Twisters Rip 10 Florida Towns

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Roaring tornadoes shattered Sunday morning quiet in 10 Florida panhandle cities, leveling hundreds of homes and buildings and killing two persons. One twister hit an Alabama border county.

A new tornado watch was issued today and was expected to last until mid-afternoon.

More than 200 were reported injured in Florida, most in the housing area at Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach 60 miles west of Panama City. A watchman at a wrecked shopping center was reported missing.

Officials estimated damage at more than $7 million. Gov. Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Kirk toured the Bayou Wood section of Fort Walton Beach yesterday hours after a twister spun from a violent thunderstorm and smashed 50 homes at 3 a.m.

The storm bounced over a lake, tore a five-mile long swath and left 220 homes wrecked.

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for Air Force families, flattening 30 houses and damaging 24, leaving one person dead, nine seriously hurt and 400 homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling.

Tornadoes also hit at small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

Three-year-old Joan Coker, one of six children dug out of the wreckage of their Fort Walton Beach home, died at Eglin Air Force Base Hospital yesterday where her mother gave birth to her seventh child during the storm, hospital officials said.

CHILD'S PARENTS

The parents were identified only as M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. Coker. Officials said the Cokers' two-story home was leveled by the twister.

Loveta Byrd, 29, the wife of M. Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, was killed and her husband critically injured when their two-family house was splintered by the tornado at Tyndall.

A 6-month-old baby adopted by the Byrds two weeks earlier was asleep in the same bedroom but was unhurt.

Junior Miss Chosen for Waterford Twp.

The recitation of an original French poem and the performance of an exercise routine helped win for Sheri Seiber the title of Waterford Junior Miss Saturday night.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Seiber, 130 Riviera, Sheri, 17, received the $250 Jaycee Carol Gray Memorial Scholarship from the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the program.

She plans to use the scholarship to attend Michigan State University, where she will study languages. Upon graduation she would like to be an interpreter.

Her first runner-up, Beth Griffin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Griffin, 5204 Cooley, received a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

The second runner-up, Londa K. Briles, was awarded a plaque. Londa lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Briles, at 705 Robbinann.

All the girls are seniors at Waterford Township High School.

Sheri is president of the Foreign Exchange Club at the school, a member of the National Honor Society, a varsity cheerleader and a representative of her class board. She is also active in the student council.

Last summer Sheri went to Holland and to France on the Michigan Council of Churches Youth for Understanding Program. She earned the money for the trip with a part-time job.

Sheri was crowned by last year's winner, Jennifer Siegwart, at the close of the pageant at Mason Junior High School. She will now enter the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 26-28 at Pontiac Northern High School. The winner of this contest will go on to the national pageant in Mobile, Ala.

Draft Violators Due Prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — In putting the heat on draft law violators, the Justice Department may also be reestablishing the line between criminal prosecution and administrative enforcement — a line which critics of draft chief Lewis B. Hershey say he tried to erase.

★ ★ ★

Hershey and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark announced jointly Saturday the Justice Department has directed all U. S. attorneys to speed up draft law prosecutions and has set up a special coordinating unit to help them.

In an Oct. 26 letter to local draft boards, Lt. Gen. Hershey recommended —he is not legally authorized to order— that the boards lift the deferment of anyone interfering with the draft or military recruiting and put such persons at the top of the induction list.

The rule was felt to be aimed principally at college students.

Hershey said at a Nov. 8 news conference: "If the Department of Justice wants to prosecute him, we'll certainly yield jurisdiction."

That is what the Justice Department says it now intends to do as quickly as possible.

Postal Hike, Pay OK Due Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action raising postal rates and the pay of federal workers is expected in time to give government employes a Christmas bonus: Salary boosts retroactive to Oct. 1.

Similar increases are in line for members of the military services under separate legislation.

The postal rate increases, affecting all classes of mail and increasing to 6 cents the cost of mailing a first-class letter, will not take effect until Jan. 7.

Two bills containing the increases—one covering postal rates and civilian employes and the other covering the military—are scheduled for House action today.

★ ★ ★

The Senate approved the military pay bill Friday, shortly after a compromise was reached.

TO MOVE QUICKLY

It is expected to move quickly on the postal measure so President Johnson's signature can put the machinery into motion to include the retroactive increases in the next paychecks of government workers.

The postal-pay bill, glued together by the House Post Office Committee in an effort to make it veto-proof, exceeds Johnson's recommendations, both in the cost of the pay boosts and in the revenue expected from new postal rates.

But the President is expected to sign it.

Postal rates would be up more than $900 million once all of the increases take effect.

Besides increasing first-class letters from 5 to 6 cents, the bill increases airmail letters from 8 to 10 cents, postcards from 4 to 5 cents and air postcards from 6 to 8 cents.

Third-class rates, now 2.875 cents per piece, would go up to 3.6 cents next month and to 4 cents in July 1969, but third-class mailers would only have to pay 3.8 cents on the first 250,000 pieces.

Supreme Court Voids Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional today a section of federal law that bars members of Communist-action groups from working in defense plants.

The provision, a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act of 1950, "is an unconstitutional abridgement of the right of association protected by the First Amendment," said Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Continuing in the 6-2 decision, Warren wrote: "The statute quite literally establishes guilt by association alone, without any need to establish that an individual's association poses the threat feared by the government in prescribing it. The inhibiting effect on the exercise of First Amendment rights is clear."

★ ★ ★

Justices Byron R. White and John M. Harlan dissented. Justice Thurgood Marshall did not patricipate. Justice William J. Brennan Jr. concurred in the ruling, but on grounds the federal provision was unduly broad.

'NOT UNMINDFUL'

The Justice Department had appealed to the court to uphold the ban as a legitimate exercise of Congress' concern over the danger of sabotage and espionage in national defense industries.

The Chief Justice said a number of decisions by the Supreme Court have supported the government's argument that broad deference should be given to congressional exercise of Congress' war power.

Fog Will Hang Around Area

The early morning fog that slowed traffic, triggered tempers and gave the Pontiac area a San Francisco look will continue to plague commuters and Christmas shoppers through the afternoon.

N-Blast Watched: Will It Yield Riches?

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) — Scientists seek today to determine whether the first industrial nuclear explosion will render new wealth from the bowels of the earth.

A thermonuclear device was exploded 4,240 feet below the earth's crust yesterday. Preliminary indications were that the explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, had done its job by creating a huge subterranean chamber from which natural gas can be recovered, spokesmen said.

Dr. Robert H. Thalgott, Gasbuggy deputy project manager for the Atomic Energy Commission, told newmen at a briefing after the blast that no radioactivity had escaped from the ground and none was expected to.

Dr. Harry Reynolds, a scientific adviser for Gasbuggy, said there was reason to believe that an underground chamber 160 feet in diameter and as tall as a 35-story building had been created 3,500 feet below ground zero.

The AEC said drilling into the chamber begins today, although no substantial evidence on whether the nuclear stimulation concept really worked is expected for several weeks or months.

MAY DOUBLE RESERVES

Scientists estimate the nation's natural gas reserves will be doubled if nuclear blasts are found to be a feasible way to free gas from underground rock formations.

The nuclear device, which had an explosive punch estimated as equivalent to 20,000 to 30,000 tons of TNT, was detonated in the Picture Cliffs formation of the gas-bearing San Juan Basin.

Windows rattled in Farmington, 55 miles to the west. Newsmen and others, at an observation sight five miles from the detonation point, felt the sharp shock wave which thundered under the northwest New Mexico hills.

Gifts for Shut-Ins Varied

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the seventh in a series on Christmas gift suggestions that are available in Pontiac area stores.)

By JEANNE NELSON

Christmas gifts for the homebound and elderly can often be a problem, but this year's selections offer a variety of practical and attractive present ideas.

An antique white oval pull up bedside table is both functional and lovely for $29.95. When not in use, it folds to fit the corner with top tilted so that the unusual floral design adds color to a sick room.

Keeping the patient busy can be done easily with a "Mod-Podge" decoupage kit complete with all materials for about $6. For real comfort and luxury there is a 100 per cent acrylic fuzzy robe. An easy slip-on that buttons down the front, it comes in pink for $30.

A deep-heat back massager relieves backaches in seconds. It can be used in bed, $39.95. Orlon slippers with rubber soles insure steady steps and can be tossed into the automatic washer and dryer. In a variety of colors, they sell for $3. Plants are always a welcome gift to shut-ins. Select several of the small ones and plant together in one large attractive container. Prices vary on these.

One of the small high-intensity lamps would be perfect for reading in bed. They're priced from $14.95 to $29.95.

Rusk Seeks to End N-Pact Opposition

BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today took on the task of overcoming West German and Italian opposition to the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Rusk arrived Sunday night for the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the policy body of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO chiefs of staff were meeting today, and Rusk planned a round of talks with West European leaders.

★ ★ ★

The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a nuclear treaty except for the section on how to inspect peaceful nuclear industry to see that no uranium or plutonium is diverted to make weapons.

West Germany says inspection by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which the Soviet Union insists on, would destroy the authority of a body laboriously built up by West European allies, the European Atomic Energy Community, better known as EURATOM, a branch of the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

The Italians agree. They are worried that nuclear industry will prefer to go to France, where there is no likelihood of IAEA inspection.

On the Communist side objections have been heard from Rumania—the maverick in the Eastern bloc.

American diplomats have come up with several proposals for "marrying" IAEA inspection to the system that Euratom has developed. At least one of these compromises may satisfy Moscow, but Bonn has not bought any yet.

★ ★ ★

To put pressure on the objectors, President Johnson announced last week that the United States would throw open all its own peaceful nuclear installations to IAEA inspection. Britain said it would follow suit. But from Moscow there was only silence.

SOVIET MOVE

If the United States supports West German objections, the Soviets will say it wants to make West Germany a military nuclear power. If the United States overrides West German objections, it will arouse the resentment of its own allies, who will accuse it of making agreements with Moscow over their heads.

Pact OK Averts Chrysler Strike

DETROIT (AP) — A walkout by 6,500 United Auto Workers was averted at the Chrysler Corp. Hamtramck assembly plant today when company and union negotiators bargained past a midnight strike deadline to a tentative agreement.

Shortly before the deadline, the union agreed to continue negotiations and the session broke up about a hour and 20 minutes past midnight.

★ ★ ★

The workers, represented by local 3, are expected to meet later this week for a ratification vote. Details of the agreement were not immediately known.

A Chrysler spokesman said the company now has agreements at 55 of 60 local units across the country.

He said negotiations continue at assembly plants in St. Louis and Newark, N. J. and at parts depots at Boston and Kansas City. Employes are working during negotiations at those plants.

A strike at a Chrysler electrical plant in Indianapolis, meanwhile, moved into its second week.

The main spotlight in industry negotiations today focuses on UAW and General Motors bargainers, meeting in subcommittees in efforts to lay the groundwork on a new contract before a deadline set for midnight Thursday.

Union President Walter P. Reuther, however, has said there will be no strike until after the first of the year. If no contract is reached by Thursday, Reuther said, a strike deadline will be set at that time, allowing 380,000 workers to reap holiday pay for the Christmas and New Year season.

Quake Hits W. India; 65 Killed

BOMBAY (AP) — A severe earthquake shook a large stretch of western India before dawn today, and the Maharashtra state government said 65 persons were killed in the Koyna area 200 miles south of Bombay.

Bombay newspapers received a report from the area that more than 100 persons were killed, most of them when their homes collapsed on them as they slept.

The government said 1,000 persons were injured and 5,000 were homeless.

The report from the state government, said most of the casualties occurred near Koynanagar, a town of 10,000 built for workers at the giant Koyna hydroelectric dam and plant.

The government said the Koyna dam was not damaged but another hydroelectric plant at Khopoli, between Bombay and Poona, was put out of commission.

This knocked out electric service to several thousand square miles, including Bombay and its population of 4.5 million. In the metropolis hundreds of thousands poured into the streets and spent the rest of the night in the open.

★ ★ ★

An area from Sura, 150 miles north of Bombay, to Goa, 300 miles to the South, and to Poona, 120 miles to the east, was rocked by three tremors. The Bombay observatory said its seismograph went out when the power supply failed immediately after the first tremors.

In the last big quake in the area eight years ago, 110 persons were killed.

Ex-Legislator Eyes Dem Post

Benton Harbor Man Seeks Ferency's Job

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Former State Rep. Floyd Mattheeussen of Benton Harbor said Sunday night he plans to seek the chairmanship of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Earlier State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley announced his candidacy for the post to be vacated by Zolton Ferency.

"There is a general feeling that there is a great need for a fulltime chairman," said Mattheeussen. "Although everyone respects Sander Levin, including myself, it's a questionable procedure that Levin serve as chairman and senator at the same time."

Mattheeussen, a former junior high school teacher in the Benton Harbor area, is now a lobbyist for 18 low-valuation school districts in Wayne County.

SERVED 1965-1966

He served in the House in 1965-66 and was defeated in a bid for re-election by Republican Lionel Stacey.

Mattheeussen said the party chairman must articulate a position within the party and that position should be reached with party members from the "precint to the President."

★ ★ ★

When asked what is the Democratic view, he said, "That's what we will articulate."

Regarding dissent in the party, Mattheeussen said, "the only way the party can function is when people have the right to discuss and debate opinions.

PARTY FRAMEWORK

"But," he added, "I would prefer that people do these things within the framework of the party."

The State Central Committee is to meet later this month to determine the new Democratic leader in Michigan.

OTIS REDDING

Singer Is Lost as Plane Falls in Icy Lake

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Rhythm and blues singer Otis Redding and four young musicians were missing today after their light plane crashed in icy Lake Monona Sunday, killing two persons and leaving one known survivor.

★ ★ ★

Redding, 26, of Macon, Ga., and four members of his "Bary-Kays" band were still missing when darkness halted dragging operations in the 40-foot-deep water Sunday night. Two bodies were recovered, and Ben Cauley, 20, of Memphis, Tenn., was hospitalized in good condition.

★ ★ ★

One of the bodies recovered is that of the pilot, Richard Fraser, 26, of Warner Robins, Ga., an Air Force veteran. The other was that of Jimmie King, 18, of Memphis, a member of the band.

★ ★ ★

Still missing, along with Redding, were Matthew Kelly, 17, Phalen Jones and Ronald Caldwell, both 19, and Carl Cunningham, 18, all of Memphis.

HEARD SCREAMS

Cauley, suffering from shock and exposure, told authorities Sunday night that he heard Caldwell and Cunningham "screaming for help" after the crash, but he couldn't reach them and watched them disappear beneath the choppy waters shortly before he was rescued by a police boat.

★ ★ ★

The twin-engine Beechcraft, owned by Otis Redding Enterprises, was making an approach to Madison Municipal Airport when it splashed into the fog-shrouded lake. Fraser was trying an instrument landing because of the poor visibility, authorities said.

'GOP Governors Influence Fading'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said today the influence of Republican governors on presidential politics is "going down the drain" and, because of that, George Romney's chance of winning the GOP nomination for the White House next year is fading.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, Laird said the party should reject the governors' request that Pennsylvania's Raymond P. Shafer be named cochairman of the platform committee at the 1968 national convention.

OCC Election Is Invalidated

A student referendum to give the student government at Oakland Community College-Highland Lakes more freedom and representation has been invalidated.

Student government president John Ash of Farmington said Saturday that the student government voided the election because wording of the ballot was mistakenly changed and the issues were vague.

The campus' Student Association had asked the student government to hold an election on whether student government funds should be withdrawn from the college's control and whether a new charter should be drawn up to include better campus representation.

The student government voted to hold a two-day referendum. The ballots were invalidated the first day.

★ ★ ★

Ash, speaking for the Student Association which has no president, said the association might again take up the issues.

Campus leaders are disturbed because the college administration gives the student government money to work with but then does not give it freedom to do what it wants with the funds.

Members of the association also claim that the 23-member student government is not democratic since its charter limits membership to only representatives of campus organizations.

They would also like to have representation from the student body at large.

Pact Renewal Will Be Eyed

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will consider renewing its contract with the Ann Arbor firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc., for urban design services.

The current one-year agreement with the consulting firm recently terminates.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning will strongly recommend" that the city enter into a new contract, costing an estimated $8,000 to $10,000 for the coming year.

The cost of the service for the last 12 months has been $19,000.

★ ★ ★

The development of an overall plan for the city was chiefly responsible for the higher cost this past year.

EMPHASIS

With the completion of the urban design plan and objectives, emphasis should center on specific current design projects that will need attention on a month-to-month basis, according to city officials.

Over 20 areas or items have been studied by the firm in the first year with recommendations being made on design and physical planning of each.

Kenning, in a report to the commission, said, "This past year has been a period of learning for both the urban designer and the city administration."

'CRUCIAL YEAR'

"The year ahead will be a most crucial one for the implementation of the concepts outlined for us by the consultant," added Kenning.

The items reviewed by the firm included:

The Lincoln-Purdy townhouse program, alley improvements, ring road lighting, board of education buildings, string lights on auto agencies, city hall plaza, parking deck planning, landscaping for the ring road, traffic and parking signs, park benches and plantings.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Township Board tonight will hold two public hearings on sanitary sewer special assessments.

At 8 p.m. at the town hall, 4200 Telegraph, will be the hearing for the Colonial Estates south district project estimated to cost $20,800.

At 8:30 p.m. will be the hearing for the central district of Colonial Estates whose system is estimated to cost $89,000.

★ ★ ★

The board will also consider increasing license, permit and inspection fees. This revision is being recommended by the Township Building Department.

Gallup Says More in U.S. Expect China to Intervene

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — An increasing number of Americans think Red China will intervene with troops in Vietnam if the North Vietnamese show signs of giving in, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said a late November survey of 1,583 households found 49 per cent of those polled thought the Chinese would intervene as they did in Korea in 1950.

★ ★ ★

Gallup said that those holding this belief had measured 40 per cent in August and 38 per cent in June.

Some 36 per cent of those interviewed in November doubted the possibility of intervention, as compared with 38 per cent in August, and 35 per cent in June, according to the polls.

QUESTION

Gallup said the question was: "If the North Vietnamese show signs of giving in, do you think Communist China will, or will not, send any troops to help North Vietnam?"

He said a growing number of Americans also expect a compromise settlement of the war rather than all-out victory. The percentage of those polled expecting compromise has risen from 55 per cent in June to 64 per cent in November, Gallup said.

★ ★ ★

Those expecting all out victory measured 19 per cent in November, as compared with 15 per cent in June, according to Gallup.

He said the percentage of those interviewed expecting defeat for the United States and its South Vietnamese ally had declined from 5 to 4 per cent over the same period. The others expressed no opinion.

EXTENSION OF WAR

Gallup said the November poll found 44 per cent of those questioned opposed to extending the ground war into North Vietnam. Some 39 per cent favored that move, he said.

N.Y. Women Face Alimony 'Equality'

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York women may have to pay a higher price for equality in the form of alimony if a proposed amendment to the state's divorce laws is adopted.

★ ★ ★

A state legislative committee approved a proposal Friday to recommend legislation making a wife liable to alimony payments in cases where her husband needs support.

State Sen. Dalwin J. Niles, who presided at the meeting of the joint legislative committee on matrimonial and family law, said the group also has under consideration a proposal to abolish alimony altogether.

"Under the law as it stands, a wife with means . . . can throw out of a house a disabled husband without means and force him to seek his support from welfare," Niles said in explaining the equal alimony proposal.

★ ★ ★

"Our recommendation recognizes that the equality of women before the law has reached such a level that there is and should be an equal obligation of the spouses to share their means when one encounters misfortune and is in need."

NEW EQUIPMENT — The Bloomfield Township firemen demonstrate their new $76,000 fire truck with elevated platform. The "long arm" has the advantages of extending over a burning building and putting water at the fire's base, getting water to the fire faster, working over wires and rescuing persons trapped in a burning structure.

Expected at Council Meeting Tonight

Rochester to Invite Avon Annexation

ROCHESTER — With the Avon Township incorporation vote little more than a month away, the City Council tonight was expected to take steps to deny what it terms "certain misleading information."

A policy statement, in effect inviting the whole township of Avon to annex to the city if it so desires, is expected at the 7:30 p.m. meeting. The council meets in the Municipal Building, 400 Sixth.

Said City Manager William Sinclair, "There have been statements issued to the effect that the city is only interested in annexing industry or that it would omit certain areas from the township in any annexation move. This is not true. It is time that the true feelings of the council were made known."

Avon voters will go to the polls in January to vote on incorporating the whole of the township outside the city of Rochester. The move has from the beginning been an admitted attempt to keep the recently incorporated city from annexing choice high-tax-base industrial land.

Said Sinclair, "In the first place, we must have the consent of the owners of the property in order to annex. We cannot initiate annexation. That must be done by people residing in the area involved."

UNITY DESIRED

A recent County Board of Supervisors hearing in regard to incorporation brought out the feeling of what appeared to be a majority of residents — that they desire unity of the two governments.

Backing the council's move to thwart creation of two separate governmental units is the League of Women Voters of the Rochester area.

"The League feels that a unification of governments in the area is desirable. We oppose fragmentation and feel that incorporating the township would be fragmentation," according to a statement prepared by the League at its Nov. 29 consensus meeting.

★ ★ ★

"The League therefore urges a 'no' vote on the township incorporation issue on Jan. 15. We will work actively to enable the two governments — Rochester and Avon Township — to unite and form one government which we feel would best serve the area and its citizens," it continues.

TO ATTEND MEETINGS

Mrs. Russel Corbin, 622 S. Fieldstone, Avon Township, League president, said the league has plans to appear at meetings of both governmental bodies to urge such cooperation.

★ ★ ★

Following tonight's council meeting, the Avon Township board will meet in regular session at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Township Hall.

Ammonia Is Poured on Man Asleep in Car

IONIA (AP) — A Dearborn Heights man, Donald Mitchell, 40, was hospitalized in satisfactory condition today with ammonia burns of the mouth and face after someone apparently poured ammonia on Mitchell as he slept in his car.

State Police troopers said Mitchell, returning home from hunting last night, pulled off M66 about one mile north of Ionia, and went to sleep.

★ ★ ★

He awoke feeling a burning sensation in his eyes and mouth and got out of his car in time to see another vehicle pull away from in back of his parked car, troopers said.

Hoffa, Wife Will Be Allowed Three-Hour 'Christmas' Visit

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The wife of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will spend three hours with her husband next Thursday at the federal penitentiary in Lewisburg, Pa.

★ ★ ★

"The family gets three hours a month to see him," Mrs. Hoffa said, and it will be the couple's Christmas visit. She said Hoffa is allowed only one four-pound Christmas package.

Mrs. Hoffa told of the planned meeting with her husband Saturday while in Minneapolis boosting Democratic Republican Voters Education, the political arm of the Teamsters.

Mrs. Hoffa is national auxiliary president of DRIVE. She met her husband-to-be on a picket line in 1935. "The laundry workers were on a wildcat strike and Jimmy helped us—we were getting 17 cents an hour," she said.

She said she will spend Christmas in St. Louis with their son and daughter.

Hoffa began is sentence in March. His $100,000 annual salary will be cut off during the prison term, but the Teamsters Executive Board voted to pay his wife $4,000 a month.

The Addison Township Fire Department answered the call.

Bill for $44,000 Facing Council at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — A $44,000 bill for engineering services on an aborted sewage disposal plan for the village will face councilmen at their meeting tonight.

Manager John Reineck said he has been requested by R. J. Alexander, Oakland County director of the Department of Public Works, to pay $22,000 as soon as possible and the balance one year later.

In a letter to the village, Alexander wrote "Upon the request of the Village of Lake Orion, by resolution dated Oct. 28, 1963, we entered into a contract with Hubbell, Roth and Clark, Inc., to prepare construction plans for sewage disposal facilities for the village.

Subsequent to the preparation of such plans, the sale of bonds and construction have been delayed by litigation.

It appears at this time that the method of disposal will be changed from a treatment plant on Paint Creek to an extension of the interceptor along Paint Creek but in either case the immediate sale of bonds is not imminent due to existing litigation or possible changes in the method of disposal."

NONE AVAILABLE

Reineck said that though federal monies had been obtained for actual construction of the proposed plant, none would be available for payment of the engineering plans on the now abandoned project.

★ ★ ★

Alexander in his letter noted that the amount would be included in the future bond issue regarding the Paint Creek Interceptor and repaid to the village from the bond proceeds.

10 Killed Over Weekend on Hazardous State Roads

By The Associated Press

Ten persons lost their lives on Michigan roadways over the weekend in which freezing rain and sleet made driving hazardous throughout much of the state.

State Police attributed the low number of deaths to the poor driving conditions which they said made motorists more cautious and cut down on speeding.

Three of the deaths were car-bicycle accidents, three others died in two-car collisions, three were killed when their car ran off the road and another was struck by an auto while changing a tire alongside the road.

The Associated Press count began 6 p.m. Friday and ended midnight Sunday.

The victims:

Lawrence Armone, 71, and Josephine Armone, 62, both of Fraser, who died yesterday on M97 in Roseville when their car collided head-on with another auto.

STRUCK CHANGING TIRE

Robert Lee Lance, 45 of Dearborn, who died yesterday on I-94 in Dearborn when he was struck by a car while changing a tire alongside the road.

Leonard J. Elward, 53, of Detroit, killed Sunday in a two-car accident on Detroit's East Side.

Charles M. Guzak, 77, of Flint, who was struck by a car Saturday night while riding his bicycle in Flint.

Ralph A. Laux, 55, of Kalamazoo, whose car struck a tree in Kalamazoo Saturday night.

DIES OF INJURIES

Walter Osowski, 49, of Lake City, died yesterday in a Cadillac hospital of injuries suffered Saturday night when his car left a Lake City street and hit a steel pole.

Theodore Schrader, 18, of rural Muskegon, when his bicycle was hit by a car three miles north of Muskegon Friday.

Steven R. Rau, 15, of Grand Rapids, Friday when he rode his bike across a highway in front of a car in Walker.

★ ★ ★

Millage Election for Library Eyed

TROY — The City Commission tonight will consider petitions proposing an election to increase taxes a half-mill for a new library.

The Library Board and the Friends of the Library have been circulating the petitions for a library they plan to have built in the civic center.

The present library is on Rochester Road north of Long Lake Road.

The commission has the option to set an election date. Residents would be voting on an amendment to the city charter, making it possible for the city to levy a half-mill above the 10-mill limit.

Although the ballot will not designate the use of the half-mill, the City Commission has expressed intent to use it for the new library.

Also at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the City Hall, the commission will review plans for the city's fourth fire station and an addition to fire station No. 1. Louis Redstone and Associates are the architects for these projects.

The commission will also consider the assessment roll for sanitary sewers in Glenmoor subdivision in the northern part of the city. Hearing dates may be set for the estimated $455,633 project.

Party Leaders Plan Fair-Housing Strategy

LANSING (UPI) — Legislative leaders and acting Gov. William G. Milliken today were meeting to plan strategy for securing passage of an open housing law for Michigan before Christmas.

Leaders of both parties and both houses returned to Lansing a day ahead of the reconvening of the special session of the Legislature for separate and joint huddles.

They were to report to Milliken late in the day on their progress.

One of the things to be decided was whether the Senate should take the housing bill off the House's hands so the House could finish work on the controversial court reorganization legislation.

★ ★ ★

If the leadership agrees to let the Senate go ahead with open housing, House Speaker Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, will ask GOP House members to endorse the manuever at a caucus tomorrow morning ahead of the reopening of the session.

'20 VOTES'

Sen. Coleman A. Young, D-Detroit, and Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, Friday said they were confident that 20 "yes" votes would be lined up for the housing bill by tomorrow.

The purpose of the bill is to end discrimination in the sale or rental of housing because of race, color, religion or national origin.

Open housing proponents hold an ace in the hole in the person of Milliken, who as president of the Senate could cast the tie-breaking vote if a 19-19 deadlock developed. Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley ruled last May that when Gov. George Romney is absent from the state, Milliken acts both in an executive capacity as acting governor and in a legislative capacity as president of the Senate.

Milliken and his aides were cautiously optimistic that enough votes could be gathered in both houses to pass the bill. But there was concern over a letter sent by House Majority Floor Leader William P. Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, to his Oakland County constituents.

Hampton, who represents Romney's home district, promised to "use all the power I have as majority floor leader to defeat this legislation."

Both houses have Republican majorities, but Democrats were expected to put up the majority of the votes for open housing. As of Friday, leaders were counting 11 Democratic and eight Republican votes in the Senate, one short of a majority.

Richard K. Helmbreck, who recently moved from Milliken's to Romney's staff, said at least 23 to 25 Republican votes were needed to combine with Democratic votes to secure the necessary 56 votes in the House.

Our U.S. News and World Report issues an advance prognostication of what a General Motors strike of five weeks would do to the United States.

This authoritative publication, which was sired by our own eminent columnist and A-1 news analyst, DAVE LAWRENCE, lists:

415,000 GM workers will lose $65 million a week in 72 cities in 18 states, or $325 million in five weeks.

More than 36,000 companies supplying GM, produced $9.6 billion in goods last year. Their loss would be $184 million a week or about $1 billion in five weeks.

Steel would drop one million tons in five weeks — a drastic blow.

Rubber consumption would drop 10 million pounds a week, or 50 million in five weeks.

Five weeks represent a loss of $13.5 billion in our Gross National Product on an annual basis during the strike.

There will be a loss of $400 million in personal income for GM and related industries.

Retail activities in the 72 cities alone could drop 1.3 billion in five weeks.

National corporate profits would decline $1 billion and thus cost the U.S. Government half a billion dollars in taxes.

Presidential Candidacy . . . .

Reports around the nation seem to indicate that the Democratic Party is accepting the Presidential candidacy of Minnesota's McCARTHY with equanimity. Some even evince definite satisfaction.

These include the President.

He shows no concern.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's own Zolton Ferency predicates his own resignation on the fact he wants to drop Johnson in favor of the midwesterner. The number one plank in McCarthy's platform seems to be associated directly with the present handling of our war in Vietnam. His censorship of LBJ's methods is appreciably clearer than his own remedies. Time may change that.

★ ★ ★

It hardly seems likely that the President can lose the nomination to Minnesota's McCARTHY, but the atmosphere may be cleared and issues defined more exactly.

Both sides welcome that.

Taken to Task . . . .

A letter bobs in from Jamaica, N.Y., taking me to task for three editorials, two of which were printed in 1964, while the third appeared in 1963. We're thankful that the balance of our readers are infinitely more spritely and up-to-date. A Mr. ART WEBER of Royal Oak is mentioned. I'm not clear whether he's in the category of the condemned like your humble scrivener, or whether he occupies an exalted seat atop the mountains like the writer.

Turkey Talk . . . .

In all this welter about global skirmishes, political battles and wanton murders, it's refreshing to embrace a subject like the ever struttin' turkey.

In 1927, an American ate 1.4 pounds of turkey, but today he will consume 9 pounds. Also, I find that turkey meat is an especially wholesome food and is easy on a balky tummy. Verily, and this is comforting news. And important!

★ ★ ★

However, he's a pesky rascal to raise. He's dumber than Sam Hill, almost seeks avoidable deaths in big flocks and is difficult to bring to maturity. He's bad tempered. His legs snap easily and one experienced farmer said:

"They're beautiful to look at, fragile as an orchid and stupid beyond belief. Some even drown themselves drinking water and you have to teach a lot of 'em to eat."

★ ★ ★

California, Minnesota and Missouri produce the most and raisers think that ultimately they'll be a year-round delicacy.

This is bully good news.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

The Worker, official organ for the Communist party, vigorously pushes the "Dump Johnson Movement." (DJM). One edition gives three columns to an article advocating the action. This is one of the nicest and biggest boosts JOHNSON has had in months. . . . . The current issue of spicy Esquire photographs CARMEN GONZALEZ, editor of the Tampa University yearbook. CARMEN ran her own picture 27 times and angry classmates burned 500 of the 2,000 copies. . . . . Overheard: "Travel will be a lot safer when the ride to the airport has been eliminated."

Personal nomination for the ranks of attractive young ladies in the area: Kathleen Peterson. . . . . U.S. airports are among the last to let out - of - country travelers leave without paying for the privilege. Colombia levies a $7.50 assessment and France kicks in with $5. Russia charges a meager $1.67 and the Philippines levy a tiny $1.33, but they sock you a horrendous $6.67 on arrival. . . . . Overheard: "A cheerful nurse in a hospital is more beneficial than pills, capsules or tablets. They restore health faster."

★ ★ ★

High Washington officials are coming under fire for keeping too many facts from the U.S. citizens. "The people who pay the government bills are entitled to know," says The New York News. And we echo: "Amen." The News demands a housecleaning. . . . . Beware of counterfeit bills. Christmas is the favored season for the phony aggregation. Twenties are replacing tens as their number one product. . . . . Because of its recent strike, the United Federation of Teachers in New York has lost its checkoff privileges for one year, the union was fined $150,000 and the president sentenced to 15 days in jail. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's — PATRICIA GUY, Pontiac's Junior Miss; and SHERI SEIBER, Waterford Junior Miss; the J's — CARMEN GONZALEZ.

Everybody Lends A Hand

Capital Letter:

LBJ Failing to Communicate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — It's not the credibility gap but the communications gap that bothers some of President Johnson's disillusioned cohorts.

The Rangy Texan's penchant for telephoning associates at any hour which suits his fancy has robbed them of needed sleep and recreation, but his failure to communicate at crucial times has disturbed them more.

Ruth Montgomery

His quixotic handling of the McNamara case is merely the latest in a series of episodes which have wounded the pride of sensitive, public-spirited officials.

