Flexible Wheat Supports Saved by Nixon's Vote

46 to 45 Ballot Rejects Higher and Rigid Prices for Milling Product

WASHINGTON (AP)—A tie-breaking vote by Vice President Nixon last night narrowly saved the administration's flexible farm price support program on wheat.

The 46-45 vote to reject a higher, rigid support level contrasted sharply with the 54-41 tally the day before on supports for cotton, corn and peanuts.

In addition to Nixon, 34 Republicans and 11 Democrats supported the administration stand, while 11 Republicans and 34 Democrats voted against it.

State Senators Split

WASHINGTON (AP)—Michigan's senators split again last night over flexible farm supports as the Senate knocked out of the farm bill 90 per cent price supports on milling quality wheat.

Sen. Potter (R-Mich) voted in favor of the amendment which killed the rigid support. Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) voted against the amendment.

The Nixon tally knocked out a special system of rigid price supports proposed for "quality milling wheat" and set off an angry parliamentary row that lasted for hours.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), who challenged decisions of Nixon and the Senate parliamentarian on the vice president's right to vote, in this particular parliamentary situation, promised to continue his battle Monday.

The Senate uproar over the wheat vote came after Senate clerks made a mistake and announced defeat of the higher supports by a 46-45 margin.

SEN. GREEN SWITCHES

Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) managed to get Sen. Green (D-RI), who had voted against high wheat supports, to switch his vote.

But a recheck showed only 90 votes cast with the actual tally then a 45-45 tie. Nixon broke it by voting to knock out the higher wheat supports.

The action, if sustained by the House, would leave the support price on wheat at the $1.81 a bushel fixed for this year's crop instead of raising it to about $2.26.

On Way to Basketball Game

Seven Teenagers Injured in Bloomfield Car Crash

Seven Bloomfield Hills High School students, en route to a basketball game in Farmington Township, were injured last night in a two-car collision on Lahser Road near Maple Road.

Four were treated for minor injuries. The other three were reported in "fairly good" condition in William Beaumont Hospital this morning.

Laurie Pinkerton, 15, of Clarendon drive, suffered possible internal injuries. Mary Ann Ogur, 15, of Jonathan lane, suffered a fractured collarbone and fractured arm.

Andree Gallaudet, 14, of Shadow lane, was treated by her physician in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being removed from William Beaumont. Nancy Lindbloom, 15, of Ardmore drive; Gretchen Baeder, 16, of Quarton road; and Frederick Guenther Jr., 15, of Old Mill road, all were treated and released.

According to Bloomfield Township police, Wetzel said Davis was driving south on Lahser road without lights at 7 p.m.

No tickets have been issued.

Cypriots Strike to Protest Ouster

Rebel Against England After Deportation of Greek Archbishop

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Thousands of Cypriots walked off their jobs in a paralyzing general strike today in protest against Britain's deportation of Archbishop Makarios III as a dangerous rebel.

Tough British paratroopers patrolled the streets of the Nicosia capital and other centers. They already had faced shotgun and bomb attacks in the night.

ARCHBISHOP MAKARIOS

The government said the strike hit the entire island. Almost all shops and firms in the capital were closed.

In the first stirrings of violent reaction, terrorists, fired shotguns at one patrol and hurled bombs at two others. Three men were wounded.

The British refused to say immediately where Makarios was taken.

Do U. S. Schools Take 'Listening' for Granted?

DENVER (AP)—The art of listening has been taken for granted too long in America's schools, a convention of elementary school principals of the National Education Assn. was told yesterday.

Dr. Helen K. Mackintosh of the U.S. Office of Education said this is borne out by the fact that most youngsters have difficulty grasping something presented to them orally alone.

"The average person," she said, "speaks the equivalent of a book a week; reads the equivalent of a book a month; writes the equivalent of a book in a lifetime—but listens to the equivalent of a book every day."

