West Berlin Rejects Red 'Freedom'

Duffy Becomes a Boy

Pontiac Press Photos

THIS LOOKS LIKE FUN — So thought David (Duffy) Sears as he climbed up into a big barber's chair to get his first haircut. His golden red, natural curls had been there a long time, 2 years and 11 months, to be exact.

BUT IT'S AWFUL — Draped in the barber's sheet, Duffy's brown eyes filled with tears as the cool clippers of M. W. MacBride's, owner of Mac's Barber Shop, 1260 Baldwin Ave., went to work on the boy's locks.

SURE IS CHILLY — A package of chewing gum from "Mac" consoles the new Duffy who will hardly be recognized by his six brothers and sisters when he goes home. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sears of 4578 Diehl Rd., Hadley. The family moved to Hadley in June from their W. Chicago avenue home in Pontiac.

Pioneer Falls Over Africa; 2nd Try Due in February

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — The Army is planning to wait at least two months before trying to send another rocket soaring toward the moon and possibly beyond, informed sources said today.

★ ★ ★

The Army's Pioneer III, the second U. S. space vehicle to reach an enormous altitude while falling short of its goal, soared to a height of 66,654 miles before plunging to a flaming death Sunday afternoon over French Equatorial Africa.

★ ★ ★

The Air Force's Pioneer I, launched in October, reached an altitude of 71,000 miles.

Earlier reports said the Army would try to launch "Pioneer IV" in January or even late this month. But top Army sources made clear today that the second Army lunar probe can not be expected until February.

Army scientists set out today to correct troubles that thwarted their first effort to hurl a tiny package of instruments into orbit around the sun.

The Army's Pioneer III didn't get as far into space as did the Air Force's best efford Oct. 11. Revised figures showed the Air Force's Pioneer I reached 71,300 miles.

Two other Air Force moon rockets failed soon after takeoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla., which also was the site of the Army launching.

The Army's intent with Pioneer III was to pass the moon and perhaps go into orbit around the sun, which is some 93 million miles away.

The Army wasn't saying publicly just when it would try again. But Maj. Gen. John P. Medaris, chief of the Army missile command, said another shot is at least month off 'See me after Christmas," he told interviewers on a televised program.

ROCKET THRUST SLOW

Failure of the Air Force's pioneer I to reach the vicinity of the moon was attributed in part to a higher-than-planned trajectory. Another reason cited was insufficient rocket thrust.

In the case of the Army's Pioneer III, scientists said it was launched at too low an angle.

And they said its first stage fuel shut off three seconds too soon,

Retrial Ruling Expected Today

Attorneys Hold Stronger Evidence Possible for Herman Kierdorf

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams was expected to rule sometime today on whether Herman Kierdorf, once an aide to Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa, will be granted a new trial on possession of a pistol silencer.

Attorneys for Kierdorf reportedly have been gathering new evidence since the 68-year-old Madison Heights man was sentenced Nov. 10. They hope to win a new trial and possibly spare Kierdorf from a 1 to 5 year prison term.

★ ★ ★

Immediately after Judge Adams sentenced Kierdorf, uncle of human torch victim Frank Kierdorf, attorneys Eric E. Zisman and William F. Dohany filed for a new trial.

They argued in their seven-point motion that there was "a likely probability of stronger evidence being introduced on the part of the defendant in the event of a retrial."

The motion also stated that Judge Adams erred in not granting a postponement of the original trial "due to the undue publicity and notoriety" of the Kierdorf case.

★ ★ ★

Jerome K. Barry Jr., assistant Oakland County prosecutor, was expected to present oral arguments before Judge Adams today urging the conviction and sentence be upheld.

Meanwhile, Kierdorf was free under a $15,000 bond.

Woman Stands Mute at Hearing

'Chief Lieutenant' of Betting Ring Arraigned With 10 Other Women

Described as chief lieutenant of the $2¼ million numbers ring smashed by Pontiac police over the weekend, Mrs. Martha Campbell, 48, of 440 Saginaw St., stood mute this morning to charges of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws.

Bond for Mrs. Campbell was set at $1,000 by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Three other women stood mute to charges of conspiracy to violate state gambling laws. They were free on $100 bond.

★ ★ ★

Seven women stood mute to loitering charges and were freed on $25 bond.

Fifty-eight persons were arrested in the raid, called the largest in Pontiac history, on charges of violating city and state gambling laws.

Thirty-eight men stood mute Saturday before Judge McCallum. Twenty of these were charged with conspiracy to violate state gambling laws, and the others with loitering.

Charles Banks, 59, of 154 Wessen St., whom police called the chief of the ring, was out on $1,000 bond.

Deep Snow Coming by Tuesday Morning

TODAY'S TEMPERATURES

2:00 a.m.	12	10:00 a.m.	14
4:00 a.m.	12	12 noon	17
6:00 a.m.	13	2:00 p.m.	18

A heavy snow warning has been issued by the U.S. Weather Bureau for this area tonight.

The new storm, moving eastward from Nebraska, will drop three to seven inches of snow by early Tuesday, the Bureau forecast. Winds of 10-18 miles per hour are expected to blow the snow into drifts.

The warning also took in Northern Ohio, Northern Indiana, Iowa, Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois.

The Michigan State Highway Department this morning issued a bulletin that trunklines were made hazardous in the Oakland County area by snow which continued to fall. Heavy drifting also was reported to have slowed the traffic flow.

In Detroit, city trucks dumped 1,447 tons of salt on streets to clear them in time for work-bound traffic.

Pellston had 24 inches of snow this morning, and Houghton, with 28 inches, had the state's greatest recorded depth. The temperature was four below zero at Sault Ste. Marie today.

The Weather Bureau says the cold wave, which first struck the state Thanksgiving weekend, will continue for the next five days.

Temperatures will average 8 to 12 degrees below the normal 36 high and normal 24 low. Snow is expected again Thursday or Friday.

The low tonight will be 16 with some drifting and blowing snow. Snow will diminish to flurries tomorrow, predicts the weatherman. The high will be near 24.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 11. At 2 p.m. the thermometer read 18.

TWA Resumes Flights Today

6,700 Machinists Back to Work After 17-Day Shutdown

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Trans World Airlines resumed scheduled flights early today after a 17-day shutdown because of a machinists' strike.

The first flight left New York shortly after midnight bound for Los Angeles nonstop.

Eastbound international flights also began today, and westbound planes from abroad will take off later in the week.

The strike of 6,700 machinists ended Saturday night with announcement that a majority of the members in 20 locals of District 142, International Assn. of Machinists, had ratified an agreement reached here Wednesday.

The contract, expiring Oct. 1, 1960, calls for wage increases totaling 28 cents an hour for kitchen helpers, 44 cents for mechanics and 53 cents for mechanics who work on flight simulaters. Part of the increase is retroactive.

After the final adjustment Oct. 1, 1959, the hourly rates will be $1.73, $2.95 and $3.56.

Cliff Miller, District 142 chairman, said the union dropped its demand that seniority cease for machinist foremen who are not covered by the contract.

Communist Plan Voted Down by 98 Per Cent

City Council Victory by Massive Majority Boost for Mayor Brandt

From Our News Wires

BERLIN — The people of West Berlin voted overwhelmingly yesterday against Communist attempts to enslave them.

The vote for a West Berlin City Council was a clear cut and unequivocal "no" to Soviet attempts to turn West Berlin into a "free city" surrounded by a sea of Communist bayonets.

It was a massive vote of confidence for Socialist Lord Mayor Willy Brandt who declared, "West Berliners have said that never, and at no time, will they bend under the yoke of Communism."

★ ★ ★

Brandt, 44, a fighting anti-Communist, became the undisputed leader of West Berlin and thus a strong eventual contender for the West German chancellorship.

West Berliners voted in record numbers in what had been called a referendum on the Soviet proposals to drive the West out of Berlin, and 98.1 per cent of them rejected the Kremlin plan.

The Communists received only 1.9 per cent of the ballots and this from the labor district of "Red" Wedding which was known as a Communist stronghold even in the days of Adolf Hitler.

The Communist vote was smaller than in the 1954 elections and again was too tiny to win a seat in the city council.

BEHIND IRON CURTAIN

West Berlin lies 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain and is surrounded by Communist East Germany, dominated by 22 Soviet divisions and the East German Army.

The Brandenburg Gate separates it from East Berlin, now claimed as the capital of the Communist German Republic.

In spite of this—or probably because of it—the Communists suffered a devastating defeat.

The anti-Communist fervor of West Berlin's record 1,604,787 voters — 93.1 per cent of the electorate — was so great that they swept all except the two great anti-Communist parties out of the city parliament.

Where the city parliament formerly had an opposition of 19 Liberals, it now had 78 Social Democrats (Socialists) and 55 Christian Democrats who see eye-to-eye on the vital issues which command the attention of West Berliners.

All other parties failed to get the five per cent of the vote necessary to win a seat.

A TRIBUTE TO BRANDT

The Socialist and Christian Democrat gains were a direct tribute to Brandt, now a symbol of West

To Try Surface Firing of Regulus II Missile

POINT MUGU, Calif. (UPI)—The first firing of a Regulus II guided missile from a surface ship off the Pacific Coast is set for tomorrow.

The Navy has announced the 11-ton, 57-foot missile would be launched from the LST King County and would land "in the desert" —presumably at some isolated Nevada point.

The Regulus II has been fired at least four times in the Pacific area, including a launching from deck of a submarine, but never from a surface ship. Newsmen for the first time have been invited to witness tomorrow's firing.

Not-So-Funny Apathy

No Heed Paid to Air Raid Sirens

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Suppose an enemy did stage a surprise attack on this country. Suppose the air raid sirens obediently began to moan the alarm.

What would the poor citizen do then?

Judging by what happened here last week, the answer is simple:

Practically nothing.

Washington's air raid system was set off, accidentally, by telephone workers, and the klaxons and sirens gave the dread news: Get out of town, Get out of town.

A distinguished journalist was on F street, Washington's main drag, at the time, and has submitted an on-the-spot report.

FEW PEEK AT SKY

"Nobody did anything," he said. "Nobody ran or tried to get indoors. A few looked up at the sky, but nearly everyone just waited for the traffic light to change so they could cross the street."

And what did our distinguished journalist do in this crisis?

"Oh, I just looked up at the sky and waited, too," he said.

If it weren't for the fearful implications, the whole thing would be hilarious.

For instance, the Associated Press reporter who, like Chicken Little, reports when the sky is falling, tried to get Civil Defense headquarters.

"I either got a busy signal," he said, "or else someone said, 'Wait a minute,' went away and never came back. When I finally got someone to stay at the phone, she said, 'No one here knows anything.'"

In some government departments, workers headed for shelter areas. In others, they went outside and milled about. Most stayed at their desks.

NO ONE FLED

As far as can be determined, no one obeyed the alarm's command and scampered out of town.

The Civil Defense people naturally are a little upset by all this. One official said he finds it dismaying that millions of little cards have been put out explaining what the signals mean and still no one remembers.

(A steady wail for five minutes means, evacuate the place. A rising and falling cry means, it's too late to run, Buster, but you had better find a place to hide.)

★ ★ ★

Whichever warning it is, looking at the sky or waiting for the traffic lights to change won't offer much in the way of safety.

The Washington Post called the whole thing a farce, "an exercise in futility" that had "some pretty grim overtones."

Maybe it's just that this town has lived—or at least listened—dangerously too long.

TOO MANY BRINKS

Secretary of States Dulles is forever hurrying back from some brink. Generals are forever painting the gloomiest pictures of the future. Politicians of both parties are forever crying that the course proposed by their rivals leads directly to doom.

But let's end this on a cheery note. Over at the Treasury, everyone stayed at his post. An official explained why.

"We have to guard the money," he said.

That's comforting to know, if worse ever should come to worse. Let others gaze at the sky or traffic lights. Those who watch the nation's cash drawers will keep their eyes on that crisp money to the very end.

'Let's Go by Rocket'

Scientist Looks at Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Wernher von Braun, the Army's top missile scientist, says he regards the ballistic rocket "as a very suitable form of transportation" for people and cargo.

★ ★ ★

But he says a lot of people including Army officials—still must be convinced of this.

The German-born missileman discussed his ideas Sunday in a radio-television interview.

"We could use missiles that we have right now and fire people with them a couple of hundred miles," Von Braun said.

The missile, he said, should not be regarded only as an artillery weapon, but as a means of delivery that may deliver not only bombs but also people or cargo.

★ ★ ★

"I think we still have a lot of selling and convincing to do even within the Army before people are willing to accept the ballistic missile as a means of transportation," he said.

Five States Get Sub-Zero Temperatures

By The Associated Press

Subzero temperatures covered five states in the Northern half of the country early today.

Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana had numerous below-zero readings, the Weather Bureau reported.

★ ★ ★

The cold weather — somewhat milder — pushed into the South, with freezing temperatures reported in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and the Carolinas.

Some snow, heavy in parts of the cold-gripped states, was reported. In Wyoming and North and South Dakota 1 to 2 inches of new snow fell. Light snow continued in the Great Lakes area and the Ohio Valley.

★ ★ ★

At Sault Ste. Marie in Upper Michigan, 8 inches of new snow fell since Sunday morning, bringing the total of snow on the ground to 26 inches.

Two areas of upstate New York —battered since Thanksgiving by winter storms—staggered today under a new load of snow that ranged up to 30 inches.

More snow, ranging from flurries to heavy falls, and continuing cold was today's fare.

400 Brave Cold to Dedicate Community Services Building

More than 400 Pontiac area residents braved the freezing weather Sunday to attend the dedication and open house of the Community Services Building.

The new structure at 132 Franklin Blvd. houses the offices of the Pontiac Area United Fund and nine Community Chest agencies.

It was dedicated "to the residents and workers of the area who derive benefit from the 55 community service agencies included in the Pontiac Area United Fund." The Rev. Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church gave the dedicatory address.

Dr. Marbach honored the building as a credit to its builders, its craftsmen and the community.

★ ★ ★

Karl W. Bradley, U-F executive director, served as master of ceremonies and gave the welcoming address.

Paul A. Kern Jr. presented the building's keys to Glenn Griffin, president of the Community Chest.

"This is indeed a happy and red-letter day for our community," Griffin said upon accepting the keys.

Edward Leland, Scout executive, Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, explained how the new permanent facilities already have enabled the local agencies to increase their service and efficiency.

Designed as a functional structure, the two story building houses the offices of the Girl Scouts, Family Service of Oakland County and the Michigan Children's Aid Society on the ground floor. In addition, the first floor has meeting, lunch and mimeograph rooms.

The second floor accommodates the offices of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts, Big Brothers of Oakland County, Camp Fire Girls, Central Volunteer Bureau, Urban League of Pontiac, Visiting Nurse Association and the Pontiac Area United Fund and Community Chest.

★ ★ ★

Leonard T. Lewis, U-F president and a past president of the Community Chest, noted the building represents the realization of a 10-year dream.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bird presented a portrait of the late Clayton Springer, the first executive director of the Community Chest of Pontiac, to the building.

Rabbi Israel Goodman, Congregation B'Nai Israel and the Rev. Michael J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Michael's parish, gave the invocation and benediction.

A tour of the building and buffet supper followed the dedication ceremony.

Bond for 17 other persons accused of violating state gambling laws range from $200 to $500. Examination will be Jan. 6.

Bond was set at $25 for the 18 men accused of loitering.

The raids, which began at 3 p.m. Friday, climaxed an eight-month investigation by vice squad officers.

Piles of mutuels tickets, $2,500 in cash, a tabulating machine and a pinball machine were seized as evidence.

Search warrants for 31 establishments were carried by police. They hit 22 places in the southwest section of the city, including homes, drugstores, restaurants, drycleaning establishments and gas stations.

Police were releasing some persons arrested in the raid who had no connection with the ring.

One of these was John Hairston, 33, of 312 Harrison St., who was arrested while his car was being washed at one of the spots police raided.

Noted Silversmith, Arthur Kirk, Dies

Service for Arthur Neville Kirk, 77, of 288 Harmon St., will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow from Christ Church, Cranbrook. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy. His body is at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home.

Mr. Kirk died Sunday in the Bloomfield Hospital after a long illness.

A master craftsman in silversmithing, he was invited to this country in 1927 from London, England, by the late George Booth to create altar pieces for Christ Church.

Many of his works appear in noted churches throughout the country including St. Paul Cathedral in Detroit, and the Washington Cathedral.

Also an enameling master, he taught for 20 years at Wayne State University.

He was a member of the Liturgical Art Society, WSU Alumni, Michigan Silversmiths' Guild, and Christ Church Cranbrook.

He is survived by his wife, Vera; daughter Mrs. Austin Jones of Pittsburgh, Pa., a grandson, two sisters and three brothers.

The family suggests memorial tributes be directed to the Rector's Discretionary Fund at Christ Church.

West Berliners Vote Against Red Yoke

Berlin's determination to stay free.

Brandt announced solemnly and triumphantly after the election:

"This is a great victory for freedom which cannot be overlooked by Moscow. This election was a real referendum on the Soviet proposals for Berlin. The Berliners have declared that never and at no time will they bend under the Communist yoke."

There was no question but that the overwhelming rejection of communism strengthened the hand of the Western Big Three in the task of finding counter-proposals to the Communist note on Berlin.

★ ★ ★

The East German Communists immediately launched a campaign to excuse the Communist defeat as a result of gerrymandering and West Berlin "terror tactics."

ALL GO TO POLLS

They were so intent on voting in Sunday's bitter cold that many organized spontaneous motor pools to help get out the vote. And almost everyone voted except the aged and the ailing. Women, who outnumber the men two to one in postwar Berlin, led the march to the polls.

The vote itself left a minor problem about how West Berlin would be governed. It was generally believed Brandt would make a big gesture to his anti-Communist Allies and offer the Christian Democrats a coalition role in the city government.

Ernst Lemmer, leader of the city's Christian Democrats who was backed by Adenauer, joined others in calling the vote a plebiscite on the Russian proposals for Berlin.

Brandt, in a wry comment on Adenauer's campaigning, said he would go to the West German capital of Bonn at the end of the week for talks that could have been held in Berlin last week. This was a reference to Adenauer's refusal to meet alone with the mayor when Adenauer came to Berlin last week.

The Day in Birmingham

Commissioners to Review Policies on Assessments

BIRMINGHAM — A review of past policies on special assessment districts for street paving over the past 10 years will be studied by city commissioners tonight.

★ ★ ★

The study will be made to try to draw up a basis whereby city payments and assessments against property owners will be on a constant footing. In the past the assessments on property have varied widely.

The city has paid and expects to continue to pay a larger share when streets are widened or heavier pavements required for arterial use, officials said.

Also coming up at tonight's meeting will be the finance director's report on several sewer projects. In most cases it will mean payment of additional funds where estimates were below the actual working costs.

A construction permit has been issued for the U.S. Post Office Service Building being built at 2330 Cole St. The $140,000 building will serve as a post office annex and garage.

The November report of Andrew Butt, building inspector, shows a total of 19 permits issued, representing $229,190 construction costs.

Mrs. Robert Girardin will entertain the South Oakland Kappa Delta Alumnae Assn. at her home, 1723 Bowers St., at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Peter C. Kalinke, war correspondent in Germany, will speak on "Soviet Education."

New members recently initiated at Wayne State University are invited. A gift exchange and refreshments are planned.

Mrs. Hazel Welsh will be hostess at the annual Christmas Party of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Zonta Club at her Pine Lake home tomorrow. A dinner at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by a gift exchange and yuletide program.

Physically handicapped adults in the area will be guests from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday when the Junior League has a party at the Cranbrook Academy of Art galleries. Mrs. J. K. Bagby, president, will be assisted by Mrs. Forest Shea, party chairman in greeting guests.

2nd Try for Pioneer Likely in February

cutting its speed below the 24,900 m.p.h. during takeoff. It slowed as it rose, then gathered speed again on falling.

Medaris said the rocket design will be analyzed and its control system slightly altered.

Medaris said the firing of Pioneer III was completely successful in what he called its primary goal —to record the extent of the radiation band around the earth.

GET MORE DATA

Dr. William H. Pickering said the Army probe's round trip into space enabled scientists to get twice the amount of radiation data they would have gotten if the gold-plated cone had continued on instead of returning toward earth.

Pickering is director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology.

He said it probably would be about a week before enough of the radiation data could be evaluated to give a picture of conditions in space.

Pioneer III blasted off from Cape Canaveral at 12:45 a.m. Saturday —right on schedule. Some 20 hours later, it reached its apogee, or maximum altitude. By that time it had slowed to a few hundred miles an hour.

Then the probe plummeted, its speed increasing again as the earth's gravity exerted itself. As it plunged to its doom, its velocity was back up to an estimated 23,300 miles an hour.

A tracking station in Puerto Rico lost contact with Pioneer at about 2:30 p.m. when it was 2,000 miles above the earth. Scientists said their calculation of its time of death was based on a projection of the probe's rate of fall until that time.

According to calculations, Pioneer fell above Northern French Equatorial Africa.

Although burnout came after dark in Africa, there were no immediate eyewitness reports of the blazing finish.

Monkeyshines Almost Too Much for Britisher

AMERSHAM, England (UPI) — Geoffrey Curnow thought he was seeing things when he opened his front door yesterday to pick up the Sunday newspapers — a little monkey wearing a yellow waistcoat was sitting on them.

Before he could close the door the monkey hopped inside and made himself at home in front of the kitchen fire.

When Curnow called police to tell them about his visitor he said "they suggested I should lie down and sleep it off."

Then came notice from Mrs. Betty Fraser of Little Chalfont, half a mile away, that her pet monkey was lost. The mystery was solved.

"It wasn't so much the monkey which threw me," Curnow said afterwards, ". . . but that waistcoat . . . ghastly color it was."

Husbands Put Off Paying for Brides

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Parents of brides in Formosa's aboriginal tribes object to this modern practice of paying marriage fees on the installment plan. Councilman Chen Hsueh-yi of the mountain coastal town of Hualien says the parents, who get the fees, complain the bridegrooms often fall behind in their payments or run out on them after the wedding.

Screen Radiates Heat

NEW YORK — Now available is a folding radiant-heat screen with 20 square feet of heating area and wings that can be folded to focus the heat. Surface temperature is limited to 150 degrees to prevent burns. If the screen falls over, the power shuts off automatically.

Moth, Yucca Give Aid, Food for Each Other

WASHINGTON — The larvae of the pronuba moth eat the seeds of the yucca plant, which is fair enough since there would be no plants without the moths. The yucca's pollen is meager and too sticky to be moved by the wind.

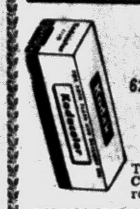

When the mother moth lays her eggs in a blossom, she gathers pollen from its anthers and places it on the stigma, thus fertilizing the plant's eggs. When the young hatch they find a banquet of seeds awaiting them. What they do not eat propagates the yucca.

