MEMORY COMING BACK — Mrs. Joseph Schow hovers over her daughter, Maurine, 12, as they arrive in Los Angeles from Salt Lake City en route to their home in San Diego. Maurine has been unconscious much of the time since a brain injury suffered in a swimming pool last July 1. She recognized her mother for the first time two weeks ago. Doctors now hope for her complete recovery.

'Different in Australia,' Says Exchange Journalist

Hawker, in the Swim, Recalls White Yule

HOBART — It really is a topsy-turvy world.

And its upsidedownness has nothing to do with Russian Sputniks trailing their fiery streaks through the skies, America's "Fizznik" (as the United States satellite has been called) falling over at Cape Canaveral, or rampaging Indonesians demanding a share in New Guinea.

It is just that Christmas is different "Down Under" from the traditional white Yuletide of the Northern Hemisphere.

I had a letter from Pontiac this week telling of bleak weather and snowfalls. I read it sitting out on a beach in temperatures above the 80-degree mark, under blue sky, with yachts dotting the harbour waters offshore.

That essentially is the difference between the two hemispheres at Christmas.

We will make gluttons of ourselves on Christmas day on turkey, ham and trimmings, and heavy brandy-soaked plum pudding.

OFF TO BEACH

But we won't subside in armchairs afterwards. We'll be off to the beach to complete the digestive process.

Yachtsmen will have their Christmas dinners at home, then board their craft for holiday cruising. Others will set out on Boxing Day on the 800-mile Sydney-Hobart ocean yacht race across some of the world's most turbulent waters —the "Roaring Forties," which circle the world in southern latitudes.

Santa Claus will have made his annual visit by way of the chimney to every child. But even the gifts will be somewhat different from those received in North America. They will be more for use outdoors.

Christmas is the big holiday time for Australians. Commerce and industry slacken pace to allow

Speaker Tells College Plans to Supervisors

Oakland-Macomb Area Growth in Population Makes Facility Vital

By PETE LOCHBILER

Michigan State University's proposed branch college at Rochester may ultimately become an institution with 20,000 students or more.

So said Dr. D. B. Varner, university vice president, speaking before a joint meeting of Oakland and Macomb County Supervisors today.

"This branch college is a major undertaking and one of the most important educational advances in the entire nation today," Dr. Varner said.

Tremendous pupulation growth, especially in the Oakland-Macomb area, makes the branch college a vital part of the state's education development, he said.

Varner outlined plans for the new facility on the grounds of Meadow Brook Farms, donated by the Alfred G. Wilsons last spring.

He described the new school building to be erected with $2,000,000 also donated by the Wilsons.

Of contemporary design, the building will have two wings. One, a three-story classroom area with 39 rooms, and the other for laboratories, library, lecture hall, and administrative offices.

It is planned, Dr. Varner said, that the school will open in September, 1959, for from 500 to 1,000 students. It probably will be located in the northwest corner of the 1,400 acre estate, handy to the proposed new Oakland County expressway to the west.

INITIAL STUDY AREAS

The initial areas of study, he said, will emphasize engineering, teacher training, and business administration.

"I want to point out that this will be a full fledged four-year college and not just a junior college," Dr. Varner told the supervisors.

"We expect this college to grow and to grow rapidly so that eventually we will offer courses of study in other fields, and perhaps graduate school classes. I'm sorry to say though that we will not have facilities at first to provide adult non-matriculated education."

Dr. Varner cited statistics showing the tremendous growth in the number of potential students expected in this area over the next 12 years.

"By 1970 a conservative estimate is that there will be 103,000 potential students within a 15-mile radius of the school. We expect many of them will turn to this new school rather than go to some other institution elsewhere in the state."

Dr. Varner warned that the large state institutions eventually would reach a point where they could not absorb more students on the main campus.

Triumphant Lions Home, Confident for Next Test

Detroit's Lions returned home early today quite confident of victory next Sunday over the Cleveland Browns in the National Football League championship play-off.

Before leaving the Golden Gate, where they took the NFL's Western division title, 31-27, from the San Francisco 49ers, the Lions calmly predicted victory in their coming game with the Brown.

The Lions, returning by plane from San Francisco, wanted Tom (the Bomb) Tracy to be first off the plane for the cheers of a small crowd of hometown greeters.

But Tracy, a 210-pound reserve fullback who lives in Pontiac and played football at Birmingham who got off the bench and scored two touchdowns in Detroit's spectacular second-half comeback, would have none of it.

He hid in the rear of the plane and was one of the last to disembark at Willow Run airport.

Still, he got the cheers when he stepped down. His six-yard scoring plunge started the Lions on the way back in the third quarter. Less than two minutes later he raced 59 yards for the touchdown that put the Lions within shooting distance of the floundering 49ers.

The Lions literally got the red carpet treatment.

The airport unrolled the red carpet it reserves for distinguished visitors, complete with chromium posts bearing red velvet cords.

First off the plane was Gil Mains. Then came Jim Martin and Darris McCord.

McCord's wife, waiting in the crowd of about 100 in the gray light of the early morning, threw her arms around him.

"Honey, I'm happy now, but yesterday I thought I'd die," she said.

Finally Tracy, grinning sheepishly, appeared.

His teammates, still carrying with them some of the keyed-up atmosphere left over from their dramatic victory, shouted to him, "Tom The Bomb—our hero," as he walked through the big airline terminal.

Ike Preparing TV Talk Tonight

Meets Security Aides, Presumably to Discuss Report on NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower met with the National Security Council today, presumably to discuss the report he will give the nation tonight on the NATO meeting in Paris.

The President and Secretary of State Dulles will join in the half hour radio-television report.

The Eisenhower-Dulles broadcast will be carried "live" at 9:30 p.m. EST, by CBS-TV and all four major radio networks. ABC-TV will carry the program on film at 10:30 p.m., and NBC will show it at 11:30 p.m.

Dulles conferred privately with the President before the Security Council meeting.

Hagerty was asked whether there was any discussion of the Council meeting of the Gaither report. This report is understood to have pictured the United States as facing the gravest danger in its history as a result of Soviet gains in weapons and other fields.

The report, which has never been made public, was prepared by a special study commission headed by H. Rowan Gaither, San Francisco lawyer.

COULDN'T TELL

Hagerty said he didn't know whether the Security Council discussed the report. He added: "I do not discuss Security Council matters unless they tell me that I can."

He noted, too, that the session began only moments before he talked with newsmen.

Hagerty said he expects the President will leave for Gettysburg, Pa, where he has a farm, not long after Christmas—perhaps this weekend or earlier.

It will be a sort of work-vacation since Hagerty will be going along and he told newsmen: "I think we will have some work."

Hagerty also said he does not look for any further conferences between Eisenhower and congressional leaders before the new year.

Eisenhower's radio-TV report tonight will present his first public comment on the NTAO conference since his return from Paris.

Family Reunion in Sanatorium

Waterford Mother Faces Lonely Holiday

Five in Family Stricken

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

Christmas just doesn't seem the same this year for 28-year-old Mrs. Anne Holland of Waterford Township.

Her husband, William and all four of their small children have been confined to the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium for an indefinite period.

Last month, 18-month-old John became ill. After a series of examinations at Pontiac General Hospital, doctors discovered that the baby had tubercular meningitis.

Immediately, the entire family were checked, and it was found that the father, along with Janet, 8, Robert, 5, and Edward, 3, were all infected with tuberculosis.

Within 24 hours, Mrs. Holland's entire family were taken away to begin the long, slow road back to good health. "The bottom seems to have dropped right out of everything," she said.

Young Johnnie has become totally blind as a result of the disease. However, doctors at the sanitorium have hope that he will eventually regain his eyesight, Mrs. Holland said.

NO RELATIVES NEAR

Holland had been employed at the Oakland Chemical company in Pontiac, and the family has lived at 4219 Lotus Dr. in Waterford Township for more than five years.

With the exception of Holland's brother, Cecil, there are no relatives living in Michigan that Mrs. Holland can turn to for moral support. Her parents live in the southern part of Illinois.

Mrs. Holland is a receptionist in a Drayton Plains used car dealer's office.

All of the family have more or less become acclimated to the

Dudley to Face Federal Charge

Confessed Bank Robber Confused on Highways Runs Into Roadblock

Confessed bank robber Walter Dudley, 28, of Campton, Ky., was turned over to federal authorities today to face a charge of armed robbery of a federal bank.

Dudley has admitted the holdup of the Huron Street Branch of the Community National Bank Friday evening, in which he got $7,725.

Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said this morning that after consultation with George Woods, chief assistant U.S. attorney, it was decided to follow custom and allow the federal government to prosecute Dudley.

U.S. marshals took Dudley to Detroit to face arraignment there.

Ziem said that Dudley's capture occurred Friday night because of his poor knowledge of Michigan roads.

Dudley was fleeing in his 1948 DeSoto toward Lansing, but got confused on Cooley Lake road, circled around and wound up back on M59.

He drove right by the bank he had just held up before he realized what had happened, Dudley told Ziem.

He then turned south on Tele-

Stumped on Selection of Last-Minute Gifts?

By JANET ODELL

Last call for shoppers!

Get that athletically inclined girl a pair of lightweight quilted nylon mitts that are washable.

If he fancies himself a gay blade, he'll like a matching belt and tie set in plaid material.

Adolescents will enjoy a pajama bag to keep on their bed or even take along for overnights. Made of bright red felt in the shape of an apple with a face, the one we saw can be autographed.

Give your golfing friend a golf-ball marker. Give your hunting friends pocket hand warmers; football fans would use these, too.

Glamor helps savings. We saw an attractive ceramic bank in gold and white. We saw also a fancy ball-point pen with a rose attached to the top.

Table mats of reed, matching napkins and two ceramic figurines are packaged together for a nice gift.

Along the same line, look for unusual salt and pepper shakers; some are Italian made and look like a king and queen. Others are simple cone shapes of Swedish stainless steel.

If you're buying a typewriter, consider one that's bright red. Or match the decor of the room in which it is to be used.

Pot-O-Gold Fans Advised to Check Changes in Rules

You Pot-O-Gold fans still have today and tomorrow to get your answers in for last week's puzzle. You are allowed one mistake just to make it easier, but remember, this may be your last chance, because there will be no more puzzles after we find a winner.

And we want to remind you again that no puzzle will appear in this week's paper.

To avoid overlapping contests when we find a winner, we will publish new puzzles only every two weeks. The next new one will appear Monday, Wednesday and Friday of next week if no correct solutions are found among the current entries.

Results of this Pot-O-Gold will be announced on Friday as usual. In the meantime when no puzzles are running, you can take a little breather and gather strength for the next one if no winner is found.

Critchfield Offers Opinion on South Saginaw Lights

R. M. Critchfield, former general manager of Pontiac Motor Division, recently sent the following letter to Walter K. Willman, city manager, commenting on South Saginaw Street traffic. The letter:

"As you probably know, I still travel through the main Pontiac traffic arteries quite frequently. I was interested in noting in a recent edition of the Pontiac Press some reference to improved timing of lights on Saginaw street. If you don't mind my intruding in the matter, I have a couple of suggestions as follows:

Going south on Saginaw, a right turn is permitted at Warren and shortly south of there, a left turn is permitted with a special cycle of the traffic light to control this. This point is generally one of some congestion.

If a few parking places were eliminated just north of Warren on the west side of Saginaw, three lanes of traffic could be provided for—one lane, right turn; one lane, through; and one lane, left turn.

My other suggestion is in connection with a couple of lights on South Saginaw, one at Rayburn and one at another dead end street just north of Rayburn.

I never see any traffic coming out of these dead end streets and yet, these lights are always halting the main flow of traffic on Saginaw. The only result I can observe is the wearing out of brake, tire and clutch material and extra gas consumption for the car or truck owner.

I'll admit it is easy to sit on the side lines and make suggestions. Perhaps these have already been considered and there are good reasons for the conditions being as they are.

Luke Retraces Holy Couple's Route to Bethlehem

'No Room,' Barks Innkeeper

(The classic Biblical example of lack of charity is the innkeeper's refusal to make room for the travel-weary Mary and Joseph on what now is called Christmas Eve. Here is an account of how Luke might have obtained the background for this touching story.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The old, clay-brick inn stood just inside the east gate of Bethlehem. Luke, the physician and writer, threaded his way through the street traffic, tired and dust-grimed.

So this was the inn that had no room for Mary as her time grew near. A wind, carrying the first chill of winter, rippled Luke's cloak as he made his way toward it.

He had trudged many leagues in the last few months, assembling his chronicle of Christ. He had been over the nearly 100 miles that Mary and Joseph traveled to reach this ancestral city of David. He knew their travail.

But Luke, a painstaking researcher, had also gathered items in distant places, in the consulates of Antioch and Damascus, prying into official Roman annals and enactments to pinpoint the time of the nativity of his Lord.

"In those days," he would write later, "a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled. This was the first enrollment, when Quirinius was governor of Syria." None but Luke gives the date of the circumstances.

PROVED CORRECT

Historians for centuries disputed his report, claiming Quirinius was not Syria's governor until 6 A.D. But modern archeological findings show Quirinius previously had been military governor when Rome ordered its first massive census. The careful Luke was correct.

These enrollments, held at 14-year intervals by the empire following that first one, were not to collect taxes, but to compile lists for future levies. Jews, by custom, had to register at the original seat of their tribe or clan.

For Mary and Joseph, this had meant a hard, hazardous trip from Nazareth, with her in most fragile condition. All of it had happened 60 years before Luke pieced together the sequence, but he had verified each step of the way.

As suggested by Matthew and by Mary's own words, however tactfully phrased, Luke knew there had been some shock among people in Nazareth when she conceived.

Although she was not required by

City Manager Lauds Pipeline Report

Authority's Plan Heard Today

'Extremely Favorable,' Chairman Kelly Says of Study

City Manager Walter K. Willman today hailed the report of the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority on its proposed water pipeline from Lake Huron to this area.

Willman said in most ways the authority's proposal is preferable to Detroit's offer to sell water out here.

"As projected, the authority could sell water to us cheaper, and Pontiac would not have to spend as much money pumping to its customers," Willman said.

MAKE ADDITIONAL STUDY

He added that additional study from Pontiac's point of view would have to be made before any decision is made as to where the City would get a new source of water.

The City now has a copy of the report, he said.

Willman's comments came after authority chairman Howard K. Kelley outlined the report to a joint meeting of the Oakland and Macomb County Board of Supervisors this morning.

The report, costing the two counties $116,000, was prepared by the Bechtel Corp., a San Francisco firm, after five months study.

FINDINGS GOOD

Kelley said, "The report was extremely favorable, both from an economic and engineering point of view."

If Pontiac and other communities in the north Oakland and Macomb County areas sign up as customers, he said, the average wholesale charge to each community could be as low as $1.17 per thousand gallons.

If Flint and Genesee County communities join in, the average wholesale rate might drop to $1.05 per thousand gallons.

This is assuming that the authority's bonds are sold at a four per cent interest rate, Kelley said. If the interest rate is higher the cost of water would be correspondingly increased, he added.

COMMUNITY SETS RATE

Under the water authority's plan, each contracting community would set the retail rate for its own customers, Willman said that the latest offers from Detroit had the wholesale costs of water at $1.50 per thousand or higher.

"It is our belief that this pipeline would provide water at the lowest rate possible," Kelley said. He listed six other conclusions drawn in the report. They were:

(1) Tremendous growth in this area demands that a new source of water be provided as soon as possible.

(2) Lake Huron offers the handiest source of pure water.

(3) The projected rates included in the study were based on the demands of the densely populated areas in the two counties.

(4) However, the proposed water system could benefit the entire north Oakland and Macomb County areas.

(5) Although the project would initially be constructed to serve these areas, it could be easily enlarged to supply Flint and Genesee County.

(6) The authority should explore other areas where increased water supplies are needed.

In this connection, Kelley lashed out at criticisms that the authority was competing with Detroit for customers.

"We have at all times wanted to cooperate with Detroit rather than compete with it," he said. "But by cooperation we do not mean that we are willing to give up control of this project or to be subservient to any other system. We have offered to include Detroit in this project but they have refused to join."

Nevertheless, the project conceivably could furnish enough water that a standby service could be provided Detroit and its customers in southeastern Oakland County at reasonable rates "if they want it," Kelley concluded.

The authority's proposal calls for a 96-inch pipeline from an intake north of Port Huron to a pumping station near Auburn Heights from where water would be sent out to contracting communities.

Kelley said that Blythe & Co. and the First of Michigan Corp. have been retained as financial consultants to the authority.

Probers May Talk of McGovern Action

WASHINGTON (INS) — Labor leader Walter Reuther's charge of "improper and irresponsible activities" on the part of a Senate rackets committee investigator may come up today at a committee staff meeting.

Reuther, president of the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers, leveled the charge against special committee counsel John J. McGovern who has been investigating the UAW strike against the Kohler Co. in Sheboygan, Wis.

The potentially explosive issue may come up today when the committee meets with 35 staff investigators from all over the nation to plan next year's activities.

The Kohler case is expected to be the subject of the committee's first 1958 hearings in January or February. It involves alleged use of violence by Reuther's UAW workers in the four-year-old strike.

DETROIT (INS) — A former student at Detroit's Wayne State University was being held by police today in the theft of more than $2,000 worth of equipment from the campus newspaper office.

Police said Ronald I. MacDonald, 21, of Hamilton, Ont., admitted stealing cameras, typewriters, books and photographic gear from the office on Nov. 2. MacDonald at one time was a staff member of the paper, the Daily Collegian.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Does the moon affect the weather and the planting of crops?

Yes, the moon does affect the weather. It also affects the tides and high tide at the time of full moon is usually higher than usual. High tide at the spring equinox, and at the autumnal equinox, is even higher when the moon is full at the same time.

The moon's effect on our daily weather is not yet fully understood, or determined, though it is believed to exert an effect. As for its value in the planting of crops, many farm experts and countless veteran farmers hold it has a definite relation, and results over the years seem to prove the theory.

The explanation for this theory is not yet known.

Body of UAW Witness Found in Lake St. Clair

ST. CLAIR SHORES (AP)—Ralph Winstead, missing chief investigator of the United Auto Workers whose body was pulled from Lake St. Clair yesterday, died of accidental drowning, a coroner's report said last night.

Winstead, 64, was to be a key witness in a 4½-million-dollar suit now under way against the union, Detroit police and state police. He vanished from his home near the lake Dec. 15 to go "for a walk on the ice" and never returned. The following day he was scheduled to testify in the case.

His body was seen floating in the lake four blocks from his home by a passer-by.

Dr. Richard Olson, a Pontiac pathologist who performed the autopsy with Macomb County Coroner Raymond C. Markle, said there were no signs indicating death other than by drowning.

State police said they have no orders to investigate further.

Some UAW officials have voiced suspicions of foul play.

A police dragging team, which had been searching the lake for several days, brought Winstead's body to shore, where it was identified by a UAW official.

DEFENDANT IN SUIT

Winstead was one of the defendants in a malicious prosecution suit brought against the UAW and others by Carl Renda, one of four men arrested in 1954 in connection with the 1948 shotgun wounding of Walter P. Reuther, UAW president.

Winstead was scheduled to testify in the trial last Monday and was described by his attorney Walter M. Nelson as "one of the most important witnesses in the case."

Winstead's wife Zena said on the day he disappeared he had been to the UAW's Solidarity House to look at some records. She said he left again shortly after he returned, saying he was going for the walk.

He was last seen near the ice over a canal in the vicinity of his home.

Renda's suit arose over a so-called confession made by Donald Ritchie of Windsor, Ont., accusing Renda and three others in connection with the Reuther shooting.

Ritchie, who later fled back to Canada after collecting a $5,000 UAW reward offered by the union for information on the shooting, described his statement as a hoax.

The Renda suit is being heard in Wayne County Circuit Court by Judge Edward Kane. The judge said the trial will continue Jan. 6.

Bandit Takes $15,000 From Detroit Store

DETROIT (INS)—The manager of the Foodland Supermarket (at 8055 West Vernor) in Detroit was robbed of $15,000 today by a lone bandit who locked him in the store's cooler room before fleeing.

The manager, Jerry McMichaels, 23, was freed about five minutes later by an employe who heard him banging on the cooler door.

McMichaels said he saw the burglar after he opened the front door (at 7 a.m.) and switched off the burglar alarm. He said the bandit held his hand in his pocket as if he had a gun.

The money was taken from a safe McMichaels was forced to open.

Dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital at 3 a.m. was Gilbert Kirst, 35, of 2260 Cummings St., Berkley, the driver of one car. His wife Marion, 34, and son Eric, 4, were treated and released.

Another son, Jon, 9, is reported in fair condition with a broken arm and leg and concussion.

Joseph Nowak, 31, of 1704 E. Fourth St., Royal Oak, and his wife Mary, 32, both riding in the Kirst auto, are in fair condition with arm, leg, and head injuries. The driver of the other car, Phillip M. White, 23, of 968 Mallock St., Milford, is also in fair condition with face and head injuries.

Police said White, apparently failed to stop for a stop sign at the end of Northwestern and smashed into the Kirst auto which was going south on Orchard Lake Rd.

Bank Robber to Face Federal Charges

graph and hit the State Police roadblock at Maple, Birmingham.

"It was awfully close," Ziem said. "If he had got to Lansing he probably would have got away, because witnesses did not notice his Kentucky license plates.

Dudley confessed to state police detectives and FBI agents when confronted with the money and guns found under the back seat of his car Sunday afternoon.

Dudley told the officers that he had been thinking of a bank holdup since last summer and came to Pontiac for that purpose.

He arrived in Detroit Thursday from Kentucky and drove to the Pontiac area Friday morning to seek a bank to rob.

He said he looked over the Auburn Heights Branch of the Community National Bank as well as the Huron Street Branch.

Dudley said he was living in Pontiac in 1954 when the Auburn Heights Branch was robbed and that he recalled the bandit had been caught.

He decided the Huron Branch was a better location and watched the building for some time. He decided on the robbery Friday when he discovered the branch was open to 8 p.m.

Dudley said he waited until just before closing time because there were too many people in the bank during the afternoon.

"It was just bad luck, I got caught," he said.

Police have not discovered any previous record of arrest on Dudley, except for a minor incident when he was a juvenile.

Dudley is separated from his wife, whom he married in 1953 in Pontiac. Their two children have been adopted by other couples.

The Day in Birmingham

Commission Will Discuss Rubbish Contract Revision

BIRMINGHAM—No public hearings are scheduled for the City Commission meeting this evening. Commissioners will have a discussion with Donald C. Egbert, engineer-manager of the Southeastern Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority, concerning the revised contract between the city and authority.

Manager's reports will include the probability of county participation within the next two years in the widening of West Maple avenue between Westchester and Cranbrook roads.

City Manager L. R. Gare said request had been made to the County Road Commission. He estimated that it would be 1959 or '60 before the project could be completed.

Gare also will report on the disposition of several well sites no longer needed by the city, and ask Commission action on them.

The commissioners will receive the report prepared by the Citizen's Committee on assessment procedures.

Friends and neighbors will gather at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Charles Shain Park at Martin and Henrietta Sts. for the traditional community carol sing.

Originated more than 20 years ago, the annual program now is sponsored by the Birmingham Musicale, Mrs. Donald T. Stanton and Mrs. Delbert L. Pate are in charge of this year's program, assisted by members of the Junior Music Club.

Gary Johnson, Phil Satterthwaite, Sue Little, Don Ritter, Neil Hull and Spenser Perry are members of the Birmingham High School Instrumental Ensemble, directed by Arnold W. Berndt. Group singing will be led by William Spense.

Among the many churches planning Christmas Eve activities are Holy Name and St. Bede Catholic Churches where the traditional midnight Masses will be sung.

St. James Episcopal Church will have services at 7:30, 10:30 and 11 p.m. Christ Church Cranbrook will hold an open house at 4 p.m., baptismal service at 5 p.m., carol service at 7 p.m. and Communion service at 9 p.m.

Other churches scheduling Christmas Eve services are Embury Methodist, 7 p.m.; First Presbyterian, 9:30 p.m.; First Baptist, 8 p.m.; Redeemer Lutheran, 8 p.m.; Congregational, 7:30 p.m.; Ascension Lutheran, 7 p.m., and First Methodist, 8 p.m.

City to Act Tonight on Pay Raise Plan

The Pontiac City Commission will meet tonight at 8, instead of its usual Tuesday night session, which this week falls on Christmas Eve.

City Manager Walter K. Willman will offer for adoption a resolution formalizing pay increases and two other benefits for 710 city employes.

Several presentations are expected to be made to officials by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Acceptance of a deed for a lot on South Parke street, approval of city licenses, and the expansion of a liquor store will be the remaining items on the agenda.

Mrs. May Harris

Service was held today at the Hazemeyer Funeral Home, Yorkville, Ill., for Mrs. May Harris, 85, of 1569 Pierce St., who died Saturday at the Roselane Convalescent Home, Pontiac. Burial was in Yorkville Cemetery.

A resident of Birmingham since 1942, she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Richard. Her only other survivor is a son, Merrill of Yorkville.

Giving Up Hope for 28 Seamen

Scotch Vessel Narva Sinks in Raging Storm in North Sea

LONDON (INS) — Hope was virtually abandoned today for 28 British crewmen aboard the freighter Narva which sank yesterday in a raging North Sea storm.

British and Norwegian airmen criss-crossed the area between Scotland and Norway in a hunt for survivors of the Scottish freighter. The crew of a flying boat reportedly saw a rubber raft and a number of bales tossing on the stormy waters, but no sign of survivors.

The Christmas week tragedy caused mourning in Britain.

The 28 men who vanished with their 1,191-ton ship were taking a cargo of paper pulp from Sweden to Aberdeen, Scotland, when they answered a distress call from another small British freighter, the Boswell.

The Boswell, carrying a load of coal for Norway, sank but its 14-man crew was rescued.

