Target for Eggs, Insults

Enraged Mob Meets Mikoyan at Detroit Club

Russian No. 2 Man Completes Tour as 500 Demonstrate

From Our News Wires
DETROIT — Russia's Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, the target of eggs, snowballs and insults, completed his tour of the nation's motor capital today.

Mikoyan was scheduled to visit the Detroit Edison Company's River Rouge power plant before leaving on a plane for Chicago.

Mikoyan was the target of about a dozen eggs, several dozen snowballs and hundreds of chanted insults hurled by some 500 angry pickets as he entered the exclusive Detroit Club last night.

Plainclothesmen guarding Mikoyan were fearful the incident would be repeated on other stops in his cross-country tour. But no mass demonstrations were announced in Chicago such as the one here last night.

However, one of the State Department men assigned to the tour pointed out that "this kind of thing is catching. Once it is started people think they can get attention by doing it and it grows."

Police searched the Detroit Club after receiving reports at 1 a.m. that a bomb had been planted in the building where Mikoyan addressed a group of industrialists last night.

Police termed the threat a hoax but two squad cars were assigned to watch the building until dawn.

Mikoyan spent the night at a hotel a block away.

The antagonism of the pickets did not appear to bother Mikoyan.

In tours of Ford, General Motors and Chrysler auto plants yesterday, Mikoyan was greeted by most of the workers in the plants and warmly by a few who spoke Armenian, his native language.

Mikoyan had kept up a rapid pace of activity.

After he flew from Cleveland to Detroit in the morning and visited the Ford research center, the engine plant and the assembly line at the River Rouge plant, he had a private luncheon with a dozen top-ranking Detroit business executives atop the Ford administration building.

In the afternoon he continued his inspection of the motor industry with the trips to General Motors and Chrysler.

Chicago's Mayor Will Not Budge to Meet Mikoyan

CHICAGO — If Russian Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan wants to get the red carpet treatment from Mayor Daley, he'll have to journey to City hall.

That was the mayor's edict when informed that the No. 2 man in the Soviet government intends to visit Chicago today.

"I'll be glad to receive him in my office," said the mayor.

This action would be quite a departure from the usual high powered receptions provided most visiting dignitaries.

The usual procedure is for the mayor to greet the dignitaries at the airport and escort them to City hall. LaSalle street usually is closed for ceremonies including color guards and blaring military bands.

According to the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Russian embassy in Washington asked Edward L. Ryerson, board chairman of the Inland Steel corporation, to show Mikoyan around town.

But if Mikoyan wants to shake the official hand of Chicago, he will have to detour to Randolph and La Salle streets, ride the elevator to the fifth floor, and ask for Mayor Daley.

Hate, Fear Strike--- It Was Touch-and-Go

By JERRY CHIAPPETTA

DETROIT (UPI)—A crowd with much hate and fear in its heart became an angry mob for a few fearful minutes last night.

Some 500 shoving, screaming people nearly got out of hand when Anastas Mikoyan, Russian's deputy premier, arrived at the Detroit Club for a dinner with local industrialists.

The mob swarmed forward, each member—most of East European nationalities—shouting some insult.

They yelled a number of things that you couldn't print. Almost in a chant that could be heard for blocks around downtown Detroit they shouted: "Russki, go home," "Go home mass murderer," and "Butcher!"

President Eisenhower's plea earlier in the day that Americans should show Mikoyan "traditional" courtesy meant nothing last night.

Those people were mean. This writer was swept up in the pulsating movement of the masses. A woman was knocked to the icy pavement. She got up and continued shouting.

One middle-aged man charged into the placard-carrying front-most demonstrators in an attempt to break through a line of club-carrying policemen. He was taken away but later released.

It looked like the mob was going to win. Others pushed forward toward Mikoyan's car. Eggs and snowballs sailed overhead. They missed their target, but struck several newsmen and a State Department representative.

I finally made it to the front ranks of the pickets and flashed a press card. It was useless. A young uniformed patrolman shoved his club into my ribs. The card meant nothing. His club did.

Tool and Die Pact Looked for Soon

DETROIT (U)—Negotiations on a new labor contract for some 7,000 Detroit area tool and die makers were recessed today on a note of optimism.

Federal and state mediators met with representatives of the Automotive Tool & Die Manufacturers Assn., and the United Auto Workers tool and die locals 155 and 157 until 4:30 a.m. Talks will be resumed at 11 a.m. Saturday.

One of the mediators said "some progress" had been made in the nighttime session.

The union previously had set a strike deadline of 7 a.m. yesterday, but this was suspended after the bargainers appeared near agreement.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (U)—The Belgian Parliament is sending a nine-man committee to Leopoldville, capital of the Belgian Congo, to investigate the three-day riot which left 42 dead and 257 injured.

Delay Is Granted in Teacher Case

Examination of a suspended Waterford Township high school teacher accused of gross indecency has been postponed to Jan. 23.

Arthur Mooney, 50, of 1651 Grimshaw St., Commerce Township, was to have had examination on the felony charge, carrying a five-year maximum sentence, today before Pontiac Township Justice Robert W. Hodge.

Mooney also will be tried on a second charge Jan. 23 of furnishing beer to minors. He is free on personal bond.

Oakland County sheriff's deputies arrested Mooney Dec. 16 after investigating a fatal auto accident.

Three survivors in the death car, in statements to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, said Mooney bought beer from them from a grocery near his home, using their money.