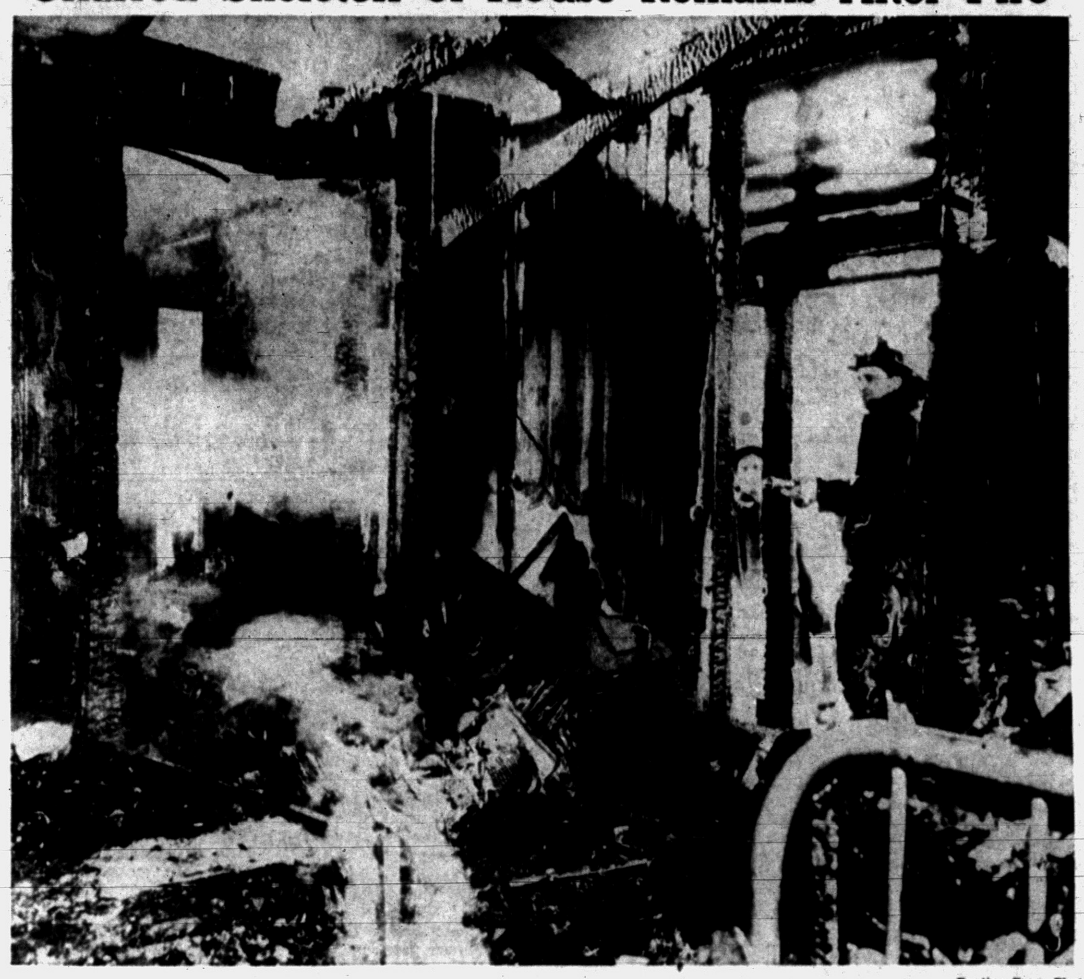

Impossible but True; Texan Dislikes Texas

SUBDUE KEEGO BLAZE — Keego Harbor firemen work to extinguish the still-smouldering fire which totally destroyed a two-family, six room house at 2914 Cordell St. yesterday afternoon. The fire was reported started by children playing with matches. Mrs. Betty Polson, 28, was critically burned while rescuing her baby, Frank, 6 months, from the fire.

Burns Critical as Flames Gut Keego Dwelling

Woman Dashes Through Blaze to Rescue Child; 2 Families Homeless

A Keego Harbor woman and her six-month-old baby, seriously burned when their house caught fire yesterday afternoon, still were in critical condition this morning in Pontiac General Hospital.

Mrs. Betty Polson, 28, suffered second-degree burns over 30 per cent of her body in a heroic dash through the blazing living room of the six-room house to rescue her baby, Frank.

Frank, had second-degree burns over 20 per cent of his body, hospital authorities said.

Keego Harbor firemen, who fought the blaze for two hours, said it started about 3 p.m. when one of the children was playing with matches in the living room.

The six-room, two-family house at 2914 Cordell St. was gutted, at an estimated loss of $2,500.

Three more Polson children — Ethel, 9; John, 6; and Eugene, 4—now are in the care of neighbors. Their father, John, is reported away from home.

Occupants of the rear half of the one - story frame building were William Francis, 51; his wife, Lovena, 38; and their children, Mae, 17, Robert, 15, Roger 10, and Bonita Sue, 8.

When the fire started, firemen said, Mrs. Polson was visiting Mrs. Francis in the back part of the house. Hearing the baby's cries, she ran around the house and into the blazing living room to Frank's crib.

The house and all its contents were a total loss, firemen said.

Royal Oak Man Highway Victim

Auto Rams Brick Wall After Running Into Side of Halted Vehicle

David L. Delson, 27, of 715 South Rembrandt St., Royal Oak, was dead on admittance to Beaumont Hospital early this morning after his car went out of control at 11 Mile Rd. and West Street.

Gloria Manross, 29, of 1418 South Main St., a passenger in Delson's car, is in serious condition at the same hospital.

Royal Oak police said Delson attempted to pass Joseph G. Sherman, 38, of 207 South West St., who had stopped to make a left turn.

Delson's car hit Sherman's, then ran up over a curb into the side of a brick wall.

Sherman and his wife Janet, who was in the car, were unhurt.

'Wealth of Taxpayers'

Population Strides Swell Oakland County Treasury

Oakland County is richer than ever. Some $10,982,262, more money than at any previous time, was on the books at the beginning of the month, according to County Treasurer Charles A. Sparks.

An increased number of taxpayers, attracting more and more funds for state-financed service, is the reason the record balance, Sparks said.

The peak was reached, he explained, mainly because the county's 57 cities, villages and townships last month delivered the bulk of 1955 tax collections.

Cash-on-hand represents almost a fourth of all money the county handled last year, Sparks said. The present sum, plus additional funds received this year, will be spent at a rate of $600,000 a week.

Only about 57 per cent of the present cash actually is earmarked for operating the numerous county offices and services, he said.

Most of the rest comes from the state in such amounts as $648,778 for the county road commission and $324,566 for the drain commission. Both agencies carry out state plans to improve the area.

Another $111,042, held for school libraries, represents money recently returned by the state from municipal and justice court fines.

Items such as these are mostly invested in banks, Sparks said, where the interest rate is one per cent.

Also placed in safe - keeping with the county is money from neither tax-payer or state, but which the treasurer is obliged to hold by virtue of his office.

This includes, for example, $25,720 in escheated estates—inheritances which for one reason or another heirs have not claimed. The county takes care of them for seven years, Sparks explained, then the state takes over.

Crash Injuries Fatal to Victim

Lapeer Man Dies Here of Effects of Head-on Collision Thursday

Eldred Thornton, 45, of Lapeer, who was injured in a headon collision on M24 at Brown Road Thursday, died yesterday afternoon in Pontiac General Hospital. Thornton suffered a concussion and possible fractured ankle in the crash.

He was a passenger in the car driven by Arnold F. Bullis, 44, of North Branch, who reportedly lost control of his car on a down-grade and crossed the center line of the road before hitting a car driven by 23-year-old Clifford E. Morris of 518 Orchard Lake Rd.

Both drivers were treated for minor injuries. Cecil E. VanHorn, 30, of Lapeer, a passenger with Bullis, was reported in satisfactory condition in Pontiac General Hospital yesterday, suffering multiple lacerations.

Two more Bullis passengers, Herman Kreger, 52, of Silverwood, and Orel D. Carson Jr., 20, of Lapeer, both were treated and released.

Collegian, 21, Youngest to Join Stock Exchange

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — A University of Pennsylvania undergraduate—just turned 21 years of age—has become the youngest member of the 1,300-member New York Stock Exchange.

Stephen M. Peck, a junior in the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, was elected to membership Thursday after buying the seat for $99,000.

The young financier—who says he owns just a few common stocks now—plans to engage in business on the exchange after completing college and military service.

He said the purchase—kept secret from his fellow students until it was official—was financed partly on his own and partly with the help of his father, Barney Peck, a member of the New York investment firm of Ernst & Co.