The Norwegian passenger ship Leda got within sight of the stricken Narva at a point 120 miles southwest of Stavanger, Norway, but the ship disappeared before any rescue could be effected.

The Swedish oil and ore carrier Vasar patrolled the area for six hours early today without finding any sign of life. A yellow raft sighted by a search plane yesterday has not been seen since.

Five in Family Hit by Tuberculosis

quiet, restful life that has been suddenly forced upon them — with the exception of Robert.

CRIES FOR MOTHER

From the moment he entered the hospital, he has called for his mother almost regularly. No amount of special attention from the nurses and hospital personnel can satisfy his yearning for his mother.

Just when any members of the family will be released from the hospital is anybody's guess. Doctors say that in perhaps eight months or a year the older children might be cured, but there is no definite assurance regarding Holland's or the baby's release.

There is a slight possibility that Mrs. Holland may have her three older children home on a 12-hour pass, Christmas day, but doctors make no guarantees.

"I just don't let myself think too much about having them home," she said. "That way I won't be so disappointed if the house is empty on Christmas."

West Gets Quick Freeze; Rest of Nation Is Warm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was cold and wet in Western areas but fairly mild winter weather prevailed in most other sections of the country today.

The lowest temperature in the nation this morning was 17 degrees below zero. It was recorded at Big Piney in west-central Wyoming.

BRRR!

Other readings as much as -14 were charted in parts of the Wyoming-Colorado mountains as the cold air moved into the northern and central Rockies and the Great Basin area. Evanston, Wyo., had -9. This was in contrast to a reading of 38 degrees yesterday morning.

Some of the cold air dipped into Southern California and temperatures dropped into the 30s in some areas.

Blustery weather—rain and strong southwesterly winds—was reported along the north Pacific coast. Gusts of 58 m.p.h. whipped extreme northwestern Washington.

WARMER IN EAST

Strong southerly winds brought a warming trend over most of the Eastern half of the country. Temperatures were far above seasonal levels in the Great Lakes region and southward through the Ohio Valley, the mid-Mississippi Valley and throughout the Gulf Coast.

Skies were clear in most areas. Cloudy weather was reported in the Great Lakes region and Florida.

Balks 5 in Oklahoma Escape Try

Matron Foils Jail-Break

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Mrs. Agnes Mabes, smallish 51-year-old matron at the Oklahoma County Jail, balked five prisoners in their attempt to escape last night.

One of them slapped her down as she held the alarm telephone but her call had gone through. A hundred officers were on the scene in minutes and none of the five prisoners managed to get out of the courthouse building in downtown Oklahoma City.

"I wasn't scared too much," said Mrs. Mabes. "I thought about giving the alarm first."

Sheriff Bob Turner said George Jernigan, sentenced last week to 20 years in federal prison for bank robberies at Maude and Harrah, Okla., led the break. The others were being held for trial on various charges ranging from car theft to burglary.

The five overpowered a jailer on the eighth floor as he was changing them from one cell to another. Armed with an iron bar, they slipped down one flight to the booking cage and knocked out another jailer and a visitor he was talking to.

Mrs. Mabes saw it from an adjoining room and grabbed the telephone.

Don't Get Burned Up at Christmas

Tree May Bring Tragedy if Faulty Lights Cause Fire

CHICAGO—Don't get burned up at Christmas!

You can, easily, if you are careless with the yule log and the Christmas tree.

"The Christmas tree is one of the most combustible objects known," the National Safety Council said.

"Christmas trees, filled with natural pitch and resin, can burn so quickly it is almost impossible to extinguish the flames by ordinary methods.

"Trees should be taken down when the needles start to fall, even if the holidays are not over. And they should be disposed of out-of-doors, in fire-safe areas.

"Never attempt to burn an old Christmas tree in a fireplace, furnace or stove—they burn with almost explosive violence and the fire is most likely to get out of control."

SIX RULES TO AVOID FIRE

To help prevent Christmas tree fires, the Council offers six simple precautions:

Buy a fresh tree and keep it in a cold place until you are ready to put it up. Before setting up the tree, saw off, diagonally, at least an inch of the trunk. Place the base in a water-containing holder and keep the holder filled with water while the tree is up.

Locate the tree well away from fireplaces, radiators, television sets, powerful electric lights and other sources of heat.

Use only electric lights, and be sure they bear the Underwriter's Laboratories label. Check wires for defects and loose sockets before putting on tree.

Too many light circuits on one outlet may overload house wiring and blow a fuse. Reduce the load if this happens, or connect part to another circuit outlet. Never increase the size of the fuse, or substitute a penny for a blown fuse.

Be sure ends of metallic icicles or other decorations do not dangle into light sockets where they can cause a short circuit and flash fire.

Do not operate electric trains or other electrical toys, which may spark, under the tree.

Junior Editors Quiz on ANIMALS

QUESTION: Are bears the only animals that hibernate?

ANSWER: This bear is hanging a "Do Not Disturb" sign on his cave, and he means it. The first snow has fallen, and Bruin is ready for a long winter of sleep.

But he isn't the only animal who will curl up in a sheltered place for the winter. Others include skunks, squirrels, prairie dogs, chipmunks, gophers, woodchucks, badgers, bats, toads, frogs, a few butterflies and several insects. Badgers and woodchucks hibernate until spring, but the others become somewhat active on warm winter days.

These hibernators have prepared for their long rest by stuffing themselves with extra food that gives them a warm layer of fat. The bear will lose as much as a third of his weight before emerging from his cave in the spring.

Policeman Waits, Nabs Burglar Coming Out

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Policeman Loren Sutherland heard a burglar alarm. He went onto the roof of a department store and waited by a trapdoor. Berzana Lynch, 40, appeared — was charged with burglary.

Police chief Jack O'Keefe said Lynch had a $20 roll of half-dollars, a cigarette lighter and several wrist watches taken from a jewelry shop in the building.

Cards Get Special Mark at Noel Post Office

NOEL, Mo. (AP)—Volunteer workers at the Noel Post Office expect to stamp the Noel postmark on half a million pieces of mail this Christmas season.

Much of it is sent here in large batches by individuals and companies who want the special Noel touch on their greeting cards.

The American Red Cross was founded in 1881.

Flings Girl Out Window, but He Ends in Hospital

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (INS)—In a fit of anger, Hassan Khalek flung his girl friend out of his third-floor apartment window, but it was Hassan who wound up in the hospital with cuts and bruises.

The girl friend landed unharmed in a tree, ran back upstairs and flailed him with a club.

Inmate Cheats Way In

SALONIKA, Greece (INS)—After serving a five-year jail term for fraud, Nicholas Antoniadis, 58, used the clothing allowance given him by prison officials to buy an army colonel's uniform, clothed in which he defrauded a widow out of $500 and earned himself another seven and a half years in jail.

Despite Much Space Talk

Children Seem to Prefer Same Old Earthly Toys

SANTA CLAUS, Ariz. (AP)—Santa Claus is getting plenty of requests for spaceships and the like this year, but most youngsters seem to prefer the same old earthly favorites in toys.

Two of Santa's busiest helpers say the adult world's scientific influence has not swept the kiddies off their feet.

The helpers are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. (Doc) Bromaghim, operators of this tiny northwestern Arizona highway resort which annually receives thousands of letters to Saint Nick.

The letters started pouring in from all over the world after the couple appeared on a nationwide television show a few years ago and told how they answer letters for Santa.

The Bromaghims, who estimate they open 1,000 letters on a peak day, say interest in Sputniks and missiles is reflected in letters like the one from Carl Delahoussaye of New Iberia, La. Carl asked for "a football, a walkie-talkie and a mobile atomic cannon."

Even there the long-time standbys prevail as they also do in the case of Jimmy Doyle of Las Vegas, Nev., who asks for "a rocket launcher, a doctor's set, a cowboy suit and boots with spurs."

The Bromaghims, who write individual replies in preference to form letters, usually say that Santa is busy at the North Pole and has asked them to write for him. They advise the youngsters to help mom and dad and that Santa will be headed their way soon. As an extra fillip, they affix a special "Santa stamp" on the envelope.

"We don't charge anything for answering the letters," says Mrs. Bromaghim, explaining that the trouble of answering mail is more than offset by their love of youngsters and, of course, the goodwill advertising for their resort.

Nine-year-old Lorena Rogers of Gold Hill, Ore., wrote Santa: "I understand there are lots of little boys and girls besides me, Santa. I am asking you to send me something, just anything, Santa."

Kathy Barker, 6, of Kingsport, Tenn., who confided to Santa that she loves her first grade teacher, asked for a doll, a "sleepy time cat," an electric stove, a golden harp and a pinball machine.

The Bromaghims say they never send "Santa Claus replies" to their own grandchildren.

"They might recognize my special 'Santa stamp,'" explains Mrs. Bromaghim, "and get disillusioned."

Ben-Gurion Upbraids Ministers for Leak

JERUSALEM (AP)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion rapped the knuckles of two left ministers in a heated four-hour cabinet session yesterday. But he reportedly averted an open break by allowing them to keep their jobs.

The dispute flared after the leftist Achduth Avodah (Labor party) daily newspaper Lamerhav reported that the Cabinet had decided to send two high Israeli officials to West Germany.

Ben-Gurion's Mapai party charged that the two Labor party Cabinet members had passed the information on to the paper and rendered the mission useless.

Demands that the two leftists get out of the five-party coalition Cabinet apparently were headed off. Ben-Gurion for a time was reported considering trying to form a new cabinet without the leftists.

2 Policemen Beaten at Scene of Accident

DETROIT (INS) — Several persons were to be questioned today in the beating of two Detroit policemen while they investigated a traffic accident.

Patrolmen Edward Monohan, 38, and Charles Bradley, 24, said they stopped yesterday when they noticed the accident (at Frederick and Chene) had attracted a large crowd.

Monohan and Bradley said they tried to disperse the gathering but several spectators became abusive and a scuffle developed.

Monohan sustained chest and ankle injuries.

And Bradley suffered an injured right hand. They managed to get back to their car and radio for help, then arrested several members of the crowd.

Monohan later was taken to Receiving Hospital.

Offensive to Immigrants?

Edits Out Line of Poem

NEW YORK (AP)—A port official here has edited out a line from a classic poem on a sign that welcomes aliens to Idlewild Airport.

Austin Tobin, executive director of the New York Port Authority, thought a reference to "wretched refuse," classic or not, might be offensive to immigrants.

The poem is "The New Colossus," by Emma Lazarus, the last five lines of which also are inscribed on the base of the Statue of Liberty and are known to countless thousands of school children across the land.

In the Lazarus and Statue of Liberty version, they read:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
"Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
"The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
"Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
"I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"

But out came the third line in the version inscribed at the airport's new building.

"That line had meaning during the mass migrations of the 19th century," Tobin said, "but it has no meaning now. It might be offensive to the fine people of Europe — they might not regard themselves as the 'wretched refuse'."

Tobin said it was his idea to post the inscription in the first place because he loved the poem and knew it by memory. But he said he believed that even Emma Lazarus might have eliminated the line if she were writing the poem today.

"My ancestors," said Tobin, "were 'wretched refuse' — they came over here after the potato famine."

$100,000 Fire Destroys Flint Restaurant, Club

FLINT (INS) — A three-alarm fire destroyed a restaurant and club in downtown Flint today. No one was injured.

Damage from the fire which destroyed Schach's Restaurant and the Town Club on the second floor of the two-story brick building was estimated at more than $100,000.

Fire Chief Calvin Johnson said the blaze started in the basement of the building.

Newspaper Boys Wish You Merry Christmas

Some nine hundred odd newsboys throughout the City and County take this opportunity to wish their thousands of customers a joyful holiday season.

Actually, they are delivering papers daily to over 59,000 residents in this area. For many this is the start of a business career. Others earn the necessary money to apply toward their college education.

For the carriers the contact with you has been a pleasant experience. They have appreciated your many kind words, and in some cases, your indulgence when they have been delayed in delivering your paper.

You are their customers, but more than that you are their friends. They all sincerely hope to serve you during the coming new year.

From all the Pontiac PRESS newspaper boys, MERRY CHRISTMAS and A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

U.S. Should Learn From Mitchell Case

Another honor falls to the late BILLY MITCHELL, who died too early to see his air warfare prophecies come true. It's an odd coincidence that it should happen during our current furor over space weapons.

Recently a large bronze figure of MITCHELL went on display at the Smithsonian Institute. Present at the unveiling was MITCHELL'S son, WILLIAM. MITCHELL was court martialed in 1925 and suspended from rank and command.

Mitchell's contention at the time was that we were old fashioned in our military thinking. He stressed air power and argued that our sights should be pointed in that direction.

Today, more than ever before, all the United States must face up to the fact that Col. MITCHELL was right. His far sightedness was scoffed at and he was publicly made the goat.

In our present transition to space weapons we must all bear in mind that some mighty fantastic ideas will be advanced. They should not be treated lightly. Instead they should be given intensive consideration.

The fact that we second guessed in the Billy Mitchell case and were wrong is reason enough to be extremely broad-minded in the future.

Science is here to stay. Let's advance with it.

1958 Senate Elections Pose Problem for GOP

The Republican party is going into the 1958 campaign with the difficult problem of replacing five Senators who have resigned.

Sen. H. ALEXANDER SMITH of New Jersey, who will be 78 before his present term ends, will not run for re-election for reasons of age. The same is true of Sen. EDWARD MARTIN of Pennsylvania. Sen. FREDERICK G. PAYNE of Maine has announced his decision to retire. He perhaps would have had to run against popular Governor MUSKIE. Sen. KNOWLAND of California is campaigning for the nomination for Governor.

Sen. JENNER of Indiana also is said to have ambition to be Governor of that state; Sen. WILLIAMS of Delaware reportedly is disappointed because he hasn't been able to do more in the Senate. There is a possibility that he may change his mind.

At present the Senate consists of 50 Democrats and 46 Republicans. Next year 20 Republican seats will be contested compared with 12 Democratic. Republicans will have to hold these 20 seats and win three from the Democrats to gain Senate control. Seven of the seats are in the South with little if any prospect of change.

Others are held by Sens. PASTORE of Rhode Island, KENNEDY of Massachusetts, MANSFIELD of Montana and JACKSON of Washington, all of whom are likely to be reelected. Sen. PROXMIRE of Wisconsin, elected to finish the term of the late Sen. MCCARTHY, must now run for a full term.

Republicans face a hard task in trying to capture control of the Senate in an off year election. Be that as it may, liberal Democratic Senators in the past have given as much support to the Administration as anti-EISENHOWER Republicans.

Christmas Spirit

Items About Preparations for Big Event of the Year

Late: What some Christmas shoppers always are.

Never read a more beautiful tribute than that written about

of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, and sent to me with her Christmas card, by his mother, who, although in her eighty-sixth year, conducts her own business at Holly.

Mrs. C. B. Hirlinger

Although it generally looks like the annual over supply of them,

Johnson Philbrick

of West Branch, seen by me at a Dixie Highway filling station, says he has hauled 30 truck loads of Christmas trees to Detroit, and they're asking for more, even at this late date.

This is the last call for you to send that Christmas card to 108-year-old

Mrs. Eliza Beaumont Taylor,

Oakland County's (and possibly Michigan's) oldest resident. Last year my campaign brought her over 300 cards and letters. Let's push it past 500 this time. Her mailing address is Highland post-office.

"They tell me that the date for Christmas cannot be changed," writes eight-year-old

of Rochester, who continues, "So I'm asking Dad and Mom to change my birthday, on both their birthday and on Christmas which is Dec. 25. Other kids get presents —but poor me."

As usual, quite outstanding among Christmas cards are those from which this time shows the family of 10 in colors, and that from

Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Philip A. Hart

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beattie

which is a folder of his original poems, with a picture of the family on its cover.

Evidently still trying to make up his mind on making a third try, the annual Christmas card from hasn't arrived yet.

Verbal Orchids—

Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Bickford of 115 Raeburn St.; fifty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Dr. William A. Sears

Wilson Harger

of Orchard Lake; eighty-sixth birthday.

Mrs. Fidelia Kessell

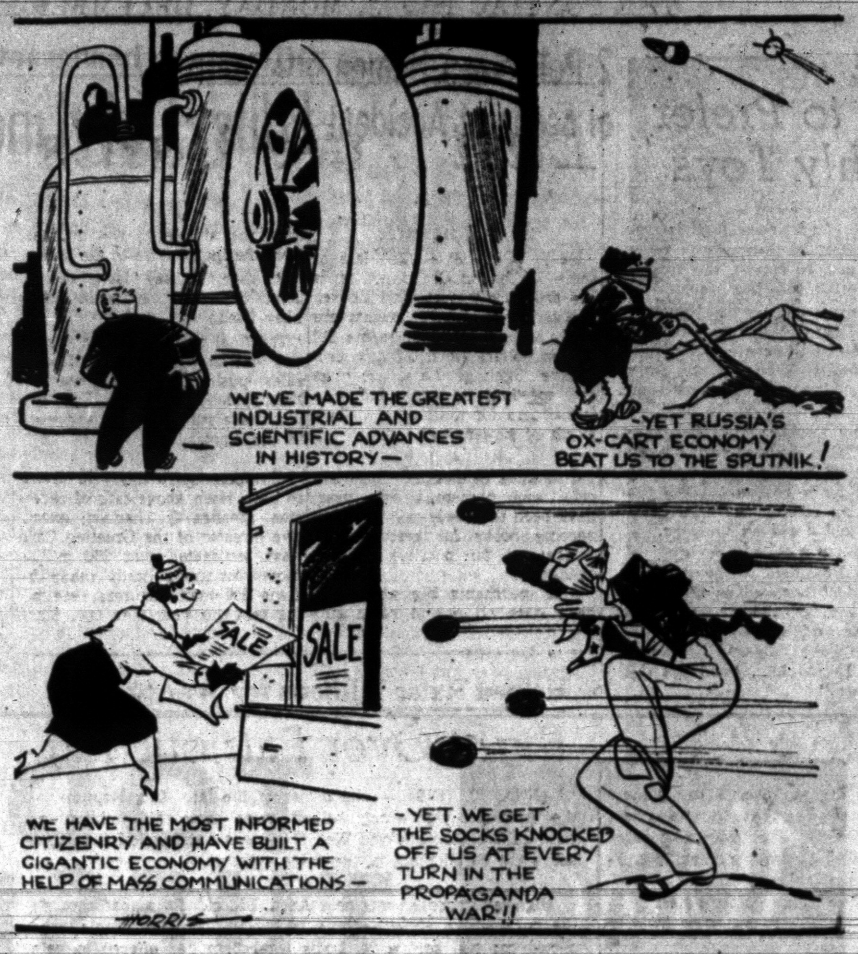

of Oxford; ninety-first birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Byrns

of Brighton; sixtieth wedding anniversary.

John Wulff

of Oxford; eighty-second birthday.

Something's Wrong!

David Lawrence Says:

Summit Parley Idea Biggest Hoax

WASHINGTON — The biggest hoax in history is the "summit conference" idea sponsored in a worldwide propaganda by the Communist regime in Moscow.

LAWRENCE

Many gullible persons are being taken in by it—persons who do not know that any time the Soviet government wants to say anything confidentially or otherwise to any other government all it has to do is to call in an ambassador and he will quickly transmit the message to his own government.

Not only does the United States government maintain in Moscow an ambassador with a large staff of experienced aides and translators but the Soviet government maintains in Washington an ambassador also with a large staff. Diplomacy has certain rules—if either government wants to keep the conversation on a secret basis it is respected by both parties.

Furthermore, every other government of the free world also has an ambassador at Washington and the Soviet Union has an ambassador in each of the free countries.

There is, therefore, no lack of a means of communication by written message or personal contact.

NEED TO TALK?

But it is argued that a meeting "at the summit" is desirable because heads of state can "talk things over." Presidents and prime ministers, however, must have at their elbows their foreign secretaries and experts who know more than the chiefs of government do about the tricks of negotiation.

So the result is not an intimate consultation after all. The President of the United States, moreover, cannot in a conference with the head of a foreign government make an important commitment unless it has been carefully worked out in advance by the secretary of state and his advisers.

What's more, no president can make a commitment for any new policy abroad unless, on the main principles at least, he has consulted with the leaders of both parties in Congress. Only dictators can ignore their parliaments.

AMBASSADORS DO TALKING

All this is well known in Moscow. When the Soviet government really wants to talk things over, its own ambassador at Washington is instructed to see the secretary of state in person which he can do almost at any time on short notice.

Just a few weeks ago Foreign Secretary Gromyko, who was in this country for the United Nations meetings, came to Washington and spent several hours with Secretary Dulles at his home. For all practical purposes that was a kind of "summit conference."

It covered a good deal of ground. Nothing that was said by either official was subsequently made public. If the Soviet government wanted to reach some kind of agreement, this was the opportunity. If it still has something it wishes to sponsor and negotiate it can always send its foreign minister to continue the conversations with Secretary Dulles.

The Soviet ambassador, moreover, can have a personal conference with the President if he desires it.

What is more, the free nations are today willing to have a conference of foreign ministers. Indeed, at Paris last week they voted for that very proposal. But the Moscow government promptly rejected it and called for a United Nations special conference on disarmament to be attended by the representatives of 38 nations—as if anything can be done in such a mass meeting.

A conference of the major nations on disarmament was held in London earlier this year to negotiate privately but got nowhere because of the stubbornness of the Soviets.

WHY PRESS SUMMIT?

Then why do the Communists keep on proposing a "summit conference"? It is one of their trump cards. They keep saying over and over again on the radio and in the press that it is the Soviet government that wants peace and the West wants war. They think the world—especially the "neutralist" countries—will come eventually to believe these accusations.

What can be done about it? The free governments can't let the issue rest with mere refusal to talk. Adlai Stevenson says "affirmative" attitudes must be taken toward the Bulganin letters, for instance.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Many Find Health Better After Giving Pint of Blood

Transfusion of blood after an operation is a life saving device in everyday use in hospitals everywhere. It is often used not only to save life but to speed the recovery of the patient, to hasten the healing process or, as a surgeon tells me "to forestall possible infections that come more easily in the depleted state."

DR. BRADY

Because of the increasing use of transfusion, the blood banks of many hospitals are hard put at times to keep the necessary supply of blood on hand for emergency use.

Any healthy adult can donate a pint of blood at intervals of not less than six weeks, or half a pint at more frequent times, throughout the year, not only without any loss of health or vigor but, as numerous donors have declared, with actual benefit to health.

In view of the great need for transfusion and the importance of having a supply of blood available for emergencies, is it too much to ask of healthy adults, particularly young men, that they share their health with less fortunate ones?

The way to do this is simply to report at reasonable intervals to the blood-collecting station of the Red Cross or the blood bank in the nearest hospital to give your bit.

GET GANG INTERESTED

Better yet, when you first visit the blood bank, ask about bringing your whole class, group, society, club or gang along to make a worthwhile contribution.

One woman has donated a gallon of blood in a year. Her two daughters (college students) have donated 4 and 6 pints respectively and they are determined to surpass mother's performance in the next year.

There's something about people who make such contributions of blood, something that commands respect and admiration.

It is charactor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"Had my second baby at home, refused anesthetic, had the joy of having my husband with me and watching the birth of our baby together and hearing the baby's first cry . . . but now can't find a doctor within 75 miles who will attend childbirth at home . . . (Mrs. H. F. L.)"

Answer—I'm sorry I have no directory service. The best I can do is to offer the booklet Preparing for Maternity. Send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

"No man has a vocabulary that will express brotherly love —it takes performances."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

This Simple Gift Outshines Others

Jimmy's dad means well, but he forgets that his own golf score doesn't help Jimmy gain prestige as a grade school athlete. Dads, wake up, for your golden opportunity to be a real pal is usually gone after your children reach the Boy Scout age. And costly gifts don't make up for your absence.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case W - 379: Jimmy B., aged 9, is a shy little fellow with a high I. Q.

"Dr. Crane," his daddy asked me, "what would be the best type of present for me to give Jimmy?

DR. CRANE

"I was a college athlete and am still greatly interested in sports. I shoot a game of golf in the low 80's.

"But my wife says Jimmy does not excel in any games though she thinks he idolizes me and wants to walk in my footsteps.

"So should I get him a baseball glove or boxing gloves or what?"

DADS, TAKE NOTE:

Four fathers were returning home one night just before Christmas. They all worked in our Chicago Loop but lived in northern suburbs.

They were accustomed to sitting together on the same commuter train. And on this particular evening, they began to boast about what they were giving their sons for Christmas.

One bragged that he had a fancy pair of ice skates for his boy. The second gloated over the fact he had purchased a bicycle.

The third man outbid the first two by stating that he had a Shetland pony hidden in a neighbor's garage, all ready to spring on his 10 - year - old boy early Christmas morning.

At this point the three dads turned to the fourth member of the quartet, who had said nothing.

Expectantly, the three waited for him to do his share of boasting, but when he remained silent, they finally asked him point blank:

"Well, what are you giving Fred for Christmas?"

He reached his hand into his inside coat pocket and brought out an envelope.

"Go on. Look inside," he urged the other three.

Mystified, they took out a formal looking page on which was written, like a promissory note, the following pledge:

"Dear Fred: I promise to give you one full day of my time every month to do with as you wish.

"You can decide whether we are to picnic or attend a ball game, play catch or hunt and fish. Just say the word. That day is yours. (Signed) Dad."

THE BEST GIFT

Well, the first three dads looked at each, somewhat conscience-stricken.

For they knew that Fred's father had offered his son the best gift of all.

They realized that children crave companionship with their fathers, yet get all too little of it in this hectic urban way of living.

So they vividly appreciated the fact that ice skates and bicycles and even a Shetland pony could not compare with the camaraderie a child would enjoy for one full day per month with his father.

So they settled back into silent meditation the rest of their train ride together.

And this true story can be of help to most fathers whose children are not yet well launched into the teens.

For a dad has his best chance to play with and steer the thinking of his children especially before they reach the Scout age of 12.

