Report Nine Survivors

From Our News Wires

MOAB, Utah—A rescue worker today reported he made voice contact with nine of 25 men trapped 3,000 feet below the earth's surface by a fiery explosion at a potash mine.

The worker, one of a dozen rescuers who braved deadly gases and 130-degree heat in search of the trapped men, said he made the voice contact while exploring debris deep in the mine.

He said the men were behind boulders. He asked how many

Showers Due With Mercury Below Normal

Occasional showers or a few undershowers will drop in on the Pontiac area tonight and tomorrow, the weatherman said.

Temperatures through Sunday are expected to average about 4 degrees below the normal high of 78 and normal low of 60. The low will be near 62 tonight.

Light rain, not enough to measure, sprinkled downtown Pontiac during the night.

The low recording in downtown area prior to 8 a.m. was 63. At 2 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 69.

Throng Heads for Shrine of Emancipator

Civil Rights Protest One of Most Orderly on National Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Softly chanting freedom songs, a multitude of Negroes and white sympathizers estimated at more than 100,000 moved on Abraham Lincoln's shrine today in a great civil rights march.

A small army of police, National Guardsmen and police reservists had little to do because—up to noon EDT (11 a.m. Pontiac time) at least—the massive gathering was one of the most orderly on record.

At 11:20 a.m., Police Chief Robert V. Murray estimated the turnout at 100,000 but at that time buses were still rolling in and throngs were still walking toward the Washington Monument grounds, staging area for the big parade.

The police estimate went to 110,000 at noon.

The march of less than a mile, from the monument to the Lincoln Memorial, actually got under way in impromptu fashion nearly half a hour before the 11:30 scheduled time.

Slowly, the crowd with a forest of signs started along broad, Constitution Avenue. There were Negro women in bright straw hats, Negro men in everything from dark business suits to flowered sport shirts, white clergymen carrying prayer books, union members holding aloft such placards as:

"Before We'll Be a Slave, We'll Be Buried in Our Grave."

Is This Justice?

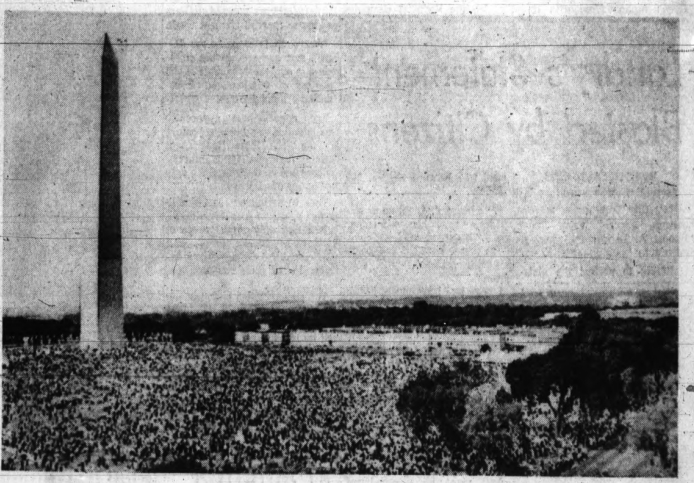

Some 80,000 wondering citizens are puzzled by the legal setup in the Stierer case. The City Commission presents charges against the city manager, listens to his own presentation of the evidence—AND THEN RENDERS THE VERDICT.

How come?

A lawyer doesn't try a case and then don judicial robes and solemnly announce a decision. Apparently the charter provides for this procedure, and so it appears as though we need still another charter amendment when this mess is over.

Would you like to be sued by a group which took you into court, submitted its own testimony, let you present your case and then rendered the decision? The fault doesn't rest with the commissioners. They didn't write the charter, but it appears as though they're legally entitled to play with a stacked deck.

The United States? That sounds like Russia. We mean Russia at her worst.

Mike Lowered in Bova Search

SHEPPTON, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers drilled through 306 feet of earth, rock and coal today to the chamber where they believe Louis Bova, 42, has been trapped since Aug. 13. They lowered a microphone and camera to detect possible signs of life.

The super-sensitive mike, capable of picking up the slightest breath or heartbeat, was lowered by rope down a 12½-inch wide shaft, which was completed shortly after 1 a.m. (Pontiac time). A camera also was lowered.

Lt. Richard Anderson, a U.S. Navy survival expert, listened at the surface through specially designed earphones for any trace of Bova.

All drilling stopped and the crowd of onlookers was pushed back to cut down the noise. Rescuers said the mike would be "left down there" until it was definitely established whether there was a trace of life. They said this could "take hours."

Commission Raises Rate on Sewage

Sewage treatment rates were hiked for the first time in more than a decade last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

The new rates — effective Sept. 1—will pay for operation and maintenance of the city's new sewage treatment plant, which was built to comply with an order of the state Water Resources Commission.

David S. Teel, assistant city manager, said the last rate increase was made in 1952. He estimated the new rates would net the city $180,000 annually.

INDUSTRIES PAY

The greatest share of the increase will be paid by local industries, Teel said.

He explained, for example, that one industry which has paid a quarterly minimum charge of $252 on its four meters would now pay $1,014 quarterly.

In addition, Teel said there is an added charge where water consumption exceeds the applicable amount. This is rated at 6½ cents per 100 cubic feet of water.

The current quarterly minimum charge for sewage disposal is $235. This includes most home owners, he said. Under the new rate, this charge will jump to $255.

Teel said the rate increase would amount to about 30 cents quarterly on residential meters.

The city receives $334,819 annually for sewage disposal. This will jump to $514,200 with the new rates. He said this would offset the increased operating costs of Pontiac's two sewage treatment plants.

Teel added that the city had 16,772 domestic meters which are charged the minimum rate.

House Rushing Rail Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the strike deadline only 12 hours away, the House went to work today on a Senate-approved resolution that would force arbitration to avert a nationwide railroad walkout.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told reporters he was confident the House would win the race with the clock, and get the resolution to President Kennedy for signing into law well in advance of the 12:01 a.m. deadline.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., opened house debate on the measure by saying he doesn't like it.

Smith, chairman of the Rules Committee, set what is likely to be the tone for the afternoon's debate in these words: "I don't think anybody is going to like the resolution. However, we are confronted by a grave emergency."

"None of us like the idea that Congress should be used as a

"We are here today because we want the Congress of the United States to hear from us — in person — what many of us have told our public officials back home. 'We want freedom!'"

"This nation is still a place of cheap political leaders who build their careers on immoral compromises and ally themselves with open forms of political, economic and social exploitation," said Lewis, and he added:

"What political leader here can stand up and say 'My party is the party of principles? The party of Kennedy is also the party of Eastland. The party of Javits is also the party of Goldwater. Where is our party?'"

There was no immediate word as to the fate of the other 16.

The rescue worker's name was not immediately available.

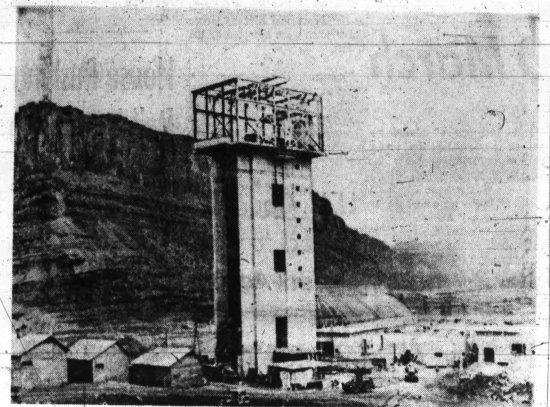

All of the trapped men were construction workers. They were in the mine yesterday afternoon when an explosion rocked the multimillion-dollar potash facility situated in a ruggedly beautiful valley in the remote southeast corner of the state known as the Utah Badlands.

Rescue teams encountered carbon monoxide fumes as they went into the charred shaft, but they said air pockets may have been formed in the mine, permitting survivors of the explosion to breathe.

2,300 Voters Sign

Jaycees Gain Momentum

Efforts by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce Charter Amendment Committee gathered momentum this week—10 days after their petition drive began.

The Jaycees reported a total of 2,300 signatures to date. A spokesman said 800 petitions were still being circulated.

The actual number of signatures secured so far is in doubt, Jaycees added, because completed petitions have just begun to trickle in to charter amendment headquarters, 510 Community National Bank Building.

A meeting was planned for tonight to map a final drive for 7,500 to 8,000 total signatures by mid-September.

A door-to-door campaign appeared likely, although a Jaycees spokesman said this was only one of the methods proposed.

The charter amendment committee made a plea for additional volunteers to circulate petitions, but at the same time asked that completed petitions be returned to the group's Bank Building office.

The petitions request that a special election be held, at which the public can vote on a charter amendment proposed by Jaycees to change the method of electing city commissioners.

The proposed method would retain nomination by district, but allow each elector to vote for seven candidates, one from each district, in the general election.

Presently, electors can vote for only one candidate from their own district.

Bad Information—Diem

Viet Calls U.S. Unjust

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime charged today the U.S. State Department has shown "a profound" unjust doubt in the government of (South) Viet Nam, based on totally erroneous information.

A government note referred to a State Department declaration of Aug. 21 which declared methods used by Vietnamese security forces against Buddhists early on the morning of Aug. 21. Pagodas throughout the nation were sacked, and thousands of Buddhist monks and nuns were beaten, shot or arrested.

"The government of Viet Nam reaffirms its determination to continue its policy of conciliation toward the Buddhists," the latest note said, "but it is also resolved to unmask all political saboteurs hiding under various disguises."

The note described monks who had led the Buddhist campaign for "religious freedom and social justice" as political saboteurs bent on subversion, including stockpiling of arms and printing machinery for carrying on clandestine propaganda.

The State Department declaration was called "prejudicial to the honor and prestige of Viet Nam, which has never broken its word to whomever it made promises."

The note followed up a declaration by the joint military command in Saigon, broadcast by the official Viet Nam press, that high military officers persuaded Diem to impose martial law last week.

Army chiefs proposed the decree and are seeing that it is carried out, the broadcast said, quoting a communique from military headquarters.

The communique apparently was intended to rebut a statement by the U.S. State Department Monday that Viet Nam's military leaders had no warning of the plan to impose martial law.

The communique specifically denied accounts it said had maintained that only small groups of Vietnamese special forces had carried out the decree without the knowledge of their commanders.

The United States had absolved the military from responsibility for the crackdown on Buddhists and by implication blamed President Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, head of security police.

Landry's Statement Blasted by Citizens

By DICK SAUNDERS

Several persons attending last night's City Commission meeting became angered when Mayor Robert A. Landry told an audience to "put up or shut up."

Rising to protest the statement, Edward Bigger, 248 W. Yale.

"I've heard that 'put up or shut up' before down here and I don't like it," Bigger shouted.

The crowd rumbled and another voice asserted, "We don't either."

Landry had been engaged in an argument with Edward C. Sourial, 807 Pensacola. Landry made his statement in connection with citizens making "insinuations" about commissioners at commission meetings.

Sourial became involved in an argument with City Commissioner Milton R. Henry last week and during the course of the debate made statements about Henry and "the rackets."

"Last night he returned and, when it came time for comment from the audience, he asked Landry, 'Why can't a citizen come down here and express himself without being interrupted by the unelected mayor of Pontiac?'"

He said he was referring to Henry, who was absent from last night's meeting.

Landry urged Sourial to "choose your words more carefully if you come in here and say I know about rackets more than anyone else, I'd jump down your throat about 15 feet."

In answer to Sourial's statements Landry said, "Prove it! Prove it! Put up or shut up!"

John Ardelan of 924 Spence rose and said, "I was down here last January with a group complaining about a proposed shopping center in my neighborhood."

"When our spokesman got up to speak, Henry practically told him to sit down and shut up," Ardelan said.

"Defending the commission, Charles Nassstrom of 502 E. Mansfield, said, 'I was down here last week. Mr. Sourial didn't make a preface his statement with insinuation and innuendo.'"

State law prohibits motor boats within 100 feet of a dock of swimming area unless they are traveling 5 miles per hour or less.

Maid Held in Attempt to Kill Actor

By VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A former maid of actor George Montgomery and his divorced wife, singer Dinah Shore, tried to shoot him Tuesday because she was in love with him, police said.

A bullet missed Montgomery by inches as he wrestled a pistol from her, officers said.

The woman, Ruth Wenzel, 37, was booked on suspicion of assault, with intent to commit murder.

Police said they found a note in the woman's purse.

"I am planning to kill George Montgomery and then myself, of course," it said.

"No one loves him as much as I do."

STUPID GIRLS
The note added that she didn't want him going out with "those stupid girls."

Police Sgt. Joe Barton said Miss Wenzel worked for Montgomery and Miss Shore for eight months several years ago.

Barton said Miss Wenzel apparently broke into the actor's home Sunday and waited for him until his return from New York.

Montgomery arrived at his home in suburban Van Nuys with an airline stewardess, Jo Ponce, 25, police said.

Pontiac was "recently dealt a financial setback when the State Tax Commission granted General Motors Corp. a $27.9-million reduction in assessed valuation in Pontiac."

For 1964, the council is requesting that wages be brought up to the average of four cities used in a comparison survey made in 1960.

At that time, city employees were placed at an average of these communities (Detroit, Highland Park, Dearborn and Hamtramck), but for the past three years only token raises have been granted, according to Fritz.

"Consequently, we find ourselves in a worse position than at the time of the survey," said Fritz.

The survey recommended that the salary schedule be brought up to date annually, Fritz said. "This hasn't been done and each year we have fallen behind."

City Workers Plan to Bargain

Council Seeks Raise for Pontiac Employees

The Pontiac City Employees Joint Council has announced it is ready to begin 1964 wage and fringe benefit negotiations with the City Commission.

No starting date for the hearings has been scheduled according to Gerald Fritz, secretary-treasurer of the council which represents about 850 municipal workers.

The organization comprises members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 100, AFL-CIO; the Pontiac Firefighters Association; and the Pontiac Police Officers Association.

PRESENCE DEMANDS
"We realize that this is a bad time to start negotiations," said Fritz, a firefighter, "but we have committed ourselves to members that we would start early this year."

He said the council hopes to have negotiations completed before the first of the year.

"The picture's not bright," said Fritz. "The city is in financial distress and we don't want to add to it. However, we do have obligations to our families."

"No U.S. Dough to Help Jim Crow."

"In Freedom We Must Live."

GIANT DEMAND
The demonstration was a giant demand that racial discrimination be abolished, root and branch throughout America.

Just about everybody, Negro and white, was polite, and evidently intent on proving false some advance predictions, that there might be an explosion of disorder.

The terrifically detailed police planning—and the crowd's cooperation—were sights to behold as they worked out in practice. For example, when a marcher passed out from some slight undignified ailment, the paraders neatly parted their ranks to let an ambulance get to the man as he lay on the grass near Constitution and 17th Street.

A few umbrellas sprouted in the crowd and groups of four and five sought protection beneath from the warm sun.

Despite the blaze of color from the signs, the attitude of the people seemed one of almost religious concentration as they massed immediately below the Lincoln Memorial steps.

Not all the marchers were sober, by any means. Someone started the yell "Jim Crow must go" at one point, and this was taken up for a time with the enthusiasm of a football crowd.

After a while, another section of marchers again generated enthusiasm by singing a song made popular by sit-in demonstrators and sung to the tune of a Protestant hymn, "I Shall Not Be Moved."

This also faded after a while and the crowd sang—this time more softly—"Glory, Glory, Hallelujah."

At first glance it would appear that there were almost as many signs as marchers, but actually it worked out to about one sign for every 15 marchers or so.

All over the grounds placards proclaimed in red and white: "We demand decent housing now. We demand an FEP (fair employment practices) law now."

The religious tone was reflected in signs which proclaimed "God of Justice, God of Power, Can America Deny Freedom in This Hour?"

Police reported that the District of Columbia General Hospital treated some unidentified participants in the demonstration for what was described as "usual illnesses." First aid tents around the area reported no unusual incidents or illnesses.

While the demonstration was being thronged, police inspector Alexander S. Douglass said, "It's like Sunday up above K Street, north of the demonstration area."

In a statement calling for ever greater efforts to achieve equal rights for all citizens, Kennedy said:

"These recent months, 100 years after the Emancipation Proclamation, have seen the decisive recognition by a major part of our society that all our citizens are entitled to full membership in the national community. The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

Recent developments, said Kennedy, "lay a solid foundation for the progress we must continue to make in the months and years to come."

TO MEET LEADERS
Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, will meet later today with leaders of the organizations sponsoring the march. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will also attend the White House meeting.

Outwardly, neither the chief executive nor the attorney general showed any particular concern about the demonstration, which President Kennedy has endorsed. Privately, however, both have been very much involved in advance planning aimed at insuring an orderly, nonviolent assembly.

Bloomfield Twp. Okays Noise Control Ordinance

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—An ordinance designed to control excessive noise has been passed by the Township Board.

Construction noises will be allowed from 7 a.m. - 6 p.m. However, a permit must be obtained from the township supervisor for work at other times.

Equipment being used for emergency work on water and sewer lines will be exempt.

Trustees authorized Supervisor Homer Case to purchase radar equipment for one township patrol car. Estimated cost for the initial radar installation is $1,000.

The board accepted the recommendation of the township planning commission to rezone a parcel of property at Roswell and Woodward from multiple - family to a business classification.

The rezoning will allow construction of a new store by Lewis Furniture Co. of Pontiac.

Leonard T. Lewis said today final plans have not been made for the Bloomfield Township location.

In other action, the assessment role for a $99,350 sanitary sewer project in Williamsburg subdivision was confirmed.

The water and sewer systems of the Bloomfield Hickory Grove Subdivision were accepted by the board.

Thomas H. Hewlett, whose resignation from the Birmingham Zoning Board of Appeals was accepted Monday by the City Commission, is a partner in the architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates.

It is not a legal firm as stated in yesterday's Pontiac Press.

Mrs. Donnell F. Anderson Service for Mrs. Donnell F. (Eva M.) Anderson, 88, of 1332 Maryland, Birmingham, will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Cremation will follow at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mrs. Anderson died Monday after a long illness. She was a practical nurse and a member of the Iron Mountain Lutheran Church.

A sister, Mrs. Raymond Peck of Birmingham, survives.

John H. Chambers Service for John H. Chambers, 84, of 725 Vaughn, Bloomfield Hills, will be at 1 p.m. Thursday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial following in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Chambers died yesterday. He was a retired printer from the Indianapolis Star and director of education for the International Typographical Union. He was also a member of Dayton, Ohio, Lodge No. 147, F.A.M.

Surviving are a daughter, Lois C. Valodin of Colorado Springs; a son, Robert W. of Bloomfield Hills, and a sister and four grandchildren.

to settle an individual dispute," he said.

He added that compulsory arbitration is unprecedented.

"I would think the railroad bill would pass, and pass with a reasonable degree of rapidity," McCormack told newsmen.

He said he was not sure whether the House would accept yesterday by the Senate, or make changes which would necessitate a compromise. But the effort was to send a bill quickly to President Kennedy.

White House officials said that if the House passes the legislation without change, a copy could be placed on the desk for signing within half an hour after House action.

A spokesman for the railroads said that as soon as the bill becomes law the railroads will act immediately to cancel proposed work rules changes which the unions have said will cause them to strike.

Notices of the work rules changes have already been posted to become effective just after midnight, but the rail spokesman said the carriers are standing by to cancel the notices.

A Senate Labor Committee specialist said enactment of the bill would mark the first time in his knowledge that Congress has ever set up procedure for compulsory arbitration.

The measure would force arbitration to settle the two big issues in the work rules dispute: The elimination of 32,000 firemen's jobs—and how many men are needed to run a train.

An announcement last night said Khrushchev and Tito had discussed the international Communist movement, with emphasis on "strengthening the unity" of the movement.

Communist China has split the movement with attacks on the Soviet Union and specifically on Khrushchev. Peking jumps Khrushchev and Tito as "running dogs of Western imperialism."

They probably will rally to set up a new Moscow-based international Communist movement, the observers said.

Communist China was seen as likely to summon its own conference of Communist parties and elect a rump "Stalinist" international. This would be devoted to ultrarevolutionary goals in contrast to the more moderate line laid down by the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia.

Negro Gains Assured—President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negro gains of 1963 will never be reversed, President Kennedy said today as thousands amassed here for an unprecedented civil rights march.

In a statement calling for ever greater efforts to achieve equal rights for all citizens, Kennedy said:

"These recent months, 100 years after the Emancipation Proclamation, have seen the decisive recognition by a major part of our society that all our citizens are entitled to full membership in the national community. The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

Recent developments, said Kennedy, "lay a solid foundation for the progress we must continue to make in the months and years to come."

TO MEET LEADERS
Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, will meet later today with leaders of the organizations sponsoring the march. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will also attend the White House meeting.

Outwardly, neither the chief executive nor the attorney general showed any particular concern about the demonstration, which President Kennedy has endorsed. Privately, however, both have been very much involved in advance planning aimed at insuring an orderly, nonviolent assembly.

Under K, Tito Plan

Reds to Take Sides

PULA, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Tito intend to call a summit conference of Communist parties to stand up and be counted for either Moscow or Peking in the ideological dispute, veteran diplomatic observers said today.

The observers said the two Communist leaders have worked out a joint policy for battling a "Red Chinese" bid for leadership of the Communist camp.

During Khrushchev's current 15-day visit to Yugoslavia, the Soviet premier and Tito have reached an understanding for a new "collaboration" between the two countries. Both have targets of other Chinese criticism.

Modern Man Started Numbers Game

(Editor's Note—The "numbers game" is the lengthening list of digits tacked on to the name of every American—is becoming an increasingly dominant factor in modern computerized culture. The following dispatch, the last of three, reports on the past and speculates on the future of the numbers game.)

By BARNEY SIEBERT
United Press International

Your grandfather couldn't have played the numbers game. The gradual replacement of human identity with numbers is a product of the mid-20th Century. In the 18th Century, birth registration was uncommon and a task for the churches in many areas. Death certification was not required.

There were no credit cards, Social Security numbers, or Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint files. Military serial numbers came into existence with World War I. It wasn't until the final decade of the 19th Century that auto licensing began.

Before that, many were suspicious of numbers. Puritan Oliver Cromwell said, "A few hoest men are better than numbers."

Abolitionist William Lloyd Garrison said, "The success of any great moral enterprise does not depend on numbers."

Belly Porteus, an 18th Century poet, said, "Princes were privileged to kill and numbers sanctified the crime." Samuel Johnson said, "Round numbers are always false." Round numbers were Smith said, "Nothing was so fallacious as facts, except figures."

But 20th Century men accepted the motto of 18th Century German mathematician Adam Riese: "Figures don't lie."

With the multiplicity of numbers, the gradual conversion of identity into a digit is causing many 20th Century scholars concern.

Semanticist S. I. Hayakawa of San Francisco State College says, "A man needs recognition of himself. He needs to be identified as a unique individual. He doesn't want to be known by a number and he will rebel against it and the system."

Sociologist Bruno Bettelheim of the University of Chicago says the numbers game "is a part of the general mechanization of the world in which we live. It is a symptom of the general depersonalization of society. We must take steps to preserve the dignity and identity of the individual."

FBI's Fingerprints Total in the Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At the start of the current fiscal year, the Federal Bureau of Investigation had 167,523,012 sets of fingerprints in its files.

However, the FBI explained that many of the fingerprints in the files are duplications, since the files include both criminal and civil files.

A man with a criminal record who has been military service, worked for a defense contractor and traveled abroad might have his fingerprints in the files four times.

The FBI receives about 22,000 sets of fingerprints daily.

Even in the prisons, where everyone has a number, there for all purposes.

Myrl Alexander, Southern Illinois University criminologist and former assistant director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, said the trend away from numbers began in the federal penal system about 25 years ago.

Numbers are still used in federal prisons, but only for record keeping, and prisoners are called by name, not number.

It is significant that the inherent dignity of a man's name need not be taken away from him merely because he enters prison," Alexander said.

But such isolated revolts show no sign of stemming the numerical avalanche elsewhere.

Robert Stein of Sperry-Rand Corp.'s Univac Division has predicted at Minneapolis, Minn., that eventually the Post Office Department will do away with the names of cities and states and use only names, addresses and ZIP codes.

The ultimate in any such system would be a single number for all purposes.

The Internal Revenue Service has given some thought to such a project, but has its doubts—for the time being.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. is already looking toward the day when its seven digit phone numbers and three digit area codes for long distance dialing "will eventually lead to standard codes all over the world."

At the opposite extreme are those who are attempting to figure ways of eliminating their numbers: such as the Chicago Public Relations man who advises would-be telephone callers he may be reached at BAZMINP.

Thief Put on Probation

Charles D. Scott, 41, of 109 Oakland, Milford, was placed on two years' probation yesterday by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams for his theft of a purse containing $5 from a car July 7. Scott pleaded guilty Aug. 5.

UPI to Produce TV Newsfilm

NEW YORK (UPI)—UPI's Press International announced today that effective Oct. 1 it will produce as well as syndicate its newsworthy services for television.

The announcement was made by Mervyn Thompson, president and general manager of United Press International, who said plans have now been completed for the inauguration on that date of UPI's own newsworthy production facilities for servicing its TV subscribers throughout the world.

