Shriver Is Fighting Losing Battle to Save OEO Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sargent Shriver is battling Congress for the life of his command post—the Office of Economic Opportunity—and the usually optimistic antipoverty director concedes the future looks bleak.

"There might be no war on poverty by the time we're through," Shriver said recently, estimating the odds are 60 to 40 against passage of the Johnson administration's antipoverty legislation now before Congress.

Shriver's primary concerns are money and a Republican effort to dismantle the OEO and move its programs to such established departments as Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Johnson has requested $2.06 billion for the OEO for fiscal 1968, compared with the $1.6 billion appropriated in fiscal 1967. Shriver believes an appropriation of $1.7 billion to $2 billion might be wrung from Congress.

Some congressmen believe the appropriation will be the same as fiscal 1967.

★ ★ ★

The difference between what Congress authorizes in spending and what it actually appropriates can spell the life or death of his program, says Shriver.

He notes, for instance, that Congress authorized $1.75 billion for the antipoverty agency last year and then appropriated $150 million less, forcing sharp cutbacks in major programs.

With rising prices, says Shriver, just getting the same amount of money doesn't mean standing still, it means dropping back.

In June appearances before the House and Senate, and in many speeches, Shriver and his top aides said poverty can be defeated and the OEO should remain the primary coordinating force.

OUTDOES SKIRMISHES

In the past two weeks, Shriver outdid his previous skirmishes with the House Education and Labor Committee, appearing at seven hearings to fight for his program.

He found time for two days of testimony before the Senate poverty subcommittee, which also is considering the OEO budget.

The GOP "Opportunity Crusade," introduced by Reps. Albert A. Quie of Minnesota and Charles E. Goodell of New York, would dismantle the OEO by distributing its programs among other agencies.

3-MAN COUNCIL

It would replace the OEO with a three-man council of economic opportunity advisers in the White House.

Quie says the shift would make the antipoverty program more effective.

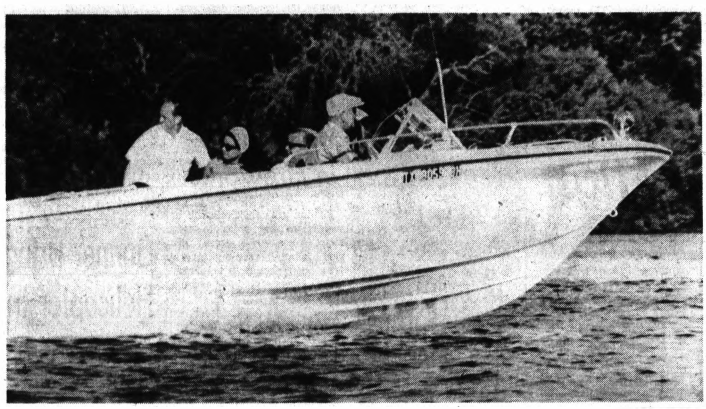

Shriver has accused Quie and Goodell of "trying to get a political victory—in the narrow sense—by getting rid of OEO without eliminating the programs."

State Tax Measure Bans Referendum

LANSING (AP) —Michigan will start paying their first state income tax Oct. 1, but apparently they won't get a chance to voice their sentiments on the subject a month later.

The 2.6 per cent individual income tax bill passed by the Legislature Saturday prohibits a proposed referendum.

A $3-million appropriations amendment was reinstated in the bill stipulating that the measure was designed to meet deficiencies in state funds.

The Michigan Constitution forbids referendums on appropriations bills and those designed to make up deficiencies.

Opponents of the measure in the Senate gave up on attempts to stall its implementation and voted 26-8 Saturday afternoon to go along with the House and give the bill immediate effect.

IN ADDITION

In addition to the individual income tax the bill levies a 5.6 per cent tax on corporations and a 7 per cent tax on financial institutions.

Only Gov. George Romney's signature is needed before Michigan becomes the 39th state with a personal income tax.

Although the program differed considerably from the original tax package proposed by Romney, no other governor before has been able to put a tax reform program through the Michigan Legislature.

★ ★ ★

Two former Democratic governors, G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson, tried unsuccessfully for 14 years to get tax bills through Republican legislatures.

KEY PROVISIONS

Here are the key provisions of the tax package and the planned effective date of each:

2.6 per cent personal income tax with $1,200 deduction per dependent, Oct. 1, 1967.

Income taxes of 5.6 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions, Jan. 1, 1968.

★ ★ ★

Repeal of the business activities tax, Jan. 1, 1968.

Increase in the per-person exemption from the intangibles tax from $10 to $100, Oct. 1.

Distribution of $38 million per year to local units of government on a per-capita basis.

A bill regarded as part of the legislative fiscal program, which would boost the cigarette tax by three cents a pack and take effect Aug. 1, has passed the House but not the Senate.

Clash at Suez in Third Day as U.N. Set to Vote

By The Associated Press

Egyptian and Israeli troops clashed at the Suez Canal for the third day today as the United Nations prepared to vote on demands for the withdrawal of Israeli troops, and Israel said thousands of Arab refugees could return home.

The Israeli army said Egyptian troops on the canal's west bank fired for 20 minutes at Israeli soldiers on the east bank near El Qantara, about 25 miles from the canal's northern entrance.

The Israelis said the Egyptians fired across the canal a second time two hours later, but the Israeli troops returned the fire and the Egyptians quit shooting.

Israel, which captured nearly all of Egypt east of the canal in the June 5-10 war, reported three such machine gun and mortar attacks yesterday on its positions near El Qantara. The Israelis said they silenced the Egyptian gunners each time.

Radio Cairo said Egyptian forces in position on the eastern bank turned back an Israeli attack and destroyed six tanks and nine armored cars in two days of fighting.

The two sides clashed Saturday night on the east bank. Egypt claimed its men had been there all along.

Israel said about 100 Egyptians had crossed the canal and penetrated about nine miles into the Sinai Peninsula before being driven back across the waterway.

LBJ Enjoys Holiday as Polls Show Rise

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, rising in the polls and armed with a new statement of support from Democratic governors, is described as thoroughly enjoying his holiday stay at the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson spent a quiet Sunday in his native central Texas hill country, driving to church, helping daughter Luci celebrate her 20th birthday and boating on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson.

This leisurely pace contrasted with a flying trip to St. Louis Saturday to meet with Democratic governors and thank them for statements of support that he later told a news conference were "music to my ears."

The governors, with two from the Deep South abstaining, adopted a "statement of accord" that praised Johnson's efforts at home and abroad and declared: "No political leader in the world is giving more inspired meaning to the words 'freedom for all people' than is President Lyndon B. Johnson."

Even as Johnson was meeting with the governors, the Harris Poll, copyright by the Washington Post Co., was reporting an 11-point jump in the President's popularity following his meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his handling of the Middle East crisis.

EXPLAINS IMPROVEMENT

"I think when the governors support you and are behind you, you always improve," Johnson said.

Making no effort to hide his partisanship, he told the St. Louis News conference: "We belong to a party where we can speak our minds, and we spoke it well in 1964 and we're going to speak it again in 1968."

The President also said, "I think, generally, that the worst Democrat is better for the country than the best Republican."

Johnson and wife Lady Bird are expected to remain at their ranch, some 75 miles northwest of San Antonio, through July 4. It's felt they may linger through next weekend.

Queen Tours Expo; Public Kept Away

MONTREAL (AP) — Queen Elizabeth tours Expo 67 today with only the footfalls of security men behind her and her subjects kept away from their monarch by water, security guards and rope barriers.

Police again took security measures that some Canadians considered overzealous and unnecessary.

But officials recalled the queen's 1964 visit to French-speaking Quebec, when she was subjected to insults and noisy demonstrations by anti-British groups.

Both demonstrators and placards are barred from the Expo grounds. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police refused to announce the size of its force guarding the queen, but hundreds of Montreal and provincial officers were known to have been brought to the fair grounds.

They were assigned to keep all visitors off one Expo island in the St. Lawrence River while the royal yacht Britannia was docking.

Weather Forecast Eases Tennessee Dam Crisis

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP) — The weatherman today eased the pressure on engineers seeking to ease the pressure on a rain-soaked, earthen dam which has been threatening to flood three middle-Tennessee communities.

★ ★ ★

The forecast called for sunny and dry weather, for the first time in a week, as an air mass which has kept thunderstorms pounding the state moved out toward the east.

Laurel Hill Dam, an earth structure made mushy by several days of rain, began seeping dangerously last Wednesday. By Friday, engineers for the State Game and Fish Commission assessed the situation as critical. The dam, however, continued to hold back its two-mile fishing lake.

"But one good rain could change the picture drastically," said Bob Galloway, lake manager for the state. "We're not over the hump by a long shot."

★ ★ ★

Most of the 200 families who live in three communities down-stream from the dam moved livestock from riverside pasture areas to higher ground over the weekend. Residents stayed put —relying on a mobile radio network hastily set up by the commission to warn them if the flood threat worsens.

"We've been hearing all sorts of rumors," said one resident, who declined to identify himself. "But until we hear from the game and fish boys, we're staying put."

Thirty-two game and fish workers, several National Guardsmen, and state troopers were stationed at strategic spots downstream from the dam in constant contact with engineers watching it. Officials said evacuation could come within a few minutes.

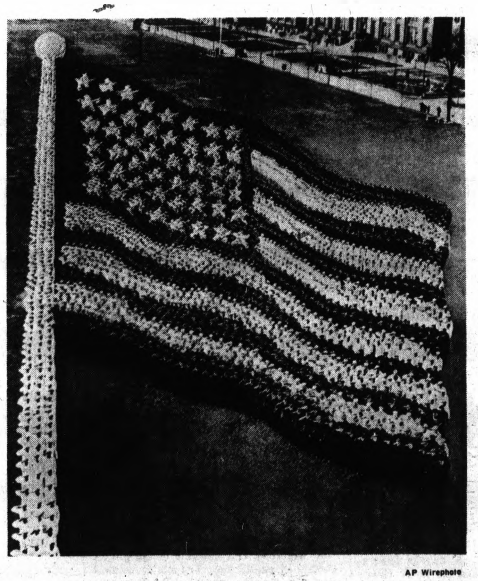

Engineers meantime were spilling water through a sluice to lower the 3.6-billion-gallon lake at the rate of 8 inches a day in an effort to relieve the pressure. It is down two feet from full pool now. Officials plan to lower it 16 feet more.

★ ★ ★

So far, the water seeping through the dam — 75 feet high and 840 feet long —has been clear. Unless it turns muddy, engineers said, they are optimistic that it will hold.

40 MINUTES TO ESCAPE

The nearest community is about 20 miles away, giving residents 40 minutes before a 40-foot wall of water would reach them at an estimated speed of 30 miles an hour.

U.S. Road Toll So Far Is 352

By the Associated Press

Highway accidents snuffed out the lives of hundreds of Americans during the Independence Day weekend, and the National Safety Council predicted hundreds more would die before the long holiday ends.

A council spokesman said today indications were that the preholiday estimate of 700 to 800 traffic deaths during the four-day holiday will hold.

Fatalities numbered 352 early today since the count began at 6 p.m. Friday. The holiday officially ends at midnight tomorrow.

The nation's worst accident during the weekend occurred on a straight stretch of Illinois 23 about 70 miles southwest of Chicago. Six teen-agers were killed in a head-on collision involving two cars Saturday night.

In Waynesboro, Va., a car carrying Gov. and Mrs. Mills E. Godwin Jr., collided with another automobile. A passenger in the other car was killed. The governor's wife suffered a broken ankle.

1966 RECORD

The worst Independence Day weekend for traffic deaths was last year. There were 576 fatalities in the three-day period. The worst toll for any holiday was 748 during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend last year.

There were 74 drownings and 21 boating fatalities throughout the nation early today since the holiday period began.

7 Soldiers, 10 Reds Killed as Humphrey Visited in S. Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Koreans killed seven South Korean soldiers and wounded five from ambush and 10 Communists were killed in other clashes while U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and other foreign leaders were in the country for the inauguration of President Chung Hee Park, the army said today.

Reports of the attacks in and below the demilitarized zone appeared to have been withheld while the foreign visitors were in Seoul, about 50 miles to the southwest.

As Humphrey paid his farewell call on Park today a few hours before leaving for the United States, thousands of South Korean students resumed their protest that the June 8 parliamentary election was rigged and battled police around Seoul.

Army officials said the ambush came Saturday, a few hours after Park was inaugurated for his second term. They said more than 10 North Koreans threw hand grenades and fired submachine guns at soldiers returning from a meeting and then fled into dense underbrush.

80 SINCE OCTOBER

The incident brought to 80 the number of South Koreans and Americans killed in border clashes since just before President Johnson's state visit to Korea last October.

Officials said the army killed two North Korean intruders Saturday, two Sunday and six today.

Some 3,000 students of Kyunghee University began throwing rocks at 500 riot policemen outside their campus and five were reported injured—two seriously—when police hurled back the rocks.

Police fired about 30 rounds of tear gas to turn back 4,000 demonstrating students of Chungang University and used clubs to disperse 2,000 students surging into the streets from Korea University. Students from Yonsei Dongguk universities also were in the streets.

UNIVERSITIES REOPEN

The disturbances began again after most universities in Seoul reopened today on orders of the Education Ministry. About 40 colleges and 300 high schools across the country shut down three weeks ago during violent demonstrations against election rigging. Seoul National University and the 71 high schools in Seoul stayed closed, and three universities announced the start of summer vacation without holding final examinations.

Humphrey's visit included five days of talks with Asian leaders in which he called on their governments to pay a greater share of the cost of economic and social aid to South Vietnam. He was said to have stressed that point strongly in talks Saturday with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

Curious Flock to See Jayne's Burial Site

PEN ARGYL, Pa. (AP) — Crowds of curiosity seekers are arriving in this small, quiet hamlet to see the burial site of actress Jayne Mansfield.

But the family of the 34-year-old Miss Mansfield, who became a famous Hollywood sex symbol, reiterated its intention to keep the final rites today simple and private.

And there has been little for the curious to see: a tarpaulin over a newly opened grave near the entrance to Fairview Cemetery, a neat white house where Miss Mansfield lived as a child.

The actress was killed Thursday along with her attorney and chauffeur in a car-truck crash in Louisiana.

PLANNED SERVICES

Meeting Sunday night at the home of Miss Mansfield's aunt, Mrs. Bert Milheim, relatives and Hungarian-born strongman Mickey Hargitay, the actress' second husband, made final plans for services.

Accustomed to and welcoming the glare of publicity while alive, the actress was to be buried in relative privacy, Richard Milheim, a cousin, stressed.

* * *

Milheim said the family wanted a quiet, dignified burial "and we have 300 policemen" to insure it.

Services were set for 2 p.m. EDT.

* * *

Born in Bryn Mawr, Pa., on the Philadelphia Main Line, Miss Mansfield moved here with her mother, now Mrs. Harry Peers of Dallas, Tex., after her father, Herbert Palmer, died when she was 2 years old.

DEATH TRAP — Fire swept through the Ernest Spencer Sr. home seven miles northwest of Caro yesterday, snuffing out the lives of five children and badly burning five others, four of whom were in critical condition today. Dead are Debra Spencer, 6, three of her brothers — Paul 9, Carl, 4, and Terry, 3 — and Ronald Jackson, 9, who was visiting at the Spencer home. The parents were away when the fire broke out at 3 a.m., trapping the children in the basement.

Savage Battle Over; GI Casualties High

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines halted an infiltrating force of some 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars Sunday in a savage battle that cost 255 American casualties—51 dead, 34 missing and 170 wounded.

The Marines said that they counted 65 Communist bodies and that planes, artillery and naval guns probably killed many more.

* * *

WAR MOUNTED

The war mounted in intensity on the ground and in the air above North Vietnam with these major developments:

1. The Marines stopped the elite North Vietnamese 90th Regiment moving south for an attack on the Marine outpost at Con Thien.

2. South Vietnamese headquarters said that about noon today a Communist force jumped a 100-truck supply convoy moving from Da Nang to Phu Bai with an escort of armored vehicles and two companies of troops.

* * *

Initial reports did not specify losses to the convoy.

3. The vital Marine airfield at Dong Ha was put out of use for five hours by Communist gunfire, and considerable damage was caused to the Air Force radar installations there which keep watch over the demilitarized zone just to the north. At least four Air Force men were wounded. The Red gunners fired 120 rounds at the installation.

JETS LOST

4. The Air Force said three U.S. jets were lost in raids over North Vietnam Sunday. One pilot of a Navy Skyhawk jet was listed as missing in action. The pilots of two Air Force Thunderchief jets were picked up in daring helicopter rescues. One pilot hid overnight, and 32 aircraft participated in his rescue.

5. Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division battled a guerrilla force Sunday of perhaps 250 men holding a concealed underground fortress in the foothills of coastal Bong Son Province. In a nine-hour fight the cavalrymen killed 75 Communist troops but had 19 dead and 33 wounded.

* * *

No Big Changes Seen Under New Data Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies begin working Tuesday under a new Freedom of Information Act but few of them expect important changes in the way they disclose public records.

* * *

Despite this consensus among administrators, congressional supporters of the law say they will make sure it is observed.

The man who sponsored the measure, in the House—Rep. John Moss, D—Calif.,—says the final verdict on the law's effectiveness will be handed down by John Q. Public.

* * *

"The objective of the new law is clear," said Moss. "How well it works will depend on how effectively people exercise their guarantee of access to the facts of government."

BITTER END

Sen. Edward V. Long, D—Mo., Senate sponsor of the bill, said he is "sure that there are bureaucrats who are going to hang on to their secrecy until the bitter end."

But Long added, "we've worked far too long and hard on this law to see it mangled by federal red tape."

* * *

One agency official, questioned in an Associated Press survey to see how the new law will change procedures, replied "I don't see three cents worth of difference."

Several other administrators said they think the law is confusing and open to different interpretations. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said "definitive answers may have to await court rulings."

ANY DOCUMENT

The law provides that any citizen may see any government document in the files—but lists nine categories of materials which are exempt from this stipulation. These range from defense secrets to interagency memos to files which, if made public, would invade an individual's privacy.

* * *

As for files not exempt under the new law, many agencies said in the AP survey that they have been making them available to the public all along.

A typical comment in this regard came from George Christian, the White House press secretary, who said, "We give you everything that isn't classified."

Vandals Rip High School in Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP) — Damage was estimated at $25,000 today from a wave of vandalism that swept Saginaw's Douglas MacArthur High School Sunday night, leaving broken windows, smashed typewriters and adding machines and overturned equipment.

"I've never seen this much vandalism," said Saginaw County Sheriff Robert Loubert.

* * *

Clyde Glazer, school administrative assistant, said the $25,000 estimate was a "minimum figure." At least $5,000 damage was counted in broken windows alone, he said.

Clocks were ripped from walls, fire extinguishers emptied and then used to smash windows, and papers were strewn about the four-building high school complex.

* * *

Police said they found fingerprints and tennis shoe prints in the vicinity and noticed that only the sophomore files in the administration office were disturbed.

Round of Political Meetings

Romney Near 4-Day 'Vacation'

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (UPI) — Michigan Gov. George Romney is scheduled to arrive here late tomorrow to test the political waters prior to an expected plunge into the nation's first 1968 presidential primary.

"The Anchorage," Lake Winnipesaukee home of wealthy hotel man John Willard Marriott of Washington, will serve as headquarters for the four-day political foray billed as a "vacation."

Supporters of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are expected to be watching closely the reception given Romney Wednesday night when top Republican leaders host a reception in honor of the governor and his wife.

Political writers, editors and publishers who will report the outcome of the almost certain Nixon-Romney primary contest next March will be guests of the Marriott's Thursday evening at a reception.

* * *

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

Romney reportedly is not planning to announce his entry into the primary until early next year, but his aides already are enlisting campaign workers and setting up a political organization.

Supervising the efforts is David B. Goldberg, president of Campaign Consultants, Inc., of Boston, who helped engineer Henry Cabot Lodge's write-in victory in the 1964 primary.

* * *

Goldberg and partner John Deardouf, a former aide to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a Romney supporter, have been working several months in major communities to unify supporters.

Birmingham Area News

Parking Dispute Again Faced

BIRMINGHAM — Traffic on downtown Maple will again be a major area of concern to City Commissioners at their meeting at 8 tonight.

The city police department is recommending removal of parking during rush hours, 4 to 6 p.m., while street construction projects are in process — which will be most of the rest of summer.

The Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce suggests a counterproposal. A merchant along the street complains that a previous 30-day parking ban, imposed as a test, had near-disastrous effects on business.

The owner of Machus restaurant and pastry shop, 160 W. Maple, claims 50 per cent of his dinner business disappeared during the test period.

* * *

Business at the pastry shop during the hours of no-parking is "practically nil," the owner claims.

'NOT GREEDY'

He writes his complaint is not merely "the selfish reaction of 'a greedy Birmingham Merchant' as we merchants are often named."

Machus writes in his opinion the parking ban will result in the 'gradual deterioration" of the downtown area.

The Chamber suggests allowing parking on at least one side of the street, parking on Saturday, placing a traffic officer, to expedite traffic flow.

* * *

The police point out traffic is funneled into the area only to meet a jam on Maple. Their report says traffic is halted each time a driver parks or unparks.

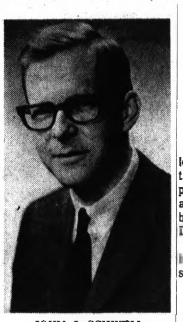

ALSO PROPOSED

Another proposal concerning traffic and parking will be considered by commissioners.

The city manager recommends planning for a new parking structure for the southern portion of the business district at Pierce between Merrill and Brown.

The administration recommends the firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach of Birmingham as architect and consultants.

The firm is submitting a letter along with the recommendation stating that planning could be completed by January and construction by November 1968.

JOHN J. SCHWEM

Administrative Aide Named at Hospital

The new assistant administrator for professional services at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, 900 Woodward, is John J. Schwem, 27, of Kalamazoo.

Before coming to Pontiac, he was assistant administrator at Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo.

Schwem has a master's degree in hospital administration and a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering from the University of Michigan.

A 1958 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, he is married and has two children.

Missing Man's Body Is Found

Manager of Market Pulled From River

DETROIT (AP) — Medical authorities today identified a bound, weighted body pulled from the Detroit River Sunday as that of a supermarket manager believed kidnaped last February.

