Chinese Reds Start New Attack on Quemoys

Dems Disclaim Any Friendship for Hoffa Clan

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

In whose political camp has Teamsters president James R. Hoffa pitched his tent?

"Not here," cried state Democrats as they concluded their convention in Grand Rapids Saturday night. They agreed that their party has no use for the racketeer-infiltrated union and its boss.

Republicans, when they make camp in the Furniture City next weekend for their convention, are expected to take a similar stand purging Hoffa from any GOP connections.

Republicans are certain to point out a $11,000 campaign donation the Teamsters gave Wayne County Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen for the August primary. This gift was something Democrats would have liked to ignore, but coukin't, as they adopted a 1958 platform plank divorcing the party and its candidates from association with "corrupt labor officials."

So, almost as sudden as Hoffa came up with his own racketeer clean-up squad, the fiery chieftain of the largest union in the country found himself an unwanted issue in the 1958 election.

Just as Republicans cite the Olsen-Teamsters gift, Democrats last weekend recalled Hoffa's support of the late Albert E. Cobo for governor on the GOP ticket.

National Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler was not hesitant in aligning Hoffa with the Republican party. "He long has made a record in the Republican party in Michigan and in other states," declared the keynote speaker at the two-day Democratic convention.

Some 1,545 delegates to the convention, 161 from Oakland County, unexpectedly turned the spotlight on their rights of labor platform

Williams Given Big Ovation

Democrats, after a night of readying to light the fuse, blasted off, as they said they would, in a wild, screaming demonstration for Gov. G. Mennen Williams Saturday in Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

The "countdown" concluded at exactly 1:31 Saturday afternoon in the Civic Auditorium when Philip A. Hart, ex-lieutenant governor and candidate for the U.S. Senate, introduced Williams "as the hardest working governor in the state."

Then it began. Delegates pulled hidden placards, banners and the like from under their seats and began a shouting snake dance through the aisles of the auditorium. A brass band led the way.

The delegates to the State Democratic Convention apparently got the clue for the celebration from a banner over the speaker's table Friday night in the Pantlind Hotel ballroom. It read: "Blast Off for Victory in '58." That they did.

Supporters converged toward the auditorium stage and up went the governor on the shoulders of two men. Then up went Hart and John B. Swainson, who hopes to replace Hart as lieutenant governor.

Two husky Democrats leaped across the press table in front of the stage and lifted 200-plus pounder Frank S. Szymanski, state auditor general, to their shoulders. Other state officers got a free ride also.

The merry making continued for 18 minutes, and was just as William John Beer, Pontiac attorney and member of the State Central Committee, said it would be, "a rip-snorting, ding-dong celebration."

Beer spoke to the Oakland County delegation at its Friday night caucus and told them about the coming demonstration.

When the exhausted (most delegates had been up all night) and hoarse marchers returned to their seats, Williams delivered a lashing attack at the Republicans.

Williams received a silver tray from the party with an engraving of the Mackinac Bridge and the inscription "Governor G. Mennen Williams — Builder of a Great Tomorrow" on it.

Williams accused the Republican-controlled Legislature of being the "roadblock to progress," and said the Democrats must take over the House of Representatives this fall.

Cloudy but Warmer Outlook for Tonight

The U. S. Weather Bureau reports it will be partly cloudy tonight and not quite so cool in the Pontiac area. The low will be 53 degrees.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy with a few showers likely. The high will be 70. The outlook for tomorrow night will be partly cloudy and continued cool with a low of 59.

The Weather Bureau's five-day forecast predicts temperatures will average about four degrees below the normal high of 80 and normal low of 59.

There will be a slow warming trend beginning about Thursday and showers are expected Tuesday and again about Wednesday night or Thursday.

The lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 50. The reading at 2 p.m. was 66.

Pontiac Lawyer Is Appointed Circuit Judge

Gov. Williams Names William J. Beer to Hartrick's Post

William John Beer, Pontiac attorney, today was appointed by Gov. G. Mennen Williams as judge on the Oakland County Circuit Court bench.

Beer, 49, a resident of Berkley, will fill the unexpired term of the late George B. Hartrick who died suddenly in San Francisco Aug. 12. The term expires Dec. 31, 1959.

The life-long Democrat has been practicing law in Pontiac for 10 years, after beginning his practice in Detroit and Royal Oak.

He is presently one of four Oakland County members on the State Central Democratic Committee, in which capacity he served at last weekend's State Democratic Convention in Grand Rapids.

"This is the highest honor that has come to me in my lifetime," said Beer when he learned of his appointment. "I will endeavor to serve to the best of my ability all the people of Oakland County."

Beer, who lives with his wife and two sons at 2358 Earlmont St., announced he would be a candidate for the new judgeship term beginning Jan. 1, 1960. This position, along with four other judgeships, will be voted on in a judicial election next April.

The new judge holds memberships in the American, Michigan and Oakland County Bar Associations. He is also a life member of the Michigan State Bar Foundation, as well as a member of the Judicature Society of America.

★ ★ ★

After his graduation from Wayne State University Law School in 1930, Beer joined a Detroit law firm with which he was associated until 1937, when he opened his office in Royal Oak.

He practiced law there until 1942 when he enlisted in the Navy.

He served three years as a gunnery officer in the North Atlantic and Mediterranean theaters.

After his discharge, he practiced law for three years in Rogers City and Marquette. He served as city attorney for some

Supreme Court Eyes 'Mixing'

Calls Special Session Thursday to Consider Case in Little Rock

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today called a special session Thursday of this week to consider the Little Rock school segregation case.

★ ★ ★

The high court, convening in the extraordinary session at noon, will deal with the application of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for cancellation of the desegregation delay granted by the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

The announcement was issued by Chief Justice Warren after consultation with the other members of the court.

In Little Rock, Arkansas lawmakers today laid plans to hand Gov. Orval Faubus power to shut the doors of Central High School should the federal government seek to integrate it a second straight year.

★ ★ ★

Early arrivals for tomorrow's emergency session of the Legislature pointed to Faubus' landslide renomination this summer as a mandate to follow his leadership.

★ ★ ★

"When all 75 counties voted for Faubus they meant for the representatives to vote with him too," Rep. John Bethell of Prairie County said.

Both Faubus and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People raced against time in their struggle over integration at riot-torn Central High, School opens in nine days.

2 Orchard Lake Officers Hurt

Cars Left Road Early Sunday, One Crashing Into Nearby Tree

Two off-duty Orchard Lake police officers were injured in a mysterious accident at 12:50 a. m. Sunday on M59 in White Lake Township.

One officer, Richard D. Venos, 30, of 33 Court Dr., is in Pontiac General Hospital in fair condition today with possible internal injuries and a leg fracture.

The other officer, Bruce P. Boyd, 29, of 1353 Locke St., was treated for abrasions and released.

Neither officer could tell sheriff's deputies what happened. Venos was driving a brand new car with Boyd following in his car.

Deputies believe another car forced the two vehicles off the road. A witness reports spotting a dark sedan without lights driving in an erratic manner on the same road minutes before the crash.

Venos' car hit a tree and the rear end broke off, then proceeded 80 feet up the shoulder of the road and hit another tree and the front part broke in half.

Boyd was thrown clear of his car before it went into a field where it came to a stop.

Chiang's Islands Blasted Hard Over Weekend

Heavy Shelling Raises Fears of Mass Invasion Try by Communists

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Communist artillery roared with a new attack on Quemoy 32 minutes after midnight today, the defense ministry reported.

The barrage followed a slackening in the bombardment of the Nationalist offshore islands Monday.

This was the fourth day of heavy artillery bombardment of the Quemoys. The Reds turned their artillery on the little island of Tungting for the first time yesterday.

Tungting, 17 miles southeast of Nationalist-held Quemoy, was the target Sunday night of what the Nationalists called an attempted Communist invasion. The island is used by the Nationalists as an observation post against Red shipping in and out of the offshore island of Amoy.

Eight ships of the U.S. 7th fleet received orders in Singapore to set sail as the result of developments in the Formosa Strait. Shore parties of seamen and Marines were ordered back to their ships.

The U.S. Defense Department has alerted the 7th fleet and other American units in this area to take precautionary defense measures because of the military flare up.

Both Quemoy and Little Quemoy lie about 100 miles across the strait from Formosa and 10 to 15 miles east of Amoy. Little Quemoy has an area of 5.6 square miles; the bigger island is 50 square miles.

ROCKY ISLAND

Tungting, where the naval clash occurred, is a rocky island 17 miles southeast of Quemoy that formerly was used as a lighthouse station. The Nationalists use Tungting as an observation post against Red shipping in and out of Amoy.

After plastering the islands with nearly 80,000 artillery shells Saturday and yesterday in the heaviest barrage of the vest-pocket war, the guns on the adjacent Communist territory fired only 2,880 rounds during a four-hour bombardment this morning and another 23 shells in as many minutes during the afternoon.

It was recalled that heavy air attacks preceded the Red capture of a small island near the Tachen group off Chekiang province, north of Fukien, in 1955. The Nationalists later abandoned the Tachen group.

LAUDS DULLES

"Psychologically and politically, Huang said, the islands "stand as strategic outposts not only for the Republic of China, but also for the whole democratic world."

"Any attempt by the Chinese

New York Cheers Arrival of Nautilus

Police helicopters circled a flotilla of about 20 Navy destroyer escorts, Coast Guard cutters, tankers, tugs, police launches and fireboats. They escorted the Nautilus through the harbor, part way up the Hudson River, and then around the tip of Manhattan headed for the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The windows of Manhattan's skyscrapers bordering the water were jammed with office workers who waved greetings to the Nautilus crew standing smartly at attention on deck in a driving rain.

The Nautilus cruised past crowds huddled under makeshift shelters and umbrellas at Battery Park and as far north as 42nd St. where it made a wide, sweeping turn and headed back down the river.

Fireboats arched cascades of water and liners berthed along the river blew their hoarse whistles in the traditional harbor greeting.

From Adams to Labor Crooks

Washington Probes Go On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators armed with remains of four million dollars today pushed plans for inquiries that already have ranged from Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams to bomb-tossing labor racketeers.

The House influence-investigating subcommittee will begin Sept. 16 digging deeper into the tangled finances of Adams' gift-giving millionaire friend Bernard Goldfine.

It also plans to look into new cases of possible political-pressure attempts involving federal regulatory agencies.

The Senate Rackets Committee will continue tomorrow its investigation of possible links between Teamster Union leaders and rackets.

21 Killed in State Traffic, 4 Drown Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least four deaths occurred Sunday during a heavy rainstorm that blanketed most of the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of Lower Michigan.

In addition to the highway toll, four persons drowned, bringing the total weekend death count to 25.

Two-car collisions claimed eight lives and a three-car crash killed one person.

Five of the traffic fatalities were pedestrians.

'Just Wait and See,' Says Bender

Won't Pull Any Punches--Teamster Prober

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a citizens commission named by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa to probe corruption charges against Teamsters officials says he's not going to prejudge anyone.

"All I can say is that I do not pull punches," said George H. Bender yesterday in Cleveland. "Just wait and see."

★ ★ ★

Hoffa announced Saturday he was naming Bender, former Republican senator from Ohio, to head a three-man citizens commission. The other two are F. Joseph Donohue, Democratic former District of Columbia commissioner, and Ira W. Jayne, retired Wayne County (Detroit) judge and law professor at Wayne University. A Teamsters lawyer said they would be paid $250 a day each while at work.

★ ★ ★

In announcing appointment of the group, Hoffa said the commissioners "shall guide us and assure the membership of our union a strong, honest leadership. . ."

The Teamsters president, himself a target of corruption charges by the Senate Rackets Committee, said, "I intend to meet squarely charges of corruption."

Bender, who planned to come here today, said he wants to help clean up the Teamsters Union because he said he is convinced Hoffa is sincere, adding: "If I didn't think so, I wouldn't accept the chairmanship of his commission."

"The test of the good faith and power of this Hoffa-appointed commission is: Can and will it move against Mr. Hoffa himself?" McClellan said after Hoffa had notified him of plans to set up the commission.

Asked in Cleveland whether his investigation would include Hoffa, Bender said: "We (the commission members) didn't elect Hoffa. He was elected by the union membership."

McClellan said his committee "will not be deterred in its course of duty. Its investigations will continue."

★ ★ ★

The Rackets Committee has charged Hoffa surrounded himself with hoodlums and worked with underworld elements in trying to extend his labor power. The committee's hearings on the Teamsters and Hoffa resume tomorrow.

It was unclear what connection, if any, the new anti-racketeering commission would have with the monitors appointed by the federal court some months ago to watch over Teamsters affairs.

Judge Letts named the monitors to supervise the Teamsters Union. He did so as part of the settlement of a suit in which dissident Teamster members tried to upset Hoffa's election last year as president of the 1½-million-member truck union.

"Letts encouraged me very strongly to undertake the work," Bender said. "He feels there is a need for a cleanup."

Hoffa did not specify what weight would be given the findings of his antiracketeering commission. He said: "I expect that this commission shall make impartial investigations of all charges made, and on the basis of its recommendations, we shall take all steps consistent with the union's constitution."

Jaycees Donate to Park Fund

$2,000 for Northside Area Boosts Total of Gifts to $7,000

The Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce is contributing another $2,000 to the city to bring about further improvements at Jaycee Park.

The contribution means that the organization has give a total of $7,000 for the northside Pontiac playground, said Jaycee president Clyle R. Haskill.

Haskill plans to present the $2,000 check to the City Commission tomorrow night. The money was raised from proceeds from various Jaycee projects, principally the 1958 builders show, Haskill said.

David R. Ewalt, Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department director, said the contribution will enable the city to erect a $6,600 park shelter. Another $2,000 contribution from the Jaycees last year plus $2,600 in city funds will make up the balance, Ewalt said.

The four-year-old park is on W. Walton boulevard off Joslyn road. There are four other parks that are being developed by the city through financial assistance from civic groups.

AF Chimp Survives Toughest Wind Blast

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A chimpanzee has survived a wind blast tougher than any jet pilot faces in an emergency ejection.

Stapp said the test took place at Holloman Air Force Base, N.M., early this month. A base spokesman confirmed it.

A special pressurized suit of dacron sailcloth, which enabled the chimp to survive, may help pilots escape safely from ultra high-speed aircraft, Stapp said.

Three other chimps which took the test died because their suits blew apart, he added.

The Holloman spokesman said all the animals were anesthetized before the tests.

Stapp, who said he thinks humans could survive the same test, told of the fourth chimp surviving a wind blast of 4,000 pounds per square inch at speeds of 1,400 m.p.h.

Pilots ejecting from the fastest jet in use would experience a wind blast of about 3,500 pounds per square inch, he said.

North Winds Spread Chill to Central U. S.

By The Associated Press

Brisk northerly winds fanned across the northern Midwest today, spreading chilly air deep into the central part of the country.

Temperatures averaged 10 to 20 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier in the cool belt, extending from the upper Great Lakes region southwestward into northern Arkansas and eastern Oklahoma. Readings in the 50s were reported in northwestern Arkansas while the 40s predominated from northern Illinois northward.

FRED G. BEARDSLEY

Former County Legislator Dies

Fred G. Beardsley at Lansing 8 Years; Held Other Civic Posts

Service for Fred G. Beardsley, 75, of Oxford, who died Sunday after an illness of several months, will be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock at the Bossardet and Reid Funeral Home at Oxford. The Rev. Fred Clark will officiate. Burial will be in Lakeville Cemetery, under Masonic auspices.

Mr. Beardsley was born in Springfield Township on June 30, 1883, and was a prominent farmer most of his life. For 13 years he was supervisor of Addison Township. Later he was in the insurance and real estate business at Oxford.

In 1948 he was elected to the Michigan State House of Representatives on the Republican ticket, and served there for eight years, representing the first district of Oakland County.

When in that capacity at Lansing he was appointed to some of the most important committees and introduced several bills which were enacted into laws.

Mr. Beardsley also was on his local board of education for 18 years, president and director of the Oakland County Farm Bureau for 25 years, president and director of the Oxford Cooperative Elevator for several years, and held other positions of a local, county and state nature.

★ ★ ★

He always had taken a prominent part in local civic affairs, and was a member of the Methodist Church, Masons and Lions Club.

★ ★ ★

On March 1, 1905, he married Mabel E. Snyder, who survives him. He also leaves three sons, Harold and Howard of Oxford, and Stewart of Chicago; 12 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

50c Ticket Last Straw for Drunken Driver

HERRIN, Ill. (UPI) — Harold Triplett didn't protest the $109 fine when he was charged with drunken driving but that 50-cent parking ticket was the last straw.

Triplett was taken to the station in a squad car and a patrolman drove his car to city hall. The patrolman parked the car illegally and another policeman ticketed it.

Triplett paid the $109 fine but loudly protested the ticket. It was canceled.

85th Congress Closes, 3 Big Fund Bills Passed

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's up to the voters now to judge how good a job the 85th Congress did in coping with problems of the dawning space age, the recession and other issues.

This year's session ended in the predawn hours yesterday, sending senators and representatives homeward after nearly eight months of work on Capitol Hill.

NO REST AHEAD

Most of them will get little vacation. They'll be starting to campaign in earnest for the fall elections which will fill all 435 House seats and 34 of the Senate's 96 seats.

Unless some big emergency requires a special session, the House and Senate will not meet again until Jan. 7 for the opening of the 86th Congress.