Missouri Mule Being Kicked Out for Show Horse

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Missouri mule, a standby of the biggest livestock show in its native state for 57 years, is being kicked out to make room for more show horses.

The American Royal Livestock and Horse Show will drop the mule from competition next fall.

"We had many more requests for stall space for show horses than we could handle," E. M. Dodds, president of the Royal, explained. "As a result we decided to eliminate the mule competition from the show and turn the staff space over to the show horses for the show this year (Oct. 20-28)."

The Missouri mule - tenacious hard-working and even considered a thing of beauty by some of its fanciers—owes much of its reputation to the Army.

A mule named Verdun was the most widely known mascot of World War I. He belonged to the 15th U. S. Field Artillery which held the lines in the memorable battle of Verdun.

An estimated 68,000 mules were casualties in the first World War. And in World War II the mule was used extensively by both the United States and its allies.

Superintendent Reports to 'Stockholders'

City Schools Face Challenge of Growth

By BURDETT STODDARD

In maintaining a sound school program "there is an obligation to strive for continuously better instruction and learning," Pontiac Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said today.

Whitmer summed up the school system's present status and plans plus goals his staff and the Board of Education hope to achieve "with the cooperation of local citizens.

"This is a report to the stockholders," said Whitmer, "because schools are an investment of your money, children and concern in the future of Pontiac and our country."

Pontiac schools represent a multi-million dollar enterprise with a current operating budget of $5,595,020, some 17,835 students, 975 employes, 27 school buildings, an buildings.

"However, the importance of this enterprise lies in the contribution to the intellectual, physical, moral, social and emotional development of children and thus to the welfare of our society in general and Pontiac in particular.

Toward these objectives, the schools staff is introducing an expanded testing program designed to aid students in selecting a vocation and pinpointing any shortcomings in their education which might be corrected.

A review of the senior high educational program is under way as the first step in planning a second senior high, due for opening in September of 1958, said Whitmer.

The junior high program is also being revised to assure each pupil three full years of English, mathematics, history, geography and civics plus lesser amounts of science, physical education, industrial arts, homemaking, music, speech and dramatics.

The board attempts to secure the best teachers possible by maintaining a salary schedule which compares favorably with others in the state and conducting an active recruiting program.

Increased assistance to teachers from supervisory persons is encouraged and teacher - education activities carried on including (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Accuse Police in Tunis Riots

Officials, Newspapers Charge French Forces 'Shirked' Duties

TUNIS (INS)—Tunisian officials and a newspaper accused French police today of "shirking" their duties during yesterday's riots in which a rampaging French mob stormed and sacked the U. S. Consulate General and information center in Tunis.

* * *

The anti-nationalist French settlers also wrecked the offices of two Nationalist newspapers.

One of the rioters was killed by a pistol shot before police succeeded in clearing the streets.

Downtown streets were littered with debris near the sacked buildings and heavily-armed police and army reinforcements were stationed at strategic points throughout the city.

One of the sacked newspapers, Le Petit Matin, today published an account of the riots and accused the police of failing to cope with the mobs.

* * *

The other newspaper, Al Amal, did not publish because its presses were badly damaged in the rioting.

(In Washington, the State Department said it had expressed its "concern" over the riots to the French government.)

The French High Governor in Tunis, Roger Seydoux, telephoned the American consulate in Tunis to express his "deep regrets" about the incident.

* * *

The mob of Frenchmen, who generally regard Americans as being anti-colonialist and pro-nationalist, was aroused by the murder of two French brothers by Tunisian guerrillas.

Military Suggestions Being Kept Secret

WASHINGTON (INS) — Military recommendations drafted by the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Puerto Rico this week will be kept secret until after they have been submitted to President Eisenhower.

* * *

A high Defense Department official said today that before they are made public the President will be given an opportunity to accept or reject the recommendations, which are designed to adapt the Armed Forces to the requirements of the guided missile age.

* * *

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, on his return from visiting with the chiefs of Ramey Air Force Base in Puerto Rico, was unusually reticent in discussing the subject of the high-level meeting.

Wilson, greeted by newsmen at Washington National Airport Friday afternoon, would say only that "some changes" in the Armed Forces will be made as a result of the Puerto Rico session.

* * *

Asked whether the meeting involved an adaptation of combat forces to the use of guided missiles, Wilson said that the meeting has provided "a realistic reappraisal of all our long-range problems."

Kavanagh Gives Ruling on Inland Lake Bridges

LANSING (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh held today counties do not have authority to build bridges on navigable inland lakes.

The opinion was issued in answer to a question from Jerry J. O'Connor, Cass County prosecuting attorney.

* * *

O'Connor asked whether the county road commission could legally construct a bridge from the mainland to an island in Diamond Lake.

Kavanagh said the state is committed by the constitution to the legal proposition that any delegation by the state of the power to bridge navigable waters must be clear and explicit.

Policy of India Satisfies Dulles

Optimistic After Confab With Nehru Concerning Aid to Pakistan

NEW DELHI (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today after discusions with Prime Minister Nehru of India, that he saw "no occasion for any change in our policies toward each other."

* * *

Dulles told a news conference he considered those policies basically friendly. He sought to assure Indians that U. S. military aid to Pakistan would not be used against India.

"India should be confident that Pakistan will not use arms for aggression against India," Dulles said. "If Pakistan did, its government knows it would mean a quick ending of good relations between the United States and Pakistan.

"And the United States would be on India's side if the matter was brought before the United Nations."

Dulles' support earlier this week at the SEATO meeting in Karachi of Pakistan's demand for an immediate plebiscite in the disputed Himalayan state of Kashmir provoked angry outbursts in India.

The capital of Nicosia seemed stunned in the first hours at word that the British had whisked their spiritual leader and three of his lieutenants in a giant Royal Air Force Hastings transport. Church bells tolled. Shopkeepers rolled down their shutters.

Reaction abroad was swift.

Greece recalled its ambassador to London and complained to the United Nations. Political leaders in Greece called the action "astounding . . . brutal." In Athens, students stormed through the streets. Riot squads were rushed to guard the British Embassy.

High Flood Waters Keep 500 Families Homeless

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A wet belt extended across the northern one-third of the nation today from the Pacific Northwest into sections of New England.