Top Gridder Best Baker

ORONO, Maine (AP)—Leonard L. Comeau, who received praise during the football season for his play at guard and center for the Orono High School team, defeated three girls Saturday to win a regional cherry pie baking contest. Comeau thus became eligible for a state-wide baking competition in January.

Boy Believes His Father Did Operation

Surgery Fixes 5-Year-Old's Heart

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Great confidence in his dad and a desire to be strong as other kids led a 5-year-old English boy to the operating room where surgeons mended his defective heart.

Stephen Smith still believes it was his father, a 31-year-old London boilermaker, who performed the surgery Friday. Actually it was Mayo Clinic surgeons who did the operation, Stephen's only hope of living beyond childhood.

"Stephen knew how much the operation meant to him," Frederick Smith explained. "We have told him he can run and play like the other boys on the street if he gets well. I didn't try to mislead him but he has so much confidence in me that he thought I would do the operation."

At the head surgeon's suggestion, Smith went along when Stephen was wheeled into the operating room. Doctors let the boy believe his father would remain there. In the eyes of the frightened child, his dad was the man who would see him through.

★ ★ ★

"I don't want to tell him yet about the wonderful surgeons here who performed the operation," said Smith. "He believes I did it. I think it comforts him to feel that."

Doctors repaired a hole in the wall separating chambers of the lad's heart. The surgery appeared to be successful, but it will be a few days before physicians can tell whether Stephen will recover.

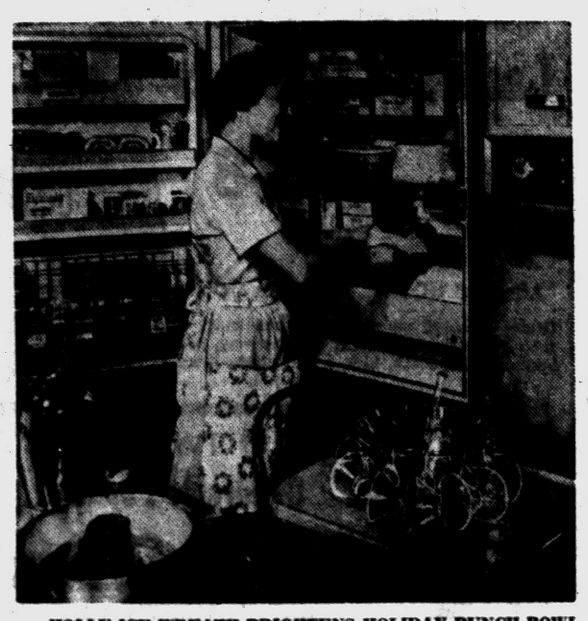

For a time Saturday, the Smiths feared they would lose their son. Mrs. Smith wept as she stood by the bed of her delirious boy.

After that scare, the Smiths watched their son begin to improve. He took liquid food Sunday. The incision stopped bleeding and the child was taken off transfusion.

"When he gets back to England he's going to want to take on the whole neighborhood because he knows he's going to be strong," said Smith.

The state of Georgia as originally constituted occupied much of the land now belonging to Alabama and Mississippi. Georgia sold this land, west of the Chattahoochee River, to the federal government in 1802 for $1,250,000.

It's Easier With Punch Bowl

Entertain All at One Time

A big party is easier, less costly, and more fun than several small ones, according to Jean Shaw, director of the Coldspot home service department at Sears, Roebuck. She has entertained 75 in one fell swoop in her own small apartment.

Plan your party decor, as well as your party menu, around the punch bowl. If you haven't a traditional silver or crystal punch bowl, raid the china closet for a substitute. A silver or ironstone soup tureen, a big pottery bowl, even an oversize pitcher, will fill the bill.

Apple cider is a basic punch ingredient certain to appeal to both children and grownups. Try diluting frozen lemonade with apple cider instead of water and floating it in a gay holly wreath made of ice.

To make the wreath, fill a ring mold with water and freeze. Pure bottled water and fast freezing will keep the ice from clouding and provide a crystal-clear housing for the holly.

Unmold the ice wreath under warm running water and arrange holly leaves and cranberries on the bottom of the ring mold. Now, replace the ice wreath and add a bit more water. Refreeze. Float the ice wreath upside-down in the punch bowl so the holly shows up well.

To carry through the theme, surround the bowl with holiday greenery and tiny red Christmas balls. A functional decoration, the ice wreath keeps the punch chilled without watering it down as ice cubes would.

Hot punch is equally simple to make and has special glamor this time of year.

Try a real old English Wassail bowl of hot spiced cider. You'll need 3 large oranges, 3 lemons, 1½ teaspoons allspice, 1 gallon cider, ½ ounce cinnamon stick, 1 quart cold water, 1 cup sugar.

★ ★ ★

Squeeze the juice from fruit and set aside. Place half of the rinds in a kettle with cold water and spices. Cover kettle tightly and let simmer about two hours.

★ ★ ★

Strain the spice mixture. Now put sugar, fruit juice and cider into a large kettle and pour the spicy liquid over it.

Heat to boiling point, pour the punch into a preheated punch bowl, and float unpeeled red apple wedges on top.

All Billboards to Stay on Michigan Scene?

LANSING (AP)—Michigan has yet to make up its mind on whether to take advantage of the new federal program to control billboard advertising.

State Highway Department officials said the plan set up by Congress has yet to be discussed in any detail by Michigan lawmakers or highway men.

★ ★ ★

A department spokesman said State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie likely would discuss the program with other highway officials at the convention of the American Assn. of State Highway Officials now in session in San Francisco.

The Legislature this year killed a bill which would regulate advertising along highways. Opponents argued that it would infringe the rights of owners of property bordering highways and place excessive power in the hands of the state highway commissioner.

PIXIE MOTHERS this year will collect a few million more dolls for their nurseries. Surprise will be vinyl doll (left) with rooted short blond hair. Or, for those who like a man around the house there's Jeff, a teenage brother of popular Ginny. Many dolls, such as this Toni doll in her knee-high chemise, take a hairset.

They've Got 'New Look' Too

Dolls Take to Sack Styles

The fashion world's hullabaloo over loose fitting styles versus figure-hugging silhouettes has carried over into the doll world.

Flexibility is the fashion keynote among doll designers. Prominent are teenage dolls attired in the latest chemiserie with floating panels and shorter skirts, embellished with knee hobbles and narrow hemline ruffles.

But, like the couturiers of the grown-up world, doll stylists also are featuring a variety of figure-fitting costumes.

Proper accessories get major attention in every doll wardrobe, Toy Guidance Council notes. Long strings of varicolored beads, for example, complement the sack-like chemise designs. Glitter pins and charm bracelets fill the fashionable doll's jewel box.

★ ★ ★

A well dressed doll has tinted stockings, pumps in varying heights and long-ribbed cotton stockings co-star with her gillies and sneakers for sporting occasions.

Rooted hair of the smart 1958 doll provides a wide range of hair style potentials ranging from banks and pony tails to Gibson girl pompadours.

All Mother's good grooming aids are included in doll kits, from wave set to toenail polish.

Even fur fashions get a featured spot in the doll parade. The development of long-piled fabrics as reasonable facsimiles of chinchilla, mink, seal and other precious furs has made an elegant "fur" wardrobe practical.

Soft Colorful Slippers Match at-Home Clothes

Whether in the glamour category or in styles for down-to-earth comfort, Christmas slippers for the feminine set feature new, glove-soft leathers in a dazzling range of colors to match or blend with today's colorful at-home clothes.

Higher-riding silhouettes cover more of the foot. In styles for both women and teenagers, much use is made of combinations in leather textures, and colors.

For example, silky soft brushed leathers are accented with overlaid strippings of shiny patent leather and smooth leathers are touched with detailings of finely textured grains in contrasting colors.

For evenings at home, the thong slipper and mule are very popular. Shown in such vivid hues as turquoise, coral, emerald green, burnished gold, these slippers are at best in the smooth, soft leathers that lend themselves to draping and crushing.

Mules, most often perched on curved mid-heels, are detailed with scalloping along the edge of the vamp or high-riding tongue effects that give a slenderizing line to the foot.

The low-heeled slipper and the new scooped-in wedge styles reflect high fashion in leather textures and colors and unusual styling.

Vamps in most instances reach higher up on the instep, giving the foot a more covered-up look. The slim, tapered toe silhouette is emphasized to complement the easy lines of casual clothes.

Spring in Winter for Reed City Bride and Groom

REED CITY (AP)—It was springtime 57 years ago when Matthew Erlier proposed marriage to Georgiana Shoemaker.

"You are not ready for marriage yet," said Georginana.

Now, in the winter of their 77 years, they are man and wife.

Erlier resumed his courtship following the deaath of Mrs. Georgiana Shoemaker Bates' first husband and Erlier's third wife.

This time Georgiana said "yes."

Atlanta Clergy Urge Sane Middle Way

About a year ago 80 white clergymen of Atlanta, Georgia, issued a manifesto in which they set forth a statement of principles with regard to desegregation.

Recently a group of 312 clergymen of the same city representing 17 white Protestant and Jewish denominations called on the South to save the public school system and to comply with the Supreme Court's ruling. The statement was endorsed by the Roman Catholic Bishop of Atlanta.

★ ★ ★

The new manifesto reaffirms support of the earlier one and says that schools must be maintained in accordance with the law of the land; that biracial citizens' groups are needed to preserve peace in the community and that free and intelligent discussion of the problem should be held in churches and synagogues.

★ ★ ★

While the group does not favor massive integration now, it does want integration in compliance with reason and the law. The ministers call for obedience to the law and maintenance of schools and warns that "never has there been greater need than now for men of good will in both races to voice their convictions, to exert their influence and to maintain open lines of communications" between responsible leaders of both races.

★ ★ ★

This calm and courageous statement, which may bring reprisals to the signers, is welcome in the South's emotion charged atmosphere. Men of good will in both races must find a middle way to resolve the issue in accordance with the highest moral considerations and the Supreme Court's ruling. Many Southerners now realize that the choice is integration or no schools.

New Corn Crop Plan Should Cut Surplus

Over a span of 25 years the Federal Government has been attempting without success to control the production of corn, the Nation's most important crop.

Farmers who have kept their acreage within Government allotments have had high price support for their corn, an average of $1.36 a bushel this year. Growers of "noncompliance" corn have had much lower prices—$1.06. This plan has proved ineffective in keeping down corn production. Acreage allotments have been cut again and again but still surpluses pile up. The present corn surplus of 1.132 billion bushels cost the Government $1.8 billion in subsidies, and is costing $370,000 a day in storage fees.

By a 71.1 per cent vote growers in 932 commercial corn growing areas recently approved the ending of the present acreage allotment system in favor of a plan to grow as much corn as they wanted. Price supports for 1959 will be pegged to the market as provided in the Agricultural Act of 1958. The national average support will be 90 per cent of the average price received for corn for the three preceding years but not less than 65 per cent of the parity price.

★ ★ ★

Agriculture Secretary BENSON is well pleased with the result of the referendum. He had warned that continuation of acreage allotments would mean no supports for "noncompliance" corn and that allotments for 1959 would be reduced 15 per cent to about 33 million acres.

It is to be hoped that this new plan will lead back to a competitive market and away from a system of agricultural controls which has continued to pile up costly surpluses.

Market Opens in Its Usual Somewhat Erratic Manner

Ignorant: Anybody who shortens Christmas to a four-letter word.

Getting started earlier than usual, the local Christmas tree market opens in a rather unstabilized manner. Prices range from $1.50 upward, with the accent on the "upward" on good trees.

In most former years there has been a tremendous slaughter of the trees in the northern part of the state, with no regard to the question of sales. In most years the cuttings have greatly exceeded the demand, so prices often dropped as low as 25c per tree on the near approach of the holiday.

This year there will be a good supply of home grown trees, which generally are better than those hauled from the north. They have been raised for the purpose, are symmetrical and fresh, and surely worthy of the thinking shopper.

The Pawn!

David Lawrence Says:

Nikita, Humphrey Discuss Religion

WASHINGTON — Eight hours with Nikita Khrushchev—that's the challenging opportunity which came last week in Moscow to Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn).

LAWRENCE

His comprehensive report on what was talked about was promptly relayed to the State Department. This did not include a supplementary discussion "of a personal nature" reserved by the senator for presentation to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles this week.

Significantly the conversation touched on some matters in the category of philosophy and religion. It didn't occupy the two men as much as the many other subjects of current importance, but may have been equally worth while.

For actually this is the channel that has been clogged up. Words of diplomacy and negotiation are meaningless unless they carry with them a trustfulness and sincerity that assure the fulfillment of pledges and agreements between governments.

Unless two men who try to settle any international dispute can agree on what is right or wrong, what is moral or unmoral, what is just or unjust, what is truly beneficial to millions of human beings and what is likely to be to their detriment, there is little chance to dispose satisfactorily of any of the major problems that cause friction between countries.

With these things in mind, the writer picked up the telephone on Sunday and talked with Sen. Humphrey in London. Following is an excerpt from our recorded conversation which Humphrey has permitted me to quote:

"Q. Did you get into the religious phase—our belief in God, and how so many people on our side have in mind this fundamental difference between our nations as being in the background of our difficulties?

"A. Well, I commented on that, but primarily in terms of questions. I asked about anti-Semitism, for example, in the Soviet Union, and about the whole question of religious freedom there. Khrushchev denied the existence of anti-Semitism and said there was a degree of religious freedom—in other words, that people could go to their churches. Of course, I pointed out that there were very few of them to go to. He was not too responsive, I might say, on this. I told him that the physical well-being of man was conditioned by his spiritual well-being, and that one of the things that always disturbed us was the lack of spiritual emphasis. He, of course, responds to this sort of talk by saying that, in the Socialist or Communist countries, people identify their own individual welfare with the welfare of the state. May I put it this way: That you can have some opportunities to discuss these things, but I doubt that it changes the minds of the leaders very much."

"Q. Well, you never can tell how much sinks in . . .

"A. No, you can't. The fact is that the degree of discussion—the amount of time given to it—indicated that there was some interest in what we were saying. One other thing: Khrushchev also told me a great deal about his parents and their religious feelings—that they were devout Christians and that he himself had been brought up in the Russian Orthodox faith. He demonstrated some knowledge of the Bible—so that, despite all of this odd, atheistic talk, I have a feeling that even Marxism does not fully eradicate the Christian spirit. I happen to feel that much of our activity—much of our program relating to the Soviet Union—needs to be put on this moral and spiritual basis."

Maybe Khrushchev thinks often about God, but doesn't like to say so out loud.

He hasn't been articulate on questions of religion, but he must realize that a vast part of the world has an abiding faith in a supreme being whether this faith is derived from the Old Testament or the New Testament or the Koran or the words of Confucius.

Two teen-agers confessed to robbing the apartment of a dance instructor. Maybe they can learn the lockstep.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Keeping System Regular Is Job for Mother Nature

Constipation or costiveness in persons who have no particular disease or ailment is merely a bad habit which the person can break or correct any time he really wants to. But first one with this stupid habit must unlearn some of the things he has been taught by parents, doctors and nostrum mongers.

DR. BRADY

In Volumette VII of my Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, "The New Brady Baby Book" (35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I say:

"A healthy, properly fed baby will never need any other laxative than the right food. The first dose of physic you give the baby, under any circumstance, is the beginning of all the trouble you will have from then on.

There simply isn't any kind of laxative, physic, cathartic or aid you can inflict on the baby which is without a bad effect — binding. Castor oil is particularly harmful in this respect . . ."

★ ★ ★

The only sound principle on which doctors of the horse-and-buggy era based the administration of castor oil was that it presumably expels or sweeps out indigestible, irritating or offending material and then locks the bowel for 24 hours. This may warrant a dose of castor oil as the first step in treatment of acute diarrhea, but by the same token it should protect the child from castor oil when costiveness is concerned.

There is no dire "auto-intoxication" or "toxic" consequence or locking up the bowel for a day or two. The objection to castor oil is that it upsets the natural, physiological, automatic regulation of digestion through the length of the digestive tract (stomach, duodenum, jejunum, ileum, colon) — and makes establishment of regularity or normal function difficult, or cultivation of the physic habit easy.

Most laxatives have this effect, but castor oil is particularly objectionable because it is so often the first monkey wrench tossed into the delicate automatic mechanism which regulates the bowel.

★ ★ ★

One who has long taken laxative, drugs or enemas to "regulate" the bowel rejects as nutty the suggestion that cessation of such unnatural interference usually permits the autonomic mechanism to resume control — the same nerve mechanism as that which regulates breathing and the beating of the heart.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Urges Citizens to Consider Queries on New State Tax

Here are several questions that should be answered if taxpayers are to accept the new state income tax plan:

What has the Legislature done to reduce operating expenses the past few years? What integration of various agencies and activities has been accomplished to eliminate duplication and reduce administration costs?

★ ★ ★

What plans are there to keep operating expenses at a minimum? What will be the additional administrative costs with this program? Is there some way to eliminate the expense of collecting sales tax and then refunding it as proposed? Could the sales tax be increased or left at three per cent and expanded to include real estate, thereby gaining tax revenues and eliminating increased administrative costs?

★ ★ ★

How long before the Federal Government will find it necessary to increase Federal income taxes to recover losses which result from deduction of state income tax in making out Federal tax returns?

If satisfactory answers can't be obtained for these questions, I urge every taxpayer to write his representative in Lansing urging the plan to be vetoed.

Writes to Dog's Cruel Master

To my cruel master of Pontiac Township. It was very cold outside the other night with no box or shelter to crawl into to have my puppies. I tried to cover them with my body but I am only a small dog so they died of the cold.

I was very sick myself. Maybe if my cruel master would have put me where it was warm I, too, would not have died.

My cruel master has another dog who is about to have puppies, also. I'm hoping someone will take her away or she, too, will die.

'Editorial Will Help Pontiac'

The editorial in The Press December 1 will have a dampening effect on some of the slander peddlers who make irresponsible charges against the good name of the City of Pontiac and its officials.

In most instances, there's no one on the defense of local government except those engaged in its operation. Pontiac is blamed for many things for which it is not responsible.

Unfortunately, this news travels quickly throughout the nation and the world. Many items are exaggerated and distorted out of all proportion. The Press deserves the thanks of the community.

'Pontiac Citizens Support the Joints'

I lived in the south part of Pontiac for 20 some years. Why did the booze joints and worse do such a business? Simply because they were kept up by some of the so-called better-off people. My goodness, they'd never live in that part of Pontiac. A goodly number of working people had built and started homes, but we had to give them away or put up with those joints.

★ ★ ★

I've seen police raid these joints less than a block from my own home. Then someone from another part of town would come along and set them back in business. Regardless of race, creed or color, the poor folks will always be run over.

★ ★ ★

The battle of the day seems to be the rich against the poor. But the south end of Pontiac has given the city some of its best citizens, even if their parents couldn't get protection from these hell holes.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

I will therefore chastise him, and release him.— Luke 23:16.

★ ★ ★

To leave no interval between the sentence and the fulfillment of it doth beseem God only, the Immutable!—Samuel Coleridge.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Start Early to Build Good Students

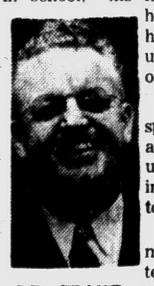

Ronnie's mother can get him into the university by what she does in the next year. For it is in the early grades that youngsters win or lose their chance for college. And you grandparents can also tip the scales. It isn't money that keeps kids out of college but lack of the critical skill named below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z - 385: Ronnie J., aged 8, is a livewire, typical American boy.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, Ronnie isn't too good in school," his mother said, "so how can we help him get into the upper 25 per cent of the class?

DR. CRANE

"Are there any special educational tools we can use to pep up his interest in school topics?

"We have the money, so please tell us how to prepare him NOW for entrance into college 10 years hence."

PARENTS, NOTA BENE

Parents, don't expect the TV programs to get your child into the university!

And college entrance is getting more difficult every day, for the colleges are flooded with so many applicants, they can't take them all.

As a result, only the top students are sure of getting in. And you parents, as well as grandparents, can guarantee your youngsters college entrance even when they are only the age of Ronnie.

But you will not be able to do so by college insurance policies. They furnish the cash, but many a boy with plenty of money will not get into college.

For the greatest single guarantee for college entrance, assuming a good I.Q., is the ability to read fluently!

Many mothers are unduly worried about vitamins and vaccination against disease, but don't show proper concern over the greatest mental skill of all, namely, the ability to read well.

So get hep to reality. Instead of telling your children (or grandchildren) so many stories of your own childhood, encourage them to READ ALOUD to you!

GRANDMA, NOTA BENE

"Tell me a story, Grandma," is the usual cry of youngsters.

Sometimes it is varied by the request:

"Please read me a story, Grandma."

★ ★ ★

But if Grandma (or Mamma) accedes to such a request, the child still has not had any drill on his own reading!

And it isn't reading skill by Grandma that will get the youngster into college 10 years hence!

No, indeed!

It is the child's own swift reading ability which will do the trick.

So you adults should furnish your child with plenty of reading tools and then reverse his usual query by saying:

"Junior, please read Grandma a story!"

This simple reversal will make all the difference in the world as to whether Ronnie will rise to the upper 25 per cent of his class and be able to enter college.

READING TOOLS

"But what are the reading tools?" you may logically inquire.

Well, for first and second graders, get a picture dictionary. And be sure you have an encyclopedia for the older children.

★ ★ ★

A typewriter also helps them learn to analyze the internal arrangements of letters in words. This zooms their grades in spelling, as well as reading.

And buy gifts that will also encourage their own reading, such as Bible Stories, Classics Illustrated, Little Sandy Sleighfoot and Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer.

Use flash cards, which you can make yourself, and soon you can speed up your child's reading, spelling and arithmetic marks.

For further details, send for my booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit).

It can do more to get your youngster into college than a $5,000 college insurance policy!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Georgia Court Hears Claim 3 Negroes Denied School Admission

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's attempt to prevent integration in public education will be tested in a suit scheduled to start today in U.S. District Court.

Three Ngro women charge in the suit that they were denied admission to Georgia State College of Business Administration in Atlanta because of their race.

★ ★ ★ ★

U.S. Dist. Judge Boyd Sloan will hear the case without a jury. Two other cases are pending in Atlanta federal courts but dates have not been set. One attacks the constitutionality of segregation in Atlanta's elementary and high schools. The other, brought by two Negro ministers, seeks to end segregation on the city's buses and trolleys.

★ ★ ★

The Georgia State suit has been pending since September 1956. It was originally brought up by three women and a man, but the man, Russell T. Roberts, asked that his name be dropped from the complaint.