As is now known, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara had mentioned to the President last spring and again early this fall that he would like to assume the presidency of the World Bank, which was due to become vacant.

★ ★ ★

LBJ was totally noncommittal, but during Thanksgiving week he summoned Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler to tell him that he had decided to nominate McNamara for the World Bank presidency.

Fowler was instructed to tell no one except George D. Woods, the outgoing president who had first broached the idea to McNamara, and not until a bank member leaked the secret did McNamara learn that he was soon to be relieved as secretary of defense.

What could have been a joyous occasion for the overworked official consequently became a public embarrassment.

Two other examples of the communications gap serve to illustrate the President's lack of personal diplomacy with those whom he outranks.

● One reason for the bitterness which has promoted Sen. Eugene McCarthy to challenge President Johnson in the upcoming Democratic primaries is the manner in which LBJ handled his selection of a running mate in 1964.

It was not that LBJ invitingly dangled the vice presidency before McCarthy and then chose his fellow Minnesotan, but the way it was done.

McCarthy is a realistic politician who knows that such a choice ultimately rests with the man who heads the ticket, but what provoked his ire was that LBJ did not show him the courtesy of breaking the news in person.

Instead, the President merely delegated an aide to tell McCarthy that he had been dropped from consideration. Thus, his feeling that he had been callously used.

● Among the President's most outspoken critics of his foriegn policy — from the Dominican Republic to Vietnam — is Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Part of his rancor may be traceable to an unreported incident which occurred while LBJ was Senate majority leader. Morse, who won election as a Republican, had increasingly become a maverick in his voting record, usually lining up behind bills being pushed by Johnson.

Bob Considine Says:

Black Power Spokesman Making Olympian Error

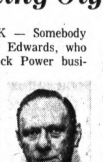
NEW YORK — Somebody named Harry Edwards, who is in the Black Power business (which must be a pretty good dodge, considering the way Stokely Carmichael gets around) announces that the U. S. is not going to field a very good Olympic team at the games next summer.



CONSIDINE

His Western Regional Black Youth conference, attended by 120 Negro athletes, voted "by acclamation" to boycott the U. S. team.

Present and cooperative at the meeting, which was closed to white reporters, were half a dozen fine Negro athletes considered sure bets to make the squad and win medals for their country.

Great quarter-milers Tommie Smith and Lee Evans, and Lew Alcindor, the new Wilt Chamberlain, would be especially missed.

Edwards says, in effect, that Negroes must not compete because "race relations are worse now than ever."

He makes about as much sense as a Negro rioter burning and looting the store of a Negro shopkeeper who had worked like a slave to build it.

Race relations are not worse now than ever. A Negro sits on the Supreme Court, another is high in the councils of the United Nations.

Negroes are threaded through federal, state and city governments, sit in the mayor's chair in Cleveland and Akron, own banks, insurance companies, car dealerships and a thousand big and little businesses.

Those with talent and drive have broken through countless barriers in fields wherein oppressive white majorities held sway: The arts, sciences, education, and the promotion lists of the armed services. And through the portals they valiantly opened stream multitudes of Negroes inspired and emboldened by their example.

If the top Negro amateur athletes stand still for the kind of snowjob the black supremacists are inflicting on them, they are either stupid or chicken.

They are stupid if they think their abstention from the action at Mexico City will clean a single Harlem alley, rid a rat, inspire a roaming father to rejoin wife and children, or move a third-generation recipient of relief to get a job.

They are chicken if they second the "we won't play" motion simply to avoid being labeled, in limited and even lunatic circles, an Uncle Tom.

To clergymen who support open housing and draft card burners, open housing doesn't affect church property and anyone who would support draft card burners is no better than the individuals who did the looting and arson in Detroit last summer. William T. Gossett, president of the American Bar Association, says he supports open housing. If he is including everyone who belongs to the bar, the person who is accused of discrimination is going to have a sad chance in court.

Offers Additional Facts on Speedy Mail

In reply to the letter reporting speedy delivery of mail, the Pontiac Post Office is not the only post office that handles this air mail. All air mail for Pontiac is first unloaded and separated at the air mail facility at Metropolitan Airport by 200 employes of the Detroit Post Office, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The starting wage of a new employe is $2.64 and straight time for Saturday and Sunday. A postal rate boost would help give post office employes a decent living wage.

Discussion Continues on City Income Tax

Why does Mr. Mullinix continue to make trouble on the city income tax? Is it because the people didn't want him on the Commission? This tax was voted on once so why doesn't he leave well enough alone? How would he like a parade in front of his home every day of the men who will be laid off?

'Many County Roads Are in Need of Repair'

Why should students at Highland Lakes Campus have better roads than the rest of Oakland County? What contract could the college enter into with students regarding road repair, unless these students are willing to help fill the pot holes? They could probably do it cheaper than the Road Commission, but I doubt if they care to do anything more than talk and carry signs.

★ ★ ★

Many taxpayers are waiting their turn for some road repair results all over this County. I suggest the students go back to classrooms, learn how to make a living and then when they become a taxpayer they'll have a right to complain. Don't worry about buck passing until the buck is yours.

Chain Reaction

Newsday

A new chain reaction in the wage-price spiral is in the offing as a result of U.S. Steel's decision, followed by that of Bethlehem Steel, to raise the price of cold rolled steel by $5 a ton.

★ ★ ★

Cold rolled steel is used in the manufacture of a broad range of consumer items, from automobiles to refrigerators. Thus, an increase in the price of this material will be quickly reflected in the price of consumer goods.

The steel updraft in the inflationary spiral closely follows the 2.7 per cent increase in the price of automobiles and the costly settlements between Ford and Chrysler and the United Automobile Workers.

The end result of all of these "gains" by the giants of industry and labor is that they become self-canceling. As Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, put it: "Prices will continue to advance and the value of wage gains will be eroded by a rising cost of living."

★ ★ ★

Who gets hurt in the process? Not the big industries and the big labor unions. They have the power to keep their prices and their wages at artificially high levels. Free enterprise and free collective bargaining have little meaning when applied to these wielders of monopoly power.

In many instances, bargaining between Big Labor and Big Business has been a cynical charade.

★ ★ ★

Business grants major wage concessions to the unions and passes the cost — plus a little extra — on to the helpless public. Real free enterprise and true collective bargaining reflect the condition of the market place.

The wheeling and dealing of the monopoly giants reflects only the applicaton of raw power. It is past time that this power was curbed.

World Tide

National Review

For years the advocates of Red China's admission to the United Nations have argued that U.S. opposition was going against the tide of world opinion.

★ ★ ★

Unless Washington changed its position, so the argument went, this country would find itself all alone defending the indefensible.

The latest news about that tide of world opinion came from the U.N., where for the 18th year the General Assembly defeated a resolution to admit Peking.

Forty-five out of 120 countries supported Red China in the vote, one fewer than last year and two fewer than in 1965.

★ ★ ★

Dance Decorations Fuel Fraternity Fire; 3 Die, Several Hurt

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "It was like everything was soaked with gas . . . A wave of flame came across the ceiling and the whole place went up."

That was how collegian Lance Kollmer, 19, of Deerfield, Ill., described the way a fire turned decorations at a pre-Christmas college fraternity dance into an inferno, killing three persons Sunday.

* * *

Nine others at the Delta Tau Delta house party in the heart of the University of Pennsylvania campus were injured—mostly from jumping for their lives from second-story windows.

Five firemen also suffered minor injuries fighting the blaze which swept through the three-story brick and stone building.

LINGERING AT PARTY

Fraternity members said about 100 men and their dates were at the party earlier. Kollmer was among a score of partygoers staying until the last minute before girls' curfew at 2 a.m. He was in the room where the blaze broke out in a 14-foot snowman made of chicken wire stuffed with paper.

Other decorations at the party included a "snow tunnel" made of sheets that blocked the front door. The walls of the living room, too, were covered with sheets, carrying out a snowtime motif traditional with the annual party that preceded exam week.

Samuel Gugino, 19, a sophomore from Buffalo, N.Y., said, "I just saw flames. Suddenly it (the snowman) startled burning. We tried to put it out and couldn't and we ran for help . . . Suddenly the whole place was in flames."

The victims—all of them trapped on the second floor when flames enveloped the only stairwell—were Joseph J. Growchowski, 19, a Penn sophomore of Franklinville, N.J., Kent D. Smith, 20, also a sophomore, of Wilmington, Del., and Susan Sagendorph, 17, of Philadelphia, a guest of one of the fraternity members.

THEORY ADVANCED

Fire officials said a spark from a cigarette may have started the blaze.

The city, university and insurance company officials launched investigations.

Michael Vernamonti, university safety engineer, said the house, like some 50 other fraternity houses on campus, lacked a sprinkler system or fire sensing devices. Plans for both systems were in the works, he said.

"If we just had had six more months, we'd have had a sensor warning system in" that might have sounded an alarm, saving those in the upper stories, Vernamonti said.

Nude Swimming More Expensive

NORWICH, England (AP) — The Norfolk County Council today quadrupled the fine for nude swimming within 200 yards of a public beach.

* * *

The penalty jumped from $12 to $48, to bring it into line with "parliamentary standards" of fines levied for minor offenses.

Navy Issues Warning on Antiwar Propaganda

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Navy has warned its personnel in South Vietnam and around the world to be wary of antiwar groups trying to talk them into deserting, a spokesman said today.

The directive, issued last month, was "obviously" spurred by the recent desertion of four sailors from the carrier Intrepid who have since gone to the Soviet Union, the spokesman added.

* * *

He said that while the directive went to all Navy men, it was primarily intended for those in Vietnam. It called on officers to "remind their men of the obligations of the official oath," the spokesman said.

A U.S. Army spokesman said the Army had not issued a specific directive recently on antiwar peace groups. But more than a year ago, he said, the Army advised soldiers to report to higher authorities if they received any unsolicited antiwar material.

SUBTLE DIFFERENCE

The Navy directive, issued by Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, the chief of naval operations, said the average seaman was unable to determine the difference between "bona fide pacifist groups" and other groups "who are actively engaged in efforts to subvert the loyalty, allegiance and morale of the members of the U.S. armed services."

"I am concerned lest naval personnel be duped by subversive groups taking advantage of the situation and be led to erroneous conclusions," Moorer wrote.

* * *

He said these "subversive groups are seeking defectors for propaganda purposes and really have no interest in the individual otherwise." He warned that once an individual loses his propaganda value, he is "discarded."

The admiral pointed out that a seaman who deserted the Navy and defected to another country faced the prospect of court-martial action if he returned to the United States. The maximum penalty is a dishonorable discharge from the service and five years imprisonment at hard labor.

CIRCUS CLOWN DIES—Edwin (Poodles) Hanneford, who played the role of a clown in the Hanneford family bareback horse-riding acts, died Saturday at his home near Glens Falls, N.Y. Hanneford, in his 70s, had also appeared on Broadway and national television.

U.S. Crime Rate on Rise; Bank Robberies Up 60%

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 60 per cent jump in bank robberies outpaced a general nationwide increase in violent crimes during the first nine months of this year, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported today.

A citizen's risk of becoming the victim of crime rose 14 per cent over the corresponding period last year, the FBI said in reporting that violent crimes as a group increased 15 per cent. Robberies were up 27 per cent, murders rose 16 per cent, aggravated assault increased 9 per cent and forcible rape 7 per cent.

* * *

The report, based on information from local and state police agencies, showed the highest percentage increase 17 per cent—in suburban communities. Big cities registered an over-all 15 per cent crime rise and rural areas 12 per cent.

Regionally the crime trends showed increases of 14 per cent in Southern states, 15 per cent in Western states, 17 per cent in the North Central area and 18 per cent in the Northeast.

PROJECTED INCREASE

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover also noted a 33 per cent rise in armed robbery and a 22 per cent increase in the use of firearms in aggravated assault.

Hoover said if the crime trend recorded in the first nine months continues through 1967 there will be an increase of 65,000 violent crimes and 450,000 property crimes over 1966.

Thant Defends Right to Birth Control Data

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary General U Thant said today that every family has the right to birth control information.

He renewed his July request to governments, nongovernmental organizations and private individuals to "contribute to a new trust fund for population activities" by the United Nations.

* * *

With rates of population increase so high, especially in developing countries, Thant said, "there now exists in many countries an express desire to limit the size of families."

"The Universal Declaration of Human Rights describes the family as the natural and fundamental unit of society," he said.

PERSONAL CHOICE

"It follows that any choice and decision with regard to the size of the family must irrevocably rest with the family itself, and cannot be made by anyone else.

"But this right of parents to free choice will remain illusory unless they are aware of the alternatives open to them.

"Hence, the right of every family to information and to the availability of services in this field is increasingly considered as a basic human right and an indispensable ingredient of human dignity."

Thant spoke at a formal presentation to the United Nations of a declaration on population signed by 28 world leaders.

FAMILY PLANNING

The declaration says "Family planning is in the vital interest of both the nation and the family."

"We believe," it says, "that the population problem must be recognized as a principal element in long-range national planning if governments are to achieve their economic goals and fulfill the aspirations of their people."

* * *

John D. Rockefeller III, chairman of the Population Council, a private organization, promoted the preparation of the declaration.

Twelve heads of state or government had signed it when it was first presented to the United Nations Dec. 10, 1966.

Waco Girl, 19, Is Found Slain

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The nude body of a 19-year-old woman student at Baylor University was found Sunday near a marina on Lake Waco.

The discovery of the body, concealed by cedar brush on the north shore of the lake, ended a search by hundreds of volunteers. The girl, Jill Brown, had been missing since Friday night.

Officers said the young woman had been slashed repeatedly and her throat had been cut. Justice of the Peace Joe Johnson said that both a blunt instrument and a sharp instrument had been used in killing the girl. He said she had not been raped.

She was last seen when she had lunch with her father in Waco Friday. The search was started after the girl, who planned a shopping tour during the afternoon, failed to return to her home in Crawford.

Her car was found Friday night in a Waco shopping center. Officers said they found Miss Brown's clothing in the car. Her purse was missing. In the car were bloodstained packages containing Christmas presents she had bought for her parents.

Shriver Gives Poverty Bill Vow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver promises Congress he'll keep a close watch on the way cities carry out a controversial proposal to put community antipoverty programs under public control.

The director of the Office of Economic Opportunity sent the assurance to Congress as the House prepared to vote today on a two-year extension of the anti-poverty program.

* * *

The bill, a compromise between earlier House and Senate versions, would authorize $1.98 billion for the current fiscal year and $2.18 billion next year. The House is expected to send it to the White House, ending a long, rough trip through Congress.

Although the bill makes many changes in administration and operation of the three-year-old program, most debate has centered around a House-adopted provision to permit states or local governments to designate themselves as Community Action agencies.

PRIVATE AGENCIES

Nearly all the agencies which receive and allocate federal funds for various programs are private although public officials generally serve on their governing boards.

When the Senate passed the measure 62 to 16 Friday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the House provision would turn the program over to politicians. Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said it would be emasculated.

* * *

But Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who fought unsuccessfully to eliminate the provision in a House-Senate conference, said there was "nothing disastrous about it" and predicted many cities would permit existing agencies to continue rather than take on the task themselves.

Clark noted also that any city wishing to have itself designated as an antipoverty agency would have to meet OEO criteria and carry out a program in an acceptable manner or it could be bypassed in favor of a private agency.

NEXT FALL

In a letter to Clark read during the debate, Shriver promised to report to Congress by next fall on the implementation of the provision in various cities.

If a conflict develops over the designation of an agency, he said, "I intend to seek a solution that is thoroughly nonpolitical and nonpartisan and which fully respects the role of the poor."

* * *

The program's two-year extension would be the longest it has received and the $4.16 billion its largest authorization. The authorization merely sets a ceiling, however. The actual money made available in a separate appropriations bill is expected to be substantially lower.

Greek Soldiers Get Hero's Welcome

VOLOS, Greece (AP) — Some 800 Greek soldiers arrived to a hero's welcome today after being withdrawn from Cyprus under the Greek-Turkish agreement that averted a Turkish invasion of the Mediterranean island nation.

Crowds in the port of Volos, in north-central-Greece, cheered wildly as the troops marched past. Girls in national costumes showered them with flowers and the area military commander declared: "You are returning as proud victors and we greet you thus."

Heroin-Nerved VC Fail in Suicide Raid

AN LOC, Vietnam (UPI) — American troops poked among the 124 Communist corpses around their camp and tried to find what motivated the suicidal Vietcong attack.

They found the answer in little sacks containing powder.

"This is heroin," Capt. James D. Ownbrink of Palm Beach, Fla., an army doctor, said after a sniff.

The narcotics did not bring victory to the Vietcong that swarmed at the 1st Infantry Division artillery base before dawn Sunday. It just made their death more painless.

Capt. Karl Robinson of Falls Church, Va., commander of the artillery at this post 55 miles north of Saigon, had been expecting trouble. He had his A Company carefully put up a wall of curling concertina barbed wire around the post. Then another around that.

★ ★ ★

The big guns of Company A had been ravaging the guerrillas, hurting for replacements, had been shanghaiing 12- and 13-year-olds into their rank. The guerrillas obviously wanted badly to wipe out Company A.

CHARGED THE WIRE

With their heroin, they came. They stormed out of the jungle in the darkness and raced against the wire.

"Charlie (the Vietcong) must have been crazy," said one U.S. officer before the telltale sacks were found.

The base felt the impact of Communist mortar shells and rockets. Robinson figured he was just going to be shelled. He told his men to open up. From inside the circle of barbed wire, the entrenched U.S. forces unleashed their guns.

★ ★ ★

Some Communists somehow made it inside the wire before they died. A sergeant from Wisconsin strangled one guerrilla who had leaped into his trench. American losses in the hour and 17-minute fight were one dead and 31 wounded. But in the darkness Robinson believed it was mostly a mortar-rocket attack.

PREIMETER CHECKED

"I gave the command to my men to only fire when they saw something to fire at. We couldn't see a damn thing out there. So I sent one man out to check the perimeter, still thinking it was just a mortar attack," the captain said.

"He came running back and said there were about 50 dead (Vietcong) in just one sector.

"'You must be kidding,' I told him," the officer said.

★ ★ ★

But when the firing ceased and dawn broke, when the piles of Communist bodies on the barbed wire were visible, Robinson and his men realized what had happened.

MAJOR'S EXPLANATION

The communists had used the narcotics to nerve themselves for the assault against the massive U.S. firepower. Captain Ownbrink questioned a captured North Vietnamese major who explained about the heroin.

"These troops were under the influence of heroin. When you take it, you don't feel anything when you get hit. You have no sense of pain," he said.

★ ★ ★

U.S. troops many times before have reported the Communists using narcotics to nerve themselves for battle. The fight near An Loc was the latest and perhaps the most dramatic example.

PEASANT'S PLIGHT — An elderly Vietnamese peasant explains his situation to soldiers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division after he was stopped without an identification card during a sweep through the Que Son Valley by GIs in Operation Wheeler-Wallowa. The man's wife holds a half-dressed child as she listens to his explanation. The old man was taken to battalion headquarters by the troops and then released after interrogation. # Beaver Breeders Charged With Deluding Investors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission says beaver-breeders have been a little too eager in promoting investments in their industrious animals.

The SEC, charging beaver breeders with making misleading statements in their sales pitches, wants them to register with the government any investment contracts calling for the purchase and care of live beavers.

★ ★ ★

Until now, the breeders have declined to comply.

But one of the 10 firms involved in a court test initiated by the SEC has just registered $1 million in investment contracts and filed a prospectus calling them speculative.

OFFSPRING EXTRA

For a minimum investment of $888, a buyer gets two live beavers and ranch care for two years. The care of any beaver offspring—a prime purpose of the contract—costs extra.

At the direction of a federal court, the American Canadian Beaver Co., Inc., of St. Anthony, Idaho, acknowledged the prices of beaver pelts have ranged between $20 and $40 over the last 30 years and have gone as low as $6.15.

★ ★ ★

"The purchasers should be aware that without a substantial increase in the price of beaver pelts or some other development in this area, for which there is no present basis of anticipation, he can only expect to experience a loss as a result of this investment," the company stated.

The SEC doesn't rule on the merits of an investment but said it wants a person to have all the facts before spending money for live beavers.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION

The federal court in Salt Lake City, Utah, ruled last year that investment contracts are securities and issued a temporary injunction barring any misleading statements.

One of the 10 defendants in that case, Continental Marketing Corp. of Denver, has appealed the ruling, and a decision is still pending.

★ ★ ★

The lower court said the 10 companies should not tell potential buyers there's a market for live beavers ranging from $2,000 to $6,000 a pair. The only market exceeding $100 per animal is the one created by the defendants themselves, the lower court ruled.

COMPACT CAMPAIGN HEADQUARTERS—Walter J. Dilbeck Jr., an Evansville, Ind., real estate promoter, plans to open a "Reagan for President" headquarters in Washington. His only equipment in his six-room hotel suite so far is a briefcase filled with posters and handbills promoting the candidacy of California Gov. Ronald Reagan. And, Dilbeck admits, he has never seen his candidate except on television's "Death Valley Days."

Millionaire Plans Drive for Reagan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "Reagan for President" headquarters is being set up here by an Indiana millionaire who says he's never seen Reagan except on television.

Walter J. Dilbeck Jr., who as an Army private was cited for turning back a German charge singlehandedly, aims at turning the course of American politics with a national campaign to gather petitions supporting California Gov. Ronald Reagan for the Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

"I think if he gets enough backing he'll come out. I think that's what he's waiting for," said Dilbeck. "I find the interest underneath everywhere is for Reagan."

The campaign center is a six-room suite in a distant corner of a 50-year-old hotel at the far end of Wahhington's Embassy Row.

WORKED FOR STEVENSON

Dilbeck, 49, is a former campaign worker for liberal Democrat Adlai Stevenson. He says that until last year he voted a straight Democratic ticket and actively opposed conservative Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, who had Reagan's backing, in the 1964 presidential election.

He distributes to visitors a copy of a Dun & Bradstreet report that lists his assets at $3 million and his net worth at $1.6 million.

★ ★ ★

In his lapel he wears a pin for the Distinguished Service Cross. A citation he displays to callers says that on April 6, 1945, Dilbeck stood in the open atop a hill in Germany and, by himself, stopped an infantry charge, shooting 60 enemy soldiers.

★ ★ ★

Vietnam and American morality worry him now.

Dilbeck, who says he has traveled twice to Saigon, points to the U.S. firepower capabilities in Southeast Asia and argues, "Morally it's a shame to let a youngster get killed in Vietnam. Everybody knows it is a situation they can win in six weeks if they want."

'TWO WORDS'

Dilbeck adds, "Reagan only has to say two words as far as I'm concerned to win this election: 'Law and order'."

The Evansville, Ind., real estate man says he gathered 22,000 signatures of support in his home state. Now his horizons are national and his goal is one million names.

★ ★ ★

Dilbeck says he'll move in an 11-man staff by next month to begin a massive mailing to veterans' organizations, professional groups and churches to try to teach that goal. He says he'll send the petitions to GOP national headquarters.

"I'm trying to get the people to show enough strength that the Republicans will have to draft this man," he says.

Dilbeck says he's paying for the effort out of his own pocket and estimates the expenses in Indiana alone at $50,000 to date. The dapper businessman has real estate interests in Kentucky, Tennessee and Texas and just finished buying the Toronto baseball club in the International League to move it to Louisville.

★ ★ ★

Dilbeck says he's had no contact with Reagan, who says he won't seek the Republican nomination.

GOP Chiefs Eye Platform Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors, so far reluctant to put themselves behind any single presidential hopeful, are determined to make themselves a force in shaping the issues on which the GOP candidate will run.

Rhode Island Gov. John H. Chafee fixed that goal today as the party leadership conferred at a session of the Republican coordinating committee.

★ ★ ★

The governors' three-day conference in Palm Beach, Fla., turned out to be another gathering of the presidentially nonaligned. That left the state executives with national policy-making efforts as their current avenue to influence the 1968 campaign.

Their priority target now is a share of the leadership of the platform committee at the next national convention. The governors' candidate for that role is Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer.

DIRKSEN IN LINE

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen is in line to be the platform chairman. Chafee, the chairman of the Republican Governors Association, acknowledged there is little the governors can do beyond asking National Chairman Ray C. Bliss to give Shafer a share of the platform job.

★ ★ ★

"We'll just have to be quite forceful in saying how much we want Gov. Shafer," Chafee said. Twenty-six strong, "the governors represent a very substantial force in the Republican party," Chafee said.

★ ★ ★

They expressed discontent with what they considered congressional dominance of the party policy-making machinery.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller contended in Palm Beach that the administrative know-how of the state house should be blended with legislative experience in shaping party policy. And Arizona's Jack Williams complained congressional Republicans tend to become "national-minded" and lose touch with state problems.

POTENT FORCE

While the governors contented themselves with talk of policy, not of candidates, Colorado's John A. Love said they will still be a potent force when the time arrives to select a nominee.

★ ★ ★

Love, who has not stated a presidential preference, said timing will be a key factor in exerting gubernatorial influence. He said that's why most of the governors are unwilling now to align themselves with any candidate. "I think to jump too soon is going to be a disadvantage, as well as to go too late," he said.

Chafee, who wants Michigan Gov. George Romney nominated for president, blamed political problems at home for the governors' inability to mass their power behind any single candidate now. "Many of them feel that by choosing one candidate they would be a devisive force," Chafee said.

Computer-refined ride.
Once again Chevrolet has left nothing to chance. To smooth the ride and keep it silent, we made new use of electronic computers. They helped show us where to place our new double-cushioned rubber body mounts to hush the ride like never before.

New luxury, better value.
Check the upholstery for its fine detailing, the precise fit where things come together. Feel the seats for their softness, the carpet for thickness. This is luxury, and one of the reasons why Chevrolets have a traditionally higher resale value.

Impala
This year you get Hide-A-Way wipers that sweep across more windshield area, giving you excellent visibility. A buzzer that reminds you if you've left your key in the ignition. Full-length body side moldings with protective vinyl inserts that guard against dings, scratches and chips. A bigger standard V8. You get a car that's put together better than any we've ever made before.

Chevelle
Now Chevelle coupes give even quicker handling and maneuverability because of their shorter wheelbase and wider wheel stance. There's a new 307-cubic-inch V8 engine that adds quite a bit to their sporty image, too. So does the long-hood, short-deck styling. They are very special cars.

Camaro, The Hugger.
Some people say "just make it sporty and agile, and you've got a winner." But they forget something. Your comfort. Now, in Camaro's new seats, you sit in solid comfort. Open the new Astro Ventilation ports on the instrument panel and outside air flows through, minus noise, wind and rain. Under you, new ideas in the suspension help eliminate shock and vibrations, and give you a more comfortable ride. No wonder Camaro is the fastest growing sportster of its kind.

Newlyweds Honeymoon in Islands After Colorful White House Ceremony

AP Wirephotos

President Johnson escorts his daughter, Lynda on way to the White House East Room Saturday for her marriage to Marine Capt. Charles Robb.

With his bride watching, Capt. Charles Robb uses his saber to slice a piece of their wedding cake after the ceremony Saturday in the White House. President Johnson observes his son-in-law's technique.

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP)—President Johnson's daughter Lynda and his new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Island's most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 53 years.

Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, P.R.

★ ★ ★

A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

Both Lynda and her mother have visited at the Caneel Bay home of millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

LBJ 'TIRED'

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the President at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Robb's family, from Milwaukee, held a big reunion Sunday at an inn near Winchester, Va., attended by his 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Harvey J. Sims, and 59 other relatives.

The White House bustled with workmen changing from wedding to Christmas decorations. They had plenty of red and white flowers, holly, mistletoe and other evergreens left from the wedding.

The traditional floor-to-ceiling Christmas tree was being installed in the Blue Room, where the bridal couple and their parents greeted guests with hugs, kisses and handshakes after the ceremony.

In the place of the wedding altar in the East Room, a creche with a Nativity scene was being installed.

But the wedding itself isn't likely to be forgotten soon.

Lynda, 23, goes into the history books as the seventh presidential daughter to wed in the White House.

The President said the wedding couldn't have been better — "everything was great."

Another presidential daughter, 83-year-old Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longsworth, who was married in thesame spot in 1906, called it the "prettiest wedding I ever saw."

Lynda's wedding dress was by Geoffrey Beene, a simple long white satin A-line with a frilly veil and a 12-yard silk train. Her hair was swept up in a pompadour and she wore pale makeup and false eyelashes.

The bridegroom wore his Marine dress uniform.

The couple clasped hands, smiled into each other's eyes and whispered "I love you" after they exchanged marriage vows and rings. The ceremohy started on the dot at 4 p.m. and they were declared man and wife 16 minutes later.

The solemn President, a white rose in the lapel of his cutaway, softly ad-libbed into the Episcopal wedding text "her mother and I do" when Canon Gerald N. McAllister of San Antonio asked: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?"

500 GUESTS

Five hundred guests crowded the East Room and the cross hall of the White House for the wedding and the reception which followed with dancing, a lavish buffet and champagne. The party spilled over into a pink-lined tent outside the state dining room.

Matron of honor Luci Johnson Nugent, 20, admitted tears welled in her eyes as she watched her sister marry. She cried at her own wedding, too.

She and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, said they enjoyed this one more than their own — "all the fun and none of the trauma," said Luci.

★ ★ ★

Lynda pulled her husband's glittering sword from its scabbard and together they cut the first piece from a towering six-foot white wedding cake. Unlike Luci and Nugent, who could hardly hack through their cake, Lynda and Robb made it with the greatest of ease.

The bridal couple went off for their first dance to the tune of "Love Affair to Remember," played by Peter Duchin's orchestra, which also played for Luci's White House reception.

The President stayed behind to cut himself and Mrs. Johnson a piece of cake with the sword and then they joined the dancing.

Even Lucie's 5-month-old son, Patrick Lyndon, was brought in for the cake cutting.

Later the bridal couple stood on a stair landing and Lynda tossed her bouquet of white gardenias, white roses and white heather. It went to her maid of honor, Warrie Lynn Smith, 23, of San Antonio, a kindergarten teacher and former college and White House roommate of Lynda's.

Lynda ruled out of the toss Robb's 19-year-old sister, Marguerite Trenholme Robb, whose unguarded remarks to reporters got her the most attention of the bridesmaids. "Trenny's too young," said the bride.

"Wouldn't you like to be 19?" said the President, watching with a smile.

Of the guests, two theatrical personalities probably attracted the most attention. One was George Hamilton, Lynda's former beau, who didn't stay for the reception.

The other was Carol Channing, who wore a tunic and bloomers in bright yellow chiffon with matching yellow stockings.

The last guests left the White House around 10 p.m., long after the President's helicopter had left the south grounds.

The President, seeing his second daughter wed, declared:

"There are not many girls who have picked young men like my two sons-in-law."

Can Only Be Sure of Lawyer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I suspected my husband of being untrue to me, so I went to a lawyer about a separation or divorce. My husband denies and unfaithfulness and he wants us back together again. (We have children.)

ABBY

My lawyer told me that every man is untrue to his wife at one time or another, and my husband is no exception. He said the more trusting a wife is, the better it is for her husband. It makes cheating easier.

Is this true, Abby? I just can't believe it. My husband is a good father, and he said he was happy with me in every way.

My lawyer says I have two choices. Go back to my husband for the children's sake and put up with his cheating, or divorce him and raise my children alone. Please say something to help me. I love my husband, but I am so confused. M IN FLA.

DEAR M: There are plenty of faithful married men, and your husband could be one of them. The only thing you can be sure of is that your lawyer cheats on his wife. Give your husband another chance.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I work, and make a pretty good salary. The guy I go with is still in college, and he gets an allowance, which is almost as much as my salary, but he never seems to have any money. I am always helping him out with money for gas, cigarets, and movies.

If he would ask me for a regular "loan" and pay me back, I wouldn't mind, but he always says he left his money in his other pants. He's real groovy otherwise and I really dig this guy. How should I handle it? DIGS HIM

DEAR DIGS: If you give him any more money, you left your brains in your other head. Lend him bus fare and tell this groovy guy to go home and get his wallet.

Althavers Marry in Alumni Chapel

Alumni Memorial Chapel on the campus of Michigan State University was the setting Saturday for vows exchanged by Mary Ann Barningham and Daryl John Althaver.

For the afternoon ceremony, the bride, daughter of the Walter L. Barninghams of West Huron Street, chose a day length wool ensemble. Bands of lace accented her attire at neck and hem.

★ ★ ★

Beaded petals secured her short illusion veil. For the bouquet, she carried a nosegay of white chrysanthemums and Stephanotis.

The bridal couple were attended by Mrs. William H. Thurman and John Andrews.

HONEYMOON

Prior to their departure for a weekend honeymoon in Florida, the newlyweds received guests at an informal reception given at the bride's East Lansing apartment.

Parents of the bridegroom are the Joseph G. Althavers of Tekonsha.

Chuck's Groomsman Almost 'Not There'

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Neil Burmeister of Pompano Beach, Fla., one of six groomsmen in the Johnson-Robb nuptials Saturday, says he almost didn't make it to the ceremony because "someone forgot to give me a pass."

"I couldn't get in the White House," Burmeister said. "I was sent from door to door, but no one believed I was a groomsman."

★ ★ ★

Burmeister, a former roommate of Marine Capt. Charles Robb at the University of Wisconsin, said, "finally, Bess Abell who coordinated Lynda Bird's wedding spied me and let me slip in."

Written Word Tells Sender You Do Care

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend says it's correct to send "thank you" notes, furnished by the funeral home, to people who send flowers. I think you should send a written note, naming the flowers. Am I right? — Mrs. Snook.

