

Birmingham Commission Sets April 26 for Hearing on Parking Rezoning Plan

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners, confronted with opposition to the planning Board's proposed ordinance allowing certain residential lots to be zoned for parking, set an April 26 date for a hearing on the matter last night.

C. J. Huddleston, representing the Wabbeek Co. and Jacobson's Inc. which have purchased land in the northwest quadrant of the city for parking purposes, vehemently opposed the lot-screening requirements in the ordinance.

He protested that such screening and set-backs would waste much land which could be used for parking. Commissioners hinted that reduced screening requirements might be forthcoming and tentatively scheduled a joint meeting with the City Planning Board for April 13.

Complaints from flooded basements during the heavy rain last week were heard by the commissioners. Residents of the Birmingham Estates Subdivision said the grading of roads in the triangle north of Buckingham, east of Adam's road and west of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad by developer Arthur Nesbitt had channeled storm runoff into their basements and yards.

"Uncle Otto" Hornung, Detroit's oldest Boy Scout, will be on hand at tonight's 7:30 meeting of Troop B-27 at the First Baptist Church, to demonstrate his fire making skills. He is especially noted for the fires he builds with flint and steel in all of two seconds.

He will appear in full Scout uniform for the boys and their parents. Scoutmaster Gil Gilchrist said, and this will be his last American stop before he leaves for Paris to visit Scout troops there.

Past Chiefs Club is meeting at 8 tonight with Mrs. John Matice of Chapin street. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Edwin Weaver.

local, from disposing of any of the local's funds or assets.

The testimony was made at a hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court. The circuit judges are considering the injunction plea.

Meanwhile, Hoffa's attorney David Previant, sought dismissal of the injunction on grounds that the rebellious members should have taken the matter up with the union head before resorting to court action.

The attorney, in asking for dismissal said the teamster vice president has complied with all articles of the international's constitution.

He also stated that periodic audits of the union's books have been made and results are available to union members. However, Previant stated, the books are now in the hands of the Detroit grand jury.

"If there have been any threats or intimidations against Local 614 members, they have been made without the knowledge or consent of union officials," Previant said.

Michigan Draft Call Dips to 880 for May

LANSING — A Michigan draft call of 880 men in May, the lowest of the year, was announced today by Col. Arthur A. Holmes, state selective service director.

The call compares with 931 ordered inducted in April and a January total of 1,128, highest of the year.

Col. Holmes said that again draft boards expect to be able to fill the May call with registrants 20 years or older because of a continuation of the high rate of volunteering.

More than half of the May call is expected to be made up of volunteers, he said.

To fill the May call, Wayne County will furnish 328 men and Oakland County 42.

CIO Asks Yes Vote on City Tax Issue

the CIO council president said he's been interested in a civic auditorium (another proposed project) "ever since I became part of the CIO."

"As for other improvements, our own members," he said, "have complained about rough pavements and lack of parking space. This program would buy more street paving projects, more blacktopping, and some parking space downtown."

"Another bad situation here is water supply," Haggard said. "We run into that same problem every summer—when water taps run dry or give out just a trickle. More wells are included in this program."

Haggard also cited the need for an extra sewage plant to take care of northern Pontiac homes, a public safety building to house city police and courts, and more parks and playgrounds—all part of the city's plans if its tax limit raise goes through.

"I only hope," he said, "that property owners will vote on Monday as our council did a while ago—vote 'yes' on the city's entire program."

Questioned about solutions to the city's off-street parking problem, he said:

"I believe that the most suitable long range parking plan should be adopted and immediately implemented in part. In other words, any new parking space, regardless of size or location, will be an improvement over the present situation."

Regarding combating juvenile delinquency, he said: "Cooperation with existing social agencies, in an effort to discover cause, and taking all necessary steps to correct the situation would help combat juvenile delinquency. I also favor construction and operation of more athletic and social facilities."

Poor county road conditions delayed only one draftee from the county, and all left on time at 7 a.m.

The majority of men who departed today will probably leave tonight for Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training.

Leaving today from Board 65 were:

Fred A. Vollrath, 493 E. Beverly Ave. Robert E. Jarrard, 608 Third Ave. Donald E. Hunsinger, 30 Lester Ct. Charles Ray, 304 Fisher Ave. Walter Mahin, 450 Branch St. Clyde Wilson, 511 Fildew Ave. Local Board 67 drafted the following men:

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Reported in good condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac are the Rev. Carroll Claus, 53, of Wyandotte, and John S. Lewis, 58, of 6355 E. Surrey.

They were injured Monday morning in an accident at Telegraph and 14-Mile Rds. that took the life of Claus' wife, Georgia, 50.

BIRMINGHAM — Robert S. Owen, 54, of 303 Park St., director of shows and exhibits for the Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corp., is a candidate for election to the City Commission April 5.

A past director of the Detroit Sportsman's Congress, a resident here since 1945 and the father of two sons, Owen has served as co-chairman of the Citizens' Fire Station Study Committee and is chief of warden service in the local civil defense program.

Questioned about the city's off-street parking problem, he said: "Birmingham's off-street parking problem has been kicked around . . . for five years. I feel that an unbiased group consisting of merchants, home owners, a parking lot expert and a city commissioner could propose a solution."

Regarding combating juvenile delinquency, he said: "Through the combined efforts of PTA's, church groups and youth organizations, a program of recreation and entertainment could be set up which would result in a decrease of juvenile delinquency."

BIRMINGHAM — A candidate for the City Commission in the April 5 election is George W. Mullin, 58, of 1420 Buckingham. He is a salesman for the Pontiac Varnish Co. of Pontiac.

A member of the board of directors of the Birmingham Rotary Club and past president of Adams School PTA, he is president of Birmingham Estates Subdivision Assn. He has resided here since 1938 and is the father of four children.

Questioned about the city's off-street parking problem, he said: "The City Planning Commission has been working on this and should have it well in hand. No owner should be taxed to provide parking lots for the shopping center of Birmingham; if merchants do not solve this problem they will suffer."

Regarding combating juvenile delinquency, he said: "Adequate police protection and education of parents, and more public information on what is taking place might get some parents to take more interest in where their children go and what goes on when they get there."

Dulles Asks United Action to Stop Reds in Indochina

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles—speaking with the advance approval of President Eisenhower—last night urged "united action" by the free nations to prevent Communist domination of Indochina and all Southeast Asia.

Communist domination in that area of the world "would be a grave threat to the whole free community," Dulles said in a major foreign policy declaration.

"The United States feels that that possibility should not be passively accepted, but should be met by united action," he said.

"This might have serious risks. But these risks are far less than would face us a few years from now, if we dare not be resolute today."

"Sometimes it is necessary to take risks to win peace, as in war it is necessary to take risks to win victory. The chances for peace are usually bettered by letting a potential aggressor know in advance where his aggression could lead him."

Dulles' declaration of the Communist threat in the Far East was delivered in an address before the Overseas Press Club at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

It was learned in Washington that his call for "united action" had been specifically cleared with Eisenhower at a weekend White House conference.

Dulles made clear that he meant action by the United States and its allies, in contrast to previous speeches in which he spoke of possible United States retaliation.

He did not spell out specific "united action" measures. A State Department aide said any moves would be discussed in detail with U. S. allies.

The secretary was interrupted 12 times by applause as he spoke to 1,000 persons at the dinner.

The speech was broadcast nationally by radio and television, and by the Voice of America abroad.

Dulles said that at the forthcoming Geneva conference on Far Eastern problems the United States will not be "disposed to give Communist China what it wants from us, merely in exchange for its promises of future good behavior." He said the United States would not abandon the Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa and encourage its "bloody liquidation by the Chinese Communists."

In a preview of the U. S. position at the peace conference on Korea and Indochina opening April 26 at Geneva, he declared:

"We hope that any Indochina discussion will serve to bring the Chinese Communists to see the danger of their apparent design for the conquest of Southeast Asia, so that they will cease and desist."

He also said the United States government has no intention of granting diplomatic recognition to Communist China or of voting to seat it in the United Nations.

"It is now the policy of the United States," he declared, "not to exchange United States performance for Communist promises."

INSURE! BE SURE!Arabs Ask U.N. to Act on Raids

Jordan Accuses Israel of Killing 9, Wounding 16 Sunday Night

JERUSALEM (U)—Jordan pressed for U. N. action today on the latest bloody Arab-Jewish incident in which it charges Israeli forces killed nine persons and wounded 16 in the Jordanian border village of Nativ.

Israel viewed the attack as a "local reaction" to a previous border killing by Arabs.

The Jordan government demanded an emergency meeting today of the U. N.-sponsored Mixed Armistice Commission to probe the one-hour raid Sunday night on the village of 500 miles east of the Jordan-Israeli demarcation line in the Jordan Hills near Bethlehem.

U. N. sources said the armistice commission would investigate the incident, which heightened the growing tension between the Jewish state and her Arab neighbors—still technically at war under a shaky truce since 1948.

It still was not known, however, whether Israel would show up for the commission meeting. The Israelis have been boycotting the armistice group since it failed to uphold their charge that Jordan was responsible for the March 17 ambush of a Jewish bus on the Negev Desert in which 11 persons were slain.

The Israeli government did not mention the bus incident specifically in its first reaction to the latest killing. Prime Minister Moshe Sharett, refraining from denying that Israeli citizens might have carried out the raid, said the attack "looks like a reaction to the Kissalon incident."

He referred to the slaying over the weekend of a 30-year-old Jewish night watchman at the little Israeli village of Kissalon, not far from Nativ across the border. Israel has charged Arabs from Jordan did the killing.

"This does not alter the fact," said Sharett, "that we deplore any act of violence. But we also maintain the basic responsibility is with that side (the Arabs) which again and again starts this constant chain of outrages."

National Carpet WeekConstantly Used Floors Require Good Coverings

Floors are used more constantly than any other element of the home.

In today's living, with the family life centered around the hearth or television, the appearance of floor covering becomes of vital importance to the satisfaction of the home interior.

Carpet makes a house a home; makes a room warm and friendly. It unifies interior decoration by enhancing the quality of furniture and complementing the colors, textures and accessories.

It offers a sweep of color in true dimensional texture. It deadens the noise and clatter and is as easy to keep sparkling and fresh as any floor surfacing known.

Never before in history has the age-old carpet industry been able to offer such beauty, permanence, color, texture and construction as will be shown during the 1954 Spring Carpet Bazaar, this week. New designs, new fibers, new weaves and new yarn treatments are being shown. Technology and creative design, working hand-in-hand, have provided fine new carpets, always the hallmark of a beautiful interior.

Hot-Rodders Slug Dearborn Doctor

DEARBORN (INS)—Dearborn police today sought two brutal assailants who beat Dr. Edmund W. Waskin, 38, a member of the school board.

It was revealed today that Dr. Waskin was slugged early Sunday on Ford Road near Greenfield. The victim told police he was forced off the road by hot-rodgers. He suffered a fractured nose and a cut forehead.

Dr. Waskin said the teenage attackers used either brass knuckles or a blackjack to hit him. The school board official said he believed the beating had nothing to do with school matters.

Youth Shot, Killed in Teen Gang War

PHILADELPHIA (U)—A 15-year-old boy died of gunshot wounds early today shortly after he was hit by a bullet fired from a speeding automobile as he talked to two girls on a street corner.

It was the third attack within 24 hours in what police described as a new outbreak of juvenile "gang warfare" in North Philadelphia.

Robert Blocker died at St. Luke's Hospital as all available policemen were ordered into the area to pick up all teen-age boys walking streets. A total of 40 or more were taken to a police station for questioning within three hours of the shooting.

You'll never be satisfied with old-fashioned driving

One drive in the new Lincoln for 1954 will show you the big change that has come to motoring.

Gone is the ride that sways on the slightest curve. Gone is the bulging hood, the swollen fenders which make parking a chore. Instead you have greater control and superb performance.

The new Lincoln has been built from the wheels up, from tail-lights to front grille, in a different way. It takes its functional lines from the new look of modern design; its colors and fabrics from the newest trends in home decoration. When you put this new look in motoring in motion you discover an amazing difference.

First, there's supreme comfort. Even around curves you ride with cushioned ease and far less sway because of ball-joint front wheel suspension, exclusive with Lincoln among America's fine cars.

Then you'll find new liveliness in the new Lincoln. Its V-8 engine is more efficient than ever! And the new 4-barrel carburetor makes Lincoln's superb performance even smoother, more responsive.

Won't you come in, see and try the Lincoln or Lincoln Capri. In our opinion, you'll never be satisfied with old-fashioned driving again.

Performance proof: Lincoln again won 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th places over all stock cars in the 1,912-mile Mexican Pan-American Road Race.

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan, Sunday Evening, 8:00 to 9:00. Station WJBE, Channel 5.

Vaccine Tests May Mean End of Polio Depredations

Editor's note: Starting about April 15 health officials across the nation begin a historic trial. Field tests of the polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh. If the vaccine is effective, the crippling career of paralytic poliomyelitis may be ended. This is the first of three articles on what parents everywhere hope may prove man's mastery over a frightening disease.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—The next six months can spell the absolute end of polio, if all goes well. The weapon is a polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk and associates of the University of Pittsburgh.

By present scientific evidence, it should protect children against the vicious polio virus. There is even reason to believe that a few shots of the vaccine can give lifetime protection. The vaccine story is simple, in retrospect—just as the solution of a detective mystery is simple, in retrospect.

Dr. Salk's vaccine is made of dead virus, using all three types of virus which can cause human paralysis.

It is safe, because dead virus cannot cause polio. But the dead virus can still create defenses against live, dangerous virus. The key question is: Is the defense obtained this way really good enough?

The answer can only be found by giving the vaccine to hundreds of thousands of children, before the polio season begins. Local health authorities and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis are conducting these field trials.

This summer many of these vaccinated children, along with unvaccinated youngsters, will be invaded by polio virus in natural exposure or infection.

Do most—or all—the vaccinated children escape paralysis, as compared with the nonvaccinated?

If the answer is yes, the vaccine works and can abolish polio. If it doesn't, the search must start afresh.

The reason for believing the vaccine will work is easy—antibodies.

Antibodies are nature's policemen. They are tiny protein particles, circulating in the blood, which can combine with and disarm an invading germ or virus.

When some germ attacks you, your body starts making antibodies against it. If you make enough antibodies soon enough, you win the battle. If you don't, you become ill and sometimes die.

Once you have made antibodies, you usually keep them. You have your antibody factories all set up, ready to go to work at a moment's notice. The antibodies against one kind of germ or virus work only against that specific disease agent.

It is now known that most of us by age 15 already have antibodies against one, two, or all three separate types of virus which can cause paralytic polio.

The purpose of a vaccine is to or booster shot of vaccine is given sometime later, antibody production soars sky-high. Some children even got more antibodies than they show after natural infection with polio.

And Dr. Salk has a little evidence that natural exposure to polio after one or two shots of vaccine may act like a booster shot of vaccine. The sensitized antibody mechanism may be triggered into quick, high production of antibodies against the virus which is making an invasion.

Battle Creek Catholics to Construct New Church

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Rev. Fr. Adolph Oser said the St. Joseph Catholic Church will begin construction of a new building on present church property, probably in June.

