FBI Arrests 10 Puerto Rican Commie Leaders

First Contest Entry

FIRST PHEASANT—A 13-year-old Auburn Heights' hunter, Conrad Fulkerson (above) became the first entry in the Pontiac Press big Pheasant Derby this morning when he reported the shooting of this 3-pound, 2-ounce bird. He bagged the ringneck with one shot from his 20-gauge shotgun just 10 minutes after the opening of the season. An 8th grader at Auburn Heights School, he was hunting in the Opdyke Road-South Boulevard area.

Hunters Test Pre-Season Estimates of Pheasants

By JACK PATTERSON
(Pontiac Press Outdoor Writer)

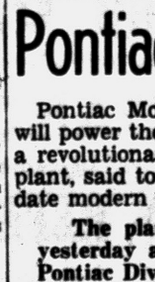

Pre-season estimates of a good supply of pheasants are being put to the test today in many areas throughout southern Michigan.

The state's most popular game bird is found to some extent in every part of the south half of the Lower Peninsula and in scattered areas in the north.

But the biggest concentrations of birds-and-hunters are in the extreme eastern part of the state, from the Ohio border up to and including the Thumb, in the general areas around Bay City and Flint, and then southwest to a line extending roughly from Lansing to Grand Rapids.

The season opened at 10:30 this morning and continues until sunset Nov. 10 in Zones 2 and 3. As in the past shooting for all species in these zones was suspended until the 10:30 opening hour.

Getting organized to hunt pheasants east of Sebewaing climaxed a rather busy half-week for the writer. In an effort to wind up a photographic series on early season grouse hunting—an activity which has been repeatedly interrupted by rain, floods, the side effects of hurricanes and what-not we went up to the Woodland Springs Club Sunday to study a group of Pontiac hunters in action.

PATTERSON

This time we were interrupted not by rain, but by fire. More specifically a fire which gutted the cabin of Dr. Vernon Abbot.

Thanks to foresightedness on the doctor's part, which included a pump on a separate wiring circuit and a long garden hose, plus the unified efforts of erstwhile hunters Dr. Cleo Gatley, Elmer Pettingill, Harold Euler, Jim Clarke, Lee Vorhees, and, of course, the owner, complete loss of the cabin was averted.

Indicts Petersen in Secrets Case

Jury Charges Former Code Expert Gave Data to Netherlands

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Joseph E. Petersen was indicted today on three charges of unlawfully handling government defense secrets. He promptly pleaded innocent.

One charge is that Petersen, 40, long a trusted employe of the supersecret National Security Agency, used classified information in a manner prejudicial to this country and beneficial to another nation.

The indictment did not mention the Netherlands, which has acknowledged exchanging information with Petersen.

give out the information, in a continuation of the close cooperation during World War II.

The first of the three charges against Petersen relates to copying and taking information relating to intelligence communications.

The second charge is the one involving the Netherlands government.

The third charge is that Petersen unlawfully concealed documents and papers.

Expect Life Span in U.S. to Keep Rising Past 80

WASHINGTON (INS) — The director of the District of Columbia's Health Department believes that the average age span in the U. S. may soon reach 80, and declared, "Now we may begin to think in terms of . . .90 years."

Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, who noted that the present average span in this country is now 69, told the American Occupational Therapy Association that "some are even predicting that this soon will be 100 years."

Seckinger noted that in many portions of the world people are dying early of diseases which plagued America 50 years ago — when the average life span was only 47 years.

Fourth Juror Seated for Trial of Dr. Sheppard

Judge Again Refuses to Allow Questioning on Sex Attitudes

CLEVELAND (AP) — A fourth juror was seated tentatively today in the first-degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

He is Thomas J. Solli, a railroad foreman, the father of three children.

Previously accepted for jury duty in the trial of the 30-year-old osteopath charged with beating his wife, Marilyn, to death, were a housewife, a steel plant timekeeper, and the manager of a hardware store.

For the second day, references to extra marital affairs of the defendant were voiced during the questioning of Solli. But again Judge Blythin refused to allow any detailed searching of the minds of prospective jurors as to their attitude toward sex in relation to testimony that might be introduced later.

Yesterday, the name of Susan Hayes, former associate of Dr. Sheppard at Bay View Hospital in nearby Bay Village, was introduced.

The state claims it has a statement from Miss Hayes, 24-year-old medical technician, that she was intimate with Dr. Sheppard more than once last spring while they were in California.

During examination of Solli, defense attorney Fred Garmone

October 30 Deadline for Absentee Ballots

Saturday, Oct. 30, is the deadline for requesting either in-person or mail absentee ballots, City Clerk Ada R. Evans said today.

Pontiac voters planning to be out of the city Nov. 2 may cast their ballots now at City Hall, Mrs. Evans said.

Requests for absentee ballots to be handled via the mails may be made at her office in City Hall. They must be returned by 8 p.m. election day.

Mrs. Evans reminded those who will be in town that sample ballots are available at City Hall "so voters can familiarize themselves with what they are going to vote on."

She also issued a reminder to voters that a cross is the only mark tabulated.

"Some people spoil their ballots every election by using a check instead of a cross," she said.

Ike Campaigns in East Today; Plans Telecast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, barely settled back in the White House after eight weeks in Denver, takes off again today for a crowded two days of speech-making and politicking in Connecticut and New York.

In between two major "nonpartisan" addresses, the President hoped to marshal votes for Republican congressional and state candidates. GOP campaign leaders, conceding some anxiety, have told Eisenhower they can win the Nov 2 election if they can get his supporters to the polls.

The first major address, to be broadcast nationally on radio and television, will be delivered in New York City tonight at a celebration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the Jewish faith in America.

The Du Mont network will televise tonight's address from the Astor Hotel. NBC scheduled a radio rebroadcast at 10:30 and CBS a radio rebroadcast at 11:30.

Dulles in Paris for Unity Talks

Will Meet With Allies to Restore Sovereignty of West Germany

PARIS (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, arriving here by plane today from Washington, called upon Allied leaders to transform the "hopes of London" into the "realities of Paris."

Dulles arrived for a series of meetings which are expected to enlist a rearmed West Germany into the Allied defense setup as a member of a revived Brussels treaty and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In a brief statement at Orly Airfield, the secretary cited the "vast network of interrelated problems incident to the restoration of German sovereignty, the joining together of West Europe for a measured defense and the solid edification of NATO."

The secretary will meet British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the Palais de Chaillot this afternoon to end the Allied occupation of Germany and to restore its sovereignty to the Bonn Government.

Tomorrow Dulles will attend a nine-power conference to amend the Brussels treaty, and on Friday, with other members of the NATO council, will vote on Western Germany as the 15th NATO member.

The secretary described this series of meetings as "of decisive importance from the standpoint of peace, security and freedom in Europe."

Forecast of Things to Come

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UP)—Industrial writers and editors are predicting that 1964 will see solution of the cancer riddle, a shorter work week, and automotive manufacturing reduced to the "Big Four."

The predictions, from men who write of the nation's top industries, were sealed in a "Vault of the Future" in connection with the dedication of a new $500,000 chemical plant by Permatex Co.

One of the forecasts predicted flatly there will be no independent car makers by 1964.

Chemical writers foresaw a cure for cancer, food sterilization by means of atomic radiation, and widespread production and use of atomic power by industry.

Most editors predicted increased government debt and taxation, mergers in larger industries, and a population of 170,000,000 in 10 years.

Housewives Give to UF Even Though Husbands Already Contributed

This year's United Fund drive is uncovering a generous new spirit of giving in Pontiac, on the part of both industrial workers and housewives.

Employes of the Universal Oil-Seal Co. here exceeded their United Fund quota by $160 yesterday, the first day of the campaign.

Robert S. Nelson, UF general manufacturer's chairman, said, "The company's quota was $620 and the workers pledged $780 with more yet to come in."

This is the second straight year, according to Nelson, that the firm has passed its quota in one day. Leslie Ware was chairman for the employe solicitation.

"How can the drive fail to reach its $525,823 goal," asked Mrs. A. W. Gault, geographical division chairman.

"So many homemakers want to make their personal contribution in additoion to their husband's gift at work."

The geographical division began yesterday canvassing every home

GOP Levels Strong Blasts at 2 Democrat Candidates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republicans took aim at two Democratic candidates last night and sought to link one with communism, the other with a New York waterfront scandal.

These developments came on the eve of President Eisenhower's departure from Washington for a two-day talking-and-politicking tour of Connecticut and New York.

Sen. Irving M. Ives, GOP candidate for governor of New York, accused Averell Harriman, his Democratic-Liberal opponent, of being involved in a reported $250,000 pier lease payoff in the mid-1920s.

Harriman replied by repeating a denial given under oath at the time to a federal grand jury. Target for the other volley was Glen H. Taylor, Democratic Senate candidate in Idaho, who was the Progressive party's nominee for vice president in 1948.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, headed by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), released sworn testimony by two men who said

Temperature Rise, Fair Forecast Here

An expected mercury drop to 32 degrees failed to materialize here last night and weather forecasters predict warmer temperatures coupled with fair skies tomorrow.

However, a light frost was recorded in the Pontiac area.

The U. S. Weather Bureau says the area can expect a low tonight of between 34 and 38 degrees with a high of 60-64 Thursday.

Tuesday, temperatures in downtown Pontiac ranged from a 35-degree low to a high of 52. At 8 a.m. today, the mercury stood at 37 degrees, climbing to 58 by 2 p.m.

Reds Charged With Violation of Security Act

Nine Nabbed in Island Commonwealth, Tenth Seized in New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department announced today that FBI agents in New York City and Puerto Rico have arrested 10 leaders of the Puerto Rican Communist party on charges of seeking the violent overthrow of the government.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the arrests would cripple the Communist apparatus in Puerto Rico.

He said the group, which is not directly connected with the American Communist party, has agitated, along with the Puerto Rican Nationalist group, for independence of the island commonwealth.

Bond for each of the nine arrested in Puerto Rico was fixed at $25,000. None filed any plea upon arraignment, and the commissioner ordered a hearing Nov. 9 to show probable cause.

Attorney Santos Amadeo, representing the Communist leaders, told reporters he would seek their release later this week on ground that the Smith Act is not applicable in Puerto Rico in view of its present status as a commonwealth.

The FBI said only one of the arrests — that of Eugenio Cuebas Arbona—was made in New York.

Cuebas Arbona was identified by the FBI as having been associated with the Communist party in Puerto Rico since 1941. The announcement said he had served as youth secretary and also as an instructor in Marxism.

In 1953, the FBI said, he was sent to New York as a resident

Hospital Ready for Cornerstone

Wilson Will Officiate at Ceremonies Oct. 30 for William Beaumont

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors and long time resident of Oakland county will lay the cornerstone of William Beaumont hospital Woodward Avenue and Thirteen Mile Rd., it was announced today by E. A. Tomlinson, president of the hospital's board of trustees.

WILSON

Tomlinson said that unless official duties prevent, the cabinet officer will officiate at ceremonies at the hospital at 3 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 30, marking a milestone in the hospital project in which he has a keen personal interest.

The speed with which hospital construction has progressed makes the cornerstone ceremony a prelude to the actual opening of the new institution, which will occur on schedule early in January, Tomlinson said.

The hospital is now 90 per cent finished both as to construction and equipment, and organization of its staff and personnel is under way, he said. The new hospital will provide 236 beds and modern facilities for the care of the sick and injured of a 144 square mile area, bounded roughly by the city limits of Detroit and Birmingham. The area has a population in excess of 280,000.

Sets Minimum Goal at 450,000 Units for Model Year

Pontiac Motor Will Introduce Three Series of Completely New Cars for 1955 Line

Pontiac Motor's new and powerful V8 engine which will power the 1955 line of Pontiac cars is being built in a revolutionary new automobile engine manufacturing plant, said to surpass any other in the world for up-to-date modern automation equipment.

The plant was inspected by automotive writers yesterday afternoon when they were guests of the Pontiac Division at a press showing of the 1955 line of cars.

Robert M. Critchfield, general manager of Pontiac and a GM vice president told newsmen that the plant is "a result of a multi-million dollar retooling program, and has ultra-modern machinery designed to produce a record volume of engines, insuring the most accurately manufactured engine ever offered the American car buying public."

While details of the 1955 cars will not be revealed until the public showing later this month, H. E. Crawford, Pontiac's sales manager, announced yesterday that Pontiac will have three series of cars:

The Star Chief on a 124-inch wheelbase;

The 870 series on a 122-inch wheelbase, replacing the Chieftain deluxe models which have represented the largest portion of Pontiac production in past years;

The new 860 series, lowest priced in the line and designed, according to Crawford, "to put us in a position to compete in a very strong way in the price field just below Pontiac." The 860 also will have a 122-inch wheelbase.

Pontiac cars for 1955 are completely new both in design, engineering and structurally.

The division is shooting for a high place in the market, as indicated by Critchfield's announcement yesterday that Pontiac expects to sell a minimum of 450,000 cars in the 1955 model year. (Final figures on the 1954 model are expected to be around 287,000).

"We expect to lead in registrations in the medium price group and we are confident we have the product and value to do just this," Critchfield told newsmen in his address yesterday afternoon.

Pontiac dealers today have less than 8,000 cars in stock, Crawford said, and the used car supply in dealers' hands is 20 per cent lower than at this time last year.

G. A. Delaney, chief engineer for Pontiac, said the 1955 line of cars represents the first complete change in a single model year Pontiac has made in 20 years, or since the introduction of new models in 1935.

Equipping Pontiac's new plant involved hundreds of suppliers and sub-contractors. The first of the new machines were ordered in May of 1952. Much of the automation equipment and special machinery was designed specifically for Pontiac Motor by tool manufacturers.

"Automation," a term applied to the automatic transfer of parts from one machine to another, is an impor-

School Board Authorizes Acquisition of 30 Acres

(From Our Birmingham Bureau)

BIRMINGHAM—Trying to keep pace with the rapidly expanding school system, Board of Education members last night authorized John Martz, school attorney, to take steps necessary in acquiring approximately 30 acres of Southfield township property at the southwest 14 Mile-Lahser Road corner.

The land in question is within the Birmingham School District.

Developing just as quickly is the area surrounding the proposed school site. Fearful that the property would be built up with no schools to serve the area at all, civic minded residents led by Charles Shull, have been investigating the matter, with the board's authorization.

Shull reported to board members last night that options have been secured on six of the eight parcels involved in the acquisition. If the land is obtained, construction of a junior high school and an elementary school is anticipated.

Also approved was the resolution of Claude H. Stevens, bond consultant, covering the issuance of $1,750,000 in bonds, and a motion to receive bids on the sale of the bonds.

The exact date will be set by Stevens.

The bonds are part of the $3.5 million bond issue voters approved at the June election. The first half of the bonds were sold last month.

This entire bond issue will pay for Birmingham High School additions, a new junior high school at Derby and Adams Road, and the acquisition of building sites for future schools.

Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland submitted and saw approved a final budget of $2,515,603.04 for the 1954-55 school year. The debt-budget covering the same period was also adopted.

pointed newsmen out to Solli and said:

"They cause me a little fear sometimes when I get up here to examine. . . . Do they have any effect on you?"

"Well," replied Solli, "I don't pay much attention to it anyway."

"You don't pay any attention to it?" Garmone persisted.

"That's right," Solli said.

"Well, your nerves are a good deal better than mine," the defense lawyer told him.

"I'm shaking a little bit," Solli conceded.

Mrs. Richard N. Sheppard, the defendant's sister-in-law, arrived as court opened and explained that Dr. Samuel Sheppard's father and two brothers, all osteopaths, were at Bay View Hospital in suburban Bay Village operating.

Solli wore a light blue suit, his shirt open at the neck and a sweater under his coat.

Thomas Parrino, assistant prosecutor, engaging in the questioning of prospective jurors for the first time, asked Solli whether he had read of the Sheppard case and had formed an opinion about it.

Solli replied he saw "headlines and stuff like that . . . you know, people talk." . . .

Dr. Sheppard sat quietly, most of the time with his hands clapsed but occasionally twitching his thumbs as the questioning progressed.

Seating of jurors at this stage of the proceedings can be considered only tentative. It is customary in Ohio court procedure to exercise peremptory challenges of veniremen only after 13 jurors, including one alternate, have been selected.

delegate to maintain liaison with the Communist party in this country. He visited Puerto Rico last spring but returned to New York in May.

The arrests brought to 128 the number of Communist leaders seized since July 1948 on charges of violating the Internal Security Act.

Among those arrested were Juan Santos-Rivera, described by the FBI as a Moscow-trained Communist, and Juan Emmanuelli, who was named as liaison man between Communist parties of the United States and Puerto Rico.

The specific charge against the Puerto Ricans is violation of the Smith Act which forbids conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

The FBI gave the following as the identities of those in custody:

Emmanuelli, 47, Puerto Rico. Associated with the Communist movement in New York City and Puerto Rico since 1939. Ranking party leader in New York City until his return to Puerto Rico in 1950.

Santos-Rivera, 51, no address. A Communist since 1932. President of the party in Puerto Rico in the early 1940s.

Jorge W. Maysonet-Hernandez, 40, Puerto Rico. Has served as secretary of labor of the municipal committee of the party in San Juan. A member of the party since 1943.

Jane Speed de Andreu, 44, Puerto Rico. Has served in the party as a member of the executive and central committees. In 1952, was named as secretary of education of the San Juan municipal committee of the party.

Only Found One GOP Red Among Employes—Nixon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Vice President Richard Nixon says all but one of 164 State Department employes removed as security risks were holdovers from the Truman administration.

That one, he told some 3,000 diners at a $100-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner last night, "was a 90-day temporary employe who lost his job the moment that his security check was complete."

Nixon said the information came from the Civil Service Commission report which showed that 6,926 security risks "were removed from the federal payroll" during a 13-month period ending June 1954.

The vice president said he cited the figures to prove what he called this "fact":

"That the Truman administration failed miserably to deal effectively with communism in the United States and that the Eisenhower administration has succeeded magnificently in cleaning up the mess they left."

Judge Moore Asks Change in Laws for Mentally Ill

Speaking before the St. Joseph County Bar and Medical Associations last night, Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore called for "drastic changes in our public thinking, our laws and our treatment of the insane, the mentally ill and the morally misbehaved."

"Though behavior problems may be evidence of mental illness, much more often bad behavior is solely the product of vicious training and environment," Judge Moore declared.

"The public has confused these divergent causes, because the misbehavior is often similar."

"In our groping search for the truth we have sought medical assistance for everything from the most acute insanity down to the most obvious misbehavior of immorality.

"We have classified all of these ailments into one group and sought to call them 'mentally ill.' In this process we have fooled and failed many people deserving help."

He urged a reclassification into four basic groups:

"1. Insane. Those who are violently and incurably mentally ill must continue to be called insane. They must for their own safety continue to lose their civil rights and be given close custodial care as well as treatment.

"2. Mentally sick. Those who have some mental illness or deviation, but who through care and treatment can live reasonably satisfactory lives, are true hospital or medical cases. These should be called 'mentally ill.'

"3. Geriatric patients. The senile, forgetful, inadequate elderly person. These need kindly care and custody, without disgrace of being called insane.

"4. Morally sick. The socially misbehaving person without mental sickness. This person needs moral training and Christian association, not hospitalization or medical care."

To accomplish the reclassification, Judge Moore said lawyers would have to "break down our legal definitions of insanity and revise our thinking about unrestrained personal liberty."

"Doctors must likewise adjust their viewpoint accordingly.

"Even more important, our whole public thinking and our entire public program must be drastically changed."

"1. Much smaller hospitals for the incurable or violent insane.

"2. Homes for aged affording kindly, unstigmatized geriatric care and treatment.

"3. Treatment hospitals and outpatient clinics for the prevention and cure of mental illness, short of violent or incurable insanity.

"4. Children's clinics for psychiatric care of mentally ill children.

"5. Public school system attuned to the care of the unmoral or immoral children, with foster boarding home care available."

Ike May Select Young Justice

President Said Leaning Toward Man Who Will Serve 15 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to be leaning toward selection of a relatively young man to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court. Such an attitude would weigh against most of the names figuring in public speculation so far.

White House sources said the President feels his choice should be young enough to anticipate serving probably 15 or more years.

The recent death of Justice Robert H. Jackson gives Eisenhower his second opportunity to make a Supreme Court appointment. His first selection was Chief Justice Earl Warren, who is 63.

There has been speculation that Thomas E. Dewey, 52, retiring as governor of New York in January, might have a high priority for the court seat, but White House sources said they doubted if Dewey would want the job. He has announced an intention to retire from public life.

Informants said they didn't know whether the court seat would be filled before the elections. If the decision is delayed, some defeated Republican candidates presumably might be considered for the post.

Pontiac Sets Goal at 450,000 Cars

tant improvement in mass production methods. Automation provides more economical production while eliminating a considerable amount of "human error" and manual labor.

At the Pontiac engine plant, the V-8 blocks and cylinder heads are set on machinery lines and moved by transfer systems through dozens of machining stations without any handling by plant personnel.

The parts are mechanically tilted, tilted and turned at various angles to insure accurate drilling, milling and other operations. At frequent intervals they are automatically gauged and if out of tolerance, are automatically rejected from the line.

In addition to the new V-8 block and head, many other parts of Pontiac's new Strato-Streak engine are machined in automated systems. Camshafts, crankshafts, pistons, connecting rods and valves some of them not formerly automated, are all finished by automation machinery at Pontiac.

Much of the "house-keeping" in Pontiac's engine plant is also done automatically. Air ducts, which move 360,000 cubic feet of air per minute, keep the air around the engine machinery free of dust and metal filings. Chips of metal machined off the parts are removed from the machines by conveyor belts and sluiceways. Over two miles of sluiceways and a mile of conveyors take the metal chips to a central collecting station for salvage.

When an engine has been assembled it goes by overhead conveyor to one of the two continuous-flow circular testing units in the engine plant. Each unit, referred to as a "merry-go-round" carries 23 test stands.

Senate to Hear Britisher on TV-Delinquency Link

WASHINGTON (INS) — The juvenile delinquency subcommittee calls on an English expert today in its probe of any possible connection between children's television programs and teenage crime.

One witness slated to testify is Miss Enid Love, the British Broadcasting System's specialist on children's programs.

Chairman Robert C. Henderickson (R-N.J.) announced meanwhile that his unit will hold hearings in Chicago Oct. 26 and 27 on juvenile vandalism which he said may total two million dollars annually in that area.

Chinchilla Quints Born on Ohio Fur Ranch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The owners called it a million-to-one shot, but chinchilla quintuplets were born near here this week. And they're well and thriving, despite mama's refusal to nurse them.

They were born on the chinchilla ranch of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Miles, who hand-feed them every hour. They measure about two inches each.

Italian Premier Wins Confidence Vote After 2 Chamber Brawls

ROME (AP)—A brawling Chamber of Deputies gave Premier Mario Scelba a 295-265 vote of confidence today on Italy's agreement with Yugoslavia for the division of the Trieste territory.

Fights between Communists and Scelba's coalition government supporters broke up the session twice and it was nearly dawn before the vote was taken. Six deputies and five ushers were injured in the fighting.

The fisticuffs started when Christian Democrat Deputy Giuseppe Togni accused the Communists of "serving another nation other than Italy," and of having among their number " a lot of former Fascist spies." The Communist members charged from their benches and grappled with ushers in an effort to reach Togni.

Chamber President Giovanni Gronchi suspended the session for 40 minutes.

Togni resumed his speech when the Chamber was called back but the leftists and Christian Democrats clashed immediately in a fist fight in front of the speaker's stand. Gronchi suspended the session again and deputies with bloodied noses and heads were given first aid.

With Scelba reportedly insisting on completion of the debate and the vote of confidence "if it takes all night," Gronchi reconvened the Chamber after a 5½-hour delay. The session remained noisy but the ballot finally was taken.

Witnesses Awaited in Alleged Payoffs

DETROIT (INS) — The prosecution in the examinations of seven more of 19 policemen indicted for alleged bribe-taking said it intended to produce surprise witnesses today but would give no inkling of their identities.

Reputed numbers czar William L. Ryans, the prosecution's potential star witness, broke down yesterday for the first time since the examinations began and admitted he lied in at least one instance when he told of bribing Detroit policemen.

Ryans had given that testimony before one-man Grand Juror John P. O'Hara but refused to acknowledge it Monday before Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanske.

Under questioning yesterday by assistant prosecutor Joseph Rashid, Ryans admitted lying about the patrolman and said he could have made a mistake in identifying another officer as having accepted bribes.

GOP Levels Blasts at Two Democrats

Taylor and Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive presidential candidate, knew the party was Communist controlled when they agreed to head its ticket.

Both witnesses said they didn't believe Taylor or Wallace were Communists.

At Idaho Falls, Idaho, Taylor commented, "If there were any Communists in the Progressive party, I never recognized them as such." He challenged the subcommittee to get his statement under oath.

Wallace could not be reached for comment.

Democratic campaigners generally made local appearances yesterday. Adlai Stevenson spoke at Rock Island, Ill., in behalf of Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill), who is seeking re-election. He called Douglas "a statesman who stands for everything that is decent and courageous."

In Washington, House Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas said his swings across the country have convinced him the voters will pick his party Nov. 2 to control the next Congress.

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall took the opposite view. He told a news conference in Indianapolis he's "more confident now than heretofore" of a Republican victory.