One of the most important bills passed the last day was a compromise $3,398,092,500 foreign aid money measure. It also was one of the last.

The Senate took it up for the first time during the daylight hours and passed it after beating back efforts by Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La) to cut the Senate total of $3,518,092,500.

SPLIT DIFFERENCE

The bill then was rushed to conference with the House, which some time ago had passed a bill carrying $3,078,092,500. After nearly five hours of haggling, the conferees agreed on the compromise that just about split the difference.

The final product, passed after midnight, totaled 652 million dollars less than Eisenhower asked originally for economic and military aid to friendly nations in this fiscal year ending next June 30.

As generally happens, the last day of the session was a busy and a long one. The House adjourned at 2 a.m. The Senate followed at 4:11 a.m., ending an 18-hour session.

★ ★ ★

Interspersed with legislating, there were final bursts of oratory and exchanges of pleasantries between the usually contending Republicans and Democrats.

In the House, Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts offered a resolution praising Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) for the way he presided over the House. Rayburn returned the compliment.

A committee that notified President Eisenhower Congress had finished its business brought back the President's "best wishes to Mr. Sam," as Rayburn is called.

In the Senate, Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California got a warm sendoff. He is retiring from the Senate to run for governor of his home state.

MONEY BILL PASSED

In the final hours of the session, Congress finished work on two other big money bills.

One provided $6,090,156,900 for a variety of independent federal agencies. Eisenhower had vetoed an earlier version which contained 589 million dollars earmarked for the civil service retirement fund. Eisenhower said this was not needed, particularly in a year in which the government faces a heavy deficit.

The bill repassed by Congress is without the civil service allotment, but has several new items approved by the administration. One of these is a 40-million-dollar fund to finance the start of a four-year, 900-million-dollar aid to education program which got final congressional approval earlier in the day.

The other money bill sent to Eisenhower was a $1,354,000,000 measure for military construction projects.

Some legislation fell by the wayside.

The House killed a Senate-passed bill that called for a 10 per cent increase in retirement benefits for railroad workers.

Left stranded when the Senate adjourned was a compromise bill designed to modify the impact of a Supreme Court decision which reversed the conviction of a confessed rapist here because of police delay in arraigning him.

★ ★ ★

Another controversial bill that died in the Senate had proposed diversion of additional Lake Michigan waters into the Chicago sanitary system.

Officers said tire marks indicated Lawrence Brassar's auto left the highway and rolled over several times. The car was found on U.S. 2, two miles west of Brevort in the Upper Peninsula.

Gary Johnson, 22, Sault Ste. Marie, died in Hurley Hospital, Flint, early today of injuries suffered Saturday morning when his car ran off U.S. 10 north of Flint and struck a tree.

A family outing ended in tragedy Sunday when a father drowned with his son in a vain attempt to rescue the boy.

Their deaths brought to three the weekend toll of drownings in Michigan.

William C. Eichoff, 29, of Bad Axe, was fishing with his family in the Cass River, nine miles northeast of Cass City when his 6-year-old son, Richard, fell from the bank into 12 feet of water.

While his wife screamed for help, the father jumped in and went under with his son. There is one other child, John, 5.

Harry McCord, 63, of Mt. Pleasant, drowned when his rowboat, equipped with an outboard motor, flipped over on Bass Lake Friday.

Chinese Reds Start New Quemoy Attack

Communists to seize these islands will be a challenge to the determination and ability of free nations in resisting aggression," he added.

DEFENSE VIGOROUS

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the defenders' guns replied vigorously but did not disclose the volume of counterfire.

The U.S. Defense Department ordered the 7th Fleet and other American naval forces in the Far East to take normal precautionary defense measures "in light of the increased activity in Taiwan Formosa Straits."

The U.S. Navy also announced that combined U.S.-Nationalist Chinese naval exercises would be held early next month to promote "close working relations" between the two forces.

U.S. AID PLEDGED

The United States is pledged by treaty to defend Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore Islands. As regards Quemoy and the other offshore islands, the Eisenhower administration has followed a policy designed to keep the Reds in doubt whether the 7th Fleet would also go into action if the Communists tried to take them.

Defense spokesmen said Nationalist warships beat back two Communist moves toward Tungting. First navy units clashed with four Red gunboats and six landing craft. An hour later the Nationalist encountered five Red gunboats and 30 armed motorized junks.

The Defense Ministry reported that several Communist torpedo boats attacked two Nationalist LSTs carrying wounded soldiers from Quemoy. One LST was sunk but all aboard were taken off. The other LST was damaged and ministry said it was towed to safety.

PURSUED BY REDS

A Peiping broadcast claimed the LSTs were taken reinforcements to Quemoy. It said they were first attacked by Red shore guns as they were sailing into a bay on Quemoy and that they fled southward and were pursued by torpedo boats.

The rain cut the number that would have normally have crowded waterfront vantage points to watch her.

At Brooklyn, around the other side of Manhattan, a Marine honor guard and a Navy band welcomed her.

Last night, the submarine passed Ambrose lightship off the southern coast of Long Island, establishing a speed record for underwater craft of 6 days, 11 hours and 55 minutes, cutting almost two days off the record previously held by the sister submarine Skate.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, a pioneer in the development of atomic submarines, boarded the Nautilus when she arrived.

Rickover remained on the sub during its sail up the Hudson and return down the river to dockside ceremonies in Brooklyn.

On Wednesday—officially "USS Nautilus Day" in New York City—Rickover and the 115 officers and men of the sub will be honored in a traditional ticker-tape parade up lower Broadway.

Labor Day Prelude

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A rash of high fatality traffic crashes across the nation yesterday marked a grim prelude to the coming Labor Day weekend. At least 33 persons were killed in multiple-fatality accidents from Maine to Oregon.

Rockefeller Picked

The Day in Birmingham

Collision Injuries Claim Life of A.R. Duncanson

BIRMINGHAM — A Birmingham man was injured fatally yesterday morning in a two-car collision in Dearborn.

Andrew R. Duncanson, 60, of 15855 Birwood Rd., was dead on arrival at the Wayne County Hospital, where his wife, Gladys, 50, was described as being in satisfactory condition this morning. She suffered head injuries.

Duncanson's car was struck broadside at Greenfield and Ford roads by an auto driven by James Mikonzyk, 39, of Detroit. Mikonzyk told police he entered the intersection as the traffic signal turned amber. He was not held.

Six hearings concerning special assessment roles for sidewalk construction — four already opposed — have been slated for the Birmingham City Commission meeting tonight.

Two sections of Stanley street, one between Lincoln avenue and Wallace street and the other between Frank and Hanna streets, each have 16 written objections.

The Police Department will present a request from the city of Royal Oak asking that the two cities share the expense of a school traffic signal on 14-Mile road near Melton street.

A 40 m.p.h. speed limit on the road makes it extremely dangerous for children crossing 14-Mile road to attend St. Columban and Our Shepherd schools, Royal Oak officials stated in a letter to the Birmingham Police Department.

Installation costs will total $880 with a $10 per month operational fee.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Macoskey will leave today for Philippi, W. Va., where Dr. Macoskey will assume a position as head of the religion and philosophy department at Alderson-Broaddus Baptist College.

The Macoskeys came to Birmingham about two years ago. Dr. Macoskey has served as assistant to the Rev. Emil Kontz, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Henry Botsford

Service for Mrs. Henry Botsford, 77, of 11 Farrand Park, Highland Park, a former Birmingham area resident, was held at 1 p.m. today at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial was in Woodmere Cemetery, Detroit.

Mrs. Botsford died Friday at her home after a short illness.

Information in Car Accident Incorrect

In Friday's editions of The Pontiac Press it was reported that a car driven by Joseph P. LaSalle 33, of 97 Fairgrove St., hit the car of Edward Barnes, 42, of 2200 W. Drahner Rd., Oxford.

This was in error. Barnes' car hit LaSalle's car broadside.

Steals Cab, Crashes; He Seeks Damages

PEORIA, Ill. (UPI) — Charles F. Losey, 21, of Peoria, wants his insurance company to pay damages on a taxicab he stole and wrecked.

He has filed suit in circuit court demanding that the company pay under the "family" policy he carried on his private car.

Police reported at the time of the incident last year that Losey walked from a tavern, climbed behind the wheel of the unmanned cab and drove off.

He was pursued by police and the cab crashed in nearby Pekin. Damages totalled about $700.

Losey told police at the time he was celebrating the birth of a daughter. Cab company officials refused to press charges when Losey agreed to pay the damages.

Similarity Between 2 Leads to Many Mixups

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Lou Kohn of nearby Ventnor and Lou Kohen of Atlantic City have much more in common than pronunciation of their names.

Both are insurance men, both have wives named Ida, sisters named Rose and brothers-in-law named Paul.

Both had accounts in the same bank until Kohn changed his. Too many mixups, they agreed, even among friends.

Recording Artists Switch Companies

NEW YORK (UPI)—A flurry of switches involving record companies and record artists kept Tin Pan Alley talking this week.

Diahann Carroll, formerly with RCA Victor, has moved to the United Artists label. She'll record two albums and four singles.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Bill "Davy Crockett" Hayes, who left Candence for ABC-Paramount last year, has moved over to Kapp. Dick Haymes, last with Capitol, will record for Sunbeam along with Barbara Carroll, who moved out of the RCA-Victor roster. Lillian Briggs, who scored with "I Want You" on Epic, also has signed with Sunbeam.

Conscience Wins Out—After 50-Year Struggle

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — A long-time friend of Jefferson County Judge I. G. Brooks walked into his office and handed him three dollars.

"What's it for?" asked Brooks.

"I owe it to you," the friend replied. "For fifty years I've been trying to get up the nerve to tell you what I had done and pay it back. You see when we were just kids I slipped it out of your pocket one day."

How to Treat Burns Explained to Parents

CHICAGO — To minimize pain and suffering from burns—which cause more injury and death among children than any other accident — parents need to know how to identify and treat them.

Some rules, listed by the American Medical Association, are:

—Because youngsters grasp anything within reach, never allow conditions to exist which lead to accidents; keep matches from children; keep pots from the edge of the range, and keep youngsters from fires.

—Determine quickly the degree burn—first degree, the skin is red; second, the skin is blistered; third, the skin is charred.

—For first or simple second degree burns, coat the affected area with an antiseptic ointment or olive oil or baby oil. This relieves pain and prevents the skin from cracking and drying out.

—For deep second and third degree burns, call a doctor immediately, since shock and infection may occur. A layman should not try to treat either.

His Special Diet Chases Away Gray Hairs

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—You rarely see a gray-haired dog.

This, ladies and gentlemen, is significant.

LOOKS YOUNGER

But more important, it signifies that a dog, on a diet of bones and fortified meat from heaven knows what animals, remains younger looking than a human on whatever a gray-haired human eats.

"We may credit poorly balanced nutrition with being responsible for many of the changes which we are accustomed to call 'senility'—among these, gray hair and wrinkled skin," quoth the authority.

"A new good sense of nutrition holds the promise of prolonging the characteristics of youth far into the years when we now ordinarily disintegrate, limb by limb. Diet isn't the only answer to a head of hair that doesn't turn gray—or a skin that remains unwrinkled in so-called old age—but it's a great big factor."

The authority, who'd like to put the tint and dye specialists out of business (let 'em sell vitamins!), is Dr. Carlton Fredericks. He's a nutritionist whose radio program "Living Should Be Fun," has been driving women to drink (blended vegetable juices, clam cocktail, other oddities) for many years.

"My objective in presenting a tested, and often successful, anti-gray hair vitamin formula is not a cosmetic one," he says. "Gray hair can be quickly recolored with dyes.

"But it has been my experience that many of the gray-haired men and women, can not only recolor their hair with vitamin supplementing—but simultaneously, the systemic effect of the vitamins creates a feeling of well being which often has the effect of turning the years back."

YOUTH REMAINS

It doesn't promise eternal youth . . . "even if you could eat yourself to 150," Fredericks points out, "you wouldn't like it; all those prejudices you'd have built up" . . . but by eating well; the characteristics of youth are not as fleeting.

The diet should include:

The usual, well-balanced food selection—with particular emphasis on the following foods: Milk, oysters, shrimps, clams, liver, sweetbreads, whole wheat, whole rye, brewer's yeast, pork and ham.

As daily vitamin supplements, the anti-gray hair formula should be constituted of 100 mg, para-amino-benzoic-acid; 30 mg, calcium pantothenate; 2 grams, choline, in a natural B-complex base fortified with additional B-vitamins.

"A final word," says Dr. Fredericks. "It may have taken years to gray your hair. Don't expect results in a few weeks. Six months is a more realistic trial period.

"Once the hair has grown in its normal color, continue the diet and the vitamins for another month. Then cease the vitamins. If grayness appears again, it will be necessary to use the vitamins indefinitely."

It must be remembered, the nutritionist remembered, that the vitamins have this action on hair coloring because they simulate the functioning of the glands: Hence, should your hair ungray itself, you may feel fairly confident that not only are you cheating the beauty parlors out of cash, you are keeping your glands from loafing on the job.

Says House Fly Less Dangerous

Scientist Denies Insect So Serious a Threat as First Suspected

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The house fly, bred in flight, has the peculiar ability to shed the disease-causing germs it lived with at birth, a University of Illinois researcher said today.

For this reason, the importance of disease carrying by flies born in refuse and other dangerous bacteria havens is probably slight, the researchers reported.

Dr. Bernard Greenberg, Illinois zoologist, traced the numbers of bacteria present in the house fly at various stages of its growth.

His report was presented at the American Institute of Biological Sciences meeting at Indiana University.

Flies lay eggs in such places as garbage, manure and sewage. The maggots which soon hatch carry tens of millions of bacteria in their systems, Dr. Greenberg said.

But by the time the larva has formed its hard outer case, it has rid itself of about 90 per cent of this bacterial load.

When the fly finally emerges, it carried with it about 1,000 bacteria—five hundred on its surface and a similar number internally.

While the fly undoubtedly spreads some of these bacteria, it is not as serious a carrier as was earlier believed, Dr. Greenberg said.

Wives Rebel at Fund Raising

Housewives are asking for a break. Maybe they need it. Without question they are the hard working leaders in our residential communities.

★ ★ ★

They are not pushing aside worthy causes; instead they are beginning to wonder how much of the load they are expected to carry. Any neighborhood volunteer work falls in the lap of the housewife.

They are called on by scout groups, church organizations, PTA's, hospitals, area associations and all the rest of the many groups seeking funds. On top of this, they support all of America's voluntary health and welfare services.

To use a time-worn expression, "they've about had it." They are fast becoming aware that to make a career of "doorbell ringing" means neglecting their families and their homes.

Indications are that they are beginning to see eye to eye with industry and organized labor. That is in insisting on one campaign that will raise the needed funds for the many appeals.

In two large cities already the housewives have banded together and succeeded in ending the weekly doorbell ringing asking for money. Over in Cleveland they now have one spring campaign which takes in all major separate health appeals. It has met with some opposition from the one-disease health agencies, but it is going ahead.

★ ★ ★

Stronger indignation has been shown in Indianapolis where the ladies have organized a "United Fund League," which is pledged to raise funds once a year exclusively for the Indianapolis United Fund.

★ ★ ★

To many of us this seems to make sense. Most housewives are harrassed, and busy enough with their own family problems without taking on weekly fund raising chores.

★ ★ ★

Our one major drive is the Pontiac tiac Area United Fund. This campaign comes once a year and should be the main objective of all area residents.

So MANY failures have resulted from attempts to launch satellites with the Vanguard that the Russians have become tired of laughing about them.

County Roads Should Be Built for Future Traffic

Today's highways must be wider for tomorrow's traffic. This word comes from engineers designing highways. Being more explicit, they point out that new roads which will be a part of the Federal highway system should be built in terms of 1980 traffic demands.

This is certainly sound planning, and we hope it will have a bearing on future roads and highways planned for Oakland County. Being the second largest county in the state, we should merit all the advance designing possible to try and keep pace with our tremendous growth.

Recently a structural design committee of the American Concrete Institute meeting in Chicago urged that roads should be at least 24 feet wide to match the 12-foot-wide lanes expected to be featured on all 1980 highways.

★ ★ ★

This would eliminate a danger that is common at present, according to E. A. FINNEY, committee chairman and director of the Highway Research Laboratory, Michigan Highway Department.

★ ★ ★

"The transition from 12 foot lanes on the expressways to 11 foot lanes on other systems creates a driving hazard," he said. He added that the extra foot also contributes to structural strength and the economic life of the pavement.

★ ★ ★

Our highways are the lifeline of the automotive industry and, for this reason alone, should have No. 1 priority by the responsible parties in Lansing and Oakland County.

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Has Failed Miserably

WASHINGTON — The 85th Congress, just adjourned, has by its inaction and failure to deal with vitally needed legislation turned out to be the worst in a half century.

LAWRENCE

For the Congress has not passed any of the proposed laws to curb Communist infiltration in the United States during the "cold war" crisis.

It has not passed any laws to punish those who openly preach the overthrow of our government by force—the Supreme Court having ruled that existing law does not cover those individuals who advocate treason.

It has not passed any laws to stop the drift in federal finances toward inflation and bankruptcy.

It has not passed any laws to stop racketeering and gangsterism by a minority of powerful labor unions.

It has not passed any laws to deal with confessed rapists now that the Supreme Court has made it easier for such criimnals to gain their liberty on technicalities.

