Yugoslav-Italian Tempers Flare Over Trieste

West Germans Prepare to Cast Ballots Sunday

Victory for Adenauer Means Participation in European Army

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's national election campaign wound up today as 33 million voters prepared to cast ballots in what looked to the outside world like a contest between Russia and America.

To the average German, however, there was no clear-cut East-West choice such as recent Moscow and Washington statements would seem to imply.

The United States, through Secretary of State Dulles, gave its blessing Thursday to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-Western conservative coalition government.

Russia, through the official news agency Tass, called last night for the defeat of Adenauer and his program of rearmament in alliance with the West.

German voters who will decide the issue in tomorrow's parliamentary voting — perhaps the most significant election in postwar Europe—could point out that both parties with any chance of winning are anti-Communist. The opposition Socialists are just as strongly opposed to Moscow as Adenauer's Christian Democrats.

But to the outside world the difference was this:

The triumph of the 77-year-old Chancellor's Christian Democrats would commit West Germany to his program of raising German troops for the proposed West European army, a project the United States supports.

A Socialist victory, however, would bring in a policy of unarmed neutrality in the cold war, which Moscow demands.

For most Germans, however, the main question was: Which policy offers the most hope of achieving that all-German dream of reuniting both the Soviet-occupied East zone and West Germany in peace and freedom?

Tass said last night that the moment Adenauer achieves his goal of a Western military Alliance "it will become impossible to revive the unity of Germany."

Dulles declared Adenauer's defeat would be disastrous for the prospects of German unification.

American Walker Cup Team Leading British

MARION, Mass. (AP)—Six of the American Walker Cup forces had leads ranging from 1 to 7 holes and the other two were all even with British rivals today at the halfway mark of the 36-holes singles golf matches at Kittansett.

Winners of all but 1 of the 13 previous international competitions, the Americans gained a 3-1 point lead in yesterday's opening foursome engagements.

First Snow in Montana

AP Wirephoto

EARLY WINTER—While the East and Midwest was struggling out of a record heat wave, snow and sleet fell in Montana creating scenes like this on the Cooke City-Red Lodge highway. Traffic was halted and the northwest entrance to Yellowstone National Park closed for a time until plows cleared the way for tourists. The snow measured up to four inches.

26 Degree Drop in 4 Hours

Cooler Weather With Rain Worth Million to Farmers

Temperatures plunged 26 degrees in four hours yesterday afternoon when the long-awaited cold front swept into Pontiac and broke up the longest heat wave ever recorded here.

Packing winds up to 45 miles an hour and carrying rain worth a million dollars, the cool air reached Pontiac area shortly after 2 p.m. and dropped the mercury from yesterday's high of 85 degrees to 59 degrees by 6 p.m.

A long-range prediction by the U. S. Weather Bureau indicates cool weather will remain at least through Tuesday.

A cool, cloudy Labor Day weekend, with temperaurres in the 70s, is forecast. Rain is expected Tuesday.

Edmond W. Alchin, Oakland County agricultural agent, termed yesterday's precipitation "a million dollar rain."

Earlier, Alchin feared county farmers would lose as much as $1,000,000 in crop damage unless a general rain and cooler weather snapped the 10-day seige of hot, dry weather.

"The rain and cooler weather will give potatoes and fruits a better chance to develop properly and be marketed as top-grade produce," he pointed out. "The change in weather also has immeasurably aided fall seeding and ground condition for planting."

About .40 of an inch of rain accompanied the cold front.

Relief from the record-smashing heat wave came suddenly when the cool air from Canada blew into Pontiac. The mercury dropped dramatically in the first four hours, then inched down slowly to a low of 55 degrees at 7 a. m. today.

But sunny skies sent the mercury upward this morning. It stood at 57 degrees at 8 a. m. and rose to 75 at 2 p.m. in downtown Pontiac.

Fair and somewhat cooler weather is forecast for tonight, with a

Detectives Find Valuable Furs

$40,000 Cache May Be Pieces Stolen Aug. 29 From Drugged Man

DETROIT (UP)—Holdup bureau detectives recovered 43 fur pieces valued at $40,000 here early today and said they were believed to be those stolen Aug. 29 from a New York salesman at Grand Rapids.

Det. Sgt. Archie Richardson said 18 fur coats, 25 stoles, a diamond ring and a wristwatch were recovered at 1 a.m. on the northwest side, but declined to reveal other details.

Police said they were still working on the case and would not say whether an arrest had been made.

The fur salesman, Daniel Mostman, reported to Grand Rapids police on Aug. 30 that a "well dressed, cultured woman" had drugged him in his hotel room there and robbed him of 45 fur samples.

The description of the furs taken from Mostman tallied with those recovered in Detroit. He also reported his diamond ring, wristwatch and wallet were taken.

Parks, Beaches to Draw Crowds Over Labor Day

Attendance May Be Cut by Weather; Governor Will Speak in City

One official picnic and hundreds of informal gatherings at recreation areas will mark Labor Day in the Pontiac area.

Pontiac and Oakland County Democrats will meet at Murphy Park on South East boulevard Monday for their annual picnic and an address by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Although cool weather may reduce the number of persons driving to Oakland County recreation areas, law enforcement agencies throughout the county are prepared for heavy holiday traffic.

Average attendances were forecast at Cass-Dodge Park No. 4 and at Pontiac Lake Recreation Area if the cool weather continues.

Officials at both parks indicated attendances would go up or down with the thermomenter. On warm holidays, record crowds jam parks.

Cass Dodge Park officials expect a Labor Day attendance of about 10,000 persons, about 3,500 under a capacity crowd. Nearly 2,500 may visit Pontiac Lake recreation area, according to officials there.

Average attendances also are expected at Kensington Metropolitan Park, Highland State Recreation, Bald Mountain Recreation, Holly Recreation, Proud Lake, Ortonville, Rochester-Utica and Metamora recreation Areas.

Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post will be augmented by officers from Detroit to handle traffic. Every available man, including detectives, will be on traffic patrol in the Pontiac area and patrol cars will be on 24-hour duty.

All available men in the Pontiac Police Department and Oakland County Sheriff's Department also will be used to handle the expected heavy traffic flow.

Motorists, whether they are planning extensive trips or daily excursions to picnic areas, have been urged to exercise extreme caution in an attempt to hold traffic accidents at a minimum.

Iran Receives New U. S. Grant

President Announces $45 Million Given in Emergency Aid

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower today granted the new government of Iran 45 million dollars in emergency economic aid in an obvious move to prevent any Iranian alignment with Russia.

The President acted just 10 days after Prime Minister Fazollah Zahedi appealed to him for swift assistance, saying Iran's treasury was empty and that money was needed urgently to enable the country "to emerge from a state of economic and financial chaos.'

Last Tuesday Eisenhower made public a reply assuring Zahedi the United States would give "sympathetic consideration" to his appeal.

Today the summer White House issued this statement

"In response to a request for urgent assistance from the new government of Iran, the President has made available on an emergency basis 45 million dollars which will be used for the immediate economic assistance of Iran in accordance with the procedures of the Foreign Operations Administration under the Mutual Security Act.

"This amount is in addition to existing United States technical assistance and military programs

PWs Made Death Pact to Avoid False Confession

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (AP)—Two Air Force officers today said they made a pact to die rather than sign false confessions that the United States waged germ warfare in Korea.

The communists tortured the two for months, but neither would "confess."

The pair, freed today by the Reds, were Capt. Byron A. Dobbs, 33, of Clio, Mich., and 1st Lt. James Stanley, 24, of Decatur, Ga.

Speaking of the death pact, Dobbs said:

"Once we were resigned to die it wasn't too bad. We figured the U.N. would live or die in Korea and we couldn't confess and have our country accused of this thing."

Accidents Kill 3 From State

Tot, 2 Detroit Area Men Die, 4 Hurt in Holiday Traffic Crashes

(By the Associated Press)

Three Michigan persons were killed and four others injured in accidents in Indiana and Pennsylvania as the Labor Day traffic across the nation moved into high gear.

Three Detroit area residents were killed in a Michigan City, Ind., two-car collision last night. The victims were Michael J. Kupiek, 35, of VanDyke, a partner in a machine shop; his 2-year-old son, Dwight; and his father-in-law Toefil Kowalski, 63, of Detroit.

Injured were Kowalski's wife (name and age unavailable), Kupiek's wife, Leona and a 3-year-old son Michael.

Mrs. Kowalski was described in critical condition with multiple lacerations. The other two were not in danger.

A spectacular crash near Erie, Pa., injured truck driver C. Le Quigley of Grand Rapids. He and a woman were the only two survivors of a three-vehicle crash that killed five other persons.

Across the nation, the toll of violent deaths in the 78-hour Labor Day weekend slowly began climbing as millions took their last summer holiday fling.

In the first weekend hours, at least 25 persons met violent deaths — 20 of them in highway mishaps. Three persons drowned and two died in a California plane crash.

The National Safety Council estimates 440 persons will die in traffic accidents during the weekend period, from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday. This would be an average of more than five deaths an hour.

Hen Kills Tot in Italy

BRESCIA, Italy (AP)—A 13-month-old baby, Franco Nodari, was killed yesterday by a hen. The baby was playing with chickens at the village of Carpenedolo when the hen pecked him on the temple.

Reds Free 275 Americans; Will Release Another 110

PANMUNJOM (AP) — A whooping 275 Americans streamed back to freedom today and the Communists promised to return another 110 tomorrow, the 33rd and final day of the big Korean war prisoner exchange.

The second and last Communist "bonus" delivery will boost the number of Americans repatriated to 3,596—283 more than the Communists first promised to send back.

Both sides announced today they would complete the exchange tomorrow.

The final delivery probably includes a small group of American air force and Marine pilots whom the Communists said "confessed" to germ warfare charges.

The Allies said they would turn back on the last day 137 Chinese and 2,255 North Koreans, boosting the total repatriated to 75,797 — many more than the 74,000 the U. N. command first promised to return.

The Communists also promised to release Sunday 1 South African, 8 British, 4 Turks and 1 Japanese.

This will raise to 12,753 the number of Allied POWs returned, 10 short of the 12,763 the communists said they would liberate.

But the Reds have since said more than 20 non-Korean and 300 Korean prisoners refused repatriation and will be turned over to the neutral nations repatriation commission for disposition.

Both sides said the final figures would include all prisoners who want to return, including any who had changed their mind at the last minute.

While the Reds held back until the very last airmen they charged

Even Governors Lose Kids at Fairs

DETROIT (UP) — It happens even in the best of families—the governor's children got lost at the Michigan State Fair.

From Gery, Nancy and Wendy's viewpoint perhaps it was the other way around. "Mom" and "Dad" Williams were the ones who strayed Friday.

The governor thought his wife, Nancy, had the 12, 10 and 7-year-olds in tow. Mrs. Williams thought just the reverse as each toured the fairgrounds looking at the exhibits.

Then came a call over the public address system for the governor to report to the administration building. There he found the three, waiting for someone to claim them.

Tito's Country Angry at Border Troop Actions

Threatening to Use Her Own Tough Army if Rome Persists

ROME (AP) — Tension mounted on both sides of the Italian-Yugoslav border today as the two nations glared at each other across a pile of diplomatic protests involving the bitter Trieste dispute.

Belgrade threatened yesterday—in its fourth protest in three days—to rush its own tough troops to the Italian border unless Italy halted "provocative" maneuvers there.

Rome replied last night that Italian forces had taken only "precautionary and protective measures." The Italian note, however, did not describ these measures.

With the final word thus far in the seven-day flareup of the old quarrel, Italy scoffed at Yugoslavia's "pretended frontier incidents."

Rome said even if the incidents were true they seemed "of very modest nature" for so much hullabaloo.

On the other hand, declared the Italian Foreign Ministry, it has heard nothing from Belgrade to dispel Italy's fears that Yugoslavia plans to annex the Yugoslavs' occupation zone of Trieste by force.

The Adriatic frontier region, long disputed between Italy and Yugoslavia, is now an international free territory divided into two zones pending a settlement of its future. British and U. S. troops occupy one section, including the port, and Yugoslavia administers the other.

Exchanges between Italy and Yugoslavia over the issue have grown more bitter in the last few days despite expressions of confidence by leaders of both countries that the new flareup would not lead to anything critical. Western diplomats have urged a policy of calm.

Yugoslavia charged this week that Italian engineers were digging trenches and building pillboxes along the border and Italian tanks

Ike-Dulles Talk Set Tomorrow

Believe Denver Meeting Will Review Far East Indochina Policy

DENVER (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will meet here tomorrow for a foreign policy review with special emphasis on developments in Indochina and other Far East areas.

Arrangements for the conference were announced late yesterday by the summer White House, which declined to say why the session had been called.

Washington officials said, however, that it would deal with foreign policy generally and Far Eastern developments in particular.

The same officials said there was no connection between the Eisenhower - Dulles meeting and the reaction abroad to some of the secretary's comments on foreign issues.

They said Dulles arranged the conference several days ago to bring the vacationing President up to date on recent developments. They have not met since Aug. 10 when Dulles stopped in Denver on the way back from Korea and Japan to report on his visit to those areas.

Oakland-James K Bus Service Changed

Pontiac City Lines buses on the Oakland-James K route will run each half-hour week days starting Tuesday, the company said today.

The first Oakland Avenue bus will leave downtown Pontiac at 5:15 a.m. each day and leave the route's end at 5:30, running every 30 minutes. The last bus will leave downtown at 11:45 p.m. and the route's end at 12 midnight. James K buses will follow a similar schedule.

E. W. Dreasher, City Lines transportation superintendent, said the half-hour arrival and departure times will eliminate layover time from the bus schedule, making faster driving operations.

Bus company officials said the Saturday and Sunday schedules will remain the same.

Pontiac Father Gets Birthday Gift; Son Is Released in Red POW Exchange

Jose Ruiz of 443 S. Jessie St. got the best birthday present anybody could ever receive — even though it was two days late.

He learned today, only two days after celebrating his 71st birthday, that his son, Sgt. Alfred E. Ruiz, 28, had been liberated late yesterday by the Reds in one of the last prisoner exchanges.

"I was starting to give up hope that my boy would be freed by the Communists," sobbed Ruiz. "I have been praying for Alfred ever since we heard he was captured by the Communists, and now we thank God for his return."

Others in the Ruiz home were equally thankful today. Alfred's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Guzman Ruiz, said they have sat before television broadcasts "night after night" waiting for news of Alfred's liberation.

Upon hearing the news of her brother's release, Mrs. Harold R. Fritz of Hazel Park said she could not wait to join the family over the joyous event.

SGT. ALFRED E. RUIZ

Alfred had been a prisoner since May 18, 1951.

He and an entire night scouting patrol of the 32nd Red Arrow Division were captured on a mission in enemy territory.

Alfred, recalled his brother Guzman, volunteered for action in Korea in October, 1950, "becau he hated communism and he felt he didn't do enough when he was in service during World War II."

Guzman said Alfred left the Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit, where he was studying to be a Catholic priest, during World War II to fight in Europe.

He was graduated from Assumption College in Ontario, Can., and also worked in the tabulating department at GMC Truck and Coach Division before entering the service.

80 New Pontiac Teachers Welcomed by Community

Civic leaders and school officials laid down the welcome mat for some 80 new teachers in Pontiac Public Schools yesterday with a day-long program of speeches, tours, a picnic and conferences.

Forming a welcoming committee in Washington Junior High School to start the day were Pontiac Mayor Arthur J. Law; School Supt. Frank J. DuFrain; Glenn H. Griffin, Pontiac Board of Education president; George M. Watson, Chamber of Commerce president; and William L. Treanor, Junior Chamber of Commerce president.

Also on hand to greet the new teachers were Mrs. Paul Gorman, president of Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs; the Rev. Herbert E. Ryan of the Pontiac Ministerial Association; and Theodore Wiersema, Principals Club president.

In welcoming the new teachers, Mayor Law said Pontiac "is a city of opportunity and a good place to stay."

He pointed out that teachers play a vital role in molding school students into good citizens and in helping to correct shortcomings in any community.

"Teachers not only have the responsibility of teaching the three R's but a fourth R—responsibility of youth as citizens," said the mayor.

Supt. DuFrain praised the caliber of school board members. Over the past 50 years, he pointed out, there have been only 52 different board members, indicating stability in the Pontiac school system.

May Set a New Record

Tax Collections Running Ahead of Record Rate Set in Birmingham Last Year

(From Our Birmingham Bureau)

BIRMINGHAM—The percentage of the 1953 city tax assessment collected by next March 1 deadline may set a 26-year record, City Treasurer Russell Berger said yesterday.

"Last year's collection figure of 98.09 per cent was a 25-year high," he explained, "and this year we're running slightly ahead of the 1952 pace."

A penalty of three-fourths of one per cent was added to unpaid assessments on Sept. 1, Burger stated. The fine will be boosted another three-fourths of one per cent on the first of each month until March 1, 1954, he said.

On that date the city marks unpaid accounts delinquent and fordards them to the county treasurer for collection, he explained.

According to Berger the county increases the penalty to four per cent. Any assessments it collects are returned to the city each month.

Sums collected so far this year amount to 94.64 per cent of the total, Berger said. The 1953 assessment figure was $863,622.96, he explained, and $817,314.41 has been turned into the city coffers.

Last year at this time $755,645.88 of the 1952 tax figure of $802,499.49 had been returned, said Berger.

A noisy air conditioning unit in a large store here, once again brought neighbors to this week's commission meeting with the complaint that it keeps them awake nights, and insistence that it can be quieted. They also complained of an untidy alley, and commissioners said the matter would be attended to at once.

Commissioners approved an amendment to the curb cutting ordinance this week allowing, where two or more parcels of land are used under a single occupancy, the same specifications for driveways and curb cuts for each lot.

The amendment stemmed from the Shell Oil Company's request to add another driveway on Maple and Hunter.

Under the existing ordinance they felt they couldn't put in a driveway wide enough to accomodate their needs.

Bloomfield Hills School Board this week approved hiring of a new sixth grade teacher, James L. Wilson of Auburn Heights. Recently released from the service, he formerly taught in Lincoln.

Superintendent of Schools Eugene L. Johnson said one teacher was still needed for the fall term.

The need arose when the first grade at Vaughan School was split into two sections to accommodate a large enrollment, he explained.

Jury Indicts 5 Union Leaders

Embezzlement, Robbery Charged to Orville Ring, AFL Teamsters' Official

KANSAS CITY (UP) — A Jackson County Grand Jury yesterday indicted five men, including one of the central figures in a recent congressional probe of labor difficulties in the Kansas City area.

Orville L. Ring, president and business agent of AFL Teamsters Local No. 541, was indicted on two charges of embezzlement and two counts of second degree robbery.

At a hearing here in July two members of a congressional investigating subcommittee said Ring and others in his union were at fault in a prolonged dispute that tied the building and heavy construction industry during the spring and early summer.

Ring denied responsibility for the strike and said his union sought only a wage increase and what he termed its rightful jurisdiction.

Agreements were signed ending the work tieup shortly after the hearings ended and after the AFL put Ring's union and several others under a trusteeship.

The robbery indictments against Ring involve alleged forced contributions to a Kansas City Hospital. The other indictments involve handling of funds in the local.

Del Nabors, assistant to Ring and a former boxer, was named in an indictment charging felonious assault.

John A. Scheffer, manager of the Kansas City chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association, was indicted on two counts of second degree robery.

Willard Wilkinson, president and business agent of Local No. 663 of the Heavy Construction Laborers Union, was named in an indictment charging second degree robbery.

Edward Chevlin, former vice-president and business representative of Teamsters Local No. 838 was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to kill and two charges of carrying concealed weapons. The indictments allege the incidents ocurred Jan. 9-10, 1952. Chevlin resigned from the local in March, 1953.

McCarthy Asks Sleuths' Names

Army Secretary to Be Called to Committee Session Tuesday

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today asked Secretary of the Army Stevens to tell Senate investigators why the Army won't provide names of military personnel who cleared civilians suspected of Communist activities.

Declaring it was just as important to find out who gave clearance to a Communist as it was to locate a Red, McCarthy had said earlier he would appeal to Secretary of Defense Wilson or even to President Eisenhower for the information, if necessary.

* * *

But he told a news conference today he hopes "we don't have to go any higher than Stevens."

"Stevens had nothing to do with that order," McCarthy added. "But we would like to have him come in Tuesday, if that is convenient with him, to testify in a closed session of the committee about the situation."

The investigations subcommittee McCarthy heads held four days of hearings in New York this week during which it was disclosed that a woman employe of the Quartermaster Corps, labelled by McCarthy as a "100 per cent Communist," had access to Army data on troop movements. The woman was not named, but McCarthy demanded to know what military officials had cleared her for the job.

* * *

Col. Wendell G. Johnson of the 1st Army Intelligence staff refused saying such information could not be supplied because of a directive issued by former President Truman on March 13, 1948.

McCarthy said today he is satisfied that Stevens, now on vacation, did not know in advance about Col. Johnson's decision.

He added that he is not asking the Army to turn over any FBI or other investigative reports which would reveal the names of confidential informants.

Tension Mounting in Trieste Dispute were massing at Goritza. The town is not far across the frontier from the Yugoslav village of Okrajagjica where Yugoslav President Tito will make a major speech Sunday.

* * *

Italian fears that Tito would use the occasion to announce annexation of the Yugoslav-controlled zone of Trieste touched off the latest angry controversy.

* * *

Belgrade's note threatening to move its own troops to the border declared:

"If the Yugoslav government establishes that the Italian government continued to adhere to an abnormal situation on the border, it will be forced to undertake corresponding measures on its own territory."

Rome replied this would place upon Yugoslavia "full and exclusive responsibility in case of adoption of any such eventual measures."

* * *

"The Italian government reiterates there has been no crossing of the frontier whatsoever by any units of thet Italian armed forces," the note declared, adding that Italy counts on the same kind of conduct on Yugoslavia's part.

* * *

Fresh fuel was added to the growing blaze by U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' remarks Thursday on the Trieste issue. He indicated the United States might now consider alternatives to its 1948 stand that the whole territory should be returned to Italy.

Italy called the Dulles statement a betrayal.

spread bacteria over North Korea, the U. N. command was doing the same with the leaders of the bloody Koje Island POW camp riots.

The U.N. command would not confirm it officially, but Sunday's delivery presumably will include the riot leaders, including North Korean Col. Lee Hak Koo.

The contingent of 275 Americans returned Saturday was by far the largest group of U. S. troops sent back in one day. All appeared in good health.

The Reds also handed back 24 Britons and 1 Australian, 11 South Korean soldiers and 2 South Korean women Red Cross workers.

The Allies delivered about 2,400 North Korean POWs, who turned up with a new propaganda trick as they arrived at the exchange point.

Instead of the of the usual shouting and flag waving, the Reds were called sharply to attention by the leader of each truck, then bowed their heads and wept in unison.

New Swimsuit Styles Go Back to Roaring 20s

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UP)—Cole of California previewed its 1954 line of swimsuits today and it looks like the bloomer girls of the Twenties may make a comeback at the beach.

One of the new numbers was called a "non-blooming bloomer." It's a pair of bloomers, all right, but it is knit to fit and shaped to flatter. On the shapely Cole models it looked fine.

Several other numbers harked back to the long waisted styles of the Charleston era.

An accessory caused much comment. It was a bag attached to a cane, made to stick easily in the sand.

One suit, called the "Kinsey Retort", was a black satin affair with peek-a-boo blue nylon chiffon.

Cool Weather, Rain Saves Farmers' Crops

low of from 50 to 54 degrees tonight and a high of from 76 to 80 degrees Sunday.

Although the East still sweltered in the grip of the heat wave, this morning the cool air and showers sped toward its rescue.

The cool air is expected to cover the entire eastern half of the country by nightfall.

Meanwhile, an Atlantic hurricane, called Carol, packing 150-mile-an-hour winds, whirled over the open sea today, about 250 miles south-southeast of Bermuda.

Weather forecasters expect the storm to veer away from the continental coast and blow itself out at sea. Its closest approach to land would be Bermuda, they added.

Milford Man Demands Examination on Charge

A Milford man, charged by Brighton State Police Post with felonious assault on two juvenile girls in New Hudson Sept. 1, demanded examination yesterday before Springfield Township Justice Emmett J. Leib.

Richard J. Brown, 21, of 422 Steadfield Rd., was returned to Oakland County Jail under $1,500 bond. Examination was set for Sept. 10. Police said he fired a 22 caliber rifle at the feet of two girls.

'Ionian Relief Week'

LANSING (UP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams has proclaimed the week of Sept. 6-14 as "Ionian Islands Relief Week" in Michigan. He urged all citizens to contribute to a relief fund to help Greece rebuild the Islands which were devastated by a series of damaging earthquakes last month.

'All a Mistake,' Says Cpl. 'Slick'

Ex-Prisoner Declares He Never 'Squealed' on Anybody to Reds

HONOLULU (UP)—Cpl. "Slick" arrived in Hawaii yesterday homeward bound from Tokyo and said "It was a mistake" that fellow war prisoners in North Korea were out to get him because he "ratted" on them to the Communists.

A boy scarcely out of his teens, Slick looked young and a little scared. His hand shook as he held a cup of coffee and talked to a reporter at Hickam Air Force Base.

* * *

"They called me Slick but it was all a mistake," he said. "I never squealed on anybody to the Communists."

Slick admitted there was animosity in camp against men who were friendly to their Communist captors but he denied he was one of them.

"I was friendly with everybody. They had nothing against me," he said.

* * *

Slick confirmed he went AWOL five days from an army hospital in Tokyo. He denied he was trying to run away from other liberated prisoners.

"I went out and got drunk and missed my plane and decided to stay drunk," he said.

He returned voluntarily to the hospital.

Slick said he had been questioned by military intelligence officers after his release but indicated he had been cleared.

* * *

A Hickam intelligence officer who broke up the conversation said Slick was not in any kind of custody and would go home just like other returning POWs.

Fellow repatriates aboard the plane show no indication they had heard public reports about Slick. One of them said Slick was treated the same as everybody else.

The group will leave Hickam today after an overnight rest at Tripler Army Hospital. Their plane is scheduled to arrive at Travis Sunday morning.

* * *

Slick was repatriated Aug. 12 and originally was to have returned home by ship. He was flown to Tokyo for aerial evacuation to the United States after he told a chaplain of threats against his life.

A few hours before his scheduled departure Aug. 28, Slick disappeared from a Tokyo army hospital and was AWOL for six days. He returned voluntarily and there has been no announcement of charges placed against him.

Pontiac Welcomes 80 New Teachers

tion in getting new teachers situated in their new jobs was offered by Griffin. He said the board would maintain its efforts to provide adequate school facilities and fill them with well-trained, happy teachers.

Watson told the teachers of efforts to coordinate business and industry with education in Pontiac. He also explained the importance of children as future citizens.

"The kind of job you do with children leaves its reflection on the community," he said.

Treanor and Ryan also stressed the role of teachers in building civic consciousness and in training youth.

Mrs. Gorman and Wiersema briefed the teachers on the various clubs and organizations which they may join.

Following the morning session the teachers were transported by buses to Supt. DuFrain's residence at Cass Lake for a noon picnic luncheon.

They were then taken on a tour of the residential and industrial areas of Pontiac, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Postal Finance Head Here Retires After Forty Years

CLIFFFORD MOODY

Clifford Moody, who saw postal service here progress from the horse-drawn deliveries of 1910 to the modern era, has retired as superintendent of postal finance in Pontiac Post Office.

His retirement ends over 40 years of service.

"I don't like the idea of publicity," he said. I wanted to walk out the door just as though I meant to be back the next day."

One of the most noticeable aspects of present-day postal service, Moody says, is that parcels seem to have grown much bigger than they were 40 years ago.

As for his future, Moody said he isn't quite sure what he plans to do. "Putter around the house, I guess" he said. Moody resides at 2 Fenely Crt.

Besides his interest in baseball and other sports, Moody is a member of Pontiac Lodge 21, F&AM, and of the Royal Arch Masons.

REV. RICHARD DIXON

Directors Elect Council Officers

Rev. Richard H. Dixon Heads Pontiac Human Relations Group

Board of directors of the Pontiac Council for Human Relations recently elected new officers.

They are the Rev. Richard H. Dixon, minister at Trinity Baptist Church, president; Mrs. John Houston, secretary; Glenn Wilson, treasurer, and Mrs. Morton Harshaw, corresponding secretary.

Other members of the board are Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein, Jerry A. Shroder, Theodore Wiersema, Otis Lawrence, the Rev. John Trese and Miss Marie Hickey.

The winter program is in the process of planning and a full membership meeting is in the offing.

The purpose of the council is to support activity which will promote the principles of equality, justice, freedom and brotherhood in the community.

