Record Contributions
Cited by Chairman
as Cause for Success

The Pontiac Area United Fund today is half-way to what appears to be the most successful drive in its 15-year history.

E. M. Estes, general campaign chairman, said latest totals show over 58 per cent of the 1963 goal of $776,700 has been raised.

At the same time, Estes pointed out, many donations are over the 10 per cent increase being sought this year to reach a record United Fund goal.

Estes said a number of employee groups have shown a high level of participation, at 15 per cent or more over previous goals.

Among them are Michigan Bell Telephone workers, $3,194; Pontiac State Hospital employees, $4,296; J. C. Penney personnel, $1,180.

STORE UNITS

Area food store employee units cited were Savon Food, $3,000; Wrigleys, $2,126; Kroger $664, and Peoples Markets, $366.

Increased employee contributions have been made by Oakland County Road Commission, $1,000, and Boice Builders Supply, $537.

Estes said United Fund has been pledged $3,250 as the firm gift of MacManus, John & Adams advertising agency.

Reporting for the Industrial Division, the largest bloc of contributors, Chairman Earl Maxwell said his solicitations have yielded $317,825, over 62 per cent complete. Most of this represents donations from large industrial firms.

65 PER CENT

Mrs. William Brace, Womens Division leader, said 65 per cent, or $19,416 of its goal is realized. The Lake Angelus unit has already met its $3,118 goal, she said, and still has additional calls to make.

The Womens Division gives its report next Wednesday. The Commercial Division has raised $84,975 (66 per cent) of its chapter plans goal, $3,899 (50 per cent) of small teams goal, $13,676 (67 per cent) of Professional I and $6,252 (61 per cent) of Professional II quotas, $7,878 (38 per cent) of government donations and $3,870 (23 per cent) of education units.

Commercial chairman Stuart Whitfield said his volunteers were well ahead of last year's pace, with all returns totaling a 59 per cent completion of goal.

7 Miners Rescued; Fear 43 Are Dead

PEINE, Germany (UPI)—Work crews tonight rescued seven miners who had been trapped for 23 hours 180 feet below the ground in a flooded iron mine.

The seven men were hauled to the surface in rescue capsules at 7 p.m. (1 p.m. Pontiac time). They were among 50 miners trapped last night when a huge wall of sludge slid into the mine and flooded its lower levels.

Adlai Regrets Violent Mob

U. N. Speech Boomed,
Envoy Hit, Spot On

DALLAS (UPI)—Adlai Stevenson said today he regretted the "violent behavior" of a militant mob that booed, struck and spat upon him last night. The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations had just made a speech on world peace.

Stevenson said the standing ovation he received for his United Nations Day celebration speech was "one of the most enthusiastic I have received anywhere in the world."

"I regret the violent behavior of a few, and I realize it was only a few," he said. "Such behavior after a speech on peace gives the Soviets and the rest of the world an unfortunate impression."

Stevenson was struck by a placard that stated: "Get the U.N. out of the U.S." Mrs. Cora Fredrickson was removed from the crowd, but not arrested. Mrs. Fredrickson, 47, said she did not deliberately strike Stevenson, but was pushed in by the crowd.

SPITS ON OFFICER

Robert Edward Hatfield, 29, rushed out of the jeering crowd outside Dallas Memorial Auditorium and spat on Stevenson. He also spat on a police officer who attempted to arrest him.

Hatfield, a student at North Texas State University at Denton, Texas, had to be wrestled to the ground and handcuffed by officers. He was charged today with aggravated assault on a police officer.

Outnumbered police had to force their way through a crowd of 70 demonstrators to lead Stevenson to a limousine.

The first connection with the group marched in the 6-inch-wide shaft. A tube with telephone equipment was pushed down it.

"We're all in good shape," one of the seven called up. "The ventilation is good."

ENLARGE HOLE

Relief workers then concentrated on enlargement of the hole to a diameter of about 20 inches so the men could be hauled up by which in a torpedo-shaped bucket called a rescue bomb.

The procedure was somewhat like that followed in the rescue of two Americans, Henry Thorne and David Felin, Aug. 27 from a coal mine near Hazleton, Pa.

They were pulled up in harness after being trapped more than 300 feet underground for 14 days by a cave-in.

29 IN CAVE

There were 129 men in the Langade mine, working at depths of 300 feet or less, when the reservoir's stone and rubble dam broke.

The main shaft was filled to a depth of 120 feet. The galleries were plugged into darkness. A tremendous pressure wave lifted the miners' helmets.

Seventy-nine men, some swimming for their lives, were able to scramble from the shaft.

Among these were survivors who said the water filled holes up to their armpits and then surged away, freeing them. The reservoir, built out of a former open strip mine works, was about 45 feet deep.

State Seizes 2 Supplies of Suspect Fish

Samples Contain Same Organism That Caused Five Deaths

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Department of Agriculture today said it has seized the stocks of two plants after discovering botulism type E organisms in samples of smoked fish.

The department said the seizures were at the St. Joseph Fisheries in St. Joseph and at Royal Snack Food, Inc., in Detroit.

The seizures included smoked fish sticks and raw fish on hand at both plants, the department said.

"The sample from the Detroit firm was obtained by the Michigan Agricultural Department's men," a department statement said.

"The sample from St. Joseph was obtained by Food and Drug Administration men. Both agencies are continuing investigation and are collecting smoked fish samples," the statement said further.

DEATHS OF FIVE

"Deaths this month of two persons at Kalamazoo, Mich., and three at Knoxville, Tenn., due to this organism, was traced to smoked fish. The source of the fish in the Kalamazoo cases remains unknown."

"The Knoxville deaths were traced to vacuum-packed smoked fish from the H. J. Dornbros Bros. Co. at Grand Haven."

"Since then, the state men have collected smoked fish samples over a wide area for laboratory analysis in an effort to determine causes of botulism type E in the products of the fish industry."

Says U. N. Day Speaker

'Have Not' Nations Are Key

By L. GARY THORNE

The most important concern today is not the East-West struggle, but the gap between developed and underdeveloped countries in the world, according to Charles A. Hogan, a United Nations aide.

Hogan, 57, secretary of the U. N. Technical Assistance Committee, was the main speaker last night at a United Nations Day dinner at Oakland University.

"The gap is widening," he added, "because developed countries are growing faster than underdeveloped countries." He maintained that the East-West struggle would be settled by the independents.

Hogan, who climaxed a day-long observance for the Rochester chapter of the American Association for the United Nations, called for a crash program to aid underdeveloped areas.

"Your side (American side) is totally incapable of taking advantage of chaos," he asserted "but the opposition is expert at it."

Hogan saw technical assistance as the answer. He told the 250 dinner guests, including 30 foreign exchange students, that illiteracy is increasing in the world.

"We are losing on this front," he said.

Hogan said the Peace Corps is a form of technical assistance, but it's strictly American. Other U.N. countries also offer similar programs.

INDIVIDUAL HELP

He said, for example, the Peace Corps helped individual areas build a clean water system, but the U.N. was concerned with helping entire countries develop water systems.

Asked to what extent U.N. agencies work in nonmember countries, Hogan said work is being done wherever the U.N. has been invited.

In response to another query, the University of California graduate said the U.N. was just as interested in stamping out malaria in a dictatorship as in a democracy.

"We are losing on this front," he said.

The forms of government emerging from the new countries represented every type "all across the board," he added.

TANGLED LIFE

"You are embedded in a great tangle of inter-governmental life," Hogan told the U.N. dinner audience.

Prior to Hogan's talk, Robert Peden, President of the Michigan Division of the AAUN, presented the Rochester chapter with its AAUN charter.

About 30 foreign exchange students attended the international dinner as guests of the Rochester Rotary Club.

ENTIRE DAY

Hogan spent the entire day at Oakland County yesterday, beginning with flag-raising ceremonies in front of the village municipal building.

He spoke to high school assemblies at Rochester and Romeo high schools. In addition, he talked informally with Oakland University students for three hours.

The former college professor said the college students seemed particularly interested in how to pursue a career in international life.

Expect Ginny to Touch Land Late Tonight

100-Mile Stretch of Beach Area Affected;
Flee Near Charleston

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Evacuation of a 100-mile stretch of South Carolina's beach areas was urged today as Hurricane Ginny's 100 mile-an-hour winds bore down on the coast.

The unpredictable Atlantic storm was expected to make its landfall late tonight. The "eye" may strike to the southwest of Cape Fear, N.C., near the South Carolina line.

Coastal radar and air reconnaissance located the center of Ginny at 11 a.m. at near latitude 32.1 north and longitude 79.4 west or about 65 miles southeast of Charleston.

The storm was moving on a northerly course of eight miles per hour, the Weather Bureau said. Highest winds were estimated outward 175 miles over the ocean and about 100 miles southeast of the center.

Most low-lying areas in the Charleston vicinity were evacuated before noon. Many persons who fled their homes moved into 30 public shelters opened in the area. The shelters, equipped with first-aid supplies and nurses, can handle 7,000 persons.

DISMISSAL

The U.S. Weather Bureau station in Charleston suggested that all schools up to 100 miles inland be dismissed by noon so that school buses would be off the highways by 1 p.m.

If Ginny's hurricane-force winds pound ashore in late afternoon, she will hit the coast at high tide.

Storm-wise veterans say this is the time of greatest danger because the combination causes excessive flooding. The Weather Bureau warned that tides up to nine feet above average low tide are expected.

At midmorning, gale winds were smacking coastal resort towns around Charleston. Businesses in the downtown area of this historic seaport began closing so that employees could get home.

STORES BOARDED

Up and down the coast, residents boarded up store fronts and took other precautions as they waited for the storm's next move.

South Carolina's civil defense and Red Cross officials prepared to offer assistance to areas if the storm strikes.

Bonn No Longer Afraid U.S. Troops to Withdraw

From Our News Wires
BONN, Germany—The West German government said today the issue of U.S. troop strength in Europe has lost importance because of the reassurances given in Frankfurt by Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance.

Vance said the United States "has no intention of withdrawing any of our six division equivalents which are here" in West Germany.

Dog Wardens to Crack Down

Prosecutor Supports New Ticket Policy

Oakland County dog wardens are going to start issuing violation tickets for letting dogs run at large, Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the county's animal welfare division, announced today.

His announcement followed a recommendation by the miscellaneous committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The committee urged stricter enforcement of the dog laws in an effort to have dogs properly licensed and controlled.

Members agreed that one of the biggest problems in townships and villages today is the great number of dogs allowed to run at large.

ASSURED SUPPORT

County Prosecutor George Taylor assured the committee that his department would support the dog wardens in their crackdown.

He said his department will issue orders for warrants against dog owners in violation of the laws.

Violations covered by the tickets are: failure to procure dog license, dog attacking passersby on public street or sidewalk, dog not confined on premises, allowing female in heat to run at large and cruelty to animals.

Offenders will face a maximum penalty of $100 fine plus court costs and 90 days in the county jail for each violation.

Handicaps Masked at Goblin Fete

Dressed like clowns, witches and other Halloween characters, a dozen youngsters visited the offices of Oakland Schools yesterday for an annual party.

The party was held to celebrate Halloween. It was similar to any number of such parties that will be held next week in schools throughout the county.

The pumpkins were a brilliant orange. Some witches had black pointed hats. The clowns had on multicolored suits.

Faces were painted with lipstick and eyebrow pencil, and tiny eyes peeking through too-small slits in paper-mache masks.

MODIFICATIONS

The party was like any other. Like any other except for a few modifications.

A couple of youngsters had to add wheel chairs to their Halloween masquerade, while some had casts on broken bones.

The two-hour celebration was subdued, but the group seemed to enjoy the outing.

The students are part of the Oakland Schools' homebound program. Under this plan, students who are unable to attend regular school receive instruction in their homes from special education teachers.

Instructors visit each child for an hour twice a week. About 10 students are currently in the program.

The Halloween party is one of two annual events for the homebound youngsters. In the spring, Valentine's Day is similarly celebrated.

Court to Hear Thorson Plea

DETROIT (AP)—Recorder's Court Judge Elvin L. Davenport will set Nov. 8 to hear a petition by Robert M. Thorson of 2332 Buckingham, Birmingham, for a change of venue in his second murder trial in the slaying of his mother-in-law.

Thorson's attorney, Conrad K. Kohl, said the 31-year-old securities salesman could not get a fair trial in Wayne (Detroit) County because of "the great deal of publicity" given his original trial.

Thorson's first trial in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, 60, of Detroit ended last June in a deadlocked jury.

A mistrial was declared and a new trial ordered, with Thorson being released meanwhile on $5,000 bail.

BEATEN TO DEATH

Mrs. Thomas was beaten to death last Dec. 3 at her Detroit home, and Thorson was charged with first degree murder.

He pleaded innocent and his wife stood by him.

GUEST SPEAKER—John MacVane, a news correspondent to the United Nations, chats with two members of the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations before addressing the group in Birmingham last night. With him, are Mrs. Leon Spanier, wife of the chapter's president, and Harold J. Chalk, chairman of the U.N. Day observance. Also on the program was a German madrigal group.

Effort Reported

Truce in Viet Nam?

LONDON (UPI)—The governments of South Viet Nam and Communist North Viet Nam are apparently making exploratory contacts that could lead to a truce in the divided country, diplomatic sources said today.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

The United States has given massive financial and military backing to the South Vietnamese government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in its struggle against Communist guerrillas who are armed, equipped and given shelter by President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam.

POSSIBLE TRUCE

Diplomatic sources said the current moves were believed to be aiming at some sort of truce arrangement with possible wider ramifications.

Diem's brother and chief adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu, was said to favor the contacts.

Ho Chi Minh has made numerous public offers to discuss a truce, but the Diem regime has never accepted.

One of the immediate effects of any arrangement between the Saigon and Hanoi regimes would be to restore economic links and permit the flow of food from the fertile south to relatively unproductive North Viet Nam.

The reports of truce moves were viewed with caution in western diplomatic quarters, in the absence of authoritative confirmation.

'MAKES SENSE'

Communist sources, although not confirming the reports, said such a development would "make sense" in terms of stated Communist policy that settlements should be sought by the regimes of the divided portions of a country.

This is also the Communist position in relation to East and West Germany.

Coalition Firm on Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democrats and Republicans backed a tough civil rights bill today against pressure from President Kennedy and congressional leaders.

Both Kennedy and the House leadership searched for a compromise that could break up the militant coalition supporting the administration's measure.

The President called a dozen northern Democratic members of the House Judiciary Committee to the White House, and House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck huddled with 10 Republican members yesterday on the rights bill Kennedy deems too strong to bring to Congress.

The hold-out Democrats had another date to meet with the President Monday afternoon, but one of the most militant said the session depended upon agreement on a more moderate bill.

STANDS FIRM

In the absence of a compromise proposal on paper, the strong bill proposal was standing firm for approval of the measure drafted last month by a judiciary subcommittee.

Birmingham Area News

Correspondent for U.N. Cites Economic Influence

BIRMINGHAM—Speaking from the hub of America's auto production community, John MacVane last night cited the United Nations as a force for economic stability.

He reminded his audience that 30 per cent of Ford Motor Co.'s sales are overseas, while 15 per cent of General Motors' income is from other countries.

The U.S. has built over 1,000 plants in Common Market countries alone since World War II, he noted.

ABILITY OF U.N.
To do so, the firms must rely on the ability of the U.N. to keep world peace.

"Every single U.N. program is designed to keep things stable," MacVane told the audience at the Community House.

"And stable conditions provide new markets for the United States."

PROGRAM SPONSOR
The program last night was sponsored by the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations.

The 18th session of the U.N.'s general assembly will differ from the 17 which preceded it, MacVane predicted.

"For the first 17 years, everything the U.N. has done has been in the shadow of the Cold War," he said. "But there is something very different in the 18th session—a feeling of good will and new hopefulness."

MacVane observed that the new spirit is felt especially among the new nations, which are thrilled by the test-ban agreement.

DISARMAMENT
With tensions relaxed, the U.N. Disarmament Committee can move forward, MacVane said.

At the same time, he did not belittle the problems facing the U.N.

The most consuming tasks before it, he said, will be decolonization, disarmament and development of new nations.

MacVane denounced the U.N.'s critics, who he said

"Advice is the last thing young people want or need," said Mrs. Chipman, who was 20 when she married in Webster City, Iowa.

For Huron Valley Schools

$2.2-Million Bond Vote Is Set

By PAT MCCARTHY
MILFORD — The Huron Valley Board of Education has scheduled a $2.2-million bond issue election for Dec. 12.

It needs to pick up just four votes above the number polled for a similar request in June.

Then, the issue was defeated by an 813-810 margin.

But board members have their hopes up, if somewhat cautiously.

DISCUSS BALLOTS

Last night, they discussed the 27 ballots which were invalidated after the last election because they had been improperly marked.

A voter education campaign seems in the offing. The board talked of various ways voters can be instructed to ballot correctly.

Board members had considered asking for $2.5 million in December. However, during their three-and-a-half-hour work session last night they cut one elementary school from the plans, thus lopping $300,000 from the total requested.

"I'm sure we'll be back for the $300,000 in another 18 months," E. Eugene Russell commented, receiving words of agreement from his fellow board members.

EXTEND BOND ISSUE

The proposed improvements would be financed through extension of an existing bond issue.

The improvements include a new junior high school in Milford (Kaindl, MacMillan, Millman Associates, Inc. Ann Arbor architects working for the board, have estimated total cost of the building at $975,000).

Also planned is a $450,000 addition to Highland Junior High School.

An additional classroom and a direct fire exit corridor from the cafeteria, plus some utility and storage rooms account for the majority of the space needed.

NO DECISION

The board reached no decision last night on six additional rooms which had been proposed for the high school.

Although they will seek funds for the rooms, they have not determined whether the addition would serve a better purpose at the high school or one of the elementary buildings.

They will iron out this and other factors during discussion meetings between now and election day.

The figures they are working with are preliminary ones submitted by the architects. They must now decide on the size of allocations from the total bond issue.

The architects suggested that

$175,000 be used for high school additions, including the six class rooms.

Considered necessary at the high school are more athletic and laundry facilities to "increase the efficiency and facilitate a better scheduling and use of the gymnasium."

Also included in the building program are a bus maintenance building, central kitchens and food services at the junior high schools, and a central receiving and maintenance shop at the old Milford Junior High School site.

The architects reported that cost of remodeling the old Milford Junior High School may be kept to $80,000. The figure estimated on the last bond issue was $150,000.

OLD ANNEX

Board members will also discuss in the next few weeks the architects' proposal to discontinue use of the old annex.

The 1955 bond issue, which the board wants to refinance, carried a debt retirement levy of 3.4 mills last year. The levy nets about $140,000 annually and would be extended for 25 years.

Repeat Fire Doused in Lapeer Preserve

By United Press International
Fire fighters, hampered by the lack of water, fought a game preserve fire near Lapeer for several hours yesterday before bringing it under control.

The fire, the same one that raged out of control last week, broke out again and at one time threatened a home. Firemen managed, however, to divert the fire after it burned 50 acres and the home was saved.

Conservation officials said most creeks in the area are dry, and it has become increasingly difficult to transport the water from Lapeer to the fire area.

Some relief was promised today for Michigan, which has been rendered tinder-dry from an unseasonably hot drought.

SHOWERS DUE?

Temperatures were to remain higher than normal but there was a chance of few showers today and tonight would cool things off and dampen dried out woodlands.

Michigan cities reported record temperatures for Oct. 24.

In Detroit and Alpena the thermometer hit 81 degrees, while in Lansing it was 84. Grand Rapids recorded a high of 80 degrees and Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette and Muskegon were all in the high 70's.

Conservation Department field men reported new fires near the Cassidy Lake Technical School near Chelsea, near Linden in South Genesee County and at Pine Lake near Oxford.

DITCHES PLOWED

Ditches were plowed to retard the fire paths near Linden and Pine Lake. The fires had threatened cottages in the areas.

Department equipment was still used in controlling ground fires near Grass Lake, Leslie, Rives Junction, Portage, Inlay City, Vicksburg and in northern Oakland County.

Orchard Lake to Air Cityhood

ORCHARD LAKE — Which is a better place to live — Orchard Lake Village or the City of Orchard Lake?

A 40-member citizens' committee here thinks the City of Orchard Lake is.

Committee members plan to tell why they think so at a public meeting in the library of St. Mary's College on Seminary Road, Monday at 8 p.m.

The group has been studying incorporation "for several months" and is advocating conversion of the village into a home rule city.

Present village boundaries would be retained.

S. F. Leahy, executive secretary of the committee, said today the committee's objective is to "maintain the character of the village as residents would like to have it."

QUITE CONCERNED

"There is quite a bit of concern that larger areas may decide to incorporate and annex Orchard Lake."

Leahy said the Orchard Lake Village Commission has "given us the go-ahead to progress with the idea."

"We're hoping to get a good turnout," he added. The committee chairman said signatures would be collected at Monday's meeting.

All village residents have been invited, by letter, to attend and exchange views on incorporation. The committee hopes to gather the 100 signatures required to set a special election.

ELECTION DATE

If it is successful, the citizen's group will turn over the petitions to the village commission, which would then determine an election date.

Appearing on the ballot with the incorporation proposal would be candidates for a nine-man charter commission, which would draw up a city charter should the cityhood request be approved.

Kennedys Moving to New Home

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Kennedy and his family are finally moving into their new country home on Rattlesnake Mountain, near Atlanta, Va.

This weekend will be the first the Kennedy family has spent in the single story, yellow stucco "cottage" deep in the heart of the Virginia hunt country, four miles west of Middleburg.

The seven-bedroom rambling-style house, completed last June, is in a picturesque setting overlooking the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Mrs. Kennedy and the children, Caroline, almost 6, and John Jr., 2, planned to go to Atlanta this afternoon.

LATER ARRIVAL
The President will join them tomorrow afternoon after participating in dedicating ceremonies for the new Robert Frost Memorial Library at Amherst College, Amherst, Mass.

Mrs. Kennedy sent a housekeeper to Atlanta earlier this week to get the house ready for the first family.

The Kennedys decided to build a home after nearly two years of renting "Glen Ora," an estate near Middleburg. They chose as a site the village of Atlanta, which boasts only a country store and a gasoline service station.

Hiccups Back for 97th Day

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —Hiccups have returned to plague Lucy McDonald after a respite of only 11 days.

Mrs. McDonald, a divorcee who works at a soda fountain to support her children, said the hiccups returned Thursday at a time more than 90 per minute. But she is remaining on her job because "my children are counting on me."

Not Anti-American

French Policy Result of Nationalism

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the light of nearly two centuries of close relations between the United States and France, it seems odd now that Paris feels it must explain that it is not anti-American.

That there are frictions between the two, and that these frictions have been increasing for nearly a year there can be no denying.

But from the French point of view they can be explained by NEWSOM saying they arise from policies which are not anti-American but instead are pro-French.

And so any study of the differences between the two first must settle on a definition of terms.

Thus President de Gaulle can say that France is determined to be independent of both the United States and the Soviet Union.

And his spokesmen at the same time can deny that de Gaulle aspires to leadership of a third force.

At any rate, in the last few days prominent Frenchmen have gone out of their way to deny that de Gaulle's policies either are anti-American or are leading France into isolation from its allies.

One such spokesman was French ambassador to the United States Herve Alphand who in a speech in San Francisco pointed out that France retains her firm commitment to defense of the West.

Another was French Foreign Minister Cote de Murville in an interview with the French publication, Notre Republique.

NO DIFFERENCES
He also declared that in defending the interests of the West, including those of Germany, there likewise were no differences between the United States and France.

The French foreign minister is reported anxious for a meeting between de Gaulle and President Kennedy, perhaps as early as February.

But regardless of whether the French position is anti-American or simply pro-French, there are in the approach to world affairs important differences and in the opinion of many the gap between the two is widening. There is agreement that changing conditions warrant a revision of the NATO structure but to tal disagreement as to how it should be done.

The French have suggested that other European nations might participate with her in an independent nuclear force which could include Britain if she were to forego her close ties with the United States.

The suggestion was rejected by both Britain and West Germany.

On the other hand, the U.S. nuclear naval force within NATO is far enough advanced that discussion of details may start soon. West Germany backs the U.S. plan.

The French position is that a revived Europe has outgrown the time when it was forced to rely upon the United States for help and guidance.

The French resent U.S. efforts to keep lines open to Moscow on the grounds that it gives the Soviets the initiative in the subjects to be discussed.

They also disagree with what seems to be a U.S. tendency to side with Moscow in the Moscow-Peking dispute. They believe a policy of strict neutrality is called for.

40 Men Inflict Torture Test

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK — One man was strapped into a chair and hooked up to an electrical shock generator. The other man sat in front of controlling switches, free to make this helpless one suffer — or to spare him.

This was the basis of an experiment to find out how far Americans will go against their grain of conscience and fellow-feeling in obeying what they consider to be proper commands.