* * *

Warmer weather, thawing and rain threatened additional flooding in some of the flood stricken sections in New York State. Salamanca, N. Y., hit by the worst flood in history by the overflows from the Allegheny River, remained under the state-of-emergency orders issued by the mayor of the city of 9,000 population.

High water along the Allegheny and tributaries in northwestern Pennsylvania and southern and western New York State kept some 500 evacuated families from returning to their homes.

The Ohio River was above flood stage at all river locks between Pittsburgh and Wheeling, W. Va. Damage, however, was reported light. The Weather Bureau at Huntington, W. Va., estimated the maximum overflow will be three feet above flood stage at any point where flooding occurs.

The Ohio was three feet above the 32-foot flood stage yesterday at East Liverpool, Ohio, and 2.2 feet above the 38.2 flood stage at Wheeling last night.

Light snow and snow flurries fell during the night and early morning in central New York and in scattered sections of New England. Similar precipitation was reported across the northern Rockies, parts of the Northern Plains and the extreme northern Great Lakes region.

Rain or snow fell in the Pacific Northwest, with falls generally light. Heaviest falls, from 2 to 5 inches, were reported in eastern Montana, Wyoming and the western Dakotas.

Most of the southern two-thirds of the country reported rising temperatures. Biggest advance, from 8 to 15 degrees, occurred in the Southern Plains.

The executive group also announced that some 200 members of the Advisory Council will gather at the City Hall March 15 for a business meeting and to hear a preliminary report on the newly created committee.

The council is composed of 278 members from church, labor, civic, government, social welfare, and business groups from the Pontiac area.

Some 40 employes of Wrigley Grocery Stores in the county, plus 30 Baldwin Rubber Co. personnel, are expected to donate a portion of the much-needed blood Monday.

Mrs. Magnus said there will be no blood drive in April, but added that the monthly campaign will resume on May 14 at the same location.

Mrs. Luce Sick; Flies Back East

Bronchial Illness Cuts West Coast Tour With Italian President

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—Near exhaustion and severe laryngitis following a virtuoso diplomatic performance forced Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce today to leave for New York ahead of the official party of Italian president Giovanni Gronchi.

She had been scheduled to attend a luncheon given by University of California president Robert Gordon Sproul and to remain with the party on its return journey to the East Coast.

* * *

An American member of the party said that Mrs. Luce yesterday was offered the use of an Air Force hospital plane to return her east for treatment. She declined the offer, however, and insisted on going through with two grueling engagements last night.

Only two hours after delivering an extemporaneous address at a testimonial dinner for Gronchi, Mrs. Luce "completely lost her voice and appeared near collapse" as she went to her room at the Sheraton-Palace hotel.

Meter Revenue Gain

MUSKEGON (AP) — The city's automobile parking system, a municipal utility operating 1,418 meters on streets and lots, reported its 1955 revenue at $123,596—a 10 per cent gain over the previous year. Operating costs were listed at $23,165.

The U. S. Army Nurse Corps, oldest of the women's military services, was established in 1901.

2-Car, Head-On Crash Kills 6 People, 4 From Family

COOPERSVILLE (AP) — A tire-screaming automobile crash smashed the life out of six persons—four from a single family—and left a seventh critically injured on U.S. 16 last night.

The scene was a curve four miles west of this Ottawa County community, about midway between Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

The crash was between cars driven by a 34-year-old Grand Rapids purchasing agent driving with his family and a 48-year-old paroled robber, traveling alone. Only seconds before the crash the latter, according to authorities, had been careening down the wrong side of the highway.

The dead are:

Donald Maitner, 34; his 33-year-old wife, Alberta; their daughters, Sharon Lynn, 10, and Donal, 2; Theodore J. Vogt, 37, a Grand Rapids passenger in their car, and Abram Phillips, 48, a paroled convict from Muskegon.

* * *

In critical condition in a Grand Rapids hospital is the Maitner's 7-year-old son, Gary Lee, the only survivor of the crash of his family. He underwent skull surgery last night.

Phillips was paroled in 1953 from an armed robbery sentence of 10 to 15 years after serving 10 years in Southern Michigan Prison. Sheriff Gerald Vanderbeek said he found no driver's license on the body; only a parolee identification.

Vanderbeek said Phillips had passed at least two trucks at high speed shortly before the crash and had remained in the lefthand lane around a curve.

The sheriff said witnesses told him that when a collision apparently was imminent, Maitner himself swerved to the opposite—and wrong—lane to avoid Phillips.

Just as Maitner swung, the sheriff said Phillips cut back to get into his proper lane, smashing head-on into the Maitner car.

Beef Council Leader Beefs

Chicken for Vice President

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—It was the lack of beef that made the president of the Nebraska Beef Council beef.

Chester Paxton of Thedford sizzled today because Vice President Richard Nixon is going to be served chicken at the Republican party Founders Day dinner here March 19.

Now Nebraska's license plates this year carry the slogan "The Beef State" as a result of the heat the beef council put under the State Legislature in their campaign to boost the state's reputation as a prime cattle area.

To Paxton the idea of no prime steaks at a top grade banquet is a slur to that slogan.

So when he got a look at the GOP banquet menu and saw chicken as the main course he felt seared.

He fired a letter to state GOP Treasurer Joseph Wishart saying:

"Nebraska the beef state being honored by a visit of the vice president of the United States, so what do you feed him? Chicken!

"I shall await your apologies for serving anything but choice Nebraska beef."

Wishart replied in a treasurer's manner. He wrote:

"No apologies.

"A beef dinner would cost $5 instead of $3. Last year's Founders Day established that the Sand Hills center of the cattle country boys wouldn't pay five bucks for a beef dinner!"

Brain Research Technique Told

New Experiment Keeps Human in Water for Three Hours

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new technique in brain research in which the subject is totally immersed in water for as long as three hours was described today by a government scientist who has undergone it.

The idea, as explained by Dr. John C. Lilly of the National Institute of Mental Health, is that the boredom and monotony may create even in normal minds hallucinations akin to those experienced by the mentally ill.

When he tried it, Lilly said, he began to imagine after about 2 hours that he saw "small, strangely shaped objects with self-luminous borders" and "a tunnel whose inside space seemed to be emitting a blue light."