Ike Challenges Dems to Live Within Budget

President Calls for New Civil Rights Laws in State of Union Message

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower today challenged the heavily Democratic new Congress to meet the Communist threat by living within his 77-billion-dollar budget and working toward tax relief "in the foreseeable future."

In a State of the Union message outlining administration plans for building a better and stronger America in this space age of catastrophic war possibilities, the President said his formula is designed to preserve this nation's way of life.

Useless expenditures, he said, "might tend to undermine the economy and therefore the nation's safety."

His 5,000-word address, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of the Senate and House, also set forth these other highlights calling for:

1. Enactment of new civil rights legislation to be submitted to Congress soon. Without being specific about the legislation, the President deplored closing of some public schools in the integration controversy, and pledged anew he will take every action necessary to enforce the law as interpreted by the courts.

2. New laws aimed at wiping out "corruption, racketeering, and abuse of power and trust in labor-management affairs." Eisenhower expressed disappointment in the last Congress, also Democratic-controlled, did not act in this field despite disclosures by the invest-

Point Smog Finger at New Cars Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two assemblymen from Los Angeles propose to force Detroit auto makers to put anti-smog devices on cars.

A bill which would ban the sale of any new car without such a device in a smog-control district after July 1, 1961 was introduced yesterday by Assemblyman John L. E. Collier (R-Los Angeles).

Assemblyman William A. Munnell (D-Los Angeles) said he would introduce a bill Monday which would assess a 7 per cent tax on each car not equipped with an anti-smog device after Sept. 1, 1961.

Residents of smog-free counties would be exempted if the county supervisors adopted a resolution declaring smog was no menace.

Munnell said the 7 per cent tax, a one-time-only assessment, would be enough to prod Detroit into developing an anti-smog device, and not too much to penalize makers of small cars.

90 Pct. of Press Ballots Vote to Ban Sunday Sales

Pontiac residents are overwhelmingly against stores being open on Sundays, according to a poll conducted by the Downtown Merchants Assn. through The Pontiac Press.

More than 90 per cent of the Pontiac Press readers who expressed themselves were against Sunday sales of non-essential goods.

Readers indicated their opinions by means of a ballot published Monday in The Press. On the ballot, they were able to indicate whether they were for or against Sunday sales.

A total 753 ballots were received.

Hiringer, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce. The small response showed a lack of interest, officials said.

Of the 533 ballots tabulated so far, he said, 57 were for Sunday sales and 476 were opposed. Ballots received in today's mail have not yet been recorded, he said.

"However, a number of pro-votes were cast because of opposition to legislation forcing Sunday closing," Hiringer said.

"These people explained they were against Sunday sales as a matter of principle," Hiringer explained, "but felt the question is basically a religious one."

This was also the expressed opinion of city commissioners who Tuesday turned down proposed Blue Law legislation by a 4-2 vote.

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce feels the same way, Hiringer said.

"Although unanimously opposed to Sunday sales, the board believes that self-regulation, not legislation, is the best method," he said.

The city's attention was called to the problem last month when a major Pontiac department store remained open three Sundays before Christmas.

Since then, Hiringer said, downtown stores have abided by the chamber's unwritten policy of staying closed on Sundays.

Staebler Denies He Will Resign Chairmanship

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — State Democratic chairman Neil Staebler said today he had no plans to resign his position.

Asked about reports from Washington that he was about to step down, Staebler said at his Ann Arbor home.

"I just don't rush into or out of position. I'm just listening to party sentiments and the party will help me to decide."

"I have no plans now to quit, however."

In Washington, Staebler said: "I'm taking soundings. They will tell me if I should run again. It is fair to say that I am not a candidate for re-election at this time."

Wave Drowns Sleeping Town After Big Rains

Wall of Water Strikes Tiny Spanish Town in 4 A.M. Disaster

ZAMORA, Spain (UPI)—Rain-swollen waters surged over a huge new power dam and cascaded a wall of death onto the village of Ribadellago early today while its 600 inhabitants slept.

First sketchy reports said 100 or more persons were killed.

The disaster struck at 4 a.m. in northwest Spain near the Portuguese border.

The Zamora provincial government said in a statement that torrential rains of the past few days overflowed the reservoir of the two-year-old Vega de Tera dam and "spilled over, inundating the village of Ribadellago."

Down rushed the waters of the Tera river along a deep mountain valley resembling a declined bowling alley. Riva del Lago, a hamlet nestled in the somber mountains of northern Spain, lay three miles downstream.

The village was shattered and then engulfed.

The full story of the destruction was yet to be told. In its steep plunge, the wall of water ripped out the only road leading to the village and bad weather made flying to the scene impossible.

There was no other form of communication to the desolate mountain badlands, about 165 miles northwest of Madrid.

Survivors apparently made it by boat downstream to give the alarm.

The seemingly incessant rain and overcast bottled up U.S. Air Force crews at the Torrejon Strategic Air Command base outside Madrid.

"We are working right now to see whether we can fly from Madrid to the scene of the disaster but flying weather is unfavorable today," a spokesman said.

Pathologist Tells of Brutal Attack

Doctor Identifies Tools Taken From Body of Murder Victim

A bushy-haired ex-convict from Detroit fidgeted nervously yesterday while a pathologist from William Beaumont Hospital told an Oakland County Circuit Court jury about the grotesque and savage beating of a Southfield night watchman.

Raymond L. Alvey, 35, played with a pen, occasionally scribbling notes while Dr. Malcolm C. Young related how brutally beaten the body of Anthony J. Jasinski was when he performed an autopsy.