Dr. Stanley Milgram set it up. There were 30 switches in a row. The one on the far left was labeled 15 volts. Switch by switch the voltage increased in units of 15 and the far right switch was marked 450 volts.

The four switches on the left were additionally marked, "Slight Shock." The next four were marked, "Moderate Shock."

Then came "Strong Shock," "Very Strong Shock," "Intense Shock," "Extreme Intense Shock," and finally, "Danger — Severe Shock."

TURN AT SWITCH

One by one, 40 men manipulated these switches, separated by a thin wall from a man they had helped to strap into the chair.

In ages, occupations and education they were a cross-section of American males.

They had been told the coming experiment concerned the effect of punishment on learning. Each one heard this cock-and-bull story in the presence of a stranger who seemed to be a paid experimental subject, too.

Then two of them drew lots to determine who would be "teacher" and who, "learner." The second man was a ringer; he was the "learner" for all 40. After helping to strap him into the chair, each man sat before the switches and read from a list of words.

THE SHOCKER

The man in the chair was supposed to learn how to match the mistake, the scientific experiment. Each time he made a mistake he was ordered by the man at the switches to give him a shock, and to increase its intensity with each new mistake.

Then a red light went on, a blue light flashed, instrument needles moved, and the room filled with a hum.

Since he was being paid for a job, the man at the switches felt obliged to obey his employer. Since the experimenting was being done in a Yale University laboratory in New Haven, Conn., he felt it was legal.

He also knew an electrical shock is painful — and is increasingly painful as the voltage increases.

ALL THE SWITCHES

For each one of the representative American males, the ringer strapped in the chair made enough mistakes to get all the switches pulled on him.

When the alleged voltage began getting high, he began pounding on the wall, calling attention to his pain.

Beforehand, Milgram asked 14 advanced students of human psychology to estimate how many out of any "100 Americans of diverse occupations" would in obedience to orders inflict pain on a helpless man to the maximum amount possible. These estimates ranged from zero to 3 per cent.

But 26 of the 40 men went all the way. Only five of the remaining 14 defied orders before the "punishment" got beyond 300 volts.

Actually there was no shocking — the generator wasn't generating. None of the 40 men knew that.

And none went through with the experiment without cost to himself, Milgram said in reporting to the American Psychological Association.

Fluoridation Bypass Scheduled for Flint

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit will agree to bypass its own fluoridation plant to get a contract to serve Flint an average of 35

Apricot preserves may be used as a filling for cake layers. The preserves also make a good sweetener and flavoring agent for baked apples; just fill the core cavities of the apples with the preserves and sugar.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: The Sweating Jars.

NEEDED: A jar half filled with ice water, a jar half filled with hot water.

DO THIS: Observe the jars. Droplets of water, often called "sweat," will appear inside the jar above the hot water, and outside the jar below the cold-water level.

WHY? The hot water saturates the air in the upper part of the jar, and as the moist air comes in contact with the cooler glass, some of the moisture condenses and forms the drops.

When moist air from the room comes into contact with the glass cooled by the ice water, some of the atmospheric moisture condenses to form drops on the outside of the glass.

The reason: Warm air can hold more water vapor than cool air.

Underdog Rockefeller Looks to Eleventh Hour Political Surge

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—"If Dartmouth can come from behind and win in the fourth quarter, then why can't we?" Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller asked a small band of his New Hampshire supporters in ringing, peppy fashion at a private dinner.

His audience understood and cheered the football allusion Rockefeller used to describe his present role in the contest for the Republican nomination for president—that of optimistic underdog.

Most of them had watched a few hours earlier as Dartmouth, Rockefeller's alma mater, defeated Holy Cross in the last five minutes of their game. A hard-driving offense and some razzle-dazzle football did the trick.

New York's millionaire governor hopes for a parallel development in his political contest with Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater—that he can come from far behind and win the Republican nomination for president.

MOUNTING OFFENSE

The governor is mounting a hard-driving offensive and employing a few razzle-dazzle tactics himself.

Elaborate strategy, platoon of advisers, tacticians, aides and field troops, substantial sums of money and some delicate decisions about the place of Mrs. Rockefeller in the campaign are other factors of the Rockefeller political operation. But even his warmest advisers concede privately that the prospects remain bleak.

Every poll of significance shows Rockefeller trailing far behind Goldwater in New Hampshire, which will be the first testing ground in the fight for the nomination, and in the nation at large.

RECRUITING PROBLEMS

Rockefeller has been having trouble recruiting Republicans of national stature to work for him.

To many national GOP leaders whose support is essential, Rockefeller long has been a frequent source of dismay. His political views, the surprising developments in his private life and his harsh comments on the conduct of party affairs have alienated potential supporters.

Why, then, does he persist in his quest of the nomination? What makes him think he can overturn the tradition that no divorced man ever gained the White House and that he can turn back the wave of conservatism that many Republicans see as their party's only hope of winning in 1964?

Rockefeller continues in his quest because of a desire for a place among the world figures who make the decisions affecting the course of national and global history.

NATIONALLY MINDED

He has demonstrated little appetite for the routine administration of state government, leaving most such decisions to others while he consults with advisers on such problems as nuclear testing, the national economy, civil rights, and the drain on U.S. gold reserves.

After 15 years in appointive posts in government, Rockefeller eventually realized that the big decisions were made by those who took the risks in politics. So, in 1958, he turned to active politics as a step toward his goal and achieved a governorship.

If he is reaching so high, why did he jeopardize his political future by divorce and then a second marriage to a woman 19 years his junior, the divorced mother of four children?

The answer to that lies in the deep belief of Rockefeller and his advisers in the power of high strategy, timing and public relations.

IMPACT SOFTENS

The remarriage last May was delayed until after the governor took office for a new term but was timed well in advance of the 1964 presidential activity. The theory was that the impact of the remarriage on the public would have softened by the time the governor began pursuing the nomination.

Now, Mrs. Rockefeller appears to be part of the grand strategy.

She has a prominent role in his campaigning at this stage and appears with her husband at political gatherings, in reception lines and at the many dinners that are part of the campaign ritual.

Mrs. Rockefeller greets individuals, exchanges pleasant signs, autographs with a printed "Happy" and turns, smiles, waves and looks at her husband at the direction of countless photographers.

But she holds no news conferences and this precludes the possibility that the new Mrs. Rockefeller will be asked her reaction to the marital publicity, why she divorced her husband, and custody arrangements for their children.

The strategy now calls for the governor and his wife to meet with Republican leaders and let them hear Rockefeller's political views, get a firsthand look at his famed, grassroots campaign techniques, chat with Mrs. Rockefeller and form their own conclusions on the couple they have heard so much about.

There is no hard sell, no direct appeal for support. Rockefeller is aware that his liberal views have brought Republican grumbling that he would be a "me-too" candidate.

He told New Hampshire voters that he had "fundamental, philosophical differences with President Kennedy and his administration."

CRITICIZES GOLDWATER

In other talks, Rockefeller criticized Goldwater for advocating U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations and abolition of foreign aid.

In those statements Rockefeller was adopting a middle-of-the-road position between the Democratic President and the conservative Republican leader. This appeared to be a reaction to the view of some Republicans that Goldwater is too far to the right and Rockefeller too far to the left.

Rockefeller's main appearances in New Hampshire last weekend were on college campuses, where he was assured of enthusiastic audiences. His schedule contained no public meetings that might have been used as a barometer for assessing his standing with New Hampshire Republicans.

The campaign for that key state is being slowly and carefully developed.

POLITICAL DEATH

The New Hampshire presidential-preference primary next March 10 will be the first in the nation. A defeat for Rockefeller could be the death of his political ambitions. A victory could be a turning point in an endeavor not marked by much initial success.

While Rockefeller concentrates on the personal approach in the preliminary phase of his campaign, the behind-the-scenes political operation is directed by an extensive staff in New York City.

A key man is George L. Hinman, a corporation lawyer turned political strategist. Hinman, from upstate Binghamton, N.Y., is Rockefeller's national agent.

Hinman, polished and diplomatic, has been moving about the country quietly, contacting GOP state leaders and urging them to make no commitments until they have given Rockefeller a fair hearing.

Hinman has given assurances that Rockefeller will run and there will be no repetition of 1960, when the governor withdrew abruptly from national politics, abandoning many of his early backers.

Teams of specialists, such as Henry Kissinger of the Harvard Center for International Affairs, help Rockefeller turn out policy statements. They concern such matters as nuclear testing, the national economy and the drain on the nation's gold reserves.

The Rockefeller operation on the road also is an elaborate one. Eight staff members accompanied him to New Hampshire, and five preceded him there to oversee preparations.

He is paying almost all the cost of the campaign out of his own pocket, although some of his aides are on the state payroll.

Rockefeller seeks to avoid charges that taxpayers are financing his presidential activity. He travels in the Rockefeller family's private, 22-passenger airplane which has a fulltime crew of three.

He has centralized extensive executive offices of state government and his private, political operation in one Manhattan building owned by him.

Here, the governor is free of the ceremonial and operational demands on his time that face him at the state capital.

Rockefeller, a businessman-philanthropist before he entered politics, has created the sort of office to which he is accustomed. He has dedicated it to the task of managing New York State and obtaining the Republican presidential nomination. The experts at Rockefeller headquarters now face a supreme uphill test in the coming months in attempting to capture a presidential nomination that eluded them four years ago.

Non-Communist Rebellion Within Viet Nam

Diem Regime Provokes Opposition With Harsh Repression

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
SAIGON, Viet Nam — In a corner of a dimly lit barroom, a young Vietnamese whispers a contemptuous remark about the government.

His companion asks with alarm: "Are you a VC?"
"That's the way everyone refers to the Viet Cong Communists."
"No," says the first, with a grin. "I'm just a Buddhist."
He is not really a Buddhist.

Latin Leader
Will Not Beg

to Come From U.S.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — The chief of Honduras' new military regime says he does not intend to beg for recognition from the United States, but he hopes it will be granted soon.

Col. Oswaldo Lopez Arellano, 42, the soldier who ousted President Ramon Villeda Morales on Oct. 3, said in an interview last night:

"The Armed Forces acted because they felt it was necessary to save the country and we felt our motives were fully justified. We hope others will comprehend our action."

But he said national dignity would not permit the regime to beg for recognition.

NO COMMUNICATION

The colonel said the United States suspended relations and withdrew its ambassador and its aid mission without even communicating its action to Honduras.

"The United States apparently tried to take off our roof," said Lopez Arellano, referring to a Honduran law which permits a landlord to remove the roof of a house if the tenant fails to pay his rent and refuses to get out.

"We have always been good friends with the United States and hope to continue to be in the future," said Lopez Arellano. "We hope to have relations with all countries except the Communist countries."

He said his government has had no contacts with the U.S. government since the military coup that took—by the colonel's estimate—83 lives.

EXPLAINS COUP

The military regime said last Oct. 3 that it overthrew Villeda Morales' government to halt Communist infiltration, to abolish a civil guard established by Villeda Morales and to avoid the danger of civil war.

Foreign observers said the military acted to prevent the election of the government party's presidential candidate, Modesto Rodas Alvarado, because he was determined to bring the virtually autonomous army under government control.

BACKGROUND
REPORT

but his reply points up what President Ngo Dinh Diem, his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu and their regime have done for themselves.

Diem has brought to real life the specter he feared most—a non-Communist opposition. The Buddhist affair has provided a rallying cause.

Buddhist leaders who oppose the government have been silenced or jailed. The only leaders remaining who can speak for their brethren are those known as the "true Buddhists"—people who do not oppose the regime.

MIXED-UP LAND

Like almost everything else in this mixed-up land, the Buddhist question is befogged by a cloud of contradictions.

Is this a religious issue? There are those who will tell you Buddhism is not a religion in the first place but a moral system. Buddha did not found a church.

The President is a Roman Catholic. His elder brother is archbishop of Hue, in central Viet Nam, where the Buddhist crisis began in May. The government dug up an old law at the time the Buddhists were celebrating the birthday of Lord Buddha, and forbade them from flying Buddhist flags. Only government flags would be permitted. Police went about Hue taking flags down. Buddhists staged a protest demonstration. The government broke it up, and—either from concussion grenades or police bullets—eight or nine persons were killed.

AVOID CRISIS

Even then, the government could have avoided the ugly crisis. It could have paid reparations to the families of those killed. It could have apologized to the Buddhists. It did neither. In the precepts of Buddhism, killing of any living creature is a great wrong. Yet, an aged Buddhist priest seated himself at a busy Saigon intersection, let himself be doused with gasoline and set fire to himself. His flaming suicide became a symbol of Buddhist protest. Four more monks and a nun followed his example later.

It is difficult to say how many Buddhists live in South Viet Nam and whether they truly make up a majority.

In all Viet Nam—north and south—there are 15 million who might call themselves Buddhists, according to a French authority. The majority of practicing Buddhists may now be in South Viet Nam, where there are about 15 million Catholics. But what kind of Buddhists are these?

I asked a Vietnamese whether he was a Buddhist.

"Partly," he said.

"Do you practice Taoism?"

"To some extent."

"How about Confucianism?"

"To some extent."

"How about Christianity?"

"Oh, I'd say I was about 15 per cent Christian."

He said this in all seriousness, as if not quite sure what he was and not too worried about it.

Mai Tho Tuyen, president of the Saigon Buddhist Association, says Buddhism over the years became a hodgepodge of many things, merging with Taoism, Confucianism, animism and polytheism.

STRONG RELIGION

Buddhism was stronger in Tonkin—North Viet Nam—than it was in Annam. Many Annamites who call themselves Buddhists never performed an act of Buddhism in their lives, says Mai Tho Tuyen. They do, however, have the oriental respect for the temple.

Thus, when government forces raided the Xa Loi pagoda in Saigon, it sent a shock wave through the capital and other cities. People who seldom paid any attention to the faith began calling themselves Buddhists. Students took up the cause.

The more the government tried to repress the Buddhists, the more it got itself into hot water, and the more repression seemed to be needed.

Diem and his brother Nhu seem interested primarily in security. This means cracking down on any breath of opposition, no matter what its label.

REGIME LABEL

The regime has tried to place the "leftist" and even "Communist" label on the Buddhists.

Expert Says Bureaucracy a Mess

Western Culture Doomed!—More or Less

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, friends, enjoy Western civilization while you can. In 37 more years it will fall down and go boom.

This is the prediction of O. Northcote Parkinson, a British historian and gadfly of bureaucrats everywhere.

"In the past," he said, "the burden of taxation and bureaucratic incompetence built up to a point where the civilization collapsed, as in the case of the Roman Empire."

"Historically, that seems to be the way the story ends—and we're headed that way. I don't mean our civilization will collapse tomorrow. It's a matter of time."

"I'd say—about the year 2,000—plus or minus, but that's just a guess."

BOOK'S THESIS

Parkinson believes that by then Eastern civilization will have overtaken the technological lead held by Western civilization and then become the dominant culture. It is the thesis of his latest book—that throughout history East and West have alternately ruled.

But no one is more cheerful in the face of potential doom than a jolly Englishman with a good digestion. And Parkinson faces the future with aplomb.

"The decay of one civilization is as important as the expansion of another civilization," he remarked. "In my view this has been a very useful process, because the friction between East and West has produced some of mankind's brightest ideas."

"In the absence of this friction we'd have a stagnant world and a lack of new creative ideas. You need contrasts in order to keep people awake," he says.

MASTER OF SATIRE

Although he has written some 16 serious historical works, the author is most widely known for his satirical attacks on governmental and corporate bureaucracy.

He has pointed out, hilariously, how in any bureaucratic organization work always expands so as to meet the time and personnel available, and expenses always rise to meet or even surpass income.

"The evils of bureaucracy can be curbed to some extent in a business by reform measures, he believes, but sees little hope for doing so in modern governments."

"The only place they have been curtailed," he said, "is in countries which have lost a war and where half the bureaucrats have been hanged. This, of course, is a rather expensive way of dealing with the problem."

WORSE OFF

Parkinson, a stocky, balding man with a genial sense of humor, feels that Britain is worse off than America when it comes to "crushing taxation and the proliferation of worse than useless officialdom."

The unorthodox historian also has another unorthodox theory —that all politicians over 65 are a bore, and probably a danger.

"That is your greatest political asset now—having a young president," he said.

"The responsibility of holding a high post ages one rapidly. If you start them elderly, they will soon become senile. But start them off young, and they merely become middle-aged."

By the way, if our civilization doesn't collapse in 2,000, don't bother to complain to Parkinson. He'll be 91 then—and probably have another theory.

SOLDIER'S SIDEKICKS—The GI has new friends to serve with him during his term of service. They are the M-14 (above) and AR-15 rifles, lighter and more versatile than the tried-and-true M-1 (below) which is being gradually replaced.

GI Loses Old Friend; M-1 Gets Discharged

FT. KNOX, Ky. (UP)—They're gradually mustering out the one-time best friend and constant companion of millions of ex-GIs, the M-1 or Garand rifle.

During World War II and the Korean conflict, this .30-caliber weapon served well. Now, the time has come for its retirement. It is being replaced by two more versatile rifles.

Many a GI took with a grain of salt the basic training instructor's introduction to the weapon:

"This is an M-1. Take care of it. Your rifle will be your best friend while you're in the service."

WAS A FRIEND

But the Garand did turn out to be the best friend of many soldiers and Marines in North Africa, Europe and the Pacific.

A pair of super-rifles — the M-14 and the AR-15, both lighter and reportedly more versatile than the M-1 — are replacing the Garand.

The new weapons are in the hands of combat troops in the hot spots around the world. The M-1 has been placed on the training status.

From the day the GI met the M-1 in basic training, he developed its friendship.

CLEANING PROCESS

Care of the M-1 came first on a long list of required chores. A cleaning patch was put down its barrel and the weapon was given a good dusting before the GI shaved in the morning.

A full cleaning job was completed before the rightly shower.

The M-1 was a rifle, weapon or piece — never a "gun."

The first and last time the GI called the M-1 a "gun" he was given the word from the training instructor that a serviceman treats his best friend with a respect second to none.

The best friend was carried on the shoulder during long marches. It was covered to protect the vital parts from rust during inclement weather.

DEADLY WEAPON

Many a GI can remember the virtues that made his best friend deadly — 68 pieces in three main groups, clip-fed, gas-operated, semi-automatic, weight of 9½ pounds, length of 43½ inches, maximum effective range of about 500 yards.

Even during those days of difficult transition from civilian to military life, the M-1 shared in the new GI's hardships — during many trips under barbed wire, through tear gas, along on dirt and sand.

It was training the GI hoped he would never put to use — but which many did. And it became invaluable on beaches, in swamps and over mountains, through forests and deserts.

Now the M-1 is passing, going on the rack with the other outdated weapons.

Foreign Aid Called 'Necessary Evil'

PNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk said in the newspaper Nationalist yesterday that American aid is a "necessary evil as much for the Cambodians as for Americans."

"The United States does not provide this aid out of sympathy for our policy but because it cannot be absent from any neutralist country placed at a nerve center in the world which is the object of much attention from the Socialist nations' camp," he said.

Free on Bond in Rape Case

A 31-year-old Pontiac man released on $10,000 bond Monday after his Circuit Court arraignment on a rape charge was free again today on a $4,000 bond after his arrest on a second rape warrant.

Louis Milton Jr., of 404 Bagley appeared before Pontiac Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum Wednesday and demanded examination on the second charge. Judge McCallum scheduled the examination for next Wednesday and set the $4,000 bond.

The second warrant was ordered by the county prosecutor's office late Tuesday. It accuses Milton of raping a 51-year-old woman in the basement of her home in southeastern Pontiac Sept. 29, 1962.

Milton stood mute in Circuit Court Monday on a charge of raping a Bloomfield Township woman April 13. Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem ordered him to stand trial, but set no trial date and reduced Milton's bond from $50,000 to $10,000. Milton was arrested Oct. 12 by police investigating a prowler report near St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Cartoonist Expires; a Victim of Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Clarence C. Russell, 67, who drew the comic strip character "Pete the Tramp," died Tuesday in Kingsbridge Veterans Hospital of cancer.

Russell, who lived in Fort Lee, N. J., was a founder of the National Cartoonists Society.

LONDON (UPI)—Lord Nathan, 74, liberal member of Parliament and Jewish labor peer, died Wednesday in a London hospital of complications following an appendix operation.

Nathan entered Parliament in 1929 and revived the old custom of riding to the house on horseback.

WESTPORT, Conn. (UPI)—Charles A. Holcomb, 67, an expert on trade mark regulations and practices, died at his home here after a brief illness.

Chrysler Steered Back

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corporation's phenomenal recovery, which is likely to result in a second 2-for-1 stock split and doubling of dividends within less than a year, was plotted by a 44-year-old accountant who went on the automaker's payroll only six years ago.

He is Lynn A. Townsend, who took over as president of Chrysler July 26, 1961. It then was wobbling, beset by internal dissension, and plagued by lawsuits and a loss of $15.7 million in the preceding six months.

Townsend trimmed 7,000 jobs out of middle-management and reorganized at the top. He wrought a quick switch from red to black ink as auto sales began accelerating toward the record-busting levels of this year.

Townsend joined Chrysler in 1957 as comptroller, moving over from the company's accounting firm of Touche, Ross, Bailey & Smart, in which he was a partner. He was promoted from administrative vice president when L. L. Colbert was relieved as president and board chairman four years later.

TO VOTE DEC. 17

Chrysler directors, noting a profit of $100 million in the first nine months of this year, decided in New York Thursday to propose a new 2-for-1 stock split and to continue a 25-cent quarterly dividend afterward. Stockholders will vote on Dec. 17.

Chrysler, the price of its stock spiraling, decided on a 2-for-1 split only last April.

Chrysler is in turmoil when Townsend took over. First, a conflict of interest charge forced out William C. Newberg as president and Colbert, who had advanced to chairman, assumed the presidency also.

Criticism of his handling of the conflict of interest case, declining sales and losses brought about Colbert's stepping out and into chairmanship of Chrysler Canada.

Within a year, Townsend reversed Chrysler's trend. The firm showed a profit of $11.9 million in the first half of 1962, at 13.2. against a $15.7 million loss in the same months of 1961.

Chrysler's penetration of the total U.S. auto market had sagged from 21.8 in 1961 to a low of 8.5. Townsend moved the percentage up to 9.6 and now 13.2.

Mom's Club

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The University of Dayton Mothers' Club, formed in 1935 to keep an eye on the 27 women students newly enrolled in the University, today numbers 900 members, and "mothers" not only the present 500 girl students but many boys, too.

Club activities range from taking cookies to sick students to maintaining a polo vaccine station.

It is not unusual to have a parent write or call with such requests as, "Please send my son a birthday cake," or would you find out if my son has enough money. He hasn't written for weeks.

First Hire 107 Cowboys

Hangover Advice: Fall in Gopher Hole

By DICK WEST
Despite its remarkable advancements in recent years, medical science has as yet been unable to find a surefire cure for hangovers.

Persons suffering from this widespread malady are still largely dependent on home remedies, based mainly on superstition and old wives' tales. None is guaranteed effective.

The other day, however, I heard about a new type of treatment that may be the answer. It was described to me by a New York advertising man I met at a lunch here.

This chap has been working on an ad campaign for the Bulova Watch Co. and last summer his duties took him to Las Vegas, Nev., to obtain a group photograph of 107 cowboys.

Perhaps you're wondering, as I did, what they wanted with a picture like that. Well, it was to illustrate, ad-wise, that the company sells 107 different types of waterproof watches.

It was no simple job to round up 107 cowboys in Las Vegas, but the adman did it. They were instructed to rendezvous out on the prairie early one morning in picturesque costumes.

MADE MISTAKE
The adman, however, made the mistake of celebrating the accomplishment prematurely. When he awoke that morning he had the worse case of after-effects he had ever experienced. His head felt like it might have belonged to Walt Whitman.

About the last thing he wanted to do was rendezvous on the prairie with 107 cowboys. But by then it was too late to make other arrangements.

For about an hour the anguished adman suffered under the sun while the cameraman set up the shot. Then, as fate would have it, he stepped in a gopher hole and fell flat on his face.

The impact of the fall stunned him momentarily, but when he got back to his feet, he discovered to his amazement that his hangover had completely disappeared.

THERAPEUTIC FORMULA
"This is incredible," I told the adman. "It appears that you have accidentally stumbled upon a therapeutic formula that has eluded medical science for years."

"All a person has to do to cure a hangover is fly out to Las Vegas, hire himself 107 cowboys, ride out on the prairie and do a swan dive over a gopher hole."

"That's about the size of it," the adman replied. "I thought of keeping the cure a secret and maybe cashing in on it commercially, but I'm too nice a guy for that. This is something I'm willing to share with all mankind."

"Do you think," I asked, "that the cure would work with only 106 cowboys?"