In what he described as preliminary experiments, Lilly said a volunteer was suspended in a tank of water, naked and head down—in a kind of "dead man's float." Rubber supports keep his feet from going to the bottom. He breathes through tubes connected with a blacked-out mask.

Otherwise, he is virtually isolated from physical and mental stimulation. Lilly said the technique might be useful in producing in normal persons (a) temporary mental disturbances which might provide clues to the causes of mental illness, and (b) a feeling of isolation and boredom presumed to be a factor in the Communist-devised technique of "brain-washing."

Lilly told about the experiments in a report prepared for a regional conference of the American Psychiatric Assn. being held at Georgetown University School of Medicine. He amplified on it in response to a reporter's questions.

Saying that only he and one other person have so far undergone the water test, Lilly described his experience thus:

"The water temperature is such that the subject feels neither hot nor cold . . . the sound level is low . . . one hears only one's own breathing and some faint water sounds from the piping. It is one of the most even and monotonous environments I have experienced . . .

He added:

"Apparently even healthy minds react strangely in isolation. What this means to psychiatric research is obvious—we have yet to obtain a full, documented picture of the range available to the healthy human adult mind; some of the (causative) factors in mental illness may be clarified and sharpened by such research."

Pair Confesses to Theft Series

Recover Stolen Articles After 2 Admit Robbing Five Places

Confessions by two city men yesterday cleared up five burglaries here over a year ago and brought about the recovery of several hundred dollars worth of loot, Pontiac police said.

Arrests of Chester J. Knickerbacker, 39, and Robert L. Merril, 18, came after a two-week investigation by Waterford Township detectives Don Gravlin and Millard Pender.

They said Knickerbacker was suspected after his arrest for investigation in another case.

At Knickerbacker's home at 1000 Myrtle Ave. police said they recovered everything except a camera taken in breakins during November 1954 and February, 1955.

The Day in Birmingham

Board of Review to Hear Owners Monday, Tuesday

BIRMINGHAM—The city board of review meets on Monday and Tuesday of next week in the municipal building to consider objections to property owner's tax assessments.

Elmer Haack, city assessor who will relinquish his post to Wilfred Taylor, present deputy assessor, on April 1, will be sitting with the review board members, Luther Heacock, and Percival. Burnett.

Those who come to the board of review may number five or six or as many as fifty, Haack estimates. Most have talked first with the assessor and then, if they feel that their problems have not been fully heard, they talk to the board in its annual two-day session.

This year the raised land values in the city may provoke objections, Haack says. Home lots have been assessed 30 per cent higher than last year, while some downtown values have been raised 100 per cent. It balances out so that the homeowners may find that their taxes are actually lower because of the higher taxes being paid by businesses, Haack says. Local taxes are $58.20 per $1,000 valuation.

Total valuation last year was $53,249,460, Haack says, but this year's total will not be definite until after the board of review meets. He excepts it to be about five and a half millions.

Land assessments were raised because land values had gone up, he says, but structures have not been assessed higher; nor personal taxes, except in both cases where additions have been made to buildings or personal properties.

Outline Future Plans for Pontiac Schools

workshops, conferences and informal discussion meetings.

In working with pupils, emphasis is placed on developing knowledge and appreciation of the basic precepts of American life and the free enterprise economic system, Whitmer explained.

Efforts are made to instill students with a sense of personal self-discipline and responsibility plus the attitudes and abilities needed to work well with other people.

Turning to the school systems' physical plant, Whitmer said, "A continual program of plant rehabilitation is required if structures are to be kept in good shape and . . . serve adequately an up-to-date educational program.

"While every effort has been made in the past to maintain the school plant with available funds, we have not been able to keep pace.

"To achieve structural soundness and educational adequacy, a stepped-up program is necessary—for we believe the people want a first-class school plant in both respects."

Financed by a special tax, approved by school district voters, an extensive building, repair and expansion program is underway, Whitmer stated.

New classrooms with a 1,720-pupil capacity were built in 1954-55 at cost of $2,016,409.

A $2,440,689 program is underway for 1955-56, said Whitmer, which will see 8 milti-purpose rooms, 12 classrooms, a library and an office area added to existing buildings.

* * *

An elementary school will be built this year plus 8 all-weather play areas and the obsolete Bailey School will be torn down and replaced.

The multi-purpose rooms, containing a gym floor and cafetiera, will greatly increase school activities plus providing space for adult functions.

Some 24,691 students are expected to be enrolled in Pontiac schools by 1956, said Whitmer, meaning that space for 8,192 pupils must be added in the next ten years.

"It looks now as if it will be possible to finance this needed construction and operate schools with current voted taxes if allocated millage remains at the 1954-55 level."

Join Forces to Solve Job Problem

By ANNIE HEYWOOD

Most of us have much better sense than to knock our heads against a stone wall and weep and wail because our eyes are brown instead of blue.

And yet, in other departments of life, we do something very similar.

"There is not a single part-time job in our city," she writes angrily, "except for shorthand and typewriting. I think that is perfectly disgraceful! Who wants to learn stenography and typing?

"There are many things I could do, working just afternoons, but no employer will hear of it.

GOES ON AND ON

"Why are they so terribly close-minded? I think it's terrible . . ." and she goes on and on, knocking her head against a stone wall.

* * *

Obviously, there are only two things which this woman can do. Either she can learn shorthand and typing and get the part-time job she wants, or she can try to get a group of other women, who also want part-time jobs, and do something about educating the employers in her town.

Those are the only courses open to her unless, of course she prefers to go on knocking her head against a stone wall.

There is much that women can do, in groups, to open up the market for part-time jobs.

But they can't do it by railing and ranting and accusing the employer of stupidity and close-mindedness.

SURVEY SITUATION

They have to survey the available women who would like part-time work, find out what skills they have and figure a way that these skills could be used in available business organizations to the profit of the business man.

They also have to talk calmly and reasonably to the businessman, in terms of what he will gain and what the community will gain. Many groups are doing that now, with good success.

If your problem is finding a part-time job, see if you can't join forces with other women who are in the same dilemma.

Together, you may work a way out of it.

