More Americans Kidnaped in Raid by Cuban Rebels

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A rebel raiding party kidnaped four more Americans in eastern Cuba today.

Two U.S. diplomats sought the release of 41 other Americans and 3 Canadians seized since Thursday.

The four were abducted by rebels from a United Fruit Co. sugar plantation at Guaro, near Preston, on the northeast coast of Oriente province.

Company officials said the rebels entered sleeping quarters of the combination sugar mill and agricultural experiment station about midnight.

Nab Ex-Golfer in Wild Chase

More Than 12 Police Cars Chase Speeder; 2 Officers Injured

A former professional golfer, Art Pomy, of East Detroit, led more than a dozen police cars on a wild 25-mile chase from Royal Oak to Pontiac on Woodward Ave. early today.

Pomy's car was finally slowed by a police bullet which hit the right front tire. But the speeding car didn't come to a stop before striking a Pontiac police car and injuring two officers.

Pomy, 46, of 16160 Tootle St., told police, "I don't know why I did it." He was held for investigation of reckless driving, said officers.

The chase began at Catalpa St. and Woodward Ave. when two Berkeley patrol cars noticed Pomy's car speeding northward on Woodward.

The two Berkeley patrol cars were joined by five from Royal Oak, three from Birmingham, and two each from Ferndale, Bloomfield Township and Pontiac.

The chase went north on Woodward to South Blvd. and then turned southward back to Berkeley at speeds of 120 miles an hour, said police. Some 50 shots were fired at Pomy's car, four of them plus a shotgun blast striking the vehicle.

The injured patrolmen, William L. Hargraves and Leroy E. Hartman, were treated for lacerations of the hands and arms at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Also involved in the chase were Pontiac policemen Dallas J. Fleisher and James L. Batchelor.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The following letter to the editor appeared in yesterday's edition of the Kansas City Star:

"I paid my first fine today. It was an overripe illegal parking ticket.

Adams Probe Chairman Calls Closed Meeting

Congressman Charges Group Allowed Fox to Defame Goldfine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) called his House investigating subcommittee into a closed-door strategy session today, and predicted members from both parties would back the present course.

Public hearings were recessed until tomorrow.

Millionaire Bernard Goldfine of Boston appears then to reply to charges that, as a friend of presidential aide Sherman Adams, he received preferential treatment from federal regulatory agencies.

Harris said the subcommittee wanted to talk over charges made in the House yesterday by Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) that the group violated a House rule by allowing a witness publicly to defame others.

Curtis demanded creation of a special three-man committee to decide whether the rule had been violated, but he was ruled out of order.

It was learned that records subpoenaed from a Washington hotel confirm that both Goldfine and John Fox, principal accuser of Adams and Goldfine, were registered there on the 1955 day of a conversation about which Fox testified. Fox quoted Goldfine as saying Adams was going to help Goldfine out with the Federal Trade Commission.

But the records do not prove whether the statement was made. Both Adams and Goldfine have denied it outside the hearing room.

In Pittsburgh where he was to appear in U.S. District Court today on a private business matter, Fox issued a statement saying:

"I predict that Bernard Goldfine, when he appears as a witness before the House subcommittee... will refuse to produce the books and records which have been subpoenaed by the committee."

Change in Sight for Flag's Blue Field

A STAR IS BORN — When Alaska becomes the 49th state of the Union, after a vote in the territory accepting the action of Congress in admitting Alaska, this is the way Old Glory probably will look. Former Alaskan governor, Ernest Gruening, points to the 49th star on this flag at Alaskan Statehood headquarters in Washington.

Bonfires, Golden Rivers Signal End of 42-Year Fight for Admission

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Alaska emerged onto the threshold of statehood today to a sunburst of predictions it will open a vast new frontier for expansion of America's population and wealth.

Delirious statehood supporters, their 42-year fight nearly over, could hardly believe it when the senate passed the statehood bill last night by an overwhelming 64-20 vote.

Unprecedented celebrations broke out in Alaska where a river was dyed gold, bonfires roared skyward and a beauty queen astride a fire ladder pinned a 49th star on a 40-by-60-foot American flag.

Administration sources said President Eisenhower is certain to sign the bill, a major triumph for one of the top items on his legislative agenda.

The House previously passed the bill and the Senate vote sent it to the White House.

The territory still must approve statehood in a referendum this fall. But this was labeled a "sure thing" by statehood backers. A proclamation by the President after the referendum will formally complete the statehood process—probably in December.

Proposals are already pouring in for designs for the new flag which will have 49 stars. A commission appointed either by the President or Congress probably will be set up to choose the design. The new flag would go into official use July 4, 1959.

Alaska's prospective statehood was seen as vastly enhancing Hawaii's chances of entering the Union as the 50th state, although probably not before next year at the earliest.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-NY), a leading backer of the Alaskan bill, said he was certain the Senate Interior Committee of which he is a member will approve a Hawaiian statehood bill a week from tomorrow.

But he expressed doubt of the wisdom of seeking Hawaii action before next year. There were murmurings of Senate action also this year but the best guess was that Hawaii would have to wait at least until 1959.

Alaska, more than twice the size of Texas, would be by far the nation's biggest state—in fact its 586,400 square miles equal one-fifth the size of the continental United States. Its population however it would be the smallest state, its 215,000 persons fall well below Nevada, now lowest with 256,000.

It would also plunk a state right on Russia's doorstep. Alaska's little Diomed Island is only 2.4 miles from Big Diomed owned by Russia, from whom the United States bought Alaska for $7,200,000 90 years ago.

Did June Seem Wet to You? Wasn't Really—Ask Farmers

It may have seemed like it rained almost every other day during June, but it wasn't as bad as all that — it just seemed that way because we've had so little rain in the previous months.

Six-month totals for 1958 and 1957 show the past six months well below 1957 rainfall totals.

Those welcomed drops last month totaled 2.69 inches compared to 3.52 inches in the 1957 June.

Yet, we had exactly twice as many days of rain (36) last year from January to June, as we did this year (18) and... the rainfall was more than twice the amount at this time last year.

The figures to date for 1957 was 10.71 inches of precipitation compared with 4.64 inches this year.

June this year was quite a bit cooler than the last one. The thermometer scooted up to 90 degrees compared to 78.10 in 1957 and the average low of these two months also indicates a cooler spell. 53.46 degrees in June, 1958 and 58.89 in 1957.

The amount and frequency of rain was negligible to farmers and gardeners but, the sportsmen with racquet, club or tow rope in hand had pretty good weather to test their athletic skills.

Yesterday, the last day of the month, was the warmest when the

Talks Launched on Nuclear Ban

East Meeting West on How to Assure Against Further Tests

GENEVA (AP)—East-West technical talks on how to guard against violations of a ban on atomic weapon tests open today with the week-old threat of a Soviet boycott apparently cleared away.

Preparations for the conference had been overshadowed by fear that the Soviets would back out because the United States refused to agree in advance that a ban on tests was the goal of the meeting.

The United States contended that the conference must be devoted only to the technical, scientific questions of insuring compliance with a test ban. The Americans said any agreement to ban tests must be worked out in political talks later.

The Soviet delegation finally stated yesterday it fully intended to take part in the talks. The outlook for the conference became even brighter after a meeting between U. S. chief delegate James B. Fisk and Yevgeni K. Fedorov, head of the Soviet group.

Both delegation leaders predicted success for the talks, which they said would stay on the technical level. This indicated that the conference might avoid the stumbling block of political problems.

City Hospital Ends Case Against Dr. Sullenberger

By PETE LOCHBILER

After clashing with two of Pontiac General Hospital's top physicians, Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger last night began his defense against charges by the medical staff that he disrupted efficient administration of the hospital.

With testimony by Dr. John J. Marra, chief of staff, and Dr. Harold A. Furlong, former chief of staff and head of the obstetrics department, the staff completed its case to prevent the ousted surgeon from practicing at the hospital again.

Angry exchanges between the three doctors marked the third session before the board of trustees, who are hearing Dr. Sullenberger's appeal of his Nov. 13 suspension.

Dr. Marra described the importance of accreditation to a hospital and noted that Pontiac General had been put on one year probation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals in Sept., 1957, about 13 months after Dr. Sullenberger returned to its staff.

He called accreditation "the badge of approval," and said that "chaos might be the best word to describe what would happen to the hospital if accreditation were lost."

He said that without accreditation, Pontiac General would not be able to attract top flight doctors, nurses, interns and key personnel.

"There would be a terrible deficiency in providing good medical care," said the chief of staff.

Cross-examining Dr. Marra, Dr. Sullenberger said to him:

"If you say that I'm responsible for the probation, you're wrong."

Canadians Keep Close Watch on Their Sea Lion

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Canadians seem to be keeping an eye on their escaped sea lion until its scheduled return to Storybook Gardens Zoo in London, Ont., next Sunday.

A number of Canadian auto license plates were seen in the Toledo Zoo parking lot yesterday. Several men in Canadian military uniforms were seen about the grounds.

And Joseph Bisonette, zoo business manager, said more Canadian money than usual passed over refreshment counters.

Attendance was between 5,000 and 6,000 above normal for a Monday in June. An exact count was not obtained because yesterday was an admission-free day.

The sea lion, for the second day in a row, ate three square meals yesterday. He was off to another good day today, polishing off a pound of smelt, a pound of squid and two pounds of herring for breakfast.

