Cast Off Those Stifling Ties!

PERSPIRING PAUL SPARROW

COOL CLUB PRESIDENT SPARROW

Swelter in Comfort, Men!

"Will The Press advocate comfort for suffering males during the hot summer months?" queries a reader.

Yes, indeedy.

We're strong disciples of "no necktie and an open shirt on every day the mercury passes 90." When the hottest weather descends upon us, The Press regards this as dignified, gentlemanly and suitable attire for all males.

★ ★ ★

Once again, Paul F. Sparrow will be president of our Masculine Summertime Comfort Club.

On every day when the mercury passes 90, President Sparrow will appear in the public squares with an open sports shirt and no tie. So will his vast army.

"Women have been favored in summer dress for centuries," says President Sparrow. "My research shows that this crass favoritism must halt. Pontiac can well be a pioneer. My warriors will rally to the colors.

"This is the official proclamation. I now call upon all Knights of the Order to watch the thermometer and be ready to ease the torture of heat, humidity and harassment. Toss your tie aside, open your shirt at the throat and smile."

★ ★ ★

Last summer President Sparrow threw his thousands of henchmen into action very few times. It rarely got to 90. However, that was a vagary of 1956 and probably will not be duplicated.

★ ★ ★

VITAL QUESTION

"How can men tell when they get dressed in the morning whether it will be 90 that particular day? If they dress normally and the mercury creeps past the deadline at 11 o'clock, they're stuck."

The Great Man pondered.

Wheels whirled.

"Well, sir," said he at length, "since we're pioneers, we'll experiment. Any morning it's around 80 when you arise, we'll assume it's going to hit the 90 mark. Therefore, my followers will appear without tie and with open throat.

"If we find that 80 is too high, we'll lower the limit. If it's too low, we'll raise it. We're a flexible, fluid and experimental group. The spirit of adventure grips our souls along with a desire for comfort."

There you are.

Be prepared.

Potter Hits 'High Taxes,' Hart Repudiates Charges

Senator Charles Potter (R-Mich) contends industry is being driven out of the state by the "high tax policies" of Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Lt. Gov. Philip Hart, a Democrat, denies this and says Michigan gained 104 new plants in the past five years.

The two men aired their views on the current Michigan tax policy controversy in tape recorded statements for a radio station in Pontiac. Their views were broadcast last night.

Potter said Williams' "vindictive tax policies are depreciating Michigan."

"By crushing out the breath of industry, by driving business from our state, High-Tax Williams is strangling Michigan's once-thriving economy," Potter declared.

"Before Williams, Michigan was unrivaled industrially . . . After Williams, the industry which made our state great has begun a mass exodus, leaving behind hundreds of thousands of jobless."

"The governor has waged war against industry on the tax front," Potter said. "Industry has said flatly that plants are being located elsewhere because the tax cost per job is less than half that of Michigan."

BUSINESS—A DIRTY WORD

"He (Williams) has tried to make 'business' a dirty word," Potter charged.

Hart said the present administration "is keeping a constant and watchful eye on our state's prosperity and all the factors that affect it."

"It's equally important that we keep political partisanship separate from that watchfulness," he said, "because when the air is filled with fancy name-calling and scare words as it has been recently it seems that Michigan is bound to be the loser and other states the beneficiaries."

"On the floor of the U. S. Senate recently, Sen. Potter called Gov. Williams' administration an extravagant and top-heavy bureaucracy which has pyramided into hundreds of boards and commissions," Hart said. "That is the kind of publicity which I believe harms our state."

IMPARTIAL JUDGMENT DIFFICULT

"In the kind of highly charged political atmosphere in which we find ourselves it's very difficult to get an impartial judgment about what's best for Michigan," he said. "This is especially true in the area of taxes and taxation."

Hart said during the period from 1952 through 1956, 104 new plants moved into Michigan and 35 moved elsewhere. He said the figures represented a total gain of 150,000 jobs.

Both agreed that there is a need for a non-partisan survey of Michigan's tax structure.

Last Rites Held for Slain Girl

Hundreds wept as the Mass of the Angels was sung earlier in St. Pius Church, Ecorse Township, for the six-year-old girl savagely slain last week.

FILE PAST

Several thousand persons had filed wet-eyed past the flower-banked body over the weekend, as the girl's parents, Edmund and Gervaise de Caussin of Ecorse Township, sat nearby.

Meanwhile, police were to report whether any of the many visitors to the funeral home were able to recognize that they had seen Mary Wednesday night without knowing that she was on her way to her death.

Of a dozen men picked up for questioning after the girl's mutilated body was found Thursday, only one was still being held—a man who police said was acting in a suspicious manner at the funeral home.

★ ★ ★

Among those released this weekend was Orville E. Dibble, 48, a Lake Orion photographer who had been taking pictures in Mary's neighborhood before her disappearance at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

Police visited more than 1,000 Ecorse Township homes over the weekend, seeking information that might lead to the slayer.

Ex-City Residents Better After Crash in Moscow

A former resident and native of Pontiac and her daughter, injured in an air crash near Moscow, Friday night are reported improving today.

Mrs. Margaret Tremper, now of Grand Rapids is still in serious condition. She will undergo surgery shortly to set a broken leg. The daughter, Michelle, 14, is reported in very good condition.

TALKED BY PHONE

Dr. Lawrence V. Tremper, an osteopathic surgeon, talked by transatlantic phone with an American doctor attending his wife in Moscow last night.

He is in Washington today to pick up his passport and will leave New York this afternoon for Russia.

Mrs. Tremper was born and raised in Pontiac. Her father, the late Robert J. Esler, was with Standard Oil Co. for many years.

VISITED HERE

The Tremper family was in Pontiac on Memorial Day to visit an uncle, Austin Esler, of 481 Shore View Dr.

She told her relatives that she planned to take the trip, which was arranged by Grand Rapids television station WOOD, as an educational opportunity for her daughter.

They intended to visit Switzerland after the trip to Russia.

POLISH PLANE

Their Polish plane crashed in a thunderstorm just four miles from the Moscow airport. Injured with the Trempers was Richard Cheverton, news director for WOOD-TV. While another Grand Rapids couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beuker, was killed.

The Beukers' family is negotiating through the State Department to have the bodies returned. The relatives said today progress was slow and they were not even sure just where in Moscow the bodies are located.

Clarkston Man Rescues Youth

Dives to Bottom of Lake to Bring Up Boy Who Tired in Swim to Raft

A Detroit boy was saved from drowning yesterday by the quick thinking of a Clarkston man who dove to the bottom of Dixie Lake, in Springfield Township, in his attempt to save the boy's life.

Richard Temple, 15, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Temple, 15045 Spring Garden Rd., was swimming to a raft when he began to tire and turned back, said Oakland County Sheriff's reports.

He saw he was too far from shore and couldn't make it back, so he called for help.

Mrs. Dorothy Rodgers of 13650 Kingston St., Oak Park, came to his rescue but the boy began pulling her under with him. She then called for assistance and V. A. Knox, of 9965 Dixie Highway, swam out to the spot where Richard had gone down.

He dived and found Richard's doubled-over body on the bottom.

After applying artificial respiration on shore, with the assistance of the Springfield Township Fire Department, Richard was taken to Pontiac General Hospital for oxygen.

He was released later in the evening.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson heads today for some fishing in Canada after completing three days of closed-door talks with the nation's top military leaders.

Residents Flee to Local Parks in 90-Plus Heat

Autos Jam Highways; No Relief in Sight for Next 2 Days

More steamy heat is in store for sweltering Michigan. The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts temperatures in the 90s for the next two days with no relief until midweek.

The metropolitan Detroit area simmered Sunday in a high of 89. It seemed even hotter because of little breeze, and humidity ranging up to 95. Scattered thunderstorms failed to cool things off.

The Sunday high was not a record. The all-time June 16 mark was 97 in 1952.

Hundreds of thousands packed parks and beaches. Overheated engines made traffic jams even worse.

Traffic from Kensington Park on Grand River backed up two miles at times at the traffic light in New Hudson. Some 25,000 persons swarmed over St. Clair Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens.

The mercury climbed into the 90s for the fifth consecutive day in the mid-Atlantic states. Most of the heat was concentrated along the eastern seaboard from North Carolina to New York City, with a high of 97 reported at Philadelphia and 96 at Washington, D. C.

RELIEF SEEN

Relief, however, was forecast for the area by Monday night, when cool air is expected to sweep in from Canada.

Thunderstorms became widespread from the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley into the eastern states. About one inch of rain fell at Bucyrus, Ohio, in a 15-minute period.

Heavy rains and hail peppered northwest Iowa today and isolated tornadoes were forecast for southern Minnesota and northern Iowa.

NO WIND

By contrast, in a vast section of the nation there wasn't enough wind to blow out a match. From Texas to southern Maine the nation was in a stewpot. Temperatures were in the 90s in many places. Philadelphia got a record for a June 16 when the temperature soared to 100.

This swelter belt extended from Texas, north along a line to Missouri and across the southern Great Lakes area to Maine, and all through the South and Southwest.

Torrential rains which dumped up to eight inches of rain on eastern South Dakota and southeastern Minnesota yesterday and early today claimed three lives, washed out bridges and sections of highway, flooded sections of several communities and flooded farm lands.

Insects Attack Texan Like Angry Bull

Counts Mosquitoes From Scratch

W. S. McGregor, who has that job, uses the skin method.

He dons a short-sleeved sports shirt, walks into a suspected area and stands there, letting the insects use his bare arms for landing fields and feeding grounds.

The mosquito war is going on furiously in Texas these days after the floods in April and May.

★ ★ ★

Spraying machines and other mosquito control equipment moved in alongside soup kitchens and relief agency workers wherever floods occurred.

BUG EXPERT

McGregor is an entomologist for Dow Chemical Co.'s plant here and also doubles as official counter for a local mosquito control project.

He usually locates mosquito strongholds by walking into an area where grass is thick.

"I wear a short-sleeved sports shirt," he says, "pick out a spot and just stand there, holding out my arms."

He usually counts landings and bites for 5 to 15 minutes.

However, he has walked into what he calls some "hot" areas recently where three minutes is sufficient to accumulate 200 bites.

In what he terms "general areas," the count may run between 50 and 60 landings in five minutes.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Why is the sun called the generator of the earth's weather?

The heat from the sun's rays warm the air by heating the earth. Heat from the surface of the earth rises, causing convection and the movement which forms clouds.

Bodies of water do not absorb the sun's heat as quickly as does land, and therefore hotter air over land rises, pulling in cooler air over water near the coast and larger lakes—creating wind.

★ ★ ★

As air rises because of the sun's heat, it is cooled, and clouds invariably originate when cooling changes the moisture of rising, contracting air into visible drops. As the air rises and is cooled, its moisture capacity is reduced, but actual moisture isn't—thus the creation of clouds.

★ ★ ★

'No Sin, No Death, No Sorrow'

Graham Tells of Heaven

NEW YORK (UP) — No more death, no more sin, no more sorrow and no more night.

That's what the Bible says we may expect in heaven, evangelist Billy Graham told 16,000 persons in Madison Square Garden last night.

INTRODUCED FIGHTER

Graham introduced Dempsey because he is a sports figure and the Garden ordinarily is associated with sporting events. Ordinarily the evangelist does not introduce celebrities attending his services.

★ ★ ★

Dempsey, none of whose fights was in the present Garden, drew polite applause from the throng.

★ ★ ★

Graham's subject was "Heaven" and his text Job 14:14—"If a man dies shall he live again?"

He said that if he could show the audience what God has prepared for those who love him there would be "a stampede to receive Christ."

And, he added, if he could show what awaits the others, he wouldn't be able to hold them back from joining the stampede.

"All through the Bible we find a certainty regarding a future place called heaven," he said.

"The Bible teaches there are two ways of life— the broad way which ends in destruction and hell and the narrow way which ends in heaven. Which road are you on?"

Last night's audience increased to 585,500 the number who have heard Graham in the Garden since the meetings opened May 15.

"Decisions for Christ" last night totaled 450, bringing the total to 19,142.

Graham tonight will take his first night off since his prayer meetings opened.

There will be no services, a spokesman said, because of a previous commitment by the Garden for the "Cavalcade of Stars."

Ike Picks Beam as Poland Envoy

Nomination of Diplomat Subject to Confirmation by Senate

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today nominated career diplomat Jacob D. Beam to be ambassador to Communist Poland.

★ ★ ★

Beam, who has been in the Foreign Service since 1931, would succeed Joseph E. Jacobs in Warsaw. Jacobs has resigned and the White House said he probably will retire from the Foreign Service on his return to the United States.

★ ★ ★

The nomination of Beam, 49, is subject to Senate confirmation. At present he is deputy assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

He has been in that position since 1955. His previous assignments include a term as counselor at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Jacobs has been in the Foreign Service 42 years. The President praised him today for outstanding service to his country.

Ballot Recount Starts Tonight

4 on Committee to Test All Votes in Close Race for School Board Post

Recounting of ballots in Pontiac's School Board election will begin at 9 p.m. tonight and continue through the night until the task is completed.

Ballots of the entire school district will be recounted by a board of education committee consisting of Mrs. Lola B. King, Monroe M. Osmun, Glenn H. Griffin and Dr. Walter L. Godsell.

The committee will discuss its procedures prior to the recount and will be guided by the legal opinions of the board's attorney.

Each ballot will be reviewed by the entire committee to assure that it is legally marked and then recorded. Since only 12 votes separate Louis H. Schimmel and Lloyd R. Ludy, every ballot will be extremely important.

Schimmel who apparently won the June 10 election, had 1,336 votes to Ludy's 1,324.

It is doubtful that the recount can change the status of the other two candidates, William H. Anderson, top runner with 1,564 votes, or Robert B. Oliver who trailed with 1,127 votes.

Particular emphasis is placed by both candidates on the three largest precincts, Bagley, Jefferson and Washington. The first two went for Ludy by better than 20 to 1, while Schimmel carried Washington by about 4 to 1.

Denies Teamster's Bid to Get Probe Transcript

WASHINGTON (INS) — A federal judge refused today to allow attorneys for Teamsters Vice President Frank W. Brewster to obtain a transcript of closed-door hearings by the Senate investigations subcommittee which laid the groundwork for the probe.

★ ★ ★

Judge John J. Sirica held that the closed-door testimony of Jan. 18 was not applicable in the contempt trial of Brewster. He said that witnesses at the January hearing included ex-gambler Jame B. Elkins and others from the Portland, Ore., area — none of whom has been called as a witness in the contempt trial.

News Flash

CHICAGO (INS)—The weather bureau issued a tornado and severe thunderstorm forecast today for Western Upper Michigan, Northeast and West Central Wisconsin, extreme Southeast Minnesota and North Central and extreme Northeast Iowa. The warning was effective until six p.m. (CST).

TRAIN STRAIN — Taking a close look at near-disaster, workmen and officials peer through windows of the tilted Ancona-Rome express after it collided with a shuttling engine at Rome's Tiburtina suburban station. Although the accident did not claim a single life, forty passengers were injured in the wreck.

Hoffa-Run Teamster Locals Buy Swank Lake Home

DETROIT (INS) — Two Hoffa Teamsters locals are setting up school at a $150,000 palace once owned by a Capone gang boss.

The swank Lake Michigan estate was bought for a school where Teamsters business agents could be instructed away from the hubbub of the city, it was reported.

Owen (Bert) Brennan, head of Local 337, said the property was purchased last July for a reported $150,000 by his local and Local 299.

Local 299 is the home base of Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa, who is under indictment on a charge of trying to bribe an employe of the Senate Rackets Committee.

SLEEPS 20

Brennan said the two-story English Tudor home "sleeps twenty comfortably." He added ownership of the property will soon be transferred to the Teamsters' central states council.

The plush four and one half acre layout was built by Paul (The Waiter) Ricca at Long Beach, Ind., near Michigan City, Ind.

It includes a swimming pool, tennis courts and a shaded campus. A huge, half sunken garage on the property is reported to house 50 cars.

Court May Decide on Writ for Girard

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy may decide today on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to return GI William Girard to the U. S.

The Washington district court judge has had the case unddr advisement since last Tuesday and heard additional documentation Friday to support the petition.

He assured the government and Girard's attorneys that he would reach a decision speedily. The government asked for a quick ruling, declaring that the case is hurting U. S. international relations.