Shirtwaist Dress Styled With Unique Stripe Effect

Vera Maxwell tops her class when it comes to designing a dress that makes a point of simplicity. This new shirtwaist model is meant to be made in striped or ribbed fabrics to highlight the detail of the yoke cut in one with the sleeves and the collar.

* * *

In effect, that's all there is to this dress but it is this handling that makes it so outstanding. Choose striped shirtings in silk or cotton, chambray, seersucker, pique or one of the new cords.

The cross directions of the stripes present no difficulty since the pattern is cut by hand and is carefully notched. This pattern is cut to designer measurements, not standard pattern measurements.

Three numbers have been chosen as words from our famous authors. "Dream Song" from Walter de la Mare's "Poems for Children," "Prelude" which was taken from the prologue of Thomas Wolfe's "Look Homeward Angel," and one of Christina Rossetti's works, "My Heart is Like a Singing Bird."

'Extra' Bedroom Comes With House of the Week

SPLIT-LEVEL PLAN — Vertical siding with V joints surmounts brick veneer to give this house, built on the split-level plan, a smart appearance. It includes a built-in two car garage.

"You get a free room when you build a properly planned split-level house," says a leading merchant builder. And what a room it can be! This is shown by the glamorous recreation room in Design T-111 for The House of The Week.

The overall plan combines gracious living with economical construction in a new way. The house covers a total of 1,580 square feet, but if all of its rooms and garage were laid out ranch-style on one level, the area covered would be about 47 per cent greater. This would call for more foundation, more roof construction and more land.

This house includes:

1. A 24-foot living room with a wall of windows overlooking the garden. A two-way fireplace in this room is also visible from the dining room.

2. An oversize Dutch style kitchen with a kitchen fireplace to cheer informal dining at the kitchen table.

3. A separate pantry and a laundry, both next to the service door.

4. Three bedrooms, two bathrooms and an extra lavatory.

5. A study alcove for your writing desk.

6. A built-in two-car garage.

7. And a big family activities room with sliding glass doors opening on a garden terrace, where a third fireplace—a barbecue — is ready for family fun.

The recreation room is a high point in this plan. It makes the living room virtually a split-level room. It is just six steps—half a flight—down from the living room. Its upper half is open to the living room, where a wrought iron railing above a planting box gives a gallery effect. You can drop your book in your living room chair and walk to the railing and ask: "Hey Kids, how's the TV show down there?"

This place for fun is not in the basement. It is on the grade, where you can walk out to an open terrace and have a picnic hamburger broil. It is flush with the lawn and its planting box below the living room railing is continued beyond the glass wall on the terrace to blend indoors and outdoors.

The recreation room has a direct entrance to the garage, a large storage closet and a lavatory, which is directly under the bathrooms for economy in plumbing.

MAXIMUM FEATURES

Herman H. York, the architect who designed this house, has packed a maximum of conveniences and attractive features in the plan. The front door is sheltered from the weather by the overhanging bedroom floor. This overhang also provides for a deep storage closet off the small bedroom. All bedroom closets have sliding doors to save room space.

The front entrance foyer has a door to the garage, which is one step down. This permits guests to enter the front of the house directly from the garage in bad weather.

The foyer is five steps down from the living room. Indoor planting boxes flank this short flight creating a pretty entrance and continuing the theme established by outdoor planting boxes on each side of the covered portico in front.

The architect suggests leaving the brickwork of the big fireplace chimney exposed both in the Dutch kitchen and in the living room.

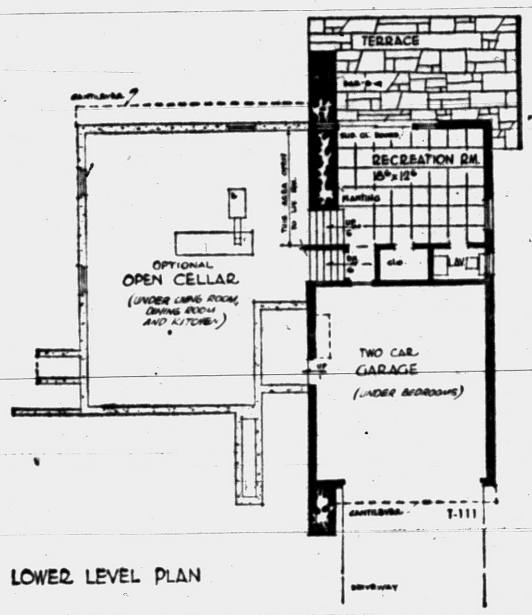

Selecting a good builder is an important part of planning a new house. Workmanship is vital to durability and maintenance.

Ask owners of recently built houses in your community who their builder was and how they like his work. Ask a builder to give you the names and addresses of people for whom he built a house and talk to them.

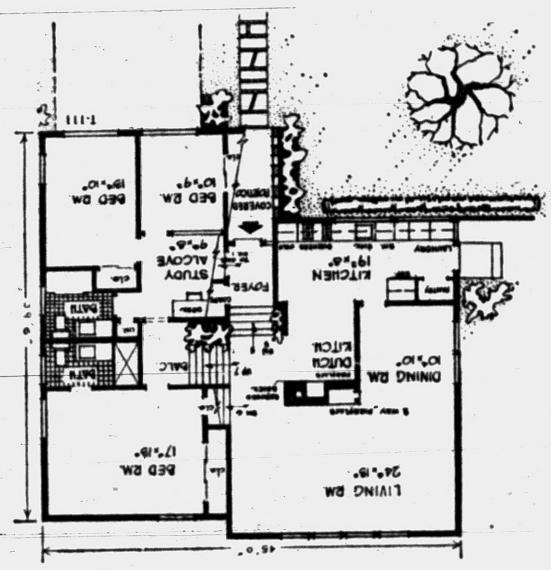

Your bank that makes your mortgage loan is interested in your getting a good builder. Ask your banker.

You can build this house with or without a basement. As shown here, there is a large open cellar under the living room level. This is down six steps from the recreation room and garage. However, this area could be left as a half-story crawl space with plenty of room for a horizontal type heating plant where the B for boiler is shown on the plan.