He said permission to go ahead with the building this year had been received from the Most Rev. Joseph Albers, bishop of the Lansing Diocese. The new building will seat 650 persons. The present building will be used as a parish hall.

Draft-Evading Vet Hauled From Court

CHICAGO (AP)—John Forbes, 27-year-old World War II veteran, had to be dragged from a federal courtroom yesterday after he was sentenced to three years in prison for refusing to register for the draft.

Forbes sagged limply to the floor and refused to rise after Judge John P. Barnes sentenced him. Six deputy marshals dragged him to the elevator and to the lockup two floors above the courtroom.

"It's terrible," screamed his mother, Mrs. Russell Forbes. "They let a swindler go but they give my boy three years."

Forbes, convicted by a jury for refusing to register for the draft under the 1948 law, would not have been eligible for the draft by reason of his 21 months' service in the Army.

"My conscience directs me to oppose the government when it takes an evil course," he told Judge Barnes, who had asked him "would your conscience allow you to hoodwink a jury?" "I have no belief in a supreme being but I believe in humanity," Forbes said.

Senate to Push Economic Plans

GOP Leaders Move to Bolster Nation, With Ike's Apparent Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders moved with President Eisenhower's apparent backing today to push into the foreground of the congressional program measures aimed at bolstering the nation's economy.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) invited key committee chairmen to a meeting of the Senate Republican Policy Committee at which he said he will urge early action on major economic proposals made by Eisenhower.

Ferguson, who heads the policy group, listed these in an interview as including the House-approved tax revision bill and measures for housing authorization, social security expansion, hospital construction, highway building, rehabilitation of the handicapped and revision of public assistance and child welfare.

"We plan to give economic measures priority as much as possible in our drive to get the President's program enacted," the Michigan senator said. "Of course, as other measures of general nature come along, they will be sandwiched in."

In the latter category, he said emphasis will be laid on passage of a farm bill, revision of the Taft-Hartley Act, approval of a foreign trade measure and action on the regular government money bills.

Eisenhower prepared for delivery to Congress today a message spelling out his foreign economic recommendations.

Although Ferguson would not comment, it was learned elsewhere that he and Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, had checked lists with Eisenhower and had his approval for the push behind the economic measures.

Ferguson said he looks for no business recession of serious proportions but added that the economic measures should help along in the transfer from a Korean War to a peace economy.

He said he thinks final approval of a bill to reduce many excise taxes—which may come tomorrow—will serve as an immediate stimulant to business.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who opposed the billion-dollar cut Congress made in this instance, said last night Republicans could take credit for "the greatest tax reduction in history."

He estimated the 1954 total at seven billions.

But the secretary said on an MBS radio program he doesn't believe any additional reductions will be in order, even if business does not pick up as he now expects it to do.

He said the public has been "a little misled in talk about how much business has to pick up," adding that employment in January and February of this year was higher than in any other year except 1953.

Ruling out emergency tax measures, Humphrey said he thinks the things the Republican administration is doing now "are sufficient and will do what is required" to keep the economy at a high level.

DC3 Cartwheels, Explodes at Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A privately owned DC3 airplane cartwheeled as it touched down at the Akron-Canton Airport yesterday and broke in half. Seconds before the craft exploded, the six persons aboard crawled through the wreckage to safety.

The plane's pilot, Burr E. Hall, 41, of San Leandro, Calif., said he was preparing for an instrument landing when the plane's right wing dipped and hit a rise in the ground. The wing ripped free and the airplane's two engines dropped out while it flipped over onto the flat land of the airport.

Except for cuts and bruises, no one aboard was injured.

Aggressor Then as Now

The 100th anniversary of the start of the Crimean War, March 28, is a reminder that history does repeat itself and that Russia was an aggressor then as she is now.

Those who consider Soviet policy a return to Czarist expansionism certainly have history on their side. Today Turkey is linked with the Western Powers—United States, Britain and France—in the NATO organization. A century ago Turkey, then called by Czar NICHOLAS I the "sick man of Europe" formed an alliance with Great Britain and France.

In 1854 the Russians coveted Constantinople, now Istanbul, as they do today. But the city is in Turkish hands now as it was then. The war started when Czar NICHOLAS I occupied the Danubian principalities (Rumania) after Turkey refused his demand for the right to protect all the Greeks in Turkey, the bulk of the Sultan's subjects.

Britain joined France in declaring war on Russia because she feared Czarist expansionism's threat to her trade route to India. NAPOLEON III entered the war because he had a personal grudge against Czar NICHOLAS.

History's verdict is that the war failed to settle the Eastern question. It ended with the fall of Sebastopol on September 8, 1855, and a treaty humiliating Russia. But it will live forever in human annals because it gave us FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE and the foundations she laid for the fine medical care now given war wounded.

Sleep Pill Deaths Soar

Do you take powders or pills to induce sleep?

If you do you are risking involuntary suicide!

That is the burden of a report by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which shows that sleeping potion deaths now exceed 400 a year. That is an increase of one and a half times since pre-World War II days.

With few exceptions fatal sleeping potion accident victims are adults, the majority in their 30s and 40s, women outnumbering men two to one.

Emphasis is placed in the report on the need for greater effort to acquaint the public with the dangers inherent in using such drugs carelessly. Also advocated, and obviously much needed, are further legal restrictions on the sale of these drugs.

If you can't sleep, play it safe and see your doctor. Don't risk being a sleeping pill statistic.

France Stalling on EDC

Suspicion is growing in this country that the Laniel government of France is stalling in the matter of ratifying European Defense Community treaties.

So far France has made no real move toward implementing EDC. In fact it now appears willing to break its promise to Secretary DULLES at Berlin that debate on EDC would be launched in the National Assembly at an early date.

A development contributing to this belief was the "leak" of Britain's important concession — to participate in EDC as a nonmember. Under it an undisclosed number of British infantry and air units would be incorporated into EDC and operated under EDC command.

Britain had planned that announcement of this limited partnership would come during debate in the French Assembly and hoped that it would spur members to vote ratification. Latest word is that the leak came from the French themselves.

Other new difficulties are those which have cropped up between Bonn and Paris over the Saar settlement. Chancellor Adenauer is committed to a European solution there based on a Dutch plan already accepted by the Council of Europe. Some French commentators, however, are saying that the Chancellor is trying to put something over on France.

In Washington most of the French opposition to EDC is believed to come from government bureaucrats. The tragedy of the situation is that there seems to be no political leadership favorable to the treaties strong enough to overcome this opposition.

That Does It

We finally have the last word on the St. Lawrence Seaway, reports Mrs. FRANCES P. BOLTON, Representative from Ohio.

Izvestia, official organ of the Communist Party in Moscow, is against the waterway.

If any of our Congressmen had any doubts about the wisdom of this project from a defense standpoint, this should clear them up. Let's get at this job that we have talked about for so many years.

Harry Dean Says We Can Buy Prosperity; Believes Best Way to Save Is to Invest

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address, and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

Considering all the wishful thinking, mostly on the part of Democrats, concerning the likelihood of an imminent depression; I would like to inject a new train of thought which should be conducive to a local upshot in business.

The only danger threatening our present-day economy is too much money not being spent. The people who really have money won't spend it. It remains for those who don't have it, but have good credit, and earning power, to plunge in and help re-prime the pumps of exchange and inter-change.

This the people will do if radio and newspaper publicity will accept the positive and ignore the negative. The day can come even in this country when money will inflate to a point of negligible value.

You not only can't take it with you, but if you keep it too long you may have to take it all to the grocery store someday to buy a day's supply of groceries.

In Germany on Oct. 22, 1923 a 10,000,000 mark note was all it took to make a millionaire but on the 23rd it took the whole 10,000,000 to buy a couple of loaves of bread.

The best way to save is to invest still potent money in real things that contribute to a more gracious way of life.

Dulles' Strong, Positive Foreign Policy More Like the Old U. S. Before Acheson

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The American people may thank their lucky stars that the Stevenson-Acheson-Truman concepts of how to deal with Soviet Russia do not prevail today and that the Eisenhower-Dulles policy of clear-cut warnings and resolute preparation for any contingency that may arise, if the Communist aggressor moves again, has taken its place.

The average man is not always alerted to the insidious way by which politicians, for partisan advantage, do not hesitate to undermine the foreign policy of their own country and raise unnecessary suspicions that could divide our Allies.

Hence, the deliberate campaign of sabotage of American foreign policy which began with Adlai Stevenson's speech on March 6 has not received the attention it merited.

But now that former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in a statement printed in the New York Times of Sunday, March 28, openly participates in the campaign against the use of "massive retaliation" as announced by Secy. Dulles in his New York speech of Jan. 12 last, it begins to be apparent that a concerted effort has been undertaken by the Trumanites to whittle down the force and effectiveness of the present program of the government of the United States.

What Messrs. Stevenson and Acheson have evidently decided to do is to accuse the Eisenhower-Dulles administration of planning some form of aggression or of formulating a policy deliberately inviting World War III.

If such statements had come from men without experience in government or unaware of the delicacy of dealing publicly with military plans and intentions which the enemy are always eager to learn, it would be understandable.

But both Acheson and Stevenson know the dangers that arise when military planning is subject to public debate and minute cross-examination by partisan critics. The sequence of events is this:

Secy. Dulles in his speech of Jan. 12 said: "Local defense will always be important. But there is no local defense which alone will contain the mighty land power of the Communist world. Local defenses must be reinforced by the further deterrent of massive retaliatory power."

"A potential aggressor must know that he cannot always prescribe battle conditions that suit him. . . . The way to deter aggression is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing."

The important words to be noted are "free community," which, of course, means allied consultations and allied unity.

But on March 6, Adlai Stevenson, in a speech at Miami, said: "All this means, if it means anything, that if the Communists try another Korea we will retaliate by dropping bombs on Moscow or Peiping or wherever we choose — or else we will concede the loss of another Korea — and presumably other countries after that — as 'normal' in the course of events."

He then asked: "Will we turn brush fires and local hostilities into major conflicts? Will our Allies go along?"

Although Canada's foreign minister, Lester Pearson, promptly followed the Stevenson line in a speech on March 12 which indirectly accused America, in effect, of thinking of going it alone in the world, Sir Winston Churchill on March 23 told the British parliament that "smooth and friendly arrangements" had been made for instant consultations between the United States and Great Britain and that the recent statements by Secy. Dulles on the employment of U. S. atomic-bombing power have been in full accord with British-American understandings.

This, however, did not satisfy former Secretary Acheson, who in his statement published on March 28 insisted that America must resign herself to a lot of wars like Korea. He declared: "If it is said, as it sometimes has been, that we cannot afford another war like Korea, the answer is that such a war is the only kind we or anyone else can afford. Only a madman would attempt to avoid it by plunging into the unspeakable disaster of a world war."

How much more in keeping with realism and with the American spirit of resoluteness the Eisenhower policy happens to be can be seen by noting the words of Secy. Dulles in his speech this week, wherein he makes it clear that further aggression should be met by "united action" and that "sometimes it is necessary to take risks to win peace, just as it is necessary in war to take risks to win victory."

Dulles has not whitened down, softened, or adulterated his original statements.

His firm attitude is one that can prevent a third world war and deter aggression even in local areas, just as the weak attitude revealed by Acheson — then secretary of state — in his January 1950 speech, notifying the Communist world that Korea was outside the defense perimeter of United States military planning, virtually invited the Communists to begin in June 1950 their aggression in Korea.

Aunt Het

What we need ain't better divorce laws, but a way to teach young folks how to act when they're married, so they won't make a mess of it.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Risque Experiences May Bring You Unhappiness

Ellen's true confession will supplement yesterday's Case Record about illicit affairs. The clinical data in this column is right out of my office. They are true cases of actual patients, so profit from them and use such facts to help train your children in the moral pathways that produce permanent happiness.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-362: Ellen K., aged 29, is a dandy case to refute the inference from the Kinsey report that pre-marital affairs help insure a girl's marriage against divorce.

"Dr. Crane, I am heart-broken," Ellen said, and began to cry, "for my whole world is tumbling down around me."

"I grew up in a manufacturing town. My parents were divorced and I was allowed to run wild."

"My crowd was sophisticated, and I had several affairs before I graduated from high school."

"Then I left home and took a year at business college. After graduation, I got a job in an engineering firm, where I met the most wonderful man I have ever known. "We fell in love, and married when I was 20. But I didn't tell my husband about my past. Now we have two adorable children. "Six months ago my husband was transferred back to my home town. I tried to persuade him not to come, for I was afraid.

"But he said it was too good a promotion to turn down. Besides, I didn't have any logical reasons that I dared voice. "So we moved to my home town. But within two weeks, that sword of Damocles you mentioned, had fallen on me.

"For on the bowling team with my husband, were a couple of fellows that I used to run around with. They didn't know my husband was married to me."

"After a couple of beers that night, one of my ex-boy friends asked the other what had become of Ellen B."

"Then they began to reveal our many affairs. One of them boasted about how many times he had been out with me."

"Well, my husband said nothing to them, but he came home and confronted me with their statements, so I had to confess."

"I told him I loved only him. I truthfully confessed that my affairs with these other boys had meant nothing to me or them."

"But nothing I can say or do will affect my husband. His pride was so humiliated to think that men in his plant were boasting about their affairs with me."

"At first, he told me he was going to kill me. Then he vowed he'd get a divorce."

"I begged and wept and pleaded. So now he says he may stay with me for the sake of the children. But he hasn't kissed me or given me a kind word for the last five months."

"My heart is broken, and I can't stand to see him tearing himself to pieces as he is doing, for he truly loved me and was devoted to our babies."

"So please, tell young women that pre-marital affairs only predispose to later unhappiness. Mine never trained me to be a better wife."

"Dr. Crane, I agree with you that the proper advice, as from one of your sex bulletins, does far more to prophorize a happy marriage than hundreds of illicit affairs. I know by bitter experience."

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3-cent stamp, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological reports.)

Dr. Brady Frets Over Having Offered Idea of Prophylactic Drug for Jitters

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

I want to tell you what relief my daughter received from the remedy you prescribed for "examination jitters."

She had long dreaded getting up before an audience to speak. On graduation day when her turn came to speak she said she had no fear at all.

For weeks she had been dreading the thought of it and saying it was going to spoil her whole graduation. (Mrs. C. W.)

The pamphlet on Stage Fright and Examination Jitters—for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope and no clipping — I offer, with my sympathy, for I have suffered my share of both afflictions.

It gives medicinal aid which, I am confident, can do no harm in any case and, I am happy to learn, does good in many cases, as Mrs. C. W. reports.

The young person preparing for examination or rehearsal for his or her first performance feels miserable enough about it, but, after all, he or she is generally just one of a group or class, all of whom are probably in the same boat.

The respectable, law-abiding man, leading a peaceful family life and minding his own business, is suddenly drafted to address the convention next Tuesday; or the personable matron is fated to make a report to the regional meeting of the PTA.

I feel so sorry for these unfortunate ones that I'd gladly give each a shoulder to cry on while I try hard to keep from laughing at their plight. You see, I've had it, so I can laugh as well as I can cry about it.