Israeli Violinist Plays 8 Encores in Moscow

MOSCO W(AP) — Ivri Gittis, an Israeli violinist, was applauded so long and so loud in the Moscow Conservatory Thursday night that he had to play eight encores to quiet the audience.

Gittis was the first Israeli to play in the Soviet Union as part of a cultural exchange program since the little state was created 15 years ago. This was his last concert of a three weeks' tour.

Maya Indians played their World Series for keeps. The captain of the vanquished team lost his head.

Diane Compton Wins
Homecoming Contest

By CAROL ARMSTRONG
Students of Emmanuel Christian High School will have many pleasant memories of last week's homecoming activities.

Crowned as homecoming queen was senior Diane Compton of 1480 Holland in Birmingham. She has worked on the school newspaper and has been a member of the pep club.

In school, she is following a commercial course and upon graduation plans to become a secretary.

As a memento of her reign, Diane received a sterling silver charm bracelet with a crown on it.

The senior class was victor in the float contest. Its float, with the theme, "Lancers for the Lord," depicted a Lancer kneeling on a red carpet in front of a flower-banked altar with an open Bible and a cross. The school's crest was also shown.

Taking second place in the float contest were the sophomores.

TICKET SALES

Winners of the ticket sale for homecoming were announced. Selling the most tickets was senior Sharon Lewis. She received a Scofield Bible as her reward.

In second and third places were Ron Dillingham and Linda Holman. They each received a Kodak "pony" camera, which takes colored slides.

Money from the ticket receipts will be used to purchase bleachers for the gym.

The senior class is busy selling boxed candy to earn money for the senior trip.

PNH Preparations Strange to Filipino Foreign Student

By SUSAN KILLEN

During the hustle and bustle of preparations for homecoming at Pontiac Northern High School, there is one person to whom it must seem strange. This is Myra Panglipan, our foreign exchange student.

Myra came to us from Cebu, Quezon City, the Philippines. She is now staying with her American sister, Mary Huemiller, a junior. In the Philippines, Myra attended St. Paul College of Quezon City, an all-girl high school.

During her senior year, she was required to take eight subjects, while at Northern, she has only four academic ones.

Myra is also very active in extracurricular activities. She is secretary of her homeroom, a member of the American Field Service club, participant in the girls recreation association, and political editor on the school newspaper, The Patriots. Her role of political editor consists of covering the student council meetings for the paper, and also writing articles pertaining to the student government.

When she returns home, Myra plans to enter the fields of interior decorating or architecture. She is now studying and the people in it.

"Northern High impresses me with its friendly atmosphere coming from both the teachers and the students. I thought this would last for only a week, but I still feel it and I know it's here to stay."

During the halftime activities the PNH band has prepared its own program. Then there will be a review of the floats, and the crowning of the king and queen.

From 10 p.m. to midnight, a dance will be held in the PNH cafeteria. Sponsored by the student council, this dance will consist of recorded music.

Appropriate clothing will be dressy clothes. All alumni of PNH are welcome to attend.

Russia's Bounding Ahead on Reclamation

By LASELLE E. COLES
Written for Associated Press

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—We visited four southern republics in the U.S.S.R. to look at reclamation projects. They are spending a great deal of money on research; they are building structures that do the job but are costly by our standards; they are bringing new land into production each year.

At Namanjan in the Fergana Valley they have watered 2.5 million acres. Their canals are as large as any we have in the United States, well-constructed and comparable to ours.

Trees are planted for timber along all their canals and laterals, so laterals must be cleaned by hand; a cost our economic system could not stand.

The trees clog the laterals but they have apparently taken care of this by over-designing. Where we use a concrete wall one foot thick, they have a wall 18 to 24 inches.

CROPS LOOK GOOD

The crops there look good. The irrigation system is in good condition, and even though they don't have structures according to our standards they are getting the job done.

For two days we visited the Hungry Steppe in Tashkent, an area of 2.5 million acres in the far southeast. The U.S.S.R. has reclaimed 875,000 acres with water, can reclaim two million there, and is bringing new land into production each year. This area is comparable to our Southwest. Most of the water is delivered by gravity but there are pumping plants and most of these were in good condition.

They were lining their canals with concrete slabs, hauled to the canals and put together with grout. In our country, this type of operation would be too costly. Even so, this area will eventually produce food and fiber in abundance for the citizens of the Soviet Union.

West of there, in Azerbaïdzhān, whose capital Baku is the oil center of the U.S.S.R., we found mountainous country with small fertile valleys. Džayran-Botan Lake there had been too salty to use for irrigation. They pumped fresh water into the lake to lower the salt content to a point where it can be used.

PUMPED OUT

The water then is pumped out of the lake through pipes over a project which will eventually irrigate 92,000 acres with sprinklers, the only way it can be irrigated with any degree of efficiency.

It is hard to visualize what the outcome will be on this project, now in its early stages. I do know a project of this type would be very costly in this country, but we will see a day when most of our irrigation systems will be in pipe in order to save water.

Armenia and Georgia have more irrigable land than water. They have built many canals and laterals but have not maintained them; their pumps are rusty and the ditches are full of grass. Their maintenance job in a few years will be as costly as the original cost of the project unless their practices are changed immediately.

Earlier in Fergana Valley we saw many people in the fields irrigating, weeding and picking cotton. In Armenia and Georgia we saw very few people in the fields. I am baffled by this situation, but there may be an answer. It is my understanding that at one time the Communists moved most of the peasants off the land into the cities. It may be that the people like city life so well that they refuse to work on the farms.

BILLION METERS LOST

Lake Sevan in Armenia covers a large surface, and a billion cubic meters of water is lost by evaporation each year. Soviet engineers are experimenting with various chemical films, applied by automatic drippers, to try and control this evaporation. It may be that they are further advanced in this field than we are in the United States.

In both Armenia and the Hungry Steppe they are doing a good job of reclaiming land by drainage.

NOT SAME SAFETY

The earth dams we visited where irrigation water is impounded do not have the safety factors that we build in ours. If their dams are safe, we are wasting money on ours. But as a citizen living below a dam de-

I did not see one measuring device being used. I came to the conclusion that if all the land belonged to the same person, there would be no fight over water, so why measure as long as there is plenty of water to do the job?

NOT SAME SAFETY

The earth dams we visited where irrigation water is impounded do not have the safety factors that we build in ours. If their dams are safe, we are wasting money on ours. But as a citizen living below a dam designed and built in the United States, I feel much safer.

In summary, the part of the Soviet Union we visited is vast, partly undeveloped, with a great potential in land and water.

With all their faults, they are moving ahead and as long as the international picture remains in status quo, they will continue to progress.

We in the United States must continue to develop our natural resources in an orderly fashion in order to meet the competition and the challenge presented by the U.S.S.R.

Says U. of M. Economist

Attack Youth Joblessness

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A University of Michigan economist yesterday called for a large-scale national attack on youth unemployment.

Testifying before a U.S. Senate subcommittee on labor and public welfare, Daniel Fusfeld urged the creation of a community youth employment and training program to strike at the problems of high school dropouts and unemployed high school graduates.

His program would be financed by the federal government, but Fusfeld said that to be successful, it must be administered on the local level.

It would place joint responsibility on high schools and state employment services for finding employment opportunities for all high school graduates not planning to go to college.

ALL TO COOPERATE

Employers, community organizations of all types, and local governments would be called in to cooperate in the job search.

Employers would agree to employ young men or women for a minimum of one year after graduation.

Then, he said, an employer of last resort would have to be available to provide jobs for those who cannot otherwise be placed.

This, he said, would be the federal government, which could provide employment opportunities through a youth conservation service, a domestic peace corps, the armed forces, or other programs for youth employment.

TRAINING PROGRAMS

To implement the program, Fusfeld called for a nationwide community youth employment and training programs prepared to place and train at least 500,000 young people each year for the next ten years.

Such a program, he said, would cost about $240 million, which he labeled "a small price to pay for the elimination of youth unemployment, and a significant reduction in the number of school dropouts."

Junior Editors Quiz on SUNLIGHT

QUESTION: How does the sun tan and burn you?

ANSWER: Only a small fraction of the sun's rays affect our skin—the "ultra violet" rays. These are invisible, but our skin feels them very definitely.

Fifteen minutes of exposing an untanned skin to bright sunlight will start tanning; twenty minutes may cause sunburn. To understand what happens, look at the diagram.

In the outermost of the skin's two layers are networks of little cells called "melanocytes."

These cells produce particles of a brownish substance, melanin. Ultra violet rays start the melanocytes working and the melanin they turn out (right) gives the skin its tan color.

Melanin absorbs ultra violet rays and so gives protection. But if you stay out in the sun too long, a chemical is released which works down into the skin's lower layer and makes the blood vessels swell. This causes the painful redness of sunburn.

Too much sunburn can cause real discomfort, even sickness.

Skin experts say Americans tend to overdo sunbathing. A good coat of tan is fine, but it doesn't make sense to broil our bodies in sunlight, as if we were cooking hamburgers.

FOR YOU TO DO: Tan gradually, the skin experts say. Remember these other pointers: If you have to be out a lot, use skin lotion and wear dark glasses. If you should get sunburned, use a standard burn remedy.

Detroit News
Goes to Press

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News today planned its first full press run since Sunday, following settlement of a work stoppage by pressmen.

Management and Detroit Printing Pressmen's Union No. 13 will meet at 1:30 p.m. today "to discuss the settlement which caused the shutdown," the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association said.

Meanwhile, Freeman D. Fraze, president of Local 13, said pressmen will work today.

Some subscribers of the afternoon News received papers yesterday, as presses started rolling for the fourth edition.

STOPPED MONDAY

Pressmen had stopped the presses after Monday's second edition, but presses started the pressmen were not on strike.

The publishers association represents both the News and the mounting Detroit Free Press in bargaining with printing craft unions.

The Free Press was not affected by the work stoppage.

Fraze said earlier the dispute involved responsibilities of the pressmen.

Nurse Wage Hike
Set at Osteopathic

A wage hike for registered and licensed practical nurses became effective at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital today.

The increase will amount to about $100,000 per year more in the payroll for nurses, announced Harry H. Whitlow, administrator.

The starting salary for head nurses will be $472 monthly with step increases up to $542.

Staff nurses will start at $398 monthly with increases up to $458.

RATE SCHEDULE

Depending on their classification, licensed practical nurses will start at $317 or $351 monthly with step increases up to $385 and $403 respectively. Whitlow said the amount of individual pay hikes varied greatly depending on the position and step in the pay grade.

Highway Post Expires in June

Mackie Poised at Crossroads of Career

LANSING — John Mackie, boss of the building of many highways in Michigan, still is looking for signposts to point out his own road in the future. Mackie is a dinosaur among highway commissioners — the last of a soon-to-be extinct breed. Under the new state constitution, his term as the nation's last elected highway commissioner will expire on June 30, 1965.

Mackie is considering many possibilities. In the political field, these include running for governor, for lieutenant governor or trying for Congress in the new seventh district.

Other alternatives are accepting a federal appointment or returning to a private engineering-surveying practice in Flint.

Intimates say Mackie savors most of the idea of running against Gov. George Romney because the political climate would have to be right.

"I frankly haven't made up my mind as yet," Mackie says. "I know I'll have to do it pretty soon. Even my wife is bugging me to make a decision."

"I'll have to choose between making money and having fun," Mackie mused in an interview. "I could do a lot better financially in private practice. But once the political bug bites you, you hate to give the business up."

Mackie once rejected a $24,950-a-year offer to head the Detroit Street Railway System. He has gained national prominence as president of the American Association of State Highway Officials and has turned down at least one offer to head a highway-building program in another state.

VOTE PULLER

Mackie has proved himself a vote puller for the Democratic party. He won his first four-year term in 1957 by 52,700 votes. He swept into second term by 242,000-vote runaway in April of 1961, outpolling all other candidates on both tickets.

Mackie, 42, is keeping himself in shape to run for anything. He plays handball, rides quarter horses, ice skates and wheels a tractor around on his 50-acre farm near Lansing.

The highway commissioner had thick, black hair when he first took office. It is greying now, but a crewcut gives him a youthful look.

Mackie has been taking an increasingly active role in party affairs. He was a bitter and outspoken opponent of the new state constitution, which abolishes his election office, replacing it with a four-man bipartisan commission empowered to appoint a highway commissioner or director.

Mackie says he was mainly concerned because the legislature will have the say on spending gas and license plate tax monies, now earmarked for highway purposes.

Cavanagh's Son Injured
on Hand

DETROIT (AP) — The 3-year-old son of Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh — same boy who was almost strangled last year — suffered a crushing hand injury while playing yesterday.

Christopher Cavanagh was hurt when a 35-pound religious statue fell on his right hand. He and six other Cavanagh children were playing near a flower bed in their father's back yard.

Doctors at Mount Carmel Hospital said Christopher received fractures of the third and fourth fingers of his right hand. He was to be examined by bone specialists.

The Cavanagh children were left in the care of relatives when the Mayor and his wife went to Europe last week. The Cavanaghs were reported en route home when the accident occurred.

HURT ON NECK

On July 1, 1962, Christopher's neck was caught in a power window of the family station wagon. A neighbor revived him with mouth-to-mouth respiration and the boy spent two days in the hospital.

Vice Crackdown Gets

60 Jailed in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Police arrested more than 60 persons late Thursday night in a major vice crackdown on scores of clubs and taverns in the Pittsburgh district.

Some 150 troopers, led by State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy, swooped down on the clubs shortly before midnight and only a few hours after Gov. William Scranton had blasted law enforcement in the city.

"If we had only worked a little bit harder to beat the constitution..." he still occasionally moans regretfully.

Even Republicans will say of Mackie: "I don't like his politics, but he sure does build highways."

LOTS OF CASH

A gusher of federal road-building money has been poured into Michigan.

Michigan is a leader in the construction of interstate freeways. It was first in the nation to pass the half-way mark of its road quota and now has more than 1,000 miles completed.

The state recently received an award for the most beautiful and best-planned highway of 1963, a 22-mile stretch of I-75 from Vandalia to Indian River.

Some communities are irked because they were bypassed by freeways. There has been a hassle over banning roadside advertising and promotional signs. There have been the inevitable disputes over right of way purchases.

Mackie's political road has had other bumps.

The Michigan Society of Professional Engineers in 1957 started a suit to disqualify him from office because he was a surveyor, not a registered engineer at the time. The suit lost and Mackie later passed his qualifying exam.

Former State Sen. John Stahlin, R-Belding, launched a Senate probe alleging misuse of funds in the department. The probe petered out as Stahlin cited such examples as publication of a department magazine and time off for employees to plan a May dance.

Rep. Roger Townsend, D-Flint, made a charge of racial discrimination in the department. The State Fair Employment Practices Commission later gave the department a clean bill of health.

WENT AHEAD

The legislature frowned on building a tourist information center at the Straits of Mackinac Bridge. Mackie went ahead anyway, and the center since has won applauding acceptance. Gov. Romney and Mackie have fought a series of running battles.

Romney started an investigation of the safety of twin I-94 railroad bridges near St. Joseph. Some changes were made, although the department has contended the bridge is safe.

The governor and Mackie also have been feuding about various considerable payments to contractors above the original contract prices. The Democratic State Board of Administration has succeeded in getting these through.

Mackie turned down the job as federal highway administrator for the bureau of Public Roads more than two years ago. It is not currently open, but there are other national appointive possibilities.

"Many states aren't off the ground yet in their highway building programs," said

Mackie. "There is a job to be done there but the authority is limited."

Mackie will be feted at a testimonial dinner at the Lansing Civic Center Dec. 4, billed as a nonpartisan affair. George Higgins, former Republican senator and a member of the State Employment Securities Commission, and Ed Carey, president of the Detroit House Democratic leader, are cochairmen.

TRIAL BALLOON?

Many see this as a trial balloon of Mackie popularity. Tickets are $10, and the event is being well promoted to assure a good attendance. "If there is a big crowd, I might think more of political office," Mackie admitted. "If only a few turn out, I might reconsider."

Luxury and comfort are stressed in the home furnishing field this fall.
Reclining chairs come not only in "his and her" models, but in a wide range of sizes to accommodate a person of any height.
Manufacturers believe that good fit in a chair is important. A recliner must give proper support to the body at head, shoulders, back, legs and feet while the chair is at any and all of its positions.
Customer preference in design has not been ignored. Among the many styles Early American is still widely popular. Trim, lightly scaled models appeal to feminine tastes and big, roomy versions are preferred by men.
Some of the chairs are completely upholstered; others have exposed wood trim. Cover fabrics are almost limitless.
BEDSPREADS
Luxury is definitely the watchword in the bedspread field. New Mediterranean

Stylized flowers bold in scale pattern this king size bedspread imported from Italy by Nettle Creek Industries. Called Lorca, the fringed spread is reversible and comes in unexpected colors: red with hot pink and turquoise; emerald, sapphire and sky blue; orange, yellow and nutmeg; royal purple, turquoise and midnight blue; apricot, pink and white; forest green, aqua and natural. May be ordered locally.

No Do-It-Yourself Kit

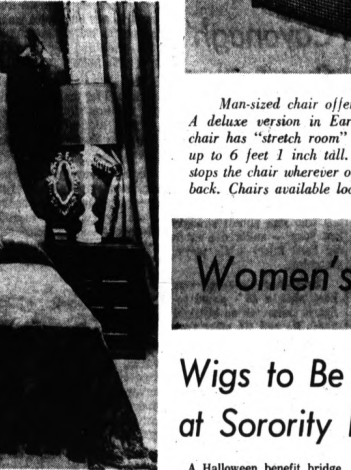

Dentistry Is for Pros

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to make things.
He's made ceramic ash trays and candy dishes as pretty as anything you can buy in the stores.
And he can fix anything. He's only been through sixth grade, but I know if he had a do-it-yourself dental kit he could fix teeth.
(Just mine and the kids—he wouldn't go into business or anything like that.) Are such kits available?
I heard they were, but when I wrote to Sears they took it as a joke.
MRS. O. J. J.
DEAR MRS. O. J. J.: Skill in dentistry is acquired through years of study and practice.
Don't be sore at Sears. There is no such "kit." Fortunately!
DEAR ABBY: "The noblest mother of them all" has always been, is now, and ever shall be, the girl who cares enough about her children-to-be to marry their father-to-be before her children are conceived.
"KNEW ONE"
DEAR "KNEW ONE": Touché!
DEAR ABBY: My wife told me that she had been railroaded into the presidency of an organization at the second meeting she attended.
She said she hadn't even paid her membership dues because she wasn't sure she wanted to join the club.

A Halloween benefit bridge and hair fashion show is planned for Tuesday, 8 p.m. at First Federal Savings of Oakland.
The party sponsored by Beta Chi chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha National Sorority, will add the group's philanthropic projects.
Hair fashions including new styles and colors in wigs from Nita's of Woodward Avenue will be modeled by Sandy Nicholson, Lucia Piekars, Mrs. Richard DeHann, Mrs. John Christoff and Mrs. Harry Rhodes.

She also said that when her name was brought up for president, she wasn't given a chance to say she didn't want it, but was voted in unanimously by a show of hands.
I don't want her holding an office in any clubs as she has two preschool children and two in school, which keeps her busy enough at home.
She says she's afraid if she tells them she can't accept the presidency, her name will be mud in the community—which is all right with me. What do you think?

DEAR HUSBAND: Tell your wife to write the organization a letter, explaining why she is unable to do justice to the office.

Q: A company with whom my husband does business is moving shortly to larger quarters. Invitations have been sent out to visit their new offices on opening day.
My husband is quite friendly with the owner and would like to know if there is anything he should do in regard to sending a gift or message on this occasion.
He will not be able to accept the invitation.
A: He needn't do anything, but it would be a nice gesture on his part to send a telegram to the owner wishing him continued success in his new quarters.
Q: My daughter is going to be married next month at a rather large church wedding. The reception, however, will be limited to members of the bridal party and the immediate families—about 25 in all.
We are going to a very nice restaurant for dinner.
I would like to know if it will be proper for my daughter to wear her wedding dress and veil at the reception even though taking place in a public restaurant.
A: Your daughter may certainly wear her wedding dress and veil at the reception even though taking place in a public restaurant.
Q: When introducing a married woman, is she introduced as Mrs. John Jones or simply as Mrs. Jones?
A: If she is one of a large family of Joneses, introduce her as Mrs. John Jones in order to distinguish her from the other Mrs. Joneses. Otherwise introduce her as Mrs. Jones.

This Couple Is Traveling First Class

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: We are moving to Galveston, Tex., with about $2,500 cash and no debts. Could you show us a budget plan to help us? My husband's take-home pay will be $600 a month. We have two children, ages 3 and 2 years.

We think we would be wise to rent an unfurnished home for about $100-$150 a month, until we find a home to buy. The main objective is to save enough money for a down payment on maybe a $30,000 home. Any suggestions you can give us would be greatly appreciated.

G. S., Fulton, Md.

Dear Mrs. S.:

That's what I call traveling first class—free of debt and with money in your pocket! It's a fine opportunity to build toward what you want. Just avoid the temptation to set your living standards too high—which is a temptation when you move into a new community.

If you are willing and able to settle for a rental of $100 a month, the following budget should prove realistic:

Housing, $100; household operating costs, $40; food, $140; clothes, $60; savings, $60; personal allowances, $90; miscellaneous, $30; medical, $30; recreation, $20; car operating, $40.

Your savings must allow for insurance, emergencies, and something toward the down payment on the home you plan to buy. Of course, you have the $2,500 lump sum to build on, which gets you off to a good start.

You may find you can manage certain other budget categories so smartly you can pick up an extra savings dollar from time to time. So keep an eye on expenditures for food, personal allowances, and car operating.

(You can obtain Mary Feeley's budget suggestion leaflet by writing her in care of The Pontiac Press enclosing a self-addressed, stamped, long envelope.)

Dry Clean Outdoor Jackets

EAST LANSING—You'll be better off dry cleaning outdoor jackets, even if they are labeled washable.

A Michigan State University home economist tested seven types of jackets and found that dry cleaning was safer, even for those with "washable" labels.

The researcher Barbara Stowe of the MSU department of textiles, clothing and related arts, learned that dry cleaning causes less shrinkage and less appearance change.

She also discovered that it's extremely risky to launder a jacket that has no cleaning instructions on the label. She laundered one jacket that looked washable but lacked instructions. The result? The lining shrank 16.2 per cent after one washing!

Mrs. Stowe also learned that:

• Jackets of cotton-rayon poplin lined with taffeta quilted to polyurethane foam and of nylon taffeta with a nylon pile knit lining seemed to be the most satisfactory, especially if dry cleaned. They were light in weight, did not shrink or stretch, and were good insulators and wind-breakers.

• A jacket that contains one firmly woven fabric and one thick, resilient fabric offers the most comfort in cold, windy weather.

• Short pile on knit linings is more likely to retain a neat appearance after wearing and cleaning than long pile.

CHECK FIBER
Mrs. Stowe also suggests that you ask your salesclerk about the quality of fiber in the batting before buying a quilted, fiberfill lined jacket. The batting should be made of new, not waste fibers.

Waste fibers tend to mat after cleaning because they do not have the resilience of new fibers.

She also says to ask your dry cleaner not to tumble dry garments with pile knit linings. They may shrink if they are tumble dried after either laundering or dry cleaning.

Stronger than ever is the ski look for all-outdoors. This reversible rainbow print nylon parka with button under the collar hood comes in pink, powder blue or maize and is filled with lofty "Dacron 88."

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

On-the-go grooming is an art! To plan a day which continues on into the evening without an opportunity to return home takes some skill, some cosmetics and some soap.

If you want to know how to transform yourself into a glamorous girl after 5 p. m. take a tip from the fashion models who carry tote bags stuffed with accessories and necessities to help them change their appearance to match style after style.

This idea can be used regardless of occupation; whether you are a career girl, or a traveler or a homemaker who likes a spree in the shops followed by dinner with her husband.

Start out with a large handbag which will hold a generous assortment of needed items. Tuck in a washcloth, a different pair of gloves wrapped in plastic, bobby or hairpins, costume accessories for the evening such as a scarf or blouse or a change of jewelry. Also, a fresh pair of stockings will make you feel like a new woman.

Most washrooms supply soap but you can take your own wrapped in foil if you wish. If you possibly can, take time to wash your face, neck and arms.

Use a thick lather and don't forget your hairline where hair spray and cosmetics meet or the skin around your nostrils or on your chin where facial oils play havoc with your make-up. You will not only feel refreshed but you will avoid that patched-up unattractive appearance which comes from applying new make-up over old.

You can be more daring with eye shadow, eye liner and rouge for evening.

Can it be that whipped cream, apple snow, candy and shrimp cocktail are among the items appearing on a seven-day reducing diet?

Those items are among the treats in store for women who previously have dreaded dieting because the menus seem so uninteresting. The diet is Josephine Lowman's TRICK AND TREAT diet which will appear in her Why Grow Old? column starting Saturday.