Alvey, once a gardener, is charged with first-degree murder in Jasinski's Aug. 1 death. Jasinski, 51, was caretaker for the Ilgenfrits Nurseries Inc., 23851 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Dr. Young identified a pair of blood-stained gardeners' hedge clippers with a one-foot-long blade and a pair of scissors which he said had been plunged into Jasinski's head.

Dr. Young, assistant pathologist at the Royal Oak hospital, was the first witness called by Assistant Prosecutor William E. Lang Thursday, the first day of the trial.

Lang said he would call possibly 27 witnesses in an attempt to put together Alvey's activities the night of July 31 and early morning hours of Aug. 1 when another gardener discovered Jasinski's body crumpled on the floor of a drafting room at the nursery.

A jury of eight women and five men was impaneled to decide the fate of Alvey.

Defending Alvey is William R. Beasley, a Ferndale attorney. The judge is William J. Beer.

Homeowners Retain Attorney in Fight

Shelby Race Track Issue Slated for Court

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — The Shelby Homeowners' Council has retained a Detroit attorney to bring action in Macomb County Circuit Court attacking the validity of the ordinance which will allow racing on the Curtiss-Wright Corp. property here.

Miss Dee Edwards, Buhl Building, Detroit, is the attorney handling the case. She said her plans are to challenge the validity of the ordinance on five counts.

Technically, it is the amendment to the zoning ordinance adopted by township and zoning boards Nov. 12 which is under fire.

"There are five instances where the township board did not comply with the regulations in the statute," Miss Edwards said.

One statute she cited in particular requires that notice of the public hearing on the proposed amendment state time and place where the text and map of the ordinance may be seen. This was not done, she said.

There are other instances of the same nature, Miss Edwards said, adding that she would cite them in court.

The Shelby Homeowners' Council is the organization whose members circulated petitions last month in an attempt to force the township to bring the proposed amendment to a referendum vote. They had 875 signatures on their petitions.

Under the apparent misconception that they had until Dec. 18 to file these petitions, council members circulated them up until two days before the supposed deadline.

Then they were officially notified the deadline had already passed. The group filed them anyway in the township clerk's office.

"We accepted them with the understanding that they were too late to force the referendum vote," George Kullman, township clerk, said at the time.

"Even if they had been filed on time, they weren't any good. They cited the wrong ordinance — not the zoning amendment we had adopted," he added.

The zoning and township boards adopted the rezoning amendment after an advisory vote Nov. 4 which favored the proposal by a majority of 2,176 "yes" to 1,029 "no."

The Curtiss-Wright property covers 675 acres, bordered by Mound, Van Dyke, 22 and 23-Mile roads. It has an existing two and a half-mile track built in 1926-28 by the former owners of the property, the Packard Motor Car Co.

While the township-council feud continues, Curtiss-Wright officials are proceeding with plans to develop the property for races of Indianapolis-type cars and sports and late-model stock cars.

Gas Franchise Vote Set June 9

Special Election OK'd by Township Board in Addison

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—The township board has set June 9 as the date for a special election on a proposal to grant a 30-year franchise to the Southeastern Michigan Gas Co., township clerk, Robert McCallum announced today.

The original date set for the election was Jan. 6, but through a ruling by the State Attorney's Office that date was changed, McCallum said.

The ruling stated that a special election cannot be held within 60 days of a regular election.

The township board then sought approval from the gas company to hold the election at the same time as the Feb. 16 Primary.

This move was vetoed by gas company officials who said they preferred to pay the added expense of a special election in order to more accurately determine public reaction to their particular proposal, McCallum said.

Subsequently, the June 9 date was set and approved by the township board.

Township officials also favored the appointment of Edward Porter as fire chief. Porter had been acting in that capacity since the resignation of Elmer Powell earlier this winter.

Area Home of 5 Gutted by Fire

'Empty Fuel Tank' Explodes as He Tries to Take It Outside

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The explosion of a supposedly empty oil stove resulted in a fire which gutted a four-room frame home of the Luther Thomas family at 30515 13-Mile Rd. yesterday.

The family of five escaped unharmed but lost all of its possessions in the blaze. Thomas who was intending to replace the stove with a new one had allowed the five-gallon fuel tank attached to the back of a stove to run dry. He said there had been no fire in the stove since about 2 a.m., but when he attempted to move the stove "it back-fired," he said.

He wrestled the blazing stove to the door but couldn't get it through the opening. Flames quickly spread and Thomas fled by the door after seeing that his wife and three children were safely out of the other exit.

Firemen from Stations 2 and 3 here brought the blaze under control but were unable to save anything inside.

The home is owned by Mrs. Virginia Veet who lives next door to the burned-out house. No estimate of damage yet has been made.

The Thomas family is staying with relatives in Detroit.

Boat, Crew of 5 Lost En Route to Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — The 40-ton motor vessel Summer Rose and its five Jamaican crewmen are 12 days overdue on a voyage here from Grand Cayman Island and are presumed lost, port authorities said today.

The 70-foot vessel, which usually operates as a fishing boat, was carrying 284 drums of asphalt consigned to the Shell Oil Company's Kingston branch.

Michigan State Grange Supporting Tax Plan

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan State Grange has thrown its support behind the Citizen Advisory Committee Tax Plan, giving the tax package its biggest boost so far.

While critical of some parts of the 138 million dollar tax package, the farm organization's executive committee endorsed the program as a whole so long as it is kept intact.