It has not passed any laws to help the State Department to withhold passports hereafter from American citizens who are part of the Communist espionage apparatus and who can sabotage the policies of the United States while traveling abroad.

It has not passed any laws to stop the Supreme Court from ignoring states' rights, a practice severely condemned in a report approved last week by the chief justices of 36 states—three quarters of the states of the union—based on the same facts that were available to the committees of Congress for the past year.

It has not passed any laws to curb labor-union monopolies which, by industry-wide bargaining and coercive methods, virtually fix prices and keep the cost of living up so that the purchasing power of the dollar is constantly forced down.

There now will be plenty of partisan speeches boasting of how the 85th Congress has passed lots of legislation on a wide variety of subjects. But these bills were of financial benefit largely to special voting groups and, while some of the measures were meritorious, they do not by any means offset the major failures.

What really happened behind closed doors in this Congress is a big news story. Will the people ever get it? There has been much comment in the press in recent months about the "right to know" as various members of Congress have piously proclaimed that they favor the idea.

But ironically the American people have gotten far less information this year than ever before about the vote-trading, the "log-rolling" and the juggling that went on behind the scenes in both Houses of Congress.

The large newspapers and news associations maintain staff reporters to watch what's happening all day every day on Capitol Hill. This correspondent has just obtained a copy of a memorandum written by one of those reporters. Long identified with a big city newspaper, the veteran reporter of many Congresses writes:

"This has been an incredibly spendthrift Congress.

"It has also refused to face up to the Communist menace to American institutions.

"The Democratic leaders in the Senate have been caught red-handed in an alliance with the powerful and monopolistic labor unions, with the apparent aim of winning the labor vote at the polls.

"Spending by this Congress has been fantastic. There has been nothing like it before in peacetime. The effects will be spread out over many, many years."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Sober View of Alcoholism as Reported by Experts

The experts tell us that:

"One becomes an alcoholic when he begins to be concerned about how activities might interfere with his drinking instead of how drinking might interfere with his activities." (World Health Organization)

DR. BRADY

"Alcoholism is reached when the drinker stops bragging about how much he can drink and begins to lie about the amount he is drinking." (AMA Archives of Industrial Health)

"The alcoholic drinks because he has to. The drunkard drinks because he wants to. Once the alcoholic starts drinking he can't stop. The drunkard can stop whenever he feels like it." (Father Ptau's book "A Priest's Own Story")

★ ★ ★

"One drink is too many. Twenty are not enough." (Skid Row alcoholic in medical interview)

★ ★ ★

"Alcoholism is drinking to escape problems created by drinking." (Panelist at Yale Center of Alcohol Studies)

★ ★ ★

"More alcoholics per capita are reported in San Francisco than in any other city of the nation. Alcoholism there is nearly four times that of the over-all U. S. rate." (Jour. American Medical Assn.)

FEWER DRINKERS

"Since 1945 there has been a decline of 18 per cent in the ratio of alcoholic beverage consumers to total adult population." (A Gallup poll)

"Drunkenness is causing psychic disorders, idiocy and other such ailments, and the time has come now for the formation of a mass, voluntary, good-living society." (Dr. Lydia Bogdanovich, quoted in official Russian press reports.)

"In recent years, with wider public recognition of their problem as a disease, many women alcoholics have come out of their solitary drinking to seek relief. Estimates of the number of women alcoholics in the United States range from one to two million." (Psychologist Edith S. Lisansky)

"An alcohol addict is a person with an uncontrollable craving for alcohol. The outstanding criterion is the inability to break with the habit. Alcohol serves the purpose of creating an artificial social adjustment." (Bowman and Jellinik, quoted in the book Alcohol Explored, by Haggard and Jellinik.)

"Drs. Gonzales and Gettler found 0.1 per cent or more alcohol in the blood of 613 out of 2,472 pedestrians killed in traffic accidents in New York City." (Alcohol Explored, by Haggard and Jellinik.)

Now if a non-expert may interject a word, I think it is unfortunate that neither the determination of the amount of alcohol in the blood nor the estimation of the amount in the expired air (by "drunkometer") gives more than presumptive evidence of intoxication or "being under the influence." As evidence the opinion of one or more competent observers that the individual was or was not under the influence or intoxicated may outweigh either test.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Detroiter Backs Esperanto as International Language

With the new jet age in aviation and worldwide television more and more people will need to communicate internationally, but will have little patience with the multiplicity of languages. In diplomacy, business and other international fields, also, the linguistic chaos could be overcome through one simple international language taught in all nations as their second language.

Esperanto is such an international language. Its regularity of rules, yet flexibility and richness, and above all the impressive success it has achieved in 70 years' use, always fulfilling beautifully its international function, make Esperanto the ideal "interlanguage."

Information may be had from The Esperanto League, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

More Readers Ask North End Station

The recent fire downtown destroyed the whole building and some other damage, with the fire hall just across the street. Just think what would happen to a whole block of buildings if a train were to be on the track when the alarm was put in for a fire in the north end. Our need seems to be as great as any, and any fire station is better than none.

Interested Taxpayer

There's no doubt we need a new fire house in the center of the city. We in the north end are in complete agreement with this; however, we would like to remind the City Commission that there is a very great need for fire protection in the Baldwin-Walton-Joslyn area. This has been greatly intensified since the installation of the rail yard near the Baldwin-Walton intersection. A train across Baldwin Avenue could mean the utter destruction of a home or store, with subsequent loss of taxes to the City.

★ ★ ★

Surveys have shown this need for fire protection in the north end; fire insurance companies are conscious of the need and certainly citizens of the area recognize it. When is it to be forthcoming? The present fire house on East Pike has withstood elements for 97 years. We feel it could withstand one or two more to give the north end the protection it needs and for which it is taxed.

★ ★ ★

I see a nearby town gave its fire department valuable experience and at the same time got rid of some eyesores. I wish the Pontiac Fire Department would practice on a dozen eyesores on West Kennett Road — abandoned County Welfare homes. They must make a tremendous impression on people entering our fair city by Kennett Road.

"Dr. Crane, I need some vocational advice," she began, after I had addressed the student body at Anderson College.

DR. CRANE

"I am of a nervous temperament. I don't like to sit still or be cooped up in an office.

"So what should I study in college? I am now majoring in Commerce, for I think I'd like to be a traveling saleswoman.

"But I'm not sure. So I am upset. It seems to me a person should know what he wishes to do in life by the time he is in college, but I don't."

VOCATIONAL ADVICE

Most freshmen at college still don't know what they wish to pursue as a lifetime career.

★ ★ ★

In fact, I once made a survey of my senior Liberal Arts students at Northwestern University.

They were graduating the following month, after four years on the campus.

Yet 50 per cent of them still didn't know what kind of a job to pick!

"If you are a high school graduate, considering college, don't let lack of a definite goal prevent your going to to the university.

And don't develop a supernatural respect for Vocational Guidance.

There is no such thing as a "one and only job" for you. Everybody can make a success in many types of work.

★ ★ ★

Which type you choose depends on many factors, including necessity and even luck.

If you have an I.Q. sufficient to graduate from a first rate high school, then you have the mental machinery to tackle any line of work.

And if you have good eyesight, hearing and other sensory acuteness, you can enter art or music or any field you wish.

★ ★ ★

"But I don't prefer anything," wails Mabel.

Neither do most students! So be sure you stay in the main educational current and keep headed onward and upward.

There is no innate fondness for any kind of work. For you must learn to like your job, just as most of us learn to like a desirable member of the opposite sex.

Love generally grows out of a casual date. After we get better acquainted with one another and feel comfortable in such companionship, we begin to grow fond of the other person. Soon we may be ardently in love.

Well, the same thing is true of school subjects, as well as jobs. If we stick to math or to salesmanship long enough to become proficient thereat, then we begin to like math or selling.

For "liking" develops from being adept and successful. And so it is in life, for most people at age 50 are in careers they never dreamed of at the age of 15 or even at 20 years of age.

If you are of a jittery temperament, obviously you will not like to be confined to watch repairing or other close work that limits you to a chair.

If you are a shy introvert, more interested in a chemical set than in people, you may feel happier at an introvertive job, such as engineering, bookkeeping, etc.

However, you aren't "born" an introvert or an extrovert. You learn those personality traits, but you can also "unlearn" them and acquire the opposite if you resolve to do so.

For further advice, send for my booklet, "Vocational Guidance Tests," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (nonprofit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

New Cabinet Accepted for East Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—Parliamentary government was restored to the province of East Pakistan today. A six-member cabinet headed by Awami League leader Ataurrehman Khan was sworn in.

The central government in Karachi had suspended parliamentary government June 25 after the fall in quick session of two United Front cabinets.

The new Awami government still must win a vote of confidence within two months in the Provincial Assembly, where the United Front claims it has a majority.

Civil Air Patrol Cadets Find Summer Busy Time

By DICK SAUNDERS

The life of a Pontiac Civil Air Patrol cadet can be busy and exciting, as proven this summer by cadet John Fromm, who has spent most of the summer coming and going.

★ ★ ★

Fromm, 18, of 942 Wagner St., Bloomfield Township, has just returned from a month in Europe as one of six Michigan men on a cadet exchange program.

★ ★ ★

Over the weekend he was going again, this time to the annual SARCAP (Simulated Air Rescue by the Civil Air Patrol), at the Alma City Airport. The event is held by the Michigan Wing of the C.A.P. each summer.

The Pontiac unit was represented by approximately 15 to 20 of its members.

Fromm took part in missions with the French Air Cadets from July 13 to August 16.

He was chosen on his merits from over 50 nominees throughout the state earlier this year. While in France he listed his greatest experiences as engaging in a dog fight with a French cadet and making his first parachute jump.

★ ★ ★

The jump, according to Fromm, was quite unusual considering he had never made one before.

"It was a delayed action jump from 4,000 feet." By delayed action, he explained, "I held the cord for 7½ seconds — or from 4,000 to 700 feet — before pulling it."

The maneuvers this weekend were built mainly around a search and rescue mission. Cadets and seniors were given only a rough idea of the area in which to look for a downed plane.

Fromm said that any youth from 14 to 21 years old can join the local group. The basic class lasts from 8 to 10 weeks with meetings every Wednesday evening.

Fromm, who joined the local unit in January, 1956, is now a cadet with the advisory council of the Michigan Wing and serves the Pontiac group only in an advisory capacity.

Mexican Decree Snatches Huge Ranch From U.S. Owners After 57 Years

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico has invoked a 41-year-old constitutional provision to take the 650,000-acre Cananea ranch from the American family which had owned it for 57 years.

An expropriation decree signed July 31 by President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines was published last week, when it appeared that the ranch's owners would refuse a government offer amounting to about $4 an acre for the vast property straddling the U. S. border.

MAINTAINS SILENCE

William C. Greene Jr., son of the founder of the Cananea empire, would not comment on the Mexican seizure of the family property.

It has been announced that a group of Mexican investors bought the nation's telephone system from the U. S.-Swedish combine which had been operating it.

The telephone network was purchased for a reported 28 million dollars from Telefonos de Mexico, a firm controlled jointly by America's International Telephone and Telegraph Company and Sweden's Ericsson Company.

HOPED TO BUY

A presidential spokesman said Ruiz had hoped that the Cananea property could be obtained for Mexico by purchase, like the telephone system. Observers believe the president was determined to take over the property, in one way or another, before his term expires Dec. 1.

"The government would have preferred to purchase the property without using a decree, but litigations and disagreement among the heirs made this impossible," the spokesman said.

The expropriation decree directs the Finance Department to set a value on the Cananea land and to "pay it immediately" in cash to the person or persons showing a right to it."

It provides that the Agriculture Department shall take over the land and break it up into small ranches and farms "to satisfy the needs of landless peasants in Sonora state."

There have been persistent reports, however, that a syndicate of Mexican politicians and financiers would take over the ranch, maintaining it intact.

The newspaper Excelsior, commenting on these reports, said that "political demagoguery and acquisition of the land by a band of financial pals" must not be allowed to defeat land-reform laws.

The Cananea ranch was founded in 1901 by the late William C. Greene, who had gone to Mexico 12 years earlier to prospect for copper. He sold out his copper holdings and decided to concentrate on cattle ranching.

He acquired a tract of land extending along both sides of the border between Mexico and Arizona from Douglas almost to Nogales. The Mexican portion of the ranch includes the towns of Cananea, Santa Cruz, Naco and Agua Prieta.

The land is semi-arid, usable for the most part only as cattle range. The Greenes now have about 37,000 beef cattle on the Mexican side of the line.

The elder Greene called Arizona Rangers across the border in 1906 to protect the ranch against strikers. The Arizona "invasion" was a factor in setting off the 1910 revolution.

When Greene died in 1911, the property passed to six heirs who had retained it intact.

The constitution of 1917 forbade foreigners to own land within 62 miles of the border. Ruiz acted under this clause in ordering expropriation of the land, although it had not previously been invoked.

Picture Cards Rake in Funds

Post Office Expecting Additional $33 Million From Increased Rates

Stamp increases which became effective Aug. 1 include a rise from two to three cents for regular-mail cards, four to five cents for airmail service. The government's plain, prestamped cards (properly called postal instead of post cards) will sell for three instead of two cents. Airmailed postals will be five cents instead of four.

★ ★ ★

Of the 60 billion pieces of written mail now handled by the Post Office annually, nearly three and a third billion are cards, says the National Geographic Society. Their contributions to government revenue have amounted recently to some $66 million a year, with an additional $33 million expected from the increased rates.

America's huge post card traffice got its start in 1861, when John P. Charlton, of Philadelphia, obtained a copyright for the first practical open-face mailing form.

Shortly after, the inventor passed his copyright on to another Philadelphian, who set up a business in printing and selling "Lipman's Postal Cards."

The government entered the field in 1873 with its own postals. Sold for a penny each—a price maintained with only brief interruption until 1952—the cards won immediate and widespread public acceptance.

The printed stamps on the first official postals showed the profile of the Goddess of Liberty. Later editions bore portraits of Jefferson, Grant, McKinley, Washington, Lincoln and Franklin, among others.

Privately produced picture cards, too, began to come into fashion in the 1870s. Whether the industry's birthplace was in Germany or France, as variously indicated, its scenes and comic designs soon were attracting attention and snickers around the world.

Dynamite on Trailer Explodes, Killing 4

MONSELICE, Italy (AP) — A truck trailer loaded with explosives blew up today in front of the hospital in this town near Padua, killing four men in an adjoining bar.

The trailer jolted loose on a curve and overturned.

The dead were a father, his two sons and a nephew. They were engulfed in flames from the blast as they sat at a table in an open-front bar alongside the street.

Trade Cars, Hit Head-On

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Floyd and Gene Wilkins agreed to swap automobiles for the day. An hour later, they met on a highway curve—headon. Neither was injured. Police said the brothers decided to keep the matter strictly within the family.

3-Car Crash Leaves 5 Dead, 7 Injured

MADISONVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A three-car collision on a straight stretch of U.S. 411 Sunday left five persons dead and seven others injured, two critically.

The dead: Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Bowles Jr., 26 and 25, and their 2-year-old daughter, Becky Jo; Mrs. Nora Walker Stucker, 56, and Mrs. Chandler Connors, 52, all of Shelbyville, Ky.

State Trooper Wallace Mills said the five occupied the Miami-bound Bowles' car. He said the mishap occurred when the one vehicle attempted to pass another and collided headon with the Kentuckians.

Tropical Storm Threat Belittled

Not Expected to Hurt Land Areas as It Stirs Off Florida Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The fourth tropical storm of the year—Daisy—churned Atlantic waters 275 miles off the Florida coast today. The Weather Bureau said it likely will not endanger land areas.

The storm had winds up to 55 miles a hour and was tending to move in a northerly direction. A gradual increase in size and intensity is expected.

★ ★ ★

If it keeps its present course, the storm would hit the North Carolina coast but Miami hurricane forecaster Paul Moore emphasized no such prediction has been made.

"On the contrary," he said, "we do not think there is much likelihood of it hitting any land area. You know, these storms don't travel on a staight line. They meander and follow a circular course."

He added, "We can certainly say Florida is in no danger."

The Weather Bureau forecast it would move north at about 10 m.p.h. during the next 11 hours with a slow increase in forward speed thereafter.

The 10 m.p.h. speed is slow for tropical storms. They frequently pick up fury and breadth when they move slowly.

Back To School

Teachers Differ on Helping Child

But Generally Agree Aid Can Sometimes Be a Good Thing

At one time or another, every mother and father is faced with the problem of children's homework.

Tommy, lugging home books and papers, feels he's had enough study for one day. And, besides, there's a good Western or perhaps a ball game on TV. Mary has other interests, too.

Torn between a desire to have their children enjoy themselves and the feeling they should get the full benefit of schooling, the parants develop a mental conflict that is a problem in itself.

The problem often extends further. A child, for whatever resason —lacking interest or insufficient capacity to grasp studies — may want or need help on homework. How much help should the parents give?

There is no unanimity of opinion on this question among leading educators.

★ ★ ★

Prof. Millie Almy of the department of psychological foundations and services of Teachers College, Columbia University, says the question "is very complex and cannot be answered by a straight yes or no, since it depends on the kind of homework, the age of the child and the kind of child. If the parent can help constructively, the answer is yes: if the parent's help results only in a battle, then the answer is no."