Enjoy interesting menus as you lose up to five pounds in just seven days.

WHY BOSTONIANS GO THROUGH LIFE BRAGGING ABOUT THEIR BEANPOTS

It seems clear the beanpot bit was born of sheer desperation. Unless you're lucky people here in Michigan, Bostonians have nothing like the rich, rare taste of Michigan's Cash Wines to cheer about, brag about. Thankful that Cash saved you from this indignity? Mexico Town May Never Be the Same

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico—There is no digit dialing in this sun-drenched resort town for the simple reason that there are no telephones.
No television, either. The lack of such modern nuisances—plus reasonable prices, excellent fishing and hunting, and stunning scenery—have made Puerto Vallarta a treasured hideaway for a small but growing band of American tourists.

Says Mexico aficionado Tennessee Williams: "This place has the same unspoiled beauty that Acapulco had 20 years ago. That Puerto Vallarta will go the commercial way of Acapulco is the fear of its fond admirers. The first big hotel, the Posada Vallarta with 150 rooms, is scheduled to open next month.

PICTURE SHOOTING
The world's attention is being focused here with the shooting of "The Night of the Iguana," starring Richard Burton, Ava Gardner, Deborah Kerr, Sue Lyon and James Ward. As you may have read by now, Mr. Burton's sometime costar, Elizabeth Taylor, has accompanied him here.

At this early stage in the filming it would appear that the advent of the movie company has done little to change the local scene. The local citizens seem to be going about their lives with the same easy pace, paying scant heed to the famous visitors. It has not been a wholesale invasion, as when the "Mutiny on the Bounty" troupe descended on Tahiti to lavish its millions. So sets had to be built in town. Most of the crew was recruited from the craftsmen of Mexico City.

So Puerto Vallarta is likely to survive "The Night of the Iguana." Whether it will also survive the coming onslaught of tourists remains to be seen.
LIZ IS PLEASED
Odds and ends: Elizabeth Taylor was pleased by the reaction to her televised tour of London and reports that it has been sold for showing in England. "I know the British critics won't like it; they've blasted the show already," says she. "They resent it because I am an Anglo-American and they think one of their own should conduct a tour of London."

"But I think it should be shown, in England, anyway. There are people who live 50 miles from London all their lives and never see it."

DIE IN FIRE—Mrs. Nina Mae Davis, 70, mother of late comedienne Joan Davis, and Mrs. Beverly Colbert, 29, Miss Davis' daughter, were killed in a pre-dawn fire in Palm Springs, Calif., yesterday. Mrs. Colbert's children, Guy, 7, and Larry, 4, also lost their lives.

No Protest Lodged in Berlin Overflight

BERLIN (UPI)—The U. S. Army yesterday sent a helicopter over East Berlin without the usual protest from the Soviets.

An American spokesman said the Soviet controller at Berlin's four-power air safety center "did not protest the flight as they generally have in recent times."

American officials were gratified by the lack of a protest. They felt the Russians, in line with efforts to reach agreement with the United States on disputed international questions, might be ending their long campaign to restrict western use of the Berlin air control zone.

He Climbed to the Top

LONDON (UPI)—Sir William Carron, president of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, began his career as a six-shilling—(84 cents)—a week apprentice. Last night, he was appointed a director of the Bank of England.

Piece of Litter Was Actually a Good Check

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP)—That piece of paper intrigued Bob Beckwith as he watched the wind whisk it around the sidewalk in front of his cleaning shop Thursday.

He saw one pedestrian brush the paper off his sleeve, others kick it and step on it. Finally, he picked it out of the gutter, half a block away.

It was a check, for $318, endorsed and fully negotiable. Beckwith turned the check over to police, who held it for the owner—St. John's College. It apparently had been lost by a college official on the way to the bank.

Bread Prices May Go Up

Speculation in Wheat Given as Reason

CHICAGO (UPI)—Housewives soon may have to pay more for bread.

And in the complicated laws of economics which govern such things, there was disagreement and uncertainty whether the Russian-American wheat talks were responsible.

The Department of Agriculture in Washington said the increase in the price of wheat was not enough to force a hike in the price of bread.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Colo., predicted bread would rise a penny to a penny and a half a loaf because of speculators taking advantage of a Russian wheat deal.

NO GUESS

"We wouldn't hazard a guess," a spokesman for Car-gill Inc., Millers in Minneapolis said, when asked what would be the effect on the price of bread.

Wheat sold at $1.87 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade on Aug. 30, about the time talks began in the trade over a Russian-Canadian wheat deal.

On Sept. 13, the Friday before the deal was announced March wheat held at $1.95%. A week later, the price shot up to $2.05%.

On Oct. 9, the day President Kennedy was expected to announce his approval of a wheat deal with Russia, prices were up to $2.11%. Yesterday in Chicago, March wheat closed at $2.13%.

ABOUT PEAKED
Department of Agriculture economists said wheat prices have just about peaked.

They said little more increase is expected except for normal carrying charges which usually add about 1 cent per bushel monthly.

Singer, Actress Wed in Vegas Ceremony

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Singer Vic Damone, 35, and actress Judy Rawlins, 26, were married last night in a quiet ceremony performed by a justice of the peace at the Sands Hotel here. It was the second marriage for both.

Cold Due; Monoxide Threat On

LANSING (AP)—The arrival of winter's cold will bring to Michigan an increased threat of accidental death by carbon monoxide poisoning — especially among teenage couples in parked cars.

"The tragic scene of a young boy and a young girl found in a parked car with the windows closed, the ignition on, the gas tank empty and the battery dead, was repeated at least 16 times last year resulting in 18 deaths," State Health Commissioner Albert Heusius said.

"In eight of these incidents both persons involved were killed. That's a pretty high mortality rate for any cause of death," he said.

The department is launching an all-out effort through parents, teachers and the news media to warn of the danger of the lethal gas which last winter claimed more than 60 lives in Michigan.

KEEP MOTOR OFF

"I don't suppose it would do any good to try to discourage young people from sitting in parked cars. They are going to do it anyway," he said.

"But if we can convince them not to turn on the car motor when it becomes too cold, they would go home instead of being taken to a hospital or morgue," he said.

"We must impress on people, especially young people, the importance of being aware of this danger."

"If everyone recognized that carbon monoxide is present whenever there is combustion—canned heat, gas refrigerator, furnace or automobile engine—and that to protect against it requires ventilation, we could eliminate most of the accidental exposures to carbon monoxide."

AT TESTIMONIAL DINNER — Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt (left) chats with Michigan Supreme Court Justice Theodore Souris (center) and John Plumides, national president of the Order of Ahepa, prior to a dinner honoring Judge Pratt in Bloomfield Hills last night. Souris and Plumides spoke at the banquet, which was attended by some 300 and sponsored by the Pontiac chapter of Ahepa, a Greek fraternal organization, and the Daughters of Penelope. Appointed to the Circuit Court by Gov. Romney, Pratt took office Sept. 6.

Negroes Arrested in Worship

Rights Sought in White-Only Churches
By United Press International
—Attorneys for the National Council of Churches appear in federal court today to ask that officials in Jackson, Miss., be halted from arresting Negroes attempting to worship at "white-only" churches.

U.S. District Court Judge Harold Cox was ordered by the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday to take charge of the case, which stems from the arrest Sunday of a biracial group which tried to attend services at a white church.

The 12-member group included four ministers from Chicago. Three of the 12 were convicted of trespassing and interfering with worship by a Jackson court and fined $1,000 each.

Cox has been asked to overturn these convictions.

ANOTHER GROUP
Another group of civil rights crusaders also appeared yesterday to the federal courts to take jurisdiction in their case.

Eleven "freedom riders," including Yale University chaplain William Sloan Coffin

Jr., asked the U.S. Supreme Court to overturn their conviction for breach of the peace.

The group of Negroes and whites was convicted last year while attempting to eat together in a bus terminal at Montgomery, Ala.

In Louisiana, there also is a dispute brewing over whether state or federal authorities should have jurisdiction in a civil rights case.

BANS DEMONSTRATION
Louisiana District Judge John R. Rarick yesterday added another 10 days to his order banning the Congress of Racial Equality from demonstrating in Clinton, La., despite a federal appeals court decision ordering him to halt all proceedings against the organization.

The appeals court said the proceedings should be halted until it had time to determine whether the case should be under federal jurisdiction.

But Rarick said the appeals court order "is without warrant in law" and extended his injunction against the integrationist organization.

Other racial developments:
TALLAHASSEE — Records show that Florida Negroes, apparently spurred by civil rights drives, have increased their voting registration by 11.1 per cent in the past year.

Thirty-two Negroes were convicted yesterday of trespassing charges stemming from a racial demonstration last month.

MEMPHIS — The Memphis Press-Scimitar yesterday endorsed Dr. Hollis F. Price, a prominent Negro educator, as a candidate for the Memphis Board of Education.

It was the first time the Scripps-Howard newspaper had ever endorsed a Negro for political office.

RESUME PICKETS
GASTONIA, N. C. — Negroes resumed picketing at two segregated theaters here last night.

A white group, supporting the segregation policies, bought tickets for all white customers who wanted to enter.

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — A "Conference on Disadvantaged Americans" got under way today at Tuskegee Institute, the 82-year-old Negro college founded by Booker T. Washington.

Main speaker will be Lucius D. Battle, assistant secretary of State for cultural affairs.

Berbers Forsake Grudges to Join Algerians in Battle

ALGIERS (AP)—The leader of Algeria's tough Berber rebels headed for the Algerian-Morocco battlefront today after rallying to President Ahmed Ben Bella's call for a united front against Morocco.

Ben Bella's announcement that Berber chieftain Col. Mohamed Ou El Hadj had agreed to end his anti-government guerrilla campaign and join in battling Morocco was coupled with an Algerian claim that Moroccan troops were in full retreat along the battlefront. The Moroccans denied the claim.

The government's Algerian radio reported early today that Ou El Hadj had left his hideaway in the Kabylie Mountains with a select band of his fierce tribesmen for the desert outpost of Hassi Beida, center of the border fighting.

"ONLY ONE ALGERIA"
"From now on there is only one Algeria," Ben Bella said in an emotional radio speech announcing the pledge of Berber support after a secret meeting.

Ou El Hadj, one of Algeria's most experienced and respected soldiers, commanded the Kabylie guerrillas against the French during the seven-year Algerian independence war. He was discharged from the army by Ben Bella last month after he supported Berber politician Hocine Ait Ahmed in a campaign against Ben Bella's one-man government.

The Algerian government announcement said that by Thursday morning the Moroccans had withdrawn 11 miles from their original advance positions.

"Our own losses were seven men injured, one seriously and six others slightly," the announcement said.

HEAVY ATTACKS
In the Moroccan command headquarters at Marrakech, a staff officer admitted heavy Algerian attacks but claimed the Moroccans "continued to hold their position."

A Moroccan spokesman told newsmen fighting ended at dawn Thursday and the Moroccans had captured 35 Algerians. He said one Moroccan was killed and two wounded.

Independent witnesses said the Algerians reoccupied the palm-fringed oasis late Tuesday, driving out the Moroccans who took it Oct. 14.

Truman Quips Round Campus

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—"Being president of the United States is a tremendous responsibility. It is also the highest honor any man in this world can have. I do not intend to raise my two grandsons to be president."

Former President Harry S. Truman was commenting yesterday on a question, "Is it fun to be president?"

The query came from a boy about 6 years old, a son of a Drake University student, during Truman's brief appearance on the campus here.

Truman stopped at Drake on his way home to Independence, Mo., after two days as "politician-in-residence" at Grinnell College, 55 miles east of here.

TOUR HIGHLIGHTS

The two-day political lecture-ship at Grinnell was highlighted by a tumble into campus shrubbery, a light paddling on the rump by upperclassman Ken Richards, Naperville, Ill., and a rare display of irritation with young people.

Truman sharply criticized some Grinnell students for their carefully researched questions calling for afterthought comment about incidents during his White House tenure.

He made it clear that if they had read enough to formulate the questions, they also should know his opinions on the subjects.

He followed the same theme at Drake, but was in his more customary jovial mood there.

HASN'T TIME

He told a group of young Democrats a chief executive does not have time to "walk back and forth picking his teeth, worrying whether he has done right."

As Truman stepped out of the Grinnell College guest house for his morning walk yesterday, his foot slipped off the edge of a sidewalk curb.

Thrown off balance, he plunged backward into shrubbery lining the walk, but the resilient limbs of an evergreen broke his fall and he was not hurt.

AP Photos

TUMBLE—Former President Harry S. Truman uses his cane and helping hand of Jake More of Harlan, Iowa, a former Iowa Democratic state chairman, to help himself out of shrubbery after he slipped off steps of a Grinnell (Iowa) College building during a tour there yesterday.

Aides pulled him to his feet and while they brushed dust and leaves from his suit, Truman swung back into action and started signing autographs for a score of youngsters, asking the name of each boy and girl so he could write a personal message to them.

STILL UNRUFFLED

The 79-year-old Democrat, who faced enemy artillery as a World War I captain and the "big guns" of politics as president, was unruffled by his tumble.

He even reinstated his "initiation" into West Norris Hall, a men's dormitory, which he had canceled Wednesday when he had a tiring and trying day.

In the West Norris lounge, he obligingly bent over to receive a lap from Richards' lightly wielded wooden paddle.

The impact of the paddle was scarcely audible, and Truman quipped "that wasn't so bad." Richards' swat was only slightly more vigorous on a retake for the benefit of photographers and sound-on-film television cameramen.

Liner Picks Up Boy on Freighter for Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—An ocean liner which met a freighter in mid-Atlantic took a 9-year-old boy aboard for an emergency appendectomy Thursday. The transfer was made by a small boat in rough seas.

Heavy swells had delayed the transfer for many hours.

The boy, Ruykert Fowler of Nyack, N.Y., was reported doing well after the operation. He was stricken Tuesday on the S.S. Wolverine State, bound for Falmouth, England. His parents were with him.

The Wolverine State, as is usual with freighters, does not carry a doctor.

The liner Bremen is en route to Germany.

Rare Vase Unearthed
PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Archaeologists digging up ancient Greek tombs at Selinunte found one containing a rare askos—a vase shaped like an animal. This one, well preserved, represented a cow.

The University of Michigan was the first institution of higher learning in this country to establish a professorship in transportation engineering.

Group Backs Simple Rites

Area Founder Says 600 Families in Unit

The Waterford Township founder of a group that is opposed to "lavish, undignified funerals" said his organization has 600 members in the tri-county area.

Seymour Karp, founder and currently vice president of the Greater Detroit Memorial Society, claimed a membership of 600 individuals and families in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Currently headed by Benjamin Douglas of 2449 Candlewick, the society encourages "simplicity and dignity" in funerals, according to its founder.

The purpose is to help the next of kin by having members pre-plan their own funerals, Karp said.

QUICK BURIAL

The society encourages quick burial with no display of the body. Burial takes place with only the family present. A memorial service at the church is sometimes planned a few weeks after death, according to Karp.

He said there is no need for embalming, flowers, or expensive fanfare. The average cost for this type of funeral is less than $300, he said.

"When it takes $2,000 to bury a couple," Karp explained, "this represents a major part of their savings."

Karp said the society has attracted a large number of professional people. Many members donate their bodies to science.

Freeway Connection

Started in Muskegon

MUSKEGON (AP) — Work has started on a $1.4-million freeway connection from downtown Muskegon to the U.S. 31 freeway under construction at the west city limits of the city.

The project calls for 2.4 miles of four-lane divided highway and includes four bridges to carry the freeway over the Muskegon River.

British Laborite Listed

as Critical After Crash

HEREFORD, England (UPI) — Michael Foot, a member of Parliament for the opposition Labor party, was still in critical condition and on the danger list last night, the local hospital said.

Foot and his wife were injured Monday in an auto crash. His wife's condition was listed as satisfactory.

Says Image Rising

Funeral Director Defends Field

Michigan funeral directors are prepared to "weather the storm" raised by the rather ridiculous allegations made by recent publications against funeral service," according to Dale M. Young of Armada.

Young is president of District No. 6 of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association, Inc.

He said every profession is subject to periodic review, if not criticism. Funeral service, he pointed out, has been declared a profession in a court of law.

"Like a doctor or lawyer he must render advice and service that he feels is professionally proper and which meets the needs of his clients," added Young.

IMAGE RISING

The public image of the funeral director is rising each year, according to Young. He

Gym Program in Waterford

The Waterford Township Recreation Department's gym and crafts program for boys and girls 7-13 will begin tomorrow at three locations.

Sites will be the Community Activities Inc. building, Grady Junior High School and Donelson Elementary School. The times will be 10 a.m. to noon, 9 a.m. to noon and 9:15 to 11:15 respectively.

As long as favorable weather prevails, youngsters will participate in outdoor games as well as gym activities and arts and crafts.

An adult leader will conduct activities at each site.

BASKETBALL

Basketball shooting, another event sponsored by the recreation department, also will begin Saturday. Boys 13 and over are eligible.

Basketball will be offered from noon to 1 p.m. at the CAI building and from 11:15 to 11:45 at Donelson.

Cl-sing on Christmas

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Birmingham's two big breweries have approved the shutting down of the city's 600 pubs (bars) on Christmas night to enable bartenders to enjoy the traditional fireside family celebration.

said an independent survey established this view.

He said Michigan funeral directors have pioneered continuing education, introducing a seminar program in the psychology of counseling, communications and human relations.

"All the public must be served regardless of the cost factor involved," Young said.

He charged that critics make broad generalized statements which are not based on the facts.

STUDY QUOTED

For example, Young said that one author quotes a 1960 Department of Commerce study to substantiate the allegation that the average cost of funerals today is over $1,400.

No such study was made by that department in 1960, he said.

"When this fact was pointed out to the author during a radio broadcast, she said that she was a writer, not an economist, but if it were true, 'a grievous error had been made,'" Young stated.

"In this way she dismisses a collection of twisted statistics and facts which has cast a shadow of doubt upon this profession."

LOTS, FLOWERS

Young said the $1,400 figure came from lumping in with funeral costs the charges for cemetery lots, flowers purchased by friends and other miscellany.

The average adult funeral in Michigan cost $749 in 1962, he explained. In the United States, regular adult funerals ran as follows: 17 per cent, $200 - $499; 46 per cent, $500 - $799; 25 per cent, $800 - $999; and only 12 per cent over $1,000.

The study that provided these figures covered 98,000 funerals, Young added.

"These are the facts," he said.

NO CONTROL

He said the funeral director has no control over cemetery expenses, flowers, etc., because these are strictly commercial functions.

"We will continue to serve our people to the best of our ability and we have confidence that when the storm has passed over funeral service will still be an individual service directed by a professionally responsible individual," he concluded.

20 Bald Eagles Seen

in Florida Everglades
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The American eagle, said to be a vanishing bird in America, is putting in one of its rarer appearances in Everglades National Park.

About 20 of the proud birds, known as Bald Eagles, have been spotted on roosts in Mahogany Hammock, located 10 miles inside the park.

U. S. Firms Blacklisted

The American firms were Adams Carbide Corp. and Home Insurance Co.

Navy Buddies to Celebrate Their Day

The United States Navy has a proud tradition dating back to the 1790's. The men who are a part of this long history will be paid a tribute Sunday — Navy Day.

Typical of those who are proud of their uniform and the heritage it represents are Robert J. Kane, 19, and William Midkiff, 18.

Home on leave after nine weeks of basic training at Great Lakes, Ill., they are examples of the dozen or more Pontiac area young men who choose the Navy each month to fulfill their military obligation.

In many cases they make it a career, said Chief Boatwain Mate Robert L. Scott, navy recruiter in Pontiac.

June graduates of Pontiac Northern High School, Kane and Midkiff joined the Navy on the "buddy system," which guaranteed them of taking their basic training together.

Kane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ogles, 735 Bigham Midkiff is the son of Mrs. Ruth Midkiff, 595 First.

The apprentice sailors admit it's too early to decide if they will reenlist after their four years.

NEW ADVENTURE

They can expect no immediate let-down in their "new adventure."

Kane returns to Great Lakes Nov. 1 for 16 weeks training at Hospital corps school.

The following day Midkiff reports to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will take an 18 week aviation ordnance course.

These are primary courses. Advance courses could lead Kane to his goal of pharmacy and Midkiff into a aeronautical career.

ANNIVERSARY

Navy Day was established in 1922 and is celebrated each year on Oct. 27, the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt.

Elimination Night for W-O, Tri-County Loop Teams

Clarkston Is Host to Big Clash

The winner of the Tri-County crown will be settled with this week's gridiron action, and two title hopefuls will stage an elimination bout in the feature scrap of the Wayne-Oakland League.

In Inter-Lakes action, Pontiac Northern and Farmington look horns in a Homecoming tilt at Wisner tonight with the winner moving into second place behind Walled Lake's champion Vikings. Game time is 8 p.m.

In other games, Waterford Township entertains Walled Lake, and Berkley travels to Southfield this evening and a win for the Bears plus a victory for Northern would toss the two into a tie for the league's second spot.

Pontiac Central, idle today, meets Flint Southwestern next week.

BIG BATTLE

The head-to-head session in the Wayne-Oakland will take place at Clarkston with West Bloomfield providing the opposition. Kickoff is set for 8 p.m.

Clarkston, West Bloomfield and Northville are deadlocked for the W-O lead with 4-1 records. Northville is at Brighton this evening.

The winner of the Wolves-Lakers clash will move into the lead if Northville wins, or take over sole possession of first place if the Mustangs lose.

It will be Father's Night at Clarkston with the players and fathers participating in a half-time ceremony. Tickets will be available at the gate.

Other W-O tilts have Clarenceville at Millard and Holly was scheduled to play Bloomfield Hills this afternoon on the Barons' field.

TITLE SHOWDOWN

Oxford can pick up at least a piece of the Tri-County league crown with a victory over Romeo tonight.

The Wildcats are tied for the lead with Waterford Kettering and L'Anse Creuse, and the latter two meet Saturday night at L'Anse.

If the Wolves win this evening, they will share the title with the L'Anse-Kettering victor, or they could reign alone if the Saturday game ends in a tie.

Game time at Oxford is 8 p.m. The other T-C member, LaPeer, travels to Davison for clash tonight.

CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH

Birmingham Groves can do the Northwest Suburban crown with a victory Saturday afternoon at Livonia Franklin.

The Falcons head the loop with a 3-0 mark, followed by Livonia at 2-1. Kickoff is set for 2 p.m.

SATURDAY CARD

Other games on the Saturday afternoon slate have Oak Park at Detroit Thurston, Grand Rapids at North Farmington, Western Reserve at Cranbrook, Emmanuel Christian at Flint Sacred Heart and Country Day at Park School, Ind.

Cranbrook will be looking for its first victory in Interstate Preparatory League competition in the contest with Western Reserve.

The Cranes have been on the short end of the score in five of six outings this year.

A healthy Emmanuel Christian eleven will be bidding for win No. 6 in the Sacred Heart battle.

Emmanuel has enjoyed considerable success with a spread formation. The Lancers used the wide open attack last week in downing Whitmore Lake, 19-6, with quarterback Robert Wingate connecting on two long TD passes.

Unanimous Choice

Koufax Gets Cy Young Award

BOSTON (AP)—To the surprise of no one in baseball, Sandy Koufax won the Cy Young Award as the outstanding pitcher in the major leagues.

And just as his team, the Los Angeles Dodgers, swept the World Series from the New York Yankees in four straight games so, too, did the stylish southpaw sweep the voting by the designated committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America announced Thursday.

ALL BALLOTS
It was Koufax No. 1 on all the 20 ballots cast, the first unanimous choice since Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick established the award eight years ago.

"I can understand why the vote was unanimous," Frick said. "Koufax not only is a wonderful pitcher, but he has a great personality and terrific hold on the baseball public."

Koufax's performance in the World Series in which he twice beat the Yankees and set a series strikeout record by whiffing 15 in the first game was just the icing on the cake. The award is given on regular season performance only.

Like the strikeout kings of the past such as Walter Johnson and Bob Feller, the 27-year-old Koufax displayed a blazing fast ball that helped him set a National League record of 306 k's in 311 innings. A sharp curve and a change of pace contributed to the bewilderment of the batters as Koufax won 25 games and lost only five in leading the Dodgers to the National League title.

NO-HITTER
His achievements included a no-hitter against San Francisco in May and a 1.88 earned run average, the lowest in both leagues. He hurled 20 complete games and hunk up 11 shutouts, the most ever in one season by a left-hander and the most in the majors since Grover Cleveland Alexander, a right-hander, posted 16 for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1918.

The 1963 feats by the handsome, dark-haired bachelor were all the more remarkable since his career almost ended in July, 1962. He was forced to the sidelines then by a circulatory ailment in the index finger of his pitching hand. Doctors disclosed during this year's World Series that they had seriously considered amputation before Koufax' condition improved.