The council seeks the cooperation and participation of all persons and groups who endorse these principles.

New York City Campaign Hot

Primary Vote Sept. 15 for Mayor Will Show Dem Party Control

NEW YORK (UP)—New York City is in the midst of a sizzling mayoral campaign, the out come of which may be a factor in the next presidential election.

The Democratic city primary Sept. 15 will provide a test of strength between the New Deal wing of the party and its so-called conservative branch for control of the party in New York state.

* * *

The New Dealers currently hold state party control. In their ranks are prominent figures such as Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., and Averell Harriman, former foreign aid chief. They are backing Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner Jr., for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

* * *

A leading power in the conservative wing is James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman who broke with President Franklin D. Roosevelt. This group is backing Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri for renomination.

A victory for this group could project Farley back into the national political picture.

* * *

Whichever group wins out will have a lot to say in the selection of New York delegates to the 1956 Democratic national convention.

* * *

The election, in which the Republicans and Liberal parties will give the eventual Democratic candidate his main contention, is scheduled for Nov. 3.

The Republican candidate will be Harold Riegelman, who resigned as acting postmaster to make the race. President Eisenhower, here to dedicate a public housing project, posed for pictures with Riegelman and wished him well.

The Liberal candidate will be City Council President Rudolph Halley, familiar to millions of television viewers as the owlish-eyed quizmaster of the Senate Crime Committee. Both Riegelman and Halley are unopposed in the primary.

Medical Missionary to Preach Sunday

BIRMINGHAM—Dr. Norman B. Abell, recently appointed medical missionary to Burma, will give the sermon at the First Baptist church of Birmingham tomorrow.

Dr. Abell is a close personal friend of Dr. Gordon Seagrave know as the "Burma Surgeon" during World War II.

The medical missionary appointment and given Dr. Abell and his wife this year by the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society. They will sail next summer to inaugurate medical work in the Chin Hills, Burma.

Everything Good Comes in Pairs in San Gabriel

SAN GABIRLE, Calif. (UP) — The home town folks are planning a warm welcome home for two local boys who did big things in Korea, and that's about the only thing about this story that isn't a coincidence.

James G. Daniel and Harry Fleming are both from San Gabriel. Both entered the infantry as officers at the beginning of World War II. Both as lieutenant colonels commanded Republic of Korea troops in 1950.

* * *

Both were captured in Korea after the Chinese Communists entered the fighting. Both were listed as missing in action at the same time and both were identified as prisoners by the Red radio on the same broadcast in December, 1951.

Both were decorated for the first time in the Korean War, both were released at the same time and both their wives who are named Gladys heard of their release at the same time. They're expected to leave for home from Freedom Village at the same time.

There's just one thing the folks here are wondering about. Have Daniel and Fleming, by some coincidence, met each other yet?

Staebler Angers Michigan Clerks

Thomas Leadbetter of Detroit Hot at Charges of Dishonest Elections

MACKINAC ISLAND (UP) — Michigan's city clerks are hopping mad about Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler's charge that "there hasn't been an honest election in Michigan in 20 years."

Thomas Leadbetter of Detroit told fellow clerks "I am sick and tired of such baseless charges" at a sectional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League here yesterday.

"I intend to nail misrepresentations at every opportunity," Leadbetter continued. "I regard Staebler as the biggest political faker in Michigan and I won't sit by idly while he breaks down public confidence in elections."

Staebler countered at Ann Arbor: "The recounts are the best answer to Mr. Leadbetter. If he would devote as much effort to encouraging his fellow city and township clerks to improve election procedure as he is devoting to encourage them to cover, he'd be doing the citizens of Michigan a great service."

City Clerk R. Stanton Kilpatrick of Grand Rapids and Robert M. Montgomery, state director of election, said that the absence of party registration requirements handicapped clerks.

Staebler has complained that not all clerks comply with the law requiring that election officials be divided equally, Democratic and Republican.

Kilpatrick and Montgomery agreed clerks are without any adequate guide, since no one is required to register himself as either a Republican or Democrat.

35-Year-Old Man Sought in Stabbing

Oakland County sheriff's deputies are seeking a 35-year-old factory worker for questioning in the stabbing of a 22-year-old youth during a fist fight between several men early this morning in front of a grill on Auburn avenue in Auburn Heights.

The victim was Gerald McHaney, of 3082 Midvale, who is reported in fair condition in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital with cuts to his back and head.

Sought is Curtis Rains, 35, of 2431 Auburn Ave.

Sheriff's deputies Robert Kimmons and Bill Smith said several men had engaged in a brawl in front of Anne's Grill. McHaney was stabbed in the back. Witnesses told deputies Curtis fled across the street to his home, changed his clothes and fled on foot. None of the witnesses could explain how the argument started.

Pioneer Inventor Dies; Had Many Car Patents

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — Charles H. Martin, 85, builder of the first automobile with the motor in front under a hood, died at his home here Friday night.

Martin, a native of Findlay, Ohio, never became wealthy but kept his family living comfortably on some three dozen patents, including such devices as a parking meter (1937); radio switches and the so-called Martin fifth wheel, a hitch which made possible use of modern tractor trailers.

Couple Awake to See Thief Trying on Shirt

A burglar who was "trying on a T-shirt" in a bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. Donald Songearth, 88 Euclid St., were sleeping was routed after the couple was awakened by noise, early this morning.

Mrs. Songearth told Pontiac Police she first thought the man was her brother. After asking the man what he was doing, he fled out the rear door. Police said the rear door was pried open by the burglar.

12 More State POWs Freed

Michiganders Included in Group of 275 GIs Released Last Night

(By the Associated Press)

Twelve more Michigan soldiers reached Freedom Village last night as the Communists released 275 Americans, the largest batch of returning POWs since the exchanges began 32 days ago. The prisoner exchange ends today.

The previous high was 150.

A total of 110 GIs have been promised thei rfreedom today as the historic exchange of prisoners comes to a close in Korea. With the final exchange, the Reds will have returned 3,596 American captured during the three long years of bitter fighting in the Land of the Morning Calm.

The state prisoners freed from captivity behind the barbed wire compounds of North Korea last night were:

Sgt. 1.C. Alfred E. Ruiz, son of Jose Ruiz, of 443 S. Jessie, Pontiac. (See story page 1).

Cpl. Gerald W. Hewitt, son of Gerald A. Hewitt of Detroit.

1st. Lt. Michael Ivanushka, whose wife, Theresa, live in Roseville.

Pfc. John G. McCracken, son of John McCracken of Detroit.

1st. Lt. John A. Ori, son of Mrs. Rose Ori of Detroit.

Capt. Byron A. Dobbs, whose wife, Kathleen, lives in Clio.

1st. Lt. Leroy Bond, whose wife, Ruth, lives in Bay City.

M. Sgt. Larrey Hampton Jr., son of Mrs. Julia Hampton of Detroit.

Sgt. 1.C. Lawrence Roy Wilson Jr., whose wife, Bertha Louise, lives in Flint.

Sgt. 1.C. Raymond W. Manske, who gives his mother-in-law, Mrs. Fred Cote of Marquette, as his next of kin.

Sgt. 1.C. Robert Jackson, whose sister, Mrs. Infred Pipe, lives in Mt. Clemens.

Sgt. 1.C. Donald C. Edwards, son of Mrs. William R. Stewart of Flint.

Pontiac Deaths

Helen Cayton

Prayer service was held today in the Frank Carruthers Funeral Home for Helen Cayton, infant daughter of Nelson and Edith Lumpkin Cayton of 541 Fildew St. Burial was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

The baby was born Friday and died early today in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Mrs. Olive Quackenbush

Funeral for Mrs. Olive M. Quackenbush, 68, of 804 Stirling Ave. will be Monday at 11 a.m. from the Voorhees-Siple Chapel. The Rev. Wesley R. Wibley, of the First Assembly of God, will officiate and burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Born in Petrolia, Ont. Feb. 23, 1885, she was the daughter of Robert and Martha V. Cable Jackson and the widow of Edward J. Quackenbush, who died Dec. 20, 1942. They were married in Canada in 1902.

Mrs. Quackenbush came to Pontiac 13 years ago from Baltimore, Md.

Surviving are two sons and three daughters, Reginald and Mrs. Paul Saurwald of Pontiac, Mrs. Joseph Clark of Tampa, Fla., Robert of Brighton and Miss Geraldine Stearns of Albuquerque, N. M.

Also surviving is a brother, Joseph Jackson of Sault Ste. Marie.

Frank W. Springstein

Word has been received here of the unexpected death of Frank W. Springstein, 84, in Washington, Mich., Thursday evening.

Born in Paris, Sept. 20, 1869, he was the son of the Rev. Archibald and Almira L. Springstein. He came to Pontiac as a boy and lived here about a quarter of a century.

Since his retirement from the Detroit Street Railway, where he was an office employe, he has resided in Romeo and Washington.

Besides his widow, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charles Brown of Detroit; a son, Albert of Irish Hills; a sister, Alta B. Springstein of Pontiac.

Funeral will be Tuesday at 1 p.m. from the Moran & Duff Funeral Home, 8340 Grand River Ave. in Detroit. Burial will be in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Boy Runs Into Car; in 'Good' Condition

Eight-year-old Charles E. Hood of 281 Davisburg Rd., who ran into the side of a car in front of his home yesterday, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with head injuries. He was reported in good condition today.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Clarence Brunson of 1328 Sacker Rd., Fenton, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies the boy darted into her car from among a group of children with whom he was playing. Mrs. Brunson was not held.

Cigar Maker Retires After 60 Years on Job

MARYSVILLE, Kan. (UP)—One of Kansas' last cigar makers has decided to call it quits after almost 60 years of rolling hand-made stogies.

J. H. Wiedemeyer, 75, decided to sell out his business, which his father started 71 years ago. He has made few cigars in recent years, switching to chewing tobacco.

Co. M in 125th Makes Honors

Recoilless Rifle Platoon Wins Top 95.8 Rating at Camp Grayling

The recoilless rifle platoon of Pontiac's National Guard Co. M, 125th Infantry Regiment, received top scoring honors at the end of its two-week training program at Camp Grayling last week during Army Field Force tests.

With a 95.8 rating out of a possible 100, the platoon topped all others of the 46th Infantry Division.

The 17 platoon members were congratulated by army officers umpiring the contest and Capt. William T. Hollis, regimental commander, was told that Co. M. had some of the best-trained men in the division.

Using live ammunition, the rifle platoon scored direct hits on three out of four "enemy tanks" to win high scoring honors.

Co. M's machine gun platoon, under the command of Lt. A. J. Largent, and the 81 mm Motor Platoon under the command of Lt. Robert Corland also received high ratings during the tests.

Another Store Bombing Shakes Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (UP)—Another business building was bombed here last night—the fifth in the last week.

The big front windows of the Glass House, a glass and chinaware shop, were blown out by the explosion.

Operators of the store said they had no idea why the place was bombed.

Previous blasts have occurred at two clothing stores, an auto agency and a grocery store. A $5,000 reward has been posted for information leading to conviction of the bomb throwers.

First Navajo Announcer Is Using Native Tongue

WINSLOW, Ariz. (UP)—The first Navajo radio announcer in Arizona is beaming newscasts, chants and commercials in their native tongue to Indians on the vast and isolated reservation.

He is Dana Begay, Navy veteran and business school graduate. His program, "Echoes from Navajoland," is broadcast from KVNC, Winslow.

Won't Seek 4th Term as Governor

Speculate If Gov. Warren Slated for High U.S. Post

WASHINGTON (UP) — A wave of speculation that Gov. Earl Warren of California is slated for a top administration appointment, possibly to the Supreme Court or the Cabinet, churned up today from his announcement he will not seek a fourth term as governor.

But politicians, professing to have no inside knowledge, were inclined to doubt anything was in prospect for the immediate future. They anticipated that Warren would serve out his present four-year term which extends until Jan. 1, 1955.

Warren, three time governor of his state and long a leading figure in national Republican politics, apparently caught friends and associates here by surprise with his announcement. None acknowledged having any information as to his future plans.

Vice President Nixon, a fellow Californian, fanned political speculation with a laudatory statement that Warren's many friends wish "him well in any field of activity he decides to enter after leaving the governor's mansion."

In the past, there have been suggestions that Warren might try to join some 30 other former governors now serving in the Senate but that seems unlikely now.

When Nixon was elected vice president, he resigned from the Senate and Gov. Warren appointed Thomas H. Kuchel, California state comptroller and a Warren associate for six years in state government, to the Senate vacancy.

Kuchel is now in California busily campaigning for election to the Senate next year, and apparently confident that Warren will not be a candidate.

There have been recurring rumors that the governor would accept an appointment to the Supreme Court but no vacancy exists there now. There were reports in California earlier this year that associate Justice Felix Frankfurter, now past the retirement age of 70, might step down and be succeeded by Warren.

On July 30, Frankfurter told the Associated Press:

"You don't suppose I would let California know without letting the world know, too, do you?"

Frankfurter also reminded that when a Supreme Court justice retires he first lets the President know. The White House has denied knowledge of impending high court resignations.

As a Westerner, Warren could be regarded as specially qualified to be secretary of interior or secretary of agriculture — Cabinet posts now held by Westerners. There has been no indication, however, that Secretary of Interior McKay or Secretary of Agriculture Benson wants to quit.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), newly elected Senate majority leader who has been a close political associate of Warren's for many years, is on an inspection trip to Japan, Korea and Formosa. His office aides said they were surprised by the Warren announcement and uninformed on Warren's future plans.

Navy Balloons to Probe Secrets of Stratosphere

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Navy has a seaplane tender in the Pacific poised to launch high-rising balloons to probe the secrets of cosmic rays.

Dispatch of an expedition aboard the USS Currituck was disclosed yesterday.

The "Skyhook" balloons will be launched from a point near the Galapagos Islands, off the South American coast and near the central belt of the earth's magnetic field. They carry instruments to record data in the stratosphere. They are automatically dropped and can be recovered.

The Navy said the data would be useful in atomic research and weather forecasting.

Firemen's Lesson Just Too Realistic

COLUMBUS, Neb. (UP) — Firemen outdid themselves when a practice session unexpectedly came close to the real thing.

Methods of gas transport fire-fighting were being practiced by the department. A protective screen of fog streams was set up at the practice location to prevent radiated heat from spreading.

Two smoke bombs were set off for realism. But when the smoke came into contact with the fog it stayed down instead of going up. Four square blocks were blanketed so thickly with smoke that motorists dared not move.

Fire Chief Mike Novivki said it was unexpected but had its virtues.

"This happening," he said, "gives a good lesson on what to do when a fire is causing heavy smoke."

Chased With a Knife, Then Fined 2 Dollars

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—John Henry Chatman, 35, was fined $2 and costs here for breach of the peace.

However, Chatman told the court:

28-Inch Pike Finally Caught on Third Try

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (UP) — At least two fellows hereabout haven't been stretching their fish in telling about the big one that got away. William H. Ramm, of Struther, O., got proof in Duncan Bay yesterday.

The proof was a 28-inch Northern Pike which had not only Ramm's lure but those of two other fishermen in his jaws when Ramm reeled him in. Broken pieces of line trailed from two of the lures.

23,000 Earmarked for November Draft

WASHINGTON (UP)—23,000 men are ticketed for the draft in November, the same number as in each of the past few months.

All the new draftees will go into the Army. The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force have enough volunteers.

In announcing the draft call yesterday, the Defense Department also said it is taking no more physicians for the time being—not even volunteers.

Since July 1, 1951, 5,754 physicians have been inducted, including 542 last month. Now the Army has so many volunteer doctors, the department said, it is assigning some 500 of them to the Navy and Air Force.

During the eruption of Mt. Katmai, Alaska, in 1912, so great was the fall of dust, or ash, that for two days and three nights the town of Kodiak was in almost complete darkness.

AFL Official Advocates Fighting Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP) — William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, says community leaders should "rouse other citizens to their responsibilities" of preparing for possible H-bomb attack.

In a pre-Labor Day radio speech over NBC last night, Schnitzler said Congress showed itself "more interested in a balanced budget than in the lives of the people," when it cut defense funds.

LABOR'S DAY
By J. Lee Voorhees

J. L. VOORHEES
We salute one member of our team—Labor. These men with teammates, capital and management, play a game that has made our United States the greatest Country on earth As opposed to our team we see Labor in another Country, without capital and the wrong management, sink to serfdom. It is the slave of cruel masters. It has lost its dignity as human beings. These men are obliged to fight, beg, crawl, be subservient for the meanest sort of existence. What a difference in America! Our Laboring team is glorified, shares the honors of a healthy economy. It is a dignified member of a trinity—Labor, Capital and Management. They're unbeatable.

M. E. SIPLE
Labor, without Capital, is frustrated. Capital, without Labor, is inert, lifeless. Management uses the power of both to produce wealth, strength and glory, for all of us. We sincerely salute all Labor on your day.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1953

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

Death of Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright lends sad emphasis to the lesson taught by one of the most tragic chapters of American military history.

It was his destiny to take command over our Philippine forces after Gen. MacArthur had been ordered to Australia by President Roosevelt to prepare for the counterattack.

What happened thereafter on Bataan and in Corregidor was disastrous. Wainwright's pitifully small, poorly equipped force never had a chance against the million strong enemy. There wasn't even any reserve ammunition for their obsolete howitzers.

Wainwright's job was to fight as long as he could and he did it well. But Bataan fell April 9, 1942, and Corregidor held out until May 6, three months after MacArthur's departure.

Then came months of imprisonment for Wainwright and his men who survived the death march from Corregidor to Camp O'Donnell. Friends attribute his ill health and death in San Antonio at 70 to his 39 months in Japanese prison camps.

Probably one of the happiest postwar days for Gen. Wainwright was September 2, 1945. That day he watched his conquerors sign the articles of surrender on the deck of the battleship Missouri.

"Terrible as was the ordeal of captivity," Wainwright wrote, "I often feel we were spared chiefly to warn against an infinitely more terrible fate. The price of our unpreparedness for World War II was staggering to the imagination. The price of our unpreparedness for a World War III would be death to millions of us and the disappearance from the earth of its greatest nation."

In the words of President Eisenhower, General Wainwright's example of courage, fortitude and unshakable patriotism long will be an inspiration to Americans and free men everywhere.

Ike Wants Item Veto

Representative Keating is the moving spirit behind a proposed Constitutional amendment to give the President the long needed item veto.

As a result of a call at the White House to discuss the amendment, the New York Republican knows he has strong Presidential support. His visit occurred just after President Eisenhower had signed one of the large appropriation bills.

★ ★ ★

This contained several items Mr. Eisenhower considered needless and wasteful. But he could not do anything about them without rejecting the entire bill. The result was that the President voiced great enthusiasm for the proposed amendment.

★ ★ ★

There isn't any doubt that such an amendment would save millions in operating costs annually. All Presidents have wanted this power. But members of Congress always have opposed it because it would end their habit of using riders to slip pork barrel items into major appropriations.

When this matter comes up in Congress taxpayers should urge their Senators and Representatives to give the amendment their support.

The U. S. may be a bit premature in beginning to rebuild South Korea, as Syngman Rhee is likely to go berserk later and get it torn up again.

No Votes in This

Thoughtful readers of the news must be amazed when some Congressman rushes into print without thinking things through.

A case in point is that of Rep. Philbin, Democrat of Massachusetts. He told newsmen that at the next session of Congress he would take action to halt the Revenue Department's door-to-door hunt for Federal income tax delinquents.

The Bay State lawmaker said the department's field survey smacked too much of "Gestapo and OGPU methods of the police state."

He apparently had forgotten that the check in the New England area yielded surprising results. In two days agents collected $80,000 from 8,8000 persons who hadn't filed returns. Another $162,000 came in from those who hadn't been questioned but had become frightened.

In Mr. Philbin's opinion it's all wrong for the Revenue Department to make everyone pay up. What clearly is an effort at total tax collection is "tax gouging" to the Congressman.

We don't know if any of Rep. Philbin's constituents were among those who didn't play fair with Uncle Sam. But we strongly suspect his statement won't win him any votes from those who paid up without a visit from the revenue men.

"The jet-propelled automobile is just around the corner," asserts an automotive engineer. Good gosh! — which corner?

Homer's In Again

Senator Boosts His Stock to Get GOP Nod for 1954

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—U. S. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich) seems to have reversed the political thinking of 1953 and cinched the chance to seek another term in 1954.

Ferguson has been diligently stumping Michigan in the hot late summer, mending his fences and doing his best to quiet the talk that he can't be re-elected.

Politicians, sighting along those fences, seem to be agreed that the silver-haired senator has done a pretty good job of mending and that he can have the nomination again next year if he wants it.

What's more, Ferguson and his friends, including party leaders, have pretty well smothered the gossi; that he would be kicked upstairs to get him out of the race next year.

Advised by spiteful reporters that Ferguson's stock appears to be rising again, a Democratic spokesman cracked, "Well, it couldn't have gotten any lower."

That Democrat voiced what a lot of Republicans felt earlier this year. The GOP buzzed with reports that Homer couldn't be re-elected, that he would be appointed to some cushy and dignified federal post to save his face and leave the way clear for a more vigorous candidate who might have to take on Gov. Williams in 1954 for the senatorship.

There was a period of apparent indecision in the Republican councils and then the high command moved to turn the tide.

Arnold J. Levin, the press chief for the State Central Committee, was sent to Washington, D. C., to look over Ferguson's publicity machinery. Whether Levin was responsible, or not, Ferguson's name began to get better newspaper play.

Then Ferguson, probably with a little nudging, came back to his home state in the off-year and stumped like a live candidate.

The word in informed circles now is that Ferguson did himself a lot of good, that there is little talk of dumping him and that his re-election next year will be backed by somewhat the same moneyed, hard-hitting crew which elected U. S. Sen. Charles Potter last year.

It may be that many organization Republicans privately would prefer another candidate, but they see no way they can dump the chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee without awaking a storm of Democratic catcalls.

Of course, for reasons of health or bad political breaks, Ferguson could yet wind up on the sidelines next year, but it looks now like he will have the loyal, if somewhat unenthusiastic, support of Michigan Republicanism.

The GOP is not unmindful of what a scrap this may mean if Williams decides to run for the senate. But it seems committed to the scrap and determined to go through to the end with all it has.

Some idea of the task ahead can be had from two incidents related recently by a Republican observer.

This observer said he attended a banquet-rally outstate for Ferguson this summer. A crowd of party loyalists was gathered in the lobby exchanging shop talk until the soup was on.

He said that Ferguson arrived, walked straight through the crowd without a word of greeting and ascended to the speakers' platform.

Next, according to the story, a Republican big-wig was returning from Washington by plane. When he landed at Willow Run Airport, he took his place in line in the plane and slowly worked his way out the door.

There at the door was Gov. Williams, shaking the hand of each descending passenger and yelling: "I'm Gov. Williams. Welcome to Michigan. I'm Gov. Williams. Welcome to Michigan. I'm Gov. - - - - -."

Williams, it appears, had been on the plane, beat it to the door when it landed and took a few minutes to pick up a few notes.

The story may be untrue, or exaggerated.

But, even if so, it is at least a caricature of the political techniques of the two men and the main reason why next fall's campaign could be a hot one.

Press Reader Says Petty Gambling Is Bad for Young People; Leads to Trouble Later

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Old Satan is surely working overtime in these later days and is stampeding many of our people into breaking both the laws of God and of our country.

But the Devil is a liar and the father of lies; and through his cunning is making them believe that "petty" gambling is okay if done for fun or for "charity." Petty gambling starts many a youth on the downward road to destruction.

We Christians should know that such teachings are not evangelical, in other words, teachings of th New Testament. In fact, it is only "robbing Peter to pay Paul," and cannot be Christian.

Reader Says Man Is Naturally Evil Being

In reply to Leona Gould about man thinking nothing but good, the Bible says man's thoughts are continually evil and that his heart is deceitful above all things and that out of his heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, etc.

Scripture calls all unrighteousness sin, the penalty for which is death. Since Christ died for our sins, man's inherent good lies in Christ as Saviour, not man's thinking.

The natural man cannot change his thinking outside of Christ. How then is it possible for him to justify himself before God with his thoughts?

Most of these organizations that collect money from the public to fight certain diseases spend a major part of the collection for salaries, expenses and administration. The rest in torture of animals.

This is both degrading and deplorable. There is always that wonderful cure just around the corner, but of course it will take millions of dollars and many years.

Days of All Faiths

Labor Day Was Officially Established by Congress as National Holiday in '94

BY CANON H. V. HARPER

Workingmens' holidays are by no means a new thing. In ancient Greece artisans had a day on which they paraded through the streets carrying torches.

In mediaeval Europe each trade had its guild and each guild had its patron saint, on whose feast day all the guild members laid off work and celebrated. Thus there were as many Labor Days as there were guilds.

United States had no Labor Day until 50 years ago.

In 1882 Peter McGuire, president of the Carpenters' Brotherhood, proposed to the Central Labor Union of New York that a special day be proclaimed "to show the strength and esprit de corps" of American workers.

He suggested that the first Monday in September would be a good time for the holiday. The idea caught on at once. Local observances began to be held and by 1894 Labor Day had been officially established by Congress as a national holiday.

Christianity is concerned with a man's work and how he does it, and tomorrow before the workingman's holiday, many American Churches will observe Labor Sunday.

Preachers will point out that the first of all labor legislation is contained in the Fourth Commandment, and that man's highest destiny is to be a co-laborer with God in the still unfinished work of Creation.

It is not mathematically possible for anyone to have 12 birthdays in one year, but in the Coptic and Abyssinian Churches the first day of every month is celebrated as the birthday of the Virgin Mary.

In addition to these 12 days they also devote the entire month of May to special honors for Mary. The rest of the ancient Church observed only one birthday of the Lord's Mother, but it has many other festivals in her honor.

The Immaculate Conception, the Annunciation, the Visitation, the Purification, and the Assumption are the chief ones, and there are several minor ones, too.

Sept. 8 is called The Nativity of the Blessed Virgin Mary. There are only three birthdays in the whole Christian calendar this one, John the Baptist's and Christmas.

Stories of John's birth and the Lord's are told in detail in the New Testament, but nothing appears there about Mary's.

Some 5,714 years ago Sept. 10 the world began — this is the ancient belief of the Jews. Thursday is Rosh Hashanah (New Year's Day) in the Jewish calendar.

The new year always starts, as the world itself did, on the first day of the month of Tishri. Jewish days all begin at sundown and tonight, as Tishri 1 begins, the Shofar (ram's horn) will be blown and all Jews will welcome in another year.

As the anniversary of Creation, Rosh Hashanah has two aspects. One is that it reminds men of their duties to the Creator and to each other as fellow-creatures.

The other is that Rosh Hashanah is the day on which the Creator judges the men whom he has made.

According to ancient tradition, the fate of both men and nations for the next year is now written in Heaven. But the book is not yet sealed, and everyone has 10 days in which to repent and ask for mercy.

At the end of the 10 day period comes Yom Kippur, the great fast of Atonement, and the book is finally closed.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Modern Clergymen Follow Christ's Positive Gospel

Religions differ widely. Some are introvertive and not interested in winning new converts. But Christianity is noted for its positive outlook and missionary zeal. That's why it has zoomed so greatly in building hospitals, schools, YMCA and CYO buildings, etc.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case H-378: Paul S., aged 60, is the son of a Baptist minister.

"Dr. Crane, what would you list as the selling points for Christianity?" he asked me.

"I have listened to preachers and evangelists all my life. About the only selling point they offer is escape from the penalty of sin.

"They try to keep their parishioners out of hell. They seem to think the Gospel can be sold on its death benefits.

"But Christ said that he came so we human beings could enjoy the more abundant life. That seems a positive idea to me, yet so many clergymen are negative."

Most of our modern clergymen don't fall into the category of these old-fashioned orators who tried to sell religion as an escape from hell.

Instead, they follow Christ's positive teachings. For Christianity is outstanding as an extrovertive faith.

Most of the other religions of the past have operated as a religious "closed shop." Only their own race or fellow members counted.

So they weren't greatly interested in missionary work, for they didn't want to include people of other races or color. They were smug little groups of egotists who thought they alone would enter heaven.

But Jesus reversed that idea. He opened his positive Gospel to everybody. He sent out missionaries ahead and urged his followers to go into all nations.

Moreover, he told people to quit thinking of their own selfish goals and to turn their attention outward (extroversion).

So he gave us the Golden Rule, which is the outstanding recipe for extroversion of personality.

Christ was unique, therefore, in doing things. He fed the hungry and healed the sick and offered a spiritual tonic to the idealists who were being smothered under pagan materialism.