Girard's attorneys, headed by New York lawyer Earl Carroll, want the young soldier returned to the U. S. to testify concerning the facts in the Jan. 30 slaying of a Japanese woman on an Army firing range 100 miles north of Tokyo.

Carroll maintains the U. S. acted illegally in agreeing to permit Japan to try Girard, and wants American courts to decide who has jurisdiction in the case.

Rains Wash Out Political Violence

alive and well. Saturday night's violence was touched off by persistent rumors that Fignole had been executed.

★ ★ ★

The mobs set fire to eight buildings. They stoned the Clotilson Hotel, where some North American tourists were staying. No Americans were injured.

POLICE, CROWDS CLASH

Groups of workers stood atop buildings in the slum quarter, hurling stones on police and army patrols. Troops and police retaliated with sprays of machine-gun fire into the crowds and the slum buildings.

Travelers also reported angry demonstrations in market places in Cap Haitien, the main city in the north, and a "panic" in Jacmel in southern Haiti.

In Port au Prince, police and troops fired on demonstrators in the slum quarter near the docks while crowds of people huddled together inside totally dark ramshackle huts, wailing and crying. The weird sounds in the teeming slum were like the cries at voodoo rites in the jungle.

Brig. Gen. Antonio Kebreau, head of the three-man junta, expressed sorrow at the loss of life in quelling the disorder but said the army would use whatever means were necessary to maintain order.

The deaths fanned fierce flames of resentment among Fignole's supporters and cries for revenge against the army.

★ ★ ★

Haiti's political crisis began last December when workers, merchants and peasants joined in a general strike to force the ouster of strongman President Paul E. Magloire, who tired to remain in office after his term ended.

Tigers Ship Olson

DETROIT (UP) — Outfielder Karl Olson today was sent to Charleston of the American Association on 24-hour recall to make room for the Detroit Tigers' $25,000 bonus infielder, Steve Boros.

Maligned Skunk Laughs Last in Court Case

Richard Huttell, Climax, Colo., was fined $12.50 and given a one-day suspended jail sentence in Police Court for cruelty to one.

Police said they found Hutell's pet skunk locked in his abandoned car for the past three weeks.

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (UP) — A publicity-shy bear charged a picture-taking Texas woman in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and made off with her purse.

Mrs. Westley Edwards, Houston, Tex., understandably excited, grabbed her hat, threw her purse to the ground, locked herself in her car and drove off without realizing she had left the purse behind.

The bear took the purse to the nearest picnic table, where he dropped it upon learning it contained an unappetizing $120.

Park officials returned it to Mrs. Edwards.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP) — The Buckhorn saloon, where you could stare a stuffed longhorn in the eye while you quaffed your brew, is no more.

Milton Frederich, whose father founded the bar in 1885, sold out the showplace's collection of stuffed animals, relics of the old West and curios, and closed the doors yesterday, retiring.

The saloon was a regular stop on sightseeing tours for more than 30 years.

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The San Francisco Fire Department took out after bees. Conquered them, too.

Lt. Eugene McLaughlin said a recreation director asked for help at Sigmund Stern Grove yesterday when swarms of bees endangered youngsters at play.

McLaughlin and three firemen used sprays of carbon tetrachloride, and finally some old fashioned insect repellent. No bees survived.

The Day in Birmingham

Requests Another Delay on Bowers-Elm Rezoning

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham City Commissioners will consider a request by Harold Turner for another delay on the proposed rezoning of Bowers and Elm street areas. The hearing was delayed last week at the decision of the commissioners, for more time. They will hold hearings on the access drive on the east side of north Woodward avenue and a storm sewer for property on Lake Park drive.

Among the city manager's reports will be request to purchase city owned land, a study of the Dutch elm spray, outlining official detours for east Maple avenue traffic, stop sign at Oak street and Woodward avenue, traffic control in the Adams village subdivision and better pedestrian crossings at Maple and Woodward avenue.

Quarterly parking meter revenue surveys and a report on the possibility of lessening overtime parking fines also will be heard.

Of the 80 building permits issued in May, 44 were for new buildings according to Andrew F. Butt, building inspector. Permits were issued also for 28 alternations with the remaining eight for miscellaneous construction. Total value was placed at $430,107, a decrease of approximately $300,000 from the previous year.

Police Lt. Merlyn Holmquist warns shoppers to keep wallets with them at all times while in the store. The warning came about after a wallet was stolen in a Pierce street shop as the shopper moved away to look at other merchandise.

Asks West to Agree to H-Bomb Test Bar

NEW CASTLE, England (AP) — Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell urged the Western powers last night to accept Russia's offer to suspend H-bomb tests with inspection by a U.N. committee.

"Some may say that the Russians are not to be trusted and don't really mean it," Gaitskell declared, "but surely the right course then is to test the Russians, not the bombs."

The Soviet delegate at the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee's current negotiations in London offered Friday to admit Western inspectors if agreement was reached on a nuclear test ban. He suggested a two- or three-year suspension of tests. Western sources called the offer a major step forward in disarmament negotiations but said many details must be clarified.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE EARTH

QUESTION: How do we know the earth is round?

ANSWER: If you live near the ocean, you can see for yourself. Columbus did when he was a young boy. He used to watch the ships come into port. He noticed that the mast always appeared first, then the sails and finally the hull of the ship, as if the ships were sailing around a big ball.

Columbus was not the only one who decided that the world must be round? Some 200 years before the birth of Christ and nearly 16 hundred years before Columbus, a Greek philospher had thought so too.

Most people considered it a foolish idea, however. The Egyptians, for instance, believed that the world was a big flat dish, resting on the backs of four huge elephants.

Brave explorers like Columbus and Megellan sailed many thousands of miles to prove you could not fall over the edge of the earth. Magellan, the first man to sail around the earth, made his journey more than four hundred years ago.

FOR YOU TO DO: If there's a hill near where you live, make believe you are Columbus waiting for ships to come in. Ask a friend to play ship by walking slowly over the top of the hill from the opposite side. Because of the rounded surface, you'll see his head first and then his shoulders and so on. You may also color this picture of Columbus.

(For this idea, Barbara Joy Tompkins, Richmond, Va., won $10. Send your idea in to this newspjaper. Tomorrow: Is the lion really "King of Beasts?" Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures.)

Police Investigate Murder, Suicide

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — The strangling of a woman and the apparent suicide of a male friend in the heart of downtown London Saturday was still being investigated by police today.

A broken-marriage romance ended in final tragedy, police believed, in the death of Mrs. Edith Griffin, 47, and Michael Joseph Hall, 49, who lived alone in apartments a block apart.

A few hours later, Mrs. Griffin's body was discovered on a couch in her third-floor Richmond street apartment. She was in her night dress. There was no sign of a struggle.

Coroner Dr. J. Bev. Robinson said Mrs. Griffin was murdered. An autopsy showed she died by "manual strangulation."

No inquest will be held in Hall's death, but a decision in the case of Mrs. Griffin is pending at the crown attorney's office.

Three Irish veterinary surgeons now have the first private radio hook-ups of the kind in Eire, Dublin reports. They can keep in constant touch with their hospitals while traveling around on calls.

2 Milestones of Liberty

All that will be changed on July 28 when officials of the American Bar Association will dedicate a $35,000 simulated temple in Runnymede, south of Windsor, at a joint meeting with British attorneys.

The original Magna Charta is in Latin—Magna Charta Libertatum—and is preserved in Lincoln Cathedral near London. It was signed on June 15, 1215 by King John under pressure from the barons and it laid the foundation for the political and personal security of all Englishmen.

Under the Magna Charta, based on a previous charter signed by Henry I in 1100 A.D. the church was separated from the state. Courts were established in fixed places. The rights of men to be unmolested in their persons or property, except in accordance with the law of the land, were assured.

No confiscatory fines were to be imposed. Judgments were to be rendered against the barons only by their peers and against other men only by honest and loyal men of their own community. In 1689 Parliament liberalized the charter and adopted a Bill of Rights.

The Virginia Bill of Rights, adopted 561 years later on June 12, 1776 by the Colonial House of Burgesses, was the forerunner of our national Bill of Rights. Article 12 of the Virginia Declaration was the first guarantee of freedom of the press to be written into an independent state's constitution.

★ ★ ★

The late President Woodrow Wilson said of this Bill of Rights that it "must be subscribed to without reservation by every American." Article III declares that "government is or ought to be instituted for the common benefit, protection and security of the people, nation or community."

Both anniversaries mark significant milestones in the protection of individual liberties.

Wiser Buying Urged for Improved Nutrition

According to a Departfent of Agriculture report food prices rose seven per cent from 1948 to 1955. But the average American family spent three times as much for food in 1955 as it did seven years before.

Despite this spending 29 per cent of family diets were below National Research Council goals for calcium; 25 per cent lacked sufficient ascorbic acid; 15 to 20 per cent were low in Vitamin A and 10 per cent in protein.

★ ★ ★

Anyone who reads household magazines or newspapers knows that milk is the chief source of calcium. Ascorbic acid can be gotten from citrus fruits. Dark green and yellow vegetables are rich in Vitamin A and protein can be had from meat, fish and eggs.

★ ★ ★

Department of Agriculture diet experts feel that not enough publicity has been given good nutrition. They are of the opinion that diet fads, food pills and indifference are obstacles to healthful eating.

Perhaps more publicity would help. But newspapers and periodicals have been emphasizing good nutrition for years. Most healthful food is inexpensive and easily prepared. Our own opinion is that no matter how much publicity is given good nutrition there always will be those who are not impressed.

Lebanese Back West

Voters in Lebanon gave a decisive victory to pro-American Premier Sami el Solh in the June 10 election for 22 of the 66 seats in the Chamber of Deputies.

Had the government been defeated, it would have been a victory for neutralism and for those forces which look for leadership to Nasser of Egypt. It also would have pleased Syria, source of Communist pressures in the Arab world.

Lebanon, the terminal of pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia, is the smallest of the Arab League countries but perhaps has the highest standard of living and education. About half of its people are Christians and they in general support the government's pro-Western policy. Moslems are more inclined to be pro-Nasser and pro-Syria.

The result of this election, there will be others on each of the next three Sundays, is a victory for the Eisenhower Doctrine which recently was approved by the Lebanese parliament.

The First Village

National Phone Dialing Starts at Holly June 30

Michigan Bell Telephone Company,

being the first exchange in an Oakland County village to be so designated, coming through the Flint Division.

The Birmingham and Southfield exchanges are the only others in the county that now have it. Remember, Holly is only a village. The service is expected to be extended to Pontiac and its connections one year hence.

Thus Holly claims another Oakland County first. It was the first railway junction in the county, first to use voting machines, and first in a number of other ways. It also is first as a place to live. If you have any doubts about that last first, ask the architect of this column.

"Your editorial on our future water supply was super," phones

"I Don't Like This Any More Than You Do"

David Lawrence Says:

Large Isolationist Bloc Not in GOP

WASHINGTON — The vote by which the Mutual Security program favored by President Eisenhower was adopted by the Senate reveals conclusively that it is the Democratic Party which contains the larger bloc of "isolationists" and not the Republican Party.

LAWRENCE

Counting those who were present and those who were absent but who announced their stand on the measure, the final tally of record is 65 for to 29 against the "foreign aid" program. Eighteen Democrats and 11 Republicans comprised the opposition.

FAVOR COOPERATION

This means that more than a two-thirds vote of the 94 recorded favors international cooperation along the lines of a mutual defense fund and a developmental loan fund together with economic and technical aid.

But this isn't the picture or the story which has hitherto been given to the American people or the European peoples. For months the Stevenson - Truman worshippers in the radio and commentator field have been holding the Republican Party up to ridicule as dominated by an "isolationist" or what they conveniently call a "right wing" group though the general public has never been told exactly what that means in international affairs.

Many of the British and French correspondents here and in New York who usually relay to Europe and accept as gospel the views of the anti-administration critics with hardly ever an analysis of the political and partisan forces behind them now must in the interest of accuracy revise their reports and tell the European people that 18 Democrats in the Senate as contrasted with only 11 Republicans were ready to kill the President's request for a $3,637,000,000 authorization to carry on the Mutual Security program.

WHERE DANGER LIES

Also on the final record it is shown that 35 Republicans contrasted with 30 Democrats favored the program—again more Republicans than Democrats. The opposition of 18 Democrats and only 11 Republicans indicates clearly where the dangers of the future lie.

It so happens that 13 of the Democrats come from cotton-growing and two from wool-growing states which makes 15 out of 18 senators as coming from states which have been lukewarm toward doing anything that conceivably could build up the economy of countries whose products might compete in world markets with American producers.

This may be a mere coincidence but there were overtones in the debate against the Eisenhower Doctrine a few months ago which disclosed some of the same cleavages reminiscent of the days of tariff controversy.

But it must also in all fairness be inquired whether any economic influences from back home governed those who voted for the foreign aid program.

Thus there was quite a lot of enthusiasm in Democratic circles emanating from the financial centers of the nation which looked on the $500,000,000 developmental loan fund in the new measure as possibly the foundation for a structure of private investments that could pyramid into a large amount of private business such as is always generated when government money starts the revolving of dollars in international exchange.

NEW PERIOD

The Democrats as a party still must rely to some extent on some of the big conservative banking and legal talent of the Eastern seaboard for their campaign support and contributions. Hence it may be inferred that the large vote for the program came from elements which rightly foresaw as did many Republicans perhaps a new period of growth in foreign trade and investment along orthodox lines.

Good Food, Sleep Fail as Common Cold Cure

There must be millions of 'em in the population at large. Merely in the field of personal health, where I think my years of study and experience qualify me as an expert, it takes courage to say anything that does not coincide with nineteenth - century notions. This hokum acquires new dignity or respect ability from impressive presentations of the same twaddle, such as the "precautions against catching a cold" set forth by a large life insurance company:

DR. BRADY

1. Guard against drafts and chilling . . . and always wear clothing suited to weather conditions.

2. Get enough sleep and eat well-balanced meals to keep resistance built up during the cold months.

Pretty silly advice, I should say. There's no scientific evidence that drafts and chilling do any harm—they may make one uncomfortable but that's all.

It seems to me that anyone who is not actually an idiot naturally wears whatever clothing he finds most comfortable in any weather. I have no sympathy for those who endure discomfort for the sake of weather conditions.

RESISTANCE IS MYSTERY

No physician or health authority can tell in any circumstances whether an individual has good or poor "resistance" or none. Indeed, no physician or health authority can define "resistance." It is as elusive as "the common cold"—no physician or health authority will define that either. Much better, they think, to leave these vague concepts just as they are—vague.

A child may have good or poor immunity to diphtheria. If the Schick test shows the child's immunity is poor or low, an injection of diphtheria toxoid or, if necessary, two or three injections at intervals of a month or two will build up immunity enough to protect the child from catching diphtheria.

Everyone may be made immune to smallpox by vaccination. Persons planning to travel or reside in parts of the world where sanitation is not yet safe, may be —in fact, must be — immunized against typhoid, para-typhoid, etc., in order to obtain passports.

To prate about keeping resistance built up by eating, sleeping, bundling up, and avoiding dampness and drafts is absurd.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Suggests Pontiac Golf Star for Coach of PHS Team

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In reading Bruno Kearn's Press Box article on Mike Andonian, I am wondering why Mike isn't the Pontiac High golf coach. He has proven himself in Pontiac High, college and now in the amateur ranks. He has had "casual feelers" from colleges, so he should be qualified to coach high school. Pontiac High has been placing too many square pegs in round holes in the coaching ranks over the years. This would be a good start to get things straightened out.

Says It Won't Be Very Long Now

Now that 25 per cent of the college students are married and the number of married kids in high schools is increasing steadily, how long will it be until this marital curiosity creeps down into the junior highs?

This might require parental consent, but that wouldn't be very difficult. It won't be long now until you can be a full-fledged grandmother at 29.

Three Answer Smoking Query

Smoking does lessen one's influence as a Christian worker. A Christian is supposed to be a living testimony. How can this be if he participates in the same habits as the non-Christian?

Can you picture a man that drinks, lies, smokes, goes to dances and movies tell a man he is a child of God? A Christian's body is a temple of the living God. It should be kept clean and healthy, and it has been proven smoking does damage our bodies.

Visualize someone quoting Scriptures with the Bible in one hand and a cigarette in the other. Would you go to battle with a weapon in one hand and a white flag in the other?

Mr. and Mrs. William Shanks

★ ★ ★

Yes, smoking does lessen one's influence as a Christian worker. A true Christian knows that "You are a temple of God and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you." When you become a Christian it means you love God and have taken Him into your heart. Therefore, you want to keep the holy temple clean, and smoking is not a clean habit.