Koufax joins Don Newcombe and Don Drysdale as Dodgers to win the Cy Young award, named after the pitcher who holds the most career victories—311.

Sandy said one of his goals is to beat Young's record. He has 419 to go, but nothing is impossible in the best of all possible worlds for Sandy these days.

AWARD WINNER—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers has been named winner of the Cy Young Award, which goes to the top pitcher in the major leagues.

No. 1 Game in Michigan at Bay City

Two jinxes will collide head-on tonight when Flint Central and Bay City Central battle in the biggest Michigan high school football game of the 1963 season at Bay City before a sellout crowd of 11,000. The "game of the year" between the two unbeaten Saginaw Valley powers currently ranked 1-2 in the state should decide the class A state championship.

Flint Central is 5-0 and ranked No. 1 while Bay City is 4-0 and ranked No. 2 in the state.

Bay City will have the home field advantage and Flint Central hasn't won there since 1953.

But Flint Central also has a jinx on its side. Even though it owns one of the states most illustrious coaching records, Bay City coach Elmer Engel has never piloted his team to a 9-0 record and twice Flint Central teams have been responsible for ruining the record.

In 1961, top-rated Bay City lost 16-14 and in 1955, Bay City was 8-0 and had Jerry Gross at quarterback but lost a 13-12 thriller. In 1958, Bay City was unbeaten but was held to a 13-13 tie by Flint Central.

Midgets will highlight the wrestling action when the first bout gets under way at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the National Guard Armory.

Other bouts on the card have the Bearded Terror meeting Gino Britto, The Student battling Paul DeMarco and Tony Manion dueling Johnny Carr.

Wants Bear Facts Told

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's bears are a tourist attraction that should be better advertised, reports the state highway department.

Taking a poll of tourists, the department found many people—even those from Michigan—surprised at the number of bears in the state. The state's bear population is estimated at 7,500, most of them roaming the Upper Peninsula.

Several tourists suggested bear warning signs, similar to those advising motorists that deer might run across the highway.

"Bear country, warnings posted in campgrounds might save someone from having a heart attack," wrote a Detroit woman. A Benton Harbor man told of getting up a campsite breakfast table and having a bear nudge in to help eat the food.

Bears are attracted to campfires by food, the state conservation department admitted. The best idea is to stay away from them, don't feed them and go in the opposite direction when you see a bear, said the department experts.

ON SPOT—Yogi Berra met the press yesterday for the first time in his new capacity as manager of the New York Yankees. Shown above are some of his facial expressions as he fielded questions. Yogi said he would not be a playing manager.

Berra No Longer Just 'One of Boys'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yogi Berra's new boss and whether they like it or not, New York Yankee players already are resigned to the fact he's no longer one of the boys.

Everyone from former teammate Joe Dimaggio on down seemed sure today the oft-comical 38-year-old Yogi will tolerate as club, Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford are allowed to kid him—maybe just once more—but Roger Maris, in Independence, Mo., refused to speculate on whether Berra would be as humorous as a manager as he was as a player.

"There's not too much I can say about it," Maris declared. "He's my new manager now."

LIKES TO TALK

The congenial Berra is a born gregarious. He loves to talk with everyone and anyone. Even when he was catching.

The big question in most minds now is whether Yogi suddenly can detach himself from the Yankee players as Ralph Houk did before him and as any manager must.

Phil Rizzuto, one of Berra's closest friends, thinks he can do it.

"Yogi has a tough transition to make from being buddy-buddy with the ballplayers to being their leader," said the one-time Yankee shortstop.

HOWE FOILED—Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings failed to equal the National Hockey League record of 544 career goals last night mainly through the efforts of Chicago goalie Glenn Hall. Faulkner Takes Spotlight as Wings, Hawks Tie, 2-2

By JERE CRAIG
DETROIT—Little Alex Faulkner stole the spotlight from Gordie Howe's quest for his 544th goal Thursday night as the Detroit Red Wings were tied, 2-2, by Chicago in a National Hockey League contest at Olympia Stadium.

There were 11,508 paying customers on hand to see Howe try to equal Maurice (Rocket) Richard's NHL career regular season goal record.

It was Faulkner and his "Kid Line" teammates Bruce MacGregor and Larry Jeffrey who caused the most excitement however, as the game's first periods transpired.

DETROIT LEADS

Faulkner put in goals in each of the first two periods, the second on a beautiful pass from MacGregor in the right corner, to give Detroit a 2-0 lead.

Howe's quest, paradoxically, seemed to act as a deterrent for the Wings first line.

When the first line of attackers moved into Chicago's forward ice, the puck carrier almost automatically looked for Howe.

After a few sharp Howes shots resulted in the opening period, the Black Hawk defenders also started looking for Howe and broke up the attack repeatedly before the Wings could fire a shot goalward.

Goalie Glenn Hall beat the Red Wings star right winger several times with excellent saves, although wobbling on his feet.

The home team found its second line ineffective again, so much so that coach Sid Abel actually resorted to a fourth line in the early going, but Peter

Prediction by Goalie Plante Holding True

From Our Wire Service
Jacques Plante predicted before the start of the National Hockey League season that "the Montreal Canadiens are on the way down and the New York Rangers are on the way up."

It was a bold statement by the masked goalie, who put in 10 seasons with the Canadiens before they traded him to New York during the off season.

Now "Jake the Snake" is backing up his words with spectacular netminding for his new club.

Plante posted his second shutout in three games last night—a 2-0 victory over the Bruins at Boston. The victory enabled the Rangers to sneak into fourth place ahead of—guess who?—the Canadiens.

Said Plante after his latest whitewash job: "I had five shutouts last year and should have at least that many this year. After all, I'm with a better club."

Harry Howell whistled in a 10-footer in the opening period and Howie Glover scored on a rebound shot in the final session against the Bruins, who are still winless after seven games.

Plante gave up nine goals as the Rangers lost their first two games but has allowed only one goal in helping them to three straight victories. That figures out to a fifty to one goal per game.

Yanks Give Berra First 'Woes' as Manager
NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra received a congratulatory telegram from two long-time teammates, Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford, shortly after he was named manager of the New York Yankees Thursday. It read:

"We would like our unconditional release to become professional golfers."

Gogean, Ted Hampson and Billy McNeill couldn't muster an attack either.

HAWSK TIE
When the "Kid Line" finally slowed down in the third period, the visitors caught up. Red Hay's goal shortly after Faulkner's second marker had cut the deficit to 2-1 entering the final session.

Chico Maki beat Red Wings' netminder Terry Sawchuk with a rebound shot at 11:27 to knot the score. Neither team put on a sustained threat thereafter, although Howe's high shot hit the right corner post after bouncing off Hall's glove later in the period.

The biggest roar from the crowd after Faulkner's second goal was for Doug Barkley's solid body check on former Wing badman Howie Young, now a Chicago defenceman.

Faulkner's two counters gave him a record of nine goals against the Black Hawks among his 18 NHL career goals.

Sawchuk was blessed with a good defense in front of him. He only had to make 20 saves to 26 for Hall. The Red Wings goalie looked very steady in comparison to his opposite on the Black Hawks.

The tie left Chicago with a string of four straight games without a defeat and kept it two points ahead of the Red Wings who took over sole possession of second place, one point ahead of Toronto.

The Detroit club, incidentally, has an answer for Richard's request that an asterisk be placed alongside his name in the record book (for having played more than 100 fewer regular season games than Howe).

It lists the former Montreal star forward with 544 goals, the asterisk signifying that the "Rocket" tallied 87 times as against war time opposition.

Lions' Board Holds Confab

DETROIT (AP)—William Clay Ford's $6 million offer to buy the Detroit Lions will be studied today by the board of directors in a special meeting.

The board is expected to recommend that the 144 Lion stockholders approve the sale.

Regardless of the recommendation, a letter will be sent to all the stockholders asking whether they approve or reject the sale.

A meeting of all the stockholders won't be held because they're scattered across the country.

Ford, the grandson of Henry Ford and one of three brothers who inherited the vast Ford Motor Co. empire, stunned the sports world last Tuesday when he made the offer to buy the club.

It was the largest single offer ever made for a sports franchise in football's last Sunday after 51,000 fans showed up to see the Lions lose their fourth game.

Ford gave the stockholders until Oct. 29 to accept or reject the offer.

Ford, the president of the Lions and a member of the board of directors since 1956, currently owns about two per cent of the stock in the Lions.

The Lions this season have been one of the biggest disappointments in the National Football League and own a 2-4 record after finishing second the past three seasons.

But Ford said he's convinced the Lions "are a lucrative franchise and will make a lot of money in the future."

Coach George Wilson said "I still think this is the best franchise in football" last Sunday after 51,000 fans showed up to see the Lions lose their fourth game.

The Lions lost $100,000 when they won their first win in 1955 but made $220,000 last season while finishing in second place.

Fumbles Big Woe in Spartans' Drills

EAST LANSING (UPI) — "We're hoping to eliminate fumbles against Northwestern," Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty said today, revealing the biggest change in the Spartan attack from last week.

This would be a big step forward for the Spartans who fumbled eight times in last Saturday's 20-3 win over Indiana, according to Daugherty.

"We don't know what caused those fumbles," Daugherty said, "but we hope the boys have gotten them out of their systems."

Daugherty dropped the razor-dazzle approach he has been experimenting with all week, and stuck to the straight stuff in a short snappy practice session yesterday.

GAINS SPEED

Rubick picked up 22 yards on two carries, caught two passes and returned one kickoff last week against the Hoosiers, while seeing limited action.

Hawaiian fullback Roger Lopes worked on his specialty, grinding out yards up the middle. Sophomore quarter back Steve Juday of Buchanan, picked Lopes out as a favorite pass target during the practice.

"Northwestern is a well-balanced team," Daugherty said, "and we're going to have to concentrate equally on both offense and defense."

4 Horsemen Reunite Amidst Memories

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Stanford's Ernie Nevers turned to Notre Dame's Elmer Layden and observed wryly, "I made two of my longest runs that day, both times chasing you."

His observations went back 38 years to New Year's Day of 1925 when the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame beat the Indians of Stanford 27-10 in the Rose Bowl, the only bowl appearance for a Fighting Irish team.

GATHER ON COAST

Now for the first time since that date, the Four Horsemen and some of the Stanford players that met have gathered together on the West Coast.

Each of the group has passed the 60-year mark and each of the Horsemen is heavier than during the days when the actually comprised a pony backline for the Great Kute Rockne.

mission of Northeast Pennsylvania with headquarters in Scranton.

Miller, 60, and 196, a practicing attorney in Cleveland.

Stuhlreher, 62, and 170, an executive in human relations for the United States Steel Corp., living in Pittsburgh.

Miller explained, "I used to ask me where the other three Horsemen were. Now they ask me if they're still alive. And kids no longer say their fathers used to watch us play. They say their grandfathers did."

Still these are the Four Horsemen, a quartet that never started a game that season of 1924 when the Irish went undefeated and didn't start the Rose Bowl game on Jan. 1, 1925 that all remember so well. They proved too much for Stanford and Nevers, now a 69-year-old public relations executive at a trim 212 pounds.

SHOCK TROOPS

Rockne started his "shock troops" because the first team was so slight he wanted a bigger and heavier club to absorb the first blows.

Still it was the Horsemen, and particularly Layden who brought victory in that only bowl appearance for a Notre Dame team. The man who later became the Irish coach, intercepted two of Nevers' passes, running 80 and 70 yards for touchdowns with Ernie in pursuit.

WEIGH IN

Today in California for Saturday's Notre Dame-Stanford football game, they are:

Layden, 60, weighing 187 and a sales and customer relations executive for a corporation manufacturing and leasing railroad cars in Chicago.

Crowley, 61, now 200 pounds and the executive director of the Industrial Development Com-

Wolverines Haven't Won Prized Trophy Since 1959

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan football team flies to Minneapolis today and the Wolverines hope to bring back an extra piece of luggage with them tomorrow — the "Little Brown Jug."

One of football's most prized trophies, the "Little Brown Jug" will be up for grabs tomorrow when Michigan meets Minnesota for the 54th time.

The ancient piece of crockery is one of the most famous of all football trophies.

It dates back to the Fielding H. Yost and Willie Heston days when Michigan went to Minnesota and bought a cheap jug to put its own water in, not trusting Minnesota to provide the water.

But the inexpensive jug has now become worth millions in pride, prestige and tradition and the battles for its possession have often decided big ten and national championships.

MICHIGAN EDGE

Michigan holds a wide 32-18-3 edge in the series but the Wolverines haven't won the jug since 1959 when coach Bump Elliott's forces recorded a 14-6 victory in the first season El-

Minnesota won 10-2 in 1960, 23-30 in '61 and 17-0 last season.

Up to 1933, Michigan held an 18-4-3 edge on the Gophers. But from 1934 to 1942, Minnesota won every season including the fabled 7-4 triumphs in 1938 and 1940 when even Tommy Harmon wasn't enough to give the Wolverines victory.

Michigan then started its own reign, losing only twice from 1943 to 1959. Michigan took a hard fought 13-6 triumph during Elliott's senior year when the Wolverine coach won All-America halfback honors.

Minnesota is a seven-point favorite to win the Jug for the fourth straight season but the Wolverines hope to bounce back from last week's dismal 23-12 setback at the hands of Purdue.

Bob Timberlake, who came off the bench to score both of Michigan's touchdowns in the second half, will be the starting quarterback for the first time this season.

In the other change in the starting lineup, senior Brian Patchen will go at center for sophomore Tom Cecchini, who suffered a knee injury last week and is sidelined for the season.

Cecchini is the second sophomore sensation the Wolverines have lost this season. Halfback Rick Sygar was injured during the practice sessions.

Michigan goes into the game with a 12-1 mark and a victory is a must if the Wolverines have any hopes of being close to the 500 mark this season.

Illini Kickoff Big Grid Card Tonight

By The Associated Press

ILLINOIS, unbeaten, one-tied and ranked fourth among the college football powers, takes on UCLA, beaten four times, at Los Angeles tonight. But don't think for a moment that the Illini are taking it all lightly.

It's not that coach Pete Elliott and his aroused Illini fear the Bruins. It's more a case of saving each victory after two lean seasons where a single triumph was as sweet as a Rose Bowl conquest.

Illinois was 6-9 in 1961 and 2-7 in 1962 and just about this time last year the Illini were staggering from their 15th straight defeat, a 28-16 loss to Southern California.

Now the youngsters who absorbed these pastings for two years have jelled with quarterback Mike Taliaferro and line-backer center Dick Butkus in the stellar roles they are contenders for the Big Ten bowl and a shot at the Rose Bowl. The Illini are 4-0-1 over-all and 2-0-1 in the Conference.

The Saturday program is highlighted by a clash between Pittsburgh and Navy that probably will decide the Eastern championship.

Although Pitt, 4-0, is one of the seven remaining unbeaten major teams and is ranked third to Navy's tenth, the Middles are favored to win by about a field goal on their home grounds.

TEXAS PLAYS

Texas the all-conquering, top-ranking team of the nation, is another high-riding outfit that won't take an underdog for granted. The Longhorns, 5-0-0, are at home at night against Rice, 3-1-0. It was just a year ago that a winless Rice team tied a Texas eleven that also was 5-0-0 and ranked No. 1.

Second-ranked Wisconsin, 4-0-

0 entertains Ohio State, 2-1-1, and ninth-ranked Northwestern, 4-1-0 host to Michigan State, 2-1-1.

Fifth-ranked Mississippi, 3-0-1, is home to winless Vanderbilt 0-4-0; hapless Houston, 0-5-0 visits sixth-ranked Alabama, 4-1-0, and seventh-ranked Oklahoma, 3-1-0, travels to Kansas State, 1-4-0. Eighth-ranked Auburn, 5-0-0, is idle.

Bandits Down Misfits, Lead Touch League

The Motor Mart Bandits took over first place in the Pontiac Parks Recreation Touch Football League Thursday evening with a 12-0 decision over the Misfits.

The Bandits used two first-half scores and a strong defensive rush to dump the challengers.

Bill Harrington put the Bandits out in front on the first series of plays when he fired a 30-yard TD pass to Tom Dabbs. Harrington connected with Dick Nichols to wrap up the game in the second period.

The Lions moved into a tie for second place in the league with a 20-6 win over West Side Lions. Roy Couser intercepted a pass to start the scoring for the Lions and Jimmy Gardner flipped a scoring pass to Larry Douglas for the second tally.

Douglas hit Gardner with a pass for the final score.

In other games, Anderson All Stars downed the GM Raiders, 6-0, on a 20-yard TD catch by S. Cole, and Pontiac Packers trimmed Victors, 12-0.

Darrell Lovel and L. Jackiski picked up TDs for the Packers.

Hoople Throws Rice at Texas Longhorns

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE, Halfback Specialist

Egad, friends, never in my long and illustrious career as a football forecaster do I remember the form sheets taking such a beating.

All season long, underdog eleven have refused to accept their assigned roles and instead have delivered some well-aimed kicks at what is vulgarly called the dope bucket.

Undeclared teams are as scarce these days as Republican ball carriers in a Kennedy family game of touch football.

Now we come to a week of upsets that will shake the football world to its very foundations, and I have forecast a batch of them for you—haikaff!

SURPRISES

Chief of the big surprises will take place in Austin, where the Texas Longhorns will be inundated by a shower of Rice—eh-heh! I predict Rice will trounce the high-flying Texans, 21-10.

Other startling results will find California downing favored Southern California, 23-12, Texas A. & M. defeating Baylor, 22-12, and Cincinnati venturing out of its own class to humble

Big Ten representative Indiana, by the close score of 22-22.

Speaking of close scores, keep your eye on the Louisiana State-Florida engagement. The Hoople System foresees the Louisiana State State leading a bruising battle with Florida's Gators by the narrow margin of 32-Hurumph!

Now on with the forecast.

New Haven Is Almont's League Foe

New Haven's title-hungry Rockets move to Almont tonight for a contest which should be a tuneup for their Southern Thumb showdown the following week with Anchor Bay.

The Rockets, atop the league with a 5-0 mark, have averaged more than 33 points a game in grinding under seven opponents, and Almont's winless Raiders have shown little to suggest that they might have the power to derail the Rocket express.

New Haven has two of the top backs in the area in Dwight Lee and John Mack. Lee has the speed and Mack supplies the power. Together, they have accounted for 153 of New Haven's 200 points.

In other games, Armada will play host to Dryden Friday night and Brown City travels to Memphis for a Saturday match.

The Armada-Dryden scrap could provide some interesting fireworks.

Dryden has one of the best defensive units in the league and the offense picked up in the 39-6 decision over Almont last week.

Quarterback Tom Sterner's tosses to end Dennis Hilliker have sparked the Dryden attack and drawn the praise of rival coaches.

Seaholm Continues Drive

Maples Must Win Tonight to Keep Lead

East Detroit Stands in EML Title Path on Home Field

Birmingham Seaholm will attempt to continue its drive to the Eastern Michigan League grid title tonight when it plays host to East Detroit at 8 p.m.

The Maples currently are in the driver's seat in the EML race and can take the crown by winning their last two loop games.

The big league game will find Ferndale at Roseville to see which one will remain in the race. Both have lost once, while Seaholm has only a tie marring its EML record.

Royal Oak Kimball also has lost only once. The Knights will visit Port Huron. Hazel Park at Mount Clemens rounds out the slate.

Seaholm is 4-0-1 entering the East Detroit game. The visitors have only a 1-3 mark, but have a good offense and generally are in their games all the way.

The Birmingham eleven currently is the sixth rated team in the weekly state Association Press Class A prep poll.

SIDE RACE

The home team Maples will be trying to spring halfback Ken Heft loose for some touchdowns. The senior captain has scored 67 points this season, 16 behind the leading scorer in the county.

While Heft is attempting to improve upon his fifth place ranking, Kimball's John Baumann will be looking to overtake the Seaholm star at Port Huron.

Baumann is sixth in the county with 63 points. When Ferndale won the EML crown last season, Roseville was the only team to edge the Eagles; but the Falcons were not competing in the league at the time.

Now they are and they need another victory over Ferndale if they are to remain in the race. The Eagles have played one less loop contest and thus will be attempting to climb past Roseville in the standings.

The latter would be in a good position to challenge for the title if it gets by Ferndale since the Falcons next start will be a home game with Seaholm.

Both Hazel Park and Mount Clemens will be seeing win No. 1 in the race and a chance to gain on East Detroit. A win for Hazel Park and a defeat for East Detroit would move the former into fifth place.

International Park Holds Car Club Day

It will be Car Club Day at International Raceway Park Sunday afternoon with prizes going to the top club in class win, condition, eliminator and total number divisions.

The annual affair will begin at 2 p.m.

Last week Gary Springer of Pontiac in a 1962 Dodge was clocked in a time of 12.56 for the quarter mile track to win top stock honors for the day. Art Arlons in his jet-on-wheels "Cyclops No. 1" accelerated up to 215.30 miles per hour in quarter mile exhibitions.

Harriers in Regionals

Area Teams Favored

Two area teams will share the favorite's role when runners from 22 Class A high schools start the regional cross country run Saturday morning at Middle Rouge Parkway near Northville.

Redford Union High School is serving as host for the regional match which will also feature 16 Class B squads. Howard Craft, athletic director at Redford Union, will supervise the run.

The Class B teams will open the two-mile run at 10 a.m. at Cass-Benton, located just west of Hines Drive between 6 and 7 Mile Roads.

SEAHOLM UNBEATEN

The race for the Class A crown is expected to be a two-way battle between Birmingham Seaholm and Milford.

Seaholm is undefeated this season and Milford's lone setback came against the Maples earlier this year.

The Maples have picked up the Oakland County and Eastern Michigan League championships while fashioning an 11-0 mark.

In winning the Oakland County title the Maples grabbed five of the top nine positions.

Leading the Seaholm squad are Jim Olson and Jamie Dennis followed closely by Pat Richardson, Bill Schoen and Bill Bacheler.

Milford's well-balanced squad had raced to an impressive 13-1 record that includes the Wayne-Oakland championship and a first in the Albion Invitational.

Bill Nelson and Harold Faught are the top performers on the Milford squad. All five members of the team run in the 10:20 to 10:40 area, and Faught's 10:18 clocking is the best individual time turned in by the squad this season.

Pontiac Northern squad walked off with the Inter-Lakes championship this season en route to a 7-1 record, and the Huskies could give the favorites trouble Saturday.

CHALLENGERS

Bloomfield Hills' Bob Richards, the regional's individual champ in 1962, is favored to repeat in that category.

Among those expected to challenge Richards for the top honor are Dennis Hunt of Farmington, Mark Pankner of Waterford Kettering, Mike Mumby of Pontiac Central, Gary Cobb of Pontiac Northern and George Ballingall of Waterford Township.

Orchard Lake St. Mary and Charenteville will be vying for honors in the Class B division.

The two top teams in the Class A and the three top squads in the Class B runs will represent this region at the state championship run Nov. 2 at Ypsilanti.

Other county schools participating in regional runs are Oxford and Holly who will try for honors at Fenton High School at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Clarkston Harriers Close With Victory

Clarkston's cross country team closed its season with a 21 to 40 win over Northville Thursday. The win upped the Wolves season record to 8-10.

The Wolves missed first place but came up with the next four positions to win easily.

Leading the Clarkston team was Neil Stalker, second, followed by Mike Turck, third, Chris Torr, fourth, and Bob Cobb, fifth.

Northville's Annett finished on top in the race with a time of 11:20. Trailing Annett were Spietz, sixth, and Blackburn, 10th.

The kind of good work that our servicemen turn out here does more than anything else I can think of to bring folks back when they decide to buy their next car, new or used. By the same token, when one of our salesmen sells a car, he follows up the sale with a program of "Quality Car Care" to make sure that the owner gets the maximum, trouble-free Total Performance. OUT OF TRAP—Jack Nicklaus blasts out of a trap in the opening round of the Canada Cup matches in Paris yesterday. Nicklaus shot a five-under-par 67 and Arnold Palmer a 69 as the Yanks tied with Canada for first place at 136.

Crowds Biggest in France

U.S.-Canada Golf Teams Tied

PARIS (AP) — "Now we've got to go," Arnold Palmer told partner Jack Nicklaus today as the two Americans started the second round of the Canadian Cup golf competition in a first place tie with Canada.

Palmer and Nicklaus totaled 136 Thursday — eight under par with Nicklaus shooting a 67 and Palmer a 69. Canadians Al Balding and Stan Leonard had the same total. South Africans Gary Player and Robert Wainman and Spaniards Sebastian Miguel and Roman Soto followed at 138.

In the concurrent individual competition, Miguel's 66 — six under par for the par 72 Saint-nom-la-Breche course led Nicklaus and Balding by a stroke, with player and Ireland's Christy O'Connor tied at 68 and Palmer locked with Leonard at 69.

Both competitions are over 72 holes. The tournament ends Sunday.