Dr. John Burton, medical examiner, made the identification through personal effects found on the man's clothing and a ring he was wearing as Anthony Volante, 28, who disappeared last Feb. 15 after driving to his home in the Detroit suburb of Westland after closing his store in that city.

Volantes' legs were bound by a 10-foot chain linked to a cement block.

Lee Smith, a fisherman, discovered the body Sunday morning near Gleron Island, southwest of Grosse Ile.

SIMILAR CLOTHING

It was clothed in black shoes, dark tweed sport coat, dark string tie and white dress shirt.

Police said the clothing was similar to what Volante was wearing when he disappeared. He also wore a wedding band initialed "AV to NE, May 2, 1959." His wife's name is "Nancy."

After Volante disappeared, a check of the supermarket safe showed $2,658 was missing. Volante was seen driving his car into the driveway of his home about an hour after the store was closed.

Police suggested that Volante was followed home by robbers who kidnaped him and forced him to return to the store, open the safe and hand over the money.

Mrs. Volante has been under a doctor's care since her husband vanished.

"All I can tell the children is that their father is lost and we hope he'll be found some day," she said.

The Volantes have three children—Keith, 7, and Pamela, 5, and Vicky Lynn, 2.

Area Skies Will Blaze in Fireworks

Pontiac area residents will be looking to the skies to take their choice of fireworks displays being offered by several area businessmen to help celebrate tomorrow, Independence Day.

The Miracle Mile Association in Bloomfield Township will start its display at 9 tonight.

Nine fireworks display permits have been authorized by the Waterford Township Board.

A permit extending beyond a one-night limitation was issued to Lawrence Bertram, of 3900 Maiden, in the Maceday Lake area. The period of this permit is tonight through Thursday night.

Issued a July 8 permit was the Lakewood Drive Association on Watkins Lake.

TUESDAY ONLY

All other permits are for tomorrow night only.

These were issued to the Elizabeth Lake Improvement Association; the Lake Oakland Heights Park Association; The Oakland Beach Civic Association; Fergus Owens of 1925 Watkins Lake; Grace Menninger, of 1811 Watkins Lake; and Percy Hunt, 3668 Covert.

Cause Sought in Jet Crash That Killed 3

MARQUETTE (AP)—A team of Marine Corps experts today sought the cause of a jet plane crash at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette, Mich., that killed three airmen and injured four others.

The plane, a F4B Phantom Jet from Cherry Hill Point Marine Corps Air Station in North Carolina smashed into the tower when it tried to take off late Saturday night, said an Air Force spokesman.

* * *

The airmen killed were identified as: T. Sgt. Rudolph Dgicdzic; Airman 2.C. Ronald W. Singleton; and Airman 2.C. David E. Purdy, all stationed at the air base. Names of home towns were not available.

OTHERS INJURED

Airman 1.C. Jerry D. MacBeth was in satisfactory condition at the base hospital with burns and skull lacerations, while Airmen 2.C. Rich Redhill and Paul Anderson both were treated for superficial burns and released.

Gunner Brings Helicopter In

Pilot, Copilot Hit by Enemy Fire in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — Ten feet below the helicopter the Communists in the jungle were firing at the machine. They hit the pilot. Then the copilot.

U.S. Army Spec. 4 Larry W. MacKay, 20, figured, "It was a matter of do or die"

So the Buckhannon, W. Va., helicopter gunner took the controls. He had never flown a helicopter before. But MacKay got the craft home safely across eight miles of guerrilla infested Vietnamese jungle yesterday.

He did it with one hand.

MacKay had to use one hand to stop the blood flowing from the pilot's leg wound.

"I knew the other gunner couldn't take the controls," he said.

"There were no decisions to make. It just had to be done.

"It was our fourth troop drop and our fourth landing zone. This one was really hot. There were Vietcong giving us heavy automatic weapons fire all the time.

"We had taken off and were about 10 feet above the landing zone when the pilot and copilot were both hit in the legs. I was on one of the guns. I pulled back their seats and laid them in the back of the chopper and took the controls.

"I wasn't sure what to do but luckily I had been in the seat before. They were still firing at us.

But we had no guns. The other gunner was looking after the copilot who was the worst hit, in the back.

"Coming in to land the pilot was giving me directions. That was when I was really worried. I didn't think I could get her onto the ground by myself and I thought the pilot was going to pass out.

"So I kept talking to him to keep him conscious."

He made an almost perfect landing. Base officials said he saved the pilot and the copilot's lives.

MacKay, in Vietnam four months, said he did not plan on becoming a helicopter pilot. He is busy, he said, counting the days until he can return to his parents in Buckhannon and resume his job as a construction worker.

State Okays Bond Sale for City Sewer Projects

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley announced today that the Municipal Finance Commission has approved the sale of $1.8 million in sewage disposal revenue bonds by the City of Pontiac.

The commission, of which Kelley is chairman, must approve all revenue bond sales before bids can be taken.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said bids will probably be taken Aug. 8.

Money from the sale will finance construction of two main sewer trunk lines now under construction.

* * *

The larger project—the Galloway Sewer Trunk line — will provide mains along the Galloway Creek and sewer facilities for the northeast section of the city.

The second trunk — to run along Opdyke road — is expected to cost $700,000. It will run from the sewage treatment plant on Auburn to Square Lake Road and serve the southeast section of the city.

UAW Has Many 'Strike Issues'

DETROIT (AP) — "Strike issue" will be the label on a handful of union demands when contract talks open a week from today between the nation's Big Three auto makers and the United Auto Workers Union.

Money, "a substantial wage increase," in the words of Walter P. Reuther, UAW president, will be one of the biggest issues of the negotiations for new contracts to replace the three-year pacts that expire with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler Sept. 6.

* * *

Reuther calls the union's bargaining goals the most ambitious and longest list of demands ever drawn up by the 1.4-million-member union.

The guaranteed annual income and wage parity between American and Canadian workers are two demands which the union says must be met before a contract is signed.

Company officials are skeptical about the first but have not taken a hard position yet because they say Reuther has not outlined the details of the plan.

On the question of wage parity, the companies contend that Canadian operations are not as productive as those across the border and that wage parity would cause galloping inflation in Canada.

* * *

Union officials counter with the argument that the U.S.—Canadian Trade Agreement has lowed the auto companies to integrate their Canadian and American operations, so that they are approaching parity in production efficiency.

Several less-publicized issues could be considered matters of principle likely to precipitate a strike.

VOLUNTARY OVERTIME

One of these is the question of voluntary overtime.

The union insists that the auto companies should leave overtime work to workers who volunteer for it, removing the traditional system whereby the company simply assigned the work to workmen.

One auto company executive has called this "a strike issue on principle."

"We can't run our plants by saying 'Everybody who wants to work show up in the morning,'" he said. "What if we get 10 or 15 guys and that's not enough to get the job done?

'MUST BE SURE'

"You can't call people in on the chance that enough will be there—you've got to be sure they'll be there," he said.

Another issue of principle is subcontracting, the practice of assigning some specialized work to groups independent of the company's work force.

* * *

The UAW, particularly many members of the rank and file, is intense on this matter. They say that such work which can be done by UAW members should be reserved for them.

The companies argue that decisions on who does certain work are management's prerogative and inviolate of union preferences.

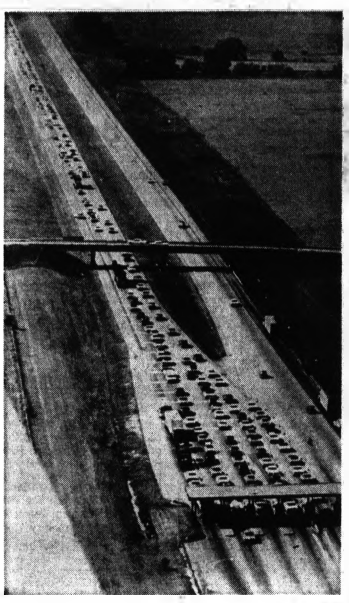

COMPANY REPLY

Above and beyond this, the auto executives said, is the fact that in some cases the companies lack the equipment, and some UAW members lack the skills, to handle much of the work now subcontracted.

The union's list of demands also includes the spelling out of lines of demarcation, showing where one man's job ends and the next man's job begins.

Several company spokesmen said this was a strike issue because stringent lines of demarcation would destroy the flexibility they say is essential to the operation of their plants.

The UAW recognizes the strike potential of such issues.

Senate Viet Policy Foes Hit Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears headed for another defense of its Vietnam policies in Congress, with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee providing a familiar battleground.

The committee—whose members include some of the most persistent congressional critics of President Johnson's war policies—has set the stage for renewed debate on Vietnam by roughly handling the administration's foreign aid bill.

The panel voted to force the President to get congressional approval before adding countries to the foreign aid list.

And members have indicated they also may vote to deny Johnson's request for two-year authorizations.

OPPOSED TO VIETNAM

Behind opposition to the $3.1 billion foreign aid package the President has asked for the next 12 months is Vietnam.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has said he may not back the measure because of his opposition to the war. And another committee member, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has pledged to oppose the bill so long as the United States continues bombing North Vietnam.

The ancient Egyptians mixed chopped straw or reeds with the clay for their bricks to make them hold together.

Water Line Dispute Talks to Resume in Shelby Twp.

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A dispute over water line construction in the township is expected to emerge from limbo later this week with the resumption of negotiations between township officials and the Detroit Water Board.

A court fight over the issue was averted at least temporarily on May 16 when representatives of the two sides met in the chambers of Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Edward J. Gallagher.

The township had requested an injunction to prevent Detroit from going ahead with its plan to install a single tap-in on 24 Mile Road instead of tap-ins on 23 and 25 Miles.

A suit had been filed by the township against the city contending that the single tap-in plan is a breech of contract and that construction work so far has seriously lowered the water table in the township's southeast section.

Detroit officials agreed at that time to reconsider their decision on the 24 Mile tap-in. They have since drawn up a new plan which calls for two tap-ins on 24 Mile.

SECOND OUTLET

In addition to the outlet at 24 Mile near Dequindre, a tap-in would be provided about three-quarters of a mile away near 24 Mile and Shelby.

With the new plan, however, comes a water rate hike of 11 cents over the originally proposed $1.64 per thousand cubic feet, bringing the new rate to $1.75.

Township Supervisor Kirby Holmes said the increase would cost township residents "millions" over the years.

* * *

"We're not convinced we're getting anything for the extra money," he said. "We could extend the line ourselves and save money."

INCREASED COSTS

The township had complained that with only one tap-in the township would face increased pipeline construction costs.

* * *

"The question now is," Holmes said, "do we accept the 11-cent hike or do we go back to court."

* * *

Detroit is building its water lines through the township as part of its Port Huron arm. The township expects eventually to tie into the service, according to Holmes.

Home-Building Boom Continues

TROY — The home-building boom continues in the city with the six-month total of permits for new dwellings nearing the entire total for 1966.

So far this year, permits for 484 homes have been issued, according to city building officials. Last year's total was 552.

May was the record month with 125, almost $2.5 million in total expenditures on private homes.

June figures, not yet complete, slacked off a bit to 83 permits.

The drop was expected and the total is still above last year's average. There is no real indication the boom has reached its peak, according to building officials.

5 Face Charge of Safe Burglary

TROY — Five men were to be arraigned today in Municipal Court on a charge of safe burglary after they were arrested in a chicken coop.

Police said the men were found in the coop at the rear of 6193 Evanswood at 10 a.m. Sunday.

In the coop with them was a safe reportedly taken from a home for the aged in Detroit earlier in the morning.

Police said the safe had a hole drilled in the bottom and contained about $1,900 in cash and checks. The men said they had found the safe, police said.

To be charged with safe burglary are George Clark, 37, Donald Krutschewski, 38, and James W. Nibblock, 21, all of Detroit, and George Miller, 25, of Wayne and Larry Bachman, 24, of Washington Township.

Power Shutdown Set

A complete shutdown of electric power in a portion of Walled Lake between the eastern city limits and the Fisher Oil Co. on West Maple is scheduled for Thursday from 6 to 9 a.m., according to City Manager Royce Downey.

The shutdwon will enable the Detroit Edison Co. to make a switch-over to new transformers in that area.

Rec Program Ready to Start in Avondale

A recreation program for all junior and senior high school students in the Avondale School District will open Wednesday for eight weeks at the Avondale High School.

The Pontiac Area Office of Economic Opportunity has promised a grant of about $3,000 to finance the program. The amount is not definite, however.

Dick Mott, district community school director, said that the program has been planned to operate weekdays from 4:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The schedule has not been finalized, however, because of the uncertainty about the amount of the grant.

Some of the activities planned are softball, basketball, tennis, volleyball and badminton.

The school library will be available for use and a teen club may be organized for some special coed activities.

HELPING HAND — A farming method rapidly disappearing from the scene adds a touch of nostalgia to this Romeo farm. Farm owner George Lakie, 12840 33 Mile, Romeo, drives the tractor while his helping hand, Lee Carter, operates the old-fashioned plow.

The board is also expected to consider ratification of a proposed contract with the custodians and maintenance personnel.

In special executive session, Supt. Dr. George G. Garver will discuss with the board the status of current teacher contract negotiations.

In other business, the board will review bids submitted this week for the construction of a new 20-room elementary school and a type B facility (for special education) on the Loon Lake property.

Record Number of Drivers

State Holiday Road Toll at 11

By The Associated Press

Michigan motorists took to the highways in record numbers over the long Fourth of July weekend, and at least 11 persons died in traffic in the first half of the holiday.

Many business establishments closed today to give their employes a four-day weekend. The Associated Press traffic fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ends at midnight tomorrow.

Most state parks reported that tourist accommodations were crammed for the entire weekend.

In the Upper Peninsula, the Mackinac Bridge Authority said the bridge had its heaviest one-hour concentration of northbound cars in its 10-year history between 11 a.m. and noon Saturday when 1,400 vehicles moved over the span.

* * *

The Automobile Club of Michigan reported that traffic appeared about 11 per cent heavier over the state than over the first two days of the July 4 weekend last year.

35 PCT. DROP

But the number of traffic deaths dropped about 35 per cent compared with the corresponding period of 1966.

Killed in traffic accidents were:

David Reed, 14, Six Lakes, when he fell off his bicycle in Belvedere Township, Montcalm County yesterday.

* * *

Sylvia Hale, 72, of Muskegon, in a two-car collision yesterday in Muskegon.

CAR ROLLS OVER

Robert Criswell, 24, East Rosedale, when his car ran off M53 Saturday and rolled over in Sterling Township, Macomb County.

Jeffery Brasseur, 5, Carrolton, when a truck smashed into the tricycle he was riding Saturday.

Lewis Brown, 39, of Detroit, struck by a car as he crossed a Detroit street Friday.

Paul Loisell, 14, and his brother Robert, 3, when the car driven by their father Ernest Loisell of Mio was involved in a two-car collision on M53, five miles north of Mio Saturday.

THROWN FROM AUTO

David Kinney, 38, Leadville, Colo., on U.S.-2 in Iron County after his car swerved off the road and he was thrown out.

Betty J. Rydholm, 30, Marquette, when she was hit by a car as she crossed the street yesterday near her home.

Walter J. Cenkala, 22, Rogers City, when his car ran off a rural road near Rogers City and rolled over.

* * *

Robert Warren, 90, Benton Harbor, when the car in which he was riding was involved in a three-car smashup Saturday near Benton Township, Berrien County.

Robert H. Kelly, head park naturalist at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, has announced his resignation from the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority in order to become head naturalist with the Forest Preserve District of Dupage County, Ill.

Kelly of 226 E. St. Clair, Romeo, has been a member of the HCMA's naturalist staff for the past four years. He pioneered much of the developmental work at the nature study area at Stoney Creek Park, which opened in the summer of 1964.

Kelly's resignation will be effective Aug. 1. His successor at Stony Creek is expected to be named within the next few weeks.

Winners of the two four-year terms were Carlos Trask III and Cloyd Feigley who defeated incumbents Lawrence Kinstel and Gerald Anderson.

Dr. Norman Kreiger will serve out a two-year term, formerly held by board president James W. Smith.

Arthur Burkland was elected to a one-year term.

RETURNING MEMBERS

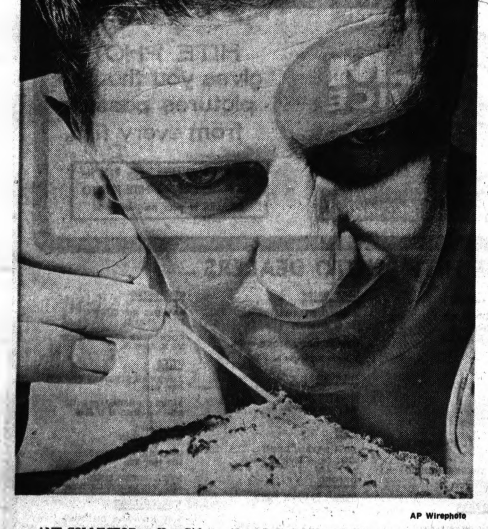

Returning board members for the new year are Jean A. Smith, secretary; Harry Porter, treasurer; and Lyle Tyler.

ANT COLLECTOR — Ken Gidney, 46, of Bell Gardens, Calif., counts ants which he collects for a living. He captures up to 300,000 ants a week and sells them to an ant farm manufacturer for a penny apiece.

Rewards Not Penny-Ante for This Hunter in California

BELL GARDENS, Calif. (AP) — For ant-hunter Ken Gidney, business is looking down.

On his hands and knees, clutching a broom straw and coffee can, Gidney captures ants for a wholesale company that supplies ant farms, an educational toy for inquisitive children, eager biology students and the idle curious.

Gidney's rewards aren't penny-ante. He gets a penny an ant as a professional. Sometimes his intake reaches $3,000 a week when the ants are running strong.

Gidney, 46, who lives with his wife and nine children in Bell Gardens, a Los Angeles suburb, got the job by answering a newspaper ad.

* * *

"I go all over," he says with a touch of bravado. "Saugus, Newhall, Ontario, Pomona, Lancaster, Palm Springs — anywhere I'm likely to find ants.

"I usually have some of my children and some assistants along. We spot an ant hill, get out, and start digging with shovels. And then we fetch our ants onto our straws.

"People are always stopping their cars and asking us what we're up to. We're used to it."

Twice a week, Gidney delivers sacks of ants — 15 to 35 in each polyethylene vial — to his employer.

The ant hunter must be selective, catching only the sterile females, called pogonomyrex, or harvesters. These are the worker ants that perform busily in the dirt-filled, transparent plastic ant farms.

MAILED TO D.C.

Gidney can't keep all of his ants down on the farm, however. Every two months, 4,000 are mailed to Washington, D.C.

"We send them to the Walter Reed Army Institute for research," says Gidney's employer. "It's all done by government contract. We get $100 per shipment. We assume the ants are used in space research, but we aren't about to ask any questions."

Hedger 'Crew-Cuts' Fruit Trees

FENNVILLE (AP)—Fruit grower William Adkin showed unusual foresight eight years ago when he planted new orchards on his Allegan County farm near here.

* * *

Set in hedge rows 20 feet apart, the layout allows more trees and yield per acre and easier picking, spraying and pruning.

Since he believed that the biggest problem was to maintain the orchard at a desired height and shape, the next step was to contact local garage owner and implement dealer Charles Plummer and enlist his aid in building a one-man operated hedger.

The pilot model was in the designing stage four years and took three months to build.

* * *

Christened the "Top-N-Side" hedger, the machine uses a series of hydraulic-driven circular saws, which can be changed from vertical to horizontal positions.

Believed to be the only one of its kind in the state, the hedger trims one to five acres an hour, depending on the size of the trees. Four-wheel drive and steering and a cutting head, which adjusts anywhere between 7½ feet to 18 feet, add to the versatility of the machine.

The driver is protected by a steel mesh cage.

Although built originally for the Adkin farm in 1966 the demand for "crew-cut" trees was so great that a second improved model joined the first one last spring. The two machines have pruned more than 3,000 acres of fruit trees in Allegan and Van Buren counties.

The second six-ton unit uses seven 28-inch blades instead of twelve 18-inch blades. The inventors say most of the growers have asked for the service of the machines on a yearly or semiannual basis.

INSTALLMENT No. 19

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Rano Davis, a prize fighter who is in Paris with writing aspirations, had no idea of becoming involved in intrigue when, needing money, he took the job as tutor to the son of the widowed Anne de Villemont, Paul. He also has the role of bodyguard to Paul, although the de Villemont mansion has many servants, and other dwellers: Anne's sisters-in-law and their husbands, Claude and Gabrielle de Gonde and Matilde and Edmond Vosiers, along with Bernard Bourdon, private secretary to de Gonde. Anne insisted to Davis that Paul's life was in danger. Then he heard that Sidney Scott, Paul's former tutor, died under questionable circumstances. Davis has met at the mansion Charles Leschenaut, an editor, who promised to look at his writings, and has had a disturbing encounter with Dr. Hubert Morillon. He realizes now Morillon has a hold on Anne and the household, and he has agreed to help her get Paul away secretly to the United States. Then, visiting the Paris Fair with his friend, Louis le Buc, and Paul, Davis was separated from them.

CHAPTER 19

I CAME to hazily.

I braced my hands against the floor to push myself to a sitting position, and one hand brushed against something cold and metallic. A neatly polished, solid-looking black shoe pushed whatever it was out of my reach, and a familiar voice said, "No more guns for you, chum. Try that again and I'll mash you fingers into mincemeat."

"At least he's not dead," said another familiar voice. "I thought I might have killed him."

"Saved him a lot of trouble if you did," said the first. "Anyhow, it takes more than a whack on the head with a bottle to kill a type like this. Look at him, the sleeping beauty. If you hadn't cooled him off, he'd be a mile away by now and with all the money, too."

"All right, champ, the fight's over, so let's not play dead any more. Up, assassin. It's time for a nice little ride in the wagon."

I managed to get to my feet and stand there swaying as if I were on the deck of a small boat in a high sea. Then the deck steadied, my vision cleared, and I could try to make sense out of what was being said to me and why.

It was my old acquaintance, Maguy, the cop on the beat, who confronted me, his eyes cold, his jaw set; and it was Leon Becque beside him, his dark glasses concealing whatever emotion he might show through his one good eye. Behind them were the cabby I had told to wait downstairs, and Madame Olympe almost filling the doorway with her bulk and barring the way to some tenants of the house and vendors from the stalls downstairs who craned their heads to witness this scene.