William J. Brake, State Grange master, said the organization has about 30,000 members. Almond Cressman of St. Johns, an executive committee member, sat on the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The larger State Farm Bureau has as yet taken no position. It was represented on the tax study group by Robert Smith of Fowlerville, a Farm Bureau vice president.

The Grange Executive Committee called the package "the best solution offered yet to provide more equitable taxation and to alleviate the state's financial crisis."

It said it "rather questions" a $9 personal annual sales tax rebate recommendation—the estimated equivalent of sales tax paid on food—and did not like some of the proposed insurance premium tax revisions.

But the committee said it hoped the proposed state income tax would "help to relieve the heavy burden of taxation on real estate" levied for school support.

GOLDEN WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. George F. Dingel, 384 Coats Rd., Oxford Township, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. at the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Dingel, 8780 Commerce Rd., Walled Lake. The Dingels were married Jan. 9, 1909 at St. Vincent de Paul Church, Pontiac. Mrs. Dingel is 68 and her husband 66. They have seven daughters, three sons, 15 grandchildren and one great-grandson. The Dingel family moved to Oxford Township 18 years ago. He is a retired General Motors Truck and Coach employee.

Despite 3 Opposition Appointments

De Gaulle Cabinet Strong

PARIS (AP) — Some familiar faces appeared in different Cabinet spots today, but the French government was still heading down the track surveyed by Charles de Gaulle.

Installed Thursday as the first president of the Fifth Republic, De Gaulle may open his seven-year term with some measures of amnesty, especially for prisoners in Algeria.

Michel Debre dropped into De Gaulle's former job of premier, but the post wasn't the same any more. While De Gaulle held the job with strong emergency powers for seven months, Debre as minister of justice wrote the Fifth Republic's constitution to give more power to the president and reduce the prerogatives of the premier and the National Assembly.

One power now removed from the Assembly enabled Debre's Cabinet to go right to work. The Assembly no longer has to approve the Cabinet first and can remove it only by a membership majority, which at the same time must agree on a new Cabinet. Fourth Republic cabinets, which lasted an average of six months, usually were brought down by a minority of deputies which themselves could never provide a substitute acceptable to the majority of the members.

'Eight and Forty' Club Elects New President

The Oakland County "Eight and Forty" Past Presidents Club, Salon No. 22 has elected Mrs. Fordson Niles of Southfield president for 1959.

Mrs. Fordson will appoint her co-officers for the year Feb. 3 at Cotter's Inn, Berkley, just prior to installation ceremonies.

Members interested in attending the installation and dinner at 6:30 p.m. on that date are urged to contact Mrs. William Kramer, secretary, of 925 Maplegrove St., Royal Oak.

Davisburg Fire Hits Cafe, Barbershop

DAVISBURG — A fire raced through the Polkadot Restaurant and only barbershop here early this morning destroying the restaurant building and gutting a four-room apartment above the barbershop. No one was hurt.

Occupants of the apartment, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Guthrie were awakened by the fire whistle and immediately fled into the main street in their nightclothes. Guthrie is the village barber.

Davisburg and Independence Township fire departments battled the blaze reported at 1:30 a.m. for about four hours. It was still smoldering at 8 this morning.

Fire Chief Charles Hillman said the wind hampered them greatly when it forced the flames to race rapidly through the frame restaurant building and into the adjoining brick building.

Damage was estimated at $8,000 by the Sheriff's Dept.

Only a few clothes in a clothes closet were saved, the rest of the Guthries' belongings were lost in the fire.

The Ye Olde General store on the other side of the restaurant was saved by firemen. Damage to the barbershop mostly was caused by smoke and water, firemen reported.

The Guthries were taken in by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Merenes, neighbors across the street.

Authorities are still investigating the cause of the fire.

State Farm Prices Seen Due to Drop

EAST LANSING — A Michigan State University farm economist says the state's farm prices are due to decline in 1959.

But, says William A. Cromarty, Michigan prices may hold up better than in the rest of the country where a drop of up to 5 per cent may occur. He based this probability on the state's strong dairy industry where prices are likely to hold steady through the year.

Besides lower prices, farmers will also have to cope with higher production costs, the economist adds.

Slate First Teenage Traffic Safety Conference Tuesday

HAVE A MILK? — This has been a question asked many times at Pontiac Central High School since the students returned to school this week following a holiday vacation. The student American Field Service Committee has installed the malted milk machine in the cafeteria to raise money to bring two foreign students to Central in the fall. From left are Jim Moyer of 116 W. Hoquon Rd., enjoying a malt cup, and Sue Thompson of 311 W. Hoquon Rd., about to sample one. They are members of the committee.

13 Area High Schools to Participate in Program

By SYLVIA COLE
School Editor

Students representing 13 area high schools will meet Tuesday to discuss their traffic problems with the experts, present their ideas and then suggest some solutions.

They will be attending the first Pontiac Area Teenage Traffic Safety Conference which will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Pontiac Northern High School.

The program is being sponsored by the Safety Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and has been organized by a committee of nine teenagers.

Members of the conference steering committee and the high school they attend are: Michael Flynn, chairman, St. Michael's; Carol Fitch, secretary, Clarkston; Larry Erdman, Bloomfield Hills; Alfred Monetta, Milford and Tony Hiller, Waterford.

Others were Bill Havel, Walled Lake; Harrison Munson, Pontiac Central; Dan Riley, Bloomfield Hills; and Ned Ely, Walled Lake.