The accusation against Harriman was made in a televised speech widely heralded in advance. Ives said Harriman was board chairman of a shipping company which paid $250,000 to a Brooklyn judge's clerk to obtain a lease to docks controlled by Tammany Hall.

Harriman answered, "I deeply resent, and I believe the people will resent, this baseless attack on my personal honor and integrity." He said Ives was trying to "rehash" a matter widely publicized at the time.

Governor to Speak in Pontiac Friday

Michigan's campaigning governor, G. Mennen Williams, will speak Friday night at Pontiac High School, following a play to be presented by the Oakland County Democratic Committee.

The play, "The Folly of '52," has been written by county Democrats and will feature them as actors. It is scheduled for 8:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate Patrick V. McNamara and candidate for lieutenant governor Philip A. Hart will also address the gathering.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commissioners Will Study Property Purchase Request

After whipping through a 23-point agenda in 45 minutes, the City Commission last night heard and tabled a request from the Michigan Animal Rescue League, Inc., to purchase a section of city-owned land on Featherstone road, near East Boulevard.

The league offered to purchase the 175-by-200-foot lot for $500, half of its assessed value, as the site for an animal shelter.

The commission agreed to study the offer and the land involved and take up the matter next week.

In other post-agenda action, the commission voted to request the City Plan Board to invite a Board of Education member to sit in on sessions in a consulting capacity.

In other action, a proclamation by Mayor William W. Donaldson that Halloween be observed locally on Friday, Oct. 29, was read into the record.

The commission referred to the city attorney a summons regarding a suit against the city by a construction company for payment of a sewer construction bill for the Lakeside Homes Project.

Although named in the suit, the city only acts as the local agent of the federal government in the matter, and is not financially responsible, City Manager Walter K. Willman explained to the commission.

Again acting as fiscal agent for the government, the commission moved to enable the Public Housing Administration to make payments directly to holders of notes on the housing project, rather than to the city.

Approval was given to three land contracts for purchase of city-owned land in assessor's plat 103 and Perry Park No. 1.

The city attorney was authorized to prepare ordinances to rezone to Commercial 1 classification lots 137 through 140 and 166 of assessor's plat 138, and to residential 3 lot 14 of Evelyn Court Subdivision, lots 6 through 11 of assessor's plat 38 and lots 9 through 11 of assessor's plat 137.

Referred back to the plan commission was a report recommending the denial of a request to rezone to Commercial 1 property at 56-58 Bagley St.

Action on another recommendation to reject a change to Residential 2 or 3 on the north side of West Walton, between Hollywood and Carlisle, was deferred one week.

Engineer's cost estimates were accepted and public hearings set for Oct. 26 for the following projects:

Two-inch bituminous recap on Telegraph, from West Huron to Elizabeth Lake;

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Adams, from Jessie to Allen;

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Allen, from Osmun to Michigan Air Line Railroad.

Public hearings were held and the city assessor authorized to prepare special assessment rolls for the following:

Grade, gravel and related work on Pleasantview, from Hillmont to the east line of lot 181, Woodward Estates subdivision;

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Drexel, from Paddock to South Boulevard, and Hamilton and McNeill, from Baldwin to Rundell.

Hearings were held and confirmation deferred on special assessment rolls for construction of:

Curb, gutter drainage and related work on Edith, from Osmun to Michigan Air Line Railroad; Edith court, from Wilson to Michigan Air Line Railroad; and Central, from Saginaw to Paddock;

Eight-inch reinforced concrete pavement, eight-inch reinforced concrete widening, curb and gutter, two-inch asphaltic concrete recap and related work on Paddock, from Bellevue to Mt. Clemens.

Mrs. Gault reports that the housewives' most frequent reason for an extra gift lies in their appreciation of the UF services to children.

Plans for the division's campaign began last July with Mrs. Gault's selection as general chairman, followed by the naming of Mrs. R. G. Bump and Mrs. Lester Patton, both of Waterford, as co-chairman to head solicitation in the Waterford area.

The widespread nature of the Waterford area demanded that six co-chairmen be named, Mrs. Fred Poole, Mrs. E. J. Lally Jr., Mrs. C. H. Latta, Mrs. Don Redmond, Mrs. Fred Collins and Mrs. Roy Larmee.

Some 33 district captains were recruited who in turn signed up ten or more workers each.

A week before the UF drive's start, four rallies were held, two each in Waterford and Pontiac.

Others include Mrs. Isaac Smoot, Mrs. George Petroff, Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. Richard Jackson, Mrs. William Tiberg, Mrs. James H. McGuire, Mrs. Bernard Giroux, and Mrs. Newton Skillman.

Waterford captains are Mrs. John Madole, Mrs. J. R. Temple, Mrs. Leslie Howey, Mrs. Frank Rudlaff Jr., Mrs. Grier Chambers, Mrs. D. W. McIntyre, Mrs. Harry Ravell, Mrs. Robert Bruce, Mrs. Merle Lowe, Mrs. Dale Flowers and Mrs. Carl Bird.

Other Waterford captains include Mrs. Donald Jacobs, Mrs. E. L. Windeler, Mrs. Albert Ledger, Mrs. Clyde Lankton, Mrs. M. Donkey Beauty Contest Under Way in Colorado

DENVER (AP)—The Young Democrats of Colorado are looking for the "prettiest donkey in the state" to display at a $7.50-a-plate party dinner here Saturday night.

President Alex Keller said the group will pay $5 each for the first four female donkeys delivered.

A-Energy Research Group May Take in 9 More Firms

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's own industrial atomic power development project announced today an expansion program to bring in more participating companies.

At the same time the Dow Chemical Co. said it was asking government approval to withdraw from the project in order to carry on nuclear research of its own into "chemical aspects."

Dow and the Detroit Edison Co., electrical utility, were the original pioneers in Michigan. They began it in 1951. Later, 24 other private firms became supposters.

An estimated $4,000,000 has been invested or committed by the companies to the undertaking.

Its intent is to furnish electricity from atomic power for commercial peacetime use.

The project is asking approval of the atomic energy commission for addition of nine more companies to the supporting and participating group.

With Dow leaving, this would mean a total of 34 participants.

The project also asked the AEC that it be named "Atomic Power Development Associates."

Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison and chairman of the project management committee, said the project will continue its "vigorous endeavor" to develop an atomic power reactor of the breeder type to produce electricity "on a commercially competitive basis."

City Refuses Role in Courthouse Drive

Pontiac City Commission last night in effect rejected a request from an Oakland County Board of Supervisors committee that it support officially a one-half mill levy for a new county courthouse building.

"This is a prerogative of the people of Oakland County, not the Pontiac City Commission," commented Commissioner Roy V. Cooley in voting to "receive and file" the request.

Commissioner Harry W. Lutz said the supervisors were "just trying to use our prestige to sell the thing to the public."

Although Commissioner John A. Dugan said as an individual he would support the proposal at the polls, the move to file the request was made unanimously.

Segregation Fight Goes to High Court

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—This border state's explosive segregation dispute, involving the integration og 10 Negro high school students at the previously all-white school at Milford, rested today in the hands of the three members of the State Supreme Court.

An appeal was taken to the court yesterday from Vice Chancellor William Marvel's order granting a temporary injunction to permit attendance by the Negro pupils with the 1,562 white students in the southern Delaware combined elementary-high school.

Howard E. Lynch, counsel for the Milford School Board, said the State Supreme Court would conduct a hearing Friday morning. If it upholds the injunction, the Negro pupils could return to the Milford school Monday.

However, if the court grants a delay, the issue will then hinge on arguments for a permanent injunction now pending before the Court of Chancery.

The pupils were integrated at the beginning of the present school term, but segregationists began a boycott of the school. The Milford board then ousted the Negro pupils.

Illinois Senate Campaign Among Top Political Contests in Nov. 2 Election

Editor's Note: The '54 election campaign is coming down to the wire. Its stake is the big question of whether President Eisenhower will have a Republican or Democratic Congress for the next two years. In a series of dispatches, the United Press presents the most interesting and important races across the country.

CHICAGO (UP)—Pick the one battle the Democrats and Republicans most want to win in the Congressional elections coming up a week from Tuesday.

You wouldn't go far wrong to choose the slugging match between Sen. Paul Douglas and Republican Joseph Meek for the Senate seat from Illinois.

Here's why:

In the first place, Illinois offers President Eisenhower a good chance to oust a Democrat and replace him with a Republican in the touch-and-go fight for control of the Senate for the next two years.

Even more, Illinois is a sort of test-tube demonstration of whether the Eisenhower administration is gaining or losing ground in a state where its economic and farm policies are prime issues.

Mr. Eisenhower edged out Adlai Stevenson here in 1952 by 2,457,327 votes to 2,013,920 for the state's governor. GOP Gubernatorial Candidate William C. Stratton also won.

Should Meek be able to unseat Douglas, it would confirm the 1952 trend. On the other hand if Douglas, who went to victory with President Truman in 1948, can score a win it would mark a definite reversal of the Eisenhower tide.

This has been a rough campaign.

Douglas has labelled Meek a political "antique dealer who was dragged kicking and screaming into the 20th Century."

Meek charges Douglas' views are Socialistic and brands him "Paul the Planner, a Prophet of Gloom and Doom." That is a reference to the fact that Douglas is one of those who has warned most loudly that the country is entering a dangerous recession.

Defense Secretary Charles Wilson came to Chicago to support Meek.

President Eisenhower also gave him individual backing after an interesting sequence of events. There had been an impression that Meek was more of an "old guard" Republican, that he was not fully behind the Eisenhower program.

When Mr. Eisenhower appeared at the state fair in Springfield in August he did not mention Meek, who was seated on the speaker's platform. Subsequently, Meek wrote the President endorsing his program. Then Mr. Eisenhower invited Meek to Indianapolis to hear his farm policy speech. The two shook hands for photographers.

The contrast between Meek and Douglas is striking. Meek, 59, is a stocky man of five feet seven with huge shoulders, a jovial, easy manner. He has never run for public office before.

For 20 years he has headed the Federation of Retail Associations in Illinois and come to know personally most of its 60,000 small businesssmen members. Representing the organization has taken him often to Washington.

Meek is a staunch free enterprise Republican who says "I hate government in everything not adequately defined by our Constitution." He has said he would follow President Eisenhower's policies but not blindly." He won the nomination over seven other GOP candidates.

Douglas, 62, is tall and slightly stooped with a thatch of white hair. One of the most prominent Democrats in Congress and still a Presidential possibility, he was first elected to office in 1939 as Chicago alderman.

Three years later he enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps. He was wounded twice, won the Bronze Star for bravery on Peleliu and was discharged a lieutenant colonel. He has taught economics in a number of colleges.

Although strong on economy measures, Douglas believes it is the government's duty to serve as an economic guardian of the people.

Drop Hunt for Jap Boat

TOKYO (AP)—Search vessels, including the U.S. Navy cruiser Toledo, returned today after a fruitless hunt for a Japanese fishing boat with 25 men aboard which had reported itself foundering in heavy seas 100 miles south of here.

Texas State Fair in 1953 attracted a gate tally of 2,382,712 patrons.

Eisenhower Farm Policy

During his brief stop over in Indianapolis, President Eisenhower did a workmanlike job of putting his Administration's farm policy in proper perspective for voters.

Wisely he first turned his attention to the high farm price parity law of the former Administration. It is from the Democratic opposition that most criticism of the Eisenhower-Benson flexible price support program has come.

With statistical support for his statement, the homeward bound President blamed Democrats for the loss of farmers' buying power. In the two years before his Administration took office, he said, parity had dropped 19 points under a law that does not expire until the end of this crop year.

"Yet some," Mr. Eisenhower added, clearly meaning Democratic campaigners, "would have our farmers believe that in the future this law will do what it has failed to do in the past."

After declaring the flexible parity program essential, the President went on to list 15 other major accomplishments of the 83rd Congress designed to create a prosperous agriculture.

These include disposal of one billion dollars worth of farm surpluses in foreign markets, new social security and tax benefits for farmers and a new grain storage program.

Never in this campaign has the President been more convincing or his speech more to the point. Not only does his farm policy make economic sense but in the words of Secretary Benson, the Nation's farmers never had a better friend in the White House.

Easier Tax Returns

Thanks to a new short form, 1040 A, making income tax returns will be much easier next year for millions of Americans.

In fact everyone whose income is under $5,000 a year will be able to use the new form — a card printed on both sides. As perfected after long and careful effort, the cards, accompanied by a self addressed envelope, will reach taxpayers soon after the first of the year.

Many of the questions can be answered by check marks. The taxpayer doesn't even have to figure the amount he owes. All he will have to do is fill out the card, enclose it with the withholding tax statement from his employer and put a stamp on the envelope.

At Internal Revenue the cards will be put on machines which automatically figure how much the taxpayer owes or how large a refund is due him. This, of course, will eliminate the greatest source of errors in tax collecting.

If the employer hasn't withheld enough money, the taxpayer will get a bill. If too much has been withheld, he will get a refund.

Internal Revenue hopes that from 20,000,000 to 24,000,000 taxpayers will use the new short form. At the same time the Bureau admits that its new long form, 1040, is more complicated than last year because of the many changes in the tax law.

However, this unpleasant news is more than counterbalanced by the facts that taxes are lower this year and the payment deadline has been extended from March 15 to April 15.

"Scientists estimate that the cost of a voyage to the moon would be approximately four billion dollars." — Newspaper filler. Let's hope it will never be worth that much to abandon the earth.

One Man on a Raft

The spirit of adventure and stout hearted determination breathes through the still meager details of the saga of the balsa raft, Seven Little Sisters.

Four months after William Willis, his cat and his parrot started out from Callao, Peru, to prove that one man alone "can conquer the ocean," the raft was sighted off Pago Pago, Samoa. The parrot was the only casualty. The cat is reported to have come through with all its nine lives intact.

Thus his two masted craft with steering apparatus had covered a distance estimated at 6,100 miles. That is roughly 1,800 miles more than the 4,300 covered in 101 days by six Scandinavians on the raft Kon-Tiki seven years ago.

The leader of that expedition was Thor Heyerdahl. Like Willis they started from Callao, sailing and drifting with the Humboldt Current. The purpose of that voyage was to prove Heyerdahl's theory that the peoples of Polynesia had come from Peru and could have followed the Humboldt Current to the islands of the Pacific.

It will be interesting to learn how closely the experiences of Willis parallel those of the Scandinavians and whether he, too, subscribes to the theory that Polynesians originated in Peru.

Earl Milliman Urges Full Support for President Eisenhower on Nov. 2

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I have been reading comments by Walter Reuther, Mitchell and others regarding C. E. Wilson's recent remark,

If we're still as American as I hope, we'll appreciate honesty, not crucify it.

Under President Eisenhower we've started the transition back to peace, and back to stability.

Under Ike also to get the best practical brains from the best proving grounds, business, we've drafted such men who speak honestly, which is poor politics.

Mr. Wilson's full text expressed the thoughts of millions, and Ike's difficult start toward peacetime free enterprise is what most Americans want.

Let's give President Ike full support election day.

Help Needy Koreans Have a Merry Yule

The officers and enlisted men of the 32nd Quartermaster Group write this letter with an appeal for a helping hand for needy Koreans.

During this Christmastide, as last year, we intend, through your generous response, to clothe the naked, feed the hungry and bring joy to the poverty stricken Koreans.

God looks upon acts of mercy towards others as acts of love towards Himself. "For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, I was naked and you clothed me—Truly, I say to you, as you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me."

With severe winter weather in Korea and overpopulated crowds in our sector, anything, clothing, shoes, food, toys or money will be greatly appreciated by the recipients. From the warm and cordial feeling experienced last year by your generosity, it is our fervent appeal to keep aglow the Christmas spirit.

It is requested that all packages be mailed to: Operation Santa Claus, Headquarters, 32d Quartermaster Group, APO 973, C-O Postmaster, San Francisco, California.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Gideon Screened Recruits for Army With Whole Series of Special Tests

Most of the applied psychology which I use and which I have outlined in my college textbook on that subject, I derived directly or indirectly from the Bible. See how Gideon set up a series of psychological tests and started screening army recruits.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-345: Earlier this year I was visiting the Wilton E. Halls at Anderson, S.C.

I had flown in by plane Saturday evening. At breakfast on Sunday morning, Dr. F. C. McConnell, pastor of the large First Baptist Church there, called me on the telephone.

"Dr. Crane, I saw by this morning's paper that you were in town, so I want to ask you to preach for me at 11 a.m.

"We haven't had you in our pulpit for two years, so I hope you'll accept, despite this short notice."

Well, I accepted, for Dr. McConnell is a great friend of mine. Besides, I was reared in a good Christian home where the motto was that of the old hymn: "Work for the night is coming when man's work is done."

So I figured that if Dr. McConnell thought I could do some good, I should accept.

So I talked about the good psychology which Gideon had employed. With his country overrun by the enemy, who were described in the Bible as being like grasshoppers for multitude, Gideon naturally was afraid.

Even after God's angel had told him positively that Gideon was to lead the revolt against the huge army of the foreign invader, Gideon was dubious.

Get out your Bibles and read chapters 7 and 8 of the Book of Judges.

So Gideon asked God to prove to Gideon that God really intended for Gideon to be the leader of the revolt.

God likes logical thinkers and scientists, so God consented to the test.

Gideon first placed a fleece of wool on the ground. Then he asked that the dew fall only on the fleece but leave the ground dry. And next morning he wrung a bowl of dew from the fleece but the ground was powder dry.

Again Gideon viewed the mighty army of the enemy, and decided he'd like a second test but in reverse order. God agreed and it was done.

This time the fleece was dry but the ground was muddy with dew.

Gideon then raised an army of 32,000 men. God said that was too many, and urged Gideon to tell all those who were afraid, to go back home.

Well 22,000 readily admitted cowardice and left. But God said the remaining 10,000 were still too many.

So Gideon introduced the first phychological strategy into the army by his drinking test. He screened out 9,700 and retained only 300.

God must have realized that Gideon was now getting jittery, so God then suggested that Gideon sneak down after dark and eavesdrop on the enemy.

Gideon did, and learned that his foes were on the verge of hysteria. All he and his little band of 300 needed to do was figuratively to touch the psychological match to the powder.

And before morning, 120,000 of the enemy were dead men. Gideon then started the "Compliment Club" by praising the tribe of Ephraim, which was angry at him (See Judges 8:1-3).

And when his hungry soldiers were refused food by the aldermen of Succoth, Gideon promised to teach them politeness on his return trip.

He did. Laconically, the Bible says he took thorns and briars of the wilderness "and with them he taught the men of Succoth" better manners.

Most folks suffer in silence. I never dreamed how many have problems till I started talkin' about mine, and then I found out I was just catchin' up.

David Lawrence Says:

Statement by Netherlands Raises More Mysteries

WASHINGTON—The government of The Netherlands has just issued a statement about its curious acquisition of important defense secrets from the United States which raises more mysteries than it solves.

The Dutch Embassy here says that Professor Joseph S. Petersen Jr. who was arrested here recently charged with having in his possession secret documents taken from the National Security Agency where he was employed, gave his data to Netherlands officials and the Dutch government assumed he was doing so because he was "authorized" by his superiors.

This is a strange commentary. For if, as charged, Petersen for nearly five years — from March 1948 to December 1952 — transmitted documents of the most secret character, many of which did not concern The Netherlands at all, why didn't the government officials at The Hague express some curiosity to the American government about this extra-ordinary system of constant leakage?

The embassy here says that "the association of Netherlands military personnel with Mr. Petersen dates from a period during the second World War when close cooperation was established between American and Netherlands agencies dealing with technical aspects in the field of secret intelligence."

But it's one thing to communicate facts about techniques—the so-called technical aspects—and it is quite another to transmit actual messages which, if obtained by secret agents planted inside The Netherlands, could have been relayed to the Communist government in Moscow.

The embassy here, furthermore, states that in this wartime cooperation between Allies "data of interest to the departments concerned of both governments were regularly exchanged to the benefit of the joint war effort."

This implies that a system was regularly established during the war with The Netherlands government then in exile. Can such a record of authorization be produced even for wartime?

The Defense Department in a public statement says no such exchange through Petersen was ever authorized. It is stated by the United Press from a source considered reliable that the go-between was a Dutch general who came to Washington during the war from Java—now Indonesia.

Was the general in the employ of the Dutch government in exile at the time or was he an American government employe? If an American employe, how could he have been authorized to transmit anything to anybody abroad? Is there any proof that he claimed he had authority to do so?

If he did send the messages, who else got them in addition to officials in the Dutch government?

The U. S. Department of State in a public statement says it "has taken this matter up with The Netherlands government and has received that government's assurances that it believed that the transmission of this information was in accordance with an authorized arrangement between the two governments."

But the Department of State adds that, while it "has no reason to question the good faith of The Netherlands government which has been demonstrated by that government's complete cooperation during the investigatory period," the United States government "must affirm that the activities of the American citizen involved in this case were completely unauthorized by this government and were carried out under his own personal responsibility without the knowledge of his superiors and in violation of the laws of the United States."

It is asserted that money was not involved as a consideration for the leakage. Then what was the mysterious influence which led this misguided scientist to violate the security regulations of his own agency and regularly transmit secret information to persons not authorized to have it?

If the United States desired to transmit anything to a foreign government at any time, it would do so through the established military or diplomatic channels. It would not select someone like Mr. Petersen to do it, as that was not his task.

The reasons why Professor Petersen maintained his liaison with someone outside the agency have not been disclosed. Nor is it known why the National Security Agency failed to detect the absence of the documents or why the personnel were not checked and double-checked to see what contacts they had outside our government.

Unquestionably the Dutch government is acting in good faith, but the statement which its embassy here was instructed to issue raises more questions than it settles.

The government at The Hague, upon further examination of all the facts, may have something more to say. Mostly, it is important to know why anyone in the Dutch government accepted such confidential information which didn't concern it at all. Who in The Hague saw all the messages received there, and what was done with those messages? These are the real questions that have not yet been answered.

Baering Down

(International News Service)

Things happen so quickly these days a pessimist has to do his worrying awful sudden. That's why we're not morose about the Watkins commission decision on November eighth.

The momentum of this parliamentary posse comitatus was braked to political tempo. Congress didn't want the verdict to tinge the voting on November second.

Last time that happened was around New Year, 1931, when Congress postponed its debate on enforcement of prohibition. It didn't want to interfere with the holiday trade.

Let's say in a a month we can wash that investigation out of our hair. And hang the toupee up to dry.

I'm going to dish out some more unsolicited advice on all this gumbeating in Washington. There are many legislators who have patterned their lives after Lincoln. Under the impression that he made a three-day speech at Gettysburg.

It was the battle that lasted three days. Abe's immortal oration was a short order of ribs of beef. He wasn't slowed up by points of order.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A vigorous young athlete's body contains nearly two and one-half pounds of calcium. A feeble old man's body contains approximately a quarter of a pound less.

Most of the calcium is in the bones, 99 per cent of it, in fact. The rest is in the teeth, nerves, muscles, heart, glands and blood.

The bones serve as a storehouse or bank, from which the blood draws enough calcium to meet the daily requirements of nerves, muscles, heart etc. The amount required daily is approximately 19 grains for a healthy adult, 15 grains for an athletic youth, 18 grains for a pregnant woman or nursing mother. In each instance a little less calcium than that is used up and excreted daily.

It is only in the past forty years that we have learned enough about the physiology of calcium to define its functions, which are as follows:

1. Necessary for clotting of blood.
2. Diminishes permeability of capillary spaces.
3. Regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres.
4. Essential for adequate contraction of heart muscle.
5. Essential for ossification of bone.

I have cited here repeatedly the quaint notions entertained by nineteenth century physicians concerning calcium. Many of you poor souls who patronize kli-NICKS and trick specialists still get 19th century treatment.

A bulletin published last May by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation said:

"It should now be recognized that treatment" (of joint disability known as arthritis or rheumatism) "with the various drugs available today has not been shown to alter the natural course of the disease in a significant manner."

This seems reasonable enough, if one realizes that the joint disability is physicial degeneration and not a disease.

Unless the trick specialist or the "shot" nurse at the kli-NICK tells you I'm crazy, it might prove worth your while to send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz.

If you take a chance and follow the advice therein, I hope you won't do as the Alabama reader did She said she followed the advice for ten weeks and "my rheumatiz vanished," but later, she did not say how much later, some pain and stiffness returned, and she wondered whether to resume—or whether there would be danger of calcium deposits, as a saireygamp on vacation from—hospital told her.

The only answer I shall make to this question is in the pamphlet:

Calcium deposits in or around joints, arteries or other tissues or organs are the consequence of degeneration, never the cause of it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Gas Fumes Kill Eight Roomers

Nine Other Detroiters Treated After Carbon Monoxide Seeps In

DETROIT (AP) — Deadly carbon monoxide gas fumes, seeping from a faulty chimney, last night killed eight occupants of a rooming house for men on the edge of Detroit's downtown district.

Nine other roomers were rushed to downtown Receiving Hospital for emergency treatment. Their condition was said to be "temporarily serious."

Hospital attendants said most of the victims were clad only in night clothes making positive identification difficult. Most of the victims were between 50 and 70.

Police said 24 persons occupied the three-story rooming house. Quick action by Joseph Filjackowski, 58, owner of the building, was credited with saving additional lives.

Filjackowski told police he discovered the gas fumes shortly before midnight when he returned from a church service. He said he found one of the victims lying in a bathroom on the third floor. Then he started banging on doors to arouse sleeping roomers.