But there was something missing from the scene.

"Where's Louis le Buc?" I said to Maguy. "Where's the kid?"

He was standing between me and the bed. He moved aside and jerked his thumb at the bed.

"You want to make sure you did the job right?" he said. "Take a look, butcher."

I looked, and sickness rose in me. Louis lay sprawled on the bed, his head hanging over its side, his eyes blindly staring at me upside down. His beret had fallen off exposing the waxen forehead and gleaming skull, and centered in the forehead was a small, dark, round hole from which oozed threads of blood.

"Do you have to let him lie there like that?" I managed to say. "Can't you at least cover him?" and Madame Olympe remarked acidly, "Ah, but what tender sentiments now that it's over and done with."

"A little late for tears," someone else agreed.

I looked at the hate-filled faces pronouncing these strange words, looked at the scene around me, and now desolation was replaced by a wild rage at what had been done to Louis, by fear at what might have happened to Paul de Villemont, by bewilderment at the sight of the money scattered over the bed and on the floor at its foot.

Thousands and thousands in banknotes lay there as if a tree bearing them had been roughly shaken over the bed. On the floor were also the shattered remnants of a cognac bottle — the quart bottle of Courvoisier Louis always kept on his dresser —its contents soaked up wetly by the carpet, and near the stain lay a gun.

The sight of that gun transfixed me.

"Is that yours?" Maguy demanded.

"I don't know. I was given one like it, but I never carried it with me. Who did this, Maguy? Who killed him? And where's the kid? What happened to him?"

"What kid?"

"The one I'm supposed to be taking care of. Madame de Villemont's son. He was right here when I came into this room! Where is he now?"

Maguy turned to Becque, who slowly shook his head.

"He was here!" I said. "He was standing next to Louis when I opened the door."

"There was nobody here but Louis," Becque said to Maguy as if the words were being wrung out of him. "I was right at the door and saw everything. Reno came running up the stairs like a madman with the gun in his hand. He threw open the door, and there was Louis counting the money on the bed. 'You thief!' he yelled at Louis, 'You swindler! So you'd rob me, would you?' and before I could do anything he fired that bullet into Louis' head.

"Then he started toward the bed—I suppose he was going to gather up the money — and I seized the bottle and hit him with it. I don't know where I got the strength. Both of them were my friends, and to have this happen before my eyes—!"

I looked at Leon Becque and knew that at last I was looking into the face of the enemy. Whether he was head conspirator or only an accomplice, here in the open was one of those fanatic friends of Hubert Morillon who evidently lived only to serve him.

And now beautifully I had been duped into renting him my room, telling him my secrets, handing over to him Elaine Fiasou who could explain my character to him, and Louis who could keep him informed of my every move.

From the day Leon Becque entered my life, I had been under surveillance.

I lunged for Becque, and Maguy was instantly between us, his hand on the butt of his holstered pistol.

In all the world there was only one witness to Louis' murder who would tell the truth about it.

"Maguy," I said, "when I opened that door the boy was standing here with Louis. I swear to you he was here, and he's been kidnaped and is in danger. You must get in touch with his family at once. You'll have to tell them—"

"There was no one here but Louis," Becque said patiently, as if he were humoring someone with a hallucination.

In the distance I heard the demented, warbling note of the siren on a police wagon.

I was through the window and clinging to the sill by my fingertips. I looked down, saw the striped canvas of the canopy below.

The canopy collapsed when I landed on it, and canvas and I came crashing down. When I did get to my feet a couple of daring spirits grabbed at me and I had to throw a few punches to clear a way to the cab. The key was there, and the cab roared into life immediately. I reached the corner just as the police van, its siren deafening, swung into the Faubourg Saint-Denis, and we almost crashed head-on.

It Seems to Me . . .

First Income Tax Package Will Keep State Solvent

State taxes are settled.

Certainly it's for the best.

Probably no one in the Wolverine commonwealth is completely satisfied but one thing can be agreed upon:

Absolute austerity is out.

★ ★ ★

Governor George Romney made it very plain that if the Legislature didn't provide sufficient funds, he would cut all services sufficiently to let us pay our way. That included many, many essential things and Michigan would have been badly hamstrung.

But Romney was right.

We had two choices.

★ ★ ★

We could raise more money and keep essential things moving or we could face substantial backtracking. Few will condemn the Governor for insisting we pay our way. G. Mennen Williams tried the reverse and left Michigan penniless.

George Romney's long business experience forbids a palpable economic and political error like that and he was adamant on lopping off everything we couldn't pay for. Some Democrat legislators insist the GOP gave Williams such a hard time they intend to retaliate and take it out on a Republican. Diehards like these deserve complete political oblivion.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's financial situation now isn't just what the Governor wanted. It isn't what the vindictive Legislators wanted. It isn't precisely what the people want and that includes industry and private citizens.

But we can move onward.

We aren't ditched.

★ ★ ★

We've escaped the inglorious humiliation of governmental stupidity and a bottom rung among the 50 states in the Union.

Screaming Sirens . . . .

For a considerable period of time, residents in this area have been variously afflicted and insulted by an increasing number of blatant ambulance sirens.

They're inexcusable.

No justification exists.

★ ★ ★

Just because a few headstrong companies propose to inflict their own ideas upon an entire community is no reason for the people to sit idly by and accept the insult. This area is sick of the whole thing.

As Commissioner Irwin pointed out! "a whoopee siren was blaring away at 10:45 Sunday morning on East Huron street when traffic was so light you could have fired a cannon down the street." Why should we put up with something designed purely to attract attention to the ambulance?

City Manager WARREN said "the cost of the sirens was considerable" and he envisioned trouble in enforcing an ordinance.

O.K. Let's have "the trouble."

The PRESS believes WARREN is absolutely wrong. No one has the right to disturb the peace for blocks and blocks. One mother told The PRESS: "my baby is so frightened when a certain one of those monstrosities goes off he starts crying."

★ ★ ★

The public will condemn the companies who disregard common decency and the rights of others as they insist upon their own super importance and highly special privileges.

Let's open the fight.

Decency must prevail.

Forceful Senator Byrd . . . .

Senator HARRY F. BYRD JR., leaped into the national spotlight in the debate over President JOHNSON's bid for that $22 billion hike in the national debt ceiling.

He offered stern opposition.

And his voice was heard.

★ ★ ★

His father was the greatest single force for governmental economy this nation possessed for years and taxpayers blessed his name. Now the very capable son gives definite indications of not only carrying on in the established family tradition, but exceeding his illustrious forebear in the battle for Federal economy.

★ ★ ★

Clearly he has won his spurs in his own right and the second generation BYRD gives unmistakable indications of his intent to fight Federal waste and its kindred ally, Federal extravagance.

In the current debate he said:

★ ★ ★

"This $22 billion figure is outrageous, unjustified and a great disservice to the American taxpayers."

★ ★ ★

Senator BYRD held out for an increase which was less than half the titanic sum the President requested. The Virginian deserves nationwide applause for disregarding party lines on vital matters and battling in behalf of the people who have to disgorge these terrific sums.

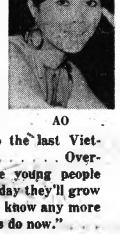

★ ★ ★

Senator, we stand bareheaded before you.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

JULIUS BOROS, DOUG SANDERS, BILLY CASPER and GARY PLAYER are the only pro golfers who have finished "in the money" in every tournament they've played this year. But ARNIE PALMER's the biggest money winner . . . . . Isn't it funny how you can always get one more brushing out of a tube of toothpaste? . . . . . These magazines that stop numbering their back pages regularly and begin with "R-1, R-2, R-3" and then resume etc. annoy every reader.

AO

Purely personal nomination for an attractive girl in Taipei: Ao Dai. . . . . And that suggests the paraphrase from the Orient: "the Chinese want to fight America to the last Vietnamese." . . . . . Overheard: "Do these young people realize that some day they'll grow up and they won't know any more than their parents do now." . . .

"I Want One Of Those, Too!"

David Lawrence Says:

Minimum Wage Change Costly

WASHINGTON — Do many people know how costly to the country and how disrupting to individual welfare a change in the federal minimum wage rates is today? How many youngsters have been deprived of jobs, and how many persons in the upper age brackets have been idled?

LAWRENCE

These are questions which only partly indicate the profound effect in an economic sense caused by the raising of minimum wages this year to $1.40 an hour and by the increase in the scope of the law to include workers hitherto uncovered but who now get at least $1 an hour.

Also, next February the minimum wage goes to $1.60 an hour.

The most far-reaching cost of the increases is in the wage rates well above the minimum. These now are being forced upward all along the line.

★ ★ ★

A worker, for example, previously earning $1.40 an hour on a 40-hour week received $56 a week, and the labor unions aren't content to leave this and the other rates unchanged as the minimum is moved up by law.

When the workers who have already reached the $56 bracket demand an increase, this affects those in the $80 category and so on up the line.

The total amount of these increases to the country runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars a year and is one of the factors in the rise in the cost of living, otherwise known as "inflation."

The hardships and tragic results of the raise in the minimum-wage rates have been disclosed to some extent in a survey conducted among 40,000 small business firms in all parts of the country by the national federation of independent businesses, an organization of independent business proprietors. The replies to its questionnaire are very revealing.

★ ★ ★

Thus, for example, a laundry in Indiana laid off five of its 40 employes and expects to fire still more. In Wisconsin, a small bank discharged two of its employes because it felt that a rate of $56 a week is too much for a beginner out of high school.

HURT TEEN-AGERS

The new rates generally seem to have hurt the chances of teen-agers to get jobs. This is especially true in small towns, but even in a large city small firms are saying they can't afford to train unskilled labor at the new rates.

But, it will be asked, why weren't all these factors taken into account by members of Congress when they enacted the minimum-wage legislation?

The answer is that the labor-union monopoly in America boasts that it controls a majority of both houses of Congress today by furnishing campaign funds to help elect them.

★ ★ ★

The big labor organizations aren't interested particularly in minimum wages as such because those employes who get the increases are usually not members of unions nor likely to be for a while.

SCATTERED WORKERS

They are primarily scattered workers in miscellaneous small shops which aren't organized by the unions.

But every rise in the minimum-wage rates imposed by federal law pushes up the whole set of wage scales and has its impact all along the line—including, for instance, on the auto workers.

This, of course, adds to the cost of the automobile itself.

Thus the minimum-wage rates have their biggest influence in moving up the other scales throughout the country.

Voice of the People:

Americans Should Know Proper Salute to Flag

Instead of worrying about other people along the street saluting the American Flag, think what the flag means and all it has been through.

It seems a shame that anyone who came up in this country would have to rely on the newspaper to tell them how to salute their flag. In school they used to salute the flag every day. During World War II we united as one and were all good Americans, but we have lost something along the way. Respect comes from the heart.

As we give our Pledge of Allegiance this Fourth of July, let's say it reverently, thinking of the meaning—One nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Some of us were marked off on a paper at school because we said Los Angeles is bigger than San Francisco. My mother said the teacher's wrong, so I'm really mixed up.

F.M.

REPLY

Perhaps you misunderstood the question. We can't imagine any teacher making that mistake. Los Angeles is bigger than San Francisco by far both in area and population.

Jordan's King Hussein cut a tragic figure at the United Nations, telling of the plight of his people in the wake of war and calling for peace with justice.

Of the three countries that fought Israel and lost, his suffered the worst disruption of civilian population.

Compared with some other Arab leaders, Hussein stands out as the voice of moderation. Yet the fact remains that it was Hussein's pact with Gamal Abdel Nasser that closed the hostile ring around Israel.

★ ★ ★

The Israelis say they asked Jordan directly not to intervene, but Jordanian shelling of Tel Aviv and Jerusalem forced war on that front.

There is blame enough to spread around in this short-lived war, but King Hussein must bear a piece of it.

And if peace with justice were his sincere aim he would be conceding what no Arab leader has yet brought himself to admit: that Israel is there to stay and must be faced at the peace table if the Mideast problem is ever to be resolved.

★ ★ ★

In the circumstances, the United States has no choice but to press its own sensible plan, which provides for direct Arab-Israeli negotiations with whatever third-party or United Nations assistance may be required.

The longer this plan is rejected, the worse it will be for the Jordanians King Hussein has served so badly.

Potential Savings

Los Angeles Times

In this day of astronomical budgets, $4 million is small change in the minds of many in government.

But the $4 million the Reagan administration will save by not constructing an additional California Highway Patrol building in Sacramento could be a heartening indication of things to come.

★ ★ ★

Approximately $75,000 had already been spent for architectural and engineering services for the projected 10-story structure when a team from the governor's task force of businessmen turned its attention to the state's Transportation Agency.

It determined that the building is not needed now or in the foreseeable future, so Gov. Reagan promptly ordered the project eliminated from the state's master plan.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the $4 million there will be a saving of approximately $200,000 a year in maintenance costs.

Of more far reaching significance is the fact that, as a result of the survey findings, the governor has called for a detailed review of all state office space and implementation of uniform space standards.

This may well lead to more effieient use of all government facilities throughout the state — a condition greatly to be desired by taxpayers.

★ ★ ★

For too many years past structures seem to have been built to suit the desires — rather than the actual needs — of bureaucrats with little regard to the fact that the people's money was involved.

Nation Readies Independence Day Festivities

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The nation is prepared to commemorate its birth in Philadelphia 191 years ago Tuesday with fireworks and parades, but the war in far-off Vietnam and the soldiers who have died there strike a somber note.

* * *

Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was announced July 4, 1776, is in the midst of a week of celebrations which will reach a climax Tuesday. Fireworks displays, special sporting events, concerts and parades are planned.

* * *

Activities center on the small group of buildings where the Continental Congress met in 1776, now part of the Independence National Historic Park. They will include reading parts of the Declaration of Independence, and a parade by 3rd Infantry Old Guard units in colonial dress.

* * *

Services are planned by veterans groups in Philadelphia as a memorial to Americans who have lost their lives in Vietnam and other wars.

LBJ HOLIDAY

President Johnson and his wife are enjoying a holiday stay at their ranch in Texas. Their oldest daughter, Lynda Bird, relaxed with the young set at Rehoboth Beach, Del., an Atlantic shore resort.

Like the first family, many others across the country used the five-day holiday for relaxation and fun, be it at a lake or shore resort, in the country, or before a back-yard barbecue.

* * *

A 50-gun salute—one for each state—will highlight Atlanta's Fourth of July. Its "Salute to America" parade, sponsored by WSB-TV, is expected to attract 200,000 spectators. Fireworks displays, picnics and Southern-style barbecues are also planned.

More than 600 of the nation's war dead will be honored with flags, many of which draped their caskets before burial, on 12 "Avenues of Flags" cities in Jefferson County, Alabama. The idea was conceived in 1962 by H. C. Rush of Bessemer, Ala., and is sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars chapters.

CIRCUS PARADE

In Milwaukee, more than a half million persons were expected for the sixth annual circus parade, featuring 54 authentic antique circus wagons from the Circus World Museum at Baraboo. More than 500,000 persons lined the route last year to watch the parade, which climaxes the week-long annual "Old Milwaukee days" observance.

Another 50-gun salute — this one at Ft. Hood in central Texas—will mark Independence Day there. Thousands of persons are expected at Pritchard Stadium for a holiday spectacular featuring band music, parachutists, a variety show and fireworks. In Dallas, the Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a parade with band music and evening fireworks in the Cotton Bowl.

Chicago's Cook County Council of the American Legion plans a July 4 extravaganza in Soldiers Field with high wire walking, clowns and mod singers. Eight hundred U.S. servicemen from Great Lakes Naval Hospital, veterans of the Vietnam war, will attend as guests.

Northern California will be the scene for rodeos over the holiday. Pueblo Indian dancers will be featured at a picnic in Oakland.

Fireworks shows at Los Angeles' Coliseum, and a circus and still more fireworks at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, are in store for Californians.

Among other events planned are an International Freedom Festival in Detroit to celebrate Canada's Dominion Day, July 1, and the U.S. Independence Day.

Bell ringing, recalling the tolling of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia at the first public reading of the Declaration of Independence in 1776, was to be led by the bell from St. John's church in Richmond, Va., where Patrick Henry once proclaimed, "Give me liberty or give me death."

Delaware Gov. Luther Terry asked that all bells in his state be rung at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Resort Town Expels Youths

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (UPI) —Police, facing thousands of beer-brave youths out for a good time, clamped an undeclared state of martial law on this small resort town today.

* * *

Hundreds of youths stoned the police station before a National Guard company was called in and police gave everyone one hour to get off the streets and out of town.

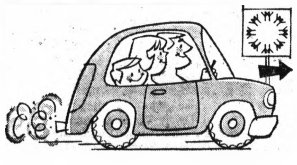

Scores of windows, in buildings and in cars, were broken by the youths, who rebelled at having police prod them into moving.

Residents of the town of 5,000 said it was the worst destruction experienced in the more than a decade college and high school-age youths have gathered here each Fourth of July weekend. The lake-side town is about half way between Chicago and Milwaukee.

* * *

Police Chief Robert Clapper said more than 100 youths were arrested last night and today. Before the streets were cleared and roadblocks set up to prevent youths from returning to town, more than 5,000 out-of-town youths had milled through the streets, Clapper said.

"Why they came here, we don't know," he said. "They've been coming here for the Fourth of July weekend for years now, and there's nothing we can do to stop them."

Bit of Americana in Paper Doll Collection

By BEA SWORDS

The things we buy our children are a quiet finger on the pulse of America's changing interests. The people who collect these things become chroniclers of our way of life, whether they plan it that way or not.

Mrs. Francis McDowell of Delaware Drive is a keeper of things — her specialty is paper dolls.

While some of her extensive collection rates easily as antique, other parts record Shirley Temple, the Dionne quintuplets, comic strip characters, movie stars — and most recently, Jackie Kennedy.

* * *

Mrs. McDowell's collection almost didn't happen. Having always taken special care of her paper dolls and the paper dolls her mother had as a child, she decided one day she was too big for them.

She passed them out to the neighborhood children. Later she noticed her treasured paper dolls wafting down the street from where they had been abandoned at play.

She rescued them and has been rescuing them ever since.

Her present collection numbers in the thousands.

I asked her if paper dolls didn't have a high mortality rate. She says, "The newer ones do because children are not as good at keeping their things as children of years ago. If they break their toys — mother buys a new one."

The earlier dolls in America date to 1859 and Godey's Ladies' Book — dolls made of paper were known by 1200 in China, as recorded by Marco Polo. Africa and Egypt also have records of early paper doll use.

There are eastern religions yet where a paper doll in the image of one who is suffering may be burned to cure his illness.

Mrs. McDowell said that many of her dolls were donated by friends. Others she has purchased at antique shows and just by buying ladies' and children's magazines.

* * *

"Paper dolls with their accessories—baby carriages, dogs, furniture and toys were included in sheets between the pages of women's magazines like McCalls and Ladies Home Journal."

She cited advertising as another boon to paper doll fanciers.

Clark Thread Company, Lyon Coffee, sarsaparilla and McLaughlin Coffee all included paper dolls with their wares.

Often the dolls came in series like baseball cards, and a child could collect whole families from grandmother to baby.

CLOTHING

Mrs. McDowell has obtained many of these dating from 1911. It is a bit difficult to determine the ages of some of her dolls, but their clothes tell the story.

She has Dolly Dingles in several different cutouts with clothes showing her as a nurse, a middygirl and dressed just as a child of 45 years ago.

One particularly imaginative paper doll may be an early forerunner of the walking doll. She has four feet. The feet disappears one at a time beneath the hem of her skirt and reappear one behind the other as she is pushed along by a long pine stick at her waist.

* * *

Some dolls have backs to their dresses. They fit like a sandwich board sign over the doll's head. The most amazing part is that when the dresses are off, the dolls are attired in 1911 underthings — vests, petticoats and all.

Mrs. McDowell says she isn't positive about the future of her collection.

Her daughter Cam has no great interest in expanding the paper dolls. Cam is a student at Eastern Michigan University.

MUSEUM

"I will give them to a children's museum someday. I'm not sure which one just yet—but there will be one that is interested in having a display. They have the proper places for storing things."

Mrs. McDowell, though, is obviously still enjoying her collection. When and if she does make it a donation someday it will definitely be an even larger collection.

Mrs. Francis McDowell of Delaware Drive, sits amid a small portion of her paper doll collection. The doll that she is holding is a forerunner of the walking doll — except that it was child-powered then. Her unusual collection covers a range of fashions.

Do Not Bring Own Beverage to This Party

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My niece's getting married soon and she is having a catered affair. At each table there will be a bottle of rye, plus beer all night long. My sister cannot drink rye or beer.

* * *

There will not be a bar at the reception. Would it be proper for her to bring a bottle of ready-made screw-drivers? She becomes ill if she drinks anything else. — Agatha

* * *

Dear Agatha: A guest simply does not take her own beverage to a party. You should suggest soft drinks to your niece, and your sister should go along with whatever is served.

MONEY AS WEDDING GIFT

Dear Mrs. Post: I read your column on the amount of money expected as a wedding gift. As my mother explained it to me, each guest attending a reception gives five dollars.

* * *

This amount is a fixed rate with all our relatives and friends. I am of Italian descent and have no knowledge of other nationalities giving money; most give gifts, such as percolators, irons, etc. — Carolyn

* * *

Dear Carolyn: Thank you for your information about the Italian custom of giving money instead of a gift. Other ethnic groups do the same thing, notably members of many Jewish communities, but few set the amount.

* * *

Wherever it is the custom, it is certainly correct, and in many cases more practical. However, many other people feel that they prefer a gift which may not only be useful and lasting, but will serve to remind them of a friendship.

Coming Look in Fashion

Coating weight jersey in brilliant red indicates a color trend toward neon colors for fall. Tightly and widely belted, this double-breasted style by Ilie Wacs for Originala is softly tailored in Jasco jersey of "Dacron" polyester and wool. The jaunty military hat and red opaque hose complete the important fashion look.

Bronze bugle beads and tortoise paillettes, defined in a geometric pattern with gold threads, are lavishly embroidered on a crepe of "Acele" acetate and rayon by William Rose. Marie McCarthy shapes this little short evening dress high and narrow, with a controlled A-line skirt halting at mid-thigh. Sleek, shining hair drawn back in this season's status style and glittering hose complete the new look.