Other religions demanded that babies be thrown to the crocodiles, or into the fiery furnace of an idol named Baal. Or even into the Ganges River, up till the beginning of this century. But not Christianity:

And many religions stressed details and ritual far too much. They might try to restrict the diet, but no true religion can be developed at the gastric level:

Real religion is a product of intelligence. It is based on brain hungers, not on menus or taboo foods.

Jesus was thus never guilty of making mountains out of molehills. He was the great exponent of "horse sense" in human relations.

In his day, the religionists insisted on a slavish deference to the Sabbath. They worshipped the letter of the law rather than the spirit of it.

To shock them out of this hypocritical view, Jesus tartly informed them, "The Sabbath was made for man; not man for the Sabbath."

This obviously means that we could change the Sabbath from Saturday or Sunday to Wednesday or any other day in the week, and that would not matter, for the purpose of any so-called Sabbath is too offer mankind a day for worship of God.

Jesus thought big. And he advocated positive thinking, not negative, critical or myopic attitudes.

The "Compliment Club" is a perfect example of Christ's extrovertive, positive outlook. So if you want to talk about your neighbors, do so via compliments for their virtues.

Baering Down

Have you been following that hassel ben ruckus over in Marrakesh? It's a dilloloo.

The French settled it in their quaint diplomatic vive la manner. They say the more it changes the more it is the same, and the less you have.

The twin Bedouins of upper Sahara got fed up with the beau geste business of always having the Foreign Legion winning in the last reel.

So they got up on their high camel and rode off in a cloud of dudgeon. The Haji-Tamoo of Mezzoura-Arkansa had his eye on the Sultanate. He wanted to play piano in the Kasbah.

But Hollywood was always giving the best roles to featured players, so the Sultan revolted. He took his dancing girls and soft music over to Petrillo.

What happens? Moulay Mohammed Ben Afra is the new Pasha. Peace and goodwill is louder than ever.

There naturally was a crisis in the French cabinet. The premier couldn't find his high silk hat.

Our own state department doesn't like what happened in El Morocco. It likes to be consulted the inevitable.

This is a diplomatic victory for French intrigue and will add a dining car to the Paris-Bagdad Express. The Defender of the Faithful doesn't field. He's always at the bat.

Writer Had Relief Taking Daily Ca-D but Sairy Gamp Spoiled Things for Her

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE MAIL BOX

Sairey Gamp

I had started taking Ca and D as you recommended, and it was apparently bringing considerable relief, when a registered nurse told me she knew of cases where it resulted in calcium deposits—and she says this is not an old wife's tale but the finding of a noted authority . . . (M. L.)

Answer — Now, shucks, we were going great guns until along came Sairey Gamp.

No More Rheumatis

No. 26 "Little Lesson in e Ways of Health" is worth 10 times . . . (It is the booklet The Calcium Shortage, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) . . . I have gotten rid of my rheumatis of long standing . . . (A. A. M.)

Never expected to get so much help . . . my arthritis is improving steadily since I began supplementing my diet with Ca and D as you advise in the pamphlet . . . (Mrs. L. M.)

Answer — The pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz is available on written request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cats

Do you think children should be allowed to play with cats—even let the cat sleep on the bed with them? (Mrs. E. S.)

Answer — Yes.

Druggist

When I tried to buy vitamin B-12 and folic acid tablets the druggist said he didn't have them, because the only way the vitamin B-12 can reach the blood stream is by shots . . . (E. R.)

Answer — B-12 with folic acid is as effective by mouth as it is by injection. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet The Red Blood Vitamin.

Mineral Oil

Is it harmful to take two tablespoonfuls of mineral oil every night regularly? (G. M. A.)

Answer — Yes. It interferes with absorption of essential minerals and vitamins from food. The notion that mineral oil serves as an "internal lubricant" is absurd. You may learn something to your lifelong advantage by studying Little Lesson No. 25, The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blood Pressure

At the suggestion of my physician I am requesting that you send me your pamphlet on high blood pressure. (H. K.)

Answer — Indeed I haven't any. As a health adviser I think your blood pressure is none of your business. Your physician rates a sharp rap on the knuckles — unless, perchance, well, I'll talk about this again.

No Wet Wash

After a bath my skin stings, burns and itches unendurably . . . (Mrs. D. H. S.)

Answer — Why bathe? Anyway, use no soap, no hot water. No clothing — or the less the better and spend as much time as you can in the minimum clothing approved by the law and the neighbors. If or when you subject your skin to a wet wash apply a suitable oil immediately afterward to replace the skin oil (sebum) removed by the bath. Send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson No. 9, Save Your Skin.

Quick Change

The doctor said there is poison in her blood and would not give any more information. He says she must take shots . . . (Mrs. M. H.)

Answer — If the patient is of age and the doctor does not say plainly what he thinks is the matter, the sooner she changes doctors the better. If the patient is a minor and you are parent or guardian—well, in such circumstance it may be just as well to carry on with the euphemism.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped self addressed envelope is enclosed.

Mackinac Shrine Will Honor Doctor

MACKINAC ISLAND (UP) — A $40,000 restoration project has been started here to commemorate a 151-year-old date in U. S. medical history.

State medical leaders and political figures joined in ceremonies to lay the cornerstone of a shrine honoring Dr. William Beaumont whose analytical studies on human digestive processes in 1822 marked a medical milestone.

The project is expected to be completed next year and turned over to the Mackinac Island State Park Commission.

Dr. Beaumont's studies were made possible when Alexis St. Martin, a young trapper, was wounded accidentally by a shotgun blast. The victim continued to live but the wound left a gaping "window" in St. Martin's stomach through which Dr. Beaumont observed digestive processes.

His findings provided medical men with concepts of reactions of the human stomach to various types of food, liquor, and even emotions.

Too Many Girls Waste Their Energy by Daydreaming About Wrong Lads

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

It's normal enough for a girl to want to dream about somebody. It gives her something to do with her spare time. Keeps her from being lonely.

Her own private thoughts keep her company, tease her, tantalize her, and on the whole make her quite happy. 'Cause it's a real pessimist who can't make her dreams come true—in her dreams.

Funny thing is that some girls do their dreaming about the wrong guys. Sue dreams about Pete because he's the only boy she knows. Marge dreams about Bill because, though not exactly her type, he's become a habit.

Fran dreams about that guy she sees every day at the bus stop—she doesn't know his name or where he goes—but his face haunts her throughts. While Edith spends all her daydreaming moments recalling the one time she met that lad named Mike.

It's easy enough for some girls to tell when a lad's worth daydreaming time. It's pretty hard to convince some others that it's wasted steam. But here's another try. We'll begin with Carol who writes like this:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 15 and I met this boy at a park. He was operating some children's amusements, and while my kid brother was on them he kept staring at me. Soon he began talking with me and we seemed to hit it off just right.

"He gave my brother a lot of tickets for other rides so I wouldn't go away. I'm sure he lost his job because of that for I haven't seen him down there lately.

"I know that I like him and would like to go out with him, but I don't know whether to ask about him and try to find him so I can apologize for making him lose his job.

"You see, if he's still working there and found out I asked about him, he might think I was chasing after him, which I wouldn't want—because, after all, he might not feel the same way about me. Can you please help me out?"

Yours was a one-shot encounter with a strange lad, yet here you are using your daydreaming time feeling sure he's the love of your life, feeling sure you're guilty of making him lose his job, feeling sure that if you haunt the amusement park enough you'll see him again, feeling sure if you just had another chance to talk all your dreams would come true.

Such daydreaming is sheer torture. It's fun to give a guy you meet once an occasional passing thought in retrospect — but it seems such a waste to keep a stranger the only one on the mind.

Then there's the guy you loved a while and then stopped loving. Stopped with a violent smash.

Too many girls keep on dreaming of guys they've fought with. Sort of like locking the stable after the horse has been stolen. Here's one such who writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I broke off with Tom about two weeks ago and I haven't been speaking to him since.

"Now, I'm going to have a party and I want to invite him because I still like him very much, but I don't know whether he likes me. Do you think I should?"

I can't really imagine why you'd want to. You broke off with Tom for reasons you consider perfectly sound. He made you so mad you haven't spoken to him for two whole weeks.

What can he possibly have done to reinstate himself in your good graces?

What can have made you change your mind about the horrible creature? Whatever he did two weeks ago made you furious, whatever he said annoyed you—and would rile you just as much today. Why give him a second thought—even in your day dreams?

Guard Kids From Sun When Playing on Beach

Please don't roast your baby in the sun.

Any Mom who uses an oven thermometer in baking should know better than that. But every day one sees little tots broiling in the summer sunshine, with mother sitting under a parasol quite aloof from it all.

An agonizing sunburn can scare a little tot into the shade for a lifetime. But if Mom takes time and energy to instruct her child in the proper procedures of sun basking, a good time can be had outdoors.

Here are some tips worth observing if baby and Mom plan to enjoy their outdoor sessions this summer:

1. Before your youngster leaves the house have her assemble sunglasses, suntan lotion, a hat with a brim, long coveralls, long-sleeved light-weight blouse, a large Turkish towel.

2. When she arrives at the beach, show her how to apply the suntan lotion.

3. Children who have been sitting in the sun are likely to shiver after a dip in cool water. When she has been blotted dry with a towel, have a warm sweater ready to keep her from chilling until she warms up again.

4. Bring an alarm clock so exposures to the sun may be timed. Time consuming relaxers such as reading and knitting are likely to take your thoughts from your child until she is scorched. Be sure she wears sunglasses or little cotton eye pads when she is lying down in the sun.

5. Keep her from munching food and drinking icy drinks while she is in the direct sunshine. When it is time to have lunch, sit in a shady spot or under a parasol.

Hosts Rude Not to Wait for Guests

Shouldn't Eat Until Delayed Company Arrives

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "My husband and I were invited to Sunday dinner at my husband's cousin's house at 2 o'clock. He and his wife live about 40 miles from here.

"We left early enough but traffic on the highway was very bad and we were delayed. At five minutes past 2 we were still on the road, and wanting to reassure our hostess that we were coming, I called to explain our delay and said that we would be there in about 20 minutes.

"It sounded to me as though she had said they had already started to eat, but as the telephone booth was in a very noisy building, I thought possibly I had misunderstood, so we continued on our way.

"When we arrived the table was completely cleared. Soon afterwards the hostess brought in two plates with our dinner on them and we sat and ate alone.

"I was so upset I could eat nothing, and if it wasn't for the host, who is a wonderful person, I would have left then and there rather than be subjected to this inexcusable rudeness. I would very much like your opinion of this situation."

Answer: As you had telephoned you were going to be late, they should have delayed the meal until you arrived. It was unthinkably rude to leave you eating alone.

Dear Mrs. Post: If I invite someone to my house for luncheon or dinner and that person cannot come on that day but suggests coming another time, or if that person accepts but then later telephones to say she cannot come, am I still obliged to invite her at her convenience, or is my obligation fulfilled? Then isn't it her turn to invite me?

Answer: The person you invite has no right to suggest another day and you are not obliged to invite her at her convenience. Strictly speaking, an invitation cancels the obligation whether or not it is accepted.

Dear Mrs. Post: One sees so many apparently well-dressed women on the street today wearing gloves and no hats. To me this seems all wrong. I'd like your opinion.

Answer: A few years ago you would have been right, but today even well-dressed women are appearing out without hats.

Dress Patterns Designed for Average, Diminutive

Herbert Sondheim, famous American designer noted for his tailoring skill, designed this two-piece dress with charming simplicity. He artfully attains crispness with gentle curves, as witnessed in the pockets and jacket front, closed with a row of buttons and a pert bow at the neck.

The gusset, so loved by high fashion designers, is uniquely cut as part of the sleeve, eliminating a separate insertion of this feature. Note the reed slim skirt is relieved by a back pleat for walking ease.

Originally made of fine wool, this design lends itself equally well to faille or bengaline. Available in sizes for the average height woman and diminutive sizes for those 5 feet 5 or under.

In selecting your pattern size, please use the guide below which represents body measurements used by this designer:

No. 1154 (Regular Sizes)

Sizes	10	12	14	16	18
Bust	32½	34	35½	37	38½ in.
Waist	24½	25½	27	28½	30 in.
Hip*	33½	35	36½	38	39½ in.

No. 854 (Diminutive Sizes)

Sizes	10	12	14	16	18
Bust	32½	34	35½	37	38½ in.
Waist	25½	27	28½	30	31½ in.
Hip	34¼	35¾	37¼	38¾	40¼ in.

Size 12 regular requires 2⅝ yards of 54-inch material; size 12 diminutive 2⅜ yards of 54-inch fabric.

To order Patterns 1154 and 854, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. 149, G.P.O., New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1.00 for each. Airmail 25 cents extra.

Being Clean Counts in Impressions

To make a good impression, see that everything you wear is in perfect condition. There's nothing sorrier than stained shoes, cosmetic-rimmed scarves, finger-marked buttons, dirt-edged petti coats, dusty handbags, and sticky compacts.

An hour a week spent with soapsuds for these little "extras" will pay off enormously — not only in the way you look, but in the way you feel.

Allow for Shrinkage

If you have an automatic dryer for clothes, many home economists advise buying cotton knit socks, underwear and shirts a size larger than usual to allow for shrinkage.

Less Remunerative Job May Be Best in Long Run

Graduating students are often asked, "Which will you choose? A beautiful fullgrown rose or a scrawny bush which needs much tending, but which will one day produce hundreds and hundreds of blooms?"

Sooner or later, most of us face the decision between immediate profit or the long range potential.

Facing such a problem is the woman whose children are in school and who wants a part-time job.

She usually wants it as preparation on a small scale basis for a full-time job when the children are grown.

Too often, however, such a woman selects a job which is temporarily profitable and steady, but which will give her little, if any, preparation for her future goal.

Unless she is in great financial need, I feel it is vastly better for such a woman to select the field which will give her the best experience.

For example, one woman, whom I shall call Mrs. E. H., selected a part-time job for experience, and she has never regretted it.

"I have always loved real estate," she told me, "or I suppose I should say, anything about houses and apartments.

"When my youngest child entered nursery school, I faced what might have been a difficult decision. But my decision was made easier since I knew that one day I would want to return to the working world full-time.

"I was offered two jobs. One was as a real estate salesman, a rental agent on a part-time commission basis. Tht other was a straight part-time receptionist job in a commercial firm for a flat $20 a week.

"Fortunately for me, I chose the real estate because I really liked it best. I didn't make many commissions the first couple of years, but I loved every minute of it and I learned a great deal.

"When the time came to go after a full-time job, I found that most employers liked my experience.

"I now have an excellent job with a carpet manufacturer. I know he would never have hired me if I hadn't explained my enthusiasm for houses and apartments, and my experience in meeting, face-to-face, hundreds of people who rent and buy them —and who also buy carpets."

Many times the job that pays more, or offers more security in the beginning, is a dead end whereas the job which offers experience can be the beginning of a remunerative career.

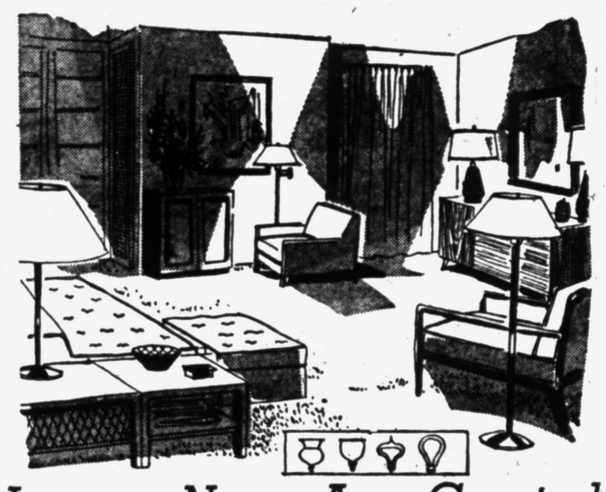
Chemical Potent Mosquito Curb

WILMINGTON, Del. (INS)—The DuPont Corp. has announced a new mosquito killing chemical called EPN, an ounce of which is claimed to be enough to kill all mosquito larvae in an acre of water.

The company said EPN is particularly effective against DDT-resistant strains of the species of mosquitoes which cause malaria and sleeping sickness.

DuPont warns, however, that EPN can be used only in diluted form and by trained technicians.



Lamps Now Are Created in Co-ordinated Roomfuls

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

What's a lamp for?

Of course it is intended to give light, but because light itself is decorative and lamps can so easily be important and good looking, lamps are bought as room decoration.

The trouble used to be that it was difficult indeed to find lamps that gave the light they should and were good looking at the same time.

It was necessary to choose between efficient uglies and decorative do-nothings.

For some time, lighting engineers and designers have been putting their heads together to combine comfortable light with good styling, and special results will be featured in the stores this fall.

Two hundred electric utility, store and portable lamp manufacturing executives met in Cleveland recently to confer and make plans.

They previewed new lamps with built-in lighting efficiency and a new idea to make lamp buying easier — lamps by the roomful, and by the houseful.

The variety of lamps a room needs and these which go well together were shown together.

Sketched is one group that was suggested for a budget house living room in contemporary style.

The lamps presented according to the new plan will be grouped not only by style and how well they harmonize with each other, but by price, so the cost of each lamp is consistent with the others.

You buy a roomful of lamps and know they go well together, suit the style of the room and fill the lighting needs, and how much the whole lighting plan costs.

And the lamps are grouped together to provide the kind of light the room needs. All are approved for lighting efficiency.

Reflectors and harps, like those sketched, are placed according to their proper relation to shades, and the correct bulb is indicated.

Easy to Prevent Dry, Rough Skin While Tanning

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Are you letting the sun, salt air or wind dry out your complexion?

It is very easy to restore a smooth complexion finish even if you have been exposed to the sun's parching rays, the wind or an ocean spray. And it's even easier to prevent dry or rough skin.

Many women seem inclined to over-estimate the amount of effort and time involved in conditioning and preserving the complexion, or restoring its beauty after it has been neglected.

Before exposing yourself to the elements, apply a hand or body lotion to your face as well as to your shoulders, arms and legs.

For extra protection to the more sensitive skin of your face, put on a thin coat of a creamy stick makeup. This coat of makeup helps to filter the sun's rays so that the drying process is slowed down, and it lubricates the skin so that salt air and wind are less apt to make your skin rough.

For those who want a dark tan, but not a parched dry complexion, the new make-up base and powder can be quickly and easily puffed on as a filter coat.

Exhibit Will Feature "Gardening Through Years"

Club Work to Be Shown on Friday

To Include Varied Arrangements by Members

Flowers arranged in kitchen utensils, dried flowers, dahlia arrangements, aster arrangements, vegetables and fruit will all be on display Friday at Roosevelt Temple.

The occasion is the Better Home and Garden Club Flower show called "Gardening Through the Years," which will be held from 2 until 9 o'clock.

Among some of the table arrangements, which are done without the aid of painted, artificial or protected plant material, will be a Thanksgiving arrangement by Mrs. Clyde Hadden and a golden anniversary by Mrs. J. M. Beauchamp.

To carry out the theme of the show, Mrs. Walter Seaks is entering an arrangement called 100 Years Ago.

A Halloween table will be presented by Mrs. Guy Tubbs; Mrs. C. A. Beamer will do a buffet table, and Mrs. J. I. Kendel will enter a terrace table arangement. All of the specimen blooms to be exhibited must be grown by the exhibitor and must be named.

Another feature of the show will be a conservation table. A speaker will be present, both in the afternoon and evening, to discuss soil testing and other phases of conservation.

Other exhibits will include miscellaneous flower arrangements, novelty arrangements, African violets, fruits and vegetables.

Roesers Vacationed on Ranch

Back From the Wild West

Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Roeser of Neome drive, with their three sons, Wally, Fred and Douglas, returned home Wednesday after a three-week trip in the West.

They visited Yellowstone National Park and Glacier National Park, where they spent some time on a ranch. While they were there, the boys had a chance to do some horseback riding through the mountains, where they reported they ran into a snowstorm.

Soon to be leaving for Columbia, Mo. and Stephens College, is Grieta Van Coevering. Grieta, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Van Coevering of Commerce road, will attend the annual Campus Leaders Conference on Sept. 10. She is the chairman of the mediations and ideals committees of Senior Hall.

Another "Stephens' Susie" who will be returning to school this fall is Sally Jo Barnett, daughter of the Archie Barnetts of Oneida road.

* * *

Mrs. Louise Anderson and Dewey Anderson of LaGrange, Ill. are among those in town to attend the wedding of Joan Pearl Frederiksen of Baldwin avenue and Raymond E. Bell of Elm street. Others include Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson and family, also of LaGrange, Ill., and Mrs. Alfretta Sinkey of Strathroy, Ont.

JUDY WOLVERTON

Mr. and Mrs. Leon V. Wolverton of Ivy street are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy, to Robert Gerald Thompson of Milford. Nov. 25 has been set as the wedding date.

Detroit Rite Solemnized Friday Night

Suzanne Caspar, Lt. Roger R. Vogel Repeat Vows

Suzanne Caspar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jean Caspar Jr. of Venice drive, was married at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Mayflower Congregational Church, Detroit, to Lt. Roger R. Vogel. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Vogel of Detroit.

White lace over satin fashioned the wedding gown, with the full floor-length skirt falling over hoops. A lace cap held a fingertip veil and she carried stephanotis and ivy.

Julie Vogel, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Mrs. John McConnell, Mrs. Richard Alban, Mrs. David VanderKloot and Barbara Reynolds.

They all wore champagne colored antique taffeta with brown net headdresses and they carried bronze chrysanthemums.

Joseph T. Morrow of Summit, N. J., was best man and ushers were Robert Johnson, Earl J. Cline of Grand Blanc, William McIntosh, John V. White of Bay City and Bruce Wales.

A reception followed at Pine Lake Country Club.

Mrs. Caspar's gown was of iridescent green taffeta and she wore a small matching hat.

Mrs. Vogel wore pale mauve taffeta with a matching hat. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

For her wedding trip to Florida the bride wore a beige faille suit with a brown hat.

Two-by-Four Best Study Aid for Child

FORT MADISON, Ia. (INS) — Want your youngster to study this fall? Get a two-by-four.

But don't apply it where you might think it does the most good.

This two-by-four is the recommended surface size (in feet) of a desk to make it easy for your child to wield a pen and pencil in doing school lessons.

A comfortable desk, equipped with the proper tools, not only helps encourage good grades in lessons but also good handwriting.

The desk should be 25 to 30 inches from the floor. Its accompanying chair should be straight backed and high enough so the youngster's eyes are 14 inches above the desk top.

To avoid the danger of eye strain, be sure there is proper lighting. If a floor lamp is used, place it so the bottom of the shade is at eye level. A table lamp should be about two-feet high with semi-direct lighting. In either case, provide generous-sized shades and high-watt bulbs.

Also, avoid a shiny surface for the desk. A large pastel blotter is a good idea as it reduces glare, and saves the finish as well.

The desk should also have special compartments or shelves for storing writing equipment and reference books.

African violets, which will be displayed at Roosevelt Temple Friday, are being admired by Mrs. J. R. Armstrong of Cooley Street (center) and Mrs. Fred Bohlman of South Anderson Street (right), while the owner, Mrs. W. A. Seaks of Cooley street, president of the Better Home and Garden Club, points out a particularly large blossom. The exhibit will be from 2 until 9 o'clock.

5 Shopping Tips Help You Select New Fall Coat

Fall coat-hunting time is here.

Since you're seen in a coat perhaps half of your waking hours as long as chilly weather lasts, it's a crucial purchase from a beauty angle. These shopping tips may help you.

1. If you wear a suit under a coat, wear one while trying the coat on. (If the weather's too warm to wear a suit while shopping, have the salesgirl let you borrow a suit for this purpose from the store's stock.)

2. Do you want the coat for country or city wear? Tweed plaids, checks and stripes are for country, while flannel, broadcloth, doeskin, cashmere, wool Cheviot, fleece, boucle, and velour are city fabrics.

3. Black, brown, navy, gray and beige are your basic colors. There are very few women into whose wardrobe red, green or gold coats fit well. Have a list of your wardrobe colors with you and consider them all when choosing a coat color.

4. Fur trim adds to the expense of a coat and limits its usefulness. Such a coat is generally too dressy for all-day wear but not dressy enough for evening.

5. If you're under 35, ask yourself if the coat is sophisticated enough for you. If you're over 35, beware of a matronly coat and be sure it has an air of youth about it.

Exciting Red Lingerie Is Fall Fashion

You will catch a mood of gay excitement when you slip on the eye-stopping red being shown in a fall lingerie collection. And there is no limit to the varied uses for this color under your fall costumes.

These bright and fashionable additions to your intimate apparel wardrobe are shown in nylon tricot in a rosy flame shade called "Firelight red."

The color is featured not only in the fabric of the garments themselves, but also in the matching nylon nets, laces and ribbons used to trim them.

The red is a startling foil to basic shades, offering a vivacious flash of color under navy, grey and black. If you like a bit of color contrast to gusset from a slit skirt, what could be more imaginative than red?

Whatever your age, you'll enjoy the fun of wearing a matched set of red underthings. Each of the pieces is trimmed with delicate lace and net, all in nylon.

Let Soft Kerchief Hide Pin Curls at Shopping Time

Saturday seems to be national beauty day among housewives, if one can judge by the number of busy young mothers seen wearing pin-curls on the street on a Saturday morning.

Baby doesn't mind seeing mother in pin-curls as she pushes him in his carriage and goes from one errand to another, hauling groceries, wet wash, shoes for repair, and a morning's worth of other foot-tiring occupations.

Her husband's not there. He'll see her later, with hair freshly washed, set and brushed out for their Saturday night date.

Then who minds the pin-curled look? No one minds at all—unless this girl goes around with the pins naked to the eye, or covered with a soiled, rose-spattered kerchief.

If her neighbor, who also wears pin curls on Saturday morning, can look pretty with the coverup she's hiding her pin-curls under, can't she, too?

A kerchief in a solid color looks smartest. A soft fabric, like thin silk or chiffon, fits smoothly and ties softly. Or one can get ready-made curler covers with an elastic fit to hold pin-curls in place under the type of hat that hides the hair.

The girl who's really up on beauty is as neat and well-groomed on Saturday a.m. as on Saturday p.m., even though in a very different way.

Sliding Door Ends Stooping Problem

A laundry hamper with a sliding panel in front is a big help. Just slide the panel up and let the laundry tumble out when you're ready to put it in the washing machine.

That's a whole lot better than having to stand on your head while you fish out the last garment from the bottom!

Miss Steward Feted on Eve of 7-Month Trip

Mrs. Frank Thomas of Florence avenue and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Reynells entertained at a cooperative dinner recently in honor of Margaret Steward who is leaving soon for a trip to the Far East, The Philippines, Australia and New Zealand.

The table decorations featured placecards representing airmail letters addressed to Miss Steward at each of the main cities that she will visit on her seven-month trip.

Those present at the dinner included Zella Walker, Mrs. Fred Conner, Ora Hallenbeck, Faye Donelson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Haskins, Mr. and Mrs. Eskil Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. John Madole.

Proper way to remove a glove: Pull tips of fingers, grasp lower edge and pull glove wrong side out over the hand. Straighten glove into shape immediately.

Mary J. Davis to Wed Oct. 17

Mr. and Mrs. Cedric C. Davis of Kemp street are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Burton Bond.

He is the son of Mrs. Thomas Bond of South Tasmania avenue. An Oct. 17 wedding is being planned by the couple.

Alpha Xi Delta to Gather at Get-Acquainted Dinner

North Woodward area Alpha Xi Deltas will convene for a get-together dinner Sept. 14 at 7 o'clock. Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Alex Clark of Walnut Lake road, and honor guests will be college members living in the area.

For this first meeting of the new year, the executive committee has arranged for delegates to the national convention to give their report.

The delegates, Mrs. Leonard Bender and Mrs. Frank West, both of Royal Oak, will also show colored slides and black and white pictures taken during the trip to Pasadena, Calif., where the convention was held.

Other pictures will show spots of interest seen during the side trips to Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Elected national president at the convention was Dr. Elizabeth G. Van Buskirk, assistant professor of classics at Elmira College, Elmira, N. Y.

Other features of the stay in California were tours of the Walt Disney studios and the campus of the University of California, where a reception was held for the group by the local Alpha Xi Delta chapter.

Mrs. Bender, as official delegate from Birmingham Alumnae Chapter, served on the courtesy committee of the convention.

Assisting Mrs. Clark as hostess for the dinner will be Mrs. Donald McGinnis and Mrs. George Lytle of Royal Oak, Mrs. Robert Harvey of Huntington Woods and Mrs. J. J. Hogan of Birmingham.

Younger Set Is Boss

Beam Movie at Be-boppers

By DOROTHY ROE

(Associated Press Women's Editor)

Teenagers probably constitute America's most lucrative market, says Bill Thomas, one-half of the Hollywood producing team of Pine and Thomas.