If he doesn't win the confidence of his youngsters then, he may be generous with money and finance their college education, but there will be a chasm between them all their lives.

So play with your children NOW. Sandwich a few minutes of your time with them TODAY!

Teach them how to catch a ball; swim, ride a bike, etc. And be liberal with compliments, for most dads get irritated and bawl out their eager kids despite the fact the latter are struggling to win dad's praise!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'It Would Be a Great Pity to Lose That Part of Yule'

Is it just my imagination, or hasn't there been as much Christmas music on radio and television this year? It seems I must hunt to find any carols being sung, and always before they were on every channel and radio station. It will be a great pity if we lose that part of Christmas.

'Who Says He's Liked Only Here!'

I see Governor Williams was named the head of a group of governors that met in New York State. Some people try to say he doesn't stand well nationally, even though he's a champ at home. Apparently he is doing pretty good.

Portraits

By JAMES J. METCALFE

What Christmas present would you like . . . If I may ask your choice? . . . Or would you be contented just . . . To hear my pleading voice? . . . Of course, I say this just in fun . . . Except I am sincere . . . In trying to remind you that . . . I truly love you, dear . . . Of course, I mean to offer you . . . A Christmas gift worth while . . . Beyond the flavor of a kiss . . . Or sweetness of a smile . . . Indeed I will buy everything . . . For you, and you alone . . . As much as I have any cash . . . That I can call my own . . . I long to give you everything . . . For which your heart may yearn . . . I only ask, my darling, that . . . You love me in return.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Look not upon me, because I am black, because the sun hath looked upon me: my mother's children were angry with me; they made me the keper of the vineyards; but mine own vineyard have I not kept. — Song of Solomon 1:6.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

DISTRIBUTED BY INS

We would like to state that bipartisan politics flourisheth during Christmas week in Washington. But the lines are still drawn tighter than fiddle strings.

The Palazzo Guardia pulled a plausible gimmick asking Adlai Stevenson to become the twelfth man in the huddle.

But here it is two nights from Christmas and Adlai has no more say than an embryo in an egg.

Adlai has been given sealed orders for a cruise in the hoss-laugh latitudes.

The sway of his opinion is limited to the parabola of a nod.

He has been given a free hand only for applause.

Fact is the Palazzo Guardia's invitation to Adlai was a neat bit of footwork on a stationary pivot.

The escalator wheezed and beep-beeped but nobody went upstairs. Merry Christmas to one and several.

READY FOR DELIVERY — The Pontiac Naval Reserve Center, 469 S. East Blvd., has put the finishing touches on its yearly bundle of repaired toys for needy children in the Pontiac area. Shown here, Chief Electrician's Mate Burnell Bandfield tests a bike while Radarman 2.C Howard V. Fitzgerald looks over a toy plane. Men at the Center have been rebuilding and repairing toys since October. The toys, previously damaged, were donated by local merchants and residents. They are now being distributed to approximately 85 families by the center's staff.

2.5 Billion Dropped Into Mails

Last Yule Cards Sent Out

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The last of some 2½ billion Christmas cards are dropping into the mail boxes today. Thousands of kilowatts are ready to course through some 110 million dollars worth of new decorative lighting. Late greetings are speeding by wire and also late orders for millions of dollars worth of flowers and candy.

Christmas catalogues, more colorful and numerous this year, have been thumbed—and soon will become books for reference on prices and for possible gift exchanges.

And merchants big and small have gone all out to offer gifts from the simple to the unusual, from the inexpensive to the lavish.

If your holiday isn't merry, don't blame it on businessmen They tried.

The final tally today and tomorrow will show if total retail store sales push above last season's record dollar volume. The two years are running neck and neck in the stretch.

Christmas spirit this year seems to have risen above talk of recession. Stephen Q. Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Card Assn. estimated that 200 million more Christmas cards made by some 300 manufacturers, are being sent this year than last. Since sales are averaging around 11 cents a card, total retail dollar volume will come to 260 million dollars compared with 245 million dollars in 1956. An extra 70 million dollars will be spent in mailing them.

Makers of decorative lighting say sales are 10 per cent ahead this year and should come to 110 million dollars.

A 12 per cent increase in ordering flowers by wire is estimated by John Bodette, general manager of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Assn.

He says total dollar volume for the holiday season—starting with Thanksgiving and running through New Years — should reach 5½ million dollars.

Many retail stores and mail order houses increased their catalogues this season, both in size and circulation. Sears, Roebuck mailed 7½ million of its 418 page Christmas books at a cost of 5½ million dollars. F. W. Woolworth sent out 4¼ millions, and Allied Stores three million, or 600 thousand more than last year.

Helped Raise Millions for War Bonds

Fight Over Patriotic Pig

ANNA, Ill. (INS) — The owner of the late King Neptune — the patriotic pig which helped raise some $19 million at bond rallies during World War II — was fighting today to preserve the burial place of the noble creature.

Highway improvements near Anna, Ill., call for a road through the park where King Neptune is buried, but Don Lingle, who owned the pig, said a St. Louis legal firm has offered to help prevent this. Lingle added:

"I hate to stand in the way of highway progress, but this is sort of a sacred spot to me and one you hate to see plowed under by a bulldozer."

King Neptune was real royalty in the "pig kingdom." The secretary of state of the United States and a governor once stood in the pen with him. The pig died in 1950.

Security for You

Payments Based on Average Salaries

By RAY HENRY

From A. Y. of New Orleans: "My husband was born in September, 1897, and has paid Social Security tax on the maximum wages since 1937. It's possible that he may have to take a cut in wages during the next five or six years and that he'll not be paying the maximum Social Security tax. Will this make any difference as to the size of his Social Security payments when he reaches 65?"

his wages during the five or six years. The reason is that Social Security payments are largely based on a person's average monthly wages while he has been under Social Security. So, if the average wages are reduced during a part of a person's working years, his payments are usually reduced.

From Mrs. R. C. of Rocheport, Mo.: "If a man and wife have no other income except Social Security and the wife has to have an operation, will Social Security pay any of this bill?"

Social Security doesn't provide for the payment of medical expenses.

From Mrs. M. L. of Kalamazoo, Mich.: "I received my first Social Security check in November, 1956. My checks have been $63.60 a month. I believe I should be collecting more. How can I find out?"

I'm sure that the local Social Security office will be glad to show you how your payments are figured. And, if it finds a mistake has been made, I'm sure it will be glad to make a correction.

From W. S. of St. Petersburg, Fla.: "I plan to quit working in April and start my Social Security. My company figures that I'll be entitled to $42.50 a month from its pension. Will this pension have any affect on my Social Security?"

No.

From E. T. T. of Clinton, Iowa: "Is it possible to get any written instructions that will help me in preparing Social Security tax returns for my farm workers?"

Yes, your local Internal Revenue Service or Social Security office will furnish you with tax guides.

From D. A. of Albany, N. Y.: "I understand that when a person who is covered by Social Security dies his wife may be eligible for a lump sum payment. Is there any time limit within which an application for the lump sum must be filed? How much is the payment?"

Under most circumstances, a lump-sum application must be filed within two years after the death of a person covered by Social Security. The payment ranges from $90 to $255 with the exact amount depending on the earnings of the person while he was working under Social Security.

From L. B. S. of Fayetteville, N. C.: "If a person works and has Social Security tax taken out of his wages and he also has a small business and must pay taxes as a self-employed person, how much of his self-employment earnings must be reported to Social Security?"

A person who has a combination of self-employment income and wages should report as self-employment income only the difference betwen his wages in covered work and $4,200.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Hollywood Headlines

Jeanne Crain Will Have Ready-Made TV Rating

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Pardon my being facetious about anything as important to Jeanne Crain as her new deal to star in a series of 39 TV shows based on Patrick Dennis' "Guestward Ho" best seller. But I couldn't help thinking that with the fifth child just born to Jeanne and Paul Brinkman, plus both their large families, she's got a big rating ready made!

Seriously, Jeanne's TV show will be one of the headliners over the CBS channel. Author Patrick Dennis has to his credit in addition to "Guestward Ho!" such hits as "Auntie Mame" and "Pink Hotel." The producer will be Ralph Levy who formerly produced Jack Benny's successful shows.

Famous Artists Agency made this deal for Jeanne with CBS. Neither Gisele Mackenzie nor her producer were informed by NBC why her TV show for Saturday, Dec. 28, has been pre-empted and will be off the air for this one night. It must be something very important.

But Gisele isn't upset. She's too happy at this opportunity, the first she has had in seven years, to fly to Canada and spend the holidays with her parents. She planed out this morning, following her Saturday night show, loaded with gifts for her family.

Big doings will be staged in Winnipeg during her visit. A civic reception is being planned for her arrival tomorrow morning with Gisele riding at the head of a a parade to the family home.

FISCHGRUNDS GIVE PARTY

At the party Irene and Jimmy McHugh, Jr., and Barbara and Sidney Fischgrund gave for Jimmy's clients, Adrian Samish told me that Buddy Ebsen and Keith Larsen have been signed for "Northwest Passage," a TV series to be made for NBC.

"Don't you remember that this is the Kenneth Roberts story that starred Spencer Tracy? It's a great adventure and perfect for a series," he said.

The Fischgrund home is the kind you'd like to move right into, with big rooms, modern decor, and plenty of windows. Barbara Fischgrund, who is John Ford's daughter, took me on a personal tour, and I was intrigued by so many modern conveniences. The whole house was decorated in a beautiful Christmas Motif and the four young people were very charming hosts.

WAGNER-WOOD SHOWER

When Natalie Wood and Robert Wagner are married next Saturday (I exclusively reported the date in this column), they won't mind having a small wedding. Thursday, all their pals came to the shower given by Mar Anita and Dick Sale and brought beautiful gifts.

Natalie's co-stars, Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis, and her director Delmer Daves, of "Kings Go Forth," all came directly from the studio and all brought beautiful gifts.

Frankie, of course, was with Lauren Bacall, and the affection these two show for each other inclines me to believe they might marry, although I didn't believe it in the beginning.

Rock Hudson and Clifton Webb had a lot to say to each other. Rock has put back some of the weight he lost and he looks very well again. He sat and talked to Virginia Zanuck and myself for a long time. I missed Jane Russell, Laraine Day and Leo Durocher, who left before we reached the Sales. The Walter Langs, Richard Lang, Wynn Rocamora, Jimmy McHugh, Cesar Romero were among those who admired the beautiful gifts.

Mike, Liz Plan European Tour After Holidays

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mike Todd and Elizabeth Taylor have decided against resuming their world trek in Hong Kong, where she was stricken with appendicitis.

Leaving Cedars of Lebanon Hospital yesterday, where Miss Taylor had an appendectomy, they said they were going to Europe.

"We're going to take off for Europe the first thing in January," said Todd, as he led his wife to an automobile. They will drive today to Palm Springs where they will spend the holidays.

"No more hospitals," said Todd, referring to Miss Taylor's frequent appendicitis attacks since their marriage in Acapulco last Feb. 2.

Hal Boyle Says:

Hermit Advises Against Purchasing Island

EVERGLADES, Florida (AP) — If you want solitude, take a tip from "the world's most sociable hermit"—don't buy an island.

"Most people say they'd like to have an island so they can be by themselves," said Roy Ozmer, 60, the hermit of Pelican Key. "But it doesn't work out that way.

"Last year I had more than 6,000 visitors—and thank God for every one of them. If I just sat out here twiddling my thumbs and listening to the birds, I'd be crazier than—well, than I am."

Everybody should be as crazy as Ozmer, a lean utterly friendly man who wears a green beret and a trim graying Vandyke beard. He is one of the few men who wearied of steady work, turned to hermiting, and made it pay.

His paradise is a three-acre island seven miles from here, a key on which 260 varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers flourish. He settled here in 1949 as a career hermit after working as a merchant seaman, apple farmer, and movie exhibitor.

"I just got tired of the rat race and wanted out of it," he explained. "I got tired of working one week just to make enough to live the next week."

Ozmer's simple needs are easily met. He is so charming that everybody in the area vies in trying to help him. He has three shacks on the island and rents them out to sportsmen. Neighboring fishermen drop by his refuge to give him part of their catch.

Tourists, anxious to see a real live hermit, come by the thousands to chat with him and share a hospitable coffee pot. Many insist on leaving a small money gift behind, although the hermit never asks for anything. He doesn't have to.

"This place is like 42nd St. and Broadway," he remarked. "Sooner or later everybody gets here. And, unless they are liars, at least 75 per cent leave envying me. Anyway, that's what they say."

Among his visitors have been Mickey Rooney, Lt. Gen. James A. Doolittle, Gypsy Rose Lee and John L. Lewis.

Roy's philosophy toward the world can be gleaned from a number of defiant signs he has posted about his island. Here are a few:

"I will mind your baby, crank your motor, or cash your check, but I will not go fishing."

"Ladies tolerated."

"To hell with the Joneses!"

"Now at last I have a pot to put a petunia in and a window ledge to set it on."

The hermit isn't all alone. He has two dogs, "Little Sister" and "Boojum," and three pet egrets — "Doctor Doolittle," "Grumpy," and "Dopey," who like to chase and eat butterflies.

"A man has to have something to pamper," he said, "and they are pretty pampered."

Ozmer is healthier than he has ever been before in his life and says he is never lonely.

"In 1942 a doctor told me I would have to give up coffee and cigarettes or die of a heart attack," he said. "But what was really killing me was lying awake nights worrying how to pay the rent.

"I smoke two packs of cigarettes and drink 20 to 25 cups of coffee a day now, and my heart is fine.

"I am busy from dawn to dusk. There's always something to do on an island, and keeping busy is very important. I think it takes a man about 60 years to find out the beauty of having something to do — the real joy of working.

"But now I don't have to punch a time clock, and nobody counts my coffee breaks. I work when I want to, loaf when I want to.

"As long as you are doing what you like, you can't be bored. And it's being bored that leads to being lonely."

As I left I noticed a huge bleached skull lying just off the pathway. It looked like the skull of a loggerhead turtle, but when I asked Ozmer, he just grinned and said:

"That's all that's left of the last income tax collector who came here."

Woman Protests Dog, Gets Tax Bite on Her

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP)—It's an in-and-out proposition with one Rock Hill resident. Mrs. James Tew reported a barking dog to police.

"Sorry, lady, you're outside the city limits," she reports being told.

Norstad Maps Missile Defense

Sees 6 to 10 Squadrons in NATO Lands Within Year to 18 Months

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad, leader of NATO's military forces, says he expects 6 to 10 squadrons of 15 intermediate missiles each will be placed in treaty organization countries within a year to 18 months.

Norstad was interviewed on NBC-TV's Meet the Press. It was shown yesterday but filmed earlier in the Palais de Chaillot in Paris, scene of the meeting last week of the heads of the NATO governments.

The United States offered at the meeting to make missiles available to other countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Norstad did not pinpoint the locations of the new bases. But he said he foresaw no difficulty in their distribution.

"In some countries, for many reasons," he said, "it may be more difficult to do this than in other countries. But I am satisfied that the military requirement can and will be met under the formula agreed by the 15 heads of government."

He said it is not necessary from a military standpoint that each government have the missiles. "It is necessary only that relatively few countries have them," he said. "The range of these missiles permit their distribution at any one of many, many places." The missiles reportedly would have a range of about 1,500 miles.

Norstad said the missiles and equipment will cost about 30 to 40 million dollars per squadron.

The first step in the missile bases program should be taken "in a matter of days, weeks, not months, and I'm sure it will be Norstad said.

Bandit Ignores Money, but Steals Big Santa

NEW YORK (AP)—A thief broke into a display window of Flowerized Presentation, Inc., in the Bronx yesterday and made off with a 70-pound electrically operated model Santa Claus valued at $200.

The bandit ignored money in a safe and the petty cash box.

Detective Charles Morgan made out his report on a missing person form referring to a short, plump old man "last seen wearing white-trimmed red suit, black belt and black boots.

Science Takes Big Stride Forward

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

Science took one of its periodic giant strides in 1957. The fabulous dividends will start coming in 1958.

Russian Sputniks began exploring space, giving the first turn of the key to human space travel.

This act seized the imagination of the world. It did more. It awakened a slumbering American public, and other peoples, to keen realization that scientists cannot be regarded as peculiar poor cousins in the human family—that science truly is one of the most vital forces in our lives.

And it dramatized as nothing else the purpose and meaning of the International Geophysical Year.

This 18-month cooperative study by scientists of 64 nations began July 1, 1957. By its close Jan. 1, 1958, scientists will have wrested new secrets from the sun, from the air, from space, the oceans, cosmic rays—forces from earthquakes to weather which influence human destinies.

Launching artificial moons to circle the earth is one main aspect to IGY.

The Russians, in a tremendous scientific achievement, did it first, on Oct. 4, 1957—the first date in the new space calendar.

Soviet scientists astounded everyone but themselves with tremendous rocketry science which sent a 184-pound sphere wheeling around the earth.

They repeated Nov. 3 with a second Sputnik, this one carrying the first living passenger into space—the dog Laika.

Laika died a week later, after demonstrating that life can be supported for a time at least in the mysterious and unfriendly reaches of space.

Russia's success galvanized the U. S. IGY satellite program to faster action, moving up the dates for firing six-pound instrumented test spheres into orbits.

The first Vanguard satellite launching vehicle, however, malfunctioned in takeoff and blew up on its launching pad in the glare of world-wide publicity.

Early in 1958, the United States begins sending up 21-pound spheres equipped with ingenious instruments to take new measurements of the sun, meteors, cosmic rays, temperatures, and other forces in the heights where — until Russia pioneered—nothing made by human hands had ever penetrated.

Russia plans still more Sputniks.

FINDINGS TO BE SHARED

Under IGY agreement, the knowledge learned by these space pioneers is to be shared freely and fully, as are all measurements and discoveries made during the IGY.

U. S. scientists sent some tiny messengers out to roam space, never to return. These were a couple of fragments of aluminum from a rocket nose exploded 50 miles up in the air.

The fragments reached more than sufficient speed, about 11 miles per second, to escape the earth's gravity entirely. Perhaps they fell into the sun. Perhaps they are still traveling somewhere.

Russia's feat spurred the United States to realization she was falling behind in at least some phases of science. The U. S. S. R. is training more scientists, putting relatively greater stress on basic research to learn new facts about nature which make great new scientific steps possible.

Almost overnight, this promised to change the climate for science in this country.

Scientific knowledge and research showed its values elsewhere during the year.

Britain announced progress toward the goal of taming the fury of the H-bomb reaction to supply unlimited energy and power.

A new type of flu bug raced around the world, but its attack here was blunted by quick production of a vaccine.

Two Chinese scientists working at Columbia University upset what had been a fundamental of physics—the law of parity. Their brilliant work won them a Nobel prize and opens the way to clearer understanding of the jungle which is the heart of atoms.

Rock-n-Roll Service?

ROYSE CITY, Tex. (INS)—The congregation of a Royse City church was thrown into turmoil recently when an electronic quirk caused a loudspeaker system to pick up a radio station which was broadcasting a raucus version of "Wake Up Little Susie."

SPECTACULAR MISFIRE — The Vanguard rocket blew up on its Cape Canaveral launching pad Dec. 6 after hopes had been built up that it would lift the first U.S. satellite into orbit. The possibility of failure, some scientists said, should have received more emphasis since this was the very first test of the three-stage Vanguard with all stages operational.

Searchers Find Missing Girl Asleep Next Door

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police searched all Saturday night and into Sunday for 6-year-old Bonnie Joy Campbell and she was in the vacant apartment right across the hall all the time.

The door of the vacant flat was unlocked when Bonnie Joy took refuge there late Saturday afternoon. She snapped the latch. Her father had spanked her once earlier in the day for leaving her designated play spot in the back yard. He had come home from an errand and found her out of bounds again.

"I was afraid of getting spanked," she said.

Searchers had tried the door of the vacant apartment and even flashed lights through the windows. Bonnie Joy was out of sight, curled up in a big chair, wrapped in an old bedspread and asleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Robrt Richard Campbell were so glad to see their daughter when she emerged there wasn't any spanking.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

SYNOPSIS: Santa gives Richard the golden thread and the black diamond so he will always remember to be a proper prince. He also tells him the soldiers of King Ignatz are at the gates of Mitzenpoo and promises to take him there on his sleigh.

"Merry Christmas!" cried Santa as he sailed away.

Chapter 17

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

Santa and Richard sped through the cold, silent night. On and on they went above the sleeping world until they came to the Kingdom of Mitzenpoo.

Richard peered over the side of the sleigh. He saw his father's palace with a light shining from every window. In the courtyard the people of Mitzenpoo huddled while a hoard of foreign soldiers battered at the gates.

"I'm coming!" shouted the prince. But no one looked up or seemed to hear.

"We are invisible as long as we are in the sleigh," said Santa "No one can see or hear us on the sleigh until I crack my whip. Hang on, now, we are going down."

Gently the reindeer brought the sleigh to a halt on the palace roof. Richard leaped out and climbed down the sides of the palace wall to the courtyard below.

"Everything will be all right!" he shouted to the people huddled in the corners. "Don't be afraid!"

The people looked at him in astonishment. "Who is it?" they asked among themselves and Richard heard others answer, "It's the coward prince come back too late. What good is he to Mitzenpoo?"

Richard rushed into the palace. He found his father sitting at his desk surrounded by his guards. The king's face was grey with cares and grief. His hand shook as he signed a paper before him on the desk.

"Father, father! I am here!"

The old king stared at Richard in sorrow. "So you are back," he whispered. "Ah, poor wretch. You cannot help what you are but things would have been different if only you had been a proper prince—wise and brave and strong.

"Now I am dying and there is no one else to lead our soldiers or save our people I surrender now to Ignatz of Ketchikan who henceforth will rule in Mitzenpoo."

"Never!" cried Richard. He snatched up the paper and tore it into pieces Then he drew his black diamond dagger and turned towards the guards "Follow me!"

The astonished guards followed him as he charged out of the palace and the people, seeing him, took up sticks and rushed along behind the guards.

Richard threw open the gate and faced King Ignatz and the soldiers of Ketchikan.

"Leave our land or surrender!" cried Richard.

Ignatz stared and burst into laughter. "It's the strong boy himself!" he cried. "The halfwit of the circus!"

He rushed forward with his spear but Richard stood his ground and knocked Ignatz to the ground with one swing of his strong arm.

The guards and people of Mitzenpoo cheered madly and set upon the soldiers of Ketchikan who fled in dismay when they saw their king on the ground. Ignatz and his men were defeated and never bothered Mitzenpoo or any other kingdom again.

Then the people lifted Richard to their shoulders and carried him in to the king. The old man wept and embraced his son. "Now I can die in peace," he whispered. "For, in you, Mitzenpoo will have a mighty king."

Suddenly there was the crack of a whip and the sound of sleigh bells tinkling. The people rushed to the window.

"It's Santa! Look! Look! It's Santa himself whom we've never seen before!"

Sure enough, there was Santa's sleigh in the courtyard below and there was Santa himself emptying a giant bag of gifts for the people of Mitzenpoo.

When the sack was empty Santa cracked his whip again and the sleigh rose into the air.

"Merry Christmas!" cried Santa as he sailed away.

(The End)

Men Call Home From MARS

Radio System of Air Force Base Set Up to Contact Friends

AIR FORCE MISSILE DEVELOPMENT CENTER, N. M. (INS)—Nowadays when one hears "Mars calling," chances are it's not from the saucer people but from the Military Affiliate Radio System at the Air Force Development center in Holloman, New Mexico.

Mars is equipped with four radio transmitters and three qualified operators to enable persons at the center to call friends and relatives anywhere in the world.

Mars has helped scores of Holloman personnel transmit urgent messages, personal greetings and other messages to the folks back home. Mars operations are quick and free of charge.

The direct radio-telephone contact, however, is reserved to emergency and overseas calls.

Mars operators boast, "We can make contact anywhere in the world . . . and with favorable atmospheric conditions we are able to reach both north and south poles with ease."

Mars expects to do a land-office business during the holiday season — bringing Holloman people closer to their loved ones back home.

Stormy Day Before Lull Brings Fondness

By PHYLLIS BATELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — Tonight is the time of the storm before the lull . . . the traumatic battle that precedes peace on earth.

It is the night when Santa Claus presumably is putting things in order—and daddy and mommy are doing precisely the opposite.

It is the time when the joker who mis-hid the locomotive is worth his weight in feathers. It is a time for hysteria, paper rustling, forgetting who the meat platter was for, and midnight expeditions after scotch tape, which the drug store is out of and so are the neighbors.

PRESENTS ARE WRAPPED

Dec. 23 is also the time when the kiddies have their presents—those bought with painful pride and a small store of allowance—already wrapped. (At age six, you can afford for your parents a bunch of seedless grapes, and you have them gorgeously packaged by Dec. 14.)

And it is a time for wondering about the packages you sent out of town. Just let them slip through your fingers into the inner workings of the post office, without any idea really whether the goblets and swiss cheese are on their way to Tuskegee. Or just cracking up and molding, respectively, in a railroad car somewhere.

It is a time for remarking lightly, "Oh, well, if you can't have faith in the U.S. postal service, who can you trust?" And not necessarily believing yourself.

VISIONS OF . . .

By tomorrow night, a blissful feeling of exhaustion and reverence will have overcome the mind, as the young retire with visions of sugarplums and Sputnik Juniors. But tonight there are desperate thoughts as you try to wrap artistic packages for the artistic girls in the birdge club and find that your 10 fingers appears to be stunted at the first knuckle.

You should have spent more than $2.98 on Myrtle. Last year—it comes to you—she sent that silk scarf, must have come to at least $5.

What if the minister calls, like three years back? We didn't even cut caramels.

Since the dog bit the postman last May, should we raise his Christmas check? Of course not.

But he didn't sue, which was nice. Raise him a dollar.

When Susan doesn't get a horse—what?

Imagine paying $25 for a size one dress; but a godmother is a godmother.

Is there something wrong with Bill, still wanting to hang stockings?

Probably he just likes loot.