Keep Party Dry for Mom's Sake

Let Relatives Grumble After

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter will be christened in our church soon, and it is customary to have guests at home afterward for food and drinks.

The problem is my mother-in-law. She has a drinking problem. No matter what the occasion, if there is liquor around, she uses it as an excuse to get very, very drunk.

ABBY

For that reason, the last christening we had, I served no alcoholic beverages, and several of my husband's relatives remarked that they felt "cheated." What should I do this time? I don't want anyone to feel "Cheated" in my home, but I can't bear seeing my mother-in-law in that condition.

Don't say, "Watch her." She just helps herself and it would take physical force to stop her.

PUZZLED HOSTESS

DEAR PUZZLED: Give a "dry party." It would be easier than giving a wet one and worrying about your mother-in-law. It's a kindness to keep temptation out of her way. And as for your husband's relatives, they can surely forego their drinks following a religious ceremony in which a child has been officially named and identified with a church.

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago my husband and I took a vacation trip with another couple who live out of state. We had a fairly good time, but this other couple said they never had so much fun in all their lives.

The next summer they wrote and asked us what our vacation plans were as they wanted very much to have another foursome-type vacation trip. We really weren't so keen on the idea, but not knowing how to get out of it, we went anyway. We didn't have a good time at all, but they seemed to.

This year we got another letter asking us where we should "all" go for our vacation. We do not want to get roped again, but we don't know how to get out of it without hurting their feelings. We own our own business, so they know we can get away any time we want to. Please help us. Sign this . . .

JOHN AND MARY

DEAR JOHN AND MARY: Write to your friends and tell them your vacation plans are indefinite, and to go ahead and make theirs without you. Don't invent any phony excuses, or they might "wait" for you. (P.S. You should feel gratified that you're such good company.)

What's Best Season to Trade In Car?

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

We have just purchased a 1967 car. My husband and I would like to know when the correct time is — month and year — to trade this car in for a new one and come up with the most favorable deal.

MARY FEELEY

As a car is the most expensive item we purchase, we'd like the opinion of experts. Thank you.

Mrs. E. O., Rochester, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. O.:

Here's what one expert (two generations of car dealers in the family) says: From a price standpoint, the best time to trade is in August-September when dealers are cleaning out stock.

He adds that even though safety features in automobile design and construction are coming in, it wouldn't pay to sell or trade a 1967 model for a 1968 because of the depreciation on the car the first year. On a moderate price car this runs from $800 to $1,000 for the first year. The second year, it's about $300.

His estimate is that either two years or five years from year of purchase is the most advantageous trading year. Which of the two depends on how the car is driven and how much it's driven. Only the so-called "prestige" buyers, who feel the necessity for a new car every year, find a trade-in the first year justifiable.

If you'll be driving your car a 1,000 or so miles a month you'll probably think of turning it in for the best trade at the end of two years. If, on the other hand, you'll drive it less than 10,000 miles a year, the best financial deal can probably be realized in four or five years.

There's another point of view — also from the experts — which notes the activity in cars in the month of April, indicating that spring is about as favorable as early fall, or at least a mighty close second.

Lynda Goes to Delaware for Fourth

REHOBOTH BEACH, Del. (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson, the President's oldest daughter, is spending her Fourth of July holiday at this Atlantic coast resort.

Frolicking on the beach with a group of her friends, or dancing in a hotel dining room, she has drawn only passing attention from others of the young set here.

She arrived Saturday, unannounced, with Warrie Lynn Smith, her former college roommate. She was the guest of Capt. Charles Robb, a Marine officer attached to the White House who is one of a group renting a cottage for the summer.

Sunday afternoon, Miss Johnson and a party of about 25 went to Whiskey Beach, a popular spot with the younger people.

* * *

Dressed in a two-piece black swim suit, with yellow-rimmed sunglasses and a white beach hat, the President's daughter played cards at a spot in the sand dunes several hundred feet from the water.

Saturday night she was a guest at a private party at a hotel and later appeared in the hotel's dining room where she danced to several numbers.

'Mod' Look Fading From the 'In' Scene

The "gentlemanly look" is in.

The wild, unfettered look is out.

As a result, the fashionably dressed male in '67 will have a flair far different from that of a season ago.

That's the story in men's sportswear for spring and summer this year. The trend is away from extremism — the Mod, Carnaby Street and Western looks — and toward the restrained, dignified appearance of a more classic period. In short, men are dressing up in sports apparel.

* * *

"Though the look is new, the inspiration stems in stylings of the past," says Burton B. Ruby, President of Jaymar-Ruby, Inc. "What once was a wide bell-bottom in slacks is now a modified bell-bottom. The noisy look of sport shirts and ties in past seasons is now softened to provide a 'total,' coordinated look."

COLOR IS 'IN'

The real highlight of sportswear this year, says Ruby, is color. "In '66 burgundy, bottle green, cocoa and gold ignited the color trend, which now has exploded into wine and other reds, teal blue, grass green, honey and whiskey.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — When getting ready to make buttonholes in a new garment made of unfamiliar material, practice for size and stitch on a scrap of the proper thickness. Also, make the first buttonhole at the lowest point on the garment so the nicest work will be at the top or neck which is more noticeable.

If corduroy or any material that tends to be wiry or fray easily is being used sew around the marked buttonhole a couple of times with the sewing machine. Cut the hole with a sharp razor blade, then apply clear nail polish to the edges with a toothpick. When the polish is dry, work with close stitches just below the line of machine stitches. This proves most satisfactory for me.

Thank you, Polly and all the girls, for the most helpful suggestions.—ELLEN.

And thank you, Ellen, on behalf of all the girls who have made this column. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I raveled two new sweaters and would like to reknit them. How can I get the kinks out of the wool so it will be nice and smooth again? I will be grateful for a quick solution.—CAROLINE

DEAR CAROLINE — Wind the yard around a piece of heavy cardboard and tie together in several places. Slip hank off the cardboard and dip up and down in warm water. Let the skein drip dry and the weight of the water should remove the kinks. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — I save the plastic bags that dry cleaning comes home in as they are wonderful to peel fruits and vegetables on. Just roll up well when the job is finished and throw in the garbage can which stays clean and dry and free from odors.—MRS. D. M. H.

DEAR GIRLS — If there are small children in the house do cut such bags into pieces before storing in a drawer so there is no danger of harmful misuse by the little ones. —POLLY.

'Wed-In' in NY City Park Leaves City Clerk Fuming

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief City Clerk Herman Katz, still fuming over the Parks Department's multiple marriage ceremonies conducted in Brooklyn's Prospect Park, has sworn to throw a few roadblocks in front of any repeat performance.

"Marriage," said Katz, "is not a recreation. The Parks Department has completely stepped out of bounds."

* * *

Katz, who performs most of the civil marriage ceremonies in the city and who, as chief clerk, has power over all such matrimonial matchmaking, referred to Saturday's mass wed-in as an "offensive spectacle which should never have taken place."

He said he intended to use his power to try to see it never does again.

MULTIPLE CEREMONIES

Nine couples were married in the park by Criminal Court Judge Amos Basil while about 1,000 persons ringed a grassy plateau watching.

Each bridal couple walked up to the judge for the exchange of vows in a revival of a public ceremony first conducted here 100 years ago.

OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

Jim asks, "How much advantage do you think a home town expert has in a duplicate tournament when he knows the bidding style of local opponents?"

JACOBY

Oswald: "The advantage is tremendous. It applies particularly in competitive situations. As an example, here is a hand bid by J. G. Ripstra, playing in his home town of Wichita, Kan., in the Missouri Valley Regionals."

Jim: "I see Rip opened with a diamond in the East position."

Oswald: "Normally he would open one club but he knew that South was one of those desperation bidders and Rip wanted to be able to bid clubs later on if South stuck in a nuisance jump bid."

Jim: "South sure stuck in a nuisance jump bid. West could do nothing. He had no idea whether South was a sound bidder or a desperado."

Oswald: "Rip knew that South was a desperado. If South had merely bid two or three spades, Rip would have shown his clubs, but Rip decided to double."

Jim: "After the diamond lead, there was no way for South to avoid the loss of two and a spade and a heart for down three or minus 500."

Oswald: "Rip's plus 500 turned out to be a top score. The best East and West can do in hearts is to make five odd. While the club slam can be made against any lead, no one did bid it and make it. It isn't really a good contract and the play against a heart opening comes close to requiring clairvoyance."

Congo Asks Algeria to Extradite Tshombe

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — The Congo government has asked Algeria to extradite former Premier Moise Tshombe to Kinshasa so it can execute him on charges of treason and plotting to overthrow President Joseph Mobutu.

Since most African nationalist leaders consider Tshombe a puppet of the colonialists, it was assumed that Algeria's anti-Western regime would turn him over to the Congo government.

* * *

Tshombe is being held in Algiers after the apparent hijacking Saturday of the British charter plane in which he was traveling from Palma de Mallorca to the nearby Mediterranean island of Ibiza, in the Spanish Balearics.

Algerian officials said several mercenary soldiers and Belgian citizens were on the plane with Tshombe, along with three British subjects, the pilot, copilot and hostess. Reports to Paris from Algiers said Tshombe's arrival was a surprise to the government of President Houari Boumedienne. Algerian officials denied arranging the landing at Boufarik military airfield west of Algiers.

RELATIONS BROKEN

Algeria and the Congo broke diplomatic relations in 1964 under Tshombe's regime and have not formally resumed them. But a Congolese Embassy spokesman in Paris said his government has assigned representatives to open extradition talks with Algeria.

* * *

Thomas Tshombe, the ex-premier's brother, said in Madrid Sunday that he was determined to identify his brother's kidnapers. He also said: "I think the Algerian government will not be able to accept such a tremendous responsibility, and I am convinced it will not turn over my brother."

* * *

The 49-year-old Congolese leader has been in European exile for 19 months, living most recently in Madrid, since Mobutu took power in a bloodless coup. Tshombe's political party has been banned in the Congo, his property confiscated and his supporters thrown out of their positions.

* * *

Disciples of the late Patrice Lumumba, the Congo's first premier and its nationalist hero, blame Tshombe for Lumumba's murder while he was Tshombe's prisoner in Katanga Province in 1961. The Congolese government radio and official statements have also been harping on the theme that Tshombe is responsible for the Congo's troubles and that he is an "imperialist puppet" and "an enemy of African independence."

DEATH SENTENCE

Tshombe was sentenced to death in absentia by a Congolese military tribunal last March after it found him guilty of treason and subversion. Most of the charges grew out of the secession of his copper-rich Katanga Province from the rest of the Congo in 1960. In 1963 a U.N. force put down the secession, driving Tshombe into exile.

In mid-1966, when the Communist-armed Simba rebellion was driving back Mobutu's army, Tshombe returned to wild adulation and became premier. He recruited mercenaries who provided the spearhead for the suppression of the rebellion.

* * *

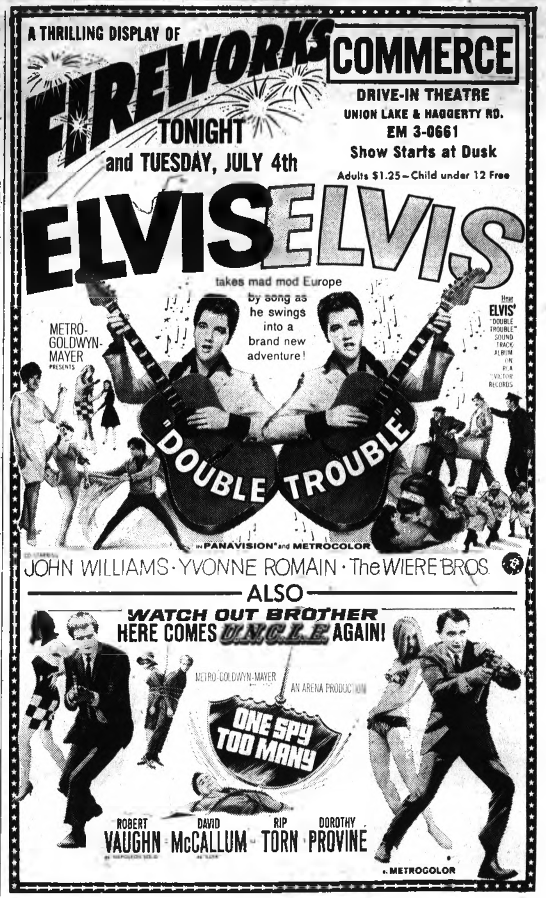

Tshombe tried to consolidate his gains politically in 1965 and formed a party with the aim of beating President Joseph Kasavubu in elections scheduled for 1966. Kasavubu fired him, however, and in the ensuing political turmoil Mobutu grabbed the reins and named himself president.

Chicago Shares NL Lead With Cardinals

Storybook Tale Unfolding for Leo's Pennant-Hungry Cubs

By The Associated Press

It's been 16 years between miracles for dapper Leo Durocher, but he's got a dandy going right now.

Durocher, who piloted the New York Giants to the 1951 pennant with a storybook finish, has his trusty volume out again and what's more, he's got all Chicago believing it.

* * *

Some 40,464 frantic fans packed Wrigley Field Sunday and watched the Cubs, who finished 10th last season, grab a share of first place with a 4-1 victory over Cincinnati on Ferguson Jenkins' three-hitter.

From last to first in half a season. Now how's that for a miracle?

In fact, for a few glorious hours, the Cubs, who haven't finished in the first division since winning the flag in 1945, were actually in first place all by themselves. That was after the New York Mets nipped St. Louis 5-4 in the first game of a double header.

But the Cardinals rebounded with a 3-1 victory in the nightcap that earned them a piece of the top spot. In other National League games Sunday, Philadelphia rallied for an 8-7 victory over San Francisco and Houston nipped Los Angeles 5-4. Atlanta's game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

The Chicago fans have a severe, if premature, case of pennant fever brought on by six straight victories and 13 triumphs in 14 starts. They gathered outside the clubhouse after Sunday's game and chanted, "We want Leo. We want Leo."

But Durocher wasn't having any.

"They're not going to get me out there," he said. "The only time I've seen it like this was when Bobby Thomson hit the homer to win the pennant for the Giants in 1951."

The fans roared everytime the scoreboard posted a Mets' run against St. Louis and when the 5-4 first game final went up, they cheered so loud and long that the Cubs game was delayed.

"Unbelievable," marvelled Billy Williams. "They actually gave me goose bumps."

Jenkins, who won his 11th game, slammed a pair of hits and drove in a run. His reaction to the commotion?

"This winning becomes fun," he said, "the way we're going, we might even win the pennant."

Don't think Durocher hasn't noticed.

The Mets cooperated beautifully in the first game, pushing across the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning. Bud Harrelson carried it across when he singled, stole second and went to third on catcher John Romano's throwing error and scooted home on reliever Nelson Briles' wild pitch.

Steve Carlton hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap as the Cardinals climbed back to tie for the top spot. St. Louis bunched four extra base hits for all their runs in the second inning with Orlando Cepeda, Dave Ricketts and Carlton smashing doubles and Julian Javier whacking a triple.

* * *

Johnny Callison capped a Philadelphia comeback that chased across the tying and winning runs in the bottom of the ninth against San Francisco.

Callison drove in three runs with three hits and scored twice as Philadelphia wiped out a 7-2 Giant bulge with six runs in the last two innings.

Jim Hart drove in three runs with three hits as five Philadelphia errors led to five unearned runs for the Giants.

Ron Davis squeezed Jimmy Wynn across with the winning run with two out and the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning as Houston nipped the Dodgers.

REASON TO SMILE—Catherine Lacoste of Saint Jean de Luz, France, flashes a big grin as she holds the winner's trophy after becoming the first amateur to win the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship. The 22-year-old lass posted a 294 in the 72-hole tournament.

Pros' Fall Helps Amateur Take Women's Golf Title

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — "I don't know why I won," said the new U.S. Women's Open golf champion, resplendent in aqua skirt and blue jacket with bemedaled lapels. "I think they helped me win."

"They" were the chastened professional golfers, and they knew just what raven-haired Catherine Lacoste of Paris meant in her modest little speech outside the clubhouse of the Cascades Course late Sunday afternoon.

* * *

In this 22nd U.S. Women's Open, the 22-year-old French mademoiselle had become not only the first amateur ever to win, but the first foreigner and the youngest player, as well. She won with a strong 294—10 over par for a tough, taxing course.

But she had help from even the best of a corps of proud professionals who many times in the Open's last two days had opportunities to win — and could not grasp them.

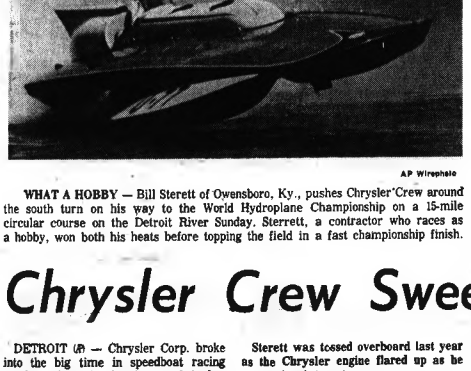

Beth Stone of Muskogee, Okla., and Susie Maxwell of Oklahoma City came closest with 296s for the 72-hole grind. Each picked up five strokes in Sunday's final round with three-over-par 74s while Miss Lacoste was soaring to a 79.

Miss Stone and Miss Maxwell each collected $3,600 as the top-finishing pros.

The sturdily-built, exuberant Miss Lacoste, who had previous rounds of 71-70—74, was three over par on the front nine Sunday, then bogeyed the first five holes of the back nine and found herself in peril.

WHAT A HOBBY — Bill Sterett of Owensboro, Ky., pushes Chrysler Crew around the south turn on his way to the World Hydroplane Championship on a 15-mile circular course on the Detroit River Sunday. Sterrett, a contractor who races as a hobby, won both his heats before topping the field in a fast championship finish.

Cougars Put Together Two Road Victories; First Winning Streak

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit's Cougars had to leave their adopted home to do it, but they finally put together a winning streak of sorts.

They nipped the New York Skyliners 1-0 Sunday on a first-half solo goal by outside left Jim Weathrup. Last Wednesday, they beat the Chicago Spurs by the identical score in another United Soccer Association game.

In the only other United Soccer Association game scheduled, Boston whipped Houston 3-1.

The victory over New York marked the first time the Cougars have won two games in a row while they — actually the Glentoran of Belfast, Ireland, team on loan to Detroit for the current season — have been wearing Detroit's colors.

They return to Detroit on Wednesday to tackle the league-leading Cleveland Stokers in what will be their last home game.

Souchak in Tourney

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Mike Souchak, head pro at Oakland Hills, was one of 10 golfers nominated by the Golf Writers Association to compete in the $100,000 American Golf Classic Tournament Aug. 9-13.

Joe Sparma 'On' for Bengals

Tiger Pitcher Blanks Chisox for 9-1 Mark

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers right-hander Joe Sparma says he may have to bring his 3-year-old daughter, Debbie, to the ball park more often.

"The last time she came I shut out Baltimore," said Sparma, who set down the Chicago White Sox 3-0 on six hits Sunday.

* * *

The victory moved the second place Tigers, who took two of three weekend games from Chicago, to within 4½ games of the American League leading White Sox. But a victory by Boston and a twinbill sweep by the Minnesota Twins created a three-way tie for second place.

Detroit manager Mayo Smith, whose club now has beaten the Sox four out of six games, was hoping for a sweep of the series to make some headway, but added:

"This race is going to be a dog fight to the bitter end. Unless some club gets a lot of injuries, anyone of six teams could win the pennant."

Sparma out-dueled Chicago's Gary Peters, now 10-4, in picking up his ninth victory in 10 decisions and his third shutout.

Golf Links Architect Wins Amateur Title

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — His quest for new concepts in golf courses payed a bonus for young golf course architect Bill Newcomb of Ann Arbor. Today, he holds the Michigan Amateur Golf Championship.

Deadly putting by the husky University of Michigan graduate Sunday defeated 19-year-old John Grace of Grosse Pointe Shores, 3 and 2.

Newcomb defeated Dick Robertson of Pontiac 3 and 2 in the semifinal Sunday morning while Grace took out three-time former champion Bud Stevens, of Livonia, 1-up in 20 holes.

"You putted super," said Newcomb's pretty wife Betty Jean, as she hugged him after his victory over Grace.

"I just putted out of my mind," smiled the balding 27-year-old Newcomb.

"It was my best round for putting by far."

* * *

Newcomb said he tries to play all the different golf courses he can.

"Every course you play, you get new ideas. You can pick up some new concepts," he said.

It was his first try at the Michigan Amateur. He previously lived in Indiana and won the Indiana Open, and was runner-up in the Indiana Amateur.

"I wanted to win today. I tried that bridesmaid route," he grinned.

Newcomb needed just 11 putts for the first nine holes over the 36-36—72 Belvedere course.

* * *

He was 3-up at the turn and went 5-up on 11, sinking a 15-foot birdie putt.

Grace won 13 with a birdie. They halved 14, and Grace won 15 with a 12-foot putt. But on 16, Grace missed a 12-footer, and they halved the hole, giving Newcomb the match.

PGA, Tour Pros Near Showdown

MONTREAL (AP) — Golf's touring pros, on the verge of a revolt, reiterated their stand Sunday that they are ready to pull out of the Professional Golfers Association and form their own organization unless the group agrees to their demands for more control over the tour.

* * *

The pros have threatened to boycott the PGA championship — one of the world's four major golf titles — unless they can reach agreement with the PGA. The tournament is scheduled at the Columbine course in Denver, starting July 20.

Driver Takes Second, Maintains Auto Lead

LE MANS, France (AP) — Denis Hulme of New Zealand finished second to Jack Brabham of Australia in the Grand Prix of France Sunday, but retained the lead for the world driving championship for 1967 for Formula One autos.

The six points Hulme picked up for his second place gave him a total of 22 to date. Brabham now has 15, with Pedro Rodriquez of Mexico third with 12. Rodriquez finished sixth Sunday.

Chrysler Crew Sweeps Races

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. broke into the big time in speedboat racing Sunday when the hemipowered hydroplane Chrysler Crew streaked to an easy victory in the Spirit of Detroit race on the Detroit river.

The 427-cubic inch engine, pride of Chrysler's automotive stable, had figured in many new records on auto race tracks but never did too well on the waterways until Bill Sterett turned the trick.

* *e

The 42-year-old Sterett, an Owensboro, Ky., contractor whose main hobby is boat racing, had a heavy foot as he frequently passed the 100 mile per hour pace while leaving the rest of the field far behind.

