any manifestation of timidity will be misconstrued. So it becomes clear that the hour of decision on how to fight the Viet Nam war draws near.

Staubach Offer Shows He's Real All-American

NEW YORK — The customers' right to write: "Thought this might interest you," pens an old INS colleague, Lynn Leonard.

CONSIDINE

"Ensign Roger Staubach, All-American quarterback from Navy, called on FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover not long ago accompanied by his friend Adm. William C. Mott, executive vice president of the U.S. Independent Telephone Association.

"Staubach, now 23, plans to remain in the Navy. The purpose of his visit was to volunteer to spend his off-duty time speaking to youth groups on the dangers of communism.

"Roger would like to speak especially to college groups, particularly on campuses known for their opposition to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

"He told the FBI director that he had become fired up in this matter when his best friend and former teammate, Ens. Pat Donnelly, returned from Viet Nam and reported on the perplexity and anger among fighting men when they read stories about youths burning draft cards and speaking out in favor of the Viet Cong.

"Staubach helped coach the Navy team this year, will take post graduate work at Athens at the University of Georgia and he hopes to ship aboard a destroyer.

"He made it clear to Mr. Hoover, who was enthusiastic about the offer, that the Navy has not approved the idea of his speaking to youth groups. But he said he hoped it would consent to his doing that on his own time."

'Heads of Worthy Cause Deserve Citizen Support'

In reply to the letter by Mrs. Roy of Clarkston concerning the leadership selected for the center for Community Action Education, I ask what group of people could be better suited than men such as Mr. Farmer, Dr. King and Dr. Morsell? These men are highly educated and well-qualified because of their close proximity to the problems involved with such a program. The center's very existence is primarily a culmination of efforts on the part of these men.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Roy urges us to write our congressmen and I certainly will. Instances in government of able men being ideally mated to worthy causes are all too few. They are deserving of support.

'Some Use Freedom to Defend Communism'

Some people writing about Americanism state they are against communism, but use our freedom as a weapon to defend it. Communists in this country are no different than in Viet Nam, Russia or anywhere. If our enemy disagrees with our ideas of government they are against our way and, as in other countries, advocate an overthrow. If Communists have just as much right here, why should our boys die fighting Communists 10,000 miles away?

Questions Allowing Communists to Talk

Mr. Keel feels Communists should be allowed to talk. Does he realize they only talk until they have a few followers and then take over? They took Russia that way. Did he ever hear of a shot being fired until they had Cuba? Ask J. Edgar Hoover how many riots are Communist inspired—but they only talked. Russia said long ago she intends to take us over without firing a shot. Better think, Mr. Keel.

'Men Should Want to Serve Their Country'

I think every man should want to devote at least two years of his time to his country, but people don't realize how bad it is in Viet Nam. Parents who have sons or friends in Viet Nam have something to be proud of because they are fighting for you and giving their lives for me. Some men over here are fighting against each other and don't realize they need each other.

African-American Relations

The London Times

Now that the Central African Republic has followed Dahomey in breaking off diplomatic relations with Peking, it is in Africa and Latin America that changes of government have begun to send China's stock sharply up and down; and the latest turn of events is due to African reaction to China's much advertised revolutionary message.

★ ★ ★

There have been no switches in Latin America to match those in Africa; but this is only because no Latin American countries, since Cuba, have declared for Peking. When there was a sudden change of government not long ago in Brazil, its first move was to arrest the members of a visiting Chinese mission admitted to the country by President Goulart's government.

★ ★ ★

There is a lesson which the Chinese could draw from all this: The less they branded themselves as the only true leaders of revolution, the higher would go their score of normal, and even friendly, diplomatic relations. But there is little hope that they will draw the lesson.

U.N. Downhill

The Omaha Evening World-Herald

In this season of good will, it would be pleasant to be able to report that the United Nations is doing better and coming closer to realizing men's hopes for peace. But the session of the General Assembly ended in what the Irish foreign minister had described earlier as "a welter of recrimination, indecision, futility and confusion."

The fact that this 20th session was "normal," that in the opening days the United States had backed down on the peace-keeping assessment issue, lulled some into believing the world organization was making progress. We suspect that a great many other people — and we're talking about those who pay some attention to what's going on in the world—never gave the United Nations a second thought. The wrangling there is profitless and endlessly dreary.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most positive move the assembly made was to approve a record budget of more than $121 million. But its members chose to say little about the fact that passing the hat to pay its $100-million debts raised only $20 million. Neither France nor Russia, the principal defaulters, paid a penny. Last month American Ambassador Goldberg announced that the United States had paid far more than its share ever since the United Nations was organized, and "now it is up to others."

But the delegates had heard that before, too. Many times. And Uncle Sam had always galloped to the rescue.

★ ★ ★

Now the peace-keeping arrangement on the Gaza Strip along the Egypt-Israel border is in jeopardy. It has cost about $18 million a year for the past nine years.

The arrangement in Cyprus is in danger of breaking up. It has cost $42 million since March 1964, but only 35 million has been pledged or paid.

Fund Created for Land Sale Revenue

A sale-of-land fund was established last night by the City Commission to segregate extra revenue received periodically by the city from the sale of city-owned land.

Recommended by City Manager Joseph A. Warren and Finance Director Marvin M. Alward, the special fund was set up retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

Thus, the fund starts out with a balance of $76,344 and a land contract receivable of $64,157 or total assets of $140,501.

The balance in the fund comes from the 28 sales made last year of city-owned property.

★ ★ ★

The land contract is with Sam Allen & Sons for the purchase of property near the city's new sanitary land-fill site on Collier.

ANOTHER FUND

In the past, land sale proceeds went into the capital improvement fund.

The separate fund would prevent the land sale proceeds from becoming mixed with other transactions of the city.

Monies from the fund would go to acquire other property or for specific projects designated by the commission.

★ ★ ★

The commission approved the purchase of a vacant lot immediately south of the Waldron Hotel between Perry and Mill for a future parking lot.

PURCHASE PRICE

The city had held an option on the property. The purchase price is to be $12,000.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates reported last night that the city will receive bids next Tuesday for the sale of $1,120,000 in temporary loan notes for the R44 urban renewal project.

A resolution was approved by the commission authorizing the city manager to notify the successful bidder after the bid was okayed by regional urban renewal officials.

★ ★ ★

Public hearings were scheduled for several rezoning proposals last night.

FUTURE LAND-FILL

A hearing was set for Feb. 1 on proposed rezoning for a 22-acre parcel adjacent to the city's future sanitary land-fill site north of Collier.

A Feb. 1 hearing date was set for rezoning to residential-3 (R-3) of a 29-acre parcel located north of a line from West Columbia extended and east of the railroad tracks.

The city-owned land is involved in an exchange of land for developement of an apartment project there.

Pending R-3 rezoning for property on Kennett, between Carlisle, Dearborn and Dewey will be given a public hearing Feb. 1.

Still another public hearing was set for Feb. 1 on proposed manufacturing-1 rezoning for property on the north-west corner of Orchard Lake Avenue and Telegraph.

A public hearing was set for Feb. 15 on the vacating of the alley bounded by Montcalm, Blaine, Lounsbury and Stanley.

The commission approved the vacating of the northwest corner of Montcalm and Glenwood, and the vacating of East Kennett, Glenwood to Joslyn.

A report was received last night from the City Planning Commision on requested R-3 rezoning for property bounded by Walton, Leheigh, Highwood and Jaycee Park.

★ ★ ★

City planners tabled the rezoning request and asked for a better site plan for the proposed apartment project there.

The City Commission was informed last night that the annual regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League will be held Feb. 17 at the Kingsley Inn for area municipal officials.

City Attorney Philip E. Rowston reported that Judge Frederick C. Ziem ruled invalid the multiple dwelling zoning on property located at the corner of West Huron and Williams.

★ ★ ★

Ziem said the present zoning for the southwest corner was unreasonable.

Commercial zoning is sought for the corner to allow a gas station to be constructed there.

City Affairs

Warren, Firemen's Unit to Hold Session Friday

City Manager Joseph A. Warren disclosed last night that he would meet at 10 a.m. Friday with representatives of the Pontiac Firefighters Association (PFA).

Warren said the meeting request came through the State Labor Mediation Board, which has been called in on a wage dispute between the PFA and City Hall.

Meeting Set on Problem of Smoke, Soot

Residents in the area of Pontiac Motor Division's foundry on the city's north side have been invited to a meeting at City Hall at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Object of the meeting is to discuss problems of smoke and soot caused by the foundry operation.

Commissioner John A. Dugan has called the meeting to permit residents to discuss the smoke-soot problems with officials of Pontiac Motor Division.

Dugan, in a letter sent to some 200 residents, said that he visited a General Motors Corp. factory near Buffalo, N. Y., where a modernized foundry installation had reduced the smoke and soot problem to "an unbelievable minimum."

★ ★ ★

A large group of Pontiac Motor officials are scheduled to attend tomorrow's meeting.

These include John F. Blamy, general manufacturing manager; Charles Collins, plant engineer; Wright C. Cotton, comptroller; C. O. Johnson and Richard Gould, managers of manufacturing plants; and Theodore Schroeder, foundry superintendent.

Record Hospital Budget Approved by Commission

City Commissioners last night added their approval to a record 1966 operating budget for Pontiac General Hospital.

Previously approved by the 11-member hospital board of trustees, the $8.3 million budget is up nearly a million over 1965.

At the time of the board approval, Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said all room rates would be boosted $2, putting the cost of a ward bed at $23 per day, a semiprivate at $27 and a private room at $31.

Hospital officials cite added personnel and the increased cost of supplies as major reasons for the $1-million hike in the budget.

★ ★ ★

In submitting the hospital budget to the City Commission, Euler said there has been an increased demand for the hospital's services.

10-15 PCT. GROWTH

He pointed out that there has been a 10-15 per cent growth each year in emergency room services.

The budget adds some 45 people — 19 in nursing services — to the hospital's staff, hiking the total number of employes to 928.

Euler said the budget incorporates a 1½ per cent pay boost for the employes.

★ ★ ★

The pay hike is required by terms of a two-year agreement with employes. This is the last year for the agreement.

Taylor, PPOA Meet Today

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said last night that he would meet today at 4 p.m. with representatives of the Pontiac Police Officers Association (PPOA).

The PPOA currently is involved in negotiations for a pay raise and longevity with city officials.

Last week a PPOA spokesman said the group was seeking an affiliation with Teamsters Local 614.

In a letter to Taylor, the PPOA indicated they would be willing to meet with the mayor.

31 Crewmen Still Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty-one crewmen are missing today — and at least 11 are feared dead — after a Spanish freighter with a crew of 38 sank in a fierce North Atlantic storm.

Six crewmen from the stricken freighter, Monte Palomares, were plucked to safety Tuesday as the Coast Guard hunted for other survivors. One other is known dead.

★ ★ ★

Four crewmen rescued by the American freighter Steel Maker said the vessel's master and many others drowned, but they reported they saw 18 others alive and five more on a raft.

The Coast Guard cutter Escanaba picked up two more survivors on the raft and the dead crewman.

HEAVY SEAS

The vessel, en route from Norfolk, Va., to Barcelona, Spain, sank Monday in heavy seas 840 miles northeast of Bermuda. She was carrying a cargo of grain that shifted, causing a bad list in 30-foot seas.

Highway Safety—3

Experts Urge Uniformity in Traffic Laws

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Sometimes safety laws can cause accidents. That's because they are often confusing and contradictory from state to state. The views of safety experts are reported in this third of five dispatches.)

By ROBERT J. SERLING

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There are nearly 100 million licensed drivers in the United States and more than 80 million automobiles.

★ ★ ★

The problem of keeping the latter from killing an exhorbitant number of the former is one that has been and is of concern to some of the best minds in the nation.

They have come up with many answers. But translating answers into action is another matter.

Better highways, stricter law enforcement, safer cars, improved and extended driver education, uniform motor vehicle laws, mandatory vehicle inspection—all are proven and effective weapons.

★ ★ ★

But the application of those weapons has been sporadic, incomplete and, until recently, purely on a local or state level.

NO SNIPING

Furthermore, the weapons must be used in an almost simultaneous broadside — rather than in an occasional sniping action by an individual community, county or state.

For example, a uniform vehicle code adhered to by every state has been sought by virtually every traffic safety expert for the past two decades.

Yet, even as motor traffic between the states swell with the construction of new superhighways, drivers continue to get into trouble because of confusion that stems from conflicting laws and regulations.

Most states require that a motorist approaching a school bus from either direction must stop when children are boarding or alighting.

But children have been killed by drivers who come from states where such a law is not in effect.

The President's committee on traffic safety says bluntly:

"A very large percentage of vehicle mishaps occur at street and highway intersections, the result of nonobservance of right-of-way rules. Yet it would be impossible for a motorist traveling across the United States to know all of the conflicting right-of-way rules."

The committee cites these samples of dangerous conflicts (all have caused fatal accidents):

★ ★ ★

Some states require a driver entering an intersection to always yield to vehicles approaching from the right. But others have no such rule and give the right-of-way to whichever vehicle gets to the intersection first.

A number of states grant an absolute right-of-way to motorists on a through highway. Others merely require drivers entering a through highway to exercise caution.

Uniformity is the one word mentioned most often by highway officials as essential in reducing traffic deaths.

The administration of traffic laws is just one area where major reforms could save lives. The President's committee has pleaded with states to hire full-time, qualified traffic judges; remove traffic court judges from political influences, and improve the quality of prosecution.

The committee notes, for example, that in too many states, the newest addition to a prosecutor's staff usually is assigned to traffic cases.

The widespread practice of letting justices of the peace control the judging of traffic violations on a fee basis is cited by most authorities as inefficiency at best and a mockery of justice at the worst.

The President's committee also has bluntly condemned communities which regard the traffic court primarily as a source of general revenue, rather than a corrective and preventative means of helping solve the highway safety problem.

★ ★ ★

Safety experts have a great deal of sympathy with the problems of the average traffic court. In 1948, about 12 million traffic violations were processed.

TOTAL JUMPS

A decade later, the total was up to 29 million. The estimate for 1964 was at least 33 million.

Yet only one out of four accused drivers actually wind up in a court.

Aside from uniformity, law enforcement itself is on a hit-or-miss basis in many states. Strict, impartial enforcement is a proven deterrent to violations and a definite factor in reducing highway deaths.

Scientific control of traffic, a standardized and complete system of accident reporting and better relationships between the courts and police are all tools which are not used in enough cities and states.

Mandatory vehicle inspection is recommended by numerous safety experts. It is in effect in less than 20 states and its value is a subject for heated debate.

Some states run their own inspection system while others farm out the work to garages.

Says one expert:

"Vehicle inspection is fine if you have an honest system that plays no favorites. Too often it's a means for gouging the motorist—getting him to make repairs that aren't always necessary.

"It's true that states with good inspection setups have lower accident rates—but these same states also have overall good traffic safety programs, fine roads, efficient police and modern traffic control methods.

NOT PRIORITY

"I'd frankly list mandatory inspection as worthwhile but certainly not high on the priority list."

Probably the most proven accident preventative is the highway itself. The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has completed a study of accidents on the new interstate highway system.

It found a fatality rate of 2.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles. This compared with a rate of 9.7 deaths on the older roads the system replaced.

★ ★ ★

The Natonal Safety Council's 1964 report on fatal turnpike or superhighway accidents showed a 2.5 death rate, compared to 7.6 on all the nation's rural roads.

There is no doubt that a well-engineered road reduces accidents—and the President's committee on traffic safety believes a nationwide survey of all roads, followed by corrective action, could cut the death toll dramatically.

Source of Steel in Lard Found

LANSING (AP) — Metal fragments found in a shipment of lard for Michigan welfare recipients came from grinding gears on the manufacturing equipment, the State Agriculture Department reported Tuesday.

J. L. Littlefield, chief of the department's Food Inspection Division, said U. S. Department of Agriculture inspectors traced the problem back to the processing factory in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

He said the manufacturing process was under continuous inspection, but "apparently (the fragments) were something they couldn't see when the lard was in its liquid form coming out of the machinery."

The fragments were discovered last fall in a supply of surplus lard being distributed from a warehouse in Boyne Falls to several northern Michigan counties.

Littlefield said nearly all the lard was recovered in Michigan and several other states which received it.

ONE COLOR

U.S. Forces Poking Around Fringe of Delta Are Not Likely to Move Into Interior

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. combat forces have been poking at the northern fringe of the Mekong River delta, sloshing waist-deep through muddy expansas west of Saigon in search of the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

American paratroopers this month launched an operation that carried to the Plain of Reeds, the sometimes swamp, sometimes dust bowl, that pushes into Cambodia. It was wet and they got a taste of what it would be like to be fighting in the delta proper.

★ ★ ★

Despite this sampling, there is no indication of plans to move U.S. ground units into the delta itself at this time.

The delta is part of South Viet Nam's 4th Corps, the only part of the country where U.S. fighting forces are not based. Vietnamese troops, and their American advisers, wage war there against the Viet Cong.

MILITARY DECISION

U.S. officials repeatedly have said that the decision not to station American troops in the delta is based entirely on the military situation. They say politics has not entered into it, and that if there is a need for U.S. forces in the delta, they will be sent.

★ ★ ★

Even so, some informed speculation has persisted that it was considered politically wise to leave one of the four corps areas to the Vietnamese themselves. The Vietnamese often can be sensitive about their role in the war, and most American officials are eager to emphasize that this is a Vietnamese war with Vietnamese soldiers still doing the larger part of the fighting and dying.

★ ★ ★

By whatever reasoning, the delta still is the place where the war goes on much as it has for years.

There have been innovations brought by the wider use of helicopters that quickly lift troops in and out of prospective battle areas; heavy artillery and navy gunfire support, and air power that has included attacks by B52s.

NO SUDDEN CHANGES

These have not, however, brought sudden or dramatic changes.

The delta, about 26,000 square miles of flat land criss-crossed by myriad rivers, streams and canals, once was almost entirely Viet Cong country. Some of the bloodiest fighting of the war has taken place there, and government forces have suffered costly defeats along the waterways and in the mangrove swamps south of Saigon.

Over the past year there were some changes. The pendulum marking the intensity of the fighting swung North to the 1st and 2nd Corps areas, where begger battles took place and where U.S. troops were committed.

There was a feeling, challenged in some quarters, that things were improved somewhat in the delta. Rumors that elite Viet Cong units had been moved out to fight in the central highlands or other areas in the North were not confirmed. The Viet Cong in the delta may have been biding their time. At almost regular intervals, they demonstrated they could strike quickly and savagely at government units and they still held the redoubts they had always held.

HOLD THEIR OWN

Some qualified U.S. officials believe government forces are at least holding their own, and perhaps have made a little progress in spots. This is one of the practical and psychological reasons it seems unlikely that American troops will move into the delta soon.

Should the situation deteriorate suddenly, there probably would be no hesitance to rush in Americans. The importance of the delta could not be ignored.

Though much of it is swampland or watery forest, it is the rice bowl of the Mekong. More than a third of South Viet Nam's 15 million people live there in only one quarter of the country's land space.

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong are believed to have about 45,000 men operating in the delta, about 7,000 of them hard-core troops well-armed and well-trained.

The Saigon regime maintains three divisions there. Some of the bloodiest clashes have involved Vietnamese ranger battalions, moved in by helicopters.

★ ★ ★

The delta is vastly different from other parts of South Viet Nam, but the war there is much the same as the war over the rest of the countryside — a standoff without the prospect of decisive military victory.

Child's Love for Puppy Told

Brave Dog and Boy Featured by Author

'Enoch and the Brave Un' By Myra Clarke Crandell

By CORENNA ALDRICH

Enoch lived a long time ago when life was much different, but any modern child will understand his dilemma. He was a lonely boy who loved a crippled little runt puppy that he couldn't keep.

Myra Crandell

In Colonial America living came very hard, and Enoch's family had no food to spare for useless animals, not even one so small as Brave Un.

★ ★ ★

Told the puppy could stay until its mother no longer fed it, Enoch used this reprieve to try anything he could think of to change his parents' mind.

He was pretty sure his father would let Brave Un stay, if only his stepmother would consent.

But as a bride brought over from England to a strange and primitive land, she had her own problems. No matter how desperately Enoch tried to please her, he just made matters worse.

★ ★ ★

Everything seemed hopeless until the day Brave Un proved for himself that he wasn't useless after all. One brave feat by this scrappy little dog not only brought happiness to Enoch, but changed the lives of his whole family.

YOUNGER CHILDREN

Myra Clarke Crandell's poignant story is written for (approximately) fifth, sixth and seventh grade reading, but it is the sort of book many parents will enjoy reading to younger children.

★ ★ ★

The chapters are separate episodes that provide easy stopping points, and even quite young children will understand Enoch's devotion to his dog and delight at Brave Un's antics.

★ ★ ★

Not only is the story warm and tender (a welcome relief from spaceships and science fiction monsters), but it provides an excellent picture of life in Puritan New England.

Says Working Girls Lead Fashion Parade

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — It's sort of like voting for Norman Thomas for president; you know you're supporting a losing candidate.

But each year, my vote for those who should be on that international best-dressed list goes to the American working girl.

This year's best-dressed list won't be announced until next week. But I know right now my candidate's a "goner", even though what most working women accomplish in a narrow budget for clothing is far more miraculous than being able to have a Mainbocher run up a $2,000 evening dress or Maximilian create a special $15,000 mink coat.

BIGGER TRIUMPH

But I favor her over those with unlimited money to spend, because on $500 to $1,000 a year, in some instances even less, the white collar girls are extremely chic.

Stand on any main street, U. S. A., to see what I mean.

★ ★ ★

Most have learned through persistent shopping and trial and error to keep wardrobes simple. Most know how to use colors. If it's a fad for the white stockings or the bulky "fun" fur coats, they limit themselves to just one fad.

They've learned that a well cut suit or basic skimmer dress can be changed a dozen ways with accessories. They're always well-shod and hair is well-groomed.

This is not to disparage the taste of women who do make the list, compiled from the balloting of about 2,000 women's and fashion editors and other observers of the social scene.

It's just that once I'd like to see the working girl recognized.

FEMININE TREND

Midst all the hoopla over the above-knee skirts, another trend for spring goes almost unnoticed.

It's there, in the amazing number of dresses for day, late day and evening which are completely feminine and pretty, in fabric, color and silhouette.

The trend shows in the revival of the white touches on dark dresses.

It shows in the flattering prints, more impressionistic than op art.

It shows in silhouettes like the soft smock, or the almost always flattering skimmer leading the daytime parade. It shows in the way a dress is draped and seamed to give it a flow over the body.

★ ★ ★

It shows in fabric and fabric treatments, the soft four ply crepes, the chiffons, organzas, marquisettes and every other gauzy texture for evening, often done in two and three layers.

It shows also in swirling skirts on many of the short formals.

Some of the prettiest dresses from New York manufacturers were produced by designer Roxane for Samuel Winston.

She liked tunics and tunic effects above box pleats, fan pleats, or tiers. She marked the waistline area by shallow blousing, non-belted. Evening dresses were shaped high with soft fullness beneath.

And there was a new printed silk organza, with a matte finish, used for afternoon suits or for evening.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for six years and it seems like 60. We have three beautiful children, five, three and 13 months old.

