Gemini 4 Astronauts Begin Final Activities Aboard Ship

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's reentry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released yesterday in Houston, Tex., and the astronauts saw a televised version late last night.

Space doctors also continued to be mildly amazed at the astronauts' fine physical condition after their arduous journey.

MEDICAL TESTS

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem yesterday: McDivitt had a nosebleed.

Doctors said the nosebleed probably resulted from the drying effect of breathing pure oxygen for nearly 98 hours.

They said future astronauts might take along something to lubricate the inner nose.

The astronauts' schedule on their scheduled return to Houston tomorrow already was crowded with parades and other honors from their admiring public.

Space officials had to decline a number of invitations — including a traditional ticket tape parade in New York. Newark, N.J., and Miami, Fla., also extended parade invitations which were in turn "declined regretfully," said Julian Scheer, NASA associate public affairs administrator.

★ ★ ★

"It was a matter of scheduling," Scheer said.

Aboard the Wasp yesterday Paul Haney, NASA information officer, interviewed the astronauts as to their most exciting moments during the flight.

★ ★ ★

White said his plainly was the 20-minute venture outside Gemini 4 — during which he said he did a little dance on the capsule, Haney reported.

AVOIDED SNAGGING SUIT

He said White told him he carefully avoided snagging his space suit on the sharp edges of the blunt end adapter section of the capsule, though he did peek into it.

"There I go again," White exclaimed as he intently watched the film while in the captain's cabin for dinner last night, lifting himself out of his chair.

"There she goes," he said when his glove floated out of the hatch.

★ ★ ★

He readily agreed when McDivitt said the pictures turned out well.

FLAG CLEARLY VISIBLE

McDivitt also said he was happy to see that the small American flag on White's shoulder patch was clearly visible.

McDivitt said the spectacular return to earth was the most memorable part of the flight for him.

"Watching the land go by, watching it come up closer, and watching the retro-adapter package fall away and burn up. ..the prettiest part of it all is

Space Pilots Will Visit State

Day-Long Celebration to Honor Pair at U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan is going to welcome home its space pilot and his space-walking partner next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Majs. James McDivitt and Edward White, the Gemini 4 crew, will be honored in a day-long celebration at their alma mater, University of Michigan, in Ann Arbor Tuesday.

Wednesday Jackson gets its native son, McDivitt, for a welcoming whoopee.

The National Aeronautics and Space Agency hasn't decided whether White will go to his native San Antonio, Tex., or to St. Petersburg, Fla., where his parents now live, or somewhere else, or stay with McDivitt on Wednesday.

They'll come to Michigan from a ticker-tape parade in Chicago on Monday, presumably after a weekend with President Johnson "down at the ranch" in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDivitt Sr., of Jackson, were to fly to Houston this afternoon to meet their son, possibly Thursday afternoon or Friday. The astronauts land at Mayport, Fla., Thursday morning from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The senior McDivitt said they'd call first on their daughter-in-law, the astronaut's wife, and grandchildren, but didn't know what plans NASA had for getting them together with their son.

State House Moves Stymie Effort to Lower Bridge Toll

LANSING (AP)—The legislature was ready today to let more water flow under the Mackinac Bridge before it does anything to change the tolls on the traffic that flows over it.

But, while the House defeated another in a long series of attempts to lower the bridge tolls, another group of legislators urged asking the federal government to contribute to the bridge's support.

Seven House members, most of them Democrats from Northern Michigan, introduced a resolution urging Congress to take whatever steps are necessary to pay 90 per cent of the cost of the $100-million structure. The resolution was referred to the House Policy Committee.

The latest toll-reduction effort was launched by Rep. Richard A. Young, D-Dearborn Heights, whose Wayne County district is far removed from the Straits of Mackinac.

It would have poured an additional $500,000 a year into the financing of the bridge by increasing from two to three per cent taxes on gas and oil taken out of the ground.

Young said the amendment would allow lowering the $3.75 one-way toll on passenger cars to about $2.75.

The amendment was approved in preliminary debate, 31-19, but defeated 24-19 in the final voting stage. Only a majority of those voting is needed to approve amendments in the preliminary stage, but 56 votes —a majority of those elected and serving in the House—is required for concurrance in the final stage.

Majority Floor Leader J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, urged defeat of the amendment and promised that the "legislature will study this problem and come back with recommendations next January."

Young argued that Michigan's taxes on the removal of oil and gas from the ground are far below those of other states in which any such drilling is done.

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, the leading Democratic fiscal expert, objected that "gas and oil production is not increasing in Michigan. If it were, our revenues from this source would increase each year, but they are not.

Adlai Says U.N. Group Slaps OAS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson charged today that the U.N. Security Council was engaged in a childish effort to downgrade the work of the Organization of American States in the Dominican Republic.

"Such behavior by 11 grown men representing the world is positively embarrassing," Stevenson said in a hard-hitting speech before the 11-nation council.

He was opposing a move by France and some other council members to enlarge the staff of the five-man U.N. mission in Santo Domingo headed by Jose Antonio Maybore, the special representative of Secretary General U Thant.

France's Roger Seydoux suggested that enlargement of the mission would enable Maybore to carry out investigations of alleged violations of human rights and the cease-fire between junta and rebel forces.

Thant said he would give careful study to Seydoux' suggestion and comment at a later meeting of the council.

DUPLICATED WORK

But Stevenson declared that enlargement of the mission would result only in duplication of work being carried out now by OAS officials in Santo Domingo, and delay rather than help achieve a peaceful solution to the Dominican crisis.

He charged that the council had witnessed efforts by members to delete reference to the OAS in council resolutions as if the OAS were a threat to the prestige of the United Nations.

Pheasants' Presence Pleasant

A month-long effort by a Waterford Township couple to hatch three pheasant eggs began to pay off yesterday.

One of the tiny pheasants emerged from his shell and barely audible pecking sounds from the other eggs indicated that two more would soon follow the same escape route.

Engaged in the lengthy task of egg hatching were Mr. and Mrs. Kyle McWethy of 1355 Malcolm.

The egg that hatched yesterday had been in a frying pan since May 14. The other two eggs were alternately kept in the pan and a cardboard box incubator heated by a 40-watt bulb.

The McWethys found the eggs at the rear of their two-acre lot.

25 Lawmen Held at Bay for Two Hours

Arrest Is Made at South Haven Airport; Kidnaping Charged

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Threatening to blow himself and a hostage "right off the map" with a homemade bomb, a 63-year-old man was seized after two tense hours by state police yesterday at the South Haven Airport.

Officers said Harry Diduch of South Haven held some 25 lawmen at bay while trying to get a pilot at the airport "to fly us out of the country." Among those at the scene was Michigan's newly named state police commissioner, Frederick Davids.

Van Buren County Prosecutor Horace Adams authorized a warrant today charging Diduch with kidnaping.

State Police Cpl. Dwain Phillipi said Diduch abducted William French, a 26-year-old South Haven milk truck driver, as French was making a delivery.

★ ★ ★

Phillipi said Diduch chained himself and French together and forced French to drive him to the airport at shotgun point.

CARRYING BOX

Officers said Diduch also was carrying a large wooden box which contained a bomb made of a length of pipe filled with black powder. The pipe was rigged to a sawed off rifle as a triggering device and Phillipi said he threatened to set if off if police rushed him.

French was not injured. Diduch was jailed for investigation.

Phillipi said Diduch had notified the airport to have a plane and pilot ready for him to "fly us out of the country." He said Diduch threatened to blow French and himself "to kingdom come" if the plane wasn't ready.

Phillipi said Diduch declined to tell why he wanted to leave the country after his capture. He said the man would be questioned again today.

Commissioner Davids, in town to attend a funeral, went to the airport with other officers when he heard of what was happening. They spent at least two hours trying to talk Diduch out of his plan.

Diduch finally was captured when his attention was distracted by Robert Meuller, airport manager, who started a plane and taxied near the milk truck in which Diduch and French sat.

As the two men left the truck to go to the plane police charged them and said they tore the bomb from Diduch.

One officer said he saw Diduch try to explode his bomb at least three times before he was disarmed.

He said an investigation showed a 22-caliber bullet intended to detonate the bomb was missing.

U.S. Troops in Viet Tied to Support Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that the U.S. commander has had all along the newly reported authority to commit U.S. forces to "support" fighting if the South Vietnamese ask and need help, and it does not mean those forces can join in an offensive.

The statement said Gen. William C. Westmoreland has had the authority since Marines were landed in the Southeast Asian nation in March.

Nevertheless, the White House statement represented a pullback from implications of a State Department declaration yesterday.

That statement interpreted as opening the way for troops in Viet Nam to go on the offensive.

The State Department pronouncement from its press officer, Robert J. McCloskey, stirred up something of a storm.

★ ★ ★

It brought huddles at the White House this morning and an official statement, read to newsmen by the White House press secretary, George E. Reedy.

See Story, Page C-3

KEY PART

The key part of the White House statement said:

"If help is requested by appropriate Vietnamese commanders, Gen. Westmoreland also has authority within the assigned mission to employ these troops in support of Vietnamese forces faced with aggressive attack when other effective reserves are not available and when in his judgment the general military situation urgently requires it.

'Soviet Rocket Working Well'

Say Moon Shot Gave Data 4 Times 1st Day

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's latest moon rocket Luna 6, which is expected to try a soft landing, is working well as it speeds away from the earth, Tass said today.

An official announcement after more than 24 hours of flight said that at 4 p.m. Moscow time (9 a.m., EST) the unmanned spacecraft would be 142,915 miles from earth.

Information was radioed back four times in the first day of flight, Tass added.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said its giant radio-telescope picked up strong signals from the Soviet moon probe last night.

Morning newspapers in Moscow carried only the original announcement of the launch yesterday. There was no further information on the distance the automatic space station has traveled from the earth or whether it is still close to the planned flight trajectory.

The satellite, believed to be the second Soviet attempt in a month to try a soft landing on the moon, is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

Soviet officials may not announce the purpose of the flight until they are sure Luna 6 will hit the moon or until after the landing.

In the previous attempt by Luna 5, the Soviets announced about 20 hours before the satellite was due to hit the moon that it would attempt a soft landing. It was the first time they had called a shot in advance.

The soft landing failed and Luna 5 crashed into the moon on May 12.

Class to Get Seat Belt Report

Area drivers will be able to get an up-to-date report on the value of seat belts in automobiles at a driving school Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

The class, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the City Commission chambers at City Hall, is another in a series sponsored by the Pontiac Police Department, the Automobile Club and The Pontiac Press.

Sgt. Lawrence LaBair of the Pontiac Police will present the 75-minute class.

He said he would present information on the proven benefits of seat belts in autos.

★ ★ ★

In addition, a film made by the University of California on crash research will be shown.

The film includes scenes taken of crashes and the effects on dummies in the wrecked autos.

To Build New Base

2,500 Combat Engineers Land in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnamese war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

NEARLY 54,000

The engineers being the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

1,221 KILLED

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 158 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

This brought American combat casualties in Viet Nam to 404 since December 1961.

The Americans were killed when Communist guerrillas overran a training center for militiamen at Gia Ray, 50 miles northeast of Saigon near Xuan Loc. Fifty Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 Vietnamese and an American wounded, while 30 government troops were reported missing. Officials said two Viet Cong were believed killed.

After burning much of the camp, the Viet Cong withdrew. A relief force was sent to the area but made no contact with the enemy and the station was abandoned.

In another heavy action, the government suffered 60 killed, 18 missing and 95 wounded in Phong Dinh Province, 95 miles southeast of Saigon. Viet Cong casualties were estimated at more than 50, but this was not confirmed.

Government troops and guerrillas clashed in the area Tuesday. As the fighting grew more intense, Vietnamese Ranger units were airlifted into the battle.

A spokesman said the operation continued today.

DESTROYED CAMP

Military sources said a Vietnamese unit, tipped off by defectors from the Viet Cong, destroyed a Communist training camp 40 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province. Three Viet Cong were killed and two captured, officials said.

Pilots reported this damage to their targets:

Four buildings destroyed and a bridge damaged at staging areas about 150 miles south of Hanoi; five buildings destroyed, others damaged at the Kim Cuong army barracks and two supply areas 80 miles north of the border; a ferry slip and two 75-foot barges heavily damaged at the Song Ron highway ferry 50 miles north of the border; moderate damage to a road grader and a truck 115 miles southwest of Hanoi; a bridge approach damaged 140 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Plan for Teachers Possible Landmark

By DON PEMBER

The Pontiac School Board may have notched a landmark on the tree of learning recently when it adopted a five-year plan of goals for the improvement of teachers' salaries.

This program, believed by local educators to be the first of its kind in Michigan, was adopted after it was recommended by both the school administration and the Pontiac Education Association (PEA), the largest teacher group in the system.

Basically, the plan is a long-range blueprint for increasing teachers' salaries at all levels and adding staff fringe benefits.

What makes this plan so unusual?

★ ★ ★

Administration officials think it is special because this is the first time in teacher-school negotiations that any plans beyond a two-year period have been spelled out.

2-YEAR AGREEMENT

Two years ago the Pontiac schools instituted a two-year agreement with teachers. That agreement was another first for the district.

Some observers, however, feel two provisions of the plan add other significance to this five-year agreement.

The two are extended contracts and a "salary incentive factor" or "merit pay."

★ ★ ★

Administration officials are quick to point out that just because these ideas are in the plan, it doesn't necessarily hold that they will be adopted within five years — or ever.

EXTEND CONTRACTS

The first of the two calls for extending teacher contracts from 40 weeks to 46 weeks or 48 weeks.

"There is a good deal of work which teachers could do during the summer months," according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

"We can find a lot of work in such areas as curriculum improvement of instructional programs," Whitmer said.

★ ★ ★

He said the long summer vacation for students is becoming more inappropriate each year.

SPECIAL DIETS

"During the summer we could teach students more as individuals, give them special diets of learning — especially reading," the superintendent said.

A dropout could be given a different type of schooling during the summer, and cultural programs could be established for less fortunate children, he added.

The teachers have made no commitment on this plan.

"They haven't talked about it enough," Whitmer said.

EARN MORE

But, he pointed out, that in addition to the benefits the community would reap by such a program, the teacher would be able to earn more money and thus satisfy one of the current basic desires of the profession.

Merit pay is, simply, paying superior teachers more money than average teachers. It is something which has been talked about a great deal by teachers.

Although all teachers feel this is a good idea, there is strong opposition to it within the profession.

★ ★ ★

"This has been discussed for 30 or more years," Whitmer said. "Teachers don't like it because they believe there is no way to judge the quality of a teacher."

INSTRUCTOR'S VALUE

Teachers contend the value of an instructor does not show up in the classroom.

The worth of a teacher can only be seen in his or her effect on the children and there are no instruments to measure this, teachers insist.

Whitmer said he is inclined to agree with teachers in many respects, but added that if teachers are ever going to attain the high salaries to which they aspire, there is going to have to be some means developed to reward the really competent teacher.

Many school districts have attempted to set up a merit pay system, Whitmer said. More of these systems have been discontinued than have continued, he added.

Where these systems were tried, the morale of the teachers went down, trouble occurred in the system.

"In order to institute a successful incentive system we need both a good technique for rating teachers, and the teachers must have the right attitude about the plan," the superintendent said.

Rating systems which have been attempted include rating by the principal or a committee of teachers or administrators.

In the eyes of the teacher, none of these have proven satisfactory.

RATING SYSTEM

While teachers reject the rating system, business and industry have found it successful for many years.

And teachers are reminded of this each time they compare their salaries with those paid by industry.

Both extended contracts and incentive pay provide a means for the teacher who is ambitious and above average to meet his aspirations for a high salary.

★ ★ ★

But both plans must have the wholehearted support of teachers if they can ever work in any school district.

Speed Limits Increased on 3 Troublesome Roads

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission last night increased the speed limit on three troublesome local roads.

The limit was boosted to 35 miles per hour on Vaughn, Lone Pine and Kensington.

Persons living on the roads, particularly Vaughn, have been complaining about traffic conditions for over a year.

Heated sessions last year were based on Vaughn residents' objections to the traffic increases since the road was paved in 1963.

★ ★ ★

Their suggestions for improvement of the situation ranged from increased enforcement to installation of rippled strips of concrete to slow down vehicles.

NEW PATROLMEN

Partially as a result of these sessions, the city hired three new patrolmen late last year.

At their organizational meeting last month, commissioners accepted the resignation of City Clerk Robert Stadler as director of public safety and appointed City Manager Elmer Kephart to the post.

Mayor Robert S. Frye then named Commissioner Manton M. Cummins as liaison commissioner for the police department.

Last night's resolution on the speed limits came before the commission in the form of a recommendation from Kephart.

INTO MOTION

Cummins put it into a motion which was supported by Commissioner James A. Beresford.

Commissioners E. R. Davies and Louis J. Colombo Jr. dissented and Frye broke the tie by casting his vote in favor of the speed limit boost.

There were no Vaughn Road residents in attendance.

The limit there was raised from 25 mph except in front of Vaughn Elementary School, where it will remain at the lower rate.

The Lone Pine limit was jumped from 30 mph and that on Kensington from 25 mph, although the latter has not been posted.

Kephart's recommendation, he said, was aimed at correcting "variations that seem somewhat inconsistent."

For instance, he noted that moving eastward the speed limit on Long Lake Road is 45 mph from Telegraph to Lahser, 35 to Epping Lane, 25 to Woodward, 35 to the easterly city limits and 45 in Bloomfield Township.

"Traffic authorities agree that the normal speed limit traveled by responsible citizens is a good guide to limits that should be established, with the belief that a reasonable limit uniformally enforced will result in better reaction and cooperation from the public," Kephart said.

BEVERLY HILLS—Semon E. Knudsen, General Motors vice president and general manager of Chevrolet Division, will be the commencement speaker at Detroit Country Day School Sunday.

Knudsen will address the 26 graduates, their families and friends during the 3 p.m. commencement at the F. Alden Shaw Field.

A Country Day alumnus and member of the executive committee for the school's 50th aniversary development program, Knudsen will speak on "The Next 50 Years—Commencement to Greatness."

Says LBJ Is Cutting Taxes Too Rapidly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Bird said today the Johnson administration is cutting taxes too fast and is piling up a backlog of massive expenditures for the future.

Byrd, Virginia Democrat who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said that while some excise levies undoubtedly ought to be removed, the $4.8-billion tax reduction bill before his committee is too big at a time when he can find no comparable decline in spending.

"The administration claims it is cutting expenditures, but I can find no evidence of it," he told a reporter.

"Instead it is adding to the deficit and bringing out many new programs that are going to call for massive spending increases next year."

Noting that the stock market took one of its worst declines of 1965 yesterday, Byrd said he thinks William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was on solid ground when he said last week that there are some similarities between the present situation and that of 1929 prior to the depression of the 30s.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, recalled for testimony today, told the finance committee yesterday that while he wasn't an expert in this field the dissimilarities were greater than the similarities.

When Byrd pressed for an estimate on when the budget might be balanced, Fowler replied that it might be possible in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1966, but more likely a year later.

Fowler said the impact of proposed excise tax cuts in the fiscal year which begins July 1 would be only $600 million.

He estimated that other revenues would increase so that the previous estimate of a $5.3-billion deficit for the year would be reduced to $4.3 billion.

Fowler said he based these estimates on a rising economy, revenue increases and strong action by the President and Congress to hold the spending line.

Viet Generals Asked for Help

Can't Solve Political Crisis, Says Premier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)— Premier Phan Huy Quat declared today that his government could not solve the current political crisis and that his generals had agreed to mediate.

He said he had asked the army to step in as mediators between the government and opposition groups, including Roman Catholics, now threatening to throw the nation into chaos.

Quat said he did not know whether the generals would organize a new armed forces council like the one dissolved last month.

He said in any case he was assured the generals all supported a strong civilian government, and that this would not mean a return to military control of the government.

Nevertheless it was clear the Vietnamese military establishment was moving back into the political arena.

MEDIATION BOARD

Quat said he had asked all the general officers in the country to serve on the new mediation board, and the form of organization the body takes will be up to the officers.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khac Suu have been feuding for three weeks over two cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them. The dispute has emboldened Roman Catholic agitators who are staging daily anti-Quat demonstrations, charging the premier is discriminating against Catholics.

Quat at a news conference today charged that Suu was obstructing efforts for a political conciliation.

★ ★ ★

"Up to this point," Quat said, "the good will of the government has been unable to keep the problem from degenerating into a critical situation. This situation has harmed the war against the Communists, which should have top priority,

WAR SLOWED

"The political crisis, which originally was superficial, has harmed the war effort, slowed down the government and harmed the life of the people.

"Even if the national charter is revised, in the existing political climate, the government finds it impossible to carry out its programs or implement plans."

The situation appeared to be moving toward a critical phase that could result in the collapse soon of the Quat government as well as an end to all chances of forming a coalition.

Pension Payment Boost to Follow Wage Increase

Pontiac teachers will receive a sizable pay raise next year and this wage hike will create a proportional increase in their pensions when they retire.

Pension payments under the state-operated teacher pension program are determined by teacher salaries and years of experience.

Thus, the 1965-66 pay raise will cause annual increases of up to $450 in pension payments.

For example, a 30-year teacher with a bachelor's degree who retired under the current salary schedule would receive an annual pension of about $2,970.

If the same teacher retired while the 1965-66 salary schedule was in effect the annual pension payment would be about $3,330.

ANNUAL PAYMENTS

Annual retirement payments for teachers with 30 years of experience and a masters or doctors degree are:

- Masters under 1964-65 schedule — about $3,200.
- Masters under 1965-66 schedule — about $3,600.
- Doctorate under 1964-65 schedule — about $3,591.
- Doctorate under 1965-66 schedule — about $4,023.

Because of the manner in which the program is set up, the teachers will have to pay for about one-half of these pension payment increases.

Teachers pay toward their pensions using a formula based on a percentage of their salaries. When salaries go up, the amount they pay into the program also increases.

The funds teachers pay into the pension plan are matched by the state.

The school district does not participate in the program, but merely acts as an agent which makes deductions from the teacher's paycheck.

The school district is prohibited by law from offering teachers an additional pension program using funds other than those paid to teachers as salaries.

School districts can deduct more from the salaries, if the teachers desire, and invest this money in tax sheltered annuities or life insurance programs.

★ ★ ★

The pension program is mandatory.

All teachers in every school district in the state must participate. (The Detroit school district does not participate, since it has its own program similar to the state plan.)

NOT A FRINGE

Because it is a mandatory program, most teachers and school administrators do not feel the pension plan is a fringe benefit.

But Pontiac teachers will get a new fringe benefit beginning next year.

The school district will pay $100 toward health and hospitalization insurance for teachers.

★ ★ ★

Only teachers who carry a health or hospitalization policy will be eligible to receive the benefit.

★ ★ ★

When two teachers are members of the same family, such as a husband and wife, the school district will pay $200 toward the cost of a family program, provided this payment doesn't exceed the total cost of the premium.

reentry," Haney quoted McDivvitt as saying.

White said his second greatest thrill came at the moment of liftoff. "He knew at that point they were on their way," Haney said.

The breathtaking films which the astronauts took during the space stroll were taken with a super wide-angle camera developed especially for that purpose.

The film shows White floating in eerie space like a stuffed doll, propelling himself hither and yon with squirts of his maneuvering gun, tugs of his golden tether, and even a gentle kick of the capsule.

It also shows a world of superb beauty — greens and browns and blues and whites — slipping perceptibly by in a splendid arc. What space officials believe to be the southern coast of California is clearly visible.

Astronaut White asked that films of his adventure be flown out to the Wasp so he and McDivitt could see them close up.

Haircut Prices Hiked 25 Cents

Pontiac area barbers last night voted to raise the price of haircuts 25 cents.

This increase will raise the normal weekday price of the average adult haircut from $2 to $2.25.

The action was taken as Local 50 of the State Barbers Association met for their annual meeting at the AmVets Hall at 570 Oakland.

The price change will affect haircut prices in Pontiac and the immediate adjacent area, including Keego Harbor, Clarkston, parts of Waterford and Pontiac Township.

In taking action to raise their prices, members of Local 50 pointed out that the 25-cent increase was instituted in the southern half of the county several months ago.

The increase is an across the board price hike and will affect all types of haircuts. It will go into effect Monday.

In other business at the meeting Donald Sturdevant, 930 Tyrone, was elected president of the local.

Other officers elected or reelected were: Roy Hatcher, vice president; Arthur Blankenburg, secretary-treasurer; Glen Kaminsky, recording secretary; and Donald Hatcher, guard.

Action Delayed on Appointment of Three Trustees

Action was scheduled on three appointments to the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees at last night's City Commission meeting.

Commissioners ended up nominating four people for the three terms to be filled last night.

While four terms are open, commissioners had previously agreed in an informal session to fill only three terms last night.

The confusion caused by the fourth nominee caused the entire matter to be deferred one week.

Nominated were Joe G. Benson, 46 Chippewa; Rev. Philip W. Somers of Marimont Baptist Church; Aleck Capsalis, 221 Ottawa, and Isaac Smoot, 246 S. Johnson. The latter two were nominated for reappointment.

NO WIG THIS TIME — Luci Baines Johnson, younger daughter of President and Mrs. Johnson, revealed yesterday that she spent last weekend in a "disguise" and went unrecognized as she attended graduation exercises at Marquette University and later went picnicking with friends in Wisconsin.

Who Was That Girl? 'Twas Luci Incognito

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson told almost all Tuesday: She had worn a disguise, she had danced at the Marquette University prom, she had picnicked with friends.

Throughout the weekend fling, her whereabouts were a secret from the public.

★ ★ ★

"I'm human, too," the President's 17-year-old daughter said Tuesday. "I wanted for once to be out with my friends and have fun."

She flew to Chicago with her father Thursday, then with parental approval she disappeared from the public eye. Secret Service agents remained with her, but took extra precautions to stay in the background.

LOT OF TROUBLE

"I went to a lot of trouble," she said. "I did it beeause I wanted just for one time to be out with my friends and having a good time. It's difficult enough. I always have to have adults around and chaperons."

Then she added: "If you have to have them, I couldn't ask for better ones."

This time, however, she wanted to enjoy life without the press and curious sightseers.

She succeeded. She attended Marquette graduation exercises, the prom, Sunday Mass and picnicked in the Wisconsin countryside without attracting undue attention.

WORE A WIG

There were reports she had attended the prom, a silver-blonde wig hiding her dark hair.

The Milwaukee Sentinel said the mystery girl at the dance wore such a wig, and quoted Father Leonard Piotrowski as saying she was introduced under the "nom de prom" of Miss Amy Nunn from "just outside Austin, Texas."

★ ★ ★

The Sentinel said Luci confirmed her date had been Patrick J. Nugent, a Marquette senior from Waukegan, Ill. He couldn't be reached for comment.

Luci, however, declined to say what sort of a disguise she had worn or how she avoided attracting attention.

She said she might want to try another masquerade sometime.

Bobby Plans Trip on Raft

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Jim Whittaker, who conquered a Canadian mountain together earlier this year, will make a raft trip down the Salmon River in Idaho, Mrs. Whittaker said Tuesday.

She said Kennedy, his wife and their four oldest children will meet the Whittakers and their two sons in Boise, Idaho, June 26.

The two families will proceed to the headwaters of the Salmon and begin a five-day raft journey.

GOP Chairman Due Million-Dollar Salute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A million-dollar program tonight salutes the organization man chosen to unify the Republican party for victory after the 1964 presidential defeat.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower leads GOP notables who will salute National Chairman Ray C. Bliss in an hour-long television program designed to raise $1 million for the party treasury.

★ ★ ★

Neither Barry Goldwater, the party's leading conservative spokesman and 1964 presidential candidate, nor New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, darling of the party's liberal ranks, is among the speakers.

The speakers will be former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Govs. George Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Sens. Thruston Morton of Kentucky and George Murphy of California, House Minority Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, Chicago industrialist Charles Percy and actor Ronald Reagan of California.

WON'T HIT GOAL

The GOP won't hit its goal of 12,000 over-all attendance at eight dinners in major Ohio metropolitan areas. But at $100 a plate, the total should approach $1 million.

Up to 10 million persons in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan could look in on the television portion, which is being carried by a dozen stations in Ohio and neighboring states.

★ ★ ★

Each dinner will feature a separate top speaker. Then the eight cities will be linked by closed-circuit television for a joint program during which Eisenhower will pay tribute to Bliss, Ohio's GOP chairman for 16 years before he was tapped to succeed Dean Burch, the man Goldwater installed after he won the presidential nomination.

Teachers in S. Lyon Get Raises After All

SOUTH LYON — The 59 South Lyon teachers who signed their 1965-66 contracts when prospects of getting raises looked dim are going to be rewarded after all.

★ ★ ★

They have been given $200 across-the-board salary increases.

The board of education approved the raises after it learned the district's state equalized property valuation had been boosted by $2.2 million and the county allocated funds by 1.45 mills.

While two-thirds of the district's teachers signed their contracts on the basis that they would not get raises, 33 declined taking positions here next year.

★ ★ ★

Schools Supt. Frank Barlett noted the district traditionally has a 25 to 30 per cent teacher turnover, largely because of its proximity to the University of Michigan.

MOVE OUT

Many of South Lyon's teachers move out of the community after they or their spouses have completed graduate work at the university.

Currently he must fill 10 to 12 teaching stations, Bartlett said.

The new base salary for teachers holding bachelors' degrees and having no experience is $5,000. The maximum in this category, reached in 12 annual steps, is $7,400.

★ ★ ★

The starting salary for a teacher with a master's degree is $5,300 and the maximum after 10 steps was set at $7,940.

NOT ALL CLASSIFIED

Board members also agreed to place on schedule the holders of master's degrees, who were not all classified in the past.

The new schedule takes to $560,021 the anticipated payroll for 92 teachers. An additional four instructors will be required next year, adding another $22,000 to the figure.

Bartlett had estimated that the payroll would be $543,073 next year if the current schedule remained in effect.

★ ★ ★

The board concluded salary discussions with the teachers in April.

NO PROMISES

"We told them at the time we couldn't promise them anything, but that we would keep an open mind," Board Secretary Mrs. Rita Chenoweth said.

She noted the district should realize about $53,000 in increased funds this year.

The state equalized property valuation in the district was moved up to $26,611,530.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Tax Allocation Board also raised the district's share of taxes from $8.25 to $9.70 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

Lapeer Adopts New Budget

Allots Nearly Same Funds as Current Year

LAPEER—A $378,000 budget, which is about the same as this year's budget, was approved by the city commission Monday night.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Arnold Whitney said the new budget is based on the present tax rate of 17 mills, 14 for operating and three for debt service.

Funds for the various city departments will be public works, $174,550; parks and recreation, $18,800; sewage treatment, $23,400; public safety, $90,200; special, $4,020; and administration and legislation, $25,650.

In other action the commission authorized the city manager to borrow $200,000 under a federal government program for plans to separate the combination sewers into sanitary and storm sewers.

★ ★ ★

Whitney said the plans have to be approved by the government. He said the total project will cost about $3½ million.

MUST CUT WEEDS

The commission passed an amendment to its existing weed ordinance which will require residents to keep their own weeds cut or face a $500 fine or 90 days in jail.

The city formerly cut the weeds and charged the residents. Whitney said the city has been unable to find someone to do the work so the residents will be expected to take care of their own weeds.

Troy to Pay Cost of Street Lighting

TROY — The city will pay the entire cost of new street lighting on 14 Mile and John R, the city commission decided Monday night.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Paul York said the monthly bill will be $183 for illumination and capital cost. There will be ornamental lighting on 14 Mile between the expressway and John R and wooden poles on John R north of 14 Mile.

★ ★ ★

The lights are being installed because of the proposed new shopping center in the area.

The commission previously referred the lighting matter to York to study the possibility of assessing adjacent property owners.

Hubbard Trial in 2nd Day

Expect Home Owner to Testify

DETROIT (UPI) — A Dearborn home owner who charged police refused him protection during a 1963 Labor Day racial incident was expected to take the stand again today at the civil rights trial of Mayor Orville Hubbard and his two top police aides.

Hubbard and Police Chief Garrison Clayton and Public Safety Director George Lewis were charged with refusing to provide protection to Giusseppe Stanzione when Stanzione's home was attacked by a mob of about 400 persons.

The first day of the trial was recessed yesterday shortly after Stanzione took the stand in Federal Judge Wade McCree's courtroom.

Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. William H. Merrill said at the opening of the trial he planned to present evidence to prove Hubbard and his two aides intentionally denied Stanzione police protection to set an example of what would happen if a resident attempts to sell his home to a Negro.

★ ★ ★

Stanzione said his home was stoned and a crowd milled around for nearly three hours when it was rumored Negroes were moving in.

NEGRO MOVERS

He said two Negro movers appeared at his home the day of the incident to help move a white couple from an upstairs apartment and were mistakenly taken as the new residents.

Merrill said "Mayor Hubbard knew what was going on" and added that he would offer circumstantial evidence to show that the three defendants also conspired to prevent Negroes from moving into the predominately all-white Detroit suburb.

Dearborn Patrolman Nils Richard Strang testified that Lewis told him that he had to check with the mayor at Camp Dearborn "every 45 minutes or hour and let him know what was going on."

Hubbard has denied he knew of the disturbance at the time. All three men pleaded innocent to the charges.

★ ★ ★

Another witness, Cliff Korsedal, a reporter for the weekly Dearborn Guide newspaper, said he was at the scene and questioned Clayton about the incident.

He said Clayton told him the matter looked "like a pretty big misunderstanding."

Korsedal said Clayton, Lewis and a Dearborn police lieutenant were at the scene and were dressed in plain clothes.

IQ's, Like the 3-R's, Passe in Education

In 1964 schools and colleges in this country used an estimated 150 million standardized tests. In the past few weeks Congressional committees have heard proposals for national examinations for high school graduates.

And the Carnegie Corp., at the request of the U. S. Office of Education, is studying the feasibility of a "national testing program" to identify factors that affect the attainment of basic educational goals —size of school, experience of teachers and salaries, per pupil expenditures.

The Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., has been a giant in the field of testing research since it was formed in 1947.

In the Service's latest annual report, President HENRY CHAUNCEY looks back on the last 20 years in the field of testing, sounds the final death knell over the traditional conception of intelligence quotient (IQ), and declares that the use of tests has been matched by improved understanding of them.

★ ★ ★

"It has become recognized by most that the so-called intelligence tests never did measure some innate thing called 'intelligence' that could be summed up in one number called an IQ," says CHAUNCEY.

"Actually, the use of the term 'intelligence tests' has declined rapidly, as it became clear that what we are testing is Developed Ability or Aptitude which results from the Development of whatever innate ability an individual has."

Yes, and we'd toss in our own two-cents' worth of observation that no test ever isolated that elusive, abstract quality called Personality that plays so large a part, objectively and subjectively, in an individual's progress through life.

Growth Throttle of U.S. Is Seen Opening Wide

Look out ahead!

Prepare yourself for the socio-economic developments that the U. S. Department of Labor sees by the year 1975.

Projections call for a civilian work force of 88 million, up 18 million from the present figure, with the Gross National Product (the total of all goods and services produced) reaching an annual $1 trillion. This compares with the current rate of $623 billion.

★ ★ ★

The Department's prognostications are based on several key premises:

- Reduction of the unemployment rate to 3 per cent. (It currently hovers around 5 per cent.)
- Continuation of the present size of the Armed Forces and the aggregate of defense and related expenditures at current levels.
- Maintenance of the economic and social concepts and relationships in our society, including patterns of consumption.

Significant shifts in the makeup of the work force are foreseen. The white collar group is expected to make the biggest contribution as it gains 10 million jobs during the next decade to reach 41 million.

There will be 4.5 million new blue collar jobs, swelling those ranks to more than 30 million by the mid-1970s. At the same time, services will have boosted its total to 13 million after a 4-million gain over the 1965 total.

★ ★ ★

But percentagewise, the pacemaker in the upsurge in employment will be in the professional, technical and kindred personnel. This group is slated to number more than 12 million by the time 1975 rolls around, a 3.5 million increase over today's complement.

Only in the agriculture segment of the economy is a shrinkage in workers projected. Continuing the prevailing decline, it will, during the next decade, drop a million farm workers from the 4.4 million now employed.

★ ★ ★

So-o-o, as big as things now are, you'll have to begin thinking even bigger as a decade of calendar leaves flutter away. Nineteen seventy-five will be here before you know it.

Court Rulings Escaped Abuse

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court handed down some historic decisions in the 1964-65 term ending Monday but escaped the torrential abuse of other years for a simple reason.

MARLOW

It did not poke around much in the highly sensitive fields of religion and politics. Thus, with no new logs on the fire, all the talk of curbing the court or undoing its decisions once more got nowhere.

Again this court, as it has since Chief Justice Earl Warren took his seat in 1954, continued to broaden its protection of individual rights and liberties. Yet, the range of its work was wide.

Here were some of its most memorable actions:

In the first test of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, the court upheld the public accommodations section requiring restaurants and motels to serve all races if the restaurants' customers or food move in interstate commerce.

Two years ago the court, extending constitutional protections to state criminal trials, said a defendant had a right to an attorney in all key stages of the proceedings.

★ ★ ★

This year the court extended this by ruling a defendant in such a trial held a right to face and question witnesses against him.

SENSATIONAL DECISION

One of the most sensational decisions came Monday when the court threw out the conviction of Billie Sol Estes on a Texas swindling charge because his trial was televised.

"A defendant on trial for a specific crime," the court said, "is entitled to his day in court, not in a stadium or a city or a nationwide arena. Trial by television is therefore foreign to our system."

But some justices indicated this is not the last word on televised trials.

★ ★ ★

And the court in effect upheld the California Supreme Court in overturning the conviction of a convict, who stabbed a fellow prisoner to death, because the confession used against him was taken by officers who did not advise him of his right to an attorney and his right to stay silent.

PASSPORT TO CUBA

The court upheld the State Department in refusing a ski resort operator a passport to Cuba. He said his only reason for going was to be informed. The department says only those can go whose travel might serve this country's interest.

In the labor field, the court said an employer may shut down his business for any reason—he might not want to deal with a union—but he may not shut down just a part of it to avoid dealing.

Yet, the court agreed unanimously that when an employer reaches a dead-end in negotiations with a union for a new contract, he can lock out the employes temporarily to put economic pressure on the union.

And—the court broadened the freedom of citizens to criticize public officials without penalty, saying statements made in ill-will are not grounds for criminal libel unless made with "reckless disregard" for the truth.

Don't Look Now, But—

David Lawrence Asks:

When Are Labor Pacts Illegal?

WASHINGTON — When does industrywide bargaining by employers and labor unions constitute a monopolistic practice in violation of antitrust laws?

LAWRENCE

The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered decisions which indicate that in some instances an agreement by a national labor union with a number of employers could fix wage scales high enough to force marginal companies out of business and thus violate antitrust statutes.

While the decisions announced this week in two cases were in themselves significant, the opinions of both the majority and minority reveal that the whole question of labor-union monopolies has yet to be threshed out and the law set forth plainly to guide both employers and unions.

Justice White, in delivering the majority opinion in a case remanded to a lower court for further proceedings, pointed out that when a union enters into a conspiracy with large operators in the coal business "to impose the agreed-upon wage and royalty scales upon the smaller, nonunion operators, regardless of their ability to pay and regardless of whether or not the union represented the employes of these companies, all for the purpose of eliminating them from the industry, limiting production and pre-empting the market for the large, unionized operators," such an agreement becomes subject to prosecution under the antitrust laws.

But the same opinion, oddly enough, says it is "beyond question that a union may conclude a wage agreement for the multiemployer bargaining unit without violating the antitrust laws and that it may as a matter of its own policy, and not by agreement with all or part of the employers of that unit, seek the same wages from other employers."

From this it would appear that there are certain methods to avoid antitrust action and still make industrywide agreements. But, unfortunately, the court's decision does not spell them out in a way that will really be of guidance to either employers or unions.

Justice Goldberg, former secretary of labor, in a dissenting opinion applying to both cases decided this week, admits that Congress has the right to put restrictions upon the bargaining process so as to avoid any form of monopoly, and that he believes present statutes of Congress do grant exemptions from antitrust prosecution. But he adds:

"Whether it is wise or sound public policy for this exemption to continue to exist in its present form, or at all, or whether the exemption gives too much power to labor organizations, is solely for Congress to determine.

"The problem of the application of the antitrust laws to collective bargaining is but another aspect of the question of whether it is sound public policy to recognize or to limit the right of industrial combatants to push their struggle to the limits of the justification of self-interest.'"

The second case decided on Monday involved an understanding between employers and labor unions in the meat-cutting business in Chicago.

A collective-bargaining agreement, which had been executed after joint multiemployer and multiunion negotiations, declared that market-operating hours would be limited from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

While the agreement was upheld as legal, some of the dissenting justices pointed out that this action by the court took away from certain employers their right to compete by staying open certain hours when their competitors were closed.

A reading of the voluminous opinions in the two cases this week gives the impression that every case will have to be decided on its merits and that there is by no means any unanimity on the subject of how far labor unions can go in making multiemployer agreements which hurt marginal companies and eventually put some of them out of business.

Air Medicine Expert Feels Mars Has Bacterial Life

HOUSTON — Dr. Hubertus Strughold, chief scientist of the Aerospace Medical Division of the Air Force, will soon release a paper suggesting that life at the bacteria stage, at least, exists on Mars.

CONSIDINE

The dapper dean of air medicine, a top adviser to Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe, says he expects that 90 per cent of the scientific community will regard him as a "heretic" when the paper appears.

"The accepted opinion is that Mars is dead, completely dried out," he told us today. "I believe its crust is composed of about 100 meters of dirt, below which is 400 meters of ice, and below the ice a substantial water table.

"Its so-called canals are gigantic fissures, not ditches dug by intelligent creatures.

"A meteor the size of the empire state building could have caused any of them. They struck Mars with such force that they cracked the ice beneath the dirt.

"In some cases this permitted warm water from the next layer of the crust to leak out. Astronomers have noticed cloud patches on Mars for centuries.

"What we need now are the pictures of Mars to be taken as Mariner IV passes it next month. They promise to be 10 times clearer than any ever taken from the earth.

"This could very well be one of the top events of our times, the next best thing to sending men to the vicinity.

"Sending men, of course, is medically unacceptable. With the best means of propulsion now at hand, it would mean about 15 months in space.

"I believe it will be feasible when we perfect atomic propulsion of space vehicles, such engines could take over after the spacecraft has left the earth's atmosphere and reduce the flight time to six weeks.

"Perhaps by the end of 1970 we'll be able to think seriously about this."

Mother Heard Quotation of Franklin D. Roosevelt

In reply to "One Who Was Sent" regarding the quotation of FDR, I reiterate, without the need of reference to any newspaper, that Mr. Roosevelt's now famous and apparently much debated statement pertaining to our boys fighting on foreign soil was definitely qualified by "unless we are attacked."

★ ★ ★

I, too, was fighting the war—but at home—and I heard that particular "fireside chat." Being one of the nation's mothers, I could never forget the promise that our sons would never again be committed to battle on foreign soil unless our nation was attacked. I did not read it, I heard it.

★ ★ ★

Having heard, I persist in clarification, believing that distorted truth can become an evil thing.

I am amazed to know there still exists a "debtor's prison" in this great state. I was ordered to sign an assignment on my check by a judge regardless of the fact that I could not live but merely exist on the amount left.

I was then informed by the Prosecutor, known as the "Friend of Court," that I could get a petition for reduction of support payments immediately and have payments reduced. Communist's Goals

The Arizona Republic

The latest voice to be raised against increasing far left penetration of civil rights groups is Dr. James M. Nabrit Jr., president of Howard University, the largest Negro university in America.

Speaking from a statement approved by the university's board of trustees, Dr. Nabrit, 64-year-old Negro lawyer and educator, charged that Communists have joined a student protest group on campus. These radicals of the extreme left, he said, were seeking to "cloak themselves in the mantle of civil righters and plot and plan in secret to disrupt our fight for justice and full citizenship."

Dr. Nabrit told a student assembly, then later a news conference, "We must beware of people who come to us like Greeks bearing gifts. They do not care about the Negro people. They do not love Howard. They do not believe in civil rights for anyone.

"They thrive on dissension. They create mythical evils and invent issues but do not want solutions to problems. They are children of lawlessness and destruction. They must be unmasked for the frauds they are. They must be fought in every arena, and they must not be permitted to prevail."

★ ★ ★

Compare Dr. Nabrit's attitude toward Communists in the civil rights movement with the attitude of those who deny that Communists are involved, or claim that it makes little difference anyhow because there is no chance they will gain control of the movement.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Nabrit does not think the Communists will gain control of the civil rights movement either. Nevertheless, he understands — as so many do not — that the Communists' goals are anything but beneficent. That is why he believes they should have no place whatsoever in the civil rights movement.

Beg to Differ!

The Portland Oregonian

We beg to differ with Dr. Sherwood L. Washburn, anthropologist of the University of California, who says that a couple of million years ago two groups of apes in Africa took a stride forward in the evolutionary process. Their brains were about the same size, which was small. They both walked upright.

★ ★ ★

But one primate had a larger jaw than the other and, as Africa became drier than it had been, he took to eating more meat. This required that he move about more in the search of game and he had to develop tools for slaying and skinning animals.

His brain increased in size in the process and finally he learned to talk and to use fire. He evolved into man.

The other primate never learned to make and use tools and his brain didn't grow. He became extinct about 500,000 years ago.

It is the latter statement that we challenge. Thousands of men now living have never learned to use tools. They cannot even replace a washer in a faucet. Though they have learned to eat meat, they must call on their wives to carve it.

★ ★ ★

Obviously primate No. 2 did not become extinct. Somehow we survived and now lie around at ease while primate No. 1 is always busy with wrenches, screwdrivers, computers and all sorts of tools. Question: Which primate's brain developed more?

Prestige and Knowledge Among Prizes

Great Rewards Await Winner of Race to Moon

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. — The United States and the Soviet Union are locked in a tight race to reach the moon first. The winner's rewards will be great: national prestige, scientific knowledge, perhaps military domination of space.

The flights this week of Gemini 4 and the Soviet Luna 6 are dramatic evidence that both nations are very much in the race.

Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II advanced the United States a long way on the lunar highway with their four-day flight during which White took a 20-minute walk in space. Manned flights in the Gemini and Apollo programs now are scheduled at two-month intervals in a drive toward a manned lunar landing, which could come as early as 1968.

It is suspected that Luna 6 will attempt the first soft landing of an instrumented capsule on the moon if it reaches there as scheduled Friday. Success of such a maneuver would provide vital data on the strength of the moon's surface — information needed before men set foot there.

The United States plans to attempt a soft landing with an unmanned Surveyor craft in October.

Why go to the moon?

This question has been debated in scientific and government circles since President John F. Kennedy committed the United States to the race in 1961.

Most scientists favor sending men to the moon. But from the start the Apollo lunar landing project has had its critics. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower called it a "stunt race." Several respected scientists believe the money and brainpower could be better spent to improve the lot of man through medical research, anti-poverty programs and the like. Some contend automatic spacecraft could do the job better than man.

BOTHERSOME ASPECT

The one aspect that seems to bother the American public is the estimated $20 billion price-tag.

"That's a lot of money," says James Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "But as big as that $20 billion looks, we are spending only one per cent of our gross national product on space — so we can afford it.

"It is not being spent on the moon as some people like to infer. It is being spent right here in the United States. In fact, 90 per cent of it goes directly to private, free-enterprise companies, many of them small local businesses.

"And I cannot for the life of me think of any other kind of endeavor that could benefit our nation in so many ways at once," Webb said. "It advances knowledge and stimulates our education. It creates new jobs and skills. It perfects our technology. It strengthens our national security and it adds to our total national wealth in many ways."

Concerning the prestige factor, President Johnson has said: "Surely the country which combines the ability, the resources and the courage to go to the moon will sit high at international negotiating tables. If such a country is one which protects freedom, a strong blow is made for a world of peace instead of a world of subjugation."

Dr. Homer Newell, NASA associate administrator for space science and applications, is one of many scientists who believe the moon may hold the key to the origin of our solar system, generally believed to have been created about 4.5 billion years ago.

Says Newell: "On the earth, the atmosphere and the oceans wear away surface features in 10 to 50 million years. Mountain-building activity turns over large areas of the surface in about the same time.

NO CHANGES

"But on the moon there are no oceans and atmosphere to destroy the surface, and there is little if any mountain building.

"For these reasons the moon has retained a record which probably goes back billions of years to the infancy of the solar system. The moon is the Rosetta Stone of the solar system, and to the student of the origin of the earth and planets, this lifeless body is even more important than Mars or Venus, whose properties resemble earth."

Newell and others believe men can conduct lunar exploration much more efficiently than machines. A trained geologist, they say, could obtain more information in a few hours than a series of unmanned probes could over several years.

★ ★ ★

The moon, with its lack of obscuring atmosphere, also would be an ideal base for a manned observatory to study the stars and planets. Because it has no atmosphere, the moon also could serve as a launching base for planetary journeys.

MOON PATROLS

The moon program also will contribute to the defense and security of the country. The powerful rockets, control and guidance systems, rendezvous techniques, life protective measures and manned flight experience all are applicable to a military man-in-space capability. The result could be a series of orbiting police patrols to maintain the peace.

The antimoon argument has its precedents in history.

The first time Christopher Columbus sought support for his voyage he was turned down by the King and Queen of Spain. Other Spanish projects at home needed more attention than a questionable trip to the unknown.

But Queen Isabella changed her mind and Columbus set sail with his three tiny ships. While the wisdom of the voyage was still being debated, Columbus was back and Spain entered her greatest period of wealth and prestige.

Some historians said Isabella changed her mind because she heard that Spain's chief rival, Portugal, was about to undertake such a voyage and she couldn't bear the thought of losing such a race.

So it is with the United States and the Soviet Union today.

Italian Police Hit Global Ring

11 Are Arrested in Crackdown on Gang

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Police said today they arrested 11 persons, including a Belgian hockey player, in a crackdown of an international gang which specialized in counterfeit U.S. dollars, narcotics, stolen jewels and luxury cars.

Authorities did not name the Belgian but they called him "an ice hockey champion who made headlines more than once for his achievements."

Police said he was arrested Friday in a downtown hotel, along with three Neapolitans to whom he was about to sell $160,000 in counterfeit American bills.

The Belgian, according to police, also was in the narcotics racket and previously had given the Neapolitans samples of morphine, cocaine and marijuana.

Three other men and four women, all Italian, also were arrested. Police said they were looking for three more Italians and two unnamed foreigners.

FOUND IN HOMES

They said the stolen goods at the homes of the prisoners ranged from diamonds to four tons of ham and other foodstuffs.

Police said the three Neapolitans also had stolen a dozen big cars and shipped them to Belgium after changing the license plates.

Police sources said the prisoners were part of a ring which operated throughout western Europe from a headquarters in Brussels, spreading counterfeit American money and dealing in stolen goods.

There was no immediate indication whether the ring was connected to a Detroit-based counterfeiting gang which U.S. authorities and Italian and international police have been trailing for a year.

MONEY HIDDEN

Police in Milan said yesterday that close to $1 million in counterfeit $20 bills printed in Detroit were believed hidden somewhere in Sicily.

Police in Milan said the forged money was believed to have been taken to Sicily in 1962 by Pietro Mazzola. They said Mazzola was arrested in Detroit in June, 1964, and found in possession of $800,000 in counterfeit currency.

European associates of the Detroit ring who were reported arrested all were identified as Italians.

They included Antonio Siciliano, picked up in Hamburg, Germany, last December; Vincenzo Pallo, arrested in Milan last March; and Paolino Amato and Genesio Amenta, nabbed by police in Milan last week. Police said all possessed counterfeit dollars.

State Guard General Goes Back to Post

LANSING (AP) — Brig Gen. Carson Neifert returned to work as state quartermaster general Tuesday, after a seven-month suspension without pay, and reported "a lot of things to get caught up on."

After a 93-hour hearing Gov. George Romney found Neifert and Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald, the State Adjutant General, guilty of gross neglect of duty and misfeasance May 20.

* * *

He also found McDonald guilty of malfeasance and dismissed him. McDonald said he would appeal to the courts.

Romney's hearing dealt with charges involving alleged illegal land transactions at Camp Grayling and illegal expenditures of local armory funds.

The governor said he did not believe Neifert's removal was justified. He said Neifert took steps to put the land files in order and to stop the questioned armory expenditures.

Neifert said he spent the day in a series of meetings to get oriented.

* * *

The general returned at a busy time. National Guard units start arriving at Camp Grayling this weekend for summer training.

Col. Leo C. Whitaker, who acted as quartermaster general while Neifert was under suspension, returned to his regular assignment as Chief of Staff of the 46th Infantry Division.

Guards Say Ancient City Is Haunted

LUXOR, Egypt (AP) — The men who guard the 4,000-year-old city of Luxor, onetime capital of the civilized world, swear it's haunted. They want the government to do something about it.

Luxor, burial ground of ancient Pharaohs, is an ideal breeding ground for ghosts and the myths that surround them.

Sixty-four kings and queens were buried in Luxor's silent Valley of the Kings, on the west bank of the Nile. Many of their tombs have been rifled over the centuries. Archeologists have removed their mummies and treasures to museums in Cairo, Europe and around the world.

The watchmen of the Valley of Kings are a close-knit group whose jobs are passed down from father to son. In recent months they have been gathering around camp fires at night exchanging hair-raising accounts of mysterious goings-on in the empty, echoing tombs they guard.

SCREAMS IN NIGHT

They report screams in the night, shuffling footsteps, the clatter of chariot wheels and shouts of anger and indignation.

The reason is obvious to them. The spirits of the kings and queens are outraged because their mummies have been removed along with the treasures and vessels they need for their final journey to the Gardens of Iaru, the paradise of the Pharaohs.

Abdel Maaboud Gomaa, 67, the head watchman, says there are several ways the spirits of the dead can be appeased.

"Someone who has mastered the hieroglyphic language must come to the valley and placate the angry spirits by explaining to them that their mummies are safely encased in the Cairo Museum," he says.

MOVE MUMMIES

"Another solution is for the authorities to move the mummies and other treasures back from the Cairo Museum to the valley and have the tourists come here to see them.

"The watchmen are justifiably terrified lest the Pharaohs think they robbed the tombs."

Some watchmen complained to officials of the Antiquities Department. The official brushed them aside, saying their stories are "too grotesque to be investigated."

The first time the watchmen heard the strange sounds was on the night of Feb. 26. Gomaa and his men thought tomb vandals were back in the valley. They picked up rifles and went hunting marauders. They found none.

HEARD HUNTER-KING

Since then, one watchman said, he has heard the young hunter-king Tut-Ankh-Amen stomping around his tomb. Tut's tomb escaped pillage for more than 3,000 years and was discovered by the British Egyptologist Howard Carter in 1922. Tut's mummy was never removed.

Another watchman says he has heard Queen Hatshepset crying hysterically near the tomb of her half-brother and husband, Emperor Thotmes II.

★ ★ ★

Egyptologists decline to comment on the stories. They are "too unscholarly a subject to discuss," said one.

Credit Union Speaker

DETROIT (AP) — G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, is to address a five-day conference of the Michigan Credit Union League which opens Sunday in Detroit.

Health Chief Supports Birth Control Bill

LANSING (AP) — State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert Heustis Tuesday approved a controversial House bill authorizing the State Health Department to set up birth control clincis.

Heustis told the Senate Committee on Health and Welfare he "supports the bill as the best possible compromise at this time."

★ ★ ★

The bill is one of a pair sponsored by Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, which passed the House last month after substantial amendment. The companion measure sets up a state policy on birth control.

★ ★ ★

The bill allows boards and departments of health counties, districts and cities to operate birth control clinics under the State Health Commissioner's supervision.

MOVE FASTER

"We can move faster in a manner that protects the individual's conscience with legislation than we can without it," Heustis said. "Without legislation, there would be only strife and inaction."

Heustis also approved of the fact that the bill makes adequate provisions for getting information on the availability of birth control services to persons on public health assistance.

★ ★ ★

He said he has asked the House Ways and Means Committee to add $30,000 to the Public Health Appropriations bill to institute two six-month programs, including in-service training for public health workers.

★ ★ ★

In addition to improving provisions for notification of the recipients, the amended bill also allows a doctor to initiate discussions of birth control with a patient—something that originally would have been prohibited.

Prompt Treatment Aids Peritonitis Cure

By DR. WAYNE BRANDSTADT

Q—What is peritonitis? Can it be cured?

A—Peritonitis is an inflammation of the inner wall of the abdominal cavity. The commonest causes are rupture of the appendix or of a peptic ulcer.

BRANDSTADT

It may also follow a gunshot or stab wound of the abdomen or it may occur by extension from a liver abscess or abscess of the uterine tubes.

The victim has a severe pain which may be diffused throughout the abdomen or localized in a small area. The pain is aggravated by movement or pressure.

★ ★ ★

There is fever and the victim's breathing is rapid and shallow in order to minimize the pain.

OPEN ABDOMEN

The treatment usually involves opening the abdomen, stopping the leak, flushing out the abdominal cavity and giving massive doses of antibiotics.

★ ★ ★

Fluids by vein and blood transfusions are also often necessary. With prompt treatment, recovery is to be expected.

Q—What is meant by milk leg? Is it the same as edema? What causes it and what can be done for it?

A—milk leg is an inflammation of the deep veins of the thigh and leg, usually on one side only.

It is a phlebitis that comes on 10 to 14 days after childbirth or shortly after the milk comes into the breasts.

The first manifestation is pain along the course of the involved vein. As the vein becomes plugged by the formation of clots, edema or waterlogging occurs.

★ ★ ★

Milk leg may be caused by previously existing varicose veins, infection, or too long a period of bed rest following delivery. Dextran, anticoagulants and clot-dissolving drugs are used in the treatment.

Smoking should be avoided because it constricts the blood vessels. An elastic stocking or elastic bandage may have to be worn for a while.

Mrs. George Romney makes her second public appearance in Oakland County in less than a week. Tuesday, she spoke to the Bloomfield Republican Club. With her are Mrs. Samuel Vettraino, Bloomcrest Drive (center) and Mrs. John Hammond, Bloomfield Hills.

Writer Visits Sculptor's Sweden Home

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Signe Karlstrom, Press correspondent for Bloomfield Hills, is vacationing in Sweden. This is the first of a series of articles she is sending back.)

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

STOCKHOLM, Sweden—Millesgarden, the home and gardens of the late eminent Swedish sculptor, Carl Milles and his wife Olga, becomes more and more the center of attraction for visitors to Sweden.

★ ★ ★

Last week, a visit with Miss Ange Hedmark — for years a friend of the Milles' family and now official hostess at Millesgarden — was a happy reunion.

★ ★ ★

In late years, Mrs. Milles has resided in Gratz, Austria, her home city. In spite of her 91 years, she remains in close contact with Miss Hedmark and the work at Millesgarden.

★ ★ ★

In 1906, Carl Milles purchased the site which forms the major part of Millesgarden. Through the years he was at Cranbrook, he returned often to this home in Sweden which he continued to enlarge.

DREAM REALIZED

His dream of a cultural center was realized when he and Mrs. Milles bequeathed their grounds and art collections to the Swedish nation which now maintains the property.

★ ★ ★

I enjoyed a beautiful day in the gardens there with Mrs. Sixten Ehrling and her daughters, Elizabeth and Ann-Charlotte. My thoughts often drifted back to Cranbrook to the time when Carl and Olga Milles were in residence there.

★ ★ ★

Watching the two girls in their checked gingham dresses hop between the columns in the garden reminded me how Carl Milles used to enjoy the children at play at Cranbrook and how he appreciated the Cranbrook gardens.

Miss Hedmark informed me that over 150,000 visitors come to Millesgarden during the six months of the year it is open—from May 1 to Nov. 1.

VISITORS FAMOUS

In the guest book are names of many celebrities. It was interesting to note that Madame Khrushchev and Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver have been recent visitors.

★ ★ ★

Last summer, Clarence Otter from Bloomfield Hills came.

This summer, Miss Hedmark says, she is looking forward to receiving members of the Bloomfield Art Association.

She cannot receive all visitors personally, but she is anxious to make everyone welcome.

★ ★ ★

Words cannot describe the beauty of the place on the rocky cliffs of the island of Lidingo, just across the water from Stockholm.

Shortly before Carl Milles' death he wrote, " . . . the whole garden has been created solely to satisfy a longing for beauty, a peculiar instinct to think only as an artist, without a trace of vanity."

TWO CHAPELS

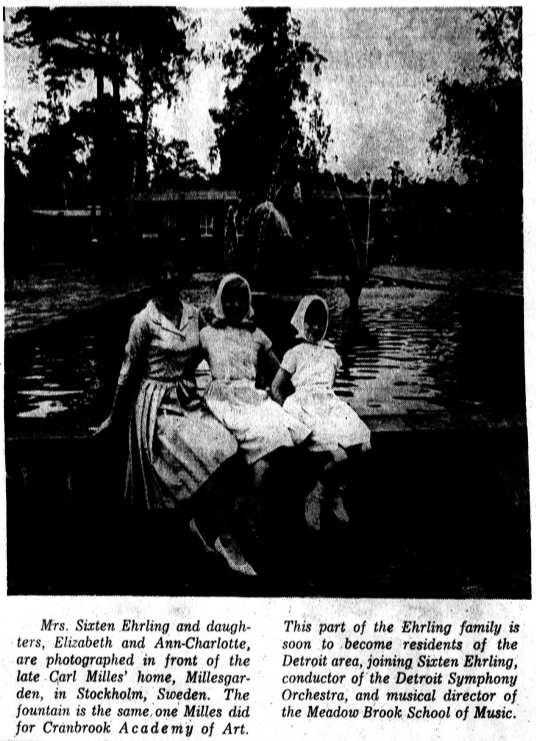
Milles, who died in 1955, is buried in the small garden, named "Little Austria." Here we find two chapels.

On Olga Milles' 50th birthday, her husband presented her with a 16th century French wood carving which has been placed in the smaller chapel.

Later, a larger chapel was erected and this is Carl Milles' resting place.

According to his wife's wishes, only his name is on the chapel door. Nearby a candle is lit — no dates — life is everlasting.

Had Milles lived, he would be 90 on June 23. On this date there will be special tribute paid to him at his resting place.



Mrs. Sixten Ehrling and daughters, Elizabeth and Ann-Charlotte, are photographed in front of the late Carl Milles' home, Millesgarden, in Stockholm, Sweden. The fountain is the same one Milles did for Cranbrook Academy of Art.

This part of the Ehrling family is soon to become residents of the Detroit area, joining Sixten Ehrling, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and musical director of the Meadow Brook School of Music.

Mrs. Paul Thorlakson and daughter Joan were cohostesses at another shower in their Bloomfield Hills home. Joan will be maid of honor at the Saturday ceremony in the Grace Lutheran Church, Redford.

Ignore Her Request

Young Miss Is Tactless

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A niece of mine, whom I'll call Sally, is graduating from high school in June. She plans to be married soon after graduation although as yet no date has been set for her wedding.

ABBY

This morning I received an invitation to her graduation. Enclosed was a handwritten note from Sally. It read, "For my hope chest: Please go to Sears and ask for Mrs. Briggs. Tell her your name and she will give you a package. Price $10.95."

I've never heard of anyone doing such a thing, have you? What do you think of a girl like Sally, and what should I do about it?

I planned on getting her a graduating gift, and when the time came for her wedding, I surely would have given her a wedding gift, too.

BEWILDERED AUNT

DEAR AUNT: Sally has shown herself to be extremely presumptuous and tasteless as well. Feeling as you do, ignore her "instructions" and buy her a graduation gift of your own choice — if, indeed, you wish to buy her a gift at all.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I have been living with George (not his real name) for three years, but we are not legally married. We have two children under three.

We love each other and would be married, but he is still married to Number One, and I am in the same predicament. We have lived in five different states so far and I am tired of moving.

★ ★ ★

George is a good salesman and can get a job anywhere. Lately I suspect him of running around. He has stayed out all night many times. He says there is no other woman, but what am I to think?

I left him once, but I took him back. I can't take any more of this kind of living. I am beginning to think we will never be married. I want to leave him for good, but he says if I do, he will put our children in a home and charge me with being an unfit mother.

Can he do this? I'll sign myself "Miss Pennsylvania," as that is where we are living now.

"MISS PENNSYLVANIA"

★ ★ ★

DEAR MISS PENNSYLVANIA: Only a lawyer can tell you whether, according to law, you are an "unfit mother," and the penalty for same, if indeed you are found to be one.