But a brief news item set me thinking about this. Whether it was genuine or publicity stunt, it conveyed a suggestion. A character described as "blond and buxom" had taken an "overdose" of "sleeping pills"—of course the poison was not named—after a quarrel with her agent's wife who did not choose to divorce her husband in the Hollywood tradition.

Here in Yankeland it is not only in tired old movies on television but also in real life that there is always a gun, sleeping pills, liquor, aspirin or an acetaminophene in hand.

Mrs. C.M.'s report of the happy effect of my medicine makes me wonder whether it is right to offer victims of stage fright or examination jitters a medicinal prophylactic.

When I awoke at 7:30 a.m. and went into my regular morning rolls and the half dozen movements of the last Brady symphony described and illustrated in Little Lesson No. 16, The 7 Keys to Vite (for which send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope), I couldn't remember just why I had been disturbed about it last night.

After all the remedy is nothing but quinine in the same small dose as a great many individuals take daily in time of respiratory infection as a prophylactic, combined with an ordinary daily ration of vitamin B1 (thiamin).

There are good scientific reasons why this prophylactic works so well, and, to the best of my knowledge, no reason why one subject to stage fright or examination jitters should not use it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 150 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. 25c.

Gene Tierney Going to Visit Aly Again

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Gene Tierney's studio says she is returning today to a Mexican beach resort where she held a weekend meeting with Moslem Prince Aly Khan. But the actress said before she left that they aren't married. "We are not contemplating marriage at this time," she said by phone from a film location near Mojave, Calif. "Prince Aly's trip was merely one of friendship." The prince and the actress reached the resort, Rosarito Beach, between Tijuana and Ensenada, by devious routes. Aly came from Paris, via Montreal and Mexico City. Miss Tierney and her mother flew from Hollywood to Mexico City Friday, a 20th Century-Fox spokesman said.

Miss Tierney returned to Mojave yesterday, to resume work in "The Egyptian." And last night she said she was headed for Mexico again.

Billy Graham Warns of H-Bomb Danger

LONDON (INS)—American evangelist Billy Graham warned last night that the hydrogen bomb "could almost destroy civilization" and urged the people of the world to turn to God as their only hope. Graham told a capacity audience at London's Harringay Arena: "If there was even an hour when we need to turn to God it is now. The problems we face have gotten beyond man." The young preacher's sermon was carried by special hookup from the arena to a crowded movie house in Southeast London.

Tonight's meeting at Harringay, second in the fifth week of Graham's British "Crusade," will be carried by closed lines to a hall in Glasgow, Scotland.

Dogs Stranded After Trailing Douglas Hikers

SENECA, Md. (AP)—Ray Riley reported yesterday that he has a couple of dogs on his hands—stranded after last week's hiking expedition along the Chesapeake and Ohio canal led by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and party.

The dogs, one a collie and the other a beagle hunting dog, joined the Douglas party at Sharpsburg, Md., and "hiked better than 50 miles." The dogs were left behind here when the expedition continued on into Washington.

Riley says he is anxious for the owners to claim the dogs.

Ill-Fated British Ship Sinks During Towing

LONDON (INS)—The admiralty reported today that the British transport Empire Windrush, which caught fire and was abandoned Sunday in the Mediterranean, sank yesterday while being towed to Gibraltar.

Three survivors of the remarkable sea rescue off Algiers arrived in London last night by air. Most of the others are en route by ship. Only four of the 1,428 persons aboard died in the explosion and fire.

Accountant Admits Embezzling $267,000

NEW YORK (AP)—A state hospital accountant embezzled $267,000 over the past five years but claims he had bad luck and lost it all on horse race bets, the district attorney's office reported today.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office said the thefts were admitted by Alexander P. Maran, 57, of Brooklyn.

Maran, an accountant at Manhattan State Hospital on Ward's Island in the East River, was booked on a charge of grand larceny.

Detectives said he took $247,000 in hospital funds and $20,000 from the Hospital store. He managed to cover up the losses for a time, they said, but ran away to Miami, Fla., two weeks ago when he heard state auditors were coming to check the mental hospital's accounting methods.

Later he decided to give himself up and telephoned police, Hogan's office said. His call was the first information officials received of the alleged thefts. He surrendered to police yesterday.

Coffee was imported into Colonial America as early as 1760.

Who Is the "George" That Will Start the Next War?

According to ancient prophecy, a man named Gog, of the Land of Magog, will bring about the worst war in history. A new book, entitled "Beware of These Days," reveals that the Land of Magog is Russia, and that "Gog" is an ancient spelling for the name of George. There are several leaders named George now prominent in Russia, so the author warns that any one of them is likely to be the prophesied Gog.

The astounding 64 page book, which gives a complete analysis of several great prophecies covering these times, is offered free of charge by Edwin J. Dingle, well known explorer and geographer. He tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Other tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and poise.

These strange methods were found in far-off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. He discloses how he yearned rare wisdom and long-hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

The 64-page book he is now offering free to the public offers guidance for those who wisely wish to prepare themselves and their affairs for the great crisis ahead. It gives details of what to anticipate, and when. Those who do pull through will have little to fear, because a glorious era will follow. Meantime, it says, "Beware of These Days."

This liberal offer is made because he expects that many readers will later become interested in the entire system of mind power he learned in the Far East and which is now ready to be disclosed to the Western World.

For your free copy of the astonishing prophecies covering these momentous times, as revealed in this 64-page book, address the Institute of Mental Physics, 213 So. Hobart Blvd., Dept. J296, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Just your name and address on a postcard or in an envelope will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

Committees Practically
Doom Housing Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats found themselves today in the odd position of trying to rescue President Eisenhower's public housing program, virtually scuttled by two committees dominated by members of Eisenhower's own party.

The battle was to be joined when the House considered for amendments a $5,566,118,763 appropriation bill to finance for the coming fiscal year the Public Housing Administration, the Atomic Energy Commission and more than a dozen other agencies.

Overshadowing the money allotments in the bill is a housing provision written in by the House Appropriations Committee and almost certain to be knocked out on a technicality.

This provision would limit to 20,000 the number of low-rent public housing units to be started in the year beginning July 1, with 15,000 more the following year. This program then would end. The 35,000 units were allowed only because the government already has contracted for them.

Thus, the Appropriations Committee flew in the face of Eisenhower's request of last January for authorization of 140,000 new units in the next four years.

But the House Rules Committee, composed of eight Republicans and four Democrats, went even further. It refused yesterday to sanction the limited housing action of the Appropriations Committee.

The Rules Committee passed on all major legislation before it goes to the House. In this case, it held the Appropriations Committee had overstepped its authority by writing legislation into a money bill.

The upshot is that an objection by a single House member may knock out the authority for even 20,000 new starts next year.

If this happens, Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the Appropriations Committee told newsmen, "The housing program will be dead."

Not even contracts already made, Taber claimed, could be carried out. Some Democrats disputed this.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, assistant Democratic leader, and Yates of Illinois, a Democratic member of the Appropriations Committee, accused Republicans of having "repudiated" Eisenhower. Yates said he would offer an amendment to authorize 35,000 additional housing starts next year "and help the President carry out his program."

"It's obvious that his own party won't help," Yates added.

East Germany Asks Allies to Go

Says Military Missions
Are Incompatible With Sector's 'Sovereignty'

BERLIN (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, strong man secretary of East Germany's ruling Communist party, demanded today that the Big Three Western Powers withdraw their military missions from the East German Republic.

He told the opening session of his Socialist Unity party's first convention in four years that maintenance of Western military missions in the Soviet zone was incompatible with the sovereignty the Russians proclaimed last week for East Germany.

In another bid for the long-denied Western recognition of his Russian-dominated government, Ulbricht said the East German Republic is "ready to take up normal diplomatic relations with these states"—the United States, Britain and France.

The three Western Powers now have military missions in the Soviet zone under the four-power occupation agreements but do not recognize the East zone government on the grounds it is not representative of the zone's 18 million Germans.

Ulbricht in effect offered them the chance to keep their military observers in the Eastern zone only as military attaches to accredited diplomatic missions.

Ulbricht's demand was one of the first fruits of the Soviet declaration March 25 that it would henceforth assume the same relations with East Germany as with other "sovereign" states.

Homicide Officer Begs Police Aid in Pen Mystery

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Homicide Lt. L. L. Watts asked police for help today.

Last week Watts found a fountain pen at his home and presumed he had absent-mindedly picked it up at his police headquarters office.

A note on the homicide bulletin board failed to find an owner.

Watts, meanwhile, left the pen on his desk and it disappeared.

He added this note today to the bulletin board:

"Here is the sad situation: I have learned this pen belongs to my wife's sister. I need to recover it. If you can help me, I would certainly appreciate it."

O-JIB-WA BITTERS HIGHLY PRAISED BY DETROIT COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Gansbeke, 6449 Concord Street, Detroit, publicly praise O-JIB-WA BITTERS for the relief that it has brought to them.

"My wife and I have suffered many years with indigestion and gas on our stomachs. I have been bothered with rheumatism, too, as the muscles in my back, hips and legs were stiff and very painful. Sometimes I was in such bad shape that I could hardly walk home from work. I tried many different medicines but nothing helped much until I read in the newspaper about O-JIB-WA BITTERS, and tried it.

About two weeks after I started taking it, I was relieved of the pains and stiffness. My suffering from gas and indigestion went away too, so I talked Alice into trying it. She found relief too, in fact we enjoyed eating more as the food seemed to taste better. I used to take my bottle of O-JIB-WA BITTERS to work with me, so I could take my noontime dose. The other fellows at work often made fun of my taking it, but that didn't bother me because I knew it was good medicine. I suppose they were laughing at the name, "O-Jib-Wa," but what difference does it make what it's called as long as it makes people better. I am retired now, and my wife and I feel fine, thanks to your swell medicine. We are happy to tell everyone what O-JIB-WA has done for us.

Cairo Students Protest Decision

Demonstrate Against Continuation of Military Government

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Thousands of Cairo University students demonstrated today with noisy slogans and vows of an "armed struggle" against the Revolutionary Council's decision to continue its military rule of Egypt.

After hearing a speaker call for the "armed struggle," the students repeated after him a vow to "destroy military dictatorship, restore parliamentary life, live in peace with those who are in peace with the people and fight those who fight the people."

Then the students dispersed without violence but most of them stayed away from classes.

Thus, the seething political crisis took a swing in the opposite direction from the shouts and screams of organized demonstrators yesterday favoring continued rule by the council of young military officers and opposing President Mohamed Naguib's proposal to return the country to civilian government.

Vice Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and the hard core of officers supporting him in the council yesterday rescinded Naguib's promise of last week to turn the government over to a constituent assembly which he had scheduled for election next July.

The council, which led the military revolt against ex-King Farouk, canceled the election and said it would continue to control the government until January 1956.

Church Decides to Drop Action Against Reverend

KALAMAZOO (AP)—The Magyar Synod and the Hungarian Evangelical Reformed Church asked Circuit Court Monday to drop its suit against the Rev. Benjamin Jozsa. They had previously asked the court to enjoin the Rev. Jozsa from occupying the church pulpit.

But they told the court Monday "in true Christian spirit" they wanted to give him a chance to follow their orders.

Detroit Stands Mute to Statutory Rape Charge

Raymond W. Bastion, 37, of Detroit, stood mute on a charge of statutory rape Monday before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and was released on $2,000 bond. A plea of not guilty was entered for him by the court.

Bastion is accused of raping a 15-year-old Detroit girl in Avon Township March 10. He once was convicted of a similar charge in Houghton County, but the conviction was set aside by the Michigan Supreme Court in 1951.

Bob Considine Says:

H-Scientists Way Off Base in Estimating Bomb's Blast

NEW YORK (INS)—We are now in an era where it is no longer safe or sane to conduct explosive tests.

The March 1 hydrogen test indicated that our tampering with the secrets of matter may have gotten out of hand. About 1,000 of our finest scientists now in the Eniwetok-Bikini area were badly fooled by the March 1 test.

Knowledge will come in time. Maybe it has already. There has been another test since the March 1 bomb or device, and, as yet, no complaints have been received.

However, there is already more anti-American sentiment in Japan today, because our March 1 H-test backfired, than since the day before MacArthur landed in 1945 to take over as a conqueror.

The Japanese are as angry as the people of the United States would be if we imported food from another country only to discover later that the country concerned had been dabbling with a weapon that had poisoned the food.

The radioactive ashes that fell on 23 Japanese fishermen and their catch has even more significance. One large American canned goods firm has informed the State Department that it will not buy or pack any more Japanese tuna until further notice.

"A hasty act like that could seriously affect Japan economy."

Until the March 1 test our A-scientists were remarkably right about the power of the bombs they tried even though a few gloomily predicted that the first A-bomb at Alamogordo would set up a chain reaction which would destroy the atmosphere.

But scientists estimated in advance that the first bomb would have a yield equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT — which it had, exactly.

Later, these advance estimates got down to a point of perfection and the AEC put troops and reporters in trenches a couple of miles from the blast, positive that neither would be cremated.

Now we seem to be back with the uncertainties of Alamogordo increased hundreds of times.

But this time we have seriously alienated the affections of a nation which we are counting upon to be a firm ally in the event of all-out war in the Pacific.

With bigger bombs scheduled to be touched off between now and May 1, we could conceivably anger Australia, New Zealand and the French, British and former Dutch colonies out that way. And cause Red China to charge in the U.N. that we have committed an act of aggression, via drifting radioactive dust.

Ask 250 Donors for Bloodmobile

Red Cross Announces Date Is Next Monday at Elks Temple

Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross, today appealed for 250 men and women to give blood when the Red Cross "Bloodmobile" visits Pontiac Monday.

The mobile unit will stop at Pontiac Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave., from 2 until 8 p.m. The local Red Cross office, FE 4-3575, is taking calls for appointments this week.

"Your precious pint of blood can be the difference between life and death for some victim of an accident or a fire—things that happen every day," Mrs. N. E. Durocher, Red Cross blood chairman for the Pontiac area, said today.

"The sick and injured in your city hospitals need it—their doctors may use pint after pint to pull them through illnesses or after operations. The blood that saves lives comes only from people who have plenty of it—and donate it."

Detroit Waits Sentence for Attempted Burglary

Anthony J. Lewis, 21, of Detroit, pleaded guilty Monday to attempted breaking and entering before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland and was returned to the Oakland County Jail to await sentencing April 5.

Lewis admitted a breaking attempt at the Quarten Food Market, at 1744 W. Maple Ave., in Birmingham, on March 18.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. W.

A.—A particularly good ideal for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance and was originated by Houbigant. Try their Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at better stores.

Open Gift When You Receive It

If Present Happens to Be Food, Share It With Others

By EMILY POST

A reader writes as follows: "I never know what to do when someone hands me a gift in the presence of others. Should I keep it for later or open it immediately, and if it happens to be food, must I pass it around the room?"

Answer: To show proper appreciation to the giver, the rule is to open it at once. If it is flowers, you, of course, open it quickly and put them in water at once.

If it is a box of candy or a basket of fruit, you will seem ungracious as well as unappreciative unless you remove the top or the lid of the box and offer some to everyone.