Dear Mrs. Snook: A bouquet of flowers goes to you! You certainly are right. A printed note provided by a funeral parlor is inadequate "thanks" for people who take the trouble to send flowers.

The printed note may be used IF a handwritten message is added, but the personal note is best of all.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: I announced my engagement to a fellow in the service over a year ago. When he came home things had changed and we broke up. I am going with someone else now and am very happy.

When we get engaged will it be proper for me to announce our engagement in the paper? Would it be all right to use the same picture as before?—Judy

Dear Judy: You may, and should, announce your second engagement in the newspaper so that friends will know of your situation. But I wouldn't use the same picture, simply because it just wouldn't seem right to either your exfiance or your present one.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you please settle a difference of opinion for a friend and myself? We work in the office of a convalescent center and routinely have a great deal of correspondence with physicians.

My friend believes that letters to doctors should be addressed as follows: "Doctor John L. Doe, M.D." I say they should be addressed in this way: "John L. Doe, M.D." — Francine

Dear Francine: You are right. "M.D." is most correct for formal or business correspondence and "Doctor" is acceptable — but never both.

Faster Credit System Well on the Way

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

It's coming, the modernization of credit bureaus — and it's long overdue. A movement is afoot to combine all credit information into one master plan, offering instantaneous credit information on most any individual in the country.

MARY FEELEY

As computerized credit information bureaus are starting to spread in various regions of the country, there is a good bit of unrest about the rights of the individual and the invasion of his privacy.

One federal government official thinks there should be more concern about the intrusion, for credit evaluation, into a private citizen's financial credit and ethical background.

Actually, computerizing credit bureau information will not be altering the basic system now in existence to subscribers and grantors, says a Personal Loan Department executive of a large New York bank that is now using a computer process. It will simply be more efficient and much speedier.

Because it can handle more credit information at a faster rate of speed, and automatically deliver more detailed information, the service will be of infinite value to a larger number of subscribers.

Certainly the existing system of establishing individual credit ratings calls for updating and improving. Today 10 or 12 small credit bureaus may be serving one metropolitan area, each providing their subscribers with what they have. It is rarely a complete financial profile, and not always up-to-date.

What will all this mean to you? It could, in time affect you in many ways. For instance, a large credit card company keeps about 1.4 per cent of its funds in reserve. This company believes that with an improved system of credit data, its backup money for poor risk coverage could be cut down.

This would mean a savings that could be passed on to you, as a card holder, in more favorable interest rates. This same thing could occur for others in the consumer credit field, as credit information becomes standardized.

You would reap another possible benefit if you moved from one city to another, and wanted to establish your credit rating quickly. The new system will be able to up-date credit history files promptly and completely, and make this information available to credit bureaus over a data-network for those grantors requesting it.

Your credit rating could precede you into a new community and be there waiting for you to arrive.

Of course, these advantages of computerizing credit information will become noticeable gradually, as more of the existing bureaus modernize their equipment.

The only foreseeable problem is the protection of the individual's right to privacy. There is a strong awareness of this, and considerable research is being directed in this field.

There's a tremendous need for the proper controls, as this huge source of personal and private information is being collected into a national system. Given first priority is a sensitive plan of checks and balances to protect your rights and mine.

Mr. Dale L. Reistad, director of Automation of the American Banker's Association has been advocating the development of a consumer-oriented credit bureau industry, which would do for consumer credit what Dun and Bradstreet does for the business sector.

Those working closely in this field are examining the problem in its fullest dimensions. They know the value of a single, centralized dossier of lifetime data, instantly available, but they are also aware of its grave implications. You as an individual must be protected in order to insure the ultimate success of the program.

Plan for Needy

A Christmas donation to Pontiac State Hospital and arrangements for the distribution of holiday baskets for the needy highlighted talks at Friday's meeting of Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars, David Belisle Post No. 1008 held in the post home.

Mrs. Robert Livingston became a new member.

Committee of Congress to Oversee Beauty Shop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House beauty shop, which vanished in the night, is headed for a prompt reopening.

It was only last Saturday night that Mrs. Mabel Solomon suddenly pulled her equipment out of the shop she operated for some 30 years.

Since this was discovered last Monday morning congressional wheels have been turning rapidly and the shop's reopening is set for today.

★ ★ ★

On Wednesday, Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., introduced a proposal authorizing up to $15,000 to buy new equipment, set up a select committee to oversee operations and hire a manager. The House didn't blink an eye or say a word before accepting the plan.

Mrs. Griffiths, Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., and Rep. Catherine May, R-Wash., were named to the committee and promptly went to work.

They ordered $12,000 of new equipment—hair dryers, chairs and shampoo stations—got the old quarters painted and the floors cleaned.

MANAGER

They hired a manager, Mrs. Betty J. Oszust of nearby Rockville, Md., at $15,000 a year. The manager's salary will be drawn out of income of the shop, open to anyone but used primarily by House employes, women members and wives of male members.

When Mrs. Solomon operated the shop, she paid no rent, no utilities and even got free towels. Mrs. Griffiths claimed Mrs. Solomon grossed $143,000 last year. There had been a dispute over the operations and Mrs. Solomon had been ill for about six months.

★ ★ ★

"It is my earnest hope that the next time the House hears from the select committee," Mrs. Griffiths said, "it will be for the pleasant task of returning money to the Treasury."

"We never had any idea the House would pass this without a few questions," Mrs. May added, "but there wasn't a man on that floor willing to face up to his wife or secretary without doing all he could to get this shop back in business."

Cleanse Teapot

For a consistently good bracing brew of tea, keep the teapot clean by rinsing it out weekly with a teaspoon of baking soda plus boiling water.

A pasta tree is a holiday decoration that children can easily make. Good Housekeeping Magazine offers this creative suggestion to keep youngsters busy. All it takes is a heavy piece of paper—any color, any size—rolled into a cone. With a variety of macaronis and noodles, glue and the child's own imagination, a charming centerpiece can be made.

If you like lemon in your tea, make lemon cubes. This gives the lemon flavor without the mess of cut lemons. Dilute lemon juice with water and freeze in ice cube trays in the usual way.

Romneys Attend Church, Address Congregation

VERSAILLES, France (AP)—Gov. and Mrs. George Romney of Michigan attended morning services at the Church of the Latter Day Saints here Sunday, and both addressed the predominantly American congregation.

Snow had been falling for several hours in this suburban community as the governor and his party arrived from their hotel near the Champs Elysees.

Gov. and Mrs. Romney and their son, Mitt, 20, shook hands and chatted with members of the congregation before the service began. They sat in a small group facing the congregation of more than 200 alongside 16 young children who sang a hymn during the service.

Mrs. Romney spoke before her husband and, through an interpreter, expressed her happiness at being in France, the land of her ancestors. She stressed the value of being free to choose one's service and worship.

Gov. Romney told the congregation of the pleasure it is for him to be back in France and particularly to see their son again. Young Romney has been in France 18 months on a Mormon missionary assignment.

Also using an interpreter, Romney emphasized the vital role he said God plays in putting order into the often confused world. Modern prophets and science are in harmony, said Romney, and mankind needs God's guidance today as much as ever.

Scores of gendarmes and police guarded a house about 75 yards away from the modern brick and wood panel church. It was the home of a 7-year-old boy kidnaped and slain a week ago.

Visibly distressed, Gov. and Mrs. Romney asked for details of the event. Unknown to them a 15-year-old boy led police to the youngster's grave nearby during the church service. Police said the youth admitted kidnaping and killing Emmanuel Malliart, the son of a civilian official in the defense ministry.

Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, arrived in France Thursday on a fact-finding tour through Europe, the Middle East, and the Far East. He leaves Paris Monday for London.

Polly's Pointers

Makes 'New' Purse

DEAR POLLY — I, like most teen-agers, want to be in style so I shopped for one of the new small purses with a long strap. They cost much more than I can afford but, as I looked through the stores, I thought of a great idea.

My little sister had a purse she never used so I took off the small strap, bought a black patent leather belt that matched the purse and put this through the metal loops on the ends of the purse. I can adjust the strap to any desired size and I saved a lot of money.—SANDRA

Good for you, Sandra. Too often we give up in despair and never use any ingenuity to get what we want when it might be at our fingertips.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My 90-year-old father still raises a small garden. To push the leaves aside when he looks for cucumbers, tomatoes, bugs and worms he uses a T which he made with two thin boards. This saves him from having to stoop over.

When he picks cherries, he runs a heavy cord through the wire handle of a bucket, puts this around his neck and shoulders leaving both hands free to pick the fruit and hold onto a branch of the tree.—MRS. S.A.M.

A Christmas pledge pin dinner is scheduled for Thursday at Topinka's Country House.

McCarthy, Hubert at Odds on Solution for Viet Conflict

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy suggests the United States pull troops out of some areas of South Vietnam where "the Vietcong have been strong throughout the war" in a effort to stimulate peace talks.

* * *

"Let's open up some areas and see what happens, and then press for negotiations," McCarthy said. The United States "ought to begin to vacate or not try to control all of South Vietnam. I know there are areas that we don't have to dominate."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said in a separate interview, however, that he has "never believed in enclaves" and feels the Vietnam war will be won in the countryside.

SEN. EUGENE McCARTHY

"It is our view that negotiations will take place in Vietnam at the time when the Vietcong and North Vietnam feel that this struggle cannot be won militarily, that they have lost the countryside, that they have lost the people," Humphrey said.

* * *

McCarthy, in a television interview, said yesterday he felt there was "no question but that the National Liberation Front can be found, they can be talked to, and in some kind of communication with Hanoi, I think there is a negotiation possible."

'SAYS NOTHING'

The Minnesota senator said President Johnson's repeated declaration he will "go any place at any time" says nothing.

"I would feel much better if they said we will go to Warsaw next week," McCathry said. He also scoffed at Johnson's offer to conduct peace negotiations "on a neutral ship in a neutral sea.

"There aren't any neutral seas any more. I would much rather have seen their response, for example, to the approaches a year ago, roughly a year and a half ago, of going to Warsaw, sending somebody there, instead of laying down these broad generalizations," McCarthy said.

* * *

"I hate to make moral judgments," he added, "But I don't think they want to negotiate in the area in which I think negotiation is possible."

Humphrey, however, vigorously denied McCarthy's allegations in a television interview broadcast several hours later.

"The man in this government that believes in negotiations and that promotes negotiations, that asks for negotiations, that pursues this hope of peace, is the President of the United States," Humphrey said.

"I believe that what the President said at San Antonio continues to represent the sincere desire and the public policy of the President of the United States, that we want, as soon as possible, prompt and productive discussions and negotiations to end the war.

* * *

"I have a high regard for Sen. McCarthy," Humphrey said. "I disagree with him, as you know, on this issue of our involvement in Southeast Asia, on Vietnam.

'WANT SAME THINGS'

"He says he wants a political settlement. So do we. He says he wants a negotiated settlement. So does the President.

"He says he wants a rational approach to this subject. So does the President. So do we.

"He says he would like a cessation of the bombing. We have had six pauses in the bombing, and the President has said again we will have a stopping of the bombardment of the north if we can get prompt and productive discussions.

* * *

"I really believe that there is beginning to grow in America an understanding that we are pursuing the right course, not the extreme of withdrawal or the use of weapons of mass destruction which can trigger a world conflagration," Humphrey said.

Bat Average Registers .000

OSHKOSH, Wis. (AP) — An Oshkosh woman told police the bullet wound in her foot was the result of a bat hunt in the apartment in which she and her 20-year-old son live.

Mrs. Jennie Oshowicz said she and her son, Fred, 20, saw bats flying in the apartment when they arrived home early Sunday.

They saw one hiding under a stuffed chair, and the plan, she said, was that she would lift the chair while her son shot the bat with a 22-caliber pistol. He missed.

DUCKLING GOOD TOO — Roasted Duckling with Raisin Apple Stuffing stars with a molded cottage cheese salad surrounded with colorful fruits. Other familiar dairy foods just as at home in holiday meals as any time during the years are butter, milk and a dab of sour cream topping the cinnamon apple garnish. More apples are in the tasty stuffing.

Try a Duckling for Big Dinner

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

You had turkey for Thanksgiving; you're planning on ham for New Year's Eve. Why not be different and serve a different kind of fowl for Christmas?

Duckling is a delicious choice. You can buy young meaty ducklings in any supermarket. Any fruit stuffing or sauce is a perfect accompaniment for this bird.

Perhaps you'd like goose for a change—or capon—or a plump chicken. If there are just two of you, Cornish game hens would be perfect.

But if you're really lucky, your hunter will come home with a partridge or two which will be the piece de resistance of the dinner.

DUCKLING WITH RAISIN APPLE STUFFING

Shallow roasting pan — Preheated 325° oven
Yield: 4 servings

1 frozen duckling (4½ to 5 pounds), defrosted
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped peeled raw apple
1 cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup melted butter
4 cups ½-inch raisin bread cubes (about 10 slices)
¼ teaspoon leaf thyme

Clean, wash and drain duckling; dry skin gently with paper toweling. Sprinkle ½ teaspoon salt evenly in body and neck cavities. Prepare stuffing. Saute apple, celery and onion in butter until apple is tender. Add bread cubes and thyme and remaining ¼ teaspoon salt; mix carefully. Fill neck and body cavities, loosely, with stuffing mixture. Skewer neck skin to back. Cover opening of body cavity with aluminum foil and tie legs together loosely. Place duckling on rack in pan. Bake until drumstick meat is tender, 2 to 2½ hours.

COTTAGE CHEESE–ORANGE MOLD

Salad mold, 4-cup

2 tablespoons (2 envelopes) unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1¾ cups cottage cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons honey
¼ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon orange rind
½ teaspoon salt
Lettuce

★ ★ ★

In a small saucepan soften gelatin in water; heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until dissolved. Meanwhile, in a bowl combine cottage cheese, sour cream, honey, orange juice and rind and salt. Add gelatin mixture and stir until blended. Pour into mold; chill until firm. Unmold onto lettuce-lined plate. Surround with fruit.

If Hunter Bags Partridge, You're Lucky

How to retain the traditional flavor of a Christmas dinner, yet present a meal that's a little different . . . there is the dilemma faced by the adventurous and ambitious cook!

A good way to begin is with several small birds with an exciting stuffing as a replacement for the usual big bird.

★ ★ ★

Partridges are elegant; their delicate flavor is enhanced by a stuffing of white rice made tangy with sweet pickle relish and pineapple. Even the gravy has a zesty new flavor when made with pickle liquid!

★ ★ ★

Yams — Louisiana yams — must be on the menu. A lemon-orange glaze brings a glow to their naturally brilliant hue; pistachio nuts add the decorative touch and proclaim that here is a gourmet dish.

★ ★ ★

The holiday table needs a lavish array of pickles, jams and relishes. There's a wide selection to choose from the grocery shelf: sweet fresh cucumber slices, sweet gherkins, sweet mixed pickles or pickle relish are only a few possibilities.

PARTRIDGES WITH PICKLE SPICED STUFFING

1½ cups chicken stock or bouillon
Giblets from 3 partridges
½ cup package pre-cooked rice
¾ cup canned crushed pineapple, drained
⅓ cup sweet pickle relish, drained
2 tablespoons light seedless raisins
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 tablespoons chopped onion
Salt
3 partridges, (about 14 ounces each)
½ cup melted butter or margarine
½ cup dry sherry wine
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
¾ cup sweet pickle liquid
Water cress

Heat chicken stock. Add giblets and cook slowly, covered, until tender. Drain giblets; reserve ½ cup liquid. Finely chop giblets.

Heat ½ cup reserved giblet liquid. Add rice and stir. Cover and allow to stand 5 minutes. Add pineapple, pickle relish, raisins and giblets.

Melt 1 tablespoon butter; add onion and cook over medium heat until onion is tender. Stir onion mixture into rice mixture. Season to taste with salt.

Spoon about ⅓ of rice mixture into each partridge. Skewer opening around stuffing and tie tightly with string. Place on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven about 60 minutes. Baste frequently with Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

Sauce: Combine ½ cup melted butter or margarine and sherry. Spoon over partridges frequently as they bake. When partridges are tender, remove from pan. Remove string and skewers. Prepare gravy:

Gravy: Pour off drippings; reserve 1 cup. Blend flour into pickle liquid until smooth; stir into 1 cup drippings. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Serve hot with partridges. Garnish with water cress.

Louisiana Yams Pistachio

2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups orange juice
⅔ cup finely chopped orange
¼ cup finely chopped lemon
6 medium yams, cooked, peeled and cut in half, or 2 cans (1 pound each) yams, drained.
¾ cup pistachio nuts
Orange slices
Water cress

Combine cornstarch, salt, sugar, ginger and nutmeg in saucepan; blend well. Slowly stir in orange juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Stir in orange and lemon. Add yams and heat.

★ ★ ★

Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with nuts. Garnish with orange slices and water cress. Serve with stuffed partridges.

ROAST CAPON — Capon is a chicken that has been desexed. When sent to market, it is plump and meaty. Prepare it with wine for a gourmet feast.

Wine Flavors a Capon

Why not have roast capon for one of your holiday meals? A fair round capon yields a generous number of servings and is good for second-day slicing.

★ ★ ★

A capon is an unsexed rooster, seven to 10 months old, weighing over four pounds. Its flesh is tender, especially the breast.

Capons have been eaten since the days of the Roman Empire.

This special Roast Capon a la Rhine is filled with a truly savory mushroom stuffing that goes together swiftly.

It's another example of how to personalize the convenience items into today's market. Don't give away the secret of the teaspoon of rosemary or the half cup of Rhine wine — just look mysterious.

ROAST CAPON A LA RHINE

Wash capon (6 to 7 lbs.) in cold, running water; pat dry. Cook giblets in 2 cups water; drain, reserving broth; chop.

★ ★ ★

Stuff body and neck cavities of capon with mushroom stuffing; truss. Place on rack in open roaster. Roast at 350 degrees, calculating 30 minutes per pound.

Remove from roaster. Pour fat from roaster, leaving brown drippings. Return 3 tablespoons fat to roaster; blend in 3 tablespoons flour. Measure 1⅔ cups giblet broth; add to fat-flour mixture, cook and stir until smooth and thickened.

Add ⅓ cup Rhine wine and chopped giblets. Heat to serving temperature. Makes about 2½ cups.

Mushroom Stuffing

½ cup Rhine wine
½ cup water
¼ lb. butter or margarine
1 pkg. bread stuffing mix
1 can (6 oz.) broiled chopped mushrooms
1 teaspoon rosemary
1 teaspoon instant minced green onions
½ cup wheat germ
1 egg, beaten

Combine wine, water and butter in large saucepan; heat until butter melts. Stir in stuffing mix. Add mushrooms, with their broth. Add rosemary, onion and wheat germ; mix well. Stir in beaten egg, mix well.

CHRISTMAS DINNER — Plump little partridges have a stuffing of rice made tasty with sweet pickle relish and pineapple. Pistachio nuts are the final touch to the golden goodness of yams glazed with a lemon-orange sauce.

Chicken Wings for First Course

Dips are darling, chips are crazy — but how about something different on the hors d'oeuvre scene? Chicken to the rescue!

A prize-winner in the 1967 National Chicken Cooking Contest was called "Swellickins" and aptly titled.

★ ★ ★

Try it for your next tea or cocktail party — or if you've joined those who entertain with wine-tastings, be sure to serve thick cubes of Switzerland Swiss cheese.

Small napkins, or foil-caps on the chicken wings are recommended.

SWELLICKINS

8 chicken wings, from 3-lb. broiler-fryer
1½ tbsp. instant meat marinade
⅓ cup cold watre
¾ cup biscuit mix
½ cup solid all-vegetable shortening

Remove wing tips; separate wings at joint. Combine marinade and water in plastic bag; drop in chicken; seal; marinate 15 minutes.

★ ★ ★

While chicken is marinating, preheat electric skillet to 375 degrees; add shortening.

Dip chicken in biscuit mix, coating well. Place chicken in hot shortening in skillet; cook until nicely browned on both sides. Reduce temperature to 300 degrees and cook 20 minutes or until fork-tender.

To serve, wrap triangles of foil around one end of each piece — or provide small napkins. Makes 16 hors d'oeuvres.

Put Relish Filled Apples in with Roast Goose

Goose is a fowl too often neglected. Contrary to what many people believe, it is not greasy if properly prepared.

★ ★ ★

Allow about one and one-half pounds dressed weight for each serving desired.

ROAST GOOSE WITH APPLE RELISH CUPS

8 pound goose
6 cups prepared bread stuffing
6 medium red apples
½ cup drained sweet pickle relish
¼ cup raisins
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups boiling water

★ ★ ★

Fill cavity of goose with stuffing. Secure opening with skewers. Place goose on rack in shallow roasting pan. Cook in 325 dtgree (slow) oven 3½ to 4 hours or until meat thermometer registers 190 degrees.

★ ★ ★

One half hour before goose is done, drain off dripping; reserve ¼ cup drippings.

Remove tops and cores from apples. Scoop out apples, leaving ¼-inch shells; reserve shells. Chop apple pulp; mix with pickle relish, raisins and lemon juice. Fill reserved shells with apple mixture.

Arrange around goose on rack in roasting pan and return to oven ½ hour longer.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, heat reserved ¼ cup goose drippings. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Cook, stirring constantly until lightly browned. Gradually stir in boiling water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until thickened.

★ ★ ★

Place goose on platter. Surround with apple relish cups and garnish with parsley. Serve with gravy. Makes 6 servings.

ROAST GOOSE WITH APPLE RELISH CUPS — Sweet pickle relish provides the proper tang to apple cups which accompany roast goose. The festive board includes an array of other pickles: sweet mixed pickles, sweet fresh cucumber pickles and tiny sweet gherkins.

Accompany Roast Duck With an Orange Gravy

A buffet supper with Orange Roast Duck served as the main attraction is one of the nicest ways to climax the holiday season. Golden brown twin ducks that have been basted with orange juice and then garnished with orange slices make an impressive sight.

★ ★ ★

Then for a simply wonderful accompaniment, use the orange flavored drippings as the basis for a special kind of gravy.

★ ★ ★

For two ducks you'll need about ½ cup orange juice for basting. Continue brushing them with the juice during the first hour of cooking, then cover with a cloth dipped in melted fat and roast at 325 degrees, allowing about 35 minutes per pound.

ORANGE GRAVY FOR DUCK

After the birds are done, leave about ⅓ cup drippings in pan and stir in ⅓ cup flour. Add 2 cups boullion or broth made of giblets, ½ cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange peel, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon brown sugar, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer until thick.

★ ★ ★

Just before serving, add 1 cup peeled orange chunks to which 2 tablespoons brown sugar has been added.

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Claus uses the ring to change the donkey back into Tweedleknees, leaving only two weapons to fight the Pigwidgen. Then the elf falls into a snake nest.

CHAPTER TEN

The Dagger

When Claus saw the snakes preparing to strike Tweedleknees he knew what he had to do. He dug the magic mouthharp from his pocket. The elves had told him the sound of the harp would charm the fiercest foe. Would it work for a thousand snakes? wondered Claus.

Although he had never played such an instrument, he took a deep breath and blew with all his might on the harp.

The sweetest music he had ever heard filled the air. The snakes grew silent. Slowly they uncoiled. Their tongues were still. Their eyes grew dreamy.

Claus took his mouth from the harp and shouted. "Tweedleknees, come!" Then he filled his lungs with air again and blew desperately on the harp while the elf, freed of his hypnosis, scrambled up the log to safety.

FALL INTO SNOW

As soon as Tweedleknees was out of the pit he ran. Claus stumbled after him still blowing furiously on the harp. They ran until they had no breath left either to run or blow. They fell into a snow bank and lay there gasping.

Presently Claus sat up. He threw away the harp. It was the third weapon and its magic would not work again.

Claus said not a word but Tweedleknees said miserably, "It's all my fault." Then he wailed, "But it wasn't because I lost my temper! I was only trying to be kind to the rabbit."

* * *

Claus nodded. "Ah, well," he said. "We still have one last weapon." He drew from his belt the dagger whose point had been dipped in a deadly poison.

"When I meet the Pigwidgen I shall use this. Even if the dagger fails to kill, the poison will."

Tweedleknees took the dagger in his own hands and examined it. "The point seems dull," he said critically.

He pressed the point gently against the palm of his hand. "Ah," he said with satisfaction. "It is sharp enough." he handed back the dagger.

* * *

"Let us go," said Claus rising, "for surely we have wasted time enough."

FACE TURNS PALE

But Tweedleknees did not stir. His face turned dreadfully pale. Sweat poured down his forehead. His whole body shook with fever.

"I cannot move," he grunted.

The awful truth came to Claus. He opened Tweedleknees' hand. There lay a single drop of blood where the dagger had pressed against the palm.

"You are poisoned!" cried Claus. He cradled the trembling elf in his arms. "What shall we do? What shall we do?"

'LEAVE ME'

"Leave me," murmured Tweedleknees.

"Never!"

"I have been nothing but trouble."

* * *

REFUSES TO LEAVE

"I am done for," growled the elf. "You must go on. There is no more time to lose."

Claus would not leave. "There must be some way to save you. You are an elf. Tell me what you know!"

"There is a way," sighed Tweedleknees.

* * *

"What is it? Tell me!"

"If," whispered Tweedleknees, fainting, "a stone should weep for me."

Tomorrow: The Door in the Wall.

"I am done for," said the elf. "You must go on."

U.S. Turkey, Red Goose Compete in W. Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) — Former Chancellor Ludwig Erhard is helping American turkey battle Communist goose for precedence on West German Christmas dinner tables.

After conjuring up the West German "economic miracle" of postwar prosperity, the portly financial wizard recently became sales advisor to a leading exporter of American turkey to Germany — a country where goose is the traditional Christmas fare.

He accepted the post from John P. Bauer, president of New York's Bauer International Corp., whose family came from the same Bavarian village as Erhard and knew him before they emigrated to the United States after the Nazis took power.

West Germans have acquired quite a taste for plump American turkey at Christmas in recent years, according to Bauer.

"We now have about a 50-50 share with goose imports, even though the East European countries will give their goose away for no profit at all if they have to," Bauer told UPI.

Bike Brigade Battles Blazes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The motorcycle, long used in police work, now is engaged in another public service — forest fire fighting.

The trend toward the forester's use of cycles started in Oregon where a fire - fighting bike brigade has chalked up an outstanding record.

The idea originated with a forester who had witnessed motorcycle hill - chumbing and "scrambles" races and saw the possibility of using the mechanized mountain-scalers for forestry duty.

A five-man corps of motorcyclists was organiaed on a voluntary basis.

The volunteers studied fire behavior, map reading and safe use of motorcycles on trails. The two-wheelers are light enough to be lifted over fallen trees and can climb a 50 per cent grade.

* * *

During fire - fighting operations, the riders carry a small amount of equipment, including a radio, a wet gunny sack and a shovel.

SMALL BLAZES

Small blazes can be quickly extinguished after lightning starts them, heading off the kind of giant forest fires which have caused millions of dollars in damage.

"YOUR HEALTH" "HEADACHES"

Do you suffer from frequent headaches? Too many people do. Covering them up with aspirin gives only temporary relief. The underlying problem remains. Chiropractic treatments attempt to get to the cause of the condition, which in many cases; is pressure on the nerves in the spine and neck. Once the nerve pressure is removed, most headaches disappear. If you have lived with this pain over the years, and been told, "It's your nerves, take some aspirin," then give chiropractic a chance. Results measure the merit of anything. Chiropractic claims nothing it has not already accomplished many times.

NY Viet Protesters 'Saturated' by Police

NEW YORK (AP) — As police scattered antiwar demonstrators beneath the Christmas tree in Rockefeller Plaza late this week, a weeping 12-year-old boy protested because he was not loaded into a paddy wagon with others.

"I promised my mother I would get arrested," he wailed.

A policeman was assigned to escort him home, there presumably to answer to his mother in an anticlimax to one of the weirdest weeks in New York's recent history.

It was a four-day week of mass protests. They could have exploded into bloodshed, or seriously crippled areas of Manhattan. But they didn't — for every place the demonstrators went the police were sure to go, in a professionally executed "Operation Saturation."

The target of this "Stop the Draft Week" in the nation's largest city was primarily the Whitehall Street induction center on the tip of Manhattan, within sight of the Statue of Liberty.

But before it ended, the marchers had spread to Times Square, Grand Central terminal, the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the United Nations headquarters and Rockefeller Center. There were nearly 600 arrests, but at no time did the demonstrators get beyond control of New York's finest.

At every turn, the demonstrators found themselves outnumbered by bluecoats — 2 to 1, 3 to 1, even higher. On foot, on horseback, on scooter, in cars and in helicopters, the police so outmaneuvered the protesters that in desperation one of the protest leaders cried: "How did we get in a position where there is only this choice of being impotent or brutalized?"

Barricaded areas were set up on Whitehall Street, and protest leaders were told that within these penlike confines they could picket, chant, sit down or do anything else they wanted to do.

HERDED, ARRESTED

But those who set foot beyond the triple rows of barricades were promptly herded back or arrested.

When the demonstrators marched, the cops marched with them, ahead, behind, on either side. Jacques Nevard, deputy police commissioner for press relations, explained: "They can walk anywhere as long as they are on the sidewalk."

When arrests were deemed necessary, the men in blue simply boxed in demonstrators, then led them to the ever-present paddy wagons, one cop to each protester.

The peak of the antidraft protests was reached Wednesday when an estimated 2,000 demonstrators failed for a second day in a row to disrupt operation at the Whitehall Street center, where 250 young men a day are processed for the armed services.

EXPLAINS FAILURE

Asked to explain the failure, a demonstration leader, attractive Linda Morse, cochairman of the Student Mobilization Committee Against the War in Vietnam, replied: "Blame the cops."

"Young plainclothes police," she explained, "infiltrated our lines this morning and gave contrary direction, jumping up like our marshals do and yelling 'This way, this way!' which separated our forces successfully."

This, she added, had the effect of "scattering our people to other than assigned places and leaving them leaderless."

On Thursday, with President Johnson in town for Francis Cardinal Spellman's funeral at St. Patrick's Cathedral, the main thrust of the demonstration never got above 42nd Street. Instead, the protesters ran afoul of an array of police strength at the U.N. and were dispersed.

As his helicopter took off from Central Park on the first leg of his return to Washington, the President, who had not been confronted by so much as a single demonstrator, radioed: "Tell the New York police: Damn good job!"

On Wednesday, an attempt to disrupt Secretary of State Dean Rusk's speech at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel to the National Association of Manufacturers never got off the ground. It is doubtful if Rusk even saw a protester since police had decoyed them away before he finished his address.

The exact size of the police task force was an official secret. However, it was believed to have been about 4,000 on most days, perhaps 5,000 on Thursday with the President in the city. The highest estimate of demonstrator strength was 2,000.

About half the police assigned were on overtime, at a cost to the city of $50 per man per day, or a total of $400,00 for the four days. The entire 28,000-man force was on alert during the week.

Hong Kong Red Split Revealed

HONG KONG (UPI) — An agreement between Communist China and British Hong Kong authorities concerning the border area points up the fragmentation of Communist leadership within the crown colony.

While the bargain struck between the mainland and the British has returned the border area to normal, it has left open the question of the terrorism in the colony. This terrorism is regarded as a spill-over of the cultural revolution.

Informed sources say the agreement could apply only to the border area because the Communists within the colony are so deeply split that no one man or group can speak for them—or implement any agreement.

The agreement reached in the Communist Chinese border town of Schumchum called for the Communists to release three colony policemen held prisoner. One of them, Inspector F. G. Knight, escaped in the middle of the negotiations, but his belongings were returned when the other two were set free Nov. 27.

The British agreed to pay $15,000 compensaton for some damaged grave sites and losses incurred by Communist peasants during six weeks when the border was closed to Mankamto, to release five Communist Chinese prisoners and to dismantle some fences at Mankamto.

The willingness of the mainland Chinese to come to terms with the British — and the British say the Communists initiated the bargaining, which the Communists have never denied — clearly left the local Communists on their own.

Since May, when the terror campaign to humble British authority began, the local Communists have issued protests, demands and ultimatums without ever hinting that they might be interested in finding some quiet solution to the crisis they began.

In fact, the possibility of talks between the British and the local Communists was ruled out by Fei Yei-ming, a Communist newspaper publisher, who told a news conference of selected sympathetic journalists that such matters were entirely up to Peking and London.

* * *

But Fei, considered by Hong Kong government officials more a spokesman than a leader in the local Communist apparatus, represents a group that obviously has lost control of the rank and file — especially the militants.

Fei, officials of the Bank of China and the China resources (importing) firm, and the rest of the local Communist establishment have been faced with the same dilemma that has confronted the managers of the mainland cultural revolution.

All-new Mercury Montego has 4 extra inches of riding comfort in every 2-door hardtop.

Three competitive car lines fall considerably short of Montego this year.

As the chart shows, they give you 4 inches less wheelbase. Less rear passenger room. Less trunk space.

Montego doesn't think you want to be sold this short.

Besides, we're solidly committed to the Fine Car Touch inspired by the Lincoln Continental. Which means giving you more.

We think you'll prefer Montego's 116-inch wheelbase for its extra riding comfort and Cougar handling excitement. Six of you can pile in without feeling like a crowd. And the trunk's at least 20% bigger than our competitors.

Mercury Montego's got it!

Come see the new Montego while your Mercury dealer's in a "catch-up" mood. He's got lots of cars. And lots of deals that you can't turn down.