Firemen said the fumes spread from a gas furnace which heated the building. They said recent rains apparently loosened mortar in the brick chimney, causing particles to fall over a flue. The gas, unable to enter the blocked chimney, entered the house through a furnace vent.

GRANVILLE, Mass. (AP) — Two Massachusetts Air National Guardsmen were killed last night when their flaming jet training plane plowed into low woodlands of the Berkshire Hills.

Cops Must Suffer Abuse in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Appellate Court has ruled that abusive language and threatening gestures to policemen aren't sufficient reasons for arrest.

"An officer of the law must not conceive that every threatening or insulting word, gesture or motion amounts to disorderly conduct," said Judge Edwin A. Robson.

The court reversed a lower court's ruling and upheld the Chicago Civil Service Commission's dismissal of policemen Gus Oratowski and Tod Porterfield.

They are accused of beating Casimer Koprowski, 30, a partially crippled veteran, after he protested being given a pair of parking tickets.

Mother, 3 Sons All Are Enrolled at Penn State

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—Four Wrights, mother and three sons, are attending Pennsylvania State University.

Mrs. L. Kenneth Wright decided when she had some free time that she'd take a course in weaving. Somewhere along the line she got sidetracked and is now in the graduate school working for a master's degree in home economics.

The other Wrights attending are Stewart, 21, a senior in industrial arts; Larry, 19, a junior in hotel administration; and Darryl, 18, a freshman in arts and letters.

Erie Mayor Rapped by Council in Probe

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Democratic Mayor Thomas W. Flatley, charged with accepting bribes from a gambling syndicate that netted 20 million dollars a year, has been stripped of his powers.

The City Council, made up of Democrats, acted yesterday.

Pending final disposition of the charges, Flatley will continue on the city payroll, however. City Finance Director George Brabender was named acting mayor.

The mayor was arrested Saturday along with 43 other men, including two policemen. The two officers, Chief Inspector Jack Martin and Edward Camili, a member of the police vice squad, are charged with accepting bribes and conspiracy.

Council also moved to fire the two police officers.

Dist. Atty. Damian McLaughlin said all were involved in a numbers and pinball machine racket.

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — William Willis, 61-year-old New Yorker who recently completed a 115-day drifting trip of more than 6,000 miles on a 35-foot balsa wood raft from Peru, started home yesterday.

He left on the small ship Aolele for Suva in the Fiji Islands, where he plans to catch a plane for New York, where his wife Tess awaits him. He expects to arrive Saturday.

Sen. Mundt Is Charged With Speeding in Town

SOUTH SIOUX FALLS, S.C. (AP)—Sen Mundt (R-SD) was given a speeding tag yesterday by Chief of Police John Blom of South Sioux Falls. He was charged with speeding through a 15-mile-an-hour school zone.

The senator continued on his way to keep an appointment at Canton, S.D., but was scheduled to appear later before a magistrate.

NASHUA, N. H. (UP) — Daniel Maguire, charged with makihg an illegal turn, was asked by Judge Bolic Degasis if he had anything to say. "I want to say the officer was alert, vigilant, and he did his duty," Maguire replied. The charge was filed.

Pilots Brave Hurricanes, Prevent Huge Death Tolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because a few brave men regularly go looking for trouble, hurricanes that strike this country no longer are mass killers.

These men fly over empty ocean into the wildest storms on earth to send back advance warning. Thus whole regions can batten down for the big blow, as New England did for Carol and Edna in 1954.

In storm season from June through November, United States Navy and Air Force hurricane hunters may make more than 100 hair-raising flights into a tempest's "eye," the National Geographic Society says.

Few peacetime assignments match this job in hazard — or in usefulness. Death tolls show why it's more than worth the risk.

In 1928, for example, before the Joint Hurricane Warning System existed, an unexpected storm pushed a 12-foot wall of water over Lake Okeechobee's edge in southern Florida. Deaths totaled 1,836.

But in 1949, when another hurricane followed virtually the same path across Florida with equal winds, only two persons were killed. Chief difference was enough warning for evacuation.

Grandpappy of all modern hurricanes, in terms of physical destruction, was the 1938 storm that hit New England like a colossal electric shaver. Its toll of about 600 lives ranks far from the highest, however.

As late as 1935, the Red Cross reported that major hurricanes were killing an average of 500 people each. In 1930, some 2,000 were killed in Santo Domingo.

Thirty years before, Galveston, Texas, was totally wrecked with 6,000 people killed in one storm. More than 100,000 died as the result of a hurricane in India in 1876.

A mature hurriane is a huge whirling platter of destruction and deluge, only a few miles high but hundreds of miles across—as big, say, as the state of Missouri.

Its winds can surpass 150 miles per hour near the center. It can lift two billion tons of water vapor from the sea in 24 hours and dump it all back as rain. Its energy expends itself at an estimated 500 trillion horsepower — the equivalent of several thousand atomic bombs exploding each second.

And into such malestorms fly wind-battered planes to learn each storm's force and direction, take meteorological readings in the "eye" itself, radio the priceless data back to Miami's Hurricane Warning Center, and fight their way home again the lonely few who stand guard for the many.

Imperial Label Vital

HONGKONG (UP) — According to a recent arrival from Peiping, anyone in Communist China forgetting to use the word "imperialist" when referring to the United States and France, is liable to be considered as being "non-progressive."

The St. Lawrence River, in its ice-free season, handles nearly one third of Canada's foreign trade.

Formosa Propaganda Rains on China Coast

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist planes carried the propaganda war against Red China to the mainland again yesterday, dropping leaflets in the Fotan and Changpu areas of southern Fukien province, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Nationalists and Reds exchanged sporadic artillery fire between Amoy and Quemoy and in the Tachen Island area yesterday, the ministry also announced.

Hospitalized Veteran Sees Daughter by TV

DENVER (AP)—Denver television station KFEL-TV has been granted permission by Fitzsimons Army Hospital authorities to show a tuberculosis patient his daughter.

The baby, Kelly Lyn Gray, was born yesterday to Cpl. and Mrs. Ramon L. Gray. She is their first child.

Gray is hospitalized with tuberculosis contracted in a North Korean prison camp. Since he can't visit his daughter in person, he'll see televised pictures of her each afternoon the rest of this week.

IDABEL, Okla. (AP)—After seven straight girls, Mrs. Joe Herron has given birth to a son, thereby precipitating a family crisis.

Know Your Candidates

Adams, Beardsley in Race for Seat in First District

This is another in a series on political candidates in Oakland County. Democrat Donald E. Adams is opposing Republican incumbent Fred G. Beardsley in the race for the legislative seat from the county's first district. Brief biographies on the two men and their statements follow.

Fred G. Beardsley

Beardsley, 71, of 12 Hudson Ave., Oxford, is an insurance salesman and owner of a dairy farm in Addison Township.

He was supervisor of Addison Township from 1935 to 1948. The former rural school teacher attended Oxford High School and is a member of the Masonic Lodge, Lions, Oxford Chamber of Commerce and Oakland County Sportsmen's Club. He is married and has three children.

His statement:

"As a state representative I have been a member of the Taxation and Agriculture Committees and the chairman of the Committee on Social Aid and Welfare.

"I have diligently exerted my best efforts in the passage of legislation necessary to meet problems that have arisen caused by the growth of Oakland County and the state's agricultural, social, fiscal and matters of taxation.

"I favor keeping the state of Michigan out of the red, improving social welfare benefits and adopting a modern road program to meet future defense needs."

Donald E. Adams

The Democratic candidate graduated from Pontiac High School and received both B.A. and law degrees from the University of Michigan. He is Waterford Township justice of the peace and a reserve naval officer.

Adams is past president of the Pontiac Lions Club and the Michigan Justices of the Peace Assn. He was a panel chairman for the 1954 Michigan Traffic Court Conference and is secretary of the Oakland County Bar Assn. His other memberships include the Elks, Masons, Hi-12 and Michigan Historical Society.

His statement:

"I was born and raised and still live on the farm on Silver Lake in Waterford Township where members of my family have resided for well over 100 years. My family has always been active in all phases of government, beginning with the earliest township and school board offices in the area.

"Seventeen years as a practicing attorney, 14 years of service in local government, both as judge and as legislator on the local level, and three years on active duty in the Navy have given me a wide grasp on the problems facing our country not only at the grass roots level, but on a broader scale.

"I have seen Waterford Township grow from a rural agricultural area to an urban area with an estimated present population in the neighborhood of 35,000 people. I have had the privilege of helping to face and solve the many problems which such growth brings with it.

"Invaluable experience in dealing with the problems of the farmer, the factory worker, the small businessman and the small industrialist has been gained throughout this period of phenomenal growth of the community in which I live and practice law.

"My family background, my training and my professional career have given me a knowledge of people and their needs which should enable me to serve the first Oakland County district as a member of the State Legislature.

Dondero Cites Increase in Jobs

Says Unemployment Is Down in County Without Need of War

Congressman George A. Dondero said Tuesday night that unemployment in Oakland County was lessening rapidly "without depending on a war to keep people on the job as in past Democratic administrations."

Dondero told a rally of the Ferndale Republican Club that rehiring after model changeovers at automotive plants was increasing employment. He said the Eisenhower Administration was licking the unemployment situation without resorting to controls and war contracts.

"I'm sure mothers of Oakland County would much rather have their sons temporarily unemployed at home during this adjustment from war to peace than to have their sons employed 24 hours a day on the bloody battlefields of Korea or Indochina," Dondero said.

The Republican Congressman stressed that the Eisenhower Administration has made progress in all fields by slashing government spending, payrolls, and taxes, checking inflation, ending the Korean War and making possible an income tax reduction of $50 per person now in effect.

Dondero said Republicans have brought dignity, honesty and integrity to Washington to replace the Democratic Party's record of "influence peddlers, job selling, tax favors, coddling of Communists, waste and corruption."

"The choice of Oakland County voters on Nov. 2 is whether we shall have peace, prosperity and progress under President Eisenhower, or a return to control by Democrats with their record of confusion, corruption and war."

The rally was held in the Royal Oak Republican headquarters, 1603 S. Woodward Ave.

Henderson Gets Service Award

Cited for Negotiating Iranian Oil Dispute Settlement This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson yesterday received a Distinguished Service Award for his part in helping negotiate a settlement of the Iranian oil crisis earlier this year.

Presentations of various State Department awards to Henderson and scores of other department and Foreign Service employes were made in ceremonies in which President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles participated.

Only two Distinguished Service Awards were made, the one to Henderson and another posthumously to David le Breton Jr., a diplomat in Tunis who lost his life in August, 1953, while rescuing two children from drowning.

While Henderson's recognition came directly as a result of what the citation called his "wisdom and unfailing patience" in handling the Iranian oil negotiations, his whole career was cited as the basis of the award, including particularly his "signal contributions to the formulation and execution" of U.S. Middle East Policy.

Henderson is 62 years old, a native of Rogers, Ark., a graduate of Northwestern University, Denver Law School and New York University, and a member of the Foreign Service since 1922.

He formerly headed the State Department division handling Middle East affairs. He was named ambassador to India in 1948 and subsequently was assigned as ambassador to Iran.

Le Breton, a native of Washington, was 38 at the time of his death. He had been in the foreign service since 1941.

Rows of tombstones in a cemetery at Halifax, Nova Scotia, mark the resting places of scores of victims of the sinking of the liner Titanic, picked up dead in life belts at sea.

Millard vs. Kavanagh

Two Veteran Party Workers Matched

LANSING (AP) — To veteran political workers, each in his own party, are Michigan's choices for attorney general at the Nov. 2 general election.

The Republican is Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard, 62, of Flint, while the Democrat is City Clerk Thomas M. Kavanagh, 45, of Carson City.

Each has labored in the vineyards of his party at the grass roots level before being put forward for state office. And each is widely known for a "side" association.

Kavanagh has served six terms in state offices of the Knights of Columbus, traveling thousands of miles yearly throughout the state.

Millard, who served in France with the artillery in World War I, has been prominent in Michigan National Guard circles ever since. He served 5½ years in World War II, receiving the Army Commendation Medal. He helped organize the National Guard in 1921 and retired in 1952 with the rank of Colonel in the Judge Advocate General's Corps.

Kavanagh was graduated from the University of Detroit Law School in 1932 and has served as city attorney of Carson City and Perrinton. He has been city clerk since 1942.

Millard, a native of Corunna, received his law degree from the University of Michigan and won a football "M" at that institution.

He has practiced law continuously in Flint since college days. He was formerly Flint city attorney and a one-time assistant attorney general assigned to water pollution cases.

Millard has served two terms as attorney general.

The former minister was arrested in June when he made speeches against the Syngman Rhee government. He was accused of violating election laws while campaigning for independent candidates.

Reds Eye Formosa, Lodge Declares

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (INS)—The United States has focused U.N. attention on possibility that Red China—with Soviet support—may be preparing an early invasion of Formosa.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. raised the point in the assembly's steering committee last night in blasting Russia's charge that the U.S. committed aggression against Red China by militarily supporting the Chinese Nationalists.

Lodge ignored Russia's fuming Andrei Vishinsky and pointed out that the latter introduced an identical charge shortly before the Communist invasion of Korea in 1950.

Without directly alluding to Red China or Formosa, he added:

"Is then the revival of this subject today also intended to hide a plot to commit further aggression? This is something we can all ponder."

Greek Newsman Lauds U. S. for Spiritual Leadership

Editor's note: Following is the first of a series of articles by Spyros P. Sellinas, foreign news editor of Vradyni, one of Athens' largest daily newspapers. In this series Sellinas tells how the Greek people feel about the United States and the position Greece occupies in the international scene.

By SPYROS P. SELLINAS

It is a great privilege for me to communicate directly with the American people through the hospitable columns of the Pontiac Press. It is also my firm conviction that the task of every free man in the world today is to help in spreading among the peoples everywhere the spirit of understanding, which this critical period of international affairs needs so much.

That is why I gladly accepted the kind invitation extended to me as a representative of the Greek press to visit the United States and to study the American ways of life with my background of 25 years' experience as a newspaperman and dealing especially with international problems.

SPYROS P. SELLINAS

I consider it my duty first to state how truly grateful we are for the aid the American people have rendered to my country after a series of destructive wars for our liberties and national independence. I would like to describe what we, in Greece, think and feel about the United States, of their mission in the world, as we see it, and of our own responsibilities toward the common cause of defending free Democracy.

We, in Greece, are proud to believe that we were the first to discover the real and true America before other peoples were able to duly appreciate it. We, in Greece, know that this great Democracy beyond the Atlantic is not just a place and a people: it is a symbol and an ideal familiar to us.

Since immemorable times Greece has been the crossroads, at which conflicting civilizations and great human migrations have met. We, Greeks, have suffered the hardships and confusions from being at the point of impact. In order to survive during three thousand years and to maintain our religious and national consciousness we have had to develop an extraordinary capacity to conceive and apply new ideas, new truths and new values more quickly than other peoples.

It was quite reasonable, therefore, that we were the first to understand the greatness and beauty of the spiritual concept, which is the very essence of America today.

We sometimes think that the American people have not yet recognized the colossal help they represent to all of us in Europe. Some may think that I only intend to mean the material help, without which many of us in the old Continent, and quite certainly Greece, would be in a pitiful situation today. I am referring, however, to something that is far more important and of far greater consequences to all of us. America has given the free men of the world the spiritual leadership to follow or reject.

It is a matter of fact that, when the second World War was over, the confusion and misery made many people in Europe egocentric and, therefore, unconstructive in their thinking and acting. It seemed as if the war had taken the very life out of the old Continent and destroyed the mission, which, only as a Europe united in aims, could we bring to a successful conclusion. European civilization had lost its spiritual driving force. It seemed about to lead to its end.

Then, as to a prayer, came the answer: The United States decided to help the mother Continent. It was not so much the material aid, but the very thought behind it, which is of such spiritual significance.

The generosity, the uncomplaining sacrifices of the ordinary American taxpayer, the very spirit with which the whole American people made their aid a material fact, that is the leadership which this great Democracy has given the free world. It is the very "spark of Heaven's Glory," of which Walt Whitman, one of the greatest American poets, has spoken about as if to describe prophetically the situation created in Europe after the recent World War.

This "spark" has taught us that generosity, unselfishness, friendliness, human sympathy and mutual help are the values, which can unite individuals, nations and continents.

The Truman Doctrine—first applied to Greece—the Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Charter, the United Nations, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, (NATO)—all these are the signposts on our road towards a reborn Europe.

In Greece we know and have absolutely no doubt that the aims of the United States, equal to their thoughts, are unselfish. We know that, by helping us, they wanted nothing from us except our friendship and our own increased effort to help ourselves. We are convinced that this is also the policy of the U. S. toward the other countries which they have helped to attain their postwar reconstruction. In Greece this nation has been recognized for what it really is and this will never change.

We know that the United States wants from us only to help achieve a united Europe economically, politically and militarily. So far in Greece we have tried to follow this noble aim.

As it may be known to many Americans, we are the country which, when the war was over, have suffered a frightful, dynamic and armed Communist attack and went through appalling hardships, worse than those endured in the war. In spite of this, with the encouragement of the American aid and faith to us, we have already reached a point of internal maturity.

Through rapid evolution and progress, even during the inevitable postwar strife, Greece has managed to attain political stability so that the present Constitutional Administration of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos—the hero of two glorious wars during the last 15 years—insures good order and efficient planning and guarantees national unity as well.

This same helpful maturity is shown in the relations of Greece with other countries: Greece and Turkey had been divided for over five centuries by history, tradition and habitual mutual distrust. Today we are brother and allied nations.

It only needed a courageous effort to break old prejudices and to form new bonds of friendship in order to produce a creative result that shall become a blessing to both nations alike. We are also proud of the conclusion of the Balkan alliance between Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia—the three nations which are threatened by Soviet Communist aggression in this critical part of the world—of the spirit of unity which animates this alliance, and of the open doors it offers to all of our neighbors as well. We have faith that other free nations will follow our example.

We in Southeastern Europe are determined to make our area one of the most stable units of the continent and this is why our contribution to the NATO exceeds our own national economic possibilities. Under the leadership and the aid of the United States the free world was able to move in.

Old mistakes, wrong thinking, enmities and jealousies have disappeared in the face of a far greater danger.

This danger is the material philosophy versus the spiritual one. It challenges our western civilization and calls for a united and co-ordinated effort. There is no time any more for us to think of the Turkish Army as stronger than the Greek, the French as stronger than a prospective German Army or the German than the French.

There is only time for pride in, and inspiration from, each other's efforts to succeed. We all are in danger—in the old and the new world—because we all are bearers of the spirit of our western civilization. We all share in the sacred mission of protecting this civilization from being submitted to the yoke of a fanatically destructive force.

Only united in harmonious purpose can we successfully fulfill our mission in the world. Humanity now stands at the crossroads of of her own history. Either we shall save ourselves or we shall deserve to lose our liberties through our own lack of insight and our own lack of faith in those great ideals that are common to the dignity of man.

In Greece we are fully conscious of the responsibility that we, as a European nation, have towards freedom and democracy.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do ... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

Michigan Saves $3,000 on Maps

Chicago Firm Offers New Bid on Contract for 600,000 Copies

LANSING (UP)—The state of Michigan saved $3,000 on the printing of 600,000 state highway maps when Rand McNally and Co. of Chicago reduced its original bid to $34,200.

The new bid was approved by the State Administrative Board which rejected earlier bids for the job and changed specifications for the map making.

The board changed a long standing rule that work on the maps must be done in one plant.

The original low bid of $37,200 was submitted by the Harrison and Smith Company, Chicago, $600 less than Rand McNally's First bid.

On the second time around, however, Rand McNally, which has been printing the maps for years, lowered its bid, and Harrison and Smith resubmitted its original bid.

The meeting of the administrative board, composed of top state elective officials, was the last one before the Nov. 2 elections. The next meeting was scheduled on Nov. 2, but the board postponed it until Nov. 9.

Dog Grabs Gunman to Rescue Master

OWOSSO, Mich. (UP)—Boots, a pedigreed police dog, did a fast job on a holdup man yesterday.

His master, Gail Shewalter, Perry Township farmer, was busy in his orchard when a young man left a pickup truck on the road and approached him.

"This is a holdup," he said. "give me all your money." Then he hit Shewalter on the head with a club.

Shewalter called for Boots.

Boots dashed up and drove the man to a fence, where he sank his teeth in his leg. The man jumped the fence in pain and drove off with a companion in the truck.

Woman Driver Ordered to Pay for Victim's Leg

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Sarah Reeves, 39, was ordered by Detroit Traffic Court yesterday to pay $2,700 hospital bills and the $600 cost of an artificial leg for a pedestrian.

She was convicted of felonious driving for losing control of her car, running over a curb and striking Henry Mills, 57.

Mrs. Reeves, who weighed 357 pounds at the time of the accident May 2, said her 46-inch waist prevented her from controlling her car.

Baffled Plane Hitchhiker Lands in Denver Prison

DENVER (UP) — Eugene E. Nicks, 40, of Portland, Ore., isn't quite sure how he got to this mountain city but he's here—and in jail.

Nicks was arrested at Stapleton Field Tuesday after the pilot of a flight from Portland radioed he had a hitchhiker aboard. Nicks said he thought the plane was headed for Spokane, Wash.

Police locked him up when they found he didn't have ticket for either destination. Didn't bother to buy one, Nicks said.

Average use of water per citizen in the United States, counting industrial, personal and other needs, is now estimated to be in the neighborhood of 1,300 gallons daily.

Greaseless, odorless cream penetrates deep—speeds up flow of fresh, rich blood into sore areas—actually helps drive away pain-causing congestion and pressure.

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Science has now developed an odorless, greaseless cream that acts in a new way to bring a new kind of relief from pains of arthritis, rheumatism, and muscular aches and pains. This new cream relieves these pains without the need of taking pills and other internal medicines that may only upset the system.

Gently rubbed into painful areas, this cream penetrates so deep and completely that it actually vanishes. Quickly a comforting feeling of warmth develops and the whole painful area takes on a pleasing glow. This is startling evidence of the power of this cream to penetrate quickly and stimulate the circulation of the blood. This glow illustrates how it speeds up the flow of fresh, rich blood into the sore areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

146 British and French doctors are so satisfied with this new help for patients suffering from arthritis and rheumatism that they have prepared written reports of success based on hundreds of cases. Further, one of the leading arthritis and rheumatism clinicians in the United States has now confirmed the findings of these doctors.

Now for the first time this remarkable cream can be obtained without a prescription at drug stores throughout America under the name InfraRUB®. The price of InfraRUB is only 98¢ for a large tube. InfraRUB is backed by the amazing guarantee that sufferers from the pains of arthritis, rheumatism, lumbago, neuritis, neuralgia or muscle injuries or sprains will get hours and hours of comforting relief or their money will be refunded in full.

Good PTA Meetings Discussed by Group

"What makes a good PHA program" was discussed Monday evening by program and publicity chairmen from the township parent-teacher associations.

These workshops, under the direction of R. F. Christmann of the University of Michigan extension service community organization staff, are being observed by university graduate students.

Programs should be educational, promote better school and home relations and meet community needs as well as provide fellowship for members, they decided.

Twenty parents from the Stringham area are participating in the University of Chicago leadership discussion project. At their first vided into topic groups: "Feelings of security and adequacy," "Understanding of self and others" and "Democratic values and goals."

Others are "Problem-solving attitudes and methods," "Self-discipline, responsibility, and freedom," and Constructive attitudes toward change."

A lay-leadership group of twelve parents is meeting weekly at Hudson-Covert school for more advanced work on the same topics.

Boys Keep Trying to Go to Sea; 'Borrow' Boats

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UP)—Two little boys, sons of a sailor, are giving police a hard time with attempts to sail down the Rock River to the sea.

Tommy Richardson, 7, and Bobby, 5, were found adrift in a speedboat yesterday in downtown Rockford. Four weeks ago they similarly had cast off in a 27-foot cabin cruiser.

Officials Discuss Special Patient Problem at Meet

Problems of caring for alcoholics, persons under the influence of narcotics and psycopaths were discussed at a meeting of hospital, police and court representatives this week.

Dr. C. G. Burke, head of the emergency room at Pontiac General Hospital, told the assembly that treatment of such persons in his department was becoming an increasingly acute problem.

He said sedatives cannot be given to these persons for fear of a reaction and added that there was no place to keep them separated from the usual emergency cases.

A committee headed by Harold Brady of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital was appointed to study possible answers to the problem.

At the meeting were representatives from Pontiac General Hospital, Pontiac State Hospital, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the Pontiac Police Dept., the Oakland County prosecutor's office, probate court, the Family Service Center and the Pontiac General Hospital board of trustees.

Prison Population Sets Two Records

LANSING (UP)—Prison population figures set two new records today, State Corrections Director Gus Harrison said today.

The total prison count went to 9,589, the highest in history, compared to 9,552 last week.

And the total count at Southern Michigan Prison hit a new peak at 6,519, compared to 6,454 last week. This figure included all inmates to conservation prison camps in the Lower Peninsula and to prison farm and other trusty work outside the walls.

There were 1,328 prisoners in Ionia Reformatory, 1,078 in Marquette Branch Prison, and 212 in Cassidy Lake Training Camp. State prisoners housed in the Detroit House of Correction totaled 542.