I am not a lawyer and neither is George, so don't let him bully you. Your man sounds like no bargain, but he is the father of your children, so perhaps this mess is worth straightening out.

How fortunate for you to be in Pennsylvania. You might need a Philadelphia lawyer to untangle your legal complications.

Club Names Chairmen

Naming chairmen was at the top of the list of business at the recent meeting of the Pilot Club of Pontiac Inc. as members gathered in the Holiday Inn.

★ ★ ★

Those who will be working on committees for "Service unlimited-prescription for a better world" theme, include Mrs. Glen Dolan, Mary E. Marcero and Mrs. Edgar Arnold.

★ ★ ★

Others are Mrs. William Gunter, Mrs. Mallory Coleman, Mrs. Lewis Egerer, Mrs. L. Chester Richert and Carol C. Morse.

Baer, Winkleman Street, will follow. The Baers moved to Detroit immediately after their marriage and returned to the Pontiac area three years ago. They have two grandchildren.

Smorgasbord Follows Golf

A smorgasbord dinner followed several rounds of golf.

Winners of the annual flag day were announced Tuesday at a luncheon meeting in the club house.

They are Mrs. Allan Crawford, Mrs. Euell Smith, Mrs. Glen Hickson, Mrs. Donald Van Tine, Mrs. Calvin Warner and Mrs. James Haggard. A consolation prize was won by Mrs. Harold Titus.

Miss Clark Marries in Noon Rites

Recent vows were taken in St. Michael's Church at noon by Patricia Darlene Clark and Vernon Raymond Charboneau.

Rev. James L. Hayes performed the rites for the couple whose parents are Mrs. Annie Ruth Clark of Desota Place and Arnold H. Clark of Roland Road and the Raymond Charboneaus of Cheboygan, Mich.

CHIFFON GOWN

A white chiffon gown was chosen by the bride whose shoulder length veil was held in place by a cluster of seed pearls. She carried white carnations and roses.

Attendants included Mrs. Gerald Covington, sister of the bride, and Linda Charboneau of Cheboygan, Mrs. Jerry Waltman and Myra Watkins.

★ ★ ★

Donald Deroshia was best man for the bridgroom who lives on Dvorak Street. Assuming usher duties were Allen Campbell, Gerald Covington and Gerald Waltman.

An evening reception was held in Maurice's.

Bath Gives Power

A sudsy bath or shower upon arising will serve as an "energizer" for the entire day.

An afternoon ceremony and reception in the First Congregational Church marked the recent vows of Mary Joan Crabtree and Robert Graham Davis. Appliqued white net satin fashioned a gown for the daughter of the George W. Crabtrees of Auburn Road. She carried red roses, carnations and lilies of the valley. Attendants at the rite performed by Rev. Malcolm K. Burton were Margaret St. Dennis, Linda Crabtree, Long Beach, Calif., and Marty Belgeu of Indianapolis. Donald Corey was best man for the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orval Davis of Auburn Heights. Larry Davis and Roger Crabtree ushered.

See More Clothes

Ten years from now Americans are expected to be spending $45 billion annually for clothes, 40 per cent more than at present.

★ ★ ★

Frank A. Honkanen, son of the Carl Honkanens of Birmingham was also saluted for outstanding work as a radio and television major in the college's trade and industrial division.

★ ★ ★

From Franklin were Barry J. Johnson, son of the Earl Johnsons, a pre-engineering major, and Claudia G. Wallis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Wallis. She is a dental assistant major in the collegiate technical division.

★ ★ ★

Also honored was William J. Murphy, son of the John Murphys of Milford. He is a major in the school of pharmacy.

ASSISTANTSHIP

Double Beds Out by '75—Prediction

If you want a double bed in 1975, you will have to order it special, according to the Latex Foam Rubber Council. The standard double is rapidly being replaced by the queensize model, and queens will be standard within ten years.

One reason for the shift is improved latex foam rubber mattresses which do not have to be turned, making larger sizes practical.

They'll Never Tell

A comment to remember: If you don't bathe every day, everybody knows it but yourself!

New York's huge apparel manufacturing center turns out 70 per cent of all women's and children's clothes.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I work in a very fine fabric store and wish you would try to educate the public on a few of the popular silks. Most women are guided by the cost of the fabric and anything we tell them is ignored because they think we are trying to push the expensive fabrics. I am referring to "silk linen," and "silk shantung."

TRYING TO PLEASE

Dear "Trying to Please":

The names of these silks often are confused, especially "silk linen." This seems to be a name for an Italian silk with a linenlike weave.

A fabric expert tells me there is no such fabric as silk linen.

Italian silk is a fine grade of silk, usually around $7 or more a yard. It has a rather firm and heavy weave and is especially suitable for suits, coats, and dresses. Is is usually advisable to underline this fabric. We recommend a rather firm, woven type underlining for the jacket (not sleeves), and a lightweight cotton and rayon type fabric for the dress. The underlining will keep the dress from wrinkling so badly.

★ ★ ★

Silk shantung is a much less expensive fabric and much lighter weight. It is used primarily for dresses. This fabric wrinkles very badly and has a tendency to pull away at the seams whereevr there is the slightest amount of strain. It is imperative that you underline this fabric.

A few dollars extra spent on the fabric can bring years more wear and added pleasure.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Your worn out percale sheets are wonderful for lining your summer cottons, dresses, shorts or whatever. It won't shrink and besides, it's free!

Mrs. B. L. Cotten, Charlotte, N.C., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I just made a summer suit out of a linen-type material that is made of rayon, supposedly imported. It did work up very nicely, but I simply can't get the sharp crease mark out of the center of all the pieces of my garment that were cut on the folded edge of the material. Mrs. P. C.

Dear Mrs. P. C.:

The crease that appears on the folded edge of most synthetic fabrics is almost impossible to remove (at least I've never found a way). Before you cut your garment, refold the fabric so that the folded edge of your pattern will appear on a new fold of your fabric. If this isn't possible because of the width of the fabric, try to have the crease appear near the side seam instead of right in the center.

★ ★ ★

Summer is a great time to begin if you're new at it, and a wonderful time to encourage your girls to sew. The clothes are so simple and the fabrics are easy to work with. Let this be a summer when all of us will learn to improve our skills in some segment of homemaking. Send your questions and sewing tips to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. Your questions will be answered in the column if they are the type that will be of interest to other women, too.

What Mother Should Tell You If You're Getting Married

Don't risk disappointment by having a friend attempt to photograph your wedding. Photographs can't be taken over again. In years to come your wedding picture story will recall the happy moments. Don't trust it to an amateur.

Professional portraits are not as expensive as most brides think. Per picture cost is about the same as paying for your own film, flash bulbs and having prints made.

Visit two studios before you decide on a photographer—compare quality and price but don't be talked into black and white. It's obsolete. Look into a mirror. Much of your beauty is color.

If your wedding is within 6 months make your appointment soon as professionals take only one wedding a day and most are already booked for months. Kendale Studios, who have been photographing weddings for 20 years, has a complete b-w four extras—5x7 newspaper glossy, car wedding sign, album and information sheet for newspaper.

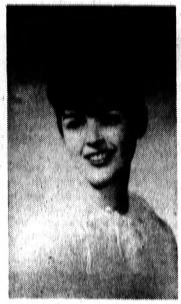
They Will Be Listening for Sound of Wedding Bells

An August wedding is being planned by Kristine Lynn Haywood, daughter of the Frederick Haywoods of Clarkston, and Rodney Dwayne Mellen, son of the Raymond Mellens of Dixie Highway, Independence Township.

The George W. Harshbargers of Hillfield Street, Pontiac Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dianne Lyn to Wilton Glenn Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Morris of Crediton Street, Orion Township. Her fiance attends Flint Junior College.



Late July vows are planned by Rowena Therese Smith of Ann Arbor, daughter of the Walter R. Smiths of West Iroquois Road and Dr. Robert Joseph Bochniak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bochniak of Grand Rapids. She is a graduate of the Ann Arbor Practical Nursing Center and her fiance is an alumnus of the University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

September vows are planned by Carol Jean Fritz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fritz of Hesperia, Mich., and Robert James Benedict, son of the Robert E. Benedicts of Cherryland Street, Pontiac Township. She is a freshman at Ferris State College where her fiance is a senior.

Engagement news is made by Sharon M. Mihalic and Airman 3. C. Dennis Morgan II of Fort Monmouth, N. J. She is the daughter of Mrs. Michael Mihalic of Birmingham and the late Mr. Mihalic. Parents of her fiance are Dennis Morgan of Detroit and the late Mrs. Ellen Bown. October vows are being planned.

Making Bed Bolsters

DEAR POLLY — If you want to make a neat bolster for your bed, tuck one pillow into the open end of the pillowcase on the other side and smooth the bedspread over the top. This makes a neat bolster without a depression where the pillows meet.—GRACE

DEAR POLLY — Being of Spanish descent, we teach our small children to speak Spanish. Children are like sponges and soak up most anything without realizing they are learning.

At home we always speak Spanish, but the children speak English when out at play, away from home or at school. By the time the children are 6 years old they speak two languages perfectly and then we start with French so that they will be trilingual.

Children of many immigrants do not speak their native language because their parents are eager for them to learn English. As a high school teacher, I can assure you that after age 10 it is much more difficult to learn a language.—M. F.

DEAR POLLY — To extinguish the flame of a burning candle, slide a fork along the top of the candle with the wick between two tines of the fork. Raise the fork, letting the wick slide through the tines, and the flame will go out without smoke, odor or scattered hot wax. — G. E. S.

It's Platform Beds for Today's Youth

Platform beds are a popular new decorating device for youthful bedrooms. The beds are simply a broad, sturdy platform made from a smooth door or thick piece of plywood and fitted with ready-to-use legs. A resilient latex foam rubber mattress supplies the comfort and bounce normally obtained from a boxspring.

★ ★ ★

The beds are slim and trim looking, and can be fitted with pullout drawers underneath for extra storage in a small room. Fitted slipcovers turn them into sleek sofas for daytime lounging.

Wife's Job Costs Are Running High

Extra expenses directly related to the wife's job, such as taxes, traveling and clothing, were estimated by a U.S. Dept. of Agriculture study at between $900 and $1,000 a year.

Gross earnings of the working homemakers studied averaged almost $2,900.

Removes Labels

To prepare empty plastic bottles for hobby use, soak them in hot soap or detergent suds to remove labels and any printing. If necessary, scrub lightly with steel wool. Then rinse and wipe dry.

American farmers grow more than 18 million acres of alfalfa yearly.

WHY IS THIS WATCH CALLED A CERTIFIED CHRONOMETER*?

Ω OMEGA Constellation

Self-winding, calendar-dial Constellation chronometer, $185
Other Constellations, $175 to $1000

The rating of "chronometer" is reserved for timepieces of exceptional accuracy which have undergone 360 hours of rigid testing...in extremes of heat and cold. The peerless accuracy of every Omega Constellation is certified by an official Swiss Testing Bureau. So exacting are these tests, less than one out of every 50,000 watches qualifies for this coveted rating. In addition to official chronometer tests, Constellation's 24-jewel automatic movement receives 1497 quality-control inspections during manufacture...assuring longer life.

Powered by gravity, the Omega Constellation winds itself as you wear it. Without hand-winding, or power-cells which frequently need replacing, it will run for years and years, as long as you wear it. Calendar-dial models tell the exact date as well as the precise time...automatically. The Constellation is one of the world's finest watches. Ask for free Omega style brochure.

Must Live Solely on Husband's Income

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: I wonder if any other couples have made the mistake of getting over their heads in debt as thoroughly as we have. However, we started with the sincere intention of avoiding this type of situation. Our major mistake was relying on my salary, rather than my husband's for paying the bulk of the bills.

MARY FEELEY

This dependence on my salary was very gradual, but sure. Now I am physically unable to work more than three more months, due to expecting our fifth child.

After checking with the bankruptcy and trusteeship departments at City Hall, we decided to try to solve our problems in another manner if possible.

My net monthly income is $448, and my husband's is approximately $300. Our present budget runs like this:

House mortgage including insurance and taxes, $110.49; car, $57; finance company $67; bank loan, $30.96; utilities, $34; food, $100; baby sitter, $110; life insurance $11.

The above does not, of course, include transportation, car medical and dental expenses, and miscellaneous expenditures.

We are supposedly intelligent people. Can you suggest any way of straightening out this situation — with a great lesson learned?

W.L.M.C., Cleveland

Dear W.: I notice in your list of expenses you've forgotten all about clothing and personal allowances. And aren't you actually spending more than $100 a month on food, with four children to feed as well as yourself and your husband? Adding it all up — and expecting your fifth child — agree you're in over your head. Getting out of trouble is never cheap and seldom quick. But consider these possibilities:

- Is there a hope of refinancing your home, stretching out the payments as long as possible, at as low a monthly figure as you can?
- Has your husband considered taking a second job? A man with five children has to face the fact that a monthly income of $300 net is just not adequate. His costs must inevitably go up as the children grow.
- Has he considered switching from the type of work he is doing to a more lucrative field? Unless he has expectations — and quick ones — of his present job paying more, he'll do well to scout around for a new berth. I don't suggest this is easy, but it's certainly worth a try.

Obviously, you'll have to get back on the job as soon as you can. But you can hardly find time for a second paying job, as you already have a second job right there at home!

Maybe it's slim consolation to you, but your financial difficulties serve to fly a danger signal for other couples starting out: don't set up the living standards on the wife's income!

It's a lot smarter — though not as comfortable — to establish a budget based on the husband's salary alone. If the wife is earning, too, that's fine. But let her salary be directed toward savings and the "extras." While the family is still in the planning and expecting stage, the woman's financial contribution is too unreliable. Suddenly having to do without that second income is like having the rug pulled out from under you. The crash can be well-nigh paralyzing.

(You can write to Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Personalize Items for Small Children

Youngsters like things of their very own. One way to encourage a small child to wash his face and hands is to provide a pint-size wash cloth and towel for the purpose.

Cut the squares from toweling to suit the child's age. Sew around the edges to prevent fraying.

Just Suds Will Do

The best way to keep monel metal counter tops clean and shiny is to wash the metal with hot soap or detergent suds. Then rinse and rub with a clean soft cloth.

Washington News Roundup

Crime in Suburbs Ups U.S, 1st-Quarter Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's crime rate for the first quarter of 1965 rose 2 per cent above the same 1964 quarter although the volume of big city crime stayed the same.

Reporting this today, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover noted that the more moderate increase in January-March of this year came on the heels of a sharp increase recorded in 1964.

★ ★ ★

Crime in the suburbs — paced by a 13 per cent increase in robberies and an 11 per cent increase in property theft — climbed 6 per cent over the 1964 quarter. Rural crime dropped 1 per cent with decreases in all but two categories — assault and rape.

Property thefts of $50 and more lead the upward trend nationally, rising 4 per cent.

Property crimes rose sharply in the Western states, which lead other regions with a 14 per cent crime increase.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee has approved a bill which would create regional medical complexes to aid in the fight against heart disease, cancer and stroke.

The three diseases accounted for 1.2 million American deaths in 1963, or about 71 per cent of the national total.

★ ★ ★

The medical complexes would conduct demonstrations, training and research to assist physicians and communities by making the latest advances in care and treatment of the diseases available more readily.

The bill would authorize appropriations of $50 million for the coming fiscal year with sums of $100 million, $200 million and $300 million in the three following years.

The same committee also okayed a measure Tuesday which would authorize federal grants to help establish community mental health centers.

Some $19.5 million would be authorized for the next fiscal year, with $24 million and $30 million appropriations authorized for the subsequent two years.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee say they don't care if Sargent Shriver holds down two top government jobs.

Shriver, a brother-in-law of President John F. Kennedy, heads both the Peace Corps and the administration's antipoverty program.

Just last week, the Senate amended a Peace Corps authorization bill to include a ban against Shriver keeping both jobs.

The House committee heard testimony from Shriver Tuesday on a Peace Corps money bill.

MORE RESISTANCE

It took no formal action about his two hats, but the committee chairman, Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., said that "if such an amendment is offered in the committee or on the floor there will be more resistance here than in the other body."

Three other committee members spoke in a similar vein.

Said Rep. Barratt O'Hara, D-Ill.: "Personally I think what the other body did was nonsensical."

Hare: Ruling on Driver Bad

LANSING (AP) — A Grass Lake man who died in a car crash last week had a violation record of 17 points and was driving only because of "incredibly bad judgment" by the Secretary of State's department, James Hare has acknowledged.

★ ★ ★

Secretary of State Hare said the driver improvement officer who interviewed Albert J. Weiner, 30, "allowed his sympathy for the man's economic condition to outweigh his good judgment."

★ ★ ★

The accident last Thursday also injured Gerald L. Wyckoff, 62, of Stockbridge.

Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey criticized Hare's department for permitting Weinner to continue driving despite a record of 29 traffic convictions and 10 accidents which caused eight injuries.

EMOTIONAL APPEAL

"Too often driver improvement examiners allow the highly emotional appeals of the motorist to influence their judgment," Hare said. "In this case the motorist involved contended his family would have to go on public relief if he were not allowed to drive."

Hare said Weinner was a self-employed construction worker with four dependents.

Titan 3C Groomed for June 17 Firing

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Titan 3C, America's most powerful rocket, is being groomed for a scheduled firing June 17.

Technicians ran through a dress rehearsal Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The Titan 3C, which generates nearly three million pounds of thrust, is capable of placing 25,000 pounds into orbit. Studies are being made by the Air Force to determine if the payload can be increased to between 30,000 and 40,000 pounds.

Havana Cigars Getting Scarcer in Cuba, Too?

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana cigars, no longer within ready reach of Americans, are reported getting scarcer in Havana, too.

A Cuban radio broadcast monitored in Miami set a production goal of 40,241,500 cigars for domestic consumption and 17,575,500 for export by July 26, 1965, anniversary of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's revolution.

GRANT TERMED DISGRACE — Gordon Mattson (left) and Arthur Amolsch, both of Ypsilanti, spoke before a Republican task force on economic opportunity yesterday in Washington, D.C. They said a grant of $188,000 by the Office of Economic Opportunity to Willow Run was "a fraud and a disgrace." Amolsch said Willow Run is not a poverty area and did not want the grant.

CLIBURN

American pianist Van Cliburn received one of the most exuberant ovations heard in Moscow in years on his return to the concert stage last night.

He was showered with flowers and applause by a near hysterical crowd of Russian admirers. Moscow police set up barriers outside the great hall of the Moscow Conservatory to control crowds that blocked traffic.

Miss New Mexico Stripped of Title

Jane Nelson of Tularosa, N.M., the reigning Miss New Mexico in last fall's Miss American Pageant, has had her title stripped from her for entering last week's Miss U.S.A. contest.

Leonora S. Slaughter, director of the Miss America Pageant, said yesterday in Atlantic City, N.J., that Miss Nelson, 20, won't be permitted to crown the new 1966 state queen at Hobbs, N.M., on July 17.

Miss Nelson, a student at Arizona State University at Tempe, represented Arizona in the Miss U.S.A. contest last week. She was first runner-up to Sue Ann Downey, who represented Ohio.

Miss Slaughter said that a clause in the contract signed by Miss America contestants stipulates that the girls cannot enter any other beauty contests during the year of their reign.

Pontiac City Affairs

Road Funds Coming

A check for $455,673 will soon be given to the city as a result of action last night by the City Commission.

★ ★ ★

The check will be from the Michigan State Highway Department and will be for the purchase of right-of-way for portions of Wide Track Drive.

The commission last night authorized the conveyance of the right-of-way for the east leg of Wide Track and the Auburn-Orchard Lake crossover.

Planning and Urban Renewal Director James L. Bates said that the city had agreed to purchase the land necessary for a portion of the loop road and the crossover in urban renewal R20 plans.

★ ★ ★

The highway department was then to buy the road right-of-way for the cost of acquisition and site clearance.

LOAN ACCOUNT

Bates said that the $455,673 would be deposited in the R20 project loan repayment account.

In other business last night, the commission postponed action on rezoning for a multiple housing-shopping center complex on the city's east side.

Developer Charles L. Langs of 3631 Dorothy, Waterford Township, requested that his proposed rezoning be tabled for four months.

Langs said he needed the time to work out complications that had developed.

REQUEST GRANTED

The commission granted Langs' tabling request after holding a public hearing on the rezoning proposal.

Also last night, the commission approved a lease for vacant land at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

ADI Aviation Distributors, Inc., leased the land at an annual rental of $3,675. The aircraft firm indicated that a hangar would be build on the land, located just west of the terminal building, sometime in the future.

Another airport item was also approved by the commission. Barber's Flying Service was authorized to retail gasoline to the aircraft at the airport.

FOURTH SELLER

This is the fourth gasoline retailer at the local airport. A limit of four has been the city's practice there.

A report on Pontiac Transit Corp. operations during the month of May was received last night. The report showed a decline in bus usage over the previous month and over the same period last year.

Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson said the drop in passengers last month over May, 1964 was 8,090. He claimed that bus service was clearly on the decline.

★ ★ ★

In other action last night, the commission authorized an addition to the city's tax bill. Official notice was received from Oakland Community College to spread the college's 1-mill tax on the July 1 tax roll.

City bills will be rubberstamped to show the added rate is not a city tax, but the college levy. The equalized rate for the college is expected to total $1.25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Say Saudi Arabia to Get U.S. Arms

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The United States has agreed to sell Saudi Arabia a large quantity of arms, including "several air squadrons," within 30 months, the Beirut Daily Star reported today.

★ ★ ★

The paper said a high official of the Saudi Arabian Foreign Ministry told it the first planes would be delivered late this year or early in 1966. The shipment will include jet fighters, pursuit planes and heavy bombers, the Star said.

It said according to unconfirmed reports a total of 150 planes would be delivered.

THREATENS TO JUMP — Swimmers at Coney Island, N. Y., watched Charles Ortiz, 38, climb to the top of a parachute jump and threaten to leap off yesterday. Police coaxed him down from the 323-foot high perch in about 90 minutes. Ortiz said he had a spat with his wife and missed going to work.

Scientist Envisions Test-Tube Embryos for 'Prenatal Adoption'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The beginnings of test tube babies? Sperm and egg banks for delayed procreation? A license to have children? All by 1984?

Possibly, says a geneticist—Dr. Bentley Glass, Johns Hopkins University professor of biology who recently was named academic vice president of the State University of New York at Stony Brook, N.Y.

Glass emphasized in a recent interview he was not forecasting that "you can grow babies in bottles" in the next 20 years.

But he envisions growing test-tube human embryos for a reproduction process he calls "prenatal adoption."

LABORATORY CULTURE

A female egg would be fertilized by sperm in a laboratory culture. The resulting human embryo would be nurtured in the laboratory up to 10 days and then implanted in a woman's uterus to mature and be born in the conventional manner.

"The offspring would not be the genetic child of the couple," Glass said, since both the egg and the sperm would be taken from donors.

★ ★ ★

Glass considers "prenatal adoption" superior to regular adoption and to artificial insemination for couples who could not normally have children.

In artificial insemination, the fertile wife is made pregnant by a donor sperm.

PRENATAL ADOPTION

In prenatal adoption, both husband and wife are equally not responsible genetically and yet the pregnancy and birth resemble the natural process so much that it would "produce the same kind of parental reaction," Glass thinks.

He believes this is possible within 20 years.

"Within two decades it will be possible to take material from selected individuals and grow supplies" of donor male sperm and female eggs and mate them, he said.

"I believe the creation of life in this matter is ethical," said Glass, who is the son of Baptist missionaries.

CHOICE OF CELLS

"The real problems come in the choice of reproductive cells. How do you know a good strain from a bad one?

"Should you place emphasis on intelligence? But how does one measure another very important human quality—drive?" he asked.

"Some of the greatest scientists may have been of average intelligence, but they have had something else.

"Another matter is integrity, which doesn't seem to have anything to do with genetics."

MORAL QUESTIONS

The prospect presents moral questions. For example, would it be murder to destroy a human embryo grown in a laboratory?

★ ★ ★

Some theologians have sidestepped the question by saying that "Life does not begin with conception but with implantation," Glass said ,and that before an embryo is human life it "must become implanted in the uterus of a mother."

★ ★ ★

Glass also thinks the storing of sperms and eggs for future artificial mating will be possible within the next two decades, and perhaps desirable as a general practice.

The radiation one normally absorbs through the years causes mutations in the genes, which can result in deformed children, he said.

MUTATIONS GROW

Birth control enables some couples to wait until they can afford children. While their bank account grows, so do the gene mutations.

"To avoid this, sperm and egg banks could be established for every individual," Glass said.

★ ★ ★

Glass suggested that before the century is out, couples in some overpopulated countries may be issued licenses to have a limited number of babies, along with their marriage licenses.

Penalties would be invoked if a couple exceeded its legal limit.

PENALTIES GRADUATED

"The penalties might be graduated in severity-the final one, perhaps, compulsory sterilization," Glass said.

"I expect my colleagues would not think this would be a wise measure. I'm not sure it would be wise, either. But some countries may be pressed by hard circumstances to do this.

★ ★ ★

"We must begin thinking. We must come to grips with all these things before the problems come on us in full severity and before measures are adopted without consideration of all alternatives," he said.

The Shihmen Dam completed last year in Taiwan will irrigate 145,000 acres of paddy fields.

Convicted Chicago Killer Gets Hearing on New Trial

CHICAGO (AP) — "For heaven's sake, catch me before I kill more. I cannot control myself."

That shocking entreaty, scrawled in red lipstick across a mirror in a slain woman's apartment, was 17-year-old William Heirens' frantic plea for help that came too late.

Before he was caught, his crimes, which began with the fatal stabbing of a middle-aged widow on a June night 20 years ago, were to include the sadistic dismemberment of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan.

Heirens, now 37, contends he was deprived of a sanity hearing before being sentenced Sept. 5, 1946, to three life terms in prison for murder. His plea for a new trial will be heard June 17 in U.S. District Court.

SHOWED POLICE

Shortly before his first trial, Heirens showed police how he climbed through an open window, snatched blonde Suzanne from her bed and left a ransom note demanding $20,000.

The kidnaping triggered a mass search. Ten hours later, two police detectives lifted a sewer lid and found the child's head. Other parts of her body were found in other sewers.

★ ★ ★

Police Capt. Francis J. Rowder, assigned to the case as a detective in 1946, recalled in an interview:

"We thought for the longest time we were looking for a woman. The female — even in the animal kingdom — is more brutal. The male kills and that's it."

FOUND FOOTPRINTS

Police found fingerprints on the ransom note but the investigation floundered for months.

Heirens spent those months in his usual pursuits: He maintained a B average at the University of Chicago and at night he prowled North Side streets and alleys.

In June 1946, he was captured during a robbery attempt.

"He put up too much of a struggle just for any ordinary little burglar," said Rowder. "It was one of the big breaks in the case."

Heirens' prints matched those on the ransom note. Other clues developed and on Aug. 6 — six weeks after his arrest — the intense, curly-haired youth confessed to three murders, 25 burglaries, two assaults and a robbery.

Heirens' first victim was Josephine Ross, 43, who was stabbed to death June 3, 1945. Six months later, Frances Brown, 35, was found beaten and shot, the so-called "lipstick murder."

★ ★ ★

Psychiatrists, although finding Heirens legally sane to stand trial, agreed that he had a "deep sexual perversion which was the cause of his crime." The youth, they said, also had a dual personality and had created within himself a "mythical and fantastic other self, a person on whom he lays the blame."

★ ★ ★

On Jan. 7, 1947, a year after the slaying of Suzanne Degnan, Heirens repudiated his confession and began a series of unsuccessful court appeals.

Actual Rebuilding Under Urban Renewal Is in 'Toddling Age'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series on federally assisted Urban Renewal in Michigan. It discusses programs of the so-called middle-size cities, 40,000 and up according to the 1960 census.)

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

Actual rebuilding under the federal government's urban renewal program is in what might be called the toddling age in most of Michigan's middle-size cities.

There have been some falls and bruises. There are likely to be more.

But nearly all the cities of 40,000-and-up population have plans and are at least in a start-up they hope will lead to strong and steady strides forward.

Already the Urban Renewal Administraton has earmarked $93 million for programs outside the Big Three cities of Detroit, Grand Rapids and Flint. Of this amount, $32.8 million had been allocated as of last Jan. 1 to going or planned programs in:

ALLOCATIONS

Bay City, nothing; Battle Creek, $2,726,417; Jackson, $5,644,699; Kalamazoo, $3,717,000; Lansing, $5,976,022; Muskegon, $5,948,170; Port Huron, $1,860,282; Saginaw, $5,600,170; St. Clair Shores, $1,360,905.

Few, if any, of these got things rolling as quickly as Detroit or Grand Rapids, where new buildings are sprouting rapidly now on one-time denuded acres. Both these cities, however, still have bald spots where old buildings once stood, and Detroit inaugurated its program 15 years ago.

Some of the middle-size, like Lansing, have just begun to acquire deteriorating properties for demolition. And from start to final acquisition of all parcels in a renewal area usually takes an absolute minimum of 12 to 14 months.

Bay City only last March got around to hiring a consultant to plan its needs and prepare an application for federal assistance. It hopes for URA approval within the year, so it can get a noncash credit of $275,000 toward its one-third share. The money went into a downtown parking lot that could serve a renewal project there.

CITY PLANNERS

Some others have gaping holes in their landscape awaiting sale to private developers willing to put the area to uses designated by city planners.

Many have found the federal red tape jungle deep and confusing. Some, like Jackson, have become so entangled they've had to start at the beginning again.

After two years, Jackson had to go back and come up with a comprehensive plan for its whole downtown area, not just the one chunk it originally proposed for rejuvenation. But it found it could get federal money for this, too.

No city has found urban renewal an overnight cure for core decay or neighborhood deterioration. First there must be surveys and planning, then there is the matter of raising the city's one-third or one-fourth cost.

(Cities under 50,000 or any with a "distressed area" designation because of unemployment normally can qualify for a three-fourths federal grant.)

Lansing's city council designated a downtown commercial area of 48.4 acres for renewal in February of 1963. It got tentative URA approval four months later, but final federal approval didn't come until November of 1964.

★ ★ ★

While Bay City strives to get something going and others seek momentum for their projects, there are two middle-size exceptions: Royal Oak and Ann Arbor.

As of now neither has any intention of getting into the scramble for URA funds.

NO INVOLVEMENT

"I hope we never get involved," says Royal Oak Mayor Curtis Potter, who adds:

"I don't think that a federally subsidized program is the answer to Royal Oak renewal. We advocate such things as need being done and they're being done through private initiative."

Cecil Creal, who as mayor vetoed an urban renewal program for Ann Arbor in 1959, says: "Ann Arbor was never in need of it and has no need for it today."

★ ★ ★

Creal, now retired, said he proposed a vote of the people on a federal renewal program and when that was turned down, promised if those in the renewal area voted for him he'd oppose such an undertaking.

'GOOD THING?'

"The district, about 75 per cent Negro, voted overwhelmingly for me and I vetoed it," he recalls. "They didn't like being bulldozed into relocation. And it's probably a good thing Ann Arbor refused then, too, because you could get so much more (federal aid) if you started today and have much more freedom."

★ ★ ★

Creal mentioned bulldozer-cleaned sections of Detroit and Mount Clemens and said, "there has been too much of this. It isn't good for a city to knock down if it doesn't build back."

Muskegon, which because excessive unemployment in 1959 qualified for a three-fourths federal grant, now has 43 new homes on 400 acres which it began clearing in a neighborhood improvement project in 1960.

Additionally, a Muskegon-organized development firm has contracted to acquire 322 lots and build new homes before 1970, and the city will get noncash credits for most of its $1.4 million share in this $7.4 million project.

IMPROVEMENTS

Credits have been accumulated for such basic improvements as streets and lights, sewer extensions and expansions, new water mains and sidewalks. The city would have had to furnish these, or most of them, under private development.

Saginaw has one of the state's more ambitious and faster-rolling programs. It has under way or in planning projects it estimates will entail an over-all gross expenditure of $17 million. Its set-aside of federal funds now totals $5.6 million.

Saginaw now is planning, with a $40,000 assist in federal funds, a downtown commercial renewal project it estimates will cost $6 million. It will involve 51 acres, roughly the northern half of the downtown district, and is to be tied into construction of the business loop of the Interstate 675 expressway over the next three years.

In a $2.5 million slum clearance in northeastern Saginaw, 176 new homes have been built and another 100 are slated for completion this summer. The price range generally is $13,000 to $16,000.