His daily consumption now is 11 pounds of seafood.

The sea lion refused to eat the first day after his capture in a boathouse on Sandusky Bay last Friday.

Brought to the Toledo Zoo, the mammal has been drawing large crowds, particularly at feeding time.

Mortars, Jets Pound Rebels

Advance of Insurgents on Beirut Turned Back by Heavy Firepower

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Jet fighters and mortars pounded rebels today in hills overlooking Beirut. The rebel advance toward the capital seemed to have been turned back by heavy firepower. Mountain tribesmen who pushed into the hills five miles from Beirut International Airport were hit hardest around the village of Ainab.

The rebels, armed only with small arms, were brought under a steady barrage as the government swung up artillery, mortars, armored cars and jets.

The rebels were slowly pushed back in some areas.

The airport, which has not been closed during the fighting, seemed to be out of danger for the present. It is the only one in Lebanon from which the jet fighters can operate.

It was the second consecutive day of fighting in the area 10 miles southeast of Beirut. Irregular reinforcements moved up to the hills in overloaded taxicabs and trucks, singing political songs and waving their weapons.

The rebel attack yesterday was made by Druze tribesmen of Socialist Kamal Jumblatt who reached hill positions within five miles of the airport. The government forces dislodged them from a series of strategic spots, but the rebels hung on to some of the villages they occupied in the initial push. Shooting continued through the night.

It was the closest Jumblatt's mountain rebels had come to Beirut, but it was not considered a push on the capital. For one thing, Jumblatt's forces were using small arms and did not have sufficient equipment to challenge the government forces.

Also, the former premier, Saeb Salam, is the rebel leader in Beirut, where his forces dominate the Basta Moslem quarter.

Some observers thought Jumblatt might be getting ready to form the rebel government he has been urging and wanted to extend his territory as much as possible before doing so.

Possible Tornado Forecast Today in Upper Peninsula

By Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms and a possible tornado were forecast today for the Upper Peninsula, which was swept last night by heavy rain and high wind.

The weather bureau in Detroit said the severe weather warning applied in a 60-mile wide area along a line from Duluth, Minn., to 30 miles south of Marquette. More rain fell in northern Midwest areas today in the wake of yesterday's storms but fairly pleasant weather prevailed in most other parts of the country.

Thunderstorms pounded the northern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley yesterday and during the night. Strong winds, heavy rain and hail swept sections of the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota and western Wisconsin. Hail stones the size of golf balls pelted Lemmon, S.D. Winds were clocked at 50 m.p.h. Duluth, Minn., was doused with 2 inches of rain.

Strong winds also whipped areas in the central and southern Plains and the middle Mississippi Valley. Thunderstorms hit western Texas and southern New Mexico and in parts of southern Florida.

'Past Peaks to Appear as Mole Hills' Says Nation Heading for Biggest Boom

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Frederick H. Mueller, assistant secretary of commerce, said today the United States is heading toward a boom so big that the postwar economic peaks will appear as mole hills.

In an address prepared for the Milwaukee Rotary Club, Mueller said the Commerce Department projections, involving no guesswork and making full allowance for error, clearly show the ultimate direction of the economy.

"Under these conditions," he said, "I feel absolutely free in saying to you that this nation is headed towards the greatest period of economic activity the world has ever seen."

"Forthcoming is a period where demand for goods, services, and supplies will be so great that the peaks of business and industrial expansion we have seen in 1955, 1956 and 1957 will appear as mole hills," he said.

He didn't venture a prediction on when this boom might develop.

But he spoke in optimistic terms of present economic conditions and assailed "retailers of nonsense" who, he said, "did their level best to talk us into an economic tailspin."

He said it is amazing "what a heavy psychological impact can be generated by a pack of self-styled 'experts' running around and shouting depression every time an economic indicator failed to hit the record level of August 1957."

tee. It is obvious that the answers to many questions which have been so squarely placed before the nation can be found in Mr. Goldfine's records and those of his company.

The subcommittee finally dismissed Fox amid an uproar after three days of testimony. Fox named Adams, Goldfine and publisher Robert B. Choate of the Boston Herald and Traveler as linked in forces destroying Fox's former newspaper, the Boston Post. Denials flew heatedly from those named.

A lawyer for Choate, William J. Dempsey, jumped up from a "spectator's seat at hearing's end and got into a shouting argument with Harris. Harris banged his gavel and called a policeman.

Fox, meanwhile, announced plans to file million-dollar libel suits against Adams, Choate, the Herald-Traveler Corp., Goldfine lawyers Roger Robb and Samuel Sears separately and another one against the two lawyers jointly.

And, with Dempsey's yell that "we propose to prove Mr. Fox is a liar, a welscher and a cheat" still ringing in his ears, Fox named Dempsey to his million dollar list too.

"All the individuals and the newspapers made thoroughly scurrilous remarks about me in writing," Fox added.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Adams would have no comment. "How silly can this whole thing get?" Hagerty asked.

City Hospital Concludes Case Against Doctor

Dr. Marra replied, "I made no such statement."

NOTES PROBATION

Dr. Sullenberger then called attention to the fact that branch of the accreditation commission, the Conference Committee on Graduate Training in Surgery, had placed Pontiac General's surgery department on three-year probation in March, 1957.

"This was about six months after I returned to the hospital, but the survey upon which the probation was based was made just after I returned, I believe," said Dr. Sullenberger.

He indicated that the probation had nothing to do with him.

Dr. Sullenberger, who is acting as his own counsel, then produced a letter of recommendation that Dr. Marra admitted he had written for him in Feb., 1955.

It said that the surgeon was "well-liked" by the interns and resident physicians; that they were "grateful for the knowledge that he was able to impart to them;" and that Dr. Sullenberger had "great respect from his patients."

Dr. Marra said flatly, "I wouldn't write the same letter today."

"I would say now that the men have found it difficult to get along with you; that you have disregarded all rules and regulations; that you have shown poor deportment; and that the hospital has suffered because of you."

Dr. Furlong, who has practiced at the hospital more than 20 years, then took the stand and said, "It is not right for a man to create a furor in the operating room when he's responsible to keep it running smoothly."

He and Dr. Sullenberger began a heated exchange about a man-to-man conversation they had in a hospital broom closet the day Dr. Sullenberger returned to the hospital.

"I was talking to you then for your own good," said the veteran physician.

"How many times have you talked to me since then?" asked Dr. Sullenberger.

"None, thank goodness," snapped Dr. Furlong.

At one point in the cross-examination Dr. Furlong said to the younger surgeon, "I'm under oath, but you're not."

The main point of Dr. Furlong's testimony was that hospital operating room schedules were disrupted because Dr. Sullenberger allegedly failed to show up for operations or to cancel them in advance.

Under cross-examination, he admitted that according to hospital rules and regulations, operating rooms are held open for tardy surgeons for a period of 15 minutes.

"You can't make the broad statement that cancelling operations is bad for patients," said Dr. Sullenberger. "There are many reasons for delays — some of them make the patients happy, some of them make them unhappy."

Earlier, Dr. Henry L. Jenkins, said that there was "tension in the operating room" with Dr. Sullenberger.

"At first you certainly did help me," said Dr. Jenkins, the chief resident physician, to Dr. Sullenberger. "But in the waning months, you contributed very little."

"I entered the operating room with you only as a duty and without complete relaxation."

He said that Dr. Sullenberger "was very difficult to satisfy in some instances on some days, and easy to get along with on other days."

The resident physician added that he had never heard Dr. Sullenberger use "extreme profanity."

The doctors were the last of 15 witnesses who were called in behalf of the staff by its attorney, Glenn C. Gillespie.

The main charges are that Dr. Sullenberger's conduct was "detrimental to the efficient operation of the hospital," in that he abused hospital personnel, threatened his fellow workers, disrupted operating room schedules and broke other rules and regulations.

Dr. Sullenberger opened his defense by calling his former attorney, David C. Pence, and a friend, Raymond Rapaport.

Pence said that Dr. Sullenberger had been promised by former hospital director Carl I. Flath that he would not be suspended without a hearing.

Dr. Sullenberger said that one of his main points was that he was temporarily suspended without having a hearing first.

Rapaport said that in June, 1955, Dr. Marra had spoken to him favorably of Dr. Sullenberger's professional abilities.

Dr. Marra had earlier denied making such a statement.

Another of Dr. Sullenberger's witnesses was at the hearing but declined to testify. He is Cecil J. Harrison, of 269 Seward St. who is suing Dr. Sullenberger and the hospital for $100,000 as a result of a stomach operation performed on him last summer.

Harrison claims Dr. Sullenberger negligently left a sponge inside his body, which had to be removed later.

Although the incident is listed in the staff's 14 charges, Dr. Sullenberger followed the advice of Gillespie and did not go into details about the operation.

He questioned, though, why the staff had included the charge, if it was opposed to airing it fully.

Gillespie replied that it showed that the hospital and doctor had been named in a law suit.

The next session was postponed on Wednesday until next Monday. Willis M. Brewer, board chairman, said that several board members had previous commitments Wednesday night.

Four to Testify in Crime Probe

Senate Rackets Group Seeks Information on Underworld Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four men who allegedly attended a "crime convention" in upstate New York were called today by Senate investigators trying to find out if the meeting was linked to a national underworld syndicate.