Barbara Hunt, Iris Mae Welch and Myra Elliott Dinsmore charge that in June 1956 they sought to enter Georgia State and were turned down because entrance requirements are "unreasonable and arbitrary" and "discriminate and unlawfully exclude Negroes from entering" the school.

★ ★ ★

Georgia law specifies that all appropriations to a state-supported college be canceled if the college is ordered to integrate.

Ancient Palestine—a Land of Contrasts

THE PALESTINE OF CHRIST — The Bible tells that it was, "A land of brooks, of fountains and depths that spring out of the valleys and hills, a land of olive trees and of honey," but also "a dry and thirsty land, where no water is."

What was the land of Palestine like in the time of Christ?

"A land of brooks, of fountains and depths that spring out of the valleys and hills, a land of olive trees and of honey," says the Bible. But also, "a dry and thirsty land, where no water is."

Ancient Palestine, not yet scarred by the erosion that has laid many of the rocks bare, was a country of astonishing contrast, and in His wanderings through Galilee and Jordan, and through Jerusalem and the wilderness, Christ saw an almost unbelievable dissimilarity between neighboring regions.

He saw the citrus groves and the vineyards which stretched up and down the western coastline like ivy on the temple wall. He felt the warm Mediterranean wind which blew in from the west and brought with it life-giving rain.

Yet, just 50 miles from the coast there was a place where citrus groves and vineyards did not exist, nor an ocean wind to warm Him in the day nor a seabreeze to cool Him in the evening.

★ ★ ★

This was the Jordan Valley, the area around the Jordan River and the Dead Sea. There He saw only a barren waste spotted by desert blossoms able to survive the rocky and arid soil of the Jordan Valley. There He felt only a dry heat which burned Him during the day and a cold that chilled Him during the evening.

There Christ was baptized, at the point where the Jordan completes its journey from the mountains in the Kingdom of Judea and empties into the Dead Sea. It was there that John dipped Him into the waters of the Jordan River.

Jesus also traveled to the north into the province of Galilee, and there He saw near the foothills of Lebanon the tall and majestic cedars that made the rises and slopes look like a sea of green.

When the cedars came into view, His mind may have envisioned other trees that He had encountered in his wanderings through the Holy Land; the sycamore and the ash, the walnut and the evergreen oak. He may have thought about the flora of Palestine, about the anemone, the scarlet pheasant's eye and the beautiful narcissus.

As Jesus walked through Galilee, He saw the many wonderful things that the earth had provided for the children of this northern province. All around Him were the aromas of the figs and pomegranates, and of the olives and the grapes.

And as He came upon a city near the Sea of Galilee He saw the abundance of fish which these waters yielded.

To the southwest He saw the rich and fertile lands in which the grain of Palestine grew. He saw the wheat and the barley, and the people making bread and cakes.

★ ★ ★

It was there somewhere, near the town of Capernaum, that Jesus walked up on a mount and spoke to the people:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit; for theirs is the kingdom of heaven . . ." This was the land that Jesus had known. This was the land He saw and felt. A rich and fertile land in the north and west, a barren land in the east and a desert in the south. "A land of brooks" . . . "a dry and thirsty land."

Auto Driver in Poor Condition

Woman Trapped 8 Hours

BENTON HARBOR (UPI) — A woman who was trapped for more than eight hours in her wrecked car in sub-freezing weather was reported in poor condition.

But Mrs. Marie Louise Barnett, 40, has made some signs of improving and is responding to treatment, a hospital spokesman said this morning. The woman was listed in critical condition yesterday.

Mrs. Barnett's car apparently skidded on a snow-covered rural road, went down a hill and crashed through a steel fence and rolle about 150 feet before tumbling into a creek.

She was trapped inside the half submerged vehicle Saturday. The wrecked car was not noticed until hours later.

Mrs. Barnett's clothing was soaked when she was pulled from the wreckage. Doctors at Mercy Hospital said her temperature was 68 degrees when she was admitted Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Her temperatures rose to normal yesterday and in fact she was complaining the hospital room was too warm, nurses said. Mrs. Barnett was reported running a fever today.

★ ★ ★

An eye specialist was to examine her today to determine the extent of an injury to her right eye. Doctors also were battling to prevent infection in her right leg, which was fractured.

River Gives Away a Portion of Texas

YUBA, Okla. (AP)—The ever-changing Red River, the brder between Texa and Oklahoma, has cut a new channel near here, annexing a mile-square area of the Lone Star State to the Sooners.

No families were living in the new Oklahoma territory, formerly part of Fannin County, Tex.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled the south bank of the Red River is the dividing line between the two states. And the constantly changing stream poses problems for tax collectors of both states, since one state can't legally tax residents of another.

Hunters Are Right, They Shot Anteater

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) Thy swore up and down it was an anteater, but friends just smiled at the two hunters and said they must have shot something else.

Why, shucks, anybody knows that anteaters don't grow around here.

★ ★ ★

Carey Baldwin, director of the San Francisco Zoo, put everybody straight Sunday. The animal that escaped from its cage on a truck en route to the zoo Nov. 26 — and which the hunters shot — was an 80-pound ANTEATER.

Bob Considine Says:

Her Dad Mustn't Cry at Beverly's Funeral

NEW YORK — I've searched my memory for several days and fail to stir a more poignant scene than that at the graveside of a little girl named Beverly Burda, who was burned to death in Chicago's tragic parochial school, Our Lady of the Angels.

★ ★ ★

"The service for the girl will be held in advance of the mass burial ceremony," a windblown and shivering young priest said to us as the pathetic white casket was placed on its lowering apparatus. "It would be too much of a strain on the family to wait until the others arrive."

And so, while one after another funeral procession snaked into frigid Queen of Heaven Cemetery, the last rites of the Catholic Church were given to this little girl alone.

The Burda family and friends came forth, trodding the imitation grass and plainly stricken. First there was the mother, a short woman with her face of grief framed in a rough woolen scarf.

Two women supported her by her arms, and these two wept openly. The mother was silent. Her great dark eyes looked unbelievingly about the scene with the unfocused wonder of a person under a spell.

★ ★ ★

But behind them lay all the hurt and the why that had lain heavily on all the bereaved since the flames enveloped their children with shocking swiftness and pitilessness.

Mrs. Burda did not cry or utter a sound. If her friends had released their hold on her arms she plainly would have subsided to the frozen ground, eyes probably still open and body imprisoned in its trance.

★ ★ ★

But it was not Mrs. Burda and her inexpressibly silent grief who commanded the thunderstruck attention of those nearby. It was the father of the dead child.

He had no visible face of human skin. Instead, he wore a startling leather mask which extended from his hairline to his sensitive mouth.

Out of the right side of the mask, at eye level, protruded what seemed to be a jeweler's eyepiece with a pinpoint opening instead of a full lens.

He stood there, erect and silent, on the arm of a male member of the mourning party, oddly aloof to the wails of the women supporting his wife and even louder cries of women farther back in the procession immobilized at graveside.

The priest from Our Lady Help of Christians, where the little girl's separate Mass had been said, droned into the familiar ritual. But we could not take our eyes off the shocking leather mask.

Another priest, friend of the poor family, saw our consternation. And this is the heartbreaking thing he whispered above the whine of the marrow-freezing wind:

"He came from the hospital, against the doctors' wishes. Had an operation for detached retinas a few days ago. He has been told that if he cries that the salt of his tears will enter the open incisions and might destroy his sight for good."

Many around Mr. Burda were weeping now, but there this man stood, alone in his terrible darkness, and we too wept to see him fight for the control of his exposed chin.

When had man faced such an alternative?

When had man been so forced to steel himself against the compelling forces within which urged him to give vent and seek the purging relief of tears?

★ ★ ★

The service continued, mixing as of old the melancholy fact of death with the promise of life hereafter. The mortal remains and the soul of the schoolgirl were urged to rest in peace, and surely they would.

But what of the benumbed mother and the father who must not cry?

We found ourselves praying other prayers than those for the repose of the little girl.

We found ourselves praying for Mr. Burda, that he somehow would not do the most natural thing in the world—and let the scalding tears free.

We watched the naked tell-tale jaw, for there was no way to know what agony lay expressed behind the leather mask. It is not the jaw of a great fighter or male model but the jaw of just a poor guy who works hard and has been visited by more woe in the past week than most men suffer through their lifetimes. It trembled once, then firmed up, fluttered again and recovered itself.

It was time to go now. The weeping women led the stumbling mother away. The man at Mr. Burda's arm pointed him down the narrow line between graves, and he followed his wife.

★ ★ ★

Behind him the women of the mourning party cried aloud and reached out to touch the white box.

We don't know how Mr. Burda made out. We just don't know.

'Cowardly' Rabbits Avoid Extermination

LONDON (AP)—A group of public spirited Britons have launched an all-out campaign to persuade people that oryctolagus cuniculus is nothing but a common bum.

★ ★ ★

Organized as the Rabbit Advisory Council, they hope to establish in the minds of all that rabbits are evil, dirty, cowardly, and thieving, showing little or no restraint in matters of procreation.

The council proposes to introduce this theme into British school lessons and story books. Their ultimate objective is the total extermination of oryctolagus as a costly pest.

As might be expected among a people brought up for generations on child literature of the Peter Rabbit variety, the council is meeting with outraged resistance.

Five years ago the rabbit plague myxomatosis, believed to have arrived here accidentally from France, slaughtered the little animals by the million.

★ ★ ★

Farmers, estimating their crop losses to rabbit voracity as high as 84 million dollars a year, were encouraged to believe that the British rabbit would become extinct.

On the other hand, hat makers, who rely on rabbit fur to make felt, were far from happy. Butchers, who sell rabbits for food, suffered a loss of profits.

The hopes of the farmers and the fears of the hatters failed, it developed, to take into account the rabbit's hardihood and breeding ability. A strain of rabbit developed which was immune to myxomatosis. These immune rabbits proceeded to breed like rabbits.

In many parts of England fields once again are jumping with the little devils. This led to the formation of the Rabbit Advisory Council, and its members' ears are burning. Some typical letters to the newspapers say:

"I have had a toy rabbit since I was eight months old, and no criticism would make me hate it. I don't think mean, evil, or horrid are correct descriptions."

"Let us leave children their few remaining happinesses. May they long cuddle rabbits rather than toy guns."

★ ★ ★

"The rabbit is not mean, evil, loathsome, or a thief, or dirty. He is perfectly clean, full of courage, and intelligent."

It looks as though the council is in for a long, tough haul.

Pre-Man Skeleton in Passport Trouble

ROME (AP) — Oreothecus, the 10-million-year-old skeleton believed to be an ancestor of mankind, ran into passport trouble in trying to go to Switzerland.

A Swiss scientist, Dr. Johannes Hurzeler, after a long delay finally got permission to take the remains of a pint-size pre-man to his laboratory in the Basel Museum of Natural Sciences, but only after promising Italian authorities it would be returned.

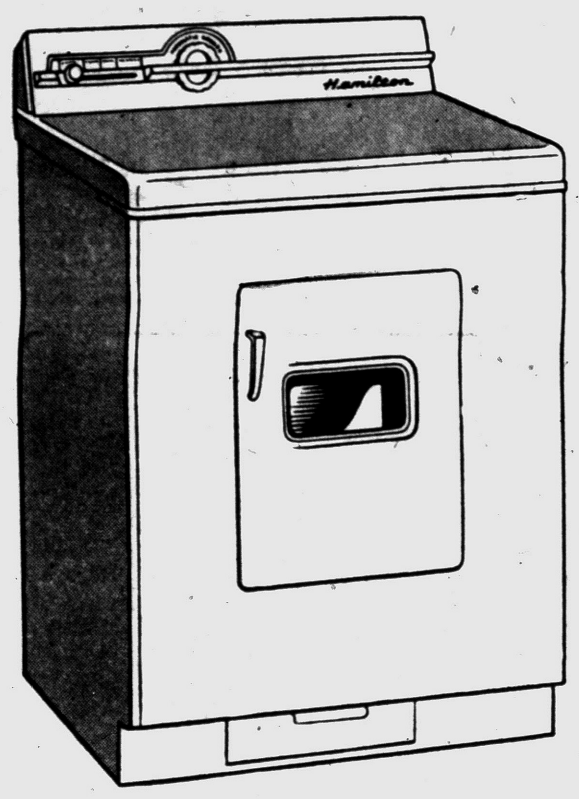

Metal Stapler Strong

EAST GREENWICH, R. I. — A portable metal stapler with penetrating power almost as great as that of large, pedestal-type stitchers normally required for metal stitching and other heavy-duty fastening jobs has been introduced by an East Greenwich manufacturer.

Insecticides Work Fast

WASHINGTON — Powerful new insecticides and new methods of applying them now permit effective control of grasshoppers. Aldrin, dieldrin, and heptachlor — three of the chlorinated-hydrocarbon group of insecticides — kill 90 per cent of the grasshoppers in a treated area in the first three days. Dieldrin needs to be applied at a rate of only three fourths of an ounce per acre. Aldrin and heptachlor are effective at 2 ounces per acre.

State Colleges in Top Ten List

U. of M. and Michigan State Rank High for Enrollment Figures

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Educational Magazine School and Society reports two Michigan universities are among the nation's 10 largest in full-time enrollment.

The University of Michigan ranks fifth with 23,506 students; Michigan State University is 10th with 19,597.

In terms of full and part-time students combined, Michigan places seventh with 26,581; Michigan State is 13th with 20,549; and Wayne State University ranks 14th with 20,430.

There are 1,828,660 full-time students enrolled in 944 American colleges and universities—an all-time high and a 4.1 per cent increase over 1957.

However, the number entering freshman engineering courses dropped 7.6 per cent from the previous year. This was termed a shock by Dr. Raymond Walters, a past president of the University of Cincinnati who conducted the survey for the magazine.

Walters also reported 1958 is the sixth straight year in which full-time enrollments had risen.

You're High Up Socially With Hearty Laugh

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The laugh is a barometer of social status, according to a Harvard University sociologist.

Professor Alex Inkles told a group at University of Michigan that the more often you laugh, the higher you are likely to be in the social scale.

"Contrary to popular belief," said Inkles in a lecture sponsored by the U. of M. sociology and psychology department, "the lower you are in social status, the less likely you are to report having laughed during the past day."

In addition, he said, lower status women are more likely to have said they have cried.

The Harvard professor said his rule on going from haw haw to who's who holds true in warm countries, such as Italy, as well as cold countries, such as Britain.

Urge Soviet Unions: Be Nice to Women

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet trade unions were urged to devote more attention to getting better treatment for women.

A letter to Trud said while women in the Soviet Union have economic and political equality with men, they still are suffering from disrespect — not necessarily in cases when "hooligans insult girls or a man beats his wife" but in ordinary day-to-day courtesies.

Analyze Cause of Fires

NEW YORK—Reports on more than 2,500,000 fires in the United States during the last 10 years show that a fourth of those fires were caused by the careless disposal of matches and smoking, 15 per cent by electricity, and 10 per cent by lightning. Those were the three leading causes of fires during the period.

Truman, Stevenson on Council

Dems Offer No Solution, Hit Ike's Foreign Policy

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—A highly critical Democratic Advisory Council — of which former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai Stevenson are members — blasts President Eisenhower's conduct of foreign affairs but offers no basic change of its own.

★ ★ ★

That sums up the long statement issued Sunday night by the council on American goals at home and abroad. It was a lot more explicit about domestic targets than foreign ones.

The council did suggest the Democrats, since they're running Congress, could produce a foreign policy they like if Eisenhower fails to please them. The council said:

Congress "has its own constitutional tasks both in devising policy and in wisely exercising the power to grant legal authority for its execution, along with the necessary manpower, material and funds."

★ ★ ★

But the council is caught in a double irony:

The Democrats, who'll run Congress these next two years, have been running it the past four. In that time they did not, as a party, produce any foreign policy basically different from Eisenhower's.

They'd be in an embarrassing position if they did.

The basic policy followed rigidly by Eisenhower since he took office in 1953 — containment of Soviet and Chinese Communists by ringing them with military bases and alliances — was the one laid down and followed by Truman before him.

The council even seemed to say — but not in so many words — that it approves the containment policy and wants no change in that. It said: "We are wholly determined that our country shall carry out solemn commitments to which it is a party."

The only place where the council got specific on foreign policy was in the field of foreign aid. It wants that stepped up.

But on the basic policy — since over the years neither party has thought of something new or different — there's no reason to expect any change in the next two years.

Ex-Enemies Recall Pearl Harbor Action

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An American herd of Pearl Harbor and a Japanese bomber pilot in the raid relived their parts Sunday.

As Lt. Col. Toshio Hashimoto and Lt. Col. Stephen G. Saltzman discussed their roles on Dec. 7, 1941, it was evident that time had erased all hatred.

Hashimoto is one of Saltzman's students in the Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Force Base.

At Pearl Harbor, Hashimoto was a lieutenant junior grade who piloted a Mitsubishi attached to the carrier Hiryu. He bombed the battleship West Virginia.

Saltzman wears a Silver Star medal for his courageous action while a second lieutenant assigned to an antiaircraft battalion near Pearl Harbor's Wheeler Field.

While rushing about awakening troops, Saltzman grabbed his rifle and emptied it into the cockpit of a bomber flying low in a strafing action. The bomber crashed and Saltzman said he found he had shot the pilot in the forehead.

FAST ON DRAW — Smile, when you say that, pardner. And this junior marshal moves to put his cross-over draw into action. He finds it most effective with a Colt .45 strapped to each leg. Replicas are a set with studded holsters.

Old West Booms Again When Toys Are Opened

Almost every day the Buffalo Bills and the Annie Oakleys of the house relive the battles of the old West. No other era of our history holds as much fascination for them.

Children, emulating their western heroes, demand authentic replicas of the guns and holsters worn by such notables as Wild Bill Hickok, Wyatt Earp and Bat Masterson. Realistic size, weight and cap-firing power have become a must for the young gun-slinger of the 20th century.

"Parents will spend some 55 million dollars on gun and holster sets this year," according to Joseph M. Breneman, president of a large toy-gun manufacturing company in Lancaster, Pa.

"Nearly 65 per cent of the holsters and 50 per cent of the cap pistols will be purchased during the Christmas season," he said.

To make the legendary heroes more a part of today's living, there is an authentic replica of the Colt .45, known as the gun that tamed the West.

This realistic cap-firing pistol has a gold finish revolving cylinder, six two-piece cap cartridges and a satin finish bone handle. After completing a round of firing, the youngster must reload the cartridges, just as they did in 1860.

The special construction of this pistol allows the smoke to be released from the barrel, adding to the realism.

Reports from Santa's helpers, the toy makers, indicate that a record number of gun and holster sets will be delivered this Christmas.

200 Families 'Flee' in Civil Defense Drill

CHICO, Calif. (AP) — The nation's first wholesale evacuation experiment involving an overnight stay was completed at this northern California city over the weekend. All went well.

★ ★ ★

More than 200 families from the north San Francisco Bay area converged in their cars at the town of Esparto Saturday morning, drove 130 miles to Chico in police-escorted convoys and were overnight guests of Chico families.

★ ★ ★

The test was sponsored by the California civil defense organization.

The families returned home after lunch Sunday.

Bump Sends Quarter Rest of the Way Down

DETROIT (AP) — Eight-year-old James Boyer caused excitement Sunday with his quarter for the Sunday school collection. On the way to church James half-swallowed the coin and began choking.

An ambulance picked him up and on the way to a hospital ran over a bump. James completed the swallowing. He was unharmed.

Quick Draw Nicks Foot

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Earl Vaughn shot himself in the right leg Sunday when the gun he was fast-drawing from a holster discharged prematurely. Vaughn is president of the Colorado Gunslingers Assn. of Colorado Springs. The wound was only a scratch.

Formosa Library Segregates Sexes

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Chief Librarian Han Shihlu i sagainst lifting the barrier between males and females at the Tainan Public Library on southern Formosa.

He told city councilmen favoring the idea that even now paper darts are used for flirtations between the segregated sexes, and added: "If the rule is revoked, even more undesirable forms of flirtation might occur."

One of the world's first libraries is at the palace of Assurbanipal in Iraq. The library "books" are clay tablets, some dating back 2,600 years.

It's so hard to keep a secret

"Know what I'm giving Daddy for Christmas?"

A clay ash tray, shaped by childish hands and a heart full of love? A calendar sticky with glue and March for the first month?

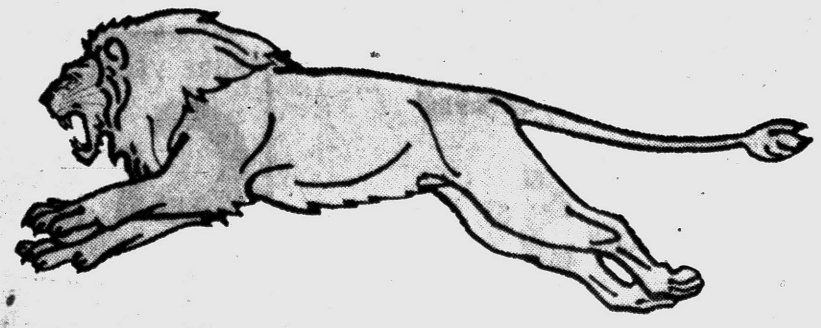

These are truly precious gifts—proudly given, tenderly received. Small tokens of a child's great love.

And a father's love for his child—how is that expressed? By a pile of gifts under the tree, a ride on Daddy's shoulders, a mended airplane.

Perhaps the surest measure of a father's love is something he may never see in use—his life insurance.

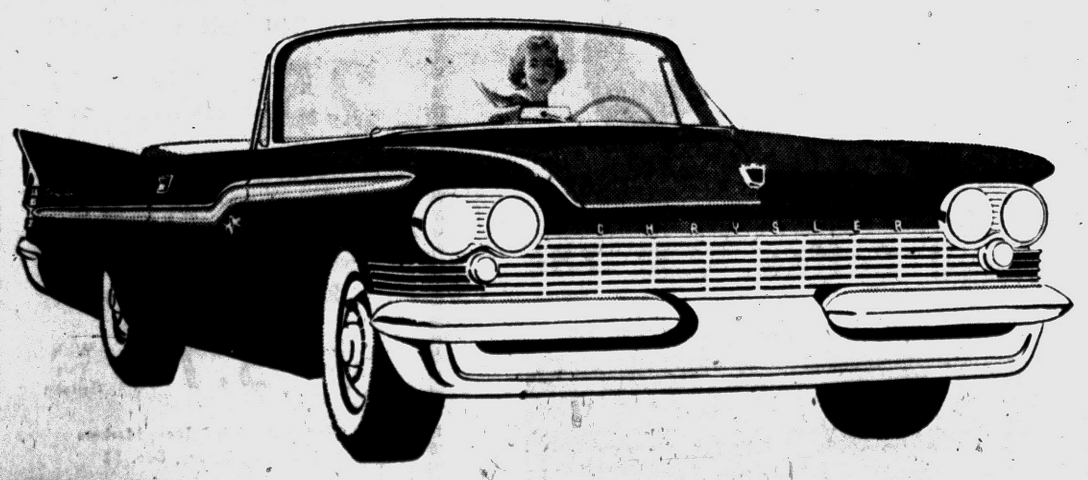

Life insurance is the year-round promise of fulfilling the hopes of both parents and child.