They buy more records, see more movies, write more fan letters, influence more opinions, shop for more clothes and ice cream sodas than any other group he can think of.

And they are more vociferous than anybody about their likes and dislikes.

That's why the two Bills have beamed their next picture, "Those Redheads from Seattle," straight at the bop-conscious younger set, using as bait some of their own favorite recording artists such as Teresa Brewer, the Bell Sisters and Guy Mitchell.

Says Thomas, a genial ex-newspaperman:

"My own teenage daughter usually won't come near the set when I'm making a picture — movies are old stuff to her, a Hollywood product.

"But during the filming of "Redheads" she brought her pals around in relays, and all of them squealed and swooned all over the place at the wonder of seeing those voices on their records come to life."

The Bills teamed up a dozen years ago to produce the kind of pictures they thought the public wanted. Their success through the years has amazed some older hand at the business, especially so since many of their top successes have been on small budgets. Thomas explains how they do it:

"We keep close to the boss. The boss, in the final analysis, is the man who walks up to the boxoffice and buys a ticket. No matter how artistic or beautiful a movie may be, it can't be a success unless people pay to see it.

"We do a lot of traveling around the country, talking to all kinds of people in all kinds of towns, and that way we get to know the things people like to see."

Right now, when TV is posing such a serous threat to the movie industry, individual pictures are doing better than ever, says Thomas. But run-of-the-mill pictures are flopping all over the place. The explanation, as he sees it, is this:

"The public is more discriminating than ever before. Today a picture has to be a real smash before a man will spend his money to see it. If there's no movie they want to see, they can always go to a baseball game or stay home and watch TV."

The same themes as always go in today's good movies, says Thomas—sex, comedy and tragedy. But there's as much difference between a 1925 movie and a 1953 3D super production as there is between a model T Ford and a 1953 Cadillac.

Vacuum Cleaners Good for Kitchen

Keeping one's hard-surface floors dusted is a wise precaution. Dust and dirt are gritty. They injure the appearance of a fine floor in almost no time at all.

There is a special vacuum cleaner attachment for bare floors, which also should be used around the edge of any room where the carpet or rug does not extend clear to the walls.

Home economists declare that the use of the vacuum cleaner on the kitchen floor is almost as good as a scrubbing.

Sorority to Send Extra Delegates For Convention

More than one delegate will be sent to the Sigma Beta Convention in October, it was decided when Psi Chapter met Thursday evening at the YWCA.

The extra delegates, from both Psi Chapter and the newly-formed Beta Alpha Chapter, will enable the girls to entertain at the convention with a skit. The gathering will be held in Fort Wayne, Ind.

At the Thursday meeting Mrs. Eugene Russell reported on future activities to raise funds for the national charity project.

The group also decided to send a nominee for "Sigma Beta Girl of the Year," who will be chosen at the convention.

Mrs. Keith VanKleek was chosen as the nominee. Beta Alpha Chapter members were guests at the meeting.

Hostess to Sorority

Mrs. Robert Holloway of Garland avenue, Sylvan Lake, was hostess Thursday evening when members of Beta Theta Chapter of Lambda Chi Omega sorority met for the installation of officers.

Note to Students: Classmates See Hair From Rear

Teen-agers, your classmates sit behind you at school desks and perhaps form opinions about you from your hair style and grooming. Here are some hair habits you won't want to fall into, if you'd have your classmates' admiration:

1. Combing hair with fingers while listening to lectures or twining your fingers around a favorite curl.

2. Scratching your scalp thoughtfully. This means your hair and scalp need oil treatments, unless it's just a bad habit.

3. Poorly conditioned hair that causes dandruff and loose hairs to fall on your shoulders and back.

4. Going without a shampoo for too long so that an everwidening circle of grease spreads from the center of your scalp. People who are taller than you see this.

5. Overtight permanents, especially when the hair is long and in need of thinning, that cause a frizzy halo of fluff to stand out like a bushwoman's.

6. Absolutely straight hair that tends to stringiness. Set it if only to give it shape and form. You need not aim for curliness.

7. An over sophisticated hairdo that belongs on a woman, not a girl. The latest high-style hair fashions are, in most cases, not suitable for girls of school age.

If you must use inflammable cleaning fluids, keep them stored away from the house, and keep containers tightly closed.

Pink, Blue Shower Held at Evans Home

Mrs. Frank Lawrence of West Howard street was honored Thursday evening at a pink and blue shower given by Mrs. Kenneth Evans of Preston avenue.

Those attending were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Albert Graham, Mrs. Henry Green, Mrs. Walter Babb, Jean Lucas, Mrs. Bengt Pulls, Patricia Huffman, Mrs. Frances McCue, Mrs. Elmer Campbell, Gail Stoner, Mrs. Ward Ross, Mrs. Kenneth Hoard, Mrs. Harold Stenquist and Mrs. Joseph Burgdorf.

End Smoking Mess With Plastic Cases

If there's a smoker in the house, you're probably heir to tobacco shreds all over the bath, and occasional packs of wet, soggy matches on the floor.

Provide two inexpensive plastic cigarette cases, one for matches, one for "smokes." Next man to mess up the bath cleans it up.

Coming Events

Forget-Me-Not Birthday Club will meet Tuesday at 12:30 for a cooperative luncheon at the home of Mrs. Charles Rosegart, 18 Jefferson St.

Group 6, OES, will meet Tuesday for a cooperative lunch at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. Dewey Allen, 9 Liberty St.

Beverly Kleist Wed in Holy Name Rite

At an eleven o'clock ceremony this morning in Holy Name Church, Beverly Kleist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Kleist, and Herbert Edward Kendall of Norwich, Conn., were married.

The bridegroom, is the son of Edward Kendall of Norwich and the late Mrs. Kendall.

The bride wore white nylon tulle over taffeta. Appliques of Alencon lace detailed the neckline and the full skirt which ended in a train.

Virginia Collins as honor maid and Mrs. Carl Teichmiller of Milwaukee as matron of honor wore emerald net frocks with velvet bodices. They carried crescent bouquets of yellow baby chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Vass of Pontiac and Peggy Elliott of Norwich wore rose gowns like the honor attendants. Their flowers were white chrysanthemums.

Diane Anhert was flower girl in a yellow net gown. She carried a basket filled with yellow and white flowers.

Homer Bienvenieu of Norwich was best man and ushers included Herbert and Paul Chambo of Detroit and John Vass of Pontiac.

MRS. HERBERT E. KENDALL

Beverly Kleist became the bride of Herbert E. Kendall this morning in Holy Name Church. The Clarence A. Kleists of Birmingham are the bride's parents, and Herbert is the son of Edward Kendall of Norwich, Conn., and the late Mrs. Kendall.

The navy chambray denim wrap around coat dress (left) banded in white, has a wide tuxedo type shawl collar and ties in back. Red and white striped denim with navy cuffs, pocket and button trim forms the one piece playsuit (right) which can be worn separately.

Lutherans Have Surplus of Young Ministers

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Most Protestant denominations have out "help wanted" signs for more ministers.

But the American Lutheran Church, with four times as many seminary graduates as before the war, has more young ministers than churches for them to serve.

This was revealed by Dr. Marcus Rieke, the denomination's youth director, in an interview at the opening of the 11th convention of the International Luther League.

Pastors' Association to Meet in Pontiac

First meeting of the year for the Pontiac Pastors Associaition, will be Friday at 10:45 a.m. in First Presbyterian Church.

This organization meets each month and pastors from Pontiac and vicinity are invited to attend. The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, secretary, reports that all new pastors are especially invited to this first meeting of the year.

Doctor Puts Up Shrine on Lawn

Fashions Statue From Maine Granite to Our Lady of Lourdes

(By Religious News Service)

SULLIVAN, Me. — A well-known Boston physician has erected a shrine to Our Lady of Lourdes on the lawn of his summer home here.

Dr. Francis X. Corr of Dorchester, an active Bay State Roman Catholic layman, fashioned the shrine of black and white granite native to this area.

The doctor's strong religious feeling is evidenced in his credo for young physicians.

"The main factors in the making of a physician," he says, "are a good background, a determination to work hard, to sacrifice yourself for the good of the patient, to carry hope and helpfulness to those under your care;

"To respect all faiths, to carry in mind that the curing of the patient comes before any material gain on your part, and above all, to remember that God Almighty, the Great Physician, is above us all and, in the form of prayer, a petition to Him is more potent than any drug or surgical assistance that may be given."

Bethany Baptists Plan Retreat Day

An all-day retreat has been planned for Saturday, Sept. 12, at Teeple Lodge, off M-59, by officers and lay members of Bethany Baptist Church.

The company will gather at the church and be led by Wilbury Crawford and Andrew Pepper, conference directors, to the conference grounds.

Forrest Brown, moderator of the church, will preside during the sessions. He will be assisted by the chairman of each major board of the church.

REV. H. F. MacALLISTER

Minister to Give Final Sermon

Joslyn Avenue Church Pastor Moving On to Bloomington, Ind.

The Rev. H. F. MacAllister, pastor of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, will preach his farewell sermon Sunday.

Pastor at the local church since January 1942, the Rev. Mr. MacAllister will become pastor of the newly-built United Presbyterian Church at Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 13.

During his pastorate here, a new church was built and the mortgage burned on June 21 this year. The congregation increased by 25 per cent and missionary giving 70 per cent.

The Rev. Mr. MacAllister was educated at Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio, and received his bahcelor of theology degree at Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary.

THE NURSERY

Peer through the plate-glass window of a hospital nursery, and look at the newborn babies. They're all so much alike that the attending nurse can tell them apart only by the identification bracelet each wears on his wrist.

But before long marked differences will appear; and by the time these children are grown they will be so varied it will be hard to believe they all began life in the same place.

One of these babies will have become a noted musician; another will be living out his years in an institution for the feeble-minded. One of these infants will have become a distinguished professor of chemistry in a large university; another will be working as a night-watchman in a small knitting-mill.

One will have become a respected businessman and public-spirited citizens; another will be serving time in prison as a criminal.

How to explain these differences in people? They are due to variations in heredity, in environment and training, and in personal dedication.

Little can be done about heredity; but for the rest, home, school and church all have an important part to play. Though their functions overlap, the chief task of the home is to provide a suitable environment for the growing child, of the school to supply him with adequate training, and of the church to motivate him with a high moral purpose.

Confident Living

Prayer Will Make Work Easier, More Successful

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I always try, just before Labor Day, to write on the application of prayer and faith in the daily work of all of us. Not so long ago, I told over the radio a story about prayer in business and asked my listeners to send me others. Letters came in by the hundreds, and I want to tell you today about one of them.

DR. PEALE

A group of men, so the letter said, were seated in a smoky hotel suite. The men had their coats off and their sleeves rolled up. The ashtrays were littered with cigarette butts and chewed cigar ends. It looked as though the occupants had been in that suite for a long time and expected to stay.

There was a round table about which they were seated. It too was littered—with paper, thick law books, all the appurtenances of a business meeting. But there was a tension in the air that is not usually present at most busines meetings.

The tension was there because this was an important conference between the representatives of two giants bitterly espousing opposing viewpoits. . . the officers of the major companies in a great basic industry and the officers of the powerful union representing their employes.

A strike was threatened if certain conditions were not met and that strike would set back the nation's defense production. The negotiations had reached an impasse and even the federal conciliator from Washington was unable to bring about a meeting of minds.

The talk had been bitter and nasty. Tempers were at a breaking point. Men sucked at their cigars angrily or loosened their collars and ties in irritation. A hostile silence fell over the room.

Then, quietly, with an Irish brogue, one of the labor leaders spoke up: "You know, there's one thing we haven't tried and maybe it can bring us together—help us find an acceptable formula, somehow. I'm going to sit here and pray. If any of you want to do the same, it may help a lot, but if you don't want to pray, you can at least think."

The other men looked at him in surprise. The room became as quiet as a church. For five minutes or so each man sat occupied with his own thoughts.

The man who had spoken prayed in silence—perhaps some of the others prayed also. At any rate, an hour later the conciliator came out of the room to announce to the reporters waiting outside that a settlment had been reached and a strike had been avoided.

Never before in history have people realized how the subtle power of prayer can give clarity to the mind, insight to the thoughts, and power to the personality. Prayer fuses people together, making real teamwork possible so that there is no lack of harmony, no breakup of personal relationships.

Take your work, whatever it is, and dedicate it to God. Fill yourself and your job full of God's spirit, pray to Him and ask His guidance when you need help—and you will find that your work is easier and that you do your job more efficiently.

St. Benedict, who founded the Benedictine order of monks, took as his mtto, "To labor is to pray." And, indeed, they are inextricably joined together.

When you pray about your work it also goes better. Relations with your associates are improved. Your mind delivers fresh and creative ideas, and you get more pleasure out of your job. So take a prayer to work with you.

Educated at York College in Nebraska and Bonebrake Seminary at Dayton, Ohio, he received his theological degree from Louisville Presbyterian Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

The new associate will share with the pastor, the Rev. Dr. William H. Marbach, the various pastoral interests and activities of the church. With his wife and daughter, Joanne, he will live at 285 S. Tilden Ave.

Psychologist Claims Need for Faith Basic

(By Religious News Service)

NEW YORK—A basic need of the human personality is "spiritual belief involving some form of religious faith," Chief Psychologist John A. Blake of Central State Hospital at Petersburg, Va., says in the current issue of Mental Hygiene, publication of the National Association for Mental Health.

Clinical psychology has come to recognize that man's character is in large part built on a relationship with "some exalted power lying outside himself," according to Mr. Blake.

"Psychologists have observed," he added, "that when such a relationship, early acquired and strongly rooted in the depths of man's personality in infancy and childhood, is either lost or seriously disturbed in later life a conflict results, manifesting itself in some form and degree of personality disorder.

"Such conflicts may be just as profound as, or even more than, those due to purely secular frustration. In such cases, one might rightly say that man became literally 'sick in the spirit'."

Group Attends Riseman Camp

Rabbi Saperstein Was Dean at Jewish Youth Farm Project

Pontiac youths attending Riseman Farm Camp near Dryden over last week end, included Judith and Sidney Dickstein, Marilyn Goode, Richard Hartman, Edward Kantzer, Gordon Lapides and Michael Rosenberg.

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein of Temple Beth Jacob was dean of the camp attended by Michigan State Temple Youth, of which the rabbi is religious adviser.

Representative Jewish youth from all over the state took part in activities which included discussions on current social problems, appreciation courses in the Bible, the Talmud and Jewish Prayer book. Worship fellowship and recreation also were on the agenda.

Also serving on the staff were Mrs. Herman Dickstein, youth activities chairman of the Michigan State Temple Sisterhoods, which sponsors the camp and other youth projects and Mrs. Rudolph Hartman.

Plan World Air Tour of Church Missions

(By Religious News Service)

A world tour which will give American church members an opportunity to follow their dollars into the mission fields has been announced by John Rosengrant of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

The tour, using Pan American World Airway's first-class services, will leave from San Francisco on March 1, 1954, for Hawaii and visit 14 countries in 59 days.

The travel, the visits, the program and the on-the-spot conferences will be planned to give churchmen a vivid and realistic picture of their church at work across the world."

The group will meet government and church officials on the highest level (last year the President of the Philippines, the U. S. Ambassador to India, and the President of the International Christian University in Tokyo were interviewed) and also talk to missionaries and members of the humblest missions in out-of-the-way places.

Navy Praises Chaplains Who Served in Korea

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Navy has issued a statement praising the heroism of its 316 chaplains in Korea and reporting they have received 158 medals and decorations exclusive of campaign bars and unit awards from the Korean government.

Since the Marines landed in South Korea in August 1950, some 166 Navy chaplains have served with leatherneck units and about 150 others on ships in Korean waters.

Along with their regular duties chaplains have led Marines in Korea to construct or support six orphanages and to assist in the support of many others.

One Marine battalion supported an entire Korean village of 1,500 people. In addition, Navy chaplains led in the construction of one Roman Catholic school, and two Catholic and five Protestant churches.

Jews Usher In New Year at Sundown Wednesday

The Jewish New Year, which begins at sundown Wednesday, will usher in the year 5714, according to Jewish tradition. The subsequent 10 days are known as High Holy Days, and are dedicated to repentance and spiritual regeneration.

Prayers and music of the synagogue on these days stress the theme of God's universal rule of the world and the brotherhood of man.

At Temple Beth Jacob, a service will be held Wednesday at 8:15 p.m., with Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein preaching on "This Business of Living.' His talk at 10 a.m. Thursday will be entitled "Open Your Eyes."

A service for juniors will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday. The first session of the new school year will take place Sunday, Sept. 13, at 9:30 a.m.

At B'nai Israel Synagogue, a Slichos service is scheduled for 12:30 a.m. Sunday. This will be conducted by Cantor Lazarus Hershovitz.

Wednesday, at 6:30 p. m. Rosh Hashana observance will start with Maariv services.

At 8 a.m. Thursday Shacharis will be sung by Cantor Hershovitz. The sermon at 10 a.m. will be given by Rabbi Henry Hoschander, ending with the sounding of the Shofar and Mussaf.

Similar services will be held on Friday with the rabbi preaching from the subject "Who is Wise? He who Forsees the Future."

Mincha and Maariv will be held at 6:15 p.m. on Friday.

Statistics Show Church Growth

1952 Membership Hits Record of 92,277,129 in U. S.

Church membership in the U. S. reached a new all-time high last year, setting a record figure of 92,277,129.

The new figures for 1952, revealed today by the National Council of Churches, indicate that 59 per cent of the American population belong to religious bodies. In 1940, only one out of two Americans had religious affiliation.

The statistics for 1952 represent a gain of 3,604,124 church members over the previous year, and an unprecedented growth rate of 4.1 per cent — outstripping the population increase by two and a half times.

In 1952 the number of local U. S. churches also reached a new peak of 285,277 as compared to 284,592, and the number of clergymen having charges rose from 181,123 to 183,899.

"Statistically there is one church for about every 325 members," stated Dr. Benson Y. Landis, associate director of the Council's department of research and survey. "But the ratio between clergymen and members is only one to every 500. This points up a continuing shortage of pastors and a lag in efforts to fill thousands of vacant pulpits."

Dr. Landis, editor of the National Council's Yearbook of American Churches — which is the only source of statistical data on all the nation's religious bodies — noted that the figures are based on information from 251 religious bodies.

The over-all 1952 gain in church membership twice that of the previous year, is partly attributable to greatly increased birth rates of the 1940's, Dr. Landis pointed out. "Other factors have been the widespread systematic evangelistic programs carried out by the churches and the generally felt need for guidance in times of international tension and upheaval."

Vatican Library Microfilm Work One-Sixth Done

(By Religious News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The project of microfilming 10 million manuscripts in the Vatican Library to make them available for American scholars is about one-sixth completed, it was reported here at the national convention of the Knights of Columbus, sponsors of the project.

The microfilming will cost about $250,000 and is expected to be completed in "several years," according to the Rev. Joseph P. Donnelly, S. J., St. Louis, Mo., director of libraries at St. Louis University, where the microfilms are being placed.

Father Donnelly, secretary of the Knights of Columbus Foundation, which is underwriting the project, showed color slides of some of the Vatican's illuminated manuscripts to the convention here.

Volunteers Building Church at Imlay City

The Golden Rule is being put in practice today in Imlay City, where Mexican Baptists are building a new church.

Ministers and laymen from Wayne Association are giving the day to assist in the building of this stone church. The committee in charge is headed by the Rev. Fred R. Tiffany of Pontiac, the Rev. Wendell Maloch of Walled Lake and the Rev. William Shaw of Ypsilanti.

The Rev. Charles Morse, pastor of the Novi church, is directing the voluntary company of workers. Ladies of the Mexican congregation will serve a Mexican dinner at noon.

Pastor's Son to Be Speaker on Sunday

Guest speaker at St. John Lutheran Church Sunday will be David Swanson of Flint. He is the son of the Rev. Raymond Swanson who organized St. John Church.

Swanson won the inter-collegiate oratorical contest in Illinois in 1953 and was a member of the champion debating team at Augustana College at Rock Island Ill.

The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, pastor of the church, is absent from the city, having been called to Creston, Iowa, due to criticial illness of his father.

City Congregation Lays New Church Cornerstone

One of the fastest growing congregations among the churches of Pontiac is the Pontiac Church of Christ, now located at E. Pike St. and Tasmania Ave. Three times in the past five years it has overflowed the capacity of the church.

First, the Church of Christ in Keego Harbor was formed from a nucleus of overflow membership, and a year ago the Rochester Church was started to take care of the same situation.

Three years ago, Walter E. Bankes, local minister, expressed the need for a new and large church building. Final plans were approved and work was started about Aug. 1.

The new church will seat approximately 650, with parking space for 160 automobiles. The church owns seven lots between Robinwood and Scottwood with three additional lots in the rear. The building will be of block and brick construction throughout, with modern design and an artistic front which will face on Scottwood avenue.

Twelve classrooms will be provided in the full basement of the 64x96-foot structure. The basement also houses a kitchen and utility room.

Officers' room and preacher's study will be on the first floor, where a nursery room, supplied with a loudspeaker, also is planned. A hot water sytem and an air conditioning unit are included in the plans.

The architect, Viner A. Rantanen of Detroit, designed the building for the greatest service at a cost of approximately $125,000. According to the Rev. Mr. Bankes, the public will not be asked to contribute.

The building committee includes Lewis Hatcher, I. J. Wilkins, Tommie Jones, Virgil McGlotlin, W. W. Largent, Richard Smith, George King and Charles Harrington.

On the finance committee are Argyll Allen, treasurer; the Rev. Walter E. Bankes, minister; I. J. Wilkins, elder; Gene Hatcher and W. J. Clark. The building foreman is E. C. Maynard.

An organization known as Railroad Evangelistic Association, Inc., provides spiritual activities for railroaders when they are away from home.

Special Meetings Planned by Church

For two weekends starting next Friday, special meetings will be held at Parkdale Church of the Nazarene. Services will be held for three days, through Sunday at 7:30 p. m. and at 10:45 on Sunday morning.

The pastor, the Rev. Wayne E. Welton, will preach. Special music for the first weekend will be by Ray Dafoe, minister of music at the South Flint Church of the Nazarene and Frank Fitzgerald of Olivet Nazarene College, Kankakee, Ill.

Plan Sunrise Service at State Fair Sunday

A sunrise service expected to draw more than 5,000 worshippers will be held at the Michigan State Fair this Sunday under the joint sponsorship of the Detroit Council of Churches and the State Fair Association.

Federal Judge Luther W. Youngdahl of Washington, D.C. will be the main speaker. Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, executive secretary of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan, will preside.

Dr. Robert M. Frehse, executive director of the Detroit Round Table of Catholics, Jews and Protestants, will lead prayers, and Dr. Frank P. Madsen, president of the Michigan Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, will read the Scripture lesson.

The invocation will be given by Dr. Samuel C. Weir, Moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of North America.

Pastor Returns to Local Pulpit

Dr. Andrew Creswell to Preach at Oakland United Presbyterian

For the first time since returning from a year's leave of absence, Dr. Andrew S. Creswell will be in his pulpit Sunday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. His subject will be "Strength Made Perfect Through Weakness."

On Oct. 1, Dr. Creswell will have completed 33 years as minister of the church.

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Garner, Mr. and and Mrs. Harry White and Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Baker will have charge of the service.

They will show slides and moving pictures of actual experiences which they will relate.

A recorded message by the late Dr Harry Ironside, "Charge That to My Account," will be heard.

A collection of stamps illustrating Bible stories has been presented to the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C. It was prepared by an insurance executive who spent 11 years on the project.

Terry Moore Thinks Monroe Challenge Done

By JAMES BACON

(For vacationing Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Terry Moore predicts no further challenge from Marilyn Monroe.

Terry, who competes quite handily with Marilyn in the sex appeal league, once said that the two could work happily under the same roof.

The shapely Miss Moore explained that her particular brand of sex flourishes best outdoors while Marilyn's was strictly the boudoir variety.

But that was before Monroe went to Canada to make her first outdoor film, "River of No Return."

Terry buttonholed me this week and her first words were:

"What did I tell you? They get Marilyn outdoors and the first thing she does is fall in a river, tear a couple ligaments and hold up production for 10 days. And comes home on crutches yet. Zanuck won't let her off the lot after this.

I've fallen off horses, crawled through snake-infested jungles, doused myself in the ocean and never even lost a fingernail."

Terry is working outdoors again with Tyrone Power in "King of the Khyber Rifles." After a career of wild adolescents, she is playing a bona fide lady for the first time.

"I'm so prim and proper and slay everybody with my veddy British accent. Of course, I have one scene where I go in Ty's bedroom wearing a nightgown but I knock first."

One of the more fascinating pastimes in Hollywood is watching the plight of the gossip columnists trying to keep up with Terry's romances.

What does she want in a man? Money? Looks?

"Money is unimportant. What does money do but give you independence? The next time I marry it will be in the temple the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints) where it is 'until death do us part.'

"Looks mean nothing. My next husband will be good and wholesome. I know that type usually is pretty dull but someday I'll find someone who is good and sophisticated, too."

Terry, the granddaughter of a Mormon bishop, avers she takes her religion seriously. Then, she adds:

10 Sabre Jets in Bendix Race

Pilots Trying to Break Cross Country Record, California to Dayton

EDWARDS, Calif. (AP)—Ten sleek Sabre jets were poised today to flash 1,900 miles through the skies to Dayton, Ohio, in the annual Bendix Trophy race.

The fleet F86 North American fighters were to whisk away at five-minute intervals from Edwards Air Force Base, starting about 6:15 a. m., Pacific Daylight Time.

* * *

Piloted by Air Force officers, all the jets are expected to reach the finish pylon at Dayton in slightly more than three hours. They will be striving to break the 1951 Bendix cross-country speed record set by Col. Keith K. Compton, who flew from Edwards to Detroit at an average speed of 552.86 miles an hour.

Some pilots will make one refueling stop, some two. Ground crews are prepared to refuel the ships and make minor repairs in three minutes.

* * *

The Bendix race is a feature of Dayton's national aircraft show, commemorating the 50th anniversary of power flight and Ohio's statehood sesquicentennial.

The pilots:

Capt. James S. Carson, 28, El Centro; Capt. John M. Fitzpatrick, 29, New York City and Dayton; Maj. James P. Hagerstrom, 32, Waterloo, Iowa; Maj. William J. Evans, 29, Norwich, Conn.; Lt. Col. Wintin M. Marshall, 34, Detroit; Maj. Stevens H. Turner, 36, Clinton, Mass.

Union Leader Gold Pleads 'Not Guilty'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ben Gold, president of the Independent Fur Workers union, pleaded innocent yesterday to an indictment charging he falsely swore he was not a Communist in an August, 1950 affidavit.

Federal District Court Judge Bolitha J. Laws set Nov. 16 for trial.

Gold was allowed to remain free under the $10,000 bond he posted after surrendering here last Monday.

The charges grew out of a statement Gold filed in 1950 with the National Labor Relations Board that he was not then a member of the Communist party, had no affiliation with the party, and did not support its policies. Gold, 54, used to be an avowed Communist, but said he severed his party ties before signing the non-Communist affidavit.

Gold's union, which claims 100,000 members, was expelled from the CIO in 1949 on charges of being Communist dominated.

Grader Kills Driver, 28

McGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N.J. (AP)—The operator of a motor scraper was killed yesterday as it struck a rut, pitched him over the hood and ran over him. He was Leon Arnold, 28, a construction worker of nearby Lakewood.

Graduating Nurses Party No Success

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was the end of the training grind for 40 graduating student nurses at suburban Abington Memorial Hospital. Some of them decided to blow off steam.

They gathered in the interns' quarters for a beer party.

Hospital officials weren't too pleased, especially since permission for the party had been denied by Director of Nursing Mabel Hausknect.

Yesterday, Executive Director Morris George announced that 29 student nurses were suspended. Later, executive members of the nursing committee held a session, dismissed charges against seven of the girls, but decided to hold up diplomas for the rest indefinitely.

The first census in the United States was taken in 1790.

Giants' Collapse Biggest Disappointment

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

For the experts one of the biggest disappointments of the 1953 baseball season has been the sad showing of the New York Giants.

The Giants, who won a host of new friends with their triumphant drive to the pennant in 1951, were picked as a solid third place entry with a good chance of nudging Philadelphia out of second. These judgments were given by men closely connected with the sport who watched the clubs during spring training.

At their present rate the Giants are going to be lucky to finish as high as fifth. They are 28 games behind league-leading Brooklyn, only 4½ in front of sixth place Cincinnati, and deteriorating rapidly.