The four summoned by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee were described variously as a civic leader, a labor union official, a business man involved in deportation proceedings, and a gangster.

The new phase of the committee's probe opened yesterday. A federal narcotics agent testified that the meeting at Apalachin, N. Y., last November followed the pattern of the Mafia, otherwise known as the Black Hand criminal society.

The committee placed in evidence a statement listing the four men as among 60 rounded up by police in a raid on the meeting last Nov. 14. It identified them as: John Charles Montana or Montano, Buffalo, N. Y., president of several business firms and a leader of various civic associations.

James Vincent Laduca, who was secretary-treasurer of a Buffalo local of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union at the time.

Russell J. Bufalino, owner of the Penn Drape and Curtain Co. of Pittston, Pa. The government is attempting to deport him to Italy.

Joseph Profaci of Brooklyn, N. Y., named in a statement placed in evidence as "an old time, well established gangster."

All, the committee contends, were at the Apalachin meeting.

Martin F. Pera, federal narcotics bureau undercover agent, testified yesterday the gathering had the earmarks of a meeting of big shots of the Mafia.

The decision was awaited by two U. S. consuls trying to deal with separate groups of rebels. U.S. Embassy sources in Havana indicated there might be some report today.

Park Wollam, consul at Santiago, in rebel-ridden Oriente province, was in contact with forces of Castro's brother Raul northeast of Santiago. Wollam was seeking release of 10 American and two Canadian engineers kidnaped Thursday from a mining development at Moa. The rebels have been quoted as saying these 12 were being well cared for and would be released soon.

The vice consul at Santiago, Robert Wiecha, was in the hills around Guantanamo Bay trying to gain freedom for 28 Navy men and Marines from the U.S. Navy base there. Although there was no word that Wiecha was in contact with the rebels; a Navy spokesman at the base said he did not expect the servicemen to be held long.

Six Assessment Roles Approved by Commission

BIRMINGHAM—Six assessment district rolls, including five for street surfacing projects, and the water contract between the city and the Birmingham Country Club were approved by the city commissioners at their meeting last night.

The street projects include Pine, Willow Lane, Midland, Lakepark and Lakeside drives. The sixth project is for improvement of the Valley View Lane sewer.

John Brennan, county club manager, will be notified today of the 60 days extension of fire department service for the club, which is outside the city limits, pending a study of the value of the club's buildings.

The city charged the club $50 last year for fire protection, but City Manager L. R. Gare said a thorough study should be made and discussed with commissioners before future fees are determined. The formula used in the past, he said, was based on an estimation of the assessment of the club's buildings and multiplied by a factor of $2.30 per each $1,000 valuation of the buildings.

This is the rate of operating cost of the department.

Following the lead of the Board of Education, commissioners voted to remove the $1,500 contingent fund from the appropriation for operating the skating rink at Eton Park. The school board deduction was made in an effort to level its operating expenses to meet the reduction in county tax allocations monies.

Mrs. Hazel Lawler retired yesterday as secretary of the Birmingham Branch of the Federal Savings & Loan Association.

For the past several years, she had been manager of the association's Berkeley office besides being secretary.

Walter Moreland, Birmingham branch manager, said the company is losing one of its most loyal, dependable and best informed employees.

Mrs. Lawler, who lives at the Adams Court Apartments in Birmingham, was honored by co-workers last week at a dinner at Devon Gables. Planning to make her home in Birmingham during summer and in Florida in the winter, she was presented with a gift of luggage.

Miss Backus died Sunday at William Beaumont Hospital after a brief illness.

For the past 35 years she had been employed in the order department of Richmond and Backus Co. in Detroit.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Adele Fiske and a brother, Ralph H., both of Birmingham.

Senate Vote Admits Alaska to Statehood

and the House figure to 436. Alaska now has one non-voting delegate to Congress.

When the final vote was announced last night after five days of debate, cheers and a burst of applause rose from the Senate galleries where about 200 persons, many from Alaska, had come to witness the historic event.

Alaska's governor Mike Stepovich shouted "Thank God!" and declared:

"I believe we'll show the United States of America that we will be one of the greatest states in the Union within the next 50 years."

It marks the first time the United States has added to itself since Arizona became a state on Feb. 14, 1912.

With statehood Alaskans will be able to elect their own governor for the first time in history.

On the final vote, 33 Republicans and 31 Democrats endorsed statehood. Opposed were 7 Republicans and 13 Democrats, most of them southerners.

The assessments of what Alaskan statehood would mean for the nation as a whole ranged the full gamut from resource development to a re-birth of patriotism to an enhancement of international prestige.

Former Alaskan Gov. Ernest Gruening said statehood for the territory will "rejuvenate the pioneer spirit that made this country great."

Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said Alaska's admission will "electrify and encourage America's allies all across the broad surface of the globe."

But with all the momentousness that accompanied the Senate action, Alaskans mischievously poked fun at their "little brother" — Texas.

"We might even proclaim a Be-Kind-To-Texas Week," one man said.

U.S. Refuses to Pay Ransom, Says Dulles

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dulles asserted today the United States refuses to pay political blackmail for the release of Americans held captive in East Germany and Cuban rebel territory.

The government hopes to obtain release by other means, he told a news conference.

More than 40 American citizens have been kidnapped by Cuban rebels, Dulles said the rebels' purpose is to produce U. S. intervention but this country will not intervene.

British Plan Studied in Cyprus Settlement

While expressing dissatisfaction with the latest British offer of settlement in Cyprus, both Greece and Turkey are taking time to think it over.

Athens wants self-determination for the island's population which is four-fifths Greek. Turkey is holding out for partition to protect not only herself but the Turkish minority on Cyprus, 40 miles off her coast and 400 miles from Greece itself. Either of these solutions would most certainly bring on a war between the two countries, weaken NATO and threaten the British base on the island.

Britain's offer calls for sharing of sovereignty by the Greek, Turkish and British governments for seven years. It proposes an elected legislature and a governor's council composed of four Greek Cypriots, two Turkish Cypriots and one representative from Turkey and Greece.

Both Greek and Turkish Cypriots would conduct local affairs and the British would be responsible for defense and internal security. Security provisions would be relaxed and exiled Cypriots, presumably including Archbishop MAKARIOS, the island's religious and political leader, would be allowed to return.

No agreement could possibly satisfy everyone concerned. But it is to be hoped that reason will prevail and a compromise may be reached in settling this long drawn out conflict caused by extreme Greek Nationalists on an island which never belonged to Greece although 400,000 of its 500,000 population now are Greek.

Lebanon Rebels Bar United Nations Team

The fact that United Nations observers in pro-West Lebanon were barred from the Syrian border by the rebel leader would lead to the belief that help is coming from that direction to feed the fires of rebellion in Lebanon.

It would seem to confirm Lebanese reports that substantial outside help in the form of troops, arms and over-all direction is being supplied by Soviet-armed Syria. Rebels are in control of many parts of the country.

The Beirut government hasn't taken all out action against the rebels hoping the threat would disappear. Even if the U.N. could stop further help from Syria and Egypt, Nasser sympathizers inside Lebanon might be strong enough to overthrow the government, order the U.N. out and bring in whatever forces would be needed to consolidate their hold on the country.

If Lebanon should be absorbed by the United Arab Republic as a result of its campaign of subversion, inflation and propaganda, all other Arab nations in the Middle East would be in danger and Western influence would all but end.

This is why Secretary DULLES said in a news conference, referring to the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East, that the U.S. has "a mandate to do something if we think our peace and vital interests are endangered from any quarter." In other words, the United States unfortunately cannot at this point rule out the possibility of action outside the United Nations.

Federal Aviation Bill Now Before Senate

By endorsing the creation of a single independent Federal Aviation Authority President EISENHOWER has supported the main proposals of a bill introduced by Sen. MONROE.

Hearings on the measure, however, reveal that it does not give sufficient recognition to the role of the military. The bill calls for an administrator appointed by the President and a special military adviser appointed by the Secretary of Defense. President EISENHOWER had suggested giving the military an equal voice in setting up regulations and enforcing them.

This seems to be the wiser course and recognizes the role military aviation plays in peacetime and, more importantly, in emergencies or war. At present the military has 18,500 persons in air traffic control and navigation posts while the Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) has 17,500 in such assignments. Some of the service personnel handle civilian traffic under arrangements with the CAA.

The need for integrated authority over our airways has been tragically demonstrated many times. Legislation should be enacted promptly.

The Man About Town Small Army Quota

Local Draft Boards Are Asked for Only Few Men

Weekend holiday: When too many weak ends are driving.

Pontiac draft boards are asked for the least men in July and August that they have been requested to furnish in several years. The July quota for the city board, according to

Chief Clerk Nancy Linden, is only six men. The out-county board, according to Chief Clerk Mary Kelly, has a quota of only five. The induction date for both is today.

Agencies Don't Have to Kow-Tow

3-30CB-AGENCIES DON'T

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States has just reaffirmed a principle of constitutional law that has a direct bearing on some aspects of the controversy over the Sherman Adams case. The principle is also related to the recent furor over influences exerted by members of Congress on the Federal Communications Commission, which awards licenses for television and radio.