Adults working on the conference are Harvey M. Johns, chairman of the Chamber's Safety Committee and Robert Flynn and George Stewart, co-chairman of the project representing this committee.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston, who has proclaimed Tuesday as Teenage Traffic Safety Day, will address the conference at 10 a.m. with Edward Maier, president of the chamber and Flynn, student chairman.

Two safety movies will also be shown during the day's program and before the small discussion groups begin, there will be a 20 minute "coke break."

A program including a band, magician and dance acts will precede the 1:20 luncheon in the cafeteria sponsored by General Motors Truck and Coach Division.

Each discussion group will present resolutions to the general assembly held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. They in turn will be sent on to the Michigan State Safety Commission as recommendations, according to William L. Belancy, assistant manager of the chamber.

It is hoped students will also take back their traffic safety knowledge, ideas and resolutions and discuss them with fellow students in order to create a greater interest in the subject and become better and safer drivers.

Others are "Upping the License Requirements for Drivers and Probationary Period for First Year Drivers," Ralph W. Moxley, Birmingham police chief. Nolan of the MSU Highway Traffic Safety Center.

The "Michigan Compulsory Vehicle Inspection" discussion will be attended by Gerald W. Shipman, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission.

PREPARE FOR CONFERENCE — Getting programs ready for the first Pontiac Area Teenage Traffic Safety Conference to be held at Pontiac Northern High School Tuesday are these committeemen. Left to right are Michael Flynn of 7207 Arrowood St., Westacres, St. Michael's High School senior and student chairman; George Stewart, head of the Pontiac school system's driver training program and adult co-chairman; and Carol Fitch, of 9011 White Lake Rd., White Lake Township, Clarkston High School senior and committee recording secretary.

Central to Sell Malts, Raise Exchange Students Fund

By JOYNE WOOD

Although they may gain some weight in the process, Pontiac Central High School students will be drinking malted milks from now until June, and for a good cause.

The newest addition to the cafeteria since students returned to school this week following the holiday vacation is a malted milk machine.

It was purchased and is being run by the student committee of the American Field Service in hopes of being able to raise funds to bring two foreign exchange students to Central in September.

This is the committee's first of several projects it will attempt to raise the needed $1,200.

The cafeteria malts cost 10 cents each. Larger ones will be sold at basketball games.

The committee also is seeking families to take the exchange students in from September through June. The first exchange student to attend Central came last September. She is Jacqueline Baron of Rouen, France, who lives with the Dr. Jerome Fink family.

FROM TOMORROW
Tomorrow night, the senior prom, headed by Don Mann, class president, will be held in the Girls Gymnasium from 9 p.m. until midnight.

The Malloy Jones will provide the music for the formal dance.

The cast has been selected for the PCH Dramatics Department's presentation of "The King and I" in March. Rehearsals will begin Monday, according to Gertrude Errington, director.

Central students who have leading roles include Jim McIntosh, David Barr, Marilyn Vernon, James Bank, Clark Davis, Lynn Walker, Carl Pappas, Connie Zim.

Club at Walled Lake Planning Science Fair
Walled Lake High School Science Club members are planning an all school science fair.

All fields of science will be represented although no animals will be allowed in any of the student displays or projects.

Purpose of the fair is to create a greater interest in science and help students prepare entries for the Detroit Science Fair. The time and date of the local fair has not been determined.

The St. Ignace Players, a drama group, will present "Lovers' Arms" at 8 p.m. on March 11. Auditions were held this week.

Scientist to Speak Tuesday at Rochester

By ALICE LUPKE

"Biological Research" will be the title of a lecture by David Russell, scientist in the research division of DuPont-DuPont Company, sponsored Tuesday by the Rochester High School Science Club.

Five animals will be used to demonstrate methods of obtaining facts in biological science, especially in drug research. The nature of the investigative process will also be discussed.

The program, open to the public, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the physics laboratory of the school.

DANCE TONIGHT
The "Sophomore Date," a dance sponsored by the sophomore class, will be held tonight in the high school gymnasium.

Milton Webster and Martha Enke are in charge of tickets and advertising. Other committee members include Harold Sandberg and Richard Feely, refreshments, and Bob Cole, music.

SHEEHE

Gordon H. Sheeche, director of the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center, will be the keynote speaker and discuss the theme at 10:15 a.m.

Six other topics have been selected by teenagers to be discussed at the conference. They were selected from a proposed list of 17 which the student steering committee sent to all area high schools for a vote by the teens.

Each of the six discussion groups will be attended by a specialized adult in the subject who will act as a resource person. The persons and the discussion subjects include:

"Drug Strips," James J. Cohoon, Genesee County Safety Commission executive director; "Teenage Drinking and Driving," Mrs. Frances Kessler, director of the Pontiac Alcoholism Information Center.

Others are "Upping the License Requirements for Drivers and Probationary Period for First Year Drivers," Ralph W. Moxley, Birmingham police chief. 6 MSU Seniors at PNH

By BARBARA SHAVER

Six student teachers began their teaching career at Pontiac Northern High School this week.

All are education majors at Michigan State University and will be at Northern for several months to practice teaching.

The student teachers and their supervising teacher are Alto Gehring with Peter Everts, John Danziger with Wallace Schloerke, Menda Brittan with Mrs. Margaret West, Dawn Wear with Mrs. Mary Lou Jennings, Mary Dando with John Silvenon, and Fred Tiwning with Ralph Rosel.

CAST OPERETTA

Five students were cast for the Northern vocal music department's first operetta this week. "The Lowland Sea," by Alex Wilder, will be directed by Melvin Larimer.