For the past 12 years UPI's television newsfilm services have been produced in collaboration with Movietone News, which is discontinuing its activities in the domestic newsfilm field. The arrangement will terminate Oct. 1.

UPI newsfilm services are now seen on television stations in 45 countries. Subscribers in this country include more than 100 independent stations in addition to the American Broadcasting Co. network.

Vice President, Wife
Donate Lincoln Book

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson have donated Abraham Lincoln's first appointment book to the White House.

The entries in the book run from March 5-27, 1861 and were written by Lincoln's secretary, John G. Nicolay.

Petition Step Forward for City

The petitionary campaign to initiate amendment to the City Charter affecting election of commissioners is meeting with widespread interest and concrete results.

Steady progress in obtaining the legally-required 7,500 signatures is reported. The deadline for filing the petitions is Sept. 15.

The revision, sponsored by the Pontiac area Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been under long consideration.

The amendment sought, calculated to strengthen and broaden Pontiac's city government, would prescribe the nomination of city commissioners in primary elections solely by districts; but in the general election following, the panel of seven would be elected by citywide vote on the 14 previously nominated (two each from the seven districts).

Our commission-manager form of city government, when permitted to function unhampered, is a most effective instrument.

Under it, citizens of a municipality are analogous to the stockholders of a corporation. In both instances, the constituency elects its representatives—directors for a corporation, commissioners for a city.

But since the elected functionaries in neither case are, or are expected to be, active in the administration of the entity—industrial or civic—their role is to appoint those qualified for executive responsibility. These latter in turn select operating specialists and department heads.

There is one glaring weakness, however, in Pontiac's present system. A commissioner, restrictively elected by a district, is prone to view city affairs in the narrow light of his own district—often with deleterious effect on the good of the City as a whole.

It is this restrictive and undemocratic provision in our City Charter that should be eliminated.

The Press gives well-considered approval to the movement under way for the betterment of the City government and urges every qualified citizen not only to sign the petition presented but, if uncontacted, to take the initiative in getting his signature on what may well be termed the roll of honor.

Quiet Protests an Old, Old Story

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Today's civil rights march in Washington by perhaps 100,000 Negroes and whites—to protest racial injustices and to try to pressure Congress into passing a civil rights bill—has an ancient heritage.

From antiquity—by ones, twos, thousands, millions, in fiction, fact, literature, mythology and religion—people through disobedience and nonviolent resistance have asserted themselves against what they consider unjust treatment, laws, or edicts. Yet, the history of their protests is full of contradictions and ironies.

Erich Fromm looks upon the first act of disobedience by Adam and Eve, in eating from the forbidden tree of knowledge, as an "original sin" which, instead of corrupting man, "set him free to become fully human."

Four hundred years before Christ, Socrates defied the government of Athens by refusing to stop encouraging the youth to question the ideas of their elders. While it was wrong to disobey a superior, he said, he would obey the gods rather than the government. He was sentenced to death.

Then he refused to escape his death cell. To do that, he said, after he had been condemned, would injure the government.

ANTIGONE AND CREON

It was civil disobedience, but nonviolent, when Sophocles' Antigone defied King Creon's order not to bury her mother. He walked her in to die for that.

And Aeschylus' Prometheus, at terrible cost to himself, befriended mankind by stealing fire from the gods. For his Zeus chained him to a rock for the vultures to gnaw on.

In the New Testament's Sermon on the Mount, Jesus, who had driven the money changers from the temple, preached nonviolence with his admonition to turn the other cheek and walk two miles if anyone compelled you to walk one.

The ascetic Essenes, a sect of pre-Christian Jews, took an oath to injure no one. And after Christ thousands of Jews used nonviolent resistance against the Romans: So did the early Christian martyrs, although the Christians gradually moved from pacifism to the just war to the Crusades.

The Quakers, whom Merle Curti called the conscience of the 18th Century, were pacifists.

THOREAU'S EFFECT

Thoreau had an effect on Leo Tolstoy and, later, on Mohandas Gandhi. Tolstoy went to extremes in his view of nonviolence and civil disobedience.

He made no exception for the use of violence by a man to defend his country, his life, his family or even to save society from lunatics and criminals. Because he looked upon all governments as immoral, he advocated paying no taxes at all.

It was Gandhi who achieved the most sensational results in history with his policy of nonviolent resistance against the British to end their rule in India. Millions of Indians went along with him until they decided to get violent.

In the depression of 1894, Jacob S. Coxey, Ohio businessman, led an army of 400 unemployed to Washington to petition Congress to create jobs.

In 1932, Congress ignored the army of unemployed veterans of World War I who came here to petition for a bonus. Those that stayed were driven out by the regular Army.

Keep Your Eye On The Bouncing Ball ...

It May Be Followed By A Bouncing Boy!

David Lawrence Says:

Lincoln Held 'Extremist' Views

WASHINGTON — They stand before the shrine of Abraham Lincoln — before the impressive edifice which memorializes a great man, but do all those assembled this week before the massive statue of the country lawyer who became president of the United States know what he really said about the race problem?

Would the Negro leaders of today venture to quote what Lincoln actually said in his public speeches more than 100 years ago?

Is it generally recalled, for instance, that Lincoln didn't favor the social equality of Negroes and whites and frankly stated that he didn't believe this should be established by law or otherwise?

Also, would what Lincoln had to say about the legitimacy of "resisting" court decisions be approved today by the members of the American Bar Association who voted recently for a resolution condemning the effort of certain groups to correct by legal methods — rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States considered to be unjust and arbitrary?

Yet, it's all in a book published in 1958 by the Library of Congress, giving the stenographic records of speeches made by Abraham Lincoln in his famous debates with Stephen A. Douglas.

Lincoln denounced slavery, and then explained his position on the race problem generally, as he said:

"I have no purpose to introduce political and social equality between the white and the black races."

"I have never said anything to the contrary, but I hold that notwithstanding all this, there is no reason in the world why the Negro is not entitled to all the natural rights enumerated in the Declaration of Independence, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"I hold that he is as much entitled to these as the white man. I agree with Judge Douglas, he is not my equal in many respects — certainly not in color, perhaps not in moral or intellectual endowment."

"But in the right to eat the bread, without leave of anybody else, which his own hand earns, he is my equal and the equal of Judge Douglas, and the equal of every living man."

ANOTHER SPEECH

In another speech in 1858, Lincoln said:

"I will say then that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races — that I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes; nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality."

So, irrespective of the homage being paid to Abraham Lincoln this week for a particular purpose, there are plenty of quotations which, if uttered by anyone else today, would cause many whites and Negroes to denounce such a spokesman as a "racist" or "extremist."

Yet the fact is that many people who want to see the Negro given every opportunity to advance in the economic field and enjoy the political privileges and benefits of life probably share the historic views of Abraham Lincoln.

Russian Amity for West Aided by Mrs. Khrushchev

WASHINGTON — The feeling of amity for the West is spreading through the Khrushchev household.

Frances Diehl, one of the reasons why San Francisco is most hospitable city, landed in Moscow recently on a trip around the world.

Tourists took her in tow at the airport, as is the practice, and whisked her downtown to the Ukraine Hotel, a massive flea bag doggedly devoted to bad service.

Mrs. Diehl had served the Eisenhower Administration, at great personal expense incidentally, as a hostess to foreign VIP's visiting that area. Her hilltop home commanded a splendid view of Alcatraz.

To her (her home) came many world figures, including perhaps the shyest of them all, Nina Petrovna Khrushchev.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow showed magnificent restraint about even so much as a phone call to Mrs. Diehl, to see how she was getting along.

She embarked on the usual tourist rounds under Intourist guard and was looking forward to the day when American Express would spring her when one day the phone in her room rang and a voice said she had a visitor. Mrs. Diehl said she'd come down to the lobby.

Mrs. Khrushchev was waiting there, and hugged the startled American woman. She had heard Frances was in town, not through the embassy but through the Institute of Soviet-American Relations.

Orders began to fly about like velvet shrapnel. Frances was moved to the National Hotel, a comfortable and efficient relic of the Czarist days.

A car was put at her disposal. The Khrushchevs had her to dinner at the official residence on the Lezh Hills. Mrs. K took her to the ballet, and she sat in the royal box.

The embassy hurriedly arranged a luncheon for Frances, swore somewhat abashedly that nothing like this had ever happened before.

And off she went to Paris, with a lovely bon voyage present from Nina Petrovna under her arm, and a warm invitation to return.

'Ownership Rights Stolen Under Civil Rights Guise'

I was alarmed to learn that Michigan has a commission which has the authority to dictate to private property owners how and to whom they will be allowed to rent or sell their real estate. Do we now live in a totalitarian dictatorship controlled by mob rule?

Home owners have worked to make payments and have sacrificed to meet high taxes and insurance payments. This encroachment upon our right of individual ownership is being committed in the name of "civil rights."

I urge everyone to contact the State Legislature and object to this irresponsible rape of the principle of true civil rights. Petitions are available.

The Treaty

El Mundo
(San Juan, Puerto Rico)

The nuclear test ban treaty initiated in Moscow deserves an adequate and appreciative reception. It is the first solid step in many years to avoid a nuclear war.

The tendency toward skepticism is more easily understood when one remembers that the Soviet Union has broken practically all of its international treaties. However, all efforts to ward the avoidance of such a fearsome holocaust should be appreciated and supported. The United States initiated the pact in the belief that Russia is sincere.

This hope is based on realism, since the Soviet Union is fully aware of the nuclear power of the United States.

The Soviet Union is as much interested in avoiding its own destruction as the United States itself. There is nothing so foolish, but much to gain, in offering the Russians this opportunity to prove that they act in good faith. "Things are going well," the Soviet chief executive said.

"We wish they keep on going well," Secretary of State Dean Rusk replied.

If things start getting unsteady, then the world may well be lost.

The United States initiated this treaty determined to fulfill its provisions in all honesty. The Soviet Union must now decide if, for the first time, it should honor its word.

The United States knows that it must pay the price of eternal vigilance. There has been no surrender. We are fully aware of the risks taken. And this includes the possibility that Red China and the Soviet Union may march together against the peace of the world. But the United States cannot reject offhand the friendship offered by the Soviet Union.

Those who assume negative attitudes do not render the aid needed to avoid the destruction of the world. And should this horrible moment arrive, those who now give proof of their hope and their faith will be the best prepared.

With honor and faith we have initiated the nuclear test ban treaty. So help us God.

Tax Policy
The Tokyo News

The problem of tax reduction in the 1964 fiscal year is becoming a matter of concern to government and other quarters concerned. The Cabinet's Tax System Deliberation Council is scheduled to start a study of the issue in October. According to the finance ministry, fiscal 1964's economic growth rate is estimated at 10 to 11 per cent. In that event, the year's tax revenues will increase by 500,000 million yen against the current fiscal year's estimated increase of 150,000 million yen.

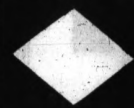

However, the government agencies' demand for appropriations for new projects is very strong. In order to ensure Japanese industry to bolster competitive power in world markets, it is essential that tax privileges be given industry.

At the same time, the government should consider income tax cuts in order to stabilize the people's livelihood.

Pontiac to Operate Rent-a-Cars

A two-year agreement between the city and the Evans Car Rental Co., Inc., of Detroit, for rent-a-car service at Pontiac Municipal Airport was approved last night by the City Commission.

The agreement, which had been deferred several times for further study, calls for the city to lease two or more cars from the auto rental company and in turn to rent these cars to the general public.

The city will receive 15 percent of the revenues from the rental of the cars.

DANCE PERMIT

In other action, the City Commission voted 4-1 to approve a dance permit for Thomas Reeling and Arthur Kollin of the Pink Poodle bar, 21 E. Pike.

Commissioner Charles H. Harmon objected to the dance permit, while Mayor Robert A. Landry and Commissioners Winford E. Bottom, Loy L. Ledford and Dick M. Kirby voted in favor of the motion.

The commission also approved the rezoning of a seven-acre parcel at the southeast corner of N. Saginaw and Montcalm from residential to commercial.

The property is to be the site of the Pontiac School District's proposed service building.

In related action, the commissioners passed a two-part resolution for the transfer of urban renewal lands with the school district for the latter's new administration building.

The city, according to the agreement, purchased the present 40 Patterson offices of the school system, then agreed to lease the facilities to the schools until the new building is available in the new Civic Center District.

The school board previously had okayed the agreement.

Another agreement for the disposition of urban renewal land east of the public safety building on E. Pike to the Pontiac Municipal Employees Credit Union also received commission approval.

The low bid of the Pontiac Towing Service, 804 N. East Blvd., was accepted by the City Commission, setting up a towing service for city vehicles.

The local firm entered a bid of 75 cents per tow, plus 25 cents per mile. The city attorney was authorized to prepare a contract.

The commission approved an agreement with Kathryn and Jack Prasil for the removal of a city-owned gas station at Oakland and Lafayette.

LOW BID

The Prasils made a low bid of $327 to remove the former gas station building.

The City Commission accepted engineer's estimates for combined sewer and related work on Sheffield from Carlisle to Hollywood and on the north side of Walton from West of the railroad track to 825 feet east.

The assessed cost of the first project was estimated at $4,913, the city's share at $4,713, sewer stubs at $2,890, and the total cost was put at $12,227. The cost for the 48-foot lot was estimated at $120.

Total cost of the Walton project was estimated at $11,563 with the assessed cost to run $2,861, while the city's share was expected to be $8,711. Cost for 48-foot lot was $120.

Engineer's estimate for 180-foot sanitary sewer and related work on the northwest side of Montcalm from west lot 282, Baldwin Dixie Hills subdivision, to east line lot 289 was also accepted.

Assessed cost was put at $480, city's share expected to run at $90.

Estimates for reconstruction of curb, gutter, grade, gravel and two inch asphaltic concrete resurfacing and related work were accepted by the City Commission for Ironquills from Voorhees to Menominee.

The assessed cost was estimated at $12,881, while the city's share was put at $26,751 and the total cost at $39,632. Cost for 50-foot lot was $200.

Engineer's estimate for a water main in Grayton from Crestwood to Astorwood and in Astorwood from Crestwood to 300 feet west of Grayton was also accepted.

The city's share was set at $4,517, while the assessed cost will run $2,083 and the total cost $6,600.

Kirk Douglas in Hospital With Respiratory Illness

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Kirk Douglas was reported in good condition today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where he is being treated for what the hospital called a low grade respiratory infection.

Douglas, 46, entered the hospital Sunday. He will be released today or Thursday, after completion of tests, a hospital spokesman said.

Mayor to Join Neighborhood Discussion

Mayor Robert A. Landry will attend a neighborhood meeting tonight at the home of George W. Thompson, 373 Going, for a discussion of human relations and neighborhood cooperation.

The mayor said he understood about 20 families for the neighborhood were deeply interested in human relations and working together to clean up their neighborhood.

He said the meeting would be hosted by Thompson and would include residents from the area nearby.

'Open Records Are Needed'

Farnum Bats Right of People to Know

LANSING (AP) — Need for a fourth branch of government — protecting the people's right to know — was voiced yesterday by Auditor General Billie Farnum.

Farnum testified before a joint legislative subcommittee studying methods of implementing the new constitution, under which the auditor general's post becomes appointive rather than elective.

"We need a central agency where open records will be maintained," said Farnum, contending that integrity in government requires an annual audit of the financial records at all levels.

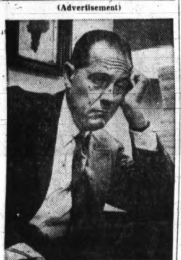

"There ought to be a fourth branch of government — separate from the executive, legislative and judicial branches — and concerned with the people's right to know," he declared.

Under the new constitution, the legislatively appointed auditor general will be restricted to conducting fiscal and performance post audits of state government agencies only.

Farnum proposed that other present functions of the auditor general's office could be turned over to a state examiner, following a pattern adopted by other states.

This office could handle spot check audits, provide information on new statutes and perform other tasks of liaison with local government units, such as townships and school districts.

Farnum said his office has placed a top priority on a project to institute a uniform system of accounting in Michigan's 83 counties.

The Great Escape

Pot of Nostalgic Memories Boyles Over

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Let's take a look back along the way.

When the world is too much with us, the best escape is to recall a time when things were different.

Your memory is still hitting on all eight cylinders if you can remember when —

Movie actresses were expected to have class and stature like Clara Kimball Young.

Shirley Temple's dimples had been seen by more people than the Grand Canyon.

People said Enrico Caruso had a voice so powerful that when he sang in a small room it would break the windows.

It was part of the act in a Chinese restaurant for the waiters to pretend they couldn't understand English well. That kind of lent the place a shuddery sense of mystery.

Tim-Tin earned more take-home pay than Lassie.

The greatest test of a middle-aged man's athletic ability was having to climb into the upper berth of a Pullman.

No husband had to bother about keeping his wife's cigarettes lit — as good women didn't smoke in public.

The worm they dropped into the jar at temperance meetings, to show the paralyzing effects of alcohol was always named Oscar.

BOYLE

No woman needed more than $5 to go to the grocery store, because who could carry home that much worth of groceries?

Sick people slept with the windows shut fast — to keep out the poisonous night vapors.

IMPROVE POLITICS
The greatest argument in favor of granting women the right to vote was that they would improve the moral tone of politics.

The common man was in favor of high income taxes because he felt only the rich would ever have to pay them.

The people in comic strips were always slipping on banana peels, less they were going on a long and being hit by flying bricks — but trip.

they never seemed to have any emotional problems.

It cost less to spend a full year in college than it now takes to send a small, squirmy child to camp for a month in the summer.

Many high school seniors could write in Latin and essay containing fewer misspelled words than one written in English by a modern student today.

MILK-WHITE COMPLEXIONS
If a girl had a tan you knew she was from the country. City girls prided themselves on their milk-white complexions.

People in most small towns never locked the front door unless they were going on a long and drafty policy.

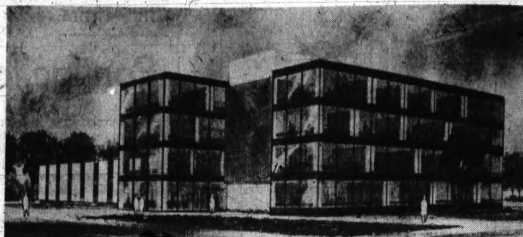

You could impress the average gathering by whipping out a snapshot of yourself taken on top of Pike's Peak. That let them know you were someone who'd really been around.

You didn't have to land on the moon to become a hero. All you had to do was stop a runaway horse single-handed.

Remember?

State Medics to Meet

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The Michigan State Medical Society will hold its 98th annual convention here Sept. 22-27 to review medical progress the past year and draft policy.

NEW AUTO CENTER — Plans for the construction of a new administration center for the Oldsmobile Division were announced last week in Lansing. The building will be a five-level H-shaped structure with a four-level rectangular-shaped building attached by two glass-enclosed concourses. Construction of the 209,000-square-foot building is scheduled for this fall in Lansing, with completion set for late next year.

Men's Hats to Show Originality

This luxury sport hat promises to be the conversation piece of the season in genuine Python snakeskin. The offbeat styling is created by Thomas Begg, a division of Hat Corp. of America.

Leather goes to his head in the season's important new look in men's clothing. This suede leather hat by Dobbs has just the touch of casual good looks for every easy ensemble from blazer to tweeds. The self-leather band and all-over stitched brim and tailored details add up to a truly smart hat.

Fashion forerunner, original idea, daring innovation—call it what you will, it spells excitement in men's hat styles for the coming season.

Thomas Begg and Dobbs are two fine examples of this new feeling in men's designs. The unusual and sometimes offbeat creations have been attributed to what is termed a basic need by the American male to think, act and dress as an individual.

The hats shown are but three examples of the originality and clean design for men in the coming months. "Python" by Begg is a distinct and unusual hat of genuine snakeskin.

"20-Below" is a cold-weather topping, also by Begg. Clearly casual, the hat just barely pokes fun at some of the more elaborate fur headpieces around these days.

Leather comes into its own this season in jackets, shoes and now hats. Casual good looks are evident in the tailored design; and, as an added attraction, they couldn't be more practical.

Who says that men's fashions never change? Take a good look at these hats and you'll see why they arouse interest wherever they're seen.

Group Plans Fall Meeting

The Waterford Township Fellowship of Churchwomen will have its fall business meeting Sept. 6. The session will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Williams Lake Church of the Nazarene.

A nursery will be provided. The meeting is open to all women of the township.

Sorority Year Ends With Family Picnic

To close their sorority year, members of Beta Theta Phi, Alpha chapter, had a family picnic Sunday. Mrs. Emil Majahn was hostess at her Auburn Heights home.

The fall session will start Sept. 17 with a cooperative dinner meeting at the Hatchery Road home of Mrs. U. C. Meeker.

A fashion mark of the season is the little roll collar, this one on a suit by Balmain. The fabric is a thick yet lightweight tweed of Orlon acrylic and mohair in pink, mauve and white. The short jacket, with slightly nipped-in waist, continues as a top choice.

13-Year-Old Writes:

'Mother Picks on Me'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am 13 years old and I have a problem.

I don't get along with my mother. Everything I do she finds fault with. Did your mother ever say to you, "Go to bed—you're sickening?" Well, my mother does.

ABBY

I have an older brother, 17, who gets to do anything he wants. My mother always favors him.

My father works and is hardly ever home, but when he is, he sides with my mother. I am not lazy. I help around the house, but what do I get?

Yelled at, picked on, and criticized. Can you help me?

DISCOURAGED

DEAR DISCOURAGED: If I were asked to select the most trying age (and perhaps the "unluckiest") it would be 13.

I'll bet when your brother was 13, he too, felt unappreciated, picked on and discouraged.

At 13 one's emotions are tender, and one's feelings are easily hurt. Toughen up a bit, and try a little harder to please.

And before you know it, you'll be 14!

DEAR ABBY: How can otherwise good neighbors lose all consideration for their neighbors by keeping a noisy dog?

The idea that children must grow up with a pet to teach them "kindness and consideration" is so much hogwash, since they are learning to be inconsiderate of others by imposing a nuisance on their neighbors.

On a stifling summer night one cannot even open his windows because the yelping of dogs is so nerve-shattering.

An afternoon nap is out of the question for youngsters or older folks.

When the dog owners go away for the evening and leave the dog behind, he barks incessantly because he's "lonesome"—but the barking family doesn't realize this, and the neighbors keep quiet because they don't want to cause trouble.

And did you ever notice that dog owners put their doghouses as far away from their own homes as possible, but usually right under a neighbor's bedroom window? I don't hate dogs, but I think people who can't train their dogs to be quiet should take their dogs and move to the country.

CITY DWELLER

DEAR ABBY: I have been married only two years and recently a problem has come up that has really put an end to our honeymoon.

My husband and I agreed that 5:30 would be the best time to eat our dinner. Shortly before dinner time,

Shower Is Held to Honor Wife of Serviceman

Mrs. Sam Dovonno of Pontiac Road and Mrs. Clayton I. Cocking were cohostesses at a recent proxy nursery shower honoring Mrs. Douglas O. Lake of London, England.

Joining some 16 guests were Mrs. Beulah E. Lake and Linda, also of Pontiac Road, mother and sister of Airman Lake. Mrs. Robert Hunt and daughter Debbie arrived from Grand Blanc.

While on The Pontiac Press European tour last year, Mrs. Dovonno spent a few hours with Airman Lake and his bride, the former Sandra Lee Moreshead of Kingston-on-Thames.

The couple will return to the United States in the fall of 1964.

Couple Hosts Arab Student

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund L. Windeler of Hatchery Road are hosts to Hamid Y. Al-Gharabally from Kuwait, one of the Arabian states that just recently gained independence.

He will be staying at their home through Sept. 2 before beginning school this fall at the University of Michigan English Language Institute.

Mr. Al-Gharabally is one of 33 foreign students spending the summer in American homes before beginning fall studies.

After completing the English Language course, he will enter the U. of M. College of Engineering which the Windelers son and daughter, Donald and Candace, are now attending. He will spend a total of five years in this country.

Stencilled Kidskin

Zany but true. Kidskin is being stencilled to resemble everything from dalmation to a cross between a giraffe and zebra.

he disappears and we wind up fighting over cold food.

I've hollered myself hoarse, but he's visiting in the home of a neighbor somewhere and can't hear me.

COLD FISH, CHICKEN AND ROAST

DEAR COLD: You could hire bloodhounds, but that would run into money. Or chain him to the table at 5:15, but he'd be too angry to eat.

Your best solution is to leave everything in the oven until you see the whites of your husband's eyes.

(P.S. The food might be dried out and overcooked, but it will never be cold.)

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland V. Hutchinson marked a significant event in their lives last Sunday. It was their 50th wedding anniversary; and their two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Hutchinson of Fullerton, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson of Birmingham had planned a dinner in their honor at Devon Gables for the family and a few friends.

"Mr. Hutchinson's sister, Dr. Jessie Hutchinson from Geneva, Ohio, Mrs. Hutchinson's sisters, Mrs. Frank Phillips of Ironton, Ohio, and Maude Wyatt of Lake Worth, Fla., as well as nieces and nephews Prof. and Mrs. Coleman Arnold of Georgetown, Ky. and Mr. and Mrs. William Boggs from Laussing, all came to partake in the celebration.

The Edward R. Hutchinsons and their children, Janet and Roland, are spending a few weeks with the senior Hutchinsons.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kiefer are expecting Mrs. Kiefer's two sisters, Laura and Maude Leonard to spend a week with them.