The engines in Chrysler Crew derive their nickname "hemi" from the hemispherical shaped domes of the combustion chambers. Chrysler engineers contend these offer better engine breathing than standard wedgeshaped chambers such as are found in most cars. Chrysler says the improved engine breathing makes for more horsepower.

Sterett was tossed overboard last year as the Chrysler engine flared up as he was going into a turn.

This year he had a hot engine, but all was shipshape as he won his two qualifying heats with the greatest of ease and brushed off a challenge before zooming across the finish line with a mile lead in the championship race.

Sterett averaged 100.671 m.p.h. in his opening heat, dropped to 99.410 in the second and finished with a 99.155 average in the five-lap championship race in which nobody pushed him in the final five miles.

The final heat had been billed as a duel between Chrysler Crew and My Gypsy, driven by 27-year-old Jim Ranger of Detroit. It also had piled up 800 points by winning its opening two heats.

VANTAGE POINTS

The prospects of a red hot duel between the two in the finale kept virtually all the police-estimated 200,000 spectators at their vantage points along the Detroit shore and Belle Isle but it remained for a 62-year-old racing veteran pilot Walter Kade in Savair's Mist to offer the biggest challenge to Sterett.

Kade, with a win and a third place finish in the preliminaries, roared across the starting line ahead of Chrysler Crew and was making a determined bid to stay there until he blew the hose off his manifold on the lower turn and was out for the day.

Ranger tried to catch Sterett but the Chrysler boat, with everything going for it, showed amazing speed on the straightaways to put plenty of water between it and the field. My Gypsy finished in the runner-up.

Saviar's Probe, driven by Bob Miller, 34, of Everett, Washington finished third in the championship duel with Jim McCormick of Owensboro, Ky., finishing in the fourth spot in Notre Dame.

* * *

Sterett got $8,000 first prize money and a loving cup for his win — billed as the World's Motorboat Championship Sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association and the World Motorboat Association in Brussels.

Wrestler Eyes European Trip

Frank Lafferty Sharp in State Competition

Frank Lafferty, state 180-pound high school wrestling champion, easily passed his first test in a bid for a spot on the U. S. Junior World Championship squad that will compete in Bulgaria next month.

* * *

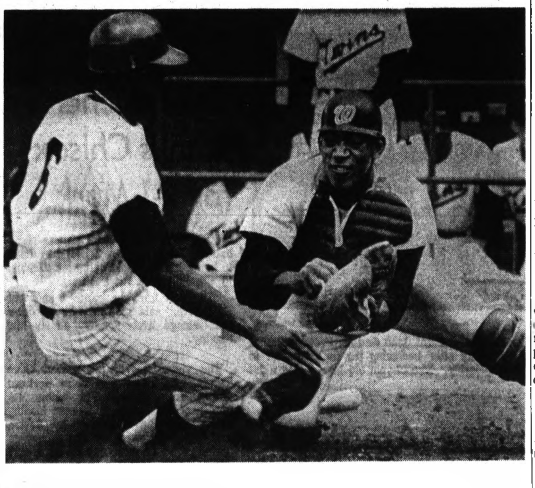

The powerful Lafferty, who graduated from Pontiac Northern this spring, pinned two foes and posted decisions of 30-1 and 6-1 in two others in the 191-pound class to qualify for the regional competition in Toledo July 14-15.

Also earning a trip to Toledo was Bob Heiner of Walled Lake, who moved through the 143-pound competition in easy fashion at Lansing Friday and Saturday.

The winners at Toledo will move on to sectional competition and sectional champions will go to a training camp in Minneapolis Aug. 12.

* * *

A total of 48 will go to the training camp where 24 will be selected for the trip to Bulgaria Aug. 18. The Amateur Athletic Union is sponsoring the U. S. events.

MEETING AT HOME—Washington Senators' catcher Paul Casanova waits with the ball as Minnesota Twins' Tony Oliva slides into home in the fourth inning of their game in Twin Cities yesterday. Oliva was out on the play as he tried to score on a grounder to third baseman Ken McMullen. Twins won twice, taking this one, 4-1, and the nightcap, 6-1.

Hurler Keeps Angels Looking Up

By the Associated Press

The California Angels looked as if they were on relief 26 games ago, and they have been collecting it ever since from Minnie Rojas.

The 28-year-old bullpen artist saved his ninth game Sunday with two hitless innings as the high-flying Angels beat the New York Yankees 6-4 for their 19th victory in 26 games.

* * *

Rojas, in his second major league season, was one of the American League's top relievers before the spurt, but the Angels were a poverty-stricken crew until he really began dishing out the dividends on the $2,500 California paid for him.

During the spree, the Cuban right-hander has posted four of his seven victories and saved eight other games in 15 appearances in which he has given up one earned run in 27 innings.

Most of the other American League winners Sunday shied away from relief, except Boston as John Wyatt saved rookie Gary Waslewski's three-hit 2-1 victory over Kansas City.

Joe Sparma fired a six-hitter in Detroit's 3-0 triumph over the league leading Chicago White Sox, Baltimore rookie Bill Dillman blanked Cleveland 1-0 for 6 2-3 innings in a rain-shortened game, and Dean Chance and Jim Merritt pitched Minnesota to a 4-1, 6-1 doubleheader sweep over Washington.

LAST PLACE

The Angels stood last in line—10 games back—in the AL before Rojas took them by the hand. Sunday's triumph moved them seven games from the front in sixth place, only 2½ games from second.

Rojas, who over-all has nine saves andea 1.65 earned run average in 65 2-3 innings, has appeared in 37 of California's 78 games.

He entered the last one in the eighth inning after Jim Fregosi's run-scoring hit broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh, giving Bill Kelso the victory. Bob Rodgers added a solo homer in the eighth and Rojas, rescued from Mexican League obscurity in 1965, stopped the Yankees.

* * *

Dillman outdueled Sam McDowell in a battle of three-hitters.

The 22-year-old right-hander, now 5-3, allowed only one runner past first base. He got his victory when McDowell walked two men and Curt Blefary bunted safely with none out in the second and Andy Etchebarren hit a sacrifice fly.

Chance, who has lost six times, allowed only five hits and struck out 12 as he became the league's first 11-game winner in Minnesota' opener before Merritt won his sixth game without a defeat by twirling a seven-hitter.

Casper Rallies to Catch Wall

Two in 18-Hole Duel for Canadian Crown

MONTREAL (AP) — Billy Casper is the invisible man of golf. He was subjected to coast-to-coast television coverage in two nations — and no one noticed him until the last five minutes.

* * *

But sudddenly he was there, center stage in the high drama, on his knees and his arms raised in exultation — a birdie putt in the cup and the pressure on Art Wall, the greying, suddenly-shaken veteran, who stumbled to a bogey.

* * *

And when Wall's five-foot putt curled two inches from the hole, the $200,000 Canadian Open Golf championship was tied and its $30,000 first prize still up for grabs.

"I had two things going for me on 18," said Casper, the two-time U.S. Open champ with the exotic diet. "I knew that if I made that putt I was in second all alone. And I knew that if Art missed it — and the pressure would be on him — a playoff was there."

ANOTHER ROUND

That's the way it worked out, the two tied at 279 with an 18-hole playoff today. Casper shot a 69 Sunday and Wall a 72.

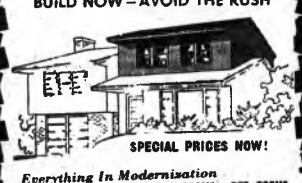

* * *

The playoff starts at 2:15 p.m. EDT, and will be televised nationally in two countries, CBS-TV from 5-6 p.m., in the United States and CBC-TV from 4:30-6 p.m. in Canada.

Local Runners Post 2 Wins

Long Jumper, Relay Squad in Top Form

Pontiac picked up a couple of victories Saturday in the U. S. Track and Field Federation meet at Dearborn High School.

Roland Garcia gave the local track club its only individual title when he leaped 20-feet-1½-inches to capture the junior division long jump.

Pontiac's other win came in the one-mile relay with the team of Sandy Seay, Garcia, Daryl Wilcox and Jon Costello setting the pace.

Garcia, Seay, Costello also joined Jerry Ratliff in placing second in the 880-yard relay.

* * *

Seay picked up some more points with a 21.2 second clocking that gave him second place in the 180-yard low hurdles.

OTHER SCORERS

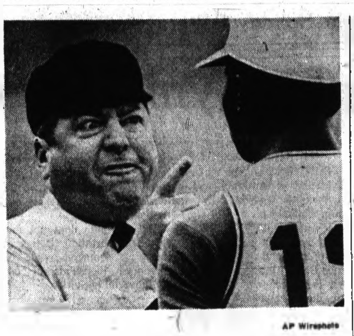

John Threlkeld and Hardiman Jones placed two-three in the pole vault, and Costello ran a 2:02.6 half mile to place third.

Bob Dickie ran second and Larry Hurst fourth in the mile.

* * *

Several members of the local track club will run in a 2½ mile intermediate (15 and under) run and a 10-mile open run at St. Clair Shores tomorrow, and some 25 will compete in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet at Birmingham Groves High School Thursday.

Costello, Garcia and Jerry Hinsparger will compete in the state AAU decathlon in Flint Friday and Saturday.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION—There's no doubt who's winning this argument as umpire John Rice lectures Kansas City pitcher Johnny (Blue Moon) Odom during Saturday's KC-Boston game in Kansas City. The difference of opinion came after Red Sox' Jim Lonborg delivered a single that put the Bsox ahead, 5-2, with Reggie Smith scoring on a close play at the plate. Rice's opinion prevailed. A's lost the game, too, 10-2.

Wimbledon Boosts U.S. Net Outlook

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships moved into the payoff stages today without an American left in the men's singles — but the manager of the U.S. Davis Cup team was far from discouraged.

"On the contrary," said George McCall. "Our boys have done a lot here to redeem the reputation of U.S. tennis."

McCall argued that the giant-killing efforts of Charlie Pasarell, Cliff Richey and Marty Riessen in the first week of Wimbledon restored some of America's tennis prestige — at rock-bottom after losing to lowly Ecuador in the Davis Cup American Zone final.

Fifteen American men, none of them seeded, were among the 128 players who set out in quest of the Wimbledon crown held by Spain's Manuel Santana. The U.S. toppling of favorites began sensationally when Santana was ousted by Pasarell, a former ball-boy from Puerto Rico, in the opening match.

Then Riessen, from Evanston, Ill., put out seventh-seeded Jan Leshly of Denmark in the second round. Richey, from San Angelo, Tex., got an even more impressive scalp when he wore down fourth-seeded Tony Roche of Australia in a four-hour match that ranks as a Wimbledon classic.

NEAR RECORD

It ran to 89 games — only four less than the longest on record — and the next day the still-tired Richey was eliminated in straight sets by another Aussie, Ray Ruffels.

"In some ways Richey's performance was the best of the lot," said McCall. "It was too bad that he had to go out on court again only 18 hours after the Roche marathon. That would have undermined any man."

Confident that America's tennis star is on the rise again, McCall said he was not thinking of rebuilding the Davis Cup team at this stage.

Walled Lake 9 Takes 1st Place

AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL

	W	L		W	L
Walled Lake	10	2	Farmington	5	7
Clarkston	9	4	Troy	5	7
Southfield	7	4	Milford	4	9
Waterford	8	5	Berkley	1	11

Walled Lake completed a three-game weekend sweep in the District 18 American Legion baseball league with a 1-0 10-inning conquest of Clarkston Sunday to take over first place.

Dave Horton stymied Clarkston on three hits and Jim Maddock drove in the winning run with a single.

Dan Fife was cut down at the plate after tripling in the eighth inning to keep the losers from tying for first. Walled Lake won the opener, 7-2, as Lanny West also pitched a three hitter and Greg Fogle drove in the key run.

Saturday night Chuck O'Brien whiffed 16 in blanking Berkley, 4-0, on a two-hitter in a makeup game. Clarkston topped Milford, 6-2, on Gary Biskner's two-hitter.

Milford also won a twin bill Sunday, beating Berkley, 1-0 and 10-7 — overcoming a 6-0 deficit in the second tilt.

Waterford split with Southfield, winning 10-7, but then dropping a 2-1 decision that would have tied the two for third place.

Troy and Farmingoon divided a pair, to remain deadlocked for fifth. Ron Lang's three-run homer keyed the 5-3 Troy win, and Bill Hunt hurled Farmington to a 10-2 conquest.

Rochester Teams Post Victories in Publinx Play

Two of Rochester's publinx golf teams scored victories yesterday.

Rochester No. 2 downed North Brook, 14½ to 7½, as Jack Floch carded a 77 and Bill Brooks a 73.

Lee Gohs carded a 72 and Ray Cane a 74 for the Rochester No. 3 squad which downed San Marino, 15 to 7.

In other matches, Hickory Hollow defeated Romeo, 16-6, and Sylvan Glen downed Green Acres No. 1, 21½-½.

Tuesday's Games

JAYCEE PARK — Booth Homes vs. Oakland, 1 p.m.; Talbott vs. Lake Orion, 4 p.m.; M. G. Collision vs. UAW, 7:30 p.m.

A tie game continues to hamper the R. T. Clippers' bid to overtake M. G. Collision in the city recreation department's Class A Baseball race at Jaycee Park.

The Clippers won twice over the weekend and can add a third victory tonight but would still find themselves percentage points out of first place.

Their 21-5 rout of U. A. W. No. 653 Saturday evening and last night's 2-1 conquest of Teamsters 614 boosted the Clippers to an 8-2-1 mark, but left them .027 behind M. G. (8-2), a 10-0 winner over Oakland University Sunday.

Booth Homes remained on the leader's heels with a 2-0, eight-inning victory Sunday over Pass Excavating. The home builders are 8-3.

Also sliding back yesterday like the Teamsters was Cranbrook, who was upset 5-4 by Lake Orion. C. I. O. No. 594 trimmed Talbott Lumber, 6-1, after the lumbermen surprised Pass Excavating, 3-1, Saturday in a makeup tilt.

BIG BLOW

Santos Sanchez cracked a two-run home run in the opening inning last night to help Don Glowaz outduel Don Sackett as the Clippers won their third straight game.

Saturday they amassed the season's highest run total in drubbing U. A. W. Rick Trudeau drove in five runs with a three-run homer, two singles and a sacrifice fly, plus earned the mound decision in relief.

* * *

Catcher Harry Bartkowiak also had five rbi's and scored two other runs on two singles and a walk. Hank Thomas rapped a single, double and homer for five runs, and Sanchez had two doubles and a single for five tallies.

Mike Howard homered for the losing unionmen.

M. G. also made it three in a row as Jack McCloud blanked Oakland's Pioneers on four hits. He struck out nine in upping his loop-leading mound mark to 5-0.

Dave McDonald had three singles, and four teammates had two hits each as M. G. pounded out 15 safeties.

Jim Ward's hard smash through Pass' third baseman broke a 0-0 tie for Booth, and Tom Booth followed with a sacrifice fly to enable Dan Fife to best Art Greene in a sparkling duel.

Jim Jenks held Talbott to one hit over the final four frames and cracked a two-run circuit clout in C. I. O.'s win.

Art Jackson, who left the Pass team due to lack of playing time earlier this season, pitched Talbott past the excavators Saturday. Lincho Chavez's single snapped a 1-1 tie in the final inning and Bill Papaps plated an insurance run with a single.

Hurler Sparkles With No-Hitter

A 6-1 no-hit triumph by Bill Rollo Saturday kept Arnold Drugs in the city junior baseball Class D race with a 3-2 mark.

* * *

Cranbrook moved into a second-place tie with a 3-1 log after its 7-3 victory in another makeup contest. A previously unreported Friday tilt found the Pontiac Police Officers' entry remaining unbeaten with an 8-5 conquest of Bloomfield Hills.

Rollo whiffed eight and retired the final 14 hitters in order.

Some Blue Chips Weak

Mart Prices Slip to Down Side

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices drifted a bit to the downside early this afternoon in sluggish semiholiday trading.

Weakness in some of the pivotal blue chips depressed averages.

* * *

In the over-all list a few more losses appeared than gains.

The market was mixed at the start, with plus signs predominating but the industrial section of the list was down a little evep at the outset.

Many businesses were closed and there was considerable absenteeism in Wall Street because of a tendency to take Monday off and make it a four-day Independence Day weekend.

The uncertainties regarding the outlook for second quarter earnings, the renewed Israeli-Arab fighting, the rise in interest rates and the possibility of tax increase lurked behind market action.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 322.6 with industrials off 1.0, rails off .4 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.65 at 857.61.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange as the pace of trading dragged far below the Friday level. Goldfield was weak and dropped more than a point.

* * *

Fractional gains were made by Sterling Precision, Banner Industries, Gulf American and Christiana Oil.

Local Fights Teamster Pact

August Hearing Set on New Jersey Suit

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A U.S. district judge has set Aug. 3 as the date to hear the suit of a Teamster local union challenging nationwide contracts pending between the International Brothehrhood of Teamsters and the trucking industry.

The suit, for a declaratory judgment, has been filed by Teamster Local 478, representing trucks in two New Jersey counties.

* * *

The local, long opposed to either national or regional New Jersey - New York contract agreements, raises 24 points in the suit before U.S. District Judge Robert Shaw.

It claims officers of the local have not been authorized by the membership to empower either the International union or the Eastern Conference of Teamsters to negotiate agreements. Therefore, they contend, the agreements violate local union members' rights under the Taft-Hartley Law.

NON PARTICIPANT

The local also says that it was not a participant in recent contract negotiations in Chicago where the national contract terms were reached.

The shop stewards of Local 478 also have an unfair labor practice complaint against the local's officers filed with the National Labor Relations Board. The complaint also is filed against the International and the industry.

The stewards are seeking to restrain their officers from signing the national agreement and to restrain the International union from imposing its terms on Local 478.

This action by the stewards leaves the local open to seizure by the International by appointing a trustee who could override the local's refusal to carry out the dictates of the parent union.

The federal court suit filed by the officers could thwart such seizure.

In Holiday Pattern

Car Symbol of Changes

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The changing character of America will be symbolized Tuesday by the automobile, in which many citizens will celebrate Independence Day with a trip to the country, the shore or —as we are reminded — to eternity.

CUNNIFF

It is a good bet that the 56.2 million Americans who own one or more cars will use them Tuesday. Almost certainly millions of these will spend more time driving than in any other activity.

* * *

The contrast is vivid between this modern pastime and the once secure and insular holiday of ice cream, ball games, band concerts and fireworks after dusk.

In less mobile days the celebration of the Fourth was a town affair. The population stirred toward the center of town and a day's activities among familiar faces.

POPULATION DISPURSES

The population now disperses by auto. It decentralizes throughout the countryside to mix with strangers.

In three hours Tuesday millions of Americans will travel as much as 200 miles by car, a trip that took days or weeks back in 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia.

* * *

If it were just an average day this travel would total more than 2.5 billion miles, based on last year's record of 932 billion miles traversed by 78.3 million cars, 15.5 million trucks and 350,000 buses.

There is a very great likelihood, in fact, that millions of Americans will spend more time Tuesday in their vehicles than they will before their television sets or sleeping, swimming, attending church, concerts, athletic events.

That means that there is a good chance also that many people will spend a lot more time coming and going to their destination than at their destination.

But the auto does not mean just transportation. It has also been a catalyst that has produced thousands of other commercial activities.

* * *

When not actually in motion, the motorist Tuesday may eat in a roadside restaurant entirely dependent on automobile traffic or lounge in a roadside motel that owes its invention and existence to cars and road.

The number of these businesses oriented to movement is increasing.

The Automobile Manufacturers Association estimates that 800,000 enterprises now deal with the auto, and that some 13 million people earn their living from it, a figure that amounts to one-fifth of the civilian work force.

Among the chief beneficiaries are businesses in transportation, construction, steel, tourism and fuels, 75 billion gallons of which were consumed by trucks, cars and buses last year.

Because of their association with the auto, many corporations today are among the most solid blue chips for investment of money. Others, such as restaurant and motel chains, are listed as growth industries.

This is not to say that the automotive vehicle has been all good. It hasn't. It has polluted the air, defiled the landscape, clogged streets, killed citizens and preempted much-needed space in the center of cities.

State Aviatrix Aims at Hawaii

Honolulu Is Next Stop in 'Earhart Flight'

CANTON ISLAND (AP) —The Michigan housewife duplicating the around-the world flight of famed aviatrix Amelia Earhart today planned to leave Canton Island in the South Pacific on the 1,600-mile hop northwest to Honolulu.

Mrs. Ann Pellegreno of Saline, landed on the island Sunday, after dropping a floral wreath on the ocean near Howland Island, the spot where Miss Earhart is believed to have disappeared 30 years ago.

* * *

She reached Howland Island on the anniversary of Miss Earhart's disappearance—July 2, 1937.

Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, were last heard from by radio. The message said they had 30 minutes of fuel left and were looking for Howland Island.

SPECULATION ON CRASH

No trace of the aircraft or the fliers has ever been found. But there was speculation that their Lockheed Model 10 Electra, identical to the plane flown by Mrs. Pellegreno, may have crashed in Japanese-held territory.

However, before leaving on her flight, Mrs. Pellegreno said she did not believe that Miss Earhart landed in the Marshall Islands, as concluded by some investigators.

* * *

"We believe that the route taken by Miss Earhart and her navigator could only have been to Howland," she said.

"Our hope is to write a finish to a chapter of American aviation which has long been a subject of controversy."

Mrs. Pellegreno was accompanied on her flight by Air Force Col. William Payne, her copilot; mechanic Lee Keepke of Ypsilanti, who owns the plane and navigator William Polhemus of Ann Arbor. They took pictures of the island and a lighthouse named in honor of Miss Earhart, but did not land.

When they landed in Canton, they completed the 10,000-mile hop from Lea, New Guinea, longest single hop on the 28,000 mile flight.

New Senate Ethics Code in '67 Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate likely will end its current session without a new code of ethics, says the vice chairman of the panel charged with drafting proposed standards of conduct.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said Sunday he doubts members of the Senate Ethics Committee will find much time to work on proposals when the Senate returns from a 10-day July 4 recess to face a sizable backlog of work.

* * *

Even if a code is completed and offered to the Senate, said Bennett, the subject is so highly controversial that there probably wouldn't be enough time to debate it.