It has been erroneously assumed in the last few weeks in some quarters that the White House exercises some sort of control over the tenure of members of the independent agencies, such as the Federal Trade Commission or the Securities and Exchange Commission. It has been charged by critics that a telephone call from the executive offices merely inquiring about a pending matter could cause a commissioner to tremble because he might be summarily removed.

But the Supreme Court on Monday of this week, in a unanimous opinion, says that, where Congress by law does not specify a cause for removal, the members of quasi-judicial commissions cannot be dismissed by the President and that they do not, therefore, hold office subject to his will.

Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the 9-0-0 opinion, went somewhat further than did the Supreme Court 23 years ago when it ruled that members of the independent commissions could be removed only for the causes specified by Congress.

Justice Frankfurter's opinion of this week says that the members of these commissions cannot be removed by the President during their term of office even when Congress fails to specify any causes for removal.

A president's power of removal had never in the history of the United States been the subject of any exhaustive study by the Supreme Court until Oct. 25, 1926, when it was held that the chief executive could remove a postmaster at will. From this, it was inferred thereafter that he could remove all other officials of the federal agencies as well.

Chief Justice Taft, who had himself been President, handed down the decision in the famous Myers case. He ruled, in effect, that a president has an inherent constitutional power of removal of all officials even when they have "duties of a quasi-judicial character." This was supposed to flow from the President's power to see that "the laws be faithfully executed."

Then came the historic decision of May 27, 1935, when by 9 to 0 the Supreme Court justices overruled President Franklin D. Roosevelt's dismissal of William E. Humphrey, a member of the Federal Trade Commission whose term had not then expired. Roosevelt said that Humphrey was all right except that his mind "did not go along" with the President's and he wanted a man of his own selection.

By the time the case was decided Humphrey had died, but his heirs had sued in the Court of Claims for back salary and this was awarded in the 1935 decision. The Supreme Court insisted that the Myers opinion of 1926 applied only to "all purely executive officers" and did not apply to members of quasi-judicial commissions like the Federal Trade Commission.

The court expressly disapproved of the concept in the Myers case concerning a president's inherent constitutional power of removal.

The case before the court this week concerned Myron Wiener, a member of the War Claims Commission who was removed on Dec. 10, 1953, by President Eisenhower. Congress had not specified by law any grounds for removal of the commissioner but did say the commission was to "adjudicate according to law," and that the commission was to be "entirely free from the control or coercive influence, direct or indirect," of either the executive or Congress.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Don't Become Dodderer for Lack of Exercise

The exercises as described and illustrated in booklet The Last Brady Symphony (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) constitute a fair daily ration for persons who have not yet passed their peak. I'd rather evade the issue or tell a lie about it than say anything which may make anybody unhappy. But I hope this will make a good many readers happy: No calisthenic, gymnastic or formal setting-up exercises can do one more good than two to six miles of oxygen on the hoof every day. Walking, that is—brisk walking, not lolling, sauntering or window-shopping.

Students, clerical workers, professional workers, stenographers, executives, teachers, salespeople, actors, musicians, tailors, checkers, bookkeepers and the like err grievously when at the end of the day they RIDE home and flop down, "wore to a frazzle," to rest. A much better rest, more refreshing, more restorative, would be a two or three mile walk.

The sedentary person who has a stupid notion that white collar occupations use up "nerve energy" ought to review elementary physiology and learn that half of a peanut will supply all the energy required for two hours of brain work.

Doddering, I believe, begins earlier in persons of sedentary habit, later in persons who get a reasonable amount of general exercise every day; earlier in persons who ride to and from office or store, later in those who walk to work as a matter of habit; earlier in women who have servants, later in women who do their own housework.

A subtle early sign of doddering is slow reaction time. For instance, application of the brake one or two tenths of a second, as measured by stop watch, slower than is necessary for safe driving.

But please don't quote me as authority — not to the dodderer, anyway. Nothing annoys a dodderer more than the suggestion or hint that he or she is not so chipper.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"For some time have been going to a specialist twice a year for fluoroscope and electrocardiogram. He asks a few questions, hands me a report of the fluoroscope and electrocardiogram which is meaningless to me, and charges me $25. What good can this do a person?" (R. R.)

Answer—It does seem expensive entertainment, but a lot of Yankee wisecracks just love it. The more Rube Goldberg fits into the trick specialist flashes on the customers, the more impressed they are. Why not consult a reputable physician in your neighborhood next time you want medical or health advice?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady. If a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Learn to Write Application Letter

Charley's problem confronts everybody at one time or another. And the ability to solve this problem can make a big difference in your economic future. Many men with college diplomas still are rank amateurs when it comes to writing a simple letter of application for a job. So scarpbook this case and send for the booklet below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Y-350: Charley R., aged 23, is looking for a job.

"Dr. Crane, I have seen some good positions advertised in our newspaper," Charley began.

"And I'd like to write a letter of application, but I don't know what to say or how to go about it."

"I had 2 years of college, but our English courses didn't deal with such practical matters."

"Can you give me some pointers right away?"

HOW TO APPLY

A letter of application is supposed to obtain an interview for you, and not necessarily the job. So don't overload your letter with excessive detail. Stick to main points.

And type the letter, if possible, unless the advertisement expressly demands that you employ handwriting.

Stay within the limits of a single page, single-spaced on the typewriter. And leave fairly wide margins so your missive will be neat and businesslike.

'Modern Woman's Clothes Go Against God's Laws'

"The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment, for all that do so are abomination unto the Lord thy God." Deuteronomy 22:5. I do not find in the Bible that God has ever set aside this rule of moral conduct.

God must behold with extreme disfavor and disgust the numerous abominations and prevalent immodesty among women and girls who wear shorts, slacks, jeans, overalls, dungarees, riding habits, even those who profess to love God and claim to obey his precepts. This along with wearing short skirts, sleeveless and low-necked dresses.

We're told these articles of mannish garb are designed and made for women and girls. However, the New Testament says abstain from all appearance of evil. Why don't ministers preach on these and kindred Scriptures? Are these demands of Scriptural admonitions dead, obsolete documents or are they in force now? They are very necessary for proper Christian deportment.

Attorney States Position in Case

Since my action in bringing suit against the City of Pontiac et al. in behalf of four police officers has been made a topic of editorial inquiry, I feel constrained to supply the answers to the questions raised.

First of all, the suit in question is not a suit against the City Commission, but against the City of Pontiac, Mr. Willman and Chief Straley.

Secondly, I was elected a City Commissioner for the purpose of making policy and legislative decisions. City Commissioners, by charter, have nothing whatever to do with administrative matters and are prohibited from interfering with the administrative operation of the City through any personal directive.

Administrative officials and employees, all under the City Manager, have sole responsibility for administration of the various departments of the City, and those officials are required to act fairly, impartially, and in strict accord with the terms of the law, so far as it relates to their several responsibilities.

So far as I am concerned when City officials fail to comply with the law, when I, as an attorney, am engaged by the injured party, I will have absolutely no reluctance about bringing suit against the City and any other wrongdoers; and I certainly do not feel this position in any way compromises my duty as a Commissioner, or the duty or loyalty I owe this City.

I know of no reason why a lawyer who incidentally happens to be a City Commissioner should refrain from the exercise of his profession, where his duty dictates its exercise, and I might say I have no intention whatever, because I have been elected to the City Commission, of betraying what I conceive to be right under the Constitution and laws of this state, in order that the City of Pontiac, or any official thereof, may persist in clear cut, patent wrongdoing to the detriment of any citizen who seeks my legal aid.

Milton R. Henry
(Editor's Note: The following is Ethics Opinion 132, dated Nov. 11, 1949, by the Ethics Committee of the State Bar of Michigan.)

"A lawyer who is a City Commissioner and a member of a five-man City Council which is the City's legislative body for the enactment, amendment and repeal of City ordinances, who is assigned to have general supervision of a separate department of the City under the commission form of government, who participates in the fixing of the budgets for all City departments and who participates in the appointment of the City Attorney, is not ethically disqualified from appearing in civil matters in which the City is not a party nor directly interested and in criminal matters arising under state law before the municipal judges, who are themselves elected by the voters and over whose salary the Council has no control during their term of office, but such lawyer may not with propriety appear in civil actions in which the City is a party or directly interested, nor in ordinance violation cases.)

'Get Facts First; Then Decide'

The letter by College Graduate stated it's almost impossible to flunk out of education in college. I'd like to know where this man got the impression that it's such a snap to earn a teacher's certificate.

The person who earns a degree in education takes the same courses as a Liberal Arts graduate with the exception of from 20 to 30 credit hours in education. Of these comparatively few, at least eight are spent student teaching. Prospective teachers and lawyers who must spend their first three or four years in Liberal Arts receive no better training and on the average don't elect any harder courses.

When College Graduate implied it's a breeze to get an education degree he was making like a parrot. Try getting the facts first hand once in a while and you'll change your mind about teacher training.

Sends His Thanks for Last Letter

I'd like to add my thank you to Mr. Very Small and Very Hardup Taxpayer because I'm glad he won't be writing any more letters. I'm going to continue teaching in spite of him. I have confidence in my Board of Education. It will pay me what it feels it can afford, in spite of guys like VS&VHPT. I don't believe he has helped anyone except himself in a negative way. I'm glad most of the letters printed were in opposition to him. The majority seems to be friends of education.

NAMES WITH HANDLES

Then list 3 references with "handles" in their names. And by "handles" I refer to titles which endorse your references even before they are contacted.