* * *

Right from the start they have not looked good. Their supporters brushed aside the weak beginning with the excuse that teams managed by Leo Durocher are slow starters more often than not. Echoes of the Giants' victory song, which blared from every corner two years ago, were being heard again in July when the club finally edged into the first division.

But with August came the real breakdown. They have won only 13 games since Aug. 1 and they've lost 27.

Sal Maglie lost his touch, Monte Irvin was hurt, Hank Thompson was hurt, the pitching staff generally went to pieces. Al Worthington a pitcher the Giants had been warned wasn't ready for the majors, was brought up from Minneapolis in July. He broke in sensationally with two shutouts. Now he's lost six straight.

* * *

Worthington started last night against the Dodgers. He wasn't charged with the 8-6 loss but only because the Giants managed to tie the contest twice and then kick it away after he had departed.

The New Yorkers committed four glaring errors which gave Brooklyn five unearned runs.

* * *

The victory moved Brooklyn 10 games in front of the second place Milwaukee Braves, who bowed 4-1 to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox played a 6-6 tie in 11 innings with rain halting play and the St. Louis Browns clubbed the Detroit Tigers 14-6. Chicago's twilight-night twin bill at Cincinnati was washed out and the rest of the clubs weren't scheduled.

Double Reverse Surprises Browns, Gives Lions Tie

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP)—Sometimes it's good to do things in reverse. The Detroit Lions tried it Friday night and wound up with a 24-24 tie against the Cleveland Browns in their exhibition game in Briggs Stadium.

With three minutes to go, Browns held a 24-17 lead. Detroit was on Cleveland's 16-yard line and needed to pick up yardage—fast! A field goal wouldn't do, of course.

The key play came on second down. Quarterback Bobby Layne of the Lions handed off to Doak Walker on a reverse play. Walker then handed the ball to Gene Gedman, and the rookie halfback caught Cleveland with its defenses down and skirted left end to the three-yard line.

Lions were satisfied with the tie but they had a chance to win it in the last few seconds. Pat Harder aimed a field goal from the 29-yard line but it was partially blocked and fell far short of the crossbars.

In the first 16 minutes, Lions built a 14-0 lead and looked as though they would breeze to their fifth victory without a loss over the Brownies.

Detroit had scored in five plays, at 3:15, with Layne passing to end Leon Hart for five yards and a touchdown. Then, at 1:05 of the second period, Yale Lary picked off a blocked field goal attempt and raced 92 spectacular yards to score.

It was then quarterback Otto Graham got the Cleveland attack moving. Browns scored at 13:40 of the second period when Harry Jagade slipped off tackle for five yards.

The half ended 14-7.

In the third quarter, both teams, engaged in a punting duel before Browns started another sustained march, featuring ball control. This one went 80 yards in nine plays and was capped by Graham's 10-yard pass to Dante Lavelli. That tied it.

Just 34 seconds before the period ended, Pat Harder tried a field goal for the Lions from the 44-yard and the ball flew squarely between the posts and Detroit again had a lead, 17-14.

And, again, Browns bounced back. In the final period, Lou Groza tied it up with a 42-yard field goal and then, with six minutes to go, Graham again found Lavelli for another touchdown pass, this one for 28 yards.

Detroit took the kickoff and, showing why they're champions, marched 80 yards in 14 plays to tie the score.

BALL GETS AWAY—Harry Jagade, Cleveland Browns' back, circles his left end and fumbles as he is hit by Detroit Lions' Bob Smith in 1st period of Friday night's exhibition game in Detroit. Charles Ane (50), Lion center, caught the ball before it touched the ground, but was tackled before he could advance. Game ended in a 24-24 tie.

Jones Watches U.S. Cup Players Trounce British

Grand-Slammer Winces at Lop-Sided Wins in International Test

By BILL KING

MARION, Mass. (AP)—Under the exacting eyes of America's greatest amateur golfer the immortal Bobby Jones—his Walker Cup team successors seemed assured of wrapping up another victory over British golfers in their lop-sided series of international conquests today on Kittansett's narrow course.

Although he, too, twisted the British Lion's golfing tail, the Atlanta all-time sports hero actually winced yesterday as he viewed the opening day's slaughter.

American tandems, in 36-hole alternate-shot foursomes, piled up a 3-1 lead. Homebreds need only an even break in today's eight singles matches—also at 36 holes—to gain their 13th triumph in the 14 team competitions played since 1922.

Jones was enthusiastic about the golfers who chalked up the losers' lone victory.

They were John Morgan and Gerald Micklem, who prevented an American clean sweep by defeating Bill Campbell of Huntington W. Va. and Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City 4 and 3.

Harvie Ward of Atlanta, and national amateur champion Jack Westland, turned in an easy 9 and 8 victory over John Langley and Arthur Perowne.

Youngsters Sam Urzetta of Rochester N. Y., and Ken Venturi of San Francisco, bested Joe Carr of Dublin, British amateur champion and Ronald White 6 and 4.

State Committee to Study MHSAA Rules

LANSING (UP) — Rep. Harry Phillips (R-Port Huron) today called a meeting of the administrative rules committee for Sept. 16 to study a "harsh" rule that made nine high school athletes ineligible because they accepted merchandise awards.

Michigan's High School Athletic Association ruled the nine prep athletes ineligible for one year Aug. 20 after it was shown they accepted the awards.

Tigers Get Pitcher

LACKAWANNA, N. Y. (AP) — Signing of Nick Koleff, 19-year-old right handed pitcher, to a Detroit Tiger farm contact was announced here yesterday by scout Cy Williams. He said Koleff would report to the Jamestown club of the Class D Pony League.

Pontiac Horse in Rich Event

A Pontiac-owned racer was in the field at Chicago's rich Washington Park Futurity, today. In the entry list was Mark Leach's Greenacres Farm Mr. Prosecutor.

The horse is a bay son of Occupation-Unmash, who finished second to Hasty House's Hasty Road in the recent Arlington Futurity. Hasty Road and Sea O'Erin, Hasty House entries are favorites for today's race of 2-year olds. It will not be telecast or broadcast.

Eddie Arcaro was expected to be up on Hasty Road.

The rich race ($156,083) attracted an overnight field of 15. If all start the 6-furlong sprint winner's share will be $99,645, and second place $30,000.

Red Grange Welcomes Football Rules Change

By HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Red Grange, the Illinois football immortal, says he thinks he will enjoy the college football season this year for the first time in about a decade "now that they are playing the game again with players instead of machines."

Grange, in the city for a TV appearance, referred to the change in the ules which become effective in the rules which become effective system. Under the 1954 code a player may enter the contest only once in each quarter except for the final four minutes of the second and fourth periods when he may return to the game.

"Now we will have some real football players again. Some of those specialists of the past couple of years weren't even athletes, let alone football players," he said while discussing extra point kickers and punters.

Grange, whose fame came from his bewildering runs, said that he played either halfback positions when Illinois went on the defense some 30 years ago. "I loved it," he added. "I tried to figure out what the opposing quarterback would do and then try to smear the play."

* * *

Grange, one of a few players to make the All-America three consecutive years, now lives in Chicago.

'Death Warrant' for Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Hollywood Stars' days are numbered in the Pacific Coast League, president Bob Cobb says after receiving notification that the territorial agreement with the Los Angeles Angels may be terminated after 1957.

"I regard this latest turndown as the death warrant for the Coast League," Cobb said yesterday.

Munn Advances Training Slate

Cool Weather Gives Spartans Opportunity to Scrimmage Friday

EAST LANSING (AP)—Encouraged by cooling weather, coach Biggie Munn managed to move his Michigan State football practice schedule ahead a day.

Munn had said he wouldn't stage his first scrimmage until this afternoon. But yesterday, after most of the afternoon was spent indoors, he allowed a brief 15 minutes of contact work.

Coaches blew a fast whistle and no man worked for more than five minutes.

Two backs from the so-called "second team" — fullback Jerry Planutis and halfback Bert Zagers—made the best showing.

There were no injuries.

This afternoon, scrimmage time was to be extended to about half an hour.

Featherweights Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gene Smith and Bill Bossio, a pair of hungry featherweights, clash tonight in a nationally televised bout in which both men hope to emerge as a ranking challenger in the muddled 135-pound division. Smith is rated the favorite.

TV time for the 10-round bout is 8 p.m. (EST). Washington area will be blacked out.

Worsham Takes 2-Stroke Lead in Celebrities Test

By HERB ALTSHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)— If Lew Worsham can keep going the way he has of late, they'll have to carve a niche for him in golf's hall of fame right alongside the Joneses, Hagens and Hogans.

His round of 69 yesterday gave him a two-stroke lead in the National Celebrities Open.

Playing in his first tournament since his spectacular victory in the Tam O'Shanter championship event last month, Worsham had the big gallery applauding his textbook golf from start to finish.

Yesterday's round gave him a halfway mark of 137 — 7 under par.

Worsham wasn't the only eye-catcher. Bill Nary of Kansas City, broke the competitive course record at Woodmont by three strokes with a brilliant 64. He got home with one putt 10 times.

He wound up in a three-way tie for second at 139 with veterans Cary Middlecoff and Ted Kroll.

Main gallery attraction today is the foursome of vice president Nixon, comedian Bob Hope, Gen. Omar Bradley, former chairman of the joint chiefs of staff and John McClure, Washington attorney, a frequent golfing companion of President Eisenhower.

Four Different Squads Answer to New Ruling

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Jim Tatum's answer to the return to limited substitution is to make up what amounts to four different teams which should give you an idea of the amount of raw football material at Maryland.

"We have a pretty young ball club," says forthright Coach Tatum, "but we don't have the crying towel out."

Most of the youth is in the line. Development there probably will tell if Maryland can start another long winning streak which reached 19 last year before the final two games.

In the backfield, despite loss of All-America Jack Scarbath, Tatum doesn't seem to have a worry in the world for his seventh season at Maryland.

Bernie Faloney, proven veteran of two seasons, is ready to step in as a signal caller, passer, runner, punter and defensive halfback.

Perez Gains Victory but Almost Misses

NEW YORK (AP) — Lulu Perez had his 22nd straight victory to his credit today — an eight round technical knockout over Davey Gallardo — but No. 22 will be one he'll remember for a long time.

"It was my toughest fight," said the 20-year-old Brooklyn speed merchant. "Gallardo had me in plenty of trouble."

That was putting it mildly. Gallardo aborbed all Lulu had to offer in Madison Square Garden last night and almost pulled the fight out of the fire with rousing rallies.

But after the bell sounded to end the eighth round, Dr. Vincent Nardiello ordered referee Ruby Goldstein to stop the fight because of two deep and long cuts on Gallardo's left eyelid and brow.

Michigan State's all-time career scoring record is held by Lynn Chandnois who scored 31 touchdowns in four seasons of play.

Wolverine 11 Scrimmages; Coaches Watch Baldacci

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Professor Bennie Oosterbaan gave the first of three big exams to his University of Michigan Football squad here today.

With a week's practice work on their belts, the Wolverines staged a scrimmage on the practice field that was designed to start the "jelling" process that will lead to the opener here Sept. 26 against University of Washington.

On the results, the Michigan coach will begin to formulate the squad that will carry the load this falls. Boys who impress the staff today will probably see action in the fall campaign.

First and foremost, it will serve as a big test of Louis Baldacci, the Akron, O., sophomore who stands as the leading candidate to succeed quarterback Ted Topor, who graduated.

Offensively, Baldacci has demonstrated the finesse and leadership necessary to the job. Now the coaches want to see what he can do defensively, as a line-backer.

Also uppermost in Oosterbaan's mind is determination of Capt. Dick OShaughnessy's role in the coming campaign. Regular center last season, he may be shifted to guard on both defense and offense. Dean Ludwig, of Marion, O., and Jim Bates, of Farmington, loom as good center prospects and appear superior to O'Shaughnessy as line-backers, thus suggesting the switch.

Pontiac Entries Idle in State Tourneys

No Pontiac entries saw action Friday as state baseball and softball tournaments got under way at three sites.

Ortonville's opening game with Big Rapids in the American Baseball Congress' test at Battle Creek was rained out and will be played today.

Shaw's Jewelry, in the Michigan Softball Association Class A Men's meet at Escanaba, and General Motors' girls, in the MSA Class A Women's tourney at Coldwater, had 1st-round byes.

Jewlers meet Grand Rapids, 7-4 winner over Escanaba Friday, tonight at 9 a.m. GMC girls play their 1st game at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Miss Swaney 10th

Competing in the trick event of skiing championships at Toronto Ont., Friday, Miss Sanda Swaney, of Birmingham, finished 10th in the field of stars. The Oakland County girl is the current world women's water-ski jumping titleholder.

New Women's Titlist

Women's club championship at Bloomfield Hills was won by Mrs. L. J. Columbo Jr. Friday. She defeated Mrs. Hanley Dawson Jr., 1-up in an 18-hole finals match.

Indians Making Move

Tribe Repeating Strong Finish of 1952; Late Drive Complicates Winter Trades

by GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The worst thing that possibly could happen to the Cleveland Indians is happening—again. Manager Al Lopez' doughty warriors are making their move, just as they did about this time a year ago.

Students of the game will recall that during last September, after it had installed George Strickland at shortstop, the Tribe was the hottest thing in seven states. The Injuns closed with a terrific swoosh, and were breathing right down the Yankees' necks when they finally ran out of games.

* * *

They returned to their winter homes convinced that if they only had fired up a little earlier, or had been given the advantage of a slightly extended schedule they would have made heroes of themselves in the World Series.

Last spring, when the thought was expressed that the Indians might need a little chinking up here and there, the natural response was that they would be the same outfit which nearly ran down and trampled the Bombers, only perhaps a bit stronger.

For instance, they would have big Luke Easter and his powerful bat all the way, whereas the luscious one had been available only part time in '52. Also, the chances were good that Ray Boonewould would make a fine comeback at shortstop and jive up the batting attack.

So what happened? Well, the brittle and aging Luke had injury trouble almost from the start, and first thing you knew rookie named Bill Glynn was playing first regularly. Next came a wholesale swapping of lesser talent with Detroit, and Boone was gone. The Indians had dropped back well behind the fleet Chicago White Sox, a situation they appear now to be on the point of correcting.

Davis Cup Test Preview Is Seen in U.S. Nationals

Trabert and Rosewall, Seixas, Hoad Figure to Reach Semifinals

By WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP)—Unless a big, mustachioed Dane and a 39-year-old pappy from Florida gum up the works, the Labor Day weekend in the National tennis championships should produce an interesting preview of the Davis Cup challenge round.

* * *

The Dane is Kurt Nielsen, who opposes top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in one of the two remaining quarter-final matches today at the West Side Tennis Club. They last met in the Wimbledon final this summer and Seixas won in straight sets.

* * *

The Floridian is vitamin-gulping Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, who matches his tennis wizardry against one of Australia's 18-year-old whiz kids, Lewis Hoad.

Seixas and Hoad are favored. If they come through as anticipated, this is the intriguing lineup we'll have for Sunday's semi-finals:

Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, vs. Ken Rosewall, Australia.

Rosewall and Hoad are the two teen-age youngsters on whom Australia is counting to keep the Davis Cup which was won and defended so well by Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, now pros.

Seixas and Trabert are Uncle Sam's picks to bring the big international trophy back when the United States and Australia clash next December in Melbourne. The United States must still take Canada in the American zone finals next week, but it's regarded as routine.

* * *

Rosewall, the 138-pound all-court tactician who tops the foreign seeded list, and the crew-cut Trabert, No. 2 in domestic seeding, advanced to the semi-finals yesterday by devious routes.

Dalrymple Wins PGA Assistant Pro Test

Orchard Lake Country Club aide John Dalrymple fired two sub-par rounds at Glen Oaks Friday to win the 1953 Michigan PGA assistant pros tournament.

Dalrymple collected eigh birdies in posting 67-69—136 on the par 71 course. Ben Lula, of Tam O'Shanter, was runnerup with 79-69—140. Mac McElmurry, of Western, won the caddie-masters division with 73-74—147. Roy Beattie, Plum Hollow, was tops among the shot assistants with 75-81—156.

Reconsideration of Prep Ruling Sought

HASTINGS (AP) — Citizens here have signed formal petitions asking reconsideration of the suspension of six high school athletes by the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Petitions were delivered to Lt. Gov. Clarence A. Reid in Lansing yesterday for presentation at a Sept. 16 meeting of the joint committee on administration of rules of the MHSAA.

Four Feature Races

DETROIT (AP) — Four feature races, headed by the $10,000 Labor Day Handicap, will highlight Monday's nine race program at Hazel Park. Eleven horses have been nominated for the handicap.

More Toledo Victories

DETROIT (AP)—The Sander Hills stable of Toledo, O., continued its winning ways at Wolverine Harness raceway Friday night. Skaal, in the fourth race, and Nancy Song, in the first dash of the feature trot, posted two more wins for the stable.

Duke University quarterbacks Worth Lutz and Jerry Barger, battling for the first string job in the Blue Devil backfield, are cousins.

Iceberg Seeks to Repeat '52 Publinx Honors

Defending champion Roy Iceberg faces stiff challenges from a field of 125 golfers today as he seeks to repeat as Michigan Publinx champion.

State tourney got underway early this morning at the Highland Country and Golf Club. An 18-hole qualifying round is scheduled today, with the low players and ties moving into Sunday's 36-hole windup.

Only golfer ever to win the Publinx title two years in a row was Ziggy Zawadski, who turned the trick in 1939 and 1940.

Slo-Mo Among Craft in Labor Day Event; Canada Has Entry

DETROIT (AP) — Six of the world's fastest hydroplanes were announced today as virtually certain starters in Detroit's Labor Day Silver Cup speedboat regatta.

Favored as a likely winner — barring mishap — is Stan Sayres Slo Mo Shun V, of Seattle, which reportedly "cruises" at around 150 miles an hour. The craft will be driven by Lou Fageol, Kent, O., motor manufacturer, who was driving it at Seattle last August when it cracked up and sank on Lake Washington.

In a preliminary test run here Fageol said he had the boat doing 150 miles with still something left.

Four Detroit boats and one Canadian craft make up the remainder of the Silver Cup contenders. Detroit has Jack Schafer's Such Crust III and Such Crust V, the Gale II and Miss Great Lakes.

Canadian entry is Miss Supertest, of London, Ont., owned by James G. Thompson and to be piloted by Bill Braden, of Hamilton, Ont.

Burkemo Down List

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Burkemo, PGA champion from Franklin Hills (Pontiac, Mich.) was among the 60 golfers who qualified for the final rounds of the National Celebrities Open Golf tournament. But Burkemo, with 149 for the first two rounds, was far off the pace.

Burkemo had a 74 on his first round and a 75 on his second.

Brownies Slice Detroit's Edge to Three Games

Hosts Clobber Tigers for 14-6 Win; Wertz Hits Grand-Slammer

ST. LOUIS (AP)— St. Louis Browns belting in 10 runs in the fifth inning, whipped Detroit, 14-6, here last night and trimmed the seventh-place advantage of the Tigers to a slim three games.

Vic Wertz clouted a grand-slam homer for the Browns in their big inning. It was Wertz' 18th round-tripper of the season and the 100th for the Browns.

When Browns broke loose against Al Aber, Detroit was leading 3-2. Tigers picked up two in the third, one on Don Lund's ninth homer of the year and the other on Harvey Kuenn's single and Ray Boone's looping single to left.

Kuenn's walk, Fred Hatfield's double and Boone's grounder brought another marker in the top of the fifth.

Then the Browns clobbered Aber, handing him his fourth loss against as many wins. They got 10 runs, nine hits and had three men aboard when reliefer Rae Scarborough finally got them out.

Detroit got one back in the sixth.

St. Louis whacked Bill Weik, who followed Scarborough for two more in the bottom of the sixth.

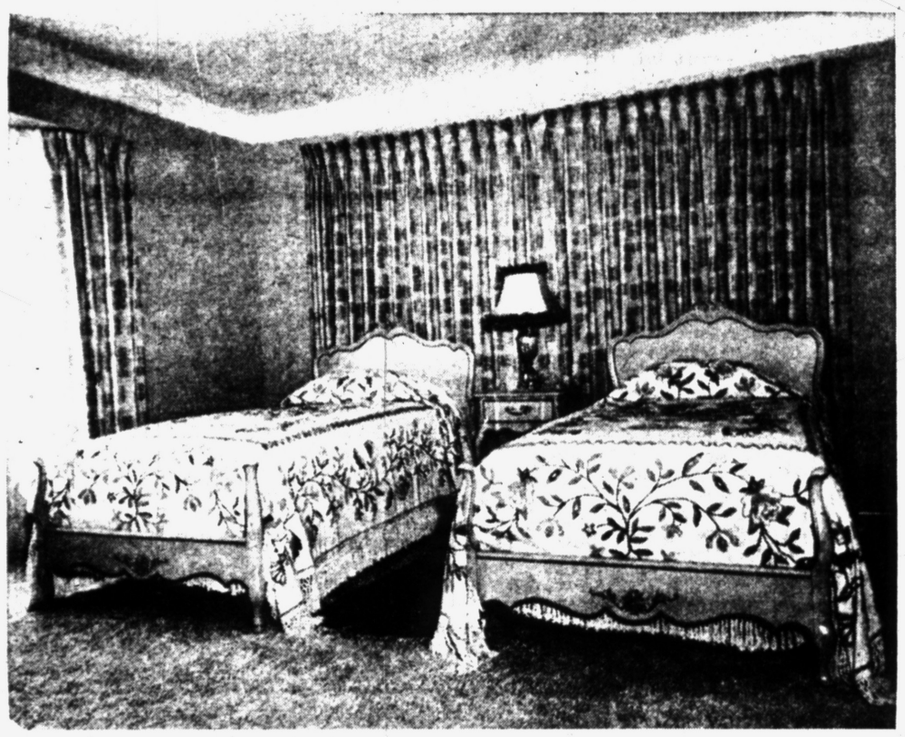
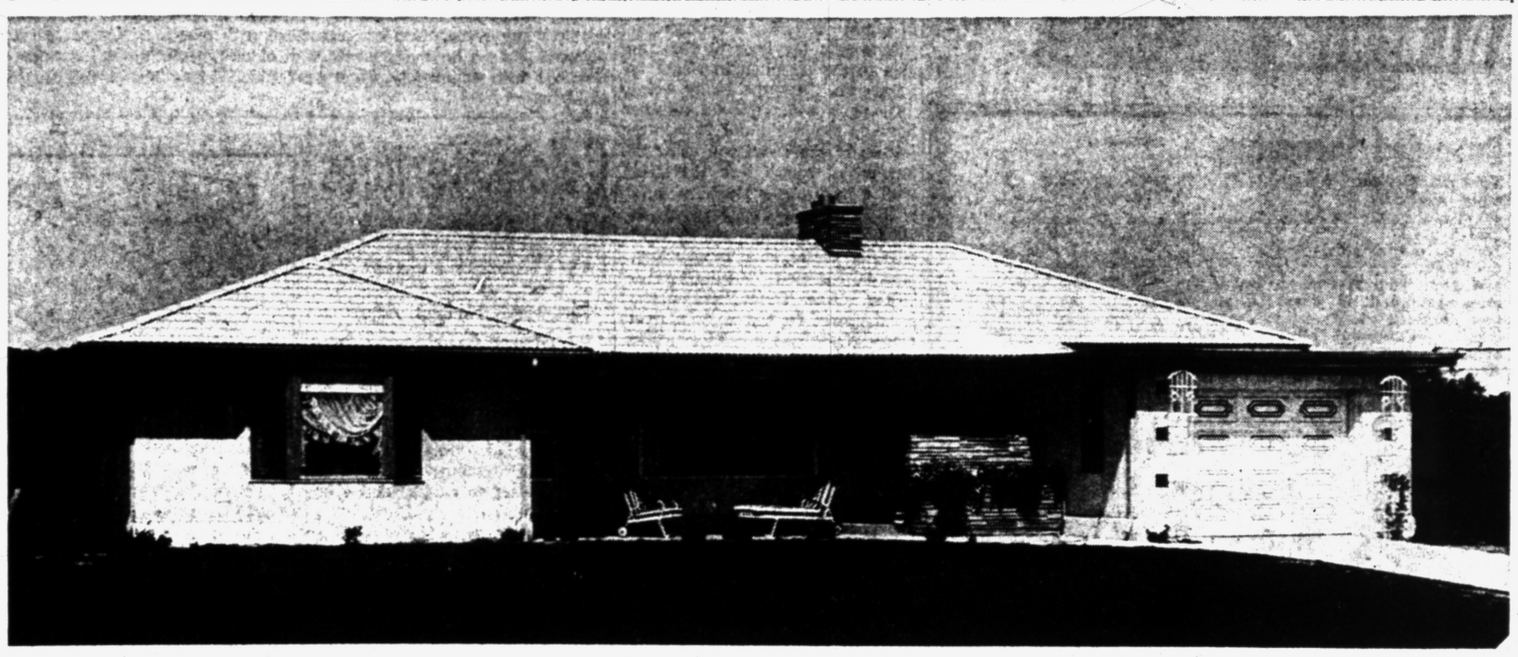
THE PONTIAC PRESS

PONTIAC, MICHIGAN SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1953

background for LIVING



FRENCH PROVINCIAL — A pair of twin Pennsylvania Dutch needletuft spreads with eggshell background provide conversation pieces for the white French Provincial furnishings of the C. B. Hampshire master bedroom. T in beds have a matching twin chest, and a deep purple velvet chair adds another interesting color note to this room. Eggshell cotton carpeting covers the floor.



COUNTRY HOME OF CRETE — The C. B. Hampshires of 6323 Middle Lake Rd., Clarkston, chose modern crete for the exterior finish of their new home. Placed side by side in vertical position, crete is a concrete product with a smooth-as-glass finish. It invites paint and keeps its paint jobs longer than ordinary concrete building materials. The Hampshires selected ledgerock for a center panel and this, built horizontally, breaks the vertical lines of the crete. Soft salmon color is used on garage door trim and relieves the white of the rest of the one-story contemporary home.

List Six Rules for Brush Care

Good Painting Depends Upon Equipment Used for Job

If you want to get best results from your home painting — take good care of your paint brush, or brushes. That is the advice of paint brush manufacturers who say there are six elementary rules all paint brush users should remember.

The first three are "Don'ts":

1. Don't ever leave the brush in water.
2. Don't ever stand the brush on the bristle end.
3. Don't ever allow any paint product to harden in the brush.

And next are three "Do's":

1. Do clean your brush promptly after use — with the proper thinner for the paint product used.

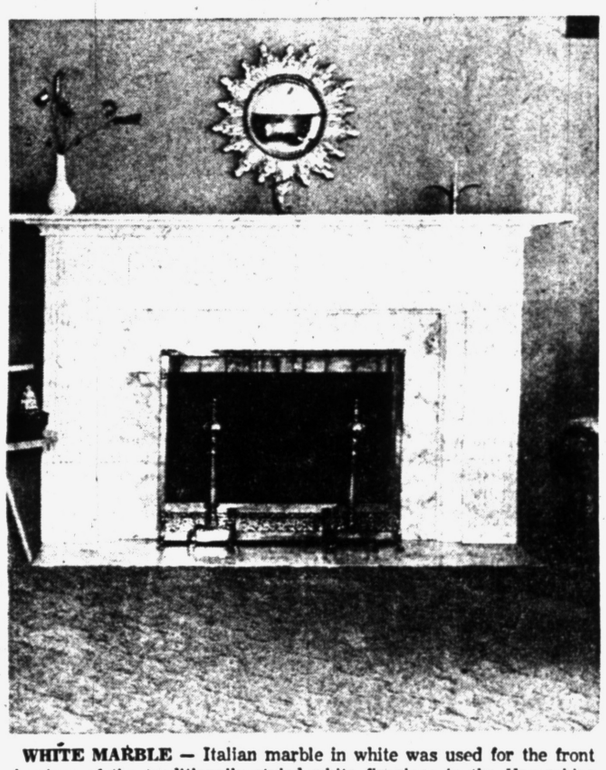
2. Do follow with a gentle wash in mild soap suds and water, and a rinse in clear water.

3. Do comb or brush the bristle straight, wrap carefully and permit it to dry without disturbing or bending the bristle.

Even the best painter cannot do high quality work if his brushes have deteriorated for lack of proper care.

New Ceiling Equipped to Control Heat, Sound

Ceilings that heat, cool, and control sound have been introduced to home builders recently. The material used is aluminum coils through which flows hot or cold water to provide either radiant or cooling; and also clinging to the ceiling is an acoustithermal blanket made of glass fibre for absorbing sound.



WHITE MARBLE — Italian marble in white was used for the front is piece of the traditionally styled white fireplace in the Hampshire living room. A Swedish sunburst mirror and several Swedish brass accessories complement this plain white facility.