Another faculty member at Teachers College, Prof. Emma D. Sheehy says:

"I hope parents will show a lively interest in the youngster's work in school. Anything that makes a child feel that his parents have a genuine interest in his work is good. Parents can help their children with homework by showing interest in what children are doing and pointing out different approaches to problems."

Algerian Nationalists Kill 4 Paris Police

PARIS (AP)—Algerian nationalists shot four Paris policemen dead today in a raid on a stationhouse. At the same time a series of explosions and fires erupted in the provinces.

Authorities believed the rash of incidents was part of a new terror campaign by the Algerians to attract attention to their demand for full independence.

The outbreaks came as Premier de Gaulle toured French Africa to drum up support for his new constitution to be voted on Sept. 28 in a public reneferdum.

Explosions and fire in gas and oil storage tank depots were reported in Narbonne, Toulouse and Marseille in southern France. Other fires were reported in Paris suburbs.

There are about 300,000 Algerians working in metropolitan France. Today's incidents appeared to be coordinated. All occurred between 2 a. m. and 3 a.m.

Commuter and Sleeper Collide Near Station of English Resort

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) — Five persons were killed and 31 injured today in the rush-hour collision of a crowded commuter train and a sleeper loaded with Scottish holidayers.

The collision occurred at the station of this south coast resort. The Glasgow train was just pulling into the station; the London-bound commuter train had just pulled out.

All the dead were reported aboard the commuter train. One was the driver of the electric locomotive. Two of the train's cars were catapulted onto the station platform.

Two freight cars of the Glasgow train were telescoped.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! Introductory size 43¢.

Germany Believes U.S. Leads in Missile Race

BONN—The official spokesman for Germany's defense department states his government considers Russia "hopelessly behind" America in scientific progress on missiles and satellites.

Press Minister Wolfram von Raven said that even though the Soviets obviously are ahead in thrust power to launch heavier satellites, he believes the U. S. will catch up "within a couple of months."

"Maybe America already has the know-how and is just not boasting about it," he said. "At any rate, my government has full confidence that this particular lag is meaningless and short-lived."

Von Raven said he has reason to believe that Russia has neglected more important, broader fields of missiles research in order to concentrate on "three or four phases that can make a big propaganda splash."

By contrast, he declared, the U. S. is much farther advanced on research into the military uses of smaller rockets and space missiles.

One of the main problems facing nations during the cold war, the defense expert said, is making full military and scientific use of space satellites. In this respect, he insisted, the U. S. is far ahead of Russia in the development of electronic instruments within the satellites, despite the fact that the Soviet Sputniks were larger in size.

"The fundamental difference in the space race," he shrugged, "is that the U. S. works on a broad basis in all fields, while the Soviets concentrate on a few projects which make a big sensation abroad. When the U. S. achieves something, it is a thorough step-by-step process that represents an important breakthrough. Russia is hopelessly behind in all the broader phases of the race."

Von Raven pointed out that because America is a free country, it dares to announce when something goes wrong with a satellite or missile launching, while from Russia only the successes are publicized.

"Every technical research is paved by misfortunes," he smiled, "but we never hear of such failures in Russia. The accomplishment of your two atomic submarines in their recent polar exploits proves the high standards of U. S. technical advancement."

★ ★ ★

Asked if the Bonn government experienced disappointment at the failure of our moon rocket, he replied: "Absolutely no. The first try did not succeed. The second or third one will. What does it matter who is first in shooting the moon? You will do it in good time, because your research is so sound."

Dag Will Leave for Middle East

Embarks Today to Set Plans for Withdrawing U. S., British Troops

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) —United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold leaves for the Middle East today to arrange for "early" withdrawal of American and British troops from Lebanon and Jordan.

He is scheduled to leave (at 7:30 p.m. EST) by commercial airliner for Beirut and Amman to fulfill a peace-making task handed him by an 80-0 vote at a special emergency session of the U. N. General assembly.

In those two capitals Hammarskjold will begin the job of setting up "practical arrangements" for giving Lebanon and Jordan a sense of security from outside dangers, so that the Anglo-American forces may be withdrawn.

His negotiations also will take him to Cairo, capital of the United Arab Republic, without whose agreement no "arrangements" would be meaningful, and perhaps to Saudi Arabia.

With the Arab countries themselves having produced the resolution that the General Assembly adopted—and that Hammarskjold will be carrying out—the edge was off the Mideast crisis and the secretary's chances of success were considered good.

In fact, U. N. diplomats believed that a good part of the U. S. forces, and possibly of the British forces too, will have been withdrawn from the Middle East by the time Hammarskjold must report back to the General Assembly. He has until Sept. 30 to do so.

Australian External Affairs Minister Richard G. Casey voiced the consensus among U. N. diplomats when he said in London yesterday that the world is "getting over the Middle East crisis, or at least (is) in sight of the end.".

★ ★ ★

The Arab League, whose principles the Arab countries' U. N. resolution invoked, unofficially invited Hammarskjold to its meeting in Cairo Sept. 6. He will be in Cairo at that time, and League officials said he would be welcome at their meeting as an observer.

Bagwell Campaigning for Governor in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Republican Paul B. Bagwell, who escaped injury in a crash landing of a plane Saturday, swings his campaign for governor into Detroit today.

Bagwell and his party narrowly missed injury when the twin-engine plane in which they were riding was forced down at a small airport in Blaney State Park in the Upper Peninsula by bad weather. The plane groundlooped on the wet sod and was wrecked.

No one was hurt, however, and Bagwell motored on to Escanaba for a speech Saturday evening.

Alaska to Vote on Statehood

Tomorrow's Poll Will Decide Fate Hanging in Balance for Years

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A generation of debate on the merits of statehood for Alaska will be settled tomorrow at the polls.

★ ★ ★

A "yes" vote — on thre separate referendum propositions — would mean creation of the new state probably in late December or early January. Actual admission will come with the issuance of a presidential proclamation after the results are in from a general election in November.

★ ★ ★

Most forecasts were that statehood would carry by at least a 2-1 majority of the more than 35,000 ballots that are expected to be cast. For the first time in Alaska, 19 and 20 year old residents will be among those voting.

Opposition to the end of territorial status has come largely from residents who fear new and higher taxes to support a state government.

Many federal employes in the territory also have expressed fears that statehood would bring an end to a 25 per cent cost of living allowance they now receive for working in Alaska.

For the first time, Alaskans will be voting for officials seeking elective offices of governor and secretary of state. In addition, candidates will be nominated for two U.S. Senate seats and one seat in the U.S. House.

If statehood carries in the referendum, a general election to name the first state officials will be held Nov. 25.

Elvis Says His Father to Remain Near Him

★ ★ ★

Presley, returning to Ft. Hood after attending his mother's funeral in Memphis, Tenn., said, "One of the last things Mom said was that Dad and I should always be together. I'll report back to Ft. Hood in the morning. Wherever they send me Dad will go too."

★ ★ ★

His outfit is reported to be scheduled for duty in Germany.

The teen-agers' idol said they would keep their home in Memphis.

Hollywood Headlines

Tina Louise Will Return From Italy for 'Hangman'

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is in Hawaii her column will be written by Dorothy Manners)

HOLLYWOOD — Blonde Tina Louise's trip to the Venice Film Festival will be a short one. She's due back here by Sept. 15 for Robert Taylor's lead in "The Hangman" at Paramount. Seems funny to be talking about Taylor at Paramount. He's been at MGM as long as the lion.

★ ★ ★

Tina recently finished "The Trap" on the Paramount lot and before that she clicked in "God's Little Acre."

Frank Freeman Jr. is producing "The Hangman" and Mike Curtiz directs the outdoor adventure yarn.

For the next five years, Gary Crosby will make two movies per year for 20th Century-Fox on a non-exclusive deal signed with Buddy Adler. The contract permits Bing's eldest to make outside films and also to appear on TV.

The surprise of Gary's appearance in "Mardi Gras" is not his singing but that he comes over very well as a flip-type comedian. Meanwhile, he's rented a house high atop a Hollywood hill which will be a sort of general headquarters for his non-married brothers, Philip and Lindsay, when they are in town.

Still another postponement for Marlon Brando's "Guns Up" which had been scheduled for a June start, then was postponed to September and now is pushed ahead to the middle of October.

Marlon's associate producer Frank Rosenberg has returned from Mexico City with screen tests of 10 girls in the runnig for the lead with Marlon. Some of Mexico's best known glamor girls consented to make tests in the fond hopes of making a picture with Marlon.

For the next week or two, Brando, director Stanley Kubick and Rosenberg will be in the Paramount projection room selecting the winning belle.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS:

If the deal for Bob Hope to make "Alias Jesse James" on the MGM lot jells, Robin will inherit Clark Gable's old quarters.

★ ★ ★

Ava Gardner and Tony Franciosa, who started the "Goya" film in Rome with icy politeness, are now so chummy she's sharing the home-cooked food she brings to the studio for lunch with him. (And don't read anything more into this than is intended — Just friends, friends).

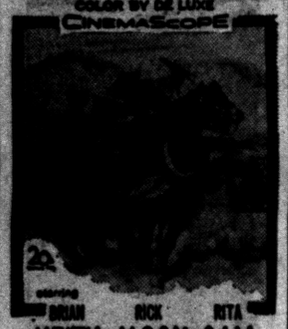

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Vacations Costing Plenty

Injury Toll Shakes Underwriters

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The returning vacationer mixing with the millions taking to the roads for the long Labor Day weekend is sending anticipatory shivers today down the spines of the companies that write auto and personal injury insurance.

★ ★ ★

Because after the shock and grief at the death and injury toll that mars every holiday, comes the day of reckoning.

Americans spent three billion dollars last year for auto liability insurance. But the insurance companies say the settlements are mounting so high that many no longer are breaking even. The clamor is on for even higher insurance rates — just another phase of the inflation story.

Part of the rise in settlement claims comes from the increased cost of patching up injured bodies and repairing damaged property.

These reflect increases in medical, hospital and rehabilitation care, and higher compensation to make up for lost earnings under current wage scales.

Property damage mounts because of such features as wrap around windshields, elaborate fender sections with multiple lighting units, more ornamental and expensive bumpers, and dashboard gadgets galore.

The auto liability companies charge that on top of these rising costs there is a growing tendency to demand higher settlements. They contend that juries grow more liberal each year, if the matter goes to court instead of being settled by direct negotiation. Higher court awards encourage higher out-of-court settlements.

Insurance firms dislike going to court, not only because of the liberality with insurance company money they charge to today's juries, but also because drawn out court actions tie up their reserves.

A spokesman for the 287-member National Assn. of Independent Insurers notes that auto insurance is now so common its existence is taken for granted. Some insurance men suspect this could be a subconscious factor in making drivers a little more careless and in making complainants a little more demanding.

The Assn. of Casualty and Surety Companies complains that "Even exemplary citizens are under continuous heavy pressure by their friends to exaggerate claims in auto accident cases."

The National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters says its 114 members collectively lost 147 million dollars last year on auto accident settlements. This boiled down to $116.70 in liability claim costs for each $100 of premiums earned.

The pressure on the states to allow higher insurance rates is strong. The bureau reports that so far 31 states have granted rate increases on private passenger cars. The boosts range from 1.8 per cent to 33.1 per cent.

The Mutual Insurance Rating Bureau, which figures out optimum auto liability rates for 70 mutual firms, says its recommendations have resulted in 24 states raising the insurance costs by amounts ranging up to 30 per cent.

★ ★ ★

All of this is unpleasant for the car owner, who has plenty of other rising costs to cope with. But insurance men say it's necessary because the mounting highway toll of injury and damage and the increasing size of the average claim settlement have been running them into the red.

Instructs Further on Integration

Federal Judge Tells Norfolk School Board to Reconsider Issues

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A federal district judge today gives this Southern seaport city's school board further instructions on school integration.

Judge Walter E. Hoffman has accused the board of dragging its feet for 18 months on his desegration order. He was expected to tell the board to take another look at some of the applications filed by Negroes for admission to white schools.

The public schools reopen Sept. 8.

Applications were filed by 151 Negroes, and 88 of them submitted to tests and interviews required by the board in its pupil assignment plan. The board turned down all the applicants. Fifth of those who took the tests asked Hoffman to direct the board to admit them to white schools.

After weeklong hearings, Hoffman instructed the board Friday night to appear before him today. During the weekend the judge prepared instructions directing the board to meet at its earliest convenience and reconsider some of the applications it had rejected.

The instructions, similar to those a judge gives a trial jury, informed the board of Hoffman's interpretation of its duties as related to principles of law.

These interpretations dealt with legal aspects of the five grounds on which the board denied the Negroes' applications. The grounds were racial tensions, isolation of Negroes in predominantly white schools, lack of scholastic achievement, too frequent transfers and geographical boundaries.

Watkins Lake Regatta Held

Even though that big one got away, Kristin Vanden-Berg and Lindsay Woods had a good time as they participated in the activities during the parade and barbecue.

Fall Forecast

When the current vogue of souffle and bubble-hairdos burst, which way will styles fall? They are forecast to float into lines that are closer to the head, casually waved instead of curly. Necklines must be trimmer. For upward moving lines of fashion trim would make the facial scene too cluttered if coifs were low or dangling around the nape. The direction in which the hair is combed is the secret that produces varied style effects.

Complement your fashionable wardrobe with the right coif. It takes professional know-how to do the trick. Let us create your fall "do." Keep the Letters Friendly

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Before I married I dated a young man for about a year during his stay in my home town for business training. When he left, we corresponded regularly on a very friendly basis, nothing serious. I was married several months ago and moved to another city.

"This young man learned of my new address upon his return to my home town and sent me a very friendly letter, asking for the news, etc. Would it be proper for me to continue to write to him now that I am married? My husband has never met him."

Answer: If your husband does not object, and neither you nor your old date write anything that you would not willingly show to your husband, you may continue this correspondence.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it a breach of good manners to ask a bride-to-be what she and her attendants are wearing at the wedding? The other day I asked this of a friend who is soon to be married and she promptly changed the subject, completely ignoring my question. Since then I have been wondering whether I were wrong to ask."

Answer: There was no bad manners in asking this question because many brides do like to talk about their plans, but others like to keep them a secret. Evidently this bride was one of the latter and all she had to say, instead of ignoring your question was, "I want to keep the wedding plans a surprise."

Beauty and the beast take a good look at one another during the Venetian Night parade. Pam Morris gets a good close-up view of this great sea monster,, one of the colorful floats in the parade.

'Auntie's' Time Will Come—Abby

Just Sit Back and Wait, Mom

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: We just had our first child. This is the first grandchild on both my side and my husband's side and naturally it was a big occasion for all. My mother is younger than my mother-in-law and she doesn't mind being called a "GRANDMOTHER" but my mother-in-law made it very plain that she wants our child to call her 'AUNT.' Now, have you ever heard of anything so foolish? Don't you think they should BOTH be called Grandmother?"

ABBY

NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOM: If your mother-in-law wants to be called AUNT — let the child call her AUNT. When the child wants to know why his Aunt is married to his grandfather, let his "Aunt" straighten it out.

"DEAR ABBY: I don't know why I can't get a girl to go out with me more than once. I am considered very handsome. I have a good car. I've been told I should teach dancing I am so good. I am also very smart and can carry on a conversation with anybody on any subject. Maybe I need a head-shrinker?"

DREAMBOY

DEAR DREAMBOY: You could use a headshrinker. Yours is a couple of sizes too big.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: In your 'Confidential to Bill' you said, 'Gentlemen prefer blondes because blondes know what gentlemen prefer.' Well, let me tell you something. I have been a blonde all my life and I can tell you that I am one blonde who knows for sure what gentlemen prefer. They prefer REDHEADS! My sister is a redhead and that's how I know."

Outgoing Personality Fosters Friendship

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I suppose that good friends really should be emotional first-aid stations. With a real friend we can blow our top, let our hair down, complain to high heaven, be completely inconsistent, or act as silly as we wish. With a real friend we never are self-conscious or defensive, and we can say what comes naturally.

This is not a sad commentary on the human race. Everyone has so many personal problems that most folks just do not have the emotional capacity to deal with their own problems and ours also. They need a lift themselves.

We all have known people who are so lacking in self-confidence and have so many peeves and resentments, that we brace ourselves or run for our lives whenever we see them coming. This type must be soothed by the attention of hoards of so-called friends. They seldom keep friends for long and usually flit from one group to another.

As a general attitude, people love to see us if we make them feel comfortable, if we give them a lift, if we remember that they also may have problems. They like to see us if it makes the day seem brighter and their troubles lighter.

And, this is good for us. It means that we must have an outgoing attitude, that we must be glad to give as much as we receive.

We are living in a day of wonders and they are not all confined to atomic energy. To me, plastic surgery is one of the most exciting modern-day miracles. The things they are doing are truly remarkable!

Recently we have been hearing more and more about "sandpaper surgery" and "dermal abrasion." Many of my readers have asked what the difference is between the two and how they are used. Therefore I am bringing you some detailed information. When I tell you that this comes from members of The American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery, you will know that you can rely on it.

Readers must realize that surgery cannot erase scars. It sometimes can improve their appearance so that they are hardly noticeable.

Actually sandpaper surgery, skin planing and dermal abrasion are merely different techniques to accomplish the same end. The underlying principle is the surgical abrasion of the upper layers of the skin in order to treat scars, and occasionally remove freckles and certain types of birthmarks.