Dear Mrs. Post: My 4-year-old son has been asked to be the ring-bearer at my brother's forthcoming wedding. The men in the wedding party will be wearing tuxedos. The bride-to-be insists that my son wear the same as they.

I think a 4-year-old child would look ridiculous in a tuxedo and am definitely opposed to it. Must he be dressed the same as the men? Also, who is supposed to buy the white satin pillow that my son is to carry?

Answer: I can hardly believe that whoever suggested having a tuxedo made for a young child could have meant it seriously. He should wear a child's white party suit and walk alone carrying the ring securely fastened in the center of a small white cushion supplied by the bride's family.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's father died recently and at the funeral parlor relatives and friends came over to me to express their sympathy.

I was seated at the time and remained so. Will you please tell me if I should have gotten up to acknowledge their sympathy?

Answer: Although it might have been more polite to stand when people greeted you, I don't think anyone could criticize you at a time like that.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Always Finds Time to Aid Families Along His Route

This is the true story of a remarkable milkman, called for my purposes, Milton Melton.

Milton has a milk, butter and egg route in the suburbs and his patrons insist that the world ought to know about him and his deeds. There is, for instance, the woman who got a present of a nice old Persian rug. She was struggling with it in her dining room, tugging at a heavy sideboard and straining mightily, when she looked up to find Milton at the door.

Without a word, he walked in, shoved the furniture out of the way, put the rug in its proper place and moved the furniture back.

Then he said, "I'll just stop by on my way back and if you decide you want it different, we'll fix it. Don't you go breaking your back."

There's a newly made widow about whose financial state Milton apparently worried, because after her husband's death every time she bought a dozen eggs, the milkman gave her at least two extras, for fear, he explained, that some might have been cracked. The fact that his apprehensions were without foundation, did not lessen the widow's appreciation of his kindness.

The woman who really thinks Milton is an angel on earth, though, is a young mother whose baby was ailing when there was a record-breaking snowstorm last winter. Freight trains couldn't get through to bring supplies and even the snowplows were breaking down, but somehow Milton made it.

He walked a mile and a half through deep snow to deliver milk to the sick baby and went 36 hours without sleep to do his best by his other customers.

Though his friends and I think Milton ought to be the best paid milkman in the entire country, it's barely possible that some of his benevolences might be viewed with slight disapproval by his employers.

That is why I hesitate to tell about: One—the time he allowed the child of a family in the agencies of moving to accompany him on his rounds; two—the day he stopped to help a gardener transplant a particularly stubborn honeysuckle bush; three—the way he goes any extra distance to deliver strayed children and pets to their homes and acts as a sort of volunteer towing and flat-tire service for clients stuck or stalled along the road.

Come to think of it, however, these adventures in neighborliness are accomplished on his own time, for while he takes twice as long to make deliveries, he never asks for, nor gets, overtime. He refuses all tips and attempts at payment.

Last December his customers were delighted to have a chance to get even with him just a little bit. Milton loves Christmas and all its customs, especially Christmas trees.

He bought his tree early and left it standing outside the garage ready to take into the house. There some villain spotted it and bore it away. Milton doesn't usually tell his troubles, but this time he was so outraged that he did.

His friends got together, bought the handsomest, thickest tree they could find, loaded it with gifts and sneaked it into his house. The remarkable milkman cried when he saw it and simply can't understand to this day why people are so wonderful to him.

Latin Men Prefer Clinging-Vine Girls

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Girls who plan tropical vacations in search of Latin romance should practice up on some old world manners, advises handsome Carlos Pellerano, who handles tourist matters for the Dominican Republic.

Any girl who expects to get to first base with a Latin swain, says Carlos, should observe these rules:

1. Never make a noise like a career woman. The Latin ideal of

Supper, Shower Honor Couple

A buffet supper and miscellaneous shower were given Saturday evening by Mrs. Joseph Kacsik and Mrs. Arthur Bornak to honor Beverly Bornak and Jack J. Tee, The Kacsik home in Berkeley was the setting for the occasion.

Beverly and Jack will speak their vows April 10 in Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church. She is the daughter of the Gust Bornaks of South East boulevard, and the Emery Tees of Whitfield court are his parents.

Guests included Mrs. Dorothy Roise, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bornak, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tee, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Tee, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Bornak, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Chatterton and the Jack Alexanders.

Others were Delphine Dudzinski, the Roy Jodways of Detroit, Alfred Bornak, Richard Roise, Mr. Kacsik, Arthur Bornak and Mr. and Mrs. John Fant.

feminine charm is strictly a clinging vine.

2. Never try to pay your own dinner check, even if it is included in the price of your package tour. If you are dining with a Latin. This is considered a mortal insult by male Dominicans, as well as others.

3. Never wear shorts or slacks on the street. "It just isn't done by local nice girls."

4. Remember that most young men south of the border have been reared in the old tradition of strict formality. Says Carlos:

"I courted the same girl for seven years, but I never was allowed to see her alone until after we were married. After the engagement was announced, I was permitted to call at her home from 8 to 10 in the evening, but even then, there had to be a chaperone present. That's why Latin men marry young—they have to get married to see your girl."

5. Practice up on your rumba. All Latin love to dance.

6. Learn to look helplessly feminine, and you'll always find a courtly swain eager to help.

7. Don't giggle when your Latin beau kisses your hand. This is merely a mark of his deep respect, and corresponds to the American custom of tipping the hat to a woman.

8. Don't be afraid to accept the attentions of a Latin-American beau. You'll find him the soul of chivalry.

9. When on a date with a Latin, don't talk about such subjects as your job or politics. Your escort would rather discuss the length of your eyelashes or the light of the tropical moon.

10. Don't be surprised if your evening ends with a serenade. It's an old Latin custom still observed, and one enjoyed by the gentlemen as well as their ladies. Says Carlos:

"I've been married 13 years, and just the night before I left for the United States I serenaded my wife. She liked it too."

Like Murder, Talent Will Be Found

By ANNE HEYWOOD
"Vocational tests are perfectly ridiculous!" Mrs. B. said, her eyes flashing. "They told me that I was a natural for public relations, of all things! I don't even know what public relations is."

"I've never had any college. I've been keeping house for 20 years and have never even had a job. Just how in the world do they think I can get into public relations, whatever it is?"

Clean Birdhouses Now

Many people write in and ask how they can attract birds to their yards. In most cases this is not hard to do, and if a few simple things are done, the birds repay you in many ways.

Don't you always feel a thrill when you see the first robin of the year? Some of you Try-Iters live where the birds are around you all year through, but I know that you see other first signs of spring.

The other day I looked out of my Try-It workshop room to see 30 robins! This gave me quite a start, for they were the first ones I had seen this year.

One of the best ways to encourage birds to live in your yard is to give your bird-houses a yearly cleaning just as your mother does to your house in the spring. The birds seem to be more anxious to build in a clean house.

Put on an old glove and clean out all of last year's litter. When you do this, look for signs of wear. Perhaps a nail will be needed on the roof or on a side.

Too, you may want to give your house a coat of paint or stain. This will make your birdhouse last a long time, and you can use this time for making new ones. Get your birdhouse cleaning done now.

needed a job. Her husband, after years in a big job, had suddenly been taken seriously ill.

"I've got to start making some money," she told me. "Our savings are almost gone. So what good does it do to be told that I have a flair for public relations?"

After she calmed down a little, I suggested some books in the field which Mrs. B. could start reading.

I made her go to a big department store in her city and get a sales job. It was a store in which she had always shopped and had a charge account.

At first she hated the idea of working there, but it was just before Christmas and I knew it was the easiest place for her to get a job fast.

Mrs. B. did a good job. She knew how to treat the customers, partly because of her many years as a customer herself, partly because of her real flair for dealing with people, which the tests had indicated.

Right after Christmas, she called in great excitement.

"They want to keep me on," she announced. "They're putting me on the training squad so I can get around to every department in the whole store."

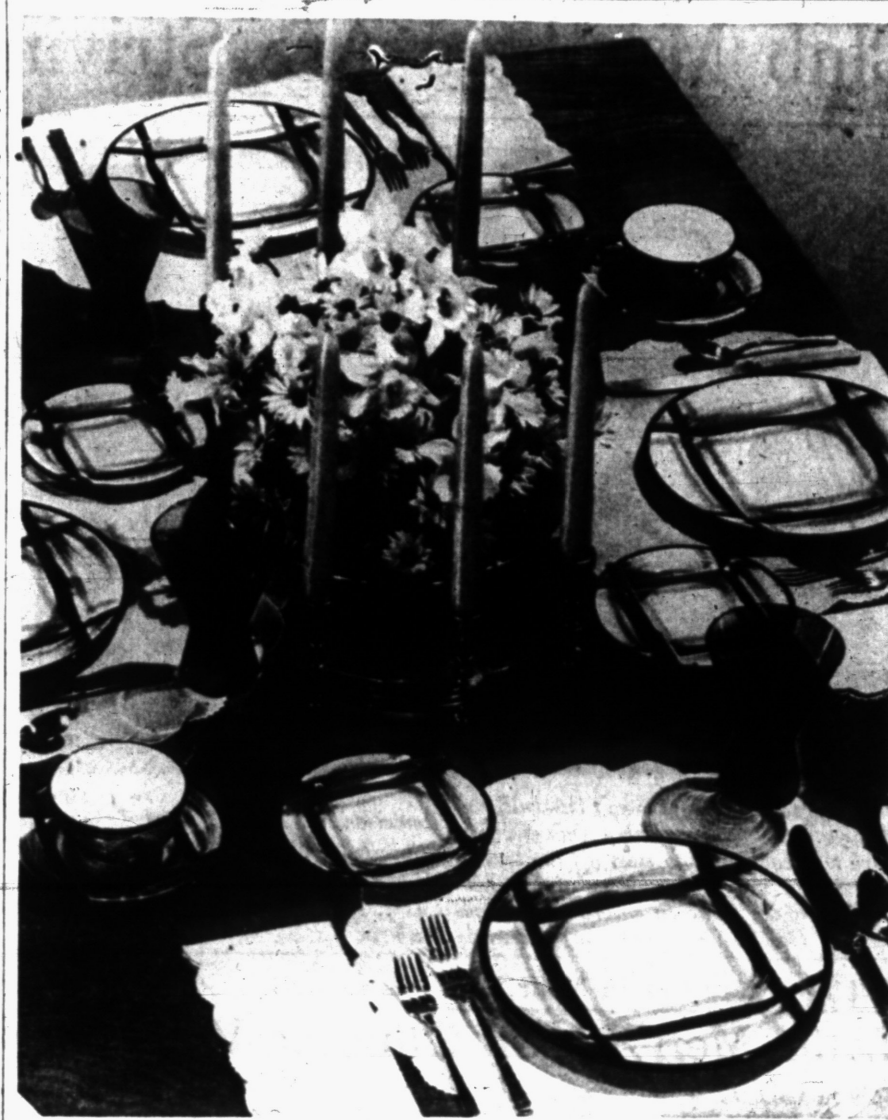

"And," she added sheepishly, "I love the books on public relations. It isn't so complicated — it's just understanding people!"

The long and short of it is that last week the head of personnel called Mrs. B. and told her they were promoting her to a new job in charge of "customer relations" for the store.

"You're so good at calming the customers," the personnel manager told her, "that we want you to be our public relations woman."

The moral is that talent, like murder, will out!

Be Prompt in Removing All Stains

Otherwise, Spots May Always Mar Garments

When removing stains, be sure to know your fabric, be familiar with your stain remover, identify the stain, treat it while it is fresh, test colored fabrics for possible color change, use chemicals sparingly, don't rub too hard, dry quickly to avoid rings and follow the directions on the stain removers exactly.

Specific stains may be removed as follows:

Alcohol — may be removed by sponging the fabric lightly with cold water, or a mixture of alcohol and water.

Blood — cold water may be used for washable materials. Sponge non-washable materials with lukewarm water.

Coffee and tea — for washable fabrics, pour boiling water on the stain. For non-washable fabrics, apply glycerine, let stand for an hour, then sponge with water.

Fingernail polish — for acetate, plexon and vinylon, use banana oil. For all other fabrics, use nail-polish remover.

Gravy — with washable fabrics, soak in cold water, then wash with soap and water. Sponge stains with cool water on non-washable fabrics.

Ink-alcohol, javelle water, turpentine, milk, French chalk, fuller's earth can be applied. Also quickly laundering in lukewarm water with soap can be effective if the fabric is washable.

Lipstick and rouge — work petroleum jelly or lard into the stain to loosen it, sponge with carbon tetrachloride if the fabric is non-washable. For washable fabrics, use the same procedure and then wash in warm water.

Perspiration — if color has been removed, there is nothing that can be done. Fresh perspiration can be removed by bleach, ammonia water, vinegar, bleaching in the sun and peroxide.

Paint — first scrape off the excess. Do it quickly, for then soap and water may be all you need. If not, dilute alcohol, petroleum jelly, turpentine or carbon tetrachloride and apply to the spot.

Salad dressing — apply a mild alkali such as baking soda. Sponge washables with lukewarm water before laundering. With non-washables, sponge first and then when dry apply carbon tetrachloride.

With virtually every type of stain, the longer you wait the more difficult it is to remove it. Tannin stains, for example, which are caused by plant or vegetable sources, can be removed or made less noticeable only if they have not become fully oxidized or set.

Give Men Equal Rights, and More, in Furnishings

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
A man deserves equal right at home, but a really smart home planner tips the scales a little past the 50 per cent mark in his favor. She chooses extras just for him—a wonderful chair that fits him exactly, a chest that's out-of-bounds for feminine gear, a hands-off corner for his hobby.

Some plus advantages for men come with new furniture, particularly with the new men's wardrobe chests that engineer storage space accurately to the last inch for every item of clothing he wears.

And here's an idea for adding to the enjoyment of his all-important lounge chair. Warner Cleveland designed the reading table, sketched, to fit over the arms of a lounge chair.

A lift-up section supports a book or magazine. With it down, the table can be used for writing—he can check over papers from the office without stirring from the comfort of his favorite chair.

Casters move the table easily about the room, and you'll think of many more uses for it.

Burner Dirt Adds Work for the Cook

It's Easy to Clean a Grease-Clogged Gas Range

By HUBBARD COBB
We had dinner the other night with some friends and it was a good dinner except we got to wondering around 10 o'clock whether we had been invited for a late dinner or an early breakfast.

Seems that the kitchen range didn't cook very fast. In fact, it hardly cooked at all.

This is the sort of thing that is likely to happen when the burners on a gas range become clogged with dirt and grease. Lots of people put up with this condition in spite of the fact that burners are easy to clean.

First thing you do is pull the burner out of the range and slip it into a container of water with some washing soda added.

Let this mess of water, soda and burners come to a boil and then take the burners out and give them a good scrubbing.

The boiling - up process will remove a good deal of the grease and the scrubbing should take care of the rest.

If you can't scrub the dirt out of some of the burner openings, use a sliver of wood to pry it out. Pour some hot water through the burners to make sure that all the openings are clear.

After this, give the burner a good rinsing with clean hot water and then stand it up so that the water will drain out.