Here's the 3-Way Bonus

that's sweeping Buick to record sales in October!

BUICK BONUS — Record-making allowance in October

One look at the national sales figures tells you this: Buick is outselling every other car in America — regardless of price class — except two of the "low-priced three." And just to keep sales soaring — we're willing to give a whale of an allowance this month—to keep success rolling in high. So come in — get a car and a deal that are too good to miss.

BUICK BONUS — Higher resale value

Year after year, Buicks have always carried a high resale value. But the 1954 Buick has an even bigger edge in its year-ahead styling. It will still be fresh and new-looking when other '55 models come out. So the new Buick you buy today will keep you plenty of dollars ahead when you trade it in.

BUICK BONUS — Tomorrow's styling today

You can see it on every new Buick on the road—glamorous new-day styling keynoted by that broad panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955 or later. And with this advanced styling, you get Buick's record-high V8 power, luxurious room and comfort, that famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Result: Buick is now outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"!

The spectacular 200-hp Buick CENTURY—America's highest-horsepower-per-dollar car—and priced next to Buick's lowest.

Pontiac Farm and Garden Club Launches 25th Year

2 Alumnae Are Feted by Goucher

City Astronomers Honored for Roles in Telescope Drive

Two Pontiac astronomers honored today at Goucher College in Baltimore, Md., were Dr. Helen W. Dodson and Ruth Hedeman of the McMath-Hulbert Observatory of the University of Michigan, Lake Angelus.

Last spring these two Goucher alumnae carried out a successful campaign to raise funds necessary to purchase a telescope for the college.

These funds were raised by contributions from fellow alumnae who had also majored in mathematics, and who attended the meetings of the American Astronomical Society at Boulder, Colo., in August.

Dr. Dodson and Miss Hedeman witnessed the dedication ceremony today and will attend the open house this evening when the telescope will be used to observe those celestial objects which can be seen at this time of year.

Dr. Dodson, who is one of Goucher's more famous alumnae, and an ex-member of the faculty, was asked by the college to be its lecturer in residence for the two-day observances.

This is in keeping with the policy of the college to ask one or more celebrated scholars to remain on the campus for several days. During this time they give general public lectures and hold small group conferences and discussions with students and faculty.

During this session, Dr. Dodson taught a class in astronomy, and for her public lecture she chose the subject, "Solar-Terrestrial Relationships."

Trustees of the college announce that the telescope will be called the Florence P. Lewis Telescope in honor of Dr. Lewis who taught mathematics and astronomy at Goucher for many years.

Cold War Discussed for AAUW

2 Views Explained by Speaker From Michigan State

Dr. Howard Scarrow, a member of the Political Science Department of Michigan State College, was guest speaker when the American Association of University Women met at the YWCA.

During his talk entitled "What Is a Cold War?," he stated that many regard it as a moral struggle between two philosophies or ideologies. Others consider it a struggle for power.

He feels Americans are prone to become obsessed with the former view, which may lead to confusion disillusionment and emotionalism, as well as unwise decisions.

Dr. Scarrow believes the key to wise decisions is to balance both points of view in planning our use of diplomacy, military and economic aid, and propaganda.

The Monday evening program was directed by Mrs. Homer McVean, chairman of the international relations committee of the Pontiac AAUW Branch. Hostesses for the evening were Inez Owen, Clara Gaylord, Ruth Sharpe, Mrs. J. T. Connelly and Mrs. W. F. Tompkins.

Plans for a piano concert by Jean Goldkette, which the group is sponsoring on Dec. 8, were announced by Faye Donelson, general chairman. Tickets were distributed to the members by Mary Heitsch, ticket chairman.

Don't urge Baby to stand or walk and don't hurry him. His actions are coordinated with his bone and muscle development and this varies from baby to baby. So the progress of the baby next door has nothing to do with yours.

Baby may stand alone, or walk, before he's a year old. But generally, he'll start walking at around 15 months. Large, heavy babies seldom start even then. Talking comes first, as a rule, even if it's just a few words.

Children's Theater Smoothly Performs Beanstalk Tale

By CORENNA MORTON

An exceptional cast and the kind of a stage crew every director prays for made last night's Pontiac High Children's Theater production a really professional show.

The opening performance of "Jack and the Beanstalk," directed by Mary Parrish, moved smoothly and effortlessly, indicating long, hard work by seasoned performers.

Daryl Mahan and Esther Diem convincingly portrayed the poverty-stricken Jack and his mother in their struggle against the cruel, wealthy land-owner, Rafe Heywood, played to the hilt by Bob Crandall.

The part of the bellowing giant who eats little boys called for fine character acting, given by Jack Porritt.

Burton Belant captured the audience and literally bounced through the show as the giant's mistreated wife. His falsetto voice and fluttery gestures captured to perfection the utterly feminine personality of Tyb.

Supporting actors gave the fine performances usually expected only in leads.

Stage sets and makeup were the work of good artists and crew, and impressive lighting effects rarely seen in amateur shows combined to make the entire production a complete success.

Some tickets are still available for the remaining afternoon performances.

Are Your Hands Lovely?

Hands are often neglected in a beauty program. However, their grooming is often more important than your hair. You can wear a hat when dining out, but you can't eat with your gloves on.

At night, when applying cream to the face, massage a little into your hands, and then remove surplus. If they are very rough wear gloves over them, leaving cream on all night. Through the day apply lotion . . . after washing and drying. Do not put your hands into detergents. Wear gloves when doing these jobs.

Gently push back cuticle each day with corner of towel or orange stick. Never use cuticle solvents. They are irritating and sometimes cause infection. Keep emery boards at convenient places to take care of a break when it first starts.

A professional manicure once in a while helps to keep your hands lovely.

Walnuts Add Crunchiness to Tea Bread

Mrs. Kimler Makes Sandwich Loaf for Snacks and Parties

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Do you have any black walnuts you're wondering how to use? Chop some up very fine and make this delicious sandwich bread with Mrs. Claud R. Kimler's recipe.

As a music teacher and church organist Mrs. Kimler spends many hours practicing and teaching. She is a member of the Eastern Star. Five little grandsons provide amusement and pleasure in leisure hours.

BLACK WALNUT BREAD
By Mrs. Claud R. Kimler

¾ cup sugar
2 rounded tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg
1½ cups milk
2½ cups sifted flour
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup black walnuts, chopped fine

Cream sugar and butter together, add egg, beat well. Sift dry ingredients together. Add milk to creamed mixture, then dry ingredients. Add nuts last. Pour into a well greased pan. Let stand 20 minutes. Bake at 350 degrees for 60-70 minutes. Cool. Wrap in foil to keep at least 24 hours before slicing. This bread keeps very well.

Before a game of badminton or tennis, apply deodorant talc on hands to absorb and impart slip. Allover protection against perspiration odor is the main mission of this soothing scented deodorant talc which is meant to be used freely on the entire body.

The Children Must Express Feelings

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Lou belongs to a club of teen-age girls. At their last get-together, they suddenly realized they held meetings only in the homes of two members. And asked themselves "Why?"

They passed their answer along to me. They say the homes of most club members have to be discounted because the parents in them are either fighting, about to fight or have just finished fighting.

Lou writes: "We're sick of it. Parents are always complaining that teen-agers won't stay home. If they'd stop quarreling with each other, maybe we would. Who wants friends in her house if she never knows what her parents may say to each other in front of them?"

Nobody would. But why have these youngsters told me about their feelings? Why don't they express them to their parents?

Let me suggest this, club members: If we live with quarreling people we have to learn to express our feelings.

For such people, no matter what their age, are uncertain about their own feelings. What affection they have for the other person is all mixed up with resentment that he's not somebody else.

This uncertainty is so absorbing that they can give none of their attention to the feelings of anyone else. So if we live with them, we have to break through to them with the news that we have a feeling or two ourselves.

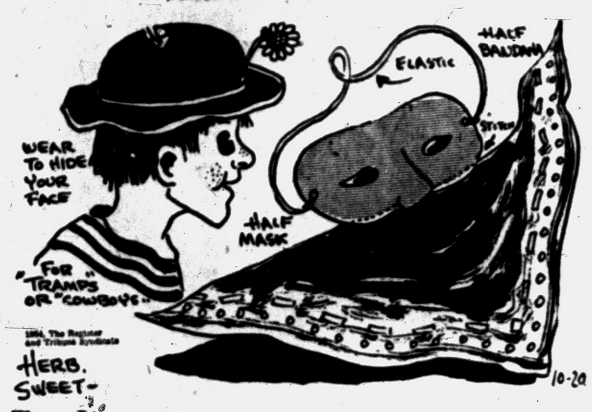

If we are kind and firm, we may get results. But if we angrily interrupt their quarreling, we won't. The quarrelers will strike out at us blindly as ungently awakened sleepwalkers.

So you see the problem, club members. Can you find enough kindness and firmess to distract your parents' attention from themselves without getting hurt?

If you haven't enough, let me urge each of you to do this: Think through this desire for a home you can respect. Is it a good one? Is it loving or cruel to say to two people who don't know how to protect themselves against criticism:

"Look, I know you and love you both. But my friends don't know you. They get a bad impression of you when you fight in front of them. This hurts me. It embarrasses me. I don't want them to think of you as just fighting people. So when they come here, please remember how I feel."

If you want your parents to respect your desire, you'll have to develop better respect for it yourselves. Right now you haven't enough—or you wouldn't be complaining about them to others, as though you wish to respect them were something to be ashamed of.

Bandana Makes a Mask

Have you often had a hard time deciding on what kind of a mask you want to wear on Halloween? Often you can find lots of masks but they are not just right for what you want to wear. Here is an idea which you can use to fit in with lots of outfits.

Buy a half mask at your store. This can be chosen with the color often you decide to dress as a tramp or a raggedy lady and queer looking false faces seem a bit out of place.

This is where this face mask comes in handy. After you have your mask you will need an old bandana. Cut the bandana in two after folding it from corner to corner. Perhaps you have a friend who would like to use this other half? Now, stitch the bandana to the lower side of the half mask. This can be done by hand or on the machine. Put your mask on and see how comfortable it is, and it hides your identity, too!

These are also fun to make and give as favors at a party which is being held during this month and where the guests do not come in costume.

Tee Shirt Handy

You have a classic suit that you wear buttoned up to here with a choker of pearls. You don't feel the need of a blouse under it. But to save your lining from chafing and perspiration, slip on one of those tiny cotton T-shirts that are so inexpensive.

Relate Story Well

If you can tell a story and tell it well, do it. Take it easy and slow and keep gestures to a minimum. But never tell it just after someone else's, especially if yours is funnier, sadder or wittier.

Shorties Are Good

The shortie nightgown is popular with those who do a wrestling match with full-length nighties. Really short with matching panties or knee-length, it's pretty as a baby. You need not freeze—get a good warm robe.

Lose Some Weight to Gain Success

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"Why are stout people discriminated against in business so much?" a young career girl asks.

"I am 26 years old, and a very good secretary, but I never get a really top job. My steno and typing are fast and accurate, and I have a good personality.

But just because I'm overweight—about 25 pounds, according to my doctor—I can't get a decent job.

"They always put me behind the scenes, as if it were disgraceful or something to be fat. Then I get fed up with boredom and leave, and then the whole vicious circle starts all over again.

"I have tried to reduce," she continues, "but it never works. My doctor says it isn't glandular, and I could diet it off, but I'm sure he isn't right.

"Besides, if I did decide on a strict diet, it would be impossible, because I cook for my husband and mother, who lives with us, and they like to eat. It wouldn't be fair!"

I think this girl should start dieting this minute, especially since her doctor approves. Most of her excuses are old ones—it's nicer to think it's glandular, because then one has a good excuse for overeating. And it isn't necessary to go into fad diets which throw the family dinner table for a loop.

This wife can cook perfectly normally, and then just eat the proper foods.

There's a good book called "201 Tasty Dishes for Reducers" which includes a good 7-day reducing diet, and some very helpful hints for reducers. The family can eat the whole meals, and the dieter can simply skip the parts of the meal that are unnecessary for her without losing a single vitamin or mineral.

As for the young women's vocational problem, it's perfectly true that employers don't, as a rule, put the fat girls into prominent jobs. It's partly on the basis of appearance, but it isn't blind prejudice. There's more to it than that.

You see, most fat people are fat simply because they lack the will power to diet and get rid of the excess for once and for all.

And employers are dubious about hiring people without will power, for fear they may not do a good job. Also, overweight people do not usually enjoy such good health as their slimmer sisters and the boss may be afraid they'll be out with colds and stomach trouble half the time.

More Than Listening Is Requirement

Like for Popular Music Is Analyzed for This Writer

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: Why is it normal for teenagers to like popular music? I'm 17 and I enjoy listening to music more than anything else in the world. I'd like to know if you know of any job I could get associated with music after I graduate?"

Lots of teenagers adore listening to popular music because it helps them to avoid thinking. You may say you can so do your homework to a soft background of incidental music. But I say you can't really concentrate.

And it's because you don't really want to use your whole mind that you turn to the music. It intrudes on your consciousness whether you want it to or not. You find yourself humming the lyric, tapping out the rhythm with your feet or your fingers, swaying with the mood of the music. You can't really think with all that going on.

Yet lots of you turn on the disc jockeys and keep them spinning for hours at a time. The lyrics are congenially sentimental—right down your alley—all about love and stuff, broken hearts and shattered hopes. The rhythms appeal to your uninhibited savage side.

The trouble is that just listening to popular music is slightly sponge-like. You just sop it up. There's nothing discriminating about it. You take what's offered over the air waves—good and bad. And a lot of it is mighty bad music.

Having taste in music is something else again. The more you study the more knowledgeable you are about good music, and the more real pleasure you will get from listening to experts. And you will become more discerning in collecting records you want to hear over and over again.

There are interesting, satisfying, remunerative jobs for girls who have a sound and serious background of music; jobs in music publishing, selling, producing; jobs in music libraries in radio stations, in program planning departments of advertising agencies; jobs selling music in stores and record shops. For all of them you'd have to do more than just listen to music!

"Dear Miss Woodward: What are you supposed to do on a hayride when all the other kids are necking? I don't want to be considered either fast or a frip. What if your boy friend is itching to neck? Should we talk? About what? I really like my guy but I love my parents too. So what should I do?"

Take your boy friend's hand in yours, sit close to him, pick a good sentimental hayride song and burst into it. There's nothing like a wagon load of kids carolling along into the night. Pitch one song after another low enough for the boys to join in. What to sing next will give you something to talk about. A girl can be excused from necking if she's busy leading the "group singing."

A quick appraisal of your make-up after restaurant dining is in order if it is done discreetly. With this new pressed powder compact you can take stock of the situation and make the necessary powder touch-up in a fastidious and graceful manner.

Nostalgia Starts With Our Noses

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Eleanor McAdoo, daughter of the late President Wilson, once traveled from California where the trees never change to New York where they do just to walk in the autumn woods and smell an October bonfire.

My mother, until she moved to Florida late in life, lived always amid Missouri changes of season and yearned so for the red-and-gold foliage of fall and the odor of burning leaves that I always brought her north in time to experience them. Anybody who knows me or even reads me is aware that I, too, would travel miles for the sake of favorite fragrances—honeysuckle and orange blossoms especially.

It's a toss-up whether remembered sounds or odors produce the most nostalgia in me. For reader Gertrude Merz of Kansas City, its evidently sounds.

"Did you ever lie on the beach, alone, and listen to the ocean?" she asks. "Or, on a blanket under a palm tree, to hear the wind rustling through the leaves? Don't you love the sound of the rush of water over a falls? And the gurgle of a trout stream with the smell of pine trees all around?

"When I was a little girl we lived on a farm and had a barn with a corrugated tin roof. When it rained, Dad used to take me there and we shelled corn for the chickens. I can still hear that rain on the roof and the corn sheller dropping the yellow grain into the pails.

"Sometimes Dad would sharpen all his saws. He did it by hand, with a file. I can hear the sound now on any rainy day. Or he would tinker with the old living room clock. I could always tell when he had it really fixed by the steady tick-tock of the pendulum. He would test it, work some more on it and test it again.

"In the fall, we went into the fields to shock corn. We were poor and Dad did all those things by hand. We took our good lunch Mom had made and I would listen to the 'whock-whock' of the corn knife and the rustle of the dry blades as he formed the shock."

Yes and, Gertrude, will you ever forget the big wagon crunching over frozen snow in winter, the startling clip-clop of a galloping horse in the dead of night, the mournful lowing of the cows as you drove them home from the meadow for milking? But nothing makes me quite so homesick — though I don't know exactly for where—as the cry of a whip-poor-will, the long, low whistle of a train in the distance and—this will make you laugh and only a country girl could understand it — the contented little trilling sound a hen makes low in its throat as it goes briskly about the chicken yard.

Vay Wyck Brooks, the Pulitzer Prize-winning writer, seems to share our feeling about sounds, only his are more suburban—"the winding of the clock on Sunday morning; the mowing of the lawn and the far-away beating of carpets; the whirring of water sprinklers and the rocking of hammocks."

I like our farm noises better.

It's amazing how much people tell about themselves when they are talking about others.

Tell Friend, Have Hope for Best

Driver Thinks It's Unfair to Pay the Expenses Always

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "I belong to a club of ten young women who meet once a week to play cards, and once a month we go to dinner and the theater. We all live in the suburbs and usually drive into the city. I, and one of the other young women are the only two with cars. I take half the women and she takes the other half.

Taking our cars necessitates extra expense on our part as the car has to be parked, gasoline has to be put into it, and sometimes we have to pay a toll. I don't think it fair that we, the car owners stand this expense all the time. It seems no more than right for the others to share it. Would it be proper to ask them to pay part of this expense without seeming cheap, and how can I bring up the subject tactfully? The other car owner shares my views."

The only thing you can do is tell the member of the club who is your very best friend how you feel about it and hope that she will bring this situation to the attention of the others so that they will offer to share in your expenses.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am wondering whether it would be in bad taste for me to continue using my linens and silver, all marked with my previous marriage initials after I am married again. I have some lovely things most of which are not replaceable today. Would the fact that my former husband is living alter your answer in any way?

I see no reason why you shouldn't use the linens and silver as you have been doing unless your present husband objects.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been criticized for using the expletive "My dear." I was never conscous of this habit because members of my family have always used it before me. Is it bad form, especially when said without any feeling of affection?

An occasional "my dear" is heard in good society the world over and in many languages. "Dearie," on the otherhand, is very bad form—particularly when said to strangers.

Watch Stole Wear

Managing those lovely stoles can be done grarefully or you can look like the circus lady wrestling her snake. Try it in front of a full-length mirror. A judicious clip or pin at the shoulder or sleeve may help you.

The new two-button single breasted peak lapel is an advance style from California. Extra narrow, the new lapel has a high grove and small collar. Concave shoulders give a neat, square look effect.

Use Man's Shirt

A man's shirts worn with simple skirt is a wonderful housewear for a pregnant woman, but a few changes improve its appearance. Clip off the shirt tails and bind the bottom and collar with a printed fabric. Discard it when it gets even a little tight.

Although the eyes of bees cannot see red, they are sensitive to yellow, blue and ultraviolet.

By EDDIE CANTOR

This column has nothing at all to do with the current quiz shows where someone from the audience gets an automobile, a house and thirty thousand dollars in cash if he knows his second name. This has to do with theatrical audiences.

Next to the rustling of programs, coughing in an audience is the worst thing that can happen to an actor.

Once, in "Redemption," when the late John Barrymore had duly shot himself and fallen to the floor, he read his Tolstoy line about being glad to die, and raising his head and looking directly at the audience, he continued, "Yes, glad to leave a world full of barking seals."

In 1933 George Jessel and I played several weeks of personal appearances. It was during the days of the depression, and the theater owners felt Cantor and Jessel might be considered a bargain. They were right. We did quite well. But one incident marred a very happy engagement.

It was at the Paradise Theater in the Bronx. George Jessel had finished singing (he was on key in those days) when a gentleman in the front row applauded long after everyone else had stopped. A relative, I thought.

But no, he was thoroughly enthusiastic.

As a matter of fact, he climbed up on the stage, shook Jessel by the hand, and said, "You're wonderful, Mr. Jessel. You are Mr. Jessel, aren't you?" "Of course," said Georgie. "Good," replied the man, and handed him a summons.

When I first went to work for the fabulous Ziegfeld, it was atop the New Amsterdam Theater, actually a cabaret called the Midnight Frolic. I shall never forget one Saturday night when a group of college boys sat at a front table. They were celebrating the victory their school had won in a football game that afternoon.

In the middle of one of my quiet songs, one of them threw a penny on the floor. I continued to sing, and to my great embarrassment, he pitched another penny.

When the song was over, I picked up one of the pennies, walked to his table, handed it to him and, loud enough for the audience to hear, said, "Mister, I only know of one animal who throws a scent."

Two days later I received a letter of apology, and we have remained friends these thirty-eight years. As a matter of fact this man, today an executive in one of our large corporations, is the biggest contributor to a boy's camp in which I am interested.

Beat Dior to the Punch

Nightgownish Red Styles Kayo Curves in Hungary

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Best information I get from the Iron Curtain is that the Russians now are making women's clothes in only three sizes. Like we make men's pajamas.

Small, medium and large.

Behind the veil, there is no attention to a gal's figure. No respect for things that should be accentuated.

According to "UJ Marcius," a periodical of the Hungarian youth organization which was received here: "There are dresses only for the stout, the small or the tall, for aged women, and no dresses at all for the working women."

If a gal happens to be stout, about all she can get is a gown that covers her and doesn't show off her charms. As the state dress factories of Hungary look at it:

"We are . . . turning out dresses, but for whom? . . . we need to take new measurements and create new varieties in dress sizes."

In the days before communism the women of Hungary would stand on the ramp in a fashion contest against any gal from Atlantic City, New York or Paris. Now what does she look like? A peasant, that's what she looks like in a straight-down nightgown for a dress!

But the women from Hungary reportedly are not taking their plight without a fight. They are resentful against the regime which compels them to look like women dressed in flour sacks that do not fit.

"UJ Marcius" writes, regarding the probleem in Hungary:

"Conditions are not as satisfactory as they should be. Apart from the fact that customers often receive fabrics produced at a high cost and of poor quality, we are seriously lagging behind in directing the designing of clothing articles from an artistic as well as ideological point of view."

The publication suggests that pictures of women's fashions should be printed in color "in a new fashion magazine which also . . . should contain reports about government activities."

Propaganda likely is coming up in fashion pictures and if it has anything to do with the gowns of our women, Christian Dior will groan.

League of Women Voters Hear Conlin Plan Outline

The proposed Conlin plan to revise the State Sales Tax Diversion Amendment was explained to members of the Pontiac Chapter of the League of Women Voters Monday.

Outlining the plan and stating the league's opposition to it was Mrs. Robert Schultz, state board taxation chairman of the league.

Mrs. Schultz, who was introduced by Mrs. John Borsvold, local taxation chairman, told the members:

"The proposal rewrites into the constitution the diversion of one-half cent of each three cents sales tax collected to cities, villages and townships on the basis of population . . .

"It would set aside two cents of each three cents collected to be distributed as it is received to school districts, according to a formula to be determined by the legislature.

"This would replace the current diversion of one-half cent, plus 44.77 per cent of the sales tax revenue required for appropriation to school districts.

"Collection costs would be deducted before any distribution of the revenue.

"A guaranteed appropriation for school employes retirement would be a first charge against the two cents before state aid could be distributed to schools."

Mrs. Schultz said the league opposed the plan, which will be Proposal 2 on the November state ballot, because it would involve:

"1. Piecemeal alterations;

"2. Additional undesirable features in the constitution;

"3. Setting back efforts to obtain a judicious substitute for the Sales Tax Diversion Amendment which has created so many of the state's financial problems."

Pontiac Area Hot Rodders Formulate Program to Help Prevent Accidents

A new and visionary program to cut highway accidents has been started among Pontiac area hot-rod enthusiasts, who have recognized the need for preventive measures tailored for their own age group.

Presidents of three local hot-rod clubs met Monday night with police officials from Pontiac, Waterford Township and the Michigan State Highway Patrol. The session was arranged by Loren Anderson of 2361 Edinburgh Rd., who has been active in civic affairs and safety work in Pontiac for several years.

Lt. Joseph Koren, head of Pontiac's traffic department; Waterford Police Chief Frank Van Atta, and Trooper John Benolio of the Michigan State Police Pontiac Post were speakers.

They discussed the teenage driver's place in the community and what youthful motorists could do to help cut down their own accident rate.

Representing the hot-rod clubs were the presidents of three organizations—Robert Horsley, Rod-Benders; Gerald King, Piston-Poppers, and Leonard Desch of the Road Lords.

They stressed the fact that their groups were ready and willing to aid in any campaign which would reduce accidents. They pointed out that while hot-rod enthusiasts, who understand and respect powerful cars, have relatively few accidents, they take most of the blame because of the appearance of their cars.

The police officials present endorsed the program to build safe driving practices and offered their support in making the plan a success.

A list of seven basic principles was outlined at the meeting, to be developed into a broad accident-prevention campaign among teenage drivers. These included:

1) Hot-rod clubs must fully realize the position of the teenage motorist in the community.

2) Reduction of traffic accidents in this age group is of prime importance.

3) A safety committee will be formed of delegates from all the clubs in the Pontiac area, with an eye to developing effective measures to combat specific problems.