BIGGEST CROWD
A crowd of 5,000 turned out Thursday, the biggest ever in the history of golf in this country.

"We've been trying for years to make golf popular over here," Sandy Bertrand, a member of the organizing committee said "now we've succeeded — thanks to Palmer and Nicklaus."

Bertrand pointed out that for the French Open a crowd of only 300 turned out.

"Yesterday we ran out of food and drink. We had to close down the restaurants because the crowd just ate and drank us out," he said.

Slim Title Chances Rest in Oakland-A

Clawson and Troy, side-tracked in their bid for the Oakland A title by Fitzgerald, meet head-on tonight in a clash for the second spot in the league race.

Troy will entertain the Trojans in the "must" game with the winner hanging onto a faint hope of catching Fitzgerald.

In other league games, Fitzgerald plays host to Avondale, Madison entertains Warren Couino and Lake Orion travels to Rochester.

Clawson sports a 4-1 league mark and the Trojans have the highest-scoring machine in the conference.

TOP SCORER

With Brodie Burton and Bill Kerr leading the attack, the Trojans have rolled up 184 points in six outings. Burton is tops among Oakland County scorers with 83 points.

Troy has also turned in a reputable offensive showing in six contests with 126 points, but the Colts have been touched for 123 markers in running up a 4-2 season mark.

Halfback Ken Holder, eighth on the Oakland County scoring ladder, leads the Colts with 52 points.

Third place will be at stake in the Lake Orion-Rochester tilt. Both squads have 2-3 league marks.

Rochester fell before the Clawson machine last Friday, 13-0, but the Falcons are expected to bounce back Friday.

Carl Stefanski has pushed across eight TDs for the Falcons and ranks 12th in the scoring race.

Lake Orion had a scare at winning 27-19, and the offensive Cousino last week before winning 27-19, and the offensive output was one of the Dragons best this season.

John Cuckey, ninth on the county scoring list, has tallied 50 points for the Dragons in six games and his running should provide a stiff test for the Falcons' defense.

Lions Seek Linebacker

Ex-Pro Player Out of Army Is Considered

Vikings in Motor City Sunday With Strong Offensive Team

Trying to help their riddled defensive corps, the Detroit Lions today are making attempts to acquire a linebacker to replace the injured Joe Schmidt.

Coach George Wilson said Thursday he is interested in picking up Monte Lee, a 64 and 240 pounder who recently was discharged from the Army.

Lee has played with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Philadelphia Eagles and to sign him, the Lions would need waivers on Lee from the other NFL clubs.

Schmidt suffered a shoulder injury last week in the 25-21 loss to the Baltimore Colts and will be out for the season.

Sunday, the Lions face the best offensive team in the league when they play host to the Minnesota Vikings.

ROOKIES TO PLAY

With Carl Brettschneider out for the season and Wayne Walker limping badly, the Lions' linebacking unit has been depleted. Rookies Dennis Gaultz and Ernie Clark will be in action as linebackers and Clark will also see duties at defensive end to spell Sam Williams and Darris McCord both of whom are nursing leg injuries.

Minnesota, sporting the same 2-4 record as the Lions, has the best percentage passer in the league in Fran Tarkenton who has racked up 1234 yards in 84 completions of 151 attempts.

His favorite receiver is Jerry Reikow, along with rookie Paul Flatley.

The former University of Detroit players are in a starting role for the Vikings. Steve Stonebreaker of Ulca will start at linebacker and Grady Alderman will be at offensive tackle.

The kickoff is slated for 1:36 p.m. and a crowd of 45,000 is expected.

Giants, Green Bay Writers Top Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown and friends are poised to deliver the knockout blow to the New York Giants Sunday in the most important National Football League game of the week.

A victory for Cleveland would leave the defending Eastern champs three games back with seven to go.

The Browns' front four of Paul Wiggins, Frank Parker, Bob Gain and Bill Glass put tremendous pressure on Y. A. Tittle while Brown romped in Cleveland's 35-24 victory at New York two weeks ago.

The Giants toughened up in the second half last week against Dallas but there was no Jimmy Brown thundering into that line.

Green Bay will find out how it can move the ball without Bart Starr when the Packers invade Baltimore, and Chicago will try to bounce back from that upset in San Francisco by playing the injury-riddled Philadelphia Eagles.

St. Louis will be at Washington, Dallas at Pittsburgh, Minnesota at Detroit in other NFL games.

Last week's upset didn't come off (Green Bay thumped St. Louis 30-7) but we're still keeping our head above water with a 37-25-4 for the year. Here's the way it looks this week with all games Sunday unless otherwise indicated:

New York 28, Cleveland 27-what? After the way Jimmy Brown ran over the Giants at Yankee Stadium? Brown will roll again. You can't stop him. But Y. A. Tittle should get better protection and a little more variety with Alex Webster for those screen passes.

Green Bay 24, Baltimore 17-Packers will have Jim Taylor to help John Roach. Vince Lombardi will have the Packers whipped up to show they can win without Starr. Colts in good spot for an upset but that Packer defense is too tough.

Chicago 28, Philadelphia 7- without Sonny Jurgensen the Eagles are in trouble. Bears will be hungry for red meat, returning home after that surprise in San Francisco.

Pittsburgh 27, Dallas 21-with John Henry Johnson back in action, Steelers too tough for Cowboys' defensive unit.

St. Louis 28, Washington 21-Cardinals anxious to hit somebody after loss to Packers. Charlie Johnson should shred that Skin pass defense.

Detroit 25, Minnesota 21-could go either way with Lions' defense hurting minus Joe Schmidt. Even Detroit's sputtering offense should come to life against Vikings.

San Francisco, 21, Los Angeles 20-flip a coin. Both teams weak on attack, better on defense.

Who's got the best "ZIP" Code?

H.I.S., of course...

Competition Keen for Press Bowlerama House Trophy

BOWLING

The league leading 300 Bowl team posted a new high series mark for the season in Monday night's West Side Classic League when it rolled 3146.

George Chicovsky had the night's only 700 series, a 711, and Joe Foster had 693 to pace the "300" attack. Chicovsky's 277 was high game.

There were 13 series over the 600 mark and 69 games in the 200 category. The present lead of 300 Bowl is seven games.

At Fairgrounds Bowl Stan Potts and Larry Davis were only one pin apart with their high games in the Friday night Men's League. Potts had a 265 to take top honors.

Fanny Marble had 207-201-578 in the Monday night Mixed and Virginia Cook rolled 214-201-585 in the Tuesday Girls loop.

The Wonderettes Monday at Wonderland Lanes reported Marjorie Slinker with conversions on the 4-7 and 3-10 splits. At Howe's Lanes in the Bucks and Does League Monday night, the Fawns took over first place by a half point after winning three and half points that night. John McCallum's 549 led the leaders.

TIGHT RACE
The Airway Queens League Tuesday at Airway Lanes also found only a half point dividing first through fourth places, and a full point separating first from seventh.

Eva Johnson of the Four Lads was top individually this week with 553. Her team is one of six right on the heels of the pair setting Hopelufs.

The Airway Angels Wednesday morning saw some fancy split conversions: Julia Tompkins notched the 7-10 and June Leach hit the 4-7-10. Dorothea Dyker and Irma Steed tied for high actual series honors, both having 512.

Jim Butler had a 246 actual and Vi Cary a 99 triplicate in the American Legion Mixed League at 300 Bowl Sunday. The Goodfellow's League was led by Clint St. Amour's 237-6589 last week.

The 300 Mixed League Monday saw Larry Angotti bowl 228-285-614, the Lake Oakland Nights Mixed loop has a 231 high actual this season by Bill Kennedy.

Chuck Hovevar's 202-266-636 totals led the GMC American League Tuesday at "300" while Joe Mattack had 223-222-632.

In the Tuesday House League, Joe Puertas bowled 247-602, Clarence Stapleton 257-602 and Bob Prick 221-602, while Morris Strong had an 111 triplicate. Don Gibbs rolled a 225-557 in the 300 Bowl Junior House circuit.

RIDE 'EM

The first place Buckeroos had the high team game last week in the GMC Federal Bowling League with a 3005 total. Larry Jewel had 207-201-595 in the Twilight loop, Bill Knight rolled a 225 and Jack Deacon a 223 in the same circuit last week.

Among the women's leagues at 300 Bowl, Pontiac Floor Covering tops the Catholic Women's loop Thursdays, and Coca-Cola leads the 28-team Pioneer League.

Marbara Childress had a 511 in the 300 Bowlers League Tuesday. Jean Fincannon's 281 actual helped the Fincannon Players command first place in the Tir-All League.

In the "300" Ladies All-Star loop last Friday Peg Carter hit 206-223-596 and McCandless Carpeting had a 914 team game and 2614 team series. Alice Mansfield's 228 is the highest game in the 300 Bowlerettes League Tuesdays.

Ed Wright's 196 tops all individual game efforts to date in the West Bloomfield High School Mixed circuit.

PRESENT THREAT — The Rochester Lanes quintet that will bowl in the Bowlerama this year could present a threat in three phases of the Bowlerama. Larry Gary, Hal Hintz, Gary Hintz, Gerry Hintz and Joe Myers (left to right) have the potential for a 3,000-pin team series in the annual battle for the Travelling House Trophy. Hal and Gerry Hintz may make a strong bid for this year's newest prize, the Mixed Doubles Actuals; and Myers, as a former champion, rates a possible contender in the individual competition.

PBA ADVANCE—Dick Puertas (second from left) represented the 300 Bowl in Akron recently when the bowling proprietors from around the country gathered to discuss the forthcoming winter tour of the Professional Bowlers Association. The 300 Bowl will host the Pontiac PBA for the third year, May 24-28th in a nationally televised tournament. With Puertas is AMP's Paul Goetz (left); executive director of the PBA Ed Elias and Frank Esposito, the TV coordinator (right).

Blazers Buy QB Help

GRAND RAPIDS (P) — The Grand Rapids Blazers today announced the purchase of Syracuse Stormers' quarterback Bob Joiner for $1,000 in a United Football League transaction.

Joiner starred at Presbyterian College. He was the property of the National Football League Green Bay Packers and Philadelphia Eagles before joining Syracuse in the UFL. This season he has completed 65 passes for 762 yards and five touchdowns, more than the output of all Blazer throwers.

Highest Triplicate in Area Reported

In a game where the object is to roll strikes, Jim Ball left the ten-pin standing last week and didn't mind one bit.

It came on his final ball of the third line in a 600 series during the Thursday Nite Mixed League at 300 Bowl. Ball rolled the 600 the hard way—a 300 triplicate.

The triplicate was one of the few reported this season and one of the highest in area bowling history. He carries a 155 average.

Canadian Golfer Takes Sr. Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Ada McKenzie of Richmond Hill, Ontario, Canada, won't say how old she is but senior women's golfers of this country found out how good she is the past several days.

Miss McKenzie, who carries a national senior golfers rating in Canada, played steady golf to win the North and South women's championship Thursday with a 54-hole total of 235. She had rounds of 78-79-80.

The runner-up, Mrs. Philip Somerville of Riverton, N.J., was nine strokes off the pace at 244. There was a tie for third at 246 between Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N.J., and Mrs. Harrison Flippin of Douglassville, Pa.

"I came for fun and I had it," said Miss McKenzie who helped organize the Women's Senior Golf Club of Toronto.

She said she is going back to Canada Monday. The curling season opens soon.

SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

By DICK WEBER
All-Star Champion

The 2-4-8

The 2-4-8 is an unusual leave. I prefer it to the 2-8 alone because you are shooting at a bigger, easier target.

It can be made in more ways than the tandem spare.

Stand a bit to the right—just

a few boards across—follow the Sparemaker arrow and roll the ball normally. The hook should carry the ball right through the 2 and into the 4. Either the 2 or 4 or both will, in turn, slide into the 8.

The bowler who leaves this spare generally does so because he had a very thin hit. The 7 went down either because the 1 slipped back from the gutter or the 5 slid into the corner and took it out.

Defending Five From 300 Bowl Roll at Huron

Other Teams Slated as Qualifying Moves Into 2nd Week

Another special feature of this year's Pontiac Press Bowlerama will be in the spotlight this weekend—the Travelling House Trophy.

The trophy goes to the county establishment which has the highest actual total pins for five men after their first qualifying attempt.

Last year five kaglers representing 300 Bowl hit 3014 to take the trophy. Three of the five are ready to defend and have added able teammates in Joe Foster and Larry Crake.

The returnees are Monroe Moore, George Chicovsky and Les Rothbarth. All five have indicated they will make their defense tomorrow afternoon at Huron Bowl.

Several team contenders have already emerged with the seventh Bowlerama annual now in its second weekend of qualifying.

Three of the five members of Collier's Lanes' team bowled last week. Pat Sweeney (580), Stan Ganfield (484) and Bill Smith (561) combined for only 1625 which leaves Jay Lovett and Doug Swartz with quite a few pins to make up if the team is to contend.

A similar situation faces the Lakewood Lanes team of Bill Bull, Bud Mills, Tom Yerek, Joe Roerink and Vance Chapman. All but Yerek bowled last weekend. His teammates totaled 2229, leaving their hopes resting on Yerek's shoulders.

READY TO GO

The Elks Temple team (Nelson Fields, Hoot Gibson, Rube Wideman, Frank Crandall and Howard Fields), the Montclair Bowling Center team (Tom Mayes, Pat Tinson, Ray Giroux, Mel Kitchen and A. C. Smith) and the Rochester Lanes squad (Hal, Gary and Gerry Hintz, Joe Myers and Larry Gary) are expected to start bowling this weekend.

A possible strong contender is West Side Lanes' quintet. Jerry Perna started their bid last week with a 671 actual in his initial qualifying attempt. Teammates Stan Kurzman, John Casper, Bob Richards and Don Stone now must add to his efforts.

Representing North Hill Lanes will be team of Bill Johns, Ken Hill, Lou Kopincio, J. Kirkpatrick and Karl VanDeMoortel. Johns bowled Sunday and posted a three-game total of 547.

There is no extra cost to the team members to compete for the house trophy. They do not have to participate on the same weekend.

Any county bowling establishment may nominate five men to represent it. The bowlers' three-game actual scores are used the first time they bowl in the tournament to tabulate the team scores.

Bowlerama competition will resume tomorrow at six houses — starting with Huron Bowl at 11 a. m. and working up to West Side's first squad at 3:30 p. m.

In between those two starting squads, Cooley Lanes (1:30 p. m.), Collier's and Lakewood (2 p. m.) and Maple Lanes (3 p. m.) will have qualifying squads. All six will continue their qualifying until 7 p. m. if there are sufficient entrants to fill a squad.

The follow-up squads will begin approximately an hour and 15 to 30 minutes after the preceding ones.

Contestants may enter as many times as they wish each weekend.

In addition to the six Saturday houses, there will be six more qualifying sites Sunday. Airway Lanes will start the action at noon Sunday, followed by Wonderland Lanes at 12:15 p. m., 300 Bowl at 1:30 p. m., Montclair and Howe's Lanes at 1 p. m. and North Hill at 1:30 p. m.

The 11th Frame

By JERE CRAIG

A press release out of Akron, Ohio early this week advised that "every outstanding bowler in the world" has entered the fourth annual Professional Bowlers' Association National Championship tournament next month.

That puts Pontiac's Mike Samardzija, Jr., and Monroe Moore in pretty good company for they have received and accepted invitations to the affair on New York's Long Island.

While the use of the absolute "every" probably is not justified, it is logical to assume that when $60,000 in prize money will be given away, as many of the top bowlers as are physically able will compete in the National championships.

Last year Carmen Salvino won the title in Philadelphia, his first PBA win after the triumph in Pontiac.

Moore and Samardzija both competed on the PBA winter tour and pocketed winnings more than once — thus their invitations.

Samardzija has been on hot streak locally, but encountered troubles with a hand injury last week at the state All-Star Eliminations.

He is 10th in the men's field at present, with the finals due to start tomorrow at Southfield's Star Lanes. However, he has been on the sidelines all this week and expected to resume bowling tonight in the Huron Bowl Classic.

Moore travelled all summer on the PBA tour and arrived in town only last Sunday. He is currently doing public relations and instructional work at 300 Bowl while awaiting resumption of PBA competition in mid-November.

FALLING PINS

The T. T. Bowling League is planning a special observance next Thursday afternoon at West Side Lanes. The T. T. ladies (they say the initials stand for Thursday Tea) are planning to compete dressed in Halloween costumes.

The league has been bowling for 24 years and has 24 members. Four of the women were with the loop when it started at Motor Inn in 1939. Such continued participation makes the women a real credit to the game.

Tom Agello of the Huron Bowl Travelling Classic team will provide the opposition at 8 p. m. tomorrow night for Bill Coleman's team at Orchard Lanes' grand opening celebration.

The county's newest bowling establishment is managed by Don Spalla. The celebration will be an all-day affair with Billy "G" also slated for an afternoon exhibition at 2 o'clock.

Only a small minority of the population are vigorous antivivisectionists but unfortunately they muddy the waters and enlist the support of well-meaning persons who do not understand the issues involved. Through repeated and continuous efforts to pass restrictive legislation, they harass our best medical scientists and cause them to waste time and money presenting the facts to local, state and federal lawmakers.

Research scientists are the first to agree that experimental animals should be well cared for and humanely treated.

They have actually done this on a voluntary basis, and anyone who believes otherwise may pay a surprise visit to such a laboratory and see for himself the conditions in the animal houses of our research institutions.

When an antivivisectionist states that in animal experiments only 5 per cent of the animals used are given an anesthetic they are telling the literal truth.

DO NOT EXPLAIN

They do not however, explain that in the other 95 per cent the experiment involves nothing more painful than giving a drug through a hypodermic needle and often involves only the feeding of a special diet, giving drugs incorporated in the animal's food or exposing an animal to painless irradiations.

Animals that are operated upon get the same anesthesia as a patient in a hospital.

Many of these animals are obtained from the dog pound and are slated for death in any event.

And when the antivivisectionist says that animal experimentation is immoral because the animals cannot give their consent, he makes no mention of the fact that the steer who provided him with his steak for dinner was not exactly a volunteer.

The antivivisectionist is inconsistent in that he would be the first to howl if, when he needed it, he were to be denied the use of insulin for his diabetes or plasma for his surgical shock.

HAVE BENEFITTED

He also loses sight of the fact that animals, too, have greatly benefitted from animal experiments on such diseases as hepatitis, hog cholera and rabies.

Animal research today forms the very groundwork for advances in nutrition, new drugs, operative procedures, cancer, heart disease and all other fields of medical care.

Identification of the functions of the glands of internal secretion and of the various areas of the brain would not have been possible without it.

Open operations on the brain and heart and the rapidly developing field of organ transplants (spare parts) have grown out of knowledge acquired by animal experiments. (Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

IT'S PORTABLE — If you have a car-pot, a single garage or if you live in an apartment with a stall for your car, here is a tool center that requires very little space. It keeps your equipment dry and protected from the weather; it can be locked to prevent theft. You may also hang it on the wall under the eaves on the side of your home. The one pictured is mounted on a car-pot post. Building this tool center is no problem when you use the easy-to-follow pattern. It lists the required materials and gives easy directions and illustrations. The cost is slight. Vines Have Hundreds of Uses, Forms

Vines have a hundred uses and hundreds of forms. There are vines that can be grown for quick shade or screening. Some are valuable for their showy, fragrant, or colorful flowers, others for their beautiful foliage. There are annual vines, evergreen and deciduous vines, and vines with lovely fall color.

There's only one hard and fast rule: Select the right vine for the right place. Otherwise, you're making trouble for yourself.

Vines can be trained on walls or fences for surface decoration, if evergreen ones are used. These will lend a pleasant effect all the year around.

But even if you use deciduous vines because you enjoy their summer flowering, the design of the bare vines can enhance the surface when the flowers and leaves are gone. Vines can be trained in endless ornamental ways.

This flexibility is one of their greatest advantages. Milton was right when he said, "We can direct the clasping ivy where to climb."

Union Officers Indicted on Embezzling Charge

DETROIT (AP) — Dwight F. Erskine, 68, of Grosse Pointe, a former president, and Melvin E. Donlon, 67, of Detroit, a vice president, were indicted yesterday by a federal grand jury on charge of embezzling funds from Local 199 of the Motion Picture Projectionists' Union.

They were accused of overcharging the union $343 for rental of space at a trade union exhibition, and Erskine also was accused of overcharging $939 for the funeral of a member.

High basements or bare walls can be hidden with vines. Baltic or Boston ivy and winter creepers are excellent. They also provide green backgrounds for flowers.

Don't Wait 'til Freeze-Up to Plant Colorful Bulbs

Spring-blooming bulbs such as scilla, tulips, hyacinth, daffodil and crocus should be planted before the ground becomes too hard and cold to work easily.

Be careful in setting them in the ground that they are not too deep, to make their task of poking into the sunlight difficult next spring, nor too shallow, to endanger them from the winter elements.

Digging holes for the bulbs is to us one of the duller chores of autumn. And the later in the fall you wait, the tougher will be the job.

There is a tool that will make the job easier. It has a shovel-like handle, is of adequate circular width to handle the largest of the spring bulbs, and has notched edges to facilitate cutting into the ground. There are inch-depth markings to make digging to proper depth no task at all.

Scilla and crocus, two of the earliest bits of color to emerge after the long winter, should be planted (bottoms of the bulbs) three inches deep. Grape hyacinth goes an inch deeper, tulip goes to five inches, hyacinth to six, and daffodil, seven.

If the soil is extremely sandy, bulbs should be planted a little deeper. If you have heavy clay soil, set the bigger bulbs closer to the surface.

CHOICE WIDE

Your choice of tulips is wide and handsome. There are at least 800 varieties in cultivation, divided into 23 classes. Some bloom very early, some weeks later. There are short and long-stemmed types.

One new tulip we noted is Beauty of Daffodil Is in the Increase

The beauty of daffodils is not only in their flowers but in the fact that they increase in numbers each year.

A single bulb, which may produce one or two flowers the first year soon becomes a clump of bulbs, with a dozen flowers waving above.

In five years' time one daffodil bulb may have grown to be a dozen, all of which may be separated from the mother bulb and planted individually.

This effort on the part of the gardener makes daffodils a real joy.

Plastic Bags Make Good 'Plant Sitters'

Everyone at one time or another has been faced with the problem of arranging for a "plant sitter" when vacation days roll around.

Delicate house plants can suffer irreparable damage unless watered regularly, but many times it just isn't convenient for someone to come in to take care of your plants in your absence.

There is, however, an easy way to solve the problem.

Part of a plant's normal growing function is "transpiration" which involves the exhalation of water vapor from the cells of leaves through minute openings called stomates.

This process can be arrested and the moisture preserved by simply inverting a plastic dry cleaning clothes bag and carefully enveloping the plant.

Bunch the neck together and secure it around the stem of the plant with a plastic-covered wire available in any nursery.

Time to Plant Trees, Shrubs

Proper Way Insures Good Winter Start

Many home owners are not fully aware that fall is one of the best times to plant trees and shrubs. This includes balled and burlapped evergreens, most deciduous (leaf-dropping) shade trees and shrubs, many fruit trees and rose bushes, whether canned, burlapped, or bare-root.

Top growth is finished for the year but the soil is still warm and vigorous. Root growth takes place, getting them firmly established before spring planting even comes around.

Prepare the soil well. Dig a large hole.

Then loosen up the soil in the bottom and mix in plenty of peatmoss or other humus to lighten heavy soils or add water-holding capacity to sandy ones. Also mix in a generous amount of coarse bone meal.

Next turn your attention to the soil you took out. Mix in plenty of humus here, too, to make the soil nice and spongy. Then add the bone meal here, likewise, using at least two "father"-size coffee cups to every bushel of soil and about half as much of a good tree or vegetable fertilizer.

Set the plants no deeper than they were in the nursery. The soil mark shows on the stems.

Set these with the top of the graft (the knuckle-like part) at the surface in the South and 1 to 2 inches deep in most northern states. Then fill in the soil around the roots until you have the hole half full, tamping in the soil.

Next pour in enough water to fill the hole and let it settle away. Then fill up the rest of the hole. But, don't mound the soil around the stems.

Instead, make a shallow basin to hold water. Level it just before hard freezing and when the soil is hard. Spread over it 2 to 3 inches of old hay, straw, corn cob mulch, sugar cane, or whatever you can get to hold in the moisture and prevent alternate freezing and thawing.

It's Bulb Planting Time for Next Spring Garden

It's also time to start planting bulbs for next spring's bloom. Plant the small bulbs, like

Slender Lines Are Style for Cool Bouquet

The slender line arrangement of skimped plant material is the one to use in winter when flowers are scarce and expensive, or in early spring when the flower arranger relies on forced branches of forsythia or pussy-willow.

This depends on the beauty of the blooms, or color and on sheer mass for its eye appeal.