Helping Hand

Christians don't smoke. Our bodies are temples of the Holy Ghost and I'm sure God doesn't want to live in a smoke-filled house.

'Should Check All Carnivals'

Carnivals are supposed to be places of recreation and fun, not a place to lose money by unfairness. I realize they have to earn a living and I know lots of carnivals give people at 50-50 chance, but there always seems to be a rotten egg among the good eggs. All carnivals should be checked.

Certain to Pass in House

Civil Rights Bill to Meet Bitter Senate Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House meets today to pass President Eisenhower's civil rights bill and send it into a new battle against bitter-end Southern opposition in the Senate.

After Friday's 199-167 vote defeating the key Southern effort to modify the bill, there appeared no doubt the House will pass the measure. The House has agreed to shut off debate not later than 6 p.m.

A bipartisan group, reportedly including the top Republican leadership, was waiting in the Senate to try, probably tomorrow, to maneuver the House measure around the Southern-led Judiciary Committee, which has kept a similar bill bottled up.

And waiting to fight the progress of the legislation at every stage were outnumbered but determined Southern senators armed with a filibuster weapon which in the past has killed civil rights bills.

The Southerners in the House lost their battle Friday when they were unable to muster enough Republican support to write a jury trial amendment into the heart of the bill. This is the section which would allow the U.S. attorney general to go into federal court for injunctions to block violations or attempted violations of voting and other civil rights.

The Southerners wanted to make it mandatory that anyone accused of violating such injunctions be guaranteed trial by a local jury. Proponents of the bill said this would weaken the legislation to the point of ineffectiveness.

★ ★ ★

House Southerners, although facing apparently certain defeat, have not yet finished trying to modify the bill. They said they have some eight more amendments to offer during the day.

Civil rights strategists may succeed in getting the House bill on the Senate calendar, but under Senate rules the Southerners could filibuster any move actually to take it up for action. And the votes of 64 senators are needed to break a filibuster.

In any case, Rep. Keating (R-NY) said he thinks prospects for passage of a civil rights bill by both branches of Congress "seem brighter than they have in years." Keating has been a leader in the House fight to pass the bill.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Like to Join Golden Pen League?

Mamie Doud Eisenhower is cheering up the souls of thousands of people like Grandpa Miller. She is a member of the "League of the Golden Pen." You can all join, for there are no dues and no initiation fees. Just follow the instructions below. And all churches will find this a wonderful project, too.

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-313: Eli Miller, aged 94, is my father-in-law.

On his 94th birthday, Mrs. Crane and I drove down from Chicago to our Indiana farm to help him celebrate.

He received a sheaf of clever greetings and some very humorous birthday cards that made him chuckle.

. CRANE

But the thing that surprised him most was a letter from THE WHITE HOUSE. It arrived on his birthday and contained a few lines of greeting from Mamie Doud Eisenhower. It was also personally signed.

"Is it a joke?" Grandpa inquired.

"No, it's the real thing," I reassured him, as I again showed him the Washington, D. C. postmark and Mrs. Eisenhower's signature.

"Well, this is wonderful," he exclaimed. "Nothing like this happened to me before. But how did she know the right day for my birthday?"

"That's what puzzles me, too," I admitted. "But somebody must have told her. We'll inquire and see if we can find out."

But our search was fruitless. Finally, however, we learned how it all came to pass. For my cousin Pearl Hulse, of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, came down for the holidays, with her clergyman husband.

When we informed Pearl of Grandpa Miller's surprise greeting, Pearl said:

"Oh, I forgot to tell you to be on the lookout for Mrs. Eisenhower's letter. Since she makes it a hobby to send greetings to everybody past 90 years of age, I have notified her of the members of our church who are in that category.

"And I also happened to remember that Grandpa Miller was going to be 94 in a few weeks, so I told her about him, too."

GOLDEN PEN

Mrs. Eisenhower certainly is doing a vast amount of good by thus demonstrating the "League of the Golden Pen."

Previously I had mentioned that Dr. Karl T. Waugh started a new project in one of his psychology classes at Beloit University a generation ago.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Waugh urged all his students to mail a cheery, encouraging letter at least once per week to somebody who deserved praise or consolation.

"Don't limit your letters to people you know personally," advised Dr. Waugh, "Include strangers, too.

"Since the words that thus flow from your pens will be golden in their helpfulness, let's call this new project the 'League of the Godden Pen'."

Well, Mrs. Eisenhower, you are certainly the outstanding member of Dr. Waugh's "League of the Golden Pen."

Maybe you didn't realize there was such a wholesome organization in existence, but you have been demonstrating the Golden Rule by way of the cheery missives that you send to thousands of elderly folks.

For Dr. Waugh's project is open to everybody. You pay no dues. Just start sending an unexpected letter to somebody outside your usual mailing list, and automatically you are a member.

Grandpa Miller has thus boasted more about his letter from Mrs. Eisenhower than about anything else he has received on any birthday.

★ ★ ★

It cheered him up and brought a new sparkle to his eyes. It gave him a new topic of conversation and thus will help rejevenate his mind, since many elderly folks tend to talk too much about the distant past.

So send for my booklet "The Compliment Club," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It contains a fuller explanation of Dr. Waugh's wonderful "League of the Golden Pen," which makes an ideal church project for all denominations.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Traffic Engineers Rely on Drivers' IQ

Instead of making a left turn, says the Rocky Mountain AAA Club, continue for a block, then make three right turns. This will bring you back on the right high way—if you've counted correctly.

Reason for this confusing situation, reports the AAA, is that traffic engineers find it easier to let the motorists fathom a simple mystery than to attempt to give him a long list of detailed instructions to follow which would probably confuse him worse.

Rival Clans Wage Battle as Voters Give Premier Solid Backing

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — More than 20 persons were reported killed and 30 wounded in a gun battle around a church in north Lebanon yesterday as voters assured Premier Sami Solh's government majority backing in the new Parliament for its pro-Western foreign policy.

★ ★ ★

Lebanese army units had to be called into action to break up the battle at a Maronite Christian Church in Miziara. The fight between friends and relatives of rival candidates for Parliament was the outgrowth of an old feud between rival clans.

Police said the battle at the Miziara church erupted between friends and relatives of Hamid Frangieh, an anti-government leader, and Samaan Suweihy, an independent. Both factions had gathered for a Requiem Mass for Slim Abed, brother of the Maronite bishop of north Lebanon.

The rival groups started shouting at each other in the churchyard and several shots were fired. Immediately, automatic weapons went into action on both sides, spraying the crowd. One officer said shooting also occurred inside the church.

The army, after restoring order, put strong patrols in the village to prevent new clashes. The district does not vote until June 30.

Britons Believe Frogman's Body Russian Trick

LONDON (AP) — Some Britons think the headless, handless body found on Britain's south coast and believed to be that of missing frogman Cmdr. Lionel (Buster) Crabb may be a Russian imitation of a British wartime trick.

★ ★ ★

Both the Laborite Reynolds News and a reader's letter to the editor of the independent Sunday Express took exception to the general belief that the body found June 9 is that of the frogman, last seen skin diving in Portsmouth Harbor near the Soviet cruiser Ordzhonikidze 14 months before.

The Reynolds News said British security agents, because of reports they have from behind the Iron Curtain, believe Crabb is still alive and in Russian hands.

★ ★ ★

The paper called attention to the presence in the English Channel of three Russian submarines three days before the body was washed up at Chichester, 100 miles from Portsmouth. The submarines since have entered the Mediterranean en route to Egypt.

There has been no announcement that the body has been identified as Crabb's. The Reynolds News said it showed no signs of being hammer-toed, which Crabb was.

The new puzzle contains a series of squares which are alphabetically lettered and a corresponding list of sentences with two clue words. Each of the words is numbered. The object is to select the word which you think best fits the clue sentence. You then place the number of that word in the square which has the same letter as the clue sentence.

In other words, you will read the clue labeled A and decide which of the two words makes the most sense in the sentence. You then write the number of that word in the puzzle square marked A.

Man-Eating Tiger Listens to Prayers in India, Statues Vanish

By HAL BRUNO

NEW DELHI, India (INS)—Some strange vanishing acts, a man-eating tiger who listens to prayers and a 100-degree "cold wave" have made it an unusual month for man and beast in India.

At a time of food shortages, flu epidemics and a serious economic crisis, perhaps the most significant event has been the sudden liquidation of two British generals.

STATUES VANISH

Historic statues of Sir Alexander Taylor and Gen. John Nicholson have disappeared from two Delhi parks.

The statue-napper turned out to be the Home Ministry, which revealed that the statues had been considered "offensive and provocative" by patriotic Indian citizens.

It seems that Sir Alexander had served as a heroic captain when the English captured Delhi in 1857, to put down the famous Indian mutiny. Gen. Nicholson had been his commanding officer, and was thereafter known as "The Conqueror of Delhi."

Their statues have been something less than popular since the British left India in 1947. It was like having statues of Grant and Sherman in downtown Atlanta.

So the figures were hauled away at night, without fanfare or publicity, and about as quietly as you can move two huge statues. All that remains are empty pedestals, flanked by cannons.

Meanwhile, a mass vanishing act may—or may not—have taken place over in the industrial city of Kanpur. The only thing certain is that 31 people were arrested for spreading allegedly false rumors about the kidnapping of children.

The big kidnap scare caused a lot of trouble around town, and some innocent bystanders were punched in the nose. But with the story-tellers safe in custody, the police are now investigating to find out if anyone really has been kidnapped.

Down in central India, a couple of villagers are missing from their huts, and believed to have been devoured by a tiger seen in the neighborhood.

One old man claimed he met Mr. Tiger along a path, and was too frightened to move. All he could do was fall to his knees and begin praying for the beast to spare him. According to the near victim, the tiger just yawned and walked away.

But India wouldn't be India without tigers and politics. In addiment over the new budget (everyone wants lower taxes), a disgruntled politician has gone and challenged the legality of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's election.

Sitaram Khemka, a defeated independent candidate, has charged that the prime minister traveled in an Indian Air Force plane, and that All-India Radio refused to allow political broadcasts because no one could agree on how much air time each party should have.

Khemka wants the election commission to give him Nehru's seat in parliament. However, few people are taking the petition too seriously, least of all Nehru.

FLU EPIDEMIC

To top it off, the flu epidemic has swept in from Southeast Asia, and thousands have been stricken. There's no vaccine available, and swimming pools, schools and shows have been ordered closed in most major cities.

With no one seeing movies, conversation in Delhi now centers on the unseasonal weather. Capital residents are wondering what happened to the hot wind—called a "loo"—that every June blows in from the Rajasthan Desert and usually sends Delhi temperatures to a scoring 115 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Instead, it's only been between 95 and 100, which is practically a "cold wave" for this time of year. But to Americans dragging around in the 100-degree heat, it can be pretty aggravating to hear their Indian friends brag about how "cool" it is.

Released on Bond in Fatal Stabbing

Elmer F. Martin, 33, of 264 N. Saginaw St., who was being held on a second degree murder charge has been freed on bond from Oakland County jail after the bond was reduced from $10,000 to $5,000 by Waterford Township Justice of the Peace Donald Adams.

One cure for rising prices

is to save an extra nickel out of every dollar

You CAN do something about today's rising prices! And it's this. Save an extra nickel out of every dollar.

One of the main causes of rising prices is overspending. If each of us will save only an extra nickel out of every dollar we earn, we will put a strong brake on inflation.

For this will produce billions of dollars in savings—money which is urgently needed to finance more factories, homes and schools.

And, of course, you get a personal bonus from your extra savings—the feeling of independence and security that a growing nest egg brings . . . the feeling that your house is in order.

As a second step to fight inflation, all of us should support every reasonable move to reduce government spending—federal, state and local.

Sure, all this means a sacrifice. But isn't it worth it, if this means continuing our prosperity—and keeping it sound?

CHAPTER 19

On Sunday we took the two-seated rig, Maria riding in the back, Sarah Pardee in front with me. The weather had turned warm, unusually so for early June, and so it was now, with a bright sun in the sky that held only a few cottony clouds.

Sarah wore no wrap except a light coat which she laid across her knees. Her bonnet was a small one, very pert and attractive. If she was setting out to make John Mathers notice her, she was going about it the right way.

★ ★ ★

As we rode, both of us silent, it seemed to me that, paradoxically, I, Will Beeson, both loved and hated Sarah. After I thought about it awhile, it began to make sense. I loved her because of all the things she had done for me, and because she loved me, and I was sure she did. I loved her for the goodness and gentleness that were so much a part of her. But I hated her because I was afraid of what she would do to me in the future, and to the Box P. Then I thought of John Mathers. He was the one I should hate, I thought, because he had brought all of this on us.

I was not in a pleasant mood when we reached the settlement that the colonists called Amity. This was their town; they had their own store, and they were going to petition for a post office.

We had passed several patches of turned sod, brown where it should have been green. Th farmers were fighting against time in an effort to get a crop in the fall. Now, as I saw the amount of building that had been done in the few weeks the colonists had been here, I wondered if the carpenters outnumbered the farmers.

Th largest building was on the right side of the road. This, I learned, was the store managed by Al Romig. There was a partition at one end which set off a small room that was Mathers' office. Across the road was a slightly smaller building with a sign that said Community Center. Here, Sarah told me, they held Sunday service, business meetings, and Saturday-night dances, and in the winter it would be the schoolhouse.

A crowd was waiting for us when we stopped. John Mathers stepped forward, calling to a man to take the team. After Mathers shook hands with me, I lifted Sarah from the rig, carried her inside, and set her down in a rocking chair. After that we had to shake hands with everyone, even the children, who stared at my gun with solemn eyes.

The adults had no way of knowing that Gene Dillingham's presence in the valley forced me to carry a gun to church, and I didn't explain. Though I didn't actually know Dillingham was here, I was sure he wouldn't leave until he'd settled his score with me.

The pews were unplaned planks laid across blocks of wood, and the pulpit was a narrow platform about two feet high. Mathers took his place behind an upended crate, opened the service with a prayer and a hymn, and then welcomed Sarah and Maria and me, saying we were the first of the valley residents to attend one of their functions. He hoped that we would not be the last and that we would feel welcome to come again.

I studied Mathers' people as he preached. They didn't look at all like the professional wandering homeseekers we had seen repeatedly in the valley, the kind of men, for instance, who would hire Al Beam to shoot Joe Pardee.

I wanted to hate these people. They had no business coming here in the first place. They had disrupted a way of life that had suited me, a good life that was meant to be lived in this particular valley. Because they threatened our future, Sarah's and mine, at least, I had come prepared to hate them; but I honestly could not, now that I sat here and looked at them.

If there was one characteristic common to all of them, it was sincerity. I had felt this quality in Mathers from the first time I had met him last fall, and I sensed it in his sermon. He talked about faith, emphasizing how Abraham had left his home and gone to a strange land and had made a new life for himself just as they were doing in Easter Valley.

John Mathers couldn't have been more wrong if he'd had two left feet, and everyone who had come with him was wrong; but after he dismissed us with a prayer and all of us filed out quietly and solmny, I could not find it in me to blame them for being here. They'd try, and the failure which would eventually be their destiny would not be their fault.

Nela came to us, saying she would run over to their cabin and get dinner started. Sarah sent Maria to help her. Several lingered to talk. They all seemed good people, and how can you hate good people?

After the last one left with a hope we would come again, I picked Sarah up and carried her to Mathers' cabin. Mathers brought the rocking chair, and after we had made her comfortable she said: "John, I hate being a burden like this. Someday I won't be. I'm going to walk. You'll see."

★ ★ ★

Mathers looked at her, his eyes locked with hers. He said confidently: "You will, Sarah. You have the faith that it takes."

I went outside and rolled a cigarette, sick with a cold, aching pain far down inside me. I told myself they had no right to be in love.

Presently Mathers joined me. He said, "Beeson, I know you consider us your enemy. Does it have to be that way?"

"I don't see how it can be any other way."

He was silent for a time. Then he said softly: "This is what I have dreamed about for years: A chance to help people help themselves. If you could have seen the way they were living . . ."

"Mathers," I said, "you still don't know what you've done, do you?"

"I know, but you don't." He stroked his beard as he said: "Your letter was entirely unnecessary. I have told you, and I have promised Mrs. Pardee, that we will not in any way harm you or your ranch. Why do you keep harping on it?"