ABBY

My husband is a steady worker and makes a good salary, which he turns over to me as I am a thrifty shopper and a good saver.

He doesn't drink or run around. Those are his good qualities, BUT — when he comes home he always greets our children with a slap in the mouth.

He always finds some excuse to hit one of them. He uses me as a punching bag if he feels like it, too. He tells the kids, "Don't put any dirt on the driveway, MY car has to run over it." And, "Don't touch the car. It's MINE!" (Everything in HIS.)

He doesn't talk, he yells. The kids are scared to death of him and so am I. He hasn't taken me anywhere in two years. I begged him to go to the priest with me and he refused. He says if the priest comes here he'll throw him out.

He won't take me to church so I pray at home, but I have to hide when I pray or he'll say I'm cracking up. Maybe I am. Am I?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your doctor can tell you if you're "cracking up." I suggest you see him immediately. Tell him your troubles and ask him to see your husband too.

You don't need your husband's permission to see the priest. And if you continue to live with this man, who is cruel (or sick), then you are sicker than he is.

★ ★ ★

Choosing the topic "Why the Community College?" Dr. Tirrell pointed out factors in today's society which he claims have made community colleges almost mandatory.

★ ★ ★

"In the last ten years 50 new cmmunity colleges have been built in the United States," he said. Oakland Community College is the first to be founded using the tutorial system in all its programs."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tirrell added that 98 per cent of the students at the college are from Oakland County.

Handling Mortgage Means a Problem

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have a $12,000 mortgage with payments of $79 a month, which we have been paying now for two years. We also pay the taxes to the bank. These taxes have gone up from $15 a month to $25, making a total payment of $104.

What I'd like to know is: would I save money by putting this money into a savings account paying semiannual interest at 4 per cent —then paying the taxes myself?

Reader, Butler, Pa.

Dear Reader:

You'd get some return on that tax money, of course, if you put it into a savings account. But the point is: you've signed a contract entitling the bank to assume collection of taxes under an escrow arrangement.

I question whether you can now take over this responsibility yourself, since you have such a small equity in the property.

Money put in escrow for taxes and other assessments is protection for the lender. There's no flat rule as to how specific requests are handled. Some large lenders will let a homeowner arrange payments of these bills directly, if his equity amounts to 50 per cent or more of the value of the property.

★ ★ ★

Other lenders, offering low down-payment on single dwellings, ask that another mortgage, at the present going rate, be drawn up if these tax payment plans are changed. This can cost the home owner an extra $25.

And some lenders insist that they continue to pay the taxes in order to protect their own investment no matter how large the home owner's equity may be.

Dear Miss Feeley:

I am a widow who recently purchased a home. I am putting $5,000 down and will have a mortgage of $13,000.

I have about $3,000 in the savings bank and draw 4¼ per cent interest every three months.

I would like to know should I put an additional $2,000 down on the house in order to cut payments and interest? Or should I leave things as is?

My job doesn't pay too much and I'm helping one son who is in his last year of college.

Mrs. J. R., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mrs. R.:

In your situation, I'd say $3,000 in the bank is too precious to tamper with. If you can continue to support the mortgage on your salary — and still have room to breathe — then leave things as they are.

I realize you're putting out more in interest money than you're taking in. But there are times when it's smarter to have ready cash. You can't yet expect a helping hand from your son. When he finishes his education and gets a job, then review the situation.

His Name Goes On---and On

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — The Bushnell Way school in suburban Highland Park has five-year-old identical twin pupils with identical names but different numbers. They are Eugene Jerome Dupuis, Jr., 1, and Eugene Jerome Dubottom side of each wooden

Their dad says he always dreamed of having a son to bear his name. When the twins were born in 1960, he decided to give them both his name, but he added the numbers.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

How would you like to look from five to 10 years younger just eight weeks from now? You CAN! It is really possible. Overweight is not only damaging to health but can even add an aura of middle age to the young. At middle age too many pounds make a woman appear years older than she is.

Not only does a loss of overweight make a woman look younger, she also FEELS younger. It is wonderful to be able to buy clothes with pleasure, to feel confident instead of self-conscious, to be rid of the bulges.

★ ★ ★

As most of my readers know, I am bringing you my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP for short). If you have been following this series this week you have already learned how to classify your frame, whether it is small, medium or large.

I am sure that you have also discovered what your ideal weight is, and I hope you have a couple of sample reducing menus under your belt. It's good to know what goal one must shoot for and then get busy toward it.

Today let's think about measurements. So far as the beauty of your figure is concerned, you could forget your weight if your measurements were perfect. Unfortunately, this just doesn't happen. Sometimes a woman's measurements may be in ratio, but all of them are just too large because she is overweight. More often, they are not in ratio.

DISTRIBUTION VARIES

Woman vary greatly in the distribution of their pounds. Therefore, we are concerned with measurements as well as weight. These are influenced by bony structure and musculature as well as by poundage.

The usually accepted standard for a perfect figure is for the bust and hips to measure the same while the waist is 10 inches less than the hips.

Not every woman can achieve this goal because of bony structure, but most of you can come pretty close.

The way you measure yourself is important.

FULLEST PART

When you measure your bust, pass the tape measure straight around the fullest part. You can measure with or without a bra. Just be sure that you wear the same bra each time since this can make a difference of an inch or so.

Measure around your natural waistline.

Measure around the largest part of your abdomen (about six or seven inches below the waist).

BREAKFAST

Eight ounces tomato juice
Three-fourths cup dry cereal
Four ounces whole milk
Two teaspoons sugar
One-half small banana, sliced
Black coffee

LUNCH

Toasted cheese sandwich
Two thin slices bread and a thin slice of cheese
Eight ounces skim milk
One-half cup cole slaw

DINNER

Two fairly thin slices of liver or other broiled meat
3 inch by 2 inch, each
Eight asparagus stalks
One small baked potato
Shredded lettuce salad with dressing made of tomato juice, a sprinkling of roquefort cheese with a dash of garlic.
One medium sized apple
You can put a teaspoon of butter on your potato.
TOTAL calories for the day —1145

If you missed the first few columns of this series or would like to have my BIP Kit which gives you a booklet with complete instructions and a chart on which you can plot your progress and watch your beauty line rise as your weight line drops, send 25 cents plus 15 cents for postage and handling, with your printed name and address, to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Area Woman Wins Polly Dollar

MRS. HARRY A. HOLLINGSHEAD

Today's Grace in Polly's Pointers is Pontiac area's own Mrs. Harry A. Hollingshead of Laird Street, Orion Township.

Born in Eldorado, Wis., the cheerful homemaker has been living at her present address since 1929.

★ ★ ★

This is the second "Polly Dollar" Mrs. Hollingshead has received. Her other prize-winning hint was one in which a bed bolster could be made easily by tucking one pillow end into the open end of the second pillowcase. Easy? Yes, and no unbroken line.

Never one to be idle, the winner has been engaged recently in the work of caring for a blind, retarded girl of 16.

She has taught Sunday School, established programs, prepared and helped serve church dinners. And as many of the workmen who helped build the new structure will recall, baked over 500 of her famous dinner rolls for them.

Household hints aren't the only channel through which she has won prizes. Several years ago she was awarded a refrigerator, freezer and set of silverware for three of her favorite recipes.

★ ★ ★

Last spring Mrs. Hollingshead took her first plane trip.

She "jetted" down to Florida where her daughter, Mrs. George Gerard of Miami lives.

"A wonderful experience" says this friendly homemaker with a merry note in her voice.

Her son, Richard F. Hoffheins lives with his family in Auburn Heights.

She showed us her pantry where shelf upon shelf is piled high with home-canned vegetables, fruit and preserves. Most of the foods put up are items grown on her two and a half acres.

★ ★ ★

There doesn't seem to be any kind of homemaking task Mrs. Hollingshead isn't familiar with. Listed among her accomplishments are crocheting, sewing, and knitting.

Her dining room table is covered in a white snowflake designed tablecloth she crocheted herself.

Polly Winner Shares Crisp Cookie Recipe

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Mrs. Harry Hollingshead of Orion Township is a local Polly's Pointers winner. When she was interviewed, she offered her favorite cookie recipe for Press readers.

CRISPY MOLASSES COOKIES
By Mrs. H. Hollingshead

2 eggs beaten
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup shortening
1 cup molasses
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 tablespoon ginger
1 tablespoon soda, dissolved in 2 tablespoons hot water.
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
4½ cups flour

Combine all ingredients except flour and heat until hot to touch. Stir constantly while on stove. Let stand until cool. Add flour.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on baking sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes at 325 degrees.

DEAR POLLY — When hemming a skirt hang it over the small end of the ironing board with the hem at the edge. It is very easy to hem this way and with the iron on the broad end of the board you can press as you go along.—GRACE

DEAR POLLY—Clip clothespins can be decorated to make pretty family napkin holders. Names or initials can be printed on them. They also make attractive holders for party place cards. These clip pins can also be used to hold pages in place when reading or studying.

Save those tops off cosmetic and perfume jars and bottles. Heat some paraffin wax and pour into these caps. Just before the wax hardens, push a small bouquet of artificial flowers into it. They make nice party favors or decorations for sick trays.

A tiny toy could be substituted for the flowers when using as a favor for a child's party.

(Polly's note—Exercise care when heating and using the paraffin. Probably the safest way to soften it is in a double boiler over water.)

We salvaged a tall floor-type bird cage which a neighbor was throwing away and gave it to a sister who delights in doing over castoffs. It was in good condition and mounted on a tripod stand.

Sister cleaned it, attached a dried tree branch on the inside, decorated the branch with artificial flowers and birds. A soft glow television lamp was placed on the cage floor and the cord pulled through one of the openings. This made a decorative lamp to go in her bedroom hallway.—LILLIAN

GIRLS — Be careful not to have the light too close to the artificial flowers and other decorations. This is an ingenious idea if the lighting is carefully checked and used with care. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY—Even though we all know that wool sweaters should not be hung on coat hangers we are sometimes guilty of doing just that. One day I looked at myself in the mirror and saw two big bumps on my sweater. Not wanting to change I dampened each bump with a wet, but not dripping, washcloth and they disappeared.

The sweater dried quickly. This will also work on a wool dress.

★ ★ ★

Take along a silk scarf when you go shopping for dresses. Tie the scarf on your head and pull dresses over your head with no fears. Your hair will stay in place. This is also a lifesaver when dressing to go out. —L. R.

Newlyweds Honeymoon in Chicago

In Chicago for a honeymoon after their recent wedding and reception in the First Methodist Church are Richard U. Gulbis and his bride, the former Sharon Lee Burklow.

Their parents are the George D. Burklows of Silverhill Street, Mrs. Alida Gulbis and Robert Gulbis both of Kalamazoo.

SHEATH GOWN

Georgia Burklow attended her sister who chose a sheath gown of white silk linen and Venise lace for the ceremony performed by Rev. Clyde E. Smith.

A bubble veil of imported silk illusion and a bouquet of Stephanotis, white orchids and chrysanthemums, completed the bride's ensemble.

Bridesmaids were Andrea O'Brien and Mrs. Charles R. Wilkinson, with Pamela Fink as flower girl.

Paul Gulbis was his brother's best man. Seating guests were Bruce Uridge and Thomas Kline. James Fink was ring-bearer.

★ ★ ★

The couple who are graduates of Western Michigan University will live in Kalamazoo.

MRS. RICHARD U. GULBIS

Sharon Lee Burklow, daughter of the George D. Burklows of Silverhill Drive, and Richard U. Gulbis, son of Mrs. Alida Gulbis and Robert Gulbis, both of Kalamazoo, were wed recently in the First Methodist Church.

Stain Chemistry

Perspiration stains that are allowed to remain in clothing decompose into alkaline compounds. Rinse washable garments in cool clear water. Neutralize the alkali with white vinegar or lemon juice. Rinse the garment thoroughly and wash as usual.

Moms Become Schoolgirls

A schoolgirl luncheon was held in the South Jessie Street home of Mrs. David Edwards Tuesday for members of Moms of America, Inc. Unit No. 2.

Donations were sent to the state board for hospital work and also to the U.S. Milk Fund.

★ ★ ★

Guests present included Mrs. Cecil A. Bondurant and Mrs. David W. Edwards.

A Feb. 8 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Frank Van Horn of South Ardmore Street.

Check Tot's Feet

If a child has frequent headble, check his feet. Sometimes shoes don't fit and cause ill effects throughout the body.

Episcopal Women Meet

The Tuesday meeting of the Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church Cranbrook will feature two women of prominence in the field of volunteer work.

The first will be Mrs. Glen Wilson who will address the morning session. Mrs. Wilson, a resident of Birmingham, serves as a member of the Board of Planned Parenthood for Oakland-Wayne County.

★ ★ ★

She also is active as a member of the Oakland County Planning Commission for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The subject of her talk will be concerned with the concept of general volunteer work.

★ ★ ★

Following the noon luncheon, Mrs. Chester Weaver will be introduced to speak on "Women in Community Services", which is the national organization popularly known as "Wics." Mrs. Weaver is the local chapter's director of visitation.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made to the church office by noon Monday.

St. Stephen's

The Episcopal Churchwomen of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, North Adams Road will meet Monday to focus on a major area of their concern, Pontiac State Hospital. The time is 1 p.m. in the church.

★ ★ ★

Ted A. Panaretos, director of community relations for the hospital, will speak on "The Community Responsibility to Pontiac State Hospital." His talk will be illustrated with colored slides featuring the role of the volunteer worker there.

St. Stephen's ECW have been involved in volunteer service at the hospital since 1958. Each month, the group has been responsible for planning and hostessing a party for a women's ward.

COOPERATING

During the last two years, this unit has been joined by the women of St. Thomas More Catholic Church in their project who will be special guests at the January meeting.

★ ★ ★

The meeting is open to any interested woman in the area and baby sitting will be provided in the nursery.

St. Phillip's

The Episcopal Churchwomen in the area will hear the Rev. Robert Eidson speak on the "Zambia Project" next Wednesday in Rochester's St. Phillip's Episcopal Church. A luncheon follows the 10 a.m. meeting.

★ ★ ★

Episcopal churches included in this Oakland Convocation are All Saint's, St. Phillip's, Church of Resurrection, St. Andrew's, St. Mary's, St. Alfred's, St. George's and St. Paul's.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donald Johnson is convocation president.

Prepare Tot Now for Kindergarten

Now is a good time to prepare your small child for what will be expected of him when he enters school next year. Teach him to use handicraft material such as scissors, clay, finger paints and crayons and how to clean up after himself.

Also, see that he learns during this winter how to button his clothing, tie his shoelaces and get in and out of his overshoes. You will realize, come next winter, that it was time well spent.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

How can I change a skirt pattern with a waist band and a zipper to one that has an elastic band with no zipper?

Dear Mrs. M. L.:

Although you didn't mention it, I think you are trying to copy the type of waistband used on knits. The fact that knits have an elasticity that can stretch as much as the elastic waistband, makes it possible to use this type of construction. This would be impossible to do with a skirt made or ordinary fabric because it would be much too full at the waist for a smooth appearance. Better stick to the ordinary construction unless you are working with knits.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

You asked teen-agers to write you, so here is my question. My turtleneck dickeys always stretch out of shape. Is there a way to fix them? Chris

Dear Chris:

This can be helped by getting the elastic thread in the notion department, carefully hand-sew it to the edge of the turtleneck with a tiny running stitch. You can pull it up enough to retain the original shape, however, don't make it too tight to pull over your head. You can prevent this from happening by using this elastic thread before your garment has become stretched. This thread can be used at the neckline of all sweaters. You'll love the way they get that new look again.

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice:

I saw a beautful suit in a fashion magazine, but I can't find a pattern like it. It had a diagonal line extending from the side seam to about 4 inches below the neckline. The buttonholes were put on an angle also. Can I do this without a pattern? Mrs. V. G.

Dear Mrs. V. G.:

With a basic knowledge of sewing and good common sense, you can change almost any fashion detail. Just remember, wherever you cut your pattern, you must add the ⅝-inch seamline to EACH side of the cut edge. In this case, the buttonhole will follow the diagonal line. Just leave the space open for the correct width of the buttonhole and secure well at each end. You don't make a bound buttonhole when the buttonhole appears in a seam. Mark the other buttonholes at the same angle as your slanted seam. They aren't any more difficult to make than buttonholes made on a straight line. Try them!

Hamburgers Win Over Feted Tourists

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States made two new friends today, and much of the credit has to go to a hamburger.

Last Dec. 17, Anthony and Elizabeth Howard of St. Margaret's Bay, Kent, England, were just a young British couple with a love for travel and three weeks to spend vacationing in the United States.

★ ★ ★

By Dec. 18, the Howards were celebrities.

Computers at the U.S. Travel Service (USTS) of the United States Department of Commerce designated Mrs. Howard the one millionth tourist to enter the United States in 1965.

EXPENSES PAID

That distinction brought two expense-paid days in New York and two more in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

They leave for home today with some classic opinions about life in the United States and with gourmet tastes for American hamburgers.

★ ★ ★

The Howards visited New York, Washington, Los Angeles and Tucson, Ariz., going west for a friend's wedding.

★ ★ ★

It included the usual sight-seeing ("We did the National Gallery in 15 minutes"), horseback riding ("Riding western saddle is like sitting in an armchair") attendance at the Rose Bowl game ("We sat in the Michigan State section and shouted for UCLA") and a look at a basement nightclub ("Sort of a subpavement folk singing cellar").

THESE OBSERVATIONS

The Howards had these observances on life in "the Colonies":

Mr. Howard, who plays rugby, on football:

★ ★ ★

"It makes me laugh. I think it's funny that it is called exercise. I enjoy watching it, but in rugby, one keeps playing all the time — one just keeps going. You don't stand around resting in a circle deciding what to do next or sit at the side for 10 minutes. And if a player breaks a leg, the team just plays short one man."

★ ★ ★

Mr. Howard on modern living:

"In England when one pushes a button, one expects it not to work. In America when a button doesn't work, it disrupts the entire way of life."

ON DISHWASHERS

Mrs. Howard on dishwashers:

"Where we stayed in Tucson, there were two. We wouldn't think of having one at home. Dishwashing is a social event — everyone helps."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Howard on the Rose Bowl game.

★ ★ ★

"I decided to shout for UCLA because I'd been driven through the grounds. He (Mr. Howard) shouted for them because they were supposed to lose. But I was handed a stick with green and white streamers (Michigan State colors) and I had to wave it. Then I was completely demoralized because the cheerleaders (Michigan State's) were so forceful I had to to do their shouts."

'CAN'T EAT IT ALL'

Mrs. Howard on American meals:

"When one goes out they put on your plate more than one could possibly eat. In England, one feels very ill-mannered when leaving something on one's plate. In America one is obliged to feel ill-mannered."

★ ★ ★

Both of them on American hamburgers:

"They're wonderful. In England, they're dry, tasteless and artificial. Hamburgers here are a delicious way of life. In England, they are an unpleasant necessity. Weiners are the same in both countries — not very good."

FIRST TO WIN

The Howards were the first millionth visitors to the United States since the federal government and the travel industry launched its joint Visit USA program in 1961.

★ ★ ★

With Mrs. Howard the millionth visitor of 1965, Mr. Howard said:

"I guess that would make me the million and first. I was a gentleman and let her get off the plane ahead of me."

'Hoist the Sail, Here Comes Some Water'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sark Deradourian is organizing the South Phoenix Yacht Club now that the Salt River finally has water in it.

★ ★ ★

The normally dry river through Phoenix flooded recently. Deradourian, a South Phoenix businessman, said he will claim it officially Sunday "before North Phoenix gets it."

★ ★ ★

"When I came to Phoenix, I wondered what that big bridge was for," Deradourian said, referring to the Central Avenue Bridge connecting North and South Phoenix.

★ ★ ★

"Now, we'll have a yacht club. We'll have a regatta. We'll have a place for our families to swim and cool off in the summer."

Officials expect the Salt River to dry up again soon.

How to Save on Taxes—9

Follow the Ground Rules on Dependency Claims

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the ninth of a 14-part series, "Cut Your Own Taxes," by tax expert Ray De Crane, designed to help readers save money on their income tax returns.)

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Internal Revenue Service probably challenges more tax returns because of improper claims for dependents than for any other single reason.

The problems generally arise when a student leaves school and starts to work, when a dependent marries toward the end of the year and when a parent is claimed.

IRS regulations prescribe five conditions which must be met before a $600 dependency exemption may be claimed:

1. The person being claimed must have received less than $600 in income. (This qualification does not apply to your children who are under 19 or who are full-time students.)

2. The taxpayer must have furnished more than one-half the total support for the year.

3. The person claimed did not file a joint return with his wife or her husband.

4. A nationality requirement must be met.

5. The claimed dependents must be related to you or, if not a relative, must have lived in your home for the entire taxable year.

★ ★ ★

There is never much of a problem with your children under 19, unless one should be a movie star or has a substantial income from another source.

QUESTIONS DUE

It is when the special arrangements for students apply that questions arise. This is particularly true in the year of graduation or separation from school.

Up to that time, they have generally met the conditions of being in school for five months and being chiefly supported by their parents. It's what happens after June that creates the confusion.

Assume your son or daughter started to work immediately after graduation and earned $1,700 for the rest of the year. What can you do on your return?

★ ★ ★

First off, you must realize that you cannot take part of a $600 deduction for a portion of the year. You either get a full year's credit or you get none.

CHIEF SUPPORT

The determination then is who furnished chief support on the basis of the full year. To get the answer, compare the total of your support expenditures with the total expended by your son or daughter in his or her own behalf.

If your total is the larger figure, you get the full year's dependency credit. Your son or daughter files his own return and either pays a tax or claims a refund on his or her individual earnings.

Now what happens in the event of a marriage toward the end of the year when you have furnished the chief support for the greater portion of the year?

★ ★ ★

If, on the full year's basis, you furnished the chief support, you may still claim the student bride or groom as your dependent providing the newlyweds do not file a joint return.

Still different problems frequently arise when a parent is claimed as a dependent. The two common sticklers are income and ... of support.

If the parent has as much as $600 gross income, he or she may not be considered as a dependent no matter how much a son or daughter may have furnished in support.

This can work a severe hardship should the parent be the owner of some rent-producing property.

★ ★ ★

This means that if the parent-landlord received as much as $50 monthly from the investment property, he or she would be ruled out as a dependent.

NO DIFFERENCE

It would make no difference if the claims against the rental income — such as depreciation, repairs, taxes—could reduce the net figure materially or even result in a net loss for the year. The law speaks of gross income.

The Social Security income a parent might receive is not considered gross income but it becomes a factor in determining chief support.

If, for example, the parent received $65 a month in Social Security payments ($780 for the year) and spent it toward his own support, the child claiming the parent as a dependent would have to prove his contributions toward the parent's support exceeded $780..

★ ★ ★

If two or more children together furnished the chief support of the parent but no one of them individually contributed over half of the support, the dependency claim may, by agreement, be made by any one of them who furnished over 10 per cent of the support, if the others make a declaration they will not claim the person as a dependent for that year.

The declarations, known as Forms 2120, must be attached to the return of the one making the dependency claim. Such forms are available at all IRS offices.