Sandpaper surgery was developed during World War II when a surgeon discovered that men were much more disturbed emotionally by the unsightly appearance of their face when it had been damaged by the explosion of a land mine than they were by multiple body wounds. Facial marring was caused by bits of dirt, gunpowder and debris, which had been forced into the skin by the explosion.

This surgeon developed a technique which employed sterile sandpaper to abrade the top layers of the skin down to the area where the dirt was embedded. When the skin healed, its top layer regenerated and the small pockets of dirt usually disappeared.

BY HAND

The first sandpaper surgery was performed by hand, with the surgical paper wrapped around a gauze roll. However, new techniques developed and today a motor-driven hand instrument is usually used, with the skin either abraded by sterile emery paper, especially prepared for the surgeon, or by a rotary wire brush.

The following are conditions which surgeons feel are aided by this procedure: Acne scars, and sometimes freckles and birthmarks

Your Party Need Not Cost Much

Want to give a party that is painless on the pocketbook? Try the shop-as-you-save party. All you do is make up a party menu, buy items that fall into that groove whenever you have a little extra money. When you have enough food, then you party.

The trick requires a freezer or freezer compartment of the refrigerator. That way corn chowder, beef stew, spaghetti, meat pies or anything that strikes your fancy may be frozen for your shindig that is in the offing.

* * *

One college belle has even used this method for entertaining her friends at school. She freezes favorite cookies and snacks, then her mother mails them to her when she is away at school and planning a dormitory party. She makes up batches of favorite cheese and meat spreads, candies and cookies that will be thawed out by the time they arrive at their destination. (Candy takes about two hours to thaw.)

Here is a menu one practical teenager used recently for a freezer party: Snacks, hamburgers on toasted buns, pickles, spaghetti with tomato sauce, ice cream and cookies. These make good eating for hungry Jacks or dainty eating Jills.

You can extend the hamburgers with bread crumbs, wrapping them individually in plastic film, wax paper or foil, and then packing them in the square waxed freezing containers that will not freeze.

Which Index Do You Want to Use?

Did Cost of Living Go Up or Down for Month of July? It Depends

NEW YORK (UPI)—Did the cost of living rise or fall last month?

The government said it rose—by 0.2 per cent. The National Industrial Conference Board, a highly respected private research group, said it fell—by 0.1 per cent.

The Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics started keeping tabs on the cost of living in October, 1919. The conference board started in mid-1918.

Since those days there have been times when the indexes have agreed precisely. At other times they have disagreed widely. What accentuates the current difference is not so much the gap of three-tenths of a percentage point but the occurrence of the gap at the point where it means either a rise or a decline.

But why should there be differences at all since both indexes seek to measure the same thing?

It's not because of errors or the size of the staffs of either organization although the government staff is larger, experts say. Rather, the reason involves different procedures for collecting information.

The major areas of disagreement in the July indexes were in the food and transportation sectors. The BLS showed food costs of 0.1 per cent and transportation up 1 per cent. The NICB reported food off 0.3 per cent and transportation up 0.6 per cent.

Each index collects data from a different set of cities, although there is overlapping. The conference board's food component represents information from four large cities—New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Houston—collected monthly, and 12 smaller cities collected quarterly. The Labor Department's food calculation is arrived at by sampling 46 cities monthly.

An anlysis of both indexes shows that month-to-month differences between them generally iron themselves out and establish a trend over a period of several months.

Take the May and June changes in the public transportation segments of both indexes, for example. In May the BLS showed costs steady and in June an 0.9 per cent rise, while the NICB showed costs up 0.04 per cent in May and 0.3 per cent in June.

Averaging the changes over the two-month period finds a difference of only two points.

One heartening thing for consumers about both indexes is that they show living costs are leveling out. And Commissioner of Labor Statistics Ewan Clague comes up with this optimistic note — Price stability should persist for "six months, maybe a year."

Negro Youths Break Barrier

Enter White Churches in Oklahoma City; To Resume Campaign

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Oklahoma City Negro youths said they will resume their campaign today to gain food service at downtown stores.

Forty Negro teen-agers divided into groups of two yesterday and entered 20 white churches for morning services. In all but three, they said they were received cordially.

The integration movement began last week when 16 walked into Katz's Drugstore Tuesday night and asked to be served. They were denied. The management finally served them Thursday. Kress' department store served them Friday.

Mrs. Clara Luper, adviser to the Youth Council, told newsmen the group would not boycott stores which refused to serve them food. The youngsters addressed a mass meeting last night, telling of their attendance at the white churches.

At two churches, they said they were told they could attend only if they sat separately from the white congregation.

She said that at a third — the Kelham Avenue Baptist Church—the pastor asked them to leave.

The pastor, the Rev. David C. Hall, said he "merely informed them that regardless of my personal position I didn't think attending church here would provide any sympathy for their movement."

★ ★ ★

Hall added, "We have had excellent relations with our Negro citizens and have worked with them in many projects."

Both Parties in New York Stumble at Conventions

By The Associated Press

Republicans and Democrats had trouble choosing nominees for the U. S. Senate at New York state conventions opening today but their problems were of different kinds.

The Democrats had too many candidates; the Republicans too few. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey moved onto the Republican convention scene at Rochester and threw his still-powerful influence behind the effort to find a nominee. He squashed any speculation, however, that he might run himself.

At Buffalo, 80 miles away, former Air Force Secretary Thomas K. Finletter apparently held a slim, shaky lead over Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan of Manhattan in a field of six declared candidates. New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner was a seventh possibility.

Both parties still had a day to make up their minds. On opening day, the two-day conventions were devoted to speeches and other formalities. The nominations for governor were set for tonight.

Gov. Averell Harriman, for the Democrats, and Nelson Rockefeller, for the Republicans, are unopposed for the top spots on the tickets, thus assuring a battle of millionaires.

Majority Leader Joseph F. Carlino of the State Assembly last night publicly refused the GOP Senate nomination, frustrating vigorous efforts by party leaders.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester, the other man mentioned most prominently, kept insisting he would not run either. Informed GOP sources, however, said there were signs he might be ready to give in.

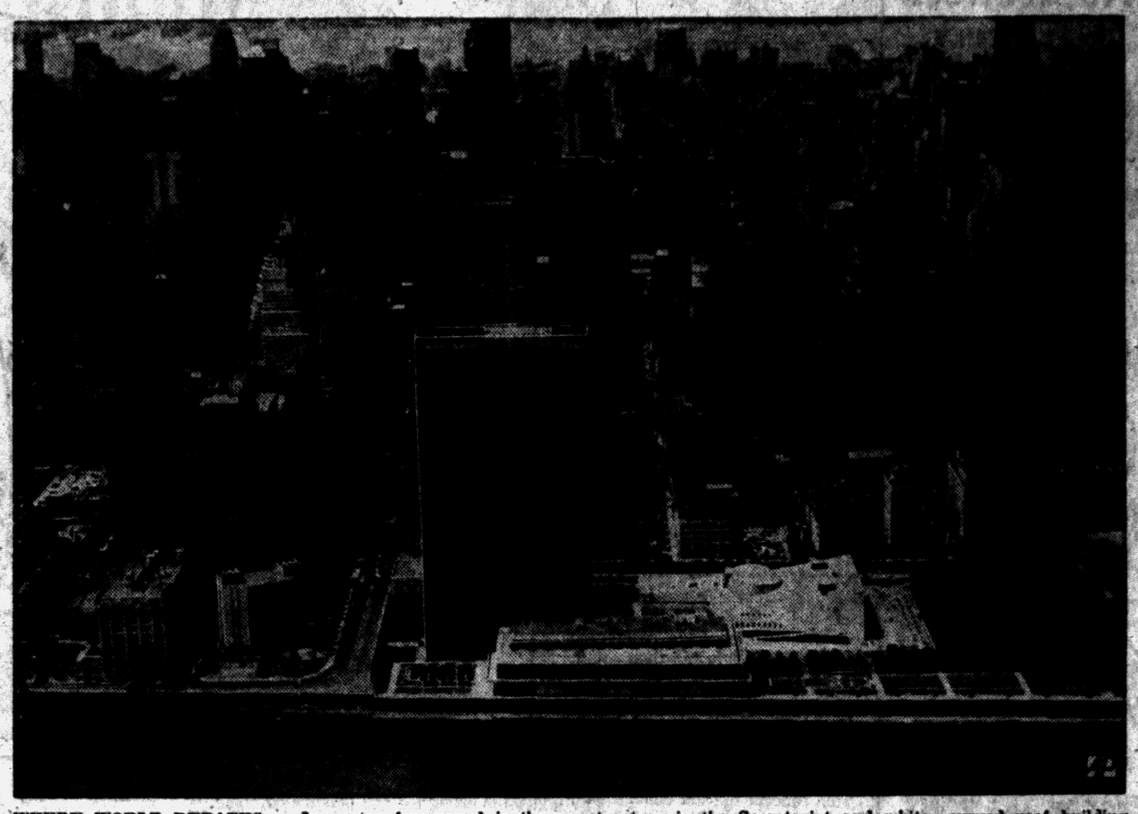

Both Carlino and Keating are up for re-election to their present posts this year. Both say that, if they run for the Senate, they risk losing the seniority they have built up.

In addition, Republican leaders were considering these men as potential Senate nominees: Dean William I. Myers of Cornell University; Chancellor Clifford T. Furnas of the University of Buffalo, former undersecretary of defense; George L. Hinman, a Binghamton lawyer; and State Sen. Elisha T. Barrett of Long Island.

On the Democratic side, Harriman was reported to be backing Finletter.

The other active candidates were Thomas E. Murry, former atomic energy commissioner; State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson; former Democratic National chairman James A. Farley; and Rep. James J. Delaney of New York City. Of these, only Murray was considered a strong contender.

Wagner has said he was not a candidate, would not accept the nomination and would not serve if elected. Nevertheless, many party leaders still talk about drafting him.

Army Sifts Through Coded Data

Explorer V Failure Launches Search

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Army sifted through coded data today in an effort to determine why its dependable Jupiter C rocket failed to put Explorer V into orbit.

"Everyone was mystified," one source said of the Sunday firing that apparently followed the form book up until the actual moment the heavily instrumented satellite was to have gone into the groove.

"Apparently the trouble was in one of the upper stages," the source said yesterday, "but it will be at least a day or two before we can find out what happened."

Scientists sent Explorer V into the heavens with sensitive instruments designed to unlock more secrets of the heavy radiation band that Explorer IV encountered about 600 miles from the earth. This "hot" canopy currently is one of the biggest apparent obstacles to manned space flight.

Scientists had hoped to learn whether the radiation bombardment is made up of protons or electrons, according to George Ludwig, University of Iowa scientist who designed instrumentation for all the explorers sent up to date.

If they are protons, he said, man could absorb a lethal dose in less than five hours.

The big Jupiter C left its launching pad here at 3:17 a.m., EST. Three and a half hours later, the Army reported from Washington that signals from the tube-shaped satellite failed to come in after the first few minutes. "The satellite did not achieve an orbit," the official statement said.

Quell Berserk Detroiter After Police Gun Battle

DETROIT (UPI) — Police used an armored car and a barrage of tear gas grenades today to capture a man who barricaded himself in an East Side home after firing two shotgun blasts at a patrolman.

Lionel Kemp, 63, of 4977 Lafontaine in the Mack-Warren area, was seized at 6 a. m., more than two hours after police threw a cordon around the neighborhood.

Kemp was taken to Receiving Hospital where he was questioned by police.

His wife, Loretta, 60, called for help at 3:40 a. m. because she said her husband, who was in an auto accident a week ago, had been "acting strangely," and had threatened her. She met police on the street in front of the house.

Mrs. Kemp said her husband accused her of stealing the family Bible. "That started the argument," she said. "Then I became afraid when he threatened me."

Patrolman Herbert Kaltz, who answered the call, and knocked on the door, holding a flashlight. "A man told me to turn out the flashlight and come in," Kaltz said.

MET BY GUN BLAST

Kaltz said as he approached the door Kemp fired at him. The officer rolled off the porch as another blast tore through the darkness.

Kaltz and his partner, Patrolman Robert Buyse, summoned help.

About 25 patrolmen, Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins, and firemen showed up within minutes. They sealed off the area and brought up one of the two armored cars the police department maintains for such an emergency.

Buyse and several other officers wearing gas masks fanned out through the two-story home searching for Kemp.

They found him in an upstairs rear bedroom where he surrendered meekly.

First American Jet Airliner Gets Noise Tests

NEW YORK (AP) — America's first commercial jet airliner, capable of flying from here to London in 6½ hours, begins a month of noise tests today to determine if it will be allowed to operate in New York City.

The 144-foot-long Boeing 707, owned by Pan American World Airways, completed a 1,602-mile trip from San Juan, Puerto Rico, yesterday, landing at Idlewild Airport. It took 3 hours and 24 minutes to make the flight, averaging 504.5 miles an hour at an altitude of 32,000 feet. Landing was bumpy and took all of the 8,200-foot runway.

The jet airliner can carry up to 165 passengers—nearly twice the number transported by other Atlantic planes.

The four-engined plane is the first of six stratoliners that Pan American expects to put into trans-Atlantic service by Nov. 1. The Piston-driven DC7C now takes 12 hours to fly from New York to London.

Foreign planes have passed port authority noise tests at Idlewild.

Kierdorf Will Face Court This Afternoon

Herman Kierdorf was to be arraigned in Circuit Court this afternoon on a charge of possessing a gun silencer. Conviction could result in a prison term of five years and a $2,500 fine.

Kierdorf, who was released on a $25,000 bond Friday, was to appear before Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland.

The former Teamsters official was bound over to Circuit Court after his examination Friday before Madison Heights Justice of the Peace Hendrik J. Smit.

A postponement to appear today before the Senate Rackets Committee in Washington was granted Kierdorf and two others who had been subpoenaed by the committee last week.

Sir Winnie Is Enjoying Life on French Riviera

NICE, France (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill stayed up past midnight dining and chatting with friends at one of the Riviera's top restaurants.

Among the 83-year-old statesman's tablemates were Greta Garbo and Aristotle Onassis. The three frequently have been seen together.

Bloodless Bullfights Just Lot of Baloney

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (AP)—Six Mexican bulls spared the matador's sword in Lindsay's bloodless bullfights, are scheduled to fall before a policeman's pistol today at a meat-packing plant here.

Herb Tyler, manager at Canada Packers Ltd., said the bulls are much smaller and bonier than the usual cattle, weighing only about 500 pounds. The plant handles animals of up to 2,800 pounds.

Race Violence Rife in England

Police Move to Control Riots in Nottingham, Section of London

LONDON (AP) — Emergency squads of policemen patroled sections of London and Nottingham today in the wake of Britain's worst race violence in years.

With trained police dogs at their sides, police moved to head off the stabbings, slashings and beatings that terrorized two communities over the weekend.

200 BATTLE

More than 200 white men and women and West Indians, Africans and Pakistanis battled for 90 minutes Saturday night in Robin Hood's city of Nottingham.

The trouble spread Sunday to London's Notting Hill section. A carload of white youths toured the area, attacking West Indians. Three Negroes were hospitalized. Eight whites were arrested.

In Nottingham, an industrial city of 300,000, eight Englishmen were taken to a hospital, six of them with stab wounds. Dozens of others were cut and beaten.

Eight of the West Indians, Africans and Pakistanis were jailed — "for their own safety," the police said.

'Froze' at Wheel — and Here's What Happened!

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An 84-year-old insurance executive ran a red light and six stop signs, sideswiped a car, knocked down two parking meters, a stop sign and an iron fence yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Police said A. J. Wilson's accidents began when he ran up on a sidewalk. He finally stopped seven blocks away.

★ ★ ★

Officers said Wilson told them he got excited and couldn't stop. He said he thought of turning off the ignition, but couldn't take his hands off the steering wheel.

2 GOP Candidates in County Tuesday

Paul D. Bagwell and Donald A. Brown, Republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, will campaign through several Oakland County communities tomorrow.

The tour will begin at 9 a.m. when the two candidates visit Farmington, and conclude with a 6:30 picnic at the Avon Park in Rochester sponsored by the Republican Women's Federation of Oakland County.

Both will be guests of the Hazel Park Rotary Club luncheon at noon.

Included in the tour also are two coffee hours in two homes. Besides, Bagwell and Brown will appear at 4 p.m. at the Oak Park Community Center.

More than 340 visiting teachers from free world countries were brought to the United States during the 1957-58 academic year by the Educational Exchange Service of the State Department.

To Explore Ocean Depths

Navy Will Put Together New Kind of Submarine

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The Navy's newest vessel, a strange-appearing diving craft known as a "Bathyscaphe," arrived in San Diego harbor Saturday for re-assembly.

Having little in common with the conventional submarine, the Bathyscaphe has been termed the Navy's version of a space vehicle. It was specifically designed to explore the depths of the ocean.

The Italian-made craft, dubbed the Trieste after the name of the town where it was manufactured, was purchased recently by the Navy from the noted Swiss scientists Auguste and Jacques Piccard for use in oceanographic studies off the coast of southern California.

Although it will be used at first for basic scientific research involving acoustical and biological investigations of the Pacific waters in this area, the Bathyscaphe potentially is capable of diving to depths and evaluating the Bathyscaphe's potentialities as both a research tool and a deep-diving submarine rescue vessel.

The blimp-shaped vessel carries a two-man crew in a spherical gondola beneath its main tanks containing 28,000 gallons of high-octane aviation gasoline — 30 per cent lighter than water, giving it buoyancy. The ship carries 10 tons of iron pellets for ballast to help control its descent and ascent.