Economics Quiets Yule in Hungary

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Christmas in Hungary this year is overshadowed by the forthcoming economic reform, to go into effect by Jan. 1, 1968.

Hungarians are careful about spending their money, for no one knows what will be more expensive, what cheaper in the near future, who will have to leave his office or factory, who will have to work in a different part of the country by next year.

Questions which make people think twice before buying a single Christmas gift.

But in the weeks preceding the holidays, streets in Budapest have the typical pre-Christmas look. The shops in the main streets, having their usual "special" Christmas decorations, show little pessimism.

The "Luxus," a warehouse center, opened a special "teenager-bar" offering mini-dresses and colorful accessories.

★ ★ ★

In front of the city's large warehouses, trucks after trucks holding domestic and foreign consumer goods are unloaded.

GOOD VARIETY

There is a very good choice of dress fabrics for instance, mainly British and French materials. Knitted wear and linen were imported from Austria and Italy, chic boots and neatly shaped ladies' shoes came from Spain.

Whisky, gin and French cognac are popular with Hungarians who won't mind spending a lot of money on hard liquor; a wealthy Santa Claus may even buy gold — within a certain limit.

These special offerings of Hungarian Christmas 1967 are meant to attract visitors from other East European countries as well.

★ ★ ★

Christmas season "officially" starts Dec. 6, when "St. Nicholas" will walk the streets of Budapest. This is the day for the candy-loving kids. Grown-ups prefer the special fish tents for the tickling of their palate.

DANUBE CARP

Living Danube carp the specialty for Christmas dinner, now are for sale. The fir tree market opens two weeks before "Holy Evening."

"Christmas" with fir trees, candles, religious season's greetings and decorations are legal again since the Hungarian uprising in 1956.

The "Liturgia" special shop, owned by the Catholic Church, profits by selling "Christ Child" figures, waxen angels, candles and cradles.

French Teen Admits Kidnap Slaying

VERSAILLES, France (AP) — A 15-year-old described as "a weird boy with wild eyes" has admitted beating his 7-year-old next door neighbor to death in a forest after kidnaping him in a packing case on a baby carriage chassis, police said Sunday.

Police said the boy collected $12,000 ransom from the parents of Emmanuel Malliart, his victim, but the money was found in the luxurious villa where the youth lived with his grandparents. Emmanuel's father is a French government official.

* * *

Police Commissioner Rene Camard said the 15-year-old, whose identity was not announced because of French law on juvenile crimes, lured Emmanuel into the case last Monday by asking the youngster to play "junk man."

The child rode in the case while the older boy pushed it along the sidewalk shouting "junk man" the way scrap-iron buyers do. Use of the carriage foiled police tracking dogs.

VOICE A LEAD

Police said one lead to the 15-year-old was his adolescent voice in six telephone calls to the Mailliart family in connection with the ransom demand.

They said there were other signs of an amateur plot—the small ransom asked of a father driven to work every day by a chauffeur in a luxury car and the busy intersection specified for passing the ransom—but they added the "real tough kid" had prepared everything in minute detail.

* * *

Camard gave this as the 15-year-old's account:

After stopping at the Malliart villa to slip a prepared ransom note under the door—without Emmanuel knowing it—he pushed the case into the woods nearby and, 15 minutes after the "game" began, killed Emmanuel with a piece of wood.

The scene was a hut the youth had built of scrap lumber where, neighbors said, he sometimes sat all day with a toy gun trying to scare children playing nearby.

PRIEST CARRIES RANSOM

A Roman Catholic priest was used as an intermediary to carry Emmanuel's sweater and a sock to the family to show he was held and to relay an increase in the ransom demand, $12,000 rather than $4,000.

The priest put the money in the hiding place the 15-year-old had specified.

* * *

In a villa-by-villa search of the entire neighborhood Saturday, police arrested the youth at his home. They said he doubled up sobbing, told the complete story less than 24 hours later, and told officers where to find the magazine from which letters for the ransom note had been cut at the home.

* * *

He was charged with kidnaping and murder, which for a juvenile could receive a sentence of 10 to 20 years' detention.

The boy's father, an auto imports executive, and mother, a medical technician, are divorced. Police said he often had to fend for himself at home because of his mother's work and the extreme age of his grandparents. Two sisters, 6 and 18, also lived at the villa.

By chance, Michigan Gov. George Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, was at a church service 75 yards from the victim's home Sunday when police found the body.

1st Political Appearance Since '63

Jackie Guest at Dem Dinner

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy, in her first political appearance since the 1963 assassination of her husband, took most of the spotlight Sunday night at a New York State Democratic dinner.

One of her rivals for attention was Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who is campaigning in opposition to President Johnson for the 1968 presidential nomination.

* * *

McCarthy was one of a score of senators and six governors to welcome Mrs. Kennedy to the $500-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Plaza Hotel.

After the roast beef dinner, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., took note of the presence, along with himself, of his sister-in-law; his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; and his brother-in-law, Stephen Smith, husband of Jean Kennedy, by telling the 500 guests:

"Welcome to the Kennedy Christmas party."

HONORED GUEST

The senator added: "And now may I introduce the evening's guest of honor, Mrs. John F. Kennedy."

Mrs. Kennedy, clad in a black minidress trimmed with sequins at the neckline, pockets and cuffs, stood up—and so did everybody else at dinner, to applaud the presidential widow.

There were no speeches at the affair, held to help the financially ailing Democratic state party, but there were introductions of some prominent guests and a word of thanks from Robert Kennedy.

The dinner proceeds were expected to put some $200,000 toward the state party's more than $300,000 debt.

ENTERTAINMENT

After-dinner entertainment as provided by comedian Alan King and singer Tony Bennett.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived on the arm of U.S. Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman, a former New York governor. When she left with him, she was asked how she enjoyed the "Kennedy family Christmas party." She replied, "I loved it."

* * *

McCarthy was asked whether his dinner appearance should be taken as an indication of Kennedy support for his candidacy, inasmuch as no key Johnson men were present. "I'm willing to let people interpret my appearance here any way they like," McCarthy answered.

However, Robert Kennedy had stressed earlier Sunday that the dinner invitations were sent out well in advance of McCarthy's candidacy announcement.

POSED TOGETHER

McCarthy and Kennedy posed together for photographers but refused to stand side by side to answer newsmen's questions about the Minnesota senator's campaign.

Outside the hotel, about 75 women many wearing mink coats, demonstrated in favor of McCarthy's candidacy. They said they were members of Women's Strike for Peace.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I never thought much about reaching 100," Mrs. Anne Littleton said Sunday, "and now that I'm 100 I don't feel like it."

Mrs. Littleton was born in Cabin Creek, W. Va., in 1867. She moved to Portland in 1903.

She says she still likes to work in her garden and to drink an occasional glass of wine.

War Scare Is Over, but Cypriots Are Still Prisoners

By GERALD MILLER

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The immediate war scare is gone, but almost everyone on this lovely island remains a prisoner.

While the tangled, explosive issues tormenting Cyprus are coming before the U.N. Security Council again, ultimately the final forum must be the heart of the people who once lived side by side as neighbors under the rule of foreigners.

Now, in independence, they live divided as enemies.

Now one knows whether the hearts will soften. Many doubt it.

* * *

The 100,000 Turkish-speaking Cypriots are the minority, outnumbered 5 to 1 by the half-million Greek Cypriots.

Once the Turks lived all over the island, often in mixed villages with Greeks. Four years ago there were more than 100 such villages; today there are five.

A cycle of politics and fears led to hatred that led to violence that led to more fears. The Turks grouped into enclaves, both for mutual protection and in pursuance of their political objective to partition the island.

They have cut themselves off behind barricades. The government, controlled by Greek Cypriots, allows the Turks to travel all over the island freely, but the Turkish leadership lets no Greek set foot into Turkish enclaves.

In addition, the U.N. Peace Force says, Turkish refugees are prevented from returning to their homes outside the enclaves.

LITTLE BERLIN

Nicosia, the capital, is a little Berlin. An ugly Turkish-built wall consists of miles of abandoned and sandbagged buildings. Burned-out trucks, coils of rusty barbed wire and oil drums filled with concrete block spaces at intersections.

Greeks and Turks are equally prisoners in their own areas.

Greeks control the economy, and they do not suffer as much as the Turks. But they suffer, since the island is like a vast mine field. For Greek and Turk alike, a step on the wrong side can mean death.

* * *

The biggest concentration of Turks is in a patch of land 11 miles long from Nicosia to within 4 miles of Kyrenia on the north coast, with an average width of about 2 miles.

More than 40,000 Turkish Cypriots live there. Some of their food comes from small farms in the district, but most is brought in daily from Turkish villages forming their own tiny enclaves about the island.

The people get by — but just barely. With each month the Turkish section of Nicosia and other communities in the district get shabbier and poorer.

Since 1964 the Cypriot government has denied Turkish communities a list of items classified as "strategic materials," to prevent the building of fortifications. This means no cement, no asphalt, no steel. Houses are dilapidated and falling down. Roads are potholed and crumbling.

* * *

The Turks have returned to building the way their ancestors did in centuries past — with mud bricks mixed with straw.

HOPEFUL SIGNS

What cement and steel they get their hands on goes to strengthen bunkers and dugouts built along the borderlines facing Greek emplacements. In between are U.N. patrols and outposts trying to prevent open clashes.

There are a few hopeful spots. In Limassol, a port on the southern coast, the two communities mingle. U.N. guards are there, too, as they are in every large town in Cyprus, but at least there is no wall.

In Famagusta, the island's main port in the east coast, Turkish dockers have emerged daily for the past four years from the Turkish sector behind the massive medieval walls of the old city, to work side by side with Greek colleagues, loading ships.

In Paphos on the west, the blockade on materials has been relaxed in a limited "pacification" experiment. Tension has declined noticeably.

* * *

Nearly everywhere on the island, the average Turk sees the Greek as an oppressor with whom he can never again live in peace.

The average Greek sees the Turk as a rebel who rejects majority rule and who, with Turkey's help, is trying to carve the island in two, if not join the whole to Turkey.

Each side fears the other is ready to shoot without provocation. Farmers go to their fields with rifles. In homes and shops, guns and knives are in easy reach.

* * *

A cab driver in Nicosia keeps two machine guns on the wall of his garage.

HOW TO EXPLAIN?

In Kophinou, 24 Turkish Cypriots died in a battle with Greek Cypriot soldiers last month. How is the tragedy explained to the children.

"We tell them that the Greeks kills us because we are Turks," says teacher Ahmed Ali. "They will never forget that, so how can we ever live in peace together?"

From the village teacher to the leader of the entire Turkish Cypriot community, Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, most Turkish Cypriots see only one way for the future — total separation, a Mediterranean apartheid.

The Greek Cypriots say no. If there is a political settlement, they say, the two communities will live side by side in peace as they did in the past.

They say the Turkish demand would mean two Cypruses, not one. They say the minority should have guaranteed rights but not the right to cut the country in half.

Her Feelings on Flight Go So High, Then Solo

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Jean Saile, Pontiac Press reporter, wife of a commercial artist and mother of six children, is taking flying lessons. This is the 17th article on her impressions of flying.)

By JEAN SAILE

MRS. SAILE

There is a conspiracy around me—and it's just the way I want it.

Nobody is saying anything officially—but I know that given favorable weather conditions soon I will solo the next time I fly.

It's an odd feeling—sort of akin to having a baby. I never wanted a definite appointment for that either.

"Surprise me" is my attitude.

* * *

In my last lesson, Art Trowbridge, the Aerodynamics, Inc., flight instructor, entrusted himself completely to my control of the airplane.

TENSION BUILDS

That's not to say I couldn't see the tension build in him as we neared touchdown. Trowbridge would stiffen in his seat, peer out the windshield and give advice, but at no time did he take over the controls.

We shot about 10 landings including a simulated emergency landing. Each time I got us down safely.

True to form my simulated emergency was the smoothest landing of all. When one is worried about power enough to make the runway, one is not concerned with the round-out or the flutter-down.

* * *

It's only when there's plenty of time to wonder if I'm doing everything correctly that I manage to goof up. I correct and overcorrect, and it would be better if I quit thinking entirely.

RADIO CALLS CLEAR

Even all radio calls were clear to me. I was immediately aware each time the tower was in contact with my Beech Musketeer Zero Four Quebec.

The amount of radio conversation—most of it for various other planes in the pattern—tends to leave a student tuned out.

I have always relied on Lawson Letzring or Trowbridge to inform me that it was me the tower wanted. The last lesson I needed no coaching—even when the call came during turns or other energy-consuming maneuvers.

That was a relief.

LOW-FLYING PLANES

It was also a relief to be able to pick out low-flying planes in the pattern.

It's relatively easy to spot a plane when the background is sky, but it's a different matter when they are low enough that they look almost like cars against a backdrop of houses and roads.

With a tower alert to be on the lookout for other planes, it suddenly was relatively easy to spot the traffic.

* * *

The lesson finished with my palms damp but a kind of inner confidence that I had never before attained.

I know I can get the plane down. The only thing I'm not real sure of is that I want to be up there alone.

Everyone knows I'm the gregarious sort, and at this point the thoughts of the "lone eagle" type of flier are vastly uninteresting.

Model's Windblown Dust Changes Mars Features

By Science Service

PHILADELPHIA—Windblown dust transported across the Martian surface accounts for seasonal changes in its features, as well as the bright and dark areas.

* * *

A dust model correctly predicts springtime brightening of Martian bright areas, for instance, Dr. Carl Sagan of Harvard University and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory told the American Astronomical Society here.

Windblown dust has been suggested before as the cause of change in Martian surface features, notably by the late Dr. Dean B. McLaughlin of the University of Michigan in the early 1950s. The model computed by Dr. Sagan, however, gives this theory its first quantative basis.

Dr. Sagan, with Dr. James B. Pollack of Harvard and the Smithsonian, has calculated with the help of a computer how grains could be moved across the planet's surface. They find saltation, suspension and creep are responsible.

* * *

Saltation occurs when a dust particle is hit by the Martian wind, giving it enough of a jolt to bounce it into the air a slight distance away. When the dust particles are in suspension, they are picked up by the wind and carried some distance, then dropped again. Creep is a rolling, near-surface bounce.

The smallest particles are moved by suspension, larger ones by saltation and the largest ones by creep.

Santa, Carols No Strangers to the Poles

WARSAW (UPI) — Santa Claus and Christmas carols are no strangers to Communist Poland.

A week before Christmas the bearded and red-clothed figure appears in major Polish department stores and children line up to have their pictures taken with him.

In Poland, however, it is not the custom to ask for gifts from Swiety Mikolai (Saint Nicolas).

But he appears at special parties for youngsters given by factory workers, plants, offices and shops and hands around parcel of sweets. And under the tree at home he places gifts, which children opened on Christmas Eve.

* * *

Officially Christmas is regarded as a folk holiday but the state turns a blind eye to traditional, and essentially religious, Christmas carols.

LIBERAL PROGRAM

The state-run radio gives a liberal program of native and some foreign carols including "Silent Night."

The celebration of Christmas, like most holidays, is a family celebration and centers around the dinner table.

Polish hams, for most of the year easier to get in western countries than in Poland, are freely available.

* * *

Other scarce foods, such as bananas and oranges, also suddenly appear to herald the season.

MOST IMPORTANT

The most important day of the season is Christmas Eve.

By 3 p.m. streets are nearly deserted while in the homes kitchens are churning out masses of boiled sauerkraut, mushrooms, herring, carp in jelly and eggs for supper and meat for the next day.

In the countryside a young boy or girl is designated to starnd watch for the first start to appear in the evening, a signal that supper may begin.

* *

For most Poles who, despite the Communist government, are deeply religious the supper is light.

NO MEAT, ALCOHOL

No meat or alcohol can be taken until after Pasterka, the solemn midnight church service.

To begin supper the head of the family breaks the oplatek, a thin unleavened wafer bought from the church warden the week before.

Each member of the family eats some of the wafer and then wishes the others good health and fortune.

* * *

In some tradition-minded families hay is placed under the table cloth or a piece of linen and an extra place is set for beggars or wayward travelers.

Christmas day begins with a breakfast or cold meat and a little vodka and the same menu serves for lunch.

Between breakfast and lunch there are visits to relatives where more hams, sausages, fish, poppy-seed cakes, oranges, vodka and wine are consumed.

On Christmas day young boys carrying homemade images of Christ in the manger go from door to door singing carols to earn a few zloties.

The same round of eating is followed on Dec. 26.

Super Space Radar Is Being Developed

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — A new super space-watching radar is being developed here that will double this nation's ability to detect foreign satellites and help maintain a vigil against orbital bombs or submarine-launched missiles approaching from the south.

★ ★ ★

With enough electronic searching fingers to match 100 conventional radars, the giant scanner next April is to become the main eye of the Spacetrack system operated by the Air Defense Command.

Spacetrack is the branch of the Air Force responsible for detecting, identifying and tracking all manmade earth-orbiting objects.

Since its field of view is aimed south toward the equator, the giant radar will also bolster America's warning network against the Soviet Union's fractional orbital bomb, Air Force officials said.

★ ★ ★

The orbital nuclear bomb system, as revealed last month by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, would be launched like conventional spacecraft but descend suddenly on U.S. targets—perhaps approaching this nation from the south after a three-quarters orbit around the globe.

RADAR'S RANGE

Col. Jack W. Gabus, director of the Air Defense Command's testing force here, said the super-radar at Eglin would spot orbital bombs in flight "as they approached the equator."

He cautioned, however, that the new radar's improved range of "several thousand miles" would not be a much better sentry than conventional radars if reports are correct that Russia's orbital bomb system uses retro-motors to drop the nuclear weapon on target.

Until these retro-rockets were triggered, which would occur about 500 miles away from a target, the bomb's impact point could not be predicted, he said.

★ ★ ★

Looking like an all-white football field tilted on edge at a 45-degree angle, the new radar is being built at a cost of $62 million primarily to improve the nation's satellite-detection ability. Prime contractor is Bendix Corp.'s communications division.

ORBITING MASSES

More than 300 operating satellites and 900 pieces of hardware debris are now in space orbiting earth, and officials predict this number will increase to 5,000 by the mid-1970s.

The Eglin radar "will double our capability for Spacetrack and in some cases go beyond that" in accomplishing Air Defense Command objectives, Gabus said. "It will immeasurably enhance space defense" in helping officials to detect, track and identify orbiting objects, he observed.

The superradar's "capability could only be matched by a hundred conventional radars," project officials said.

★ ★ ★

Because of the physical laws governing satellite motion, all orbiting objects will pass through the viewing field of the new radar at least twice daily, the Air Force said.

SCANNING PRINCIPLE

Operating on a new electronic-scanning principle that sends thousands of pulse beams across the sky in a fraction of a second, the radar will be able to simultaneously track hundreds of orbiting objects while serving as a watchdog against submarine or land-launched missiles flying suborbital paths from the south.

★ ★ ★

High-speed computers intertwined in the system will immediately recognize any unknown object, officials said, determine if it is a satellite or missile, calculate its track and flash this information in less than one-thousandth of a second to the North American Air Defense Command's Space Defense Center at Colorado Springs, Colo., for appropriate counteraction.

Yuletide Spirit Aids Campaign

BOSTON (AP) — Daniel F. Halloran used a bit of Christmas spirit to win election as a business agent for Local 25 of the Teamsters Union.

★ ★ ★

He had a man dressed as Santa Claus and a little boy and girl dressed in elf costumes hand out campaign literature Sunday to union members entering the Charlestown Armory to vote.

Traffic Fine Hike Not Helping in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — City Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes says hiking the fines for traffic violations just isn't working, explaining that "it has been common practice in New York for many years to just ignore traffic tickets."

★ ★ ★

Barnes told an interviewer on the WNBC-TV "Searchlight" program Sunday that there were just as many parking violations today as there were before fines here were tripled in some instances, effective Dec. 1.

★ ★ ★

The commissioner suggested that increased fines won't clear up traffic congestion unless a more efficient system of collecting the fines is developed. He also urged that no driver be allowed to renew his license unless he has paid traffic tickets.

People in the News

By The Associated Press

One of NBC-TV's top superspies took a bride Saturday, and like all good spies, he kept things private.

Robert Culp—marriage No. 3 and Frances Nuyen—marriage No. 2—took their vows in the Beverly Hills, Calif., home of Sheldon Leonard, who produces the "I Spy" series in which Culp stars with Bill Cosby.

Miss Nuyen, according to classified reports, wore a minidress and a miniveil.

The couple met when Miss Nuyen appeared in an "I Spy" episode. Culp later wrote two scripts for Miss Nuyen, after which they announced their engagement.

Pope Extols True Richness of Christmas

"Let no one forget the poor on the day of the poverty of Christ," Pope Paul VI told 2,000 persons yesterday in a driving rain in St. Peter's Square, Vatican City.

The Pope's voice rang out from his apartment window amid the freezing wind and rain as he asked the gathering to remember Christmas as a religious occasion, not just a holiday in which one engages in "excessive spending in luxurious and superfluous vanity."

The 70-year-old pontiff said "the true richness of Christmas is an interior and religious one."

He called for families to unite on the holiday to observe "intangible consistence" of the family and the "sacredness of love," an apparent allusion to Italy's pro-divorce movement.

Gen. Doolittle Married 50 Years

The man who led the first bombing raid over Tokyo during World War II celebrated his 50th wedding anniversary yesterday in Santa Monica, Calif.

Gen. and Mrs. James Doolittle were guests of the Santa Monica chapter of the Air Force Association, a group the general founded more than 20 years ago. One of the guests was Gen. Curtis LeMay.

Doolittle's exploits as a lieutenant colonel during World War II inspired a movie called "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo."

He took off from the aircraft carrier Hornet on April 18, 1942, with his 16 bombers 688 miles from the target. They dropped 500-pound bombs as they swept over Tokyo.

Doolittle and his wife, Jo, were presented with a book of congratulatory letters from friends and public officials, including former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman.

Minister Warns Against Fake Mediums

A minister who believes the spirit world "may be closer than we think" warned his congregation yesterday against fraudulent mediums.

The Rev. Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor emeritus of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City, said it would be a mistake to assume that all mediums—intermediaries between the living and the dead—were fraudulent.

Dr. Bonnell said he decided to preach on the dangers of "spiritism" because of an increasing number of bereaved persons seeking guidance from pastors on the authenticity of such communication.

House Panel: KKK Still a Vehicle of Death, Fear

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan continues to use terror as a tool to achieve white supremacy and remains "a vehicle of death, destruction and fear" says the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Summarizing a two-year investigation in a 371-page report, the committee said Klans "operate—today as in the past—as conspiracies to deprive certain citizens of rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

* * *

"Klans moreover have continued to rely on terrorism as an instrument for achieving so-called white supremacy and other objectives," the committee said.

"Klan involvement in kidnapings, beatings, arson, bombings and outright murder in recent years compels the committee to view a Klan as a vehicle for death, destruction and fear."

KLAN MEMBERSHIPS

The committee said 16,810 Klansmen were members of 14 Klan groups operating in 18 states with the heaviest membership in the United Klans of America headed by Robert Shelton of Tuscaloosa, Ala. The report traces the history of the Klan and lists the 714 individual units, or Klaverns, it found in operation. The total includes 56 women's auxiliaries.

The report said membership and Klan units fluctuated markedly during the study period.

* * *

It said Klan membership rose in the early 1960s with the influx of civil rights workers into the South, dipped in the first year of the investigation and rose again with the outbreak "of riotous situations in northern cities."

Legislation aimed at curbing alleged Klan terrorism was reported out by the committee late last year but never came before the House. A similar bill was approved by the committee this year but there is no indication it will be passed.

Beard Requires Stiff Upper Lip

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Menswear Specialist

He who is ashamed of hair very often knows little of the business of living.
—Old Saying.

There is a moment in the affairs of man when the decision to grow a little hair on the upper lip and chin is made. But only those who refuse to accept the snide remarks of friends and family stick to their newly found hirsuteness.

The moment came for me at the start of a week's holiday in the Massachusetts Berkshires. I had little to do but read, eat and fish. So I let the hair grow.

I was a bit shaggy at week's end, and an important appointment that Monday forced me to conform and the whiskers went down the drain. I kept the mustache, though, and still have it. I like it, I think.

My friend, Rudy Hoglund, an artist, made his beard-growing decision about six months ago. Since he is an artist, he can get away wtih facial growth. And he has a gem of a beard.

★ ★ ★

I asked Rudy what he had to do to keep his brush clipped and maintained. His response:

TAKES TIME

"When I started growing this thing, I relished the thought of not having to shave each morning.

"But I soon discovered that I spend as much time, if not more, keeping the beard groomed so that I'm not mistaken for a hippie.

"I prepare the area of my face that is to be shaved (around the neck and cheeks) the same as I would were I shaving normally; wash, apply hot cloth, lather up.

"The neck is fairly simple. I just follow the edge in a straight line. The side below the ear is a little tricky because that area cannot be seen easily.

MOST DIFFICULT

"The cheeks are the most difficult because of the curve from the sideburns to the mustache. And since this area is much more noticeable, one slip of hte razor could ruin months of growth.

"I wipe away the excess lather from the cheek so the beardline is visible. Then I tighten the skin by filling the cheek with air and carefully follow the edge up to the mustache.

"Next, I comb the beard out and with scissors I start snipping away the stray hairs that stick out. I keep the beard cut to its present length about once a week.

"Finally, with a pair of fingernail scissors I trim the mustache."

ABSOLUTE SCIENCE

Researchers at the Gillette Safety Razor Co. in Boston, which has conducted literally millions of shaving tests through the years, have reduced the technique of shaving to an absolute and benevolent science.

They say that it's especially important to keep the face hot and use a rich shaving cream which keeps the water from evaporating, stands the whiskers up so that the blade can reach under them, and lubricates the blade.

Once the beard has been softened (this usually takes two minutes) it should be tackled with a razor that exerts minimum pressure and acts with minimum skin disturbance while offering versatility of movement.

The new band razors, because of hte lightness and sharpness of the stainless steel band, are considered ideal for the close-in control needed for trimming around the beard or mustache.

KEEPING IT NEAT—The secret in keeping a beard in first-rate condition is good grooming, and this often involves more time than ordinary tonsorial efforts. The neck is fairly simple but cheeks are difficult because of the curve from sideburns to the mustache.

Heart Transplants Open New Realms

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
and
JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writers

NEW YORK — "When you enter the unknown, you feel a particular excitement," said Dr. Christian Barnard.

For him, the unknown was to cut out a man's still beating heart, and replace it with a new human heart.

"I could do nothing else for his heart," he said. "It was so damaged — it was destroyed, and I knew, if he was to live, it would have to be replaced."

Thus in a steady, tenor-pitched voice, the lean South African surgeon told of his personal feelings of the history-making operation that gave new life to a 55-year-old grocer only a week ago. The grocer, Louis Washkansky, has taken to his new heart so well that he may return home in three weeks, Dr. Barnard told the Associated Press in a transatlantic telephone interview.

* * *

This audacious step was made possible by steady progress in heart surgery and successes in transplanting other human organs. Medical teams all over the world are on the verge of similar substitutions of human hearts.

TRANSPLANT FAILURE

Just four days after Barnard and his medical team brought new life to Washkansky, Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz in Brooklyn, N.Y., tried and failed to save the life of a 2½ week old baby boy with the two-day old heart of a dead infant.

"What we want to do essentially is to make one whole infant from two who cannot survive," he said afterwards when he told newsmen he would try again.

Kantrowitz said that it was "more difficult emotionally, and perhaps more difficult technically" working with the infant heart that measured barely 1¾ inches from top to bottom. The adult man's heart is usually the size of a fist.

Yet there were similarities in the two dramatic operations. Both took place in the small hours of the morning, not by choice but by necessity, and both required the coordinated skills of more than a score of doctors, nurses and technicians.

OPERATION RECALLED

Dr. Barnard, whom everyone calls "professor," recalled the difficult and daring hours in the Groote Schuur Hospital, Cape Town, at the very tip of South Africa.

Ten days before the operation actually took place, the medical team was fully alerted to the chance of a transplant operation.

A possible donor had been admitted to the hospital. But just two hours before he died, the doctors discovered by electrocardiogram that his heart, too, had been damaged by disease. It would not be worth the try. They decided to wait.

Then came the fateful Saturday when Denise A. Darvall, 25, who operated an accounting machine in a bank, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile. Her father, told there was little chance that his daughter would live, agreed to giving her heart to Washkansky.

* * *

But Barnard said, the doctors had not given up on Miss Darvall yet. They kept a watch on the electrical activity of her brain after her death, watched it slowly fail.

They watched for five more minutes, and the brain, which dies without blood oxygen, showed no signs of life. Still, they opened the chest of the young woman and tried to revive her with the heart-lung machine, to no avail. Her life was beyond recall.

HEART COOLED

Now they perfused her heart with blood and cooled it to 30 degrees below normal body temperature to keep its tissues alive. They brought it from the room where she had died to the room where Washkansky lived.

Deliberately, at the moment of "particular excitement," Barnard cut out almost all of the living heart of Louis Washkansky, leaving only a bed of upper chamber tissues into which the woman's heart might be connected with more ease.

Then with the heart in place, doctors shocked it into action and it began the regular beat of Washkansky's life. The operation took five hours.

"It was very straightforward," Dr. Barnard remembered. "There were no unexpected problems . . . We encountered no difficulties . . . We didn't have any notion of stopping or reconsidering."

* * *

With the coolness of a surgeon long experienced in operating on hearts, Dr. Barnard thought that what he was doing that morning might make some local headlines for a few days, but "None of us expected this to make such big news all over the world."

OPERATION PLANNED

Washkansky is recuperating so well and the South African team has gained such confidence that they plan to repeat the transplantation in another patient perhaps as early as six weeks. They have a man waiting for a new heart — a middle-aged patient with severe heart disease for the last six months.

But first the medical team must be freed of the necessity of watching Washkansky's recovery around the clock, and a proper donor for the second patient must be found.

"We'll just have to feel our way," Dr. Barnard said. The immediate concern is that Washkansky's body may reject his new heart, as the body rejects infections or other foreign invasions.

To guard against this, they are giving him Prednisone and Immuran, drugs which suppress the body's immunity response, and at the same time they are watching for signs of rejection—fever, malaise, loss of appetite, changes in blood cells and heart activity.

* * *

For the first week, Washkansky received X rays as well as another means of beating down the forces in his body that might reject the heart. For the future, "he may have to remain on the drugs indefinitely," Dr. Barnard said.

HEART CAVITY

There is no concern, Dr. Barnard said, that Washkansky's new heart does not quite fill the cavity left by his old heart, abnormally enlarged by its disease. There is a slight wobble as it beats, but Dr. Barnard said he foresaw no problems in this.

Washkansky will never be completely free. Doctors will have to see him three times a week at least for a time after he is released. They said after the operation that even five or ten years later the heart might be rejected. Washkansky will remain on a kind of medical leash — but the alternative was death.

In the Brooklyn operation at Maimonides Hospital, Kantrowitz and his team cooled the tiny heart to be transplanted down to about sixty degrees below body temperature, just some seven degrees above freezing. It beat for 6½ hours and then failed. Kantrowitz said he did not yet know why.

* * *

But even the day before he performed this operation, Kantrowitz told a medical group that human heart transplants will never be a common answer to the epidemic of heart disease. Unless and until heart disease can be prevented, the more logical answer is the mass production of electrically operated, mechanical pumps that can be implanted in human breasts without fears of rejection.

"There are 400,000 persons who are going to die of coronary occlusions — heart attacks — in this country this year," he told fellow doctors. "It's going to be hard to get 400,000 other people to give up their hearts."

Both Dr. Barnard and Dr. Kantrowitz, in their two pioneering operations, weighed what was to be lost and what was to be gained in this new and drastic surgery. Without it, death would surely result, they said. With it was a chance for life.

But as the practice of transplanting organs — especially one-of-a-kind organs like the heart — grows, society will have a special interest in how life and death are weighed.

* * *

It brings up new areas of human inquiry: How long should life be maintained and at what price? What is the most that one person may sacrifice for another? If a heart is to be transplanted, who is to get it when the choice involves more than one sick and waiting recipient? And for the donor, what is the final measure of death?

ETHICAL PROBLEMS

Every new advance in medicine brings man closer to these questions than he has ever been before. Some of them he may ponder for ages without resolving them. But they will be asked whether they have answers or not.

PATIENT PROGRESSING—Louis Washkansky waves as he is wheeled in his bed in an oxygen tent to the radio-therapy room at Groote Schuur Hospital in Cape Town, South Africa, Saturday. He received a second cobalt treatment to further combat the possibility of rejection. A doctor at the hospital said routine tests have shown "some signs which may be interpreted as rejection" of the heart Washkansky received in an historic transplant operation.

Strike, Blizzard Snarl Railways

LONDON (AP) — South Britain's railways were tied up last week by striking engineers and a blizzard. Today they ran out of trains, and 25 morning runs were canceled.

A spokesman said when the blizzard hit Saturday, several trains were damaged or were stuck and couldn't get back for the start of the rush hour today. The railway said it hoped to get things back to normal by tonight.

Winter Dos, Don'ts Can Save Your Life

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It's time again to mind your winter do's and don'ts.

The Weather Bureau and the American Medical Association have a lot of them all set up for you.

The rules make pretty grim reading. Says the Weather Bureau:

- Don't kill yourself shoveling snow.
- Be equipped for the worst.
- Don't panic.

Says the AMA, when the cold bears down, "Don't drink alcohol or smoke."