Harry, quit snitching the scissors.

If the Harrisons cross us up and bring over something, we're stuck. Not even a fruit cake left.

No more of this last-minute business next year, hear me?

Give back the pen, Harry.

Wish somehow we could have got Susan a horse. But after all . . .

Assuming we live till tomorrow, she's got us.

Us . . . Christmas is for families who love each other, and you shouldn't need to worry about the price of dresses and such things. What's come over us anyway?

Scissors please, darling.

U.S. Educator Discusses School Improvement

'Cash' Not 'Crash' Program Needed; Teacher Recruitment, Salaries Vital

By AL BLACKMAN

BOSTON (INS)—A leading U. S. educator says that what the American school system needs is not a "crash" program, but a "cash" program.

Dr. Alexander Brin, dean of the Massachusetts Board of Education, said in an interview with INS that "there is nothing wrong with our education system that money can't cure." Dr. Brin has served on a great many boards, commissions or committees dealing with the problems of education at state and national levels during the past 30 years. The interview follows:

Question: Dr. Brin, what is the first step toward improving our public school system?

Answer: "We must provide more money for education. There is nothing wrong with our educational system that money can't cure. We don't need any so-called crash program, we need a cash program."

Q. Would you estimate how much money is needed for the United States to catch up with the Soviet Union's educational program?

A. "First, I don't agree that the Soviet Union has a better system of education than ours. After all, their system is based on ours. They merely applied totalitarian methods to push certain phases of their program. We should spend as much as is needed, no matter how much, just the same as we do in time of war. After all, this is a fight for survival."

Q. Assuming the money is forthcoming from federal, state and municipal governments, what would be the next step?

A. "We should take an inventory of all our educational resources—teachers, physical plants, current scholarships and the like."

Q. Which is the most important inventory item?

A. "Teachers, of course. We must raise the prestige of the teacher. At the current value of the dollar, I would place a minimum starting salary of $5,000 for teachers. Experienced high school teachers should receive $7,500 a year. College professors should receive much more money. Many of them receive only a fifth of what private industry offers them. We are lucky there are so many dedicated men and women in the teaching profession. Incidentally, Russia pays top science teachers up to $50,000 a year."

Q. Then the teacher shortage is, in your opinion, more important than the classroom shortage?

A. "Certainly. Teachers molded America into the dynamic force it is today in a comparatively brief time. Russia recognized that fact and put teaching at the top of the professions. Of course we need more classrooms, but they are no good without teachers. We should subsidize teacher training through scholarships as much as we should subsidize scientists."

Q. If our survival depends on education, as you have indicated, should we concentrate on teaching science?

A. "No. That is why our system of education remains better than the Soviet Union's. We should keep up our way of life. That means we must continue to teach the art of living. The natural sciences and the social sciences should be taught. Nazi Germany provides a classic example of how an educational system can be perverted to turn out educated barbarians."

Q. You appear certain that education will be provided with all necessary funds as a result of the Sputniks.

A. "Yes. We had to substitute a catastrophe for imagination. As for the cost, consider what the city of Boston did in 1635. The community spent its entire tax collections to build Boston Latin, the first public school in the United States. And 11 years later, the Colony of Massachusetts spent half its entire tax income to build an academy in Newton which later became Harvard University. And remember, in those days the people lacked even the necessities of life."

"Now that we have again learned the value of education, I predict that 1958 will see the biggest boom along that line since Horace Mann won his crusade to establish the first public school system in 1838."

Hoffa Takes Yule Rest Before Contract Job

DETROIT (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, says he is going to rest during the holidays and then start working on contracts for truckers.

Hoffa returned to his home in Detroit yesterday after his trial on a charge of wiretap conspiracy ended in a hung jury in Federal Court in New York.

Hoffa told newsmen here, "I was certainly gratified that at least one of the 12 jurors wasn't coerced into voting other than the way he felt, based on the evidence presented by the prosecution."

The jury was dismissed after it deadlocked 11 to 1 for conviction.

Citizens Selling Christmas Trees to Help Family

HENDERSON, N. C. (AP) — Judge John W. Beckham of Recorder's Court and other Henderson citizens are selling Charles Vargo's Christmas trees now that he can't.

Vargo, 28, unemployed father of two children, was fatally injured last week in a two-truck crash while he was on his way to pick up a load of trees to sell for Christmas money.

Now Henderson people are selling the Vargo trees, with the money going to the family.

Plan Publishing Red Magazine

Communist Journal to Be Published in Prague Starting Early in '58

BERLIN (INS) — A communist diplomatic source in East Berlin reports an international communist magazine will be published fortnightly in Prague beginning early next year.

He said the journal will be under the supervision of Soviet Praesidium member Mikhail Suslov, a specialist in East European affairs.

It will take the place of the defunct organ of the Cominform which was published in Bucharest and which was suspended in 1956 long after the Cominform itself had been abolished. The magazine was called "For Lasting Peace for People's Democracies."

The decision to start putting out a new magazine was made at the 40th anniversary meeting of Communist Party chiefs in Moscow last month.

Poland has refused to participate in the magazine and Yugoslavia did not attend the Kremlin meeting. But the other countries will contribute directly to the magazine.

Approximately 200 million people in the world today depend largely on the ocean for their everyday food, says a 20th Century Fund report.

They carried large banners through the streets demanding salary increases for their professors.

Tax Bureau Tattles

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—A branch office of the Internal Revenue Service wrote to a soldier and told him if he did not pay the balance of his 1956 income tax he would be reported to his commanding officer as a tax delinquent. Back came a check with a note bearing one word: "Tattletale."

A movie star just learned what the price of success is. Thats what you pay the government . . . One Fifth Ave. veterinarian is reportedly so exclusive that there's a sign on his office door saying, "No Dogs Allowed."—Earl Wilson.

Gay Carols Illuminate the True Spirit of Christmas

MRS. JAMES THOMPSON BERESFORD

Cornelia P. Vandeveer Veiled in Heirloom Lace

Wearing a triangular Brussels lace veil worn by four generations of brides bearing the family name Prime, Cornelia Prime Vandeveer exchanged nuptial vows with James Thompson Beresford.

The Rev. Robert L. DeWitt performed the ceremony Saturday evening at Christ Church Cranbrook. Setting the scene for the rite was a background of Christmas trees, creamy blooms and tapers.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Leroy George Vandeveer of Bloomfield Hills, and the bridegroom is the son of the Edwin MacFarland Beresfords of Birmingham.

GOWNED IN SATIN

Completing her wedding ensemble the bride wore an antique satin gown fashioned with a bell-shaped skirt which fell into a chapel train. The creation also featured a scoop neckline bordered in jeweled Alencon lace. The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of creamy orchids and ivy.

Attending her sister as honor maid was Lindsay Crawford Vandeveer. Matron of honor was Mrs. Gordon L. Waterworth Jr. Bridesmaids included Virginia Ann Beresford, cousin of the bridegroom; Mrs. John Winthrop Crim, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. William Thompson, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Margaret Jock of Flint.

All were gowned in cranberry velvet waltz-length frocks featuring scoop necklines and complemented by small opera hats. They carried crescent bouquets of palest green cyprodium orchids outlined with variegated holly.

Honorary attendants were Georgianna Davidson of Lakewood, Ohio, and Gail Glover of Birmingham. Flower maid Lucinda Jean Crim, niece of the bridegroom, wore an ivory sheer silk frock with a cranberry velvet sash and headband She carried a miniature bouquet of crimson sweetheart rosebuds.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Serving as his brother's best man was William Thompson Beresford. John Winthrop Crim, John Booth Beresford, Daniel Booth Beresford, Charles Walter Frederick Jr. of Bloomfield Hills and Gordon L. Waterworth Jr. seated the guests.

To receive guests at the Detroit Boat Club Mrs. Vandeveer wore a cocoa brown re-embroidered lace sheath dress with an ostrich feather hat and a corsage of cranberry cyprodium orchids. Mrs. Beresford's choice was a gown of cornflower blue peau de soie with a matching hat and Eucharist lilies pinned to her purse.

Before leaving on a trip to Florida the new Mrs Beresford's choice was a sheer wool suit topped by a short mouton jacket. The couple will live in Florida.

MRS. GERALD L. McGREGOR

Married Sunday afternoon were Audrey R. Weed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Weed, and Gerald L. McGregor, whose parents are the Carter McGregors.

Audrey Weed Becomes Bride in Sunday Service

Red poinsettias, white mixed bouquets, palms and candelabra banked the altar of First Presbyterian Church for the Sunday afternoon wedding of Audrey Ruth Weed and Gerald L. McGregor. The Rev. Dr. William H. Marbach performed the ceremony before 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Weed of South Roslyn road are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carter McGregor of Sault Ste. Marie.

WEARS TAFFETA

The bride wore a silk taffeta gown featuring a scoop neckline with appliqued lace, a basque waistline, long sleeves which were tapered to points over the wrists, and a floor-length skirt with lace appliqued side panels making a bustle effect.

A band of wax orange blossoms and seed pearls held a fingertip veil of tulle. The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of lilies-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid.

Susan Howes of Battle Creek was the honor maid, with a sister of the bridegroom, Carol Jean McGregor of Sault Ste. Marie, and Darlene Ryor of Detroit serving as bridesmaids.

All wore red velveteen street-length gowns with cap sleeves, scoop necklines, red satin cummerbunds and back drapes. They wore crown headpieces with matching veils and carried white velveteen muffs with red feathered carnations and holly.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Best man was Robert Soderman of Muskegon. Frank Fazi of Sault Ste. Marie and a brother of the bride, Kenneth Weed, seated the guests.

The bridegroom's mother wore a sapphire blue silk gown with matching hat and a white camellia corsage.

Before leaving on a northern Michigan trip the new Mrs. McGregor changed to a brown fitted suit with sapphire blue and black accessories and an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Yule Songs Stir Hearts of All Who Hear Them

By MARGARET BROWN

"O Come, All Ye Faithful, Joyful and Triumphant" — throughout the city and throughout the world voices have been ringing this joyous season with songs of praise to God for "His unspeakable Gift," salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ.

All classes of people, the meek, the mighty, even the unbeliever, have lent their voices in singing the stirring melodies. To some, the glorious phrases are merely a pleasant tradition in keeping with this holiday season.

To others, those who have experienced definitely in individual lives the infinite love of the Savior, the lyrics are words to cherish and to live by the entire year.

JOY TO OTHERS

The past few weeks various groups throughout Pontiac have been gathering to bring joy to others by singing these Christmas carols. have you ever wondered how Christmas caroling originated? Well, the word "carol" comes from the Greek choraulein, choros — meaning the dance, and aulein —to play the flute.

The word referred to ring dancing accompanied by flutes. The Romans as well as the Greeks were very fond of this custom and brought it with them in their invasion of Britain.

In England "caroling" became ring dancing accompanied by singing, and gradually the word "carol" came to refer to the song itself.

The first hymns in honor of Christ's birth were composed in the Fifth Century. Written in Latin, these songs were somber and profound, lacking the gaiety of today's carols. One of the early selections was Corde Natus ex Parentis ("Of the Father's Love Begotten"), written by Prudentius, a great Christian poet and official of the Roman Empire.

PRODUCT OF CRECHE

One of our popular carols, "Away in a Manger," was the product of the creche. St. Francis in 1223 was deeply concerned that the Gospel message had become intellectualized and dogmatic, losing its appeal to the common man, to whom God, after all, had appealed in the first place.

The lowly shepherds of Judea could not have understood an intellectual or lofty message of salvation, and men who were capable of grasping great theological issues had not the simple faith to believe. The simple Carpenter of Nazareth, our model of humility, did not propagate a profound or complex gospel.

St. Francis reasoned perhaps a dramatization of the Christmas story might make the salvation message more meaningful to the poor of spirit, and accordingly placed a manger and stable trappings in the church. The people coming to Christmas Eve services viewed the Nativity scene and were grateful that at last Christmas had been made real to them.

"O Come All Ye Faithful" is one of the truly beautiful carols these members of the MacDowell Male Chorus sing to the patients. Pianist Jerry Smith of Dearborn accompanies local members Harold F. Wells, William Coffing and John L. Waldo (left to right).

Dear Abby . . .

Let Her Enjoy Her Little Daydream

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We have a lady working for us. She is 51 years old. She says if she had the clothes she could of got Bing Crosby. She gets mad too if nobody believes her. How do you handle a screwball like that one? BEAT

ABBY

DEAR BEAT: Nod you agreement. It's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

DEAR ABBY: I have an uncle who tells everybody he is allergic to garlic so everyone in the family (including myself) knocked themselves out to keep from flavoring any food with garlic when he was invited over. One of my friends wanted to be helpful so she sent a casserole over to help out for our Thanksgiving dinner.

My uncle ate two big helpings of it and didn't say a word. Later when I asked her for the recipe I noticed there were two cloves of garlic in it. Should I tell my uncle he is over his allergy or does this mean he never had one at all?

PUZZLED NIECE

DEAR PUZZLED: Possibly he IS over his allergy—and there is also a possibility that he never had one . . . but thought he had. Tell him what happened—but ONLY if he's a jolly good fellow.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding that married woman who parked with her husband only to be interrupted by police officers shining a flashlight in their car: The main reason we police officers "chase" lovers who are parked in a dark spot is because they are a perfect setup for holdup men.

Even if the parkers are married to each other (which is seldom the case) they do not want the publicity that goes with the identification of the criminals. Therefore, we chase ALL, regardless of marital status.

By the way, Abby, I like to park with my wife, too, but I am a police officer and as such I carry a gun and can protect myself. A LOVER-CHASING PATROLMAN

DEAR ABBY: In August my son's wife went to the hospital to have her fifth baby so I kept the four older children with me. We live on a farm and I am not too well. My husband isn't well either and we sure had our hands full with these kids.

She got out of the hospital and asked if we would mind keeping the kids for another week and I said, "Yes, I sure would mind"—so they came and got the kids.

Now they hardly speak to us. We love the grandchildren, but don't you think we did enough? Thank you. GRAMMA

DEAR GRAMMA: I think that you did more than "enough." She has no right to be angry. Don't worry, she'll come around again—when she wants another favor.

CONFIDENTIAL TO JUDY: You won't win, Honey. Sit down and write your teacher a long letter, telling her exactly what you think of her. Let it sit over night—and the next morning—tear it up!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Yule Party Held

Blanche Meidlein opened her Charlotte avenue home to members of Jolly Ten Club for a Christmas party and exchange of gifts.

Celebrating 60 years of married life are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Beresford of Bloomfield Hills. A dinner party honoring the couple was held Friday evening at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Beresford of Lone Pine road. Another son and daughter-in-law are the Edwin W. Beresfords of Bloomfield Hills. Included in the family gathering were the couple's seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Betrothal Told at Birmingham Cocktail Party

BIRMINGHAM — At a Saturday cocktail party Mr. and Mrs. William Henry announced the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Harman Jackson, to Lt. Richard N. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell D. George of Watertown, N.Y.

The bride-elect is a senior at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N.Y. Her fiance was graduated from Yale University where he is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. He is now stationed at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Sorority Chapter Marks Christmas

Meeting in Hotel Waldron for a Christmas dinner party and exchange of gifts was Iota Eta Chapter of Pi Omicron national sorority. Sigma Gamma Chapter members attended as guests. Mrs. Jon Karau was soloist for the evening.

Among the guests were Bernice Landry, state president; Mrs. Charlotte Zuraw, past state president; Grace Morrow and Josephine M. Fehrenback of Beta Beta Chapter, Detroit.

Attend Yule Party

Husbands and guests were entertained when Navy Mothers Club of Pontiac held its annual Christmas party and gift exchange Saturday at the Naval Reserve Center.

Mrs. James Dando was chairman of the event, which included a cooperative dinner.

Knitting Provides Ideal Outlet for Your Tensions

Turn to Handcrafts Instead of Tranquilizers

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The era in which we are living may well be dubbed, "The Age of Tranquilizers" as well as "The Atomic and 'Trip to the Moon' Age."

These drugs certainly play an important part in medical treatment but it seems to me, from the conversations I hear, that far too many people are beginning to take them for granted. These and sleeping pills have become a too usual part of our everyday life.

At best these are only crutches and in unskilled hands may be downright dangerous. We are unwise if we resort to such measures as a habit rather than remedy the conditions which make us feel the need of them.

Hurry, worry, trying to do too much, taking on too many things, living beyond our means, all leads to tensions and therefore to a poor grade of sleep. This in turn leads to tensions and fatigue. We find ourselves in a vicious circle. A slower pace, times of relaxation, an improved outlook and especially exercise usually will act as natural tranquilizers.

While reading and doing research I have noticed a growing emphasis on handcrafts as relaxers. Only recently I have mentioned authorities who advised knitting as a "handcraft tranquilizer."

IDEAL OCCUPATION

Now comes Dr. Louis A. Alchermes, first president of the Affiliated Podiatrists of New York State, with this to say: "Knitting is an ideal occupation while elevating the extremeties during times of leisure. In itself, knitting is a relaxing hobby which induces a tension-free state of mind."

Dr. Alchermes had just spoken of the value of elevating the feet whenever possible while sitting. This is helpful to the feet and also to varicose veins or the tendency to them.

There are many fascinating handcrafts. If you are the tense, jumpy kind of a person, why not try one?

I mention knitting first because knitted clothes and accessories are quite the fad now. Making braided rugs is another relaxer. These two are perhaps best because they require less concentration than many others.

Exchange your tranquilizers for a handcraft!

"Don't let your marriage unravel. Pick up your knitting needles!" This advice comes from Dr. Rebecca Liswood, physician and marriage counselor, and executive director of the Marriage Counseling Service of Greater New York.

CAUSES OF DIVORCE

Dr. Liswood attributes the rising divorce rate, in part at least, to tension and high-powered daily living. She calls knitting "a handcraft tranquilizer."

This physician, who has had so much experience with human conduct and the problems of humans, said, "Knitting serves a dual purpose toward our goal of reducing tension. It provides a hobby which is relaxing because it does not require too much concentration. It also gives a woman a feeling of accomplishment by providing a concrete example of something she has done herself."

In mental and physical therapy it long has been recognized that the use of the hands in creating something lovely has a magically soothing effect on the emotions and on body tensions.

Dr. Liswood further pointed out that marriages too often flounder on the rocks of disagreements which are caused by tension, and that the relaxation of mental strain permits couples to settle their differences amicably and intelligently.

We all know from experience that we cannot make correct decisions when we are in the midst of an emotional upheaval or when we are fraught with tensions. This sort of thing snowballs.

We react in an entirely different way to any situation or spoken word when we are feeling jumpy than we do when we are feeling wonderful. We say things which we later regret, but the damage may remain.

AVOID ARGUMENTS

For this reason I often have suggested in this column that a woman never should enter into any argument or make any important decisions just before her menstrual period when she may be the victim of pre-menstrual tension. It seems such a shame for marriages to break up because of such ridiculous reasons.

Dr. Liswood is an advocate of constructive training for marriage. She emphasized that few young women enter into marriage with proper preparation. She continued, "This leads to a fairy tale concept of married life which often results in husband-wife clashes."

Probably most marriages break up because of the small irritations, frustrations and disappointments of daily life rather than the big crisis. Perhaps, too, these are potent aging factors.

Torte-Like Dessert Is Choice

Mrs. Ellibee Adds Cream and Honey to Christmas Cake

By JANET ODELL

If the dessert for your holiday dinner is still a question, do try this simple Pudding Cake. It may have a dab of whipped cream on it or it can be served plain for calorie counters.

Mrs. Keith Ellibee of Clarkston has used this cake for years to climax her Christmas dinner. A homemaker with a full-time outside job, Mrs. Ellibee has little time for many other activities. She has two teenagers to keep her up to date.

CHRISTMAS PUDDING CAKE
By Mrs. Keith Ellibee

1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons cracker crumbs
3 eggs, separated
½ cup nuts
1 cup chopped dates

Mix dry ingredients with egg yolks, dates and nuts. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into first mixture. Pour into buttered loaf pan. Do not cover.

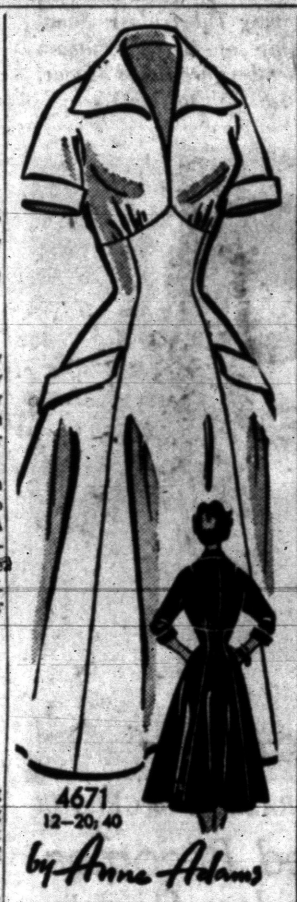

Bake one hour in 350-degree oven. Serve with whipped cream and a dab of honey on top.

PTA Sees Pageant

"The Whys of Christmas," a pageant directed by Elida Reinke, was presented to members of Kenneth Garden School PTA Thursday evening. The pageant was the first program to be held in the new multi-purpose room.

Hostesses to Promote Auto Safety

To Guard Guests Against Accidents During Holidays

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The Christmas-New Year holidays are here again, and, like all women, we are planning parties. While we are looking forward to the gaiety of the season, as wives of police officers we have a particular concern, because we hear so much about the holidays being the most dangerous period of the year on our streets and highways.

"We feel there is something the hostesses of America can do to keep the death toll down. Just think how any of us would feel if a friend were killed driving home from our party. Doing what we can to prevent such a tragedy is certainly a responsibility that we all can assume.

"The things we are going to do could be followed easily by everyone who is giving a party. For instance, we are going to assume as much responsibility as we can for the safety of our guests. When we invite them, we will suggest they take it easy driving to our houses.

"At the end of the evening we are going to serve them strong, hot coffee to help keep them awake on the drive home. And, even at the risk of offending, if someone is not up to driving home, we will make sure that someone else gets behind the wheel. We know we will be thanked the next day."

Answer: I hope that every hostess will follow your example.

Recipe Correction

An error was made in Thursday's recipe for Rolled Cookies by Mrs. Roy Bennett. The amount of flour called for should be 1¼ cups sifted flour.

Yule Party Held at Crump Home

Pontiac Child Culture Club met Thursday evening in the Judson Park home of Mrs. Floyd Crump for a Christmas party with a gift exchange. Members brought toys to be distributed to a charity. Mrs. Earl Steinhart was voted a new member.

Married Saturday evening were Christine M. Sanquist and Donald H. Kevern. Parents of the bride are the Herbert Sanquists, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kevern are the bridegroom's parents.

MRS. DONALD H. KEVERN

Donald Kevern Claims Bride in Detroit Church

Baskets of carnations and gladioli banked the altar of Redford Presbyterian Church, Detroit, for the Saturday evening wedding of Christine Marie Sanquist and Donald Hall Kevern. The Rev. Kenneth Hendrickson performed the ceremony before 300 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sanquist of Detroit, and the bridegroom is the son of the Stanley Keverns of Haddrill court.

GOWNED IN TAFFETA

The bride wore a gown of white silk taffeta fashioned with a princess panel in front and a draped hipline that formed a big bow and became a bustle. The Sabrina neckline was trimmed in embroidered Alencon lace with sequins and seed pearls.

Her fingertip-length nylon tulle veil was held in place by a seed pearl crown. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

As her sister's maid of honor, Elaine Sanquist of Detroit was gowned in a red velvet frock featuring a dropped waistline, fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a red velvet headband and carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations.

Bridesmaid Mrs. Ronald Kevern of Rochester was gowned like the honor attendant. A sister of the bride, Kathleen Sanquist of Detroit, was the junior bridesmaid. She wore a red taffeta gown.

ATTENDED BY TWIN

Serving as his twin brother's best man was Ronald Kevern of Rochester. Robert Green of Detroit, Robert Howard of Mount Pleasant, Richard Hunt of Montague and William McCool of Traverse City served as ushers.

For receiving guests at a reception in the church parlors Mrs. Sanquist chose a gray brocaded taffeta gown with a rose corsage and the bridegroom's mother wore a champagne satin dress in princess style.

Before leaving on a Southern trip the new Mrs. Kevern changed to a brown wool sheath dress with brown accessories with a white orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will live in Pontiac.

The bride will graduate in January from Central Michigan College. Mr. Kevern was graduated from Central Michigan College where he is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Willis Youngsters Entertain for PTA

Children of Willis School presented a Christmas program Thursday evening for Willis School PTA in the school's multi-purpose room. The first half of the program included scenes representing the holiday mood.

Following community singing, the religious part of the Christmas story was presented. The chorus, directed by Mrs. Alice Cowan, sang Christmas carols. Dick Stallard was in charge of scenery, assisted by Mrs. Cowan.

Why Does Child's Anger Upset Mother?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Since our baby was born," writes Mrs. P., "our little girl has developed temper tantrums. Her nursery school psychologist thinks they are caused by jealousy. But telling her I love her as much as the baby isn't working. Could there be another cause of these tantrums?"

I don't know why this little girl gets angry. I'm not interested in knowing.

But I am awfully interested in knowing why her anger so upsets her mother. It's a pretty commonplace emotion. Why does Mrs. P. find it so peculiar in her child?

Adults are not supposed to respond to anger the way toddlers respond to the sudden noise of a vacuum cleaner.

It should not be filled with mystery and threat for us. We shouldn't have to run to some psychologist over a child's tantrums like the toddler flies to Mommy for safety from the vacuum cleaner.

A child's rage should be a familiar, ordinary thing to us, not the awesome unknown.

WHY AWESOME?

Why is it the awesome unknown to Mrs. P.?

Sometimes our parents made it so. It was easy to do. They just showed themselves shocked, outraged or hurt when we exploded some childish rage at them.