MAN'S ANSWER — Fashion designers have come up with a male counterpart of the topless swimsuit style for women. It's the "naked look" for men, accomplished by punching holes in the traditional trunks. The new style was unveiled at a fashion show in Dallas, Tex.

Majority of Women Said Envious of Man's Freedom

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Who has it better in life—man or woman?

I had always thought that most people were pretty well satisfied to be a member of the sex they were born into.

BOYLE

It appears my viewpoint may be wrong. According to an article in "The Farmers' Almanac," my authority in such matters, 65 per cent of women would prefer to be men because they feel men have more freedom.

★ ★ ★

The article pointed out some of the disadvantages of being a man — such as that men work at more dangerous occupations and are four times as likely to be killed in accidents and three times as likely to become homicide victims.

So what price freedom?

BIG COLLECTORS

Furthermore, the article said: Women collect 80 per cent of all life insurance, 63 per cent of inheritances, and own 60 per cent of savings accounts. They also go less often to jail or mental hospitals, and live longer than men.

Looking at it philosophically, it does appear that anyone given a choice would prefer being a woman, doesn't it? But man does not live by philosophy alone.

★ ★ ★

Even though he may live five to seven years less than a woman, he'd rather spend those years as a man.

Here are a few reasons why a masculine role appeals to him and a feminine role doesn't:

Any bar in town will serve him whether or not he has an escort.

CAN SCRATCH

If his back itches in public, he can scratch it in public.

The mere thought of bearing children appalls him. He sometimes finds it hard to bear children after they are born, and couldn't think of being host to them before birth.

★ ★ ★

A man knows that he could never master the art of dressing like a woman. As it is now, he puffs after bending over to tie his shoelaces. He realizes he could never summon the strength to squirm his way into and out of a tight-fitting girdle—and no women ever seem to wear a loose one.

Against all logic, women zip their clothing up the back instead of the front. Only contortionists can do this.

A man can get along with the face he has; a woman is always putting on a new one.

Women are a nuisance to themselves in other ways. They are always plucking their eyebrows, varnishing their fingernails, taking bubble baths, or squinting at themselves in mirrors.

★ ★ ★

A man can get a haircut and shampoo in 20 minutes; a woman in a beauty shop wastes half a day under a hair dryer that looks like a metal moon helmet.

A man with something to say can finish a telephone conversation in five minutes; a woman with nothing to say wastes an hour and a half.

UNIMPORTANT THINGS

Women make themselves uncomfortable trying to be comfortable, and make themselves miserable over small unimportant things.

When a man goes to a restaurant all he worries about is whether the grub will be good. But for a woman the evening can be ruined if she thinks the room is 5 degrees too hot or 5 degrees too cold, or if she feels their table is too far from the window or too near the kitchen.

★ ★ ★

All in all, however, each sex has advantages to be grateful for and disadvantages to put up with. Since there isn't a great deal that can be done about it, perhaps the most sensible motto is:

"To each his own."

Planter Gone to Seed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — City Auditor Arthur S. Johnson noticed a sprout in a planter in his office. He decided to let it grow to see what was springing from a seed, apparently blown in through a window.

It turned out to be crabgrass.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

St. Louis Schools to Use Guards, Student ID Cards

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—When second semester begins St. Louis' "Blackboard Jungle" next month, a guard will be standing at the schoolhouse door.

Students who flash identification cards will be admitted. The others will be turned away.

The St. Louis School Board, in the face of mounting violence and vandalism, decided last month to resort to posting guards at some of the schools to sort out the students from those who don't belong.

A committee headed by former board president Daniel Schlafly found that much of the trouble in St. Louis high schools was caused by youngsters who were not students — interlopers looking for money or kicks.

Schlafly told of one school where two outsiders struck a teacher.

INVADERS BEAT BOY

At Abeaumont School on St. Louis' North Side, a pair of invaders beat a boy.

The guards will be unarmed adults.

They will have licensed arrest powers in the school buildings and grounds to which they are assigned—similar to the arrest powers that security guards have in business establishments and universities.

★ ★ ★

"It's impossible for teachers to watch every entrance and exit," Schlafly said. "If we're going to give quality education to children who want to come to school — that's the vast majority—we're going to have to tighten up."

HABITUAL TRUANTS

He said the nonstudent intruders, the late registrants and the habitual truant will have to be moved out of the way of the students who want to learn.

"We mean business," James E. Hurt, a member of the board and of Schlafly's committee, said.

The security officers will be placed on request from high school principals as fast as the police department can train them.

The committee also took note of the "deep-rooted economic and sociological problems" that plague many parents and students and made other recommendations.

MEET PARENTS

Attendance counselors will work from 4 p. m. into the evening hours to meet the parents of habitual truants.

The board hopes to get a special school in operation by fall for students who can't adjust to academic and disciplinary requirements.

"We're doing everything possible to give the youngster who wants to learn a fair opportunity," Hurt said.

Elmer Pounds, chairman of the Community Relations Committee for the board, said, "we must impress upon the parents and the community that we're not running a disciplinary program. We're running an educational program."

AID CHILDREN

Schlafly said he believes most parents "will realize that the program will help them persuade their children to attend school regularly."

Schlafly described the typical outsider as "a teen-ager who may be looking for money by going into a locker. Or he may just be trying to cause a little trouble."

Some of the students weren't happy when the plan was announced.

One girl said she and her friends thought the guards would make the school "more like a prison."

"The girls were upset about identification cards because they're so easy to lose or leave at home," she said. "Besides, the kids don't like to feel untrusted."

"But most of my friends aren't really upset," she said. "I guess it will only be harder on the ones that are bad."

Burundi Diplomacy on U.S. Envoy's Ouster Not 'Letter-Perfect'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic channels stood idle when the little kingdom of Burundi decided to give the boot to the American ambassador.

It sent a letter — an airmail letter — to notify Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The letter arrived at the State Department in one of the big fat mailbags that are delivered daily.

"We get tons of mail," a State Department official said today. "It's hard to tell on the face of it whether an ordinary letter in open mail demands priority attention."

NOT THE WAY

"That's not the way to transmit diplomatic notes."

Donald A. Dumont, ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to the kingdom of Burundi, was ousted Monday from Bujumburua.

He arrived Tuesday at Leopoldville, the Congo, with two aides and a puzzled air.

Why were the three kicked out of the central African nation?

"That's a $64 question," Dumont said.

In Washington, the State Department denied as "wholly without foundation" a Bujumburua charge that the American diplomats had maintained contacts with "conspirators" in Burundi.

* * *

The Burundi allegations and expulsion demand were made by Foreign Minister Marc Manirakiza in the airmail letter to Rusk.

* * *

The foreign minister's letter from Bujumburua was dated Dec. 29. It showed up in the State Department's African Affairs Bureau Monday, the same day Dumont was being called to the Burundian Foreign Ministry and given 24 hours to get out.

* * *

Just when the letter got to Washington was part of the puzzle.

* * *

Tuesday the State Department ordered the expulsion of Burundi's ambassador here. That accomplished Washington's first such tit-for-tat in the 1966 diplomatic season.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Decide Not to Name School After Kennedy

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Marlboro School Board has changed its mind and voted not to name a new high school after President John F. Kennedy.

* * *

The board reversed an earlier vote Tuesday night after receiving a student petition bearing 300 names. The petition said it would be "farcical" to name the school after Kennedy because so many other buildings bear his name.

Negroes Argue Over Retaliation at Funeral of Rights Leader Slain by Fire Bomb

By The Associated Press

The fire bomb that ended the life of a Negro civil rights leader in Hattiesburg, Miss., touched off a blazing argument at his memorial service over a possible retaliatory boycott of white merchants.

★ ★ ★

Negroes in a crowd of 250 to 300 hooted and shouted their resentment Tuesday after a local official of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, J.C. Fairley, told them his group "does not anticipate a boycott at this moment."

★ ★ ★

As the rally boiled up, Charles Evers of Jackson, state NAACP field director, restored order by calling on the crowd to show respect for the 58-year-old victim, Vernon Dahmer.

"If you don't have any more respect for his death than this," he said, "then this man has died in vain already."

FUND DRIVE

City and county leaders launched a fund drive to aid the family of Dahmer, who was fatally burned Monday when his home and store were set ablaze. Mississippi officials pledged an all-out effort to apprehend those responsible.

Dahmer's wife and daughter were burned by flames created by fire bombs. Mrs. Dahmer was not hospitalized, but Betty Dahmer, 10, was hospitalized in fair condition.

★ ★ ★

In Birmingham, Ala., the Jefferson County Courthouse remained the target of civil rights protests today after demonstrations Tuesday aimed at longer hours for open voter registration offices.

★ ★ ★

About 300 sign-carrying, singing Negroes created traffic snarls Tuesday night as they marched to the courthouse through downtown Birmingham.

STUDENTS RIOT

Earlier, about 300 Negro high school students went on a 90-minute rock-throwing binge when school officials barred them from joining one of the marches.

In Washington, the House Committee on Un-American Activities continued its probe of the Ku Klux Klan.

★ ★ ★

John H. Gipson, a disillusioned Klansman, became the first KKK member to testify on acts of violence attributed to the secret organization.

Gipson told the committee he turned informer and now felt "my life is not worth two cents."

YOUTH WHIPPED

Gipson, 29, a Slidell, La., logger and lumber mill worker, described the whipping of a white youth and a Klan plot to burn two Negro churches.

In Atlanta, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. waited legal action on the Georgia legislative seating problem of Rep.-elect Julian Bond, who was not sworn in office because of his endorsement of an anti-Viet Nam statement.

★ ★ ★

The statement came from the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which attacked the war in Viet Nam and called civil rights work a valid alternative to the draft.

King said demonstrations could erupt.

TO FILE SUIT

Bond, a Negro, was expected to file suit in federal court, forcing his being seated in the General Asnembly, which opened its session Monday.

Also in Washington, about 550 pickets from SNCC paraded around a gray coffin in front fo the White House with signs reading, "Make civil rights killing a federal crime."

The protest was in memory of Samuel Younge Jr., a 21-year-old student at Alabama's Tuskegee Institute, who was shot to death during an argument last week in a service station near the school.

In Tuskegee, a group of about two dozen students assembled on the courthouse lawn to resume protest demonstrations touched off by the killing of Younge.

Marvin Segrest, 67, of nearby Shorter, Ala., charged with murder in the death of Younge, was released on a $20,000 bond.

Dominican Crisis Eases as Rebel Officers Leave Country

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The latest Dominican crisis eased today as six leading rebel officers left the country and Communist labor leaders called off a lagging strike.

The six rebels who left Tuesday were the first to obey President Hector Garcia-Godoy's order naming 30 military officers of both factions in the April rebellion to diplomatic and study posts abroad.

★ ★ ★

Col. Francis Caamano Deno, the former president of the rebel regime, and his armed forces minister, Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache, remained behind. They were expected to leave the country soon, possibly this week.

The Dominican army balked at accepting the president's order last week, but Commodore Francisco River Caminero, the military chief, has said the regulars will consider it as soon as the top rebels leave.

STRIKE FAILURE

Communist unions, faced with the failure of a two-day "patriotic strike" to protest Garcia-Godoy's order told their followers Tuesday night to return to their jobs. The Communist labor chiefs said the strike had demonstrated the "peoples' support" of the cause.

The strike caused minor disruptions in the capital, but no major industries were affected. A few stores closed, fearing damage from agitators.

★ ★ ★

Two civilian demonstrators were killed during the work stoppage. One was shot by a U.S. paratrooper of the Inter-American Peace Force. Another died Tuesday when an army and police patrol fired into a group of demonstrators throwing rocks in a suburb.

The departing rebel officers were received by Garcia-Godoy at his residence as he was celebrating his 45th birthday. The group was taken to the International Airport by U.S. Army helicopters and put aboard a jetliner for Puerto Rico.

VARIED NATIONS

An official source said the officers — five colonels and lieutenant — were going to Rome, Guatemala, El Salvador, France, Mexico and Uruguay.

★ ★ ★

Garcia-Godoy has been under pressure from the rebels to remove the chiefs of the regular armed forces ever since he was installed as president of the provisional government last September. The demand was intensified following a battle in Santiago Dec. 19 between regular army troops and rebel forces in which a dozen men were killed. Each side said the other was to blame.

An investigation ordered by Garcia-Godoy did not fix the blame, but he implied in a radio and television speech two weeks ago that both sides were partially at fault. His solution was to get the top men in both factions out of the country.

★ ★ ★

In Havana, Cuba, a Dominican attending the tricontinental conference of revolutionaries told newsmen the Dominican Republic will become the "Viet Nam of the Caribbean."

★ ★ ★

Cayetano Rodriguez del Prado of the Dominican Popular Movement, a pro-Peking leftist group, said a bloody civil war would break out in the Dominican Republic "in the near future."

Today's Pork Has Less Fat, More Lean Meat to Satisfy Diet-Conscious Customers

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Those of us homemakers who work together at The Pontiac Press often compare notes about what we're planning for dinner that night. We also complain—a bit half-heartedly—that our respective families won't eat this or that.

But most of us can serve pork chops any time without a single complaint.

One national meat packer is now producing a new type of pork chop which guarantees the homemaker 15 per cent more meat and 20 per cent fewer calories than regular pork chops when they are broiled. They are labeled, "Big-Eye" shops.

Stuffed pork chops are a special treat. At this time of year, the combination of cranberries and apples is a good one for the stuffing.

CRANBERRY-APPLE STUFFED PORK CHOPS

4 thick (1-inch) pork chops with pocket for stuffing or 8 thin matching pork chops
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup chopped peeled apple
1 cup cranberries
½ cup diced celery
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup (½ inch) soft bread cubes

Melt butter or margarine in skillet. Add apples, cranberries and celery; cover and cook slowly until skins of cranberries break. Add orange rind, sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and bread cubes; mix carefully. Fill pocket of thick pork chops with stuffing.

If thick pork chops with pockets are not available, put two chops together sandwich fashion with cranberry-apple stuffing. Fasten each "sandwich" together securely with wooden picks.

Arrange in baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining ½ teaspoon salt.

Place in moderate oven (350 degrees) and bake until chops are fork-tender, about 1½ hours. Yield: 4 servings.

If you have a cooperative butcher, ask him to fix a crown roast of pork for you. Ask him to grind the trimmings from the roast and add these to the pineapple stuffing.

SPICY PINEAPPLE STUFFING for PORK CROWN ROAST

2 tablespoons enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
pork crown roast, 5¾-6 pounds trimmed weight trimmings from roast, 8-12 ounces (ground)
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 can (13½ oz.) pineapple tidbits
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
12 slices day old enriched bread, cubed or torn in small pieces

Set out shallow roasting pan. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Mix together flour, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Rub on roast. Insert meat thermometer in thickest part of roast; place in pan. Roast 1½ hours.

Meanwhile, in skillet cook trimmings until browned. Stir in onions and celery and cook, stirring occasionally, until onions are transparent. Meanwhile drain pineapple; reserve syrup.

Stir into meat mixture: ½ cup pineapple (reserve remaining), 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper and cloves. Mix thoroughly into bread cubes. Fill center of roast with stuffing and continue roasting 1½ hours longer, or until thermometer reaches 170 degrees.

Baste occasionally with pineapple syrup. If necessary cover roast with aluminum foil to prevent stuffing from drying out. Remove roast from pan; make pan gravy, if desired. Garnish rib bones of roast with remaining pineapple tidbits. Makes 10-12 servings.

When you have served the crown roast or an ordinary pork roast, make pork pie with strips of lean leftover meat. Fine fare for frigid nights.

PORK PIE

2 tablespoons margarine
2 tablespoons corn starch
1½ cups milk
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups thin strips cooked lean pork
1 recipe pastry for double crust pie

Melt margarine in 1½ quart saucepan over low heat. Blend in corn starch. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to boil. Remove from heat. Add celery, onion, salt, paprika, pepper and meat.

Divide pastry about in half. Roll out larger half of pastry. Use to line shallow 1½-quart casserole. Fill with meat mixture. Roll out remaining pastry. Place over meat mixture. Cut slits in top to allow steam to escape during baking. Seal edges.

Bake in 350 degrees F. (moderate) oven until pastry is browned and filling hot, about 1 hour. Makes 6 servings.

ELEGANT PORK CROWN ROAST

PORK PIE

Cooked Livers Become Pate

For special entertaining, delectable Pate Maison, a spread made with flavorful chicken livers, is invaluable party fare. The National Broiler Council suggests you make it this way:

Pate Maison

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 pound chicken livers
½ cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon each dry mustard, freshly ground black pepper and powdered thyme
⅛ teaspoon mace
¼ cup cream

Heat butter in skillet. Add chicken livers and onion; cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, for 5 to 8 minutes or until livers are done and onion is tender but not brown.

Force livers with onion through strainer or food mill. Blend in seasonings and cream. Turn into serving container or mold. Serve with thinly sliced French bread, crackers or toast rounds. Yield: 1½ cups.

Powdered Kind Best

To keep your whipped cream from becoming watery, home economists suggest using confectioners' sugar instead of granulated sugar as a sweetener. The finely powdered sugar does not "break down" or dissolve as does the granulated sugar.

Diners Find Surprise Salmon in Shortcake

There are many wonderful things a homemaker can do with canned or frozen meat, vegetables, fruit, soups and fish. But of all the varieties of convenience foods at our fingertips today, nothing can quite top canned salmon for versatility, nutrition, appetite-appeal and economy.

Quite honestly, it's difficult to spoil the delicate flavor of canned salmon, so that even a beginner cook can cope with a recipe with confidence and ease.

In addition to all these virtues, a 1-pound can of salmon will feed four generously for much less cost than the same quantity of meat. Protein-wise salmon is complete, containing all the essential amino acids, plus valuable vitamins and minerals.

So for superb eating on meatless days, or on any day, for that matter, for family or party fare, reach for that can of salmon.

* * *

A recipe with great family appeal, yet delicious enough to serve to the most discriminating guest is a salmon shortcake with a velvety egg sauce.

Salmon Shortcake

2 cups baking powder biscuit mix
1 teaspoon dill weed
1 1-pound can salmon
Milk
4 tablespoons butter
4 green onions, sliced
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups hot milk
½ cup cream
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 hard-cooked egg, finely chopped for garnish
Parsley

Measure baking powder biscuit mix into a bowl and add dill weed. Drain salmon liquid into measuring cup and add enough milk to make a total of ⅔ cup liquid.

Flake salmon. Stir half the flaked salmon into biscuit mix. Add liquid and stir to a soft dough with a fork. Turn out onto lightly floured board and knead lightly, about 10 kneading strokes.

Shape dough into an 8-inch round and place on baking sheet. Bake in a preheated 400 degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Meanwhile, in saucepan melt butter and in it saute onions for about 5 minutes, or until onions are tender, but not browned. Stir in flour, salt and pepper.

Add hot milk and cook over moderate heat, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Stir in cream, sliced eggs, and remaining flaked salmon. Cook over low heat for 5 minutes.

Split baking powder biscuit in half and fill with half the sauce. Top with remaining sauce and garnish with finely chopped egg and sprig of parsley. Serves 6.

MAIN DISH — Salmon Shortcake with a velvety egg sauce is the answer to the homemakers daily question, "what shall we have for supper." It's suitable for family or for your most important guests.

Quick Soak Will Make Beans Ready to Use

Do you sometimes forget to soak beans the night before you planned to use them? Then here's a quick method equivalent to the over-night soak.

For each cup of dry navy beans (one cup of beans yields three or four servings of cooked beans) bring three cups of water to a boil. Pour in the beans and boil two minutes. Cover tightly, remove from the heat and let stand one hour.

This brings the beans to the point where they are ready to be combined with other ingredients in your favorite recipe.

The rich vegetable protein in beans is enhanced when served with meat or cheese or eaten with some grain food. Examples are pork or bacon, beans with traditional brown bread, and chili con carne with crackers.

The proteins supplement each other and step up nutrition values.

Ailing Ex-Nazi Major on Trial for Gassing

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Former Nazi SS Maj. Wilhelm Burger, 61, has a heart disease, a stomach disorder and a skin ailment. His face is flushed, his hands tremble, and a doctor would advise him to avoid excitement.

But for the next few months his frayed nerves will have no rest.

★ ★ ★

Burger is the highest-ranked defendant in West Germany's second Auschwitz war crimes trial. He is charged with aiding and abetting uncounted murders at the huge wartime Nazi death camp.

Specifically, the charge cites him for responsiblity in supplying Zyklon B gas, used for mass killings in Auschwitz.

OTHER DEFENDANTS

Other defendants are former Elite Guard Sgts. Josef Erber and Gerhard Neubert. They are accused of complicity in murder at Auschwitz by having participated in selection of victims for the gas chambers.

The trial is drawing no great publicity nor the crowds that marked the first Auschwitz proceedings which had 20 defendants and lasted 20 months.

Wilhelm Boger, called the master torturer of Auschwitz, and Oswald Kaduk ("The Butcher") sat impassive, haughty and proud throughout the months of hearings. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

Unlike them, Wilhelm Burger is a man of tears.

When forced by the prosecutor to recall events, his voice rises in pitch and his eyes fill.

CHIEF ADMINISTRATOR

Burger was at Auschwitz from June 1942 to May 1943 as chief administrator. Some of his assignments were:

Organizing the collection, sorting, registering and packing of inmates' possessions;

★ ★ ★

Ordering furniture for a bordello operated for the camp's SS staff;

Feeding and clothing of inmates;

Responsibility for the maintenance of the crematorium and gas chambers;

The outfitting of inmate work squads with tools.

★ ★ ★

Rudolf Hoess, the last commandant of Auschwitz, once described his administrative chief as an "energetic doer who shirks no assignment."

In one court session, Burger said yes, he ordered Zyklon B gas to be delivered in trucks but it was only to be used for disinfecting clothes and inmates' quarters.

HE WAVERED

Pressed by the prosecution, he wavered:

"We were not told officially that Zyklon B was used for mass liquidations. But that was know to everyone in Auschwitz."

Then Burger said that the gas used for the death chambers must have been ordered by someone else.

★ ★ ★

He was then reminded of statements made to an examining judge in which he admitted having known the real purpose of the gas.

NEAR COLLAPSE

In a choked voice, Burger answered that he was near a nervous collapse at the time he made those statements and added that he probably would have even signed his own death order.

While he was at Auschwitz, Burger was considered by at least one superior to be a good Nazi.

Commandant Hoess wrote: "He is solid in his world outlook."

As a young man, Burger tried his hand as a teacher, car salesman and insurance man. But economic conditions after World War I were tough and he had trouble earning a living. In 1932 he joined the Nazi party and Hitler's SS Guard.

In 1935 he got his first important post — administrative chief in the Nazis' first concentration camp at Dachau.

When the war began, he was assigned to a SS infantry regiment which campaigned in France and Russia.

Then came the transfer to Auschwitz. Burger says it was against his will. After one year there, he was reassigned to Berlin to work in the economic administration bureau for concentration camps.

Burger served eight years in a Polish prison after World War II. Out of curiosity, he attended a war crimes trial in Nuernberg in 1947 in which former comrades of the Berlin economic office were being tried. He was recognized by one of them and the American military police were tipped off.

TURNED OVER

They handed him over to Polish authorities, who convicted him for being a link in concentration camp machinery.