He said the committee's work on proposals was sidetracked by its 14-month probe of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. The bipartisan committee recommended that Dodd be censured for financial misconduct—which he was after a nine-day debate.

POWELL CONTRAST

Bennett was asked about the contrast between the Senate's censure of Dodd and the House's refusal earlier to seat Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat also accused of financial misconduct.

Bennett said the Senate's action left hanging over Dodd "the record that 92 of 97 voters decided that his actions brought dishonor and disrepute to the Senate."

1 of 2 Possible Rail Strikes Is Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of two threatened nationwide railroad strikes appears sidetracked by a presidential board.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George C. Higgins, head of the three-member panel named May 30 by President Johnson, announced Saturday a "final and binding settlement of all issues" in the dispute between 75 railroads and 19,000 railway conductors and brakemen.

* * *

Msgr. Higgins said both sides signed a memorandum of understanding laying the groundwork for a detailed agreement to be executed at a later date. Details of the settlement will be withheld until that time.

It was understood, however, that the agreement calls tentatively for a 6 per cent wage hike retroactive to last Sept. 2.

THREATENED WALKOUT

Still unsettled is the threatened walkout of six shopcraft unions in a wage dispute with railroads representing 95 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The shopcraft unions, although now free to strike after passage of a no strike-no walkout negotiation period invoked by Congress, have pledged to stay on the job pending congressional action on antistrike legislation proposed by President Johnson.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "Due to a disability, my husband had to take an early retirement. Our home is debt-free, we have savings and insurance and our yearly income will be around $10,000. We have been buying a mutual fund on an installment plan, paying $50 a month. This has not been too wise an investment. Could you recommend two stocks to give us inflation protection in the years ahead?" G. C.

(A) Your mutual fund installment purchase probably involved a front-end load. This means that a large proportion of total sales commissions over the life of the plan was taken out of the first year's payments. With these costs out of the way, your investment should begin to pay off.

* * *

Almost any growth stock can be expected to gain sufficiently in earnings, dividends and price to protect you against inflation on a long term-basis. For practical purposes, I would prefer a premium for relatively fast growth. In this category I recommend Becton, Dickinson and Plough, Inc. These stocks have had a much better than average record in recent years.

(Q) "My husband and I have 50 shares of Danly Machine Specialties. We have heard nothing from them for over a year, although previously we received notices and dividends regularly. Where should I write for information about this company?" L. B.

(A) The name of your company was changed last October to Danly Machine Corporation but this wouldn't necessarily affect your status as a stockholder. The shares are traded in the unlisted market and are quoted around 20 bid. Dividends have been paid regularly since 1961 and the most recent payment was in June 1967. I advise you to write to the transfer agent, First National Bank, Chicago, for information about your failure to receive dividends.

Meredith Nears End of March

PICKENS, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith approached the last stop on his "march against fear" today with only 20 miles to go to Canton.

The 34-year-old Negro leader, plagued by an aching tendon in his ankle, walked about 16 miles Sunday before calling it quits for the day near Pickens.

★ ★ ★

He said he would end the journey at Canton, 25 miles short of the 175-mile hike to Jackson he originally had planned.

★ ★ ★

Last year at Canton, Meredith rejoined the first march he started. On that walk, he had gotten only a few miles into north Mississippi when he was wounded by an ambush shotgun blast near Hernando. He started marching this year from Hernando, 10 days ago.

STEADY RAIN

About 30 persons walked Sunday with Meredith, part of the time through a steady rain.

At stops along the way, while his companions chanted and sang "freedom" songs, Meredith commented: "You never saw me singing those songs, did you? And you watch, you never will."

★ ★ ★

He said the Negro cry "black power" is merely a slogan like the song "We Shall Overcome."

"Slogans depend on the frame of the mind of the people you want to affect," Meredith said. "There comes a point when you move beyond slogans."

4 ARRESTED

Authorities disclosed that they had arrested six persons who claimed to be affiliated with the American Nazi party, and four of them said they had planned to try to prevent the Meredith group from marching.

Sheriff W. Lee Meredith of DeSota County said Sunday that four were arrested in Hernando June 23 on disorderly conduct charges, and they made statements that they wanted to stop Meredith.

★ ★ ★

He said the Dallas, Tex., men, who had literature of the Nazi group in their car, pleaded guilty to the charges last Wednesday and were released.

The sheriff said he understood they were returning to Dallas. They were Alvis Gray, 28, Jerry Parker, 21, Richard Dickinson, 25, and Tommy Orem, 21.

Oxford police arrested the other two last Wednesday night at the request of the Mississippi highway patrol. A county attorney said he did not know their names nor the charges filed against them.

Half of 42 Miners Saved

MANILA (AP) — Emergency crews have rescued 21 miners trapped 4,300 feet underground by a tunnel collapse five days ago and still are trying to dig to another 21, a Philix Mining Corp. official said today.

There was no immediate word on the condition of the rescued miners.

★ ★ ★

Rain washed boulders and mud Wednesday into the tunnel of Pailex's remote gold and copper mine near the mountain resort of Baguio, about 97 miles north of Manila.

Crash in Area Injures Man

An Oak Park man is in satisfactory condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with injuries received when his car went out of control on an expressway entrance ramp in Pontiac Township Saturday.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

He was driving onto I-75 from M24 when the mishap occurred, about 8:30 p.m., Oakland County sheriff's deputies said.

Seat Belt Use Reports Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Service today asked police across the nation to report whether seat belts were in use at the time of traffic accidents.

Dr. Richard E. Marland, chief of the service's injury control program, said he also asked law enforcement agencies to make such information available to news media.

★ ★ ★

"Broadcasting and publication of a statement on seat belt use in stories of auto accidents would show by example how seat belts save lives and reduce the severity of injuries," he said.

Marland said the Public Health Service also had contacted news media about the campaign. Newspapers cooperating in the project, he said, include the Denver Post, Rocky Mountain News, Indianapolis Star and Indianapolis News.

Glass Bottle, Jar Output on Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. glass bottle and jar manufacturers are outrunning the population.

Manufacturers in 1966 made the equivalent of 151 glass containers for every man, woman and child in the country, reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

That compared to 118 bottles and jars per person 10 years ago, an increase of 28 per cent. The U.S. population in the same period increased only about 16 per cent.

Distance Matters Little Now . . . . .

We conduct funerals at a distance, and serve many families whose residence is some miles away. We take the deceased to distance points for interment — or bring them from a far away place, where their passing may have occured.

Because families now live a little farther apart, distance is a part of every service. Call the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, regardless of where the end of life has come.

In loving memory of Edmund J. Vanderworp, who passed away July 3, 1961.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for thought or speech
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember Him who was once here
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Jets to Spain for Look-See at Chic Drugless Drug Store

By EARL WILSON

BARCELONA—Could there be anything more chic than crossing the Atlantic by jet to cover the opening of a drug store?

Before you say, "Yes, there could, buddy!" allow me to state that this drug store opening was attended by George Hamilton, the well-known friend, and Salvador Dali and his moustache, and many titled people.

WILSON

El Drugstore is considered quite marvelous here, being similar to Paris' American Le Drugstore. It has 200 employes, sells football lottery tickets, caviar, whisky, records and paper dresses, has a bar, men's and women's shops, a superdelicatessen, telegraph counter, an enormous out-of-the-country newsstand, and an information center where senoritas answer questions in several languages.

Oscar Molinari, 26, a nephew of wealthy Venezuelan Renaldo Herrara, well-known in N. Y. society, operates the store, and got George Hamilton to attend because of their long friendship.

"When we were kids and I was broke in Palm Beach," Hamilton said, "Oscar sent me a ticket to come to Caracas and live with him."

"We made a kids' pact that we would help each other if the other needed it," Molinari said.

"I got a movie offer and asked Oscar whether I should take it. I was 18," Hamilton said.

"He told me, 'You'd better, because you're not a very good bullfighter.'"

* * *

The drugstore will stay open until 4 or 5 in the morning. Molinari sees it as a challenge to the youth of the country.

I went to some of the old-time drugstores here. They can forget it. You know what these drugstores sell? Drugs!

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Lee Bouvier Radziwill's co-star in "Philadelphia Story," John Ericson, fumed at the billing he got in their show in Chicago, but was assured it will be changed "within a day or so" . . . It'll be Dyan Cannon (Mrs. Cary Grant) or Marlyn Mason in the B'way musical, "How Now, Dow Jones?" Rossano Brazzi and Stanley Baker will be Miss Universe judges at Miami Beach July 15 when the 70-nation show on CBS is shooting for the biggest audience of the year . . . Joseph Hayes' new suspenser, "The Deep End," mentions me and this column, but I'd love it even if it didn't. This may be his best story-telling.

Russia Also Singing the Pollution Blues

MOSCOW — (UPI) — Russian children are swimming in sewage, and black smoke veils the Kremlin.

Sound familar? It should. The Russians have pollution, too.

The famous Russian snow falls pure and white on the streets of Moscow, but turns black with soot when it hits the ground.

The sturgeon that lay caviar have to be carried by boat to their feeing grounds, because the polluted rivers could kill them.

A survey that covered most of Russia found 65 per cent of the factories dumping raw waste and sewage into the rivers from which drinking water is drawn by the towns and villages downstream.

TOWNS, VILLAGES BAD

The towns and villages are just as bad. Sixty per cent of them drain their own raw sewage into the increasingly polluted streams.

By the time one stream reaches the Moscow bathing beaches it is spotted with scum and detergent foam, and feels like greasy dishwater.

The rivers grow more poisonous as they sweep toward the Caspian Sea, where the caviar comes from. Author Mikhail Sholokhov told a Communist party Congress that 842,000 sturgeon died on one stretch of river, at a cost to Russia of $12 million.

* * *

Now the sturgeon are loaded alive aboard river boats and carried safely through the slime that covers their migration routes.

ONE HEADACHE MISSING

Russian planners are spared only one of the headaches of American pollution fighters. There are hardly any private cars in the Soviet Union, so most of the haze over Moscow is the industrial kind instead of the eye-stinging variety caused by auto exhausts.

The Soviets have the world's most centralized state planning organization, able to round up the resources that put the first man into space.

They also have the world's richest supply of fresh water, with 10 per cent of all the river water on the globe.

But they also have the same problems that plague the planners who want to ban pollution in the industrialized West: It costs too much and nobody cares enough.

Russian factory managers are judged by the amount they produce, and they don't produce more by treating their sewage or their smoke.

City managers are trying to cope with one of the world's worst housing shortages, and even basic services like running water and electricity are scarce in some areas.

When budget time comes around, they plan for lights, bathtubs and roofs over their citizens' heads. They give short shrift to sewage plants which will only benefit the strangers downstream.

So, out of 16 million cubic meters of industrial waste that flows each day into the mighty Volga, only 7.3 million tons are purified, according to the magazine Economic Gazette.

A Junior Editors Quiz About VIRGIN ISLANDS

QUESTION: How did the United States get the Virgin Islands?

* * *

ANSWER: The question gives the incorrect impression that the U.S. owns the Virgin Islands, it owns some but not all of them.

The Virgins are a group of many small islands lying in the large island chain which stretches from near the Florida coast almost to Venezuela, South America.

It was Christopher Columbus who named the Virgins during his second visit to America in 1493. When he saw the striking beauty of this group of small islands rising from a sparkling blue sea he was reminded of the legend of St. Ursula, who, when making a pilgrimage to Rome, was joined by 11,000 maidens.

Columbus named the group Las Virgenes—The Virgins—in honor of St. Ursula's beautiful companions.

A group of these islands passed into British control in 1671 and are known as the British Virgin Islands. Another group belonged to Denmark, and this, consisting of St. Croix, St. John, St. Thomas and neighboring islets was sold to the United States by Denmark in 1917.

These islands give us an outpost for the protection of the Panama Canal. They have also become an important tourist vacation ground.

A Prolific, Intriguing Composer

Biography Details Cole Porter

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Cole Porter was a curious figure — a Midwesterner whose songs bespoke the sophistication of his era, an immense success who fretted because critics were always saying his scores were "not up to his standard."

THOMAS

The Porter story is told with painstaking detail in a new biography, "The Life That Late He Led" by George Eels, a magazine writer and friend of the composer in his later years. The biographer had access to Porter's letters and papers and hence provides a more intimate view of him than has yet been seen.

* * *

Like all official biographies, this one suffers from a loss of objectivity. But this is offset by the wealth of detail which would not be available to unofficial biographers.

I had only one encounter with Porter, who was not fond of interviews. While MGM was filming "Kiss Me Kate," he consented to talk a bit about his life and works. He seemed sardonic and rueful—this was after the series of operations on his legs, and the intimacy with pain seemed to have stolen his gaiety.

'CAN-CAN' REVIEWS

"Can-Can" had recently opened on Broadway, and Porter was still smarting over the reviews.

"The critics said the score was not up to my usual standard," he said. "They have been saying that since my second show." Time has proved how wrong critics can be, since "Can-Can" produced such great songs as "C'est Magnifique," "Allez-Vous-en," "I Love Paris" and "It's All Right with Me."

* * *

Even when Porter wrote his greatest score—"Kiss Me Kate," he did not win universal acclaim.

Most of the reviews were raves, but Harold Clurman in the Saturday Review of Literature declared these were not Porter's best songs "by a long shot."

PROLIFIC OUTPUT

Although he was wealthy through his own family and his wife's fortune, Porter learned the capacity for hard work. His output was prolific, and a listing of his shows and songs occupies a 40-page appendix in "The Life That Late He Led." They range from "The Song of the Birds," written in 1901 when he was 10, to a television special called "Aladdin" in 1958, five years before his death.

Always the Porter work had a high degree of polish and proficiency. That was no accident. He would write four or five versions of a song before it would please the producer. But once he created something that pleased himself, he could be obstinate.

For "Gay Divorce" he wrote the music to a love song for Fred Astaire but couldn't lick the lyrics. The inspiration came on a weekend in the country when his hostess, Mrs. Vincent Astor, complained the "drip, drip, drip" of the raindrops was driving her crazy.

Just as in songwriter movies, Porter seized the idea for the opening lines of "Night and Day." When the song was finished, Astaire feared he couldn't sing it, and others in the show felt it should be discarded. Even after Porter won out and the show opened, musicians scorned "Night and Day" for its length and called it a "tapeworm song."

GREATEST NUMBER

It became Porter's greatest number and title for his highly fictionalized film in biography starring Cary Grant in 1946. "Night and Day" was also a hit number for Frank Sinatra, who was once rebuked by Porter for his habit of altering song lyrics. In the late 1940s the composer sent a telegram to Sinatra asking why he sang the Porter songs if he didn't like the way they were written.

Congress Draws Line, Faces Up to Skirt Issue

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Tom Steed recently proposed that Congress create a miniskirt control board to regulate hemlines in this country.

WEST

As outlined in Roll Call, the Capitol Hill newspaper, the board would operate somewhat like the Federal Power Commission, which regulates pipelines.

It would certify women eligible to wear miniskirts and decide to what lengths hemlines could go. Steed sees it as an adjunct to Lady Bird Johnson's beautification program.

"Let's face it," the Oklahoma Democrat was quoted as saying, "The miniskirt on the wrong people just does not contribute to beautification."

* * *

His use of the phrase "let's face it" was interpreted by veteran observers to mean the legislative branch will not turn its back on miniskirt wearers.

NO COST

Steed also pointed out that the board could be set up without adding to the federal deficit.

"This one wouldn't cost a thing," he said. "It would be overrun with volunteers."

How typical it is for Congress to wait until a situation already had gotten out of hand before moving to control it — and then to propose countermeasures that obviously are unconstitutional.

* * *

Any legislation that fosters discrimination in the wearing of miniskirts is certain to be nullified by the Supreme Court. Especially if Justice Douglas is still a member.

ALTERNATIVE

Rather than impose legal restraints on miniskirts through a new quasi-judiciary agency, Congress would do better to bring knees into the existing beautification program.

I am thinking in terms of making knees a part of the legislation dealing with auto junk yards. In other words, unsightly knees would be screened with natural vegetation.

That could be done fairly easily by having women wear ankle straps to which would be attached flowerpots, each containing a small arborvitae or some other evergreen.

The law should specify that the plants must be tall enough to reach the bottom of the hemline, if the hemline itself falls short of the knee.

LIMBSCAPING

Otherwise, the regulations should be drawn in general terms to encourage a wide variety of landscaping. Or rather limbscaping.

* * *

For example Twiggy, the one-dimensional English model, probably would look best behind potted palms.

Give Your Child's Speaking Ability a Test

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another article in Prof. Nason's series telling parents how they can give their children at home a running start on getting ready for for school.)

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.
University of Southern California

You are not a fair judge of your child's speaking ability, since you have trained yourself to understand him.

Try this test. Listen carefully when an adult from outside the home carries on a simple conversation with your child. Does the child understand the adult easily? Can the visitor understand your child?

This is a good test of skill in word usage. In the classroom the teacher must be able to understand a youngster and he must understand what is being said not only by the teacher but by the other children as well.

* * *

How many words does he understand and use?

LOSE CHARM

There is a temptation to talk to a child in his own language. Unfortunately, speech patterns which may be charming in a small child lost their charm and become speech problems as the child grows older.

While serious speech problems need the attention of experts, most simple matters of articulation can be overcome by the child with help from his parents.

A child learns to speak by hearing others imitate him, as well as by imitating others.

ERRORS CARRIED OVER

If he makes a funny error and adults repeat it, the child may think the error is correct.

A large percentage of speech problems in all children are merely carry-overs of "cute" lisps and other baby-talk. Sometimes without thinking, parents and other adults encourage this.

Parents can help their children substitute correct speech for baby-talk if they help them listen to the sounds they are making and identify the errors.

* * *

When a child hears and recognizes his errors he is ready to substitute the correct sounds.

LEARN MEANINGS

Parents should make sure that their preschool children learn the meaning of up and down, right and left, over and under, and other words that describe the location of objects. They should be able to recognize and name the colors.

When your child has difficulty understanding a word either in conversation or as you read a story, stop and discuss the word.

Make sure he can picture its meaning and also pronounce the word correctly.

Use this word several times soon. Ask the child to tell you about some object or incident which would normally require the use of the word.

This will develop a habit of not being satisfied with less than complete understanding of word meaning.

When a child learns to hear a word correctly, get a clear mental picture of its meaning, and has used it himself, he has made it a part of his permanent, usable vocabulary.

Shriver Is Fighting Losing Battle to Save OEO Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sargent Shriver is battling Congress for the life of his command post—the Office of Economic Opportunity—and the usually optimistic antipoverty director concedes the future looks bleak.

"There might be no war on poverty by the time we're through," Shriver said recently, estimating the odds are 60 to 40 against passage of the Johnson administration's antipoverty legislation now before Congress.

Shriver's primary concerns are money and a Republican effort to dismantle the OEO and move its programs to such established departments as Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Johnson has requested $2.06 billion for the OEO for fiscal 1968, compared with the $1.6 billion appropriated in fiscal 1967. Shriver believes an appropriation of $1.7 billion to $2 billion might be wrung from Congress.

Some congressmen believe the appropriation will be the same as fiscal 1967.

* * *

The difference between what Congress authorizes in spending and what it actually appropriates can spell the life or death of his program, says Shriver.

He notes, for instance, that Congress authorized $1.75 billion for the antipoverty agency last year and then appropriated $150 million less, forcing sharp cutbacks in major programs.

With rising prices, says Shriver, just getting the same amount of money doesn't mean standing still, it means dropping back.

In June appearances before the House and Senate, and in many speeches, Shriver and his top aides said poverty can be defeated and the OEO should remain the primary coordinating force.

OUTDOES SKIRMISHES

In the past two weeks, Shriver outdid his previous skirmishes with the House Education and Labor Committee, appearing at seven hearings to fight for his program.

He found time for two days of testimony before the Senate poverty subcommittee, which also is considering the OEO budget.

The GOP "Opportunity Crusade," introduced by Reps. Albert A. Quie of Minnesota and Charles E. Goodell of New York, would dismantle the OEO by distributing its programs among other agencies.

3-MAN COUNCIL

It would replace the OEO with a three-man council of economic opportunity advisers in the White House.

Quie says the shift would make the antipoverty program more effective.

Shriver has accused Quie and Goodell of "trying to get a political victory—in the narrow sense—by getting rid of OEO without eliminating the programs."

State Tax Measure Bans Referendum

LANSING (AP) —Michigan will start paying their first state income tax Oct. 1, but apparently they won't get a chance to voice their sentiments on the subject a month later.

The 2.6 per cent individual income tax bill passed by the Legislature Saturday prohibits a proposed referendum.

A $3-million appropriations amendment was reinstated in the bill stipulating that the measure was designed to meet deficiencies in state funds.

The Michigan Constitution forbids referendums on appropriations bills and those designed to make up deficiencies.

Opponents of the measure in the Senate gave up on attempts to stall its implementation and voted 26-8 Saturday afternoon to go along with the House and give the bill immediate effect.

IN ADDITION

In addition to the individual income tax the bill levies a 5.6 per cent tax on corporations and a 7 per cent tax on financial institutions.

Only Gov. George Romney's signature is needed before Michigan becomes the 39th state with a personal income tax.

Although the program differed considerably from the original tax package proposed by Romney, no other governor before has been able to put a tax reform program through the Michigan Legislature.

* * *

Two former Democratic governors, G. Mennen Williams and John B. Swainson, tried unsuccessfully for 14 years to get tax bills through Republican legislatures.

KEY PROVISIONS

Here are the key provisions of the tax package and the planned effective date of each:

2.6 per cent personal income tax with $1,200 deduction per dependent, Oct. 1, 1967.

Income taxes of 5.6 per cent on corporations and 7 per cent on financial institutions, Jan. 1, 1968.

* * *

Repeal of the business activities tax, Jan. 1, 1968.

Increase in the per-person exemption from the intangibles tax from $10 to $100, Oct. 1.

Distribution of $38 million per year to local units of government on a per-capita basis.

A bill regarded as part of the legislative fiscal program, which would boost the cigarette tax by three cents a pack and take effect Aug. 1, has passed the House but not the Senate.

Clash at Suez in Third Day as U.N. Set to Vote

By The Associated Press

Egyptian and Israeli troops clashed at the Suez Canal for the third day today as the United Nations prepared to vote on demands for the withdrawal of Israeli troops, and Israel said thousands of Arab refugees could return home.