By their recoil from it, they told us that anger was a most astounding thing. Until we correct this false impression, we are unable to treat anger in our own child as the old acquaintance it should be. We will remain as scared of it as the toddler is of the vacuum cleaner.

We don't solve our problem by seeking the "cause" of the youngster's tantrum.

Mrs. P.'s little girl will feel anger at her mother for a thousand reasons in the course of their lives together.

OWN RESPONSE

If she wants the practical answer, she'll forget all about the "why" of these tantrums—and concentrate on the "why" of her own troubled response to them.

She'll start asking herself, "Why does human rage strike me as so astonishing? In what Never-Never Land do I live that I can't recognize this child's rage as the same thing that often makes me want to yell and strike and kick?"

Even the toddler gets cozy with the vacuum cleaner after he's investigated its operations.

Sylvan Branch of Garden Club Observes Yule

Members of the Sylvan Lake Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association held their annual Christmas party Thursday at the Oakland County Boat Club.

A Christmas program was given, with Patricia Burch giving a reading on the meaning of Christmas. Paulette Griffin played several piano selections and Sue Ann Aumaugher gave a baton demonstration.

Mrs. S. J. Filkins spoke on the Jerusalem cherry and Mrs. F. A. Moon told about the care and feeding of the poinsettia.

Gifts were exchanged after the program. Hostesses were Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Eugene L. Johnson, Mrs. Kenneth Ollis, Mrs. Herman F. Stier and Mrs. H. J. Green.

Gold Star Gathers

Mrs. Luisa Mayotte opened her Mechanic street home to members of Oakland County Chapter 34, American Gold Star Mothers, for a Christmas party. Mrs. C. A. Briggs and Mrs. M. M. McDonald assisted the hostess at the Friday evening meeting. Mrs. Briggs and Mrs. Olive Burgess were in charge of gifts given to veterans at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Olson of Birmingham announce the engagement of their daughter, Molly Ann, to Robert Widman Appleford, son of the Alan A. Applefords of Birmingham. A June wedding is planned.

CAR Group Makes Stockings for Yule

Members of Colonel Steven Mack Society, Children of the American Revolution, made Christmas stockings for children in local hospitals when that group met in the West Iroquois road home of Mrs. Everett Peterson. She was assisted by Mrs. Frank Allen.

Gifts were brought to the Thursday meeting for a Christmas box to be sent to Tamassee DAR School in South Carolina.

Club Marks Yule

Couple Exchanges Vows in Chapel at Texas Base

MRS. BRUCE J. BRODE

Married in Bergstom Air Force Base Chapel in Austin, Tex., were Bonnie Ruth Cox and Lt. Bruce James Brode. Chaplain Robert M. Moore performed the Dec. 13 ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cox of Austin, Tex., are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Brode of Seminole avenue.

For her wedding the bride chose a dark brown suit trimmed with a mink collar and a champagne-colored chiffon scarf. Her small satin hat was of a matching champagne color, and she carried an orchid on a white Bible.

Mrs. Durwood Swanger of Texarkana, Tex., was matron of honor. She wore a dusty rose suit with white accessories and carried a small arrangement of white carnations.

Lt. Brode was attended by Lt. Charles F. Moore as best man, and Lts. Charles E. Bomar and David C. Hoedemaker acted as ushers.

Following a trip to Michigan the couple will live in Austin. The new Mrs. Brode was graduated from Nixon-Clay Commercial College.

Turkey for Mothers

Salvation Army Turns Rags Into New Lives

THE BEGINNING — "I need help badly," cries this man. This plea is heard often by Major Ernest Alder (left), manager of the new Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center at 118 W. Lawrence St. With the plea for help, comes the beginning of this man's road toward rehabilitation.

CARPENTRY SHOP — The center, just recently opened, provides such rehabilitation shops as this carpentry shop. Here a household article, such as a table, can be made to look spanking new. The men usually work in the various shops based on their occupations before they entered the center.

COBBLER AT WORK—That pair of shoes you thought no longer wearable, turned up in this shoe repair shop at the center after you called the Salvation Army truck pickup service. If the shoes or boots are repairable, and some aren't, this man goes to work on them. When he is done they go out to the adjacent Red Shield store where they can be purchased for around $2. This money goes to keep this man clothed and fed.

BALING OPERATION — Most people wonder what the Salvation Army does with the tons of newspapers, magazines and rags collected. It is baled together in a method shown here and sold to paper companies and industrial plants. The money from this work also goes to support the self-sustaining center.

Your Discards Help Men Off Skid Row

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

That rag or old newspaper you just tossed out could have meant a hot bowl of soup for a man just off Skid Row and now hoping for a new life at Pontiac's new Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center.

"Lady, we take anything," was a recent comment of Maj. Ernest Alder, manager of the center, when asked what "the army" picked up.

So that now lost rag or paper might have been among the thousands, collected upon call, which eventually mean food, clothes and shelter for 40 men housed at the center, 118 W. Lawrence St.

The tons of waste paper and rags are baled and sold to paper mills and industrial firm for re-use. This money comes back to the treasury of the completely self-supporting center.

MOSTLY ALCOHOLICS

Besides this baling work, there are numerous other shops where supposedly unusable household items are restored by these men as part of their rehabilitation toward a new life.

Eighty per cent of the men in the Pontiac and 115 similiar centers in the United States come off Skid Row as alcoholics. Most have left families far behind.

Others are ex-convicts who find it difficult to readjust to society and to find work; some are physically handicapped, and others socially unadjustable or emotionally disturbed men.

They come of their own accord. "They have to want to better themselves or we can't help," said 49-year-old Alder, a veteran of 27 years with the Salvation Army.

The center, formerly a warehouse of the Whitfield, Walter & Dawson wholesale grocery firm, was purchased in July of 1956 for $180,000. A $300,000 remodeling job was recently completed, paving the way for the first men.

Proceeds to operate the center come from the sale of discarded articles which have been refinished and placed in the Red Shield store.

WEEKLY GRANTS

The men receive a weekly "grant" ranging from $5 to $18, besides three meals a day, clothes and shelter without charge.

Salvation Army statistics show that 20 per cent of the men in all centers are fully rehabilitated after an average stay of from three to four months. More than half are "definitely helped," while the rest usually return to their bad traits.

What leads them along the road toward rehabilitation are shops like those for carpentry, upholstery, painting and repairing television sets, radios, shoes, and electrical appliances, all of which are found in the Pontiac center.

A focal point of the center is a small chapel with a capacity for 75 men. Here midweek and Sunday services are held. Bible classes are offered.

"All these services are means to an end," explained Maj. Alder. "And that is to make a new man and provide a new life for him."

UPHOLSTERY SHOP — Another shop where the Salvation Army "clients" keep busy is this upholstery shop. Work here is just another in a series of steps which will aid this man to readjust so he might return to society. Couches and chairs turned out of this shop go also to the Red Shield store for resale. All proceeds from the store go toward running the service center.

RECREATION NEEDED ALSO — Not forgetting the theory that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," the officials of the Pontiac Salvation Army center have provided several means of recreation and relaxation for the men. Included is this pool table in the second floor recreation room. There is also television, hundreds of books turned in to the center, and a refreshment bar. Movies, chapel services and classes in vocational skills are or will be available for the men also.

NEAT DORMITORY — Major Alder inspects the largest of three dormitories which are provided for the men that voluntarily seek help at the center. This room formerly stored tons of groceries as the building used to be a warehouse of the grocery firm of Whitfield, Walter & Dawson. After many nights on "skid row," from where 80 per cent of the men come, this seems like paradise.

Northland Restaurateur Beaten

Hunt 2 in Assault-Robbery

SOUTHFIELD—Police are seeking two gunmen who brutally beat a Northland Shopping Center restaurant manager and robbed him of $620 Saturday night.

Earl J. Langlois, 37, of 7440 Memorial St., Detroit, was treated for head injuries at William Beaumont Hospital.

He told Southfield Police he was accosted by two men as he went to his car in a Northland lot about 7:15 p.m., after leaving the Peter Pan Restaurant which he managed.

A man was sitting in the back seat of his car, Langlois said, and another came up from behind, stuck a gun in his back and said: "This is a stickup."

They drove him around, slugging him, before they fled after tying him up and leaving him in the trunk of the auto, parked in Oak Park, he said.

He managed to work his bonds free, got out and called the police, the victim said.

Langlois said the thugs took $560 in restaurant receipts and $60 of his own money.

It was Northland's first robbery.

Anti-Radiation Fertilizer, Pills Under Study

WASHINGTON (INS) — American scientists are experimenting today with special pills and fertilizer aimed at saving man and soil from the perils of an atomic attack or nuclear accident.

Dr. Willard Libby, an Atomic Energy Commission member, said both programs are in the experimental stage and primarily directed against the dangers of strontium 90, a nuclear reaction product.

The pills—made of calcium—have been tried with some success on rats, but not yet tested on human beings. Experiments at Cornell University show rats treated with the pills display increased resistance to strontium 90 infiltration of their bones.

Substances which scientists hope will eventually cleanse radioactive fallout from soil are now being developed at the University of California.

Libby said work on similar "refertilizers" is being carried on in England, but a satisfactory chemical has not yet been perfected.

A lifelong resident of Oakland County, he had been a railroad engineer.

Mr. Smith leaves his wife, Cornelia; three sons, Dr. Donald Smith of Pontiac, Lester of Davisburg and Chester of Fenton; four daughters, Mrs. Leslie Fitzgerald of Drayton Plains; Mrs. Hall Seely of Roseburg, Ore., Mrs. George Miller of South Lyons, and Mrs. Lyman Walker of Okemus.

Hayride Wagon Rammed by Car

Party Turns Nightmare as One Killed, Seven Teenagers Hurt

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)—A Saturday night hayride wound up as a grisly nightmare for a group of teen-agers after an old model car rammed into the rear of the straw-filled trailer carrying the youngsters.

A passenger in the car, Joe Martinez, 23, Seguin, Tex., was killed. Seven of 27 injured remained hospitalized today, including the driver of the car, Frank Arenas, 23, San Antonio.

The trailer was knocked into a water-filled ditch. Some of the youngsters were found wandering about the area more than an hour after the accident.

The injured included the party's chaperon, retired Sgt. Paul Reed.

His foot was amputated. At least one of the teen-agers lost a limb.

The youngsters were members of the Ft. Sam Houston Teen-age Club. Most were dependents of military personnel.

Airliner Hits Building on Paris Runway

PARIS (UP) — A four-engine Air France plane smashed into an Orly Airport administration building today while maneuvering on the ground before taking off for London. The airline said no one was hurt.

The airline blamed brake trouble. The 49 passengers were transferred to another plane.

Fatal to 22 Persons

SANTIAGO, Chile (INS) — Twenty-two persons — many of them women and children—were killed Sunday when two buses collided on the Santiago-Cartagena highway.

More than 30 persons were injured, some of them seriously, in the crash. Cartagena is a resort near the capital.

Archery Blooms in Holly

HOLLY—Archery is being promoted here by the Holly Sportsmen's Club. Dallas Johnson, who has charge of that project, says that an effort is being made to begin league activities on Jan. 5. Family groups are to be a feature. Participation in the sport is open to the public.

Inkster Man Held in Fatal Shooting

DETROIT (UP) — William A. Adams, 40, of suburban Inkster, was held for investigation of murder Saturday following the fatal shooting of Frazer Allen, 31, of Inkster.

The shooting took place in the Inkster home of Clara Winstin, 31, described by police as Adams' common-law wife.

MSU to Offer Two Courses

Pontiac Area Teachers May Choose Between Sociology, Dietetics

Two extension courses will be offered this winter by Michigan State University for Pontiac area teachers and interested residents.

According to Dr. Ted Ward, MSU College of Education resident staff member, both courses will meet from 7 to 10 Tuesday evenings at the Pontiac Central High School beginning January 7.

One course, "Social and Philosophical Foundations of Education," studies the interrelationship between school and society and the impact on public education of current major social trends and forces.

An evaluation of dietary habits in relation to nutritional needs of individuals will be conducted in the second course, "Patterns of Food Intake." A survey of factors which influence food habits will also be made.

Each course carries three hours of graduate or undergraduate credits. Prospective students may register at the first or second class sessions.

Ten credit courses are also being offered in Berkley, Birmingham, Clarkston, Dearborn, Livonia, Van Dyke - Fitzgerald, Waterford and Port Huron, Ward added.

Marlette Lights Streets

MARLETTE — Lighting of several streets in the Marlette business district is being nearly tripled, Village Clerk Cecil Dawson announced.

Scott May Talk to Save His Life

LOS ANGELES (UP) — L. Ewing Scott, who remained silent during the long trial that led to his conviction of murder in the mysterious disappearance of his wife, may take the stand today in an effort to save himself from the gas chamber.

Found guilty of first-degree murder although his wife's body has never been found, Scott will have what may be a final chance to tell his story when the jury reconvenes to hear further testimony on which it will base his penalty.

Under a new California law, the jury that convicted Scott Saturday must now decide in a separate proceeding whether he is to be sentenced to death or life imprisonment.

Whatever the decision, defense attorney P. Basil Lambros said, he plans to appeal the case to a higher court.

Scott, a 61-year-old former stockbroker, showed no emotion when the guilty verdict was announced.

Lambros said he thought Scott's failure to testify during the 11-week trial may have had a lot to do with the jury's verdict—which came as an obvious shock to defense counsel, no matter how calmly Scott took it.

"We just didn't feel the prosecution had proved any case against him," said Lambros, explaining why Scott had been kept off the stand. "We didn't want to let him get up there and get boxed in on something else, like income taxes."

One bit of testimony the defense said it intends to present concerns another report that Mrs. Scott, who disappeared May 16, 1955, has been seen recently. Lambros did not elaborate on the report.

Scott has based his defense all along on his contention that his wealthy socialite wife left him voluntarily and is, as far as he knows still alive.

Relatives brought the case to official attention 10 months after Mrs. Evelyn Throsby Scott, then 63, vanished. Scott was indicted on charges of forgery and grand theft in the handling of her $600,000 estate. Then he too disappeared. While he was missing he was indicted, in October 1956, on the murder charge. He was apprehended at the Canadian border near Detroit last April 15.

Unions Delivering 140 Yule Baskets

Members of Fisher Body Local 596 UAW and Pontiac Motor Division Local 653 UAW today were busy making Christmas a lot merrier for many as they distrubuted some 140 baskets to needy families.

Forty needy families of the Pontiac Motor Local will receive baskets of fruit, turkeys and other foods, according to Charles A. Beach, local president.

Needy families of the Fisher Body Local, and some 25 other families, will be the lucky recipients of 100 baskets distributed every year by the union, Harold A. Grant, local president, announced.

Pontiac Man Struck While Crossing Street

A pedestrian was injured at 10:30 last night as he crossed Lawrence street at Saginaw.

Richard H. Beedle, 68, of 27 Clark St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with a possible skull fracture. He is reported in fair condition today.

The driver, Richard J. Robichaud, 22, of 59 S. Francis St., said he did not see Beedle until the moment of impact.

Christmas Message Warns of Danger to Earth

Pope Calls for End of Arms Race

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII called on mankind yesterday to halt the arms race lest it lead to disaster and endanger the fate of "the earth itself." He implied that he endorses the West's proposals for controlled disarmament.

In his 19th annual Christmas message to the world, the 81-year-old pontiff counseled Christians not to fear Russia's current triumphs in the Sputnik field.

Such records, the leader of the Roman Catholic Church declared, were "often of very short duration."

The pontiff's speech, beamed to a host of nations by the Vatican's powerful new radio transmitter, was believed to be the most widely broadcast message in history.

As he did last Christmas, the Pope affirmed man's right for self defense, but he called on the governments of the world not to be mislead by pride in a race for arms supremacy.

The cost of an arms race is ruinous, he warned.

"Such quantities of material, such sums of money derived from savings and the result of restrictions and toil," he said, "such expenditures of human labor taken away from urgent need, are consumed to prepare these new arms."

"Even the wealthiest nations," he cautioned," must foresee the times in which they will regret the dangerously weakened harmony of the national economy, or are in fact already regretting it, though endeavoring to conceal the fact."

Without calling them by name, the Pope endorsed the North Atlantic Alliance, the United Nations and Western disarmament proposals, saying: "The divine law of harmony strictly imposes on all rulers of nations the obligation to prevent war by means of suitable international organizations, to reduce armaments under a system of effective inspection, to deter whoever should aim at disturbing the peace with the most fully guaranteed mutual dependence between the nations which sincerely desire it."

In a clear reference to Russia's successes with space missiles, he cautioned: "Let those who observe today's competition, therefore, know how to reduce the facts to their true proportions, and, while not rejecting approaches aiming at peace agreements which are always desirable, let them not permit themselves to be misled by records, often of very short duration, nor to be too much influenced by fears skillfully evoked to win the interest and support of others who may be glad to be connected with a class of men among whom the 'homo faber' (the foundry man) takes precedence over the 'homo sapiens' (the thinking man).

"May the advantage, then, go to the Christian man who, making use of the liberty of spirit . . . recovers in the objective consideration of events that peace and stability of soul which has its source in the divine spirit."

The pontiff delivered his message from his throne in the Vatican's Consistoral Hall after receiving the Christmas greetings of the College of Cardinals. Twelve of the cardinals were present.

Spring Thaw in Midwinter Is Hurting County's Roads

The unseasonal thaw this past week has dealt Oakland County's roads an unexpected blow, according to the Oakland County Road Commission.

An estimated $15,000 to $20,000 damage has resulted as frozen roads, warmed by the highest December temperatures in many years, became cracked, chuckholed and flooded, said Paul Van Roekel, county highway engineer.

Road commission crews worked over the weekend in a race with the weather.

"If we don't get the damage repaired by the time the weather becomes freezing again, the damage of the past week will probably be unrepairable until springtime," Van Roekel said.

Nearly every mile of the 2,569 miles of local and primary roads under road commission jurisdiction were softened in the thaw and rains of last week to a point where all commission forces were pressed to keep up.

Oscar D. Loomis, commission maintenance superintendent, said district superintendents had reported their areas "are breaking up as if this were spring."

Loomis explained, "The frost was down 6 to 8 inches when the thaw came and rains set in. The frost is gone now and softening roads are bringing a flood of complaints from every section of the county road system. Freezing weather before the roads dry out would leave rough driving everywhere."

Gravel roads have been the hardest hit, being roughed up by cars traveling over them in suddenly softened condition, Van Roekel said.

Rains also have flooded most of the traditional low trouble spots, adding another problem, he added.

Concrete and blacktopped highways have been chuckholed, and road repair crews are detailed to patch them as soon as possible, he said.

Van Roekel urged drivers to avoid hitting soft shoulders as the unseasonal thaw lasts.

"They're in soft condition and will be torn up whenever a car hits them," he said.

12th Assembly Showed 2-Camp World

By PIERRE J. HUSS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS) —The 12th annual U. N. General Assembly, which ended three months of sessions a week ago, dramatically demonstrated that the world is divided into two major hostile camps.

It showed also that the Soviet Union, all Communist protestations to the contrary, is interested solely in promoting the Marxist objective of global conquest.

The 12 weeks of "peaceful co-existence" between east and west in the ornate Assembly auditorium and the exchange of back-slapping and smiles in the U. N. corridors only emphasized the fact that Moscow is the bitter enemy of Washington and that the Russian delegates in the U.N. were instructed by guile, threat or persuasion to wean those from non-Communist lands who would listen away from any and all American influence.

HUNGARY HURT REDS

Another truth was put into focus by the Assembly: Soviet prestige and political influence in U. N.—and around the free world—had taken a welcome nosedive under the smashing impact of the U. N. Committee's report on the rape of Hungary.

There was confidence among U. N. leaders that the Kremlin could be made to suffer and even perhaps to obey U. N. edicts by the application of moral force exerted in the scheduled round of discussion on Hungary based on the committee's report.

Just as this discussion got under way, the racial bombshell exploded at Little Rock, Ark., and swiftly the Russians seized on this spectacle to draw attention away from Hungary and instigate rancor against the United States.

The successful launchings of two Sputniks gave the Russians their final weapon with which to smoke-screen Communist crimes and objectives. By the time the Assembly adjourned, Moscow again was top dog and busy as ever in promoting red propaganda and intrigue abroad.

STARTED SEPTEMBER SMEAR

If there are those who still doubt that the Kremlin's "Peaceful co-existence" is anything but a dangerous fraud and come-on, then the activities in the assembly of the Soviet delegation should pull the wool away.

Starting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's truculent September speech, the Russians day in and day out heaped abuse and vilification on the United States. This "smear" campaign spared no effort to depict America and its "ruling circles" in the light of all that the people from the Danube and Nile to the Indus or Yangste rivers could hate.

Another evil Kremlin strategy popped into the limelight during the assembly. The Soviet delegates at U. N. shouted "war mongers" at free world diplomats by the hour. At the same time, they framed together a "war crisis" on the Syrian-Turkish border in an effort to lure Turkey and perhaps the U. S. into shooting trouble.

This was the kind of trick used by Nazi dictator Hitler to manufacture pretexts for grabbing Austria, Sudetenland and Czechoslovakia.

PROPOSE CO-EXISTENCE

The Assembly, fortunately, smelled the rat and brushed aside all maneuvers by the Russians to entrap it in the Moscow "war scare." But the Russians, with a straight face, came back with their long-discredited "peaceful co-existence" proposal.

Examination of the whole record of the Soviet Union's activity in U. N. only too clearly corroborates the fact that the Kremlin has one policy: Keep on and on until the policy of divide and conquer gives them the world.

In the face of this unsavory international situation, there is also the more constructive side of the Assembly's work.

Many top experts on world affairs agree that the Assembly, even though powerless to enforce its will, does act as a road block in the long run to Soviet ambitions and bare-faced intrigues against non-Communist lands. It gives splendid opportunity to western leaders like U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge for effective counter-punching — which he has done with superb skill—and for presenting the United States viewpoint constructively.

Looking at the broad aspects of the 12th assembly and the terrific global problems it faced, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold put it this way: "The Assembly's mapping of the ground has been more important than its marching across."

Ambassador Lodge estimated that the Assembly made progress by "exposing" the Soviet "sham" of the Syrian-Turkish crisis, approving the $100-million-dollar fund for helping underdeveloped countries, by reducing the U. N. assessment which the U. S. pays annually from 33 1-3 per cent to 30 per cent, and endorsement of the western disarmament proposals in rejection of Soviet propaganda offers.

Security Council President Carlos P. Romulo said the recent assembly demonstrated the emergence of the Afro-Asian states as a third power to be reckoned with, and that the important task facing the United States in future assemblies is to win this large group to its own side. He added:

"In spite of everything, the U. N. has shown again it cannot be intimidated on fundamental problems affecting peace and security of the world. Soviet Russia on three questions has been placed on the defensive and in an embarrassing light before world public opinion."

Opposing Subs Send Messages on Eve of Yule

ROME (INS) — Italy's Premier Adone Zoli has a favorite Christmas story that goes back to World War I.

The story—a true one—is about a British and a German submarine that met on combat mission in the North Sea on a Christmas eve during the war.

The German U-boat fired a torpedo against the British sub. The latter a few moments later fired one of its own.

The crews of the two subs waited for the fateful moment. It never came. The two torpedos passed close to the subs but missed.

The two sub commanders pondered their next moves. The British commander, apparently sensing the significance of the moment, radioed his adversary a "Merry Christmas."

The German commander radioed back: "Merry Christmas to you." Then each went his way.

Mysteries, Westerns Shown to Be All Wet

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—For those who think that mystery and western novels are all wet, they're right — at least at the Ardmore library.

Water leaked through a hole in the roof and caused $50,000 damage to books in the western and mystery department.

Roadster Rock to Pay for Strip

Christmas Night Affair to Be Held in Keego Harbor

In an effort to continue to raise funds for a police sanctioned drag strip and youth center in Oakland County, the Oakland County Timing Association will sponsor a dance Christmas night.

The drag strip promoters will hold the Roadster Rock II at Strong's Rollar Rink on Cass Lake road, Keego Harbor, from 8 to 12 Wednesday night.

Don Zee, local disc jockey, will emcee the record dance, and intermission entertainment will be provided by recording stars the Key-Tones, a rock and roll and ballad singing quartet and Jack Scott of Highland Park.

Admission to the dance is one dollar per person and tickets may be purchased at the door, according to Armand Fitzpatrick, of Waterford, dance chairman.

Other committee chairman include Bill Martin, of Waterford, entertainment and Mrs. Bonnie Lechner, 51 Princeton St., decorations.

The site of the White House, comprising about 16 acres, was originally purchased for the sum of about $1,600.

Rosaries to Roadsters

Vatican City Is Paradise for Christmas Shoppers

By JOHN J. CASSERLY

VATICAN CITY (INS)—The little world of Vatican City is a Christmas shopping paradise.

It features everything from rosaries to roadsters. Prices are cheaper than anywhere in Italy. And there's no Christmas rush—with little more than a thousand population living within the high brick walls.

SMELL AROMA

Passing St. Anne's gate one smells the aroma of new-baked bread, made inside at the Vatican bakery, one of the finest and most modern in the world. Italians, recalling the German occupation of World War II when bread was scarce but was distributed from the Vatican freely, refer to the loaves as "the Pope's bread."

At dawn each morning, a long line of trucks waits at the Vatican gates either to enter or leave their cargoes for the Vatican's private railroad to carry inside. Everything entering the Vatican is duty-free, according to a concordat with the Italian government.

All types of food, shoes, dresses, suits, cloth for all purposes—all enter into the tiny community of about 108 acres from many parts of the world. Even foreign cars—sold at half the price as that in Italy proper—and American cigarettes — going for one-third the price on the Rome market—are among the items on sale. Also various types of spirits and liquors are on the Vatican store shelves, at half the price listing in outside Rome. Motor oil costs just over half the price in Italy.

Shops have the latest types of Christmas cards, even Christmas trees and turkey!

Should one of the Holy See's civilian employes eat a bit too much during the holidays, he can step into one of the most modern and best-stocked pharmacies in the world.