He was released in 1955 and returned to Germany, getting work as a coal wholesaler's clerk. In 1959 he joined a die-casting factory and worked his way up to office manager and $375 a month, good pay in Germany.

★ ★ ★

The Auschwitz trial has an 8:30 a.m. starting time. Burger, who is free on bail, arrived at one session a half-hour before the judge, jury and legal men appeared.

He sat silent on a bench, his hands trembling, his eyes fixed on the floor. Then two defense attorneys entered and greeted him. Burger seemed thankful for the gesture of friendliness. He rose quickly to his feet, smiling, and exchanged a few words with them.

DIDN'T SMILE

During the rest of the session, Wilhelm Burger didn't smile once. When defendants Erber and Neubert were summoned to testify, he never looked at them. He stared at the floor or at a wooden bench. His hands quaked in his lap.

Was this man a killer — one of the Nazi elite with power over life and death? Or was he just a clerk following orders?

A jury will decide. The trial may take four months.

Beard Bias Is Basis for Jury Duty Removal

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Civil Dist. Judge Howard J. Taylor excused Charles Williams Vesien from jury duty when Vesien said he was prejudiced against bearded men.

"It shows immaturity," said Vesien Monday as Judge Taylor was empaneling a jury to try a case involving a man who wore a short beard.

Five Doctors Band Together to Give Community Round-the-Clock Care

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., (AP) — Five doctors have given up private practice to band together to staff the emergency room at Wesson Memorial Hospital on a round-the-clock basis.

"This is no place to retire to. This is hard work," says Dr. John P. Sigsbee, 46, one of the five who called themselves the Wesson Emergency Associates.

★ ★ ★

"But it gives me a chance to do the kind of work I like to do," he adds. "And it puts me in the spot that I think is the only weak link in our otherwise very fine medical service in this country."

Like many hospitals, Wesson was faced with a rising number of emergency room cases and not enough doctors to care for them. The hospital had no interns or residents.

FORMED GROUP

Three years ago, Sigsbee and three other doctors formed their emergency room association. They work in shifts, 42 hours a week.

A fifth joined the team last year as the number of cases treated in the emergency room rose from 20,000 in 1964 to 25,000.

★ ★ ★

"The kind of service we are offering has attracted more patients," says Sigsbee, "and more doctors are referring to us.

"But the fact is, the hospital emergency room is becoming the family health center. People just won't wait for their own doctor anymore. They come directly to the hospital."

PROVIDES FACILITIES

Wesson, a 300-bed hospital, supplies the doctors with working space, medical supplies and equipment and pays nurses, orderlies and clerks.

The doctors bill their patients but receive no money from the hospital. Sigsbee says, "We make about the same as we did in private practice."

★ ★ ★

One drawback in the work is the hours. "They are extremely irregular," says Sigsbee. But this is by design.

"We work all different hours during the week," he said, "because otherwise — say if I worked the night shift only — I'd go a week without seeing my family."

Tug Sinks, 1 Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — A tugboat sank today after a collision with a tanker in the Kill Van Kull, a narrow strait between Staten Island and Bayonne, N.J.

One tugboat crewman was reported missing, the Coast Guard said.

SEN. HART

4 Senate Dems to Help Whip

Hart Is Among Group Given Extra Duties

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats yesterday named four assistant whips to help share the burdens of the leadership in the 1966 session.

They are Daniel B. Brewster of Maryland, Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

★ ★ ★

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana proposed the new posts at a closed conference of all Democratic senators.

Mansfield said he felt the leadership needed help because the No. 2 man, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the whip, is taking over new duties as chairman of the important finance committee, and Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, the No. 3 man, has been ill.

PLANS TO RETIRE

Smathers has announced he will retire in 1969 at the end of his present term.

Mansfield said Smathers had indicated he would be willing to resign his leadership position as secretary of the conference.

★ ★ ★

But, Mansfield said, "We have urged Sen. Smathers to complete his term as secretary of the conference and he has agreed not to resign."

Mansfield said no one raised any question about Long's continuing as whip in view of his new duties as finance chairman.

2-YEAR TERM

"Sen. Long was elected a year ago for two years as whip," Mansfield said. "He has been a tower of strength to me and I am happy that we are going to continue working as a team."

Long said the four assistants "are relatively junior senators who already have made a magnificient contribution to the work of the Senate, and I am most pleased they are going to assist us."

★ ★ ★

Mansfield said that, when he and Long must be absent from the Senate floor, one of the assistants will be designated to take over the majority leader's chair.

The Democratic leader said there was no discussion at the conference of the 1966 legislative program or the impact of the Vietnamese war.

Guest to Talk on Problems of Children

Mrs. Oscar Agre, visiting teacher and a social worker with the Garden City Public School System, will be guest speaker at the Salvation Army Citadel tomorrow. The time is 7:30 p.m.

"The Emotional Problems of Children" will be her subject.

Working with troubled school children for the past nine years, she helps solve adjustment problems by dealing with the child, his parents and his teachers through community agencies.

Mrs. Agre is an active member of the Oakland Child Guidance Board of Directors and serves as a resource person on mental health at four universities.

★ ★ ★

In 1946 she and her husband were commanding officers of the Salvation Army in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

She is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, and did graduate work at the University of Michigan.

Road Paving Is Authorized

Need Southfield OK for Center Project

Oakland County officials yesterday authorized the County Board of Auditors to proceed with plans to pave Catalpa adjoining the proposed South Oakland Health Center in Southfield.

The paving project, however, must first be approved by the City of Southfield under a special assessment district.

Approximate cost to the county for improving the gravel road along the health center property on the west side of Greenfield is estimated at $30,000.

Southfield residents will be asked to share the paving cost west of the health center to where Catalpa reaches a dead end. This also is estimated at about $30,000.

★ ★ ★

Members of the buildings and grounds committee of the County Board of Supervisors called for the paving action.

BIDS ON WING

In other business at its meeting yesterday, the committee was advised by Joseph Joachim, engineer for the board of auditors, that bids for the proposed courthouse wing probably would be taken by late March.

Joachim said construction of the estimated $2.5 million facility would take 18 months.

It's Okay to Will Body

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes has signed a bill that permits New Jersey residents to will any part of their bodies to medical research or to another human being who is in need of it. Previously, only the human eye could be willed to medical science or for a surgical transplant.

Newsman Goes Along on B52 Strike Against Cong

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The U.S. Department of Defense this week for the first time permitted newsmen to accompany B52 bombing raids over South Viet Nam. An Associated Press newsman went on a B52 raid and describes the mission).

By JAMES LAGIER

ANDERSEN AIR FORCE BASE, Guam (AP) — Miles high, more than two dozen B52 stratofortresses swept over Viet Cong strongholds in South Viet Nam today.

Below, on the ground, guerrilla troop settlements — apparently unaware of the raid until bombs began bursting around them — got the shock of more than three-quarters of a million pounds of explosives.

★ ★ ★

Today's mission was the latest of more than 1,700 sorties flown by crewmen of Andersen, Guam center of U. S. Air Force strength in the entire Pacific Far East for more than 20 years.

Flights are now launched almost daily against the Viet Cong by members of the 736th Bomb Squadron, of Mather Air Force Base, Calif.

None goes over North Viet Nam.

It was the first raid newsmen were permitted to join in since the United States began pounding Viet Cong guerrillas with B52s June 18, 1965.

★ ★ ★

Targets were a Viet Cong stronghold near the Cambodian border and a Communist settlement southwest of Da Nang.

More than 10 aircraft in the first wave led by Maj. Gen. William J. Crumm, 47, commander of the 3rd Air Division, left Guam shortly after 3 a.m.

HIT STRONGHOLD

In Operation Power Play, they struck a Viet Cong stronghold used for staging operations against American troops.

Two hours later more than 14 bombers assembled under Col. William T. Cumiskey dropped 500-pound and 750-pound bombs on a valley 23 miles southwest of Da Nang which intelligence officers said had been a Viet Cong stronghold for many years. Cumiskey is wing commander of the 320th—454th Heavy Bombardment Wing of Mather and Columbus.

★ ★ ★

Dubbed Mink Stole, the mission target was a green valley nestled between a mountain ridge and the winding Son Thu Bon River. Dozens of tiny rice paddies roads and trails could be seen between cloud banks from the air.

Lt. Col. Arthur J. Ulrich, the intelligence officer, gave the crewmen a briefing on the target site before they left Guam.

CONG IN CONTROL

Viet Cong, he said, control the population and surrounding villages and are forcing South Vietnamese to dig defensive positions, tunnels and other facilities.

Enemy units reportedly in the area included a Viet Cong battalion and two separate regiments. Nearest friendly South Vietnamese area was said to be 13 miles away at Lanh Thuong.

★ ★ ★

Capt. George I. Manning, 34, of Greenville, N.C., led three bombers — termed a cell — in the raid over the valley.

Other bombers in the Mink Stole wave struck other sites in that area.

OTHER WAVE

The other wave struck a Viet Cong stronghold for staging operations. Ulrich said three Viet Cong had been captured and had given the location of the site. Two of the three were flown over the area and identified it.

The raid was carried out with scientific precision. Each of the six-man crews had spent hours preparing for the 12-hour mission.

The 2,500-mile flight from Guam to target was uneventful except for 15 minutes of tricky refueling by KC135 tankers about halfway to the target. The tankers refueled the "big birds" from a secret base in the Pacific in a rendezvous timed to the minute.

Captured Photos Reveal Viet Cong Side of Conflict

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The war in Viet Nam grew rapidly in 1965 and this growth was recorded in many memorable pictures on the side of the Vietnamese government and its allies.

Cameramen from many nations went into combat with U.S., Vietnamese, Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops to picture the victories and defeats, the horror and sorrow and the rare moments of humor and cheer.

★ ★ ★

But the world got only glimpses, usually colored in propaganda, of the war as seen through the eyes of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Communist photographers did, however, record their side. Most of the pictures were never released for worldwide viewing, but they were given wide distribution throughout Viet Nam. They presented a special view designed to show only a favorable record.

ENEMY HIMSELF

Capture of a series of these pictures gives the Western world a look at the enemy in Viet Nam as he sees himself. The pictures were seized by a unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division which stormed into a Viet Cong encampment about 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

Despite water stains and dirt, the pictures are of good quality. All carried caption lines, some extensive. Many had an identification stamp that said: "National Liberation Front information—Saigon, Cholon, Gia Dinh."

Gia Dinh is the province that surrounds the capital. Cholon is the Chinese quarter of Saigon. The stamp itself could hardly be challenged for the Viet Cong have demonstrated an ability to operate in and near the city.

One shot, said to have been taken within Gia Dinh Province, shows Viet Cong riflemen removing parts from a wrecked vehicle the caption described as an amphibious tank. Actually, the vehicle was an armored personnel carrier, a type knocked out frequently by Viet Cong now well armed with recoilless rifles.

There are rarely seen views of Viet Cong medical treatment of Communist soldiers wounded in action. One shows a wounded guerrilla with a bandage around his head and blood on his face and uniform.

A woman kneels beside him, giving him a drink of water from an American-type canteen cup, while another Viet Cong holds him up.

★ ★ ★

Other pictures show destroyed outposts and hamlets, pieces of crashed helicopters, Communist troops marching or lined up in formation.

Pictures have been captured in the past from the Viet Cong, some showing Viet Cong units drilling and training.

The pictures seized by the 101st Division paratroopers, however, give a wider view of the fighting as seen by the Communist side, a view that appears aimed in part at least at showing the nearness of Viet Cong strength to the nation's capital.

Ex-Premier Back in French Cabinet

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foriegn News Analyst

When President Charles de Gaulle took to the hustings to win the presidential runnoff elections last month, it was because he had learned with some dismay that his own image of himself as the personification of France was not shared by all Frenchmen.

NEWSOM

Particularly unhappy were French farmers and members of the business community forced to live under the rigid austerity measures of Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing.

To correct that situation, de Gaulle just has completed a cabinet shake-up which also could affect the line of succession to de Gaulle himself.

Replacing d'Estaing is Michel Jean-Pierre Debre, a former premier and one of de Gaulle's oldest and most loyal supporters.

★ ★ ★

It was a loyalty which, in 1962, seemed to have cost him his own political future. As premier since 1959, Debre had served to ward off blows aimed by a rebellious French Assembly at de Gaulle.

But, in 1962, when de Gaulle accepted Debre's resignation in the apparent belief he had outlived his usefulness, Debre could not even win election to the assembly from his own home district.

In 1963, he came in via the backdoor as deputy from Reunion, a remote French possession in the Indian Ocean.

His comeback has not been all the way, but as a superminister in de Gaulle's new cabinet, with authority reaching into all fields of the French economy, his influence almost equals that of Premier Georges Pompidou.

Eventually, Pompidou and Debre could become rivals for the presidency.

★ ★ ★

Critics of de Gaulle admit the country's prosperity and that he has achieved political stability out of chaos.

On the credit side, France has more automobiles per capita than any other country in Europe. She has atomic power and her own independent oil supplies. She also has 16 billion in foreign exchange in the bank.

But French industry still is overly protected and not particularly competitive on world markets.

FOUL PLAY — Kettering's Pete Evans (with ball) found the path to the basket blocked by Waterford's Tony Trzos (30) during first half action last night, but Trzos committed a foul on the play and Evans picked up a point at the charity line. Watching the play at right is Rick Ziem.

Mikemen Lead Loop; Eaglets Edge ROSM

St. Michael's basketball team is back in first place all alone in the Macomb Catholic League as result of its own effort and help from Waterford Our Lady of Lakes last night.

The Mikes whipped St. Rose, 60-38, while WOLL knocked St. Fred from a first place tie with its best game of the season, 88-70.

In the Northwest Catholic League, Orchard Lake St. Mary is back in contention for the title after trimming Royal Oak St. Mary, 71-68, and the Eaglets will face league-leader St. Benedict on the OLSM court Friday night.

The loss of starting guards Gary Stanton and Greg Glynn for untold reasons didn't stop the Mikemen from whipping St. Rose, however it may impair the Shamrocks in the future race.

Bill French led the victory with 26 points. St. Mike pushed to a 35-24 halftime lead.

AVENGE LOSS

Waterford Our Lady got even for an earlier loss to St. Fred as Carl Matzelle sparked the win with 28 points and the big share of the rebounds.

St. Fred led 42-37 at halftime and held the lead until the last two seconds of the third quarter.

★ ★ ★

Dennnis McCulloch fired a shot from past mid-court estimated at 50 feet, and the buzzer sounded as it cleared the net to give WOLL a 61-60 lead.

In the 4th quarter the Lakers padded their margin with 27 points compared to only 10 for St. Fred.

Matzelle, who had 14 of his points in the 2nd quarter, recieved scoring help from Doug Springer with 19 and Randy Wise with 17. Tony Bellasario had 21 for the Rams.

OLSM VICTOR

OLSM and RO St. Mary battled on even terms in the first half with the lead changing hands seven times and the home team holding a 35-30 halftime margin as result of five points in the last minute.

★ ★ ★

In the third quarter, however, the Eaglets went ahead 40-38 on a bucket by Connie Krogulecki and never fell behind as they proceeded to hit for 24 points while holding the home team to only six.

Foul trouble on John Stepien, who had four with six minutes left in the first half, hampered OLSM but freshman Tim Megge with 15 points, his high for the season, picked up the slack.

★ ★ ★

OLSM now stands 6-1 going into the big game against St. Ben Friday.

ON THE ATTACK—Rick Ziem (44) of Waterford looks for room to maneuver against Kettering's Bob VonBargan (20) in first half action last night on the Waterford floor. Ziem sparked the Skippers to a 28-18 halftime lead, but it was the defensive play by VonBargan during the second half that helped Kettering stage a comeback in winning a thriller, 54-50.

Second Half Rally Beats Township Foe

Skippers' Ziem Leads Scoring With 21; Cox Paces Kettering

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Kettering's Captains have a good thing going.

Riding what looked like a sinking ship at halftime, the Captains bounced back in a stirring comeback to trim township rival Waterford, 54-50, before 1,300 screaming fans.

For the unbeaten Captains, it was their sixth win of the campaign, while the loss sent the Skippers sliding below the .500 level with a 3-4 record.

Waterford looked like a sure winner throughout the first half.

★ ★ ★

With forwards Rick Ziem and Dave Farris popping away from long range, the Skippers raced to an 18-9 lead after one quarter and carried a 28-18 lead into the locker room at halftime.

SCORING DUET

The Ziem-Farris combine hit 22 of the Skippers' 28 points in the first half, and it was this scoring combination that the Captains halted in their comeback in the second half.

★ ★ ★

Kettering threw the ball away repeatedly during the opening two quarters, but in the second half, the Captains looked like a different team.

They began controlling the ball, and by the time the third quarter ended, they had chopped Waterford's lead to 43-40.

The Captains tied the score at 44-all with 7:07 left in the game, and went ahead, 48-46, with 5:38 remaining.

★ ★ ★

With two minutes to go, Waterford pulled into a 50-all tie, but a basket by forward Dave Cox shoved the Captains ahead, 52-50, and with 25 seconds left, Jack McCloud canned a pair of free throws for the final points.

REBOUND EDGE

Although Waterford held a slight edge in height, the Captains posted a 27-23 edge in the rebounding department.

★ ★ ★

Waterford suffered a setback in the first minute of play when center Bruce Bookout (6-4) reinjured an ailing knee and sat out the rest of the game.

The Captains also played without a starter for most of the game. Dick Miceli, the team's top scorer, collected four fouls early in the game. He returned just long enough to pick up his fifth in the fourth quarter with 3:03 left.

Kettering's tight defense in the second half limited the Ziem-Farris duo to 10 points — all by Ziem.

★ ★ ★

Ziem finished with 21 points to lead all scorers while Farris wound up with 11.

Three of the Captains hit for double figures. Cox led the way with 18, followed by Bob VonBargan (14) and Ralph Windeler (10).

Waterford, hitting eight of their first 12 shots, finished with a shooting percentage of 41 (18 of 43), while Kettering connected on 19 of 56 for 33 per cent.

Meet Buffalo Saturday

AFL All-Stars Impress Coach

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Coach Sid Gillman likes what he has seen of his American Football League All-Star squad.

The All-Star group that includes 10 of Gillman's San Diego Chargers meets the champion Buffalo Bills in a Saturday postseason game that previously matched All-Star teams representing the league's Eastern and Western Divisions.

★ ★ ★

"I've just been delighted," Gillman said Tuesday as the All-Stars went through their final twice-a-day workout schedule.

"The quarterbacks are throwing well, we're catching the ball and we have a lot of snap."

The quarterbacks are San Diego's John Hadl, the No. 1 AFL passer, and Joe Namath, the New York Jet rookie.

★ ★ ★

Hadl and Namath can call on Cookie Gilchrist of Denver, Paul Lowe of San Diego, Clem Daniels of Oakland or Ode Burrell of Houston to carry the ball.

Their pass receivers will be Don Maynard of New York, Charley Hennigan and Willie Frazier of Houston, Fred Arbanas and Frank Jackson of Kansas City and Gino Cappelletti of Boston.

NEW FORMAT

Both Gillman and Joel Collier, the new Buffalo head coach, believe the game's new format and a rule that will require both squads to use a standard 4-3 defense are adding interest and excitement to the game.

"In some respects, placing the All-Stars against the champions makes the game more meaningful," Collier said.

Neither team will be permitted under the special rule to use a red dog defense.

"The rule helps the offense," Gillman said. "There is no doubt about that. And it should make for a better game for the fans."

★ ★ ★

Gillman said Lance Alworth, the San Diego receiver, still is making progress from a hairline rib fracture suffered in the championship game with Buffalo. Alworth received medical clearance Monday to join the All-Stars.

"We'll tape him up real good and protect with extra padding," Gillman said.

Surprising Illini Quintet Leading Big 10 Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Surprising Illinois, threatening to become a major factor in the Big Ten basketball race, recorded its third victory without defeat Tuesday night.

The Illini, who had won twice on the road, returned home and measured Wisconsin 80-64 for their victory without defeat this season.

The triumph lifted the Illini one-half game ahead of defending champion Michigan and challenging Michigan State, both of which have 2-0 records and are the only other undefeated teams in the Big Ten.

Led by senior Don Freeman and sophomore Rich Jones, Illinois boosted a 31-29 lead into a 42-29 halftime advantage while holding Wisconsin scoreless for seven minutes.

Wisconsin, having upset Iowa 69-68 Saturday, battled to within five points in the second half only to have Illinois put on a final winning spurt.

Freeman scored 27 points and Jones added 25 for the Illini while Ken Barnes paced the Badgers with 15.

Illinois' next engagement is at Purdue Saturday and if the Illini can knock off the Boilermakers, they will hold the Big Ten lead until at least Feb. 1 when they invade the lair of Michigan.

Other games Saturday find Indiana at Minnesota, Michigan at Northwestern and Ohio State at Michigan State in a regionally televised contest.

Ellis Set to Defend San Diego Crown

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Defending champion Wes Ellis Jr., and his professional golfing brethren divided forces today for the pro-amateur prelude to the $44,500 San Diego Open tournament which gets under way Thursday.

Ellis and hometown product Bill Casper Jr., wound up in a tie a year ago and Ellis' birdie three on the first hole of the sudden-death playoff won the event.

It was a torrid duel to the wire, with Casper firing a 64 and Ellis a 65 in the final round for a 72-hole score of 267.

Russian Ski Coach Stays With Swedes

STOCKHOLM (AP) — A Russian ski coach sneaked away from a group of five Russian skiers boarding an eastbound plane at Stockholm's international airport Tuesday and asked for asylum in Sweden.

★ ★ ★

The Russian, whom police identified as 33-year-old Lev Kaganov, followed the group right up to the plane but there he avoided the staircase and instead made a u-turn around the landing gear and, unnoticed, headed back to the main airport building.

The Russian skiers had been training for a month in Northern Sweden.

12-Round Bout Slated

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing agent Dewey Fragetta said Tuesday that middleweight contender Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, has signed to fight Nino Benvenuti, Italy's world junior middleweight champion, in a 12-round bout in Rome Feb. 4.

At NCAA Convention

Objection Raised to Academic Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major fight on the rule setting minimum academic standards for athletes was shaping up today at the National Collegiate Athletic Association convention with the elite Ivy League leading the dissenters.

The rule in question was passed last year and became effective Jan. 1, 1966. It requires athletes to have an average of 1.6 on a 4.0 standard, or roughly a C-minus average.

The fight is emerging over extremely complex amendments aimed at strengthening the basic rule. The amendments were scheduled for floor action today.

The eight members of the Ivy League expressed their dissatisfaction with the whole affair in a district meeting Tuesday, largely through Athletic Directors Delaney Kiphuth of Yale and Jerry Ford of Penn.

WANT AUTONOMY

Their cry is one they've used before—"institutional autonomy." That is, they object to any outside source having any say on their grades or admission standards.

NCAA Executive Director Walter Byers said no Ivy League representatives have approached him or the NCAA council during the convention. He added, however, that the eight Ivy League schools have indicated they will not accept or abide by the legislation.

★ ★ ★

If the schools follow that course, they would still be allowed to compete in league competition but would be ineligible for national championship events.

That would rule them out of the NCAA Indoor Track Championships coming up in Madison Square Garden in New York next month, and the NCAA Basketball Champions—including all regional playoffs — the following month.