Selected for the cast were Mary Jo Koren, Jerry Kandt, Ron Miller, Dale Mallott and Pam Huntley.

The Polaris staff, which publishes PNH's newspaper, are selling Robin Hood styled hats this week to be worn by students at all sport activities.

The student body in an effort to arouse school spirit will also declare a Color Day at which time all students will wear something red and white, the school's colors.

The choir is also selling rooting shakers in red and white.

Three members of the Polaris staff attended the semi-annual initiation of new members to the Walled Lake Township High School's Quill and Scroll, a journalism honorary, Wednesday.

Hurst St., treasurer, and Judy Lunsford of 3314 Devondale St., vice president. Members are working part-time at the Avon Center Hospital to learn about the responsibilities, requirements and life of a nurse.

U. of M. Professor Speaks

WTHS Honors 18 Journalists

By JEAN RENAUD

Community service and a high scholastic record are two of the main jobs of members of the Quill and Scroll, a national high school journalism honorary.

This is what Prof. John A. Field, professor of journalism at the University of Michigan, told the Walled Lake Township High School's chapter of the organization this week at its semi-annual initiation ceremony.

Karl Liebert, now a freshman at the U. of M. and the former chapter president, installed the newly elected officers of the group at the Wednesday evening ceremony.

They were Diana McIntosh, president; Don Mann, class president; and Loretta Lyon, secretary.

Ident. Jean Rexford, secretary and Edward Ballman, sergeant-at-arms. Two other officers, Ciss Roberts, vice president, and Loretta Lyon, treasurer, will be installed next week.

INITIATE 13
Thirteen new members of the society were accepted into the organization officially during the candlelight ceremony.

They were Nancy Eddy, Sue Benne, Karen Peterson, Gert Hesse, Barbara Boeneman, Carol Van Horn, Tom Moore and Sue Kuhn, all seniors. The others were Ray Robinson, James Smith, Mary Ellen Taylor, Gwen Hunt, and Alice Harrell.

Guests for the evening were

Harry J. Reed, Pontiac Press managing editor, and Mrs. Judith L. Clemence, woman's editor, and Mrs. Jane Windler of the Lakeland Tribune.

Others were Mrs. William Slomack, wife of the superintendent of Walled Lake Township Schools; James Fry, principal, Hellen Eulita, assistant principal, and Paul Epley, Charles Reicks and Mary Eschery, faculty members.

Journalism students from Pontiac Central, Pontiac Northern and Farmington high schools also attended.

Eight students participated in today's pep assembly. For tonight's were held Tuesday.

basketball game with Berkley High School. They were Kathy Bray, Lorraine Tenuta, Barbara Cole, Ruth Newman, Carleen Cook, Karen Morgan, Carol Vought and Jean Salathiel.

TO DEBATE LINCOLN

Members of the varsity and junior varsity debate teams will compete against Lincoln High School of Van Dyke at Farmington Monday.

Both teams lost two debates at Southfield High School Wednesday.

"South Sea Island Showboat" has been selected as the theme for this year's annual Junior Showboat Auditions for the variety show.

Auditions for the variety show were held Tuesday.

Introduce Monthly Pattern Designed for Teens Today

This week's high school page in The Pontiac Press carries the first of a series of Young America patterns.

One will be printed each month for our teenage readers since the patterns are created especially for teenagers.

The first of this series is a midday by Joset Walker. The costume can be made for as little as $5 and features a choice of collars that can transform it from a school dress to Easter Sunday best.

The neckline is wide enough to pull over the head. Try version 1 in flannel, serge, novelty cotton, rayon, linen or shantung with contrasting snap-in collars and cuffs. To dress it up, make the collar in the same fabric as the dress.

Select the correct size from the chart below which compares to ready-to-wear sizes.

SIZE 5 7 9 11 13 15
Bust 31 1/2 32 1/2 33 1/2 34 1/2 35 1/2
Waist 21 1/2 22 1/2 23 1/2 24 1/2 25 1/2

Disc Data and Chatter Music in the Round

by Dick Saunders

FIVE ACES: Starting the new year in first place among local best-sellers is "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" (The Platters). Second spot goes to a real rising star, "Donna" (Ritchie Valens). In third place is "The Chipmunk Song" (David Seville), beginning to fade from the picture.

Fourth in sales is "Lonely Tears" (Jackie Wilson), which is still hanging on. "Stagger Lee" (Lloyd Price) squeezes into the fifth rung on the ladder and looks like a good bet for a trip upward by next week.

Last week I listed the top sellers in record shops around the Pontiac area during 1958. No two people will agree, naturally, on all the selections. This includes yours truly.

In my April 18 column I described a new release as follows: "If Nat King Cole's latest release, 'Looking Back,' doesn't sell a million, then there's something wrong with current taste."

I still feel the same about that Cole platter. It barely made the top five once, but it still has to go down as my favorite of '58.

In the pop field, although the "Chipmunk Song" is most predominant in our minds, what happened to the earlier top sellers? In January it was "Short Shorts" and "Cet a Job." February's best sellers were "It's Too Soon to Know" and "Twenty-Six Miles."

Then it was "Lollipop" for awhile before "Witch Dr." took over in April. "Dream" was a big one, and "Purple People Eater" stayed on top in June as long as "Witch Dr." did two months before.

What happened to "Bird Dog"? It remained in the top five for nearly two months, longer than any other record during the year.