"Because I know what's coming," I answered. "Right now everybody is happy, but in the long run you'll find out you've brought nothing but misery to a lot of people."

He shook his head, his gentle face filled with pity. "Beeson, I bought Dodson's ranch, spending money I could ill afford to spend, but I bought it because I wanted to prevent bloodshed."

I motioned toward the creek bottom. "How much land are you giving your farmers?"

"It varies," he said. "Up on the bench some have eighty acres, or as much as a hundred. On the creek, where we can put water on the land and where it's good deep soil, they have forty acres."

"There's your answer, Mathers," I said. Next fall you'll see. Because your farmers will find out they're not in Misosuri where they could raise good crops, they'll look across the valley at Box P range and they'll say to themselves that they need more land and that it's waiting for them over there. Not forty acres, Mathers, but a whole quarter-section. They'll come and I'll be waiting, and what do you think will happen then? And let's get another thing straight. Are you courting Sarah just to make it easy for your people to get more land?"

That hurt him. "Beeson," he said, and I felt ashamed, "I love her. I've asked her to marry me, but she won't until she can walk. Someday she will, but regardless of when that day comes I will not do a single thing to hurt her."

I said, "Maybe you won't hurt her, but some of your people will."

He looked at me again, and I sensed the worry and anxiety that was in him.

"To you I am one of the enemy," Will speaks his mind to Nela as "Gunlock" continues here tomorrow.

Cardinal Wyszinski En Route to Poland

★ ★ ★

His 40-day visit, during which he received the emblems of his rank, was his first trip to see Pope Pius XII since 1951.

When he was named a cardinal, in 1953, he did not come to receive his red hat for fear he might not be allowed to return to Communist-controlled Poland. Later the Communists put him under house arrest but he was released last fall by the new regime of Nationalist Communist Wladyslaw Gomulka.

★ ★ ★

'Reds Should Stop Blocking Broadcasts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U.S. official says if the Russians want to show sincerity toward a proposed exchange of radio-TV programs "they can stop jamming Voice of America broadcasts."

★ ★ ★

The statement was made last night by Arthur Larson, director of the U.S. Information Agency, in a radio-television interview.

Larson said several months ago, Russia jammed a speech by President Eisenhower marking the 15th anniversary of Voice of American broadcasting.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) has urged an "open curtain" exchange of TV-radio programs between Russia and the United States. Secretary of State Dulles has given qualified endorsement to the plan, saying he would be willing to appear on such a program if a monthly exchange could be worked.

Congressman From Brooklyn

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) has won the reputation of a congressman who refuses to duck a fight.

This refusal and a periodic impulse to go out and look for one has embroiled him in two of the biggest battles before Congress.

As chairman of the House Judiciary Committee — a post he has held on and off since 1947— "Manny" Celler is responsible for getting civil rights legislation through the House.

This has been no easy task since many wily and resourceful southern legislators, whom he counts as his good friends, are dead set against him on this issue.

TAKES ON SPORT

Celler also takes on one of the greatest and most popular organizations in the nation's history Monday morning — major league baseball.

This fight, his second encounter with the national pastime, comes in his capacity as chairman of a judiciary subcommittee on anti-trust matters. He was unsuccessful in an investigation six years ago into the monopolistic aspects of professional baseball.

This new battle was brought on by the Supreme Court's recent ruling that professional football is subject to the nation's anti-trust laws.

Celler has been in the forefront of battles for "liberal" legislation since he was sworn in as a House member 34 years ago.

He was a staunch supporter of the new and fair deals and is one of the few such "liberals" who has stayed in Congress long enough to serve as chairman of a major committee.

As chairman of the anti-trust subcommittee, Celler has gone after some of the biggest corporations in America and has investigated everything from aluminum to newsprint.

"Manny" was born in Brooklyn in 1888. He was graduated from a Brooklyn high school and received a law degree from Columbia Law School in 1912. He practiced law for 10 years before winning a seat in Congress in 1923.

1-Month Wait on Courthouse

Judge Says the Issues of Proposed Building Need Study

It will be about one month before the fate of Oakland County's proposed new courthouse is decided.

Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke, who presided over a five-day hearing last month in which the Board of Supervisors' building plans were contested, said he may decide the case in 30 days.

Judge Dehnke this week received the last of four briefs filed in the case. He said the many issues involved need study before a final opinion is reached.

Briefs were filed by the Oakland County Taxpayers' League, the Board of Supervisors, the Attorney-General's office and the South Oakland County Bar Association.

The Taxpayers' League brought the suit, charging that the board padded budgets and illegally transferred surpluses to a fund for building purposes.

It also claimed the board's proposal to shift the courthouse from its present downtown site to the Telegraph Rd. service center is illegal. The board denied both charges.

The State of Michigan and the South Oakland bar were allowed to intervene as interested third parties.

The board has agreed to hold up construction of the proposed building until the suit is decided. Supervisors say they have about $1.4 million on hand to start construction as soon as they get the green light.

The league wants this money returned to taxpayers in the form of tax reductions next year.

Briton Seeks Red OK on Autos for All Tourists

LONDON (AP) — A British travel official is in Moscow to work out arrangements for foreign motorists to travel by their own cars in Russia.

"I've got about 100 questions to ask the Soviet," John Philips, of the British Automobile Assn., said before leaving London.

"Before any car parties visit Russia we want to be satisfied on many subjects, including gasoline arrangements, repairs and hotel accommodations," said Philips.

The Soviets recently agreed to the trips in principle, with two reservations:

All foreign drivers must be accompanied at all times by a Russian interpreter and a guide.

Foreign travel is limited to two roads: From Brest-Litovsk on the Polish frontier to Moscow and return, and from Moscow to Yalta in the Crimea and return.

★ ★ ★

Still to be answered is whether Americans, or foreigners other than Britons, can book tours through the British Automobile Assn.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Has Capital Society in a Tizzy of Excitement

French Ambassador's Wife Is Washington Sparkplug

(Who are the women who most fascinate senators and other men in official Washington? The social side of life in the Capital is graced by a number of women with charm, wit and beauty. And the reporter who knows them best is Ruth Montgomery. In the series of articles that starts today, she takes you behind the scenes on the Washington cocktail circuit and introduces you to the "most exciting" women in Washington.)

WASHINGTON (INS) — Capital society is in a tizzy of excitement at the addition of Madame Herve Alphand to the solon circuit.

The fascinating wife of the French ambassador could probably charm the Suez Canal away from Egypt's morose Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser if she ever put her talents to Mata Hari intrigue.

PLAYS PIANO, GUITAR

No one laughs when she sits down at the piano! But the envied guests at the French embassy are even happier when she trots out her guitar and—eyes sparkling—out-Piafs Edith with her enchanting renditions of Gallic songs.

Her melodic voice runs the gamut from husky, moody torch songs to vivacious, carefree ditties as sparkling as the raindrops on a Normandy rooftop.

Music, which surrounds her, even brought her love. As Mademoiselle Claude Raynaud, fresh out of a Parisian finishing school, she met the future ambassador while performing a singing role in amateur theatrics in Paris.

★ ★ ★

Alphand was also singing, and delivering himself of the imitations with which he now enchants Washington solons. They were married in 1930, and ten years later had settled in New York where Herve was serving as financial attache to the French embassy.

Then came electrifying news! Gen. Charles DeGaulle was organizing the Free French Forces and required Alphand's services as his chief financial advisor.

It was the era of "Kiss the boys goodbye," and Alphand departed, first for London and then North Africa. Later, he was to negotiate the agreement between DeGaulle and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the administration of France after the Allied landing.

PROFESSIONAL SINGER

Madame Alphand, who liked to eat as well as the next one, could not sit idly by. To support herself, she became a professional singer in the better night clubs of New York. After the liberation, she continued the highly successful career for a time in Paris supper clubs.

As a consequence, Claude is new to Washington, but America is old hat to the French enchantress. Until their recent assignment to the nation's capital, Alphand had served as his country's ambassador to the United Nations in New York.

No sooner had Mme. Alphand become the chatelaine of the fabulous French embassy here than she launched a redecorating spree—on her own. Talented in all artistic bents, she acted as her own decorator to transform the darkish rooms into a riot of brilliant colors.

★ ★ ★

LIVELY PORTRAIT

The focal point in the solarium is a spectacular Rene Bouche portrait of the embassy's hostess—a portrait as lively and stimulating as Madame Alphand herself.

Because of their official obligations, the Alphands entertain five or six times a week. Every evening marks a formal dinner either at home or elsewhere along embassy row.

The pace is exhaustive, but the diminutive 124-pound, blue-eyed blonde seems to thrive on it. No party that can boast the Alphands in attendance is truly complete unless the ambassador delivers his hilarious imitations of Russia's Andrei Gromyko, Britain's Winston Churchill and some of our own towering political figures.

★ ★ ★

Equally lost is an evening without the husky Gallic airs of Madame Alphand who, despite her delightful sparkle, is nevertheless of a serious bent. Ask her hobbies, and she will reply soberly:

"Music, decorating and European Federation. The latter is my dearest dream."

(Tomorrow: The most beautiful woman in Washington.)

The Rev. Joseph Immel of St. Vincent de Paul Church was honored at a reception Sunday evening in the Parish Hall. Father Immel will leave soon to accept a temporary assignment in Port Huron, where he will serve as chaplain at the Mercy Hospital and will also serve as administrator of the Mexican Mission. Pictured at the reception were (left to right) Mrs. Josephine Poulard, Father Immel, John Kline and Elizabeth Ann Kline (in foreground) and Charles Phipps Jr. and Mrs. Dominic J. Kline.

Margaret E. Levely Becomes Bride

A gown of French Chantilly lace and tulle was worn by Margaret Elaine Levely for her marriage Saturday to W. David Richards at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

★ ★ ★

The gown's bouffant skirt featured panels of lace and tulle dipping into a sweep in the back. Securing the bride's fingertip veil of illusion was a crown accented with seed pearls and sequins.

Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations, pink roses and stephanotis.

Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stanton Levely of Elizabeth Lake avenue, had her sister, Virginia Levely of Utica, as her honor attendant.

Virginia's gown was of pink chiffon over taffeta featuring a fitted bodice and floating panels down the back. She carried a bouquet of shattered blue and white carnations.

OTHER ATTENDANTS

The bride's other attendants, Karen Anderson, Rosalie Richards, sister of the bridegroom, and Phyllis Schumacher of Ludington, wore dresses styled identically to the maid of honor's in three different shades of blue.

★ ★ ★

Their headpieces were of sequinned veiling secured to taffeta matching their gowns. Each carried arrangements of shattered pink carnations.

Kathy Noonan of Ohio, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Her gown was of blue chiffon over taffeta, and she carried pink rose petals in a blue basket.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Richards of West Chicago avenue. Carl Hofinga from New Jersey served as best man. Ushers were Carl Theorin, Jerry Frederickson, Marshall Buttram and Roger Richards, brother of the bridegroom.

For the reception held in the church parlors, Mrs. Levely chose a dress of mist blue silk organza over taffeta with white accessories and corsage of pink roses and carnations.

Mrs. Richards wore a dress of pink lace over taffeta with white accessories and corsage of white carnations and roses.

★ ★ ★

For traveling to northern Michigan, the bride changed to an aqua suit with white accessories and the corsage of pink roses from her bridal bouquet.

The newlyweds will reside on Osceola drive for the summer, after which they will move to Indiana.

Love of Life, Change of Pace, Melody

Certain Ingredients Make Existence Glow

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If we are to keep our daily lives from falling into ruts, if life is to glow for us, we must see that our existence has certain ingredients. The first and most important one is a love of life. Those folks who find existence full of magic and fun and adventure bring zest to it because of their own attitude and approach.

Our lives must also have a change of pace. In every career, whether it be that of a housewife, an actress, a writer or a musician, there is a lot of plain drudgery and hard work and also much repitition. A musician must practice her scales and lessons just as the housewife must do the same chores over and over again.

If no new activities and interests and experiences are added we lose sight of the big view. We become caught in our little shells of fixed attitudes and activities. We become ingrown and our horizons narrow rather than expand. Just one simple new interest can make the day exciting.

The third thing life must have is melody. I mean this literally as well as figuratively. Since the beginning of time man has been stimulated, consoled and relaxed by music. I think many folks are starved for music and do not know it.

* * *

However there is melody of an even more important kind in daily living if you take time or have the approach to find it. There is the melody of laughter, of warmth, of understanding, of keen awareness of the wonderful people and the beautiful scenes about us.

KINDRED SPIRIT

There is the melody in sudden recognition of togetherness, or belonging, in the kindred spirit between two people. This may occur with an old friend, a new friend, a person you have just met.

There is the melody of sun slanting through the trees, of a robin on her nest, of seeds turning into flowers.

I thought of these three ingredients recently when listening to some classical music on our hi-fi. The change of pace in some compositions was intriguing and the melody pouring out was exciting.

I never will be considered well educated music-wise because I have to have melody in my music, even my classical music. I can appreciate the technical skill of the less melodic composers and I can applaud the execution of a high C even if it isn't pretty, but I never will love either.

* * *

I must have melody if life is to sing for me but I need have no worries on that score because it is all about me—in great music and popular music — in the people I know—in the world about me. All I have to do is find it! What about you?

EVERYTHING AT ONCE

Isn't it funny how life seems to happen to us in bunches? We go along smoothly for a while and then all of a sudden things begin to heckle us. Perhaps you stub your toe when you first get out of bed in the morning. You burn the toast. The hot water heater won't work. One child has a rash.

* * *

You batten down all these occurrences and rush to get to a 10:30 meeting. You can't find your car key. When you do the car will not start and you get a run in your stocking. When the car does start and you're on your way all the traffic lights are against you. Finally you make it, 15 minutes late.

When you come out to go home it is raining. You have no umbrella. The rain ruins your new shoes and doesn't help your vegetable hair rinse any. You arrive home to find that your husband is bringing someone home to dinner and the dog is having pups. Does it sound familiar?

I myself have become expert at recognizing these days in their early stages and found long ago that it doesn't pay to fight back. I just shrug my shoulders, get a happy-go-lucky feeling on the inside, and say, "Let her blow!"

* * *

We have to learn to ride with the tide. Actually, none of the happenings is tragic. They may take some toll of our pocketbook but they will not affect our joy in living or our health unless we allow them to irk us.

When things thicken up and we are tempted to complain or be irritable it helps to remember this. The whole thing is humorous if we can get an objective viewpoint.

OUR MOODS, TOO

I think we have to adapt to the winds and tides of our moods in much the same way. Even the happiest person sometimes finds himself or herself in a blue mood. Sometimes you do not even know what causes this.

* * *

It may be loss of sleep, fatigue or some unpleasant experience or disappointment in a person. Most often you do not even know why you feel that way. You wonder if you are losing your grip.

Except for weeding out any known causes, don't fight. Just drift! The mood will pass. The sun will shine and life will begin cooking with gas again.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press. Tomorrow: "Phrase 'At Our Age' Can Be Used Happily."

Camp Oakland Does Big Job for County Boys

Needs Dollars to Keep Going

Short $13,000 to Give 2-Week Vacations for Underprivileged Kids

By PETE LOCHBILER

It's a common sight to see barefoot youngsters skipping happily over the grassy slopes at Camp Oakland.

One summer, though, a certain barefoot boy attracted attention. He went shoeless everywhere, day and night. Camp officials asked why.

Proud as even the smallest boys are, this young fellow found it hard to admit his family was so poor that he had no shoes.

And it was not easy for the adults—even though they are hosts to hundreds of needy children each year—to hear of such poverty.

★ ★ ★

That was one summer an official dipped into his own pocket to buy a pair of shoes and bring happiness to a youngster.

YOUR DOLLAR HELPS

Usually, though, it's what Camp Director Bill Matus calls "your dollar" that buys happiness and healthy, outdoor recreation for children whose families cannot afford it on their own.

Underprivileges children from 6 to 12 spend two weeks free of charge at what Matus proudly describes as "the best summer camp in the state—free or otherwise."

This summer, the camp is scheduled for full operation — meaning that 100 children, both boys and girls, can be accommodated every two weeks over an eight-week period, or 400 altogether.

★ ★ ★

SHORTAGE OF FUNDS

Matus says $20,000 is needed for operating expenses, but so far this year only $7,000 has been raised.

Camp officials and supporters are still campaigning for funds, mostly from Oakland County service clubs, which always have been the summer camp's chief contributors.