Also scheduled for consideration today was a resolution by New Mexico calling for a return to one-platoon football and abolishing unlimited substitution. The plan is expected to have little support.

In fact, Ivy Williamson, chairman of the NCAA Football Rules Committee which meets this weekend in New Orleans, La., said he expects "no major upheavals, no surprises."

Two players scored 58 points between them as Lansing Boys' Vocational School defeated Pontiac Emmanuel Baptist, 76-43 last night.

The visitors held a 35-19 lead at halftime behind the scoring of Alex Walker and Bob Wilbert.

In the 4th period Walker hit 14 and Wilbert 12 points to account for 26 of 28 in the period.

Walker finished with 30 and Wilbert with 28.

Len Loveless and Tony Vande-Meer each had 10 for Emmanuel which now has an 0-4 record for the season.

Chicago's Papa Bear Growling

CHICAGO (AP) — That growl reverberating through the National Football League is from George (Papa Bear), Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears.

The 70-year-old professional football pioneer is doing a fast burn over the fact that assistant coach George Allen resigned to become head coach of the Los Angeles Rams. So much so that the Bears are going to court Wednesday in an attempt to keep Allen from departing.

★ ★ ★

Halas filed a breach of contract suit Tuesday in an attempt to keep Allen, whose three-year contract at $19,000 a year doesn't expire until 1968, from going to Los Angeles.

Almost in the same vein of a key government man defecting, Halas claims Allen has not only taken all the Bear secrets with him to Los Angeles but also is undermining Bear chances for the National Football League title this year.

SPECIAL SKILL

Not that anyone is ready to concede the Bears the 1966 championship but Halas maintains that Allen has "special, exceptional and unique knowledge and skill as a coach which cannot be measured in monetary terms and cannot be adequately compensated."

★ ★ ★

"Unless he (Allen) is restrained," the complaint reads, "he will use this information in coaching the Rams against the Bears."

★ ★ ★

Allen resigned as a Bear assistant Saturday and signed an undisclosed contract as head coach of the Rams Monday night.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the NFL, told Halas in a statement that "it has been traditional in the NFL and throughout sports that assistant coaches be permitted to take advantage of opportunity for advancement.

NO CAUSE

"On the basis of this historical precedence, in fact as it is now known, this office finds no cause at this time to interfere with the Los Angeles Rams' signing of George Allen as head coach. It is hope that the matter can be amicably resolved by the two clubs."

Halas agreed with Rozelle that it is a matter between the two clubs "and it is for that reason that we filed our suit."

★ ★ ★

Dan Reeves, president of the Rams, had a terse "no comment" after learning of Halas' action. Reeves maintains the Bears first gave permission for the Rams to approach Allen and then withdrew it. Halas claims he never gave such permission and called the signing of Allen "a flagrant case of tampering."

Allen, who reportedly returned from Los Angeles to Chicago Tuesday, could not be reached.

Central Michigan Five Rolls to 83-64 Triumph

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — League-leading Central Michigan overwhelmed Northern Illinois 83-64 in their IIAC basketball game Tuesday night. It was Central's fourth straight league victory and 13th in 15 games over-all.

★ ★ ★

Don Edwards and Willie Iverson totaled 51 points for Central. Edwards pulled down 22 rebounds in addition to scoring 26 points. Central led at the half 41-29.

Dempsey, 70, has his legal residence in New York, but owns property in Santa Monica.

Walled Lake Matmen Have 'Rare' Habit

One of the rarities in high school wrestling is a shutout, but the powerful Walled Lake wrestling team is making a habit of it.

The Vikings under coach Rick Schneider walloped Inkster last night, 52-0, for their 6th straight of the season and 11th in a row since last year.

★ ★ ★

Two weeks ago, Walled Lake defeated Lincoln Park, 42-0, and it wasn't because the losers were entirely so weak. A year ago, Lincoln Park was the 7th best team in the state.

NINE PINS

In defeating Inkster, the Vikings scored nine falls, led by John Hellner's 15th straight triumph in the 138-pound class.

A senior, Hellner is considered a strong candidate to become Walled Lake's first state champion.

★ ★ ★

Coach Schneider, starting his 7th year with a 52-19-2 record behind him, is not laying claims for any state championship for the Viking wrestlers, but from points of deduction his hopes are high.

"We outpointed Hazel Park and Ann Arbor, in tournaments a couple real tough teams; we won over Ypsilanti which, in turn, whipped a strong Lansing Sexton team; so with a couple breaks, I'd like to think our chances are good," Schneider noted.

Friday, the Vikings meet a strong Catholic Central team.

"Our key match should be against Pontiac Northern, Jan. 28th," he added, "it always turns out to be an interesting match."

He recalled a year ago, when Walled Lake won the first five events to take a 20-0 lead and then watched PNH come back to end the match in a 20-20 deadlock.

To add a bit of spcie to the future and something Walled Lake opponents might ponder, the Viking Jayvees also won over Inkster, 53-3, for their 6th straight, one of which was also a shutout.

HAZEL PARK 5-0

In another meet last night, Hazel Park pushed its dual record to 5-0 and looked for an unbeaten dual season after whipping Thurston, 27-15.

There were two draws in the meet and Hazel Park won six events.

★ ★ ★

The Northern matmen last night trimmed Berkley, 30-11, as PNH's Bruce Tippin scored the only fall in the match. The Huskies' reserves also won, 36-5.

The Northern squad has won all three of its dual meets.

Waterford Kettering, meanwhile, brought its mark to 2-4 by nipping L'Anse Creuse, 22-19.

Cranbrook dropped its third straight dual meet as Northville took a 34-18 decision by winning the first five matches.

HAS STREAK — John Hellner, Walled Lake's 138-pound wrestler, has a winning streak of 15 straight going since last season after his triumph last night against Inkster's Del Glaze, 10-0.

Rochester Rips Troy; Clawson Slugs Avondale

Dragons Shake Slump by Rallying to Take Madison's Eagles

Rochester's winning streak is growing; Lake Orion's losing spell has ended; Avondale's woes have increased; and Warren Cousino's control of the race is strengthened.

This tells the story of the Oakland A League after another full night of league action Tuesday.

Rochester, after losing its first three tilts of the season, made it four wins in a row by whipping Troy, 65-48; Lake Orion, 0-6 prior to last night, dumped Madison, 55-51.

Avondale, once 3-0, now has lost three of its last four games after last night's 92-47 drubbing at Clawson. Cousino's young Patriots won their ninth straight by nipping runner-up Fitzgerald, 61-59.

SEE-SAW

At Rochester, the lead changed hands seven times before the host Falcons took a 31-29 intermission advantage.

Troy started the third period by jumping to a 35-31 edge, only to see Rochester tie it. Dan Ludwick then made it 37-35 for the winners and they never trailed again.

Thirteen players scored in Clawson's rout of Avondale in which the Trojans neeted 37 field goals. The visiting Yellow Jackets were down, 48-21, at halftime.

The victory pushed Clawson past Avondale in the standings with a 4-2 log.

Madison was up, 48-47, with 1½ minutes; but Lake Orion's invading Dragons fought back to knot the score at 50-all. Then Bill Foss put Lake Orion ahead with a field goal.

★ ★ ★

The Eagles' attempt for the tying bucket missed and Lake Orion gained control of the rebound. Its successful stall drew foul shots and the Dragons padded the margin. Three of the winners finished in double figures.

Utica Record Pushed to 5-0

Chieftains Five Scores 58-55 Loop Triumph

Utica continued its winning ways in the Bi-County League last night by outlasting South Lake, 58-55.

★ ★ ★

Only five players on each side got into the scoring column, each team having three in double figures led by Bob Didur's 23 for Utica.

The Chieftains, 5-0, for the season, led 33-30 at halftime, but South Lake then pushed ahead in the third stanza, leading at one time by six points.

With 2:48 left in the game, Jim Jilek hit a jumper to knot the score 52-52 and a moment later he put Utica ahead 54-52 with another bucket.

Tigers' Iron Man Signs '66 Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Don Wert of the Detroit Tigers, who led American League third basemen in fielding in 1965, signed his 1966 contract Tuesday.

Wert, who played all 162 games and batted .261, became the 14th Tiger to come to terms.

Wert later received a plaque from the Detroit chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America after being named the Tiger of the Year by the group.

★ ★ ★

Willie Horton, who hit 29 home runs and was second in the AL with 104 runs batted in, was named the Most Exciting Player to appear in Tiger Stadium last year.

Anchor Bay Nips Almont; Dryden Routs Brown City

Almont's title hopes were dampened a little last night but Dryden remained in contention following Southern Thumb League action.

Anchor Bay (4-1) pinned a 64-62 setback on Almont (3-2) while Dryden (4-1) routed Brown City (1-4), 93-31.

In other Thumb action, league-leading Capac (5-0) knocked off Armada (0-5), 56-38, and New Haven (1-4) won its first game of the season by trimming Memphis (2-3), 51-47.

Down 21-11 after the first quarter, Almont battled back to take the lead (58-56) with four minutes left, but Anchor Bay collected a couple of quick buckets and added two free throws to regain the lead for good.

★ ★ ★

Mike Nye tossed in 20 points to spark Anchor Bay and teammate Jay Roland alled 12. Dick McEwan picked up 18 for Almont and teammate John Schulte added 16.

GUARD HURT

Armada suffered additional damage against Capac when one of its starting guards, Carl Reiter, was forced out of action with a shoulder separation. Reiter, who scored 12 points, will be out indefinitely.

Capac surged to a 14-11 first quarter and left the floor at halftime with a 27-20 lead. Robbie Barth led Capac with 13 points and Bill Evans added 12.

Ken White tossed in 22 points and Dennis Hilliker added 17 in Dryden's easy victory. Joe Murray paced Brown City with 10.

Ortonville '5' Dumps Byron

Black Hawks Roll to 81-68 Triumph

Ortonville's Black Hawks stayed a game back of the leaders in the Genesee Suburban C Conference last night by knocking off Byron, 81-68.

The win raised the Hawks' record to 5-2 and gave them a 3-2 mark in league play. Lake Fenton and Hamady share the lead with 4-1 records, and the Hawks entertain Hamady Friday night.

Four players wound up in double figures for Ortonville. Jim Munsil led the way with 19 markers, followed by Bob Perry (17), Wayne Brosseau (16) and Barrie Hawley (14).

Rick Cole tossed in 21 points and Bryan Orr collected 16 for the losers.

Ortonville led 37-32 at halftime, and after losing a point to Bryon in the third quarter, collected 26 points in the closing frame to put the game on ice.

Philadelphia Group Advises Dome Stadium

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Stadium Advisory Committee recommended Tuesday that the city of Philadelphia build a retractable-domed, all-purpose sports stadium similar to the Astrodome in Houston, Tex.

The committee, comprised of the community's business leaders, said the domed stadium would cost more than the $25 million provided in a public-approved bond issue—but added it would be worth it.

Driver Injured in Track Spill

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A pile-up in the eighth race at Windsor Raceway Tuesday night sent Michigan harness driver Paul Andersen to a hospital here with a broken ankle.

The accident occurred in the home stretch when Tecumseh Chief, closing in on the leader, Star Chief, put his foot through the wheel of a Star Chief's sulky.

Doris Adios, coming up behind, veered right to try to avoid the tangle and Andersen's horse, Battle Royal, collided with Doris Adios.

None of the four horses finished and Adair Boy, running behind them moved up on the inside to win and return $63.50.

Koufax Keeps Striking Out Foes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Pitching great Sandy Koufax struck out the opposition in sweeping another national award. He was voted the Male Athlete of the Year for 1965 in the annual poll conducted by The Associated Press.

The Los Angeles Dodgers' star collected 224 first-place votes of 303 ballots cast by sports writers and sportscasters in the year-end poll.

★ ★ ★

Sandy heard the News in San Diego, where he is following his favorite off-season hobby, golf. He was entered in the pro-amateur event today which precedes the San Diego Open Tournament.

By coincidence, the handsome southpaw was also here to receive another award, that of California Athlete of the Year for 1965 in a state poll conducted each year by The Associated Press.

SECOND PLACE

Second in the poll for 1965 was Princeton basketball star Bill Bradley. On the basis of three points for first place, two for second and one for third, Sandy received 778 points and Bradley 153.

In order behind these two were U.S. Open golf champion Gary Player, professional football stars Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns and rookie Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, baseball's Willie Mays, shotputter Randy Matson, halfback Mike Garrett of the University of Southern California, heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and track star Michel Jazy of France.

★ ★ ★

Koufax had a 26-8 won-lost record, plus two vital victories in the World Series against Minnesota, set a major league strikeout record of 383 and also hurled his fourth no-hitter, a perfect game.

Booth Homes Trims Champs

All-Stars' Five Hands Packers 95-60 Loss

Roger and Gary Hayward connected for 20 points apiece Tuesday night and Booth Homes coasted to a 67-47 win over The Champs in city men's recreation basketball play.

The other half of the Kennedy JHS twin bill found the All-Stars trimming The Packers, 95-60, to take undisputed possession of fifth place in the American League race.

For the second straight date, a conflict at Madison JHS prevented the scheduled double-header there from being played.

Booth's victory was its sixth in a row and gave the home builders a two-game lead in the first-place fight.

BALANCE

Four players were in twin figures for The All-Stars. Ed Quirk of The Packers tied the winners' Willie Harsten for game honors with 21 points each but he didn't have the added help.

All-Stars' Carl Arnold and John Hooper contributed 19 and 16, respectively.

Tonight, there are city league twin bills at Pontiac Northern (American League) and Lincoln JHS (International League).

State Skater Guns for Olympic Berth

BAY CUTY (AP) — Ice skater Terry McDermott, only U.S. gold medall winner in the 1964 Olympics' skating, is hopeful of making the U.S. team again for the 1968 World Games.

At this early date, McDermott has no other plans for major competition except for racing in his home state of Michigan. He'll try next year for the next Olympics team.

McDermott, 25-year-old barber who won the 500-meter event in 0:40.1 in the '64 Olympics, said Tuesday he will not compete for a place on the U.S. team for the world championships in Europe in February.

"I might go if they choose me," he said. But he said he doubted that inasmuch as team members are required to race in all Olympic-style four events, including the 1,000, 5,000 and 10,000 meters as well as the 500.

U.S. OPEN MEET

He intends to race in the 500 at a U.S. Open meet in Flint, Mich., Feb 4-6 which will help to determine the U.S.team for the world championships.

"I'm trying now to get in shape," McDermott said at his home in suburban Essexville. "If I can make a respectable time, I'll be satisfied."

★ ★ ★

McDermott finished second last Sunday in the senior men's class of the Central Michigan Speedskating Championships at Bay City.

Winner Eddie Bertrand, 18, of Detroit, captured both the 880 and mile races after McDermott won the 220 in :18.4 and the 440 in :38.0. McDermott's time in the 440 was compared with the state record of:35.6 which he holds.

"I skated only three times last week," McDermott said, "and that was the first time I've been on skates this season.

"W haven't had any ice and, besides, I've been busy in the shop (his barber shop) and didn't have time to get out on my bike."

McDermott said, "I felt good in the short races, but I was wobbing in the 880 and nearly fell down in the mile."

His training background during past months includes an evening jog around the block, some weightlifting sessions and basketball games last summer.

MORE TRAINING

McDermott plans a more rigid training schedule to prepare for the Olympic-style skating meet at Flint.

Some 80 - 100 skaters from throughout the United States are expected to enter the Flint contest.

Results of this meet are expected to determine the make-up of the United States team which will face a Canadian squad in a dual meet at Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, in Canada Feb. 12-13.

Men will skate in 500, 1,500, 3,000 and 5,000-meter events at the Flint meet. Women will compete in 500, 1,000, 1,500 and 3,000 meter trials.

The meet will be run on natural ice at the Kearsley Lake golf course at Flint.

U.S. Cities Set to Bid for Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Olympic Committee will study bids this week-end of five American cities seeking to hold the 1972 Summer Olympic Games and three applying for the Winter Games of the the same year.

The 1968 Summer Games are scheduled in Mexico City with the Winter Games going to Grenoble, France.

★ ★ ★

The Olympic headquarters here announced Tuesday th presentations would be made to the U.S. Committee Saturday morning by Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and St. Louis, all wanting the Summer Games.

The three seeking the Winter Games are Lake Placid, N.Y.; Salt Lake City, Utah, and Anchorage, Alaska.

LATE SATURDAY

After the presentation of these cities, the committee board of directors will decide later Saturday afternoon which of the cities to support in the bidding before the International Olympic Committee.

The committee will continue its sessions through Sunday but a spokesman said only routine matters were on the business agenda.

Lindsay Returns as Wings Knock Off Flags, 4-1

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — Ted Lindsay skated temporarily out of his retirement niche to score once as the Detroit Red Wings defeated the Port Huron Flags 4-1 Tuesday night in an exhibition game.

Lindsay's marker came at 17:02 of the second period when he banged in the puck past Port Huron goalie Bob Sneddon on assists by Norm Ullman and Doug Barkley.

★ ★ ★

The veteran Lindsay, who played last year for the Red Wings of the National Hockey League after four years of retirement, is not playing in regular league games this year.

The Red Wings jumped off to an early goal by Floyd Smith at 3:53 of the opening period on assists by Ullman and Bryan Watson.

Snedden made 49 saves, and Red Wing goaltender Hank Bassen stopped only 14.

Bird Watchers See Uncommon Species

Seeing the unusual is something that usually happens when the Pontiac Audubon Club participates in the annual nationwide bird count.

This year the Conservation Department got into the act with an unusual sighting.

★ ★ ★

PAC members covered the fields and lakes in a 15-mile diameter with Lake Orion as the center on New Year's Day. A green-wing teal, robin, eastern meadowlark, common grackle, evening and pine grosbeaks, common redpoll and pine siskin were among the uncommon species sighted.

Howard Greene, district game supervisor at the Pontiac Lake conservation office, reported an albino mallard among the 2,740 waterfowl seen in Oakland County during the winter waterfowl count last week.

A total of 43 species of birds were observed by PAC members.

"This is the largest total which the club has seen during counts of the preceding seven years," said PAC president James E. Stevens of Utica. "The individual total of 2,847 was from 4,870 in 1964."

Stevens attributed this to a small number of starlings—361 compared to 1,208 in 1964—and English sparrows — 785 against 1,305 last year.

NORTHERN SPECIES

"The outstanding feature of this year's count was the rather common sighting of the more northern species such as the pine grosbeak, redpoll and pine siskin," said Stevens. "Although the weather was mild, 60 degrees on the day preceding the count, the birds seen did not tend to be the more southern birds as might be expected."

Stevens said that "although this year was expected to be an evening grosbeak year, only two flocks were sighted."

The green-wing teal, which should have been basking in the sunny south, was seen on Lake Orion in a group of mallards and black ducks.

Not included in the PAC New Year's Day total are 15 snow buntings seen by members during the national count period which starts around Christmas.

★ ★ ★

Greene reported that habitat biologist Tom Nederveld observed the albino mallard among some greenheads on Maceday Lake.

"The curly tail and other markings were quite clear," said Greene.

"White mallards are unusual, but we do get a cross between greenheads and black ducks on occasion and the result is a lot of white markings."

Nederveld also observed a lesser Canada goose on Maceday. The majority of geese seen were at Kent Lake.

★ ★ ★

Maany lakes still had open water when the count was made and this aided Greene and Nederveld. Normally at this time of year, the lakes would have been frozen over and the ducks and geese would have been concentrated on streams and other open waters where observation is difficult.

Following is the PAC and Conservation Department counts showing the number of each specie in parenthesis:

No Challenge for Auerbach

NBA's East Stars Win Handily

CINCINNATI (AP) — Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics is used to winning, but he likes a little challenge in it.

★ ★ ★

"There wasn't much of a challenge, was there?" said Auerbach after he coached the East to a lopsided 137-94 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association's 16th All-Star Game Tuesday night.

The only surprise was a second stringer — Adrian Smith of the Cincinnati Royals — winning the Most Valuable Player award. Smith, who at 6-foot-2 is one of the smallest players in the NBA, grabbed scoring honors with 24 points and took home a shiny, red convertible for being voted the MVP by sports writers.

★ ★ ★

"I told them to go out there and win the ball game, not worry about that car that was up for the most valuable player," said Auerbach, who gained his fourth straight victory as coach of the East squad, which now holds an 11-5 edge over the West in the annual classic.

The East, led by Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia and Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati, turned the game into a rout in the first quarter when they built an 18-point margin over the outclassed West team. The East led 63-36 at the half and was ahead by 33 points at the end of the third period, 101-64.

A disappointed Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, coach of the West team, said, "I haven't seen too many All-Star teams with the depth of the East team. They simply had too much personnel."

'Unusual' Canine Show at Northland

The Unusual Dogs of the World exhibit will open tomorrow at Northland Center and continue through Saturday.

Over 50 dogs will be on display in the dome on the main terrace from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Area dogs entered include an American water spaniel owned by Thomas Rutherford, Pontiac; a Borzoi and Afghan hounds and a Yorkshire terrier owned by John A. Pearson, Pontiac; a chow chow owned by William VanOver, Highland; and a Bavarian wolfhound owned by Virginia Soderber, Metamora.

Other unusual dogs will be a Nova Scotia duck tolling retriever, an Ibizan hound, a Catahoula leopard dog and a Shih Tzu.

Fishing Slow; Some Waters Still Unfrozen

Although Southeastern Michigan has been gripped by Old Man Winter's icy hands for the last five days, ice on some of the larger lakes still is treacherous.

Smaller lakes, however, are fairly safe and ice fishermen started getting out in good numbers last weekend. Results were far from encouraging.

★ ★ ★

Little and Holdridge lakes in the Holly recreation area produced fair catches of bluegills. A few crappies were taken at Deer lake. Pike fishing on Pontiac was slow.

It might be January, but boat fishermen were still getting out on the St. Clair River's north channel last weekend. And they were catching walleyes.

Perch have been hitting on small bays and cuts on Lake St. Clair, but ice is not thick enough for travel by car.

★ ★ ★

Rabbit hunters took advantage of the snow last weekend, but the bunnies took advantage of the nimrods by being absent. The take was small.

Expert Warns About Leisure Time

LANSING (AP) — A Michigan State University expert paints a rather frightening picture of our society in the near future — people with too much leisure and not enough know-how to use it.

The prediction comes from Louis Twardzik, a park and recreation specialist in the Department of Resource Development at MSU.

★ ★ ★

The misuse of leisure may result in a national crisis, Twardzik told the annual conference of the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association.

The next few years, he said, will mark the beginning of the end of industrial production processes which utilize large numbers of unskilled and semi-skilled workers and of all forms of hand and stoop labor in agriculture.

"The resulting number of leisure hours released will be difficult to comprehend," Twardzik stated.

"As a people we are largely untrained and unprepared to utilize large amounts of leisure."

In addition to the shorter work week, there is a growing trend toward earlier retirement. Medical advances are guaranteeing a longer life span and there is a growing population of oldsters.

"The importance of the leisure abundance and misuse problem is much greater than the chronic worry about five per cent of the working force being unemployed . . ." said the MSU expert.

NATIONAL SUICIDE

Twardzik then made one of his strongest statements.

"National suicide is threatened," he said, "if the meaningful use of leisure, that is recreation, remains largely a matter of acquiring additional natural resources or occasional efforts of voluntary community agencies.