Wood Paneled Room Proves Sales Aid

Wood fanciers maintain that wood has a sales psychology all its own. They cite the case of two almost identical homes sold by their owners at the same time on Chicago's North Shore.

The only difference between the two houses was that one had hardwood plywood paneling in the living room and the other didn't.

The house with the paneling brought $2,500 more. The paneling cost $500.

Ceiling Beams Popular

Plank and beam construction is gaining popularity in both residential and apartment construction. The exposed planking and beams form an attractive ceiling and, at the same time, serve as subflooring for rooms above, or as roof decking.

Sweep Varnished Floor

Varnished floors should not be washed with water. Sweep with a hair brush and every two to four weeks use a lightly oiled mop. Scratches can be obliterated by dropping turpentine into them and rubbing gently.

Trundle Beds Adapted to Fit Modern Home

A new version of an old idea makes interesting news in the home furnishing field.

The trundle bed of colonial days has been adapted into a modern version bunk-bed set by a furniture company. The unit includes two twin size beds, a three-drawer chest, a ladder and guard rail.

These may be arranged in a vertical manner for the trundle or bunk-bed effect, or he pieces may be re-arranged to make two complete separate twin beds and chest, a ladder and guard rail.

The wood is hard rock northern maple stock in two finishes, and the price is under two hundred dollars.

Architects Plan Detroit Meeting

Regional Conference on Sept. 18-19 Will Include Four States

William C. Zimmerman, Pontiac architect, today announced that architects from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky will hold their American Institute of Architects' Great Lakes Regional Conference in Detroit Sept. 18 and 19.

Raymond S. Kastendieck of Gary, Ind., newly-elected regional director, will preside, said Mr. Zimmerman.

Guest speaker will be Harvey Campbell, executive vice president of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Your Neighbor's House

American, Foreign Flavors Pervade Clarkston Home

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

Although international flavor has been added to the interior decor of the new Clyde B. Hampshire home in Clarkston, the exterior design and construction materials boast exclusively of this nation.

From Florida came the idea for the life-time white tile roof.

Exterior is built of modern crete, a rather recent innovation in the building material field.

Borrowing its name from the island of Crete, famous for generations of skilled stonemasons, it is a house-height section of concrete block with a very smooth surface. Crete has an affinity for paint and paint jobs are reported to last longer than on other types of concrete materials.

To break the all-vertical lines of the crete, the Hampshires chose a mid-section panel of Tennessee ledgerock. The horizontal position of this rock complements the crete lines.

Pale salmon picked up from the rock is used for trim and overhangs.

Floor plan drawn by the Hampshires has a 27x17-foot living room, a dining room combination kitchen and dinette area, two bedrooms and bath, plus a utility room and garage with workshop area.

Now in the finishing stages is the activity room with three glass walls overlooking Deer Lake and a deep ravine back of the Hampshires' home.

Artisans from Sweden, Italy, France, Spain and China have contributed to Mrs. Hampshire's interior furnishings decor.

Inlaid woods from Spain form the dining room suite which, according to Mrs. Hampshire, never gets anything but a soap and water bath and plenty of soft-cloth rubbing to restore natural finish.

"I don't believe in furniture polishes. They check good wood finishes and eventually ruin them," she said.

French prints are used on the living room walls which are painted cafe au lait.

* * *

All birch woodwork is used throughout the house, with everything from the kitchen cupboards to the spacious closets finished in this natural grained wood given five-time finishing treatments by Mr. Hampshire.

Interesting window treatment in the living room has one window group covered in pale turquoise silk filament draperies. In place of the usual pinch-pleat tops, a three-way shirring tops the entire set of windows. These are shot with metallic threads.

Draperies for the other windows are backgrounded in cameo and have Chinese flower and tree motifs in brown and deep turquoise.

A Katherine Henrich Chinese bachelor's chest and circular coffee table are used in this room. Finished in ebony, they are grouped with velveteen armchairs in a soft brown.

Master bedroom is furnished in white French provincial. The twin beds are covered in Pennsylvania Dutch needletuft spreads with an eggshell background. This same color is used in the cotton carpeting, and the draperies are in celedon with gold.

All rounding corners are used, eliminating necessity for window sills.

Bathroom has ceramic tile on floor and walls, with pink, oatmeal and black forming the color scheme.

Kitchen of the Hampshire home is in sandalwood with a new type vinyl floor which requires no mastic on top of the concrete floor.

Resilient, the flooring is nonporous and stain-proof and requires no waxing. One-quarter inch thick, it can be taken up for changing of floor design.

"We have found that it really takes five years to get a house the way you want it when completed," said Mrs. Hampshire, who added that they have enjoyed doing their own finishing.

A deep embankment in the back will house a concrete storage room for lawn mowers and other tools, she said.

Give House New Sparkle by Resurfacing Exterior

Gable ends, soffits, breezeway ceilings and eaves are the accent spots in your home. They lend sparkle and freshness to the exterior of the house.

By resurfacing these sections you can do a remarkable facelifting job on the house at very little cost. There are a variety of materials to choose from including many composition panels but of them all, fir plywood is one of the most adaptable, economical quality siding materials open to you.

With it, boxing an eave is a simple matter. A flush plywood surface on the gable-end lends variety to the siding style.

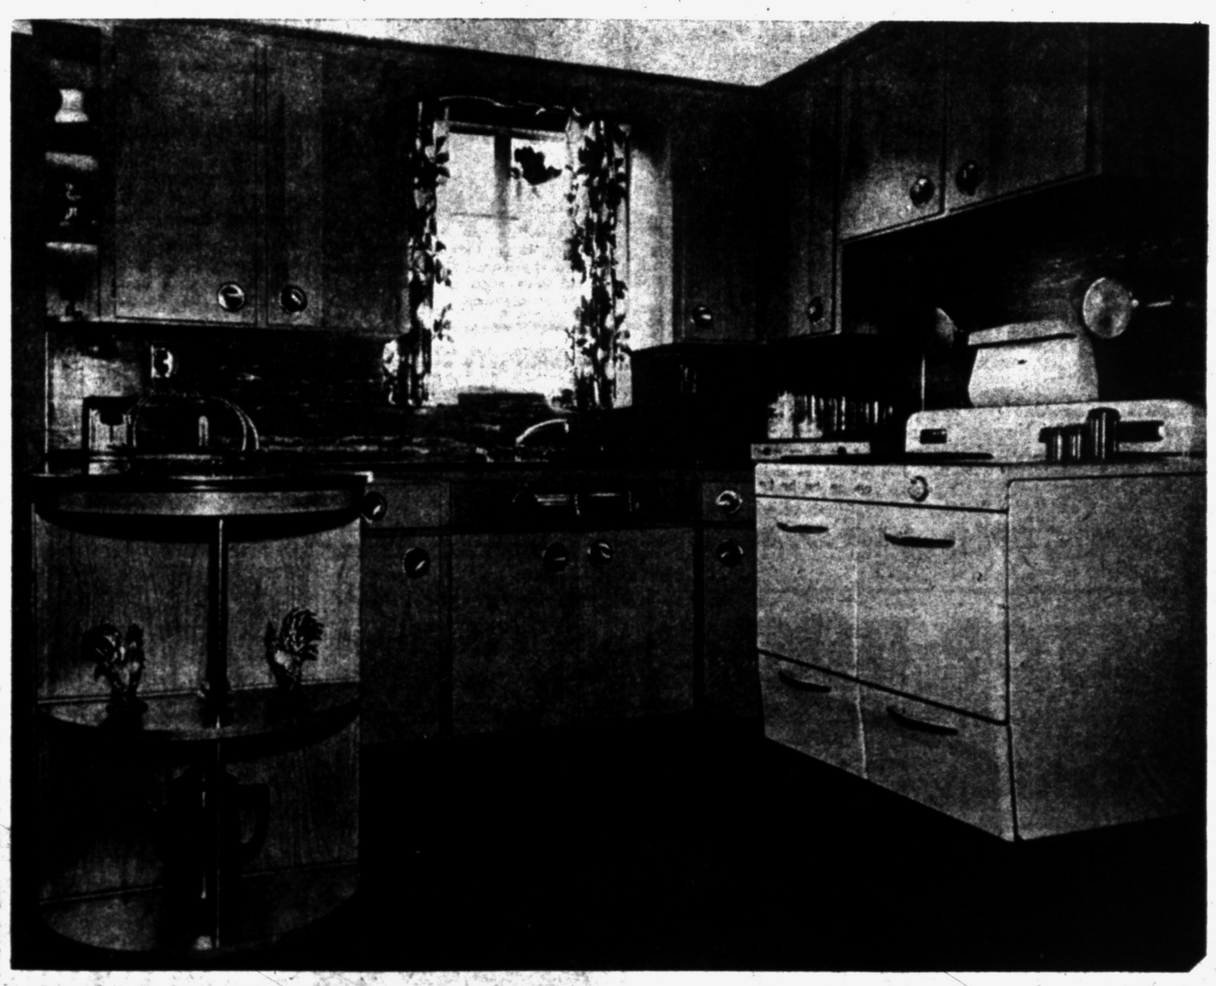
And you can nail a smooth plywood breezeway ceiling into place in nothing flat. In jobs like this, be sure to get only exterior fir plywood with waterproof glue.

If your house is looking old or somewhat ramshackle, don't overlook the possibility of a re-siding job outside. Plywood is one of the few siding materials that you can nail on right over your old wall surfaces.

There are a number of effects you can achieve with this panel material. One is a board and batten style with flat battens nailed over panel joints and in the centers 2 feet apart.

Half round moldings can also be attractive. But one of the most striking treatments open to you is wide-lapped plywood siding.

LIVING ROOM—Gossamer sheer silk window curtains in pale turquoise form a backdrop for the Chinese bachelor's chest in ebony. Mrs. Hampshire selected a large circular coffee table in the same Chinese design to accompany this furniture grouping in their living room. Embossed carpeting covers this floor in a soft beige tone. Walls are painted cafe au lait.



HAND-RUBBED BIRCH KITCHEN — Five separate and successive finishing jobs went into the completion of the birch wood used throughout the Hampshire house. Bleaching and hand-rubbing produced a soft silver beige tone. Brass hardware is used on these cupboards.

Jack Posts Fix Sagging Floors

Steel Supports Can Be Obtained From Most Hardware Stores

Sagging floors often are caused by joists that are too light for the length of their span. Sometimes shrinkage of a wood girder or settlement of foundations or footings under a pier or column supporting a girder will cause a floor to sag.

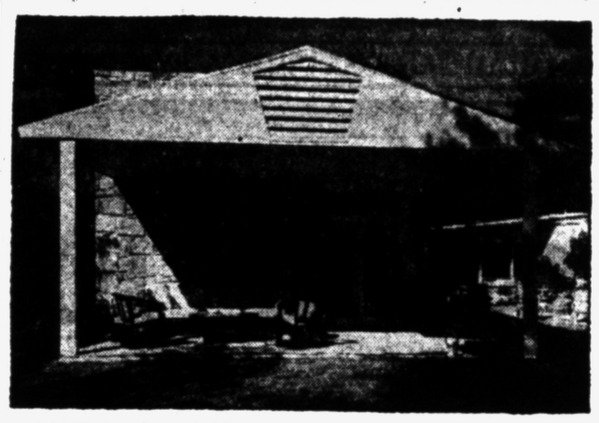
You can determine the amount of sag by stretching a strong string taut across the floor at right angles to the direction in which the joists run. Tack the string tightly near each wall and the distance between the string and floor in the middle of the room will show the amount of sag. Check the string with a carpenter's level.

Jack posts are used to correct this. These posts, made of steel with a screw jack in one end, can be obtained from most hardware stores. The bottom of the post should be placed on a firm footing, such as a solid concrete basement floor or a masonry footing built in an excavated area.

Balance a strong beam, sturdy enough to carry the load and support the joists, on top of the jack post at right angles to the joists. Screw the post up until the sag shown by the taut string is eliminated. The jack post can be left in place to serve as a column, or replaced by a permanent post. In the latter case the jack post is used just far enough off center to allow for the installation of the permanent post in dead center.

Screen Repairs Easy

Screens can be patched by trimming the edges of a hole to a rough square. Cut a piece of new wire cloth large enough to overlap the edges of the hole by about an inch on all sides.



ACCENT SPOTS—Gable-ends, soffits and breezeways are the accent spots in any home. You can resurface with exterior plywood. Flush plywood surface contrasts nicely with other types of siding, is manufactured with completely waterproof glue. Photo shows the House of Ideas.

Colors, Textures Now Different

New Materials Appeal to Many Contemporary Home Owners

New drapery and slipcover fabrics make a strong pitch to contemporary home owners with such decorating problems as too much window glass to curtain and open floor plans.

Reversible prints, correlated patterns, colors and textures designed to avoid monotony are aimed to help solve these problems.

Those who live in older homes benefit too. Fabrics and motifs are adaptable. Some of the most handsome are priced for the "mass" market.

One of the most interesting fabrics to be seen is the reversible print on washable, pre-shrunk cotton. The cloth is roller-printed simultaneously on each side in perfect color register.

Used to curtain a window, the fabric will present as colorful a face to the street side as it does to the inside. Five patterns ranging from modern abstract to traditional scenic will be available.

Rambler or ranch houses, with open floor plans blending one living area into another, sparked another collection of sailcloth and bark cloth patterns.

With the correlated designs and colors, you can cling to a basic color scheme throughout the house — even to a zoo train motif for Johnny's room.

One of the designs, which looks like pea pods shows up printed in reverse colors on a semisheer rayon casement cloth. Colors are muted for the most part and motifs are neat and sharply defined.

Close harmony in another firm teams printed patterns on semi-sheer casement cloths with matching patterns on heavy sailcloth. These can be used as side drapes or slipcover material.

The sheers have soft pastel backgrounds, including a delicate watery green, as well as white.

Nothing muted or delicate about colors used in another new, textured, drapery cloth. The brightest plaid was woven of solution-dyed acetate and flashed a brilliant red, kelly green and chrome yellow, cut with a modicum of black.

Aluminum foil coats the back of a glazed cotton chinz to double as self-liner and insulator when the chintz is made up into draw draperies. The patterns are pleasantly floral.

The material would not only look well at a window but would serve to cut down excessive drafts or screen a room from excessive amounts of burning sun.

Sand Box-Pool Makes for Fun

Top Easily Removed by Releasing Screws at Each Side

Either solid stock or marine plywood may be used for the bottom and sides of this combination sand box and wading pool. Youngsters are delighted with the jolly whale at each end, for which tracing outlines and color chart are given on the pattern.

A feature of this design is that the top may be raised and lowered by simply releasing the thumb screws. It is wise to keep birds out of the sand box and stray dogs out of the pool on hot afternoons when junior is taking his nap.

Everything is complete on pattern 306, price 25 cents. Include 2 cents for first class mail or 5 cents extra for air mail. Patterns are mailed day order is received. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Blond TV Cabinets Grow in Popularity

NEW YORK (AP)—A television cabinet designer says there's a growing trend toward blond TV cabinets.

Herbert Rosengren says the national trend in new cabinets seems to be for blond wood in modern design, although period designs still are in great demand.

Rosengren said the trend to modern is more marked on the East and West coasts, while period cabinets are popular in the Midwest and deep South.

Blond is a demand finish in California and New York City, while Texans go for big, rangy TV cabinet styles.

Footings Under House Are Real Foundation

The footings on which a house, porch or terrace stands are the real foundation. They should be deep enough to be below the frost level to guard against the upward thrust of frost.

Clean Furniture With Soapy Rag and Damp Cloth

Furniture kept clean lasts longer. Wood surfaces should be dusted daily with soft fabrics—old silk, cheesecloth or treated polishing mitten—to bring up the luster as you dust.

Soiled wood can be cleaned with a soft cloth moistened in lukewarm water. Put mild soap chips on the cloth and fold it over to make a pad with the soap inside.

The lather will remove dirt and fingerprints. Wipe clean with another damp cloth, dry and polish in the direction of the grain of the wood.

Cement Available in Variety of Hues

Special cement for stucco is usually available in pure white and various colors.

If you can't obtain the color you want, use the white cement and add the following for colors: burnt umber or brown oxide of iron for brown; ochre or yellow oxide of iron for buff; chromium oxide for green.

Addition of small quantities of yellow or red oxide of iron will alter those colors to suit, while red oxide of iron is used for pink and rose. Those mineral pigments will not fade.

Comfortable and Colorful; Two Rules for Good Taste

NEW YORK (INS)—This is one year when a housewife can keep right up with furniture trends without sinking the budget.

It's not necessary to buy a houseful of furniture in order to have the latest decor.

You can bring the house up-to-date with color — and color is something that can be applied with paint and fabric.

If the colors you choose are the latest high-style colors, you'll probably have white walls, charcoal upholstery, coral or blue pillows and a generous sprinkling of yellow, black and metallic accents.

On the other hand, if you like brown, green or purple, these will be equally correct. The decorators agree that any favorite color can be stylish if used in a monochromatic scheme: varying tints of the same color, with contrasting colors used only as accents.

Even in furniture, you can do pretty well what you please.

One of the big trends noted at the recent furniture markets across the country was the blending of contemporary and traditional.

Furniture took on a traditional look but used every convenient contemporary feature like easy-to-clean plastic tops and bases up on legs instead of flush to the ground for simpler carpet-sweeping.

The new furniture generally does more than one job. Cocktail tables turn into dining tables, desks become room dividers, sofas turn into over-size beds.

But even the double-duty items showed a blending of design. Aside from severe modern, or definite Provincial, the new furniture takes the best features of all periods and looks well in any setting.

That's good news for housewives who have a modern desk and an early American chair in the same room. It's now modish to mix different periods — always provided they aren't too different — by using identical colors, similar wood tones, or the same upholstery fabric to blend in the pieces.

Plastics have become socially acceptable and can be used in living rooms as well as kitchens.

Average Wife Washes Acre of Dishes Yearly

The importance of hot water in the home is pointed up by the fact that cold water is rated from two to 20 times less efficient for cleaning purposes.

It has been estimated that the average housewife each year washes 5,000 square feet of window glass, five square miles of floors and floor coverings, and an acre of dishes.

About one-half the families in the U. S. own their homes.

Heat Varies Little

Tests conducted in rooms heated by new baseboard convector units show only 2 to 5 degrees temperature difference between floor and ceiling. This contrasts to a difference of 10 to 20 degrees between floor and ceiling in rooms heated by old-fashioned cast-iron units.

Biggest dollar volume of home improvement loans insured by FHA last year was for additions and alterations. But the greatest number of loans were for insulation work.

Nature Alone Able to Produce Wood

Most Americans live in houses made of a material that has never been invented.

Fortunately nature, aided by man, provides it in abundance in this country and so it does not matter too much that laboratory attempts to duplicate its many qualities have not succeeded.

The material is wood, of course. And the fact that it has been a product of such long and accepted use means that many homeowners and home planners may have actually lost familiarity with its properties and merits.

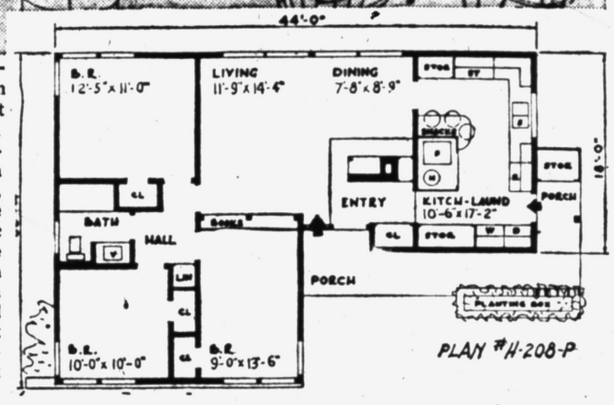
SMARTNESS AND ECONOMY—Envisioned in this modern design of a house that needs no basement is smartness and economy. Although there are three bedrooms, a large living-dining room and combination kitchen-laundry, the house covers only 1,059 square feet and contains only 10,618 cubic feet-figures that largely determine building cost. Interior sketch shows the living-dining room from its garden side looking toward the corner fireplace and front door. This is Plan H-208-P by the Homegraf Company, 11711 East Eight Mile road, East Detroit. (Further information and blueprints from architect.)



The first factory in the United States devoted exclusively to the manufacture of machinists' tools was established in Nashua, N. H., in 1838. John H. Gage set it up at the Nashua Manufacturing Co.

Older Group Buying Homes

Survey Says Demand Great Despite Some Who Are Pessimistic

WASHINGTON (INS)—A survey taken just after President Eisenhower's inauguration shows the demand for homes is greater than it has been in the past two years—a sharp contrast with the pessimism expressed by some industry men.

Sponsored by the Federal Reserve Board and conducted by the University of Michigan, the survey indicates that Americans planned to buy 2.8 million homes, including 1.8 million new houses, in 1953.

This is slightly higher than the 2.7 million estimated for the record year of 1950, but three years ago families bought a greater number of new houses than they did older dwellings.

Whether industry plans have changed in recent months is not known, but home building is still running ahead of 1952 with prospects good for construction of more than a million homes.

Most prospective buyers, according to the survey, expected to pay 1952 prices for their homes this year but, for various reasons, the median planned expenditure rose from $9,500 last year to $9,900 in 1953.

The survey also showed that newlyweds under 25 years of age are buying fewer houses while home ownership among older folks is steadily rising.

Five years ago, nearly one-quarter of the younger married couples owned their homes while in early 1953 the figure had dropped to 14 per cent.

Mortgage money shortages coupled with the declining number of veterans under 25 and using the GI bill may be responsible for the drop.

On the other hand, almost 7 out of every 10 married persons over 65 owned their homes in early 1953. This was five per cent more than the number reported in 1948.

The Reserve Board comments that 6 out of every 10 home buyers this year will be married couples under 45 with veterans showing "more interest in the housing market than non-veterans."

Rents and the number of families living in apartments are also rising. The Board says 17 million American families were paying an average rent of $33 a month in 1948 but early this year 19 million families were spending an average $47 a month. Further increases are likely.

Regarding maintenace expenses, the board says 12 million home owners spent at least $50 on their houses last year and about one-third of these spent $500 or more. This market is expected to continue strong this year.

Successful Home Decor Depends on Color Choice

One out of every two people says that color is the biggest problem in decoration.

It may be that a homemaker likes a certain color but lacks the knowledge of how to use it or what colors to put with it. Or it may be impossible to find fabrics or carpets in the right color. But once the problem is solved, color can be the key to successful decoration.

It can be used to play up the good points of a room, or disguise its poor features. A family of colors actually can create unity in a room.

The use of garden colors in a house can make the boundary between indoors and outdoors almost imperceptible.

The 1954 palette is composed of 29 different colors 14 are called current colors because they are the colors in current demand; 15 are decorator colors, indicative of emerging trends in colors. The palette is no arbitrary set of colors which most people want.

Chairs ranging from Hitchcocks to new plastic shells, are taking to these colors, in bold and soft-spoken hues. Color is applied to the chairs by brush, spray, or electronically molded in.

Manufacturers of furnishings for the bedroom and bathroom are making it easy for the homemaker to coordinate the colors in the two rooms. For the bath, there are now bathtubs, bowls, basins, towels, plastic shower curtains, and sponges in colors that blend with bedroom sheets and blankets.

Bedroom furniture (chests, beds, tables, chairs) comes painted or lacquered making it possible to maintain the sense of color harmony down to the last detail.

Even leather is changing color and becoming a more versatile decorating material than ever before Because of new dyeing methods, practical top leather can be had in any color.

Today's decorators use leather as a whole background for a room, "papering" a wall; or as a rug, serving as a foil for a marbelized floor.

When leather is used for accents, it may be mixed with nubby fabrics and set off by gleaming brass legs of contemporary furniture for an interesting counterplay of textures. Like the superb marquetry of 18th-Century furniture, it is inlaid into table tops or on the drawers of chests.

Modern Draft Stops Smoking From Fireplace

Pleasant news for homebuilders is a modern draft built into the fireplace and designed to eliminate smoke, to start the fire quickly, and to supply 80 per cent of the necessary draft that is normally pulled into a room as cold air from the outside.

The concealed draft slot is located at the front of the fireplace and keeps a clean line between the hearth and the fireplace proper.

The draft can be adjusted, the producing company states, so that any desired amount of heat may be obtained; while a fixed "curtain of air" is directed up the chimney, keeping the smoke to the back. It is engineered so that heat may be held in the room even with the damper open.

New Unit Ventilates Wall of Glass Block

A unit to give controlled, all-weather ventilation in a solid glass block wall is now available.

Since the unit is made in the three standard sizes of glass block and is simple to install, the producer points out that it may be used either in old or new construction.

The outside face consists of thick glass light diffusers, set at an angle to allow the passage of air, without causing drafts. Inside the unit is a fine mesh wire screen to retard dirt and insects, while on the inside face are two heavy glass louvers which may be adjusted to any angle, up or down, easily.

Casement Windows Now Come in Wood

The conventional double-hung window is still the most widely used, but there is increasing use of casement wood windows and those of the horizontally sliding type.

Many other types are available, too, for the home planner's individual requirements. A great variety of choice in wood windows is now possible in every locality of the country through local lumber dealers.

Check Protection for Water Vapor

Damp basements, porous foundation walls and floors — as well as crawl spaces — all may be sources of water vapor which eventually finds its way into exterior walls or into living quarters where it increases the indoor relative humidity in winter.

In finding its way to the outside, the moisture-laden air of the basement takes the path of least resistance.

Sometimes this may lead into the stud spaces of exposed walls and may even pass through wooden sill construction and fire stops.

Since the vapor enters from the bottom of the stud space, it is extremely important to make sure that your home has adequate vapor barrier protection to safeguard it against the destructive force of invading moisture.

It is estimated there will be 30 million televisoin receiving sets in the U. S. by the end of 1953.

WINDOW DRESSING—Bedroom drama (top left) is achieved by combining plain curtains in ripple fashion with contrasting draped dotted marquisette; (top right) cottage style curtains in tailored style are trimmed with eyelet border; (bottom left) picure window is curtain arrangement of two-tiered short curtains, sides having full length curtain of same or contrasting material; (bottom right) French doors get a new outlook by combining dotted curtains straight over sashes with a single-width plain marquisette curtain at the outward opening of the door.

Stumped About Curtains? A Solution Can Be Found

Ah. windows! Women and windows have affinity for each other. Women love to peer out of them, dress them up and even be peeked at from the outside looking in.

Modern windows, however, present a few problems — how to dress up those nice big picture, bay or terrace-type outlooks. Or in the case of a conventional narrow-style, how to employ a wee bit of ingenuity to fit them in a modern picture.

Whatever the curtain problem — there is a solution. You can camouflage windows to look dainty or give the illusion of massiveness — all with curtains.

These suggestions offered by curtain experts should help you in your quest for sunshine or shade or just plain beauty at your windows:

1. Combine plain and dotted marquisette curtains at a French door with fixed sash at either side. Two pairs of dotted curtains hang straight on the outside sash. A single width pair of plain marquisette is tied back at the outward opening French door.

2. Large window areas, particularly corner windows may get privacy and light control at the wondow walls by means of ceiling tracks and traverse rigging. Tailored sheer draped curtains give a filmy, light appearance.

3. Where there are odd-size windows in a bedroom, a pair of ruffled curtains may be put above a mirror and dressing table to give the illusion of another window. An extra pair of curtains — wide and short — may be used as a dressing table petticoat.

4. A large picture window may be draped in two tiers of curtains — a number of short lengths, and one pair of curtains at the outer section from top to bottom of the window area. The shorter window sections are drawn or closed to suit the mood.

3. Very large windows in a bedroom may be curtained in a combination of plain and dotted curtain materials.

Drape the plain materials flush with the window in smooth ripples in a tailored style. Then drape contrasting curtains over them from center to side.

If you do not have curtains with built-in tiebacks, pull the fullness of the curtain back in a sweeping curve and anchor it at a point just above or just below the center of the curtains for the most pleasing effect.

Dotted marquisette, organdy and rayon curtain materials will shrink some when washed. Your curtain length should allow for this.

Be sure of the curtain width you require. On a criss-cross style, one 40-inch width window will need two 80-inch width panels, often expressed as "160 inches wide to the pair.' These give the desired fullness.

Wood Preparation Pays Dividends

Careful preparation of new wood for painting pays dividends in obtaining good results. It also makes it easier to repaint later on.

First, remove any hardware, then sandpaper the wood or rub it with steel wool, carefully rounding any sharp edges and corners to keep them from chipping. If there are any noticeable cracks or nail-head indentations, fill with crack filler, level them and sand off any roughness when the filler has dried.