Dives are accomplished by bringing water into the tanks, thus compressing the gasoline and reducing buoyancy, while the iron pellets are released at the rate of a ton for each 3,000 feet of depth.

Capable of remaining submerged up to 48 hours, the Bathyscaphe is equipped with two small windows for wide-angle viewing, a camera with electronic flash, floodlights, an echo-sounder, telephone and numerous instruments and controls for research equipments and operation. It may be propelled horizontally by electric battery-powered motors and two propellers.

Before it can be put into use, the Bathyscaphe must be completely re-assembled — it arrived here in some 30 boxes — and crews must be thoroughly trained in its operation.

Jacques Piccard, who assisted his father in designing and building the Trieste and who has made 46 dives in the craft, will train pilots at the Navy electronics laboratory. Giuseppe Guono of Italy will oversee the mechanical aspects of operations.

The Trieste made a series of 26 dives in the Mediterranean last year, most of them a few miles south of the Isle of Capri, to make optical, geophysical and acoustical measurements and observations of biological and geological phenomena.

Such operations are expected to yield a great deal of information about the sea's background sounds to help sonar operators better distinguish them from ship noises as well as other knowledge.

Witness Very Cautious

ANADARKO, Okla. (AP)—Attorney Chuck Goodwin, quizzing a witness in a district court trial, asked if he noticed if the defendant's tongue was "thick" at the time of the alleged offense. The witness answered: "I didn't look in his mouth to see if his tongue was thick or thin."

TOPS TRITON — Prospective skipper of the Navy's new submarine USS Triton, largest undersea craft ever built, is Capt. Edward L. Beach, of Palo Alto, Calif. He is author of "Run Silent, Run Deep," best-selling novel about World War II submarine combat in the Pacific. During that war he commanded the submarine Piper and afterwards skippered the subs Amberjack and Trigger. He was President Eisenhower's naval aide for four years.

Police Relay Works, Little Gary Better

The condition of 18-month-old Gaary Cooper, who was shuttled by three police cars from the Drayton Clinic in Waterford to Herman Kiefer Hospital in Detroit, was good this morning, according to doctors at the hospital. He was much improved, they said.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Cooper of 6845 Andersonville Rd., Waterford, Gary had developed convulsions at the clinic where he was being treated for whooping cough.

Accompanied by his parents, he was rushed in a Waterford Township patrol car to Hunter boulevard and Woodward avenue, where he was transferred to a Birmingham Police car. The half-hour emergeency run was completed in a Detroit patrol car.

Held for Court Trial

Willie J. Jones, 17, of 464 Ditmar St., waived examination on a burglary charge and was bound to circuit court Saturday by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCalluna.

Jones was arrested last Wednesday inside the Luther St. Market at 517 Luther. Police said he also was implicated in the burglary of the Pontiac Skating Club in which several pairs of roller skates were stolen.

Peter Townsend Rushing Off on Tour

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI)—Peter Townsend, erstwhile suitor of Britain's Princess Margaret, is going off on another world tour, it was disclosed.

The former Royal Air Force group captain will leave tomorrow by automobile, and friends said he was going for the same reasons that prompted the first trip—to try to forget the 28-year-old princess.

He left the first time for 17 months after Margaret anounced she could not marry a divorced man because of her duty to church and crown. The tour covered 20,000 miles and 50 countries and ended only seven months ago.

Since then Townsend has seen the Princess frequently in London. Their relationship was officially stamped as being that of good friends.

Townsend's second tour apparently was planned in a hurry for within the past few weeks palace sources have let it be known that the princess intended to be seen publicly with him this fall. He was to have been invited to some of the parties that she frequently gives.

RUMORS OF 'RIFT'

Also in the past couple of weeks there have been reports of a rift between Margaret and Townsend but sources close to them have discounted the rumors.

The alleged trouble was said to have been caused by a book soon to be published entitled "The Story of Peter Townsend." Author Norman Barrymaine, a friend of Townsend, reportedly tells too much about the romance to suit Margaret.

The Princess turned 28 last week and she gave no indication of interest in any man but Townsend, thus leading to a fresh rash of reports that she is ready to rebel against Queen Elizabeth and marry him even though he is divorced.

Townsend has been living in seclusion in a Brussels suburb but has made frequent trips to London since last March when he visited the princess immediately after completing his world tour.

He has since completed a book due to be published shortly in England but it is said to contain more about the art of preparing tea in Japan than about drinking it at Clarence House where Margaret lives.

Recluse Fires on 'World'

Faces Charge of Murder

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—Jim Alix, a 65-year-old bearded recluse who said someone was out to get him, was charged with murder last night after killing a prominent businessman and wounding a fire chief in a five-hour gun battle. He was held in a mental hospital for observation.

Police said Alix first fired with a rifle for no apparent reason at a nearby parked car and passers-by, then took cover in a trench system he had dug in front of the converted boxcar in which he lived.

Before authorities drove him from his fortification, Richard Butler, 44, a businessman and councilman of suburban Jasper Place, was killed by two bullets in the chest. Fire Chief Barney Waygood was wounded in the ribs when he tried to rout Alix with a hose.

Police finally drove him from his trenches with a bulldozer and captured him. He had two rifles and a shotgun. The old man told the police he had dug the trenches so he could shoot at people.

Neighbors said Alix had told them Saturday somebody was out to get him. They described him as quiet but said he had "queer ideas." They said he began digging his trench network when he moved into the boxcar 12 years ago.

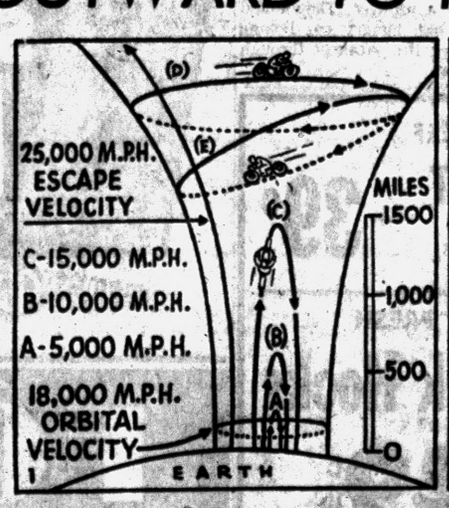

SHIRLEY MAE MARMON

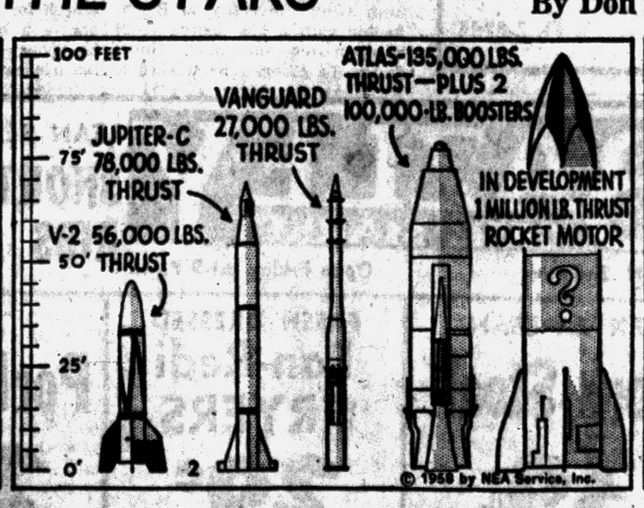

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Marmon of 12222 24-Mile Rd., Utica, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Gary Haddrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Haddrill of 2551 Harrison Rd., Rochester. The wedding date hasn't been set.

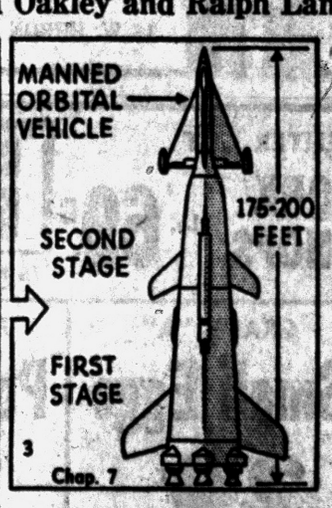

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(7)—Thrust

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) The first obstacle which must be overcome before man can achieve space flight is Earth's gravity.

Gravitational pull can be likened to a great funnel, and a rocket to a daredevil motorcyclist trying to escape. Loops at (a), (b) and (c) above show how high the cyclist would go at different speeds. At 25,000 miles per hour he would be free of Earth's gravity forever. But if he sped around the sides of the funnel, he could maintain an orbit at a speed less than escape velocity.

Speed for the orbit closest to Earth (just above the atmosphere) is about 18,000 miles per hour. An orbit at (d) could be maintained at much less speed. But if the cyclist performed an elliptical orbit as at (e), as he approached closest to the bottom (the perigee) he would speed up. As he reached the top of his orbit (the apogee) he would slow down. This is precisely how an Earth satellite (or a planet going around the Sun) behaves.

(2) The only practical source of power man has at present for space travel is the rocket. Best speed which can be attained with present-day fuels is about 5,000 miles per hour. Thus, no single-stage rocket can escape the Earth's pull. Three stages appear to be the most practical and efficient number.

Most advanced U.S. rocket so far is the Navy Vanguard, which delivers one pound of satellite for 1,000 pounds of rocket, as against 2,000 pounds of rocket for the Jupiter-C.

(3) Even if currently available fuels are improved, a man-carrying rocket will be of tremendous size. Shown at right is the possible shape of a manned satellite or supply rocket to a station in space. It is designed to be able to return to Earth as a supersonic glider.

Arctic Fantasy Land Is Now Battlefield for Strategy

By CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Feature Writer

Suddenly, almost overnight as history is measured, the frozen top of the world has become a potential battlefield.

Even in man's short span, the transition from fantasy land to strategy land has been fast.

Not because of any change in the frozen geography of the Arctic itself. The two million square mile ice cap which revolves slowly about the North Pole has always done so. The 3,500 miles from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Irkutsk, Russia; the 2,500 miles from the American airbase at Thule, Greenland, to Moscow; the 5,000 miles from northern Siberia to Chicago are unchangeable.

It is the machines of war that have changed.

The development of the long-range bomber in the 1940s gave arctic skies their new importance. The military's lowliest yardbird could see with a glance at a globe that the quickest route from East to West was north and then south.

ROUTE FOR BOMBERS

It became clear that the bomb-laden planes of a nuclear war would speed over the arctic to reach their targets.

The strategic importance of the Arctic was underscored last year, and again in early May, when President Eisenhower proposed an aerial inspection plan in this region as the first step toward world disarmament . . . and the Russians vetoed the idea.

From a naval standpoint, the Arctic sea was long discounted as a potential area of operations because it was frozen over. But last summer this concept began to change. The atomic submarine Nautilus spent 5½ days cruising under the arctic ice and penetrated to within 180 miles of the North Pole.

Early this month, the arctic's new strategic importance became abundantly clear to the civilians of the world. Cmdr. William R. Anderson, commanding officer of the Nautilus, told how his vessel sailed through the Bering Strait July 23, dived beneath the arctic ice Aug. 1, passed beneath the pole Aug. 3, and surfaced two days later in the North Atlantic between Greenland and Spitzbergen.

President Eisenhower, standing beside Anderson, said only that the Nautilus had pioneered a route between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans for the cargo submarines of the future. But another implication was plain: missile-armed subs can lurk undetected beneath the polar ice waiting to unleash their fury against Russia should war come.

Historic as it was, the eye-opening voyage was but one incident in the bustling arctic activity.

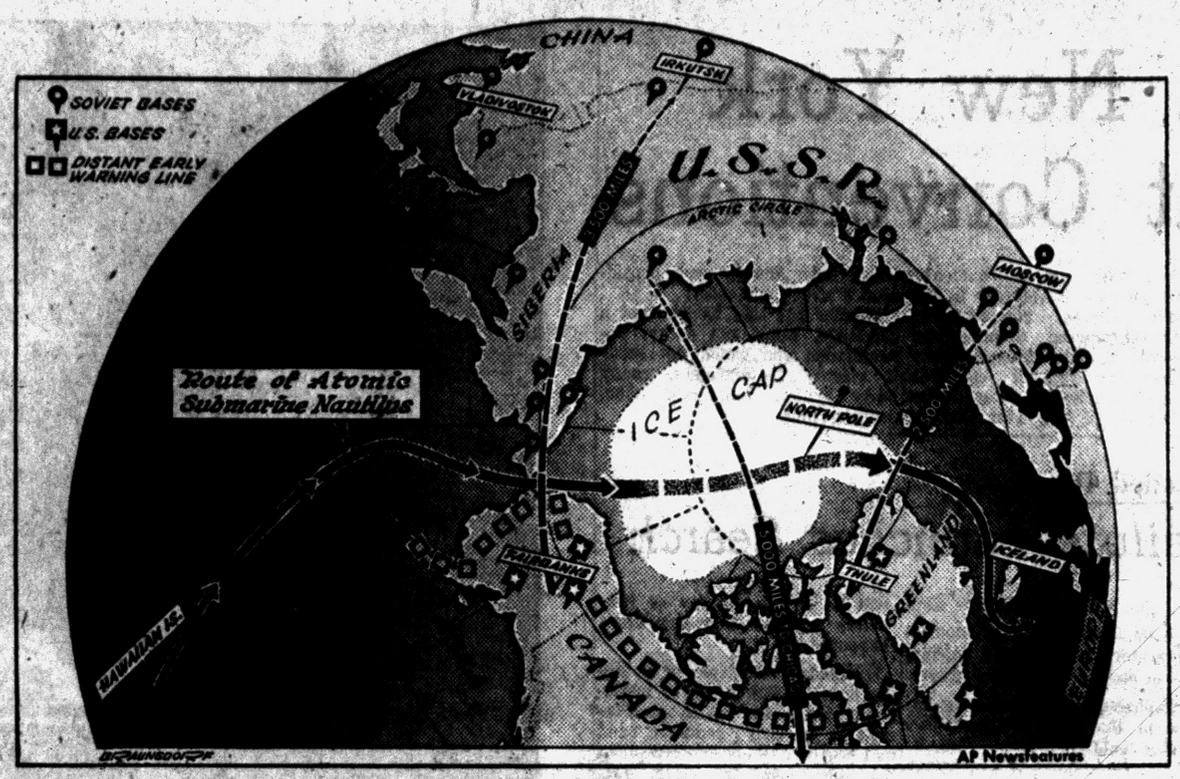

ESTABLISHED DEWLINE

For years, the United States has been stringing radar stations along the Arctic Circle. This line of stations, designed to detect the approach of bombers out of Russia, is called the Distant Early Warning or Dewline.

It extends from the tip of the Aleutian Islands in the west along a 5,000-mile route to Baffin Bay in the east. The Dewline promises four to six hours warning of attack by Soviet aircraft.

At best, however, it could give only about 15 minutes warning of the approach of intercontinental ballistic missiles. To bolster its effectiveness, the Air Force plans three ultra-range radar stations. These stations, costing well over a quarter of a billion dollars, will be spotted along the Dewline.

Since Nov. 1, 1956, the United States has been firing test rockets from Ft. Churchill in Canada's Manitoba province. On Feb. 15, the Army announced a new series of missile tests to determine how arctic weather affects electronic control systems.

The Air Force maintains bases within the arctic or just outside of it from which it could launch planes and missiles in the event of war.

Since the Nautilus' voyage, a second atomic submarine, the Skate, has reached the pole. Other submarines also are conducting experiments in the polar regions.

RED BASES, TOO

Russia also has a ring of bases around the Arctic Circle. Its Siberian Peninsula, just a fly-cast away from the Alaskan coast, is dotted with airdromes.

Between 1954 and 1957, the Soviets landed exploration parties at spots within the Arctic Circle, more than two dozen of them within 200 miles of North America, to study the ice pack and the ocean beneath it. By contrast, the United States made only 20 such landings during that time.

The Russians announced last March they had launched 10 research rockets into the upper atmosphere since last November from points in the Arctic and Antarctic.

Indications are that the Russians tests. Japan's meteorological bureau said March 8 that the Soviets' two most recent nuclear explosions were set off near Novaya Zemlya Island above the Arctic Circle.

Strijdom Dies in South Africa

Cabinet Is Expected to Name Swart New Prime Minister

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) — South Africa's Cabinet is expected to name stern-faced Justice Minister Charles R. Swart to suceed white supremacist Johannes G. Strijdom as prime minister.

Strijdom died early yesterday of a heart ailment. He was 65 and had been ill for some weeks.

Swart, now acting prime minister, was seen as the logical choice to take over. He was considered a certainty for leader of the ruling Nationalist party — champion of segregation — which he helped found.

An uncompromising segregationist, Swart became justice minister 10 years ago. Since then, he has put through Parliament some of the most controversial legislation in the country's history.

In 1950, he rammed through the Immorality Act, which bans African-white sexual relations, and the Suppression of Communism Act. Recently, he set up a tribunal to hear the mass treason trial of 92 persons accused of trying to convert South Africa into a Communist state. The defendants claimed they only sought an end to apartheid—the policy of white supremacy and strict segregation.

Swart also won approval of a bill which makes armed robbery punishable by death.

Born in the Orange Free State in 1894, Swart spent the Boer War in a British concentration camp with his mother. After graduating from Grey University in Bloemfontein with a law degree at 20, he spent some time in the United States. In America he worked as a reporter, Hollywood film extra and teacher.