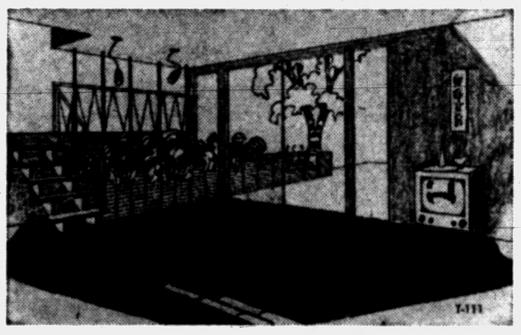

Architect York suggests an exterior of brick beneer around the garage and recreation room with the superstructure sided with V-jointed vertical boards. The roof is pitched for 210-pound asphalt shingles laid on 55-pound roofing paper. Oak floors and plywood subflooring for the kitchen are among specifications.

LOWER LEVEL PLAN — The lower level has room for a recreation room, an open cellar (optional) and the two-car garage. Sliding glass doors from the recreation room open onto the terrace.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN — A Dutch kitchen with a fireplace is a feature of this plan. The living room is five steps up from the foyer and seven steps down from the bedroom area. The entire plan combines economy with glamorous living.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION — A gallery railing separates the recreation room from the living room. In this drawing you can see the glass doors to the terrace.

Today's Homes Built Better

Don't believe the old complaint that houses today aren't as good as they used to be.

* * *

In most important respects they're much better.

One example of the superiority of the modern house is the widespread use of preservative-treated millwork—windows, panel doors, and cabinets.

Chemically treated millwork, generally made of ponderosa pine, will last at least four or five times as long as the wood used in the so-called "golden age" of home building.

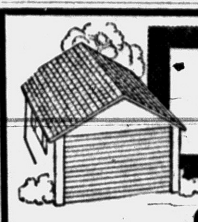

Basically, preservatives do two things. They poison the fungus that causes decay. They also reduce the absorption of moisture in wood.

The ability to keep out moisture means that ponderosa pine windows and panel doors are free from sticking in any kind of weather.

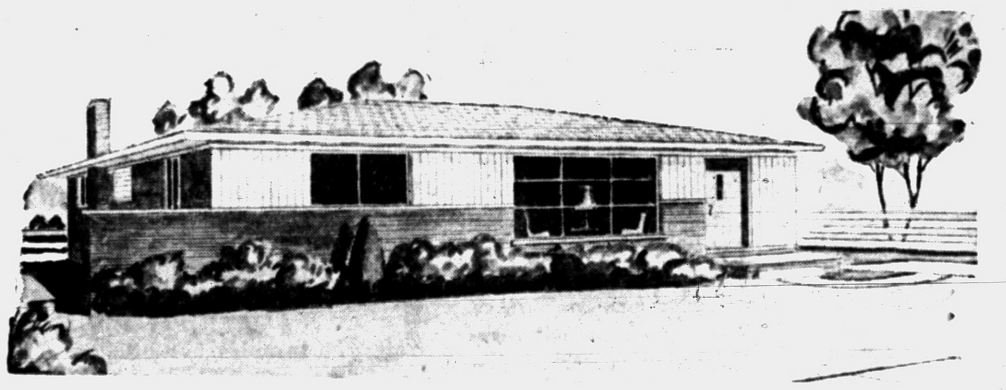

Sticking is caused when wood swells after absorbing moisture. Later, during dry weather, the wood shrinks. Preservative-treated wood, for all practical purposes, does not swell or shrink.

Preservatives improve wood's natural affinity for paint. They prevent paint failures such as bubbling, cracking, and peeling, which are caused by the presence of moisture beneath the painted surface.

ARTICLE IV
DISTRICTS—USES AND BUILDING REQUIREMENTS
RESIDENTIAL ZONE I

Sec. 4.01 In Residential Zone 1, no buildings, structures or premises except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance shall be erected or used, except for one or more of the following uses and in accordance with the following building requirements:

Sec. 4.02 USES: (1) Private dwellings only.

(2) Accessory uses customarily incident to private dwellings including not more than one private garage for each lot, provided not more than one commercial vehicle is housed therein. One sign pertaining to the sale, lease or use of a lot or building may be placed thereon, not exceeding, however, six (6) square feet in area. Dwellings for the use of domestic employees of the owners, lessees, or occupants of the private dwelling on a lot shall be considered accessory buildings and shall conform to all the height and yard requirements for private dwellings in this district.

Sec. 4.03 BUILDING REQUIREMENTS

(1) FRONT YARDS: In this district there shall be on every lot one front yard, the minimum depth of which shall be thirty-five (35) feet, except that on a lot of record at the time of the passage of this Ordinance having a depth of less than one hundred twenty (120) feet, the depth of the front yard required shall be reduced to one-quarter (¼) of such lot depth but this shall not permit a depth of less than twenty (20) feet in any case.

(2) SIDE YARDS: In this district there shall be between any building and each side of every lot a side yard the minimum width of which shall be six (6) feet. The width of a side yard abutting upon a side street or lane shall not be less than the minimum front yard depth required on an adjoining lot fronting upon such side street, or lane but this shall not reduce the buildable width of any lot of record at the time of the passage of this Ordinance to less than twenty-five (25) feet at the ground level.

(3) REAR YARDS: In this district there shall be on every lot a rear yard the minimum depth of which shall be twenty (20) feet. In the case where the rear yard abuts on any street or lane, the minimum depth of the rear yard shall conform to front yard requirements.

(4) HEIGHT: In this district no building shall exceed two and one-half stories in height, but in no event shall any building exceed thirty-five (35) feet in height.

(5) LOT AREA: In this district no dwelling shall be erected or used on any lot having an area of less than fifteen thousand (15,000) square feet and a front width of less than seventy-five (75) feet, but this provision shall not prevent the use of any lot of record at the time of the passage of this Ordinance having an area of less than fifteen thousand (15,000) square feet and less than 75 feet in front width; provided, however, no dwelling shall be erected on any lot of record containing less than five thousand (5,000) square feet in area and with a front width of less than forty (40) feet.

(6) AREA OF BUILDING: No dwelling in Zone 1 shall be erected, altered, or occupied, which provides less than eight hundred (800) square feet of floor area at the first floor level, exclusive of any breezeway, areaway, open porch, area used for garage purposes, and area in any accessory building.

(7) SIZE OF BUILDING: No dwelling in Zone 1 shall be erected, altered, or occupied, which provides less than nine thousand, six hundred (9,600) cubic feet of content, exclusive of any breezeway, areaway, open porch, space used for garage, and space in any accessory building.