If you are planning to use a pigmented coating, apply a priming coat next. If you plan a "natural" finish and are dealing with an open grain wood, such as mahogany or oak, apply a paste wood filler before you varnish, stain or shellac the surface.

Modern Utility Room Popular

All-Purpose Plan Could Make Work in Evening Almost Attractive

One of the prettiest rooms in the homemaker's realm can be the "utility" room.

This practical part of the house, especially in the case of basementless, all-on-one-floor homes, has grown to a new high of both usefulness and attractiveness.

What once was just the site of the heating plant, or a place merely for laundery tubs and trash-collection, now ranks with other rooms as a family living area.

Here's a utility room design recently suggested by one of the leading housing experts:

1. Make the room an all-purpose one, including insulated and compact heating system; storage facilities for garden tools and out-of-season clothes; laundry; and family hobby and play space.

2. The room may be made attractive and, at the same time, waterproof and easily cleaned if it is surfaced with material like tile, especially on the walls and floor.

3. Locate the room strategically in the one-floor plan, so that it may be "backed up" to the kitchen and use the same plumbing lines. This cuts installation costs and saves steps.

4. Provide the room with stain-proof and durable counters of colorful tile that may serve many purposes, including laundry sorting, hobby crafts, and children's play activities.

5. Be sure the utility room has two entrances, one from the interior of the house, preferably the kitchen, and the other from outdoors.

6. Make the room cheerful and easy to be in by supplying plenty of windows and fluorescent lighting for evening work.

You know what? This utility room could easily become the most popular place in the house!

3-Sided Cabanas Gain in Popularity

Cabanas, usually three-sided shelters facing the beach and the water, are getting more and more architectural attention.

A cabana colony of 53 connecting units on an island 10 miles from Miami has won an architectural award for its attractive and sturdy design.

It is mainly of wood frame construction built on wood pilings, and has withstood gales of hurricane force.

Architect Sees Factory-Builts in Greater Use

CHICAGO (INS) — An internationally-known architect believes that the house of the future will be built chiefly of factory-built parts, steel and glass.

Walter Gropius, former head of Harvard University's department of architecture, made that prediction in Chicago recently and added that the trend "away from the brick pile" has been under way for 20 years.

The architect said factory-made windows, factory-cut steel and factory-assembled kitchen and bath units will help architects achieve greater individuality. He said:

"It is not machine-made parts or the machine that makes for soul-flattening sameness. You see huge housing developments with one house just like the other, which were built not by machine but by hand."

The architect also foresees further flexibility in the interiors of homes through fewer fixed partitions and windows arranged "so they can be adjusted to be small or large, giving little or lots of light to suit moods and needs."

Smaller Conditioners Better for Humidity

Undersizing rather than oversizing air conditioning equipment used with hot water and steam heating systems is advocated by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The Bureau points out that undersized equipment will operate more or less continuously, thereby providing constant moisture removal. Excessively large equipment, on the other hand, will operate intermittently, and the humidity level will fluctuate accordingly.

A fence should be selected to suit the design of a house, just as a proper frame is required to set off a picture to advantage.

Bulging Plaster Can Be Fixed

Repair Job Consists of Flattening Surface, Securing With Screws

By HUBBARD COBB

An awful lot of nails go into the average house and they are all pretty important little items. Just think, for example, what happens when one of the nails holding the lath to which the plaster is applied pulls out or rusts away.

What happens in a good many cases is that a section of the plastered wall or ceiling bulges out and this makes a home owner most unhappy.

In some cases the only thing to do about this situation is to remove the plaster from the bulge and renail the wood lath into place using non-corrosive lath nails. In many instances, however, it's possible to repair the damage without having to make too much of a mess out of things.

What you do is first locate the position of the wall studding by gently pounding on the wall. When you've located a stud, gently push against the bulge to force the lath and the plaster back into place.

Once the bulge has been flattened out, keep it that way by running wood screws through the plaster and the lath into the wall studding. You may need several screws to do the job and they should be about 1½ inch long and they should have flat heads.

Once this has been done you can touch up any cracks in the plaster with patching plaster.

Home Craftsmen Okay Outdoor Storage Cabinets

Most homes have far too few outdoor storage facilities. Outside of the garage — which soon becomes three-deep in garden and lawn tools, bicycles and wagons — there is practically no room for storage.

Some home craftsmen have appreciated the inconvenience in the situation to the extent they have designed and built their own outdoor storage units.

For those who don't feel up to designing their own one plywood association has come along with four new plans to help them out.

For want of better identification, the association calls the units an outdoor storage wall, a carport storage unit, a garden cabinet and a set of demountable furniture that includes another cabinet.

But these units are readily adaptable to other uses besides those named.

The outdoor storage wall is particularly intresting, for it doubles as a summer dining center and an out-of-season storage unit. It can be built free-standing attached to house or garage.

Designed in three connected sections, each with a full-front door opening, it is carefully planned for storing tools (it's big enough to contain a lawn mower), toys, barbecue equipment, flower pots and other odds and ends.

For either summer dining or a garden work center, a large table folds down from the center section.

The carport storage unit is designed to keep out of sight the items normally stored in garages, but it is also applicable as a garage installation.

The unit can be built into an existing carport, but for good measure the plans also show details of how to build a carport especially designed to contain the unit.

This storage wall has space enough for bulky gear, like window screens and bicycles, and smaller cabinets for tools and cleaning equipment.

There is a "garden" closet for storage of a wheelbarrow, fertilizer and such as that.

The third unit in the set of plans is more than just a garden cabinet. It is built near the children's play area for storage of games and toys, next to the outdoor fireplace for barbecue equipment or at a shore-side cabin for boating and fishing gear.

The patio furniture is a combination of demountable units, including table, benches and storage cabinet. The furniture comes apart easily for winter storage. The cabinet may hold cooking and barbecue equipment.

Plywood for making the units should be the exterior variety, which has plies sealed together with waterproof glue.

In finishing the units, prime them first and then apply two coats of high-quality exterior house paint.

Decorate Room in Picture Hues

Choose Color Scheme With Fine Art Work as Your Guide

Looking for ideas before starting to redecorate your home this fall? Your favorite picture, or a new picture, can be the inspiration for a sparkling new color scheme.

Whether you are doing over the living room, the dining room, or other rooms in your home, you can pick your colors from a fine picture. For the artist has keyed all of his colors to the dominating color, to create a harmonious composition.

The picture you select for a color scheme may be one of the many fine reproductions that are available in your stores, or it may be an original oil or a watercolor. Study the picture, noting the proportion of the various colors used by the artist.

Select the dominant color in the picture as the color for your walls. This color may be grayed, or may be lightened according to the outlook of your room. If the room receives a great deal of sunshine, you will want a cool, grayed tone. Warm colors are more suitable for rooms with little sunlight.

Choose the second most important color in the picture for the floor covering. This same color may be repeated in the draperies, and some of the upholstered pieces.

A third color may be chosen for the remainder of the upholstered pieces such as a sofa or lounge chairs. Accessories may be in one or more of the minor colors appearing in the picture, with the smaller objects in the brightest colors.

Although you have developed your color scheme from one picture, do not limit your pictures to this one, for a room without several well-placed pictures looks unfurnished. Use your "color scheme" picture prominently in the room, enetering it in the area over the fireplace or the sofa.

Or make it the focal point of a picture grouping. Arrange from five to a dozen or more pictures in a square or rectangle, depending on the shape of the wall space the grouping will occupy, and also on the shape of the large piece of furniture over

Wrought iron, the big trend last year, is still a style leader and doesn't have to be replaced or discarded.

In general, if the house is comfortable and colorful, it will be stylish.

Brush Care Helps

Proper preparation of the brush before painting makes cleaning easier later, says the National Bureau of Standards. Recommended procedure is to suspend the paint brush in linseed oil overnight before using for the first time.

Fireplace Back on Stage Center

Architects Giving It Contemporary Styling by Use of Tile

The fireplace is coming back to the "center of the stage" in modern homes.

Big fireplaces that dominate an entire wall were commonplace in the houses of 100 years ago, for they were needed both for cooking and for heating the house.

With the advent of central heating, however, families began installing smaller and smaller fireplaces, which were often little more than fussy extras in rooms.

Today's architects are reversing that trend. They keep the fireplace opening small, it is true, but they give the fireplace importance. They make it the outstanding feature of the room and plan the furniture and other decorations around it.

Two of the most successful ways of giving a fireplace this importance are to face it with a fireproof material such as tile and extend that material either from floor to ceiling or from the fireplace opening along an entire wall.

In one Western home, the architect raised the fireplace hearth to knee height, so that the fire would be almost at eye level for seated guests, and then faced the entire wall with tile in a fairly deep buff shade. No mantel was used, with the result that the eye centers immediately on the fireplace itself.

In another home a black tile was selected for the fireplace facing and the tile run in a wainscot about 30 inches high along the entire wall.

A large wood box was built into the wainscot near the fireplace and the wainscot itself was topped with a wide wooden mantel, which also ran the length of the room.

Other architects prefer to run the tile facing from the floor to ceiling. The texture of the tile itself and the amount of it used then make the fireplace a dominant room element.

Secure Perfect Closet by Boards on Plaster

Any closet can be transformed into a cedar chest by nailing three-quarter-inch thick cedar lining boards directly over the plaster.

For perfect dust control and added insulation apply metal foil over the old wall and lap and seal all joints. Use tongue and groove cedar boards for a tight fit. Weatherstrip all door joints.

Serve in Flames

If you want to get fancy and serve a flaming dish at your next dinner party, the technique is simple. Heat a ladle of cognac until it's warm, put a match to it and then pour the flaming brandy over the food.

Electric Clock Has 2 Outlets and Night Light

A new clock that is installed right into the wall and which not only tells time but has a 7-watt night light and two electrical outlets that will supply two electrical appliances simultaneously is now on the market.

The manufacturer suggests placing the clock either in the bathroom or the kitchen or both so the outlets can serve a heater, electric razor, toaster, or coffee pot while the home owner keeps an eye on the time.

The clock is in white plastic and is installed semi-flush with the wall with no cord showing. The dial is white with black characters, red hour dots, and black minute and hour hands plus a red sweep second hand. Below the face of the clock is a red switch to control the night light.

Outside Paint Job Needs Dry Wood

Never start an outside paint job until about four days after heavy rains. Wood, brick and stucco absorb moisture and need time to dry out.

Don't start a paint job in the morning until the sun has dried up the night's dampness, and don't paint in misty or damp weather.

A display at the Smithsonian Museum in Washington reveals the fact that round and hexagonal pencils usually receive 5 to 15 coats of paint during their manufacture.

Potter Urges Loyalty Oaths

Would Withhold U. S. Aid to Schools Whose Teachers Won't Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) says Congress should take up the question whether to deny federal funds to schools whose teachers refuse to take loyalty or non-Communist oaths.

Potter called for such consideration yesterday, declaring that "If there is any one place the Communists can do a lot of harm, it is in our educational institutions."

"Such oaths are required for a lot of other people," Potter added in an interview. "I certainly think the teachers shouldn't be put in any different category."

* * *

Denial of federal aid to any educational institution whose teachers refuse to take the oaths was recommended in an Americanism Committee report approved this week by the American Legion national convention in St. Louis. Both the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Senate Internal security subcommittee have extensive testimony from former Communists that Reds infiltrated the school system.

Some educators, on the other hand, foresaw difficulties for legislators in trying to set up specific standards for a federal aid ban if it were to be applied.

29-Year-Old Mother of 9 Beauty Contest Finalist

Livestock

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—Salable hogs 300, total 2,000; compared week ago: Barrows and gilts strong to 25 higher; sows .75-1.50 higher. At week's close the top stood at 25.50, paid by local independent packer for the small number choice 230-260 lb weights available. Such weights established the market top all week. Closing bulk choice 190-220 lb butchers brought 24.75-25.25 with most choice 170-190 lb lightweights at 23.50-25.00 according to weight. Small lots scaling down to 150 lbs ranged as low as 21.00. Most sows scaling 400 lbs and lighter sold on the week's close at 22.50-24.00 with bulk 400-550 lb weights at 21.50-23.00, a few head heavier weights as low as 20.00.

Salable cattle 200, total not given; compared week ago: High utility and commercial cows weak to .50 lower, canner to average utility grades .25-.75 higher; bulk .50-1.00 off; vealers and slaughter calves 1.00 lower; stockers and feeders fully .50 lower, instances 1.00 off; heat the principal bearish factor, adversely affecting the market for slaughter as well as feeder cattle, forward buying for next week again curtailed by the Monday holiday and approaching non-slaughtering Jewish holidays; liberal holdovers from day to day also featured the market although choice and prime steers and heifers well cleared late and carryover of kinds grading good and below reduced but the clearance still far from complete; modest supply prime 1025-1275 lb fed steers 900 lbs and heavier bulked early at 24.00-27.50 but from Tuesday on at 23.00-27.00 when the extreme top was 27.75, high choice and prime 1500-1600 lb beeves 24.50-25.50 load high prime 1575 lb weights 26.75, high choice 750 lb yearlings late 23.00, week's bulk good to low choice steers 17.50-23.00, commercial to low good grades 13.00-16.50, two loads utility 1025 lb top-horned grassers 12.00 but light low utility grass steers down to 10.00; choice and prime fed heifers 21.00-26.00, good to low choice 16.00-20.50, commercial grassers down to 11.50 and light canner grass heifers down to 7.00; late bulk utility and commercial cows 9.25-11.00, few on heifers order to 12.00, late bulk canners and cutters 7.57-9.00; utility and commercial bulls closed at 10.00-13.50, canners and cutters 7.00-9.50, few good heavy and medium-weight fat bulls 10.50-11.50; few choice and prime vealers late 21.00, most commercial to choice 10.50-11.50; light culls down to 5.00, commercial to choice slaughter calves 10.00-14.00; load choice heavy stock steer calves 20.00, most good and choice feeding steers and yearlings 16.00-19.00, medium to low good 12.50-15.50.

Salable sheep 100, total not given. Compared week ago: Good to prime spring slaughter lambs and yearlings 3.00-4.00 lower, with late trade generally steady at week's sharp decline; slaughter sheep steady to .50 lower. The market rounded out two weeks of lower prices during which time spring lambs grading good and better declined 5.00 to mostly 6.00 and yearlings 3.00-5.00. Losses on cull lambs were limited to no more than 2.00-3.00. Receipts were around 10 per cent larger than a week ago at the 13 principal markets, but the main bearish factor in the trade was lower wholesale prices on dressed lamb. Wholesale prices of dressed lambs were down 3.00-6.00, reflecting the lack of consumer demand resulting from the hot weather of the past 10 days. Late in the week good to prime lambs sold at 16.00-18.00, the latter price the closing top, with most cull to low good sorts at 10.00-15.00 and some light culls as low as 6.00 in extremes.

Woman Hurt in 2-Car Crash on M-59 at Tilden

Mrs. Gertrude Doney, 66, of 6 Green St., was reported in fair condition today in Pontiac General Hospital with possible spine injuries following a two-car crash on M-59 at Tilden Rd.

Driver of the other car, Thomas E. Kinser, 26, of 7256 Ida Terrace, was not injured. He told Oakland County sheriff's deputies Mrs. Doey's car pulled out in front of him and wet pavement prevented him from stopping in time to avoid the crash.

Liquor Ruling Is Condemned

Selling of Hard Drinks on Military Posts Called All Wrong

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some liquor industry spokesmen joined voices today with temperance advocates in condemning new Army and Air Force regulations allowing hard drinks to be sold to commissioned and non-commissioned officers on military posts.

There were expressions of concern from members of Congress too, along with one of approval. But other lawmakers, asking not to be quoted by name, expressed the hope that the furore would die down before Congress reconvenes in January. Said one:

* * *

The Army and Air Force announced yesterday sales of liquor by the drink or bottle will be permitted to persons over 21 at bars and lounges operated by officers' and non-commissioned officers clubs at posts in the United States and its possessions. Such clubs, while on government property, are not government enterprises. They are run by their members under service regulations.

Hammers Schumberg, Washington representative of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Association, said the new policy was "legally, morally and ethically wrong." Schumberg went on to say in a statement:

"This is completely contrary to the announced intention of the Eisenhower administration to discourage government competition with private business. If the policy is allowed to stand, there will be a mass uprising against the Republican party and the mothers of boys going into the service will lead it."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) said in an interview:

"I will certainly ask a full and complete report from the secretary of the Army on the new regulations and their effect when Congress convenes."

One lawmaker with military experience said the situation was ticklish because:

"The veterans who have been in the services and have hair on their chests, think the men can handle their liquor. And the church women and similar groups are fighting any sales of liquor, or even beer."

Unofficially, high military officials summed up the philosophy of the new system this way:

"Some of the men are going to drink anyway so we might as well make it possible—and attractive—for them to do it where we can keep on eye on them and make them behave themselves."

GM Sends Out Call for Repair Experts

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and government employment agencies today launched an intense, nationwide campaign to recruit 350 key skilled tool and machine repair men.

Unless they get them soon, the present total of 33,500 idled by the Aug. 12 fire at the General Motors Livonia transmission plant may be nearly doubled.

The company said the needed tool and machine repair men could work up to 70 hours a week if they wish.

Bartender Dozes While Patron Helps Self to $125

When he awoke, he said, a cash box in a small adjoining room with $125 in it, had been emptied. Wild believes he knows the customer's name.

Man Hurt in Accident

Veachel F. Shelton, 46, of 2845 Barkman Dr., Waterford Township was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital for an injured arm and pelvis Friday night after his auto struck a tree at Golf Drive and Bagley Street. Shelton is reported in "fair" condition.

Albino Lion Cub Born

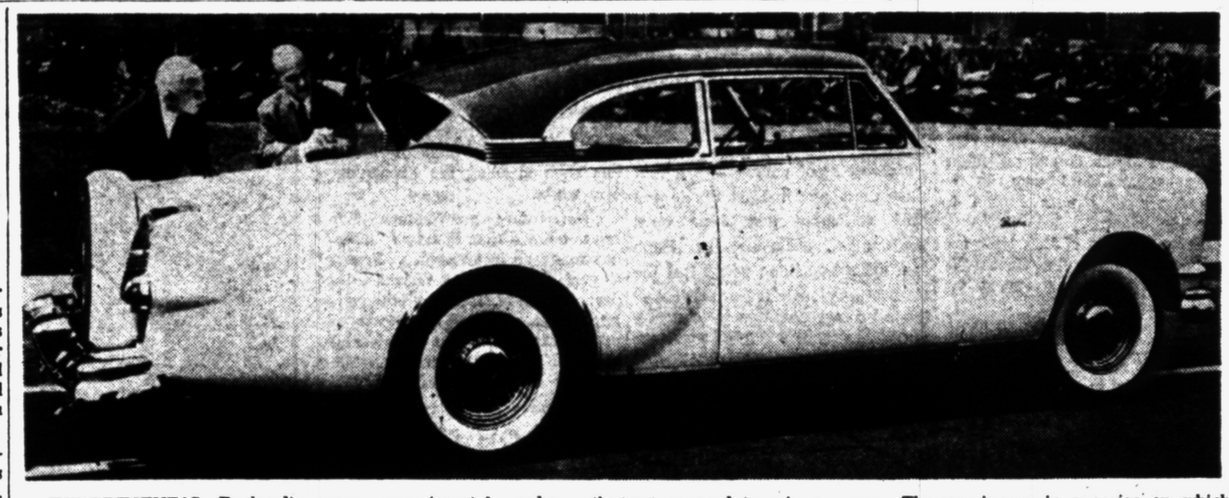
Polio Closes School

BAD AXE (UP) — The Batie rural school has been closed indefinitely because a 9-year-old pupil, Raymond Sweeney of Huron County, was stricken with polio. He has been taken to St. Mary Hospital, Saginaw.



EXPERIMENTAL—Packard's new experimental sedan, the "Balboa," features new design aimed at passenger comfort with sharply different styling of the roof and rear window. The roof forms a canopy over the rear window, which is out of the reach of the sun. The window, flat and distortion-free has a reverse slope and is not exposed to rain or snow. The car is one in a series on which Packard is experimenting with new styling concepts. Above, William H. Graves, left, engineering vice president, and Edward Macauley, chief styling engineer, inspect the new car.

Gen. Dean Eats Tremendously

Enters Tokyo Hospital for Examination Before Heading Home

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, liberated yesterday after more than three years in Communist prisons, checked in at Tokyo Army Hospital today for rest and a physical examination before heading home.

The thin but apparently healthy former commander of the U. S. 24th Division flew here this morning from Korea after inspecting an honor guard at 8th Army headquarters in Seoul.

* * *

Before boarding a B17 for the five-hour flight to Japan, Dean drove through the streets of South Korea's capital smiling and waving to thousands of Koreans who turned out to cheer him.

* * *

At the airbase near Seoul, Dean wept as he said farewell to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th Army commander, and other officers and representatives of the Republic of Korea where he was military governor during the occupation.

As he started to board the plane, Dean looked at a group of small Korean girls who had presented him with bouquets of flowers and said, "taitanhi komapsupmida," Korean for "thank you very much."

With Dean on the flight to Japan were two other repatriated veterans of the 24th Division, M.Sgt. Joseph Tupa of Honolulu, and Sgt. Alden Cook of Bluefield, W. Va.

At the airport to see him off was Col. Charles R. Rain, of Salem, N. J., the former executive officer of one regiment in the 24th Division when Dean was commander.

Dean joked with Rain and nudged him in the ribs several times.

* * *

The 54-year-old soldier, who won the Medal of Honor for heroism while personally leading the last defense of Taejon, was wearing green fatigues and his two-star insignia when he landed in Tokyo.

He was driven in an army sedan from Haneda Airport to Tokyo Army Hospital, where he put on hospital-issue pajamas.

They may complete their examination Sunday.

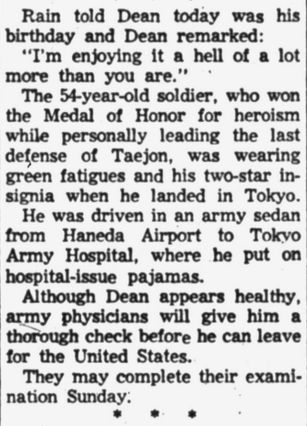
The general's pretty wife told newsmen at Monterey, Calif., that news of her husband's release left her numb but, "It's wonderful—just wonderful."

Mrs. Dean said she didn't know when her husband would come home.

Bakery Strike Averted

DETROIT (UP) — A threatened strike by 1,500 AFL Bakery Workers Union employes at nine major Detroit bakeries was averted when negotiators reached agreement Friday night on a 10-cent hourly pay increase.



JOBS PLENTIFUL—The number of Americans with jobs hit an all-time high of 63.4 million during August 1953. This is an increase of one million above the August 1952 mark. Above Newschart shows employment trend in the U.S. from 1940 to the present. Data from U.S. Department of Commerce.

Hal Boyle Says:

Death Takes No Holiday as Labor Day Approaches

NEW YORK (AP)—Death got up early this morning. Most of America slept late at the start of this long Labor Day weekend rest from its usual work, but death promptly went on overtime.

If an ox, a cow, a horse could declare itself a holiday to show that life holds a dignity and reward beyond the sweat of toil, it would browse and dream in pure animal wonder, and rise refreshed on the morrow. And even death might take most of the day off, too.

But when mankind has a holiday for any reason, Death can know no idleness. He must tabulate a great human self-slaughter.

And so it was Death rose early today . . . he had a lot to do in the three busy days ahead . . . he had many a mortal rendezvous to keep on highway and byway, in homes and saloons, on pond and pavement, on mountain cliff and summer playground . . .

For Death had a double duty . . . He had not only his usual job to do, the escorting of the sick and old and life-worn across his pale frontier . . . He had his extra holiday clients to attend to . . . The lost battalion of the needless dead . . .

On such days Death, the fair weather friend of the foolish, initiates new members into the D. O. A. club . . . This club has no dues and no life memberships . . . It is made up of unseeing people who are brought to hospitals and tagged with a card bearing three initials that stand for 'dead on arrival.'

Yes, Death got up early this morning . . . For in the next three days there are hundreds of Americans he must meet and wave to their doom, a D. O. A. tag. . . . The potential new membership crop was large and the land was wide . . . And Death is conscientous . . . He didn't want anyone who earned that tag to miss it . . .

And here is what he will say, or perhaps is saying even now

In ten thousand cars rounding ten thousand curves he whispers to the driver, "Go on and pass that car ahead of you . . . How do you know there is another car coming around the bend? . . . Never mind what your wife is saying . . ."

And on some of the curves another car does come around the bend . . . There is a scream and a crash of metal . . . Death says to the silent husband, "So long, sucker" . . . And says to the silent wife, "Dear, you'll never get to marry another fool" . . . Then he walks over to the silent, huddled driver of the second car and says, "Pal, I knew you didn't want to join our organization . . . But I am only taking memberships, and this other guy nominated you . . . And now you belong . . ."

Or Death puts his arm around a teen-age high school driver and says, "Faster, kid, faster . . . Boy, you're a real hot rod . . . Sure you can see clear in the moonlight . . . See how close you can come to that bridge"? . . . A moment later the boy's ribs are in his lungs, blood drowns his whimpers, and Death tags him and says, "You know, I almost thought you'd make it . . . Well, even counting the funeral costs, I saved your folks most of the college education . . ."

And somewhere a mother at a picnic, busy fixing the dinner, is sure someone else in the family is keeping an eye on the child who toddles toward the lakefront . . . And sure enough, someone is . . . "Come in, little girl," says Death from the water. "I will catch you, and your mother will never, never forget you again. See the pretty tag I have for you . . ."

An overweight man of 45 with a fading heart calls across the tennis court and says to his boy, "Son, I'll beat you this fifth set or drop dead." . . . And as he lifts the racquet, death taps him and says, 'Drop . . ."

Then Death hurries to a barroom . . . There's a fellow betting he can drink a pint bottle of whisky without drawing a breath . . . and Death grins and says, "Just a dead game sport to the end, aren't you, mister? . . ."

And before the empty bottle falls to the floor, Death is off to a lonely room where a lonely man sick with self-pity looks at the gun in his hand and mutters, "Would I be any more lonely dead?" . . . and Death, writing his tag says, "come and see . . ."

So Death will move at a ceaseless pace this Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, playing a deadly game of tag across all America with the holiday risk-takers and their victims . . . And the foolish . . . And the unwary. Wherever he pauses an ambulance will halt, pick up a still burden and race with it to a hospital where it will get the epitaph—D. O. A.—"Dead on arrival."

On Tuesday, when the holiday insanity is over, Death — slowing down to his normal rounds — may look back, sick at his own vast three-day harvest, and say wearily

"How many holidays can I go through like this without killing myself?"

Business Briefs

Buick Motor Division will build more than twice as many hardtop convertibles in 1953 as in any previous year, Ivan L. Wiles, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors, reported today. Wiles estimated Buick's production of the two-door Riviera models would amount to 175,000 units this year, compared to the previous record of nearly 85,000 built in 1951.

Chain drugstores showed a nationwide sales gain of 1.6 per cent in July of this year as compared with July 1952, according to a regional survey by Chain Store Age magazine. The survey, which covered 64 chains operating a total of 1,833 stores, said the Pacific Coast area topped all regions with a 3.1 per cent increase.

2nd Group of B47s Flies Atlantic Today

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Another group of B47 Stratojet bombers was to fly nonstop from England to MacDill Air Force Base here today, aiming at the record of 9 hours 13 minutes set Friday by Col. Michael McCoy.

McCoy, commander of the 306th Bomb Wing, piloted the lead plane in the 4,495-mile hop from Fairford AFB. With him were Maj. James Gallagher, co-pilot, and Capt. Clarence H. Leffingwell, navigator-observer.

The craft clipped 40 minutes from the mark set recently by Col. Elliott Van Devanter, commander of the 305th Bomb Wing. McCoy averaged 508.8 miles per hour.

Fourteen planes made the nonstop flight from Fairford to Macdill Friday. Another developed engine trouble enroute and put down at Limestone AFB, Me. Others will keep coming until all 45 bombers in the wing are back here.

Hold Thurston Rites Monday

U. S. Education Head's Funeral to Be Held in Lansing

WASHINGTON (UP) —Funeral arrangements were complete today for Dr. Lee M. Thurston, U. S. commissioner of education and former Michigan superintendent of public instruction who died Friday.

The Health, Education and Welfare Department said Friday night that funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Estes-Leadley Funeral Home in Lansing. Burial will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Central Lake, Thurston's birthplace.

Thurston, who died of a heart attack, was appointed to the federal post by President Eisenhower and assumed his duties July 2. He was 58.

Acting Secretary Russell R. Larmon will represent the Health, Education and Welfare Department at the funeral.