COMPANION

A companion $5 million project covering 180 acres is getting started and the city's share in this will be only one-fourth, it having been given federal O.K. in a time of excessive unemployment.

Saginaw has high hopes it may get by without any cash outlay, except for utility extension and improvement, in the proposed 360-acre renewal of a deteriorating southside neighborhood around what once was the village of Salina.

★ ★ ★

The city would throw into this development, still as a park, a 60-acre park donated by the city, claiming credit for its worth. Total project cost, including land value and demolition expenses, is estimated at $3 million and a URA allotment of $1.5 million already is available.

Beginning July 1, Saginaw expects a heretofore tight financial rein on urban renewal development to be loosened by a one per cent city income tax.

LAST PARCELS

Port Huron is purchasing for the city the last three parcels in a 20-acre Fort Street renewal project started 11 years ago. The city did so to "close out" this project and clear the way for seeking federal aid for another.

Except for the three parcels the city is acquiring, the rest of the original 20-acre Port Huron development has been sold either to private interests or agencies such as the YMCA and Catholic League of Women, which have constructed buildings. The federal assistance amounted to $960,429.

A Flint developer has a deposit down on one of the three parcels left for possible construction of an apartment hotel.

Now Port Huron has obtained a $53,000 survey and planning grant for a project in which it proposes to remove substandard dwellings and buildings around its McMorran Auditorium and Sports Arena for expansion of Port Huron Junior College and additional downtown parking. It has a tentative application pending for an $873,206 federal allotment.

CLEAR ACREAGE

Battle Creek cleared 87.3 acres for a light industrial park, something similar to Detroit's westside Corktown development, but disposal was slow and little has gone as sites for light industry.

Battle Creek, however, has reaped benefits from this project into which $5.2 million of federal and city money went.

★ ★ ★

First, it rid the near-downtown area of slums where an outhouse was not a rarity, and the city reported location of all 253 families in "decent, safe and sanitary" housing.

Second, it provided land needed for the concrete trough into which the often flooding Kalamazoo River was brought around downtown, instead of through it. And over the old river bed downtown, a 500-car parking lot was built.

Third, it provided space needed for Dickman Road, a divided highway carrying an Interstate 94 business loop.

While 70 per cent of the 57.6 acres left for redevelopment has been sold, under federal "bugging" and local pressures to "get rid of it," Samuel J. Stellrecht, city planning engineer, concedes little has gone to light industry, as originally intended. He points out, however, clearance started in 1957, when industrial activity was sluggish.

★ ★ ★

Last year one block-size parcel was sold for $375,000 for a shopping center, and a 100,000-square-foot parcel was sold for an automobile dealership. A third parcel, this one small, went for a grocery warehouse. Before that, only 7.2 acres had been disposed of.

March Protests Policy on Viet

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and Dr. Benjamin Spock, the child care specialist, led some 2,000 persons on a 10-block march to the United Nations building Tuesday night after a Madison Square Garden rally held to protest United States policy in Viet Nam.

At times, the marchers stretched "eight blocks along 42nd Street as police followed them.

★ ★ ★

The marchers chanted "No more war," and "Stop the war in Viet Nam."

They stopped at the United Nations' 47th Street plaza for a program which included prayers and brief speeches.

FILLED GARDEN

The rally filled Madison Square Garden almost to its 17,500-seat capacity. It was organized by the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

It was supported by 29 other groups to urge President Johnson to halt U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam, to seek a cease-fire with the Viet Cong, and to press for negotiations.

★ ★ ★

The rally roared its approval as Morse urged President Johnson to appeal to the United Nations General Assembly to call a peace conference of all interested parties to the Viet Nam conflict.

Outside the rally, about 100 pickets, pro and con, marched. There were a few minor scuffles.

LONG WAY

Morse told the rally the people of the United States "have been taken a long way down the road toward government by concealment" because of administration policies in Viet Nam.

The U.S. position in Viet Nam is immoral, he said.

Morse said that because the United States has not gone to the United Nations with the Viet Nam or other crises, "no nation is more responsible for the present weakness of the United Nations than our country."

He said administration policy was leading the United States to the "abyss of total war."

Morse emphasized that he was not calling for a pulling out of South Viet Nam. He said the United Nations or an international conference is the only hope now for bringing peace to Southeast Asia.

Other speakers included Norman Thomas, veteran Socialist leader, Prof. Hans Morgenthau of the University of Chicago; Bayard Rustin, organizer of the 1963 civil rights march on Washington; and Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., wife of the civil rights leader.

Aid Mixup Discovered in Education Act

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — An apparent misunderstanding about double payments under President Johnson's massive education bill could have cost 22 states millions of dollars in aid. But the mixup was discovered in time by Montana's Public Instruction Supt. Harriet Miller.

★ ★ ★

She notified Montana's two U.S. senators, Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf, and the U.S. Office of Education. They came up with an amendment to eliminate a costly penalty for school districts that educate large numbers of American Indian children.

The amendment was approved Tuesday by a Senate committee—an action that caused Miss Miller to say, "I'm delighted to have this taken care of so rapidly."

NOT JEOPARDIZED

"If the Congress acts favorably on the committee recommendation, it will not in any way jeopardize those districts wanting to apply in the 1965-66 school year," she said.

Miss Miller explained she was speaking of aid applications under Title I of the new Elementary-Secondary Education Act and Public Law 874.

P.L. 874 is designed to aid districts with a federal impact—where the tax base doesn't keep up with the impact of federal projects or wards. Title I is designed to help districts provide special educational opportunities for disadvantaged youths, those from families with income of less than $2,000 annually.

"We really got right on it when we found that districts receiving P.L. 874 money would have this money deducted from their entitlement under the new act," Miss Miller, a Democrat, said.

She said the provision was not in the original bill and apparently was added at the last minute in committee due to a misunderstanding that it was a matter of double payment of federal funds to local school districts.

Okay Shorter Workweek for Firemen

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Tuesday approved a shorter maximum work week for firemen.

The measure, already approved in the House, lowers the present 73½-hour weekly maximum to 63 hours effective July 1, 1966, and to 56 hours one year thereafter.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit, called the bill an initial step toward reducing the fireman's workweek to 40 hours.

Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids, leader of seven opponents to the bill, said it would cost his city $182,000.

Several Democrats said municipalities within their districts either already had complied with the lower hours or had no objection to them.

On a second roll call vote after numerous changes on the first ballot, senators approved 24-11 a House-approved bill lowering the vote required for city bond-issuance.

A simple majority of voters could approve bond-issuance instead of the three-fifths majority now required in home rule cities.

★ ★ ★

The Senate also authorized counties to construct and maintain work camps for rehabilitation of misdemeanor offenders under age 25. The bill earlier won House approval.

It confirmed the appointments of Frederick Davids as State Police commissioner and Mrs. Frank Wylie as first woman member of the State Civil Rights Commission.

Couldn't Comply With Water Pollution Bill, House Unit Told

LANSING (AP) — Several cities and industries told a House committee Tuesday night they couldn't comply with proposed tighter restrictions on water pollution no matter how hard they tried or how much they spent.

And state officials pointed out a loophole in a Senate-approved measure which they said would remove controls over some poisonous materials which are kept out of rivers under present law.

★ ★ ★

"I want a bill of this kind but I want it to be palatable to industry," said Rep. Thomas Anderson, D-Southgate. "I think other members (of the conservation committee) will feel the same way."

Twenty witnesses spoke in the 3½-hour hearing on the bill, which tightens restrictions on what may be discharged into state waters and provides penalties of up to one year in prison for violation.

REASONABLE ALLOWANCES

"Without a reasonable allowance of both a certain amount of solids as well as Bod (biochemical oxygen demand) content, we as an industry will cease to exist," said F. B. Curtenius of Kalamazoo Paper Co.

"We couldn't abide by it no matter how hard we tried," said Clyde Palmer, representing Detroit.

★ ★ ★

Officials of several cities objected to a provision flatly outlawing any discharge of raw human sewage. When a storm overloads a sewer system, they said, sewage occasionally must be diverted directly to a river.

"That's better than to back it up into everybody's basement," said Jack J. Foster, assistant city manager of Midland.

CITES DEFECT

Loring Oeming, executive secretary of the Michigan Water Resources Commission, said there is a defect in an amendment aimed at exempting the copper mining industry from the bill's controls.

The exemption for all "mineral residues" would exempt a number of materials "many of which are intensely poisonous," Oeming said.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, D-Pontiac, chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, objected to the whole exemption for copper mining, but argued strongly in favor of the bill.

"In the next 20 years our population will double," O'Brien said. "We need a law right now."

"O'Brien, Sen. Gerald Dunn, D-Flushing, the bill's sponsor, and Nicholas Olds of the attorney general's office argued that if the state does not act soon, the federal government will.

FINDS MISSING CAR — A copyboy for the Wichita (Kan.) Beacon and Eagle Wayne Cox, 39, discovered the 1939 car yesterday belonging to Duane Pope, 22, sought on charges of bank robbery and the killing of three bank employes. The car was found parked and apparently abandoned. AP Photofax

Sought in Bank Killings

FBI Issues Posters to Aid Suspect Hunt

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (UPI) — The FBI distributed 250,000 "most wanted criminal" posters today, hoping to turn up a trace of suspected killer Duane Pope, the young man who police alleged shot three persons to death during a Big Springs bank robbery.

The federal agency said the posters, each bearing a likeness of Pope's boyish-looking face, would be sent around the nation but concentrated in the Midwest where the 22-year-old athlete lived, worked and attended college.

Yesterday agents recovered the vintage 1939 Buick convertible getaway car used after the robbery last week. The car, found on a downtown Wichita, Kan., street, also contained a 30-30 rifle.

Pope, a well-liked farm boy who graduated last week from McPherson (Kan.) College, has been charged with last Friday's $1,500 holdup of the Farmers State Bank and with the murder of three employes, all shot as they lay on the bank floor.

Federal agents were trying to trace Pope's movements since the day of the robbery and were meticulously checking out reports that the crew-cut, former college football captain was in Kansas.

CAR DISCOVERED

The Buick convertible, which authorities said Pope took from his home after returning a rented car used in the holdup, was found by a copyboy for the Wichita Beacon and Eagle.

FBI agents checked the car for fingerprints and made plaster casts of its tire treads. There was no indication how long the car had been parked on the Wichita street.

A man answering Pope's description was seen Monday in Hutchinson, Kan., about 40 miles from Wichita, and at Larned, Kan., about 85 miles from Wichita.

Mrs. Pam Knaub, 18, said today that Pope checked into her father-in-law's motel at Ogalalla, Neb., the night before the robbery. Mrs. Knaub said she and her husband, Tom, 19, were at the motel that night.

SIGNED REGISTER

They said Pope registered under his own name and listed his car as a 1965 green Chevrolet, the same model he rented from a firm in Salina, Kan., earlier in the day.

The auto also fit the description given by persons who saw the getaway car.

"He got here before dark and he was alone," Mrs. Knaub said.

When Pope checked out, about 8 a.m., Mrs. Knaub was alone in the combination motel office and home.

RANG THE BELL

"He rang the doorbell a couple of times and I answered," she said. "He just said 'Here is my key.' That's all he said. He seemed pretty shy. He just sort of acted embarrassed, like he didn't want to look at me."

After he checked out, Pope sat alone in his car for about an hour, apparently reading, Mrs. Knaub said.

State Extension Service Fights Attempt to Cut Budget

LANSING (AP)—The Cooperative Extension Service is being squeezed between growing demands and a dwindling staff, Michigan State University representatives told the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

The MSU representatives asked the House to restore a $200,000 increase in their budget, recommended by Gov. Goerge Romney.

"This money would go entirely for salary increase; there are no new programs in our 1965-66 budget," said university secretary Jack Breslin.

"Without it, we would have no alternative but to increase salaries and cut positions," said Thomas Cowden, dean of the school of agriculture.

MATCHING COST

"It would cost us $290,000 to match general salary increases to the university staff," said Pat Ralston, assistant dean of agriculture and director of the service. "Two years ago we had a similar situation and it hurt us."

"Last year," Cowden added, "we had nine retirements and closed up six of those positions."

The service, which receives funds from federal, state and local governments, is operating on a $2.53-million state appropriation this year. The appropriations bill passed by the Senate would cut its budget for 1965-66 to $2.50 million—a reduction of $34,000.

A move in the Senate to cut service in urban areas was opposed by Sen. Coleman Young D-Detroit, who argued that extension services to low income families in his district were as important as those offered to farm families.

Mississippi Republicans Elated by Municipal-Level Victories

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jubilant Republican leaders looked confidently to the future today after GOP victories in mayor's races at Columbus and Hattiesburg — the first major municipal triumphs in Mississippi party history.

★ ★ ★

Former Democrats Paul E. Grady of Hattiesburg and R. D. Harmond of Columbus were the causes of the big Republican cheers.

Grady unseated Democratic Mayor Claude Pittman Jr., 2,438 votes to 1,836, while Harmond whipped Democratic Mayor William Propst 1,394 to 1,191 in Tuesday's municipal elections.

The GOP also won two aldermen posts at Drew, two at D'Lo and one at Magee, and one council seat at Columbus. A Republican also captured a nonpartisan aldermanic race at Hollandale.

Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. called the triumphs "a history-making breakthrough — particularly significant because they were at the grass-roots level, the greatest source of any party's strength."

Only four years ago, he said, there was not a single Republican municipal candidate in Mississippi and "I am awed by the progress we have made. The victories will have a tremendous impact on the progress of our state. They have paved the way for many future victories."

The Republican surge in this Deep South state first came with widespread dissatisfaction over trends in the national Democratic party, particularly under President John F. Kennedy.

L. L. McAllister, a personally popular young Meridian businessman, won a special election for state representative in February 1963, to give the GOP morale a boost and its first legislative post.

Then anti-Democratic sentiment brought former Democratic Public Service Commissioner Rubel Phillips into the 1963 governor's race against Democratic nominee Paul Johnson. After a rough campaign, Johnson won 225,456 to 138,515.

Last fall, Barry Goldwater won the state for the Republicans for the first time since Gen. U.S. Grant and Reconstruction.

★ ★ ★

The Goldwater surge, which got him almost 90 per cent of the vote, also carried Republican Prentiss Walker to victory over veteran Democratic Congressman Arthur Winstead.

The GOP fielded 46 candidates Tuesday in 18 municipalities, including seven for mayor and the rest for councilman - alderman - commissioner posts.

★ ★ ★

In Columbus, Harmond, who has been on and off the City Council as a Democrat for 14 years, ran ahead of Propst most of the night. Incumbent Councilman Ed M. Keeton, who won his post in a special election two years ago, competed as a Republican this time. He defeated Democrat James Egger 1,349 to 1,234. Democrats won the other five council spots, with incumbent Stuart Covington defeating Republican R. B. Profitt 1,976 to 706 for the biggest margin.

★ ★ ★

Grady, 41, a lawyer, was the only Republican candidate in Hattiesburg. As a Democrat, he lost in a runoff four years ago to Claude F. Pittman Sr. When the elder Pittman died, his son was named to succeed him.

Officials Say New Use of U.S. Troops in Viet Is 'Logical Move'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials said today a decision to commit U.S. Marine and Army troops to fight in support of South Vietnamese units, when requested, is a "logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

★ ★ ★

The new development could present a potentially sticky problem in relations between U.S. and Vietnamese officers.

Pentagon officials told a reporter they did not know at this time whether, for example, the U.S. Marine battalion sent to reinforce South Vietnamese troops would be under the command of a South Vietnamese officer if that officer on the scene outranked the American battalion commander.

RULES NEEDED

The feeling was that ground rules would have to be nailed down before such operations take place, lest friction occur between the Americans and the South Vietnamese in the field.

There now are about 51,000 American servicemen in South Viet Nam. About 20,000 of these are Marines and Army paratroopers in combat units.

★ ★ ★

In addition, 4,000 Army troops in a brigade have been at least tentatively scheduled to land in South Viet Nam later this month to guard bases at Qui Nhon and Nha Trang on the South China Sea coast. Their assigned mission, according to informed sources, will be base security, counterinsurgency and combat operations.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, predicted in a New York news conference Tuesday night that "within six months we will have 300,000 Americans in South Viet Nam." He said the new policy confirms "this is an American war now."

There are about 17,000 men's wear retailers in the nation.

Cereal an Ingredient in Waffles and Ice Cream Sandwich

How long has it been since you've had waffles? We mean real, honest-to-goodness, made-from-scratch, light and tender waffles? Well, bring out the waffle iron and heat it up, for you'll surely want to serve these waffles for a gala supper soon.

★ ★ ★

Folding in the egg whites at the last minute makes them fluffy and tender. Whole bran cereal with wheat germ donates a nut - like sweetness that pleases everyone's palate.

★ ★ ★

Serve Ice Creamwich Sundaes for dessert after the waffles. These ice cream sandwiches can be made ahead of time and frozen until ready to serve.

★ ★ ★

Oven toasted rice cereal is the main ingredient in the crust, enhanced by brown sugar, coconut and walnuts. An easy red cherry sauce goes over the top. Such a nice way to end a meal of tender, fluffy waffles.

★ ★ ★

Fluffy Bran Waffles

1½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs, separated
1½ cups milk
¾ cup whole bran cereal with wheat germ
¼ cup shortening, melted

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg yolks thoroughly; stir in milk and bran cereal. Let stand about 5 minutes. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring only until combined. Stir in cooled melted shortening.

★ ★ ★

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Bake in preheated waffle iron about 8 minutes, or until no steam is visible. Serve hot with syrup, honey or jelly. Yield: 6 waffles, 8 inches in diameter.

Ice Creamwich Sundaes

1½ cup oven toasted rice cereal
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup flaked coconut
½ cup coarsely chopped walnut meats
1 quart brick vanilla ice cream
Red Cherry Topping

Lightly mix rice cereal, sugar, butter, coconut and nutmeats. Press half of mixture into buttered 8x8-inch pan. Cut ice cream into 1½-inch slices; arrange over cereal layer. Sprinkle remaining rice cereal mixture over ice cream; press down lightly.

★ ★ ★

Cover; freeze until firm. Cut into squares; Yield: 9 servings.

Red Cherry Topping

1 can (20-oz.) frozen cherries, defrosted
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup cherry juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; stir in cherry juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice, rind and cherries.

★ ★ ★

Cool; serve with Ice Creamwich Sundaes. Yield: 2 cups sauce.

Roasting a Whole Turkey on Outdoor Rotisserie Gives You Food That's Divine

Have you ever whiffed the aroma of a turkey roasting over an open fire? If not, you're missing a real treat — and the best treat of all is when you taste the delicious, juicy meat.

* * *

Choose a six to twelve-pound turkey, allowing about a pound per serving. Balance the turkey on your rotisserie spit and baste with butter or margarine. You're now ready to sit back and enjoy friends, family, a tall cool drink or a combination of all three.

The turkey requires no further attention until carving time —we suggest though, for a little extra flavor treat, during the last half hour of cooking, you baste the bird with this special herb basting sauce.

If you haven't tried turkey on your outdoor rotisserie, do it this weekend — it'll be called for again and again.

Herb Basting Sauce

½ cup melted butter or margarine
⅓ cup white wine
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon marjoram
¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and let stand at room temperature at least one hour before using. This allows the flavors to blend. Makes enough basting sauce for a 6 to 12-pound turkey or turkey roast.

Charcoal Rotisseried Turkey

Thaw turkey; remove giblets and neck from body and neck cavities. Wash, drain and pat dry. Sprinkle body cavity lightly with salt.

* * *

Push drufsticks under band of skin at tail, if present, or tie drumsticks securely to tail. Fasten neck skin to back with skewer.

Flatten wings over breast, then tie cord around breast to hold wings securely. Do not stuff a rotisserie-cooked bird.

Insert spit rod through center of bird from tail end toward front. Insert skewers firmly in place in bird and fasten screws tightly.

* * *

Test the balance. It is important that the turkey balances on the spit so it will rotate smoothly throughout the cooking period.

Arrange hot charcoal briquets at back of fire box. Place a foil drip pan in front of briquets. Place spit in rotisserie and start motor as barbecue manufacturer directs.

Brush turkey with melted butter or margarine at beginning of cooking. When using a barbecue sauce, brush on bird the last 30 to 40 minutes of cooking only.

* * *

To test doneness, a roast meat thermometer placed in center of inside thigh muscle or thickest part of breast should register approximately 185 degrees.

Turkey is done when thickest part of drumstick feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

Pair of Salads Honors Two Ancients

Two of the world's most famous lovers — in fact as well as fiction — were Caesar and Cleopatra, the lusty Roman and the nubile Queen of the Nile.

These colorful figures of history gave their names to two of the salad world's most appetizing and delicious salads.

Caesar Salad, now a classic composition that originated in California, is invariably tossed at the table where guests can watch the host or hostess season and mix the greens and drop in each additional ingredient —raw egg, blue and Parmesan cheeses and garlic croutons —with a flourish.

Caesar's companion, Cleopatra Salad, is comprised of cauliflower buds, chopped celery or Chinese celery, anchovies and grated Parmesan cheese.

This salad is served with its own Bittersweet Dressing of vinegar, oil, catsup, grated onion, and the piquant spice of Tabasco sauce.

Serve the two salads together for a luncheon or buffet supper — they're as compatible as their namesakes!

Some people prefer their Caesar Salad with anchovy, so if you're fond of them add 6 to 8 chopped fillets with the croutons.

You may wish to leave them out however, in this instance, as they are a prime ingredient in the Cleopatra Salad.

Caesar Salad

2 tablespoons salad oil
1 garlic clove, minced
2 cups bread cubes
1 large head romaine
1 large head lettuce
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
½ cup salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 egg

Heat salad oil in skillet with garlic. Add bread cubes and heat until lightly browned. Remove.

Tear crisp, chilled romaine and lettuce into bite-size pieces into salad bowl. Sprinkle with cheese.

Combine salad oil, lemon juice, Tabasco, salt and dry mustard; beat or shake to blend. Pour over salad greens; toss lightly.

Break raw egg into greens; toss lightly until egg particles disappear. Add croutons; toss. Yield: 6 servings.

* * *

Cleopatra Salad

1 head cauliflower, broken into buds
2 cups chopped celery or Chinese celery
1 head lettuce
2 heads romaine
1 can (2 ounces) anchovies, cut in pieces
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Prepare cauliflower and celery; refrigerate. Tear lettuce into bite-size pieces in large bowl. Add cauliflower, celery and anchovies. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Toss with Bittersweet Dressing. Yield: 6 servings.

Bittersweet Dressing

¾ cup vinegar
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon Tabasco
½ cup catsup
¾ cup salad oil
1 onion, grated

Blend all ingredients in jar or bowl. Chill before serving. Shake or beat before serving. Serve with Cleopatra Salad.

CAESAR AND CLEOPATRA — Caesar Salad is a well known classic by now. Try its companion, Cleopatra Salad (rear) with its own special dressing.

Take Special Care With Pressured Beans

When cooking beans in a pressure cooker add a little fat to the beans and water to prevent them from foaming up high and clogging the cooker vent tube. Also have the cooker only a third full, including the water.

Pressure cooking saves time and it takes only about 30 minutes for the whole process of bringing the pressure over low heat slowly up to 15 pounds, holding at that pressure from 3 to 10 minutes, then taking the cooker off heat and allowing pressure to drop gradually.

Radish Bowl

If you don't mind doing kitchen knife work, hollow out some good size radishes and fill with sweet butter or cheese spread.

Apple Juice Excellent Basting for Thick Slice of Ham

Here's one way to coax the utmost flavor into, and out of, a thick ham slice. You do it with apple juice. After the edge of the ham has been properly studded with cloves, the top is sprinkled with brown sugar. Then apple juice is poured over, and the slice baked.

The ham takes up the brown sugar sweetness, the apple tang . . . and something of the lovely apple fragrance, too. It comes from the oven rosy, tender, with its natural richness deliciously laced with apple.

But that's not all. With it you serve a velvety gravy made from the hot apple juice left in the pan blended with mustard and currant jelly.

Baked Ham Slice with Apple-Gravy

2½ pound slice fully cooked ham
Whole cloves
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup apple juice
½ cup currant jelly
¼ cup prepared mustard
2 tablespoons cornstarch
Canned apple slices
Glazed sweet potatoes

Stud fat edge of ham with whole cloves. Place ham in covered roasting pan, sprinkle with sugar; add apple juice. Cover. Bake at 375 degrees, 45 minutes, basting occasionally.

Remove ham slice to platter. Garnish with canned apple slices and glazed sweet potatoes, if desired.

Drain off stock in pan. Measure 2 cups (if there is not enough liquid add apple juice to make 2 cups); add currant jelly and mustard. Mix cornstarch to a smooth paste with a little cold water; add to apple juice mixture.

Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Serve with ham. Makes 4-6 servings.

Vary the Flavor

Many good pound cake recipes call for vanilla and mace as flavorings; but you can also add a little grated orange rind for a very pleasing effect.

Put Pimientos Into an Omelet

What would we do without omelets, the handy stand-by of all good cooks? They are a grand way to begin a day; a good idea for lunch; just the thing for a light supper; they can be plain or fancy — and almost everybody likes them.

* * *

Here is one to suit many occasions. It features pimientos, which add bright color, and their mild flavor is just right for this dish.

Another thing — you will notice that the beaten eggs and all the other ingredients are mixed together in the beginning, rather than the usual manner of making a separate filling. You might like this method for a change.

Omelet With Pimientos

¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
8 eggs, lightly beaten
1 jar or can (4 oz.) pimiento pieces, drained
¼ cup minced onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup cooked minced ham
½ cup finely chopped cooked potato (optional)
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons water
Salt and pepper to taste

Heat butter or margarine in heavy skillet. Combine remaining ingredients and mix well; pour into heated skillet. Cook over low heat, stirring with a fork, until mixture begins to set. Stop stirring at this point, and raise heat slightly. Continue to cook until set.

Use a broad bladed spatula or pancake turner to fold omelet in half, and ease out of pan. Makes 4-5 servings.

For cheese puffs, fold grated cheese and seasonings into stiffly beaten egg white; heap on crackers; broil.

PRETTY OMELET — Omelets come in handy for so many occasions. Try this one which is highlighted with pimiento bits. Serve it with cottage fried potatoes.

Noodles Hold Creamed Mixture

Summertime is traditionally relaxin' time and vacation time. And, what could be more relaxing and enjoyable than a leisurely Summer Sunday Brunch?

* * *

Start your brunch with goblets of chilled fruit juice garnished with fragrant sprigs of fresh mint. For a main course, which is easy-on-the-cook because some ingredients may be prepared ahead then combined and heated at the last minute, serve creamed eggs and mushrooms on green noodles

To complete the menu, serve broiled half tomatoes sprinkled with chopped fresh herbs and hot crusty French bread with whipped sweet butter.

Creamed Eggs and Mushrooms on Green Noodles

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
Dash Tabasco
1 can (6 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
4 hard-cooked eggs
1 package (7 or 8 oz.) green noodles or egg noodles
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives

In a saucepan, melt butter and stir in flour and salt. Add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add Tabasco and mushrooms including broth.

Cut eggs into quarters or slices and add to sauce. Heat thoroughly over low heat.

Meanwhile, cook noodles according to package directions in boiling salted water until just tender. Drain noodles and arrange on serving dishes. Place creamed eggs and mushrooms in center of noodles. Garnish with sliced olives. Makes four servings.

To Fruit Parfait

Herb Adds Subtle Taste

If food is beautifully seasoned, even the most absent-minded men will look alive and say, "M-m-m-m!! What smells so good?"

Just a pinch of rosemary, for instance, gives delightful aroma to a wide variety of dishes — fruit cups, canned chicken soup, marinated seafood, roast lamb, spoon bread, fancy molded fruit salads.

Rosemary leaves look like little one-inch pine needles and are available nationally only in whole form.

Measure them first, then crush, using the thumb of one hand against the palm of the other as a sort of convenient mortar and pestle.

It's one of the more potent herbs, so, when you're learning to use rosemary in some of your own tried-and-true recipes, try the flavor power of ¼ teaspoonful per 6 servings before adding more.

It takes between 10 and 15 minutes simmering to release the full aroma of rosemary.

Fresh Rhubarb Rosemary Parfaits

3½ lbs. diced fresh rhubarb
2½ cups sugar
1½ teaspoons rosemary leaves, crushed
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup boiling water
4 pkgs. unflavored gelatine
1 cup fresh orange juice
1 pint fresh strawberries, sliced
¾ cup heavy cream, whipped
1 tablespoon confectioners' sugar
12 whole fresh strawberries

Place rhubarb in deep saucepan with next 4 ingredients. Cook, covered, over low heat, until rhubarb is tender, about 35 minutes. Transfer some to the container of an electric blender and blend until smooth.

Depending on the size of blender, work small amounts at a time until it is all blended. Strain and pour back into saucepan.

Sprinkle gelatine over orange juice. Stir to dissolve. Add to hot rhubarb mixture. Stir until blended. Cool until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Fold in sliced strawberries.

Spoon mixture into parfait glasses. Refrigerate. Before serving, garnish with whipped cream sweetened with confectioners' sugar and a whole strawberry. Yield 12 servings.

It's Oh So Good!

Quick sundae: coffee ice cream topped with pure maple syrup and slivered toasted almonds. The combined coffee and maple flavors make each ingredient taste different and extra special!

RHUBARB ROSEMARY PARFAITS — It's the sweet freshness of rosemary leaves which helps make this rhubarb parfait memorable, an excellent company dessert.

Toast Shells for Tarts

A file of quick-to-fix recipe ideas is the clever homemaker's best helper. Here's a dessert idea based on readily available, pantry shelf ingredients to add to your collection.

* * *

To make toast shells for fruit tarts, trim crusts from slices of enriched sandwich bread.

* * *

Butter both sides of bread and dip in cinnamon sugar. Mold by muffin cups and bake in preheated 400 degrees oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until golden brown.

Flavor canned fruit pie filling (try apple or peach) with lemon juice and spoon into baked shells. Top with puffs of whipped cream.

If your pie crust is tough you may have added too much water; over-mixed after the water was added; used insufficient shortening, or cut in the shortening too fine.

S. Viet Nam's Top Air Base at Da Nang Is a Beehive Loaded With Mighty Stings

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) —The jet planes raced down the runway with an ear-cracking roar. They rose gracefully, then, like angry hornets, darted toward their targets in North Viet Nam.

* * *

The sight gave a thrill to Col. William O. Ezell, 44, Chattanooga, Tenn., the base commander. It always does.

He takes a paternal pride in the huge air base here which he believes now is one of the 10 busiest airports in the entire world.

* * *

"Less than a year ago this wasn't much more than just a country airstrip," he recalled.

10-FOLD

"In terms of traffic, we've gone up 10-fold in the last 11 months.

* * *

"We average more than 25,000 landings and takeoffs a month, not counting our helicopter operations. We can hardly keep track of them.

* * *

"I doubt there are more than 10 airports anywhere that have our traffic. We've passed Tan Son Nhut, the field at Saigon, and that makes us the No. 1 air center in South Viet Nam."

* * *

It is a beehive with mighty stings full of ironic contrasts between the old and the new. The 10,000-foot runway is in the suburbs of South Viet Nam's second largest city.

SAND, DUST

The base lies in a stretch of sand and dust between high green hills, laced with white mist, and the endless blue waters of the South China Sea. It is bordered by crumbling old French forts, a poverty-stricken, one-street village known as "Dogpatch," and a cemetery studded with forgotten tombs over which lonely winds blow eerily.

On the 3.4-square-mile area of the base ironic dramas of life and death are enacted daily.

* * *

In a five-minute period a helicopter may whir down with dead and wounded. A C123 supply plane may bring in an ailing Montegnard soldier from an isolated mountain camp. A civilian Caravelle, staffed by pretty, blue-uniformed Vietnamese hostesses, land with a group of Saigon businessmen. A squadron of propeller-driven Skyraiders takes off to strafe enemy Viet Cong only a few miles away or flights of jets zoom up on a three-hour mission against bridges in North Viet Nam.

* * *

"We thought we had reached our capacity six months ago, but now I think we can expand considerably more," said Ezell, who flew 394 combat missions in the Far East as a B29 commander in World War II.

MILITARY SPECTRUM

"Our activities pretty well cover the military spectrum. Some 35 to 40 different types of aircraft operate out of here."

The booming base is a bewildering maze of revetments, ammo and fuel dumps, and some 40 buildings in various stages of construction. A shortage of building materials and skilled local labor has been the colonel's biggest problem.