Camp Oakland is four years old. There's the equivalent of $150,000 worth of installations located on its 320 hilly, wooded acres encircling Handsome Lake, off Drehner road northeast of Lake Orion.

All of the money, and most of the materials and labor for cabins, chow halls, archery range, docks and swimming facilities have been donated.

★ ★ ★

STUDENTS EMPLOYED

The 18 summer camp counselors are Michigan State University students, whose $50-a-season salary and $63 tuition fee apiece is paid out of summer camp donations.

The rest of the money goes to provide free food, shelter, summertime equipment for children who could not otherwise spend a few summer weeks close to nature.

"I say that Camp Oakland is supported by 'your dollar' because, in a sense, it belongs to all of Oakland County and to the children who need its facilities," says Matus.

★ ★ ★

Service club representatives belong to the board of directors of Camp Oakland, Inc. The county uses many of the camp's facilities during the rest of the year for the Oakland County Boy's Ranch, which through Juvenile Court provides a year-round home for about 20 boys.

★ ★ ★

WATER'S SWELL! — So say these four youngsters, who enjoy two free weeks at Camp Oakland thanks to the generosity of service clubs and private individuals who contribute annually to keep the non-profit venture going. There's swimming for swimmers and valuable swimming instruction for beginners.

Pontiac Press Photos

SOME WORK, TOO — Youngsters daily put in a little work to help improve Camp Oakland. Here one boy gets set for some lawn mowing, with the help of William Brown, president of the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club, one of many service clubs which has contributed to the camp's operating expenses this year.

Urges Granting of Dulles Wish

Wisconsin Senator Says Advisers Should Travel to Disarmament Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today if Secretary of State Dulles wants senatorial advisers to sit in with Harold E. Stassen at the London disarmament conference the Senate should grant his request.

★ ★ ★

Wiley, senior Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, took issue with the view of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas that senators ought not to participate as advisers in decisions Johnson said should be left to the executive Branch.

★ ★ ★

Johnson said it might be possible for some senators to sit in as "observers" after Congress adjourns or to serve in that capacity by reading here the progress reports of Stassen to the State Department. Stassen is chief American negotiator in the talks with Russia, Britain, France and Canada.

★ ★ ★

Wiley said in an interview he couldn't see much difference in senators acting as "observers" or "advisers." He added that even if they were called "advisers" that would not give them any authority.

Eisenhower Still Travels High Road of Popularity

(From their vantage points across the U.S. six top editors and publishers have taken the measure of the President's current stature with the public as a special report for NEA Service. Here's what they found, told in the first of two round up dispatches coordinated by NEA Service political writer Bruce Biossat.)

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT

NEW YORK — (NEA) — President Eisenhower still travels the high road of popularity in this country, but he has slipped slightly from the lofty crest he held last election day.

This is the substance of a special report to NEA from half a dozen top editors of major newspapers, whose strategic vantage points around the United States enable them to measure well the President's current standing with the people.

★ ★ ★

Participating in NEA's nationwide sampling of up-to-date sentiment on Mr. Eisenhower were Virgil Pinkley, editor and publisher of the Los Angeles Mirror News; Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution; Jack Foster, editor of the Rocky Mountain News (Denver); Edward M. Pool editor of the El Paso (Tex.) Herald-Post; A. T. Burch, associate editor of the Chicago Daily news, and David M. Beetle, editor of the Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker News.

These respected observers, finding the President's national position little altered after five months of his second term, reach a conclusion clearly more favorable to him than the impression created in Washington — where most accounts portray him heavily beset by opposition from Democrats and many members of his own party.

The editors assert that the two main supports of his present popularity are the same which bore him to an election triumph last November by a margin of nine and a half million votes: prosperity and peace.

Where he has dropped a little from that peak, the editors put the blame principally on his record peacetime $71.8 billion budget. Grumbling over his whopping 1957-58 requests seems wide-spread, though one editor suggests that in his area most of it comes from people in the higher income brackets.

Here's the editors' report on popular attitudes in various parts of the country toward Mr. Eisenhower himself and toward his handling of the big issues of peace and the budget (with related economic matters):

POPULARITY

Pinkley (Los Angeles): "President Eisenhower's popularity has dwindled somewhat, although an overwhelming majority trust him and want to follow his leadership, which they feel might be a mite more vigorous."

McGill (Atlanta): "President Eisenhower's popularity, in general, continues at a high level with people in the Southeast. (But) there have been defections.

Pooley (El Paso): "Ike doesn't stand as high in this country west of the Pecos as he did on election day. He carried about everything hereabouts, and by good majorities.

"Now, though, they are beginnigh to wonder about it."

Burch (Chicago): "(People) are not reacting vigorously pro or con to Ike as a personality for a leader."

Beetle (Albany): He quotes a Knickerbocker News political writer who has tapped eastern voter sentiment: "They still like Ike, but they don't like some of the things Ike likes."

And, asking executive editor Leslie Moore of the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram for an appraisal, Beetle was told: "Some of the white hot hero worship may have cooled, but Eisenhower can stand up before TV, make a few gestures, and get most of it back."

PEACE AND DISARMAMENT

Foster (Denver): "Voters still believe that he (the President) is best equipped of all Americans to deal with the Russians, and this basically is the only great issue in people's minds."

He added that while people "don't seem to have much use for Stassen," they feel that in the long run Ike personally "will handle disarmament and related matters and things will be all right."

Pinkley (Los Angeles): "People in this area appreciate the fact that we have peace and have not become engaged in any shooting wars, even localized ones, since Ike entered the White House — On disarmament and peace efforts, Ike still rates aces high in Southern California."

★ ★ ★

McGill (Atlanta): "The President's real strength lies in the fact that we are not in a shooting war. This was what elected him in '52 and '56. . . There is only mild interest in the disarmament conference in London."

Pooley (El Paso): "Disarmament talk is the bunk. It would be foolish for the U.S. to disarm, considering the nation that would sign the agreement with us — Hitler was a gentleman alongside Khrushchev and Bulganin."

Beetle (Albany): "(Easterners) are cynical about disarmament attempts, but don't blame the President for trying. They may not like the price tag on guns but they put more faith in them than in the prospect of Russian good will. They also seem to think that as a military man Eisehower won't let them down."

BUDGET (and general economic matters).

Pooley (El Paso): "His budget policy has hurt him. The thing is stuffed with non-essintials. It has already caused an increase in the cost of living, and it is bound to cause inflation.

"People on the border know about inflation because of the Mexican peso. For many years it was worth 50 cents, but then it went down to 28 cents and to 12 cents. It is now eight cents and that is figured on our own 43 cent dollar."

Beetle (Albany): "Easterners are convinced taxes are too high, but think of the President mostly as a victim of circumstance. 'He's committed to a lot of expenditure over which he has little control,' his tax-conscious backers rationalize."

Pinkley (Los Angeles): "Most people in this area are aware of our all-time high income, virtually no unemployment and generally good conditions economically.

"But Ike's popularity has slipped because of the budget issue and the fact people know he cannot run for another term. Many of his followers discuss only the budget situation and overlook all of the other accomplishments of his administration."

★ ★ ★

Foster (Denver): "The issues widely being debated by the press on the high federal budget, foreign aid and tax cuts do not seem to be troubling the average voter greatly. He likes Ike despite his high budget request."

Burch (Chicago): "Among Illinois people with higher incomes, there is hot objection to the original budget. In these groups there is growing resistance to rising government costs of all kinds.

"These feelings do not seem to be shared by most people whose income tax is fully paid by an employer's weekly deductions.

"Disagreement with Ike on the budget does not imply that people are mad at him personally."

McGill (Atlanta): "As of now there is considerable opposition and all congressmen and senators from the Southeast are being encouraged to cut the budget.

"This is in my opinion an irresponsible move and, without question, is sponsored in many localities by business organizations which, while they call for budget cuts, are at the same time lobbying for increased appropriations in their own special interest pork-barrel projects. However, a majority sentiment has been aroused in favor of a budget cut, although the President's second (budget) speech was effective in reducing this opposition."

Fire in Ontario Kills 2 From Muskegon

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP) — A Muskegon, Mich., father and son died yesterday following a blast and fire at a three-room tourist cabin 30 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Three others were critically burned.

The dead are Walter Neff, 31, and his 10-year-old son, John.

Neff's widow; Dennis McQuiston, 25, and his wife, Sara, 21, all of Muskegon were reported in critical condition.

★ ★ ★

Police said the explosion may have been caused by a propane gas stove.

The two families were on vacation, arriving here Saturday. They were carried from the burning cabin by other tourists.

Or Was It Sharks at Seaside Home?

Mystery Gobbles Up Florida Couple

PALM BEACH, Fla. (INS)—Two years ago this month a wealthy Florida judge and his wife disappeared, and neither large rewards offered nor a ceaseless hunt has produced even a promising clue.

"We are exactly on the dead end road on which we started," said Deputy Sheriff W. H. Lawrence, who has spent hundreds of hours on the case.

Highly respected Circuit Judge C. E. Chillingsworth and his wife, Marjorie, were last seen at 10 p.m. Tuesday, June 14, 1955, when they said goodnight to their dinner hosts and lifelong friends, former Palm Beach Mayor James M. Owens Jr., and his wife.

They stepped into their car and headed for their secluded seaside home at Manalapan, a few miles south of Palm Beach.

NO TRACE

At 8 a.m. the following day, when a carpenter Chillingsworth had hired reported for work, no trace of them could be found.

His wealth, position and the fact he was a member of one of Florida's pioneer families made Chillingsworth's disappearance front page news and sparked a vast and frantic investigation.

A few blood stains on the wooden steps leading to the beach, a broken floodlight at the rear of the house and two rolls of adhesive tape—one partially used—found lying on the beach were the only items resembling clues that ever were discovered.

There were no signs of a struggle inside the house, the doors were open and a blower fan was operating.

* * *

The all-out investigation ground on for months and rewards at one time totaled $150,000. But aside from "crackpot tips"—which still come in occasionally — no leads were uncovered.

Deputy Lawrence said the sheriff's office looked into 25 or more "tips" during the past 12 months, but each proved as worthless as the hundreds that were checked in the weeks immediately following the couple's disappearance.

"I sometimes wonder," Lawrence said, "whether the sharks didn't get them. They were both fond of swimming and there were an ungodly number of sharks out that morning and the two mornings following. We could see them from the helicopter as we flew over the search area.

EXPLAINS THEORY

"You lay in bed at night and wonder whether one of them might have picked up a cut, returned to the house for the adhesive tape and then gone in swimming.

* * *

"Blood attracts both barracuda and sharks and perhaps the 'cuda attacked one of them and the other went to his aid. The sharks could have moved in and finished the job."

"This of course is just another theory which many people would not agree with," Lawrence said, "but in the absence of facts all you can do is guess—and that's one of mine."

Feels Like Home — Without Domestic Worries

It's Hard for Yanks to Leave London

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

LONDON (INS)—On an American's last day in London—perhaps more than on his last day anywhere else abroad—he must arise early, stuff his lungs with oxygen, and prepare to race around the town in a frantic last lunge of activity.

★ ★ ★

The reasons are simple, really. First, there is the mercurial matter of exchanging your pounds for merchandise or dollars, because you are allowed to take no more than 10 English pounds (roughly $28.00) out of the country.

More important, England's charm sneaks into the innards of an American and, within an incredibly short time, the place begins to feel like "home" — without a real home's plumbing, cooking, day-in day-out routine problems.

After a brief stay in beautiful Rome, exciting Paree, adventurous Cairo, an American is likely to say well wasn't that fun, but now it's time to go back where we understand what we read in the papers.

★ ★ ★

After a brief visit in England, one is likely to wire home for more money and stay on—for the parks are green, the monuments are magnificent, and the small boys playing cricket among the foxglove are worthy of more lazy attention.

ANOTHER WORLD

You are in another world, away from personal problems, and yet you can read the papers, and the waiters understand you. It is hard to leave.

★ ★ ★

Recommended for the last day in London is an eavesdropping tour of the pubs (public houses) where Britishers say what they think.

There, in a variety of dialects — all of them intelligible once your ear is tuned in—you learn what the public feels about everything except Americans.

(The British are too polite to talk about Americans when the latter are present, and Americans can always be spotted in a pub. Even in inexpensive clothes, they look sleek and flashy beside the more weathered and drab local citizen.)

Princess Margaret is, if possible, an object of even more affection than Queen Elizabeth. At least temporarily. Opinion is divided on whether or not she ever will be happily married now that Capt. Peter Townsend has been abandoned.

★ ★ ★

But most pub people agree that as long as she devotes her time to "the chinless wonders" in her present social set, she is doomed to loneliness.

SCORN HOPEFULS

They refuse to believe that she will marry any of her current coterie of noble, or at least titled, hopefuls. There is a "that one wouldn't do for her" sort of attitude about the entire list.

★ ★ ★

The rumored rift between Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip was, of course, an "outrageous" puff of nonsense enlarged by the American press. Everyone agrees that Buckingham Palace pulled a royal "fluff" when it dignified the "absurd" report with an official denial.

Philip is well liked by the people, though he makes some of them slightly uneasy. "In a way, he's too democratic, the way he thinks things out and says what he thinks.

"He's rather like the Duke of Windsor was, that way. We rather like it when he says something vaguely risque — that's fun and human—but when he gets serious, he comes dangerously close to talking politics. And Englishmen don't want the royal family mixed up in politics — they might get blemished."

Port Austin Firm to Go to Tennessee

PORT AUSTIN (AP) — The Mayes Bros. Tool Manufacturing Co., which has operated here since 1919, will move its plant to Johnson City Tenn., in three months.

Daniel J. Mayes, president, said the decision was made after negotiations with his 60 employes on a proposed wage cut collapsed.

Mayes said operation of the plant in Port Austin "is no longer competitive because of labor costs." He said the lower pay scale in Johnson City would save from $80,000 to $100,000 a year. Mayes gave no comparative wage figures.

The plant in this thumb area community of 1,000 population manufactures carpenter's levels and aluminum ladders.

France's paper industry is planning to use its deciduous trees, such as oak, beech and elm, for woodpulp, thus reducing reliance on imported wood.

Only Vaccine Is Effective

Flu Bug Can't Be Killed

NEW YORK (AP) — Science as yet has no drug to stop the flu bug once it hits you.

Influenza is caused by a virus, just as polio is. Antibiotics, sulfas and other drugs can halt germs, but they don't touch viruses.

The best defense is a vaccine, which acts specifically against the type of flu virus causing an epidemic. Health authorities are getting ready for vaccination programs if the current epidemic of Asian flu spreads here to any serious degree.

★ ★ ★

If flu does strike, doctors treat the fever, the aches and pain, sore throat, coughs, and other symptoms that flu causes. Aspirin and other drugs can reduce fever and relieve aches.

Doctors urge alertness to complications from flu—pneumonias or other infections caused by bacteria which hit at the same time when flu patients are in weakened condition.

Antibiotics and sulfas can overcome the bacterial infections, if treated in time. If a serious epidemic hits, medical authorities generally advise using antibiotics from the outset, to prevent the serious complications. Most doctors advise staying in bed a day or two after the fever from flu is gone to lessen chances of germ infections.

Complications such as pneumonia were responsible for many of the 10 million deaths caused by a worldwide flu epidemic in 1918.

Flu is generally a mild, short-lasting illness. But once in a while a particularly virulent or tough type of flu virus develops, and it can have devastating effects.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. World Health Organization says reports all indicate that the new Asian flu virus is causing only a mild form of influenza.

Mayer Hands Middlecoff Pains of Defeat

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

TOLEDO — Even a doctor has his pains. For Dr. Cary Middlecoff, who exchanged his dentist's drill for the golf clubs 10 years ago, the pains came in the hectic 18 hole playoffs of the U. S. National Open at Toledo's Inverness Country Club yesterday.

It was 34-year-old Dick Mayer of Connecticut, now playing out of St. Petersburgh, Fla., who handed the veteran Middlecoff the pains of a humiliating 7-stroke drubbing to win the National Open.

The blond Mayer, who lost the 1954 Open to Ed Furgol when he double-bogied the last hole, said he played the entire tournament with "conservative golf."

★ ★ ★

His conservative golf gave him rounds of 70-68-74-70—282 in regulation play and yesterday he fired a 72 while Middlecoff, who had a pair of 68's to tie Saturday, faltered with 79.

The margin of victory for Mayer was the widest in 20 playoffs since the National Open began in 1895, and the defeat deprived Middlecoff from moving in with the elite group of 3-time champions.