Mrs. M. M. Burgess of Country Club Drive has as her house guests Mr. and Mrs. George Walker from Delray Beach, Fla. The Walkers were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shields in Rochester last Sunday. Mrs. Burgess honored them at a dinner party in her home Monday, and the George Trumbulls entertained Tuesday evening in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Judd of North Gleanery Road will be spending the Labor Day weekend at Hidden Valley. Mrs. Judd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Florine, have been visiting them for a week and left on Tuesday for their home in Wakefield, Neb.

Mrs. Willard L. Adams of Birmingham announced marriage of her daughter Ruth Taylor to Robert Phillip Moody on Aug. 21.

Mr. Moody is the son of Mrs. Freida Whitlock Moody of Birmingham and Earl L. Moody of Dearborn.

The ceremony took place in the home of the bride's mother.

Prized Gift Disappears at Tea Party

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: Several days ago I entertained 10 women at a tea party in my home. After they left, I noticed that my cigarette case was missing.

It was a gold case given to me by my husband on our 10th wedding anniversary. I searched for it but could not find it.

MAY I CALL?

I have come to the conclusion that one of my guests by mistake (at least I hope it was not deliberate) picked it up and put it in her purse. I would like to know if it would be proper to call each guest and ask if she took it by mistake, or might this make them feel as though I were accusing them of being dishonest?

Will you please tell me what, if anything, I can do about this? I really treasured this case and feel most distressed about its loss.

A: Telephone each of your guests and say something like this, "I've lost my cigarette case and have looked everywhere for it. My only hope now is that one of you may possibly have taken it home by mistake."

"Would you mind looking in your bag to see if, by any lucky chance, you have it?"

Q: When coffee cake, either plain or with a hard sugar icing is served, may one pick it up in the fingers even though a fork is provided, or must it be eaten with a fork?

A: If you can eat it without getting your fingers sticky, it is not necessary to use a fork.

Q: When introducing good friends to other people who are also good friends of ours, should they be introduced as Mr. and Mrs. We call all of them by first name.

A: Even though both couples are good friends of yours, they are still strangers to each other and therefore should be introduced by their titles.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal matters, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Must Average High, Low Income Months

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: I am a construction worker and I was just wondering if a satisfactory budget could be worked out for a person in this business. As you very well know, a construction worker's income varies from week to week, according to weather and the amount of actual work going on.

My weekly wages vary from $100 to $170 in the summer and from $70 to $100 in the winter, before deductions. My yearly average is around $7,000 — or roughly between $500 and $600 a month before deductions. I am married and have two boys, ages 6 and 3.

If you could possibly work out a budget for me from those figures, it would be greatly appreciated. My present monthly payments are:

House note, $56.35; union dues, $6; life insurance, $38; car note, $86; furniture note, $21; revolving charge account, $20.

These expenses are in addition to lights, gas and phone.

F. G., Birmingham, Ala.
Your main objective, of course, is to strike an average for the month, based on your lowest and highest income during the year. Then keep to a spending plan that fits into that amount. From the figures you give me, I estimate a monthly average take home pay of $470.

A modest living scale for your family, taking in your time payments, would be:

Housing, $37; household operating, including utilities, $39; food, $18; clothing, $29; insurance, $38; personal, $29; union dues, $6; miscellaneous including church, gifts, etc., $15; medical, $20; books, education, $10; car operating cost, $40; car payments, $86; furniture and charge accounts, $41.

Now — the only hitch here is that this budget totals $506 and your average income is $470!

ONE HITCH

The solution, of course, is simple. Something's got to give for you to maintain a livable scale. How long are those $86 car payments to continue?

Is it possible to stretch them out, at a much lower payment per month? In the long run, of course, this would mean you'd have to pay more interest.

But it's important for you to get on a regular budget and stay there, for the sake of future operations. Even if you have to borrow on your insurance in order to do it.

The difficulty in starting a sound plan tomorrow or next week is that, without surplus savings, you can't just suddenly stabilize yourself out of the blue.

Unless, as I say, something gives. Once you get onto the right budget track, then savings from the high summertime months will carry you over the low months — and keep your living plan steady.

Let me urge you not to put all the surplus from the high weeks into your checking account. Instead, put only needed expense money in that account, and put the balance into a savings account.

When the checking account begins to look sort of fat, after a lean spell, the temptation to spend is only human. You won't be as apt to succumb where a savings account is concerned.

Since you're approaching your low income season, a loan on your insurance might prove to be a wisest if the long run. It would bring up your monthly average until you actually are earning it late next spring or summer.

You will also, by that time, I hope, have made some adjustments about your car expense. Then you can put your mind to paying off the loan as rapidly as possible.

It's especially important for the family on a fluctuating income to keep written records. The Internal Revenue Service insists on it, anyway. So put every single expenditure down on paper, to guide you from month to month.

(For Mary Feeley's budget suggestion leaflet, send self-addressed stamped long envelope to her in care of The Pontiac Press.)

Casserole Is 'Souper'

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Your best bet for an economical main dish is still chicken soup. If you watch for weekend specials, prices may be even lower.

★ ★ ★
Mrs. Frederick Root uses a fryer-broiler for her recipe. It will be just as good with pieces of chicken if your family has a preference for light or dark meat.

Cooking is Mrs. Root's hobby. She cooks for the youth group in her church and sometimes at summer camps. She is a member of the Fashionette club.

QUICK CHICKEN CASSEROLE

By Mrs. Frederick Root

1 can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup

¾ of a soup can of water
1½ cups raw rice
1 large fryer-broiler chicken

Mix soups, water and rice and put into large casserole. Cut up chicken and roll pieces in flour. Brush with melted margarine, dust with salt and paprika.

Bake uncovered at 350 degrees 1 to 1¼ hours. Serves 4-5.

To Help Cool Off Your Tile Terrace

If you have a quarry tile terrace here's one way to make it serve to keep your home cooler by several degrees. When the day is hottest and most unbearable, thoroughly hose down the waterproof quarry terrace. The evaporating water from the terrace will make the surrounding air cooler and more pleasant.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: I honestly think the measurements of women's sizes are incorrect. Am I wrong when I think that 90 per cent of all women have to add to the waist and hip measurement of patterns?

Why can't the pattern companies change their measurements for the average size pattern and save most of us a lot of time in alterations?"

Mrs. S. K.

Dear Mrs. S. K.: I've heard this story so often before that I would like to start a one-man (or I should say, one-woman) crusade to see what can be done about these so-called average measurements.

However, I'll need the help of all our readers in this project.

Please send me a card or letter telling me what pattern adjustments you have to make. I'll take the results directly to the pattern companies and perhaps we can make them realize that American women aren't so slim through the middle as they think.

I can't do this without you, so please write to me today in care of The Pontiac Press.

Dear Eunice: I understand that pleats can be removed from the waistline of men's trousers and finished in the new plain front. Kindly tell me how this is done and if the finished product will look like a pair of trousers originally designed without pleats.

Mrs. M. K.

Dear Mrs. M. K.: I have checked this information with several tailors, and the answers were the same. The only way the pleats can be successfully removed from the trousers is to take the trousers completely apart, re-cut them, make new pockets, etc.

This is a tremendous job and should be done only by a professional. Many women have made darts out of the pleats, but the legs of the trousers are still too baggy.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

When my child outgrows her sweaters, I cut off the sleeves to just above the elbow, bind the raw edges with the material to be used for a dress. The buttons and buttonholes can be removed and the front bound, also.

The length of the jacket should be just above the waist for a bolero effect. Appliques of fabric, rick-rack, lace, could be used for trimming. Children love costume-room touches in their clothes, too!

Before cutting the sweater, may I suggest you baste a piece of him tape on the wrong side of the sweater and machine stitch the sweater to the hem tape. This will retain the original shape of the sweater, prevent stretching and also keep the sweater stitches from running.

Our Tailor Trix pressing board winner this week is Mrs. Frances S. Lear, Miami 38, Florida.

Mrs. S. B. tells how her 11-year-old daughter made a two-piece bathing suit (very popular this summer) from her old swim suit. She cut her nylon swim suit in half at the waist. Hemmed both the waistline and the top section, and fitted elastic in both edges. Worked perfectly!

(This would also be an excellent idea for getting extra wear from a suit that was outgrown because of length.)

Dear Eunice Farmer: How can one estimate the length of material to be gathered when making ruffles with the sewing machine attachment? I always end up with too much ruffle left over, or not enough to fit.

Mrs. C. R. H.

Dear Mrs. C. R. H.: The ruffling attachment can be adjusted for more or less gathering. I would suggest making a sample by measuring the length of fabric used for the sample, and again measuring when it has been gathered.

In this way you can adjust the amount of gathers in proportion to the length of fabric to be gathered.

Make Your Ironing Day Lots Easier

If you want to make ironing easier, you have to start before you get to the ironing board.

Over-drying clothes in a dryer, for example, puts in deep wrinkles. So does overloading the dryer. And so does leaving the clothes in the dryer after they are "done." These wrinkles mean you'll have to make difficult ironing job to do.

"Ironing Made Easy," an extension folder written by Lucile Ketchum, home management specialist at Michigan State University, offers a number of ideas on ways to make ironing easier and more satisfactory. She points out that fabric softeners, permanent starches and some of the newer convenience starches may save you time during the ironing process.

She also notes that when you buy clothing, you can choose items with wrinkle-resistant, soil-resistant or steam-pressed finishes that cut down on ironing. And some fabrics, such as seersucker, corduroy, terry cloth and nylon need little or no ironing.

You can obtain a free copy of "Ironing Made Easy" by writing to Mary Hardy, County Extension Agent, Home Economics, Pontiac, Michigan or phone FEderal 4-2564.

Tile Trend Grows in Modern Homes

Homemakers have found by experience that substitute materials for ceramic tile fade, scratch easily and are difficult to keep clean. That is one good reason for the trend to colorfast, life-lasting, easily cleaned ceramic tile in quality kitchens today. The other reason: building. With cooking units sunk into countertops and ovens into walls, the homemaker needs a material that won't scorch when hot pans are placed on it.

Why Grow Old?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You will miss so many delightful experiences if you do not know how to swim. The combination of air, water and sun and the scenic beauty which goes with swimming are relaxing and rejuvenating in a special way.

The lazy sound of oars, the splash of a paddle, water spraying in your face, sails in the sunset, or floating on your back close to a shady riverbank are all refreshing to the spirit as well as to the body. You simply cannot be tense in such a situation. Cares float away in the water.

Swimming also provides such wonderful family companionship. It is a great age leveler. This is one sport grandchildren and grandparents can enjoy together, for it is beneficial and fun at any age.

Besides this, swimming is a great figure molder, streamlining the body as it tones. Swimming builds lovely curves where there are none and works off bulges of fat.

It is a sport you can learn at any age. Some of the most enthusiastic swimmers I ever knew learned to swim at middle age and some even later.

Swimming is often allowed when more strenuous exercise is forbidden for medical reasons. Since the weight of the body is supported by water, exercise taken in the water is much less strenuous.

Feel that all parents should see to it that their children know how to swim. This gives them a sport they can take down the years with them.

Also, everyone should swim for reasons of safety. The person who does not know how to swim should not ride in a canoe or other small boat.

Don't let another summer pass without having your children learn how to swim. If you do not know how why not learn with them? Or, perhaps you would like to learn a new stroke if you already swim.

My free leaflet gives you detailed directions for teaching yourself or your children how to swim. To obtain your copy of "Learn to Swim," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 22 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Like Edison

Be Cool, Calm - Collect!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE P494: Mark T., aged 22, recently applied for a job.

"But, Dr. Crane," Mark said, "I lost out because I think I showed too much eagerness."

"For the salary was higher than I had expected. And I guess I didn't act casual enough. So they wrote me off as too young and inexperienced, although I look older than my age."

"But how can a person be calm when he gets such a surprise?"

When Thomas A. Edison was a young man, he headed for New York City.

As he was watching the ticker at the stock market one day, the machine went wrong. Consternation followed.

But Edison walked in and volunteered to repair it. He soon had it working.

Later he invented and patented an improvement. The members of the stock exchange asked him to meet with them to consider selling his patent.

Edison figured he would be willing to take a year's salary ($1,800) as his rock bottom price.

But then he wondered if they might go higher, so he toyed with the idea of demanding $5,000.

On the day of his appointment, he met with the officials of the stock exchange.

Well, young Tom Edison decided to shoot for the top price of $5,000. But that sounded like highway robbery, so he lost his nerve.

"Well, gentlemen, I hadn't thought the matter over very thoroughly, but what offer can you make?"

"Young man," replied the chairman, "we can't afford to offer you a cent more than $50,000."

Anyway, when he could finally speak, he managed to tell them he'd rather deal with them than with anybody else, so he accepted.

But he said this experience taught him a vital lesson. So young folks always can recall Edison's position and widen their perspective as you seek a job or receive an offer.

Women Seek Ban on 50-Cent Divorce

By PHILIP CHERIAN
KUALA LUMPUR—Malayan women have the right to vote. But, they are seeking new equality in pay and a ban on the 50-cent (17 cents, U.S.) divorce.

Franchise came in 1952 when both sexes voted for the first time. Even so, women haven't advanced far in politics.

Of the 104 seats in the Malayan lower house of Parliament, only three are occupied by women. The member senate, Mrs. Aisha Ghani, took office late last year.

Mrs. Ghani, 35, who works on the copy desk of the Straits Times, summed up the feminine situation this way in an interview with United Press International.

"Malayan women can be considered luckier than our counterparts in several countries. We were given voting rights on a platter. But let this not deceive you into believing that everything is all right with us. We have lots of things to fight for and we certainly will do so.

"Men, our friends in government and other high places with whom we fought hand-in-hand in the national liberation movement; now tend to forget their promises. They even pretend we should be happy with our present lot. They have us wrong."

NO EQUAL PAY

"Malayan men do not recognize the principle of equal pay for equal work," she said. "The fight is already on, led by 15,000 women teachers and it will be followed by nurses, government employees and thousands of women working in commercial firms."

"The present marriage rules are too lax," she continued. "The Moslem men marry several times. They may keep four wives at any time and may keep on marrying as often as they like if they keep to this (four at a time) rule."

"Many men make liberal use of the rule although it is economically impossible to maintain four large families."

About 50 per cent of the population in Malaya follows the Moslem religion and men are allowed four wives if they can support all. Non-Moslems are permitted only one wife but many Chinese bypass the rule by taking concubines.

CHEAP DIVORCE

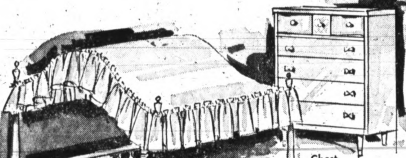

What frets many a Malayan housewife is her Moslem husband's right to a 50-cent divorce. All he has to do is announce he no longer wants his wife and pay a fee of 50 Malayan cents.

Koranic law still dominates Malayan marriages, but another symbol of Islam, the veil, is not in use. Purdah, the practice of keeping women's faces hidden in public, did not take hold in Malaya.

Brides-to-Be Must Plan Happiness in Advance

Can two live more happily than one?

The answer, according to a new booklet, "Beginning a Happy Marriage," is an emphatic yes, provided the bride-to-be plans ahead.

"A happy marriage," the booklet points out, "like other creative achievements, is worth care and devotion. Two people in love can be guided most easily to married happiness if they have open minds and foresight."

"Thus, it is helpful, in the busy weeks before marriage, to remember that two can and do live more happily than one, provided the bride-to-be takes intelligent steps to plan for the path ahead."

The booklet, written especially for premarital counseling and published by The Emko Family Service Bureau, is available from physicians, clergymen, marriage counselors and other professional workers in the field.

New brides and brides-to-be may obtain a free copy by writing The Bureau at Suite 1204, 745 Fifth Avenue, New York 22, N. Y.

TEN POINTERS

The 16-page booklet offers the following ten pointers to beginning a happy marriage:

● Provide time for a joint premarital visit to your doctor to be assured you and your husband - to be in good health.

● Discuss with your doctor whatever attitudes you may have toward married life so that he can help you better understand yourself and your husband.

● You will find it valuable for you and your husband-to-be to attend a premarital course in your church, community center or hospital.

● Avoid making any advance rules about your married life. Give yourself time to explore your individual feelings naturally and easily.

● In planning your honeymoon, remember it will be unlike any vacation you've ever had. Choose a place that has activities both of you enjoy.

● On your honeymoon, relax and delight in the fact that finally you and your husband are alone.

● The honeymoon is the time above all to bestow your whole-hearted concern upon the man you have just married.

● Always be proud to be a woman and keep yourself attractive at all times.

● When you are married you are living with someone else in mind. Anyone can please herself but it takes skill to make two people happy.

● Adjustments are the essence of partnership. Many of the differences you and your husband may have will be smoothed by your love for each other.

Polly's Pointers

New Game for Kids

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — We have found a way to keep our children occupied when they have become bored and tired on long car trips.

We give them a nickel every time one of them catches my husband or me in a driving error. You would be surprised how many inconsiderate things we all do when driving.

The youngsters learn and discuss points on driving besides helping to make us more alert to road-signs and courteous driving. — Mrs. R. M.

DEAR POLLY — Just before bathing my baby, I put the bottle of baby lotion into a glass of hot water. By the time the baby is bathed, the lotion is warm and I have a happier baby who is not frightened by the shock of cold lotion. — Edith

DEAR POLLY — In each load of wash, I include a pillowcase. When the wash on the line dries, I put the clothes in the pillowcase that is still hanging on the line, thus saving two or three trips into the house. It is most practical in case of a quick shower. — A. E. G.

DEAR POLLY — Handy men do not realize how much paint is left in a brush after the main job is done. Before you wash the brush in your cleaning solution, look around the workshop or basement and there will be some small things that could stand a little paint.

Rub, squeeze and push on the brush and you will find this paint that would normally be wasted will offer a protection to the surface of a tool or small piece of equipment. Do not be wasteful.

Paint is good to the last drop. — Arthur

DEAR POLLY — I save the cards on which rickrack, bias tape, etc., are wound and put them in my stationery box. When the time comes that I need a backing for coins to be sent through the mail, they are all ready and just the size to go in an envelope. Cellulose tape holds the money securely to the card. — Mrs. D. P.S.

Tasty Lemon Can Stain

Summertime means lemonade for the kids and an assortment of beverages containing lemon juice for the adults. If you spill lemon juice on your clothes, the National Institute of Drycleaning advises immediate flushing with water. If the suit or dress will not withstand water treatment, get it to the drycleaner as soon as possible. As a kid you might have used lemon juice as invisible ink.

Heat made the juice become visibly brown. The same thing happens on your clothes. At this stage the stain is difficult to remove. In fact it is likely to be a permanent stain on wool or silk.

Usually your drycleaner can take it out of non-protein fabrics.

Girls Discovers Five Drunks . . . and Reality

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
She is beautiful, intelligent, a sociology major at college and the daughter of acquaintances of ours. Last summer she applied for a job at one of our city's settlement houses and was granted an interview.

On her way to its slum address she saw five drunken men, derelict and bloated, sprawled on the sidewalk in the full glare of June's bright morning sun.

That evening in my presence she cried out to her father, "Like garbage, Daddy! Nobody even looked at them but me! I — I had to step over them! One had a big black bruise on his face. . . . "There, there," said her father. "Don't take it so hard, dear. Nobody can help those Skid Row boys. They're past help."

"What you want to do is to think of the fine work being done by this settlement house you are going to help."

"You make me feel sick, Daddy," she said, "You sound like a sports coach yapping about school spirit. Nobody cared about those men! You don't care! Nobody does — and ran from the room."

When the young have been shocked by evil in the world, it is stupid to start preaching its good too quickly.

If we do, we get written off by the young as condoners of the evil. We may lose the child upon whom evil has burst with clear and explosive impact.

Consider this opinion, please, during this summer while your young person is home from college with opening eyes.

I don't know why we are so afraid to share the indignation of the near-grown son or daughter who has suddenly become conscious of racial hatred, rats in tenements, breakdowns in nuclear disarmament negotiations or alcoholic derelicts.

"I don't know why we feel obliged to make soothing noises at them. Unless it is because their fresh young anger stirs uneasy suspicions that we are being accused of condoning evil."

If we don't condone it, we should say so.

A child who has been loved does not need to be reminded of the "bright" side of human existence. He knows about it.

So when he feels pain at its dark side, love is free to share with him.

It perceives that an illusion has died; and as love does not push glib comfort on a mourner who has just lost someone to death, it does not push it at the near-grown child who is mourning the loss of illusion to facts.

New Facts About Your Laundering

Is the family wash really clean? A three-year research program by the U.S. Department of Agriculture reveals that many disease-causing bacteria survive laundering. Scientists found further that addition of certain types of disinfectants to the wash water — including disinfectants with a high concentration of pine oil — greatly reduced the germ count in the family wash.

Since fall is both germ and laundry time, it's wise to automatically add disinfectant to the wash water. For example, one-half cup of a pine oil product will considerably lower the bacterial count in your laundry.

At the same time, without harming fabrics, a pine product will also add a cleaning booster, help remove stains and leave laundry fragrant. Read the label of the disinfectant and follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

USDA researchers say it's especially important to add a disinfecting agent to the laundry if there is sickness in the family or if you use a community washer.

Combine Your Salad Dressing With Canned Salmon

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
The same dish may show up in haute-cuisine and family-style tables, but it may be in two different forms — both excellent.

We're thinking of that summer staple, salmon and salad dressing.
French cooks are likely to poach fresh salmon and offer it with kitchen-made mayonnaise.

American cooks may use canned salmon, taken neatly from its container so it's "whole," and accompany it with old-fashioned cooked dressing.

Again, the French sometimes add cooked vegetables — green peas, carrots and snap beans — to their mayonnaise for the poached salmon and call the concoction Salade Russe.

In this country, we're likely to flake the salmon, add crisp celery crescents, chopped hard-cooked eggs and scallions — or maybe you call them green onions — and mix in the cooked dressing for a sandwich filling or a salad.

When I was small, this would usually be accompanied by the tenderest garden lettuce leaves and freshly picked cucumbers.
When you want to be a good lazy cook, try serving a cold canned salmon platter. Make up the cooked dressing by the following recipe; if you have a drop of culinary nostalgia in you, you'll never regret giving a little time to this.

The rule, contributed by a Canadian friend, produces a dressing that is just sweet-sour-mustardy enough and of perfect texture. Along with the dressing, you may offer anything else you like — some cream, marinated onion rings, radishes, pickles, hard-cooked eggs and lemon wedges — with the canned salmon.

Cooked Salad Dressing for Canned Salmon
1 tablespoon sugar
2-tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pinch of cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk

¾ cup cider vinegar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
In the top of a double boiler, stir together the sugar, flour, salt, cayenne and mustard. Stir in egg yolks and milk. Slowly and gradually stir in the vinegar. Add butter. Cook and stir constantly over hot (not boiling) water until mixture begins to thicken.
Cover and cool; store in the refrigerator in a tightly covered container. Makes about 1½ cups.

Nuts, Crumbs Make Crust

Here's the graham cracker pie crust to use with summer's chilled creamy fruit pies.

Graham Cracker Nut Crust

1 cup packaged graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup chopped (medium course) walnuts

¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
Mix together the crumbs, walnuts and melted butter. Press evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch heat-resistant glass pie plate; have crumbs come up to but not over rim. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 8 minutes. Cool before filling.

A total of 783 jets, belonging to 76 airlines in 46 countries, are in service throughout the world.

Vegetables Sauced in Barbecuing

For summer meals indoors or out, broiled chicken is a popular choice. But, if you want something extra special, why not barbecue rock cornish hens. If you buy 1½ pound or 1½ pound hens, you can serve two people generously from each hen.

And if you are using an electric rotisserie or one in your gas or electric range — try placing cooked vegetables in the drip pan and let the vegetables heat up while the hens are cooking to a beautiful succulent brown. If you are barbecuing broiler-fryers on a charcoal grill or under an indoor broiling unit, you can use the same barbecue sauce.

For a dessert with your extra-special barbecued rock cornish hens, you might like to serve orange sherbet with macarons and, of course, plenty of ice tea or coffee.

Cornish Hens With Vegetables
3 rock cornish hens, about 1½
lb. each 1 can (1 lb.) small whole potatoes
1 can (1 lb.) small whole onions
1 can (1 lb.) small whole carrots
1 tablespoon salad oil
¼ cup lemon juice
½ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon onion salt
½ teaspoon marjoram
½ teaspoon pepper

Arrange hens on spit centering as carefully as possible so that spit will turn evenly.
Use a portable electric rotisserie unit of your gas or electric oven. Place drained potatoes, drained onions and carrots in broiling pan in bottom of rotisserie and place spit in rotisserie.

Brush hens with 1 tablespoon oil and cook, using moderate heat for 10 minutes. Then brush hens and surface of vegetables with barbecue sauce made by combining remaining ingredients.

Continue to cook, brushing hens with barbecue sauce 2 more times, until hens are thoroughly cooked, about 50 minutes longer.
If vegetables are not thoroughly hot and lightly-browned, place them a few inches below the heating unit and cook for a few minutes. Cut hens in half and place on serving platter. Makes 6 servings.