It may be made of any type of flower and, because of differing flower forms, is easier to make of several different types of blossoms.

However, even a single kind of annual, if that's all you're growing, can be made into an extremely satisfactory bouquet.

Varying stem lengths and different colors will help achieve an interesting effect, even if flower form varies not at all.

crocus or grape hyacinth, next daffodils, then most of the other bulbs, and tulips last, usually not until October.

For solid plantings, it is best to remove all the soil from the bed, one shovel deep, prepare the soil in the bottom, place the bulbs, and then replace the soil on top of them.

This results in a more evenly timed stand of blossoms. Bulbs other than tulips, of course, should be planted less deeply. However, if you are planting in informal clumps or naturalizing them, it's easier to plant them with a narrow-bladed transplanting trowel or a bulb planter. In any case, be sure to put some good bulb fertilizer into the soil under them.

Make certain, too, to keep the leaves from collecting on the lawn. If they get wet and mat down, they are almost sure to smother the grass under them.

Maple leaves, especially, mat, elms a little less readily, and most oak rarely.

A good steel broom rake will readily get them up.

Forest Products Week to Honor Man's Friend

Wood has a warm and friendly feel to the touch. When you caress it you know there is no other material like it. Wood is a friend of man. It gave him his first shelter, his fuel and his crude first utensils and tools and even weapons.

This year, on Oct. 20-26 wood will be spotlighted during National Forest Products Week.

Small Plants? Use Window

Sunny Sill Is Aid to Dwarfed Annuals

The annuals that are dwarfed because they are growing too close to other plants, the seedlings that began to grow later than the others and therefore still are undersized, are all grist to the mill of the gardener who has a sunny window sill.

Potted now, before cold weather comes, so that they can become acclimated to their new restrictions while still outdoors, many annuals will adapt themselves to being house plants.

The two annuals that will bloom all winter long, with at least one flower on a plant almost every day, are bivalaria and eximia. Both have blue flowers, though of different shades and shapes. Neither is well known.

Small-flowered marigolds that grow in bush form, ageratum, which also is bushy, little plants of coleus, calendula, petunias, dwarf asters and other low-growing annuals, all may be used.

RECOVER SOON

Watered well one evening, lifted with plenty of soil around the roots, placed into a pot large enough for the root system, watered again, and set in a shady place, the annuals should recover soon.

Within two weeks they should be ready to move indoors. It is best to place them in a sunny window before heat is turned on in the house.

Given plenty of water and a place near the window, they will continue to flower just as if they still were in the outdoor garden.

Fall Sees New Hopes for Garden

The first few cool days, which signal the approach of fall, bring with them a new burst of enthusiasm among home gardeners.

New plans, new hope for the coming year replace the languid atmosphere of summer.

One of the first things the successful gardener does is to touch up the bare spots in his lawn, for even the best lawns occasionally develop a few.

Using a good, steel rake, loosen the soil as deeply as you can without disturbing the grass that is present.

Then a good grade mixture of lawn seed should be scattered over the area. Never buy cheap seed; it's false economy and always results in dissatisfaction. After that, rake the area with a gentle, circular motion to flick just a few grains of soil over the seed and either roll it lightly or pat it down with the back of a shovel to firm the soil over the seed.

WATER CRUCIAL

When germination starts, don't let the lawn suffer from lack of water or the tiny seedlings will dry out and die.

Of course, if you must plant a new lawn, prepare the soil well, loosening it at least one spading fork deep and incorporating thoroughly lime and fertilizer at the rate of 3 and 5 pounds per 100 square feet, respectively, as a general rule.

A path with daffodils blooming on either side becomes a golden walkway in early spring. Good companions for daffodils are pansies in purple or white or English daisies with pink or white blossoms.

Board Okays School Loan

To Borrow $30,000 on Tax Anticipation

The Oakland County School Board approved borrowing $30,000 on tax anticipation notes yesterday, hiking the total borrowed funds to $67,000.

Previously, the board had okayed borrowing $37,000 on tax anticipation notes.

Supt. William J. Emerson said the loans are necessary because of action by the tax allocation board, which cut Oakland Schools' requested millage from 16 to 10.

The money will be used between now and the first of the year for operating expenses, he added.

STAFF REPORT

In other business, the school board heard a staff report on two rooms for mentally handicapped in West Bloomfield School District.

The special education rooms will be part of a proposed $900,000 junior high school.

Dr. Myrl M. Platt, director of social studies, reported to the board on an upcoming conference, said. The "Crisis Curriculum" conference has already attracted over 200 registrations. The social studies conference will be held at Pontiac Northern High School.

Guard Struck by Youth, 15 'Doing Fine'

An Oakland County Children's Center guard who was injured in an escape attempt by a 15-year-old boy earlier this month is expected to be released soon from Pontiac General Hospital, according to his doctor Dr. Edward M. Gates of Pontiac.

Dr. Gates, a neurosurgeon, said Donald Hunt, 15, of 615 Madison, Rochester, is "coming along fine." The hospital described his condition as fair.

Hunt was struck in the head with a brick by the boy, who was committed to Pontiac State Hospital for mental treatment Monday and returned to St. Clair Hospital in Detroit to await admission to the state hospital.

The boy was transferred to St. Clair after the attack on Hunt.

Juvenile authorities said he came up behind Hunt with a brick he had chiseled out of the wall. Three other youths were involved in the escape attempt.

JFK May Go to Far East

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: ASIAN-BOUND—A trip by President Kennedy to the Far East next spring remains a lively possibility but authoritative sources insisted today no active plans are being made at this time.

The administration's key tax bill and civil rights measure now before Congress are expected to keep the President close to the White House for the remainder of this year.

There has been no consideration of a visit by Kennedy to only a single country. Rather the thinking has been directed toward a general swing through the Far East from Japan in the north to Indonesia, Australia and New Zealand in the south.

Accused Spy Takes Drug Overdose

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Official laboratory tests confirmed today that accused Swedish master spy Col. Stig Wennerstrom took an overdose of barbiturates in his tightly guarded jail cell.

He was rushed to a hospital Thursday and remained unconscious today but his condition was listed as satisfactory. Hospital officials said the barbiturates, probably nembutal, were not expected to cause any permanent damage.

Wennerstrom, accused of selling top Swedish defense secrets to the Soviet Union and of spying on North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, had been under 24-hour guard at Stockholm police headquarters.

DAILY DOSES—It was not known how he obtained enough drugs for a suicide attempt but it was reported he had received barbiturates in daily doses under a physician's control.

Swedish police declined to answer questions about the case. Newspapers called it an almost unbelievable scandal.

Wennerstrom was arrested last summer. He had his first hearing last week but the trial now is expected to be postponed for several months.

Race Trouble Brings Death

Fisherman Slain in Florida Violence

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—A St. Augustine shrimp was shot to death today and three friends told police it happened while they were riding by the home of a Negro integration leader.

The shooting was the latest in a series of racial violence. The white men said that a group of Negroes rushed from the home of Goldie Eubanks, an integration leader, and opened fire with an automatic rifle.

Eubanks said he knew nothing about the shooting.

One bullet struck the shrimp William Kinard, 25, in the head. He died at a hospital.

A police report said that when Kinard was shot, a shotgun he was holding between his legs fired through the floorboard of the car.

His friends—Halstead David Manney, 21; Dixon Stanford, 24; and James Edward Scaff, 26—told police that they were riding through the Negro section just after midnight on the way to a friend's house when the shooting took place.

Eubanks, who claimed several weeks ago that a fire bomb was thrown at his house, told officers he heard no shots fired during the night. However, he said that a friend called and told him there had been a shooting somewhere.

Since the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced an all-out integration drive, there have been a series of incidents. Just this week, four home-made gasoline bombs were thrown against the house of a Negro leader in the drive. Damage was minor.

Skipper for MacArthur at Guantanamo Base

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Capt. John D. Bulkeley, the PT boat skipper who spirited Gen. Douglas MacArthur off Corregidor shortly before the fall of the Philippines, yesterday was named commander of the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

Bulkeley, now 52, will be promoted to rear admiral. He will relieve Rear Adm. James W. Davis, who is being reassigned to the Pentagon, beginning in January.

Auto Is Broken Into in Commerce Township

A set of golf clubs and bag, a golf cart, five bottles of liquor and a box of cigars were reported stolen yesterday from the car of Robert Servo, 4538 Driftwood, Commerce Township.

Servo told sheriff's deputies that the items were taken from the car parked at Wonderland Lanes, Richardson and Union Lake Road, Commerce Township. Value of the loss is undetermined.

Bar Suit in Court Today

A Circuit Court suit by downtown realtors and merchants to block the transfer of a Pontiac bar license was to come up for trial today before Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Key issue in the case is whether Murray's Beauty Academy, 105 N. Saginaw, is a school within the meaning of state law prohibiting bars within 500 feet of a school.

The city, defendant in the suit, failed in an attempt to get a State Supreme Court reversal of a March 30 temporary injunction ordered by Judge Moore.

The injunction restrained the city from transferring Spadofore's bar liquor license from 6 N. Cass to 70 N. Saginaw pending the final decision in the suit.

LYNN A SCHOOL

Judge Moore held at the time that the beauty academy was a school within the law's meaning, but indicated he would be willing to hear more testimony and argument at the trial.

The suit, brought by Pontiac realtor Floyd Kent and seven Saginaw Street business places, seeks a permanent injunction.

Ralph Spadofore, the bar's owner, requested the transfer after his former building on Cass was condemned by the State Highway Department for the perimeter road project.

The transfer had been approved in a 5-2 city commission vote and was okayed by the State Liquor Control Commission.

PROXIMITY TO BAR

Original objection of the merchants, however, was not the proximity of the proposed new location to the beauty school, but its being within 40 feet of another bar.

Lost in Tinderbox?

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The West Virginia Department of Natural Resources, having suspended hunting and closed drought-stricken woodlands, today found time from its fight against 168 forest fires to advise in its weekly bulletin: "If you are lost in the woods... build a smoky fire."

If the U.S. Army follows past practice, it can be assumed that a Soviet vehicle trying to enter West Berlin will be delayed shortly in retaliation.

Bridegroom of One Day Ordered Out of Country

DETROIT (AP)—A bridegroom of one day, nephew of a man named as a leader in the so-called Mafia, was ordered today to leave the country despite his marriage to a girl who is a U.S. citizen.

U. S. immigration officials gave the order to Giuseppe Zerilli, 27, native of Palermo, Sicily, who has been in this country on a visitor's visa.

Zerilli, whose uncle, Joseph Zerilli was identified at Washington by Police Commissioner George Edwards as a Mafia "Don," must leave voluntarily or face deportation, officials said.

At Mount Clemens Thursday Zerilli and Joan Ganci, 20, of that city, got married.

MAKES APPEAL

Zerilli's attorney, Harry Kobel, appeared afterwards at the U.S. immigration office here asking permission for Zerilli to remain in the United States as a permanent resident because of his marriage to Miss Ganci.

However, Kobel was refused and Zerilli's extension of his visa to Nov. 15 was revoked.

Walter A. Sahli, district immigration director, said Zerilli's marriage and his taking a job at his uncle's bakery had indicated he planned permanent residence in violation of his visitor's visa.

Wrecker Is Held 38 Minutes Until Release

BERLIN (AP)—East German border guards at theCheckpoint Charlie crossing point through the wall held a U.S. Army wrecker for 38 minutes today before allowing the vehicle to enter East Berlin, a U.S. Army spokesman said.

The wrecker was going to assist a disabled U.S. Army sedan in the Soviet sector when it was stopped shortly after midnight.

The driver of the wrecker, identified sources said, refused to talk to the East Germans and demanded that a Soviet officer be called. No Soviet official showed up but the border guards lifted the barriers after 38 minutes and let the vehicle pass.

IST LONG DELAY

As far as could be determined, it was the first long delay at Checkpoint Charlie since the U.S.-Soviet tank confrontation two years ago in a dispute over Western access rights to the Soviet sector. The reason for the latest delay could not be determined.

Dog Returned After 2 Years

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP)—Dusty is back—two years after he disappeared from the Lee Moore home.

A "found" item in the classified advertising columns of the Daily Sentinel led Moore, his wife and their four children to a happy reunion Thursday with the German shepherd dog.

Dusty was weak and a bit bedraggled—but happy.

Dodger Star in Nighttime Escapade

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dodger pitcher Johnny Podres, out with exotic dancer Tania Dawn in the wee small hours, was charged today with drunken driving. After he was booked and released, newsmen complained the man who drove him away almost ran them down.

FORGET IT

Newsmen from the Times and the Herald-Examiner said the men asked them to "forget the whole thing." Later, in the parking lot, photographer Gene Hackley said the man swerved his car toward him, forcing him to jump behind a post to avoid being hit. Another photographer said his car was narrowly missed.

Miss Dawn was not charged.

Waterford Mishap Hurts Outstate Pair

Keith Rubin, 19, of East Lansing and his wife, Laniac, 20, both are in satisfactory condition in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after suffering injuries last night in an auto accident in Waterford Township.

Rubin told police he was driving east on Elizabeth Lake Road at 11:44 p.m. when another eastbound car driven by Rodney Green, 21, of 4020 Arcadia Park, Waterford Township, struck his in the rear. The accident occurred just west of Gateway.

Green told police that Rubin's car cut in front of his.

Both Green and Kenneth Coulton, 16, of Roscomon, a passenger in Rubin's car, were treated at the hospital and released.

English Clubs Gird for Female Invasion

WASHINGTON — Crusty English club men are grumbling into their vintage port these days about the invasion.

A shocked gentleman from the Times recently reported seeing a woman slipping tea in the vest library of the Carlton Club — a Tory stronghold once so conservative it was called "a ducal mansion with the duke lying dead upstairs."

More and more London clubs are timidly admitting female guests into certain areas, usually the dining rooms, of their hushed chambers. The motives are primarily economic: More guests are needed to meet expenses.

Clubland. One old member spluttered, "By George, if a woman came into the backgammon room, she'd be arrested."

ARISTOCRATIC GAMBLERS

About 45 men's clubs in London cluster around Pall Mall and St. James's Street, the National Geographic Society says. Some trace their ancestry back to 18th-century coffeehouses; others had racier origins.

White's Club, founded in 1693, was originally a chocolate house, but it attracted heavy-betting aristocratic gamblers who made it notorious. One member lost 32,000 pounds at the card table during a memorable night back in 1755.

Cards were not the only means of losing money. The betting book at White's reveals that "Mr. F. Cavendish bets Mr. H. Brownrigg 2-1 that he does not kill a blue bottle fly before he goes to bed." The archive fails to disclose whether Brownrigg bagged his blue bottle.

CLUBS

A pleasant stroll down St. James's St. from White's is Boodle's Club. Though it was founded in 1763 by a manservant named Boodle, the club became a meeting place for peers.

Anyone asking for Sir John found himself surrounded by members.

An 18th-century duke developed an imperious pastime there: He enjoyed sitting in the elegant bow window on rainy days to watch "the damn'd people get wet."

Some of the "people" then had their own establishments. The club grandly called the House of Lords was frequented, a historian relates, by the "more dissolute sort of barristers, attorneys, and tradesmen of what were then called the better sort, but no one who wore a decent coat was excluded."

By the 19th century, London clubs no longer were aristocratic preserves. Newly rich industrialists built pretentious town houses for their clubs.

OTHER CLUBS

Other groups that shared similar wealth, tastes, or rank organized exclusive meeting places. Though the original membership lines are blurred, clubs today still bring together compatible types.

'TRUE BLUE'

At the Carlton, for example, the only men put up for membership are true-blue members of the Conservative Party.

A Carlton habitue once brought a legal injunction against a chairman who wanted to admit Liberal Party members.

The Garrick, founded for actors, today also takes in lawyers, editors, and businessmen. The Saville, which has a reputation for conviviality, is favored by publishers, authors, actors, and broadcasters.

The Beefeater swarms with so many high-ranking personages—including the Prime Minister and the Governor of the Bank of England—that a junior member has confessed he is too frightened to go there.

United Fund Over Halfway to 1963 Goal

Record Contributions
Cited by Chairman
as Cause for Success

The Pontiac Area United Fund today is half-way to what appears to be the most successful drive in its 15-year history.

E. M. Estes, general campaign chairman, said latest totals show 54 per cent of the 1963 goal of $776,700 has been raised.

At the same time, Estes pointed out, many donations are over the 10 per cent increase being sought this year to reach a record United Fund goal.

Estes said a number of employee groups have shown a high level of participation, at 15 per cent or more over previous goals.

Among them are Michigan Bell Telephone workers, $5,194; Pontiac State Hospital employees, $4,298; J. C. Penney personnel, $1,190.

STORE UNITS
Area food store employee units cited were Savon Food, $3,000; Wrigleys, $2,126; Kroger $664; and Peoples Markets, $366.

Increased employee contributions have been made by Oakland County Road Commission, $1,400, and Boice Builders Supply, $337.

Estes said United Fund has also been pledged $3,250 as the firm gift of MacLennan, John & Adams advertising agency.

Reporting for the Industrial Division, the largest bloc of contributors, chairman Earl Maxwell said its solicitations have yielded $317,825, over 62 per cent complete. Most of this represents donations from large industrial firms.

65 PER CENT
Mrs. William Brack, Womens Division leader, said 65 per cent, or $19,416 of its goal is realized. The Lake Angelus unit has already met its $3,118 quota, she said, and still has additional calls to make.

The Womens Division gives its report next Wednesday.

The Commercial Division has raised $4,975 (66 per cent) of its chapter plans goal, $3,899 (50 per cent) of small teams goal, $13,676 (67 per cent) of Professional I and $6,252 (61 per cent) of Professional II quotas, $7,878 (38 per cent) of government donations and $3,870 (22 per cent) of education units.

Commercial chairman Stuart Whitfield said his volunteers were well ahead of last year's pace, with all returns totaling a 59 per cent completion of goal.

Coast Area Evacuated for Ginny

From Our News Wires

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Hurricane Ginny bore steadily toward the South Carolina coast today and residents of low-lying areas were ordered to evacuate by 11 a.m. (Pontiac time) before the full fury of the storm hit this afternoon.

At 9 a.m., Ginny was located 72 miles south-southeast of Charleston and was moving to the north at 8 miles an hour with winds of 95 m.p.h. at its center.

Weather officials said the storm probably would hit here this afternoon and then move up the coastline to North Carolina tonight.

Residents of resort islands and other low-lying areas around this historic seaport city boarded up their homes and headed for inland shelters.

Police and firemen moved up and down Folly Beach, Isle of Palms and Sullivan's Island in loudspeaker trucks urging about 10,000 winter residents of the islands to move to higher ground.

Refugee centers were set up at school houses inland, and authorities hoped to complete the evacuation by noon.

Tides as much as nine feet above normal were predicted for areas along the South Carolina coast.

Red Cross shelters were ordered set up in the Charleston area by 11 a.m. to feed and house the persons who fled from the lowlands.

Crew of Ship Relates Ordeal

in Storm-Tossed Sea

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Bone-tired and red-eyed, the 10-man riding crew of the decommissioned destroyer escort Fogg told today how they rolled 50 degrees in 40-foot seas in the hurricane-whipped Atlantic.

"Sleep was something we didn't get too much of," Chief Warrant Officer Walter F. Gancy, 35, of Norfolk, told seamen after a cheerfully joyous reunion on a pier with his wife and three children.

The Fogg arrived at 2 a.m. in tow of the Navy tug Kiowa.

The Coast Guard cutter Chilula took the powerless Fogg in tow off the North Carolina coast Tuesday morning, 60 hours after a line parted as the Fogg was being towed by a Navy tug from Portsmouth, to Orange, Tex., to join the reserve fleet.

TAKES OVER TOW

The Kiowa took over the tow job from the Chilula near Cape Henry, Va., yesterday.

"Our radio went out Friday night," Gancy said. "We lost our generator Saturday night. Flashlights and battery lanterns were the only lights we had."

"The ship rolled as much as 50 degrees. The worst weather was Monday night, when the wind was 60 to 75 miles an hour and the swells were about 40 feet."

"We didn't go out on deck after Sunday morning. It was blowing too hard."

Says U. N. Day Speaker

'Have Not' Nations Are Key

By L. GARY THORNE

The most important concern today is not the East-West struggle, but the gap between developed and underdeveloped countries in the world, according to Charles A. Hogan, a United Nations aide.

Hogan, 37, secretary of the U. N. Technical Assistance Committee, was the main speaker last night at a United Nations Day dinner at Oakland University.

"The gap is widening," he added, "because developed countries are growing faster than underdeveloped countries."

He maintained that the East-West struggle would be settled by the independents.

EXPERTS AT CHAOS

"Your side (American side) is totally incapable of taking advantage of chaos," he asserted, "but the opposition is expert at it."

Hogan saw technical assistance as the answer. He told the 250 dinner guests, including 30 foreign exchange students, that literacy is increasing in the world.

"We are losing on this front," he said.

Hogan said the Peace Corps is the American form of technical assistance. Other U.N. agencies also offer similar programs.

INDIVIDUAL HELP

He said, for example, the Peace Corps helped individual areas build a clean water system, but the U.N. was concerned with helping the entire countries develop water systems.

Asked to what extent U.N. agencies work in nonmember countries, Hogan said work is being done wherever the U.N. has been invited.

Prior to Hogan's talk, Robert Peden, President of the Michigan Division of the AAUN, presented the Rochester chapter with its AAUN charter.

About 30 foreign exchange students attended the international dinner as guests of the Rochester Rotary Club.

ENTIRE DAY

Hogan spent the entire day at Oakland County yesterday, beginning with flag-raising ceremonies in front of the village municipal building.

He spoke to high school assemblies at Rochester and Romeo high schools. In addition, he talked informally with Oakland University students for three hours.

The former college professor said the college students seemed particularly interested in how to pursue a career in international life.

Adlai Gets Conked, Spat On in Melees

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — One anti-U.N. demonstrator spat on Adlai E. Stevenson, another banged him on the head with a sign, and about 100 milled around him in a disorderly protest last night.

The disturbance occurred after a United Nations Day speech during which Stevenson drew two standing ovations from 1,750 persons jamming the Municipal Auditorium in downtown Dallas.

Police arrested two men in breaking up a crowd gathered around a car in which Stevenson, this country's ambassador to the United Nations, left the auditorium.

He appeared startled but unhurt by the blow on his head. Police grabbed a woman carrying the sign.

"Don't arrest her—it could have been an accident," Stevenson said. Then he asked the woman: "What is wrong? Can I help you in any way?"

EVERYONE KNOWS

The woman, who later identified herself to reporters as Cora Fredrickson of Dallas, snarled back: "If you don't know what's wrong, I don't know why. Everybody else does."

Stevenson turned and walked away. Mrs. Fredrickson, 47, told newsmen she did not intend to strike him but someone pushed her arm as she pushed her placard close to the ambassador to read.

The sign asked: "Adlai, who elected you?"

Police said a man in the crowd spat on Stevenson near the car and on officers who took him into custody. A second man was arrested as patrolmen pushed the crowd back.

As Stevenson spoke, he was interrupted by a front row spectator. This individual identified himself as Frank McGehee of Dallas, an organizer of the ultraconservative Indignation Convention.

McGehee asked several questions, including one about Stevenson's beliefs. There was deafening applause after the ambassador answered: "For my part I believe in the forgiveness of sin and the redemption of ignorance."

PICNIC WEATHER—Although the calendar doesn't say so, it is still warm enough for outdoor picnics, and little Connie Juntunen's two grandmothers haven't missed one warm day for an outing. Try to Save 7; Fate of Others Is Unknown

'Rescue Bomb' Will Be Lowered Through Communication Shaft

HILDESHEIM, Germany (AP) — Trapped by a sudden flood from the pool of their own ore processing plant, 50 miners were pinned below the surface of the Lengede Iron Mine today.

Seven were reached in a side shaft by a six-inch drill driven from the surface, and rescuers worked hard to widen the hole to about 20 inches so a "rescue bomb" could be lowered to them.

The "bomb" is a bell-shaped bucket into which a man can fit.

"We're all in good shape," said a voice through the narrow shaft. "The ventilation is good."

But the good news applied only to the seven.

NO WORD

Seventeen hours after the mass of water broke into the main shaft of the 300-foot-deep mine last night, there was no word from the other 43.

Among them were believed to be three men who first saw what was happening when the pool's shoreline gave way and went down to give the alarm.

Seventy-nine got out in time. More than 600,000 cubic yards of water and mud poured down to the lower level.

Officials explained there was no chance of reaching the trapped men through the main shaft because the flood had made it unusable.

CAUSE A MYSTERY

The cause of the pool's break from its bed remained to be determined.

Residents of this area, about 17 miles southeast of Hannover, expressed belief construction of a big highway approach near by may have weakened the banks.

The flood washed into the mine at 8 p.m.

Bonn No Longer Afraid MAKE OVER PAGES

From Our News Wires
BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government said today the issue of U.S. troop strength in Europe has lost importance because of the reassurances given in Frankfurt by Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance.