* * *

About 3,000 of the 6,000 U.S. Air Force men sleep in tents still. The Vietnamese fliers and hundreds of their dependents also are housed on the base. The wives have created a flourishing industry by doing the American airmen's laundry.

* * *

The base has an excellent safety record.

NEVER HIT

Ezell, knocking three times on wood, said:

"This field never has been hit by the enemy—not as of today, anyway."

* * *

U.S. Marines who surround the base intend to keep that record intact.

Syria Draws Red China Backing in Water Dispute With Israel

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai headed home today after stops in Cairo and Damascus during which he took a strong anti-Israeli stand.

A Syrian government spokesman said Chou, during a 75-minute conference with President Amin Hafez, pledged "firm support" against Israeli attacks on Syrian operations to divert the headwaters of the Jordan River.

An informant in Cairo said Chou said Israel was "a government created by imperialism which cannot be considered a state."

Chou left Tanzania Tuesday night aboard his Soviet-built Ilyushin 18 airliner after a four-day visit to the East African nation.

GUATEMALA (AP) — Terrorists struck for the second straight night in Guatemala City Tuesday night, bombing the Costa Rican consulate. The blast caused only minor damage.

★ ★ ★

Seven bombs were set off on Monday night, slightly damaging the Brazilian and Nicaraguan embassies and hitting two oil tanks and two private homes.

There was heavy damage at the residences of Mario Sandoval, a member of the Constitutional Assembly, and Alvaro Contreras Velez, a newspaper columnist and correspondent for the Associated Press.

KAKANJ, Yugoslavia (AP) — A national day of mourning today memorialized 126 men killed in Yugoslavia's worst mine disaster since World War II. A mass funeral was planned this afternoon.

A methane gas explosion in the Orasi coal shaft here killed 124 men Monday and injured 18 others. One of them died Tuesday night and another today at a hospital in Sarajevo, 49 miles from Kakanj.

A special commission of the country's top mining experts was formed to investigate the cause of the blast.

Work teams began clearing the shaft so mining operations could resume.

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Two miners were rescued unhurt Tuesday night after 12 hours in the north Hungarian coal mine of Rudabanya. A cave-in killed five other miners and seriously injured two.

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Sudanese authorities claim plotters trying to stage a coup here intercepted a secret shipment of arms from Syria intended for a rebel group in Eritrea.

The outgoing government of Premier Sir El Khatim El Khalifa said the arms were discovered in the suburbs of Khartoum. Four former army officers, Justice Minister Rashid El Taber and Minister of State Mohamed Gubara El Award were arrested on suspicion of plotting a coup.

Syria recalled its ambassador from Khartoum.

Trading Picks Up

Stock Market Down Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply again as trading picked up early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 4.05 at 885.00.

Stocks made a futile effort to recover in early dealings. Many market wheelhorses originally held unchanged, some posted gains of fractions to a point while others declined in about the same range.

From this early irregularity the list slipped into another downtrend since stocks had gathered no momentum on their effort to advance.

LEAST RESISTANCE

"The course of least resistance was on the downside," said one broker.

Losses of key stocks went from fractions to 1 or 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .8 at 322.9 with industrials down 1.4, rails off .3 and utilities off .2.

The action followed yesterday's setback, the worst since the assassination of President Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

Wall Street chartists said that a support area lay around the 880 line in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Prices were mixed in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

★ ★ ★

Corporate and U. S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light dealings.

Clear 'Right to Work' Ban

House Unit Approves Labor-Backed Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI — A House Labor subcommittee today approved legislation that would repeal "right-to-work" laws in 19 states. The vote was 6 to 3.

The measure, which would withdraw authority given the states by the Taft-Hartley law to ban union shop agreements, now goes to the House Education and Labor Committee.

Subcommittee Chairman Frank Thompson, D-N.J. said he would try to call up the bill, a major legislative goal of organized labor, at a full committee meeting tomorrow.

The breakdown of the subcommittee vote was not made public. But it was understood that the repeal bill was supported by five Democrats and one Republican, and opposed by two Republicans and one Democrat.

The subcommittee started hearings on the bill shortly after President Johnson asked for the repeal. It approved the bill at a closed session the day after ending the hearings.

PRIME GOAL

Repeal of the right to work provision is organized labor's prime legislative goal in this session of Congress. The labor effort is just as vigorously opposed by business and industry groups.

As a result, lobbyists for both sides have been canvassing the House for months, trying to drum up votes.

The outlook at present is for approval of repeal by both the Thompson subcommittee and the parent House Education and Labor Committee.

★ ★ ★

Supporters believe they now have enough votes to win when the measure gets to the House floor, but they concede the pressure is starting to get heavy on wavering members.

Spending Speedup Seen

Expansions Expanding

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

DAWSON

NEW YORK—Business expansion plans are themselves expanding. And such spending is expected to hit its wastest pace in the final months of the year.

These record outlays can spread through many segments of the national economy, pepping up sales and production for many industries from metals to business services.

This is one of the most reassuring prospects in this period of uncertainty in the stock markets and of economic pulse-taking in many quarters.

SURVEY REPORT

Scaling upward of capital spending plans is reported by a survey of business intentions by the Commerce Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission. Outlays are expected to rise to $52 billion at an annual rate in the final months of 1965. This stimulant to the economy in the months just ahead will be welcomed by those who now are having a case of nerves.

★ ★ ★

A corollary statistic on the current situation is the Census Bureau's report that construction outlays are running 3 per cent ahead of the first five months of 1964. Actual expenditures so far this year have been $24.6 billion. Construction is only a part of business capital spending and it also takes in other private and government activity.

POINT TO INCREASE

Pointing to an increase in construction spending in coming months is the awarding of contracts. This also has [illegible] and is well-ahead of year-ago figures.

Together the capital spending intentions and the actual construction testify to general confindence in industrial and commercial circles that the future will bring increased demands for their products and services.

★ ★ ★

Construction's widespreading influence is shown in its effects on the output of other industries. This ranges from about two-thirds of total demand for heating, plumbing and structural metal products and better than 50 per cent for stone and clay products, to about 5 per cent for glass and glass products and paper and allied products and about 7 per cent for petroleum refining and related industries.

CONSTRUCTION EFFECTS

In between are sizable percentages that construction outlays mean for the production of lumber and wood, mining and quarrying, electric lighting and wiring, iron and steel manufacturing, nonferrous metal products, paints and a 10 per cent gain for business services.

The latest survey of capital spending plans shows a larger percentage expected to go into actual expansion this year than recently, and comparatively less for modernization that dominated such spending in the last three or four years.

The government survey estimates the outlays for the year at $50.4 billion, up 12.3 per cent from 1964's record. Earlier in the year the government forecast was for a rise of 11.8 per cent.

The actual rate is expected to rise from the $49 billion of the first quarter to $49.6 billion in the current April-May-June period, to $50.8 billion in the third quarter and then to a whopping $52.1 billion rate before the year ends.

PLAN INCREASE

Significantly, manufacturers are planning to increase their spending by 17 per cent this year to $21.8 billion. The smallest gain would be in the electric utilities which expect to put out 7 per cent more.

Some economists had hoped [illegible] a greater business outlay in 1965. And businessmen still could change their minds — either way — and actually spend more than they now plan, or if they become frightened, a bit less.

Market Slide May Indicate Faith in Economy Sagging

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks.

Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

★ ★ ★

Some brokers said the confidence of investors in the outlook for the economy appeared to have been weakened.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

HAS TUMBLED

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 889.05. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 4.4 to 323.7.

Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

★ ★ ★

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

DISTURBING FACTORS

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

"It seems as though buyers have become very wary and sellers are not offering any avalanche of stock," a market analyst commented.

Steep as was Tuesday's decline, it did not compare with that on the day of the assassination, when the Dow Jones average fell 21.16.

And it was minor in comparison with "Black Monday" — May 28, 1962 — when the average dived 34.95.

Successful Investing

Q) "About a year ago, I bought Continental Copper & Steel at 5¾ on a so-called 'tip.' It is now 8¾. Should I sell it? What other stock would you suggest in the $9 to $10 range? I also have Lehigh Valley Industries bought at 3 3-8. I would appreciate your advice on this, too." C. C.

A) I would sell the two speculative issues. Each is volatile as to price and erratic as to earnings. You have a small profit and I would accept this. Speculation has its place in the world of finance, but it is suitable mainly for shrewd professionals who rely not on tips, but on broad sources of information not available to the average investor. Most people writing to me in serious trouble have arrived there because they have attempted to gamble in low-priced issues.

In this high market, I can recommend no stocks selling for $10 or lower. I strongly advise you not to press your luck, but to buy a strong stock, such as Chesebrough-Pond's, selling around 27, and wait for capital gains through growth.

Q) "I own 200 shares of Pan American World Airways. About a year ago, I was allowed to buy $800 of Pan Am convertible subordinated debentures at $100 each. These are convertible into company's shares at $58.50 each. I do not understand 'convertible' or 'subordinated.' Could you explain?" H. M.

A) I am glad to tell you that you made an excellent purchase. The conversion figure was reduced to $29.25 a share when Pan Am split its stock in 1964. This means that you can turn in your $800 debentures and receive in exchange approximately 27 shares of common.

Since Pan Am shares are above the conversion price, your debentures are selling for $126 per hundred. "Subordinated" means simply that they rank in security below the superior debt of the company.

Children Need Part of Parents' Time

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

It need not be the hour between daylight and darkness as eloquently described by Longfellow in "The Children's Hour," but children do need some of their parents' time on a regular basis.

Life in Longfellow's day was in a slower tempo than now. Even so, time was set aside consciously for reading and quiet games — time when a mother's attention was given wholly to the children. She would then give special consideration to their training, and the children could get mother's ear.

Nowaday s, summ er activities in the home should be planned to include something of this nature.

We can't turn back the clock and recapture the quiet twilight hour of yesterday. We can't banish television, radio, telephones and other features of life in our congested towns and cities.

Yet, all such developments make it more important than ever that mothers be sure there are times and situations in which they focus attention on the training of their children.

GOOD BEHAVIOR

Parents should keep in mind that good behavior helps bring success in school, and train their children accordingly. Only when a child starts classes with good behavior a matter of habit is he ready to start learning.

This does not come about suddenly; it takes weeks and months of day-by-day guidance and reminders.

To be successful in school, children must have training in listening attentively, following directions, observing surroundings, expressing their ideas and taking part in activities with others.

Surprising progress in these skills can be made in a single summer if planning is given to the project.

PRACTICE IN OBSERVING

Mother can give her full attention to one or two children on a trip to the market if her shopping list has been carefully prepared ahead of time and if she makes it a point to use the occasion to give the children practice in observing their surroundings and in expressing their ideas.

Opportunities for training on such a trip are many and varied. The children can learn new words and have experiences that can be told later to father or to an older brother or sister. They can be taught to listen to mother and direct their attention to things of mother's choice.

Of course, trips to market do not provide the only opportunities for learning. Most any journey or gathering will do.

Some mothers prefer to use morning hours for such expeditions and lessons, ruling out visiting playmates or television until a designated hour.

For older children a few minutes in the evening, when father can take over, or cooperate, may be most effective. All children should have their hour with their parents.

Jim: "The bidding is simple enough. South has a standard three no-trump opening and all North can do is to put down the dummy and wish his partner luck."

Oswald: "There also is only one way to play the hand. I don't imagine many of our readers will have any trouble with it. How about your pupils in a beginners' class?"

Jim: "I don't think I would give it to a class of absolute beginners but would prefer to save it for players who have progressed past the fundamentals."

Oswald: "As a matter of fact it would even do for a really advanced class. South has the usual eight top tricks and can only make the ninth with dummy's queen of diamonds. He ducks the first heart of necessity and second just for luck. Then it is up to him to take the third heart lead because that last little heart in his hand is going to be most important."

Jim: "It sure is. After winning the third heart he cashes his top clubs and spades and is pleased to note that West has had to discard diamonds on the third lead of each black suit. Then he throws West in with a heart and lets West cash two heart tricks. After that West must lead a diamond. South rises with dummy's queen and makes the contract because the king of diamonds is in the West hand."

Outdoor Grills Fill the Air With Fragrance of Barbecue

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

We are beginning to wonder if there's any household without some kind of outdoor cooking equipment. The whole country has gone barbecue-crazy and this in a land where the gas and electric ranges are superb.

All kidding aside, there is something especially good about food well prepared on outdoor grills.

You now have your choice of the simplest charcoal grill, or a more-to-most elaborate one run by either gas of electricity.

Chicken is perfect for grill cookery. If you like plain food, baste the chicken with melted butter alone or melted butter and lemon juice. Season the fowl before putting it on the grill.

Should you prefer a spicer version of grilled chicken, try the following recipe:

JUICIEST BARBECUED CHICKEN

3 broiler-fryer chickens, halved
3 teaspoons MSG
Salt and Pepper
¼ cup butter
¼ cup catchup
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon Tabasco

Sprinkle each chicken with 1 teaspoon MSG, salt and pepper. Melt butter in saucepan; stir in remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil.

Place chicken, skin side up, on grate; brush with sauce. Cook until tender, over medium heat with hood up, turning and brushing occasionally.

Allow 45 minutes to 1¼ hours total cooking time, depending on weight of chicken and distance from heat.

To test for doneness, leg should twist easily out of thigh joint and pieces should be fork tender.

With either version, you'll enjoy a well seasoned potato salad.

Remember to keep mayonnaise potato salad well chilled until serving time, for safety's sake. Any leftover salad or chicken should be returned promptly to the refrigerator.

GARDEN POTATO SALAD

3 pounds potatoes (8 cups diced)
6 whole scallions, sliced
1½ cups diagonally sliced celery
½ cup sliced radishes
1 teaspoon MSG
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon dried dill weed
Chopped parsley

Cook potatoes in skins until tender. Peel and dice. Add scallions, celery and rfadishes; sprinkle with MSG and salt. Blend together mayonnaise, sour cream and prepared mustard; stir in vinegar and dill. Add to potato mixture.

Mix carefully with a fork, being careful not to break potatoes. Chill. Turn into serving bowl; sprinkle with chopped parsley. Yield: 6 to 8 generous servings.

Porcelain Cookware Needs Little Care

Enameled porcelain-on-steel cookware will retain its beauty, luster and cleaning qualities just as long as it is treated with normal care. The following precautions are recommended by home economists from United States Stamping Co.

★ ★ ★

Never strike the utensils with hard, sharp blows or drop them; do not let them boil dry. To get off stubborn stains, simply soak the utensils in warm sudsy water for a few minutes.

PICNIC GRAHAM CAKE

Low Calorie Barbecue Sauce Is a Recipe Worth Trying

Any outdoor chef worth his salt has his own private recipe for barbecue sauce. And he knows that it's the special ingredients in his sauce that makes his hot dogs and hamburgers taste better than those of his neighbors.

★ ★ ★

In the event your chef has not yet invented the perfect barbecue sauce formula, clip out this recipe and slip it to him. It's hot, tangy, and perfectly delicious.

And because of its "secret ingredient," sucaryl, used in place of sugar, the sauce has an extra claim to fame . . . it's low in calories!

HOT BARBECUE SAUCE

1 tablespoon butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup water
1½ teaspoons sucaryl solution
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup
1 beef bouillon cube
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
½ teaspoon Tabasco sauce
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika

In small saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Add onion and saute until soft and golden in color. Blend in mustard and cornstarch to make a smooth paste. Add remaining ingredients; bring to a boil.

Reduce heat and simmer, stirring occasionally for at least 1 hour. Use to baste hot dogs, hamburgers or chicken.

Makes 1¼ cups sauce, each tablespoon 16 calories; trace protein; 0.5 gram fat; 2.5 grams carbohydrate. (With sugar 26 calories.)

Many Roasts Will Fit Your Rotisserie

What makes a good roast for the rotisserie?

A boneless roast gives the best results if the meat cut is uniformly shaped and well balanced from one end to the other. This kind of meat cut turns easily on the motorized spit.

★ ★ ★

If you like beef, select a rib eye (Delmonico) roast which can weigh as much as 8 to 10 pounds.

Like pork roast? The boneless pork loin roll is a fine choice, weighing usually from 4 to 6 pounds.

★ ★ ★

Teen-agers would probably enjoy a bologna roast. This can weigh as much as eight to nine pounds, requires about 45 minutes cooking time since it needs only heating through.

Good Iced Tea Can Be Made in Large Quantity

For family or party service, make iced tea by the pitcherful. Here's an easy way to make 2 quarts, about 10 servings:

1. Bring 1 quart freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan.

2. Remove from heat and while water is still bubbling, add 1-3 cup loose tea or 15 teabags.

3. Stir. Brew 5 minutes, uncovered.

4. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding an additional quart of freshly drawn cold water.

Note: Or use the convenient instant tea powder, allowing about 4 tablespoons to 2 quarts of cold tap water.

Pineapple Relish

Combine one 9-oz. can crushed pineapple, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 teaspoons soy sauce, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, ¼ teaspoon ginger and ¼ teaspoon salt. Cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Boil 2 minutes, stirring constantly.

GRILLED HALIBUT

Marinate Fish, Cook Outside

Barbecuing is big business in the United States. Each year charcoal chefs spend millions of dollars on outdoor cooking equipment — not to mention the millions more spent on food.

One of the most economical choices for charcoal cookery is halibut steaks. The firm flesh of halibut is particularly well suited to grilling because it does not break apart readily.

However, since halibut is a lean fish, it must be basted frequently with melted butter, oil or a barbecue sauce to prevent drying.

Grilled Halibut, Southern Style

1½ pounds fresh or frozen halibut steaks
1 cup prepared French dressing
1 teaspoon bottled brown barbecue sauce
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 small clove garlic crushed
¼ teaspoon powdered ginger

Thaw frozen halibut on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature until no longer icy. Arrange halibut steaks in shallow refrigerator dish and pour French dressing over. Cover with plastic wrap and let marinate in refrigerator for at least one hour before cooking time.

Remove halibut from marinade (reserve marinade) and drain thoroughly on paper toweling. For basting sauce combine reserved marinade, bottled brown barbecue sauce, melted butter or margarine, garlic and ginger.

Arrange halibut steaks on greased grill over glowing coals. Brush with basting sauce and grill about 5 minutes on each side, basting frequently with sauce. (If steaks are thin, allow only 3 to 4 minutes per side.) Serve remaining basting sauce on the side. Makes 6 servings.

Lamb Is Ideal

Glaze Grilled Chops

There are over 40 cuts of lamb to choose from. Of these, 12 have been designed for outdoor cooking. Serve any one of them and you are off to a fine start.

★ ★ ★

These cuts are: double loin lamb chops, which are included in today's recipe, lamb skish kebabs which are cubes of lean lamb from the leg or shoulder, lamb spareribs, French lamb chops and Saratoga lamb chops.

★ ★ ★

Then a special, newly developed cut called Hollywood Lamb Filets or lamb rib kebabs or lamb kidneys can also be purchased from your butcher.

And to round out these specialties are loin lamb chops, round bone shoulder lamb steaks, boneless rolled lamb loin chops and ground lamb which is easily shaped into balls for easy skewering.

All are tender, nutritious, flavorful cuts.

While they are broiling with a marmalade glaze, you can open several cans of Louisiana yams . . . deep, golden orange in color, moist and stringless . . . and place them in small foil pans.

Use some of the good glaze to spread over them, too, and place the pans on the fire.

Turn the yams occasionally so they heat evenly, and baste several times.

Ginger Glazed
Lamb Chops and Yams

1 cup ginger marmalade
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon soy sauce
6 (1½ to 2-inches thick) double loin lamb chops
Monosodium glutamate
Salt and pepper
2 cans (1 pound each) Louisiana yams, drained

Mix together marmalade, butter, lemon juice and soy sauce in saucepan. Heat and stir until butter is melted.

Place lamb on skewers; season with monosodium glutamate, salt and pepper. Broil 5 to 6 inches from heat source 12 to 15 minutes on each side or until desired doneness, brushing frequently with sauce.

Place yams in aluminum foil pan or on aluminum foil. Broil about 10 minutes, turning and basting with sauce until yams are hot. Makes 6 servings.

Glaze the Pineapple

GLAZED LAMB CHOPS

Cracker Crumbs Replace Flour in Picnic Cake

A dessert that you will want to make and take along in picnic basket is Picnic Graham Cake with Spicy Lemon Icing.

Easy-to-make from packaged graham cracker crumbs, this cake keeps its texture and taste when wrapped in foil and stored in the refrigerator. The spicy secret ingredients that spike the Lemon Icing are aromatic bitters, lemon juice and rind.

Picnic Graham Cake

1 package graham cracker crumbs (13¾ oz.)
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup seedless raisins
⅔ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
6 eggs
⅔ cup milk
Walnut halves

Mix crumbs, baking powder, walnuts and raisins; set aside. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and blend well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in crumb mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry material.

Distribute evenly in greased and paper-lined 9"x13"x2" pan; smooth top gently with back of spoon. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 50 minutes, or until top springs back when gently pressed. Let cool in pan on rack for 10 to 12 minutes.

Turn onto rack and remove paper; continue cooling. When cake is cool return to washed and dried pan. Spread with spicy lemon icing, and garnish with walnut halves. Cover top tightly with foil and refrigerate until needed.

Spicy Lemon Icing

¼ cup soft shortening
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 egg, beaten well
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 pound confectioners' sugar, sifted
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons aromatic bitters

Cream butter and lemon rind. Stir in egg and salt, blending well. Add sugar alternately with lemon juice and bitters; beat until smooth.

OUR GUARANTEE

In the unlikely event that the Congress fails to pass an Excise Tax cut this session Shelton will do it for his customers. It will not be a flat 3% rebate, for as you know the excise tax on a new car is figured on the Manufacturer's cost of the car, and in as much as that information is not available to Shelton it would be impossible for him to figure the correct amount due, on every model, so he has devised his own method. It will be a flat refund due you, depending upon the model you bought, described in the refund box below. However, you will not get a refund from Shelton and General Motors too. You will only get a Shelton refund if the law is not passed and in effect by August 1, 1965. If the law is passed you will get your refund from General Motors as described in the telegram below. This offer is good from June 9, 1965 thru and including June 19, 1965. It may be withdrawn by Shelton any time prior to June 19,1965, by placing an ad in the Pontiac Press, and Rochester Clarion, declaring it withdrawn.

Late Birdie Brings Pro Honors in U.S. Open Sectional Trials

Johnson's 136 Tops Field; Bob Gajda Earns Berth

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The early bird doesn't always catch the worm!

In yesterday's Sectional Qualifying at Birmingham Country Club, it was the last bird, Howie Johnson's five-foot birdie putt on 18, the final stroke of the day which enabled him to post a six-under-par 68-68 136 for medal honors among 13 golfers who qualified for the U.S. Open.

Up to this point, it was Sam Snead, trying for the 25th time to win the U.S. Open, who had the attention in the 36-hole qualifying.

Snead, at 53, and Jim Ferrier, next oldest in the field at 50, fired 67's in the morning round and then the Slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., added a 70 to hold the lead throughout the day with a 137 total.

Ferrier slipped to a 75 and finished behind Bob Gajda, Forest Lake's lanky pro who fired 71-69—140 for third place.

★ ★ ★

Snead climaxed his great morning round with a 60-foot putt for an eagle-3 on the 18th.

40-FOOTER

In the afternoon he dropped in a 40-footer on No. 12 for a birdie-3 to come in with 33 after going out in 37.

For Johnson, 39-year-old pro from Canyon Country Club in Palm Springs, Calif., it was two of the best back-to-back rounds of his career.

Johnson, who says he is a summer touring pro only, had identical 35-33—68 rounds, hitting all but two greens in regulation, and taking only one bogey all day. He did not three-putt once.

Gajda, who has qualified for the Open for the seventh time, had a double bogey-6 on the fourth hole in the morning and a bogey 5 on the 10th hole in the afternoon as he put together long drives and strong fairway irons.

★ ★ ★

Ferrier, a transplanted Australian who now hails from Burbank, Calif., called his morning round of 34-33—67, "one of my finest in USGA qualifying," fired 39-37—75 in the afternoon.

His six birdie putts in the first round were all 10 feet or better.

Tied with Ferrier at 142 was Art Wall, Jr. of Honesdale, Pa., who played with Snead and nearly duplicated the eagle on 18 in the morning. Just after Snead dropped his 60-footer, Wall's 50-foot putt hung on the lip and he settled for a birdie-4 and 68 strokes.

Along with Gajda, only two other Michigan golfers can plan for the trip to St. Louis, June 17-20.

Eldon Briggs of Detroit posted a 71-73—144 and amateur Bud Stevens posted a 72-72—144.

STEVENS EAGLE

Stevens, recent winner of the Michigan Medal Play tournament, also fired an eagle-3 on No. 18 in the morning to finish 39-33-72.

His second shot, a 240-yard three-wood blast landed 30 feet short of the pin on the green. The putt lipped around the cup, stopped momentarily and then dropped in. He was 36-36-72 in the afternoon.

In the local qualifying three weeks ago at Meadowbrook, Stevens also fired a 144 to tie young pro Bob Panasiuk of Elmstead, Ontario for medal honors.

Yesterday Panasiuk qualified for his second straight trip to the Open by posting a 144 again on rounds of 74-70.

Among the casulaties were two former USGA champions, Tommy Bolt who failed to qualify by choice and Gary Middlecoff who failed by chance.

THEY CAME, SAW, CONQUERED — Sam Snead, who insisted on putting his hat on when The Press photographer decided to shoot his picture, and Art Wall, give Birmingham Country Club's plush course a close look before starting out for their second rounds in yesterday's USGA Sectional Qualifying. Snead had 67 and Wall 68 for the first round and finished 137-142, respectively, for the day.

U.S. Open Field Set; Some Miss

From Our News Wires

The full complement of 150 professionals and amateurs has been selected for the 65th U.S. Open golf championship, the most glamorous tournament of the circuit.

It is scheduled June 17-20 at St. Louis.

★ ★ ★

Golfers in 13 cities Monday and Tuesday vied for 119 slots in 36-hole stroke play. The other 31 places in the tourney were filled by golfers exempt from all qualifying.

They included defending champion Ken Venturi and superstars such as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Tony Lema.

Leading with 136 were Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., twice the National Amateur champion who led the list at Chevy Chase, Md.; Howie Johnson of Palm Springs, Calif., who beat out Sam Snead at Birmingham; Charles Coody of Perrytown, Tex., who paced the 106-man field at Cleveland, and Duff Lawrence of Columbus, Ohio, leader in Monday's trials. All had 68-68—136.

★ ★ ★

The list of those who failed to make the grade was almost as imposing as of those who did.

Failures included two-time winner Dr. Cary Middlecoff, former Open champions Tommy Bolt, Lew Worsham and Tony Manero and ex-PGA kings Jerry Barber, Doug Ford, Vic Ghezzi, Walter Burkemo and Jim Turnesa.

LAST, BUT FIRST — Howie Johnson of Palm Springs, Calif., was the last golfer to tee off, and the last one to putt out, but that putt was for a birdie-3 and it gave him medal honors with 68-68—136 in the USGA Sectional Qualifying at Birmingham.

Yanks Score in Golf Event

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP) — Bob Gardner, U.S. Walker Cup star from Essex Fells, N.J., and John J. Penrose, of Philadelphia scored impressive victories today to lead the 15-man American challenge in the third round of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

★ ★ ★

Gardner, 44, defeated Mike Barker of England 6 and 5.

Penrose, 51, disposed of Tony Howard of England 5 and 4.

Another American was less lucky. Tom Stanley of Upper Brookeville, N.Y., lost 4 and 3 to England's Rod Foster.

Some of the golf was brilliant as rain held off and the breeze died down. The 6,700-yard, par 72 Royal Porthcawl course was in perfect shape for those who could stay on the narrow fairways.

★ ★ ★

Gardner played a tidy round of even par for 12 holes.

Barker won only one hole with a four-foot putt for a 2 on the seventh.

Penrose went out in two under par and was five up against Howard at the turn. He finished the remaining holes in level par.

Tigers Sink, 3-1, Before LA Hurler

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Fred Newman's success as a baseball pitcher depends entirely on how well he throws his sinker ball and the 23-year-old righthander today was confident he had found the formula.

The slim youngster Tuesday night hurled the Los Angeles Angels to a 3-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers in which he gave up only four scattered hits and did not walk a man.

★ ★ ★

The win was Newman's seventh of the season against three losses and if he can maintain the pace, he could end the season a 20-game winner.

Newman admitted he felt strong before taking the mound against the Tigers and attributed it to an extra day of rest since his last pitching turn.

"With my sinker really working, I used less breaking balls than I had in any game this year," he continued. "And I didn't tire; I felt good."

Newman gave up two hits to Al Kaline but he said only one of them was off a good pitch.

The Detroit outfielder doubled in the fifth inning and Newman said that with a 3-1 count on Kaline he was trying to put over a strike rather than throw a good pitch and a double resulted.

75 PITCHES

But most of the time the Detroit batters were grounding the ball to the Angel infielders. During his nine innings on the mound, Newman threw only 73 pitches.

In the fifth inning he gave up two hits in a row — the double to Kaline and a single to Willie Horton that drove in the Tiger run.

The Angels, however, gave Newman enough hitting support to gain the victory. After the pitcher walked in the third and scored, the Angels found the range again off loser Dave Wickersham in the sixth.

Al Spangler, obtained last week from Houston, singled for his first American League hit.

★ ★ ★

The Willie Smith tripled him home. Joe Adcock, who is batting 471 against Detroit this season, singled to score Smith and give the Angels their two-run margin of victory.

The win was Newman's third against Detroit this season. In his two previous seasons with the Angels, Newman had never beaten the Tigers.

The loss was the fourth in a row for Wickersham whose only victory was in his first start of the season April 15. Aside from the sixth inning, Wickersham also pitched well, never giving up more than one hit an inning.

★ ★ ★

The Angels send their other seven-game winner, Marcelino Lopez, against the Tigers tonight. He will be opposed by Hank Aguirre, 5-2, who through the years has always proved troublesome to Los Angeles.

ROGER HAYWARD

Pirate Officials Draft Pitcher Roger Hayward

By FLETCHER SPEARS

The baseball player's dream—playing in the major leagues—may be coming true for Pontiac's Roger Hayward.

Hayward, 17, graduating this year from Pontiac Northern, was picked up by the Pittsburgh Pirates in the new baseball player draft yesterday.

The 6-4 right-hander, who won six and lost one for PNH this season, talked by telephone with Pirate officials yesterday.

"They'll wait until June 16 (graduation date) to contact me again. I'll probably decide then whether I will sign or not. If I do, I'll probably go to Columbus, Ohio.

"If I don't sign, I'll continue to play for Favro's team in the Detroit recreation league."

TRYOUT

The Pirates flew a catcher and some officials in to have a look at Roger about six weeks ago.

The Pirates apparently liked what they saw because they asked Roger if he was interested in playing ball.

"I said yes and they said they would contact me," Hayward said.

Roger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hayward, 621 First Street, Pontiac. He is one of 13 children — eight boys and five girls. Mr. Hayward is a carpenter, working with maintenance personnel at Pontiac Motors.

★ ★ ★

"We are all very pleased, all the boys, all the girls, all of us," Mrs. Hayward told The Press today.

HAPPY

"And Roger is real happy about the deal . . . didn't matter who he was picked by as long as he got to play."

★ ★ ★

The Pirates have six months to work out some playing terms—salary primarily—and if they fail to reach agreement, Roger goes back into a special player pool for another draft.

In posting a 6-1 record for PNH, Roger struck out 120 and tossed four shutouts.

★ ★ ★

With Favro's, he has won two — 2-0 over Adray's Appliance and 5-4 over Stonewood of Roseville.

Hayward also pitched the Auburn Heights Boys Club Class D team to a state recreation championship last year.

He was an all-state performer in basketball this winter; and won the Duke Greenway memorial trophy for his athletic achievements in 1963 and 1964.

Bengals Draft Seven Players

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Tigers drafted seven high school and college baseball players in the annual draft Tuesday and four Michigan ballplayers were signed by other clubs.

William Lamont, 18, of Kirkland, Ill., was signed by the Tigers as a catcher.

The Tiger's Syracuse farm club drafted 18-year-old Douglas Carson, a shortstop from Sacramento, Cal., and Andy Messersmith, a 19-year-old righthanded pitcher from Los Alamitos, Cal.