One Hot Dish Can Be Soup

Supper from the cart is easy on the cook and fun for the family. Of these lovely summer evening simply roll supper out on the porch where the air is cool and delightful.

Make it a "soup" treat with a tureen of Chicken and Shrimp Duet. It's an appetite-stimulating combination of canned condensed cream of chicken soup, pineapple cream cheese, and diced shrimp garnished with sliced almonds.

You'll find canned condensed soups helpful for all of your warm-weather menu planning.
Use them not only as soup per se... hot or cold... but also as ingredients in molded salads, sandwiches, and quickie skillet dishes.

Sesame seed sticks... made from refrigerator biscuits... are a nice accompaniment for your supper soup. And since summer is the season for luscious fresh fruit, serve it... well chilled
... for dessert. It's the cool inviting touch on which to end the meal.

Chicken and Shrimp Duet
1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 jar (5 ounces) pineapple cheese spread
1 soup can water
½ cup diced cooked shrimp
Sliced almonds
In saucepan, gradually blend soup into cheese spread until smooth. Slowly stir in water.
Heat, stirring now and then. Add shrimp. Garnish with almonds.
Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Make the favorite grated carrot salad this new way: Prepare gelatin with apricot whole fruit nectar for liquid, add carrots and sliced fresh dates. Chill firm.

Authentic Cookbook

Learn Secret of Japanese Food

Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you have enjoyed Japanese cooking in restaurants or during a visit to the Orient, you may be interested in a new cookbook, "The Pleasures of Japanese Cooking" by Heihachi Tanaka with Betty A. Nicholas, Prentice Hall, ($4.95) is the first book of its kind.

Written for Americans, it adapts Japanese recipes for use in Western kitchens.

All measures are listed according to Western standards and suitable substitutes suggested where necessary.

For cooks wishing to use authentic Japanese food products, a list of U.S. retail outlets is given. Detroit has the closest local outlets.

In addition to recipes and excellent black and white pictures, the book includes an outline of the history and background of Japanese dining customs.

Here are a couple of recipes to try even though you are not able to produce Japanese products. Be sure, however, to use genuine shoyu sauce, not just a soy sauce.

YAKITORI

(Broiled Chicken)

1½ to 2 pound broiler
10 large scallions
pepper (Japanese sansho, if possible)
¾ cup shoyu sauce
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup sake wine (or sherry)

Bone chicken and cut into 1½-inch squares. Cut scallions in 2-inch lengths. Thread 4 pieces of chicken and three of scallions on bamboo or metal skewers.

Mix shoyu, sugar and sake. Baste skewered meat and scallions with this mixture. Broil over hot charcoal about 4 inches above heat. Remove from fire several times and baste with sauce. Serve hot, sprinkled with pepper. Makes 4-5 servings. Do not overcook.

SESAME SHOYU DRESSING
¼ cup peanut or sesame oil
2 tablespoons rice wine vinegar (any mild vinegar)
2 tablespoons sweet rice wine or sherry

Buttermilk Is Tenderizer in Hot Biscuits

Buttermilk Biscuits

2 cups sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
¾ cup buttermilk (about)
Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cut in butter with pastry blender until particles are fine. Stir in buttermilk gradually, using enough to make a soft dough.

Turn out on prepared pastry cloth and knead a few times. Roll out to ½-inch thickness and cut out with floured cutter. Place a few inches apart on buttered cookie sheet. Brush top of biscuits with milk.

Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 20 biscuits.

Q. What is the name of the cut of meat?

A. Beef Top Round Steak.

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is one large muscle from the inside of the beef round.

Q. How is it prepared?

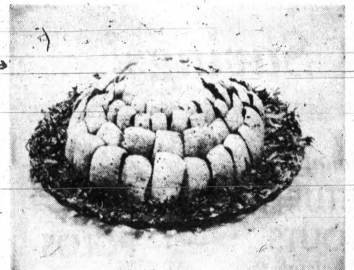

A. By braising. The meat is first browned in lard or drippings. The drippings are poured off, the meat is seasoned and a small amount of liquid is added. The utensil is covered tightly and the meat allowed to cook slowly until tender. Round steak cut ¾ inch thick requires about 45 to 60 minutes. Steaks cut 1½ inches thick require about 2 hours.

2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons shoyu sauce
2 teaspoons toasted sesame seeds

Toast sesame seeds in a heavy skillet until they are brown and pop. Grind into a paste with mortar and pestle or in electric blender (blend 30 seconds, then add rest of ingredients).

Mixture will be thick. This is a simple but delicious dressing for lightly cooked or raw sliced vegetables either hot or cold. String beans, carrot slices or shredded spinach are especially good.

FLOWER-LIKE — Looking like flower petals, corn chips surround a mound of chicken salad for an eye-appealing summer salad. Bright sieved egg yolk furthers the illusion, making the center of the flower.

Arrange Salad Like a Flower

French Style Dressing Goes Over Shrimp

Entertaining during the summer is always enhanced by a cool refreshing salad which can be just the starter for a meal. Nutritionally your family's needs will be met since fresh summer salads are loaded with vitamins. Corn chips, which add flavor and crispness to a "saladventure," are an excellent accompaniment to any salad.

Chicken salad, an all-time favorite, is a delicious summer treat especially when dressed up in an array of corn chips and served as a Chrysanthemum Salad. All you have to do is to select your prettiest crystal plate and begin from there.

Place a generous mound of chicken salad in the center of the plate. Arrange corn chips around the salad to form petals. Sprinkle sieved egg yolk on top of the salad and garnish the base of the mound with garden lettuce, endive or parsley.

Chrysanthemum Salad
4 cups chopped cooked chicken
1½ cups diced celery
¾ cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
4 teaspoon salt
dash pepper
1 hard cooked egg yolk, sieved corn chips, regular and king size
Combine chicken and celery. Stir lemon juice, salt and pepper into mayonnaise. Toss lightly with chicken.
Mound salad on plate. Place corn chips around salad to form petals. Sprinkle sieved egg yolk on top.

Best of All Spuds

Melt a quarter cup of butter, add a couple of tablespoons of minced parsley or fresh dill and pour over a pound of sliced hot cooked new potatoes with their skins removed.

2 Men Design Grass Roots Protest

United Press International

To catch the philosophy behind the march on Washington, you have to go back several months to two men, A. Philip Randolph and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Randolph, one of the silver-tongued orators of the integration movement for more than half a century, wanted an early summer demonstration in the nation's capital to publicize the Negro's appeal for better jobs.

At first, Randolph's idea was only that. It appeared for awhile it would not get off the ground. Then King stepped into the picture. The leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) proposed that Negroes join forces in a demonstration for "jobs and freedom."

After several changes in proposed dates, Aug. 28 was nailed down and today's expression was the result. What did Negroes really hope to accomplish?

Reduced to simplest terms, Randolph, King, Roy Wilkins of the NAACP and others have put it this way: They hoped to demonstrate with "our bodies" by the thousands that Negroes are united in the integration movement. The extent to which today's demonstration could put over that point will be the measure of its success or failure.

"This is a concrete expression from the grass roots," Wilkins said in an interview with United Press International. "This is not King and Wilkins interpreting. These are the people, all in one place in person, saying to the government that they have given up their pay for a day or two and that they have lost sleep and comforts to come to Washington to say they want first class citizenship."

Wilkins added that if he were a member of Congress, which is now considering civil rights legislation, he could not consider the appeal "purely routine."

The march was intended to answer once and for all the oft-repeated accusations in some parts of the country that the "normal pattern" of racial peace is being upset only by the influx of "outside agitators."

This charge, principally in the South although it is sometimes heard in other sections of the country, is particularly obnoxious to some of the leaders of today's march.

March leaders also hope today's event will serve to weld the various integration groups together and to unite them with white organizations.

2 Men Sentenced for Unarmed Theft

Two men who escaped June 6 from Camp Pontiac, a minimum-security prison in White Lake Township, were sentenced yesterday to 5 to 15 years in prison for their unarmed robbery of Waterford man shortly after they fled the camp.

John W. Breathour, 20, of Port Huron and Norman Royer, 21, of Avon Township were sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

The two pleaded guilty Aug. 5. They were accused of forcing their way into the home of William R. Cleveland, 1530 Williams Lake, taking money and stealing his car.

A third escapee, Charles Byas, 22, of Detroit, is awaiting trial on the same charge.

United States firms are wooed to build in Puerto Rico with 10 to 13-year tax exemptions, help in finding sites and erecting buildings and data on labor supply, power sources, housing and recreation.

Opinions Differ

Will Crowds Sway Congress?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional supporters said they hope today's march on Washington will stir enough public interest to pressure Capitol Hill waverers into voting for passage of civil rights legislation.

But they said that any significant outbreak of violence could prove a major disaster that might slow or even block approval of President Kennedy's program.

Many other Congress members contended the demonstration would have no effect on congressional action. Opponents of civil rights legislation made it plain the march will not sway them in their determination to make a last-ditch fight against enactment of a bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, who scheduled a meeting with the leaders of 10 organizations sponsoring the march is among those who doubt the rally will have any effect on congressional consideration of legislation.

"I don't think any legislator worth his salt would let mere noise and fireworks change his convictions," Dirksen said. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., among the Senate Republicans who signified their intention of taking part in the rally, said he bills.

thinks the demonstration will help solidify public opinion in favor of congressional action.

"But it would be a major disaster if there is violence," he said. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., another participant, said he believed that the demonstration would arouse enough public opinion to convince the waverers that they should support the program.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who said his opposition to civil rights legislation has led to some anonymous threats against his life, told a reporter he doubts the demonstration will influence any votes either for or against such

By Organizers

10 'Demands' Listed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Organizers of today's march on Washington published a manual for participants in which they listed 10 "demands" for government action.

1. "Comprehensive and effective civil rights legislation from the present Congress — without compromise or filibuster — to guarantee all Americans access to all public accommodations; decent housing; adequate and integrated education; and the right to vote."

(The administration's civil rights bill, now before Congress, contains sections designed to insure access to public accommodations and the right to vote, and to expedite school desegregation.)

2. "Withholding of federal funds from all programs in which discrimination exists." (The administration bill authorized some steps in this direction, but not such sweeping actions as the demand seems to envision.)

3. "Desegregation of all school districts in 1963." (Administration civil rights bill would give attorney general power to initiate court suits for desegregation, and authorize federal financial aid to school districts which desegregate. But no deadline is fixed.)

4. "Enforcement of the 14th amendment — reducing congressional representation of states where citizens are disfranchised." (Several bills have been introduced in Congress to do this, but they have not received administration backing.)

5. "A new executive order banning discrimination in all housing supported by federal funds."

(President Kennedy issued an executive order last year forbidding racial discrimination in sale or rental of new housing financed by FHA or VA loans.)

The demand contemplates an extension of this order. So far as is known, this is not in the works at the present time.)

6. "Authority for the attorney general to institute injunctive suits when any constitutional right is violated."

(The administration bill would provide this authority to enforce voting and educational rights, but is not as broad as the language of the demand.)

7. "A massive federal program to train and place all unemployed workers, Negro and white, on meaningful and dignified jobs at decent wages." (This is one of the administration's favored legislative goals.)

8. "A national minimum wage act that will give all Americans a decent standard of living."

(No such legislation is seriously being considered by the present Congress.)

9. "A broadened Fair Labor Standards Act to include all areas of employment which are presently excluded." (Under serious consideration in Congress.)

10. "A federal fair employment practices act barring discrimination by federal, state and municipal governments, and by employers, contractors, employment agencies and TRADE UNIONS."

(The House Labor Committee has approved such a bill, and some House members hope to make it a part of the administration's omnibus civil rights bill.)

State Groups Leave for March on Capital

By United Press International
More than 2,000 Michigan residents left by bus, train and car last night to take part in the giant civil rights march on Washington, expected to draw some 125,000 persons to the nation's capital today.

The bulk of the group was made up of Wayne County residents.

12,000 GO
Arthur L. Johnson, Detroit secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said the Detroit group numbered "somewhere around 1,200."

"The response has been much greater than we anticipated," Johnson said. The NAACP chartered a special train to transport more than 400 persons to Washington.

Most of the groups were scheduled to arrive in Washington during the early morning hours.

The program was scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. today in front of the Washington Monument. It was scheduled to last until 5 p.m. when the demonstrators will depart for home.

Johnson estimated that more than 20 Detroit political, home-owner, civil rights, union and religious groups sent representatives to Washington.

Many of the groups said they had sent at least one representative to the March.

FREEDOM NOW

A mass distribution of brochures calling attention to the proposed all-Negro "Freedom Now" political party was planned for Detroit and its suburbs.

Spokesmen for the group said the move was timed to coincide with the civil rights march in Washington which started today. La Mar Barron, the party's local representative, said the headquarters for the party would be located in New York. Barron said Detroit will have a representative on the party's national committee.

The Freedom Now brochure contends that "all-black political action is self-reliance, not 'racism.'"

Although Barron said he expected the new group to be supported by the Black Muslims, he said the new party "has no direct connection with the Muslims."

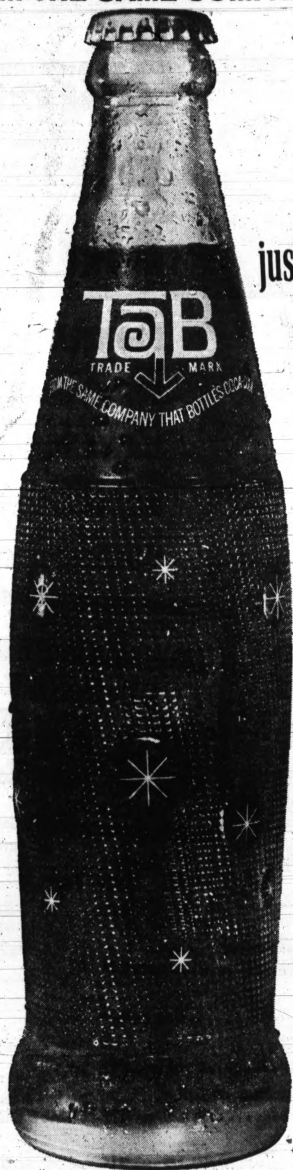

A Negro editor, Henry Cleage, head of the Illustrated News, said he was sympathetic with the party. "A black slate would take a considerable chunk of support away from the Democratic Party, which for too long has taken our people for granted," Cleage said.

Cost of Demonstration Believed Over $125,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bayard Rustin, deputy director of the march on Washington, estimated today that the cost would exceed $125,000.

This amount would not include the money spent on travel fare by the demonstrators nor any of their personal expenses. Nor would it include government costs for police, sanitation and other expenses.

LBJ Ready for Political Wars

By JACK BELL.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is happily preparing to return to the political war next year, riding the hunch that President Kennedy is going to win re-election by a narrow landslide.

Although the President and Johnson reportedly never have discussed the matter, there is every indication they will be teammates again in a campaign they will carry vigorously into every corner of the nation. Johnson, who campaigned in 43 states in 1960 when Kennedy won the presidency by a whisker, obviously is going to have to bear in 1964 the brunt of Southern Democratic resentment against Kennedy's endorsement of racial demonstrations, and his pressure on Congress to act on civil rights legislation.

SEEMS UNDISTURBED

But if the lanky, dark-haired Texan is disturbed by the prospect of going into the South to tell possibly unsympathetic audiences there that the time has come for all citizens to enjoy their constitutional rights regardless of color, he doesn't show it.

Neither is he perturbed by the likelihood that some of the party's liberals will grumble that he still is too tightly tied politically to conservative Dixie to suit their fancy.

For the last two and half years

Johnson has been busy shedding the sectionalism that put him in the Senate and which appealed to the Southern bloc which engineered his promotion to a Senate leadership position. There he became, behind Dwight D. Eisenhower, a Republican president he still respects and likes—the second most powerful man in the country.

If it was a wrench for Johnson to give up that power to become vice president, the compensation lay in the fact that he was one of two nationally elected officials of the government and might, in time, become the head man.

POINTING FOR '68

For if all goes well in next year's campaign, Johnson will be pointing for 1968. Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., the House majority leader, already is on record with the prediction that Johnson "will succeed Jack Kennedy as President of the United States."

In the process of broadening his horizons, Johnson has been a special pleader for conciliation in solving racial and problems. He said last night that "half a loaf will not do" and that "issues which are not settled by justice and fair play will sooner or later be settled by force and violence."

"The law cannot bring reasonable men and women together to work out their differences," he said recently. "But it can restrain unreasonable men and women from imposing their will on a community—and then the reasonable people can and will get together and work out their problems themselves.

Earlier in the year, Johnson's activities as chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity and his civil rights speeches won him a distinguished service award from the Capital Press Club, an organization of Negro newspapermen.

SPACE ASSIGNMENT

In the other major assignments given him by the President, Johnson has been deep in the space program as chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council. He has just completed a survey for the President on the proposed supersonic commercial airliner.

Johnson and Kennedy, who had some nasty things to say about each other when both were running for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, have surprised all concerned by getting along remarkably well.

This is attributed, in part, to Johnson's decision when he became vice president that he would not hold news conferences where reporters might get him into a position at cross purposes with the President, and that he would not interfere with operations of Democratic leaders in Congress.

He has kept these pledges and, has stayed out of trouble in two fields that were mined with it.

JOHNSON

Ex-Latin Consul Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael J. Layden, 62, a past president of the Pan American Council and former Chicago consul for the Republic of Ecuador, died Tuesday of a heart ailment. He had been president of Vacuum Can Co. since 1950.

North Dakota's 1962 wheat production of 161,000,000 bushels set an all time record.

Walls in Paris Jail

to Be Made of Glass

PARIS (AP) — Jail cells with shatterproof glass walls are to be installed in Paris police stations on prisoners.

Police Chief Maurice Papon said he took the decision because of an increase in the number of suicide attempts by prisoners. The glass-walled cells will permit guards to keep a sharper watch on prisoners.

Stalin Censure Aimed at China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Communist party, in another attack on Red China, said today that Communist foreign policy under Josef Stalin was "not always consistently used in the interests of peace."

The statement was made in an article in the official party newspaper Pravda. The article, by commentator L. Leontiev, coupled a denunciation of the Peking regime with a warning to the West that "complete destruction" awaited any aggressor that attacked a member of the Communist bloc.

One of the main points of difference in the ideological dispute between Moscow and Red China in Peking's adherence to "hard line" policies of the late Soviet dictator Stalin.

Postponed for Month by Council

Keego Harbor Tables Nursing Unit Move

KEEGO HARBOR — The City Council has postponed for another month action on a proposed nursing home.

The resolution to continue consideration of the project followed a 1½-hour hearing attended by more than 100 persons last night. Councilmen are seeking information about the financial backers of the institution and details of building plans.

Three of the men involved spoke at the hearing but claimed it was not necessary to divulge identities of the others "until this zoning thing is cleared."

At that time, they said, a corporation would be formed to carry out plans.

However, when presented with the ultimatum, Robert Johnson of Detroit, one of the potential developers, said his group would comply with the council's request.

"We approve their action," he said. "We're in accord with it and will furnish everything they want."

TO CONTINUE A MONTH

The hearing will continue until Sept. 24, when developers are expected to furnish their plans for financing and the names of principal owners involved, complete with Dunn and Bradstreet reports.

Councilmen also want plans for the proposed greenbelt and a revised plot plan drawn to scale, showing existing structures both on and adjacent to the property and indicating the proposed building and accessory buildings and their relationship to existing structures.

Developers have options on 16 lots between Pine Lake Avenue and Hester Court for their $500,000 nursing home. There are now 10 houses, one of them vacant, on the property.

The council a month ago amended the zoning ordinance to give itself the authority to rule on cases involving nursing homes and hospitals.

The decision had formerly been in the hands of the zoning board of appeals, which had refused to grant a building permit for the proposed nursing home.

Chief objectors to the home are property owners in the neighborhood. Some of them have retained attorney Anthony Renne, who spoke for them last night.

Area-State News

Renne claimed granting of the building permit would constitute spot or island zoning.

"The Michigan Supreme Court, which may be the final body to consider what's done here, says spot zoning is void if no reasonable purpose is served," he noted.

"Additional tax money is not a good reason to disregard the rights of people who have been there for 25 or 30 years," he said.

The attorney also said a council ruling in favor of the nursing home could be considered class legislation, "a special privilege to people who have the money and desire to build a convalescent home."

"MUST ACCEPT ALL"

He noted that "for FHA financing you must accept people of all races" and that "no one knows who's really behind this."

Johnson, on the other hand, said that a good nursing home can benefit a community and that it must be built and maintained under the supervision of the national, state and local government.

The 100-bed unit would employ approximately 60 persons and have around-the-clock medical care available, he said.

At any rate, the developers who have been working on this project for nine months got what they were seeking last night—in their petition they had asked for "a definite yes and/or no answer."

Bribe Charge Is Withdrawn

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A bribe charge against Supervisor Lorin Evans was dismissed yesterday, but he will stand trial on a second charge of violating the state elections law.

When the complaint withdrew, Justice Francis Castellucci ordered dismissal of the charge that Evans solicited a $5,000 bribe.

Harold Goldsmith, vice president of Romona Land Co., said he decided against continuing the case on advice of his attorney. Evans, 44, was accused of seeking the money in return for a permit for Goldsmith's rubbish collection firm to build an incinerator in the township. The company has been operating a land fill at 6255 Auburn for several months.

The second charge alleges that $500 in campaign contributions for the February primary from Goldsmith and other Romona Land officers was not reported by Evans as required by state law.

Stating for the record that he plans to enter a guilty plea, Evans waived examination and was bound over for trial in Macomb County Circuit Court. He was released on $500 personal bond.

Father of five, Evans lives at 40720 Van Dyke. He was township clerk for four years before taking over the $10,500-a-year supervisor's post in 1959.

Detroit Schools to Try Election

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit's school board will call a special election Nov. 5, asking voters to approve a 10-year extension of the present 7.5-mill school property tax — a tax the board considers inadequate.

The board asked voters to approve a 12.5-mill levy in April. It was turned down by a two-to-one margin and the board decided yesterday to call a special election on extension of the current tax.

Board members said they did not consider the 7.5-mill tax, which expires next July 1, sufficient to continue the school program at its current level.

The board did not rule out the possibility of going to voters for more millage if the extension of the 7.5-mill tax passes.

When the 12.5-mill tax was rejected, the board ordered half-day sessions for first, fourth and seventh grade students.

A Wayne County Circuit Court ruling Saturday ordered the board to reinstitute full-day sessions for all students as soon as possible.

WHICH ONE?—The conflicting meanings of these two signs, located just south of the Troy High School on Livernois, has brought them to the attention of Troy's Board of Education and City Commission. The board has asked the commission to take action on grounds that the speed limit sign, closer to the school than the "school" indicator, makes the school sign ineffective.

Dem Raps GOP Split of Dearborn

LANSING (AP)—Controversy over the dividing of Dearborn into two congressional districts was revived today by a Democratic state senator who demanded that Republican officials "repudiate" statements by one of their own people.

If statements contained in a 16th District GOP newsletter are true, Sen. William Ford, D-Taylor, told Gov. George Romney in a letter, the GOP was "guilty of gerrymandering of the most reprehensible kind."

He referred to comments in the newsletter that Republicans were forced to split up Dearborn "to save a piece of it" and to make sure that as many as possible would have at least 40 per cent GOP votes.

The governor, said Ford, could share the blame because he and his staff approved the congressional districting plan, including the Wayne County portion, before it was passed by the GOP-controlled legislature in June.

Neither the governor's office nor Republican State Central Committee officials had a comment on Ford's letter. Large himself could not be reached for comment.

Democrats, in arguing against the congressional reapportionment plan last spring, contended that Republicans were attempting to carve up Wayne County in such a way as to enhance their chances of winning a seat there.

Independence Twp. OKs Zone Requests

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Two separate rezoning requests were approved last night by the Independence Township Board.

Resoned were a 3½-acre parcel behind Howe's Lanes on Dixie Highway from R-2 (multiple dwelling) to R-2 (multiple dwelling) and two lots adjacent to the Waterford Hills Country Club from residential to recreational.

Board members also approved a dance permit for the newly remodeled Howe's Lanes and set street light hearings for Sept. 17 for two subdivisions.

The proposed lighting districts are in Richmond Knolls on Orion Road between Sashabaw and Clintonville and in the Carmel Homes development on M-10 north of the village of Clarkston.

MRS. HOWARD HINKEL

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of 1930 Hamlin, Avon Township, announce the recent marriage of their daughter Mary to Howard Hinkel. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Hinkel of 215 Perrydale, Avon Township.

Oxford Gets OK to Extend Sewer Plan Deadline

OXFORD — Faced with the problem of finding a site for a sewage treatment plant, Oxford has requested and received verbal okay for a third extension of its plan deadline.

The Housing and Home Finance Agency had scheduled Sept. 5 as the latest date which the village could turn in plans for its proposed sewer system.

Oxford now has 90 more days to work.

Next step planned will be Sept. 11, when village and county officials will examine the Stewart Drahner farm, east of town and adjacent to the Oxford Township Cemetery.

Should the site be found suitable for the spray irrigation treatment plant, planning of the $226,000 system can continue.

Judge Gives Burglars Three-Year Probation

George Jackson, 20, of 11920 Wally, Utica, and Edwin J. St. John, 19, of 26851 Park Court, Madison Heights, were placed on three years' probation yesterday for their July 30 burglary of the Troy Restaurant at 1940 E. Maple, Troy.