Strijdom led his Nationalist party to victory in last April's general elections, giving it another five years in power.

Strijdom's segregationalist and nationalist policies were certain to continue.

Says Children Final Victims of Situation

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The president of the American Federation of Teachers said today that the teaching profession is "in an intolerable situation in which the final analysis, schoolchildren are the victims."

Carl J. Megel of Chicago made the statement in a speech prepared for the organization's 42nd annual convention.

"Ten to 15 per cent of the nation's qualified teachers now quit annually," Megel said, "many to have their places taken by the unqualified."

★ ★ ★

He said it is time to stop experimenting with "teach-saving nostrums and panaceas, mass education by television and staff-disrupting merit rating for teachers."

"No other profession is sibjected to so little protection and security as now given teachers," he said. "We must start improving our teaching staffs by requiring that every new teacher have at least a four-year teaching degree."

'Help! Murder! Police!'

Michigan Open Is a Breeze for Barnum

Blythefield Pro 8 Strokes Ahead of Closest Rival

Gains 2nd State Crown in Runaway With a 272 at Atlas Valley CC

By BILL CORNWELL

In the opinion of 57 other talented players who chased him in vain Sunday, it was one too many.

The 40th annual championship came to an end yesterday over the 6,400-yard Atlas Valley course and the veteran Grand Rapids professional was eight strokes ahead of his nearest rival.

Barnum shot a three-under-par 69 last Thursday, his only tuneup for the $5,000 medal play test. When the event started on Friday, he continued his sub-par barrage to run away from the rest of the field.

It was the 2nd State Open championship for towering John, who won the crown at Owosso CC in 1951.

Second place plus $500 went to four-time winner Chick Harbert of Meadowbrook, who finished with a score of 280. Defending champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin Hills, bidding for his 4th title, wound up 3rd at 281 to earn $400.

Barnum's golf game was as overpowering as his imposing physique. The 6-foot-4, 225-pound Blythefield pro overwhelmed the opposition with 19 birdies and two eagles during the three-day tourney while shooting four sub-par rounds.

His eagles came in yesterday's 36-hole conclusion, the first one a 25-foot putt for a three on the 456-yard 15th hole in the morning round. In the afternoon, he scored an eagle deuce on the 305-yard 13th hole by putting from 15 feet off the green.

Barnum, two shots behind pacesetting Dave Hill of Kalamazoo after Friday's opening round, seized the lead for keeps on Saturday. He boosted his margin to seven strokes with Sunday morning's 65, then cautiously protected the advantage.

Following a shaky start of 74 over the par 36-36—72 layout, Harbert carded 68-69-69. Burkemo, like Barnum, had four sub-par rounds with his score running 71-70-69-71.

For the 13th time in tournament history, Chuck Kocsis of Red Run gained top amateur honors. Himself a three-time Open champ, Kocsis had rounds of 73-71-70-72 for a 286 total and 6th place.

Pontiac's best effort in the tourney was 290 by Gene Bone, assistant pro at Tam O'Shanter who pocketed $175 for finishing 9th. Amateur Mike Andonian of Pontiac was far down the list with 301.

'Oldest' Pirate Eyes 20-Game Season

Friend Trips Cards for 17th

By The Associated Press

Pittsburgh's youth - minded Pirates, en route to their first finish in the first division in ten years, are almost certain to boast a 20-game pitcher this season. He is Bob Friend, the oldest Pirate in point of service.

★ ★ ★

The 27-year-old right-hander has 17 victories, more than any other National League hurler, following Pittsburgh's split of its Sunday doubleheader with St. Louis which left them just one percentage point behind the second place San Francisco Giants.

Friend was credited with the Pirates' 8- 4 first game triumph although he gave way to Elroy Face after seven innings. St. Louis rallied for five runs in the eighth to win the second game 12-8.

A workhorse, Friend already has pitched 215 innings, second only to Milwaukee's Warren Spahn. He paced the senior circuit's pitcher in most innings pitched in 1956 and 1957. Although he has lost 13 games, most in the league, he already has equallied his top winning mark (17-17 in 1956). In seven previous years—he has had only one winning season—14-9 in 1955.

In other games, Milwaukee increased its first place margin over San Francisco to seven games, defeating the Giants 8-5 in 10 innings.

Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 6-5 and Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Chicago 13-8 and 5-3. The second game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

Bill Mazeroski and Hank Foiles drove in two runs each to provide Pittsburgh's margin of victory in the opener. Stan Musial's pinch single in the eighth ignited a five-run inning enabling the Cards to overcome an 8-7 deficit in the nightcap. Joe Cunningham and Irv Noren drove in runs with singles. Gene Green doubled in another and Frank Thomas' wild throw added two more for St. Louis. Ken Boyer hit a three-run homer earlier for the winners.

Hank Aaron ruined the day for a capacity Seals Stadium crowd of 22,913, smashing a two-run homer in the tenth helping Milwaukee to snap a 5-5 tie. The Braves added another run off Red Worthington on Joe Adcock's double and singles by Andy Pafko and Johnny Logan. Leon Wagner hit his third homer in four days for the Giants.

Frank Robinson's two-out home run in the ninth, after Johnny Temple led off with a double, gave Cincinnati a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over Los Angeles. The Dodgers had taken a 5-4 lead in the seventh on pinch hitter Duke Snider's run-scoring single. Don Zimmer hit a three - run homer for the Dodgers.

run in each game in Philadelphia's double triumph over the Cubs. His first came with the bases loaded to highlight a seven-run outburst in the seventh inning. Pinch hitter Rip Repulski also homered in the opener, with two on. It was his fourth homer as a pinch hitter this season.

First baseman Jim Marshall, purchased from Baltimore Saturday, kept the Cubs alive in both games. He hit two homers and a single in the first game and came through with a home run and single in the second. He had only five homers and a .215 batting average in 85 games with the Orioles.

ERROR CHARGED — Charley Maxwell, Tiger left fielder shows one way to get credit for an error as he gets the ball in his glove and then lets it get away from him. This was in the 7th inning of the first game which the Tigers won from the Yankees, 8-3.

Lary Stops Yanks Again

SPORTS

Beats Champs 6th Time This Season by 8-3

Moford 3-2 Victim in Nightcap Despite Strong Showing

The Detroit right-hander beat the Yanks for the sixth time this season, 8-3, in the opener of yesterday's doubleheader and even though the Tigers bowed, 3-2, in the nightcap, none of the gloss was rubbed off Lary's accomplishment.

Lary held the league-leaders to six hits in becoming the first pitcher to defeat them six times in one season since Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouser of Detroit both turned the trick during the 1944 campaign. Frank is now 15-5 in his career against New York.

"I just go out there and pitch the same way I do against the other clubs," he said.

Lary struck out 5 and walked only one in gaining his 13th victory of the season against 12 losses.

Detroit rapped loser Art Ditmar for five straight singles and two runs in the second inning and then clinched the contest with a five-run burst in the seventh. Charley Maxwell's 10th homer with two on off reliever Virgil Trucks highlighted the rally.

In the nightcap, Norm Siebern led off the ninth inning with a home run to provide the margin of victory for the Yanks.

The home run by Siebern, who also slammed one in the opener, was the first hit allowed by loser Herb Moford since the first inning and only the fourth hit by the Yankees. Southpaw Bobby Shantz went the route for New York, allowed seven hits and gained his seventh triumph.

The Yankees jumped in front with two runs in the first inning of the nightcap after two were out. Mickey Mantle singled and continued to second on Al Kaline's error. Yogi Berra's single scored Mantle and after the Yanks loaded the bases on Bill Skowron's bloop double and a walk to Siebern, Moford also walked Andy Carey, forcing in another run.

Detroit scored its first run in the second inning on a walk and singles by Red Wilson and Harvey Kuenn, then tied the score at 2-2 in the fifth on Coot Veal's infield single, Carey's throwing error and a sacrifice fly by Gail Harris.

The Tigers, idle today, move on to Boston where they open a two-game series tomorrow night.

Thiefels Top Gun in State Skeet Shoot

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac's Bob Thiefels shot himself into his first Michigan Skeet Association all-gauge championship, Sunday, to lead a parade of Oakland County shotgunners to a sizeable slice of the many titles decided over the weekend at Oakland County Sportsmen's club fields.

Thiefels' all-gauge crown was one of four championships the stocky OCSC sharpshooter captured in the two-day tournament, first state shoot to be held here. Besides achieving top-gun stature, Bob won the all-gauge two-man title with Johnny Pattyn of Detroit with 100 (Thiefels)-98—198, was a member of the top Class A 5-man, 20-gauge and 5-man "A" 28-gauge teams.

The "Brown Boys" from Birmingham, led this time by Bud (Leland) Brown, a handsome, blond lad who really came into his own Sunday as a skeet shooter, held most of the spotlight. Where little Eddie (13 years old) has been the sensational performer heretofore, this time Bud moved up, front and center. But between the three of them, with husky Bill Jr. helping materially, these lads accounted for seven titles.

Thiefels carded 100 straight in the all-gauge (12-gauge). He edged Eddie Brown and Ken Sedlecky (of Baldwin) who also had 100, in a shootoff for the title. Eddie was runnerup.

High-over-all title went to Ains Borsum (47-99-99-99—344).

Women's honors were taken by Mrs. Jeanne (Marion) Shields of Grand Rapids, MSA's new secretary. Jeanne swept the women's all-gauge (93x100), the 20-gauge (92x100), the 28-gauge women's crown (92x100), and .410 (43x50).

Trophies and brassards were awarded all champions and runnersup.

City's Softball Hopes Die in Regional Tourney Play

Pontiac hopes for men's state softball honors were squelched last weekend when all three city teams fell by the wayside in regional tournament action.

Shaw's Jewelers suffered 14 straight scoreless innings while bowing out in Class AA activity at Allen Park, Elks No. 810 was whitewashed to the sidelines in the Port Huron "A" regional and Class D Spencer Floor Covering absorbed two consecutive defeats at Flint.

The Jewelers were blanked by Midland and Allen Park following earlier wins over the host team and Wyandotte.

Perc McConner was called for an illegal pitch Sunday afternoon when Allen Park eliminated Shaw's, 3-0. Jake Mazur hurled the last two innings with McConner the starter and loser.

★ ★ ★

Mazur lost a heartbreaker to Midland, 1-0. He twirled a perfect game until the bottom of the 7th when a walk and two singles scored the decisive run. McConner pitched a one-hit shutout Saturday as the Jewelers nosed out Wyandotte in eight innings, 1-0, after their 1st round win over Allen Park.

The Elks were sidelined by the Port Huron Skidgie Bombers yesterday, 5-0, after staying alive on Saturday with a 1-0 victory over Flint behind the sparkling no-hit hurling of Gary Boe.

Boe was handed his victory margin in the 5th stanza on a single by Ralph Lee, a sacrifice and Don Stone's single. Fred Konchis was the losing pitcher against the Bombers with Lynus Grant and Boe working in relief roles.

Altogether, the Elks were able to score only one run in 25 innings of play at Port Huron's Memorial Stadium.

The Spencer club of the Waterford League departed the Flint tourney following Saturday night's 3-2 loss to the Flint Assyrian-Americans. Dick Shell was the unlucky hurler on a four-hit effort. Spencer bowed to Port Huron on Friday.

Red Sox Win Twin-Bill

By United Press International

The Boston Red Sox gained ground on everybody in the American League yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from the Athletics 14-3 and 3-2 in 11 innings.

Baltimore defeated Dick Donovan in the 1st three innings beating the White Sox 5-2 and Cleveland's Jim Grant whipped the Senators for the 5th time by a 9-1 count in other AL action yesterday.

Big Frank Sullivan hurled his 10th triumph and, batted in three runs in the Boston opener. Dick Gernert contributed a homer. Jackie Jensen singled home the winning run off Ray Herbert in the 2nd contest won by Murray Wall in relief. Ned Garver lost the opening tilt.

The Baltimore triumph was No. 12 for Billy O'Dell, who needed relief help from Billy Loes when he tired in the 8th. Billy Gardner and Gus Triandos supplied the batting punch.

★ ★ ★

Blames Lack of Long Ball for New Skid

Cites Low Home Run Totals of Maxwell and Kaline

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Norman implored today: "Give us the long ball! Just give us the long ball!"

His entreaty was inspired by little more than 10 weeks as manager of the Detroit Tigers and by Norm Siebern's heart-breaking home run in the nightcap of yesterday's doubleheader with the Yankees.

"Yes, indeed," said big Bill, with the thinning dark-brown hair and small but promising paunch, "My big discovery as a Major League manager is that the long ball is more important up here than in the minors."

"We haven't been hitting the long ball," said pilot Norman, who replaced Jack Tighe at the Bengal bit on June 10, and was signed last Saturday to manage the club next season — proving that General Manager John McHale and the Detroit club owners did not regard him as a stop-gap driver.

On the current trip, the Tigers lost eight games and won five. "And long balls cost us half of those eight," Norman continued. "We've got men capable of the long ball; but Maxwell's been having an off year. He's usually good for 25 homers. Now he's got 10. And (Al) Kaline is coming out of a slump apparently."

Norman, 42, admitted he was disappointed by the Tigers' lack of power on this trip, as they headed for Boston today. But he stressed he wasn't the least disheartened "because the players' morale is fine — everybody's hustling — but we're just not getting the long ball."

Bill, who packs about 220 pounds on a six-foot-three frame, added somewhat proudly that during his brief debut as a Major League manager the club has been playing better than .500 ball and had risen from last place to just a half game out of first division.

"We've won 37 and lost 34 since I took over," he said, "and our pitching has been off during that time, as well as our long-ball hitting."

Bill — who was brought up from Charleston, W. Va., the Tigers' American Association farm — did not appear to be worried particularly about the pitching situation, although Jim Bunning (9-8), Frank Lary (13-12), Paul Foytack (9-11) and Bill Hoeft (8-9), have not been performing up to expectations.

"We haven't been able to coordinate our pitching and our hitting," he said.

Where did he expect the club to finish this season?

"As high as we can," he answered. "We're playing for position — trying to win every game. And I'm not talking about what changes may be made for next season — if any. When this season is finished, I'll sit down with General Manager McHale and we'll decide what to do."

Baseball writers with the club expect several winter deals in which young pitching talent from the Tiger farms will be traded for belters.

Takes Nice Bass

A lively largemouth bass that hit a surface action hula popper, on Carrol Lake near Milford, gave Lowell Narita, 691 Cranbourne, Milford, a real angling thrill, Saturday. Narita, fishing with his father-in-law, Ervin Meier of 466 Cameron, Pontiac, landed the 5¼ pound, 22-inch long bronzeback only after the fish had run under his boat on a wild dash.

Tuesday, Friday Workouts

Two Clinics for Pee Wees

Tuesday and Friday will be the final two days of a football clinic being staged for members of the Pontiac PeeWee Football League at Whitfield School.

Sessions will be held from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. each of the days for the 175 boys enrolled in the program. Any others wishing to attend the clinic and play in the league can sign up by attending the final workouts.

Passing, running, ballhandling, blocking and tackling are being stressed during the clinic. Boys must weigh between 60 and 110 pounds, be in the 4th, 5th or 6th grades and between the ages of 9 and 12 to be eligible. Anyone who will be 13 before Nov. 30 cannot take part.

Sixteen teams are expected to form leagues in two weight divisions this season. Clinic exhibition games are scheduled Aug. 30. Any further information can be obtained from director Frank Thompson at FE 5-3625.

Stanford Gets 'Big Four' Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stanford holds an open invitation today to boost the new West Coast Big Four to a big five before the athletic conference starts official operations next July 1.

California, Southern California, UCLA and Washington announced on Saturday that they have formed the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities effective July 1, 1959.

The new group, born from the dying Pacific Coast Conference, was expected to play a major role in the Rose Bowl setup of the future although the spokesman said no agreement was now in effect with the Tournament of Roses group.

Rose Bowl officials said there was no need to sign any contracts with anyone as the PCC still has two Rose Bowl games left.

"But actually the Big Four should be making overtures to us," said Stanley K. Brown, president of the Tournamnt of Roses.

Shields Heads State Skeeters

MSA Also Names Bob Thiefels of Pontiac as Vice President

Michigan Skeet Association last night named Marion Shields of Grand Rapids as its 1959 president, succeeding Ed Sedlecky of Baldwin. Mrs. Jeanne Shields, wife of the West Michigan man, was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed William (Bill) Ellis of Mt. Clemens.

★ ★ ★

Robert (Bob) Thiefels of Pontiac and Oakland County Sportsmen's Club, was selected as vice president.

Shields has long been prominent in MSA circles, along with Jeanne, who yesterday walked off with all top women's honors in the state shoot here.

Thiefels is the MSA all-gauge champion, and has been very active in the state and national shoots for some time.

★ ★ ★

Ellis retires as secretary-treasurer because of health reasons.

Elections were set by the board of directors after the close of the state meet. Annual meeting will take place later in the year, when site for next year's state tourney will be discussed.

The board also named Bill Scott of Detroit publicity director; Mrs. Jo Sedlecky of Baldwin woman's representative, and Bob Moore of Muskegon and Doug Prevost of Mt. Clemens honorary members.

2-0 Slate for Rams, Bears

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Rams, Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions are the only undefeated teams in the National Football League's exhibition season today despite the fact that the pros have been going at it only two weeks.

