Powell Loses Chairmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats voted today to strip controversial Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of the chairmanship of the House Education and Labor committee.

Members emerging from the party's caucus, held behind closed doors in the House chamber, said a compromise motion to take the chairmanship away temporarily lost on a 122-88 vote and that the vote to remove Powell as chairman was carried overwhelmingly.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberal Democrats moved today to take away Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's education and labor committee chairmanship in order to forestall more drastic action Tuesday by the full House.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Democrat study group, said he was convinced that the House would move unless Democrats took strong action to curb the controversial Negro Democrat.

The Powell question was the outstanding issue as Democrats convened in a party caucus prior to the start tomorrow of the 90th Congress.

An earlier plan to block conservative Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., from chairmanship of the Rules Committee appeared to have collapsed.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., plans to move that the Committee on Committees give Powell's chairmanship to Rep. Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky.

LEADERSHIP PLAN

Leadership forces plan to attempt to sidetrack that move by offering a motion to send the entire matter to the judiciary committee for study and to defer Powell from taking his seat as chairman while the study takes place.

Powell, looking unconcerned about the political tempest swirling about him, slipped into the House chamber through a rear cloakroom.

Asked if he had any comment on the fight against him, he said "Keep the faith, baby."

He then was asked what outcome he expected. "I don't know," he replied.

Liberals decided against pressing their plan to replace Colmer with Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., after a split developed.

But a move was expected in the caucus to instruct the Committee on Committees to name two liberals to Rules Committee vacancies.

A group of Powell's supporters sent President Johnson a telegram today asking him to intervene in Powell's behalf, said the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Rucker, New York.

Trial of Baker Opens in D. C.

Judge Is Considering Prospective Jurors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The trial of Bobby Baker opened today with a federal judge trying to weed out prospective jurors who might be swayed by links to government or defense, by their reading or by radio and television reports on the case.

Baker, former secretary to Senate Democrats, is accused of income tax evasion, larceny, larceny after trust, interstate transportation of stolen money, and conspiracy.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Oliver Gasch assembled 173 possible jurors in the big modernistic courtroom and asked that they stand if: they knew government or defense lawyers, if they or relatives were employed by the government, if they had read about the Baker case in the National Review, New Republic, the Nation, U.S. News and World Report, Time or Newsweek, or heard about it on radio or television.

The judge did not say why he singled out those publications.

Before noon five members of the panel were excused:

1. A man who said he had reservations about his ability to reach a verdict solely on the facts to be unfolded in the courtroom;

2. A man who said he had formed an opinion about Baker;

3. A fingerprint clerk for the FBI;

4. A stenographer who works for the deputy attorney general;

5. A woman whose daughter works in the organized crime division of the Justice Department.

★ ★ ★

Although a number of prospective jurors said they had read the magazines mentioned, all asserted that the reading about Baker, if any, would not sway them in considering the case.

JOHNSON CONFIDANT

Twenty-eight newsmen were in the courtroom for the trial of Baker, who was a confidant of Lyndon B. Johnson when the latter was Senate Democratic leader.

Since the actual selection of the jury has not yet begun some newsmen were assigned seats in a jury box.

Glancing at them just before court opened, Edward Bennett Williams, Baker's chief counsel, remarked with a grin:

"I'd like to try it in front of that jury."

U.S. Dredge Sunk

7 Die as Reds Down Plane

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP)—Communist ground fire today downed a U.S. AC47 Dragon plane—popularly known as "Puff the Magic Dragon"—and all seven crewmen aboard were killed, a U.S. spokesman announced.

In the Mekong Delta, Vietcong frogmen sank an American dredge, the fourth largest in the world.

The twin-engine C47, armed with three six-barrel gatling guns capable of firing 18,000 rounds per minute, was brought down 26 miles southwest of Quang Ngai City, near the central coast. It was the second Dragon ship lost in the war.

Two U.S. civilians were reported killed and one was reported missing aboard the 170-foot dredge, the Jamaica Bay, which sank in 20 feet of water near My Tho, about 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

Closer to the capital city, Communist guns shelled a British tanker and two Vietnamese navy minesweepers.

★ ★ ★

Only small-scale ground action was reported in the war and the U.S. air offensive against North Vietnam was hampered by very bad flying weather.

CHILDREN KILLED

But from the Mekong Delta 40 miles south of Saigon came word of the slaying of 10 Vietnamese children and the wounding of 16 more when they were used as human shields by Vietcong advancing against a unit of South Vietnamese Rangers.

★ ★ ★

A U.S. spokesman said the Communists herded the children and some adult civilians in front of them. Despite warnings from the Rangers, they kept moving forward and fired on the government troops.

The spokesman said the Rangers had no choice but to return the fire. In addition to the children killed or wounded, nine adults were wounded.

The British ship hit by Viet Cong fire was identified as the 12,090-ton Shell tanker Haustrum from London.

Friend Sees Romney Bid for Presidency

DETROIT (AP) — A close friend says Gov. George Romney will run for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

J. Willard Marriott, a Washington restaurant and motel owner, said in an interview published yesterday:

"I think Gov. Romney will run. There is no question about it, especially if the situation remains as it is today.

"I think he has a good chance to win the nomination and a good chance to be president," Marriott said.

Marriott has known Romney since 1929 when they met in Washington.

DISCUSSED POSSIBILITY

It is known that Romney has discussed with Marriott the possibility of running for the GOP nomination.

Action Starting Day Early for 90th Congress

Both Parties Caucus for Expected Rousing Opener Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The curtain goes up on the 90th Congress tomorrow but the action starts today at party caucuses being held to prepare for what should be a rousing first act.

House Democrats and Republicans hold separate meetings today to seek party unity on a number of touchy questions, a chief one being what to do about Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., whose right to a seat is being challenged.

The showdown over Powell's House seat tomorrow when the new Congress is sworn in, will launch a long day that won't end until President Johnson has delivered his State of the Union address to a joint session at 9:30 p.m. EST.

The Senate also will take a running start into controversy tomorrow when a group of liberals renews its long fight to change the Senate antifilibuster rule, which requires a vote of two-thirds of the members present to cut off debate.

★ ★ ★

The Senate liberals want to make it easier to end debate but usually find their efforts frustrated by threat of a filibuster. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., thinks the chances are better this year.

TROUBLE FOR LBJ

The stormy start in both houses could preview the course the 90th Congress will follow.

The Republicans, bolstered by 47 new seats in the House and a bright handful of attractive new senators, will make it a rugged session for Johnson and his congressional leaders.

The brooding menance of the Vietnam war also figures to mark the work of the 90th Congress. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., brings it to the fore early, calling Secretary of State Dean Rusk before his Senate Foreign Relations Committee next Monday for secret testimony and on Jan. 23 for public questioning.

★ ★ ★

An early task facing Congress will be paying the mounting costs of the war. Johnson has said he will ask for between $9 billion and $10 billion shortly to add onto this year's defense budget.

Mao Opposition Behind Rioting

TOKYO (AP) — Opposition to Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung's purge is producing widening chaos in Red China, with Shanghai reported paralyzed by strikes and street fighting, and Nanking apparently still held by anti-Mao forces.

Reports of killing, torture and uprisings involving more than a million persons in the past few days suggest China may be close to civil war.

Japanese correspondents said half a million anti-Mao followers of vice premier and party propaganda chief Tao Chu were converging on Nanking.

Wall bulletins posted in Peking by Red Gaurds supporting Mao indicated that the discord had split Mao's Cultural Revolution Committee organized to direct the purge.

They accused Tao Chu and Gen. Liu Chihchien, vice chairman of the committee and deputy director of the army's general political department, of forming a dissident group including Wang Jenchung, another committee vice chairman and first secretary of the Communist South Central Bureau, and Chang Ping-hua.

MAO FOLLOWER

Tao Chu rose to power only four months ago as an apparent follower of Mao.

The pro-Mao group was led by committee chairman Chen Pota, Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, and Kang Sheng.

The posters accused Gen. Liu of destroying the purge in the armed forces and of issuing false orders that continued "white terror" in military schools after Mao had ordered the suppression of students ended.

★ ★ ★

The mounting turmoil reportedly followed efforts by Mao and Defense Minister Lin Piao to extend the purge aimed at groups led by President Liu Shao-chi and Communist General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping into industries, the 21-million-member All China Federation of Trade unions and various party committees.

STRONG SUPPORT

President Liu has strong support in the labor federation and the party apparatus.

In the northern port of Shanghai, China's largest city with more than eight million persons, strikes by thousands of anti-Red Guard workers known as "Red Workers Corp" were reported to have paralyzed communications and production.

The Peking People's Daily appealed to loyal workers to take emergency action against

Killing Suspect Is Still at Large

Sought in Farmington Twp. Slaying of Wife

Farmington Township police still are looking for murder suspect John Merlo, wanted in the slaying Friday of his young wife as she was working in a township beauty salon.

Detective Russell Conway said police are still without clues as to where he may be hiding but that his description has been broadcast throughout the country.

Conway said Merlo, 25, is about 5-feet 11, weighs between 165-170 pounds, has dark brown hair, wears black-rim glasses and has a small birthmark by his left eye.

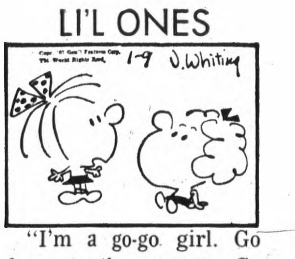

Conway said Merlo has two cars. Neither has been found.

One, he said, is a 1966 tan Plymouth, two-door hardtop, and the other is a 1960 two-door Chevrolet.

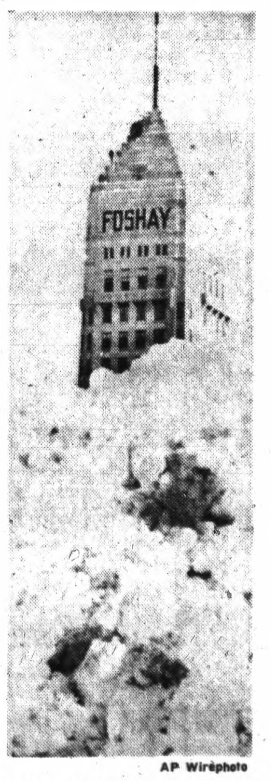

Merlo had been working at the Reactive Metals Co. in Niles, Ohio, since Dec. 27, according to Conway.

He is sought in the killing of his 18-year-old estranged wife, Sharon, who was shot Friday while working on a customer's hair at the Crest Beauty Salon, 27432 Eight Mile, Farmington Township.

Dialer Benumb(er)ed

Whither Michigan Bell?

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD

What gives?

A quarter of a century ago, you picked up a phone and said:

"Long distance, please."

Then you asked for the Flint Journal and in a comparatively few seconds you got the Flint Journal.

It was that simple.

★ ★ ★

Now follow today's bumbling procedure. I dialed "O" for Operator and asked for the Flint Journal. A very sweet voice told me to dial "1-555-1212." This I did and asked for the Flint Journal. Another very sweet voice said the number was CE 4-7611 and would I please dial it myself. Then I asked the area code.

"That I don't know," she said crisply. "Ask your own operator."

★ ★ ★

So-o-o-o-o, I dialed "Operator" again and asked for the Flint area code and was told, "Why, it's the same as your own."

"Then," sez I as a precaution, "I just dial CE-4-7611."

"Not so," says my current mentor and guide. "You have to put a "1" before it.

★ ★ ★

I fanned myself, thought longingly for a dry martini, and went through a few brisk calisthenics for new strength and vigor. Partly revived, I dialed for the fourth time. By now it was midafternoon and the winter sun was sinking behind a fringe of stormy clouds against a darkening horizon. I feared the Journal had closed.

But no, the Journal answered promptly. The Journal is perky, up-to-date and modern.

By golly, I had 'em.

Faltering man eventually triumphed.

A quarter of a century ago, you took off the receiver, and got the Flint Journal in seconds without hanging up, dialing an interminable number of digits or discoursing with all those charming ladies who're always anxious to have you talk to their various conferees.

Michigan Bell, where are you heading? Do all cities have to stumble over this same obstacle course to get a party 34 miles away? Glen, old pal, the next time I'll open the window and holler — or use a megaphone.

Troop Commitment for Viet Tops Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. commitment to the Vietnam war has passed another significant landmark: more Americans are waging war than at any time during the Korean conflict.

Pentagon figures showed today that at least 473,000 Americans either are serving in South Vietnam or in support elements nearby. At its peak, the over-all U. S. commitment in Korea was 472,000.

★ ★ ★

The statistics indicate that the United States now is fighting its biggest war since World War II.

Latest U. S. reports place about 390,000 fighting men inside Vietnam — 245,000 Army, 23,000 Navy, 68,000 Marine Corps and 54,000 Air Force. An additional 50,000 men are assigned to the 7th U. S. Fleet off shore of the Southeast Asian country and there are at least 25,000 soldiers in Thailand and 8,000 on Guam aiding the Vietnam effort.

INITIAL LANDMARK

These figures do not include more than 50,000 military men stationed in Okinawa and the Philippines.

In June 1953, at the height of the Korean conflict, there were about 327,000 American soldiers in Korea and another 145,000 serving in support roles at sea and in Japan.

★ ★ ★

An initial landmark was achieved last October when U. S. forces inside Vietnam totaled 328,000 and surpassed the Korea in-country peak. Since then the American commitment has climbed by more than 60,000 troops — nearly 20,000 a month.

NO DENIALS

No official strength figures have been made available, but the Pentagon has not denied repeated reports that current plans call for a total in-country force of more than 475,000 over the next 12 months.

Sources indicated that the current operations in the delta, which began Saturday, will not affect the long-range strength plans for the Vietnam war. "We've been planning to go into the delta for a long, long time," one officer said.

2 Officials Renew Feud on Poverty

A feud that erupted last week between a member of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) education committee and the executive director of the poverty program continued today.

★ ★ ★

Charlie J. Harrison Jr., the education committee member who also is chairman of the County Chapter NAACP Education Committee, elaborated on the criticism of OCCEO Executive Director James M. McNeely.

The core of the criticism by Harrison was a memo from McNeely last June 20 to the commission indicating that there were no problems in conjunction with the Head Start project.

Last fall, the Pontiac School Board held off on this education program for preschoolers because several applications for federal fund grants by the school system had been rejected.

★ ★ ★

Absence of a parents' advisory committee for the program and lack of class integration to meet requirements held up the federal funding.

REGRETTABLE

"The regrettable aspect to this entire situation is that McNeely, in an apparent discussion prior to June 20 with school officials, came to some agreement over the issues involved," Harrison said.

"We can assume that Pontiac school officials, as a result of this, began to draw up their Head Start proposals in good faith."

Harrison said that the stumbling blocks to activating the Head Start program were pointed out to McNeely last spring by a representative of the Lear Siegler Corp. who conducted a local study on behalf of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity.

★ ★ ★

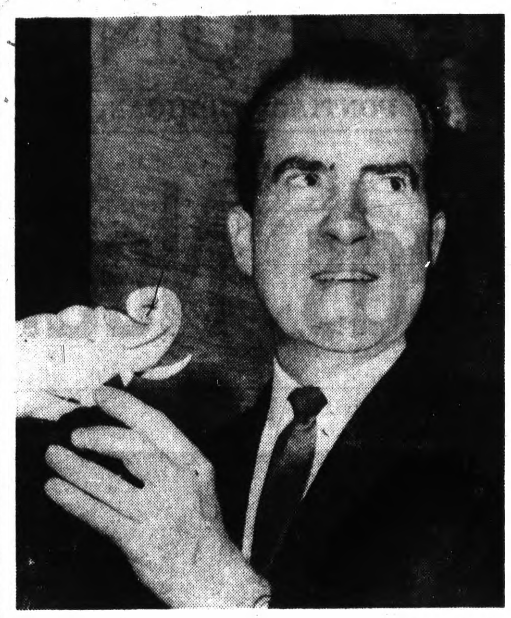

McNeely took it upon himself to decide that the recommendations of the Lear Siegler representative were unwarranted, Harrison said.

NO UNDERSTANDING

"It is no wonder then that the Pontiac Board of Education could not understand what OCCEO wanted," Harrison added.

★ ★ ★

Citing the bypassing of education committee communication by McNeely, Harrison questioned the function of citizens serving on committees.

STILL IN RUNNING? — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is 54 today and reminded newsmen it was exactly seven years ago that he announced his candidacy for the 1960 presidential nomination. There is speculation he may seek the Republican nomination again in 1968.

Speculation on 1968 Is Fueled by Nixon

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, on the eve of his 54th birthday, reminded a newsman Sunday that it was exactly seven years ago that he announced his candidacy for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

★ ★ ★

Did the reminder mean that he planned to announce again—for 1968?

★ ★ ★

"Make your own speculations," Nixon replied through an aide.

Among those familiar with the former vice president's thinking, one speculation is that he will run and that he believes he would have a good chance of beating Prssident Johnson in 1968 or at least a better chance than any other Republican.

GOP THINKING

The thinking of Nixon and his backers apparently is: He has more experience in foreign affairs, more knowledge on how to get along with Congress, the news media, and financial backers of the Republican party than any other presidential hopeful now in sight. And they also feel, especially in view of his showing in the 1966 elections as a coast-to-coast campaigner for the GOP, that he is far ahead of any other GOP White House possibility.

Nixon says that during the coming months he "will have to make a decision."

★ ★ ★

And his supporters say that tons of mail and hundreds of phone calls to his office urge that the answer be "yes."

Another possible clue to Nixon's intentions is the emphasis on youth at his headquarters at 20 Broad Street.

YOUNG CONTENDER

Richard H. Amberg, a close friend of Nixon and publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, has said that Nixon is not only the youngest contender around but also the most seasoned.

Still another clue to Nixon's future: He plans a tour of Europe this winter and a trip to the Far East next summer. Business for his law firm is the announced reason, but a Nixon aide said: "He wants to inform himself on matters of foreign policy."

Nixon has made such trips every year since he lost the White House campaign to the late John F. Kennedy in 1960.

Nixon, who moved to New York after losing a fight for the California governorship in 1962, apparently would have no home state delegation lined up for him if he sought the presidential nomination at the 1968 GOP convention.

At this time, Nixon refuses to say whether he will enter any presidential primaries next year. He points out that they are 18 months away.

Court Eyes Rail Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The biggest business merger in U. S. history goes before the Supreme Court today for six hours of arguments.

The court must decide whether a lower court was correct in refusing to delay consummation of the $6 billion Pennsylvania-New York Central Railroad merger until the fate of three smaller Eastern railroads is settled.

★ ★ ★

A three-judge federal court in New York City refused Oct. 4 to delay the merger, originally set to go into effect Aug. 1. On Oct. 18, the Supreme Court decided to review the decision and held up the deal until it could hear the case.

Fourteen lawyers are scheduled to argue the case today. Court observers said this was one of the largest legal aggregations ever to argue a single case in the court.

2 Syrian Tanks Destroyed, 1 Damaged, Israel Claims

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israel claimed that two Syrian tanks were destroyed and another damaged in a tank battle at noon today southeast of the Sea of Galilee.

An army spokesman said crewmen were seen running from two more Syrian tanks and it was believed that these had also been hit.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said the brisk armored engagement was preceded by two exchanges of small-arms fire, and in the Huleh area farther north where the Syrians fired 20 shells and directed machine-gun fire into Israeli territory Sunday.

Israeli sources said the new flare-up of attacks from Syria appears to be a planned effort to stir up tension, with the Damascus government kept closely informed.

DAILY FIRING

There has been firing almost daily since Dec. 28 along the 45-mile border. Sunday, two Israelis were wounded near the Sea of Galilee.

Premier Levi Eshkol warned: "We will not tolerate developments likely to impair our sovereignty or the security of our citizens."

Foreign Minister Abba Eban said the Israeli delegation to the United Nations has been instructed to provide the U.N. Security Council with details of the latest incidents and to inform foreign governments of the tense border situation and the serious view taken by Israel.

In a shooting incident Friday Israel claimed Syrian forces fired 37 tank shells across the border.

A road commissioner for four years, Staman was elevated to the $11,500 a year post by the two other members of the commission, Sol D. Lomerson and Paul W. McGovern.

Staman, 62, of 26850 Wixom, Novi Township, succeeds Robert O. Felt.

Dynamiter's Wife Victim?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Investigators today attempted to identify the last of six persons killed in a dynamite explosion apparently set off by a young Army deserter in a bizarre murder-suicide plot.

FBI agents said Richard James Paris, 28, missing from his Ft. Ord, Calif., post since Nov. 20, fired a 25-caliber pistol into a bundle of 50 sticks of dynamite early Saturday in his room at the downtown Orbit Inn motel.

Four persons in adjacent rooms were killed in the blast, as were Paris, a former Los Angeles resident, and a woman believed to be his 22-year-old wife, Christine. At least 12 other persons were injured.

Dist. Atty. George Franklin Jr. said the investigators were "pretty sure" the dead woman was Paris' wife because a description by hotel attendants matched information provided by his parents.

OU, Fernald Company Sued for $250,000 Over Claim in Ads

A Detroit theatrical company is seeking $250,000 in damages in a civil suit involving the John Fernald Company of Meadow Brook Theatre.

Named in the Wayne County Circuit Court suit were Oakland University, the John Fernald Company and the director, himself.

The Millan Theatre Company, Inc., alleges that the Fernald troupe's advertising is misleading in stating that the new OU group is "Michigan's only resident professional theater company."

The tone of the advertising implies the Millan group is not professional, according to its attorney, Leonard Jaques of Detroit.

Jaques said the Millan company has been in operation off-and-on for 10 years, frequently producing plays for the Detroit School System with the aid of federal grants.

HEARING SLATED

Hearing on a request for an injunction to halt the advertising has been scheduled for Friday before Wayne County Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman.

OU Chancellor Durward B. Varner said he preferred to withhold comment until the university officially is notified it is being sued.

Texas Governor: Opposed Kennedy's Fatal Trip

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John B. Connally has indicated he did not want John F. Kennedy to take the trip to Dallas in November 1963, when the President was assassinated and the governor wounded.

"I reminded him he had not made a political appearance in Texas since the 1960 campaign and that if he spoke at four fund-raising dinners, he would be accused of coming to Texas just to take back a lot of money," Connally says in a copyright interview in the Dallas Times Herald.

★ ★ ★

The visit to Texas was of the President's own making, Connally says.

Connally made the statement in reaction to Look magazine's first installment of a four-part, 60,000-word serialization of William Manchester's controversial account of the assassination "The Death of a President."

Manchester reports in the book that five prominent Democrats strongly urged Kennedy to keep Dallas off his Texas itinerary in November 1963, because of what they felt was a highly charged atmosphere of antagonism toward him in the city.

Manchester does not mention Connally, who was Kennedy's first secretary of the Navy before he resigned to run for governor, as one of those who advised the President to skip Dallas on that fateful tour. The author wrote that Kennedy himself felt the trip was "vexatious and unappetizing," but he undertook it for political reasons.

★ ★ ★

Manchester indicates that then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson brought about the trip because of his desire for Democratic party harmony in Texas.

The Times Herald, in a story from Washington by Margaret Mayer, quotes Connally as saying Kennedy first mentioned his desire to make a political trip to Texas in the spring of 1963 during two White House conferences. The President wanted to speak at four fund-raising dinners, Connally said.

AGREES TO DINNER

The governor said he finally agreed to one fund-raising dinner, the one that was to be held in Austin on the night of Nov. 22. Politics were to be soft-pedaled on the remainder of the trip, Connally is quoted as saying.

Connally said he had not read the Manchester work, but he tried to recall his associations with the President and Mrs. Kennedy and said he thought they had been "very pleasant," though brief.

★ ★ ★

They were together in a limousine in San Antonio, driving to the Brooke Medical Center and back to the airport, together on Air Force One flying into Houston and again in a limousine to the hotel.

★ ★ ★

"We didn't say 10 words in the car other than idle chatter — 'Look at the sign' or 'The wind sure is blowing,' " he is quoted as saying.

DISLIKED CONNALLY

"Nellie (Mrs. Connally) and I were very solicitous of her (Mrs. Kennedy). I changed seats with her a couple of times so her hair wouldn't blow. On the plane, really nothing was said," the governor recalled.

★ ★ ★

Manchester's book reports that Mrs. Kennedy said she disliked Connally. She was said to have told the President: "I can't stand him all day. He's just one of those men — oh, I don't know. I just can't bear his sitting there saying all those great things about himself. And he seems to be needling you all day."

Kennedy asked her to put aside her hostility to the governor and she did, Manchester reports.

★ ★ ★

Connally told the Times Herald it was at his suggestion that Mrs. Kennedy joined the President on the Texas trip. He said he told Kennedy that his wife would be a great drawing card for his appearance in Houston and Dallas, and the President agreed she should go.

DELIGHTED WITH DECISION

Manchester reports that Kennedy was delighted with his wife's decision to campaign with him. For the first time in their marriage, the author wrote, he talked about her wardrobe. He asked what she would wear at the scheduled Dallas luncheon.

He told her: "There are going to be all those rich Republican women at that lunch, wearing mink coats and diamond bracelets. Be simple — show these Texans what good taste really is."

Mrs. Kennedy, who returned to New York Sunday night after a 13-day vacation on the Caribbean island of Antigua, had no comment on the Manchester book upon her arrival at LaGuardia Airport. Secret Service men immediately whisked her, along with her two children, Caroline, 9 and John, 6, to their Park Avenue apartment.

★ ★ ★

In another Texas reaction to the book, Democrat Maury Maverick Jr. said Sunday that Manchester was wrong about his statements at a political squabble involving Kennedy at San Antonio on Nov. 21, 1963.

Soviets Expect Worst in China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Mosocow, with a great deal riding on the outcome, evidently expects Red China's power struggle to end soon in a result blasting any chance in the foreseeable future for a Soviet-Chinese reconciliation.

★ ★ ★

Communist bloc observers do not rule out thereafter the possibility of grave Soviet-Chinese incidents, perhaps taking the form of deliberate Chinese provocations on Soviet borders.

An indication of official Moscow thinking was provided in a long article carried by Red Star, the Soviet Defense Ministry newspaper.

★ ★ ★

Soviet soldiers, it said—as if preparing them for the outcome in Peking—"cannot fail to be shocked" at the dominant Chinese group's attitude toward the Soviet Union which "raises questions in the minds of Soviet servicemen."

CAREFUL SCRUTINY

For a long time Moscow has carefully watched the struggle.

Should the side headed by men like President Liu Shao-chi and the party general secretary Ten Hsiao-ping, come out on top, there would be a chance of healing some of the scar inflicted by the long Peking-Moscow feud.