★ ★ ★

This is the time of winter storms, and the Weather Bureau doesn't like them any better than you do. It describes them as:

"Snow-dumping, ice-covering, blood-chilling paralyzers of cities, trappers of travelers, takers of life, destroyers of property."

KILL AND DESTROY

Winter storms range from freezing rains to severe blizzards, and any one of them can kill and detsroy.

An ice storm, following freezing rains, caused 22 deaths and did nearly $70 million damage in the South in 1951.

But this was nothing compared to the blizzard which swept the country east of the Rockies in 1888. The death toll was more than 400.

From 1936 through 1966 snowstorms have caused more than 3,000 deaths and have destroyed hundreds of thousands of farm animals.

HUMAN DEATHS

Of deaths to humans, 1,000 were attributed to automobile and other accidents, 800 to overexertion and subsequent heart attacks, 350 to exposure and freezing, and the rest to home fires, carbon monoxide poisoning in tsalled cars, falsl on slippery walks, electrocution from downed wires, and collapse of buildings.

So, warms the weather bureau, if a blizzard traps you:

- Stay in your car. Otherwise you're likely to get lost and meet almost certain death.
- Don't kill yourself pushing or shoveling. Even the healthiest are subject to heart attack when the blizzard winds blow.
- Keep the air fresh in your car. Exercise by clapping hands and moving the arms arfd legs. Turn the dome light on to guide rescuers. Don't let all occupants sleep at the same time.

★ ★ ★

In the time of storms dress warmly. Tips: Layers of protective clothing are better than a single layer of thick clothing; mittens are better han fingered gloves.

FROSTBITE

In case of frostbite, forget the old saws about rubbing the affected part with snow or avoiding rapid thrawing. Says the AMA:

Don't massage or rub the frozen part. Don't touch it at all. Begin rapid rewarming as soon as possible. A hot bath is excellent, but avoid scalding.

The AMA notes that frostbite can happen even when the temperature isn't particularly low. This is because the chilling effect of air increases with wind speed. Air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is as dangerous as air at 40 degrees below zero on a still day.

★ ★ ★

To avoid frostbite, the AMA advises, dress warmly, avoid overexertion and sweating, avoid contact of flesh with metal and:

"Don't drink alcohol or smoke."

2 Stars of Bygone Era to Guest on Lucy Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Long-memoried movie fans draw a rare treat tonight with the appearance of Richard Arlen and Buddy Rogers on "The Lucy Show."

Ah, visions of biplanes dogfighting in the sky ("You can't send those boys up in those flying coffins!") and marcelled footballers battling it out on the gridiron ("Put me in the game, coach—I know I can win it.") Arlen and Rogers were part of the glittering Paramount team during the 1920s and 1930s.

THOMAS

They are turning up on Lucille Ball's show as a piece of inspired casting. The plot has Lucille and Carol Burnett graduating as airline hostesses and joining the hedgehopping airline of Arlen and Rogers. The point is that Arlen and Rogers starred in "Wings," made just 40 years ago.

Time has been kind to both stars. Arlen is 67 but still trim of frame and luxuriant of hair. Buddy's curly locks have receded a bit, but he retains his ruddy-faced handsomeness at 63. Arlen has continued his acting career, appearing in the westerns of producer A. C. Lyles, as well as making forays to the lecture circuit. Rogers has dabbled in production and watches after the investments of himself and his wife, Mary Pickford.

DISCUSSED PAST

The two old friends met for a posttaping lunch at the old home lot, Paramount, and talked naturally drifted back to "Wings."

"I was making $200 a week at the time, and they couldn't afford to drop me," said Arlen. "I had borrowed so much money from the studio that they had to keep me on until I repaid it. That was a trick I had learned from Bill Boyd, who later became Hopalong Cassidy. He had done the same thing when he was signed by Paramount."

★ ★ ★

"I was making $75 a week, but they only gave me $65," said Rogers. "They took $10 a week out for a suit they had given me.

"That made me sore. Here we were, doing our own flying in 'Wings' — and being our own cameramen as well; the cameras were strapped to the plane and we'd turn them on and off. Well, one day I had to make a forced landing in a cornfield, and I came back hopping mad. I was risking my life for Paramount and the studio was taking 10 lousy bucks out of my pay check for a suit of clothes!"

LAST WORD

Both actors had the last word. Within a few years Arlen was being paid $5,000 a week on a 52-week-per-year contract. And Rogers' pay jumped to $10,000.

They found ways to get rid of the money. Rogers' delight was a car built especially for the Du Pont family.

★ ★ ★

"Only a few were available," he said. "Marlene Dietrich and Wally Beery had them, and I was able to pick one up for $7,500. A marvelous car. It wouldn't climb a curb, but on the level highway it was a dream."

"Mine was a Dusenberg," said Arlen. "It had cost $13,000 for the chassis and motor and $6,000 for the special body. I managed to buy it for $11,000 and sell it for $12,000."

MM's Magic Evident at Art Exhibit

NEW YORK (AP) — Sex goddess, supergirl, All-American Dream Queen—Marilyn Monroe was these and much more. She was a sort of magic kaleidoscope that presented something intensely personal, private and special to each eye that beheld her.

Nowhere is this more evident than in Homage to Marilyn Monroe, an exhibit of the works of 41 partists-sculptors photographers who tried to say something about the Monroe image.

★ ★ ★

The exhibit at the Sidney Janis Galleries ranges from a 1954 Willem deKooning abstract oil portrait, executed during his so-called "women" series, to a 1967 Salvador Dali mixed media construction entitled "Mao Monroe Monarchy."

"This is a selective exhibit focusing upon the avant-garde artists of the United States and Britain, France and Italy," says Janis. "Here, we are placing the photographer on the artistic level of the painter and sculptor. And so, with deKooning, Claes Oldenburg, Andy Warhol, Peter Blake, Dali, Marisol and George Segal, we also have photographers Richard Avedon, Cartier-Bresson, Philip Halsman and Bert Stern."

The contribution by sculptor George Segal is called "The Movie Poster." It depicts a workingman in three-dimensional life size plaster, surveying the poster of a two-dimensional Marilyn Monroe from her film "Some Like It Hot," in which she is wearing a gown with a transparent bodice.

"I never knew her," says Segal, "but I could see her as every man's dream of a beautiful, willing woman. This work fit in with a whole series I've been doing on male-female relationships."

The Andy Warhol "Marilyn Monroe"—a diptych of companion seven-by-six-foot canvases —overwhelms the eye with its repetitive images, looking deceivingly like blown-up strips of movie film, each pretending to exactly duplicate the other.

"She was absolutely beautiful," says Warhol, "and I had the feeling that she was changing; that she was becoming more of herself than what a movie studio told her to be. I put this on canvas, as though it was a movie, so that you can see the change every second."

A year in planning, the one-month exhibit is being staged for the benefit of the Association for Mentally Ill Children in Manhattan.

One of the nonprofessional art pieces is a watercolor, entitled "Myself Exercising," which was done by Miss Monroe five years before her death in 1962.

Scientists Find an Answer to Key Cancer Question

NEW YORK (UPI) — A scientific team has come up with a hot answer to one of the hottest questions in cancer research. The question is: If viruses cause some human cancers (and the suspicion is that they do), then what happens to the viruses after they do it?

The answer is that they are suppressed or inhibited in the human body by mechanisms now unknown. It is an unproved and even a tentative answer, but it opens the way to sophisticated investigations which could reveal the truth.

It comes from Dr. Erling M. Jensen and his associates of the cancer research laboratory of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Maywood, N. J., and is challenging cancer scientists in the technical journal of the National Cancer Institute.

The Jensen team assembled in its laboratory 45 cancerous tissue samples taken from '43 cancer patients. Under the huge magnifications of the electron microscope, only one showed the particles taken to be viruses. There were so few they could have been overlooked.

The samples were cultured in dishes. Only seven "took," their cells multiplying in the usual manner and forming continuous cultures. All samples had been in transit for several days reaching the laboratory, and most lost vitality as the result.

CHANGE OF SCENE — Actor Barry Morse, best known for his work as Lt. Gerard on "The Fugitive" television show, gets down to work as a director in London for the TV special "Mr. Dickens of London."

UNICEF 21 Today, May Aid N. Viet Children

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Children's Fund came of age today, 21 years after launching a shoestring mercy mission. It now helps half a billion youngsters and may be extended soon to Communist North Vietnam.

Executive Director Henry R. Labouisse said, the fund, known as UNICEF, has helped South Vietnamese children since 1952 and decided this year to explore possibilities of helping kids in the North.

France has proposed that UNICEF seek assistance of Red Cross organizations in getting food and supplies to both Vietnams. The recommendation is under study.

UNICEF'S birthday spirit was dampened somewhat by the cost of soaring food and medical needs drawn from a budget which runs far below the target.

FAMINE THREAT

In 1967, facing a famine involving 35 million mothers and children in northern India, UNICEF's board allocated more than $50 million, or $15 million above its 1966 income.

Labouisse said UNICEF was scraping the bottom of its reserve barrel to meet the new expenses.

"If we are to maintain this level of aid in subsequent years, we will have to attain a target income level of $50 million by 1969," he said.

The Middle East war erupted last June while the UNICEF executive board was meeting in New York to approve funds for aid programs in 120 countries.

When news of the crisis arrived, Labouisse told the board that the war would have grave repercussions for children in the Middle East. He called for emergency measures.

* * *

Three days later, Labouisse announced that $500,000 worth of supplies en route to the Middle East included 200,000 vials of penicillin, one million tablets of sulfa drugs and 1,400 baby blankets.

Over the years, UNICEF has steadily broadened its original mission of helping the children of postwar Europe until it embraced needy children in Asia, Africa, Latin America and other underprivileged areas.

* * *

Since the first modest shipload of powdered milk crossed the Atlantic in early 1947, UNICEF has sent forth 1.5 billion pounds of milk, 3.5 billion vitamin capsules and other nutritives.

For the sick it has supplied 17 million vials of penicillin, administrated 226 million vaccinations against tuberculosis and treated 24 million children for trachoma.

'Lt. Gerard' Still Around as British Show Restraint

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK — Fortunately, the British have managed, amid long hair and loud music, to preserve their sense of dignity and self-control, so Barry Morse is still with us today.

Morse, the implacable Lt. Gerard who pursued The Fugitive through all those television shows, was in London directing a special when the final two episodes of The Fugitive were to be televised.

"They had betting pools all over London," Morse said, "and I'm afraid a lot of people lost money on me. The members of the crew kept saying 'Tell us who did it, gov'nor, and we'll clean out the bookies.'"

Morse didn't tell, none of the losers was sore enough to come after him, and he completed the special, Mr. Dickens of London, to be seen on ABC-TV on Tuesday.

* * *

The show has Sir Michael Redgrave as Dickens and Juliet Mills as a modern-day young lady who is taken on a tour of Dickens' London haunts by the gentleman himself.

DIRECTING PLAY

Now he is in New York, growing a beard ("Whenever I don't have to work I grow a beard for the sheer pleasure of not having to shave"), and directing the Broadway version of "Staircase," a two-character play done by Paul Scofield in London.

The Dickens show, he says, can be best described as a dramatized, biographical documentary.

For one scene he had Redgrave in Dickensian costume, and Miss Mills, in modern dress, strolling down a busy London street at the 5 o'clock rush hour, photographed by a hidden camera.

* * *

"Nobody batted an eyelid," he said, "but then London is filled with so many nutty-looking people today."

STILL ACTING

Barry may have turned his efforts to directing ("I have directed on and off since I was 18"), but he is not about to give up acting. "I'm much too much of an old circus horse for that."

One of Broadway's best performances is Martin Balsam's funny, sad, bewildered and very honest portrayal of an actor who will be tall, short, fat, thin, hirsute or bald, rugged or a weakling in the first of four short plays that make up "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running."

He's a versatile man, so much so that he will be heard as the voice of a computer in the forthcoming movie, "2001: A Space Odyssey."

"The computer makes a mistake, so it is disconnected and they perform a lobotomy on it. Something goes wrong, and it ends up as a young computer screaming nursery rhymes."

TV PLAY

Which takes care of Balsam's Broadway and film career and brings us to television. He will be seen on ABC-TV on Dec. 17 in Truman Capote's "Among the Paths to Eden," a two-character play with Maureen Stapleton.

It's the tale of a woman looking for a husband. She figures a cemetery is a good place to meet widowers, so she pretends to be a grieving widow.

"It's funny, touching, diabolical and we went to Calvary Cemetery every day to film. Between takes I memorized the tombstones."

Tumor May Be Inherited

By SCIENCE SERVICE

BOSTON — A common cancer of the nervous system called neuroblastoma has been found in three girls and a boy in the same family, suggesting that the tumor may be inherited. It occurs in young children.

The two pediatricians reporting the cases in the Dec. 7 issue of The New England Journal of Medicine say that to their knowledge this the first time in which four siblings have had the tumor and the first in which a parent had abnormally high urinary compounds including dopamine, the hormone norepinephrine and VMA (3-methoxy-4-hydroxymandelic acid).

The boy and two of the girls died in spite of treatment by radiation and drugs, but the youngest girl Laurie lived after surgery and therapy with vincristine and cyclophosphamide. When the tumor was first discovered, Laurie was 5 months old.

Like her mother, she was excreting dopamine, norepinephrine and VMA in her urine modestly high quantity, indicating a hereditary link.

Dr. Jane Chatten, pathologist at pediatrician, Children's Hospital, Philadelphia, and Dr. Mary L. Voorhess, now of the State University Hospital of Syracuse, report the four cases.

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Jim: "How about a discussion of the rubber bridge tournament at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas in October?"

Oswald: "It is quite an event. If they also awarded Master Points, they would probably have 1,000 pairs entered. As it is, JACOBY quite a few top experts go there to play for the prize money and to have a general good time.

"All matches are straight rubber bridge beginning with eight hands and getting longer as you stay in. Also the method of play insures three days of play for every entry with some chance to share in the prize money right up to sudden death matches on the third day."

Jim: "Since a match is a definite number of hands, there are some unusual situations that arise on the last hand. For instance, on this hand Curtis Smith and Bobby Nail of Houston needed to bid and make a grand slam to win the match. Bobby opened one no-trump with the North hand and Curtis jumped right to seven spades."

Oswald: "The bid would be silly in any other game, but I see that Curtis would make the hand if he played correctly. He did, didn't he?"

★ ★ ★

Jim: "He won the first trick with the diamond ace and played two rounds of spades, winding up in his own hand. Then he took the heart finesse successfully. Business was looking up."

Oswald: "Yes, it was. I assume he ruffed a diamond, entered dummy with the ace of hearts, ruffed another diamond, ruffed his last heart in dummy, ruffed dummy's next to last diamond and played out his last trump to discard a club from dummy."

Jim: "This also forced East to make his third discard of a club since he had to hang on to the jack of diamonds. Smith had a perfect count by this time and was able to make the last three tricks with clubs because each opponent was holding two clubs and it didn't matter where the queen was."

Commodore K. Thanabalasingam said the frigate is being purchased for $11.3 million from Britain. It is to be launched in Portsmouth later this month. The navy now has 3,000 officers and men, one frigate, 20 patrol craft and eight minesweepers.

Malaysia Navy to Get 2nd Frigate

Trading Is Active

Stock Mart Turns Downward

NEW YORK (AP) — A brief advance withered and the stock market turned downward in active trading early this afternoon.

Shortly after the opening, advances of individual stocks outnumbered declines by about 150 issues, but by mid-day they were about even.

★ ★ ★

The New York Stock Exchange ticker tape fell one minute behind in reporting floor transactions.

★ ★ ★

The weakness developed despite business during the weekend that brokers considered favorable. It included a report that manufacturers expect their sales to increase 3.5 per cent during this quarter and another 3 per cent during the 1968 first quarter.

★ ★ ★

There also was an indication that despite better sales prospects business men plan to be cautious in building up inventories.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon had dropped 3.52 to 883.73.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was off .4 to 316.8.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Gulf Research and GC Computer added about 2 points. AMREP Corp. Western Union International and Gulf States Land added more than a point.

General Studies

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A school for general studies, leading to a bachelor of philosophy or bachelor of arts degree, is scheduled to open in September at Grand Valley State College. The new school has been authorized by the college board of control and will accommodate about 100 students during the first year.

Police Get Lead in 2 Slayings

Victims in Florida Creek Secretaries

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI)—Police said today they had a "good lead" in the slaying of two vacationing secretaries whose swimsuit-clad bodies were dumped in lonely Whisky Creek.

Lt. Fred Rohloff said investigators had learned that both the girls were secretaries working for a firm outside Florida. But he would not name the firm or identify them.

"They had apparently been at Miami Beach for a week, staying at a motel," he said.

One of the victims was identified by her estranged husband as Mrs. Terry Rae Kent Frank. Billy Frank identified the body yesterday and the girl's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Kent of Cincinnati, were en route here.

★ ★ ★

The second girl, whom police refused to identify pending confirmation, appeared to be 18 to 20 years old, with shoulder-length auburn hair.

IDEAS ON MOTIVE

Rohloff said "We have several ideas of what the motive for these murders was. There was no indication that these were gangland-style killings. We are working on a good lead."

He said officers were still trying to find the boat from which the girls were dumped into the canal called Whisky Creek.

Frank showed up at police headquarters after hearing a description of the victims over the radio.

CLOTHING FOUND

Police yesterday found a bundle of bloodied men's clothing a few miles downstream from where the girls' bodies were found floating feet upward Friday in remote Whiskey Creek. Concrete blocks were tied around their necks when they were found by a fisherman.

Police said they did not know if there was any connection between the soiled clothing, which they said "smelled like a wino's," and the murders.

★ ★ ★

The girls, wearing black bathing suits and jewelry, had been shot, beaten and stabbed, police said. They had not been sexually molested.

Retirees Around Globe

Corps Aids Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Soon after the New Year, Everett H. Huntoon, a 66-year-old resident of Sun City, Ariz., interrupts the retirement he worked decades for in order to handle the problems of some strangers in far-off Cyprus.

★ ★ ★

As payment for uprooting himself from the serenity of retirement, Huntoon and his wife will receive a daily living allowance, exposure to a foreign culture and the satisfaction of helping others. Nothing more.

CUNNIFF

Huntoon who spent 27 years with Montgomery Ward and on retirement was manager of merchandising and purchasing in New York, will lend his knowledge and advice to a Cypriot dry goods wholesalers and retailer.

The job, to last about three months, will cost the wholesaler about $1,000 a month, but Huntoon will get none of it. Instead it will go to the International Executive Service Corps, which made the arrangements.

The corps, which most people know as the Executive Peace Corps or by the even more familiar term of Paunch Corps, already has completed 361 foreign assistance projects in less than three years and is expanding steadily.

In addition, 90 projects are under way, 69 are about to begin and many more are now being arranged in communications between Madison Avenue headquarters and private enterprises in 40 foreign nations.

All this has been accomplished on an annual budget of about $2 million, 40 per cent of which is donated by American corporations or received in service fees, and 60 per cent of which comes from the U.S. government.

"We feel we run a tight ship," said a spokesman for the corps, which is staffed by highly experienced personnel, headed by President Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics.

STILL GROWING

The corps is still growing and hopes to complete 300 projects this year, 350 in 1968 and close to 500 by the end of 1969. At that point its directors will pause to assess the need or desirability of further expansion.

At the moment, however, enthusiasm both in the United States and abroad dictates growth. More and more retirees — and some still in the midst of their careers—are offering their services. More and more foreign companies ask assistance.

★ ★ ★

A skills bank of 3,500 names is now maintained and added to as the result of personal applications, recommendations and more recently from recruiting drives among corporations.

From this bank the corps attempts to fill requests such as these:

- A records production manager to spend three or four months assisting a recording and tape manufacturer in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

★ ★ ★

- A production executive with experience in the manufacture of sewing machine needles to spend three months in Taipei, Taiwan.
- A glass technologist to help an Istanbul, Turkey firm go into the manufacture of windshields.

QUESTIONS

When the requests come in—and that is the only way in which the corps agrees to get involved—the following questions are asked:

- Is the requesting firm willing to pay a fee for assistance, a fee which amounts to only a small percentage of what would be charged by a private consultant, were he available?

★ ★ ★

- Is the client firm sound enough to profit from the help and advice?
- Will the firm's success be of probable benefit not only to itself but to the free enterprise system of its country?

AREAS OF REQUESTS

Most of the request came originally from Latin America. While interest there remains high, based on the number of requests through November, expansion in the Middle and Far East has been strong, and requests from African companies now are coming in.

★ ★ ★

At this pace Madison Avenue's biggest export soon will be management rather than advertising, although needless to say, the exported management is doing a very competent job of adveristing America.

Heart-Switch Patient Again Given Cobalt

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Louis Washkansky, the history-making heart transplant patient, underwent cobalt treatment today for the third time since the operation Dec. 2 and was described as making satisfactory progress.

Cobalt treatments and drugs are being used on Washkansky to counter the natural tendency of the body to reject foreign tissues, such as the new heart. A spokesman at Groote Schuur Hospital said there are no signs that his body is trying to reject the heart, and no infection has occurred.

★ ★ ★

"Mr. Washkansky had a comfortable night," said a bulletin issued by the hospital today. "He enjoyed a meal of steak and eggs Sunday night and porridge, two soft boiled eggs, toast and coffee for breakfast." It added that his doctors saw him this morning and were satisfied with his progress.

★ ★ ★

Since they are dealing with the unknown, the doctors said there may be complications they had not foreseen. But one said privately: "We think we've got our problems licked."

DOCTOR CONFIDENT

"I am very confident he will pull through," said Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the team which replaced the 53-year-old wholesale grocer's failing heart on Dec. 3 with the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash.

Japanese Vessel Aflame; Crew Safe

HONOLULU (UPI) — A Japanese fishing vessel was aflame and slowly sinking 800 miles northwest of here today. Her 26 crewmen abandoned ship and were in good condition aboard a rescue vessel.

★ ★ ★

Coast Guard officials said the the last sailors from the Seiki Maru No. 15 were rescued from a bobbing life raft yesterday and taken aboard the British freighter, the Baron MaClay.

Two paramedics dropped to the British ship said all members of the crew were in good condition.

Riot Report Will Be Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House panel probing last summer's uprisings says it will submit its recommendations for preventing future riots at least four months ahead of schedule.

"Our review of the information we have amassed over more than four months convinces us that we cannot delay until next summer in providing our findings of fact and recommendations," said a Sunday statement by panel chairman, Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, and vice chairman, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

"The commission has found there is an urgent need for public awareness, and widespread action, much sooner than that," the statement added.

The 11-man President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders originally was scheduled to make its report and recommendations by July 29.

The Kerner-Lindsay statement moved that target date up to March 1—original deadline for an interim report—and a commission spokesman said the report may be ready even sooner.

Dividends Set

Kuhlman Corp., 2565 W. Maple, Troy, has announced that the company's board of directors has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 17½ cents per share on the company's common stock, and a extra cash dividend of 17½ cents, both dividends payable Jan. 10, 1968 to holders of record Dec. 29, 1967.

U.N. Starts Talks on Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Hopes were high today that the Geneva disarmament negotiations will soon produce a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons as the General Assembly's main political committee prepared to open its annual disarmament debate.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union and the United States have agreed on all clauses of a nonproliferation treaty except one providing for inspection. West Germany and Italy want Euratom, the Common Market's atomic energy agency, to be the inspecting agency instead of the International Atomic Energy Agency, as the Russians demand.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q— Do you ever advise the average investor to avoid over-diversification? I am 41, married and have $42,000 spread out in 17 different stocks. I recently wanted to put money into an additional issue, but my broker advised against it. He says I should sell some of my present holdings and use the proceeds, together with new money, to build up my strongest growth holdings — General Dynamics; Mobil Oil; Pfizer. Your opinion will be appreciated. — R.H.

A— I think your broker is a thoughtful man who should be warmly commended for his generally sound advice. I have frequently said here that no one should hold more individual stocks than he can reasonably follow, and I believe that 17 situations are too many for the ordinary investor to watch closely. The three stocks your broker wants you to build up are all strong situations, although General Dynamics, strictly speaking, is not a growth stock because of its heavy military involvement. Nevertheless, I advise you to take his suggestion, add to the stocks he has selected and limit your portfolio to 10 to 15 issues at the most.

Q— Recently I inherited from my husband a portfolio of bonds, stocks and cash. I am enclosing a list for your review. At present I am advised to sell 50 per cent of the common stock and put the money into more bonds. Do you approve of this plan and, if so, which stocks would you sell?—R.E.

A— Rarely have I encountered a finer list of securities or one which is better balanced. Your husband must have been a shrewd and farsighted man. I can see no justification for selling good stocks in order to purchase more bonds under present money conditions. You already hold a substantial backlog of savings, bonds and preferred, and I advise you to leave your portfolio exactly as it is.

HAIR-RAISING TALE — Patrolman Edward Uribe (left), 27, decked out in clothes borrowed from his mother, stands by as a 16-year-old suspect is booked yesterday. # Anti-Soviet Propaganda Trial Is Postponed

MOSCOW (AP) — The trial of four young Russian intellectuals on charges of anti-Soviet propaganda was postponed today. The postponement came after a plea by 44 intellectuals that the trial be open to the public, but there was no indication that this caused the delay.

Court sources said the trial probably would open in two or three days.

The Moscow trial is separate from a secret trial already under way in Leningrad in which four persons are accused of leading a secret terrorist ring charged with trying to overthrow the Soviet state.

Those four defendants in Moscow, under arrest for 11 months, could be sentenced to seven years at hard labor.

★ ★ ★

The two chief defendants in the propaganda case are Alexander Ginsburg, 31, and Yuri Galanskov, 28.

Informed sources said they will be charged with preparing an account that was smuggled to the West for the trial last year of satirists Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel, who were convicted of anti-Soviet propaganda in a trial that brought angry protests from intellectuals. Sinyavsky and Daniel were sentenced to five and seven years respectively at hard labor.

The other two defendants are Vera Lashkova, 21, a typist, and poet Alexei Dobrovolsky, 29, who sources said had admitted involvement with the other two in an underground publication, Phoenix 66.

★ ★ ★

A blackout of information prevented assessment of the trial in Leningrad of the four intellectuals charged with trying to overthrow the government However, sources said secret police who arrested the four uncovered caches of machine guns and grenades. A Soviet military officer was suspected of having supplied the weapons, the source said.

90th Congress Is Hoping to Wind Up Work Friday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 90th Congress launched "get-away week" today, hoping to wind up the work of the 1967 session in five hectic days.

Congressional leaders, who talked last summer of being home by Labor Day, are planning an all-out drive to end the current session Friday.

The action today was centered in the House where compromise versions of four major measures were on the agenda. They included:

• A $2.7-billion pay raise for the nation's 3.5 million servicemen. It provides pay raises ranging from $5.10 a month for buck privates to $123.60 monthly for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, retroactive to Oct. 1.

• A similar pay hike for two million postal and white-collar government workers, also effective Oct. 1. The wage increase for civilian federal employes is tied to a $900 million postal rate increase. Letters and postcards would go up a penny, airmail two cents, second class 25 per cent, and third class 39 per cent tending the war on poverty for two more years.

• Legislation that would cut back federal spending $2.6 billion more than the $1.5 billion in actual budget cuts ordered by the House. Republicans hoped to make a larger cut in the house; Democrats may try to junk the whole idea in the senate.

The Senate was trying to finish work today on a $14.2 billion, three-year authorization for the big elementary and secondary education program. It spent most of last week battling over the measure.

The House passed a one-year, $3.8-billion school bill earlier in the session, and the differences between the two were so great that efforts to work out a compromise were expected to be withheld until Congress returns Jan. 15.

★ ★ ★

If the House was able to get through the load lined up for today, it planned to turn tomorrow to consideration of the final appropriation bill of the session:

ANTIPOVERTY FUNDS

The big item will be funds for the antipoverty program for fiscal 1968, and the level was expected to be well below the $1.98 billion carried in the authorization bill.

The House and Senate also must find common ground during the week on an appropriation for the foreign aid program. The House approved $2.19 billion; and there were some sharp differences between the two measures on such matters as military aid to underdeveloped nations.

The foreign aid money bill could become the roughest battle of the week, and, as it has in the past, could keep Congress working into the wee hours.

Totalitarian Evil Cited as Still a Threat

LONDON (AP) — Victor G. Reuther, American labor unionist, told British lawyers Sunday the world needs utmost vigilance to insure that evils of the Stalin and Hitler type cannot recur.

Reuther, director of the International Affairs Department of the United Automobile Workers of America, spoke to members of Amnesty, an organization of jurists concerned with politican freedom. The lecture was part of Britain's Human Rights Day. He is the brother of UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

He said the McCarthy era in the United States produced hundreds of violations of individual rights of speech and opinion "by the very agencies of government whose duty it was to safeguard the Constitution."

"The mere possession of Democratic institutions and of laws protective of human rights is not, unhappily, a guarantee that the institutions will forever perform democratically or the laws be scrupulously observed."

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science discovered a medication with the ability, in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids and promptly stop the burning itch and relieve pain.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, very striking improvement was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain and itching were promptly relieved. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated piles.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all done without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! Preparation H also lubricates to make bowel movements less painful, it soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in both ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Stage Set for Finale of Pontiac Open

Defenders Sparkle as Lions Rout N. Y.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alex Karras and his roving band of quarterback harassers had so much fun in the Giants' backfield Sunday they spent nearly as much time there as the New York backs.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit front four of ends Larry Hand and Darris McCord and tackles Jerry Rush and Karras slammed through to drop New York quarterbacks for 88 yards in losses. It also added up to an easy 30-7 Lions' victory.

★ ★ ★

"That front four was rushing like hell," said Giants' quarterback Earl Morrall, who relieved Fran Tarkenton in the third quarter after the starting scrambler had been thrown for losses so often his net passing yardage was minus 10.

★ ★ ★

Karl Sweetan, a surprise starter in place of Milt Plum, was superb in masterminding the Lions in their 200th victory since they joined the National Football League in 1934.

The 19th ranked passer in the league —there was no lower slot — Sweetan hurled three scoring passes to jump his season output from six to nine as Detroit moved to 4-7-2. New York is now 6-7.

Individual Leaders

Rushing — Detroit: Farr 16-59, Sweetan 2-19; New York: Morrison 10-37, Triplett 11-37, Tarkenton 2-30.
Receiving — Detroit: Malanchak 4-51, Farr 4-48, Marsh 2-46; New York, Triplett 3-44, Shofner 2-30.
Passing — Detroit: Sweetan 13-17-1, 216 yards; New York: Tarkenton 3-16-1, 48, Morrall 3-7-0, 57.

"I decided Saturday Sweetan would start," head coach Joe Schmidt said. "I told Karl Sunday morning.

★ ★ ★

"He did all right. We didn't make any mistakes. Everybody hustled so we finally won," said Schmidt, whose team snapped a five-game nonwinning streak. "Needless to say, Sweetan starts next week."

GROUND GAME

Sweetan set up the Detroit ground game — which consisted of successive handoffs to Mel Farr — before clicking on his passes. Amos Marsh caught the first scoring pass, a 35-yard blast the first time the Lions touched the ball.

Bill Malinchak caught the second one, a nine-yard job in the second period and down pass of the season late in the period. It covered 52 yards.

But the defense made it possible, with the front four barreling in on nearly every pass play and keeping Tarkenton from running around the backfield like a rabbit.

★ ★ ★

"I think we've beaten Tarkenton about 10 out of 12 times," Schmidt said. "We tried to contain him by blitzing a lot.

★ ★ ★

"We had a lot of movement in our line to confuse him. We knew we had to do this to beat them."

★ ★ ★

"They made you want to hurry your passes," the bewildered Morrall said. "They looked like they were really up for the game. They made up their minds they were going to get us and they did."

★ ★ ★

"As soon a they scored on that first series of downs we knew they were going to be rough," the former Lions' quarterback said.

★ ★ ★

On a third-down play, Sweetan sent Marsh out on a delay with the back easily beating New York linebacker Bill Swain down the sideline.

Sweetan completed 13 of 17 passes —far above his season completion mark of 39 per cent — for 208 yards. His nine-yard flip to Malinchak capped a 67-yard drive which saw the Detroit end catch a 17-yard pass and Farr going 22 yards with a screen pass.

Sweetan shocked the Giants with his bomb to Cogdill. It was a first down play with just over a minute to play in the first half with the Lions up 14-0. Cogdill gathered it in on the 15 and outstrided Spider Lockart to score.

★ ★ ★

Tommy Watkins, who nearly returned the game-opening kickoff all the way only to be stopped from behind by speedy Homer Jones on Detroit's, 47, scored on a four-yard run during the final quarter.

★ ★ ★

The Lions' other two points came when Bruce Maher blocked a Morrall punt into the end zone in the third quarter. Morrall pitched 27 yards to Aaron Thomas for the only Giants' tally in the fourth quarter.

RED HOT ROUND — Ed Gibbs, veteran Pontiac area bowler, splintered the pins at 300 Bowl yesterday where he led the semifinal round of the Pontiac Open. Gibbs rolled a 697 actual and finished with a 701 total. Included was a 279 game.

Ed Gibbs Rolls 701 in Leading 199 Into Finals

The stage is set for the biggest finale in history of the Pontiac Open Bowling Championship next Sunday when 199 bowlers take the lanes at Huron Bowl.

★ ★ ★

This constitutes nearly 20 per cent of the total entries in the tournament which yesterday went through a hectic semifinal round at 300 Bowl where Ed Gibbs, veteran Pontiac bowler tamed the lanes for a 697 actual and 701 total.