"Someone, somehow, will have to teach us how to live in a world of leisure."

Twardzik called for creation of a system of public recreation departments throughout the state plus a state department of recreation and resources.

And he told the association that $1,062,500,000 should be spent by the federal, state and local governments for recreation purposes in Michigan during the next 10 years.

State Receives $403,000 for Fish, Game Programs

Final allotments totaling $403,000 in federal funds have been earmarked for Michigan's fish and game programs covering the 1965-66 fiscal year.

The latest grants-in-aid, which must be matched with one state dollar for every three federal dollars, supplement $548,000 which was apportioned to the state's wildlife improvement projects last July.

★ ★ ★

Together, the first and second allotments of federal wildlife funds provide Michigan with $951,000 as its share of $26 million which will be parceled out to the states for the current fiscal year.

Michigan's total figure, involving $242,000 for fish and $709,000 for game activities, is up $68,700 from a year ago.

The increase largely reflects a jump of 48,000 in deer license sales in 1964.

Distribution of the federal funds is based on each state's number of paid license holders and total land area as they relate to the nationwide totals.

The latest federal grants figure in the Conservation Department's wildlife improvement plans but they do not actually represent a source of ready cash.

In practice, the department spends its own money on approved wildlife programs and then is reimbursed with allocated federal funds for up to 75 per cent of the costs.

Funds for game work are provided by the Pittman-Robertson program which is supported by a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition. Those for fisheries improvements are made available through the Dingell-Johnson program from a similar tax on fishing tackle

Tip-Up Town Set at Houghton Lake

The ice on Houghton Lake has firmed up and so have the plans for this weekend's Tip-Up Town, U.S.A., Festival.

The annual event will get under way with a parade at 9:30 a. m. Saturday.

Festival officers feared last week that there would not be enough ice for the large number of shanties that compose Tip-Up Town on the ice. But sub-zero temperatures during the weekend and continued cold weather have helped.

Ice is expected to be eight to 12 inches thick. Cars, however, probably will be parked on the shore instead of the ice as in the past.

Bobcats Avoid Archers During Weekend Hunt

ONAWAY (UPI) — A record 90 archers turned out for the seventh annual Michigan bowhunters bobcat hunt during the weekend but only one bobcat cooperated.

★ ★ ★

Bill Whitehouse of Beaverton downed a 28-pound cat Saturday, the only bobcat killed during the two-day hunt.

Shoeless Burglar Took to His Heels

UNION, N.J. (AP) — A frightened thief found hiding in the closet of a home he apparently intended to rob was forced to flee empty-handed and barefoot.

Mrs. Michael Less said she found the intruder in her second-floor apartment and screamed for help. Her son-in-law, Michael Fitz, came running from his first-floor apartment. Fitz and the intruder grappled, the intruder fled, and Fitz was left the intruder's shoes.

Nearly 37 Years on Range

Wayne Back on Western Trail

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — All seems well in the movie world when John Wayne is making another Western.

THOMAS

He is doing just that now, costarring with Robert Mitchum in "Eldorado" for Paramount. The producer - director is Wayne's old buddy Howard Hawks, the lean, sagacious moviemaker who created "Red River" and "Rio Bravo," as well as the veldt-Western, "Hatari."

★ ★ ★

Wayne clomped into Stage 15 one day after lunch to chat about his long career as he was being made up for the next scene. With or without makeup, he looked the way most men wish they would look at 58.

The actor conceded he has put in lengthy service in Westerns.

37 YEARS IN WESTERNS

"It'll be 37 years March 17," he recalled. That's when young Duke (nee Marion) Morrison, late of the University of Southern California football team, made connections with the film industry.

In 1929 he suffered a name change and was signed by tough, one-eyed Raoul Walsh to star in a large-scale Western, "The Big Trail."

★ ★ ★

"I nearly didn't make the picture," Wayne said. "I was in bed for three weeks with dysentery, and I was sick as a dog. Walsh said he could not wait much longer for me, so I got up and reported for work."

Wayne grinned ruefully as he remembered his first scene. He was supposed to ride alongside the covered wagons as character actor Tully Marshall came by on a mule and offered him a slug from his jug.

HAD TO SWALLOW IT

"That blankety-blank Tully Marshall," muttered Wayne. "It was full of the worst rot-gut I ever tasted, and I had to swallow it or ruin the scene.

"Ordinarily I wouldn't have minded so much. But my throat was so raw from heaving for three weeks that the liquor almost killed me."

★ ★ ★

Wayne survived; "The Big Trail" didn't.

"It was the first of the big-screen pictures," he explained. "Theaters had to buy new equipment and screens to show it, and nobody had any money. This was in the depression."

The Wayne career fell into eclipse, and he was banished to grinding out six-day Westerns. Not until the monumental "Stage Coach" in 1939 was his career revived. Since then he has ruled the range. This year he was again among the top 10 box-office stars, marking his 17th citation as a moneymaker.

Antistupidity Funds Plentiful

Alleviates Absurdities of Asinine Authorities

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The founder-director of the Beadle Bumble Fund — the modest trust which gives a helping hand to victims of official stupidities and the back of its hand to officialdom — issued a cease and desist plea today.

Stop sending money. The fund doesn't need it, thank you.

★ ★ ★

"It happens every time," said founder James Jackson Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News Leader. "We seek to alleviate some sordid situation and reduce the fund and what happens? More comes back than we send out."

★ ★ ★

Last week, Kilpatrick felt action by the fund was necessary when the school board in nearby Hanover County ordered Harper Lee's novel "To Kill a Mockingbird" banned from high school libraries. Immoral literature, said the board.

WRONG ASSUMPTION

Kilpatrick called the school board action "an asinine performance" in line with the quote from Charles Dickens' Beadle Bumble. In the book "Oliver Twist," Mr. Bumble called the law "an ass . . . an idiot" if the law supposed a wife acted under the direction of her husband.

The fund immediately offered to send to the first 50 Hanover High School pupils who requested it a free paperback copy of "Mockingbird." Thus far, the fund has sent 63 copies to requesting pupils — since in its high dudgeon over the school board action the fund overlooked the fact that Hanover had two high schools.

★ ★ ★

"We spent $45 for books and about $15 in postage," Kilpatrick said. "Thus far we've received $74.50 — mostly from Virginia but also from Nebraska, Georgia, Illinois.

"We want to keep the fund low — we're pretty solvent, really — but we're already $14.50 ahead."

FIRST PAYMENT

The fund was launched in 1959. Its first beneficence was picking up the fine of a Richmonder who strolled across the hood of an automobile which blocked an intersection while the driver chatted with a friend. The talking driver was an off-duty policeman.

Last week was the fund's first move against book censorship.

Ocean City, Md., calls itself the "White Marlin Capital of the World" because as many as 1,600 marlin have been caught off its shores in a single season.

Collecting of Bills Improved Last Year

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The American Collectors Association says consumer bill paying in the last quarter of 1965 was at the best level in two years.

The association's collection index climbed to 99.7 in the quarter. The index measures collectibility of overdue consumer debts, using 1953 conditions as the base of 100.

By JACOBY & SON

Jim Jacoby and Dr. John Fisher of Dallas just missed making this year's American team. They were so close that if Jim, sitting East, had held the king of spades on board 13 of the last round, they would have made the team.

JACOBY

The Jacobys discuss this key hand today.

Oswald: "It certainly was tough to miss the team due to the location of one key card. How about describing the play at your table?"

Jim: "Sam Stayman who was South, won the first heart in his hand. He led a club to dummy's king and led out the king of diamonds. Then he came back to his hand with a second heart and lost the club finesse. I led a club right back, whereupon Sam ran off the rest of dummy's clubs and discarded two spades.

"Then he overtook the king of hearts with his ace and cashed the ace and queen of diamonds. This left him with the tens of spades and diamonds. I was down to the jack of diamonds and six of spades while John was holding the king and jack.

"Since I had shown out on the second heart and John on the third diamond, Sam had a perfect count of the hand and knew that the location of the king of spades was exactly an even-money proposition.

"He led his ten of spades and John Fisher played the jack. This didn't help Sam at all. John would almost surely play the jack irrespective of whether his other card was the six or the king. Sam studied for five minutes and finally called for the queen from dummy."

Oswald: "All credit to Sam but it certainly was tough luck for you. You lost 10 International Match Points on the hand. You would have gained 14 had Sam gone wrong and the difference would have put you on the team."

What do you do now?

A—Bid three no-trump. This is a slight overbid but the alternate two no-trump would be a slight underbid and we like the overbid with this fine hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of responding one spade, your partner responds one diamond to your one club opening. What do you do now?

State Medicare Direction Given to Blue Cross

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Blue Cross, the prepaid hospital plan, is going to have charge of Medicare's hospital benefits in Michigan.

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced the selection of Blue Cross Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Administration of the medical benefits under Medicare is to be decided on later.

Michigan has 675,000 residents who are 65 years old or older and thus eligible to Medicare benefits.

A spokesman for Blue Cross said it was not known whether Blue Cross would provide public information on Medicare.

Has Good Excuse

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — John Adams, clerk of the federal court here, mailed out 1,600 jury notices, from which he picked a panel of 36. But one notice was returned to him with the words "I am dead" written across it.

In Race to High Ground

Space Age Stocks Pace Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Aerospace defense issues, electronics and airlines were among gainers as the stock market churned ahead further into new high ground early this afternoon.

Defense and defense-related issues were in renewed demand as Wall Street anticipated that President Johnson's State of the Union address tonight would devote considerable emphasis to the Viet Nam Conflict.

Trading was very heavy and the tickers lagged as the Street again tried to cram into an abbreviated session all the dealings it did in the full days before the New York transit strike.

Rails moved into new high ground along with industrials but steels and oils showed scarcely any change while motors only managed a thinly higher edge on balance.

ISSUES SURGE

Chemicals, tobaccos, electrical equipments and drugs were ahead.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .7 at 366.6 with industrials up 1.3, rails up .3 and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .95 at 987.80.

Both averages were taking off from historic closing peaks made yesterday.

PRICES HIGHER

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was active.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds rose.

Million Indians See Shastri Cremation

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Leaders of India's ruling Congress party began discussing the political future today as the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was consigned to funeral flames by the holy Jumna River.

More than a million mourning Indians looked on as Shastri's eldest son, Hari Kishan, touched a blazing torch to the funeral pyre of sandalwood in accordance with Hindu rites.

★ ★ ★

A few moments before this final act, Shastri's successor, Prime Minister Gulzarilal Nanda, climbed the steps to the top of the pyre and stood silently, his face agonized with grief.

Standing nearby were Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and many other foreign representatives.

DISCUSS ELECTION

Despite their grief, Nanda and Uumaraswami Kamaraj, president of the Congress party, met early today to discuss election of a new parliamentary leader who traditionally is asked to form a new government.

There was no indication whether this meant that a challenge to Nanda was developing in the party. As home minister he was No. 2 man in Shastri's Cabinet, and his elevation after Shastri's death was automatic. At present he is believed likely to hold the top job until general elections next year.

At least three strong political figures are known to want the post of prime minister. They are Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, information minister and daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, and right-wing leader Morarji Desai.

Nanda served for five days as interim prime minister after Nehru's death 19 months ago but was pushed aside in favor of Shastri.

Shastri died early Tuesday in the Soviet city of Tashkent, apparently of a heart attack, after an exhausting week of peace negotiations with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. The cremation climaxed a mass outpouring of grief for the unassuming little leader who in 19 stormy months had won the admiration and affection of India's troubled millions.

"Long live Lal Bahadur Shastri" welled up from the vast throng as the funeral procession passed along the crowded route to the cremation site. The crowd stretched as far as the eye could see and appeared as large as that at the funeral of Nehru in May 1964.

The throng surged across the route at one point, forming a wall between the flower-decked gun carriage carrying Shastri's body and the cars in which Kosygin and Humphrey were riding.

Secret Service guards quickly surrounded Humphrey's car and Soviet guards encircled Kosygin. Club-swinging Indian police closed in, pushing back the crowds seeking the special grace they believe one achieves by gazing at the body of an exalted person.

Shastri's body had lain in state all night at his official residence at No. 10 Jan Path Road, with his weeping widow, Lalita, keeping a last vigil.

As thousands of Indians streamed by, Mrs. Shastri sat next to her husband's body, caressing his face and chest.

More than 100 persons were seriously injured when a stampede erupted among the thousands of mourners waiting to see the body.

There were other injuries as people fell from trees, roofs and other vantage points, and as police whacked away with their clubs to keep the route of the procession open.

The funeral was steeped in the ritual of Hinduism, the religion of Shastri and the majority of north Indians.

★ ★ ★

As her husband's body was carried away, Mrs. Shastri took from her wrists the bangles Indian women love to wear and placed them on his chest. This signified that she would renounce her worldly possessions and retire from public view.

As high military officers started to lift the body and place it on the gun carriage, Mrs. Shastri flung herself across her husband's chest. She finally was restrained by her sons.

Murder Trial Is Ordered in Area Slaying

A 27-year-old escaped convict from the North Carolina State Penitentiary yesterday was ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Jay D. Mead, a former Avon Township resident, stood mute to the charge yesterday when he was arraigned by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Mead is charged with the fatal shooting of Eugene W. Franzel, 24, of 3494 Auburn, Auburn, Avon Township, during an argument Oct. 23, 1965, in J's Bar, Auburn and Rochester.

No date was scheduled for Mead's trial. He was returned to the Oakland County Jail.

Mead escaped from the southern prison Oct. 3 after serving five months of a 12- to 16-year sentence for armed robbery, according to the sheriff's department.

Author, 2 Astronauts in Jaycees' 'Top 10'

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An author paralyzed from the neck down and an astronaut who took a stroll in space are among those named by U.S. Jaycees as outstanding young men of 1965.

★ ★ ★

The author, Richard Chaput of Nashua, N.H., was paralyzed by polio when he was 9 years old. Now 28, Chaput uses a special typewriter which he activates with his tongue.

★ ★ ★

The space walker is Edward H. White II who was named along with fellow astronaut Charles Conrad Jr.

★ ★ ★

Others cited are Presidential Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla.; space scientist Donald D. Williams of Ingelwood, Calif.; educators Arthur E. Turner of Midland, Mich., and Frederick P. Whiddon of Mobile, Ala.; egg producer Fred Rodgers Adams Jr. of Jackson, Miss., and Broadway composer - lyricist Jerry Herman.

AWARDS CONGRESS

They will be honored at an awards congress Friday and Saturday in St. Paul, Minn.

★ ★ ★

Chaput made use of private tutoring to develop his writing style and has had several articles and short stories published. His autobiography, "Not to Doubt," was published in 1964.

★ ★ ★

White, 35, became the first American to leave his spacecraft in flight, spending 21 minutes outside Gemini 4 on June 3.

Turner, 34, founded Northwood Institute in Midland, Mich., six years ago. In that time, enrollment has increased 850 per cent and assets have grown from less than $100,000 to more than $6 million.

Greyhound to Buy 100 New GM Buses

GMC Truck & Coach Division will build 100 new multilevel buses for Greyhound Lines, at a purchase price of $4.7 million.

★ ★ ★

H. Vance Greenslit, president of Greyhound, said the purchase is in line with the firm's policy of continual modernization of its fleet.

★ ★ ★

A total of 600 new buses will be added to the line this year.

The new buses will be delivered in time for the peak summer travel months.

Construction Behind for Boston Building

BOSTON (AP) — The $19-million, 22-story Massachusetts state office building is set for full occupancy on April 1 — two months late — when the last of 21 state agencies and 3,200 employes are due to finish moving in.

The deputy administration commissioner, Walter C. O'Connell, said revisions in floor layout for some agencies held up work on four floors. The building is the first of a planned complex of state, federal and municipal buildings.

Lindsay Still Sees Hope of Transit Plan Harmony

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor John V. Lindsay said today there was still a chance his proposals for ending the city's crippling transportation crisis would be accepted.

The 44-year-old mayor, bundled against the frigid 15-degree cold, told UPI as he headed for city hall that both sides in the 12-day old bus and subway strike had not flatly rejected his three-point proposal.

He said replies to his plan by the city Transit Authority (TA) and the striking 36,000-member Transport Workers Union (TWU) were "not definite nor conclusive."

The new Republican mayor offered the three proposals for getting the buses and subways moving again in a television report Monday night.

★ ★ ★

He suggested the three mediators offer suggestions of their own on ending the strike, bringing in an outside fact-finding panel to draw up proposals, or having both sides submit the matter to arbitration.

NO DISCLOSURE

Lindsay, accompanied on the blustery walk to his office only by his personal detective, said he had talked with the mediation panel this morning but would not disclose what was said.

The TA and the TWU reported last night they would not accept Lindsay's proposals.

But the mayor held out hope for his plan, saying only that the information given him by both sides and by the mediators was "very complicated."

★ ★ ★

Asked why he was walking from his Hotel Roosevelt suite to city hall, Lindsay replied: "Because it's cold . . . and the people have to."

OPTIMISM UP

Optimism for a settlement had been aroused yesterday when AFL-CIO President George Meany predicted an end to the strike "in a day or two."

Following the report that both sides had turned down the mayor's proposals, chief mediator Dr. Nathan P. Feinsinger said his panel would make its own recommendations to Lindsay on ending the walkout.

★ ★ ★

The cold weather brought havoc to motorists coming into the city. Heavy delays were reported as scores of cars broke down because of the weather.

Fire Damage Listed at $1,250 to House

A fire, started when clothes hanging near a water heater ignited, caused an estimated $1,450 damage to the Patrick Gallagher home at 493 Tallahassee last night.

Pontiac firemen listed damage at $1,250 to the one-story frame structure plus $200 to the contents.

Detroiter Is Killed as Car Strikes Tree

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Byrd Finley, 50, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when his car ran off M53 and struck a sign near Hall Road about 5:40 p.m.

Shelby Township police said Finley apparently fell asleep. He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Removal of Tonsils Seldom Necessary

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

I doubt that any recognized medical authority can explain why an operator should attempt to "get every bit of tonsil," except in case of malignancy (cancer) of the tonsil.

Notwithstanding the pretenses of the ever-ready operators, everyday observation and studies recorded in medical literature show that in many, if not most, instances, portions of tonsil remain in the throat after tonsillectomy.

In view of this fact I ask why impose on the child with enlarged tonsils a hazardous major operation in place of tonsiliotomy?

Tonsillotomy is as safe as extraction of a tooth. It requires no more anesthesia than does extraction of a tooth. It is instantaneous. It was formerly the standard procedure for the treatment of (1) mouth breathing, (2) impairment of hearing, (3) frequently recurring sore throat (tonsillitis) and "colds," (4) interference with swallowing—due to enlargement or hypertrophy of the tonsils.

* * *

The effects of tonsillotomy were as good as the effects of tonsillectomy — and this minor operation rarely if ever proved fatal.

PORTION REMOVED

Tonsillotomy removes the obstructing portion of tonsil—in a jiffy—and that's all the circumstances warrant.

The trick specialists introduced tonsillectomy in the first decade of the twentieth century and, thanks to the timidity of the general profession, developed it into a veritable craze in the second and third decades.

They were resourceful at explaining the frequent fatalities — "cardiac arrest," "aspiration," "shock," "ether pneumonia," "atelectasis," "embolism," etc. These sad accidents were of course unforseeable — implied a fault of the patient's.

* * *

Late in the twenties the craze began to wane but there were still far too many tonsillectomies right up through the late forties.

OTHERS HELPED

The scandal of tonsillectomy (I've been pushed plenty for my part in exposing it) cannot be charged entirely to the trick specialists. Failure of the general practitioners to inveigh against such frenzied surgery contributed a good deal to it.

Maybe I'm getting too far ahead, speaking of tonsillectomy in the past tense. The reports I receive from readers make me well aware that this atrocity is still being perpetrated on defenseless children in some parts of the country.

Most children 2 to 6 years old have three or more so-called "colds" a year. Children 6 to ten years of age have less frequent "colds," and still less frequent years of age.

* * *

This natural decline in the frequency of "colds" as age advances must be remembered when the effect of removal of tonsils and adenoids is considered.

* * *

In some instances frequent tonsillitis and sore throat may be due to a focus of infection in the lymphoid tissue (tonsil or adenoid) and removal of tonsils and removal of tonsils and adenoids will fulfill the hope of patient and physician.

But such cases are exceptional. As a rule the enlarged tonsils and-or adenoids of children harbor no infection.

U.S., Thais Deny Story on Laos Invasion

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — U.S. and Thai officials denied today a report by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that troops from Thailand have entered neighboring Laos to help fight the Communists.

"It is 1,000 per cent incorrect," said a spokesman for Marshal Dawee Chulasap, chief of staff of the armed forces.

* * *

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said: "We have nothing to add to statements made in Washington that the reports are totally without foundation."

Richard Dudman, a Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, reported Tuesday that substantial numbers of Thai troops entered Laos, possibly to prevent Communist agents from contacting pro-Communists in Thailand or to block the North Vietnamese supply route along the Ho Chi Minh trail.

NEAR BORDER

The Thai spokesman said the Post-Dispatch may have erred in reporting an anti-Communist drive being pressed in Thailand's northeastern region near the Laotian border by 800 border police.

* * *

The spokesman emphasized that Thai troops could not be dispatched into Laos without the approval of the Laotian government.

"We have not made such a request," he added.

Auto Industry Gets Its Turn

Spokesman Slated at Iowa Car Safety Quiz

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Automobile makers had their inning today at a car safety hearing called by Iowa Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scalise.

But on the hearing docket the manufacturers had no representation to match the procession of witnesses who, for two days, have had something to say about stiffer safety requirements.

* * *

The only scheduled spokesman for the auto builders was Karl M. Richards, a representative of the Automobile Manufacturers Association, who presented written statements from industry on what is being done to make cars safer.

Concluding Tuesday's session was Ralph Nader of Winsted, Conn., an attorney and safety features author.

Nader, who served as adviser to a U.S. Senate auto safety investigation, recommended Iowa join New York in developing a safety design for cars. He also recommended:

—Manufacturers be required to file with state authorities all service bulletins notifying dealers of car defects and needed corrections, and to file annual reports telling what safety improvements have been made.

—All cars purchased by state and local government agencies be required to meet safety standards beyond those now set by the federal government.

* * *

Scalise said the purpose of the hearings was to determine whether Iowa needs executive or legislative action to force car makers to install safety equipment on new cars sold in this state.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. William Farrell who passed away January 12, 1953.
If one could speak to her today,
Laugh with her in the same old way;
And hear her voice or see her smile,
Then life indeed would be worthwhile.
—Sadly missed by her husband and daughter, Mr. William Farrell and Edna Ferguson of Muskegon, Mich.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR husband and father, Mr. Arthur Foisy, who passed away 4 years ago, January 2.
Your memory is a keepsake,
With which we'll never part;
Though God has you in His keeping,
We still have you in our hearts.
—Sadly missed by wife, Louise and family.

Play Dispute Reverberating

Author Faces Loss of Teaching Credentials

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The echoing meow of a mythical pussycat is bouncing about this seaside community, causing plenty of trouble for a young high school teacher who wrote the play "A Cat Called Jesus."