4) The clubs will pledge their support to all law enforcement agencies in their work of reducing traffic fatalities and injuries.

5) A major project will be to promote road courtesy and an understanding of the privileges and responsibilities of motor vehicle operators.

6) Members of all clubs taking part in the campaign will act as individual ambassadors to discourage unsafe driving practices wherever found.

7) An educational program will be undertaken to give all teenage drivers a full understanding of the automobile and its limitations, relative to safe driving under all conditions.

Representatives of the clubs will meet again in about 10 days, at which time they plan formal organization of a safety committee to implement the program outlined at Monday's session.

Daring Texan Tries to Conquer Bridge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A daring Texan attempted unsuccessfully last night to scale 30-inch cables leading to the top of the Delaware River Bridge.

Identified as William W. Wells, 30-year-old Air Force veteran from Fort Worth, he was shooed back down after climbing almost three fourths of the way to the top of the bridge's main tower, 380 feet above the water. An electrician and policeman beat him to the top by using the tower elevator. Safely back on the ground, he fainted.

Wells was booked on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct.

Siam Wary of Reds Based in Cambodia

BANGKOK (AP) — The Bangkok Post, an American-edited daily, said today that Thailand's internal security is threatened by the presence in Cambodia of a 4,000-man Vietminh-led group and an uncertain element among 300,000 Chinese there.

The newspaper quoted Brig. Gen. Chamras Manthukanond, Thai minister to Cambodia, as saying the 4,000 operate as "free Cambodians" from a base south of Battambang province near the Thai border. They reportedly get their orders direct from the Communist Vietminh, who now occupy the northern half of Viet Nam.

Patterson Killer May Be Seized

Phenix City Probers Appear to Know Who Shot Crime-Fighter

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — The gunman whose bullets cut short the crime-fighting career of A. L. Patterson four months ago is still a hunted killer, but investigators may have the goods on him.

Despite the cautious secrecy of Acting Att. Gen. Bernard Sykes, who is directing the murder inquiry, homicide detectives say privately they think they know the assassin's name.

"We feel sure we have a good, sound case against the man who did it," said one homicide detective, "but there are a few loose ends to be tied up."

And, he added, "there may be others involved, and we want to get them too."

Other sources close to the investigation corroborated the story, but none of the officers would divulge details.

Neither would he say when the case will be presented to the emergency grand jury which was empaneled to investigate the Patterson slaying and to prosecute racketeers caught in Phenix City's wholesale vice cleanup.

The elder Patterson had been nominated for attorney general on a pledge to rid Phenix City of organized crime. His law partner son won the nomination without opposition after his father was killed.

Hundreds of witnesses have been questioned, but no one has been charged with the killing.

Armed Robber's Victim Gets Silent Treatment

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An armed robber used the silent treatment to obtain about $50 from a grocery store here last night.

Police said the robber accosted store owner Frank Elske, 63, and gave him a note which read:

"This is a holdup. I need money badly. Put greenbacks in sack. Gun is in my pocket. Don't make a move. Act naturally. Don't want to hurt no one. If needed I'll kill you."

Visitors Watch Two Watches in Boston Area

BOSTON (AP) — Some out-of-town visitors at the Boston Conference on Distribution are displaying two watches, one set at New York time and the other at Boston's daylight time.

They say it helps them to time calls to their offices and plan plane schedules.

One two-watch man said he sometimes became confused and couldn't remember which timepiece was which.

Massachusetts has extended its daylight time to the end of October.

Membership in Pontiac Boys' Club Hits New Record

By JOSEPH K. SFAIR

The 1,400th boy stepped over the welcome mat and through the friendly doors of Pontiac Boys' Club Tuesday—representing the highest membership in the club's 11-year history.

Eleven-year-old Jimmy Berryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Berryman of 30 Liberty St., was congratulated by William V. Coulacos, executive director of the United Fund-supported organization.

"I became interested in Boys' Club," said the Crofoot School sixth grader, "when I came here with a boyfriend and saw my two favorite hobbies here. Then I knew I found the place I wanted."

Jimmy's attitude reflects the expressions of hundreds of boys in the club, which is uniquely operated under guidance of professionally trained personnel.

Coulacos, who said he feared the year's total membership would exceed 1,500, noted that the club originally was set up to handle only 1,200 boys. The club's previous record enrollment had been 1,156.

"What a year this will be for Boys' Club," commented Coulacos. "Our problem now is to find room for them. Last week, alone, 75 boys joined the club. The number seems to increase each week," he explained.

But the club's eight advisors are hard at work to solve the problem of finding some way to accomodate more boys with present facilities or to limit membership.

Already the group, said Coulacos, has created a new department called the hobby shop. "This will enable us to provide vocational activities for 20 per cent more," he said.

"The main recreation room has been revised so a total of 60 more boys can participate at one time in different activities. The club also is making necessary changes in the gymnasium, the wood shop, the photography classes, printing shop, and other departments.

To further sustain interest of the youthful members, 10 touch football and tumbling teams have been formed.

This year the club, which receives the second highest annual budget of $37,000 from the Pontiac Area United Fund, has also added classes in leather crafts, plaster moulding, plastics, jewelry and toy making.

A major feature in this year's plans is the setting up of a senior boys' lounge. A large room, with the comfort of a fireplace, books, television and a general atmosphere for senior boys, is expected to accomodate about 50 more youths between the ages of 16 and 19.

Primary objective of the Boys' Club, explained Coulacos, is to guide the boys "into purposeful living and education."

"No room or activity is ever without its adult advisor. We help the boys with their homework and give their problems special attention wherever the opportunity arises," said Coulacos.

"The club's advisors take a genuine interest in the progress of the boys and even instill moral training into their daily lives and activities.

"One of our primary purposes is to help a boy set before him a healthy, worthwhile objective with high ideals of citizenship and love for his fellow-man in society."

"We even have greater hopes of helping the youngster better educate his conscience in times like these when juvenile delinquency is at its highest," added Coulacos.

So far, it would seem to the city's best authorities that the Boys' Club objectives are being obtained.

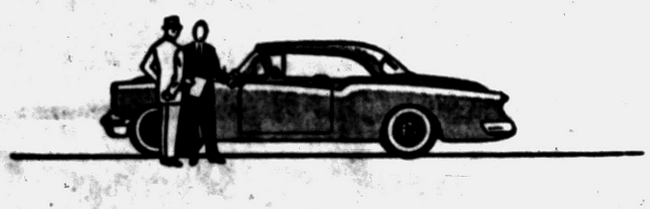

As Sgt. Henry Hoyt, juvenile officer, summed it up: "It gives the boy something to do. . somewhere to go, instead of hanging around corners at night."

The further efforts of Boys' Club depends upon the success of the current United Fund Campaign to reach a goal of $525,823.

FACTS

Every Voter should know about the Oakland County Court House Referendum

Nov. 2

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS
TO YOUR COUNTY BUILDING QUESTIONS

(1)

Q. What is the date of the election on which we will be permitted to vote on a referendum which would authorize the levying of a voted increase of ½ Mill on the County's valuation to finance repayment of $4,500,000 of General Obligation Bonds for the construction of a new county building?

A. At the General Election which will be held on Tuesday, November 2, 1954.

Q. Will it be necessary to re-submit the referendum on the question of issuance of $4,500,000 General Obligation Bonds to finance the project?

A. No. This question was approved by the property owners at the August 3rd election and will not be on the November 2nd ballot.

Q. Who will be permitted to vote on the ½ Mill referendum on November 2nd?

A. All registered voters, taxpayers and non-taxpayers residing in the County of Oakland.

Q. In reference to the ½ Mill increase, what does this mean in dollars and cents as reflected on my tax bill?

A. The figure ½ Mill represents 50c on each $1,000 of the County's valuation. This would amount to approximately $1.50 per year on the average home.

Q. If the construction of new homes, industries and other facilities continues at the present rate for the next few years and the County's valuation is thereby greatly increased would the levy of ½ Mill be discontinued when the $4,500,000 bond issue and interest are fully paid even though the referendum permits a 20 year spread?

A. Yes. In fact it is expected the levy of ½ Mill will retire the entire obligation within the next 10 or 12 years if the county's valuation increases at the same rate as in the past few years.

Q. What does the Board of Supervisors propose to do with the present Court House and other properties located in the downtown district of Pontiac if the ½ Mill question is approved on November 2nd for financing a new county building?

A. These properties would be offered for sale. Funds derived from such sales would be used to assist in financing the new building.

Q. Is there any cloud on the title of the present Court House property which would prevent the county from giving marketable title in the event of a sale?

A. No. The Michigan Supreme Court rendered a decision reported in Volume No. 243 of Michigan Reports, pages 279 to 300 to the effect that the reversionary rights once held by Stephen Mack, Trustee for the Pontiac Company, were extinguished.
Harry J. Merritt, County Corporation Counsel, has given an opinion that the County has marketable title and can successfully defend any attack thereon.

Q. Suppose the ½ Mill referendum is defeated on November 2nd. Would all avenues of financing the new County Building be closed?

A. No. Either of the following two possible procedures could be used:

1. Another election date could be set by the Board of Supervisors and the ½ Mill question re-submitted.
2. The Board of Supervisors could consider the creation of a Building Authority as provided by Act 31 of Michigan Public Acts of 1948 and finance the construction by the sale of revenue bonds.

Q. If the Board of Supervisors is empowered to create a Building Authority and finance the project by the sale of revenue bonds, why submit the ½ Mill question to the voters on November 2nd?

A. According to figures submitted by Matthew Carey, Municipal Finance Consultant, an estimated savings ranging from $1,415,434 to $1,850,579 could be realized by financing the project by General Obligation Bonds.

A favorable vote on the ½ Mill question would permit financing by General Obligation Bonds bearing an estimated interest rate of 2.19% and callable at any time when funds were available. Estimated retirement period from 10 to 12 years.

Revenue Bonds would bear an estimated interest rate of 2.89% and the bond issue would require an approximate retirement period of 30 years and so issued that the Authority cannot possibly retire them in less than 25 years.

Q. If the ½ Mill question is approved on November 2nd, when will the voted increase be reflected on my tax bill?

A. The first levy would be spread on the December Tax Roll of year 1955.

Prof Sits on Ocean Floor Observing Habits of Fish

ANN ARBOR (UP) — If the fish won't come to the professor, the professor will go to the fish.

That was why, for a good part of the summer, John E. Hardach, University of Michigan assistant professor of fisheries, sat on the ocean bottom off the Bermuda shore.

He went to study first hand the habits of fish. And he did it despite the fact that sharks and barricuda populated the warm waters around him. Once a 16-foot shark was caught nearby during his underwater excursion.

Equipped with an aqualung to provide him air, Prof. Hardach went down for an hour at a stretch.

"The barricuda were very friendly fellows," he says, "primarily because there was a good deal else to eat in the neighborhood."

Most of the information that Prof. Hardach's research provided was not applicable to Michigan waters. There were different types of fish there, and Michigan fresh waters are colder than the warm salt waters off Bermuda.

One thing was reaffirmed, however, Prof. Hardach says. It was: "Of the dumb animals, the fish is the dumbest."

His dumb quality is hard to understand, he says, adding that nature has endowed fish with certain extra sensory faculties to make up for their lack of intelligence.

"We know," Prof. Hardach says, "that a fish reacts to changes of light, similar to the way the human reacts to the dinner bell. There is much more feeding activity during periods of dusk and dawn.

"This also holds true for some fish natural to Michigan waters. Yellow perch, for instance, react to periods of maximum light change. Some fish, like walleyes for instance, react to periods of maximum light change. Some fish, like walleye and probably lake trout, can see well in relatively dusky light, and feed when they can see."

Prof. Hardach is working now on determining what part of a fish enables it to perceive temperature change as slight as a tenth of a degree centigrade.

The professor would like, sometime, to study feeding habits of Michigan fish. But, he says, such a study would take a large tank and much preparation in recreating artificially the outdoor habitat of the fish and the artificial changes of light, temperature and other factors.

Gavilan, Challenger Both Confident of Victory

By MURRAY ROSE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan predicts he'll knock out Johnny Saxton tonight "if I hit him solid" and Saxton says "I'm going to be the new champion."

That's what the two cocky boxers said as they awaited the hours for their 15-round title bout in Convention Hall at 10 p.m. (EST). (WJBK, channel 2. Pontiac area TV.)

A crowd of around 11,000 may pay around $80,000 for the twice-postponed affair which will be telecast coast to coast by CBS. Philadelphia and a 100-mile radius around the city, with the exception of New York, will be blacked out of the TV. Local stay-at-homes will get a radio broadcast.

The 28-year-old Cuban, making his eighth title defense, radiated extreme confidence, as usual, as he moved into town from his Summit, N. J., training camp.

"Saxton is a pretty good fighter," said The Kid from Camaguey. "He's strong and likes to crowd. I throw plenty of punches at him and we see what happens. If I hit him solid, he go."

"Gavilan is a great fighter," said the 24-year-old challenger from New York. "I'm not underestimating him. But I'm confident I've got the strength and style to beat him."

The odds, however, favor the champion at 19-10.

Saxton said he wasn't worried over going 15 rounds for the first time.

"I've trained hard and long for this one," the muscular Negro youngster said. "I've always had plenty left after 10 rounds and I'm sure I'll be better over 15."

Johnny has the style which has bothered Gavilan most in the past. He is pantherish in his movements, punches very fast and presses his opponents persistently.

"Maybe that style doesn't always please the fans," said Saxton. "But that's the way I win. I'm not going to give him any punching room if I can help it."

The crowding, bulling style has enabled Saxton to post a 43-2-2 record. His two defeats were by split decisions to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan. He has 19 knockouts to his credit. Gavilans record is 98-14-4 with 27 knockouts. Neither ever has been stopped.

This is Gavilan's first fight in six months and his first title defense since he drubbed Johnny Bratton in Chicago 11 months ago. Six months ago he dropped a 15-round decision to middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. He claimed he fought that one with an injured right hand.

It was that injury which forced the first postponement of his title tilt with Saxton. The second time he came down with a virus infection and the mumps the night before the scheduled Sept. 1 contest in Connie Mack Stadium.

Although the two were supposed to split the net receipts and the $40,000 TV money on a 40-20 basis, it was understood the champ would get Johnny's share of the gate. Saxton would only get his $8,000 end of the TV funds.

Another off the record gimmick was that Saxton would give Gavilan a return bout within 90 days in New York if he wins.

If Saxton scores an upset, he'll have to celebrate his enthronement in a New York City jail unless Chief Magistrate John Murtaugh has a change of heart. Last Oct. 4 Saxton was fined $600 and sentenced to 15 days in jail as a traffic "scofflaw" for a dozen tickets.

Weather Chief Topic of Prep Grid Season

By JACK SAYLOR

Outstanding figure of this prep football season to date has been the weatherman. He's an all-stater, too, having dispersed the most foul portion of his product all over Michigan.

Oakland County, generally a nice spot to be in the autumn, unfortunately has been included in the area of record rainfall and football has suffered. Very few games have been played when it wasn't either raining or the field was muddy or slippery from previous showers.

Last Friday was another of these nights when conditions were miserable. Milford and Holly fumbled their way to a 0-0 tie. So did Ferndale at Mt. Clemens. The Clawson-Madison and Almont-Dryden games were postponed due to the inclement weather and Mayville and Deckerville called theirs off entirety.

A 4th quarter break, resulting in a safety, was the only scoring as Oxford nipped Lake Orion, 2-0, keeping its record perfect. Weather proved an equalizer in some cases as Brighton battled favored Keego Harbor to a 13-13 tie and East Detroit upset Port Huron 6-0.

Another low scoring game was played at Hazel Park with Birmingham's fine end, Bill Watkinson, the difference. He intercepted a pass and went 29 yards for the Maples' touchdown, then booted the extra point for a 7-6 victory.

A fine defense helped keep Avondale undefeated as Roseville was beaten, 13-0. Toby Aldrich was a key man, calling a smart game at quarterback and doing a yeoman job of line-backing. Marv Evans scored both TD's, one a 50-yard run on which he shook off at least four tacklers.

Another strong defensive game was that turned in by Rochester in its 13-0 win over Lowrey. Big Bob Schlike was a standout. Falcon scores came on John Burhard's 14-yard pass to Pat Nunn and Buzz DeBaene's 26-yard run.

Passing and downfield blocking were a highlight of Waterford's 19-6 win over Van Dyke. Tossing of Tom Bryce (he completed 5 of 9 for 78 yards) set up a 50-yard touchdown run by Dave Larkin on a trap play as Laine Hetherington cleared out the Abes' safety man.

Defensive line ace Al Nestor recovered a fumble to set up Larkin's 2nd tally and the Skippers' other score came on Hetherington's 48-yard run, aided by Jerry Harnack's fine block.

Though tied, Keego displayed determination by coming from behind twice to avert an upset defeat. After Brighton scored, Dennis Singleton went 68 yards on the Presidents' 1st play and Tom McLennon's extra point put KH ahead.

Brighton tallied again in the 3rd quarter, but Keego came back to tie in the final period as Billy Nicholson ran 50 yards with a Bulldog fumble.

Clarkston had a squeaker, but stayed in the Wayne-Oakland race by edging Clarenceville, 13-12, in a mid-week tilt. Roger Johnson's extra point after George Lang's 1st touchdown was the clincher. Lanny Leak's fumble recovery set up the other TD, scored by Lang on a 35-yard run.

The prep season will continue, regardless, but players and fans too, would appreciate a break from the signal caller in the weather department.

Al Dark Signs New Two-Year Giant Contract

Star Shortstop First of Champions to Get Into Fold

NEW YORK (AP)—Alvin Dark, the quiet, take-charge guy who kept the New York Giants on the hustle to the National League pennant and their smashing World Series victory, today signed another two-year contract to become the first player to sign with the world champions for 1955.

There was no indication how much money was provided in the contract mailed in by Dark from his Lake Charles, La., home, but Eddie Brannick, club secretary, said the stubby shortstop was "very satisfied."

It was the second two-year agreement signed by Dark since joining the Giants in 1950. The first, accepted by Dark in 1953, called for a reported $31,500 a year.

The last signing was in sharp contrast to today's. That one ended the only holdout problem confronted by the Giants and the club and Dark didn't reach agreement until March 3, at the start of spring training.

Dark, a 5-foot-11 scrapper at his best in the clutch, wound up a superb year with an individual performance that matched the team showing of the Giants' four-game sweep of the Cleveland Indians in the world series. A .293 hitter during the regular season, the 31-year-old veteran batted .421—the best series average of any of the New York regulars.

Playing in every game of the 1954 season, Dark had a .956 fielding average, collected 189 hits, drove in 70 runs and hit 20 home runs.

Independent 11s in East Might Band Together

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS)—There are 13 major college football conferences now in this country but there is a crying need for at least one more to take care of the big non-conference football colleges in the East.

The 13 conferences now operating are the Eastern or Ivy League, the Western or Big Ten, the Pacific Coast, the Southwest, Atlantic Coast, Border, Rocky Mountain, Skyline, Missouri Valley, Southern, Southeastern, Big Seven, and Midwest.

The new conference which probably will come into existence within a year will be called the Independents. Already several Eastern colleges have expressed a willingness to join such a conference.

Ivy Leaguers are quickly moving toward schedules which would have them playing only among themselves. Penn, Princeton, Yale, Harvard, Columbia, Cornell, Brown and Dartmouth are the Ivies.

Independents probably would be composed of such teams as Penn State, Pitt, Fordham, Boston College, Boston University, Holy Cross, Colgate, Syracuse, Villanova and Rutgers.

Army and Navy have been mentioned as possibilities for conference membership but it is unlikely that either service school could or would join any conference.

Schedule making is a tough task any time but many of the difficulties could be overcome by an independent conference with all working together.

Finally, a well-knit independent conference would give all members a standing they don't have working alone.

Doyon Leads 4 Newcomers to Scoring List

Four new faces appear in the list of top 10 prep football point-getters this week.

Dick Doyon, end from St. Frederick's in Pontiac, tallied 14 points to make his 1st appearance in the group. He takes 3rd place with 34 points.

Larry Spencer of Oxford and Jerry Hunter of Holly held the 1-2 positions, although they didn't add to their totals. Spencer has 5 touchdowns and 8 extra points for a 38 total, one more than Hunter.

Avondale's Marv Evans scored all 13 of the Jacket's points against Roseville to tie for 4th at 33 points with Buzz DeBaene of Rochester.

Dave Larkin of Waterford and Southfield's Dave Juhnke are the other newcomers. Bumped out of the top 10 were Mike Benedict of Oxford, Fred Courville of Southfield and a pair of Pontiac High backs, Walt Poe and Freeman Watkins.

The list:

	G	TD	PAT	TOT
Larry Spencer, Oxford	5	5	8	38
Jerry Hunter, Holly	5	6	1	37
Dick Doyon, Fred's	5	5	4	34

'Flag' Football

A demonstration of "flag" football will be held at halftime of the Waterford-Farmington football game Friday afternoon at Waterford High School. Two teams from the Waterford Township Recreation Department's Saturday junior football program will play.

Boys from grades 6 through 8 participate in the program.

Vikings Eye Harrier Title

Pounds, Grimshaw Are Expected to Battle for Individual Honors

There will be a 2-man battle for the individual championship of the Inter-Lakes cross country run at Wixom, but Walled Lake's Vikings appear to be too strong for their league rivals in the team division.

The annual league meet will be run over a 2-mile course on the Hickory Hills Golf course at Wixom Thursday at 4:15 p. m. Challenging the defending champs will be all conference schools except Berkley, including Farmington, Southfield, Waterford and Van Dyke.

Rollie Langerman's Vikings, led by senior Don Pounds, have won 13 straight dual meets over 2 seasons.

Battling Pounds for the individual crown will be Bob Grimshaw of Farmington, who holds a dual meet decision over the Viking ace this year. Pounds was 1st in the league meet last year.

The Grimshaw-Pounds duel could threaten the league record of 11 minutes, 8 seconds set 2 years ago by Bob Mansfield of Farmington.

ABC Entries Stand at Half-Way Figure

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Better hurry if you or your team intends to register for the American Bowling Congress tournament to be held in Fort Wayne next March 26 through June 4.

Joe Smolen, manager of reservations, says the half-way mark has been passed with 3,159 blanks processed. Only 6,040 teams will be accommodated.

Entry deadline is Feb. 1 but Smolen points out the entry list may be closed by that time.

Buddy Bomar will captain a five-man Chicago bowling team that includes Ned Day, 1948 ABC All-Events champion, in the ABC tourney at Fort Wayne, Ind., next March.

UPS AND DOWNS—Cyril Hannaby (top), Baltimore Rockets' goalie, seems to be demonstrating a ballet step and teammate Henry Linz a new fad in push-ups, but the action took place in a recent soccer game in Baltimore between the Rockets and Philadelphia's Uhriks, rivals in the pro American Soccer League. Philadelphia won, 3-1.

Dublinski, Girard Trail Van Brocklin on List of NFL's Passers and Punters

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin, the man behind the center for the Los Angeles Rams, held down top spot in both the punting and passing departments in the National Football League's latest statistics, released today.

Van Brocklin, veteran quarterback out of the University of Oregon, thus far in the 1954 season has completed 53 of 100 passes attempted for a total of 1,081 yards and five touchdowns. His completion mark is 53 per cent and his average gain 10.81 yards.

Cleveland Browns' Otto Graham, defending champ in the NFL's passing category, rated 2nd position with an average gain of 10.06 yards on 45 completions out of 69 attempts. He has tossed for 694 yards and seven touchdowns.

Tom Dublinski, Detroit Lions, is third with a 9.88 yard average gain, followed by the Philadelphia Eagles' Bobby Thomason at 9.76 yards and Gary Kerkorian, Baltimore, at 9.14.

Van Brocklin's 14 punts this season have averaged 47.2 yards. Earl Girard, Detroit, is 2nd with 45.5 and Pat Brady, Pittsburgh Steelers, 3rd with 45.4.

A pair of San Francisco 49ers lead the loop's ball carriers. Joe Perry has picked up 356 yards overland for an average of 7.1, while Hugh McElhenny has traveled 331 yards for an average of 7.4. In the No. 3 spot is Floyd Reid, Green Bay Packers, with 234 yards, followed by John Henry Johnson, San Francisco, at 201, and Jim Parmer of the Eagles at 196.

Bobby Walston of the Eagles leads the scoring parade with 70 points. Way back in second place at 36 points is Bob Schnelker of the Giants.

Jack Christianson of Detroit heads the punt returners with an average runback of 17.0 yards. Bill Bowman, also Detroit, tops the kickoff return specialists with an average of 45 yards. Bill Stits, another Lion, has intercepted five passes to lead in that department.

Pittsburgh End Is Named AP's 'Lineman of Week'

By TED MEIER
The Associated Press

Fred Glatz, a 190-pound end at Pitt, was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week Wednesday for his exploits that helped the Panthers knock Navy from the list of unbeaten college football teams.

Glatz was named by sportswriters and broadcasters in the weekly balloting for the honor. Hugh Pitts, Texas Christian center, and Bruce Bosley, West Virginia tackle, also received high praise for their play against Texas A&M and Penn State, respectively.

Glatz, a junior who prepped at Pittsburgh Central High, caught a 54-yard forward pass that set up Pitt's first touchdown in the Panthers' 21-19 victory and followed through by recovering two Navy fumbles to choke off threats by the Middies. He was strong defensively at other times, too.