The following players will be sent to the Tiger farm club in Montgomery, Ala.:

Dennis Grosini, 17, lefthanded pitcher from Lompoc, Cal.; Robert Reed, 19, righthanded hurler from Flint; Thomas White, 17, third baseman from Spartanburg, S. C., and William Bradley, 18, shortstop from Palestine, Tex.

OTHERS SIGNED

Bernardo Carbo, 17, a third baseman from Garden City, was drafted by Cincinnati.

Other Michigan ballplayers drafted were: Dave Kreniewicz, 18, outfielder from Wyandotte, to the Tulsa farm club of St. Louis, and Harold Ruberson, 20, a righthanded pitcher from Alma and Central Michigan University, to the Williamsport, N.Y., farm club of the New York Mets.

★ ★ ★

Baseball executives may have some persuasion problems ahead of them but they expressed confidence today that virtually all of the 20 high school and college players picked in the first round of the free agent draft will be signed long before the six months deadline.

Takes Three Honors in Silver Lake Loop

Jean Looney took three honors in the Tuesday Women's Golf League at Silver Lake.

★ ★ ★

She had low gross of 46, low net of 39 in the first flight and low putts for the day, 14.

Bea Staben was low net in the second flight with 34 and Mrs. Lyle Bailey in the third with 42.

Lions Trade Gary Lowe

Defensive halfback Gary Lowe of the Detroit Lions was traded to Minnesota today for a future draft choice.

Lowe, 31, a graduate of Michigan State University and a nine-year veteran of the National Football League, came to the Lions as a free agent after his release by the Washington Redskins in 1956.

The trade was announced by head coach Harry Gilmer, his second since taking over as coach of the Lions after George Wilson quit at the end of the 1964 campaign.

Gilmer's other trade sent linebacker Dennis Gaubatz to Baltimore in exchange for kicker-halfback Joe Don Looney, a problem boy who broke in with the New York Giants, plus a future draft choice.

With Detroit, Lowe became a member of the famed Four L's — (Dick) Lane, (Yale) Lary, (Dick) LeBeau and Lowe.

INJURY

A six-foot 195-pounder, Lowe was one of the Lion's most consistent performers until an Achilles' tendon injury in 1963 forced him out of action.

★ ★

He returned last year, playing in a reserve capacity, but was expected to bid for a job in the backfield this fall.

Lowe's big years with the Lions came in 1959 and 1961 when he picked off five passes each season.

His top performance came in January 1961 when he intercepted three passes as the Lions knocked off Cleveland in the Playoff Bowl, 17-16.

The Lowe deal isn't likely the last one. Lary seems a prime prospect to go elsewhere. While he has slowed down in the secondary, the Texan ranks with the best as a punter.

Lary was talking about quitting pro football, but there is a chance he could be lured into a couple more seasons—that is if he could play out his two years closer to home, at Dallas, where he has set up an enterprising auto dealership.

The Lions would be willing to part with him on this basis and the fact they do not have Dallas on their schedule this year, and the Cowboys are reported offering defensive end Maury Youmans, a five-year veteran who was obtained from the Bears and who was hurt all during the 1963 season.

He did play last year, standing 6-feet-6 and weighing 260 pounds.

TRADED — Gary Lowe is a former Michigan State grid star and now an ex-Detroit Lion. He was dealt to the Minnesota Vikings this morning for a future draft choice.

Wings Draft 3, Buy McKenney

Five NHL Teams Trade 12 Players

MONTREAL (AP) — Three trades, the minor league draft and a pair of waiver transactions have shuffled 26 players and set the stage for today's National Hockey League draft session, highlight of the league's summer meetings.

The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, also-rans in the six-team league last season, figured in multi-player deals with Montreal and Toronto, respectively, Tuesday and were expected to be active today — when players not on their clubs' protected lists were subject to the intra-league draft.

★ ★ ★

The last-place Bruins acquired forward Ron Stewart, a 13-year Toronto veteran, from the Maple Leafs in exchange for defenseman Pat Stapleton and forwards Orland Kurtenbach and Andy Hebenton.

The fifth-place Rangers sent center Earl Ingarfield, a New York regular for five season, plus three minor leaguers — forwards Dave McComb and Gordon Labossiere, defenseman Noel Price — and an undisclosed amount of cash to the Canadiens for goalie Cesare Maniago and forward Gary Peters, Montreal farmhands in 1964-65.

SECOND-LINERS

The Canadiens also sent Bryan Watson, 22, to Chicago for Don Johns, 27, in a swap of second-line defensemen.

Stewart, 33, has scored 186 NHL goals, 16 during the 64-65 campaign. Kurtenbach, 29, had six goals for Boston last season while Hebenton, 36, and Stapleton, 24, played for the Bruins' Western League farm at Portland.

Hebenton holds the National League record of 630 consecutive games — set in eight seasons at New York and one at Boston beginning in 1956.

Ingarfield, 30, had 15 goals for the Rangers last season for a career total of 90. Labossiere and Price spent the season at Baltimore in the American League and McComb was at St. Paul in the Central League.

Maniago, playing for Minneapolis, was the Central League's leading goaltender. He is 26. Peters, 22, was at the Canadiens' Omaha, Central League farm.

SIMMONS PICKED

New York, seeking to strengthen its goalie complement after Jacques Plante's retirement announcement Monday night, also picked up veteran Don Simmons, who had played goal previously for Boston and Toronto, in the minor league draft.

The Rangers selected three players — for $20,000 apiece — in the inter-league draft, which involved players on NHL reserve lists who played in the minors last season. Simmons, 34, was at Tulsa — Toronto's Central League affiliate. Forwards Larry Mickey, St. Louis, CPL, and Keith Wright, Cleveland, AHL, were the other New York selections.

★ ★ ★

Finally, the Rangers acquired Billy Knibbs, 23-year-old center who divided last season between Boston and Minneapolis, from the Bruins for the $30,000 waiver price.

In another waiver deal, the Detroit Red Wings obtained Don McKenney, former Boston, New York and Toronto forward, from the Maple Leafs' Rochester AHL farm.

The Red Wings also drafted three players — forwards Irv Spencer, Pat Hannigan, defenseman Dunc McCallum — from AHL clubs. Boston and Montreal made two selections apiece while Toronto and Chicago tabbed one player in the draft.

Atlanta Probable Site of Pro Grid War

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — The American Football League's decision to tap Atlanta for a 1966 franchise, combined with the late night ride of Pete Rozelle, has pushed the two professional leagues off the brink and over the precipice into a no-holds-barred expansion war.

While the AFL, in Oceanport, N.J., was awarding a franchise to Atlanta Tuesday, National League Commissioner Rozelle was in the Southern city, waving the NFL flag while stating, "Atlanta is a prime prospect for NFL expansion. We could expand with no trouble in 1966. We have discussed this."

★ ★ ★

Then, suddenly, the emphasis shifted to the Cox Broadcasting Co., which had been awarded the AFL's Atlanta franchise for $7.5 million—the largest price ever paid for a pro football team. The awarding of the franchise, however, rests with the broadcasting company getting a suitable playing field.

ONLY ONE

That threw the ball to the Atlanta Stadium Authority, which has a new $25 million stadium for the use of the incoming Milwaukee Braves and apparently only one pro football team.

The authority, which met with both the Cox group and Rozelle, said it would wait until July 1 before making any announcement, but that the stadium would be rented "effective for the 1966 season, in either football league."

The key word appeared to be either — which seemed to include both.

TIME LIMIT

Back to the Cox group, which issued a statement saying that their offer "also contained a time limit which would expire well in advance of the July 1 deadline. Therefore, they have taken the entire matter up for reconsideration. We are studying this matter. There has been no withdrawal."

A lateral to Foss, who said the matter of the stadium was an issue to be resolved between the stadium authority and the Cox group. But the commissioner did admit that the AFL franchise had been awarded contingent upon the Cox group having a suitable stadium.

That, at present, they do not have.

The announcement of Atlanta's selection was not unexpected, but there was considerable surprise expressed at the AFL's inability to reach a decision on a 10th team for 1966.

Foss then listed Philadelphia, Miami, New Orleans, Chicago, Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif., Detroit, Cleveland and Milwaukee as still in the running. He said the expansion committee would meet later this summer to reach a final decision.

Detroit OK's Ban on Prep Night Games

DETROIT (AP) — In a move against rowdiness at high school athletic events, the Detroit Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday night to ban night games and to restrict attendance to pupils, faculty and officially identified parents.

The controls were recommended by Dr. Samuel Brownell, superintendent of schools, who said it was aimed to preserve high school competition.

★ ★ ★

Last March 9 nine youths were stabbed following a Northwestern - Highland Park basketball game at University of Detroit High School. All of those stabbed were white. Police said the victims told them Negroes stabbed them.

Other recommendations by Brownell which were adopted included:

Not more than one game will be scheduled within one police precinct in one day.

—The principal is in charge of all school events.

—Ticket sales will be limited to a predetermined number of spectators.

Despite the night-time ban, competition in state tournaments will continue.

After the March 9 stabbings, all Detroit preliminaries in the State High School Basketball Tournament were switched to daytime and spectators barred. Lansing and East Lansing finals went on at night without incident.

Chisox Ace Shines With Arm, Bat

By The Associated Press

Staging a revolution from the right, Joe Horlen has begun phase two in his attempt to overthrow lefty Gary Peters as strong man of the Chicago White Sox pitching staff.

Horlen pushed Peters closer to the brink Tuesday night, continuing his masterful pitching while adding a potent offensive weapon in Chicago's 7-2 victory over Boston.

The 27-year-old right-hander ignited his operation last season in taking the team lead in earned run average away from Peters. He hasn't let up at all this year and now is threatening to surpass Peters as the team's best hitting hurler.

Horlen collected three singles, the second driving in a sixth-inning run that snapped a 2-2 deadlock and put the White Sox ahead to stay. The performance shot Horlen's batting average to .250 compared with .138 for Peters, who often has been used as a pinch hitter.

BEST ERA

His four-hit pitching, meanwhile, brought Horlen his sixth triumph, most on the team, against three defeats. His earned run average of 1.93 is Chicago's best as well as being among the best in the American League.

Peters, now 4-4 with a 3.81 ERA, won 20 games to 13 for Horlen last season, but the right-hander's ERA of 1.88 was the lowest for the White Sox in 35 years and second only to Dean Chance's 1.65 in the AL. Peters' ERA last year was 2.50.

★ ★ ★

Against the Red Sox, Horlen allowed two hits in the second inning, one of them Lee Thomas' 11th homer, and two more in the third, then retired the final 19 batters he faced. He didn't walk anyone and now is averaging less than one walk per game.

In other AL contests, Minnesota stopped Cleveland's five-game winning streak 6-2, Kansas City ended New York's four-game string 3-2, Los Angeles trimmed Detroit 3-1 and Washington blanked Baltimore 2-0.

SNAPPED TIE

The White Sox snapped the 2-2 tie after Ron Hansen reached second base on shortstop Rico Petrocelli's double error. Hansen eventually reached third and scored as Horlen ripped a single to center field.

★ ★ ★

Unbeaten Camilo Pascual won his eighth game after surviving Cleveland home runs by Rocky Colavito and Max Alvis. The Twins socked a pair of their own homers, Harmon Killebrew with two on in the first inning and Earl Battey with one aboard in the fourth.

★ ★ ★

John O'Donoghue brought his record to 3-7 with a three-hitter against the Yankees. He held New York hitless until the fifth inning when Clete Boyer tripled home two runs. The Athletics won it in the sixth on a bases-loaded single by Ed Charles.

Astro Fireman Only Tossing Fuel on Fires

Hal Woodeshick Fails to Halt Hot Pirates; LA, Reds, SF Win

By The Associated Press

Houston's Hal Woodeshick, who used to be National League's safest late inning risk this side of Al McBean, has become accident prone.

The Astros' southpaw relief specialist, who led NL pitchers with 22 saves last year and was a close second to Pittsburgh's McBean for Fireman of the Year laurels, handed the streaking Pirates a 7-6 victory Tuesday night by committing a two-out, bases-loaded balk in the 11th inning.

★ ★ ★

It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and 16th in the last 18 starts, vaulting the Pirates back into the first division for the first time since April 25.

In the cellar two weeks ago, they share fifth place with St. Louis, one game under .500, today.

The Astros, meanwhile, dropped their ninth extra-inning decision and 12th one-run game of the season. Woodeshick has been the villain in the last three one-run losses.

The 33-year-old veteran, who allowed only three home runs in 61 appearances last season, relieved against Milwaukee a week ago and blew a 1-0 lead by serving successive eighth-inning home run balls to Hank Aaron and Mack Jones.

ESCAPED LOSS

Four days later Woodeshick got the call in a 1-1 game against the Cardinals and gave up a two-run homer to Phil Gagliano.

Woodeshick checked a Pittsburgh rally in the ninth Tuesday night and pitched out of a jam in the 10th before failing in the 11th.

The first-place Los Angeles Dodgers nipped Philadelphia 2-1 on Maury Wills' run-scoring single in the ninth; Cincinnati edged St. Louis 5-4 on successive sixth inning homers by Leo Cardenas and pinch hitter Art Shamsky and a two-run double by slump-ridden Willie Mays carried San Francisco past the New York Mets 2-1 in other NL night games.

Milwaukee exploded four homers in the 10th inning for an 8-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon game.

Wimbledon Goal Set by Ralston

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, America's No. 1 player, is in England preparing to make his bid for the Wimbledon tennis crown next month.

The explosive youngster from Bakersfield, Calif., suspended recently from the U.S. Davis Cup squad for pulling out of a Texas tournament, made his first start in the West of England Tournament Tuesday.

He beat John Stillman, a 16-year-old Bristol junior, easily, 6-3, 6-0. Other American winners were Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., and Herbert FitzGibbon of Garden City, N.Y.

Tom Edlefson of Berkeley, Calif., was eliminated by Omar Pabst of Chile 6-1, 7-5.

Productive 1st Inning Helps CIO Triumph

CIO 594 used a seven-run first inning to beat Cranbrook, 9-7, last night at Jaycee Park and climb into a three-way tie for second place in the city men's recreation baseball league.

The unionmen (2-1) pounced on the debuting Bloomfield Hills nine for five hits — three for extra bases — and were aided by three walks as eight straight batters reach base safely after the first man was out.

Center fielder Mel Taylor started the scoring with a two-run double and scored on Johnny Marcoux's two-bagger, Ray Heaton added a run-scoring triple.

Taylor, who was four-for-four plus a walk in the young season's top plate effort to date, belted a triple in the seventh inning to score the final run for CIO.

It became a vital tally when the Cranbrook squad plated four runs in the bottom of the inning, capped by Al Levy's bases-loaded three-bagger, and had the tying marker at the plate with one out. But a strikeout and fly our ended the rally.

Santos Sanchez earned the victory with two-and-two-thirds innings of relief hurling, although he was touched for the four Cranbrook tallies in the seventh. He fanned four batters.

Tonight, Talbott Lumber will be host to cranbrook at 8 o'clock under the lights as both seek their first win of the season.

Entrants for the event, to be held at the Point O'Woods Country Club, will get 72 holes of stroke play.

Under the format, the entire field will play 18 holes each of the first two days.

The low 50 will play 36 holes July 30 with the 16 qualifiers moving into match play.

Two rounds of match play will be staged each of the final two days of the tourney.

Shutouts Highlight Action in Local Softball Loops

A pair of shutouts featured play last night in Pontiac recreation softball action.

John Herrington tossed a two-hitter as 300 Bowl blanked Elks No. 810, 2-0, in American League action, and Spencer Floor dumped Town & Country, 3-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Floyd Hicks.

Gene Shell and Fred Milliron paced 300 Bowl with two hits each and Bud Hayward cracked out a double and single to spark Spencer.

In National League games, Orchard Lanes dumped L & S Standard, 6-3, and Pontiac Merchants banged out 14 hits in routing Idle Time Bar, 10-3.

TWO HITS

Bob Marshbanks allowed only two hits in stopping L & S Standard. Don McCullen and Jim McDonald sharing hitting honors with two hits.

Ray White picked up a double and a pair of singles to lead the potent Merchant attack. Jim Fisk scattered nine hits to pick up the victory.

Waterford Township men's league action featured the first defeat for Bob & Larry's Bar. Day's Sanitary Service racked up 16 hits for an 8-4 verdict over the barmen (5-1).

Landon Morris' three-run homer keyed the attack for pitcher Bob Frasier, who along with Jim Fuller, had three singles.

★ ★ ★

Dixie Bar nipped Keg 'n' Anchor Bar, 5-4, for its third victory. The winners scored five times in the first four innings with Norm Tick plating the eventual deciding runs with a two-run single. Keg 'n' Anchor scored all its runs in the sixth but left the potential tying and winning markers stranded.

Top-Ranked Teams Duel

OMAHA (AP) — Top ranked Arizona State and No. 2-ranked Ohio State, only perfect-record teams left in the 19th College World Series, will collide tonight.

Arizona State belted St. Louis 13-3 and Ohio State bombed Washington State 14-1, tying the Series record of three home runs. Florida State eliminated Texas 3-2 in 12 innings and unheralded Connecticut ousted Lafayette 6-4 in other second round games Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Coach Bobby Winles of Arizona State is ready with southpaw Jim Merrick, 11-2, who beat Ohio State early in the season.

Ohio State ace Steve Arlin pitched an opening 2-1 victory Monday over Florida State, however, so Coach Marty Karow must go with either Ron Kitchon or Dave Singerman, both right-handers.

Arnie Chonko and Russ Nagelson, Ohio State's lefty sluggers, were held hitless by left-handed pitching in the opener. But both found the range against Paul Taylor, Washington State right-hander. Chonko had a three-run homer, Nagelson a 400-foot double.

Then the Cougars put in a lefty, Joe MacLean, and Nagelson belted his first pitch to the opposite field for a grand-slam homer. Don Harkins had a two-run homer for the Buckeyes.

Eleven homers already have been hit in two days.

Cage Teams Listed for Detroit Tourney

DETROIT (UPI) — Harvard, Eastern Kentucky and William and Mary will join host University of Detroit Dec. 27-28 in the 14th edition of the Motor City Basketball Tournament.

★ ★ ★

It will mark the first appearance of the three visitors in the tourney. Of the three, Detroit has faced only Harvard, winning both games in 1941-42 and 1942-43.

Last season, Harvard was 11-12 overall and 6-8 in the Ivy League. Eastern Kentucky was 19-6 overall and won the Ohio Valley Conference title with a 13-1 mark.

William and Mary was 12-13 overall and made it to the Southern Conference championship finals before bowing to West Virginia in double-overtime.

Miss Grinnell Links Winner

WDGA Members Play Lakeland Course

Helen Grinnell of Detroit Golf Club fired a one-under-par 37 on the front nine and came back with a 41 on the back side in carding a 78 for a one-stroke victory in the weekly Women's District Golf Association outing at Lakeland Country Club in Brighton yesterday.

Miss Grinnell collected three birdies on the first nine along with a pair of bogies. A six-foot putt at No. 13 produced her fourth birdie of the day.

The win was the first of the season for Miss Grinnell.

Mrs. Paul Large of Lakeland carded a 47-46-93 to lead the third flight and Mrs. C. T. McLain of Washtenaw shot a 54-52-106 to lead the fourth flight.

Sectional Play for U. S. Open Led by Johnson

shot went into the trap and a good blast put him three feet away. He missed the putt and then buried his putter into the grass near the apron of the green and called for his caddy to follow him into the clubhouse.

Middlecoff could not find the greens on his approach shots. His second shot on No. 9 went 25 feet over and to the right of green and his chip shot went only six feet. He then pitched five feet past the cup and finished with a six and 41 at the morning turn.

Middlecoff, who hasn't won a tournament since 1961, after Open titles in 1949 and 1956, was a picture of frustration during the 36 holes.

Walter Burkemo and his successor at Franklin Hills, Ted Kroll, also failed to make the Open field.

Burkemo shot 76-78—154 and Kroll, after a par 71 in the morning, came back with 76 and then lost on the fourth hole in a playoff to Howell Fraser of Lynn Haven, Fla., for the final spot.

This made Kroll the first alternate. The 18th, where birdies and eagles prevailed most of the day, was Kroll's disastrous hole.

He took bogey 6's twice, missing a short final putt that meant the difference between qualifying at 146 and losing in the playoff at 147.

Extra Birds Shattered in Skeet

There were a lot of extra targets broken in the Motor State Open Skeet Shoot last weekend at the Detroit Gun Club.

And more of the clay birds would have been crumbled except for darkness that finally terminated the 20 gauge event after 75 extra rounds had been fired.

★ ★ ★

All four events had shootoffs to determine the champions.

The largest was in the all gauge where 10 men returned to the firing line after each had cracked 100 straight birds during the regulation round.

New Leaders in Fish Derby

There are two new leaders in The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby this week.

Geoffrey Bayliss, 1275 Rosell, Holly, entered a five-and-one-quarter-pound largemouth black bass taken on a silver flatfish from Westwind Lake.

Another Holly resident, Frank Shuck, 306 Hadley, leads the pike division with a 12-and-three-quarter-pound northern caught last week in the Holly mill pond.

The following is a fishing conditions report:

OAKLAND COUNTY: Panfish are hitting good on most lakes, and are in shallow water. Best bait for bluegills — worms, small poppers and spiders. Best lakes have been Lakeville, Walled, White, Elizabeth, Union, Oxbow, Pontiac, Crotched and the Holly Mill Pond.

Bass have been hitting on Lakeville, Orion and Lake Louise.

Walleyes have been hitting in White Lake.

MACOMB COUNTY: There has been moderate fishing pressure on Lake St. Clair, but very few good catches of fish taken there. Only one Musky reported over last weekend.

Some panfish were taken at Stoney Lake.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY: Walleye fishing in the St. Clair River has been poor.

WAYNE COUNTY: Perch have been biting in the Detroit River, walleyes poor. A few rock bass and catfish are being taken in the river.

For those who love to fish for the pure sport of it, the bow and arrow provides good fun, shooting carp in the impoundments, such as Belleville Lake.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

NOCTURNAL VISITOR — Lawrence Frahm, 64, holds the coyote he shot Sunday in front of his home at 3005 Bird, Groveland Township. The coyote had been coming into the yard each night for six weeks, but had managed to elude Frahm.

Coyote Shot in Groveland

Area Resident Kept Six-Week Vigil

A coyote stretched his luck a little too far last weekend in the southeast corner of Groveland Township.

Lawrence Frahm, 64, 3005 Bird, finally killed the lean, gray animal early Sunday morning after six weeks of trying to get within shotgun range.

★ ★ ★

"The coyote made up with a stray hound and my dog — a springer spaniel — about six weeks ago," related Frahm, who just retired from Pontiac Motors after 36½ years.

"I kept my dog tied up but the coyote would come in the yard and play with it at night. And I think he was hanging around to get something to eat."

Frahm would get up in the middle of the night, load his shotgun, and try to sneak up on the male coyote. But each time the animal would run off.

Sunday morning at 4:30, Frahm was waiting in ambush. The coyote was within 30 yards of the shotgun before he knew something was wrong.

By then, it was too late to escape. Frahm shot the coyote as it tried to flee down the driveway.

FEW AROUND

While coyotes are numerous in certain sections of the northern Lower Peninsula and above the Straits, only a few reside in Southern Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Coyotes have been seen — one was shot during the 1963 deer season — in a large swamp near Holly.

Others have been reported in the big Davisburg swamp and near Algoe Lake north of Ortonville.

Motorists Can Keep Venison

Resident motorists killing deer on Michigan's highways are now able to keep the animals they hit.

The Conservation Department's new immediate-effect policy is tied to the state's spiraling increase of vehicle-deer collsions which reached a record high of nearly 6,000 in 1964.

★ ★ ★

With the number of these accidents jumping steadily during the last five years, conservation officers have been hard-pressed to dispose of animals struck down by cars and trucks.

At the same time, many drivers experiencing run-ins with deer have asked officers to give them the animals.

In many cases where deer haven't been too badly mangled by vehicles and meat spoilage hasn't occurred, the department has turned the animals over to lunch programs of schools, sheriff's departments and other public institutions.

However, because of the sheer number of deer killed on the state's roads, there often isn't enough time to save the meat.

NEW POLICY

"Under our new policy, we hope to cut this waste of venison and, by the same token, give motorists some sort of compenstaton for the vehicle damage they suffer," explains John A. Anguilm, chief of the department's law enforcement section.

★ ★ ★

"With each smashup between whitetails and cars costing an average of about $200 in repairs, we don't anticipate that people will deliberately try to hit deer as a means of putting meat on the table," he added.

In keeping deer they have killed, motorists will need to obtain permits from conservation officers.

This requirement will validate the fact that the animals were actually killed by vehicles. It will control the possibility of someone trying to pull a "fast one" by illegally shooting a deer and then claiming that he hit it with his car.

Officers of the State Police and local law enforcment agencies have been authorized to release highway-killed deer to drivers.

They will take the names, addresses, and license numbers of motorists and relay this information to local conservation officers who will then contact each driver to issue a free possession permit.

Persons allowed to recover deer must consume or dispose of their animals' meat within 30 days after permits are obtained. They may not give the animals to someone else.

Both of these regulations are also designed to prevent illegal possession of venison.

FISH RETRIEVER — Jack is a bird dog, but the end of hunting season doesn't bother him. He just starts fishing. The brown and white setter, which does most of his fishing in a lake near Hamilton, Ga., doesn't hook the fish. But once it is on the line the bluegill or bass hasn't a chance. In the photo sequence starting at the upper left, Jack waits on the bank until the fish is hooked; he swims back with the fish; climbs up on the bank; and then deposits the catch at the feet of his owner, John Hood.

Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of ⅛ of 1%. The interest on any one bond shall be at one rate only and shall be represented by one coupon only and all bonds maturing in the same year shall carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the first day of May in each year as follows: $365,000.00 in the year 1966, $200,000.00 in the year 1967, and $10,000.00 in each of the years 1968 through 1975. Bonds maturing in the years 1968 to 1975, both inclusive, are subject to redemption prior to maturity at the option of the school district in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after May 1, 1967, at the par value thereof and accrued interest. A co-paying agent likewise so qualified may also be so designated.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of erecting and equipping additions to school buildings, remodeling school buildings, and purchasing school sites and additions to school sites in said school district, and will be the general obligation of the school district, which is authorized and required by law to levy upon all the taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay said bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount, as provided in Section 16, Article IX, of the Constitution of Michigan.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from July 1, 1965 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $12,900.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. Payment for said bonds shall be made in Federal Reserve Funds.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, McKean and Cudlip, attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds, with the legal opinion printed on the back thereof, will be paid by the school district. There will also be furnished the usual closing documents, including a non-litigation certificate, dated as of the date of delivery of the bonds. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan, or at such other place as may be mutually agreed upon.

Escapee Gets Jail Sentence

A young Pontiac man who tried to escape only minutes after being convicted was sentenced yesterday to 3-15 years in the state prison at Jackson for armed robbery.

The sentence was imposed on Jerry L. Barmes, 23, by Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem for the Oct. 31, 1963, holdup of the Fairway Food Market, 1220 N. Perry.

Shortly after Barmes was found guilty by a jury May 19, he broke away from Sheriff's Deputy Jack Davis and begged to be shot to death.

Barmes was arrested the day after the robbery but was sent to Pontiac State Hospital and then Ionia after he attempted suicide in the Oakland County Jail.

He walked away from Ionia in December and was extradited when he turned up in Decatur, Ill.

Driver, Car Take Early Morn Dip

There's nothing quite like an early dip in the lake.

In fact, a dawn swim can be a truly breathtaking experience. Take the case of John Miller for example.

Miller, 26, of 8226 Highland, White Lake Township, was driving west on M59 200 feet west of Williams Lake Road at 3:50 a.m., today when his car went out of control and hurtled into Pontiac Lake.

Uninjured, Miller climbed from the sinking 1960 Oldsmobile convertible and swam 30 yards to shore.

His only problem now is how to get the totally submerged car back on dry land.

'Get Tougher With France'

German Says Europe Should Oppose Policy

BONN, Germany, (AP) — A leading member of the West German opposition called today for a tougher stand against French President Charles de Gaulle's policies and said Europe should start drawing plans for a Common Market without France.

"In the face of certain statements by responsible French politicians threatening the existence of the Common Market, we should begin to study how it can and must go forward as a five-country proposition, should the great misfortune of a French withdrawal occur," Karl Mommer said. West Germany, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg are the other Common Market members.

★ ★ ★

The Social-Democrat Parliamentarian made the statement in a newsletter to the Europa Union, an international organization devoted to European integration.

He said that when De Gaulle arrives here for two days of talks on Friday, German officials should bear in mind "that the nationalistic and anticommunity stance of the French chief of state has grown stiffer."

TREATY TALKS

De Gaulle and a team of his ministers will meet with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and other German officials as part of periodical talks called for by the Franco - German Friendship Treaty.

In Paris, Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte told newsmen after a cabinet session that the French foresee a discussion of the future of the Common Market with the Germans, as well as various financial issues regarding the market.

★ ★ ★

Peyrefitte said that questions of general interest between the two nations also will be examined but did not elaborate.

One obvious questions is the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the recent American proposal to establish a type of nuclear directorate of four or five countries within NATO.

★ ★ ★

The generally well-informed Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung said the talks will bedifficult as De Gaulle is expected to press for German support for reorganization of the Atlantic Pact. Erhard wants a clarification of French policy toward the Communist bloc.

Junior Editors Quiz on— HOMING PIGEONS

QUESTION: How can homing pigeons find their way back home?

ANSWER: Pigeons have been domesticated from 3000 B.C., when they are known to have been raised in Egypt. Their natural ability to find their way back to the home roost, even if carried away from it, was noticed in early times.

This was developed by mating birds wtih the strongest homing instinct. Such pigeons would be raised in government centers and then carried along with armies or travelers.

When there was news to be sent back, a message would be attached to a pigeon's leg and the bird would be released, to fly by the shortest route back home.

Even modern armies and navies have used pigeons in this way. Our pictures show homing pigeons being released at sea and coming in to the home roost on land. Flights as long as 2,300 miles have been made.

Just why homing pigeons should have such powerful instincts is not exactly understood, nor can experts tell us just how they find their way.

It has been suggested that they are sensitive to the electro-magnetic forces of the earth and that they may use the sun and stars as navigational helps.

But, like the yearly migrations of birds, more remains to be found out before we can give a definite answer to this interesting question.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out all you can about the migration and flight instincts of birds and work out your own theory to explain homing pigeons.

Prison terms were ordered yesterday for a Flint man and young woman who held up a grocery store clerk in Springfield Township three months ago.

James Johnson, 24, was sentenced to 3½-5 years in the state prison at Jackson for attempted armed robbery of the Stage Coach Grocery, 9405 Dixie, while his accomplice, Beverly Lynch, 19, was given 1-5 years in the Detroit House of Correction.

The pair pleaded guilty to the charge May 19. They were sentenced by Judge Frederick C. Ziem.

They escaped with $106 but were apprehended shortly after the 5:40 p.m. robbery at a roadblock near the Michigan State Police post on Telegraph Road.

Fugitive Faces Arraignment in Kidnaping Case

MONROE (AP) — Prison farm fugitive Clifford West, 19, faces arraignment Friday in Monroe County Circuit Court on charges of kidnaping and assault with intent to kill State Police Trooper Richard E. Perry.

West was bound over Tuesday by Frenchtown Justice of the Peace Joanne Nichols in a preliminary hearing. His $25,000 was continued.

★ ★ ★

Police said West, fugitive from the Camp Pontiac prison farm, forced Perry into a stolen car at gunpoint May 29 after the trooper had halted him. Perry said he overpowered West in Fremont, Ohio, ending a 45-mile chase by civilians and other officers.

Top Pupils Get Awards From LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — A handshake, a smile and a medal from President Johnson in the historic East Room of the White House. A buffet dinner on the South Lawn with Luci Baines Johnson as hostess. Heroes galore and entertainment under the soft light of the moon.

It added up to the biggest night ever in the lives of 120 of the nation's brightest youngsters.

* * *

There was Nantelle Smith of Enterprise, Ala., first of the presidential scholars to cross the small stage to where the President stood.

"I was so nervous I didn't even know where I was going," she said later.

HOLDING MEDAL

But she knew what she was going for — she clutched the box holding the medal for dear life.

Jane Grayson was perhaps the most tired of the scholars. Jane was valedictorian of her graduating class at Miami Beach, Fla., senior High Monday night. She caught a midnight flight to Washington, and found no time nor desire to sleep.