Vance said the United States "has no intention of withdrawing any of our six division equivalents which are here" in West Germany.

A government spokesman, Karl Guenther von Hase, told a news conference in Bonn this caused the U.S. troop issue to slip down on the agenda.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived here earlier today to counter fears that Exercise Big Lift—the aerial transfer of the 2nd Armored Division from Texas—meant the United States would pull out some of its 250,000 soldiers based in Europe.

MEETING ERHARD
Rusk is meeting the new chancellor, Ludwig Erhard, and other West German leaders.

Meanwhile, the huge airlift was declared a complete success today, U.S. military leaders began planning for a larger one to the Far East next spring.

Air Force Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert called special attention to the 100 per cent safety record in Big Lift, the movement of more than 15,000 troops carried out to show how rapidly the United States could build up its forces in Europe in a crisis.

In a tribute to the Military Air Transport Service's (MATs) accident-free delivery of the 2nd Armored Division from Texas to Western Europe, Zuckert said operations over the 5,600-mile aerial bridge were performed "with a real sense of urgency but entirely consistent with airline safety standards."

OVER AT 10:05
The transatlantic flight of exercise "Big Lift" ended at 10:05 p.m. (4:05 p.m. Pontiac time) yesterday when a big C130 turboprop troop transport set down under the glaring floodlights at Sembach Air Base, 35 miles southwest of here.

The honor of delivering the last 58 battle-clad soldiers of the "Hells on Wheels" division went to Lt. Cmdr. Lawrence S. Wright, skipper in a Navy squadron based at Moffett Field, Calif., and assigned to MATS. His flight from Connally Air Force Base, Tex., had taken 24 hours.

Arrival of the Navy plane came 63 hours and 5 minutes after the first Air Force C130 jet transport had taken off from Bergstrom Air Force Base, Tex., on a 10½-hour flight with 62 soldiers.

Zuckert told newsmen that such "realistic deployment exercises are going to be part of the normal training routine." He did not elaborate.

MAPPING PLANS
But it was learned that the Defense Department is mapping out plans now for a huge airlift next spring to the Far East.

In almost every way, this will be more complex than the Big Lift maneuver with greater distances to be flown, more tonnage and perhaps more troops to be delivered and more confined areas for the landing operations.

Dog Wardens to Crack Down

Prosecutor Supports More Ticket Policy

Oakland County dog wardens are going to start issuing violation tickets for letting dogs run at large. Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the county's animal welfare division, announced today.

His announcement followed a recommendation by the miscellaneous committee of the County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The committee urged stricter enforcement of the dog laws in an effort to have dogs properly licensed and controlled.

Members agreed that one of the biggest problems in townships and villages today is the great number of dogs allowed to run at large.

ASSURED SUPPORT
County Prosecutor George Taylor assured the committee that his department would support the dog wardens in their crackdown.

He said his department will issue warrants against dog owners in violation of the laws.

Violations covered by the tickets are: failure to procure dog license, dog attacking passersby on public street or sidewalk, dog not confined on premises, allowing female in heat to run at large and cruelty to animals.

Offenders will face a maximum penalty of $100 fine plus court costs and 90 days in the county jail for each violation.

Handicaps Masked at Goblin Fete

Dressed like clowns, witches and other Halloween characters, a dozen youngsters visited the offices of Oakland schools yesterday for an annual party.

The party was held to celebrate Halloween. It was similar to any number of such parties that will be held next week in schools throughout the county.

The pumpkins were a brilliant orange. Some witches had long, stringy hair with long black pointed hats. The clowns had on multicolored suits.

Faces were painted with lipstick and eyebrow pencil, and tiny eyes peeking through too-small slits in paper mache masks.

MODIFICATIONS
The party was like any other. Like any other except for a few modifications.

A couple of youngsters had to add wheel chairs to their Halloween masquerade, while some had casts on broken bones.

The two-hour celebration was rather subdued, but the group of homebound students seemed to enjoy the outing.

The Halloween party is one of two annual events for the youngsters. In the spring, Valentine's Day is similarly celebrated.

The county has 80 students in its homebound program who are taught in their homes by special education teachers. The instructors visit each child for an hour twice a week.

The program includes both permanent and temporary homebound students.

GUEST SPEAKER — John MacVane, a news correspondent to the United Nations, chats with two members of the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations before addressing the group in Birmingham last night. With him, are Mrs. Leon Spanier, wife of the chapter's president, and Harold J. Chalk, chairman of the U. N. Day observance. Also on the program was a German madrigal group.

Effort Reported

Truce in Viet Nam?

LONDON (UPI)—The governments of South Viet Nam and Communist North Viet Nam are apparently making exploratory contacts that could lead to a truce in the divided country, diplomatic sources said today.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

The United States has given massive financial and military backing to the South Vietnamese government of President Ngo Dinh Diem in its struggle against Communist guerrillas who are armed, equipped and given shelter by President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam.

POSSIBLE TRUCE
Diplomatic sources said the current moves were believed to be aiming at some sort of truce arrangement with possible wider ramifications. Diem's brother and chief adviser, Ngo Dinh Nhu, was said to favor the contacts.

Ho Chi Minh has made numerous public offers to discuss a truce, but the Diem regime has never accepted.

One of the immediate effects of any arrangement between the Saigon and Hanoi regimes would be to restore economic links and permit the flow of food from the fertile south to relatively unproductive North Viet Nam.

The reports of truce moves were viewed with caution in western diplomatic quarters, in the absence of authoritative confirmation.

MAKES SENSE
Communist sources, although not confirming the reports, said such a development would "make sense" in terms of stated Communist policy that settlements should be sought by the regimes of the divided portions of a country.

This is also the Communist position in relation to East and West Germany.

U.S. authorities reported the recovery of six bodies from the crash of a twin-engine U.S. Air Force plane which was dropping flares in support of the Vinh Binh operation 60 miles south of Saigon.

OTHERS ABOARD
There was no word on two other persons aboard the plane, but it was believed they also were killed.

Four U.S. Air Force crewmen and four Vietnamese observers were aboard the plane.

Birmingham Area News

Correspondent for U.N. Cites Economic Influence

BIRMINGHAM — Speaking near the hub of American's auto production community, John MacVane last night cited the United Nations as a force for economic stability.

The UN correspondent for ABC News, backed up with statistics his observations on the role the world organization plays in the prosperity of the United States.

He reminded his audience that 30 per cent of Ford Motor Co.'s sales are overseas, while 15 per cent of General Motors' income is from other countries.

The U.S. has built over 1,000 plants in Common Market countries alone since World War II, he noted.

ABILITY OF U.S.
To do so, the firms must rely on the ability of the U.N. to keep world peace.

"Every single U.N. program is designed to keep things stable," MacVane told the audience at the Community House.

"And stable conditions provide new markets for the United States."

MacVane addressed a group marking the 18th anniversary of the world peace organization.

PROGRAM SPONSOR
The program last night was sponsored by the Oakland County Chapter of the American Association for the United Nations.

The 18th session of the U.N.'s general assembly will differ from the 17 which preceded it, MacVane predicted.

"For the first 17 years, everything the U.N. has done has been in the shadow of the Cold War," he said. "But there is something very different in the 18th session—a feeling of good will and new hopefulness."

MacVane observed that the new spirit is felt especially among the new nations, which are thrilled by the test-ban agreement.

DISARMAMENT
With tensions relaxed, the U.N. Disarmament Committee can move forward, MacVane said.

At the same time, he did not belittle the problems facing the U.N.

The most-consuming tasks before it, he said, will be decolonization, disarmament and development of new nations.

MacVane denounced the U.N.'s critics, who he said become more vociferous in times like the present when there are no major crises.

Although an amateur, Mr. Robinson was noted as an expert in the mechanics of the theater.

PHOENIX PROJECT
He was also a developer of the University of Michigan's "Toms for Peace" Phoenix project.

His enthusiasm for the technical side of the theater led Mr. Robinson to be a consultant in the backstage design of Detroit's old Orchestra Hall.

Mr. Robinson's father, William, had been a Detroit school superintendent.

Surviving are his wife, Ann; two sons, Loren T. Jr. of Birmingham and William L. of Royal Oak; and a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Orr of Detroit.

Court to Hear Thorson Plea

DETROIT (AP)—Recorder's Court Judge Elvin L. Davenport has set Nov. 8 to hear a petition by Robert M. Thorson of 2332 Buckingham, Birmingham, for a change of venue in his second trial in the slaying of his mother-in-law.

Thorson's attorney, Conrad D. Hays, said the 31-year-old securities salesman could not get a fair trial in Wayne (Detroit County because of the "great deal of publicity" given his original trial.

Thorson's first trial in the death of Mrs. Dorothy Thomas, 62, of Detroit ended last June in a deadlocked jury.

A mistrial was declared and a new trial ordered, with Thorson being released meanwhile on $5,000 bail.

BEATEN TO DEATH
Mrs. Thomas was beaten to death last Dec. 3 at her Detroit home, and Thorson was charged with first degree murder.

He pleaded innocent and his wife stood by him.

Saigon Says 114 Cong Dead

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—South Vietnamese government sources said today that 114 Communist guerrillas were killed or wounded in a clash in the Mekong Delta province of Vinh Binh.

The sources said 64 bodies were counted on the battlefield yesterday, but only one submachine-gun, one carbine and a quantity of ammunition and military equipment were captured from the Communist Viet Cong.

Government casualties in the clash and ensuing search operations were put at six killed and 30 wounded.

U.S. authorities reported the recovery of six bodies from the crash of a twin-engine U.S. Air Force plane which was dropping flares in support of the Vinh Binh operation 60 miles south of Saigon.

Chipman, 90, said the secret of their own happiness is "peaceful coexistence."

$2.2-Million Bond Vote Is Set

By PAT MCCARTHY
MILFORD — The Huron Valley Board of Education has scheduled a $2.2-million bond issue election for Dec. 12.

It needs to pick up just four votes above the number polled for a similar request in June.

Then, the issue was defeated by an 815-810 margin.

But board members have their hopes up, if somewhat cautiously.

DISCUSS BALLOTS

Last night, they discussed the 27 ballots which were invalidated after the last election because they had been improperly marked.

A voter education campaign seems in the offing. The board talked of various ways voters can be instructed to ballot correctly.

Board members had considered asking for $2.5 million in December. However, during their three-and-a-half-hour work session last night they cut one elementary school from the plans, thus lopping $300,000 from the total requested.

"I'm sure we'll be back for the $300,000 in another 18 months," E. Eugene Russell commented, receiving words of agreement from his fellow board members.

EXTEND BOND ISSUE

The proposed improvements would be financed through extension of an existing bond issue.

The improvements include a new junior high school in Milford (Kalamazoo), MacMillan, Millman Associates, Inc. Ann Arbor architects working for the board, have estimated total cost of the building at $875,000.

Also planned is a $450,000 addition to Highland Junior High School.

An additional classroom and a direct fire exit corridor from the cafeteria, plus some utility and storage rooms account for the majority of the space needed.

NO DECISION

The board reached no decision last night on six additional rooms which had been proposed for the high school.

Although they will seek funds for the rooms, they have not determined whether the addition would serve a better purpose at the high school or one of the elementary buildings.

They will iron out this and other factors during discussion

meetings between now and election day.

The figures they are working with are preliminary ones submitted by the architects. They must now decide on the size of allocations from the total bond issue.

The architects suggested that

AREA NEWS

$175,000 be used for high school additions, including the six class rooms.

Considered necessary at the high school are more athletic and laundry facilities to "increase the efficiency and facilitate a better scheduling and use of the gymnasium."

Also included in the building program are a bus maintenance building, central kitchens and food services at the junior high schools, and a central receiving and maintenance shop at the old Milford Junior High School site.

The architects reported that cost of remodeling the old Milford Junior High School may be kept to $80,000. The figure estimated on the last bond issue was $150,000.

OLD ANNEX

Board members will also discuss in the next few weeks the architects' proposal to discontinue use of the old annex.

The 1955 bond issue, which the board wants to refinance, carried a debt retirement levy of 3.4 mills last year. The levy nets about $140,000 annually and would be extended for 25 years.

'SIT DOWN' STRIKE—This group of protesting employees of the Plastray Corp. at Walley Lake decided it was better to stage their strike sitting down yesterday due to the unseasonable heat wave. They say the company has refused to renew a contract which asks for added insurance, vacation benefits and a slight pay hike. The strikers are members of Local 100, United Independent Workers of America.

Orchard Lake to Air Cityhood

ORCHARD LAKE — Which is a better place to live — Orchard Lake Village or the City of Orchard Lake?

A 40-member citizens' committee here thinks the City of Orchard Lake is.

Committee members plan to tell why they think so at a public meeting in the library of St. Mary's College on Seminary Road, Monday at 8 p.m.

The group has been studying incorporation "for several months" and is advocating conversion of the village into a home rule city.

Present village boundaries would be retained.

S. F. Leahy, executive secretary of the committee, said today the committee's objective is to "maintain the character of the village as residents would like to have it."

QUITE CONCERNED

"There is quite a bit of concern that larger areas may decide to incorporate and annex Orchard Lake."

Leahy said the Orchard Lake Village Committee has "given us the go-ahead to progress with the idea."

"We're hoping to get a good turnout," he added. The committee chairman said signatures would be collected at Monday's meeting.

All village residents have been invited, by letter, to attend and exchange views on incorporation. The committee hopes to gather the 100 signatures required to set a special election.

ELECTION DATE
If it is successful, the citizen's group will turn over the petitions to the village commission, which would then determine an election date.

Appearing on the ballot with the incorporation proposal would be candidates for a nine-man charter commission, which would draw up a city charter should the cityhood request be approved.

Repeat Fire Doused in Lapeer Preserve

By United Press International
Fire fighters, hampered by the lack of water, fought a game preserve fire near Lapeer for several hours yesterday before bringing it under control.

The fire, the same one that raged out of control last week, broke out again and at one time threatened a home. Firemen managed, however, to divert the fire after it burned 50 acres and the home was saved.

Conservation officials said most creeks in the area are dry, and it has become increasingly difficult to transport the water from Lapeer to the fire area.

Some relief was promised to day for Michigan, which has been rendered tinder-dry from an unseasonably hot drought.

SHOWERS DUE?

Temperatures were to remain higher than normal but there was a chance a few showers today and tonight would cool things off and dampen dried out woodlands.

Besides Lapeer, there were several new fires and flare-ups of old ones yesterday as many

Michigan cities reported record temperatures for Oct. 24.

In Detroit and Alpena the thermometer hit 81 degrees, while in Lansing it was 84. Grand Rapids recorded a high of 80 degrees and Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette and Muskegon were all in the high 70's. Conservation Department field men reported new fires near the Cassidy Lake Technical School near Chispa, near Linden in South Genesee County and at Pine Lake near Oxford.

DITCHES PLOWED

Ditches were plowed to retard the fire paths near Linden and Pine Lake. The fires had threatened cottages in the areas.

Department equipment was still used in controlling ground fires near Grass Lake, Leslie, Rives Junction, Portage, Imley City, Vicksburg and in northern Oakland County.

Diane Compton Wins
Homecoming Contest

By CAROL ARMBRUSTER

Students of Emmanuel Christian High School will have many pleasant memories of last week's homecoming activities.

Crowned as homecoming queen was senior Diane Compton of 1460 Holland in Birmingham. She has worked on the school newspaper and has been a member of the pep club.

In school, she is following a commercial course and upon graduation plans to become a secretary.

As a memento of her reign, Diane received a sterling silver charm bracelet with a crown on it.

The senior class was victor in the float contest. Its float, with the theme, "Lancers for the Lord," depicted a Lancer kneeling on a red carpet in front of a flower-banked altar with an open Bible and a cross. The school's crest was also shown.

Taking second place in the float contest were the sophomores.

TICKET SALES

Winners of the ticket sale for homecoming were announced. Selling the most tickets was senior Sharon Lewis. She received a Scottie Bible as her reward.

In second and third places were Ron Dillingham and Linda Holman. They each received a Kodak "pony" camera, which takes colored slides.

Money from the ticket receipts will be used to purchase bleachers for the gym.

The senior class is busy selling boxed candy to earn money for the senior trip.

Detroit News Goes to Press

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News today planned its first full press run since Sunday, following settlement of a work stoppage by pressmen.

Management and Detroit Printing Pressmen's Union No. 13 will meet at 1:30 p.m. today to discuss the grievance which caused the shutdown, the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Association said.

Meanwhile, Freeman D. Frazee, president of Local 13, said pressmen will work today.

Some subscribers of the afternoon News received papers yesterday, as presses started rolling for the fourth edition.

STOPPED MONDAY

Pressmen had stopped the presses after Monday's second edition, but Frazee said the pressmen were not on strike.

The publishers association represents both the News and the mounting Detroit Free Press in bargaining with printing craft unions.

The Free P. 35 was not affected by the work stoppage.

Frazee said earlier the dispute involved responsibilities of the pressmen.

Highway Building in June

Mackie Poised at Crossroads of Career

LANSING (AP) — John Mackie, boss of the building of many highways in Michigan, still is looking for signposts to point out his own road in the future. Mackie is a dinosaur among highway commissioners — the last of a soon-to-be extinct breed. Under the new state constitution, his term as the nation's last elected highway commissioner will expire on June 30, 1965.

Mackie is considering many possibilities. In the political field, these include running for governor, for lieutenant governor or trying for Congress in the new seventh district.

Other alternatives are accepting a federal appointment or returning to a private engineering-surveying practice in Flint.

Intimates say Mackie savors most of the idea of running against Gov. George Romney but the political climate would have to be right.

"I frankly haven't made up my mind as yet," Mackie says. "I know I'll have to do it pretty soon. Even my wife is bugging me to make a decision."

"I'll have to choose between making money and having fun," Mackie mused in an interview. "I could do a lot better financially in private practice. But once the political bug bites you, you have to give the business up."

Mackie once rejected a $24,950-a-year offer to head the Detroit Street Railway System. He has gained national prominence as president of the American Association of State Highway Officials and has turned down at least one offer to head a highway-building program in another state.

VOTE PULLER

Mackie has proved himself a vote puller for the Democratic party. He won his first four-year term in 1957 by 52,700 votes. He swept into second term by 242,000-vote runaway in April of 1961, outpolling all other candidates on both tickets.

Mackie, 43, is keeping himself in shape to run for anything. He plays baseball, rides quarter horses, ice skates and wheels a tractor around on his 50-acre farm near Lansing.

The highway commissioner had thick, black hair when he first took office. It is greying now, but a crew cut gives him a youthful look.

Mackie has been taking an increasingly active role in party affairs.

He was a bitter and outspoken opponent of the new state constitution, which abolishes his election office, replacing it with a four-man bipartisan commission empowered to appoint a highway commissioner or director.

Mackie says he was mainly concerned because the legislature will have the say on spending gas and license plate tax monies, now earmarked for highway purposes.

Cavanagh's Son Injured on Hand

DETROIT (AP) — The 3-year-old son of Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh — the same boy who was almost strangled last year — suffered a crushing hand injury while playing yesterday.

Christopher Cavanagh was hurt when a 35-pound religious statue fell on his right hand. He and six other Cavanagh children were playing near a flower bed in their father's back yard.

Doctors at Mount Carmel Hospital said Christopher received fractures of the third and fourth fingers of his right hand. He was to be examined by bone specialists.

The Cavanagh children were left in the care of relatives when the Mayor and his wife went to Europe last week. The Cavanaghs were reported en route home when the accident occurred.

HURT ON NECK

On July 1, 1962, Christopher's neck was caught in a power window of the family station wagon. A neighbor revived him with mouth-to-mouth respiration and the boy spent two days in the hospital.

Vice Crackdown Gets 60 Jailed in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — State Police arrested more than 60 persons late Thursday night in a major vice crackdown on scores of clubs and taverns in the Pittsburgh district.

Some 150 troopers, led by State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy, swooped down on the clubs shortly before midnight and only a few hours after Gov. William Scranton had blasted law enforcement in the city.

"If we had only worked a little bit harder to beat the constitution..." he still occasionally mourns regretfully. Even Republicans will say of Mackie: "I don't like his politics, but he sure does build highways."

LOTS OF CASH

A gusher of federal road-building money has been poured into Michigan.

Michigan is a leader in the construction of interstate freeways. It was first in the nation to pass the highway mark of its road quota and now has more than 1,000 miles completed.

The state recently received an award for the most beautiful and best-planned highway of 1963, a 22-mile stretch of I-75 from Vanderbilt to Indian River.

Some communities are irked because they were bypassed by freeways. There has been a hassle over banning roadside advertising and promotional signs. There have been the inevitable disputes over right of way purchases.

Mackie's political road has had other bumps.

The Michigan Society of Professional Engineers in 1957 started a suit to disqualify him from office because he was a surveyor, not a registered engineer at the time. The suit lost and Mackie later passed his qualifying exam.

Former State Sen. John Stahl, R-Belding, launched a Senate probe alleging misuse of funds in the department. The probe petered out as Stahl cited such examples as publication of a department magazine and time off for employees to plan a May dance.

Rep. Roger Townsend, D-Flint, made a charge of racial discrimination in the department. The State Fair Employment Practices Commission later gave the department a clean bill of health.

WENT AHEAD

The legislature frowned on building a tourist information center at the Straits of Mackinac Bridge. Mackie went ahead anyway, and the center since has won applauding acceptance.

Gov. Romney and Mackie have fought a series of running battles.

Romney started an investigation of the safety of twin I-94 railroad bridges near St. Joseph. Some changes were made, although the department has contended the bridge is safe.

The governor and Mackie also have been feuding about various considerable payments to contractors above the original contract prices. The Democratic State Board of Administration has succeeded in getting these through.

Mackie turned down the job as federal highway administrator for the bureau of Public Roads more than two years ago. It is not currently open, but there are other national appointment possibilities.

"Many states aren't off the ground yet in their highway building programs," said

Mackie. "There is a job to be done there but the authority is limited."

Mackie will be feted at a testimonial dinner at the Lansing Civic Center Dec. 4, billed as a nonpartisan affair. George Higgins, former Republican senator and a member of the State Employment Securities Commission, and Ed Carey, president of the Detroit Common Council and former House Democratic leader, are cochairmen.

TRIAL BALLOON?

Many see this as a trial balloon of Mackie popularity. Tickets are $10, and the event is being well promoted to assure a good attendance.

"If there is a big crowd, I might think more of political office," Mackie admitted. "If only a few turn out, I might reconsider."

OUT OF TRAP—Jack Nicklaus blasts out of a trap in the opening round of the Canada Cup matches in Paris yesterday. Nicklaus shot a five-under-par 67 and Arnold Palmer a 69 as the Yanks tied with Canada for first place at 136.

U.S.-Canada Golf Teams Tied

PARIS (AP) — "Now we've got to go," Arnold Palmer told partner Jack Nicklaus today as the two Americans started the second round of the Canadian Cup golf competition in a first place tie with Canada.

Palmer and Nicklaus totaled 136 Thursday — eight under par with Nicklaus shooting a 67 and Palmer a 69. Canadians Al Balding and Stan Leonard had the same total. South Africans Gary Player and Relief Waltman and Spaniards Sebastian Miguel and Roman Sola followed at 138.

Slim Title Chances Rest in Oakland-A

In the concurrent individual competition, Miguel's 68 — six under par for the par 72 Sainmola-Breche course. Led Nicklaus and Balding by a stroke, with player and Ireland's Christy O'Connor tied at 68 and Palmer locked with Leonard at 69.

Both competitions are over 72 holes. The tournament ends Sunday.

BIGGEST CROWD

A crowd of 5,000 turned out Thursday, the biggest ever in the history of golf in this country.

"We've been trying for years to make golf popular over here," Sandy Bertrand, a member of the organizing committee said "now we've succeeded — thanks to Palmer and Nicklaus."

Bertrand pointed out that for the French Open a crowd of only 300 turned out.

"Yesterday we ran out of food and drink. We had to close down the restaurants because the crowd just ate and drank us out," he said.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Brown and friends are poised to deliver the knockout blow to the New York Giants Sunday in the most important National Football League game of the week.

A victory for Cleveland would leave the defending Eastern champs three games back with seven to go.

The Browns' front four of Paul Wiggins, Frank Parker, Bob Gain and Bill Glass put tremendous pressure on Y. A. Tittle while Brown romped in Cleveland's 35-24 victory at New York two weeks ago.

The Giants toughened up in the second half last week against Dallas but there was no Jimmy Brown thundering into that line.

Morrill said about one million trade buyers are expected to view the exhibits each year. Registration will be by invitation and the daily rate will be held to 4,000 to 5,000 visitors.

His estimate was based on studies of the market made by the Department of Commerce, independent research and results of the Japanese float trade fair ship, Sakurui Maru, which sold $15 million of goods in 10 ports in four months.