The Israeli army said Egyptian troops on the canal's west bank fired for 20 minutes at Israeli soldiers on the east bank near El Qantara, about 25 miles from the canal's northern entrance.

The Israelis said the Egyptians fired across the canal a second time two hours later, but the Israeli troops returned the fire and the Egyptians quit shooting.

Israel, which captured nearly all of Egypt east of the canal in the June 5-10 war, reported three such machine gun and mortar attacks yesterday on its positions near El Qantara. The Israelis said they silenced the Egyptian gunners each time.

Radio Cairo said Egyptian forces in position on the eastern bank turned back an Israeli attack and destroyed six tanks and nine armored cars in two days of fighting.

The two sides clashed Saturday night on the east bank. Egypt claimed its men had been there all along.

Israel said about 100 Egyptians had crossed the canal and penetrated about nine miles into the Sinai Peninsula before being driven back across the waterway.

LBJ Enjoys Holiday as Polls Show Rise

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, rising in the polls and armed with a new statement of support from Democratic governors, is described as thoroughly enjoying his holiday stay at the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson spent a quiet Sunday in his native central Texas hill country, driving to church, helping daughter Luci celebrate her 20th birthday and boating on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson.

This leisurely pace contrasted with a flying trip to St. Louis Saturday to meet with Democratic governors and thank them for statements of support that he later told a news conference were "music to my ears."

The governors, with two from the Deep South abstaining, adopted a "statement of accord" that praised Johnson's efforts at home and abroad and declared: "No political leader in the world is giving more inspired meaning to the words 'freedom for all people' than is President Lyndon B. Johnson."

Even as Johnson was meeting with the governors, the Harris Poll, copyright by the Washington Post Co., was reporting an 11-point jump in the President's popularity following his meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his handling of the Middle East crisis.

EXPLAINS IMPROVEMENT

"I think when the governors support you and are behind you, you always improve," Johnson said.

Making no effort to hide his partisanship, he told the St. Louis News conference: "We belong to a party where we can speak our minds, and we spoke it well in 1964 and we're going to speak it again in 1968."

The President also said, "I think, generally, that the worst Democrat is better for the country than the best Republican."

Johnson and wife Lady Bird are expected to remain at their ranch, some 75 miles northwest of San Antonio, through July 4. It's felt they may linger through next weekend.

Queen Tours Expo; Public Kept Away

MONTREAL (AP) — Queen Elizabeth tours Expo 67 today with only the footfalls of security men behind her and her subjects kept away from their monarch by water, security guards and rope barriers.

Police again took security measures that some Canadians considered overzealous and unnecessary.

But officials recalled the queen's 1964 visit to French-speaking Quebec, when she was subjected to insults and noisy demonstrations by anti-British groups.

Both demonstrators and placards are barred from the Expo grounds. The Royal Canadian Mounted Poice refused to announce the size of its force guarding the queen, but hundreds of Montreal and provincial officers were known to have been brought to the fair grounds.

They were assigned to keep all visitors off one Expo island in the St. Lawrence River while the royal yacht Britannia was docking.

Weather Forecast Eases Tennessee Dam Crisis

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn. (AP) — The weatherman today eased the pressure on engineers seeking to ease the pressure on a rain-soaked, earthen dam which has been threatening to flood three middle-Tennessee communities.

* * *

The forecast called for sunny and dry weather, for the first time in a week, as an air mass which has kept thunderstorms pounding the state moved out toward the east.

Laurel Hill Dam, an earth structure made mushy by several days of rain, began seeping dangerously last Wednesday. By Friday, engineers for the State Game and Fish Commission assessed the situation as critical. The dam, however, continued to hold back its two-mile fishing lake.

"But one good rain could change the picture drastically," said Bob Galloway, lake manager for the state. "We're not over the hump by a long shot."

* * *

Most of the 200 families who live in three communities down-stream from the dam moved livestock from riverside pasture areas to higher ground over the weekend. Residents stayed put —relying on a mobile radio network hastily set up by the commission to warn them if the flood threat worsens.

"We've been hearing all sorts of rumors," said one resident, who declined to identify himself. "But until we hear from the game and fish boys, we're staying put."

Thirty-two game and fish workers, several National Guardsmen, and state troopers were stationed at strategic spots downstream from the dam in constant contact with engineers watching it. Officials said evacuation could come within a few minutes.

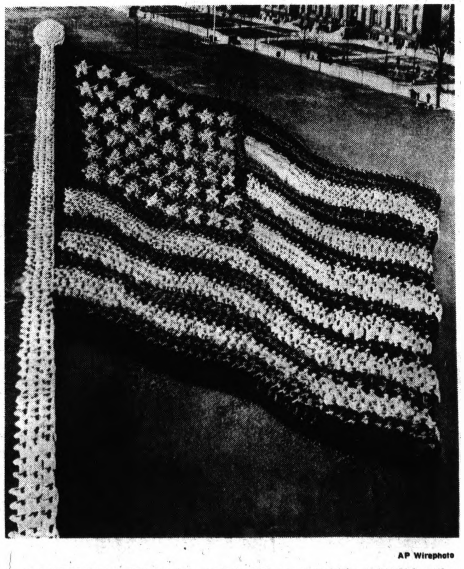

Engineers meantime were spilling water through a sluice to lower the 3.6-billion-gallon lake at the rate of 8 inches a day in an effort to relieve the pressure. It is down two feet from full pool now. Officials plan to lower it 16 feet more.

* * *

So far, the water seeping through the dam — 75 feet high and 840 feet long —has been clear. Unless it turns muddy, engineers said, they are optimistic that it will hold.

40 MINUTES TO ESCAPE

The nearest community is about 20 miles away, giving residents 40 minutes before a 40-foot wall of water would reach them at an estimated speed of 30 miles an hour.

U.S. Road Toll So Far Is 352

By the Associated Press

Highway accidents snuffed out the lives of hundreds of Americans during the Independence Day weekend, and the National Safety Council predicted hundreds more would die before the long holiday ends.

A council spokesman said today indications were that the preholiday estimate of 700 to 800 traffic deaths during the four-day holiday will hold.

Fatalities numbered 352 early today since the count began at 6 p.m. Friday. The holiday officially ends at midnight tomorrow.

The nation's worst accident during the weekend occurred on a straight stretch of Illinois 23 about 70 miles southwest of Chicago. Six teen-agers were killed in a head-on collision involving two cars Saturday night.

In Waynesboro, Va., a car carrying Gov. and Mrs. Mills E. Godwin Jr., collided with another automobile. A passenger in the other car was killed. The governor's wife suffered a broken ankle.

1966 RECORD

The worst Independence Day weekend for traffic deaths was last year. There were 576 fatalities in the three-day period. The worst toll for any holiday was 748 during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend last year.

There were 74 drownings and 21 boating fatalities throughout the nation early today since the holiday period began.

7 Soldiers, 10 Reds Killed as Humphrey Visited in S. Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Koreans killed seven South Korean soldiers and wounded five from ambush and 10 Communists were killed in other clashes while U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and other foreign leaders were in the country for the inauguration of President Chung Hee Park, the army said today.

* * *

Reports of the attacks in and below the demilitarized zone appeared to have been withheld while the foreign visitors were in Seoul, about 50 miles to the southwest.

* * *

As Humphrey paid his farewell call on Park today a few hours before leaving for the United States, thousands of South Korean students resumed their protest that the June 8 parliamentary election was rigged and battled police around Seoul.

* * *

Army officials said the ambush came Saturday, a few hours after Park was inaugurated for his second term. They said more than 10 North Koreans threw hand grenades and fired submachine guns at soldiers returning from a meeting and then fled into dense underbrush.

80 SINCE OCTOBER

The incident brought to 80 the number of South Koreans and Americans killed in border clashes since just before President Johnson's state visit to Korea last October.

Officials said the army killed two North Korean intruders Saturday, two Sunday and six today.

* * *

Some 3,000 students of Kyunghee University began throwing rocks at 500 riot policemen outside their campus and five were reported injured—two seriously—when police hurled back the rocks.

* * *

Police fired about 30 rounds of tear gas to turn back 4,000 demonstrating students of Chungang University and used clubs to disperse 2,000 students surging into the streets from Korea University. Students from Yonsei Dongguk universities also were in the streets.

UNIVERSITIES REOPEN

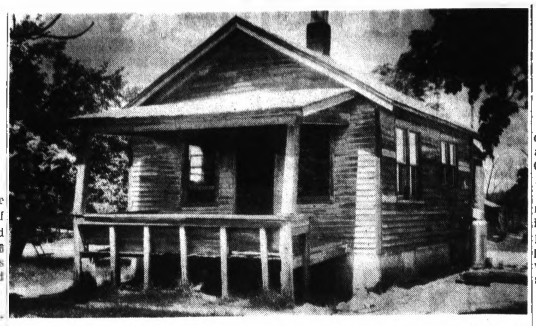

The disturbances began again after most universities in Seoul reopened today on orders of the Education Ministry. About 40 colleges and 300 high schools across the country shut down three weeks ago during violent demonstrations against election rigging. Seoul National University and the 71 high schools in Seoul stayed closed, and three universities announced the start of summer vacation without holding final examinations.

* * *

Humphrey's visit included five days of talks with Asian leaders in which he called on their governments to pay a greater share of the cost of economic and social aid to South Vietnam. He was said to have stressed that point strongly in talks Saturday with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato.

* * *

Park told Humphrey today he believed Japan should cooperate more in the security of the Asian and Pacific region. Japan is barred by its constitution, though, from providing military aid, and Humphrey did not ask for it.

DEATH TRAP — Fire swept through the Ernest Spencer Sr. home seven miles northwest of Caro yesterday, snuffing out the lives of five children and badly burning five others, four of whom were in critical condition today. Dead are Debra Spencer, 6, three of her brothers — Paul 9, Carl, 4, and Terry, 3 — and Ronald Jackson, 9, who was visiting at the Spencer home. The parents were away when the fire broke out at 3 a.m., trapping the children in the basement.

Curious Flock to See Jayne's Burial Site

PEN ARGYL, Pa. (AP) — Crowds of curiosity seekers are arriving in this small, quiet hamlet to see the burial site of actress Jayne Mansfield.

But the family of the 34-year-old Miss Mansfield, who became a famous Hollywood sex symbol, reiterated its intention to keep the final rites today simple and private.

* * *

And there has been little for the curious to see: a tarpaulin over a newly opened grave near the entrance to Fairview Cemetery, a neat white house where Miss Mansfield lived as a child.

* * *

The actress was killed Thursday along with her attorney and chauffeur in a car-truck crash in Louisiana.

PLANNED SERVICES

Meeting Sunday night at the home of Miss Mansfield's aunt, Mrs. Bert Milheim, relatives and Hungarian-born strongman Mickey Hargitay, the actress' second husband, made final plans for services.

Accustomed to and welcoming the glare of publicity while alive, the actress was to be buried in relative privacy, Richard Milheim, a cousin, stressed.

* * *

Milheim said the family wanted a quiet, dignified burial "and we have 300 policemen" to insure it.

Services were set for 2 p.m. EDT.

* * *

Born in Bryn Mawr, Pa., on the Philadelphia Main Line, Miss Mansfield moved here with her mother, now Mrs. Harry Peers of Dallas, Tex., after her father, Herbert Palmer, died when she was 2 years old.

Savage Battle Over; GI Casualties High

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines halted an infiltrating force of some 3,000 North Vietnamese regulars Sunday in a savage battle that cost 255 American casualties—51 dead, 34 missing and 170 wounded.

The Marines said that they counted 65 Communist bodies and that planes, artillery and naval guns probably killed many more.

* * *

WAR MOUNTED

The war mounted in intensity on the ground and in the air above North Vietnam with these major developments:

1. The Marines stopped the elite North Vietnamese 90th Regiment moving south for an attack on the Marine outpost at Con Thien.

2. South Vietnamese headquarters said that about noon today a Communist force jumped a 100-truck supply convoy moving from Da Nang to Phu Bai with an escort of armored vehicles and two companies of troops.

* * *

Initial reports did not specify losses to the convoy.

3. The vital Marine airfield at Dong Ha was put out of use for five hours by Communist gunfire, and considerable damage was caused to the Air Force radar installations there which keep watch over the demilitarized zone just to the north. At least four Air Force men were wounded. The Red gunners fired 120 rounds at the installation.

JETS LOST

4. The Air Force said three U.S. jets were lost in raids over North Vietnam Sunday. One pilot of a Navy Skyhawk jet was listed as missing in action. The pilots of two Air Force Thunderchief jets were picked up in daring helicopter rescues. One pilot hid overnight, and 32 aircraft participated in his rescue.

5. Troops of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division battled a guerrilla force Sunday of perhaps 250 men holding a concealed underground fortress in the foothills of coastal Bong Son Province. In a nine-hour fight the cavalrymen killed 75 Communist troops but had 19 dead and 33 wounded.

* * *

The sharp increase in action led to speculation that the Communists wished to show their muscle on the eve of America's July 4th day celebrations.

No Big Changes Seen Under New Data Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal agencies begin working Tuesday under a new Freedom of Information Act but few of them expect important changes in the way they disclose public records.

Despite this consensus among administrators, congressional supporters of the law say they will make sure it is observed.

The man who sponsored the measure in the House—Rep. John Moss, D—Calif.—says the final verdict on the law's effectiveness will be handed down by John Q. Public.

"The objective of the new law is clear," said Moss. "How well it works will depend on how effectively people exercise their guarantee of access to the facts of government."

BITTER END

Sen. Edward V. Long, D—Mo., Senate sponsor of the bill, said he is "sure that there are bureaucrats who are going to hang on to their secrecy until the bitter end."

But, Long added, "we've worked far too long and hard on this law to see it mangled by federal red tape."

* * *

One agency official, questioned in an Associated Press survey to see how the new law will change procedures, replied: "I don't see three cents worth of difference."

Several other administrators said they think the law is confusing and open to different interpretations. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said "definitive answers may have to await court rulings."

ANY DOCUMENT

The law provides that any citizen may see any government document in the files—but lists nine categories of materials which are exempt from this stipulation. These range from defense secrets to interagency memos to files which, if made public, would invade an individual's privacy.

As for files not exempt under the new law, many agencies said in the AP survey that they have been making them available to the public all along.

A typical comment in this regard came from George Christian, the White House press secretary, who said: "We give you everything that isn't classified."

Four Radium Needles Still Aren't Found

NEW YORK (AP) — Four more of the 17 radium needles lost in shipment between San Diego, Calif., and New York City have been found, reducing the number of missing needles to four.

The city Health Department reported Sunday that one needle was located in Elkhart, Ind., and three in Los Angeles.

* * *

The truck-trailer which brought the needles east, piggyback aboard a railroad car, was located in an Elkhart freight yard.

The three needles were discovered via Geiger counters in a Los Angeles freight yard where the truck had been loaded aboard the railroad car.

CANCER TREATMENT

The needles are made of platinum, each filled with 10 milligrams of radium. Officials said that handling them could cause severe burns. They are used in the treatment of cancer.

Of the first nine needles recovered, four were recovered in San Diego and five were found Friday and Saturday in Manhattan and Queens.

Round of Political Meetings

Romney Near 4-Day 'Vacation'

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (UPI) — Michigan Gov. George Romney is scheduled to arrive here late tomorrow to test the political waters prior to an expected plunge into the nation's first 1968 presidential primary.

"The Anchorage," Lake Winnipesaukee home of wealthy hotel man John Willard Marriott of Washington, will serve as headquarters for the four-day political foray billed as a "vacation."

Supporters of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon are expected to be watching closely the reception given Romney Wednesday night when top Republican leaders host a reception in honor of the governor and his wife.

Political writers, editors and publishers who will report the outcome of the almost certain Nixon-Romney primary contest next March will be guests of the Marriott's Thursday evening at a reception.

* * *

NO ANNOUNCEMENT

Romney reportedly is not planning to announce his entry into the primary until early next year, but his aides already are enlisting campaign workers and setting up a political organization.

Supervising the efforts is David B. Goldberg, president of Campaign Consultants, Inc., of Boston, who helped engineer Henry Cabot Lodge's write-in victory in the 1964 primary.

* * *

Goldberg and partner John Deardouff, a former aide to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, a Romney supporter, have been working several months in major communities to unify supporters.

Birmingham Area News

Parking Dispute Again Faced

BIRMINGHAM — Traffic on downtown Maple will again be a major area of concern to City Commissioners at their meeting at 8 tonight.

The city police department is recommending removal of parking during rush hours, 4 to 6 p.m., while street construction projects are in process — which will be most of the rest of summer.

The Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce suggests a counterproposal. A merchant along the street complains that a previous 30-day parking ban, imposed as a test, had near-disastrous effects on business.

The owner of Machus restaurant and pastry shop, 160 W. Maple, claims 50 per cent of his dinner business disappeared during the test period.

* * *

Business at the pastry shop during the hours of no-parking is "practically nil," the owner claims.

'NOT GREEDY'

He writes his complaint is not merely "the selfish reaction of a greedy Birmingham Merchant' as we merchants are often named."

Machus writes in his opinion the parking ban will result in the 'gradual deterioration" of the downtown area.

The Chamber suggests allowing parking on at least one side of the street, all day Saturday, placing a traffic officer to expedite traffic flow.

* * *

The police point out traffic is funneled into the area only to meet a jam on Maple. Their each time a driver parks or unparks.

ALSO PROPOSED

Another proposal concerning traffic and parking will be considered by commissioners.

The city manager recommends planning for a new parking structure for the southern portion of the business district at Pierce between Merrill and Brown.

The administration recommends the firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach of Birmingham as 'architects and consultants.

* * *

The firm is submitting a letter along with the recommendation stating that planning could be completed by January and construction by November 1968.

JOHN J. SCHWEM

Administrative Aide Named at Hospital

The new assistant administrator for professional services at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, 900 Woodward, is John J. Schwem, 27, of Kalamazoo.

Before coming to Pontiac, he was assistant administrator at Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo.

Schwem has a master's degree in hospital administration and a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering from the University of Michigan.

A 1958 graduate of Grosse Pointe High School, he is married and has two children.

Tongan King to Be Crowned

Crowds Throng Island for Coronation Rites

NUKU'ALOFA, Tonga (AP)—This capital of the island kingdom of Tonga is thronged with Tongan and foreign visitors for the coronation this week of King Taufa'ahau Tupou IV.

The Duke and Duchess of Kent are representing Queen Elizabeth of Britain, at whose coronation King Tupou's mother, the late Queen Salote, delighted the crowds with her charm and good humor.

* * *

President Johnson sent Gov. John Burns of Hawaii; Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake came from New Zealand.

Tongans from other islands have poured in by ship, launch, sailing boat and even a few outrigger canoes. Nukua'alofa's normal population of about 15,000 is believed to have doubled.

METHODIST RITE

The 300-pound king will be crowned at a Methodist religious ceremony in the royal chapel Tuesday and again proclaimed king at the ancient royal Kava installation ceremony Thursday. The latter will be a novelty to many, since it was last held in 1918, when Salote was crowned. She died in December 1965.

Wednesday and again Friday there will be two feasts, at each of which 2,500 guests will sit on the ground and do their best to consume 7,000 suckling pigs, and thousands of chickens, crabs, fish and yams.

* * *

The flat streets, some paved with bitumen and some with gravel, are alive with people walking morning, noon and night. The main street is ablaze with crisscross strings of colored electric lights and two great pine trees near the wooden palace have arrangements of lights running up to the top.

Groups of villagers who will sing before the king during the day-long Kava installation were still rehearsing today.

Area Skies Will Blaze in Fireworks

Pontiac area residents will be looking to the skies to take their choice of fireworks displays being offered by several area businessmen to help celebrate tomorrow, Independence Day.

The Miracle Mile Association in Bloomfield Township will start its display at 9 tonight.

Nine fireworks display permits have been authorized by the Waterford Township Board.

A permit extending beyond a one-night limitation was issued to Lawrence Bertram, of 3900 Maiden, in the Maceday Lake area. The period of this permit is tonight through Thursday night.

Issued a July 8 permit was the Lakewood Drive Association on Watkins Lake.

TUESDAY ONLY

All other permits are for tomorrow night only.

These were issued to the Elizabeth Lake Improvement Association; the Lake Oakland Heights Park Association; The Oakland Beach Civic Association; Fergus Owens of 1925 Watkins Lake; Grace Menninger, of 1811 Watkins Lake; and Percy Hunt, 3668 Covert.

Cause Sought in Jet Crash That Killed 3

MARQUETTE (AP)—A team of Marine Corps experts today sought the cause of a jet plane crash at K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base near Marquette, Mich., that killed three airmen and injured four others.

The plane, a F4B Phantom Jet from Cherry Hill Point Marine Corps Air Station in North Carolina smashed into the tower when it tried to take off late Saturday night, said an Air Force spokesman.

* * *

The airmen killed were identified as: T. Sgt. Rudolph Dgiedzic; Airman 2.C. Ronald W. Singleton; and Airman 2.C. David E. Purdy, all stationed at the air base. Names of home towns were not available.

The radio operator on the plane, 2nd. Lt. Herman A. Hill suffered a possible neck fracture, but the pilot, Capt. Stanley Hucy, was uninjured.

OTHERS INJURED

Gunner Brings Helicopter In

Pilot, Copilot Hit by Enemy Fire in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — Ten feet below the helicopter the Communists in the jungle were firing at the machine. They hit the pilot. The the copilot.

U.S. Army Spec.4 Larry W. MacKay, 20, figured, "It was a matter of do or die."

So the Buckhannon, W. Va., helicopter gunner took the controls. He had never flown a helicopter before. But MacKay got the craft home safely across eight miles of guerrilla infested Vietnamese jungle yesterday.

He did it with one hand.

MacKay had to use one hand to stop the blood flowing from the pilot's leg wound.

"I knew the other gunner couldn't take the controls," he said.

"There were no decisions to make. It just had to be done.

"It was our fourth troop drop and our fourth landing zone. This one was really hot. There were Vietcong giving us heavy automatic weapons fire all the time.

"We had taken off and were about 10 feet above the landing zone when the pilot and copilot were both hit in the legs. I was on one of the guns. I pulled back their seats and laid them in the back of the chopper and took the controls.

"I wasn't sure what to do but luckily I had been in the seat before. They were still firing at us.

But we had no guns. The other gunner was looking after the copilot who was the worst hit, in the back.