Automotive Production Drops Off Past Week

DETROIT (AP)—Motor vehicle production in the United States this week will total 130,660 units, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

Consisting of 108,358 car and 22,302 trucks this compares with 121,227 cars and 23,624 trucks built last week. The decline was attributed to a shortage of automatic transmissions, new model changeover work and inventory readjustments. Last year at this time United States factories built 84,865 car and 18,500 trucks.

About one-fifth of New Hampshire's total area is under cultivation.

3 Major Issues Dominate German Election Sunday

By LEON DENNEN

BERLIN (NEA) — West Germans will vote Sunday, free — for the first time since Hitler seized power in 1933 — from pressure of dictatorship or foreign occupation rules.

The Bundestag elections will thus mark an historic date in the life of the Bonn republic.

Russia has recognized the importance of the occasion by proposing a German peace conference be held within six months, and polishing up last year's suggestions that Germany be united under a provisional coalition government formed by Bonn and the East German Soviet puppet state. The move is widely judged by Western diplomats and West German leaders as a calculated effort to influence the Sept. 6 balloting.

Eight years after the Nazi defeat in 1945, West Germany is rapidly emerging from the abyss of war destruction to assume a dominant place in non-Communist Europe.

There is a striking difference between the despairing nation I saw in 1945 and the busy, bustling and even prosperous Germans who will go to the polls Sunday.

But even a prosperous Bonn republic is only part of Germany — an artificial creation hastily patched up by post-war political expediency. Germany divided, East or West, is a power vacuum in Europe — the dominant unsolved question left by the last war.

1. The unification of West and East Germany.
2. Bonn's participation in the European Defense Community.
3. The alarming revival of Nazism in West Germany.

The rapid recuperation of the Bonn republic together with the growing difficulties in the Soviet zone have greatly increased agitation for the unification of Germany.

The heroic rising of East Germans last June convinced many West Germans that now is the time for a deal with Russia to unite the country.

Said Erich Ollenhauer, 52-year-old leader of West German Socialists: "The lesson of the East German revolt is that national unity must have priority over the European Defense Community."

Ollenhauer added: "Present plans for bringing divided Germany into a close military alliance with the West is a serious obstacle to unity."

Dr. Adenauer, in turn, regards the East German uprising as "the first fruit of the West's policy of strength." He believes that a free and united Germany can be assured only by Bonn's close military alliance with the NATO nations.

The energetic and able 77-year-old chancellor is perhaps the outstanding leader of pro-American sentiment in Europe. With France and Italy suffering from a chronic economic and political crisis, West Germany under Adenauer's leadership is one of the few remaining bulwarks of the European Defense Community.

Adenauer's defeat on Sunday probably would kill President Eisenhower's European Army scheme. It would undermine U. S. foreign policy in the global East-West struggle.

U. S. interest in the re-election of Dr. Adenauer and his coalition of Christian Democrats, Free Democrats and the rightist German Party, is therefore direct and critical.

But Washington's ardent wish to see the chancellor re-elected is matched by Moscow's equally ardent desire to see him defeated.

American officials in Bonn, I am reliably informed, have instructions from Washington not to even discuss an alternative policy to the European Defense Community.

The Russians, in turn, are currently employing in West Germany all means — from their vast propaganda machine to outright sabotage — to impede the formation of the E. D. C. and prevent Bonn's military alliance with the West. This is point No. 1 in the Kremlin's "peace" offensive.

Moscow is of course aware that since the rising in East Berlin and East Germany last June open Communist influence in Bonn reached a vanishing point. But the Kremlin obviously hopes to weaken the Adenauer coalition by courting West Germany's pro-Nazis, extreme nationalists, neutralists and even some Social Democrats who have illusions that the Russians may soon agree to a united Germany.

Russia at the same time seeks to revive in the NATO countries the threat of a "militarized Germany."

Premier Georgi Malenkov played both tunes in his recent speech to the Supreme Soviet. He went out of his way to court France. He offered France a strengthening of the France-Soviet pact if she draws back — as many Frenchmen are tempted to do anyway — from bringing Germany into the European Defense Community.

Malenkov even hinted that — should France comply — he might call off the war in Indochina which has been bleeding the French nation white.

Even many pro-Western Germans believe that Russia's "offer" has made an impression in France — especially in quarters where the rearmament of Germany is thought intolerable. They are convinced that in his continued championship of the E. D. C., Chancellor Adenauer is beating a dead dog.

School District Sets Schedules

West Bloomfield Plans Faculty Meetings, Tells Enrollment Dates

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A general faculty meeting at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday in Roosevelt School, Keego Harbor, will inaugurate the fall term for West Bloomfield School District.

In the afternoon all elementary teachers will meet with Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, instructional consultant, and high school faculty with Principal Donald Weed.

Pre-enrollment planning and conferences in the three school buildings will be held Wednesday, according to Dr. Leif A. Hougen, superintendent.

Roosevelt High School students will enroll Thursday at 8:45 a.m in the gymnasium and textbooks will be assigned in the respective classrooms.

Enrolling at 9 a.m. Thursday in their respective schools will be Roosevelt grades one through six; Scotch School grades one through six; and children of Green School.

Roosevelt kindergarten pupils will report at 1 p.m. Thursday. Scotch School kindergartners will report Friday morning.

Thursday school busses will follow the same schedule at last term. All schools in the district will be in regular session Friday.

Champ Steer Brings Owner $888 in Auction

EAST LANSING (UP) — The State 4-H grand champion steer brought its owner, Charles Wetzel of Ithaca, $888.25 at a livestock auction of top animals entered in the show.

The 1,045-pound Shorthorn steer was sold to an East Lansing meat market for 85 cents a pound late Thursday. Show officials said the same steer, if it had been sold on the open market at Detroit, would have brought 28 cents a pound.

The grand champion lamb, an 80-pound Southdown owned by Phyllis Skelley, Litchfield, sold for $84 ($1.05 a pound) while the reserve champion, also an 80 pound Southdown owned by Joe Elser of Litchfield, went for $32.80.

The grand champion market hog, a 200-pound Yorkshire owned by Dale Fox of St. Johns, was auctioned for $115.14 while the reserve champion, a 190-pound Chester White owned by Roger Sanford, Coldwater, went for $66.50.

Armada School Set to Open on Tuesday

ARMADA—Armada Rural Agricultural School will open its doors for all pupils except rural kindergartners Tuesday at 1:30 p.m., Superintendent H. A. Kitson announced today.

Rural kindergartners are to report the following day at 9 a.m., he said.

Bus routes and time schedules will be nearly the same as for last year with buses due at the school before 9 a.m. and leaving at 3:45 p.m.

School lunches will be served starting Wednesday.

Racial Discrimination Clause Dropped in Contracts With Farm Loan Banks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) predicted today Republicans will attempt to force passage of Fair Employment Practices Commission legislation in the next session of Congress.

Dirken's prediction came after the agriculture department announced it has abandoned a controversial requirement that banks which make farm price support loans must promise not to practice racial discrimination in employment.

The Senate in the past has bottled up civil rights bills approved by the House, largely because of southern Democratic filibusters against such measures.

Sen. Hill (D-Ala) said in a separate interview he sees no lessening of Southern opposition to measures of this character.

Dirksen said he realizes the Southerners may talk at length against an FEPC bill, but that he believes Republicans should try to pass such a measure to carry out campaign pledges made last year.

A variety of FEPC proposals have been made, most of which call for establishment of a federal commission to prevent racial, religious and other discrimination in hiring.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John H. Davis, who is president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, said last night the noncrimination clause began only would be required. He said the decision was made on "a question of fact"—that employment was not involved, since lending agencies generally handled the loans without increasing their staffs.

* * *

The acrimony over the non-discrimination clause began only rerecently when Southerners discovered it has been contained in all lending agency agreements since May.

Secretary Benson said in South Carolina earlier this week that he regarded the clause as "unnecessary."

* * *

But Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that if the President allowed the non-discrimination clause to be dropped "he might as well disband immediately the government Contract Compliance Committee." This group was set up recently to check on observance of non-discrimination by government contractors.

Davis called in reporters late yesterday and gave them a statement announcing it will be entirely optional with banks whether they sign the anti-discrimination pledge.

* * *

"They can scratch it out and we'll accept the contract," he said.

Davis said he presumed some Southern banks already have signed the pledge—perhaps without reading the fine print. He was asked whether they could exchange their contracts for another without the clause.

"We'll have to study that out when it comes up," he commented.

* * *

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who backed Gen. Eisenhower in the last presidential election, wrote the President Aug. 27 saying many banks would refuse to sign agreements containing the non-discrimination clause.

White called reversal of the order a "humiliating capitulation" to Byrnes.

"Full responsibility" for inclusion of the controversial clause in the contracts is being assumed by Karl D. Loos, the department's solicitor and one of Benson's first appointees.

Visiting Teachers From 50 Nations Here for Study

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four hundred visiting educators from 50 free nations are assembling here and soon will spread across the United States to study and observe American education and life.

The Office of Education, co-sponsor with the State Department of the visiting teaching program, said today the visitors will spend three months in colleges and universities for study in their specialized fields.

* * *

Then they will scatter into almost all the states, they wil live in private homes, visit public and private schools, churches, factories, businesses and social institutions. They will observe teaching in more than 8,000 schools and will make an estimated 12,000 talks.

* * *

Cooperating institutions to which the teachers will go first are: University of Cincinnati, University of Florida, University of Illinois, Iowa State Teachers College, University of Kentucky, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, University of North Carolina, Ohio State University, Oregon State College, Syracuse University, Southwest Texas State Teachers College, University of Utah, State College of Washington, Wayne University, Detroit, and the University of Wisconsin.

Since the visiting teacher program was established in 1942, 1,400 educators have been brought to this country.

Drunk Driver Hits Police Car, 3 Hurt

DETROIT (UP) — Three patrolmen were injured, two seriously, early today when a car crashed head-on into their police cruiser.

Taken to Receiving Hospital were Patrolmen Melvin Louria, 36, and John Perkins, 34. Both were in serious condition. Patrolman Edward Kumm, 49, was given first aid and released.

The driver of the car, Patrick Devine, 47, Detroit, was held for investigation of felonious driving after police said he registered 0.20 on a drunkometer test. Intoxication is set at 0.15.

Devine, employed as a checker for the Red Star Transit Co., was uninjured.

Officers said his car veered to the wrong side of the road and collided with the cruiser, which was demolished, despite attempts by the patrolmen to avoid a collision.

Kindergarten Parents Contacted by Avondale

AVON TOWNSHIP—R. N. Baker, superintendent of Avondale Schools, today issued a special notice to parents of kindergarten children in the area of Stone School on Adams road and in Auburn Heights.

All children, he said, are to be taken to Stone Baptist Church on Auburn Avenue east of Adams Road for registering Tuesday at 9:30 a.m.

Praise Priest's Work as POW

2 Army Doctors Tell of Heroic Father Kapaun Who Died a Prisoner

INCHON, Korea (AP)—Two army doctors praised by liberated American prisoners for their work in Red prison camps joined today in heaping further praise on a Catholic priest who died a prisoner.

"I am a Jew, but I felt deeply the greatness of the man regardless of religion," said Capt. Sidney Essensten of Minneapolis.

And Capt. Clarence L. Anderson of Long Beach, Calif., said "everyone wanted to see him and everyone asked for him."

The heroic priest was Father Enil Kapaun of Pilsen, Kan.

Anderson said the chaplain never was mistreated by the Communists but suffered because he could not visit prisoners freely.

The chaplain insisted on going on work details so he could visit men in other camps up to the day he suffered his final illness.

Father Kapaun first suffered a blood clot, then was stricken with dysentery. The Reds finally took him away to a camp hospital after he became ill with pneumonia.

Anderson said that as his captors carried him away, the chaplain asked them to forgive him "undoubtedly because of harsh thoughts he had toward them . . ."

Father Kapaun never returned from the hospital. When he died he was buried on a hill near the camp.

"He sleeps among the men he so loved and so helped while he was alive," Anderson said.

High Dairy Prices Help Slipping Index

LANSING (AP) — Due to higher prices for milk and eggs, the index of prices received by Michigan farmers in the past month did not slip as badly as it otherwise would have.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said the index dropped in the preceding month from 267 to 265 on Aug. 15.

Pullet Disease Shows Increase in Michigan

EAST LANSING (UP)—A Michigan State College agricultural official said today that blue comb disease of chickens is increasing in the state.

Dr. Ralph C. Belding, a poultry pathologist, said the disease is most severe in southwestern Michigan. The disease, commonly known as pullet disease, cuts the GG output of animals it hits.

Belding said the diseas is hard to tell from cholera and farmers should call a veterinarian immediately upon discovering it.

Extension Group Plans Dressmaking Project

METAMORA—A wool dressmaking project will be included in the program of Lapeer County Home Extension groups this year, County Home Agent Mrs. Dorothy H. Pohl announced today.

First meeting for the project will be in the County Center at 1:30 p.m, Friday with Florence Rann, Michigan State College clothing specialist, discussing patterns and materials.

Youth's Condition Reported 'Critical'

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — Charles Barbin, 18, of 21078 Bethlawn, was in "critical" condition in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital today after he was struck by a car at 2 a.m. today at West Eight Mile and Glenlodge.

Driver of the car Arthur Williams of 940 E. Warren, Detroit, was being held by Royal Oak Township police for investigation of leaving the scene of an accident. Police said witnesses reported Williams qas driving at a high rate of speed.

56-Year Marriage Ends as Divorce Is Granted

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP) — A 56 year marraige ended here yesterday in Addison County Court.

Judge Percy L. Shangraw granted Philemon J. Bristol, 81, a divorce from Laura Prescott Bristol, 79. They were married March 11, 1897.

Bristol told the court he hadn't seen his wife in three years. He said he believed she is now living in California.

Counties in State in Red $4 Million

Report High Revenue in 1952 but Road Costs, Health, Welfare Up

LANSING (AP)—Michigan county government ran $4,049,846 in the red in 1952, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin reported today.

This, despite $13,115,000 worth of additional revenue over the preceding year.

Summarizing the audits of county government made by his department, Martin said county governments took in $155,029,768 last year, more than $13,000,000 above the preceding year.

But expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, rose to $159,079,615, or about $19,182,000 more than in 1951.

Wayne County, biggest in the state, took in $56,500,000, while little Oscoda County had the smallest revenue, $205,147, and more than 75 per cent of its income was from state funds, mostly for highway use.

Martin said that the counties got almost $76,000,000 from the property tax, their largest source of revenue. They received $44,750,000 from the state for county roads and $10,250,000 for health, welfare and medical programs.

The counties' biggest expense was roads, costing them $53,458,000, exclusive of investments in land, equipment and buildings. Of this total, almost 84 per cent came from state funds, Martin reported.

He said the counties spent $51,729,263 for health, welfare and medical aid programs, of which 19.75 per cent was state money.

The cost of operating the usual county administrative and judicial offices totaled $31,102,550, Martin said.

He reported also the counties spent $4,748,476 on drains, $13,440,294 on land, buildings and equipment, $234,466 on bonded debts and $5,366,561 on such items as parks, airports, libraries and fairs.

Ocean Vessel to Enter Lakes

520 - Foot Ship to Become Waterways Carrier

DETROIT (UP)—A large oceangoing ship purchased from the federal government for conversion to a Great Lakes passenger and freight carrier will enter Lake Michigan at Chicago next week on its way to Muskegon.

Max B. McKee, president of the Sand Products Corp, of Detroit, which owns the 520-foot ship, said today the conversion is "about 50 per cent completed."

The ship, formerly the S. S. Marine Star, will make its river passage through Chicago next Tuesday. Tugs will tow the vessel to a temporary mooring site at Muskegon.

A pontoon hull was fitted on the ship at New Orleans, for its voyage up the Mississippi River. The ship left Brooklyn, N. Y., July 29. The first stage of its conversion was completed in a Brooklyn shipyard.

McKee said work on the ship has been retarded by a steel shortage and it may not be ready until the 1955 Great Lakes season.

The ship's trade route on the Lakes won't be selected until plans are further along, McKee said. Detailed plans for its further conversion are being made by George G. Sharp, Inc., naval architects in New York.

Schools Open Thursday for Holly Area Students

HOLLY — Another school year begins Thursday for the students in the Holly area schools.

Charles G. Coggins, superintendent of Holly schools, said today that elementary students in the Holly area will occupy all the church basement rooms in town plus the Masonic Temple, Field House, American Legion Hall and the VFW Hall.

Completion of the new Holly Elementary School sometime early this fall will do much toward relieving this overcrowded condition, said Mr. Coggins.

The Davisburg School addition, ready for next week's opening, will house all the school children in that area.

Pre-opening conferences for teachers will be Tuesday and Wednesday, and junior and senior high school students will report to the high school gymnasium at 8:45 Thursday morning.

Kindergartners are asked to register Thursday and Friday, with school to begin for them on Sept. 14.

First grade students will assemble at the Washington Street School on Thursday morning.

Second graders will meet at the Field House and third graders in the Masonic Temple. The Catholic Church will be the meeting place for the fourth graders and the fifth graders will assemble at the American Legion Hall.

Sixth graders are asked to meet at the band house on Center Street. Buses will travel approximately the same routes as last year, said Mr. Coggins.

Economists See Quotas on Corn

Predict Vote of Wheat Farmers Will Change Entire Grain Picture

EAST LANSING (UP) — Two Michigan State College agricultural economists said today they believe the federal government soon will establish acreage allowments and quotas on corn marketings for next year.

John Doneth and Arthur Mauch said they formerly believed farmers in Michigan and the entire corn belt region probably would vote against corn quotas.

"Because of the overwhelming vote in favor of wheat quotas, however, we feel that a corn quota, if it came to a vote, would have a good chance of passing—but by a narrower margin than wheat quotas."

They said they believe Secretary of Agriculture Benson will be "forced by law" to impose corn acreage allowments next year in order to make producers eligible for price supports of 90 per cent of parity because of this year's large corn crop.

Patrolman Foils Escape Through Hole in Bus

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—A highway patrolman saw a pair of legs dangling through the side of a prison bus as it passed through Pittsboro, N.C., yesterday.

The legs belonged to Henry J. Glover, a former Ft. Bragg soldier from Los Angeles, Calif., serving 22 years on various counts. Just outside Pittsboro he finished wriggling through the hole he had cut in the bus.

But the patrolman, following closely, put him back on the bus and escorted it to Central Prison here.

Janet Lee Grant to Wed George W. Jarvis

LAPEER — Mrs. Reata Clark Grant announces the engagement of her daughter, Janet Lee, to George W. Jarvis.

Janet's father is Wilton C. Grant of Flint. George is the son of Mrs. Velma Jarvis of Lapeer and Harry Jarvis of Metamora.

An early fall wedding is planned.

Detroit School Official to Speak in Southfield

SOUTHFIELD TOWNSHIP—Otis Crosby, public relations director of Detroit schools, will speak at an all-faculty assembly meeting Tuesday at the high school. Following luncheon in the school cafeteria, elementary teachers will attend sessions in their schools with principals.

County Calendar

Fishermen Find Body in River

Identified as Former Pontiac Worker Gone Since Aug. 9

LAPEER — The badly decomposed body of a former Pontiac Motor employe, missing since Aug. 9, was found yesterday by fishermen in the Flint River near Columbiaville.

Positive identification of Frank Palka Jr. 27, of Fourth St., Columbiaville, was obtained from his factory badge and an Army ring.

A World War II veteran, Palta had been hired as a punch press operator in April and had been discharged for frequent absenteeism Aug. 7.

His wife, Helen, told Lapeer County Sheriff Clark Gregory that her husband had been missing from home since Aug. 9. He was accustomed to wandering, she said, so she wasn't concerned by his absence.

Mrs. Palka said her husband may have fallen accidentally into the river.

Palka's body was discovered by Clifford Harvey, 12, and Ben Sado, 26, both of Otisville, when they saw a pair of overalls caught in a tree wedged against the bank.

Dr. Henry G. Merz, coroner, said he could not determine the exact time of death.

Funeral arrangement for Palka are pending at Baird Funeral Home in Lapeer.

LT. WILBURN LEGREE

Lt. Wilburn Legree, Flint's "singing cop," will present a concert of sacred music Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church, Romeo, according to the Rev. Earl F. Buffum, pastor. The program is open to the public.

Pilgrim Club to Greet Metamora Teachers

METAMORA — A welcome for area teachers will be the main item on the agenda when the Pilgrim Club holds its initial fall meeting here Tuesday.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Roy Best in whose home the affair will be held. Mrs. Lloyd Andison, president of the group, will be program leader.

Killed in Car Crash

HOUGHTON (UP) Emil Siljander, 43, of Chassel, was killed Friday night when his car went out of control and rolled over five times in Portage Township.

Death Notices

QUACKENBUSH, SEPTEMBER 3, 1953, Olive M., 804 Sterling, age 68; dearly beloved mother of Reginald and Robert Quackenbush, Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mrs. Paul Sauerwald, and Miss Geraldine Stearns; dear sister of Joseph Jackson. Funeral service will be held Monday, Sept. 7 at 11 a. m. at the Voorhees-Siple Chapel with the Rev. Wibley officiating. Mrs. Quackenbush will lie in state at the Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home. Interment in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ALTON J. McDonough who passed away Sept. 5th, 1948.
Deep in our lives is a lonely spot
Your bright face used to fill.
But nought can take your memory
That shines there and always will.
Sadly missed by daughter, Lois, Grandma, Mom, sisters, brother.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF BETTY Jean Campbell who passed away 2 years ago Sept. 5, 1951.
We do not forget her, we love her too dearly
For her memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ALTON J. McDonough who passed away Sept. 5, 1948.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
And see his smiling face.
To hear his voice speak once more
Would mean so much to me.
Lois and Virginia McDonough.
HELP WTD

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CLYDE W Warren, who passed away Sept. 6, 1952.
Not dead to us who loved him,
Not lost, but gone before:
He lives with us in memory
And shall forever more.
Daughter, son-in-law, and grandson.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF KENNY Johnson, who passed away three years ago today. His dear memory lingers as a beacon light in the darkness left by his tragic death. Sadly missed by aunt Avis and family.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF KENneth Johnson who passed away Sept. 5, 1950.
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of you are always near.
We who love you, miss you sadly
Sister and Brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haight.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR son Kenneth Johnson who passed away Sept. 5, 1950.
Peaceful be thy rest, Dear Kenny,
It is sweet to breathe they name,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Johnson.

BOTTLE IT OR SWIM IN IT MINERAL WATER SWIMMING POOL

Five 100 per cent mineral water wells that fill a great and beautiful swimming pool 60x100 ft. Recommended for people with jagged nerves, ulcers, rheumatism, arthritis, etc. Thousands of people flock there in hot weather. A real source of income just from swimming pool. Would make a great children's camp, a resort, medical center, a convalescent home, a hospital – in fact, the possibilities are unlimited. Water may be bottled and sold for health and medical purposes. 1 building is 40x100 and 2 stories – would make a good dormitory or hospital. Another is 20x30 and there is also a locker plant plus a 7 room modern home and a 4 room home. You never saw so much for the money and so great an opportunity. $27,000 required to handle. Details and showing only by appt.

Panel to Include Social Worker

Richard Arthaud From Pontiac State Hospital Will Appear on TV

Richard Arthaud, social service worker at Pontiac State Hospital, will be one of a panel appearing on the television show "Our Modern Mind," Sunday afternoon.

The program, which finished a 13-week series last Sunday, has been extended for five more weeks.

This Sunday's noon program will discuss community programs developed in state hospitals to keep the public informed on how the average person can help in treatment.

The panel includes Merritt F. Meaker of Northville High School social studies department; Mrs. Austin Whipple of Plymouth, and Mrs. Carolyn Seefeldt, Nortville State Hospital's social service director.

Judge Reverses Ruling, Says He Feels Better

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The conviction of a truck driver Thursday for careless driving bothered provisional City Judge John M. Lashley most of that night.

The judge finally decided that a cab driver, also involved in the truck-cab crash, was just as careless.

Yesterday Judge Lashley took the unusual action of reversing his $25 fine against William Eddington, the truck driver, and ordering the conviction removed from the records

"Now I feel better," the judge commented.

About 9,000 new books are published each year.

Success of Long Shows Proves Quality Important

By EVE STARR

Television executives should take to heart director Michael Curtiz' recent advice to movie makers: "Make fewer but better films as an answer to the improving TV medium."

EVE STARR

In TV, this is just as important. The success of certain "long" shows, such as the two-hour Ford Theater anniversary show recently; "Show of Shows," which runs an hour and a half, and even "Studio One," an hour long but packed with dramatic intensity, indicate that the average TV audience will go big for long shows if they have quality.

The answer probably lies in subscription TV. Once, and if, this system is established, viewers who prefer "novels" on TV can get what they want; those who want short shows for free can still get them, as now.

The "long" show probably would be best for the night hours; that's when most viewers would go for quality, the same as they do for the better films in the larger deluxe movie theaters.

* * *

30-SECOND INTERVIEW: Betty Hutton tells me she won't launch her TV show for at least a year. "I have a format ready," she says, "but I'm keeping it a secret. It took me a long time to find a format that I feel the public won't tire of over a period of time. I want to spend the next year cashing in on my night-club act, since it took a lot of time, and cost a lot of money, to prepare. I can't do justice to that if I start a TV show now.

STARR SPECIALS: Lurene Tuttle, well-known in the "Sam Spade" radio show, is enthusiastic about TV, so much so that she tried her hand at a role in two TV films, "13 O'Clock" and "Blind Man's Bluff," and is teaching dramatic acting for TV at the University of Southern California. Her daughter, Barbara Ruick, MGM contract actress, wed actor Robert Horton.

Peggy Lee's been signed to a TV series come fall.

Marguerite Chapman may replace Cathy Lewis (Jane) in the "My Friend Irma" series.

Veteran actress Fay Wray and Paul Hartman, vaudeville circuit entertainer, are initiating their new situation comedy series, "Pride of the Family." Paul plays a lovable bungler.

Note from Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis from London: "Over here our critics are called pan-Americans."

General Electric Babies to Get 5 Shares of Stock

LYNN, Mass. (AP)—Any General Electric Company employe having a baby on Oct. 15 will find the stork and stock arriving hand in hand.

The company has decided to give five shares of stock to employes' babies arriving on that date—the company's 75th anniversary.

Northerners Will Not Raise Issue at Parley, Sen. Douglas Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said today Northern Democrats will not raise the "loyalty pledge" issue—which makes some Southerners erupt—at the party sessions in Chicago Sept. 14 and 15.

Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, also reported progress in healing the North-South differences within the party and said the meeting would not act on the pledge.

But Mitchell declared Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina "has read himself out of the party."

The national chairman spoke on a CBS radio program last night.

Byrnes, who supported President Eisenhower's candidacy last year, announced he would not attend the Chicago meeting.

Douglas did not rule out the possibility that some Southerners who do attend may themselves bring up the future of the "loyalty pledge." If they do, he said, "It is highly important that the people know what all the shouting is about."

Douglas in an interview denied that Northern Democrats ever had asked delegates to national conventions "to agree in advance to support candidates or platforms that had not been agreed upon."

"That would be highly improper," he said.

Mitchell said the Chicago meeting is not a convention and therefore will not deal with the pledge.

He said he did not think the meeting would miss Byrnes and that, while some other Southern Democrats were staying away, "There is no trend when four or five don't attend."

Two More Planeloads of POWs Head Home

TOKYO (AP)—Two military transport planes with 41 liberated Americans aboard are headed toward the United States.

The first plane, with 18 aboard, left yesterday and was due at Hickam Air Force Base at Honolulu at 5:50 p. m. today HST (10:50 p. m., EST). The second transport, carrying 21 ex-POWs, took off just after midnight today and was expected at Hickam at 9:15 p. m. today.

Science Fiction Fans Converge on Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—This staid old city takes a look at the future today as more than 1,000 science-fiction fans begin arriving for the three-day, 11th annual World Science-Fiction convention which opens tomorrow.

Philadelphians are in for a shock tomorrow night with an assortment of men from outer space—mechanical robots, moonmen (and women), etc., running loose. The occasion is a costume ball, highlight of the affair for the readers, writers, and scientists attending.

* * *

On the serious side, the science-fiction fans will exchange views on the prospects of interplanetary travel in the immediate future. The list of speakers includes Willy Ley, former officer of the German Rocket Society and author of the "Conquest of Space," and Dr. I. M. Leitt, director of the Fels Planetarium here.

32 Cases of Whiskey Dampen Dry Oklahoma

CHANDLER, Okla. (AP)—A portion of the Turner Turnpike between Oklahoma City and Tulsa was slightly pickled last night.

A recent survey shows that 95 per cent of all Americans read the Bible from time to time; that 41 per cent read it at least once a week in these trying times.