* * *

"This is all so wonderful," she said. "Just wonderful. I'll sleep some other time."

The boy from the big city looked southward across the South Lawn to where the Jefferson Memorial was bathed in a soft glow of light, whistled under his breath and said, "Boy, this is the prettiest back yard I've ever seen."

IN GOOD HANDS

The youngsters were front and center in the East Room, where President Johnson told them, "The life of your land is in good hands as its destiny passes, as it will, into your hands."

Their parents — all of whom have today a new definition of the word proud — sat behind them. Jammed around the walls stood distinguished guests from all walks of life.

* * *

When the party moved outdoors, the youngsters brought to Washington for honor and praise paid homage themselves to heroes of their own.

They clustered around Col. John H. Glenn Jr., America's first orbiting astronaut. They sought the autograph of former baseball star Stan Musial, Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the polio vaccine, stage and screen star Jason Robards Jr., and authors John O'Hara and Barbara Tuchman.

* * *

The special heroes of the presidential scholars were two young men close to their own age, All-America basketball star Bill Bradley of Princeton, and Don Schollander, four-time gold medalist on the 1964 U.S. Olympic swimming team.

70 Youngsters in Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy youngsters ranging from 11 to 15 match wits with Webster's dictionary today in the opening of the 38th National Spelling Bee.

A practice round with Akimichi Chinen, an eighth grader from Hawaii, as the first speller, kicks off the two days of competition for $5,700 in prizes.

* * *

With the exception of the practice round — which doesn't count in the official scoring — a contestant is eliminated if he or she misspells a word. The words get tougher with each round.

The 35 boys and 35 girls — girls usually far outnumber the boys in national competition — are the top spellers of more than 6 million youngsters who competed in local bees.

32 STATES

They represent 32 states, the District of Columbia and Guam.

The champion to be crowned Thursday will succeed William Kerek, now 13, of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

* * *

A tournament winner is barred from competing again nationally but there are three repeaters from last year's contest — Connie Payton, 14, of Friendship, Ohio, who finished 60th last year; Kay Pechenick, 15, of Lafayette Hill, Pa., who finished 8th, and Alan C. Baird, 14, of Chelmsford, Mass., who finished 69th.

STARS WITH ELVIS — Donna Douglas of "The Beverly Hillbillies" is vacationing from the TV series by playing Frankie as Elvis Presley plays Johnny in the film entitled, strangely enough, "Frankie and Johnny." When Donna is finished with the movie, her first starring film, she'll head back to her work as Elly Mae in the TV series.

'Hillbilly' Stars With Elvis

Donna Douglas Takes Big Step

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Donna Douglas is vacationing from "The Beverly Hillbillies" to play Frankie to Elvis Presley's Johnny.

THOMAS

It's a big step for a girl whose last movie role was as a secretary in "Lover Come Back." But her first starring film finds Donna in her usual condition: "With my head in the air and my feet on the ground."

You might as well know that Donna is a mystic, a girl with a philosophical approach to her life and work unusual for one of only 24 years. Her conversation is studded with observations like: "You can have success if you can handle it."

* * *

She seems to be handling hers. She came up the hard way, from beauty contests to letters girl on the Perry Como Show to bits in movies like "Career" and "Li'l Abner." Then producer-writer Paul Henning asked her if she could handle the role of Elly Mae in "The Beverly Hillbillies."

"I just looked at him and grinned," recalled the pride of Baywood, La. "Could I handle Elly Mae? Why, it was just like my own life."

CORNPONE DRAWL

Donna, who had struggled to erase her cornpone drawl, had to recover it for the series. In the face of sneers from the critics, the "Hillbillies" became the No. 1 show in audience ratings. That meant instant fame for Donna Douglas, born Doris Smith.

"Some people can't handle success; it's too much for them," she opined. "They aren't willing to give as well as receive. It's important to do both."

* * *

Donna's casting opposite Presley in "Frankie and Johnny" came about after one of her messages — she gets them all the time, and not from Western Union.

"After we finished the season for 'Hillbillies,' I went to Australia to publicize the show," she explained. "I could have gone on a personal appearance tour in this country during our summer vacation, but something told me not to. And sure enough, when I got back, they called me about the picture."

RIVERBOAT SAGA

Donna sees the riverboat saga as a good introduction for her into feature pictures. Since it is a period piece, she figures it won't shock the public's image of Elly Mae. And she's delighted to be playing opposite Elvis. Unlike most of his leading ladies, she hasn't dated him.

"I meet enough boys in the business. I'm in no hurry. The right man will come along some day, and I'll know it when he does." She had one ill-fated marriage as a teen-ager and has a son back home.

* * *

As soon as Donna finishes "Frankie and Johnny," she heads back to her work as Elly Mae. She has served three years and is under contract for another three.

Jury Recommends Death for Murderer

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP) — A jury recommended Tuesday the death penalty for an admitted murderer who twice has escaped the electric chair despite his plea for electrocution.

* * *

James D. French, 28, was found guilty in District Court in the Oct. 21, 1961, strangulation of an Oklahoma penitentiary cellmate, Eddie L. Shelton. Judge Robert Bell set formal sentencing for June 18.

* * *

The State Court of Criminal Appeals twice reversed lower court verdicts which found French guilty and sentenced to death.

FBI Agent Says KKK, Nazis Work Together

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — "There is a close working arrangement between the American Nazi party and the Ku Klux Klan," an FBI agent told a civic club here Tuesday.

FBI agent Neal Welch said that "many members of the Klan are of the radical lunatic fringe which would take the law into their own hands."

Last Respects Paid to Actress

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 350 fans and friends paid their last respects to actress Judy Holliday Tuesday night.

Miss Holliday, 41, who rose to fame on Broadway as the dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday," died Monday after a five-year battle with cancer.

* * *

Miss Holliday's body was in a closed coffin at an East Side funeral home. Viewing hours were extended two hours until midnight so that performers could get there after their shows.

Visitors included actress Ethel Merman, producer Abe Burrows and musician Gerry Mulligan.

SERVICE SET

A funeral service was scheduled for today.

Burial will be private in Westchester Hills Cemetery.

Park Chief to Retire

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Linus C. Palmer, 67, retires June 30 as Kent County Parks superintendent, a post he has held since 1922. Palmer also is president of the Michigan Park Executives Association.

Slain Negro to Be Buried Today in Louisiana Town

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Washington Parish buries its first Negro peace officer today. Deputy Sheriff Oneal Moore was killed a week ago when his squad car was riddled by bullets.

"We're going to catch them, we're going to prosecute them," Gov. John J. McKeithen vowed before a joint session of the Louisiana Legislature at Baton Rouge Tuesday.

A white man, Ernest McElveen, 41, has been charged with murder in the slaying. Authorities believe there were three assassins.

Funeral service for Moore was scheduled for 2 p.m. (CST) at the Mt. Zion Baptist church in Varnado, a short distance from the site of the June 2 ambush.

TO ATTEND

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, planned to attend. Farmer speaks at a civil rights rally later tonight in Bogalusa, scene of racial strife for several months.

Farmer's CORE has been spearheading the civil rights movement in Bogalusa.

Moore's squad car partner, Deputy Creed Rogers, also a Negro, was wounded and remains in a New Orleans hospital.

The slain deputy's widow asked that there be no motorcade for the funeral at the church where her husband was an active layman.

The community of Varnado is seven miles south of Bogalusa.

A Citizen's Council rally was held at Varnado Tuesday night.

Developments in the slaying case were expected momentarily. Some 60 FBI agents are in the area, working with state, parish and city lawmen. Veteran FBI inspector Joe Sullivan, who headed the federal probe of last summer's slaying of three civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., arrived to spearhead the investigation.

★ ★ ★

McKeithen, who earlier had posted a $25,000 reward for Moore's slayers, spoke briefly to legislators just before the 30-day session ended.

"All of us legally want to preserve all the rights we can," said McKeithen, "but along with states rights goes state responsibility.

NOT ENTITLED

"If we can't put a stop to murder on our highways by night riders . . . then we're not entitled to states rights."

Mayor Jesse Cutrer Jr. went to New Orleans today for a federal court hearing of a suit attacking Bogalusa's antipicketing and peace disturbance laws.

Cutrer's City Commission, in a special meeting Tuesday, passed additional ordinances dealing broadly with disturbing the peace.

The Washington Parish grand jury returned indictments charging two white men, Willis Blackwell and Richard G. Krebs, with attempted aggravated arson. They were arrested May 23 near a Bogalusa Negro church hours before Farmer was scheduled to speak. State police said the pair had a can of gasoline with them.

Chews Rag About Russia as Kids Happily Chew Gum

BY EARL WILSON

MOSCOW — "Chewing gum . . . chewing gum . . . chewing gum . . . you give me chewing gum . . . please?"

Russian teen-agers waited for us outside the Kremlin, outside Lenin's tomb, begging ignominously for chewing gum . . which the Russians have never invented . . . for fountain pens, for American money.

WILSON

But bad as that was, and it did seem sad to us, they were not wearing Beatle haircuts nor running screaming after the Beatles. The Beatles records and The Beatles are very little known here. The Beatles and their bosses like money and if they could get any here for an appearance in Russia they probably couldn't get it out of the country.

Under the new two of "K & B" — Kosygin and Breshnev — the teen-agers are learning so much about capitalism with the surge of tourism, that some observers believe the new generation will go right instead of further left . . . perhaps wishful thinking.

But if they like our clothes . . . our movies . . . our freedom . . . why not?

Still, there are some Russians very stiff toward us and our modern conveniences. An Intourist guide was pointing out to us that the new Russian Hotel, to be finished in a couple of years, could accommodate 6,000.

"Will it have a swimming pool," asked a Californian.

"No," replied the girl guide, crossly, "but it will have a concert hall."

Russia has practically no prostitution.

And those girls rumored to be prostitutes are suspected of being "security girls" — spies — trying to find out what their customers are really trying to do in the Soviet.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

A new play about Marilyn Monroe — "the real, sympathetic story," by poet Norman Rosten, at whose Brooklyn home she used to meet Arthur Miller, may be produced on Broadway by Kermit Bloomgarden . . . Jackie Coogan says that after his book, "The Kid—The Truth," comes out, naming names, and also the Hollywood dirty tricks played on him, he'll have to give up ABC's "The Addams Family" and hide out in his La Paz, Mexico, ranchero to escape assassination.

Record Fund Drive Aids Hope College

HOLLAND (AP) — Hope College alumni headquarters says a record $60,485 has been received to accept the challenge of one alumnus who said he would match the first $50,000 contributed by his fellow alumni to the annual fund drive if the money was raised by June 5. The funds are used each year for faculty salary increases and to provide financial aid scholarships to needy students.

Britons drank more in 1963 than they had in any of the past 20 years. Smoking also increased.

Show Girl Acquitted of Stealing Gowns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barbara Hellman, 22, a Las Vegas show girl known professionally as Bobby Hill, was acquitted Tuesday of a charge of stealing $3,600 worth of gowns from the home of actress Mamie Van Doren last January.

Miss Van Doren brought the charges upon her return from Rio de Janeiro. Miss Hellman said she had been a house guest of the actress and had permission to use the clothes.

Alabama Tour Nearly Over

Wallace, 2 Newsmen in Lively Exchange

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Visiting newsmen neared the end of their racial fact-finding tour of Alabama today in the wake of a lively exchange between two of the writers and Gov. George C. Wallace.

Swapping their buses for a plane, the 47 out-of-state editors and reporters from across the nation turned southward toward Mobile after witnessing a spectacular moon rocket test in Huntsville and watching Negro pickets stage another anti-Wallace demonstration.

Nine young Negroes, carrying signs, paraded in front of the motel where the out-of-state writers were staying at Huntsville.

It was the second racial demonstration of the tour. A larger group of demonstrators paraded in Selma while the newsmen were there Monday.

INITIAL CLASH

The first clash between Wallace and the visiting newsmen came Tuesday night after members of the Alabama Legislature and Huntsville business leaders were invited to remain for the governor's news conference following a dinner.

Editor Alexander Bodi of the Palo Alto (Calif.) Times objected to a "press conference of this type," and asked to be excused from participation.

A Pennsylvania newsman, Joseph Tronzo of Beaver Falls, shouted, "I agree." Tronzo then voiced resentment at what he called the governor's blanket criticism of news media for racial coverage in Alabama.

Wallace had invited the out-of-state writers to make the tour to see for themselves whether coverage of racial news in this state has been distorted.

BRINGS A LAUGH

Tronzo brought laughter from the legislators and other dinner guests with the remark that, "there are fewer newspapermen in jail than politicians."

Then, quickly he added, "in Pennsylvania."

Wallace, smiling throughout the exchange, replied with a joke about a cannibal who didn't eat politicians because he said he never found out how to clean them.

Another newsman, William R. Gilman of the Medford Daily Mercury at Malden, Mass., disagreed with his colleagues. He said he had no objection to asking questions in the presence of the onlookers.

NOTES INTEREST

Gilman said the legislators present had an interest in whether Alabama has been unfairly portrayed, as Wallace charged, in racial stories.

The governor, responding to another newsman's question, said he doesn't feel that Alabama is "down on all the press." He said, "We have some objective reporting." Nor, he added, is all of the out-of-state press critical of Alabama.

But, he continued, "We are down on some of the press, yes sir." As one illustration, he repeated oft-spoken criticism of the National Press Club in Washington for what he said was a refusal to award him a certificate following a speech before the club several months ago.

Wallace said it was customary to award such certificates and that they had been given to Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro and former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. He said the refusal to award a certificate to him "is itself an indictment of part of the press."

Demanded Plane Ride

Seize Man With Bomb

Free Hostage; Police Held at Bay Two Hours

Kidnaping Is Charged After Arrest Made at South Haven Airport

SOUTH HAVEN (AP) — Threatening to blow himself and a hostage "right off the map" with a homemade bomb, a 63-year-old man was seized after two tense hours by state police yesterday at the South Haven Airport.

Officers said Harry Diduch of South Haven held some 15 lawmen at bay while trying to get a pilot at the airport "to fly us out of the country." Among those at the scene was Michigan's newly named state police commissioner, Frederick Davids.

Van Buren County Prosecutor Horace Adams authorized a warrant today charging Diduch with kidnaping.

State Police Cpl. Dwain Phillipi said Diduch abducted William French, a 26-year-old South Haven milk truck driver, as French was making a delivery.

★ ★ ★

Philipi said Diduch chained himself and French together and forced French to drive him to the airport at shotgun point.

CARRYING BOX

Officers said Diduch also was carrying a large wooden box which contained a bomb made of a length of pipe filled with black powder. The pipe was rigged to a sawed off rifle as a triggering device and Phillipi said he threatened to set if off if police rushed him.

French was not injured. Diduch was jailed for investigation.

Phillipi said Diduch had notified the airport to have a plane and pilot ready for him to "fly us out of the country." He said Diduch threatened to blow French and himself "to kingdom come" if the plane wasn't ready.

Phillipi said Diduch declined to tell why he wanted to leave the country after his capture. He said the man would be questioned again today.

Viet Generals Asked to Solve Political Crisis

Premier Quat Says Government Cannot End Current Strife

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Phan Huy Quat declared today that his government could not solve the current political crisis and that his generals had agreed to mediate.

He said he had asked the army to step in as mediators between the government and opposition groups, including Roman Catholics, now threatening to throw the nation into chaos.

Quat said he did not know whether the generals would organize a new armed forces council like the one dissolved last month.

He said in any case he was assured the generals all supported a strong civilian government, and that this would not mean a return to military control of the government.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless it was clear the Vietnamese military establishment was moving back into the political arena.

MEDIATION BOARD

Quat said he had asked all the general officers in the country to serve on the new mediation board, and the form of organization the body takes will be up to the officers.

Quat and the chief of state, Phan Khac Suu have been feuding for three weeks over two cabinet changes Quat wants to make. Suu has refused to approve them. The dispute has emboldened Roman Catholic agitators who are staging daily anti-Quat demonstrations, charging the premier is discriminating against Catholics.

Quat at a news conference today charged that Suu was obstructing efforts for a political conciliation.

★ ★ ★

"Up to this point," Quat said, "the good will of the government has been unable to keep the problem from degenerating into a critical situation. This situation has harmed the war against the Communists, which should have top priority.

WAR SLOWED

"The political crisis, which originally was superficial, has harmed the war effort, slowed down the government and harmed the life of the people.

"Even if the national charter is revised, in the existing political climate, the government finds it impossible to carry out its programs or implement plans."

The situation appeared to be moving toward a critical phase that could result in the collapse soon of the Quat government as well as an end to all chances of forming a coalition.

Sen. Byrd Says LBJ Is Cutting Taxes Too Fast

Finds No Evidence Administration Aims at Lower Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd said today the Johnson administration is cutting taxes too fast and is piling up a backlog of massive expenditures for the future.

Byrd, Virginia Democrat who heads the Senate Finance Committee, said that while some excise levies undoubtedly ought to be removed, the $4.8-billion tax reduction bill before his committee is too big at a time when he can find no comparable decline in spending.

"The administration claims it is cutting expenditures, but I can find no evidence of it," he told a reporter.

"Instead it is adding to the deficit and bringing out many new programs that are going to call for massive spending increases next year."

Noting that the stock market took one of its worst declines of 1965 yesterday, Byrd said he thinks William M. Martin, Federal Reserve Board chairman, was on solid ground when he said last week that there are some similarities between the present situation and that of 1929 prior to the depression of the 30s.

DISSIMILARITIES GREATER

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, recalled for testimony today, told the finance committee yesterday that while he wasn't an expert in this field the dissimilarities were greater than the similarities.

When Byrd pressed for an estimate on when the budget might be balanced, Fowler replied that it might be possible in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1966, but more likely a year later.

Fowler said the impact of proposed excise tax cuts in the fiscal year which begins July 1 would be only $600 million.

He estimated that other revenues would increase so that the previous estimate of a $5.3-billion deficit for the year would be reduced to $4.3 billion.

Fowler said he based these estimates on a rising economy, revenue increases and strong action by the President and Congress to hold the spending line.

Gemini 4 Astronauts Begin Final Activities Aboard Ship

ABOARD THE WASP (AP) — James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II, now close enough to home to see their own historic space walk film on shipboard television, began their final festive day at sea today and got set for a round of welcomes awaiting them ashore.

Almost all of the intensive medical testing behind them, the astronauts' schedule today called for "technical debriefing" — talking into tape recorders at length about their four-day mission and being questioned in detail by space experts.

The Gemini 4 twins said their most memorable moments of the flight were, for White, his 20-minute stroll in space, and, for McDivitt, the capsule's reentry through the earth's atmosphere.

They were among the millions who thrilled at the sight of vivid movies of the space stroll. The films were released yesterday in Houston, Tex., and the astronauts saw a televised version late last night.

★ ★ ★

Space doctors also continued to be mildly amazed at the astronauts' fine physical condition after their arduous journey.

MEDICAL TESTS

Medical tests showed little ill effects on the astronauts' hearts from four days of weightlessness, though there was one minor health problem yesterday: McDivitt had a nosebleed.

Doctors said the nosebleed probably resulted from the drying effect of breathing pure oxygen for nearly 98 hours.

They said future astronauts might take along something to lubricate the inner nose.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts' schedule on their scheduled return to Houston tomorrow already was crowded with parades and other honors from their admiring public.

Space officials had to decline a number of invitations — including a traditional ticket tape parade in New York. Newark, N.J., and Miami, Fla., also extended parade invitations which were in turn "declined regretfully," said Julian Scheer, NASA associate public affairs administrator.

"It was a matter of scheduling," Scheer said.

Aboard the Wasp yesterday Paul Haney, NASA information officer, interviewed the astronauts as to their most exciting moments during the flight.

★ ★ ★

White said his plainly was the 20-minute venture outside Gemini 4 — during which he said he did a little dance on the capsule, Haney reported.

AVOIDED SNAGGING SUIT

He said White told him be careful to avoid snagging his space suit on the sharp edges of the blunt end adapter section of the capsule, though he did peek into it.

"There I go again," White

Space Pilots Will Visit State

Day-Long Celebration to Honor Pair at U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan is going to welcome home its space pilot and his space-walking partner next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Majs. James McDivitt and Edward White, the Gemini 4 crew, will be honored in a day-long celebration at their alma mater, University of Michigan, in Ann Arbor Tuesday.

Wednesday Jackson gets its native son, McDivitt, for a welcoming whoopee.

The National Aeronautics and Space Agency hasn't decided whether White will go to his native San Antonio, Tex., or to St. Petersburg, Fla., where his parents now live, or somewhere else, or stay with McDivitt on Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

They'll come to Michigan from a ticker-tape parade in Chicago on Monday, presumably after a weekend with President Johnson "down at the ranch" in Texas.

TO FLY TO HOUSTON

Mr. and Mrs. James McDivitt Sr., of Jackson, were to fly to Houston this afternoon to meet their son, possibly Thursday afternoon or Friday. The astronauts land at Mayport, Fla., Thursday morning from the aircraft carrier Wasp.

★ ★ ★

The senior McDivitt said they'd call first on their daughter-in-law, the astronaut's wife, and grandchildren, but didn't know what plans NASA had for getting them together with their son.

Efforts to Lower Toll at Mackinac Stymied

LANSING (AP)—The legislature was ready today to let more water flow under the Mackinac Bridge before it does anything to change the tolls on the traffic that flows over it.

But, while the House defeated another in a long series of attempts to lower the bridge tolls, another group of legislators urged asking the federal government to contribute to the bridge's support.

Seven House members, most of them Democrats from Northern Michigan, introduced a resolution urging Congress to take whatever steps are necessary to pay 90 per cent of the cost of the $100-million structure. The resolution was referred to the House Policy Committee.

The latest toll-reduction effort was launched by Rep. Richard A. Young, D-Dearborn Heights, whose Wayne County district is far removed from the Straits of Mackinac.

It would have poured an additional $500,000 a year into the financing of the bridge by increasing from two to three per cent taxes on gas and oil taken out of the ground.

★ ★ ★

Young said the amendment would allow lowering the $3.75 one-way toll on passenger cars to about $2.75.

The amendment was approved in preliminary debate, 31-19, but defeated 24-19 in the final voting stage. Only a majority of those voting is needed to approve amendments in the preliminary stage, but 56 votes —a majority of those elected and serving in the House—is

'Soviet Rocket Working Well'

Say Moon Shot Gave Data 4 Times 1st Day

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's latest moon rocket Luna 6, which is expected to try a soft landing, is working well as it speeds away from the earth, Tass said today.

An official announcement after more than 24 hours of flight said that at 4 p.m. Moscow time (9 a.m., EST) the unmanned spacecraft would be 142,915 miles from earth.

Information was radioed back four times in the first day of flight, Tass added.

Britain's Jodrell Bank Observatory said its giant radio-telescope picked up strong signals from the Soviet moon probe last night.

★ ★ ★

Morning newspapers in Moscow carried only the original announcement of the launch yesterday. There was no further information on the distance the automatic space station has traveled from the earth or whether it is still close to the planned flight trajectory.

TO REACH MOON

The satellite, believed to be the second Soviet attempt in a month to try a soft landing on the moon, is expected to reach the lunar surface Friday night.

Soviet officials may not announce the purpose of the flight until they are sure Luna 6 will hit the moon or until after the landing.

In the previous attempt by Luna 5, the Soviets announced about 20 hours before the satellite was due to hit the moon that it would attempt a soft landing. It was the first time they had called a shot in advance.

The soft landing failed and Luna 5 crashed into the moon on May 12.

Tass said then: "During the flight and the approach of the station to the moon a great deal of information was obtained which is necessary for the further elaboration of a system for soft landing on the moon's surface."

Luna 6 is believed to be the next step in that "further elaboration."

In most respects Lunas 5 and 6 appeared similar. Both were called automatic space stations, the Soviet term normally used for unmanned spacecraft. Both were launched by multistage rockets. The last stage of the rocket was put in orbit. It in turn launched the moon probe.

Tiny Pheasants Pleasant Present

A month-long effort by a Waterford Township couple to hatch three pheasant eggs began to pay off yesterday.

One of the tiny pheasants emerged from his shell and barely audible pecking sounds from the other eggs indicated that two more would soon follow the same escape route.

Engaged in the lengthy task of egg hatching were Mr. and Mrs. Kyle McWethy of 1355 Malcolm.

The egg that hatched yesterday had been in a frying pan since May 14. The other two eggs were alternately kept in the pan and a cardboard box incubator heated by a 40-watt bulb.

★ ★ ★

The McWethys found the eggs at the rear of their two-acre lot.

Driving Class to Get Report on Seat Belts

Area drivers will be able to get an up-to-date report on the value of seat belts in automobiles at a driving school Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

The class, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the City Commission chambers at City Hall, is another in a series sponsored by the Pontiac Police Department, the Automobile Club and The Pontiac Press.

Sgt. Lawrence LaBair of the Pontiac Police will present the 75-minute class.

He said he would present information on the proven benefits of seat belts in autos.

★ ★ ★

In addition, a film made by the University of California on crash research will be shown.

The film includes scenes taken of crashes and the effects on dummies in the wrecked autos.

To Build New Base

2,500 Combat Engineers Land in Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — About 2,500 U.S. Army combat engineers landed today at Cam Ranh Bay, 190 miles northeast of Saigon, to build an airfield, port and supply center there, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

The spokesman hinted that more engineers were on the way. "Don't hold me to the 2,500 figure," he said.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the project, being undertaken jointly by the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments, would include a bridge to link the harbor area to a highway and railroad.

The new base is expected to play a key role in the U.S.-Vietnamese war effort in the central and northern parts of South Viet Nam, the spokesman said.

NEARLY 54,000

The engineers being the U.S. military force in South Viet Nam to nearly 54,000 men.

In the air war against North Viet Nam, U.S. planes attacked the big port of Vinh for the fifth straight day and the pilots claimed light to moderate damage to an army barracks area.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. military spokesman announced that government forces suffered their heaviest casualties of the war — 1,875 South Vietnamese and 51 Americans in the week that ended last Saturday. Viet Cong losses for the week were 1,305, the spokesman said, but these included no wounded.

The spokesman said 530 South Vietnamese troops were killed, 710 wounded and 635 either missing or captured. Ten Americans were killed, 6 were missing and 35 wounded for the same period.

1,221 KILLED

The Viet Cong had 1,221 killed and 84 captured, the spokesman said.

Two more American advisers were killed today and 158 South Vietnamese troops were killed or missing in bloody actions north and south of Saigon.

This brought American combat casualties in Viet Nam to 404 since December 1961.

The Americans were killed when Communist guerrillas overran a training center for militiamen at Gia Ray, 50 miles northeast of Saigon near Xuan Loc. Fifty Vietnamese were reported killed and 24 Vietnamese and an American wounded, while 30 government troops were reported missing. Officials said two Viet Cong were believed killed.

NO CONTACT

After burning much of the camp, the Viet Cong withdrew. A relief force was sent to the area but made no contact with the enemy and the station was abandoned.

In another heavy action, the government suffered 60 killed, 18 missing and 95 wounded in Phong Dinh Province, 95 miles southeast of Saigon. Viet Cong casualties were estimated at more than 50, but this was not confirmed.

Government troops and guerrillas clashed in the area Tuesday. As the fighting grew more intense, Vietnamese Ranger units were airlifted into the battle.

★

A spokesman said the operation continued today.

DESTROYED CAMP

Military sources said a Vietnamese unit, tipped off by defectors from the Viet Cong, destroyed a Communist training camp 40 miles north of Saigon in Binh Duong Province. Three Viet Cong were killed and two captured, officials said.

Pilots reported this damage to their targets:

Four buildings destroyed and a bridge damaged at staging areas about 150 miles south of Hanoi; five buildings destroyed, others damaged at the Kim Cuong army barracks and two supply areas 80 miles north of the border; a ferry slip and two 75-foot barges heavily damaged at the Song Ron highway ferry 50 miles north of the border; moderate damage to a road grader and a truck 115 miles southwest of Hanoi; a bridge approach damaged 140 miles southwest of Hanoi.

'Right-to-Work' Ban Clears House Unit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House Labor subcommittee today approved legislation that would repeal "right-to-work" laws in 19 states. The vote was 6 to 3.

The measure, which would withdraw authority given the states by the Taft-Hartley law to ban union shop agreements, now goes to the House Education and Labor Committee.

Subcommittee Chairman Frank Thompson, D-N.J. said he would try to call up the bill, a major legislative goal of organized labor, at a full committee meeting tomorrow.

The breakdown of the subcommittee vote was not made public. But it was understood that the repeal bill was supported by five Democrats and one Republican, and opposed by two Republicans and one Democrat.

The subcommittee started hearings on the bill shortly after President Johnson asked for the repeal. It approved the bill at a closed session the day after ending the hearings.

PRIME GOAL

Repeal of the right to work provision is organized labor's prime legislative goal in this session of Congress. The labor effort is just as vigorously opposed by business and industry groups.

As a result, lobbyists for both sides have been canvassing the House for months, trying to drum up votes.

The outlook at present is for approval of repeal by both the Thompson subcommittee and the parent House Education and Labor Committee.

★ ★ ★

Supporters believe they now have enough votes to win when the measure gets to the House floor, but they concede the pressure is starting to get heavy on wavering members.

FEW SURPRISES

Testimony on the measure produced few surprises. Supporters of repeal said labor and management should be free to work out their own contracts. Opponents said no law should permit a private association such as a union to compel individuals to sign up.

★ ★ ★

Bridge Toll Cut Stymied

Majority Floor Leader J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, urged defeat of the amendment and promised that the "legislature will study this problem and come back with recommendations next January."

Young argued that Michigan's taxes on the removal of oil and gas from the ground are far below those of other states in which any such drilling is done.

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, the leading Democratic fiscal expert, objected that "gas and oil production is not increasing in Michigan. If it were, our revenues from this source would increase each year, but they are not.

WON'T CARRY

"This is too weak a vehicle to carry the Mackinac Bridge financing," he said.

Rep. Rollo Conlin, R-Adrian, the generally acknowledged tax expert in the House, objected to "raising a small amount from a narrow source to pay off the Mackinac Bridge bonds."

Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, sponsor of a measure to raise the gasoline tax and lower the tolls, opposed "this half-effort."

Swallow's proposal would have raised the gasoline tax by as much as one cent a gallon, producing up to $28 million a year. It would have recalled the present revenue bonds outstanding on the bridge and refinanced it with bonds backed by the full faith and credit of the state.

These new bonds would draw an interest rate about 1.5 per cent lower than that now paid on the $100 million revenue bond issue, he said, saving the state $1.5 million in interest each year. Some of this saving could be passed on to the motorist, he added.

Plan for Teachers Possible Landmark

By DON PEMBER

The Pontiac School Board may have notched a landmark on the tree of learning recently when it adopted a five-year plan of goals for the improvement of teachers' salaries.

This program, believed by local educators to be the first of its kind in Michigan, was adopted after it was recommended by both the school administration and the Pontiac Education Association (PEA), the largest teacher group in the system.

Basically, the plan is a long-range blueprint for increasing teachers' salaries at all levels and adding staff fringe benefits.

What makes this plan so unusual?

★ ★ ★

Administration officials think it is special because this is the first time in teacher-school negotiations that any plans beyond a two-year period have been spelled out.

2-YEAR AGREEMENT

Two years ago the Pontiac schools instituted a two-year agreement with teachers. That agreement was another first for the district.

Some observers, however, feel two provisions of the plan add other significance to this five-year agreement.

The two are extended contracts and a "salary incentive factor" or "merit pay."

★

Administration officials are quick to point out that just because these ideas are in the plan, it doesn't necessarily hold that they will be adopted within five years — or ever.

EXTEND CONTRACTS

The first of the two calls for extending teacher contracts from 40 weeks to 46 weeks or 48 weeks.

"There is a good deal of work which teachers could do during the summer months," according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

"We can find a lot of work in such areas as curriculum improvement of instructional programs," Whitmer said.

★ ★ ★

He said the long summer vacation for students is becoming more inappropriate each year.

SPECIAL DIETS

"During the summer we could teach students more as individuals, give them special diets of learning — especially reading," the superintendent said.

A dropout could be given a different type of schooling during the summer, and cultural programs could be established for less fortunate children, he added.

The teachers have made no commitment on this plan.

★ ★ ★

"They haven't talked about it enough," Whitmer said.

EARN MORE

But, he pointed out, that in addition to the benefits the community would reap by such a program, the teacher would be able to earn more money and thus satisfy one of the current basic desires of the profession.