It was Pitts who saved TCU's 21-20 victory over the Texas Aggies by blocking the try for extra point that would have tied the score.

It was a nifty block by Bosley that shook Freddy Wyant loose for the 15-yard touchdown run that put West Virginia within striking distance of Penn State at 14-12. West Virginia then went on to win 19-14.

You Be the Quarterback

By Warren Gaer
Head Football Coach
Drake University

Texas Tech leads the College of the Pacific, 20-14 with two minutes left in the 3rd quarter.

College of the Pacific has the ball on the Red Raiders' 11-yard line, 4th down and six, midway between the sideline stripes. The Tigers have a dependable field goal kicker. They have moved the ball 53 yards to the 11 on runs and short passes.

As the College of the Pacific quarterback guiding your team's T-formation offense, rate these plays 1, 2, 3 and 4 for this situation:

Running pass

Field goal attempt

Button-hook pass about eight yards deep (receiver goes downfield, turns)

Adrian Woman Winner of Pace at Jackson

JACKSON (UP) — Mrs. Iris Wantz, Adrian, captured the 1st running of the powder puff pace at Jackson Raceway Tuesday night. Mrs. Wantz drove Evzone to victory.

The mile pace, which was an added attraction, had six amateur women drivers at the reins.

The raceway's track record will be in jeopardy tonight when six of the fastest pacers on the grounds go to the post in the Plymouth Pace, featured race at the track.

Hill Undecided

'Back of the Week' Still Isn't Starter at USC

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One of the unusual facts about young Jon Arnett of Southern California is that while he was named Back of the Week by the Associated Press, he has yet to win a place on the Trojans' starting team.

Even today his coach, Jess Hill, reiterated that he has not decided whether the 19-year-old sophomore or Aramis Dandoy, a senior and All-Pacific Coast Conference back last year, will lead off at left halfback against California here Saturday.

Hill did name Jon to start in the Oregon game last week, the nationally televised contest which proved a wonderful stage for Arnett's running artistry.

But this was the only game thus far in which Jon got the opening role.

Does this disturb him?

"Not a bit." Jon promptly replied. "I'm glad to see Dandoy get the assignment."

An extremely modest young man, he seemed a little abashed by the Back of the Week designation. This has been his attitude since the spotlight began to shine on him, particularly after the Pittsburgh game a month ago.

Arnett, who stands 5-11 and weighs 185, is an expert gymnastic tumbler, runs the 100 in 10 flat and broad jumped 24-8¾ to take second place in the national collegiate meet last spring. He is also an excellent student.

Larson Bidding to Keep Total Offense Crown

California Ace Right Behind Oregon Star George Shaw

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Larson of California, who won the total offense championship in collegiate football last season as a junior, is on the move again and his bid for a repeat has given him the lead this week in two passing departments.

A workhorse performance against Washington State last Saturday boosted Larson to the runner-up position in total offense behind Oregon's George Shaw and squeezed him ahead of the Oregon T-quarterback in pass completions, National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics showed today.

Larson figured in 44 plays against Washington State — the busiest one-game performance in the nation this season — and gained a 237-yard net. That pushed his total offense figure to 675 yards, but still short of Shaw's 845 total.

In passing, however, Larson now has 54 completions to 53 for runner-up Shaw and has the top pass completion record — 62.8 per cent in 86 attempts. Shaw's passes have netted 748 yards to Larson's 678. Both have fired four scoring strikes.

In rushing statistics, Arizona's Art Luppino and Colorado's John Bayuk, a pair of sophomores, are hooked up in a battle for the rushing lead that matches the Larson-Shaw passing scrap. Luppino stomped back into the lead with a 178-yard net against Idaho, giving him a total of 607 yards in four games on 66 carries. He has six games remaining.

In other departments: Purdue's Len Dawson still is tops with nine touchdown passes, John Fennell of Rutgers leads with a record of 43 passes without interception and Army's Tommy Bell has the best rushing average — 11.2 yards a crack in 36 carries.

Mims Easy Winner Against Bobby Lee

WASHINGTON (INS) — Top-middleweight contender Holly Mims punched out a unanimous 10-round decision last night over veteran Bobby Lee of Baltimore.

Mims, popular Washington favorite, took command at the outset of the bout and steadily piled up points against Lee. Referee Eddie Lafond scored it 99 to 86 in favor of Mims, judge Benny Alperstein called it 99 to 90 and judge Charles Dryer, 100 to 93.

Shoemaker 3 Winners Shy of 2,000 Total

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, who's ridden three or more winners on 16 days of the 32-day-old Tanforan meeting, needs only three more for a lifetime total of 2,000. Shoe, in only his sixth year as a jockey, brought two home yesterday, boosting his total to 80 for the meeting and 333 for 1954. He won on Marsh's Turk $4.40 and Flyfosta $3.30.

City Loop Hitting Champ 1954 Pike Award Winner

Ninth annual Pike Memorial association dinner and award session was held Tuesday night at the Highland Manor, at which time announcement of the 1954 award was made. Winner of this unique honor is tall, heavy-hitting Judge Booker of the Class A City League Jets. Booker hit .462 as a 1st baseman this year. He was honored as an outstanding player.

All but two members of the Pike Memorial group attended the function. Phil Haweeli, an instructor in the University of Alaska and Roy Clark, now in Dallas, Texas, were the only absentees. All other recipients of the award and members of the original body were there.

Believed to be one of a very few similar organizations in the country, the event is a memorial to a former star Pontiac sandlot ball player, Billy Pike, who gave his life during World War II. His father, William C. Pike, was honor guest at last night's affair.

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs Have Scored All but Two Touchdowns From Outside 10-Yard Line

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—When Texas Christian's Horned Frogs, one of the most respected college football teams in the country, score it's usually with a flourish.

And the biggest flourisher is one Jim Swink, a rambling sophomore more noted for his basketball than football in high school at Rusk, Tex.

The "home run" goes with the impetuous Horned Frogs. They've made 14 touchdowns in 5 games and only 2 of them came from inside their foes' 10-yard line. Ronnie Clinkscale ran four yards for scores against California and Texas A&M.

Otherwise, the Frogs have tallied from away out yonder, something at which the irrepressible Swink is adept. They're already comparing him to Doak Walker, the Southern Methodist immortal of the late forties.

Speed, agility and a sixth sense for "running where they ain't" are the 180-pound Swink's leading assets.

"He just hunts daylight and goes to it," says Dutch Meyer, the TCU athletic director who coached the Frogs for years. "And he paces himself something like Doak Walker used to do until he gets the right block and sees running room."

Against Kansas, Swink made two touchdowns, one on a 67-yard run off tackle. Against Southern California, he made a darting, ducking 18-yard scoring run off tackle that is still the marvel of the TCU coaching staff. No less than six Trojans had a crack at him on that one.

Against Texas A&M last week, Swink scored what proved to be the winning touchdown when he took a handoff, cut in over guard and darted 79 yards—the last 50 all alone.

The Frogs meet Penn State here Saturday in one of the country's top games.

Missed Conversions Decide 30 Games

By BOB HOOBING
The Associated Press

Missed conversions, the biggest problem in the cutback to platoonless football, have decided no less than 30 major college games in the first half of the current season.

Coaches today must wince at the thought of the point after touchdown—the importance of which increases as its mastery declines.

In 1952, last year of unlimited substitutions, there were only 36 major games determined by extra points. In 1953 there were 45 and at the present rate there will be at least 60 this fall.

The story, of course, is that there were specialists in the art of kicking extra points during two platoon days but now the man assigned to the job must be proficient in all departments of the game.

Of the 30 point-after battles to date, 10 have come in the east where almost none of the teams hold spring practice. That means they have less time to try to cure this headache, spawned by the rule change.

At least the squeekers are playing no favorites. Harvard edged Cornell 13-12 one weekend and lost to Columbia 7-6 the next. Brown lost to Yale 26-24, then downed Princeton 21-20. Utah lost to Washington and trimmed Oregon by the same 7-6 count. Washington lost to UCLA 21-20, a vital victory for the Bruins.

Even that tremendous scoring marathon between Bucknell and Lehigh which went to the former, 48-46, was decided by someone's toe.

Not every phase of the kicking game is being neglected. There's more emphasis on punting in this year's tighter ball games than there has been in some time.

WARM-UP—This 76-pound snapper, taken by Gerald White of Dexter, Mich., while practicing, would have won championship if caugfht during spear-fishing tournament, Miami Beach.

KC Shouldn't Feel Bad Over 'Loss' of A's

But Yanks Will Likely Have to Soothe Fans With Strong Farm

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Kansas City insists it is a major league ball club, a statement which immediately poses three questions.

First, what is a major league town?

Second, how will Kansas City fans react to their failure to land an alleged major league club like the Athletics?

Third, aren't the Kansas City Blues of the American Association just about as good as the Philadelphia A's?

The late fight promoter Mike Jacobs always insisted that Philadelphia was not a "major league" town, although it draws 100,000 persons for an Army-Navy football game and drew 120,000 for the first fight between Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey.

It seems to us that Philadelphia's failure to support two major league clubs may be due in part to too many other attractions. Still, it must be admitted that Philadelphia refused to support the A's even when Connie Mack had an all-conquering club.

In regard to the second questtoin, the Yanks, who own the Kansas City franchise are worried and they realize that they will have to put a truly powerful club there to offset the disappointment of not landing a major league franchise.

If we lived in Kansas City we would not bee too-down-hearted about failure to have a club like the A's to root for. The A's are strictly a bush-league outfit and their transfer to Kansas City would not make them any better.

It's Time Out!

"Try not to miss another flock, dear . . . you know how it frustrates Rufus!"

Perez Underdog in Title Clash

Observers See His Style Just Right for Flyweight Champ

TOKYO (AP)—Argentine flyweight champion Pascual Perez disappointed boxing observers in drills Wednesday. Betting odds immediately switched to make him a slight underdog in his Oct. 26 title bout with world champion Yoshio Shirai.

Observers who watched the bull-necked little Argentine train for the outdoor, 15-round fight came away with the impression that his style is "made to order" for the champion.

The slender Shirai will have a tremendous reach advantage. He stands 5-foot-5; four inches taller than the South American.

Observers believe the only way Perez could give away that much reach to Shirai and still have a chance would be to adopt the crouching, slam-bang style of Leo Espinosa of the Philippines.

But Perez has been concentrating on a stand-up boxing style in his drills.

Big 10 Mat Kings

Al Vega (123 pounds, Bud Weick (147) and Ahmet Senol (177) won Big Ten individual wrestling titles last March for Purdue as the Boilermakers won the team title.

Walsh Shooting for New Record Each Day

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Jack Walsh 26-year-old local strong boy, will try to set another professional weight lifting record today.

Yesterday Walsh, who claims 19 professional world records in the sport, bettered his 1948 mark of 351 pounds in the wrestlers' bridge.

He's holding a 20-day marathon, each day trying to improve on past performance in various events. Yesterday was the first day of the marathon. On the 20th day he hopes to lift a million pounds in a half hour.

Leave It to a Filly!

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The horse that paid the longest price at Delaware Park race track this year was not a winner. A filly named Blotto, seeking her first victory, led for half the race. She weakened, however, and finished second. Her place price was $212.60. Had Blotto won the race she would have paid $753.80 for a two dollar ticket.

Riley to Miss UD's Game Against Tulsa

DETROIT (AP) — Halfback Lee Riley of the University of Detroit is suffering a gashed elbow and doctors say he'll miss Friday night's game against Tulsa.

Riley was injured last Friday against Villanova when he was knocked out of bounds and fell on a metal yard-line marker. His elbow was bruised and cut but he finished out the game.

The elbow became infected Saturday and Riley was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital. He is expected to be released Wednesday or Thursday.

NCAA to Report Today on Rules Infractions

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The report of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.'s committee on rule infractions today may shatter the quiet of an otherwise routine three-day meeting.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the 18-member executive council of the association heard the committee's report yesterday, but he would not disclose if any institutions were under investigation for rules violations.

The council has the authority to take certain disciplinary action against violators, Byers said. He said the Council's disciplinary authority included anything short of expulsion from the association.

The meeting today included reports of various committees behind closed doors as the council went through the second session of the meetings which were called to lay plans for the association's 49th annual convention opening in New York City Jan. 5.

Byers said "two or three amendments to the association's constitution or bylaws" would be recommended to the convention. Only the entire convention has the authority to adopt or reject such amendments, Byers said.

One of the proposed amendments, Byers said, deals with fall pre-season football practice. The opening of such sessions is set at Sept. 1, he said, but under the proposed amendment, institutions would be permitted to conduct players' physical examinations and take press photographs prior to that date. He said there was no set time for the exams or photographs since some institutions "might need two or three days."

The rule on the opening of fall sessions, however, remains at Sept. 1, Byers said.

The second amendment covers intercollegiate scrimmages between institutions before various seasons open, Byers said. It has been the practice of many institutions to hold scrimmages which were not counted as pre-season practice sessions, particularly in areas where NCAA institutions were located close together. Byers said such sessions were conducted with the knowledge and approval of the NCAA.

* * *

The proposed amendment would bar such sessions, Byers added, because some coaches feel that these scrimmages benefit the schools which conduct them while schools which do not follow the practice are at a disadvantage.

* * *

Byers said the NCAA standard of a 10-game limit in football and 26-game basketball schedule remains the same.

KSU Coach Is Encouraged Despite Sooners' 65-0 Rout

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"I was very encouraged over Oklahoma's Saturday showing," said the coach.

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma? Not this time.

It was Bill Meek of Kansas State, who should be the last man to be heartened by the 65-0 drubbing the Sooners handed Kansas last weekend. Meek's Wildcats meet Oklahoma at Norman, Saturday.

But read on.

"I was encouraged," said Meek, with tongue in cheek, "to see (halfback) Buddy Leake miss three straight extra points.

"We think we have at least a chance and you can bet that we're going down there to play a good, tough ball game. We know we'll be playing a great team and it looks like this is one of Bud's greatest."

The Wildcats will have to play tough to upset Oklahoma. Not only are the Sooners rated No. 1 in the nation, but no Big Seven squad has been able to defeat Oklahoma in 40 games since Wilkinson took over in 1947.

Kansas State hasn't beaten the Sooners since 1934.

Last year, K-State's best in a decade, the Wildcats lost 34-0 to Oklahoma. Kansas State has a 4-1 season record, equal to last year's at this time.

Oklahoma has won over California, Texas Christian and Texas in addition to Kansas for a 4-0 record.

Ex-Boston Batting Ace, Duffy, Is Dead

BOSTON (AP)—The baseball world today mourned the loss of Hugh Duffy, whose fabulous .438 batting average in 1894 for the Boston National League baseball club is an all-time record.

The 87-year-old star died Tuesday at his home from a heart ailment. He would have been 88 next month. Active in baseball almost to the end, he was a Boston Red Sox scout through 1953.

Funeral arrangements for the former player and manager—whose feats won him a place in Baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.—are expected to be completed today.

Only Three Coaches

The University of Michigan has had only three hockey coaches since 1922 — Dick Barss, Eddie Lawrey and Vic Heyliger.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

Case—Natural Reach.

Once proper foot-work has been mastered, with a smooth finishing slide to the foul line, above all, the eyes take over an important part in achieving natural reach in delivering the ball.

Beginners frequently are confused by conflicting advice as to whether to look at the spot where the ball is released, halfway down the alley, or at the pins.

I strongly recommend looking halfway down the alley as the best means of developing follow-through. This encourages you to reach out, which improve control. The head should be held high and the eyes fixed on the alleys. Allow nine to 18 inches for the slide. Give the ball a chance to fall smoothly into the arc (see sketch).

Timing is important; do not hurry the downswing. Let the ball fall, like a pendulum, into the arc by its own weight. The function of the hand and arm on the downswing is to control and guide the ball—never to force it!

AAA
They CARE enough
In Detroit this week is a great group of over 1,200 delegates attending the 52nd Annual Convention of the American Automobile Association. These delegates represent over 4,600,000 AAA members of the automobile clubs in every state of the Union and Canada.
These AAA delegates are civic-minded motorists, public-spirited citizens of their communities. Almost all unpaid in AAA work but who care enough to devote themselves and their time in taking this trip to Michigan for the purpose of making the use of your automobile better, safer, and a greater pleasure nationally.
This, the host club, with its 416,000 members, salutes the delegates and thanks them for their tremendous nationwide work for the motor car owner.

Contest Opens as Hunters Test Pheasant Crop

Area Shooters Reported Doing OK With Birds

Annual Pontiac Press 'Pheasant Derby' Now Under Way

Now, what all we fire fighters want to know, is whether to send bills for services rendered to Howard Huttenlocher or wait for him to make the first move.

Before the excitement started we did get a picture or two and learned that the group had been doing fairly well on the birds, when they could find them. Incidentally, a tip to pat hunters from TV man Cy Christie is to get out in the field early.

Cy recently found plenty birds just after dawn but after 8:30 couldn't scare up a single one. We were afraid of something like this coming up to interfere with our sleeping in.

Spent Sunday night with Louie Cole and Dave Edstrom at their Alcona County retreat. Wondered why we were greeted so affably—wondered, that is, until we sat down for a game of "Captain". That'll teach us to go into such places unarmed. Wait 'til deer season, We'll gather up some of our better players and cross the river and maybe bring about swift, sweet retribution.

Meanwhile we're hunting pheasants and by tomorrow will have a report on what the boys are doing in the Thumb area.

Today's pheasant season opening also marked the start of the annual Pontiac Press "Big Pheasant Derby," in which Oakland County hunters vie for a $50 United States Savings Bond. The contest is based entirely on weight of the bird. It's length of tail feathers has no bearing on the determination of the winner. All entries must be brought to the Pontiac Press sports department for checking and weighing.

Pine Cones Bring Record $65,000

LANSING (UP)—The conservation department paid a record $65,000 in northern Michigan for pine cones this year.

The department purchased the cones from individuals who collected them in the woods. The seeds recovered from the cones will be enough to keep the state nurseries supplied for the next 5 to 8 years.

In the best year in history, collectors turned in more than 8,000 bushels of red pine cones, 1,000 bushels of white pine cones and 100 bushels of white spruce cones.

Weapons Infractions Bring 24 Convictions

LANSING (UP)—Apparently a lot of people are ignoring the law against carrying a strung bow or a shotgun or rifle not taken down in a car, the conservation department said today.

Last week alone, 24 persons were convicted after arrests by conservation officers for this offense.

Heavy Bird Kill Seen

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

Fair and warmer weather was promised the first wave of half a million small game hunters as they opened the hunting season in the Southern Lower Peninsula today.

Great majority of the new wave of hunters to spread over Michigan's many hued countryside will be after pheasants. With the predictions for practically ideal weather and conservation department reports that pheasants are plentiful, they expected to make an opening day killing.

Field observations led state game experts to predict a pheasant kill for the season as high as 1,250,000. This would not exceed the 1,400,000 record set in 1944, but it would far exceed any kill of recent years.

Some southern small game hunters will also be gunning for squirrels, rabbits, raccoons and ruffed grouse.

They will join waterfowl and archery deer hunters throughout the state and northern Lower Peninsula and Upper Peninsula small game hunters who have been out since Oct. 1.

Under a special provision of the law, all hunting in all of the Lower Peninsula, including that which has been legal previously, does not start until 10 a.m. today.

Responsible state officials and organized sportsmen's groups sent the new army of hunters into the field with the urgent request that they "ask the farmer first."

The pheasant season presents the greatest trespass problem of any.

Hunters were urged to get permission before entering private land and to respect the property of their host. Only in this way can they insure against too many farmers closing their farms to hunting, these sources said.

SHARP-SHOOTIN' GRANDMA—Proud of the six-point buck which served as her own birthday present is 71-year-old Mrs. Madeline Balsley, of West Point, Calif., who shot the 170-pound animal on her birthday. "I just felt kind of chipper and wanted to go hunting," said the modest lady. "Now I'll have venison steaks for my grandchildren."

Anglers Want Chub Fishing Ban Dropped

State Fails to Follow Lead of Neighbors in Opening Season

ST. JOSEPH (UP) — Commercial fishermen in Michigan are up in arms over the state's failure to follow the lead of Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana in opening Lake Michigan to chub fishing during November to assist fishermen whose catches this year dropped 33 per cent under normal.

Lloyd Mollhagen, counsellor of the Grand Haven South Division of the Fishermen's Assn., said today that about three weeks ago Wisconsin was the last state to take off the restrictions.

Since that time Claude Verduin, secretary of the Wisconsin and Michigan Assn. of Commercial Fishermen, in negotiations with Fred Westerman, head of the fish division of the state conservation department, has tried unsuccessfully to get the ban lifted.

Westerman told the group that his hands were tied as it required action by the state legislature to have the 1-month closed season removed.

Charles Spangenberg, another fisherman in the St. Joseph area, said, however, that Westerman had emergency powers according to his understanding of the law.

Closed season for chubs dates back about 22 years and was concurrent with the lake trout spawning season. However, the sea lamprey has made the latter all but extinct in Lake Michigan. Chubs, normally consumed by the trout in numbers estimated as equal to the catch of commercial fishermen, teem in Lake Michigan in such large numbers that many are stunted in growth.

The U. S. government, aware of the over-population, has recommended an open season.

When asked to confirm or deny current rumors that the fishermen would defy the ban, Mollhagen replied, "It's too early to say anything about that. Let us just say we will do something. Right now we are searching for legal loopholes."

Fishing Fleet Reports Perch Population Big

LANSING — A bounteous perch population is reported this year by Michigan's Great Lakes commercial fishing fleet.

The huge crop has caused a drop in prices and fishermen are urging that now is the time to make use of one of nature's most productive moments. Many fishermen sell the fish retail in bulk or by the pound from docks at dozens of Great Lakes ports.

On Lake Michigan last year, the greatest supplies of perch came from Escanaba, Fayette, Garden, Muskegon, Saugatuck and South Haven. On Lake Huron, the ports of greatest supply were AuGres, Bay Port, Pinconning, Quanicassee, Sebewaing and Standish.

Hunters Asked to Report All Banded Birds

Metal Tags Attached to Ducks, Geese for Conservation Work

LANSING — Waterfowl hunters: Help your sport by reporting to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in Washington, D. C. if you bag a duck or goose bearing a metal leg band.

The Service needs the leg band from the bird and also needs to know where and when it was shot. You will receive an answer telling where and when the bird was banded and its approximate age.

Field workers throughout the continent spend conservation funds banding the birds. If hunters fail to follow through by returning the bands, the entire effort is wasted.

Field men in Michigan recently banded about 1000 mallards, black ducks and blue-winged teal at the Crow Island Marshes near Saginaw. They are trying to find out how many of these birds are taken locally and also what happens to the remainder.

Ask Extension of Deer Law

Conservation Office's Discretionary Power Over Herd to End

LANSING (UP) — Conservation department staff today recommended that the legislature be asked to extend a law giving the conservation commission discretionary power over the deer herd.

A law permitting the commission to set special seasons in the Lower Peninsula to reduce deer where they are overcrowded expires this year.

In a meeting to consider legislative matters, the staff recommended that the commission ask the legislature for an indefinite extension of the law.

Among other legislative proposals by the staff was for some kind of a permit system for admission to state parks.

Meeting Date Set

LANSING (UP) — The State conservation commission will hold its next meeting at Higgins Lake Nov. 4-5, it was announced Tuesday.

Scouting Reports Scare MSC Coaches

Eagles Sign Former SMU Halfback Miller

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles have signed former Southern Methodist halfback Don Miller in preparation for Saturday's battle with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

To make room for the rookie defensive back, the Eagles yesterday asked waivers on one-time Illinois halfback Don Stevens.

Miller was drafted by the Cleveland Browns for the 1954 National Football League season but was traded to Green Bay in a deal which brought quarterback Babe Parilli to Cleveland. Miller played two league games this year before his release by the Packers.

Unnecessary Birdie

BRAZIL, Ind. (AP)—This was one birdie Everett Goss didn't want.

Playing on the Brazil municipal course, Goss fired a nice shot to the eighth green. One of the crows flying about grabbed the ball in its claws and flew away.

Giants Set Major League Mark for Pinch Homers

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Dusty Rhodes and Company, otherwise known as Leo Durocher's powerful bench, set a major league record for the New York Giants in 1954 while leading both circuits with 10 pinch-hit home runs.

The Giants' output broke the mark jointly held by the 1932 Brooklyn Dodgers and the 1953 New York Yankees. Both clubs had seven.

Actually, Rhodes had to take a back seat to his roommate Bobby Hoffman in the pinch-hit category. Dusty, the surprise star of the World Series, connected twice during the regular season while Hoffman hit three circuits as a substitute batter to share individual honors with Joe Frazier of the St. Louis Cards.

Other Giant players to turn the trick were Bill Taylor (twice) Monte Irvin, Whitey Lockman and Hoot Evers, figures compiled by the Associated Press showed today.

Overall, there were 30 pinch-hit homers in the National League and 21 in the American, with every club except Cincinnati slamming at least one. Detroit had five, hit by Johnny Pesky, Walt Dropo, Jim Delsing, Bob Nieman and Fred Hatfield.

Others with a pair of pinch-hit blows were George Shuba of Brooklyn, Preston Ward and Sid Gordon of Pittsburgh and Joe Collins of the Yankees.

Lockman and Bill Skowron of the Yankees were the only major leaguers to wallop pinch-hit homers with the bases filled.