Mayer, a pro since 1949, was the underdog and thereby became the sentimental favorite of the gallery of 5,000 which watched the playoffs.

Many expected the handsome blond to fall under pressure against the veteran Middlecoff, but it was Middlecoff who looked more rattled, as his putter deserted him on three short putts on the front nine.

Unlike Saturday's tremendous finish when Middlecoff beautifully putted his way to two birdies on the last three holes to force the championship into a playoff, the temperamental dentist from Dallas missed a three-footer on the first green, and another 3-footer on the fifth for bogies.

A four-footer he missed would have given Middlecoff a birdie on the sixth. Mayer canned a six-footer on the same hole for a birdie and subsequently led by three strokes for the front nine.

Middlecoff's hopes died on the 10th where he took a six, which was one of his two double bogeys on the back nine.

Both had trouble on the 15th with slices, but Middlecoff's lie was under a tree and he was forced to punch it out only 30-feet. Mayer bogied the hole but the double bogey brought an end to Middlecoff's deliberate play.

As temperamentally hot as the 98-degree temperatures, Middlecoff hastened his pace to finish the match. He bogeyed the 17th and then hurried from the final hole with a par, but beaten and angry at himself.

The victory brought a prize of $7,200 for Mayer and prestige which may gain him as much as $100,000 from appearances, exhibitions, endorsements and other engagements.

Two of his future appearances are scheduled for Michigan, the first slated for this week's Flint Open and another a week later in the Western Open. He said he may have to alter his schedule to accomodate the engagements which always go with winning the National Open.

CUP OF GLORY — National Open champion Dick Mayer accepts the trophy of golfdom's greatest honor from USGA president Richard Tufts after defeating Cary Middlecoff in an 18-hole playoff at Inverness in Toledo yesterday. Mayer shot a 72 while Middlecoff fell to 79.

Fires Round of 65

Burkemo Best From State

TOLEDO—Michigan's contingent had its good and bad moments in the National Open which was forced into Sunday's playoff between Dick Mayer and Cary Middlecoff.

Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills drew much of the attention by firing the tournament's lowest 18-hole score when he carded a 32-33-65 in the last round.

This pushed him from 19th place to 4th and earned him $1,380. A disastrous back nine of the morning round Saturday actually was Burkemo's downfall.

Wally shot a 32 on the front nine, but took a fat 40 coming in. His total rounds were 74-73-72-65—284, just two strokes behind the winning 282.

Chick Harbert, who was in a first round tie with Jimmy Demaret with his 68, blew out of the picture with a 79 the second day and finished in a tie for 8th place with 68-79-71-74—290.

Amateur Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak fired rounds of 76-74-74-73 — 297, and Bob Gajda had 75-75-78-75 —303.

Six Michigan golfers failed to make Saturday's finals.

Wilmont Big 'Noise' in Clarkston Victory

Clarkston Merchants kept a string of exhibition baseball wins going in Sunday's 3-2 win at Cranbrook. It was the 4th victory for the Class E crew, and the "big noise" for the contest was made by pitcher Jerry Wilmont.

Both Cranbrook runs were unearned. Wilmont has a current perfect ERA in 14 innings, and also paced the hitting Sunday, with two blows.

★ ★ ★

Merchants won in the 4th, with two runs scoring on an infield error, with bases loaded. Wilmont hit the grounder that the shortstop fumbled. Clarkston had score one in the opener.

Trounce Pettibone-Nettle, 7-6

Byard-Ellstrom Pine Lake Champs

By BILL CORNWELL

Perry Byard and Ralph Ellstrom, playing golf in as mechanical a way as one could imagine, won the Pine Lake Invitational golf championship Sunday at Pine Lake Country Club.

Byard, veteran Red Run star, and Ellstrom, who does his shooting at Dearborn Country Club, annexed the 8th annual selective drive-alternate shot title yesterday with a whopping 7-6 victory over Bill Pettibone and Bill Nettle.

It marked the 2nd trip into the winner's circle in three years for Byard, who teamed with Tom Draper to take the Pine Lake tournament in 1955. For Ellstrom it was the 1st share of the Pine Lake crown.

The occasion was a happy one for Byard and Ellstrom in another way. They were partners in 1947 while winning the Birmingham Invitational. That was the end of their partnership until this year when they joined forces to finish 4th in the Dearborn Invitational medal play tourney.

It was the 2nd straight year that Pettibone of Red Run and Nettle of Plum Hollow had to be content with 2nd place. They were defeated by Joe Grace Jr. and Howie Neilson in the 1956 finals.

Byard and Ellstrom methodically ground out their win over Pettibone and Nettle. They reached every green in regulation except two and lost only one hole—the 6th.

When the match ended on the 12th hole, Byard and Ellstrom had scored 10 pars, one birdie and one bogey for an even par effort. Most of the time it was a case of Ellstrom hitting the green with his flawless irons after Byard had laid his tee shot on the fairway.

In contrast, Pettibone and Nettle were scrambling on almost every hole. They frequently found sand traps, missed several crucial short putts and wound up with seven bogies, one double bogey, only three pars and one birdie.

★ ★ ★

Byard and Ellstrom played just as mechanically in yesterday's semifinals while eliminating Bob Babbish and Bill O'Brien, 4-3. Pettibone and Nettle advanced to the final round with a 4-2 decision over Randall Ahern and his 16-year-old son Tommy.

Bums Dropped to 5th; Burdette 1-Hit Loser

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Lane's collection of the bought and bartered—plus Stan Musial — have proved themselves on the road. Now if these St. Louis Cardinals can adjust their appetites to home cooking, this might be a National League battle that's literally going to the Birds.

Cardinal teams have threatened before without winning since the league pennant last flew over the St. Louis ballyard in 1946, but this is a season with all the earmarks of a new order.

A 7-6, 8-4 doubleheader sweep of the nose-diving Dodgers at the Brooks' stronghold yesterday — first time that's happened in eight years — boosted St. Louis into second place behind Milwaukee in the five-club NL race.

The double victory ended one of the most successful Cardinal Eastern trips (11-2) since the early 40's. And gave the club a road record of 24-10, a .706 pace. The only item that has stopped St. Louis short of the top is a 7-13 show before the home folks. They will have their chance to remedy that in a 15-game stand at Busch Stadium opening tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

Milwaukee, 1½ games up on the flying Redbirds, split its doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning the first 3-2 but losing the secoid 1-0 to Curt Simmons despite a one-hitter from Lew Burdette. The "new look" New York Giants, with Don Mueller hitting a three-run pinch homer, dumped Cincinnati into third place, 4-3, and Chicago stopped Pittsburgh 4-1 in the first of two games at Forbes Field. The second fell victim to the Pennsylvania 7 p.m. curfew with the clubs tied 4-4 after 6 1-3 innings.

A bonus beauty only a week out of high school, Von McDaniel, 18, represented the "bought," Hoyt Wilhelm the "bartered" and Musial as Musial in the Cardinals splurge against Brooklyn, dropping the defending champions to fifth place.

McDaniel, younger brother of the Cards' Lindy McDaniel, allowed only one hit in four scoreless innings of relief in the opener, which Musial tied at 6-6 with a three-run homer and Ken Boyer won with a solo drive into the stands. Wilhelm outdid that in the second game, taking over for winner Willard Schmidt in the sixth and retiring all 12 Dodgers he faced. Musial, now hitting 365, had three hits in the first game, two in the second to stretch his consecutive game hit streak to 16.

★ ★ ★

Burdette allowed only a sixth-inning double to Joe Lonnett in the second game at Philadelphia but an infield out and Richie Ashburn's sacrifice fly enabled Lonnett to score with the run that beat the Braves. Michigan Star Joins Tigers

Third Baseman Steve Boros Signs $25,000 Contract

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today signed third baseman Steve Boros, captain-elect of the University of Michigan baseball team, to a $25,000 bonus contract.

★ ★ ★

The husky 20-year-old from Flint, Mich., officially joins the Tigers today. He forfeited his senior year of eligibility at Michigan to become the Tigers' first bonus choice since outfielder Jim Small signed in June of 1955.

The Detroit club, which beat out 13 others interested in Boros, was to cut a player today to make room for him.

As a member of the Wolverine squad, Boros was voted to the Big Ten All-Star team and to the District Four NCAA squad. He batted 404 in his junior year at Michigan after hitting .330 as a sophomore. He hits righthanded.

The 180-pound six-footer played at Flint Northern High School and with the state championship Flint American Legion team of 1952.

"Boros has outstanding potential as a hitter and we feel he will develop into a top Major Leaguer," said General Manager John J. McHale.

Martin Aids A's, Simpson NY

NEW YORK (INS) — Who got the better of the 11th hour flurry of player trades over the weekend?

The Yankees winced a little when the man they dealt off, infielder Billy Martin, got two for five against them in Kansas City with two RBI's and three runs. Martin tried to beat his old teammates single-handedly with a 340-foot single off the fence in the fourth inning and his second home run of the year in the eighth.

But the Yankees won the ball game 8-6 and the man for whom they dealt off Martin, Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, helped the cause with one for three and a run.

The Yankees also gave pitcher Ralph Terry and minor leaguers Bob Martyn and Woody Held to Kansas City for outfielder Jim Pisoni and pitcher Rinold Duren Saturday night. But Martin and Simpson were the only ones to see action Sunday.

Chicago's White Sox added a half length to their American League lead by defeating Washington 4-2 and 8-6, while improving Detroit, now 5½ games off the pace, edged Boston 2-1 on Harvey Kuenn's 10th-inning homer and Cleveland won twice from Baltimore, 4-3 and 5-1.

Gil McDougald and Yogi Berra drilled homers for the Yankees but Martin, hit his in the eighth and catcher Hal smith sent it into overtime with a homer in the ninth.

But the Yankees scored three runs in the tenth to end it. Simpson came home with the tie-breaking run when third-baseman Hector Lopez fumbled Tony Kubek's grounder.

Jim Rivera's two-run homer in the sixth inning gave Chicago's Jim Wilson the first win over Washington and a four-run eighth inning gave Dixie Howell the nightcap. Rivera and Walt Dropo doubled, Fred Hatfield singled and Dick Hyde forced in the last two runs by walking two men with bases loaded. Howell not only shut out the Senators from the fifth but hit consecutive home runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

Indians won the first game when Roger Maris hit a bases-loaded single in the eighth and the second on a three-run first inning while Early Wynn pitched a six-hitter for his eighth win.

Take City Best-Ball Title

Rothbarth-Wasik Triumph

A pair of city medal play champions got together Saturday afternoon at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course and the result was fatal for 34 other hopeful teams.

Rothbarth and Wasik toured Municipal's 18-hole layout in 31-32 as opposed to par of 34-35.

They had to maintain a sizzling pace to win the title, however, because Bob Housman and Glen Vallance were right behind them with 32-32—64. George Johnson and Harold Daniels finished 3rd with 33-32—65.

Bill (Buster) Pembroke and Jim Pettiford, the defending champions, carded a 33-35—68 to finish in a tie with five other teams, including the Glenn Harding-Howard Peterson duo.

Betters Vault Mark

Gutowski Soars Over Bar at 15 Feet, 9¾

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — There's little reason to believe that Bob Gutowski, the vaulting genius from Occidental, won't have a world's record placed beside his name. He ought to—he has two pending and this week may get another ready when he appears in the National AAU at Dayton, Ohio.

His greatest leap of all came Saturday night in the NCAA meet when the slim, 6-footer from the West Coast, soared 15 feet 9¾ inches. It bettered his own mark of 15 feet 8¼ inches set April 27, which is pending approval as a world's record.

It also was the highest vault in history, both indoors and out. Cornelius Warmerdam held the previous high—15 feet 8½ inches at Chicago in 1943. That one couldn't be considered for a world's record because it was indoors. Warmerdam's best outdoor mark was 15 feet 7¾ in 1942.

There's some question whether the prodicious leap will be accepted as a world's record. Bernie Moore, commissioner of the South eastern Conference and referee of the NCAA meet, said it would be submitted and that he thought it would go through "unless something unforeseen turns up."

Wade Thompson, judge of the vaulting, said when Gutowski made his new record bid he pushed the pole back at the top of his leap and that it was falling in the proper direction—away from the pit—until wind caught it and blew it toward the right. A retriever tried to catch it, fumbled on the first try and accidentally shoved the pole toward the pit but caught it before it hit the ground.

The pole, however, had gone between the standards and across the "plane of the bar," which is against the rules. A major question is: Would the wind have blown it between the standards?

Moore and Thompson said they would submit the record for world approval and thought it would be accepted. But Gutowski merely commented: "Well, I do the jumping and the rest is up to them."

Slider Wins for Bunning, 2-1

DETROIT (AP) — Skinny Jim Bunning is one of the top pitchers in the American League and he credits his success to a pitch the Detroit Tigers told him to junk.

"They said I had a lousy slider last year," the 25-year-old Kentuckian recalled after running his record to 7-1 wtih a three-hit masterpiece over the Boston Red Sox yesterday. "Everyone said the best thing to do was to forget it."

Even without the slider, Bunning compiled a 5-1 mark last season. While he was playing winter ball in Cuba, the big righthander worked on the slider and reported to spring training this year with another pitch.

The Tigers have been the hottest team in either league over the past couple of weeks. They won 10 of 13 in the home stay, beating Washington two out of three, New York three of four, Baltimore two of three and Boston three in a row.

Buuning's record ties him with New York's Bobby Shantz for the best percentage in the American League. He fanned six Boston batters to take over the league lead in that department from Chicago's Billy Pierce, 76 to 72. And his earned run average is a sensational 1.62.

"I always had a pretty good sinking fast ball," said Bunning. "My curve — when it was breaking — was good enough. When it wasn't, it was pretty sad. So I made up my mind to have another pitch to win the the Major Leagues. I couldn't get mad at anyone here last season when they said my slider was lousy, because I guess that's what it was. But that's the very pitch that's helped me out of a dozen tough spots this year."

Bunning now has won six in a row and has yielded only 11 earned runs in his last seven starts.

Bill Hoeft will pitch for the Tigers in the Yankee Stadium opener Tuesday night.

Congress Begins Sports Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Keating (R-NY) said today Congress would create "chaos in the sporting world" by blanketing baseball and other professional sports under federal antitrust laws.

"The biggest loser of all," Keating said, "will be the general public."

At the same time, Rep. Byrnes (R-Wis) called on Congress to "save professional football from extinction" by exempting its player draft and contract reserve clause from antitrust jurisdiction.

"To do nothing is to act to destroy, for no good reason, a sport which has brought enjoyment and relaxation to millions of Americans," Byrnes said.

Both Congressmen made their statements in testimony prepared for the start of hearings on bills to clarify the position of professional sports under laws regulating big business.

A House antitrust subcommittee also planned to hear from Rep. Harris (D-Ark), Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen, head of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and Earl Kintner, general counsel of the Federal Trade Commission.

Harris said yesterday he intended to go "all out for my bill" to exempt team sports from antitrust statutes.

The Supreme Court has said that as matters stand these laws don't apply to baseball but do affect football and boxing. The high court hasn't ruled specifically on basketball and ice hockey, but it said its decision on baseball wouldn't necessarily govern any other sport.

Chairman Celler (D-NY), for one, has introduced a bill that would subject baseball—and in effect all sports—to laws passed many years ago to curb monopolies.

Keating and Byrnes, in contrast, have recommended covering such commercial aspects as radio-TV rights but exempting game rules, league organization, territorial agreements and the contract reserve clause. Byrnes also wants Congress to approe football's system of drafting college players.

Keating said in his statement that Celler's bill would "deal a devastating blow to professional team sports." He said "it would give the courts the go-ahead signal to completely destroy practices considered essential to the successful operation of these sports."

"DERBY" LEADERS — The 2nd entry, and the current leader in the 1957 Pontiac Press "big fish derby" is the 4-pound-19-inch-long largemouth bass (above), taken Saturday by Bill Ratz, Pontiac. Avon Gets New System

End Water Shortage

AVON TOWNSHIP—On Saturday a program was held here to dedicate the newly completed water system. Cyril E. Miller, township supervisor gave the dedication speech while several interested citizens attended the afternoon ceremony. This new system was solved a problem, which has existed here for two decades.

As a result of new subdivisions in the past few years, a portion of Avon Township has found the water supply inadequate. Residents banded together to find a solution to their needs. Although they had been hard pressed for water for many years, the influx of new users made the situation a major problem.