If the side headed by Defense Minister Lin Piao wins, the chances for Moscow-Peking cooperation would virtually evaporate. Too many bridges have been burned, too much has been said and done.

★ ★ ★

It appears now that Communist observers see Lin Piao as the winner. They say it is not a question of who will win but when the issue will be finally decided. Some astute observers of the Peking scene say the decision is likely to come before the winter is out.

The way the European and Soviet Communist observers see the China struggle, Lin Piao, claiming the support of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and the right to interpret his "thinking," in reality heads a minority, but an extremely powerful one which soon, in effect, is likely to become the majority.

ATTACKING HEAVILY

This faction is attacking heavily at its opposition's stronghold—the ranks of the factory workers. President Liu and Secretary Teng have been strong in the All-China Federation of Trade Unions which they created.

But the Lin faction apparently has won control of the PLA—People's Liberation Army—after a struggle which began as long ago as 1958.

★ ★ ★

The Chinese party, Red Star said, has become "the pupil of the army," and the army, in turn, is in control of the teenage Red Guards who are an important instrument of power for Lin. Red Star says the army guides the Red Guards, drills them, supports their actions, provides them with uniforms and in fact makes them a reserve of the PLA.

★ ★ ★

The Russians have not given up hope. Even if Lin Piao comes out on top soon, that reservoir formed by the bypassed generation will remain. As Red Star put it: "We are firmly convinced that sooner or later the Chinese Communist party will again be marching in the united column together with all Communist and workers parties."

But the Russians make it plain they are aware much could happen before then to dim the prospects for Soviet-Chinese cooperation.

Tree Kills Man

BUCHANAN (AP) — Robert Davis, 35, of Buchanan tied a rope to a diseased elm in his yard, hitched it to a tractor and pulled the tree partially over Sunday. When Davis got out of the tractor and walked toward the tree it fell on him. State police said he was crushed to death.

Wanted: Killer of a Squirrel

WABASH, Ind. (AP) — Ed and Betty Corps put an advertisement in the Wabash Plain Dealer recently offering $100 to the person who could identify two hunters who shot a squirrel on their property.

The squirrel was a house pet. The squirrel season was closed at the time.

State Weekend Road Toll One of Lowest in Months

By the Associated Press

Three elderly persons died Sunday in the head-on collision of two cars on a snowy highway with only one lane cleared near Rogers City.

The deaths boosted Michigan's weekend traffic toll to nine. Despite the triple-fatality, the weekend death count was one of the lowest in many months. And State Police said traffic deaths this year total 27, compared with 47 at the same time last year.

★ ★ ★

Killed in the smashup in Presque Isle County were Mrs. Edna Hardies, 74; Grover McBeth, 81, and his wife, Mabel, 67, all of Rogers City.

Two were injured when the autos collided at the crest of a hill. Only one lane of the road had been cleared by a snowplow.

CRITICAL CONDITION

Mrs. Hardies' husband, Paul, 66, driver of a car, was hospitalized in critical condition. Linwood L. Krueger, 18, of Hawkes, driver of the other auto, was hospitaliztd with reportedly minor injuries.

A 17-year-old girl was killed near Olivet Sunday in a freak accident resulting from a train-car wreck near Olivet.

★ ★ ★

Nancy Harris of Olivet was riding in a car driven by her 21-year-old sister, Ruth Harris. They attempted to slow down at a Grand Trunk Wtstern Railroad crossing. The car skidded onto the tracks where it became stuck.

They fled to escape the oncoming train and had cleared the auto when the train smashed into the car. A piece of flying debris from the wreckage struck Miss Harris in the head and killed her.

STRUCK BY CAR

Other weekend fatalities:

Rosemary Frances Buck, 18, of Dearborn Heights, who died Saturday from injuries suffered when she was struck by a car Friday night in Dearborn Heights.

Robert B. Harbottle, 39, of Parma, when his car ran off a road near Jackson Saturday and hit a tree.

Kenneth Savage, 22, of Merrill, when his car skidded on icy pavement in Saginaw County Saturday and hit a tree.

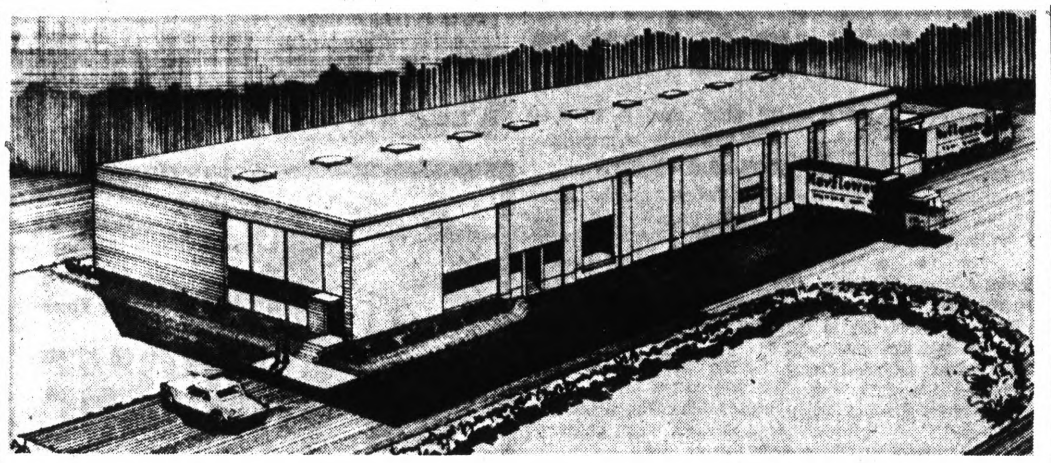

Matti Olavi Narhi, 22, physical education director at Mackinac College, when his car skidded on I-75 near Clare Saturday and crashed into a bridge.

James Lerox, 51, of Saginaw, when his car went out of control Saturday and hit a tree near Bridgeport in Saginaw County.

Vacancy Eyed

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The Brandon Board of Education will consider appointing a new trustee at its meeting tonight.

He will replace Dale Fortin, board president, who died Dec. 9.

NEW TROY WAREHOUSE—This is an architect's drawing of a warehouse under construction at East Maple and Chicago in Troy. It will be a facility of Northland Moving and Storage Co. and will be completed in March. The cement block structure will contain 18,000 feet of storage space. It is being built by R. L. Owen Co., general contractors.

Vote Data Meeting Is Tonight

UTICA — An effort to stir enough interest to turn out a large vote on the city's coming urban renewal referendum will be made tonight.

★ ★ ★

With the vote just a week away — Jan. 17 — Stanley Swierczynski, director, has called a public information meeting for 7:30 tonight in the city offices.

Present will be Mayor Fred Beck councilmen, planning commission members and Jacob Driker of Driker Associates, planning consultants.

The election next week will seek permission from village residents to borrow up to $300,000 as the city's share in a $1.2-million downtown renewal project.

Swierczynski said the city's share could probably be paid with a 1.5 to 2-mill levy over the next 25 years.

MALL-TYPE AREA

Plans are to revamp some 17½ acres in a one-third rehabilitation—two-thirds renewal project that would turn downtown Utica into a mall-type shopping area.

At the present time Swierczynski gives the project a 50-50 chance of success on the ballot.

He said the smaller the vote the better chance of acceptance, but he still hopes for a large turnout of Utica's 1,200 registered voters to make the decision.

Hinging to some extent on the vote is the Chamber of Commerce's plan for a Utica-Shelby merger.

ON ITS OWN

Chamber spokesmen have said, however, that Utica would do well to accept renewal in any event.

A live downtown shopping area would make it possible for Utica to proceed on its own, and it would also make the area more attractive for merger purposes.

★ ★ ★

The downtown businessmen are split as to their idea of urban renewal, Swierczynski said, but since only 25 per cent of the business owners live within Utica their decisions will not be tabulated.

AREA NEWS

Rezoning Bid Due Up Again

MILFORD — The Village Council will be asked again tonight to reconsider its decision not to rezone seven acres of land in the Bonnie Highland Subdivision at Commerce and Summit roads.

Daniel Klein, original developer of the subdivision, is scheduled to appear before the council to request the rezoning from multiple dwelling to commercial to allow construction of a super market.

If the council decides to rezone the land, public hearings will be necessary.

If it sticks by its original decision, the matter will probably go to a pretrial hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court.

A pretrial hearing was postponed two months ago until sometime in January.

Jackpot 2nd Try

STOVER, Mo. (AP) — Lightning may not strike twice, but burglars do. Last August, burglars came through the roof of the Cooper Supermarket here and stole $11. Recently, burglars entered the store the same way. This time they broke into the safe and stole $2,000.

Heading Unit Elates Hursfall

DUANE HURSFALL

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Duane Hursfall feels his close connection with the Michigan Township Association the past five years has made him a more effective public servant.

The Michigan Township Association apparently holds mutual respect for the veteran Independence Township supervisor.

Next week, Hursfall is all but assured of becoming president of the state body, which was formed 14 years ago to help retain township government in Michigan and to serve as a means for township officials to exchange ideas on governmental operation.

The 48-year-old Republican served as the association's first vice president in 1966, an automatic stepping-stone to the presidency.

★ ★ ★

The association will hold its 14th annual convention Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Jack Tarr Hotel in Lansing, with township officials expected to flock to the capital from all directions.

MORE THAN 1,200

The group represents all of Michigan's more than 1,200 townships. However, only about 1,000 townships are members, according to Hursfall.

Supervisor of Independence Township for 10 years, Hursfall is elated about his elevation to president which began five years ago when he was elected director from his district.

"Great," said Hursfall when asked how he feels about heading the group this year.

"It's one position I've worked very hard to accomplish and I'm very happy about it," he asserted.

QUICKER EXPOSURE

Hursfall said his ties with the association give him much quicker exposure to legislation than the average township official which, consequently, helps him to function better as a township supervisor.

"I've had that close connection the last five years by being on the board of directors," Hursfall said.

And that close connection could continue the rest of Hursfall's life since all presidents of the association are eligible to serve as delegates-at-large after their one-year tenure in office.

★ ★ ★

In addition to attending the annual convention, Hursfall, as president, is expected to attend the district meeting and convene with directors and other state officers four times a year.

INCUMBENT DIRECTOR

Avon Township Clerk Thelma Spencer presently holds down the director's post Hursfall vacated to become first vice president last year.

Working with Hursfall at the top of the association this year will be Joe Parisi,

Planners Will Elect Officers

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP—A newly appointed planning commission is expected to elect officers sometime after Feb. 6, according to Alton J. Donaldson, township clerk.

In accordance with state legislation, the commission once it begins to function will replace the old zoning board.

Appointed to the new commission are two zoning board members, Herbert Miller and Robert Verellen. They are complemented by Richard Poljan Jr., Walter Sewell, Donald Mather, and William Tait.

Harold Masters, township treasurer, will serve as an ex-officio member of the commission.

★ ★ ★

Donaldson said the decision to form such a commission was reached as a result of increasing population in the township.

"When you have more people, you have more problems," he said. "Planning can help."

Priest Chairman of Inauguration

ORCHARD LAKE — Rev. Walter Zebrowski of the Orchard Lake Schools faculty will serve as chairman of the inauguration ceremonies of the 1967 officers and board of directors of the Friends of the Polish Art Thursday.

The ceremonies will be held at 8:15 p.m. at the International Institute, Detroit. The program will include a talk by Dr. David Welsh of the University of Michigan Slavic department.

Common Carbon Dioxide

Gas to Double Crops?

EAST LANSING (AP) — After every other known scientific trick is tried, man still may nearly double the supply of some growing food crops by using a chemical so common that he exhales it with every breath.

The chemical, used by nature but very little by man so far for boosting plant growth, might even allow spacemen to grow their own food on another planet with an atmosphere much different than earth's.

It is the gas carbon dioxide-CO2 to the chemist.

In greenhouse experiments with it, Dr. Sylvan H. Wittwer of Michigan State University has produced yield increases of 20 to 100 per cent in lettuce, cucumbers and tomatoes.

★ ★ ★

He is optimistic the gas can be used on field crops, such as corn, to help convert solar energy into more food for humans.

'ON THRESHOLD'

"We now stand on the threshold of an agricultural achievement comparable to that which appeared a century ago when the agronomic benefits of chemical fertilizers were first realized," said Wittwer, a horticulturist and director of MSU's Agricultural Experiment Station.

Wittwer called carbon dioxide "perhaps the most limiting worldwide plant growth factor."

But, he added, "carbonates are plentiful on the earth, literally constituting a sleeping giant, waiting to be harnessed by innovating research programs for field crops as has already been done for those in greenhouses."

★ ★ ★

American flower producers have used carbon dioxide in greenhouses to help produce a good supply of flowers at times of the year when they would not ordinarily be produced.

MATURE EARLY

Wittwer speculated that on other planets, spacemen could grow plants in a controlled atmosphere — using a relatively high percentage of carbon dioxide—under plastic greenhouses.

In his greenhouse experiments, Wittwer saw lettuce plants reach market maturity four weeks earlier than usual with a 10 to 20 per cent increase in weight.

With the greenhouse's carbon dioxide level boosted to three to 10 times the normal atmospheric level, cucumbers doubled their number of potential fruit-bearing flowers, he said.

★ ★ ★

Tomato yields increased an average of 40 per cent and the average size of each tomato increased by one-half to one full ounce, he added.

THROUGH ROOTS

Applying carbon dioxide to field crops, where atmosphere cannot be carefully controlled, might be done through the plant's root system by adding it to water or spraying it as a gas under the soil, he suggested.

"The cost of CO2 is no more than $50 to $101 per acre per month," he said. "It produces yield increases which pay back this cost several times over."

Most of the record yields on crops such as corn, Wittwer said, have come on soils high in organic matter. This, he explained, is because bacteria in the soil can release carbon dioxide from the organic matter.

★ ★ ★

He also said one of the benefits of liming, never officially reported in research literature, is the carbon dioxide that lime releases to the plant when it comes in contact with acid soils.

CORN RAISING

In the future of raising corn, one of the world's most important crops, "Irrigation, now considered by some as the missing link in production of high corn yields, will become commonplace," Wittwer said.

Wittwer noted that farmers and agricultural researchers already are working earnestly to control all phases of the environment for plant and animal growth.

AP Wirephoto

BREATH-TAKING DISCOVERY — A remarkable comparison of plant growth is demonstrated by Dr. Sylvan Wittwer of Michigan State University. The lettuce on the extreme left and the cucumber plant on the extreme right were exposed to five times the normal amount of carbon dioxide as compared to normal greenhouse plants alongside. Carbon dioxide is a common gas, given off with every person's breath.

Roy Disney Carrying On Walt's Plans

(EDITOR'S NOTE — For more than 40 years, Roy Disney made the financial decisions for the multiple enterprises of his younger brother, the famous Walt Disney. Now, at age 73, he has full responsibility for all operations.)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Even as death approached, the creative energies of Walt Disney continued to flow.

Says his brother Roy: "On the day before he died, Walt lay on the hospital bed staring at the ceiling. It was squares of perforated acoustical tile, and Walt pictured them as a grid map for Disney World, which he planned to build in Florida.

★ ★ ★

"Every four tiles represented a square mile, and he said, 'Now there is where the highway will run. There is the route for the mono-rail.'

THOMAS

"He drove himself right up to the end. Sometimes I think he drove himself too hard; you never know about those things, but maybe all the work helped bring on his death.

SPARKPLUG

"But maybe he was driving against that day when he wouldn't be here to spark the ideas. He may have felt if he got the projects started, we would be able to carry on."

If that was Walt's purpose, he succeeded. Roy says his brother left enough plans for movies, television and Disneyland to occupy the company's energies for three years. And a decade may be required to transform Disney World from shadows on a hospital ceiling into an immense amusement park, and a city of tomorrow.

Roy Disney, eight years older than his brother, now has full responsibility for carrying on the entertainment empire. In his first interview since Walt's death Dec. 15, Roy commented:

"My chief thought is that I should not disturb the organization that Walt built up. He established the broad policies, and now our job is to carry on. We have fine personnel, and I intend to ask the stockholders for a stock purchase plan so that we can hold onto our top men, as well as the promising young talent.

COMMITTEE

"Basically we will be working by committee. That is not the best way to run an organization, because eventually someone must make the decisions. But we will have to do it that way until the new leadership develops.

"That doesn't mean we will find someone to replace Walt, because no one could ever do that. But there is a whole new generation coming up, full of ideas."

HAS CONTROL

At 73, Roy Disney has firm command of company financial matters, as he did in the 40 years he and Walt operated in Hollywood. Shorter and balder than his brother, Roy works in a stocks were underpriced. Our stock was selling at six times our earnings, which was ridiculously low. I thought it should go up to 12 or 15 times our earnings, and it has been rising accordingly."

What about rumors that Disney would be taken over by a huge, multifaceted corporation?

"God help us if we had to be normal size office and speaks in tones reminiscent of his Midwest upbringing.

The office is dominated by a pensive portrait of Walt, over which hangs an Indian peace-pipe which Roy received from his brother after one of their periodic fights.

★ ★ ★

"Walt was always going off and doing things on his own when I wouldn't let him undertake a project," Roy said. "He did that with Disneyland, borrowing on his life insurance and getting in hock up to his neck. As president of the company, I had to protect the stockholders' interests and warn him against a conflict of interests."

Roy Disney was asked to comment on a variety of matters that have arisen in the wake of Walt's death.

STOCK RISE

How does he account for the sharp rise of Disney stock?

"That began before Walt died. I think it was part of a growing realism that motion picture glomerate mess. We'd have to be running pretty scared to absorbed into some big company agree to that sort of tsing. And we're not scared."

STATUS

What is the status of Disney World?

"Our next move is to go before the Florida Legislature in April and ask for some new legislation so we can proceed in an orderly fashion. The plans are well along. The entertainment portion of the Disney World will cost about a $100 million, and we will supervise that ourselves. The City of Tomorrow could cost as much as half a billion, and we will seek help from outside industry."

What if the Florida Legislature does not provide the requested legislation?

"Then we will have to draw back for a reappraisal."

What is the status of Mineral King, the $25-million ski resort to be developed by Disney in the California Sierras?

"That depends on the building of a road to Mineral King and the attitude of the new administration in Sacramento. We have every hope of going ahead on it."

What of Roy's plans? He admitted that he had wanted to retire for the last four years.

"Now I feel like a traitor or something. But our family was so long-lived that I expected Walt to be hobbling around the studio when he was still 85. You never know," he added.

More College Suicides Seen

NEW YORK (UPI)—According to a scientific prediction, there are going to be more and more suicides among American college students. Two social forces are operating to bring this about, the predicting scientist, Dr. Richard H. Seiden, said.

★ ★ ★

One force is the increasing popularity of the college education. It is reaching the point where almost every youth is expected to get one.

The other is the growing demand for higher education. Larger and larger proportions of enrollments are of older, postgraduate students.

But colleges can't come even close to meeting the demand. They accept and keep only students with the highest grades which, said Seiden, intensifies acedemic competition.

And that triggers any suicidal bent a student may have, particularly if he is an older student required to measures up to more exacting postgraduate standards.

To be scientific, a prediction must have a factual basis. Seiden's basis was his own study of 23 student suicides at the University of California in Berkeley between 1951 and 1961. His method was to compare their attributes with those of the student body as a whole.

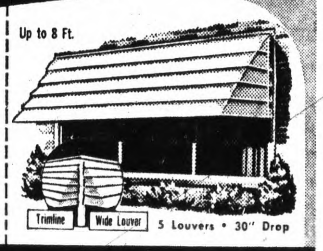

"The suicidal group was older, greater proportions of graduates, language majors, and foreign students, and gave more indications of emotional disturbance," he reported to the American psychological Association.

The suicides fretted over their grades. Yet, Seiden found, the undergraduates among them were better students then nonsuicidal undergraduates.

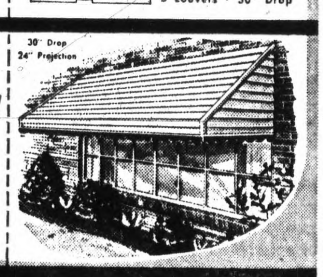

They were pushed off the deep-end by "worry over schoolwork, chronic concern about physical health, and difficulties with interpersonal relationships."

It Seems to Me . . .

Progress Emphasizes Need for Better Airport Facility

With the local airport becoming the property of 850,000 people instead of 85,000, improvements can be anticipated within a reasonable period.

★ ★ ★

Many prosperous communities face a pressing airport problem. The Nation's two biggest centers recently enlarged their facilities enormously and yet both are throwing up their hands in despair as 1967 begins to unfold.

★ ★ ★

When Chicago graduated to O'Hare from Midway, the city fathers thought they had that problem settled for a good decade. But they're sunk anew. Traffic at O'Hare is so heavy that holding patterns are necessary on many normal days.

★ ★ ★

New York finished Kennedy and tried to say a smiling "goodbye" to La Guardia. Gotham figured her air problem was solved. But traffic delays are greater than ever. Hence, New York has rebuilt La Guardia and it receives heavy concurrent use. Further, they are currently discussing the development of a $60 million airport on Long Island for private and business planes to keep them off the main arteries.

Federal authorities are discussing the possibility of moving all international flights away from Kennedy and building still another new field. And yet, the last I knew, Kennedy had 23,000 employes already and its own daily newspaper and a bank.

The end is not in sight.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac and Oakland County face this problem. The local airport is woefully inadequate. Private and business planes are increasing at an enormous rate and they're actually becoming a menace to big passenger planes—and vice versa.

Each hinders the other.

Yet both are necessary.

Within the next decade, progress in aviation is beyond the comprehension of faltering old codgers like the undersigned. Citizens in general should encourage our local authorities to look the situation squarely in the face and act accordingly.

Our "main" runway is inadequate.

Probably it should be doubled.

Certainly, the other two should be amplified in accordance with the needs of today.

★ ★ ★

Muskegon County has about a tenth of the population of Oakland and yet its airport is much larger and it is blessed with considerably more modern equipment including landing electronics. Your neophytic scrivener would guess the total Muskegon business and activity were only a fraction of ours, but they're prepared for the future.

★ ★ ★

We've lagged behind.

And The Press blames no one.

Willow Run, Metropolitan and Detroit's City Airport are all within comparatively easy range and these have delayed our development. But we have the business and the activity now. We're bursting at the seams. Our problem is what to do first?

★ ★ ★

Boeing plans a 490 passenger jet for the early 1970's and a Supersonic Transport will hit 1,800 miles an hour. The biggest worry seems to be this: can the Nation's airports be abreast? We don't face these sky monsters in Oakland County, but think of the business they'll chase away from Metropolitan into nearby places. Willow Run is too far from the center of population to be much good.

We're very accessible.

Let's face this squarely.

Let's move.

Pin-Point in the Universe

In these days of hysteria, big mathematics and super-superlatives, it's interesting to nose back into nature occasionally.

★ ★ ★

Astronomers measure time in millions of centuries. Cogitate on that for a moment. This means that "old universe" which we accept so glibly. Our own sun is only one of a billion stars in its own galaxy.

And there are billions of galaxies. Can you comprehend that? (Neither can anyone else.)

★ ★ ★

Sooo-o-o-o, when we're told to "think big" and "talk big" a few quiet facts that have been here "forever" leave our loftiest predictions nothing but a grain of sand on the endless stretches of the Sahara desert.

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard: "Horsepower was much safer when it belonged to horses." . . . . . In spite of denials, Wall Street rumors insist the N.Y. football Giants will be sold and the price is supposed to be $12 million. CBS is the rumored purchaser. . . . . My list of the ten strongest TV panelists in order, would run like this: STEVE ALLEN, ARLENE FRANCIS, KITTY CARLISLE, BUD COLLYER, BETSY PALMER, BENNETT CERF, BESS MYERSON, BILL CULLEN, HENRY MORGAN and JOHN DALY. . . . . GORDIE HOWE'S All-Star hockey spot will probably be taken by ROD GILBERT this year. . . . . Overheard: "This Ruby case finally reaches the Supreme Court."

★ ★ ★

Trusted scouts advise me Alice Brown deserves mention as one of the area's attractive young ladies. . . . . Just before I heard of Walt Disney's death I saw his current movie: "Follow Me, Boys." No cleaner, finer more attractive family film has been produced. . . . . The January 10th issue of Look is expected to sell a million copies beyond the normal 8 million circulation because of the controversial Kennedy article. . . . . Speaking of Bubba Smith, his 280 pound lineman, Coach Duffy says: "Would you believe it? Once he only weighed 89 pounds. That was when he was three years old."

"RUDOLPH, The Red-Nosed Reindeer" has sold more than 47 million records in the U.S. since 1949 and more than 22 million abroad. . . . . Overheard: "Some of these chemical sets which Christmas produced are so powerful, the first man on the moon may be a 12-year-old boy." . . . . . Power consuming accessories such as air conditioners, power steering, power brakes, etc., etc., use up to 30% of your gasoline. . . . . One That Didn't Get Away!

David Lawrence Says:

Negroes Mistaken to Back Powell

WASHINGTON — Those Negro organizations which are trying to make it appear that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is being persecuted because he is a Negro never made a bigger mistake.

LAWRENCE

They point to white members of Congress who, they imply, have been guilty of wrongdoing similar in some respects to that of which Powell is accused.

What these leaders fail to recognize is that no racial bias has been directed in Congress toward Rep. William L. Dawson, a Negro who has served conscientiously for many years as chairman of the House Committee on Government Operations. During his 23 years in the House, Dawson's name has never been tainted with scandal of any kind. He is highly respected and trusted by members of both parties.

While he is active in politics in Chicago and has been vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Dawson is regarded by Republicans as well as Democrats as an able individual with an excellent record.

Powell himself has just charged in a public statement that a "political conspiracy of enormous dimensions involving certain influential members of the press and a number of my colleagues in Congress" is being carried on not only against him but "against black political leadership, black people and black progress."

Some Negro leaders, moreover, have begun a campaign in support of Powell based on the contention that he is being singled out for punishment by the House of Representatives, while white people are immune.

But this isn't a fact. Congress time and time again has investigated its own members, irrespective of race or party. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, says about the House inquiry that, if Powell were white, "he would have been investigated long ago."

When the governors of Mississippi and Alabama disregarded a court order, federal troops helped U. S. marshals to enforce the decrees.

Negro organizations were quick to condemn such defiance of the courts. Yet when Representative Powell ignores state court orders in a lawsuit in New York and is under sentence for criminal contempt, his Negro supporters are vocal in his behalf.

Bob Considine Says:

Good Reasons Why LBJ Doesn't Declare a War

NEW YORK — The President could silence his critics instantly by declaring war on North Vietnam. Thereafter, though the nature of the fighting might not change a particle, the open rebellion against it in this country would disappear.