The pair was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams before whom they pleaded guilty Aug. 12. Food and cigarettes were taken from the restaurant.

The University of Michigan was the first institution of higher education to offer instruction in journalism, in 1890.

Her lengthening string of titles includes Pontiac Junior Miss, second runner-up in the Miss Michigan Junior Miss contest and first runner-up in the Traverse City Cherry Queen competition. She is also semifinalist in the Miss Teen Midwest competition.

Susan's reign over the fair will be interrupted, however, when she travels to the nation's capital Friday as a prelude to the Labor Day weekend Peach Festival.

Official Visit Vice President Lyndon Johnson is scheduled to receive Susan, and in turn, receive a luscious basket of peaches from her. Susan will take a quick tour of Washington before returning.

Queen Susan and her attendants have been on a dizzying round of appearances at fairs, beaches, hospitals and other celebrations in southeastern Michigan to publicize the Peach Festival.

The 31st annual event officially gets under way with a softball tournament at South Grade School Saturday.

Sunday will see softball playoffs, and a dog show and pony pull at Lions Park. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., will officiate over Susan's coronation 8 p.m. that night at Romeo High School athletic field. Band music and introduction of civic leaders will accompany the ceremony.

On Monday, a children's parade at 10 will loop around the downtown Romeo. The big floral parade starts at 2 p.m. as the festival's highlight.

Running concurrently with the other events is the three-day Third Annual Thumb Area Artists Exhibition, which opens 6 p.m. Friday at the Romeo Masonic Temple.

Exhibitors can contact Mrs. T. Sulkowski, 112 Crosswell, for information. Only water colors or oils will be accepted.

Three Placed on Probation

Three Independence Township youths who pleaded guilty Aug. 5 to burglarizing a Waterford Supermarket were placed on three years' probation yesterday.

Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams also ordered Robert Miracle, 17, Robert Van Kleek, 17, and his brother, Roger, 18, all of 4555 Retek, to serve 30 days in the county jail.

The three admitted breaking into the Clintonville Super Market, 4494 Clintonville, July 28 and taking cigarettes, razors and other items which police found in a July 29 raid on a teen-age beer party in a deserted house.

Entry Deadline Is Near for Ortonville Directory

ORTONVILLE — Friday is closing day for insertions in the Ortonville General Telephone directory, according to C. E. Hall, district manager.

Hall urged patrons wishing to make changes or additions to call the Ortonville General Telephone business office before then.

SUZANNE KAY EDWARDS

The engagement of Suzanne Kay Edwards to James F. Regan is announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle F. Edwards of 5112 Commerce, Orchard Lake. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Regan of 4226 Greendale, Walled Lake. An October wedding is planned.

Here Come the Kennedy Kids

Caroline, John Perk Up White House

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

HYANNIS PORT (NEA) — The signal is well known — a sharp clap of the hands. With it often goes President Kennedy's shout: "Where are my rascals?"

At that, Caroline and her husky brother, John Jr., come running to meet their father. It is the big moment of their day, whether here at the Cape or in the White House.

Caroline at 5 is fast-growing and poised. Observed astride her horse Macaroni at the farm near the Kennedy Compound, she has a well-formed, slender frame, a sensitive face, attractive blue-gray eyes.

This day she was attired in pale pink shorts, white polo shirt with a gold star on each side of its small collar, red sneakers.

Like all the others in the group, she appeared quietly, mounted her horse and made for the little riding track. She is an accomplished rider.

As she passed a group of watching aunts and guests, she smiled pleasantly, seemed intent on her riding and low-barrier jumping.

Those who see her often say she shows high intelligence and independence.

It is a long cry from the first days in the White House when she was innocently advising curling, a young German shepherd, a young woman that her father was "upstairs with his shoes and socks off, doing nothing."

Thank to her parents and her nurse, Maude Shaw, Caroline has a good command of language and a healthy interest in books. Tested in the fires of constant "big" activity around the White House, she has developed a good memory for names.

She expects as much from others. Any who address her vaguely as "young lady" or call her brother "Jack" she swiftly sets straight.

Caroline's place in the big Kennedy group is not measurably different from that of the many others.

Well down in the age span of her playmates, she is not a ring leader, is described as a spirited and outgoing participant in group activities.

STEVIE IS PAL

One of her better pals is Stevie Smith, 6, elder son of the Stephens Smiths' two. For instruction in various athletic skills she is grouped with Stevie and with Victoria Lawford, Timmy Shriver, Michael and Courtney Kennedy.

Caroline and John tend, however, to eat lunch at their rented home on nearby Squaw Island, some distance from the Compound.

In the months away from Hyannis Port, sharper differences appear for the President's children. For they alone have the unique experience of living in the White House.

The swings, the toboggan, the jungle gym and other play equipment which provide outdoor fun on the White House lawn for Caroline, John and their friends, are an old story to most Americans.

Few may realize, though, how often the noises of children at play contrast markedly with solemn ceremonies being led by the President in the rose garden just a few yards off.

The youngsters can hardly help getting involved in some of the big doings. Outside, they may stand a while and watch. Inside, they press their faces against the upstairs windows.

Caroline and her play school friends made a habit in past months of popping in from time to time on her father's secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, whose office is near the President's own.

The usual thing was to chat a while, and then be invited to dip into a caddy bowl.

Occasionally, if the President has an ambassador with him, he may ask her in for a moment. As she enters she curtsies, then quickly departs.

TO START SCHOOL

This fall Caroline starts first grade and continues at ballet school, where the training is still preliminary. Ballet teachers advise against actual ballet lessons until a child is beyond 7.

Caroline loves her Welsh terrier, Charlie, and now there are two others—Pushinka, the gift from Premier Khrushchev, and Clipper, a young German shepherd. She also has quite a family of stuffed animals.

It is agreed Caroline is well adjusted to life at the White House. Someone once dared to

Russian Dies at Age 147

MOSCOW (UP) — Ashkanger Bzania remarried 35 years ago. He was 112. Later he had a son. The Moscow Medical Journal made the report yesterday in announcing Ashkanger's death at the age of 147. It said he died in his native Georgia, a region with more than 2,000 residents older than 100.

The journal said Ashkanger also is survived by a daughter, aged 90.

Rome Hotel Is Ordered to Pay Singer Damages

ROME (UPI) — A Rome hotel was ordered to pay damages yesterday to singer Abby Lane and her husband, orchestra leader Xavier Cugat, as the result of an accident that occurred at the hotel on June 27, 1957.

Miss Lane told a court that when she opened a window, a plank of wood fell from the venetian blind rigging, and injured her face. She said she and her husband had to cancel some professional bookings.

Installment-plan indebtedness in Sweden is a little more than $52 per capita — probably the highest in continental Europe.

say she may feel more at home there than her father.

The President is said to take real pleasure from seeing her about the premises. It helps to put perspective on his problems.

Like many a big sister, Caroline is protective and thoughtful of her brother, who is three years younger than she.

John Jr. is getting there. Familiar to all are the recent pictures showing him striding around Andrews Field and other airports, sometimes unhappy at having just been told he couldn't accompany his dad on some trip.

Right now he is mad for planes and helicopters, gets many helicopter-rides to and from Andrews.

In his coat lapel he often wears a pin depicting the experimental plane X-15, the pin a gift from

White House aide Timothy (Ted) Reardon.

At the Cape, I saw John wailing about in bathing trunks and, it being a cool day, a bulky light blue sweater. His solid little frame made him look like a boxer doing a bit of roadwork.

Sandy Eller, athletic instructor at the Compound, only recently started John on swimming lessons. The lad won't be 3 until late November.

Says Sandy:

"John is amazingly well coordinated. He loves the water and is absolutely fearless in it. He'll be a very good swimmer."

The President's son has quite normal curiosity. Spying on him, he asked Secret Service agent Robert Foster:

"Who's that man?"

I gave him my name and then asked him. The response: "John Kennedy Junior."

John is talking a lot these days, learning fast, showing a little mechanical bent, developing some of the same independence Caroline has long exhibited. He loves to dance and sing.

It's a trifle soon to know how much he's going to take to reading, though the word is he gets plenty of "reading" to and enjoys it.

As with Caroline, the First Lady thrusts John outdoors as much as possible and he loves to thrive on it. He loves the family dogs.

Both of the President's children seem to be developing well, notwithstanding the occasional bright glare of the national spotlight.

Help-Rental Firm Opens City Branch

Manpower, Inc., a firm which has made a permanent job out of temporary help, has opened a new branch office in Pontiac at 14 S. Cass.

Not an employment agency, Manpower, actually "rents" their employees to the customer, taking care of salaries, fringe benefits and all paper work. Employees can work a day, a week or six months, if necessary to complete a job.

They serve as office personnel, demonstrators, telephone solicitors and surveyors, warehouse and general maintenance workers, technical personnel, inventory and payroll clerks and also perform special services at conventions and trade shows.

The oldest firm in the U.S. is said to be near El Paso, Tex. It has yielded crops each year since 1540.

Czechs Import Grain

VIENNA, Austria (UPI)

Czechoslovakia, a grain exporter before the war, was forced to import 53 per cent. of its wheat last year, according to statistics published in the Czech newspaper Lidova Democracie, received here.

LIKE OLD TIMES — Stars Gene Kelly and Shirley MacLaine go through a dance routine in Hollywood in a new movie called "What a Way to Go!" that satirizes all that movies once held dear. "I'm having a ball," said Kelly. "This kind of thing is easy to satirize."

World News

S. Africa Warns West

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Premier Hendrik Verwoerd says Western nations which want South Africa to cooperate with them in times of difficulty should avoid antagonizing South Africa now.

African nations incensed by South Africa's apartheid — segregation — policies won a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for a worldwide arms embargo against South Africa.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Inflation-plagued Brazil's chief monetary unit, the cruzeiro, dropped to a record low Tuesday. By noon the rate of exchange was 1,000 cruzeiros to the dollar and the end of the plunge touched off by new government exchange regulations was not in sight.

Over the weekend the government said banks could buy and sell dollars at a rate to be set by the government's Bank of Brazil.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn of Sweden has resigned as commander of the U.N. truce force in Yemen, effective Saturday.

N. Secretary-General U Thant said Tuesday night Von Horn quit for personal reasons. He did not elaborate.

Thant named Col. Branko Pavlovic of Yugoslavia, deputy commander, to take over the mission seeking to assure withdrawal of United Arab Republic troops supporting Yemen's republican government and end Saudi Arabian support of Yemen's ousted royalists.

More than 3,000 members and 400 foreign delegates are to attend. The Soviet Union is sending 26 scientists for the 300 lectures on subjects ranging from witchcraft to rocketry.

Dr. R. F. Simpson of Harvard University will deliver a paper.

Film Spoofs Old-Time Musicals

'What a Way to Go!' Surely Is

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It was just like old times. Dozens of chorus boys and girls came tripping across the battlement, waving pennants and smiling toothily while the glittering stars danced their duet in the foreground.

"Shades of 'Anchors Aweigh' and 'Hit the Deck'!"

"This was not a revival of the light-hearted, simple-minded musicals of Hollywood's past but a spoof thereof. It was a sequence for 'What a Way to Go!' which appears to be satirizing all that the movies once held dear."

The star performers are Shirley MacLaine and Gene Kelly. They have been tripping through a dream sequence in which they interpret an Astaire-Rogers dance, a MacLaine-Eddy operetta and finally, the battlement number which harks back to Kelly's own past.

IT'S A BALL

"I'm having a ball," said Kelly back to his beginnings as choreographer-dancer. "This kind of thing is easy to satirize. But, you know, those musicals were kind of wonderful, too."

"Everybody kids the Nelson Eddy-Jeanette MacDonald movies now, but when you see them on television you realize they were pretty darn good. They exposed millions of people to the best in operetta and probably raised our standards—of music a few notches."

Shirley finished the number and collapsed in her dressing room. "This is rough work," she said. "I haven't danced in 12 years, and you've got to keep it up. Oh, I danced in 'Can Can,' but I was faking it. It gets tougher to fake it all the time."

Mind you, she's not complaining. Why should she, with the most impressive list of costars within memory: Kelly, Paul Newman, Robert Mitchum, Dean Martin and Dick Van Dyke? Even Li Taylor never had it so good.

BIG PROBLEM
The gimmick is this: Shirley is a girl who yearns for the simple things of life. Trouble is, she's always marrying poor slobs who turn into millionaires. Bizarre accidents carry each one off to another life and she starts anew, only to end up with millions again.

Sort of a problem picture. "For the first time I get to wear pretty clothes in a picture," said Shirley. "Usually I'm an elevator operator, a street-walker, a beatnik or something like that."

The bill for her 70 gowns comes to $275,000, says the studio, 20th Century-Fox, which is proceeding on "What a Way to Go!" just as there had been no "Cleopatra."

Budget: $5 million. Maybe those good old times are coming back.

Teen-Age Thieves

Get Probation Term

Two Pontiac teen-agers who admitted a number of burglaries after they were caught at the scene of an Independence Township break-in July 30 were placed on three years' probation yesterday.

Steven T. Sulkanen, 18, of 603 Whittemore and Joseph P. Cool, 17, were sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

They pleaded guilty Aug. 12 to breaking and entering Laatsch, TV Store, 6734 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, on July 30. They were leaving when apprehended by police.

A third youth who also admitted taking part in the burglaries was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Anti-JFK Segregationist Gets Nod of Dixie Dems

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson Jr., militant anti-Kennedy segregationist, ended 16 years of political frustration today, winning the Democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi by a record vote.

Johnson overwhelmed former Gov. J. P. Coleman after a bitter campaign which centered on opposition to President Kennedy and his civil rights program. Johnson reminded voters he still faces federal contempt of court charges for his part in temporarily blocking Negro James H. Meredith from enrolling in the University of Mississippi last September.

He called Coleman the "Kennedy satellite candidate." Coleman supported the President in the 1960 presidential race. Coleman argued that he was anti-Kennedy, too, saying he erred in 1960.

RECORD VOTE

With 1,861 of the state's 1,877 precincts reporting, Johnson had 238,427 votes, most ever given a gubernatorial candidate, to 193,021 for Coleman.

Johnson faces Republican Rubel Phillips Nov. 5 in what may be more than the usual token race in this overwhelmingly Democratic state. An independent also has announced for the general election.

Johnson, son of a former governor, lost three previous races for the nomination, including one to Coleman in the 1955 runoff. He also was beaten in a race for the U.S. Senate before being elected lieutenant governor four years ago.

Gov. Ross Barnett, barred by law from succeeding himself, joined the crowd of cheering Johnson fans at an election party. He said he voted for Johnson. Coleman drew the support of Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale, who finished third in the first primary but returns made clear that the Sullivan vote split in Johnson's favor in the runoff.

There was no indication of how the state's estimated 30,000 Negro votes went. However, in a mock election for unregistered Negroes, Coleman got 26,721 votes to 949 for Johnson.

State Destroys $50,000 Worth of Ruined Liquor

LANSING (AP) — Nearly $50,000 worth of state-owned liquor was poured down a warehouse drain between Aug. 1 and 15, the State Liquor Control Commission reports.

The contents of more than 1,700 cases were declared contaminated as a result of flooding after a severe rainstorm June 6 in Lansing.

George Burke Jr., commission business manager, said the State Agriculture Department's laboratory declared the liquor was not fit for human consumption.

The stock was not insured, Burke said. He said an auditor and an investigator were on hand when the liquor was dumped to make sure it was all actually destroyed.

Jackson Escapee Gets Added Term

JACKSON (AP)—James Hall, 41, one of four prisoners who cut their way out of Southern Michigan Prison last April, was sentenced yesterday on two charges growing out of the escape.

He was sentenced to 18 months to three years for escape and 18 months to five years for breaking and entering. Circuit Judge John Dalton ordered the concurrent sentences to begin after the expiration of Hall's life sentence for murder, if this term is cut short by parole or commutation. The other three escapees, Robert Gipson, 30, Richard Mauch, 40, and Elmer Crachy, 35, have demanded examination and will appear tomorrow in Municipal Court.

Cancer deaths will total 380,000 in 1963 but 177,000 persons will be saved by medical science.

OFF-THE-CUFF—President Kennedy makes an off-the-cuff talk yesterday to college students winding up a summer as temporary federal employees. He advised them to get into government and help deal with complex problems. He spoke from a band stand set up on the White House lawn.

Reds Foil Tries to Cross Border into West Zone

BERLIN (AP)—Communist border guards shot a man who attempted to smash through a border checkpoint in an East German Army ambulance Tuesday night, travelers arriving in Berlin reported.

The incident occurred on the Eastern end of the 110-mile autobahn connecting West Berlin with West Germany. Informants said the ambulance stopped after breaking through the first of several steel barriers. One man staggered out of the driver's seat and was cut down by gun fire.

Another escape attempt was foiled at the Red wall in Berlin. West Berlin police said they saw a man trying to scale the wall.

Heiress Files for Divorce

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Officials of the Juarez foreign registry office said Tuesday a divorce action was filed Saturday for heiress Gloria Vanderbilt Lynnet from television director Sidney Lumet but that no decree has been issued.

The decree was held up, the officials said, because Mrs. Lumet's Mexican attorney failed to register her residence as required by law.

The Philippines now has a population of 27.5 million, an increase of more than nine million since the end of the war.

Junior Editors Quiz on SNAILS

If you had only your body to crawl with—could you move ahead at all?

QUESTION: Why does a snail move so slowly?

ANSWER: Most animals can lift their bodies up in the air and run along rapidly on their legs. If you took the position of the boy in our picture and tried to move ahead just on your body, without using arms and legs, you wouldn't get very far. This is the position the snail is in.

Considering the problem of moving a soft body over gritty round, the little snail does amazingly well.

The snail moves by stretching his body as far forward as he can. There is a kind of foot inside it which he then gets close to the ground so as to get a grip. He is also able to lay down a sticky solution which helps the foot to take hold. Then the snail contracts his body and this draws him, shell and all, up to the place where his has taken hold.

He will then extend his body and repeat the process. The fact that he can only inch ahead a very short distance each time is what makes him so slow.

The slime he lays down acts as a kind of road bed, for it protects his soft body from sharp things which might injure it.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if, when lying down on your stomach, you can lift your feet and hands off the ground. It's a good exercise.

Ghostly Imbiber?

Pub Appears Haunted

BRENTWOOD, England (AP)—The owner of the 500-year-old Swan Inn claims it is haunted by the ghost of a 19-year-old Protestant who was burned at the stake here centuries ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth 'Harding, who took over the Swan six weeks ago, said she believes the nightly intruder is the ghost of William Hunter, who spent his last night at the inn before going to his death.

Mrs. Harding's daughter, Carol, 26, who helps run the inn, agrees with her mother.

"We are visited each night by the ghost," Miss Harding said. "Religious plates and ornaments fixed to the wall tumble down mysteriously. The saloon doors go crash in the night and my Alsatian, Trudy, who has been brought up to sleep in bars, refuses to do it here.

"She howls and growls so much we have had to move her elsewhere.

"When we come down from our rooms each morning we find the saloon-bar door blocked by chairs which have been moved in the night. We hear furniture being dragged about the floor. Lights that were switched off are blazing in the morning. My mother loves it all, but I am quite frightened."

A memorial to the Protestant martyr stands at a place near here on the spot where he died.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Is Asked:

What's the Best Cure for Tic Douloureux?

Q—My doctor says I have trigeminal neuralgia, commonly called tic douloureux. He gave me an alcohol injection that relieved the pain for about a year.

The pain has come back and my doctor says that aside from another injection the only treatment is to cut the nerve. How BRANDSTADT ever, I have heard that there is a new treatment. Please tell me about it.

A—Tic douloureux is a common and very painful ailment. Until recently destruction of the nerve was the only sure cure.

Now there is another treatment. A woman with this disease was found to have no acid in her gastric juice. When she was given dilute hydrochloric acid her pain ceased.

This led to the assumption that in hypersensitive or allergic persons a temporary or permanent disappearance of acid from the gastric juice might permit histamine or a related substance to pass from the stomach into the blood and be carried to the trigeminal nerve.

INJECTIONS TRIED

Working on this theory a series of patients with tic douloureux were given small but increasing injections of histamine in an effort to desensitize them. They were also given dilute hydrochloric acid.

Those who had previously had boiling water injected into the nerve did not respond to the new treatment, but the rest showed varying degrees of improvement. No treatment for this disease can be guaranteed, but this new method is worth trying.

Q—What is the treatment for rheumatic fever in adults?

A—The treatment of rheumatic fever in adults is essentially the same as that in children. The victim should rest in bed until all signs of active disease have disappeared. Aspirin or other salicylates are given.

Steroid hormones may also be given in the period of active infection, and penicillin or a sulfonamide for the next five years to prevent rheumatic heart disease.

Q—What parts of the face can not be improved by plastic surgery? I was in an accident and had one lower eyelid badly torn.

A—Plastic surgeons have made great strides since the onset of World War II. I don't believe there is any part of the face that has been injured that can't be improved. The greatest trouble is that well-qualified plastic surgeons are still in short supply and many middle sized cities do not have one.

School Means Traffic

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police today pleaded with Michigan motorists to watch out for the young army of school children due to return to regular classes soon after Labor Day.

More than a million students and about 7,200 school buses again will become part of the regular traffic pattern, the Safety and Traffic Bureau reminded.

Because of the unpredictable actions of children, drivers are urged to be especially vigilant near a student pedestrian and bicycle traffic and in the vicinity of school bus stops.

THOUSANDS INJURED

There were 96 children under 15 killed in pedestrian accidents last year and 26 killed while riding bicycles. In the same age group, there were 3,687 pedestrians and 1,777 bicyclists injured last year.

Rural school bus and related accidents numbered 54 last year and resulted in the death of two children and 346 injuries.

Police estimated 7,200 school buses carried 536,000 children daily on school days a distance of around 68 million miles.

Motorists were reminded that Michigan law requires them to stop when overtaking or meeting a rural school bus loading or unloading passengers.

Exceptions are on divided highways when the bus is on the opposite side, in villages or cities unless such stop is required by local ordinance or at intersections controlled by a police officer or traffic lights.

Little Man Who's There Helps Regan

Tigers Defeat Angels, 4-1, for 5th Place

Phil Yields Four Hits to Gain Eighth Victory Under New Manager

DETROIT (AP) — Phil Regan is pitching better for the Tigers because of the little man who's always there.

The little man is Charlie Dessen. Regan credits his new manager's advice with helping him improve.

"It seems every time I warm up between starts Charlie's there always watching and making suggestions," Regan said after stilling Los Angeles on four hits last night and pitching the Tigers into fifth place with a 4-1 victory.

Regan has been an entirely different pitcher since Dessen took over June 18. On that day, Regan had a 3-6 record and had been dropped from the regular starting rotation. But in 1963 A.D., after Dessen — Regan stands 8-1.

"I guess greater variety is the reason for my success," said Regan. "Charlie suggested I throw more sinkers and curves. So I'm throwing more sinkers, have more confidence in my curve and my fastball is rising."

Regan is only one shy of equaling his most productive season, last year, when he was an 11-game winner. Former manager Bob Schefeling always felt Regan would become a big winner if he could harness his curve.

Regan feels he has done that in the Dessen regime.

"I think I have a better curve now," said the Michigan-born right hander. "I'm throwing it harder and I've got control of it. I used to be afraid to throw it because I didn't always know where it was going."

ALL SINGLES
All four hits off Regan were singles as the Tigers rallied off their sixth straight victory. They have won nine of the last 10 games and 16 of the last 22.

Their August hot streak — 19-7 for the month — has vaulted them from ninth to fifth in the American League in two weeks. They moved past Cleveland and Boston by beating the Angels last night.

Next is Baltimore, 7½ games away in fourth, and Dessen believes the Tigers can overtake the Orioles, too.

"They've only lost five more games than we, so if we keep winning we'll have a chance because we play six more games with them," said Dessen, who has brought the Tigers from 17 games under .500 to 10 games up at 62-66.

Regan received most of his offensive and defensive help from Al Kaline. Kaline lined a run-producing single in the three-run third and had his 24th homer in the sixth.

JOINS 400 CLUB — Willie Mays (left), San Francisco Giants' outfielder, is congratulated in the dressing room by Felipe Alou last night after hitting his 400th major league home run. The blow helped the Giants down St. Louis, 7-2. (Story on page D-3).

Bouton, Downing Top Duo

Young Arms Lift NY

By The Associated Press

They belong to New York pitchers Al Downing, 22, a lefty, and Jim Bouton, 24, a right-hander.

Between them they contain the promise of Yankee domination of the American League for years to come.

Sunday, Downing had a no-hitter going to seven innings and finished with a two-hit shutout, running his record to 10-4. It was Bouton's turn Tuesday. He had a no-hitter for eight innings, and finished with a two-hit, 5-0 shutout, running his record to 12-6, best on the Yankee staff.

Ralph Terry, 27, old only by comparison, finished off the two-night doubleheader against Boston with a five-hit, 2-0 job. It was the 15th victory and stretched the Yankees' bulging league lead to 12½ games.

In other A.L. games, Chicago pulled into a share of second place with idle Minnesota by beating Cleveland 6-1, Kansas City edged Baltimore 2-1 in 10 innings and Detroit topped Los Angeles 4-1 in the only games scheduled.