Marriage Blitz: Sex Propaganda

By The Associated Press

The modern wife is a creature harassed by propaganda and harried by TV commercials.

All day long, from the minute she opens her morning newspaper until she turns off the late-late show at night, she is beset by ominous commands, warnings and downright threats, such as these:

"When you use a deodorant, are you SURE?"

★ ★ ★

"If you want to hold your husband, better use the perfume that never fails, ATOMIC APPLE BLOSSOMS."

"If you don't buy MAGNETIC LIPSTICK NOW—your husband will look for it on another girl."

★ ★ ★

"Does your husband rush home at night? IF NOT, LOOK OUT!"

"Give him our HAPPY PILLS and enjoy a new outlook on marriage."

CONFIDENCE VANISHES

All these and more combine to give the average wife a feeling of desperate insecurity. She feels that if she doesn't look like Marilyn Monroe, dress like Mrs. Harrison Williams, entertain like Elsa Maxwell and smell like a perfume shop, she's in danger of losing her happy home.

Most of this is a lot of nonsense, says Hugo A. Bourdeau, a Baltimore marriage counselor, who writes in the current issue of a national magazine.

★ ★ ★

"The modern American woman is being greatly oversold on the importance of sex in marriage."

He believes that women all over the country are developing jitters, ulcers and nervous breakdowns trying to live up to the movie versions of sex appeal.

★ ★ ★

Actually, says Bourdeau, sex is only a part of married life—an important part, of course, but not the whole show. It's important, too, to raise a healthy, happy family, to have a peaceful, well-ordered home and to make a superlative apple pie.

TEAMWORK

Companionship and teamwork, hoping and building together, are some of the most important ingredients of a happy marriage.

And if you can go through hard times together and still be friends, you're a success.

Teenager Needs Rules—Abby

Stand Your Ground, Mother

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I (like thousands of other mothers) have developed an almost incurable disease overnight. It is called 'perforated cranium' which means 'Mother has holes in her head.' The symptoms first became evident when my daughter entered junior high. I refused to let her date on school nights, go steady, wear heavy makeup to school or ride around in cars with boys.

ABBY

"As yet she doesn't answer me back. She just stands and gazes through the holes in my head. I need some concrete help, Abby, to show my daughter that EVERYBODY in the eighth grade does not get privileges she wants. Can you help me?"

PERFORATED CRANIUM

DEAR PERFORATED: Each mother has to lay down the law according to her own best judgment. Simply state that you are not interested in what "everybody else" does (a loose term, indeed!) . . . "This is the way we do it in our house. Period."

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Have you a 'recipe' for happiness?"

SEARCHING

DEAR SEARCHING: Take two heaping cups PATIENCE

One heartful LOVE

Two handsful GENEROSITY

Dash of LAUGHTER

One headful UNDERSTANDING

Sprinkle generously with KINDNESS

Add plenty of FAITH and mix well.

Spread over a period of a lifetime and serve to everybody you meet.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Tell the people with 'rooster trouble' to get 'the man who owns one' to stretch a tight wire two or three inches above the place where the bird roosts and he will be quiet; you see the rooster must rise up to flap his wings before he crows, so if he can't raise up, he won't crow!"

W. W. B. (50 years experience with chickens)

"DEAR ABBY: My in-laws live only a 15-minute ride from us. During the 14 years I have been married we have always been on good terms. Last night they dropped in unexpectedly with a birthday card and two dollars for my daughter's birthday.

"They came at 7 and we sat and visited until 9:30. When they left my husband was furious with me because I had not offered them a cup of tea. (I never thought of it.) He scolded me until midnight over my social blunder and this morning he was still sulking about it at breakfast. Do you think what I did was so horrible?"

FEELING BLUE

DEAR BLUE: Your husband is behaving childishly. If HE thought his parents should have been offered a cup of tea, he could have suggested it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PONDERING: A "lady" is a female who makes it easy for a man to act like a gentleman.

Wouldn't Hurt Her to Wait

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other afternoon my young daughter, my sister and I went to visit a friend. My daughter didn't eat very much lunch that day and during our visit she whispered to me that she was hungry. I asked this friend if my daughter might have a glass of milk and some cookies. She gave them to her.

"When we left my sister said that she thought it was very nervy on my part to ask this of our hostess and that I should have waited until we left to get something for my daughter. Will you please tell me if my request was out of order?"

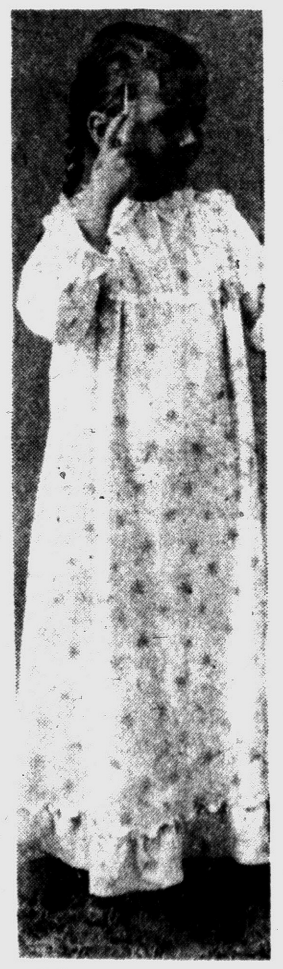

Answer: I agree with your sister unless the friend you were visiting was a really intimate one, and even then it seems to me that having to wait a little for her milk and cookies would have done your daughter no harm and might even lead her on another day to eat her lunch.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My boy friend and I have had a slight argument regarding an initial on men's handkerchiefs, shirts, etc. He claims the correct initial is the last one and I say it is the first initial. Will you please advise which one of us is correct?"

Answer: He is. John Smith's things are marked with an "S" —or preferably, "J.S."

"Dear Mrs. Post: When one couple is invited for dinner, naturally the woman guest is served first. But is the hostess next or the man guest?"

Answer: The hostess is served before the man.

What child wouldn't want to go to sleep in this soft flannelette flowered nightie? The yoke is edged in fine ruffled lace. The same styling is available in pajamas too. May be purchased locally.

Diet for Teenagers:

Trick or Treat? – Use Psychology to Lose a Pound

By RUTH WEST

If you are the man or the girl who wants to lop off some weight, you'll need to take some very positive action about sticking to your campaign. Here are some tricks that have worked for me:

TRICK NO. 1

Picture yourself minus 10 pounds, to stare down momentary temptations. Look at temptations this way: I can enjoy that butterscotch nut sundae (600 calories) only two to three minutes. If I don't take it, I'll have my new good looks that much sooner—and that will be a round-the-clock sensation.

> A moment on the lip, a lifetime on the hip.
> Old Saying

TRICK NO. 2

Analyze your eating impulses constantly, to get a clearer and clearer picture of the attitudes that put on the weight in the first place. When you catch yourself eating for the simple (simple-minded?) reason that everyone else is, stop.

Remember, slim people don't feel that to be popular they have to eat whenever their friends do.

TRICK NO. 3

If dieting is chic in your circle, publicize your project. Then when your hand is about to fall on the wrong kind of candy bar, there'll probably be someone around who'll make a snide remark. If dieting isn't chic in your circle, live by this shortest of poems:

I diet
Quiet.

TRICK NO. 4

Plan your next day's eating just before you go to sleep. And write it down. Don't think first of what is low-calorie. Think first of what you like best. And then figure how you can decalorize it.

Notice when you eat the most. Is it in the evening? How can you keep yourself diverted until you can break this habit?

Beware of just planning to watch TV or read, or sit with munching friends — food must be as unavailable as possible. Keep both your hand busy so they can't hold food or drink. The ideal would be to find something so absorbing you simply forgot about food!

> "Perhaps if we can find a cure for boredom, we can eliminate one of the major factors in overeating and obesity."
> Dr. Charlotte M. Young
> Cornell University

But do arrange something warm and comforting (and low-calorie) just at bedtime—hot cocoa (made with skim milk) and two vanilla wafers, for example.

TRICK NO. 5

Peg out some rewards for yourself. Little weekly rewards after your weighing-in, and one big one at the end of the line when you're slim and fit.

A girl might buy herself a fresh pink carnation to wear to school the day after the scales tell her she's lost an even five pounds. For the big final reward, our girl might promise herself the dress she's never been able to wear—size 10!

A boy might wangle, as a weekly reward, permission to stay up an hour later than usual for the Late Late Show. For his big reward he could try talking the family into letting him have the car for a weekend trip with a couple of friends.

NEATEST TRICK OF ALL

Do you have time for a part-time job? Some of these provide excellent exercise, and of course they'll generally keep you too busy to think about eating. A boy might consider washing cars or taking a paper route.

Both girls and boys could take young children to the playground or local museum, teach older children a sport, exercise dogs or horses, work in a supermarket or deliver packages for local shops. (Don't go overboard and take on something so tiring you can't do your homework!)

Church, community, or hospital volunteer work offers a bonus, too.

Grated Raw Apple Gives New Flavor to Bread

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Grated raw apple is the unusual ingredient in this quick tea bread. Like most baking powder breads, it improves with age and slices better the second day.

Today's cook is Mrs. Richard McGillivray. She is a member of the Eastern Star and of the Mary Lyon group of her church. Antique china is her hobby. She has three youngsters.

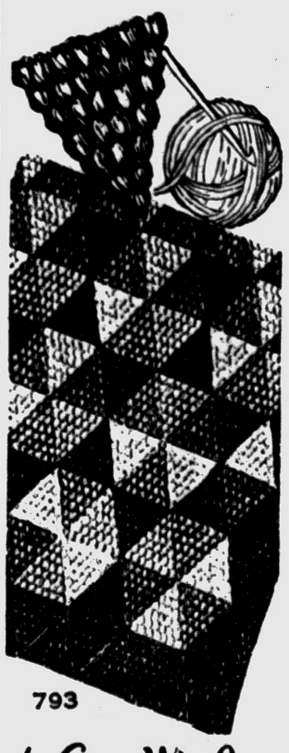

APPLE NUT BREAD
By Mrs. Richard McGillivray

¼ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
2 cups grated raw apples (peeled)
1 cup chopped nuts

Mix together in order given. Bake in a greased loaf pan 40-45 minutes at 325 degrees. Makes one loaf.

An "almost ermine" jacket—looks so much like the real thing, only the experts can tell the difference. Just right as an evening wrap to be worn over holiday finery.

Don't Run When Your Bell Rings

NEW YORK (NEA)—There's still a large gap between the way a woman should look in the evening hours at home and the way she usually does look.

★ ★ ★

The new at-home fashions are not expensive. You don't have to slink around in gold lame festooned with ropes of Oriental pearls. You can get yourself up nicely in tapered pants and silk or cotton shirt and look lovely. You'll be comfortable, too. And if friends or neighbors drop in, you won't have to scurry behind a door excusing your appearance.

★ ★ ★

For the gals who either can't or won't wear slim, tapered pants (are there any?), there are really beautiful robes in ankle or dress length, done in fresh colors of violet or apricot or cornflower blue.

Lounging pajamas no longer slink. They are cut with cropped jackets, wide collars and slim pants. Or tailored, boxy coats are worn over tapered pants.

Our Son Couldn't Do a Thing Like That

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The staid little eastern seaboard town, my newspaper said, had been aroused by outbreaks of teenage drunkenness, "six parties" and hooliganism. It told its police to get the situation under control.

Late one night a police officer spotted a loitering youth who should have been home in bed. Saying so, he got a "lot of lip." So he bundled the boy into the patrol car and drove him home.

When he got there, the boy's mother was outraged. She said, "My son doesn't do wrong things. You had no right to bother him."

What she meant was "You have no right to bother me."

Boil down all the learned studies on juvenile delinquency by psychologists, social workers, probation officers and sociologists—and they all add up in the end to parents who say, "You have no right to bother me."

If, like the young loiterer's mother, we reject aid indignantly, we need to know that we are claiming absolute self-righteousness.

Johnny has not ridden his bike over the neighbor's lawn because our perfect training has rid him of all carelessness.

Nancy couldn't possibly have been seen at that road-house because our example of respectability has been flawless.

Janey couldn't have called the other little girl dirty names because our lessons in "nice talk" have been so well taught.

MUST BE PERFECT

Parent's unconscious need to present an appearance of virtue to themselves is what forces them to close their eyes to children's faults—and makes all correction of them impossible.

Aprison chaplain once said to me, "Usually a criminal's mother says only one thing to me. She tearfully protests, 'Why is Billy here? He was always a good boy.' Yet on my desk is the record which demonstrates that Billy has been a bad boy for a long, long time."

This blindness is considered the beauty of maternal love.

It isn't beautiful and it isn't love. It just says, "My child is perfect because I'm so perfect."

And I wish that cheap poets and songwriters would stop sentimentalizing such arrogant nonsense.

Cleopatra was said to have owned a collection of wigs to match every mood and costume in her wardrobe . . . and, the only cosmetic that women used to dress their hair with was grease.

Selecting Gloves Is No Snap

Looking like a lady in well-cut leather gloves is more than just a matter of pulling them on any old which way.

The reason that some women are able to make gloves a point of elegance in a costume is that they are careful both about selecting them and wearing them.

It isn't enough to tell a saleslady your glove size. Always try them on before you buy, glove makers advise. They should fit snugly with no room left at the fingertips. The gauntlet part should fit the arm as well.

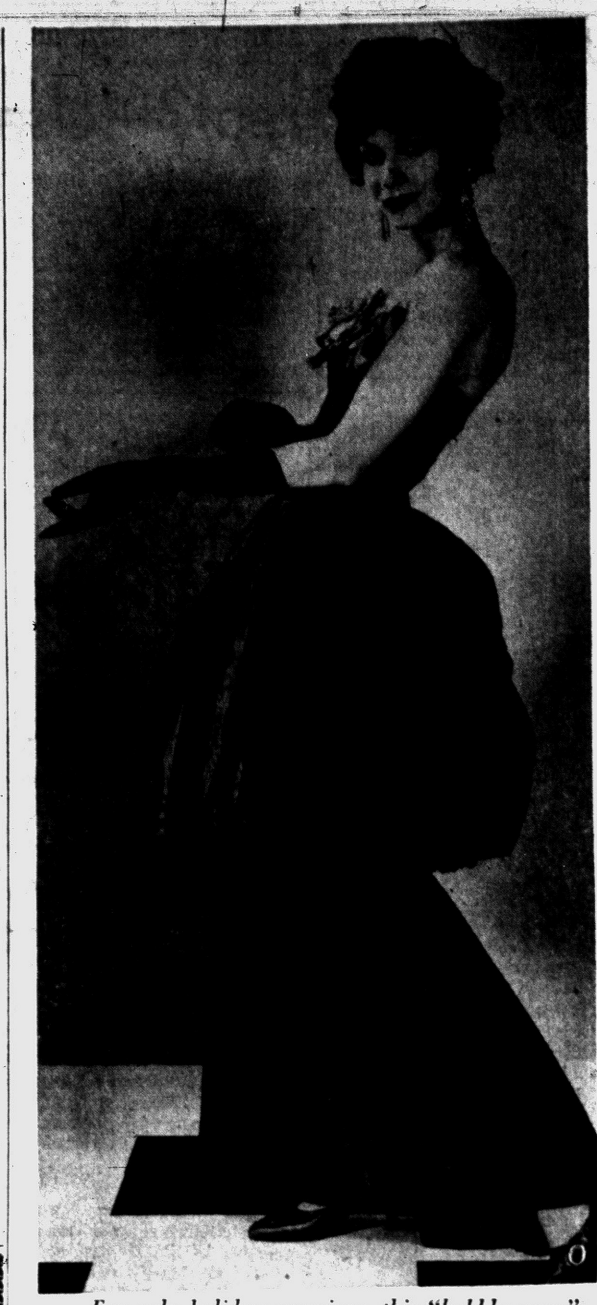

Rows of stitching will give your hands an illusion of slenderness if they tend to be wide.

And if you do not consider that you have a pretty wrist, don't wear a shorty glove. A glove that covers the wrist is your best bet.

A basic glove wardrobe should include shorties, elbow-length gloves and the longer evening lengths in white, black and pale beige. To these you can add the pastel and vibrant colors for wear with particular costumes.

For the most part, keep decorated gloves for evening wear. The classic white kid glove with beauvais embroidery or seed pearl trim is lovely. But highly trimmed gloves look out of place in the daytime.

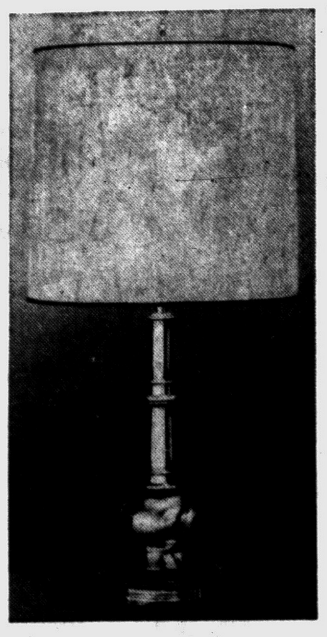

Quick topping for spaghetti: Tuna fish added to a meatless tomato sauce.

For gala holiday occasions, this "bubble gown" is exotically different. Of rich brown acetate taffeta, it features colorful flowers at the neckline. May be purchased locally.

Baldwin PTA Hears Panel on State Schools

"Michigan Schools" was the subject of the panel discussion held by Baldwin School PTA Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ray Ritter spoke on the required courses that schools are expected to offer. Although the state issues a few educational requirements, most of curriculum is initiated locally.

Speaking on teaching requirements, Mrs. Irene Albright stated that most teachers in Pontiac have bachelor degrees and many have masters degrees.

William Travis gave details on how our schools are financed; not only by local taxation, but by state appropriations.

Use Plan for Yule Lighting

Whatever you do in the way of Christmas lighting, don't overdo it. That's the advice of Myrtle Fahsbender, director of home lighting for Westinghouse, to homeowners who may be carried away by the dazzling array of ornaments and lighting "tools."

She recommends starting with a plan. Select only those feattires of the home, indoors and out, of which you are proudest by day and that deserve to be seen at night, too. Accent the high spots of each with light. The more of yourself that is reflected in holiday decorations, the more sincerely they convey a Yuletide greeting.

Tinted or colored light, especially effective when there's a white Christmas, no longer comes from colored filters clipped over clear bulbs. Colored lenses in blue, green, red or yellow are an integral part of spot and flood lamps and are of heat and weather-resistant glass for outdoor use. They make outdoor lighting more effective than before.

Those who go in for outdoor Christmas lighting are cautioned to use weatherproof cords, plugs, sockets and bulbs to insure safe operation in rain or snow.

Also, when decorating it's advisable to know the difference between "series" and "multiple" burning tree bulbs. The type string determines the type bulb to buy for replacement.

In a series string, when one bulb fails, all the others will go out. The burned-out bulb must be replaced before the others will light. In a multiple-burning string, each bulb burns independently and even if one fails the others will remain lighted.

Before starting, though, check cord sets that have been packed away since last Christmas. As a starter spread strings of lights on the floor and remove all the kinks. Then examine the cords for frays or breaks and see that the sockets are in good condition. Finally, test the bulbs. Such a check-up saves time in the long run and is a safety first as well.

Apply Rouge High on Cheekbones

Rouge, used lightly and wisely, adds a healthy pink glow to most skins.

Placing it high on the cheekbones and smoothing it into the temples makes face muscles look healthier. And this gives a lift to the face which mature women may need.

Wider Horizons

Fleeting Interest Turns to Hobby

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We miss so much pleasure and may even fail to uncover hidden talents unless we constantly widen the horizons of our daily lives—are alert to the interesting opportunities about us.

This was newly impressed upon me recently. I had known Emanie Arling years ago in Kentucky, our home state. I knew that she had become a successful writer, having authored three novels and an historical biography, but I had no idea that she also has become a painter of note.

Mrs. Arling began painting about six years ago and has just had her second exhibition at the Zodiac Gallery in New York City. She is one of the few artists who specialize in flowers. When I asked her about her new career, she said, "My first paintings were portraits because faces always interested me. Then it struck me that flowers have a texture very much like skin and are as different as human faces are."

Artist Emanie Arling visits her florist to select flowers for the flower paintings in which she specializes. She says painting flowers has one big advantage over painting people—flowers stand still, and don't rush off for appointments.

Painting flowers, Mrs. Arling reports, has one big advantage over painting people. The flowers stand still for as long as you need them, not having to rush off for an appointment at the end of an hour.

The way she started painting illustrates the fact that following bypaths often leads to new main roads. She sought help from The Museum of Modern Art in photographing a painting to illustrate one of her books. After receiving their assistance it seemed the natural thing to do to join the museum. Then she learned that they were that year giving a course in art orientation for adults. She joined this class.

Thus she began her first efforts at painting. At the end of the term when some of the students' work was put on exhibit she was surprised to discover that the majority of the paintings chosen were hers. This led her to take her art more seriously than she had at first and she continued with private instruction.

Emanie said, "But that's the way things happen, don't you think? One thing leads to another. If people would pursue what may seem to them to be a fleeting interest, I believe that they often would find that the mere exploration of that interest opens doors for them which can vastly broaden the horizons of their lives."

Many women have found that their hobbies or special interests turned into financially rewarding businesses. However, that is not the most important value of trying new things. Tomorrow I will give you some more of Emanie Arling's ideas about this.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Hobbies," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 66. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "You'll Be Enriched If You Satisfy Creative Urges."

All-Round Handyman Could Make Money

By RUTH MILLETT

"What this town needs is an old-fashioned handy man, who can do anything from fixing a sticky door to putting up shelves in a storage closet," complains a woman reader.

After a recent move she had to call in a "specialist" for every little job she wanted done — a glazier to hang a mirror on an interior stone wall, a carpenter to put up a few rough shelves in a storage closet, a painter to touch up some woodwork and a mason to anchor her mailbox and bird bath to the ground.

"One good handy man could have done every one of those jobs," she said. "But I had to make four or five telephone calls before I could find anyone to do each little thing. Then I had to sit and wait for each one to show up.

"They would say, 'I'll be there first thing tomorrow morning,' and then come that afternoon or three days later.