For example, "Reverend," "President," "Advertising Manager," "Superintendent," "Professor"—these handles show that your references must be prominent people whose judgment is probably sound.

And be sure you ask permission in advance before you cite a reference.

It is also a courteous gesture to inform your references of the nature of the jobs for which you are applying so they will not be "in the dark."

For further specific advice, send for my "Vocational Guidance" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit), for it contains a specimen letter of application that pulls a heavy response.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 35 stamped self-addressed envelope and 20¢ to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

"Happiness may not buy money—but it does draw interest."

Hal Boyle Tells:

How to Lick Summer Vacation Problem

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstones comments of a Pavement Plator: Are you puzzled over what to do on your vacation? Many men are. They know that if they go to the mountains they will have to help the children pick wild flowers to paste in their memory books. They know that if they go to the seashore, they will have to help the children collect seashells. And they know if they stay home their wife will keep them busy 16 hours a day doing odd jobs around the house, such as repairing the vacuum cleaner, hanging wallpaper or picking green worms off the tomato plants—chores any strong, able-bodied woman ought to attend to herself. If you're in this plight, here's an idea. Why not use your vacation to reform and improve yourself? Most men start their self-reform campaigns on New Year's Day. This is a bad time. A man's resistance is so low in winter that he barely has the strength to continue his vices—let alone summon up the extra strength required to abandon them. There, is another factor. Vacation is the only time when a man can reform while lying down. Any other period of the year he will be standing up or moving about. Reform under this added stress and strain is almost impossible. Still another advantage to giving up bad habits while on vacation is that there is no sudden wrench about it. You are in no hurry and can improve yourself slowly and leisurely. Let us suppose you have gone to the seashore and want to cut down on your smoking and drinking. You stretch out on the sand and put a pack of cigarettes and a pitcher of martinis before you. You say, "I'm not going to take a smoke or a drink for one full minute." Each day you add another minute of waiting before you indulge yourself. At the end of a two-week vacation you will be able to go a full 14 minutes. This may not seem like a major achievement, but look at it this way: If you continue this reform program on every vacation for 40 years you will wind up being able to go 9 hours and 20 minutes without giving way to thirst or the desire for a pep-up puff. It's the little triumphs that add up in life. Suppose you've yearned all your life to play a musical instrument. I heard of one man who mastered the zither on vacation. After 25 years he took his zither to the office Christmas party, and surprised everyone by playing "The Moonlight Sonata" in a way that left even the boss in tears. One final virtue of this system. Nothing wears one sinner more than seeing another in the throes of repentance. Your friends will be grateful—whether you succeed or fail—that you spared them the boredom of watching your one-man reform wave.

If you must be finer fellow, learn how out of town.

Second Brother Dies From Burns

DETROIT (AP) — The second of two young brothers burned in an automobile fire died last night. Bill Johnson, 3, was burned Sunday while playing in the family car. His brother, Jerry, 5, died of burns Monday. The boys were the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Johnson of Hihat, Ky. The Johnsons were visiting relatives at Detroit when the accident occurred. Police said the boys apparently set the car ablaze as they played with matches and ignited newspapers on the auto seat.

Referred Cases From Morgue

Wayne County Worker Denies Any Kickback From Attorney

DETROIT (AP) — A suspended Wayne County Morgue clerk admitted in a formal statement that he referred cases from the morgue to an attorney friend. However, George I. Adams denied receiving any kickbacks from the attorney, Louis Weschler. He said last night he did receive $75 a week for a year's work in 1952 managing a bar which was part of an estate Weschler handled. Adams has been a central figure in a prosecutor's investigation of employe activities at the morgue, started a month ago after complaints by Dr. Edward S. Zawadski, medical examiner. Adams was suspended a week ago when he refused to make a statement or take a lie detector test on charges of receiving kickbacks. He said Mirus told him the Civil Service Commission had complained about outside jobs for county employes. Mirus himself has been under fire for alleged irregularities. Trucks in the U.S. have jumped 105 per cent since 1939.

Ex-Convict Returned to Prison for Car Theft

A 20-year-old Pontiac Township ex-convict was returned to prison yesterday for the theft of a car. Thomas W. Tucker, of 1597 Collier Dr., who served one year in 1956 for burglary, received a 1 to 5 year sentence from Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. Tucker pleaded guilty June 9.

Welk Buys Race Horse

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — TV's Lawrence Welk waltzed his way into horse race ownership with a California breeding stock from Mrs. M. E. Lunn's Llangollen Farm. Welk's purchase of the mare Woo-Me-Now is his first fling at racing.

'Custodians of a Great Trust'

Alaskans Assume Their Rightful Role

(E.L. (Bob) Bartlett, Alaska's, unity. We regard ourselves as custodians of a great trust: The untapped mineral wealth of Alaska, the marvelous natural resources and scenic beauty — all these must be used and preserved for the benefit and security of future generations of Americans.

The year 1958 marks the first time when the American citizens of Alaska will have an opportunity to cast votes for governor, secretary of state, United States senators, and a congressman. Heretofore, the governor of Alaska has been an appointee of the President of the United States, and the only elected spokesman of Alaska in the Congress has been the non-voting delegate.

Senate Facing Filibuster Fight

Foes of Talkathons to Raise Issue When Alaska Becomes State

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate appears headed for new controversy over its filibuster rule when Alaska becomes a state. But if civil rights advocates still are unable to change the rule, they seem unlikely to gain any ground by the addition of two more senators to bring the membership roll to 98.

Although Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) and some others denied they opposed Alaska statehood on those grounds, much of the Southern opposition to the bill was based on the belief that Alaska would send two civil rights advocates to the Senate.

Under the existing rule, which kind of talk marathon with which Southern opponents usually greet efforts to bring up civil rights legislation can be halted only by the affirmative votes of two thirds of the senators "duly chosen and sworn."

Because 98 isn't divisible by three in round numbers and a senator's vote can't be sliced in fractions, parliamentarians who have been studying the issue are inclined now to hold that 66 senators would have to vote "yes" to end a filibuster after Alaska's two members are seated.

If the existing rule stands, civil rights advocates would have to enlist the 64 votes now required—plus either the two from Alaska or from some other state—to halt a continuing debate.

But the mere fact of the mathematical difficulty might give them an opening to challenge the rule under circumstances they regard as more favorable than now exist.

Under the present rule there can be no limitation on debate on the issue of changing the rules. The filibuster rule just doesn't apply if attempts are made to alter it or any other rule of the Senate.

However, civil rights proponents might try to circle this barrier by a point of order that the two-thirds requirement is impractical if there are 98 senators. A majority of those voting then could determine the issue.

Nixon Introduced as U.S. President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon yesterday came to the rescue of a flustered chairman, Mrs. Rollway Collier, who began to introduce him as "president" of the United States and then hastily corrected herself.

Nixon told the audience amid laughter at a luncheon in honor of Spyros P. Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox Film Corp.: "It's appropriate to refer to the vice president as president because he is president of the Senate."

He followed up with a story about U. S. Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest, a guest at the luncheon. He said she had once introduced Mrs. Nixon as "the next wife of the vice president."

Happy Hunting Area Found in Cellar

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (INS) — The Robert Staley family of nearby Quincy could claim that there were no family skeletons in their closet, but they did find some skeletons under their house.

The skeletons, believed to be those of Indians, were found under the home when excavation for a cellar was begun recently.

In a circular position around the skull of one of the skeletons was found a bone necklace and a shell ornament.

The first skeleton found appeared to be that of an elderly woman. The second one appeared to be that of a younger warrior.

Ray Minter of Belle Center purchased the bones and ornaments in an effort to discover more about the skeletons.

The skull of the younger Indian bore an indentation and it is believed that this was the cause of death.

Archaeologists to Wonder? Paris' Japanese Granite May Be Future Mystery

PARIS (INS) — A surprise is in store for archaeologists of some far-distant future should they explore the site of what will be UNESCO headquarters in Paris.

They will find huge blocks of stone belonging to rock varieties that are not native to Europe. Some of the stones will be elaborately carved, others will be found in their natural state.

The puzzle of their presence in France may well match for some future generations the mystery hanging today over England's famous Stonehenge.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization is not laying this archaeological booby-trap with the aim of mystifying those who some day may study 20th Century civilization.

The stones were brought from Japan as part of a novel scheme thought up by Los Angeles-born sculptor, Isamu Noguchi.

Commissioned to decorate the plaza of the eight-million dollar UNESCO building, Noguchi felt the use of imported Japanese granite would add significance to his work in that it would emphasize the universality of the project.

"Several governments are underwriting the cost of decorating portions of the building," Noguchi explained in an interview. "But it seemed to me that a material contribution would be more in keeping with the idea behind UNESCO than mere financial aid."

The slight, balding artist spent several months in Japan choosing the stones and having preliminary work done on them.

They were shipped from Kobe to Marseilles in some 90 wooden crates and then hauled by truck to Paris. The shipment totals

Plenty of Running Room

PARIS — France has about 400 horse-racing tracks. Bets as low as the equivalent of 24 cents can be placed at the 1,100 official State betting offices or at the tracks. The State's 15 per cent tax on the tote earns it billions of francs a year.