CONSIDINE

For all the present furore, conscientious objectors and draft dodgers probably would be as rare and as unpopular as they were in, say, World War II. They would be routinely imprisoned or conscripted into nonmilitary services.

But if he declared war, with the easy consent of a Congress which is far less patient with Ho Chi Minh than the President is, he would force Russia to come into the fray or forfeit its position as the first among the equals of the Communist world.

Russia has the same signed and sealed obligation to assist Hanoi in the event it is attacked as we have to help Saigon. We have chosen to fulfill our contract; Russia has chosen to chicken out on Ho.

The Kremlin, busy with many costly matters ranging all the way from trying to best the U. S. in the space race to getting ready to fight China, has confined its aid to Hanoi to occasional bones.

CROSSING CHINA

Russia wants no part of this war. It could not move considerable numbers of men and machines to it except by crossing China, which is no longer possible.

To date its principal contribution has been its surface-to-air missiles. We attack them only if they are positioned to guard a high priority target.

Otherwise, our planes fly courses that put them out of the missiles' ranges. But there have been specific attacks, in the course of which we have unquestionably killed or wounded Soviet technicians. Moscow has taken no public notice of this, a measure of its wish to avoid open involvement.

If Russia was forced to enter the war it would weaken its continued preparation to deal at some later date with China.

CHINESE WELCOME

The Chinese would, of course, welcome this. It would give them a priceless period of grace which they could devote to the building of a much more ominous nuclear capability than they now have, and the modernization of their armies.

So the President spares the Soviet Union the anguish of having to make such a titanic decision. He suffers the Kremlin's propagandists their abusive name-calling, content that there is a reasonably firm understanding at higher levels in Moscow and Washington.

Voice of the People:

Urges All-Out Effort Against North Vietnam

If the United States is going to commit troops in Vietnam and ask them to die, the least the authorities in Washington could do would be to fight an intelligent war. All our bombing of North Vietnam consists of bombing material things which will be replaced by the Soviet Union and Red China. This brings no pressure on the North Vietnamese.

★ ★ ★

Let's drop our bombs on the one thing the North Vietnamese are furnishing — people. It shouldn't take too many raids with the skys black with B52s for the people of North Vietnam to see that the price of war is more than they want to pay. To be wounded, mangled, suffer and die, as is the lot of our boys and the people of South Vietnam, would bring the realization of war home to the aggressors.

★ ★ ★

We cannot honorably leave our boys in Vietnam to die and not bring the maximum pressure to the people of North Vietnam to discourage their aggressive ways. It's also a pity that some clergymen have so little regard for those who are giving their lives in Vietnam.

Questions Location of Squad Cars in City

Why does the north end of town have two squad cars playing follow the leader about 150 yards apart when they are needed in the south end of town?

CONCERNED CITIZEN

'Questions on Shelter Remain Unanswered'

I recently asked a question of the animal shelter, which is supported by our taxes, but only received a reply from the humane society. I appreciate their concern that I know the vast difference between what they run as an animal shelter and what the county runs as a dog pound. Perhaps others would be interested in knowing their pet will be kept until a home is found for it if it is taken to the humane society.

The county shelter acts as a clearing house and nothing is kept there longer than three days. Then the laboratories have their choice and this is far worse than a quick death. I still wonder why they charge so for pets and why our tax dollars aren't paying for a more humane endeavor.

I'm glad the Humane Society is living up to its name and their charges were well explained. The two shelters should never be mentioned in the same article as there is hardly a comparison between them.

Christmas is over, but if Christ should walk down the street of this city, how few would recognize Him. What a horrible thought.

Question and Answer

When I send Christmas cards, several addresses say "Star Route." What does that mean?

CURIOUS

REPLY

A star route is one over which a private contractor hauls mail from one post office to another, delivering mail along the way. The contractor is not a regular Postal employe, but receives the route by bidding for it. This differs from an RFD route in that the RFD man is a regular Postal employe and delivers mail throughout his area, not just along the road between post offices. Star route got its name from the asterisk, or star, used to designate such routes in postal publications.

Repeat Chorus

Ann Arbor News

Once again, as was the case about six or seven years ago, the Nation is beginning to hear the chorus of another debate over a missile gap.

★ ★ ★

This time around, the dedefense strategists in the Pentagon and a few of their friendly supporters in Congress, including Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, are beating the drums for a costly antiballistics missile (ABM) program to counter the Soviets' offensive capacity.

National defense is, of course, a serious matter. Who wants to downplay national security? But the fact remains, the country was stung on this missile gap business once before, and the gap turned out to be somewhat of a myth.

Our intelligence readings gave the impression of a mass Russian missile buildup, and the U.S. responded in kind.

★ ★ ★

But before the Pentagon gets too carried away in its preparations and before the paper-clip Pharaohs in the State Department incorporate an ABM system into their foreign policy objectives, it might be a good idea to ask questions first and then plan accordingly.

Are the Soviets feeding us a lot of scare propaganda, or are they simply trying to get us to divert billions of dollars into a weapons system that only increases our overkill capacity?

It could be, too, the Soviets are simply bracing up their defenses in response to our own hurried buildup after the first missile gap was "discovered." Preliminary intelligence reports do not by themselves justify another costly round of weapons spending.

The U.S. should not be lulled into a false sense of security, but neither should it be gulled into building a vast new antimissile system without measuring the need of such an undertaking.

Familiar Ring

Columbus-Dispatch

The old taunt that "it takes one to know one" has labeled Charles de Gaulle's latest blast against the United States as political demagogy in no less an official voice of French communism than the Red journal "Humanite."

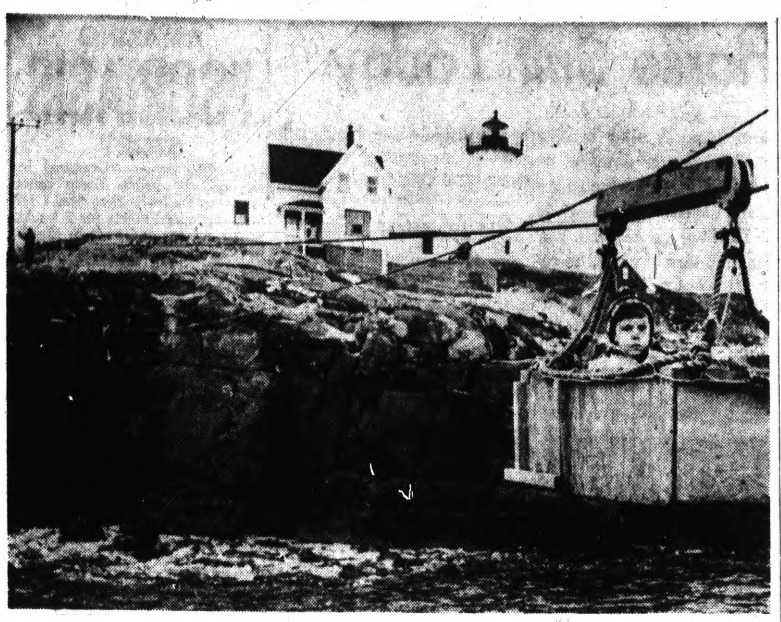

The Great Leader of the French lit up New Year's eve in Paris with repeated references to "a detestable war . . . leading a large nation to ravage a small one."

Memory recalls the day when France was the large nation ravaging the small one until that memorable incident at Dien Bien Phu when the small nation's bush fighters humbled their French colonial overlords and opened the way for Ho Chi Minh's Communist regime.

Why he is making such violent protestations is explained by "Humanite," the organ of the French Communist party. While agreeing with de Gaulle's condemnation of the United States, "Humanite" sees a relationship between de Gaulle's rabble rousing and the imminence of French legislative elections now only a short time off.

Bits From Boyle's Bag

Uncle Sam Is Largest U.S. Landowner

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

BOYLE

Who really owns America? Well, Uncle Sam has the biggest share. He now owns or controls more than a third of the land in the 50 states.

Looking for an unusual pet? A store here offers 3-foot cobras for $35 each. Other bargains: polar bear cubs, $2,500; a "gentle" gorilla $5,500; pythons $75; a bare-eyed cockatoo, $250; an elephant that "can be handled by a child," $3,000, and an orangutan that wears clothes, $3,000 — wardrobe extra.

Half the part-time workers in the United States are women, and five out of six of them work part time because they don't want a full-time job. They just want to bring a little more income into the family. The typical part-time woman worker is 37, married, and has two children still in school.

O, say can you see: Practically everyone complains that "The Star-Spangled Banner" is hard to sing, but Americans sang it for 114 years before Congress finally got around to making it our national anthem in 1931.

No sure cure for baldness has been found for either people or billiard balls. But if you are getting bald, it may comfort you to know that it proves you are a pioneer. Dr. Arthur C. Curtis, University of Michigan dermatologist, predicts that "centuries from now men and women will be hairless."

No sweat: Elah Prison in Israel claims it is the only prison in the world which is fully air-conditioned.

Apt definitions: Actor Robert Morse defines a real executive as "a guy who gets his secretary to do his crossword puzzles for him." Catholic Digest magazine says an average citizen is "one who isn't afraid to bawl out the president, but is always polite to a policeman."

HIGH COST

Prosperity note: Traffic accidents in 1966, the Insurance Information Institute estimates, caused an economic loss of $13 billion, 16 per cent more than the year before. That figures out at a cost of more than $65 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

Big problem: The human brain, which weighs about three pounds, can hold enough information to fill six million books. But why is it that a husband can't remember his wife's birthday—or a grocery list of more than three items?

Worth remembering: "Ideas are funny little things. They won't work unless you do."

Health hint: If you must smoke, avoid a sedentary life. A survey of 55,000 smokers here found that those who were physically inactive were three times as likely to have a heart attack as those who exercised regularly.

Next 6 Months to Be Harder for British

By the Associated Press

The new year ended the first period of total freeze on wages, prices and incomes. The next six months of credit squeeze and "severe restraint" may be harder for Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government to enforce.

Unions, growing restive, talk of refusing to cooperate when the thaw is due to begin in July. Business is afraid the economy may be permanently squeezed out of shape by lack of investment for retooling. The government still has not worked out its policy for getting the economy moving again.

★ ★ ★

Wilson's austerity program succeeded in its short-run objective of stabilizing the pound sterling, boosting the gold reserves, and pulling the trade balance out of the red. A surplus of more than $500 million is predicted this year, enough to pay off the first installment on loans that supported the pound during two years of crisis.

But will the year complete the job of shocking the nation into a new outlook? First results suggest it will. Industry is reorganizing into large units for international competition. Management is getting tougher. Some unions accept the view that fatter pay envelopes can only come from higher productivity.

PACE SET

The government has set the pace in reshaping the steel industry, aircraft and shipbuilding. Even before impending nationalization, three big steel companies combined to produce steel pipe needed to bring in natural gas discovered in the North Sea.

★ ★ ★

The machine tool industry, one of the early sources of Britain's industrial power but lately living on past glories, has begun combining into larger units. Some companies have reached into West Germany and the United States to buy up firms that will strengthen their sales lines.

The electrical industry is being linked under the force of the Electric Power Board decision to buy in bulk.

An almost textbook example of rationalization occurred when Distillers Co. agreed to sell its chemical subsidiaries to British Petroleum, which needed extra capacity in petrochemicals to compete with American giants. Distillers received cash to expand its dollar-earning distilleries.

★ ★ ★

In the grip of the economic squeeze, management in many fields has begun cutting out deadwood. Almost unnoticed in the unemployment figures — now heading toward 600,000 and more than twice last year's — in the number of junior executives looking for work. The Times review of management and technology estimated them at 20,000.

The world's first three-color traffic control light was installed in 1919 in Detroit, Mich.

These Dogs Guinea Pigs for Products

By Science Service

HUNTINGDON, England — Looking like ultraluxury boarding kennels, with central heating, high airy rooms, neat water and food bowls all full, a new research center has just been opened at Alconbury near here.

With accommodations for 1,000 dogs and a staff of 240, the center has the task of testing products intended for human consumption. But, instead of using human "guinea pigs," the dogs are employed.

The main work of the research center, which has cost $130,000 to build, is the trying out of new drugs, new food additives and new medicines for toxicity before they are consumed by man. Other tests are on new animal medicines.

All the dogs live anonymous lives. They have no names, only numbers on tags around their necks, and they have been sheared of all their fur.

DEATH CAR FOUND — Police and helpers pull a sedan from the 30-foot-deep waters of Hoover Reservoir just north of Columbus, Ohio, this weekend. The car, driven by Mrs. Mary Helen Rutherford, 41, of Delaware, Ohio, plunged into the reservoir earlier in the week carrying Mrs. Rutherford, her four children and two sets of twin nieces to their deaths—nine fatalities. They had been missing since Tuesday, and a broken guard rail led the the finding of the car.

Bobby's Wife Faces Horse Suit Today

FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — Because she tried to rescue a starving horse three years ago, Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy faces a $30,000 civil suit in Circuit Court here today.

★ ★ ★

Suing the wife of the New York senator is farmer-horse-breeder Nicholas N. Zemo of Washington, D.C. He has been convicted of cruelty to seven horses, including the thoroughbred Mrs. Kennedy befriended.

★ ★ ★

That horse, a yearling named Pande, died Oct. 13, 1963, five days after Mrs. Kennedy came to its aid.

On Nov. 7, 1963, Zemo was convicted of cruelty to animals, fined $250 and given a six-month suspended jail sentence after Mrs. Kennedy testified about rescuing his "obviously starving" horse from a chicken coop.

Now, Zemo is suing wealthy Mrs. Kennedy for damages on the ground that she directed her groom, Richard Mayberry, to take Pande to her McLean, Va., home, and then "refused to return the horse — and has never returned the horse."

Lawyers for Mrs. Kennedy said she would be in court for the scheduled hearing of the case.

Mrs. Kennedy, 38, was riding in the Virginia countryside with some of her children when they came upon Pande.

House Seat for Georgia Negro Likely

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Georgia House of Representatives was expected to seat Negro Julian Bond without fanfare today when the 1967 General Assembly opens a 45-day session.

★ ★ ★

Last year, the young Negro representative from Atlanta was twice denied his seat because of statements critical of U.S. policy in Vietnam. But apparently there will be no contest this year.

Rep. Jones Lane of Statesboro, the man who filed the original protest against Bond, said yesterday he would offer no contest because of the U.S. Supreme Court decision last month that the General Assembly was in error in refusing to seat Bond in the 1966 session.

Lane added he still felt that Bond was unfit to sit in the House.

★ ★ ★

"But we and the people we represent, unlike Bond and his cohorts, would not defy the law of the land," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bond was an information officer for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee when he made his anti-Vietnam statements and said he admired the courage of draft card burners. He has since left the militant Negro organization.

Georgia Assembly Gathering to Elect a Governor Tomorrow

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Georgia General Assembly organizes today for a joint session tomorrow in which it is expected to select as governor segregationist Democrat Lester Maddox who ran second to Republican Howard (Bo) Callaway in last fall's general election.

★ ★ ★

The selection of the governor was tossed into the general assembly, after numerous court suits, when neither candidate received a majority of the votes in the Nov. 8 general election.

Callaway, a handsome 39-year-old heir to a textile fortune, polled 450,387 votes to 448,259 for the 51-year-old Maddox who first gained national attention with ax handle resistance at his fried chicken restaurant to federal integration laws.

In a face-to-face confrontation last night, Maddox expressed confidence that the predominantly Democratic legislature would select him as the governor to succeed Carl E. Sanders.

★ ★ ★

Callaway said he was not quitting, although one Republican leader said he sounded "like a defeated candidate."

NOT ENOUGH

Callaway has admitted he does not have enough support to post a legislative victory and has supported proposals to let the voters decide the race in a special runoff election.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

A False SOS Starts 3-Hour Search of Lake

GRAND HAVEN (UPI) — A "Mayday" distress signal that apparently was a hoax sent Coast Guard planes and boats on a three-hour search of Lake Michigan in a near-blizzard yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Officials here discontinued their search for a distressed vessel late yesterday after they failed to come up with any trace of a vessel in trouble after three hours of searching a 10-mile area offshore.

Three Coast Guard ships, a helicopter and two planes had been pressed into the search after a Belmont, Mich., man heard a signal on his citizens band radio saying: "Need help, taking on water fast. Please help . . . 10 miles out, a red boat."

"After the original report, we tried to see if any ships or boats were missing, and none were," said Ensign Ron Coonin. "We checked with marinas, docks and fishing piers all along Lake Michigan and none reported any vessels missing."

★ ★ ★

The Coast Guard planes were forced back to their base early in the search due to a blizzard-like snowstorm on the lake that cut visibility to one mile.

CALLED OFF

A few hours later, authorities called off the entire search saying it would be resumed when and if more evidence was found that a vessel was in distress.

★ ★ ★

Coast Guard spokesmen said a small craft might have used a citizens band radio, but said the steamers and tankers and fishing boats that travel Lake Michigan during the winter use ship-to-shore radios instead of citizens bands.

Pakistan Is Silent on Chinese N-Test

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Pakistan has maintained a discreet silence amid the jubilation of other friendly quarters over Communist China's latest test of a nuclear device.

So far, neither government officials nor the nation's press have uttered a word about it. But observers say it would be a mistake to interpret possible ill winds in the air between Peking and Rawalpindi.

Rather, they point out, the Chinese explosion came at a time when Pakistan has before the United Nations a proposal to convince nonnuclear powers to condemn further nuclear proliferation.

Morally, Pakistan can't very well preach non-proliferation and rejoice in Peking's explosion at the same time.

Privately, however, Pakistan does rejoice because it indicates the growing might of what officials here believe is the only power in the world likely to come to Pakistan's aid in a war with India.

PULLBACK — Difficult days may lie ahead for basic industries in the European Common Market.

Both the coal and steel industries in the six-member countries are holding record stocks.

Production will have to be pulled back, and unemployment figures are expected to shoot up sharply in coming months. But Common Market executives feel this drastic action is necessary to reduce stocks which have been dragging prices downward and leading market producers into cutthroat competition with each other.

OLD FEUD — Although Romania is the first Communist state to establish consular relations with Spain, the Soviet Union for several years has been showing an interest in normalizing relations.

Soviet cultural and athletic groups have been permitted to visit Spain and the two countries have been doing some trade with each other through third-country intermediaries. But no progress toward reestablishment of diplomatic relations may be expected soon.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco insists on the return of Spanish state gold which went to Russia during the Civil War.

★ ★ ★

The Russians hold that the gold constituted payment for arms and food deliveries which the Russians made to the then legitimate Republican government.

Ancient Mayas in El Salvador were familiar with the wheel, but they seldom used it. It is believed that a powerful guild of porters successfully fought automation by wheeled vehicles.

Must Fight and Pacify, Too

GIs Learn Dilemmas of Delta

RACH KIEN, South Vietnam (AP) — Here in Rach Kien, center of the richest rice district in Vietnam, U.S. troops are learning firsthand the dilemmas of the Mekong River delta.

They must fight a war and pacify the countryside at the same time. And as the days go by, more and more peasant farmhouses are being destroyed.

★ ★ ★

The orders to a battalion of the U.S. 25th Division are specific:

Shoot only when shot at, use artillery fire extremely sparingly, avoid destroying crops and especially homes.

DUAL AIMS

The military aim is to drive the enemy's local forces and guerrillas out of Rach Kien district. The pacification aim is to win over the population to the American side.

But the 2nd Battalion, 14th Regiment, is facing frustrations that reflect many fears about the delta war.

★ ★ ★

The Americans came to Rach Kien in a hurry. The Saigon government gave up the town in October 1965, because of mounting Vietcong pressure. Then nine-tenths of the town's 3,500 population moved out, either as refugees to Saigon, 20 miles to the northwest, or into the hinterland with the Vietcong.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam, is known to have given his personal blessing to the scheme to put Americans in Rach Kien to force back the Vietcong and pacify the district.

FIRST PROBLEM

Things went quickly.

The battalion flew in to Rach Kien a few days before Christmas and encountered the first problem. There was no place to bivouac the troops other than in the houses within the village of Rach Kien itself. The countryside is so lush that every inch of ground is planted in rice.

★ ★ ★

So the Americans moved into about half the village, occupying 30 houses. Some had been abandoned over the year, others still held families.

Saigon government officials began discussing with Americans indemnities and rents. One woman arrived from Saigon and demanded 30,000 piasters—about $250—rent per month, exhorbitantly high even in Saigon for a house of this kind.

The commander of the American unit, Lt. Col. Charles A. Gillis, Colorado Springs, Colo., paid immediate indemnity for two thatched homes knocked down by the blast from landing helicopters. One home owner received 4,000 piasters, another 1,000. That payment almost exhausted the battalion's pacification funds.

NOT IN BUDGET

The scheme to retake and pacify Rach Kien was formulated without conferring with provincial officials. Therefore the town is not included in the 1967 pacification budget for Long An Province.

★ ★ ★

"All the talk and negotiations in the world are useless if we don't have the money to pay for these homes, and we need it in a hurry," one U.S. officer commented.

Lack of funds is also holding up schemes to rebuild the school, currently occupied by U.S. soldiers as a supply depot and mess hall, and also to clean up the large dispensary which the Vietcong used as a rest center.

★ ★ ★

The Americans have built up the homes they occupy into sandbagged fortifications, with machine guns poking out from doorways and windows.

'NO CHOICE'

Gillis says he realizes the danger to the town now that U.S. troops have taken half of it over. "If the Vietcong attack through that part of town which we don't occupy then I know I might have no choice but to smash the homes to pieces with mortars and heavy weapons fire," Gillis said.

In that case, the civilian population would have to fend for themselves.

★ ★ ★

Gillis and his officers hope that they can cut down the sniper fire and drive the Vietcong out of the area before they have to reduce the whole countryside to ashes.

Don't Toss That Junk Away, Recycle It

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The consumer doesn't really consume.

★ ★ ★

Eventually, says Dr. Athelstan Spilhaus, he throws away the same amount of material he uses.

This is true not only of the water he drinks and the food he eats but also of the manufactured goods he buys.

And there, according to Spilhaus, you have one of the reasons our environment is getting to be so polluted and cluttered that it is unpleasant even to look at.

★ ★ ★

The answer, as Spilhaus sees it, is "total recycling."

SYMPOSIUM

Spilhaus, head of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology, participated in a recent symposium here on "Preserving the Environment."

Iron ore dust is now being recycled into the steel mill. Ash from stoke stacks is being collected and used in cement and bricks. A plant in Florida converts a city's garbage into fertilizer. Even the undigested food from the stomachs of slaughtered beef animals is being made into "Fortified cattle feed."

But what about manufactured products such as refrigerators which are hauled to the dump in the course of time? These, too, Spilhaus said, can be returned to the mainstream of production.

"With total recycling," he said, "there is no such thing as waste and no pollution."

"Junk is a word that epitomizes the immorality and ignorance of not recycling," Spilhaus said.

"The automobile is the most conspicuous example. It should be designed at the start with its eventual reclamation in mind."

Hidden Meanings

Good Story (Editor Likes It)

By DICK WEST
United Press International

WASHINGTON — One of my Pentagon agents recently smuggled out an unofficial Air Force document that provides an illuminating glimpse of the military mind at work.

WEST

The paper is a glossary explaining the meaning of terms used in personnel reports. Following are some of the terms with their definitions given in parentheses:

- Exceptionally well-qualified. (Has committed no major blunders to date).
- Active socially. (Drinks heavily).
- Exceptional flying ability. (Has equal number of takeoffs and landings).
- Quick thinking. (Offers plausible excuses for errors).
- Indifferent in instructions. (Knows more than his superiors).
- Approaches difficult problems with zest. (Finds someone else to do the job).
- Often spends extra hours on the job. (Has miserable home life).
- Takes advantage of every opportunity to progress. (Buys drinks for exec and C.O.).
- Expressing himself well. (Speaks English).
- Demonstrates qualities of leadership. (Has loud voice).
- Keen sense of humor. (Has vast repertoire of dirty jokes).
- A very fine officer of great value to the service. (Usually gets to work on time).

After I read this list I got to thinking that Congress will soon be back in session and that it might be helpful if I prepared a little glossary of terms our lawgivers frequently use.

- The chairman has promised to give my bill the highest priority. (He put it in the top pigeonhole).
- Legislation of this importance should not be brought to the floor without extensive public hearings. (I need more time to line up votes).

Get Into Dry Dock

Heed Storm Warnings

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 59-year-old widow with no family ties, and my problem is like the song, "I Get the Blues When It Rains." I suppose there are others with the same problem, but mine is quite serious because when I get the blues I start to drink and there is no stopping me.

ABBY

I have often thought of forming a RAINY DAY PEN PAL CLUB. People who start to drink when it rains could write letters to each other instead of drinking. If you don't think that would work, have you any other ideas?

RAINY DAY DRINKER

DEAR DRINKER: It's as useless to try to drown one's sorrows in ink as in drink. (Sorrows can swim.) Attend a meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. There you will meet many fine people who have drunk when it rained, and others who didn't need an excuse.

They will comfort, strengthen and inspire you to stay dry regardless of the weather. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in reference to your reply to "Kicked in K. C.," who complained when her husband walked across the room and without a word, kicked her in front of guests for sitting badly with her dress hiked up.

You told the wife to feed her husband hay — an appropriate diet for animals who did not speak but kicked, instead. But I notice you didn't say anything to that wife for sitting the way she did. While I do not condone Mr. K's treatment, I silently applaud him because I feel certain that he must have mentioned this to his wife many times before and she paid no heed.

As a lady myself, I have often been embarrassed in company by the way some 'ladies' sit, revealing girdles, garters, slips, panties and in some cases even more. There should be more husbands like Mr. K. And when ladies sit like ladies, they'll be treated as ladies and have no kick coming.

A LADY

DEAR ABBY: Hurrah for the man who kicked his wife for sitting in an undignified position and showing too much. I think the fashion pace-setters who dreamed up those short, tight skirts and dresses should also be kicked.

DISGUSTED

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHOCKED AND DISGUSTED FROM CENTRAL OHIO: There are plenty of people who are eager to buy impressive monuments for their dear departed ones, so since your husband is a monument salesman, let him find them and sell monuments. I think, however, that the farmer's young widow had a point.

Fixing up the farm her husband loved and trying to operate it to the best of her ability would indeed be a "fitting monument" to her husband's memory. And the fact that she was dressed in jeans and boots and was working around "smelly hogs" did not necessarily mean that she was not bearing her grief with dignity. How else should a woman be dressed to work on a farm?