"None of these specialists really wanted to take on a small job like the ones I had, so I was at their mercy. I had to sit at home until they decided to show up and then pay through the nose for each simple little job."

Any woman whose husband hasn't the time or skill to be a handy man, and any woman who hasn't a husband she can depend on for such odd jobs can sympathize with this woman.

Every town does need some old-fashioned handy men to help housewives keep their homes fixed up. With all the older men who retire each year against their will it's a wonder some of them don't set themselves up in this business.

All it would take would be a few simple hand tools, a little knowhow and an advertisement in the local paper under the heading, "Old-fashioned handy man — save up a few odd jobs and give me a call. I'll fix them all."

★ ★ ★

Of course, a big section of the population has turned into do-it-yourselfers, because it is so difficult and often so costly to get a small job done. But there are lots of women who live alone or who have husbands who are too busy or too much all thumbs for do-it-yourself jobs.

They are ready-made customers for an old-fashioned handy man.

Mrs. Weaver Feted at Stork Shower

Mrs. Richard Weaver of Pingree avenue was honored at a stork shower given by Mrs. Ray C. Ebey of Woodlow road.

Among guests invited to the Thursday gathering were Diane Williams, Karen Sulla, Peggy Eagle, Joan Skelley, Jeanette Pearce, Mrs. Al LaPlante, Mrs. Jack Schwartz, Mrs. Robert Fraser, Mrs. Mary Doggett and Mrs. Rose Davies.

$400,000 Motel Opens at Loon Lake

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

With the opening of the $400,000 Edgewater Beach Motor Lodge on Loon Lake in Waterford Township, the beginning of one of Michigan's finest year-round resorts is under way, according to owners Erwin Cohn of Detroit and Donald Primo of Birmingham.

Costing more than one million dollars, the over-all plan will include two additional double-structure motel units, a large swimming pool and public swimming beach, with fully equipped bathhouses, tennis and badminton courts.

Situated on a 25-acre site at 3664 Dixie Highway, all of the buildings are expected to be completed by June 15. By the end of next summer, the entire area will have been landscaped, blacktopped and ready for operation, Cohn and Primo said.

Extensive dredging operations have been completed in Loon Lake. Tons of white sand from Port Huron will be dumped in the lake and along the shore.

Experts from Chicago have been called in to help plan a gigantic ice-skating rink, they said.

The entire lobby, which is separate from the main buildings, is enclosed by floor-to-ceiling plate glass. Downstairs, there is a big conference or display room for public use. The entire building is air conditioned.

★ ★ ★

Each room will have a television set, radio and telephone.

Boats, fishing and swimming will be available to guests next spring.

Ready Report on Water Tower

Rochester Council Will Get Plans of Survey Within 2 Weeks

ROCHESTER—A complete survey report on the proposed water tower to replace the village reservoir will be presented to the village council within the next two weeks, Paul A. York, village manager, announced today.

★ ★ ★

He has been appointed to head the project along with councilman John Dahlman, by Sydney Ennis, council president.

At last week's council meeting, York noted that construction of the tower must start this summer "to assure an adequate supply of water to meet Rochester's growing needs."

Following a statement by Councilman James Hill that the council should "definitely consider the possibility of fluoridation in the water system," Councilman William Chapman suggested that the fluoridation proposal be placed on the spring election ballot to ascertain the public's reaction.

★ ★ ★

Final plans on the Rochester Meadows housing development met with conditional approval by the council. The 90-lot subdivision overlooks Mill Pond and borders on Elizabeth street.

York said work on the Helen street curbing would begin in June, with bids to be asked in April.

The council gave the police department tentative approval to sponsor a local amateur talent show. No date has been set yet.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief Sam Howlett said the department is planning to use the proceeds for an educational practice firing range as part of the youth program.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Setzer of 3664 Shoals Rd. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell D. McNeil, 6674 Dixie Highway, Clarkston.

The bride's gown featured a skirt of tiered tulle ruffles with twin front vertical panels of lace which encircled the back and fell to the floor.

The molded bodice was topped in a bateau neckline outlined in appliqued lace flowers. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a miniature queen's crown of matching lace, sequins and baby pearls.

Baby Rescued by Sister, 11

Caswell Family Offers Prayers of Thanks for Safety

AVON TOWNSHIP — Awakened by the heavy smell of smoke yesterday morning, Floyd Caswell smashed a window in his home at 1882 June St. near Rochester and started carrying his eight children to safety.

Meeting his wife Vera outside, Caswell discovered that their 11-month-old baby, Kathy was missing. He dashed back into the burning home only to emerge again without the infant.

But Kathy had already been rescued. She had been unnoticed in the arms of another daughter, Magdalen, 11, when Caswell had ushered Magdalen to safety.

"It's a miracle," Mrs. Caswell said, uttering prayers of thanks for her entire family's safety.

Avon Township firemen battled the blaze, which broke out at 7:05 a.m., for two hours.

★ ★ ★

Caswell, a Rochester factory worker, said that in addition to the damage to the kitchen and utility rooms, a new refrigerator and stove were destroyed as well as a washing machine and children's clothing. No further estimate of damage was known yet.

Firemen said the blaze started from a leaking gas line near a hot water heater.

Neighbors have furnished a vacant home near the burned-out house for the Caswells to live in temporarily.

With the advent of high-fidelity and the LP record, Christmas music around the fireside, with a few friends to join the family group, is now a cherished custom.

Big Lead Held by Betancourt

Venezuela Ex-President Ahead in First Free Election Since Jimenez

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — After 10 years of exile and outlawry, ex-President Romulo Betancourt and his leftist Democratic Action party held a big lead today in returns from Venezuela's first free election since the overthrow of dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez.

With more than a fifth of the votes counted, unofficial returns from the voting Sunday gave Betancourt 302,368, Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal 226,633 and Rafael Caldera 134,770.

Democratic Action candidates also were ahead in the few returns available for congressional races.

Betancourt's party came to power in the 1945 revolt which overthrew Gen. Isaias Medina Angarita. The party elected writer Romulo Gallegos president in 1948, but he was turned out by Perez Jimenez in a military coup later in the year. The party was outlawed and Betancourt went into exile.

★ ★ ★

Larrazabal, 47, was head of the junta which ruled the country after the ouster of Perez Jimenez last January. He was the candidate of the Democratic Republican Union and also accepted the Communist party's indorsement.

Caldera, 42, a lawyer and labor expert, leads the Christian Solialist party (Copei).

★ ★ ★

No matter who wins the presidential and congressional races, the new Venezuelan government is expected to lean to the left for the next five years. There has been no organized right - wing group since the overthrow of Perez Jimenez.

Planet to Sun and Return Interesting Possibility

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Man some day may graduate from the field of artifical satellites to the launching of a planet that would keep watch on the sun and send scientific data back to earth.

The interesting possibility was held out by Dr. Homer E. Newell of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) at a briefing for newsmen on "Celestial Mechanics."

"We talk of artifical satellites and space probes now," he said. "An artificial planet is something we might do some day."

An artificial planet would circle both sun and earth in a vast orbit hundreds of millions of miles in circumference. It would soar near the sun and sweep on until it curved around the earth on the return trip.

The planet would carry instruments to measure solar radiations up close and get information on the processes taking place on the sun's surface. This information would be recorded magnetically.

Then, when the artificial planet reached the earth end of its long orbit, it would broadcast the data stored in its magnetic memory.

Pilgrims Crowd Route to Mecca

Pious Moslem Travels to Visit Holy City Once Despite Hardships

WASHINGTON—The holy city of Mecca is welcoming an increasing number of pilgrims, despite recurrent turmoil in the Near East.

From as far away as the Philippines and Senegal, hundreds of thousands of pious Moslems travel to the Arabian city each year by ship or plane, by camel or donkey or bus. Not a few go on foot.

★ ★ ★

Wherever he lives, a Moslem faces Mecca to pray five times a day. Once in his lifetime, he must make a pilgrimage to the holy city, if he has the means of doing so. The Koran says, "Verily, the first house founded for mankind to worship in is surely at Mecca, a blessing and a guidance to the worlds."

With better transportation facilities, increasing numbers of the faithful are crowding the routes to Mecca. Saudi Arabia has taken many measures to make the pilgrimage safe and pleasant.

Today Mecca is considered so holy that non-Moslems are not permitted to enter it. In the courtyard of the Great Mosque stands the Kaaba, a severely square stone house, customarily draped with black cloth. Moslems believe Abraham built the Kaaba at the command of God. This house is Islam's holy of holies. It is so sacred that no planes are permitted to pass over it, and the devout say that even the doves fly around it.

★ ★ ★

When a pilgrim arrives at Mecca, he bathes, faces the Kaaba, and says, "Here am I, O God, at Thy Command! No equal hast Thou; here am I." He clips his nails, cuts or shaves his hair, and takes off his regular clothes. He then wraps himself in two pieces of seamless white cloth, so that nothing remains to show whether he is rich or poor, great or humble.

Win for Lions Looked 'Automatic'—So It Seemed

Giants Triumph 19-17 as Field Goal Is Blocked

New York Title Hope Saved in Final Minute of Game

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What looked like an "automatic" defeat turned out to be a title-saving hope for the New York Giants at Briggs Stadium yesterday afternoon.

With only 70 seconds left in the game, Jim Martin's try for a field goal from the 25-yard line looked like a sure victory for the Lions. But the Giants had made plans just for such an occasion.

Linebacker Harland Svare shot through a hole opened by Andy Robustelli and ex-Lion Carl Karilivacz and blocked the kick to save a 19-17 victory for the Giants.

"How often do you ever see a field goal blocked?" asked George Wilson afterwards.

★ ★ ★

In his own locker room New York coach Jim Lee Howell provided the answer. "The odds are against it, in fact 100 to one."

The Giants' coach admitted his team had practiced against field goal attempts with the hopes of making it pay off someday. It did yesterday.

When Martin lined up for the attempt, the Giants' defensive unit set up their strategy. Robustelli agreed to take out end Jerry Perry and Karilivacz went for Roger Zatkoff, leaving Svare the one delegated to crash through the opening.

The ball bounced high into the air and the Giants recovered and ran out the clock.

The key play, however, came earlier when Yale Lary went back to punt from his own 44 with a 4th down situation and 21 yards to go.

Instead, Lary tried to run around right end and was thrown after gaining only one yard. The Giants struck quickly for the winning touchdown with a 35-yard pass from Charley Conerly to Bob Schnelker to the 10-yard line. Frank Gifford went over from the one a moment later for the score.

★ ★ ★

"It sure surprised us to see Lary trying to run the ball," said Howell, "but we're happy it turned out that way."

"I called the play," said Wilson. "We didn't want to give up the ball and it worked before. We thought we had them off guard."

Failure to take out Jim Katcavage turned into the two points which ultimately won the game. The big Giant broke through the line and smeared Gene Gedman five yards in the end zone in the first quarter to give New York a 2-0 lead.

★ ★ ★

Jim Patten grabbed the first of his two interceptions to set up an 18-year field goal by Pat Summerall and give the Giants a 5-0 lead.

New York made it 12-0 when Patton recovered John Henry Johnson's fumble on the Lion 19 and Conerly tossed 6 yards to Alex Webster to cap the short drive.

Martin's first field goal from the 29 made it 12-3 and in the third period Tobin Rote passed two yards to Ken Webb to make it 12-10.

Detroit looked fired up when Wayne Walker grabbed a Giant fumble and raced 34 yards for a touchdown and a 17-12 lead.

Then came the attempt by Lary to run the punt and the Lions' downfall.

Present Conference May Be PCC's Last

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Members of the Pacific Coast Conference gathered here today—for what may be their last meeting.

Officials said the meeting will deal mostly with routine matters. Preliminary talks started last night. The meeting will continue through tomorrow.

On the agenda are details connected with the end of the conference June 30. It will be the last PCC meeting, unless one is called in the spring to conclude matters not settled this week.

FATAL 2-POINTS — Detroit Lions halfback Gene Gedman did this awkward fling after being hit in the first period by New York Giants' tackle Jim Kateavage (5) for a safety. Gedman took a handoff from quarterback Tobin Rote. The safety proved to be the margin of victory for the New Yorkers who won the game, 19-17 at Briggs Stadium.

Lions May Be Worse Physically for Bears

The Detroit Lions may be in even worse physical shape for the bout with the Chicago Bears next Sunday.

Four regulars — Howard Cassady, Bob Miller, Gil Mains and Jim Doran — missed yesterday's 19-17 loss to New York.

Back Gene Gedman was injured in the first period Sunday, suffering torn ligaments in his leg. He, too, may miss the Chicago contest.

Dr. Richard A. Thompson, team physician, said Cassady probably will miss the finale. Mains, Doran and Miller already have been declared out for the season.

★ ★ ★

Quarterback Tobin Rote, who led the Lions to the world title a year ago, was just about as disappointed as anyone in the locker room after Sunday's loss.

He looked at the statistics sheet, which showed the Lions with 14 net yards passing. "Ain't that pitiful," he said. "Just pitiful."

The Giants were second-guessing the Lions for the fake kick that enabled the New Yorkers to move in for the go-ahead touchdown.

★ ★ ★

"That really came as a surprise," said one. "We're awfully happy it happened, though."

Coach Jim Lee Howell said he believes his team can beat the Cleveland Browns next week, and force a playoff for the Eastern conference crown.

"They had a little trouble getting up today," he said. "We didn't move too well, except for those breaks early in the game."

Someone asked if his team might have been overly concerned about the outcome of the Cleveland-Philadelphia game.

"I don't think so," he said. "We fully expected Cleveland to win that one, so it didn't bother us when the score was announced. The thing that put life into our club was Detroit's second touchdown. We perked up then."

Harney Winner in Puerto Rico

Fires Final Round 68 to Take Dorado Beach Golf Tournament

DORADO BEACH, Puerto Rico (AP) — Paul Harney, son of a Worcester, Mass., police sergeant and one-time Egyptian match play champion, got his putter under control Sunday and won the $30,000 Dorado Beach Invitation Golf Tournament with a 284 after a final round 68.

★ ★ ★

Harney was four strokes off the pace after three rounds over the 7,115 - yard semi - jungle layout where par is 36-36—72. The course was made even tougher because of heavy rains, which hit the players again Sunday.

★ ★ ★

But he fashioned his 4-under-par to finish a stroke ahead of Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla., who also spurted on the final day as Wes Ellis of Aldecress, N.J., leader after Saturday's fireworks, fell back.

Ellis finished third with a 286 after a final round of 75. Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., was fourth with a 287. Tommy Bolt, U.S. Open champion, and Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., tied for fifth at 288.

★ ★ ★

Walter Burkemo of Detroit, and Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., finished among the first 35 players in final standings. Burkemo, with a 301, wound up in a tie for 31st place with Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla. Harbert, with 303, finished in the 35th spot.

Fired-up Coach Carried Away

ELK MOUNTAIN, Wyo. (AP)—High school coach Frand Bonds stormed into the team dressing room after a sloppy practice session.

"Fellas, if we're going to win ball games, youve got to think football, eat football, sleep football," Bonds proclaimed.

One player looked up.

"But coach, this is basketball," he said.

Win by Browns Against Eagles Nails Title Tie

Victory or Knot in Finale Would Clinch Eastern Crown

By The Associated Press

Coach Paul Brown, the master manipulator of the Cleveland Browns, today set out to find the weapon capable of destroying the New York Giants' defensive bastion.

★ ★ ★

It's the Giants' defensive unit Brown has to beat Sunday in New York's Yankee Stadium if Cleveland is to add to its string of Eastern Conference titles in the National Football League.

Cleveland defeated Philadelphia 21-14 yesterday, clinching at least a tie for the championship, while the runner-up Giants stayed alive with a 19-17 victory at Detroit.

That leaves the Browns (9-2) with a one-game lead over New York (8-3). A tie or victory in the regular season finale Sunday gives Cleveland the title. The Giants can only hope for a playoff by winning.

★ ★ ★

If a playoff is needed it will be staged in New York Dec. 21. The Eastern winner meets the Baltimore Colts, Western Conference champions, for the NFL title the following Sunday (Dec. 28) in the Eastern entry's park.

The Colts dropped a 30-28 decision at Los Angeles Saturday, although Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas pitched three touchdown passes and set a NFL record. It was the 24th consecutive game in which Unitas had passed for a TD, breaking the mark set by Green Bay's Cecil Isbell in 1942 with 23.

★ ★ ★

In the rest of yesterday's games, the Chicago Bears beat the Chicago Cardinals 30-14, San Francisco ripped Green Bay 48-21 and Pittsburgh came off with a 14-14 tie against Washington.

★ ★ ★

Quarterback Milt Plum was the big man for the Browns, scoring twice and then throwing a 48-yard strike to Ray Renfro for the TD that broke a 14-14 tie in the third period.

While the Eagles were unable to mount any sort of running attack, Jimmy Brown padded his league-leading rushing yardage total with 138 yards in 21 carries for Cleveland. Lew Carpenter chipped in with 100 more for the Browns.

Norm Van Brocklin was the Eagles' only threat. He completed 15 of 27 passes for 154 yards and one touchdown.

★ ★ ★

The Bears exploited a mess of miscues by the Cards and made the most of George Blanda's toe to win the 71st meeting of the cross-town rivals. The Bears led 30-0 at the half, with Blanda booting three field goals, and coasted into a second place tie with Los Angeles in the Western Division.

Syracuse Is the Culprit

Celtics Lose Grip on 1st

By The Associated Press

The Syracuse Nationals took the bows today for bouncing the Boston Celtics out of first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

In a home-and-home weekend series, the Nats whipped the Celtics 101-92 at Boston Saturday and then repeated the trick at home last night with a 108-104 decision.

As the result, the New York Knickerblockers, who were idle Sunday after losing 99-92 to Detroit Saturday, took over first place by a half-game margin over the Celtics.

Syracuse's two victories moved the Nats into a third place tie in the division with the Philadelphia Warriors, who dropped a 107-97 game to the St. Louis Hawks Saturday, then trounced Cincinnati 103-90 in Sunday's televised game. Cincinnati won Saturday, downing Minneapolis 132-128, in three overtimes.

Larry Costello was the big gun in the Nats' Sunday triumph over the Celtics. He went on a scoring spree in the last six minutes and in a space of 50 seconds scored six points to break a 94-94 tie. He ended up with 23 points, one less than teammate Johnny Kerr. Costello also checked Bob Cousy with 14.

Eighteen straight points in the third period carried the Warriors to their victory over the Royals. Paul Arizin, who was the games' top point maker with 23, scored seven of his 11 third quarter points during the Warriors surge.

Big Schedule This Week

Cage Powers Get Feet Wet

By United Press International

Kentucky, Kansas State and West Virginia have all gotten their feet wet but they take the real plunge this week in a back-breaking schedule that should reveal whether the three top powers will sink or swim this season.

Kentucky's NCAA champions, who licked a tough Temple team 76-71 Saturday night for their second straight triumph, meet three of the country's toughest customers this week, starting with Duke at Durham, N.C., tonight. The Wildcats then meet Southern Methodist on Thursday and always-formidable St. Louis on Saturday.

Kansas State, ranked second only to Cincinnati in the preseason ratings, may have its work cut out on the West Coast where it faces California on Friday and San Francisco the following night. Even on its own court, K-State was pressed all the way before downing Indiana 82-79 in overtime last Saturday.

It won't be easy pickings this week either, for West Virginia's defending national champions.

The Mountaineers, winners of 26 out of 28 last year, ran their current season record to three straight victories with a 78-63 win over Penn State but they'll have to get by Duke as well as the Citadel and Virginia within the next seven days.

Third-ranked Notre Dame, idle during the weekend, gets back into action against Northwestern tonight and has a date with Wisconsin next Saturday. Northwestern rolled to its second straight victory by defeating 11th-ranked Maryland 66-62 Saturday, so the Irish could have trouble.

Top-ranked Cincinnati is one of the few clubs among the nation's leaders which has a light schedule this week. The Bearcats play only once this week and they'll be heavily favored to register their third straight win at the expense of Marshall College on Saturday.

Washington, which was reputed to be the strongest team in the Northwest, was the only casualty among the big fellows during the weekend. The sixth-ranged Huskies dropped two in a row to Colorado.

North Carolina State made it three in a row even though it had to go into overtime to beat Wake Forest 56-52, while Kansas didn't seem to miss Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain as it coasted to a 75-54 decision over Canisius. With Wilt gone, Ron Loneski is the Jayhawkers' kingpin. He netted 30 points against Canisius.

In the Southwest, Arkansas beat Oklahoma 61-52; Southern Methodist stopped Iowa 65-55, and Rice mauled Wisconsin 78-37.

All-State Teams on Way!

DETROIT (AP) —The 18th annual Associated Press All-State high school football teams will be announced this week.

Starting tomorrow in The Pontiac Press, there will be complete details and statistics on the top high school football players in the state.

They were selected after the most careful balloting and examination and the results provide the best there is to be found in Michigan high schools.

The class D team will be announced tomorrow, with the C, B and A teams following on succeeding days.

The names of former AP all-staters who have made another great mark in the collegiate and professional ranks would stretcher from here to there.

The Detroit Lions of today have three ex All-Staters in Gary Lowe, Terry Barr and Earl Morrall. Other NFL stars who gained AP recognition are Norm Masters, Dan Currie and Tom Tracy.

The newest stars will start appearing on these pages tomorrow.

Top Gate Seen for Title Test

MONTREAL (AP)—The Archie Moore-Yvon Durelle fight here Wednesday night for the world light - heavyweight championship may draw more money than Canadians ever have paid to see a boxing match.

★ ★ ★

Promoter Eddie Quinn says the advance sale has nearly reached the $80,000 mark, already more than the record Montreal gate of $76,000 drawn by middleweight Laurent Dauthuille and Johnny Greco in 1949.

Quinn figures the total will pass the Canadian record of $120,000 grossed in Toronto for the Moore-Jame J. Parker fight two years ago.

Interest appeared on the rise during the weekend. More than 800 fans turned up Saturday to watch the two battlers work out. Both managers declared their boys in top condition.

Manager Jack Kearns, says his Archie, who admits to being over 21 by about a quarter century, will have no trouble making the DEFENSIVE HAWKS—Chicago Black Hawks put on a solid defense in the first period against Detroit when the Red Wings attempted to score from behind the net. Goalie Glenn Hall falls across the net with Jack Evans (5) and Al Arbour (18) giving a hand on defense. The game ended, 2-2, at the Olympia.

Wings Rally for 2-2 Deadlock

Redshirts Tie Hawks With 10 Seconds to Go

Sawchuk Leaves Cage, Delvecchio Connects on Olympia Ice

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — Another 10 seconds and it would have been too late for the Detroit Red Wings and their loyal supporters would have had nothing to cheer about.