The next step is to dry the burner thoroughly, for if there is any water inside it will affect the burner when it's burning.

The best way to dry a burner is to place it upside down and in a warm oven for a few minutes. When it's good and dry, put it back in the range.

Japs Dismiss Case
Against U.S. Woman

YOKOSUKA, Japan (U)—Japanese authorities yesterday dismissed charges against an American housewife accused of negligence in a fire which burned down her rented Japanese house.

Mrs. Antonie Pierre, wife of W. O. Morian Pierre Jr., Gary, Ind., was the first American military dependent to be charged under Japanese law since the new jurisdiction pact went into effect last November.

Before that, American military personnel and dependents in Japan could be tried only by American authorities.

The ruling that the case was a civil rather than criminal matter would permit the landlady to file civil suit for damages.

Old Hymns at Old Piano
Put Meaning Into Success

By J. FRED COOTS

Celebrated Pianist and Composer
In the parlor of our tenement flat in Brooklyn, standing at the place of honor next to our window, was an ancient, richly carved piano.

Somehow, with the press of debts, Mother had managed to keep the piano. It was so out of place among our other furniture, people used to laugh at her.

"Where'd Mrs. Coots ever get so fine a piano as that big one sitting by her window?"

Then the story of Mother's marriage to a wealthy young man was told: how she had four children before her first husband died; how she had "made a mistake" when she remarried; and her new husband went through the family money, then passed on, leaving her penniless.

But worst of all was when Mother's neighbors would accuse her of neglecting the children. "Imagine, there she is with her little ones hungry, and she won't sell that piano . . . Mother would just close her ears and play a hymn or a sonata. She played with the art of an angel."

As I grew older, I began to notice a pattern in Mother's playing. First thing in the evening, for instance, Mother would come in from her job — she peddled needles and pins — and instead of complaining, she would sit down to the piano and play.

Or again on Saturday nights, I would come home from my own job down at Schwab's butcher shop, with eight or ten pounds of meat he would let me have in addition to my pay. Mom used to sit down then too and play.

"You know, son, a person's only hurt by life if he thinks he's hurt. There are ways to rise above being poor."

Because of these patterns in my mother's playing, I misinterpreted what the piano meant to her. It seemed to me it was a symbol of her old wealth. I imagined her sitting down and dreaming of her beautiful home, as it used to be, and sort of sneering at poverty, as if it never existed.

Then, one evening, I came home complaining of pain in my legs. I had contracted inflammatory rheumatism, and lay in bed for five years.

During that illness I began to understand the piano. The fever ballooned my joints till Mother had to suspend them from the ceiling with home-made pulleys to ease the pain. When I was in despair, Mother played. She came into my stuffy room with a prayer book and a hymn book, and she said: "Listen and learn."

While she played the piano from the other room, I listened. I learned the hymns and I read the prayers. To the degree that I forgot myself, the pain vanished, the immediate dropped in perspective.

As I began to get better, Mother would help me into the parlor and get me to exercise my fingers at the piano. To my surprise, I discovered a real joy in music, and as spring came and I was able to be about, Mother had to reverse her pleading. "Freddie, dear, why don't you run along outside now? The piano can wait."

The hundreds of hours spent at the old piano proved their worth. When I was well enough to start working again, I made my way to Tin Pan Alley and set siege. I was hired to play the new songs for dancers and entertainers.

For a while, I forgot all about the fine piano in our home. When Mother passed on I moved the old piano to my new quarters, more for sentimental reasons than anything else.

Then came the first real break. Eddie Dowling, the great old trouper, was to produce the annual "Friars Frolic" for the Friars Club. I asked Dowling if I could do the musical score for it.

"Gee, yes, I'd be glad to let you try," Dowling chuckled. "But I have commissioned Victor Herbert to do the score."

Only a few days later, I learned that Herbert was suddenly involved in a new Broadway show. I went to Dowling and reminded him of his word. "All right, Freddie. You can have it."

This all happened around 1921—I've been on Broadway ever since. But in those early years, I began to learn the meaning of some old clichés: "In the scramble to the top, someone's bound to get hurt." "For every light on Broadway, there's a broken heart."

I could somehow feel, the trend towards a hard heart. I would come home in the evenings to my new, plushy furnished apartment, never whistling, never humming. Sometimes my stomach was tied in knots at the "dog eat dog" influences all around me in show business.

I quickly picked up the common yardstick: "Money, old man. It's too bad, I know. It's artificial. But it's cash, J. Fred. How much've you got? That's the mark of success."

But the success I was having left me empty.

I remember so well the night all this changed. I had come home busily discontented. As a rule I managed to give myself so much work that I ignored the emptiness. It's an old trick, but it works—until for some reason you stop and think. That's what happened to me.

I was at the old piano, playing idly. Suddenly I found myself playing some of the old hymns. I remembered the tenement days, when we all had a lot less, and how we had managed to overcome adversity and misfortune.

I sat up, alert, and began to play all the old hymns I could recall. I recited the prayers I had learned while I was sick. Somehow the same drifting away from the immediate took place. I was not the all-successful J. Fred Coots, song writer; I was just another man brought down to earth.

And there was the mystery of Mom's grand piano solved. It wasn't the symbol of her lost wealth. It was the opposite, the symbol of the spiritual in life. The spiritual that let her rise above the present.

In adversity it had proved helpful. But in success, as I have found in the years that have followed, it is all necessary.

EQUITABLE REPORTS FOR 1953:

Why most Americans stand straighter today

Equitable's President tells a story of self-reliance and how it grows as insurance grows

Nearly 90,000,000 Americans are now protected by life insurance . . .

A tremendous figure?

Yes. But looking at it another way it is pretty strong evidence that there's a whale of a lot of self-reliance in the make-up of the average American.

He's determined to stand on his own two feet . . . to face the future with confidence.

And he's learned that one of the best ways to do it is through insurance.

We are pleased to have helped so many of these Americans stand just a little bit straighter.

The Equitable Society today helps protect over 8,000,000 people—a record number!

To see what lies behind their self-reliance, look at the figures in The Society's Annual Statement shown here.

While we are the fifth largest corporation in the United States, we're not in business just to publish big figures.

We are in business to help more Americans help themselves to individual security and independence.

To this end we are continually developing new kinds of insurance . . . using the tool of intensive research to create modern and forward-looking policies.

Recently, for example, we pioneered a new Major Medical Expense Policy. Now we have revised and liberalized it still further. This policy helps protect families against financial disaster resulting from costly or prolonged illness. Its coverage is broadened . . . its cost is reasonable.

We believe this policy clearly demonstrates how independent citizens, working through a mutual company, can build for themselves the kind of insurance program Americans need.

FIRST—STOP THE LEAKS AT ONCE WITH DIKE!

Simply mix Dike with water to form a putty-like cake, and plug it into the holes or cracks. At most like magic you will have created a strong, firm barrier that will hold back even heavy water pressure. Dike stops water flow AT ONCE. And it won't turn dark or "bleed through" the Peerless Cement Point you apply over it.

SECOND—KEEP YOUR BASEMENT DRY AND MAKE IT DECORATIVE WITH PEERLESS CEMENT PAINT

You'll find Peerless Cement Paint is far easier to apply than any cement paint you've ever used. And because of its higher portland cement content, it produces a stronger, more durable coating that effectively seals out moisture (on both interior and exterior applications). Peerless Cement Paint not only will keep your basement bone-dry (if you have first sealed off the holes and cracks with Dike), it will also beautify it so you can turn it into a workshop, recreation room or cheerful laundry.

12 BRIGHT DECORATOR COLORS AND GLEAMING WHITE

One of the few masonry paints containing Titanium Dioxide, Peerless Cement Paint has greater hiding power—produces a more attractive appearance on exterior block, brick or stucco walls as well as basements. Hal Boyle Says:

Mailman's Pouch Holds Huge Collection of Facts

NEW YORK (AP)—A wise man once said the best way to avoid trouble is never to answer a telephone—or open your mail.

But the greatest American university is still the U.S. postman's pouch. Few of us can resist at least opening the missives he brings—the stampmarked slender paper shells full of odd bits of yearning and learning, threats to sue, political preachings, past-due bills, charity appeals, great business opportunities, and bargain offers that (unfortunately) can only be made for a limited time.

In this vast postal sea each letter sets sail bravely, bearing a plea or message from one human being to another. The fate of most vessels in this myriad paper fleet is sad indeed. They reach port only to have their cargo—glanced at but often unread—tossed unceremoniously into a wastebasket, and their voyage is a failure. They have failed to deliver their message to Garcia—of Smith, Brown, Jones or McGillicuddy.

The ruinous loss of all this information, the wreckage of so many facts and fancies that cry out to be heard, distresses me. So now and then I salvage from my own morning mail such tidbits of interesting lore, as may brighten the daze of people tired of brooding over bus ads on the long ride home.

Herewith are a few such nuggets of knowledge which, while they may fail to change your life, at least will provide you with an answer when your wife asks, "what's on your mind?"

Paris, the capital of France, now has about 400,000 trees, or roughly one tree for every 10 people... not counting tourists, of course... it is estimated that the U.S. has 12 billion dollars invested in plants and businesses overseas.

His biographers say comedian Jerry Lewis won the heart of Patti Palmer, a singer, by hanging a pair of baby shoes on her dressing mirror with this note: "I haven't a buck, but what do you say we get married and fill these?" Now they have two sons (one is adopted), nine dogs, and nobody knows how many bucks.

What are you and your wife doing to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the tea bag? Just taking it in your stride? Well, ponder this: Each tea bag has a blend of 20 to 50 different kinds of tea... the tea bag was invented accidentally by an Irishman (as an Englishman once remarked, "the Irish never really do anything on purpose") named Tom Sullivan; a New York merchant who put out samples of his tea in small silk bags... had no idea the customers would start dunking them. But the idea caught on so well that today 46 per cent of the tea sold in America comes in bags, now made of a special filter paper.

Do you know why many tall buildings don't have a 13th floor? Blame it on an old human disease called "triskaidekaphobia," or fear of the No. 13. It has been regarded as unlucky by some ever since the last supper attended by Jesus and his 12 disciples.

Don't bet any money the horse will make a comeback on the farm soon. The only place the horse is safe from the tractor is on a racetrack or in cowboy operas. Farm acreage that used to be needed to feed the horse now grows pork or other food for people... a farm worker in 1940 could supply food for only 10 people; by 1951 he could feed 15... so long, dobbin! See you in the 5th at Jamaica.

Now that winter is gone, don't hesitate to swat that fly. The fly is an insect, like 75 per cent of all living creatures, including your neighbors... only 10,000 of the 700,000 or more kinds of insects in this country infect man or his crops. But they cause about 50,000 different diseases, not counting spring fever.

Remember, an insect never really surrenders, repents, or will keep a promise to mend his ways. So swat that fly today... and next summer you won't have to wear out your tennis arm swinging at his million descendants.

That exhausts my mail bag except for a belated Christmas card... Did you know that 16 per cent of all Christmas cards arrive late? And that one out of every 10 persons you send Christmas cards to will visit you later? Let that be a lesson to you.

Meat Packer Mayer, 95, Works on His Birthday

CHICAGO (AP)—Oscar F. Mayer, one of the nation's oldest meat packers, was on the job as usual yesterday—his 95th birthday.

Mayer, who opened his first sausage plant in 1883 and built a packing empire, cut a huge birthday cake for employees at the Oscar F. Mayer & Co. office. There were similar parties in company plants in other cities. Mayer is board chairman.

Pigeons on the Skids at St. Louis City Hall

ST. LOUIS (AP)—City Hall has won its long battle against the pigeons. Director of Public Safety Joseph P. Sestric came up with the answer in a device he calls skiddoo skids. They are boards placed at steep angles over ledges where the pigeons roost. When a pigeon comes in for a landing it slides off. Wooden slides, used as an experiment, proved so successful they are being replaced with metal skids.

With the help of the paddle-like hind toe, diving ducks can go down deep for food.

Church Builders Learn That State Holds Land Title

SAGINAW — The Latin-American Assembly of God learned today that the church into which its members have put $16,000 and thousands of labor belongs to the state.

The Rev. Netalsi M. Solis found the state took over title to the property on May 5, 1953, for $35.78 due in 1949 taxes, before the land had a church on it.

The frame church was started in 1950. Members worked at night under floodlights, after most of them had put in a full day at work. They borrowed $16,000 and paid back $16,000 of it in two years. Last year they bought a parsonage for Mr. Solis.

The pastor doesn't know exactly what to do now, but he hopes the state will agree to accept a piece of property of equal value and not force the church to bid to redeem its own property from the auction block.

In Lansing, Rep. Clarence Graebner (R-Saginaw) offered a resolution through which he hopes the legislature will request the state to cancel the tax bill. If his resolution fails, Graebner said he would offer a bill to cancel the taxes in the 1955 Legislature.

A-Age Termed 'Lucky Fluke'

Scientist Says Nature Almost Failed to Save Enough Uranium-235

KANSAS CITY — The atomic age is sort of a lucky fluke, a scientist said today.

We were almost prevented by nature from ever having enough potent uranium to make A-bombs, or use atoms for tomorrow's power plants.

The luck is that some atoms don't die off as fast as they might be expected to die.

These are atoms of uranium-235 (U-235), the radioactive uranium atoms which split in a chain reaction to yield heat and power. This U-235 is the basis of the whole atomic age. It makes up only a fraction of 1 per cent of ordinary, nonsplitting uranium.

Being radioactive, the U-235 starts to break down and blow apart and disappear. But it has a half-life of 700 million years. In that time, half of all the original U-235 disappears. In another 700 million years, half of what was left is gone.

That means that there now exists—anywhere in the universe—only about one fiftieth of all the U-235 which was created when the universe was created. Scientists figure the universe and all the elements were born four to five billion years ago.

If U-235 had a half-life of only 400 million years, there wouldn't be enough of it available to use for chain reactions to make bombs or produce power. There would be only one 3,000th of the original amount made on creation day.

It would be impossible to run a chain reaction with natural uranium, for concentrating enough U-235 would be almost impossible difficult.

The fluke is that U-235 is rather unusual in having such a long half-life. Dr. I. Perlman, professor of chemistry at the University of California, explained today, Dr. Perlman is attending the American Chemical Society's annual meeting.

In comparison with other heavy elements, U-235 would be expected to have a shorter half-life. But it is said to be "hindered" in its decay or breakdown. Some other heavy atoms have this characteristic, but not to as great a degree.

Admiral Charges FDR Knew Japs Would Hit in 1941

WASHINGTON (INS) — A retired Admiral has charged the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt of deliberately inviting the sneak Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941.

Rear Adm. Robert A. Theobald contended that Roosevelt had advanced warning of the Japanese attack but withheld the information from the military and naval commanders at Hawaii.

The Admiral claimed that the late President invited the attack because, as Theobald put it, Roosevelt was convinced such a catastrophe was the only way to win solid public support for the war he believed the U.S. should fight against Nazi Germany.

Theobald's startling accusations are contained in a copyrighted serialization of his book, "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

Fleet Adm. William F. Halsey and Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, wrote forewords in support of Theobald's contention, that Roosevelt withheld advance information of the attack.