Roberts, the major leagues' gopher ball leader with 35, also gave up the most to pinch-hitters—three.

Bennie Stresses Offense at UM in Grid Drills

Oosterbaan Concerned Over Inept Play at Northwestern

ANN ARBOR (UP)—A new emphasis on offense was in effect on the University of Michigan's football practice field today.

Wolverine coach Bennie Oosterbaan ran his charges through the stiffest drill of the season Tuesday and placed full emphasis on the Wolverines' offensive striking power. It was the 1st all-out offensive drill of the season for the Wolverines.

Oosterbaan, apparently disturbed over Michigan's poor showing against Northwestern last week, said he would continue the offensive drills today in an effort to shapen the team for their homecoming battle with Minnesota Saturday.

Previously, Oosterbaan had ordered all light, defensive scrimmages for the Wolverines in an attempt to avoid injuries.

The Michigan coach said end Gerry Williams, who missed practice for the 2nd day because of a shoulder injury, probably will not start against Minnesota Saturday.

UD's Riley Second Among MVC Rushers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A veteran halfback, forced to play in mud and rain every game this fall, captured 2nd place in Missouri Valley rushing and 1st in punt runbacks last week with one of the top games of his career.

Lee Riley, Detroit senior in his 3rd season as a regular, sloshed 259 yards with the football against Villanova.

Riley was a ghost on punt returns with 135 yards on four, including touchdown runs of 39 and 58 yards.

His 110 yards rushing gave him 265 in four games. Oklahoma A & M's Earl (Earthquake) Lunsford leads with 462 in five, 7th best in the nation.

Grandelius and Devine Declare Boilermakers Are 'Really Tough'

EAST LANSING (AP) — Scouting report on Purdue, here next Saturday, has thrown a healthy scare into the Michigan State football coaches.

The MSC team worked late in Macklin Stadium last night until it was almost too dark for the ends to catch their passes.

Purdue upset MSC last year to nearly ruin the Spartan football chances. This year they beat Notre Dame — one point victor over Michigan State.

"Purdue could beat Notre Dame again," said assistant coach Sonny Grandelius, who scouted the game. "They're really tough. That was no freak.

"They used 41 players against Notre Dame. When they get here they will have only 38 but they can use all 38 against us."

"Only that 98 yard pass interception kept Purdue from beating Wisconsin," agreed MSC backfield coach Danny Devine, another scout. "They have an awfully good line and they have one end who looks to be about nine feet two inches tall."

In the late scrimmage last night there was one bad development for MSC rooters. Leroy Bolden, who insisted on getting into every workout, tried to hit a charging runner and went down with his bad left knee hurting again.

But Bolden still seems very much of a question mark for the Purdue game but the team physician says that Clarence Peaks, another slightly injured player, will be ready to go against the Boilermakers.

Warriors Announce Sale of Vet Guard

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors today announced the sale of veteran guard Paul Walther to the Fort Wayne Pistons.

The Warriors said the former University of Tennessee star was sold to Fort Wayne at his own request. No sale price was announced.

The Philadelphia National Basketball Assn. club obtained Walther from the now defunct Indianapolis Olympians before the start of the 1953-54 season. With the Warriors last year, Walther scored 421 points and had 220 assists.

Bids Still Being Taken for 'Any-Deer' Season

LANSING (AP) — Conservation director G. E. Eddy today said that applications are still being accpeted for permits to hunt in the Dec. 1 any deer season.

Through yesterday, the conservation department had received 62,350 applications. A total of 81,000 permits were authorized by the conservation commission to be issued for the special shoot in part of the northern 3rd of the Lower Peninsula.

Cubs Purchase Minor Loop Ace

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Thorpe, 19-year-old righthander who topped 1954 minor league won-lost pitching records with 28-4, has been purchased by the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs bought the 6-1, 170-pounder from their affiliate at Stockton in the Class C California League and he will report to the club's 1955 spring training camp at Mesa, Ariz.

Thorpe, becoming the first Cub ever to jump from Class C to the parent club, tied the California League's all-time record with his 28 victories. He pitched 32 complete games and worked 300 1-3 innings, also both new league records.

Thorpe yielded 266 hits, had 179 strikeouts and served 94 walks. His earned run average was 2.28.

OSU Soph Presses Ameche for Honors

Bobo, 'Horse' Clash Head-On This Saturday

Lewis, Matsock Are Others Well-Rated by All-America Board

CHICAGO (AP) — First roll call of potential Midwest All-America candidates today strongly hints that Wisconsin's heralded Alan (the Horse) Ameche, will get real competition Saturday from Ohio State's Hubert Bobo as fullback rivals.

Ameche and Bobo clash headon as the Badgers and Buckeyes meet at Columbus, Ohio, in a pivotal Big Ten game of unbeaten contenders which may go far towards resolving the conference title and a Rose Bowl bid.

This area's five-man selection board for the Associated Press 1954 national honor team has given surprising support to Bobo, 6-foot, 192-pound sophomore from Chauncey Dover, Ohio.

The regional board is composed of Brad Wilson, sports editor of the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch; Joe Doyle, sports editor of the South Bend, Ind. Tribune; Oliver Kuechle of the Milwaukee Journal; Hal Middlesworth of the Detroit Free Press; and Joe Wilson of Chicago radio station WMAQ.

Ameche and Bobo had plenty company in the initial rundown of standout performers in the Big Ten area.

Such other players were cited as quarterback Ralph Guglielmi and center Dick Szymanski of Notre Dame; halfback Howie Cassady and guard Jim Parker of Ohio State; end John (Thunder) Lewis of Michigan State; halfback Earl Smith and guard Cal Jones of Iowa; end Ron Locklin of Wisconsin, and guard Tom Bettis of Purdue.

Other standouts in the board's opinion included: tackle Frank Varrichione and halfback Joe Heap of Notre Dame; halfback Johnny Matsock of Michigan State; guard Jan Smid and center Jack Chamblin of Illinois; center Gary Messner of Wisconsin; and halfback Ron Drzewiecki of Marquette.

Midwest group also was favorably impressed by such visiting stars as halfback Dick Moegle and tackle Dick Rayburn of Rice; tackle Herb Gray of Texas; and halfback Aramis Dandoy of Southern Cal.

Mack Broke Up 2 Winners

New Owners Confident A's Will Rise to Heights as They Did Seasons Ago

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New owners of the Philadelphia Athletics are optimistic. They feel the club can again ascend the championship heights it once knew.

The A's have been down before and climbed back.

After Connie Mack vented his anger and disgust by selling all the stars of the team which lost four straight games to the miracle Braves in the 1914 World Series, Philadelphia set a new major League record, finishing last for seven successive years.

Mack tried hundreds of combinations during that period. From 1915 through 1921 he bought and traded players so quickly it was difficult for any two men on the team to get chummy.

The A's won only 36 games each in 1916 and 1919, and lost as many as 117 in 1916. In five of the seven dark years, the club collected more than 100 defeats.

The A's finally lifted themselves from the basement in 1922, finishing seventh. They were sixth in 1923, fifth the following year and second in 1925. Mack's youngsters battled the fabulous New York Yankees of Babe Ruth's heyday for the pennant in 1926, 1927 and again in 1928. The A's didn't quite make it, but they were coming.

The fans of Philadelphia and the nation began to read and talk about a big strapping kid named James Emory Foxx from a Maryland farm; a fire eating catcher named Mickey Cochrane; a polish outfielder — Al Simmons — who defied all tradition of batting stances by hitting with his foot in the bucket and a tall, lanky pitcher named Lefty Grove.

The A's had roly-poly Jimmy Dykes at third base, Joe Boley at shortstop and Max Bishop on second base. Mule Haas and Bing Misser played in the outfield with Simmons.

A husky pitcher, George Earnshaw, a wily southpaw, Rube Walberg, and the veteran Howard Ehmke were members of a great pitching staff. The A's were ready to roll and they did, three straight pennants in 1929, 1930 and 1931.

After the Athletics beat the Cardinals in the 1930 series and lost to these same Cards in 1931, Connie Mack did it again.

He broke up this team that had won 104, 102 and 107 games in the three pennant years, broke them up because the fans had tired of seeing them win.

The A's tumbled back into the depths of the American League. They finished third in 1932, and then failed to make the first divisoon for 15 years. They haven't won a pennant since 1931.

Terriers Top Lambert Rating

Boston University Is Stranger in Ranks of Eastern Leaders

NEW YORK (AP)—Boston University, never before rated among the Top Ten in Eastern football, went to the top of the Lambert Trophy ratings this week as it maintained its unbeaten status with a 41-19 victory over Syracuse.

The Terriers moved out one point ahead of Army in the ratings of the committee which names the East's leading team each season. Penn State, the leader for three straight weeks, dropped to fifth place behind Colgate and Boston College after losing to West Virginia. Navy, second last week, went down to seventh after a loss to Pittsburgh.

Howard Glock, 200-pound Army star from Pittsburgh, made six solo tackles, recovered a fumble on his team's 15-yard line and tossed a key block as Michigan bowed Army 26-7.

Top Welters Have Interest in Title Bout

Graham, Fuentes Will Watch on TV, Then Clash on Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There will be at least two television viewers with unusual interest in tonight's welterweight title fight between Kid Gavilan and Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia.

They are veteran Billy Graham of New York and Ramon Fuentes of Los Angeles, who are also well known in the game's welterweight division.

And Fuentes, at least, hopes eventually to get another crack at Gavilan and his title, if The Kid hangs on to it.

Graham won from Gavilan in 1950 but subsequently lost three times to him. At 32, Graham doesn't have much chance of engaging the champion again.

Fuentes is 29 but has had only 33 fights. One of his three defeats was by a decision to Gavilan in 1953.

'Shoes' Triple Winner 11th Time in Career

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker's 11th triple-winner day of the Tanforan meeting boosted him within 5 victories of 2,000 in his 6 years of riding.

Shoe was stopped narrowly in two other races by Merrill Faulkner on Revolcadero, $91.20 and Loose Shekels, $12.70.

Shoemaker's three winners were Blue Karim $5.40, Aussieland $4.90 and First Down also $4.90.

Lincoln Edges Eastern, 13-12

George Palaian Scores Important Extra Point in Junior High Tilt

An extra point was the margin of victory yesterday as Lincoln edged Eastern, 13-12, to move into a tie for 2nd place in City Junior High Football League standings.

Undefeated league leader Washington is in action today, entertaining Wever at 4 p.m. at Wisner Stadium.

Lincoln drew 1st blood in yesterday's game, when Gordon Bray threw a 25-yard scoring pass to Dan Proctor in the opening period. Bill Hayward ran 45 yards in the 2nd quarter to set up Eastern's 1st TD. Sterley DeVault plunged two yards for the marker.

Railsplitters struck again in the 3rd quarter, with George Palaian slicing eight yards for a score in the finale on a spectacular 55-yard pass-lateral play. Hayward passed 15 yards to DeVault, who in turn lateraled to Dennis McConkey, who went all the way. Extra point try fell short.

You Be the Quarterback

(Answer)

4. Fullback delay. Little chance of making six yards on a delayed play up the middle.

3. Field goal attempt. You are six points behind. If you miss, you surrender the ball on the 20, giving the opponents nine yards. If you make it, you still must score again.

2. Button-hook. A fair chance to make needed yardage. Incompletion leaves Tech with the ball on the 11, a tough spot.

1. Running pass. Best call. The Tigers need a T.D. It's getting a little late in the game. It's usually understood that this play gives a run-or-pass option and usually a choice of more than one receiver.

Teacher Return Expected Today

Carver School Board Agrees to Discuss Election Controversy

ROYAL OAK (INS) — Forty-seven teachers at the George Washington Carver school were expected to return to classes today after the school board said it would reconsider a recent election recount controversy.

The strike began Monday when 60 parents picketed in protest of the board's failure to order a recount of votes cast in a July election in which Lonnie Cash narrowly defeated Samuel Jackson for a board seat.

The Oakland County Circuit Court has ordered the recount but the school board had said it would appeal the order to the state Supreme Court.

Supt. of Schools Walter Buffington said a special board meeting probably would be called to discuss the matter and he added that the parents have agreed not to picket.

Berkley Votes New Bond Issue

$2 Million Scheduled to Erect 76 Rooms Via 5 Mill Boost

BERKLEY — A $2,000,000 bond issue and a five mill tax boost were approved by voters yesterday, by a 2-1 margin.

Two new junior high schools and additions to several elementary schools will be constructed. In addition to the $2 million, there is $200,000 left from a previous bond issue and a federal grant of $406,000, to build the 76 new school rooms.

Voters approved a five mill tax increase for 20 years for the bond issue, and another five mills for 10 years for operating costs.

PULASK, Tenn. (UP) — Three local farmers were telling a sheriff he couldn't search thei rhouse without a warrant when the house suddenly exploded in flames and burned to the ground.

PTA Head Reviews Summer Trip

WALLED LAKE — "Organizations centering around our homes, churches, schools and jobs are most important bulwarks in the preserving of democracy with its many advantages as we know them," Walled Lake PTA President Albert W. Marble told the executive board of the group recently.

Marble spent six weeks this summer touring cities in 14 countries in England, Europe, and the Caribbean area.

"In visiting with leaders in industry, schools, churches and cooperatives, I think that the majority felt that the questions of whether we are to have freedom, peace, security, and plenty in the future is going to be decided by means other than guns, atomic bombs and planes," he continued.

The group saw more than 500 pictures taken by Marble on his tour, showing the war time destruction, and the rebuilding that has been done. He visited both the east and west sections of Berlin.

"The parent teacher association must work long and hard to provide the facilities and staff for the finest education of our children possible, for in knowledge and intelligent action we are going to find the real bulwark against communism," he stated.

"It is not sufficient that we recognize and attack these problems only when it is convenient and easy for us to do so. Rather it becomes essential that we give generously of our time and substance now in the meeting of these problems head on so that we may lead the way in building the underdeveloped areas of the earth.

"In doing this we will create a periphery wherein a friendly and understanding peoples will insure our security and freedom," he concluded.

Should Hurricanes Have Girls' Names?

WASHINGTON (INS) — Unladylike hurricanes this season have caused some doubts in the Weather Bureau about keeping the feminine names by which they are known.

A spokesman said today that weathermen at the joint hurricane conference next January will debate erasing the temptuous blot on the supposedly more gentle sex.

But indications are some compelling reason will have to be advanced before use of girls' names is abandoned because they serve so well the purpose for which they are intended.

Chief Forecaster E. M. Vernon said public reaction has not been overwhelming in either direction.

He added: "We've had a lot of suggestions for changing the system of names, but some said they thought it was a fine idea. There is always more comment from people who don't like something."

The complaint was filed by Mrs. Orveta Abbott and Elmina Jarvis of Columbiaville and was signed by 180 persons.

They complained that Williams was guilty of various conspiracies to defeat justice.

DETROIT (UP)—Wilfred T. Connelly, state secretary of the Knights of Columbus, Tuesday sent telegrams to leaders of moves for and against the proposed charity bingo constitution amendment, saying his organization was maintaining a policy of neutrality on the issue. Special Meeting Brings Decision

Inspector Provided to Check Construction and Enforce New Law

By MILLIE TEMPLE
Pontiac Press Correspondent

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A new building code was adopted by the Waterford Township board at a special meeting last night.

The code will go into effect 30 days after publication, replacing the present one.

In addition to regulating building, it provides for a building inspector, for the issuance of permits and collection of permit fees, and for penalties for violation of the code.

Purpose of the measure is to provide minimum standards to safeguard life, limb, property and public welfare, insofar as building is concerned, according to the ordinance.

The code will be enforced by the building inspector or his assistant. The inspector is to be appointed by the township supervisor, with the approval of the township board.

His office will receive all building permit applications, issue all permits, and collect the fees.

Before a building permit will be issued, fees, based on the estimated cost of the work as determined by the inspector, must be paid.

Permits will expire in six months if the work is not diligently prosecuted, or the work ceases for six months, under the law.

Inspections must be requested 48 hours in advance, and no work can be covered or concealed until it has been inspected by approved by the inspector.

No building can be occupied wholly or in part, the ordinance reads, until a certificate of occupancy has been issued by the inspector.

No old buildings may be moved in or out of the township unless approved by the inspector. Old buildings must conform to the code in all respects, under the new law.

All plumbing systems shall be installed according to regulations of the state plumbing code. No plumbing or drainage system can be installed before a permit is obtained, nor can it be covered or used until inspected and approved by the inspector.

Any building declared unsafe, dangerous or unsanitary must be torn down or made safe.

All dwellings erected prior to the passage of this ordinance which do not meet the minimum health and sanitation requirements are declared sub-standard, and must be vacated or altered to comply with the requirements within ten days of notification to do so by the inspector, or the health officer, unless a greater period of time is allowed in the notification.

The township zoning board of appeals will consider all appeals from the decision of the building inspector. The board will not have the right to waive any of the minimum sanitary or structural requirements, but will act as an advisory group to assist in interpretation of the code and for approval of new building materials.

Any person violating the code, or who fails to comply with inspector's directives, will be guilty of a misdeamanor, and liable to a fine of not more than $100 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or both.

Minimum standards require a unit of at least two rooms and bath. In the case of a single family detached dwelling, minimum total floor area must not be less than 600 square feet.

Camp Discussion Begins Fall Girl Scout Meeting

A panel discussion on "Our Camp" opened the fall meeting of the Northern Oakland Girl Scout Council yesterday morning in Fellowship Hall of Grace Lutheran Church, Pontiac.

Presenting the pros and cons of the national organizations recommendations and standards about camps were Mrs. A. J. Stilwell, first vice president and coordinator of all camping for the Council; Mrs. Russell Kneale, from the Established Camp committee; Mrs. Jay Bendall, Day Camp chairman; and Mrs. E. L. Windeler, a mother and leader. Mrs. William Murray acted as moderator.

The panel clarified the three highly controversial issues — fees, lengths of camp periods, and day camps.

During the afternoon business meeting, the Council voted to have three two-week and two one-week sessions at Camp Sherwood next summer.

Dwight Adams, United Fund director, was a guest speaker on the morning program, explaining briefly the process of budgeting agencies.

Carolann Bingham, new field director for the Council was introduced by Mrs. Anders Hustvedt, executive director. Miss Bingham received her formal education at Carlton College, Illinois, and has a long background of scouting experience.

Reports showed that there are 3,594 Girl Scouts registered and that more than 200 troops are functioning already this fall. Nearly 1,000 active adults are also registered.

In other business, petitions for changing district boundaries were presented and unanimously accepted.

Avon Township and immediate surrounding areas became a new district. The upper parts of northwest and northeast — Holly, Davisburg, Ortonville, Clarkston, Gingellville, Orion and Oxford — also became a new district, as did Waterford Township and Sashabaw together.

The petitions of the South Lyon and New Hudson areas to become a part of this Council were accepted. Formerly operating as "lone troops", the two will now be a part of Northern Oakland's southwest district.

Tribute was paid to the late Anna Nusbaumer who was active in girl scouting here for more than thirty years.

English Scientist Wants New Name for U.S. Aid

EUGENE, Ore. (INS) — England's Julian Huxley, recognized as one of the world's greatest scientists, suggested today that the United States find a title for its assistance to other nations that would avoid the inference of "charity."

Huxley said "technical assistance is a dry term which implies charity. World development, or something similar, would be more inspiring."

The long-haired English biologist, now on a tour of the United States, told a press conference that he believed many nations resist U.S. foreign aid because it sems like charity. He emphasized that he should stress the fact that our aid is not charity but a joint enterprise.

Justice Court Auditor Creates Time Saving Recording System

By WILMA GREENWAY

A visit from the auditor is something every record-keeper dreads, but not so when the accountant is Gerald (Joe) Terrien, justice court auditor of Oakland County.

All 64 of the justices of the peace in Oakland County are ready to swear on oath that he's "a good Joe"—and not without reason.

For, by a judicious application of modern techniques and an adroit use of his pencil, Terrien has converted the unwieldy justice court record system into a streamlined one-form method. He has produced a single, multi-purpose form that cuts record keeping to one fifth for the busy justices.

"Why those fellows were struggling along with an antiquated system that had been in use for 250 years, and probably dates back to the time of Blackstone in England," declared the 34-year-old accountant, who lives with his wife and three children at 1370 Silverbell Rd. in Orion Township.

"In order to dispose of one traffic violation case, a justice had to fill out a fee slip, a certificate of conviction to the county clerk, a report to the prosecutor, a report to the secretary of state, and then make a longhand entry explaining the details and disposition of the case in a docket.

"That's five separate writing and five more checking operations.

"The handwritten docket entry alone usually took ten minutes or more and then chances are nobody could make out the writing."

The new form, which can be typed in one minute flat and probably takes an extra three minutes to handle and check completely, combines all these operations. In addition it provides a final filing copy which Terrien hopes may prove useful as a centralized source of identification for people with police records.

Terrien, who took over in 1950 as Michigan's only full - time justice court auditor, says the form wasn't made up on the spur of the moment.

"I noticed the need for a more efficient system right away," the accountant said. "But I had to get ideas and cooperation of the county clerk and prosecutor to work out a form that would meet their needs also."

Both those departments agreed to accept a unified carbon-copy record, and in 1951 a form that combined three records was put into use. Later an improved version was worked out which included the docket entry and copy for the secretary of state's office, combining five records.

Other counties have copied Terrien's form, and justices all over the state have expressed their enthusiasm for it.

The form has other possibilities, its originator says. Eventually he hopes it may save the county money by eliminating travel time and car expense for the auditor. By having the forms mailed in to a central office and auditing the records directly from the forms, up to 10,000 travel miles a year could be saved, he estimates.

Also, since every crime must go through justice court, the final copy of the form if filed alphabetically according to name, could provide an excellent identification system on criminals.

Terrien, who currently is recuperating from a leg injury sustained in an automobile accident, is spending his time figuring out new ways to make the justices' work easier. His latest idea is a plan for an indexed handbook which would serve as a quick information source on court procedures, filing of legal papers and on criminal case methods.

"Few people realize what a great service the justice of the peace performs for the community," Terrien says.

"Without him the circuit court would be jammed. Working on a parttime basis, for inadequate pay, he serves as the poor man's court.

"He saves marriages, puts erring juveniles on the right path, helps the small man to get equitable treatment.

Dior Double-Crossed by Cugat's Wife Abbe

By EARL WILSON

Miss Abbe Lane—the shapely singer who became Mrs. Xavier Cugat—in fact, she becomes him very much—just played a dirty trick on Christian Dior.

"I bought a jersey dress from him," confessed Abbe, now of Hollywood, "but made friends with one of his fitters. When the dress was finished, it wasn't flat and I wasn't either!" It happened when Abbe, originally a Latin from Manhattan, filmed "Americano" abroad.

ABBE LANE

"After looking at you every night, the only thing to do is kill your husband," telegraphed an admirer from Milan. The Spanish bullfighters gave her bulls' ears. Marion, the bullslinger who wrote poems to Ava Gardner, gave Abbe poems, too—"the same ones," she suspects.

★ ★ ★ ★

"I looked at Dior's dress for me," said Abbe. "It was flat. I said, 'Fine, but where are you going to put Abbe Lane?'"

Bob Hope Asks Chevalier to Be in 'The Cheat'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Bob Hope telephoned from Paris — yes, that's what I said — to tell me he's talking a deal with Maurice Chevalier to co-star in "The Cheat" for Paramount.

I am sure this won't ring a bell for many of you, but it does for me. "The Cheat" was made many years ago with Fanny Ward and Sessue Hayakawa, and, believe me it was a hit.

Maurice is a big hit at the Champs Elysee Theatre in Paris. He'll bring his one man show to New York later, and then he'll come to Hollywood to supervise the production of his life story for William Goetz.

With so many knocks printed against Hollywood, I'm always glad when news about a group like the Ameche family comes along.

Let me tell you that whole clan is jumping and jiving toward success. Don, who has been in New York in TV for some time, has just been signed to play the lead in the new Cole Porter - George S. Kaufman musical, "Silk Stockings," opposite Hildegarde Neff.

Jim, who is one of our slickest disk jockeys, had an album which he made of the "Rubaiyat of Omer Khayyam" released last week, which has already hit the big seller list.

One thing about going to Las Vegas, I always get myself some news. Talked with Irving Lazar, well known agent just back from London. He had come to the Sands Hotel to see Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healey, who are better than ever.

Irving said that Anatole Litvak is getting ready to film Terence Ratigan's "Deep Blue Sea" for Sir Alexander Korda, and he is lucky enough to have Vivien Leigh for the lead.

Vivian has to be finished by March 1 for a play commitment with Laurence Oliver so the picture will start soon in Paris. Opposite Vivien is Kenneth Moore, the young actor who was a sensation on the stage in Ratigan's play.

In Las Vegas at the Desert Inn, Betty Hutton gives a show that surpasses anything she has ever done. She brought her mother and her sister to the stage and they sang with her, then as a finale she brought out her two children, Lindsay, 8, and Candy, 6, who also sang.

I went backstage to see Betty and Alan Livingston had flown up to be with her over the weekend. I doubt if Betty could keep up this pace for long — no one could — but what a gal, and what a talent!

From the way Betty works and the enjoyment she gets out of the applause, I'm still betting she won't give up her career. Doris Day, who is considering an engagement there, was at the Desert Inn with Marty Melcher.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Donald O'Connor spent several days in Midway Hospital for a check-up. The good news that he has been made a member of ASCAP made him feel better.