In 1955 the Township Board located two wells about a half mile from the dry area and hired a financial consultant. With the help of volunteer residents details were completed and approval of $240,000 in special assessment bonds and $150,000 revenue bonds was given by the Municipal Finance Commission.

The bonds were sold in September 1956 and the first customer turned on the tap in January 17, 1957. Today there are about 150 users of Avon Township Water System No. 1.

Residents of Romeo Stage 'Follies'

ROMEO — The air will be filled with music here on Saturday when some 100 talented residents present a sparkling musical revue "The Romeo Follies," in the auditorium of Romeo High School. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m.

The production is being staged to raise funds for the new Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center now under construction across the road from the Memorial Stadium.

Termed an "outstanding example of all-out community effort," the Follies will feature a cast of amateurs which has been rehearsing for several months under professional direction. There will be vocal numbers by men's and women's choruses as well as solos, duets and trios by performers drawn from all walks of life in the community.

A spot in the original script has been reserved for a native of Jamaica, Aubrey McKenzie, who will sing authentic Calypso songs. He will accompany himself on his electric guitar, and percussion instruments from the islands will provide the proper beat.

General chairman of the revue is Mrs. Ralph J. Toles assisted by Mrs. H. O. Evans Jr. Production manager is Mrs. H. T. Cummiskey who has rounded up a sizeable crew to handle the work behind the scenes.

Arthur Snook, former Romeo resident, will be the pianist, and local high school band director E. C. Ojala will direct the orchestra.

Tickets are still on sale at the Peppermint Stick, The Peerless Cafe, Perkins Dress Shop, Sam's Shoe Store and Eggleston's. They will also be available at the door the night of the performance.

GETTING THE BEAT — "The Romeo Follies," to be held Saturday will feature Aubrey McKenzie, pictured here, a native of Jamaica, who will sing authentic Calypso songs. About 100 talented amateurs from Romeo will participate in this production to benefit the Community Youth and Civic Center fund.

Committees Polish Up Apple Campaign

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Agricultural committees from Kiwanis Clubs in Oakland County will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 27, to discuss the part they will play in pushing a "Buy Michigan Apples" campaign. Meeting place has not been determined.

The decision to hold a joint meeting to decide upon a definite project was decided at a kickoff program held Wednesday in West Bloomfield Township Hall.

Speakers of the evening included Ralph F. Forman, chairman of the Michigan State Apple Commission; and Edward H. Erwin, president of Michigan Apple Growers and Storage Association.

Forman cited ideas adopted by the commission to push the use of Michigan apples at home, while Erwin indicated that apple growers would take an active part in any Michigan apple project adopted by Kiwanis Clubs.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, consumer marketing information agent for Oakland County, reported that the County Cooperative Extension Service would be willing to assist Kiwanians to reach the following objectives:

1. More efficient merchandising (store displays, etc.).
2. More efficient marketing (distribution and care of apples).
3. Greater use of apples.

Indians Attack 2 U.S. Women

Village Mob Takes Pair for Child Kidnapers; No Protest Planned

NEW DELHI (INS)—Two American women employes of a technical cooperation mission were recaptured today in an Ahmedabad hospital after being attacked by a village mob which mistook them for kidnapers.

★ ★ ★

Miss Alice McKinney and Miss Dorothy Barbee and their Indian driver were beaten by villagers on the road between Junagadh and Ahmedabad Friday. The villagers suspected the travelers after being frightened by persistent reports of child kidnaping. A village headmaster and headman finally restored order and the crowd apologized for its mistake.

Miss McKinney suffered a broken wrist, fractured finger, head and arm lacerations. Miss Barbee suffered a broken rib and bruises and lacerations.

★ ★ ★

An American Embassy spokesman termed the incident "unfortunate" but said the embassy did not propose to protest because it did not feel Indian government could be blamed.

Ava and Frankie Divorce Delayed Till He Gets Word

MEXICO CITY (INS) — Getting official word to Frank Sinatra that sultry Ava Gardner has filed a divorce suit appeared today to be the only stumbling block to a speedy legal decree ending the marriage of the two stars.

Ava's attorneys filed the divorce action in Mexico City last week to end the often headlined union of the tempestuous singer and his wife of six years.

Sinatra's lawyer said today his client probably would not contest the action, confirming an earlier report from friends of the singer that he would not block Ava's attempt to get the decree in quick-acting Mexico.

A civil judge advised Ava's attorney to submit Sinatra's current address so that he may be officially notified of the suit. Attorney Raul De Villa Franca Rabaza said he couldn't furnish the address, however, and suggested the court obtain it from Sinatra's counsel, Francisco Lopez Figueroa.

SEPARATED FOR YEARS

State Ends Examination

Group Considers Wixom Charter

WIXOM—The proposed charter for the incorporation of Wixom as a village is now back in the hands of the Charter Commission after a careful examination by state officials.

Kenneth S. Rocker, chairman of the commission, revealed that the charter has been signed by Governor Williams, marking the final step that precedes a special election on July 15.

On that date Wixom voters will approve or reject the charter along with electing a village president and a village commission. If the charter is approved, the village president and commissioners will assume office immediately.

Today is the deadline for registration of Wixom voters for the July election. Wixom residents may register at the Voorheis-Cox real estate agency, 131 N. Wixom Rd., until 8 tonight.

It was agreed that one possibility would be for subdividers to construct a drainage ditch in the affected area. Subdividers indicate they will comply with the request if gravel is furnished by the Oakland County Road Commission, according to Township Clerk Harry Helvey.

Drainage is needed in the Lake Sherwood subdivisions Nos. 1 and 2 where an artificial lake has been constructed. Water seeps through a dam located near Sleeth road.

The board also decided to purchase a 40-foot lot between the township hall and Commerce Township Fire Station No. 2 from Fred Zimmerman for $400.

In other action, board members approved a proposal to paint Commerce Fire Station No. 2 and to erect identification letters on the front of the building.

The board authorized purchase of an electric hot water heater and a two-way communication system for Commerce Fire Station No. 2 along with the purchase of a two-way radio for the fire chief's car.

Jilted Student Rams His Auto in Suicide Try

CHICAGO (INS) — A 19-year-old Yale University student, jilted by his pretty girl friend, escaped serious injury last night when he rammed his hardtop convertible into a tree in an apparent suicide attempt.

★ ★ ★

"I don't want to live," the student, Jeffery Kahn, reportedly told witnesses who pulled him from the wreck, which occurred in Winnetka, a Chicago suburb.

Police said the smashup took place after Kahn had gone to see his girl, Miss Betsy Garner of Winnetka, who refused to receive him and sent word that "we are through."

★ ★ ★

Kahn was taken to an Evanston, Ill., hospital where doctors reported him suffering abrasions of the arms and legs, but apparently no really serious injuries.

Police said he would be charged today with destruction of public property.

Seeks Money for Post Office

Senator to Propose Bill Letting Mails Borrow $2 Billion From Fund

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said today he plans to introduce legislation shortly "which would authorize the postmaster general to borrow the sum of two billion dollars from the Federal Employes' Retirement Fund."

In a copyrighted article in "U. S. News & World Report," Johnston said: "The American people are entitled to the best postal service in the world. They are not getting it today.

"What's more, service will deteriorate further if (Postmaster General Arthur) Summerfield carries out his newest threat to close post offices on Saturday, and curtail operations in other aeras. The morale of postal employes is at its lowest ebb."

★ ★ ★

Johnston, chairman of the Senate committee on post office and civil service, said: "This plan would offer an immediate solution to the post office department's problems and provide the necessary funds for a sweeping modernization and building program."

Post Office Robbery Is $145 in Lakeville

LAKEVILLE — Post office officials report a theft of $145 after discovering a breakin here Saturday. Mail was also opened and strewn in the building, presumably to look for checks, they said.

It is estimated that the crime occured about 2 a.m. Police say it might be the same persons responsible for the Feb. 17 robbery of the same building.

Faces 8 Days in Jail for Stoplight Accident

A Dearborn youth was ordered to serve eight days in the Oakland County Jail Friday for running a red light and causing an accident and injury to a Pontiac policeman June 10.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. Mc Callum ordered Vincent A. De Paulis, 18, of 20000 Highland Dr. to jail after the boy pleaded guilty and failed to pay a $40 fine.

The complainant, Officer James L. Ockerman, was treated for minor injuries and then released from Pontiac General Hospital following the two-car collision as S. Saginaw and Whittemore St.

SEOUL (AP)—A ferry overloaded with 82 persons sank off the southwest tip of Korea today. Seven persons were drowned and two are missing.

Warn Farmers About Blackleg

Nation's Biggest Killer of Cattle Will Arrive if Not Watched

With the arrival of the blackleg season, authorities today warned cattle raisers to be on the alert for this disease, and to employ protective vaccination in danger areas.

The American Foundation for Animal Health pointed out that the threat of blackleg increases with the arrival of the pasture season. The disease is one of the nation's greatest killers of cattle. It most often strikes animals under two years of age. The best safeguard against it is vaccination.

Farmers who had their calves vaccinated at one or two weeks of age should have them re-vaccinated again by the veterinarian by the time they are four months old.

Blackleg spores are very difficult to kill. The organisms that cause the disease live in the soil and are resistant to heat, cold, drought or floods.

In areas where the disease has occurred before, all calves should be vaccinated by a veterinarian each year, the Foundation suggests.

Finishes at MSU With 3.9 Average

MARLETTE — Graduating recently from Michigan State University was David Boyne, one of seven to finish with a near perfect "A" average. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Boyne, he had a 3.9 scholastic standing and was a major in Dairy Husbandry. He plans to further his education in this field.

U. of M. Eyes Radar During Graduation

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A modern touch was added to the traditional cap and gown ceremony at University of Michigan commencement Saturday.

★ ★ ★

From noon until after the ceremonies began at 5 p.m., the radar spotters scanned their sets, reporting directly to administration officials on the weather picture over a 200-mile range.

They sighted storm lines in Indiana and Ohio but saw no storm center approaching Michigan. Some 6,000 graduates received degrees in Michigan Stadium without a hitch.

The university was acting on experience. Three years ago the massed graduates were soaked by sudden rain. Threatening weather last year crowded the ceremonies inside Yost Fieldhouse.

Lightning Bolt Kills Trio in Pennsylvania

SCRANTON, Pa (AP)—A single bolt of lightning killed three men yesterday and injured three others after rain drove them from a game of golf to the shelter of an oak tree.

Eleven doctors playing on the crowded Scranton Country Club course hurried to the scene. They found three golfers already dead. Another golfer and two caddies were burned severely and suffering shock.

Birchard, 60, Scranton, a dentist; Frederick DeWilde, 62, Clark's Summit, Pa., a co-owner of Pine Brooke Iron Works, Dunmore, Pa.; and John W. Whitmore, 58, Scranton, an insurance executive.

Bob Considine Says:

Sherm Sets Fine Example for U.N.

NEW YORK (INS)—Congrats to Sherman Billingsley. With U.N. disarmament talks at a stalemate in London, he reduced his arsenal by 75 per cent. Let's hope it breaks the ice between Hal Stassen and Val Zorin.

The poor old doll who starved herself to death the other day, with half a million dollars lying around, succeeded where certain diet-conscious gals we know—some with lots more dough—have barely failed.

Benito Collada, owner of New Yorks' oldest night spot under single management, El Chico, complains to Mayor Wagner as follows:

"While I sympathize fully with your concern in preventing the Giants and Dodgers from moving out of town, I suggest you devote some attention to a long-standing situation which is driving night life out of town, too.

"New York is fast becoming a hick town. Over the past years, prohibitive amusement taxes, 20 per cent federal and 5 per cent city—have been largely responsible for numerous casualties, including the Diamond Horseshoe, Le Martinique, Leon and Eddie's La Conga, Beachcomber, Havana Madrid and, more recently, Vie en Rose and the Versailles."

Saw a fine thing recently. Lt. Gen. Rosy O'Donnell, one of the fightingest men in our military history, returned to Lou Marx's suite at the Waldorf after speaking at a Circus Saints and Sinners luncheon in the same hotel.

There was a large crowd there ready to tell him what a fine talk he had made, but the general walked immediately to his father, clapped him fondly on the back and kissed him on the cheek.

It's a gesture that seems to be dying out, this matter of sons giving the old man a buss. A pity, too. I'll never forget one night around a campfire in California, up from San Francisco, when Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. arrived from Washington as his father was telling some fabulous anecdote from the past.

The world-famous father and son embraced and kissed, with no thought of self-consciousness. Nor should there be any.

Mrs. Charlie Wilson's husband, the secretary of defense, has given countless press conferences in his day, on and off the record (and sometimes the twain shall meet.) No one had defended Charlie more loyally and vigorously, right or wrong, than Mrs. Wilson.

Yet she never attended one of these scrambles until last Wednesday when, on board the USS Canberra at the naval review, she learned her husband was about to entertain the press in the admiral's lounge, and walked right in with the working stiffs.

Composer of Hits Dies in California

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Chris M. Schonberg, pianist and composer whose hits include "Darling," "Neath a Blanket of Stars" and "It Was on a Night Like This" died yesterday at the age of 66.

He was stricken at his home with what doctors said was a coronary thrombosis.

He was credited with having the first night club orchestra in Los Angeles and the first orchestra to play in the Cocoanut Grove when the night club opened in 1921.

India's National Employment Service will have employment exchanges in large cities particularly to handle employment of youths and juveniles, New Delhi reports.

Hollywood Headlines

Dawn Addams Signs Up for Film About Frogman

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Although star Laurence Harvey and producer Jimmy Woolf are in Hollywood making a releasing deal for their movie, "The Silent Enemy," they signed Dawn Addams via a transatlantic telephone call to Rome for the femme lead.

Dawn, the former American actress now happily married to Prince Massimo, hasn't made such an important picture since the birth of her baby.

This thrilling story is based on the controversial "spy" case of Lionel Crabb, the frogman who was last known to be scouting the waters under the Russian ship which brought the Red leaders to England. Crabb was never seen again.

Recently a headless corpse was found which is supposed to be Crabb. First, the British government, and more recently the U.S.A., have heatedly denied charges that he was spying for either John Bull or Uncle Sam.

Sophia Loren's discoverer, Carlo Ponti, arrives in Hollywood tomorrow to wait while she finishes "Desire Under the Elms." He'll accompany her back to Italy where she must go in order to get a new work permit.

I don't know how she is going to make another picture, but Ponti is bringing with him "Blaze of the Sun," a novel by Jean Hougron, for Sophia. She has "Stella" to make with Bill Holden and heaven knows how many other stories, but if Ponti thinks this is right for her, I'm sure she'll do it.

Ponti, contracted to make films for Paramount release, will discuss this deal with the top brass.

MARLENE WANTED

If Marlene Dietrich wants to star in the stage version of "The Blue Angel," the picture she made in Germany with Joseph von Sternberg directing, and which made her famous, the job is hers.

Leland Hayward has extended her an offer to come to Broadway for the 1958 season. That would probably be after Marilyn Monroe makes the movie version of "Blue Angel" for 20th Century-Fox.

Dietrich is going stronger than any woman of her years I know. She is now here for "Witness for the Prosecution" and her next definite assignment is in Las Vegas.

Joan Collins should be home from "Stopover Tokyo" in Tokyo today or tomorrow after a stopover in Honolulu for a rest. But an interesting letter she wrote before leaving Japan precedes the brunette belle.

She writes, "Everyone was very excited today when Group Capt. Peter Townsend came on the set for what we were told would be a short visit—and stayed all day he was so engrossed in the filming! He is a completely charming man and so liked by everyone.

"I'm sure he will be very popular when he reaches the U.S.A." is the way Joan describes the former love in the life of Princess Margaret.

NO HOLIDAY

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: It was no "Holiday in Paris" for song writer Jimmy Van Heusen. He was in the American Hospital in Paris with a slipped disc, and now he's back home in St. John Hospital.

TV star Lois Collier and attorney Paul Schriebman announced their engagement last night at a small party. They will be married in the fall.

Victoria Shaw, one of the stars of "The Eddy Duchin Story," is spending most of her time in bed. She expects her baby next month. Meanwhile, Roger Smith, her husband, does his best job to date in "Operation Madball."

Nice to see Eddie Robinson happy again. He and Jane Adler, a successful businesswoman, were the guests of the Josh Logans at the premiere of "Island in the Sun." Something tells me Jane and Eddie will marry when he's free.