Little Rock, Ark., is the home of the University of Arkansas, Arkansas Law School, Little Rock Junior College, St. John's Seminary, Philander Smith College, Arkansas Baptist College and the School for the Deaf and Blind.

Device Saves Livestock in Fire

French Mayor Inventor

TOULOUSE (INS) — Running a town of 3,700 isn't enough for Mayor Eloi Castaing. He invents things, too.

Castaing, of Fleurance in southwestern France, has developed a mechanism whereby animals can be freed instantly from a flaming stable.

Castaing's system involves the installation of a wheel to control containing rods in front of each animal's stall.

Its advantages are many:

—All animals are freed simultaneously.

—The containing rods are removed by a few quick spins of the controlling-wheel.

—The wheel is installed outside the building so that no one risks death by burning or asphyxiation.

Lions Now Turn Thoughts Toward Browns

Detroit Roars to 31-27 Win Against 49ers

- Rote Engineers Second Half Comeback; Tracy Scores 2 Touchdowns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Can Detroit's Lions beat the Cleveland Browns in Sunday's National Football League championship game?

"Sure, why not," asserted Lion quarterback Tobin Rote. He had just engineered a 31-27 comeback victory for his club over the San Francisco 49ers yesterday in their playoff for the Western Conference title.

"The Browns are always rough," said Detroit coach George Wilson with more caution. Then he added, "We beat them on Dec. 8 (20-7) and we're hoping to do it again." They'll meet in Detroit.

It was in like lambs and out like Lions for Detroit as the 49ers built up a 27-7 lead with 2 minutes and 22 seconds gone in the third quarter only to falter and fail.

San Francisco quarterback Y.A. Tittle pitched touchdown passes of 34 yards to R. C. Owens, 47 to Hugh McElhenny and 12 to Billy Wilson. Gordy Soltau added three conversions and two field goals of 25 and 10 yards.

Then, trailing by 28 points, the Lions roared back. Tittle fumbled and Bob Long recovered at the San Francisco 27. With fourth down at the 20, Rote passed complete to Hopalong Cassady at the 6. Two plays later Tom Tracy boomed over from the one.

Less than two minutes later that same Tracy, a 210-pound reserve fullback playing for the injured John Henry Johnson, raced 59 yards to score and Jim Martin's conversion made it 27-21.

On the last play of the third period, Rote hit end Steve Junker for a 37-yard gain to the 15. Tracy crashed for 10, Rote for 3 and Gene Gedman scored. Martin converted and Detroit led for the first time 28-27.

Later Martin added a 13-yard field goal.

So Detroit on Sunday gets another crack at a traditional foe and the NFL title the Lions held last in 1953. They won the Western Conference title the following year but were beaten by Cleveland.

Rote was asked about the amazing comeback performance yesterday. He had gained only 82 yards passing in the first half and the Lions picked up only 25 on the ground.

But in the third and fourth periods, Rote added 132 passing and the team rushed for 104.

"Well, I guess you'd have to say I was having a bad day in the first half," Rote said. "But you also have to remember, we had the ball for only six plays in the whole second quarter.

"But we sure went to work in the second half. I didn't give up. None of our players did. I can't explain what happened—just a desire to win, I guess.

"So, altogether, maybe I had a good day."

The former Rice star came to the Lions for this season from Green Bay where he had played seven seasons.

Detroit defensive halfback Jim David, who injured an ankle last week, started yesterday's game but suffered a reinjury.

San Francisco fullback Joe Perry was hurt on the final play and will undergo X-rays to see if he fractured his jaw.

COSTLY BOBBLE — This is the costly fumble which turned the tide in the crucial game between the Lions and the 49ers yesterday. Y. A. Tittle fumbled on the San Francisco 26-yard line and while all the activity goes on in the line, Detroit's defending end Bob Long jumps on the loose ball. In nine plays Detroit had its second touchdown. The Lions made a sensational second half comeback to take a 31-27 victory.

'Little Dutchman' Dies at 78

Cancer Claims Bob Zuppke

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Bob Zuppke of Illinois, one of the most inventive coaches in American football history, is dead.

Affectionately known as "Little Dutchman," Zuppke died yesterday at the age of 78 in Cole Memorial Hospital. Cause of death was prostatic cancer, complicated by high blood pressure and a long-standing heart ailment. He suffered a serious stroke in 1955.

Funeral services will be held in First Presbyterian Church at 11 a.m. tomorrow. The body will be cremated.

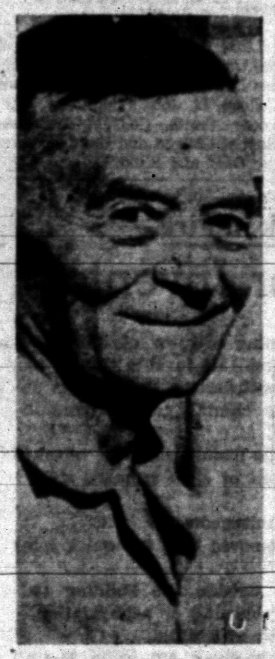

Zuppke, who retired as Illinois' football coach in 1941 after 29 years of service, was given little hope during the past week when his health began failing rapidly.

Honorary pallbearers include Harold (Red) Grange, the "galloping ghost" who became Zuppke's most famous pupil; George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears who played for Zup at Illinois; Ray Eliot who succeeded Zuppke as Illinois head football coach, and star players and captains of Illinois teams through the Zuppke era.

Zuppke was known as the master of the upset and rival coaches feared and respected him. He produced seven Big Ten titles for Illinois and his teams won 131 games, lost 80 and tied 12.

One of his first big upsets was a 14-9 triumph over a great Minnesota team in 1916. In 1924, he surprised Michigan, 39-14, when Grange scored five touchdowns, four in the first quarter. And probably the last to be remembered was the 13-9 victory over Michigan in 1939 when the Wolverines were riding high with Tom Harmon and Forest Evashevski.

GRID GREAT DIES—Former Illinois football coach Bob Zuppke, 78, died yesterday after a cancer illness in Champaign, Ill. He coached the Illini for 29 years.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan's athletic director who coached the 1939 Wolverines, said Zuppke was "the coach I most dreaded to meet on the playing field. He was inventive and resourceful and you never knew what he was going to do."

country, hearing of Zup's death, joined in calling him one of the great college coaches of all time.

Lou Little, former Columbia coach, said "it is a great loss, not only to the athletic world but to the academic world as well. He was one of the greatest contributors to football."

Amos Alonzo Stagg, the grand old man of football, called Zup "a very able coach, a good thinker. He got the very most out of his material. Red Grange was just one of the very able players he developed."

Grange said football lost one of its greatest figures. "He (Zuppke) was closer to me than anyone except my father."

After his retirement, Zuppke turned to farming and his self chosen hobby of painting. For a while he served as an advisory coach to the Chicago Bears but had to give it up because of ill health. His time in the final years was spent between his apartment in Champaign and his summer home in Muskegon Mich., where his coaching career began on the high school level in 1905.

He went to the University of Wisconsin where he won a freshman numeral in football but he never did succeed in winning a varsity letter.

Thirty two years after his graduation he returned to Wisconsin and was awarded his "W" at a banquet observing his 25 years as coach at Illinois.

Red Wings Blank Chicago, 2-0

Shutout for Sawchuk

DETROIT (AP) — Goalie Terry Sawchuk scored one of the easiest shutouts of his career last night as the Detroit Red Wings rode a three-game winning streak into a tie for third place in National Hockey League standings.

Detroit's — and Sawchuk's — triumph came at the expense of the Chicago Black Hawks, a 2-0 drubbing that mired the Hawks further in the NHL cellar.

Sawchuk's shutout took only 17 saves and was his first at Olympic Stadium since returning to Detroit from Boston. His Chicago counterpart, Glenn Hall, had a busier night of it, making 32 stops in all.

The Wings scored both their markers in the second period on goals by Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman. The first came following a long pass from Nick Mickoski. Ullman came through seconds later on a pass from Gordie Howe.

It was Sawchuk's third shutout of the year.

The Montreal Canadiens' threat to make a runaway of the National Hockey League pennant race has fizzled, at least temporarily, all because the New York Rangers are on another red-hot streak.

Results of the weekend games in which the Rangers defeated the Canadiens 4-2 Saturday night and then turned back Toronto 5-2 Sunday to run their unbeaten string to six games, left the New Yorkers only four points back of Montreal. The Canadiens defeated Boston 4-1 Sunday for an even-break in their weekend games.

The Bruins tied Toronto 3-3 on Saturday while Detroit whipped the cellar - dwelling Chicago Black Hawks twice in a home-and-home series. The Red Wings won 5-3 Saturday in Chicago.

Dave Creighton produced two goals in the Rangers triumph over the Maple Leafs as they moved nine points away from the third place Bruins. After trailing twice, the Rangers erupted for a pair of goals within a span of 11 seconds and then added another in the second period to go ahead to stay. Creighton scored his goals in the first and second periods.

Andre Pronovost scored twice and Claude Provost added a goal and two assists in leading the Canadiens to their triump hover Boston. Boston spoiled goal Jacques Plante's bid for his fifth shutout when Real Chevrefils converted a pass from Johnny Pierson at 14:19 of the third period.

Boston Outbids Tigers

Red Sox Get Detroit Lad

BOSTON (INS) — The Red Sox have paid $50,000 for one of the hottest baseball prospects in Detroit.

The Boston American said today it had learned that the Boston club outbid the Tigers and all American League teams with the exception of the White Sox and Orioles for Al Moran, of Michigan State.

Moran, a product of the sandlots, is a shortstop and third baseman who bats and throws right.

He played at Catholic Central High School in Detroit, where Art Houtteman once performed. Catholic Central has developed many Tiger prospects.

A freshman, Moran is attending Michigan State on a football scholarship. He was an all-state halfback during his grammar and high school days. He also plays basketball.

Moran was the second collegian signed to a big bonus by the Sox within two weeks. On December 11, "Wog" Rice, Sox scout, signed Don Schwall, 21, right hand pitcher from Oklahoma, for $50,000.

Michigan Splits, MSU Loses 2 in Puck Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hockey teams at Michigan and Michigan State made little headway in meetings with out-of-state opponents in the Western Intercollegiate Hockey League over the weekend.

Michigan came off best with a two-game split against Colorado College. MSU lost both its games with Denver.

A pair of fast goals in the final period gave Denver University a 4-2 victory over the Spartans Saturday night. Denver, leading in the league, downed MSU 5-1 Friday night.

Colorado College, defending NCAA champion, overpowered the Wolverines 6-1 Saturday night after taking a 6-3 loss at the hands of the Wolverines Friday night.

Cleveland Gives Brown New Pact

CLEVELAND (INS) — Paul Brown, coach of the Eastern Division champion Cleveland Browns, was signed today to a new five year contract, believed to be the longest pact in professional football history.

Dave B. Jones, president, said the new agreement is good until March 1, 1963.

The board of directors expressed the opinion that such a long contract was a responsibility owed both the city and the Cleveland public.

It was not disclosed whether Brown received a pay boost.

Food Poisoning Fells Several at Pro Final

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Over 50 football fans, stricken with food poisoning, had to leave the 49ers-Detroit Lions game before the first half ended Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

Deviled egg sandwiches, bought inside the gates, apparently caused the illness of 50 members of the Pacific Grove High school band and an undetermined number of other fans.

The students were taken to a San Francisco emergency hospital for treatment and advised to go home.

New Piston Coach Gets First Feel of Defeat

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—New Detroit Pistons coach Red Rocha found out last night that lady luck can frown as readily as she can smile.

The Detroiters suffered their second worst defeat of the current campaign when the Syracuse Nationals climbed all over them for a 119-93 victory in a National Basketball Assn. contest.

The Pistons, a hard-luck crew all season, had been at their smoothest the night before, trampling the Cincinnati Royals, 112-101, in a home game. It was the first time Rocha was in charge after taking over from Charley Eckman, Pistons mentor until last week.

George Yardley, the Pistons' top scorer, was held to 10 points before being taken out by Rocha after 28 minutes of playing time. Yardley made seven of his markers in the first half.

The Nationals led all the way, holding a 58-39 advantage at intermission and leading the Pistons by 33 points at one part of the second half.

Johnny Kerr of Syracuse led the scoring with 26 points, 22 of them made in the first half. He was followed by National ace Dolph Schayes with 24.

The victory gave Syracuse a half-game edge over New York in the NBA's eastern division. Detroit is in third place in the four-team Western Division.

Parker Refuses to Comment on Lions' Victory

Ex-Coach Says, "Got My Own Business to Take Care Of"

PITTSBURGH (AP) — No comment, said Buddy Parker when the club he jilted won the Western Conference championship of the National Football League yesterday.

Parker, now the coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, walked out on the Detroit Lions shortly before their first game. His blistering comment at the time was, "This is the worst team I've ever seen in training camp. They have no life, no go, just a completely dead team."

George Wilson, an assistant under Parker, took over the team and directed it in an uphill fight that reached a climax with the Lions' 31-27 victory over San Francisco yesterday.

Contacted after the victory, Parker said: "No comment, I got my own business to take care of."

Steelers Whip Cards in Final

CHICAGO (INS) — The Pittsburgh Steelers parlayed quarterback Earl Morrall's passing with a good running attack and an alert defense today to trounce the Chicago Cardinals, 27 to 2, before 10,084 fans at Comiskey Park.

It was Pittsburgh's sixth victory of the year against six defeats. The Cards wound up their season with three victories and nine losses. They failed to win a single home game during the season.

Morrall passed for one touchdown — a play that covered 48 yards in the first period, with Jack McLairen on the receiving end.

Jack Butler's interception of Joe Childress' pass late in the opening period paved the way for the second Steeler touchdown. Good running by Billy Wells and Fran Rogel moved the ball 51 yards following Butler's interception, with Rogel diving over for the touchdown from the one-yard stripe.

The Cards got their only points on an automatic safety in the third quarter when a bad pass from Pittsburgh center Ed Beatty rolled out of the Steeler end zone.

Aggies May Name Coach

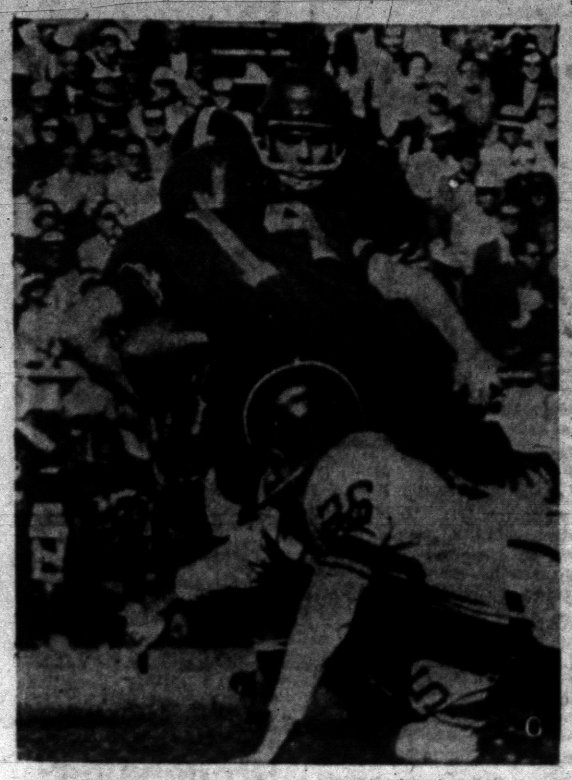

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—A new football coach for Texas A&M may be obtained today and best indications are that it will be either Henry "Red" Sanders of UCLA or Frank Leahy, who once led Notre Dame.

Leahy's name entered the picture yesterday when it became known that the former successful coach of the Fighting Irish had visited the A&M campus. Sanders was here last week and is supposed to confer with the UCLA board of control on whether he will remain there or journey to Texas.

It could not be ascertained from college officials whether Leahy was in the picture but the Houston Post said "informed sources told The Post that the decision concerning a replacement for head coach Paul "Bear" Bryant rests between Sanders, UCLA head coach, and Leahy, former Notre Dame head coach."

Dr. M. T. Harrington, president of Texas A&M, said he would neither confirm nor deny that Leahy was a contender for the job.

STOPPED — End Jerry Taylor of Hillsdale College, who hails from Walled Lake, stops Pittsburg State College back from going too far in the Holiday Bowl game Saturday. Hillsdale lost, 27-26.

Dales Battle, But Streak Ends

34-Game Skein Snapped, 27-26 in Holiday Bowl

Doug Maison of Imlay Sparkles but Kansas Team Ekes Out Win

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Doug Maison had the crowd of 7,500 cheering him wildly as he tried unsuccessfully to pass his Hillsdale College team to victory over Pittsburg State College in the Holiday Bowl football contest.

They probably would have cheered twice as hard—if that were possible—if they knew the handicap under which he was playing. He sprained his ankle in practice and reinjured it in the first half.

Maison, a 200-pound senior, passed for three touchdowns and scored his team's fourth in the 27-26 loss to Pittsburg Saturday.

He brought his team back fighting after the Kansas club took 20-0 lead in the first 10 minutes. Hillsdale tied it 20-20 early in the third period, only to see Pittsburg pull back ahead 27-20 and hold that lead till the final moments. Maison kept firing away and connected on another touchdown toss with only a minute and a half left. But the extra point try was low and wide and Hillsdale was a point behind.

Hillsdale got the ball on an on side kick and moved goalward again on Maison's arm. Two passes took the Dales to the Pittsburg 25 but as the gun sounded fullback Gene Wayenberg intercepted one in the end zone.

That broke Hillsdale's winning streak (longest in the country) at 34 and gave Pittsburg the championship of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA).

Maison, who played the entire game except for two plays, was named the most valuable player in the contest to go with his selection on the NAIA All America team.

When he was called to receive his trophy at the awards dinner he could hardly hobble to the stand.

Pittsburgh, a conservative team that won its nine regular season games by grinding out yardage in small pieces, successfully used passes in the tight spots to spell the difference. John Matous completed six of seven passes for 64 yards and two touchdowns.

Pittsburg took hold of three good breaks for three stunning touchdowns in the first quarter. A short punt, a pass interception and a fumble each opened the way to a touchdown.

In the second quarter, trailing 20-0, Hillsdale started on the road back with Maison passing. The Dales went 63 yards for their first touchdown with Maison sneaking the final inches. Maison passed seven yards to Walt Poe for the second touchdown and a 20-13 halftime score.

Hillsdale tied the score in the third quarter. Gary Taylor recovered a Pittsburg fumble on the five and Maison zipped a pass to Poe for a touchdown.

Pittsburgh recaptured the lead later in the third quarter and Hillsdale matched that touchdown with one in the fourth quarter. But Wayne O'Shaughnessy's kick for Hillsdale went wide, leaving the one-point gap.

Hillsdale coach Frank (Muddy) Waters said after the game: "Our kids played their hearts out. I can't single out any exceptions. We got beat by a darn good ball club."

Waters Praises Local Hillsdale Stars

Area Gridders Shine

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The nation's longest football winning streak came to an end here Saturday afternoon when Hillsdale College dropped a heartbreaking 27-26 decision to Pittsburg State Teachers College of Kansas.

Hillsdale's string of 34 consecutive victories was stopped by a burly band of Gorillas in the first annual Holiday Bowl game, sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

But the Dales have no reason to be ashamed. The gallant way in which they fought back from a 20-0 first quarter deficit to tie the score at 20-20, then lose by that all-important extra point is a great credit to their poise and skill.

Pontiac area gridders played a vital role in Hillsdale's remarkable, yet ill-fated comeback.

Halfback Walt Poe of Pontiac, tackle Jim Larkin of Waterford, end Jerry Taylor and tackle Phil Barker, both from Walled Lake; Earl and Wayne O'Shaugnessy, brothers from Keego Harbor, and Imlay City's Doug Maison — all were key figures in the Dales' valiant uphill fight.

Hillsdale coach Frank (Muddy) Waters, himself a former coach at Walled Lake High School, had nothing but praise for Oakland County area players in his post-game comments.

"Poe played a terrific game for us," said Waters, "and Larkin, Taylor and Barker were consistently strong in the line."

Waters lauded the work of the O'Shaughnessys and remarked, "Wayne's missed kick which kept us from tying the score just before the game ended is all part of football. I'm sure no one feels more unhappy about it than Wayne."

"If any pro scouts were watching Maison, they certainly got their eyes full," Muddy said, "he was phenomenal."

"All of the boys from around Pontiac turned in their finest performances for us in this game," remarked Muddy, "we lost, but we're proud of every one of them."

Maison, whose passing feats need not be recounted here, scored Hillsdale's first touchdown on a quarterback sneak. Poe scored the Dales' second and third touchdowns on passes from Maison and Earl O'Shaughnessy made the final TD after grabbing another Maison aerial.

Probably the most dejected gridder in the Hillsdale dressing room following the battle was Wayne O'Shaughnessy, whose extra point try after brother Earl's TD left the Dales on the short end of a 27-26 score. The rest of the story is history.

Waters didn't need to wonder if Maison was being watched by professional eyes. As soon as the game was over, Maison was approached by at least three pro scouts before he even had a chance to leave the field.

Red Grange, the famed "galloping ghost" from Illinois who made TV comments during the nationally telecast game, declared at Saturday night's honor banquet that Maison was the finest collegiate passer he had seen this season. Maison was voted the game's "most valuable player" at the banquet.

More than 300 Michigan football fans made the journey here to see the Dales play and nary a one regretted the trip.

Sanders Status Up for Action

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA's student board of control meets today to consider a situation created by Texas A&M's bid for the football coaching services of Red Sanders.

There have been rumors that Sanders is headed for College Station, Tex., to take the job vacated by Bear Bryant's switch to Alabama. Although the Texas Aggies are offering only $15,000 a year, outside inducements are said to boost the income to approximately $45,000. Sanders is getting slightly over $18,000 at UCLA, where he has been since 1949, when Bruin alumni wooed him away from Vanderbilt.

Sanders and UCLA athletic officials have indicated that definite word on his status will be forthcoming tomorrow, or Wednesday at the latest. Some observers have taken this to mean that Sanders is leaving UCLA, where he has enjoyed unusual success, but a Bruin spokesman said that he has not definitely made up his mind.

12 Big Cage Tourneys After Christmas

West Virginia Ends Tar Heel Victory Streak

North Carolina String Halted at 37 in Final of Kentucky Classic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While West Virginia, the giant killer of the year, basks in its glory, a dozen important holiday basketball tournaments are scheduled to get under way after Christmas.

In one — the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N.C. — North Carolina will try to pick up the pieces after seeing its proud 37 game winning streak shattered by West Virginia, 75-64, in the final of the Kentucky Invitational tournament last Saturday.

This was perhaps the biggest victory for Mountaineer coach Fred Schaus since he took over at West Virginia a little more than three seasons ago.

West Virginia now has an 8-0 record, and is ranked No. 8 in the Associated Press poll at the moment. It should move up when the ballots are counted this week. Schaus' outfit doesn't play again until Jan. 2.

As for North Carolina, the Tar Heels go right at it again against St. Louis Thursday in the first round of the Dixie Classic. North Carolina, rated at the top of the heap last week, was 23 victories away from the all-time college record of 60 set by San Francisco. 'Frisco won the Blue Grass tournament at Louisville, defeating Louisville, 62-55, Saturday night.

Another tournament which could wind up matching two of the Goliaths of the country is the big Eight which also starts Thursday at Kansas City. Kansas and Kansas State, 2-3 in the ratings, are the favorites to go through to the final.

Here is the list of the 12 major tournaments and the teams involved:

OPENING THURSDAY

HOLIDAY FESTIVAL at New York — Dayton vs. Manhattan, Temple vs. Pitt, Seattle vs. Connecticut, California vs. NYU.

ALL COLLEGE TOURNAMENT at Oklahoma City — San Francisco vs. Denver, Western Kentucky vs. Niagara, Oklahoma City vs. Tulane, Idaho State vs. Tulsa.

DIXIE CLASSIC at Raleigh, N.C. — Wake Forest vs. Duquesne, North Carolina State vs. Northwestern, Duke vs. Seton Hall, North Carolina vs. St. Louis.

BIG EIGHT tournament at Kansas City — Kansas vs. Oklahoma, Colorado vs. Iowa State, Kansas State vs. Missouri, Nebraska vs. Princeton.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE tournament at Houston — Southern Methodist vs. Texas Tech., Texas Christian vs. Texas A.&M., Arkansas vs. Texas, Rice vs. Baylor.

LOUISIANA INVITATIONAL at Shreveport — Centenary vs. The Citadel, Tennessee Tech. vs. Mississippi Southern, West Texas vs. Northwestern Louisiana, Hardin-Simmons vs. Louisiana Tech.

OPENING FRIDAY

FAR WEST CLASSIC at Corvallis, Ore. — Utah vs. Washington, Yale vs. Oregon State.

MOTOR CITY CLASSIC at Detroit — Georgia Tech. vs. Marquette, Columbia vs. Detroit.

RICHMOND INVITATIONAL — Richmond vs. Penn, Virginia vs. La Salle.

HOLY CROSS INVITATIONAL —Dartmouth vs. Colgate, Holy Cross vs. Brown.

OPENING SATURDAY

QUEEN CITY tournament at Buffalo — Iowa, Cornell, Syracuse, Canisius.

SUGAR BOWL at New Orleans —Maryland vs. Vanderbilt, Memphis State vs. Loyola of New Orleans.

In addition to North Carolina's defeat Saturday (it marked the Tar Heels' first major test of the season, so they may be in for trouble), Illinois, Oregon State and Niagara all took it on the chin for the first time.

Spartans Only Unbeaten Team in Big Ten

MSU, Titans Win; 'M' Falls

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State today remained the only unbeaten team in the Big Ten basketball standings.

A second half scoring splurge by sharp-shooting Larry Hedden pulled the Spartans to their fourth straight victory, 79-72, over Notre Dame Saturday night.