Merit pay is, simply, paying superior teachers more money than average teachers. It is something which has been talked about a great deal by teachers.

Although all teachers feel this is a good idea, there is strong opposition to it within the profession.

★ ★ ★

"This has been discussed for 30 or more years," Whitmer said. "Teachers don't like it because they believe there is no way to judge the quality of a teacher."

INSTRUCTOR'S VALUE

Teachers contend the value of an instructor does not show up in the classroom.

The worth of a teacher can only be seen in his or her effect on the children and there are no instruments to measure this, teachers insist.

Whitmer said he is inclined to agree with teachers in many respects, but added that if teachers are ever going to attain the high salaries to which they aspire, there is going to have to be some means developed to reward the really competent teacher.

★ ★ ★

Many school districts have attempted to set up a merit pay system, Whitmer said. More of these systems have been discontinued than have continued, he added.

Where these systems were tried, the morale of the teachers went down, trouble occurred in the system.

"In order to institute a successful incentive system we need both a good technique for rating teachers, and the teachers must have the right attitude about the plan," the superintendent said.

Rating systems which have been attempted include rating by the principal or a committee of teachers or administrators.

In the eyes of the teacher, none of these have proven satisfactory.

RATING SYSTEM

While teachers reject the rating system, business and industry have found it successful for many years.

And teachers are reminded of this each time they compare their salaries with those paid by industry.

Both extended contracts and incentive pay provide a means for the teacher who is ambitious and above average to meet his aspirations for a high salary.

★ ★ ★

But both plans must have the wholehearted support of teachers if they can ever work in any school district.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Pension Payment Boost to Follow Wage Increase

Pontiac teachers will receive a sizable pay raise next year and this wage hike will create a proportional increase in their pensions when they retire.

Pension payments under the state-operated teacher pension program are determined by teacher salaries and years of experience.

Thus, the 1965-66 pay raise will cause annual increases of up to $450 in pension payments.

For example, a 30-year teacher with a bachelor's degree who retired under the current salary schedule would receive an annual pension of about $2,970.

★ ★ ★

If the same teacher retired while the 1965-66 salary schedule was in effect the annual pension payment would be about $3,330.

ANNUAL PAYMENTS

Annual retirement payments for teachers with 30 years of experience and a masters or doctors degree are:

- Masters under 1964-65 schedule — about $3,200.
- Masters under 1965-66 schedule — about $3,600.
- Doctorate under 1964-65 schedule — about $3,591.
- Doctorate under 1965-66 schedule — about $4,023.

Because of the manner in which the program is set up, the teachers will have to pay for about one-half of these pension payment increases.

Teachers pay toward their pensions using a formula based on a percentage of their salaries. When salaries go up, the amount they pay into the program also increases.

★ ★ ★

The funds teachers pay into the pension plan are matched by the state.

The school district does not participate in the program, but merely acts as an agent which makes deductions from the teacher's paycheck.

The school district is prohibited by law from offering teachers an addition pension program using funds other than those paid to teachers as salaries.

School districts can deduct more from the salaries, if the teachers desire, and invest this money in tax sheltered annuities or life insurance programs.

★ ★ ★

The pension program is mandatory.

All teachers in every school district in the state must participate. (The Detroit school district does not participate, since it has its own program similar to the state plan.)

NOT A FRINGE

Because it is a mandatory program, most teachers and school administrators do not feel the pension plan is a fringe benefit.

But Pontiac teachers will get a new fringe benefit beginning next year.

The school district will pay $100 toward health and hospitalization insurance for teachers.

★ ★ ★

Only teachers who carry a health or hospitalization policy will be eligible to receive the benefit.

★ ★ ★

When two teachers are members of the same family, such as a husband and wife, the school district will pay $200 toward the cost of a family program, provided this payment doesn't exceed the total cost of the premium.

Speed Limits Increased on 3 Troublesome Roads

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The City Commission last night increased the speed limit on three troublesome local roads.

The limit was boosted to 35 miles per hour on Vaughn, Lone Pine and Kensington.

Persons living on the roads, particularly Vaughn, have been complaining about traffic conditions for over a year.

Heated sessions last year were based on Vaughn residents' objections to the traffic increases since the road was paved in 1963.

★ ★ ★

Their suggestions for improvement of the situation ranged from increased enforcement to installation of rippled strips of concrete to slow down vehicles.

NEW PATROLMEN

Partially as a result of these sessions, the city hired three new patrolmen late last year.

At their organizational meeting last month, commissioners accepted the resignation of City Clerk Robert Stadler as director of public safety and appointed City Manager Elmer Kephart to the post.

Mayor Robert S. Frye then named Commissioner Manton M. Cummins as liaison commissioner for the police department.

★ ★ ★

Last night's resolution on the speed limits came before the commission in the form of a recommendation from Kephart.

INTO MOTION

Cummins put it into a motion which was supported by Commissioner James A. Beresford.

Commissioners E. R. Davies and Louis J. Colombo Jr. dissented and Frye broke the tie by casting his vote in favor of the speed limit boost.

There were no Vaughn Road residents in attendance.

★ ★ ★

The limit there was raised from 25 mph except in front of Vaughn Elementary School, where it will remain at the lower rate.

The Lone Pine limit was jumped from 30 mph and that on Kensington from 25 mph, although the latter has not been posted.

Kephart's recommendation, he said, was aimed at correcting "variations that seem somewhat inconsistent."

For instance, he noted that moving eastward the speed limit on Long Lake Road is 45 mph from Telegraph to Lahser, 35 to Epping Lane, 25 to Woodward, 35 to the easterly city limits and 45 in Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

"Traffic authorities agree that the normal speed limit traveled by responsible citizens is a good guide to limits that should be established, with the belief that a reasonable limit uniformally enforced will result in better reaction and cooperation from the public," Kephart said.

exclaimed as he intently watched the film while in the captain's cabin for dinner last night, lifting himself out of his chair.

"There she goes," he said when his glove floated out of the hatch.

He readily agreed when McDivitt said the pictures turned out well.

FLAG CLEARLY VISIBLE

McDivitt also said he was happy to see that the small American flag on White's shoulder patch was clearly visible.

McDivitt said the spectacular return to earth was the most memorable part of the flight for him.

"Watching the land go by, watching it come up closer, and watching the retro-adapter package fall away and burn up, the prettiest part of it all is reentry," Haney quoted McDivitt as saying.

★ ★ ★

White said his second greatest thrill came at the moment of liftoff. "He knew at that point they were on their way," Haney said.

SPECIAL CAMERA

The breathtaking films which the astronauts took during the space stroll were taken with a super wide-angle camera developed especially for that purpose.

The film shows White floating in eerie space like a stuffed doll, propelling himself hither and yon with squirts of his maneuvering gun, tugs of his golden tether, and even a gentle kick of the capsule.

It also shows a world of superb beauty — greens and browns and blues and whites — slipping perceptibly by in a splendid arc. What space officials believe to be the southern coast of California is clearly visible.

Astronaut White asked that films of his adventure be flown out to the Wasp so he and McDivitt could see them close up.

Haircut Prices Hiked 25 Cents

Pontiac area barbers last night voted to raise the price of haircuts 25 cents.

The action was taken as Local 50 of the State Barbers Association met for their annual meeting at the AmVets Hall at 570 Oakland.

The price change will affect haircut prices in Pontiac and the immediate adjacent area, including Keego Harbor, Clarkston, parts of Waterford and Pontiac Township.

In taking action to raise their prices, members of Local 50 pointed out that the 25-cent increase was instituted in the southern half of the county several months ago.

The increase is an across the board price hike and will affect all types of haircuts. It will go into effect Monday, June 14.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

In other business at the meeting Donald Sturdevant, 930 Tyone, was elected president of the local.

Other officers elected or re-elected were: Roy Hatcher, vice president; Arthur Blankenburg, secretary-treasurer; Glen Kaminsky, recording secretary; and Donald Hatcher, guard.

Diduch finally was captured when his attention was distracted by Robert Meuller, airport manager, who started a plane and taxied near the milk truck in which Diduch and French sat.

As the two men left the truck to go to the plane police charged them and said they tore the bomb from Diduch.

One officer said he saw Diduch try to explode his bomb at least three times before he was disarmed.

He said an investigation showed a 22-caliber bullet intended to detonate the bomb was missing.

Mississippi Republicans Elated by Municipal-Level Victories

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Jubilant Republican leaders looked confidently to the future today after GOP victories in mayor's races at Columbus and Hattiesburg — the first major municipal triumphs in Mississippi party history.

★ ★ ★

Former Democrats Paul E. Grady of Hattiesburg and R. D. Harmond of Columbus were the causes of the big Republican cheers.

Grady unseated Democratic Mayor Claude Pittman Jr., 2,438 votes to 1,836, while Harmond whipped Democratic Mayor William Propst 1,394 to 1,191 in Tuesday's municipal elections.

The GOP also won two aldermen posts at Drew, two at D'Lo and one at Magee, and one council seat at Columbus. A Republican also captured a nonpartisan aldermanic race at Hollandale.

Republican State Chairman Wirt Yerger Jr. called the triumphs "a history-making breakthrough — particularly significant because they were at the grass-roots level, the greatest source of any party's strength."

Only four years ago, he said, there was not a single Republican municipal candidate in Mississippi and "I am awed by the progress we have made. The victories will have a tremendous impact on the progress of our state. They have paved the way for many future victories."

The Republican surge in this Deep South state first came with widespread dissatisfaction over trends in the national Democratic party, particularly under President John F. Kennedy.

L. L. McAllister, a personally popular young Meridian businessman, won a special election for state representative in February 1963, to give the GOP morale a boost and its first legislative post.

Then anti-Democratic sentiment brought former Democratic Public Service Commissioner Rubel Phillips into the 1963 governor's race against Democratic nominee Paul Johnson. After a rough campaign, Johnson won 225,456 to 138,515.

Last fall, Barry Goldwater won the state for the Republicans for the first time since Gen. U.S. Grant and Reconstruction.

★ ★ ★

The Goldwater surge, which got him almost 90 per cent of the vote, also carried Republican Prentiss Walker to victory over veteran Democratic Congressman Arthur Winstead.

The GOP fielded 46 candidates Tuesday in 18 municipalities, including seven for mayor and the rest for councilman - alderman - commissioner posts.

★ ★ ★

In Columbus, Harmond, who has been on and off the City Council as a Democrat for 14 years, ran ahead of Propst most of the night. Incumbent Councilman Ed M. Keeton, who won his post in a special election two years ago, competed as a Republican this time. He defeated Democrat James Egger 1,349 to 1,234. Democrats won the other five council spots, with incumbent Stuart Covington defeating Republican R. B. Profitt 1,976 to 706 for the biggest margin.

★ ★ ★

Grady, 41, a lawyer, was the only Republican candidate in Hattiesburg. As a Democrat, he lost in a runoff four years ago to Claude F. Pittman Sr. When the elder Pittman died, his son was named to succeed him.

Officials Say New Use of U.S. Troops in Viet Is 'Logical Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officials said today a decision to commit U.S. Marine and Army troops to fight in support of South Vietnamese units, when requested, is a "logical extension of what we've been doing out there."

Over the past three months, operations of U.S. ground units have progressed gradually from a relatively static perimeter defense of the key base at Da Nang to aggressive patrolling variously called "combat kill" and "search and destroy" missions.

"In any good defense, you've got to move out and find the enemy — and that's what we're doing in Viet Nam," one veteran officer said.

Patrols of Marines and Army paratroopers have ranged farther afield in seeking contact with the Communists. So far the action has been on a relatively small scale.

The decision to commit U.S. fighting units as "fire brigades" to help the South Vietnamese raises the possibility that Marines and paratroopers may become involved in major action in battalion strength and perhaps larger.

Acknowledgement by the State Department Tuesday that American fighting units are available for what is called "combat support" is a further retreat from the original U.S. position that American troops are in South Viet Nam not to wage war but to advise the South Vietnamese on how to win their own fight for security.

★ ★ ★

The new development could present a potentially sticky problem in relations between U.S. and Vietnamese officers.

Pentagon officials told a reporter they did not know at this time whether, for example, the U.S. Marine battalion sent to reinforce South Vietnamese troops would be under the command of a South Vietnamese officer if that officer on the scene outranked the American battalion commander.

RULES NEEDED

The feeling was that ground rules would have to be nailed down before such operations take place, lest friction occur between the Americans and the South Vietnamese in the field.

There now are about 51,000 American servicemen in South Viet Nam. About 20,000 of these are Marines and Army paratroopers in combat units.

★ ★ ★

In addition, 4,000 Army troops in a brigade have been at least tentatively scheduled to land in South Viet Nam later this month to guard bases at Qui Nhon and Nha Trang on the South China Sea coast. Their assigned mission, according to informed sources, will be base security, counterinsurgency and combat operations.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a critic of U.S. policy in Viet Nam, predicted in a New York news conference Tuesday night that "within six months we will have 300,000 Americans in South Viet Nam." He said the new policy confirms "this is an American war now."

There are about 17,000 men's wear retailers in the nation.

Cereal an Ingredient in Waffles and Ice Cream Sandwich

How long has it been since you've had waffles? We mean real, honest-to-goodness, made-from-scratch, light and tender waffles? Well, bring out the waffle iron and heat it up, for you'll surely want to serve these waffles for a gala supper soon.

* * *

Folding in the egg whites at the last minute makes them fluffy and tender. Whole bran cereal with wheat germ donates a nut - like sweetness that pleases everyone's palate.

* * *

Serve Ice Creamwich Sundaes for dessert after the waffles. These ice cream sandwiches can be made ahead of time and frozen until ready to serve.

* * *

Oven toasted rice cereal is the main ingredient in the crust, enhanced by brown sugar, coconut and walnuts. An easy red cherry sauce goes over the top. Such a nice way to end a meal of tender, fluffy waffles.

* * *

Fluffy Bran Waffles

1½ cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs, separated
1½ cups milk
¾ cup whole bran cereal with wheat germ
¼ cup shortening, melted

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg yolks thoroughly; stir in milk and bran cereal. Let stand about 5 minutes. Add sifted dry ingredients, stirring only until combined. Stir in cooled melted shortening.

* * *

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Bake in preheated waffle iron about 8 minutes, or until no steam is visible. Serve hot with syrup, honey or jelly. Yield: 6 waffles, 8 inches in diameter.

Ice Creamwich Sundaes

1½ cup oven toasted rice cereal
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup flaked coconut
½ cup coarsely chopped walnut meats
1 quart brick vanilla ice cream
Red Cherry Topping

Lightly mix rice cereal, sugar, butter, coconut and nutmeats. Press half of mixture into buttered 8x8-inch pan. Cut ice cream into 1½-inch slices; arrange over cereal layer. Sprinkle remaining rice cereal mixture over ice cream; press down lightly.

* * *

Cover; freeze until firm. Cut into squares; Yield: 9 servings.

Red Cherry Topping

1 can (20-oz.) frozen cherries, defrosted
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup cherry juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Drain cherries, reserving juice. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; stir in cherry juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice, rind and cherries.

* * *

Cool; serve with Ice Creamwich Sundaes. Yield: 2 cups sauce.

Some Buying Support Evident

Prices Mixed on Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market got some buying support early today in moderately active trading, but prices were mixed. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were scattered through the list of key stocks. Industrials were up on balance.

★ ★ ★

Following Tuesday's decline, the steepest since the assassination of President Kennedy, the market gave a little ground at the opening but many losers cut or erased their losses as dealings continued.

A great many stocks showed n change. Among these were the top steelmakers, rubbers, mail order-retails, aerospace issues, leading electronics and the international oils.

PARED TO FRACTION

Kennedott pared a 1-point loss to a fraction. International Nickel gained 1. du Pont, up 1¾ on its first trade, backed away from this recovery.

Fractional gains were made by Liggett & Myers, American Smelting, Chrysler, Polaroid, U.S. Smelting, Xerox and New York Central.

★ ★ ★

IBM gained 2. Air reduction slipped more than a point.

The weakness of yesterday seemed to have spent itself for the time being but there was no strong indication of an updrive.

Little or no change was shown by such stocks as Ford, U.S. Steel, Jersey Standard, Sears, Roebuck, U.S. Rubber, Bethlehem, Texaco, Union Carbide and Consolidaed Edison.

American Telephone, off ⅛ at 68⅞ on 10,500 shares; Chrysler, up ⅝ at 47⅜ on 6,800; General Electric, off ⅝ at 98⅝ on 3,100; RCA, off ¼ at 33½ on 10,000; Erie-Lackawanna, off ⅛ at 7½ on 10,000; and General Motors, off ¼ at 99 on 6,200.

Tuesday, the Associated Press Average of 60 stocks fell 4.4 to 323.7.

Duty-Free Area Plan Attacked

Dow Calls It Key to Bay City Expansion

BAY CITY (AP)—Oil industry spokesmen raised objections Tuesday to a proposed free trade zone at Bay City, contending it was designed to benefit Dow Chemical Co., giving it duty-free access to foreign imports of naptha and other petroleum products.

Dow said such a step was crucial to its Bay City expansion plans and would prevent it being forced to build a petro-chemical plant in a foreign country near a cheaper oil source.

★ ★ ★

The oil spokesmen were Russell H. Veen, vice president of Humble Oil & Refining Co., and William I. Powell, assistant general counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

They appeared before a three-member panel from the Commerce Department's Foreign Trade Zone Board, which would pass upon the city's application for a free import-export zone.

SUBZONES

Both Venn and Powell said Dow proposed to set up subzones to the primary zone and to use Caribbean naptha as raw material for plastics production.

They said such an arrangement would allow Dow to use Caribbean petro-chemical feed stock outside present oil import quotas and would force other chemical firms to use trade zones to compete, thus increasing consumption of foreign oil to the detriment of domestic oil.

★ ★ ★

President H. D. Doan of Dow said his company's plan is "certainly in keeping with President Johnson's request to the American business community to hold the line on additional foreign capital investment programs until the balance of trade problem is in better order."

Gov. George Romney urged approval of the Bay City zone in an appearance earlier in the day, saying it would stimulate capital investment in existing regional industries, instead of in foreign countries.

Spending Speedup Seen

Expansions Expanding

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Business expansion plans are themselves expanding. And such spending is expected to hit its wastest pace in the final months of the year.

These record outlays can spread through many segments of the national economy, pepping up sales and production for many industries from metals to business services.

DAWSON

This is one of the most reassuring prospects in this period of uncertainty in the stock markets and of economic pulse-taking in many quarters.

SURVEY REPORT

Scaling upward of capital spending plans is reported by a survey of business intentions by the Commerce Department and the Securities & Exchange Commission. Outlays are expected to rise to $52 billion at an annual rate in the final months of 1965. This stimulant to the economy in the months just ahead will be welcomed by those who now are having a case of nerves.

★ ★ ★

A corollary statistic on the current situation is the Census Bureau's report that construction outlays are running 3 per cent ahead of the first five months of 1964. Actual expenditures so far this year have been $24.6 billion. Construction is only a part of business capital spending and it also takes in other private and government activity.

POINT TO INCREASE

Pointing to an increase in such construction spending in coming months is the awarding of contracts. This also has [illegible] nward and is well-ahead of year-ago figures.

Together the capital spending intentions and the actual construction testify to general confindence in industrial and commercial circles that the future will bring increased demands for their products and services.

★ ★ ★

Construction's widespreading influence is shown in its effects on the output of other industries. This ranges from about two-thirds of total demand for heating, plumbing and structural metal products and better than 50 per cent for stone and clay products, to about 5 per cent for glass and glass products and paper and allied products and about 7 per cent for petroleum refining and related industries.

CONSTRUCTION EFFECTS

In between are sizable percentages that construction outlays mean for the production of lumber and wood, mining and quarrying, electric lighting and wiring, iron and steel manufacturing, nonferrous metal products, paints and a 10 per cent gain for business services.

The latest survey of capital spending plans shows a larger percentage expected to go into actual expansion this year than recently, and comparatively less for modernization that dominated such spending in the last three or four years.

★ ★ ★

The government survey estimates the outlays for the year at $50.4 billion, up 12.3 per cent from 1964's record. Earlier in the year the government forecast was for a rise of 11.8 per cent.

The actual rate is expected to rise from the $49 billion of the first quarter to $49.6 billion in the current April-May-June period, to $50.8 billion in the third quarter and then to a whopping $52.1 billion rate before the year ends.

PLAN INCREASE

Significantly, manufacturers are planning to increase their spending by 17 per cent this year to $21.8 billion. The smallest gain would be in the electric utilities which expect to put out 7 per cent more.

Some economists had hoped for a greater business outlay in 1965. And businessmen still could change their minds — either way — and actually spend more than they now plan, or if they become frightened, a bit less.

Market Slide May Indicate Faith in Economy Sagging

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK — The stock market has taken a severe beating in the past four weeks.

Its slide has been almost steady with only a few interruptions.

★ ★ ★

Some brokers said the confidence of investors in the outlook for the economy appeared to have been weakened.

Tuesday the market, as measured by the popular averages, suffered its worst loss since the assassination of President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

HAS TUMBLED

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 13.10 points to 889.05. Since May 14, when it reached an all-time peak, this average has tumbled 50.57 points.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped 4.4 to 323.7.

Brokers said one favorable factor was that the slump came on moderate trading. Volume Tuesday was 4.67 million shares. The daily average for the year to date has been about 5.6 million shares.

★ ★ ★

In view of the sluggish trading, brokers said the situation appeared to be more of a case of unwillingness to buy than eagerness to sell.

Some said the slide had been accelerated by the statement last week by William McChesney Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who said he saw "disquieting similarities" between present business conditions and the boom that preceded the 1929 crash.

DISTURBING FACTORS

Brokers say disturbing factors include talk about tight money, a lot of secondary issues coming on the market and permission for U.S. troops to engage in combat in South Viet Nam.

"It seems as though buyers have become very wary, and sellers are not offering any avalanche of stock," a market analyst commented.

Steep as was Tuesday's decline, it did not compare with that on the day of the assassination, when the Dow Jones average fell 21.16.

And it was minor in comparison with "Black Monday" — May 28, 1962 — when the average dived 34.95.

Q) "About a year ago, I bought Continental Copper & Steel at 5¾ on a so-called 'tip.' It is now 8¾. Should I sell it? What other stock would you suggest in the $9 to $10 range? I also have Lehigh Valley Industries bought at 3 3-8. I would appreciate your advice on this, too." C. C.

A) I would sell the two speculative issues. Each is volatile as to price and erratic as to earnings. You have a small profit and I would accept this. Speculation has its place in the world of finance, but it is suitable mainly for shrewd professionals who rely not on tips, but on broad sources of information not available to the average investor. Most people writing to me in serious trouble have arrived there because they have attempted to gamble in low-priced issues.

In this high market, I can recommend no stocks selling for $10 or lower. I strongly advise you not to press your luck, but to buy a strong stock, such as Chesebrough-Pond's, selling around 27, and wait for capital gains through growth.

★ ★ ★

Q) "I own 200 shares of Pan American World Airways. About a year ago, I was allowed to buy $800 of Pan Am convertible subordinated debentures at $100 each. These are convertible into company's shares at $58.50 each. I do not understand 'convertible' or 'subordinated.' Could you explain?" H. M.

A) I am glad to tell you that you made an excellent purchase. The conversion figure was reduced to $29.25 a share when Pan Am split its stock in 1964. This means that you can turn in your $800 debentures and receive in exchange approximately 27 shares of common.

Since Pan Am shares are above the conversion price, your debentures are selling for $126 per hundred. "Subordinated" means simply that they rank in security below the superior debt of the company.

MAKE OVER PAGES

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The recent trade of Dennis Gaubatz by the Detroit Lions to the Baltimore Colts for Joe Don Looney has raised a lot of pro and con discussions in area sports circles.

Before these pros and cons simmer there may be more Lions' deals in the offing to make the conversations more interesting.

The next trade which appears almost certain will be to send veteran defensive back and punter Yale Lary to the Dallas Cowboys.

★ ★ ★

Lary was talking about quitting pro football, but there is a chance he could be lured into a couple more seasons — that is if he could play out his two years closer to home, at Dallas, where he has set up an enterprising auto dealership.

The Lions would be willing to part with him on this basis and the fact they do not have Dallas on their schedule this year, and the Cowboys are reported offering defensive end Maury Youmans, a five-year veteran who was obtained from the Bears and who was hurt all during the 1963 season.

He did play last year, standing 6-feet-6 and weighing 260 pounds.

★ ★ ★

Other possible trades include a deal to the LA Rams for Pat Studstill. The Rams gave up a good receiver in Carroll Dale in getting Dan Currie from the Packers and they've indicated past interest in the little receiver.

The Steeler's still want a tested quarterback and Buddy Parker's choice is Earl Morrall, whom he once thought incapable of pro ball when the deal for Bobby Layne was made.

Now what about that Gaubatz-Looney trade?

NO. 1 CHOICE

Well, the New York Giants drafted Looney No. 1 after he was bounced out of Oklahoma and they never gave it a second thought when they quickly "gave" him away to Baltimore.

At Baltimore Looney was a loner and the team play was just too evident to have it disrupted.

★ ★ ★

Now the Lions must feel they can convert Looney into being an earthling and to take a chance on his running and kicking talents which he evidently must have.

In our own minds, Gaubatz was too much to give for a sure risk. The former LSU ace was a tough "farmer" as he was called and the odds we give, is that he will hurt the Lions a lot more than Looney will hurt the Colts.

Ex-coach George Wilson once intimated that Gaubatz liked body contact so much he wouldn't hesitate to play both ways if permitted, offensive center and linebacker, where he was being groomed as Joe Schmidt's successor.

Schmidt's decision for two more playing years may have taken some of the enthusiasm out of Gaubatz because of his desire to play and this is why he may have indicated he wanted to be traded.

GOOD FOR COLTS

The deal is as good insurance for another Baltimore divisional title as Don Shula could have made. Age has hit the Colt linebackers and defensive ends where Bill Pellington is retiring along with Gino Machetti.

★ ★ ★

Getting ex-U. of D. ace Steve Stonebreaker last year from Minnesota was a big factor and he ultimately made all-pro. Pellington won't be missed with Gaubatz around.

The question arises — what about Nick Pietrosante and No. 1 draft choice Tom Nowatske?

Does it mean Nowatske will go to linebacker or Petro is on the market?

This is what makes speculation such fun. We have an unlimited number of free guesses and it makes for good conversation.

Five NHL Teams Trade 12 Players

AP Photofax

EX-GRIDDER DIES — Gene Britto, former Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins end, died of respiratory failure yesterday in Duarte, Calif. Brito, 39, had been under treatment for a paralysis the last four years.

MONTREAL (AP) — Three trades, the minor league draft and a pair of waiver transactions have shuffled 26 players and set the stage for today's National Hockey League draft session, highlight of the league's summer meetings.

The New York Rangers and Boston Bruins, also-rams in the six-team league last season, figured in multi-player deals with Montreal and Toronto, respectively. Tuesday and were expected to be active today — when players not on their clubs' protected lists were subject to the intra-league draft.

★ ★ ★

The last-place Bruins acquired forward Ron Stewart, a 13-year Toronto veteran, from the Maple Leafs in exchange for defenseman Pat Stapleton and forwards Orland Kurtenbach and Andy Hebenton.

The fifth-place Rangers sent center Earl Ingarfield, a New York regular for five season, plus three minor leaguers — forwards Dave McComb and Gordon Labossiere, defenseman Noel Price — and an undisclosed amount of cash to the Canadiens for goalie Cesare Maniago and forward Gary Peters, Montreal farmhands in 1964-65.

SECOND-LINERS

The Canadiens also sent Bryan Watson, 22, to Chicago for Don Johns, 27, in a swap of second-line defensemen.

Stewart, 33, has scored 186 NHL goals, 16 during the 64-65 campaign. Kurtenbach, 29, had six goals for Boston last season while Hebenton, 36, and Stapleton, 24, played for the Bruins' Western League farm at Portland.

Hebenton holds the National League record of 630 consecutive games — set in eight seasons at New York and one at Boston beginning in 1956.

Ingarfield, 30, had 15 goals for the Rangers last season for a career total of 90. Labossiere and Price spent the season at Baltimore in the American League and McComb was at St. Paul in the Central League.

Maniago, playing for Minneapolis, was the Central League's leading goaltender. He is 26. Peters, 22, was at the Canadiens' Omaha, Central League farm.

SIMMONS PICKED

New York, seeking to strengthen its goalie complement after Jacques Plante's retirement announcement Monday night, also picked up veteran Don Simmons, who had played goal previously for Boston and Toronto, in the minor league draft.

The Rangers selected three players — for $20,000 apiece — in the inter-league draft, which involved players on NHL reserve lists who played in the minors last season. Simmons, 34, was at Tulsa — Toronto's Central League affiliate. Forwards Larry Mickey, St. Louis, CPL, and Keith Wright, Cleveland, AHL, were the other New York selections.

★ ★ ★

Finally, the Rangers acquired Billy Knibbs, 23-year-old center who divided last season between Boston and Minneapolis, from the Bruins for the $30,000 waiver price.

In another waiver deal, the Detroit Red Wings obtained Don McKenney, former Boston, New York and Toronto forward, from the Maple Leafs' Rochester AHL farm.

The Red Wings also drafted three players — forwards Irv Spencer, Pat Hannigan, defenseman Dunc McCallum — from AHL clubs. Boston and Montreal made two selections apiece while Toronto and Chicago tabbed one player in the draft.

Atlanta Probable Site of Pro Grid War

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP) — The American Football League's decision to tap Atlanta for a 1966 franchise, combined with the late night ride of Pete Rozelle, has pushed the two professional leagues off the brink and over the precipice into a no-holds-barred expansion war.

While the AFL, in Oceanport, N.J., was awarding a franchise to Atlanta Tuesday, National League Commissioner Rozelle was in the Southern city, waving the NFL flag while stating, "Atlanta is a prime prospect for NFL expansion. We could expand with no trouble in 1966. We have discussed this."

★ ★ ★

Then, suddenly, the emphasis shifted to the Cox Broadcasting Co., which had been awarded the AFL's Atlanta franchise for $7.5 million—the largest price ever paid for a pro football team. The awarding of the franchise, however, rests with the broadcasting company getting a suitable playing field.

ONLY ONE

That threw the ball to the Atlanta Stadium Authority, which has a new $25 million stadium for the use of the incoming Milwaukee Braves and apparently only one pro football team.

The authority, which met with both the Cox group and Rozelle, said it would wait until July 1 before making any announcement but that the stadium would be rented "effective for the 1966 season, in either football league."

The key word appeared to be either — which seemed to include both.

TIME LIMIT

Back to the Cox group, which issued a statement saying that their offer "also contained a time limit which would expire well in advance of the July 1 deadline. Therefore, they have taken the entire matter up for reconsideration. We are studying this matter. There has been no withdrawal."

A lateral to Foss, who said the matter of the stadium was an issue to be resolved between the stadium authority and the Cox group. But the commissioner did admit that the AFL franchise had been awarded contingent upon the Cox group having a suitable stadium.

That, at present, they do not have.

The announcement of Atlanta's selection was not unexpected, but there was considerable surprise expressed at the AFL's inability to reach a decision on a 10th team for 1966.

Foss then listed Philadelphia, Miami, New Orleans, Chicago, Los Angeles and Anaheim, Calif., Detroit, Cleveland and Milwaukee as still in the running. He said the expansion committee would meet later this summer to reach a final decision.

Detroit OK's Ban on Prep Night Games

DETROIT (AP) — In a move against rowdiness at high school athletic events, the Detroit Board of Education voted unanimously Tuesday night to ban night games and to restrict attendance to pupils, faculty and officially identified parents.

The controls were recommended by Dr. Samuel Brownell, superintendent of schools, who said it was aimed to preserve high school competition.

★ ★ ★

Last March 9 nine youths were stabbed following a Northwestern - Highland Park basketball game at University of Detroit High School. All of those stabbed were white. Police said the victims told them Negroes stabbed them.

Other recommendations by Brownell which were adopted included:

Not more than one game will be scheduled within one police precinct in one day.

—The principal is in charge of all school events.

—Ticket sales will be limited to a predetermined number of spectators.

Despite the night-time ban, competition in state tournaments will continue.

After the March 9 stabbings, all Detroit preliminaries in the State High School Basketball Tournament were switched to daytime and spectators barred. Lansing and East Lansing finals went on at night without incident.