Theobald asserted that in the eight official investigations of the attack blame was unjustly placed on Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, top U.S. commanders in Hawaii when the Japs struck Dec. 7.

The author said this information, disclosing Japanese war plans and Pearl Harbor as the target, was obtained from intercepted and decoded Tokyo dispatches to Nippon's top diplomats in the U.S.

Brothers Accused of A & P Burglary

ROCHESTER—One of two Rochester brothers, held on charges of breaking and entering in Saginaw, has admitted burglarizing the A&P store here March 6, according to Police Chief Sam Howlett.

Howlett said that Joseph Kochan, 26, of 1568 W. Avon Rd., admitted the A&P break-in under questioning in Saginaw Monday. He implicated his brother, Stephen, 25, of 601 First St.

The brothers are being held on $10,000 bond charged with breaking and entering a Saginaw store last Wednesday. Howlett said Joseph also admitted an attempted break-in at a Detroit supermarket.

A box containing $318 was taken from the A&P store. The empty box was later found near Mayville. Stephen, a Rochester mail carrier, is on parole from a Pennsylvania prison where he had served a term for breaking and entering.

France's No. 1 soldier has gone promise of more United States aid knock out the Communist rebel artillery pounding surrounding Dien Bien Phu; parachutes, to drop men and supplies from airlift planes; ammunition and medical stores will be on the way before long.Five-star Gen. Paul Henry Ely, 57, chief of staff of the French armed forces, was sent to this country on a combined military and political mission.The fact that he was entrusted with political as well as military negotiations is evidence of the esteem in which he is held in France.Tanned, lean, stern-faced, Ely is an untiring worker and a man of great physical endurance. He demands the same qualities of the men around him.Ely is a chain smoker but a non-drinker. He is up by 5 a.m., ready for what is often a 14-hour working day.He is a "new look" general.

He agrees with the Pentagon that the day of Maginot-line "stay put" warfare has gone.A skillful strategist and tactician, Ely is a first class fighting man, too.He is one of those teenaged boys who went into battle at the outbreak of World War I—most of them to die—from St. Cyr, the French West Point.In World War II he received a wound which left his right arm partly paralyzed.When France fell he joined the underground. His chief job was to shuttle back and forth between occupied France and Britain, under the noses of the Gestapo and German sentries, with spy reports.Long before D-day, Ely went over to France to help get the underground ready for the Allied invasion. After D-day he led French troops.Since the war Ely has been in on top-level defense planning in Paris, London and Washington.The Geneva conference is only four weeks away. The extended aid program scarcely could affect the front materially before then. Hence while both Paris and London hope for peace, they must plan on continued war.Part of the political angle of Ely's mission was to say that French people are fed up with the war and want a negotiated peace at Geneva.But that probably would involve recognition of the Chinese Communist government. There is no chance the United States will agree to that. Hence the assumption that the war will go on.Diggers Look Forward

PONTIAC'S NEED FOR MORE
HOSPITAL FACILITIES IS URGENT!*AT PRESENT

Your General Hospital must on the average care for 55 patients a day more than its normal capacity. On individual days the number has reached considerably above this average to as high as 100 patients over normal capacity. Seriously sick and injured patients must be crowded into busy hallways. Some medical treatment has to be postponed until bed space becomes available. Fire regulations are compromised. There is virtually no room for storing vital equipment and supplies, for training medical personnel, for locating service groups and office employees, for accomodating some 600 visitors daily.

IN THE FUTURE

Matters are expected to become steadily worse unless additional facilities are provided. The most conservative, impartial surveys of community growth indicate that Pontiac's hospital requirements are doubled within the next six years.

You Can Correct This Serious Problem at the Polls on April 5th. You Can Assure Yourself and Your Children Adequate Hospital Facilities
WITHOUT INCREASING YOUR PRESENT TAX PAYMENTS!

By Supporting the Two Proposals Being Offered to Pontiac Voters:

CHARTER AMENDMENT No. 1 proposes to continue the present tax and earmark the funds for hospital expansion and public improvements.

THE HOSPITAL BOND BALLOT provides for funds to permit building additional hospital facilities right away.

DON'T BE MISLED by arguments and counter proposals intended to delay or permanently postpone the hospital improvement program. There are always some who can find fault with anything and many who oppose this plan and oppose every proposal for improvements.

Government and professional experts have thoroughly studied Pontiac's hospital problems and recommend the proposed program as the best and most practical solution.

Cub Pilot Ousted in First Managerial Shift

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—Phil Cavarretta and the Chicago Cubs parted company after 20 years today and another former Chicago baseball idol—Stan Hack—stepped in as manager.

Cavarretta, a star player for 17 years but unable to win as manager in two full seasons, was relieved of his post here yesterday after the Cubs had dropped their 15th spring exhibition game in 20 starts. It was the first managerial change in the major leagues this year.

Wid Matthews, director of playing personnel of the Chicago organization, told Cavarretta he was to change places with Hack, who has been manager of the Los Angeles club in the Pacific Coast League. Cavarretta balked and said he would seek a major league connection elsewhere.

Matthews insisted that Phil wasn't fired but Cavarretta had a different view. "I come home and get fired," he said sadly. He now lives in Dallas and operates a children's amusement park here.

Matthews gave no reason for the action other than that it was "for the good of all concerned." But at Phoenix, Ariz., Phil K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, said, "This year when he picked everyone but us to finish in the first division, he was licker before he started. He said he did not have the kind of ball-players he wanted. He had sort of given up on the boys, so to speak, feeling that they were not pennant material. Well, maybe not, but they could be with the will to win."

Hack, who is flying to Shreveport to take over as manager tomorrow when the Cubs arrive there to play the Baltimore Orioles, said at Los Angeles that he was surprised that he had been picked. "All I can say is that I'm going to pick up where Phil left off," Hack declared. "I will add this: It is wonderful to get back to Chicago where I spent my entire major league career."

Matthews said Cavarretta was offered the same salary at Los Angeles that he was receiving from the Cubs and that he would be paid his full 1954 salary although refusing to go to the Pacific Coast League club.

"I was really shocked," Cavarretta said at his home here. "Matthews told me right after the ball game. He just said Stan was coming in to take over the ball club. And if I wanted to stay with the Cub organization, I could take over Los Angeles. I just couldn't see going out to Los Angeles. I thought I had done a good job with the material I had. So I got fired in spring training."

Cavarretta, 37, became manager of the Cubs in midseason of 1951, replacing Frank Frisch. His club was fifth in 1952 and seventh last year. Hack, 47, finished his playing career in 1947 and managed Des Moines in the Western League and Springfield, Mass., in the International League before going to Los Angeles.

Better Hurling May Boost Cardinals Into Contention

By ED CORRIGAN
AP Sports Writer

It seems incongruous that a team that finished 23 games back of the pennant winner should be considered a threat the next year.

Yet, the St. Louis Cardinals—although they're not talking pennant by any means—certainly are thinking along those lines. And despite the fact that they can send shivers up and down the opposition's spine with such blockbusters as Stan Musial, Red Schoendienst and Enos Slaughter, their pitching will have to carry the load if they hope to overhaul the Brooklyn Dodgers and fight off the Milwaukee Braves.

As of today, the Cards show a far from spectacular 13-8 record in the Grapefruit League. But Eddie Stanky's pitchers have been coming through handsomely and even in some losses they've looked good.

In the last six games, the Card hurlers have allowed only 14 runs, a little more than two per game. But with Vic Raschi, obtained from the New York Yankees (to work on the Dodgers), Harvey Haddix (with an 0.50 ERA in the exhibition loop), Gerry Staley (an 18-game winner last year) and Tom Poholsky (just back from the Army), who got credit for yesterday's 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox, the Cards will be no patsies.

The amazing Baltimore Orioles continued their sweep through the exhibition trail by edging the Chicago Cubs 4-3 for their fifth decision in nine games with the Bruins. The Orioles came from behind to pound Howie Pollet for three runs in the ninth inning.

The New York Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 4-1 behind Larry Jansen and Mario Picone. The veteran Jansen tossed five scoreless innings.

Murry Dickson became the first Philadelphia Phillies' pitcher to go seven innings and he had little trouble. The punchless Phils woke up and lambasted the Dodgers 19-5. Ted Kluszewski played Frank Merriwell for the Cincinnati Redlegs by lofting a two-run home run in the ninth inning to give his club a 9-8 triumph over the New York Yankees.

Milwaukee defeated Macon of the Sally League 12-4.

Opener Nears, Garver Still Question Mark

Tiger Hurler Appears Far Off Form Monday Against Senators

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Ned Garver, has led the Detroit Tigers to ask three questions this spring. "Will he sign?" "Will his leg or his arm bother him again?" And lastly: "Will it make any difference?"

Garver was the last Detroit holdout to join the pitching staff at Lakeland. The reported reason was a cut in his salary. The haggling came despite the fact that Garver was reported to be the last choice to start the regular season for the Tigers—now only two weeks away.

Last season, his second with the Tigers, it was hoped that he had recovered from a sore arm. He came from the St. Louis Browns on trade in 1952 after posting his best major league record 20-12 with the hitless Browns.

He pitched one game for the Tigers in 1952 when the sore arm hit him. Tigers won that game, but they lost Garver for the rest of the season.

Last year the sore arm was gone, but the tall right-hander tore a cartilage in his knee which held him to an 11-11 record. He came back this spring pronouncing the leg cured by an operation. The outlook was rosy.

Monday Garver completed his 2nd pitching performance of the spring. The regular season looked farther off than ever. He pitched five innings, allowed 10 runs, and 12 hits, two of them homers by Eddie Yost. Later Yost hit another off Al Aber.

The attack on Garver gave the Washington Senators the start they needed to go on and win 12-8.

In his first start Garver had gone four innings against the Chicago White Sox. He walked three men, struck out one and allowed two hits. Chicago netted five hits off him, one of them a homer.

Totally this spring the man who is supposed to start the regular season has pitched nine innings and allowed 17 hits, three of them home runs. He has allowed 12 runs and has been tagged with two losses against no wins.

The April 13 opening game is just two weeks away from this afternoon. It is still early for Garver, who got a late start because of the salary dispute. But it is still a long way to travel in two weeks.

Calumet's Star Is Out of Derby Field

NEW YORK (AP)—The 80th running of the Kentucky Derby still is nearly five weeks away but already two highly regarded horses have been sidelined by injuries.

A bowed tendon removed Turno of Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hay Stable from consideration and a quarter-crack suffered by Duke's Les eliminated the threat of a 6th Derby victory for the famed Calumet Farm.

Cup Playoffs Resume Tonight

Wings Boast Well-Balanced Scoring Punch

Detroit Hopes to Hand Leafs 2nd Straight Loss on Their Home Ice

TORONTO (AP)—Detroit Red Wings are counting on well-balanced scoring punch to pull the unusual tonight and defeat the Toronto Maple Leafs for the 2nd straight time on their home ice.

A victory would give the Red Wings a 3-1 stranglehold on the best-of-seven semifinal Stanley Cup series. In the other set, Montreal is seeking to make a clean 4-game sweep of Boston in Boston Garden.

Not many teams have defeated Toronto twice in succession in Maple Leaf Gardens but the Red Wings are given a good chance to do it because of their balanced punch.

Detroit has scored nine goals against Toronto, only one each by Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay. Defenseman Marcel Pronovost and a pair of low-scoring forwards, Marty Pavelich and Tony Leswick have clicked twice each. Leswick's 2nd goal gave Detroit a 3-1 decision in Saturday's vital 3rd game.

Defenseman Red Kelly scored the other goal. So that means players whose primary duty is to play defense have accounted for seven of the nine goals. Pavelich and Leswick, along with Glen Skov, make up Detroit's back-checking, or defensive line. They have outscored the Howe-Lindsay-Dutch Reibel combination by a 2-1 ratio.

It all adds up to more trouble for the Maple Leafs, who are seeking to become hockey's first team to win the playoffs 10 times. Lindsay and Howe can be held in check for only so long, then they usually explode.

Another factor in Detroit's favor is the improved showing of goalie Terry Sawchuk, who defiantly says "I'm not going to be the goat this year." The 24-year-old netminder, a self-admitted failure in last year's playoffs, has given up only four goals in three games. Only one of these could be traced directly to his own mistakes.

Teams return to Detroit's Olympic Stadium for the 5th game Thursday night. If a sixth is necessary it will be played in Toronto Saturday.

If both Detroit and Montreal have locked up 1st-round victories by Thursday, the finals likely will start in Detroit Saturday or Sunday night.

UCLA-UM Meet Won't Expand to Quadrangular

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA's dual track and field meet with Michigan here April 9 will remain a dual meet and will not be merged into a quadrangular with the Stanford Southern California dual meet.

Coach Ducky Drake announced that the UCLA student athletic board had rejected the quadrangular idea and wanted to keep the meet on the Bruin campus in Westwood.

Colleges Must Decide on Single Brand of Football, With or Without Spring Practice and Scholarships

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—There is a battle going on under cover today that can have a heavy effect on the future of football. At least the college brand of the game. And it might be mentioned that college football was by all odds the most popular and expensive of all sports.

It had one weakness—the overmastering will to win, regardless of ethics, fair play or the rules of the game. The heavy pressure on coaches to win, at times regardless of all decent tactics, has been more than most coaches could stand. I can't blame them very much.

This pressure led to proselytizing, scouting, even actual pay, lack of classroom ability, mockery of the rules and permitting of flagrant offenses against the rules to go unchecked.

It finally got so bad that a coach's main defense was this—"Sure I broke the rule—but every other coach did the same. Why blame me when everybody's doing it?"

All too often the coach was right in that respect. Everybody was breaking a rule, so nobody could possibly be guilty.

LEARNING THE RIGHT PITCH—Year-and-a-half-old Gene Raymond Conley gets an early start in the direction of baseball as his daddy Gene Conley tutors the lad in the art of pitching. Conley, rookie hurler with Milwaukee, is in Bradenton, Florida, at Braves Field for spring training.

Amoros' .400 Batting Mark Embarrasses Dodger Brass

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—It's hard to believe it could happen even in Brooklyn but the Dodgers are being embarrassed this spring by a rookie outfielder's .400-batting average.

It's not because they expected him to hit .500, either, but because vice presidents Fresno Thompson and Buzzy Bavasi had Sandy Amoros ticketed for the minor leagues before he reported to camp.

"We need a left-handed hitting outfielder who can hit .300," Bavasi said at the outset of spring training. "We'd be very happy to swing a deal for one and will guarantee fine talent in return."

Amoros fits those qualifications exactly—he's left-handed, a left fielder and so far a .400-hitter—but the Dodgers still insist that he's not what they're looking for. They say he needs another year in the minor leagues.

Amoros, incidentally, batted .353 and drove in 100 runs for Montreal in the International League last season.

Dodgers are afraid they may find themselves in an even more ticklish spot if Amoros continues his line hitting because there are occasional rumors that Brooklyn officials are turning their backs on other setters to gain final championship points.