Butler upset Michigan 85-65 with a dazzling fast break and brilliant backcourt firing by Bobby Plump. The Bulldogs one-sided victory broke a three-game Wolverine winning streak. Michigan hadn't been defeated after a season opening loss to Pittsburgh.

Balanced scoring by the University of Detroit offset outstanding individual performances by Fordham's Jim Cunningham and John Brady as the Titans downed the Rams 84-79 in warming up for the Motor City Tournament at Detroit Friday and Saturday.

Michigan State, which takes off for the Pacific coast this week, got a jolt when it learned two players were declared ineligible for the Western Conference race starting next month.

Dave Scott, defensive star from Detroit, and Horace Walker, reserve sophomore from Chester, Pa., both were ruled out of conference play because of scholastic difficulties.

Both will be able to play on the road trip against Iowa State tonight, UCLA Friday and Southern California Saturday and a Dec. 30 date against Washington.

Hedden, who scored only five points in the first half of MSU's contest against the Irish, found the range after intermission and was high man for the Spartans with 26 points.

Notre Dame had a 43-35 lead at the half through consistent hitting, but State tied the game at 55-all with 10 minutes remaining and managed to edge Notre Dame who previously had won four against one loss to Marquette.

Plump, Butler senior playmaker, paced the Bulldogs' attack with 24 points against Michigan. The Wolverines' Pete Tillotson led Michigan's scoring with 20 points.

Four Detroit players hit double figures in the Titan victory over Fordham. Mike Walsh had 23 and Ray Elbee 19.

In other games:

Hope defeated Chicago 24-14; Detroit Tech downed Flint JC, 87-85; Benton Harbor JC turned back Northwest Michigan 62-58; Western Illinois swamped Eastern Michigan 93-68, and Illinois Normal beat Central Michigan 57-47.

Two Chiefs Finish 2nd in Mat Tourney

Outstanding individual performances by 133-pound veteran Mel Nosanchuk and sophomore Ray Ronquillo enabled Pontiac to finish among the top five in the 16-team Southeastern Michigan wrestling tournament held over the weekend at Detroit Thurston school.

Nosanchuk scored three successive pins, one in 39 seconds, and a decision before bowing to Ypsilanti's Lett in the championship match. Ronquillo also went to the finals before bowing in the 127-pound class.

Three other Chiefs took fourths which would have meant an overall team total of 23 points but no team scoring was kept. Hazel Park, Ypsilanti, Garden City and Berkley topped Pontiac in wins.

Walled Lake garnered one fourth in its 1st attempt at competitive wrestling and Royal Oak Kimball had two fourths in its tourney debut. Farmington had a third.

Southfield was the only Oakland County school which failed to place anyone in the top four.

John Herron, 165, 103-pounder Jack Keller and another sophomore, Erasmo Trevino, were the Chiefs who wound up fourth.

Herron just missed finishing higher losing twice by one point, one of them in overtime, after three straight wins. Keller divided four contests and Trevino took three of five.

The 23-man Pontiac team turned in a total of 14 pins in the two-day event which included 292 matches.

Willow Run, Van Dyke, Monroe and the host Thurston contingent were among the other schools placing at least one boy fourth or better.

The tourney was the final action until after the holidays for all the county teams with the exception of Berkley and Farmington who are in another such event at Berkley this weekend.

OTHER COUNTY SCORERS

1sts — Sneddon, 175, Phillips, 165 and Black, 103, (HP), Oldham, 138, and Downie, 145 (Berkley).
2nds — Licata, 103, Tribula, 112, Pearce, 138, and Wellington, 165 (HP), Klaysen, 145, and Ranck, 154 (Berkley).

Bucks Favored, but Work Like They're Underdogs

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State's Big Ten champions, 19-point favorites to defeat Oregon in the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day, are working as if they were 19-point underdogs.

A pair of two-hour practice sessions were on tap today for Coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts and the same menu for tomorrow. The 44-man squad thought yesterday was to be a day of fun and frolic but the players were sent through an hour's drill after a trip to Disneyland and Marineland.

Woody threw away the usual script upon arrival here Saturday, too. He had the squad on the practice field as soon as it could be whisked from the Burbank Airport to East Los Angeles Junior College, with no hotel stop in between.

Len Casanova's Pacific Coast Conference co-champions were to visit Disneyland this afternoon following a morning drill. Both teams were dinner guests of a Los Angeles night club Saturday night. Both will visit movie studios later in the week.

Th rest of the time will be spent polishing plays and defenses. The Webfeet had a picture taking session for news photographers yesterday and Casanova held the squad for an hour's workout after that.

Hayes, who ran into some caustic treatment at the hands of the West Coast press four years ago because of his outspoken tendencies, was friendliness personified in his first meetings with the writers.

Along with his intense practices, Hayes was taking no chances on running afoul of West Coast officiating. He hired two California whistle tooters, Jay Settle and Jim Tunney Jr., to keep an eagle eye on everyone in the workouts to detect anything which might be okay in the Big Ten but an infraction out here.

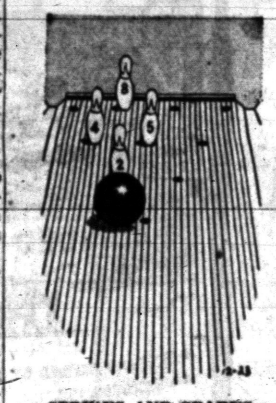

Hayes has set a 10 p.m. curfew for his players and said he would decide today whether future practices would be closed to the public and press. Casanova said all Webfoot workouts would be wide open.

Dodgers Sign 7; Valo Is Latest

LOS ANGELES (INS)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have the names of seven players on the dotted line today.

Pinch-hitter Elmer Valo, the only major leaguer born in Czechoslovakia, sent in his signed contract over the weekend. He gets about $15,000 for the year.

Valo had an on-base record of .422 as a spot batter last year. In 45 trips to bat he had eight hits and 11 walks.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

You'd think the "dinner bucket" would be a welcome sight for a bowler, but it isn't. The "dinner bucket" leave on the left is the 2-4-5-8 which we show. What causes it? A very thin hit in the pocket which sends the 1-pin almost straight out to the left and into the gutter.

Because this spare is on the left side, it should be shot from the right. Face a bit more to the left than for a strike ball since you want to ball to roll into the 2-5 pocket instead of the 1-3. Let's just make sure the ball strikes the 2-pin pretty solidly, as we illustrate. The ball takes care of the 2-5-8 pins, and the 2-pin is knocked back into the 4.

If you hit the 2-5 pocket thinly, you risk missing the 8-pin with the ball or missing the 4-pin with the 2. On the other hand, if you cross over and your ball hits the 2-4 pocket, you may still miss the 8-pin with the ball.

Avoid all risk by getting your ball in that 2-5 pocket solidly

Lions Will Sell Standing Tickets

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League will break precedent and permit the Detroit Lions to sell standing room tickets for next Sunday's championship game with the Cleveland Browns.

Bert Bell, Commissioner of the NFL, announced his decision today.

Lions' officials said the ruling will permit an additional 4,000 tickets to go on sale.

Briggs Stadium, home of the Lions, has a seating capacity of 52,555.

Public sale of tickets will open Friday. Season ticket holders get first crack, but must buy playoff ducats by Thursday.

High Scoring Keeps 'Y' Leaders on Top

A rash of high scoring broke out in the YMCA Intramural Basketball League Saturday and the winners retained their places at the top of the loop, all with two victories.

Day's biggest blast was the 56-18 win for YMCA Trojans, led by Dexter Jarrett's 24 points, against First Baptists. Phalanx Deuces hit 46-23 against Stone Baptists, and Phalanx Aces won from Hi-Y Juniors 46-25. Jerry Covington of Aces had 21 and Tom Nichols of Hi-Y Juniors hit 14. Harry VanMeter of Deuces had 18. Only close contest was the 29-21 win for Hi-Y Swishers over Waterford Hi, led by L. Carlson with 8.

Gold Nugget Made Into Knives, Forks

LONDON (INS)—A gold nugget weighing 100 ounces may not seem like a thing easily mislaid, but with royalty anything can happen.

Harrassed officials at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle made a frantic search for a chunk of gold which appeared to have been put away somewhere and forgotten.

The search was made at the request of New Zealand which presented the nugget to King George V on his coronation in 1910.

No one was able to find any trace of the precious metal. A close check of the palace archives finally revealed that the late King had had the nugget converted in 1919 into something more useful—a set of knives and forks.

Futures Steady in Slow Dealing

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices were mostly steady in slow dealings on the Board of Trade today.

A little flour business brought some buying of wheat futures and prices steadied after starting mixed. A chain bakery in the southwest was reported to have purchased flour requirements over the weekend for from 30 to 60 days. A barge cleared Chicago this morning with 70,000 bushels of wheat destined for New Orleans.

Trading in corn futures was extremely light and mixed. Elevators were buyers and commission houses were on both sides of the market. Receipts of corn at Chicago this morning were 469 cars compared with 534 a week ago and 280 for the same day a year ago.

Rye was up a cent or more a bushel in early dealings following recent sharp breaks. Soybeans were bought by commission houses but volume was very small.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅝ to ⅞ higher, Mar. $2.20¾; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, Mar. $1.16¾; oats ⅛ to ¼ lower, Mar. 65⅝; rye ¼ to $1¼ higher, Mar. $1.32; soy beans ⅜ to ¾ higher; Jan. $2.27; and lard 5 to 10 cents a hundred lbs. higher, Jan. $11.95.

Quebec Thaw Brings Ice, Water Into Town

BEAUCEVILLE, Ont. (AP) — A balmy, spring-like thaw brought flood devastation to four scattered areas of Quebec Province over the weekend. No deaths were reported, but damage to homes and business property was estimated at more than two million dollars.

Thousands left their homes temporarily. The rivers were nearly back to normal last night, and the dispossessed returned to battle huge blocks of winter ice and mud before normal temperatures returned to freeze things in.

Beauceville, 60 miles south of Quebec City on the Chaudiere River St., was hardest hit. Some 1,200 persons, a fourth of the population, quit their homes Saturday night as water and ice roared through the town. Part of the town was 10 feet under. Six-foot-thick ice blocks, 25 feet long, battered homes, smashed windows and hampered rescue boats.

Teachers' Pay Hiked

ORION TOWNSHIP—Teachers of the Lake Orion School District will receive an additional $100 pay each for the current year, the school board has announced. When most districts offered raises at the beginning of the term, the local board had been too uncertain of its financial position to grant any raise.

Fete Prince's Birthday

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito, Japan's most eligible bachelor, celebrated his 24th birtyday today at a family luncheon given by his parents, Emperor Hirohito and Empress Nagako. Tonight the prince was host at a party for some 60 friends and former classmates at his own Togu Palace.

Los Angeles to Detroit Flight Record Set

DETROIT (INS) — United Air Lines reported a new flight record was set today when a UAL DC7 Mainliner flew nonstop from Los Angeles to Detroit in five hours and three minutes as compared with the regular time of six hours.

United said the time, betering the previous mark of five hours and 22 minutes, was attained with the help of tail winds which reached a high of about 90 miles an hour over the Denver area.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) today announced his candidacy for a third consecutive 6-year term.

Slight Price Dip in Early Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market stepped gingerly into Christmas week today with prices slightly lower on balance in early trading.

Leading issues were off from fractions to around a point but there was a scattering of small gainers and a number of stocks were unchanged.

The weekend news brought no tidings of great joy to Wall Street to change the mood of last week's sizable decline. Although there were published reports of government intentions to help business recover, the latest spot news was of layoffs and the squeeze on profits.

Steels, oils, aircrafts and chemicals were mixed with motors, rails, rubbers, nonferrous metals and mail orders generally lower.

Du Pont fell 1½ on an opening block but cut the loss in half soon afterward. U. S. Steel and Chrysler eased in early trading but recovered. American Telephone was steady as was Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Fractional losses were taken by United Aircraft, General Motors and U. S. Rubber. North American Aviation opened on 3,000 shares, up ¼ at 31 and extended its gain.

Studebaker - Packard was unchanged at 3 on a big block of 20,000 shares.

Small losses were taken by Allied Chemical, Kennecott, International Paper, Loew's and Sinclair.

Zenith was off more than a point, Johns-Manville gained a bit. International Nickel dropped a point.

ALBRECHT DURER, the German Renaissance painter who achieved unsurpassed perfection in his wood cuts, executed this Visitation scene as part of a series on the life of the Virgin. During her visit to Elizabeth, Mary first made known she was to be the mother of the Messiah.

Luke Traces Steps to Inn That Barred Holy Mother

law to accompany Joseph for the enrollment, she did so rather than remain alone among tongue-wagging neighbors, even with the delivery of her child near at hand. She needed her husband at her side.

Luke had retraced their journey, from the slopes of Nazareth down into the mosquito - swarming marshes of the Jordan, and on into the rocky footpaths of Judea.

This route, though often traveled by Galileans to avoid the hostile main road through anti - Jewish Samaria, was an exhausting, rugged passage, cruelly hot in summer, a soggy, dank morass in winter.

Mary and Joseph made the trip in the cold, wet season, with their one donkey, a bag of food, a goatskin of water and a few coverlets folded on the donkey's back. It must have been a terrible strain.

On the way down from Nazareth, Luke had halted briefly several times to treat the sick. He administered wormwood extract to a child in Nain with an intestinal infection.

A little farther on, he bound up a sickle cut on a farmer's leg after disinfecting it with wine oil. Near Beth-shean, he put a hot fig poultice on a stonemason with a furuncle on his neck, then gathered his apothecary kit, and went on.

"Inasmuch as you have done it to one of the least of these, my brethren," Jesus had said, "ye have done it unto me."

VISUALIZED TRIALS

As Luke followed the course of Joseph and Mary along the serpentine river, with its overgrown swamps and bogs, he could visualize the trials they met. Creatures hissed and croaked in the moss-draped mangroves, and insects buzzed at one's ears.

At night, sparks of eyes glittered from the foliage, jackals yapped, bats whirred overhead and underbrush snapped with the movement of wild boars, cats and creepers. Mary and Joseph must have camped here at least one night.

It was a 40 - mile stretch through the river bottom, but finally, the road swung back eastward, across the fords toward Archelais and Jericho in Judea.

Altogether, the trip must have taken them at least three days, probably four, with worry about Mary in every step. Possibly they spent a night in a vineyard watchman's hut, or with other strangers. Jewish law urges such hospitality.

ON TO BETHLEHEM

Luke had tramped on along the couple's path, through the odd, barren sink near Jericho, with its whirling columns of dust, on past Bethany and Jerusalem, climbing the tortuous mountain roads, on past Rachel's tomb, and up the terraced plateau that sweeps upward like the walls of an amphitheater, dotted with pink almond trees and olives, to the heights of Bethlehem.

This was ancient Ephrath, patriarchal seat of David, city of the shepherd king—Bethlehem.

"And Joseph also went up from Galilee, from the city of Nazareth, to Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David, to be enrolled with Mary, his betrothed, who was with child."

The in was a two - floor structure, forming an enclosed courtyard in the rear. On the upper level were sleeping quarters for travelers. Below animals were sheltered. Luke could hear their bawling and braying.

The front gate faced the street. Along it moved donkey pack trains, burdened with wine casks and bales of flax. Traders haggled. Women carried baskets of linen to wash at a nearby pool. Slaves, with litters of rich owners, shouted, "Make way!"

REACHED INN

Luke shouldered his way through idlers on the columned portico, and into the inn's big public room. A profusion of smoke, odors, shouts, laughter, babbling and lights assailed him.

This must have been what the desperate Joseph encountered when, his voice shaking and pleading, he asked a room for his weary wife, with her child only hours away.

"And while they were there, the time came for her to be delivered."

In the big room, a knot of leather - garbed Roman soldiers held tankards of cider, and sang lustily. Men wandered about, or lounged on seats. Arms reached out at servingwomen as they passed with steaming platters, amid loud laughter.

A fireplace crackled, and a sweating, bearded man, his tunic open at the chest, turned a spit of meat over it. Apparently he was the inn-keeper. A younger man was roasting cuts of meat over two burning tripods. Somewhere, a dish crashed.

Luke approached the distraught innkeeper. "Might you be able. . ." He did not get to finish the question. The innkeeper barked:

"There's no room, no room I tell you, no room!"

Luke, there at the bustling inn, knew how it must have been for Joseph and Mary.

Lone Bandit Robs Chetolah Grocery

Chetolah Shores Grocery Store, 5177 Cass-Elizabeth Lake Rd, Waterford Township, was held up Saturday by a lone bandit.

He walked in at 6:45 p.m. pointed a pistol at Mrs. Betty Henry, mother of the owner, Earl Henry, and demanded "all the money."

Mrs. Henry opened the register and gave him more than $100 in cash.

The bandit fled the scene on foot, heading west on Cass-Elizabeth.

Gibson's Belding Plant to Resume Production

BELDING (AP) — Gibson Refrigerator Company's Belding plant, idle since last summer, will resume production Jan. 2 with jobs for 225 employes in production of home-size air conditioners and dehumidifiers, according to Personnel Manager Herman Gilbert.

Gibson expects to employ about 1,300 hourly workers by the end of January, including workers at its refrigerator and aircraft divisions at Greenville.

Ingrid, Children Visit Rossellini for Christmas

LONDON (AP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman, her suitcases jammed with toys, flew to Rome today to spend Christmas with her children and her estranged husband Roberto Rossellini.

Miss Bergman is making a picture in England. She and Rossellini, Italian film producer and director, were legally separated last month but agreed to spend Christmas together for the sake of their son and twin daughters.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today charged the Aluminum Cooking Utensil Co. Inc., of New Kensington, Pa., with what it said was misrepresenting the advantages of using "Wear-Ever" cookware.

The commission complaint, alleging violation of the FTC act, charges that salesmen for the company make what the FTC said are false claims as to the alleged superiority of Wear-Ever over competitive products.

"For example . . . cooking with Wear-Ever is no more conducive to better health than cooking with other utensils using the waterless method and pressure cookers," an FTC announcement of the charge said.

The complaint describes as false the claim it says the company makes that less food is required to satisfy hunger when Wear-Ever utensils are used.

FTC said the company also represents that "the magnesium in food is 'nature's laxative' and, if it is boiled out, laxatives must be bought at the drug store . . .

"This claim is misleading, because magnesium as found in food is not a laxative."

Negro Stewardess Hired by Mohawk

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruth Taylor, 25-year-old registered nurse, has become the nation's first Negro airline stewardess.

Charles Abrams, chairman of the State Commission Against Discrimination, said Miss Taylor was hired by Mohawk Airlines, which operates only in Northern states. She will report for work Jan. 13.

A native of Boston, Miss Taylor was graduated from Trumansburg (N.Y.) Central High School and Bellevue School of Nursing here.

She had filed a complaint with the SCAD after applying to Trans World Airlines for a job as stewardess and being told she could not be hired because of "intangible factors that have to be considered."

City Jaycees Hope for 20 Yule Entries

Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce members today were hoping for a total of 20 entries in their 1957 home Christmas decorating contest, according to Robert Norberg, chairman of the annual event.

With today the deadline for entries, Norberg had counted a total of 16 entries, the most in the history of the contest. He said he expected a last few before the 5 p.m. deadline.

Judging of the displays will be Thursday by a panel of four judges. Winners will be announced Friday.

Tradition Lends Yule Decorations Power of Magic

What's green and white, an enemy of trees and a friend of man?

The answer to this riddle is the parasitic plant named after a Greek word meaning tree thief. We call it mistletoe.

According to the old Norse tale, users of the plant, especially during the holiday season, should pluck one of the white berriees for each kiss.

When the berries are gone, the sprig loses its magic power to bring happiness, according to the legend.

Like mistletoe, holly decoration's origin goes back to the early Christian era. Sometimes called the Christ thorn, the thorny leaves supposedly represent the crown of thorns and the red berries are emblematic of the sins of the world and the blood Christ shed for these sins.

Both of these plants are Christmastime decorations but their method of growth differs Holly is cultured while mistletoe, appropriately so with the legend, grows wild.

4-Place Thunderbird Costs Ford $30 Million

DEARBORN (INS) — J. O. Wright, general manager of Ford Division of Ford Motor Co., said today the four-passenger 1958 Thunderbird, which will be introduced early next year, cost $30 million to bring to the market.

Wright said the figure is almost three times the original launching cost of the two-passenger Thunderbird, first introduced as a 1955 model.

Boston Boxer Shot to Death

Tom Sullivan's Slaying Blamed on Mobsters in Dock Labor War

BOSTON (INS) — Boston police authorities launched an intensive investigation today into the slaying of former boxer Tommy Sullivan, believed to be a victim of labor racketeers.

Sullivan, who reportedly used his fistic talents to battle New York mobsters trying to gain control of the Boston Longshoremen's Union, was shot to death last night as he left his home.

The popular, 38-year-old former fighter was shot three times in the head by a gunman whom police believe was no stranger to him.

The police pieced together this story:

Sullivan had just kissed his 83-year-old mother goodbye after eating supper and was on his way back to work the night shift, when he heard a man call out: "Hey Tom, come here."

He went over to an automobile parked only 150 feet from his South Boston home. As he leaned over to look into the car the slayer fired a pistol at point-blank range.

Then the car, which contained three other men besides the killer, roared off with lights out, as Tommy fell to the ground.

Among the first to reach his body was his brother-in-law, Joseph Maher.

A high-ranking police investigator said the slaying appeared to be the work of a professional gunman, hired by the hoodlums Sullivan helped block from gaining control of the docks.

Miami Cabbies Hit Pay Dirt in Back Seats

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Probably every radio cab driver in town scanned the interior of his cab yesterday when a dispatcher broadcast:

"All drivers check back seats. Lady lost $20,000 in jewels."

Two drivers hit pay dirt.

Cab company officials said driver Bill McGuire found the gems and returned them to J. Florin, a Miami Beach hotel guest.

Driver Melvin Saltzman found a brief case which he said contained $365 cash and $1,000 in travelers checks.

Saltzman, 26, a native of Chelsea, Mass., returned the case and funds to George Cardoze, a Panama business man whom he had taken from the airport to a Miami hotel.

Both cabbies said they received cash rewards.

Slate Sewer Test for Sylvan Shores

The long-delayed Sylvan Shores sewer project in Waterford Township has finally been completed and is ready for the final test run through the new pumping station sometime this week.

A complete report on this project will be presented when the Waterford Township Board meets at 7:30 tonight.

One obstacle after another has hampered workmen during the construction of the sewer.

There will also be a discussion on the township budget for next year, according to Supervisor Elmer Johnson.

Flying Tiger Chennault Suffers Cancer of Lung

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Retired Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, leader of the World War II Flying Tigers, disclosed today that he is suffering from cancer of the lung.

The 67-year-old U.S. military aviation pioneer told a press conference a tumor was removed from his left lung in August 1956. But he said the malignancy returned and no further operation was possible.

Named to the board of directors are Louis Breault, Thomas M. O'Brien, and John Irwin.

Jakarta Heads Aid Evacuation

Expect 46,000 Dutch to Leave Indonesia by End of January

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesian and Dutch officials joined forces today in an effort to evacuate more than 10,000 Dutch nationals before the end of January.

Local immigration authorities said they already had issued more than 10,000 exit visas and were processing others at the rate of 700 a day. Most of the 46,000 persons who make up Indonesia's Dutch colony are expected to quit the islands.

More than 4,500 Dutch nationals have left since Indonesia began taking over Dutch interests and pressuring Dutch citizens to get out as part of the campaign to force the Netherlands to give up West New Guinea.

Organized evacuation of the Dutch got under way today from the main ports of Jakarta and Surabaya.

Arrangements have been made to set up a central booking office in Surabaya, Indonesia's second largest city, to speed evacuation. One ship was to leave Surabaya today, calling next at Jakarta, and five other sailings were announced for January.

Southfield Man Gets Ford Promotion

WAGONER

Fred A. Wagoner, of 19117 Saxon Rd., Southfield Township, has been named production manager. He joined Ford in 1928 and in 1945 was assigned to the Highland Park Tractor Plant as general foreman in charge of tractor gears. In 1953, he was appointed general superintendent of the Highland Park plant.

C. M. Rhoten has been appointed plant manager. He comes from Ford's Des Moines, Iowa Implement Plant.

Report Lower Profits in Manufacturing

WASHINGTON (INS)—The government has reported a drop in manufacturing profits despite a 20 billion dollar increase this year in personal property investments and savings.

Against this backdrop, a Republican senator has called for federal aid to ease the tax and credit pinch on small businessmen.

A joint report by the Federal Trade and Security Exchange Commission said that in the third quarter of this year manufacturers made 4.7 cents after taxes on each dollar sale. This compared with five cents in the second quarter of the year.

While manufacturing sales increased six per cent to 240 billion dollars the first nine months of this year over the comparable period in 1956, profits remained about the same at approximately 11.9 billion dollars.

Nonferrous Metals Men Would Like to Forget Past Year – If They Could

By RIPLEY WATSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Nonferrous metals men would just as soon forget 1957—if they could. It was too much like 1954.

Prices of copper, lead and zinc fell back to where they were three years ago, or even further. As might be expected, profits for most firms were down precipitously. This, in turn, meant sharp drops for their securities on the stock exchanges.

BOOSTED PRICE

Aluminum producers, undaunted by what they described as a temporary oversupply of the light metal, boosted the price and talked hopefully of the future.

Copper, starting the year at 36 cents a pound (major producer price), was down to 27 cents a pound by early September. With foreign prices as much as four cents a pound lower, nobody knew for sure how long this price would hold.

The figure compared with the 32-year peak of 46 cents a pound enjoyed for several months early in 1956. Custom smelters, who turn out a much smaller amount of copper from purchased ores and scrap kept their price a cent or two under the producer figure. Prices on the London Metal Exchange performed similarly.