FOUR SHUTOUTS

The twin shutouts by Bouton and Terry were the third and fourth in the Yankees' last five games. The Yankee staff has allowed only two runs in the last 51 innings, both in the 12th inning loss to Chicago in the second game of a Sunday doubleheader.

Whitey Ford, the Yankees' ace lefty, started the string with a six-hit shutout in the opener Sunday. It was his 10th victory and third shutout. Terry has 3, Bouton 5 and Downing 4, a total of 15 from among 61 victories among the big four starters.

Bouton is one of the big surprises. He had only a 7-7 record last season, started this year in the bullpen and has blossomed into the Yanks No. 1 right-hander.

The hard-throwing youngster had allowed only two base runners and had retired 22 men in order before Boston pinch hitter Russ Nixon singled past his ear leading off the ninth.

"It was a stupid pitch," he said after the game. "The situation called for a breaking pitch and I threw him a fast ball."

Bouton let down a ball after that and Gary Geiger followed with another single, but he got out of it without trouble. The Yanks gave him all the backing he needed with two first inning runs on singles by Bobby Richardson and Elton Howard and doubles by Tom Tresh and Hector Lopez.

Richardson singled in one run and Yogi Berra doubled in two more in the eighth inning of the second game, breaking a scoreless struggle between Terry and the Red Sox' Dave Morehead and Arnold Barclay. Morehead had allowed early a scoreless single when he had to leave with an injured knee in the fifth.

The White Sox' Dave Nicholson struck out four times, setting a season record of 14, but Tom McCraw and Pete Ward each drove in two runs with a homer and single in Chicago's victory over the Indians.

A walk to Jose Tartabull, a balk and Wayne Causey's infield single broke a 1-1 tie in the 10th and won for Ed Holow and the A's against Baltimore.

Hospital Lists Racer Henrich in Good Shape

DETROIT (AP) — Marv Henrich, a substitute driver who was catapulted from an exploding hydroplane on the Detroit River, was reported in good condition at a hospital today.

A spokesman at Receiving Hospital said Henrich, 33, apparently escaped serious injury when Mariner 70 blew up Tuesday during a fast trial run for the Governor's Trophy race at Madison, Ind.

Walter Wade, driving behind Henrich in Blue Ship, said they were having a scrub race and going about 130 to 140 miles per hour down the backstretch.

Lions May Switch Cogdill to Flanker Back Position

Will Gail Cogdill become the Lions' next standout flanker back?

The possibility arose yesterday when head coach George Wilson admitted he is considering the move while getting the team ready for Friday night's game with the Pittsburgh Steelers at Tiger Stadium.

Cogdill, a sure-handed pass catcher at split end during his flashy National Football League career, if moved, would succeed Terry Barr and Pat Studstill at the position.

Both have achieved stardom as flankers, but both are handicapped with knee injuries.

"I'm thinking about moving Cogdill, put him over at flanker," Wilson said yesterday. "In my book, Cogdill is the best pass receiver in football. We've got to get the ball to him more often."

That last remark by the coach was explained this way: Quarterbacks Milt Plum and Earl Morrill seem to throw most of their passes to the flanker man instead of pitching downfield to Cogdill, a "deep" receiver.

FRIDAY TEST

Although he didn't say so, Wilson might also have been considering the flanker back injury. Studstill is out for an indefinite period and the Lions won't know until Friday night's action how sound Barr's ailing knee is.

Barr re-injured his left knee in practice. He underwent surgery for the first injury last season. Studstill, hurt in Saturday night's 22-17 victory over St. Louis, may need an operation to mend torn knee ligaments.

Still nursing injuries are line-backer Carl Brettschneider and rookie halfback Larry Ferguson.

Wilson made it clear that the ten rookies still in camp will have to work harder to stick with the club.

"Some of them seem to think they've already made this ball club," he said. "Well, they haven't. And they might as well know it."

The Lions must drop three of their 43 players by Sept. 3 to meet the National Football League limit. A further cut, to 36, is set for Sept. 10.

Montreal Drops Stephens

Cassady Cut by Eagles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Howard (Hopalong) Cassady (Hoplalong) Cassady and Sandy Stephens, All-Americans in their college days, have received their walking papers as pros.

Cassady, who won the Heisman Trophy in 1955 as the top college player while at Ohio State, was placed on waivers by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League as the American pros reached a mandatory cut-down date.

"Stephens, All-American quarterback at Minnesota in 1961, was dropped by the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League with the A.L. paying him for the remainder of his three-year no-cut contract.

"Bluntly, we're paying him off," said Dan Pickett, director of the Alouettes' player development. Stephens signed a $70,000 contract in 1962 and has two years to go. He was unimpressive as a rookie last season and was bunched as overweigh in the Alouettes third game of the season last week.

FEW MINUTES

Cassady, 29, a six-year-NFL veteran with Detroit, Cleveland and the Eagles, played 10 games with Philadelphia as a split end last season before he was sidelined with a broken right leg. He has played only a few minutes in Philadelphia exhibitions this season and his release apparently means that Baylor rookie Ronnie Goodwin has won the job.

He was the best known player to get the ax as the NFL and American Football League made cuts, the NFL teams cutting their rosters to 43, the AFL to 36.

Actually, the rosters will remain in a state of flux at least until the weekend, since teams

Kaline Nearing Major Bat Goal

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline's okay. is hit. If it stays cool, I may be personal goal for seven seasons has been to prove the batting title he won at 20 wasn't a fluke.

"This could be the year the Detroit right fielder finally does it again. But he'd rather not, unless he has the average to reign as a top-flight champion.

"I want to win it all right," said Kaline Tuesday night after closing within two percentage points of Boston's leading Carl Yastrzemski. "But if I win it I'd rather not win it."

"I care more about the American League's prestige than winning the title myself. If the batting champion wins with a .318 or .320 average it makes the league look bad. I win I hope I hit .330, and if Carl wins I hope he hits .330."

GAINED POINT
Neither Yastrzemski nor Kaline, on a 14-game hitting streak, is at that level. Yastrzemski, going 1-for-7 Tuesday night, dipped to .323. Kaline went 2-for-4 and picked up a point to .321.

Kaline leads doubleheaders stacking up on the Tigers could heighten his chances of regaining the crown he won in 1955 with a .340 average. The Tigers have four twinnings left in their final 34 games.

"With all those doubleheaders, I may never keep up the pace," Kaline said. "I'm had in them, I never seem to do well in the second game because I get tired. But that's usually when the weather

14 Trotters Ready for Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) A field of 10 colts and 4 fillies — some of them just recovering from a weakening virus infection — appeared set today for the Hambletonian stake.

The blue ribbon fixture for 3-year-old trotters will carry a purse of $115,568, sixth richest since its 1926 beginning. The winner will get $56,619, and for the first time prize money will go to the runner-up.

The weather forecast was for scattered clouds with temperatures in the high 80s.

"Actually, I've thought my best shot was in runs, but in the Hambletonian also is closing in on Boston's Dick Stuart in the RBI race. He drove in two runs with his 24th homer and a single in Tuesday night's 4-1 victory over Los Angeles. Stuart failed to drive in a run as Boston was shutout twice in the game.

That left Stuart leading with 93 points of Boston's leading Carl RBIs to Kaline's 90. Kaline has Yastrzemski. "But if I win it I'd rather not win it."

Mystery Hits Tennis Meet

Russians Fail to Show at Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — The National Tennis championships got under way today at the West Side Tennis Club on a note of international mystery.

Everybody is asking: What happened to the Russians?

The Soviet Union, with announced designs on the Davis Cup, was supposed to send three or four ranking players on the special charter plane which yesterday brought 80 stars from 28 countries here for the tournament. The Soviet athletes failed to show.

There were several explanations but one conclusion:

"The Russians apparently have given up their five-year plan for talking over the No. 1 position in the court sport. Experiences at Wimbledon and Forest Hills must have convinced them that other countries, particularly the United States and Australia, have made such vast strides that they cannot be overtaken on short notice.

Some Russian tennis players are going back behind the iron curtain to get more training before trying to challenge the rest of the tennis world.

The Russians don't like to look bad in international sports. Particularly, they don't want to be shamed by capitalist nations such as the United States, Britain and Australia.

Manistee Eyed as New Federal
'Wilderness'Conservation Dept.
Hits Choice; Survey
Now Under Way

Conservation Department officials are concerned over a Department of the Interior project that could result in a portion of the Manistee River becoming a federal wilderness area.

"Some brains in Washington decided the Manistee would be the river," said one department spokesman. "Five guys sitting there made the decision without even coming to Michigan."

The Department of Interior has a new bureau of outdoor recreation, with an office at the University of Michigan.

It is studying Michigan streams and will recommend which ones should be set aside as "wild rivers."

Spokesmen for the federal agency are very vague about their objectives.

Hayden Olds, assistant field chief for the new department, said his job was only to survey rivers and report back on "wild river" possibilities.

He would have to report back by mid-September, Olds said.

The Manistee has been recommended as a "wild river," Olds reported also, he said, he is checking over the Pere Marquette.

Olds was asked how the survey was being conducted.

"We fly over them and we talk to people," he said.

A newsman asked if they fished the rivers. No. How about some of the many other fine rivers in Michigan? We don't have time. Got to get the report back, was the explanation.

Slated Next Month

Southern Michigan Obedience Training Club will start three dog classes next month with demonstrations.

Club members will put their trained canines through the obedience routine on Sept. 17 at Walpole Lake Junior High School, Sept. 18, at the CAI building, Williams Lake Road in Waterford Township, and Sept. 19 at Daniel Whitfield School in Pontiac.

Those interested in registering dogs for the SMOTC classes are urged to be present for the demonstrations. All three start at 8 p.m. They are also requested to leave their dogs at home until the regular sessions start a week after the demonstrations.

Additional information can be obtained by phoning Len Schell (Walpole Lake), EM 3-6149, Reg. Armstrong (Whitfield), FE 2-7749 or the Waterford recreation department (CAI), OR 4-8376.

Jim Richardson will have charge of the CAI classes.

Demonstrations and classes for Bloomfield Hills and Rochester are also scheduled, but the dates have not been determined.

'Flies Only' Waters Studied

LANSING (P) — Anglers who want to fish in a "flies only" section of three noted Michigan trout streams may have just a few weeks remaining.

The trout season winds up Sept. 8.

The State Conservation Department is recommending, meanwhile, that flies only trout fishing regulations be lifted at the end of this year on 24 miles of neighboring streams.

These are sections of the Little South Branch of the Pere Marquette, the East Branch of the Au Gres and the North Branch of the Au Sable.

The Conservation Commission will make its decision at the Sept. 12-13 meeting at Holland.

It has been indicated that the trend is toward removing all special regulations permitting flies only trout fishing on certain sections of streams as soon as present orders expire.

This could mean that after 1964 there would be no special waters in Michigan set aside for the purists who insist on using just flies — as opposed to natural bait and other lures.

Department fish biologists report they have completed their studies of the three streams to measure the effects of the experimental regulations on fishing success.

The research showed anglers caught fewer but bigger fish. Fishing pressure and fish poundage dropped during the restrictions.

Members of Trout Unlimited, one of the organizations backing the idea of setting aside a few miles of water dedicated to fly fishermen only, are expected to fight the proposed abandonment at the commission meeting.

They have the argument that there are more than 36,000 miles of streams and rivers in Michigan, some 15,000 miles of them rated as trout waters. Only 55 miles were restricted to fly fishermen.

FEWER ANGLERS

The ranks of the trout fishermen are dwindling. The sale of trout stamps climbed to a high of nearly 210,000 in the mid-1950s.

The Conservation Department figures the final sales figure this year will be between 100,000 and 150,000 stamps. This will be about the same as last year despite one of the best summer tourist seasons on record.

The State Tourist Council attributes part of the drop in trout fishing interest to the sharp climb in competing water sports such as recreational boating, water skiing and canoeing.

The growing popularity of canoe trips down such rivers as the Au Sable and Manistee has resulted in the fishermen having to duck increasing traffic.

The fly fishermen feel they are being backed against the wall. They will be pleading for retention of a few miles of stream for a place where they won't have to compete against the fellows dunking nightcrawlers.

Mays' Streak Doesn't Halt Giants' Dip

By The Associated Press

Willie Mays has the world on a string, but that hasn't kept the San Francisco Giants from riding a 10-game losing streak to a 10-10 record.

Mays became the 10th major leaguer to reach the 400-home run mark when he connected in the third inning Tuesday night, triggering a homer salvo that powered the Giants to a 7-2 victory over St. Louis and into a second-place tie with the Cardinals.

Both the Giants and Cardinals are 6½ games back of pace-setting Los Angeles. The Dodgers, who have held the top spot without interruption since July 2, edged Cincinnati 3-2 as Frank Howard slugged a key two-run homer.

Mays has been trying to keep the Giants within striking distance, but the defending champions have been going up-and-down with such regularity that they have actually lost ground while Willie has hit safely in 27 of 28 games.

On July 28, Willie was hitting .274 with 22 homers and 55 runs batted in. Since then he has hit 10 homers, driven in 31 runs and brought his average up to .308.

and the Giants have fallen from 4½ to 6½ behind.

While Willie was collecting his 32nd homer, Hank Aaron took over the league lead from the Giants' Willie McCovey. Aaron hit his 35th and Warren Spahn posted his 17th victory in Milwaukee's 3-2 decision over Houston.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Philadelphia 4-3 and Pittsburgh beat the New York Mets 2-1.

DOOR OPENED

An error by Ken Boyer helped the Giants to a 3-0 lead in the second inning against Curt Simmons, 11-7, before Mays connected leading off the third. Orlando Cepeda followed with his 21st home run and Felipe Alou made it three in a row with his 16th. That was more than enough for Jack Sanford, who scattered eight hits for the Reds in the fourth but Richert, 2-1, and Ron Perrano pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way.

Howard's homer, the first for Los Angeles in nine games, gave the Dodgers a 2-1 lead in the second inning. Then, mustering two of their five hits, the weak-hitting Dodgers put across the decisive run in the third on singles by Spahn, 17-5, and headed for his 13th 20-victory season, shook off a shaky start and recorded his fifth straight complete game victory behind Aaron's hitting. Aaron tied the score with a two-run homer off Don Nisbarg, 6-6, in Sanjo's single and a sacrifice fly by Billy Williams. Lindy McDaniel, 9-6, got the victory with grounders. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds in the fourth but Richert, 2-1, and Ron Perrano pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way.

Shutout on one hit for six innings by Dennis Bennett, the Cubs broke loose against the Phillies for three runs in the seventh. The tying run came across when reliever Jack Baldschun hit Don Landrum with a pitch with the bases loaded. The Cubs broke the tie in the eighth on a walk, Ron Santo's single and a sacrifice fly by Billy Williams. Lindy McDaniel, 9-6, got the victory with grounders. Johnny Edwards hom-

The Pirates scored their runs in the ninth on a walk, a single by Manuel Mota and a comedy of errors on Mota's hit. Duke Carmel let the ball get through him as he ran scored and Mota eventually came across when Joe Christopher picked up the loose ball and threw wild to the plate. Until the ninth Mets rookie Grover Powell and Galen Cisco had held Pittsburgh to three hits. Powell left the game after being hit by Don Slidenon's line drive in the fifth.

Time Running Out for State Boxer

MUSKEGON (UPI)—Time is going to happen . . . Lane said as he pondered the possibility of getting Carlos Ortiz, the recognized lightweight champion everywhere but in Michigan, into the ring soon.

"It's been this way for years, you get tired of waiting and it gets especially tough when you go broke. I had to wait so long for that shot at Joe Brown and now I'm still waiting for another crack at it," Lane said.

MSU Gridders Use 'Wonders'

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State University coaches, players and fans hope the name of the hall where the Spartans are staying for early fall football drills rubs off — its called Wonders.

The six-story building was named for Wallace K. Wonders, MSU alumnus.

Head football coach Duffy Daugherty is holding daily meetings with his coaches in preparation for the season, groundskeepers are working and equipment crews claim everything from socks to helmets is in order.

The vanguard of the 75 Spartan gridders invited back will move onto campus Friday and the rest will come Saturday.

RIDER OF THE WEEK

DENNIS ATHERTON

Although Dennis has been riding his Triumph Cub for only one year, he came off top place in the lightweight State Championships scramble race on Aug. 11.

His best time was 2:17. Just another example of what these fine riders can do when they get their hands on it. Dennis is an employee of Fisher Body and lives at 2475 S. Cass Lake Road.

No Room at the Bottom

Guidance, Not Mottoes, Helps Students

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Sometimes educators lack into faulty notions in attempting to spur students on.

For years the cry has been "There's always room at the top," so study hard. Now it has been changed to "there's no room at the bottom." This is supposed to scare students and teachers into working harder.

But this approach may not work either. Its aim is to motivate the student. But too often motivation turns into pressure on students who lack know-how, the very ones who need help the most.

Increasing pressure on students who do not know how to do better only results in poorer grades, not better ones.

It is of utmost importance that you show the student what to do to learn more correctly, before you start putting on pressure. I've watched students over the years raise their goals and increase their efforts to learn, but only after they discovered the techniques of learning properly.

Now we need to upgrade students at every level. Even the ability to get as much as they student making excellent grades can from their school experience. So let's put our drive for improving education in the proper order.

Remember that improving average grades, it's a sure sign they are using the wrong procedures.

BREAK HABITS

All along the line, the key to upgrading is in breaking poor learning habits.

As teachers and parents, we must spot the learning procedures that will cause trouble, and help replace them with better methods.

All children start out eager to learn. They crawl, walk and talk because of inner drives. But somewhere in the educational system, too many lose this native enthusiasm. It's lost when we neglect to put them on the right track.

Schools Share Name, Student-Teacher Ideas

FREMONT, Ohio (U) — As long as they share a common name, Ohio's two Lakota high schools figure they can share ideas, too.

The two schools, one in northern Ohio not far from Lake Erie and the other near Cincinnati in southwest Ohio, have set up a student-teacher exchange and have swapped visits.

Several years ago one of my fellow oldtimers pointed out a young bridge player to me and said, "There is the luckiest kid I have ever seen."

It seems that West had cashed the ace and king of hearts and shifted to the nine of clubs. The kid had won with the king, played a spade to dummy's ace and then another spade. My friend, sitting East, had won with the king (dropping his partner's queen) and cashed his jack. Then he led another club. The kid had won with the ace and the queen of clubs, gone into a short huddle and ruffed with dummy's last trump.

This left him in dummy with nothing but six diamonds. He had led the ace of diamonds; dropped his friendly singleton king and made his five spade contract with an overtrick.

In "All Fifty-two Cards" the

kid, who is Marshall Miles, explains the play.

He points out that West had passed originally with a long heart suit headed by the ace and king, plus the queen of spades. Many players would open the hand; all players would if it also included the king of diamonds.

In addition it appeared that West had 7-2-2-2 distribution. East was marked with the singleton king of diamonds and Marshall had decided to have a little fun and act like a dope who had ruffed his own winner by mistake and then been forced to drop a singleton king.

Harmon Asks Pollution Action

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, is one of ten men George Romney will appoint to a new commission. The group will study problems in implementing the county home rule provisions of the new state constitution.

The commission, which will make recommendations to the regular session of the 1964 State Legislature, was announced yesterday.

Chairman is Horace Hodge of Bay City, chairman of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors.

Other members are: William T. Patrick Jr., chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors; Bernard Kalahar of Mount Clemens, chairman of the Macomb County Board of Supervisors; and John E. McCauley of Wyandotte, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors Ways and Means Committees.

Others are: D. Hale Brake of Stanton, education director of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors; J. R. Damore of Traverse City city manager; Al VanderLaan of Denton, a township supervisor; Charles Folio of Escanaba, former Constitution Convention delegate and University of Michigan Extension Service representative; and Tony Stamm, Kalamazoo County clerk.

Judge Orders Youth to Pay Restitution

A 17-year-old Waterford youth admitted breaking into Commander Aviation, Inc., at Pontiac Municipal Airport June 18 was placed on three years' probation yesterday and ordered to pay restitution of $394.

James D. Simmons, of 6120 Van Syle, was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams. Simmons previously was charged with safe robbery, but was permitted to plead guilty Aug. 5 to the lesser charge of breaking and entering.

Some $700 was reported taken from a safe in the airport building.

Youth Put on Probation, Pays for Troy Burglary

A Warren youth was placed on three years' probation yesterday and ordered to pay $30 restitution for his July 18 burglary of the Northwest Golf Center, 1100 W. Maple, Troy.

John Buttry, 19, of 35674 Dequindre was sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. Buttry pleaded guilty Aug. 5 to the break-in, which netted some $113 in cash.

Ride Costs Hitchhiker 5 Dollars

"Usually it's the hitchhiker who robs the motorist. But a teen-age hitchhiker was robbed of $5 early this morning by a motorist."

Fred Clark, 18, of 649 Gargano, Clawson, told Pontiac police that the motorist, in his early 20s, picked him up in Royal Oak and dropped him off in Pontiac after refusing to stop near Clawson.

"I need the money worse than you," Clark told the motorist as saying. The driver said he had a gun but didn't show it.

The robbery occurred about 3 a.m. Clark said the man was driving a white Tempest and it may have had Illinois license plates.

MANUFACTURER'S REPRESENTATIVE

A leading promotion-minded, midwestern start-run stamping plant, that has many of the country's foremost manufacturers in its client list, is now seeking a representative in the Pontiac market. You will have the advantages of well-timed public relations and direct mail campaigns and a reputation that has been carefully built on highest quality and precision and fast delivery. This is a challenging and highly remunerative opportunity for the man who wants to align himself with a young and vigorous organization that has positive growth and profit potentials. Write us about yourself in complete confidence. Tell us about your background and experience, the lines you are now handling, your age and marital status. Most of all—tell us why you believe you can sell short-run stampings. Write Box 4, The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Commissioner Charles H. Harmon last night recommended stronger measures to stop pollution of Sylvan Lake and the Clinton River by Waterford Township sewage.

Harmon said the problem no longer fell into the realm of public relations between the city and township.

"The occasional letter asking that the township do something about it hasn't been getting any results," he said. "It's time we pursued this continually and do it with legal counsel."

Harmon's remarks came after an appeal was voiced by Arthur Warwick of 231 S. Josephine, who said he represented homeowners in Pioneer Highlands subdivision.

Warwick complained of what he termed the constant pollution of Sylvan Lake.

"We spent about $40 for pellets to treat the water," Warwick said, "but they only affect small areas along the beach."

NO HELP

Warwick wondered if Pontiac's new sewage treatment plant would help solve any of the problem. City officials said the plant doesn't treat any refuse in the Clinton River, which flows through Sylvan Lake.

"The court forced Pontiac to build a sewage plant," Harmon said. "Waterford can get some sewage aid if they try."

He said he thought the city should urge township officials to apply for some sewage treatment aid through the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

Harmon pointed out that if communities west of Pontiac would stop dumping untreated sewage into the river, the city could make more use of Crystal Lake from a recreational standpoint.

FORD'S DREAM CAR—The Allegro, first of several styling experimental cars to be shown in the Ford Motor Co. exhibit at the 1964 World's Fair, is called by company stylists 'a practical dream car—a car of the future that could be built today.'

It contains several automotive advances, such as adjustable brake and accelerator pedals, fixed seats permitting increased rigidity, and a fold-away steering wheel with a memory unit which—at the press of a button—returns to the place the driver had when he left the car. The Allegro can accommodate four persons; its engine compartment has sufficient space to hold a 170-cubic-inch engine.

Charged with the shotgun slaying of a Farmington Township man, William Bevens, 26, of Redford Township stood mute Tuesday in Redford Township Justice Court.

Bevens was accused of shooting Donald Jones, 21, of 31324 Burbank after an argument at Bevens' home early Saturday night.

A plea of innocent was entered for Bevens yesterday. He is being held without bond in the Wayne County jail pending examination Sept. 9.

Hollywood's Sophisticates Turning to Motorcycles

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — You never can tell how a girl will turn out. Take beautiful, glamorous, intelligent, talented Janet Leigh. She's become a motorcyclist.

"Now listen here," Janet retorted when I teased her about it, "some of Hollywood's very sophisticated people and business men ride motorcycles now! We're not nuts. We're not in the black jacket set. Parking's easy. Six of us parked our motorcycles in one automobile parking spot the other day — for one nickel."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . Mickey Mantle and Sandy Kaufman'll be on the Ed Sullivan TV set Sept. 29 (even if they're not in the series) . . . Sue ("Lolita") Lyon, 17, moved out of her mother's house and into her own Hollywood pad . . . Skitch Henderson left P. J. Clarke's a moment before ex-wife Fay Emerson entered . . . Jean Seberg'll open an art gallery in Paris; she has 300 paintings staged in her apartment there.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Don Rickles says at Las Vegas Sahara that he's quitting golf: "It's not the game that gives me trouble — it's learning to drive those crazy cars."

EARL'S PEARLS: A Washington rumor (flashed by Bob Orben) is that the Postmaster General quit because the Russians broke our Zip Code . . . That's earl, brother.

Georgia Tension Cited

Desegregation Halted

By United Press International

A federal judge, citing racial tension, yesterday blocked the first voluntary school desegregation in the Deep South state of Georgia.