★ ★ ★

Gibbs, a late starter yesterday, left the four pin standing in the seventh frame as the only blemish on his 279 game. He actually had eight straight strikes, five to finish the first game and three more to start the second game.

Up to Gibbs' series, Bill Kirby held the lead with 686 total, including 661 actual pins, followed by Marv Landry with 681 total.

The cutoff point figure, which fluctuated like the stock market from the first squad to the last, was 586. Nine bowlers were tied at this figure.

Among the finalists is Denny McLain, Detroit Tiger pitcher, who came in with a 646 including a high game finish of 226.

HOT PACE

Les Rothbarth, high over-all qualifier in the tourney, continued his red hot pace with a 644 total.

★ ★ ★

Among the 18 women who made the finals, Shirley Pointer and Helen Fry tied for honors yesterday with 623 totals. Mrs. Pointer had a pair of 199 games, while Mrs. Fry posted 196-193 games to start her series.

Lucille Myers with 619 had a 203 game in her series.

The three squads of finalists will start at 1 p.m. next Sunday at Huron Bowl to battle for the $1,000 top prize and big succeeding prizes of $600, $400, $300 and $250.

Pairings and squad times will be announced Friday.

★ ★ ★

For the Actual's Invitational part of the tournament which will be held next Sunday starting at 9 a.m. all bowlers who entered the tournament with 180 average or better, or who posted 601 actual or better in the qualifying rounds are eligible for invitations.

These pairings will be made known on Thursday and will be available at Huron Bowl where the tourney will be supervised by Mrs. Pointer.

Old Pro Blanda Sparks Oakland to Division Title

By The Associated Press

An accurate toe and a good passing arm are a tough combination to beat in football — even when they belong to different men who are of different generations.

This was the case Sunday when the kicking of George Blanda and the passing of Bob Griese combined to give Oakland the Western Division championship of the American Football League.

Blanda, who broke in professionally with the Chicago Bears in 1949, booted four field goals in five tries in leading Oakland to a 19-7 victory over Houston.

Griese, who was hardly strong enough to hold a football in 1949, passed for two touchdowns as Miami upset San Diego 41-24.

Oakland's victory gave the Raiders an 11-1 record and a 2½-game lead over San Diego. It also kept Houston, 7-4-1, from breaking a first-place tie in the Eastern Division with the New York Jets, who lost 21-7 to Kansas City in the only other Sunday game. Buffalo trounced Boston 44-16 Saturday.

The 40-year-old Blanda, who quarterbacked Houston to two AFL titles and was No. 1 at the position for most of seven seasons before being dropped by the club after last year, was feeling higher than some of his kicks.

"This was fantastic, the best day of my career, to come back here and show all these rude fans that the booing doesn't bother the old man."

ROUNDLY JEERED

Blanda was roundly booed the first time he went on the field, but it took more than boos to stop him Sunday.

Titans Entertaining W. Va.

The University of Detroit tonight hopes to avoid the basketball barrage that befell Michigan's Wolverines Saturday night against a Southern Conference powerhouse.

The U. of M. ventured into Charlotte, N. C., and suffered a 91-70 drubbing at the hands of Davidson.

The U. of D. Titans entertain West Virginia — the team that is picked to battle Davidson's Wildcats for the SC title — in their Memorial Building while tipping off this week's state college basketball schedule.

The Titans are fresh from an 85-84 conquest at home over Xavier of Ohio Saturday. That game was witnessed by WVU's Mountaineers after they were surprised, 82-72, by Florida in an afternoon contest at Charleston, W. Va.

Tomorrow night Michigan State will return to the hardwood floor at Kalamazoo against Western Michigan.

The Spartans didn't play last week while taking final exams. Michigan will be off for exams and the holidays until the Sun Devel Classic Dec. 21 in Arizona.

OTHER SCORES

In other state college action Saturday, Central Michigan gained quick revenge with an 83-73 win at Eastern Illinois; Eastern Michigan beat Cleveland State, 92-75; Aquinas won the Furniture City Classic, by beating Spring Arbor 112-79; and Detroit Tech stayed unbeaten by edging George Williams of Illinois, 70-64.

Albion nipped Adrian, 78-77; Olivet slipped past Indiana Tech, 93-92; Winona State dumped Michigan Tech, 84-75; Hope upended Concordia of Illinois, 83-76; Calvin dropped Windsor, 100-82; and St. Joseph's of Indiana downed Michigan Lutheran, 61-58.

U. of D.'s second win was a see-saw affair that was decided on Vita Abramivicius's basket with six seconds to play. Tom Richardson put the Titans ahead with a key field goal with 73 seconds remaining.

West Virginia's defeat was perpetrated by Florida's 6-10 center Neal Walk who scored 31 points and added 23 rebounds to his national leading total.

Veteran Skater Paces Blues to Bright Victory

By The Associated Press

If memory serves correctly, Dickie Moore was one of the National Hockey League's all-time top goal-getters with 256 before he retired after the 1964-65 season.

The low-scoring, little winning St. Louis Blues remembered several weeks ago and Sunday night Moore showed them he still recalls how he got those goals.

The 36-year-old left wing, who came off a two-year layoff to play with the desperate Blues, drove home his first goal for the expansion team and lifted St. Louis to a stunning 2-1 victory over powerful Toronto in St. Louis.

The loss left the Maple Leafs still three points behind leading Boston in the established East Division after Los Angeles upset the Bruins 3-1 in Boston.

New York edged Montreal 3-2, in New York. Chicago blanked host Philadelphia 3-0 and visiting Minnesota hammered Pittsburgh 7-4 in other games.

Moore's goal came with 11:20 gone in the final period to break a 1-1 deadlock and give the last place Blues only their seventh victory in 25 games.

Jim Pappin had given Toronto an scored his first NHL goal in the second period for St. Louis.

Los Angeles pulled a less spectacular upset by spotting the injury-ridden Bruins a first period goal by Eddie Shack and then blasting home two scores in the last 86 seconds of the second period. Ted Irvine scored at 18:34 and Gordon Labossiere won it at 19:45.

Lowell MacDonald sealed Boston's first loss in nine games with a third-period goal as Boston played without Bobby Orr and Ted Green.

Rangers Find Gordie Ailing but Still Too Tough in Wings' Win

DETROIT (AP) — That six-foot, 205-pound whiz the New York Rangers chased around Olympia Stadium ice Saturday was Gordie Howe, 39-year-old out patient.

Howe, in his 22nd National Hockey League season, scored one goal and assisted on another as the Detroit Red Wings scored three goals in a three-minute second period burst to nip the Rangers 3-2.

"I felt weak," Howe told reporters after the game, displaying a black and blue right arm riddled by test needles during his one-night hospital stay.

Howe, in great pain, was rushed to a Detroit hospital Friday night with what turned out to be a kidney stone. Howe said his doctors weren't certain, but they believed he had eliminated the stone before game time.

Howe has three more days to fully recuperate before the third-place Wings, idle Sunday, face the Chicago Black Hawks at home Thursday in an Eastern Division clash.

'Singles' Average Big Reason for Clemente's Batting Crown in NL

CINCINNATI (AP) — You've still got to hit singles — and a lot of them — if you want to win the National League's batting championships.

The league's official 1967 batting records bear this out. Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the crown for the fourth time with a .357 batting average. His "singles average" was a lot higher than that—.713.

Clemente went to bat 585 times to accumulate the best hitting average of his 13-year major league career.

Firebirds Select 2 for MVP Honors

The Pontiac Firebirds of the Midwest Football League gathered for a team banquet yesterday and selected the most valuable players on the team for the offensive and defensive units.

★ ★ ★

Marty Malatin, all-purpose halfback from Kent State, was picked for offensive team honors, while Ron Bemis, defensive end from Royal Oak Kimball, was chosen for the defensive award.

Malatin, a 5-10 and 210-pounder, finished the season as the second best runner on the team behind Bill Apisa. He scored nine touchdowns for 54 points, threw for two touchdowns with 10 completions and caught 14 passes for 249 yards and three touchdowns.

Bemis, a 6-1 and 220-pounder, scored two touchdowns on runs with fumbles, including a 73 yarder and he recovered seven fumbles and had one pass interception during the season.

The Firebirds finished the season with a 10-2 record, one game behind Mt. Clemens with 11-1.

Superior Skaters Tied

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — Lake Superior State's Lakers skated to a 5-5 college hockey tie with Laurentian University Sunday.

Jack Theriault and John Carr each scored two goals for the Lakers, now 5-1-1. The tie was Laurentian's first against four victories and two losses.

Browns Take NFL Divisional Title

Browns Down Cards, 20-16, in Century Tilt

Loser's Jim Bakken Boots 3 Field Goals to Tie Team Record

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Blanton Collier, coach of the Cleveland Browns, said he was scared Sunday afternoon. He was scared of Jim Bakken and Larry Wilson, in particular, and the St. Louis Cardinals, in general.

The fear proved unnecessary because the Browns beat the Cardinals 20-16 and copped the Century Division title of the National Football League's Eastern Division.

★ ★ ★

Bakken put the lump in Collier's throat with seven seconds gone in the second period when he kicked his 25th field goal of the season and tied a team record he set in 1964.

Cleveland removed some of the pressure with a touchdown on a Frank Ryan to Paul Warfield pass which covered 38 yards. But Bakken kicked another field goal with slightly less than 10 minutes left in the half. Then, he put the Cardinals ahead with less than seven minutes left on his third field goal of the day.

And then, Cleveland's Ryan went to the sidelines with an injured left arm.

"Yes, I was scared then too," Collier said.

WENT NUMB

Ryan said his arm went numb after he was downed late in the first half.

"After my arm got banged I couldn't feel anything," Ryan explained. "When I called time out I just had to wait for feeling to return to the hand."

★ ★ ★

Ryan said the extended drive at the end of the last period was the best of the afternoon for Cleveland. "That was the only good running we did all day."

The drive practically killed the clock and forced the Cardinals to pass quickly with just seconds left in a futile effort to catch the Browns.

With the Browns ahead 7-6 in the second period, Wilson smashed through a special Cleveland punt defense and blocked a Gary Collins punt. Four plays later Bakken collected his third field goal of the day and put the Cardinals in front 9-7.

goal in the third period and took a 9-7 lead after Blanda booted three-pointers of 32 and 31 yards in the final period.

The Raiders sewed it up when Hewritt Dixon raced 27 yards for a touchdown and Blanda kicked a 45-yarder. Houston scored in the second quarter on a 28-yard pass from Pete Beathard to Hoyle Granger.

★ ★ ★

Blanda, signed as a free agent by Oakland for his kicking and insurance quarterbacking, also kicked himself into the AFL scoring lead with 47 conversions and 19 of 28 field goals for 104 points.

Griese passed Miami into a 17-13 lead by hitting Doug Moreau for 10 yards, and then the 22-year-old rookie showed he could use his feet, too, by scoring on a one-yard run.

After San Diego closed to within 27-24, Griese passed 13 yards to Howard Twilley for a TD.

Kansas City broke a scoreless tie against the Jets with third-period touchdows on Curtis McClinton's one-yard run and an 11-yard pass from Len Dawson to Chris Burford. The Chiefs clinched it on Fred Williamson's 77-yard return of an intercepted pass for a TD to make it 21-0 in the fourth quarter.

Bears' Gale Sayers Romps in Grid Tie

CHICAGO (AP) — Gale Sayers ran wild again through mud and rain but all the Chicago Bears could manage Sunday was a 10-10 tie with the Minnesota Vikings as Fred Cox booted a 25-yard tying field goal midway in the final quarter.

It was the first National Football League tie for the Bears this season and the third for the Vikings, who have won three games.

Sayers, who picked up 131 yards in 20 carries, set up a 12-field goal by Mac Percival in the first period with a 38-yard run for a 3-0 lead in the first quarter.

★ ★ ★

Minnesota forged to a 7-3 half-time lead when Joe Kapp hit Jim Phillips with a 35-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter.

Early in the third quarter, Roosevelt Taylor intercepted a Kapp pass which gave the Bears the ball on the Viking 39. Jack Concannon hit Johnny Morris with an 18-yard pass to the 21. Sayers then went 14 yards on a zigzag pattern and on the next play went around right end for a seven-yard touchdown.

Chicago took its narrow 10-7 advantage into the fourth quarter and when Percival missed a 39-yard field goal attempt, the Vikings marched from their own 20 to the Bear 18 before Cox booted his tying goal with 8:02 remaining.

A 55-yard desperation pass from Kapp to Gene Washington was the key play in the drive.

Aided by a series of penalties in the final two minutes, Minnesota drove to the Bear 23 and a 30-yard field goal attempt by Cox with 12 seconds to play was blocked.

Big Buc Lead in ABA Race

New Orleans Blasts Dallas Five

By the Associated Press

The New Orleans Buccaneers look like they're stealing the Western Division title of the American Basketball Association.

The Buccaneers have played only 25 games, but they have won 19 and hold a six-game lead over second-place Denver.

New Orleans' latest triumph came Sunday night as Doug Moe led the way with 25 points in a 125-110 blasting of Dallas. Bobby Wilson paced Dallas with 24 points.

Minnesota maintained its one-half game lead over runner-up Indiana in the Eastern Division as both lost in the only other games on the schedule. Minnesota bowed 114-99 to Pittsburgh, and Indiana was taken 107-87 by Houston.

Minnesota hit on only six field goal attempts in the first 21 minutes, and the Pipers, led by Art Heyman, who finished with 31 points, pulled to a commanding 52-34 halftime lead. Les Hunter scored 21 for the Muskies, who suffered their first loss in nine home games.

PIN-POINT PASSING — San Francisco defensive back Mel Phillips (white jersey) appears to have Atlanta end Gary Barnes well covered Sunday but the Falcons' receiver took the 14-yard pass from Randy Johnson just beyond the leaping defensive maneuver of the 49er. The play came in the second half at Atlanta and produced a touchdown but wasn't enough to avert a 34-28 loss for the Falcons.

Colts Plod to Win Over Saints

Rams' Miracle Triumph Sets Stage for Showdown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Miracles can happen, football followers of the Los Angeles Rams agreed today.

The uppermost question, however, is can a second one happen?

These people, and the Ram players, will know more about it late this coming Sunday afternoon in Memorial Coliseum. That will be when the unbeaten Baltimore Colts meet the remarkable Rams.

★ ★ ★

At stake will be the Coastal Division title of the National Football League. Baltimore rounded out the picture Sunday, defeating New Orleans 30-10, and now is 11-0-2. Los Angeles is 10-1-2.

The Rams worked the first miracle Sunday in defeating the powerful Green Bay Packers 27-24 in a game that left the 76,637 fans in a state of mass hysteria.

The scene:

Green Bay had the ball on its 41, fourth and 13. Donny Anderson attempted a punt. The Rams put on an eight-man rush and 6-foot-4, 235-pound Tony Guillory, along with David Jones, rushed up the gut and Guillory got there first to block the punt.

Claude Crabb scooped up the ball on the 25 and rumbled to the Packer five.

Forty-five seconds remained.

Roman Gabriel passed. Incomplete. Gabriel passed—and Bernie Casey took it in the end zone. There were 34 seconds remaining.

Green Bay's brilliant, dangerous Bart Starr after the kickoff was thrown for a seven-yard loss by Jones. Starr passed for 13. Starr passed toward Anderson. Ram Maxie Baughan intercepted and ran it back 31 yards as the final gun sounded.

Few remembered how far Maxie romped back. The place fairly erupted.

Just before the blocked punt, linebacker Jack Pardee stood on the sideline with Coach George Allen.

"We can still win it," Pardee declared. Allen nodded his head. He had eight enormous men up front to rush in to kill the punt.

Across the field, Packer Coach Vince Lombardi watched anxiously. Later he said, "I sensed, with all those big men in there, they'd block the punt. They knew they had to or the game was over."

Green Bay took it hard—almost as hard as they had played, which prompted Allen to comment later, "This was one of the finest days in the history of the NFL. The Packers played like the champions they are."

Unitas Fails to Hit for TD

Big Divisional Game Next for Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The unbeaten Baltimore Colts plodded to an unimpressive 30-10 rainy Sunday victory over the lowly New Orleans Saints to go into the last National Football League scheduled game next Sunday at Los Angeles needing only a tie to win their division.

★ ★ ★

It was the 11th victory for the Colts, who have been tied twice, making them the first league team since the Chicago Bears in 1934 to go through 13 games without defeat.

Los Angeles posted its 10th victory 27-24 over Green Bay Saturday. The Rams have lost one and tied two, one with the Colts and thus have to win to take the Coastal Division crown over Baltimore.

Quarterback John Unitas suffered one of his poorest passing days in a long time against the Saints, winner of only two games. The Colts had to resort three times to field goals by Lou Michaels in order to score.

Unitas completed only 10 of 24 for 148 yards and failed for only the second time this season to throw a touchdown pass. He had several knocked down at the line of scrimmage and twice was dumped for losses.

SHORT DRIVES

With the defense setting up all the opportunities, the longest Colt scoring drive was 40 yards, and that was the last. Tony Lorck rammed one yard for a touchdown at the end of a 29-yard thrust in the first period, and Tom Matte ran for two yards after the Colts had to travel from the New Orleans 30 in the second period.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Hill plunged a yard for the Colts' fourth period touchdown, set up by Alvin Haymond's 33-yard return with a pass interception. Michaels kicked three-pointers from 35, 21, and 17 yards to run his consecutive string to 10.

Pistons Spoil Debut of Knicks' Bradley

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Knickerbockers were leading midway in the second quarter, but the crowd of 18,499 at Madison Square Garden wasn't satisfied because the big reason for their coming was still on the bench.

They wanted Bill Bradley.

Midway in the second quarter they got him, and the Garden rocked to a standing ovation.

The former Princeton All-America and Rhodes Scholar, who signed a four-year, $500,000 contract last spring to play with the National Basketball Association club, made his pro debut Saturday with the Knicks leading Detroit by 12 points.

"I wanted to put Bradley in when we had a lead so the pressure wouldn't be as great," Coach Dick McGuire gave as his reason for not using Bradley sooner.

Bradley played a total of 20 minutes, hitting on three of six field goal attempts and two of six foul shots for eight points, handing out two assists and grabbing five rebounds.

"I don't think I was nervous," said Bradley, who had worked out only once with the Knicks since being released from his six-month tour with the Air Force. "The crowd doesn't bother me at all. It's just noise that's all. I felt disappointed that we lost (124-121)."

"I might just start him Tuesday night against St. Louis," said McGuire. "There won't be as much pressure as there was in his first game."

But there will be just as much noise.

The Pistons, idle Sunday night and tonight, resume action Tuesday in Baltimore.

In NBA action Sunday night Zelmo Beaty scored 12 straight points in the third quarter, made the basket which sent the game into overtime and then scored four points in the extra period as the Hawks nipped the Baltimore Bullets 114-112.

In the only other National Basketball Association game, Seattle outlasted Los Angeles 133-123.

Spartans Split; 'M' Drops Two on Denver Ice

By The Associated Press

It was a bad weekend for Michigan college hockey fans.

Michigan's Wolverines got slapped down twice by Denver, Michigan State's Spartans lost one and tied one with North Dakota and Michigan Tech broke even with Wisconsin.

Tech's highly rated Huskies, came from behind Friday night to edge Wisconsin 6-5, but the Badgers—playing on home ice—rebounded with a 4 - 3 victory Saturday night.

The high altitude of the Rockies apparently didn't agree with the Wolverines and they lost to Denver both Friday and Saturday nights to remain winless in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association.

Denver won Saturday night, 2-1, in a sudden death overtime. Jim Wiste slammed across the winning goal with 7:27 gone in the overtime period. The Pioneers have won four and lost three in the WCHA.

MSU had the home ice advantage but it didn't help much Saturday night as they bowed to North Dakota 6-2 after playing to a 2-2 tie before the home fans the night before.

North Dakota is 6-1-1 with all its games in the WCHA and the Spartans are 1-2-1 in the league and 3-2-2 over-all.

Eagles' Change of Owner Due

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Will the real owner of the Philadelphia Eagles' football team please stand up?

For the next day or so at least, financially-troubled builder-sportsman Jerry Wolman is the owner of the National Football League franchise — on paper and in practice.

★ ★ ★

But when the 40-year-old Wolman signs a $14.5 million deal—probably Wednesday — with a group headed by Norman S. Raab, a clothing manufacturer, he is expected to become a mere figurehead.

Technically, he won't be selling the Eagles. He'll be attempting to borrow his way out of a financial crisis in other business interests brought on by "a tight money market," according to Wolman.

Sonny's Day Dull, but Redskins Win

French Race Star 'Formula' Winner

By BEN FUNK

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — A rising young French star, Jean-Pierre Beltoise, roared to victory Sunday in the International Formula V Sports Car Championships when a last-lap collision knocked out the favored Jochen Rindt of Austria.

After a see-saw battle during the late stages of the race, Rindt moved into a narrow lead, only to lose it a mile from the finish line when he sideswiped Bill Campbell of Pensacola, Fla.

Beltoise sped the 88-mile route at an average speed of 61.880 miles an hour in the race for Volkswagen powered Grand Prix machines.

Tight Defense Dooms Eagles in 38-17 Rout

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas defense, featuring Mel Renfro, Jethro Pugh and Lee Roy Jordan, tied Philadelphia into knots until late in the day and carried the Cowboys to a 38-17 victory in a meaningless National Football League game Sunday.

The staunch trio, kingpins of the celebrated "doomsday defense," set up four of the Dallas scores.

Cranbrook Lodges Protest in 3-3 Tie

Cranbrook lodged a protest following its 3-3 hockey tie Saturday against Ann Arbor.

The Cranes appealed to the Metropolitan League office over third-period goal by Norm Lerchen that didn't count.

Lerchen fired the puck across the goal line, but at the same time, the goalie cage came loose and was knocked away from the goal area nullifying the score. The Cranes contend the goalie upset the cage to prevent the score.

Lerchen scored one that counted in the second period and teammate Charlie Craig also connected in the second. Pete Robinson tallied in the third.

Pontiac Catholic Cagers Due for Change of Luck

Titans Clash With WOLL in Loop Tilt

Kettering, Waterford Play Non-League Foes Tomorrow Night

The Titans of Pontiac Catholic are due for a change in luck. Most of all the luck the basketball team has had to date has been of the bad variety.

An off-season transfer cost the squad the services of a promising guard, J. C. Bard, who's now at Pontiac Central.

On the court, they have lost three straight this season, and in the latest stroke of bad luck, the Titans have lost their top-scorer indefinitely.

Sam Brady, a 6-2 sophomore foreward, the team's leading scorer, is will and will be out for at least two weeks.

★ ★ ★

So, coach Walt Wynienko and the Titans may be wondering what'll happen next as they prepare to entertain Waterford Our Lady of Lakes this evening at Madison Junior High School.

LONE LOCAL TILT

The game is the lone one on tonight's local schedule, but activity picks up a little more on the Tuesday night slate.

★ ★ ★

In a couple of nonleague contests tomorrow night, Waterford visits West Bloomfield and Clarkston has a date at Kettering.

The Titans were showing sings of improvement despite the losses in the first three games, and while Brady's absence will be felt, Wynienko has some promising players who could help take up the slack.

Waterford Our Lady, 1-1 in Northwest Parochial League play, has won two of three starts and can't be overlooked in the title race.

★ ★ ★

Kettering (0-1) is making its home debut after losing a road opener at North Farmington, 44-43.

OWNS 1-1 RECORD

Clarkston is 1-1, the victory coming in an overtime decision at Bloomfield Hills Andover Friday night.

Waterford's tall Skippers will be looking for their third win in a row and West Bloomfield's Lakers will be after the same goal.

In other Northwest Parochial games, Orchard Lake St. Mary will try to make it 3-0 in loop play in a game at Royal Oak St. Mary, while Ferndale St. James visits Farmington Our Lady and St. Rita invades St. Francis de Sales.

A total of 199 bowlers made to the finals to be staged next Sunday at Huron Bowl.

MIAA's Best Too Much for Oakland

Oakland University met the best in Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association basketball Saturday night and came out second best.

★ ★ ★

Kalamazoo College, defending MIAA champions and favored to repeat again this season, had little trouble handing the Pioneers a 101-74 setback. It was the third loss for OU in as many starts.

The Hornets used strong rebounding and a tough defense to win going away. Oakland's fast break was stopped and the Pioneers managed only 72 shots.

The Pioneers normally like to get off at least 100. This is the number that Kalamazoo took and the Hornets made 42 for a like percentage. OU connected on only 32 for 31 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Gordy Tebo led the OU attack with 18 points. Gary Lincoln hit 15. But the Pioneers were guilty of 25 turnovers.

U. of D. Wins; Wolverines Tumble

Captain Ron Williams — an All-America prospect — made 11 of 22 for 23 points to lead the Mountaineers who are 2-1, the same as the Titans.

Michigan (whose only win in four outings resulted in the Titans' lone defeat) also was bothered by a lanky center. Rodney Knowles, 6-9 pivotman for Davidson, tallied 18 points against the Wolverines' zone when his teammates weren't able to trigger their fast break.

★ ★ ★

Knowles' three quick baskets starting the second half enabled the Wildcats to pad a 38-29 intermission cushion. Rudy Tomjanovich tallied 16 and Dennis Stewart 15 for the U. of M.

REVENGE

CMU's Chippewas dropped a 59-57 decision at Eastern Illinois Friday but they rebounded well Saturday, holding a 44-29 halftime lead over EIU. Terry Walker's 15 paced the Chips' win.

Earle Higgins led Eastern Michigan's Hurons with a 25-point effort as they won their second in three starts. Jim Garza's 27 sparked DIT to its fourth straight victory.

A 40-point spree by Floyd Brady featured Hope's triumph; Mike Phelps' 34 helped Calvin to a 1-1 mark; Jerry Alocco netted 31 and Gordon Lofts added 27 as Olivet climbed to 2-1.

Harry Turney's two free throws with 24 seconds to play decided Albion's victory. Teammate Mike Wilson scored 29, and Adrian's Vince Giles produced 21.

The Rochester junior college built a 50-33 edge in the first half as Bill Davidson of Southfield scored 18 of his 25 points. The Warriors are 2-2 over-all.

Helping Davidson were Bill Leak with 21 points and Jim Harris with 15. MCJC had a 40-24 margin from the field

Linebacker Leads Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — They used to say Ken Corbin—a tackle converted to left linebacker—had concrete blocks or boards for hands. But the 218-pound senior changed all that Saturday when he intercepted two passes, the first steals of his football career, and ran both into touchdowns.

Corbin's performance sparked the University of Miami to a 20-13 victory in its traditional grudge match against the University of Florida Gators.

"I was tired and I kept thinking any second somebody would catch me. I couldn't picture myself outrunning their fast backs," Corbin said after his first interception and the ensuing 80-yard runback in the first quarter.

N. Farmington Posts Third Win

Groves Remains on Winning Trail

Two unbeaten Northwest Suburban AA quintets bettered their winning records Saturday night in tense nonleague encounters.

Birmingham Groves returned to its home court for a 49-47 decision over Royal Oak Kimball in the Knights' season opener. The win was the fourth straight for the Birmingham five.

North Farmington ventured into the nest of arch-rival Farmington's Falcons and made off with a 74-72 prize. The Raiders now are 3-0 by a margin of seven points.

Both they and Groves were two-point winners Friday night in their NWSAA lidlifters. North Farmington's other conquest was by one point against Kettering.

Groves' two tight triumphs extended its regular-season success string to 37 straight starts over four seasons. The host quintet took charge in the middle two periods against ROK.

Leading 35-28 after three periods, the Falcons stayed off a late surge by Kimball that never went far enough to overcome the Falcons' margin, although cutting the gap to two at the end.

Jim Cameron pulled down 16 rebounds and scored 15 points, while teammate Lane Brown had 14 markers and 10 rebounds for the winners. While shooting a little sharper from the field than the visitors, the home team had to post its victory margin at the foul line.

RALLY FAILS

Farmington also saw a fourth-quarter rally fall short. Mark Lynott made 11 of his 17 points as the Falcons cut their deficit from 60-48 after three periods to 74-70 with 15 seconds to play.

Then Ron Cleveland missed two free throws for the home team. North Farmington lost the ball on a steal that led to a Paul White basket; but time ran out while the Raiders delayed their toss in bounds.

Doug Hamilton was another big factor in the Farmington uphill fight. He notched 14 of his 20 in the last half.

The winners were paced by Ron Flutur's 22; he had 14 at halftime when North Farmington led by 45-27. In the last quarter, clutch foul shooting by Mike McCoy and Jay Hazelroth preserved the victory.

T-Hawks Shake Slump, but Rally Arrives Late

COLUMBUS — The Pontiac Tomahawks shook their playing slump finally Saturday with a strong second half at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus but it wasn't quite soon enough to avoid a 136-130 defeat.

* * *

Down 75-58 at halftime as the host Comets increased a five-point first quarter advantage with a 42-30 margin in period No. 2, the Tomahawks rallied to a 132-130 deficit with 18 seconds to play.

But Columbus player-coach Joe Roberts sank four free throws in the closing seconds to ice the Comets' second win of the campaign.

The triumph enabled the winners to slip past the Pontiac quintet into third place in the North American Basketball League's eastern division.

Two nonstarters — Ernie Thompson and John Watson, both of whom returned to the Pontiac roster after missing the last game — sparked the Tomahawks' strong second half.

HOT SPURT

Thompson scored 15 of his 19 points in the final two periods, while Watson netted 12 points in the last quarter. He sank a three-point field goal that cut the gap to 132-130.

* * *

Thompson, in addition, pulled down 11 rebounds to pace the losers around the backboard. Lou Hyatt of Pontiac had 14 points in the second half. Dave Gaines led the losers with 34 for the game.

* * *

But the work of Roberts and his teammate Arvesta Kelly proved to much. The playing mentor finished with 34 points and 17 rebounds, and his sharp-shooting backcourt star Kelly had 40.

Columbus had a 76-67 rebounding advantage individually, but the visiting Tomahawks had a 114-86 margin in field goal attempts.

The Tomahawks' next game will be Saturday Dec. 23 against Holland at Northern High School. It will be Gift Night with Santa Claus present to disperse the presents.

ROK Reserves Tumble Lathrup

Southfield Lathrup saw its basketball record evened at 1-1 Saturday afternoon by losing a 44-43 decision at Royal Oak Kimball's reserve squad.

The Chargers led, 31-30, after three quarters but ran into trouble at the foul line and couldn't maintain their advantage. John Lang's 11 points led the losers, who will join the Inter Lakes League at the varsity level next year.

UCLA Rolls On to 37th Straight Basketball Victory

By The Associated Press

Johnny Wooden didn't say so, but he may have been thinking of Houston.

"Although I feel the Bruins would win over any opponent in a series of games on a neutral court," said the coach of top-ranked and unbeaten UCLA, "I know quite well the hazards that often befall visiting teams and the possibility of good teams coming up with great nights."

Wooden's juggernaut rolled over Iowa State 121-80 Saturday night, making the Cyclones their 37th consecutive victim and third this year. And it left Iowa State Coach Glen Anderson shaking his head in bewilderment.

"They're the finest college basketball team I've ever seen," he said.

Lew Alcindor tossed in 45 points and five other Bruins scored in double figures.

UCLA, ranked No. 2 in the nation, scored its fourth straight victory, beating Illinois 54-46 at Champaign with Elvin Hayes scoring 25 points.

Houston and UCLA meet Jan. 20 in the Astrodome, a game that could set a college basketball attendance record.

UCLA is idle this week, while Houston plays in its own Bluebonnet Classic Wednesday and Thursday. The Cougars' first round opponent is George Washington.

While UCLA and Houston rolled along as expected, three other members of the Top Ten suffered upsets in Saturday action. No. 3 Louisville and No. 4 in the Chicago doubleheader.

All other top ten teams in action won, No. 7 Purdue rebounding from a Friday defeat by Washington and beating the same team 84-77. Rick Mount scored 30 points for the winners.

Kentucky, No. 9, playing at home, pushed its record to 4-0 with a 64-49 triumph over Penn while No. 10 Boston College beat Connecticut 76-70 on the road.

North Carolina lost to eighth-ranked Vanderbilt 89-76 at Nashville, Tenn.

Chicago Loyola tumbled Kansas 83-73 and unheralded Northwestern stunned Louisville 88-83 in the Chicago doubleheader.

Panel Meets to Avert NY Subway Strike

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Talks to avert a New Year's Day subway and bus strike in New York City moved to Miami Beach where AFL-CIO President George Meany met Sunday with a special mediation panel.

Meany and Matthew Guinan, president of the Transport Workers Union, met with the three-man panel during a recess of the AFL-CIO's biennial convention.

★ ★ ★

Members of the panel are mediator Theodore W. Kheel; Joseph E. O'Grady, former chairman of the New York Transit Authority; and Vincento J. McDonnell, chairman of the New York State Mediation Board.

Kheel, who is spokesman for the trio, said, "We want to leave no stone unturned in efforts to avoid a repetition" of the 12-day bus and subway strike at the start of 1966.

MEETING TODAY

More meetings with Meany, Guinan and the special mediation panel were scheduled for today.

The first formal meeting between the transit union officials and the special panel took place last Tuesday with Mayor John V. Lindsay sitting in. Full-scale negotiations resume in Manhattan next Thursday.

Popular Tiger Cub Taken From San Francisco Zoo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The most popular tiger in town is missing, perhaps kidnaped by someone who couldn't resist him.

"He was so lovable and cute," said Fleishhacker Zoo Director Ronald Reuther about Jimmy, a 30-pound Bengal cub stolen from a cage early Sunday.