It's never too late as far as the Red Wings are concerned, however, and as a result their faithful following assembled in Olympia Stadium last night cheered mightily.

The Chicago Black Hawks were leading the Wings, 2-1. Goalie Terry Sawchuk had been pulled out of the Detroit cage in the final minute of play for the privilege of a 6th attacker.

There were only 15 seconds remaining in the game and all hands were jammed around goalie Glenn Hall in the Chicago net as Detroit's Norm Ullman faced off against big Elmer (Moose) Vasko of the Hawks at Hall's left.

★ ★ ★

Ullman won the faceoff and the puck went to Jack McIntyre who passed it across the goalmouth to Alex Delvecchio standing near the crease at Hall's right.

Hall was caught out of position by the quick pass and Delvecchio fired the puck into the open corner for a dramatic goal at 19:50 of the 3rd period that gave the Wings a well-earned 2-2 tie with the Hawks.

Hall had been nothing short of sensational and he probably deserved a kinder fate. Still, in view of the steady bombardment the Redshirts leveled at him, he was perhaps lucky to escape with a deadlock.

It's difficult to imagine a hockey game so lopsided from the standpoint of skating and shooting and yet so close to being a victory for the badly outplayed Hawks. Only Hall's phenomenal goaltending made the tie possible.

The Wings outshot the Hawks, 40 to 13. They had shooting margins of 8-7 in the 1st period, 13-3 in the middle stanza and 19-3 in the 3rd session. Hall kept all of them out of the cage except two and the Hawks also dented Sawchuk twice in their few scoring chances.

Almost everyone on the Red Wing roster repeatedly missed opportunities to crack Hall's armour. Time after time Gordie Howe missed a chance to cash the 400th goal of his National Hockey League career.

Chicago's Ed Litzenberger broke the scoring ice in the 9th minute of the 1st period with a 25-foot screen shot which slid off Sawchuk's pads into the net.

The Hawks upped their lead to 2-0 in the 2nd minute of the 2nd period when ex-Detroiter Lorne Ferguson rifled a 15-footer from point blank range which caromed off Terry's skate and skidded home.

Detroit finally broke through Hall's steel-plated guard at 16:42 of the middle period when Ullman, standing near the goalmouth, deflected Howe's 35-footer into the exposed corner. Nearly everybody in Olympia thought it was Howe's 400th goal, but the credit went to Ullman.

The deadlock made it a profitable weekend for the Wings in their home-and-home series with the Hawks. Warren Godfrey and Red Kelly each scored twice on Saturday afternoon as the Wings scored a 4-3 victory in their nationally televised NHL contest at Chicago.

Faces Changing for Detroit Tigers

Need a Program?

DETROIT (UPI)—As last season, Tiger fans won't be able to tell who's who in the opening day lineup without a program.

General manager John McHale, in the never-ending quest for a combination to lead the Tigers out of the doldrums, made his third major swap over the weekend for 1959.

McHale dealt off infielder Reno Bertoia and minor league chattels Jim Delsing and Ron Samford to the Washington Senators for veteran infielders Eddie Yost and Rocky Bridges and outfielder Neil Chrisley.

The move gives manager Bill Norman an entire new left side of the infield and if he goes with a lineup of Gail Harris at first, Frank Bolling at second, Bridges at short, Yost at third, Charlie Maxwell in left, Harvey Kuenn in center, Al Kaline in right and either Lou Berberet or Red Wilson at the plate there will be only three players that were developed in the Tiger farms.

★ ★ ★

Bertoia, although he's shown good power, has never measured up to expectations. Signed by McHale in 1953 from the University of Michigan campus as a bonus player, Bertoia always remained shy and withdrawn.

His only batting feats of note came early in 1957 when he set the league afire with his hitting. When it was revealed he was taking tranquilizers before the game his average fizzled faster than a moon rocket.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers realized they're getting two players not particularly known as gazelles in the infield but both Yost and Bridges have been steady ball players and the Tigers have had a problem on the left side since George Kell was traded and Kuenn slowed a step at shortstop.

★ ★ ★

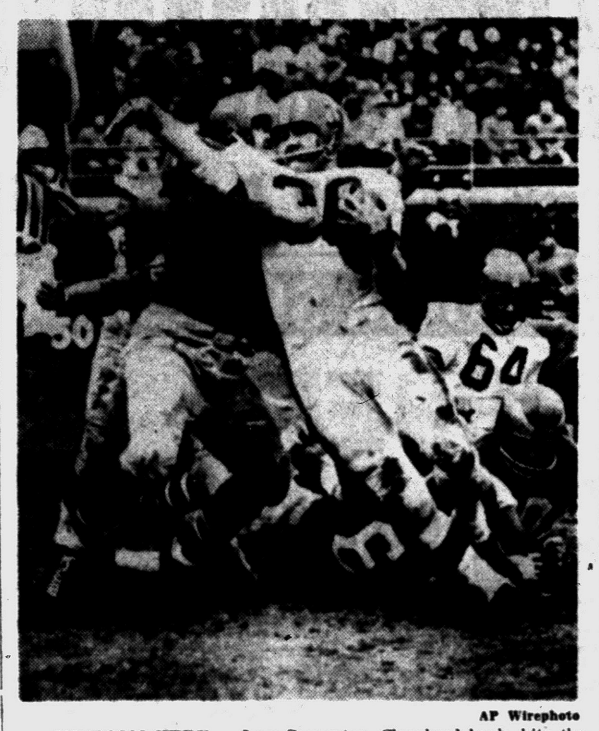

And Yost gives the Bengals a much-needed lead-off batter. Norman and Jack Tighe shuffled nearly every player in the lineup into the No. 1 spot at one time or another during the season and Norman said he'd like to have Kuenn hitting lower in the order.

Yost long has been one of the top bases on balls men in either league. Yost is 32 and Bridges is 31.

★ ★ ★

McHale's dealings have brought in pitchers Ray Narleski and Don Mossi; infielders Yost, Bridges and Ozzie Alvarez; catcher Lou Berberet and outfielders Earl Hersh and Chrisley. Berberet, Hersh and Chrisley are southpaw sluggers.

In exchange, McHale gave up Billy Martin, Herb Moford, Al Cicotte, Samford, Delsing and Lou Skizas.

Mikemen Offer Stiff Opposition

St. Frederick Wins 21st in Old Rivalry

By H. GUY MOATS

Followers of the two Pontiac parochial high school basketball teams crowded into the big Central High gymnasium Saturday night, anticipating a ding-dong battle. And they were not disappointed.

St. Frederick, playing much better ball than it showed in its season opener last Tuesday night, took the measure of new coach Jim Niebauer's St. Michael five, 49-36. It was the Shamrocks' first game of the Suburban Catholic League's new season, and the northsiders made it a very interesting battle.

The count would have been much closer but for a chilly first period for the Shamrocks. The northsiders couldn't locate the hoops in the opening session and collected only four points (2 goals) in 15 shots from the floor. Rams were rolling up an even dozen counters, half of them by Steve Pocs in the same time. Pocs emerged as top point-collector for the game with 16. Speedy Chuck Steinhelper led the Shamrocks with 14.

★ ★ ★

After the opening round, Mikemen played their city rivals almost on even terms. Shamrocks scored first, but Rams wiped out the brief edge with some quick points and were never in danger from then on.

Where Steve Pocs took over the scoring department for Rams, it was Joe Keller and Tom Derocher who were the playmakers, and defensive standouts, along with Art Robak and Tom Dabbs for Shamrocks.

The victory was the 21st for Rams in 36 engagements between the schools, extending back to 1942-43 season. This rivalry is one of the most venerable among SCL schools.

Junior Rams also were victors. Led by Reed's 13 points, the St. Frederick JVs defeated Little Shamrocks 48-40, in a tilt that matched the varsity game for closeness. Jim Hurrn had 16 for Junior Mikes.

Large delegations from both schools packed the stands, and gave continued and vociferous support to their favorites. Peppy girl cheerleader teams were busy all evening, adding much to the color of the event.

Early season prospects mentioned Rams, OL St. Mary, St. Benedict and St. Michael as the teams to watch. Rams, Eaglets and Ferndale St. James have chalked up league wins so far. The Highland Park Ravens begin their title defense Tuesday night at Center Line St. Clement and are favored to join the other victors.

Spartans Romp Titans

Butler Next for MSU 5

By United Press International

Michigan State, which showed a green Detroit team a few new tricks Saturday, makes its second nonconference outing tonight when the Spartans entertain Butler. MSU then knocks off basketball for nine days for winter exams.

Forddy Anderson's club shot into a quick 9-0 lead and then toyed with the Titans the rest of the way, winning 88-51. Butler, which meets Michigan Friday, has lost both of its starts.

In other action tonight, Western Michigan travels to Central Michigan, Adrian is at Ferris and in the lone MIAA game, Olivet hosts Hillsdale.

Michigan plays only Butler this week and then is idle until Dec. 20. The Wolverines snapped back after their Friday night defeat to Tennessee to wallop Kent State 83-55 in the consolation round of the first Midwestern Invitational at Kent State.

★ ★ ★

Calvin, along with Hope a top favorite in the MIAA, stepped out of conference play Saturday to whip Central Michigan 72-57 while Hope, led by Paul Benes' 27 and Ray Ritsema's 22, grabbed a 77-56 league victory over Adrian.

★ ★ ★

Fred Whims netted 18 of his 30 points in the final 10 minutes as Greenville, Ill., wiped out an Olivet lead and won 74-69 in the last 28 seconds over Olivet. Doug Mitmesser had 27 for Olivet.

Youngstown of Ohio fought off a closing-minute surge at Eastern Michigan to down the Hurons 71-62. Eastern, which trailed throughout the game, pulled to within four points in the last four minutes but then fizzled. Mike Yugovich had 24 for the Ohioans.

Northern Michigan and Chicago played a game reminiscent of the old Oklahoma A&M ball control style with Northern coming up a 44-30 victor in the dedication game at its new field house.

Benton Harbor Junior College handed Hillsdale its third straight defeat. Benton Harbor went into a 2-1 lead and never fell behind in marking up a 74-69 triumph.

Detroit Tech took its first setback in three starts when three-time loser Assumption rallied for a 56-55 decision.

Long Season for Wayne 5

CLEVELAND — A lot can happen in just two years.

Ask Joel Mason, Wayne State's basketball coach.

Just that short time ago his Tartars were beginning a new season with a bright outlook for success. The season before that they had played in the NCAA tournament after posting a 17-1 regular game mark.

But after two games of the young 1958-59 campaign, Mason is proclaiming: "It may be a long year."

★ ★ ★

The Tartars, who in better days were shoo-ins for the Presidents' Athletic Conference Cage Crown, were dumped by two Conference cousins during the weekend in Cleveland.

For the first time in a seven-game series, Case Tech dumped the WSU quintet, 10-59.

Western Reserve followed and Wayne bowed again, 74-56.

Canadiers Stretch Lead

By United Press International

The high-scoring Montreal Canadiens are pretty much on schedule as they attempt to break open the National Hockey League race.

After faltering for a few games, the Canadiens got back on the beam over the weekend with 6-0 and 4-1 victories that lengthened their first-place lead to four points. They have a 15-7-4 record compared to last season's 26-game mark of 17-5-4 that was good for a seven-point lead.

The Canadiens bombarded the New York Rangers at Montreal Saturday night and then scored their first victory of the season in Boston Sunday night.

Bernie Geoffrion scored his 14th goal of the campaign to touch off the Canadien scoring against the Bruins and rookie Ab McDonald, Jean Talbot and Henri Richard added the other tallies. The Bruins, who had beaten the Canadiens three straight times, took only 24 shots at goalie Jacques Plante as they suffered their fourth consecutive defeat.

The Toronto Maple Leafs extended their unbeaten streak to four games with a 2-0 win over the Rangers Sunday.

Farmington Wallops Clarenceville, 63-39

Ten different players got into the scoring act as Farmington breezed to 63-39 conquest of Clarenceville Saturday night to even its record at 1-1.

Top Qualifier at 5,161, at Chicago

Lubanski Leads Pin Test

CHICAGO (AP)—A 200-average bowler couldn't even make the sefifinals as the second annual World's Invitational tournament moved into the final day of qualifying for the match play finals in the Chicago Coliseum.

★ ★ ★

When the 128 men had finished their allotted 24 games in the qualifying round, it was found that a score of 4,840 — or 40 pins over a 200 average — was necessary to move into the 12-game semifinal round on today.

★ ★ ★

Eddie Lubanski, 28, Detroit, won qualifying laurels he finished with a total of 5,161 pins. This gave him a 19-pin bulge on defending champion Don Carter of St. Louis who is going only through the motions in the qualifying trials. Carter, automatically seeded into the finals along with the top 15 shooters after today's action, had 5,142 pins.

Dick Hoover of Akron, Ohio, the former all-star and two-time masters champion, finished with 5,130 for third place.

The 48 men who are still shooting roll 12 games on Monday with the top 15, based on total pinfall for 36 games, 24 in the qualifying round and 12 on Monday, advancing into the match game finals along with Carter.

The finals will be held from Tuesday through Friday with the 16 men bowling 16 games a day until the winner is crowned on a televised (NBC) program Friday night. The men's title is worth $5,000 of the $30,000 prize list.

★ ★ ★

The women's division was paced by defending champion Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich. who had a total of 3,439 pins. Mrs. Ladewig, like Carter, is exempt from qualifying.

North Dakota Athlete Dies in Phone Booth

GRAND FORKS, N. D. (AP) — Harvey Kenna, 21, one of North Dakota's outstanding young athletes, collapsed and died while making a telephone call in a gasoline station Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Richard Leigh, Grand Forks county coroner, said death was caused by a heart ailment.

Kenna was stricken while talking on the phone, fell backwards and died within a few minutes.

★ ★ ★

Kenna was captain of the Mayville State Teachers College basketball team and all-conference player the last two years in the North Dakota Intercollegiate Conference. Last season he was the fifth high scorer in the league.

Mt. Holly Enjoys Big Weekend; Grampian Mt. Under Way Today

Providing today's snowfall continues throughout the next 24 hours Pontiac area ski resorts will be in full operation, operators of Mt. Holly and Grampian Mt. reported this morning.

★ ★ ★

Mort Graddis, Holly operator, said the area was used during the weekend by about 500 skiers. One slope was in use, for the 2nd weekend. Manufactured snow, plus the natural stuff was expected to provide sufficient covering today for the big (Woodward) slope, so that it may be ready Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Grampian delayed its opening, planned for Sunday. However, with new snow, added to the machine-made product, has made it possible for one slope to be used today. By tomorrow, operator Joe Kosik said, there will be two slopes with four rope tows, in operation. Instruction for the high school groups was to start this afternoon, on schedule, Kosik said.

Both layouts reported general conditions as very good for continued skiing from now on.

Berlin Mayor's Wife Is Lovely Norwegian

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

BERLIN—The eyes of the world focus today upon the tough, resolute Mayor of West Berlin—a Nazi-Hater turned Commie-Fighter named Willy Brandt.

What those eyes have not seen, because she prefers it that way, is the woman behind him.

Rut Brandt is as Nordically beautiful as Ingrid Bergman, and as softly shy as a 16-year-old girl. Though her husband is the most famous and powerful man in Berlin, and she perhaps its loveliest woman, she remains at home and does her own baking, cooking, cleaning, and caring for the two sons, Peter, 11, and Lars, 7.

"Until they shall grow up," she confided, "I shall like to stay home with my children."

Few people in Berlin know where the mayor lives. His private life is no part of his driving political force.

Thus when Mrs. Brandt invited me to visit her, after I had requested an interview, the local citizens were awed; and the interpreter and driver, a life-long resident, had to maize through maps to find the street, "Marinesteig," where the Brandts rent one-half of a two-family house.

Rut (the Norwegian variation of Ruth) led the way into a 10x12 foot parlor, where a coffee table was spread with sherry glasses, large bowls of almonds and a U. S. product called Corn Curls.

It was chilly, perhaps 60 degrees, in the little house and the hostess hugged a black poodle named "Juichen" (Small Julie) —partly for warmth, I suspected, and partly for self-assurance during her first encounter with an American reporter.

"I am so nervous," she said, "I cannot speak my English. I can scarce remember my German." She proceeded then, with a delightful multi-lingual confusion, to answer my questions in a combination of English, German and Norwegian.

"The present situation in Berlin does not worry me personally," Rut said through the interpreter. "It is just something we talk about. And it is something that makes my husband work too much. He is very strong, but always you cannot work all night and keep your health."

She said the mayor has stayed awake until 3 or 4 a.m. every day, since Khrushchev began his war of nerves in Berlin. "He must think things through, and this is the time. They say now that there is six months before a decision must be made, but this is wrong.

"The decisions must be made now. We cannot give up Berlin. So my husband must think."

Rut met her husband in Stockholm in the early days of the war. They were both refugees—she from Norwaay, he from Germany. They were also both married at the time. Shortly afterward, Rut's husband died of tuberculosis, contracted during a long escape march from Norway through the snow. Willy divorced his wife, and they were married in Berlin in 1947.

During the airlift, they lived in a cold one-room flat because there was no coal. Now Rut thinks of their half-house—which to Americans would be small for a lower-middle income family — as quite spacious. She goes to no more social events than are absolutely required, explaining:

"I am the housewife. I was always afraid to get into the light of the public. But now, lately, I can see sympathy in the eyes of people, and it is not bad. But most of the time I like to stay with my children."

In the days before her marriage, Rut was a correspondent for a Scandinavian newspaper "Aktuell," —but her husband is the real writer, she said proudly, and showed a shelf, four feet long, lined with some three dozen books of biography and history signed "Willy Brandt."

"His books is very dry," she giggled. "I scarcely read them."

The life of writing, fighting and politicking has kept Mayor Brandt so busy in recent months, she said wistfully, that their younger son told her, "I wish he should have a business like other poppies."

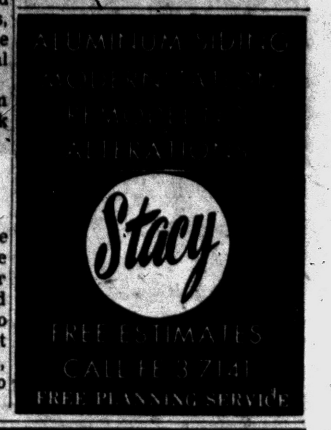

Advised that her husband had become a heroic figure in the United States, pictured and quoted and heralded in the American Press, the exquisite head nodded. "He has even been called the National Hero," she said.

"But a wife can only look at him with admiration. She cannot look at him as a hero. . . "

Army Rules Out Arrows

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish army has ruled out the bow and arrow in its search for a soundless weapon to be carried on frontier patrols. Replying to a published report that the ancient crossbow was being considered, a spokesman said: "We can do better than that, I think."

Little Rock Election Fails to Crack School Desegregation Deadlock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The deadlock over desegregation here remained unbroken today after an inconclusive election in which three integration-branded candidates won seats on the Little Rock School Board.

Seemingly split 3-3 on the degree of resistance to integration, the new board soon will have to cope with an uncompromising federal order for "affirmative steps" toward integration.

All 13 candidates for the six board seats had professed to be segregationists. Their differences centered on the price.

Apparently only day-by-day developments will tell what direction the new board will take.

As to the implication of Saturday's relatively light but close voting, there were as many views as viewpoints despite the silence of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who had sought to influence the results.

★ ★ ★

"This is the first crack in the Faubus edifice and I predict that his entire political empire, founded as it is upon misrepresentation and bigotry, will soon be crumbling at his feet," asserted Ted L. Lamb, an advertising executive who defeated two staunch segregationists in a three-way race.

But Amis Guthridge, attorney for the prosegregation Capital Citizens Council analyzed the voting this way: "Our people took the election for granted and refused to run scared."

Gov. Faubus injected himself into the School Board race in an election-eve maneuver. He said these five candidates were integrationists:

Lamb; W. F. (Billy) Rector, an insurance executive; Everett Tucker Jr., executive director of an industrial development company; Russell Matson Jr., a contractor, and Mrs. Charles W. Stephens, former president of the Central High School Parent - Teachers Assn.

The Faubus - denounced five placed great emphasis on a need to preserve public schools—even in the midst of racial crisis.

Lamb, Tucker and Matson won.

Rector and Mrs. Stephens lost close races to members of the pro-Faubus, Citizens Council-endorsed slate. Mrs. Stephens, however, said she planned to seek at least a partial recount.

Triumphant pro-Faubus candidates included Ben D. Rowland Sr., an attorney, and Robert W. Laster, a city traffic judge who had said he would go to jail if necessary to preserve segregation.

★ ★ ★ ★

The sixth seat went to Atty. Ed I. McKinley Jr., who was unopposed. McKinley also was endorsed by the Citizens Council.

The only immediate effect of the voting was to give Little Rock a school board once more.

The city was left without a board several weeks ago when five members resigned together, citing their "helplessness" in the face of the federal-state power struggle which led to the closing of Little Rock's high schools by the governor to avoid integration.

★ ★ ★

The member who did not quit was Dr. Dale Alford, a segregationist who unseated Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), a racial moderate, in the general election. Alford's School Board term expired with Saturday's school election.

England Opens 'Motorway'

Bad Dream? No, Super Road

PRESTON, England (UPI) — Transport officials turned up in force to see Britain's first motorway, the recently-opened 8¼ mile preston by-pass, get its first real test yesterday from Sunday drivers.

They saw:

—Cars forced to crawl at five to 10 miles an hour on the "sky is the limit" highway because more than 2,000 auto an hour poured on to it.

—Holdups at one end which kept cars waiting for half an hour to get off the road.

—Spectators on the bridges dropping stones.

—Some cars going round for the third time. "We wanted to have a good look at it," drivers explained.

—Cars pulled into the side because drivers were "too scared" to fight it out in the lanes.

Consensus—it's obsolete already.

Toll Reaches 92 in School Blaze

9-Year-Old Pupil Dies, 10 Others Remain on Critical List

CHICAGO (AP) — The fire at Our Lady of the Angels School last week claimed its 92nd victim today.

Kurt Schutt, 9, died in Edgewater Hospital, where he had been getting special treatment for burns and other injuries.

★ ★ ★

Eighty-seven children and three nuns died in the fire last Monday. Friday night another of the critically injuried died in a hospital.

There still are 57 persons in seven hospitals with burns and injuries as a result of the blaze. Ten of them are on the critical list.

Coroner Walter E. McCarron went about selecting a blue ribbon coroner's jury. The inquest will get under way Wednesday. He promised "everything will be brought out."

He said he hopes to have available the fire and building inspection records of the school.

Special collections to aid families of the dead and injured were made in churches throughout the city. The fund already exceeds $126,000.