WNFGA Continues Meetings

Cranbrook branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, resumed its series of programs with a salad luncheon today in the home of Mrs. Harold Tanner on Ardmore Drive.

Speaking on "Psychology in the Garden," Mrs. Alice Wessels Burlingame also brought highlights of her summer travels in Ireland.

BROOKSIDE

Sam Bridges of Pontiac State Hospital presented an illustrated lecture titled "Greenhouse Therapy" before the Brookside branch WNFGA, Friday, in the home of Mrs. Calvin Werner on Endsleigh Drive.

He expressed appreciation of the WNFGA volunteers whose help has made the gardens surrounding the buildings possible.

Brookside members are among those who helped make corsages and flower arrangements in the hortotherapy program.

Roller Cleans Walls

DEAR POLLY — Rebecca can wash her textured walls without having a "sponge or cloth chewed to bits" if she uses a paint roller. I have just finished house cleaning and washed the texture-painted walls and ceilings all over the house with a roller.

★ ★ ★

Mix your favorite cleaning solution, roll it on, then rinse with a cloth, towel of sponge that has been dipped in clean water.

★ ★ ★

My husband says textured paint can be removed with a sander but I hope Rebecca lives with her walls for awhile before changing. We like ours so well, especially when they have just been "rollered" clean — SALLY

DEAR READERS—Removing textured paint from walls is really a job for a professional and even then the dust is terrific. It will be a long, tedious job; then you are faced with lots of cleaning to remove the dust. Texture-painted wall are often confused with walls that are really rough-plastered or sand-finished. Be sure what you have before attempting removal.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Hooray for Mrs. L. F. L. who wants the readers' views on supermarket games. They are boring and expensive for the consumer and I prefer to pay less for groceries. I also deplore stamps of any sort. This my first letter to a newspaper but I want to add my "out with the rewards for buying."—B. K. M.

DEAR POLLY — Do let me add my protest to that of Mrs. L. F. L. who is fed up with the innumerable games, gimmicks and grab bags in supermarkets, gas stations and the mail. These stupid promotions can only add to the cost of the products and we housewives are sick unto death of the unending sprial in the cost of living. — MRS. J. H. C.

DEAR POLLY — I agree 100 per cent with Mrs. L. F. L. in regard to the supermarket games and so on. I, too, would rather the stores would concentrate on the value of the food dollar.

My suggestion is (and I wish you would print it for the markets to see) if they really want to give something to their regular customers, why not have said customers save the tapes (no time limit) until they have spent $100 or even several hundred dollars and then give them a flat discount?

★ ★ ★

It could be printed on cards for the checkers just as the tax now is. In this way everyone would benefit. Naturally it is nice to win $1,000 or a big prize but I think my way would be better for everyone concerned. Does anyone agree?—EVELYN

DEAR GIRLS — Believe it or not, to date we have not received one letter in favor of the grocery store games and gimmicks. The only good word reveived was for coupons, in the following letter from one of our gentleman friends.—POLLY

New Hosiery Stays There All by Itself

Garterless socks and stockings are the newest "inventions" from the hosiery industry.

For women, there are seamless stretch nylons with a porous elastic band at top which clings—rather than grips—the leg to keep the stockings trim and smooth. For men, there are nylon stretch socks with a semi-attched strip which pulls up over the calf for support.

According to the experts, none of their garterless hose lose elasticity even after the daily sudsing required by all stockings.

Newlyweds Must Have Savings Plan

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

A young wife in her late 20's wrote me recently to say: "My husband and I started out with two incomes and three dreams. We've managed to make two of the dreams come true. We established a savings account and bought a home.

MARY FEELEY

Now the third dream is about to come true. We're expecting our first child."

She was arguing the case for the young married couple who decide they're responsible enough to set up their plan for living on two salaries — his and hers.

She and her husband had discussed the dangers of keying their living costs to the wife's income as well as the husband's. A young married woman may find, all of a sudden, that there are good reasons for giving up her job. In which case, the husband finds his own modest income must cover expenses which were originally geared to two incomes. And that's when discouragement and debt move in to live.

But not, this young wife insists, if the early years of marriage are years of decision and fortitude. They set specific goals — fairly short range goals which could conceivably be realized within five or six years.

As they saw each one achieved it gave them a feeling of stability and confidence. So her plea today is: "encourage young couples to build their future on their combined incomes, if they have the stamina to manage their money, make definite plans, and not just live it up because the wife is bringing home an extra salary."

Well, I'll go along with this philosophy — for those young people who will take to heart the words "have stamina to manage money and make definite plans."

As a general rule, I know from experience with young people that putting the working wife's salary aside for emergencies and living on the husband's salary is a sound practice. If the rent is based on what the husband's income alone can afford, they're better off in a financial emergency.

RESPECT LIMITS

However, many young people today are approaching marriage and its money problems with a sober point of view. The war in Vietnam, plus inflationary prices at home, plus tax increases, have put them in a mood to respect the limitations of a dollar. So I'm setting up a budget for a couple not quite out of their teens, who ask in today's mail how they can combine their salaries in order to get the most living:

Dear Miss Feeley: My husband brings home $97 a week, and my job pays $60 a week after deductions. He is 19 and I am 18. We need a budget, as we want to make plans for our future and not fritter our money away because it's easy to do.

Will you help us?
Mrs. E. T., Tucson, Ariz.

Dear Mrs. T., Try this out. Combined monthly take-home pay $675:

Rent, $100; household operating costs (utilities and maintenance), $33; food at home, $100; clothing and upkeep, $40; savings, $6; insurance, $30; loan for furnishings if necessary, based on one-year plan, $80; personal allowances, $86; medical, $20; recreation and vacation, $30; educational material, books, magazines, newspapers, $20; car operating, including insurance, $46; miscellaneous (gifts, contributions, church,) $30. Total, $675.

★ ★ ★

This budget is based on 4.3 weeks in a month. I've allowed a bit extra for food, since you're both working and that almost inevitably means hasty shopping — and more expensive shopping.

'Best-Dressed' Label Amuses Romneys

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney "just doesn't pay that much attention to his clothes," says a source close to the governor—his wife.

That's why, when the fashion foundation of America named Romney as the best dressed man in government this week, "we laughed ourselves sick," Lenore Romney said.

Not that he shouldn't be listed as well dressed, she added.

★ ★ ★

"I think the reason he was chosen to be on the list is that he looks so good in his clothes," said the wife of the handsome, silver-haired governor, who is considered a likely choice for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

"He has square shoulders and he just looks, well . . . neat and trim," said Mrs. Romney. "I always have thought that of him anyway."

And if the governor hasn't worried much about fashion, she has. Before he became governor in 1962, Mrs. Romney chose at least half of his wardrobe.

Romney's preference is for casual, conservative clothes—"the kind where he can put his hands in his pockets and be comfortable," the First Lady said.

Newlyweds Go to California

Leaving for Santa Ana, Calif. this week were the newlywed U.S.M.C. Lance Cpl. and Mrs. Robert Gregory Cruickshank (Jennifer Ann Nowels).

Their parents are the John R. Nowels of Rochester, Mrs. Marvin Duckett of Ferndale and Robert Cruickshank of Armada.

Navy Man Takes Bride

P.O.2.C. and Mrs. Ronald J. McGinnis Jr. (Rebecca Gaye Ragatz) who were married recently are residing in Havre de Grace, Harford, Md. near Bainbridge where he is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

After a northern honeymoon the couple spent some time with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Ragatz of Hanford Street and the Ronald McGinnises of Embarcadero Drive.

The Ralph T. Shells of Lake Orion announce the engagement of their daughter Penny Lynne to Pvt. 2.C. Louis M. Leverenz, son of Mrs. Lois Leverenz of Royal Oak and Louis Leverenz of Detroit. She is a graduate of the Ann Arbor Practical Nurse Education Center. Her fiance who attended Flint Junior College is stationed at Valley Forge Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI) —Correspondent Peter Threestars reported in the Tundra Times that Mrs. Bessie Walter, daughter of a chief, is more than 100 years of age "by winter count."

★ ★ ★

Threestars said that the chief died at the age of 90 in 1927 and by comparing her memories in connection with family records, Mrs. Walter may be as old as 106.

★ ★ ★

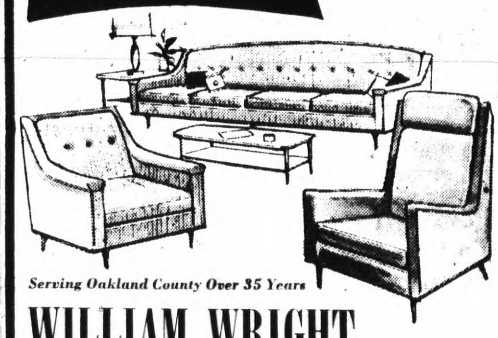

She was born at Lake Mansfield north of Tanacross and has spent her life in that area. She currently lives with Mrs. Andrew Isaac, the only survivor of her 16 children.

★ ★ ★

Her son-in-law is chief at Tanacross and the last descendant of the great "Chief Issac, of the Athabascans."

PINCHED NERVES

If you are nervous, irritable, suffer with frequent headaches, dizziness, experience pain in your neck, shoulders, arms, back and legs, or feel a tightness and pain in your chest and in between your shoulder blades, the chances are you have pinched and irritated nerves.

Often falls, sprains and faulty posture cause misalignment of the spine, which result in pressure on nerve roots. Any pinching of these nerves as they leave the spine can cause trouble in the organs and limbs serviced by them.

The doctor of chiropractic works with the spine and nerves. He has spent many years studying the body. His objective is to locate and correct nerve pressures that are causing disorders in your body. Let chiropractic help you, as it has helped others.

Kingsley Inn Is Scene of Reception

A reception in the Kingsley Inn followed the marriage of Vivian Florence Tiffany to David Lee Dove, Saturday, in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Harry J. Tiffanys of Orchardale Drive, Avon Township, and the Lawrence Doves of Mount Clemens Street, are the newlyweds' parents.

LACE GOWN

Complementing the bride's gown of white Rochelle lace over taffeta, styled with basque waist and tiered skirt, was a cathedral-length veil of imported illusion.

During the evening rite, she held a bouquet of white poinsettias.

★ ★ ★

With Mrs. Harry Tiffany Jr. honor matron, were the bridesmaids Judy Dove, Cathy Clancy, Patricia and Debbie Gibbons, Jeannie Tiffany and Kelly McDaniel.

Lawrence Dove Jr. was best man for his brother. Seating guests were David Smith, George Green, Harry Tiffany Jr., Dennis Dove and Robert Burgess.

Fool Children Into Cooperation

What better way to clean splash marks from the tile around the bathtub than to let the children do it under the guise of play. During the daily tubbing, give them soap and sponges and let them wash to their hearts' content. When they finish, the tile is also clean—at least halfway up.

Unsweetened pineapple juice and ginger ale make good additions to cider. Use equal quantities of ginger ale and cider and half as much of the pineapple juice.

Workshop for Hygienists

The first workshop of the Oakland County Dental Hygienists' Society will be Jan. 25 at the Kingsley Inn.

Featured will be registration, questions and answers and table clinics. Special demonstrations of Cavitron and Ultrasonic 880 will be given.

Coffee, cocktails and luncheon will be served at the day-long event.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Douglas Fortin of Pontiac Lake Road

KNOWS HIS TIPPERS—London taxi driver Burt Burns looks through the opening in a partition between him and his passenger and delivers the opinion that "In America, the woman is the best tipper. In London, it's the other way around."

U.S. Women Tip Big, Says London Cabby

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "In America the woman is the best tipper," said London taxi driver Burt Burns. "She tips better than the American man. In London it's the other way round."

Why?

★ ★ ★

"If I may generalize," replied Burt, "I think it's because in America the women have most of the money, and over here, it's the men who have it."

Burt shouted back through a small opening in the glass partition between driver and passenger:

"Some say it's because America is a woman's country and Britain is a man's land. But I really wouldn't know about that I'd like to add this though — New York is an exception. New York men tip as well as their ladies."

OUTSTANDING

Cockney-born Burt Burns is such an outstanding character-driver that the British Travel Association selected him to pilot a cab around New York, across Canada and down into California a couple of years ago.

★ ★ ★

What is the average tip in London?

★ ★ ★

"I shouldn't be telling you, but it's between nine pence (about 10 cents) and a shilling (14 cents). But a lot of people — including even American visitors — don't tip at all."

NO TIPS

You mean there lives an American tourist who does not tip?

"Americans are the best tippers of all foreigners but some of them don't.

★ ★ ★

"I think it's for one of two reasons. Americans aren't stingy, but a lot of them come from small towns where tipping isn't the rule. And I believe that a lot of them think that I've taken out the tip, or have included it in the charge."

Junior Editors Quiz on BACTERIA

QUESTION: Why do foods spoil and how can we prevent it?

ANSWER: Food spoils because of chemical changes, or because tiny organisms grow in it, such as bacteria. These minute organisms can multiply at amazing speed. One bacterium can produce 16 million new ones in 24 hours. Many bacteria are useful, since they do away with waste matter. But others can cause poisoning.

Several methods are used to prevent such spoiling of food. Storing in a cold refrigerator is one. This slows down the growth of bacteria and reduces harmful chemical change. Another method is to can food after it has been treated, which destroys the bacteria and prevents chemical action, in most cases, for more than a year.

Freezing is another important way to preserve food, since this prevents the tiny organisms from growing and keeps chemical changes under control.

Drying, or taking most of the moisture out of food, is also useful, as bacteria cannot grow when food is dry (lower left, a prune and two raisins).

To prevent chemical action, some dried foods are also blanched, or exposed to heat. Still another method is curing, by using some combination of cooking, smoking, salting and drying, often with certain harmless chemicals added.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Put unused food back in the refrigerator. Don't let the food you eat get dirty, and be sure your hands are clean when eating.

Bee Venom May Shield Against Radiation

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Bees make honey and they sting. The sting, with further research, may provide a protective agent against lethal doses of radiation.

The research by the U.S. Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory here was triggered by an 8-year-old girl's desire to own a hive of bees.

"May I have some bees?" Jean asked her father, William H. Shipman, a laboratory research chemist.

"I recalled that when I was a child I captured a swarm of bees," Shipman said. "They didn't live long, but I had a lot of fun with them. When my little girl showed me a colony offered in a mail order catalog, I ordered it."

The colony, accompanied with booklets and directions, arrived at a cost of $25. That was three years ago.

"In my reading (of the booklets)," Shipman said, "I discovered that bee venom contains a very powerful enzyme, much like that contained in rattlesnake venom. Rattlesnakes were not too practical. I reasoned that bee venom could be useful to study.

"Nobody knows just what causes deaths from radiation. Nobody knows yet what to do to prevent it. I thought the bee venom was a likely field to study and proposed it."

He made his proposition to Learnod J. Cole, a laboratory radiological biologist. The two men differ in their training. Shipman is in the Nuclear Technology Division's Nuclear Applications Branch; Cole is head of the Experimental Pathology Branch of the Biological and Medical Sciences Division.

They've been working on the problem since. Jean Shipman is now 11 years old. Shipman has four beehives of his own, but he's using most of his experimental bees from Gregory Walls, who has an apiary in the mountains near Santa Cruz.

Shipman and Cole, after months of investigating the effect of bee venom on mice, have found that 80 per cent of mice survived that had been subjected to 825 roentgens of X-ray radiation for 24 hours after receiving injections of bee venom dissolved in ordinary table salt solutions. All of a control group with no venom protection died.

"Bee venom is a complex mixture of toxins, enzymes and other substances which have not yet been identified," Cole said. "We're not certain yet just how it affords the radio-protection that it does, but we're continuing our research to learn more about it."

Shipman, a modest researcher, would make no forecasts on the worth of findings so far.

"We've only scratched the surface in our study," he said. "We still don't know the entire complexity of bee venom. We still don't know the exact cause of human deteriorization following exposure to radiation exposure as that of an atomic explosion."

Deadline Is Met at Great Cost

BIRKENHEAD, England (UPI) — Shipyard workers here met the 100-day deadline on a repair contract, but to do so they had to make the supreme sacrifice. They gave up tea breaks.

The repair company, in a thank you message to workmen, said it figured the men had saved 14 days time by doing without their traditional tea breaks.

Noisy Birds

Townsite 'Scrubbed'

PERTH (AP) — One of Australia's rarest birds, the noisy scrub bird, has forced the West Australian State Government to abandon plans to establish a new town.

The town, Casuarina, was to have been in the heart of the noisy scrub bird country near Albany, 300 miles south of Perth.

The dropping of the proposed townsite, which was announced in an issue of the Government Gazette, is a victory for the wildlife conservationists in Western Australia who have been trying to preserve the area as a fauna reserve.

The noisy scrub bird was first identified by ornithologist John Gould in 1843 from specimens collected in the area.

★ ★ ★

Between 1889 and 1961 the bird was neither seen nor heard, but it reappeared and was positively identified at Christmas 1961.

40 PAIRS

There are believed to be about 40 pairs of the birds in the area. The noisy scrub bird is extremely elusive and the male has a call like the crack of a whip.

Two Burglaries in Shelby Twp.

Police Investigating Possible Connection

Shelby Township police are investigating a possible connection between two weekend burglaries in buildings directly across Van Dyke from each other. Both were discovered yesterday.

★ ★ ★

A safe and a typewriter, total value at $1,826, were taken from Suburban Transmission Repair Shop at 48050 Van Dyke.

Police said entrance was gained by breaking the window in a rear door. The discovery was made at 7 a.m.

Two large plate glass display windows at the S & K Drug Store, 48081 Van Dyke, were found smashed earlier.

★ ★ ★

Police said a U.S. Postal Stamp machine containing an unknown amount of money and a cash drawer thought to hold about $200 in change were missing.

TAKE INVENTORY

An inventory was being taken this morning, police said, to note other missing items.

Deputies Arrest Two City Teens After Burglary

Two teen-age Pontiac boys were apprehended by Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday afternoon, shortly after a reported burglary of an Independence Township home.

★ ★ ★

The youths, 14 and 15, were found in possession of items taken from the home of Elmer Boarway, 7400 Deer Lake, according to investigators.

The items recovered included two hunting knives, a pair of gloves, a wristwatch, $55 in cash, two cartons of cigarettes and a cash box.

Deputies said they followed tracks leading from Boarway's house to a nearby barn at 7700 Dixie where the youths were found.

★ ★ ★

Damage included a forced garage door and two ripped-out phones.

Group Relations to Be Discussed

A program on Pontiac School System's provision for intergroup relations will be presented at 7 p.m. Thursday at LeBaron Eleemntary School, 1033 Barkell.

Discussion will be conducted by Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer; John F. Perdue, director of school-community and human relations for the district; and board of education members.

Delay Sought on State Cars

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Emil Lockwood of St. Louis, the Senate Republican leader, said today a resolution authorizing use of state - owned cars by legislators is not binding on the new Legislature and may be unconstitutional.

Lockwood said he has asked George Washington, director of the Department of Administration, not to honor legislators' requests for state-owned cars.

The legislature last month passed a resolution aimed at permitting lawmakers to use state cars and gasoline credit cars on official business if they waived their normal mileage allowance.

Lockwood's letter to Washington said:

"I feel that no Legislature can bind a future Legislature by resolution.

"There is a good possibility that the action taken by resolution is unconstitutional. There is a constitutional provision that action of this nature must be by statute."

Suspect Quizzed in 2 Farm Deaths

MOUNT CLEMENS (UPI) — John W. Scanerick, 40, Sterling Township, was being held in the Macomb County Jail today for questioning about the deaths of two potato farm workers in a fire last night.

Sterling Township police, who have not released the names of the victims, said Scanerick was held "for investigation of first degree murder and arson."

★ ★ ★

The two workers died when fire swept the farm building they lived in. Scanerick, police said, also lived at the Trombly Farms in the township southeast of Utica.

Man Injured Escaping Fire Over Grocery

HANCOCK (UPI)—The latest in a series of fires which have destroyed more than $2 million in buildings and equipment here hit a grocery store last night.

Severely burned and in serious condition was an occupant of a third-floor apartment in the building. The man dived out of a window and hit a neon sign.

Cause of the fire was not determined, officials said.

Saturday night, fire destroyed a welding company in nearby Baraga and last week a church near Houghton was leveled. Fire authorities said the church fire was arson.

★ ★ ★

Within the past year, officials said, fires of a suspicious nature have burned down three area lumber companies, a photographic studio and Lincoln Hall in Hancock.

Destroyed in a fire last week was the Houghton Bond Building, which housed a bakery and restaurant.

Retired Editor Dies at Home

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Lindsey Hoben, who retired last week as editor after 40 years with the Milwaukee Journal, died yesterday at his home. He was 64.

Hoben became editor of the Journal Jan. 9, 1961. He became a member of the Journal Co. board of directors a year later and three years afterward became a vice president.

Goldberg Opposes Forced Arbitration

WASHINGTON (AP) —Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said today that compulsory arbitration to settle all labor disputes "would be totally alien to the American temperament."

★ ★ ★

Goldberg, former secretary of labor, noted recent discussions in government and elsewhere about possible new methods for settling strikes and said: "I am convinced that compulsory arbitration is not the answer. Indeed experience aboard has demonstrated that it will not work in any free society."

★ ★ ★

Addressing a meeting of federal mediators, Goldberg said he did not mean to suggest that present methods for handling strikes which affect the national interest could not be improved.

★ ★ ★

"But I do want to challenge one notion which seems to me pure mythology—namely that nothing is right about our present methods of handling national emergency disputes," Goldberg said.

REASONABLE SUCCESS

"In reality we have an imperfect system which historically has worked reasonably well," he added, "I do not believe a radically new approach is needed."

★ ★ ★

There have been indications the new Congress will consider legislation to limit the right to strike in disputes involving the public interest.

★ ★ ★

Goldberg also said it is a myth that labor and management in this country are eternal enemies.

"Oratory and propaganda" from both business and labor groups sometimes make it sound that way, he said but "the state of labor-management relations in America is, by and large, good."

'MYSTERIOUS GUIDEPOSTS'

Another myth in labor management affairs involves "the mysterious guideposts," Goldberg said.

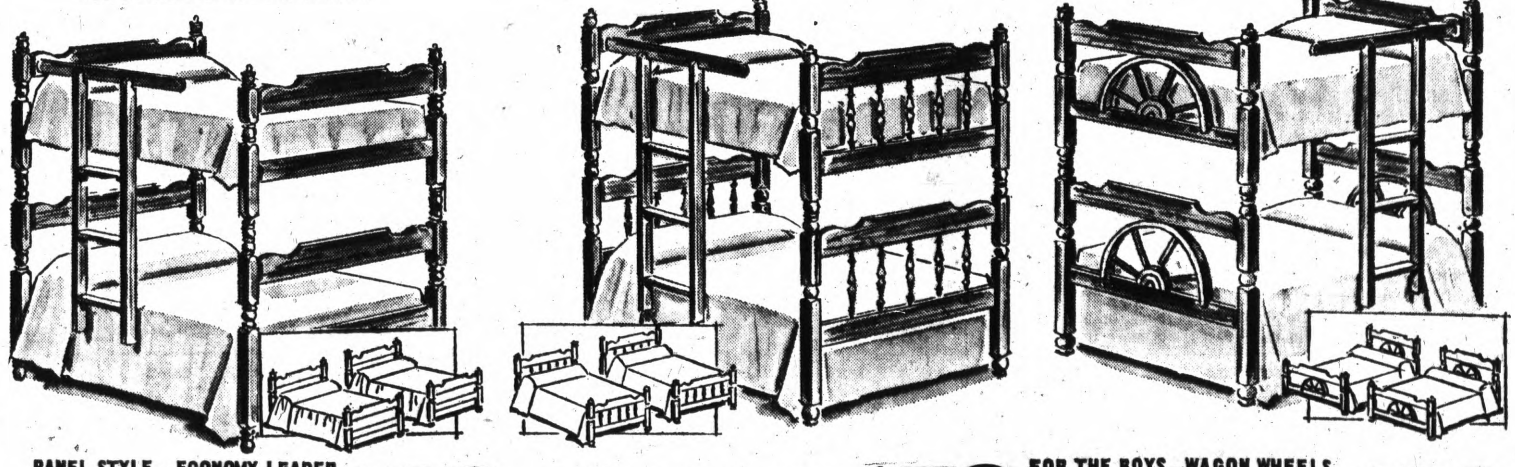

He said government efforts to keep wage increases within certain limits carries "no real substance of control."

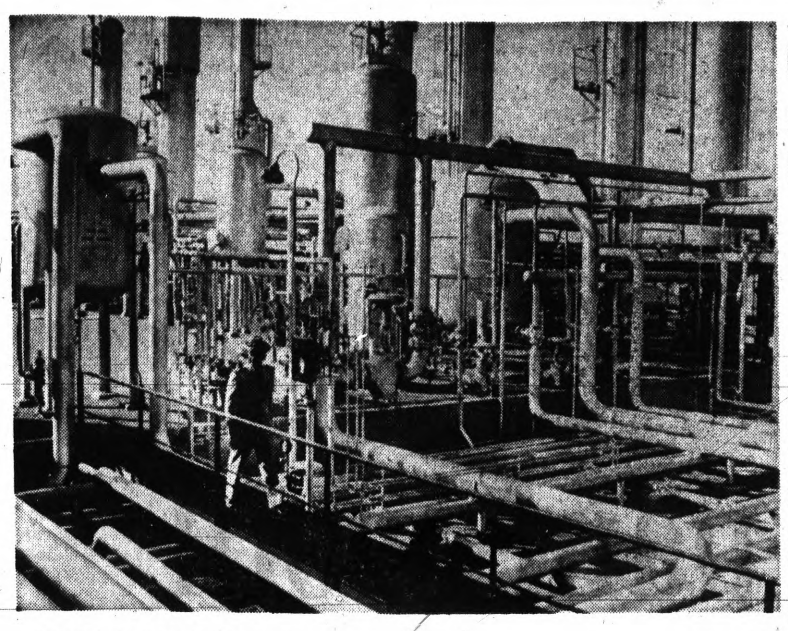

The idea of government guideposts also envisions price cuts in some cases, Goldberg said, and "I must say that as a consumer I have not recently noticed any dividends from this direction."

READY IF NEEDED — Navy Cmdr. Justin D. Denman makes an inspection of the ghostly Elks Hills petroleum reserve refinery near Bakersfield, Calif. The refinery was built in 1952 but never used. The government is keeping the installation on a standby basis in case of emergency.

For Emergencies

U.S. Holds Oil Field Reserve

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — For 54 years the federal government has been hoarding a $3-billion property in Elk Hills, Calif., hoping it may never have to use it.