The ruling, which stopped the enrollment of six Negroes at a Brunswick, Ga., high school, was handed down while Negroes from throughout the nation traveled to Washington for today's historic freedom march on the nation's capital.

Although the Brunswick integration was blocked, the school board at nearby Savannah, Ga., announced yesterday that 21 Negroes will be admitted to two white high schools.

The Savannah board acted under an order of the same judge who halted the Brunswick desegregation.

At Buras, La., Archbishop John P. O'Day called for citizens to overthrow "hateful influences" which he blamed for an explosion and fire at a once-integrated Catholic school.

The bishop yesterday closed Our Lady of Good Harbor No. 2 school after a gasoline blast and fire ripped the building Monday night.

Racial developments elsewhere in the nation:

● OCALA, Fla. — Thirty-one Negroes were to be arraigned in County Court here today on charges stemming from recent racial demonstrations.

● KING AND QUEEN, Va. — Registration continues today for The Private York Academy which was created in King and Queen County when 38 Negroes were assigned to white public schools for this fall.

● CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — Arlington County Commonwealth's Attorney William J. Hassan said civil rights marchers who remain in the Washington area after today's demonstration may create problems for northern Virginia.

● MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Suit was filed in federal court here yesterday by a Negro student seeking entrance to Auburn University graduate school. Harold A. Franklin, a 1962 graduate of Alabama State College, named William V. Parker, dean of the graduate school, and Charles W. Edwards, university registrar, as defendants.

● BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A school board spokesman said yesterday Gov. George Wallace has promised not to interfere with desegregation of Birmingham schools next Wednesday.

● JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Duval County school officials said yesterday that several previously segregated schools here will be opened to Negroes Sept. 3.

● MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Montgomery's first integrated elementary school will open here Sept. 3 at Maxwell Air Force Base.

● DANVILLE, Va. — Civil rights leaders interrupted a new series of anti-segregation demonstrations here today to participate in the mass march in Washington.

● TUSKEGEE, Ala. — The Macon County Board of Education meets tomorrow night to study applications from 48 Negroes who have applied for transfer to white schools.

● FARMVILLE, Va. — An assault charge against a Prince Edward County deputy sheriff accused of kicking a Negro demonstrator was dismissed yesterday because of a lack of evidence.

Nhu Works Closely With Brother

Diem Still Heads Viet Nam Power Structure

(Editor's Note — What has happened in Viet Nam? Here is an uncorroborated analysis by an AP correspondent who knows the key figures and has reported the news from Viet Nam for the last two years.)

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE, SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — During the past week, soldiers have seized key installations. Internal policies seem to have become ruthlessly repressive. There have been a thousand theories as to who has been telling whom to do what.

But behind the sound and fury, there has been little if any change in the basic power structure. The residents of Gia Long Palace, President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, are plainly calling the shots. The armed forces are following orders. It becomes increasingly evident that the whole crisis was planned down to smallest details. The sequence of confusing and violent events was predicted by show.

Buddhist monks, now either dead in hospitals or in prisons. The monks said the armed forces would seize control in the dead of night, and a few hours later, the palace would reassert control, jailing political opponents and monks.

It happened much like that shortly after midnight last Wednesday.

U.S. BLAMES NHU The government has said the army did the initiating. The U.S. State Department has said Nhu was the instigator, and that the army played no willing role.

According to one theory, Diem actually has ceded power to Nhu, becoming himself a figurehead. This theory, held by some American officials, is not new.

One year ago, a ranking U.S. military officer in charge of a semisecret mission told this correspondent: "If you ask me, there already has been a coup in Viet Nam. Nhu has seized power from his brother, and is running the show."

News Analysis

Top Vietnamese officials look at it differently.

One close to the palace said this week: "Americans have always made the mistake of thinking that President Diem and his brother are very different or are constantly arguing with each other or something. They have always worked very closely together and probably always will. You must consider them together, not as two separate factors."

There are, of course, differences in their roles.

IMAGE PRESERVED Diem has preserved an image that casts him as an idealistic and somewhat aloof statesman, stubborn and courageous, and the grand strategist.

The image of Nhu is that of the crafty tactician. He is a short man with hollow cheeks, a flickering smile that comes and goes at odd moments. A man of the world, he speaks impeccable French and a kind of Vietnamese that many natives find difficult to understand.

Nhu controls the secret police and intelligence apparatus. His agents are everywhere—even at company level in the armed forces.

He heads the strategic hamlet program, which the United States regards as the best hope for eventual victory over the Viet Cong. His power also extends over the Republican Youth Corps, a paramilitary organization of about one million members, composed mainly of civil servants. Finally, Nhu has a steel control over the press and information channels.

CONTRASTS Nhu often appears in public, to address rallies and preach the palace line. Diem appears less often.

Nhu frequently is critical of America. Diem generally keeps his criticism private.

Nhu probably exerts more direct power than anyone in South Viet Nam. But he still is under the president's authority. "When the president needs Nhu and his methods, he pushes the button, and Nhu goes into action," a foreign diplomat said. "Diem apparently pushed the button last Tuesday night."

Since Diem and Nhu know they must have American support, why did they strike at the Buddhists, students and political opposition, knowing these moves would alienate the United States?

"You forget," a government official said, "America has sent a lot of aid to Viet Nam. We have enough military supplies to keep the war against the Viet Cong going for six months without more aid. After that, America will be back; even if it pulls out now. You're not going to let this country fall to the Communists."

ARMY TO STAY LOYAL? The best guess is that the army will remain loyal, at least for the time being. Its generals are reliable palace appointees, and the smaller units have

Terror Spreads in Haiti as Papa Doc's Suspicion Grows

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haitian roulette is more complicated but no less deadly than its Russian counterpart. Suppose you drive by the heavily guarded national palace at night on four very bad tires.

AP SPECIAL REPORT
"If you have a blowout," explained a Haitian businessman, "it's the end. The explosion will draw a barrage of fire from every trigger-happy guard on duty." Even if apocryphal, the account of this new local sport serves to dramatize two facts of life in the Haiti of dictator Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier:

1. Very real fear of a blowout in front of the palace is only one of many varieties of terror flourishing here.

2. The main force of this terror is the palace, the arsenal-fortress which Papa Doc, in a bizarre pact with his sense of historic mission, has pledged to turn into a "Himalaya of bodies, rivers of blood" in any attempt to depose him.

Divaller armed hands this month resulted in a wave of reprisals here and in the interior demonstrating that Papa Doc is not making idle threats.

Scores are believed to have been killed or imprisoned—where death sometimes is the only parole—on suspicion of disloyalty. Operating in the invasion area, Duvalier's special security corps, the Tonton Macoutes, are said to have hurled hand grenades into homes of those thought to have even smiled at rebels.

Political reprisal business became so brisk in his time that Duvalier converted the basement section of the National Palace and the one-time military barracks at Ft. Dimanche into special prisons equipped with torture cells.

Survivors of these political prisons are reluctant to relate their experiences in detail. But the northern frontier invasions by his enemies have exposed

Here and in the National Penitentiary, solitary confinement means enclosure in the "jolibois," to stay in power. tiny cubicles with just enough room to squat or stand hunched over. The low ceiling is sheet metal on which you can panbroll a steak in mid-day heat. A shallow pan in a corner serves the daily hygienic needs.

But the northern frontier invasions by his enemies have exposed signs that Papa Doc is now a reluctant to part with heavy ammunition he keeps locked up in the palace.

DISTRUSTS ARMY
Duvalier distrusts the army which he purposely weakened while arming his own civilian militia and Tonton Macoutes. When heavily armed terrorists mounted a spectacular attack on his forces in Port au Prince's foothills last month, the dictator refused to send in the regular army until the militia was routed with heavy losses. Even then, Papa Doc showed an astonishing Scared of the long tradition of fragile loyalties among Haiti's partisans of power and of the spreading unrest, the dictator has virtually buried himself in the palace, his last sanctuary.

There he is surrounded by a powerfully equipped special palace guard, the only tanks and cannon left in the country, most of the ammunition—and his deep

But many Haitians will tell you nothing will save Papa Doc because the mahogany presidential chair has a "range"—pronounced run-jay—or malediction and any one who sits in it goes mad and dies.

Hope for 25 Miners Dims

EXPLOSION SCENE Twenty-five miners were trapped yesterday 3,200 feet below ground in one of two tunnels extending from the bottom of a 2,712-foot shaft to the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co.'s potash deposits in southeastern Utah. The vertical shaft extends from the bottom of the headframe, pictured before it was completed.

Gas Discovered at Blast Scene

Utah Potash Works Hit by Explosion

MOAB, Utah (AP) — Rescuers ran into deadly carbon monoxide gas today in the depths of a potash mine in which 25 men were entombed by an explosion. Presence of the gas dimmed already slim hopes the men would be found alive.

State Mine Inspector Steve Hatis said the gas was discovered at the bottom of the 2,712-foot shaft, one of the deepest in North America.

The missing men are scattered out somewhere beyond and below that level in one of two lateral tunnels extending from the base of the main shaft.

MUST GET AIR
Before rescuers can go farther, Hatis said, they must establish a new air supply in the main shaft, which goes straight down the distance of nearly 100 feet.

He said this would involve installing new tubing in the bottom of the shaft and pumping in fresh air. The old tubing was destroyed by the explosion. The inspector said it would take about five or six hours to complete the new ventilating system and get on with the search.

Hatis held out hope the men might still be alive. He said they could have found air pockets in the two lateral tunnels in which they were working.

Frank Tippet, head of the potash division of Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., operator of the mine, said the rescue teams had not established contact with the trapped men.

Asked if there was any chance the men were alive, Tippet said, "I wouldn't even attempt a guess. I think there's a chance."

OVER 30 RESCUERS
More than 30 men were directly involved in the rescue attempt. They were going down one crew of three at a time, with crews rotating every half hour or so.

Tippet said the first crews down encountered gases and intense heat, generated by the blast.

He said an effort would be made to restore the ventilation system before rescuers started the actual job of searching for the missing men. There were hints it might take several days to find them.

The explosion, of undetermined cause, occurred at about 10:30 a.m. on Aug. 27.

Escape Hole Drilled to Louis Bova

HAZELTON, Pa. (AP) — Workers today drove a 12-inch escape hole toward a mine chamber 305 feet underground where it is believed Louis Bova, 54, may be trapped.

But officials could not say immediately if they were successful in reaching Bova until the drill pipe is removed and microphones and possibly a camera are lowered.

At the same time, David Fellin, 58, who was rescued yesterday along with Henry Thorne, 28, from the mine after nearly two weeks, told a news conference that "I know he (Bova) is down there, and I am sure he is alive."

Meanwhile, drilling of two other shafts also was under way. Appearing rested at this news conference at the Hazleton State Hospital, Fellin said Bova should be alive.

"There's water down there and he can live without food," he said. "He said Bova is his buddy and if someone else will not go down to try to help, he himself will do so."

The 12-inch drill that broke through today was driven down by the giant rig that bored, and then enlarged to 18 inches, the rescue shaft by which Fellin and Thorne were pulled to the surface.

2,300 Voters Sign

Jaycees Gain Momentum

Efforts by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce Charter Amendment Committee gathered momentum this week—10 days after their petition drive began.

The Jaycees reported a total of 2,300 signatures to date. A spokesman said 800 petitions were still being circulated.

The actual number of signatures, secured so far is in doubt, Jaycees added, because completed petitions have just begun to trickle in to charter amendment headquarters, 510 Community National Bank Building.

A meeting was planned for tonight to map a final drive for 7,500 to 8,000 total signatures by mid-September.

A door-to-door campaign appeared likely, although a Jaycees spokesman said this was only one of the methods proposed.

The charter amendment committee made a plea for additional volunteers to circulate petitions, but at the same time asked that completed petitions be returned to the group's Bank Building office.

The petitions request that a special election be held, at which the public can vote on a charter amendment proposed by Jaycees to change the method of electing city commissioners.

The proposed method would retain nomination by district, but allow each elector to vote for seven candidates, one from each district, in the general election.

Presently, electors can vote for only one candidate from their own district.

Only persons who are registered voters in Pontiac can sign and circulate petitions.

PENNSYLVANIANS WALK — Western Pennsylvania civil rights demonstrators today follow their sign-carrying leaders on their way to the Washington Monument headquarters of the march on Washington. In the background is the Capitol.

Rail Legislation 'We Want Freedom, Likely in Time ... Freedom Now'

Government Certain Strike Will Be Averted

WASHINGTON (AP) — High government sources expressed confidence today that Congress will whip out legislation in time to avert a nationwide rail strike threatened for one minute after midnight.

Racing the clock, the House takes up legislation ground out as carriers and unions prepared for the possibility of a massive walkout.

The measure would force arbitration to settle the two big issues in the work rules dispute. The elimination of 32,000 firemen's jobs and how many men are needed to run a train.

Under the Senate measure, there would be 180 days for arbitration-negotiations before a strike could ensue if the lesser issues were still unsettled. Further congressional action might be requested then.

House leaders hoped to pass the measure and speed it to President Kennedy for signing before the strike deadline.

With the walkout threat just around the bend, the Senate inched out the throttle, beat down other proposals and pushed through the emergency measure which is similar to one that had been drafted by the House Commerce Committee.

EXPECTED TO SIMPLIFY

This is expected to simplify matters, for leaders plan to have the House take up the Senate bill as a substitute for its own version.

That way the House could pass the measure and send it straight to the White House, rather than returning it to the Senate for final action.

Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, expressed belief the House can act on the measure in time to block the strike which would tie up 135 railroads, practically every major line in the country.

Five operating unions representing the engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen and switchmen have said they will strike the moment the railroads put into effect the job-cutting new work rules.

Last month, the carriers agreed to hold off on the new rules for 30 days to give Congress time to act in the dispute.

Congressional leaders appealed again yesterday for more time, fearing they would not be able to act in time. But the railroads' chief negotiator, J. E. Wolfe, said the carriers would not delay the new rules any longer and that the last postponement was a mistake. He said "the time was not used for legislative purposes."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Standing before the marble statue of Abraham Lincoln who freed the slaves 100 years ago, civil rights leaders told massed marchers today: "We must free ourselves of the chains of political and economic slavery."

"... We want freedom. Freedom now."

It was the climax of a long day for hundreds of civil rights supporters, Negro and white, who marched together down the tree-lined mile from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial to hear from the leaders of the 10 organizations sponsoring today's rally.

One after another they spoke, facing the great pool which mirrors the towering white shaft of the Washington Monument in the distance.

"We march today for jobs and freedom," said John Lewis, head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

"In good conscience," he said in his prepared remarks, "we cannot support the administration's civil rights bill, for it is too little, and too late."

"This nation is still a place of cheap political leaders who build their careers on immoral compromises and ally themselves with the forces of political, economic and social exploitation," said Lewis, and he added:

"What political leader here can stand up and say 'My party is the party of principles'? The party of Kennedy is also the party of expediency."

The greatest share of the increase will be paid by local industries, Teel said.

He explained, for example, that one industry which has paid a quarterly minimum charge of $252 on its four meters would now pay $1,014 quarterly.

In addition, Teel said there is an added charge where water consumption exceeds the applicable amount. This is rated at 6½ cents per 100 cubic feet of water.

The current quarterly minimum charge for sewage disposal is $2.25. This includes most home owners, he said. Under the new rate, this charge will jump to $2.55.

Teel said the rate increase would amount to about 30 cents quarterly on residential meters.

The city receives $334,819 annually for sewage disposal. This will jump to $514,200 with the new rates. He said this would offset the increased operating costs of Pontiac's two sewage treatment plants.

Teel added that the city had 19,773 domestic meters which are charged the minimum rate.

Negroes Mass to Ask Antibias Legislation

Singing, Festive Group Met by Congressmen at Lincoln Memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Singing, sign-carrying thousands marched from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial today in a mass call for Congress to bar racial discrimination up and down the fabric of American life. Police estimated the turnout at 100,000 at 11:20 a.m. (10:20 a.m. Pontiac time).

Advance estimates had ranged all the way from 100,000 to 250,000. Chief of Police Robert Murray gave the 100,000 estimate at 11:20 a.m.

In any event, the marchers, Negro and white but heavily Negro, were an impressive sight for those Congress members who came to the Lincoln Memorial in response to invitations from the march leaders.

The march, scheduled to begin at 11:30 a.m., actually got under way informally soon after 11.

Most of the Congress members who came to the memorial exercises were already committed to support one or more of the pending bills known as civil rights legislation.

It appeared doubtful that any legislative votes were being changed by what march leaders called this "new concept of lobbying," or by personal calls the leaders made at the Capitol.

The march leaders met with Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate and House. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said no commitments were asked or given in the session with him.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois pledged support for all of the administration's civil rights program except the public accommodations bill. This has been Dirksen's position all along.

Wilkins said House GOP Leader Charles Halleck of Indiana told him he was "holding conferences" on the legislation and the Republican attitude always has been friendly to civil rights.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., was quoted as saying "I am not sure we can afford to let this march pass without a strong statement of support from the House."

An Editorial Is This Justice?

Some 80,000 wondering citizens are puzzled by the legal setup in the Stuer case. The City Commission presents charges against the city manager, listens to his own presentation of the evidence — AND THEN RENDERS THE VERDICT.

How come?

A lawyer doesn't try a case and then don judicial robes and solemnly announce a decision. Apparently the charter provides for this procedure, and so it appears as though we need still another charter amendment when this mess is over.

Would you like to be sued by a group which took you into court, submitted its own testimony, let you present your case and then rendered the decision? The fact doesn't rest with the commissioners. They didn't write the charter, but it appears as though they're legally entitled to play with a stacked deck.

The United States? That sounds like Russia. We mean Russia at her worst.

Information Is Erroneous

Viet Note Calls U.S. 'Unjust'

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem's regime today the U.S. State Department has shown "a profound unjust doubt in the government of (South) Viet Nam, based on totally erroneous information."

A government note referred to a State Department declaration of Aug. 21 which deplored methods used by Vietnamese security forces against Buddhists early on the morning of Aug. 21. Pagodas throughout the nation were sacked, and thousands of Buddhist monks and nuns were beaten, shot or arrested.

"The government of Viet Nam reaffirms its determination to continue its policy of conciliation toward the Buddhists," the latest note said, "but it is also resolved to unmask all political saboteurs hiding under various disguises."

The note described monks who had led the Buddhist campaign for "religious freedom and social justice" as political saboteurs bent on subversion, including stockpiling of arms and printing machinery for carrying on clandestine propaganda.

The State Department declaration was called "prejudicial to the honor and prestige of Viet Nam."

which has never broken its word to whomsoever it made promises."

The note followed up a declaration by the joint military command in Saigon, broadcast by the official Viet Nam press, that high military officers promised to impose martial law last week.

Army chiefs proposed the decree and are seeing that it is carried out, the broadcast said, quoting a communique from military headquarters.

The communique apparently was intended to rebut a statement by the U.S. State Department Monday that Viet Nam's military leaders had no warning of the plan to impose martial law.

"The communique specifically denied accounts it said had maintained that only small groups of Vietnamese special forces had carried out the decree without the knowledge of their commanders."

"The United States had absolved the military from responsibility for the crackdown on Buddhists and by implication blamed President Diem and his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, head of security police. The communique appeared to remove doubts of army loyalty to Diem."

Railroad Strike Expected to Be Averted

ernment began taking steps in case Congress could not beat the deadline.

The Post Office Department announced an embargo on all but first class and air mail should the walkout occur.

It said second, third and fourth class mail would not be delivered.

lines will stop handling freight before the strike deadline and will cancel passenger trains—which would not reach their destination before the walkout is scheduled to begin.

The unions began setting up strike headquarters. A spokesman said each of the five brotherhoods planned to maintain its own headquarters at home offices—three in Cleveland, Ohio, one in Buffalo, N.Y., and one at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The big Pennsylvania Railroad said it would begin a gradual shutdown of its services in advance of the deadline to make certain no trains would be caught between stations.

Long Island Rail Road trainmen had planned an 11 a.m. mass meeting today, a demonstration that would have tied up the road. But a U.S. District Court issued a temporary restraining order barring the meeting.

Michigan Will Suffer if Walkout Declared

By The Associated Press

If the nation's rails are idled by a strike tonight at midnight, the economic blow to Michigan would be particularly cruel.

Southern Michigan, with its automotive, processed foods and furniture industries, would suffer almost immediately. In the Upper Peninsula where iron and copper mines can struggle their produce, the full brunt of the rail strike could be delayed about a month.

Ward's Automotive Reports gives the production of 1964 model cars only 72 hours after the start of a general rail strike. The world's auto-making capital, Detroit, could look for mass layoffs numbering in the tens of thousands within the week.

Automotive layoffs would punish lower Michigan at once. General Motors is the biggest single employer in Grand Rapids, with 6,000 employees there. And the secondary effects, to suppliers of components, would follow closely the end of auto production.

for many schoolchildren when the academic year starts.

At Battle Creek, the "cereal capital of the world," breakfast food firms indicated their fear is not so much being unable to get raw materials as being unable to get their products out of town.

Stockpiled grain could keep manufacturing going a year, and the only major in-shippments by rail are tank cars of liquid sugar. But, without rail service out of town, warehouses would be filled within hours.

The Upper Peninsula ports to Escanaba and Marquette could expect immediate layoffs of hundreds of persons engaged in transferring iron from the Marquette Monominer and Gogebic range from rail to Great Lakes ships.

This is one of the busiest years in recent history for the ore business, and next weekend was expected to be one of the busiest of the year.

Iron mining firms could keep mining in some cases, stockpiling against the day the strike ends. But one mining industry spokesman pointed out: "There will be no marketing, no income. A business can't go for long with no income."

origin, ripped through the mine at 4:40 p.m. Tuesday.

The blast came little more than an hour after the night crew had descended to the two tunnels running downward at an angle from the main shaft.

Moab, at a town of about 6,000, was stunned by the disaster.

MISHAP 2 WEEKS AGO

Taylor said two men were hospitalized with burns three weeks ago after a small gas pocket blew out as they were drilling dynamite holes in the shaft.

O. A. Wiesley, state industrial commissioner, said petroleum leads in the area would explain the possible presence of methane gas in the mine, but Tippet said cause of the blast was not known.

The miners were working in solid rock, advancing in an 8-by-10 foot tunnel only an arm's length at a time, blasting with dynamite to make their way.

Most of the miners, commute the 23 miles from Moab. At one time, there were as many as 100 miners at the site. The figure has dropped steadily since the main shaft was completed in late February.

Green Mask Bandit Robs Gas Station

A bandit armed with a shotgun held up the Tulsa Service Station, 701 S. Saginaw, and escaped with $36 early this morning.

Attendant William Smith, 19, of 210 S. Shirley told Pontiac police he was sitting in the office at 3:12 a.m. when the man, wearing a green mask, came in and pointed the weapon at his face.

Smith said the man said nothing, but just grunted and pointed the gun at the cash drawer. After Smith opened it, the bandit took $1 bills but left behind three $5 bills and change.

George Montgomery Maid Fails to Kill Actor

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A former maid of actor George Montgomery and his divorced wife, Daphne Shore, tried to shoot him Tuesday because she was in love with him, police said.

A bullet missed Montgomery by inches as he wrestled a pistol from her, officers said.

The woman, Ruth Wenzel, 37, was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Police said they found a note in the woman's purse. "I am planning to kill George Montgomery and then myself, of course," it said.

"No one loves him as much as I do."

The note added that she didn't want him going out with "those stupid girls."

Police Sgt. Joe Barton said Miss Wenzel worked for Montgomery and Miss Shore for eight months several years ago.

Barton said Miss Wenzel apparently broke into the actor's home Sunday and waited for him until his return from New York.

Boat Accident Brings Warrant

A warrant was issued yesterday against a 31-year-old Pontiac man who was driver of a boat that critically injured a 12-year-old boy in a Walters Lake accident July 20.

Warren Baker of 436 Boyd was charged with reckless operation of a motorboat, a misdemeanor.

Oakland County Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert J. Templin said police had delayed asking for a warrant until it was determined whether the boy would live.

An announcement last night said Khrushchev and Tito had discussed the international Communist movement, with emphasis on "strengthening the unity of the movement."

Communist China has split the movement with attacks on the Soviet Union and specifically on Khrushchev. Peking lumps Khrushchev and Tito as "running dogs of Western imperialism."

Bloomfield Twp. Okays Noise Control Ordinance

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—An ordinance designed to control excessive noise has been passed by the Township Board.

Construction noises will be allowed from 7 a.m. - 6 p.m. However, a permit must be obtained from the township supervisor for work at other times.

Equipment being used for emergency work on water and sewer lines will be exempt.

Trustees authorized Supervisor Homer Case to purchase radar equipment for one township patrol car. Estimated cost for the initial radar installation is $1,000.

The board accepted the recommendation of the township planning commission to rezone a parcel of property at Roswell and Woodward from multiple family to a business classification.

The rezoning will allow construction of a new store by Lewis Furniture Co. of Pontiac.

Leonard T. Lewis said today final plans have not been made for the Bloomfield Township location.

In other action, the assessment role for a $99,350 sanitary sewer project in Williamsburg subdivision was confirmed.

Negro Gains Assured President

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Negro gains of 1963 will never be reversed, President Kennedy said today as thousands amassed here for an unprecedented civil rights march.