Baby Sitter Held in Kidnap Case

Takes Tot From First Job, Tells New Boss Child Is Her Own

WASHINGTON (AP)—A woman who left one baby-sitting job to take another — and carried the first child along — was held today on a charge of kidnaping.

The FBI filed the charge Sunday night against Mrs. Dolly Zirk, 20, after she and the missing 10-month-old baby were found at the home of the second employer in suburban Mount Rainier, Md.

The baby, Victoria DeLosh, was unharmed.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Zirk was identified as a former mental patient and herself the mother of a 10-month-old child now in her husband's custody.

Police said Mrs. Zirk, hired last Friday by Victoria's parents as a full-time baby sitter, disappeared from the DeLosh home at noon Saturday, taking Victoria with her.

Mrs. Cyril M. DeLosh, the baby's mother, reported that a suitcase containing all the infant's clothing, food, bottles and cough medicine also was missing.

★ ★ ★

The FBI said Mrs. Zirk accepted the second baby-sitting job after starting to take care of the DeLosh baby. She told the second employer Victoria was her child and was given permission to take her along, agents said. They added that the second employer knew nothing about the baby's disappearance.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, Dr. Addison M. Duval, assistant superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, said Mrs. Zirk was admitted to the big Washington mental institution last March as a psychotic. He said she walked away from the hospital grounds last August and turned up at the home of her father in Clearville, Pa. Duval said the father was given custody of the woman.

Nicol Smith
"ISLAND OF THE CARIBBEAN"

Last season Nicol Smith was excellent in "Europe's Toy Countries." This time he presents a journey into the Caribbean to Jamaica, Antigua, Dominica, Trinidid, Tobago, Grenada, and Barbados. If you are a little rusty in your geography, get out your atlas and locate these seven islands. For those of you who have visited these colorful places, this film will permit you to enjoy another trip to those fabulous isles, all in one evening.

A raft trip on the Rio Grande River in Jamaica, an underwater excursion to the ocean floor to see the sea life near Tobago, Robinson Crusoe's Island, and a trip with the Flying Fish Fleet are some of the unusual experiences you will enjoy.

There is much history, romance and beauty as well as commercial development in this group of islands from the time of discovery by Columbus to the time of the erection of modern factories, producing such widely useful products as sugar and Angostura Bitters.

Told to Answer on Civil Rights

Commission Looks at Charges Alabama Bars Negro Voting

By PAUL SIMMONS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Defiant Alabama officials, already subpoenaed, had a challenge today to answer before the Civil Rights Commission charges by Negroes that they have been deprived of voting rights.

★ ★ ★

Neither Chairman John A. Hannah nor Vice Chairman Robert G. Storey would say on the eve of the federal commission's first hearing whether it might seek court orders to force the appearance of officials from six counties.

They did declare at a news conference Sunday night that the commission has received a substantial number of complaints — more from Alabama than from any other state — that Negroes have been denied access to the ballot box because of race.

They said they hoped that the county officials would appear with their records as subpoenaed last week to answer the charges. Both refrained from any suggestion of legal force. They instead held that the subpoenas were an opportunity or a challenge to refute the numerous complaints.

Hannah said he hoped the hearing could be completed in two days but would be prolonged if necessary.

Wholesale resistance to bringing records before the commission appeared to be building up over the weekend. The records in Barbour and Bullock counties have been impounded by Circuit Judge George Wallace. He said he would defy a subpoena to produce them and arrest any commission agent trying to take them from his custody.

Hits Complaints of MSU Profs

Spokesman for Union Faculty Assails Airing of Gripes Off Campus

EAST LANSING (AP)—Anonymous complainants against allegedly "arbitrary" admnistrative actions in Michigan State University were rapped last night by a spokesman for unionized faculty members.

Ken Macrorie, secretary of MSU Local 1310 of the Federation of Teachers, said the union disapproves of the methods of the dissatisfied professors in airing their gripes off the campus.

Donald A. Hart, chairman of the SMU chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors, said the chapter would steer clear of the dispute in the absence of any direct complaint to his unit.

★ ★ ★

The dissidents, believed to number about 12 in the College of Engineering and the Department of Communications skills, registered their dissatisfaction anonymously through an off-campus intermediary who wrote a letter to the AAUP Washington office, and sent copies to two state legislators.

The gist was that curriculum and policy changes were affected without due regard to faculty committees and that an alleged "serious lowering of morale" resulted.

"Criticism of the administration should be presented directly to the administrator before appearing in the press," Macrorie said.

★ ★ ★

He said it was "common decency" to allow administrators to defend themselves before publicly criticizing them.

Two Cottages Ransacked in Waterford

Two unoccupied cottages at 448 and 468 Drixdale St., Waterford Township, were broken into and ransacked sometime Sunday, according to Township Police.

The break-ins were discovered by a neighbor, R. J. Vought, as he was walking his dog past the houses. Police said entrance had been gained by prying a padlock off the rear door of one of the buildings and by smashing a rear window of the other.

★ ★ ★

Another cottage owned by Sam Erlich, of 6405 Winding Dr., was broken into for the second time this year.

Calls for Comeback on Economic Blocs

CAIRO (AP)—U.A.R. Economy Minister Abdel Moneim Kaissuny today called on the 39-nation Asian-African Economic Conference to meet the challenge of the European Common Market and other foreign economic blocs.

Opening the conference on behalf of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Kaissuny did not mention the six-nation West European group by name. But his implication was clear when he said Asian-African economic cooperation is the "principal means for confronting the results of economic groupings and blocs which are being formed or are under way outside our two continents."

Asia and Africa, he continued, have two thirds of the world's population, three fifths of the world's area, and great agricultural, mineral, animal and water wealth.

"Yet the majority of the peoples of Asia and Africa suffer from a low standard of living," he said.

Israel, Arabs Trade Charges

U.N. Security Council Meets on Complaints of Border Shootings

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —Israel and the United Arab Republic exchanged new charges of border attack today as the U.N. Security Council prepared to take up an earlier clash.

Shooting along the border between Israel and the Syrian province of the U.A.R. was reported both Saturday and Sunday nights.

The Israelis said the Syrians fired for 90 minutes each night and claimed the fire was not returned.

★ ★ ★

U.A.R. spokesmen charged that on Saturday night two Israeli detachments crossed the Jordan River and tried to surprise a Syrian frontier post. They said a 45-minute exchange of fire ensued.

The Syrians said another Israeli detail made a similar foray 80 minutes later and also was driven back.

★ ★ ★

The Security Council meets on an Israeli complaint accusing Syria of a "grave act of aggression" Wednesday in the Lake Huleh area north of the Sea of Galilee. The Israelis charged that Syrian forces fired on five Israeli shepherds and killed one, then bombarded seven villages along the frontier for more than an hour. Three villagers were reported wounded.

★ ★ ★

The Syrian version was that armed Israelis drove a herd of cows onto Syrian land, then opened fire on Arab villagers who tried to drive the cows out. The Israelis were accused of then shelling three Syrian villages and two army posts.

U.N. truce supervisors investigated the Wednesday clash and sent a report to the Council for its guidance.

Hollywood Headlines

Sandre and John Make Cutest Team on Screen

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Off the record, I hear that John Saxon looks on Sandre Dee, the 16-year-old honey, as "just a child" and far too young to date. But that isn't keeping them from being the cutest team on the screen in two recent pictures.

Now Ross Hunter at U-I has the third coming up, "The Desert Flower," a comedy drama about a beauty contest winner who hails from a ghost town and knows nothing about the big, outside world.

John's role is that of a hep young newspaperman who thinks she's putting on a big act.

The two previous hits young Saxon and Sandra made were "The Reluctant Debutante" and "The Restless Years."

"The Desert Flower," by Margaret Cousins, originally appeared in Good Housekeeping magazine and Al Lewin and Bert Styler have been signed by boss Ed Muhl to do the script.

★ ★ ★

Those young producers, Martin Jurow and Richard Shepherd are really in orbit when it comes to buying important stories for their Paramount films.

Latest prize picked off by the team is "Breakfast at Tiffany's" by Truman Capote, that eccentric gentleman of letters who stands very high in a literary sense with everyone but Marlon Brando.

Marlon has had a peeve on Capote ever since he wrote an interview with him in Tokyo while Marlon was shooting "Sayanora." So you can put it down in your little book that Brando will not star in Capote's story.

So far, Jurow and Shepherd tell me, no star is set although it's definitely a girl's story, all about a fascinating belle named Holly Blightly who wasn't all she oughta be, but good company.

★ ★ ★

"London calling!" proved to be Richard Lyon, son of Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon. Richard called to say he had just signed a contract to star in "The Headless Ghost" with Herman Cohen for American International Pictures.

Said Richard, "It starts today and will be made at the Arlington Castle built by Edward I!"

I asked him who played the girl. He said, "Well, you know I don't get the girl."

He was so excited I told him if he didn't stop talking he would spend his first week's salary paying for the telephone call.

The picture, of course, will be made in London.

Up to now, any thought of Maria Callas doing a stage play or a motion picture is wishful thinking. She returns to New York the end of January to appear under the auspices of the American Opera Society, and she'll do a concert version of "La Pirata" (The Pirate), the opera she sang before she and La Scala said adieu.

Although I have nothing definite on which to base my assertion, I am pretty sure than Rudolf Bing and Callas will get together, and she will return to the Metropolitan Opera. It can only be a loss to him if he doesn't reinstate her.

While Natalie Wood was standing beside Texas theater magnate Bob O'Donnel at Hotel Beverly Hills to receive the plaque she won as "Star of the Year," voted by O'Donnell's theater chain, Bob Wagner was holding her hand.

But this was more than a sentimental gesture. He slipped a gold heart with a two-carat diamond in the center into her hand.

Another important moment in Natalie's life is the meeting at Warner Studio about putting Natalie in Sloane Wilson's novel, "A Summer Place," which Delmer Daves will direct. Natalie's ready to go to work, so what's holding everybody back!

Anything can happen in Hollywood, and everything does. Frank Sinatra was driving on Sunset boulevard and stopped for a traffic light. Looking over in the car next to him he saw Henry Silva. They started a conversation which was continued at several more traffic stops.

Safebreakers Nab $731

Burglars broke into the Secretary of States Branch Office at 53 N. Parke St., over the weekend and stole $731 from a safe they pried open.

The theft was reported to police by Willis Brewer, manager of the office.

Police reported that entry was gained by breaking a hole in the front-door glass and reaching through to unlock the door.

Newsboy Saves Family in Fire, Refuses Reward

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Newspaper carrier Bruce Shockey, 14, turned down a $15 reward for routing a sleeping family from a burning home.

He was delivering copies of the Dallas News about 5 a.m. when he spotted smoke pouring from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald H. Heil and their two children. They fled unhurt after his pounding on the door waked Mrs. Heil.

"I looked at the burned house and decided they needed the money worse than I did," Bruce said.

9 Michigan Newspapers Still Closed by Strike

LANSING (AP) — Negotiations resume tomorrow in the two-week-old printers strike against the nine daily newspapers of Booth Newspapers, Inc.

Efforts at a settlement failed over the weekend and the papers, in eight cities, remained in a non-publishing status.

The International Typographical Union (ITU) is on strike in a contract dispute.

Texans Take Three Top Bridge Honors

DETROIT (AP) — Texans took down three of the five top placed yesterday in the open pairs championship of the fall National Contract Bridge Tournament.

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas and Mrs. David B. Hawes of Fort Worth won the title with 940 points to 892 for runnersup Tobias Stone of New York City and Alvin Roth of Washington.

Alma Schwartz of Cleveland and John Gerber of Houston, Texas, finished third with 872½ points. Mrs. Paul McDaniel of Houston and Steve Lawrence of Midland, Texas, were fourth with 869, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shaw of Covington, Ky., were fifth with 868.

The open pairs competition ended the tournament.

Great American Names to Go on Missile Subs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because the Navy's Polaris ballistic missile submarines are an entirely new type of submersible, with a new mission, they are being named under a changed system.

The new craft are being named for famous Americans.

Until now, all U.S. submarines have carried the names of fish, sea creatures or items of sea mythology.

★ ★ ★

Five of the nine Polaris submarines now being built or authorized for building have been assigned names — the George Washington, Patrick Henry, Theodore Roosevelt, Robert E. Lee, and Abraham Lincoln.

★ ★ ★

The first of them, the George Washington, will be launched at Groton, Conn., next spring. But more months will be required for completion and commissioning.

There was a move afoot earlier this year to give the powerful Polaris subs the names of states.

Instead, Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates, with President Eisenhower's approval, issued verbal instructions to name the missile submarines after famous Americans.

The Navy wants to keep state names for its battleships. Even though there are no battleships in active service, the big ships retain their names while in commission in the reserve fleet.

★ ★ ★

The missile submarines eventually will operate under a special unit designated Squadron 14. It will be headed by Capt. Norvwall G. Ward, a submarine specialist in both offense and defense.

Dems Gather for 5-Day Meet

Secret Party Talks Leave Clear Field for Heavy GOP Calendar

LANSING (AP) — Democratic state officeholders abandoned the Capitol last night for secret political powwows, leaving the field clear for a heavy calendar of Republican events later this week.

The democratic chieftains and key aides gathered to cast about for ways of furthering Gov. Williams' presidential ambitions.

They also were to hash over administration plans for the 1959 Legislature, convening Jan. 14, and the state taxation overhaul proposed by the Citizens Advisory Group to the Conlin Legislative Tax Study.

The current Democratic retreat will last five days, two days longer than time usually allowed for previous such get togethers. Newsmen are barred.

GOP activities will be climaxed Friday night with a dinner in the Lansing Civic Center honoring Paul D. Bagwell, the party's unsuccessful candidate for governor.

If the $10 a plate affair clears enough money, it may be used to pay off a $2,500 second mortgage on Bagwell's house that was taken out during lean days of the campaign.

The secret meeting is taking place at Haven Hill Lodge near Milford.

Goldfine to Ask Delay on Baring Records

BOSTON, Mass. (UPI)—Millionaire Bernard Goldfine was expected to ask the U. S. Court of Appeals today to delay a lower court order to produce financial records by noon or face a possible jail term.

The order to hand over the records of five textile firms or face civil and criminal contempt of court penalties came Friday from Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. Internal Revenue Service agents had pressed for the records in their investigation of the firms.

Goldfine's attorney, Edward D. Hassan, said last night, "The plan is to ask the (appellate) court to delay the order." Both Goldfine and his chief aide, Mildred Paperman, were named in Wyzanski's order.

Contempt of court charges could result in jail terms for both Goldfine and Miss Paperman.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Three Truck Drivers Die in Highway Bunkhouse

LANCASTER, Mo. (AP)—Three truck drivers, weary from the long drive from central Arkansas to this north Missouri village, went to sleep in a truck stop bunkhouse. All three of them died there.

Why? At this stage, no one knows.

Coroner Bryce Norman said the first victim apparently died of a heart attack. Autopsies on the bodies of the other two were inconclusive. Tissue samples will be tested by state police.

★ ★ ★

The chain of death began Friday, when 24-year-old Louis Lee Warden of Little Rock pulled into Lancaster with a truckload of farm tractors from Malvern, Ark. It was 1 a.m. and he had covered more than 600 miles.

Warden said he was ill and went to bed in the bunkhouse which Ed Judd maintains at his service station-restaurant on U.S. Highway 63. Late that afternoon, Warden was found dead.

★ ★ ★

He suffered from a heart ailment. His death was attributed to the disease and his body was sent back to Little Rock. Now Norman says he may ask Arkansas authorities to perform an autopsy.

Warden's employer D. W. Hoskins of Malvern sent two drivers north with a load of lumber. They were John Parker, 26, Little Rock, and William Briner, 22, Malvern. One was to drive Warden's truck back to Malvern.

★ ★ ★

They went to bed about 1 a.m. Sunday. At 7 a.m., both men were found dead.

Coroner Norman said the 18-by-24-foot bunkhouse was heated by a stove which burns bottled gas. He has asked for a state inspection to determine if the heater is releasing lethal fumes.

Sister Finds Nice Boy Is Her Brother

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — On their first date, Dorothy Manewal, 16, and Richard Gillett, 22, liked each other.

And then they found that they really had something in common — they were brother and sister, parted 10 years ago.

After they were introduced by a friend last week, Dorothy said, "I sort of liked Dick and we made a date for Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

"We were sitting in a car and talking when I just happened to say that Dorothy Manewal wasn't my real name, that it was Sara Esther Alridge.

"And then he said that Dick Gillett wasn't his real name either. And then he said, 'Well, I'm your brother.' We just sat there for a moment. We could hardly believe it."

★ ★ ★

The pretty, dark-haired high school girl said they were adopted into separate homes after their mother died in 1948, and hadn't seen each other since.

Gillett, whose real name is Michael Charles Alridge, said that he knew he had a sister but had never tried to find her.

"I remember him when I was a little girl," Miss Manewal said. She said she had never attempted to locate him either.

★ ★ ★

Gillett, a factory worker in nearby Oregon City, spent Sunday helping his new-found sister make Christmas decorations.

"We talked about the old times and things that we used to do when we were kids," she said. "I think we'll be good friends."

First diagnostic cancer clinic in the U.S. was opened in the city of Columbus in 1921.

De Gaulle Chills Extremist Hopes

Still Won't Speed Up Integration of Algeria With France

ALGIERS (AP) — French Premier Charles de Gaulle has put another damper on the hopes of French extremists in Algeria who have called for the territory's speedy integration with France.

Ending a five-day tour of Algeria and the Sahara, De Gaulle called Sunday night for the realization of "liberty, happiness and dignity" for Algeria's nine million Moslems before any political settlement.

★ ★ ★

In a recorded three-minute speech broadcast as he left by plane for Paris, he also avoided saying he will integrate Algeria politically and economically with France.

"Every man and every woman here should have their liberty, their happiness and their dignity," the Premier said.

"As this is being done, we will see much better revealed the living personality of Algeria on the one hand, and on the other the nature of things which unite it with France.

★ ★ ★

"It is when this is done that the so-called political solution will appear, practically and reasonably."

His remarks indicate he intends to go ahead with his ambitious five-year social and economic development plan before trying to solve Algeria's political problems.

De Gaulle's tour of the new Sahara oil and natural gas fields brought to light new estimates of their recoverable reserves, which now are expected to supply France with vital fuel for 80 years.

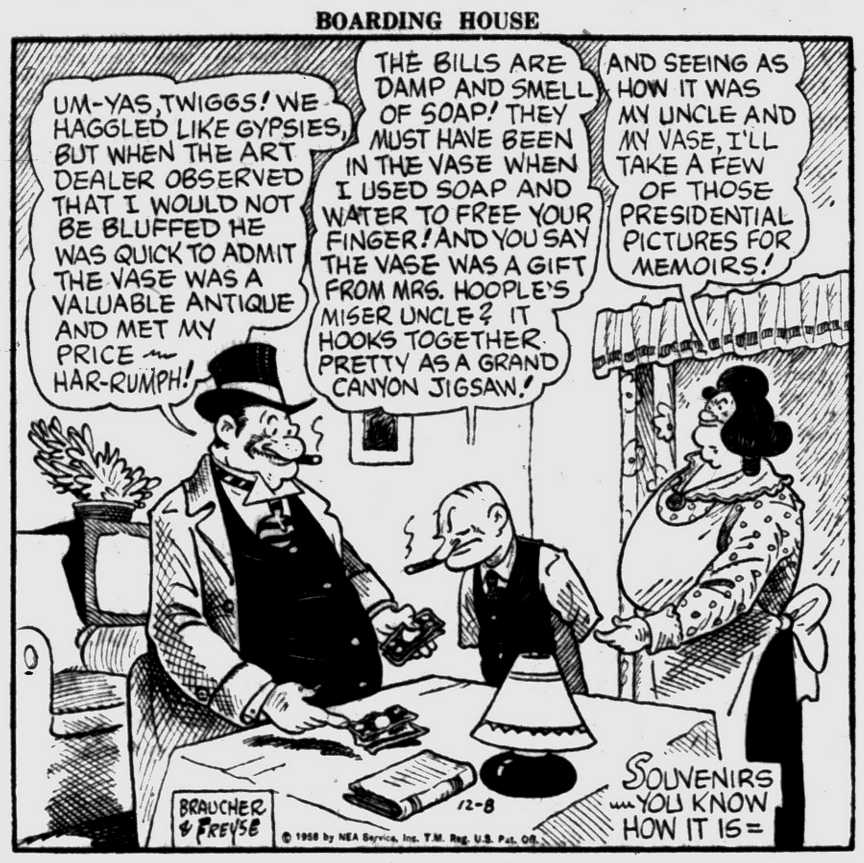

★ ★ ★

France at present consumes about 25 million tons of oil yearly.

By 1962 Sahara fields and the Gabon fields in Equatorial Africa are expected to produce 40 million tons of crude oil yearly.

About one-half the earth's land is not habitable.

Weather Report Firms Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Reports of rather heavy snow and colder weather over much of the Midwest firmed up grain futures prices today in early dealings on the board of trade.

★ ★ ★

Corn had the strongest support during the first few minutes. Cash receipts again were very small for a Monday and the trade was inclined to believe that with the snowfall, movement of this grain to markets will again come almost to a standstill.

At the same time, Greece was understood to have bought 26,000 tons of corn over the weekend and still is in the market for 22,000 tons more.

Wheat brokers were encouraged by a report that the trade agreement last week between Japan and Russia involves only a small amount of grain immediately.

Earlier reports said the entire matter had been closed and involved a large amount of Russian wheat, but today's advice said only a sample amount of wheat was involved.

Near the end of the first hour, prices became irregular with wheat ¼ cent a bushel lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.94¼; corn unchanged to ⅜ higher, December old type contract $1.14⅝; oats ⅛ to ¼ higher, December 65⅞; rye ⅛ higher to ¼ lower, December $1.32; soybeans unchanged to ½ higher, January $2.15⅜.

Drugs Advance on Mixed Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs forged ahead in an otherwise mixed stock market early today. Trading was heavy.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional. Gains of 2 points or more were made by some drugs.

★ ★ ★

The ticker tape was late for an 8-minute period at the opening. Prices held as trading moderated.

Steels, motors, rails and oils were mixed.

★ ★ ★

Pfizer leaped 3 points on an opening block, later clipping a fraction from the rise. Parke, Davis was up about 2. Fractional gains were made by Schering and Merck.

Goodyear and Standard Oil (New Jersey) were down about a point each.

The leading coppers added fractions, except for Phelps Dodge which dipped slightly.

General Motors was about unchanged. U.S. Steel and American Telephone rose a bit. Bethlehem eased.

★ ★ ★

Slight losses were taken by Republic Steel, Ford, American Motors, U.S. Rubber, American Cyanamid, New York Central and Eastern Air Lines.

Up slightly were United Aircraft, Raytheon, Westinghouse Electric, Illinois Central, Royal Dutch and Lorillard.