It is a 98-square-mile reserve rich in oil deposits—one of Uncle Sam's most valuable pieces of real estate. Scattered across the brush-covered hills, 10 miles from Taft, are 1,032 wells ready to produce 230,000 barrels of oil a day.

But aside from periodic checks on functioning—and a short period in World War II — the wells are little used. They are America's standby oil pool for national emergencies.

Probably only an all-out war would get the wells into production.

★ ★ ★

Standing on top of this oil pool is a $5-million gas plant built in 1952. It is really a ghost refinery. Every morning, five days a week, one man reports for work there. He changes oil in the pumps, checks more than 5,000 valves and sprays preservatives.

★ ★ ★

Also, insulation may have to be repaired. Roadrunners and other birds peck at it and take it away for nesting material.

SUPERVISORS

The reserve is administered by the U.S. Navy and is overseen by Navy Commander Justin D. Denman, a veteran of battleship, carrier and cruiser duty.

Assisting Denman is another Navy officer and 16 civilians. Then there are about 100 persons employed by the Standard Oil Co.

Of the 46,095 acres in the reserve, Standard Oil owns about 20 per cent. It owned all the land prior to Sept. 12, 1912 when Congress set it aside. Standard Oil is cooperating with the plan and draws only enough oil to pay taxes and operating expenses.

Added Tax Details When Selling Home

By RAY DE CRANE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A loss on the sale of your home is never deductible on your income tax return. A gain may or may not be taxable depending upon your age and other circumstances.

Like the sale of any other asset, accounting for the sale of a home where there is a gain must be done on Schedule D, a special supplement to Form 1040.

Let's assume you sold your home at a profit and that you are under 65. What happens?

You have a currently taxed profit only if the adjusted sales price of the home you sold exceeds the cost of a new home purchased or constructed within the appropriate time period.

★ ★ ★

FIXING UP

"Fixing up expenses" are those costs undertaken to make your home more salable. They include painting, decorating and repairs. They must have been made within 90 days before the sale was contracted for and paid for within 30 days after the sale to be considered.

Selling expenses include real estate commissions, advertising expense and legal fees in connection with the sale.

If your replacement home costs as much or more than the adjusted sales price of the former home, the tax on any gain is deferred.

You may take advantage of this special tax break only if you buy a new home within one year before or after the sale of your former home. If you are building a replacement home, you must have started it within one year of the sale of the old and occupied it within 18 months of the sale of the old home.

★ ★ ★

O.K., the replacement home cost more than the adjusted sales price of the old home. Does this end it for me? No, there is one other step to be taken.

MAKE ADJUSTMENT

An adjustment must be made in the cost basis of the replacement home for future tax purposes. If, for example, you realized a gain of $6,000 on the first sale, but the tax on the gain is deferred for the reasons outlined above, the new home would be the actual purchase price reduced by the $6,000 deferred gain.

Of course, the special tax break can be used over and over again continually deferring the tax on any gain so long as you move up with each replacement home.

Are the rules different if you are 65 or older when you sell your home?

Yes. If you were 65 and you sold a home that had been your principal residence for at least five of the eight years before the sale, you have no taxable gain if the adjusted sales price was $20,000 or less. It makes no difference how great the profit may have been.

If the adjusted sales price was more than $20,000, the part of the profit which would be tax free is the ratio between $20,000 and the adjusted sales price.

★ ★ ★

Assume your adjusted sales price was $30,000 and your profit $15,000. In this case, $20,000 being two-thirds of $30,000, two-thirds of your $15,000 profit would be tax free. Only the remaining third or $5,000 would be taxable.

Exclusion of gain under this provision can be elected only once in a lifetime.

Two-Year Probation Slapped on School

NCAA Pounces on South Carolina for Rules Violations

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Paul F. Dietzel, once the coach of national championship caliber football teams, faced severe National Collegiate Athletic Association restrictions today in rebuilding the University of South Carolina's athletic program.

The NCAA Council Sunday put South Carolina on probation for two years, banned its football and basketball teams from postseason competition and denied it participation rights in the collegiate body's lucrative television program.

The Council alleged the school violated NCAA principles governing academic standards and financial aid. It said four basketball players and three football players were involved.

The NCAA policy is not to reveal names of persons involved in the alleged incidents.

★ ★ ★

Dietzel was not involved in the infractions. A moulder of national ranked teams at Louisiana State, he left there several years ago to go to Army, then quit the Military Academy last year to go to South Carolina with the aim of building strong football teams.

After a losing season in 1966 it appeared his rebuilding program suffered a new setback.

One of the principals involved in the NCAA sanctions was believed to be Mike Grosso, outstanding basketball player, who was first declared ineligible for competition by the Atlantic Coast Conference last year.

Grosso was admitted to the university, although he reportedly failed to meet the regular published entrance requirements of South Carolina. This was one of the citations brought forth by the NCAA Committee on Infractions.

★ ★ ★

The NCAA also reprimanded and censured Texas Western College, last year's national collegiate basketball champions. and removed Texas A&M University from probation.

The Council said it found South Carolina in alleged violation of the NCAA constitution and bylaws in seven instances in 1965 and 1966 and through the first semester of the 1966-67 school year.

Marvin Bass was head football coach and athletic director and Frank McGuire was head basketball coach during the 1965-66 academic year.

It was the second time that a university at which McGuire was coaching was placed on probation by the NCAA.

On Jan. 10, 1961, the University of North Carolina basketball team was put on probation for one year for improper recruiting of prospects and excessive entertainment of prospects and their parents, NCAA records show.

In the South Carolina case, the NCAA cited the school or the then athletic director in these instances:

". . . . Provided three student-athletes, all ineligible to receive institutional financial assistance, with cash, meal tickets and books from personal funds or from sources under his control.

". . . The educational expenses of a student-athlete were paid by a corporation upon which the student-athlete was neither naturally or legally dependent.

"Institutional financial assistance awarded to student-athletes . . . was not administered by the institution's regular committee or agency responsible for awarding scholarships or grants-in-aid to students generally.

★ ★ ★

". . . The then director of athletics with the assistance of the then business manager of athletics, created a secret fund, reportedly to be used for entertainment purposes, including entertainment of high school coaches."

Colts Need Break to Defeat Eagles

Matte Scores Winning TD in Final Seconds

Interception Sets Up Touchdown; Unitas Breaks Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Johnny Unitas threw more passes and completed more than anybody ever did before, but Baltimore needed a break in the last minutes to beat Philadelphia in the Playoff Bowl 20-14 Sunday.

Unitas fired 33 times and found his target 19 times—both records for the National Football League's seven-year-old game between runners-up—but the great Colt quarterback hit only once for a score.

★ ★ ★

And the Eagles, seven-point underdogs, seemed on the road to an upset until Jerry Logan stole a pass in the dying moments of battle from Jack Concannon to set Baltimore up on the Eagle 35.

Aided by a pass interference call at the six, when Jim Nettles got in the way of Ray Berry, the Colts scored with 14 seconds to go on a one-yard run by Tom Matte.

BIG BREAK

When the big break came, Philadelphia had led since the second quarter, when Concannon and King Hill led the Eagles to two touchdowns and a 14-10 margin at halftime.

Players of both teams had taken a relaxed approach to the game, and the hitting became less and less vigorous as the game progressed in 77 degree sunshine.

★ ★ ★

Some 58,088 fans turned out to see the runners-up of the Eastern and Western Conferences.

Hill quarterbacked the Eagles to their first touchdown, hitting Ron Goodwin with a key 12-yard pass at the Colt five and scoring himself on a one-yard sneak.

Then Concannon came in, completed four straight passes, and the Eagles moved 60 yards to score on a two-yard lunge by Israel Lang, a 232-pound fullback judged the game's most valuable player.

The Colts opened the scoring with a 23-yard field goal by Lou Michaels in the first quarter, then tallied on a 14-yard pass from Unitas to Berry.

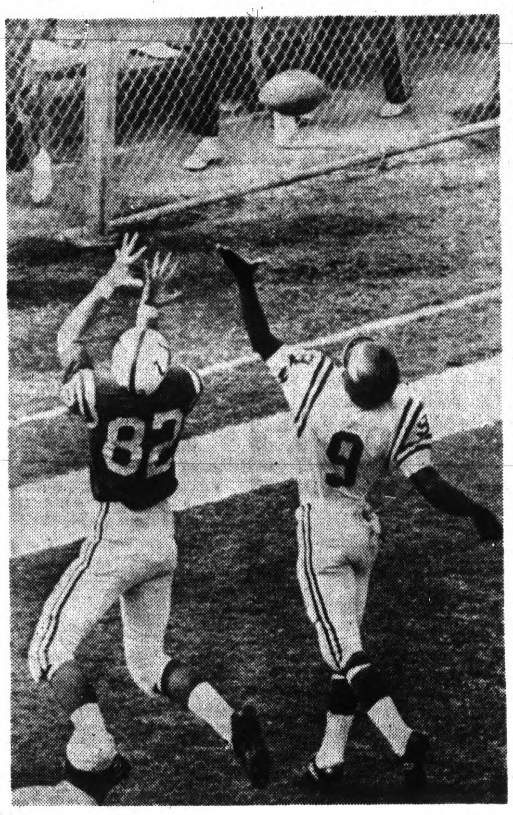

★ ★ ★

Another field goal by Michaels from 14 yards narrowed the margin to 14-13 in the third period, but it didn't look like Baltimore would catch up until Logan's crucial steal.

SCORING PASS—Baltimore end Raymond Berry reaches for a touchdown pass from quarterback John Unitas in yesterday's Playoff Bowl game at Miami. Making a futile attempt to stop the 14-yard play is Philadelphia's Jim Nettles. Baltimore won, 20-14.

Baseball Tourney Plans Revealed

HOUSTON (AP) — Plans for a national collegiate baseball championship involving teams of the college division — as contrasted from the university division — were announced Sunday by Don Adee, director of athletics at Chico State, Calif., College.

The tournament would be held annually in Springfield, Mo., the first in 1968.

Bathgate Goal Triggers Wings

DETROIT (AP)—Andy Bathgate's sizzling shot from the blue line did more than score a Detroit Red Wings goal—it broke the National Hockey League game wide open and turned a dull contest into a sparkler Sunday night.

"This was strictly defensive until we scored," said Wing Manager - Coach Sid Abel. "Everybody seemed to be fencing and looking for a break."

Detroit ended the fencing match with Bathgate's goal at the start of the third period and went on to whip the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1.

OTHER GAMES

New York whipped Montreal 2-1 and Boston beat Chicago 3-1 in other games.

The game was scoreless until Bathgate scored one minute and 47 seconds into the final period. Gary Bergman took the puck up center ice and passed ahead to Ted Hampson, who shot it to Bathgate on right wing as he crossed the blue line. Bathgate let go with a waist-high shot that Bruce Gamble never touched.

"I got a good piece of it," Bathgate said. "I hit it right on the sweet spot."

★ ★ ★

A few minutes later Bergman again raced down the ice with the puck, this time taking it into the Toronto zone and passing to the left to Parker MacDonald, who swept in on Gamble and scored from about 15 feet out.

The Red Wings kept their momentum and Norm Ullman took the puck down center ice and over the blue line, then passed to the left wing to Paul Henderson, who jammed in his 12th goal of the season.

★ ★ ★

Detroit goalie Roger Crozier lost his shutout with less than four minutes to go. Bob Pulford fired past the fallen goalie from a scramble in front of the net when the Wings were unable to clear the puck.

Near the end of the game a mixup near the Detroit net resulted in Howie Young, Gordie Howe and Larry Jeffrey being sent to the penalty box. With a 4-3 manpower advantage, the Leafs pulled their goalie for another attacker, but couldn't score and the Wings nearly got an empty-net goal in the dying seconds.

★ ★ ★

Bob Nevin scored from a face-off with less than five minutes to play as New York beat Montreal. The victory kept the Rangers atop the NHL. Gilles Tremblay put the Canadiens ahead with a first-period goal, but Orlando Kurtenbach tied it in the middle period.

★ ★ ★

Last-place Boston outscrambled the sluggish Hawks. Ken Wharram put Chicago ahead with a goal in the first period.

But Bob Dillabough scored while the Bruins were one man short and Jonny McKenzie gave Boston a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period.

Big Ten Relay Meet Won by Indiana

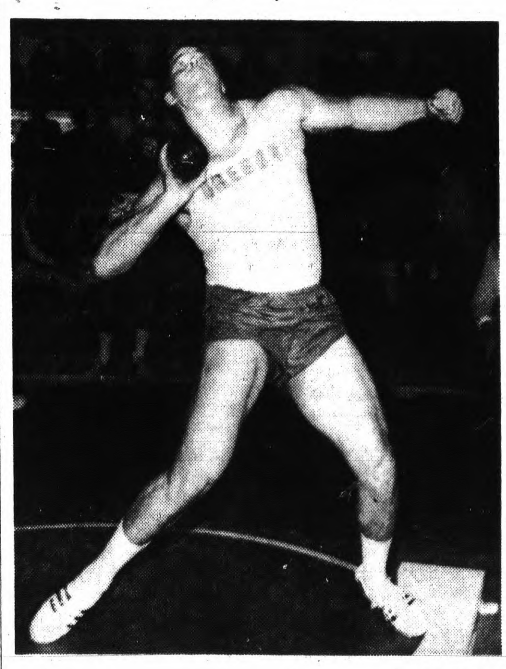

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The University of Michigan broke two meet records Saturday but came in second to Indiana in the Big Ten swimming relays.

The Wolverines, who compiled 113½ points to Indiana's 125, broke their own record in the 440-yard medley relay and toppled the Hoosier's mark in the 300-yard butterfly relay.

Ohio State placed third with 77 points, followed by Michigan State with 69 and an improvement on its old mark in the 2,000-yard freestyle relay.

Minnesota, with 44 points, was fifth; Wisconsin nosed Iowa State for 6th, 37½-37; and Iowa was eighth with 32.

Michigan erased Indiana's 1963 butterfly record of 2:39.9 with a time of 2:39 flat, and trimmed its own 1965 time of 3:38.5 in the medley relay by .2 seconds. Michigan State knocked 7.10 seconds off its 1966 freestyle relay record of 20:07.19.

NEW RECORD — Neal Steinhauer of Oregon puts the shot to a new indoor record of 66 feet, 6¾ inches on his second throw last night in San Francisco. He competed in the All-America Games.

Oregon Shot Putter Erases Indoor Mark

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Neal Steinhauer won the first round of 1967's battle of track giants with a new indoor shot put record, proving this muscle event no longer belongs exclusively to Randy Matson.

The 22-year-old, 270 - pound honor student from Oregon, ticketed previously as the world's No. 2 shot putter, outpowered outdoor record holder Matson in their first meeting of the year and figures he can do even better.

SECOND EFFORT

On his second effort in the All-American Indoor at the Cow Palace, inaugurating a busy season, Steinhauer arched the 16-pound ball 66 feet 6¾ inches, far past the indoor record of 64-11¾ by New York's Gary Gubner which has stood since 1962.

His final effort measured 66-1¾ and Steinhauer says, "It should have been the best but I lost it a little off my hand."

★ ★ ★

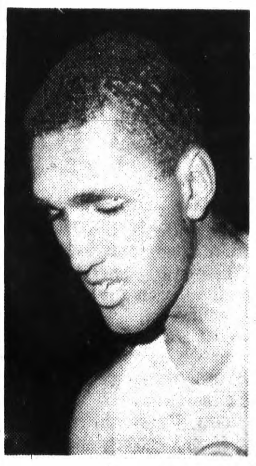

High jumper John Rambo of Long Beach also doesn't like any No. 2 designation.

When the meet announcer inadvertently suggested that might be the case, the lanky Olympic bronze medal winner, didn't miss a jump until he cleared 7 feet 3 inches to share the American record with John Thomas who set it in 1961.

★ ★ ★

Veteran Ralph Boston will be 28 this year but still proved fast and agile enough to win both the 60 yard high hurdles and the long jump, the only double winner of the night.

Boston topped the hurdles in 7.2, equalling the meet record, and leaped 25-2½.

BYU's Carter Sparks North

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Virgil Carter was a man on a mission in the Senior Bowl, and the Brigham Young quarterback can now contentedly return to study ing statistics and mathematics.

★ ★ ★

The passing whiz proved to himself he can play with the big boys of college football, admitting, "That is what I was out to do."

★ ★ ★

Carter, who led the nation in total offense last fall with 2,545 yards running and passing, guided the North to a 35-13 victory over the South in the 18th annual Senior Bowl Saturday.

The slender sharpshooter hit on seven of 12 passes for 121 yards, and tossed touchdown strikes of 43 and 16 yards.

"I was out to prove I was a good quarterback," Carter said after pocketing his winner's check for $1,000.

★ ★ ★

Carter pointed out he was helped by the bruising running attack led by Bob Grim of Oregon State, Harry Wilson of Nebraska and Ray McDonald of Idaho, who helped roll up 264 yards rushing for the North.

The pro scouts at the game had their eyes on Grim, who caught a 43-yard scoring pass and set up two other North touchdowns with long runs.

★ ★ ★

Wilson, who gained 120 yards rushing, and McDonald, who ran for 88 yards, also boosted their pro chances.

BUBBA MVP

So did Bubba Smith, All-America end from Michigan State who led the North defense that yielded only 23 yards rushing. Smith was voted the North's top lineman and the game's most valuable player.

★ ★ ★

Grim was chosen the North's best back. Terry Southall, who threw two touchdown passes for the South, was named the Rebels' top back and linebacker Ken Avery of Southern Mississippi was chosen the South's best lineman.

Schmidt to Meet With Ford Today

Joe Schmidt, one-time star middle linebacker, meets with the owner of the Detroit Lions today to discuss whether he'll accept the head coaching job of the professional football team.

William Clay Ford, owner of the National Football League club, scheduled the meeting with Schmidt, who spent the weekend in Miami for the Playoff Bowl.

Schmidt, an assistant Lions coach last year, was named by Ford as his top prospect to replace Harry Gilmer. Gilmer was fired Friday after two losing seasons, the latest a 4-9-1 year.

The blond Schmidt, 35, retired after the 1965 season. He spent 13 years with the Lions and was rated the best middle linebacker in the league for many of those years.

Ford said Schmidt has the job if he wants it, with only the contract details to work out. Schmidt, a successful businessman, said there were a number of things to work out, however.

"Under the right circumstances, I would like to be a head coach," he said.

"It's a big job. I'd be foolish not to go into it with some reservation. My knowledge of football is not that extensive.

"If I take it, I'd have to have adequate assists to help me," he added.

However, if he takes it, Schmidt will face the task of rebuilding a team with several personnel weaknesses.

The Lions, who lost out on several top draft choices in the battle with the AFL have seen their once great defense crack.

Playoff Winner

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — England's Tony Jacklin fired a 4-under-par 69 Sunday and beat Holland's Martin Roesink by six strokes in a playoff for the New Zealand Professional Golf Championship. The two had tied for first with 274 strokes for the regulation 72 holes.

Lose to St. Louis

Same Old Piston Story

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Detroit Pistons just can't win for losing when they play St. Louis.

It was the same old story Sunday night as the Detroiters were clawed 117-115 by the Hawks in a National Basketball Association game. The Pistons have met St. Louis five times this season. Their record: five losses.

What broke the backs of the Detroit players this time was a nine-point fourth-period scoring streak by Bill Bridges.

St. Louis trailed by three points early in the fourth quarter, but after taking a 98-97 lead the Hawks fed Bridges, who piled up his string of nine straight points while guarded by 7-foot Reggie Harding.

BRAWLS ERUPT

In other games, a contest between Philadelphia and Chicago erupted into a brawl when Chicago's Guy Rodgers claimed he was tripped by Wally Jones of the 76ers and hit Jones in the face after getting up from the floor.

Players and coaches from both sides swarmed around the battlers. Jones was charged with a personal foul on the play.

★ ★ ★

The game ended with Philadelphia taking a 117-108 victory.

In Baltimore, the Cincinnati Royals walloped the Baltimore Bullets 126-94 as Oscar Robertson set a Civic Center record with 17 assists and scored 21 points.

In Long Beach, Calif., the New York Knickerbockers topped the Los Angeles Lakers 121-118. There was a fight in that game, too. New York rookie Neil Johnson tangled with Rudy LaRusso of the Lakers, and both were ejected from the game.

Captains Hosts to WTHS 5

Kettering Has Perfect Mark

Invading Skippers Lack Height, Depth

An unbeaten string and lots of prestige will be riding on tomorrow night's game for Kettering's Captains, who entertain township rival Waterford.

The Captains have posted four wins in a row, own first place in the Tri-County League, and they'll go into the contest with a 6-4 edge in the series with the Skippers.

There's a lot of talent on this year's Kettering squad, and coach Joe Duby doesn't hesitate to use it.

He pressed 13 players into service against Oxford Friday night and most of them looked more like starters than reserves.

★ ★ ★

Carrying much of the load for the Captains are center Dave Cox (6-3), guards Jack McCloud (6-2), Pete Evans (6-2), Dick Miceli (6-1) and Bob VonBargan (5-11), along with forwards Bill Penoza (6-1) and Joe Raczyinski (6-2).

LOOK SHARP

Ralph Windeler, Dan Larkin, Jerry Beseau, Joe O'Connor and Bob Lines have also looked sharp in limited duty for the Captains.

★ ★ ★

The Skippers have set a win-one, lose-one pace; if they maintain that procedure, they'll win tomorrow night. They lost to Pontiac Northern Friday.

The Skippers are a young ball club and they are improving with each game. They need added reserve strength.

Waterford will be giving away height under the backboards. Center Karl Arrington, one of the team's leading scorers, is the tallest regular at 6-1.

★ ★ ★

Helping Arrington with the scoring are Bill Hill (6-0), Paul Thomas (6-0) and Ron Stafford (5-9). They're all averaging more than 10 points a game.

OTHER GAMES

Other local games have Walled Lake at West Bloomfield, Cranbrook at Oxford, Lake Orion at Warren Fitzgerald, Warren Cousino at Rochester, Troy at Hazel Park and Clawson at Madison.

★ ★ ★

In the Southern Thumb, Armada visits Dryden, Almont is at Brown City, Anchor Bay is at Capac and New Haven entertains Memphis.

In the Macomb Parochial League, St. Frederick journeys to Richmond to meet St. Augustine, Waterford Our Lady visits Marine City Holy Cross and St. Rose entertains Anchor Bay Catholic.

In the Northwest Parochial, Farmington Our Lady visits Detroit St. Rita, St. Benedict is at Ferndale St. James and Royal Oak St. Mary plays host to St. Francis de Sales.

In other games, Lutheran East is at Oak Park, Ortonville visits Byron, Utica is at Warren and Utica St. Lawrence entertains Detroit St. Phillip.

Improving PNH Host to Catholic Central 5

Pontiac Northern's once-beaten Huskies are improving some phase of their game each outing and they have a three-game winning streak now, but they'll be looking up tomorrow night.

Northern (5-1) will be host to Detroit Catholic Central, unbeaten in seven starts, Tuesday in what has become an annual meeting between the Shamrocks and PNH.

Coaches Dick Hall of the Huskies and Bill Foley of CC are longtime friends and they've paired their teams six other times with the Detroiters ahead, 4-2.

Last year, the Shamrocks posted the most lopsided win in the series, taking an 84-63 win from a then inexperienced Northern quintet.

IMPROVEMENT

Most of those PNH players will play in tomorrow's tilt. There has been a noticeable improvement in their efforts this season with rebounding being the strongest part of their game.

But Catholic Central will enter the game favored. It is big and scores well. Sharpshooting Nick Ferri returns this year and likely will be a problem for the PNH defense.

Both teams are fresh from key league victories Friday night and there could be a letdown tomorrow—though Northern's Hall has vowed to shake the Huskies after a not-too-impressive display by the first string against Waterford.

The last four meetings of Catholic Central and PNH have resulted in an exchange of home-court victories, with the trend supposedly in the Huskies' favor this week.

SATURDAY GAMES

In Saturday night games, Romeo won its second in a row by trimming Lake Orion, 61-46, Troy nudged Avondale, 47-44, and Grosse Pointe downed Royal Oak Kimball, 65-56.

Rick Chapman collected 20 points to spark the Romeo attack while Bill Foss pushed in 18 in a losing effort for Orion.

Troy beat Avondale at the free throw line, hitting on 13 of 26, while Avondale made only 8 of 15. John Popovich tossed in 20 points for Troy while Bob Burt led Avondale with 13.

Country Day had 11 players in the scoring column as it downed Maumee Valley of Ohio, 74-49, for win No. 4 against one loss. Paul Miller tallied 15, Dave Swift and Tim Baughman 14 each to lead the Yellow Jackets.

League Action for Prep Skiers

Division A teams in the Southeastern Michigan Prep Ski League resume action today at Mt. Holly after Saturday's "B" and "C" competition dominated by Detroit Thurston and Lakeview.

Lakeview took both the boys' and girls' events from Utica although the Chieftains' Sharon Daldyga set the pace in the girls' slalom runs. She had a combined time of 63.2 seconds.

Thurston won both team events in the "C" Division against Center Line.

Today, Pontiac Central, Waterford, Bloomfield Hills and Kettering will compete in "A" Division.

Key Players Standout in Big Ten Cage Tests

By the Associated Press

Jimmy Burns, Lee Lafayette, Sam Williams, Bill Hosket.....

Thost are a few players respective coaches were depending on in the Big Ten basketball campaign and all came through magnificently Saturday in helping their teams get off to winning starts.

Burns, the Northwesttrn senior given a good shot to win the individual scoring crown, pumped in 27 points to lead the Wildcats to a 93-73 victory over defending champion Michigan.

Lafayette, the sphomore who Michigan State coach John Bennington said "has to come through if we're to be a contender," scored 24 points to match teammate Matt Aitch's total in a 76-74 triumph over Illinois.

Williams, the junior college transfer on whose shoulders Iowa's hopes rest, came up with a 25-point performance in an 84-73 victory over Indiana.

Hosket, whose availability was touch-and-go a few weeks ago because of a knee injury, anchored a balanced Ohio State attack with 16 points and a 78-65 victory over Minnesota.

Saturday's full-scale opening left Northwesttrn, Michigan State, Iowa and Ohio State in a first place tie with 1-0 records.

Illinois, which opened its campaign with an 87-74 triumph over Wisconsin last month before being torn apart with suspensions, fell into a tie with Wisconsin. The Badgers evened their record with a 79-76 triumph over Purdue.

Except for Iowa, no other team took advantage of the home floor Saturday. Northwestern, Michigan State, Ohio State and Wisconsin all won on the road—a necessary accomplishment for teams with title hopes.