ABC Observes 'Detroit Day' in Annual Test

Motor City Bowlers Figure in Changes in Standings

SEATTLE (AP)—The American Bowling Congress observed "Detroit Day" at the 51st annual tournament yesterday with teams from the Motor City taking over 7th and 10th places in the open team division standings. Individual Detroit bowlers figured in other changes in top rankings.

While the defending team champion, Piffert's Beer of Detroit, was having a bad night, Maple Lanes Recreation held up honors of the Michigan City, rolling a 2874 which gave them 7th place in the open division. Piffert's, obviously off form, rolled a 2826 which squeezed them into a 10th-place berth.

Don Carter, all-star match game champion, didn't disappoint the crowd of 3,000—largest ever to watch a bowling match in Seattle. He rolled a 611 series on 234 and 223 games after a 194 opening round that cost him his chance for his 13th straight 200 or plus game in ABC play.

Two 19-year-olds led Detroit entries into the standing columns yesterday afternoon.

Don Glinski, an unheralded tool and die apprentice, topped list place in the singles event standings with a 674 score on games of 224-245-250.

Glinski, who rolls for the Cecil Ward Jr., All-Stars of Detroit, scored a 546 team game and a 607 double which, coupled with his high singles effort, gave him an all-events pin mark of 1827, tying for 5th place in that division.

Another Detroit, Ken La Forge, also 19 and an apprentice welder, grabbed off a tie for 4th place in the singles column with a 652 score.

And Robert Hitt, a Detroit milkman who bowls for E & B Beer, rolled a 659 team score, a 590 doubles and a 592 singles to grab undisputed possession of third place in the all-events column.

The other Detroit entry in the record books for the afternoon was made by the doubles team of Charles Stevens and William Stobart, ages 19 and 21, respectively, who moved into 2nd position in the doubles with a 1240.

LaStarza Picked Over Cockell in London Bout

LONDON (AP)—Heavyweight Roland LaStarza and Don Cockell meet tonight at Earl's Court arena on a tripleheader light card.

A sellout crowd of 18,000 also is due to see former world middleweight champion Randy Turpin meet an unbeaten Swede from Göteborg named Ole Bengtsson and Yolande Pompey battle Ivano Fontana, an Italian light heavyweight.

LaStarza has been installed a 2-1 favorite to whip his tubby opponent, champion of Britain's sad corps of heavyweights.

"This fight with Cockell will get me back in line for Marciano," LaStarza said, "and I'll get Rocky the next time."

It's Time Out!

"It's time out!" says Gwen's game—she certainly hits a nice, long drive!

SOMETHING TO SMILE ABOUT—Stan Hack smiles broadly after being informed that he had been picked to succeed Phil Cavarretta as manager of the Chicago Cubs. He will leave Los Angeles by plane today for Shreveport, La., where he will join the club. Hack told reporters: "It will be wonderful to get back to Chicago, where I spent my entire major league career as a ballplayer."

Wells Honored as Holly's Top Gridder of '53

Tackle Ralph Wells was awarded a trophy Monday night as most valuable player on the 1953 Holly High School football team. Award was a highlight of the annual Kiwanis-sponsored banquet at Holly.

Wells, as team captain, also accepted the Holly-Fenton rivalry trophy, which was presented by Aldrich Locke of the Fenton Kiwanis.

Members of the football, basketball, track, golf and baseball teams were presented by coaches Reese Protz, Chet Aubuchon and Don Harrower.

Detroit sportscaster Bob Reynolds conducted his 6:30 p. m. broadcast from the banquet, then was the principal speaker at the affair.

Spartan Nine Drops 2nd Game in South

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Pitcher Joe Morgan held the Michigan State Spartans to five hits as North Carolina's Tar Heels won a spring baseball game 6-2.

It was the 2nd loss against one defeat for the touring Spartans. They scored once in the 7th inning on a walk, a wild pitch, and a pinch hit single by Eddie Hough.

They got their last run in the eighth on a single by Ray Colard, a walk, and an infield out.

Three Spartan errors helped the Tar Heels score four unearned runs, three in the first inning. Today the Spartans play North Carolina State at Raleigh.

Olson Rated Favorite in Friday's Title Bout

Weight, Record Advantages Tip Odds to Bobo

Middleweight Champ May Hold 10-Pound Edge for Fight

By TOM BRANAGAN
CHICAGO (U)—Advantages in weight and record apparently are the main factors that have tipped the betting odds in favor of Bobo Olson in his title battle Friday with Kid Gavilan.

The middleweight champion is an 8-5 favorite, in man-to-man betting, to retain his crown against the welter titlist.

The Gavilan camp scoffs at the odds, saying the differences in weight and performance against mutual opponents—both in Olson's favor—are mere "paper fighting." The feeling there is that Gavilan is the best fighter in the world—up to and even possibly including heavyweights—and that he'll prove it at Chicago Stadium Friday.

As for the weight question, there's no doubt that Olson is going to have a distinct edge. He's a steady 160-pounder, at the most may drop a pound below Gavilan, of course, won his welterweight championship at the 147-pound limit and doesn't figure to be more than five or six pounds heavier against Olson.

"We don't expect it to be an easy fight for Bobo," says Olson's manager, Sid Flaherty. "But in the end it's going to be the old story of a good little man against a good big man—the good big man always wins."

Another Olson strategist says the middleweight champ's hefty advantage may be as much as 10 pounds by ringtime. "Right after the weigh-in, Bobo will start putting on weight," he declared. "By fight time he may weigh as much as 163."

Yankees Find Blackwell May Try Comeback

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—The New York Yankees were surprised to learn today that Ewell Blackwell still hasn't given up his hopes of making a comeback.

Blackwell, once one of the best pitchers in baseball, announced his retirement on March 5, but was found working when the Yankees came here to play the Cincinnati Redlegs Monday.

Blackwell, who lives here, explained he had received permission to work out with the Redlegs "on fresh evidence of life in his arm."

Hopp Once Kept Dick Donovan in Minors

LAKELAND, Fla. (U)—Detroit Tiger coach Johnny Hopp once helped to drive pitcher Dick Donovan back to the minors. Hopp, then with Pittsburgh, socked a homer off the kid righthander in 1950.

Dick was trying to stay with the old Boston Braves then. Hopp's homer wrecked his hope. Donovan went to the minors. Now it's different perhaps. "He was just a kid then," said Hopp. "Now he has learned how to pitch."

A POUNDING FINISH—Tommy Jackson drives in a right that twists the face of battered and bleeding Dan Bucceroni in 6th round of their scheduled 10-round heavyweight bout at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena last night. Dan's right eye is completely closed. Referee stopped the fight in this round and chalked up Jackson the winner.

Underdog Tommy Jackson Upsets 3rd Ranked Heavy

NEW YORK (U)—a national unknown until two months ago, Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson today sought a shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and dared any other leading contender to fight him. And nobody laughed.

The tireless, non-stop punching, 22-year-old New York Negro became an outstanding challenger last night by stopping dangerous Dan Bucceroni, third-ranked heavyweight contender, in 1:58 of the 6th round at Eastern Parkway Arena.

Referee Al Bert halted the massacre as the lanky, 2-1 favored Philadelphian reeled around the ring with his right eye almost shut and with blood oozing from a cut over the same orb.

Bucceroni, 192, punched himself out against the relentless Jackson, 191, who kept coming without regard for Dan's wallops. The punch that had flattened 30 of Buccy's previous 49 opponents meant nothing to Jackson.

NEWCOMERSTOWN, Ohio (U)—Cy Young spent his 87th birthday reading cards and letters of congratulation yesterday.

Young, whose 510 pitching victories are the most ever turned in by a major leaguer, said he was "feeling good," although he goes outside only to help with the chores.

During 5 of the 22 years he pitched, Young won 30 or more games.

and underhand rights, uppercuts and double uppercuts — Tommy threw them all and from every position.

Bucceroni risked an almost certain September rattle shot for a $10,000 guarantee against Jackson. A pro fighter only 20 months, Jackson earned a No. 7 ranking by stopping Rex Layne in six in January and by trouncing Clarence Henry in ten on March 1.

Oklahoma Blaze Is Top Pioneer Winner

Pioneer Coon Hunter's Association held its annual spring field trials Sunday at the Groveland Grange Hall.

Oklahoma Blaze, owned by Lyman Gerou of Caro took both 1st line and tree honors in the junior division. Second line was won by Kentucky Scott, owned by Howard Therman of Oxford and second tree honors were taken by Spot, owned by James Taylor of Flint.

Silver, owned by Sheldon Shell of Capac, won 1st line among the seniors and there was a tie for 2nd between Ben, owned by Dutch Klug, also of Capac and Brownie Boy, owned by Van Lay of Oxford.

Yellow Bird, owned by James Berden of Pontiac took 1st tree, while Lay's Gangway took 2nd. A total of 94 dogs were entered.

Ray Boone hit two grand slam homers for the Cleveland Indians and two for the Detroit Tigers in 1953.

Leedle Beaten at Motor City

DETROIT (UP)—Bob Stecher, hard-punching Pittsburgh middleweight, lived up to his advance billing in an eight-round main event against Tommy Leedle at the Motor City Arena.

The Pittsburgh mauler claimed a unanimous decision over Leedle Monday night in a one-sided battle. Stecher out-hit and out-boxed the Detroit boxer all the way.

In a four-round companion televised bout, Ed Zaremba of Jackson won a split decision over Clarence Riley of Detroit. Announcer mistakenly tagged Riley as the winner, but ring officials quickly corrected the verdict.

John Minter, Detroit heavyweight, punched out a unanimous decision over Noel Reed and Bill Clemmons of Detroit stopped Tony Lomonaco of Grand Rapids.

Bud Hjelm, high scoring forward on the San Jose State basketball team, work as an insurance underwriter in San Francisco during the summer.

Broken Bones Don't Bother Ski Enthusiast

SEATTLE (U)—Murray Heminger hopes the adage "all things come in threes" holds true for him. Then the 22 year old former barefooted Hawaiian place-kicker for the Washington football squad will never have another broken bone.

He was sporting his third plaster cast of the skiing season after breaking a leg at Stevens Pass. Earlier in the winter he broke an arm. Before that he had a dislocated knee.

"Quit skiing? Not on your life," he grinned. "I hope to go to Chile to ski next summer."

TORONTO (U)—The Harlem Globetrotters today had to start thinking about starting a new winning streak. All-America Frank Selvy paced the College All-Stars to a 94-87 victory over the Trotters last night—the Globetrotters' first loss in the last 264 games. Fabulous Frank from Furman collected 19 points to lead the collegiate scorers while Notre Dame's Dick Rosenthal added 17.

4 Police Testify in Ransom Case

Witnesses Deny Seeing Suitcases Full of Money Brought to Station

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The government called four policemen as witnesses Monday in an effort to bolster its contention the Elmer Dolan, suspended St. Louis patrolman, lied about the handling of the Greenleaf ransom money.

Dolan is being tried on a perjury charge.

The witnesses testified they all were in the Newstead Police Station in St. Louis the night Carl Austin Hall, kidnap-killer of 6-year-old Bobby Greenleaf, was booked.

Dolan was indicted by a federal grand jury investigating the disappearance of $303,702 of the $600,000 ransom money after he told the jurors he took one of the money-laden suitcases into the station and Lt. Louis Shoulters carried in the other.

The four policemen testified they did not see any suitcases carried into the station when Dolan and Shoulters brought in Hall to be booked. Under cross examination three of the policemen acknowledged the suitcases possibly could have been carried in without them noticing the bags.

The four were Alex Magoe, Thomas Crowe, Carl Schottler and Raymond Diermeier. They were among 11 witnesses who testified for the government.

The government may present its final witnesses today.

Shoulters, who has resigned from the police force, also was indicted on a charge of perjury by the federal grand jury.

Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady were executed a week before Christmas for the kidnap-killer of Bobby, son of wealthy Kansas City automobile dealer Robert C. Greenleaf.

Sexy Dances Often Get OK of Film Censor

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How do they get a sexy dance past the movie industry censors?

That has become a big issue in Hollywood because of recent events. There was the famous—or notorious? —dance Jane Russell performed in "French Line," which set off a nationwide battle between Howard Hughes on one side and the producers association and various churches on the other. Miss Russell, you may recall, said she was caught in the middle.

Then a dance of Debra Paget in "Princess of the Nile" got the frown from the Breen office, the industry's self-censorship group. In this case, the producer, Leonard Goldstein, bowed to the decision and clipped the offending passages.

I watched Gloria Grahame do a song and dance number in "Naked Alibi" that should sizzle the celluloid. Gowned in a skin-tight satin number with a slit skirt, the blonde slithered around a barroom, tossing a wriggle here and a waggle there. It was highly incendiary.

Yet dance director Kenny Williams assured that it would pass the censors.

"I've been directing dances in pictures for 20 years," he remarked confidently, "and I've never had a number snipped yet."

"It's all a matter of finding out what they will okay and what they won't. Largely it's the intent. If you start out to create a dirty dance, they'll censor you. But if there's a reason for the dance, you can get by—as long as you stay within certain bounds."

Those bounds are pretty well defined, he added. A girl can do a bump (rapid movement of the hips), but not a forward one. It has to be to the side. The rules do not permit a grind (a clock-like movement of the hips). But a certain amount of shimmying is allowed, as long as it doesn't go too far. Get the picture?

"This dance of Gloria's wouldn't be permitted in 'French Line,'" Williams remarked. "But in our picture there's a reason for it. She plays a floozy in a border town bar. She has worked there for five years and is pretty bored with it all. The customers have seen her do the number many times and they pay little attention to her."

Talks on Electrical Code to Conclude Tonight

The final session in a series of three discussions of the 1953 National Electrical Code, adopted as the standard for electrical installations by Pontiac, will be held tonight at the Consumers Power Co. auditorium, at 28 W. Lawrence St. City Electrical Superintendent John W. Emerson said that a brief review of Monday night's meeting would be given for the benefit of persons who could not attend because of weather conditions. Kent Stiner, former Detroit chief electrical inspector, will speak on changes in the code apply to specific occupancies.

The accident near Olivet threw the 140-pound deer 30 or 40 feet, but hardly damaged the car. Mrs. Farrand didn't know what kind of deer got away, but the one she hit was a buck.

Your City Commission Candidates Carry, Glynn Seek Office in Pontiac's Sixth District

Below are brief biographical sketches and statements of the two Pontiac City Commission candidates in District 6.

Each candidate was invited by the Pontiac Press to give his views on four questions. The questions were: (1) Should the city increase the number of liquor-by-the-glass licenses? (2) Should the city continue its program to provide municipal off-street parking lots? (3) Is it desirable to expand the hospital and increase capital improvement funds as outlined in the two tax proposals facing voters in the April election? (4) Should the city change to voting machines in an effort to reduce costs and speed election returns?

A native of Pontiac, John E. Carry, 34, resides at 576 E. Pike St.

Carry is a World War II veteran and a graduate of St. Frederick High School. He is a former manager of Ritter's Food Market and presently is a salesman for the Pfeiffer-Oakland Distributors.

He is a member of the Elks, Knights of Columbus and St. Vincent de Paul Church. Carry is married and has four children.