Peggy Lee's "Fever" was a top-notch disc, and "Everybody Loves a Lover" was a refreshing change by Doris Day. But neither set any sales records.

The best new female vocalist, for my money, was Keely Smith, not Connie Francis. The Every Brothers rate about a dozen from the top.

As far as I'm concerned, The Kirby Stone Four were the year's big find and you'll have to go a long way to top the Mills Brothers, Four Freshmen, and Hi-Los. The Four Preps flopped after one hit.

Les Brown's "Concert in Modern" LP was a fine big band jazz album, but didn't rate on sales charts. Wilbur deParis' Cole Porter LP on Atlantic was a top-notch Dixie album, and Cy Touff's "Havin' a Ball" for World Pacific was one of the year's finest, although neither received much publicity.

Newsman Lost 8 Hours in Cave

Searchers Find Trio Wandering in Depths of Kentucky Cavern

WHITLEY, Ky. (UP)—Searchers last night rescued three newsmen who were lost for more than eight hours in a cave which one of them believes might be the biggest in the country.

Sheriff Herman Hamlin of McCreary County said he and seven local residents found the three men at 11 p.m. wandering aimlessly more than half a mile back in the cave.

The extent of the cavern, known as "Buckeye Cave," is not known. It is located about 17 miles northwest of this southern Kentucky community.

The trio, John Fram, news director of radio station WSAI, Cincinnati, Jim Jordan, a free lance writer, and Jim Brown, a professional photographer, were safe and sound except for a sprained ankle received by Brown in a fall. All are from Cincinnati.

"They hadn't given up hope yet," the sheriff said, "but they were mighty glad to see us." He said they had wandered an estimated 18 miles since entering the cave.

The sheriff and Kentucky State Highway Patrol were notified that the men were missing when they failed to call Tom Edwards, WSAI news editor by about 1:30 p.m., as agreed upon.

Hour Colorcast Features Stars

Maurice Evans, Ballet, Belafonte and Tebaldi Spark First of Series

A year ago, a young Norwegian girl came to Hollywood for the sole purpose of visiting her brother and brushing up her English.

Now, less than 12 months later, Anna Lisa has an impressive list of film and TV credits and is cast as Nora Travers in the new Western series, "Black Saddle," which starts Saturday, (9 p.m.—Channel 4).

As the feminine lead in the series which co-stars Peter Breck and Russell Scott, Miss Lisa puts her delightful Scandinavian accent to work as the young immigrant widow who runs a hotel in Tatigo, New Mexico Territory.

Anna Lisa was born in Oslo, Norway. Although her parents were not connected with show-business, they helped further their daughter's acting ambitions. From the time she was seven, Anna toured Norway, starring in children's plays.

After completing the equivalent of an American junior college, she passed up a university education because it didn't offer a drama course. Instead, she enrolled with a drama coach.

It wasn't long before she attracted the attention of Norway's leading repertory company and was engaged as an apprentice. Musical comedy roles, a tour with a French comedy and bit parts in Norwegian movies followed. Then she decided to brush up her English by visiting her brother in Hollywood.

"I had no intention of staying," she says. "I had a visitors visa and wasn't permitted to work. But I couldn't just sit around."

To keep from being bored, Anna Lisa took some non-paying little theater roles in a Los Angeles suburb and enrolled in dramatic class with Jeff Corey, one of Hollywood's leading coaches. Then, immigration officials notified her that she would be allowed to remain in the U.S.

Without firm offers of work, Miss Lisa accepted a bid from a Norwegian steamship company to make a publicity film in the South Pacific. For six months, she cruised among the islands. "No box office and no billing, but a lot of fun and rest," she says.

Back in the U.S., she got a part in Republic's "Sugarfoot." Shortly afterwards, she obtained the female lead opposite Jack Kelly in a "Maverick" television episode. More television work came her way and she played a gangster's moll in "Walter Winchell's File" and a nun on "Lux Playhouse."

Then Hal Hudson, creator of "Black Saddle," heard of the Norwegian actress and cast her in the part of Nora Travers.

Miss Lisa is 5 feet 7½ inches tall, weighs 127 pounds and is a blonde with green eyes.

Big Taxpayers Asked to Pay

Early Tax Money Will Ease Current State Financial Crisis

LANSING (AP)—The state's big taxpayers have been asked to pay their bills early to help the state in its current cash crisis.

Gov. Williams issued the appeal, explaining that some of the major corporations probably already had the money tucked away to make the inevitable payments.

Williams explained that about $2 million dollars in intangibles, business activities and corporation franchise taxes are due between April and June.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "there are many large taxpayers who have cash reserves set aside to meet these obligations. It would be a great help to the state in its current cash crisis if some of these large taxpayers were to pay early."

Such early tax payments won't solve the state's financial problem, Williams said. But, he added, it will give the incoming legislature "a little more flexibility" in making decisions on tax legislation.

Major taxes due this spring include the intangibles tax, estimated at some 14 million dollars; the corporation franchise tax, to bring in more than 48 million; and the business activities tax, about 20 million.

Williams added that he wasn't asking the small or individual taxpayers to make early payments "because it wouldn't make any sizeable dent in our problem."

"BLACK SADDLE" PREMIERE — Circuit lawyer Clay Culhane (Peter Breck) checks the hotel books for his first client, Nora Travers (Anna Lisa) in the first episode of the new western series, "Black Saddle," which dramatizes the experiences of a one-time gunfighter turned lawyer.