Swimmers Dunked

OU Cagers Break Even

Oakland University's Pioneers split a weekend road series in basketball but took a dunking in swimming.

Coach Dick Robinson's cagers lost a hot-shooting duel Friday night to Calvin College's reserve team, 110-107, then rebounded with an 83-71 conquest of Adrian's freshman quintet Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The OU swimmers (1-2) journeyed to Bowling Green and lost a 69-26 verdict to the Falcon freshmen. Two of the Pioneers' key performers didn't compete due to illness and their mates could only manage two first places.

Oakland's Chuck Clark set a school scoring record with 36 points against Calvin and teammate Gordie Tebo added 24 but the Knight reserves still avenged an earlier loss.

Clark made 13 of 20 field goal tires and Tebo hit 10 in a row from the foul stripe. Saturday, Tebo tallied 18 points to lead a balanced attack at Adrian.

Jay Shutt scored 17, Ozzie Carlson 15, Jon Blocher 14 and Clark 12. Adrian led, 44-41, at intermission. OU (6-2) will entertain the University of Detroit plebes Friday night.

Skip Mellen, former Pontiac Central swimmer, won the 200-yard butterfly and Rick Bishop the diving to pace OU's efforts at Bowling Green. The host Falcons set two records and ex-Detroit Thurston star Bill Zeeb finish first twice on his own and once with the medley relay team.

Zanuck Knew He'd Made It With 'The Sound of Music'

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Last of five articles on the revival of 20th Century-Fox.)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

NEW YORK — Six months after taking over as president of 20th Century-Fox and closing its Hollywood studio, Darryl F. Zanuck was ready to swing the film company back into action.

He had reorganized personnel and slashed expenses. Now he was reaching the bottom of the barrel of unreleased movies and needed to resume production. He started making deals.

★ ★ ★

"It wasn't easy at first," admits Richard Zanuck, his father's production chief. "Nobody wanted to talk to us; with the studio shut down, we were kind of poison in the industry."

Young Zanuck began staffing the studio again, rehiring 75 per cent of the workers previously released. Production resumed with such films as "Move Over, Darling," "What a Way to Go," "Rio Conchos" and "Goodbye, Charlie." The television division was revitalized, and four series were sold, including "Peyton Place."

Money began pumping through the corporative veins, thanks in large part to the release of Darryl's own "The Longest Day," which brought $17 million in its first year. Million-dollar advances from theaters for expected rentals of "Cleopatra" helped the financial picture. The epic opened to dismal reviews, but business was good, especially after 30 minutes was cut from the running time.

The big change came with "The Sound of Music."

★ ★ ★

Rights to that musical had been bought for $1,250,000 but Fox couldn't make the film until the Broadway run was concluded. That time was approaching, and the Zanucks assigned Ernest Lehman to write a script. William Wyler was hired as producer-director, but he dropped out, declaring, "It's not my cup of tea." Darryl Zanuck estimates Wyler thus did himself out of $6½ million.

Robert Wise replaced him, and the movie was filmed for $8.2 million with Julie Andrews as the joyful Maria.

REALIZED GOAL

It was at the New York premiere of "The Sound of Music" that Darryl Zanuck realized he had succeeded in restoring 20th Century-Fox to prosperity.

Even Zanuck was not prepared for the fantastic record of "The Sound of Music."

After 91 weeks in U.S. release, the film had played 290 theaters and was still in 281 of them. The latest world gross is $69 million, by far the highest for any movie, and the film can still play at least 5,000 more important theaters in this country alone.

Other films, notably "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines," "Our Man Flint" and "Fantastic Voyage," have helped bring the sound of money to 20th Century-Fox. The television division is so successful — 10 full network hours this season — that the entire Desilu Culver studio had to be rented for the production overflow.

The secret of the Zanuck operation? It appears to be the canniness of an old-time showman in guessing what the public wants to see, plus the readiness to gamble high stakes on top-notch attractions.

"People want fun when they go to the theater," says Richard Zanuck, interpreting his father's philosophy. "We intend to give them fun."

1967 Has Many Similarities

Nervous State Politicos Look Back at '59

By JIM NICHOLS

LANSING (AP)—'Tis the season when most folks are looking optimistically ahead to 1967. But around the State Capitol Building, a few people are looking back, often a little nervously, to 1959.

The big attraction of '59 these days is that that year and this are, or appear to be, similar in several respects. For instance in both:

There was much rumbling that state spending was exceeding state income and only an income tax could avert serious financial problems.

The House of Representatives found itself deadlocked, with 55 Republicans and 55 Democrats.

• The governor of Michigan was a figure of national prom- in enceand frequently kentioned as a possible presidential contender.

★ ★ ★

The course of this year, naturally, doesn't have to follow the pattern of 1959. But for the record, eight years ago:

• We didn't get an income tax and we did have a financial crisis.

• The Republicans organized the House.

• The governor didn't get elected President.

PAYLESS PAYDAY

Historians of Michigan will record 1959 as the year of the payless payday, when the Treasury level sank so low the state couldn't afford to compensate its employes.

Things aren't as bad as that these days. In fact, Gov. George Romney told the outgoing Legislature last month: "We face no immediate financial crisis."

But in the same message, Romney brought up the comparison with the bad old days when he said:

"Michigan's problems of the late 1950s arose from the appropriation of substantial budget increases with also providing adequate revenue to finance their costs. We are not going to repeat that error."

What the state will need, Romney said, is "an equitable tax reform program including new sources of revenue." That means a state income tax.

Whether he will have more success with the Legislature in 1967 than Gov. G. Mennen Williams had in 1959 is a riddle for the near future to unfold.

The deadlocked House poses another similarity between the two years.

★ ★ ★

In 1959, the Republican House members proposed a program whereby leadership and power in the chamber would be shared on an equal basis.

In 1967, the Democratic House members are striving for a similar shared-power arrangement and the Republicans reject the idea.

In 1959, Michigan's governor Williams was being noticed around the country.

He was regarded by some as a "boy wonder," the architect of the Democratic party's majority status in the state, and a man to watch in the politicking for the presidency.

FIRM GOES UP IN SMOKE — Dense clouds of smoke billow up from a fire which caused an estimated $200,000 damage to a manufacturing company in downtown Los Angeles Saturday before it was brought under control. The fire virtually destroyed a one-story building occupied by the Candee manufacturing company adjacent to the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco office.

Lack of Funds Hits Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey says the Selective Service system has been forced to cut back its operations temporarily because of insufficient funds.

But Hershey, the Selective Service director, expressed confidence Sunday that Congress will grant a deficiency appropriation. He said the service should be able to meet draft needs during the next few months.

★ ★ ★

The lack of funds is affecting the feeding and transportation of men in connection with their preinduction physical examinations. But draft calls for December, January, February and March dropped and Hershey said the requirements for those months probably can be met by tapping pools of men already examined.

Col. W. Seward Iliff Jr., a Hershey assistant, said the cash shortage resulted from basing the original $52 million appropriation on an anticipated induction load of some 160,000 men.

★ ★ ★

But, Iliff explained, the service already has handled more than 200,000 inductions and the current estimate is that the total will reach 311,000.

Iliff said the service will seek about $7 million for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. James Goddard, commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, has warned that needlessly supplementing diets with vitamin pills can be harmful.

In most cases, he said Sunday in a radio and television interview regular diets are sufficient to maintain health.

★ ★ ★

"Overingestion of vitamins can cause hypervitaminosis," he said, adding that overingestion of vitamin D, for example, can cause congenital heart diseases.

Goddard also said that although "there are disturbing questions that are unanswered" concerning oral contraceptives, nothing substantial has been found in research to warrant holding them from the market.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Government Operations Committee has reported the federal government now owns real and personal property valued at $347 billion.

This includes, the committee said Sunday in its annual property inventory, the 18-acre White House grounds which are valued at only $1,000.

★ ★ ★

But, the committee added, most of the government's 765.3 million acres of land, including the White House grounds, is recorded at its acquisition cost — not according to appraisals of present-day value.

The committee said the government holdings included personal property worth $224 billion and acreage valued at $103 billion.

Talks Avert Teacher Strike in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — A public school teachers strike affecting 570,000 students was averted late last night when the Chicago School Board promised dissident teachers $17 million it doesn't have.

Mayor Richard J. Daley stepped into the dispute and conducted a 4½-hour meeting which resulted in the agreement, subject to ratification by the teachers tonight at a rank-and-file meeting.

The strike was to have begun this morning — the first such strike in Chicago history.

The Chicago public school system, with 22,000 kindergarten, grade and high school teachers, is the third largest in the nation.

★ ★ ★

About 17,500 teachers were expected to have stayed away from their classrooms.

'BIG VICTORY'

John Desmond, president of the Chicago Teachers Union, hailed the agreement calling for $500 across-the-board pay raises as a "very, very big victory."

A second teachers strike, this one involving 34,000 students at Chicago's junior colleges, was ended early today.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Life Master Don von Elsner of Hilo, Hawaii, created a character named Jason Winkman a few years back.

JACOBY

Jason, a bachelor, is a professional bridge player who gets involved in murder mysteries while playing in bridge tournaments.

The latest Winkman paperback is called "The Ace of Spies." We aren't qualified as literary experts but the book is exciting and it includes a lot of good pointers on bridge.

At the start of the book Winkman is playing in a sectional tournament in Brooklyn. His partner is Cmdr. Brett Kostner, USN. Kostner and Wink served together in World War II and Kostner had remained in Naval Intelligence.

Kostner, North, opens with one club. East bids two clubs. Winkman identifies this two club call as a "Michaels cue bid." This bid shows a weak major suit hand.

Wink checks for aces by use of Blackwood and contracts for six no-trump. His reasoning is that his partner almost surely has a long club suit and that West will open a spade or heart into Wink's powerful major suit holding.

Unfortunately for Wink's calculations, West leads the three of diamonds. South's queen is covered by East's king and the slam contract is set.

Played from the North seat the hand is cold for six clubs or no-trump. Wink looks rather silly but shift the king of diamonds from East to West and South makes the slam while North must set with a diamond opening.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ A J 9 8 ♥ K 10 6 5 ♦ 3 2 ♣ J 7 6
What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. You have ten points in support of spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner bids three spades. What do you do now?

State Strike Ends

QUINCY (AP) —Members of United Auto Workers Local 1261 returned to their jobs today at the General Cable Corp. plant in Quincy after a 66-day strike. The union ratified a new three-year contract Sunday calling for higher wages and improved pension, insurance and other fringe benefits.

'Be Careful, Doc, Pills Are Costly'

CHICAGO (AP) — Physicians should be cost-conscious when prescribing drugs, an official of the American Medical Association says.

★ ★ ★

Dr. F. J. L. Blasingame, executive vice president of the AMA, said doctors should survey retail prices of drugs most commonly used in their practices. His suggestions appeared in the AMA News, the association's weekly newspaper.

★ ★ ★

He said doctors could help their patients by being "mindful of the economic consequences of the treatment" they prescribe.

Junk Cars Hold the River Back

PENDLETON, Ore. (AP) — Umatilla County has found a way to get rid of junked cars.

The autos are taken from junk yards to the banks of the Umatilla River where they are covered with rocks and crushed by a bulldozer to protect the river road from erosion.

Earthlings May Ride Sunbeam to Stars

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP) — To reach the stars, man may ride a sunbeam, says a research engineer.

★ ★ ★

John H. Bloomer, 32, who works on computers and design for Philco Corp. in nearby Sunnyvale, tells how it may happen one day:

A giant mirror will collect solar energy to power a spacecraft across 25 trillion miles of void to Alpha Centuri, the sun's nearest stellar neighbor. The trip—one way—will take 17 years.

Bloomer's theories may seem far out, even to astronauts busily working toward their first baby steps across space to the moon, a mere 240,000 miles away.

THEORIES

But there is sufficient interest in his theories that he was asked to fill in the International Astronautical Federation on the subject during their October congress in Madrid, Spain.

Bloomer's ideas for harnessing sunbeams for power, as presented in Madrid, could have widespread implications for earthlings who will never enter a spacecraft.

★ ★ ★

Possibilities, Bloomer says, are using the space mirror to furnish all the earth's energy needs without air, ground or water pollution.

★ ★ ★

But possibilities for deep space travel are at the core of Bloomer's calculations. Alpha Centauri's distance is so great it is measured in light years—how far light, at 186,000 miles a second, will travel in a year. That's about six trillion miles, the "neighbor" star is 4.3 light years away.

TOO PRIMITIVE

Chemical rocket propulsion such as we use today to explore within our own sun system is far too primitive to be considered for interstellar travel, Bloomer says. He describes a propulsion system that is new, "yet lying strictly within the bounds of known mechanics and engineering."

The key, he said in an interview, is a system of vast mirrors and lenses orbiting the sun and working in conjunction with a very large laser.

★ ★ ★

A 60-mile-diameter plastic mirror with a reflective metal coating must be assembled in space to "ride behind" the earth in this planet's orbital path around the sun, Bloomer explains. At that mirror's center would be a mirror one mile across.

★ ★ ★

The larger mirror would collect solar energy and focus it into a mile-wide laser system orbiting 60 miles away. The laser could convert the "incoherent" or diffused sunlight into an extremely powerful concentrated beam of light.

The beam envisaged by Bloomer would contain the equivalent of seven billion kilowatts of electrical power — equal to the output of 3,850 Boulder Dams.

★ ★ ★

Focused by remote control, the giant orbiting mirror and its liquid center would flash a beam toward a spacecraft driven by an ion motor, giving it a constant source of power.

★ ★ ★

The star-seeking spacecraft would be accelerated for 24 hours, says Bloomer, to about 46,000 miles a second, almost one-fourth the speed of light. The beam would be switched off when the spacecraft penetrated about 200 million miles of space on its 17-year voyage to Alpha Centauri. The vehicle would then coast the rest of the way.

★ ★ ★

He envisions sending first an unmanned fly-by spy to search for planets like the earth in the Alpha Centauri three-star system.

SEND PROBE

"We can send a probe to Alpha Centauri before the year 2099," says Bloomer.

The probe would take close-up television pictures of the plants, if any, and utilize a laser beam to transmit them back to earth.

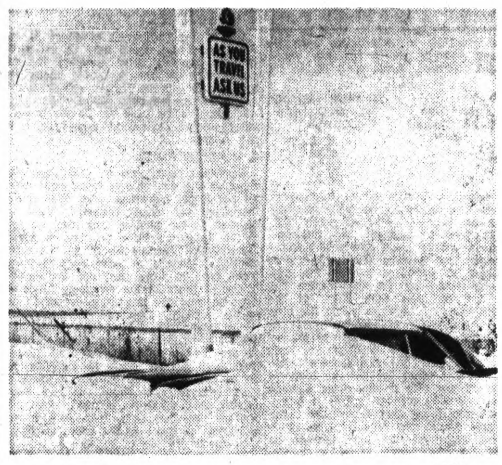

★ ★ ★

Bloomer asserts that "we may feasibly plan to send astronauts on round trips" to Alpha Centauri and other "nearby" stars before another 100 years have passed. The acceleration would have to be greatly slowed and extended for man to endure it.

Bloomer also is working on theoretical details of the first stages of his interstellar travel concept. One is a relatively small liquid-surfaced energy mirror, put into synchronous orbit—moving at the same speed as the earth's rotation.

"It would provide a convenient power source capable of supplying all of earth's needs without polluting the air, land, streams and oceans with the evil effects of hydrocarbon smog, radioactive wastes and nature-destroying dams," Bloomer said.

"It could, for example, distill billions of gallons of pure water from sea water per day. It might well provide us with cheap power for driving electric automobiles, and thereby eliminate the foul internal combustion engine with its suffocating effluent."

State Druggist Killers Sought

HAMBURG (UPI) — Police today were searching for two men who fatally wounded a pharmacist and injured his son during a robbery attempt at their drugstore.

State Police said George Reck was killed late Saturday after the robbers ordered him and his son, George Jr., 19, to lie on the floor in a back room of the store.

"Then, for no reason, one man started shooting," a state police spokesman said.

Spanish Communist Receives Amnesty

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Jose Daniel Lacalle, 27-year-old son of Spain's aviation minister, has been freed after more than two years in prison for Communist activities.

★ ★ ★

A decree published today disclosed the Lacelle was released July 15 along with others whom amnesty was approved by General Francisco Franco.

Lacalle, a communications officer at Madrid's International Airport when he was arrested in 1964, was sentenced Dec. 2, 1964, to eight years in prison. The supreme court reduced the sentence to four years and four months.

Mixed Anesthetic Used in Ike's Recent Surgery

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — Old - fashioned ether, cyclopropane, oxygen and pentathol were used as combined anesthetics during the removal of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's gallbladder.

If Ike had been undergoing surgery under primitive conditions in which a kerosene lamp had to be used, the inflammability of the various anesthetics could have posed a danger, but they were believed chosen because of their relative safety and special suitability to a man of his age and condition. He is 76 years old, and has suffered two heart attacks.

Gallstones are estimated to be prevalent in 10 per cent to 20 per cent of the adult population of the United States, but there is strong evidence that there are different causes and varied circumstances that lead to their formation.

★ ★ ★

They may be composed of pure cholesterol, inorganic calcium salts, calcium in combination with bilrubin, or bile pigment, and any mixture of these substances.

'Road Funds Cut Will Cost State Lives'

LANSING (AP) — A $67-million reduction in federal funds for highway construction in Michigan is "the most serious blow to Michigan's highway program since World War II," State Highway Director Howard Hill said Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The government announced the cuts in November as part of a drive to reduce spending because of Vietnam war costs.

Hill says Michigan motorists may die as a result of inadequate roads unless the government changes its mind and restores the funds.

Hill contends that for each year's delay of each mile of freeway planned, 1½ lives are lost in traffic mishaps. He says Michigan has deferred work on 44 miles of freeway as a result of the cut in funds.

He says more deferments will be made if the fund cuts are continued past July 1.

State Women Die in Crash

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) —Two Michigan women were killed Saturday night in a one-car accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, about 20 miles west of the Carlisle interchange.

Police identified the victims as Mrs. Louella Packard, 54, of Belding, Mich., and her sister-in-law, Mary Edith Packard, 42, of Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Packard's husband, George, 58, was admitted with injuries at Carlisle hospital and reported in "watchful" condition.

Treated and released from the hospital were the Packard's son, Roger, 20, of Browns Mills, N.J., and his wife, Crystal, 18.

Police said the auto skidded, went up part of an embankment, and overturned.

20 Pct. of Frosh in College Survey Admit Cheating

WASHINGTON (UPI)—About one-fifth of the nation's college freshmen admit they have cheated on an examination, according to a survey by the American Council on Education.

The council surveyed 20,865 freshmen on 251 college campuses and weighed the data to indicate the feelings of more than 1 million frosh, it said in making the report public during the weekend.

★ ★ ★

Otherwise, the survey showed 56 per cent of the freshmen noticed "keen competition" for grades, but only 44 per cent are under "great pressure for high marks; almost half of them are late for class; 20 per cent oversleep and miss class completely, and 47 per cent turn in assignments late.

Adopted January 3, 1967
Effective January 13, 1967

An Ordinance to Provide for Improving, Enlarging and Extending the Sewage Disposal System of the City of Pontiac, Michigan; to Provide for the Issuance and Sale of Revenue Bonds to Defray the Cost Thereof; to Provide for the Retirement and Security of said Bonds; and to Provide for Other Matters Relative to Said System and Said Bonds.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance No. 1189, adopted by the Commission of the City of Pontiac on August 19, 1952, the city has heretofore issued its "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952, in the aggregate principal sum of $700,000, secured by a statutory first lien upon the net revenues of the city's sewage disposal system, of which issue there are presently outstanding bonds in the aggregate principal sum of $130,000, maturing on January 1 in years and principal amounts as follows: $55,000 in the year 1967, $60,000 in the year 1968 and $15,000 in the year 1969, and bearing interest at the rate of 2¾% on all such bonds; and

WHEREAS, it is provided in Section 19 of said Ordinance No. 1189 that "the city shall have the right to issue additional bonds payable from the net revenues of the system for the purpose of improving, enlarging and/or extending the system, which bonds when issued shall have equal standing with the bonds herein authorized: Provided, that no such additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued unless the average net revenues for the then last two preceding fiscal years or the net revenues for the then last preceding fiscal year, whichever shall be the lower, shall be equal to at least 135% of the largest amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any fiscal year on any bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the system and on such additional bonds then being issued"; and

WHEREAS, the net revenues of the said sewage disposal system for the last two preceding fiscal years were $141,891 for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1964 and $266,945 for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1965, or an annual average of $204,418 for said two fiscal years, which latter amount is more than 135% of the largest combined amount of principal and interest hereafter maturing in any fiscal year on the above-mentioned outstanding bonds and on the additional bonds herein authorized to be issued, such largest combined amount (with interest on such additional bonds computed at 5% per annum) being in the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1982 and in the amount of $138,500; and

WHEREAS, the City of Pontiac proposes at this time to issue additional revenue bonds payable from the revenues of the system, in the aggregate principal sum of $1,800,000, which bonds shall have equal standing and parity of lien with said "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952, for the purpose of further improving said system.

THEREFORE, THE CITY OF PONTIAC, MICHIGAN ORDAINS:

Section 1. Whenever used in this ordinance or in the bonds to be issued hereunder, except when otherwise indicated by the context:

(a) The term "city" shall be construed to mean the City of Pontiac, Michigan.

(b) The term "commission" shall be construed to mean the Commission of said City of Pontiac, the legislative and governing body of said city.

(c) The term "project" shall be construed to mean the improvements, enlargements and extensions to the city's sewage disposal system, to be acquired pursuant to this ordinance.

(d) The term "acquired" shall be construed to include acquisition by purchase, construction or by any other method.

(e) The term "sewage disposal system" shall be construed to include all sanitary sewers, combined sanitary and storm sewers, plants, works, instrumentalities and properties (as the same shall from time to time exist), used or useful in connection with the collection, treatment and/or disposal of sewage by the city.

(f) The term "system" shall be deemed to refer to the sewage disposal system of the city.

(g) The term "revenues" and "net revenues" shall be construed as defined in Section 3 of Act No. 94, Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as now amended.

Section 2. The commission hereby determines it to be advisable and necessary to improve, enlarge and extend the sewage disposal system of the city by acquiring the following:

Project A includes an interceptor or trunk sewer to serve the Galloway Creek area within the City of Pontiac; a pumping station to pump the collected waste; and a combination force main and gravity sewer to convey the pumped waste to the existing treatment plant.

The sewer starts as a 10" on Upland Street, 1350' west of Joslyn Road extending to Joslyn; 12" on Joslyn from Upland to Brooks; 15" on Brooks from Joslyn to east end of Brooks; 18" across country from east end of Brooks to Northfield Avenue, 300' west of Stirling; 15" on Northfield to Stirling Avenue; 18" on Stirling from Northfield to Walton Boulevard; 21" on Walton Boulevard from Stirling to Giddings; 21" and 24" on Giddings from Walton to Perry Street; 24" cross country from Giddings to Perry to the Pumping Station located south of Galloway Lake; a 15" and 12" connection from the interceptor sewer to the Kettering Avenue Pump Station (This connection will eliminate necessity for this pump station); a 10" sewer in Giddings Road from Walton Boulevard to 300' north of Northfield Avenue; and all manholes and appurtenances.

The pumping station has four sewage pumps with total capacity sufficient for the full development of the area with a standby unit driven by an engine for emergency service. The station would include a comminutor, crane, electrical gear and all appurtenances. It would be a reinforced concrete substructure with masonry superstructure.

The force main will be 20" extending from the pumping station up Bay Street to the high point near Dufrain Avenue; there it becomes a 24" gravity sewer extending along Bay Street to Featherstone to Lynch Street, thence south across country to the railroad tracks; thence south along the tracks to M-59; thence east along M-59 to a point north of the Auburn Sewage Treatment Plant; thence south to an intersection with the existing 66" sewer near the Sewage Treatment Plant.

The project includes 31,078 feet of pipe including 2370' - 10" VCP; 2500' - 12" VCP; 2760' - 15" VCP; 3600' - 20" CIP; 3150' - 18" RCP; 4535' - 21" RCP; 9300' - 24" RCP; and 1360' - 27" RCP. (VCP—Vitrified Clay Pipe; CIP—Cast Iron Pipe; RCP—Reinforced Concrete Pipe)

all substantially in accordance with plans and specifications prepared and submitted by Jones, Henry & Williams, registered professional engineers, which are on file with the City Clerk and are hereby approved and adopted. That portion of the project above described is hereinafter referred to as "Project A".

Section 3. The commission hereby determines it to be advisable and necessary to improve, enlarge and extend the sewage disposal system of the city by acquiring the following:

Project B includes a sewer along Opdyke Road near the south City limits to the Clinton River. A small pump station and force main near the south terminus will lift the sewage from the extreme southeast corner of the City up to the gravity sewer.

A pumping station at the Clinton River will pump the total flow of the sewer through a force main to the Auburn Sewage Treatment Plant.

The force main from the small pump station is 8". The sewer starts as a 12" at the south end and terminates at the north end as a 36".

The small pump station will have two pumps with either one capable of pumping the total inflow.

The pumping station at the Clinton River will have three pumps with capacity to pump the total flow until the industrial area is developed. At that time additional pumping capacity must be added. There will be an engine drive on one pump for emergency purposes. This station will include a communitor, crane, electrical gear and all appurtenances. It will be of reinforced concrete for the substructure and masonry for the superstructure.

The force main from this station will be 10".

This project includes a total of 12,645 feet of sewer and force main of the following sizes:

1040 - 8" C.I.; 2600 - 10" C.I.; 900' - 12" VCP; 1800 - 18" R.C.P.; 300' - 21" R.C.P.; 1350' - 24" R.C.P.; 2670' - 30" R.C.P.; 735' - 36" R.C.P.; 665' - 24" D.I.; and 485' - 30" D.I. pipe.

VCP=Vitrified Clay Pipe
RCP=Reinforced Concrete Pipe
CI=Cast Iron Pipe
DI=Ductile Cast Iron Pipe

This project will furnish capacity for complete development of the area from the Clinton River to south City Limits, east of the railroad tracks.

all substantially in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by Jones, Henry & Williams, registered professional engineers, which are on file with the City Clerk and are hereby approved and adopted. That portion of the project above described is hereinafter referred to as "Project B".

Section 4. The commission does hereby adopt the said engineers' estimate of forty (40) years and upwards as the period of usefulness of each Project A and Project B and also the said engineers' estimate of One Million One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($1,100,000) as the cost of Project A and Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars ($700,000) as the cost of Project B, including no capitalized interest upon the bonds herein authorized, all of which estimates are on file with the City Clerk.