Geri Turner Davis, 31, a pretty blonde drama and speech teacher, faces possible loss of her teaching credentials because of the controversial play — which she says she wrote only for her own amusement on a rainy afternoon.

★ ★ ★

"I just wrote it to pass the time," she said. "After I finished, I stuck it away in a file and forgot about it — until I read in the paper last winter about a one-act play tournament."

Her play won first prize in the tournament — and raised a storm of protest.

MISCONDUCT ALLEGATIONS

Next Tuesday Mrs. Davis is scheduled to confront the State Education Department's credentials committee on allegations of professional misconduct.

Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, said that the committee decided to investigate Mrs. Davis last spring, and that he agreed with the decision.

Rafferty said he had found passages of the play of sufficient "profanity, obscenity and blasphemy" to warrant an investigation.

Mrs. Davis and her husband, Bruce, a history teacher, have more to worry about. Since the controversy began they have received abusive telephone calls and intemperate letters, and vandals have attacked their residence, they reported.

RATHER INSIGNIFICANT

The cat in Mrs. Davis play is rather insignificant — except in the title — she said.

The play, set in a small, mythical North Carolina jailhouse, is about a rather unattractive girl, daughter of the sheriff, and an imprisoned Negro youth.

★ ★ ★

The prisoner, Cleo, is to be executed for the murder of a rich, amoral Caucasian woman who had been his patron and lover. In the play, the sheriff's daughter's attitude changes from mocking to compassion, and, Mrs. Davis said, that's what it is all about — compassion.

"I didn't name the cat Jesus," Mrs. Davis said. "Eula Mae did." Eula Mae, she said, is an unsympathetic character in the play, owner of the cat.

New Yorkers' 'Soles' Seen Gripped by Subway Strike

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — We insist there were some amusing angles to the Subway Strike. We foresaw some recruiting posters like this:

"Don't be a coward and enlist for military service abroad. Be a real hero. Stay in New York and join up as a commuter or motorist willing to give your life in the daily battle of Penn Station or the siege of Lincoln Tunnel! Darryl Zanuck is going to film 'The Longest Wait' on historic, bloody 59th St. bridge!"

WILSON

In a cab, Broadway Lee Solters heard a woman who was sharing a taxi with three others, suddenly yell:

"Stop, driver! Somebody in this cab has picked my pocket!"

It was probably a passenger who'd left the taxi a block behind. You have to hand it to our NY muggers. In adversity, such as a subway strike, they move into cabs, but are naturally a little resentful of having to pay more taxi fare than subway fare while pocket-picking. However, they can probably charge it off as illegitimate business expense.

While at the Latin Quarter watching the Mickey Rooney show (to see the beautiful white body of the stripper Lisa Duran who's sexational), I was urged to present the Wilson Walkers' Medal every day to some hiker who's done a remarkable job of getting to work or an appointment.

Andy McFarlane, managing editor of the Toronto Telegram, here for a seminar figured he should win. He walked from Columbia University at 116th St. to Sardi's at 44th St., about 72 blocks, in approximately 1 hour 10 minutes, for a block a minute average. He's likely to become the new Nurmi.

Formosa to Honor Ill-Fated Defectors

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A monument is to be erected in Formosa to the three Chinese Communist sailors who defected to the offshore island of Matsu Sunday, then perished when the seaplane carrying them to Formosa was shot down over the Formosa Strait by Chinese Communist MIGs.

This was announced in a report to a closed session of the Legislative Yuan by Defense Minister Chiang Ching-kuo, elder son of President Chiang Kai-shek.

The defectors, escorting officers and crew of the seaplane have been given up for dead.

Is Jealousy Too Great? Take a Pill

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Is your spouse insanely jealous? Now you can tell her, or him, to go take a pill.

Dr. Horace B. Mooney, University of California at Los Angeles psychiatrist, said today he has successfully treated 12 cases of irrational, imaginary jealousy with phenothiazine drugs, widely used for mental ailments such as schizophrenia (split personality).

Mooney reported his studies in a recent issue of the British Journal of Psychiatry. In an interview, he said the treatment was used only in cases of intense jealousy for which there was no justification.

He said it was not a permanent cure.

★ ★ ★

The drugs can make some persons drowsy, cause a gain in weight, or even result in a drop in the count of germ-fighting white blood cells. Because of this, many patients eventually discontinued the drug, Mooney said, and fits of jealousy returned.

One man, he said, dropped treatment after seven months, grew increasingly jealous of his wife and finally killed himself.

Others found their attacks could be controlled with small maintenance doses.

Ypsilanti Fireman Dies Hunting Child

YPSILANTI (AP) — A Fire Department captain lost his life Tuesday in a blaze at an apartment unit.

Fellow firemen said Capt. Aaron H. Carson, 49, the victim, collapsed in smoke and heat while checking an erroneous report a child was trapped in the apartment.

The fire was at the two-story apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doss, parents of seven children. The fire reportedly started in a mattress.

Requirements Eased for Getting State Jobs

LANSING (AP) — The Civil Service Commission suspended Michigan residence and U.S. citizenship requirements Tuesday in a bid to ease recruiting for state jobs.

Until now, applicants for competitive examinations had to live in Michigan for six months and hold U.S. citizenship for a year.

2-Day Session by Crime Panel Will End Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson's crime commission meets today to determine the scope and direction of its work.

The session winds up a two-day conference. The 19-member commission, headed by Atty. Gen. Nicholas B. Katzenbach is scheduled to report back to the President in January, 1967.

Since its first meeting last September, members have worked in small groups to compile proposals for the coming year. Members include former Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and prominent legal and law enforcement figures.

GOP Districters Want Confrontation

LANSING (AP) — Republican apportionment commissioners asked the State Supreme Court Tuesday to conduct a GOP-Democrat confrontation on each side's legislative redistricting plans.

Their 11-page brief was in answer to a Democratic statement filed with the court Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The bipartisan commission deadlocked New Year's Eve after 60 days of haggling. The court had reopened apportionment as part of its action on a suit challenging the one-man, one-vote so-called Austin-Kleiner plan approved by the court in 1964 after another commission deadlock.

Republicans told the court they could offer districting plans which could, respectively:

—Provide less population variance among districts but more compactness and adherence to political boundaries than the existing plan.

★ ★ ★

—Provide population variance only half as great as in the existing House plan and one-third as great as in the present Senate plan.

—Provide significant compactness while holding to a population disparity smaller than that of any state whose redistricting has been approved since the U. S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote decision.

The rose is one of the oldest cultivated flowers. In 600 B.C., the Greek poet Sappho called this plant "queen of flowers." Cleopatra bathed in rose water, and probably slept in a mattress stuffed with rose petals.

Can't Predict Adult Success

Grades Reflect Pupil Progress

By LESLIE J. NASON

Are school grades really important?

Do "C" students eventually make more money than "A" students?

It is true that a small percentage of "C" students do eventually make more money than many "A" students. But this does not mean that grades should be abandoned. It is not even a valid criticism of the grading system.

A grade is not supposed to be a predictor of adult success. It is only the measurement of a student's success in the immediate course. It is determined by the quality of the student's homework and scores on examinations designed to measure his knowledge of the subject matter.

A student's grade point average in one level of education is a good predictor of his success or failure in the next higher level. To a large extent, a pupil's grades in elementary school guide the school counselor in whether to encourage him to take college preparatory subjects in high school.

★ ★ ★

A student's grade point average in high school subjects is the best single indication of his probable success in college. Consequently, his high school record determines the quality of college he may attend as well as the type of study he will be allowed to pursue.

UNDERGRADUATE

His grades in undergraduate college work determine to a large extent his opportunities to do graduate work or to enter professional schools such as engineering, law or medicine.

In all of these decisions, grades are good predictors of future success. However those who attempt to use college grades to predict the degree of success in adult life are quite often disappointed.

Dr. Donald P. Hoyt, coordinator of research activities for the American College Testing Program, has just completed a review of many studies of the relationship between college grades and adult achievement. He concludes "that college grades have no more than a very modest correlation with adult success. . . ."

★ ★ ★

Dr. Hoyt did find, however, that eminent success came more often to eminently successful students. He also found that those students graduating cum laude turned out to be more creative in later life than the average students, and those graduating magna cum laude outstripped all other college graduates in this regard.

HIGH AVERAGES

Engineering graduates with high grade point averages excel according to the criteria of success used. However, after the first five years their superiority over the average students seems to disappear.

Dr. Hoyt does not suggest that grades be abandoned, even though they cannot be used as predictors of ultimate success.

They do measure, as best teachers know how, a student's progress up the educational ladder. They also give the student assurance that his efforts are successful or a warning that he must improve.

Teen Drinking, Spending Tied

By Science Service

EDINBURGH, Scotland — As a result of increased spending money, teen-agers are engaging in excessive drinking, Dr. G. M. Carstairs, professor of psychological medicine at Edinburgh University, has observed in a book just published here.

Some people still in their 20s are presenting the clinical picture of severe alcoholism, he finds.

Formerly, alcoholism was especially associated with poverty and squalor, but now it has spread to the more wealthy.

The average family spends under two dollars a week on drink, about 4 per cent, of its weekly expenditure. In an alcoholic's house, the proportion could easily become 10 times as much.

★ ★ ★

"Alcoholism is an illness," Dr. Carstairs said. "It is a grave disorder, often fatal. We frown on drunkards but are suspicious of teetotalers. Repeated minimal intoxication is expected of our leading figures."

Another Waterford Death

Boy, 3, Killed in Fire

Mother Tries Twice to Save Son in Room

Fire Official Blames Playing With Matches in Fatal Home Blaze

By HUDSON WILLSE

A 3-year-old boy perished in a $6,000 house fire at 4839 Cass Elizabeth yesterday afternoon and became Waterford Township's sixth fire fatality in the last two weeks.

Killed in the blaze was Thomas Reed, one of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. John Reed. Smoke inhalation was ruled the cause of death.

Twice the mother attempted to rescue her young son but was thwarted by heat, smoke and flames.

Township Fire Marshal Russell See theorized the boy was playing with matches in an upstairs bedroom of the 1½ story log-construction home.

Several burned matches were discovered in the room.

One of the matches apparently ignited bedding, eventually spreading flames to a plaster board wall and ceiling.

VICTIM FOUND

The victim, reportedly not burned, was found on the opposite side of the room by fire fighters who were summoned by a neighbor at 1:47 and arrived at the scene in five minutes.

According to firemen, Mrs. Reed put Thomas and his 2-year-old sister, Nancy, to bed at 1; Thomas upstairs and the younger child in a downstairs room.

Mrs. Reed took a nap about 1:20. She was awakened by smoke at 1:42 and on two separate occasions tried to save Thomas.

★ ★ ★

In between, she carried Nancy to safety and told a neighbor to notify the fire department.

BEDROOM ABLAZE

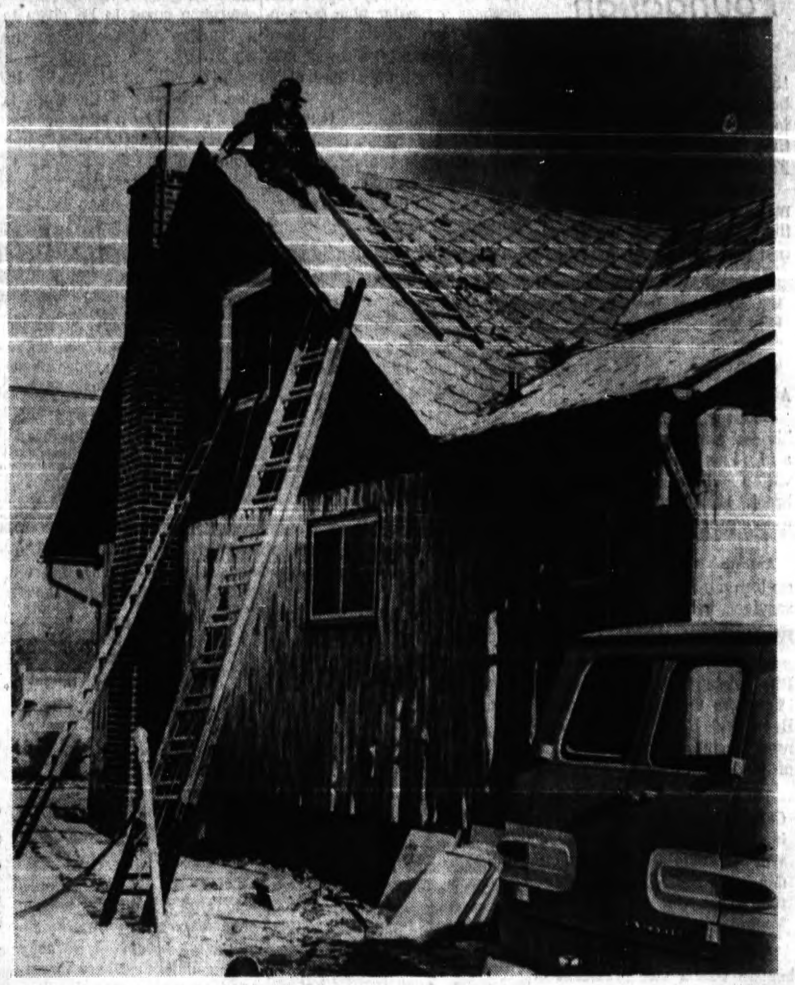
Much of the damage was confined to the large upstairs bedroom. See estimated damage to the $13,000 home at $4,500 to the building and $1,500 to the contents.

Reed, an employe of Personal Finance Corp., Lake Orion, said the home is insured.

The Reed home is located about a mile from a house at 3890 Arcadia Park where four children died in another fire last Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The series of fire deaths started Dec. 29 when Mrs. William N. Pipe died in a blaze at her home at 2451 Voorhies.



Pontiac Press Photo

FATAL FIRE — With smoke rising in the background, a Waterford Township fireman helps to extinguish a fire at 4839 Cass-Elizabeth yesterday afternoon. Three-year-old Thomas Reed died in the blaze, which lifted the township's fire death toll to five this year. It equalled the total number killed in Waterford Township fires the previous three years. Fire Marshal Russell See said the rash of fires is the worst he has experienced in his 12 years with the department.

'66 Legislature Opens Session at Noon Today

Offer Bills on Hunting, Expense Fund Boost for Key Lawmakers

LANSING (UPI) — The 1966 legislature was gaveled into session at noon today. Almost immediately, bills were offered that seem likely to spark future floor fights.

Among the first bills introduced, were those to increase the expense allowances of legislative leaders by up to 80 per cent, and to prohibit anterless deer hunting in the Upper Peninsula. Both proposals are controversial.

But public debate was saved for the future, as lawmakers retired into private caucus to discuss preliminary plans for the session.

One of the first chores is to lengthen the tentative schedule for the 1966 session.

With an estimated 1,500 bills left to dispose of from the 1965 session, and with at least an equal number expected to be introduced this session, lawmakers want to extend their work timetable from April 15 to about June 1.

JOINT RESOLUTION

The session adjournment date, plus a deadline for such activities as bill introduction, committee reports, and bill passage, are to be agreed upon by lawmakers in a joint resolution to be passed before other business is conducted.

Gov. Romney delivers his State-of-the-State message to a joint session in the House tomorrow at 11 a.m.

Romney will outline the present position of the state and recommend new legislation.

★ ★ ★

One new bill, introduced by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, would boost the expense allowances of majority and minority party leaders in the House and Senate by $2,000 a year. The allowances of assistant leaders would be upped $1,000 annually.

A second bill, by Sen. Joseph S. Mack, D-Ironwood, would eliminate anterless deer hunting for one year in the Upper Peninsula.

Mack, who blames the shooting of does and fawns for the poor 1965 deer season, said he would welcome an amendmnet to extend the prohibition to all of Michigan for one or two years.

LBJ Talks to Nation Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson goes before Congress tonight with a war and peace report expected to provide for continuing his "Great Society" domestic program.

In a State of the Union address to be carried by radio and television networks at 9 p. m. EST, Johnson planned to bring members up to date on his Viet Nam peace offensive aimed at starting negotiations with the Communists to end the Southeast Asia fighting.

There was no advance indication that he would be able to announce any response from a memorandum covering U. S. peace objectives passed directly to North Vietnamese representatives.

But while Radio Hanoi continued to berate the President's call for unconditional discussions, the absence of any formal public rejection of the memorandum stirred some hopes in Congress that there may be grounds for believing they might yet materialize.

A presidential pledge to continue the search for peace was expected to soften the grim possibility that the war may have FOUND ALIVE IN DEBRIS — A Brazilian woman is carried on a stretcher to a waiting ambulance yesterday after she was found under rock and mud in an area of Rio de Janeiro hit by floods and landslides resulting from the worst rain in 80 years. She had been buried 13 hours with the bodies of her husband and two of her children.

Murder Trial Continues in Area Knifing

The first-degree murder trial of a 16-year-old Waterford Township boy resumed this morning with the father of the slain victim returning to the witness stand to testify.

Dr. Frank Talbot, 43, of 2045 Watkins Lake, Waterford Township, yesterday afternoon had just started relating the events leading up to the death of his son, Jeffrey, 17, when the trial was adjourned for the day.

On trial for the fatal stabbing is Alan Ross Pearson Jr., 1127 Alhi.

The knifing occurred last June 27, outside the Talbot home during a fight between the two youths. According to Waterford Township police the fight had climaxed a feud over a girl.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Talbot testified that he and his son, along with a group of about 20 young people, were playing volleyball in an empty lot two doors from their home when a car with Pearson and a companion first drove up to the scene.

New Landslides Feared as Rio Deaths Reach 131

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Torrential rains threatened new landslides in Rio de Janeiro today. Authorities reported the known dead in two days of flood had reached 131. They said the toll might surpass 150.

An estimated 40 more deaths from floods were reported in nearby Niteroi, and other casualties were reported in the mountain resorts of Petropolis, Teresopolis and Cachoeira de Macacu.

Communications breakdowns prevented details reaching Rio.

The Rio Morgue was crowded with the bodies of 122 victims, and police believed more than 200 have perished in floods and slides set off by the worst downpour in the history of this 400-year-old city.

Nearly one foot of rain has fallen in the past day and the Weather Bureau foresaw no letup.

Authorities were unable to give an accurate estimate of the number of injured who jammed the city's hospitals or flocked to improvised dispensaries for first aid.

Hershey: Draft Not a Tool for Liberty Loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey says the draft can't be used to deprive an individual of his liberty.

★ ★ ★

Hershey spoke out Tuesday in another phase of his war of words with Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The argument began when several University of Michigan youths were stripped of their student deferments and reclassified 1A after a sit-in at the Ann Arbor, Mich., draft board.

The demonstrators also were convicted of trespassing under an Ann Arbor ordinance.

★ ★ ★

Hart started the dialogue by declaring: No court ever ruled that the Selective Service Act was violated, only Gen. Hershey. And he cites as his authority an executive order that the Justice Department says is nonexistent."

'65 Traffic Toll Seen Above '64

State Police Official Cites Report Delay

LANSING (AP) — Delayed death reports will push Michigan's 1965 traffic death toll above 1964, the State Safety Commission was told yesterday.

Capt. Donald Oates of the State Police Traffic and Safety Division also warned the commission that fatality reports for the first five months of this year most likely will soar above 1965.

The provisional death toll for 1965 was 2,109 fatalities. This was 11 below the 2,120 total for 1964.

Delayed death reports are sure to up this figure, Oates said.

★ ★ ★

Contributing to the high 1965 toll, Oates said, were identical figures of 33 persons killed in traffic accidents over both the Christmas and New Year's holiday periods.

START OF LAST YEAR

The first five months of last year, he reported, were all low fatality months.

Increased driving is almost sure to comtribute to higher death figures during the comparative months this year, he said.

The Highway Department reported that although figures are not yet complete, it already is estimating traffic volumes in the state during 1965 will be up 5½ per cent over 1964.

Traffic over the Straits of Mackinac bridge was up 23 per cent in November over the previous year, the department said, mostly because of an earlier deer season opener in the Upper Peninsula than in the Lower Peninsula.

Tax Cut Is Possible Despite Budget Hike

Despite a proposed record city budget of $9.2 million, Pontiac property owners may receive a tax cut of 40 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation, it was indicated last night.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren forecast the tax cut last night in presenting the 1966 budget as proposed. The City Commission ordered a public hearing on the budget for Jan. 25.

The budget must be adopted before Feb. 1.

Warren presented the budget some six weeks late. A City Charter provision requires that the budget be presented to the commission one month before the end of the fiscal year, which was Dec. 31.

The proposed budget is based on an assumed $20 million increase in the city's equalized tax base, which totaled $386 million last year.

Assuming the city's total assessed valuation hits $326,458,828 and the equalization factor remains constant this year, the city would levy $17.50 per $1,000 of assessed value.

Last year's city tax rate was $17.90 per $1,000 assessed value.

★ ★ ★

Warren said it was difficult to project a tax rate and budget on figures not to be known until five months from now.

The city's assessed value is to be known about March 25, while the equalization factor won't be determined until May 23.

Warren warned that if the tax base fell short of expectations or the equalizing factor was changed, the rate could vary from his projection.

The city manager predicted

Hike Pleasing, Hanger Says

New Men and Cars Allocated for Police

"This is the most consideration we've gotten in the budget in some time," said Police Chief William K. Hanger.

The Pontiac police chief was commenting on nine new men and 13 new cars allocated his department in the city's proposed 1966 budget.

The police department budget will be hiked a total of $128,245 over 1965.

Hanger said the nine new men would up the force to 121. He had aimed for a total of 135 men and asked for 16 new cars in his budget request for 1966.

★ ★ ★

"However, I'm very well pleased," he said.

Hanger's department is slated to receive another benefit in the budget.

Current plans call for the 1966 capital improvement fund to provide $20,000 worth of improvements in the police pistol range.

Other added benefits of the 1966 police budget include a $5,000 increase in the uniform fund to provide short-sleeve shirts for policemen to wear in the summer.

Also, the training allowance has been hiked $9,400 to provide more training courses for policemen.

A side benefit for Hanger himself in the 1966 budget will be replacement of his 1960 auto, one of the two oldest vehicles in the police fleet.

Area to Get Snow, Rain

Hazardous driving conditions are forecast for this afternoon and tonight.

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicts snow, mixed with some freezing drizzle late today and changing to mostly rain tonight.

Rain mixed with snow, changing to snow or snow flurries, may be expected tomorrow.

Temperatures of 30 to 36 tonight will average about the same during the day tomorrow. Snow flurries and colder is Friday's outlook.

Morning southeasterly winds at 10 miles per hour will increase to 15 to 30 miles tonight and become northerly tomorrow.

The thermometer hit a low of zero at 4 a.m. today. The mercury had edged up to 15 by 1 p.m.

Press Event Jan. 24-27

Cooking School Near

The Pontiac Press seventh annual cooking school starts Jan. 24 at Pontiac Central High School and runs for four days.

Barbara Zimmerman and Harriet Cannon, home economists at Consumers Power Co., will present the demonstrations in the high school auditorium.

There will be three two-day sessions this year, two at night and one during the afternoon.

Monday and Tuesday night's programs (Jan. 24-25) will be repeated on the evenings of Jan. 26 and 27 and the afternoons of Jan. 25 and 26.

★ ★ ★

Grand prizes will be awarded at the close of each of the three programs and daily prizes on all six days.