Her Cold Preventative Will Never Catch On

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — 'Twas so cold the other night that I made a date with Diana Dors—just so I'd feel feverish.

Then for the benefit of all you nice Eskimos I asked the red-hot British babe—who is famous for wearing nothing under her dress but her—just how she avoids having a chest cold practically perpetually.

"How do I avoid colds?" she smiled. "By avoiding clothes! I don't like clothes."

"I can see that," I stated. We were asquid at a local club... Diana; her British boy friend, comedian Dicky Dawson, and an old friend of hers who said:

"Diana's a nudist at heart."

He might have remembered that she once sent a nude picture of herself to the troops, saying, "This is my contribution to the war effort."

"Oh, no, I'm not!" Diana tossed her shoulder-length blonde loveliness about revealing diamond earrings. "But I feel terribly swamped in coats. Like when I started out in just a mink stole, a cab driver said, 'Where the hell do you think you are, lady—in Florida?'"

But Diana—here to appear on the Steve Allen show, then to visit Hollywood and Las Vegas—was undisturbed. Men visitors had come to N.Y. with their longies, but she had brought her shorties.

"When did you last have a cold?" I asked.

"I can't remember—when I was a little girl, I guess," Diana smiled.

"And what is your favorite cold remedy?" I inquired.

"Oh, I just take off some more clothes," Diana laughed.

Report on Promotion Practices: Ability? Honesty? Service? Marry Daughter of Boss!

NEW YORK (UP)—The hired hands don't know it, but in one big company it pays for a man to come to work with his tie askew or with egg on his yest.

The boss deliberately picks such a man for promotion.

"Such an employee is more concerned with work than he is about appearances," said the boss recently during a survey by the New York State Department of Labor of "promotion practices" among leading New York firms.

According to the survey report, "promotion practices actually are surprisingly haphazardous."

For the executive-suite levels, one company officer said: "When a great president retires, a vacuum is created. And into this vacuum is swept the nearest guy who hasn't had a coronary."

The demise of the organization man was predicted by a boss who

Playhouse 90 Tries Hard but Is a Little Too Thin

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK (UP)—"The Wings of the Dove," presented on CBS-TV's Playhouse 90 last night, stems from a novel that was not so much written as cobwebbed.

It was one of three terminal novels spun at the shank of Henry James' career and is, by turns, fascinating and infuriating. It is a little like a shadow stretched to a steamy thinness. Or to change my image, reading it is like trying to piece out the shape of a cointain with a pocket flashlight.

However, one fact must be faced, dying girl, Milly. Object—money, stripped about its story when its bones are unstripped:

A girl, Kate, without much fortune and in love with a man, Merton Denner (changed for some strange reason to "Miles Enshaw" in the TV play), plots to marry Merton to a rich, dying girl, Milly. Object—money. Milly does die and does leave money to Merton, but Merton and Kate, remorseful, not only turn down the money, but don't marry after all.

This, of course, is an improbable and tedious dose of posh, the sort of thing that might titillate the bird-like sensibilities of a corky but exquisite old man, but which doesn't pack enough vigor or sap for 90 minutes of TV. Unfortunately, this is what Playhouse 90 was stuck with.

It's a shame, but there is little chance on TV to interiorize as James did. To explore the finer workings of motivation, to dissect the consciousness of characters, to unravel the ball of situation with fastidious perception. As a result, Playhouse 90 was cornered into dramatizing a wisp.

As for the acting, I would say that like about Ben Adham, James Donald's name led all the rest. As Merton or Miles, Donald turned an impossible character into a living human being. His portrait may not have been James' Merton, but it was not, as Aristotle once put it, chopped liver either.

The rest of the cast was not quite as satisfactory. Inga Swenson's Milly was fatuous rather than innocent and Dana Wynter's Kate seemed a bit frozen. The rest of the cast commuted between adequate and so-so and I somehow had the feeling that if the play had been live instead of on tape, a bit more fire might have been kindled.

Short shots: Last night was explosion night on TV. CBS-TV's Yancy Derringer dealt with a Dynamiter who was trying to blow up the French Quarter of New Orleans. NBC-TV's behind closed doors was about a neo-Nazi group that tried to blow up American military headquarters in Berlin. NBC-TV's Steve Canyon concerned a pilot who was almost exploded unwillingly from the ejector seat in his plane. And Errol Flynn was on the NBC-TV Jack Paar show.

The channel swim: NBC-TV's Bat Masterson and ABC-TV's

Methodist Educators Honor Stanley Kresge

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Methodist educators tonight will honor chairman executive Stanley S. Kresge of Detroit, president of the Kresge Foundation which has given millions to Methodist-related causes.

Kresge will receive the first distinguished alumnus citation of the National Assn. of Methodist Schools and Colleges and the Methodist Commission on Christian Higher Education. He is vice president of the Kresge variety store chain.

The groups are meeting here jointly.

Gardner Blasts TV

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Those tough guy television programs probably contribute to juvenile delinquency, says mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner. He told the National Assn. of County and Prosecuting Attorneys that parents should protest against such programs. But he said the real solution is for TV networks to substitute something else.

"Frankly," said a vice president of personnel, "we prefer a man who 'batters up' his fellows—and his superiors—it shows the ability to get along."

Many bosses, meanwhile, said they are wary of relying entirely upon the highly-touted mental and executive ability tests. They are responding to pleas of psychologists to brake this trend "before promotion practices are utterly dehumanized."

Alkalis were not manufactured in any quantity in the United States until 1883.