Section 5. There are hereby authorized to be issued and sold pursuant to the provisions of Act No. 94 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended, revenue bonds in the aggregate principal sum of One Million One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($1,100,000) for the purpose of defraying the cost of Project A, which bonds shall be known as "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1967-A"; shall be dated as of March 1, 1967; shall be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 upwards; shall be coupon bonds in the denomination of $5,000 each; shall be registerable as to principal only, in the manner hereinafter set forth in the bond form; shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be hereafter determined not exceeding 5% per annum, payable on July 1, 1967, and thereafter semi-annually on the first days January and July in each year; and shall mature on the first day of January in each year as follows: $10,000 in the year 1969, $15,000 in each of the years 1970 and 1971, $20,000 in each of the years 1972 through 1975, $25,000 in each of the years 1976 through 1978, $30,000 in each of the years 1979 through 1981, $35,000 in each of the years 1982 through 1984, $40,000 in each of the years 1985 through 1987, $45,000 in each of the years 1988 and 1989 and $50,000 in each of the years 1990 and 1991. 0% if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1989, but prior to maturity.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of the bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds; provided, that where any bond shall be registered, then notice of the redemption thereof shall be given by registered mail addressed to the registered holder thereof at the address shown on the bond registration books of the Director of Finance, which notice shall be mailed within the State of Michigan, not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption. Bonds so called for redemption shall not bear interest after the date fixed for redemption, provided funds are on hand with the paying agent to redeem the same. The principal of said bonds and the interest thereon shall be payable in lawful money of the United States of America at the National Bank of Detroit, in the City of Detroit, Michigan, upon presentation and surrender of said bonds and attached coupons as they severally mature.

Section 7. The Mayor and the City Clerk of the city are hereby authorized and directed to execute the bonds of each series for and on behalf of the city and to affix the seal of the city thereto, and they are hereby authorized and directed to execute the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds by causing to be affixed thereto their facsimile signatures. Upon the execution of said bonds and attached coupons, the same shall be delivered to the Treasurer of the city who is hereby authorized and directed to deliver said bonds and attached coupons to the purchaser thereof as hereafter determined by the commission, upon receipt of the purchase price therefor.

Section 8. The bonds herein authorized shall be sold in the manner provided in Section 12 of Act No. 94 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended.

Section 9. Said bonds and attached coupons shall not be a general obligation of the city and shall not be in indebtedness of the city within any state constitutional provision or statutory limitation or within any charter limitation. The principal of and interest on said bonds shall be payable solely from the net revenues derived from the operation of the system, including future improvements, enlargements and extensions thereof. To secure the payment of the principal of and interest on the bonds issued hereunder, as well as the outstanding "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952" issued by the city under date of October 1, 1952, and on any additional bonds of equal standing issued as provided in Ordinance No. 1189 and in this ordinance, there is hereby created in favor of the holders of said bonds and the interest coupons pertaining thereto, and each of such holders, a first lien (by said Act No. 94 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended, made a statutory lien) upon the net revenues from the said system, including future improvements, enlargements and extensions thereof. The net revenues so pledged shall be and remain subject to said lien until the payment in full of the principal of and interest on said bonds.

Section 10. The holder or holders of any of the bonds or interest coupons herein authorized to be issued, shall have all the rights and remedies given by law and particularly by said Act No. 94 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as amended, for the collection and enforcement of said bonds and coupons and the security therefor, including the right to have a receiver appointed for the system in event of default on the part of the city in the performance of the terms of the bond contract.

Section 11. The system shall continue to be operated upon the basis of a fiscal year beginning January 1 of each year and ending on the following December 31.

Section 12. The operation, maintenance and management of the system shall be under the immediate supervision and control of the Department of Public Works, or of such other officer or board as shall be designated or created by the commission, and subject to its control.

Section 13. Charges for sewage disposal services to each premise within the city, connected with the sewage disposal system, shall be computed in accordance with the quantity of water used on such premises as measured by the city water meter installed thereon (or if there be no such water meter then as estimated by the city) and shall be as follows for each quarterly (3 months) period:

QUARTERLY MINIMUM CHARGES

Size of Water Meter	Minimum Sewage Disposal Charge	Maximum Water Consumption Charge Upon Which Minimum Charge Is Fixed
⅝" or ¾"	$ 2.55	1500 cubic feet
1"	4.50	2000 cubic feet
1¼"	6.00	2000 cubic feet
1½"	9.00	2000 cubic feet
2"	18.00	2000 cubic feet
3"	30.00	2000 cubic feet
4"	60.00	2000 cubic feet
6"	120.00	2000 cubic feet
8"	210.00	2000 cubic feet
10"	324.00	2000 cubic feet
12"	555.00	2000 cubic feet

ADDITIONAL QUARTERLY CHARGES:

Where the quarterly consumption of water exceeds the applicable amount above specified, then for such excess the sewage disposal charge shall be as follows:

6½ cents per 100 cubic feet of water used for all water used in excess of the applicable amount.

When a considerable amount of water delivered to any premises is not returned to the city's sewage disposal system, the commission in such case may establish a special basis upon which the sewage disposal charges to such premises will be computed, or upon a determination by either the City Engineer or the customer that the use of direct metering of Sanitary Sewage flow is necessary or is a more equitable method of determining sewage disposal charges, the City Commission shall order the installation of sanitary sewage meters. Meters shall be installed on the premises at no cost to the City of Pontiac by the customer. Meter type and size shall be determined by the City Engineer. On locations where sanitary sewage meters are installed as above provided, charges for sewage disposal service shall be computed monthly in accordance with the sanitary sewage meter readings shown on said meters. Rates shall be as follows:

Meter Size (Flume Throat)	Minimum Monthly Sewage Disposal Charge
3"	$ 30.00
6"	60.00
9"	120.00
12"	220.00

In addition to the above minimum rates, charges shall be made to the user as follows: 6½c for each 100 cubic feet of sewage. All billings shall be made on a quarterly basis.

Charges for sewage disposal services furnished to premises outside the city, shall be fixed by the commission but shall not be less than 100% of the charges for such services within the city.

If the character of sewage from any manufacturing or industrial plant, or from any building or premises, is such that it imposes an unreasonable additional burden upon the sewage disposal system of the city or any other sewage disposal system through which it flows, then an additional charge shall be made over and above the regular rates or it may be required that such sewage be treated by the person, firm or corporation responsible therefor before being emptied into any public drain or sewer, or the right to so empty said sewage may be denied, if necessary for the protection of any sewage disposal system or the public health or safety.

The cost of sewer connections from the city sewers to private premises shall not be paid from the proceeds of the bond issue or from the revenues of the system.

For each connection made to the city sewage disposal system, a charge shall be made as hereinafter provided. A connection charge shall be made for all new buildings, major additions or alterations to buildings causing increased sewage discharge, any land use causing the discharge of sewage into the sewage system and any change in sewage flow distribution ordered by the City Engineer when the redistribution of sewage flow requires the construction of a new trunk sewer and a new service connection thereto, the said connection charge shall be collected as hereinafter provided.

The connection charge provided herein shall also be made where any dwelling or building is connected to the sewage disposal system. Connection charges shall be paid to the Treasurer of the City of Pontiac before issuance of any plumbing permit for the above installations, uses or changes. Before the plumbing permit can be issued, evidence that the connection charge has been paid shall be filed with the plumbing inspector.

Charges for connections to the sewage system shall be computed on the basis of the number of units to be served as hereinafter defined. For this purpose, a unit of measure is defined as that quantity of sewage discharged from the ordinary single family dwelling, occupied by one family. In computing charges for commercial, industrial or multiple residents, the number of units for which charges are to be made shall be determined from the following equivalent factors:

1. $150.00 per unit for all new improvements, extensions and/or major alterations to existing improvements.
2. $30.00 per unit for all existing improvements altering their point of connection to the system from an established trunk sewer district to a new trunk sewer district.

Section 14. No free service shall be furnished by the system to the city or to any person, firm or corporation, public or private, or to any public agency or instrumentality. Charges for services furnished by the system shall be billed and collected quarterly (3 months) or oftener, as shall be determined by the commission, but not less than approximately one-third (⅓) in amount of the bills shall become due each month. Such charges shall become due at such times, not exceeding thirty (30) days after the reading of the water meter, as shall be established by resolution of the commission, and if such charges are not paid on or before such due date, then a penalty of ten per cent (10%) shall be added thereto. In the event that the charges for any such services furnished to any premises shall not be paid within thirty (30) days after the due date thereof, then all services furnished by the system to such premises shall be discontinued.

Section 15. Charges for services furnished by the system to any premises shall be a lien thereon, and on May first of each year the person or agency charged with the management of said system, shall certify any such charges which have been delinquent six (6) months or more, to the City Assessor who shall enter the same upon the next tax roll against the premises to which such services shall have been rendered, and said charges shall be collected and said lien shall be enforced in the same manner as provided in respect to taxes assessed upon such roll: Provided, that when a tenant is responsible for the payment of any such charge against any premises, and the commission is so notified in writing, with a true copy of the lease of the affected premises (if there be one) attached, then no such charge shall become a lien against such premises from and after the date of such notice. However, in event of the filing of such notice, no further service shall be rendered by the system to such premises until a cash deposit equal to two (2) times the average quarterly (3 months) charge to such premises shall have been made as security for the payment of charges thereto.

Section 16. The rates hereinbefore established are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation of the system and such expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order; to provide for the payment of interest upon and the principal of all bonds payable therefrom, as and when the same shall become due and payable, and for the creation of reserves for the payment of principal and interest as required by Ordinance No. 1189 and by this ordinance; and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for the system as are required by said ordinance. Rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time by the commission so as to produce the foregoing amounts, and the city covenants and agrees to maintain at all times such rates for services furnished by the system as shall be sufficient for the foregoing.

Section 17. The hereinafter mentioned funds, which were designated in and established pursuant to Ordinance No. 1189, shall be continued and maintained as therein provided. The revenues of the system are hereby pledged for the purposes of the following funds, and as collected shall be set aside into the "Receiving Fund" of the system, and shall be transferred therefrom periodically into separate and special funds, as follows:

1. OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND.

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be first set aside in each month into the "Operation and Maintenance Fund", a sum sufficient to provide for the payment for the next month of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The commission at the beginning of each fiscal year, shall adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for such year, and such expenses shall not exceed the amount specified in said budget except by a two-thirds vote of the members of the commission, and then only in event of an absolute necessity for such additional expenditures.

2. BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND.

Out of the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be next set aside in each month into the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund", a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment as the same becomes due of the next maturing principal and interest on each issue of bonds then payable from the revenues of the system: Provided, that the amount so set aside for interest on the said "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952 and on the bonds herein authorized, in each quarter during the first six (6) months of each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following January first, and the amount so set aside for principal on the said bonds, in each quarter during each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-fourth (¼) of the amount of principal maturing on the January 1 immediately following such fiscal year, and if there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirement. There shall continue to be maintained in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund the reserve for the said "Sewage Disposal Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952, as provided in said Ordinance No. 1189, and in addition thereto there shall be set aside in quarterly installments for the purpose of creating a reserve in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, for the bonds herein authorized, a sum not less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) during each fiscal year, commencing with the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1968, until the reserve assessed upon such roll: Provided, that when a tenant is responsible for the payment of any such charge against any premises, and the commission is so notified in writing, with a true copy of the lease of the affected premises (if there be one) attached, then no such charge shall become a lien against such premises from and after the date of such notice. However, in event of the filing of such notice, no further service shall be rendered by the system to such premises until a cash deposit equal to two (2) times the average quarterly (3 months) charge to such premises shall have been made as security for the payment of charges thereto.

Section 16. The rates hereinbefore established are estimated to be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation of the system and such expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order; to provide for the payment of interest upon and the principal of all bonds payable therefrom, as and when the same shall become due and payable, and for the creation of reserves for the payment of principal and interest as required by Ordinance No. 1189 and by this ordinance; and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for the system as are required by said ordinance. Rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time by the commission so as to produce the foregoing amounts, and the city covenants and agrees to maintain at all times such rates for services furnished by the system as shall be sufficient for the foregoing.

Section 17. The hereinafter mentioned funds, which were designated in and established pursuant to Ordinance No. 1189, shall be continued and maintained as therein provided. The revenues of the system are hereby pledged for the purposes of the following funds, and as collected shall be set aside into the "Receiving Fund" of the system, and shall be transferred therefrom periodically into separate and special funds, as follows:

1. OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE FUND.

Out of the revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be first set aside in each month into the "Operation and Maintenance Fund", a sum sufficient to provide for the payment for the next month of all current expenses of administration and operation of the system and such current expenses for the maintenance thereof as may be necessary to preserve the system in good repair and working order. The commission at the beginning of each fiscal year, shall adopt a budget covering the foregoing expenses for such year, and such expenses shall not exceed the amount specified in said budget except by a two-thirds vote of the members of the commission, and then only in event of an absolute necessity for such additional expenditures.

2. BOND AND INTEREST REDEMPTION FUND.

Out of the remaining revenues in the Receiving Fund, there shall be next set aside in each month into the "Bond and Interest Redemption Fund", a sum proportionately sufficient to provide for the payment as the same becomes due of the next maturing principal and interest on each issue of bonds then payable from the revenues of the system: Provided, that the amount so set aside for interest on the said "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952 and on the bonds herein authorized, in each quarter during the first six (6) months of each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-half (½) of the total amount of interest maturing on the following January first, and the amount so set aside for principal on the said bonds, in each quarter during each fiscal year, shall not be less than one-fourth (¼) of the amount of principal maturing on the January 1 immediately following such fiscal year, and if there shall be any deficiency in the amount previously set aside, then the amount of such deficiency shall be added to the current requirement. There shall continue to be maintained in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund the reserve for the said "Sewage Disposal Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952, as provided in said Ordinance No. 1189, and in addition thereto there shall be set aside in quarterly installments for the purpose of creating a reserve in said Bond and Interest Redemption Fund, for the bonds herein authorized, a sum not less than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) during each fiscal year, commencing with the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1968, until the reserve shall have been paid in full; and that it will not permit any person, firm or corporation to compete with it in the furnishing of sewage disposal services to premises within its corporate limits. Said city further covenants and agrees with the holders of said bonds that it will maintain said system in good condition and operate the same in an efficient manner and at a reasonable cost, so long as any of said bonds are outstanding; that it will maintain insurance on the system for the benefit of the holders of said bonds in an amount which usually would be carried by private companies engaged in a similar type of business; that it will prepare, keep and file such records, statement and accounts as may be required by Act No. 94 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1933, as now or hereafter amended; that it will promptly file with the original purchasers of said bonds a copy of each annual statement which it is required to file with the Municipal Finance Commission and will also file with such purchasers a copy of the Annual Audit of the system certified to by a Certified Public Accountant, within ninety (90) days after the close of each fiscal year; and that it will furnish a copy of the foregoing statement and audit to any bondholder upon payment of the actual cost of such copy.

Section 21. While any of the said "Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952", dated October 1, 1952, or any of the bonds herein authorized to be issued shall be outstanding, no additional bonds payable from the revenues of the system shall be issued which shall have a prior or equal standing therewith, except as hereinafter provided. While the said Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952 are outstanding the city shall have the right to issue additional bonds payable from the net revenues of the system for the purpose of improving, enlarging and/or extending the system, which bonds when issued shall have equal standing with said bonds and the bonds herein authorized: Provided, that no such additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued unless the average net revenues for the then last two preceding fiscal years or the net revenues for the then last preceding fiscal year, whichever shall be the lower, shall be equal to at least 135% of the largest amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any fiscal year on any bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the system and on such additional bonds then being issued. No such additional bonds shall be issued if the city shall then be in default in making any payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. Permission by the Municipal Finance Commission of the State of Michigan (or such other state commission or agency as shall have jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof. After the said Sewage Disposal System Revenue Bonds, Series 1952 have been paid in full, the city shall have the right to issue additional bonds payable from the net revenues of the system for the purpose of improving, enlarging and/or extending the system, which bonds when issued shall have equal standing with said bonds and the bonds herein authorized: Provided, that no such additional bonds of equal standing shall be issued unless the average net revenues for the then last two preceding fiscal years or the net revenues for the then last preceding fiscal year, whichever shall be the lower, shall be equal to at least 135% of the largest amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any fiscal year on any bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the system and on such additional bonds then being issued, and (b) 50% of the lowest estimated additional net revenues to be derived from the improvements, enlargements and extensions to be financed by such additional bonds, in any fiscal year following the third fiscal year after the completion date thereof as fixed in the ordinance authorizing such additional bonds, shall be equal to at least 135% of the largest amount of principal and interest thereafter maturing in any fiscal year on the bonds then outstanding payable from the revenues of the system and on such additional bonds then being issued. The above mentioned net revenues shall be estimated by a registered professional engineer who shall be selected by the commission but who shall not be a regular officer or employee of the city. The selection of such person shall be subject to disapproval by the Municipal Finance Commission. The actual net revenues for the two preceding fiscal years shall be used in making the foregoing determinations unless the city shall raise the sewage disposal charges at the time of authorizing such additional bonds, in which case the net revenues of the system for each of the last preceding years shall be augmented to an amount reflecting the effect of such increase had the city's sewage disposal billings during such years been at the increased rates, and in such case the augmented instead of the actual revenues shall be used in determining whether and to what extent additional bonds of equal standing may be issued. No such additional bonds shall be issued if the city shall then be in default in making any payments to the Operation and Maintenance Fund or the Bond and Interest Redemption Fund. Permission by the Municipal Finance Commission of the State of Michigan (or such other state commission or agency as shall have jurisdiction over the issuance of municipal bonds) to issue such additional bonds shall constitute a conclusive presumption of the existence of conditions permitting the issuance thereof.

3. REPLACEMENT FUND.

The "Replacement Fund" shall continue to be maintained in the amount of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) as a reserve for any replacements to the system which may become necessary from time to time. Whenever moneys shall be used from said fund to make such replacements, said fund shall be restored to the sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) as soon as possible thereafter, by transfers from the Receiving Fund.

4. IMPROVEMENT FUND.

BATTLE ROYAL — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands (right foreground) makes it a real Dutch treat for guests as she leads her side in a rousing snowball fight in the Royal Palace Gardens at Soesdijk yesterday. Would-Be Actress Ends 24-Year Run in Jail

BEDFORD HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Madeline Webb, who wanted to be an actress but became a murder accomplice instead, walks through the gates of Westfield State Prison for Women today, free after more than 24 years.

Madeline, now 53, gained a sort of fame, not on the Broadway stage, but in a New York City courtroom in 1942 during a trial in which she and two men were accused and eventually convicted of murdering a wealthy New York widow for a $1,500 diamond ring.

Despite her disclaimer and that of fellow defendant Eli (Eddie) Shonbrun that Madeline had nothing to do with the slaying, the jury found her guilty and Madeline was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Snowbrun and the third defendant, John B. Cullen, were sentenced to death.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

Last Dec. 23, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller commuted Madeline's sentence and the superintendent of Westfield prison commented: "Madeline has long since paid any debt she owed society."

Madeline Webb went to New York from Stillwater, Okla., in 1939 with stars in her eyes. But like so many hopeful young actresses before her, she found the Broadway theater unresponsive to the talent she thought she possessed.

★ ★ ★

She worked as a model, a chorus girl and a designer, and she began traveling in shady company, most notably with Shonbru, a wife deserter who lived on the money he collected for jewelry extorted from wealthy, indiscreet women.

On March 2, 1942, Susan Reich, a wealthy widow, received a call from a woman identifying herself as Madeline Webb. The call summoned her to the Hotel Sutton on Manhattan's East Side.

STRANGLED

When she arrived, Mrs. Reich was met by Madeline, Shonbrun and Cullen. They bound and gagged her, then strangled her for the jewelry she wore.

The trio went on trial the following May, with Madeline claiming throughout that she was innocent.

★ ★ ★

And from the witness stand, Shonbrun made an attempt to exonerate her.

"Madeline had nothing to do with it," he said. "It's an act for which I'm willing to pay."

And Madeline vowed: "If the jurors don't believe my story and find us guilty, Eli and I will walk the last mile together."

GUILTY VERDICT

The jurors didn't believe her story. And as they returned the guilty verdict, Madeline wailed: "Please, I didn't do it."

And Shonbrun cried: "She is as innocent as my mother. Oh my God! I love that girl. I love that girl."

★ ★ ★

Less than a year later, Shonbrun and Cullen were electrocuted as Madeline sat in shock at Westfield prison, her home ever since.

The number of breweries decreased from about 700 to 180 in 1965.

Dutch Royal Nuptials Minus Turbulence

THE HAGUE (UPI) — Princess Margriet of Holland marries a Dutch commoner tomorrow with the turbulence that marked the unpopular weddings of her two older sisters.

Margriet, 23, has the blessings of her countrymen and the royal family to marry 28-year-old Pieter van Vollehoven, a shy, studious and uncontroversial commoner.

Princess Irene drew criticism in 1964 by converting to Roman Catholicism and marrying French-born Prince Carlos de Borbon-Parma, Carlist pretender to the Spanish throne.

Holland's Protestant majority was angered, and the nation's Roman Catholics — 40 per cent of the population — approved her conversion but many disliked her choice of a husband.

Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard gave last-minute approval of the match but Irene still surrendered her claim to the throne.

★ ★ ★

No member of the royal family attended the wedding.

There was even greater popular outcry when Crown Princess Beatrix decided to marry German diplomat Claus von Amsberg, once reported to have been a member of the Hitler Youth and who served in a German army tank unit during World War II.

Beatrix and von Amsberg were married in March 1965. Since then, Amsberg's charm has gained him popularity in Holland.

★ ★ ★

Margriet's wedding is expected to be quiet.

Van Vollenhoven, who comes from a prosperous Dutch business family, studied law at Leyden University. The slender, bespectacled youth won nationwide acclaim as pianist-leader of a prize-winning Dixieland jazz band. He is also an avid sports car rallier.

Union Records Said Altered

Suspended Official's Lawyer Cries Foul

DETROIT (UPI)—The lawyer of suspended business agent Regis O'Brien of the Reinforced Iron Workers Union Local 426 charged yesterday that the international union altered records to support "false allegations" about his client.

O'Brien was one of four officers who were suspended when the union was placed under national trusteeship last June following a strike that tied up millions of dollars of construction projects in southern Lower Michigan.

O'Brien's lawyer, Thomas R. Sullivan, said yesterday his client may appeal the suspension and file a libel and slander suit against the international.

The agent was found guilty Dec. 13 of failing to account for $1,259 in union funds in a hearing before the executive board of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers.

★ ★ ★

Although Sullivan said he discovered discrepancies and "names altered by pen" in the transcript of the hearing, he said an appeal would be made to the U.S. District Court on the grounds that O'Brien's hearing violated the Landrum-Griffin act by failing to specify charges and by giving insufficient notice of the hearing date.

8 Boy Scouts Spend Night in Blizzard

MARQUETTE (UPI) — A group of Boy Scout volunteers spent Saturday night in blizzard conditions and 10-degree-below zero temperatures in case "bad weather" ever forces them to survive outdoors in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Eight Boy Scouts and four men from the U.S. Air Force slept in tree boughs as eight inches of snow fell during the night in the subzero temperatures.

We might have to do this if bad weather ever causes an emergency," said one of the boys. "And we want to be prepared."

The boys braved the weather and survived on food that wouldn't be termed delicacies—field rations and dehydrated food.

★ ★ ★

The survival training was given by Capts. Bill Moore and John Adams of K.I. Sawyer Air Force Base and two of the base's airmen.

Divers' Inspection of Morrell Is Near

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Divers will descend into Lake Huron off the Michigan shoreline Thursday to inspect the sunken ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell.

Ninth District Coast Guard officials said yesterday the divers will leave Detroit aboard the cutter Bramble for the tiny Huron County community of Point Aux Barques.

A spokesman said the divers, contracted by the Coast Guard will search the area trying to piece together the events of Nov. 29 when the 60-year-old ship broke in two, causing the deaths of all but one of the 29 crewmen.

A closed - circuit television camera aboard the Branble was used Friday to plot the position of the sunken hull.

★ ★ ★

The camera brought the image of the Morrell's stern section to those watching 200 feet above.

The Coast Guard's inquiry board travels to Erie, Pa., as it resumes the hearing into the tragedy.

It will interview former crewmen of the ship before moving to Ogdensburg, N. Y., Wednesday to hear other testimony.

America's third President, Thomas Jefferson, had a sure-fire cure for indigestion — a few miles' ride on a spirited horse.

'GLAD TO BE BACK' — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower tells a welcoming crowd he's "darn glad to be back here" as he arrives at the Eldorado Country Club in Palm Desert, Calif., today to spend the rest of the winter. Between him and his wife, Mamie, is a bouquet of flowers shaped like a golf ball which, he said, "even I can hit."

Students Blast Gov. Reagan

Hanged in Effigy for Tuition Hike Proposal

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—About 100 persons, mostly students, watched on the Fresno State College campus yesterday as Gov. Ronald Reagan was hanged in effigy because of a tuition proposal.

The cloth and paper-stuffed dummy dangled by its neck for 30 minutes before W. D. Albright, dean of students, ordered campus police to take it down.

Remarks in the crowd, made the issue clear: The students don't want to pay a proposed $200 tuition fee where they now pay $38 a semester.

In San Luis Obispo yesterday, student body presidents of California's 18 state colleges called for more state funds rather than tuition charges.

The student leaders said they would contact state legislators about their views and send delegates to Sacramento.

Japan Parties Veto Television Debates

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's major political parties decided today not to hold campaign television debates for the Jan. 29 elections because Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's party objects to including the Communists.

A spokesman for Sato's Liberal Democratic party said the Communists oppose "true parliamentary democracy." The debates had been suggested by the Socialist party.

The election campaign got under way officially yesterday with more than 900 candidates competing for 486 seats in the ruling lower house.

It will be the first test for Sato's government at the polls since he became prime minister two years ago. He is expected to win despite charges of corruption in his government, the high cost of food, transportation and other urban problems.

★ ★ ★

Sato's conservative party has governed Japan ever since the war and had a comfortable majority of 72 in the last house.

21 ARRESTED

Police reported that 21 policemen were taken into custody in Ibaraki Prefecture, northeast of Tokyo, after some of them were accused of trying to bribe voters.

Slaying Suspect Caught in State

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit police arrested James Jones Bradford, 30, Sunday in connection with the sulfuric acid killing of a Los Angeles woman last November.

Bradford was arrested after the FBI traced him to Detroit through calls he made to his wife in Los Angeles.