"Coming in to land the pilot was giving me directions. That was when I was really worried. I didn't think I could get her onto the ground by myself and I thought the pilot was going to pass out.

"So I kept talking to him to keep him conscious."

He made an almost perfect landing. Base officials said he saved the pilot and the copilot's lives.

MacKay, in Vietnam four months, said he did not plan on becoming a helicopter pilot. He is busy, he said, counting the days until he can return to his parents in Buckhannon and resume his job as a construction worker.

State Okays Bond Sale for City Sewer Projects

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley announced today that the Municipal Finance Commission has approved the sale of $1.8 million in sewage disposal revenue bonds by the City of Pontiac.

The commission, of which Kelley is chairman, must approve all revenue bond sales before bids can be taken.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren said bids will probably be taken Aug. 8.

Money from the sale will finance construction of two main sewer trunk lines now under construction.

* * *

The larger project—the Galloway Sewer Trunk line — will provide mains along the Galloway Creek and sewer facilities for the northeast section of the city.

The second trunk — to run along Opdyke road — is expected to cost $700,000. It will run from the sewage treatment plant on Auburn to Square Lake Road, and serve the southeast section of the city.

Local Runners Post 2 Wins

Long Jumper, Relay Squad in Top Form

Pontiac picked up a couple of victories Saturday in the U. S. Track and Field Federation meet at Dearborn High School.

Roland Garcia gave the local track club its only individual title when he leaped 20-feet-1½-inches to capture the junior division long jump.

Pontiac's other win came in the one-mile relay with the team of Sandy Seay, Garcia, Daryl Wilcox and Jon Costello setting the pace.

Garcia, Seay, Costello also joined Jerry Ratliff in placing second in the 880-yard relay.

* * *

Seay picked up some more points with a 21.2 second clocking that gave him second place in the 180-yard low hurdles.

OTHER SCORERS

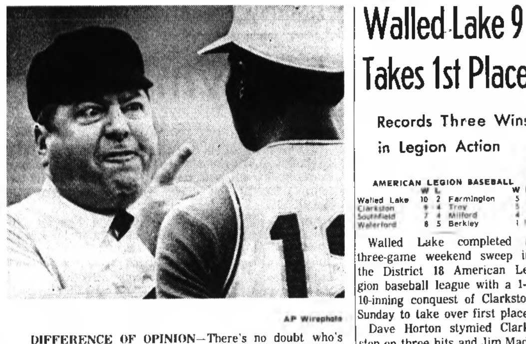

John Threlkeld and Hardiman Jones placed two-three in the pole vault, and Costello ran a 2:02.6 half mile to place third.

Bob Dickie ran second and Larry Hurst fourth in the mile.

* * *

Several members of the local track club will run in a 2½ mile intermediate (15 and under) run and a 10-mile open run at St. Clair Shores tomorrow, and some 25 will compete in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet at Birmingham Groves High School Thursday.

Costello, Garcia and Jerry Hinsparger will compete in the state AAU decathlon in Flint Friday and Saturday.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION—There's no doubt who's winning this argument as umpire John Rice lectures Kansas City pitcher Johnny (Blue Moon) Odom during Saturday's KC-Boston game in Kansas City. The difference of opinion came after Red Sox' Jim Lonborg delivered a single that put the Bsox ahead, 5-2, with Reggie Smith scoring on a close play at the plate. Rice's opinion prevailed. A's lost the game, too, 10-2.

Wimbledon Boosts U.S. Net Outlook

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships moved into the payoff stages today without an American left in the men's singles — but the manager of the U.S. Davis Cup team was far from discouraged.

"On the contrary," said George McCall. "Our boys have done a lot here to redeem the reputation of U.S. tennis."

McCall argued that the giant-killing efforts of Charlie Pasarell, Cliff Richey and Marty Riessen in the first week of Wimbledon restored some of America's tennis prestige — at rock-bottom after losing to lowly Ecuador in the Davis Cup American Zone final.

Fifteen American men, none of them seeded, were among the 128 players who set out in quest of the Wimbledon crown held by Spain's Manuel Santana. The U.S. toppling of favorites began sensationally when Santana was ousted by Pasarell, a former ball-boy from Puerto Rico, in the opening match.

Then Riessen, from Evanston, Ill., put out seventh-seeded Jan Leshly of Denmark in the second round. Richey, from San Angelo, Tex., got an even more impressive scalp when he wore down fourth-seeded Tony Roche of Australia in a four-hour match that ranks as a Wimbledon classic.

NEAR RECORD

It ran to 89 games — only four less than the longest on record — and the next day the still-tired Richey was eliminated in straight sets by another Aussie, Ray Ruffels.

"In some ways Richey's performance was the best of the lot," said McCall. "It was too bad that he had to go out on court again only 18 hours after the Roche marathon. That would have undermined any man."

Confident that America's tennis star is on the rise again, McCall said he was not thinking of rebuilding the Davis Cup team at this stage.

Walled Lake completed a three-game weekend sweep in the District 18 American Legion baseball league with a 1-0 10-inning conquest of Clarkston Sunday to take over first place.

Dave Horton stymied Clarkston on three hits and Jim Maddock drove in the winning run with a single.

Dan Fife was cut down at the plate after tripling in the eighth inning to keep the losers from tying for first. Walled Lake won the opener, 7-2, as Lanny West also pitched a three hitter and Greg Fogle drove in the key run.

Saturday night Chuck O'Brien whiffed 16 in blanking Berkley, 4-0, on a two-hitter in a makeup game. Clarkston topped Milford, 6-2, on Gary Biskner's two-hitter.

Milford also won a twin bill Sunday, beating Berkley, 1-0 and 10-7 — overcoming a 6-0 deficit in the second tilt.

Waterford split with Southfield, winning 10-7, but then dropping a 2-1 decision that would have tied the two for third place.

Troy and Farmingoon divided a pair, to remain deadlocked for fifth. Ron Lang's three-run homer keyed the 5-3 Troy win, and Bill Hunt hurled Farmington to a 10-2 conquest.

Rochester Teams Post Victories in Publinx Play

Two of Rochester's publinx golf teams scored victories yesterday.

Rochester No. 2 downed North Brook, 14½ to 7½, as Jack Floch carded a 77 and Bill Brooks a 73.

Lee Gohs carded a 72 and Ray Cane a 74 for the Rochester No. 3 squad which downed San Marino, 15 to 7.

In other matches, Hickory Hollow defeated Romeo, 16-6, and Sylvan Glen downed Green Acres No. 1, 21½-½.

Milford Team After B-B Title

A five-man team from Milford will be gunning for the national B-B Gun championship this weekend in Hutchinson, Kan.

The five are Cutris Chapman, Roger Snecora, Sara Floyd, Barry Whitehead and Randy Dicks, who are leaving Wednesday along with coach Robert Kometh for the national shoot.

Shooters from 40 states, Canada and Mexico will be on hand at Hutchinson. The Milford squad took the Michigan championship in a recent battle at Davison. The Auburn Heights team was sixth.

Mother, Daughter Take Golf Honors

Mother and daughter collected most of the honors in the 1967 Pine Lake women's President's Cup tournament.

Winning the event with a net 223 was Mrs. Jean Kelchner of Orchard Lake, and her daughter, Joan, 20, a student at Michigan State, finished fourth at 232.

Mrs. Elaine Haines of Bloomfield Hills carded a 230 for second place, while Mrs. Tina King of Bloomfield Hills was third at 231. Defending champion Mrs. Jane Hause finished well back in the field of 28.

Tuesday's Games

JAYCEE PARK — Booth Homes vs. Oakland, 1 p.m.; Talbott vs. Lake Orion, 4 p.m.; M. G. Collision vs. UAW, 7:30 p.m.

A tie game continues to hamper the R. T. Clippers' bid to overtake M. G. Collision in the city recreation department's Class A Baseball race at Jaycee Park.

The Clippers won twice over the weekend and can add a third victory tonight but would still find themselves percentage points out of first place.

Their 21-5 rout of U. A. W. No. 653 Saturday evening and last night's 2-1 conquest of Teamsters 614 boosted the Clippers to an 8-2-1 mark, but left them .027 behind M. G. (8-2), a 10-0 winner over Oakland University Sunday.

Booth Homes remained on the leader's heels with a 2-0, eight-inning victory Sunday over Pass Excavating. The home builders are 8-3.

Also sliding back yesterday like the Teamsters was Cranbrook, who was upset 5-4 by Lake Orion. C. I. O. No. 594 trimmed Talbott Lumber, 6-1, after the lumbermen surprised Pass Excavating, 3-1, Saturday in a makeup tilt.

BIG BLOW

Santos Sanchez cracked a two-run home run in the opening inning last night to help Don Glowaz outduel Don Sackett as the Clippers won their third straight game.

Saturday they amassed the season's highest run total in drubbing U. A. W. Rick Trudeau drove in five runs with a three-run homer, two singles and a sacrifice fly, plus earned the mound decision in relief.

* * *

Catcher Harry Bartkowiak also had five rbi's and scored two other runs on two singles and a walk. Hank Thomas rapped a single, double and homer for five runs, and Sanchez had two doubles and a single for five tallies.

Mike Howard homered for the losing unionmen.

M. G. also made it three in a row as Jack McCloud blanked Oakland's Pioneers on four hits. He struck out nine in upping his loop-leading mound mark to 5-0.

Dave McDonald had three singles, and four teammates had two hits each as M. G. pounded out 15 safeties.

Jim Ward's hard smash through Pass' third baseman broke a 0-0 tie for Booth, and Tom Booth followed with a sacrifice fly to enable Dan Fife to best Art Greene in a sparkling duel.

Jim Jenks held Talbott to one hit over the final four frames and cracked a two-run circuit clout in C. I. O.'s win.

Art Jackson, who left the Pass team due to lack of playing time earlier this season, pitched Talbott past the excavators Saturday. Lincho Chavez's single snapped a 1-1 tie in the final inning and Bill Papaps plated an insurance run with a single.

Hurler Sparkles With No-Hitter

A 6-1 no-hit triumph by Bill Rollo Saturday kept Arnold Drugs in the city junior baseball Class D race with a 3-2 mark.

* * *

Cranbrook moved into a second-place tie with a 3-1 log after its 7-3 victory in another makeup contest. A previously unreported Friday tilt found the Pontiac Police Officers' entry remaining unbeaten with an 8-5 conquest of Bloomfield Hills.

Rollo whiffed eight and retired the final 14 hitters in order.

Local Fights Teamster Pact

August Hearing Set on New Jersey Suit

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A U.S. district judge has set Aug. 3 as the date to hear the suit of a Teamster local union challenging nationwide contracts pending between the International Brothehrhood of Teamsters and the trucking industry.

The suit, for a declaratory judgment, has been filed by Teamster Local 478, representing trucks in two New Jersey counties.

* * *

The local, long opposed to either national or regional New Jersey - New York contract agreements, raises 24 points in the suit before U.S. District Judge Robert Shaw.

It claims officers of the local have not been authorized by the membership to empower either the International union or the Eastern Conference of Teamsters to negotiate agreements. Therefore, they contend, the agreements violate local union members' rights under the Taft-Hartley Law.

NON PARTICIPANT

The local also says that it was not a participant in recent contract negotiations in Chicago where the national contract terms were reached.

The shop stewards of Local 478 also have an unfair labor practice complaint against the local's officers filed with the National Labor Relations Board. The complaint also is filed against the International and the industry.

The stewards are seeking to restrain their officers from signing the national agreement and to restrain the International union from imposing its terms on Local 478.

This action by the stewards leaves the local open to seizure by the International by appointing a trustee who could override the local's refusal to carry out the dictates of the parent union.

The federal court suit filed by the officers could thwart such seizure

In Holiday Pattern

Car Symbol of Changes

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — The changing character of America will be symbolized Tuesday by the automobile, in which many citizens will celebrate Independence Day with a trip to the country, the shore or —as we are reminded — to eternity.

CUNNIFF

It is a good bet that the 56.2 million Americans who own one or more cars will use them Tuesday. Almost certainly millions of these will spend more time driving than in any other activity.

* * *

The contrast is vivid between this modern pastime and the once secure and insular holiday of ice cream, ball games, band concerts and fireworks after dusk.

In less mobile days the celebration of the Fourth was a town affair. The population stirred toward the center of town and a day's activities among familiar faces.

POPULATION DISPURSES

The population now disperses by auto. It decentralizes throughout the countryside to mix with strangers.

In three hours Tuesday millions of Americans will travel as much as 200 miles by car, a trip that took days or weeks back in 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia.

* * *

If it were just an average day this travel would total more than 2.5 billion miles, based on last year's record of 932 billion miles traversed by 78.3 million cars, 15.5 million trucks and 350,000 buses.

There is a very great likelihood, in fact, that millions of Americans will spend more time Tuesday in their vehicles than they will before their television sets or sleeping, swimming, attending church, concerts, athletic events.

That means that there is a good chance also that many people will spend a lot more time coming and going to their destination than at their destination.

But the auto does not mean just transportation. It has also been a catalyst that has produced thousands of other commercial activities.

* * *

When not actually in motion, the motorist Tuesday may eat in a roadside restaurant entirely dependent on automobile traffic or lounge in a roadside motel that owes its invention and existence to cars and roads.

The number of these businesses oriented to movement is increasing.

IMPORTANCE OF AUTO

The Automobile Manufacturers Association estimates that 800,000 enterprises now deal with the auto, and that some 13 million people earn their living from it, a figure that amounts to one-fifth of the civilian work force.

Among the chief beneficiaries are businesses in transportation, construction, steel, tourism and fuels, 75 billion gallons of which were consumed by trucks, cars and buses last year.

* * *

Because of their association with the auto, many corporations today are among the most solid blue chips for investment of money. Others, such as restaurant and motel chains, are listed as growth industries.

This is not to say that the automotive vehicle has been all good. It hasn't. It has polluted the air, defiled the landscape, clogged streets, killed citizens and preempted much-needed space in the center of cities.

OUR HERITAGE

But above all it has changed American people and their habits. And Tuesday as on few other days of the year, this will be obvious. This is our heritage.

State Aviatrix Aims at Hawaii

Honolulu Is Next Stop in 'Earhart Flight'

CANTON ISLAND (AP) —The Michigan housewife duplicating the around-the world flight of famed aviatrix Amelia Earhart today planned to leave Canton Island in the South Pacific on the 1,600-mile hop northwest to Honolulu.

Mrs. Ann Pellegreno of Saline, landed on the island Sunday, after dropping a floral wreath on the ocean near Howland Island, the spot where Miss Earhart is believed to have disappeared 30 years ago.

* * *

She reached Howland Island on the anniversary of Miss Earhart's disappearance—July 2, 1937.

Miss Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, were last heard from by radio. The message said they had 30 minutes of fuel left and were looking for Howland Island.

SPECULATION ON CRASH

No trace of the aircraft or the fliers has ever been found. But there was speculation that their Lockheed Model 10 Electra, identical to the plane flown by Mrs. Pellegreno, may have crashed in Japanese-held territory.

However, before leaving on her flight, Mrs. Pellegreno said she did not believe that Miss Earhart landed in the Marshall Islands, as concluded by some investigators.

* * *

"We believe that the route taken by Miss Earhart and her navigator could only have been to Howland," she said

"Our hope is to write a finish to a chapter of American aviation which has long been a subject of controversy."

Mrs. Pellegreno was accompanied on her flight by Air Force Col. William Payne, her copilot; mechanic Lee Keepke of Ypsilanti, who owns the plane and navigator William Polhemus of Ann Arbor. They took pictures of the island and a lighthouse named in honor of Miss Earhart, but did not land.

When they landed in Canton, they completed the 10,000-mile hop from Lea, New Guinea, longest single hop on the 28,000 mile flight.

1 of 2 Possible Rail Strikes Is Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of two threatened nationwide railroad strikes appears sidetracked by a presidential board.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George C. Higgins, head of the three-member panel named May 30 by President Johnson, announced Saturday a "final and binding settlement of all issues" in the dispute between 75 railroads and 19,000 railway conductors and brakemen.

* * *

Msgr. Higgins said both sides signed a memorandum of understanding laying the groundwork for a detailed agreement to be executed at a later date. Details of the settlement will be withheld until that time.

It was understood, however, that the agreement calls tentatively for a 6 per cent wage hike retroactive to last Sept. 2.

THREATENED WALKOUT

Still unsettled is the threatened walkout of six shopcraft unions in a wage dispute with railroads representing 95 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The shopcraft unions, although now free to strike after passage of a no strike-no walkout negotiation period invoked by Congress, have pledged to stay on the job pending congressional action on antistrike legislation proposed by President Johnson.

New Senate Ethics Code in '67 Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate likely will end its current session without a new code of ethics, says the vice chairman of the panel charged with drafting proposed standards of conduct.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said Sunday he doubts members of the Senate Ethics Committee will find much time to work on proposals when the Senate returns from a 10-day July 4 recess to face a sizable backlog of work.

* * *

Even if a code is completed and offered to the Senate, said Bennett, the subject is so highly controversial that there probably wouldn't be enough time to debate it.

He said the committee's work on proposals was sidetracked by its 14-month probe of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. The bipartisan committee recommended that Dodd be censured for financial misconduct—which he was after a nine-day debate.

POWELL CONTRAST

Bennett was asked about the contrast between the Senate's censure of Dodd and the House's refusal earlier to seat Adam Clayton Powell, the Harlem Democrat also accused of financial misconduct.

Bennett said the Senate's action left hanging over Dodd "the record that 92 of 97 voters decided that his actions brought dishonor and disrepute to the Senate."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "Due to a disability, my husband had to take an early retirement. Our home is debt-free, we have savings and insurance and our yearly income will be around $10,000. We have been buying a mutual fund on an installment plan, paying $50 a month. This has not been too wise an investment. Could you recommend two stocks to give us inflation protection in the years ahead?" G. C.

(A) Your mutual fund installment purchase probably involved a front-end load. This means that a large proportion of total sales commissions over the life of the plan was taken out of the first year's payments. With these costs out of the way, your investment should begin to pay off.

* * *

Almost any growth stock can be expected to gain sufficiently in earnings, dividends and price to protect you against inflation on a long term-basis. For practical purposes, I would prefer a premium for relatively fast growth. In this category I recommend Becton, Dickinson and Plough, Inc. These stocks have had a much better than average record in recent years.

(Q) "My husband and I have 50 shares of Danly Machine Specialties. We have heard nothing from them for over a year, although previously we received notices and dividends regularly. Where should I write for information about this company?" L. B.

(A) The name of your company was changed last October to Danly Machine Corporation but this wouldn't necessarily affect your status as a stockholder. The shares are traded in the unlisted market and are quoted around 20 bid. Dividends have been paid regularly since 1961 and the most recent payment was in June 1967. I advise you to write to the transfer agent, First National Bank, Chicago, for information about your failure to receive dividends.

TROOPER TRANSFER — Michigan State Police Trooper Darryl Rantanen of Pontiac has been transferred to the Gladstone post, police headquarters has announced.

Meredith Nears End of March

PICKENS, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith approached the last stop on his "march against fear" today with only 20 miles to go to Canton.

The 34-year-old Negro leader, plagued by an aching tendon in his ankle, walked about 16 miles Sunday before calling it quits for the day near Pickens.

* * *

He said he would end the journey at Canton, 25 miles short of the 175-mile hike to Jackson he originally had planned.

* * *

Last year at Canton, Meredith rejoined the first march he started. On that walk, he had gotten only a few miles into north Mississippi when he was wounded by an ambush shotgun blast near Hernando. He started marching this year from Hernando, 10 days ago.

STEADY RAIN

About 30 persons walked Sunday with Meredith, part of the time through a steady rain.

At stops along the way, while his companions chanted and sang "freedom" songs, Meredith commented: "You never saw me singing those songs, did you? And you watch, you never will."

* * *

He said the Negro cry "black power" is merely a slogan like the song "We Shall Overcome."

"Slogans depend on the frame of the mind of the people you want to affect," Meredith said. "There comes a point when you move beyond slogans."

4 ARRESTED

Authorities disclosed that they had arrested six persons who claimed to be affiliated with the American Nazi party, and four of them said they had planned to try to prevent the Meredith group from marching.

Sheriff W. Lee Meredith of DeSota County said Sunday that four were arrested in Hernando June 23 on disorderly conduct charges, and they made statements that they wanted to stop Meredith.

* * *

He said the Dallas, Tex., men, who had literature of the Nazi group in their car, pleaded guilty to the charges last Wednesday and were released.

The sheriff said he understood they were returning to Dallas. They were Alvis Gray, 28, Jerry Parker, 21, Richard Dickinson, 25, and Tommy Orem, 21.

Oxford police arrested the other two last Wednesday night at the request of the Mississippi highway patrol. A county attorney said he did not know their names nor the charges filed against them.

Half of 42 Miners Saved

MANILA (AP) — Emergency crews have rescued 21 miners trapped 4,300 feet underground by a tunnel collapse five days ago and still are trying to dig to another 21, a Philix Mining Corp. official said today.

There was no immediate word on the condition of the rescued miners.

* * *

Rain washed boulders and mud Wednesday into the tunnel of Pailex's remote gold and copper mine near the mountain resort of Baguio, about 97 miles north of Manila.

Seat Belt Use Reports Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Service today asked police across the nation to report whether seat belts were in use at the time of traffic accidents.

Dr. Richard E. Marland, chief of the service's injury control program, said he also asked law enforcement agencies to make such information available to news media.

* * *

"Broadcasting and publication of a statement on seat belt use in stories of auto accidents would show by example how seat belts save lives and reduce the severity of injuries," he said.

Marland said the Public Health Service also had contacted news media about the campaign. Newspapers cooperating in the project, he said, include the Denver Post, Rocky Mountain News, Indianapolis Star and Indianapolis News.

Glass Bottle, Jar Output on Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. glass bottle and jar manufacturers are outrunning the population.

Manufacturers in 1966 made the equivalent of 151 glass containers for every man, woman and child in the country, reports the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

That compared to 118 bottles and jars per person 10 years ago, an increase of 28 per cent. The U.S. population in the same period increased only about 16 per cent.

Distance Matters Little Now . . . . .

We conduct funerals at a distance, and serve many families whose residence is some miles away. We take the deceased to distance points for interment — or bring them from a far away place, where their passing may have occured.

Because families now live a little farther apart, distance is a part of every service. Call the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home, regardless of where the end of life has come.