In a statement calling for ever greater efforts to achieve equal rights for all citizens, Kennedy said:

"These recent months, 100 years after the Emancipation Proclamation, have seen the decisive recognition by a major part of our society that all our citizens are entitled to full membership in the national community. The gains of 1963 will never be reversed."

Recent developments, said Kennedy, "lay a solid foundation for the progress we must continue to make in the months and years to come."

predicting the House would pass a strong civil rights bill.

In the late afternoon, the march leaders had an engagement to see President Kennedy. The White House reported Kennedy had watched part of the demonstration on television.

"There had been advance apprehensions that there might be violence, but the great crowd gathered at the Washington Monument and swung into its march without any marinating incidents."

"The thousands of demonstrators who poured into the city by rail, air and highway were in a festive holiday mood. The weather was pleasant."

And amidst the carnival picketing atmosphere on the monument grounds there was none to challenge that mood.

George Lincoln Rockwell, who calls himself leader of the American Nazi party, showed up in the area early with a small party of followers, but they were promptly surrounded by police and troops and kept some distance from the actual parade route.

Petition Step Forward for City

The petitionary campaign to initiate amendment to the City Charter affecting election of commissioners is meeting with widespread interest and concrete results.

Steady progress in obtaining the legally-required 7,500 signatures is reported. The deadline for filing the petitions is Sept. 15.

The revision, sponsored by the Pontiac area Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been under long consideration.

The amendment sought, calculated to strengthen and broaden Pontiac's city government, would prescribe the nomination of city commissioners in primary elections solely by districts; but in the general election following, the panel of seven would be elected by citywide vote on the 14 previously nominated (two each from the seven districts).

Our commission-manager form of city government, when permitted to function unhampered, is a most effective instrument.

Under it, citizens of a municipality are analogous to the stockholders of a corporation. In both instances, the constituency elects its representatives—directors for a corporation, commissioners for a city.

But since the elected functionaries in neither case are, or are expected to be, active in the administration of the entity—industrial or civic—their role is to appoint those qualified for executive responsibility. These latter in turn select operating specialists and department heads.

There is one glaring weakness, however, in Pontiac's present system. A commissioner, restrictively elected by a district, is prone to view city affairs in the narrow light of his own district—often with deleterious effect on the good of the City as a whole.

It is this restrictive and undemo-

Internal Revenue Bout Shows Youth 'Cents'

We herewith render resounding cheers for the keen-minded persistence of the 17-year-old Maryland high school senior in his tax tangle with the Income Tax Division of that state.

It seems that 63 cents was withheld by the lad's employer from a total $24 earned in 1962. But since it was below the minimum amount taxable, the "involuntary" taxpayer wants his 63 cents back.

In a series of letter exchanges the state concedes that collection of the tax was unwarranted, but that redress cannot be made because the law says that amounts less than $1 shall not be rebated.

But with legal sagacity worthy a Portia, the petitioner filed an amended tax return for the year in question: It increased the 63-cent tax paid but unworried by 38 cents, and was accompanied by a check in that amount.

See what the little slicker did? He's now established the falsity of his tax at $1.01 and hence subject to rebate under the tax division's own law.

Without in any way minimizing the resourcefulness of our young Blackstone, we wonder if he took his prescription out of the book of the doctor who told a patient that there is no cure for his cold, but that if he aggravate it into pneumonia effective treatment could be given.

cratic provision in our City Charter that should be eliminated.

Quiet Protests an Old, Old Story

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press-News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Today's civil rights march in Washington by perhaps 100,000 Negroes and whites—to protest racial injustices and to try to pressure Congress into passing a civil rights bill—has an ancient heritage.

From antiquity—by ones, twos, thousands, millions, in fiction, fact, literature, mythology and religion—people through disobedience and nonviolent resistance have asserted themselves against what they consider unjust treatment, laws, or edicts.

Yet, the history of their protests is full of contradictions and ironies.

Erich Fromm looks upon the first act of disobedience by Adam and Eve, in eating from the forbidden tree of knowledge, as an "original sin" which, instead of corrupting man, "set him free to become fully human."

Four hundred years before Christ, Socrates defied the government of Athens by refusing to stop encouraging the youth to question the ideas of their elders. While it was wrong to disobey a superior, he said, he would obey the gods rather than the government. He was sentenced to death.

Then he refused to escape his death cell. To do that, he said, after he had been condemned, would injure the government.

ANTIGONE AND CREON

It was civil disobedience, but nonviolent, when Sophocles' Antigone defied King Creon's order not to bury her mother. He walked her in to die for that.

And Aeschylus' Prometheus, at terrible cost to himself, befriended mankind by stealing fire from the gods. For Zeus chained him to a rock for the vultures to gnaw on.

In the New Testament's Sermon on the Mount, Jesus, who had driven the money changers from the temple, preached nonviolence with his admonition to turn the other cheek and walk two miles if anyone compelled you to walk one.

The ascetic Essenes, a sect of pre-Christian Jews took an oath to injure no one. And after Christ thousands of Jews used nonviolent resistance against the Romans. So did the early Christian martyrs, although the Christians gradually moved from pacifism to the just war to the Crusades.

The Quakers, whom Merle Curti called the "conscience of the 18th Century," were pacifists.

THOREAU'S EFFECT

Thoreau had an effect on Leo Tolstoy and, later, on Mohandas Gandhi. Tolstoy went to extremes in his view of nonviolence and civil disobedience.

He made no exception for the use of violence by a man to defend his country, his life, his family or even to save society from lunatics and criminals. Because he looked upon all governments as immoral, he advocated paying no taxes at all.

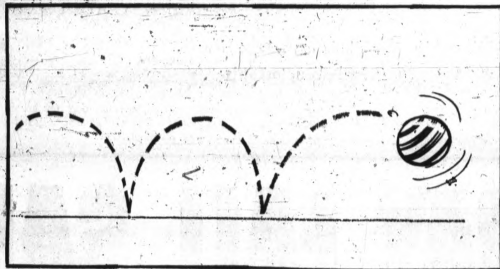

It was Gandhi who achieved the most sensational results in history with his policy of nonviolent resistance against the British to end their rule in India. Millions of Indians went along with him until they decided to get violent.

In the depression of 1894, Jacob S. Corey, Ohio businessman, led an array of 400 unemployed to Washington to petition Congress to create jobs.

In 1932, Congress ignored the army of unemployed veterans of World War I who came here to get paid for a bonus. Those that stayed were driven out by the regular Army.

Keep Your Eye On The Bouncing Ball . . .

... It May Be Followed By A Bouncing Boy!

David Lawrence Says:

Lincoln Held 'Extremist' Views

WASHINGTON — They stand before the shrine of Abraham Lincoln—before the impressive edifice which memorializes a great man, but do all those assembled this week before the massive statue of the country-lawyer who became president of the United States know what he really said about the race problem?

Would the Negro leaders of today venture to quote what Lincoln actually said in his public speeches more than 100 years ago?

It is generally realized, for instance, that Lincoln didn't favor the social equality of Negroes and whites and frankly stated that he didn't believe this should be established by law or otherwise?

Also, would what Lincoln had to say about the legitimacy of "resisting" court decisions be approved today by the members of the American Bar Association who voted recently for a resolution condemning the effort of certain groups to correct by legal methods—rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States considered to be unjust and arbitrary?

Yet it's all in a book published in 1958 by the Library of Congress, giving the stenographic records of speeches made by Abraham Lincoln in his famous debates with Stephen A. Douglas.

Lincoln denounced slavery, and then explained his position on the race problem generally, as he said:

"I have no purpose to introduce political and social equality between the white and the black races."

"I have never said anything to the contrary, but I hold that notwithstanding all this, there is no reason in the world why the Negro is not entitled to all the natural rights enumerated in the Declaration of Independence, the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"I hold that he is as much entitled to these as the white man. I agree with Judge Douglas, he is not my equal in many respects—certainly not in color, perhaps not in moral or intellectual endowment."

"But in the right to eat the bread, without leave of anybody else, his own hand earned, he is my equal and the equal of Judge Douglas, and the equal of every living man . . ."

ANOTHER SPEECH

In another speech in 1858, Lincoln said:

"I will say then that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races—that I am not nor ever have been in favor of making voters or jurors of Negroes, nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor to intermarry with white people; and I will say in addition to this that there is a physical difference between the white and black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality."

"And inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I as much as any other man am in favor of having the superior position assigned to the white race. . . ."

"I will add to this that I have never seen to my knowledge a man, woman or child who was in favor of producing a perfect equality, social and political between Negroes and white men."

So, irrespective of the bonage being paid, to Abraham Lincoln this week for a particular purpose, there are plenty of quotations which, if uttered by anyone else today, would cause many whites and Negroes to denounce such a spokesman as a "racist" or "extremist."

Yet the fact is that many people who want to see the Negro given every opportunity to advance in the economic field and enjoy the political privileges and benefits of life probably share the historic views of Abraham Lincoln.

Bob Considine Says:

Russian Amity for West Aided by Mrs. Khrushchev

WASHINGTON—The feeling of amity for the West is spreading through the Khrushchev household.

Frances Diehl, one of the reasons why San Francisco is our most hospitable city, landed in Moscow recently on a trip around the world. Intourist took her in tow at the airport, as is the practice, and whisked her downtown to the Ukraine Hotel, a massive five bag doggedly devoted to bad service.

Frances Diehl had served the Eisenhower Administration, at great personal expense incidentally, as a hostess to foreign VIP's visiting that area. Her hilltop home commanded a splendid view of Alcatraz.

To it (her home) came many world figures, including perhaps the shyest of them all, Nina Petrova Khrushchev.

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow showed magnificent restraint about even so much as a phone call to Mrs. Diehl, to see how she was getting along.

She embarked on the usual tourist rounds under Intourist guard and was looking forward to the day when American Express would spring her when one day the phone in her room rang and a voice said she had a visitor. Mrs. Diehl said she'd come down to the lobby.

Mrs. Khrushchev was waiting there, and hugged the startled American woman. She had heard Frances was in town, not through the embassy but through the Institute of Soviet-American Relations.

Orders began to fly about like velvet shrapnel. Frances was moved to the National Hotel, a comfortable and efficient relic of the Czarsist days.

A car was put at her disposal. The Khrushchevs had her to dinner at the official residence on the Lenin Hills. Mrs. K took her to the ballet, and she sat in the royal box.

The embassy hurriedly appraised a luncheon for Frances, swore somewhat abashedly that nothing like this had ever happened before.

And off she went to Paris, with a lovely bon voyage present from Nina Petrova under her arm, and a warm invitation to return.

The Treaty

El Mundo (San Juan, Puerto Rico)

The nuclear test ban treaty initiated in Moscow deserves an adequate and appreciative reception. It is the first solid step in many years to avoid nuclear war.

The tendency toward skepticism is more easily understood when one remembers that the Soviet Union has broken practically all of its international treaties. However, all efforts toward the avoidance of such a fearsome holocaust should be appreciated and supported. The United States initiated the pact in the belief that Russia is sincere.

This hope is based on realism since the Soviet Union is fully aware of the nuclear power of the United States.

The Soviet Union is as much interested in avoiding its own destruction as the United States itself. There is nothing to lose, but much to gain, in offering the Russians this opportunity to prove that they act in good faith. "Things are going well," the Soviet chief executive said.

"We wish they kept on going well," Secretary of State Dean Rusk replied.

If things start getting unstuck, then the world may well be lost.

The United States initiated this treaty determined to fulfill its provisions in all honesty. The Soviet Union must now decide, if for the first time, it should honor its word.

The United States knows that

Voice of the People:

'Ownership Rights Stolen Under Civil Rights Guise'

I was alarmed to learn that Michigan has a commission which has the authority to dictate to private property owners how and to whom they will be allowed to rent or sell their real estate. Do we now live in a totalitarian dictatorship controlled by mob rule?

Home owners have worked to make payments and have sacrificed to meet high taxes and insurance payments. This encroachment upon our right of individual ownership is being committed in the name of "civil rights."

Writer Gives Opinion on Capital March

Sunday I listened to the news. It was said the marchers would receive food, shelter, medical care, and police protection. I'd like to know where all these things were when one other march went to the capital. How JFK can sit idly in his rocking chair while this bunch takes over is a mystery to me.

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

It must pay the price of eternal vigilance. There has been no surrender. We are fully aware of the risks taken. And this includes the possibility that Red China and the Soviet Union may march together against the peace of the world. But the United States cannot reject the friendship offered by the Soviet Union.

Those who assume negative attitudes do not render any aid needed to avoid the destruction of the world. And should this horrible moment arrive, those who now give proof of their hope and their faith will be the heroes.

With honor and faith we have initiated the nuclear test ban treaty. So help us God.

Vocational Education

Henry T. Heald, President Ford Foundation

Vocational education has been the stepchild of the American education system since it was introduced at the turn of the century. Traditionally, schools have been in a better position to prepare students for college than for vocations. This is partly because business, industry and formal education have all been unable to reach a clear understanding of their respective roles in fitting modern youth for the modern labor market.

Now as the pace of technological change is constantly quickening, the demand for special knowledge and skills is mounting. At the same time, more young people are unemployed because they are unskilled. A rational, effective system of vocational education is needed.

However, the government agencies' demand for appropriations for new projects is very strong. In order to enable Japanese industry to bolster competitive power in world markets, it is essential that tax privileges be given industry. At the same time, the government should consider income tax cuts in order to stabilize the people's livelihood.

Film Spoofs Old-Time Musicals

'What a Way to Go!' Surely Is

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — It was just like old times. "Dozens of chorus boys and girls came tripping across the battleship, waving pennants and smiling, toothily while the glittering stars danced their duet in the foreground. Shades of "Anchors Aweigh" and "Hit the Deck!"

This was not a revival of the light-hearted, simple-minded musicals of Hollywood's past but a spoof thereof. It was a sequence for "What a Way to Go!" which appears to be satirizing all that the movies once held dear.

The star performers are Shirley MacLaine and Gene Kelly. They have been tripping through a dream sequence in which they interpret an Astaire-Rogers dance, a Macdonald-Eddy operetta and finally, the battleship number which harks back to Kelly's own past.

IT'S A BALL
"I'm having a ball," said Kelly, back to his beginnings as choreographer-dancer. "This kind of thing is easy to satirize. But, you know, those musicals were kind of wonderful, too."

"Everybody kids the Nelson Eddy-Jeanette MacDonald movies now, but when you see them on television you realize they were pretty darn good. They exposed millions of people to the best in operetta and probably raised our standards of music a few notches."

Shirley finished the number and collapsed in her dressing room. "This is rough work," she said. "I haven't danced in 12 years, and you've got to keep it up. Oh, I danced in 'Can Can,' but I was taking it. It gets tougher to fake it all the time."

Mind you, she's not complaining. Why should she, with the most impressive list of costars within memory: Kelly, Pat Newnam, Robert Mitchell, Dean Martin and Dick Van Dyke? Egan Liza Taylor never had it so good.

BIG PROBLEM

The gimmick is this: Shirley is a girl who yearns for the simple things of life. Trouble is, she's always marrying poor slobs who turn into millionaires. Bizarre accidents carry each one off to another life and she starts anew, only to end up with millions again. Sort of a problem picture.

"For the first time I get to wear pretty clothes in a picture," said Shirley. "Usually I'm an elevator operator, a street-walker, a beatnik or something like that."

The bill for her 70 gowns comes to $25,000, says the studio, 20th Century-Fox, which is proceeding on "What a Way to Go!" just as if there had been no "Cleopatra."

Budget: $5 million. Maybe those good old times are coming back.

Teen-Age Thieves
Get Probation Term

Two Pontiac teen-agers who admitted a number of burglaries after they were caught at the scene of an Independence Township break-in July 30 were placed on three years' probation yesterday.

Steven T. Sulkanen, 18, of 603 Whittemore and Joseph P. Cool, 17, were sentenced by Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams.

They pleaded guilty Aug. 12 to breaking and entering Lauscha's TV Store, 674 Dixie Highway, Independence Township, on July 30. They were leaving when apprehended by police.

A third youth who also admitted taking part in the burglaries was turned over to juvenile authorities.

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Premier Hendrik Verwoerd says Western nations which want South Africa to cooperate with them in times of difficulty should avoid antagonizing South Africa now.

African nations incensed by South Africa's apartheid — segregation — policies won a U.N. Security Council resolution calling for a worldwide arms embargo against South Africa.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Inflation-plagued Brazil's chief monetary unit, the cruzeiro, dropped to a record low Tuesday. By noon the rate of exchange was 1,000 cruzeiros to the dollar and the end of the plunge touched off by new government exchange regulations was not in sight. Over the weekend the government said banks could buy and sell dollars at a rate to be set by the government's Bank of Brazil.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Carl Carlsson von Horn of Sweden has resigned as commander of the U.N. truce force in Yemen, effective Saturday.

U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant said Tuesday night Von Horn quit for personal reasons. He did not elaborate. Thant named Col. Branko Pavlovic of Yugoslavia, deputy commander, to take over the mission seeking to assure withdrawal of United Arab Republic troops supporting Yemen's republican government and end Saudi Arabian support of Yemen's ousted royalists.

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — The British Association for the Advancement of Science opens its annual congress tonight with a strong Soviet contingent in the wings.

Anti-JFK Segregationist Gets Nod of Dixie Dems

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Paul Johnson Jr., militant anti-Kennedy segregationist, ended 16 years of political frustration today, winning the Democratic nomination for governor of Mississippi by a record vote.

Johnson overwhelmed former Gov. J. P. Coleman after a bitter campaign which centered on opposition to President Kennedy and his civil rights program. Johnson reminded voters he still faces federal contempt of court charges for his part in temporarily blocking Negro James H. Meredith from enrolling in the University of Mississippi last September.

He called Coleman the "Kennedy satellite candidate." Coleman supported the President in the 1960 presidential race. Coleman argued that he was anti-Kennedy, too, saying he erred in 1960.

RECORD VOTE
With 1,861 of the state's 1,877 precincts reporting, Johnson had 258,427 votes, most ever given to a gubernatorial candidate, to 195,021 for Coleman.

Johnson faces Republican Rubel Phillips Nov. 5 in what may be more than the usual token race in this overwhelmingly Democratic state. An Independent also has announced for the general election.

error, lost three previous races for the nomination, including one to Coleman in the 1955 runoff. He also was beaten in a race for the U.S. Senate before being elected lieutenant governor four years ago.

Gov. Ross Barnett, barred by law from succeeding himself, joined the crowd of cheering Johnson fans at an election party. He said he voted for Johnson. Coleman drew the support of Charles Sullivan of Clarksdale, who finished third in the first primary but returns made clear that the Sullivan vote split in Johnson's favor in the runoff.

There was no indication of how the state's estimated 30,000 Negro votes went. However, in a mock election for unregistered Negroes, Coleman got 26,721 votes to 949 for Johnson.

State Destroys $50,000 Worth of Ruined Liquor

LANSING, Mich. — "Nearly $50,000 worth of state-owned liquor was poured down a warehouse drain between Aug. 1 and 15, the State Liquor Control Commission reports.

The contents of more than 1,200 cases were declared contaminated as a result of flooding after a severe rainstorm June 14 in Lansing.

George Burke Jr., commission business manager, told the State Agriculture Department's laboratory declared the liquor was not fit for human consumption.

The stock was not insured, Burke said. He said an auditor and an investigator were on hand when the liquor was dumped to make sure it was all actually destroyed.

Junior Editors Quiz on

QUESTION: Why does a snail move so slowly?

ANSWER: Most animals can lift their bodies up in the air and run along rapidly on their legs. If you took the position of the boy in our picture and tried to move ahead just on your body, without using arms and legs, you wouldn't get very far. This is the position the snail is in.

Considering the problem of moving a soft body over gritty ground, the little snail does amazingly well.

The snail moves by stretching his body as far forward as he can. There is a kind of foot inside it which he then gets close to the ground so as to get a grip. He is also able to lay down a sticky substance which helps the foot to take hold. Then the snail contracts his body and this draws him, shell and all, up to the place where his has taken hold.

He will then extend his body and repeat the process. The fact that he can only inch ahead a very short distance each time is what makes him so slow.

The slime he lays down acts as a kind of road bed for it protects his soft body from sharp things which might injure it.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if, when lying down on your stomach, you can lift your feet and hands off the ground. It's a good exercise.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Is Asked:

What's the Best Cure for Tic Douloureux?

Q—My doctor says I have trigeminal neuralgia, commonly called tic douloureux. He gave me an alcohol injection that relieved the pain for about a year. The pain has come back and my doctor says that aside from another injection the only treatment is to cut the nerve. How BRANDSTADT ever, I have heard that there is a new treatment. Please tell me about it.

A—Tic douloureux is a common and very painful ailment. Until recently destruction of the nerve was the only cure.

Now there is another treatment. A woman with this disease was found to have no acid in her gastric juice. When she was given dilute hydrochloric acid her pain ceased.

This led to the assumption that in hypersensitive or allergic persons a temporary or permanent disappearance of acid from the gastric juice might permit histamine or a related substance to pass from the stomach into the blood and be carried to the trigeminal nerve.

INJECTIONS TRIED

Working on this theory a series of patients with tic douloureux were given small but increasing injections of histamine in an effort to desensitize them. They were also given dilute hydrochloric acid.

Those who had previously had boiling water injected into the nerve did not respond to the new treatment but the rest showed varying degrees of improvement. No treatment for this disease can be guaranteed, but this new method is worth trying.

Q—What is the treatment for rheumatic fever in adults?

A—The treatment of rheumatic fever in adults is essentially the same as that in children. The victim should rest in bed until all signs of active disease have disappeared. Aspirin or other salicylates are given.

Steroid hormones may also be given in the period of active infection, and penicillin or a sulfonamide for the next five years to prevent rheumatic heart disease.

Q—What parts of the face can not be improved by plastic surgery? I was in an accident and had one lower eyelid badly torn.

A—Plastic surgeons have made great strides since the onset of World War II. I don't believe there is any part of the face that has been injured that can't be still, in short supply and many middle sized cities do not have well-qualified plastic surgeons at the moment.

School Means Traffic

EAST LANSING (AP)—State police today pledged with Michigan motorists to watch out for the young army of school children due to return to regular classes soon after Labor Day.

More than a million students and about 7,200 school buses again will become part of the regular traffic pattern, the Safety and Traffic Bureau reminded.

THOUSANDS INJURED

There were 96 children under 15 killed in pedestrian accidents last year and 36 killed while riding bicycles. In the same age group, there were 3,682 pedestrians and 1,777 bicyclists injured last year.

Rural school bus and related accidents numbered 54 last year and resulted in the death of two children and 346 injuries.

Police estimated 7,200 school buses carried 536,000 children daily on school days a distance of around 60 million miles.

Motorists were reminded that Michigan law requires them to stop when overtaking or meeting a rural school bus loading or unloading passengers.

Exceptions are on divided highways when the bus is on the opposite side, in villages or cities unless such stop is required by local ordinance or at intersections controlled by a police officer or traffic lights.

Ghostly Imbiber?

Pub Appears Haunted

BRENTWOOD, England (AP)—The owner of the 500-year-old Swan Inn claims it is haunted by the ghost of a 19-year-old Protestant who was burned at the stake here centuries ago.

Mrs. Elizabeth Harding, who took over the Swan six weeks ago, said she believes the nightly intruder is the ghost of William Hunter, who spent his last night at the inn before going to his death.

Mrs. Harding's daughter, Carol, 26, who helps run the inn, agrees with her mother.

"We are visited each night by the ghost," Miss Harding said. "Religious plates and ornaments fixed to the wall tumble down mysteriously. The saloon-bar doors go crash in the night and my Alsatian, Trudy, who has been brought up to sleep in bars, refuses to do it here."

"She howls and growls so much we have had to move her elsewhere."

"When we come down from our rooms each morning we find the saloon-bar door blocked by chairs which have been moved in the night. We hear furniture being dragged about the floor. Lights that were switched off are blazing in the morning. My mother loves it all, but I am quite frightened."

A memorial to the Protestant martyr stands at a place near here on the spot where he died.

Strike That New MAKE OVER PAGES Steels Pushing Ahead

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry is starting to recover from the strike that never was. Orders

weeks when cus-

ing off stocks

negotiating a new labor pact. So

for the first real gain since May.

And confidence is growing that this summer's slump will prove to have been exceptionally mild.

Part of the credit goes to a

tivity.

But part also goes to the manner in which the labor parleys were conducted this year. The threat of a strike was less pres-

ing this time than in previous into a prolonged period of stag-

Heavy Trading

Rails Rally; Market Advances

NEW YORK (AP)—Rail-

reflected by a parade of sizeable blocks traded at the opening at higher prices.

New York Central and Chicago and North Western were up a full point or better. Pennsylvania

Railroad was the most active of the rails as it gained a fraction on a string of good-sized transactions.

due to a flood of buy orders, advanced 14 to 69 on blocks of 15,000 and 5,000 shares. Ford and General Motors added fractions.

Steels, oils, airlines, rubbers,

ate gains.

Flashier recoveries were made by some of the higher-priced

“glamour” issues—Xerox and

IBM adding about 5 each, Polaroid, Control Data and U.S.

Smelting about 2 each.

Yesterday The Associated

dipped 2.0 to 276.4.

Corporate bonds were mixed