(8) BUILDINGS ON THE SAME LOT: Accessory buildings and portions thereof shall not exceed one story or fifteen (15) feet in height and shall not occupy more than ten percent (10%) of the lot area; but no portion thereof shall approach nearer to a side or rear lot line than six (6) feet and no nearer the front lot line than the front of the private dwelling. On a corner lot, accessory buildings shall not occupy any of the minimum required side yard space abutting upon a street or lane nor any of that portion of the rear abutting on such street or lane lying nearer to the street or lane than the width of the side yard required on such lot.

(9) LOT ON LAKES OR WATERWAYS: On all lots or properties contiguous with lakes or other navigable waterways the principal and accessory buildings shall be not nearer than fifty (50) feet to the high water margin of said lake or waterway.

ARTICLE V—ZONE 2

Sec. 5:01 In Zone 2, no buildings, structures or premises, except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, shall be erected or used except for one or more of the following uses and in accordance with the following building requirements:

Sec. 5.02 USES:

(1) Any use permitted in Residential Zone 1.

(2) Churches, public, parocial and private schools, parish houses and libraries.

(4) Accessory uses customarily incident to any of the above permitted uses, including not more than one private garage for each family occupying a dwelling on each lot, provided not more than one commercial vehicle is housed in each such garage. One sign pertaining to the sale, lease or use of a lot or building may be placed thereon, not exceeding, however, six (6) square feet in area. U. S. Marines at Dunkirk — British Expect It Next

LONDON (INS) — Hollywood's movie moguls touched off a near international incident when they tried to "improve" a film about one of the proudest exploits of the Royal Air Force.

The British are up in arms about a report that somebody slipped a shot of a U. S. Flying Fortress into a movie about the famed RAF raids on Germany's Moehne and Eder Dams in 1943.

The raid has taken its place with such battles as Waterloo and Trafalgar among the classic feats of England's military history. A movie about the attack, entitled "The Dam Busters" was released last year and its climax came with shots of the RAF Lancaster bombers sweeping in at low level in the face of German anti-aircraft fire to drop their bombs.

After "The Dam Busters" was released in the United States a horrifying report filtered back to London Somebody had inserted a brief shot of an airplane. It appeared on the screen for only a few seconds, but it was unmistakenably an American B-17 bomber.

A movie which showed John Paul Jones winning the Battle of Trafalgar could hardly have caused more of an uproar.

EVEN TIMES ANGRY

The Times of London, which is not an excitable newspaper, remarked bitterly:

"Just on ten years after Errol Flynn liberated Burma for the delectation of American film audiences, it has been revealed that they also had their morale uplifted . . . by the suggestion that the United States had something to do with the blowing up of the Moehne Dam . . ."

The matter was raised in Parliament by Labor M. P. Stephen Swingler, who used the word "shameful" and declared that "some protest should be made to U. S. authorities."

The Daily Mail published a cartoon showing a Hollywood director working on a film about U. S. Marines at the battle of Dunkirk.

* * *

A statement from Hollywood said the offending shot was meant to "pep up" a dull spot in the picture and added hastily that it had been taken out. This did little to placate the Times, which growled editorially that the tampering with the movie had been "childish and silly."

Australia may test the new British high altitude rocket, Sydney learns. It is designed to probe secrets of the outer atmosphere at heights up to 120 miles.

Personnel Shift Heralds New Era in GM-Dealer Ties

Move Signals Closer Harmony

Laud Curtice for Lead in Overhauling Firm's Field Program

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — Major development in the auto industry this week was a top flight personnel shift rather than production planning and sales reports.

Ivan L. Wiles, for nearly eight years general manager of General Motors Buick Division, was shifted overnight to the post of executive vice president in charge of dealer relations. Succeeding him as head of the big Buick Division is Edward T. Ragsdale, who has been manufacturing manager of the division.

The moves were of major significance because of their bearing on GM relations with its dealer body and the fact Buick has become the industry's third largest car producer.

Buick took the third place position from Chrysler's Plymouth Division under Wiles' administration.

In his new position, Wiles will have the task of providing GM's 18,500 passenger car and truck dealers with a direct line of contact to the corporation's top management.

Establishing a closer contact for the dealer body with top management is only one of several recent steps taken by GM President Harlow H. Curtice toward better relations with the corporation's retailers.

Included in the program are a new form of agreement between GM and its dealers, a new low-cost life insurance program under which dealers under age 65 may obtain policies ranging up to $100,000 without medical examination, and practical elimination of the so-called "phantom" freight charges.

Also announced was the decision to name an impartial umpire to adjudicate dealer appeals from decisions of General Motors divisions in matters directly affecting the retailers.

With numerous other features, the program represents a virtual overhauling of the GM factory-dealer relations program. One of these many features is the re-examination of "the sales potential of every dealer in relation to his area." Another is the absorption by the factory of costs of new car direct-by-mail programs previously charged to the dealer.

The new GM program with respect to its retailing organization was engineered by President Curtice. He acted with characteristic speed and suddenness while some dealers were complaining to a Senate investigating committee in Washington about GM policies toward its retailers.

Frederick J. Bell, executive vice president of the National Automobile Dealers Assn., commenting on the industry efforts at advancing factory-dealer relations, said:

"This recent series of actions on the part of Detroit has assumed the proportions of a beneficial avalanche." Directing his remarks to the car makers, he said:

"It's taken a long time, but right now it appears to me that you have moved forward progressively, dramatically, effectively to restore balance to the industry and public confidence in you and in us."

Grass Snakes Out Too Soon; in Deep Freeze

Rushing the spring season merely got a couple dozen ambitious young grass snakes in trouble, according to a report from Robert Thor, 3238 Donley St., east of Auburn Heights.

Walking over a covering of clear ice on a backyard pool of snowwater this morning, Thor was surprised to see 25 or 30 foot-and-a-half long grass snakes frozen in the ice.

"Water in the pool, covering about 40 square feet of the yard to about 5 or 6 inches in depth, had frozen," Thor said, "and the snakes, apparently lured out of a nest by recent rains, got caught. We could see some of them moving. Maybe they'll survive the deep freeze."