★ ★ ★

Bradford will be arraigned in Detroit Recorders Court today on charges of unlawful flight to escape prosecution in the slaying of Betty Louise Peace.

The woman's mutilated body was found in mountainous terrain in the Los Angeles suburb of Glendora. Police said her assailant tied Miss Peace to a tree and poured acid over her body.

Webster's Strikes Out on 'Gutter'

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — An 11-year-old girl has discovered a mistake in the elementary-school edition of the Webster's New World Dictionary.

Veronica Sulewski, a sixth-grade pupil at the Park Avenue School, found the error after a recent school exercise in which boys and girls go to the blackboard with a word and write what it means.

★ ★ ★

After a classmate defined "gutter," Veronica objected. In the edition, one definition of "gutter" is a device to return bowling balls to bowlers.

Veronica wrote to Websters and said "the word 'gutter' is in error. The gutter does not return the ball to the bowler."

EDITOR REPLIES

She received a letter last week from John N. Jackson, an executive editor at the publishing firm.

★ ★ ★

"You are right, of course, that the gutters along the side of the bowling alleys do not return the ball to the bowler," he said. "They deliver the ball to the end of the alley away from the bowler in such a way that no pins are knocked over."

The next edition will have the correct entry, he promised.

Hong Kong Is Next for Barry and Wife

TAIPEI (AP) — Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential standard-bearer in 1964, left Taipei today for Hong Kong after a three-day visit to Formosa.

★ ★ ★

Goldwater said he had great admiration for President Chiang Kai-shek, adding, "The world could use a few more like him."

Goldwater, accompanied by his wife, said they planned to spend three or four days in Hong Kong, about three days in Bangkok and the same amount of time in Saigon before returning home.

Rally in 5th Straight Session

Mart Trade Most Active of '67

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading was the most active of 1967 as the stock market pressed its rally into the fifth straight session early this afternoon.

Profit taking marred the rise and it was obvious the list was having some difficulties keeping ahead on balance. Nevertheless, the gain was clear-cut.

★ ★ ★

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.00 at 809.74.

Some of the higher-priced glamor stocks made gains of 2 or more points. Airlines performed well. Coppers advanced as a two-cents-a-pound price increase for the red metal spread in the industry.

Electronics, rails and airlines were higher.

SCUFFLE AT PROTEST GATHERING — Police move in to break up a fight after a protester was knocked to the ground (lower center) in a scuffle yesterday during a demonstration in Leavenworth, Kan., by a group protesting the court-martial and imprisonment of three soldiers for refusing to go to Vietnam.

AID Says Loss of Viet Goods Is Not Unusual

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) estimated today that between $22.7 and $27.3 million worth of American economic assistance commodities delivered to Vietnam "was stolen or otherwise diverted" in 1966.

"USAID believes that the estimated over-all loss rate of 5 to 6 per cent of U.S. aid goods cannot be regarded as highly unusual in a wartime situation as complex as that in Vietnam," said a statement issued by Donald G. MacDonald, director of U.S. aid in Saigon.

Associated Press writers Fred S. Hoffman and Hugh A. Mulligan reported last November, after a two-month AP survey, that profiteering, graft and corruption were costing American taxpayers at least half-a million dollars a day in Vietnam.

They cited numerous examples of stolen or diverted goods and currency speculation.

After the articles appeared, officials in Saigon and Washington announced a number of measures to reduce or investigate the losses.

★ ★ ★

MacDonald's statement and highlights from a summary of AID's activities in 1966 were included in a speech he prepared for the Saigon Lions Club.

POURED INTO VIETNAM

MacDonald and other AID officials said that massive U.S. economic assistance was poured into Vietnam last year to help curb inflation and expand economic development.

The statement on illegal diversion said in part: "There were increased opportunities for pilferage, theft or improper application of AID supplies, especially in the ports and in provincial programs.

"Even so, misunderstandings of the purpose of the Commercial Import program and the Food for Peace sales program has led to exaggerated estimates of theft and diversion of U.S. economic assistance."

★ ★ ★

Approximately $445 million worth of commodities were bought for shipment to Vietnam in 1966 under the AID Commercial Import program, Counterinsurgency and Development Assistance programs and the Food for Peace program. MacDonald's statement noted that "this was nearly double the size of the 1965 programs."

Boy's Toy Gun Is Real Hot Rod

STERLING, Colo. (UPI) — Danny Slattery, 9, took aim and squeezed the trigger of his toy cork gun. It didn't pop. It exploded.

Officials said the boy used the wrong ammunition. He substituted a 45-caliber revolver shell for a cork. He suffered a slight finger injury.

FDA Head Initiating Studies of 'the Pill'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. James L. Goddard, Commissioner of The Food and Drug Administration, said he is instituting large scale studies of several "disturbing questions" relating to the use of oral contraceptives.

Goddard said yesterday he feels birth control pills are safe when taken under a doctor's direction.

But, said Goddard, the FDA is taking steps to institute studies of "the major unanswered questions" connected with the use of oral contraceptives.

"The studies that have been carried out, admittedly with their deficiencies, do not reveal significant problems with the oral contraceptives," Goddard said.

But he said additional studies are needed to provide "the kind of information we need on oral contraceptives to be continually assured of safety in the marketplace.

"The major unanswered questions are the frequency with which clotting diseases occur, thromboembolic phenomena, an the question over long term usage as to whether the woman taking the pill might be predisposed, so to speak, to have cancer," Goddard said.

★ ★ ★

Appearing on a television interview program, Goddard said the FDA has "found no evidence to date" to suggest that taking birth control pills increases the risk of blood clots.

"However, there is need for long-term prospective studies on this and on the question that has been raised by Dr. (Roy) Hertz with respect to cancer and on the question as to congenital defects, Goddard said. "These will take up to 20 years to achieve answers to all of these questions."

Dr. Goddard obliquely suggested that the five million American women now taking the pill give serious thought to using an alternate form of contraception.

★ ★ ★

"In an indirect fashion, we have emphasized this in saying publicly and in press conferences that the woman should seek the advice of her physician on an individual basis so he may help her reach a decision as to which method of contraception is best," Goddard said.

★ ★ ★

"I think inherent in that is the selection of the method which offers the least risk for the desired objective," he said.

Sex-Teaching Course Set

NEW YORK (AP) — How to teach sex will be taught to 25 teachers next semester at Lenox Hill Hospital.

The course may be taken either for credit or without credit, Columbia University's Teachers College announced today. Interested and qualified teachers of independent schools may apply for full-tuition scholarships.

The Columbia announcement said the course in human reproduction and sexual development is "designed to prepare teachers at independent schools in the New York City area for a more meaningful role in sex education. Programs to which these schools have committed themselves."

The class will be held each Wednesday evening from Feb. 8 to May 24.

Columbia said that among the subjects to be taught are: male and female reproductive systems, family planning, contraception, fertility, and standards of sexual conduct.

U. S. Bombing Horrifies Yank

NEW YORK (AP) — Grace Newman, 39, of New York City, one of four American women who spent Christmas week in North Vietnam, says she was "horrified" at the results of U.S. bombing in Hanoi.

"I saw the victims of our bombs. Babies. Women. Everything. The only thing they're not dropping on Hanoi is napalm," Mrs. Newman said Sunday night.

★ ★ ★

She said she spent 11 days in North Vietnam with three other women as observers for the Women's Union of the U.S. Peace Movement. She said most of the civilian injuries she saw came from fragmentation bombs which, she said, were "strictly antipersonnel weapons."

Mrs. Newman said, "I talked and took pictures of one 11-year-old boy who cried as he told me that even after his operation he still has 28 pellets in his body."

SAW ENOUGH

A second woman in the group that went to Hanoi, Mrs. Joseph Griffith, 32, said in Ithaca, N.Y., that she saw enough in Hanoi to satisfy her that fragmentation bombs were being used on civilians.

A third member of the group, Miss Barbara Dening, 49, a Wellfleet, Mass., pacifist, is expected to arrive here later today.

★ ★ ★

It is not known when the fourth member of the group, Miss Diana Bevel, 24, of Chicago, will return.

The four women made their trip without State Department authorization and stand to lose their passports.

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from the State or Defense Departments on the statements by two of the women.

Mrs. Griffith said that everyone in Hanoi seemed to be ready for war and that even the women plowing the fields on the outskirts of the city had rifles slung over their shoulders.

★ ★ ★

She said the war seemed to involve everyone in Hanoi.

Both women said that morale among the North Vietnamese was high despite the fact that most families are broken up, with children attending schools in the jungles and mountains which surround Hanoi.

UNIDENTIFIED CAMP

The women visited an unidentified prison camp near Hanoi, and spoke to two U.S. pilots, they said.

They returned with letters from 21 captured U.S. airmen.

★ ★ ★

Both women said that although the two pilots they visited appeared in "good health," conversation with them was hampered by the fact that they were subject to regulations as prisoners of war.

Man Robbed, Set Ablaze by 4 Captors

NEW YORK (AP) — Four men turned a Brooklyn coffee shop owner into a human torch Sunday after robbing him of $100, police reported.

Joseph Prochilo, 33, rolled on the ground to put out the flames that seared his body and then stumbled several blocks to Coney Island Hospital where he collapsed.

★ ★ ★

Physicians listed him in critical condition today but said he was expected to live.

He suffered burns about the face, hands, back and legs after being doused with a flammable liquid and set afire, he told police.

WALKING HOME

Prochilo said he was walking to his home in Brooklyn's Borough Park section after closing his shop when he was yanked into a car and blindfolded.

He was robbed and driven to the Coney Island section, where the four men pushed him out of the car and set him afire, police quoted him as saying.

Says Gals Should Cut In on Barbering

CHAMPAIGN, Ill (AP)—Barb Phinney, 19, is the only girl barber on the University of Illinois campus.

"Customers are usually surprised when they first come in —but they're flattered when they walk out," she said.

She became a barber "because it seemed kind of different and a little exciting."

She learned her trade at a barber's college in Mattoon, Ill.

★ ★ ★

"It's very interesting work," she said, "and it's easy. I definitely think more women could do well in it."

Animals Active at Moose, Wyo.

MOOSE, Wyo. (AP) — A car driven by a woman named Stagg struck and killed an elk on the highway near Moose this year.

A few weeks later a car driven by Devere Sparrow of Ogden, Utah, struck and killed a cow on the highway—also near Moose.

Wage Guidelines Rapped by Javits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., believes the Johnson administration should discard the wage-price guideposts as a tool in labor-management disputes.

Javits, ranking Republican on the Senate Labor Committee, said the administration's use of the guideposts has, "in many instances, led to the undermining of the collective bargaining process, has not succeeded in restraining inflation, and has seriously impeded the function of mediation agencies."

★ ★ ★

Javits' views were contained in a letter to William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. The senator made the letter public yesterday.

Changes Due at School for the Retarded

DETROIT (AP) — Personnel policies are being tightened at the Wayne County Training School. Probate Judge Ira Kaufman indicates charges that some mentally retarded children were harshly treated at the school led to the policy changes.

Three former teachers told the judge and other members of the school's administrative staff that some children at the school had been beaten in 1964 and 1965.

★ ★ ★

Kaufman is investigating reports of mistreatment of the youngsters in the school. He said changes are being made to "emphasize that all employes of the school are expected to report any incidents to the superintendent, and, if necessary, to our board."

★ ★ ★

The teachers said they made no reports because they had been led to believe that no action would be taken.

Malayan Floods Kill at Least 21

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (UPI) — At least 21 persons have been killed in heavy floods which swept wide areas of northern Malaya last week, authorities reported today.

★ ★ ★

Malaysian, Australian and British aircraft flew relief supplies to thousands of flood victims in seven states. Floodwaters have started to recede.

Wrong Number? You Said It!

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The telephone number once listed to the Rev. J. W. Toomey, Negro minister who was head of the Biracial Advisory Board, has a new owner.

Leon Flynn, organizer of the National Knights of America, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, for south Florida, says he has been made aware of the former listing through the number of calls he gets from the parish. He's having his number changed.

Color TV, Camera Taken From Home

A color television set valued at $600 and a $40 camera were taken from the home of a Pontiac woman this weekend, city police were told.

★ ★ ★

Irene Johnson, 21, of 505 Raeburn told police she returned home from work Saturday and discovered the items were missing.

Officers said entry was made by forcing open the front door.

2 Police, Guard Slain by Thieves Near Stockholm

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Two policemen and a guard assigned to watch a $6,000 cache of stolen goods were found shot to death in a pedestrian tunnel in the center of suburban Handen early today.

Police said they were killed with submachine-gun fire, apparently as they tried to arrest thieves who had returned to the deserted tunnel about 3 a. m. to remove their hidden loot.

A night watchman found the goods yesterday after several shops had been entered over the weekend. Police set up roadblocks in the area.

The word "gauze" evolved from Gaza, the great trade center in Biblical Palastine and a city famous for its light textiles.

And that's the kind of person we need as a customer engineer for our office products division—a guy with a good knowledge of basic electronics, and an ability to meet and work with people.

If you have a high school diploma, two years technical training or equivalent experience, and mechanical interest and aptitude, you may be the kind of guy we're looking for.

IBM offers outstanding advancement opportunities and benefits. But come in for an interview and find out for yourself. It'll give you a chance to use some of that ability.

TECHNICIANS

If you want to keep learning—consider becoming an IBM Customer Engineer

Here's a job, where you're learning every day. You must, to keep pace with the fast-growing industry of information handling and control. Better still, you earn an excellent salary while you learn.

You would start in a training program. You would be taught how to install and service IBM data processing equipment. Later, you would be assigned your own territory to handle. But that's only the BEGINNING of your education!

Throughout your career as a Customer Engineer, you would attend meetings and classes to keep you informed of latest technological advances. This education prepares you for greater professional responsibility, too. Customer Engineers average more than a month each year in IBM educational programs.

What do you need to qualify? A mechanical aptitude plus a good knowledge of basic electronics. And an ability to get along well with people.

If you're interested in a job with continuing built-in educational and advancement opportunities, write or call for an appointment.

Star of 'Star Spangled Girl' Is Spangled by Boy Friend

By EARL WILSON

Eddie Fisher's New Year's gift to Connie Stevens of "Star Spangled Girl": a diamond and emerald bracelet watch . . . The Frank Sinatras'll vacation for a week in Barbados with Claudette Colbert and her husband (after Joe E. Lewis' big birthday party Jan. 12 at Jilly's, in Miami Beach).

WILSON

Buzz from Rome: Liz Taylor did the nude scene herself in "Reflections in a Golden Eye" because she didn't approve of the girl picked to sub for her . . . The Burt Bacharachs (Angie Dickinson) report proudly their dtr., 1¼ lbs. at birth six months ago, now weighs 9 lbs.

★ ★ ★

Hildegarde shrugs off her age (60) at the St. Regis Maisonette with a tune "Over 50, So What?" and sings, "Has it bothered Dietrich, Ethel Merman, Gypsy Rose Lee?" (They haven't been heard from yet!)

"Rhinestone Danny" Stradella of the Hideaway wears a tuxedo one night a year—at his place on New Year's Eve. But this year his dishwashers quit, so Danny stripped off his tux and spent all night scrubbing pots . . . A famed entertainer is depressed at his fading glory: "The papers didn't even report my divorce was final."

The Ginza instituted a "snake-a-go-go"—Renee Renata dancing with a boa constrictor wrapped around her . . . "Mame" busted the weekly house record, with $99,080 (helped by the $15 top price on New Year's Eve).

★ ★ ★

Bobby Darin's subbing for a week at the Las Vegas Flamingo for Charles Aznavour, busy getting ready for his wedding Jan. 12 . . . Paul Anka wants to TV-tape a show in Russia next summer . . . Keefe Brasselle dickering for a well-known N.Y. restaurant.

The producer of a musical being prepared for B'way startled his associates—he turned down one of the biggest songwriting duos, with dozens of hits to their credit. No reason given.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Someone just came up with the ultimate in filter cigarets — they're so long you smoke only one pack a month.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The way some women find fault with their husbands, sighs Alberto Rochi, you'd think there was a reward.

It first was believed to have been an assassination attempt.

Locusts Threatening Asian, African Crops

WASHINGTON—New plagues of locusts threaten crops in western Asia and Africa. Scientists are preparing to fight the ancient pests with insecticides, airplanes, even data from space satellites.

Three huge swarms have been sighted in West Pakistan and one in East Africa's Somali Republic. Large numbers of mature locusts have gathered in Ethiopia and India, and scattered bands are in North Africa.

A single swarm may contain billions of insects, weigh 20,000 tons, and eat its weight in green food daily.

In 1954, a cloud of locusts 200 miles long and 15 miles wide swept into Morocco. The invaders gobbled up grain crops and decimated large orange groves. Some even attacked children and animals.

★ ★ ★

The voracious grasshopper that torments modern farmers is the same species of desert locust that devastated Egypt in Biblical times. The terrible plague of locusts left the land of the Pharoahs without "any green thing in the trees, or in the herbs of the field."

JOIN OFFENSIVE

Since this species multiplies over a wide region and migrates vast distances, 13 African and Asian countries from Mali to Pakistan have joined in an offensive against the insect.

Locust officers in India, for example, have the authority to conscript one male from each family to fight swarms, but villagers eagerly volunteer to join poison - dusting squads mustered to battle their traditional enemy.

When locusts are in the wingless hopping stage, insecticides are spread in the line of march. The Anti-Locust Research Center in London hopes to synthesize the scent of grass, attractive to marching locusts, and use it as lure in poisons.

★ ★ ★

In recent years, powerful new insecticides have been developed for locust control. Twenty years ago, a gallon of poison could kill only about 9,000 of the insects. Today, a gallon can destroy a million.

New spraying equipment enables airplanes to diffuse a very fine mist of poison on flying locusts. This means that regional centers can dispatch planes to intercept and attack a swarm without having to wait for it to settle on the ground.

Since desert locusts need wet soil for their eggs and adult swarms migrate with winds, meteorological data is vital in checking their probable whereabouts. The occurrence of exceptional rains and high-velocity winds has been detected on pictures transmitted from Tiros weather satellites.

A locust leads à Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde life. In the Dr. Jekyll stage, it actually is a large grasshopper that lives alone and causes little damage. But moisture and plentiful food encourage rapid multiplication.

★ ★ ★

If drought shrinks vegetation, the population becomes intolerably overcrowded. The locust then dramatically enters the Mr. Hyde stage: It changes from grass-green to black and yellow; its wings lengthen; the head thickens; it breathes faster; it becomes restless, irritable, gregarious.

Warm, dry weather encourages the seething insects to fly off in dense clouds. Eventually the swarm loses impetus. It may head out to sea and drown. Or it may simply dwindle to nothing.

Wayne County's Prosecutor Aide Is Councilman

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County's new chief assistant prosecutor is councilman James H. Brickley. He succeeds Samuel L. Brezner and will assist Prosecutor William L. Cahalan.

Brickley's new job pays $25,000 a year. He said he would resign from the council within 10 days. His departure will leave two vacancies on the council.

Brickley, 38, will begin work in the prosecutor's office directing 69 attorneys assigned to criminal and civil cases.

Brezner said he would continue as an assistant in the prosecutor's office.

Fiber From Borax Excites Scientists

WASHINGTON — Borax has been borrowed from the kitchen shelf for the Nation's space program.

The familiar household cleanser is being used experimentally by space scientists as the source of a nonmetallic element called boron. An Air Force general said boron has put the United States "on the threshold of the greatest single advance in materials in the last 3,000 years."

The material that shows such promise is a tough, lightweight fiber produced by boron-bearing gas, the National Geographic Society says. The filament has been described thus: "Stronger than steel, lighter than aluminum, and stiffer than glass fiber."

In the United States, the largest source of boron-bearing material — borax — is found in Death Valley, California. It is the same substance used in soaps and cleansers.

★ ★ ★

Boron fiber is being tested in small rocket cases that must withstand enormous pressures. One type of boron-reinforced rocket case has been built with the filament-winding technique used in making fiberglas.

TENSILE STRENGTH

Boron also shows great promise for various earthbound applications. Researchers are excited about the element's tensile strength, or resistance to being pulled apart. They say a boron fiber only four one-thousands of an inch in diameter has a strength of 400,000 to 500,000 pounds per square inch.

A one-square-inch rope of boron fiber could easily lift a fully loaded, four-engine jetliner.

Theoretically, the strength of the material would make it possible to erect skyscrapers five times taller than the Empire State Building and build bridges twice as long as the new 4,260-foot Verrazano-Narrows Bridge in New York City.

Religion Invades the Post Office

"What denomination?" he asked.

"I sure never thought religion would go this far," she replied, "but I'm a Baptist."

Prayers Okay in an Emergency

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Usually the janitors are quick to clean the names and signs from the walls of the boys' restrooms at North Side High School, but one was permitted to remain. A youngster had written:

"NOTICE: In the event of an atomic attack, the federal ruling against prayer in this school will be temporarily suspended."

N. Y. Adoption Dispute Enters Final Chapter Today

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP) — Blue-eyed, blonde Beth may learn finally in court today if she can remain with her Italian-American foster parents, who have cared for her since she was 5 days old.

★ ★ ★

The fate of the 4½-year-old girl hinges on the decision of the Ulster County welfare commissioner, Joseph Fitzsimmons, who has been blocking Beth's adoption by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni.

★ ★ ★

Columbia County Surrogate Judge R. Waldron Herzberg, presiding at today's hearing in family court, last Friday recommended the adoption after studying two independent inquiries.

However, the law provides that, when a child has been placed with a Public Welfare Commission for adoption, the official's consent is necessary before the court can sign the order.

OPEN MIND

Fitzsimmons, who said he would study the reports over the weekend, added that he had a "completely open mind" in the case.

Last August, Fitzsimmons obtained a court order to remove Beth from the care of the Liunis, who live in nearby Tillson.

★ ★ ★

Fitzsimmons cited the age of the Liunis — each is 48 — and "medical reasons" for opposing the adoption.

★ ★ ★

The Liunis refused to give up the child. They contended that the commissioner has based his opposition on ethnic reasons — the fact that the Liunis are dark-eyed and swarthy while fair-complexioned Beth is of English-Irish-German stock.

COURT ORDER

The couple battled in the courts and, last November, the State Supreme Court's appellate division voided the original family court order and directed Judge Herzberg to render his decision after initiating new inquiries.

The judge appointed former Judge William E. Connor of Hudson and Frank Appleton, a retired state police criminal investigator, to conduct independent studies. Connor also was named special guardian for Beth, but the girl meanwhile remained with the Liunis.

Liuni is an International Business Machines programming consultant.

Fiscal Report of Red Cross Is Released

Mounting demand for services to U.S. military forces in South Vietnam and meeting needs of victims of Hurricane Betsy combined to make 1965-66 the busiest and costliest year for the American Red Cross since World War II.

★ ★ ★

The Southeastern Michigan Red Cross chapter spent $1,612,447.71 of its total $1,630,563.68 income during the year ending June 30, 1966, according to an annual report released today.

Some 23,945 military individuals and families were assisted. Seventy service volunteers gave 8,900 hours assistance.

A total of 94,956 pints of blood was donated in the area. Help was given in 69 local cases involving disaster aid. National assistance was sent to Hurricane Betsy.

★ ★ ★

The National organization's annual report noted a total of $120,819,624 in expenditures for the year ending June 30.

COLLECTIONS RISE

For the third year in a row National collections rose in the organization's appeal for funds, totalling $92,686,143.

Irate Husband Faces Charge

DETROIT (UPI) — A suburban Warren man faces examination Friday on a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm after he allegedly smashed his car into one in which his wife was sitting.

★ ★ ★

Carlie E. Bell, 41, pleaded innocent yesterday and was held pending issuance of $5,000 bond in an arraignment before Recorder's Court Judge Robert De Mascio.

Police said Bell's wife, Maria, 44, and two of her girlfriends received minor injuries Saturday when Bell supposedly shouted "I will get all of you" and rammed his car into the other auto.

★ ★ ★

Wrong Drug Kills Cancer Sufferers

CHARLEROI, Belgium (AP)—A heart drug mistakenly administered to cancer sufferers in a Charleroi hospital has caused patient deaths, the hospital announced Saturday.

It did not say how many deaths there were but the Belgian news agency Belga said "the number of victims appears to be rather high" and the Brussels newspaper Dernier Heure quoted unofficial reports as saying there were 20 dead.

A communique of the Arthur Gailly Medicochirurgical Institute in Charleroi said the drug digitalin was mistakenly labeled by a Belgian pharmaceutical firm and doctors used it on their patients in the belief it was a drug containing hormone for treatment of prostate cancer.

Normal dosage of digitalin is one to three milligrams a day.

NOTICED COINCIDENCE

Said the hospital communique: "Doctors progressively noticed a coincidence between the condition of some patients and absorption of a drug supplied by a big Brussels pharmaceutical firm and delivered by the drug service of the hospital.

"These clinical presumptions led doctors to suspend administration of the drug. Since then, investigations established that the supplier had made a mistake with fatal consequences."

The firm was not identified. Informed sources said the drug was used from March 1965 to last April.

'Interesting Year Ahead'

Gold Reserve Drop Reported

LONDON (AP) — Gold reserves of countries belonging to the International Monetary Fund (IMF) dropped last year because of largescale hoarding and the absence of Russian gold from the sellers' market, a British dealer's report said today.

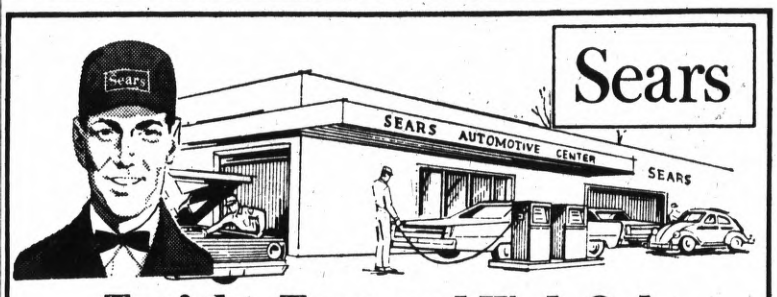

The report by Mocatta and Goldsmid, bullion dealers in the Hambros bank group, also predicted "another interesting year for the London gold market" in 1967 because of French pressure to examine the position of gold in the International Monetary System.

The price of gold has remained at $35 an ounce since it was fixed there by the United States in 1934.

But Finance Minister Michel Debre of France is reported ready to seek an increase in the price when finance ministers of the 10 leading industrial nations and members of the IMF meet in London later this month to discuss the growing shortage of world money supplies.

Mocatta and Goldsmid's report said little progress was made last year in the area of world liquidity because of lack of agreement on what form a new reserve unit should take or by whom it should be administered.