Pump's Capacity Huge

AKRON, Ohio — New water-pumping facilities installed at the plant of one of the nation's major rubber-producing companies here can circulate 20,000 gallons of water a minute, or 28,000,000 gallons a day.

Auto Registrations Rise

WASHINGTON — There were 67,231,000 motor vehicles registered in the United States during 1957 — more than half the motor vehicles in the world. The figure is nearly 2,000,000 above the 1956 total and 75 per cent higher than 10 years ago.

Animals Can Get Flu

CHICAGO — Influenza is one of the more than 80 diseases that can be transmitted from man to animals.

BCG vaccine cuts down the incidence of tuberculosis about 80 per cent among groups who are vaccinated, as compared with groups who do not receive it, according to carefully controlled scientific studies around the world.

New Artificial Food Made From Algae

TOKYO — Japan's Chlorella Research Institute has started mass production in Tokyo of a new artificial food made from chlorella algae.

Chlorella is rich in proteins and has many other nutritive values. It is much cheaper than rice. It will be produced in two forms, powdered and liquid.

Traffic Deaths Drop

CANBERRA — The Australian Road Safety Council reports that traffic-accident fatalities totaled 2,040 in 1957, a drop of 134 from the previous year despite increases in population and motor-vehicle registrations.

Dictionary in Braille

DUBLIN — An Irish-English dictionary in Braille has been published by the Irish Association for the Blind.

Queen Elizabeth Takes Look Into Coal Mine

ROTHES, Scotland (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II donned white coveralls, black rubber boots and a helmet yesterday and went down a coal mine.

With her husband, Prince Philip and lady-in-waiting, the Countess of Euston, the queen descended about 1,700 feet in an elevator.

Then she walked three quarters of a mile to watch miners hewing a seam of coal and loading it on a conveyor belt. She splashed through puddles and was pelted by water dripping from the roof.

The royal party rode part of the way back on the cable cars used by the miners. Spotting a group of miners standing around with their hands in their pockets, Prince Philip asked:

"Are you finished?"

"We are just waiting for you to go up and then we will be," replied one of the miners.

Philip joined in the laughter that followed.

Seeking Standard Boxes to Cut Shipping Costs

NEW YORK — The aim of a new group in the American Standards Association is to standardize packing containers for all shipping and thus cut the nation's 50-to 55-billion-dollar annual shipping cost by eliminating wasted shipping space.

The plan is to make cargo carriers, pallets, and van containers in standard sizes, whether to be carried by ship, train, plane, or truck.

Beer Bottles Foil Pair

LEWISTON, Me. (UP) — Two would-be holdup men, armed with toy pistols, failed to intimidate grocer Adelard A. Touchette, 52, who drove them out of his store with a barrage of beer bottles.

Watch Animal Imports

WASHINGTON — More than 430,000 livestock animals were examined on entering or leaving United States ports during fiscal 1957 by federal meat inspectors, who report that no foreign animal disease was found in this country during the year.

For Fashion Awards

3 Designers Cited

NEW YORK—The designers chosen to receive the 1958 Coty American Fashion Critics Award have been announced.

The jury of 79 fashion editors who make the annual selections designated the Hall of Fame Award, the Coty Award's highest degree, as a posthumous honor to Claire McCardell, the designer of "American Look" fashions, who died last March.

Ben Zuckerman, noted New York creator of coats, suits and tailored dresses, was chosen for a Return Award, having received the "Winnie" in 1952.

Arnold Scaasi, young New York designer especially noted for evening fashions, will receive the coveted "Winnie" as the Coty trophy is known.

With the Amazing

NEW DETREX PROCESS

This is no ordinary dry cleaning process... it's the remarkable Detrex Two-Bath Process which restores color brilliance and softness to the fabric just like new again.

Basically soils on all garments fall into two types — those that can be removed by conventional dry cleaning agents and those removable only by soap.

Yet soap until now could only be applied in solution with water... disastrous for wool and other fine fabrics.

So after many years of development, Detrex Corporation has arrived at a means of using a detergent in the dry cleaning process solution which protects the fabrics. Thus, in one cleaning process they have achieved the cleaning action of both soap and solvent. We guarantee you have never seen dry cleaning like it. Yet it is gentle to protect even the most delicate of materials.

FAST SERVICE, TOO! Because of the remarkable cleaning action of our new equipment, we are able to process garments in fewer steps. Thus, we can give you absolutely the finest quality attainable anywhere and give you fast service, too. There is no extra charge for this special service. We are happy to serve you.

With Hard Work—Abby

Waitress Earns Her Tip

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you had a letter in your column stating the pros and cons of 'tipping' waitresses.

You seemed to think waitresses should be tipped generously because their pay was inadequate. This should be the problem of the management, not the public.

"Furthermore, I happen to know that many waitresses choose that kind of work, NOT because they need the money, but because they want to meet the public and, believe me, I am putting it delicately." — ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE: Women who simply want to "meet the public" can either walk the streets or hang out in saloons, but a woman who is willing to stand on her feet eight hours a day, carrying heavy trays and smile at hungry (and oftentimes rude) people is entitled to as big a tip as the diner can afford.

"DEAR ABBY: Now that summer is here I am faced with the same old problem. I am quite thin and I don't look bad in clothes but when I wear a bathing suit I look like a skeleton. My doctor has given me iron, vitamins and tonics but I can't put on an ounce. Everywhere you see diets for girls who are too fat (they don't know how lucky they are) but nowhere is there any help for us girls who are too thin. I am 28, love to swim, but am ready to give up." — TOO THIN.

DEAR TOO: Stick with your doctor in the hope that he'll come up with something effective. In the meantime, go to your friendly neighborhood beachwear dealer. Find yourself a suit that features built-in self-confidence and covers everything.

"DEAR ABBY: How stupid can a guy be? Just picked up your column and found out a serviceman can get his high school diploma while he is serving time in the U.S. ARMED FORCES. I am one of those characters who quit school in my junior year and have regretted it ever since. Believe you me, I am talking to the C.O. on this Post and am going to make up for lost time. Thanks, Pal." — C. P. G. USAF

DEAR C. P. G.: The Armed Forces realize that a man needs an education in order to advance. It's yours for the asking. Good luck!

"DEAR ABBY: In 1953 I married a widow with a living husband. I realized that I had made a mistake but am not the kind to back out of a bargain so I tried to make the best of it. I am 74 years old and don't expect to live forever anyway.

"This woman is 56 and has children all over the United States and she visits them all. She has lived with me a total of 55 days since our marriage. I am opposed to divorce but do you think it is too late to get an annulment?" — MARRIED AND LONESOME

DEAR MARRIED: Your "wife" has not given you the companionship you married for. See your lawyer about legal separations and annulments — you've earned your eligibility.

"DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that makes me so scared I could die. I've never kissed a boy before on my front porch because the porch light is always on and everyone can see us. I know I will have to kiss this boy on our next date and I want to, but it scares me to think that everyone will be watching us. Should I tell him if he plans on kissing me goodnight to kiss me in the car?" — SCARED

DEAR SCARED: Invite him to step inside the door to say goodnight. If the problem presents itself then—meet it!

Updated Building Inspection in Farmington Really Works!

By MARY CELINSKE
Farmington Correspondent

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — New home owners no longer find it necessary to take up residence in Farmington Township without occupancy permits, according to Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson. The township now has a building inspection department "as modern and efficient as any in a metropolitan area," he said in announcing success in the streamlining of the department.

Today when a new home receives its final inspection, its occupancy permit is in the mail within 48 hours," Stephenson said. He explained that present inspection methods follow an orderly sequence.

As soon as the department has been notified that a house is ready for rough inspection, the process is begun. Not more than 24 hours are allowed to elapse between building, wiring, heating and plumbing inspections. Final inspections follow the same sequence.

Stephenson added that department files are kept up-to-date, even to the time of day the inspection is made.

In cases of complaints and violations, all inspectors and clerks have been instructed to contact the builder immediately. New residents are welcomed to the township and invited to notify the department if a violation appears with the warranty period.

A year ago, the supervisor termed the department a "mess." At that time, many new home owners, forced out of their former homes, had taken up residence because they could not wait for long-overdue occupancy permits, Stephenson said.

Complaints were loud in the township that the building department was holding up construction because "inspectors never got around to inspecting," according to Stephenson.

There was a backlog of 250 occupancy permits to be issued, he said, when he started concentrating on the department.

Apartment Construction at Milford Gets Go-Ahead

MILFORD — LAND developer R. J. Kaines of Detroit was granted permission to construct two four-unit apartments at the corner of Pleasant and East Commerce streets by the Milford Village Council last night.

The action overruled objections by residents living in this area at a meeting held last Monday night.

Kaines, developer of the Kensington Hills subdivision on North Milford road, said he plans to build his apartments on one level and will provide for off-street parking.

Several residents appeared at the meeting, protesting the removal of the 5-block long boulevard on East Liberty street. The group, headed by Frank Bird of council that if the 40-year-old center strip is removed, the street might become a speedway.

He suggested "no parking" signs be posted. The council tabled the matter for further study.

In other business, the council authorized Clerk Mrs. Beatrice P. Helberg to make a final payment of $2,983 to the Chicago Iron and Steel Construction Co. for the construction of the new waterfront on the south side of Milford.

Virgil Colgrove was awarded a bid to cut, trim and haul away trees in the village. He will be paid $8 an hour.