★ ★ ★

"A lot of people loved him. I suppose one of them just thought he'd like to have Jimmy as his own," Reuther said.

Reuther should know. A few days after Jimmy was born last August, he was taken from his mother and reared in the Reuther household. Four other cubs in the litter died.

IN DEMAND

Jimmy has been much in demand for parties attended by the children of families who support the zoo. An attendant always went along with Jimmy to make sure he wasn't loved to death.

The door to Jimmy's section of the lion house had been picked or opened with a key, police said. A chain and lock on Jimmy's cage door were missing—either unlocked or removed with metal cutters. An eight-foot fence had to be climbed outside the lion house.

★ ★ ★

"We're not interested in punishing anyone," said Reuther. "We just want him back."

He said Jimmy is on a special formula, without which he might die.

Tear Gas Fails to Foil Yeggs; $3,500 Stolen

Burglars escaped with an estimated $3,500 from the Waterford Eagles Lodge early today despite a tear-gas grenade automatically going off when they cracked open a safe.

★ ★ ★

Waterford Township police said burglars broke windows to enter the building at 4761 Highland and gain entrance to an office where the cracked the safe by knocking off the combination dial.

The burglars apparently left quickly when the tear gas exploded, scattering about $300 in several envelopes around the building, according to police.

Owner Duane Johnson, 5100 Elizabeth Lake, is taking inventory to determine the exact amount of money missing from the safe.

A Junior Editors Quiz About RIVERS

QUESTION: Why and how does a river run?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Rivers generally originate from springs or melting ice and snow in higher ground. Being joined by other streams, they move on a downward slope (suggested in black at top) and usually end in the sea.

It is the slope which makes the river run. Coming directly from high ground, it is the upper part, or upper course of the river which runs the fastest, since its slope is greatest.

The turbulent upper river will carry rocks and pebbles along. If it is moving fast enough, it will grind its way through obstacles as our upper picture suggests.

In the lower land of the middle course, it will run more slowly, but when swollen by spring rains, will often spread over its banks, depositing silt it has brought down. It has rich soil deposited in this way which led to the development of the first civilizations of Egypt and Mesopotamia.

In their lower courses, rivers may bring down so much silt that they build their level higher than the surrounding land. Then, to avoid disastrous floods, banks or levees must be built, such as is done along the southern part of the Mississippi.

Yule Spirit Is Regained by Czechs

VIENNA (UPI) — Just like anywhere else, fir trees, candles and presents are the main ingredients of a "merry Christmas" in Communist Czechoslovakia.

In the last few years Christmas has regained most of its former character as the oldest and most sacred holiday of the Christian world.

Today the most human of all Christian feasts is celebrated in Czechoslovakia with as much elaboration as in the West.

After years of obstinate Communist attempts to turn the traditional holiday of "love and charity" into just one of the many festive occasions, the Communist regime in the late 1950s had to realize the complete failure of this campaign.

During the "stalinist" era the Communist systematically tried to deprive Christmas of its character as a Christian holiday. The word "Christmas" was replaced by the phrase "Festival of the Fir Tree" and "Father Christmas" was referred to as "Father Winter."

★ ★ ★

But the Czechs and Slovaks defiantly kept celebrating the birth of the Saviour in private circles.

Today, the picture is quite different. There are enough Christmas trees and the supply of Christmas gifts is sufficient. During the weeks preceding the holidays streets in Prague have the typical pre-Christmas look with shops having special Christmas decorations.

Festivities begin on "golden Sunday", the last Advent Sunday on which ll shops remain open. The crowd rushes all over town for the last shopping possibilities.

Surgery Friday for Scholle

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan AFL - CIO President August "Gus" Scholle has been hospitalized with a heavily bleeding ulcer. Surgery is scheduled for Friday.

"I was feeling fine," the 63-year-old labor leader told the Associated Press in a telephone interview, "but I kept getting weaker and weaker."

★ ★ ★

Scholle said he was advised by doctors to leave the AFL-CIO convention in Florida late Friday night and enter the hospital. By the time he had checked into Lakeside General Hospital in Detroit, he added, doctors told him he had lost about 15 per cent of his blood.

STRENGTH REGAINED

Since then, Scholle said, he had been given several transfusions and has regained some "I went through a rough day of his strength.

"I went through a rough day yesterday," Scholle said Sunday night.

Scholle has been president of the Michigan AFL-CIO and the state CIO for 25 years.

Havana Goal: 'Green Belt'

HAVANA (AP) — A "green belt" agricultural program is under way to turn unused land around Havana into a "productive garden," the Communist Party provincial committee reports.

★ ★ ★

The program calls for volunteers to go to the fields every Sunday to plant coffee, fruit and vegetables.

The goal is to make Havana Province self-sufficient in these things.

Bombay to Get New Arts Center

BOMBAY, India (AP) — A National Center for the Performing Arts is to be built in Bombay with funds contributed by Tata industries.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Tata Trust Foundation said the center would give India a full-fledged modern theater and would record on tape and film performances of India's "greatest exponents of music, dance and drama."

Bumpy Ride Is Result of Theft

NEW DELHI (AP) — The ride on some Indian trains hasn't been so comfortable lately and rail officials say they found out why.

They arrested members of a teenage gang which had been stealing the foam rubber cushions from sleeper cars and selling them to New Delhi residents for use in couches.

Machine Eats NASA's Data

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla (AP) — When it comes to digesting heavy reading, it's hard to match the insatiable appetite of Cape Kennedy's monster "paper eater."

Twice weekly, the growling, gnashing machine is busy chewing classified documents at a rate of 2,000 pounds per hour. It can destroy telephone directory-size books up to two inches thick.

The paper eater — a large, modified hammermill much like that used by farmers to grind and mix grain or livestock feeds — was purchased by the security office of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Kennedy Space Center to destroy classified material and sensitive information.

Space Agency officials said these include procurement bids, personnel records and proprietary contractor documents. The machine serves aerospace contractors as well as the government.

"We also handle special requests and, occasionally, the General Electric Co. in Daytona Beach (Fla.) will send down several truckloads of material for destruction," said Merle McIntire, security specialist who schedules and coordinates the machine's operation.

Election of More Negroes to Top Offices Foreseen

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Robert C. Henry of Springfield, Ohio, a Negro, predicts that more members of his race will be elected to top offices in the next few years.

"I stood alone for awhile," he said here Sunday, referring to his selection as mayor two years ago. He added that there are now "half a dozen" Negro mayors.

★ ★ ★

Henry, made an honorary citizen of Nashville by Mayor Beverly Briley, said he intends to return here someday.

"And I don't know who'll be there (as mayor) to greet me," he said. "It might be someone who looks a little like me."

Every 27 seconds in the U.S., or 3,200 times a day, burglary is committed.

S. Viets Will Take Over Marine Posts

GIO LINH, Vietnam (UPI) — South Vietnamese troops have begun taking over from U.S. Marines the burden of manning the "McNamara line" just below the North-South Vietnam border.

Government troops now occupy the hilltop post called A1, the eastern anchor of a string of Marine bases holding back what U.S. intelligence estimates as three North Vietnamese divisions.

More South Vietnamese troops are scheduled to occupy the other Leatherneck forts later. The Marines will fall back into reserve positions, ready to spring back to the line when needed.

The border area has been the scene of some of the war's bloodiest fighting. The South Vietnamese aid came as U.S. commanders were reporting more military success by government forces, after years in which American troops carried the brunt of battle.

★ ★ ★

The South Vietnamese, men of the 1st Division's 2nd Regiment, moved into A1 the past two or three weeks. To the east is the South China Sea. To the west is Gio Linh, which has served as a key American artillery base and is called A2.

CONTHIEN

Further west is A3, a base still under construction. And still further west — about 2,000 yards from the sea — is Con Thien, a knoll blasted clean of greenery by Communist shelling.

★ ★ ★

A constant North Vietnamese attack target, it too will be occupied by government troops.

Earl, Full of Holiday Spirit Soaks Up Las Vegas Scene

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — Always one to whip up a little holiday merriment, I zooped out here (that's a new word — zooped) to the Riviera, where Marty Allen mentioned to his partner Steve Rossi, "Sammy Davis finally got a taste of White Power."

WILSON

Why May Britt took the initiative in their separation was not explained by Marty's joke.

Dean Martin was talking about his villain role in his "Jericho" picture, and said, "I was applauded."

"Tough about Frank Sinatra," Marty Allen said. "He lost his wife and his teeth the same month."

For students of humor, it didn't matter which came first, the wife or the teeth.

Dean seemed to be the new king of Las Vegas, with greater drawing power than anybody. The Sands Hotel found his warm personality greater than anything previously booked.

★ ★ ★

I went for a tour of the soon-to-be-finished Landmark, a tower-type $25,000,000 28-story hotel on "the Second Strip," Paradise Road. It has an "eye-in-the-sky" TV peeking system in the ceiling to check on possible cheaters.

And it also has a 27th-floor casino, the highest in Nevada, with windows which will eventually overlook another new hotel, the $80,000,000 International.

Practically everybody who gets a look at it comments that it's also the only casino with windows for jumping.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

The Steve Lawrence-Eydie Gorme "Golden Rainbow" musical, which has topless dancers in a dozen scenes in the tryouts now, may use 'em in only one scene on Broadway. "For artistic reasons," explains a spokesman. "After all, even nudity gets repetitious" . . . Mamie Van Doren and her husband, pitcher Lee Meyers, celebrated his 20th birthday at Danny's Hideaway.

Danny Stradella's AGVA dinner was a huge success, with such dais-sitters as Johnny Carson, Red Buttons and Tony Bennett. (Joey Adams said pint-sized Danny walks around his restaurant "so the portions will look bigger") . . . Julie Andrews 'll fly to Switzerland Dec. 16 to rest after finishing "Star" (and Blake Edwards 'll join her there).

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Taffy Tuttle isn't worried about the increased cost of N.Y.C. parking fines: "I can't find even an illegal parking space."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Bobby Goldsboro stayed at a Miami hotel that carried neatness too far — every night they put slip covers over the beach.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "People are lonely because they build walls instead of bridges."—Joseph F. Newton.

EARL'S PEARLS: Some Hollywood personalities have their own name for marriage. After awhile they call it "quits." —Ray Fine.

The new nurse for the Jack Carters' young son is a pretty, former Las Vegas showgirl. "And now, says Jack, "my wife won't let me go in to see the baby without a chaperone." . . . That's earl, brother.

Spot Remover Kills Teen Boy in R. I.

EAST PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Sniffing spot remover brought death to 16-year-old Joseph Martin.

A medical examiner said the boy died Sunday of heart and respiratory failure caused by inhaling fumes from the cleaning fluid.

He was found unconscious Saturday night in his home with a plastic bag containing saturated tissues wrapped around his nose and mouth.

Philanthropist Dies in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Ernest C. Kanzler, 74, philanthropist and retired board chairman of Universal C. I. T. Credit Co., died Sunday in Ford Hospital.

He suffered a heart attack in Switzerland in February and had been at Ford Hospital for a month.

Explosion Rocks Munitions Plant

POWFOOT, Scotland (AP) — An explosion at a Ministry of Defense munitions factory destroyed a building and shattered windows for three miles around early today.

The blast occurred in a building containing several tons of nitrocellulose powder. A fire followed but no one was hurt.

SAIGON SHOWS PROGRESS

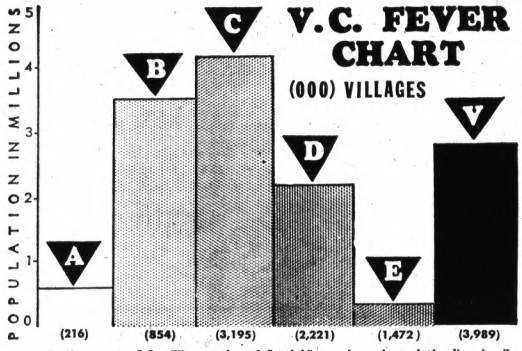
U.S. authorities in Saigon have come up with a new computerized system to maintain a continuing check on the political state of the countryside. The more than 12,000 hamlets throughout South Vietnam are regularly evaluated according to 18 criteria covering security, economic progress, and health, education and welfare efforts. Statistics available to date this year show a rise of 4 per cent in the "secure" population.



Nearly 40 per cent—2.8 million people—of South Vietnam's rural population lives in villages heavily "infected" by the Viet Cong, according to Saigon's computerized check on political temperature. Computer-processed data rates all hamlets in the country on a six-point scale:

A—Slight Viet Cong activity; government programs functioning well.
B—Security high; government programs operating but need improving.
C—Government dominant, but population subject to Viet Cong harassment.
D—Government presence, but Viet Cong taxation and terrorism continue.
E—Little security; government activity entirely military.
V—Viet Cong in control.

Don't Go Broke Buying Gifts!

It's Possible to Ease Yule Debt Problems

By AILEEN SNODDY
Consumer Affairs Specialist

The urge to splurge at Christmas time contributes to many a debt-induced headache.

Added to gift expenditures is the fact that everyone spends more.

Whether it is the result of a hidden boost in prices or just joie de vivre, a survey by the First National City Bank's Everything Card Division shows that food expenditures increase 35 per cent; personal care 40 per cent; entertainment 53 per cent and tips 77 per cent.

Despite this urge to cancel out a year's savings in a few weeks, it is possible to ease worries about paying for gifts whose costs threaten to topple you along with a pile of bills.

* * *

It definitely is an appropriate time to consider current payments for a house, car, new refrigerator or color television and work out a method of getting the collectors off your back.

LIST, BANK LOAN

First of all, it may be to your advantage to make a shopping list with approximate prices and to take a bank loan. Paying cash saves you money.

In addition, you may want to make it a consolidation loan from a bank as a step to get you out of debt.

You may ask, "Why borrow money when I already owe so much?"

The answer is a simple one.

If your credit rating is good, you could save a considerable amount of money, according to bank loan advisers, and protect your future credit rating by lumping bills together.

Many people, the counselors point out, get into trouble because they have too many debts. One creditor may pressure for his money before the others move in.

Tornadoes Rip Florida; Two Killed, 200 Injured

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Roaring tornadoes shattered Sunday morning quiet in 10 Florida panhandle cities, leveling hundreds of homes and buildings and killing two persons. One twister hit an Alabama border county.

More than 200 were reported injured in Florida, most in the housing area at Tyndall Air Force Base and at Fort Walton Beach 60 miles west of Panama City. A watchman at a wrecked shopping center was reported missing.

Officials estimated damage at more than $7 million. Gov. Claude Kirk asked federal help for what he termed a disaster area.

Kirk toured the Bayou Wood section of Fort Walton Beach yesterday hours after a twister spun from a violent thunderstorm and smashed 50 homes at 3 a.m.

The storm bounced over a lake, tore a five-mile long swath and left 220 homes wrecked.

★ ★ ★

Five hours later another funnel ripped into a row of duplex homes at the housing area for Air Force families, flattening 30 houses and damaging 24, leaving one person dead, nine seriously hurt and 400 homeless. That tornado touched down five more times before fizzling.

Tornadoes also hit at small towns between Panama City and Pensacola 150 miles west.

One twister smashed the Alabama coastline, damaging homes at Miflin and raking a boatyard in Bon Secour, Ala.

CHILD'S PARENTS

The parents were identified only as M. Sgt. and Mrs. H. Coker. Officials said the Cokers' two-story home was leveled by the twister.

Loveta Byrd, 29, the wife of M. Sgt. Jerry J. Byrd, was killed and her husband critically injured when their two-family house was splintered by the tornado at Tyndall.

A 6-month-old baby adopted by the Byrds two weeks earlier was asleep in the same bedroom but was unhurt.

Postal Hike, Pay OK Due Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Final congressional action raising postal rates and the pay of federal workers is expected in time to give government employes a Christmas bonus: Salary boosts retroactive to Oct. 1.

Similar increases are in line for members of the military services under separate legislation.

The postal rate increases, affecting all classes of mail and increasing to 6 cents the cost of mailing a first-class letter, will not take effect until Jan. 7.

Two bills containing the increases—one covering postal rates and civilian employes and the other covering the military—are scheduled for House action today.

★ ★ ★

The Senate approved the military pay bill Friday, shortly after a compromise was reached.

TO MOVE QUICKLY

It is expected to move quickly on the postal measure so President Johnson's signature can put the machinery into motion to include the retroactive increases in the next paychecks of government workers.

The postal-pay bill, glued together by the House Post Office Committee in an effort to make it veto-proof, exceeds Johnson's recommendations, both in the cost of the pay boosts and in the revenue expected from new postal rates.

But the President is expected to sign it.

Postal rates would be up more than $900 million once all of the increases take effect.

Besides increasing first-class letters from 5 to 6 cents, the bill increases airmail letters from 8 to 10 cents, postcards from 4 to 5 cents and air postcards from 6 to 8 cents.

Third-class rates, now 2.875 cents per piece, would go up to 3.6 cents next month and to 4 cents in July 1969, but third-class mailers would only have to pay 3.8 cents on the first 250,000 pieces.

Fog Will Return as Drizzle Ends

The early morning fog that slowed traffic, triggered tempers and gave the Pontiac area a San Francisco look let up later today as temperatures climbed and the drizzly rain continued.

But, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau it won't go far. Plan on leaving home early tmorrow morning as the fog will return to tantalize commuters.

The rain and drizzle will ease toward evening, ending early tomorrow morning.

Tonight's low will fall in the 37-to-41 degree range.

★ ★ ★

The forecast for Wednesday calls for cloudy skies and cooler temperatures. The five-day forecast predicts a temperature drop toward the end of the week with light snowfall.

RAINFALL LESS LIKELY

Chance of precipitation in per cent is today, 80; tonight, 60; and tomorrow, 40.

Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 36. By 1 p.m. the thermometer stood at 45.

U.N. Opens Talks on Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Hopes were high today that the Geneva disarmament negotiations will soon produce a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons as the General Assembly's main political committee prepared to open its annual disarmament debate.

The Soviet Union and the United States have agreed on all clauses of a nonproliferation treaty except one providing for inspection. West Germany and Italy want Euratom, the Common Market's atomic energy agency, to be the inspecting agency instead of the International Atomic Energy Agency, as the Russians demand.

Waterford Junior Miss Chosen

The recitation of an original French poem and the performance of an exercise routine helped win for Sheri Seiber the title of Waterford Junior Miss Saturday night.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Seiber, 130 Riviera, Sheri, 17, received the $250 Jaycee Carol Gray Memorial Scholarship from the Waterford Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the program.

She plans to use the scholarship to attend Michigan State University, where she will study languages. Upon graduation she would like to be an interpreter.

Her first runner-up, Beth Griffin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Griffin, 5204 Cooley, received a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

The second runner-up, Londa K. Briles was awarded a plaque. Londa lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Briles at 705 Robbinann.

All the girls are seniors at Waterford Township High School.

★ ★ ★

Sheri is president of the Foreign Exchange Club at the school, a member of the National Honor Society, a varsity cheerleader and a representative of her class board. She is also active in the student council.

Last summer Sheri went to Holland and to France on the Michigan Council of Churches Youth for Understanding Program. She earned the money for the trip with a part-time job.

Sheri was crowned by last year's winner, Jennifer Siegwart, at the close of the pageant at Mason Junior High School. She will now enter the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 26-28 at Pontiac Northern High School. The winner of this contest will go on to the national pageant in Mobile, Ala.

N-Blast Watched: Will It Yield Riches?

FARMINGTON, N. M. (AP) — Scientists seek today to determine whether the first industrial nuclear explosion will render new wealth from the bowels of the earth.

A thermonuclear device was exploded 4,240 feet below the earth's crust yesterday. Preliminary indications were that the explosion, called Project Gasbuggy, had done its job by creating a huge subterranean chamber from which natural gas can be recovered, spokesmen said.

Dr. Robert H. Thalgott, Gasbuggy deputy project manager for the Atomic Energy Commission, told newmen at a briefing after the blast that no radioactivity had escaped from the ground and none was expected to.

Dr. Harry Reynolds, a scientific adviser for Gasbuggy, said there was reason to believe that an underground chamber 160 feet in diameter and as tall as a 35-story building had been created 3,500 feet below ground zero.

★ ★ ★

The AEC said drilling into the chamber begins today, although no substantial evidence on whether the nuclear stimulation concept really worked is expected for several weeks or months.

MAY DOUBLE RESERVES

Scientists estimate thenation's natural ges reserves will be doubled if nuclear blasts are found to be a feasible way to free gas from underground rock formations.

The nuclear device, which had an explosive punch estimated as equivalent to 20,000 to 30,000 tons of TNT, was detonated in the Picture Cliffs formation of the gas-bearing San Juan Basin.

Windows rattled in Farmington, 55 miles to the west. Newsmen and others, at an observation sight five miles from the detonation point, felt the sharp shock wave which thundered under the northwest New Mexico hills.

★ ★ ★

AEC spokesman said the ground at the observation site heaved one-third of an inch, while the shock was described as far more severe at Gasbuggy control complex 2½ miles from the detonation point.

PROJECT SPONSORS

Joint sponsors who have been working four years on the $4.7 million Gasbuggy Project include the AEC, El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

It is the first time that private industry and the government have joined in conducting an experiment with a thermonuclear device.

★ ★ ★

Among answers to be sought is whether the gas will flow into the chamber by the explosion so it can be recovered by sinking a well.

Draft Violators Due Prosecution

WASHINGTON (AP) — In putting the heat on draft law violators, the Justice Department may also be reestablishing the line between criminal prosecution and administrative enforcement — a line which critics of draft chief Lewis B. Hershey say he tried to erase.

Hershey and Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark announced jointly Saturday the Justice Department has directed all U. S. attorneys to speed up draft law prosecutions and has set up a special coordinating unit to help them.

In an Oct. 26 letter to local draft boards, Lt. Gen. Hershey recommended —he is not legally authorized to order— that the boards lift the deferment of anyone interfering with the draft or military recruiting and put such persons at the top of the induction list.

The rule was felt to be aimed principally at college students.

★ ★ ★

Hershey said at a Nov. 8 news conference: "If the Department of Justice wants to prosecute him, we'll certainly yield jurisdiction."

That is what the Justice Department says it now intends to do as quickly as possible.

Daniel O. Omer, deputy director and general counsel of the Selective Service System, said in a telephoae interview yesterday that once the Justice Department takes an alleged violation to court, the case would be out of the hands of the draft board.

Gifts for Shut-Ins Varied

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the seventh in a series on Christmas gift suggestions that are available in Pontiac area stores.)

By JEANNE NELSON

Christmas gifts for the homebound and elderly can often be a problem, but this year's selections offer a variety of practical and attractive present ideas.

An antique white oval pull up bedside table is both functional and lovely for $29.95. When not in use, it folds to fit the corner with top tilted so that the unusual floral design adds color to a sick room.

Keeping the patient busy can be done easily with a "Mod-Podge" decoupage kit complete with all materials for about $6. For real comfort and luxury there is a 100 per cent acrylic fuzzy robe. An easy slip-on that buttons down the front, it comes in pink for $30.

A deep-heat back massager relieves backaches in seconds. It can be used in bed, $39.95. Orlon slippers with rubber soles insure steady steps and can be tossed into the automatic washer and dryer. In a variety of colors, they sell for $3. Plants are always a welcome gift to shut-ins. Select several of the small ones and plant together in one large attractive container. Prices vary on these.

One of the small high-intensity lamps would be perfect for reading in bed. They're priced from $14.95 to $29.95.

Rusk Seeks to End N-Pact Opposition

BRUSSELS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today took on the task of overcoming West German and Italian opposition to the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons.

Rusk arrived Sunday night for the semiannual meeting of the North Atlantic Council, the policy body of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The NATO chiefs of staff were meeting today, and Rusk planned a round of talks with West European leaders.

★ ★ ★

The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed on a nuclear treaty except for the section on how to inspect peaceful nuclear industry to see that no uranium or plutonium is diverted to make weapons.

West Germany says inspection by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), which the Soviet Union insists on, would destroy the authority of a body laboriously built up by West European allies, the European Atomic Energy Community, better known as EURATOM, a branch of the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

The Italians agree. They are worried that nuclear industry will prefer to go to France, where there is no likelihood of IAEA inspection.

On the Communist side objections have been heard from Romania—the maverick in the Eastern bloc.

American diplomats have come up with several proposals for "marrying" IAEA inspection to the system that Euratom has developed. At least one of these compromises may satisfy Moscow, but Bonn has not bought any yet.

★ ★ ★

To put pressure on the objectors, President Johnson announced last week that the United States would throw open all its own peaceful nuclear installations to IAEA inspection. Britain said it would follow suit. But from Moscow there was only silence.

SOVIET MOVE

If the United States supports West German objections, the Soviets will say it wants to make West Germany a military nuclear power. If the United States overrides West German objections, it will arouse the resentment of its own allies, who will accuse it of making agreements with Moscow over their heads.

OTIS REDDING

Singer Is Lost as Plane Falls in Icy Lake

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Rhythm and blues singer Otis Redding and four young musicians were missing today after their light plane crashed in icy Lake Monona Sunday, killing two persons and leaving one known survivor.

Redding, 26, of Macon, Ga., and four members of his "Bary-Kays" band were still missing when darkness halted dragging operations in the 40-foot-deep water Sunday night. Two bodies were recovered, and Ben Cauley, 20, of Memphis, Tenn., was hospitalized in good condition.

★ ★ ★

One of the bodies recovered is that of the pilot, Richard Fraser, 26, of Warner Robins, Ga., an Air Force veteran. The other was that of Jimmie King, 18, of Memphis, a member of the band.

Still missing, along with Redding, were Matthew Kelly, 17, Phalen Jones and Ronald Caldwell, both 19, and Carl Cunningham, 18, all of Memphis.

HEARD SCREAMS

Cauley, suffering from shock and exposure, told authorities Sunday night that he heard Caldwell and Cunningham "screaming for help" after the crash, but he couldn't reach them and watched them disappear beneath the choppy waters shortly before he was rescued by a police boat.

★ ★ ★

The twin-engine Beechcraft, owned by Otis Redding Enterprises, was making an approach to Madison Municipal Airport when it splashed into the fog-shrouded lake. Fraser was trying an instrument landing because of the poor visibility, authorities said.

OCC Election Is Invalidated

A student referendum to give the student government at Oakland Community College-Highland Lakes more freedom and representation has been invalidated.

Student government president John Ash of Farmington said Saturday that the student government voided the election because wording of the ballot was mistakenly charged and the issues were vague.

The campus' Student Association had asked the student government to hold an election on whether student government funds should be withdrawn from the college's control and whether a new charter should be drawn up to include better campus representation.

The student government voted to hold a two-day referendum. The ballots were invalidated the first day.

★ ★ ★

Ash, speaking for the Student Association which has no president, said the association might again take up the issues.

Campus leaders are disturbed because the college administration gives the student government money to work with but then does not give it freedom to do what it wants with the funds.

Members of the association also claim that the 23-member student government is not democratic since its charter limits membership to only representatives of campus organizations.

They would also like to have representation from the student body at large.

Pact Renewal Will Be Eyed

BIRMINGHAM — The City Commission tonight will consider renewing its contract with the Ann Arbor firm of Johnson, Johnson and Roy, Inc., for urban design services.

The current one-year agreement with the consulting firm recently terminates.

City Manager Robert S. Kenning will strongly recommend" that the city enter into a new contract, costing an estimated $8,000 to $10,000 for the coming year.

The cost of the service for the last 12 months has been $19,000.

★ ★ ★

The development of an overall plan for the city was chiefly responsible for the higher cost this past year.

EMPHASIS

With the completion of the urban design plan and objectives, emphasis should center on specific current design projects that will need attention on a month-to-month basis, according to city officials.

Over 20 areas or items have been studied by the firm in the first year with recommendations being made on design and physical planning of each.

Kenning, in a report to the commission, said, "This past year has been a period of learning for both the urban designer and the city administration."

'CRUCIAL YEAR'

"The year ahead will be a most crucial one for the implementation of the concepts outlined for us by the consultant," added Kegging.

The items reviewed by the firm included:

The Lincoln-Purdy townhouse program, alley improvements, ring road lighting, board of education buildings, string lights on auto agencies, city hall plaza, parking deck planning, landscaping for the ring road, traffic and parking signs, park benches and plantings.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Township Board tonight will hold two public hearings on sanitary sewer special assessments.

At 8 p.m. at the town hall, 4200 Telegraph, will be the hearing for the Colonial Estates south district project estimated to cost $20,800.

At 8:30 p.m. will be the hearing for the central district of Colonial Estates whose system is estimated to cost $89,000.

★ ★ ★

The board will also consider increasing license, permit and inspection fees. This revision is being recommended by the Township Building Department.

Pact OK Averts Chrysler Strike

DETROIT (AP) — A walkout by 6,500 United Auto Workers was averted at the Chrysler Corp. Hamtramck assembly plant today when company and union negotiators bargained past a midnight strike deadline to a tentative agreement.

Shortly before the deadline, the union agreed to continue negotiations and the session broke up about a hour and 20 minutes past midnight.

★ ★ ★

The workers, represented by local 3, are expected to meet later this week for a ratification vote. Details of the agreement were not immediately known.

A Chrysler spokesman said the company now has agreements at 55 of 60 local units across the country.

He said negotiations continue at assembly plants in St. Louis and Newark, N. J. and at parts depots at Boston and Kansas City. Employes are working during negotiations at those plants.

A strike at a Chrysler electrical plant in Indianapolis, meanwhile, moved into its second week.

★ ★ ★

The main spotlight in industry negotiations today focuses on UAW and General Motors bargainers, meeting in subcommittees in efforts to lay the groundwork on a new contract before a deadline set for midnight Thursday.

Union President Walter P. Reuther, however, has said there will be no strike until after the first of the year. If no contract is reached by Thursday, Reuther said, a strike deadline will be set at that time, allowing 380,000 workers to reap holiday pay for the Christmas and New Year season.

Quake Hits W. India; 65 Killed

BOMBAY (AP) — A severe earthquake shook a large stretch of western India before dawn today, and the Maharashtra state government said 65 persons were killed in the Koyna area 200 miles south of Bombay.

Bombay newspapers received a report from the area that more than 100 persons were killed, most of them when their homes collapsed on them as they slept.

★ ★ ★

The government said 1,000 persons were injured and 5,000 were homeless.

The report from the state government, said most of the casualties occurred near Koynanagar, a town of 10,000 built for workers at the giant Koyna hydroelectric dam and plant.

The government said the Koyna dam was not damaged but another hydroelectric plant at Khopoli, between Bombay and Poona, was put out of commission.

This knocked out electric service to several thousand square miles, including Bombay and its population of 4.5 million. In the metropolis hundreds of thousands poured into the streets and spent the rest of the night in the open.

★ ★ ★

An area from Sura, 150 miles north of Bombay, to Goa, 300 miles to the South, and to Poona, 120 miles to the east, was rocked by three tremors. The Bombay observatory said its seismograph went out when the power supply failed immediately after the first tremors.

In the last big quake in the area eight years ago, 110 persons were killed.

Benton Harbor Man Seeks Ferency's Job

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Former State Rep. Floyd Mattheeussen of Benton Harbor said Sunday night he plans to seek the chairmanship of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Earlier State Sen. Sander Levin of Berkley announced his candidacy for the post to be vacated by Zolton Ferency.

"There is a general feeling that there is a great need for a fulltime chairman," said Mattheeussen. "Although everyone respects Sander Levin, including myself, it's a questionable procedure that Levin serve as chairman and senator at the same time."

Mattheeussen, a former junior high school teacher in the Benton Harbor area, is now a lobbyist for 18 low-valuation school districts in Wayne County.

SERVED 1965-1966

He served in the House in 1965-66 and was defeated in a bid for re-election by Republican Lionel Stacey.

Mattheeussen said the party chairman must articulate a position within the party and that position should be reached with party members from the "precint to the President."

★ ★ ★

When asked what is the Democratic view, he said, "That's what we will articulate."

Regarding dissent in the party, Mattheeussen said, "the only way the party can function is when people have the right to discuss and debate opinions.

PARTY FRAMEWORK

"But," he added, "I would prefer that people do these things within the framework of the party."

The State Central Committee is to meet later this month to determine the new Democratic leader in Michigan.

Romney Arrives for British Talks

LONDON (AP) — Gov. George Romney arrived today for two days of talks with British leaders and said he expects "to get the British viewpoint on a number of matters—Vietnam, international monetary affairs, European-American problems and the Common Market."

★ ★ ★

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination came from Paris, the first stop on a world tour. Asked whether he thought the British could help on Vietnam, he said he thought they were particularly well informed because of their long experience in Asia.

Gallup Says More in U.S. Expect China to Intervene

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — An increasing number of Americans think Red China will intervene with troops in Vietnam if the North Vietnamese show signs of giving in, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, said a late November survey of 1,583 households found 49 per cent of those polled thought the Chinese would intervene as they did in Korea in 1950.

★ ★ ★

Gallup said that those holding this belief had measured 40 per cent in August and 38 per cent in June.

Some 36 per cent of those interviewed in November doubted the possibility of intervention, as compared with 38 per cent in August, and 35 per cent in June, according to the polls.

QUESTION

Gallup said the question was: "If the North Vietnamese show signs of giving in, do you think Communist China will, or will not, send any troops to help North Vietnam?"

He said a growing number of Americans also expect a compromise settlement of the war rather than all-out victory. The percentage of those polled expecting compromise has risen from 55 per cent in June to 64 per cent in November, Gallup said.

★ ★ ★

Those expecting all out victory measured 19 per cent in November, as compared with 15 per cent in June, according to Gallup.