The Bears chalked up their second triumph yesterday, a 3-0 decision over the Philadelphia Eagles in Columbus, Ohio. It was the only game of the day. George Blanda kicked a 19-yard field goal in the second period for the only score.

The San Francisco 49ers edged the Washington Redskins, 20-19, at Portland, Ore., and the Baltimore Colts and Chicago Cardinals tied, 31-31 at Austin, Tex., Saturday night.

Quarterback John Brodie completed 19 out of 26 passes for the 49ers, but it was Gordie Soltau who pushed 'Frisco in front when he kicked a 32-year field goal with a minute and a half remaining.

The Colts thought they had the Cards licked. With four seconds to go, they were three points ahead. But Bobby Joe Conrad, a rookie from Texas A&M, made good on a 30-yard field goal to pull the Cards into a tie.

Auto Strikes Still Interfere

Union's AMC Dispute Also Clouds Contract Negotiations Today

DETROIT (AP)—Scattered strikes in the auto industry are continuing to interfere with the production of 1959 model cars.

The United Auto Workers Union resumed contract negotiations with the Big Three today against the backdrop of both the strikes and an inter-union dispute over a projected wage freeze contract with American Motors Corp., covering non-automotive workers.

A sister AFL-CIO union of the auto workers, the Mechanics Educational Society, has branded the UAW's agreement with AMC a "sweetheart contract."

Strikes idling 2,800 General Motors and Chrysler workers in Twinsburg, Ohio, and Flint were settled over the weekend.

But some 5,000 other workers were idle at Detroit Chrysler plants and Chicago and Cleveland area Ford plants.

About 2,100 workers in three Ford plants of the Cleveland suburb of Brook Park were affected in a strike called last night. UAW Local 1250 said the strike was over the firing of a union committeeman.

For the most part the disputes involved company worker callback policies and company time given union representatives for grievance discussions.

The UAW has demanded that laid-off workers be called back before overtime work is given employed men in the production lineup for the new 1959 models.

At odds with the UAW over the latter's agreement with American Motors, the Mechanics Educational Society promised a fight.

On the weekend the two-day-old strike of 1,400 General Motors Buick plant workers at Flint and the walkout of another 1,400 Chrysler workers at Twinsburg were settled.

An overtime dispute at Twinsburg was settled. At Flint UAW Local 599 said it was returning to work to prove "good faith" in trying to come to an understanding on shop committeemen's grievance time.

Early Demand Boosts Grains

CHICAGO (AP) Most grain futures contracts were substantially higher in a good early demand today on the board of trade.

Dealers said the main bullish factor appeared to be the renewal of Chinese military activity against the Matsu and Quemoy islands and its possible implications but that cooler weather also figured in the buying.

Reports that the United States and India are negotiating a trade agreement involving a very large amount of wheat also caused a good deal of short-covering but offerings appeared to be liberal all around.

Dems Disclaim Any Friendship for Hoffa

Four incumbent members of the State Administrative Board were renominated without opposition at the tail-end of the conclave Saturday.

Delegates were so sure of their renomination that barely 200 were in the Grand Rapids Civic Auditorium when Richard F. VanderVeen, convention chairman called this order of business. The Oakland delegation had thinned out also.

Picked to be on the party ticket Nov. 4 were James M. Hare, secretary of state, Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer, Paul L. Adams, attorney general, and Frank S. Szymanski, auditor general.

Neither Hoffa or his union were spelled out in the Democratic resolution on labor. But there was no question on the floor who was in mind when delegates approved the plank without discussion.

After the labor plank passed, an amendment hurriedly was tacked on. "We advise our many fine candidates at the national, state, and local levels of the perils inherent in such support, (from 'corrupt labor officials') and strongly recommend that should such support be offered it not be accepted," the amendment read.

Democrats made it clear they "welcome" the support of unions free of corruption. They, in their resolution, said such unions "have both a right and a civic obligation to participate in politics."

The Democratic party went on record also to resist Republican attempts to enact "the mis-named right-to-work" law in Michigan.

It commended the AFL-CIO for efforts to clean out corruption in the labor movement. It was the AFL-CIO which expelled the Teamsters for such practices.

Although they said they favored revision of Michigan's 50-year-old constitution, Democrats were told by their leaders to reject a Constitutional Convention proposal on the fall ballot.

Democrats charged Republicans would have unfair representation at such a convention based apportionment of three convention delegates from each senatorial district in the state. Republicans hold 23 of 34 Senate seats.

Further, should the proposal be defeated, Democrats called on Gov. Williams to appoint a committee of "outstanding citizens to consider a fair and equitable method of constitutional revision."

Democrats breezed through convention business in four hours without a voice being heard from from the anti-Williams State Democratic Club of Michigan, Inc. Some had expected Michael T. Mohardt, a member of the rebel group and a delegate to the convention from Detroit's 15th District, to ask to be heard on the floor.

Mohardt, who sought his group's nomination for lieutenant governor in the August primary, didn't attend the convention Saturday, members of his delegation said.

On the state's economic development, Democrats said that they "deplore the cynicism of Republicans, who, with one hand smear Michigan's reputation as a state in which to live and do business, and, with the other hand, throttle the state's business and industrial promotional voice by denying adequate funds to the Economic Development Department."

The party coined a campaign motto of "Michigan Means Business." This was in direct reference to GOP claims that Williams was responsible for driving business from the state.

A fair business practices commission, "to protect the small businessman from discriminatory practices," and formation of private development finance corporations, was advocated in the party platform.

Sharing a spot in the Democratic platform was a proposal establishing a science institute at the University as Michigan, to "provide the research leadership so vital to industries engaged in the new techniques of modern production."

Delegates forgot party differences, for the first time Saturday, when they approved a fair elections practices plank commending candidates of both parties who have resisted bigotry in political campaigns.

Teacher Colleges Drop, Only 100 Left in U.S.

NEW YORK — Educational experts estimate there now are only 100 teacher colleges in the United States.

There were more than 300 such colleges in the early part of the century, when they made up about 33 per cent of all institutions of higher education. They now account for about 5 per cent of the total.

Quiz Contestant Hits New High With $252,000

Nadler last night zoomed past the previous record holder, Robert Strom, 11-year-old science whiz, to $252,000. The boy had won $242,500.

Nadler's answer to an $8,000 question on CBS-TV's The $64,000 Challenge pushed him past young Strom to winnings of an even quarter of a million dollars.

Nadler, 49, then went on to make it $252,000 before time ran out. He will return to the program next Sunday.

The $8,000 question was in the ancient history category. Defeated by Nadler was Mrs. Dolores Brown, a New York City housewife.

Back Dulles' Stand Warning Red China

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two House foreign affairs specialists today viewed Secretary of State Dulles' new warning to Red China as indicating probable U.S. action if the Communists try to seize Quemoy and Matsu.

Both Rperesentatives Clement Zablocki (D-Wis) and Walter H. Judd (R-Minn) backed Dulles' stand as an aid to peace in the Far East.

Dulles said in a statement any Communist Chinese attempt to conquer the tiny Nationalist-held islands off the Chinese mainland would be regarded as a threat to peace in the region.

He did not spell out what, if anything, the United States would do in event of an all-out Communist attack on Quemoy and Matsu, which have been under intensive aerial and artillery bombardment for the past few days.

Girl Fears Rusty Leg if She Goes for Swim

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Betsy Scovill, 8-year-old Ponca City, Okla., girl here for an operation, had only one thought in mind after she came out of the anesthetic.

When told surgeons put a screw in her leg as part of her post-polio treatment, she asked "When I go swimming will I rust?"

NANCY PEEPERS RETURNS — Pat Benoit is still thought of by TV audiences as the wife of "Mr. Peepers" of the deceased Wally Cox show. Seen infrequently on home screens during the past three years, she's back at work again as the heroine in a daytime serial called "Today Is Yours," weekdays on NBC.

Country Boy Downs Never Had a Real Job

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Is there anybody out there who remembers—as Hugh Downs and I do— the "country school"?

★ ★ ★

On snowy mornings we would mush to the little red schoolhouse and shiver beside the pot-bellied stove. Later in one corner of the big room, the teacher would teach one "grade" while seven others pretended not to listen.

"I had a teacher who spent the mornings reading from the Bible and Zane Grey," smiled Hugh Downs the other night.

WILSON

On a table cloth he drew a map showing Lima, O., Spencerville, Akron, Columbus, Toledo—"home" to both of us. Strangely, he'd gone to Macbeth School near Lima, I to nearby Amanda Special . . . before I entered "Rockford High."

"They talk of juvenile delinquency as though it were new," exclaimed the Jack Paar announcer who has his own NBC game-quiz, called "Concentration," starting soon.

"I had a classmate who brought a .22 target pistol to school. He may still be in jail for a Toledo bank robbery. Another boy was very religious. When he got everybody to Sunday School, he went through their houses and robbed them."

DOWNS

Hugh was in the Bluffton College choir which came to N.Y., and sang on NBC radio. "Somebody said I should go on the radio," he said.

"I was back in Lima going down to the milk depot one night with an empty milk jug. I went into the local station, WLOK, and asked about announcing.

"They gave me a piece of copy to read. The man said, 'Very bad,' but offered me $7.50 a week to come in part-time. My father said, 'You continue to look for a real job, but if you can't find one you can go with the radio station.'

"So," laughed Hugh, "I never found a real job yet."

Next came Detroit, then an 11-year stretch in Chicago, then rumbles about TV. 'I wished it would go away because it was interfering with my radio commercials."

One day he was summoned to be announcer for the new "Home" TV show.

"A lot of guys in New York could have done it. But it lent a little more importance evidently to bring somebody from the outside?

Next he was announcing for Sid Caesar and now Jack Paar.

"My philosophy," says Hugh, who's 37, "is: I try to place an importance on being myself. I could be a very bad copy of a lot of guys. But I doubt if anybody can beat me at being Hugh Downs."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

June Allyson and Dick Powell celebrated their 13th anniversary here—June writing Dick a tender letter saying her life would have been nothing but for him. Dick, now a producer-director busy plugging his film, "The Hunter," said he likes it better than acting "because as an atcor I can't hold my belly in any more."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A woman looking through her mail—and finding only bills—complained, "I thought the government was going to do something about junk mail."

U.N. Representative Paul Henri Spaak was told he looks like Churchill and sounds like Charles Boyer. "I wish," he sighed, "it were the other way around." . . . That's earl, brother.

'Do-It-Yourself' at Peak

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Medical College of Virginia Hospital officials think the do-it-yourself trend has reached a peak. A man reported to the emergency room that he couldn't sleep. He was asked to wait in an unoccupied room. Moments later a nurse saw him running from the building. Missing: one stethoscope.

Mayor Is Considerate

STERLING, Colo. (AP) — Mayor James H. Walker, told of unauthorized use of city vehicles by city employes, had these thoughts for the offenders. "Maybe," he said, "we ought to take the City of Sterling signs off the trucks so as not to embarrass the drivers."

She's Starring in TV Serial

Actress Still Involved in School Situation on New Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucy's little Ricky, born on television by deliberate coincidence with Lucille Ball's own son, is probably broadcasting's most famous child.

CLOSE SECOND

A close second, however, was the infant due in the Robinson Peepers household when the Wally Cox show disappeared forever three years ago.

Like Lucille Ball, the heroine of Mr. Peepers was expecting a child in real life when she was playing an expectant mother on television. Unlike Miss Ball, however, Patricia Benoit in real life was way ahead of her TV part.

"When Mr. Peepers stopped," she explains, "his child was not due to be born for some time. They didn't even reveal the Peepers were going to have a baby until about four months before my own child's birth. We certainly had some problems with camera angles."

SEEN INFREQUENTLY

In the past three years, Pat Benoit pronounced Ben-wah, has been seen infrequently on television, but she has been a very busy young woman. In private life Mrs. Peter Swift, wife of a magazine executive, she is now the mother of Jerry, 3, and Nicholas, 7 months, and has had roles in two Broadway shows.

Now she's back to work again, heroine in a daytime serial called "Today Is Yours," weekdays on NBC.

In "Today Is Yours," she is still involved in schools, this time as an assistant high school principal, a divorcee with a young son.

"I'm glad to get back to work after a year at home with the children. I love them and I enjoy taking care of them, but frankly I missed the stimulation of work.

★ ★ ★

"You can get so busy picking up toys, folding diapers and taking the kids to the park that you forget there is anything else in the world."

Pat is a Fort Worth, Tex., girl who after taking a lot of elocution lessons and seeing two touring shows came to New York in 1946 to become an actress.

Underwriters' Name Is Perfectly Logical

LONDON—In 16th Century England there was a rapid growth of merchant shipping in and out of London. As the volume grew, there was a rise in the amount of marine insurance written to cover the cargoes. The men who wrote it were called underwriters because they signed their names at the bottom of the insurance contracts.

Big Evaporator Made for Hotel in Bermuda

HARTFORD, Conn.—The largest sea-water-distilling plant of any hotel in the world has been made by a Hartford concern for installation in a hotel in Bermuda. The plant can produce fresh water at a rate of 20,000 gallons a day. It is similar to evaporators used on aircraft carriers.

Crash Shakes Janet Leigh and Troupe

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Janet Leigh, who expects her second child in November, was shaken up in a three-car traffic pileup.

Also jarred in the accident yesterday were her husband, actor Tony Curtis; singer Dean Martin and his wife Jean, and songwriter Sammy Cahn and his wife Gloria.

Following in another car were Frank Sinatra and comedian Ernie Kovacs and his wife, actress Edie Adams. The group was returning from a dinner party at the Santa Monica home of actor Peter Lawford.

Police said Robert Seddon caused the mishap when he used his car as a battering ram against an auto in which he thought he saw his wife Patricia with another man. Seddon's car caromed into the Curtis convertible, officers said.

When police arrived, Sinatra was standing up in his convertible calling, "May day, may day," over his auto telephone. His friends said he was contacting UCLA Medical Center to arrange treatment for Miss Leigh.

New 'Laundry' Method Faster for Oil Tankers

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — Oil tankers can now be cleaned in 24 hours without a 100-mile trek to open sea, thanks to a new "laundry" service instituted at the Bethlehem Steel Co. shipyards here.

Previously, the ships had to steam to a safe dumping ground in open waters. Now, the ship's ballast is pumped to a special receptacle ashore while workmen peel scale off the vessel's inside walls.

Fire Rages for 9 Hours

BURSA, Turkey (AP)—A fire believed touched off by a short circuit raged for nine hours in this resort city yesterday, razing more than 1,000 shops, houses and medieval mosques. No casualties were reported.

Bob Considine Says:

Young Thugs Terrorizing New York City

NEW YORK—A lot of the southern resentment over the way "New Yorkers" deplore the school integration situation below the Mason-Dixon line is generated by their knowledge that we have a more deplorable situation existing here in the biggest city in the land.

The most renowned municipal park in America, Central Park, is no longer safe for a stroller after dark. Motorists who drive through it, en route somewhere else, are inclined to roll up their windows and lock their doors even on stifling nights.

KEEPS GOING

A friend reports that she caught a fleeting glimpse of a rape one night in the park, as her taxi sped downtown, and the cab driver refused to stop. "I'm not crazy enough to stop here," he said.

There are times when it would appear that federal troops are needed here, more than they were needed at Little Rock to uphold the law of the land. The basic law of the land protects a man's life, health, property, but these commodities have been under especially heavy assault in our fair city of late.

A survey of the New York Journal-American shows that during the month of August there has been better than a mugging a day in New York. Inevitably, a U.N. personality figured in these atrocious attacks, which must make us seem a pretty primordial place in the eyes of the press and radio of the land concerned.

He was Jose Luis Perez-Ruiz, secretary of the Spanish delegation to the world organinzation. He was pitilessly slugged and robbed outside his apartment house in a respectable neighborhood.

Police say these things are seasonable and deal with economics. Heat drives kids into the streets and parks at night; and the inability to pay for legitimate forms of entertainment leads to something worse.

But this philosophizing must be cold comfort to a man whose head was bashed in as he went about his business, or to a woman set upon by young thugs who should be strung up rather than—as often happens—dismissed with a reprimand or a month on a reform farm.

CRIME INCREASE

The bitter fact remains that there is an increasing imbalance between law and crime in the city, and so very plainly a new contempt for the former by the rugged young.

It is terrible to contrast the beauty and vitality of this great city with its sordid and villainous side. It is depressing to admit that a city which produced the greatest skyline in history, magnificent churches, universities, hospitals, art galleries, theaters, museums and recreational centers cannot protect a Perez-Ruiz, or having failed to fend for him, even apprehend his two assailants.

The New York police are better armed and trained, and a stronger force, than George Washington's army. They are not universally blamed for the current situation. Indeed, an insurance agent who was mugged and robbed of $200 recently said, "I don't blame the cops for this. They can't be everywhere at once. I blame myself mostly, and poor city lighting. I shouldn't have left my car open . . ."

There are so many places in the world where leaving a car open is as natural as breathing.

It has become a cliche in recent years that "Puerto Ricans" are responsible for much of the New York crime rate. That contention was jeered a bit in the Journal-American poll when Juan Perez, a lower East Side storekeeper who was beaten and robbed said, "I'm going to sell my business and go back to Puerto Rico."

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — Cattle rustling is largely passe in this dairy and hog raising section of Minnesota. But, two teen-age boys admitted theft and sale of 40 hogs to a packinghouse for nearly $1,100.