Cuba to Declare Emergency

Batista Requests Powers

HAVANA (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista has asked the Cuban Congress to declare a state of national emergency, giving him even more sweeping powers to combat the rebellion of Fidel Castro.

Congress was considered certain to grant the request.

Constitutional guarantees are under suspension for another period of 45 days beginning Sunday. The suspension was approved by the Cabinet Saturday night.

★ ★ ★

Congress will meet Tuesday to approve the suspension of guarantees, and on Wednesday to discuss the emergency declaration.

Except for a few weeks, constitutional guarantees in this country have been suspended since December 1956.

In the latest move against Castro, the army announced it burned a rebel encampment in Las Villas province.

★ ★ ★

The army reported several prisoners were taken and the rebels fled, leaving behind supplies, lists of names, photographs, Communist propaganda and large stocks of arms and amunition.

Awaits Verdict in Temple Blast

Jury Deliberates Case of 1st of 5 Accused of Synagogue Bombing

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A Fulton Superior Court jury today resumed deliberating the case of George Bright, first of five persons to be tried on charges of bombing an Atlanta Jewish Temple.

★ ★ ★

Court reconvenes after a Saturday midnight recess. The case went to the jury about 11 p.m. Saturday and when no verdict was reached by midnight Judge Durwood Pye ordered the jurors taken to a hotel. Georgia law prohibits deliberations or verdicts on Sunday.

Jurors remained at the hotel the entire interval, declining Pye's offer of a bus ride for the group.

★ ★ ★

The five Atlanta area men were indicted on charges of dynamiting the temple in Atlanta Oct. 12. The others, slated for trial later, are Wallace H. Allen, Kenneth Chester Griffin, Robert Bowling and Richard Bowling.

★ ★ ★

Pye told the jury it could return a verdict of guilty, in which case the sentence would be death, or recommend mercy, which would mean a life term, or acquit the 31-year-old engineer.

★ ★ ★

Bright has steadfastly maintained innocence, claiming he is "a peace-loving man, not a destroyer."

★ ★ ★

State Prosecutor Paul Webb told the jury that there was a common design by the defendants to create a disturbance and there was a definite conspiracy to bomb the temple.

Ashes, Frozen Pipes Cause Two Blazes

Frozen pipes and hot ashes in a cardboard box were blamed for two fires in Waterford Township yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Firemen said the R. M. Ballek family had left their home, 4112 Lanco St., after Ballek had taken ashes from the furnace and dumped them in the box in the basement.

★ ★ ★

A pile of kindling wood next to it was ignited. Smoke and flames caused $500 damage, firemen said.

★ ★ ★

One corner of a barn owned by Charles Bush, 1000 Hospital Rd., caught fire as Bush used a blowtorch to thaw out frozen pipes. Damage amounted to $100, firemen said.

Claim of Appeal Filed for Four Pontiac Doctors

A claim of appeal was to be filed today by Pontiac attorney David C. Hertler, counsel for the four Pontiac General Hospital doctors who have decided to appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court their lawsuit opposing certain surgical regulations at the city hospital.

Hertler was to file in Lansing and Oakland County Circuit Court copies of the claim. This is the first step in getting the case before the high court. He said he didn't expect it to be heard before the spring term of the court.

Doctors Roy V. Cooley Jr., Leonard Blackwell, Douglass A. Haddock and Maolin Han decided to appeal after Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams ruled in favor of Pontiac General in imposing the regulations which he said were necessary for the public's protection.

The doctors have been seeking since March of 1957 to block enforcement of these locally imposed rules.

The four general practitioners contend only the State Board of Registration in Medicine, from which they were granted their licenses, has the right to say what type of operation they should or should not perform.

Vandals Don't Stop Strike-Hit Paper

ESCANABA (AP)—The struck Escanaba Daily Press continued its uninterrupted publication today after repairs to vandal-damaged typesetting equipment.

On the weekend vandals entered the composing room of the daily newspaper and put five linotype machines out of commission by pouring a soft drink liquid into the mechanisms.

Repair men worked most of Sunday to get the equipment back into shape for operation.

The Press offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension of persons responsible. Police Chief Harold Finman directed an investigation.

Dodge Strike Idles 11,840 at 6 Plants

DETROIT (AP) — Parts shortages caused by a strike at Chrysler's Dodge Main Plant forced layoffs at five other Chrysler plants today, idling 4,840 workers in addition to the 7,000 on strike at Dodge Main.

Laid off until further notice were 500 at Detroit Universal Plant; 1,740 at Mound Road Engine Plant and 1,200 at Plymouth Assembly in Detroit; 900 out of a work force of 2,200 at the Indianapolis, Ind., Transmission Plant, and 500 at New Process Gear in Syracuse, N.Y.

The Dodge Main dispute involves some 7,000 workers, members of the United Auto Workers Union, who struck Tuesday in a dispute over production rates. The union charged, and the company denied, a speedup.

Talks continued through the weekend with no sign of a settlement and resumed today. The company has estimated 50,000 Detroit Chrysler employes could be idled if the Dodge Main strike continues.

December Cars Top ½ Million

Some Dealers Practice Auto Discounting, Says Automotive News

DETROIT (AP) — New car sales this month may top half a million units, Automotive News said today.

The industry has not sold that many cars in any month this year. It delivered 512,000 in December a year ago and 514,000 in December 1956.

★ ★ ★

Reporting on its most recent survey, the trade paper says:

"Dealers say their volume continues to accelerate and they are getting enough cars to fill orders and whittle down backlogs.

"Deals remain satisfactory, dealers report, but some discounting has started to crop up. Dealers who have peeled back prices have been rather apologetic, explaining that they have done so mostly to mollify a customer on a model switch or to meet a competitor 'who would have done it anyway.'

★ ★ ★

"Privately dealers admit they are discounting because customers are displaying a stiff-ribbed price resistance.

"The fact remains that discounting has returned. How wide it will spread and how deep it will go is uncertain.

"But with the first bloom off the new-model season, customers are shopping. Some dealers last week reportedly were pasting 'will-sell-for-less' stickers next to the price labels in their show room cars."

British Pacifists Hit Thor Base

MPs Repel Attempt to Halt Work on Missile Launching Pads

SWAFFHAM, England (AP) — Military police repelled a second assault Sunday by a pacifist band of men and women on a secret base being built near Swaffham for American rockets.

★ ★ ★

The demonstrators tried to hold up work on the launching pads being built for Thor missiles the United States is supplying the Royal Air Force. About 50 of them tried it Saturday but were driven off with fire hoses and dragged away through the mud.

★ ★ ★

The pacifists returned to the attack just after dawn. About 20 broke through the barbed wire barricades around the base and tramped through the mud to climb around a big concrete mixer 300 yards inside the fence.

Others lay down in front of trucks trying to move in and out of the gates.

RAF police pounded out of their huts to the defense.

★ ★ ★

A man and a woman were dumped into a pool of concrete sludge. They climbed out, refused orders to leave and were tossed into a deeper pool. Police then marched them off the base.

Other police dragged off the men and women lying in front of the trucks. One woman complained she had been jerked away by her hair.

★ ★ ★

Some of the demonstrators were clapped into the base guardhouse. They yelled through the windows until they were released and bundled out through the gates.

Soon all the intruders were expelled.

3-Area Law Officials Meet at MSUO Tuesday

Better police protection will be the aim of police chiefs and officials from law enforcement agencies in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne counties when they meet at Michigan State University Oakland tomorrow.

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman and Chief Herbert W. Straley have been invited to attended the conference.

Initiated by local police agencies to explore the training needs of law enforcement agencies within the three counties, the conference of police chiefs is sponsored by the MSU School of Public Administration and Public Safety.

The event will be held at the MSUO Continuing Education Center.

More than 40 police officials and city managers are expected for the event, reports Dr. Lowell Eklund, head of the MSUO continuing education program.

"These men will discuss with MSU officials the possibility of bringing a police extension program to this area," he adds.

"MSU police extension courses, patterned after the highly successful programs being carried on at East Lansing, would give local law enforcement personnel a chance to keep up with the latest thinking and techniques in this field," Dr. Eklund points out.

"The goal of a program of this type would be to provide better police protection for the citizens of this area," he admits.

Participating in the conference from MSU will be Arthur Brandstatter, director of the School of Police Administration and Public Safety; Gordon Sheehe, director of the Highway Traffic Safety Center; Leslie Silvernale, assistant director of the Highway Traffic Safety Center; and Dr. Paul Smith, assistant dean for continuing education from the College of Business and Public Service.

Working with Dr. Eklund is a planning committee consisting of Capt. Phillip H. Oakey, Mt. Clemens; Chief Ralph Moxley, Birmingham; Chief Arthur E. Lowers, Grosse Pointe Park, and Chief Glen Leonard, Oak Park.

Guests at the conference will be Sarah Van Hoosen Jones, former member of the State Board of Agriculture, and Harold Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press.

Other law enforcement officials expected to participate in the event include Chief Sam Howlett, Rochester; Director Robert J. Stadler, Bloomfield Hills; Chief Ralph Phillips, River Rouge; Chief James Decker, Walled Lake; Chief Marvin Dwyer, Allen Park; Chief Charles L. LaPlanche, Inkster.

Commissioner Dallas Hay, Livonia; Chief Walter Jaros, Hamtramck; Capt. C. H. Glosser, Harper Woods; Chief L. C. Knox, Wayne; Chief Daniel O'Leary, Port Huron, and Chief David Gratapp, Troy.

Intestinal Ailment Hospitalizes Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is hospitalized with an intestinal ailment, but his doctors say they find no evidence of a recurrence of cancer.

★ ★ ★

The State Department said Dulles, 70, was in satisfactory condition at Walter Reed Army Hospital, undergoing treatment for an inflamatory condition of the lower colon. His temperature was reported normal.

The doctors' finding that no cancer was involved was reported by the department Saturday night, when it disclosed for the first time that Dulles had entered the hospital 24 hours earlier. A cancerous section of Dulles' intestine was removed at Walter Reed two years ago.

★ ★ ★

The annoucement said Dulles would remain in the hospital several days for treatment, but officers said he still expects to fly next weekend to Paris for a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Canada's westernmost province, British Columbia, is almost half again as big as Texas. Vast undeveloped tracts are open to grazing, and some ranches cover hundreds of square miles.

Ice Threatens to Lock Six Ships in Seaway

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP)—Thickening ice threatened to imprison several ships in the St. Lawrence Seaway today.

The vessels hoped to beat the ice jam and get into Lake Ontario, where ice conditions were not as severe.

Temperatures reached zero hre overnight.

At least six ships were scheduled to clear the Eisenhower and Snell Locks on the seaway before the navigation season on the waterway ended at midnight tonight.

But seaway officials said it was possible ice would seal the locks before the ships got through.

★ ★ ★

At Montreal, a ship was frozen into a lock of the Lachine Canal and 37 other vessels were held up while crews worked to free it. Those ships were eastbound.

A tugboat was pressed into service at the Eisenhower and Snell Locks, both U.S. installations on the seaway. The jug cleared ice around the locks.

The nabigation season on the seaway was scheduled to close Saturday night but was extended to allow stragglers delayed by ice to clear.

★ ★ ★

As the last ships were moving along the seaway, the U.S. Coast Guard tender Lupine was picking up navigation buoys from the channels to keep them from being frozen in the ice.

The seaway will reopen next April as a 27-foot-deep waterway from Montreal to Toledo. The maximum depth is now 14 feet.

The U.S. locks were opened in July. Canadian locks will be completed by the opening next year

North Korea Kidnaps 42 South Fishermen

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea today accused the North Korean Communists of kidnaping 42 fishermen and their seven boats off the east coast of Korea.

★ ★ ★

The North Korean radio said the fishermen had entered North Korea's territorial waters Saturday and were being "accorded humanitarian treatment."

★ ★ ★

The Communists have grabbed several South Korean fishing boats in recent months.

Vice Adm. Chung Keung Mo, the South Korean naval chief, announced naval patrols in the area are being reinforced. He said the fishermen were "in definitely international waters."

'Strong countermeasures will be taken after investigations are completed," he added.

The South Korean government asked the U.N. Command to lodge a protest through the Military Armistice Commission and to seek early return of the fishermen and their boats. A meeting of the commission was called for Thursday.

Under a plan in Long Beach, Calif., doctors' fees rise and fall with changes in the cost-of-living index. Variations of less than five per cent, however, are ignored.

Few Detroiters Stirred by Air-Raid Sirens' Wail

DETROIT (AP)—Detroiters took the unusual Sunday wail of air-raid sirens casually, even though it was Pearl Harbor's anniversary.

★ ★ ★

At least there were few calls of inquiry to Civil Defense or to switchboards which might have expected to be besieged.

Civil defense of Detroit and Wayne County tried out warnings at 2 p.m. to familiarize citizens with "alert" and "take cover" signals.

★ ★ ★

The "alert" is a steady tone from the siren. The "take cover" tone is a warbling one.

O'Henry Classic Comes to Life

Sally Ann Howes and Gordon MacRae Star in Christmas Story

Televiewers will meet the rage of Broadway when Sally Ann Howes stars in Richard Adler's musical version of O. Henry's "The Gift of the Magi" tomorrow from 9 to 10 p.m. on the CBS television network.

Miss Howes, currently playing the leading feminine role of Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," will portray Della Young in "The Gift of the Magi," through the courtesy of Richard Adler, who also happens to be the actress' husband. Gordon MacRae stars as Jim Young.

Adler, who might be accused of prejudice by anyone who doesn't know Sally Ann Howes, describes his wife "as the most beautiful and talented girl in the world."

Richard Adler's approach to popular music is believed by many to be the freshest since Cole Porter and Harold Arlen appeared on the scene more than a generation ago. The talented young man has completed seven new songs for "The Gift of the Magi."

"Tailored for television" is the way Richard Adler describes his score.

"If this musical is successful," avers the enthusiastic Adler, "the reason will be that the music itself is written especially for television. In the case of 'Gift of the Magi,' the music came first, that is, before the television script.

The music is designed to tell the story about a young married couple living in New York City at Christmastime in 1905. Gordon MacRae and Sally Ann Howes co-star as Jim and Della Young, who sell their most treasured possessions to buy each other a Christmas present.

"More important, though," Adler says, "is the fact that the songs themselves were tailored for television. They were expressly written to be enjoyed in living rooms.

Does that sound too specialized? Well, the major reason, I believe, for the failure of most musicals written originally for television is that they're written as if there were no difference between a television screen and a movie screen or Broadway stage.

But music that goes over big in a Broadway show or the movies, doesn't necessarily click on television."

Explains the composer-lyricist, "Television musicals must be as specialized for the electronic medium as television scripts, dances and camera work. Television audiences aren't sitting in an enormous auditorium, but in the privacy of their homes—and most people don't yell in their homes. So, a song that is belted out to good effect in a theater can be just a lot of grating noise when it comes over your television set."

Adler is more than familiar with songs for the theater and movies, having composed, with the late Jerry Ross, the scores for the Broadway musical hits, "The Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," both of which have been made into motion pictures.

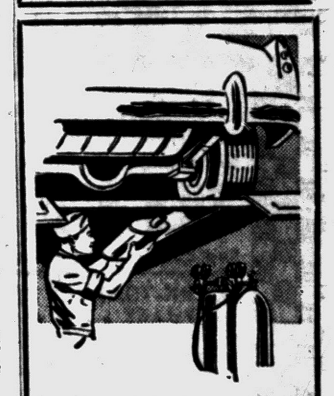

IN CHRISTMAS STORY — Sally Ann Howes and Gordon MacRae are the stars of "Gift of the Magi," an original TV musical. Miss Howes, currently playing the leading role in "My Fair Lady" will portray Della Young in O'Henry's tender Christmas tale. Gordon MacRae, movie star, is her husband, Jim.

Nothing Anti-American in Frankfurt Sentiments

By EARL WILSON

FRANKFURT — In Germany the Frankfurt people are called Frankfurters, the Hamburg people are called Hamburgers, and those sandwiched in between Frankfurters and Hamburgers are called Crazy Americans.

WILSON

The wife and I have now flown to Frankfurt, "Europe's Little Old New York," which has also given itself the distinction of Tupelo, Miss., Nashville, Hollywood and Fort Hood, Texas—namely that of being one of Elvis Presley's home towns.

Private Presley is now maneuvering off toward Bavaria at Grafenwoehr with the Third Armored Division. But while stationed at Hanau, living off the base—with his father at a small hotel—he is considered a regular guy by GIs.

Never seen toting his gittar and seldom heard singing, he did play the piano in one show where everybody noticed that he didn't throw his hips out of joint once.

The Pelvis is now almost as important an American in Germany as Conrad Hilton, who has introduced the full-sized shot glass. "Living it up to the hilt" is being replaced as an expression by "living it up to the Hilton."

The Berlin-Hilton, with its big drinks, small prices, beautiful elevator operators and a chorus of seals barking has as competition only the unrebuilt Adlon Hotel, where an American can't even buy imported Smirnoff vodka from Connecticut, but must drink domestic Russian.

It is surprising to find Americans tremendously popular somewhere. A former German prisoner of war who spent almost three years in America even told us: "Those were the best years of my life."

Urges Federal Lead in Jobless Pay Setup

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. Williams, in his first post-election major speech before a labor group, has urged the federal government to take the lead in uniform unemployment compensation.

Williams, addressing the weekend merger meeting of the Wayne County AFL-CIO, said uniform layoff pay in all states would put Michigan on an equal basis with states paying lower wages and lower benefits.

The Democratic governor, who won his sixth term in office Nov. 4, called on labor and management to unite to bring full employment. He said diversified industry would be one way to help.

He said three main causes for chronic unemployment in Michigan have been loss of much national defense work because of a shift of emphasis from cars and trucks, decentralization of the auto industry, and a new age of automation with loss of jobs.

Coachella Valley Once Wasteland Has Date Crop

WASHINGTON — An Arabian Nights paradise has sprung up in the Coachella Valley, long a wasteland in southern California.

Water from deep wells and a branch of the Colorado River's All American Canal have transformed parts of the arid valley into a garden which produces 90 per cent of the United States date crop.

Huge date palms suggest groves along the Tigris and Euphrates. The picture of an Oriental oasis becomes complete in February during the National Date Festival. Then a robed "caliph" and his court watch camels race across the dunes.

Coachella Valley runs northwest from the Salton Sea between the Santa Rosa and Little San Bernardino Mountains.

Guild Ends Walkout at Washington Paper

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Evening Star prepared an expanded Monday edition, complete with Sunday supplements, today following settlement of a three-day strike of editorial and commercial employes.

★ ★ ★

The paper had published only a limited edition Friday, and none Saturday or Sunday, because of the strike called by members of the American Newspaper Guild. Most mechanical workers had refused to cross the picket lines.

Settlement of the strike was reached Sunday with a compromise calling for higher wages and a slightly reduced work week. Federal meditors helped work out the agreement, which later was ratified by the striking employes.

★ ★ ★

The Star's guild unit withdrew its picket lines immediately after it approved the agreement, and Sunday night shifts returned to work to publish today's regular afternoon editions.

Hammer Vibrationless

CHICAGO — A vibrationless pneumatic-hammer principle that eliminates the tooth-rattling recoil produced by the standard hammer has been developed by scientists of the Armour Research Foundation at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Laos Builds 7 Dams

VIENTIANE, Laos — More than 300 Laotians are working on each of seven dams being built with United States technical assistance. Each dam is about 20 feet high and will stop flood damage during the rainy season and store water to irrigate about 6,000 acres during the dry season.

Space Age Invades Playroom

Sky's Limit in This Year's Toys

America's 1958 toylands are geared to spark juvenile interest in science from toddlers on up.

Santa's billion-dollar pack will carry a record number of play kits slanted to instruct virtually every type of educational basic, according to the Toy Guidance Council.

Ready for gift-giving is a complete roundup of U.S. Army and Navy equipment for guided missile launching.

It ranges from kits for rocket constructed trucks which transport building to miniatures of specially the missiles at Cape Canaveral and working launching platforms. Some toy rocket ships anticipate the future with full-scale crews.

Concern over outer space is reflected in more toys aimed at basic astronomy. There is also a wealth of new scientific play kits on entomology, atomic energy, chemistry, minerology, electronics and electricity.

Reflecting industry's interest in recruiting women scientists is a new lab technician's kit for girls.

Even electric train sets are recruited to rocket work with special launching platform cars. Newest addition to realistic rolling stock is a car designed for disposing of atomic energy wastes.

It's a year of specialization in the automotive sector of toyland. In Toy Guidance Council's selection of prestige toys are a sportsman's convertible which pulls a trailer-mounted speedboat, a new model cattle transport, a pick-up truck, a tilt-top trailer, a cat-loading power tractor and a whole garage full of road-building equipment.

ACCENT ON MUSIC

Toyland's music will tootle in top volume. There's a roll harmonica which plays sharps and flats over two chromatic octaves will full-bodied organ tone. A piano accordion with a piano keyboard for the right hand and bass notes and chords for the left. New for the toddler is a pull-a-tune xylophone on wheels.

WHEELS LURE the man, no matter what age. Junior farmer revs up power tractor, with plow and farm wagon filled with crated poultry. Little man of the house gets a bang from Squeaky, new in push-and-pull toyland.

Then there is the wild West — smoking rifles (which actually shoot nothing but are strong on sound effects), midget pistols, fire bolt guns and authentic models of Colts.

The old, ranch-style box phone, the stage coach, the cattle corral and ranch-style buildings have many new playroom versions.

And on the kitchen range, home-making play continues to evoke strong interest. New model washing machines offer drying action, too, just like Mother's. Matched kitchen equipment in pastels tunes in with high-style adult trends for home decorations.

Housing developments in suburban areas have inspired varied building kits. New girder-panel building kits are slanted to construction of realistic highway bridges as well as skyscrapers.

And for those on the go, there is a roller skate wheel that makes it practical for the beginner to practice indoors as well as out.

Gold was discovered in California in 1848, nine days before Mexico ceded the territory to the United States.

The National Park Service reports that more than 20 million people each year visit the historic sites under its administration.

The Natural Tunnel, on the Southern Railway in Virginia, is believed to be the only one in such use. It is 1,557 feet in length.

PRODUCTIVITY PAYS EVERYBODY IN TOWN

Productivity is a great quality to possess. It can do more to make a town prosperous than almost anything.

Productivity is the delivery of a full measure by machines, money, men or materials. The best productivity results from constant striving to better past performance. Productivity pays off for everybody whenever everybody works at it.

When it comes to attracting business, a new industry for example, the very reputation for productivity will give your town a special pulling power. Competition these days makes it necessary for a company, or town, to have productivity around in plain sight. Otherwise the company or the town won't be in plain sight very long.