He said the percentage of those interviewed expecting defeat for the United States and its South Vietnamese ally had declined from 5 to 4 per cent over the same period. The others expressed no opinion.

Gallup said the November poll found 44 per cent of those questioned opposed to extending the ground war into North Vietnam. Some 39 per cent favored that move, he said.

Dollar Cost of a GM Strike Seen as Heavy Tax on Nation

Our U.S. News and World Report issues an advance prognostication of what a General Motors strike of five weeks would do to the United States.

This authoritative publication, which was sired by our own eminent columnist and A-1 news analyst, DAVE LAWRENCE, lists:

415,000 GM workers will lose $65 million a week in 72 cities in 18 states, or $325 million in five weeks.

More than 36,000 companies supplying GM, produced $9.6 billion in goods last year. Their loss would be $184 million a week or about $1 billion in five weeks.

Steel would drop one million tons in five weeks — a drastic blow.

Rubber consumption would drop 10 million pounds a week, or 50 million in five weeks.

Five weeks represent a loss of $13.5 billion in our Gross National Product on an annual basis during the strike.

There will be a loss of $400 million in personal income for GM and related industries.

Retail activities in the 72 cities alone could drop 1.3 billion in five weeks.

National corporate profits would decline $1 billion and thus cost the U.S. Government half a billion dollars in taxes.

Presidential Candidacy . . . .

Reports around the nation seem to indicate that the Democratic Party is accepting the Presidential candidacy of Minnesota's MCCARTHY with equanimity. Some even evince definite satisfaction.

These include the President.

He shows no concern.

★ ★ ★

Michigan's own Zolton Ferency predicates his own resignation on the fact he wants to drop Johnson in favor of the mid-westerner. The number one plank in McCarthy's platform seems to be associated directly with the present handling of our war in Vietnam. His censorship of LBJ's methods is appreciably clearer than his own remedies. Time may change that.

★ ★ ★

It hardly seems likely that the President can lose the nomination to Minnesota's MCCARTHY, but the atmosphere may be cleared and issues defined more exactly.

Both sides welcome that.

Taken to Task . . . .

A letter bobs in from Jamaica, N.Y., taking me to task for three editorials, two of which were printed in 1964, while the third appeared in 1963. We're thankful that the balance of our readers are infinitely more spritely and up-to-date. A Mr. ART WEBER of Royal Oak is mentioned. I'm not clear whether he's in the category of the condemned like your humble scrivener, or whether he occupies an exalted seat atop the mountains like the writer.

Turkey Talk . . . .

In all this welter about global skirmishes, political battles and wanton murders, it's refreshing to embrace a subject like the ever struttin' turkey.

In 1927, an American ate 1.4 pounds of turkey, but today he will consume 9 pounds. Also, I find that turkey meat is an especially wholesome food and is easy on a balky tummy. Verily, and this is comforting news. And important!

★ ★ ★

However, he's a pesky rascal to raise. He's dumber than Sam Hill, almost seeks avoidable deaths in big flocks and is difficult to bring to maturity. He's bad tempered. His legs snap easily and one experienced farmer said:

"They're beautiful to look at, fragile as an orchid and stupid beyond belief. Some even drown themselves drinking water and you have to teach a lot of 'em to eat."

★ ★ ★

California, Minnesota and Missouri produce the most and raisers think that ultimately they'll be a year-round delicacy.

This is bully good news.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

U.S. airports are among the last to let out - of - country travelers leave without paying for the privilege. Colombia levies a $7.50 assessment and France kicks in with $5. Russia charges a meager $1.67 and the Philippines levy a tiny $1.33, but they sock you a horrendous $6.67 on arrival. . . . . Overheard: "A cheerful nurse in a hospital is more beneficial than pills, capsules or tablets. They restore health faster."

Twenties are replacing tens as their number one product. . . . . Everybody Lends A Hand

Capital Letter:

LBJ Failing to Communicate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — It's not the credibility gap but the communications gap that bothers some of President Johnson's disillusioned cohorts.

Ruth Montgomery

The Rangy Texan's penchant for telephoning associates at any hour which suits his fancy has robbed them of needed sleep and recreation, but his failure to communicate at crucial times has disturbed them more.

His quixotic handling of the McNamara case is merely the latest in a series of episodes which have wounded the pride of sensitive, public-spirited officials.

As is now known, Defense Secretary Robert McNamara had mentioned to the President last spring and again early this fall that he would like to assume the presidency of the World Bank, which was due to become vacant.

★ ★ ★

LBJ was totally noncommittal, but during Thanksgiving week he summoned Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler to tell him that he had decided to nominate McNamara for the World Bank presidency.

Fowler was instructed to tell no one except George D. Woods, the outgoing president who had first broached the idea to McNamara, and not until a bank member leaked the secret did McNamara learn that he was soon to be relieved as secretary of defense.

What could have been a joyous occasion for the overworked official consequently became a public embarrassment.

Two other examples of the communications gap serve to illustrate the President's lack of personal diplomacy with those whom he outranks.

● One reason for the bitterness which has promoted Sen. Eugene McCarthy to challenge President Johnson in the upcoming Democratic primaries is the manner in which LBJ handled his selection of a running mate in 1964.

It was not that LBJ invitingly dangled the vice presidency before McCarthy and then chose his fellow Minnesotan, but the way it was done.

McCarthy is a realistic politician who knows that such a choice ultimately rests with the man who heads the ticket, but what provoked his ire was that LBJ did not show him the courtesy of breaking the news in person.

Instead, the President merely delegated an aide to tell McCarthy that he had been

Black Power Spokesman Making Olympian Error

NEW YORK — Somebody named Harry Edwards, who is in the Black Power business (which must be a pretty good dodge, considering the way Stokely Carmichael gets around) announces that the U. S. is not going to field a very good Olympic team at the games next summer.

CONSIDINE

His Western Regional Black Youth conference, attended by 120 Negro athletes, voted "by acclamation" to boycott the U. S. team.

Present and cooperative at the meeting, which was closed to white reporters, were half a dozen fine Negro athletes considered sure bets to make the squad and win medals for their country.

Great quarter-milers Tommie Smith and Lee Evans, and Lew Alcindor, the new Wilt Chamberlain, would be especially missed.

★ ★ ★

Edwards says, in effect, that Negroes must not compete because "race relations are worse now than ever."

He makes about as much sense as a Negro rioter burning and looting the store of a Negro shopkeeper who had worked like a slave to build it.

Race relations are not worse now than ever. A Negro sits on the Supreme Court, another is high in the councils of the United Nations.

Negroes are threaded through federal, state and city governments, sit in the mayor's chair in Cleveland and Akron, own banks, insurance companies, car dealerships and a thousand big and little businesses.

★ ★ ★

Those with talent and drive have broken through countless barriers in fields wherein oppressive white majorities held sway: The arts, sciences, education, and the promotion lists of the armed services. And through the portals they valiantly opened stream multitudes of Negroes inspired and emboldened by their example.

If the top Negro amateur athletes stand still for the kind of snowjob the black supremacists are inflicting on them, they are either stupid or chicken.

They are stupid if they think their abstention from the action at Mexico City will clean a single Harlem alley, rid a rat, inspire a roaming father to rejoin wife and children, or move a third-generation recipient of relief to get a job.

They are chicken if they second the "we won't play" motion simply to avoid being labeled, in limited and even lunatic circles, an Uncle Tom. Thus, his feeling that he had been callously used.

● Among the President's most outspoken critics of his foriegn policy — from the Dominican Republic to Vietnam — is Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Part of his rancor may be traceable to an unreported incident which occurred while LBJ was Senate majority leader. Morse, who won election as a Republican, had increasingly become a maverick in his voting record, usually lining up behind bills being pushed by Johnson.

In reply to the letter reporting speedy delivery of mail, the Pontiac Post Office is not the only post office that handles this air mail. All air mail for Pontiac is first unloaded and separated at the air mail facility at Metropolitan Airport by 200 employes of the Detroit Post Office, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. ## Chain Reaction

Newsday

A new chain reaction in the wage-price spiral is in the offing as a result of U.S. Steel's decision, followed by that of Bethlehem Steel, to raise the price of cold rolled steel by $5 a ton.

★ ★ ★

Cold rolled steel is used in the manufacture of a broad range of consumer items, from automobiles to refrigerators. Thus, an increase in the price of this material will be quickly reflected in the price of consumer goods.

The steel updraft in the inflationary spiral closely follows the 2.7 per cent increase in the price of automobiles and the costly settlements between Ford and Chrysler and the United Automobile Workers.

The end result of all of these "gains" by the giants of industry and labor is that they become self-canceling. As Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, put it: "Prices will continue to advance and the value of wage gains will be eroded by a rising cost of living."

★ ★ ★

Who gets hurt in the process? Not the big industries and the big labor unions. They have the power to keep their prices and their wages at artificially high levels. Free enterprise and free collective bargaining have little meaning when applied to these wielders of monopoly power.

In many instances, bargaining between Big Labor and Big Business has been a cynical charade.

★ ★ ★

Business grants major wage concessions to the unions and passes the cost — plus a little extra — on to the helpless public. Real free enterprise and true collective bargaining reflect the condition of the market place.

The wheeling and dealing of the monopoly giants reflects only the applicaton of raw power. It is past time that this power was curbed.

World Tide

For years the advocates of Red China's admission to the United Nations have argued that U.S. opposition was going against the tide of world opinion.

The latest news about that tide of world opinion came from the U.N., where for the 18th year the General Assembly defeated a resolution to admit Peking.

Forty-five out of 120 countries supported Red China in the vote, one fewer than last year and two fewer than in 1965.

Not much difference, perhaps, but enough to show which way the tide is rolling.

Newlyweds Honeymoon in Islands After Colorful White House Ceremony

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, V.I. (AP)—President Johnson's daughter Lynda and his new son-in-law honeymooned today in the privacy of one of the Virgin Island's most exclusive resorts after the first White House wedding in 53 years.

Lynda and Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb spent their wedding night at the White House, then slipped aboard a commercial airliner Sunday afternoon and flew to San Juan, P.R.

★ ★ ★

A private plane took them to St. Thomas, and then they had a 15-minute boat ride to St. John, three miles east of St. Thomas, where they are staying at the Caneel Bay Plantation.

A rumor persisted that the couple would go on to Hawaii, but there was no confirmation. Robb has leave from his military duties until Dec. 29.

Both Lynda and her mother have visited at the Caneel Bay home of millionaire Laurence S. Rockefeller, who has developed the northeast tip of the nine-mile-long island as an exclusive resort.

LBJ 'TIRED'

While the newlyweds relaxed in the Caribbean, Mrs. Johnson planned to fly to Texas today to join the President at their ranch. He flew down Saturday night after the wedding, saying he was "very tired."

Robb's family, from Milwaukee, held a big reunion Sunday at an inn near Winchester, Va., attended by his 83-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Harvey J. Sims, and 59 other relatives.

The White House bustled with workmen changing from wedding to Christmas decorations. They had plenty of red and white flowers, holly, mistletoe and other evergreens left from the wedding.

The traditional floor-to-ceiling Christmas tree was being installed in the Blue Room, where the bridal couple and their parents greeted guests with hugs, kisses and handshakes after the ceremony.

In the place of the wedding altar in the East Room, a creche with a Nativity scene was being installed.

But the wedding itself isn't likely to be forgotten soon.

Lynda, 23, goes into the history books as the seventh presidential daughter to wed in the White House.

The President said the wedding couldn't have been better — "everything was great."

Another presidential daughter, 83-year-old Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longsworth, who was married in thesame spot in 1906, called it the "prettiest wedding I ever saw."

Lynda's wedding dress was by Geoffrey Beene, a simple long white satin A-line with a frilly veil and a 12-yard silk train. Her hair was swept up in a pompadour and she wore pale makeup and false eyelashes.

The bridegroom wore his Marine dress uniform.

★ ★ ★

The couple clasped hands, smiled into each other's eyes and whispered "I love you" after they exchanged marriage vows and rings. The ceremony started on the dot at 4 p.m. and they were declared man and wife 16 minutes later.

The solemn President, a white rose in the lapel of his cutaway, softly ad-libbed into the Episcopal wedding text "her mother and I do" when Canon Gerald N. McAllister of San Antonio asked: "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?"

500 GUESTS

Five hundred guests crowded the East Room and the cross hall of the White House for the wedding and the reception which followed with dancing, a lavish buffet and champagne. The party spilled over into a pink-lined tent outside the state dining room.

Matron of honor Luci Johnson Nugent, 20, admitted tears welled in her eyes as she watched her sister marry. She cried at her own wedding, too.

She and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, said they enjoyed this one more than their own — "all the fun and none of the trauma," said Luci.

★ ★ ★

Lynda pulled her husband's glittering sword from its scabbard and together they cut the first piece from a towering six-foot white wedding cake. Unlike Luci and Nugent, who could hardly hack through their cake, Lynda and Robb made it with the greatest of ease.

The bridal couple went off for their first dance to the tune of "Love Affair to Remember," played by Peter Duchin's orchestra, which also played for Luci's White House reception.

The President stayed behind to cut himself and Mrs. Johnson a piece of cake with the sword and then they joined the dancing.

Even Lucie's 5-month-old son, Patrick Lyndon, was brought in for the cake cutting.

Later the bridal couple stood on a stair landing and Lynda tossed her bouquet of white gardenias, white roses and white heather. It went to her maid of honor, Warrie Lynn Smith, 23, of San Antonio, a kindergarten teacher and former college and White House roommate of Lynda's.

Lynda ruled out of the toss Robb's 19-year-old sister, Marguerite Trenholme Robb, whose unguarded remarks to reporters got her the most attention of the bridesmaids. "Trenny's too young," said the bride.

"Wouldn't you like to be 19?" said the President, watching with a smile.

Of the guests, two theatrical personalities probably attracted the most attention. One was George Hamilton, Lynda's former beau, who didn't stay for the reception.

The other was Carol Channing, who wore a tunic and bloomers in bright yellow chiffon with matching yellow stockings.

The last guests left the White House around 10 p.m., long after the President's helicopter had left the south grounds.

The President, seeing his second daughter wed, declared:

"There are not many girls who have picked young men like my two sons-in-law."

Can Only Be Sure of Lawyer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I suspected my husband of being untrue to me, so I went to a lawyer about a separation or divorce. My husband denies and unfaithfulness and he wants us back together again. (We have children.)

My lawyer told me that every man is untrue to his wife at one time or another, and my husband is no exception. He said the more trusting a wife is, the better it is for her husband. It makes cheating easier.

ABBY

Is this true, Abby? I just can't believe it. My husband is a good father, and he said he was happy with me in every way.

My lawyer says I have two choices. Go back to my husband for the children's sake and put up with his cheating, or divorce him and raise my children alone. Please say something to help me. I love my husband, but I am so confused.

M IN FLA.

DEAR M: There are plenty of faithful married men, and your husband could be one of them. The only thing you can be sure of is that your lawyer cheats on his wife. Give your husband another chance.

DEAR ABBY: I work, and make a pretty good salary. The guy I go with is still in college, and he gets an allowance, which is almost as much as my salary, but he never seems to have any money. I am always helping him out with money for gas, cigarets, and movies.

If he would ask me for a regular "loan" and pay me back, I wouldn't mind, but he always says he left his money in his other pants. He's real groovy otherwise and I really dig this guy. How should I handle it?

Written Word Tells Sender You Do Care

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend says it's correct to send "thank you" notes, furnished by the funeral home, to people who send flowers. I think you should send a written note, naming the flowers. Am I right? — Mrs. Snook.

Dear Mrs. Snook: A bouquet of flowers goes to you! You certainly are right. A printed note provided by a funeral parlor is inadequate "thanks" for people who take the trouble to send flowers.

The printed note may be used IF a handwritten message is added, but the personal note is best of all.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. Post: I announced my engagement to a fellow in the service over a year ago. When he came home things had changed and we broke up. I am going with someone else now and am very happy.

When we get engaged will it be proper for me to announce our engagement in the paper? Would it be all right to use the same picture as before?—Judy

Dear Judy: You may, and should, announce your second engagement in the newspaper so that friends will know of your situation. But I wouldn't use the same picture, simply because it just wouldn't seem right to either your fiance or your present one.

Dear Mrs. Post: Would you please settle a difference of opinion for a friend and myself? We work in the office of a convalescent center and routinely have a great deal of correspondence with physicians.

My friend believes that letters to doctors should be addressed as follows: "Doctor John L. Doe, M.D." I say they should be addressed in this way: "John L. Doe, M.D." — Francine

Dear Francine: You are right. "M.D." is most correct for formal or business correspondence and "Doctor" is acceptable — but never both.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Neil Burmeister of Pompano Beach, Fla., one of six groomsmen in the Johnson-Robb nuptials Saturday, says he almost didn't make it to the ceremony because "someone forgot to give me a pass."

Burmeister, a former roommate of Marine Capt. Charles Robb at the University of Wisconsin, said, "finally, Bess Abell who coordinated Lynda Bird's wedding spied me and let me slip in."

Linda Carpenter Wears Satin Ensemble for Vows

MRS. DAVID L. WARD

Attired in a satin silhouette highlighted with Alencon lace and seed pearls, Linda Louise Carpenter became the bride of David Lawrence Ward Saturday in Grace Lutheran Church.

Her elbow length veil was held with a pearled headpiece outlined with lace. Red and white rosebuds were mounted on the bride's white prayerbook, which belonged to her godmother.

* * *

Jean Spina was maid of honor with bridesmaids Katherine and Cynthia Carpenter and Sandra LaVigne.

Gerald Carpenter served as best man with David Hennigan, Thomas Smiith, Loren Ward and Robert Carpenter acting as ushers.

David and Lisa James completed the bridal party as ring bearer and flower girl.

Prior to their departure for a honeymoon in northern Michigan and then on to New York, the newlyweds received guests at a reception at First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland.

The new Mrs. Ward is the daughter of the Joseph M. Carpenters of Fernbarry Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harley Trowbridge of Cadillac and the late Lawrence Ward.

His Feelings on Flight Go So High, Then Solo

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Jean Saile, Pontiac Press reporter, wife of a commercial artist and mother of six children, is taking flying lessons. This is the 17th article on her impressions of flying.)

By JEAN SAILE

There is a conspiracy around me—and it's just the way I want it.

Nobody is saying anything officially—but I know that given favorable weather conditions soon I will solo the next time I fly.

MRS. SAILE

It's an odd feeling—sort of akin to having a baby. I never wanted a definite appointment for that either.

"Surprise me" is my attitude.

★ ★ ★

In my last lesson, Art Trowbridge, the Aerodynamics, Inc., flight instructor, entrusted himself completely to my control of the airplane.

TENSION BUILDS

That's not to say I couldn't see the tension build in him as we neared touchdown. Trowbridge would stiffen in his seat, peer out the windshield and give advice, but at no time did he take over the controls.

We shot about 10 landings including a simulated emergency landing. Each time I got us down safely.

True to form my simulated emergency was the smoothest landing of all. When one is worried about power enough to make the runway, one is not concerned with the round-out or the flutter-down.

★ ★ ★

It's only when there's plenty of time to wonder if I'm doing everything correctly that I manage to goof up. I correct and overcorrect, and it would be better if I quit thinking entirely.

RADIO CALLS CLEAR

Even all radio calls were clear to me. I was immediately aware each time the tower was in contact with my Beech Musketeer Zero Four Quebec.

The amount of radio conversation—most of it for various other planes in the pattern—tends to leave a student tuned out.

I have always relied on Lawson Letzring or Trowbridge to inform me that it was me the tower wanted. The last lesson I needed no coaching—even when the call came during turns or other energy-consuming maneuvers.

That was a relief.

LOW-FLYING PLANES

It was also a relief to be able to pick out low-flying planes in the pattern.

It's relatively easy to spot a plane when the background is sky, but it's a different matter when they are low enough that they look almost like cars against a backdrop of houses and roads.

With a tower alert to be on the lookout for other planes, it suddenly was relatively easy to spot the traffic.

★ ★ ★

The lesson finished with my palms damp but a kind of inner confidence that I had never before attained.

I know I can get the plane down. The only thing I'm not real sure of is that I want to be up there alone.

Everyone knows I'm the gregarious sort, and at this point thoughts of the "lone eagle" type of flier are vastly uninteresting.

Model's Windblown Dust Changes Mars Features

By Science Service

PHILADELPHIA—Windblown dust transported across the Martian surface accounts for seasonal changes in its features, as well as the bright and dark areas.

★ ★ ★

A dust model correctly predicts springtime brightening of Martian bright areas, for instance, Dr. Carl Sagan of Harvard University and the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory told the American Astronomical Society here.

Windblown dust has been suggested before as the cause of change in Martian surface features, notably by the late Dr. Dean B. McLaughlin of the University of Michigan in the early 1950s. The model computed by Dr. Sagan, however, gives this theory its first quantative basis.

Dr. Sagan, with Dr. James B. Pollack of Harvard and the Smithsonian, has calculated with the help of a computer how grains could be moved across the planet's surface. They find saltation, suspension and creep are responsible.

Saltation occurs when a dust particle is hit by the Martian wind, giving it enough of a jolt to bounce it into the air a slight distance away. When the dust particles are in suspension, they are picked up by the wind and carried some distance, then dropped again. Creep is a rolling, near-surface bounce.

The smallest particles are moved by suspension, larger ones by saltation and the largest ones by creep.

Super Space Radar Is Being Developed

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — A new super space-watching radar is being developed here that will double this nation's ability to detect foreign satellites and help maintain a vigil against orbital bombs or submarine-launched missiles approaching from the south.

With enough electronic searching fingers to match 100 conventional radars, the giant scanner next April is to become the main eye of the Spacetrack system operated by the Air Defense Command.

Spacetrack is the branch of the Air Force responsible for detecting, identifying and tracking all manmade earth-orbiting objects.

Since its field of view is aimed south toward the equator, the giant radar will also bolster America's warning network against the Soviet Union's fractional orbital bomb, Air Force officials said.

★ ★ ★

The orbital nuclear bomb system, as revealed last month by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, would be launched like conventional spacecraft but descend suddenly on U.S. targets—perhaps approaching this nation from the south after a three-quarters orbit around the globe.

RADAR'S RANGE

Col. Jack W. Gabus, director of the Air Defense Command's testing force here, said the super radar at Eglin would spot orbital bombs in flight "as they approached the equator."

He cautioned, however, that the new radar's improved range of "several thousand miles" would not be a much better sentry than conventional radars if reports are correct that Russia's orbital bomb system uses retro-motors to drop the nuclear weapon on target.

Until these retro-rockets were triggered, which would occur about 500 miles away from a target, the bomb's impact point could not be predicted, he said.

★ ★ ★

Looking like an all-white football field tilted on edge at a 45-degree angle, the new radar is being built at a cost of $62 million primarily to improve the nation's satellite-detection ability. Prime contractor is Bendix Corp.'s communications division.

ORBITING MASSES

More than 300 operating satellites and 900 pieces of hardware debris are now in space orbiting earth, and officials predict this number will increase to 5,000 by the mid-1970s.

The Eglin radar "will double our capability for Spacetrack and in some cases go beyond that" in accomplishing Air Defense Command objectives, Gabus said. "It will immeasurably enhance space defense" in helping officials to detect, track and identify orbiting objects, he observed.

The superradar's "capability could only be matched by a hundred conventional radars," project officials said.

★ ★

Because of the physical laws governing satellite motion, all orbiting objects will pass through the viewing field of the new radar at least twice daily, the Air Force said.

SCANNING PRINCIPLE

Operating on a new electronic-scanning principle that sends thousands of pulse beams across the sky in a fraction of a second, the radar will be able to simultaneously track hundreds of orbiting objects while serving as a watchdog against submarine or land-launched missiles flying suborbital paths from the south.

★ ★ ★

High-speed computers intertwined in the system will immediately recognize any unknown object, officials said, determine if it is a satellite or missile, calculate its track and flash this information in less than one-thousandth of a second to the North American Air Defense Command's Space Defense Center at Colorado Springs, Colo., for appropriate counteraction.

Traffic Fine Hike Not Helping in NY

NEW YORK (AP) — City Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes says hiking the fines for traffic violations just isn't working, explaining that "it has been common practice in New York for many years to just ignore traffic tickets."

Barnes told an interviewer on the WNBC-TV "Searchlight" program Sunday that there were just as many parking violations today as there were before fines here were tripled in some instances, effective Dec. 1.

The commissioner suggested that increased fines won't clear up traffic congestion unless a more efficient system of collecting the fines is developed. He also urged that no driver be allowed to renew his license unless he has paid traffic tickets.

Yule Spirit Is Regained by Czechs

BOSTON (AP) — Daniel F. Halloran used a bit of Christmas spirit to win election as a business agent for Local 25 of the Teamsters Union.

★ ★ ★

He had a man dressed as Santa Claus and a little boy and girl dressed in elf costumes hand out campaign literature Sunday to union members entering the Charlestown Armory to vote.

Woman's Body Is Identified

Parents Summoned in Florida Slayings

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — A Cincinnati optometrist and his wife were to arrive today to view the bodies of two girls found murdered and floating in a canal, one of whom has been tentatively identified as their daughter.

★ ★ ★

Police said Dr. and Mrs. Lewis T. Kent had been contacted at their home after one of the victims was tentatively identified yesterday as Mrs. Terry Rae Kent Frank, 23, by her estranged husband, who told police she might have been a waitress at a cocktail bar.

Bill Frank, about 22, identified the slain woman as his wife from her features and certain body marks, police said. Frank told police he had just returned from California where he had been living for the past year.

Police said the other victim, about 18 or 20, could be Mrs. Frank's roommate, identified only as Ann.

★ ★ ★

Frank showed up at police headquarters after hearing a description of the victims over the radio.

CLOTHING FOUND

Police yesterday found a bundle of bloodied men's clothing a few miles downstream from where the girls' bodies were found floating feet upward Friday in remote Whiskey Creek. Concrete blocks were tied around their necks when they were found by a fisherman.

Police said they did not know if there was any connection between the soiled clothing, which they said "smelled like a wino's," and the murders.

★ ★ ★

The girls, wearing black bathing suits and lewelry, had been shot, beaten and stabbed, police said. They had not been sexually molested.

One of the responsibilities of the committee, according to Sielski, will be to review all past and present vision research projects and literature pertaining to vehicle lighting and to recommend areas of research that will result in an improved knowledge of exterior vehicle lighting.

Dr. Connolly lives at 4347 Karen, Bloomfield Township.

Car Crash Hurts Detroit Youth, 16

A 16-year-old Detroit youth remained under observation for head and chest injuries at Almont Community Hospital today following an accident yesterday evening on 33 Mile Road west of Powell in Macomb County.

Michigan State Police at the Romeo Post said the boy, James DeLozier, was driving when his car struck a bridge abutment. Three passengers were treated for minor injuries.

Fire Guts Trailer

A $4,500 fire gutted the trailer home of William D. Nix, 34, of 60630 Van Dyke at 5:30 a.m. yesterday. Washington Fire Department reported Nix, home at the time the blaze broke out in the trailer utility room, escaped injury.

Retirees Around

Corps Aids Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — Soon after the New Year, Everett H. Huntoon, a 66-year-old resident of Sun City, Ariz., interrupts the retirement he worked decades for in order to handle the problems of some strangers in far-off Cyprus.

As payment for uprooting himself from the serenity of retirement, Huntoon and his wife will receive a daily living allowance, exposure to a foreign culture and the satisfaction of helping others. Nothing more.

CUNNIFF

Huntoon who spent 27 years with Montgomery Ward and on retirement was manager of merchandising and purchasing in New York, will lend his knowledge and advice to a Cypriot dry goods wholesalers and retailer.

The job, to last about three months, will cost the wholesaler about $1,000 a month, but Huntoon will get none of it. Instead it will go to the International Executive Service Corps, which made the arrangements.

The corps, which most people know as the Executive Peace Corps or by the even more familiar term of Paunch Corps, already has completed 361 foreign assistance projects in less than three years and is expanding steadily.

In addition, 90 projects are under way, 69 are about to begin and many more are now being arranged in communications between Madison Avenue headquarters and private enterprises in 40 foreign nations.

All this has been accomplished on an annual budget of about $2 million, 40 per cent of which is donated by American corporations or received in service fees, and 60 per cent of which comes from the U.S. government.

"We feel we run a tight ship," said a spokesman for the corps, which is staffed by highly experienced personnel, headed by President Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics.

STILL GROWING

The corps is still growing and hopes to complete 300 projects this year, 350 in 1968 and close to 500 by the end of 1969. At that point its directors will pause to assess the need or desirability of further expansion.

At the moment, however, enthusiasm both in the United States and abroad dictates growth. More and more retirees — and some still in the midst of their careers—are offering their services. More and more foreign companies ask assistance.

★ ★ ★

A skills bank of 3,500 names is now maintained and added to as the result of personal applications, recommendations and more recently from recruiting drives among corporations.

From this bank the corps attempts to fill requests such as these:

- A records production manager to spend three or four months assisting a recording and tape manufacturer in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

★ ★ ★

- A production executive with experience in the manufacture of sewing machine needles to spend three months in Taipei, Taiwan.
- A glass technologist to help an Istanbul, Turkey firm go into the manufacture of windshields.

QUESTIONS

When the requests come in—and that is the only way in which the corps agrees to get involved—the following questions are asked:

- Is the requesting firm willing to pay a fee for assistance, a fee which amounts to only a small percentage of what would be charged by a private consultant, were he available?

★ ★ ★

- Is the client firm sound enough to profit from the help and advice?
- Will the firm's success be of probable benefit not only to itself but to the free enterprise system of its country?

AREAS OF REQUESTS

Most of the request came originally from Latin America. While interest there remains high, based on the number of requests through November, expansion in the Middle and Far East has been strong, and requests from African companies now are coming in.

At this pace Madison Avenue's biggest export soon will be management rather than advertising, although needless to say, the exported management is doing a very competent job of adverising America.

of the body to reject foreign tissues, such as the new heart. A spokesman at Groote Schuur Hospital said there are no signs that his body is trying to reject the heart, and no infection has occurred.

"Mr. Washkansky had a comfortable night," said a bulletin issued by the hospital today. "He enjoyed a meal of steak and eggs Sunday night and porridge, two soft boiled eggs, toast and coffee for breakfast." It added that his doctors saw him this morning and were satisfied with his progress.

Since they are dealing with the unknown, the doctors said there may be complications they had not foreseen. But one said privately: "We think we've got our problems licked."

DOCTOR CONFIDENT

"I am very confident he will pull through," said Dr. Christian N. Barnard, leader of the team which replaced the 53-year-old wholesale grocer's failing heart on Dec. 3 with the healthy heart of a 25-year-old woman killed in an auto crash.

General Studies

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A school for general studies, leading to a bachelor of philosophy or bachelor of arts degree, is scheduled to open in September at Grand Valley State College. The new school has been authorized by the college board of control and will accommodate about 100 students during the first year.

Riot Report Will Be Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House panel probing last summer's uprisings says it will submit its recommendations for preventing future riots at least four months ahead of schedule.

"Our review of the information we have amassed over more than four months convinces us that we cannot delay until next summer in providing our findings of fact and recommendations," said a Sunday statement by panel chairman, Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, and vice chairman, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York.

"The commission has found there is an urgent need for public awareness, and widespread action, much sooner than that," the statement added.

The 11-man President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders originally was scheduled to make its report and recommendations by July 29.

The Kerner-Lindsay statement moved that target date up to March 1—original deadline for an interim report—and a commission spokesman said the report may be ready even sooner.

Dividends Set

Kuhlman Corp., 2565 W. Maple, Troy, has announced that the company's board of directors has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 17½ cents per share on the company's common stock, and a extra cash dividend of 17½ cents, both dividends payable Jan. 10, 1968 to holders of record Dec. 29, 1967.

Cong Defections Weekly Low for '67

SAIGON (AP) — For the second time in a few weeks, the number of Vietcong defections dropped to a new weekly low for the year, officials announced today.

A total of 215 defections were recorded during the week that ended at midnight last Friday. This was two less than the previous weekly low reported for the week ending Nov. 17.

There were 772 defections in the same week last year. Earlier this year, encouraged by weekly averages of more than 1,000 defections in late February, March and early April, officials predicted 45,000 defections by the end of the year.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q— Do you ever advise the average investor to avoid over-diversification? I am 41, married and have $42,000 spread out in 17 different stocks. I recently wanted to put money into an additional issue, but my broker advised against it. He says I should sell some of my present holdings and use the proceeds, together with new money, to build up my strongest growth holdings — General Dynamics; Mobil Oil; Pfizer. Your opinion will be appreciated. — R.H.

A— I think your broker is a thoughtful man who should be warmly commended for his generally sound advice. I have frequently said here that no one should hold more individual stocks than he can reasonably follow, and I believe that 17 situations are too many for the ordinary investor to watch closely. The three stocks your broker wants you to build up are all strong situations, although General Dynamics, strictly speaking, is not a growth stock because of its heavy military involvement. Nevertheless, I advise you to take his suggestion, add to the stocks he has selected and limit your portfolio to 10 to 15 issues at the most.

Q— Recently I inherited from my husband a portfolio of bonds, stocks and cash. I am enclosing a list for your review. At present I am advised to sell 50 per cent of the common stock and put the money into more bonds. Do you approve of this plan and, if so, which stocks would you sell?—R.E.

A— Rarely have I encountered a finer list of securities or one which is better balanced. Your husband must have been a shrewd and farsighted man. I can see no justification for selling good stocks in order to purchase more bonds under present money conditions. You already hold a substantial backlog of savings, bonds and preferred, and I advise you to leave your portfolio exactly as it is.