From Paris I hear that bullfighter Luis Dominguin, once Ava Gardner's romance, is getting around with Annabella.

Dorothy Shay, who opens at the Statler Thursday night, has herself the most expensive wardrobe of her career.

Producer Sam Marx is taking Rory Calhoun off a horse and putting him into a tuxedo to play the role of a sophisticated millionaire who married a chorus girl in "Third Girl From the Right," at U-I.

Bob Stack is rewooing Claudette Thornton via long distance telephone. He sent her a gold bracelet just to let her know he still cares.

Killer Overlooks 2 Clues in Death on Lovers' Lane

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. (AP) — The identity of a bullet-riddled body found in a lover's lane rested today on two clues apparently overlooked by the killer.

One was an affectionate note; the other a laundry mark in the slain man's shirt and trousers. They were stamped "Fox."

The victim, in his late 20s or early 30's, had been shot six times —once in the head, three times in the chest, and twice in the back.

Police said the man had been dead about 13 hours before two men searching for firewood stumbled across the body yesterday.

The note crammed into a watch pocket started out "Hi, Honey, I love you," and was signed Harriett and Ronnie Jr. Since the contents indicated the note was from the man's wife, police theorized his name also may have been Ronnie.

• • •

Robbery apparently was the motive but Middlesboro Police Capt. Cecil Grubbs said the man's wallet and other possessions may have been removed to throw them off the trail.

Petersen Case Involves Holland

Netherlands Named as Nation Which Allegedly Got Secret Data

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Some of the mystery surrounding the Petersen espionage case has evaporated with the naming of the Netherlands as the foreign country involved.

This had been a well-kept secret since Oct. 9, when FBI agents seized Joseph S. Petersen Jr.

Official confirmation late yesterday followed disclosure by a non-government source that the Netherlands is the nation which figures in the charges against the long-time employe of the hush-hush National Security Agency.

Official statements in Washington and the Hague said the Netherlands acted in good faith.

A federal grand jury, meanwhile, was called into session here for the third day to try to decide whether to indict Petersen on charges of "improperly taking" secret defense documents.

The jurors gave every indication of being in no hurry to wind up their deliberations.

The charge on which Petersen, 40, was arrested nine days after he was fired from his $7,700-a-year job as a research analyst with the National Security Agency:

That from about March 1, 1948, to about Dec. 31, 1952, he obtained classified documents and national defense information "with intent or reason to believe" it would be used to the injury of this country and the aid of another.'

Petersen has declined to discuss his case, but his attorney, David B. Kinney, has said he had no intention of injuring this country.

In the Hague, a high Dutch official said the Netherlands had obtained information from Petersen under the impression he was authorized to give it out.

Girl, 12, Locates Dad Via 'Lost and Found'

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Police Department's "lost and found" department found Mary Ann Perkins' daddy for her.

Mary Ann, 12, of St. Louis, wrote in a letter received Monday asking police to help locate her father. She said his name is Lee Perkins and that he is from Vicksburg, Miss. Her letter was addressed to "Police Headquarters, Lost and Found Department, Chicago."

Sam Perkins, a construction worker, told the missing persons bureau yesterday he is Mary Ann's father and that he would telephone her that everything's okay.

Mother Going Out 'Alone' Causes Minor Revolution

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

NEW YORK (INS)—Just about any wife or mother† alive can start a minor revolution in her family by saying casually, "I'm going to the movies tonight—alone."

Or "I'm going out for a walk" or "I'm taking the car tonight. I won't be long—just feel like a drive."

Try it yourself and see.

You have to say it pleasantly, of course. There can't be any tinge of the blues in your voice or manner, no hint you're feeling unappreciated, unwanted, unhappy or any of those gloomy "un" words.

But if you're usually in a happy frame of mind with your spouse and your children, and then get off some such line as those above, they'll all look at you as if you'd just shot off firecrackers in their soup.

"Alone?" their voices will rise half a scale in height, shrill with surprise and disbelief.

"You actually would rather leave us behind?" is what the surprise and disbelief indicate. "Charming wonderful people like us?"

It never occurs to many of our dearly beloveds that life can be beautiful—in short doses—without them.

Not that they're egotists, or conceited, or just plain stuck on themselves—of course not. It's just that at any age they get so used to being the very core of existence for that one woman they call 'Ma" or "Mom" or "Dear" or Darling" or "The Missus" that it fairly keels them over to discover she'd actually enjoy taking a brief breather from them now and then.

But to get your effect, you have to be cagey! To say "I'm running over to Molly's for an hour" won't do the trick. That's just the need to swap recipes or gossip or confide—it's part of the usual image the world has of you anyway.

To be "off to a meeting" or on your way to church or even a girl's bridge game—none of these purposeful and specific things will serve to kick up that nice minor revolution I'm talking about.

It's got to be something that isn't very important in itself, that's perfectly familiar when hubby and kids go along too—but all of a sudden is a big adventure and a big headline just because they're not.

My closest friend, a widow in her middle-forties, tried this out recently—and a happier little earthquake never developed with so little damage and so little cost.

"There's a revival of some old Hitchcock films," she said at the table one evening to her two tall teenage daughters. "I'll catch the early show and be back around eleven."

"Without us?" they both asked at once.

"You could come too," she said dubiously, "if you're going to get miffed about not coming."

"It's not a question of being miffed," the older one said, "but —"

"Fine," she responded quickly, "Then I'm off by myself."

If they'd still been in the baby-sitting era, of course, she couldn't have done it; if they were insecure or over-sensitive or any of a dozen other things, she'd have been too worried and guilty to even think of it.

As it is, off she waltzed on an innocent little excursion and when she came back she found the dishes done, and her daughters eyeing her with a funny new light of inquiry in their young eyes.

"As if they hadn't realized for years," she said, "that they had any rivals for my interest or attention—not even revivals!"

Disarmament Talk by Russia Held Only Ruse

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U.S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth says the United States suspects the Soviet Union of planning world conquest "behind their facade of disarmament statements." He called on Moscow to accept effective inspection and full international controls on disarmament.

In a speech to the U.N. Assembly's political committee during the closing stages of a debate on disarmament, Wadsworth said the long discussion had shown "the differences between the Soviet Union and the free world are almost as great as ever."

Wadsworth urged the committee to accept a Canadian resolution which would have the Disarmament Commission create once more a five-power group, made up of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Soviet Union, to continue secret negotiations on disarmament. But he did not hold out much hope of success.

Pontiac Motor Expands Facilities for New Car

Scarcity Gives Soybeans Lift

CHICAGO (AP)—Failure of a single car of cash soybeans to show up on track at Chicago today gave soybean futures a much needed lift after two declining sessions on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans advanced several cents at one time under quite aggressive demand with dealings active. Wheat continued its upward climb, although running into more opposition than it faced earlier this week. Corn also was in a familiar pattern, heading downward.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ¼ higher, December $2.18⅞, corn ⅛ to ¼ lower, December $1.52½, oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 79¾, rye unchanged to ⅞ higher, December $1.35¼, soybeans ¾ to 2 cents higher, November $2.72¾ and lard 5 to 30 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $17.20.

Suggest Moving School for Boys

Officials Ask Vocational Institution in Lansing Be Abandoned

LANSING (AP) — The state welfare director and head of the Boys' Vocational School recommended to a legislative committee today that the school's 90-year-old site here be abandoned and a new school be built in southeastern Michigan.

The recommendation came from W. J. Maxey, state welfare director, whose agency controls the school, and Supt. Robert H. Wisner of the school. It was made to a special legislative committee considering proposals to sell the institution and move it elsewhere.

Maxey and Wisner proposed a three-unit institution. One part, they said, should consist of two schools — one for incorrigibles and sex offenders and the other for boys who can be rehabilitated — to be located on at least a half-section of land in an area bounded by Flint, Lansing, Detroit and Jackson.

The other unit, they said, should be a temporary detention home to which homeless boys could be sent while boarding homes can be found for them. This should be located north of the Bay City-Muskegon line, they said.

Counterfeit Ten-Spot Dates Back to 1895

MEMPHIS (UP) — Treasury agents have turned up a counterfeit $10 bill but doubt they'll be able to apprehend the man who printed it.

The bill found in an attic by Mrs. S. W. Gill of Jackson, Tenn., was made in 1895.

Prices Higher in Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Share prices headed higher in early dealings in the stock market today. Gains of a point or better were scattered through the list.

The rails, steels and aircrafts posted the best initial gains, but there were indications that the rally would embrace most other sections of the market.

Douglas Aircraft, whose directors are expected to declare a dividend today, opened on 2,000 shares up 1½ at 94½, on top of a three-point advance yesterday.

Inland Steel paced the steels with a gain of two points. Schering Corp., pharmaceutical manufacturer whose shares advanced a point yesterday, was ahead almost that much again today.

Also up around a point were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, United Aircraft, Zenith, Western Union, Pullman, Westinghouse Electric, and Kennecott Copper. Most rail shares gained good-sized fractions.

TESTING NEW ENGINES — Pontiac's new Strato-Streak V-8 engine is automatically brought into position by a conveyor over one of the 46 test stands of a merry-go-round continuous-flow testing operation in Pontiac Motor's new multi-million dollar engine plant. The unique testing operation at the completely new plant is part of the fully automated machinery now producing V-8 engines to be introduced in the 1955 Pontiacs.

Plant Capacity Is Half Million

Automation Plays Big Part in Manufacturing V8 Engine

Robert M. Critchfield, general manager of Pontiac Motor Division yesterday afternoon told automotive writers and other newspapermen of the division's plans for the coming year, at a press showing of the new 1955 cars. His address, in part, follows:

We feel we have an outstanding product this year. Mr. Crawford (Pontiac sales manager) has told you of fine reactions at dealer meetings.

Their enthusiasm for our new car was unbounded. Any number of dealers who have been with Pontiac since the first model was introduced, confirmed what we already believed—that the 1955 Pontiac is the most outstanding of any car model that they have ever seen.

Not only does this car have outstanding styling, distinctive beauty, newness, power and performance, but it carries with it Pontiac's long-established reputation for economy, reliability and durability. We have spared no effort or expense to insure all these.

In addition to over three and a quarter million miles of testing on experimental engines, engineering scheduled extensive tests including both road and dynamometer, on engines built with production tools. Thirty some production built engines have completed either a 10,000 mile accelerated road durability or a 100-hour dynamometer test at full load maximum speed. They have passed these tests with flying colors.

I think it is quite interesting and important to note that our in-line engines, as good as they have been, will only take 60 to 65 hours of dynamometer testing of the same type punishment that our V-8 engines easily carry for 100 hours.

We also have several cars well along on 50,000 miles durability runs at the proving ground. These cars are averaging better gas economy than has been obtained from any standard size cars ever tested there.

I have personally been driving a car with one of our new V-8 engines for the past year. It not only provides outstanding performance and economy of operation, but it is the smoothest engine I have ever put through its paces. It rightfully will take its place at the top in V-8 engine development.

Now I would like to tell you briefly about the plant behind this new product. We are just completing two major facilities programs.

One of these is the establishment of our new V-8 engine plant. This has been a very sizeable undertaking, involving the removal of nearly 500 pieces of equipment used in producing our in-line engines while carrying full production.

Then, the complete rehabilitation of our engine plant. The decision was made to use our existing engine building because:

1. It was the most logical and efficient location from an operation standpoint.

2. The building was of modern construction and suitable design.

To provide facilities for our V-8 engine manufacture, over 600 new machine tools have been installed in this plant, ranging from transfer machines costing upwards of one million dollars to small grinders. Every piece of equipment in this plant is new, specifically designed for the operation and the ultimate in accuracy and low production cost.

ROBERT M. CRITCHFIELD

The second major facilities program covers the expansion of all of our manufacturing plants in line with the corporation's billion dollar expansion program Mr. Curtice announced last January.

This involved every phase of our operations including expansion of the foundry including buildings and the purchase of several million dollars worth of equipment.

Expansion and rearrangement of our differential and axle plant, with 150 some new pieces of equipment involved:

Occupation of our new building No. 14 as a sheet metal plant. This required moving a large number of presses from the old sheet metal plant to make room for some other expansion programs, plus the acquisition of a considerable number of large new presses.

The addition of a second multi-million dollar plating line in our plating plant. Also automatic polishing and related equipment.

A new car finish building with the latest in ovens, painting, water-testing, air conditioning installation and other related facilities.

A new factory retail delivery building.

This program is essentially completed and gives Pontiac a capacity of nearly half a million cars a year without overtime. Furthermore, I believe that this plant is the most efficient in the industry—not only in the way of processes and processing equipment—but also with regard to relative plant locations, permitting the most efficient flow and handling of parts.

Our assembly building is the hub of this arrangement. On one side is the foundry and engine plant, with the natural flow of castings through machining and engine assembly to the chassis line.

There has been a lot of conversation this past year about horsepower and a horsepower race, so to speak.

Without getting involved in this discussion let me say that we are in the technological race and we firmly believe we are leading the pack.

Assuming that we have the car of the year and excellent facilities for its production, how about the market?

All indices of our country's economic status point to a steady improvement.

Our country's gross national product is now trending upwards whereas a year ago, the trend was down.

Disposable personal income is running 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago, and over 8 per cent higher than this time in 1952.

Personal spending is running at a higher rate than last year at this time.

Unemployment is at the lowest level of the year.

We estimate that there will be a market for a minimum of 5,500,000 cars this coming year.

Now, as to Pontiac's participation in this market, our dealer organization has been tested, improved, and strengthened this past year.

Our dealer sales staff is at its peak, both in numbers and in ability.

There will be a good clean-up of our '54 models.

Dealer used car stocks will be low at announcement time.

Both we and our dealers expect to start strong and continue at a high rate of sales throughout the year.

With our new car, our fine facilities and the value that they represent, we expect to gain very materially with respect to our competition.

We expect to lead in registrations in the medium price group and sell a minimum of 450,000 cars. We are confident that we have the product and value to do just this.

Children's Faith Target of Reds, Says Refugee

CHICAGO (INS) — A former Soviet school teacher testified today that the Russian Communists encouraged children to reject belief in God.

The teacher, Wasil Pontus, 44, appeared before a House sub-committee presided over by Rep. Fred Busbey (R-Ill), which moved into its second day of hearings in Chicago on Communist aggression and atrocities in satellite Baltic countries.

Pontus told the subcommittee: "Some parents would continue to teach Christianity to the children, others would not. Of those that continued, many were deported.

"Those who removed religious pictures from their walls were looked upon as heroes and the children received favors."

Pontus, a displaced person who came to this country in 1950, testified through an interpreter.

Slays 5 in Family, Self; Debts Hinted

BROOKLYN, Miss. (INS) — A U. S. soil conservation worker today killed his wife and three children and his brother in Brooklyn, Miss., and then turned a shotgun on himself apparently because he was in debt.

Perry County Sheriff Dee Hammett said he has been unable to arrive at an official motive for the mass slaying, which he termed "the worst in the history of the state."

The sheriff added, however, that Leo Pierce, the killer, was known to have been heavily in debt to his brother.

The bodies of Pierce's wife and three children, Charles 6, Fifta, 4, and Abin, 2, were found in the blood-smeared bedroom of Pierce's fashionable Brooklyn home.

On the table was a paid-up insurance burial policy for the whole family.

State Awards Contract

LANSING (UP)—The State Administrative Board Tuesday awarded contracts totaling $1,333,465 for construction of a new physical education building at Western Michigan College in Kalamazoo.

Curtice Returns From Europe

GM Head Is Impressed by Economic Recovery Since End of War

General Motors Pres. Harlow H. Curtice, arriving home from a three-week tour of GM plants in Europe, said he was most impressed with the strong economic recovery made there during the post-war period.

"Industrial productivity is showing rapid improvement and there is an accompanying rise in the living standard.

"Europe's remarkable progress has come a good deal more rapidly and appears to be on a sounder basis than even the most optimistic of us believed possible a few years ago," he said.

Telling of completed plant expansion in England, Germany, Belgium and Switzerland, Curtice said additional expansion projects are in the making for GM plants in Sweden, Copenhagen and France.

Donald Hildebrandt, electrical distribution superintendent for Consumers Power Company's southeast Division here, will take the same position with the utility firm's Saginaw Division, officials said today. Hildebrandt, who came here in 1948 from Muskegon, has been with Consumers for 24 years.

Rights Acquired by Carol Irwin

Ex-Reporter Decided Sketches Must Move, Also Have Children

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman is producer of the Mama sketch on TV, and that may be one of the reasons for its popularity and longevity.

Six years ago Carol Irwin acquired rights to the book," Mama's Bank Account" by Kathryn Forbes, and took a kinescope recording of the first script to the network. Since then more than 200 chapters have been flashed on the home screens.

Another woman, Peggy Wood, also has been an important element in the program. She plays the lead role of Mama.

Miss Irwin says that from the beginning she laid down a schedule to which she has closely adhered. "I decided the characters and the chronology should move with the years," she said. "When the story began it was set in San Francisco in 1910. Today Mama and Papa Hansen and their brood are all five years older and the background now is the San Francisco Exposition of 1915.

"Furthermore, I always want to have a child in the cast. That's why last year we exploited the sub-teen adventures of our first child Dagmar (played by Robin Morgan, graduate of Juvenile Jury.) We expect to make Mama a grandmother"

In discussing her apprentice years Miss Irwin says that "to avoid going to college I went to art school."

"But I didn't learn to paint," she went on. "I learned 'to see.' Hereafter during a short period as the world's worst reporter in Philadelphia I found out how to do research.

"But I was forced to write when I became program manager of WCAU, Philadelphia, and originated 'The Second Mrs. Burton' (now a daily radio serial). When I married and came to New York I worked for two advertising agencies where I bought or developed programs and cast talent. That experience proved highly valuable when I became a producer for the Radio Theater Guild."

Miss Irwin explained that the effect she has sought to develop in the Mama sketches is "sentiment without sentimentality."

Ritchie Admits Hoax in Reuther Shooting

LONDON, Ont. (UP) — Donald Ritchie, 34-year-old ex-convict, testified at a deposition hearing Tuesday that he made up his story about the attempted assassination of CIO President Walter Reuther in 1948 because the was "drunk and needed money."

Earlier his year, Detroit Police started legal proceedings against four men named by Ritchie in a statement which said he was a "witness" to the shooting of Reuther.

The CIO United Auto Workers Union gave Ritchie $10,000 for his "information" about the shooting.

Carl Renda, who was named as the pay-off man in the shooting in Ritchie's statement to Detroit police, is suing Detroit on charges of false arrest.

The deposition is being taken from Ritchie here in connection with Renda's suit.

Hal Boyle Says:

Overweights Anonymous After 55,000 Tons of Fat

NEW YORK (AP) — If all goes well, Claire Mann will reduce the supply of American womanhood by 125 tons by the end of this year.

"It isn't very much, is it?" sighed Miss Mann, founder of Overweights Anonymous, who pointed out there are some 18 million women in this country who have eaten themselves out of shape.

Her goal is to get all these plump ladies to lose an average of six pounds each, or a total of 54,000 tons of femininefat. If loaded on the battleship Missouri, this weight would probably sink her. Converted into tallow, it could be made into a candle big enough to light a city. Might be a good idea, too. Make a splendid monument to the sex.

Claire, who has a daily women's show on station WABD-TV, started Overweights Anonymous three years ago, frankly patterned it after Alcoholics Anonymous in many ways.

"Overweight and alcoholism, after all, spring from the same emotional causes," she said. "The problem is psychological, not physiological."

The main theory behind OA is that obese people who are unable to solve their problem on an individual basis often are able to do so when they attack it by group therapy.

"Sometimes you have to identify yourself with other people's problems in order to realize your own," said Miss Mann. "Overweight people simply have substituted the love of food for the love of life. By recognizing this, they can help each other to learn to do the reverse.

The motto of OA is, "don't put off for tomorrow what you can take off today."

In three years the organization has grown to 100,000 members. There are no dues. The members meet at each other's homes in groups of 5 to 10 twice a month, and Miss Mann distributes free diets and exercises at her own expense.

But OA differs from AA in one important respect. If a member feels an overwhelming urge to indulge in a chocolate eclair, she can't telephone a fellow member to come racing through the night to save her from temptation.

"As a matter of fact, if a member scales down her poundage, she must maintain the weight loss for at least six months or be dropped from the rolls," said Cizire firmly.

Those who do reduce to the weight they desire are encouraged to be more active in community and charity work to give them an outlet for their new energy.

Ninety-nine per cent of OA members are women, but a male member holds the weight loss championship. He is an engineer who in three years dropped from 295 pounds to 172 — a loss of 122 pounds.

Just one more proof of the old truth that a good man can beat a woman at anything.

Miss Mann, a former ballet dancer and pianist, became interested in therapy as the result of an accident. The accident was a collision in which she suffered a broken back. She was told she would never be able to dance again, might not be able to walk.

After six months in a hospital, she set out to rehabilitate herself. She went to Vienna and studied psychology and anatomy, worked out her own system of exercises to rebuild her wasted muscles.

Her stubborn will worked a miracle. She recovered completely, then opened a studio to help other people with physical and mental problems.

An attractive green-eyed blonde, Miss Mann weighted 138 pounds as a dancer, now weighs 112.

"The diet in my case," she said wryly, "was pain."

Unlike Sisters in West Zone

Soldiers' Wives in Berlin Keep on Good Behavior

BERLIN (INS)—Berlin may be a "hot-spot" in the cold war—but there's something about it that seems to keep Army wives on their good behavior.

U.S. Army authorities in Heidelberg recently announced that an average of six Army wives are shipped out of Germany monthly as undesirables.

But none from Berlin.

According to official Army records during the past two years only one army wife left Berlin without her husband, because of marital difficulties. An Army spokesman said note has been expelled from Berlin because of bad conduct or breaking Army regulations, during the past two years.

It may be that Army personnel sent to Berlin are carefully screened before they even are assigned to this outpost behind the Iron Curtain. Thus potential troublemakers probably never get stationed in Berlin, one observer said.

Berlin Army authorities have had far less trouble with misbehaving wives than have Army officials in West Germany.

But in Berlin, Army officials have never even considered making such a move. They see no reason for it.

Army wives stationed with their families in Berlin are in a rougher spot than their sisters in West Germany. To take a weekend drive, out of Berlin, Americans must get official orders issued by the Army. Then they have to drive 110 miles through the Soviet Zone to West Germany.

Consequently, the majority of American families in Berlin are "cooped in." By all rules of logic this should cause more of the Army wives to kick up their heels and disobey Army regulations. But just the opposite happens.

As one official commented: 'Probably the pressure of living in Berlin, surrounded by the Soviet army, has a steadying effect on the girls."

About 25 per cent of all the food consumed in the U.S. in one year is served in public eating establishments.

Nightingale Anniversary

Nursing Marks 100th Year

LONDON (AP)—One hundred years ago tomorrow a determined and dedicated English nurse set sail for the Crimea, where Britain and France were at war with Russia.

Reports of suffering among the sick and wounded soldiers had aroused Britain's secretary of war, Sidney Herbert. He sent the nurse —Florence Nightingale—on a historic mission of mercy.

In the utter confusion of battlefield casualty stations, the 34-year-old nurse fought through snarls of military red tape to organize effective care for the sick and maimed. The death rate in her hospitals dropped from 42 per cent to 2 per cent.

Among her staff of nurses were five nuns from Our Lady of Mercy Convent in Bermondsey, the first Roman Catholic convent established in England after the reformation. Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster, Britain's leading Catholic churchman, has scheduled a high mass in their memory.

After the Crimean War, Miss Nightingale returned to England and turned her battle-tested talents to reform of civilian hospital care.

In 1907, when she was 87, she was awarded the Order of Merit, one of Britain's highest honors.

America's 1st Ironworks Returns to Original Glory

WASHINGTON—America's earliest successful ironworks rises intact again beside the Saugus River in Massachusetts.

Hammersmith, as it was called, stood 10 miles north of infant Boston in Massachusetts Bay Colony. More than 300 years ago it was turning out iron pots and skillets, bars and rods for New England's Puritan settlers, the National Geographic Society says.

Now completely restored, the first ironworkes at Saugus becomes and outdoor museum ranking among the nation's foremost historic sites.

Hammersmith, dating from 1646, must have been the wonder of its time. It boasted a blast furnace, glowing forges, a huge water-lifted hammer, a slitting mill, ore pits, charcoal kilns, warehouse and wharf.

Skilled ironmongers as well as a number of indentured Scots emigrated from England to operate the furnace and forge. They passed their trade along to others; from Saugus thus sprang other ironworks all through the colonies.

Hammersmith itself fell into troubled times. By the 1670s, the foundry was abandoned and quickly became ruins.

Overgrown and buried beneath later development, Hammersmith might still be abscure had it not been for a group of dedicated New Englanders who began working for its restoration more than 15 years ago.

Hammersmith now stands complete—exact in every detail—as the original seat and model for an American industry destined to become enormous. At peak operations Saugus once produced a ton of iron a day. Now blast furnaces in the United States pour forth some 300,000 tons each 24 hours.

Japan Puts Storm Loss at 432 Million Dollars

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today estimated at 155 billion yen (432 million dollars) the property damage inflicted by last month's disastrous typhoon which took more than 1,200 lives.

More than 1,000 of the storm victims, including 60 Americans, died in the capsizing of a ferry Toya Maru.