Copper's central problem could readily be seen in world stocks of the red metal totaling 427,991 tons at the end of October. This was only a shade below the eight-year record of 430,423 at the end of July, but a far cry from stocks of 333,207 tons at the end of October 1956. World deliveries to fabricators were up (narrowly), but refined production was up, too.

This was despite curtailments announced by several major producers here and abroad during the year. These cuts were offset by new mines coming into production, and by the almost total lack of strikes during 1957. At year's end there was talk of further production cuts to alleviate the situation.

Lead and zinc did a sudden swan dive late in the spring after the government stopped bartering surplus agricultural commodities for foreign lead and zinc. Lead plummeted to 14 cents a pound from the 16 cents a pound figure of Jan. 1, and zinc dropped to 10 cents a pound from 13½. Lead later declined to 13 cents a pound.

WAIT FOR RELIEF

As the year ended, producers of both metals were waiting hopefully for tariff relief. Invoking the escape clause of the Trade Agreements Act, they had sought higher tariffs and import quotas for both lead and zinc on the grounds that cheaper imports were flooding the markets and putting U. S. miners out of work.

The tariff commission recommended increases after a similar 1954 hearing, but the administration turned the suggestion down then in favor of the stockpile purchase program. This time the administration was expected to approve any boosts in tariffs. Import quotas, however, were not expected to get favorable action.

Aluminum leaders, looking ahead toward expanded use of their metal in automobiles, cans, housing, electrical lines and transportation, professed not to be worried about the supply situation. Accordingly, they raised the price 1 cent to 26 cents a pound in midyear and predicted consumption would go from two million tons this year to 10 million in 1975.

Ohio Slayings Take 2 Victims

Jealousy Apparently Triggered 2 Separate Shooting Incidents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two persons were slain and four others wounded in two separate shooting incidents across the state yesterday in which jealousy apparently triggered the gunplay.

The shootings occurred southwest of Dayton; and in Petersburg, west of the Ohio-Pennsylvania border near Youngstown.

In Petersburg, a divorced husband, who had warned his wife he wouldn't be responsible if she brought a man into the house he bought and paid for, shot and killed a man who did show up in the house, authorities said.

Sheriff's deputies said the former husband, Wilbur Rauch, 41, admitted firing a shotgun blast through the window of his ex-wife's home. Inside, George Shandor, 41, of New Middletown, fell mortally wounded. Alice Rauch, 35, was wounded in the left hand as she stood talking to Shandor.

No charges have been filed against Rauch, arrested a short time later at his mother's home. The couple, divorced three years ago, have five children who were asleep in the Rauch home when the shooting occurred.

Detective Robert C. Beckett in Dayton announced the arrest of a 24-year-old man, Dan Myrick, for questioning in a shooting that killed Marie McElroy, 27-year-old mother of a 2-week-old baby. The baby was asleep in Mrs. McElroy's three-room apartment which was riddled by bullets from a revolver. The child escaped unharmed, but two other persons were wounded.

Myrick had been hunted throughout central Ohio and was taken into custody here without incident this morning by Beckett and Harland Grooms. The detectives accused Myrick of the shooting and said the man must have loaded his revolver at least four times. No charges have been filed.

Rat Sabotages Police Gifts, Gets Clean Away

DALLAS (AP)—Police have found the thief who has been taking bites out of apples sent the officers as a Christmas gift.

"It wouldn't be so bad," Capt. Will Fritz had said earlier, "if the guy would take one apple and eat it. But he takes a healthy bite out of one apple and puts it back. He's spoiled several."

But yesterday Fritz caught the thief in the act. The large rat jumped from the apple box and escaped through an air conditioning shaft.

Dag in Mideast for Tour, Talks

Will Visit U.N. Troops, Discuss Suez Debt Toll With Nasser

GAZA (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived here today for a Christmas visit to U.N. Emergency Force troops along the Egyptian-Israeli frontier. He will confer later with Egyptian President Nasser on Suez Canal problems.

Hammarskjold was accompanied aboard the U.N. special plane by the UNEF commander, Lt. Gen. E.L.M. Burns. They set out at once on a tour of U.N. military contingents.

With Nasser he is expected to discuss a surcharge on canal traffic to repay U.N. members the eight million dollars they put up to clear the waterway after the Suez invasion and also arrangements to compensate stockholders of the old Suez Canal Co., whose Egyptian properties Nasser seized in 1956.

The U.N. Assembly approved Hammarskjold's recommendation for a 3 per cent surcharge on canal traffic to pay for the clearance but Egypt so far has not approved the added toll.

Collision With Car Derails Streamliner

OAKLEY, Calif. (AP)—The Santa Fe's eastbound Golden Gate streamliner hit a car apparently stalled at an Oakley grade crossing last night and all but 2 of the 10 cars jumped the tracks.

Fifteen of the 121 passengers on the train were shaken up. No one was hurt seriously.

A Santa Fe spokesman estimated it would take 24 hours to restore service across a 1,000-foot section of mangled trackage. Oakley is 40 miles east of San Francisco and the train was bound from San Francisco to Bakersfield, Calif., with connections for Southern California.

Most of the passengers resumed their trips on another train.

They Face New Restrictions

3,000 to Visit Holy Land

JERUSALEM (INS) — Visitors to the birthplace of Christ are faced with a new restriction this year.

They will be permitted again to cross from Israel into Jordan — where Bethlehem is located — through Jerusalem's Mandelbaum Gate. But they won't be allowed to return the same way.

They'll have to obtain transportation from Jordan to Beirut or Cairo or Cyprus and return to Israel from those places.

Still, about 3,000 persons, the same number as last year, are expected to cross into Jordan from Israel on Dec. 24 for the traditional 'midnight' mass pilgrimage to Bethlehem.

Mandelbaum Gate is the passport processing station in the short no-man's strip separating Israeli Jerusalem from Jordanian Jerusalem.

The Jordanian authorities have informed Israeli officials that for the second consecutive year the Bethlehem will not be permitted.

However, members of the corps — most from western nations — will be allowed to proceed individually to Bthlehem through the Mandelbaum Gate.

In another Holy Land city — Nazareth — which is located in Israel — the Christmas spirit abounds unfettered.

I visited the little town of "Jesus the boy" this week. The sounds and sights of Christmas festivity are everywhere in the picturesque narrow streets.

Hundreds of Christian Arab children were hauling fir-tree branches for their Christmas trees.

Sidewalk cafes along Nazareth's main street offered a background of soft oriental music for the pilgrims crossing the market on their way to St. Joseph Church or to the Church of Annunciation.

The air was loaded with heavy fumes of "kebab," grilled mutton meat chunks.

A group of early tourists discussed the price of beautiful mother-of-pearl crosses on sale at a nearby bazaar.

The weather was cold and crisp. A few black-robed priests were busy decorating the "little synagogue" — the Greek - Orthodox Church built on the site of the synagogue in which Jesus is believed to have recited his prayers.

"We are ready to greet the pilgrims," said the proprietor of a sourvenir shop. He showed a wonderful collection of miniature statuettes, carved from olive wood, the same raw wood Joseph the carpenter used 20 centuries ago.

Authorities of St. Joseph's Church estimated that no less than 3,000 people will attend midnight mass Christmas.

Grand Rapids Fire Destroys Earle Co.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Earle Equipment Co. in suburban Paris Township yesterday with losses estimated at about $70,000.

No one was injured.

Donald G. Rose, service foreman, said the blaze broke out in the parts department or the fuel injector repair department of the two-story brick and cement block building.

Walter Kirvan, chief of Paris Township Dept. No. 1, estimated loss to the building at about $60,000. Rose said at least $10,000 in rebuilt diesel engines were lost in the flames.

Occupational Troops May Have Sparked It

Merrymaking Japanese Invent Holiday Like Christmas, Only Crazier

By MARVIN L. STONE
Far Eastern Director, INS

TOKYO (INS) — The Japanese, with their customary diligence, have invented a splendid new holiday called "Kurisumas-U."

This celebration, relatively new and surely unknown in the western world, is embellished with holly, tinsel and red suits, special skits in burlesque houses and two weeks of shopping madness.

The invention of this holiday in Japan somehow coincided with the arrival in this country in 1945 of the first American occupation troops.

SLIGHT RESEMBLANCE

At the start, this Japanese innovation bore a slight resemblance to something the GI's called "Christmas." But this did not last long because Japan is less than one-half of one percent a Christian nation.

Nevertheless, the Japanese took the germ of the idea and have been making refinements for 13 years now. Soon "Kurisumas-U" may be ready for export.

One of the main features of this celebration is the appearance everywhere, in about mid-December, of thousands of pretty young sloe-eyed girls dressed in red shorts and tight-fitting blouses, fringed with white.

PRETTY HELPERS

These girls are called helpers of "Sahnta Kuro-Su," and work as check girls in night clubs, as sales clerks, run elevators and try to entice customers into department stores.

These girls are very pretty and last week a pink-cheeked American sailor, apparently homesick, mistook one doll for a legendary figure in America called Santa Claus and tried to sit in Santa's lap. He was slapped.

There are also some Japanese men who dress in this attire. They usually are about five feet tall, weigh about 110 pounds and pose as paunchless helpers of this same "Sahnta Kuro-Su."

HAWKING MAIDENS

What these fellows do is carry signs advertising beer halls, acost foreigners on the ginza asking if they are interested in women, and some talk to small children in the stores.

In Japan, when greeting a child, Santa's helper bows very low and says, "Honorable congratulations for Kurisumas-U." Then the child bows at ninety degrees and everyone giggles.

The season is usually marked with other inventions such as special burlesque house programs wherein nude girls frolic to imported songs such as "Silent Night."

Some foreigners have been critical of what they would assume to be a pre-meditated vulgarization of the Nativity, but they soon learn that the Japanese mean no irreverance.

FORGOT TO TELL THEM

The American soldiers who introduced the Christmas spirit in 1945 simply forgot to impress the Buddhists of Japan that it was also a religious holiday.

On the night of Dec. 24 some two millions Japanese will abandon their hearthsides to crowd downtown Tokyo, raise the roof and keep their bars open, with special permission, later than any other night in the year.

Loudspeakers in the streets are playing "Howaito Kurisumas-U" which sounds very much like an Irving Berlin tune, and "Jingu-berus-I."

But mainly it's the pretty girls in their curvy red suits that make it noticeable. They're all over the town, advertising movie houses, selling doughnuts, prancing in front of record shops.

They smile, their black pony tails fly back and they whisper "Merry Kurisumas-U."

Oh, Santa, how you have changed. Ho, ho, ho!

Reds Were Marching on Seoul

Rhee Remembers Vivid Yule

This is the eighth of a series of articles in which well-known persons describe the Christmas that remains most vivid in their memory.

By SYNGMAN RHEE
President, Republic of Korea

Written Expressly For INS

It was Chirstmas, 1950. Once again the dread order has come. For the second time, our capital city would have to be abandoned to the enemy. The entire front had collapsed.

Faced anew, on that Christmas morning, with the loss of Seoul, our home, perhaps all our country, Mrs. Rhee and I went to the Chungdong Methodist Church for the early service.

FEW THERE

Few were in attendance. For in the minds of all was the impending urgency of flight—flight from the enemy who had so ruthlessly demonstrated his unconscionable cruelty in the first occupation of Seoul, six months earlier, and who now — we knew only too well — was newly augmented by more than 200,000 Communist Chinese.

My wife and I sat amidst all but empty pews. But never have we known more inspiring sustenance than we found in that blessed sanctuary that Christmas morning. A devoted layman conducted the service. His text, indelibly engraved on by memory, was from the tenth engraved on my memory, was from the tenth ninth verse:

"Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? And one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father.

"Fear ye not therefore, ye are of more value than any sparrows."

With the same unspoken thought, we drove from the service to the Han River and stood there long and with heavy hearts watching the endless flood tide of refugees fleeing the Communist despoilers of their northern homes. The highway bridge had been destroyed. But the river was frozen solid from bank to bank.

And, 500,000 in all, they were streaming across the ice — men, women and children, without food in this time of hunber, with pitifully inadequate clothing in this coldest winter of our history, with no other thought but at any cost to get away, to escape the barbaric invaders.

And we watched them there, and later in the jam-packed open railway cars, all fleeing southward, to what fate they — nor we — could know. But we knew then, as we have known since, that the hand of God was upon them.

(Tomorrow: Kate Smith recalls the Christmas she cried—"The happiest Christmas in my life.").

Card of Thanks 1

I WISH TO EXPRESS MY THANKS for the kindness shown to me during the illness and death of my mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Hood and husband Clarence Hood. Bob-by Lee Hood.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR wife and mother, Mrs. Karen V. Nelson, who passed away Dec. 23, 1952.
Sleep on, dear mother, it has been five long years
Since you left our hearts filled with sadness and tears.
Yours was a heart so jolly and gay,
Scattering sunshine all along the way.
You know how we loved you, yes, love you yet
Though God took you from us, we can never forget.
Where sweet flowers are ever blooming and banks are ever green;
The flowers we place upon your grave,
May wither and decay.
But love for you who sleeps beneath, will never fade away.
Time speeds on, five years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast within our home.
Where all seemed bright.
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Her vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven, we will meet again.
Sadly missed by husband, Victor, and children, Victor A., Vern, and Doris F.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF THOMas A. McClusky who passed away three years ago December 25th, 1954. Sadly missed by Wife and family.

Formosa Tells of Naval Clash

Nationalist Warships Reported in Battle With Red Gunboats

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Nationalist Defense Ministry reported today that its warships clashed for 62 minutes early today with two Chinese Communist gunboats just off the mainland.

The Nationalists said they suffered no casualties or damage and made no claims of hits on the Red gunboats. The number and type of Nationalist ships involved were not disclosed.

The ministry said the encounter occurred off the Nationalist island of Matsu. It was the first such report since Nov. 5, when the Nationalists claimed to have sunk two gunboats and four motorized junks south of Matsu.

Air force headquarters, meanwhile, denied a Peiping report that Nationalist F84 Thunderjets attacked a China-bound British merchant ship Sunday off Fukien province. The air force said patrol planes looked a British freighter over but did not attack it.

Peiping radio claimed that four Thunderjets tried to strafe the ship—which was not identified—but were driven off by mainland antiaircraft fire, which hit one plane.

Fire Hits Hospital in South Oklahoma

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP)—Fire which followed an explosion virtually destroyed this southern Oklahoma and forced 30 occupants from the town's largest hospital yesterday building.

Damage to the Lindley Hospital was estimated at $200,000 by the owner, Dr. E. C. Lindley and his brother, Dr. E. H. Lindley.

One fireman, Gilbert Griggs, suffered a sprained back in carrying a patient to safety.

Three nurses and two cooks on duty at the time sounded the fire alarm and started evacuating the 25 patients—many of whom were children.

The patients were transferred to other hospitals or permitted to go home.

Cause of the fire was not determined immediately, although witnesses said it followed an explosion in the basement.

Christmas at Home Fatal to Polio Victim

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Patricia Ann Kable, 19, lost a race with death, and all because she wanted to be home for Christmas.

Patricia, a polio victim, left her iron lung in Cincinnati's General Hospital three weeks ago to return to her farm home at nearby Fayetteville, 35 miles away. Dictors had said it would be safe for her to stay for the holidays.

Early yesterday she had trouble breathing. Her father, Durward Kable, began driving her back to the hospital.

She was 12 miles away from the life-sustaining iron lung when death came.

Grover Cleveland, the 22nd and 24th president of the United States, once was a teacher in the New York City Institution for the Blind.

Story Centers on Kid Brothers

New TV Series Deals With the Relationship of Children, Grownups

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood on TV: If adult comedy couldn't make it as a regular dish on television maybe juvenile comedy for adults can.

That's the adventuresome theory behind the new telefilm series, "Leave It to Beaver," on CBS-TV every Friday evening.

Last season an adult comedy show, titled "The Brothers," flopped on TV, but this season's "brothers" on TV are a couple of kids, 7-year-old Jerry Mathers and 12-year-old Tony Dow.

"Beaver" wasn't designed for the big laugh, though.

"It will be human comedy," the writers say. "The apple-pie joys and melted-ice-cream sorrows of child relationship with the adult word."

VETERAN WRITERS

The writers are Joe Connelly and Bob Mosher, who for 10 years wrote "Amos 'n' Andy" for both radio and TV. They are also producing, in partnership with George Gobel and Dave O'Malley's Gomalco productions.

On one show the kids acted natural enough but the plot idea of a second-grader being too scared to give his parents a note from his teacher may have given mom and pop lifted eyebrows.

Almost any parent will tell you that a 7-year-old is an honest little beaver who would almost delight in rushing home with a note from his teacher. But if adult comedy can take dramatic license, I guess juvenile comedy can, too.

Little Jerry, with the title role of "Beaver," is a 4-year veteran of TV and movies.

Tony is a Hollywood lad acting for the first time anywhere and the parents are movie-wise performers Barbara Billingsley and Hugh Beaumont.

If "The Beaver" isn't dammed by overly adult plots, the soft laughs may keep the show flowing smoothly on the TV channels.

Barrymore Lives Again in Radio Christmas Carol

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Whatever various things Christmas means to various people, it means "A Christmas Carol" to a great many.

Dramatizations of Charles Dickens' story have become a television staple in the Christmas season. Last year, there were at least six TV adaptations.

Perhaps we've reached the nostalgic age, but it seems there never was a more convincing Scrooge than the late Lionel Barrymore in his annual radio dramatization.

Although Barrymore is dead, he will be heard again in his familiar role Sunday on CBS radio.

This is largely thanks to Dailey Paskman, veteran producer, director and writer, who was associated with Barrymore on most of the actor's 17 radio broadcasts of "A Christmas Carol."

DEAR SCROOGE

The two were close friends while Paskman collaborated with "dear Scrooge," as he called Barrymore, on many songs and adapted several versions of Dickens' story.

They tried the story in many ways before finding one that completely satisfied Barrymore. And this is the version that will be heard on CBS radio Sunday.

"I've played many roles in my career," Barrymore once told Paskman, "but if there is one role I really hope to be remembered for, it's that of Ebenezer Scrooge."

The actor began performing "A Christmas Carol" for radio audiences in 1934 and preferred to do it "live" each year. In 1947, however, Paskman persuaded Barrymore to do a tape-recorded performance—frankly, for posterity.

Paskman recalls that Barrymore insisted on employing only English actors for this performance.

When Barrymore heard it he remarked: "I wanted to do the best one I've ever done . . . and I hope this one will be heard for as many years as there are Chirstmases to come."

Communists Greeted at 44 Nation Parley

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Five thousand students and workers turned out yesterday to cheer 70 delegates and secretaries arriving from Communist countires for the Asian-African Congress. The arrivals were pelted with flowers.

A Soviet TU104 jet airliner brought the visitors from the Soviet Union, Outer Mongolia, North Viet Nam, North Korea and Red China.

The Communist delegates were the first large group to arrive for the weeklong conference of "nongovernment" groups from 44 countries, which opens Thursday. Major topics to be discussed include imperialism and national independence, the Algerian rebellion, racial discrimination and the banning of nuclear weapons and their testing.

Want Pub on Street to Attract Women

GREENWICH, Eng. (INS)—Shopkeepers in a narrow sidestreet of Greenwich asked the town council for quick approval of a projected pub on their street. Their reason:

Many shoppers don't even know the street exists now, but a pub would attract women seeking their husbands.

Girl, 15, Loses Legs, Gets Many Presents

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Quiet little Rosella Auxier, 15, who lost both feet through amputation last week, continued to make satisfactory progress today at Children's Hospital.

The dark-haired youngster, whose legs were frozen from the knees down, lost her right foot Saturday, four days after doctors removed the left foot.

Her exhausted mother Mrs. Sarah Auxier has been at her beside almost constantly since the girl was rushed here after being found unconscious Dec. 13 in an abandoned store at Prestonburg, Ky. Rosella says all she can remember is leaving her grandmother's home to take a walk five days before she was found.

As Christmas approaches, gifts have come to the uncomplaining dark-eyed youngster. She received a record player from a man who read that was what she wanted, and the Louisville Junior Chamber of Commerce gave her 40 records, including a number by her favorite singer, Elvis Presley.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Suga Shocks Court by Attending College

Japanese Princess Stirs Talk

TOKYO (INS) —The youngest of Emperor Hirohito's six children is turning out to be the liveliest of the lot.

Princess Suga, only 18, is not yet the Oriental equivalent of Britain's bouncy Princess Margaret, but she shows promise.

She is "full of fun," to quote acquaintances, likes jazz, plays a mean game of tennis, and is shocking stuffy court officials to tears by attending — of all things — college.

Suga Takako, her formal name, is the first royal female in Japan's centuries-old history to forego traditional household training and actually seek a college degree.

The vivacious, attractive, sloe-eyed princess is majoring in English literature at Gakushin University, the result of her strong insistence that she be permitted the right to pursue her own educational desires.

SHE'S DEMOCRATIC

Schoolmates at Gakushin report the princess is "democratic," demands no privileges and likes people.

Although she has won a degree of freedom in college that none of her three elder sisters enjoyed, Suga is far from unfettered.

The dean of Gakushin University, Yasuhiko Kakehi, scoffed at recent reports in a French newspaper that the young princess had fallen in love with an American GI.

"That is simply impossible," he declared flatly. "The princess is at school every day except Saturday and Sunday from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

"And, besides, she is always accompanied by her tutor and lady-in-waiting, Mrs. Takeda, who is her constant companion."

DOESN'T HAVE TIME

Mrs. Shizuko Takeda, a former teacher at the women's department of Gakushin, exploded on hearing of the French report:

"That's preposterous. She has never left the palace alone. She doesn't have time — she is too busy with her school and studies."

The matron added:

"I would be the first to know. It's absolutely unfounded. I don't know how the story ever originated."

The idea of such liberties for a member of the imperial family is simply considered fantastic. And considering the regimen enforced, it is easy to understand why.

Suga, whenever outside the palace grounds or the college gates, is always escorted.

She is driven to school in company with her lady-in-waiting, and is driven back home in the evening. Mrs. Takeda, her constant companion, waits in a special room at the university while the princess is on campus.

SELECTED PARTNERS

The princess does have the liberty of playing tennis, which she does about four evenings a week immediately after classes. But her partners are always from among a select group.

Saturdays Suga studies the piano and both English and French conversation at the palace. Palace officials teach her.

Sundays are traditionally spent with her parents, along with the rest of the immediate imperial family.

Whenever the princess leaves the palace grounds, police are alerted. They do not stop traffic or interfere in her movements in any way, an intimate explained, but are always aware of exactly where she is and what she is doing.

Letters written to the princess are delivered unopened, the dean of the university said, but all letters written by Suga are carefully read by Mrs. Takeda, who personally addresses all envelopes and uses her own return address for the princess' mail.

Dean Kakehi said Suga is "probably dissatisfied with the restrictions" placed on her.

HAPPIEST AT SCHOOL

"She is happiest," he said, "when she is on the school campus, playing and frolicking with her fellow students."

The dean described her as "bright" — she is in the upper half of her 60-student freshman class — but not a "diligent" student. "After all" he said, "she is not planning to become a scholar."

Approve System of Divorce Data

U. S. Health Service Sets Jan. 1 to Begin New Procedure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today an improved system of collecting statistics on divorce and marriage annulment in several states and territories will be adopted Jan. 1.

The service said under the new system, uniform data will be collected by the Office of Vital Statistics in cooperation with 14 states and three territories which will comprise a divorce and annulment registration area.

It said establishment of the area is a start toward obtaining reliable and comprehensive divorce and annulment data, comparable with information now compiled on births and deaths.

In addition to providing more accurate totals, the service said the new plan will provide for collecting additional social and economic information on family breakups.

The states and territories comprising the new registration area: Alabama, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Alaska, Hawaii and the Virgin Islands.

Charles Yost Eyed as Syria Ambassador

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)— Charles W. Yost, 50-year-old career diplomat and former ambassador to Laos, reportedly will be the new U.S. ambassador to Syria.

Reliable sources said the Syrian government had approved Yost's nomination. Diplomatic sources in Washington reported last week that President Eisenhower had chosen an envoy, whose identity was not revealed then, and the Syrians had accepted him.

The new ambassador will succeed James R. Moore Jr. Moore was in the United States last August when Syria expelled three U.S. Embassy officials on charges of plotting against the Pro-Soviet government. The U.S. government kept him at home in protest against the charges and expelled the Syrian ambassador, Dr. Farid Zeineddine, in retaliation. During the U.N. Assembly, the Syrian and American governments agreed to resume full relations.

Robert Warren, Bride Now on Honeymoon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Robert Warren, youngest son of Chief Justice Earl Warren, honeymooned in southern California today with his bride of two days, Carolyn June Macklin.

The couple, with their parents looking on, were married Saturday.

Robert, youngest of the six Warren children, is a senior at the nearby Davis Campus of the University of California. His bride, 19, is an office worker there.

Death Calls Off Yule Wedding

Brooklyn Bridegroom Shot, Killed by Future Father-in-Law

NEW YORK (AP)—A 28-year-old Brooklyn man, who was to have been married Christmas day, was shot to death yesterday by his prospective father-in-law.

Police gave this account:

Francisco Napoleon Landa, 60, telephoned police about 1 a. m. yesterday and said: "I shot a man with a rifle. He's dead."

Going to Landa's Manhattan apartment, patrolmen found Jacob Kalisch, a refrigerator repairman, dead on the floor. He had been shot through the throat.

Landa said he did not like Kalisch, who was to have married his red-haired daughter Maybelle, 32. The older man said he especially disliked what he termed Kalisch's hot temper.

Landa said Kalisch knocked on his apartment door shortly before 1 a. m. and demanded entrance. Landa's wife and daughter were at a late movie.

When he refused to open the door, Landa said, Kalisch kicked it in. Landa said he then went to a closet, brought out the gun and fired.

Landa was held in $5,000 bond on a homicide charge.

The Volga River in Russia is 2,400 miles in length.

New Mexico claims it has the oldest highway in the United States. It is El Camino Real, which, according to historical tradition, was established and used in about 1581.