Say Cuban Youths Caused 3 Deaths

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban authorities have accused rebel youths of staging a weekend of terror in Santiago de Cuba that caused three deaths.

★ ★ ★

Officials charged the three victims were killed by youths allied with Fidel Castro's insurrection movement. The southeast Cuba city is in the center of insurgent territory.

One victim, hospital director Norberto Machin, was shot by three youths who went to his home asking medical aid. Another, night club owner Pedro Luis Rodriguez, was shot to death in his establishment. The third victim, an unidentified soldier, was killed by two youths in a bus.

★ ★ ★

Col. Ramon Cruz Vidal, commander of government forces at Santiago, appealed to civic leaders to "mobilize against the terrorists."

Ratify Atomic Charter

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's National Assembly today unanimously ratified the charter of the International Atomic Energy Agency. It also recommended setting up a Korean national institute for the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

After Fleeing Floods

St. Louis Refugees Return

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Refugees from St. Louis area flash floods continued to return to their muddy homes today. Nineteen persons were dead and several million dollars damage likely.

In Belleville, Ill., a city of 35,000 across the Mississippi from St. Louis, the water supply for some 15,000 homes and businesses was curtailed after the rupturing of a 24-inch main.

★ ★ ★

Unofficially, 13.75 inches of rain fell there.

A record-smashing 8.72 inches fell on St. Louis in just 13½ hours and forced 3,590 persons to evacuate.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

In East St. Louis, Ill., a city of 90,000 about 1,000 scrambled out of their houses when the rains came. That city was reported "drying out."

Alton, Ill., with 30,000 inhabitants, was hard hit as were smaller communities on the Illinois side of the river.

In Lemay, a south St. Louis County suburb, police esimated damage at a million dollars. Belleville and Lemay were the only cities where damage figures were stated.

★ ★ ★

Pace Still Quiet on Grain Market

Many traders are inclined to avoid new market positions until after the farm vote on wheat marketing quotas Thursday. If the farmers should reject quotas, price supports would drop drastically.

Near the end of the first hour new style wheat was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, July $2.03⅛; corn ¼ lower to ; higher, July $1.29¼; oats unchanged to ½ higher, July 64½; rye unchanged to ½ higher, July $1.18¾; soybeans ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, July $2.31¼ and lard unchanged to five cents a hundred pounds lower, July $12.47.

A purse containing about $76 and another containing approximately one dollar were taken from the home of Clarence Welch, of 31 W. A small bank containing more than $13 in change was taken from the home of Jimmy Bell, 158 Whittemore St., between 2 and 10 a.m. Sunday. Entrance was gained through an unlocked kitchen door according to police.

Sun Bather Run Over

BRIGHTON (AP) — Drowsily stretched out sunbathing at nearby Pleasant Lake yesterday, Harry Heatley got a jolt when an automobile passed over his body. Irregular Highs Dot Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregularly higher in early trading today.

Key stocks rose from fractions to around a point. There was a good assortment of fractional losers.

A number of stocks stayed unchanged. The trend was slightly higher among oils, steels and chemicals. Motors were mixed. Most leading rails were unchanged to lower.

★ ★ ★

Coppers were mainly on the downside as news came of declines in the price of copper in world markets. Steel shares were bolstered somewhat by reported prospects of increased buying of steel by the automotive industry in the next month or two.

After some easing on Friday, the market was hovering in the vicinity of its newest 1957 highs, reached in three vigorous rises last week.

Among fractional gainers were Bethlehem and Lukens Steel, Chrysler, Boeing, United Aircraft, Texas Co., Standard Oil (New Jersey), Sinclair, American Cyanamid, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide and Du Pont.

Anaconda was down around a point and Kennecott a fraction. Other losers were Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Douglas Aircraft, Ford and Consolidated Edison.

Township Clerk Flushes Hydrants After Complaints

Complaints of rusty water in the Huron Gardens Subdivision, Waterford Township, Saturday, resulted in an all-night fire hydrant flushing job for Waterford Township Clerk James Seeterlin.

He reported that 12 hydrants were flushed and the remainder of the more than 100 outlets will be flushed this week.

Seeterlin has charge of the water department and has no one else to do the job, so he does it himself. He also is a volunteer fireman.

The work is being done at night to avoid conflict with peak use hours, he said.

Refuses to Sign With Teamsters

Truck Owner Picketing Pontiac Local Holds Out for Member Rule

A picketing member of Pontiac Teamsters Local 614 today said he would refuse to sign a union contract until "Jimmy Hoffa turns over the local to rank-and-file members."

Local officers charge Frank J. Bryant, 44, of 248 W. Hopkins Ave., with owning trucks and refusing to sign a contract.

Over the weekend, the local filed a 10-day strike notice against Bryant with the State Labor Mediation Board. They asked assistance in trying to reach a contract settlement with Bryant.

He threatened to sell his three gravel trucks, which he says he has operated since 1944, "before I'll sign anything with that local."

Floyd Harmon, business agent for the local, said it was the local's practice to sign contracts with truckers regardless of how big a business they did.

Bryant has been a member of Local 614 since 1938.

He is one of a rank-and-file committee which has been attempting to gain an election from among their members, and to end the 3½-year trusteeship of James R. Hoffa over the union.

The committee's men have been picketing the hall at 1410 S. Telegraph Rd. since last Tuesday.

In Italy
Tornado, Floods Kill 14

PAVIA, Italy (AP)—North Italy today counted at least 14 dead in a rare one-two weather punch of floods and tornado.

The tornado, unusual in this part of Europe, killed eight persons yesterday as it ripped through the villages of Passo Valle Scuro and Robecco Pavese. Another 60 were hospitalized.

Four persons were drowned in week-old floods of the Po, Cenischia, Dora and Stura rivers rampaging over a large part of northern Italy. Two others died in the flood waters last week.

★ ★ ★

The twister flattened farm buildings and stone cottages in the two villages.

At Passo Valle Scuro an entire family—father, mother and three sons—were killed in the collapse of their home.

At neighboring Robecco Pavese some 200 of the 800 inhabitants were leaving church after a late Mass when the tornado approached.

★ ★ ★

Most rushed home but a few took refuge in the church cellar. The wind funnel struck the church head on minutes later, snapping the bell tower off. It crashed through the roof but hurt no one. Villagers said had the twister arrived a few minutes earlier, it would have caught the crowd at Mass.

One man was hurtled 250 yards through the air. He was picked up critically injured.

Two Matches Left When Fisherman Saved in Pacific

MONTEREY, Calif (AP) — "Two lousy matches" saved a commercial fisherman from the Pacific after five days adrift in his disabled salmon troller.

"I was down to two lousy matches," said Jack Coats, Eureka, Calif., when rescued before dawn yesterday. "But I was ready."

Afted drifting 100 miles through fog and heavy seas, Coats, 32, soaked his shirt in gasoline and waved it for a flare. That was at 1 a. m. yesterday morning when he saw the lights of the destroyer George Anderson bearing down on him 22 miles off Monterey.

Even though he had consumed only raw fish, a nubbin of mouldy bread, five vitamin pills and two quarts of brackish water left over from last season, he refused to leave his boat, the Gojoc. The Anderson kept him under her floodlights until a Coast Guard cutter arrived to tow him to port.

The Coast Guard searched the sea with three cutters and two planes. Fishermen were alerted, but he scudded rapidly southward before a strong wind through heavy seas and fog.

Marx Program 'Slogging Along'

Comedian Quizmaster Plans No Changes in 'You Bet Your Life'

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Groucho Marx, confessed perpetrator of "the oldest show with the oldest jokes on television," is one comedian who can ponder the future without hearing bells that aren't ringing.

★ ★ ★

Whatever fate befalls his low-paying (to the contestants) NBC question-and-answer session "You Bet Your Life" in this era of astronomical quiz payoffs, the well-heeled Groucho has no intention of letting his central nervous system get decentralized.

GROUCHO

He isn't crazy about working anyway.

"The only news about me," he said pointedly, "is that I survived this season. It'll be even bigger news if I survive next season.

"There won't be any changes in our show. We just go slogging along year after year—until the people catch on. They haven't yet, and no one is more surprised than I am."

★ ★ ★

If the people do "catch on" someday, he shrugged, he may try another TV show—and then again he may not.

"It would depend on what type of show it was, I suppose," he went on with a typical lack of concern for the things people are supposed to worry about.

"I'm not going to do like Caesar and Skelton and Gleason, if that's what you mean. I don't want to work that hard. In fact, I'm not crazy about working at all."

★ ★ ★

All of this is not to say, however, that "The Grouch" is eyeing retirement, even though, at 61, he is nearing the accepted retirement age.

AND WHAT ELSE?

"I'll never retire," he snorted. "If I quit acting, I'll become a writer. Why? Because I have a typewriter and three ballpoint pens. What else do you need?"

★ ★ ★

Groucho believes television has entered "the age of the singer," in which the comedian will be relegated to brief "spots" on the air from the dominant position he has held unfil recently.

But this causes him little personal anxiety because his two major interests in life nowadays are a $250,000 home he is building and the budding theatrical tendencies of his daughter Melinda, 10.

The cozy little three-bedroom house, which he calls fondly "Marx's Folly," grew out of his wife's desire for a sunken bathtub and his inability to fit such an appliance into their present, two-story home.

"I'm enthusiastic about her going into show business," he said seriously, a rare mood with Groucho. "It's no guarantee of happiness, but what is? She still may wind up marrying some guy pumping gas in an independent station.

"I put her on my show once a year. I could do it more often because we get lots of mail on her, but I want her to go to school and so forth. Anyway, I'm not sure it's the best route for her to have an indulgent father easing her along."

Pontiac Man Appeals Illegal Liquor Verdict

After being found guilty of selling liquor without a Michigan State Liquor License, Thursday, Red Anderson, 54, of 153½ Wesson St., appealed his sentence to Circuit Court.

Anderson was ordered by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum to pay a $100 fine plus 30 days in jail or a 50 day sentence.

After appealing the case, he was freed on a $500 bond until he appears in the higher court June 24. He was arrested by the Pontiac Police Vice Squad May 7.

Man Jailed for Leaving Rubbish on Premises

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan found a 54-year-old Fern avenue resident guilty of keeping a public nuisance by accumulating junk on the premises and ordered him to spend 90 days in the Oakland County Jail.

★ ★ ★

Felix Hooks was committed to the jail after he failed to clean up the rubbish conditions on the premises since a complaint was signed by Pontiac City Sanitarian Charles Cohen last March.

There's No Romance but He'd Like Some

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Ava Gardner's supposed Italian boy friend, Walter Chiari, is denying there's a romance—but wishing there was.

★ ★ ★

"Ees nothing!" he insisted. "I would defend our private life together if we had any, but I can't even pretend. Ava is a marvelous girl," he added "with many wonderful defects."

WALTER CHIARI

Here for some TV shows, Chiari hoped he wouldn't be too good.

"I fear the consequences of success," he said. "I would then have to work too hard. I don't like money, I don't like clothes, I don't like new cars. Only one thing I like: girls!"

Threatens Remaining Arab Unity
Egypt-Jordan Rift Widens

AMMAN (AP)— Jordan's strained relations with Egypt widened further today as she moved to close her embassy in Cairo.

★ ★ ★

The latest move in the mounting feud between Jordan and the Egyptian-Syrian alliance threatened to dissolve what little remains of the Arab unity proclaimed in Cairo four months ago by Egyptian President Nasser, Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly and Kings Hussein of Jordan and Saud of Saudi Arabia.

★ ★ ★

Announcing yesterday that the embassy was being closed, Jordan Foreign Minister Samir Rifai asserted this did not mean breaking "political relations" with Nasser's government. But he acknowledged that all employes were being recalled.

★ ★ ★

Egyptian officials in Cairo would not say whether Egypt would retaliate by closing her embassy in Amman. It was considered significant Egypt's new envoy to Amman has not taken up his post as scheduled a month ago.

★ ★ ★

The controlled Egyptian press made plain, however, King Hussein's rift with Nasser would cost him Egypt's share of the annual 36-million-dollar Arab subsidy promised him when Jordan broke her defense pact with Britain.

Syria already has made known she is reneging on her share of the deal. Only king Saud of Saudi Arabia has stood by the agreement. Saudi Arabia and Egypt each promised to pay Jordan 14 million dollars. Syria agreed to pay eight million.

Promises to Tell Japan's Desires

Prime Minister Kishi Heading for Conference With Ike, Other Officials

By GENE KRAMER

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi flew to the United States today after promising to tell President Eisenhower "what is really wanted by the Japanese people."

Before taking off from Tokyo, the 60-year-old Premier told 3,000 cheering members of his Liberal Democratic party he hoped his two-week visit would "prepare the way for a new era of friendly relations between Japan and the United States."

★ ★ ★

The crowd waved Japanese and American flags and banners carrying such slogans as: "Banzai Japan-American Friendship" and "Return Okinawa and the Bonin Islands."

There was no mention of the Girard case, which has embittered recent U.S.-Japanese relations.

Kishi said in a prepared statement that "the purpose of my visit is to hold a frank exchange of views with President Eisenhower and other high officials of the United States government on matters of common interest and concern to both countries and to tell them candidly what is really wanted by the Japanese people."

★ ★ ★

He is taking to Washington a 30-page white paper giving a complete picture on the present setup of Japan's Communist party, which has shrunk to 45,000 members—less than half what it was in 1950.

Debate Entering Atomic Group

Senate Seen Approving of U.S. Membership in World Nuclear Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate opens debate today on whether to approve U.S. membership in the new International Atomic Energy Agency. A victory for President Eisenhower apparently was assured.

The proposed 80-nation agency stems from Eisenhower's "atoms-for-peace" speech to the United Nations in 1953.

Most of the once-strong opposition appears to have been dissipated by the exhaustive Foreign Relations Committee hearings and by an "interpretation and understanding" written by the committee into its resolution of ratification.

Under this interpretation, the United States would be able to quit the agency any time other member nations vote to amend its basic charter in a way not acceptable to the Senate.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, one of those raising questions about the treaty, said after the committee action he was confident the pact would get the necessary two-thirds vote.

★ ★ ★

TV Is Riling Prisoners; Sheriff's Unhappy, Too

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sheriff Owen Kilday has warned county jail prisoners that he's going to crack down on them — hard—if they don't straighten up and act nice.

He sent word that if any more television sets are damaged in riots, prisoners will not be allowed to see "Dragnet," "The Lineup" or any other TV programs.

Repair bills last month came to $38.

Lovelorn Mayor Wins OK to Wed School Marm

REGGIO CALABRIA, Italy (AP)—A lovelorn mayor has won permission to marry the dark-eyed school marm he carried off to the mountains last week.

Police dropped the case after 28-year-old Francesca Zavittieri and Pietro Nucera, 40-year-old mayor of Roghudi, said they made for the hills in hopes of breaking her family's resistance to the match.

Nucera and several comrades staged the "abduction" in which she cooperated. They waylaid Francesca and someone fired a pistol as the couple fled to the hills.

Police received an anonymous note yesterday saying they could find Francesca in a cave on the Aspromonte (Harsh Mountain). They found her and later Nucera strolled into the Reggio police station.

Francesca's family finally gave their blessing and announced that the wedding will be held soon.

Deaf-Mute Girl Jamaica-Bound

Plans to Remain There as Missionary 'As Long as God Wants Me To'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—An attrac- J. Weber, of Cleveland, was elect- woman plans to leave in Septem- ber for Jamaica, British West Indies, to begin a career as the first deaf-mute missionary for the Christian Deaf Fellowship.

"I will stay as long as the Lord wants me to stay," says Miss Paula Montgomery in sign language.

She says she made her decision for Christ in 1951 and started a career devoted to religion. Miss Montgomery was ordained a minister shortly before she came to Grand Rapids last week for the Triennial Interdenominational Convention of the Christian Deaf Fellowship.

She says she will join Rev. and Mrs. Willis Ethridge in Kingston, Jamaica, in establishing an rehabilitation center for the native deaf who cannot communicate with others since they cannot read, write, lip-read or "sign."

U. of M. Accepts $845

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The University of Michigan Board of Regents has accepted $845 from miscellaneous donors for the establishment of the Guy H. Jenkins Memorial Scholarships Fund. The scholarships will aid students of journalism. Jenkins was the longtime Lansing bureau chief of Booth newspapers before his death earlier this year.

Funds totaling $12,700 have been made available by private citizens to the Australian National University in Canberra for more research on rabbit control.