A permit to hold the Street Fair July 18 and 19 was approved. The request was submitted by the Milford Chamber of Commerce. Merchants will display their wares in front of their business establishments during the two-day festivities.

Board members also approved the closing of Main street from 9 p.m. to midnight July 19 for street dancing.

Field events are planned for the youngsters, and ball-throwing and egg-carrying contests for the women. For the men, there will be a tug of war.

At 1:30 p.m., two teams of Independence Township Little Leaguers will meet for a baseball game.

The firemen's demonstration will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Mill Pond on Washington street. All equipment of the Fire Dept. will be displayed, including the new rescue truck purchased recently with donations from township residents.

The fireworks display is scheduled for 9 p.m. In the event of rain, it will be held Saturday at the same time.

Cats Display Little Enthusiasm for Mice

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Contrary to popular belief, cats don't become bloodthirsty mousers upon sighting their diminutive squeaky quarry.

In fact, during tests by the West Michigan Cat Society at Grand Rapids, one complacent cat lay down and took a nap beside the mouse cage.

Of the 20 cats entered in a mouse catching contest, only four wended their way through the maze of wire corridors of the course. One cat hissed at the mouse and the others ignored their caged quarry.

Further action, saw the board approve eight "no parking" signs to be erected on both sides of a bridge on Mann road near Clintonville road. The cost to the township for this installation will be $60.

Clerk James E. Seeterlin was authorized to complete the plat of Highland Estates No. 4 Subdivision subject to the developer's payment of $890 for inspection fees.

Township Engineer Howard Keitt presented a report pertaining to the Pleasant Lake Subdivision on Elizabeth Lake road near Williams Lake road which is up for board approval.

Keitt told the board that there would have to be some changes made in the water supply system and pumping station to meet township specifications before final approval is given.

There were five fireworks display permits issued to different organizations for July 4th celebrations.

Kindness Rewarded

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — Carmen Aversa got his reward for feeding hungry birds in his yard. While repairing a partition in his home he came across a bird nest with a crumpled $10 inside.

and Miss Beth Carpenter of Detroit.

Allan Boegehold of Champaign, Ill., was the best man, and ushers were John Boegehold, John Mager, Donald Lisle, all of Royal Oak, and Eugene Ackert of Kalamazoo.

The reception was held at the Dearborn Inn. Following a week's honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula, the newweds will make their home in Kalamazoo.

The bride is a graduate of the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Her husband is a student at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

AWAIT ROMEO RECREATION PROGRAM — Children in the Romeo Community School District are registering this week at the Youth and Civic Center for the summer recreation program, which will begin July 7 and continue until Aug. 15. Already at the center, trying out some of the equipment, were (from left) Phil Priest, Karen Glisch, Virginia Hart, Saramay Meeker and Tom Meyer. As soon as the registration lists are compiled, a schedule of events, including games, athletics and recreation classes, will be announced.

During the first week, participants will be from Waterford Village, Williams Lake, Pontiac Lake and Schoolcraft schools.

From July 21 to 25th, Drayton Plains, Adams and McVittie youngsters will participate and from July 28 to August 1st, Donelson, Covert and Leggett schools will be included.

Beginning August 4 to 8, the Lambert, Stringham, Burt and Beaumont children have been registered, and from August 11 to 15, Waterford Center, Four Towns and Monteth will conclude the program.

Bagwell Campaigning in Berrien County

NILES (UPI) — Paul D. Bagwell carried his campaign for governor to Berrien County business and labor leaders today.

Bagwell, who will be unopposed in the Republican primary, was scheduled to "explore Michigan's economic-political climate" with business leaders at a luncheon at the Pickwick Club.

He will tell union officials "Republicans have done more for labor than Democrats" during a meeting at Mold Hall.

An evening rally was scheduled in the Niles High School auditorium.

Parents' open house has been set for July 9, with campers taking part in a varied program featuring a water ballet. After the program, girls of scout age will prepare to stay overnight at the park.

Mrs. Stanley E. Ross of Washington will supervise the outing.

Add Tourist Rooms

BONN — Hotels, inns, and tourist homes in Germany now have 835,000 beds available for tourists — 6.6 per cent more than in 1936.

Sentences Member of Burglary Ring

The first of five members of a burglary ring, that operated in Pontiac and Waterford Township, was sentenced Monday to three years probation and assessed $100 court costs for his part in the crimes.

James A. Hudson, 21, of 252 Prospect St., heard the sentence passed by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. Hudson pleaded guilty June 16 to a charge of larceny by conversion.

Three other members of the gang, which police say were responsible for nine burglaries, are scheduled to be sentenced tomorrow by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

A fourth, Melvin Foust, 21, of 22 Cadillac Ave., stood mute June 16 to a charge of larceny by conversion. No trial date has been set.

Plan Camping for Youths 9-14

Day Camp Tomahawk to Open for Youngsters From Waterford

All youths between the ages of 9 and 14 years, living in the Waterford Township School District are eligible to participate in a one-week program at Day Camp Tomahawk, located at the Highland Recreation Area, according to recreation director Tom Belton.

Opening day has been set for Monday, July 14, and each camper will be picked up by bus at the elementary school nearest his home at 9 a.m. and returned at 4:30 p.m.

The daily five-week program will feature nature studies, hiking, outdoors cooking and activities not commonly done in home surroundings, Belton said.

A special feature this year will be an overnight camp-out for youths qualifying by regular attendance. Deadline for registrations has been extended to July 11th.

During the first week, participants will be from Waterford Village, Williams Lake, Pontiac Lake and Schoolcraft schools.

From July 21 to 25th, Drayton Plains, Adams and McVittie youngsters will participate and from July 28 to August 1st, Donelson, Covert and Leggett schools will be included.

The engagement of Margaret Ann Studebaker to Stephen Jencks has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Studebaker of Andersonville road, Waterford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jencks of Mill street, Orionville. The wedding date hasn't been set.

Discover Thief and Stolen Bus in Iowa Ditch

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—Ollie Wilson, 19, of the Bronx, N. Y., was thinking about anything but a busman's holiday as he pondered his fate in the county jail today.

The ex-navyman was arrested near here yesterday, still sitting behind the wheel of the $42,000 bus he took from the Port of Authority bus terminal parking lot in New York Sunday.

A highway patrolman spotted the 41-passenger, air-conditioned vehicle stuck in a ditch on Highway 20 near Farley, Iowa.

Authorities quoted Wilson as saying he took the bus to get to California.

"I saw the bus standing there, I just jumped in and took off," he said.

Dubuque is about 1,000 miles from New York City. Wilson told authorities he drove all night, stopping to refuel. He had about $125 on him when arrested.

In New York, Wilson's mother Mrs. Mary Wilson, exclaimed when told he had stolen a bus, "What, again?"

She said Ollie had taken a bus from the Port Authority parking lot in January 1937 and had been picked up in Port Chester, N.Y. "He likes to travel," she said, "and he's just crazy about driving."

MARY JO CRYDERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. George Cryderman of Whitfield drive, Waterford Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jo, to Jack Stoughton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stoughton of Logansport, Ind. No date has been set for the wedding.

Elfrida Battles to Another Tie With Educator

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television quiz queen Elfrida Von Nardoff battled to a tie last night with a New York educator, thus neither increasing nor decreasing her record $253,300 jackpot.

The pretty, 32-year-old Brooklynite, who quit her job as a personnel executive to devote full-time to the quiz show, "Twenty-one," will return next week to continue her match with Robert Leicester, an assistant school superintendent. At that time, Miss Von Nardoff could conceivably either add or lose $65,000.

Last night, Miss Von Nardoff and Leicester correctly answered questions on the Civil War and the theater and identified poets by several quotations read to them.

Should Miss Von Nardoff step down from the show now, more than $200,000 of her prize money would be deducted for federal and state taxes.

Military Rough Box Puzzles Troy Police

TROY — A military rough box, discovered yesterday at Willow Grove, just off Square Lake Road, brought on an investigation by Troy Police.

Their first reaction to a call from a woman living in the area, reporting "a coffin," was "what's in it?"

Police Chief David Grattop made a personal inspection of the box, and found it was filled with building discards. It was traced to an area funeral home which said it had given the box away several years ago, before it was required that they had to be destroyed.

Review Audit in Waterford

Township Board Sees Receipts for $383,072, Balance of $93,567

Most of last night's regular Waterford Township board meeting was devoted to reviewing the annual audit made and presented by CPA Eugene Clarke of Pontiac.

Clarke reported total receipts for the 1947-48 fiscal year to be $383,072. Expenditures were $364,979. This left a balance of $18,093, which, with the opening balance of $75,474, leaves a total balance of $93,567 in the treasury.

Further action, saw the board approve eight "no parking" signs to be erected on both sides of a bridge on Mann road near Clintonville road. The cost to the township for this installation will be $60.

Marlynn Keasey Marries Barrie Fell in Holly Rite

HOLLY — The Holly Presbyterian Church was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Marlynn Lee Keasey to R. Barrie Fell. Performing the candle light rite before an altar flanked with baskets of gladioli and mums was the Rev. W. J. Teeuwissen Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Waldron Keasey of 7520 E. M-47 in Holly. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Max K. Fell of 2380 Fairport Rd., Drayton Plains.