WILL SPEAK

During intermission Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University consumer marketing agent who works out of Oakland County, will speak on meat buying, packaging, labeling and meat carving.

★ ★ ★

Robert Lilleyman will provide organ music each day. Members of the county home extension groups will usher as they have for the past five years.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac area women may obtain one ticket for any sessions they wish to attend. Programs start at 7:30 in the evening and 1:30 in the afternoon.

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle will visit the Soviet Union this year, Soviet Ambassador Valerin Zorin announced today. Zorin made the announcement after a one-hour meeting with de Gaulle at the Elysee Palace.

Pick Director of Cranbrook Foundation

Edward H. Lerchen, long active in Detroit area banking, business, industry and civic affairs, has been appointed executive director of the Cranbrook Foundation in Bloomfield Hills.

He will be responsible for management and operation of the services which the foundation furnishes to the institutions.

Henry S. Booth, chairman of the board of trustees of the foundation, was executive director until the positions were separated.

ACTIVE ROLE

Booth will continue to concern himself actively with foundation affairs and with the preservation and development of Cranbrook, giving counsel in regard to landcsape and architecture.

★ ★ ★

Arthur B. Wittliff, general manager of foundation services, will assist Lerchen.

BECAME CHAIRMAN

Lerchen, 45, of 180 Lowell, Bloomfield Hills, graduated in 1938 from Cranbrook School for Boys and later became chairman of the board of directors of the school.

He graduated from Amherst College in 1942 and, after serving as a Navy officer in World War II, obtained a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan.

For four years until last October he was a vice president of the Detroit Bank & Trust Co.

★ ★ ★

In 1962 he was named a member of the board of trustees of the foundation. He has also been a security analyst for Watling, Lerchen & Co.

Greyhound to Buy 100 New GM Buses

GMC Truck & Coach Division will build 100 new multilevel buses for Greyhound Lines, at a purchase price of $4.7 million.

H. Vance Greenslit, president of Greyhound, said the purchase is in line with the firm's policy of continual modernization of its fleet.

A total of 600 new buses will be added to the line this year.

The new buses will be delivered in time for the peak summer travel months.

Retired Professor Dies

City Gets Report on Sewer Separation

City officials have been handed a supplementary report that provides a master plan for separating the city's combined storm and sanitary sewer systems at an estimated cost of $3 million.

Presented to the City Commission by City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling last night, the report was prepared by Jones, Henry & Williams, the city's consulting engineers.

The report immediately provoked comments from the commission.

Generally, commissioners indicated the city should look for state aid to help finance the sewer work.

★ ★ ★

The $3-million cost estimate represents new work added to a previous master plan figured to cost $19.5 million.

SCALED UPWARD

City commissioners were also told that because of increased construction costs, the previous $19.5-million estimate has been scaled upward to $24 million.

Thus, the total outlay with the work added with last night's report, would reach $27 million.

The supplementary report amends the earlier four-volume master plan designed to detail the city's total sewer needs.

★ ★ ★

Neipling said this would provide separation of the combined sewer systems and construct the necessary trunklines.

FURTHER EXPENDITURES

However, even the $27 million does not cover all of the cost, according to Neipling.

He said further expenditures would be necessary to extend sanitary and storm sewer laterals into unimproved areas of Pontiac.

The city's share of the cost in only one such area — the watershed area of the Galloway Creek — would total some $4 million.

★ ★ ★

Separation of the storm and sanitary sewer systems has been advised by the State Water Resources Commission to eliminate pollution of three small north side lakes.

NEW STORM DRAINS

Neipling said that generally new storm drains would have to be constructed. New sanitary sewer trunk lines would be concombined sewer lines.

The existing trunk lines generally were designed for storm water flow and were constructed larger than sanitary sewer truck lines, said the city engineer.

The supplementary report minimizes the disruptions to existing streets and to individual homes in proposing the new sewer construction, he added.

★ ★ ★

Noting the rise in construction costs since 1962, Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said some consideration ought to be given to a bonding program to do the work now.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. said since part of the work is being pushed by a state agency, the state should furnish some financial aid.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said a variety of ways would probably be employed to finance the sewer work. Federal aid might be a possibility, he said.

★ ★ ★

The report is to be further studied by the manager and the commission.

In an effort to avert epidemics, police and firemen worked feverishly to uncover the victims.

Thousands of homeless and hungry jammed schools and other public buildings. Thousands more huddled in the rain waiting for emergency shelter and transport.

Federal and state authorities made nearly $2 million available in emergency aid.

HARDEST HIT

Hardest hit so far have been the squatters whose flimsy shacks perch on hillsides overlooking the fashionable Copacabana district. Flood waters began surging into sea-level districts.

Several hundred hillside shacks and a dozen more substantial buildings already have collapsed. Others threatened to topple onto dwelling areas below.

Many slum dwellers refused attempts to evacuate them.

In the Santa Theresa district, where more than 30 already have perished, police tried vainly to move out a group living about 200 feet beneath a psychiatric clinic that threatened to give way.

Many of the victims were children found floating in the flood waters.

MANY CHILDREN DIE

State Governor Francisco Negrao de Lima declared Rio de Janeiro a disaster area.

The city was virtually paralyzed with telephone service knocked out and bus, auto and rail traffic tied up.

Radio and television stations took over the job of coordinating rescue and relief work.

Rio's antiquated drainage system was unable to cope with the floods and water surged through the streets, stalling cars and flooding cellars. The deluge caused many streets to buckle.

ROBERT L. TEMPLIN

Ex-Official Is Candidate for Judgeship

Robert L. Templin, Birmingham attorney and former senior assistant prosecutor, today announced that he will be a candidate for Oakland County Circuit judge in the August primary election.

Templin, 44, of 3199 Pebble Lane, Bloomfield Township, was the Republican candidate for prosecuting attorney in 1964.

Long active in GOP politics, Templin is currently president of the Lincoln Republican Club, a member of the Republican executive and county committees and the County Government Study Committee, and a delegate and alternate to the GOP county and state conventions.

A member of the law firm of Wilson, Templin, Basso & Basso with offices in Birmingham and Detroit, Templin received a degree in economics from the University of Michigan in 1943, and his law degree from the Detroit College of Law in 1954.

★ ★ ★

He graduated from Northwestern University School of Law Courses in Criminal Jurisprudence in 1963.

★ ★ ★ - -

A past chairman of public relations for the county bar association and a member of the National District Attorneys Association, Templin has lectured extensively on criminal jurisprudence throughout the state.

Poverty Unit Charge Probed

Study Is Authorized for County Program

Oakland County's Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) Commission today authorized a study of allegations that the county antipoverty program overlaps other public social agency services.

A federal grant of $107,983 for expansion of the OEO central administrative office function also was announced at today's commission meeting.

The study authorized by the commission was the result of recent statements by Clarence Barnes, executive director of the Pontiac Area Urban League.

Barnes said that the antipoverty program overlapped many services already available to the community through existing agencies.

★ ★ ★

Barnes, who submitted his resignation from the OEO commision a month ago, said at the time it was mainly due to his basic disagreement with the course of action taken by the OEO.

ACTION WITHHELD

The OEO executive committee had withheld action on the resignation until last week because Barnes gave no reason, according to Carl F. Ingraham, OEO commission chairman.

At a meeting last Wednesday the executive committee agreed to recommend acceptance of the resignation and it was accepted today by the full commission.

In calling for the study, most commission members indicated that overlapping was not a problem. However, if it did exist it should be brought to light.

★ ★ ★

The study will be conducted by the 35-member technical advisory committee to the OEO executive director. The committee is comprised of executives of public and private agencies.

Ingraham said that he tried without success to learn why Barnes was resigning after Barnes submitted his resignation.

it took off. I remember Jeff yelled one profane word at the car," Talbot said.

Talbot said the car returned in a couple of minutes and this time he approached the car and asked Pearson, who was sitting on the passenger side with the door open, " 'What's this all about?' "

"I received no reply," Talbot said.

"By this time Jeff was to the car and I think, but I'm not sure, that I heard him say, 'Let me fight him.'

"Then before I knew it Pearson was past me," said Talbot. "The next thing I heard was Jeff yell 'He's got a knife!' "

The youth died at Pontiac General Hospital about four hours after the stabbing.

Pearson and his companion, Robert Green, 17, turned themselves over to state police at the Pontiac post about 45 minutes after the 9:30 p.m. stabbing.

Green was later released without charge.

Nationwide Talk Slated by President

OVER-ALL TOTAL

Aides indicated Johnson may come up with some over-all total, ranging between $110 billion and $115 billion, for a new budget.

Any such total, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, would not include the $12 billion to $13 billion in additional funds administration officials have been talking about to finance the war.

Johnson said in a letter from which AFL-CIO President George Meany quoted Tuesday that he is "determined to press ahead in building the Great Society."

★ ★ ★

Meany had expressed fears in a letter to the President that mounting war costs might force a cutback in domestic programs, such as the war on poverty.

City Tax Rate May Be Cut

the reduced tax rate on the basis that purchase of the sanitary land-fill site was the primary reason for an increase in taxes last year.

★ ★ ★

The proposed 1966 budget carries a general operating fund of $7.6 million, up $650,767 over 1965.

The budget provides for pay raises totaling $290,000 for city employes and appropriates nine new patrolmen and 13 new cars to the police department.

Employe pensions are increased $60,367 over 1965.

Most city departments maintain the same level of spending in the proposed budget as in 1965, allowing for the increased salaries.

While the hiked tax base is the main reason beyond projected increased revenues, the city also anticipates an added $151,085 in increased revenue from the state.

As proposed, the 1966 budget carries a $37,014 contingency fund — an appropriation to handle emergency expenditures over and above the budget.

Second Meeting Slated on Housing Integration

The two-month-old local campaign for integrated housing will be reviewed at the second meeting of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Committee on Open Occupancy Sunday night.

Leaders of the group will discuss their initial contact with the Birmingham Board of Realtors and steps they hope to take in the future.

The meeting is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. at Northminster United Presbyterian Church on Big Beaver, east of Adams, Troy.

Organizers of the committee held their first public meeting Nov. 11 and described as "overwhelming" the support received from 250 persons who attended.

★ ★ ★

Sunday's program not only will include the report of those who met with realtors but will give interested persons a chance to participate in the movement, chairman John C. Palms said.

"Now is the time to extend our group into all levels of Birmingham-Bloomfield society," he said in a letter to some 500 potential committee members.

Among the subcommittees to be formed is one which will direct its efforts toward attracting clergymen to the campaign.

"We also hope to have an academic committee to contact groups at universities," Palms said today.

★ ★ ★

Another committee will encourage businessmen and government officials to support the drive.

"The idea is to find those people who are in favor but may not be voicing their opinions at this time," he said. "We really don't know how much support we have."

Also to be discussed Sunday is a plan for direct action in observance of Lincoln's birthday Feb. 12.

On or near that date, "we would like to have some kind of rally or series of meetings with speakers," Palms said.

Ailing Ex-Nazi Major on Trial for Gassing

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Former Nazi SS Maj. Wilhelm Burger, 61, has a heart disease, a stomach disorder and a skin ailment. His face is flushed, his hands tremble, and a doctor would advise him to avoid excitement.

But for the next few months his frayed nerves will have no rest.

★ ★ ★

Burger is the highest-ranked defendant in West Germany's second Auschwitz war crimes trial. He is charged with aiding and abetting uncounted murders at the huge wartime Nazi death camp.

Specifically, the charge cites him for responsiblity in supplying Zyklon B gas, used for mass killings in Auschwitz.

OTHER DEFENDANTS

Other defendants are former Elite Guard Sgts. Josef Erber and Gerhard Neubert. They are accused of complicity in murder at Auschwitz by having participated in selection of victims for the gas chambers.

The trial is drawing no great publicity nor the crowds that marked the first Auschwitz proceedings which had 20 defendants and lasted 20 months.

Wilhelm Boger, called the master torturer of Auschwitz, and Oswald Kaduk ("The Butcher") sat impassive, haughty and proud throughout the months of hearings. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment.

★ ★ ★

Unlike them, Wilhelm Burger is a man of tears.

When forced by the prosecutor to recall events, his voice rises in pitch and his eyes fill.

CHIEF ADMINISTRATOR

Burger was at Auschwitz from June 1942 to May 1943 as chief administrator. Some of his assignments were:

Organizing the collection, sorting, registering and packing of inmates' possessions;

★ ★ ★

Ordering furniture for a bordello operated for the camp's SS staff;

Feeding and clothing of inmates;

Responsibility for the maintenance of the crematorium and gas chambers;

The outfitting of inmate work squads with tools.

★ ★ ★

Rudolf Hoess, the last commandant of Auschwitz, once described his administrative chief as an "energetic doer who shirks no assignment."

In one court session, Burger said yes, he ordered Zyklon B gas to be delivered in trucks but it was only to be used for disinfecting clothes and inmates' quarters.

HE WAVERED

Pressed by the prosecution, he wavered:

"We were not told officially that Zyklon B was used for mass liquidations. But that was know to everyone in Auschwitz."

Then Burger said that the gas used for the death chambers must have been ordered by someone else.

★ ★ ★

He was then reminded of statements made to an examining judge in which he admitted having known the real purpose of the gas.

NEAR COLLAPSE

In a choked voice, Burger answered that he was near a nervous collapse at the time he made those statements and added that he probably would have even signed his own death order.

While he was at Auschwitz, Burger was considered by at least one superior to be a good Nazi.

★ ★ ★

Commandant Hoess wrote: "He is solid in his world outlook."

As a young man, Burger tried his hand as a teacher, car salesman and insurance man. But economic conditions after World War I were tough and he had trouble earning a living. In 1932 he joined the Nazi party and Hitler's SS Guard.

In 1935 he got his first important post — administrative chief in the Nazis' first concentration camp at Dachau.

When the war began, he was assigned to a SS infantry regiment which campaigned in France and Russia.

★ ★ ★

Then came the transfer to Auschwitz. Burger says it was against his will. After one year there, he was reassigned to Berlin to work in the economic administration bureau for concentration camps.

Burger served eight years in a Polish prison after World War II. Out of curiosity, he attended a war crimes trial in Nuernberg in 1947 in which former comrades of the Berlin economic office were being tried. He was recognized by one of them and the American military police were tipped off.

TURNED OVER

They handed him over to Polish authorities, who convicted him for being a link in concentration camp machinery.

He was released in 1955 and returned to Germany, getting work as a coal wholesaler's clerk. In 1959 he joined a die-casting factory and worked his way up to office manager and $375 a month, good pay in Germany.

★ ★ ★

The Auschwitz trial has an 8:30 a.m. starting time. Burger, who is free on bail, arrived at one session a half-hour before the judge, jury and legal men appeared.

He sat silent on a bench, his hands trembling, his eyes fixed on the floor. Then two defense attorneys entered and greeted him. Burger seemed thankful for the gesture of friendliness. He rose quickly to his feet, smiling, and exchanged a few words with them.

DIDN'T SMILE

During the rest of the session, Wilhelm Burger didn't smile once. When defendants Erber and Neubert were summoned to testify, he never looked at them. He stared at the floor or at a wooden bench. His hands quaked in his lap.

Was this man a killer — one of the Nazi elite with power over life and death? Or was he just a clerk following orders?

A jury will decide. The trial may take four months.

Beard Bias Is Basis for Jury Duty Removal

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Civil Dist. Judge Howard J. Taylor excused Charles Williams Vesien from jury duty when Vesien said he was prejudiced against bearded men.

"It shows immaturity," said Vesien Monday as Judge Taylor was empaneling a jury to try a case involving a man who wore a short beard.

Million Indians See Shastri Cremation

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Leaders of India's ruling Congress party began discussing the political future today as the body of Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was consigned to funeral flames by the holy Jumna River.

More than a million mourning Indians looked on as Shastri's eldest son, Hari Kishan, touched a blazing torch to the funeral pyre of sandalwood in accordance with Hindu rites.

★ ★ ★

A few moments before this final act, Shastri's successor, Prime Minister Gulzarilal Nanda, climbed the steps to the top of the pyre and stood silently, his face agonized with grief.

Standing nearby were Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and many other foreign representatives.

DISCUSS ELECTION

Despite their grief, Nanda and Uumaraswami Kamaraj, president of the Congress party, met early today to discuss election of a new parliamentary leader who traditionally is asked to form a new government.

There was no indication whether this meant that a challenge to Nanda was developing in the party. As home minister he was No. 2 man in Shastri's Cabinet, and his elevation after Shastri's death was automatic. At present he is believed likely to hold the top job until general elections next year.

At least three strong political figures are known to want the post of prime minister. They are Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, information minister and daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru, and right-wing leader Morarji Desai.

Nanda served for five days as interim prime minister after Nehru's death 19 months ago but was pushed aside in favor of Shastri.

Shastri died early Tuesday in the Soviet city of Tashkent, apparently of a heart attack, after an exhausting week of peace negotiations with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. The cremation climaxed a mass outpouring of grief for the unassuming little leader who in 19 stormy months had won the admiration and affection of India's troubled millions.

"Long live Lal Bahadur Shastri" welled up from the vast throng as the funeral procession passed along the crowded route to the cremation site. The crowd stretched as far as the eye could see and appeared as large as that at the funeral of Nehru in May 1964.

The throng surged across the route at one point, forming a wall between the flower-decked gun carriage carrying Shastri's body and the cars in which Kosygin and Humphrey were riding.

Secret Service guards quickly surrounded Humphrey's car and Soviet guards encircled Kosygin. Club-swinging Indian police closed in, pushing back the crowds seeking the special grace they believe one achieves by gazing at the body of an exalted person.

Shastri's body had lain in state all night at his official residence at No. 10 Jan Path Road, with his weeping widow, Lalita, keeping a last vigil.

As thousands of Indians streamed by, Mrs. Shastri sat next to her husband's body, caressing his face and chest.

More than 100 persons were seriously injured when a stampede erupted among the thousands of mourners waiting to see the body.

There were other injuries as people fell from trees, roofs and other vantage points, and as police whacked away with their clubs to keep the route of the procession open.

The funeral was steeped in the ritual of Hinduism, the religion of Shastri and the majority of north Indians.

★ ★ ★

As her husband's body was carried away, Mrs. Shastri took from her wrists the bangles Indian women love to wear and placed them on his chest. This signified that she would renounce her worldly possessions and retire from public view.

As high military officers started to lift the body and place it on the gun carriage, Mrs. Shastri flung herself across her husband's chest. She finally was restrained by her sons.

Lindsay Still See Hope of Transit Plan Harmony

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor John V. Lindsay said today there was still a chance his proposals for ending the city's crippling transportation crisis would be accepted.

The 44-year-old mayor, bundled against the frigid 15-degree cold, told UPI as he headed for city hall that both sides in the 12-day old bus and subway strike had not flatly rejected his three-point proposal.

He said replies to his plan by the city Transit Authority (TA) and the striking 36,000-member Transport Workers Union (TWU) were "not definite nor conclusive."

The new Republican mayor offered the three proposals for getting the buses and subways moving again in a television report Monday night.

★ ★ ★

He suggested the three mediators offer suggestions of their own on ending the strike, bringing in an outside fact-finding panel to draw up proposals, or having both sides submit the matter to arbitration.

NO DISCLOSURE

Lindsay, accompanied on the blustery walk to his office only by his personal detective, said he had talked with the mediation panel this morning but would not disclose what was said.

The TA and the TWU reported last night they would not accept Lindsay's proposals.

But the mayor held out hope for his plan, saying only that the information given him by both sides and by the mediators was "very complicated."

Asked why he was walking from his Hotel Roosevelt suite to city hall, Lindsay replied: "Because it's cold . . . and the people have to."

OPTIMISM UP

Optimism for a settlement had been aroused yesterday when AFL-CIO President George Meany predicted an end to the strike "in a day or two."

Following the report that both sides had turned down the mayor's proposals, chief mediator Dr. Nathan P. Feinsinger said his panel would make its own recommendations to Lindsay on ending the walkout.

The cold weather brought havoc to motorists coming into the city. Heavy delays were reported as scores of cars broke down because of the weather.

Author, 2 Astronauts in Jaycees' 'Top 10'

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An author paralyzed from the neck down and an astronaut who took a stroll in space are among those named by U.S. Jaycees as outstanding young men of 1965.

The author, Richard Chaput of Nashua, N.H., was paralyzed by polio when he was 9 years old. Now 28, Chaput uses a special typewriter which he activates with his tongue.

The space walker is Edward H. White II who was named along with fellow astronaut Charles Conrad Jr.

Others cited are Presidential Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla.; space scientist Donald D. Williams of Ingelwood, Calif.; educators Arthur E. Turner of Midland, Mich., and Frederick P. Whiddon of Mobile, Ala.; egg producer Fred Rodgers Adams Jr. of Jackson, Miss., and Broadway composer - lyricist Jerry Herman.

AWARDS CONGRESS

They will be honored at an awards congress Friday and Saturday in St. Paul, Minn.

Chaput made use of private tutoring to develop his writing style and has had several articles and short stories published. His autobiography, "Not to Doubt," was published in 1964.

Murder Trial Is Ordered in Area Slaying

A 27-year-old escaped convict from the North Carolina State Penitentiary yesterday was ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Jay D. Mead, a former Avon Township resident, stood mute to the charge yesterday when he was arraigned by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Mead is charged with the fatal shooting of Eugene W. Franzel, 24, of 3494 Auburn, Auburn, Avon Township, during an argument Oct. 23, 1965, in J's Bar, Auburn and Rochester.

No date was scheduled for Mead's trial. He was returned to the Oakland County Jail.

Mead escaped from the southern prison Oct. 3 after serving five months of a 12- to 16-year sentence for armed robbery, according to the sheriff's department.

Quick, Form a Posse

MACEDONIA, Ohio (UPI) — Shades of the old West. Mayor William Long reported yesterday cattle rustlers cut a chain link fence at his farm and stole 13 calves and two bales of hay.

What Have You Done for Us Lately?

DIGNE, France (UPI) — When 25 French war veterans met for a banquet and drinking session here last Armistice Day, laughter gave way to tears as they sang their old marching song, "Madelon."

The tears now have turned to indignation.

The French Society of Authors-Composers and Editors of Music has requested a royalty payment for the public rendition of the old march.

"When we sang 'Madelon' on our way to getting our heads blown open nobody asked us to pay royalties," a spokesman for the group replied.

Construction Behind for Boston Building

BOSTON (AP) — The $19-million, 22-story Massachusetts state office building is set for full occupancy on April 1 — two months late — when the last of 21 state agencies and 3,200 employes are due to finish moving in.

The deputy administration commissioner, Walter C. O'Connell, said revisions in floor layout for some agencies held up work on four floors. The building is the first of a planned complex of state, federal and municipal buildings.

Fire Damage Listed at $1,250 to House

A fire, started when clothes hanging near a water heater ignited, caused an estimated $1,450 damage to the Patrick Gallagher home at 493 Tallahassee last night.

Pontiac firemen listed damage at $1,250 to the one-story frame structure plus $200 to the contents.

Detroiter Is Killed as Car Strikes Tree

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Byrd Finley, 50, of Detroit, was killed yesterday when his car ran off M53 and struck a sign near Hall Road about 5:40 p.m.

Shelby Township police said Finley apparently fell asleep. He was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mount Clemens.