A candidate for commissioner in District 6, his statement follows:

"1. The number of Class C licenses is regulated by the state on a per capita basis. While it is true that local governments are not required to meet this quota, they cannot, nevertheless, legislate by ordinance a lesser number. I feel that this problem is not as vital an issue as are others confronting us, such as a revised special assessment formula, municipal parking, traffic safety, recreational facilities, etc.

"Everyone agrees that an individual's morals cannot be created through legislation and I will therefore meet this issue when, and if, it arises, on its merits in keeping with the laws of Michigan, the welfare of Pontiac and the dictates of my own conscience. I cannot deceive myself by pretense solely in the quest for votes, as have other aspirants for the office which I seek.

"2-3. My stand on the off-street parking, as well as the entire 10-year development program, should be perfectly clear. I campaigned in the primary election on a program of complete support of these issues and if I am elected commissioner, and if the voters of Pontiac give their approval to the polls to the city manager's program, which I urge that they do, I will endeavor to see that the people of Pontiac get the improvements advocated speedily and economically.

"4. On the question of voting machines I have, for years, felt that our system in Pontiac needed modernizing. We are definitely behind the times. However, to change over to voting machines necessitates an outlay of a considerable amount of money and if the finances for such a venture are or could be made available, without undue financial hardship to the taxpayers, I will advocate and vote for the purchase of these machines."

Heads Court Clerks

DETROIT (AP)—Monte Method, clerk to Wayne County Circuit Judge Frank Fitzgerald was elected president of the newly formed Assn. of Court Clerks of Michigan, Monday at the group's first meeting.

A city commissioner since 1939, J. H. Patrick Glynn, 48, lives at 228 Chandler Ave. He served twice as mayor pro-tem and once as mayor.

Glynn has been active in the automobile business here since 1929 and is now a sales representative for Wilson GMC Co. He attended college in Canada and now heads the Pontiac Recreation Commission plus coaching a local basketball team.

He is a member of the Citizens Traffic Safety Council, chairman of the Oakland County Naval Advisory Board and active in Boy Scouting.

Glynn is also active in municipal associations and is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Moose and is a past-president of the Holy Name Society. He received the American Legion Auxiliary medal for Americanism. He is married and has two children.

A candidate for commissioner in District 6, his statement follows:

"1. There is an ordinance on the city books limiting the number of Class C licenses. The ordinance has not been repealed or amended. I shall never vote to increase the number of licenses while that ordinance exists. My record of voting on this matter speaks for itself.

"2. The city should encourage private industry to take care of its parking needs. There is an evident need for short-term low-priced parking. With failure to provide this kind of service it becomes the obligation of the city to aid in this venture. Otherwise, there would be economic loss to our downtown section and personal property tax loss to the city.

"3. We need more hospital facilities to take care of our citizens' needs and other capital improvements. The transfer of the millage from the debt retirement fund to a capital improvement fund would permit the city to accelerate the capital improvements outlined in the 10-year plan.

"I voted with five other commissioners to put these questions on the ballot so that the citizens of Pontiac could express their desires. I have always favored a pay-as-you-go program.

"4. I do not at this time favor the purchase of voting machines. It would take about 80 machines at an approximate cost of $2,500 per machine or a total of over $200,000. The immediate savings by the use of voting machines do not justify this expenditure when so many badly needed other capital improvements are necessary. I refer to water, drainage and sewage projects that are greatly needed in many sections of the city. First things must come first."

The Canadian Pacific Railway estimates there are 56 million ties in its Atlantic-to-Pacific lines.

Jacoby on Games Cribbage Play Tricky to Start

Better to Use King or Queen (or Low Card) Than 7 or 8 Spot

By OSWALD JACOBY

One of the important principles to remember in a game of cribbage is that your opponent probably has several middle-sized cards.

In discarding to the crib, he will tend to discard extremely high or extremely low cards, which will probably leave two or more middle cards in his hand.

Suppose that you have to make the first play, and that you are worried about the chance that your opponent will match your card and thus score for a pair. It is safer for you to play a king or a queen than a seven or an eight.

Let's see why. If your partner was dealt a seven or an eight, he probably saved it and will be able to play it. If he was dealt a king or a queen, he probably discarded it, and therefore will not be able to play it.

Mind you, this doesn't make it very safe to lead a 10-point card. Your opponent may have a five-spot with which to make a 15. But you needn't worry about that danger if you also have a five: if your opponent gets a 15, you will match his five and thus score two points for the pair.

A lead from the low end of the scale is somewhat safer. Your opponent is unlikely to be able to match an ace or a deuce, and he cannot, of course, make a 15.

The disadvantage of leading an ace or deuce is that you may need that very low card later on to reach 31 or to avoid a "go."

The best card to lead is a four. It is low enough to be outside of the middle range, so that the risk of a pair is reduced. It is also too low to permit the enemy to make a 15. And yet, it isn't low enough to be needed vitally later on to make a 31 or a "go."

Towards the end of a game, however, your choice of the first card to play is affected by the score. If your only chance is to win points in the pegging, you must take risks with the cards that you play.

This would be vital if you were the dealer, with both players only five or six points from game. If you fail to win in the pegging, your opponent will probably win with his first count.

Contrariwise, you would play to

Capital Cherry Blossoms Recall U.S.-Japan Ties

WASHINGTON — Cherry blossom time in Washington will reflect more than a rosy glow this year when the National Festival highlights the annual spring visit of an expected half million tourists.

The pale pink and deep rose blooms by the Potomac will play their accustomed role in gala civic events—pageants, parades and parties—from March 30 to April 4.

But a 10-ton granite gift lantern from a Tokyo temple will provide a solid reminder of historic ties between Japan and the United States. The lantern will be lit at sundown in one of the festival ceremonies.

Last July 14 was the 100th anniversary of the opening up of Japan to the outside world by Commodore Matthew C. Perry of the United States Navy, says the National Geographic Society.

Among the practical and illuminating presents that Perry took to the Emperor were a telegraph instrument, a telescope, clocks, firearms, farm tools and a miniature railway.

In the next half century Japan amazed the world with her swift adoption of modern mechanization and methods.

In 1912, however, the Japanese government made a return gift to the U.S. capital of several thousand cherry trees. The presentation was a symbol of the old Japan of flower festivals and stylized scenic effects.

Prior to 1912 there were few Japanese cherry trees in the United States, though it was known that they would thrive here.

Dr. David Fairchild, the world-renowned plant explorer who now lives in Florida, had imported several varieties in the early 1900s and had successfully grown them in his garden outside Washington.

From these trees planted by Dr. Fairchild came the idea for the miles of plantings in the capital's Potomac Park. His flowering oriental cherries were seen and admired by Miss Eliza Scidmore, a writer long interested in Japan's history and culture.

Through her efforts, the mayor of Tokyo arranged to have some 3,000 shoots from Tokyo's famous riverside front sent to Washington as an expression of Japan's good will and appreciation for American aid in concluding the Russo-Japanese War of 1904-5.

Unfortunately, the shipment was found on arrival to be infested with insects and disease, and had to be destroyed. Refusing to take offense, Tokyo's mayor forwarded a second gift of cuttings carefully propagated to be free of disease.

These proved acceptable. On March 27, 1912, Mrs. William Howard Taft, wife of the President, planted the first cherry tree of the collection that would make a lacy pink and white frame for the capital's Tidal Basin.

Forty years later, in the spring of 1952, the United States had a chance to replay in kind Japan's early good-will gesture. On learning that Tokyo's cherry trees had suffered during the war years, the Department of Interior airmailed the city several dozen cuttings from Washington. These have been used to rejuvenate the grove from which the original gift came.

Australia is often called the land of living fossils. It is the home of the world's only egg-laying mammals and most of the surviving marsupials.

Baby Blue Cadillac Really Gets Around

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A woman called police and said her baby blue Cadillac had been stolen. Five minutes she called back and said:

"The car's not stolen, after all. My husband had it and he just drove up. Thanks, anyway."

Fifteen minutes later she phoned again.

"It's really stolen this time. It's not outside the house where my husband parked it and he's inside with me."

The sergeant resignedly revived the complaint and put out a radio signal.

The car was located several hours later in a downtown garage. A wrecker service had towed it away by mistake.

Called a Genius on I'll Buy That

Excels in Many Lines, Writes Songs for Fun, Lives in Penthouse

NEW YORK — Albert Morehead, the six-foot-four erudite panelist of TV's audience participation series, "I'll Buy That," is one of those many-sided geniuses in cosmopolitan New York.

He is a book editor, magazine writer, games authority, author, tunesmith, newspaper columnist, lexicographer, businessman, translator, amateur criminologist and a half dozen lesser things besides.

On "I'll Buy That," Morehead's task, along with that of three fellow panelists, is to guess the identity of various articles, inanimate or animate, which studio guests bring in to "sell."

If they name it, the program buys it for a neat sum. His phenomenal range of knowledge of cabbages and kings, shoes and ships, and sealing wax makes him a natural on a show where anything imaginable, from an unwanted coffee grinder to a Mohican artifact, may have to be identified.

For relaxation, Morehead writes three or four songs or hymns a year, is translating a play from the French and does occasional translations of French poetry. He also regularly contributes articles on criminology, another hobby, to books on the subject.

He was born in Flintstone, Ga., on Aug. 7, 1906. When he was 12, he took an IQ test, then coming into vogue. His showing was the highest recorded at that time.

Young Albert skipped from seventh grade to high-school sophomore in easy stages — a grade a month.

As a magazine writer, he set a record by having 36 articles (under four different names) published in one national magazine, in 1944, and almost matched it in 1951 with 29 articles in another.

In 1939, Albert Morehead married Loy Claudon, an Illinois girl. They have two sons, 13 and 11. They live in midtown Manhattan, in a two-story penthouse, with a front yard that has three feet of soil, a good-sized lawn and three trees growing in it.

Man Gets Five Years for Burglary Role

Charles Scribner, 21, of 5462 Aylesbury, Waterford Township, Monday was sentenced to a maximum of five years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson by Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland.

Scribner, and Howard Ebright, 21, of the same address, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering March 22. At the same time Ebright was sentenced to 60 days in jail, three years probation and was assessed $150 court costs.

The pair and two juveniles are accused of taking $1,000 to $2,000 in property from about 20 homes, principally in Commerce Township, since December 1953.

Pleads Guilty

James J. Stovall, 27, of 19 Harrison St., pleaded guilty Monday to taking and using a car and was released on $500 bond to await sentencing by Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland on April 5. Stovall admitted taking an auto March 12 in Birmingham.

Ex-King Leopold Seeks to Retrace Balboa's Route

PANAMA (AP) — Ex-King Leopold of Belgium headed an expedition left yesterday by boat for the Pacific side of the province which straddles this narrow isthmus some 300 miles east and southeast of the Panama Canal. The party plans to cross back by land — in the opposite direction from that taken by Vasco Nunez de Balboa in his epic march of discovery.

The exploration is being made on the basis of a report prepared by Angel Rubio, professor of geography at the National University. That report is based on historical documents, including old maps and charts dating back to the 16th century.

The former monarch, father of Belgium's present King Baudouin, left yesterday by boat for the Pacific side of the province which straddles this narrow isthmus some 300 miles east and southeast of the Panama Canal. U.S. Artists Aid Search for Male Lead in New Film

Three of the best-known illustrators in the United States, Russell Patterson, Arthur William Brown and Ernestine Jaediker, have come to the aid of motion picture producer Stanley Kramer in the world-wide search he has launched to fill the leading role of Lucas Marsh in his film version of "Not As A Stranger," present number-one best-seller by Morton Thompson.

Mr. Patterson, Mr. Brown and Miss Jaediker each drew a sketch of Lucas Marsh, the hero of "Not As A Stranger," from the word description by Mr. Kramer: "I see him as muscularly aesthetic, with a sensitive face; a man who would go into a rage and throw a doctor through a window and then turn around and sit up all night comforting a two-year-old child; a man with a sympathetic face; a guy who could be rough and nice and is devoted to his work."

Mr. Kramer, who recently completed producing "The Caine Mutiny" and is currently preparing "Not As A Stranger" for United Artists release, is seeking a man who fits the word-picture of Lucas Marsh and who bears some resemblance to any or all of the drawings.

"Not As A Stranger," an emotion-packed novel that has been at the top of the nation's best-seller lists virtually from the day of its publication in January, was written by ex-newspaperman Morton Thompson as his last literary effort. For Thompson died of a heart attack last summer at the age of 45, without realizing that his 400,000-word volume was destined to become the most popular book in the United States.

In addition to the newly-launched global search for a man to fill the role of Lucas Marsh in this dramatic story of the practice and malpractice of medicine, Mr. Kramer is seeking players for the three other key roles, "Kristina," "Runkelman" and "Harriet."

Kristina is "a broad-shouldered but slim girl about 28 years of age; very trim figure, attractive and with the bearing of a soldier; always has the scrubbed look of cleanliness about her; the kind of woman who has an enormous capacity for love."

Kramer's description of Runkelman is: "Tall, strong face, heavy set kind of man who has very strong hands like a bricklayer and still delicate; rough heart underneath it all, a good, kind man; a man in his mid-fifties."

Harriet is depicted by the producer as "a 'dame' who doesn't look or act like a dame, but real sexy; rich, bored. Though she

$5.8 Million Set by Civil Service

Commission Estimates Cost of Pay Raise for State Employees

LANSING (AP) — The State Civil Service Commission last night approved the details of a July 1 pay raise for state employees and calculated it would cost $5,800,000.

This was well below the original estimate of $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 Arthur G. Rasch March 12 when made by Civil Service Director Arthur G. Rasch March 12 when the commission gave preliminary approval, to the boost.

The commission held a special meeting nearly two weeks ahead of schedule under pressure from the Legislature for exact figures as soon as possible before a scheduled April 9 legislative adjournment.

The raise includes a 5 to 10 cent hourly cost-of-living increase to all civil service employees and special boosts to classes which the commission said it found were underpaid.

Rasch said that his staff had applied the increases to appropriation bills introduced by the legislative finance committees.

On this basis, he said, the cost-of-living increases for 22,500 classified employees will cost something under $3,000,000. The civil service payroll totals about $97,000,000.

The special increases which make up the balance go mainly to workers in mental and tuberculosis hospitals, skilled tradesmen and the lowest brackets in all departments. Smaller special increases go to prison guards and state policemen.

Of the total bill for the increase, Rasch said, about $4,000,000 will come from the State General Fund. The balance will be chargeable to federal aid payments and restricted state funds.

The great bulk of the special increases go to workers in the mental health field. Some 7,000 of them will get a total of $1,838,593.

Carpenters, auto repairmen, electricians, masons, plumbers and like tradesmen in all agencies will get special boosts ranging from a total of 14 to 17 cents an hour.

Total increases ranging up to 15 cents an hour will go to such lower bracket workers as janitors, manual workers, park rangers and watchmen.

City Traffic Club Picks Officers for Coming Year

The Pontiac Traffic Club Monday night elected C.E. Coonfield as 1954 president to succeed Ken Miller, according to William L. Treanor, publicity chairman.

Other new officers named include J. L. Forum, vice president; D. J. Fisher, secretary-treasurer, and O. T. Quarles, executive committee.