For her wedding, the new Mrs. Fell chose a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin with front panels of lace and French silk tulle, ending in a chapel-sweep train. A crown of sequins and pearls secured her veil, and she carried a white orchid centered by Stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Clark Morgan Jr. of Drayton Plains, the bride's sister. Attendants were Mrs. Robert Fell of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Manley Morgan of Drayton Plains. Mary Sebastian of Alma was the junior bridesmaid and Debbie Baer was the flower girl.

Robert Fell of Ann Arbor was the best man. Ring bearer was Roger Baris of Drayton Plains and ushers were Clark Morgan Jr., Jack and Allen Featherston all of Drayton Plains, and John Keasey of Holly.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a honeymoon in northern Michigan, the newweds will reside in East Lansing while the bridegroom is doing graduate work at Michigan State University.

New School Election Ordered in Roseville

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — Because of an unexplained error in a voting machine, a new school election has been ordered in Roseville.

Circuit Judge James E. Spier voided the election yesterday and within 30 days. The election had been contested by Alexander A. Rymar, defeated for the school board.

The voting machine registered 52 more ballots than there were voters. A check showed Rymar lost to Russell H. Kaiser by 10 votes.

Milford Plans to Again Have Summer Band

MILFORD — For the third consecutive summer, Milford will have its own community band, according to Milford High School Band Director Phil Haddrill.

As in the past, all persons interested in playing in the band will meet at 8 p.m. each Tuesday at the high school for rehearsals.

After a series of jam sessions, members present weekly concerts at Kensington Park. Last year's performances drew thousands of listeners both on land and in boats.

Those who would like to play in the band may contact manager Richard Wilson at MU 4-0884.

Tigers Get 7-6 Gift From A's

THEFT — Billy Martin, Tiger infielder, steals home in the second inning against the Kansas City Athletics yesterday as Ozzie Virgil steps back from the batter's box. Catcher Frank House takes the throw from pitcher Jack Urban but umpire Nestor Chylak ruled Martin safe.

2 Wild Throws on Same Play Decide 'Game'

Hoeft Scores 9th Win in Comedy of Errors; Lary Hurls Tonight

DETROIT (U) — It was the hottest day of the year in Detroit, yet there was something Christmasy about yesterday's baseball game at Briggs Stadium.

The Kansas City Athletics made an outright gift of the Tigers' 7-6 triumph that pulled the Detroit club up once again to the .500 mark.

Now, the Tigers did their level-best to give it to the Athletics, contributing one error, a hit batsman and two "gopher balls." But only one of the A's runs was unearned. Four of the seven Tiger scores were earned.

All this wasn't easy. After four innings of fumbling and stumbling around, the two clubs found themselves in a 4-4 deadlock. Even at that point the contest had all the earmarks of a complete flop.

At the outset, the Athletics scored one run. Ex-Tiger Bill Tuttle singled and Roger Maris sent him to third with another single. Preston Ward hit a fly to center and Tuttle scored after the catch. But Maris, thinking there were already two men out, dashed wildly to third base — and was an easy double play victim.

Apparently not satisfied with this early show of inefficiency, the Athletics donated one run in the Tiger first. Frank Bolling doubled and Ozzie Virgil broke a string of 20 hitless at-bats with a double to center for one run.

First baseman Harry Simpson let Gail Harris' grounder get through his legs and Virgil scored.

Not to be outfumbled, the Tigers gave Kansas City a run in the second. With two out and two on, shortstop Billy Martin fumbled pitcher Jack Urban's bounce and Hector Lopez scored from third base. Martin got that run back when he singled and eventually stole home in the Detroit half of the inning.

Three singles around a hit batsman produced two runs that gave Kansas City a 4-3 lead in the fourth. The Tigers tied it in their half on three singles.

Then, for a refreshing change of pace, Simpson made it 5-4 with a sixth inning home run off Herb Morford. In the ninth, Bob Cerv made it 6-4 with his 20th home run, off Bill Hoeft.

In a spirit of true showmanship, the teams saved the best until last. In the Tiger ninth, singles by Red Wilson, Bolling and Virgil loaded the bases with one out and dictated the removal of Tom Gorman, who had pitched effectively since relieving starter Urban in the sixth.

Murry Dickson, the third Kansas City pitcher, did the job that is expected of any sound relief pitcher. He got Harvey Kuenn to hit a sharp grounder to third base.

Third baseman Ward fielded the ball cleanly and threw toward second base for what should have been the front half of a double play. The ball sailed into right field and two runners scored.

Maris, paying back the Tigers at least in part for the home run damage he has done in Briggs Stadium, promptly rifled an errant peg over the third base bag. The winning run scored on the second error on a single play.

Rockefeller Eyes Governorship

Seeks GOP Nomination to Oppose Harriman in New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Multi-millionaire Nelson Rockefeller announced late yesterday that he would seek the Republican nomination for governor of New York in a move which, if successful, would pit him this fall against multimillionaire Gov. Averell Harriman, a Democrat.

Leonard M. Hall, former Republican national chairman and a powerful votegetter, already has announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination.

Rockefeller, 49, is a political novice, although he has held high appointive posts in the Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower administrations. Harriman had a similar background when he won his first term four years ago.

Rockefeller said he would campaign on a platform calling for a reversal of the decline in the state's economic growth, improvement of the educational system, measures to cope with juvenile delinquency and organized crime, and better roads.

He said he decided to enter the race because of "my deep conviction that a new approach to government must be taken in New York State."

Now They Can Talk — From Hospital Beds

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Austin Gailley of Scarsdale, N. Y., went to City Hall to see City Engineer E. F. Hovemale.

Aides said Hovemale, ill for several weeks, was in Washington County Hospital, Gailey, an employee of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. here, returned to work and soon after fell down some stairs and broke his hip.

Gailey was taken to the hospital. His roommate was Hovemale.

Sentenced to Attend Church With Children

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Mrs. Aurora Salazar has been sentenced to attend church with her children every Sunday for the next two years.

She pleaded guilty to cashing a $30 welfare check which was not hers and was given a 2 to 5 year suspended sentence on the provision she take her children to church every Sunday for two years.

Trading Brisk on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned mixed early today after an active and slightly higher opening. Trading was brisk.

Leading stocks showed mainly fractional changes.

Standard Oil of California was off fractionally in fairly active dealings. Other oils were narrowly mixed.

Profit taking was evident as the market stood at the crest of a four-day advance which brought industrial stocks to their 1958 highs.

Steels showed scant change following the first decline in the steel production in eight weeks.

Some lower-priced stocks continued to attract attention. Penn-Texas and Servel leaned to the upside.

International Nickel and Southern Railway were ahead about a point each. Smaller gains were made by Goodyear, Zenith, American Telephone, Du Pont, Royal Dutch and U.S. Gypsum.

Small losses were taken by Chrysler, International Telephone, Dow Chemical, Union Carbide and Sinclair.

Opening blocks included: Servel up 1/4 at 9 7/8 on 7,000 shares; Penn-Texas up 1/4 at 6 1/4 on 5,000; Transamerica up 1/4 at 4 3/8 on 5,300; and Armour up 1/4 at 16 1/4 on 6,400.

Golf Club Boots Member, So He Buys 'Em Out

LONDON (UPI) — Ever got mad at some organization and wish you could buy it and fire all those people? It happened to builder Pat Pateman, 42.

Pateman was refused membership in a local golf club so he promptly bought the club's 120-acre links, clubhouse and all.

Three years ago Pateman applied to renew his membership in the Longcliffe Golf Club near Loughborough. But his application did not receive the necessary support from two-thirds of the committee.

"I took a poor view of that," Pateman said today. "Now the shoe is on the other foot."

Pateman, who bought the club for an undisclosed sum yesterday, said that "if I do not approve of two-thirds of the committee now I can do something about it."

He added, "perhaps this will teach the committee a lesson."

Declines to Rule on Little Rock

High Tribunal Leaves Issue to Appeal Court, Adjourns Until Oct. 6

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ended its current session yesterday by declining to rule on a U.S. circuit court and rule directly on an order suspending for 2 1/2 years desegregation in Little Rock schools.

Negro groups had asked the court to hold a special term and give a quick ruling. They asked the high tribunal to upset an order by U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley stalling integration for 30 months.

The Supreme Court said it had no doubt that the Court of Appeals in St. Louis will recognize the importance of the time element involved and will act in ample time for arrangements to be made for the next school year.

Among other actions, the court:

Threw out a contempt finding and $100,000 fine levied against the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by an Alabama judge.

Ruled President Eisenhower lacked authority to dismiss Myron Wiener as a member of the old War Claims Commission.

Upheld firing of a veteran Philadelphia teacher who refused to answer a question about Communist Party associations.

Barred enforcement of a California law requiring non-Communist oaths to obtain tax exemptions.

Denied New York gambler Frank Costello a review of his 1954 income tax evasion conviction.

Refused to review an arrangement under which Girard College of Philadelphia has continued as a school for white orphans only.

The Court recessed until Oct. 6.

Army Bids Anew for Place in Sky

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The Army today resumed its attempts to lay a claim, with the Air Force and Navy, for a place in the sky.

Attending the Army's Operation Ammo show of Army weapons are the nation's top military leaders, NATO representatives and heads of this country's main missile building companies.

None of the rockets are new. But today's show included the Nike Hercules—the stepped-up anti-aircraft missile.
